

Supervisors Adopt Master Plan for Orion Airport

By ED BLUNDEN
The Oakland County Board of Supervisors again demonstrated they have their eyes on the sky.
Yesterday it adopted a master plan for the Oakland-Orion Airport — a project which would provide county residents with a second major airport.
Getting a fast start on the project,

the supervisors also approved spending $284,336 to acquire land adjacent to the site in Orion and Pontiac townships.
On Nov. 7 a master plan was approved for the expansion of the present facility at Oakland-Pontiac Airport in Waterford Township. That site will also require some land acquisition and will cost an estimated $4.5 million to complete expansion plans.

The runway there will be lengthened to 6,200 feet and an instrument landing system installed by the federal government.
EXPECT GRANTS
About two-thirds of the expenditures

at Oakland-Pontiac are expected to be returned to the county by federal and state grants.
The same matching basis is possible for expenditures at the Orion site, it was announced.
No cost figures were given for Orion, where two 7,000-foot and two slightly shorter runways are to be built north of I-75 and west of M24.

Robert G. Peckham, consultant engineer from Lansing, said only that costs would be considerable, indicating that final phases of the plan probably would not be initiated until around 1975 and thus no accurate figures could be made at this time.

He did, however, say that some 13 million cubic feet of earth would have to be moved; some 1,400 acres of property acquired; and overhead high-power lines, recently installed in the area by Detroit Edison Co. at a cost of $3 million, must be moved.

SANTA FUZZ—Checking out his route for the dispensation of candy to children in the downtown area of Pontiac tomorrow and Friday, Santa Fuzz—in reality, city Patrolman James Ockerman—surveys the scene. Ockerman, Pontiac's patrolman of the year in 1963, volunteered to don the red instead of the policeman's traditional blue for the first year of the department's Christmas public relations gesture.

Commission Backs Actions of 2 Police

City commissioners last night supported the actions of two Pontiac police officers involved in the Dec. 7 fatal shooting of Jimmie King, 17. The vote was 6-1 with District 1, Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. casting the lone "no" vote.

Before a sharply divided overflow audience the commission supported the "effective handling of a dangerous situation."

In the audience were an estimated 45 to 50 off-duty police officers.

The commission decision was scored by a number of Negro leaders and by several organizations including the Voice of Oakland County Action League, which last week asked the suspension of the two officers pending a determination by a coroner's inquest.

STATUS UNCERTAIN
The status of the requested inquest is currently uncertain.

The commission cited opinions by the law department and city manager in stating that there is no charter provision for the commission to suspend police officers.

The commissioners also stated that there is a procedure for investigating actions of police officers through the city's police trial board.

They also cited Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson's ruling that the police action was justifiable.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the charter states "No member of the police department except the chief of police or probationary members thereof shall be dismissed from the service, demoted or otherwise disciplined except upon formal complaint and after trial and conviction by the board."

Cuts in Service, Layoffs Ordered

By BOB WISLER
Accepting a tentative 1968 "general operating budget from the city manager, city commissioners last night ordered $542,000 worth of service cuts and a layoff of 42 employees.
City Manager Joseph A. Warren said he would effect the service cuts and layoffs by Jan. 1.

In presenting the budget as required under the City Charter, Warren said "it is an austerity budget in every way."

replacement of equipment, eliminates positions which are currently vacant and it cuts to a minimum any expenditure over which any discretion can be exercised."

Based at a spending level of $7,633,000, down $249,000 from this year's budget, it does not have provisions for employee pay adjustments.

HAD TO BE BALANCED
Warren said the budget had to be balanced and it was not feasible to do so with pay raises included.

"A major pay adjustment must be accomplished and without an income tax this must be done by the reduction of personnel and by using the money saved by layoffs for this purpose," Warren said.

"A delay of even a month in cutting back services will increase the amount of cutbacks eventually required," he said.

LBJ Speaks Hopefully on Viet, Strife at Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says "the war could be stopped in a matter of days" if South Vietnam's president

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) — President Johnson arrived early today in this Australian capital to pay his final respects to the late Prime Minister Harold Holt whose campaign slogan was "All the way with LBJ."

ident talks informally with South Vietnamese Communists and wins their agreement to abide by the Geneva accords.

And on curing violence at home, Johnson says he's going to tell American businessmen either they help in hiring a half million hard-core unemployed or the government will offer them jobs—"as expensive as it is."

Johnson spoke hopefully of "good results" through Saigon talks with members of the National Liberation Front, the Vietcong political arm, during a wide-ranging pre-taped television interview broadcast nationally last night as he winged toward Australia.

Administration sources said the President may stress this point privately with President Nguyen Van Thieu, of South Vietnam, who also is headed for the Melbourne memorial service for Prime Minister Harold Holt.

Johnson outlined five peace conditions based on existing U.S. demands that North Vietnam "leave your neighbor alone." They included an end to Hanoi infiltration through Laos and the Demilitarized Zone, in accord with the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements; one man-one vote government in the South and peaceful negotiations for North-South reunification.

The President was interviewed in his White House office Monday morning by correspondents from the three major networks, which trimmed his remarks to fit the one-hour program.

While Johnson again declined to say whether he'll seek reelection, he said he's sure the Republicans will still wind up in the minority on election day.

Business and production will pick up next year, Johnson predicted, and "we look forward to continued prosperity."

Negroes Revolt on Housing Bill

LANSING (AP) — The House took up its emotion-charged open housing bill yesterday and promptly amended it into a form that several Negro legislators, previously the measure's chief supporters, said they would have to oppose.

Opposition by a substantial number of the nine Negro Democrats probably would kill it.

Three changes in the bill and a fourth proposed amendment prompted the revolt. The three adopted amendments provide:

• That a person who files a housing discrimination complaint which is later dismissed would be made to pay the court costs and attorney fees of the person accused in the complaint.

• That the maximum fine which could be levied against a realtor violating the proposed law would be $250 compared with the original bill's $1,000 fine for a first offense and $2,000 penalty for a repeat violation.

• That if a court rules unconstitutional sections of the bill which exempt certain types of real estate transactions from coverage, the entire bill would be stricken from the lawbooks.

Up for a vote today was a provision that any home owned and lived in by the same person for three of the previous five years would be exempt from the provisions of the bill.

ANGERED BY AMENDMENT

House Minority Leader William Ryan, D-Detroit, was especially angered by the amendment — sponsored by fellow Democrat Warren Goemaere of Roseville — making the complainant, instead of the state, liable for the respondent's legal costs.

"This vote shows that this Legislature does not want an end to discrimination in housing," Ryan charged after the amendment passed 69-30.

Twenty-eight Democrats and 41 Republicans voted for the Goemaere amendment.

The 54-40 vote trimming the fines to $250 was closer to a party-line vote as 47 Republicans and only seven Democrats supported it.

An amendment proposed by Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, and adopted 58-42, provides that if the courts decide such exceptions are unconstitutional, they must strike down the entire housing law.

Winter's Arrival May Bring Flurries

Winter will soon be here.

The U. S. Weather Bureau says the season will arrive at 8:17 a.m. Friday with a chance of scattered snow flurries.

Temperatures are expected to continue mild through tomorrow. The low will fall to 28 to 35 tonight and move into the 40s tomorrow.

There's a chance of rain tomorrow. The low in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 31. The mercury climbed to 45 by 2 p.m.

In Slaying of Wife

Man Convicted

A Farmington Township man was found guilty this morning of first degree murder in the slaying of his estranged 18-year-old wife while she was at work in a beauty shop.

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury of seven women and five men returned the verdict against John Merlo after deliberating about an hour yesterday and an hour and 40 minutes today.

Merlo, who observed his 26th birthday yesterday, faces a mandatory sentence of life in prison.

Judge Farrell E. Roberts will impose the sentence Jan. 24 following a presentence report.

Merlo was convicted of shooting his wife, Sharon Ann, on Jan. 6 in the Crest Beauty Salon, Eight Mile and Rensselaer, Farmington Township.

'BLIND RAGE'

He testified that he had no intention of shooting her when he went to the shop, but that he flew into a "blind rage" when she provoked him by spitting in his face.

The Kinsmen of Jesus—3

Salome a Faithful Aunt

EDITOR'S NOTE — Some deserted Christ, but throughout his brief ministry on earth, Salome, his ambitious but faithful aunt, stayed by him, steadfast in her faith. Following is the third of a five-part Christmas series dealing with the kinsmen of Christ.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

She was daring, venturesome, idealistic brimming with energy. She was a woman of property. She apparently was ambitious and something of a firebrand. She also was Jesus' aunt.

They shared the same blood, by descent, and he, by commitment, joined it with others—the hungry, the strangers, the naked, the prisoners.

"As you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me," he said.

The fraternal Galilean linked himself by intention with the downtrodden, the poor, the pursuers of peace and justice, but he also had natural ties given him by birth. Not all of them condoned his chosen involvements.

But his aunt did. She did so with majestic expectations, and eventually, with sobered realism.

She stuck close to him during the three years of his swift, momentous ministry, and was among the well-off women who, as reported in Luke 8:30, financed it "out of their means."

She was sure of the cause, even though

His visit to the shop was for the purpose, he said, of making one last attempt at a reconciliation.

Merlo said if she refused he had planned to shoot himself.

JOHN MERLO

Body Snatching Has a Drawback

By BOB HOPE

NAKHON PHANOM, Thailand — And now a word about "body snatching." All you do is hover in a copier and drop a line with a hook into the jungle and fish out a downed pilot.

If the pilot is injured or caught in a tree you go down with the line and a knife and you hack him out. Like I said, it's a simple job with only one complication.

The enemy is firing everything they have at you — rockets, bullets, rocks — as you hover above them.

We met the "body snatchers" out in the boonocks of Thailand at a base called Nakhon Phanom (by Rand and McNally).

There are several outfits: the "Hi-performance," jet jockeys who fight off the MIGs; the "Crows," who provide air cover; the "Sandys," copiers that pour on ground fire, and the "Jolly Green Giants," the big copiers that lower the hooks or litters into the jungle.

GREEN GIANT STORIES

These are stories of the Green Giants. The vocabulary is simple.

The penetrator is a device lowered into dense jungle on a line. On the penetrator you can put a seat or a litter or a hook.

A hook or Charley is the enemy. A beeper is an electronic marking device given to a pilot in case he is forced down in enemy territory.

Thirty-sevens, 50's and 60's are the various caliber of bullets fired at you. It's really not important. All you have to remember is that if one hits you it stings.

Seeking Present for Your Boss? Try These Yule Shopping Tips

By JEANNE NELSON

Today's tips focus on gift shopping for the boss. Now here's a category that could easily get sticky. Something too elaborate could give the impression of trying to gain favor while a less impressive one might relate quite the opposite feeling.

At the risk of questioning his well-dressed status, there is a three-tiered rack with written guide to coordinate suit, shirt, tie, and socks for $8. This comes with handsome walnut trim.

The sportsman (and certainly his wife) might appreciate an almost-automatic fish Skinner in sturdy chrome at $5.95.

A travel clock with day and date comes in its own tan simulated leather case for $7.98.

A general sales manager type might appreciate the cordless battery operated drink mixer and pourer at $5.95. Its glass container lists the ingredients for 10 different cocktails.

There's a sleek walnut and chrome desk lighter, practical and attractive for $20. For home or office, another suggestion might be a world globe on its own walnut veneer stand for $17.95.

Salome: Daring, Ambitious Aunt of Jesus

REFERENCES

Her name, although variants are possible, is indicated by comparing Scripture references, such as John 19:25 which lists Jesus' "mother's sister" in a group of women and Mark 15:40 which lists "Salome" in a group of women.

Elsewhere in Matthew 27:56, Salome is identified as "the mother of the sons of Zebedee" — James and John, who were among the apostles of Jesus, presumably high. He nicknamed the high — strong pair "sons of thunder."

Zebedee owned a fishing business with hired employees, Scripture notes, a fleet of vessels and doubtless a packing plant where the fish were salted down in casks for sale to freight caravans on the Damascus trade route.

It was a substantial industry, compared to the humble lot of the kinfolk in Nazareth, about 30 miles to the southwest. Salome valued prestige, the leverage of class and possessions. It was the coin of world power, and she was a practical woman. But she also was socially concerned, a staunch Israelite, with strong feelings of nation and a compassion for her people.

Yet she and the hardheaded Zebedee must have been shaken when their two sons quit the profitable family enterprise to join with Jesus in his unpredictable, nonconforming activities.

Zebedee, like most Jewish fathers of that time, would have counted on his sons to carry on his establishment.

"O sons, listen to me," the sages of Proverbs plead. "A man's wealth is his strong city; the poverty of the poor is their ruin."

CUSTOM SHATTERED

Yet Jesus' custom-shattering course plunged him into the very midst of the rabble—the down in casks for sale to freight caravans on the Damascus trade route.

"Blessed are you poor . . . you that hunger now, for you shall be satisfied." He had some inborn affinity with the stricken masses under the heel of inperial Roman arms and oppression. The meek, he said, "shall inherit the earth."

Salome sympathized, in a political sense. She, like many others stemming from the heroic House of David and its long-lost glories, yearned to see the foreign usurper driven from the land and Israel's greatness restored.

Zebedee kept gruffly busy with his ships and dock hands, and whether or not he approved of it, Salome began frequenting the happenings and gatherings wrought by her nephew. She likely visited often with her sister, Mary, about it.

STRANGE EXPERIENCE

It was a strange experience. At first, she may have been motivated by a desire to stay near her sons, but she absorbed the deeper magnetism of it, the current of powerfully rising expectancy.

She and other women of means furnished provisions and funds to sustain Jesus' itinerant company, and traveled much with it to attend its needs. Salome also was touched by the fiery dedication of her sons.

They were thunderbolts, inland churned with hope of a messiah — a new kingdom to throw off Rome's yoke.

SPECIAL PLACE

She recognized that James and John held a special place of confidence with Jesus, along with Peter. John especially was the "disciple that Jesus loved."

He was readily attentive. "What do you want?"

Salome matched the fervor of her sons, absorbing the crowd excitement, the swelling intention being heeded. "Command that these two sons of mine may sit,

It seemed entirely reasonable to her, considering not only the family connections, but also the able diligence of her sons. It also was sound organizational planning to get major cabinet officers picked in advance.

Jesus looked fondly at his aunt, and slowly shook his head. "You do not know what you are asking." He turned to James and John. "Are you able to drink the cup that I am to drink?"

Always eager, not realizing the crucifixion he faced, they said, "We are able."

tional Brother.)

Firm Will Build on Former Site of Parke, Davis

AVON TOWNSHIP — The purchase of 160 acres of former Parke-Davis & Co. property east of Rochester by the R. P. Scherer Corp. of Detroit, reportedly the world's largest producer of soft gelatin capsules, was announced yesterday.

While no construction date was set, it was announced that an employment force of some 300 people—half of them laboratory workers—is visualized in four years' time.

No purchase price was disclosed. The transaction was handled by M. E. Snyder of Weir, Manuel, Snyder & Ranke, Inc. of Birmingham.

Kenneth D. McGregor, Parke, Davis vice president, secretary and general attorney, said the property sold to Scherer was located on the north side of Parkedale Road, running east from the Rochester city limits for approximately three-quarters of a mile.

A large portion of this land will be used as the site for Scherer's headquarters, it was revealed. The headquarters are expected to be ready for use in four years.

McGregor said that while the property had "not been on the market," the "high regard we had for them (Scherer) made it possible to consider and then close the transaction."

SOUTH SIDE

The Parke-Davis Biological Laboratories are located on the south side of Parkedale Road, across from the property purchased by Scherer.

The company originally owned approximately 600 acres prior to the sale, and now has a total of 440 acres, including 70 acres north of Parkedale Road, between the new Scherer property and Dequindre Road.

Car-Truck Crash Kills Romeo Man

ROMEO — A village businessman died as a result of a two-vehicle crash at a village intersection a 5:18 p.m. yesterday, according to police.

Dead is Herbert Miller, 56, of 142 Sisson, a real estate and insurance man and seller of license plates for the Secretary of State's office.

His car collided with a pickup truck driven by Gordon Jones, 44, of 1239 S. Lane, according to police. Miller died about an hour later at Almont Community Hospital. Jones was only slightly injured, police said.

The accident, which occurred at the intersection of East Gates and North Bailey, is under investigation.

Utica Mother, Son Killed in Smashup

UTICA — Mrs. Joann Davis, 25, of 47514 Jeffrey and her 13-month-old son, Michael, were killed Monday when she reportedly disregarded a stop sign on 17 Mile Road and Dequindre and smashed into another auto.

Another son, 3-year-old William is a patient at South Macomb Hospital where his condition is reported fair.

Sterling Township police said the driver of the other car was not hurt.

Bid Blocker Praised

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle today publicly commended Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Mureville for his success in blocking Britain's new bid to enter the Common Market.

It was the second time France had succeeded in preventing a vote on Britain's admission to the six-nation treaty. The five other member nations supported the British bid but backed down from a showdown with France to avoid an open split and possible crisis in the Common Market.

The master plan and the request for expenditure for land acquisition were presented by three committees — aviation, ways and means and buildings and grounds.

CITES VALUE

Wallace Hudson of Troy, chairman of the aviation committee, said the plan was of "true value to the community and is what we feel will meet our responsibility to the public in general."

He said the entire county business community would benefit by the proposed airport. He pointed out present facilities were at maximum use.

Loop Road Planned for Lapeer Business District

LAPEER—A loop road is planned for this town's central business district.

The City Commission has authorized City Manager Arnold Whitney to set up the one-way traffic design, incorporating four streets neighboring the business district.

Whitney explained that congestion on Nespepping made the change necessary.

The new loop is to be made up of one-way traffic on Clay, running east, Park, running west, Mason, running south and Pine, running North.

Whitney has also been directed by the commission to solicit federal funds to assist in financing construction of a new city hall.

POSSIBLE PURCHASE

The city manager was further directed to investigate possible purchase of the Dupont-Lapeer Airport by the city. The private airfield is located north and east of the city.

In other recent commission action, fire contracts with four neighboring townships—Mayfield, Oregon, Elba and Lapeer—were approved at the existing rates of $225 per run plus standby charges.

A Jan. 8 public hearing has been set on rezoning a portion of the area recently annexed to the city in the Rolling Hills subdivision.

In still other business, the commission has asked that a snowmobile ordinance be presented for its consideration. The ordinance would attempt to set regulations for the operation of the motorized sleds within the city.

TURNUED DOWN

The commission has turned down a rezoning request for property at the northeast corner of Oregon and Madison. The rezoning was for a multifamily zoning instead of two-family.

The city's urban renewal plan is just about off the drawing boards, according to still other commission action.

A resolution was approved to notify urban renewal authorities that the plan is nearly ready for a public hearing and an allocation of federal funds.

City Manager Whitney was authorized to request cost figures from the Michigan State Highway Department on widening M21 on the western edge of the city. The city wants about one mile widened to four lanes.

Latest Step in $16.9-Million Project

County Okays Sewer Pact With Detroit

The next legal step has been taken for the huge $16.9-million Clinton-Oakland Interceptor Sewer which will provide sewage service in six county townships.

Yesterday the County Board of Supervisors approved signing a contract with Detroit to dispose of all flow coming from the county to the lines in Macomb County east of Rochester.

In the county the interceptor will serve the townships of Pontiac, Avon, Waterford, Independence, West Bloomfield and Orion.

The $16.9-million bond sale had been approved previously. In the 30-year payment plan for the bonds total costs will be about $33 million.

The next step will be opening of construction bids.

DUE DATE

Bids are to be called for in the spring on the Clinton-Oakland job and R. J. Alexander, director of the Department of Public Works, estimates construction will be well under way next summer and completed by August 1969.

He also announced the possibility that about $3 million could be awarded the county by the federal government to help defray costs because the project is an antipollution measure.

The interceptor sewer system will greatly speed development of the area adjacent to Pontiac in the estimation of most officials.

Further lines may be built outward from the main interceptors and one is already in the planning stage to service the area near Oxford and Lake Orion.

BONDS APPROVED

In another sewer matter, the board of supervisors approved plans and the sale of $1.8 million in bonds for construction of the 13 Mile Road arm of the Farmington Sewage disposal System which connects with the Detroit system in the southwest corner of the county.

Possible Ballot Sharing Opposed

TROY—Friends of the Troy Library have gone on record against a possible sharing of the Feb. 19 election ballot with the Troy School District.

School board members are scheduled to decide Jan. 2 whether to order a millage vote for Feb. 19, the date of the municipal election.

The City Commission has already set a half-mill library proposition for that ballot.

The Friends have approved a resolution that having two millage proposals on the same ballot "would be detrimental to both propositions."

The school vote, when it is finally set, will be the third attempt in about the last year to have voters approve school millage.

Clarkston School Unit Approves Firm's Bid on 2nd Junior High

CLARKSTON—The Clarkston Board of Education has approved the $1,567,890 bid of Dale E. Cook Construction Co. of Pontiac for construction of a second junior high school.

Work was expected to begin almost immediately. Eighteen months is the completion date on the contract, according to Asst. Supt. Floyd Vincent.

The school, to be located on North Sashabaw at Maybee Road, is due for usage in 1969.

Total contracts including electrical and mechanical were nearly $35,000 under the original $2.2-million estimate, Vincent said.

The auditorium when the later vote was taken.

Objections were voiced by several members who claimed they had not had time to study the plan. It was presented for the first time in its entirety to the supervisors as they came into yesterday's meeting.

A motion was made asking that a decision on adopting the plan be delayed. However, those closely interested in the plan pointed out it should be adopted as soon as possible and forwarded to state and federal aviation officials.

This was said to be important in regards to reservation of air space. The

Troy OKs Zoning Change for Cluster-Type Housing

TROY — A zoning amendment permitting cluster-type housing along expressways and major thoroughfares has been approved by the City Commission. The amendment provides for the lumping together of no more than four homes with common acreage. City Manager Paul York said the same density residential requirements as for regular residential zoning have been maintained, only the new provision allows a greater expanse of common open area.

The commission has voted to petition the Michigan State Legislature for a law that would allow deferment of payment of special assessments on the part of individuals.

Noting that its attempt to alleviate the problem by allowing the payment of certain special assessments over a 20-year period has not been a solution in most cases, the commission has asked for long-term deferments safeguarded by a lien against the property.

Commissioners were informed of the Plan Commission's vote against rezoning portions of the northeast section of the city for industrial use. A study of such a possibility had been asked at an earlier meeting because of the proximity of the area to M59 expressway. Property owners in the area had expressed some objection, according to York.

Farmington OKs Study, Will Pay Part of Cost

FARMINGTON — The City Council has okayed the projected Future Farmington Area Study and agreed to pay part of $5,000 cost.

Beginning early next month, the Institute for Community Development and Services of Michigan State University is to make a study of the 36-square-mile area and report on what direction should be followed for future governing of the area.

The study area includes the city, Farmington Township and the villages of Wood Creek Farms and Quakertown.

City Manager John D. Dinan said the city's cost for the study would be about $1000.

RATE HIKE

Dinan also reported that the council has hiked the rate paid McCreeby Trucking Co. for rubbish disposal. Because of increased disposal cost, the rate was jumped 25 cents per yard.

The city manager estimated the added cost to the city at $200 a month.

The council, in other business, has received a petition for a 12-inch water main on Drake from Grand River 2,000 feet south. The main will serve an area newly-annexed to the city.

