At Local GOP Banquet

Broomfield Rips Dems

By JIM LONG

Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield, speaking in Pontiac last night, blasted the Democratic administration with a scattershot of barbs aimed at what he termed its "unrealistic" policies.

The attack by the 18th District U.S. representative came at the 77th annual banquet of the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club at the Elks Temple.

The war in Viet Nam and its handling by the Johnson administration received most of the criticism.

Broomfield, who recently returned from a trip to the Far East nation, told the 550 persons in the audience:

"I think this administration has committed the cardinal political sin. It has begun to believe its own propaganda."

JUGGLING STATISTICS

"Its professional drumbeaters have become so adept at image-creation, at news manipulation, at juggling statistics and manufacturing data to provide economic justification for strictly partisan political positions, that it has lost its sense of reality."

This is had enough in domestic affairs, said Broomfield, but when it is carried over into foreign affairs "this sort of self-hypnosis can be catastrophic."

He said that there are realities to be faced and if the Democrats fail to recognize them, it is "imperative" that the Republicans do.

"The first reality is this," said Broomfield. "Our major enemy in the world is not North Viet Nam. It never was and never will be. Our enemy of course is Red China."

Humphrey in Saigon to Prod Viet Reforms

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (U)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Saigon today to spur the South Vietnamese to get on with a social and economic revolution which he said would provide a "dynamic and lasting answer to the false promise of communism."

"I have come to see some of the projects being undertaken and to report back to the President and the American people on the work you are doing and on the part we can play in support of your great undertaking," Humphrey said in a statement at Saigon's heavily guarded Tan Son Nhut Airport.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu flew with Humphrey from Honolulu after meeting there with President Johnson.

Humphrey did not attend the Honolulu conference, but came here on the President's request to advance the non-military programs outlined there.

Humphrey told newsmen aboard his plane that the military situation in South Viet Nam has improved to a point "that rural construction, economic and social programs can take place."

NOT ENOUGH

"We know that victories on the battlefield are not enough," he said. "We want to consolidate those victories with economic and social progress."

A big-crowd of Vietnamese military and civilian dignitaries greeted the vice president and his party at the airport.

Five 150mm howitzers and five tanks were lined up on the air strip opposite a Vietnamese honor guard.

Heavy security was in effect and the normally busy airport was closed to civilian traffic for more than an hour before Humphrey's plane landed. Roadblocks and checkpoints were thrown up around the field.

Pearson Gets 9-20 Years in Fatal Stabbing

Sentenced in Death of Waterford Teen; Appeal Is Planned

Alan Ross Pearson Jr. was sentenced this morning to 9-20 years in Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson for the murder of a Waterford Township teen-ager last summer.

The second-degree murder conviction will be appealed.

The sentence was imposed on Pearson, 17, of 1127 Abhi, Waterford Township, by Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn.

Pearson was found guilty by a jury Jan. 19.

On the recommendation of defense attorney Clarence Smith, Judge Thorburn granted Pearson a 14-day stay in the Oakland County Jail before he is transferred to Jackson.

AGREES TO STAY

Assistant prosecutor Walter Schmier agreed to the stay.

The delay is intended to give a court-appointed attorney an opportunity to discuss the case with Pearson before filing a motion for a new trial.

Thorburn appointed Birmingham attorney Charles J. Porter to pursue the appeal.

Smith told the court that he would be unable to handle the case because of the time involved.

A jury of seven men and five women found Pearson guilty of the June 27 stabbing of Jeffrey Talbot, 2045 Watkins Lake.

Pearson had contended during the three-day trial that he acted in self-defense.

Smith suggested the appeal because of the news coverage given to the murder and the subsequent trial.

Teen Held in Knifing of 2 Area Women

Nineteen-year-old Eddie Ingram of Detroit was being held on $134,000 bond today in connection with the stabbing of two women and the kidnapping of one early yesterday.

Ingram pleaded innocent to seven charges in Mount Clemens Justice Court yesterday. Examination is set for Feb. 18 in Macomb County Circuit Court.

Police said a man identified as Ingram forced his way into the Utica home of Mrs. Edna Jakabowski, 32, yesterday, and forced her to drive him to Detroit in her car.

En route, he changed his mind and ordered her to drive to Romeo, she said.

Mrs. Jakabowski said she was molested and stabbed before she was able to jump from the car at a traffic light.

DROVE TO ROMEO

Officers said she man then drove to Romeo, collided with a truck and flagged down a car driven by Mrs. Dorothy Spens, 41, of Romeo.

He forced her from the car, stabbed her, and drove away.

Ingram was arrested north of Romeo when employees of a nearby factory called police, officers said.

Both women were reported in good condition in Almont Community Hospital.

Ingram faces charges of armed robbery, assault with intent to commit murder, two counts of unlawfully driving away an automobile, assault with a deadly weapon, kidnapping and gross indecency.

ALAN R. PEARSON JR.

SUSPECT HELD—Eddie Ingram, 19, of Detroit is shown in custody of State Police at Romeo after he was arrested yesterday in connection with the knifing of two area women. He pleaded innocent to assault, kidnapping and other charges today.

Crash Kills Candidate

PORT PAYNE, Ala. (UPI)—Ryan Degraffenried, a gubernatorial candidate who sought to succeed Gov. George B. Wallace next January, and his pilot were killed last night when their plane crashed into a mountain.

A rescue squad that climbed a rugged ridge along the southern portion of Lookout Mountain about a mile from where said early today that it found "only pieces of bodies."

New County Jail Said Likely in Future

A new jail building probably will be included in Oakland County's future construction plans, Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the County Board of Auditors, said today.

Commenting on remarks by Sheriff Frank W. Irons that better jail facilities are needed, Murphy said that a new jail in the county service center "may be" a future project.

Irons said yesterday that the recent sexual assault on an inmate who allegedly was dooped might have been prevented with better facilities at the present jail in Pontiac.

Murphy, however, said he could see no advantage in spending money to improve the existing jail in view of its age.

A shortage of cell space and inadequate means for observation of prisoners were cited by Irons as the chief shortcomings of the 45-year-old building.

According to Murphy and Irons, several informal discussions have been held on the needs for better jail facilities.

A new jail, however, has never been formally proposed to county officials, Irons said.

Murphy emphasized that a new jail was not a part of the county's present construction plans.

Congressman Is the Coauthor of Labor Law

Announcement Cites Need for Leadership, Candidates in GOP

DETROIT (U)—Republican Congressman Robert P. Griffin of Traverse City announced today he will seek the Republican nomination for the United States Senate seat now held by Democratic Sen. Patrick V. McNamara.

In making the announcement, Griffin said:

"I realize that I enter the race as an underdog and that I will leave a safe seat in the House of Representatives....

"Like George Romney and John Lindsay, I believe the Republican party desperately needs positive leadership and qualified, articulate candidates who will assume political risks and go forth to meet the people and the issues."

"I want to represent Michigan in the United States Senate," Griffin said. "Today I announce that I am going after it — and I intend to make it."

He made the announcement at a news conference at the Detroit Press Club.

LABOR LAW AUTHOR

Griffin is coauthor of the Landrum-Griffin Act, a labor management reform law passed in 1959.

He is in his fifth term in Congress and was first elected in 1956.

He represents Michigan's Ninth District, including Benzie, Grand Traverse, Lake Leelanau, Mason, Manistee, Muskegon, Newaygo, Oceana, Ottawa and Wexford counties.

Mild Clime Expected to Stay a While

An invasion of warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico brought balmy temperatures to Michigan again today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted the springlike weather will last through Saturday and maybe longer.

Light rain or drizzle is forecast for tonight with lows slipping to 42.

Highs will reach 46 to 52 tomorrow. Today's showers are expected to end tomorrow but rain will drench the area again Saturday with continued mild temperatures.

The warm front pushed by southerly showers raised temperatures to a high of 56 yesterday. The recording tied the high reading for the same day a year ago.

STATE HIGH

The highest reading in Michigan was 59 at Ypsilanti.

The coldest spot in Michigan this morning was Sault Ste. Marie with a low of 39.

A balmy 45 was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 49.

Show Business Mourns 2 Long-Time Greats

NEW YORK (AP) — A half century ago as a favor to her maid Sophie Tucker sat down, and listened to a song written by a porter.

"At first she tried to put it off, but she gave in and listened to the tune by Sheldon Brooks.

"I knew that 'Some of These Days' was the song for me," she said. "It has been ever since and always will be."

The people in the cabarets and nightclubs loved it and the song became her trademark.

Big, brassy-voiced Sophie Tucker belted out the song at every performance. It didn't matter if she was doing the blues, jazz or swing.

Last night, Miss Tucker, 78, "last of the red-hot mamas," yielded the spotlight after 62 years on stage. She died in her Park Avenue apartment of a chronic lung ailment and kidney failure.

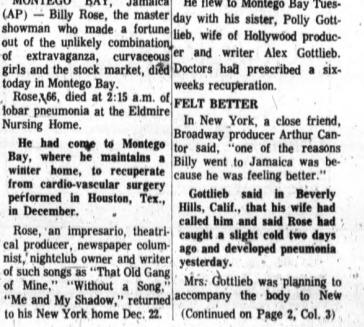

LAST APPEARANCE

Her last appearance was at the Latin Quarter just before she became ill. She had signed for a four-week engagement, but was able to appear only two nights, and on both nights it was clear that she was in poor health.

BILLY ROSE

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (AP) — Billy Rose, the master showman who made a fortune out of the unlikely combination of extravaganza, curvaceous girls and the stock market, died today in Montego Bay.

Rose, 66, died at 2:15 a.m. of lobes pneumonia at the Eldridge Nursing Home.

He had come to Montego Bay, where he maintains a winter home, to recuperate from cardiovascular surgery performed in Houston, Tex., in December.

Rose, an impresario, theatrical producer, newspaper columnist, nightclub owner and writer of such songs as "That Old Gang Mine," "Without a Song," "Me and My Shadow," returned to his New York home Dec. 22.

He flew to Montego Bay Tuesday with his sister, Polly Gottlieb, wife of Hollywood producer and writer Alex Gottlieb. Doctors had prescribed a six-week recuperation.

FELT BETTER

In New York, a close friend, Broadway producer Arthur Cantor said, "one of the reasons Billy went to Jamaica was because he was feeling better."

Gottlieb said in Beverly Hills, Calif., that his wife had called him and said Rose had caught a slight cold two days ago and developed pneumonia yesterday.

Mrs. Gottlieb was planning to accompany the body to New (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Enter Low Bid of $2.49 Million

A low bid of $2,492,000 for M59 relocation work within the city was received yesterday by the Michigan State Highway Department.

The low bidder was Cooke Contracting Co. of Detroit. Three bids were submitted on the M59 project.

The two-and-a-half-year project includes the construction of 1.7 miles of new pavement and six bridges from East Wide Track east to the Grand Truck Railroad tracks.

The completion date is June 30, 1968.

The city's share of M59 relocation costs is to total 14 percent or an estimated $540,000.

CONSTRUCTION COST

The city's share of M59 costs is based on the total estimated $3.8 million project. Yesterday's bids account for only the actual construction cost.

Other expenses include right-of-way acquisition and engineering costs.

The M59 road work is designed to follow work being done on Clinton River Drain No. 2 on Pontiac's east side.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neilling said the M59 project might be completed as much as a year earlier than the 1968 completion date.

George N. Skrubbs, director of the Oakland County Planning Commission, has been elected president of the Michigan Chapter of the American Institute of Planners.

A member of the Birmingham Zoning Appeals Board, Skrubbs also serves on the executive committee of the American Society for Public Administration.

Dominican Violence Renewed

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—Renewed violence and gunfire swept Santo Domingo today. A policeman was shot to death by snipers—the third officer to be killed here in 24 hours.

The renewed terrorism came in the wake of yesterday's street fighting in which at least seven persons were killed and 45 wounded.

One policeman was drenched with gasoline and killed to death by the infuriated mob. Residents in the downtown area this morning reported gunfire erupting from different sectors of the city.

They said the only movement in the streets was that of crouched figures scurrying from doorway to doorway.

NO INDICATION

Leftist labor unions called a general strike but there was no immediate indication of its effectiveness.

Leftist students proclaimed

three days of mourning for the civilians killed yesterday.

The government, meanwhile, promised an official investigation.

During yesterday's disorders rioters repeatedly shouted, "kill all Yankees," but almost all of the casualties were Dominicans.

WAS WOUNDED

A Brazilian officer of the inter-American police-keeping force was wounded when a terrorist threw a hand grenade at his jeep.

Dems Rapped by Broomfield at City Event

ESSAY WINNERS

Prior to Broomfield's speech, Robert L. Templin, president of the Lincoln Republican Club, awarded savings bonds to the five winners of the organization sponsored Lincoln essay contest.

First place winner was Ruth Valdes, 17, a senior at Troy High School. She received $150 in government bonds and a trip to Lansing with her parents to watch the Legislature in action.

Templin made the presentations in behalf of former State Rep. George A. Dondero, who is recuperating at William Beaumont Hospital from a stroke.

It was the first time that ex-legislator from Royal Oak had been unable to attend a Lincoln Day observance in the 50 years.

List Holiday Hours for Pontiac Offices

Pontiac's two banks and First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland will be closed Saturday, Lincoln's birthday.

Pontiac city offices will close tomorrow because of the holiday.

Oakland County and Waterford Township offices, however, will observe regular schedules as will the post office.

The sheriff's department divider's license division, 1 Lafayette, will close at 4:45 p.m. tomorrow and reopen at 8:30 a.m. Monday.

CAIRO (AP)—President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam has asked President Gamal Abdel Nasser to use his good offices to restore peace in Viet Nam on Ho's terms, reliable Egyptian sources reported today.

New Rank OK'd

City-Police Pay Accord Seen

The first agreement appears likely in the lengthy wage dispute between the city and the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA).

Both sides reportedly have agreed on the establishment of a new rank—senior patrolman—in the police department.

Patrolmen given the new rank would receive salaries of $7,228 a year, an increase of $169 over the regular pay rate for patrolmen after three years service.

Patrolmen would be eligible for the new rank after completing five years service with a good service record.

Chief William K. Hanger said the new rank would be rated between patrolman and detective. Senior patrolmen would be delegated supervisory responsibility over patrolmen.

ALL AGREED

Members of the PPOA unanimously approved the senior patrolman plan at a meeting last night.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren estimated the new rank would cost the city about $8,000 per year. He said 60-90 days would be needed to implement the plan.

Agreement on the new rank is the first in the lengthy wage dispute between the city and the PPOA. The dispute began last summer.

The PPOA, along with the Pontiac Firefighters Association, has been negotiating with the city for longevity pay and $49 a year more than the $51 granted in a wage plan adopted by the city.

Sophie, Last of the Red-Hot Mamas, Dies

described as an intestinal inflammation. She returned to her apartment where she was reported recovering.

From the time she was a teenager Sophie had been a performer.

Asked if she had any regrets and if she would have preferred life in the kitchen, she said: "I wanted show business. I went after it. I got it. No regrets."

WED 3 TIMES

"I tried the marriage three times, but it just didn't jell for me, not with the show business. Anyway, I made up for it in so many ways."

Sophie worked with the top stars of several generations—Will Rogers, W. C. Fields, Eddie Cantor, Al Jolson, Judy Garland, Fannie Brice, Judy Benny, Jimmy Durante and Bea Lillie, among others.

On learning of her death, Judy Benny said: "I remember playing on the same bills with her in vaudeville. This goes back 45 years."

"She was very much in person like she was on stage. In fact, she was exactly the same. That's why she remained successful for so long."

She never hesitated to talk about herself—and never mind being kidded about her 162-pound bulk—but her age remained a bit of a mystery.

Sophie was born in Russia as her parents were making their way to America via Poland and the Baltic. The date was Jan. 13 and the year is believed to be 1881. But some sources list it as 1884 or 1887.

Her first royal command performance was in 1938. Her third and last came at the Palladium in 1962 and she stole the show with "Life Begins at 40," "After You've Gone," and the inevitable "Some of These Days."

Illness Claims Showman Rose

York today, where funeral arrangements will be completed.

Surviving besides Mrs. Gottlieb is another sister, Miriam Stern of New York City.

RICH FELLOW

The 5-foot-3 Rose scrambled out of the Manhattan slums at the time of his death was worth more than $5 million. He once joked that "if my luck holds out by 1970 I will really be a rich fellow."

He made his first million three months after the 1939 New York World's Fair. He opened his "Aquacade" was the hit of the fair and its star, Eleanor Holm, became one of his four wives.

He was actually married five times, but he married one wife, Joyce Matthews, twice.

Another wife was Fanny Brice, the comedienne whose life story was told in the Broadway musical "Funny Girl." He was also married to Doris Warner, daughter of motion picture executive Harry Warner.

SUCCESS IDEAS

He once characterized success as "a combination of good health, good friends and a financial career where the winners make $2 more than the losers."

Last spring in an interview he said this about death: "I'm not afraid of it. For the past five years I have felt that I'm on velvet after 60 very easy years... I just want to spin out life as gracefully as I can with the least amount of storm... I have no fears about death. By the same token, I'm not rolling out a red carpet and inviting it in."

Rose gained his real fame from the extravaganzas he staged. "I sell ballyhoo, not genius," he said.

Jail Is Likely in Future Plan

len now that the board of supervisors has established a building authority which can issue bonds for construction.

JAIL CAPACITY

One of the major concerns about the 250-prisoner capacity jail is the danger of getting more prisoners than it can accommodate.

"Most penal experts nowadays say six to eight prisoners in a cell is a maximum," Sheriff's Capt. Leo R. Hazen said.

"Here we're forced to put as many as 32 men into our built-upstairs where they're kept for most of the day, including meals."

Despite its age, the county jail has been approved each year by state inspection teams.

Senator Held on Drunken Driving Count

LANSING (AP)—Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, was jailed overnight on a drunken driving charge, Lansing Police Lt. Olney Peterson said today.

Brown was released this morning on $100 bond and ordered to appear in Municipal Court later today.

Peterson said Brown ran off a main street in south Lansing, but no accident occurred. He was arrested by officer Daniel Waltz.

Peterson said Waltz' report showed that Brown refused to take a drunkometer test at Sparrow Hospital following the arrest.

He was jailed at 11:30 p.m. and released at 8:05 a.m.

SENATE COMMITTEE

Brown said Tuesday, following a hearing of his Senate Judiciary Committee, that he is opposed to the so-called implied consent drunken driving bill.

The measure says that anyone holding a driver's license has implied his consent to be tested for drunkenness while driving.

Brown favored an expressed consent measure, where the driver must specifically say he agrees to be tested at any time.

Brown said social pressure would force most drivers to so agree.

Last month, Brown was active in getting a bill out of the Senate Judiciary Committee which would make driving records and point standings secret to insurance companies and the public.

Kidnaper Put on Probation

JAMES A. BRYANT, 23, of Cass City was placed on five years probation and ordered to pay $100 court cost for the kidnaping in Troy last summer of a 10-year-old girl.

Bryant, formerly of Birmingham, was sentenced this morning by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Found guilty by a jury Jan. 14, Bryant had been accused of abducting the youngster after stopping her to ask a question.

The girl had escaped from Bryant's car about a half-mile from the point where she was picked up.

Police said she was not harmed.

Sewer Project
Draws Protest

Utica Petitioners Hit
Cost of Proposition

UTICA—Proposed installation of sanitary sewers in a section between Platt and Sterritt streets is meeting with opposition from home owners.

The City Commission Tuesday night received a petition signed by 196 persons protesting cost of the sewers, estimated at $11.92 per front foot.

City Clerk Mrs. Eunice Koplitz said the home owners have been paying for water installation in a five-year assessment plan and have one payment left to make.

She said they want to pay off this debt before they start paying the cost of the sewer.

The City Commission will investigate the possibility of federal aid to help reduce the cost of the project.

OTHER ACTION

In other action, the commission referred to the planning board a request to rezone part of the Keating farm property from commercial back to multifamily.

The land was recently rezoned from multifamily to commercial at the request of Hall Sterritt, Inc., of Detroit.

Mrs. Koplitz said developers felt they had firm commitments from a piece of restaurant chains.

She said the deals apparently fell through because of the widening of Hall Road at the bypass which makes it an undesirable piece of property for development.

Also referred to the planning board was a request from Peter Verheul that property at the corner of River Vista and Van Dyke be rezoned from two-family to commercial.

Mrs. Koplitz said Verheul plans to build a motel on the land.

The election will be conducted from 3 to 5 p.m. at Mabel D. Benett Junior High School.

Developers Must Halt 'Mining'
in Proposed Subdivision Area

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Developers of the proposed Lake Arrowhead Subdivision at 25 Mile and Jewell will not be allowed to remove sand from the area until the land is restored to where it should have been last November.

Township Attorney Roy Rogness said a consent order is to be filed in Macomb County Circuit Court which, if agreed to by the attorney for the developers, will prohibit any further "mining" activity until half of the area is brought up to grade.

The developers proposed in 1957 to build a subdivision and man-made lake. Neighbors complained when it appeared the developers were mining rather than building a subdivision and the township issued a stop order.

The developers took the matter to court and were ordered to complete the subdivision as originally planned.

Last fall, when it appeared that work was not progressing as fast as it should have been, the Township Board gave the developer until Nov. 1 to complete the first portion of the subdivision.

COMPTENT OF COURT — They did not meet the deadline so a contempt of court hearing was held Monday.

Rogness said the consent order will require the developers to complete the subdivision as originally planned.

Family-Style Dinner Scheduled at Church

LAKE ORION — The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will hold a baked ham, family-style dinner from 5 until 7 p.m. Thursday at the church.

Proceeds will go toward the building fund.

Other Speakers

A cooperative dinner will be held at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday in connection with the conference.

Films, slides, curios, literature and music will be provided at all services, according to Rev. Robert V. Warren, pastor of the church at 620 N. Wixom.

Rezoning
Requests Referred

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The Township Board received two rezoning requests last night which it referred to the zoning board for a recommendation.

One was for the rezoning of 30 acres on Oakwood west of M24 from agriculture to sand and gravel mining.

Township Supervisor Lee B. Valentine said the land is adjacent to property which has been mined for the last two years by the firm of Phillips and Tanner.

The board was also asked to rezone about five acres on Seymour Lake Road from residential to multiple dwelling.

Valentine said a group of business men want the land rezoned so they can put in a series of apartment houses in connection with the new Davis Lake-Highlands subdivision.

DRAINING WATER

Valentine said today that a situation which has been draining the water from Stony Lake for the past two years has been corrected.

He said the level of the lake went down about two feet last year because of gravel-washing operations carried on by American Aggregates Corp.

He said the company had been "pumping" water west of M24 near the railroad tracks which drained off water from the lake.

A new source of water has been located northeast of the mines which should relieve the situation, Valentine said.

The lake, which is about 80 feet deep, went down about an inch a week last summer, according to Valentine.

Farmington Seeks U.S. Aid

Ask Land Purchase for Parks

FARMINGTON — A $99,600 land acquisition project has been proposed as the first step in a city park development program for Farmington.

The city is seeking a $49,800 federal grant to cover half of the suggested purchases, which would total more than 34 acres.

An application will be filed for funds available on a $0.50 basis through the Open Space Land Acquisition Program administered by the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The plan devised by the city's park committee is concentrated in the Rouge River Valley, according to City Manager John D. Dinan.

He noted it is aimed at insuring the retention areas of the river's flood plain and at "utilizing the natural beauty of the valley for nature trails and passive recreation."

LOW APPRAISAL

Another factor is the relatively low appraised value of the property because of its terrain and location, he said.

Most of the funds sought for the program — $82,400 — would be used to buy about 26 acres of property along the river between Grand River and Nine Mile.

Also included in the package suggested by the committee are a six-acre parcel northwest of Twin Valley Subdivision, carrying an estimated cost of $14,400, and two acres east of Powers on the north side of Grand River, $4,800.

The committee also recommended that the city buy a lot in Gardour Webster's Subdivision to complete the civic center park area.

The lot on State Street adjacent to the Municipal Building property carries an estimated cost of $18,000.

Added to the city's half of the total park program cost would be about $4,200 for interest on land contracts.

Committee members noted that the city allocated $9,000 for river valley land acquisition in the 1965-66 budget.

If the same amount were allocated to the Municipal Building property carries an estimated cost of $18,000.

Local Scout District Launches Vocational Exploring Program

A new wrinkle in the Exploring program is under way in the Pontiac District of the Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Under the new "Vocational Exploring" program, youths between 15 and 18 will be invited to join units which will study various careers.

Those who are 14 years old and in the ninth grade will also be eligible to participate.

Local members of different businesses and professions have accepted the offer of scout officials to conduct the two month sessions.

The Vocational Exploring units will meet twice a month to learn of the vocation, then move on to another career.

CAREER TOPICS

Careers to be studied will be retailing, medicine, banking and finance, law enforcement, law.

Woman Killed by Train

DEARBORN (AP) — Jean Brock, 78, of Dearborn was killed Wednesday when she was struck by a train at a crossing near here.

According to Pontiac District Chairman Kenneth Goff, the vocational exploring program has been successful in other areas of the country.

"There are many young men who have trouble making up their minds about their life's work," Goff said. "This program is designed to give them a taste of various occupations and help them reach a decision."

In addition to the vocational sessions, there will be social activities to participate in, planned by the youths themselves.

SUPERVISION

Adult supervision will be provided by sponsoring groups or institutions other than those providing the technical information on the career.

Eligible boys may join the program by contacting their school counselor or calling the Scout Service Center at the Community Services Building, Franklin Boulevard.

ing on (right) is Harold O'Berry, 20 Sheridan, Scoutmaster of Troop 56. The interview is a part of the "Vocational Exploring" program of the Pontiac District of the Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Out-of-Staters to Aid GOP

LANSING (AP) — Retiring Richard Nixon will speak in Bay Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and U. S. Rep. John Erlenborn of Illinois tonight will kick off a winter and spring speech invasion by leading out-of-state Republicans.

High point of the vote-hunting schedule will be an April 23 speech by former President Eisenhower in Lansing and companion talks throughout the state that day by eight other Republicans.

The April 23 programs are billed as a birthday salute to National GOP Finance Chairman Gen. Lucius Clay. The party will cost $100 a plate and Republicans are considering linking the various sites by closed circuit television.

Eisenhower, Clay and Gov. George Romney all will be in Lansing.

