

OU to Seek Funds to Train City Youth

Oakland University will seek a $250,000 appropriation from the legislature next year for a pilot program aimed at providing every student in Pontiac an opportunity for post high school training, Chancellor D. B. Varner said in a speech on the campus today.

If funded by the state, the program would be launched July 1, 1970, and would be carried out in cooperation with Pontiac schools, Oakland Community College and other community groups. The university has a year-old urban affairs program which includes special projects in neighboring communities.

Varner's remarks to more than 2,000 persons in Oakland's sports and recreation building officially opened the university's 10th anniversary celebration.

Regarding Pontiac, Varner said, "The city, as nearly as any city in America, represents the troubled nature of our times. It possesses a deteriorating downtown business section, a large and depressing black ghetto, and a volatile racial situation.

PLANS RECOMMENDATION

"While I should make it clear that no one has formally asked Oakland University to direct its talents and resources toward the problem, it must be obvious to all of us that it would be a dereliction of our responsibility if we did not seek to help."

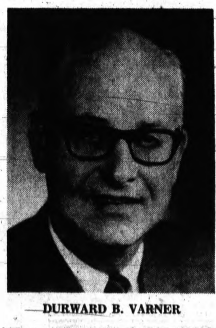

Varner added, "We shall recommend to our board of trustees and through them to the governor and State Legislature, a special appropriation of $250,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1970, for developing joint programs, with institutions and groups in the city of Pontiac, pilot programs for improving the quality of human existence in the city."

Laird Indicates Upcoming Draft Calls to Be Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird indicated today draft calls for the months ahead will be reduced as a result of the new troop reduction in Vietnam and an over-all 200,000-man cutback in U.S. armed strength.

"The Vietnamization program will have a very substantial effect on programmed draft calls for the months ahead," Laird told a news conference.

The defense secretary said he will inform the Selective Service System Friday of the planned changes and will urge Congress that same day to enact reform legislation designed to remove inequities in the draft.

County Board Split on Employee Raises

By JEAN SAILE

Raises for county employees are almost certain to spark debate when the County Board of Supervisors holds its hearing on the 1970 budget Oct. 2. The budget must be adopted on the first Monday in October — in this case, Oct. 6 — according to the board's rules.

An effort to head off a split failed yesterday as members of the supervisors' personnel practices and finance committees met for further salary consideration.

Following sometimes bitter and personal exchanges between members of the two units, the personnel practices committee rejected by a 4-2 vote an attempt to cut the pay-increase package 15 per cent.

Low Coy, R-Wiscom, had urged the $125,000 trim to hold pay raises to 8.5 per cent, he said. He said such action would placate taxpayers and keep county government from contributing to inflation. Only Fred Houghten, R-Avon Township, voted with Coy.

NETOTIATED RAISES

The committee also rejected an attempt to put a 8.5 per cent ceiling on negotiated raises.

As the pay package stands and as it will be offered for board consideration, increases average 10 per cent. Figures presented to the committees show, however, that the raises in fact vary from 3 per cent to 28 per cent.

Finance committee member Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, objected to pay increases for political appointees and proposed across-the-board $2,000 increases for the five members of the corporation counsel's staff.

Houghten said O'Brien had personal reasons for his continuing attacks on the corporation counsel's office.

'SOME INEQUITIES'

Christian F. Powell, R-West Bloomfield, claimed negotiated wages (still being bargained) should set the pattern for other wage increases.

Powell said the present economic upturn is 6 per cent and charged that the contemplated 10 per cent raise average is too high.

William L. Mainland, D-Milford Township, and Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county board of auditors, claimed cuts made now would be unjust. In order to keep good county employees, the increases should be retained as proposed, they said.

Proposed raises are justified in view of wages in private industry and other governmental units, they added.

'SOME INEQUITIES'

Delos Hamlin, R-Farmington Township, said he found some inequities in the package.

He said the committee might choose individual areas in which to cut, but "changing salaries now would be like changing assessments — you'd never know where to stop."

Murphy noted the county's ability to pay the proposed increases, but he issued a warning about future ability should the tax rate continue to be cut by the County Allocation Board.

Low of 46 to 50 Predicted Tonight

A cold front from the northwest tumbled temperatures in the Pontiac area to 47 at 7 a.m. today.

The weatherman reports skies will clear tonight and temperatures will continue cool, the low to be 46 to 50.

The forecast for tomorrow is sunny and cool with the expected high 67 to 73. It will be partly cloudy and a little warmer Friday.

Precipitation probabilities are 30 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight and 10 per cent tomorrow.

The mercury read 63 at 2 p.m.

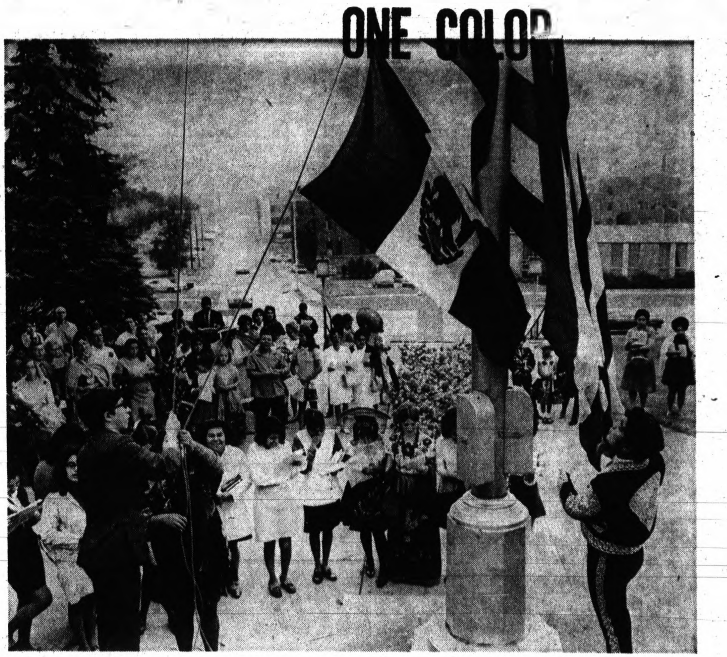

Social Security Boost Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon said today he will ask Congress for an increase of 10 per cent in Social Security payments, effective next April 1.

The President made the announcement, without elaboration, just before he signed a bill extending the federal support program for local projects for older Americans.

He said he considered the occasion an appropriate time to make the announcement about Social Security because older Americans are affected substantially by the rising cost of living.

Nixon said he will send the request to Congress next week.

Dry Wells—Who Bears Burden?

By DICK ROBINSON

Who bears the burden when the well runs dry?

The contractor for a county sewer project which is drying up the wells? The county? Or is the burden put on the residents affected?

You're right. It's the residents who have to stand the loss, according to the law. The homeowner has to face the inconvenience of not having running water in his home while thousands of other unaffected residents will benefit from the sewer project.

This is the situation which has hundreds of residents in the area of Eagle and Woodhill Lakes, near the boundary between the two townships, boiling.

Pumping of water from the ground to afford dry excavation holes for the 40-mile long, $28-million Clinton-Oakland Interceptor Sewer has lowered the water table and dried up some 100 shallow wells.

Many residents were left high and dry — without water — for weeks before they got temporary above-ground water.

lines which could freeze in colder weather. Up to 1,000 people in the path of the project could yet be affected.

What makes matters worse is that little legal recourse is available unless affected residents go all out financially and try challenge existing laws all the way to the state or even the U.S. Supreme Court, a lawyer for the residents says.

The residents would have to raise some $5,000 and have five years of patience before the issue could be settled.

ONLY MORAL RIGHT

Only moral right — not the law — is on the side of the waterless homeowners, lawyers explain.

A few years back, a Farmington Township resident whose well went dry sued a contractor who was pumping water from the ground for a sanitary sewer.

The well owner won the case in Oakland County Circuit Court but the case ultimately went in favor of the contractor in the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Ford Prices Up Average $103

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford-Motor Co. announced today it is increasing car prices an average of $103 on its 1970 cars, following General Motors Corp. which boosted its prices an average of $125 last week.

Ford also announced it was supplementing its 12-month, unlimited mileage warranty on new cars with an optional 5-year, 50,000-mile warranty on new cars for an additional $15. GM's 5-50 power train warranty is included with the purchase of the car, but its one-year warranty on the entire car is limited to the first 12,000 miles.

The price of the new Ford Maverick was unchanged at $1,995 and the warranty on that model was continued at 12 months or 12,000 miles.

Ford said the 1970 prices represented a gross increase of 3.6 per cent over 1969.

The "pure" price increase, however, Ford set at 5.1 or 1.7 per cent. The rest of the increase represented new equipment added as standard on the 1970 models.

Family Assistance Unsettled Welfare Plan Still Snarled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's welfare reform proposals remain lodged at the White House in their 11th draft because of kinks in the family assistance program.

Congress probably will have to wait another two weeks before receiving a final, detailed package of welfare legislation, government sources say.

The President said last month he wants to replace aid programs for dependent children with a sweeping family assistance program that would provide minimum aid of $1,600 a year to a needy family of four.

And for the first time, a working family of four with income less than $3,920 a year could receive a cash supplement under the proposal.

PLAN BEING SLOWED

White House drafters say completion of the family assistance plan is being slowed by such questions as these:

- What amount of personal assets can a family retain and still be eligible for aid?
- How many times a year must a family report its income for recomputation of benefits?

• How long should a person have to wait for his first monthly check after making application?

• What value should be placed on the land of a farmer who has had several years of crop failure?

Robert M. Ball, commissioner of the Social Security Administration, which would run the program, said one thing that is certain to be needed is a massive public campaign similar to the one that brought 20 million elderly persons into the Medicare system.

In addition, he said, his agency would have to expand storefront operations in big cities and mobile offices in rural areas.

The biggest task would be informing sometime illiterate people of family assistance and bringing them into the program, Ball said.

Nixon Stalled on Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has acknowledged that virtually all his major legislative proposals will be held over by Congress until next year, Republican sources say.

At a lengthy session yesterday with GOP congressional leaders, Nixon put his legislative proposals on a green-light, red-light basis, the sources said.

In the green-light classification were bills the President will press for immediate action. But these generally were measures which Congress must consider this year since they extend programs already operating.

The red-light group designed proposals Nixon is said to feel won't be acted on until next year — including most of his major recommendations.

Among the measures rated in the red-light category:

- Postal reform creating a self-sustaining corporation to take over the mails.
- Crime-fighting measures including bills on organized crime, illegal gambling, and immunity from prosecution so testimony can be pried from reluctant witnesses.

Among the other Nixon measures already assigned to the red-light list are his welfare, manpower and revenue sharing proposals; drug control; mass-transit development; unemployment insurance; and voting-rights revision and extension.

Among the bills rated on Nixon's green-light program were foreign aid, export control, food stamps, housing, aid for hospital construction, student loans, education aid, obscenity control and coal-mine safety.

WANTS TAX ACTION

Nixon also told the leaders he wants action this year to extend the income surtax, and provide tax relief and reform.

Senate Democrats have refused to approve a long-term surtax extension without tax reform. The latter issue is now before the Senate Finance Committee.

Nixon also was quoted as urging swift action on draft reform — an unlikely prospect.

Illinois House Speaker Will Succeed Dirksen

Smith, a Republican from Alton, was the expected choice after Atty. Gen. William J. Scott withdrew from the race Monday. Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., of Rockford, also was a strong contender to succeed Dirksen who died Sept. 7 in Washington.

Price Error Explained

WASHINGTON (AP) — After first saying it went down, then saying it stayed the same, the government now says a key economic indicator — wholesale prices — went up in August.

Blaming the mix-up on a "computational error," the Bureau of Labor Statistics said yesterday that wholesale prices went up one-tenth of 1 per cent last month.

County Board Split on Raises

'WINDFALL' PARED

He noted, however, that for the second year in a row the county's share of the "windfall" has been pared. The 1970 county tax rate will be 5.12 mills as compared to 5.28 mills this year. The funds come from the 15-mill non-voted tax all property owners pay.

He charged that school districts — which benefited from the county's loss — do more to contribute to inflation than the county does.

Murphy prophesied, "The state equalized valuation is going to level off to increases of only 5 1/2 to 6 per cent per year once 50 per cent assessment is reached throughout the county. That's not enough money to put in new programs and new services."

He warned, "You can't afford to give the allocation board any idea that it can further cut county money. The $125,000 you (superior) save from salaries would go into the contingency fund, where it would probably be spent for something less worthwhile. Don't be penny-wise and pound-foolish," Murphy pleaded.

$3-Billion Suit Filed Against Auto Makers

CHICAGO (AP) — A taxpayers suit seeking $3 billion in damages was filed in U.S. District Court yesterday, charging three auto manufacturers with conspiring to prevent research, development and installation of antipollution devices for cars, trucks and buses.

General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. were charged with conspiring since 1955 to violate the Clayton Act of 1914 and the Sherman Act of 1890.

Named as coconspirators but not defendants were American Motors Corp., Checker Motor Co., International Harvester Co., Studebaker Corp., Kaiser Jeep Corp., Mack Trucks, Inc., and the Automobile Manufacturers Association, Inc., of Detroit.

The suit was filed by two Chicago attorneys, Paul T. Wigoda and Thomas E. Keane, as private citizens, on behalf of all Chicagoans. Keane is City Council floor leader for Mayor Richard J. Daley.

COULD COLLECT DAMAGES

Atty. Jerome Torsben said if the suit is successful, Chicagoans who have suffered ill-health or property damage due to air pollution will be able to collect damages.

The suit maintains manufacturers agreed not to compete for patents, that research should be noncompetitive and that pollution control devices would be installed only after delays.

It also charges manufacturers agreed to delay introduction of new exhaust control measures and to restrict publicity on pollution devices.

The suit maintained that in 1969 there are almost a million and a quarter cars, trucks and buses operating in Chicago and that the greatest portion of air pollutants would have been eliminated if the defendants had not conspired to delay the use of antipollution devices on these vehicles.

Dry Well Owners Cancel Picketing

A plan to picket a county sewer project tomorrow to protest dry wells in areas of Waterford and Independence townships has been called off.

Planning to picket were members of the Waterless Homeowners Association, residents whose wells went dry when excavations for pipe installation for the Glen Clinton-Oakland Interceptor were pumped out.

However, a spokesman said today cooperation on emergency water supplies had been promised by the county department of public works, and the picketing has been called off.

2nd Group of Women Paris-Bound

PARIS (UPI) — The wives of four American airmen missing in North Vietnam today met Hanoi diplomats to find out "whether we are still wives — or widows."

The four women who flew in Sunday from Dallas, Tex., on their diplomatic mission, slipped unobtrusively into the tree-shaded headquarters of the North Vietnamese mission to the Paris peace conference at 3:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. EDT).

The four women were greeted at the small door of the well-guarded mission headquarters by a Hanoi diplomat who immediately ushered them in.

Television cameras whirled as the four women dismounted from a rented minibus by the police barrier in front of the mission's black iron gate.

PATIENTLY WAITING

They had been patiently waiting for the summons in a small cafe behind the town hall of Chateaux La Reine, the working class suburb where the mission is located south of Paris.

The four women, who flew in saying they wished to determine "whether we are still wives — or widows" were: Mrs. Bonnie Singleton, wife of Capt. Jerry Singleton; Mrs. Joy Jeffrey, wife of Capt. Robert Jeffrey; Mrs. Paul Harkness,

Hearing Adjourned on Housing Code

By ED BLUNDEN

The Pontiac City Commission adjourned for three weeks a hearing on a new housing code last night in the face of criticism by about 40 persons.

The new code would replace a hodgepodge of ordinances and state regulations and give the city a more concrete document for housing standards. More stringent enforcement rules are included.

Most speakers at last night's hearing were opposed to the document, however, calling it vague, confusing and aimed at causing hardship to homeowners. The proposed code was printed in The Press Sept. 9.

Some speakers inferred the code is an attempt by the city to seize property. Others had more specific complaints. Michael Reilly, representing Pre-Built

He pointed out that the code insists on all bathroom facilities being in one room, while his firm offers divided, "lancier" bathrooms. He also said his interpretation of the code's requirement that sprinkler systems be installed in storage areas would mean his firm would have to install sprinklers throughout the house.

One speaker said more than 60 per cent of the homes in Pontiac would be in violation of the proposed ordinance. Considerable discussion centered around the city's inspectors, what powers they would have to enter a home, and what guidelines they would be using to call for enforcement.

Filing questions were James Bates, director of planning and urban renewal; Ralph T. Florio, director of code enforcement; and Thomas Hunter, assistant city attorney.

CODE'S PURPOSE

The men explained the primary purpose of the new code is to combat blight more effectively. The city is planning several projects in connection with the office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The projects include rehabilitation of structures as well as new homes.

However, HUD regulations call for a city to have a well-defined housing code to serve as a standard for rehabilitation loans and grants and to insure high-standard new housing, the officials explained.

The commissioners directed the city staff to restudy the proposed ordinance, taking into consideration the objections and to come up with a revision for resumption of the hearing Oct. 7.

A 90-day stay was granted the Brown Paper Co. of Kalamazoo to permit the board of directors to act on a proposed corrective program. The company said it plans to call for a complete cleanup of air pollution within a year.

Still No Home for 9 on ADC

Mrs. Deloris Black and her eight children are still without a real home. They were to end three weeks of living in a one-room-and-bath motel unit yesterday and move into more suitable lodgings, but their hopes were shattered at the last minute.

Mrs. Black, 33, supported by Aid to Dependent Children (ADC), had been offered rental of a duplex on Bagley. She spent four days cleaning the rooms in the duplex and making other improvements in preparations for the move by her family.

IT WAS SOLD

But she was told yesterday it had been sold.

Mrs. Black entered her sixth child in school yesterday. Eugene, 6, who until Saturday was hospitalized with sickle cell anemia. He and the other five students are breakfasting on cold cereal and toast prepared in the motel room prior to walks of up to nearly two miles to school.

The family's room at the Sagamore Motel, 780 Woodward, in costing the county $175 in rent weekly. Food bills run about $190 per week at a nearby restaurant.

First Statewide Basic-Skills Test Set for 4th and 7th Graders

LANSING (AP) — This year, for the first time in history, Michigan school children will be given a statewide test to see what they are getting out of their studies.

All public school children in the fourth and seventh grades will be given a basic skills examination some time in January. It will take about two hours.

"It is actually a basic skills battery," said Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction. "It will measure the achievements of the students in reading, writing, mathematics and vocabulary."

The testing program was devised by the State Department of Education with assistance from the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J.

The tests will be given in the local schools.

Costlier Parking?

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's Municipal Parking Authority, which operates several city-owned parking garages, has asked the City Council for permission to increase fees up to 40 per cent at four Civic Center facilities. The agency wants to said, is only the first step in a program to find out how well Michigan's public education program is doing.

The department also is conducting a long-range program of gathering data and an analysis of the broad goals and purposes of the schools.

"We want to be able to provide Michigan parents, educators and taxpayers with meaningful information on what the children of the state are achieving in public schools," Polley said.

Geographic areas, the background of the pupils and the financial resources of the school districts will be included with any reporting of results, he said.

NO COMPARISONS

Polley said, however, there will be no individual comparison or ranking of the school districts that could result in a public misinterpretation of the results.

Michael Deeb, a member of the State Board of Education, called, meanwhile, for the state to take over the job of accrediting Michigan schools.

"This is done at present by the University of Michigan and the North Central Association. Deeb called the present system 'worse than a sham' because standards set do not allow experimentation and change.

ACCREDITED, BUT . . .

The schools should be rated on what kind of community and type of pupil they serve, Deeb said. If the local school system is found to be lacking, he said, it should be helped.

Deeb said an illustration of the curriculum was directed toward industrial arts. None of these schools, Deeb, have been asked to improve their programs or prove their accreditation.

At another Detroit high school, Deeb said, 62 per cent of one graduating class did not even apply for college acceptance. But only per cent of

Farmington Citizens Form Unit to Protect Residential Quality

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

FARMINGTON — People care in Farmington.

"They care enough about retaining the residential quality of their town to have formed a citizen's association to fight any increase in apartment complexes and encroaching businesses."

"Preserve, Improve, and Participate" is the established goal of the Farmington Citizens' Association (FCA), currently numbering about 125 and growing rapidly.

Residents who attended FCA's first public meeting recently pledged a fight to preserve and improve Farmington's residential community while protecting against planning or zoning which would detract from a residential environment.

Since the first formative days last July, several goals have been defined. The organization's main efforts will go towards opposing any further multifamily or apartment developments within the city limits, and towards fighting the gradual creeping of business developments into residential areas.

NO MORE WANTED

FCA members who conducted a recent survey were disturbed when they discovered there are 3,500 apartment units built or in the planning stages in the three-square-mile city or on its borders within Farmington Township. Most residents polled said that no more apartment units are needed or wanted in Farmington.

Currently, the group is conducting a city-wide petition drive to oppose any further multifamily developments within city limits.

FCA claims the densification created by an overabundance of multifamily units in one area leads to traffic, shopping and educational problems along with burgeoning problems of deterioration and obsolescence as the buildings depreciate.

FCA also will work against spot rezoning that could be harmful to adjacent property owners and/or the community as a whole.

VOLUNTEER ASSISTANCE

Efforts also are being made to foster planning, improvement and beautification in existing business areas and to resist development of new business ventures that could detract from the community. The group will watch carefully their health, safety, and building ordinances in existing businesses, as well as green belt requirements, are strictly enforced.

The FCA has offered assistance, via volunteer architects, planners and others who are members, to the Downtown Redevelopment Committee of the City Planning Commission. That committee is currently creating a detailed plan for revitalizing the Central Business District.

Redevelopment Chairman Richard Tupper told FCA, "An organization such as yours will be a great asset to the implementation of the final program to redevelop the Central Business District."

"Many of us choose Farmington because we liked a small-town atmosphere. By 11 p.m. it's pretty quiet here. Some people may look down their noses, but this is what the town was and

People Are Beginning To Take A Cold, Hard Look At Their City, And They Don't Like What They Are Seeing . . .

QUICKLY CHANGING

"But suddenly things began to change fast. So we got out and started talking to people," added Miss Williams, who was one of the charter FCA organizers.

Preliminary contacts with a cross section of residents convinced FCA that there was a groundswell of public dissatisfaction with developments within the city during the past few years.

People are beginning to take a cold, hard look at their city and they don't like what they are seeing, according to FCA members.

The vice president explained, "Evidently people have been concerned for quite some time about the situation but said, 'What can I do?'"

NOT ONLY TO OPPOSE

"It is never our intent to merely oppose things, but we felt that many times in the past, things could have been improved or better alternate selections could have been offered," Miss Williams added.

She noted that FCA believed honest efforts were being made to correct problems, especially by the planning commission.

"In the beginning, many of us thought the planning commission members were commercially oriented but when we looked at these people we discovered that they're pretty dedicated. They work hard and get a lot of brickbats from the people."

"We discovered that the residents were derelict in not letting the planning commission know what they wanted," Miss Williams said.

TWO DRIVE-INS

Miss Williams cited as an example the number of residents now complaining about the two new drive-in hamburger restaurants on Grand River Avenue. At the time these chain stores applied for licenses, very few residents came to the meetings to indicate their disapproval.

"The planning commission has no choice but to approve such establishments if the place meets zoning regulations and people don't object with good reason at the time," she said.

A watchdog committee has been formed to sit in on all city council and planning commission meetings. The group will keep neighborhoods informed on plans and changes which would affect their areas. They also will relay wishes of the residents about current matters to the council and attempt to spot weaknesses in present ordinances which need correction.

The next meeting is set for Oct. 8 when bylaws will be adopted and permanent officers elected.

— would not have been affected. But that's because of the porous sand and gravel soil."

Some contend this situation is a prime example of irresponsibility of government to its people, prompting a battle of residents against city hall.

The problem is certain not to end in Waterford and Independence townships, MacLay feels.

"There will be more and more problems like this as sewers and expressways expand around us," he says. "What type of damages are the affected taxpayers entitled to? How much is their inconvenience worth?" MacLay asks.

'DR. DOLITTLE' FIRED — Patrick Riley, manager of a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Humane Society shelter, nestles an armful of kittens that were in his care at the shelter. Riley said that he was fired after making public the deplorable conditions at the shelter. "The conditions here are the most deplorable I've ever seen," said McGovern.

Evades Police Hunt in North Branch Twp.

Food Thief Puts Bite on Residents

NORTH BRANCH TOWNSHIP — State Police from the nearby Lapeer post searched the woods last night looking for the "phantom food burglar."

In the past month the State Police, North Branch police and the Lapeer County Sheriff's Department have received at least nine "legitimate" complaints about prowlers and farmhouse breaking and enterings in the area.

The only loot the thief takes is food. He operates like a refugee from the Transylvanian forest. If he isn't sure anyone is home, he'll rattle the front door, tap on the windows and moan and groan.

If he feels safe, he enters the house and raids the pantry.

Some Of The Phantom Calls Have Already Come In With Descriptions Ranging Anywhere From The Abominable Snowman To Nanook Of The North . . . 'He Must Run Like A Deer,' Said A Detective. 'Residents Have Chased Him, But He Just Takes Off Into The Woods And No One Can Catch Him'

Twice residents have been in their homes when he has struck. The first time, a man slept through the raid, even though the food filcher accidentally tipped over a living room lamp.

Another time, a woman, alone upstairs, waited 45 minutes until he was gone before she could get to the phone and call the police.

Complaints come from three main areas: north and west of the Village of North Branch, south of the village and farther south in Mayfield Township. Police arrested one man, an ex-mental patient from Pontiac State Hospital, who is believed to have worked the Mayfield section. However, they don't think it's the man they're after in North Branch.

MAY LIVE IN WOODS

"It looks pretty much like an existence thing, rather than criminal theft," said one state trooper. Police theorize that the phantom lives in the woods, doesn't have a car and only steals to keep alive.

"He must run like a deer," said a detective. "Residents have chased him, but he just takes off into the woods, and no one can catch him." The police have flooded the area with cars with no luck at finding anybody on the road.

The only description the police have is that the thief is a white male, about feet tall with dark hair. Authorities are waiting for reports to come in that he has hair all over his body and webbed feet.

He hasn't harmed anyone so far, but State troopers warn those who might spot the phantom not to chase him. Instead, residents are urged to call the police. Police have searched part of the area with dogs but nary a whiff has been traced.

WIDE-RANGING DESCRIPTIONS

Some of the phantom calls have already come in with descriptions ranging from the Abominable Snowman to Nanook of the North. He usually strikes anytime between dusk and midnight, according to police.

Though he only steals food, police are continuing the search. As soon as he's caught police will be able to provide the phantom with three square meals a day and a comfortable bed, though probably not with quite as much freedom as the forest.