Council approval has also been given to a project by the Farmington Jaycees to construct portable shelters at the skating rink at Shawwassee and Farmington Road.

PUMPHOUSE

Also, the Jaycees are to renovate the former pumphouse at the city's park. The building will be used for combined office and storage. A concession stand is also planned.

Almont Schools to Seek Typewriter, Bus Bids

ALMONT — Bids for two new school buses and 10 replacement typewriters will be sought by the board of education.

At a recent board meeting a report on the district's library system was heard. The problem of not enough space and not enough books was outlined, but no solutions were offered, according to Walter Walborn, school superintendent.

N. J. Liblong Jr. and Harold Glover were appointed to the board of canvassers.

Some supervisors said they thought this was high. Murphy and others claimed the prices were reasonable and that they would go up if the options were not taken quickly.

Lessor said he felt the land deals had been made before the supervisors approved the expenditure.

Engineer Peckham said he felt the Orion site was not only the best, but the most feasible and least-expensive place, in the county for an airport development.

CITES PROBLEMS

"No matter where you go there would be problems," he said. In his estimation, all obstacles could be overcome to

Airport Plan, Handling Hit

The two supervisors in the townships where the proposed Oakland-Orion Airport is planned voiced objections to the proposal and how it was handled by their fellow supervisors.

John Lessiter of Orion Township said "I can't see spending all that money for airfields when we need the money for roads."

He also objected to taking all the property off the township tax rolls for benefits that won't be realized "until 20 years from now."

Roy Wahl, supervisor of Pontiac Township, said his major complaint was that he was not consulted about the airport.

"They didn't tell me anything," he said.

"That's a hell of a way to run a railroad. It shows a lack of courtesy and I don't like it," he said.

"First they came around here trying to put in a dump and now it's the airfield. When are they going to bring around some goodies?" he exclaimed.

Wahl added "If I had time to study the situation I might even have been in favor of it."

Orchard Lake Passes Assessment Ordinance

ORCHARD LAKE — A new special assessment ordinance, the first in the history of the city, was passed last night by the council. The ordinance sets up procedure for payment of projects done on special assessment basis.

It informed that the community's 30-year contract with the Detroit Edison Co. will expire in April, the council recognized the need for a special election to renew. No action was taken on the matter.

Plans are for the Berr airport to be phased out and sold to an industrial firm for a factory site. This has caused many officials in that area to urge the county to expand its facilities elsewhere.

Suit Hits DDT Use by City, 55 Others

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Environmental Defense Fund, Inc. of Brookhaven, N.Y., has asked the U.S. District Court to order 56 Michigan cities to stop spraying DDT.

The suit says the cities use DDT in spraying mechanisms to eradicate certain types of insects.

The group says DDT persists in the environment for years after spraying and can cause serious and permanent damage to many kinds of organisms.

The fund, composed of scientists and laymen, earlier this year lost a bid to get a court to order the Michigan Agriculture Department to stop using DDT and other insecticide, Dieldrin.

ORIGINAL COMPLAINT

The original complaint named the Department of Agriculture for its planned use of Dieldrin in a program to control Japanese beetles in Berrien County.

The original complaint also named nine west and central Michigan communities.

The amended complaint filed Monday names 56 communities including the cities of Fremont, Muskegon, East Lansing, East Grand Rapids, Rockford, Greenville, Holland, Alpena, Ann Arbor, Bay City, Berkley;

Center Line, Clawson, Dearborn, Detroit, East Detroit, Essexville, Farmington, Ferndale, Flint, Garden City, Grosse Pointe Woods, Hamtramck, Harper Woods, Hazel Park, Highland Park, Huntington Woods, Ithaca;

Closing Date for Soo Locks Is Extended

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers said Tuesday it has extended the closing date of the Soo locks to Jan. 1 at the request of the U. S. Steel Corp. Normal closing date is mid-December.

The Army, which operates the locks, said the steel company asked for the extension to keep five vessels running with tonnage pellets from Two Harbors, Minn., to its plant in Conneaut, Ohio.

U.S. Steel is believed engaged in experimental work with tonnage, a low-grade iron concentrate.

Relatively mild weather has prevailed in the Soo locks area this fall, although ice has formed in bays. The St. Lawrence Seaway closed for the season last week.

Thieves Share the Wealth

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A pair of thieves scattered 32 diamond rings worth $10,000 over crowded Market Street Tuesday in a wild chase among Christmas shoppers.

Police said the two had asked to see a tray of the gems at the Crescent Jewelry Co. Then they grabbed it and ran. As they knocked down several shoppers while fleeing, the tray was pitched into the thick crowd.

The management said 95 percent of the rings were recovered. The robbers escaped in the confusion.

'Merry Christmas' From Your Carrier

Although a newspaperboy enjoys delivering your newspaper throughout the year, there seems to be a special lift to it during the Holiday Season. The gay Christmas decorations and colored lights give your route a picture look, and you feel the spirit of happiness in your subscribers.

It is good to see the family gatherings that do so much to make Christmas the joyful time that it is, and to know of plans made to see that the poor and the needy are not forgotten.

There is not much that your newspaperboy can do to show his appreciation of having you as one of his customers except to make this edition of your paper his Christmas greeting.

So, Merry Christmas from me and The Pontiac Press.

Community Colleges Fill Educational Void

Every state in the Union now has at least one two-year community college. Last to join the tide was Nevada, whose new college at Elko was one of a record-breaking 74 junior colleges to start operations in 29 states this fall.

The new schools bring the number of two-year institutions in the United States to some 900, reports the American Association of Junior Colleges. The 66,000 students they enrolled raised the total head count in these colleges to 1,665,000.

In the fall of 1966, 50 new junior colleges opened their doors. A significant fact is that most of them have doubled their enrollments in one year's time.

"We think this is dramatic evidence of what happens to college-going in a community when an institution is established within commuting and financial range of the population, and when those colleges are willing to give all comers a chance," says AAJC associate executive director WILLIAM G. SHANNON.

"There is no question but that many of the young people now enrolled in these colleges would not have entered institutions of higher education otherwise."

Most of the new colleges, like the older ones, are publicly supported institutions, operating at low cost to students and providing a broad range of programs. Some of the courses prepare students for transfer to regular four-year colleges, others lead to jobs at the end of two years.

Once somewhat of a stepchild in the educational family, junior colleges are assuming an increasingly important role in America's effort to provide the most education for the most people of any nation in history.

Robber Nailed by Bystanders Who Didn't Stand

It is generally believed that today's innocent bystander often prefers to be just that, rather than become involved in whatever it is that he's innocently standing by. Even if someone urgently needs his help.

And there's a frustrated bank bandit in Columbia, S.C., who must be fervently wishing that someone had told the SEAWELL brothers of Columbia how bystanders are supposed to act.

This would-be robber stepped up to the drive-in window of a bank. He wore a paper sack over his head and held his hand in his pocket.

"I have a gun in my hand," he told the teller. "Hand over all the money you have."

That's when his troubles began. The teller looked at him calmly. "Are you kidding?" she said, and walked away.

She notified the bank manager, and he called the police.

Simultaneously, the SEAWELL brothers—JACK and CARROLL—happened to glance at the bank from the restaurant they operate next door. They saw the man with the paper sack over his head, and got the message. And it never occurred to them to stay involved.

They dashed over, grabbed the robber, paper sack and all, ignored his threats to shoot them, subdued and held him until the police arrived.

It turned out he didn't have a gun after all. He'd been bluffing.

But the SEAWELL brothers hadn't been bluffing. And neither had the lady teller when she kept her cool.

Nobody wants to get involved these days? Nobody wants to help someone in trouble?

Try to tell that to the bank bandit with the paper sack over his head—the guy left holding the bag!

'Ticket Splitters' Catch Political Eye

By GAYLORD SHAW

WASHINGTON—More and more Americans are shunning party labels and identifying themselves as political independents—a development that could profoundly affect the 1968 election campaigns. Surveys show nearly one-third of the nation's adults—some 36 million potential voters—no longer consider themselves Democrats or Republicans. They instead call themselves independents.

This rising independence of the electorate has not gone unnoticed among professional politicians, whose livelihood depends on their ability to chart accurately the moods of the voters.

The pros are shaping campaigns that will appeal to this large bloc of independents.

These "ticket splitters" tend to be younger, well-educated, higher-paid professional or white-collar workers who closely examine candidates and issues before deciding how to vote.

The 1968 campaigns—national as well as state—may see the use of more sophisticated techniques. Eye or ear-catching slogans and jingles may be downplayed in favor of in-depth explanations of candidates' qualifications and the issues.

The politicians' interest in the independent voters has been heightened by research indicating the "ticket splitters" almost always end up voting for the winning candidate.

Some political managers have even charted which areas—usually middle- or upper-class suburbs—have the highest number of "ticket splitters." Their candidates spend more time and money in these areas.

Over the past quarter-century, Dr. George H. Gallup has documented the trend toward voter independence. Periodically since 1940, his American Institute of Public Opinion has included this question in its surveys: "In politics today, do you consider yourself a Republican, Democrat or independent?"

In a survey this fall, 31 per cent of those interviewed replied independent, 27 per cent Republican and 42 per cent Democrat. Six months earlier, the breakdown was 27 per cent independent, 27 per cent Republican and 46 per cent Democrat.

In 1964, the last presidential election year, 27 per cent of those interviewed considered themselves independent, 25 per cent Republicans and 53 per cent Democrats. In 1950, the figures stood at 22 per cent independent, 33 per cent Republican and 45 per cent Democrat. In 1940, it was 20 per cent independent, 38 per cent Republican and 42 per cent Democrat.

The 31 per cent figure reported this fall is the highest since, for the first time since 1940, the number of persons calling themselves Republicans falls below the number calling themselves independents.

"Republicans polling their full strength would be hopelessly defeated," Gallup added. They've got to get a considerable number of independent voters to get over that 50 per cent line.

David Lawrence Says:

LBJ Trip to Australia Significant

WASHINGTON—President Johnson's 10,000-mile journey to Australia to attend memorial services for the late Prime Minister Harold Holt is a sad remark, but incidentally it is meaningful to the peace of the world.

The United States is in Vietnam today because the United Nations has fallen down on its job. In the absence of action by this international organization to maintain peace, America undertook the task.

One of our principal allies is Australia, and outspoken in support of the objectives of the war has been Prime Minister Holt.

Too many Americans brush aside the Vietnam conflict in a superficial way, little realizing that a great principle is at stake.

No better exposition of the issues involved has been given than in a document just issued by the Conference of Asian Affairs conducted by the Public Affairs Institute of Freedom House in New York City.

Some of the most knowledgeable Americans on the subject of international relations—14 leading Asian scholars and historians—have commended the invaluable contribution made by the United States in Southeast Asia.

These scholars see danger to world peace in either a Communist victory in Vietnam or in an American policy of "win and get out."

Their statement sets forth clearly that, while for decades the United States has concentrated attention on Europe, not until recently was it perceived that the peace of the world is closely interrelated to what happens in Asia.

After stressing that Southeast Asia comprises 10 separate states and nearly 250 million people, the report says: "This region may well hold the key to whether a political equilibrium for Asia as a whole can be achieved, a question which in turn affects the future of the entire world."

"Conditions in Southeast Asia today, however, are not solely the product of internal developments. The decision of the United States to maintain a presence in this region has been of crucial importance."

"Every political leader within the area now recognizes that without that presence—the political fate of the region as a whole would have been drastically different.

"To put the matter succinctly, the United States has bought time for some 200 million people to develop, without their being ceaselessly confronted with combined external—internal Communist threats of growing proportions....

"The time has come when we should encourage and expect Asian initiatives and leadership in all matters centrally involving the peoples of this area."

Bob Considine Says:

Air Travelers, Relax! News Is on Way to You

NEW YORK—There is relief in sight for air-travelers who feel uneasy over not being kept abreast of the news during flights.

For years the only news from the flight deck has been basic instructions about smoking and seat belts, with an occasional comment on the altitude or the revelation that Kankakee would be visible on the left if there wasn't a heavy overcast.

Something named Newsrad has been flight-tested on TWA and Eastern's shuttle service and most of the passengers apparently appreciated it.

Newsrad flashes radio bulletins of three or four minutes of national and overseas news by means of FM beams from stations lying along the flight routes.

There is also information about the weather conditions at the airport where the plane is next landing, and certain local news from that city.

BASIC ENGLISH I asked a radio wizard named William S. Halstead to explain how the gizmo works. He put it in as basic a brand of English as possible. Fasten seat belt.

"Newsrad bulletins are super-imposed on the regular transmissions of FM broadcast stations in piggyback fashion."

"They cannot be heard on ordinary FM receivers used in the home. However, by means of a special FM multiplex receiver in the aircraft, the signals can be received clearly in flight. There are no commercials as the service is paid for by the users."

"The bulletins will be written and emanate from United Press International's Audio News Center in the New York Daily News Building."

"Distribution to FM stations in outlying cities throughout the U.S. will be by telephone line from a Newsrad control center."

"In each city served by the system, a selected FM broadcast station will transmit the Newsrad bulletins by multi-plex method, without interfering with its regular public FM broadcasts.

"One of the possibilities at a later date is an extension of the service to offices, hotels and possibly to homes."

"Receivers employed in such a service will have a push button marked News so that the subscriber to the service will immediately get a quick rundown on the latest news whenever he pushes the button—unlike conventional newspapers by radio stations where the news is integrated along with advertising, into a daily broadcast schedule."

"Newsrad bulletins are updated each hour or immediately after an important news event occurs."

Rocky Mountain News (Denver)

With the terrific volume of classified ads the Rocky Mountain News handles it's amazing there aren't more errors made.

Thankfully, we haven't yet had a string of errors like the one recently reported made by a small daily newspaper in the south. It started with the following ad on Monday:

On Tuesday: NOTICE: We regret having erred in R. D. Jones' ad yesterday. It should have read: One sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him after 7 p.m.

On Wednesday: R. D. Jones has informed us that he has received several annoying telephone calls because of the error we made in his classified ad yesterday. His ads stands corrected as follows:

'Citizens Should Protest Layoff of Fire Fighters'

I was disturbed to see the front page article "Firemen 'Sick' in an Apparent Layoff Protest." It is not fair for The Press to call an innocent upsurge of sickness an apparent protest. Not only in the fire department but in schools and probably other business and industry, absenteeism for this time of year is above normal.

The firemen aren't the people who should protest the layoff. Citizens of Pontiac should oppose the City Commission and City Manager's decision to lay off 12 firemen and close two fire stations. Their lives and property are at stake. If the City needs to cut back for economy reasons, citizens should see to it that the cutbacks are not in the police and fire departments. We are understaffed now.

What will the people north of the railroad on Baldwin do if a train blocks the tracks when fire apparatus is needed? Commissioner Hudson fought for adequate fire protection for these people. Now he is giving it up without a second glance. Why? People on the west side of town and the hospitals there could suffer severe loss of life and property due to the closing of fire station No. 5. We will continue to do more than our best to protect the people but they should stop this foolish move by the Commission and City Manager.

Question and Answer

With additional fire hazards present in the home during winter and especially the holidays, what type of fire extinguisher should a householder have? What would be a reasonable price range for a fire extinguisher adequate for use of the non-professional?

FRANCINE A. LANGELAND
LAKE ORION

REPLY

Fire Marshal Metz says the first, most important precaution is to have your fire department's number handy by the phone—delay of looking it up or calling the operator can be disastrous. Call the fire department before you do anything else. After that, water is the best extinguisher for most household fires. A pump can or other such equipment is useful. Water cannot be used with grease or electrical fires, so Marshal Metz recommends a dry chemical extinguisher such as the small ones approved by the Coast Guard for use on boats. It should be kept near the location of potential fires (kitchen range, etc.) but not so near you can't reach it in case a fire does start. These extinguishers weigh about 2½ pounds and cost about $10 or $12.

Reductions...

Richmond News Leader

A sincere effort is being made to cut down on diplomatic expenditures abroad.

Ambassador John W. Tutill, United States envoy to Brazil, has announced that the staff at the United States embassy in Rio de Janeiro will be reduced by 50 per cent during the next two years.

"Operation Topoy" will affect about half of the 1,000 Americans employed by the embassy, but not the 700 peace corpsmen working in Brazil, nor the 1,200 Brazilian national staff working for the United States there.

Ambassador Tutill undertook his economy drive when he discovered that the diplomatic mission in Brazil had proliferated until several skyscrapers and additional office and residential space were needed to house personnel. After receiving permission from Washington, he began pruning staffs in outlying consulates that served only to validate visas.

Most of his staff reduction will be accomplished thru attrition: No new employees will be hired without his approval. The military mission, which cares for a fleet of four airplanes, warned that a cut-back would result in all sorts of dire consequences, such as closing of the PX. The ambassador replied, "Good."

If he succeeds, the ambassador as will save the United States as much as 15 million dollars a year; because most foreign service contracts are made for two-year periods, his savings may total 30 million dollars. In time, his economy drive could serve as a blueprint for other United States embassies whose staffs have grown beyond logical proportions.

Perhaps when he gets thru cutting the operation in Brazil back to size, the ambassador might be prevailed upon to return to Washington. There he'd find great challenge for his talents in tackling the greatest "Operation Topoy" of them all.

Several Letters View Open Housing Laws

Mr. Bruce Annett asks "Should an owner of private property be denied the freedom of choice in the disposition or rental of his private property?" Yes, he should. How does the restriction in the free choice in the disposition of property differ from the restriction in the use of private property — building codes and zoning laws?

Mr. Annett remarks that "... you cannot legislate morality or equality." True. You cannot make people moral by law — at least overnight. However, just laws can encourage people to behave as if they were moral. A strong open housing ordinance with adequate penalties would surely deter real estate brokers from immoral practices. An open housing ordinance would uphold the activity of those brokers (however few) who see the justice in nondiscriminatory practice.

Mr. Annett says, "Coercive housing laws do not in themselves afford more and better residential housing to American Negroes." That statement is simply not so. Such a law in Pontiac, for instance, would help immensely. Such laws would not solve all the problems in the area of race relations, nor right the wrongs of 170 years of injustice, but it would be a step in the right direction. And it is a step which we can and should take at this point in time.

When an individual lists his house with a realtor he is in fact giving that realtor power of attorney over his property. He relinquishes any right to determine to whom that property will be sold. If the individual desires to sell his house, his car or his dog by himself, he should be allowed to do so to whom he desires. The Pontiac open housing law, which surely will and must come, must at least as much freedom to the person selling as it does to the individual buying.

Questions Functions of Legal Aid Society

I got a laugh out of your answer as to where to go for free legal advice. I know of two individuals who have gone to this "free" advisory Legal Aid Society and were both told they couldn't be of any assistance, that they needed an attorney. The advice on this was a fee of $1. Just what are the functions of this so-called Legal Aid Society?

Residents Discuss Waterford Township Tax

I protest the Waterford Township tax increase. We must have taxes to have a better community, but they've gone too far. We don't get the services other townships do but we pay more taxes. My husband's wages don't go up but doctor fees increase as well as food bills, car insurance, etc. If there were enough protests, could we either get more services or a tax cut?

MRS. W. LAUNGER
6296 GRACE K, WATERFORD

Waterford Township politicians better stop biting the hand that is feeding them because through unfair taxation they are going to drive the small businessman right out of doing business. When a small store building 50 x 80 ft. is taxed over $1,300 a year, it is far beyond the average businessman's ability to pay this tax. We understand school taxes must of necessity be high in a growing community, but most of us are living in Waterford Township so that makes us pay double taxation on school taxes. If Waterford Township wants businessmen to stay in the Township, they better give the businessman a fair tax.

A SMALL BUSINESSMAN

We received an increase of $180 in Waterford Township taxes in one year. We have no services that merit this tax bill. Our street is so poor that when the County tried to grade it, it buried its own truck. We hear that we have critical needs in our education system but at present we are constructing multipurpose rooms for the grade schools.

It must be that this is the price of Mr. Johnson's Great Society. I am sick of welfare, ADC, Social Security and all the rest crying more, more, more. We should quit, sit at home and make them survive on their own without our tax dollars. Let them pull the oars awhile.

PATRICIA CADWALLADER
4410 MIDROW, DRAYTON PLAINS

There has been much moaning by our Waterford school superintendent about the failure of the recent millage vote. Why was this millage necessary? With the increase in our taxes by the new State system of appraisal, my school taxes are over one-third higher this year than last. If everyone's taxes went up percentage-wise as mine did, we should ask for a more economical school board and superintendent. While he got his raise first, my yearly income dropped by an almost equal amount. Is he fair in requesting this money when they did find enough to put up a new radio station for the schools?

'Title Should Be Restored to Cassius Clay'

The members of the World Boxing Association could do those who have a spirit of sportsmanship a good turn by restoring the heavyweight championship of the world to Cassius Clay. When he won the light heavyweight title at the Olympics he proved to me that if you have what it takes in any sport or profession you can reach the top. He has not burned his draft card, he believes as a champion that his faith does not include war. That is his right. Someday those who condemn his action will say, "there stands the champion of his own convictions."

Views Continue on Law Enforcement Case

I notice that no one seems to care that two of Pontiac's policemen were almost run down by a person suspected of committing a felony. Anyone who decides to steal a car should be prepared to pay the penalty.

GARY G. HUGHES
3820 PONTIAC LAKE RD.

I commend your excellent editorial on law enforcement. If the two officers in question are going to be suspended for doing their duty, there is no reason for having a law enforcement agency. I stand behind their actions 100 per cent.

MRS. ROBERT MCFARLAND

Is revenge the answer to the recent incident of a Negro youth being shot for disobeying law and order? Is it right to have to fear for your safety on a busy street? A youth in panic, a moving run-away car and two men trying to uphold law and order — God only knows what can happen in such a situation. Even police officers can panic.

A police officer endangers his life constantly for the safety of the community. Without him we would have utter chaos. A police officer has every right to justice for himself. I hope fellow officers stand behind them.

CONCERNED CITIZEN

Your editorial on law enforcement "hit the nail on the head." If the two officers in question are suspended, they are being done a great injustice. These men deserve the support of all conscientious citizens and I support their actions.

LAURENCE BRUSH
108 N. SAGINAW

Your editorial on support of law enforcement expresses my point of view exactly. If the police department is going to be issued guns and then expected not to use them, we certainly will not have law and order in this community.

NANCY MCCULLOUGH

Regarding the editorial about police action, the police have to make decisions immediately at times even though it means their life or the lives of others. We need these men and people who support them.

FRANK HARDING

I commend you for your editorial in support of police enforcement tactics. I hope this editorial will give a moral uplift to the thankless defenders who risk their lives to protect lives and property of the community. MRS. JOSEPH JOZWICK

Voice of Oakland County Action League strongly disagrees with the principle that allows a policeman not only to arrest but to try, sentence and then execute any person suspected of breaking a law. Since VOCAL is a large multiracial group seeking justice for all, our answer to your rhetorical question, "Would there be a large group seeking suspension of the two officers if the slain suspect had been a white youth?" is an unequivocal YES. The question is racist. VOCAL is not.

'Theft of Lights Dims Our Christmas Spirit'

It is most depressing to know there are some morally sick people who cannot appreciate the spirit of Christmas. People of Lorena Drive spent many hours decorating their homes, trying to spread the spirit of Christmas. Now all the joy is gone because someone stole lights from several homes.

Where are the parents? Do they know or care where these young people are? We take pride in our neighborhood but the competition is too great.