The current schedule of party fund raising functions, says Republican state headquarters, looks as far ahead as June 28, when former Vice President

Sarah Bernhardt was born Oct. 23, 1845.

Collegians Red Prey, Warns FBI's Hoover

Our FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin carry a message from Director J. EDGAR HOOVER. There is no sounder American in the land than this great foe of evil in whatever form it presents itself. His current message concerns the very important college problem which is of vital concern to everyone.

Mr. Hoover says:

The American college student is subjected to a dangerous conspiracy unlike any challenge encountered by our youth. On many campuses he faces a turbulence built on unrestrained individualism, repulsive dress and speech, outright obscenity, disdain for moral and spiritual values, and disrespect for law. This movement, commonly referred to as the "New Left," is complex in its deceitful absurdity.

A high percentage of the more than 3 million full-time college students are dedicated, hard working, and serious-minded young people; however, their good deeds and achievements are overshadowed by those who do tremendous talking but little thinking. Much of this has been connected with a feigned concern for the rights of free speech, dissent, and petition. Hard-core fanatics have used these basic rights to distort the issues. However, millions of Americans, who know that freedom and rights also mean responsibilities, are becoming alarmed over the anarchistic ring of these campus disturbances. Liberty and justice are not possible without law and order.

The Communist Party, U.S.A., is jubilant over these rebellious activities. The Communist conspiracy is seizing this to captivate the thinking of rebellious-minded youth and coax them into the Communist movement.

This is accomplished primarily by a much-publicized college speaking program and propaganda. One of the Communist W. E. B. DuBois Clubs of America. Therefore, the Communist influence is cleverly injected into civil disobedience and reprisals against our system.

There are those who scoff at the significance of these student flare-ups, but the Communist Party does not. The participants of the New Left are part of the 100,000 "state of mind" members GUS HALL, the Party's General Secretary, refers to when he talks of Party strength. He stated the Party is experiencing the greatest upsurge in its history.

For the first time since 1959, the Party plans a national convention this spring. High on the agenda will be strategy to win the New Left and new members. Thus, the Communists' intentions are abundantly clear. I firmly believe the American public is disgusted and sickened by such social orgies. One recourse is to support the millions of youth who refuse to swallow the Communist bait. Another is to let it be known that we do not intend to stand by and let demagogues make a mockery of our laws and demolish our Republic.

Right Men, Wrong Jobs Mixed by the Military

The U. S. Armed Services, long noted for its practice of matching square pegs with round holes, has not noticeably changed its spots, according to a General Accounting Office survey of American bases in many parts of the world.

At a time when Selective Service is hard pressed to find eligible manpower to fill the ranks of the military, the three branches of the service are squandering the skills of GIs, tending skeet shooting clubs, golf courses and bowling alleys.

There are, says the survey, at least 9,000 such military men, trained at the cost of millions of dollars, dissipating their training in the performance of flunky duties. These men alone are paid over $40.5 million annually.

One glaring example, typical of widespread waste of ability, is that of an Army serviceman with years' experience as an expert motor mechanic. So what was he discovered doing to beef up the striking power of the Army? He was serving as a recreation specialist at Fort Hood, Tex., and had been posted to a fishing and hunting club as a game warden.

The investigators report that civilian help was available in virtually every area. Such personnel could have been hired out of specially appropriated funds. This means that the military has misspent over $100 million since the cold war heated up.

Moreover, with the rate of noncombat to combat troops in the American army standing at 14 to 1 (comparable estimates peg West German and Russian armies at 6 to 1), there would appear to be an excess of military personnel not committed to fighting.

Historically, consistency has not been a distinguishing feature of warfare, but if mankind were fully consistent there would be no warfare.

Lawmen Fear Dope Decision

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—Law enforcement officers, fighting an uphill battle against crime, got some chilling news the other day from the Supreme Court.

The reason for the fingering biting: the court is going to weigh the constitutionality of undercover agents getting the goods on narcotics peddlers in their own homes without search warrants.

It may not matter, when the justices hand down their decision, that dope pushers prefer to pursue their trade in their kitchens and garages. What may matter very much is that the Fourth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution assures them—and all Americans—the right to be secure in their homes against "unreasonable searches and seizures."

And, in a practical sense, what certainly matters to federal narcotics agents and to local law officers based on the land is that hundreds of arrests have been made under circumstances much like those in the case at hand—Duke Lee Lewis vs. The United States of America.

BUSINESS AT HOME

"Dope peddlers don't like to do their business in the open," explained a spokesman at the Federal Bureau of Narcotics. "They prefer the sanctity of their own home."

The spokesman didn't have to explain why the federal agent who visited Lewis at his home in the Roxbury section of Boston in 1964 posed as a narcotics buyer.

If he had identified himself as a narcotics agent and produced a search warrant, no sale would have taken place.

Thus the constitutional question is put squarely by Lewis' lawyer: "Can a federal officer avoid the necessity of obtaining a search warrant and gain entrance to the home of one suspected of a crime by disguising himself for the purpose of soliciting a crime and obtaining evidence to be used against the owner?"

JUDGES REJECT PLEA

When Lewis appealed his conviction under the federal narcotics law to the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston, three judges flatly rejected his Fourth Amendment argument.

"The happy days for law violators that this claim would produce are not to be," they said.

But the Supreme Court, which has ruled on several Fourth Amendment cases with mixed results, may use the Lewis case as a vehicle for giving greater strength to this Bill of Rights protection.

Then law-abiding Americans and dope peddlers alike will have new reason to echo these words of the 17th century English jurist Sir Edward Coke: "Man's house is his castle, and one's home is his safest refuge."

David Lawrence Says:

Voting Law Absurdity Shown

WASHINGTON — New York City has just given the nation a significant example of the absurdity of that section of the 1965 voting-rights law which permits the federal government to intervene in any state or district which employs a literacy "test or device" to qualify voters and in which 50 per cent of persons of voting age do not go to the polls.

Such a situation is supposed on its face to be evidence of discrimination. Though it is obviously a form of "government by suspicion," nevertheless several states are subject to federal penalties because a certain number of persons did not vote in the presidential election of 1964.

In New York's 17th Congressional District, on Tuesday of this week, there was an election to choose a successor to Rep. John W. Lindsay, who resigned to run for mayor of New York City.

The results show that Theodore Kuperman, the Republican nominee, received 41,225 votes, while Orin Lehman, the Democratic nominee, got 42,230. The Conservative candidate, Jeffrey St. John, received 7,810 votes. But all these together totaled only 95,265 votes.

HERE IS A CASE

Yet there are 219,814 registered voters in the district. So here is a case where less than 50 per cent of even the registered voters went to the polls.

Under the voting-rights law, 50 per cent is the yardstick. If 50 per cent of the voting-age population is not registered or fails to vote, this is supposed to be a sign of discrimination.

In the 17th Congressional District in New York City—an environment where "liberalism" prevails—the voting-age population unquestionably is far in excess of 219,814, but many persons eligible to vote do not take the trouble to register just as those who are registered often don't bother to vote.

In New York County, only 50.5

per cent of the voting-age population went to the polls in 1960 and around 50 per cent voted in 1964. Does this prove that there was plenty of discrimination but not quite enough to get under the 50-per-cent mark?

FOCUS ON SOUTH

The spotlight of the country has been focused on the South, because many of the voting districts there show less than 50 per cent of the voting-age population went to the polls in the November 1964 election.

The election specified by the voting-rights law as the test was a presidential election. This usually attracts in some part of the country a large percentage of voters, but just the opposite may happen in other parts.

In the South, for example, where the Democratic party has been dominant for many years and the party for which the state's electoral votes will usually be cast has for a long time been a foregone conclusion, many citizens feel their vote would be superfluous.

Yet the laws say that in any state where a literacy "test or device" existed and the turnout was less than 50 per cent in the 1964 presidential election, either statewide or in a subdivision, federal voting examiners may be appointed and the tests suspended, while the state is penalized for a period of five years.

PROVISIONS QUESTIONED

The Supreme Court is now dealing with the constitutionality of these provisions, and in the recent arguments before the court, some of the justices questioned the basis for the 50 per cent rule.

The New York City election is a conspicuous illustration of how inconclusive or irrelevant the 50-per-cent yardstick can prove to be.

-- I Am the Nation --

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This essay on our country was published in the public interest by the Norfolk and Western Railway. Because of its stirring message, we present it here for our readers to enjoy.)

I was born on July 4, 1776, and the Declaration of Independence is my birth certificate. The bloodlines of the world run in my veins, because I offered freedom to the oppressed. I am many things, and many people. I am the nation.

I am 195 million living souls — and the ghost of millions who have lived and died for me.

I am Nathan Hale and Paul Revere. I stood at Lexington and fired the shot heard around the world. I am Washington, Jefferson and Patrick Henry. I am John Paul Jones, the Green Mountain Boys and Davy Crockett. I am Lee and Grant and Abe Lincoln.

I remember the Alamo, and Maine and Pearl Harbor. When freedom called I answered and stayed until it was over, "over there." I left my heroic dead in Flanders Field, on the rock of Corregidor, on the bleak slopes of Korea and in the steaming jungle of Viet Nam.

I am the Brooklyn Bridge, the wheat lands of Kansas and the granite hills of Vermont. I am the coalfields of the Virginias and Pennsylvania, the fertile lands of the West, the Golden Gate and the Grand Canyon. I am Independence Hall, the Monitor and the Merrimack.

I am big. I sprawl from the Atlantic to the Pacific — my arms reach out to embrace Alaska and Hawaii — 3 million square miles throbbing with industry. I am more than 5 million farms, I am forest, field, mountain and desert. I am quiet villages — and cities that never sleep.

You can look at me and see

Ben Franklin walking down the streets of Philadelphia with his broadsword under his arm. You can see Betsy Ross with her needle. You can see the lights of Christmas, and hear the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" as the calendar turns.

I am Babe Ruth and the World Series. I am 130,000 schools and colleges, and 300,000 churches where my people worship God as they think best. I am a ballot dropped in a box, the roar of a crowd in a stadium and the voice of a choir in a cathedral. I am an editor in a newspaper and a letter to a congressman.

I am Eli Whitney and Stephen Foster. I am Tom Edison, Albert Einstein and Billy Graham. I am Horace Greeley, Will Rogers and the Wright brothers. I am George Washington Carver, Daniel Webster and Jonas Salk.

I am Longfellow, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Walt Whitman and Thomas Paine.

Yes, I am the nation, and these are the things that I am. I was conceived in freedom and God willing, in freedom I will spend the rest of my days.

May I possess always the integrity, the courage and the strength to keep myself unshackled, to remain a citadel of freedom and a beacon of hope to the world. This is my wish, my goal, my prayer in this year of 1964 — one hundred and ninety years after I was born.

'A World Under Tyranny Is Goal of Communists'

The Communists have never made a secret of the fact that they intend to "bury" us. They have no intention of "co-existing" with the U.S.A. and our free way of life. They have deliberately sabotaged the U.N., with Uncle Sam footing the bill. They have no scruples about breaking so-called treaties and intend to bring the whole world under their cruel tyranny.

If you don't want your farms "collectivized," your children's heads filled with propaganda in "State" schools; if you want to be free to own a business and make a profit; if you want to have enough to eat and wear, support our President in Viet Nam. If we don't take a stand now, we are lost.

'Governor Will Raise Our Taxes Again'

We see that our Governor is going to attack our traffic accident problem. Surely he will do the only thing that any of our legislators could do—raise our taxes. MILFORD

I commend Governor Romney on his efforts to solve our traffic problems. Our principal trouble is with the driver. Since most safety devices only reduce the consequences of the impact, we should attempt to prevent the impact. We should spend more time and money on education of the driver, young and old. We must cut our speed, either on a voluntary basis or by insisting that cars be made that will not go so fast. After approximately 1.5 million miles of driving I cannot remember when it was really necessary to drive over 60 miles per hour, except in a few cases of extreme emergency.

Reader Questions Nation's Inconsistencies

Why siphon our tax money through the Washington bureaucracy and then return some of it to the states? Why do we tolerate politics and dictatorship in "free" and "democratic" America? Why do we eliminate Bible reading and prayer from our public schools because such practices violate the principle of separation of church and state, and then legislate the use of public tax money to provide services and transportation for children in parochial schools where the teaching of religion is required?

Why do we send our men abroad to fight communism when we condone and protect Communists in the U.S. by judicial decision? We build great highways and insist on mechanical safety for automobiles; we spend effort, money and time to eliminate disease; and Uncle Sam is waging a "political" war on poverty. Then, why do we legalize the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages? Indulgence in alcoholic drinks causes 50 per cent of our highway traffic fatalities and drunkenness is the chief cause of poverty and social misery.

Few citizens realize how many Pontiac police officers were injured in the performance of their duty during 1965. Fewer consider how difficult and dangerous the job is in today's seething cities. Challenged on the street, discredited and discouraged in court, attacked by minority groups, and plagued by low pay, these officers still doggedly perform their sworn duty.

A citizens committee should be formed to support and assist these officers. If our officers are to be intimidated and harassed by false charges of police brutality without support and encouragement from law-abiding citizens, they may well throw up their hands in disgust and let mobocracy prevail.

'Left-Wing Appeasers Prolong Viet War'

The President may kid himself but the people of sound judgment know we cannot win this war without military victories. "There is no substitute for victory."

Military leaders have been forced to fight under the restricting orders of top left-wing leaders in the State Department who have long appeased the Communists in China, Korea, Laos, Cambodia, Indonesia, and elsewhere, including Cuba. These extreme left-wing appeasers allowed the Korean war to end without a victory. They are doing the same thing in Viet Nam.

Our road to victory is devastating air strikes against power plants, ports, supply depots, munitions plants, etc. We could use naval and air power for a blockade of Viet Nam that would end the war quickly and save the lives of untold thousands of Americans. We are not permitted by left-wing appeasers. We must purge the State Department of the friends of Alger Hiss and Communist agents. If the President is unwilling to investigate we will not need another "State of the Union" address but one on "The State of Our President." Congressional elections can go overwhelmingly against appeasers.

Rome grew rich and the politicians built the Colosseum. The politicians went to the forum, the people to the Colosseum to watch the games, and Rome went to hell. Students Protest at Start of 2 Writers' Trial in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government put two writers on trial today for their anti-Soviet works published abroad. A small group of students staged a quiet but unusual protest outside the court.

Western newsmen were barred from the trial, which has turned into the Soviet Union's most important literary case since Boris Pasternak was forced to give back the Nobel Prize in 1958.

Andrei D. Sinyavsky, a leading critic and lecturer popular with student groups, and Yuli M. Daniel, a translator and critic, were charged with writing anti-Soviet propaganda under the pseudonyms of Abram Teriz and Nikolai Arzhak respectively.

The report of the trial by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, indicated that their conviction was a certainty. They could be sentenced to seven years in prison and five years exile to Siberia.

STAND QUIETLY

As the trial opened, about 40 students gathered in subfreezing weather outside the five-story yellow brick building housing the Moscow Regional Court. Despite insistent demands from uniformed policemen to move away, about half of them stood quietly in the cold for more than an hour.

One girl said the group included students from various Moscow institutions of higher learning who had read Sinyavsky's works. She said they were standing there to protest the detention of the writers as unfair.

Sinyavsky and Daniel had led double lives for years, writing well-received literary criticism at home under their own names and sending other manuscripts abroad to be published under assumed names.

After word of their arrest on Sept. 13 leaked out, many prominent Western writers protested.

Poll Tax Ruling Clouds Texas Vote Plans

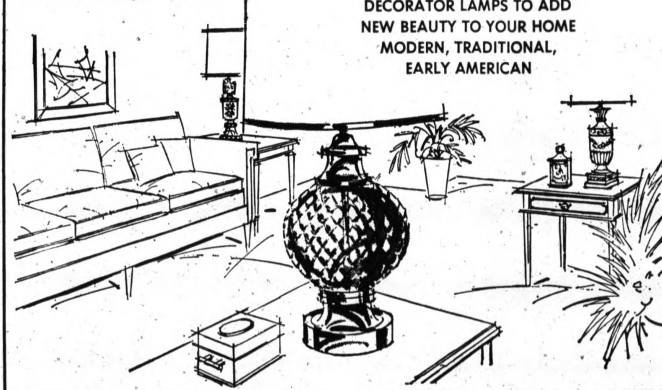

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 1966 election outlook in Texas has been thrown into a state of confusion by a federal court's ruling that the state's poll tax was unconstitutional. Surprised Texas officials pondered their next move today in the wake of the 45-page opinion handed down Wednesday by the three-judge federal court. Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and Gov. John Connally declined comment until they had studied the opinion and consulted with each other. The state has 14 days to ask the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals or the U. S. Supreme Court to stay the order. Unless the order is stayed, Connally may have to call a special legislative session to pay a voter registration system. Neither Connally nor Carr apparently expected the ruling to come when it did. Carr was in San Antonio when the decision was issued. Connally said at a recent news conference that a federal court ruling wiping out the $1.75 state legislature. U. S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach filed suits last August under congressional instructions in the 1965 Voting Rights Act, challenging the Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas poll taxes. A suit filed earlier, testing the Virginia poll tax, is now before the U. S. Supreme Court. The federal suits allege the poll tax discriminates against Negroes. The Texas opinion was written by Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry and was signed also by Circuit Judge John R. Brown and federal U. S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears.

Johnson-Labor Chill May Hurt Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor, once an acknowledged prime mover behind President Johnson, is deep in the fold of the political winds as the White House and Democrats. And unless Johnson and Congress thaw the growing chill, the Democratic party could lose a major slice of its support when it needs it — in this year's congressional elections.

Altogether, labor union members and their families pack the potential political wallop of at least 35 million voters. This year, compared with the total of 70 million votes cast in the 1964 election, the result in Johnson's landslide victory and the biggest Democratic majority in Congress in nearly 30 years.

Johnson's refusal to hike the White House wage guidelines, the Democrats face from 3.2 to 3.6 per cent in line on "Great Society" measures, the historic trend that the party with latest national production said the 14B repeal is "the only size of wage increases acceptable for itself."

Although the AFL-CIO has never accepted the White House wage guidelines, Meany accused Johnson and his economic advisers of changing the rules of the game in holding the four-year-old 3.2 per cent annual average increases. The guidelines are based on the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, the nation's fourth largest union with 1965 figures are added.

Reaction to Johnson's anti-strike proposal is more cautious than to their members, he out hope that the White House would propose an increase in the $1.25 federal minimum wage, something Johnson had been shying away from.

And many labor spokesmen think one of the most important measures in years is the employment administration's bill to set federal standards and raise unemployment payments, which now vary sharply from state to state.

S. Korea Citing Unkept U.S. Promises

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When South Korea dispatched some 20,000 combat troops to South Viet Nam last fall, Premier Chung Il Kwon explained that it was in recognition of South Korea's obligations to nations that helped it turn back Communist aggression 15 years ago.

The Koreans since have seen hard-fought action and the United States would like to have more. But the negotiations have found rough sailing. Chief stumbling block is South Korean dissatisfaction with the way it says the United States has carried out previous promises.

First, the Koreans say, a U.S. promise to arm three Korean reserve divisions to strengthen South Korea's own defenses has not been carried out.

EXPECTATIONS FAIL

Second, South Korean expectations of substantially increased Korean exports to South Viet Nam have not been realized.

The first of these will be done, the Americans say, explaining that some of the delay was caused by the long supply pipe-line between the United States and Korea.

The second is more difficult.

In South Viet Nam, as elsewhere, the United States pursues a buy-American policy. This policy directs that American aid money be spent wherever possible on American goods to help stem the outward flow of U.S. gold.

EXPECTATION

The United States has been reluctant to ease this policy, but the expectation is that the Koreans will get at least part of what they demand.

The South Korean stand is reflective of a new attitude taking shape in Seoul, the nation's capital.

Even before the dispatch of troops, Korean engineers were at work on South Viet Nam's roads.

STRESS QUALITY

Korean salesmen throughout the world push the quality of Korean exports.

Increasingly, confidence grows that at the end of another five years South Korea can become self-sustaining.

There also is a growing belief that South Korea has a place to play in world, and particularly Asiatic, affairs.

But there also is a belief that in dispatching troops to South Viet Nam, South Korea runs an obvious risk.

WAR RENEWAL

Red Chinese threats already have held out the possibility that the war between North and South Korea may be renewed.

Therefore, South Korea cannot deplete the troops that for 15 years have stood guard at the cease-fire line.

Already the Koreans note a sharp rise in terrorism and subversion directed from the North.

The South Korean Central Intelligence Agency says that Communist agents have been dispatched from North Korea with instructions to assassinate President Park Chung Hee.

HELD RESPONSIBLE

Communist agents are held responsible for the murder of South Korean farmers.

Other Red agents are said to have been instructed to determine capabilities of the South Korean army in the event the war in Viet Nam should spread.

Senate Plans to Accept Nearly All of House Changes to GI Bill in Action Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate plans today to accept nearly all of the changes made by the House in approving the GI bill.

But one expected Senate change may force another House vote before Congress can give final approval and send to the White House the measure setting up a permanent system of education and home loan benefits for veterans.

Although the measure is more costly than one pushed by President Johnson, he is expected to sign it into law. It would provide assistance to veterans with more than six months military service retroactive to the expiration of previous programs on Jan. 31, 1955.

The legislation comes up for a floor vote after the Senate acts on shutting off a filibuster against the union shop bill.

Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., chief sponsor of the veterans legislation, said he was prepared to go along with the basic framework of the House version. However, Yarborough said he would insist on an amendment

House experts on the measure said they were confident such Yarborough insisted there was doubt and declared that the point must be nailed down.

The World War II and Korean War GI bills did cover veterans who had not finished high school. The current measure was passed by the Senate 69 to 17 last July.

Yarborough estimated that more than 3 million veterans who have left service in the last 11 years would be eligible immediately for benefits.

U.S. Nazi Head Arrested in NY

6-Year-Old Charge by Jewish Veterans

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Lincoln Rockwell, the "Fuehrer" of the American Nazi party, was arrested last night on a charge brought by the Jewish War Veterans six years ago.

Rockwell was arrested as he walked to a speaking engagement at Columbia University.

He was arraigned before a Negro judge and represented by a Jewish lawyer. Rockwell was to appear in court on the misdemeanor disorderly conduct charge today.

During his arraignment, a swarthy man who shouted, "the only good Nazi is a dead Nazi," rushed at Rockwell but a wall of police kept him away.

The man, who refused to identify himself, said most of his family was wiped out by Hitler's Nazis in Russia during the war. Asked by UPI what he would have done had he got to Rockwell, the man placed a dime between his teeth and bit it double.

1,000 PERSONS
Rockwell, 47, was arrested about a mile from the Columbia campus where more than 1,000 persons, many of them hostile to him, waited for his appearance at McMillin Theater.

It was sponsored by a university group called "Humanitas," which scheduled the speech despite protests of faculty members, the B'nai B'rith and the Jewish War Veterans (JWV).

When the JWV learned Rockwell would speak, it pressed the police department to act on a warrant that the veterans swore out against Rockwell in June 1960. The JWV predicted he would be arrested if he appeared.

The warrant accused Rockwell of causing a near-riot in State Supreme Court when he allegedly told a JWV demonstrator he would liquidate him if he ever got the chance.

WENT TO COURT

Rockwell was attacked by demonstrators. He went to court that time to try to get permission to speak in Union Square.

Rockwell was wearing street clothes instead of his usual "storm trooper" uniform when he was arrested in front of the home of Dotson Radar, head of the "Humanitas" group.

3 Children Die in Fire Blamed on Oil Heater

LANSING (UPI) — Authorities said today a faulty oil space heater apparently caused a farmhouse fire which claimed the lives of three children.

The blaze, which was brought under control shortly before 1 a.m. today, swept the one-story frame home of Mr. and Mrs. John MacDougall, about 15 miles northwest of here, killing Elizabeth Karen, 10; David, 8, and Paul, 6.

The parents and three other children, twins Janet and John, 13, and Katherine, 11, escaped.

The farmhouse was located near Wacousta, a town of less than 200 persons.

Wacousta has no fire or police department and firemen from nearby Grand Lodge and Delta Township were called to fight the blaze.

Device to Help Blind Read

Consists of Finger Vibrators, Photocells

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — In size, it's no bigger than a small pistol. In operation, it will read anything from a Shakespeare to the label on a pork and beans can. It is a new reading machine for the blind. Called a Visotactor by its creators, Hans A. Mauch and Glendon C. Smith of Mauch Laboratories, Inc., in Dayton, Ohio, the reading device is still in the experimental stage.

But its essential features have been worked out, and if the device reaches commercial production some two or three years from now, it promises to free blind people from the confines of Braille.

The Mauch Visotactor is a basic instrument consisting of photocells and finger vibrators.

By slipping fingers of the right hand into four slots and moving the Visotactor across a printed (or written) page, the blind receive vibrations that signify letters.

MORE ADVANCED

More advanced than this is the Recognition Machine, a combination Visotactor, memory and magnetic tape that will read letters out loud in a technique called "spelled speech."

The recognition machine will not be ready for probably five years, reported Mauch at a two-day session on reading machines held by the Veterans Administration here, which is funding the research.

The new reading instruments would not have been possible without the development of miniature transistors, Mauch told Science Service.

Twenty-six tiny transistors lodged in the handle of the Visotactor translate pictures from photocells into electro-mechanical vibration.

OPTICAL SYSTEM

As the instrument is moved by the blind person, across a line of type, its optical system projects letters onto an array of photocells which then register the alternating light and dark spaces.

Small type as in newspapers or magazines is magnified five times, so that the cells actually see letters one-half inch high.

When the photocells encounter dark lines, finger vibrators begin to work. Vibrations will continue as long as one or more of the cells see black. But, and this is the key, the amount of vibration and the time it occurs combine to produce a physical tactile impression of the letter.

It is as if the blind person were dragging his fingers across a relief map, with dark spaces equivalent to mountains and light spaces to valleys.

No one is sure yet, but Mr. Mauch and other scientists working with tactile vibration suspect that the optimum reading speed is about 30 words per minute, one-seventh of the average reading speed of a sighted person. But compensation lies in the fact that the Visotactor will read any symbol not more than one-half inch in height. This means numbers, punctuation, longhand, French and Chinese can all be read by the blind individual — if he knows what the "lines" playing on his fingers represent.

Friddle, 32, lost 113 pounds — "from a tight 36 to a loose 49" — and was sworn in as a full-fledged policeman.