9 Elected to Set Up Charter for Proposed Rochester Hills

AVON TOWNSHIP — Nine charter commissioners were elected yesterday to begin work on a charter for the proposed city of Rochester Hills.

The nine commissioners elected and their vote totals are: Philip K. Trimble, 520; Arlene L. Rampton, 447; Bret G. Bell, 386; Edward J. Janischka, 381; C. David Ogg, 376; Charles W. Vigor, 374; Donald S. MacInnis, 346; Theodore A. Jacob Jr., 321; and Louis W. Berklich, 319.

The losing candidates and their vote tallies were: Lloyd J. Brown, 202; Harry G. Collins, 312; David L. Harden, 190; Herman E. Lamb, 292; James A. Arnold, 210; and Ronald V. Baker, 201.

The threat of rain may have dampened the spirits of the voters, since only 737 citizens, or 8.2 percent of the registered voters, cast ballots.

On each ballot nine choices had to be made, electing members to a charter commission which will write the kind of government that will serve the proposed city and the powers and duties the elected officials will have.

The State Board of Canvassers will meet this afternoon to certify the election results.

Should the township, which has a population of 23,000 within 34.4 square miles, eventually become a city, it would be the second largest city in Oakland County in area.

After the new commissioners draw up the charter, voters will again go to the polls to either accept or reject the document. Residents voted to seek incorporation as a city in January 1968.

2 Suburbs Hold Summit Session Over the Wall

DETROIT (UPI) — Ferndale and Oak Park have gone to the summit about the Wall, and preliminary communiques indicate each side wishes a cordial settlement with no further border incidents.

"I don't feel we have any problem over this at all," said an optimistic Joseph Forbes, mayor of Oak Park. But a somber Bruce D. Garbutt, mayor of Ferndale, anticipated longer negotiations.

"I suspect the talks will take more than a few days," he said yesterday. "No doubt there will be several solutions suggested and discussed."

SERIES OF BARRICADES

The Wall is actually a series of oil drum and guard-rail barricades that Ferndale erected on three streets that run through the two northern Detroit suburbs.

Its city council said the barricades were necessary to halt speeding down the roads.

Oak Park citizens, at their most polite, suggested the Wall was outrageous. Their city council went to court and got a temporary injunction forcing the barricades to be narrowed to let some traffic through.

Both sides are supposed to be back in court on Friday. But officials said if talks are progressing satisfactorily, they will ask that the case be postponed.

First for Alaska

State Trooper a She

JUNEAU (AP) — Frances Jean Howard, a thoughtful, thoroughly feminine lass of 25, says she became Alaska's first female state trooper because she likes police work — not because she's out to prove anything.

"I'm not a barnstormer. I'm not a women's rights advocate," the blue-eyed brunette said. "It just sorta happened."

It started when Miss Howard, a trained dental technician, decided "there were different things I wanted to see that I couldn't see at an 8-to-5 job in a dental office," and she left Grants Pass, Ore., for Alaska.

She got a job as a clerk typist with the Department of Public Safety in February 1968 and later began to think that there was a place in the department for a female trooper.

TALL ENOUGH

State regulations for state troopers don't mention that an officer has to be a man. And, Miss Howard, nicely built and tall, passed the 5-foot-9 minimum height requirement.

She also passed all the written and oral tests and on Sept. 8, Gov. Keith H. Miller announced she became Alaska's first female state trooper.

On Sept. 29, she'll join 20 other new troopers in Sitka for the Alaska State Trooper Academy's eight-week training session.

MINOR PROBLEM

"They say you have to run a mile before breakfast," she said. "I can even move in the morning before a cup of coffee."

A minor problem is the design of her uniform.

The department has despair of putting this pretty girl—who looks just right in a blue flowered, minilength dress with a big, broad white collar—into a man-tailored shirt and tie.

"It looks pretty unfeminine," Fran said. The uniform style is still on the drawing board.

NEW WING — Donald Latimer, 9, of 1035 Queens Port, Milford, helps Stuart E. Wood, (center), former president of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults Inc., and President Richard T. Schliskey break ground for a $100,000 addition to the present facility located at the Oakland County Service Center. The new addition will include a nursery and playroom, meeting room, therapy room and speech correction facility.

TRIES IT FOR SIZE — Pretty Frances Jean Howard, 25, Alaska's first female state trooper, tries on a man's uniform jacket for size. She says the men's uniform "looks pretty unfeminine," but the new design for women still is on the drawing board.

for size. She says the men's uniform "looks pretty unfeminine," but the new design for women still is on the drawing board.

IT STILL WAVES — A tattered, worn U.S. flag aboard the icebreaking tanker SS Manhattan indicates the force of the arctic winds the Humble Oil Co. ship encountered on her voyage of the Northwest Passage. The ship now will head for Alaska where a symbolic barrel of oil will be placed on board. It is hoped the route can be used to transport oil from the north slope of Alaska to the East Coast of the United States.

Spiro Against Busing to Integrate Schools

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has come out against busing of pupils to achieve "an integrated status," but southern governors couldn't tell whether he spoke for the Nixon administration or only himself.

"This administration favors integration but not mandatory, enforced, artificially contrived social acceptance," Agnew told the Southern Governors' Conference Tuesday night, departing from his prepared text.

But Virginia Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr. may have reflected sentiments of most southern chief executives when he said afterward: "I am still at a loss to understand what the administration's position is."

IN WAKE OF DISPUTE Agnew's antibusing remarks came in the wake of a dispute among some of the governors over a resolution—slated for a vote today—opposing the practice.

Only a few hours earlier Republican Gov. Dewey F. Bartlett of Oklahoma labeled the antibusing resolution of Alabama's Democratic Gov. Alfred Brewer an attempt to embarrass President Nixon and Agnew.

Bartlett protested that the resolution incorrectly had Nixon and Agnew on record as opposing "compulsory assignment of students because of race or color."

After Agnew said the administration favors integration, he then adopted the first person in his surprise departure from his text.

'DELICATE SUBJECT'

"I mean that on a subject as delicate as busing, for example," he said, "if you don't want artificially contrived integration brought about in a disruptive manner, then those people who are in charge of the state and local government have got to stop gerrymandering school districts."

"I also mean that young children of grammar school age, of pre-high school age, locked into their environment, which to them is their immediate neighborhood."

"And I mean that I'm against busing those children to other neighborhoods simply to achieve integrated status of a large geographic entity."

School Board in Bind

The Waterford Township Board of Education faces a prickly legal dilemma for which it is seeking a procedural solution.

One of the horns takes the form of a decision by Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer that the board must restore the curtailment of classroom hours initiated during the past year when operating funds proved inadequate to support a program of full attendance. Township voters had twice rejected within 10 months proposed tax-millage increases to balance the educational budget.

The other is seen in the stern mandate of the State statute that school districts cannot knowingly adopt a deficit budget.

Judge Beer's decision is not without precedent, since it follows that of a Wayne County Circuit Court judge who ruled on a Livonia school emergency similar to Waterford's.

In both cases, the court held that students are legally guaranteed a school year of 180 school days. But the State Legislature in establishing the scholastic norm did not spell out a school day in terms of hours. The local jurist interpreted it as the prevailing school day before any cut-backs were instituted.

The Livonia board of education is appealing the decision to the Michigan Supreme Court for a clarification of a two-sided problem that could spread if voters continue to deny their school administrations essential funds to educate their children.

Something Short Of A Balanced Diet!

David Lawrence Asks:

Immigrant Squeeze Felt

Public Law 89-236, which was signed by President Johnson in 1965 and went into effect July 1, 1968, ended more than half a century of U.S. immigration based on national origins.

In place of a system which has long been labeled as biased toward Northern Europeans and discriminatory against non-Europeans and non-whites, the new law imposed flat numerical limits — 170,000 immigrants a year spread among all Eastern Hemisphere countries and 120,000 a year from among all Western Hemisphere countries.

An unforeseen result of the new law, however, has been discrimination of another sort that is seriously hampering the operations of many American businesses. Most of them are members of the Foreign Trade Council, including such giants as IBM, Procter & Gamble and General Electric — companies which are no longer national but international or multinational in scope.

The companies complain that because quotas for most countries are now so tight they can no longer bring in foreign nationals for other than short-term, temporary assignments. Existing visas are either valid for too short a time to permit these nationals to complete management training assignments, which may last several years, or else they limit the type of work the visitor can perform.

A bill now before Congress would exempt Canadian personnel from the quota limitation. This is seen as a step toward easing the problem, but what the Foreign Trade Council urges is the setting up of an entirely separate classification under the law for nonpermanent immigrants in the business-professional category. The council emphasizes that these resident aliens would not be taking jobs that would otherwise be filled by U.S. citizens.

In 1967-68, under the old law, U.S. companies brought in 765 persons from overseas. But they sent out more than four times as many Americans — 3,556.

Today, they say, the import side of that two-way international traffic in skills has all but stopped.

Are Inflation Controls Working?

WASHINGTON — The big unanswered question before the country today is whether inflation is really being curbed and what measures, if any, can be taken to achieve a stabilized economy.

Many of the expert economists differ in their views. The truth of the matter is that anything as huge as the national economy, with its complexity of factors, is hard to appraise at any particular time.

The only thing available is the record of past experience when restraints have been imposed, and sometimes these have been slow to take effect.

Industrial production declined in August by two-tenths of 1 per cent. It was the first dip in the index during the last 12 months, according to a Federal Reserve Board report.

The chairman of the Reserve Board, William McChesney Martin, told the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency a few days ago that he thinks we are "at the tail end" of inflationary price rises.

ON RIGHT COURSE?

He believes that the nation is on the right course now and that what is needed is patience.

He says: "Patience is wearing thin for a lot of people, because they want to see immediate results."

The board itself thinks the momentum of the inflation has been slowed down.

While there has been a diminution in the pressure for bank loans and a slight decline in automobile sales, there are no strong indications of a general business decline.

ANOTHER 6 MONTHS

The financial expert for the Chicago Tribune, Louis Dubrow, says: "Most economists believe that inflation is being brought under control. However, they also agree that it may be another six months to a year before the effects filter down to the neighborhood supermarket and stores."

Such a forecast, he adds, doesn't offer much comfort to the nation's homemakers, "who are well aware that the living costs this year have been rising at the sharpest rate in 18 years."

Some of the larger banks in the country differ as to just what is happening.

The Commerce Department has reported that a slow rate of sales is expected for the remainder of 1969.

This is not substantial enough to be regarded as a sign that inflation is being curbed.

DEFLATIONARY EFFECTS

The general public will feel the effects of deflation only when prices begin to go down

In consumer products. Business will notice it when sales drop and profits diminish.

But any objective survey of the present situation must necessarily take into account the fact that the national economy has not yet been depressed, and that whatever changes have occurred have not been of a nature to warrant fears of a recession.

A downturn in business can always come when public confidence crumbles, but there is certainly no sign as yet of such a development.

Hawaii Going All-Out to Lure Japan Tourists

HONOLULU — We once spent a lot of money keeping the Japanese out of Hawaii.

Now the 50th state, 10 years old, is spending an advertising fortune to bring them to the islands.

The wounds of Pearl Harbor have long since healed.

The Japanese are becoming just about the most sought-after travelers in the world. Polls show they want to see Hawaii more than any other state in the Union.

Suits Hawaii fine. In the midst of its unprecedented popularity as a tourist spot, the 50th state is building furiously to provide many more hotel rooms and fun and games for much bigger crowds-to-come.

No potential source of tourist dollars is being overlooked. Gov. John A. Burns foresees a time when mainland China will swell Hawaii's vacationing tide.

PACIFIC CROSSROADS

Gov. Burns sees Hawaii becoming the commercial and pleasure crossroads of the Pacific community of nations.

Tourists spent $460 million in Hawaii last year. There were 12 million of them, not counting Vietnam veterans flown here for five days of "rest and recuperation."

This compares to the barely 15,000 visitors who came here in 1946, mostly from California.

Any sudden shutdown of the Vietnam war would create a sticky situation in Hawaii's vibrant tourist business.

NEW TREND

The trend is now away from brief reunions between servicemen and their wives who travel half-fare from the mainland to meet their battle-weary mates.

Business Paunch Is 'Out'

In business circles, a respectable paunch used to be a status symbol of sorts, evidence that a man had arrived at that stage in life where he could live off the fat of the land and was visibly doing so.

But no more, no more. In executive suites these days, it's the lank look that's in, concludes a personnel firm, in analyzing the physical attributes of some 50,000 middle and top management men. The paunch is not only passé but can be a definite handicap in climbing the corporate ladder.

In some cases, excess avoidupis has meant the difference between getting and losing high-paying jobs, qualified applicants passing every test except the silhouette and still being rejected. And among jobholders, it appears to have a direct but inverse relationship with executive paychecks.

Of men studied in posts paying from $10,000 to $20,000, 35 per cent were overweight by 10 pounds or more. But in the $25,000-and-up bracket, the portly contingent dwindled to 10 per cent, the rest of the front office men apparently resembling the health club ads.

This is a booming economy but when it comes to room at or near the top, the well-padded physique clearly is having increasing difficulty squeezing in. Where the race was once to the swift, it's now to the lean and lithe.

Astonishing...
Ottawa (Can.) Journal

In a land of political democracy, of education and "civilization," it is astonishing to hear it argued that a government to keep order must resort to bit and bridle. It is still more astonishing, it is grievous and hideous to think that these age-old feuds are being persisted in by both sides "in the name of God."

Side Effect
Wilmington (Del.) Evening Journal

For years, the opponents of fluoridation in water supplies have hinted at all kinds of disastrous side effects usually without much documentation.

Now comes a researcher with scientifically valid evidence of an unexpected side effect from fluoridation — and a beneficial one.

George E. Shambaugh, professor of otolaryngology at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., says that fluoride helps reinforce the cochlea, which is the spiral-shaped bone that conducts sounds in the inner ear.

He found that, in some people suffering from impaired hearing due to softening of the cochlea, daily doses of fluoride reversed the condition.

The anti-fluoridation people keep insisting that "typical application" of fluoride directly to the tooth enamel is preferable to mass medication of the water supply. But how are they going to get the toothbrush into the inner ear?

The teachers of Michigan have just about had it with the taxpayers who constantly refuse to finance their school systems adequately. They turn down operating millage issues and then complain when there are inadequate funds to run full-day sessions. They complain when teachers are unwilling to teach under such conditions or seek salaries commensurate with their training and experience. They want top-notch educational systems but want someone else to foot the bill.

Taxpayer control over local school systems is fine as long as it is not abused. The teachers are just as willing to return to school as the children, but at a fair salary and under conditions conducive to the learning process. It is time the state or federal government passed a law whereby all school areas were forced to finance their school systems adequately. At least this would give us a few years of peace and give us an adequate opportunity to educate the children in the manner they deserve.

Teacher strikes are unfortunate, but the technique was not begun by teachers. We have found, however, that to gain nowadays you must organize and make your demands known.

Replies to Criticism by Working Mothers

I'm sick and tired of reading of working mothers who are so jealous and degrade the mothers on ADC. These mothers are not on ADC by choice or chance. There just is not any other way. They are there because so many mothers would rather work outside the home than stay home and care for their children. I believe this is why we have so many juvenile delinquents. I say it's high time these working mothers gave their husbands their rightful place in the homes. This would make more jobs available to ADC mothers who are willing to work and support their children.

ADC MOTHER OF FIVE

Two Comment on Demands of ADC Mothers

To the angered mothers "demonstrating" for an increase in clothing allowance for their children, why aren't you demonstrating a little ambition and self-respect and spending the time working and earning the money required to clothe your child for school? How can you expect other mothers, husbands or anyone else to work to clothe their own children as well as yours when you cannot put forth an honest effort to do so?

I couldn't possibly clothe my child on $23 a year for school, and neither could I ask or expect anyone else to do it for me. You are angered. Try demonstrating gratefulness for what you get and try earning what you need. Many mothers, like myself, work to clothe your child. Is this reasonable or fair?

A WORKING MOTHER

Thousands of working mothers wanted better clothes for their children, so they got a job. These women wanted better homes and better education for their kids, so they got a job. Very few of them expected to start at the top—they just got a job baby sitting, ironing, making salads, emptying bedpans. Millions of fathers believe they have a duty to care for their own children. We even have a few people left who recognize their duty to needy parents when the time comes. Why should these people become the second class citizens who learn to live with what's left after the "gimme" class takes its cut off the top?

If an ADC mother can iron a dress to go marchin' in, she can iron for someone else for pay. If she can find someone to watch the kids while she goes to city hall with her hand out, she can find a baby sitter so she can work—it's what she wants to. Where are the fathers of these children and why are they not made to support them? Some of these mothers claim it is "undignified" to go to the County clothing outfit. Since when has it been dignified to live off your neighbors?

Comments on Proposed Statewide Waterway

Shall we condemn our neighbors' homes for the statewide waterway? A group of businessmen are seeking approval to build 910 miles of state waterway canals, with the right to condemn property along the waterway path. This would be partly financed by the sale of canal-front homes built on the condemned land after the canals were built, and the rest financed by Michigan taxpayers. This would help many shipping firms but our trucking and railroad firms could really be set back. Or do we want a Venice instead of Michigan?

I have a large coin about the size of a half dollar. On the back it reads "One Penny 1808." Is this of any value, and if you don't have the information, how would I get about finding out what it's worth?

B. B. CARNEY
673 LINDA VISTA

REPLY

A local coin dealer tells us the U.S. stopped making large pennies in 1857. For it to be a regular coin it must say "United States" and "one cent" on it. Perhaps it's just a token of some sort. To find out exactly what you have, take it to a coin dealer or to one of the coin shows that are in the area periodically.

Judge Rules Today on Collins Evidence

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A judge rules today on a request by defense attorneys that evidence be suppressed in the case of John Norman Collins, accused of murdering an Eastern Michigan University coed.

Collins, 22, has been ordered to stand trial for first-degree murder in the strangulation of 18-year-old Karen Sue Beineman, one of seven young women killed in the Ann Arbor - Ypsilanti area over a two-year period.

Defense attorney Richard Ryan has asked Circuit Judge John Collins to suppress "selected materials from the incinerator" of a rooming house where Collins, an Eastern Michigan student, lived. Ryan contended the evidence was obtained with a faulty search warrant.

ASKS DISCLOSURE

Ryan also asked the court to order the prosecutor to disclose "all items of physical evidence taken from the defendant, the deceased, witnesses, the scene of the alleged offense, the automobile of the defendant and the home of the defendant's mother."

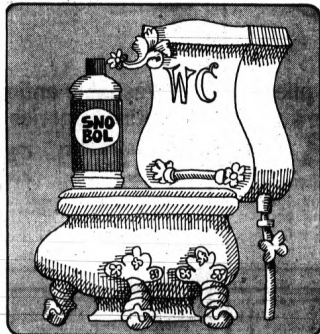

He also asked the court to permit him to enter the house of Collins' uncle to check the alleged murder scene.

The prosecution contends that Miss Beineman was slain in the body dumped alongside a lonely road on the outskirts of Ann Arbor, about 10 miles west.

At a preliminary arraignment, a witness testified that she saw the victim riding a motor-cycle behind Collins on July 23, the day she was last seen alive.

A nickel's worth of Sno-Bol sanitizes, deodorizes and removes rust stains from your you-know-what.

General purpose cleaners are fine for most jobs. But not for cleaning toilet bowls. They don't deodorize, sanitize, and remove rust stains like Sno-Bol.

Liquid Sno-Bol cleans in seconds while it deodorizes and sanitizes. It's faster and more efficient than any dry bowl cleaner. You can pour Sno-Bol full strength to remove rust stains and calcium deposits. And it works better and costs less than other leading bowl cleaners.

State House GOP Upset With Leader

LANSING (UPI)—Rumblings of a revolt among House Republicans against their six-year leader, Robert E. Waldron, are preceding the return of the 53 members to the Capitol tomorrow for a party meeting.

"I know a lot of us are upset over the way things have been going lately," said Rep. Ray Smit, R-Ann Arbor, generally regarded as a staunch Waldron supporter.

"We want to know why there's such lethargy and apathy on the part of the leadership. We feel there's a real lack of leadership."

Smith told UPI he had talked with "a number of members" who are dissatisfied with the way leaders have handled information on the upcoming educational reform session.

'NOT INFORMED'

"We are not at all informed over what's going on. We really feel unprepared for the session," said the second-term lawmaker.

Smith said Waldron's firing of his executive secretary, Robert Webber, had upset some Republicans.

Webber, who helped map campaigns for GOP members, was fired after a dispute between House Republican staff members.

Waldron said Webber was asked to leave because the work load was not as heavy as in previous years when the GOP leader was the speaker of the House.

FUND SOLICITATION

In addition to the firing, Smit said tempers have risen over a solicitation of House GOP employees for party contributions and general confusion over office space for the coming session.

House Republicans have been asked by majority Democrats to move their offices from the Capitol to a Catholic school across the street during a three-month statehouse remodeling period.

"These things all add up. They're all part of this can of worms," Smit said.

However, he said he was not proposing to put himself up as a candidate for House GOP leader nor was he pushing for anyone else.

'GENERAL AIRING'

"I just think there should be a general airing of some of these problems. I think we all have a few things to get off our chests," he said.

Waldron said he had no apologies for his leadership and was proud of the Republican record in the House.

"I don't have any excuses. We've made a few mistakes and we've missed a few roll calls, but if you look at the record, we were there when it counted," said Waldron.

Both Waldron and Smit said tomorrow's meeting, set days ago, was called to iron out the Capitol office space situation.

NASA Plans Manpower Cut at Cape Kennedy

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Following Apollo 11's lunar land— One of three launch pad ing. working shifts is being elimi- ed and computers may take over some human chores during the Apollo 12 countdown in No- vember.

These are among the opera- tional changes being worked out by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration as a re- sult of manpower cutbacks and a launching schedule slowdown.

"With four-month intervals, we have two vehicles in flow in- stead of three."

Resulting adjustments in- clude:

- A change from three to two shifts on the launch pad and a five-day instead of a seven-day work week on tests.
- Closing down one of the two Saturn 5-Apollo launch pads and one of three firing rooms in the launch control center.

• Taking out of service one of three Saturn 5 mobile launch towers and one of three moon rocket assembly bays.

NASA and its contractors are reducing the summer work force by 5,600—from 23,800 last July 1 to an estimated 18,000 by July of next year.

Most of the 5,600 are expected to be let go by late October, before Apollo 12's scheduled Nov. 14 launch.

Boeing Co., builder of the Sa- turn 5's first stage, had two launch teams leading up to Apollo 11. One was responsible for Apollo 8 and 10 while the other concentrated on Apollo 9 and 11.

"We're now going to a single launch team, instead of two," said John J. Cully, deputy direc- tor of the Saturn program for Boeing's Atlantic Test Center here. "We can cover peak loads with overtime, working two 12-hour shifts back to back."

To ease the strain on the launch team, project officials are considering having com- puters watch for several "no go" conditions during the countdown—such as incorrect tempera- tures or pressures in fuel tanks—which previously were as- sessed by men monitoring con- sults in the launch control center.

Notice to Michigan Bell Telephone Company Customers

Michigan Bell Telephone Company has applied to the Michigan Public Service Commission for authority to revise its tariff regulations with respect to customer-provided equipment interconnected with Telephone Company facilities. The proposed tariff does not list or describe specific equipment which may be connected to company lines but it does set forth certain definitive requirements.

With an anticipated increase in the amount of customer-provided equipment connected to Tele- phone Company facilities and in order not to burden the general rate payer, Michigan Bell proposes to apply a Maintenance of Service Charge. This charge, of $15.00 per service call, would apply for visits by the Telephone Company to the customer's premises where a service difficulty or trouble report results from customer-provided equipment connected to Telephone Company facilities. The $15.00 Maintenance of Service Charge would not provide for re- pair of customer-provided equipment or apparatus.

The Commission has scheduled a public hearing on this matter to be held October 13, 1969, at 9:30 a.m. E.S.T. in the Seven Story Office Building, 5th floor, 525 W. Ottawa, Lansing, Michigan. Anyone interested may attend the hearing.

Also, any interested person may contact the man- ager of the local business office for further information.

Fish Sample Lake's Treated Sewage Water

MARKLEEVILLE, Calif. is filled with a billion gallons of (AP)—A unique lake teeming treated sewage water, and au- with rainbow trout on the east- thorities say it's pure enough to ern slope of the Sierra near here.

Called Indian Creek Reser- voir, the man-made lake is fed by a 22-inch pipeline snaking over a 7,000-foot mountain pass from a sewage plant at South Lake Tahoe, 14 miles north.

The growth of resort and year-round communities at Tahoe has caused pollution, silt- ing and algae to mar Lake Tahoe's natural beauty, Waka- man says. The $3-million plant and 14-mile pipeline were built to help reverse the trend.

$150,000 worth of activated charcoal, then chlorinated. The lime and charcoal are later re- claimed.

The project is still experimental, and its results must be tested thoroughly."

Little Progress Seen in 4 Teacher Strikes

By United Press International

Negotiations to end teacher strikes in four Michigan school districts still closed two weeks after their scheduled opening appear to be making little progress.

The number of children still on an extended summer vacation because of the contract disputes is well down from the more than 120,000 who missed scheduled school openings shortly after Labor Day, but some 15,000 children were still affected today in the four struck districts.

"The plant is the only one of its kind in the world," says Bob Wakeman, a director of the South Tahoe Public Utility District, serving an area with about 15,000 residents. "The water it produces meets U.S. public health service drinking water standards."

TREATED WITH LIME

After treatment with lime to remove solids, the sewage water is pumped through filtration beds, channeled through five 30-foot columns containing

"Everyone asks us why we don't pump the water back into Tahoe and save some money," says Wakeman. "The answer is we could and probably no one would know the difference, but stomach the idea."

In one test shortly after the 27-acre reservoir opened in August, 8,000 rainbow were planted to see how well they will survive.

Three researchers sponsored by Tahoe conservationists sam- ple the water weekly. One commented: The water is pure we could and probably no one enough to drink, if you can stomach the idea."

The four districts still closed are Hamtramck and Plymouth in the Detroit area, Summerfield in Monroe County and Coleman in Midland County.

The school board in Coleman plans to go into Circuit Court this week to seek an injunction to force the teachers to end their walkout and return to the classrooms. A suit has already been filed by the school board against six of the striking teachers asking for $100,000 in damages from each.

INDIVIDUAL CONTRACTS

A major disagreement in the Coleman School District is the school board's requirement that teachers sign individual contracts each April for the coming school year rather than a master contract.