Comments on Possible Effects on Pontiac

What can one ambitious, undaunted man do to a city of 80,000 people? He can force the elected officials to close libraries, fire stations, community center and the department of health and youth assistance office. Also, lay off over 40 employees and cut recreation programs that keep hundreds of young people out of mischief. Instead of getting more street maintenance, we will get less, as well as cuts in an already understaffed police department.

On behalf of city employees who will be working under increased handicaps and especially those who will lose their jobs, we wish to thank Mr. Mallinix and his group.

'Church States Position on Current Issues'

At the most recent meeting of the official board of St. Luke's Methodist Church, Rochester, the following resolutions were passed:

1. On Vietnam, because all wars are morally wrong and because the loss of life and great suffering by the Vietnamese on their own soil as a result of the actions of the combatants violates the Christian principles, we urge the leaders of both forces to de-escalate the fighting and make all efforts to secure a lasting and equitable peace.

2. On Open Housing, because we are convinced that every man should have an equal opportunity to enjoy the benefits of life without restrictions placed upon him because of his religion, race, color or national origin, and because we believe that a man's basic human rights supersede rights of property and because we believe that in our present society housing is seen to be the critical area in which inequalities exist and basic human needs are being bypassed, we respectfully urge the legislature of the State of Michigan to enact with care and speed legislation which is both enforceable and equitable to all parties and which adequately secures for all parties the right to obtain housing free from discrimination based upon the factors of religion, race, color or national origin.

Junior Editors Quiz on HANDSHAKING

QUESTION: When and why did handshaking start?

ANSWER: Handshaking is one of those customs we practice without realizing how it started. It is one of the rules, based on the ideas of courtesy and fair play, which grouped together, are called etiquette.

The origin of the handshaking goes back to the Middle Ages, when law courts and police were not available for protection as they are now. To guard themselves from attack, most men carried swords.

The custom arose of extending the empty right hand to someone you wanted to claim as a friend, in order to prove there was no sword in it and that you had no intention of provoking a quarrel.

If your friend extended his own right hand in response and grasped yours, he was signalling his own peaceful intentions.

As society grew more friendly, with more protection under the law, it was no longer necessary to carry a sword for defense. Yet handshaking remains as a symbol of respect for another person, expressing your trust that he will deal fairly with you as you intend to do with him.

Emergency Food Rushed to Snow-Besieged Navajos

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)

More emergency food supplies were rushed toward the Navajo reservation today after a new storm and whipping winds during the night left thousands of Indians fighting waist-high snow.

Nearly a foot of snow fell in some areas of the 16-million-acre reservation, the largest in the United States.

Air Force rescue helicopter crews stood by to ferry food to Navajos living in sparsely settled areas. A White House aide, Ralph Burns, was sent to Phoenix for a look at the situation, termed the most critical period of modern Navajo history by Tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai.

Thomas Sembera, an Office of Emergency Planning official was in Santa Fe, N.M., and Na-kai hoped to get both men out to the reservation.

60,000 AFFECTED

Tribal officials said the known death toll on the reservation from seven days of snow remained at three persons. But they say about 60,000 Navajos are affected to some degree by the storms.

The weather picture was similar over much of the snow-smothered Southwest. Nearly seven feet of snow was reported on the ground at Flagstaff in northeast Arizona. Eight deaths during the past two days were attributed to snow in California, where snow fell at Porterville in Tulare County for the first time in four years.

A different weather hazard—rising temperatures which could cause flooding—was reported in some areas of Arizona. Several persons were evacuated at Miami, Ariz., when water in the Bluebird Mine Reservoir was just a foot below the top. Floods were reported in a Phoenix residential area after a downpour.

The U.S. Weather Bureau had heavy snow warnings in effect during the night for much of Arizona and New Mexico.

The federal government had taken no action on Nakai's request that the Navajo reservation be declared a disaster area so that additional heavy equipment could be obtained to help clear snow-plugged roads to villages and hogans.

"Give us a clear 24 hours and we can make a lot of medicine," said Graham Holmes, Bureau of Indian Affairs Navajo area director, in reference to the blocked roads.

Holmes said the bureau had 60 tons of surplus food commodities on the way by truck and another 77 tons were being held in reserve. The New Mexico Welfare Department sent additional foodstuffs to the Indian areas of Crown Point and Shiprock, N.M.

Dragging of Ohio for Bodies Continues

downstream from the collapsed suspension bridge here while divers attempted to free wrecked autos from the mangled steel and concrete 40 feet under water.

The divers use torches to cut the sunken steel girders into workable lengths, which are then hauled up by 100-ton floating derricks. Officials estimate it may take several months to clear all debris from the river bottom.

Searchers have recovered 11 bodies since the Silver Bridge collapsed Friday. It was loaded with bumper-to-bumper traffic at the time, and Civil Defense officials estimate there are at least 40 persons still missing.

No bodies have been brought up since Tuesday morning.

State School Study Finds Program Inequalities, Financing Ills

LANSING (AP) — A finance study of Michigan schools indicates "a tremendous inequality" in academic programs across the state and "critical problems" in financing urban education, the State Board of Education told Tuesday night.

"Some Michigan school districts spend almost three times as much per pupil as others do," said Dr. J. Alan Thomas, head of the University of Chicago's Midwest Administration Center. He directed the study.

Thomas cited an $869.89 per-pupil general fund expenditure in Iron County's Mastodon Township as compared with a $138.01 per-pupil expenditure in the Mecosta-Remus Consolidated District.

The 650-page study suggested methods of dealing with these problems as well as those involving financing school construction, state support for vocational education and school district reorganization.

Board President Edwin L. Novak said the study may have "an unparalleled impact on schools throughout the state for years to come." It was completed in 15 months under a $200,000 legislative appropriation.

Novak said results of the study came too late for incorporation in the 1968-69 budget recommendations, but "would have a strong effect on budget making for the 1969-70 fiscal year."

Financial, geographic and social factors contribute to the unequal education in school districts, Thomas said.

The study said property owners and industry could help reduce the inequalities. So could better procedures for distributing state aid to local school districts, it said.

"The most effective means to equalize educational opportunity in Michigan would be through transferring the responsibility for collecting the 'allocated millage' for education from localities to state government," the study said.

"This might, for example, result in a statewide property tax rate of 12 mills for education with a corresponding decrease in local property tax rates."

A second alternative aimed at 6 per cent a year for the next improved financing, the study three years.

reported, would be transfer of the property tax on industry from local to state responsibility.

Such a tax, Thomas said, would in effect spread across the state any wealth derived from industrial property taxes instead of keeping it in one district.

The study pointed to what Thomas called the "terrible, urgent problem of providing appropriate kinds of education" for inner-city children and recommended that the state set aside a specific amount of money for special projects in urban areas.

"A project might include the use of reduced student-teacher ratios, the use of para-professionals (adults other than teachers in the schools) and in-service education programs for teachers," the study suggested.

The study termed "very costly" Michigan's present procedures for financing school construction. "Some districts are bonded to over 30 per cent of their assessed values," Thomas said. "This frightens and worries me."

Listed as alternatives for reforming the current construction methods were:

- A forgiveness feature for school districts unable to repay their existing indebtedness in a given period of time on the basis of a reasonable millage.
- An equalization program for the support of school building construction, through which the state would share in the debt retirement of districts which already have constructed their facilities.
- State sharing in the amortization of the cost of classroom space.

"These plans will work well only if they are accompanied by an intention to limit the ratio of debt to assessed value and the length of repayment schedules," the report said.

Also recommended was appointment of a commission to develop a master plan for school district organization in Michigan.

"A concerted effort should be made to reduce the number of school districts in Michigan (743 in September of this year) to a point where education can be most efficiently provided throughout the state," the study suggested.

Further suggestions were that:

- Steps be taken to eliminate a deficit in teacher retirement funds.
- Vocational centers be part of comprehensive high schools or be shared with postsecondary institutions.
- Programs of special education be increased.
- Efficiency of school transportation systems be improved.
- The state board of education support and encourage establishment of education parks, serving public and nonpublic schools.

Negro Criticizes New Detroit Committee

DETROIT (AP) — A Negro militant Rev. Albert B. Cleage, another group he heads, he personally supports black minister and community leader Jr. will receive a $85,000 grant from separatism, but insists he is just has charged that a few members of the committee, headed for Community Organizations by the white man rather than the New Detroit Committee, organized to plan rebuilding by department store magnate as a token of the endorsement advocating a new cause. efforts after Detroit's July riot Joseph L. Hudson Jr., of "bav-by the national religious com- "have completely misinterpreted the mood of the Negro community and the so-called moderates."

The Rev. Roy Allen, president of the Detroit Council of Organizations, made the charge Tuesday at a news conference called to criticize a proposed $137,000 grant to a more militant Negro group.

The New Detroit Committee, appointed by Gov. George Romney and Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh after the July 23-30 riot, has tentatively approved the grant to the Federation of Self-Determination, headed by the Citywide Citizens Action Commission, another group he heads, he personally supports black minister and community leader Jr. will receive a $85,000 grant from separatism, but insists he is just has charged that a few members of the committee, headed for Community Organizations by the white man rather than the New Detroit Committee, organized to plan rebuilding by department store magnate as a token of the endorsement advocating a new cause. efforts after Detroit's July riot Joseph L. Allen said the Detroit Council of Organizations favors a more moderate approach to the problems facing Detroit's Negroes than does Cleage's group. The council was organized after the riot and says it represents 25 Negro groups.

Munising to Move Its Clocks Ahead

MUNISING (AP) — The Munising City Commission voted 3-1 yesterday to move the town's clocks an hour ahead.

The step is to take effect Sunday. The change will put Munising out of step with the requirements of the Federal Uniform Time Act, which places the Upper Peninsula community in the Central Time Zone.

Body of Youth in River Found; 2nd Sought

BENTON HARBOR (UPI) — Skin divers, who yesterday recovered one body, were to resume their search today for a second youth believed to have drowned after their car plunged into the St. Joseph River during a high-speed chase by police.

Divers from the Berrien County sheriff's office recovered the body of Clifford M. Mock, 20, Coloma. They were to resume their search for Chester W. Rau, 20, Coloma, today.

A third youth, Robert Collins, 18, Benton Harbor, was pulled from the icy waters by police Monday night. He was charged with drunken and disorderly conduct.

Officers said they stopped the youths on suspicion of drunken driving, shortly before midnight.

But as the officers approached the car, the youths fled. The police gave chase. The youths were traveling at 70 miles per hour when their car left the road, skidded several hundred feet and plunged into the river, authorities said.

Kathy Wise will be at Osmun's tomorrow to tell you about Nine Flags® shaving cologne.

Please try to keep your mind on Nine Flags®.

The Nine Flags people tell us that each of the essences, imported from nine different countries, is as different as the country itself. (For example, there's romantic Aromatic Tabac from Brazil, vigorous Live Oak from Germany, exotic Patcham from Hong Kong, leathery Royal Saddle from England.) Now, they say, a man can match what he wears with his personality or moods. Which convinced us to put Nine Flags on our counters. Because we've been matching men's moods since the Christmas of 1931. Besides, they said they would help us tell you about Nine Flags—and what a great gift it makes — by sending Miss Wise over to dab willing cheeks. So come in and take your turn.

Miss Wise will be at the Tel Huron store tomorrow (Thursday, Dec. 21) from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Interim Australian Leader Stresses Viet Commitment

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Interim Prime Minister John McEwen said today that the death of Prime Minister Harold E. Holt does not alter the Australian government's commitment to stand firmly beside its allies in Vietnam.

"We will share their efforts and agonies," McEwen told his first news conference after his swearing in. About 6,000 Australian troops are fighting in Vietnam.

Preparations continued at an accelerated pace for the arrival of President Johnson, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other foreign leaders flying to Australia for a memorial service in Melbourne Friday for the late Holt, who disappeared last weekend while swimming in the surf off the southeast coast.

The chiefs of state or government heads of all seven of the anti-Communist allies in the Vietnam were to be on hand for the Melbourne service, and it was obvious that the war would be discussed, at least informally.

FDR on New 1st-Class Stamp

WASHINGTON (AP)—The change in postal rates, effective Jan. 7, also will mean a change in presidents portrayed on first-class stamps; with Franklin D. Roosevelt replacing George Washington.

The letter rate will go from five to six cents.

The Post Office said the present six-cent Roosevelt stamp won't be changed when the new rate becomes effective.

Washington has been on the current five-cent, first-class stamp since 1963 when the letter rate went from four to five cents.

Although Washington no longer will be portrayed on the first-class stamp, he remains the president whose likeness has appeared on more stamps than any other chief executive—33, with 25 for Abraham Lincoln and 13 for Thomas Jefferson.

Traditionally, but not always, Washington has been on the basic letter-rate stamp.

Drive Gets Homes for Riot Victims

DETROIT (AP) — Some 120 families of the 274 displaced by the fires of last July's riot will have a brighter holiday season — thanks to a communitywide campaign and a Christmas gift of $125,000 from the United Foundation.

The "Homes by Christmas" campaign, launched July 30, two days after the six-day riot which saw 43 dead and property damage upwards of $80 million, has reached its goal of $180,000. The money is being used to relocate burned-out families by providing down payments on homes, as well as clothing, furnishings and other necessities.

Prof. Sally Cassidy, chairman of the Montclair College Social Science Department at Wayne State University, started the campaign when she discovered that dozens of families were left homeless by the riot.

INITIAL MOVE
Dr. Cassidy said the initial move started in the suburban areas of Detroit, when she met with representatives of many suburban human relations committees to discuss what could be done to help the riot victims.

"It was simply a case of 'if we don't do it, somebody will have to,'" she said. "So we divided the nearly 100 volunteers into groups and started the ball rolling by finding the names of families who were burned out and just what was needed to get them back on their feet."

What started as a suburban effort quickly spread to the city. Dr. Cassidy, looking for more help, met with city and state social, economic and religious organizations to tell them of her group's plan.

It was after a meeting with the New Detroit Committee that the "Homes by Christmas" campaign received its widest publicity.

COMMITTEE PLAN

The New Detroit Committee, a team of business and civic leaders appointed by Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and Gov. George Romney, to find ways to rebuild the city, thought of asking Detroit's young people to help.

Both Dr. Cassidy and the committee were elated with the results.

Bob Bruttell, 19, president of the Detroit Youth Action Council, the largest interracial group of young people in the metropolitan area, said his group was asked to help early in November by a member of the New Detroit Committee. "They wanted to know if the young people would be interested in helping to raise money for needy families," Bruttell said. "We jumped at the chance."

HELP ASKED

Bruttell said about 100 members of the council devoted time to the fund-raising project. "We talked to individual kids and young groups explaining the reason for the drive and asking them to help us," he said.

The response was tremendous. The youngsters — all between ages 14 and 20 — dramatized the need for funds by holding canister drives, conducting car "wash-ins" and folk singing concerts in high schools around the city.

Still not satisfied, the council began a drive for quarter donations from young people throughout metropolitan Detroit. Finding it difficult to contact the number of young people they wanted, they talked some of Detroit's most-listened-to disc jockeys into broadcasting news of their "quarters for quarters" effort. One station was so impressed, it donated $500 to the fund.

SPANISH ARTIST

"We had one from a professor in Oregon, and one from an artist in Spain—and you know how poor artists are," she said. Large donations included $15,000 from the Archdiocese of Detroit, $11,500 from the Interfaith Emergency Service, $3,000 from the Christian Science Relief Committee, and $2,500 from the Detroit Conference on Civic Development.

The single largest contribution, and the one enabling the campaign to reach its goal, was one of $125,000 from the United Foundation Disaster Relief Committee.

The committee was established after the riot to provide money for victims of the riot. At the time it was formed, $1 million was placed in a special fund for emergency relief.

RELOCATION

About $1,500 is needed to relocate a single family, with the greater portion of money going toward a down payment. The experienced volunteers room frame house to the who worked with the families in choosing a home to fit their needs. These volunteers, a committee member said, "made sure the families who found a home, got a good one—not just a house."

Both Bruttell and Dr. Cassidy, who are white, agreed that the majority of volunteer help they received came from whites, and that slightly more than 95 percent of the families helped are Negro.

"But we didn't go out looking for volunteers," Dr. Cassidy said. "What we were looking for was people who wanted to help."

One of those families is now living in a white brick and frame home in an interracial

DISPLACED FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. William Catchings lost their home on the first day of the riot as sparks from a looted clothing store started a fire which burned their seven-room frame house to the ground.

The Catchings, who had three young sons at the time and another child on the way, were able to save only their television set, a guitar and a sewing machine. Their car, which was parked in front of the house was also destroyed.

Catchings, a 36-year-old construction worker, took his wife Charlotte, 23, and their three sons to his brother's where they stayed until the "Homes by Christmas" committee gave them the chance for a new home.

"We were very skeptical about wash cars in an effort to raise money for families left homeless by the July riot. The goal of the "Homes for Christmas" campaign

RAISING FUNDS — Detroit teen-agers

Painter Has Name for Them

He 'Types' All His Customers

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In defense of the interior decorator whose "advances" the lady said she had to fight off: I have been a painter for many years, and have been around all kinds of women. I have them categorized:

There is the "clutch-er." She is always wearing a housecoat that's open. She keeps clutching it and releasing it, but she never closes it. Then there's the body beautiful type who is always dressed for swimming or sunbathing.

The sun hasn't been out for a week and the pool is empty, but she's got her suit on. There's the stepladder mama. If I'm up she's down with a very low-neck blouse. If I'm down, she's up with the other end exposed.

Then there's the confidential type. She tells you all her problems, one of which is a husband who is too cold, too old or too busy. Then there's the woman with the jokes. Always dirty. And lastly there is the outright propositioner.

I have seen them all. Years ago a very wise painter who knew all the tricks of the trade, gave me some very good advice. He said, "Sammy, always get your money first, and if they still want to play games, it will be for fun."

Sincerely, SAMMY

DEAR ABBY: Why didn't you advise that girl who was jealous because her boy friend had SHARON tattooed on his chest to have "I LOVE MILLIE MORE THAN SHARON" tattooed over it. That's what I did.

WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I figured the guy had already had enough needling.

DEAR ABBY: Just yesterday I found out that the "diamond" engagement ring I received from my gentleman friend is not a real diamond. The gentleman who gave it to me is a wonderful person and I would not have thought less of him were I given none at all.

But to have been given one that is "only a fake" as the jeweler put it, hurts me so, I don't know what to do. This gentleman has been so good and kind to me, I almost can't believe he would do such a thing. This was going to be the second marriage for both of us.

I don't want to lose him by making him feel that having a real diamond is all that important to me. It isn't, yet I hate to be fooled.

Everything depends on how I react. I can't just pretend I don't know. Yet if I make too much of it, it may be fatal. Can you please help me? WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Assuming the ring is "only a fake" either your gentleman friend was also taken in, or he is trying to fool you. In either case, you must tell him that you were told the stone is not a genuine diamond, stressing that value of the stone is of less importance to you than the value of his word.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend is in the navy and soon will be discharged. He is a very good looking sailor and looks terrific in his "blues."

My problem is trying to get him to wear his uniform when we go out. He says he is sick and tired of looking at uniforms and it's bad enough wearing one when he has to.

He looks good in his civvies, too, but a girl is proud to be seen with a guy in the service, and I would much rather have him wear his uniform when we're out. We argue about this all the time. Can you help me?

NAVY BLUES

DEAR BLUES: I know how you feel, but I also know how he feels. If your man is being discharged soon, ask him to do you a favor and hold still long enough for you to get a picture of him in his blues. In the meantime, get off his back and let him cover it with a suit of his choice.

Problems? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056. For a personal reply, include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Department Dictum Is Crossed Up by Young Jobseekers in Miniskirts

Does wearing a miniskirt hurt a girl's job-hunting chances?

"It all depends," says the head of the world's largest professional employment service in a memorandum to more than 300 offices of the system.

Some miniskirts do, in his opinion, and some don't. How mini is the skirt? What kind of job is the girl after? Has she mastered the proper mini techniques for stooping and sitting?

"We used to advise the young lady candidate, for instance, never, but never, to sit cross-legged at a job interview," says Robert O. Snelling Sr., President of Snelling and Snelling, Inc.

"Now, to the miniskirted, we give just the opposite advice. Crossing the legs in a conservative, if I may use the word, miniskirt, is often, if I may use another old-fashioned expression, the more lady-like thing to do. It is rather less than more revealing."

It is woman's immemorial privilege to follow the fashions of her day, Snelling declares, "however controversial they may be." He adds, however, that "fashion is art, and good art always leaves something to the imagination."

"The world has weathered as revolutionary styles in their day as the miniskirt," Snelling points out. "Consider the hobbie skirt before World War I."

"Nor is this the first time that some business quarters have been upset over a feminine style. The late 18th Century bustle kept women out of work. Library of Congress records show that men felt girls who dressed that way took too much room in White House offices."

CLASSIFY LENGTHS

"The miniskirt has posed a problem for employment services all right. I think our organization is meeting the challenge. We do not measure the brevity of our clients' skirts or dresses, but classify them as 'just above knee,' 'a bit higher,' and 'too high for street wear.'"

"To a bank, if it has no anti-miniskirt regulation — some do — we send job candidates wearing the lower number; to ad agencies — some seem to encourage the fashion among employees — the higher style. But we never send out a girl wearing an extreme miniskirt, a microskirt, looking like a ballerina in a tutu. We tell her to go home and get dressed."

The system will not send a girl for a job interview wearing culottes, "though we know they are worn in some offices."

As to hose, the recommendation is for the normal nylon and against black, brightly colored, or net stockings for business.

The system which gets jobs for some 50,000 women a year, continues to recommend that girls wear white gloves to the job interview; not elbow length with miniskirt, certainly, but wrist length minigloves.

It also cautions against too dramatic a makeup job, very high hairdos, very long haircomb; "even if hubby, or the boy friend loves you that way, the employer may not."

"Personally," Mr. Snelling admits, "I think that the miniskirt style sparks the office. Anything that gives the business office some zing, makes it brighter, more cheerful, without providing distraction from the work at hand, is good for the commercial world."

A special holiday drawing for prizes will take place during each show and Pixie Judy will announce congratulations from the stage to youngsters in the audience celebrating a birthday.

Problem Stems From Use of a First Name

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to comment on the practice of people calling a man's wife by her first name, especially if they know that the husband doesn't approve.

The wife will not correct the party. To me this is not good etiquette. I always believed that the wife was to try to conduct herself as a married woman. I believe that one should put the "handle" on a person's last name until they are requested to leave it off.

I have known this to cause trouble in many marriages. — T. H. P.

Dear Mr. B: You are perfectly right in your opinion that a man should use a woman's title of "Mrs." until he is asked to call her by her first name. However, once adults of either sex have been acquainted for some time, it would seem most unfriendly if they did not use first names.

If you have reason to suspect that the man in question is overly friendly to your wife, that's another matter, but if that is not the case, I wouldn't make an issue of the use of her first name — as long as she doesn't object.

OLDER FRIENDS

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning a small party for my husband's birthday. We are in our late twenties and so are the six couples I plan to invite. Now I hear that a few acquaintances are buying my husband a gift.

They are much older than we are, but are very nice, and I wouldn't want to be rude to them in any way. Should I invite them also — Claudia

Dear Claudia: Don't ask the older couples to the party you have planned. They would not expect to be included with the younger people. However, a little while after your husband's birthday, give an other small party for them — they will enjoy it, and it will be a nice extra "thank you" for their thoughtfulness.