He had weighed 338 pounds, spread over a 6-foot-4 frame, but is now down to 225 pounds.

Like Cigarette in Postwar Europe

Office $5 Bill Keeps the Economy Going

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans earn hundreds of billions of dollars a year.

We lose on an awed world a tidal flood of products. We waste or discard enough to keep another population our size in comfort. But what keeps our gigantic system functioning? What fuels our whole economy? What really primes the pumps?

It isn't the Federal Reserve System. It isn't all the gold in Ft. Knox. It isn't even the installment plan.

CUSHION OF SAFETY

What is it then? It is the office $5 bill, the white collar class cushion of safety.

It is a wonder that the big-brained economists haven't yet discovered the importance of the office $5 bill to the U.S. business structure. It plays the same role that cigarettes did in parts of ravaged Europe after World War II.

Remember the story? Commerce was at a standstill in one German village because no kind of money was trusted. Then an American passing through town gave a cigarette to a German.

A cigarette: Here was something of known value and real scarcity. The man took it to his butcher and traded it for a pound of meat.

The butcher took the cigarette to a cobbler and had his shoes repaired. The cobbler took it to a glazier who fixed his bombed-window. The glazier traded it to a storekeeper for a pair of heavy gloves. The storekeeper paid it to his helper for a week's work. The helper gave it to a farmer for a basket of turnips. The farmer gave it to the butcher for a pound of meat, and he — Well, the town was rapidly getting back on its feet.

The uproar doesn't die down until the big boss roars out of his den for everyone to shut up and get back to work.

But until they can cash their checks on payday the staff is gripped by financial doldrums. Confidence is shaken. Panic reigns. Nobody in the place lends, borrows or buys.

Things stay that way until Monday, when another temporarily flush fellow puts a new $5 bill in circulation, and the white collar pons regain their faith in a viable economy.

But make no mistake about it. If it weren't for that workhorse of the modern business world — the office $5 bill — America soon would become a second-rate power.

'College-Level Courses Could Attract Police'

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — College-level courses on police training could attract undergraduates into law enforcement work, says a Connecticut police chief.

Glendon C. Smith, chairman of the education committee of the State Chiefs of Police Association, said the courses could help ease an acute shortage of qualified police applicants in many Connecticut communities.

Vincent Price Enthralls Town Hall Audience

By MARGARET BROWN

Excitement was electric at Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall Wednesday when Vincent Price came to read, "Dear Theo—the Letters of VanGogh." His appearance at the Huron Theater and luncheon later at Devon Gables was a smashing sell-out.

"Do you know how you sound backstage?" Mrs. Alex Capsalis, president, jollied the anxious audience as she presented Oakland County's distinguished sculptor, Marshall Fredericks who introduced Mr. Price.

GLORIOUS INTRODUCTION
Fredericks, expressing appreciation of the celebrity's knowledge and unstinting efforts to further the fine arts, said of Price, "He's one of the most remarkable men I've ever met: a combination John Barrymore, Charlie Chaplin and Boris Karloff, all in one body."

In turn, Price commented, "I'm enormously impressed to be introduced by such a great artist."

Relating VanGogh's violent vacillations between art and religion, Price presented the tormented Dutchman as "a something of a saint" and called his collection of letters to Theo, his brother, "... one of the great 19th century spiritual documents."

HIS COLOR
Concerning his explosive use of color, VanGogh said, "I have a lover's clear sight or a lover's blindness." He described his "clash and contrast to express the powers of darkness" and "savage combination of incongruous tones."

At the celebrity luncheon enthralled Town Hallers piled the witty and good-humored Price with a barrage of queries. One inquired about his job as an art buyer and consultant for Sears Roebuck and Company.

"We'll be known in the future by our art," he responded, "yet

AAUW Has Session With Legislators

Three area women attended the sixth annual Legislative Day of the Michigan Division of the American Association of University Women, Wednesday in Lansing.

Laura Belz of the Pontiac branch, Mrs. Frederick Stobbe of the Union Lake branch and Mrs. Robert Trautmann of the Rochester branch were among the 200 members representing 62 state branches.

Theme for the day was "AAUW in Action" with Mrs. Alison Bell of Washington, D.C. presenting a picture of the association's legislative action on a national scale.

APATHY HARMFUL

Mrs. Bell urged less apathy on the part of the nation's citizens who belong to such groups as the AAUW and church organizations with 'no axe to grind.' She reiterated the statement that 'history is shaped as irreversibly by indifference on the part of the nation's citizens as it is by pressures, good or bad, upon legislators.'

Miss Belz told of the AAUW branches that cooperated in getting Oakland Community College established.

Mrs. George Mosher Jr. of the Birmingham branch was a luncheon speaker, discussing legislative activity of the Michigan Division.

LAWMAKERS

Reps. Arthur J. Law, Clifford Smart, Robert Slingerland and Frank Crowley joined the women for luncheon.

The group adjourned to the Capitol to see the Legislature in action during the afternoon.

Let Him Rent Own Place— See if He Remains Single

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Shortly after we were married, my husband's brother came to live with us. It's been five years now and I am a nervous wreck.

He's a bachelor with a good job, money in the bank, a new car, yet he has no interest in sports, women, church or anything.

ABBY: He spends hours in the bathroom getting ready to go nowhere.

He's an authority on every subject and has his nose in everything that goes on in this house. We have absolutely no privacy. When I suggest he find some nice girl and get married, he says only fools get married.

My husband says we can't ask him to leave because he has no place to go. What do you say?

SICK OF HIM
DEAR SICK: I say you should tell Bachelor Brother that the two "fools" who have provided a home for him have had it. And if he's not "foolish" enough to take a wife, he should take a bachelor apartment.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and am going with a fine young man who is 26. I have the feeling he is going to ask me to marry him, and I hope he does because he would make a wonderful husband.

But Abby, he has one very bad fault. When he talks he barely opens his mouth. People are always asking him to repeat himself because they can't understand what he says.

Also he won't let himself smile or laugh very much and I'm sure I know why. He has very bad teeth and he's probably self-conscious about them.

Is there a tactful way to tell

You can always tell the individual with the Jewelry from Rose... Because he or she has always such a particular allure of something different about them. Of course it's their poise, the vigor they put into living, the vitality of their conversation, that special modishness that makes them stand out in the crowd. There is one song that means very much to them. There's no doubt that they are married... or that they are going to marry. Why, then, it's love that makes them so radiantly different! Extra Girl Not Wanted At Dance

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: When one receives an invitation to a dance, is it permissible to ask the hostess if one may bring a guest?
A: It is permissible to ask a hostess if one may bring a man who is a stranger to her; men who dance are always welcomed. But it is rather difficult to ask for an invitation for an extra girl, no matter how attractive she is, unless she is to be asked after by the person asking for the invitation.
One should not, however, ask for an invitation for someone whom the hostess already knows. This is an established rule of etiquette which assumes that she would have sent him (or her) an invitation had she cared to.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It often seems to the housewife that all people ever do is EAT. The unending task of planning attractive meals is difficult enough without a special problems. Yet many folks have an aging relative in the home or, some member of the family who is on a restricted diet.
Ida Feren, Director of Nutrition at the Central House of the Jewish Home and Hospital for the Aged in New York City, plans meals for 45 elderly people on several kinds of restricted diets and still comes up with interesting dishes.
Over the years the Home's medical staff and nutritionists have conducted studies on which they have based some commonplace approaches to feeding those in older age groups. Using guidelines established by the medical department, the dietitians created many original recipes and developed little tricks for sprucing up required or permitted foods.
Miss Feren is a warm person who loves good food. Many of her methods are just as adaptable to your home as to an institution. In the first place, she feels, that except in severely restricted diets, such as those for cardiac and diabetes patients, the older person needs the same kind of food the younger one requires except in smaller amounts. The older individual will also feel more like a member of the group if eating the same foods.
Miss Feren said, "Baby food is all right for babies, but it's not very appetizing for adults. Fruits and vegetables can be turned into light fluffy souffles with a minimum of work." The following recipe is an example of what she means.
One-fourth pound finely chopped, lightly seasoned vegetables (carrots, spinach, asparagus or string beans will do nicely.) Three tablespoons butter — 3 tablespoons flour — 1 cup milk (skim milk can be used) 3 egg yolks — ¼ teaspoon salt or salt substitute — 3 egg whites — a pinch nutmeg. Melt butter. Gradually stir in the flour and milk. Stir until sauce is thick. Re-move from heat and add egg yolks, stirring constantly. Fold in stiff egg whites. Fold in vegetables. Pour mixture into custard cups or greased baking dish. Place dish in pan of water and bake in 350 oven until firm.

HOSTESS SERVED?
Q: I am giving a dinner party in two weeks and have engaged a maid to come in that evening to wait on table. I would like to know just when I should be served.
A: I served in turn, or should all the guests be served first and then me and last of all my husband?
A: You are served in turn. To have the maid skip you and then return to serve you next to last is awkward and delays the rapid serving that is so important to having food remain until all are served. Your husband is of course served last.
FAMILY
Q: My husband's associates are honoring him at a dinner dance at a hotel in the near future. I would like to know if I should remain seated when the guests rise in applause.
Also do our sons and daughters rise or remain seated?
A: You and your sons and daughters join the others in rising.

St. Valentine Started Gift Giving Feb. 14

By MADELEINE DOREN

Midway in this bleak and Impatient month of February comes a romantic day with its perennial problem of what to give one's favorite girl or beau.

Since ancient Roman days, sweethearts have exchanged varied gifts ranging from rare perfume to gold jewelry.

For her, there's candy and flowers or an exotic perfume to kindle a flame in her heart? Nice, but not too lasting.

Lingerie? Also nice, but too personal; records and books, intellectual but too impersonal.

FOR HIM
For him, why not a gift to match his personality type or the type you would like him to be?

For the sportsman, consider a tennis racket, badminton set, golf club or a dozen golf balls; skating or skiing equipment or even a new pad for his toboggan.

An antique French phone or potted tropical plant would please the sophisticated or junior executive. The student could perhaps use a dictionary, literary series or a world globe with atlas.

An advertising man would proudly display an antique gun or picture grouping for his office or study wall, and the smoker can always use a lighter, ash trays or a pipe-rack.

Today's Valentine messages can be more personal than ever, for, thanks to science and technology, modern greetings can sing or speak through use of tape recorders.

MARRIAGE
Many a young man, according to researchers, will use a tape machine to record his message, perhaps even with soft background music. The tape or cartridge will be sent to his sweetheart who will then play it back for a truly warm and personal greeting.

So, a chest can be the answer to your perfect gift, beautiful and practical, with a subtle way of saying "Be My Valentine". Many couples collaborate on the gift, each sharing the expense of a truly "his and her" present.

Now attractively styled, this piece of furniture can come out of the bedroom to provide extra seating space in living room, hall or first-floor family room.

His Latest Look

There's a new look in leisure-time fashion for men. It's the sweater-shirt, which can be worn alone or with another shirt. It's styled like a sweater, as light as a shirt, for double duty good looks.

Land-O-Oak Picks Boss, R.E. Walter

R. E. Walter, an engineering supervisor at GMC Truck and Coach Division, has been chosen "boss of the year" of Land-O-Oak chapter, American Business Women's Association.

The group held its annual 'boss night' Tuesday at Bedell's.

Elizabeth Tiley, administrative nurse at Pontiac State Hospital, was the principal speaker of the evening. She showed films on admittance, treatment and return to normalcy of patients at the institution.

ABWA is an educational organization designed to elevate women in business and to promote better employee-employer relations. It was founded in 1947.

Program chairman of the evening was Mrs. LaVon Ryden.

An Even Break

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Something new in the way of a protective association has been formed here—the Divorced Men's Protective Association. Incorporation papers have been filed, with the charter saying that the group seeks to get legislation to modernize laws regarding divorce, separation, annulment, child support and custody, making them "more nearly equitable for both men and women."

This Policy Takes Care of Catastrophe

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:
Shall I drop a hospitalization insurance policy and take a major medical instead?

I am in my 40's, bachelor, expect to be married soon. The company for which I work provides Blue Cross at no cost to me.

MARY FEELEY
A major medical policy with a $500 deductible clause would cost me less than the $125-a-year policy I now hold.

R. W., Portland, Ore.

Dear R. W.:
I say take the major medical policy. Your company is already providing you with Blue Cross, so what you need is a medical policy which will take care of a catastrophe. I'm a great believer in major medicals, because I think they stand ready to absorb the shock of a real calamity, and the price you pay is worth this protection.

Dear Miss Feeley:
My wife and I have a savings bank account, which is over $10,000.

I am told that if anything happened to the bank, I am insured for only $10,000. Is this true?

I have been advised to split this account into smaller amounts for safety. What is your opinion?

J. C., New York City

Dear J. C.:
Since each savings account is insured for $10,000, you can certainly divide it into two accounts, and stop worrying. You probably have nothing to worry about anyway, but if it makes you feel better it isn't going to cost you anything.

Dear Miss Feeley:
My husband and I are over 70, no children, only nephews and nieces. We own a house—all paid for—and have a small amount of money in the bank.

My plans are that if my husband should die ahead of me I would give half of my inheritance to his nieces. But I am not sure that he would do the same for my nieces.

Could we have two wills made out?
Mrs. A. C., East Coast

Dear Mrs. C.:
I believe every individual should have his own will drawn up. There's just no point in trying to guess what another person would decide to do with any cash or property you might leave at your death. I think you and your husband should talk over your own individual plans and wishes with your lawyer. (You can write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. She will answer questions of greatest general interest in her column.)

Miss Warden Gives Talk Before Pontioak Unit

India Warden, Michigan Division treasurer, National Secretaries Association International, spoke before the Pontioak chapter, Wednesday, in Bedell's.

A question-and-answer period followed her talk on the Home Trust Fund for the retirement home for secretaries.

Mrs. Delbert Parks reported on the GIMAC Secretarial all-day workshop, March 5, in Cobo Hall, Detroit.

This seminar is open to all secretaries, as well as office personnel, commercial students and teachers in Oakland and neighboring counties.

Mrs. LaVerne Adair, at the Pontiac Business Institute, and Mrs. Parks, have registration forms.

Use Table Color at Casual Meals

Don't be afraid of color on the table. Just as nicely arranged, colorful food tastes better, a colorfully set table adds to mealtime pleasure. Bright table mats or cloth with matching or contrasting napkins; a heaping bowl of fruits or flowers; a few unusual accessories can brighten up even the most casual family meal.

Off to a good start in properly fitted shoes for boys and girls.

Careful With Silk

Be careful when you have to remove a spot from silk warns the National Institute of Drycleaning. For instance, if you first decide to blot the spot away with water, don't apply a cleaning fluid while the silk is still wet. Ugly rings will form around the stained area.

Make sure the garment is absolutely dry before you use a cleaning agent. Experiment first on an unexposed seam. And blot—don't rub—silk.

Hair Raising Problem Rears Its Ugly Head

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK — Shipments of black hair from Red China are all snarled up by the U.S. Customs Service — while wigs flipped in the toupee and flash eyelash business.

Hair pieces and phony chignons have been caught in a cold war snag.

Starting today, customs will detain human hair products entering the country from the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Germany and Italy.

Suspect tresses may end up in warehouses, be returned to Europe, or — a hair-raising thought — forfeited to the federal government.

AIDING ENEMY

It seems that the fashionable, long-lashed ladies with great manes of hair have been aiding and abetting the enemy, if ever so inadvertently.

"It has now been determined that substantial quantities of Communist Chinese hair are being used in the production of wigs and other hair products sent to the United States from the affected countries," said the Treasury Department Office of Foreign Assets Control.

And U.S. regulations forbid trade with Red China.

Imports from Hong Kong were banned last November after the Treasury Department found that of the $15 million that American firms paid to import wigs last year, $6 million went to Red China via the British crown colony.

American women, from the shingle to the sasson, don't grow enough hair for themselves.

NOT ENOUGH HAIR

"Why, American women don't produce enough hair in one year for one day's wig production," said Richard Hartwich of the Fifth Avenue firm that bears his name.

So when the wig boom hit in the 1960s American market and wig makers there turned to the Orient to fill the demand.

Hartwich estimated that 95 per cent of all machinemade hair, and that some Chinese hair was blended in even the handmade models labeled made in Europe.

Now it will take either a foreign assets control license or a certificate of origin to get each shipment of hair through customs.

Hartwich estimated it would take eight weeks to clear the red tape; leaving wig makers with short supplies and probably higher prices for spring.

Let Each College Set Its Own Limits

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The importance of college student-faculty dialogue about sex—the exact term used is “can-did dialogue”—has been given top priority by the 260 psychiatrists who compose the membership of the prestigious Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry.

In its just-issued booklet “Sex and the College Student,” the GAP offers guidelines to college administrators in setting policies for dealing with sexual issues among students.

It suggests that each college administration should make “explicit” its attitude toward sex activity on its own campus.

Endorsing the opinion of Dr. Mary S. Calderone of the Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S., the booklet denies colleges the right to dispense contraceptive devices to students, limiting their obligation to the provision of contraceptive information while making it clear that any use of the information is the student's responsibility.

In the hope that parents of college students will find reassurance in this booklet, I offer them the following quotations from it:

“Existing charts handed down by the older generation seem out-of-date to many young people, based as they are on conflicting values, lack of candor and the failure to respond to new realities. . . . Traditional exterior controls of sexual behavior have been modified by recent scientific advances and cultural changes. . . .”

“Some adolescents become preoccupied with the physical aspects of sexuality—a preoccupation accentuated by a literature and culture that abound in the treatment of sex as a physical skill.

Young people cannot miss the message in fiction, movies and plays. Many of our marriage manuals also focus on the physical aspects of sex. . . . The young adult is unsure of what his society expects of him sexually.

However, most late adolescents are eager to arrive at moral standards for their sexual behavior, do not wish to confuse sex with love or be seduced into sexual activity by the unconscious stratagem of calling it love. . . .”

How grateful I am for the combined realism and compassion of this booklet!

If parents wish to ignore the changes which encourage young people to claim self-determination in sexual matters as the Constitution grants it to them in political matters, that is a parent's privilege.

But as modern institutions colleges can't afford this Victorian dreaminess.

Polly's Pointers

Turtleneck Dickie

DEAR POLLY — My little boy's woolen turtleneck sweater was outgrown and I was about to give it away when I had this brilliant idea. I cut off the sleeves, opened the side seams and hemmed it and he has a wonderful turtleneck dickie to wear with V-neck sweaters and flannel shirts with the collars open.

It is heavier than a regular dickie and protects his chest and back.

The discarded sleeves make excellent sweaters for a doll or Teddy bear. I pulled the length over a bear's head, cut holes for his arms, cut the length to size and put a row of buttons down the front for trimming.

I closed the top of the left-over length of sleeve and made the bear a matching stocking cap. I am really not very handy but this was a pleasant project that took only a few minutes. —CHARLOTTE

DEAR POLLY — If you have a hard time getting a gelatin dessert out of the bowl without its slipping all around, use an ice cream scoop instead of a spoon. The sides on the scoop prevent the gelatin from slipping.—MARY

DEAR POLLY — Do you get annoyed when you desperately need a paper clip but cannot locate one among the odds and ends in your drawer?

Fatten half a dozen or so to a small piece of cardboard, clip the cardboard with a clothespin, or punch a hole and hang it, near the place where you most often need such a clip. Just reach up and grab one when it is needed.—HERMAN

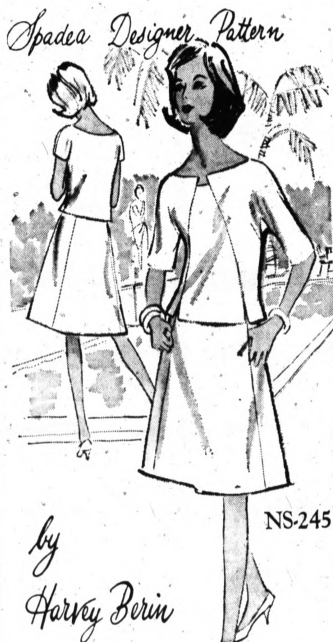

DEAR POLLY—The tub of our washing machine began to leak as I put in the first load of clothes. Needing something to mend the hole quickly, that would not need time to dry, I used florist's clay. It stayed put through several washings.—MRS. E.W.P.

GIRLS! I do not have a washing machine with a hole in it but my television “rabbit ears” aerial fell out the cabinet and the base broke into three pieces which have held together with florist's clay for longer than I like to admit.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I would like to add to the Pointer someone sent in about returning old letters to the senders for their enjoyment.

We had so much pleasure from reading old letters and diaries of my husband's grandmother that I started, eight years ago, keeping a carbon copy of all my letters home and filing them in a ring binder with the letters I received. Since I write my folks all the interesting things we do I have, in effect, a diary. Also any cute poems, jokes, the children's papers and newspaper articles are filed.

I have already spent some pleasant hours reading back over them and some day my children or grandchildren may find them interesting.—BETTY

The wonderful ease of the new shapes is here to stay and this two-piece dress by Harvey Berin is a perfect example. The neckline has a clever notched detail with seams running out at an angle to emphasize the A-line flare. The gusset sleeves can be made ¾ length or short, and 2½ yards of 42" fabric for whichever you prefer. The graceful skirt is cut and shaped to match the overblouse. It also has concealed pockets and a zipper in the front seams. For sheer perfection make it available for 50 cents each in linen first, then cotton or any Duchess of Windsor Pattern of the wonderful mixtures. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear produce a better fit. See chart Bos 535, G.P.O. Dept. P-6 New York, N.Y. 10001.

S. Viet Progress Delay Laid to Military Atmosphere

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's government has many plans for political, economic and social improvements. Attempts are being made to carry out some of them, on a limited scale, but most of them are still on the drawing board.

The delay is due to the war and the military buildup that in the past year have far overshadowed politics and other civil endeavors. The military situation dominates the scene.

The government attempts to a military junta made up of the generals who have come out on top after the series of coups and political upheavals which followed the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem in November 1963. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, an air vice marshal, and Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state, head the junta.

The military government already has lasted longer than many persons expected. Despite rumors of more coups and some small-scale moves in recent weeks, it appears to be holding together.

UNIFIED FRONT
In running the government, the military men meet behind closed doors and, so far at least, have come up with a unified front. There are compromises, and there have been reports of dissent, but no other group is in a position to challenge the military rulers as long as they do not fall out among themselves.

Student groups that once largely ignored the political basics of government, through street demonstrations and other pressures now are quiet. There is occasionally a rumbling from the intellectual center of Hue, in the northern part of the country, but this has been in a minor key.

The Buddhist and Catholic religious groups that played leading roles before and after the fall of Diem have for the most part remained passively on the sidelines since the present government took over. Civilian politicians still talk in the coffee shops, but they represent no central force.

The military government, U. S. officials have opened the necessity trade schools to give manual trade of domestic animals and of carrying on the war, has training in numerous fields. farm products.

These schools are well equipped and offer a wide choice to the Vietnamese who attend them.

NO ELECTIONS
There have been no elections for any office other than some powerless local officials. There have been promises of elections in 1967, but any steps in that direction undoubtedly will depend on the military situation and on the military leaders.

OWN ECONOMY
The establishment of what are called "economic belts" is planned for many communities in a campaign to aid the Vietnamese develop their own economy. The goal is to develop animal husbandry and agriculture. The government hopes through these projects to prevent a shortage of domestic animals and of carrying on the war, has training in numerous fields. farm products.

Senators Hit Policy Critics

Say Reds Encouraged by Attacks on LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democratic senators say that attacks on President Johnson's Southeast Asia policies are encouraging the Communists to continue the Viet Nam war.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said he is convinced that what is keeping North Viet Nam from the negotiations table "is the conviction that we'll tire and quit." He said this belief is being bolstered by senatorial criticism of the President's actions and objectives.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., a Foreign Relations Committee member, said that what he called "the clamor" of the anti-Viet Nam minority "encourages Hanoi and Peking to persist in their aggression, in the mistaken belief that popular resistance to war at home will soon compel the American government to withdraw from Viet Nam."

The two senatorial supporters of the President spoke out in advance of today's scheduled appearance of George Kennan, former ambassador to the Soviet Union and an expert on Communist affairs, before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's inquiry into Viet Nam policies.

'DISBALANCE'
Kennan has contended that U. S. involvement in Viet Nam in its present dimensions represents "a grievous disbalance of American policy." He has said it has sacrificed possible improvement in relations with the Soviet Union and put a "deeply regrettable strain" on relations with Japan.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and other policy critics were trying to get together on a possible amendment to a $4.8-billion military authorization bill which might call for presidential restraint in any escalation of the Viet Nam conflict.

Clark told a reporter he may offer a policy rider but added: "I am not prepared to say what its nature is. I have it under wraps." "a grievous disbalance of other senators."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee which approved the bill Wednesday, said he would oppose any policy rider which might be "damaging to the war effort and to the morale of our fighting forces and those of South Viet Nam."

LEADERS AGREE
Senate leaders have agreed to take up the bill next Wednesday, after a Lincoln Day vacation.

Johnson's backers were reconsideration with a number of signed to waiting for presentation of their case until Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon and a presidential adviser, appears before the committee a week from today.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, questioned sharply in a previous four-hour stint as a witness, will come back for more the day after that.

Johnson meets this afternoon with Rusk and U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg. The President apparently wants to give Goldberg a fill-in on the Honolulu conference with South Viet Nam's leaders so he can discuss it with representatives of other nations.

Storms With Rain, Hail, Wind Hit Texas

By the Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms, with heavy rain, hail and strong winds, swept areas in Texas today and steady rainfall and melting snow caused flooding in parts of the nation's midsection.

Hail reported by the Weather Bureau as 1 1/4 inches in diameter pelted Austin and San Antonio. Southward at Pleasanton hail was reported six inches deep. Winds of 40 to 50 m.p.h. raked the storm belt. A line of power lines were toppled near Victoria.

More heavy rain doused most of the south central areas from reported at Memphis, Tenn., Illinois into Texas, increasing Walnut Ridge, Ark., and Belle the threat of floods. Overflows in the threat of floods. Overflows in the threat of floods. Overflows in the threat of floods.

Tokyo Weary After Series of Shocks, Peace Blitz

TOKYO (AP) — Having gone through a series of shocks and caught in the backwash of the search for peace in Viet Nam, Tokyo appears to be in a state of mild exhaustion this week. On the surface, everything in this lively city seems the same.