In another 92 Michigan school systems, 91 of them represented by the Michigan Education Association, teachers have been in classes without contracts while bargaining continues. But, MEA officials said strikes are possible in some of the districts if agreements are not reached.

In Plymouth, bargainers for the Plymouth Education Association have tentatively agreed to accept the findings of a state fact-finder, but the school board said it was still studying the proposal, which would include a pay scale ranging from $7,500 to $13,800.

Negotiations in Hamtramck were not expected to bear any results until after a Friday hearing in Wayne County Circuit Court on a school board request for an injunction to order teachers to end their strike.

In Summerfield, petitions bearing more than 500 signatures from parents have urged striking teachers to accept "the generous offer" of the school board which has been for a pay scale ranging from $7,000 to $10,500.

Peru Military Regime Pressing for Reforms

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Soldiers drilled in government and preaching morality, patriotism and social reform are shaping Latin-America's newest revolution.

The upheaval in Peru is no old-style military coup d'état in which generals and their soldiers, guardians and beneficiaries of the status quo, topple civilians who sought reform.

In a reversal whose significance is potentially great, the Peruvian military armed forces have turned against their traditional allies, the upper and ruling classes.

But the military men are moving with a moderation calculated to change and not topple the established institutions. They are clearly non-Marxist. Yet revolution as they seek to practice it is a delicate affair, vulnerable to internal and external pressures that could shift its course far from current objectives.

RETRENCHING

Because no one is certain what eventually will emerge in Peru, the business community and foreign investors are retrenching, and the government's finances are in precarious if not critical shape. The government is trying to refinance a foreign debt load of more than $347 million due in the next four years.

The unprecedented reformist militarism here has resulted in a still unresolved confrontation between the government and U.S. policy over the nationalization of an American concern, the International Petroleum subsidiary of Standard Oil.

Just how this matter is settled is deemed certain to tilt the revolutionary movement, so far balanced delicately between radical and moderate influences.

American economic pressures, it is widely feared here, will intensify a dangerous internal upheaval and extremism in either direction. U.S. investors say a soft policy will expose their investments elsewhere in the hemisphere to Peruvian-style treatment. The Peruvian movement is being closely watched in the rest of Latin America; but especially in Argentina and Brazil, both under military rule.

CLEAR VISION

"The United States must have a very clear vision of what is happening here," says Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, 74, founder of APRA (American Popular Revolutionary Alliance) and one of the hemisphere's most respected political figures. "I would say Washington has an obligation to look at the situation here in its total reality because what happens will have repercussions all over the hemisphere."

Long an arch foe of the Peruvian army, Haya, a moderate leftist, has been only mildly critical of the new military reformism which, he says, is from too much democracy. Mucho bla-bla-bla.

Gen. Graham, the top adviser to President Juan Velasco Alvarado, doesn't believe the armed forces feel they can run government better than civilians.

"A few may think so privately, as do civilians," he says, "but, because of their origin (middle and lower class) and because they live among the people and travel all over the country, they are perhaps more aware than most civilians of a nation's real needs, of the great discrepancies in standards of living. They are also very conscious of the long history of unkept political pledges."

CRADLE OF REVOLUTION

Out in Lima's southern outskirts, where a dirty gray Pacific Ocean laps at barren brown cliffs and the winter air is chilly, clammy near downtown, sits the cradle of the Peruvian revolution's ideologies. A squat, gray two-story building covering three acres, it houses the Staff and Command School and the Center of Higher Military Studies.

The Center actually is the national war college, with a curriculum patterned after the U.S. model. It is run by Gen. Antero Dejo, a graduate of the Staff and Command School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

A few hours at the center heightens an impression that if the October coup was an improvisation, the moment's military leaders know precisely what they're after and have been thoroughly groomed in how to go about it.

More than half the Cabinet and President Velasco are graduates of the college. Five of the presidential advisory committee's nine officers completed the one-year course which covers political and economic themes, in the national and international context, as well as purely military affairs.

INCREASING SIGNS

There are increasing signs that a radical nationalism in the Peruvian style is increasing in the Latin-American armed forces, especially among lower rank officers. It is surging at a time of unprecedented economic nationalism and anti-Americanism in the hemisphere. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's recent tour of Latin America revealed increasing resentment with and defiance of the paternalistic U.S. attitude in its relations with Latin America. There is spreading discontent with contradictory U.S. trade policy and with the practices and influence of American private investors who are regarded as "ultraconservative."

In a recent speech, President Velasco declared that Latin America's dependence was a product of the nature of its economic, financial and commercial relations with the developed world.

What Peru does about this—and plans are known to be in final preparation—is certain to be influenced by the settlement of current differences between the United States and Peru over the defense of the international Petroleum.

REVOLUTIONARY CHARACTER?

Fidel Castro, in a speech last July 26, said the Peruvian movement had "revolutionary character."

"This is not just any ordinary movement," says Gen. Jose Graham, 50, chairman of Peru's Presidential Advisory Council. "The military government has an institutional base. The revolution isn't the product of one man, but of an armed force as a single entity."

Gen. Graham, the round-faced grandson of a Scottish immigrant ("I look like a gringo, have a gringo name, but don't speak gringo") spoke in an elegant and carpeted salon of the presidential mansion.

"We have a statute," he went on, "through which the president can be removed at any time. The revolution feels it's necessary to do so. All that's required is a note to the president saying thank you very much and a new man, whoever is selected for the job, takes over."

AS LONG AS 10 YEARS

"We'll stay in until basic reforms are completed, until the structure to keep the oligarchy out of power has been consolidated."

Many Peruvians believe this will take as long as 10 years.

Peru is one of eight Latin-American nations, containing more than half the area's 244 million people, under imposed or elected military rulers. Others are Argentina, Brazil, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama and Paraguay. Although they have civilian presidents, Bolivia and the Dominican Republic are under military domination.

Of the remaining eight countries—excluding the civilian dictatorships in Cuba and Haiti—only the governments of Costa Rica and Mexico are considered fully safe from their armed forces. Some scholars regard Mexico as a civilian dictatorship in the iron grip of a single party, as insensitive of constitutional right as any tyranny.

WHERE ARE CIVILIANS?

What has happened to the hemisphere's civilian leadership?

APRA's Villanueva says military intervention has not given civilian authority a chance to carry out pledged reforms. But, he adds: "We've also suffered from too much democracy. Mucho bla-bla-bla."

Gen. Graham, the top adviser to President Juan Velasco Alvarado, doesn't believe the Cake, coffee and conversation, all the ingredients for a successful membership coffee, were present Tuesday morning in the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. F. J. McDonald. The St. Joseph Mercy Hospital auxiliary signed up new members for hospital volunteer program. Several members of the Sisters of Mercy, who administer the hospital, gather in the kitchen for a chat.

New member Mrs. Robert W. Udell of Bloomfield Hills is registered and welcomed to the group by Mrs. J. G. Vorhes of Birmingham, membership chairman.

New Programs Planned

Seek Mental Health Aides

More than 200 new volunteers are needed if plans for exciting and innovative programs are to get off the ground.

In a new marriage of agencies, the Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board and the Oakland County Volunteer Bureau are trying to recruit volunteers for special programs.

It is the first time that the mental health agency has actively sought volunteers. Its current director, Dr. Lino Romero, is a strong believer in this approach.

Eighteen mental health agencies spell out details of 49 different jobs that need staffing now. Any interested person can find some place where he will be able to contribute best.

Some mature teen-agers can be used, but generally, volunteers for mental health must be over 21. No special education is required. When training is needed, it will be given by the proper agency.

Volunteers are in training at present to become tour guides at Pontiac State Hospital. Weekly tours open to the public are planned.

There is a great demand for one-to-one volunteers. All special education classes badly need tutors. Friend-companions for patients in the mental health clinic of Pontiac General Hospital are sought.

Individuals with special skills can always make a contribution, either in classes or working with one or two patients.

Volunteers who feel unable to work personally with mentally ill, emotionally disturbed or mentally retarded individuals may contribute their time as receptionists or clinic office workers.

Two new (to this area) programs will be of particular interest to some volunteers. One is a suicide prevention center; the other is husband-and-wife marriage counseling teams.

The volunteer bureau can design special programs or projects for clubs wishing this. Or original ideas for service may be submitted.

Flyers detailing the scope of the new program are being mailed this week.

Persons wishing to volunteer or who want more information may contact Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board or Oakland County Volunteer Bureau, both with offices in Birmingham.

Divorce Granted in Switzerland to Roosevelts

GENEVA (U) — James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has been granted a divorce from his third wife, accused of staying him here last spring.

Her lawyer, Dominique Poncet, confirmed recently that the divorce ruling, on grounds of "incompatibility," was granted by a Geneva court early this month.

Under a settlement the two reached, Mrs. Roosevelt, the former Gladys Irene Kitchenmaster, will keep custody of their 10-year-old adopted son, the lawyer said. The financial details of the settlement were not disclosed.

Mrs. Roosevelt, 52, left the Bel Air psychiatric clinic here a few weeks ago and is now back in the United States. She had been taken to the clinic after the May 15 stabbing at their Lake Geneva villa.

She was booked under a holding charge accusing her of wounding her husband. At a May 21 hearing, she was freed on 50,000 Swiss francs bail. Her lawyer explained she had been under great stress and "convinced that her husband was about to leave her for another woman."

Establish Kitty for Expenses on Shared Trip

By ELIZABETH POST of the Emily Post Institute

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. Shaw of Indiana.

Dear Mrs. Post: I read the letter from Mrs. D. who shared expenses when her mother wanted to go with them on a tour of the country. We solved this in a very agreeable way when we took our mother on a trip. When we got ready to leave home we had a money bag and we each put in an equal amount of money.

As we traveled, we paid our expenses—such as gasoline, food, and lodging—from the "kitty." When it was used up we just put in equal amounts again. I'm sure our mother felt that she had paid her way. She enjoyed traveling and we enjoyed having her with us. — Mrs. K. Shaw

Dear Mrs. Shaw: I'm delighted to pass this idea on to my readers with an added note. We, too, use the "kitty" system with friends with whom we share a fishing camp. It's an ideal solution—not only when traveling, but in all situations where friends want to come out even on expenses.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be a bridesmaid and have been invited to a number of showers. I feel that accepting the responsibility of standing up for a wedding includes the necessary expenses and obligations of gifts. However, there is a limit.

I had heard that the bride can re-wrap the gifts of those guests attending numerous showers and re-show them. Is this acceptable? I am trying to do the right thing without hurting feelings or appearing cheap. — Andrea

Dear Andrea: Everyone who attends a shower has an obligation to take a gift, but no one is obligated to accept the invitation.

No bridesmaid or relative should be required to give gift after gift, and thoughtful brides make sure that the hostesses divide up lists so that no one is invited to more than one or, at the most, two. However, sometimes hostesses do not consult the bride, or she does not realize the imposition so many invitations will carry.

It is not correct to have the bride re-wrap presents. It could be very embarrassing if other guests had seen them opened previously—and it is also embarrassing to arrive at a shower with no gift. The best solution, therefore, if you find yourself swamped with shower invitations, is simply to accept only as many as you feel you can afford.

For suggestions about to whom, when, how and what to give, you will find my booklet "Gifts and Giving" most helpful.

To get a copy, send 25 cents in coin to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48055.

Doctor's Sensitivity Cure Has Girl's Mom Worried

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old daughter has been seeing a psychotherapist about some problems. This is perfectly all right with us, but his mode or "therapy" has us worried.

Our daughter tells us that after each session he takes her in his arms, holds her close and kisses her tenderly. He says this is the new "sensitivity" therapy. Have you ever heard of anything like this?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Before jumping to any hasty conclusions, you must remember that your daughter is in "therapy" and could be indulging in fantasy, exaggeration or wishful thinking. However, "sensitivity" therapy is a new approach, as opposed to the former rigid "hands off" relationship between patient and psychotherapist.

Some patients need a friendly touch or a reassuring pat. But no reputable therapist I've ever heard of will "tenderly kiss" a patient as part of the therapy. You have every right to confer with your daughter's therapist and find out if HE'S giving her a "treat" instead of a TREATMENT.

DEAR ABBY: I have a prominent nose, but it is a family trait. In fact we call it a "SCHWARTZ" nose. Every now and then some rude person will ask, "Why don't you have your nose fixed?"

I don't think I need it, but how should I answer?

J. SCHWARTZ

DEAR J. SCHWARTZ: Say, "Why should I have my nose fixed? It runs all right."

DEAR ABBY: In response to the letter from woman whose husband chased sirens.

You should have told her to encourage her husband to join an auxiliary police force, an ambulance service, or a volunteer fire department. He could then experience the "thrill" of being at the scene of an accident and pulling corpses from a heap of twisted metal.

Or rushing out at 3 a.m. in zero weather to fight a fire caused by a careless cigaret smoker. Or spend a hot Sunday afternoon walking through dense underbrush searching for a lost child.

If he is willing to do this, he has the right to follow the sirens, and do it legally and with pride. If not, he should at least stop and think, it could be MY home or family needing assistance, and here I am, getting in the way and slowing down the workers.

VOLUNTEER FIREMAN: BLAIRSVILLE, PENNA.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept.

Dad's Doing Own Thing Now as Master of Musical Keys

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK — Don't laugh when he sits down at the piano. Dad's just doing his own thing.

For it turns out that today, music lessons are not kid stuff at all. Several hundred thousand adults also are studying music. Their numbers hardly measure up to the piano students under 21 who now number close to 10 million.

Their ranks, however, are growing steadily, reports a music education consultant, Constance Wagner.

"Adults decide to learn to play the piano for a variety of reasons," Miss Wagner continued. "An elementary teacher, for example, may find it is a requirement for certification. A mother whose child is studying piano may decide that she can offer better guidance and more understanding by taking lessons also."

Businessmen most often see music as a means of relaxation and simple self-enjoyment, she said. They may start lessons with no intention ever of playing outside the family circle, then suddenly find themselves performing enthusiastically before club and church groups.

And another reason: for the non-musician, there always is that hidden longing to be able to surprise everyone at a gathering. Piano and party go together beautifully.

Of the thousands of adults who will start lessons this year, many will have had no previous music training, Miss Wagner says. Others will have a year or so of lessons from childhood.

Psychologist Speaks

Says Youth Deluded About Real World

By JEANNE NELSON

"I'm feeling uncomfortable about the things happening to us in this world and I've come here today hoping to make you uncomfortable too."

This, for openers, was spoken by Dr. Sonya Friedman, noted area psychologist, at Tuesday's opening tea of Temple Beth Jacob Sisterhood.

The petite blonde, who recently became a member of the Sisterhood, dove headlong into relationships between children and parents, which, she contends, is at the bottom of society's problems.

In a straight-from-the-shoulder address, she says, "We are living in a revolution, make no mistake about it. It's time to deal with the chaos we've helped to create by our forgetting how to be parents."

"In order to do this, parents must realize that children need more than the academics. They need to learn about life: the way it really is, not some ivory tower that simply doesn't exist. They need to learn about sorrow, sickness, poverty and all the other negatives of life, but just as surely, they need to learn about loyalty, respect, love and understanding. Class attendance alone will never teach them these things."

"Even within a loveless marriage there can be respect. And our offspring should be taught that there is more than one kind of marriage — and to accept the reasons for its continuance."

"Our kids expect instant gratification. Bull! You don't buy the real things in life, you earn them and that takes some time and some doing. In one sixth of all teen marriages today, the girl is already pregnant. The divorce rate among them is overwhelming. What these young people have never learned is that the goal in marriage isn't always love."

UNREAL WORLD

No mincer of words, Dr. Friedman told her listeners. "We've been had. We've let (worse-helped) Madison Avenue smoothies con our kids into thinking the essence of American womanhood is a 17-year-old sex symbol in a bikini. When the bubble bursts, they can all yell 'what happened?'"

"Our youth didn't dream this stuff up. Look around, what do you see? Grandmas in bikinis and grandfathers with baby carriage wives. There is no room for adolescent parents. Children can't compete with us; they need our guidance and leadership."

"Did you know that your kid thinks he's the center of the universe? What do you think happens when you put him in a room with 200 other kids who each think they are? Is it any wonder there exists such unrest today?"

"Your apathy is showing. If Semon Knudsen can be fired, why don't you do something about firing teachers whose positions enable them to destroy our youth? This thing called teacher tenure breeds mediocrity and is a malicious trampling of our rights."

"The average high school program is loaded with preparation for college. Why not face facts and deal with them squarely. Many, many kids need a sound vocational education. What about them? It's time for us (we're paying the tab, remember) to stop useless complaining and take action."

"Let's begin now, even if it peels means starting all over, to prepare our kids for life, not fantasy."

Hostesses were Mesdames: William Hellman, Ben Bieger, Ted Goldfarb and Nat Morrison. New members were welcomed with a song written by Mrs. Edward Welford.

Case No. K-571

Odors Affect Romance

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE K-571: Paula D., aged 30, is upset.

"Dr. Crane," she moaned, "I overheard one of my former boyfriends talking about me the other day. 'And he said I had B.O.' which was why he had quit dating me."

"Well, I try to bathe often," DR. CRANE said, "and use underarm deodorants, so why should I have more body odor than any other girl?"

PERFUME PSYCHOLOGY

Olfactory (nose) psychology has been the most ignored field for research.

Yet empirical evidence shows that male quadruped animals depend on scent for their sexual arousal.

And blood hounds can isolate each one of us merely by smelling our shoes or a piece of our clothing.

You are aware that no two people have the same fingerprints. Apparently, we also have very different body odors, as blood hounds can attest.

In fact, this is one of the intriguing fields for medical research, for our body odor can change due to disease.

Several years ago I mentioned the pet dog of a friend of mine in Chicago.

It was especially fond of the young man who would drop in to visit the family during college holidays.

But one Christmas vacation when he arrived, the dog growled and acted as if the young man were a total stranger.

Two weeks later at Wesley Hospital, we found that he had leukemia! His altered blood chemistry must have changed his normal scent.

So I have been urging medical scientists to see if they can "condition" a dog to the different odors arising from various ailments, such as diabetes, cancer, etc.

Since blood hounds seem to have an unusually keen scent, maybe these trained dogs could wander around a room full of men and women, sniffing out the early and undiagnosed cases of diabetes, cancer, etc.

For example, if canine "cancer" sniffers were properly "conditioned," vs. "diabetes" sniffers, then the cancer dogs could trot around, spotting insipient cancer victims.

The diabetes sniffers would likewise cull out the early cases of elevated blood sugar victims, etc.

In romance, many human beings have been subconsciously "conditioned" to the scent of their mothers, especially if they were held for breast feeding.

Some men and women, usually of darker complexion, also have a higher percentage of apocrine sweat glands.

The usual sweat glands exude the salty water type of perspiration which doesn't develop a strong, rancid odor.

But the second type of sweat glands give up part of their own protoplasm, which causes the rancid "B.O."

To remedy the latter, bathe more often and always apply deodorants freely and more often.

Also, try to relax, for nervous tension causes excessive perspiration! So join my "Compliment Club" and learn how to carry on easy, gay conversation.

Celebrities Will Speak in Franklin

The Friends of the Franklin Library held their annual kick-off coffee for "Friends," area chairman, and volunteer workers at the home of Mrs. William Breckwoldt on Tuesday.

The group had decided that inasmuch as the surrounding area abounds in many talented men and women, this year's Franklin Forum series will feature four such people.

• David W. Shantz, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Psychology at Oklahoma University will open the series Oct. 21 with a talk on human behavior.

• On Nov. 18, Cleo, famous in the field of astrology, will discuss "The Stars and You."

• Robert Thom, well known historical illustrator, will be featured Jan. 20, 1970 in "Art for Everyone."

• James L. Limbacher, author, critic, adult education teacher of motion picture history at Wayne State University and Marygrove College, will close the series on Feb. 17, with a thought provoking "What is Right with the Movies."

The Forum, held in the fellowship hall of the Franklin Community Church at 1:15 p.m., will be preceded by a luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Child care will be provided at a nominal charge. Mrs. William Halliday will handle luncheon reservations.

Ticket sales headed by Mrs. William Breckwoldt have already started. The Franklin Forum series is open to the public, and individual tickets may be purchased at the door on the day of the lecture.

Forum president, Mrs. Gordon Barnes, and board members, Mesdames: Roy Batte, George Bowman, Frank Young, Frederick Hirschman, William Halliday, J. W. Jones, and Peter Green, also have tickets.

Proceeds from Forum lectures for the purchase of new books are contributed annually to the Franklin Library, a non-profit organization supported entirely by local citizens.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,
At a convention for dry cleaners, we had quite a session and exchanged many ideas about the blame cleaners have to take when a garment doesn't come out the way the customer thinks it should. This seems to happen more times than not when a customer makes her own clothes.

Here are a few of our pet peeves, we are depending on you to give these women some advice that will help both of us - creases that give more than the underlining causing the seams to appear puckered, chiffons that appear uneven at the hem, bias cut dresses that stretch out of shape, coats that haven't been pressed as they were constructed and miracles are expected when the garment is pressed.

An independent dry cleaner I can understand where dry cleaners do have a legitimate reason for being unhappy. I know from working with my local dry cleaners that they are certainly blamed unjustly for many things that happen when you have your garments cleaned or pressed. Perhaps a few words of advice will help both of us.

First, creases of some types do "grow" or give more than the underlining. It is very important to allow a little extra ease in your underlining to avoid this puckering. Also, allow a little ease at the hem and when stitching your hem, be sure not to catch the threads through the garment itself, just to the underlining.

Chiffons that have been cut on the bias in many circular layers will never hang even. However, I have seen designer clothes made of chiffon and they don't hang even at the time they are sold. A cleaner could never be blamed for this.

A garment that is cut completely or in part on the bias will always be subject to stretching out of shape. No amount of underlining can prevent this. It's one of those liabilities you must accept if you want to use your fabric in this manner.

When making a coat or suit, you must carefully press each seam and dart as you go along, not wait until you have completed the garment and expect miracles from your presser. If your fabric is quite heavy and you feel it does require a professional pressing, take it to be pressed before you put in your finish lining. In this way the pressing can be completed from the inside of the garment the way it should be done.

One last bit of advice is to remove the buttons yourself unless your cleaner does this for you. Today, buttons can be made out of many synthetic substances and some of them don't take to cleaning fluid.

If you want the hem to have a soft rolled look and you don't want a flat ironed look to your seams for some fabrics, be sure to request this when you take your garment to be cleaned. Hope these hints will solve and avoid more misunderstandings.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Herman Schumacker, Oshkosh, Wis., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following sewing suggestion.

"When you are trying to cut slippery fabrics such as jerseys, chiffons and satins, it is very annoying to find them constantly slipping off your cutting table. Purchase an inexpensive plastic tablecloth with the foam backing. Turn it upside down and your fabrics will not shift around. A good quality flannel back cloth works too, but not quite as well as the foam backed cloth."

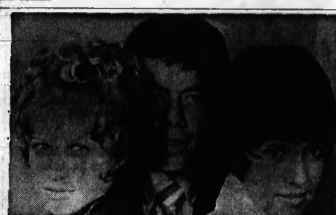

Dear Eunice Farmer,

Please explain again one item in your column that puzzled me. You stated that fabric should be refolded before laying your pattern on it to avoid a permanent crease down the center front. How should your fabric be folded? None of my friends understand this either.

Mrs. S. W. B.
Dear Mrs. S. W. B.:
I recommend refolding almost all fabrics that are 45 or 54 inches wide to avoid using the original fold which is almost impossible to remove and always comes at the most obvious spot of your garment, namely, the center front.

Open the fabric, measure the widest part of the garment, front, usually at the hem, and use this measurement as a guide for your new fold line. Begin folding your fabric by measuring the selvege to the new fold every few inches the entire length of the front section of your pattern.

The accuracy of your new fold line will assure perfect grain. It won't take any extra fabric, just a few minutes time. I know you'll agree it is really worth the extra effort. Wherever there is a seam at the center front or center back, naturally you won't have to refold your fabric because the crease wouldn't appear in the seam.

Newspaper Chiefdom Goes to Woman for First Time

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Judith L. Teller, who says, "I generally find women basically incompetent and in general I deal with men," has been appointed the first woman editor-in-chief of The Daily Pennsylvanian, the 84-year-old student paper at the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Teller, 20, a junior at Penn's Wharton School, had been managing editor since last March. She was appointed by the nine-man editorial board Monday night to replace M. Stuart Madden Jr., who resigned. Miss Teller's term ends next March.

The 5-foot-6 brunette is the daughter of Oscar Teller, the real estate editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer, and her mother was once a reporter.

Miss Teller said she does not see herself as a symbol of power. She said she is very feminine when dealing with members of the opposite sex when she is not in charge.

"I believe I've always had the respect of the staff. I don't feel I'm sacrificing my femininity by taking the post." She said she does not plan to change her basic outlook, which is to "say what I want to say when I want to say it."

David Kaye, 20, of New York City, the new managing editor, said, "It's easier to get along with a girl. It's more natural to be polite and to be understanding. There's less of the feeling of competition that is inherent in the male world."

'Guide to Entertaining'

People Make the Party

By JANET ODELL
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

You don't need a lot of money to entertain. You don't have to be a fancy cook. You don't need a big house. You don't have to be a social butterfly. All that's really necessary is the desire to be hospitable and the willingness to use your imagination. It helps if you're organized enough to make lists and work methodically.

A new book, Better Homes and Gardens "Guide to Entertaining", has recently been published. If entertaining is one of your favorite occupations, this book will provide you with hundreds of new ideas, menus and recipes.

If you're really inexperienced, stick to food you know you can prepare easily and well. Practice ahead of time, if necessary. Write down your menu and your order of preparation.

Having a party theme is fun and provides a base from which to work on decorations and food. Look around the house and imagine ordinary items used in unusual ways.

Those odds and ends of china patterns and the glasses of different sizes, shapes and colors are ideal for an April Fool's party. Paper accessories mean less work and give you gay designs to use in many ways.

Keep track of successful party ideas. You might even start a notebook for this. Then when you are confronted with a special entertaining situation, you have the answers right at hand.

If you add faithfully to the book as you entertain more, you will find that you have entertaining recipes and party ideas for almost every unexpected situation and can successfully cope with anything that might arise.

"But remember," the authors conclude, "It's your attitude that really counts. If you approach the situation with self-confidence, you will find the challenge of solving any emergency situation both exciting and stimulating."

That's what entertaining should be—exciting and stimulating. The RH and G Guide to Entertaining is to be found in most book stores. Price is $4.95. Consider as a Christmas gift, either from you to a favorite person, or on your own "want" list.