PLAYING FAVORITES

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know why it is considered wrong to refuse an invitation from one boy, then accept the same invitation from a boy you like better. — Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: Why? Because it says loud and clear to the first boy "I like Boy B better than you." When word gets around, other boys will hesitate to ask you out for fear of being turned down for a better invitation.

The first rule of etiquette is consideration for others, and hurting Boy A's feelings doesn't show one bit of that characteristic.

The turtleneck sweater has taken men's fashion by storm, even breaking down that last tradition of the "black tie." In finest white cashmere, like this light and creamy-soft long-sleeved pullover by Ballantyne of Scotland, it's now making the dinner-party-and-club-date rounds with the tuxedo, providing a new comfort and an extra luxury touch.

Christmas Trees Nurtured for 'Brief Hour'

OKAHURST, Calif. (UPI) — fir, white fir, Douglas fir and constantly weeded, thinned, The glamour has gone from the Christmas tree growing. It's become big business.

Here in the Sierra Nevada range and throughout the West Coast, millions of fir and pine trees are nurtured and managed carefully for one purpose — to brighten homes during the holiday season.

"Until recently, harvesting was the only management practiced on the natural stands of forest-grown California red pine," said John C. Dozier, a senior forester with the American Forest Products Co. which operates a Christmas tree farm near Oakhurst.

"But now, many landowners intensively manage these stands imported from other states to meet the demand."

The high turnover of trees for holiday production makes the industry profitable. Trees 30 to 40 years old are as valuable as Christmas trees as if they were left to grow 100 years and then logged for their wood.

The plots (American operates a 640-acre farm here) are

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

If you're invited to a special party at the last minute and find yourself with nothing to wear, there is one quick solution aside from going out and buying an expensive dress that you know will only be worn once?

Mrs. J. E.

Today, with all the glitter that is shown in ready-to-wear, you can usually find some dress in your closet that will take to decorating.

You can purchase trimmings at most any price that can be added to a dress you already have. If you desire adding it to the neckline, be sure to purchase the kind that is flexible.

Fit the lower edge smoothly to your dress, then run a fine basting thread around the top edge of the trim, pulling the thread slightly to ease in the trimming so that it will lay nice and smooth.

You may prefer to keep the neckline plain and trim the sleeves or the hem. You may use two rows of trim instead of one for that very important look. A rhinestone belt buckle can add wonders to a basic dress as well as a decorative belt.

Some of the handsome wide French ribbons make beautiful belts that you can add crystal or colored stones to for accenting colors. Use your imagination and see what interesting effect you may come up with.

One of the most beautiful cocktail dresses I saw in the fall designer collections was a grey flannel dress with a single row of rhinestones accenting some of the seams. Just remember not to overdo the trimming. You don't want to look like the Christmas tree!

Once again, it's time for Christmas and all the work, joy, and good times that go with the holidays. It's such a busy time, that I know you haven't time to concentrate on any difficult techniques.

Mav I thank you for all your wonderful letters (over 100,000), and tell you that there is nothing I would like better than to answer each and every one of you, and to meet you personally.)

Since this is impossible, try to understand that I must answer letters of the most general problems and can't answer any letters personally. Please consider me your closest friend at the sewing machine. Write your questions and sewing tips to me so that I may help you and you may help others.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Eileen Birkedal, Novato, Calif., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following suggestion.

"I would like to pass on a hint I discovered when making one of the new swinger skirts for my daughter. Instead of making a hem allowance, I cut off the skirt pattern at the hemline, plus one-half inch seam allowance and then I cut a facing, following the same circle I used for the skirt.

"This skirt facing fits the skirt perfectly instead of having to take little tucks, and it gives it the extra body to hold the shape of the skirt nicely. Of course, you cannot lengthen this type of hem, but cottons rarely wear more than one summer anyway."

For detailed instructions on how to make Chinese ball buttons send my booklet "Spaghetti Straps and Rope Belts." To obtain your booklet send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich., 48056.

Carols: Drinking Songs to Music-to-Shop-By

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Christmas carols during the past centuries have completed a full circle evolution from secular to sacred to secular.

Their present status as background music-to-shop-by in department stores is painful to some traditionalists who feel that religious music should not be profaned by such blatant commercial use.

But the Church and the world are always interacting, with each other, and borrowing is by no means confined to one direction.

Christmas carols originated in 13th century Europe as popular dance tunes which were adapted to religious texts. Laymen found them livelier and easier to sing than the old Latin hymns and Gregorian chants which then dominated church music.

Hundreds of carols were written in England during the 15th and 16th centuries. Many had pious lyrics, but some were plainly intended as drinking songs to accompany wassail and merrymaking. Puritans took a dim view of carols and in 1647, after they won control of Parliament, they made it a crime to publish or sing a Christmas carol.

BAN REPEALED
This law was repealed at the time of the Restoration, but it was not until the 18th century that caroling began to make a comeback in England.

In 1719, the great English hymnwriter, Isaac Watts, composed "Joy to the World," which is still one of the great favorites.

Charles Wesley wrote "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" in 1737. "Adeste Fideles" is sometimes attributed to St. Bonaventura in the 13th Century, but the earliest surviving manuscript dates from 1790 and is signed by John Francis Wade, a music dealer in France.

One of the most beloved modern carols resulted from the untimely breakdown of a parish church organ in a little Austrian village, just before Christmas in 1818. The parish priest, Father John Mohr, wanting to ease his congregation's disappointment, wrote a three-stanza poem.

The church organist, Franz Gruber, composed a melody to go with it. At midnight mass, with Gruber playing a guitar for accompaniment, the two men sang their hastily-completed carol.

It's called "Silent Night." "It Came Upon A Midnight Clear," a carol with a strong social message was written appropriately, by a Unitarian minister, the Rev. Edmund H. Sears. Although it dates from 1846, its third stanza could have been written for Christmas, 1967:

"Yet with the woes of sin and strife
The world has suffered long;
"Beneath the heavenly strain have rolled
"Two thousand years of Water in Motion for Centerpiece

If you want a gay, but inexpensive holiday table decoration, go out and buy a dozen mothballs and some citric acid from the drug store.

Take a large brandy snifter or rose bowl. Fill it with water, and add a few drops of red or green food coloring.

Stir in two teaspoons of the citric acid and two teaspoons baking soda. Drop in the mothballs and a few small sprigs of evergreen.

There will be constant motion in the glass container as the mothballs and the evergreen sprigs dance up and down in the liquid.

Let the youngsters fix this centerpiece as part of their share in the holiday preparations.

VIPs Face Viet Dilemma —No Deserted Villages

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although you might have trouble finding any member of Congress who would want to visit an extra day. Put me down live there, for a deserted village trip to many apparent.

I think South Vietnam is a nice place to visit. Particularly during an election year.

WEST

So what happens now that Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., has escalated the publicity value of Vietnam trips by getting caught in a mortar attack in a deserted village?

Well, I feel certain it is going to cause widespread discontent with the conventional VIP tour of the area.

"Sen. Lungbaster, this completes our agenda. You have been photographed shaking hands with Gen. Westmoreland, conferring with embassy officials, dining with Vietnamese leaders, and fraternizing with enlisted men. Is there anything else you would like to do before you return home?"

SPECIAL REQUEST

"Why yes, Colonel, there is. I was wondering if I could take a helicopter flight to a deserted village."

"I'm sorry, senator. All of our deserted villages are occupied right now."

"You mean the native have returned?"

BOOKED UP

"In that case, I'll extend my visit an extra day. Put me down live there, for a deserted village trip to many apparent."

"I'm afraid that won't be possible, Senator. It's pretty difficult to get into a deserted village without a reservation."

"Most of them are booked up at least a month in advance."

"Now look here, Colonel, when you were assigned as my escort officer, I was told I could call on you for anything I needed. I insist you get me into a deserted village."

NO VACANCIES

"I'm doing the best I can, sir, but we simply have not anticipated such a heavy demand. Unless someone checks out early, there won't be a deserted village vacancy before next week."

"I can't wait that long. I've got to get back and start campaigning. Couldn't I share a deserted village with another senator?"

"We've got them stacked three in a village already, sir, that is the maximum the fire law will permit."

"What do you mean 'fire law'?"

"It means that if the deserted villages are overcrowded and the Vietcong fire a mortar shell, somebody may actually get hit."

"Shucks! I guess I'll just have to settle for a brainwashing."

Mouth Models: 'Important for Identification'

By Science Service

MEXICO CITY — Dental patients should keep any models of their mouths made during oral surgery, according to Mexican Navy Dr. Ernesto Acuna Enaurizar.

"The mouths models are of major importance since they can serve as irrefutable legal proof of identity, in the case of destruction of softer tissues, as happens in most airplane accidents," the doctor said.

Other fatal accidents, or fires in buildings or vehicles can destroy fingerprints.

But teeth are made of stronger stuff, Dr. Acuna points out. No individuals have exactly identical teeth and the dental expert stressed that "there are no 1,700 degrees F. for at least an hour to destroy them, the doctor said."

No organ of the human body can be so well used for identification purposes as teeth, and it takes temperatures of at least descriptions of tooth and jaw structure, with these indexed by a simple code number."

A "dental identity card" Dr. Acuna made his proposal should be adopted internationally at the Second International Odontology Congress held in Mexico.

Death Marks Time in U. S. Military Hospital in Vietnam

By HORST FAAS
LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — The television news comes on at 7:30 p.m. with a blare of martial music. The television set overlooks 14 beds in this postoperative ward at the U.S. Army's 24th Evacuation Hospital.

It does not overlook the 10 beds of the "shrouds," the ghosts that call me at night," as one male nurse describes them. These are the most serious cases.

They lie in their beds, some with crushed faces and bodies. They are swathed in heavy, bloody bandages. Tubes dangle from plasma bottles. Some are uncovered to the waist. They look pale from exhaustion. There is heavy breathing. Sometimes there are moans of pain. When the moans increase, a nurse steps quietly to the bed.

In the second bed on the left side of this section there is a strapping big man, a sergeant. He is going to die in 20 minutes.

TOO TALL FOR BED

He is so tall that his feet hang over the frame of his bed. He is crew-cut and heavily suntanned. He wears a mustache.

The sergeant arrived in the ward on a stretcher three days ago. He mumbled incoherently. Sometimes he screamed.

The men of the ward, who spend much of their time comparing cases, know he is in very bad condition.

The sergeant is heavily bandaged about the stomach and face. The night he was brought in, doctors worked over him for several hours, often three at a time trying to save his life.

FRAGMENT WOUNDS

Over the sergeant's bed there is a sign displaying the big red "11" of the 1st Infantry Division and his name, rank, serial number, unit and type of injury. It says he suffered multiple fragment wounds.

In the bed to the left of the sergeant there is a soldier with an unrecognizable face. He babbles and moans beneath his thick bandages.

In the bed to the right is a boyish, red-haired, freckled artilleryman. He was wounded in the battle at Bu Dop Dec. 3. He is very pale. Sweat rolls from his face. The stump of his right arm lies on his chest, held in place by a rope fixed to the ceiling.

Despite the loss, he seems to be recovering. When the tall sergeant cries out in pain, the young artilleryman gives him a smile.

Now it is 7:30 p.m. The young artilleryman motions to Spec. 5 Vincent J. Peters, a male nurse from Manitowoc, Wis., and asks to be moved in front of the TV set.

A CHRISTMAS TREE

A 10-inch plastic Christmas tree stands between the bed of the young artilleryman and the bed of the man who is going to die.

The big sergeant ignores the blaring television. He pleads for water, but it cannot be given to him because of his wounds.

It is 7:35 p.m. and another male nurse moves from bed to bed, handing out Christmas cookies that came in a package from the States.

The Vietnamese war news is coming via television. The announcer tells of more than 400 enemy killed in the Mekong Delta, new clashes along the demilitarized zone, air raids over North Vietnam. Some of the patients stare at the ceiling as they listen. The red-haired boy with the stump for an arm looks at the set, but his eyes seem to be somewhere else.

Legislator Hits Gas Profiteers

LANSING (UPI)—State Rep. David M. Serotkin, R-Mount Clemens, says he has received complaints that some service stations have blamed a increase in gasoline prices on the recently enacted one-penny state gas tax hike.

Serotkin noted the increase in the tax from six to seven cents a gallon doesn't go into effect until Jan. 1.

"This misrepresentation smacks of profiteering at the expense of the public while trying to shift the blame to the state of Michigan and the Legislature," said Serotkin.

"I would also like to warn gasoline consumers that the increase in the state gasoline tax, when it does go into effect, will be one cent per gallon and no more."

Then the male nurse with the cookies, Spec. 3 John McDeth of Marion, Ohio, drops the box on a bed and rushes across the room.

The head of the tall sergeant has fallen back. His mouth and eyes are open. Peters also rushes to the bed. They take turns massaging his broad chest. McDeth, who is only 22, looks very young now.

Lt. Kathleen Costello, a pretty 21-year-old nurse from Danbury, Conn., suddenly loses the cheerful manner that marks her daily rounds among the wounded. She leans over the tall sergeant and for a moment tries mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Then she looks up, puts both hands to her head and pushes up her hair. She is near tears as a nervous giggle escapes from her mouth.

Then she reaches for the telephone, dials and gets a busy signal. The eyes of nearly all the patients are on her. She hangs down the phone, lights a cigarette, tries the phone again, still busy.

"PLEASE, HURRY"

"Please," she says, "somebody run to the emergency room, hurry."

Over the television set comes sports news from the States.

A sailor, admitted a week ago with a shattered hand and with bandages over an eye, runs from the ward slipperless and wearing only blue hospital pajama pants.

The two male nurses continue to massage the giant chest. Nurse Costello prepares a hypodermic. Only three minutes have passed.

The doctor, found in his quarters, walks into the ward, wearing civilian clothing. He walks fast, long brisk paces. All the eyes follow him as he moves down the aisle. He fingers his stethoscope and leans over the sergeant while the male nurses continue their efforts to pump life back into the big body.

NURSE IS PALE

Nurse Costello stands at his side, ready with the shot. She is very pale, her hair still in disorder.

Now it is 8:05 p.m. The doctor reaches out and with a quick movement, pulls the sheet over the sergeant's face.

Over the television there is a newscast going back to the days of the Korean War. It shows Gen. Douglas MacArthur speaking before the U.S. Congress. As the doctor pulls up the sheet, the general is saying "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away..."

Nurse Costello steps away, straightening her hair, and again the nervous giggle that is almost a sob escapes her. The two male nurses light cigarettes. Their hands tremble.

ONLY ONE VOICE

For a half a second, everything in the ward is quiet. There is no sound except the old general's voice on the television.

A screen is placed around the bed of the dead sergeant, excluding it from the rest of the ward. The red-haired soldier with the stump of an arm presses his face into his pillow.

The doctor strides out, the same quick pace. He looks bitter.

Another larger screen is brought in and placed around the sergeant's bed, as if to give the dead man a moment's privacy.

WHAT TO DO?

No one seems to know what to do. Some of the patients try to concentrate on a World War II battle that now flickers across the television screen.

The boom of real artillery fire from a nearby South Vietnamese outpost shakes the building and clinks the plasma bottles that hang over the beds. The nurses listen to the rumble of the guns.

Two medics come into the ward through the rear door. They wrap the body in blankets and lift it to a roller stretcher. The rubber tires of the wheels make no noise as the stretcher is pushed from the ward.

Now it is 8:15 p.m. Another male nurse, Pfc. Thomas Overholser, takes down the sign bearing the patch of the Big Red 1.

A woman from the Red Cross comes into the ward. She wears a light flowered dress and goes from bed to bed handing out cookies. No one tells her what has happened.

'YOU'RE GETTING SLEEPY'—Kenneth M. Fox, a certified hypnotist, isn't creating those light swirls. The photograph is a combination of two pictures created to dramatize the hypnotist's power of suggestion. Basically, hypnotism functions by breaking down fear, Fox says.

Hypnotism Viewed as Valuable Tool

PORT HURON (AP) — The ancient art of hypnotism is one of the most valuable tools of modern medicine, psychology and criminology, says one of its practitioners.

The statement was made recently by Kenneth M. Fox, certified by the National Association of Ethical Hypnosis, when he spoke to the St. Clair County Medical Assistants Society.

First of all, said Fox, hypnosis is not "sleep" but a twilight zone between waking and sleep.

A hypnotized person is in full charge of his faculties, Fox said.

The hypnotist has no strange or unusual power over the subject. He is merely an operator, a guide. The cooperative subject readily accepts his suggestions as long as the suggestions are not contrary to the subject's belief or morals.

Fox said the subject is not a victim. Hypnosis puts him in a relaxed state of mind in which his fears and inhibitions are taken away.

He cannot be made to do anything that he would not ordinarily do if these fears and inhibitions were not present. Nor will he do anything that he really does not want to do.

The human mind operates on two levels, the conscious and the subconscious. Fox described the subconscious as the "tape recorder of the mind."

Everything that an individual learns or experiences makes an indelible impression on the subconscious. It is never lost, Fox said. Forgetting is a phenomena peculiar to the conscious state of mind. Because so many other things are piled upon these indelible impressions, they tend to become buried or obscured in the conscious state.

Hypnosis makes it possible, said Fox, to play back the subconscious tape recorder. Witnesses to automobile accidents have been able to give a complete and accurate description of a car and even its license plate number under hypnosis, he said. The accident, which may have been seen only as a momentary flash, is permanently recorded on the tape recorder of the mind.

Just as hypnosis can remove a mental block through the power of suggestion, it can also create a mental block to remove pain. According to Fox, some 35,000 surgical operations were performed in the past year with hypnosis as the anesthetic. No fatalities occurred, he said.

Hypnosis is also gaining a reputation as an anesthetic to achieve the most natural childbirth without pain.

By accepting the suggestions of the hypnotist, a mother can physically contract and relax her muscles at just the right time so that it is not necessary for the doctor to take the baby with forceps.

It takes a great deal of conditioning of the expectant mother and she must have complete confidence and trust in the hypnotist. But with his understanding and her willingness to cooperate, the entire delivery can be accomplished painlessly, Fox said.

Doctor Says the Pill Betters Home Feeling

NEW YORK (AP) — The oral contraceptive pill has changed the American family's way of life and has brought about improved relations in the home, says Dr. John Rock in the current issue of Family Circle.

In a question and answer session with the magazine, Dr. Rock, director of the Rock Reproductive Clinic in Brookline, Mass., and one of the developers of the first oral contraceptive, discusses the Pill. Here are some of the points he makes:

QUESTION: Dr. Rock, few discoveries have wrought greater changes in the American home than the oral contraceptive pill that you helped develop. From your observations, would you say that these changes have been for the better?

Dr. Rock: Oh, unquestionably. We frequently hear from people who use the Pill—that's all they call it, the Pill; it has become part of the language—and they say that their domestic atmosphere is "wonderfully relaxed," "immeasurably improved," "pleasurable to everyone," and so on.

Q: To what do you attribute this improvement in family relations?

A: For the first time, couples can limit the size of their families safely and surely—the Pill is the only contraceptive that is 100 per cent effective—without limiting their sexual enjoyment and satisfaction. And that, of course, is very important in nourishing love and affection between husband and wife and also between parents and children.

Q: Is the fear of pregnancy an important factor in unsatisfactory sexual relationships?

A: Oh, of course. Fear of pregnancy is a very common factor in a woman's lack of adequate response. How can a wife be uninhibited, let herself go, when she fears an unwelcome pregnancy? Or when she and her husband have all their children they want and can manage—all they can rear in body and mind to happy constructive adulthood—and they regard the advent of another child as a disaster, a serious threat to the family?

Q: What about the disadvantages of the Pill? There had been quite a lot of publicity about undesirable side effects.

A: Well, there are always some undesirable side effects in every potent medication. And there are always scaremongers. Oral contraceptives act by inhibiting ovulation in the same manner the body inhibits ovulation during pregnancy—to prevent multiple conceptions and miscarriage. Therefore, any of the common disturbances of pregnancy—nausea, headache, abdominal cramps, lethargy, nervousness, water retention and so on—may be produced by the Pill.

ALREADY FOUND
I know of no medical research that has detected unfavorable effects of the Pill that haven't already been found postulatory or during pregnancy or lactation.

This doesn't mean that the Pill is for everyone. No drug or contraceptive is. This proves only that the Pill must be taken under the supervision of a competent physician and directions followed.

Q: When that is done, is it perfectly safe? For future children as well as the mother?

A: Perfectly safe.

Q: If the Pill is so effective, why do some women who use it become pregnant?

A: Because the don't use it regularly, properly. The failure rate is not in the Pill but in the person.

Army's Command College Draws Top U. S. Soldiers

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — "Comrades, we must infiltrate the labor unions in order to overthrow this government of capitalist pigs."

Several dozen men in the audience pounced their tables in approval as the speaker outlined detailed plans aimed at subverting and capturing the South American nation of Colombia.

But this meeting of a "Communist cell" was not taking place in a grimy Bogota cellar but in an immaculate classroom overlooking the Missouri River in the heart of the United States.

And the speaker was a U.S. Army officer, trim and crew-cut, who talked with a defunct national drawl.

LEARNING POLITICS

It was another exercise at the Army's Command and General Staff College, a venerable, but now computerized institution which has trained the nation's top soldiers.

The 1,343 student officers in the college must learn politics as well as how to supply an infantry division, economics in addition to coordinating rocket attacks.

Nearly every top career American soldier of this century — including Gens. Douglas MacArthur and Dwight D. Eisenhower — attended the college, established by Maj. Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman in 1861.

The school's job is to train officers to command or staff units of division size and larger. There is virtually no hope of reaching top Army rank without completing the course. Congress also is being asked to authorize the college to confer a master's degree in military art and science.

HALF ARE CHOSEN

Only about half the officers in the Army are chosen to attend the 38-week course. Some 88 per cent of this year's class already hold college degrees, including 19 with doctorates. About 64 per cent of the students and 47 per cent of the faculty have served in Vietnam.

The students are majors or lieutenant colonels, average age 35 and with about 12 years' duty behind them. This year, for the first time, six women are enrolled in the regular course.

"We don't want to turn out people who simply parrot some pat answers," explained a faculty spokesman. "We want someone who can intelligently weigh all facets of a problem and come up with a logical course of action."

"What we want to produce are problem solvers."

Some of these problem solvers are not Americans at all, but army officers from other nations. College officials prefer to call them "allied officers" on grounds it sounds more friendly than "foreign officers."

Ranging in rank from captain to brigadier general, the 37 allied personnel in the current class come from 51 countries.

End of DDT Use on Trees Is Urged

EAST GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — City Manager Fred Tholen of East Grand Rapids has recommended the city discontinue the use of DDT to control Dutch Elm disease and drop from participation in a suit brought by the State Conservation Department against East Grand Rapids and seven other municipalities.

The conservation department charges that use of DDT is harmful to fish and wildlife.

Tholen made the recommendations to the city commission after discussions with the State Attorney General's office. The commission took no action.

Holland Teachers Table Proposal

HOLLAND (AP) — Public school teachers in Holland Monday tabled a two-year salary offer from the Board of Education and indicated they would seek another meeting with the school board before voting on the offer. The 219 teachers, represented by the Holland Education Association, are working under a court order and without a contract.

School Supt. Donald Ihman said the board offered a salary range of $5,950 to $10,500.