The movie theaters, department stores, coffee shops and bars are thronged with customers. Restaurants which specialize in winter dishes are turning away customers. But the old political excitement is dwindling. Demonstrations against the war have dropped off. The university students who led them are preoccupied with term examinations or demonstrating against tuition increases. Laborers are worrying about the rising cost of living.

CALM FEELING

The very word Viet Nam no longer is invested with the potential for argument it once was. There is a greater feeling of calm, probably tied to a kind of resignation as far as it is concerned.

The subdued air may also spring from a recognition that Japan itself is in a state of change and that things once believed solid will no longer be the same.

A case in point was the accidental death late in January of the emperor's son-in-law in the apartment of a bar hostess. This was given wide newspaper coverage, and discussed freely.

The event was a reminder that Japan's open society is a comparatively young plant. Before and during the war, such an uninhibited approach to a scandal involving the imperial family would have been prohibited by those who fostered the idea of the emperor's divinity.

PEACE CAMPAIGN

The American peace campaign did much to change Japanese thinking on Viet Nam. For a brief time Tokyo, as several other world capitals, had its season of hope.

Prior to that, a large and important sector of Japanese opinion was sharply critical of the American role in the war. Then, U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Ambassador W. Averell Harriman came to Tokyo and imparted their views to the Japanese. The net result was to convince many who previously had wavered in belief that the United States genuinely was searching for peace.

Having once blamed Washington, the critics now turned toward Peking and Hanoi. When the Communists failed to respond, a general feeling of disillusion with the Chinese and North Vietnamese set in.

The resumption of the bombing of North Viet Nam was received with something like resignation. The previously critical press and a number of intellectuals now assert that it is up to the Communists to prove their peaceful intentions.

LAST SHOCK

The last shock of early February was the crash of a commercial airliner into Tokyo Bay, killing 133. The general feeling of helplessness was summed up by one anguished relative who wanted to know why unmanned spacecraft could land on the moon safely but airliners still crashed.

These three events—the emperor's son-in-law, the peace drive, and the air crash—were not related, except perhaps in the subconscious of the 10 million or so inhabitants of Tokyo.

All three of them have, nonetheless, contributed to a period of letdown, one undoubtedly connected with winter. The mood is likely to change when spring comes.

N-Power Use in Ocean Next

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The "inner space" of deep seas and ocean bottoms are the next vast and still largely unexplored region where the harnessed power of the atom can be put to good use.

Nuclear power systems already developed are proving useful on the earth's land, in outer space and on the ocean's surface.

The deep-sea applications for such systems were outlined in the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's annual report to Congress here today.

The AEC said "there is little doubt that nuclear power" has many uses for future ocean exploration.

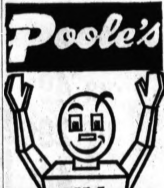

Some of the nuclear systems use the heat of disintegrating radioactive atoms as their energy source, while others use the heat produced by fissioning nuclei in a small nuclear reactor.

CALLED SNAP

Both sources are called SNAP, an acronym for Systems for Nuclear Auxiliary Power.

SNAP systems could be used in the deep oceans not only for exploration and survey, the AEC reported, but also for research into the physical and biological life cycles of the seas; discovery, identification and recovery of underwater objects; exploitation of underwater oil and mineral resources; navigation and detection systems, and to support underwater stations.

As an example of the potential of nuclear power systems for oceanographic work, the AEC noted that the first isotopic SNAP generator was put into commercial use on an oil rig in the Gulf of Mexico during 1965.

American Aide Is Near-Legendary Operative in Viet Nam War

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — What's happened to Lansdale? That question is frequently asked in Saigon these days.
The man himself, retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Edward G. Lansdale, a near-legendary American operative in South East Asia, has the least to say about it.
Lansdale is in Viet Nam in definitely at the request of U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.
11 AIDES
Since he arrived five months ago, the 57-year-old "senior liaison officer" and his 11 hand-picked aides have deliberately avoided contact with newsmen, working quietly out of an old French villa in a Saigon suburb.
The anonymity is just starting to pay off.
When he arrived he told newsmen he was here to assist in a "noble cause." He apparently meant he would do all he could to bring out the best in Vietnamese people fighting communism. Lansdale had helped the late Philippines President Ramon Magsaysay do this, and, for a while, the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.
Lansdale works intimately with Lodge. Both are known to be concerned about the extent the military program has overrun the civilian one in Viet Nam and the de-emphasis of the counter insurgency program in favor of conventional tactics. They are trying to redress the balance.
NO ANNOUNCED PLAN
Lansdale has no announced overall program. He is here as a catalyst in a land that is weary of politics and war, one of his aides said, adding:
"You could call his missions an attempt to inspire the Vietnamese. He wants to see our Vietnamese as enthusiastic in their efforts as the Viet Cong are."
Lansdale's people don't expect any glory out of their current mission because by its nature they must remain in the background. They turned anonymous after they arrived. Lansdale had been told that he could pick his team from anywhere in the government service, and he did.
One of his aides came from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's staff. Another had suddenly refused service in Viet Nam but was happy to come with Lansdale. The group has close rapport with Lodge. Lansdale confers with him several times a day. All this did not go down too well with some of the officials already here.
CHIEF ADVISER
Lansdale had tussles with Washington officialdom in the days when he was chief American adviser to Diem. He probably had more influence with Diem than any other American when he worked in Saigon in 1955-56.
Then a colonel, Lansdale quietly helped steady and reinforce the Diem regime by contacting some of the warring elements then operating in Saigon and their support for Diem.
Lansdale was scathing in reports to Washington on the conduct and abilities of the official Americans then in Saigon. He moved back to Washington and eventual retirement from the Air Force in 1956 when it seemed apparent Diem was firmly in power.
President John F. Kennedy reportedly asked Lansdale to return to Viet Nam in 1961 as a troubleshooter. Opposition by enemies in the State Department and the Pentagon supposedly blocked Lansdale's appointment. Some derisively referred to Lansdale as a "king-maker," a charge that was not altogether wrong.
NO 'KINGMAKING'
Lodge is known to have gone to President Johnson to get Lansdale over here this time, but with no "Kingmaking" in mind.
The Vietnamese government also suspected Lansdale's motives. It took them many months to understand what the Lansdale group was getting at, mainly because the group was bringing ideas instead of money.
"It is only now that we have anything near a real rapport with the Ky government," a source close to Lansdale said.
"But we are still publicity-shy. Any time, anything appears in print about us, both the official American community and the Vietnamese government figure we're trying to capitalize on something."
"We're not, Lansdale and every member of this group have already made their reputations within the service. We don't need publicity."

One idea that is just bearing fruit is a firmly based pacification program. It is the fifth major pacification program in Viet Nam in five years. All the others have foundered.
Lansdale is trying to make this permanent by starting small and working up. The Vietnamese government agrees with this view. He initially envisaged a showplace pacification area, a small, living example of the political and economic "new deal" he felt should be brought to the war-ravaged countryside.
Now he feels that any showplace project might come under special scrutiny by the Viet Cong. He has set his sights on a gradual pacification project, beginning in areas definitely free from Viet Cong influence.
"There are few places like this in Viet Nam, so it means we are starting pretty small," a source close to Lansdale said.
"But we feel this is the best way."
The Lansdale group is working closely with the head of the pacification program, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, a young Vietnamese officer who has impressed them. Thang is forming a youth corps, something like the U.S. Peace Corps.
The first class for the corps begins today. It will be a 10-week course, and the graduates will move out to pacified villages and help in any way they can.
Lansdale knows the reasons why the other pacification plans failed — indifference by officials, apathy by villagers. He hopes to change this, and the youth corps is his weapon.
The Lansdale mission has no budget to work on. It operates entirely with the ideas. Vietnamese at all works of life meet at the Lansdale villa and talk over problems.
SMOOTH RIVALRIES
Lansdale is noted for his ability to create bonds with people. During his five months in Viet Nam he has endeavored to smooth over some of the rivalries between the various U.S. missions here and the military high command.
"He's in the best position to do it," one aide said. "He is close to Ambassador Lodge, and he pinned the stars on several of the generals we have over here now."
With his team of top assistants, and his broad knowledge of Viet Nam's personalities, Lansdale is in an excellent position to carry out undercover work of one kind or another. There is no evidence to indicate he is doing this.
"We don't believe in taking credit for anything," an aide home.

MAJ. GEN. LANSDALE

4p SPECIAL REPORT said, "We operate in such a way that the outfit we are helping, such as the joint U.S. Public Affairs Office, and the U.S. Aid Mission, can use the ideas as their own."
ONE IDEA
One idea is a project to determine if the Viet Cong react militarily to schemes given wide publicity. Lansdale's group suggested that the Saigon-Cap St. Jacques Highway be permanently opened. The Viet Cong have gone out of their way to close it.
Another idea is to build up a repertoire of patriotic songs for villagers to sing. This is a direct result of successful songfests held at the Lansdale villa with Vietnamese.
Lansdale has met with many frustrations, because the Vietnamese don't have to listen to his ideas. One Lansdale aide, sent here to help in improving the legal system, was bluntly informed that Viet Nam has a perfect system. He is going to try to change it.

Ex-Klansman to Add Details

Tells Probers Nazis
Showed Up at Rally

WASHINGTON (UPI). — An ex-policeman from Wilmington, Del., was prepared today to offer congressmen more details of how he became disenchanted with the Ku Klux Klan because of its friendship with the American Nazi party.

Ralph Pryor, 33, who now makes a living by playing the trumpet and "helping a friend out with her restaurant," began his testimony yesterday before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which is investigating the Klan.

The former policeman, who joined the Klan last August and was soon named Delaware's first grand dragon in recent years, told the committee he joined the Klan's "invisible empire" in hopes of battling communism and promoting better government.

He said he was also moved by childhood recollections of pictures of robed and hooded Klansmen delivering groceries to poor Negroes.

Pryor testified that Robert M. Shelton Jr. of Tuscaloosa, Ala., imperial wizard of the United Klans of America, Inc., appointed him the state's highest Klan officer after he helped set up a rally in Bear, Del.

He said he quit the Klan in disgust Jan. 4 after another rally last November in Rising Sun, Md.; that was attended by American Nazi party members.

"It was more like a Nazi funeral than a Klan rally," he said. "... I became sick to my stomach."

Pryor said that he had originally dreamed of turning his grand dragon's post into a full-time job. But he lost heart at the rally, which included Prussian music, guards from American Nazi "firing squads" and Hitler-style statements.

He testified the central theme of the rally was a eulogy to Daniel Burros, a New York Klansman and former Nazi party member who committed suicide after a newspaper disclosed that he was Jewish.

Pryor, who left the Wilmington police department in 1964, also testified that since he quit the Klan, Klansmen had been seen around his home and he had received a threatening letter about two and a half weeks ago.

He said the letter contained a hangman's noose made out of twine.

Miami Murder Suspect Powers Described as Vicious, Quick With Knife

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Melvin Lane Powers has been described as quick with a knife and possessed of a venomous nature — two traits the state hopes may help brand him the slayer of multimillionaire Jacques Mossler.

One witness, Earl G. Martin, a solid 196 pounder with a gold tooth in front, said he came once upon Powers thrusting a sharp letter opener into a table. "He say if he had his way, and nobody would find out, he take that knife and jug (stab) presence of women."

Refuse to Take 'Dir'

ABERTILLERY, England (UPI) — About 130 garbage men and gravediggers have been on strike for a week. They staged the walkout because a foreman allegedly swore at them in the presence of women.

Months before Mossler was slain in his Key Biscayne apartment, June 30, 1964. The victim died after being bludgeoned and then stabbed 39 times with a sharp, slender instrument.

VICTIM'S WIDOW

Powers' trial with his aunt, Candace Mossler, widow of the slain victim, resumes today. The state said it plans to offer further testimony about an alleged love affair between aunt and nephew. State Atty. Richard J. Gerstein said in court Wednesday that this "underlies the entire case."

Powers, 29, is a tall and dark-haired while his aunt is a small, chic blonde who gives her age as 39. They are accused of plotting the slaying of her husband, who headed a $33-million bank.

In early testimony Wednesday several witnesses from Houston, Tex., home town of Powers and base of the Mossler financial empire, said Powers had passed actual killer, with his aunt's connivance.

Court attendants found it necessary to close the ceiling-high metal doors outside Circuit Judge George Schulz' sixth-floor Dade County courtroom against the curious. The courtroom seats only 150 spectators, and more than twice that many seek admission daily.

months before her marriage to displayed his aunt's photograph as that of his wife.

"I said she looked kind of old. He said 'when you are in love, age means no difference,' and of course I agreed."

Mrs. Mossler is sensitive about her age, which the state thinks is 47. She had to endure a ripple of laughter from courtroom spectators. She didn't appear to change expression, however.

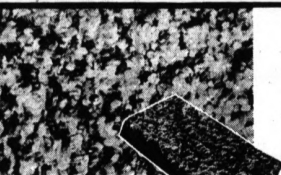

Another witness was George Nize, who rented an apartment in Powers in Houston, and who while Powers was the nephew of a used auto.

Ben Barka Case Juicy French Scandal

State to Cadillac: Reinstall Chief

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Who killed Mehdi Ben Barka? Who ordered him kidnapped? Why were police and gangsters working together in the affair? These are the questions in the juicy French scandal examined in the following dispatch.)

By PAUL TREUTHARDT
PARIS (UPI) — Everyone in Paris is familiar with the neighborhood known as St. Germain-des-Près. Here on the boulevard St. Germain movie stars, television performers, artists and famed writers such as Jean-Paul Sartre, Simone de Beauvoir and Françoise Sagan gather in two cafes — Le Flore and Les Deux Magots.

Directly across the traffic-jammed boulevard in this "Greenwich Village" of Paris lies the Brasserie Lipp, a cafe that is highly favored by politicians because it is about equal distance from the senate and the national assembly and because it serves man-sized meals of Alsatian sausages and sauerkraut with big steins of good beer.

Tourists are familiar with the area as the location of the St. Germain-des-Près Church, one of the most ancient in Paris and noted for its Roman clock tower.

But now it is known best of all as the starting point for the infamous Ben Barka affair.

COMPLEX SCANDAL
Here in front of the Brasserie Lipp last Oct. 29 the most complex, intricate, and incredible scandal of present-day France began with the kidnapping of Mehdi Ben Barka, a shadowy Moroccan political figure living in exile.

For sheer technical proficiency, the kidnapping must have few equals. The victim went quietly, without protest. His companion sounded no alarm. No one else among the lunchtime throngs on the street or in the cafes is known to have noticed the incident.

Few crimes have been so unobtrusive and few criminal investigations have raised such a clamor as the Ben Barka case.

It sent President Charles de Gaulle into a towering rage, brought the French ambassador

HIGH DRAMA
The Ben Barka scandal is an affair of high drama, international intrigue and diplomatic hanky-panky. As a movie script it would go something like this:

A leftist Moroccan politician once suspected of plotting to murder his king is kidnapped in the middle of the day on a bustling Paris street by two police detectives who think they are doing a favor for an informer, whom they know as an airline official but who really is a secret agent.

Believing that the kidnapping has the approval of their police superiors, the detectives deliver the victim to the villa of a notorious underworld gang leader. There, after the arrival of Morocco's chief of secret police, gangsters beat and blind the victim and take him away.

He is presumed dead. Nothing much is heard of the case until months later when an underworld figure confesses in a magazine article that he lured the victim into the kidnap trap. Police finally go to arrest the author of the confession but report he shoots and kills himself just before they get there.

MOVIE SCRIPT
As a movie script, the Ben Barka case probably wouldn't sell. For one thing, you can't tell the good guys from the bad guys. On top of that, it's too incredible.

Yet it was credible enough to President de Gaulle. He fired the head of his secret service and charged the kidnapping was planned by Gen Mohammed Oufkir, Moroccan interior minister.

So the drama continues, as police search for the murder victim — as yet the case has no corpse — and the killers. The cast included these principals:

- The victim — Ben Barka: Leader of the left-wing opposition to Morocco's King Hassan II. Accused of plotting to murder Hassan and twice sentenced to death in absentia. Had lived secretly in Cairo, Geneva, and Paris.
- The kidnappers — Commissioner Louis Souichon and his assistant Roger Voltot of the Paris police. Both have insisted they were told the chief of French secret services was in on the plan.

As the investigation continues, Lopez, the accused mastermind, and the two kidnappers, Souichon and Voltot, are in jail. Boucheseiche is believed to be in Morocco. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

The investigation appears to be nearly as tangled as the crime. The top police official in the inquiry has charged that the suspects were trying to frame policemen working on the case.

Commissaire Maurice Bouvier made the complaint as an investigating magistrate looked into Lopez charge that Bouvier waited nine days before taking action against kidnappers Souichon and Voltot, although he knew of their part in the affair.

In another bizarre development Commissioner Maurice Galibert was shot and killed when he went to a nightclub near the Arch of Triumph to check out a report that a suspect in the Ben Barka kidnapping was there.

SUSPECT
Galibert did not find the Ben Barka suspect, but he was shot by a man being taken into custody for another crime. The motive for the Ben Barka kidnapping remains as shadowy as the rest of the case.

One report is that at a secret meeting in Geneva, Ben Barka had promised to return home and throw the support of his national union of popular forces behind Hassan if the king would fire Oufkir as interior minister.

And some reports from Rabat say that Oufkir, who controls Morocco's 18,000-man police and is said to be stronger than ever settle things here and then we'll since the Ben Barka kidnapping.

King Hassan has said publicly several times that he was sure Oufkir was not involved in the crime.

Oufkir also denied he was involved, but Marcel Leroy, chief operations officer of the French Secret Service, added another dimension to the web of intrigue when he told investigators that he knew about the Ben Barka kidnapping before it happened.

Leroy said he had been told by Lopez that Ben Barka would be seized and that two days after the kidnapping Lopez told him how it was done. But Leroy said he had not passed his advance knowledge of the plot along to his superiors.

Among the millions of mankind's most useful and enduring inventions, few in number are those which work so well and cost so little as the paper clip. Usually of far less value than the papers they join, paper clips continue to work daily in the home and office keeping important documents from going adrift and becoming lost.

Like the paper clip, the newspaper Want Ad is a low cost item that can do a big job. Most of the jobs Want Ads do can be done no other way at comparable cost. That is why Want Ads are used by more people to do more things than any other form of advertising.

THIS IS CALIFORNIA!—An adventurous reporter trudges into the California community of Huntington Lake — a snowbound ghost town each winter with snowdrifts as deep as 11 feet. The resort, 70 miles east of

Crime in the U.S.—2

Firearms Bill in Thicket of Controversy

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second article in a three-part series on crime in the United States.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
UPI National Reporter

WASHINGTON—Any discussion of the increasing danger to Americans in their homes and on the streets almost always starts out with this question: Why not disarm the criminals? easier to ask than to answer.

Ask Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who has been trying to do it for four years and now enjoys the full backing of President Johnson. He is pushing for a federal statute that would control the interstate shipment of firearms and stem the flood of nonporting weapons from abroad.

The assassination of President Kennedy seemed, at the time, to anger Americans enough that it would be easy to pass a law making it difficult for criminals to obtain weapons. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach put it this way:

As long as I live I can never forget that was a mail order rifle — sent to a post office box that had been rented under an assumed name by a man with an established record of defection and mental instability — that killed President Kennedy.

But anger evaporates like water and somehow efforts to get legislation immediately after Kennedy's death failed. Now things are back about where they were. Mayor Francis Graves of Paterson, N. J., proved this not long ago.

TESTS SITUATION

To test the situation he ordered a .22-caliber revolver from a Chicago mail order house, giving only his name and address and enclosing a money order for $13.95. The revolver arrived promptly, and the mayor said this comment:

"The company that sent me this gun had no way of knowing whether I was a convicted murderer, what my intentions were or whether I was five years old or 105 years old."

The Justice Department believes one million guns are sold each year by mail order houses who know nothing about the purchasers except that they have some money and have sent it along.

Over a three-year period, the department says, 4,000 persons bought weapons from two Chicago mail order houses and one-fourth of them had criminal records.

INDIVIDUALISTS

So why is Dodd having so much trouble getting his law enacted? Americans are rugged individualists and prominent in their pantheon of heroes are such gun bearers as Daniel Boone, Davy Crockett and Buffalo Bill.

They also can point to the second amendment to the Constitution which says "the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

The writers of the Constitution, interested in maintaining an armed and ever-ready militia, scarcely can be blamed for not anticipating such later developments as Al Capone, the saved-off shotgun and the American mafia.

Much opposition comes from a most patriotic and respectable organization — The National Rifle Association of America. It has 700,000 members and 12,000 affiliated organizations.

PRASED

It has been praised and supported by several presidents and at no time, so far as diligent research can turn up, has it been accused of being subversive or of attempting to organize a private army.

Basically the association thinks Dodd's law is impractical and this position is stated by its executive vice president, Frederick J. Orth:

FCC Study Set on Relay TV

No Witnesses Due at Closed Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Community Antenna Television (CATV), a TV by-product that has snowballed into a national controversy, came under the scrutiny of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) today.

The FCC planned a closed meeting on the issue. Commission Chairman E. William Henry was undecided when he would have a statement on the proceedings. Today's session was not a hearing and no witnesses were scheduled.

The FCC's study of CATV was undertaken with a wary eye on Capitol Hill where pressure has mounted for and against proposed controls of the system.

CATV picks up commercial television shows and relays them by cable or microwave units to subscribers who pay an average of $5 a month for the service.

Some aspects of the system have already been ruled on by the commission. It said in April 1965, that CATV did not fall under a common carrier classification of FCC regulations.

CABLE SYSTEMS

The agency ruled more recently, however, that it had jurisdiction over cable systems that used microwave units and asked Congress to enact legislation giving it jurisdiction as well over systems using cables.

The first cable system started in Pennsylvania in 1950 to bring television signals to remote mountain areas, but it has since mushroomed into centers of population.

It is this which has touched off the controversy.

The FCC has indicated it will be reluctant in its consideration of CATV to make hard and fast rules.

ANNUAL REPORT

The commission commented in its 1965 annual report that it had "no intention of bypassing congressional action."

The commission is expected to decide to continue its rule that it controls systems using microwave units, that CATV cannot be used for pay-television programming and that there is a limit to the distance from which a TV signal can be imported into a community over CATV.

These decisions, however, probably will take into account congressional reaction.

"There are many examples of legislation enacted years ago but which have been amended in time and time again to fill a supposed need for a new gun law."

"The association, because of this experience, looks upon the vast majority of firearms legislation as the misdirected efforts of social reformers, do-gooders and/or the completely unimformed who would accomplish miracles by the enactment of a new law."

IN CONTROVERSY

At the moment, Dodd's bill is in a thorny thicket of controversy and it would be a brave man, armed or unarmed, who would predict who is going to win the struggle between the senator and his opponents. Meantime, what are the police doing about the increased crime rate? In most cases, about all they can.

There never has been a police chief who will admit he has enough men, and most of the time they are absolutely right. There are 1.9 policemen for every 1,000 inhabitants of our big cities; 1.3 for every 1,000 in the suburbs and .9 for rural areas.

Chiefs of police in big cities occasionally bring about a notable reduction in crime by concentrating on one area or one category of offenses. New York cut crime in the subways by putting policemen aboard the trains.

Washington reduced some types of street crimes by organizing a tactical squadron which concentrated on sections of the city where violence was high.

ASKING FOR TROUBLE

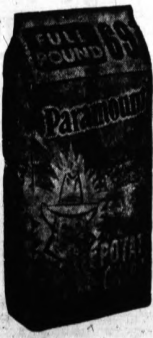

But if you take a policeman away from one place or one job and assign him to another, you are asking for trouble in the posts you have left vacant.

Few persons realize the multitude of duties assigned to the police. New duties are piled on constantly and seldom is the force increased. Scotland Yard probably is the most famous police force in the world, and there is a mistaken idea that all its men devote all their time to solving murders. Not at all.

Scotland Yard is the metropolitan police force of the city of London and thousands of its men spend their time directing traffic and looking for lost children.

(Note: Should crime victims be compensated?)

About two-thirds of all skiers are college graduates, a statistical study released by the Department of Commerce discloses.

Students Are India Hope—and Despair

TRIVANDRUM, India (AP)—Ananthan Krishnan and thousands of young men like him are India's hope — and its despair.

Anantha is a college student whose generation will provide India's next leaders. In their literate skills and energy lie impoverished India's hope for a better tomorrow.

But here in southwest India, students are frustrated stone-throwing malcontents who for weeks have pushed aside their studies in favor of manning the barricades.

There lies India's despair.

COMMUNIST BANNER

Through these students, hard-core professional agitators have raised the banner of communism in Kerala State. It flutters bright red against the lush tropical greenery.

Through the students, the Peking brand of communism has won a beachhead in this section of South Asia.

Anantha is a business administration student at Mahatma Gandhi College in Trivandrum. He is short, wiry and dark — a chain-smoking, foot-tapping type who quickly erupts in anger and scorn when asked about life in Kerala.

He says that India's food crisis triggered the Kerala trouble and that the immediate danger to Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government is that the unrest will break out elsewhere in the crucial months ahead.

"WE WANT RICE"

"We want rice," Anantha says, slipping easily into stock phrases, the Kerala Communists use.

"We are born of rice. We need rice. Why won't the government give it to us?"

Anantha says he isn't Communist — he just goes to Red rallies to hear music played before the harangues begin against Mrs. Gandhi's government and law and order.

The speakers are men who goaded students this month into battling police, ripping up railroad tracks, stoning trains and burning buses.

RED THEME

Rice, and Mrs. Gandhi's inability to deliver more in this year of nationwide drought and threatening famine, has been the Communist theme.

However, a reporter's tour of Kerala showed the Communists have used this theme mainly as an introduction to a delicately played symphony of revolution based on other substantial but less obvious complaints.

There are economic misery, malnutrition, unemployment, inflation and hunger — for rice — in Kerala.

But there's no starvation in the tradition of Indian starvation.

U.S. WHEAT

Imported American wheat is pouring in and food for farmers and villagers is handy, often from a doorstep banana tree.

Interviews with Anantha and many others showed this situation developed: Keralites, rice eaters in the classic Asian sense, refuse to substitute American wheat for rice.

"It hurts my stomach," Anantha said.

American officials report only a third of the wheat ration available in Kerala is purchased by the Communists used.