Of course, there is no such thing as a "youth vitamin." However, vitamin C comes as near qualifying as a vitamin could. There is much evidence that ascorbic acid is important in delaying the aging process and that we require more of it as we grow older.

I do not mean to indicate that vitamin C can turn back the clock of age. We need all of the essential food elements for vibrant health. However, this vitamin seems to be particularly effective against many of the usual signs of deterioration.

A few of these are puffy gums and loss of teeth, shrinking and wrinkling, and bruising easily. Vitamin C has long been known to have a beneficial effect on the blood vessels. The wrinkling of the skin is due in part to the shrinkage of our connective tissue. This progresses with age. However there is evidence that this process can be slowed with an abundant intake of this vitamin.

Even more crucial, Director of the Southern Bio-Research Institute of Lakeland, Florida, Boris Sokoloff M.D., Ph.D., and associates, have reported experimental evidence that ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) is an important factor in avoiding hardening of the arteries.

Dr. A. L. Tappel, biochemist at the University of California, in an article in the magazine "Geriatrics," said, "A nutritionally optimum amount of vitamin C would be important in any attempts to slow the aging process." Yet studies have shown that this vitamin is one of those most often deficient in the average diet.

Why not up your vitamin C intake NOW? According to Dr.

this particular group might not mix well.

Plan, plan and plan some more. Get the cleaning done as far ahead as you can, also the shopping. Try to plan food that lets you be with your guests most of the time. No one wants a hot, tired hostess, even if the cheese souffle is superb.

Do everything you can the day before, the morning of the party, two hours before the guests arrive. Plan activities for your guests' enjoyment, whether it is games, conversation, watching a football game on TV or listening to music.

If you're really inexperienced,

Zonta Awards for Graduates Being Offered

For the 32nd year, Zonta International is announcing its Amelia Earhart Fellowship Awards to women for advanced study in aerospace sciences. The $3,000 fellowships, established by this service organization of executive women in business and the professions as a memorial to the famed air pioneer, are supported by more than 560 Zonta clubs in 33 countries.

Miss Earhart had been a long-time Zonta club member before her disappearance in 1937.

SPACE FIELD

Zonta's confidence in women's potential in the space field has been rewarded by the distinguished contributions made by the young women who have received the 88 Earhart grants.

A bachelor's degree (or its equivalent) in a science qualifying a candidate for graduate work in some phase of the aerospace sciences is the basic requirement for the fellowship, plus evidence of exceptional ability and commendable character.

Recipients include students whose degrees were earned in North America, Europe, the Middle and Far East. Fellowships have been used in graduate schools in the U.S., Canada, Switzerland, United Kingdom, West Germany, Japan.

Candidates, or instructors wishing to recommend students, write: Zonta International, 59 East Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill. 60605.

THE LARGE ROSE FAMILY

The simple "I love you" flower—the rose—is just one in a family which includes over 3,000 species, highly esteemed for its luscious fruits such as apples, pears, cherries, plums and peaches. Only one in a hundred people would know that the rose family includes so many different species.

The flowers, which are extraordinarily rich in pollen and honey, are perfect in form with usually five sepals and as many petals. The family is mostly composed of trees and shrubs, although the herb bearing members make up a large number of the family.

Many Use Savings Bonds to Advantage

BY ANNE TAYLOR
AP News Feature

Savings bonds have fallen into disfavor among a lot of people in recent months, the primary and obvious reason being that the rate of inflation actually exceeds the rate at which interest is earned on the bonds.

Redemptions have exceeded, of course, of bonds, you still have to consider whether to cash them and how, and Treasury officials are concerned. They should be, for $2 billion of bonds are now in the hands of investors who aren't always the same thing. The Treasury wants to keep them.

For strictly financial reasons, and despite the high rate of inflation, there are ways in which you can benefit from purchases of savings bonds. The first way has to do with savings, the second with taxes.

Bonds are invaluable in helping to develop a systematic savings plan. There really is no more painless way to save, to my way of thinking, than through the payroll savings plan.

Bonds as an investment are another thing, however. After you've saved a certain amount, you should consider whether to cash them and how, and Treasury officials are concerned. BONDS AND TAXES

You can also save with bonds by deferring or even avoiding income tax payments. It's so $600. The Savings Bond Division of the Treasury is anxious that you know about it.

You can, for example, buy bonds for your child's future education and never pay taxes on the interest that accrues. This is how you do it!

Purchase a Series E bond in any denomination and register it by purchasing savings stamps in the child's name. Make the whenever you're at the post-office a beneficiary—but not vice versa. Rain-Lack Effects Minimized

"The lack of rain in recent weeks has not had the adverse effects on agriculture that one might expect," claims William Muller, director of the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

"That doesn't mean," he adds, "that a rain about 10 days ago wouldn't have been appreciated or proven beneficial."

In the next five days, however, the prediction calls for a quarter to a half-inch of precipitation.

The problem lies not so much in the lack of total precipitation during the growing season, but in the fact it was not spread evenly throughout the summer.

During the first two weeks of September there was only .03 inches of rainfall which is considered "very light" by the United States Weather Bureau for this time of year.

Winter oats may have a tendency to darken because of the lengthy exposure to sunlight with no relief, Muller said.

Corn, which is currently the chief garden product, came late this year and consequently did not suffer from the dry weather.

In addition, the farmers were prepared with such equipment as sprinklers, to keep crops properly watered.

Meanwhile, the Pontiac Water Department reports consumption was up 16 million gallons from 222,450,900 gallons from Sept. 1 to 15 in 1968 to 238,810,300 gallons in 1969 during the same period.

In 1968 the peak day was Sept. 3 when 17,687,800 gallons were pumped. On Sept. 4 of this year, 19,230,300 gallons were used.

1969 CAMPAIGN
OCT. 4 - NOV. 7

The Pontiac Area United Fund Care-A-Van service display at the Pontiac Mall this week affords area residents the opportunity to learn more about the 55 agencies supported by their donations. Free health tests are also offered. Above, Elizabeth Martin, a nurse at Pontiac State Hospital, explains the function of the Kidney Dialysis Machine, part of the Michigan Kidney Foundation Display. Below, Mrs. Traver Miller, volunteer chairman of the Care-A-Van display, checks a chart of the Mall. The PAUF exhibit will continue through Saturday.

Two Divisions Will Kick Off PAUF Campaign Tomorrow

The commercial and manufacturing divisions of the Pontiac Area United Fund (PAUF) will kick off their drives tomorrow with a noon luncheon at the Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake.

The total goal of the two divisions is $365,814 out of the general campaign goal of $1.24 million.

John Greenwood of St. Louis, Mo., assistant regional manager for the American National Red Cross in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, will address the volunteers. His speech, titled "Things Don't Just Happen," will concentrate on the action of the Red Cross during the recent hurricanes.

This year's general PAUF drive begins Oct. 4 and runs through Nov. 7.

The test requires no preparation and is noncompetitive. The exam measures general aptitude.

Persons interested in taking the test must first fill out an application. Forms are available at the Pontiac Post Office.

Navy Flies Wife to Injured Husband

IONIA (AP) — The wife of an Ionia serviceman has been flown to Germany where he is hospitalized in critical condition after an automobile crash at Gaeta, Italy, Sept. 7, the Navy says.

Lt. Cmdr. Richard Cushing of the Grand Rapids Naval Station said Mrs. Larry Lee Jerrils of Ionia was flown to her husband's bedside in Weisbaden, Germany, at the request of hospital officials.

Jerrils, a gunnery second class, was a passenger in an auto which crashed into a wall in the Italian village. Cushing said hospital officials asked that relative be brought to the hospital because of the seriousness of Jerrils' injuries.

Average Car Buyer Called Pawn, Shrewd in FTC Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Witnesses at a government hearing on car pricing have described the average car buyer as both a pawn in the hands of the dealer and a shrewd shopper who consistently outbargains the dealer.

The accounts of the buyer's fate were offered to the Federal Trade Commission yesterday in the first of its two days of hearings preparatory to deciding whether it should regulate car price advertising.

California Assistant Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien offered this version of what happens to "Harry Carbuyer" when he arrives at the dealer:

He is taken to the back lot to see the advertised bargain which lured him there; is discouraged to find the bargain unwashed and bereft of some equipment; spots a shiny new car on which the dealer quotes the "suggested retail price;" starts haggling on a price; and closes the deal satisfied he got a bargain, not sure how big a bargain, but pleased he got a $500 trade-in on a 1967 car worth $50.

'DECEPTIVE PRETICKETING'

O'Brien said there is "fictitious or deceptive preticketing in California and throughout the nation."

But Lyman W. Slack, president of the National Automobile Dealers Association, told a different version. He said the FTC, if it sat in his Portland, Ore., dealership for a day, could help him, not the buyer.

"The customer is so much smarter and so much shrewder than the average dealer," Slack said. The customer knows that bargaining is the way the game is played, he said.

Slack added that in one day he sold basically the same car to five different persons, for five different prices:

BASIC GUIDANCE

The commission is concerned consumers are not so wise and should be given some basic guidance—perhaps just a notice that the price on the car is the maximum for which the dealer will sell it. A staff survey showed more than 56 per cent of all cars sell for less than the price on the window.

General Motors, facing a $750-million damage suit for posting allegedly fictitious price lists on cars in California, refused to discuss "suggested retail prices" with the FTC.

Surveys reported to the FTC show that only 1.3 per cent of GM cars and about 5 per cent of Ford Motor Co. cars actually at the list price which must be affixed by law to each car.

Mack W. Worden, General Motors vice president for marketing, who appeared at the hearings, declined to discuss list prices on the advice of counsel.

WARNING TO FTC

Commissioner James M. Nicholson warned the FTC a decision on whether or not to issue a regulation governing auto price ads "may be reached in a vacuum if General Motors is unwilling to cooperate. We can't time our proceedings based on your private litigation."

Commissioner Philip Elman said if the surveys of the discrepancy in the suggested retail price and the actual selling price for cars were true, "it would be a most flagrant violation of the FTC act."

John J. Nevin, Ford vice president for marketing, said if the government forced auto makers to post "suggested list prices" approximating the average prices at which cars are sold, it would be both impractical and confusing.

9 MSU Profs Push for Adams

EAST LANSING (AP) — Nine Michigan State University professors are spearheading a petition drive to recommend that acting President Walter Adams be offered his post permanently.

The petition being circulated among MSU faculty, asks a joint student-faculty committee to recommend Adams to the board of trustees.

The board last week asked the committee to make further recommendations for the post which Adams has been filling since John A. Hannah left the university this spring to become director of the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Adams, an economics professor, said at the time of his appointment that he had no interest in keeping the job. "Administering isn't my bag," he said.

'NO FURTHER THOUGHT'

"I just haven't given it any further thought," Adams said Tuesday. "I'm concerned with the pressure of the day-to-day activities to keep this show on the road and make sure that it's running smoothly."

Asked if he would accept the presidency if it were offered by the board, Adams replied, "I take the position of the Supreme Court. I never answer hypothetical questions."

John P. Henderson, a colleague of Adams in the economics department and one of the nine senior professors circulating the petition, said Tuesday recent controversy surrounding reported board consideration of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams led to the latest draft attempt.

Williams, strongly supported by Democratic party and state labor leaders, has been opposed by various student and faculty groups. One faculty petition called on Williams to withdraw publicly from consideration. Dale E. Hathaway, head of the selection committee, said Williams originally was considered not included among the top recommendations to the board.

500 SIGNERS

Henderson said the group hoped to gain 500 signers before sending the petition to the selection committee.

Henderson said he had "never discussed" the move with Adams and had "no basis to know he'd be interested other than by his dedication." One teacher active in the petition drive said, "my own guess is there's a 50-50 chance he'd take it if we can get at least 500 names."

The petition praises Adams for "unexpected administrative skill, unusual insight and presence of mind," and adds, "He has deservedly won the admiration and support of the students, a unique achievement in contemporary affairs."

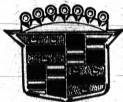

Griffin Due Prized Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan has been assigned to the Senate Judiciary Committee, heading off a possible confrontation between GOP liberals and conservatives.

Griffin asked the committee on committees for the prized post after a talk with Sen. Kansas Hruska of Nebraska, a Republican on the judiciary panel and one of three candidates for the post of Senate Republican leader.

The recommendation of Griffin yesterday to the judiciary committee and Sen. Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming to the finance committee — vacancies created by the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen — have to be formally ratified by the GOP conference Sept. 24.

The elegantly spirited 1970 Cadillac

The brilliant new 1970 Cadillac is styled to reflect both the quality and the mood of life in the spirited seventies. Its striking new beauty suggests the tempo of people on the move. Richly tailored appointments and refinements welcome you to a new era of Cadillac taste and elegance. Sparkling performance invites you to experience an entirely new dimension of motoring pleasure. All told, it sets new standards of excellence for a great decade. In all eleven Cadillac models for 1970, you'll discover new ideas attuned to the spirited seventies. You may choose a new radio system that will seek out your favorite AM, FM or stereo-only station. The aerial is neatly concealed in the windshield, out of sight and out of the way. This year, Cadillac engineers have again made sure that the Cadillac ride continues to be the smoothest, the quietest, the most enjoyable in motoring history.

The newly spirited 8.2 litre Eldorado

The Spirit of the Seventies is nowhere more evident than in the handsome 1970 Eldorado. Behind its smartly recessed grille is a new V-8 engine with a displacement of 8.2 litres (500 cubic inches), the largest V-8 ever offered in a production passenger car. Created specifically and exclusively for the front-wheel-drive Fleetwood Eldorado, this new power plant harbors an ample reserve to operate the power assists one usually associates with a luxury car, while yielding a new kind of performance that will set the pace for personal cars for many years to come. The instant you feel the new 8.2 litre V-8 in action and experience all the luxuries that mark it unmistakably as a Cadillac, you'll know that the Fleetwood Eldorado is, more than ever, the world's finest personal car. The moment you drive it, you'll know that Cadillac has left the sixties far behind!

Prison Tackles Racial Violence

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Stern security is being coupled with a "soft approach" — as racial violence control measures inside San Quentin Prison.

Since April, three prisoners — two Negro, one white — have been slain by fellow convicts in racial outbursts at the big yellow fortress 20 miles north of San Francisco. A fourth convict, a Negro, also was slain. Officials said his death had no racial overtones but through a misunderstanding it triggered the subsequent violence.

Other convicts have been wounded.

Warden Louis S. Nelson blames the violence on hatreds "brought in from the streets by militant blacks and whites."

Nelson, "Big Red" to the 3,400 inmates of "Q," pinpoints about 100 prisoners — both black and white — as proven militants. For them, he has decreed Section B "the jail within a jail." They live in steel-girt solitary.

MOVEMENT CURBED

Nelson also has ordered that no inmate may move in open areas inside the prison without a pass. Formerly, men not assigned to a duty could wander as they pleased inside certain areas. Extra guards now patrol points where convicts mix — such as dining rooms.

And for the first time in years, a general shakedown of inmates was held. For three days, prison factories were shut down and convicts kept in cells. Guards found about 50 deadly weapons, mostly knives.

The Inmate Council, or "cool it squad," as it is called, is designed to help spot and stop trouble.

"This is a touchy situation," says council member Robert Willis, 35, a Negro convicted of murder in Los Angeles. "For the present you might say the waters are calm. We form what we call 'climate control' and whenever we hear of a rumor, we track it down to its source, and when we find out there was nothing to it, we relay this information to the prison population."

RACIAL BREAKDOWN

"There are inmates, black and white, who want to see this institution in a state of chaos, for what reason I don't know."

The racial breakdown is 50 per cent white, 32 per cent black, 16 per cent of Mexican extraction, and the rest of other races.

Nelson meets with an "executive council" of the "cool it squad" at least once a month.

And daily he listens privately to inmates with gripes, although some guards term these "snivel sessions."

The council members, in addition to their attempts at keeping racial bitterness under control, handle all kinds of complaints from inmates — from canteen prices to "short time."

COUNCIL ELIGIBILITY

Men are eligible for the council through elections by inmates if they have "six months clean" — a spotless record of behavior for that period before elections.

San Quentin's current problems apparently started April 22 during a prison movie. Guards heard scuffling, saw shadows of inmates wrestling in the dark. When the lights were switched on, they found Jeff Cooper, a Negro doing time on a narcotics violation, dying from a knife wound.

"There was nothing racial about the attack," says Associate Warden James W. Park.

"There had been an illicit transaction in which Cooper ended up owing somebody money. But it got out among the blacks that it was a racial thing."

MAN STABBED

Three days later, four whites were assaulted by two blacks in the education building. One man was stabbed, but nobody was killed.

Then, on April 28, while some 80 men milled about in the big lower exercise yard, Park recalled, "white extremists, neo-Nazis, some Hell's Angels" bent on retaliation, lashed out with homemade knives. Negroes Floyd Neal and Calvin Bonner lay dead.

Gradually, prison routine edged back toward normal. But on June 11, about 10 Negroes retaliated simultaneously in different areas during an evening meal, Park said. Seven men were stabbed, including convicted murderer Robert J. Adams, who died.

Parks says society's ill-racial prejudices, the white and black backlashes, violence — magnify inside prison walls.

Warden Nelson agrees with Park's assessment, but goes a step further. He says the judiciary, which increasingly is handing probation instead of prison sentences to first-time offenders, has filled San Quentin with the very dregs of the underworld.

"Before the increased use of probation we used to get a more pliant type of prisoner," the warden said. "We used to get first-time offenders. No more."

BLACK MISERY by Langston Hughes. (Paul S. Erickson, $2.50)

A publisher's note in white print on black paper at the front of the book alerts the reader that Negro Poet Langston Hughes completed captions for this tiny gift-packaged negative version of Charles Schultz' "Happiness is . . ." just before his death in 1967.

And the captions sharply define just what "Misery is . . ." for a black boy not fortunate enough to be born in the white world of Snoopy and Charlie Brown. Hughes wrote: "Misery is when you first realize so many things had been black in them, like black cats, black arts, blackball."

"Misery is when you start to help an old white lady across the street and she thinks you're trying to snatch her purse."

The illustrations by Aroun are disappointing, merely offering sentimental drawings full of sad-faced children and a feeble lines.

BEAUTIFUL THOUGHTS by Tiny Tim. (Doubleday & Co., $2.95)

The hook-nose, falsetto-voice singer with shoulder-length ringlets has entered the literary world with a tiny book that's selling big.

He didn't write the book, just one page. And, he says, the average reader probably won't understand much of it.

"The one page in the book Tiny says he wrote contains a poem dedicated to actress Elizabeth Taylor.

The rest of the book was derived by an editor from extensive conversations with the singer. Tiny Tim says the lines actually are abbreviated biographical chapters whose meaning the average reader will never know.

For example, a page entitled "Memories. Oh What Memories," includes pictures of Rudy Vallee, Rudolph Valentino, Tuesday Weld, a trophy and a note about Miss Corky's cookie, Aug. 6, 1967.

THE MENDELBY CONSPIRACY by Marlin Caidin (Meredith Press, $3.95)

In the first part of Caidin's novel a journalist named Cliff Brady is doing his best to get the "real" story behind the reports of unidentified flying objects.

That gives the author an opportunity to conduct a long dialogue between Brady and an Air Force expert on UFO's, covering all the explanations for various aerial phenomena.

From there on the novel turns into something like science fiction. It wouldn't be fair to give away the whole plot, but it does involve a mysterious organization guided by a superintellect named Vadim Mendelov, and a conspiracy to "save the world" from blowing itself up with nuclear weapons.

The novel ends with a jarring climax that even for science fiction is a bit strange. No doubt it would make quite a movie.

Story of Oppression Is Familiar to U.S.

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.
Executive Director
National Urban League

The story is a familiar one to Americans, the kind of tale we've become used to in recent years.

An oppressed minority is denied decent housing, jobs and equal protection of the laws. It complains of police brutality and bitter discrimination. There are demonstrations and protests.

An incident occurs. Rioting starts. Bands of young toughs invade the minority community, beating people at random. The minority group fights back. Blood flows. The riots spread from the largest city to smaller ones. Houses burn to the ground, barricades are erected, special police squads shoot up minority neighborhoods.

Finally, troops are flown in to restore order. After a few days, the smoke of battle lifts and the toll is taken. Eight people are dead, 800 injured.

Representatives of the majority community are appalled at what happened. They promise some reforms, but basically they admit they're just trying to reduce tensions. "We can't do in three days, what we failed to do in 300 years," one leader says.

MINORITY IS FEARFUL.

The minority is watchful, fearful. They distrust the majority that has oppressed them. They don't want to take down the barricades that give them a little protection. They await the next blows, preparing to defend themselves while counting their dead and injured.

A country is torn apart by communal warfare. The whole world watches, shaking its head in disbelief, wondering why it all happened, why the two groups can't see that it's in their own interests to come together and remove the social and economic barriers that led to death and destruction.

Yes, it's a familiar story to Americans, but it's not about America. It's about Northern Ireland.

The civil rights conflict wasn't between whites and blacks, but between Protestants and the Catholic minority. It wasn't black leadership that demanded complete equality; it was Irish Catholic leadership demanding full rights for Catholics in Northern Ireland.

A familiar story, but one that took place far from Detroit or Newark. So many of the elements involved are similar that it is impossible for an American to view the situation without drawing parallels with his own country.

Black people immediately identified with the oppressed Catholic minority. They saw people — white people for a change — being discriminated against and brutalized. They know what it is like, and their sympathies went out to the oppressed.

But many white Americans were able to look at the Irish situation and understand the legitimate grievances of the Catholic minority.

The irrational American color prejudice was no longer a factor — the oppression felt by the Catholic minority was immediately felt by many Americans previously indifferent to the sufferings of the black minority in their own country.

Perhaps this experience will change the attitudes of these white Americans. I hope they'll be able to make the mental leap from the Irish situation to their own, and understand that sympathy and support for Irish Catholic civil rights has to be joined by support for the demands for equality by black people here. Americans of Irish and Catholic backgrounds especially should note the similarities. One of the most frustrating things about the American scene is the vocal opposition to equality by people who belong to ethnic groups that have suffered similar oppression abroad.

Too many people from ethnic groups like the Irish, Poles, Italians and others have been in the forefront of opposition to blacks.

The Irish civil rights struggle should bring home to such individuals the fact that what black people are struggling for is the same dignity and equality for which their compatriots across the ocean are fighting.

Sees Clue to Nation's Mood in Jokes Our Comics Tell

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The jokes comedians tell, the things people laugh about, often reveal more about our world than the Dow-Jones averages . . . and I claim after looking at the jokes that America's in trouble but will pull out laughing.

There's a comedian named Marty Brill at the Americana Royal Box who sums up the kids-versus-parents conflict this way:

"I didn't ask to be born!" shouts the teenager and the father roars: "Good thing you didn't — I'd have turned you down."

Comedian Jack De Leon at the Copacabana starts out mentioning "that great New York comedian, John Lindsay." Lindsay, it seems, has a solution to pollution:

"Breathing will be permitted on alternate sides of the street Wednesdays and Fridays."

The Mayor had such a headache, "Mr. Lindsay has had one Manhattan too many."

It's interesting to me that the mere mention of Lyndon B. Johnson is now good for a laugh in the night clubs. He is pictured as trying to read a menu in a Catskill Mountains hotel and finally saying to his waiter, "Max, I think I'll just have an order of dietary laws."

Lyndon B. Johnson, you remember him?" they say. Laugh.

"Eddie Fisher, you remember him?" Mel Torme says at the Royal Box. Laughter.

Mel gets a similar laugh by referring to a trip he made to South America to "a Bruce Cabot Film Festival."

Marty Brill speaks of visiting the Orient and having some tea — "which in Japan the young people drink," he says hastily. And he contends that there are now so many juniors in the singing racket "Tucy all sing Old Man River Jr."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Vice Pres. Agnew was a speaker at the Friars-Kraft Music Hall "roast" for Jack Benny. The Veep said Benny had thrown his support to Nixon, "who threw it right back."

The fire in Johnny Carson's office destroyed, among other things, ten Dong Kingman paintings . . . Sammy Davis postponed his opening at Harrah's Lake Tahoe till after the Jewish holidays.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Pat Flynn of Mineral Wells, Texas, described a local character: "He's a little slow-moving. He didn't even get to be a juvenile delinquent till he was 30."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The question is not whether man descended from the monkey, but when he is going to stop descending." — Evan Rar.

EARL'S PEARLS: Tuffy Tuttle says a couple of troupe came to her door asking for money. "I gave them some. After all, they're the only ones making house calls nowadays."

When Vice Pres. Agnew entered the NBC studio for the Friars' TV-taping, comic Don Tannen asked, "Are we supposed to stand up for him?" "I don't think so," said another guest, "I ain't as tough as he's Gull Hodges . . . That's Earl, brother."

A FAMILY STROLL — Dixie, a part Cocker Spaniel, pushes her pups down a Williamsport, Pa., street. Her owner, Bonnie Mitchell, taught her to push the baby carriage as a trick. But after Dixie had her three pups two weeks ago, she insisted on pushing them in the carriage.

Remodeling Bids Below the Estimate

It's going to cost less than anticipated to revamp the old County Board of Education offices on the Telegraph Road Service Center site.

Bids received yesterday on needed mechanical and electrical work were less than the $100,000 estimate. Low bids by Schultz Electrical Inc. of Pontiac at $47,536 and Steve Krucko Co. Inc. of Waterford Township at $101,700 are being studied.

The building, recently vacated when County Superintendent William Emerson moved into his new office on Telegraph at Pontiac Lake Road, will be used for four other county departments.

They are the Department of Veterans' Affairs, Data Processing, Cooperative Extension (4-H) and certain functions of Community Mental Health.

Henry Faces 2 Contempt Cases

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Milton R. Henry, a Pontiac attorney and vice president of a black separatist group, faced a hearing today in Washtenaw County Circuit Court to determine whether he would be held in contempt.

Henry, with offices at 518 Orchard Lake, a leader of the separatist Republic of New Africa, also has been ordered to appear Oct. 27 before Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore on a contempt citation.

Judge Ross Campbell of the Washtenaw County court ordered Henry to appear today after he failed to show up for a hearing last Wednesday on a motion to withdraw as counsel for a man accused of breaking and entering.

The defendant on the breaking and entering charge, A. S. Simpson, told the court last Wednesday that he objected to Henry's motion to withdraw as attorney. Simpson said he had paid Henry $1,000 to represent him.

In Oakland County, court officials said Henry had failed to keep three court appointments for the trial of a man charged with felonious assault. Henry was listed as the defendant's attorney.

Area Man Robbed Leaving City Bar

An elderly Bloomfield Hills man was robbed of $200 last night en route after leaving a local bar.

According to city police, John Stanley, 73, of 111 Lone Pine had left Club 88 at 88 Bagley and was followed by his car by a man and a woman.