Besides such traditionally friendly nations as England and the Philippines, the class includes officers from neutral countries including Sweden and Ethiopia. There are two officers from Communist Yugoslavia.

They attend the same classes as U.S. students but do not have access to classified material and are graded separately. The more than 3,000 foreign graduates number nine heads of state, including President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, Class of 1957.

ON OTHER SIDE

Is the Army nervous about teaching its military methods to officers who someday might be fighting on the other side?

"No," replied a staff officer of the college. "Principles of warfare are pretty standard anyway. And we figure if we show these people what the United States is really like, they might go back home and tell their friends we're not the two-headed imperialist monster they thought we were."

The foreign officers themselves say they are greatly impressed by the training program, but they do have some criticisms.

Said Maj. Franz H. Schild of Germany: "In our army, we tell our unit commanders their mission in a few sentences. How they accomplish it is their business. In your army, every move is planned to the smallest detail."

LOST THE WAR

The tall German added, with a grin, "Of course, we lost the war fighting it our way."

Maj. Richard C. Wigglesworth of Great Britain disagreed with the idea that Americans are entangled in red tape. Detailed planning is essential, he said, to operate armed forces the size of those maintained by the United States.

Teaching techniques at the college fascinate Lt. Col. Hajime Araki of Japan, who expects to teach at his own country's staff school when he returns. Araki said he was especially impressed by the system of having the instructor merely guide the class and let it work out its own problems instead of lecturing on a solution.

'COMPLEX PROBLEM'

Lt. Col. Nikola Antic of Yugoslavia said although he teaches tactics in his own nation's military academy, he is taking a course here in logistics, "even though I don't like the subject." "Now I realize what difficulties the Allies had in sending us help during the war," the Yugoslav officer said. "At the time many of us thought you were just not willing to help us, but I can see now how complex a problem it was."

Brig. Gen. Davidson Amenu of Ghana pointed out many of the allied officers choose internal defense—fighting insurgents from within—as their elective subject.

"It might be something we'll have to face when we return home," he explained wryly.

That bears out the aim of the Army's Command and General Staff College.

Captive Sheikh Is Dilemma for India

THEIR WAY

Before this step can be taken, however, she must get the 62-year-old sheikh off her hands. With the rules gone, it would be difficult to find a legal excuse to continue detaining him short of charging him with something like treason—and this would likely whip up more Kashmiri support for Abdullah.

At the same time, the government fears a fully free Abdullah would return to Kashmir, where he was the state's first prime minister, and rekindle the independence movement.

Abdullah was held at a south

Indian hill resort until last June. Then he was brought to New Delhi for treatment of diabetes and lodged in a private home, at a cost to the government of more than $2,000 per month.

This month, the government announced it was permitting him to move about within New Delhi so long as he did not talk to newsmen, any foreigners or any public meetings.

A TRIAL STEP

Sources close to Mrs. Gandhi said the move was decided upon as a trial step toward eventual full freedom. They added that although the new order restricted the sheikh to New Delhi, the real intent is to keep him from going to Kashmir.

The same sources said Abdullah could talk to any foreigners except Pakistanis and foreign newsmen. The order was worded differently so as not to stir up tirades from Pakistan.

Abdullah refused to play ball. He wrote to the government saying:

"I have come to the conclusion not to accept this order and would rather prefer the existing position as it stood before the order was served upon me."

A BETTER COURSE

"Rather than taking halfway measures, the better course for the government of India would have been to remove all the restrictions put upon me since May 1965 in order to undo the grave injustice that has been done to me by keeping me under detention continuously for almost 14 years without any charges."

The Hindu Times called the government's partial lifting of restrictions an inadequate gesture. It said: "As long as he is debarred from entering Kashmir and from stating his views in the press directly and on the record, he is no better off than before."

The newspaper reported an "increasing number of Indians whose consciences are revolted by the continued detention without trial of a man who served the country well at one time. He was a leader in the struggle for independence from Britain continuously for almost 14 years."

The Times of India said: "The decision to remove some of the restrictions on Sheikh Abdullah makes sense only on the assumption that the government has a clear idea of what it is going to do next. It has fumbled so often in the past in dealing with him that some degree of apprehension over the latest move is inevitable."

Banking in the United States really began with the chartering of the Bank of North America in 1872. There were no real banks in colonial days.

Mexico Has New Plastic

By Science Service

MEXICO CITY — The world's plastics industry will face serious competition from Mexico where scientists have developed a new formula, now top secret, which will be used to make a variety of products from here.

"We are keeping this under wraps," said Miguel Olea Enriquez, head of Cordomex, the government's official henequen agency.

"But when we release an announcement on the formula Mexico will have a three-year lead on other countries in development of the new products."

The new formula was developed as part of a modernization of Cordomex, and a search for new uses of henequen, as ordered by President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz.

Olea said that formal announcement will not be made until the current 200 small henequen mills are consolidated into 18 efficient, modern plants, each specializing in one type of product.

Abdullah refused to play ball. He wrote to the government saying:

"I have come to the conclusion not to accept this order and would rather prefer the existing position as it stood before the order was served upon me."

Shows Must Go On at Disneyland

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Mickey Mouse whammed a 10-foot-high bass drum as Cinderella rode in an enormous pumpkin coach. In a special, one-night-only prelude, Gregory Peck read the scripture—"Unto you is born a savior"—and 800 choristers sang of joy to the world.

Thus Christmas arrival Saturday night at Disneyland in a light rain defied by participants and hundreds of spectators. And the late, shrewd showman founder, Walt Disney, would have been delighted at this third annual edition of his $500,000 creation, "Fantasy on Parade."

The twice-a-day, Christmas-season pageant, starring 40 years of dancing Disney characters from little pigs to Mary Poppins, is only a segment of kaleidoscopic special attractions that keep customers coming back all year.

"Disneyland is a show, and you can't run the same show year in and year out," says marketing director Jack Lindquist, one of the bright young lieutenants who carry on the Disney tradition.

PARTIES FOR GRADS

During Easter vacation there are special stage shows and parades. June brings 11 p.m.-to-5 a.m. graduation parties—seven 60 per cent under 21 and include nights of them this year with a total attendance of 75,000 young-people bussed directly from high school auditoriums, some with diplomas still in hand.

Big companies and unions book the whole park for private parties on Friday and Saturday nights from September through May. The cost—from a minimum $22,500 for 6,000 people—usually is shared by company and employees. For the first time, all weekend nights this season already are taken.

New Year's Eve at liquorless Disneyland has been sold out in advance the past three years. The crowds, at $9 per head, are

One Case Runs Into Another

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — A St. Joseph woman charged with running a school stop sign had good reason not to appear in Municipal Court as scheduled. Judge W. Harry Wilson reported that an attorney called to say the woman was involved in an accident on her way to court and had been taken to a hospital for examination. The judge continued her case.

ATTENDANCE UP

Attendance for the park's fiscal year ended Sept. 30 was 7.9 million, up from the previous year's record 6.7 million. Estimated gross income this year: $81 million; last year's record, $41 million.

The only sign at Disneyland of Disney's death a year and five days ago was half-staffing of the town square flag for the day.

"The park never closed for a second," an aide says. "Walt would have wanted it that way."

Among the park's 1,500 year-round employees, says entertainment director Bob Jani, "there was a new incentive. Suddenly it was like the show-must-go-on but with a special meaning. Everybody realized it was on his shoulders to carry on."

PILOT PROGRAM — Riverside School fifth grader Mike Anderson, 10, of 1142 Airport, Waterford Township, works at the computer console at the Waterford Township School District's Data Processing Center. Looking on are Board of Education Treasurer Donald W. Porter and Robert Miles of 6191 Cooley Lake, a Waterford Township High School senior enrolled in the data processing cooperative education program. It is part of a program to introduce district elementary pupils to the computer and to make the data processing center an extension of the basic classroom.

Waterford School Contract for Indicom Equipment Due

The awarding of a contract for purchase of an estimated $485,000 worth of equipment for the Waterford Township School District's Indicom project is expected at tomorrow night's 7:30 meeting of the board of education.

Among the equipment to be purchased with federal funds are a computer and eight student terminals.

Indicom is a three-year experimental project in individualized instruction to be developed through the use of a computer.

In other business tomorrow night, the board is expected to ratify a contract with Local 1295, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO.

The union represents custodians, maintenance personnel, cafeteria workers and school bus drivers working in the district.

FOR SECOND TIME

Contract agreement previously reached by negotiating teams representing the board and union.

The board also will consider for the second time approval of preliminary plans for a football grandstand at Charles S. Mott High School.

Approval was delayed at board's Dec. 7 meeting because cutbacks.

The estimated $65,000 construction cost for the structure would finance the grandstand, superstructure, seating, foundation, rough plumbing and a press box.

PRELIMINARY PLANS

Also tomorrow night, the board will discuss preliminary plans for school district operation during the 1968-69 school year.

The recent defeat by township voters of a proposed 7½-mill property tax increase could result in numerous operational cutbacks.

City Affairs

City commissioners last night received major recommendations from the Pontiac Housing Study Committee's executive committee aimed at reducing housing problems in the city.

The recommendations endorsed are those suggested by a national economic firm, Larry Smith and Co., which earlier this year completed an intensive study of housing in the city.

The study was paid for by private funds raised by the committee which is composed of 25 members including some of the top business and civic leaders in the community.

Howard H. Fitzgerald II, publisher of The Pontiac Press, is chairman of the committee which organized to study housing problems.

The recommendations submitted to the commission:

- Vigorous enforcement of building and housing codes and rehabilitation standards.
- Development of urban renewal programs to provide new housing units and to provide for rehabilitation of structurally sound, but inadequate, housing.
- Elimination of discrimination and progress toward open housing in the city with a long-term goal of encouraging open occupancy in neighboring communities.
- Development of a nonprofit organization to take advantage of a variety of federal programs and encourage private programs aimed at developing low-cost housing units.
- Development of a public housing program acceptable to the city as well as a program for the multiproblem low-income families ineligible for public housing for non-economic reasons.
- Establishment of counseling and housing information service programs which could be administered by private social service agencies or by the city.

In a letter to the commission, Ken Morris, regional director of the United Auto Workers and a member of the executive committee, quoted the Smith report as stating:

"All of the above can be achieved in Pontiac in the next years. The pursuit of these policies should result in an improvement in the housing inventory supply and also provide for a lessening of the critical housing shortage in the city."

Morris said the committee had applied for assistance in meeting Pontiac's housing problems from the recently formed Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority (MDCDA).

Walter Reuther, president of the UAW, is chairman of the authority which was formed to meet the urban and social problems which are causing unrest and violence.

$6 MILLION

Officials said the authority has accumulated some $6 million donated by large corporations and labor unions.

Morris said the housing study committee had requested the MDCDA establish an office in Pontiac which would be staffed by a qualified expert in the specialized housing field.

The committee also requested that any office be "under the direction of a Pontiac citizens advisory committee which would be representative of our community as well as providing the vehicle for implementing, communicating and coordinating programs."

In suggesting formation of a nonprofit corporation to meet housing needs, Morris said, many government programs are inadequate and inflexible.

Areas that a nonprofit organization could operate, he said, are:

- Development of lower and middle income rental housing under a 22½d program where the government guarantees mortgages of rental units. Tenants are limited in income.
 - Acquisition and rehabilitation of housing in all areas of the city for rent to low and middle income families.
 - Assisting minority groups in renting or purchasing homes.
 - Assisting families in the purchase of housing by maximum utilization of federal grants, loans and special mortgage insurance programs for low income, elderly, displaced and other groups.
- The City Commission received the recommendations of the study committee and indicated they will be discussed at future commission meetings before any action is taken.

For Parks Department

Weed-Cutting Business Grows

Weed cutting on empty lots is getting to be quite a business for the city's department of parks and recreation.

Director of Engineering and Public Works Joseph E. Neippling last night told city commissioners that the city took action to cut weeds on 2,538 lots during the past year and sent out bills with a potential income of $4,006.

The city made 3,913 inspections before notifying the owners to cut weeds or the city would do it and charge them, Neippling said.

So far, he said, $2,697 has been paid.

In other action, the commission approved a street naming for a newly constructed leg of M59. The four lanes of M59 split just east of Paddock with an unnamed leg running from that point curving away from M59 in a ramp type construction ending at University Drive across from Omar.

E. HURON STREET

Commissioners approved naming this East Huron Street so police officers will be able to pinpoint traffic accidents and incidents on their reports.

Neippling also told commissioners that the proposed Levinson Drain, which will serve part of the southeast section of the city and parts of Bloomfield Township and Pontiac Township, is now being designed. At a public hearing on the project Friday the county drainage board declared the project a public necessity.

The design is expected to be completed within 90 days.

Commissioners also approved changes in city ordinances which make the city clerk's office rather than the police department responsible for licensing bicycles. The move cuts down on nonpolice work by the department.

ZONING REQUESTS

Two rezoning requests received by the commission were referred to the planning commission.

They ask for rezoning of four lots on the northwest corner of Baldwin and Harriet for apartments and a strip on the east side of Telegraph south from Glendale for commercial construction.

Commissioners also heard a proposal from D. B. Eames, president of a local plumbing and heating contracting firm, to purchase a 10-acre city-owned site on Opdyke next to the city's water pumping station.

He also proposed to sell to the city a parcel at the northeast corner of Mill and Pike. City Manager Joseph Warren said appraisals should be completed in two weeks and the commission could then discuss the offer.

Corncob Board Hard, Durable

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Discarded corncocks are the basic ingredient of a hard, water-repellent, noncombustible wallboard developed recently at the Iowa State University of Science and Technology.

According to patent assigned to the product, the corncob board has high strength and can be sanded, sawed, painted and drilled. Iowa's only rival in the production of corn (and corncocks) is Illinois.

Congressmen Guard the Pork Barrel

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Economy was the big word this year in Capitol Hill, and few major federal spending programs emerged unscathed. But did the shears flash with equal consistency over congressmen's home district projects? Here is a revealing report on the fiscal record of the session just passed.)

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Many members of Congress talked a lot about budget-cutting economy, but many of the same members voted millions of dollars for new or bigger spending on projects of home state interest.

This emerges from a study of the record of the first session of the 90th Congress which adjourned last Friday on the eve of an election year.

For example:
• Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., brought off a $1 billion foreign aid cut, the biggest in his history, as chairman of a house subcommittee. He also won approval of an unbudgeted $40,000 sealaw at Monroe in his home state Louisiana district.

• Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., while frequently denouncing Johnson administration "Great Society" spending, was seeking an unbudgeted $728,000 dredge a channel in Harrison County in his Mississippi Gulf Coast district.

• Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, supported efforts on the Senate floor to eliminate unbudgeted public works projects. But he earlier tried to get two for his home state, $225,000 for planning in connection with the Trinity River Basin project, and $25,000 for a comprehensive study of the Red River above Denison.

PATTERN

Such examples of "pork barrel" projects followed a well-established congressional pattern. Likewise, economists in Congress displayed little interest in reducing its own operations, the vast defense budget—which accounts for half of all federal spending—such things as the supersonic transport, veterans' benefits or the fight against Communism.

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee put it into perspective Oct. 4 when he rebuked fellow committee member Garner E. Shriver, a Kansas Republican.

Mahon noted that Shriver, who led the fight to cut foreign aid funds, has been "a star for economy in the committee on appropriations" but was opposing a reduction in federal school aid for his district.

"The gentleman from Kansas wanted to achieve economy but not at the expense of his district. But I must say," Mahon added, "that most of all of us are alike in that regard."

Mahon was saying, in effect, that many who advocate budget slashing react quite differently when the needs of their own district are at stake.

A case in point is Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., who operates with Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, as the chief House watchdogs on spending and hidden costs.

"It is time a Congress which controls appropriations begins to cut off the water in budgets and debts at its source," Hall told the House Feb. 6 in opposing an increase in the legal ceiling on the national debt.

But on March 14, the Missouri Republican wrote to the House Appropriations Committee asking it to add $125,000 to funds for range management and research in connection with conversion of brush land to pasture.

GETS LAUGH

When federal spending became a big issue, Rep. Charles E. Joelson, D-N.J., got quite a laugh when he suggested that one way to cut it would be for each member to make a list of projects in his district that could be eliminated.

President Johnson had asked for funds to start nine new public works projects. The House knocked out four while adding 16—including Otto Passman's sealaw—for a total of 21. The Senate Appropriations Committee then restored the four and added another 25 for a total of 46.

Sen. John Williams, R-Del., sought to knock out the 41 extra projects, involving total future commitments of $475 million, but lost 61 to 17. He then tried to cut the $4.7 billion bill by 5 per cent but lost 64 to 27.

Later in the year, when Congress made one major move to cut spending by passing a measure directing executive branch cuts of some $4.1 billion, Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., tried to include Congress and the courts.

"WAR WITH WASTE"

"We are at war with waste and I do not want the legislative branch to operate as draft dodgers in that war," Mundt told the Senate. He lost 44 to 29.

Some months earlier, however, he had voiced concern about the low rate of federal spending in South Dakota.

Whatever the result of congressional economy efforts, Republicans—especially in the House—claimed the chief credit. "The heart and core of our united Republican effort has been the cutting back of federal expenditures for nonessential purposes," House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said.

VOTES FOR INCREASE

But on Sept. 11, Ford joined a majority of the House in voting 225 to 83 to increase by $8 million the authorization for the Missouri River Basin project. So did such Missouri Valley economists as Hall, Gross, and Reps. John Kyl and William J. Scherle, Iowa Republicans.

In its Dec. 4 newsletter, the republican Congressional Committee listed GOP initiatives in cutting spending and quoted Rep. Jack Edwards, R-Ala., as saying President Johnson was responsible for urging "vastly wasteful and nonessential domestic spending programs."

But seven months earlier, Edwards joined four Alabama colleagues—Democratic Reps. Robert E. Jones, Armistead I. Selden Jr., and Tom Beville; and Republican Rep. John Buchanan—in urging that the $200,000 budgeted for locks on the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway be raised to $450,000.

While the bulk of votes cast this year against appropriations bills were by Republicans, some Democrats rolled up "economy" records too.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee became the chief congressional spokesman for spending cutbacks when he made it clear the Johnson administration could not hope to win approval of a tax increase without substantial spending cuts.

But Mills voted against all six Republican efforts to cut back spending by five per cent on the appropriations bills for Interior, Treasury, Post Office, Agriculture, State-Justice-Commerce, Transportation and Public Works.

One place where there was little interest in economy was the operations of Congress itself.

While busily cutting administration budget requests and executive branch spending, Congress voted for more trips home for House members, increased stationery and postage allowances and for an additional electric typewriter for each House member.

And the Senate on July 10 voted 48 to 31 for a proposal by Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., to give each senator a $23,400-a-year legislative assistant—at a total cost of $23.4 million.

In the House, the uproar was terrific when Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, D-Fla., tried Oct. 18 to include Congress in a proposal to cut back federal spending for personnel by five per cent.

Sikes' amendment lost on a 134-66 nonrecord vote.

When it came to helping veterans and fighting Communists, the economy talk subsided.

• Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., who voted against more appropriations bills than any other House member, joined in a unanimous vote to increase servicemen's pensions by $236 million and also supported a mid-decade census, expected to cost $60 million-$200 million, because rapid updating of population figures would increase the federal aid for his rapidly growing suburban district.

• Mundt, Tower, James O. Eastland, D-Miss., John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., all voted against William's effort to delete a $25,000 appropriation for the Subversive Activities Control Board in the midst of a controversy over appointment of Simon F. McHugh Jr., husband of a former presidential secretary, to a $25,000-a-year post on the virtually dormant board.

And when Congress voted to raise the pay of federal workers, the board members each got a $2,000 annual raise.

When Congress finally did pass an economy measure—the directive to cut federal spending by $4.1 billion—it exempted most if not all of the $70 billion defense budget which comprises half of all federal spending.

"If the members really want to cut the budget down," Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., told the House Oct. 3, "then let them look at where we are spending the money—defense—and cut it at that point."

But the record shows:
• The House on June 13 approved the defense budget 407 to 1, and the only dissenter, Rep. George E. Brown Jr., D-Calif., failed to get a roll-call vote on an effort to cut five per cent.

• On Sept. 12, it approved the defense budget conference report 356 to 4, with Brown and three New York Democrats, Reps. Leonard Farbstein, John J. Rooney and William F. Ryan, in opposition.

But Mrs. Griffiths, who voted for that measure both times, did join with 25 others—mostly anti-war Democrats—to oppose the military construction appropriation, continuing about 3 per cent as much as the main defense bill.

Christmas Message Not Taken to Heart

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director National Urban League

To me, the symbol of this Christmas is the uncompleted Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine in New York City. Construction work on the church has been stopped by Episcopal Bishop Horace W. B. Donegan. Scaffolding will circle the uncompleted tower, remaining as a symbol of the anguish of the slums.

The Cathedral, Bishop Donegan said, "shall be the prophetic symbol that our society is still as rough-hewn, ragged, broken and incomplete as the building itself."

His eloquent words could not be more true. We celebrate Christmas and its message of love and brotherhood, but does our society really believe its message?

YOUNG The symbols, the words, and the rites are there, but the meaning of peace and brotherhood is missing. Sure, this is a season of rejoicing and good cheer, but it should also be a time when men look deep into their hearts and examine their true feelings and their actions. For if the events of the past year proved anything, they showed that too many people harbor feelings of racism and bigotry.

MUST BE HONEST People who used to think they were unprejudiced now have to be more honest with themselves.

It was easy for them when the civil rights struggle was centered in the South. Who couldn't support a fight against the racist actions of some Deep South sheriffs.

But now the battle has moved North, and it is about basic things like housing and education and jobs. And these same people, who thought themselves so right-thinking, suddenly panic when integration means a Negro family next door.

They couldn't quite bring themselves to admit they were prejudiced, so they used all sorts of excuses.

GOT UPSET They said Negroes were getting too militant, or they got upset about slogans like "Black Power." Finally, instead of seeing the riots as desperate explosions of anger at intolerable living conditions, they made riots their excuse for their prejudices.

I remember meeting one fellow recently who told me that he lost his sympathy for "my people" after the riots. I asked him what he did when we had his sympathy. "Did you employ Negro workers? Did you help Negroes to move into your neighborhood? Did you do anything at all to help Negroes break down the barriers of segregation?"

When he admitted that he didn't do any of these things, I told him that we really weren't going to miss his support. Nothing from nothing leaves nothing.

HONEST RESPONSE Like many other people, this fellow's response to the riots has been honest. Now he can admit to disliking Negroes. He couldn't before, since everyone was hung up on lip-service to integration, but now he and others can be honest about it.

That's a positive sign. Hypocrisy leaves nothing to build on, but honest confrontation does. If he and others like him had acted when they were "sympathetic," we might not have had riots. But now that he knows he doesn't like Negroes, he might come to realize that like it or not, Negroes are here, and their demands will have to be answered, and he just might have to do something constructive for a change.

25-Year Hunt Ends for Half of Painting

NEW YORK (AP) — For 25 years Dr. Otto Kallir has been searching for the second part of an early painting that Grandma Moses—in a burst of what she called "Scottish thrift"—had sliced in half to sell as two pictures.

Recently a man carried a painting into Kallir's Galerie St. Etienne to see if it was a real Grandma Moses or a fake as some friends said. He had inherited it from his mother, who had told him it was the real thing.

"I recognized it at once as the half I had been looking for," explains Kallir, who handled Grandma's work from the beginning.