FIVE OUNCES

This ration is about five ounces daily for each adult. A like ration of rice is snapped immediately.

Tempted by a growing black market demand, rice farmers exchange with its industry and are not selling to the government export items.

Why, they ask, can't Mrs. Gandhi send rice?

Anantha and his college friends have picked up this slogan in full voice but given the opportunity they reveal this is only part of their problem.

The United States does not have large rice stocks to send.

NO ELECTION

They are angry because New Delhi has taken over Kerala. State affairs and has not held an election to replace the local government that collapsed last year.

The Communists harp on the claim that India has rice, but Mrs. Gandhi "discriminates" against Kerala.

After all, they said, Kerala has only 2 per cent of here," Anantha says.

Also, Anantha and his friends year study of wave forces on 4 per cent of its population — know that on completing college submerged structures in the and still manages to earn 12 per cent of the country's foreign difficulty in getting jobs.

If they are lucky enough to find an opening, they expect to have to pay up to $300 under the table to some personnel manager to nail down the job.

Under the circumstances, Kerala students were in a mood for rough stuff when the call came. And they still are.

Kerala is going to remain a time bomb as Mrs. Gandhi struggles with the real food crisis in central and northwest India.

State affairs and has not held an election to replace the local government that collapsed last year.

Under a Communist-led political assault.

Daniel Boone, 23, of Foley, Ala.; Staff Sgt. David "Davey" Crockett, 28, of Jamestown, Tenn.; and 1st Lt. Gene Autry, 27, of Lillington, N.C.

Yanks With Famous Names Fly in Viet

NHA TRANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — If you want to meet Gene Autry, Davey Crockett, Daniel Boone, Willie Mays and Davey Jones, come to the South China Sea.

They're all here—in one squadron—flying the skies of South Viet Nam.

Explaining their job — Flying men and materiel in the 458th Troop Carrier Squadron's C130 Hercules planes — is easier than explaining their names.

Take Staff Sgt. David Crockett, 28, of Jamestown, Tenn. He does not even know if he's kin to the legendary bear-wrestler and Alamo hero.

HIT SONG

"I really took a ribbing when the song Davey Crockett was No. 1 hit," said the sergeant. "Now it doesn't bother me at all. I really don't know if my family tree goes back that far."

Crockett says one of his buddies is actually named John Henry.

When they went out on dates, they used to introduce themselves and wait for the impact. "We got a sort of a weird look from the girls. I don't think they really believed us," he said.

Crockett recalls he rather enjoyed meeting Daniel Boone in Okinawa a year ago. Both are flight engineers.

Boone, 23, of Foley, Ala. says, "It's a name that people remember but sometimes I wish they hadn't."

BOOT CAMP

When Boone went through boot camp, his instructor on the rifle range naturally figured a guy with a moniker like that was a born sharpshooter.

"I barely qualified," Boone said. "He was furious."

Boone also discovered that even in Brazil his is an exciting name.

"We were picking up some flyers in Brazil to take to the Dominican Republic," Boone says, and "this one Brazilian came over and read my name tag. He spelled it out slowly.

Then said it loud, and louder, and ran away waving his hands and yelling 'Daniel Boone!'" linton, N.C., a C130 pilot, knows he is no relation of the singing cowboy but he is in a tough spot trying to tell people that. They won't believe it. He said he once saw Autry at a fair in Raleigh, N.C., but never got a chance to talk to him.

Boone also discovered that even in Brazil his is an exciting name.

"My ID card is always coming out of my wallet," Autry says. "What is worse is that my brother-in-law is a second lieutenant in the Air Force in Orlando, Fla. His wife, my sister, gets pretty embarrassed when she introduces us. His name is Andrew Jackson. When Bob Hope had his show over here around Christmas time, I flew him around in my plane. He came over to me one day after reading my name tag and said 'I want your autograph so the people back home will believe me, and by the way, let's not sidesaddle while I'm aboard.'"

Other squadron members are Willie Mays, 24, of Tuskegee, Ala., with the same name as the baseball star; and pilot Davey Jones, 26, of Newport Beach, Calif. His counterpart is the sailor's sea spirit.

Death Penalty Controversy Flares Again in Britain

LONDON (UPI) — In a country where gallows once were a familiar sight at country crossroads and bodies of highwaymen were left strung up as a warning to travelers, renewed controversy is stirring over the decision to abolish the death penalty.

Lord Dilhorne, former attorney general and one of the chief opponents of the 1965 act that ended hanging, says, "I am certain that the majority of people in this country think it was a mistake, with serious crime increasing so rapidly."

But Home Secretary Roy Jenkins says the act will stay. He stopped hanging for an experimental period of five years, but it is widely expected to be forever.

France, with the guillotine, and Spain, with the garrote, are the only West European countries that now carry out the death penalty.

Recently one pro-death penalty newspaper, the Daily Express, said it counted 249 murders in Britain in 1965 and this was the highest total ever.

USING WEAPONS

"With the fear of execution removed, criminals are using weapons on an increasing scale and the outlook for law enforcement in 1966 is bleak," it charged.

Jenkins replied that the Express figures was "premature and slightly scaremongering."

More widely quoted is the police figure of 235 murders last year, but any number given at this time is only provisional. In the coming months, police will rule out a large number of deaths as not due to murder but manslaughter, or unintentional killing.

In 1964, so far the record year for murders, the provisional figure of 236 was reduced to a final figure of 158 actual murders in the eyes of the law, 10 more than the previous highest year of 1962.

MURDER RATE

The Guardian newspaper, which opposes the death penalty, said in reply to the Express, "The figures since 1967 confirm the extraordinary stability of the murder rate in Britain, and strongly suggests that the issue of capital punishment is wholly irrelevant to the amount of murders in the community."

Public execution ended in 1868. The death sentence for children under 16 was abolished in 1908 and for those under 18 in 1933.

Cupid Scores With Pretty Food

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Valentine Day is the one time of year you can be completely sentimental with approval from all.

Food with a heart motif is easy to prepare. Of course, the obvious thing to serve is heart. Unfortunately, this is not a universally favorite treat.

But you can make heart-shaped salad.

VALENTINE SALAD
1 (3 1/4 oz.) pkg. lemon-flavor gelatin

1 cup boiling water
3/4 cup pizza flavor catsup
1 cup cubed, cooked turkey or chicken
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in catsup. Chill until partially set. Combine turkey, celery and mayonnaise; fold into gelatin mixture.

Pour into a heart-shaped mold or round 8-inch layer cake pan. Chill until firm. Unmold.

If you are using round cake or 2 oranges to make 1/2 cup pan, cut small wedge out of side and place on opposite end to form a heart shape. Garnish with olives, mayonnaise or parsley. Makes 4 servings.

DATE-ORANGE VALENTINE SALAD
1/2 cup fresh dates
2 or 3 oranges
1 envelope plain gelatin
1/4 cup water
1 cup carbonated cherry or strawberry beverage
Iceberg lettuce

Finely cut dates. Squeeze 1

juice; combine juice with gelatin and sugar in saucepan and stir over medium heat until sugar and gelatin are dissolved. Cool to room temperature.

Meanwhile, pare remaining orange and finely chop 2 tablespoons rind. Finely chop 1/4 cup pulp. Add carbonated beverage to gelatin mixture and chill quickly over a bowl of water and ice until mixture begins to thicken.

Stir in dates and orange rind and pulp; turn into 4 (4 oz.) individual heart molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with lettuce. Makes 4.

Let the youngsters help make cookies for their party. You make up the dough early in the day and let them help cut and decorate cookies after school.

VALENTINE COOKIES
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 egg
2 ounces unsweetened chocolate, melted

Sift dry ingredients together. Blend margarine, sugar, corn syrup, egg and melted chocolate in mixing bowl. Blend in sifted dry ingredients, about one-third at a time, beating well after each addition.

Chill until easy to handle. Use about one-third at a time and roll out on lightly floured board or cloth to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into heart shapes.

Cut 1/4-inch strips from dough and shape around hearts like scallops. Press strips into back of cookies.

Bake on ungreased pan 8-10 minutes in 400-degree oven. Decorate with confectioners' sugar icing. Makes about 5 dozen (2-inch) cookies.

Cherry Bavarian cream, molded in heart-shape, makes an ideal dessert for Feb. 14.

CHERRY BAVARIAN VALENTINE

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon salt
Syrup from maraschino cherries, plus water to equal 3/4 cup

CHERRY BAVARIAN HEART

6 eggs, separated
1 1/4 cups milk
1 jar (8 ounces) maraschino cherries, chopped
Red food coloring, optional
1/2 cup sugar
2 cups heavy cream, whipped

Cherries for garnish
In top of double boiler, mix together gelatin, ginger, salt and maraschino cherry syrup. Stir in egg yolks and milk; blend thoroughly.

Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly. Remove from heat and chill until mixture mounds from spoon; stir in chopped maraschino cherries and a few drops red coloring, if desired.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually add sugar and beat very stiff. Fold in cherry mixture.

Reserve 3/4 cup whipped cream and fold remaining whipped cream into cherry mixture. Turn into 10-cup heart-shaped mold and chill 4 hours or overnight.

Unmold onto serving plate and outline heart shape with cherries on top of mold. Force reserved whipped cream through star tube in cake decorator to make lace fluting around cherry heart. Makes 10-12 servings.

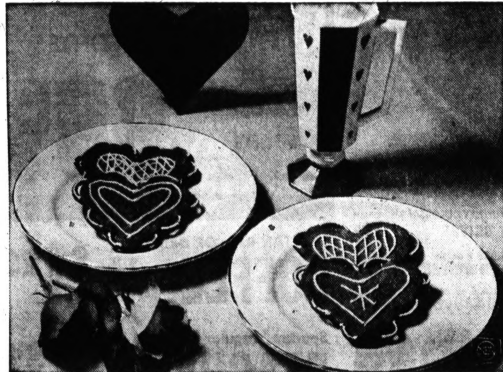

Chili Gets Superior Taste From Blending of Spices

A piping hot bowl of chili con carne is welcome as a friendly greeting with the after-ski crowd or youngsters home from school. It serves as a snack or a meal in itself with old-fashioned soda crackers and an icy glass of beer or buttermilk.

Chili Bill
2 pounds ground beef
1 clove minced garlic
1 cup minced onion
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon salt
Pinch of pepper
1 1/4 tablespoons chili powder
1 tablespoon paprika

1 teaspoon ginger
1 tablespoon sugar
1 small can tomato paste
1 small can tomato sauce
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1/2 cup water
2 No. 2 cans kidney beans
3/4 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons water

Combine and fry beef, garlic, onion, celery and green pepper lightly. Add next 10 ingredients and simmer gently 1 hour. Then add kidney beans. Make a paste of the flour and water and stir into mixture and simmer 15 minutes longer. Makes 8 servings.

VALENTINE COOKIES WITH LACY EDGES

Serve Breaded Veal on Lettuce Rafts

Veal receives the breaded treatment via the cheese cracker crumb route for "Lettuce Scalloppine," an entree to perk up cold-weather appetites. The meat is served atop thin rafts of crisp western iceberg lettuce with a tomato sauce that pleasantly rounds out this main-dish attraction.

Western iceberg as part of a main dish? Why not? Its crunch is one of the most appealing aspects of "Lettuce Scalloppine."

Lettuce Scalloppine
1 head western iceberg lettuce

4 servings veal, cut for scaloppine
Salt
Pepper
1 egg, lightly beaten
1/2 cup cheese cracker crumbs
1/4 cup shortening
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire

Core, rinse and drain lettuce; chill in saran or plastic bag. Pound veal lightly; sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in egg and roll in crumbs. Heat shortening in skillet, add veal and saute slowly 5 to 7 minutes on each side or until lightly browned. Meanwhile, combine tomato sauce, butter, vinegar and Worcestershire in saucepan; heat, stirring occasionally.

Cut lettuce crosswise across heart with sharp knife to make 4 thin rafts. Chill remaining iceberg in plastic bag or saran for use another time. Arrange lettuce rafts on dinner plates or serving platter; sprinkle lightly with salt. Place veal on lettuce. Spoon sauce over and serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Banana Mocha Mixture Pleases Whole Family

Ready for spring dressing? Whether it's just slipping into last year's frocks, or getting set for fashion's new whims, chances are there are a few inches here and there that just must go! And now's the time to begin!

Weight-watching doesn't have to be a hardship on you, or your family. Follow the normal nutritious meal plans, but learn to avoid those "extra" calories... and you know your own weaknesses, calorie-wise! For many, desserts pose the weightiest problem. Pies, for instance. Would you settle for a luscious Banana Mocha Chiffon, but by-pass the crust? Serve yourself only the filling in your most handsome parfait or sheet glass, and enjoy each delectable spoonful right along with your pie-eating brood. Calories? Only 80, well under the dessert allowance on most any diet.

You'll find, too, that a banana, eaten out-of-hand, will help you through those between-meal doldrums. The melon-sweet flavor is appealing, and the fruit's satisfying properties high. The cost in calories? Only 88 for a medium-size banana. Happy scale-tipping!

Banana Mocha Chiffon
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1½ tablespoons instant coffee
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon unsweetened cocoa
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup boiling water
2 egg whites
1 cup sliced bananas

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add coffee, sugar, cocoa, salt and vanilla extract to gelatin. Add hot water and stir until dissolved. Chill mixture until thickened but not firm. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into gelatin.

For parfait: Fold bananas into chiffon mixture and spoon into parfait glasses. Chill. Makes 6 servings at 80 calories per serving.

For pie: Pour one-half chiffon mixture into baked 9-inch pie shell. Chill for 10 minutes. Add a layer of sliced bananas. Pour remaining mixture over bananas; chill. Garnish with banana slices.

BANANA MOCHA CHIFFON — Watching your weight? You can still enjoy this luscious Banana Mocha Chiffon, but as a parfait, while the family eats pie!

Thin Skinned Tangerine Is Winter's Gift to Cooks

When you dip into a bowl of Florida tangerines, you're in for a handful of pleasure. Once you've zipped the peel off, nature's neat packaging exposes a cluster of juicy sections, having very few seeds, that offer delectable eating.

The lovely, luscious tangerine has a high-colored, smooth peel, it sections easily, and has a definite rich aroma. Frequently called the "zipper skinned" or "kid glove" fruit, it's superb for out-of-hand eating, fruit cups, salads and desserts.

A citrus-hungry tourist traveling in foreign lands can ask for a tangerine in Germany, England and France.

A slight variation, tangerine, works fine in Norway, and tangerina obtains the desirable fruit in Italy, Portugal and Spain. Mangarijn means tangerine to the people of The Netherlands.

The history of this citrus fruit dates back many centuries, its ancestors in all probability originally stemming from the Orient.

The variable group of loose-skinned oranges grown in the United States is commonly designated as mandarin.

Although mandarin and tangerine are names used more or less interchangeably to designate the whole group, tangerine is applied more strictly to those varieties producing deep orange or scarlet fruits.

TANGERINE APPETIZER
1 cup (½ pint) sour cream
¼ cup Florida grapefruit juice

1 teaspoon vinegar
½ teaspoon powdered ginger
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon tarragon leaves, optional
4 Florida tangerines, peeled
2 avocados, halved
Combine sour cream, grapefruit juice, vinegar, ginger, Tabasco, salt and tarragon. Let flavors blend about 1 hour before serving. Remove white membrane from tangerines. Snip each section in half with scissors; remove seeds. Toss with sour cream mixture before serving. Spoon into avocado. Serve as appetizer. Yield: 4 servings.

TANGERINE CREAM MOUSSE
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup water
1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida tangerine concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1 cup heavy cream
Mix together gelatin, sugar and salt in saucepan. Stir in orange juice. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, until gela-

Quick Main Course

Minute Chow Mein is a quick main course suggestion for luncheon or for dinner. Season cube steaks with salt and pepper; cut into thin strips. Brown the meat with strips of green pepper and sliced onion in butter or margarine. Add canned meatless chow mein and heat. Serve over hot cooked rice and pass bottled soy sauce.

time is dissolved. Remove from heat and stir in tangerine concentrate. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip cream and fold into tangerine mixture. Turn into 4-cup mold and chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with tangerine sections. Serve with Tangerine-Orange Sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Tangerine-Orange Sauce

2 teaspoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup Florida orange juice
2 Florida tangerines, sectioned; seeds removed Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt in saucepan. Stir in orange juice. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Cool; add tangerine sections.

Delilah Wouldn't Serve Samson This Salad

Hearty "Samson Salad" should have no trouble luring appetites on a nippy winter's day.

It's a multi-colored mixture of diced California avocado, canned fruit cocktail, sliced cucumber, nuts and bite-size lettuce and spinach tossed lightly with a savory dressing. Tasty combination? You bet!

- Samson Salad
- 2 California avocados
 - 1/4 cup lemon juice
 - 1 can (1 lb. 1 oz.) fruit cocktail
 - 3 cups bite-size iceberg lettuce
 - 3 cups bite-size fresh spinach or romaine
 - 1 cup thinly sliced cucumber
 - 1/4 cup broken walnuts (optional)
 - 2 tablespoons vinegar
 - 1/2 cup salad oil
 - Salt
 - Pepper
- Cut avocados lengthwise into halves; remove seeds and skin. Dice avocado; coat with lemon juice. Drain fruit cocktail, saving 1/4 cup syrup.
- Combine lettuce, spinach,

Lemon Juice Helps

A few drops of lemon juice added to chilled whipping cream speeds up the whipping process, while a tablespoon of bottled lemon juice added to every 1/2 cup of evaporated milk which has been chilled in the freezer not only speeds up whipping, but makes the whipped milk hold its shape much longer.

Frozen Squash Gets Additions

The chances are your family will like this vegetable and bacon dish.

- Luncheon Squash
- 4 slices bacon
 - 2 tablespoons minced onion
 - 1 package (12 ounces) quick-frozen squash, partly thawed
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms, drained
 - 2 tablespoons minced parsley

In a medium skillet cook bacon until crisp; drain and keep warm. Leave 2 tablespoons bacon fat in the skillet; add onion and cook gently for a minute or two. Add squash, salt and pepper. Stir gently, breaking up frozen squash. Stir in drained mushrooms and parsley; reheat. Garnish with bacon. Makes 4 servings.

LEMON-GLAZED — Corned beef brisket with a new twist... a lemon glaze. The glaze is a tangy combination of lemon juice, corn syrup, and a touch of cloves, the perfect blend to enhance the flavor of corned beef. Serve it with boiled vegetables, a Triple O Green Salad, and French Bread Moutarde.

Mustard Layer Adds Zest to Chicken

Chicken Diable is a snap to make, has plenty of flavor snap, a factor that always goes over big with men. Sprinkle chicken halves with salt and paprika and broil, skin side down, for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from broiler and spread evenly with a thin layer of mustard.

Dip in seasoned bread crumbs and return to broiler for 5 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve with chili sauce.

Don't Toss Out Iron Utensils

CLEVELAND, Ohio — "I hate to see the disappearance of the old-fashioned, cast iron Dutch oven from American kitchens," Dr. Carl V. Moore, authority on anemia, told a recent session of the Interstate Postgraduate Medical Association in Cleveland.

"Food cooked in this type of utensil has a much higher iron content," the doctor said, "and the gradual substitution of aluminum and stainless steel for iron in the manufacture of cooking utensils may have a most unfortunate effect on dietary iron intake."

Most healthy American men and postmenopausal women probably get enough iron in their three meals a day, the doctor observed, but deficiencies are likely to occur in growing children, younger women and pregnant women.

The Washington University Medical School blood specialist noted that studies of the iron intake of populations all over the world show that the large amount of iron consumed by the Bantus of Africa is due to their custom of cooking food and fermenting beverages in iron pots.

A high iron content has also been found in food served in military messes, where cooking was done in iron vessels, Dr. Moore said.

"These studies prompted us to explore the effects of cooking in Dutch ovens and to measure the iron content of seven foods cooked for the same period of time in glass dishes and cast iron skillets," Dr. Moore told the meeting.

"There was a significantly higher iron content in fried potatoes, rice, beef hash, scrambled eggs and gravy cooked in iron. But the most impressive results were obtained with spaghetti sauce and apple butter, which were cooked for the longest periods of time."

Quick supper: heat chunks of frankfurters with baked beans. Serve with cole slaw.

Glazed Corned Beef Brisket Pleases Discriminating Eater

Corned beef brisket will be a big hit on your dinner parade when prepared with a lemon glaze. The combination of tangy lemon juice and ground cloves on corned beef brisket results in a wonderful taste treat.

For the convenience of the consumer, corned beef briskets are available in weights ranging from 1 1/2 to 5 pounds. The packages are vacuum sealed to assure flavor freshness.

Briskets are cut from high quality beef briskets and are trimmed of all excess outer fat.

They are then vat cured for a full week in a brine solution. The result is a mild flavored, high quality corned beef brisket.

Lemon Glazed Corned Beef

- 3 1/2 to 4 pound corned beef brisket
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Dash ground cloves

Remove corned beef brisket from bag and place in large pan. Add cold water to cover. Simmer, covered for approximately 3 1/2 to 4 hours or until meat is tender. Remove from pan.

Place fat side up in shallow baking pan and score. Combine corn syrup, lemon juice and cloves. Spread over surface of brisket. Bake in 375 degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes. Makes 6-8 servings.

- Triple O Green Salad
- 1 head iceberg lettuce
 - 1 11-ounce can mandarin orange segments, drained
 - 17 ounce can ripe olives, chopped
 - 1 medium size white onion, sliced into rings
 - 1/2 cup French dressing
- Break lettuce into bite size

Tongue Arithmetic

One beef tongue weighs approximately 3 1/2 pounds. When cooked it will serve from 12 to 16 people.

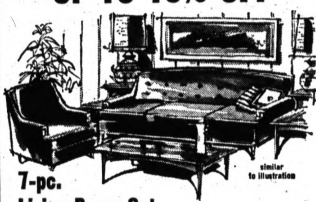

One veal tongue weighs approximately 1 1/2 pounds. It will serve from 3 to 6 people.

There Are Some Tricks to Hard Cooked Eggs

When boiling eggs to be hard-boiled, add a teaspoon of salt to the water. When done, remove at once from the hot water and place in a container holding cold water. Shake the container so the eggs hit each other and the sides of the utensil and crack slightly.

Leave them in this water for a few minutes. Drain off water and cover eggs again with cold water, then see how perfectly the shells come off.

Expand War on Hunger, Johnson Urges Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson proposed to Congress today a worldwide "war on hunger" keyed to maximum use of U. S. farm capacity and self-help by developing nations.

In a special "food for freedom" message to the House and Senate, Johnson said he was ordering a 10 per cent increase in the 1966 rice acreage allotment, government purchase of limited amounts of dairy products and actions to increase soy bean production in 1966.

The President proposed a number of steps to broaden and revise the old "food for peace" program by changing its very nature from one which had been based on shipments of U. S. crop surpluses.

Instead, Johnson said the new "food for freedom" concept must drive at helping hungry nations to feed themselves.

At the same time, the President said he wanted the new program to build new overseas "cash markets" for American farm products.

And he looked toward a five-year switch from financing U. S. food aid through sales for foreign currencies to having the assistance paid for "through long term dollar credits."

To meet needs at home as well as around the world, Johnson also proposed legislation to provide "food and fiber reserves" by permitting use — if needed — of any of the 60 million acres now diverted from crop production to conservation uses.

Johnson said increases in rice and soybeans and government purchase of dairy products would "supplement earlier decisions to increase this year's production of wheat and barley."

In a speech at Ferris State College, O'Brien, chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, said he will put before the Legislature a bill to authorize up to $100 million in bonds that would allow the state to aid local communities in the water pollution war.

The action is necessary, said O'Brien, because the governor and the water resources planning committee have done nothing more than "tip their hats in meaningless gestures."

He emphasized that the legislation would not mean an immediate expenditure of $100 million. It would, he said, allow that amount to be used over a period of years to match federal funds available.

In order to have a tough water pollution law," O'Brien said, "we must help in every way possible those communities who must bear the brunt of the costs."

State Supreme Court Denies Citizen Group Districting Appeal

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court Wednesday denied a Detroit citizens group entry into the legislative apportionment fight.

In so doing, it refused to look at an apportionment plan that all parties have agreed comes mathematically closest to perfect population equality.

Such equality has been the overriding principal demanded by the U. S. Supreme Court in legislative apportionment. It also has been the prime concern of Democratic members of the Legislative Apportionment Commission. Republican members have tried to inject other elements, such as shape of districts and the honoring of county and township lines.

PETITION FILED

Civic Searchlight, Inc., a private group interested in good government, had filed a petition to be allowed to intervene in the 18-month-old case, or at least have its "one man-one vote" plan considered by the court.

It had presented the plan to the Legislative Apportionment Commission, but it was rejected by Democratic members of the eight-man, bipartisan, deadlocked commission.

Justice Michael O'Hara dissented from the denial; Justice Harry Kelly did not vote. Both serve with Republican endorsements. Justice Eugene Black, a maverick on the subject of apportionment, was the only member of the bench to comment on the denial.

Black, a former Republican attorney general who has been nominated for the court by Democratic conventions, ruled the petition out of order.

"The court," he said, "has no present power of choice (between various plans)."

It merely has the power to review "any final plan adopted by the commission (and to remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution," Black said.

Apollo, Rocket Complete Drill

Unmanned Test Shot Still Set for Feb. 22

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—America's first Apollo spaceship and its powerful new rocket have taken a major step toward the initial unmanned test flight Feb. 22 in the 82-1301 flight to land men on the moon.

The 17-ton three-seater and its Saturn IB booster completed a 28-hour countdown rehearsal last night that included nearly everything but the actual blast-off.

If it had been the real thing, the shot would have been delayed 5 hours and 15 minutes.

But despite a series of problems with computers and other ground equipment, a space agency spokesman said the long drill "appeared to be successful" with launch preparations aiming toward the "Washington's Birthday target date."

The 224-foot space machine, forerunner of ones that may start orbiting three-man Apollo crews late this year, was a spectacular sight after sunset in the brilliant glow of powerful search lights.

LIQUID OXYGEN
The two-stage rocket was filled with 150,000 gallons of super cold liquid oxygen and hydrogen for the exercise.

In the final hours of the shakedown run, oxygen and hydrogen vapors streamed from the booster as it was nearing an actual launch.