Officers said that as Stanley entered his car, the man ran up and pointed a gun at him while the woman climbed into the car and grabbed his wallet from his sport coat.

Deaths in Pontiac, Nearby Areas

Fred A. Anderson

Service for former Waterford Township resident Fred A. Anderson, 73, of Mount Iron, Minn., will be Thursday at Crons-Nelson-Harris Funeral Home in Virginia, Minn., with burial there.

Mr. Anderson, a member of the Finnish Lutheran Church, was an engineer.

Surviving are his wife, Jeanne; three sons, Richard, Robert and Raymond, all of Mount Iron; three daughters, Mrs. Fred Cucca of Boston, Mass., Mrs. Donald McLaughlin of Pontiac and Mrs. Marvin Main of Wall Lake; 28 grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; a brother; and a sister.

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Requiem Mass for Mrs. Fred (Anna L.) Budden, 79, of 304 Maplelale will be 10 a.m. Friday at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Union Lake, with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Detroit.

Rosary will be said at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Elton Back Funeral Home, Union Lake.

Mrs. Budden died this morning.

Loch Ness 'Find' Is No Clue to Famed Monster

IVERNESS, Scotland (AP) — The scientific team hunting the Loch Ness Monster decided today that a find identified by the finders as "the thigh bone of an animal not known to science" is no help in the search.

Colin Simms, curator of the natural history department of York Museum, saw the four-foot bone on television and identified it as the lower jaw bone of a whale which until two weeks ago had decorated his rock garden. He said the bone had been expelled from the museum years ago because it was worthless.

The two young Englishmen who claimed they had found the bone beside Loch Ness last May took to their story, although they refused to give their names to newsmen.

Many Parents Expected at Key Waterford Session

A large number of parents are expected to attend the Waterford Township Board of Education meeting tomorrow to hear whether the board will appeal a court ruling to restore full-day classes by Sept. 28.

The board is likely to ask for a stay of the order and appeal it to a higher court, one member has said.

A group of parents won an injunction Friday which requires the school system to put elementary students back on full-day sessions and return secondary students to six hours of school a day from five hours they're now getting.

In a related item, acting Superintendent Dr. John Pagen is to recommend that the board borrow $500,000 in operating funds from a bank, to be paid back later this school year from anticipated state aid.

The meeting is at 8 p.m. at the school board offices, 6220 Pontiac Lake at Airport Road.

Morris Fleming

AVON TOWNSHIP — Service for former resident Morris Fleming, 68, of Gladwin will be 1:30 p.m. Friday at Harold R. Davis Funeral Home, Auburn Heights, with burial in Christian Memorial Estates Cemetery.

Mr. Fleming died Monday. He was a retired employee of General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

Surviving is one stepdaughter, Mrs. Ruth Johnson of Holly.

Domenic B. Frezza

TROY — Former resident Domenic B. Frezza, 85, of Royal Oak died yesterday. The body is at Price Funeral Home, Rochester.

Frederick H. Neiger

ROCHESTER — Service for Frederick H. Neiger, 63, of 381 Elm will be 11 a.m. tomorrow at the William Sullivan and Son Funeral Home, Royal Oak, with burial in Oak View Cemetery, Royal Oak.

Mr. Neiger died Monday. He was a water softeners salesman and a member of Clawson-Troy Elks Lodge 2169.

Surviving are his wife, Irene; one son, Thomas of Pontiac; one daughter, Janet R. Heiger of Rochester; two brothers, including Andrew of Troy; and two grandchildren.

School Board Will Allow Public to Air Its Views

The Pontiac School Board will conduct its meeting under a proposed set of rules allowing public discussion of agenda items at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the board office, Auburn and East Wide Track.

One rule specifies "Members of the audience may speak on agenda items which are of direct concern to the individual during the meeting upon recognition by the presiding officer. The officer may request each speaker to state his name and address and may limit each speaker to one appearance for each agenda item."

Another rule allows discussion on nonagenda items at the end of the meeting.

The board will also consider renewing a contract with the Pontiac Area Urban League for

Plymouth Freshens Up Intermediate Line

Belvedere, Chrysler-Plymouth Division's entry in the intermediate field, is freshened up for 1970 by new engines, new exteriors and interiors and an improved option list.

Road Runner and GTX have a new power-bulge hood and all models have new grilles, bumpers with styled wraparound bumper guards and grille, and restyled hood and fenders.

Area dealers are: Hahn Chrysler-Plymouth, 6673 Dixie, Clarkston; Colmich Chrysler, Midland; Oakland Chrysler-Plymouth, 724 Oakland, Pontiac; Birmingham Chrysler-Plymouth, W. Maple, Troy; Milosch Chrysler-Plymouth, Lake Orion; and Town & Country, 1001 N. Main, Rochester.

RUB STRIP

Rear-end styling features new taillights and bumper with new trim styling between the lights to differentiate the models. Optional vinyl-filled rub strip in five different colors is available on four-door sedans and wagons.

Hardtops and coupes have simulated air scoops on the rear quarter panels.

The GTX has an exclusive performance tape-stripe treatment and shares an optional hood paint treatment with the Road Runner.

PREMIUM PERFORMER — Plymouth's top-of-the-line intermediate-size performance car for 1970 is the GTX, with new styling features all around. The interior is highlighted by a wood-grain instrument panel and a rally cluster.

High-back bucket seats with integral head restraints are standard in Sport Satellite two-door Hardtop and GTX. Airfoam front seats are standard on all models.

POTENT ENGINE

A new, higher output version of the potent 440-cubic-inch engine is available as a regular option on the Road Runner and GTX.

The top engine option is a 426-cubic-inch hemi, updated with new hydraulic tappets for its high rpm valve train making it quieter.

Sequoias Fall to Winter

By National Geographic Society
WASHINGTON — Death is moving heavy-handed among California's ageless Big Trees.

More giant sequoias have crashed to the ground this spring and summer than anyone can ever remember falling in a single year. In one area of Sequoia National Park, 10 toppling trees forced the closing of a campground, and a falling limb killed a picnicker.

In Yosemite National Park the Wawona Tunnel Tree, a 2,000-year-old celebrity of the sequoias, lies prostrate on the forest floor.

The toll is blamed on the record winter snows that have made the ground two-to-three times wetter than usual, loosening the roots.

DETHRONED MONARCH

Even dethroned by gravity, a monarch like the Tunnel Tree of Yosemite's Mariposa Grove is still a majestic sight.

As Yosemite's Supt. Lawrence Hadley puts it, "A tree on the ground looks a lot bigger than one standing up." The Tunnel Tree towered 234 feet and measured nearly 87 feet around the base.

With straightforward simplicity, the stands of Sequoia gigantea have been known since the days of the earliest explorers merely as the Big Trees.

Charges Dropped

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — Four larceny charges against a Highland Park policeman have been dismissed on grounds of lack of evidence. The charges were filed by a grand jury last December against patrolman William Solomon, 25, who earlier was tried and acquitted of two other larceny charges.

Pigeons, Coyotes 'Making Monkeys of Man'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The pigeon for all its feathers and the coyote for all its fur have something in common. A common enemy: man.

And both coyote and pigeon, according to the National Geographic Society's News Bulletin, thus far have managed to defeat all efforts of their enemy to do them in.

It would be an exaggeration to say the pigeon and the coyote are smarter than homo sapiens.

Actually, the coyote is miscast as a villain, according to the News Bulletin. One naturalist was quoted as saying that if it weren't for so-called varmints, "America would wade in a sea of rabbits," not to mention mice, rats, gophers and other rodents.

How have the coyotes managed to keep alive? Partly because "They have widened their horizons." They originally existed only in the western plains and deserts. Now they roam Alaska and have invaded 13 eastern states from Maine to Florida.

Pigeons have won out, apparently because a capacity for not taking man's offenses seriously. By building cities man gave pigeons just what they wanted — parks and sidewalks for scavenging purposes, and ledges and cornices and statuary for roosts and nests.

What pigeons do to statues shouldn't happen, of course, to any hero immortalized in bronze. And so cities have been trying to get them to move on.

LURED TO COUNTRY

Paris particularly has attempted to keep its buildings and statues clean by luring pigeons to the country. People with nets snared hundreds of thousands of the birds, fed them drugged grain, trucked them far afield, and turned them loose.

When they woke up, the pigeons looked at their new surroundings, decided they didn't like them, and flew back to town.

Hybrid Wheat Seed Not Practical Yet

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — For seven years a U.S. Department of Agriculture researcher has held the "key" to a more nutritious hybrid wheat — but he is still working on making it practical for the farmer.

In 1962, Dr. V. A. Johnson, a

Today, he is still sticking to that date, despite slow progress since the last major breakthrough.

The "key" was the discovery, in 1962, of a gene that would restore fertility to male-sterile wheat. The development proved that hybrid wheat was biologically feasible.

Johnson explained that the first step in development of hybrid wheat is the growing of wheat plants which are male-sterile, or unable to fertilize themselves.

The next step for seedmen is to cross the male-sterile plants with others which would restore fertility for a farm crop. Lack of fertility would mean no kernels on the wheat.

"Field tests show it is not sufficiently stable over a range of environments so we can rely on it," he said.

RESTORER COMBINATION

Johnson said the gene found in 1962 was "a necessary component for hybrid wheat, but as date we haven't come up with the specific restorer combination, or hybrid combination, to give us the sort of hybrid wheat that would be useful commercially.

"There may be restorer combinations better than what we have been testing," he said, "but whether they are good enough has to await extensive evaluation."

While the search for the right key has been going on, the agronomist said, progress has been made toward improving existing varieties of regular wheat.

"Each year, varieties are becoming more and more productive and farmers are constantly doing a better job of producing wheat," Johnson said.

COMpetition Problem The improved varieties, with increasingly better yields, may pose a competition problem when hybrid wheat seed becomes commercially available.

"When it is offered, it's going to cost the grower more than regular wheat — that's established," he said. "What isn't known is how much more it will cost."

JOHNSON POINTED TO THE CURRENT

low market price of wheat and noted, "When it is this depressed, then anything that adds to the farmer's cost is a serious consideration."

Sooner or later, Johnson said, hybrid wheat will be commercially available. "But it's likely to be later."

Blue Shield's Drug Plan Told

Offered as of Oct. 1;

UAW Was Initiator

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Blue Shield announced yesterday it will begin offering a prescription drug prepayment program Oct. 1 to various groups already subscribing to its medical-surgical bill-paying insurance.

The new drug program will not be offered individual subscribers.

First groups to be covered will be those of United Auto Workers, who won the inclusion of drug-bill payments in new three-year contracts negotiated in 1967.

That contract feature becomes effective Oct. 1 and binds the auto makers or their insurance agencies to pay all but $2 of the cost of any prescription.

YEAR OF PLANNING

Blue Shield said a few other companies also have signed for similar drug-payment coverage under its plan, and that the prepayment benefit was put into effect for a few groups in outstate areas last July 1, after more than a year of planning.

Blue Shield said the cost would vary from group to group and would depend upon whether the subscriber were single, a couple or a family.

It estimated the average cost per worker of coverage to the auto makers would be about $1.75 monthly.

Blue Shield said subscribers will have free choice of pharmacists, but that patients patronizing nonparticipating pharmacists will be reimbursed for only 75 per cent of their bills.

90 PCT. EXPECTED

"We expect about 90 per cent of the state's pharmacies to sign participating agreements with us by the end of the year," said John C. McCabe, Blue Shield president, "but a patient may have his prescription filled at any pharmacy."

All "legend" drugs (those which federal regulations bar from sale without a doctor's prescription) are covered, except contraceptives. The plan includes insulin.

No limitation on the drug amounts exists other than not more than a 34-day supply of any prescription may be bought at any one time. Prescriptions are refillable at a physician's discretion.

Blue Shield said it is offering a variety of drug-payment plans, one of which would bind the subscriber to pay no more than the first 25 cents of the cost of a prescription.

JUST PRESENT CARD

But it said it would not write any with a larger than $2 deductible.

All a subscriber has to do at a participating pharmacy is present his Blue Shield card. Participating pharmacies will be given decals through which they may be identified.

If the subscriber is required to pay anything he will pay it at the time his prescription is delivered, and those patronizing nonparticipating pharmacies will pay the entire bill, obtain a receipt and forward it to Blue Shield.

Missed Ghetto Youth, Report Says

City's Summer Rec Program Hit

The city's summer recreation program was not effective in the poorer sections of the city, according to a report submitted to the City Commission last night.

Power Firm's Rule Is Rigid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When an electric bill goes unpaid for more than 90 days, the Virginia Electric Power Co. shuts off the service — even if the service is an aircraft navigation aid.

Kenneth Lyons, president of the National Association of Government Employers, which represents air traffic controllers, reported Tuesday the FAA failed to pay an electric bill.

He said the power company then shut off a localizer directional aid (LDA) at Washington's National Airport for four hours Monday.

The LDA is a landing navigation aid and is not necessary for a safe landing in the clear weather that prevailed at National Monday.

Submitting the report was Arthur Dunlap, southwest unit supervisor for the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity. He reported on the Urban Outreach Program of the YMCA held this summer. With him was an aide in the program, David Barker, who said, "There is a gap in assistance to youth in the ghetto area."

Baker said 1,000 youngsters had been contacted during the summer in the program to provide recreation. In his opinion, the extensive efforts of the city parks and recreation department during the summer did not reach a significant number of children in the more blighted areas of the city.

Dunlap termed this a lack of communication and urged more personnel to be assigned to public information roles, such as that held by Police Sgt. Frederick Wirth, community relations officer.

In other business the commission:

- Approved $23,350 for replacement of sanitary sewers in Menominee from Chippewa to Iroquois and in Iroquois from Menominee to Algonquin. The project will be in conjunction with the construction of Brewer Drain through the neighborhood. The construction firm found the sewer lines broken while installing the storm drain.
- Set two public hearings for a gas station on the southwest corner of Perry and Glenwood. The proposal is opposed by District 5 Commissioner Robert F. Jackson on the basis of traffic hazards. Hearing is Oct. 7 on rezoning and Oct. 21 on a street vacating.

- Received Planning Commission recommendation to vacate portions of two unused streets to adjacent property owners and set public hearings Oct. 21. The streets are Hollywood from Sheffield to the railroad and Dearborn east into West Kennett.

- Approved assessment roll for water main on Lehigh from Highland to Laurel.
- Approved vacating Howard McNeill from Gillespie to Warner for Hirambee Inc.

FBI Baffled by Burglary in Watertford

Investigators in the Pontiac office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are still baffled as to how burglars got into a Watertford Township savings and loan office and escaped with $33,000 in cash, checks and valuables.

An FBI spokesman said they have made no arrests following the Saturday night burglary of a branch of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 4422 Dixie.

Burglars used a welding torch, investigators said, to cut through a 6-inch-thick vault door, crawled through, and took $7,000 cash and $26,000 in travelers' checks from the vault. They also broke into about 100 safety deposit boxes and took valuables from them. Investigators reported.

Several fingerprints were found around the vault area and are being checked for identification, the spokesman said. Wires to the branch's burglar alarm were cut. There were no signs of forcible entry.

Introducing the 1970 Buicks.

Three of 36 great new Buicks.
Three of the finest Buicks ever.
Built with all the care and craftsmanship possible.
Built with product integrity.
Right down to the fine details.
As a few of these fine details will prove.

Every 1970 Buick has a new cooling system that should never ever overheat. • Every 1970 Buick equipped with a V8 engine has an exclusive carburetor time modulated choke control. It will make for easy starts in any weather. • Every 1970 Buick is equipped with fiberglass belted tires as standard equipment. • Every 1970 LeSabre, Wildcat, Estate Wagon, Electra 225 and Riviera has an exclusive suspension system called AccuDrive. Never has handling been easier. • All the 1970 Buicks have the look that makes people look twice.

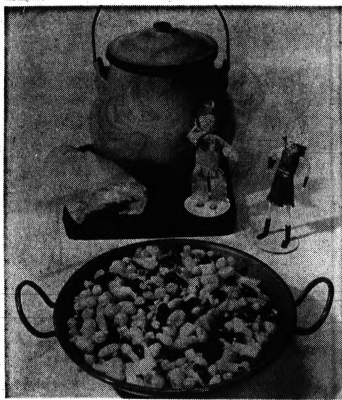

No wonder Buick owners will keep on buying Buicks. Buicks are automobiles you can believe in.

Something to believe in.

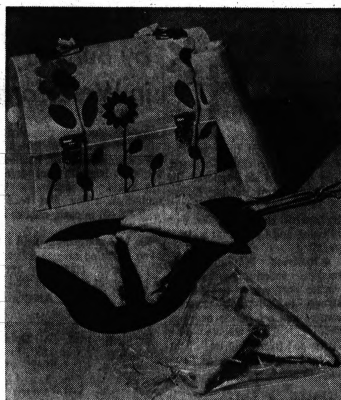

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

MIXED BEAN SALAD

PEANUT BUTTER AND JELLY TURNS

They're Plentiful, Too

Peanuts Are High in Protein

Food Editor, The Pontiac Press
Show me a house where there are children, and ten to one, you'll find a jar of peanut butter. How does one raise a family without it?

Although many adults scorn peanut butter and consider it kid stuff, it is a highly regarded food. In fact, it was invented by a doctor in St. Louis who wanted a nutritious, easily digested high-protein food for his sanatorium patients. And persons who cannot eat peanuts can often tolerate peanut butter.

PLENTIFUL

Peanuts and all peanut products are on the September list of plentiful foods. And with the high cost of meat upsetting all budgets, it's good to know about some substitutes.

Actually, peanuts are legumes like peas and beans. But interestingly enough, they do not develop their fruit in the same manner. After the plant flowers, the flower stalks bend down into the earth and develop underground the seed pods we know as peanuts.

Peanuts have long been on the list of accompaniments served with curry. They can replace walnuts or pecans in apple or cabbage salad. Or they can add flavor and crunch to a bean salad.

MIXED BEAN SALAD

1 package (8-ounce) frozen lima beans
1 can (1-pound 4-ounce) red kidney beans, drained
1 can (1-pound 4-ounce) chick peas, drained
1 can (1-pound) wax beans, drained
½ cup peanut oil
6 tablespoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup cocktail peanuts
¼ cup chopped onion

Cook lima beans according to package directions. Drain and cool. In a large bowl combine lima beans with kidney beans, chick peas and wax beans.

Mix together peanut oil, vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper. Pour over beans and toss lightly. Chill several hours.

Just before serving add cocktail peanuts and chopped onion. If desired, serve on lettuce leaves. Makes 10 to 14 servings.

Spanish peanuts (the little round ones) combine with popped corn are melted together in chocolate sauce to make a delicious sweet snack.

JOLLY POPCORN-NUT LOG

Assemble the following ingredients:

6 ounces (¾ cup) of unpopped popcorn.
¼ pound of butter or margarine.
1 cup (6 oz. package) semi-sweet chocolate chips.

1 — 10% ounce package miniature marshmallows.
2 cups of Spanish peanuts.
2 cups chopped pecans or almonds.

Pop the popcorn and place in a large bowl. Melt margarine, chocolate and marshmallows together in top half of double boiler.

While pouring melted chocolate sauce over popped corn, add nuts gradually, and mix thoroughly until the entire mixture is coated with the chocolate sauce. Spoon the mixture into a half-gallon paper milk carton, packing it tightly.

Place in refrigerator, and in about an hour your popcorn-nut log will be firm and ready to slice. Cut lengthwise along all four corners of the carton, and peel the carton away. Slice and serve.

Don't try to mix the popcorn and nuts together before you add the sauce. The nuts are heavier than the popcorn and have a tendency to drift to the bottom of the bowl. To keep them evenly distributed throughout the mixture, add the nuts (about a half cupful at a time) as you pour the chocolate sauce, mix, add sauce, add nuts, mix, etc., until all the nuts are used.

Sliced portions are marbled in white and brown.

CRACKER SNACK

Another snack calls for peanut butter. Make sandwiches with saltine crackers and creamy peanut butter. Blend ½ teaspoon water into ¼ cup marshmallow creme. Spread on top of sandwiches. Garnish with peanut butter candies.

Peanut butter takes on another role when it turns up as a filling for pastry. As a change from peanut butter and jelly turnovers, send PB and J Turnovers in the lunch box.

PEANUT BUTTER AND JELLY TURNS

1½ cups unsifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup (1½ sticks) margarine
3 tablespoons cold water
¾ cup creamy peanut butter
¾ cup jelly
Water

1 egg, beaten
Combine flour and salt in a bowl. Cut in margarine with a pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add water and mix thoroughly. Form pastry into a smooth ball. Wrap tightly in plastic wrap. Chill 30 minutes.

On a lightly floured board, roll dough to a 16x12-inch rectangle. Cut into twelve 4-inch squares. Divide peanut butter evenly among squares, spooning onto center of each square. Repeat procedure using jelly. (Do not mix peanut butter and jelly together).

Moisten edges of squares with water. Fold squares in half forming triangles. Pinch seams tightly to seal. Place on lightly greased baking sheets. Brush

Serve Pears Many Ways, Enjoy Season

Homer deemed pears the gifts of the gods. Today we still hold pears in high esteem and use them in more ways than Homer could have dreamed.

MINTED PEAR COMPOTE

Tint a lemon-orange-sugar syrup with green food coloring. Add unpared, quartered pears and bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit until tender, about 30 minutes. Remove pears. Season syrup with a subtle accent of peppermint oil.

Spoon syrup over each portion of hot pears. Garnish with green maraschino cherries.

BAKED PEAR MACAROONS

Pare, halve and core fresh pears. Coat outside with a crumbly mixture of melted butter, brown sugar, cinnamon, honey and bread crumbs. Place pear halves, cut side down, in a greased baking dish.

Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees Fahrenheit, until tender. Serve hot with chilled cream.

PEAR-ARITHMETIC

1 lb. — 3 to 4 medium-sized pears
1 lb. sliced or diced — about 2 cups
2 to 2½ lbs. — 1 quart canned 1 lb. or 50 lbs. — 20-25 quarts canned

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 20 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. Makes 1 dozen turnovers.

Cheese on Fruit

Fruit and cheese have always been a good combination — here's a new twist: blend 1 cup dairy sour cream, ¼ cup shredded Cheddar cheese, ¼ cup drained crushed pineapple and 1 tablespoon lemon juice; chill and serve on combination fruit salad.

When a new meat product is placed on the market, it can be labeled as "new" for only six months according to government regulations.

Egg on Waffles for Breakfast

Try this hearty breakfast suggestion. Prepare frozen waffles in toaster or oven according to package directions. For each serving top two waffle sections with a poached egg and hot cheese sauce; serve with Canadian bacon or ham and waffles in toaster or oven according to package directions. fruit.

BLUEBERRY SOUR CREAM MUFFINS

Muffin Mix Gets Good New Taste

Bake blueberries inside corn muffins, made the easy way with your favorite corn muffin mix. Add sour cream for that "extra something" that will make these corn muffins taste even better.

It's good to keep an extra package of corn muffin mix in the cupboard, for throughout berry season, your family will beg to have Blueberry Sour Cream Muffins again and again.

BLUEBERRY SOUR CREAM MUFFINS

One-half 18-oz pkg. (1 1/2 cups) corn muffin mix
1 egg beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup fresh blueberries
1/4 cup dairy sour cream

Heat oven to hot (400 degrees). Place mix, egg, milk, blueberries and sour cream in medium-sized bowl; blend only until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. Fill greased medium-sized muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake in preheated oven about 15 minutes or until golden brown. Serve piping hot with butter. Makes 9 medium-sized muffins.

Dip for Vegetables Made With Relish

Fresh crisp vegetables served with a flavorful dip is a lovely alternative to tossed green salad. This Garden Vegetable Dip is a tangy combination of dairy sour cream, mayonnaise and Worcestershire sauce.

Garden Vegetable Dip
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons piccalilli or pickle relish
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine ingredients. Serve with cucumber spears, green onions, or celery sticks for dipping. Makes 1/2 cup.

Livens Fish Salad

Dressing's Different

An attractive salad to serve is a Seafood Salad made of chilled fish, shellfish and tangy pimiento-stuffed olives. The dressing is an interesting combination of mayonnaise, chili sauce and spices.

SEAFOOD SALAD—SPANISH DRESSING

2 pounds raw shrimp, cooked, shelled and cleaned
1 package (1 pound) frozen crab meat, thawed and drained (3 cups)
1 pound fillet of flounder, poached
1/2 cup small pimiento-stuffed olives
Spanish Dressing*
Lettuce
Lemon slices and pimiento-stuffed olives

Halve the shrimp and combine with crab meat, flounder and 1/2 cup of olives in large bowl. Add 1 cup of the Spanish Dressing* and toss. Chill.

Mound salad in lettuce-lined salad bowl or serving dish. Garnish with lemon slices and olives. Serve with remaining dressing. Makes 10 servings.

*Spanish Dressing. Blend together 1 c up mayonnaise, 1/2 cup catsup, 1/4 cup chili sauce. Add 1 teaspoon each: brandy, vodka, port and dry sherry. Stir in 1/2 teaspoon each: Dijon-type Worcestershire, curry powder, paprika, lemon juice and dash coarsely ground pepper; chill. Makes 1 1/2 cup dressing.

Moist Cold Keeps Greens in Best Shape

Green leafy salad vegetables require moist cold conditions to retain their optimum food value and flavor; however, too much moisture is conducive to the growth of various bacteria.

Leafy greens and head lettuce store best in the film bags or wrap and held in the crisper of the refrigerator just above freezing, 32-37 degrees. If you receive film wrapped lettuce, the film should be left on and the head put into the crisper until ready to prepare.

In storing other salad greens, rinse with cool water, remove any soil or discolored leaves. Drain the leaves thoroughly. Put in film bag or wrap and store at low temperatures.

AWAY FROM FRUIT

Keep the greens away from fresh fruit, because the leaves have a tendency to absorb fruit flavors. An additional hazard to fruit and vegetable quality is the ethylene which is evolved by certain fruits, such as apples, pears, and tomatoes as they ripen. Do not store lettuce in the same crisper, as the ethylene causes a functional disorder in lettuce known as "russet spotting."

The principal cause of deterioration, particularly in fruits and vegetables, is moisture loss. Many of the new refrigeration systems cool both the refrigerator section and the freezer section by the same single source of cold. The chilled air is forced through a damper control to provide proper temperatures for normal food storage in both sections.

Contact with air lowers the quality of many foods, as air carries odors and causes loss of moisture. Due to the "cross current" of air between sections make certain that strong flavored foods are wrapped in good vapor-moisture-proof material or placed in see-through covered containers—or the ice cubes may taste of the foods stored in the refrigerator section.