The two parts of "The Shendoad Valley" were shown in her first exhibition at his gallery in October 1940, "and at that time nobody paid much attention to them. One was later sold and the other remained in my possession," says Kallir.

CONFESSION

After Anna Mary Robertson Moses, of Eagle Bridge N.Y., became famous, she confessed to Kallir about how she cut the picture in half.

"It came about this way, she said: One day in 1930 Louis J. Caldor of New York City, engineer and art collector who is credited with discovering Grandma Moses, who began painting when she was 80, saw

Lindsay Signs Cigarette Law

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has signed into a law a bill requiring the city's 40,000 cigarette dealers to buy annual licenses.

The law is aimed at the dealer who has been selling contraband or untaxed cigarettes bought in other states and shipped here for distribution to the public.

Roy M. Goodman, the city's finance administrator, has said the cigarette smuggling is costing New York $20 million a year.

Under the new law, retailers will pay $3 a year for licenses and wholesalers will pay $10.

The law gives the city the right to suspend the license of any dealer selling cigarettes for which city taxes are not being paid.

Terrorist Army Is Growing in Thailand

BANGKOK (AP) — Ho Chi Minh once lived in the northeast provinces of Thailand near the town of Udorn, where U.S. fighter bombers now roar off to bomb around Hanoi.

At the time Ho lived in Udorn he was a political refugee from the French. Today, officials say he is repaying the Thais by supporting a growing army of Communist terrorists, many of them trained at a special school in North Vietnam, in an effort to start a Vietcong-style war of national liberation in Thailand.

In recent years Communist cadres, infiltrated into Thailand by way of Laos and the Mekong River, have succeeded in building up a terrorist movement which military officers say numbers about 1,000. Some official estimates put the terrorists' strength at 3,000.

They operate in bands numbering 60 or more. They raid villages, ambush police, assassinate village leaders and distribute anti-government, anti-American propaganda, apparently at will.

THAI FARMERS

The targets of both terrorists and government are the minds and hearts of the neglected, impoverished northeast Thai farmers.

The wary northeasterners, more closely related to the neighboring Lao than he is to his fellow Thais, is caught in the middle of the battle he does not understand.

On one side the increasingly powerful terrorist movement is attempting to win his support. On the other the government, represented mainly by the police, army and officials appointed by Bangkok, is attempting to retain his loyalty.

The northeast provinces, Loi,

Nongkhai, Udorn, Sakon Nakhon, Kalasin and Udon, contain eight million people in an area roughly the size of Oklahoma.

SMALLER, DARKER

The people are smaller and darker than those of central Thailand. They are poor and superstitious and speak a dialect that sophisticated Thais find amusing in a hillbilly kind of way.

When it rains the land turns to mud, and floods ravage the countryside. When it is dry large areas become dust bowls.

Although the seven northeast provinces hold one quarter of Thailand's total population, the average income of $42.50 a year is less than half the $97.50 earned by the country.

Despite U.S.-assisted programs, the northeast villager sees a policeman once a year on average and other officials less often than that.

How real is the danger?

According to an American adviser who has been in the northeast for 2½ years, "It is very real."

"At the moment, the terrorists are in phase one of the activities," he said.

"They are organizing, flexing their muscles, developing their tactics and winning support both through propaganda and selective applications of terror."

"They have been playing the part of Robin Hood up until now. Any one who kills a money-lender or an unpopular government official is bound to get popular."

"The terrorists don't kill indiscriminately. They kill informers and officials."

"Once they have enough support in the countryside they will move into the town and build safe areas there. After that, if they stick to the schedule, should come guerrilla war."

Gen. Phraphas Charusathien, Thailand's tough interior minister, has said they might have the sympathy of as much as 10 per cent of the population.

Gen. Saiyud Kerdpol, active in the fight against them, says 40 per cent of all terrorists are Hanoi-trained.

Radio Hanoi broadcasts propaganda to the northeast as do Radio Peking and the clandestine Voice of the Thai People which has a transmitter in North Vietnam.

Until recently the Thai government had to sit still and listen to nightly attacks from the Communist stations.

Then the U.S. government put in a $2 million portable transmitter in Sakon Nakhon province, called Radio 909, which is attempting to counter Communist propaganda.

Need for 3rd World Force Cited by British Journalist

LONDON (AP) — A British journalist says "a powerful, civilized third force" is needed to limit the power of the United States and the Soviet Union. He fears that Europe will not become that force.

John Morgan of London's Sunday Times writes that instead, U.S. industry may become the dominant influence in Europe.

"Lacking economic independence, such a (third) force could not exist," he says. "Strolling down its present path, Europe within decades will lack influence over itself, let alone the rest of the world."

"It's only by shouting about the American danger that it can be recognized. By opposing the Vietnam war now, Britain could make a start."

NEED GROWS

The need for a third force, Morgan says, "becomes clearer every month that passes, especially every month that the Vietnam war continues."

An Associated Press sampling of foreign opinion this week also found a French Gaullist newspaper, Notre Republic, speaking about what it viewed as an American danger.

An editorial by Louis Vallon, a former Gaullist member of Parliament, said the United Kingdom is "more anxious to weaken American power," wrote strengthen a brutal hegemony young Crawley. "As a result over the so-called 'free' nations than to contribute to the purification of the international monetary system."

Commenting on one effect of the U.S. balance of payments forced abstention.

VISITORS REPORT

Two Britons visiting the United States sent home reports on their impressions.

"If you're over 40 and want to be flattered, you must come to New York," wrote Anne Scott-James of London's Daily Mail. "There's no sign here of the canyon between the generations which is such a feature of the British scene."

Andrew Crawley, 20-year-old student son of former Conservative government minister Aiden Crawley, was not happy about what he found in Texas. He reported to the Daily Mail that "the rip-roaring state where 14-year-olds drive Mustangs and every man has the right to carry a gun, is so prudish and intolerant about the young that to me it often seemed like a police state."

He complained that "in Dallas and Houston, the two largest cities, there are virtually no discotheques or nightclubs. Drinking hours are severely restricted and there are few public bars."

"No one under 21 can buy a Parliament, not even the lamentably States is 'more anxious to weaken American power,' wrote strengthen a brutal hegemony young Crawley. "As a result over the so-called 'free' nations than to contribute to the purification of the international monetary system."

Germans Speak Out Against Their American TV Image

Farm Exports Help Offset Dollar Drain

Nicaragua Fears 'Chip off the Old Block'

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Germans are showing more sensitivity about the way they are portrayed on American television.

The Sunday newspaper Bild am Sonntag of Hamburg, which has a nationwide circulation of more than two million, complained that three current American television series depict the Germans as "evil imbeciles."

It took issue with "Garrison's Gorillas," "Rat Patrol" and "Hogan's Heroes."

In one week, the newspaper said, "a total of about 60 Germans were massacred" on American television.

"Only one (of the Germans) had human characteristics," the newspaper said. "The others were 'blockheads, sadists or fodder for the machine guns of their Allied opponents.'"

39 BODIES

During a single 30-minute segment of "Garrison's Gorillas" the Bild's New York correspondent counted 39 German bodies. "One was strangled, another was bludgeoned with a gasoline canister, two were stabbed, two were blasted in the air with hand grenades and the rest were shot. Their opponents, on the other hand, were not even scratched."

Bild suggested that the conclusion is that Germans are "too stupid to have even the slightest chance against American supermen."

The German Col. Klink and Sgt. Schultz of "Hogan's Heroes," the newspaper said, are portrayed like Laurel and Hardy characters. Klink is a fool and Schultz is a dope whom the American POWs "lead around by the nose."

A recent segment of "Rat Patrol" it said, showed with one exception "only German stupidity and brutality."

SAUERKRAUT CONSUMERS

"Who can be surprised that in the eyes of many Americans the Germans are coarse, sadistic, evil and idiotic sauerkraut consumers? Of course, the series depict 'war Germans,' but many television viewers hardly make any distinction between them and Germans in general," the newspaper said.

Bild noted that a committee had been formed in Chicago to fight defamation of the Germans.

LITTLE CHANCE

West German television officials, who select many American television tapes for showing to their viewers, doubt that the three series ever will be telecast in Germany.

Joseph Viehboer, program director of West Germany's Second Television Channel, said: "I am against all stereotyping. This has nothing to do with a judgment of the Nazi dictatorship. I believe it was a criminal regime. But I object to black-and-white depictions showing all Germans to be bad and all Americans to be good, or all Germans good and the Americans bad."

A spokesman for West Germany's First Television Channel said he was not familiar with the three series in question.

"But if they do depict the Germans as imbeciles—not in a farce but with serious intent—then we certainly would not show them. This is not because from this moment on we are so proud about our past, but because not all (wartime) Germans were imbeciles."

He observed that West German television stations never would carry similar war series, portraying Germans as heroes and wartime Allied soldiers as villains.

The Second Television Channel itself carried another American television program that stirred controversy here—the Columbia Broadcasting System's documentary "The Germans." This depicted today's Germans as having regained self-respect but as still clinging to old values.

Dr. Volker von Hagen, director for politics and current events at the Second Channel, said the national network had decided to show "The Germans" to illustrate "how a certain journalistic trend in the United States was presenting an erroneous picture of us."

Von Hagen said he believed there was an "anti-German potential in the United States that becomes activated under certain circumstances... such as the election of National Democratic party members to state parliaments."

DISINTERESTED VIEW

His impression was that most Americans viewed West Germany with "complete disinterest."

Heinz Barth, Washington correspondent of the Hamburger newspaper Die Welt, wrote: "Since the early Westerners the cult of force has been the foundation of American show business. For half a century the Indians played the role of the villain. The public was released from this monotony when the war movies offered variation. Since then, the Indians are no longer the sole villains. The villains of today are the Germans."

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a decade, farm exports have contributed to the soundness of the dollar in world financial markets.

Even in this time of foreign pressure on the dollar following the devaluation of the British pound, agricultural sales abroad are providing a source of strength for the American currency.

This is because the dollar value of agricultural exports, as it has for years, is continuing to exceed the value of agricultural imports.

As a consequence, when agricultural trade is balanced, there has been and continues to be an excess of dollar earnings. These earnings help greatly in counteracting foreign exchange deficits incurred by an outflow of U.S. dollars, including spending by tourists and the government and investments in foreign enterprises.

For example, dollar earnings in agricultural trade are reported at $406 million during the first half of this year. Earnings from trade in nonagricultural products — mostly industrial — totaled only $227 million during the same period.

Government reports show that in the nonagricultural aspects of foreign trade, the United States ran into deficits of $525 million during the third quarter of 1966. $375 million during the fourth quarter and $65 million during the first quarter of 1967. But in the second quarter of 1967, non-agricultural trade showed net earnings of $292 million.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The newest boss in the hemisphere — When Gen. Anastasio Somoza's longest-lasting political dynasty has thus aroused fear first came under appraisal some and speculation of a regenerator two years ago, a member of the old family habits. The official family is reported to Somoza have a history of opulence. "Getting him elected president in Nicaragua may be a problem."

Somoza's difficulties began with last summer's resurgence of urban terrorism and guerrilla warfare in the mountain north. In less emotional moments, led by a Castroite organization it has aroused some zation called Sandinista Front of National Liberation, appear to have been crushed.

Main Course of Christmas Dinner Is Personal Choice

CHERRY HOLIDAY HAM — Rosy red peppermint pears and candy canes garnish this holiday ham. Candied cherries are alternated with whole cloves on the ham itself. This makes a delicious meat course that is pleasing to the eye as well as to the taste.

DANISH STYLE — A pair of pork tenderloins is filled with plump dark prunes and canned apple pie filling for a different taste. This makes a delicious meat course that is pleasing to the eye as well as to the taste.

Roast a Turkey in Outdoor Grill

For a fine holiday feast roast a turkey over the coals. It will be deliciously crisp-skinned, the moist and juicy with just the slightest hint of charcoal flavor.

Free your kitchen range for other foods by wheeling the charcoal grill to a sheltered spot on the terrace or into the carport or open garage. You'll be protected from the weather and the grill gets proper ventilation.

Whether the turkey is stuffed or unstuffed, you can bake it with a wine sauce if desired.

WINE SAUCE

Combine 2 cups of dry white wine or cider with 4 tablespoons corn oil, butter or margarine. Add 1 teaspoon dried herb blend for salads, 1 teaspoon salt and a generous grinding of fresh pepper. Heat to warm the wine, melt the butter, if used.

Roast the turkey 3 or 4 times during the roasting. This is sufficient for a 14 pound turkey.

FOIL ROASTED SWEETS

Scrub good sized sweet potatoes or yams. Dry and wrap in foil. Place them on the grill about 1 hour before the turkey is to be served. Turn occasionally, pierce with a fork to test for doneness.

To serve, make criss-cross slashed through the top of the potatoes, squeeze slightly to fluff up and top with apple slices sauteed in butter until tender. Drained canned pineapple chunks sauteed are another nice topping.

GREEN BEANS CHINOIS

2 packages of frozen green beans

6 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon ground ginger

1 cup sliced canned water chestnuts

Arrange the beans in the center of a large square of heavy duty foil. Dot with butter and sprinkle with the seasonings and water chestnuts. Bring foil up over the beans, sealing to make a tight package. Cook 1 hour, shaking the package 2 or 3 times.

Danish Stuffed Pork Tenderloin

2 pork tenderloins (about 1 pound each)

Salt and pepper

1 No. 2 can (2 cups) apple pie filling

8 pitted prunes

3 tablespoons butter

1/4 cup evaporated milk

1/4 cup water

2 tablespoons wine vinegar

1 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon sage

1/4 teaspoon pepper

1 cup dairy sour cream

Split tenderloins lengthwise cutting only about 3/4 of the way through; spread open and pound flat. Season with salt and pepper. Spoon 1/4 can pie filling down the center of each; arrange prunes in a row over apple pie filling on 1 tenderloin. Carefully lift second tenderloin and place apple filling side down over prunes. Tuck top tenderloin in around filling bringing bottom tenderloin up over it. With heavy cotton cord, tie the meat roll at 2-inch intervals. Heat butter in large Dutch oven or frypan; brown stuffed tenderloin, turning carefully. Combine remaining apple pie filling with evaporated milk, water, wine vinegar and seasonings. Pour around browned roll; cover and simmer for 1 1/2 hours. Stir gravy and turn roll occasionally. Add additional water if necessary. To serve, remove roll from gravy and stir in sour cream. Heat and serve over sliced meat and cooked rice. Makes 8 servings.

BARBECUED TURKEY—Roast a plump turkey in an aluminum kettle grill over a barbecue briquet fire for a holiday treat. It will taste twice as delicious as oven-cooked turkey. Even vegetables go under the hood to cook during the last hour.

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Unlike Thanksgiving, when one feels almost obligated to serve turkey, Christmas dinner can center around the kind of meat you like best.

We always have standing rib roast on Christmas Eve and turkey on Christmas Day. Other families may consider ham the only meat to have on Christmas.

In foreign lands, Christmas dinner may include duck or goose, sucking pig, fresh ham or even fish. It's all so much a part of tradition. And the United States, of course, borrows from all cultures.

Ham is one of the easiest meats to prepare.

Nothing matches a handsome, well-garnished bone-in ham for beauty. As shown, the man of the household will find a bone-in ham easy to carve right at the table.

The hostess can give a little help by cutting a slice of ham off the side (away from the "hump") and a wedge in the shank end before arranging it on the platter.

DECORATE IT

Add a pretty-as-a-picture look to your holiday ham: glaze with red cherry jelly, garnish with artificial holly and a big ribbon bow. Then arrange whole peppermint-pear and candy canes on the platter.

Place ham (whole or half bone-in, fully cooked or cook-before-eating) on rack in shallow uncovered baking pan. (Check label for type of ham.)

Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) for time required (see ing. chart).

Combine 1 cup cherry jelly and 1/4 cup water; heat, stirring constantly, until jelly melts. Twenty minutes before end of baking time remove ham from oven; drain off drippings from pan and trim off rind.

Brush glaze over ham; return to hot oven (400 degrees F.) to brown. Glaze ham twice during browning.

PEPPERMINT PEARS

Cook peeled pears until tender in mixture of 2 cups sugar, 1 cup water, 1/4 cup light corn syrup; red color as desired and by one-half. Stir in trange peel and orange and lemon juice.

Perhaps you want to serve a sauce with ham.

HOLIDAY HAM SAUCE

1/4 cup port wine

1 1/2 teaspoons minced green onion

1/4 teaspoon ground thyme

1/4 bay leaf

1 teaspoon grated orange peel

Juice of 1 orange

Juice of 1 lemon

1 cup consommé or bouillon

1 tablespoon cornstarch

Combine port, onion, thyme and bay leaf in small saucepan; simmer until liquid is reduced Blend a little consommé with cornstarch to form a paste; add with rest of consommé to saucepan. Cook over medium heat until thickened and clear. Serve warm. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Shrimp Snack

Before dinner snack: marinate cooked shrimp (after shelling and deveining) in olive oil and lemon juice, adding a cut clove or two of garlic. Remove the shrimp from the marinade just before serving and offer them with cocktail picks for tidy eating.

Spoon Beer Over Hams, Then Bake

Canned hams are a good choice for a holiday buffet; plan on two for a twin display.

The special preparation in this case is to baste the hams with beer before cooking. Let the beer soak into the meat and after heating, the ham will have a rich intensified, natural taste. The beer itself will be undetectable.

GALA GLAZED HAMS

2 canned hams, 3 pounds each

2 cans (12-oz. each) beer

Pineapple slices

Maraschino cherries

Mandarin orange sections

Ripe olives, pitted and halved

1/2 cup orange marmalade (about)

Four beer over hams and let stand at room temperature for several hours. Frequently spoon beer over hams if tops are not covered with beer marinade.

To cook, remove hams from beer. Place on rack in a shallow roasting pan and bake at 350 degrees F. for 1 hour, basting occasionally with reserved marinade.

Remove hams from oven. Drain all fruits. Decorate top of one ham with pineapple slices and maraschino cherries. Decorate top of second ham with alternating rows of Mandarin orange sections and ripe olive halves.

Roast orange marmalade until smooth and light, and spoon evenly over the fruits on top of each ham. Return to oven and bake an additional 15 minutes or until glaze has melted and dripped down sides of hams. Yield: 12 generous servings.

Add Apple

Add cup finely-chopped apples to 1 can whole cranberry sauce. It's a quick 'n' easy, refreshing relish for holiday meals.

OYSTER STEW — For many people, the holidays wouldn't be complete without oyster stew. The government's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries suggests a simple recipe.

Oyster Stew Has Place in Holiday Meal Plans

Christmas Eve, family gatherings, carolers, an after-skating or skiing party, or anytime at all — is the right time for nourishing, warming soup — and the soup of the season is Holiday Oyster Stew.

Oysters, salty little gems from coasts and bays, lend themselves to wonderful eating in a wide variety of recipes. One of the most popular ways to use the delicate, luscious little fellows is in a stew.

Oyster stew has long been traditional for Christmas Eve supper. Early New Englanders brought the custom to America several centuries ago. The custom, coming from the England of their ancestors, was a natural carry-over as there was an abundance of rich-flavored oysters to be found.

In many small communities it is customary to hold "Watch Night" services on New Year's Eve at which oyster stew is served.

Oysters fill the bill with tender, succulent goodness and Holiday Oyster Stew, a modernized version, is so easy to do — ready in minutes too.

Holiday Oyster Stew

2 cans (12 ounces each) oysters, fresh or frozen

2 slices bacon, chopped

1/2 cup chopped onion

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) frozen condensed cream of potato soup

4 cups oyster liquor and half and half cream

1 1/4 teaspoons salt

Dash white pepper

Chopped parsley

Thaw frozen oysters. Drain oysters, reserving liquor. Fry bacon until crisp. Remove bacon from fat. Cook onion in bacon fat until tender. Add soup, oyster liquor, cream, and seasonings; heat, stirring occasionally.

Add bacon and oysters; heat for 3 to 5 minutes longer or until edges of oysters begin to curl. Sprinkle with parsley. Serves 6.

Standing Rib Roast

Is Beef Your Choice?

"Beautiful Beef" describes a to hold the meat out of the standing rib, roasted to perfection and awaiting the touch of the carver's knife. Brown on the outside and rare in the middle, this handsome roast allows the guests a preference in doneness.

The 2, 3, or 4 rib roasts are the most popular sizes. The meat experts recommend 1/2 pound per serving as the amount to buy. For a gracious holiday dinner you may want to increase the amount per serving to allow for second helpings or unexpected guests.

Should there be some left, cold sliced beef rib roast is every bit as elegant as when served hot.

The weight of each roast depends on the number of ribs and the length the roast measures from chine (back) bone to rib tip. The quality of the beef is another important factor in the success of the roast beef dinner.

USE THERMOMETER

A roast meat thermometer is the most accurate guide to doneness. It registers the internal temperature of the roast so that you know when it is rare (140 degree F.) or medium (160 degrees F.).

A standing rib is seldom cooked to well done (170 degrees F.) because in the group there are always some who like at least a touch of pinkness. They receive the center cuts of the roast while guests who prefer more well done beef are served the outside cuts.

HOW TO ROAST: Place rib

Spice Pineapple for Meat Course

Rosy cinnamon pineapple glamorizes turkey or ham. To syrup drained from 1 (1-pound 4 1/2-ounce) can pineapple slices add 1/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons red cinnamon candies and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Heat until candies dissolve and boil 5 minutes or until syrup thickens.

Pour over pineapple slices roast of beef fat side up in a bake uncovered in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes.

STANDING RIB ROAST — The king of all roasts, this standing rib roast of beef is a perfect choice for Christmas dinner. Time the roasting so that it will be done to the pinkness you prefer.

Pomegranate Seeds Dot Cream Cheese Center of Pear Salad

Poinsettia Salad lifts both meals and spirits to gay heights of the holiday season. This salad of crisp flavorful fresh pear slices and cream cheese, fancied with coconut flakes and pomegranate seeds, sparkles with radiant cheer for family enjoyment.

Fresh ripe Anjou, Bosc and Comice pears are in plentiful supply at your food market. Regardless of color, ripe pears yield to gentle pressure.

Be assured in purchasing firm pears for they will ripen at home in a few days at room temperature and be juicy but not sweet. Keep a bowl of fresh Western pears handy for the whole family to enjoy.

Poinsettia Salad
4 fresh Anjou, Bosc or Comice

1 package (3-oz.) cream cheese
1 teaspoon shredded coconut
1 teaspoon orange juice
1 tablespoon orange juice

1 teaspoon powdered sugar
Coconut, flaked
Salad greens
Pomegranate seeds

Core and cut pears in wedges. Blend cream cheese, orange peel, orange juice and powdered sugar. Form into 4 balls. Sprinkle with pomegranate seeds. Makes 4 large salads.

Line salad plates with crisp greens. Place cheese ball in center of each. Arrange pear wedges around cheese balls. For dinner salad, cut thinner wedges and form POINSETTIA SALAD — Wedges of fresh winter pears are "spokes" for the cream cheese "hub" of this gay salad. Pomegranate seeds make the colorful garnish.

Saffron, Sesame Seed Go into Rolls

Fresh, homemade breads cord to USDA recommendations. Note: If self-rising flour is used omit salt.

from Sesame Seed Rolls are so unusual looking, so delightful tasting, you'll enjoy them even without the meal. They make wonderful nibblers with cheese.