For the upcoming March 11 moon flight, the Saturn IB will shoot the Apollo 300 miles into space. Then the spacecraft's own rocket engine will take over and ram the cone-shaped cabin section back into earth's atmosphere.

The spaceship, carrying electronic "brains" to handle the basic flight operations of astronauts, will be lowered into the South Atlantic Ocean 5,300 miles southeast of the cape by three parachutes 39 minutes after launch.

RECOVERY FLEET

A recovery fleet will retrieve the craft.

It will be the first of at least two unmanned test flights for the Apollo and its Saturn IB. But if all goes well, the first manned earth orbital Apollo flight could come this fall.

The space agency will use the Saturn IB, which packs a total thrust of 1.8 million pounds, to orbit Apollo ships on practice missions for later moon flights. Giant Saturn 5 rockets will be used for the lunar landing missions set to begin in late 1968 or 1969.

NY State Court Judge Rebukes Transit Settlement; Rules Law Violated

NEW YORK (AP)—The Transport Workers Union says it will insist that its strike-contract be honored by the city despite a state court's view that the bus and subway workers cannot collect a pay raise for three years.

"New York's transit workers will insist that the Transit Authority and the mayor live up to the agreement," said a spokesman for the AFL-CIO union.

State Supreme Court Justice Irving H. Saypol, in a ruling Wednesday on a taxpayer's suit, sharply rebuked the authority for its agreement to pay $4,000 transit workers about $60 million they won during last month's crippling 12-day strike.

Calling the settlement a clear violation of the state's Condon-Wadlin law, which forbids public employees from striking, Saypol said it was "craven servility" to grant the pay increases. He charged that the unions had "extorted ransom from eight million citizens."

The ruling was made on a suit filed by George Weinstein, 33, a Queens lawyer, who asked that the city be enjoined from giving the raises for three years, a penalty for strikers under the Condon-Wadlin law.

The court ruled that Weinstein had a clear case of relief but withheld final determination pending a reply from the Transit Authority and the Civil Service Commission within 10 days. It was not clear whether Saypol's remarks could be interpreted as a prohibitive court order against the pay increases. There was no immediate comment from either the authority or Mayor John V. Lindsay, who defended the settlement although it was denounced by President Johnson as being inflationary.

BOOSTS GRANTED

Under the agreement, which ended the strike Jan. 13, the transit workers were granted across-the-board increases of 4 per cent retroactive to Jan. 1, another 4 per cent next Jan. 1, and 7 more per cent on July 1, 1967.

None of the increases has yet been paid because union members ratified the pact only last weekend.

There appeared to be little doubt that Saypol's ruling will be appealed. If a higher court upholds the decision, the effect would be nullification of the transit settlement.

"If responsible officials cannot stand up in firm resistance, the court will," Saypol said.

FORBIDDEN

"It is plain," he added, "that the Transit Authority and the Civil Service Commission are forbidden at their peril from any course which would increase the compensation of the strikers, in violation of the Condon-Wadlin law, before Jan. 14, 1969."

That law, passed in 1947 but seldom invoked because of its stiff penalties, states that any public official who authorizes improper pay increases "shall be guilty of a misdemeanor," which is punishable by a maximum one-year jail sentence. It also provides for the recovery of excess wages.

During the transit strike, the first citywide shutdown in New York's history, the Transit Authority invoked the law but later dropped efforts to assess fines voting age to 18 Feb. 19 against the union. However, Detroit.

nine union members including TWU President Michael J. Quill were jailed for ignoring an injunction against the strike. Quill collapsed in jail, spent the duration of the strike in a hospital and later died of a heart attack.

Vote Age Hearing Set

LANSING (AP)—The House Committee on Revision and Amendment of the State Constitution will hold a public hearing on the question of lowering the voting age to 18 Feb. 19 at against the union. However, Detroit.

May Scrap Smoking Ritual

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP)—Maine may soon free its women legislators of the duty of lighting the smoking lamps.

A committee of the State House of Representatives has proposed that the House scrap the daily ritual that permits smoking during the sessions.

House Rule 25, instituted two years ago apparently as a courtesy to the ladies, prohibits smoking.

So, by tradition, a woman member rises at the beginning of each session and moves for suspension of the rule.

Applause follows, the motion is passed, and the smokers light up.

The Legislative Research Committee recommended repeal of the no-smoking rule.

Flea-Bitten Pair Are Mascots for U. S. Viet Unit

By TOM TIEDE

BIEN HOA, Viet Nam — (NEA) — If Private Mortimer Reed is awarded a Combat Infantryman's Badge in the next few months it may be indication the military is going to the dogs.

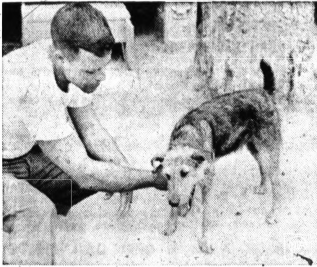

Mort is a wire-haired terrier. On the other paw, if Pfc. Buford L. Monkey is, as expected, promoted to Spec. 4 soon, it could mean the Army is being taken over by a bunch of apes. You guessed it. Monkey's a monkey.

Mortimer and Buford are members of the 173rd Airborne Infantry and except for the fact they both have fleas, they're not so much different from the run-of-the-war soldiers here.

Buford, for example, likes to beat the heat of Southeast Asia with a bourbon on the rocks or a beer in the bunk.

LIKES THE STUFF Says owner Charles Rector of Mullen, Neb.

"But," someone inquired, "doesn't it make her sick?" "Naw, just drunk now and then."

Pvt. Reed Is Just Another 'Dogface'

"And you still condone it?" "Look, she doesn't question my drinking and I don't her's."

Although the monkey has a masculine moniker, Rector refers to Buford as a shemale. He explains this contradiction as an original error never corrected by subsequent facts.

REAL TROOPER

But, he, or she or it, Buford's one of the boys. She sleeps eats

Unlike Rector's remarkable anthropoid, Pvt. Mort Reed has never been pushed out of a plane. The shaggy, bonepicking pooch leans more to chasing Viet Cong on combat patrols.

Mort's owner, Supply Sgt. Frank Reed of Akron, Ohio, claims the pup has seen more front-line action than John Wayne.

Says Reed: "He's always going out to the war." "And what's he do when the shooting starts?" "He runs like the devil."

"Which way?" "Whichever way the bullets ain't coming from."

SMUGGLED IN

Reed bought his khaki-colored K-9 in the Philippines and smuggled him into the combat zone.

He's now the only genuine dogface in Viet Nam and has so fit into the life of a soldier the rumor is he once bit his first sergeant in the, uh, ankle.

Many dispute that possibility, however. Buford's taste, they argue, runs more to officers.

In any event the GIs think

Mort is the doggedest. In six months they've had only one serious problem with him, but

Marxist Group Head to Speak in Detroit on N. Viet

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Herbert Aptheker, director of the American Institute of Marxist studies, is scheduled to speak in Detroit this weekend on his recent trip to North Viet Nam.

Don Lobsinger, head of a group known as "Breakthrough," said Wednesday his group was organizing to protest Aptheker's appearance.

"We don't intend to do anything illegal... but we are going to make our protest as vigorous as possible," Lobsinger said.

Wayne State University, where Aptheker is scheduled to speak, said numerous telephone calls have been received protesting the historian's appearance. He is slated to speak in a Detroit church Saturday.

Opening lead—♦ Q

If the clubs break 3-2 as is probable, he has no worries. If they break 4-1 or 5-0, he needs the safety play.

He starts by drawing trumps. It does not matter if he needs three leads, if he wins the third trump in dummy. Then he ruffs dummy's remaining diamond and plays three rounds of hearts to strip that suit.

Now he leads a low club toward dummy. If West plays an honor, South ducks and West is on lead. In the event that West's honor was a singleton, he must lead a red card whereupon South ruffs in one hand and discards from the other.

If West's honor was played from two or three, his best play is to lead another club and this doesn't matter. South only had one club loser to start.

Once South wins the first trick with his ace of diamonds, he has a perfect safety play at his disposal. His only possible losers are in club.

If West puts in dummy's honor and East will be on lead. Irrespective of his holding, he will be in the same spot West was in when West was allowed to hold the first trick with an honor. If he leads a club, South will be home, if he doesn't lead a club South will get a ruff and discard.

Q—The bidding has been:
West Dble. East South
1 ♠ 2 NT. Pass ?
You, South, hold:
♠ K 5 4 3 2 Q 10 6 5 4 3 2

What do you do?
A—Bid three no-trump. There is no need to show your diamonds because they will be of great value at no-trump and you would much rather try for nine tricks than for 11.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of passing over the double, East bids two spades. What do you do now?

Polish Clinic Giving Patients Plastic Ears

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—More than 100 patients have received artificial ears made of plastic at the Lodz surgical clinic in central Poland, the Polish Press Agency PAP reports.

PAP said a patient who has lost an earlobe can receive a new plastic one in three or four operations, while more than a dozen operations are required by the traditional method of grafting natural cartilage.

Breeding Place for Rights Crisis

Atlanta Slums: Poverty Amid Plenty

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The civil rights people are using slums—an ancient problem—to generate new support for their movement. The campaign in Atlanta, an affluent "new frontier" Southern metropolis, threatens to erupt into a civil rights crisis.)

By AL KUETTNER

ATLANTA (UPI)—Mrs. Clara Everhardt, encased in an overcoat with a bandana wrapped around her head, stood in the middle of "Lightning" and cheerfully demolished an old wooden fence with a huge ax.

"I'm gonna stay warm one way or the other," the Negro woman said as another section of fence collapsed behind her home.

Lightning, a square block of misery for the people packed into rotting shacks, is a glaring island of poverty in a sea of plenty.

Within sight are the spires of new skyscrapers on Atlanta's modern downtown skyline. Within walking distance is a new $10-million sports stadium.

But Lightning and Vine City, its backwash of progress, recent zero weather ruptured pipes and rivers of water ran down the muddy streets, a sign of plenty.

Such talk by civil rights organizations does not meet with wholesale endorsement in Lightning.

For months, residents like Cochran have been at work almost without notice in a rundown community house seeking to help the people and get them food and clothing.

Social agencies have taken up the task on a hit-and-miss basis from time to time. But nothing seemed to get cured.

LITTLE ACCOMPLISHED
"The big fish still eat the little fish," a Negro woman huddled before a small gas fire.

"The welfare crowd, the Office of Equal Opportunity, the SCLC (King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference) and Snick come in here with their campaigns, but they don't do any good."

"The social workers come in with their noses up high and tell us we ought to have gotten more education. Hell, we know what we should have done. What we want to know is what can we do from now on."

"We don't need a sermon. We need some help so we can help ourselves."

A big city with mounting urban problems thus finds itself in the vise laws of crisis.

PRESSURE MOUNTS
Each day the pressure to "do for something" mounts at city hall. Atlanta Alderman Richard Freeman, chairman of the board's police committee.

The legislation would permit a city to levy against property instead of the owner for the cost of demolition. It is running into trouble in the general assembly.

"Another thing I think we should do is to heavily tax slum property," Freeman said. "We need to make it unprofitable for people to exploit their fellowmen through the renting of dilapidated housing which is unfit for human habitation."

"If money is the only thing that talks to them, let's let it talk loud and clear. Let's price slums out of business."

The Atlanta Housing Authority has established a special task force to help in the relocation of displaced occupants.

Australian Banks to Enter a New World of Dollars and Cents

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Australia's banks were closed today. When they open again on Monday, it will be a whole new world — a world of dollars and cents.

The change to the decimal system, for which Australia has been preparing for two years, is not without problems. But the government reckons that the four-day bank holiday plus an intensive public educational campaign should keep confusion to a minimum. Although all banking business starting Feb. 14 will be done in dollars, other businesses have up to two years to make the change.

Eventually the country will abandon use of English-type money — pounds, shillings and pence — and go to all dollars and cents.

The dollar, the name of the unit chosen, will be equivalent to $1.12 in U.S. money.

New Australian bills have been printed in denominations of 1, 2, 10 and 20 dollars. New coins of 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50 cents, 600 million of them, have been minted.

The old currency and coins gradually will be withdrawn as they reach banks. The currencies are interchangeable—for example, a 10-shilling note equals the new Australian dollar.

The move to simpler coinage follows the decision to make the Australian pound—now $2.54—equal two Australian dollars and the shilling worth 10 cents.

Among the problems are conversion of 500,000 business machines from pounds, shillings and pence to dollars and cents. The government is footing this bill, estimated at $67 million.

Another is coin collectors. Orders for mint sets of the coins have been rolling in for months. One dealer alone asked for 20,000 sets.

The government says it will be able to take care of the numismatists in about a year. Sets are expected to sell for about five times face value.

As for people who like to save $2 bills, there should be no problem. The $2 Australian note, in soft green and yellow, has a picture of John MacArthur, early promoter of the wool industry, on the front, and William James Farrer, pioneer wheat breeder, on the back. Queen Elizabeth II, in orange red, is on the $1 note.

Different colors represent different amounts on banknotes, as in Canada. The idea has been suggested in the United States but never approved.

A Junior Editors Quiz About THE BRAIN

QUESTION: How does the human brain work?

ANSWER: Your brain is far more intricate than any machine ever built. It is a center which directs the activity of your body.

Your sense organs continually send in information about outside conditions. This is gathered and compared with past experience.

Decisions then are made and commands sent out to various parts of the body telling them what to do.

Study the picture and you'll see the location of specialized centers where information from Harry's sense organs are sent.

Above the upper, main part of his brain, or cerebrum, is a layer of gray matter cells called the cortex.

These are thought to tie the various reports from the centers together, comparing them with memories of past events.

The part of this layer toward the front has to do with thought and consciousness.

Here Harry can realize that what he sees and smells are cookies and can send commands to the motor part of the brain which controls the movements of various parts of the body.

He sends out a command for his hand to reach for a cookie and for his speech organs to thank his mother for making them.

FOR YOU TO DO: Use your cortex to decide whether or not we have left out some very important sections of the brain. We have. These are the medulla and cerebellum, called the hindbrain. Reports also come in here, and messages are sent out; but these parts work automatically. They control things such as breathing, balance, etc.

Six New U.S. Hockey Franchises Ease NHL's Growing Pains

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League, spawned by the National Basketball Association, was awarded the Los Angeles franchise. He was given the nod over four other groups from that city.

George Fiehrly, president of the Shasta Corp., which owns the Ice Polies, is the majority stockholder in the San Francisco-Oakland group. Bing Crosby is a member of this group.

The Minneapolis-St. Paul franchise was awarded to an eight-man syndicate which includes television station owners Bob Ridder and Gordon Ritz, and Walter Bush, an attorney.

31 INVESTORS

State Sen. Jack McGregor of Pennsylvania, and Art Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, are among the 31 investors in the Pittsburgh operation.

The majority stockholder of the Philadelphia syndicate is William Putnam, a banker.

"There will be new rinks in Los Angeles, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Philadelphia," Campbell said. "Their applications were predicated in part on the construction of these new buildings."

The San Francisco-Oakland entry, which it was learned will be called the California Seals, is expected to play in Oakland's Alameda Coliseum, now under construction.

The Civic Arena in Pittsburgh will be expanded to accommodate 12,000 spectators, an increase of 2,100 over its present capacity.

The teams in the new division will be eligible to compete for the Stanley Cup, hockey's post-season championship, Campbell added. However, he explained that no playoff plans incorporating the new division have been made.

The cost of each new franchise is $2 million and will entitle each group to buy 20 players from the current NHL teams. No plan of allocating the players has been worked out.

President Clarence Campbell, a franchise will be granted to a Baltimore group headed by Zanvil Kreiger, a major stockholder in the Baltimore Orioles baseball club.

So, this is the way hockey's big league, which has had the same six teams since 1942 when the Brooklyn Americans disband, will likely shape up for the start of the 1967-68 campaign.

In one division, New York, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Toronto and Montreal. In another division, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Philadelphia, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Pittsburgh and either St. Louis or Baltimore.

Each of the new teams will play a 74-game schedule, 50 games against clubs in their division and 24 against those in the present division. The same setup will exist for the current six teams.

SPORTS

ICE ESCAPEE—Chicago Black Hawks' Bobby Hull (right) grabs the jersey of Detroit's Gary Bergman at the start of a second period bout on the ice that sent both to the penalty box for five minutes for fighting.

It was the second scrap of the evening for Bergman, who earlier had tangled with Ken Wharram. Chicago won, 2-1, to take the lead in the NHL.

Detroit Blanks Chicago's Hull but Loses, 2-1

Win Puts Windy City in 1st Place; Sawchuk Stops Rangers, 3-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Red Wings blanked slumping scoring star Bobby Hull Wednesday night, only to find out it takes more than that to whip the Chicago Black Hawks.

Hull, bidding to become the first man to break hockey's 50-goal barrier, was blanked for the third straight game Wednesday night but the Black Hawks nipped Detroit 2-1 and took over first place in the NHL standings.

Toronto's Terry Sawchuk turned in his 88th career shut-out, blanking the New York Rangers 3-0 in Wednesday's only other game.

Hull, with 44 goals in 48 games, still has 22 goals which to break the record he shares with Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion. The Red Wings kept him off the scoreboard but couldn't snap the hex Chicago has over Detroit this season.

THIRD PERIOD GOAL

The Hawks, who've won four of their last five and own a two-point bulge over Detroit and Montreal, won it on Chico Maki's third period goal. Maki picked up a pass from Pat Stapleton and whistled a 15-footer past Roger Crozier from a tough angle at 4:07.

Glenn Hall made the goal stand up as he kicked out 13 of Detroit's game total of 30 shots in the final period. It was Chicago's eighth victory in 10 starts against Detroit this season.

The Hawks have picked up 17 of a possible 20 points in their meeting with the Wings. Sawchuk, who holds the NHL record for shutouts, battled New York's Ed Giacomin on even terms through a scoreless first period but got the margin he needed when Bobby Pulford netted his 21st goal of the season in the middle session.

Dave Keon and Ron Ellis wrapped it up for the Maple Leafs by scoring inside of 70 seconds in the third period.

Colts' Aide Picked by Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Charley Winner, Baltimore Colts assistant coach, was named head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals today, filling the last coaching vacancy in the National Football League.

Winner replaces Wally Lemm, who quit Jan. 10 after four years at St. Louis because he could not agree with Cardinals owners about how much time he would give to his job.

Lemm then became head coach of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League. Winner, a graduate of Washington University in St. Louis with 12 years coaching experience in the NFL, has been a defensive specialist with the Colts. He started his coaching career at Washington University in 1949 and joined the Colts staff in 1954.

Winner signed a two-year contract. Terms were not disclosed. Winner said he was not notified by the Cardinals that he had been hired until Wednesday night. He said he and his family will move to St. Louis shortly.

Local Bowler Loses Ground in Guatemala

Special to The Press

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala — Rochester's L. A. Mead lost ground in her bid for the women's All-Events title at the fourth Inter-American Bowling Tournament Wednesday.

Mrs. Mead, who was second to Mexico's Irma Urrea in the all-events division, lost her position to United States teammate Sue Riley, a 19-year-old who came from San Francisco in yesterday's four-woman team event.

The U.S. women nudged Mexico by 20 pins for the team title on her West Texas ranch. He stayed with the Oilers as assistant on a part-time basis the past season.

Sammy Baugh Named as Lions' Assistant

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions today named Sammy Baugh as their assistant coach.

Baugh and Lou Rymkus to their coaching staff. The appointment of Baugh, a great passer in the NFL, preceded him to the job of Lions backfield coach came as a surprise.

Baugh and Rymkus both were on the coaching staff of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League last season.

Post Filled at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan Board of Athletic Control is expected to meet Friday to approve the hiring of Don James as its assistant football coach.

James, 34, has been chief defensive coach at Florida State University at Tallahassee. The Wolverines have sought to fill gaps in the coaching ranks brought on within the last month by the resignations of defensive coach Bob Holloway and defensive backfield coach Don Dufek. Both resigned to enter private business.

Chamberlain Nears NBA Scoring Mark

By The Associated Press

Philadelphia's 108-91 victory over Detroit Wednesday night assured the 76ers of a tie for second place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division and moved Bill Chamberlain closer to the NBA all-time scoring title.

Philadelphia now is tied with Cincinnati, three games off the pace set by front-running Boston. Chamberlain's 30-point effort at Detroit left him 98 shy of Bob Pettit's career record of 20,880.

In other NBA action, Boston trimmed New York 121-117, snapping the Knicks' four-game winning streak, and Los Angeles outlasted Baltimore 123-116 in overtime.

LATE RALLY

The Pistons rallied to within 69-63 late in the third quarter, but the 76ers streaked to a 79-

67 lead after three quarters as Chamberlain scored two field goals. Ray Scott led the Pistons with 26 points.

The Celtics' victory was their sixth in the last eight games. Mel Counts sparked the Boston triumph, scoring 18 points and grabbing nine rebounds in just 16 minutes of play. With New York threatening in the final quarter, the 7-footer came off the bench and scored six straight points for a 108-99 Celtics' lead.

Six Celtics scored 15 points or better with Bill Russell leading the group with 20. Dick Barnett had 32 for the Knicks.

Jerry West was the star in Los Angeles' triumph over Baltimore that gave the Lakers a six-game bulge in the West. West scored the field goal that tied the game 112-112 at the end of regulation time, then scored four of the Lakers' 11 points in overtime.

West finished with 39 points while Gus Johnson scored 21 points and grabbed 34 rebounds for the Bullets.

GRAND RAPIDS — Pontiac boxers took a beating in their semifinal round of the state Golden Gloves tournament last night in Grand Rapids.

Bill Hollis, battling in the 160-pound novice class, was the lone winner out of a team of 10 from Pontiac, and he'll make the trip to Grand Rapids for the finals Saturday night.

Hollis, displaying a stunning left hook, earned a decision over Don Straka in his first bout, and in the second scrap, he decked Ronnie Rucker with a left hook for a count of eight in the second round and sent the Grand Rapids boxer to the canvas again in the third.

Denny Weeden, Oxford's 255-pound slugger, carried the fight to Joe Childrey and seemed headed for a victory until Childrey caught him with a left hook in the midsection midway in the second.

Jack Meanyweather polished off Doc Eyell in his first bout, but he couldn't match the craftiness of Sidney Deans in the second bout.

Boys' Ice Teams Set

The competition will be at two sites: the Drayton Plains Park Ice rink and Reese's rink.

The 14-and-under teams will play Saturday mornings at Reese's rink and Tuesday evenings at Drayton Plains. The older boys will play Sunday mornings at Reese's and Wednesday evenings at Drayton.

Record Speeds for Driver Petty

Unofficial Marks Set on Daytona Track

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard Petty unofficially bettered the NASCAR qualifying record for Daytona International Speedway Wednesday when he turned a lap at 175.953 miles per hour.

Petty, from Randeman, N.C., also had two other laps timed at better than Paul Goldsmith's official record of 174.910 m.p.h., set in a Plymouth in 1964.

Driving a 1966 Plymouth with hemi-head engine, Petty is aiming at the pole position in the Daytona 500 on Feb. 27. The two front row spots will be decided in a pair of 25-mile races Sunday.

Dick Hutcheson of Keokuk, Iowa, was the second fastest of the day's practice session at 174.047 m.p.h. in a 1966 Ford.

Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., led 173.812 in a Ford and Sam McQuagge of Columbus, Ga., 173.276 in a Dodge Charger.

About 35 cars and drivers are on hand for the NASCAR competition and 40 are expected to shoot for the front row spots.

Automobile Racing Club of America stock cars and drivers also will compete in a pair of 25-mile qualifying races Sunday for that group's 250-mile championship race on Feb. 20.

Irish, St. John's Overcome Woes

By the Associated Press

It was a night to remember for the Irish of Notre Dame and the Redmen of St. John's University in college basketball.

The Irish snapped a 13-game losing streak and the Redmen won their fourth game against 15 defeats.

College team, 67-52, after a 43-point first half. Tom Nichols of the losers led the scoring with 24.

The All-Stars scored 47 points in the first half en route to an 87-44 rout of the Unbeatables. Five players were in twin figures for the winners.

The only unbeaten team, Coulacus Insurance, dumped Lake 653, 57-39, and the All Stars scored POH winless with a 69-50 conquest in an International League double-header.

Henry Finkel's basket with 34 seconds left put Dayton ahead of Xavier of Ohio 72-71 and his two free throws with two seconds to go sealed the Flyers' 76-73 road victory over the Musketeers. It was Dayton's 17th triumph against three defeats.

Miami of Ohio clung to the lead in the Mid-American Conference with a 70-55 home court victory over Ohio University. Toledo staged right on the heels of the Redskins by defeating Western Michigan 74-68 on the road. Miami now is 8-1 in the conference, Toledo 5-1.

TWO-SPORT STAR — Texas A & M track star Randy Matson forsook winter shotput practice to earn a regular berth on the Aggies basketball team which has become a Southwest Conference contender aided by him. The 6-5, 240-pounder admits he's anxious, however, to resume conditioning for more of those 78-foot tosses outdoors after a winter of 15-foot foul shots inside.

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan holds a substantial edge statistically over Michigan State in the two teams head in the Big Ten basketball title chase with 61 records.

Although it is the team standings that count, there is a comparison of the two teams' statistics based on official conference figures released Wednesday:

Offensive average — first, Michigan, 88.0; third MSU, 82.6; defensive average — fifth, Michigan, 79.9; second MSU, 72.0; average rebounds — first Michigan, 45.4; fourth MSU, 43.6; field goal percentage — second, Michigan, 44.6; fifth, MSU, 43.0; free throw percentage — second Michigan, 73.3; eighth MSU, 67.4.

Saturday afternoon's schedule sends Wisconsin (25) to Michigan, Purdue (25) to Ohio State (24) and Indiana (15) to Illinois (52) for a televised game. At night Michigan State is at Minnesota (43) and Iowa (33) at Northwestern 25.

Michigan's Cazzie Russell continues to lead defending champion Dave Schellhaas of Purdue in the scoring race with a 32.0 average in seven league games. Dave in seven has 29.0. U.S. Mapping Plans to Win Net Tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States is taking a tip-off from Australia and planning an all-out campaign to win back the Davis Cup.

Clarence MacCall of Los Angeles, the U.S. captain, announced the formation of a sixteen squad which will travel and play throughout, wherever possible, throughout the season.