If you do not have a crisper, cover greens with plastic wrap or use one of the new plastic lettuce keepers.

Fatalities Spur Traffic Controls, Safety Features

CHICAGO (AP) — Seventy years ago — Sept. 13, 1899 — real estate dealer H. H. Bliss, returning from a visit with a client late in the afternoon, stepped down from a trolley bus at the corner of Central Park West and 74th Street in New York City and was struck down by an automobile.

Bliss died a day later, becoming the nation's first recorded traffic statistic.

A year later, a nurse was hit by a car on Christmas day in New York City and became statistic No. 2.

Since the deaths of Bliss and the nurse, 1,710,676 persons

Program Helps GIs Reenter Civilian Life

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP) — Six force course, by police officers. When they get out of the service, they immediately join with the Air Cavalry Division. Now, almost a civilian trained.

again, he spends half of each day climbing poles and attending classes in preparation for a job with New York Telephone Co.

Surgeon of Columbia, S.C., is one of 1,600 men at this large Army base receiving training or counseling for careers in telephone repair and installation, law enforcement, hotel management or many other civilian fields.

The training is part of Project Transition, a nationwide program to train soon-to-be-discharged GIs for civilian jobs. The program was started in 1967 under former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara. As of June, 71,500 GIs had received training and 448,000 counseling, the Defense Department said.

Surgeon's involvement in the program is perhaps typical.

'SEEMED GOOD'

"I was kind of wondering what I wanted to do on the outside," he said. "I wanted to learn something of everything, and I wanted to get to New York. I heard about this from some guys I know and it seemed like a good deal. So I signed up."

Surgeon, 21, is typical of the trainees, most of whom are draftees or first-term enlistees. But one of his classmates, Air Force Staff Sgt. James Rock Jr., of Henderson, Calif., is in another category.

Rock, 40, is stationed at near-by McGuire Air Force Base. He's retiring after more than 21 years in uniform.

"About 18 per cent of the trainees are retiring personnel," said Peter Montovani, director of Project Transition at Ft. Dix. "They're often the most bewildered about what to do in civilian life because they're the farthest removed from it."

HAS FRIENDS THERE

"I'm going back to California," Rock said. "I have friends out there who work for the phone company, and they like it. So here I am."

Project Transition is, in fact, a civilian apprenticeship program. The GIs who finish courses with, for example, the telephone company, are referred to phone companies in their home areas for immediate placement.

The same applies to trainees in other occupations, who are instructed primarily by representatives of private industry or, in the case of the law enforcement, by police officers. When they get out of the service, they immediately join with the Air Cavalry Division. Now, almost a civilian trained.

have been killed in auto accidents — a number almost to equal to the population of Houston.

That figure is larger than the combined number of Americans killed in World War I, World War II, the Korean and Vietnam wars — 1,564,434.

Fifty million persons — more than the combined populations of New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Boston, Denver, San Francisco, Atlanta, Baltimore, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Seattle and Detroit — have been injured in traffic accidents since 1899.

Before the advent of the car in America, the British Parliament passed one of the first motor vehicle laws. The owner was required to have a man walking in front of each vehicle waving a red flag to warn of its approach.

The first set of U.S. traffic regulations was issued in New York City in 1903. Drivers were licensed in 1908 and 1909 in New England and the process gradually spread across the nation.

As regulations were made, traffic control devices started to appear.

The first control signals appeared in 1914 in Cleveland. In 1920, New York City built traffic control towers similar to the stands now used by bobbies in the Bahamas.

Houston had the first installation of electrically interconnected signals at 12 intersections in 1922. The first flexible progressive system, covering 40 signals, was installed in the Chicago Loop in 1926.

The regulations and the signals remained far behind the drivers and the deaths, and in 1924, traffic deaths were approaching 20,000 a year.

IN-CAR SAFETY FEATURES

As deaths mounted, vehicle laws began to include safety factors for automobiles. Items such as seat belts, turn signals and other automotive equipment appeared after ordered through legislation.

The nation has 102.1 million registered vehicles, and 105 million licensed drivers. The increasing traffic death rate — it was 55,550 in 1968 — has resulted in charges leveled at both the industry and the government.

A major critic has been consumer advocate Ralph Nader, generally credited with aiding passage of the 1966 Highway Safety Act through his lobbying and a book, "Unsafe At Any Speed."

Nader has said that traffic deaths could be reduced by as much as 75 per cent through the design of a car which could withstand more readily the impact of another auto.

Right-Wing German Campaigner Denies His Party Is Nazi

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Adolf von Thadden braced his arms against the podium, looked down on a shouting crowd and proclaimed in a hoarse voice that his "is a democratic party."

"Lies, lies," chanted 100 demonstrators in the hall.

Von Thadden persisted, battling the noise: "Nothing in our program justifies the charges we are for a dictatorship or against any racial group."

"Nazis out, Nazis out," roared the demonstrators.

DISASTROUS TOUR

Von Thadden's two-day campaign tour of the populous state of Hesse was turning into one disaster after another.

He opened the trip quietly the day before in Neustadt, a town of 1,200 on the banks of the Main River. He expressed confidence of success in a bid to put his National Democratic party (NPD) into the West German parliament.

In five years the NPD has gained seats in seven of 10 state parliaments and has become the strongest rightist party in Germany since the fall of Adolf Hitler's Third Reich.

Now he was stumping the country calling for a rebirth of German national pride and demanding law and order to stop "Red terror."

Von Thadden insists his party will win 8 to 12 per cent of the votes in the Sept. 28 election and at least 40 seats in the 496-member parliament.

Many of Bonn's leading politicians predict the NPD won't clear the barrier requiring a party to muster 5 per cent of the vote in order to qualify for parliamentary membership. But if the NPD is successful, they fear, shock waves around the world will raise concern about Germany's future.

Von Thadden, at 6 feet 3 and 220 pounds, is an imposing figure, even in a rumpled brown suit. He is 48.

After serving as a junior officer in World War II, Von Thadden joined the German Reich party which put him and others there four years, but the party's fortunes declined and the NPD was founded in 1964. In 1967 Von Thadden supplanted Fritz Thiesen as party leader.

RALLY BANNED

He held a news conference on his arrival in Neustadt. A big outdoor rally planned for that night in Frankfurt had been banned by city authorities, who said they feared violence from left-wing students.

"A party must have the right to hold political meetings," Von Thadden said. "The newspapers won't take our ads and we must use public meetings. These bans are making it impossible to conduct our campaign on an equal basis."

In Darmstadt, more than 300 police with dogs and a water-cannon cordoned off the square where Von Thadden had scheduled a speech.

His special podium was in place with its reinforced glass cage to protect him from missiles. "You have to concentrate to keep a poker face when the glass is smeared with eggs," Von Thadden remarked.

STUPID NONSENSE

An hour before he was to speak, police announced the mayor had cancelled the rally because of public danger. Von Thadden's supporters accused the police of "using the law to wreck democracy."

That night Von Thadden lollied in a chair at the Oberursel home of his Hesse state to see, this theory will break a chairman, Ulrich Kaye. He downed and fade way.

called the Darmstadt ban "stupid nonsense."

He denied he was discouraged by a day in which he met only a dozen voters. "These events will show the people what is going on," he said.

"We are a democratic state and nobody wants to repeat nazism or dictatorship," he added. "All this talk about the dreadful damage NPD entry into the Bundestag will cause because they have not shared in general German prosperity."

EMOTIONAL PLAY

"When the NPD is in the Bundestag for one year, under the bright light for all the world to see, this theory will break a chairman, Ulrich Kaye. He downed and fade way."

while the NPD is not necessarily neo-Nazi, it still plays on suspect emotions by claiming that Germany should be restored to its 1937 borders, by a state unable to act and by his insistence on a strong German army and strong anti-Communist appeals.

Von Thadden rejects the theory that the NPD gets its support from unreconstructed Nazis and those dissatisfied because they have not shared in general German prosperity.

"If we relied on such voters we couldn't get enough votes," he says. "There is no economic crisis, and full employment ... behind the glittering curtain of our economic prosperity a dissolution of authority is going on."

Many Germans believe that Von Thadden believes West again.

Germans now "are uncertain about whether all they built up during 24 years is endangered by a state unable to act determinedly and boldly against these Communists."

He considers the Socialist German Student Association and other left-wing groups "all absolutely under the tight control of Communists."

The next day at Hanau a crowd of several hundred demonstrators broke up Von Thadden's speech.

Several carried red flags and a few were dressed to resemble Che Guevara. "We sat back and allowed the Nazis to come to power in 1933," said one. "We can't allow that to happen again."

Commenting on the visit of the former U.S. commander in Vietnam to Swiss military installations last week, Zurich's Sonntagsjournal said Westmoreland "will go down in history as the man who bombed all towns and villages of North Vietnam, as the commander who tolerated and covered up (prisoner) torture scandals, as the man who had rice crops poisoned rather than risk having the enemy capture them."

Even though those who demonstrated against Westmoreland's visit "are a relatively small but numerically not irrelevant part of the people," Sonntagsjournal added, the fact remains that for the great majority of Swiss, Gen. Westmoreland is not the guest they would like to have.

Other comments about America from abroad this week concerned the kidnapping of U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick in Rio de Janeiro, racial crises in the cities, conformism by wives of U.S. executives and New York City.

PROVOCATIONS
Rome's newspaper Momento Sera said the kidnapping and hijacking of U.S. airliners reinforced it of "those boxes who are forced to bear all kinds of provocations without ever reacting because they are under a sort of prohibition against using their own strength."

"Washington — has what is called 'the forbidden punch' and cannot take punishment in all cases... Why? For a very simple reason: The ill-fated war in Vietnam has caused a psychological knot in the leaders of the United States" that cannot be undone until they are free of the "bog of Vietnam."

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda noted racial disturbances in several U.S. cities and said, "In Fort Lauderdale, the authorities threw into action against the Negroes an armored 'monster machine' that can simultaneously erupt fire, water and tear gas."

"No monster machine, however, can withstand the growing dissatisfaction and anger of the 23 million Negro population for the deep-rooted socio-political factors that underlie its indignation not only remain in force but are being aggravated."

BEING CURTAILED
Pravda said programs that fighters for civil rights won in the early 1960s now are being curtailed, and "President Nixon himself has admitted that the administration's failure is nowhere so tragically obvious as in its attempts to help the poor (which includes millions of Negroes.)"

Milan's newspaper Avvenire said wives of U.S. executives in California "have a common denominator: conformism. Their role is the same in all cases: to exude a standardized charm the 'good life' guarantees... a role which is not among the easiest."

No matter what the size of her family, Avvenire continued, "the executive's wife cannot let her body or spirit wear out. She must always look fresh and young."

A British political correspondent making his first visit to the United States wrote of New York

"The most remarkable thing about New Yorkers is their sang-froid. They travel on commuter trains with windows shattered by bricks, bullets, and beer bottles thrown at random by total strangers who may or may not be trying to establish some abstruse point of socio-economic theory."

and "To an Englishman it seems tedious."

Striptease Big in Budapest

Nightclubs Catering to Eastern Tourists

BUDAPEST (UPI) In a small club off Lenin Boulevard, the customers — mostly tourists from Russia and other eastern countries — sit drinking Hungarian brandy and western Scotch.

Suddenly the lights dim. The pianist strikes a chord. A lissome dancer emerges in a spangled costume — and starts to take it off.

It's a sign of the times. Budapest has become the Communist world's striptease capital.

Budapest is justly famed for its restaurants but otherwise has not been much of a bright-light town since the Communist party took power. Its transition from no lights to dim lights began three years ago when the manager of the Europa Restaurant decided to stage a striptease act to attract customers.

FOLLOWING ROME
Official criticism ended when a woman party leader said, "If the Vatican can allow striptease in Rome, the party can allow it in Budapest."

Since then, at least 26 clubs have sprung up, ranging from the stately Moxie Rouge to the tiny Pipacs, from the Emke on Lenin Boulevard to the Hello Bar, which has telephones on every table.

All the clubs, of course, are owned by the state, and strippers must pass a dancing examination before they may take it off in public.

For a while, newspaper advertising for the sexy shows was open and explicit. Letters to the editors complained, and the clubs now submit advertising avoiding any reference to striptease.

GAIETY LACKING
"But everybody knows what they are," one Hungarian said. "It is not exactly the wildest striptease in the world. The costumes — spangled cups and G-strings — are reminiscent of Minsky's, although the solemn atmosphere lacks Minsky's air of gaiety."

At the Pipacs (pronounced pea-patch), the girls fill their arms and legs frantically in what is known in the trade as "exotic dancing," although it is neither dancing nor very exotic. Between the acts, a little old lady in rolled stockings comes out to pick up the discarded gear.

Jim Haviland, former Kettering High School football star, has the feeling that "Someone upstairs is on my side."

Haviland, an all-county back in 1964, is the only Vietnam war veteran on the University of Miami football squad.

He has a war record sandwiched in between his freshman year at the Florida school in 1965 and his return to the squad for the 1969 season, but he prefers to talk about his activities with the Campus Crusade for Christ rather than as a machine gun sergeant in the Marines.

"You see a lot more men praying in Vietnam than you do in the states," he says, "and they are open about their praying . . . in no way embarrassed like the young people in our country."

When Haviland left for the service after his freshman year he took his Bible with him when he went overseas.

NEAR KHE SAHN

He was stationed near the bloodiest area in the fighting at Khe Sahn and he said, "When a night like my first one in combat ends, and you are aware of the fact that it could have been your last on earth, you kind of look up to the heavens and say, 'Thanks for letting me know what I am to do about my faith.'"

"You realize then that at times when you depend on people, they will let you down. But if your strength is coming from your faith, you feel He will never let you down."

The 22-year-old Haviland is vying for a job in the defensive secondary, and considered the No. 2 left cornerback with the Hurricanes.

At Kettering Jim was one of the school's most outstanding athletes, having been a letterman in football and track for three years. His top accomplishment in track and field was his pole vault victory in 14-feet at the Mansfield Relays.

During his prep days under coach Jim Larkin, Haviland had one more touchdown called back in his senior year than the total of 14 he had scored.

It was John Gordy, former lineman of the Detroit Lions who recommended Jim to Miami assistant coach Leroy Pearce.

When he returned to Miami for the spring of this year, Jim took part in spring drills and moved into strong contention for a job in the defensive backfield.

During the past summer he worked in an area motel and just as he eluded death on the battlefield he became even more convinced that someone above was looking after him.

His job as a motel desk clerk called for him to work from 11:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m.

A couple nights after he started his job, he reported for work and learned that just a half hour earlier, the desk clerk before him had been robbed and murdered.

BIG SQUAD

Haviland, at 5-11 and 180 pounds, is a member of a Miami team which has 34 lettermen, 32 sophomores, six junior college transfers, 11 red shirt players and three non-lettering returnees from the 1968 squad.

This makes him one of 86 players competing for the job. But Haviland seems to do pretty good with the odds stacked against him. He has something else going for him . . . his faith.

WELCOME PAL — Detroit Tigers third baseman Don Wert receives congratulations from second baseman Ike Brown as he crosses the plate after hitting his 14th home run of the season in the fourth inning of their game with the New York Yankees in New York last night. Surprises in Final Grid Pro Cuts

By the Associated Press
The San Francisco 49ers, in a surprise move, cut center Bruce Bosley, a 14-year National Football League veteran, Tuesday and went one under the 40-man limit.

The 49ers also cut linebacker Jim Snidecki of Indiana, fourth-round pick in this year's draft pending the outcome of a draft physical and cut Momoilo Gavric, kicker from Yugoslavia; Tommy Manning, running back from Jackson State, and defensive end Tom Holzer.

Washington sprang a mild surprise by cutting veteran running back A.D. White.

Cowich Vince Lombardi also dropped receiver Sony Randle and offensive tackle Jim Boeke.

Whitfield, 5-foot 10, 220 pounds, gained 72 yards on 17 carries during pre-season games.

Randle, a nine-year NFL veteran, three times caught more than 60 passes in a season and twice scored 15 touchdowns.

FORMER LION
Boeke, a 10-year veteran, was picked up by the Redskins after being placed on waivers by Detroit.

The Minnesota Vikings claimed veteran quarterback Zeke Bratkowski on waivers from Green Bay, but it was expected Bratkowski would retire and remain with the Packers as a coach.

In other cuts, the New Orleans Saints waived veteran linebacker Steve Stonebreaker to make room for defensive back Bobby Thompson who was picked up from Detroit.

Stonebreaker, an eight-year veteran,

Closed Circuit TV Planned by MSU for Three Sellouts

EAST LANSING (U) — Michigan State will show closed circuit telecasts of three sellout football games in Jenison Field house this fall.

Showings are planned of the Notre Dame game at South Bend on Oct. 4, the Ohio State game at Columbus Oct. 11 and the Michigan game in Spartan stadium Oct. 18.

"All have been sold out for months," said athletic director Biggie Munn. "Pressures have been great from people seeking somehow to see the games. It is hoped these telecasts will ease these pressures and satisfy the fans."

Ticket sales will be limited to alumni, faculty and students.

MSU still has to receive clearance for the campus telecasts from the Big Ten and NCAA. No complications are expected, however, since such telecasts have become common in recent years.

The screenings in Jenison Fieldhouse will be set up to accommodate about 8,000 people and will be in full color.

Tigers Roll in 9th but Falter in 13th

NEW YORK (AP) — You'd have thought the pennant was at stake the way the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers went at it Tuesday night.

The Yankees finally turned an unlucky ninth inning into a lucky 13th and nipped the defending world champions — who actually are out of the race and past defending anything — 7-6 on a sacrifice fly with the bases loaded by Bobby Cox.

Jerry Kenney started the winning rally with a single off Daryl Patterson, the seventh Detroit hurler. Thurman Munson, after failing to bunt, looped a hit-and-run single to right and Kenney raced to third. Pinch hitter Tom Shopay was intentionally walked and Horace Clarke filed to short center before Cox came through.

The Tigers return home today to begin a two-game stand with the last place Cleveland Indians, the last meeting of the two teams this season. Mike Kilkeny, 5-5, is scheduled to start for the Tigers against the Indians' Mike Paul 5-9.

OFF HOOK

John Hiller, who has a 5-0 lifetime record against the Yankees, was in line for the loss until the Tigers took him off the hook for the second time this year with three runs in the ninth.

Hiller relieved starter Earl Wilson in the first after the right-hander strained his pitching shoulder.

Cesar Gutierrez marked the tying tally with a orb-out single and went to second on a wild pitch. Pinch hitter Jim Price got an infield hit.

Mickey Stanley singled to center, scoring Gutierrez and making the score 6-4, but former Tiger Ron Woods threw pinch runner Dick Tracewski out at third. It turned out to be a game-saver when Jim Northrup followed with his 25th home run, knotting the score and kayning Yankee starter Al Downing.

SOLO HOMERS

Earlier, Detroit's Don Wert and New York's Clarke hit solo homers.

The Yankees continued their youth movement by playing newcomers Frank Tepedino in right field and Dave McDonald at first base. Each had a hit.

Marichal Pitches Giants to Lead in N.L.'s West

By the Associated Press
Bacon and eggs . . . ham and swiss . . . lettuce and tomatoes. None of them go together as well as Juan Marichal and Candlestick Park.

Marichal, the high-kicking right-hander, pitched the San Francisco Giants into first place in the National League's hectic West Division race Tuesday night, beating Atlanta 2-0 on a four-hitter.

It was routine, almost automatic for Marichal, who is virtually unbeatable in Candlestick Park. The victory gave him a 13-1 record at home this season. He is 19-10 over-all, meaning away from home, Juan's mark is a somewhat mediocre 6-9.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, Chicago tripped Montreal 5-4, San Diego drubbed Houston 8-1, Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 9-5 and Los Angeles swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati, winning the opener 2-1 and taking the nightcap 3-2 in 12 innings. New York's game at St. Louis was postponed by rain.

EIGHTH SHUTOUT

The shutout was the eighth this season for Marichal, tops in the National League, and his sixth at Candlestick. He has allowed just one run in his last 45 innings pitched at home.

Hot-hitting Willie Mays drilled three hits and doubled home one of the two San Francisco runs. The other came on consecutive second inning singles by Ken Henderson, Jack Hiatt and Hal Lanier.

It was the eighth consecutive complete game for Marichal and his 25th straight going effort in the last 33 starts.

The victory moved the Giants back in first place and completed a four-day move from fourth place to first in the West.

LA's sweep moved the Dodgers into second place, one-half game behind the

McNally Helps Cause With Hit in 1-0 Victory

By the Associated Press
You'll have to give Dave McNally credit for one thing—he'll do anything to shake off a losing streak... even get a hit.

McNally, who had produced only six hits all season and an anemic .071 average going into the game, singled home the only run as Baltimore nipped the Washington Senators 1-0 Tuesday night.

It gave the left-hander his second straight victory—the first time since his 17-game two-season victory string was snapped Aug. 3 that he's managed to string together that many triumphs.

Meanwhile, Harmon Killebrew, who was 6-for-6 in his 17-game two-season victory string was snapped Aug. 3 that he's managed to string together that many triumphs.

That increased the Twins' lead over the A's to 10 games in the AL West and cut Minnesota's lead over the Red Sox to 10 games in the AL East.

It was a magic number for clinching the crown to just six.

In other games, Cleveland whipped Boston 5-2, Kansas City nipped Seattle 2-1, and the New York Yankees topped Detroit 7-6 in 13 innings and the Chicago White Sox won a doubleheader from California, 7-4 and 3-2.

McNally, who won his first 15 games this season, boosted his record to 19-4, although he needed Ed Watt to get the last Senators out.

His clincher was a bloop single to center in the sixth, scoring Merv Rettenmund, who had singled. McNally also sent Howard to the fence in left for his liner with the bases loaded and two out in the second, and led off the fifth with a double after he didn't score.

Killebrew, who was 6-for-6 with four homers and 12 RBI in the three games with the A's before his sixth inning strikeout, lofted his three-run homer into the left field pavillion in the first inning.

It raised his major league-leading RBI total to 134 and put the stocky slugger just two away from the AL homer lead, totals of Oakland's Jackson and Howard.

ADD TO ROUTE
John Roseboro, with his third homer, and Leo Cardenas, No. 10, came up with consecutive solo homers in the fourth to add to the rout.

The Twins then put it off with six runs in the fifth, when Rod Carew drove in two runs with a triple, Cesar Tovar with a single and winner Jim Perry, 19-4, and Cardenas one each with singles.

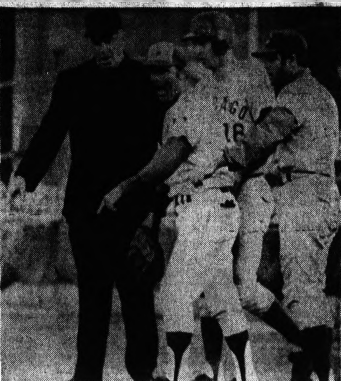

Despite the sweep of the series with their only contender, Twins Manager Billy Martin refused to talk about a title yet.

"After six more wins or thereabouts, we'll start thinking about Baltimore," said the freshman skipper.

Wally Bunker checked Seattle into four hits and drove in the winning run with a double in the eighth in lifting his record to 11-10—making him the Royals' winningest hurler.

Ken Harrelson's three-run homer, his 20th, also helped snap a 2-3 tie and gave Cleveland its victory over the Red Sox. Jose Cardenal, No. 10, also homered for the Indians, while Rico Petrocelli hit his 50th for Boston.

Catcher Duane Josephson, in the starting lineup for the first time since June 21, hit the first pitch tossed to him and also scored a pair of runs in leading the White Sox to victory in the nightcap. Rookie right-hander Bart Johnson earned his first major league triumph in the opener.

POINT OF ORDER — Montreal Expos' Ron Fairly (center) shouts at umpire Tom Gorman in a discussion over a call at first base during the Montreal-Chicago Cubs game in Montreal last night. Adding points themselves are Cubs' coach Joe Amalfitano (5) and Glenn Beckert. Cubs won, 5-4.

WAITING — Shortstop Jim Fregosi of the California Angels is ready to apply the tag to Chicago's Bill Melton for the second half of a double play during the second inning of their first game in Chicago last night. The play started when Bob Christian grounded to Angels' first baseman Roger Repox who stepped on first and then fired to Fregosi in time to nail Melton. Chicago won both games, 7-4 and 3-2.

Vanderbilt Speed to Test Michigan Defense

Loss of Phil Seymour Hurts

Berkley Defensive End
Out 3 Games

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The ability of the University of Michigan's injury-plagued defense to handle the fleet, passing-oriented attack of Vanderbilt may be the decisive factor when the two teams open their college football seasons against each other at Ann Arbor Saturday.

"That is the biggest question," Bo Scheembecker, Michigan's freshman coach, said Tuesday. "Can the defense do their job against their defense?"

Scheembecker says Vanderbilt's speed is the biggest cause for concern.

"They're very quick and well-coached," he said. "I think they can be a very good passing team."

"Their backs are very quick. It isn't a power offense."

TRIPLE OPTION
Vanderbilt uses the triple option offense, and when junior quarterback John Miller chooses to throw one of his prime targets will be split end Curt Chesley.

Chesley, who stands only 5-foot-10 and weighs 178 pounds, had 48 completions for 543 yards as a sophomore last year.

Facing Vanderbilt will be a Wolverine defense much weakened by the absence of Phil Seymour of Berkley, an All Big Ten defensive end who will be out for at least the first three games with an injury.

Scheembecker learned Saturday that sophomore defensive back Dave Zuccarelli will be lost to the Wolverines for the entire season for because of a broken ankle.

When practice opened, Scheembecker was most concerned about his offensive unit, but says, "I've since switched."

SEYMOUR OUT
"Our defense hasn't come along this fall like I've suspected. The loss of Seymour was a blow. He's a great leader."

On offense, Scheembecker plans to start sophomore Glen Doughty at the running back slot occupied last year by Big Ten record breaker Ron Johnson.

Junior quarterback Don Moorhead, whom Scheembecker calls "the key to our offense this year," will be leading the Wolverine's attack.

Moorhead was the backup man last year for Dennis Brown, who led Michigan to an 8-3 season.

Veteran Garvie Carr will get the nod to start at fullback with either Preston Henry, a sophomore, or John Gahler, a senior, filling the wingback slot.

First Foe for MSU

Injuries Thin Ranks of Huskies

SEATTLE (AP)—Had Jim Owens known that he would be known now, the coach of the University of Washington football team likely would not have resigned as the school's athletic director only this year.