The lovely, golden rolls with delicately browned "petals" — flecked with toasted sesame seeds — are shaped to resemble Christmas flowers. They're almost too pretty to eat, but neither you nor your guests will be able to resist them. They look, smell, and are delicious.

Saffron, a spice once associated with royalty, gives the dough a beautiful yellow hue. The sesame seeds add crunch and seasoning.

Saffron Sesame Seed Rolls
2 packages yeast
1/4 cup warm water
1 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup oil
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon ground saffron
5 cups sifted enriched flour about
2 eggs
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons milk
1/2 cup sesame seeds

Soften yeast in water. Heat milk until almost simmering. Measure sugar, oil, salt and saffron into large bowl. Add milk; stir until sugar dissolves. Cool to lukewarm.

Stir in 2 cups flour and beat until smooth. Beat in yeast, eggs and remaining flour. Add enough remaining flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and satiny, 7 to 10 minutes. Shape into ball; place in lightly greased bowl, grease top of dough. Cover and let rise in warm place (80-85 degrees) until doubled, about 1 1/2 hours.

Punch down; divide in half. Let rest 10 minutes. Roll each half to 11x18-inch rectangle. Cut into 1x11 strips. Brush with milk; sprinkle with half of sesame seeds.

Snip at 1/2-inch intervals along side of strip. Roll up and place in greased muffin cups. Repeat with remaining dough.

Cover and let rise until doubled, about 25 to 30 minutes. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Makes 3 dozen.

"If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoons per cup, according to USDA recommendations."

English Cut Beef Best to Braise

Do you know how to cook an English cut, or maybe you know it as Boston cut? This is a cut of beef from the shoulder which is rectangular in shape and consists of layers of lean, with thin layers of fat between. It makes an excellent pot roast — juicy, with so much flavor.

Brown the roast in a Dutch oven in a little hot fat; season, cover with sliced onions, if desired, and add a little liquid. Cover and simmer over low heat for three hours or until tender.

Increased Use of Artificial Sweeteners OK'd by USDA

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration, responding to inquiries it said came from some consumers, says there is no scientific evidence to show widely used artificial sweeteners are a hazard to health. However, the FDA said studies of the chemicals are continuing in the United States and abroad. "If at any time the scientific evidence shows some basis for restricting the use of artificial sweeteners, the FDA has the authority" to take action the agency said. The FDA made the statement in an apparently little-publicized "Fact Sheet" which an agency spokesman said was prepared recently because of tutes multiply on supermarket shelves," the sheet said. "Articles in newspapers and periodicals citing possible dangers related to the artificial sweeteners also contribute to the concern on the part of consumers." The publication added: "The safety of artificial sweeteners—saccharins and cyclamates—has been reviewed periodically for more than a decade. "As is true of a wide array of other food additives developed by industry, the artificial sweeteners have undergone extensive toxicity testing in past years."

In a recent interview in New York, Alexander Schneider, conductor and violinist, and good cook, admitted that while he owns cook books, he never looks at them.

The cook book guild, with thousands of members believe that he, as a good cook, is in the minority. After talking with several members of the guild, we're inclined to agree, in part, with Mr. Schneider.

Family Desertions on Rise in Mexico

By Science Service — Although this explanation for desertion is not common, the move, sometimes not by fathers appears to be growing in Mexico, due to the combined forces of poverty, rural-urban migration and "machismo"—an exaggerated male breeding children along the way, sense of virility.

Figures on the desertion rate are not available from official government sources in Mexico.

But the Catholic church estimates that close to a million families have been deserted by fathers over the past two decades, and says the practice is growing by five per cent each year.

The church, which has stepped up the fight against desertions through its Christian Family Movement, blames machismo for the abandonments.

Parish priests have been instructed to preach against the "sin of family irresponsibility," but according to the Movement itself, the warnings have had little effect.

SEXUAL PURSUIT — "Mexican males, despite their ingrained Catholicism, unfortunately do not let this deter them in the sexual pursuit of females," says a spokesman.

"They form family alliances, with or without a formal ceremony, very lightly, and just as lightly they walk out when the situation becomes overburdened, or there is a younger woman receptive to their overtures."

Machismo is a long-standing and prevalent pattern of behavior in Latin American countries. Some U. S. investigators have claimed machismo also operates among the lower class poor in the United States, although the Isle of Man has an area of 220 square miles.

Ex-Gov. Brucker Stricken in Hotel

DETROIT (UPI) — Wilbur M. Brucker, former Michigan governor and former secretary of the army, collapsed today while eating breakfast in a downtown hotel.

Brucker, governor in 1931 and 1932, was taken to his suite at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel.

Six to Drift With Gulf Stream on Underwater Survey

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — off the eastern coast of North America.

The Atlantic Ocean's Gulf Stream will serve as an underwater tow for six scientists on a silent submarine journey from south Florida to Nova Scotia next summer.

The ocean scientists, led by Jacques Piccard, plan to drift with the Gulf Stream current at an average depth of 600 feet to make a unique water survey.

unusual voyage during a recent visit to the space port, said the primary goal of the mission is to make an extensive study of ocean sounds, marine life and other phenomena along the 1,500-mile course.

"The main idea is to make a rather complete acoustical survey," Piccard said.

To do it, he said the submarine must be silent and able to float and drift in midwater "for as long as we like." He said military submarines are unable to do this without making pumping noises.

Of particular interest to both civilian and Navy scientists is a mysterious phenomenon which sometimes reflects sound waves from midwater. It is called the "deep scattering layer" which falsely indicates the presence of underwater objects or the sea bottom.

For example, ocean charts off the Pacific coast of Mexico show an underwater ridge where one does not exist. The erroneous mapping apparently was caused by the "deep scattering layer" which falsely indicated the ocean bottom.

Romeo Atop League After Nipping Rochester, 71-68

OAKLAND A LEAGUE
Team	W	L	Pct.
Romeo	1	0	1.000
Utica	0	1	.000
Madison	0	1	.000
Troy	0	1	.000

Rochester's bid to throw the Oakland A League basketball race into an early season tangle just missed its mark Tuesday night and unbeaten Romeo now sits alone atop the standings.

The visiting Bulldogs hung on for a 71-68 victory at Rochester and took sole possession of first place when Utica downed Madison, 57-53, despite Tim Blach's 30 points.

Lake Orion gained a share of second place by thumping winless Clawson, 61-42, and Troy joined the Dragons in the runner-up battle by topping winless Avondale, 65-50.

In a late schedule change, three O-A games will be played tomorrow night to wrap up the pre-holiday schedule. Avon will visit Lake Orion, Rochester will invade Madison and Clawson will be at Romeo.

Romeo's Bulldogs upped their mark to 3-0 in the circuit and five straight in all aided by a 37-point first half that had them 12 points in front at the intermission.

They kept the lead after three periods but Rochester's scrappiness enabled it to take control of the backboards in the late going and whittle the deficit. The Falcons still trailed, 66-51, with five minutes to play, but Craig Campbell's three baskets sparked a 13-point spree by Rochester in the next three minutes to make it 66-64.

Donnell Craft's field goal for Romeo was offset by two Gary Sovey free throws. Clyde Cushingberry of the winners notched two charity tosses for a 70-66 lead before Sovey hit a fielder with five seconds to play. In all, Sovey made 16 of his 17 points in the last half for the host quintet.

Cushingberry had 17 of his 25 by halftime.

At Utica, Madison's Blach put on a one-man scoring show from all over the court — including 11 points in the fourth period. By then, though, Utica's Chiefs had overcome an early deficit and went ahead to stay at 35-34 when Robin Dilday stole the ball and drove in for the go-ahead bucket.

Dilday helped nullify Blach's production by making 15 of his 19 points in the last half. In addition, he had help from three teammates who each tallied 12.

A five-point outburst opening the final session gave Utica a 45-36 lead that proved too much for the Eagles to offset.

Avondale ran into hand handling problems and cold shooting at Troy. The visitors controlled the backboards but had a 24-18 deficit shooting from the field.

The host Colts amassed a 19-point lead in the first three quarters with a balanced offense led by Randy Humphrey's 14 points. Dwane McLaughlin and Bob Burt each tallied 15 for Avondale.

Troy's pressing defense took its toll on the visitors in the middle two periods when the Colts had a 41-21 margin. (Continued on Page E-2, Col. 6)

CRAFT (V) BULLDOG—Romeo's Donnell Craft (55), a 65 frontcourt performer, outmaneuvers Rochester's Jeff Nowels (40) to lay up a shot during the second half of last night's Oakland A League thriller on the Falcon's court. Craft hit 10 field goals and 22 points in the Bulldogs' 71-68 victory.

Chiefs Drop to Cellar in SVC

Central Falters by 69-53 Count at Arthur Hill

SAGINAW — Error-plagued Pontiac Central continued its early season skid by suffering a 69-53 defeat last night at Saginaw Arthur Hill.

The setback was the Chief's third straight after an opening non-Saginaw Valley Conference win, and leaves the PCH quintet at the bottom of the league standings with an 0-3 log.

In skidding to a 1-3 mark the Chiefs slipped into their worst start since the 147 quintet of 1962-63 began by losing four of its initial five outings.

But even that team was 1-2 in SVC play at a similar stage. Being at the bottom of the league standings is a habit the Chiefs shuffled right after the end of World War II.

Last night's efforts were marked by repeated floor violations. Arthur Hill's smaller squad pulled ahead with a steady push after finding itself behind, 15-14, following period one.

GOOD BALANCE

Elusive junior guard Mark Champagne pumped in 23 points to lead a balanced attack that found three other Lumberjacks in double figures.

Walter Causey tallied 19 and teammate Frank Russell also came through with eight field goals for 16 points in a futile effort to keep PCH in the game.

Arthur Hill, in posting its initial official SVC victory (an early conquest was forfeited), had a 27-21 advantage from the floor.

Midland took over first place in the early league rankings by edging Saginaw, 58-57, on Lynn Kaweck's field goal with two seconds to play plus a 27-point performance by Dave MacDonald, the Chemics' returning All-Valley performer.

Flint Central, whose 2-0 SVC mark is one win behind Midland, ripped Flint Northwestern, 69-42, in a nonleague affair.

Flint Northern reached 2-1 by thumping Bay City Handy, 64-53, as John Pitts tallied 23. Bay City Central stayed tied with Flint N. by pulling away to a 72-53 conquest of Flint Southwestern.

The Wildcats were paced by Dave Maxim's 22, and only led 31-25 at the half.

Kings Defeat Seals to Snap Slump, 3-1

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Before Tuesday night's National Hockey League battle at the Sports Arena, the Los Angeles Kings had scored just five goals in five games, had a 1-4 record over that span and had suffered three shutouts.

The slump ended Tuesday evening against the Oakland Seals as wing Brian Smith scored a pair of goals to lead the Kings to a 3-1 victory.

In some previous seasons, pitchers and catchers have been asked to report a week or two early.

Invited with those on the roster were outfielder Lenny Green, who spent part of the season with Detroit, pitcher Tom Finerman, and catchers Arlo Brunsberg and Bill Heath.

Kettering Captains Sail to 48-44 Win

Powell's 18 markers in the game tied Stevenson's Jim Olsen for game honors. Senior guards Joe O'Connor and Pete Evans stood out for the Captains with their playmaking.

O'Connor passed off for seven baskets while Evans had five assists in addition to scoring 11 points.

The win gives Kettering a 3-1 mark after an opening loss at North Farmington. The Captains are idle now until a home date Jan. 5 with Walled Lake, and then they will invade arch rival Waterford Township.

Swartzfager scored 21 points to lead Detroit, which had double-figure scoring from all five of its starters. Tom Richardson added 19 points.

Harvey Hopson of Baldwin-Wallace hit 20.

Detroit opened up early in the first half and held a 51-39 lead at halftime, expanded it 77 points, 97-70, with a little more than five minutes left, and allowed Baldwin-Wallace to play catch-up against Titan reserves the rest of the game.

The Titans are 4-2 for the year. Baldwin-Wallace is 3-3.

State Gridders Picked

HONOLULU (UPI) — Two players from Michigan State and a pair from Michigan have been selected to the North team, coached by the Spartans' Duffy Daugherty, for the Hula Bowl, Jan. 6.

It will be a homecoming for Michigan State fullback Bob Apisa, a native of Hawaii. Named with Apisa were MSU quarterback Jimmy Ray and guard Ray Phillips and center Joe Dayton, both of Michigan.

N. Michigan 5 Rated

NEW YORK (UPI) — Northern Michigan is ranked 19th among the nation's small college basketball teams for the season on a straight week according to United Press International's poll of small college coaches.

Detroit opens the spring training schedule with the Oakland Athletics at Bradenton and meets every one of the 15 other clubs which train in Florida.

Half the schedule will be played at Marchant Stadium in Lakeland against 14 different teams. Following the open date, the Tigers meet the Cardinals three straight times before flying home to open the regular season.

South Dakota, Northern Paired in Tourney Finale

DETROIT (AP) — South Dakota State and Northern Michigan romped to easy victories Tuesday night and won the right to battle each other for the championship tonight in the Wayne State Centennial Basketball Tournament.

South Dakota State, paced by Gene Zulk's 29 points, outgunned the University of Maine 109-92 in the semifinals while sophomore Ted Rose led Northern Michigan to a surprisingly easy 92-75 victory over Eastern Michigan.

In consolation rounds, Central Michigan edged Wayne State 61-58, and Hardin-Simmons blasted Washington of St. Louis 103-50.

South Dakota State expanded a nine-point halftime bulge to as many as 26 points in the second half as its fast-breaking offense ran away from slower, shorter Maine.

Maine's Jim Stephenson led all scorers with 32 points.

Rose, a forward from Louisville, Ky., tossed in 34 points to lead both sides and pulled in 14 rebounds. He was aided by Dave Kovack with 21 points.

Eastern Michigan fell behind 13-1 in the first six minutes of the game and never was able to make up the lost ground.

The closest they came in the second half was 14 points behind. Kennedy McIntosh was high for the losers with 16 points.

Wayne State surprised Central by taking a 28-26 lead at the half and continued its upset bid through most of the second half.

But Central rallied in the last five minutes to open up a seven-point lead and time ran out on Wayne State after it cut the margin to 61-58.

CMU, now 3-6, was led in scoring by Greg Vossekuil with 12 points. Reggie Piggee had 26 for Wayne State, now 2-4. Hardin-Simmons threw its full-court press on early in the game and didn't lift it the rest of the way. The Cowboys led at the half 50-21 and built their lead to as much as 56 points, 104-45, with just 1:38 left in the game.

The Cowboys, now 3-5, were led by guard Buddy Haines with 19 points while Neal Holliday had 10 for the losing Washington University Bears, now 2-5.

Among Foursome

After Ice Crown

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Tech, two-time National Collegiate Athletic Association hockey champion, leads a field of four college hockey teams into the third annual Great Lakes Invitational Tournament at Olympia Stadium tonight.

With five victories and one defeat, the Huskies own the best record of the contending teams.

Tech suffered its only loss to Wisconsin, 4-3, in its last outing.

North Dakota enters the tournament with a 6-2-1 record followed by New Hampshire at 4-4 and Western Ontario 3-5.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruce MacGregor, the 26-year-old right wing of the Detroit Red Wings, will miss his first National Hockey game in three years when the Wings play the Rangers at Madison Square Garden tonight.

DICK CARMICHAEL

Local Bowler's Outlook Matches Result on Lanes

"I feel like bowling today," Dick Carmichael told his wife Betty Sunday as he departed for his weekly Men of the Moose League outing at Lakewood Lanes.

Carrying a 191 average on the Bud and Lou's Bar team, Carmichael didn't live up to his enthusiasm with a 182-184 start.

Then, as he put it, he started concentrating more and the strikes came in a steady stream — 12 straight to be exact — and the veteran bowler had his first sanctioned 300 game.

His wife almost always accompanies him to the Sunday afternoon session but she missed his big moment while preparing for the holidays.

Carmichael — a General Motors Truck and Coach group leader in a warehouse unit — admitted being nervous on the final ball, but it was a true delivery and the league members mobbed him on the approach.

The 300 gave him a 666 series for the day and will earn him a $100 savings bond from Lakewood proprietor Bill Kuklinski, who celebrated the second perfect game on his lanes and the first in five years.

Carmichael, ironically, didn't attempt to qualify for the Pontiac Open Championships (in progress as the same time he rolled his 300) because his average is down this season. He is a 1950 graduate of Avondale High School.

Packers-Rams. Match Figures

NEW YORK (AP) — In battling the Los Angeles Rams this Saturday for the Western Conference title, the Green Bay Packers are taking on the only National Football League team to score more than twice as many points as its opponents during the season.

The Rams, in compiling an 11-2 record, amassed 398 points, an average of 28.4 a game, while allowing 196, or 14 a game, final NFL statistics showed Tuesday.

Baltimore, whom the Rams defeated for the Coastal Division crown Sunday, just missed posting a 2-1 scoring margin, averaging 28.1 points a game to 14.1 for its opponents.

The Colts were the over-all leader in offense, totalling 5,008 yards to be the only team to reach the 5,000 level. Green Bay was the best defensive team, giving up 3,300 yards during the season.

BEST RUSHER
Cleveland had the best rushing team, 2,139 yards, and Washington topped everyone in passing with 3,730 yards. Defensively, Dallas allowed the fewest yards rushing, 1,081, and the Packers had the stingiest pass defense, 1,377 yards.

The Packers also were called for the fewest penalties, 48, and allowed the fewest first downs, 183. Dallas recovered the most opponents' fumbles, 19.

Washington's Charley Taylor, the top pass receiver in 1966, is the only individual champion to defend his crown successfully.

Taylor caught 70 passes, two less than last year, beating out teammate Jerry Smith who had 67.

Andover, Northville Tighten W-O League Race With Slim Wins

Clarkston '5' Victim in Loop Play, 58-52

Northville climbed into a share of the Wayne-Oakland League lead Tuesday night and Bloomfield Hills Andover stayed on the leaders' heels with tight victories.

Northville downed defending champion Clarkston, 58-52, and Andover surged past Clarencville, 43-38, at Livonia.

The victory by Northville gives the Mustangs a 3-0 mark, the same as West Bloomfield who is idle until a Friday makeup game with Brighton's floundering Bulldogs.

Andover, meanwhile, is a half game behind the leaders after last night's third win in four W-O starts; and the Barons will entertain Northville in their next outing in January.

Northville was behind, 15-12, after one quarter and still trailed, 22-22, entering the closing minute of the half. A spurt made the deficit 29-26, at the intermission.

J. M. Peterson warmed up, however, in the third quarter with six points; and he teamed with Joe Andrews to score 15 of the winners' 17 points in the last quarter.

Peterson posted 14 of his 20 points in the second half. Andrews finished with 19 thanks to his seven in the fourth quarter.

Mark Erickson tried to keep Clarkston's Wolves in the game by notching 11 of his 18 in the late going. But the Mustangs took the lead for good midway in the fourth period and pulled out to a 58-50 lead near the end.

At Clarencville Andover was down, 23-17, in the third quarter. The visitors put their attack into gear finally and ran up strings of eight and six points to move in front, 31-26, early in the final session.

Reds, Chisox Stay Busy in Baseball Player Mart

By The Associated Press
The Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox finished fourth in their respective baseball pennant races last season. But they're well in the lead in the number of new players acquired through trades and purchases since the close of the 1967 campaign.

Cincinnati has picked up eight players. The White Sox, with General Manager Ed Short calling the shots, aren't short of new faces, either. They have seven, top figure in the American League.

The Reds obtained outfielder, Bill Wynn and catcher Buddy Baker from the New York Mets for outfielder Tommie Agee and infielder Al Weis.

Late Surge Helps OLSM Avoid Upset

By JERRY CRAIG
Waterford Our Lady of Laker's streaky Lakers led a big one get away Tuesday night.

Burdened with a 1-3 North-west Catholic League record, the WOLL quieted had undefeated Orchard Lake St. Mary out-clasped for three quarters but the determined Eagles went back to their campus 62-58 victors. All are 1-4.

The triumph gave OLSM a 5-0 league record (5-1 overall) and kept it alone atop the standings.

Royal Oak St. Mary won its second straight, 55-52, over a taller Ferndale St. James unit that is now deadlocked with WOLL and St. Rita for sixth place. All are 1-4.

Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows was an 85-73 loser in its showdown with St. Francis de Sales. The two entered the game tied at 3-1 and sharing second place.

Ol. St. Mary's exclusive possession of the lead seemed certain to disappear at Waterford OLL as the host team opened a commanding 46-33 lead in the third quarter.

HOT HANDS
Leading 29-27 at halftime, the Lakers displayed a balanced offense while making 10 of 17 shots in the third quarter. Their lead was 11 points twice as the last quarter opened.

However, the home squad encountered another dry spell — two earlier ones cost WOLL the chance to take charge of the game in the first half — and this time it never recovered.

From a 53-42 deficit, the visiting Eagles surged back to tie the score at 58 as Ken Kaizakiewicz netted four field goals (including the tying bucket with 1:25 to play, and Tim Megge 10 points (including the two free throws that sent OLSM ahead, 60-58, with 57 seconds to play).

Greg Fior's four points (including the clinching two charity tosses with eight seconds left) rounded out the winners' 72-point last period.

Megge, though having an off night from the field, led all the scoring with 29 points.

Violations hurt the Lakers. They had a 49-44 rebounding advantage but took 14 less shots than the winners. The 59 home team's attempts included only 1 in the last period.

Brian Haskins and Dan Sioma's shooting and rebounding helped Waterford OLL, but each missed a key layup that could have helped the Lakers' cause. Dennis McCulloch impressed with his playmaking and shooting, but he had several vital turnovers.

WOLL lost the ball 20 times without a shot while the Eagles had 11 turnovers. Both teams are idle until January.

Here's a football oddity... There are 5-yard penalties in football and there are 15-yard penalties... but oddly enough, there are no 10-yard penalties. And, nobody has ever come up with a good reason why there aren't any 10-yard penalties in football.

What's the safest position to play in football — the one that gets the fewest injuries? ... A survey was taken last season and it showed that fewest injuries were suffered by those who play at the tackle position of the offensive line.

Here's a little quiz for you to see how well you follow football — the one that gets the most famous football stadiums in America... Do you think you can name the teams they belong to... Here they are... Alamo Stadium... Dyche Stadium... Olsen Field... Kyle Field... Camp Randall... Now, here are the answers in correct order: Oregon, Northwestern, Oklahoma, Texas A.M., Wisconsin.

I bet you didn't know... that all of us at Carter Tire wish you and yours the warmest Christmas Greetings and pray your 1968 will be happy, peaceful, and prosperous.

Strong Pontiac Northern posted seven pins last night in taking 10 of 12 bouts from an undermanned Roseville wrestling squad.

The victory upped the Huskies record to 3-0, and their next outing will be as defending champion in the Oakland University Holiday Wrestling Tournament next week.

In taking the 10 bouts, PNH rolled to an easy 4-0 verdict over Roseville.

Posting pins in the meet were Tom Mash (103), Dave Bushey (112), Bill Green (120), B. S. former champion Tony Crociata (127), Epi Gomez (138), outlast Bill Stone, 15-9, 15-8, 14-6, John Gonzales (138) and John 15, 15-4, to take the title.

Stone had eliminated top seed and defending titlist Leard Brose, 15-4, 15-9, 5-15 and 17-16, in the semifinals. No. 2 seed Dr. T. T. Tchen was ousted, 15-12, 15-9, 15-9, by Crociata.