"This does not mean necessarily we will play this team when the Davis Cup matches arrive," MacCall said, "but they are our best, and we think we will have a better chance by organizing now."

Named on the squad were the top four ranking players—Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., and Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico—plus Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Clark Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, an outstanding doubles combination.

It marks the first time that a Davis Cup team has been assembled so early.

N. Michigan Scores 102

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — Northern Michigan, one of the highest scoring basketball teams in the country, pounded Illinois State 102-94 Wednesday night in a nonconference game.

It was the 12th time this season Northern has scored 100 points or more.

Gene Summers led Northern with 28 points and Steve Arends paced Illinois State with 27.

Northern, which is averaging 109 points per game, held a 56-40 halftime lead.

NOT DISCOURAGED — Though the weather was unseasonably warm, four Oakland University students visited Silverbell Village Wednesday in anticipation of Saturday's scheduled races as part of the school's Winter Festival this weekend. Kurt Ramel, ski school director, adjusts Detroit Midge Keppel's bindings, with some "coaching" from Mike Ware (center). Bloomfield Hills race coordinator Bill Carpenter, Bloomfield Hills; and Laurie Isenberg, Detroit.

CHRISTIE — Broadmoor (Col.) Ski School instructor Walter Schluter teaches uphill christie before moving into parallel turning.

By WALTER SCHLUTER
Written for NEA

Before plunging full tilt into parallel skiing, let's review again the basic maneuver which leads you into it. That's the uphill christie.

It starts with a traverse position across the slope at a relatively steep angle. You plant the uphill pole, which is advanced, at the same time sinking down over your skis by bending the knees.

Then you quickly raise or unweight your body, releasing the edges. At the same time, show the tails of the skis down the hill with your heels.

This will bring you around into the hill in a short curve, and force your weight down again to set your edges and come to a stop.

It'll give you the first exhilarating feeling of a parallel turn.

NEXT: Parallel turn.

Lightweight Skier Takes 5th Place in Men's Slalom

SESTRIERE, Italy (AP) — Mike Allsop, a 150-pound miler from the University of Denver, finished fifth in the men's special slalom Wednesday for America's best showing to date in the World University Winter Games.

The event was won by Aldrej Bachleda, a 19-year-old Pole, who negotiated the two steep runs in 1 minute, 54.48 seconds. It was the first gold medal for Poland. The Soviet Union has won two, Japan and France one each. The seven-member token squad from the United States so far has failed to win a medal.

'Batman' Star Feels Series Will Provide Boost to His Career

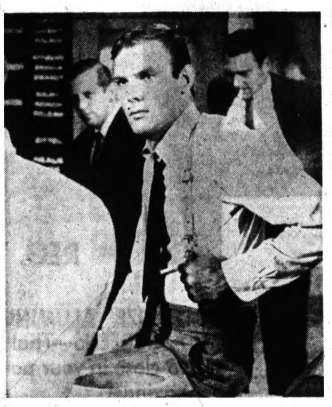

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Man riding a tiger: Adam West.
He's Batman. Holy residuals: You know what that means: He's going to be rich. He may also be branded for life with a bat emblem on his chest. Is he worried. Not a bit.

He was worried at first, admitted television's foe of wrong-doers. "I was afraid that my own identity might be submerged in the trappings of a freak in tights. But then I realized I should be able to make the craze work to my advantage."

"Before, I was limited to playing leads in low-budget movies. The series has given me the exposure — God knows — so that perhaps I would now be considered for important pictures, which is what I'm after."

WHERE THE SPIES ARE

"Unless the thinking of the major producers has become senile, they can perceive that I'm not Batman."
Indeed he is not. Batman is the square's square. Adam West is hip. Batman lives in a manor that looks left over from a George Arliss movie; Adam West has a pad at Malibu Beach. Batman spends most of his time in the company of his ward Robin. When not working, Adam West is often accompanied by a local chick.

AS A DETECTIVE — Adam West, star of the hit television show "Batman," is shown in a scene from another TV show, "The Detectives," in which West portrayed Sgt. Steve Nelson. "The Detectives" can be seen in reruns on Channel 9, while the "Batman" adventures are shown on Channel 7.

ment heretofore was playing a secondary banana to Robert Taylor in "The Detectives" series.
WEST TO ITALY
Following breakup of his marriage — he has two young children — he went to Italy in an attempt to break out of the B-picture rut. He was making progress as an American actor abroad when Batman signaled his return.

West approached the role with the same cogitation of Laurence Olivier planning Othello. Well, almost.
"Batman must be played with utter conviction," he reasoned. "There is a thin line which must follow, between satirizing the character and playing it dead-serious."

New Yorker Doesn't Cotton to Politics Wool Over Eyes

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The congressional battle in the Silk Stocking District didn't greatly impress Harry Hershfield who said, "Even the wool they pull over your eyes in the Silk Stocking District is usually half-cotton."

Nai Bonet, the belly artist, burst a bra strap while rehearsing with the Philly Lyric Opera for her Oriental dance in "Aida," but all she revealed was a 2,000-year-old statuette of the Egyptian god Ra, given to her by a friend, which she wears as a good luck piece in her bodice.

Perle Mesta, the Walter Cronkite, the Durward Kirby and people like those turned out to salute Jacqueline Susann, author of the five-letter-word book, "Valley of the Dolls," at a party flung by Mrs. W. Wilson. The book is about girls who use sleeping pills, concerning which, after a party like that, I would like to have just one half of the order . . . the sleeping pill.

That airline stewardess friend of Peter Lawford's whom he said to be busted up from (how grammatical can you get!) is reported to believe they ain't as burst as some of ya's think, and that there may be future menses . . . Florence Henderson Bernstein says she thinks four children be aptenly for a stage actress like herself and that she and her husband Frank must produce.

Jimmy Conzelmann, the St. Louis coach who also is a brilliant toastmaster and humorist, says of his friends had many fights with his wife. "But she always came back to him on bended knees—daring him to come out from under the bed."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .
Jack Carter when asked about his expectant but estranged wife Paula Stewart says "Ha" and then switches to other hilarious subjects such as his mother-in-law . . . Tommy Dorsey's widow, Janie New, here with the Urbie Green-Tommy Dorsey orchestra at the Riverboat, says Urbie "is as close to Tommy on the trombone as anybody on this earth can get."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Once, when a baseball team was doing poorly at the gate, they got new players. Now they get a new city.

EARL'S PEARLS: Someone described a lush: "He goes to Florida in the winter because he heard the bar stools are warmer there."

A rock 'n' roll group, grimy and disheveled, was offered to manage at Harlow's. "Six thousand a week," said their agent. "Who gets it," asked owner Shelly Shuster, "—them or us?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Says Elms in Jackson to Be Gone in 4 Years

JACKSON (AP)—William D. Moore, Jackson city engineer, estimates Jackson's elms will be dead in four years and that to keep up with the deaths the city will have to spend $200,000 over that span for removal. City Commission recently voted to abandon spraying against Dutch elm disease, which now costs $6,000 to $7,000 a year.

24 Senators Introduce Bill to Provide Rent Relief for Low-Income Senior Citizens

LANSING (AP)—Twenty-four senators introduced Monday a bill to have the state help low income senior citizens pay their rent, a program blocked last year by Gov. George Romney.

Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, the measure's chief sponsor, said that, except for some administrative changes, the bill was basically the same as the one vetoed by Lt. Gov. William Milliken on instructions from Romney.

The bill would cost an estimated $4 million to $6 million and provide rent relief to approximately 60,000 elderly persons.

Young said objections cited at the time of the veto were the bill would hurt the state's fiscal integrity and would be too complicated to administer.

"As for fiscal integrity," Young said, "the governor has seen fit to spend half the treasury surplus and his own report (by a special commission) recognized the principle of relief for elderly renters."

He added state and local revenue officials have told him the present measure would be workable. The changes, he said, were based on recommendations of Gerrit Van Gyvering, deputy commissioner of revenue.

Young said the state already is committed to spend an estimated $11 million to $14 million on a senior citizens property tax relief program passed last year. Renters deserve an equal break, he said.

The bill provides for reimbursement of an amount equal to the taxes on the first $2,500 of state equalized value of the living unit. To qualify, a person would have to be 65 or over, have an income of less than $5,000 a year and have lived in Michigan 5 of the last 10 years.

The 24 sponsors—out of the Senate's 38 members—included Republicans Haskell Nichols of Jackson and Garry Brown of Schoolcraft.

ALAN R. PEARSON JR.

Slayer Gets 9-20 Years

Sentenced in Death of Waterford Teen

Alan Ross Pearson Jr. was sentenced this morning to 9-20 years in Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson for the murder of a Waterford Township teen-ager last summer. The second-degree murder conviction will be appealed.

The sentence was imposed on Pearson, 17, of 1127 Albi, Waterford Township, by Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn.

Pearson was found guilty by a jury Jan. 19. On the recommendation of defense attorney Clarence Smith, Judge Thornburn granted Pearson a 14-day stay in the Oakland County Jail before he is transferred to Jackson.

AGREES TO STAY
Assistant prosecutor Walter Schmier agreed to the stay.

The delay is intended to give a court-appointed attorney an opportunity to discuss the case with Pearson before filing a motion for a new trial.

Thornburn appointed Birmingham attorney Charles J. Porter to pursue the appeal.

Smith told the court that he would be unable to handle the case because of the time involved.

A jury of seven men and five women found Pearson guilty of the June 27 stabbing of Jeffery Talbot, 24, of Watkins Lane.

Pearson had contended during the three-day trial that he acted in self-defense.

Smith suggested the appeal because of the new coverage given to the murder and the subsequent trial.

Humphrey in Saigon to Prod Viet Reforms

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Saigon today to spur the South Vietnamese to get on with a social and economic revolution which he said would provide a "dynamic and lasting answer to the false promise of communism."

"I have come to see some of the projects being undertaken and to report back to the President and the American people on the work you are doing and on the part we can play in support of your great undertaking," Humphrey said in a statement at Saigon's heavily guarded Tan Son Nhut Airport.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu flew with Humphrey from Honolulu after meeting there with President Johnson.

Humphrey did not attend the Honolulu conference, but came here on the President's request to advance the non-military programs outlined there.

Humphrey told newsmen aboard his plane that the military situation in South Viet Nam has improved to a point "that rural construction, economic and social programs can take place."

NOT ENOUGH

"We know that victories on the battlefield are not enough," he said. "We want to consolidate those victories" with economic and social progress.

A big crowd of Vietnamese military and civilian dignitaries greeted the vice president and his party at the airport.

Five 150mm howitzers and five tanks were lined up on the air strip opposite a Vietnamese honor guard.

Heavy security was in effect and the normally busy airport was closed to civilian traffic for more than an hour before Humphrey's plane landed. Roadblocks and checkpoints were thrown up around the field.

Dominicans Fear Strike After Rioting

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Labor leaders and left-wing extremists threatened a general strike today after seven persons were killed and at least 22 injured in day-long rioting in Santo Domingo.

Leftist labor and political leaders charged the police with brutality in the violence touched off by a Communist-led student demonstration yesterday.

They also renewed demands for the quick removal from the country of armed forces leaders who have failed to obey a presidential order assigning them to diplomatic jobs abroad.

The two leading moderate leftist parties, the Revolutionary Social Christians and Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party were expected to support a strike. Three previous calls for a general strike collapsed because the two parties failed to support it.

Official sources expressed concern that a successful strike would torpedo negotiations now under way between President Hector Garcia-Goody and the armed forces leaders on conditions for their departure.

No agreement had been reached by last night, the sources said.

ORDERED OUT

Garcia-Goody ordered top rebel military leaders and three of the four top men in the armed forces out of the country on Jan. 31 in an effort to ease bitter dissension between the two factions. The rebels have complied.

ROBERT P. GRIFFIN

Teen Held in Stabbing of 2 Women

Nineteen-year-old Eddie Ingram of Detroit was being held on $134,000 bond today in connection with the stabbing of two women and the kidnapping of one early yesterday.

Ingram pleaded innocent to seven charges in Mount Clemens Justice Court yesterday. Examination is set for Feb. 18 in Macomb County Circuit Court.

Police said a man identified as Ingram forced his way into the Utica home of Mrs. Edna Jakabowski, 32, yesterday, and forced her to drive him to Detroit in her car.

En route, he changed his mind and ordered her to drive to Romeo, she said.

Mrs. Jakabowski said she was molested and stabbed before she was able to jump from the car at a traffic light.

DROVE TO ROMEO
Officers said the man then drove to Romeo, collided with a truck and fled down a road driven by Mrs. Dorothy Spens, 41, of Romeo.

He forced her from the car, stabbed her, and drove away.

Ingram was arrested north of Romeo when employees of a nearby factory called police, officers said.

Both women were reported in good condition in Almont Community Hospital.

GOP Legislator Notes Status as Underdog

Labor Law Coauthor Prefers Soapy as Foe if Given Nomination

DETROIT (AP)—Republican Congressman Robert P. Griffin of Traverse City announced today he will seek the Republican nomination for the United States Senate seat now held by Democratic Sen. Patrick V. McNamara.

In making the announcement, Griffin said:

"I realize that I enter the race as an underdog and that I will leave a safe seat in the House of Representatives...

"Like George Romney and John Lindsay, I believe the Republican party desperately needs positive leadership and a new administration received most of the criticism.

Broomfield, who recently returned from a trip to the Far East nation, told the 550 persons in the audience:

"I think this administration has committed the cardinal political sin. It has begun to believe its own propaganda."

JUGGLING STATISTICS
"Its professional drumbeaters have become so adept at image-creation, at news manipulation, at juggling statistics and manufacturing data to provide economic justification for strictly partisan political positions, that it has lost its sense of reality."

This is had enough in domestic affairs, said Broomfield, but when it is carried over into foreign affairs "this sort of self-hypnosis can be catastrophic."

He said that there are realities to be faced and if the Democrats fail to recognize them, it is "imperative" that the Republicans do.

According to Broomfield, Red China is attempting to draw the U.S. into a massive land war in Asia on a man-for-man basis where their superior manpower gives them the advantage.

"And they are succeeding in just this strategy beyond their highest expectations."

The hardest fact to accept, but documented two weeks ago by testimony of experts on Chinese military affairs, Broomfield said, is that if the Viet Cong was defeated the U.S. would then be fighting the Red Chinese army.

WIN OR LOSE
"In other words, 'if we lose we lose; if we win, we lose.'"

Broomfield emphasized, however that "Republicans and Democrats alike, will do everything possible to bring about an honorable peace in Viet Nam."

"But doing our duty as Americans — and as Republicans — does not mean that we close our eyes to reality."

ESSAY WINNERS

Broomfield Lashes Dems at GOP Event

By JIM LONG

Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield, speaking in Pontiac last night, blasted the Democratic administration with a scattershot of barbs aimed at what he termed its "unrealistic" policies.

The attack by the 18th District U.S. representative came at the 77th annual banquet of the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club at the Elks Temple.

The war in Viet Nam and its handling by the Johnson administration received most of the criticism.

New Jail Likely in Future

A new jail building probably will be included in Oakland County's future construction plans, Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the County Board of Auditors, said today.

Commenting on remarks by Sheriff Frank W. Irons that better jail facilities are needed, Murphy said that a new jail in the county service center "may be" a future project.

Irons said yesterday that the recent sexual assault on an inmate who allegedly was detained might have been prevented with better facilities at the present jail in Pontiac.

Murphy, however, said he could see no advantage in spending money to improve the existing jail in view of its age.

A shortage of cell space and inadequate means for observation of prisoners were cited by Irons as the chief shortcomings of the 45-year-old building.

According to Murphy and Irons, several informal discussions have been held on the needs for better jail facilities.

A new jail, however, has never been formally proposed to county officials, Irons said.

Murphy emphasized that a new jail was not a part of the county's present construction plans.

"We have our hands full now with the new courthouse wing and South Oakland Health Center," Murphy said.

He added that the county probably would prepare a long-range plan for needed new construction when the work load on the present two projects eases.

Hopefully, this plan will be ready within a year, Murphy said.

He indicated that the jail is (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Show Business Mourns 2 Long-Time Greats

NEW YORK (AP)—A half-century ago as a favor to her maid Sophie Tucker sat down and listened to a song written by a porter.

At first she tried to put it off—"They were writing more than I had time to listen to"—but she gave in and listened to the tune by Sheldon Brooks.

"I knew that 'Some of These Days' was the song for me," she said. "It has been ever since and always will be."

The people in the cabarets and nightclubs loved it and the song became her trademark. Big, brassy-voiced Sophie Tucker belted out the song at every performance. It didn't matter if she was doing the blues, jazz or swing.

Last night, Miss Tucker, 78, "lady of the red-hot mammas," yielded the spotlight after 62 years on stage. She died in her Park Avenue apartment of a chronic lung ailment and kidney failure.

LAST APPEARANCE
Her last appearance was at the Latin Quarter just before she became ill. She had signed for a four-week engagement, but was able to appear only two nights, and on both nights it was clear that she was in poor health.

BILLY ROSE

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (AP)—Billy Rose, the master showman who made a fortune out of the unlikely combination of extravaganzas, curvaceous girls and the stock market, died today in Montego Bay.

Rose, 66, died at 2:15 a.m. of lobar pneumonia at the Eldridge Nursing Home.

He had come to Montego Bay, where he maintains a winter home, to recuperate from cardio-vascular surgery performed in Houston, Tex., in December.

Rose, an impresario, theatrical producer, newspaper columnist, nightclub owner and writer of such songs as "That Old Gang of Mine," "Without a Song," "Me and My Shadow," returned to his New York home Dec. 22.

He flew to Montego Bay Tuesday with his sister, Polly Gottlieb, wife of Hollywood producer and writer Alexander Gottlieb. Doctors had prescribed a six-week recuperation.

FELT BETTER
In New York, a close friend, Broadway producer Arthur Cantor, said, "one of the reasons Billy went to Jamaica was because he was 'feeling better.'"

Gottlieb said in Beverly Hills, Calif., that his wife had caught a slight cold two days ago and developed pneumonia yesterday.

Enter Low Bid of $2.49 Million

A low bid of $2,492,000 for M59 relocation work within the city was received yesterday by the Michigan State Highway Department.

The low bidder was Cooke Contracting Co. of Detroit. Three bids were submitted on the M59 project.

The two- and a-half-year project includes the construction of 1.7 miles of new pavement and six bridges from East Wide Track east to the Grand Truck Railroad tracks.

The completion date is June 30, 1968.

The city's share of M59 relocation costs is to total 14 per cent or an estimated $540,000.

CONSTRUCTION COST
The city's share of M59 costs is based on the total project. Yesterday's bids account for only the actual construction cost.

Other expenses include right-of-way acquisition and engineering costs.

The M59 road work is designed to follow work being done on Clinton River Drain No. 2 on Pontiac's east side.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling said the M59 project might be completed as much as a year earlier than the 1968 completion date.

MAKE OVER PAGES War on Hunger Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson proposed to Congress today a worldwide "war on hunger" keyed to maximum use of U.S. farm capacity and self-help by developing nations.

In a special "food for freedom" message to the House and Senate, Johnson said he was ordering a 10 per cent increase in the 1966 rice acreage allotment, government purchase of limited amounts of dairy products and actions to increase soybean production in 1966.

The President proposed a number of steps to broaden and revise the old "food for peace" program by changing its very nature from one which had been based on shipments of U.S. crop surpluses.

Instead, Johnson said the new "food for freedom" concept must drive at helping hungry nations to feed themselves.

At the same time, the President said he wanted the new program to build new overseas "cash markets" for American farm products.

5-YEAR SWITCH
And he looked toward a five-year switch from financing U.S. food aid through sales for foreign currencies to having the assistance come through "through long term dollar credits."

To meet needs at home as well as around the world, Johnson also proposed legislation to provide "food and fiber reserves" by permitting use — if needed — of any of the 60 million acres now diverted from crop production to conservation uses.

Johnson said increases in rice and soybeans and government purchase of dairy products would "supplement earlier decisions to increase this year's production of wheat and barley."

These actions illustrate how our domestic farm program will place the American farmer in the front ranks in the worldwide war on hunger.

But when the President proposed that the United States "lead the world" in that war through expanded food shipments, increased capital and technical assistance and other — but not to produce unwanted surplus, and not to supplant the efforts of other countries by needy nations.

A proposed health services program for the poor at an estimated first-year cost of $426,417 was authorized yesterday by the Oakland County Commission of the Office on Economic Opportunity (OEO).

The medical and dental services program, a phase of the war against poverty, would be administered by the County Health Department and coordinated with the OEO centers.

James M. McNeely, OEO executive director, said that the commission would first have to acquire $42,641 in local funds before applying for a federal grant for the other 90 per cent required.

McNeely said after yesterday's commission meeting that he would meet with health department officials to discuss sources of local funding.

He hoped to have a commitment for local funds by the March meeting of the OEO Commission.

During the meeting it was suggested that OEO approach the County Board of Supervisors for the needed local funds.

UNLIKELY SOURCE
But OEO Chairman Carl F. Ingraham, a member of the board of supervisors, said he thought this was an unlikely source because the county had a budget deficit of $364,137 for 1965.

Purpose of the health services program is to provide improved care for persons in poor economic circumstances.

It will include individual medical screening, diagnosis, referral and follow-up services as well as maternal and child care including immunization and health education.

Also specified in the program are health examinations for schoolchildren, detection and screening of chronic diseases and environmental sanitation services.

DENTAL SERVICE
Two dental clinics are planned to provide remedial treatment mainly for adults since the County Health Department already has a comprehensive dental program for children in cooperation with the schools.

The health, medical and dental services proposal will require hiring of 35 staff people plus two trainees to be employed by laboratories.

Cost breakdown is $340,000 for medical personnel, $56,660 for dental personnel, $109,957 for equipment and materials and $20,800 for space rental.

ILLNESS CLAIMS
Sophie, Last of the Red-Hot Mamas, Dies

York today, where funeral arrangements will be completed.

Surviving besides Mrs. Gottlieb is another sister, Miriam Stern of New York City.

RICH FELLOW
The 5-foot-3 Sophie scrambled out of the Manhattan slums and at the time of his death was worth more than $25 million. He once joked that "if my luck holds out by 1970 I will really be a rich fellow."

He made his first million three months after the 1939 New York World's Fair opened. His "Aquacade" was the hit of the fair and its star, Eleanor Holm, became one of his four wives.

He was actually married five times, but he married one wife, Joyce Matthews, twice.

Another wife was Fanny Brice, the comedienne whose life story was told in the hit Broadway musical "Funny Girl." He was also married to Doris Warner, daughter of motion picture executive Harry Warner.

SUCCESS IDEAS
He once characterized success as "a combination of good health, good friends and a financial career where the winners make $2 million to the losers."

Last spring in an interview he said this about death: "I'm not afraid of it. For the past five years I have felt that I'm on velvet after 60 very active years... I just want to spin out life as gracefully as I can with the least amount of storm... I have no fears about death. By the same token, I'm not rolling out on a red carpet and inviting it in."

Rose gained his real fame from the extravaganzas he staged. "I sell ballyhoo, not genius," he said.

PLENTY OF GIRLS
In his theatrical productions, Rose borrowed from the late Florence Ziegfeld and used plenty of pretty girls, sentimental music and soft lights. Later he went to buy the Ziegfeld Theater for $630,000 cash.

Kidnaper Put on Probation

James A. Bryant, 23, of Cass City was placed on five years probation and ordered to pay $100 court cost for the kidnapping in Troy last summer of a 10-year-old girl.

Bryant, formerly of Birmingham, was sentenced this morning by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Found guilty by a jury Jan. 14, Bryant had been accused of abducting the youngster after stopping her to ask a question.

The girl had escaped from Bryant's car about a half-mile from the point where she was picked up.

Police said she was not harmed.

Senator Held on Drunken Driving Count

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, was jailed overnight on a drunken driving charge. Lansing Police Lt. Okey Peterson said today.

Brown was released this morning on $100 bond and ordered to appear in Municipal Court later today.

Peterson said Brown ran off a main street in south Lansing, but no accident occurred. He was arrested by officer Daniel Waltz.

Peterson said Waltz' report showed that Brown refused to take a drunkometer test at Sparrow Hospital following the arrest.

He was jailed at 11:30 p.m. and released at 8:05 a.m.

SENATE COMMITTEE
Brown said Tuesday, following a hearing of his Senate Judiciary Committee, that he is opposed to the so-called implied consent drunken driving bill.

The measure says that anyone holding a drivers license has implied his consent to be tested for drunkenness while driving.

Brown favored an expressed consent measure, where the driver must specifically say he agrees to be tested at any time.

Brown said social pressure would force most drivers to so agree.

Last month, Brown was active in getting a bill out of the Senate Judiciary Committee which would make driving records and point standings secret to insurance companies and the public.

'Jail Is Likely in Future Plan'

only one of several county facilities that has felt the pinch of county growth.

"The problem in keeping up with needed construction has been lack of funds," Murphy said.

He said that the county should be better able to solve this problem now that the board of supervisors has established a building authority which can issue bonds for construction.

JAIL CAPACITY
One of the major concerns about the 250-prisoner capacity jail is the danger of getting more prisoners than it can accommodate.

"Most penal experts now say six to eight prisoners in a cell is a maximum," Sheriff's Capt. Leo R. Hazen said.

"Here we're forced to put as many as 32 men into our bullpens upstairs where they're kept for most of the day, including meals."

Despite its age, the county jail has been approved every year by state inspection teams.

Art Academy Head Is Named

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Glen Paulsen, head of the department of architecture at Cranbrook Academy of Art, has been named president of the academy.

Paulsen, 48, of 6239 Eastwood, Birmingham, succeeds Zoltan Sepeshy and will assume his administrative duties July 1.

In announcing the appointment, Ernest A. Jones, chairman of the board of trustees, said Paulsen follows in the footsteps of the academy's first president, the late and famous Eliot Spaulding, for whom Paulsen worked in private practice at one time.

Paulsen came to Cranbrook Feb. 1, 1965. At that time in addition to his private practice, he was an instructor in graduate design at the University of Michigan.

Born in Spooner, Wis., and educated in Milwaukee, Paulsen was drafted into the Air Force during his senior year at the University of Illinois.

LEARNED OF CRANBROOK
He served three years under Marshall Fredericks, the famous sculptor, from whom he first learned of Cranbrook.

He won his bachelor of architecture from the University of Pennsylvania in 1947, after which he studied at the Royal Academy in Stockholm where he earned his master's degree in architecture and city planning.