Instead, Owens might have been sorely tempted to retain Owens himself as his defense needed a new look. Like many other coaches, Owens headed into his 13th year at the Huskies' helm with his biggest team ever, a team born at the University of Houston and nurtured by Darrell Royal at the University of Texas.

The Huskies veered to victory over the Alumnus last spring and all looked well. Then injuries took their toll. Harvey Blanks, an All-America candidate at running back suffered a broken ankle and probably will sit out the season. Ken Lee, who would have started at linebacker, is out for the year with a broken knee.

That was bad enough; the loss left the Pacific-8 Skywriters with the impression Washington would finish just one notch out of the conference cellar.

Then, yesterday afternoon, The Seattle Times reported that Bruce Jarvis, the biggest huskies center is suing the university in an effort to force it to readmit him to classes this fall. The 6-foot-7-inch 245-pound junior failed to register by the deadline date, and the school has turned down his petition for entrance.

If Jarvis cannot attend classes this fall, he will not be eligible to play football. And, the Vee-T is an offense that demands huge, mobile interior linemen on offense.

All in all, the Huskies may be in for a Vee-T long afternoon in East Lansing.

Oklahoma First Foe

Badger Drills Satisfying

CHICAGO (UPI)—Iowa's any degree of satisfaction with Ray Nagel and Wisconsin's players' performance.

"It was a good practice," Coats said. "We got a lot of work done."

Nagel said he had only one spot unsettled on the team.

"I think we are pretty well set on the starting lineups for the first game, but we figure on trying several combinations, especially on defense," Nagel said.

Illinois spent 45 minutes practicing in driving rain while Northwestern revamped its secondary for Saturday's opener against Notre Dame because of an injury to defensive halfback Jack Austin.

ROUGH WORK
Cold, damp weather didn't hurt Indiana's Hoosiers during their rough work against Kentucky formations in preparation for Saturday's opener.

Hoosier Coach Johnny Pont said he plans one more day of hard work before tapering off Thursday and Friday.

At Minneapolis, coach Murr Warmath named Phil Hagan as Minnesota quarterback when the Gophers entertain Arizona Saturday.

Warmath said there was a "good possibility that four sophomores would start the game, one on offense and three on defense."

The Big Ten champions, Ohio State, held a light double football drill Tuesday night getting ready for its Sept. 27 opener against Texas Christian.

The team also reviewed film of TCU's scrimmage that ended the spring drills.

No. 9 Retired by Aces
QUEBEC (AP)—The Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League said Tuesday they will retire jersey No. 9, the number worn by Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League when he played for the Aces.

MSU Polishing Gridiron Attack

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State University polished its offensive and defensive maneuvers in a non-contact drill Tuesday in a light drizzle.

It was the first time the Spartans practiced on the artificial turf during rain, and the players reported no problems during the nearly two-hour session.

The Spartans open their football season against Washington Saturday.

Bill Dawson, first string defensive tackle, returned to the lineup. He injured an ankle in a workout Saturday.

Dawson alternated at the defensive position Tuesday with Ron Joseph.

Oakland Harriers to Open Season at Home Course

Oakland University's cross country team opens its season Friday at home against Albion College.

Oakland coach Henry Kennedy has only two veterans around whom he must build. They are Mike McCarren of Dearborn and Randy Peetrip of Pontiac. Letterman Marc Dutton of Royal Oak is out with a broken toe.

The schedule:
Sept. 19, Akron race; Sept. 25, Hillsdale College and University of Toledo races; Oct. 2, Saint Joseph's College; Oct. 9, Saint Joseph's College; Oct. 16, Saint Joseph's College; Oct. 23, Saint Joseph's College; Oct. 30, Saint Joseph's College; Nov. 6, Saint Joseph's College; Nov. 13, Saint Joseph's College; Nov. 20, Saint Joseph's College; Nov. 27, Saint Joseph's College; Dec. 4, Saint Joseph's College; Dec. 11, Saint Joseph's College; Dec. 18, Saint Joseph's College; Dec. 25, Saint Joseph's College.

Giants Lead in NL's West

San Diego dealt another jolt to Houston's winning hopes, tagging the Astros with their sixth consecutive loss. Tommie Sisk coasted on a seven-hit night with Nate Colbert and rookie Ron Stroman slamming home runs.

"The loss left the fifth place Astros six games behind the Giants with just 16 games remaining."

Chicago used home runs by rookie Oscar Gamble and veteran Billy Williams to beat Montreal. The victory combined with the Mets' rout at St. Louis, moved the Cubs back to within four games of New York.

The Mets' magic number remained at 11.

Pittsburgh used a 13-hit attack to beat Philadelphia.

Test of Knee for Mahovich

Red Wing to Get Surgery Decision

FORT HURON (AP)—When Frank Mahovich, veteran Detroit Red Wing forward, works out with his teammates today, it will be decided whether an operation on his left knee is necessary.

Mahovich returned to the training camp after his left knee was examined at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor Tuesday. At the Red Wings' pre-training camp physicals last Friday, team physician Dr. John Finley discovered a "floating body" in his left knee.

General Manager Sid Abel said the operation is a possibility.

Mahovich is suffering no discomfort and participated in all workouts until Monday.

Mahovich plays on Detroit's No. 1 line with Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio.

COLORFUL GULLS

A gull is a gull. That's how most people felt about the scavenger birds seen around the nation's waterways. Only the dedicated bird watchers seem concerned whether the whitish birds are Franklin, Herring, ring-billed or one of the many other species prevalent.

However, a couple of university researchers are vitally interested in the movements of gulls and have started a study project. Help of lakes and ponds to be designated as trout lakes open to the study.

Big Fish Dream Finally Comes True for Howard Dell Jr.

Curb Angling Not Like This

Waterford Youth Nets 'Biggest' Fish

It has been 10 years since Howard Dell Jr. fished for "a big one" from the curb in front of his Waterford Township home.

He was only three years old then, and everytime the hydrants were flushed Howard would grab a fishing pole and dip a line in the water that flowed along the curbing.

"He always dreamed of getting a big one," said his father, Howard Sr.

ALONG BOTTOM

His father also scored, landing a 16½-pounder. Both were using spinn slowly reeled in along the bottom. The Dells still live at 201 Draper where Howard Jr. got his start with some curbside fishing.

The chinook action has tapered off in Lake Manistee, but many 20 pounders still are being caught off the harbor entrance and in the Muskegon shipping channel. Drifting with spawn or nightcrawlers on the bottom is the best method.

Some coho are appearing in Platte Bay. However, the big runs aren't expected for another week. Tawas Bay salmon fishing remains poor with the coho flitting in and out of the bay.

The big movement toward the Tawas River is expected in two weeks. A few steelheads are being taken from the Manistee River below Tippy dam and in Lake Huron off the Whitney Drain.

Dog Training Classes Set at Area Sites

Dog obedience training classes in the area will get under way tonight with a demonstration and registration at the CAI building in Waterford Township at 8 p.m.

Classes are scheduled at other schools starting on various dates. Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club handles the classes. All dogs must be six months or older and a veterinarian certificate of vaccination is required.

Formal classes will start at the CAI next week and interested persons are requested to leave their dogs home tonight. The same procedure will be followed at the other schools with the exception of the advanced novice class at Troy.

Following is the list of other schools, demonstration and registration dates and phone numbers for additional information:

Place to Rough It

MICHIGANME UP — Deer Lake, some 25 yards over the water from an also-huge log tract which includes the McCormick Tract.

"Overland vehicles of all type may not enter unless authorized by the supervisor, except that ice and snow vehicles under 42 inches in width are allowed when there is a uniform snow cover of six inches or more."

He built a foot trail for solitary hiking into the Huron Mountains Club property north and, reputedly, built another one when he met another hiker on it.

"Camping is permitted but, please, no camping or campfires within 100 feet of the water's edge of any lake or stream? junk and destruction, that's why."

"Please leave a clean camp and carry out all you packed in."

A study committee of interested citizens and leaders, many of them local, is being formed now for a meeting in December to help the service draft plans for the tract's management and the use to which it will be put. Meanwhile, it's just there.

Because there are no provisions to handle the public, no campgrounds, no launching ramps, no toilets or other facilities, the gate is kept locked to protect the buildings, forest cover, "clear cut" as it was and is, from uncontrolled use of the surrounding terrain and public use at this point.

However, the tract is open to those who choose to do it the old-fashioned way.

Son Tells of Murder Suspect's Brain Surgery Plot for Girl

CHICAGO (AP) — Joel L. Sal-kin, 25, of Chesterton, Ind., told a Circuit Court jury Tuesday that he buried the body of a young woman whom he said his father shot in a Chicago warehouse.
Sal-kin was charged with murdering Ella Jean Scott, 18, formerly of Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 4, 1967, in the warehouse of the elder Sal-kin's firm, Biological Products Co.

Young Sal-kin told the court that his father shot the young woman because she refused to go along with a plan of his to have her undergo brain surgery.
Purpose of the surgery, he said, was to have been to wipe out her memory, whereupon the elder Sal-kin would adopt her as his daughter. The witness said the operation was to be performed in an unspecified hospital in Michigan.

FLOWN FROM VEGES
The son testified that Sal-kin had Miss Scott fly in from Las Vegas, Nov. 4, 1967, apparently to present his proposition, and that after she refused to go along with it he dragged her, put her into his car and drove to Michigan.

The elder Sal-kin became frightened because he would be unable to explain the girl's drugged condition if stopped by police, the son said, and added that it was this which caused his father to return to Chicago with the girl.
Young Sal-kin said he saw Miss Scott's body lying in a pool of blood Nov. 5. He said he and his father put the body in a steel drum, then washed the floor to remove traces of blood and covered the floor with used automotive grease.

He said that he took the body to the family farm in Indiana
Nov. 6 and buried it in a shallow grave at his father's instruction. He said also that his father instructed him to bury the young woman's clothing and other possessions.

Young Sal-kin said that he had met Miss Scott in the spring of 1967 and that he began living with her, planning to be married to her later.
The witness testified that his father suggested that the couple move to the family's Chesterton, Ind., farm in June 1967 and that a "close relationship" developed between the father and Miss Scott that summer.
He said he saw his father and Miss Scott "kiss and hug each other" and that his father gave him a "big" check, which was during which time to one was allowed in the family home.

Young Sal-kin said his projected marriage to Miss Scott was canceled after his father discovered that she had been married in Air Force Staff Sgt.
Samuel Mumma, stationed in Omaha, Neb.

'Drunk' State Judges Target

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission has agreed to file its first formal complaint against a judge who is accused of being drunk while on the bench. The commission's chairman, John J. Gillis, of the state court of appeals, refused yesterday to give the judge's name until the complaint is formally filed in the commission's Detroit office in the middle of next week.

But he said the judge was a Gillis said the judge would be given an opportunity to resign rather than face the hearing. If he resigns, he said the judge's name would never formally be made public.

If the complaint is issued, it would be the first since the commission was formed early last spring. Gillis said, however, that a judge in western Wayne County resigned before charges were filed against him.

Michigan Gov. George
Thomas E. Brennan asked the commission to investigate the judge.
Gillis said the complaint against the judge carried a unanimous vote of seven of the commission members present at the time the case was brought up.

Following filing of the complaint, a hearing will be scheduled before commission members or a judge appointed by the Supreme Court. A full report of the hearing is then sent to the commission which will make recommendations for action to the Supreme Court.

POSSIBLE ACTION
The recommendations could include removal, suspension, censure or forced retirement.
The commission may take action against a judge for misconduct, chronic drinking, sexual, incompetence, laziness, physical or mental disability or other behavior deemed prejudicial to the administration of justice.

MEMBERS ANNOUNCED
Harris announced the council's makeup on the eve of a conference of Democratic state chairmen today, and a meeting of the national committee Thursday.

He appointed 20 Democrats, among them three governors, three senators, three members of the House and two big-city mayors, to the council executive committee.

Harris said 30 prominent Democrats later would be named members at large and six committees will deal with policy and issues in major areas.

He said this would give the Democrats an agenda for the years ahead, and perhaps "a climate of public opinion conducive to Democratic victories" in 1970 and in 1972.

8 Airline Passengers Are Stricken

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Eight passengers arriving last night on a New York to Columbus Trans World Airlines flight were treated at a hospital for symptoms of food poisoning.

The eight who became sick soon after flight 559 left Kennedy International Airport, were taken to a local hospital for treatment and later released.
Oxygen was administered to one woman passenger before she left the plane.

A spokesman for St. Anthony's Hospital where the sick were treated said their illness would be difficult to pinpoint because the symptoms "were so slight."

"It could have been food poisoning, bacteria," he said. He said bacteria in shrimp or salad dressing eaten on an earlier Pan American Airways flight from Manchester, England, to New York might have been responsible.

All eight were in a business tour group of 168 who flew from England on the chartered Pan American flight.

Dem Policy Council Ready for Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee's new policy council is finally ready for business—and it may provide Hubert H. Humphrey with a platform from which to challenge President Nixon's performance.

Humphrey, the party's 1968 presidential nominee and a possible candidate again in 1972, is chairman of the panel assigned to keep vigil on the Republicans.

Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, the party chairman, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the 1968 nominee for vice president, are vice chairmen of the Democratic policy council, which has been some eight months in the making.

Muskie and even Harris are considered possible 1972 candidates for the Democratic presidential nod.

cil's makeup on the eve of a

COURT-ORDERED HEARING
The June file was asked for Hoffa's attorney's during the recent U.S. Supreme Court-ordered hearing here on whether government eavesdropping violated the Teamster leader's rights during his jury tampering trial and made the trial invalid.

Hoffa is serving an eight-year federal prison sentence on the jury tampering conviction. His three codefendants, King,
Thomas Ewing Parks, and Larry Campbell have completed their three-year terms.

The jury tampering case grew out of a trial of Hoffa in Nashville in which the jury became deadlocked.

ence he had come to Paris to make "necessary contacts" for the release of the men, and to press for the release of two Israeli citizens held by Syria since the hijacking of a Trans World Airlines plane Aug. 29.

He declined to say who he had met with in Paris other than to say he had been received at the French Foreign Ministry. He said he had not dealt directly with either North Korea or North Vietnam.

OPPOSES CRASH PLAN — Rocket pioneer Dr. Werner von Braun (left) presents Philadelphia's Golden Globe Club award to fellow scientist Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia. Percy Slaying Still a Mystery

CHICAGO (AP) — It's been three years since Valerie Percy was murdered in an elegant North Shore mansion, but the state's chief investigator in the unsolved case is still looking for
"that one little thing."
"That might be all we need." just one little thing that ties to another little thing." Robert Lamb, an Illinois state police corporal and head of the three-man team assigned to the Percy investigation, said in an interview.

Lamb joined the case a week after Valerie, 21, the twin daughter of Sen. Charles H.
Percy, R-Ill., was stabbed and just before dawn Sept. 18, 1966.
"We've talked to burglars, home invaders, sex offenders, as well as relatives, friends and anyone who might have known Valerie," Lamb said, "but we don't know who did it or why."

STILL GETS TIPS
Lamb still receives letters and telephone calls from persons with theories in the case.
"Some we check out, most of them we don't," Lamb said,
"but no one has really gotten it."

Valerie Percy was killed in the bedroom of a $200,000 English country home overlooking Lake Michigan in Kenilworth, the smallest of the exclusive North Shore suburbs.
Her killer cut through a screen and glass patio door, climbed an 18-step circular staircase, bypassed two other bedrooms, stabbed and slashed Valerie 10 times and clubbed her to death with an arrow-shaped metal rod.

NOT SEXUALLY ATTRACTED
An autopsy showed that she was not sexually attracted.
Lorraine Percy, 49, the senator's wife, was disturbed that night by what she thought was the sound of a glass knocked off a night table. Later, she heard it, it's not a secret anymore and moans and walked down the stairs to find her daughter dead.

Percy has since sold the mansion and moved. Most of his time is spent in Washington.
Lamb holds a hope that the crime was committed by a home invasion gang of two or more persons.

"If one person did it and never told anyone, maybe no one would ever know. But if two people knew who the murderer was and walked down the stairs to find her daughter dead."

A Look at TV

Debbie Good, but No Lucy

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK — There is nothing dreadfully wrong with NBC's new "Debbie Reynolds show" except that we have seen it all before when the comedy reins were held tightly by an expert. Miss Reynolds, sad to report, has chosen to make her television debut in a series that is a faint carbon of "I Love Lucy."

Instead of old Fred and Ethel, Debbie has her sister Charlotte and her husband. They wrangle a lot. Instead of Ricky, Debbie has a tall, handsome, aristocratic husband, Debbie years to get a newspaper job, which is the excuse for the broad comedy and mugging.

In the first episode Tuesday, Debbie learned that the governor was going to play golf locally and her scheme was to find out his political plans by disguising herself as his caddy.

You can imagine the hilarity when Debbie was caught in her facial disguise—mustache and sideburns—while wearing a pink chiffon peignoir around the house. Then, of course, was the mad sequence when she was caddyding and did not know a driver from a spoon. Debbie Reynolds is a talented and hard-working actress, but Lucille Ball is not.

Debbie's premiere show was followed by the return of "Julia" for its second season. Diana Carroll's show arrived with a new character, Dr. Cheyenne's 92-year-old uncle, who is filling in during Julia's boss' vacation. The senior Dr. Cheyenne—Lloyd Nolan in a white wig—added a slapstick note to the series. Back at Julia's apartment, there were the same appealing children and, in subplot, a little lesson in human relations.

"The Dionne Warwick Special... Souled Out," to be broadcast tonight on CBS, is a colorful, tuneful hour that brightens the living room.

The hour, seen in a preview, compressed a lot of interesting music in a wide range of moods and styles. Miss Warwick is most effective, singing numbers that range from "Allie" to religious children and, in subplot, a little lesson in human relations.

The hour closes with a medley, mostly of Burt Bacharach songs, as the composer accompanies Miss Warwick and Campbell.

The patrons of the opera came from a champagne dinner in the San Francisco Art Museum across the mall from the opera house.

They had barely settled into their seats when the curtain rose on a champagne party on stage, which stage director August Everding enlivened by having a corps of waiters pop the corks and send them flying across the stage.

The Reagans were taken backstage by Adler after the second act and met Toni Businger, who designed the production.

There are differences between the expert and the average player. One is that the expert has put in many hours studying the game so he will bid better. Another is that the average player is apt to be too conservative at times and too optimistic at others.

Experts go wrong here also, but the expert is either an incurable optimist or an incurable pessimist. He doesn't overbid one hand and underbid the next. The most important single difference is that the expert makes the best percentage play on all occasions. The ordinary player doesn't worry about possible bad brakes and blames it on bad luck when things go wrong.

Today's hand is an example of how an expert takes precautionary tricks anyone else would. This is his four-trick contract. West opens the king of spades which opens the king of spades and continues with the ace and seven. South ruffs the third spade and is ready to attack trumps.

THE BETTER HALF

"I'm afraid I'm un-American—by my very existence. I violate the Declaration of Independence's claim that all men are created equal."

LeMans Sport

full of fun

Surprised that Pontiac's setting the style for the umpteenth straight year? Of course not.

But you may be a bit dazzled to find out that Pontiac finally outdid Pontiac.

Take Bonneville. From the strong, new bumper grille to the standard 455 under the hood, it's a rouser.

Inside: instant limousine. So luxurious some of the traditional big boys are already screaming.

One of the nicest things we could have done for Grand Prix's luxury was to leave it alone. We did. But we popped in a 455 V-8 for you to order. (It's an old Pontiac proverb that luxury should have power.)

Enter LeMans Sport. A brand-new series in the Pontiac stable. Wait'll competition sees it pull the new 400-cubes-under-the-hood trick. We'll show you that one if you check the right box on the order form.

By now, you've spotted our '70 GTO. But maybe you haven't heard it. A sound so tough we've thrown modesty to the wind and dubbed GTO "The Humblar."

This is Pontiac '70. And we figure this is the way driving's going to be. So why wait?

It's at your Pontiac dealer's now.

PONTIAC RETAIL STORE

NEW CAR SHOWING TOMORROW, FRIDAY, AND SATURDAY

This is the way it's going to be. Pontiac starts the seventies with a bold new stroke. In styling. In power. If you get the feeling these cars are ahead of their time, you just got the word on the 1970 Pontiacs.

This is the way it's going to be.

GRAND PRIX

They're trying to copy the Grand Prix now. They're trying. But Pontiac built the 1970 Grand Prix with so many exciting features, you can bet it'll be the leader for a long, long time. Find out why. See us for a test drive soon.

BONNEVILLE

Here's the finest full-size luxury car Pontiac has ever built. The 1970 Bonneville. More power. From the standard 455-cu.in. V-8. More luxury in the new interiors. More car for your money. Pontiac Bonneville.

EXECUTIVE

Want to see how to get complete luxury without a completely ridiculous price tag? Check out the 1970 Pontiac Executive. Full-size Wide-Track stability, Full-size Pontiac luxury. And wait'll you see how we're dealing!

CATALINA

They did it again. Made the 1970 Catalina the biggest bargain of the year. Pontiac's kind of luxury. The stability that only comes with a Wide-Tracker. All this at a price that will make your budget sigh with relief.

GTO

The 1970 GTO. We call it The Humber. It'll have those other so-called performance cars begging for mercy. Powered with 400 cubes of go. The Humber. It all adds up to GTO. And that means performance, baby.

GLENWOOD PLAZA CORNER NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

On the move: The Chevrolet '70s.

Our big one:

1970 Caprice. Eighteen shining feet of rich looking, rich riding, incredibly comfortable automobile. Here's what we did.

We took an already elegant grille and gave it an even more expensive look.

We put on new wheel covers that are matched to the color of the car.

We installed a vigorous new 250-hp engine so you'll move with all the more assurance.

We made power disc brakes and fiberglass-belted tires on 15-inch wheels standard.

We came up with new things you can add. Headlights that stay on until you're safely in the house for example.

We did all that and more. And we did it just for you.

Now aren't you going to feel guilty if you don't go down to your Chevrolet dealer's and drive a new Caprice?

September 18 is the big day.

THREE COLORS

THREE COLORS

Our new one: Monte Carlo

People have told us it looks like five or six thousand dollars.

And naturally we're flattered.

But let's understand each other right off.

The Monte Carlo is not an expensive car.

Not compared to other fine cars anyway.

The revealing truth is, if you can afford a Chevy, you can afford a Monte Carlo.

Which by itself is pretty good reason to run right out and buy one. But wait. There are more.

For instance you'll be able to say to your friends and neighbors: "You wouldn't believe what a great car my Monte Carlo is to drive."

It's true.

dimensions make Monte Carlo one of the world's more maneuverable luxury cars. (Wheelbase is 116 inches.)

And its 350-cubic-inch V8 makes it one of the more spirited.

Deep twist carpeting, electric clock,

(Obviously the base car is not very base.)

Monte Carlo.

Chevrolet's whole new field of one.

The first car of its kind even us guys who work for a living can swing.

CHEVROLET

On The Move

THREE COLORS

Our tough one:

1970 Chevelle SS 396.

Tough means we built even more car into the car.

We built steel guard beams into the doors.

The tires have fiberglass belts in them now to help keep them from squirming.

There's a beefy new back bumper with a black resilient panel and built-in taillights.

There are 12 new colors.

And 25 additional horses under the hood.

You can order our new Cowl Induction Hood (shown) with the big inlet door that opens and shuts automatically to deliver extra air to the engine.

(The pins are included.)

And if you order a radio we'll throw in one of our new hidden antennas.

As for the power disc brakes, the taut suspension, the F70 by 14 white-lettered wide ovals, the sport wheels, the black accents, the SS badges:

They're all part of the SS package.

And your Chevy dealer has it all.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

Nixon Fares Poorly on Top Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has acknowledged that virtually all his major legislative proposals will be held over by Congress until next year, Republican sources say.

At a lengthy session yesterday with GOP congressional leaders, Nixon put his legislative proposals on a green-light, red-light basis, the sources said.

In the green-light classification were bills the President will press for immediate action. But these generally were measures which Congress must consider this year since they extend programs already operating.

The red-light group designed proposals Nixon is said to feel won't be acted on until next year — including most of his major recommendations.

Among the measures rated in the red light category:

- Postal reform creating a self-sustaining corporation to take over the mails.

- Crime-fighting measures including bills on organized crime, illegal gambling, and immunity from prosecution so testimony can be pried from reluctant witnesses.

Among the other Nixon measures already assigned to the red-light list are his welfare, manpower and revenue sharing proposals; drug control; mass transit development; unemployment insurance; and voting rights revision and extension.

Among the bills rated on Nixon's green-light program were foreign aid, export control, food stamps, housing, aid for hospital construction, student loans, education aid, obscenity control and coal mine safety.

WANTS TAX ACTION

Nixon also told the leaders he wants action this year to extend the income surtax, and provide tax-relief and reform.

Senate Democrats have refused to approve a long-term surtax extension without tax reform. The latter issue is now before the Senate Finance Committee.

Nixon also was quoted as urging swift action on draft reform — an unlikely prospect.

Laird Indicates Upcoming Draft Calls to Be Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird indicated today draft calls for the months ahead will be reduced as a result of the new troop reduction in Vietnam and an over-all 20,000-man cutback in U.S. armed strength.

"The Vietnamization program will have a very substantial effect on programmed draft calls for the months ahead," Laird told a news conference.

The defense secretary said he will inform the Selective Service System Friday of the planned changes and will urge Congress that same day to enact reform legislation designed to remove inequities in the draft.

PRESIDENT NIXON

Related Story, Page A-2

Although Laird refused to say flatly there would be draft cuts, his words carried that clear intent. Sources hinted the October draft call of 29,000 probably will be reduced.

STILL HOPING

Administration sources indicated meanwhile President Nixon still hopes he may be able to move before the end of the year to boost U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam to about 180,000 men.

The sources said the manpower situation would be reviewed again, presumably before 1970.

In a related development, press secretary Ronald Ziegler told newsmen yesterday suspending the draft in among the factors being considered in formulating Selective Service reforms. But White House aides quickly said such a suspension is not an immediate prospect.

Earlier yesterday, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the acting Senate Republican leader, said after a White House meeting there is a strong disposition to press for draft reform this year.

But he conceded the likelihood of congressional action is slim.

Last Tests Near on Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of defense spending, after losing all attempts to halt or cutback new weapons programs, have opened their final drive to amend the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., presented an amendment scheduled for a vote today, to restrict U.S. military aid to Laos and Thailand to supplies and equipment — not combat troops.

Also awaiting a vote was a compromise version of a proposal for a check on defense contract profits.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the armed services committee, said he hoped these votes might mean an end to Senate debate on the measure which has been before the chamber since July 7.

SLAPPED DOWN

The Senate yesterday slapped down the last attempt to cut a major military project, voting 56-31 against an amendment to trim funds for the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft.

Flash

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today he will ask Congress for an increase of 10 per cent in Social Security payments, effective next April 1.

County Board Split on Employee Raises

By JEAN SAILLE

Raises for county employees are almost certain to spark debate when the County Board of Supervisors holds its hearing on the 1970 budget Oct. 2. The budget must be adopted on the first Monday in October — in this case, Oct. 6 — according to the board's rules.

An effort to head off a split failed yesterday as members of the supervisors' personnel practices and finance committees met for further salary consideration.

Following sometimes bitter and personal exchanges between members of the two units, the personnel practices committee rejected by a 4-2 vote an attempt to cut the pay-increase package 15 per cent.

Low Co. R-Wirom, had urged the $125,000 trim to hold pay raises to 8.5 per cent, he said. He said such action would placate tax payers and keep county government from contributing to inflation. Only Fred Houghten, R-Avon Township, voted with Co.

NEGOTIATED RAISES

The committee also rejected an attempt to put a 8.5 per cent ceiling on negotiated raises.

As the pay package stands and as it will be offered for board consideration, increases average 10 per cent. Figures presented to the committees show, however, that the raises in fact vary from 3 per cent to 28 per cent.

Finance committee member Carol O'Brien, D-Pontiac, objected to pay increases for political appointees and proposed across-the-board $2,000 increases for the five members of the corporation counsel's staff.

Houghten said O'Brien had personal reasons for his continuing attacks on the corporation counsel's office.

'SHOULD SET PATTERN'

Christian F. Powell, R-West Bloomfield, claimed negotiated wages (still being bargained) should set the pattern for other wage increases.

Powell said the present economic upturn is 6 per cent and charged that the contemplated 10 per cent raise average is too high.

William L. Mainland, D-Milford Township, and Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county board of auditors, claimed only cuts made now would be unjust. In order to keep good county employees, the increases should be retained as proposed, they said.

Proposed raises are justified in view of wages in private industry and other governmental units, they added.

'SOME INEQUITIES'

Delos Hamlin, R-Farmington Township, said he found some inequities in the package.

He said the committee might choose individual areas in which to cut, but "changing salaries now would be like changing assessments — you'd never know where to stop."

Murphy noted the county's ability to pay the proposed increases, but he issued a warning about future ability should the tax rate continue to be cut by the County Allocation Board.

Varner to Open OU Observance

An address by Chancellor Durward B. Varner today at 2 p.m. will open Oakland University's 10th anniversary year observance.

Varner, who has guided Oakland since its inception, will comment on the university's history, its present state and its future goals, in an all-university convocation of an expected 2,000 persons in the Sports and Recreation Building.

Other highlights in the yearlong celebration include seminars, classes and conferences on "The University in Crisis," a study of current problems in higher education. Nationally known guest lecturers will participate along with members of the university community.

Dry Wells—Who Bears Burden?

By DICK ROBINSON

Who bears the burden when the well runs dry?

The contractor for a county sewer project which is drying up the wells? The county? Or is the burden put on the residents affected?

You're right. It's the residents who have to stand the loss, according to the law. The homeowner has to face the inconvenience of not having running water in his home while thousands of other unaffected residents will benefit from the sewer project.

This is the situation which has hundreds of residents in the area of Eagle and Woodhull Lakes, near the boundary between the two townships boiling.

Pumping of water from the ground to lines which could freeze in colder weather. Up to 1,000 people in the path of the project could yet be affected.

What makes matters worse is that little legal recourse is available unless affected residents go all out financially and try challenge existing laws all the way to the state or even the U.S. Supreme Courts, a lawyer for the residents says.

The residents would have to raise some $5,000 and have five years of patience before the issue could be settled.

ONLY MORAL RIGHT

Only moral right — not the law — is on the side of the waterless homeowners, lawyers explain.

A few years back, a Farmington Township resident whose well went dry sued a contractor who was pumping water from the ground for a sanitary sewer.

The well owner won the case in Oakland County Circuit Court but the case ultimately went in favor of the contractor in the Michigan Court of Appeals.

In other words, you can't, under the law, expect a contractor who is installing a public facility that will benefit many

Ford Prices Up Average $103

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. announced today it is increasing car prices an average of $103 on its 1970 cars, following General Motors Corp. which boosted its prices an average of $125 last week.

Ford also announced it was supplementing its 12-month, unlimited mileage warranty on new cars with an optional 5-year 50,000-mile warranty on new cars for an additional $15. GM's 5-50 power train warranty is included with the purchase of the car, but its one-year warranty on the entire car is limited to the first 12,000 miles.

The price of the new Ford Maverick was unchanged at $1,095 and the warranty on that model was continued at 12 months or 12,000 miles.

Ford said the 1970 prices represented a gross increase of 3.6 per cent over 1969.

The "pure" price increase, however, Ford set at $51 or 1.7 per cent. The rest of the increase represented new equipment added as standard on the 1970 models.

Family Assistance Unsettled

Welfare Plan Still Snarled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's welfare reform proposals remain lodged at the White House in their 11th draft because of kinks in the family assistance program.

Congress probably will have to wait another two weeks before receiving a final, detailed package of welfare legislation, government sources say.

The President said last month he wants to replace aid programs for dependent children with a sweeping family assistance program that would provide minimum aid of $1,600 a year to a needy family of four.

And for the first time, a working family of four with income less than $3,820 a year could receive a cash supplement under the proposal.

PLAN BEING SLOWED

White House drafters say completion of the family assistance plan is being slowed by such questions as these:

- What amount of personal assets can a family retain and still be eligible for aid?
- How many times a year must a family report its income for recomputation of benefits?

- How long should a person have to wait for his first monthly check after making application?
- What value should be placed on the land of a farmer who has had several years of crop failure?

Robert M. Ball, commissioner of the Social Security Administration, which would run the program, said one thing that is certain to be needed is a massive publicity campaign similar to the one that brought 20 million elderly persons into the Medicare system.

In addition, he said, his agency would have to expand store front operations in big cities and mobile offices in rural areas.

The biggest task would be informing sometime illiterate people of family assistance and bringing them into the program, Ball said.

Nixon 'Hoping' to Set More '69 Pullouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon still hopes he may be able to move before the end of the year to boost U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam to about 100,000 men, administration sources indicate.

Even as Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird prepared for today's public detailing of Nixon's Tuesday order withdrawing at least another 35,000 troops from the war zone by Dec. 15, the sources said the manpower situation would be reviewed again, presumably before 1970.

Added to 25,000 brought out during the summer, the new Nixon decision will raise to 60,000 the number of American servicemen pulled back under the administration program to reduce the U.S. battle role and shift it gradually to the South Vietnamese.

Last June, Nixon told a news conference he hoped to do even better than former Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford's call for withdrawing 100,000 U.S. troops by the end of 1969.

AVOIDING COMMITMENT

Asked about this, White House sources said yesterday they did not indicate Nixon was abandoning his hope.

However, Nixon is trying to avoid committing himself to any future cuts or to tying himself to any specific dates for reviewing the war situation.

However, it is known that top Pentagon authorities have been thinking in terms of a possible additional pullout decision every three or four months.

Under such a concept, it is possible Nixon could take another hard look in late November or early December and

$3-Billion Suit Filed Against Auto Makers

CHICAGO (AP) — A taxpayers suit seeking $3 billion in damages was filed in U.S. District Court yesterday, charging three auto manufacturers with conspiring to prevent research, development and installation of antipollution devices for cars, trucks and buses.

General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., and Chrysler Corp., were charged with conspiring since 1955 to violate the Clayton Act of 1914 and the Sherman Act of 1890.

Named as conspirators but not defendants were American Motors Corp., Checker Motor Co., International Harvester Co., Studebaker Corp., Kaiser Jeep Corp., Mack Trucks, Inc., and the Automobile Manufacturers Association, Inc., of Detroit.

The suit was filed by two Chicago aldermen, Paul T. Wigoda and Thomas E. Keane, as private citizens, on behalf of all Chicagoans. Keane is City Council floor leader for Mayor Richard J. Daley.

COULD COLLECT DAMAGES

Atty. Jerome Torsen said if the suit is successful, Chicagoans who have suffered ill-health or property damage due to air pollution will be able to collect damages.

The suit maintains manufacturers agreed not to compete for patents, that research should be noncompetitive and that pollution control devices would be installed only after delays.

It also charges manufacturers agreed to delay introduction of new exhaust control measures and to restrict publicity on pollution devices.

The suit maintained that in 1969 there are almost a million and a quarter cars, trucks and buses operating in Chicago and that the greatest portion of air pollutants would have been eliminated if the defendants had not conspired to delay the use of antipollution devices on these vehicles.

Dry Well Owners Cancel Picketing

A plan to picket a county sewer project tomorrow to protest dry wells in areas of Waterford and Independence townships has been called off.

Planning to picket were members of the Waterless Homeowners Association, residents whose wells went dry when excavation of pipe installation for the giant Clinton-Oakland Interceptor were pumped out.

However, a spokesman said today cooperation on emergency water supplies had been promised by the county department of public works, and the picketing has been called off.

2nd Group of Women Paris-Bound

PARIS (UPI) — The wives of four American airmen downed over North Vietnam played cards in their hotel rooms today and waited for a summons from Hanoi officials who they hope will say whether their husbands are dead or alive.

The Hanoi delegation agreed to a meeting after the women paid a surprise visit to the Communists' suburban villa yesterday.

No time or date was set for the meeting.

The four women, who flew to Paris Sunday, in an effort to learn the fate of their husbands, were scheduled to spend only a week in the French capital before returning home to Texas.

LACKED APPOINTMENT

A North Vietnamese spokesman said the women could not be received by officials when they called on the villa because they did not have an appointment.

"But, of course, they will be received at the delegation," he said.

The Communists never have reported the fate of the men missing over North Vietnam from eight months to four years.

The women — Mrs. Bonnie Singleton, wife of Capt. Jerry Singleton, Mrs. Joy Jeffrey, wife of Capt. Robert Jeffrey, and Mrs. Paula Harkness, wife of Capt. Gregg Harkness, all of

County Board Split on Raises

'WINDFALL' PARED

He noted, however, that for the second year in a row the county's share of the "windfall" has been pared. The 1970 county tax rate will be 5.12 mills as compared to 5.28 mills this year. The funds come from the 15-mill non-voted tax all property owners pay.

He charged that school districts — which gained from the county's loss — do more to contribute to inflation than the county does.

Murphy prophesied, "The state equalized valuation is going to level off to increases of only 3 1/2 to 6 per cent per year once 50 per cent assessment is reached throughout the county. That's not enough money to put in new programs and new services."

He warned, "You can't afford to give the allocation board any idea that it can further cut county money. The $125,000 you (supervisors) save from salaries would go into the contingency fund, where it would probably be spent for something less worthwhile. Don't be penny-wise and pound-foolish," Murphy pleaded.

Viets to Take Over Defense of Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops will take over the entire defense of Saigon within the next 30 days, freeing a brigade of American paratroopers, military sources said today.

There was speculation that the 3rd Brigade of the 82nd Airborne Division would be among the 35,000 or more U.S. troops which President Nixon announced yesterday would be withdrawn by Dec. 15.

The division's other two brigades are at Ft. Bragg, N.C. The 2nd Brigade's 5,000 men have been guarding the western and northwestern flanks of Saigon. One battalion already has been replaced by South Vietnamese paratroopers.

A pol from the brigade ambushed about 35 North Vietnamese soldiers last night 22 miles north-northwest of Saigon.

State Gives 5 Firms a Break on Plans to Cut Air Pollution

LANSING (AP) — Firms in five Michigan cities have been given a chance to work out engineering plans for clearing up their air pollution problems.

The State Air Pollution Control Commission, meeting yesterday at Lansing, granted extra time to work out corrective measures to industries from Grand Rapids, Traverse City, Benton Harbor, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.

The Grand Rapids Cypsum Co. submitted a progress report, saying it is considering four different engineering proposals for pollution control.

George I. Fischer, company president, said the firm is sure it can meet a commission deadline of July 1, 1971, for solving its air pollution problem.

RENDERING PLANT

The commission was told a petition containing more than 400 signatures and numerous letters have been received about air pollution and stench created by the Northern Reduction Co. of Traverse City, a rendering plant.

The county health department also complained about the situation.

State MDs Get New Head

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — To be installed as the 104th president of the Michigan State Medical Society (MSMS) Sept. 30 is Dr. Robert J. Mason of 5801 Millerway.

Mason, a Birmingham pediatrician, will succeed Dr. James J. Lightbody of Detroit.

Mason's installation as top officer will highlight the society's annual convention at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, Detroit, Sept. 28-Oct. 2. Mason has served as president-elect during the past year. Mason is former treasurer of the Michigan branch of the American Academy of Pediatrics and past president of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce and has served as adviser of the United Foundation, the Birmingham City Planning Commission and a director of the Child Guidance Clinic.

He has been director and president of the Oakland County Medical Society, and chairman of the state association's child welfare committee and its section on pediatrics.

Hearing Adjourned on Housing Code

By ED BLUNDIN

The Pontiac City Commission adjourned for three weeks a hearing on a new housing code that night in the face of criticism by about 40 persons.

The new code would replace a hodgepodge of ordinances and state regulations and give the city a more concrete document for housing standards. More stringent enforcement rules are included.

Most speakers at last night's hearing were opposed to the document, however, calling it vague, confusing and aimed at

BIRMINGHAM — The film "Wild Rivers" will be shown at the meeting of the Senior Men's Club Friday at 10:30 a.m. at The Community House, 380 S. Bates. Discussion topic will be "Should Sex Education Be Included in our Grade School Curriculum?"

BIRMINGHAM — Arthur G. Elliott Jr. of 617 N. Woodcroft, Republican state chairman from 1965-68, was named by his successor once removed, William F. McLaughlin, as chairman of the state GOP task force on election laws.

He pointed out that the code insists on all bathroom facilities being in one room, while his firm offers divided, "fancier" bathrooms. He also said his interpretation of the code's requirement that sprinkler systems be installed in storage areas would mean his firm would have to install sprinklers throughout the house.

One speaker said more than 60 per cent of the homes in Pontiac would be in violation of the proposed ordinance. Considerable discussion centered around the city's inspectors, what powers they would have to enter a home, and what guidelines they would be using to call for enforcement.

Fielding questions were James Bates, director of planning and urban renewal; Ralph T. Florio, director of code enforcement; and Thomas Hunter, assistant city attorney.

CODE'S PURPOSE

The map explained the primary purpose of the new code is to combat blight more effectively. The city is planning several projects in connection with the office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The projects include rehabilitation of structures as well as new homes.

However, HUD regulations call for a city to have a well-defined housing code to serve as a standard for rehabilitation loans and grants and to insure high-standard new housing, the officials explained.

The commissioners directed the city staff to restudy the proposed ordinance, taking into consideration the objections and to come up with a revision for resumption of the hearing Oct. 7.

'China Crowds Call for Deaths'

HONG KONG (AP) — "Mass denunciation" meetings in Communist China are being turned into huge, hysterical-ridden people's courts that are sending persons accused of anti-Maoist activities to their death. It was reported here today.

The reports, which reputable Western sources say have been authenticated to their satisfaction, say that since early August there have been at least three such people's court sessions in Peking that resulted in summary executions.

Other reports, not considered as solidly authenticated but given considerable credence, say there have been more such sessions in Peking as well as in Canton, the South China metropolis 90 miles northwest of Hong Kong, and in Wuhan, Shanghai and Tientsin.

In the Peking sessions, the reports said, more than 30,000 people crowded into a sports stadium. The accused persons were paraded onto a platform, and Communist authorities accused them of "great and heinous crimes" against party Chairman Mao Tse-tung; his political heir, Defense Minister Lin Biao; the party; and the country.

The accused were not allowed to speak, and no one spoke on their behalf. The prosecutors asked the crowd: "Are these men guilty?"

The crowd, by that time whipped into a frenzy, shouted: "Guilty!"

"What party?" the Communist authorities asked.

"Kill them!" the crowd roared.

First Statewide Basic-Skills Test Set for 4th and 7th Graders

LANSING (AP) — This year, for the first time in history, Michigan school children will be given a statewide test to see what they are getting out of their studies.

All public school children in the fourth and seventh grades will be given a basic skills examination some time in January. It will take about two hours.

"It is actually a basic skills battery," said Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction. "It will measure the achievements of the students in reading, writing, mathematics and vocabulary."

The testing program was devised by the State Department of Education with assistance from the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J.

The tests will be given in the local schools.

Costlier Parking?

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's Municipal Parking Authority, which operates several city-owned parking garages, has asked the City Council for permission to increase fees up to 40 per cent at four Civic Center facilities. The agency wants to charge 35 cents for the first hour, 20 cents for each additional hour, $1.60 daily maximum and 41 nights, Sundays and holidays. The present rates are 25 cents and 15 cents, $1.15 daily maximum and 75 cents, Sundays and holidays.

said, is only the first step in a program to find out how well Michigan's public education program is doing.

The department also is conducting a long-range program of gathering data and an analysis of the broad goals and purposes of the schools.

"We want to be able to provide Michigan parents, educators and taxpayers with meaningful information on what the children of the state are achieving in public schools," Polley said.

Geographic areas, the background of the pupils and the financial resources of the school districts will be included with any reporting of results, he said.

will be no individual comparison or ranking of the school districts that could result in a public misinterpretation of the results.

Michael Deeb, a member of the State Board of Education, called, meanwhile, for the state to take over the job of accrediting Michigan schools.

This is done at present by the University of Michigan and the North Central Association.

Deeb called the present system "worse than a sham" because standards set do not allow experimentation and change.

ACCREDITED, BUT...

The schools should be rated on what kind of community and type of pupil they serve, Deeb said. If the local school system is found to be lacking, he said, it should be helped.

Deeb said an illustration of the present system is that in six Detroit high schools at present accredited by both agencies, more students drop out of school each year than graduate.

At another Detroit high school, Deeb said, 62 per cent of one graduating class did not even apply for college acceptance. But only per cent of

Missed Ghetto Youth, Report Says

City's Summer Rec Program Hit

The city's summer recreation program was not effective in the poorer sections of the city, according to a report submitted to the City Commission last night.

Power Firm's Rule Is Rigid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When an electric bill goes unpaid for more than 90 days, the Virginia Electric Power Co. shuts off the service — even if the service is an aircraft navigation aid.

Kenneth Lyons, president of the National Association of Government Employers, which represents air traffic controllers, reported Tuesday the FAA failed to pay an electric bill.

He said the power company then shut off a localizer directional aid (LDA) at Washington's National Airport for four hours Monday.

The LDA is a landing navigation aid and is not necessary for a safe landing in the clear weather that prevailed at National Monday.

Submitting the report was Arthur Dunlap, southwest unit supervisor for the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity. He reported on the Urban Outreach Program of the YMCA held this summer. With him was an aide in the program, David Barker, who said, "There is a gap in assistance to youth in the ghetto area."

Baker said 1,000 youngsters had been contacted during the summer in the program to provide recreation. In his opinion the extensive efforts of the city parks and recreation department during the summer did not reach a significant number of children in the more blighted areas of the city.

Dunlap termed this a lack of communication and urged more personnel to be assigned to public information roles, such as that held by Police Sgt. Frederick Wirth, community relations officer.

In other business the commission:

- Approved $23,350 for replacement of sanitary sewers in Menominee from Chippewa to Iroquois and in Iroquois from Menominee to Algonquin. The project will be in conjunction with the construction of a sewer drain through the neighborhood. The construction firm found the sewer lines broken while installing the storm drain.

- Set two public hearings for a gas station on the southwest corner of Perry and Glenwood. The proposal is opposed by District 5 Commissioner Robert P. Jackson on the basis of traffic hazards. Hearing is Oct. 7 on rezoning and Oct. 21 on a street vacating.

- Received Planning Commission recommendation to vacate portions of two unused streets to adjacent property owners and set public hearings Oct. 21. The streets are Hollywood from Sheffield to the railroad and Dearborn east into West Kennel.

- Approved assessment roll for water main on Lehigh from Highland to Laurel.

- Approved vacating Howard McNeill from Gillespie to Warner for Hirambee Inc.

FBI Baffled by Burglary in Waterford

Investigators in the Pontiac office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are still baffled as to how burglars got into a Waterford Township savings and loan office and escaped with $3,000 in cash, checks and valuables.

An FBI spokesman said they have made no arrests following the Saturday night burglary of a branch of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 3422 Dixie.

Burglars used a welding torch, investigators said, to cut through a 6-inch-thick vault door, crawled through, and took $7,000 cash and $26,000 in travelers' checks from the vault. They also broke into about 100 safety deposit boxes and took valuables from them, investigators reported.

Several fingerprints were found around the vault area and are being checked for identification, the spokesman said. Wires to the branch's burglar alarm were cut. There were no signs of forcible entry.

Youthpower Summer Project Earns $39,300 for Teen-Agers

Youthpower Inc. concluded its summer project of providing jobs for teen-agers after putting $39,300 into the pockets of youth in the Pontiac area.

There were 479 full and part-time positions filled by the youngsters and the average teen earned $123 for the summer, according to A. E. Little, president of Manpower Inc., an employment agency. The firm acts as coordinator of the project.

With the cooperation of area businesses and governmental agencies, Youthpower in Pontiac ranked seventh in the nation, despite being considerably smaller than most cities involved. Little reported.

Youths worked in such positions as summer replacements in offices and stores, hospital aides, lawn cutters and baby

Of the total, 16 won full-time status by their employers and 26 now have permanent part-time jobs to carry into the school year.

Not all the youngsters who applied were able to be placed in employment, Little reported. Some 1,002 had applied but due to the lack of job opportunities in the community just 48 percent were placed, he said.

St. Clair Bass Change Sought

The National Resources Commission will consider a proposal to change the bass season on Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River at its meeting Thursday and Friday at Alpena.

The fish division has proposed that the season be moved back one week to give the fishers greater protection during their spawning season.

Ontario officials approved the proposal because their season doesn't open on Lake St. Clair until the last Saturday in June.

The commission also will be asked to approve a list of 119 lakes and ponds to be designated as trout lakes open only during the regular trout season.

However, a couple of university researchers are vitally interested in the movements of gulls and have started a study project. Help of the general public is important to the study.

Dr. William E. Southern of Northern Illinois University is heading a study of the dispersal pattern, migration route and winter range of the ring-billed gull.

A similar project involving Franklin gulls is being carried out by Miss Joanna Burger at the University of Minnesota.

She placed plastic wing markers in orange, blue, purple and black on juvenile Franklin gulls. Dr. Southern used "safer" tags on the ring-bills.

Anyone sighting gulls with colored wing tags are asked to contact the Department of Natural Resources Pontiac Lake district office. The experiment will be continued for five years and involves three colonies of Great Lakes gulls.

Classes are scheduled at other schools starting on various dates. Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club handles the classes. All dogs must be six months or older and a vaccination is required.

Formal classes will start at the CAI next week and interested persons are requested to leave their dogs home tonight. The same procedure will be followed at the other schools with the exception of the advanced novice class at Troy.

Following is the list of other schools, demonstration and registration dates and phone numbers for additional information:

St. Bernard Club Sets Mail Show

The Saint Bernard Club of Greater Detroit will mark the start of National Dog Week Sunday with fun match at the Pontiac Mall.

Over 100 St. Bernards are expected to compete. Entries will be accepted from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and judging will start at 1 p.m.

The match will be held on the grassy area at the north edge of The Mall. There will be conformation and obedience judging.

Viola Wade, secretary of the Saint Bernard Club of America will be the bench judge and Mrs. Robert Socher will score obedience.

DOUBLEHEADER There will be a dog obedience match doubleheader the weekend of Sept. 27-28 at the State Fairgrounds coliseum. Sportmen's Dog Training Club will hold its match Saturday and Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club will take over the following day.

An entry of nearly 1,000 dogs from Michigan and surrounding midwest states is expected. Classes scheduled two each in novice, open and utility, graduate novice and brace both days. Judging will begin at 9 a.m. Sept. 27 and 10 a.m. Sept. 28.

Judges will be Merrill Cohen, Baltimore; Richard D'Ambrisi, New Providence, N.J.; Jake Giacomelli, Stoney Creek, Ont.; Mrs. Alma Roesser, Peoria, Ill.; Dave Terrill, Long Grove, Ill.; and Mary Lee Whiting of Minneapolis.

Big Fish Dream Finally Comes True for Howard Dell Jr.

Curb Angling Not Like This

Waterford Youth Nets 'Biggest' Fish

It has been 10 years since Howard Dell Jr. fished for "a big one" from the curb in front of his Waterford Township home.

He was only three years old then, and everytime the hydrants were flushed Howard would grab a fishing pole and dip a line in the water that flowed along the curbing.

"He always dreamed of getting a big one," said his father, Howard Sr.

The dream finally came true on a recent salmon fishing trip to Manistee. Young Howard, now 13, landed an 18½-pound chinook while wading along the shoreline of Lake Manistee near the mouth of the Little Manistee River.

ALONG BOTTOM His father also scored, landing a 16½-pounder. Both were using spinn slowly reeled in along the bottom. The Dells still live at 201 Draper where Howard Jr. got his start with some curbside fishing.

The chinook action has tapered off in Lake Manistee, but many 20 pounds still are being caught off the harbor entrance and in the Muskegon shipping channel. Drifting with spawn or nightcrawlers on the bottom is the best method.

Some coho are appearing in Platte Bay. However, the big runs aren't expected for another week. Tawas Bay salmon fishing remains poor with the cohos flitting in and out of the bay.

The big movement toward the Tawas River is expected in two weeks. A few steelheads are being taken from the Manistee River below Tippy dam and in Lake Huron off the Whitney Drain.

Hunters Hot Under Collar

Squirrel and grouse hunters were a little hot under the collar the first two days of the season. But few were complaining.

High temperatures Monday followed by Tuesday's damp, humid weather made hunting anything but comfortable. For those who tried to sit in the shade near water Monday while watching for squirrels it was a constant battle with mosquitoes.

Heavy foliage hampered gunning when targets were discovered.

Grouse hunting is open in the northern two-thirds of the state and squirrels are legal statewide.

"Many of the squirrel hunters we checked in Oakland County

There are still openings for those local sailors interested in attending the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary seamanship and safe boating classes.

The classes, which are held every Thursday night at the Naval Reserve Center, 649 S. East Blvd., feature special courses in navigation, boating safety rules, boating courtesy and general all around seamanship.

Open to sail and power boaters alike, the two hour class is held every Thursday night and will continue through for an eight week period.

Further information on the class, and registration fee may be obtained by calling 673-6737.