Paulsen formed his own company in 1958. His firm has won two consecutive awards for excellence presented by the Dow Chemical Corp.

Least June Paulsen was co-recipients of the award of merit in the 1965 honors award program of the Detroit chapter, American Institute of Architects, for design of the Shaper Hall of Pharmacy at Wayne State University.

BIRMINGHAM — St. Martha's Guild will sponsor a family-style dinner, entitled Star-Spangled Beef Buffet, at St. James Episcopal Church on Feb. 17 from 5:30-7:30 p.m.

During the buffet, rock 'n' roll music will be presented by the Pall Bearers, a group who are donating their time for this fund-raising event.

The receipts will go to a missionary project in Africa.

Crime in the U.S.—2

Firearms Bill in Thicket of Controversy

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second article in a three-part series on crime in the United States.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
UPI National Reporter
WASHINGTON — Any discussion of the increasing danger to Americans in their homes and on the streets almost always starts out with this question: why not disarm the criminals? easier to ask than to answer.

Ask Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who has been trying to do it for four years and now gets the full backing of President Johnson. He is pushing for a federal statute that would control the interstate shipment of firearms and stem the flood of nonporting weapons from abroad.

The assassination of President Kennedy stemed, at the time, to anger Americans enough that it would be easy to pass a law making it difficult for criminals to obtain weapons. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach put it this way: As long as I live I can never forget that it was a mail order rifle — sent to a post office box that had been rented under an assumed name by a man with an established record of defection and mental instability — that killed President Kennedy.

But anger evaporates like water and somehow efforts to get legislation immediately after Kennedy's death failed. Now things are back about where they were. Mayor Francis Graves of Paterson, N. J., proved this not long ago.

TESTS SITUATION

To test the situation he ordered a 22-caliber revolver from a Chicago mail order house, giving only his name and address and enclosing a money order for $13.95. The revolver arrived promptly, and the mayor had this comment:

"The company that sent me this gun had no way of knowing whether I was a convicted murderer, what my intentions were or whether I was five years old or 105 years old."

The Justice Department believes one million guns are sold each year by mail order houses who know nothing about the purchasers except that they have some money and have sent it along.

Over a three-year period, the department says, 4,000 persons bought weapons from two Chicago mail order houses and one-fourth of them had criminal records.

INDIVIDUALISTS

So why is Dodd having so much trouble getting his law enacted? Americans are rugged individualists and prominent in their pantheon of heroes are such gun bearers as Daniel Boone, Davy Crockett and Buffalo Bill.

They also can point to the second amendment to the Constitution which says "the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

The writers of the Constitution, interested in maintaining an armed and ever-ready militia, scarcely can be blamed for not anticipating such later developments as Al Capone, the sawed-off shotgun and the American mafia.

Much opposition comes from a most patriotic and respectable organization — The National Rifle Association of America. It has 700,000 members and 12,000 affiliated organizations.

PRASED

It has been praised and supported by several presidents and at no time, so far as diligent research can turn up, has it been accused of being subversive or of attempting to organize a private army.

Basically the association thinks Dodd's law is impractical and this position is stated by its executive vice president, Frederick L. Orth:

No Witnesses Due at Closed Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Community Antenna Television (CATV), a TV by-product that has snowballed into a national controversy, came under the scrutiny of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) today.

The FCC planned a closed meeting on the issue. Commission Chairman E. William Henry was undecided when he would have a statement on the proceedings. Today's session was not a hearing and no witnesses were scheduled.

The FCC's study of CATV was undertaken with a wary eye on Capitol Hill where pressure has mounted for and against proposed controls of the system.

CATV picks up commercial television shows and relays them by cable or microwave units to subscribers who pay an average of $5 a month for the service.

Some aspects of the system have already been ruled on by the commission. It said in April 1968, that CATV did not fall under a common carrier classification of FCC regulations.

CABLE SYSTEMS

The agency ruled more recently, however, that it had jurisdiction over cable systems that used microwave units and asked Congress to enact legislation giving it jurisdiction as well over systems using cables.

The first cable system started in Pennsylvania in 1950 to bring television signals to remote mountain areas, but it has since mushroomed into centers of population.

It is this which has touched off the controversy.

The FCC has indicated it will be reluctant in its consideration of CATV to make hard and fast rules.

ANNUAL REPORT

The commission commented in its 1965 annual report that it had "no intention of bypassing congressional action."

The commission is expected to decide to continue its rule that it controls systems using microwave units, that CATV cannot be used for pay-television programming and that there is a limit to the distance from which a TV signal can be imported into a community over CATV.

These decisions, however, probably will take into account congressional reaction.

"There are many examples of legislation enacted years ago which have been amended type who quickly erupts in anti-time and time again to fill a gap and scorn when asked about life in Kerala.

"The association, because of this experience, looks upon the vast majority of firearms legislation as the misdirected efforts of social reformers, do-gooders and-or the completely uninformed who would accomplish miracles by the enactment of a new law."

IN CONTROVERSY

At the moment, Dodd's bill is in a thorny thicket of controversy and it would be a brave man, armed or unarmed, who would predict who is going to win the struggle between the senator and his opponents. Meantime, what are the police doing about the increased crime rate? In most cases, about all they can.

There never has been a police chief who will admit he has enough men, and most of the time they are absolutely right. There are 1.9 policemen for every 100 inhabitants of our big cities; 1.3 for every 1,000 in the suburbs and .9 for rural areas.

Chiefs of police in big cities occasionally bring about a notable reduction in crime by concentrating on one area or one category of offenses. New York cut crime in the subways by putting policemen aboard the trains.

Washington reduced some types of street crimes by organizing a tactical squadron which concentrated on sections of the city where violence was high.

ASKING FOR TROUBLE

But if you take a policeman away from one place or one job and assign him to another, you are asking for trouble in the posts you have left vacant.

Few persons realize the multitude of duties assigned to the police. New duties are piled on constantly and seldom is the force increased. Scotland Yard probably is the most famous police force in the world, and there is a mistaken idea that all its men devote all their time to solving murders. Not at all.

Scotland Yard is the metropolitan police force of the city of London and thousands of its men spend their time directing traffic and looking for lost children.

About two-thirds of all skiers are college graduates, a statistical study released by the Department of Commerce discloses.

Students Are India Hope—and Despair

TRIVANDRUM, India (AP)—Ananthan Krishnan and thousands of young men like him are India's hope — and its despair.

Anantha is a college student whose generation will provide India's next leaders. In their literate skills and energy lie impoverished India's hope for a better tomorrow.

But here in southwest India, students are frustrated slouching, throwing malcontents who for weeks have pushed aside their studies in favor of manning the barricades.

There lies India's despair.

COMMUNIST BANNER

Through these students, hard-core professional agitators have raised the banner of communism in Kerala State. It flutters bright red against the lush tropical greenery.

Through the students, the Peking brand of communism has won a beachhead in this section of South Asia.

Anantha is a business administration student at Mahatma Gandhi College in Trivandrum. He is short, wiry and dark — a chain-smoking, foot-tapping type who quickly erupts in anti-time and time again to fill a gap and scorn when asked about life in Kerala.

He says that India's food crisis triggered the Kerala trouble and that the immediate danger to Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government is that the unrest will break out elsewhere in the crucial months ahead.

'WE WANT RICE'

"We want rice," Anantha says, slipping easily into stock phrases the Kerala Communists use.

"We are born of rice. We need rice. Why won't the government give it to us?"

Anantha says he isn't Communist — he just goes to Red rallies to hear music played before the harangues begin against Mrs. Gandhi's government and law and order.

The speechmakers are men who goaded students this month into battling police, ripping up railroad tracks, stoning trains and burning buses.

RED THEME

Rice, and Mrs. Gandhi's inability to deliver more in this year of nationwide drought and threatening famine, has been the Communist theme.

However, a reporter's tour of Kerala showed the Communists have used this theme mainly as an introduction to a delicately based symphony of revolution on other substantial but less obvious complaints.

There are economic misery, malnutrition, unemployment, inflation and hunger — for rice — in Kerala. But there's no starvation in the tradition of Indian starvation.

U.S. WHEAT

Imported American wheat is pouring in and food for farmer and villager is handy, often from a doorstep banana tree.

Interviews with Anantha and many others showed this situation developed:

Keralites, rice eaters in the classic Asian sense, refuse to substitute American wheat for rice.

"It hurts my stomach," Anantha said.

American officials report only a third of the wheat ration available in Kerala is purchased. The remainder lies unused.

FIVE OUNCES

This ration is about five ounces daily for each adult. A like ration of rice is snapped up immediately.

Tempted by a growing black market demand, rice farmers are not selling to the government at a fixed rate. They are selling under the table for two to three times the fixed rate.

Why, they ask, can't Mrs. Gandhi send rice?

Anantha and his college friends have picked up this slogan in full voice but given the opportunity they reveal this is only part of their problem.

NO ELECTION They are angry because New Delhi has taken over Kerala State affairs and has not held an election to replace the local government that collapsed last year under a Communist-led political assault.

The Communists harp on the claim that India has rice, but that Mrs. Gandhi "discriminates" against Kerala.

After all, they said, Kerala State has only 2 per cent of here. India's land, is burdened with 4 per cent of its population — and still manages to earn 12 per cent of the country's foreign difficulty in getting jobs.

If they are lucky enough to find an opening, they expect to have to pay up to $300 under the table to some personnel manager to nail down the job.

Under the circumstances, Kerala students were in a mood for rough stuff when the call came. And they still are.

Kerala is going to remain a time bomb as Mrs. Gandhi struggles with the real food crisis in central and northwest India.

NHA TRANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — If you want to meet really famous names, you can find them here. Staff Sgt. Daniel Boone, 23, of Foley, Ala., Staff Sgt. David "Davey" Crockett, 28, of Jamestown, Tenn., and 1st Lt. Gene Autry, 27, of Lillington, N.C., are among the many famous names flying in Vietnam.

Boone, 23, of Foley, Ala., says, "It's a name that people remember but sometimes I wish they hadn't."

Crockett recalls he rather enjoyed meeting Daniel Boone in Okinawa a year ago. Both are flight engineers.

Boone, 23, of Foley, Ala., says, "It's a name that people remember but sometimes I wish they hadn't."

Explaining their job — flying men and material in the 435th Troop Carrier Squadron's C130 Hercules planes — is easier than explaining their names.

Take Staff Sgt. David Crockett, 28, of Jamestown, Tenn. He does not even know if he's kin to the legendary bear-wrestler and Alamo hero.

HIT SONG

"I really took a ribbing when the song Davey Crockett was named. No. 1 hit," said the sergeant.

"Now it doesn't bother me at all. I really don't know if my family tree goes back that far."

Crockett says one of his buddies is actually named John Henry.

When they went out on dates, they used to introduce themselves and wait for the impact.

Death Penalty Controversy Flares Again in Britain

LONDON (UPI) — In a country where gallows once were a familiar sight at country crossroads and bodies of highwaymen were left strung up as a warning to travelers, renewed controversy is stirring over the decision to abolish the death penalty.

Lord Dithorne, former attorney general and one of the chief opponents of the 1965 act that ended hanging, says, "I am certain that the majority of people in this country think it was a mistake, with serious crime increasing so rapidly."

But Home Secretary Roy Jenkins says the act will stay. It stopped hanging for an experimental period of five years, but it is widely expected to be forever.

France, with the guillotine, and Spain, with the garrote, are the only West European countries that now carry out the death penalty.

Recently one pro-death penalty newspaper, the Daily Express, said it counted 249 murders in Britain in 1965 and this was the highest total ever.

USING WEAPONS

"With the fear of execution removed, criminals are using weapons on an increasing scale and the outlook for law enforcement in 1966 is bleak," it charged.

Jenkins replied that the Express figures was "premature and slightly scaremongering."

More widely quoted is the police figure of 235 murders last year, but any number given at removes the extraordinary stability of the murder rate in Britain, and strongly suggests that the issue of capital punishment is wholly irrelevant to the amount of murders in the community."

Public execution ended in 1868. The death sentence for children under 16 was abolished in 1908 and for those under 18 in 1933.

State Supreme Court Denies Citizen Group Districting Appeal

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court Wednesday denied a Detroit citizens group entry into the legislative apportionment fight.

In so doing, it refused to look at an apportionment plan that all parties have agreed comes mathematically closest to perfect population equality.

Such equality has been the overriding principal demanded by the U. S. Supreme Court in legislative apportionment. It also has been the prime concern of Democratic members of the Legislative Apportionment Commission. Republican members have tried to inject other elements, such as shape of districts and the honoring of county and township lines.

Science Grant for U-M

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan has received a grant of $26,519 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for a study to be made in the university's school of public health.

to be allowed to intervene in the 18-month-old case, or at least have its "one man-one vote" plan considered by the court. It had presented the plan to the Legislative Apportionment Commission, but it was rejected by Democratic members of the eight-man, bipartisan, deadlocked commission.

Justice Michael O'Hara dissented from the denial; Justice Harry Kelly did not vote. Both served with Republican endorsement on the subject of apportionment, was the only member of the bench to comment on the denial.

Black, a former Republican attorney general who has been nominated for the court by Democratic conventions, ruled the petition out of order.

"The court," he said, "has no present power of choice (between various plans)." It merely has the power to review "any final plan adopted by the commission (and to) remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution," Black said.

Griffin Eying Senate Bid

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

WASHINGTON — Since the meeting of the Republican party leaders in St. Clair last weekend, Congressman Robert P. Griffin, R-Traverse City, is closer to making up his mind about running for the Senate seat now held by Democrat Pat McNamara.

Not a rich man, the 42-year-old Republican who represents a long stretch along the western shoreline of Michigan from north of Traverse City to Holland, has contended right along that he would not run without the united support of his party.

In the St. Clair meeting, he didn't get quite that. But he was among the top three winners in the voting by the state committee and the county and district GOP chairmen. Governor Romney had set a high, 75 per cent, for the winner.

At a news conference, Griffin said he didn't know whether Leroy Augustine, Michigan State professor, or State Senator Guy Vanderjagt or he got the most votes.

Anyway a runoff is scheduled with the same party leaders voting on February 19. Griffin plans to attend. At this time, he does not know where the meeting would be held.

PROS, CONS

With this turn of events, the congressman, who was elected six times to the House of Representatives is weighing the pro and cons, "talking it over" with his wife, House Minority Leader Gerald Ford (a close friend he helped elect No. 1 Republican in the House) and other Michigan colleagues in the delegation.

Optimistically, he sees this as "a good time" to run, with votegetter Governor Romney heading the ticket and this year not a presidential election year.

Certainly he is better known throughout the state than the other two selected and he has a broader and longer experience in public service. The runoff could give him what he wants most, "the assurance of the united support of his party."

But realistically, he knows that his high-ranking No. 2 spot on the House Education and Labor Committee along with the publicity given the Landrum-Griffin Act, has marked him as anti-labor, which will not win him many votes in Wayne County.

WORKERS LIKE ME

But he contends "While labor leaders don't like me, many workers do, as is proven by my victories in industrial Muskegon, where I was the first Republican to win for 14 years."

Griffin will be able to get some voter reaction to his running for the Senate from the Lincoln Day speeches he will give in the next few days.

His schedule calls for rip-roaring Republican oratory on Feb. 12 in Ionia; Feb. 15 in Fremont, and on Feb. 17 at the Ottawa County Republican dinner; he will introduce former Congressman Robert Taft of Ohio. On Feb. 16, he will give

Probably he was surprised that a state senator from his own 9th congressional district, Guy Vanderjagt, was one of the top three winners at the St. Clair meeting.

DODGES QUESTION

He dodged a question the possibility of "a deal" with the Cadillac lawyer, who might be persuaded to withdraw from the Senate race in a trade for Griffin's Congressional seat.

Griffin knows, if he runs, he's in for a tough race and he has no choice between the Democrats mentioned as his opponent if McNamara does not seek reelection.

In any case he says, "I'll be the underdog." He estimated the cost of the Senate campaign would be between $300,000 and $500,000.

Six New U. S. Hockey Franchises Ease NHL's Growing Pains

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York, Oakland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Toronto Maple Leafs franchises, spawned by the National Hockey League, were given the green light Wednesday after the NHL's board of governors reviewed 13 applications from eight cities and no American teams 48 years ago, has moved to within shooting distance of completing its expansion program by granting six new franchises to cities representing U.S. cities. Los Angeles, San Francisco, Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association, was awarded the Los Angeles franchise. He was given the nod over four other groups from that city.

George Fehrly, president of the Shasta Corp., which owns the Ice Polys, is the majority stockholder in the San Francisco-Oakland group. Bing Crosby is a member of this group.

The Minneapolis-St. Paul franchise was awarded to an eight-man syndicate which includes television station owners Bob Riddle and Gordon Ritz, and Walter Bush, an attorney.

31 INVESTORS

State Sen. Jack McGregor of Pennsylvania and Art Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, are among the 31 investors in the Pittsburgh operation.

The majority stockholder of the Philadelphia syndicate is William Putnam, a banker.

There will be four new teams in Los Angeles, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Philadelphia," Campbell said. "Their applications were predicated in part on the construction of these new buildings."

The San Francisco-Oakland entry, which was learned will be called the California Seals, is expected to play in Oakland's Alameda Coliseum, now under construction.

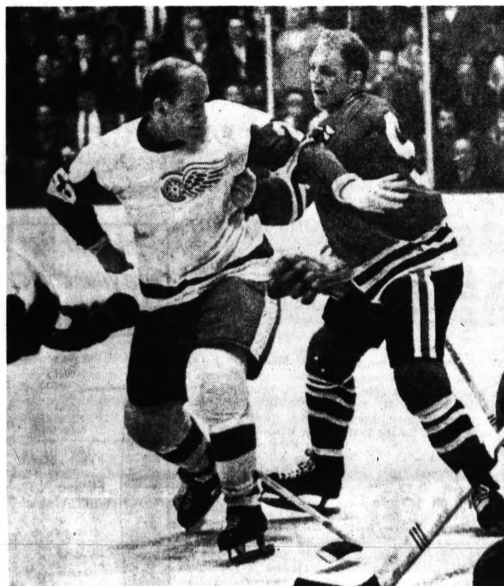

The Civic Arena in Pittsburgh will be expanded to accommodate 12,800 spectators, an increase of 2,100 over its present capacity.

The teams in the new division will be eligible to compete for the Stanley Cup, hockey's post-season championship. Campbell added, however, he explained that no playoff plans incorporating the new division have been made.

The cost of each new franchise is $2 million and will entitle each group to buy 20 players from the current NHL teams. No plan of allocating the players has been worked out.

Hollis, displaying a stunning left hook, earned a decision over Dan Strub in his first bout, and in the second scrap, he decked Ronnie Rucker with a left hook for a count of eight in the second round and sent the Grand Rapids boxer to the canvas again in the third.

Denny Weeden, Oxford's 295-pound slugger, carried the fight to Joe Childrey and seemed headed for a victory until Childrey caught him with a left hook in the midsection midway in the second.

Jack Meanyweather polished off Doc Eyell in his first bout, but he couldn't match the craftiness of Sidney Deans in the second bout.

Detroit Blanks Chicago's Hull but Loses, 2-1

Win Puts Windy City in 1st Place; Sawchuk Stops Rangers, 3-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Red Wings blanked slumping scoring star Bobby Hull Wednesday night, only to find out it takes more than that to whip the Chicago Black Hawks.

Hull, bidding to become the first man to break hockey's 50-goal barrier, was blanked for the third straight game Wednesday night but the Black Hawks nipped Detroit 2-1 and took over first place in the NHL standings.

Toronto's Terry Sawchuk turned in his 98th career shutout, blanking the New York Rangers 3-0 in Wednesday's only other game.

Hull, with 44 goals in 45 games, still has 22 games left which to break the record he shares with Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion. The Red Wings kept him off the scoreboard but couldn't snap the hex Chicago has over Detroit this season.

THIRD PERIOD GOAL

The Hawks, who've won four of their last five and own a two-point bulge over Detroit and Montreal, won it on Chico Maki's third period goal. Maki picked up a pass from Pat Stapleton and whistled a 15-footer past Roger Crozier from a tough angle at 4:07.

Glenn Hall made the goal stand up as he kicked out 13 of Detroit's game total of 30 shots in the final period. It was Chicago's eighth victory in 10 starts against Detroit this season.

The Hawks have picked up 17 of a possible 20 points in their meeting with the Wings. Sawchuk, who holds the NHL record for shutouts, battled New York's Ed Giacomin on even terms through a scoreless first period but got the margin he needed when Bobby Pulford netted his 21st goal of the season in the midsection.

Dave Keon and Ron Ellis wrapped it up for the Maple Leafs by scoring inside of 70 seconds in the third period.

DEFENSIVE COACH SET FOR U-M STAFF

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan Board of Athletic Control is expected to meet Friday to approve the hiring of Don James as an assistant football coach.

James, 34, has been chief defensive coach at Florida State University at Tallahassee.

The Wolverines have sought to fill gaps in the coaching ranks brought on within the last month by the resignations of defensive coach Bob Holloway and defensive backfield coach Don Dufek. Both resigned to enter private business.

James was an assistant coach at Kansas University and coached at Southwest Miami, Fla., High School in 1957-58. He went to Florida State in 1959.

By Year 2,000 Prof Foresees Speedy Track

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—It is the year 1966, but not the time that talk of an 8-second, 100-yard dash or a 42-second, 440 is some 21st-century fantasy.

"We can say with absolute safety—nuclear war apart," says a noted English physiologist, that all the present track records listed will eventually be broken.

"It is likely that in the next 50 years we shall see trends similar to those of the last 50 years," added Dr. B. B. Lloyd of the university laboratory of physiology at Oxford.

Dr. Lloyd, in Dallas to speak at a symposium at the University of Texas Southwestern medical school, said Wednesday: "We haven't reached any sort of plateau."

He said the 100-yard dash record of 9.1 "should come down to 8.5 seconds" by the year 2,000. He believes the 440 will be run in 42.4 the record is now 44.9 and the mile in 3:41 as compared to 3:53.6.

Runners willing to undertake the 26-mile marathon will cut 10 minutes off the present record of 2 hours and 12 minutes, he predicted.

Dr. Lloyd said that selection from a larger population, better training methods and increased motivation will help lower the present times in the next 50 years.

Browns, Indians Voice Opposition to TV Proposal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Top executives of the Cleveland Browns and the Cleveland Indians voiced opposition Wednesday to unrestricted telecasting of their home games by cable television firms.

Art Modell, president of the Browns, and Gabe Paul, general manager of the Indians, appeared at Cleveland City Council committee hearings on granting of franchises to CATV, Inc. and Telarama, Inc.

The cable television firms seek city permission to erect tall antennae which will pick up out-of-town programs and send them to Cleveland subscribers by wire.

"All we are asking you to do is to protect us from having our only product pirated," said Paul.

FREE KICK—Detroit Pistons' Tom Van Arsdale (behind) wound up kicking the ball accidentally on this first half play last night in Detroit, but his kick did keep Philadelphia 76ers' Will Chamberlain (13) from getting the ball. Will got the ball often enough, however, to stuff 30 points through the basket as the 76ers won, 108-91.

Chamberlain Nears NBA Scoring Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Philadelphia's 108-91 victory over Detroit Wednesday night assured the 76ers of a tie for second place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division and moved Will Chamberlain closer to the NBA all-time scoring title.

Philadelphia now is tied with Cincinnati, three games off the pace set by front-running Boston. Chamberlain's 30-point effort at Detroit left him 98 shy of Bob Pettit's career record of 20,880.

In other NBA action, Boston trimmed New York 121-117, snapping the Knicks' four-game winning streak, and Los Angeles outlasted Baltimore 123-116 in overtime.

LATE RALLY

The Pistons rallied to within 69-63 late in the third quarter, but the 76ers streaked to a 79-67 lead after three quarters as Chamberlain scored two field goals. Ray Scott led the Pistons with 26 points.

The Celtics' victory was their sixth in the last eight games. Mel Counts sparked the Boston triumph, scoring 18 points and grabbing nine rebounds in just 16 minutes of play. With New York threatening in the final quarter, the 7-footer came off the bench and scored six straight points for a 106-99 Celtics lead.

Six Celtics scored 15 points or better with Bill Russell leading the group with 20. Dick Barnett had 32 for the Knicks.

Jerry West was the star in Los Angeles' triumph over Baltimore that gave the Lakers a six-game bulge in the West. West scored the field goal that tied the game 112-112 at the end of regulation time, then scored four of the Lakers' 11 points in overtime.

West finished with 39 points and grabbed 34 rebounds in 40 minutes.

Peace Is No Threat to Healthy Economy

Michigan Tops in Truck Output

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—A peace scare can upset the delicate balance of the stock market. But the real thing—actual peace negotiations—would have only a passing and relatively minor effect on the general economy.

Prosperity at home isn't at stake. Most business leaders have stressed before—and will be saying again privately in the wake of the Tuesday turmoil on the stock market—that the economy is too large and too well-based at the moment for peace talks aimed at ending the Vietnam war to require more than readjustments. And these the economy could take in stride, industrial leaders stress.

Some defense orders might be canceled. Some military spending might be foregone. But the major outlays for defense still would stay high.

The civilian economy—the really big thing—would be freed of some of the threats now sighted. These include the possibility of higher taxes if the Viet Nam war gets still more expensive, the chance of official moves being imposed on wages and prices or the fear of a war-nourished inflationary spiral.

Industry sources have predicted that a 2-million truck year will be reached within the next three years, with most of the additional demand coming from buyers of light and heavy duty trucks.

R. L. Polk & Co., auto industry statisticians, released this week its report on new trucks registered in the first 11 months of 1965. It showed more vehicles were bought in that time than in all of 1964.

The Polk report listed 1,381,140 commercial vehicles registered in the first 11 months of 1965. It showed more vehicles were bought in that time than in all of 1964.

That meant the industry—last December's sales figures yet to be added—had sold more trucks than in the previous year of 1,361,772 set in 1964.

Word's Automotive Reports, which annually makes a detailed study of truck building trends, said Indiana had made a strong showing in the field last year, due largely to a Kaiser Jeep contract for building 15,983 trucks in South Bend. It said this took up much of the slack left in Indiana when Studebaker moved its truck building operations to Canada.

The emotional selling had furnished opportunities for bargain hunters to get some sound stocks cheap.