The tournament was held at the Birmingham Athletic Club which will also have the state Squash Doubles championship in March.

New Facilities for Holly Area

The dusty, bumpy ride down Buckle Lake Road to reach the World War II vintage headquarters of the Holly recreation area will not be necessary in about a year.

The road will still be there and so will the quonset hut that currently house the area's administrative offices. But the headquarters will be at a more accessible site.

Alfred Masini, district parks supervisor, announced today that the Conservation Department will soon ask for bids on a new building off of Grange Hall in Groveland Township.

The new structure will be part of a large day-use project planned for that part of the recreation area, just east of Dixie (M54) Highway.

An impoundment will be created by damming Thread Creek. Beach facilities will be constructed and there will be boat launching sites.

Parking and picnic sites will surround the impoundment. The entire project probably will take about three years to complete.

"The new headquarters will be much easier for the public to reach," said Masini. "People have trouble finding our present offices and the road can be discouraging at times."

"And I think that most people will agree the buildings are pretty antiquated."

CLOSE TO WILDWOOD

When completed, the new headquarters will be within three miles of the heavily used swimming and camping facilities at Valley and Wildwood lakes.

"We are attempting to make the new facilities available to the public as fast as money permits," said Masini. "We can't seem to build picnic and swimming sites fast enough in this district (Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties)."

Additional camping sites are being constructed in the district and updated sanitary and concession facilities at Pontiac Lake state park. Work continues on expanding the Proude Lake campground which is one of the most popular in the state.

Over two million people have used the Proude Lake, Highland, Pontiac Lake, Holly, Rochester-Utica, Bald Mountain and Dodge state park areas this year.

There are nearly 20,000 acres of state-owned land in these recreation areas.

Only Thing Missing Is Snow

Snowmobile Trails Ready in County

Four new snowmobile trails up to the public. If they are used properly they will stay open and more may be added.

"If the rules governing the trails are excessively abused, they will be closed."

Other recreation areas in Oakland County will not have the trails and snowmobiles will not be permitted.

This was the case last year in all of the areas.

"The Conservation Department recognizes the outdoor enjoyment snowmobiles provide," said Masini, "and it is our goal to provide facilities for their use."

"But we will not tolerate snowmobiles being operated anywhere in the recreation areas except where designated."

He pointed out that those snowmobile operators who "leave the trails and take off cross country" will be ticketed the same as anyone operating any motor vehicle off of designated roads and parking lots.

Each snowmobile will have to carry a daily or annual park vehicle permit. The daily stickers are $1 and the annual $3.

"Snow conditions will determine whether the trails will be open," said Masini. "They will be marked accordingly."

Unless Mother Nature comes up with a snowstorm in a hurry, any snowmobiles received as Christmas presents will have to be taken to Northern Michigan or left idle.

Sixteen laid out trails from five to 25 miles long are available in the northern two-thirds of the state. Ten are in the Northern Lower Peninsula.

Information on the trails are available at district and recreation area offices of the department.

Established trails in the Upper Peninsula are in these state forests: Manistigue, Schoolcraft County; Michigan, Marquette County; Tahquamenon River, Lake County; Mackinac, Mackinac County; Munuscong, Chippewa County.

In the northern half of the Lower Peninsula, the trails are in the following state forests: Houghton Lake, Roscommon and Missaukee Counties; Ogemaw, Ogemaw County; Oscoda, Isosco and Oscoda counties; Tittabawassee River, Gladwin County; Hardwood, Cheboygan County; Jordan River, Antrim County; Fife Lake, Grand Traverse County.

'Steelhead' State's First Floating Lab

ESCANABA (AP) — The Conservation Department will have its first floating laboratory Thursday when a 60-foot fisheries research vessel is launched.

The all-steel hulled ship is being built by the T. D. Vinette Co., an Escanaba firm. The $105,000 ship will be named "Steelhead." Part of the cost was financed by federal funds.

Mrs. E. M. Laitala of Hancock, wife of a conservation commissioner, will christen the ship at a ceremony attended by representatives of the Legislature, Conservation Commission, sport and commercial fishing groups, and Mrs. Ralph MacMullon, wife of the Conservation Department director.

The Steelhead, a Great Lakes-sized ship, will have a top speed of 15 miles per hour and cruising range of 1,000 miles. The ship is equipped with test nets, and designed for sonar research, test trawling and other scientific research equipment for the Great Lakes fishing industry.

The powerplant will be two Cummings NT-380 Diesel engines.

Salmon Report Forms Go Into Effect April 6

Michigan fishermen do not have to start using the state's new trout and salmon catch report forms until April 6, when the general season on these fish begins in the Great Lakes and in designated inland streams.

The report forms are available with 1968 fishing license identification cards and stamps.

Under a law passed this year, anglers are required to use the "report cards" to record their catches of trout and salmon in designated inland streams.

The new forms also must be filled out to register angler success in designated streams during the early trout and salmon season from April 6 through April 26 and during the extended fall season from Sept. 9 through Nov. 30.

Lists of these designated streams, generally covering the same waters as open this year, will be available at the Conservation Department's field offices and its Lansing headquarters in early March.

The catch report forms are patterned after those used successfully in the West to evaluate salmon management programs, reports Jack Ball, administrative assistant of the department's fish division.

Fun Trial Scheduled

The Gernan Shorthaired Pointer Club of Michigan has scheduled a fun field trial, open to all pointer breeds, Sunday, Jan. 7, at the Dixon Farm, 26091 Twenty-Seven Mile, New Haven, starting at 9 a.m.

Junior Shoot Set at OCS

State Group Elects Officers for 1968

The Oakland County Sportsmen's Club has been awarded the 1968 Michigan State Junior Outdoor Position smallbore rifle tournament.

The shoot will be May 25-26. OCS hosted the event last spring.

The Michigan Rifle and Pistol Association elected officers at its recent annual meeting in Lansing.

They are Charles Casper, Southgate, president; Lenore M. Lemanski, Saginaw, junior division vice president; Gertrude Schlerenzauer, Lowell, pistol division vice president; Alex Smith, Alma, smallbore division vice president; and Marianne Jensen, Saginaw, smallbore rifle division representative on the board of directors.

Other executive officers were re-elected.

Five additional board members were elected. Cash Bond of Pontiac was renamed director of public affairs. Walter Perry of Pontiac is a holdover board member.

Mrs. Lemanski and Miss Jensen are nationally known smallbore rifle champions.

Pontiac Audubon Club Prepares for Bird Count

Members of the Pontiac Audubon Club will be among a national force of more than 10,000 qualified bird watchers planning to tramp the fields and woods during the Christmas holidays.

The occasion is the 68th annual Christmas Bird Count, Dec. 28 to Jan. 1. The results of the national census are compiled by the National Audubon Society.

PAC members will meet at the Plaissey house near Lake Orion at 7:30 a.m. New Year's Day.

The count area, one of 550 in the nation, will be 15 miles in diameter.

The count provides data on the species, range and numbers of birds in North America.

Opossum Is Entrenched as Resident of Michigan

The Virginia opossum, that venerable marsupial (carrying its young in a pouch) of the North American continent, now has firmly established generations of relatives in Michigan.

Something is attracting him to stay, though Prof. William Prychodko of the Wayne State University biology department says biologists can't figure why he started to expand his range some time ago.

Brer possum fares best south of the Great Lakes region in the range from eastern Nebraska to New York.

Dr. Prychodko said the expansion of the opossum's geographic range is similar to the advance north from Texas of the armadillo to Oklahoma and other states.

New generations of opossums are chewing their way from the Southern states through Farmer Brown's garden, and through practically anywhere else, animal and vegetable, including corn, until they have spread throughout the southern half of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan. Somehow, around 1950, they even managed to establish residence in Ontario, Canada.

Southerners find the opossum a fine ingredient for the succulent southern dish of possum and sweet potatoes. Northerners unable to acquire a taste for such a delicacy, are having more trouble with the omnivorous animal than most feel he is worth.

Michigan hunters not interested in eating the bristly mammal would rather not waste their shells. The opossum, often diverted to con hounds and sometimes gets caught in traps for foxes.

Singer's Injury Is Explained

Rodgers Apparently Fell Near Policeman

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP) — A Los Angeles police investigator says singer Jimmie Rodgers apparently suffered his serious head injury as an off-duty police officer stood by. The officer had stopped Rodgers after seeing him driving erratically.

Lt. Pierce R. Brooks said an inquiry established that Rodgers fell early the morning of Dec. 1 as he stood talking to officer M.P. Duffy. He said Rodgers struck the back of his head, fracturing his skull.

Brooks said Duffy had stopped Rodgers by honking his horn and blinking his lights upon seeing the singer's car making U-turns on the freeway.

"There was no one person responsible for Mr. Rodgers' falling," Brooks said. He added that there was "no criminality" involved.

INVESTIGATION
Brooks said Rodgers' head could have struck the asphalt or a large metal manhole cover.

He said an investigation is continuing into the actions of Duffy and two on-duty uniformed policemen he summoned to the scene.

Tuesday's disclosures were the first indication that police knew how Rodgers had been injured. A police statement Dec. 7 said officers had checked him and left him in his car, apparently asleep.

Rodgers subsequently underwent two operations to remove pressure on his brain. In one of them a section of his skull was removed.

CONDITION
An administrator at Glendale Community Hospital said today Rodgers is "perfectly lucid" but "not out of danger yet." He said Rodgers recalls nothing of the events surrounding his injury and has not been interviewed by police.

Brooks refused to say if he knew how Rodgers got back in his car, where he was found by a friend about an hour later. However, another police spokesman said Duffy had told him he wasn't aware that Rodgers had been seriously hurt.

The singer wasn't hospitalized until 26 hours after he was found, although a doctor examined him soon after he reached home.

STATEMENT
But he issued a statement Tuesday saying that indications during surgery and a later study by experts had convinced him the injury was due to a fall, not a beating.

Wins Actress of Year Nod for Offstage Performances

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Marlene Dietrich in a way was Broadway's Actress of the Year (we're continuing our Broadway Bests) for her performance outside a theater.

Almost every night from Oct. 9 to Nov. 18, Marlene emerged from the theater, got or was gotten on top of a limousine, and sat there for a while, with the famous legs dangling. Marlene never grew tired of it, nor did the guy who was white with the car every night—her chauffeur.

Best Actor: Rockefeller (claiming he wasn't interested in the White House).

New Year's Eve: Maurice Uchitel and wife Pat of El Morocco. Best Strike: Johnnie Carson vs. NBC, getting $1,000,000 raise. Greatest Walk: Frank Sinatra, from the Sands to Caesars Palace.

Everybody's Sudden Favorite: Walter Matthau. Sexpots: Joanna Pettet, Olinka Berova, Sharon Tate, Jacqueline Bisset.

McNamara Still Opposes Soviet-Oriented ABM Net

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary advanced enemy capable of firing avoid political attacks on the ad- of Defense Robert S. McNamara remains convinced it is that the United States has anti- ministrations while affording no- effective protection against mis- technological impossible at missiles to intercept them. siles.

In marked contrast are mili- tary proposals, promoted main- ly by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, that the $5-billion gen- eral coverage system be broad- ened into a $20-billion shield which would include specific pro- tection for 50 American cities.

"To me the idea of building a defense against the Chinese threat which doesn't yet exist while ignoring an existing So- viet missile threat, just isn't a viable concept," one ranking military officer said.

JOINT CHIEFS VARY

But even within the Joint Chiefs of Staff there are varying degrees of enthusiasm behind the unanimous conclusion that an antimissile defense is vital to the nation's security.

LESS-BATTERED NATION

Gen. Wheeler, head of the joint chiefs, told Congress, how- ever, that one nation probably would come out less battered than the other in a nuclear ex- change, and the 30 million lives saved by the U.S. defense might be "meaningful in every sense of the word."

McNamara's megadeath calcu- lations assumed the Soviets would react to a thick American ABM by improving their long - range missiles with so- phisticated decoys which might have to be taken under attack, and multiple warheads which could overwhelm Sentinel in sheer magnitude.

Wheeler challenged this on the ground that the Soviets might not be in a technological or fi- nancial position to come up with "equal, opposite and possible" countermeasures to negate the defense.

McNamara also argues that the Soviets could always re- target away from cities the United States chose to defend, and sight their missiles on undefended metropolitan areas.

A 50-city plan, the civilian strategists point out, would leave 150 other cities of more than 100,000 population unshielded.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., calls it a "step in the opposite direction in our attempts to re- duce the danger of war."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D- Mich., says it is a $5-billion "campaign bauble" designed to ed.

The defense secretary's com- ment came in one of several AP interviews with top Pentagon of- ficials that reflected deep divi- sions of thought about how ex- tensive a missile defense the nation should attempt to create and — technological problems aside—whether antimissile de- ployments are even advisable at a time when strategic weapons forces are escalating in size and deadlines.

TO RESIST EXPANSION

McNamara served notice in his September announcement that he would resist any "mad momentum" toward expansion of his authorized "thin" sys- tem.

This opposition is based on the simple premise that any de- fense — thick or thin — can be outgunned by a technologically

It's a Crime!

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Malcolm Farmer III, executive director of the Rhode Island Crime Prevention Committee has gained some first hand ex- perience with crime. His car was stolen Tuesday.

In five months, a tobacco seed can produce a plant 20 million times its own weight.

Scientist: Innocent in Birth Control Furor

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — had urged the sterilization of Dr. William Bradford Shockley, American women as a popula- tion control measure and the says a baby rationing plan- curtailment of welfare and center of a furor. Many indignant persons, he said, got the impression that he had made him the innocent school improvement programs for slum Negroes. Shockley said he didn't urge any such thing.

The controversy arose from a lecture the Stanford University physicist gave last week at McMaster University in Hamil- ton, Ont.

Shockley, who shared the No- bel Prize in 1955 as coinventor of the transistor, told the audi- ence that he personally had "no eugenics recommendations save that as a nation we start to ex- plore publicly possible solutions to human quality problems."

Supervisors Adopt Master Plan for Orion Airport

MAKE OVER PAGES

By ED BLUNDEN

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors again demonstrated they have their eyes on the sky.

Yesterday it adopted a master plan for the Oakland-Orion Airport — a project which would provide county residents with a second major airport.

Getting a fast start on the project,

the supervisors also approved spending $284,338 to acquire land adjacent to the site in Orion and Pontiac townships.

On Nov. 7 a master plan was approved for the expansion of the present facility at Oakland-Pontiac Airport in Waterford Township. That site will also acquire some land acquisition and will cost an estimated $4.5 million to complete expansion plans.

The runway there will be lengthened to 6,200 feet and an instrument landing system installed by the federal government.

EXPECT GRANTS

About two-thirds of the expenditures

at Oakland-Pontiac are expected to be returned to the county by federal and state grants.

The same matching basis is possible for expenditures at the Orion site, it was announced.

No cost figures were given for Orion, where two 7,000-foot and two slightly shorter runways are to be built north of I-75 and west of M24.

Robert G. Peckham, consultant engineer from Lansing, said only that costs would be considerable, indicating that final phases of the plan probably would not be initiated until around 1975 and thus no accurate figures could be made at this time.

He did, however, say that some 13 million cubic feet of earth would have to be moved; some 1,400 acres of property acquired; and overhead high-power lines, recently installed in the area by Detroit Edison Co. at a cost of $3 million, must be moved.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

Commission Backs Actions of 2 Police

City commissioners last night supported the actions of two Pontiac police officers involved in the Dec. 7 fatal shooting of Jimmie King, 17. The vote was 6-1 with District 1, Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. casting the lone "no" vote.

Before a sharply divided overflowed audience the commission supported the "effective handling of a dangerous situation."

In the audience were several off-duty police officers.

The commission decision was scored by a number of Negro leaders and by several organizations including the Voice of Oakland County Action League, which last week asked the suspension of the two officers pending a determination by a coroner's inquest.

STATUS UNCERTAIN

The status of the requested inquest is currently uncertain.

The commission cited opinions by the law department and city manager in stating that there is no charter provision for the commission to suspend police officers.

The commissioners also stated that there is a procedure for investigating actions of police officers through the city's police list board.

They also cited Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson's ruling that the police action was justifiable.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the charter states "No member of the police department except the chief of police or probationary members thereof shall be dismissed from the service, demoted or otherwise disciplined except upon formal complaint and after trial and conviction by the board."

Cuts in Service, Layoffs Ordered

By BOB WISLER

Accepting a tentative 1968 general operating budget from the city manager, city commissioners last night ordered $542,000 worth of service cuts and a layoff of 42 employees.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said he would effect the service cuts and layoff by Jan. 1.

In presenting the budget as required under the City Charter Warren said "it is an austerity budget in every way."

"It eliminates many normal items of replacement of equipment, eliminates positions which are currently vacant and it cuts to a minimum any expenditure over which any discretion can be exercised."

Pegged at a spending level of $7,633,000, down $249,000 from this year's budget, it does not have provisions for employee pay adjustments.

HAD TO BE BALANCED

Warren said the budget had to be balanced and it was not feasible to do so with pay raises included.

"A major pay adjustment must be accomplished without an income tax this must be done by the reduction of personnel and by using the money saved by layoffs for this purpose," Warren said.

"A delay of even a month in cutting back services will increase the amount of cutbacks eventually required," he said.

Negroes Revolt on Housing Bill

LANSING (AP) — The House took up its emotion-charged open housing bill yesterday and promptly amended it into a form that several Negro legislators, previously the measure's chief supporters, said they would have to oppose.

Opposition by a substantial number of the nine Negro Democrats probably would kill it.

Three changes in the bill and a fourth proposed amendment prompted the revolt. The three adopted amendments provide:

- That a person who files a housing discrimination complaint which is later dismissed would be made to pay the court costs and attorney fees of the person accused in the complaint.
- That the maximum fine which could be levied against a realtor violating the proposed law would be $250 compared with the original bill's $1,000 fine for a first offense and $2,000 penalty for a repeat violation.
- That if a court rules unconstitutional sections of the bill which exempt certain types of real estate transactions from coverage, the entire bill would be stricken from the lawbooks.

Up for a vote today was a provision that any home owned and lived in by the same person for three of the previous five years would be exempt from the provisions of the bill.

ANGERED BY AMENDMENT

House Minority Leader William Ryan, D-Detroit, was especially angered by the amendment — sponsored by fellow Democrat Warren Goemaere of Roseville — making the complainant, instead of the state, liable for the respondent's legal costs.

"This vote shows that this Legislature does not want an end to discrimination in housing," Ryan charged after the amendment passed 69-30.

Twenty-eight Democrats and 41 Republicans voted for the Goemaere amendment.

The 54-40 vote trimming the fines to $250 was closer to a party-line vote as 47 Republicans and only seven Democrats supported it.

An amendment proposed by Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, and adopted 58-42, provides that if the courts decide such exceptions are unconstitutional, they must strike down the entire housing law.

LBJ Speaks Hopefully on Viet, Strife at Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says "the war could be stopped in a matter of days" if South Vietnam's president talks informally with South Vietnamese Communists and wins their agreement to abide by the Geneva accords.

And on curing violence at home, Johnson says he's going to tell American businessmen either they help in hiring a half million hard-core unemployed or the government will offer them jobs — "as expensive as it is."

view broadcast nationally last night as he winged toward Australia.

Administration sources said the President Nguyen Van Thieu, of South Vietnam, who also is headed for the Melbourne memorial service for Prime Minister Harold Holt.

Johnson outlined five peace conditions based on existing U. S. demands that North Vietnam "leave your neighbor alone." They included an end to Hanoi infiltration through Laos and the Demilitarized Zone, in accord with the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements; one man-one vote government in the South and peaceful negotiations for North-South reunification.

The President was interviewed in his White House office Monday morning by correspondents from the three major networks, which trimmed his remarks to fit the one-hour program.

While Johnson again declined to say whether he'll seek re-election, he said he's sure the Republicans will still wind up in the minority on election day.

Business and production will pick up next year, Johnson predicted, and "we look forward to continued prosperity." But he called still essential the administration's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

The Middle East still presents "one of our most dangerous situations," he said, and will require efforts by all parties concerned to achieve a solution.

The Kinsmen of Jesus—3

Salome a Faithful Aunt

EDITOR'S NOTE — Some deserted Christ, but throughout his brief ministry on earth, Salome, his ambitious but faithful aunt, stayed by him, steadfast in her faith. Following is the third of a five-part Christmas series dealing with the kinsmen of Christ.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

She was daring, venturesome, idealistic, brimming with energy. She was a woman of property. She apparently was ambitious and something of a firebrand. She also was Jesus' aunt.

They shared the same blood, and he, by commitment, joined it with others—the hungry, the strangers, the naked, the prisoners.

"As you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me," he said.

The fraternal Galilean linked himself by intention with the downtrodden, the poor, the pursuers of peace and justice, but he also had natural ties given him by birth. Not all of them condoned his chosen involvements.

But his aunt did. She did so with majestic expectations, and eventually, with sobered realism.

News Flash

John Merlo, 26, of Farmington Township was found guilty of first degree murder this morning in the Jan. 6 slaying of his 18-year-old wife, Sharon, while she was at work in a beauty parlor. Merlo will be sentenced Jan. 24.

She stuck close to him during the three years of his swift, momentous ministry, and was among the well-off women who, as reported in Luke 8:30, financed it "out of their means."

She was sure of the cause, even though she brashly misinterpreted it, while many of his home town relatives plainly doubted it.

She pressed advice on him. She refused to abandon him even when danger drove most of his apostles away.

Body Snatching Has a Drawback

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series of reports by comedian Bob Hope, who is currently touring Southeast Asia entertaining U. S. servicemen.)

By BOB HOPE

NAKHON PHANOM, Thailand — And now a word about "body snatching." All you do is hover in a copter and drop a line with a hook into the jungle and fish out a downed pilot.

If the pilot is injured or caught in a tree you go down with the line and a knife and you hack him out. Like I said, it's a simple job with only one complication.

The enemy is firing everything they have at you — rockets, bullets, rocks — as you hover above them.

We met the "body snatchers" out in the boonocks of Thailand at a base called Nakhon Phanom (by Rand McNally).

There are several outfits; the "Hi-performance" jet jockeys who fight off the MIGs; the "Crows," who provide air cover; the "Sandys," who pour on ground fire, and the "Jolly Green Giants," the big copters that lower the hooks or litters into the jungle.

GREEN GIANT STORIES
These are stories of the Green Giants. The vocabulary is simple.

The penetrator is a device lowered into dense jungle on a line. On the penetrator you can put a seat or a litter or a hook.

A hook or Charley is the enemy. A beeper is an electronic marking device given to a pilot in case he is forced down in enemy territory.

Thirty-sevens, 50's and 60's are the various caliber of bullets fired at you. It's really not important. All you have to remember is that if one hits you it stings.

Seeking Present for Your Boss? Try These Yule Shopping Tips

By JEANNE NELSON

Today's tips focus on gift shopping for the boss. Now here's a category that could easily get sticky. Something too elaborate could give the impression of trying to gain favor while a less impressive one might relate quite the opposite feeling.

At the risk of questioning his well-versed status, there is a three-tiered tie rack with written guide to coordinate suit, shirt, tie, and socks for $8. This comes with handsome walnut trim.

The sportsman (and certainly his wife) might appreciate an almost-automatic fish Skinner in sturdy chrome at $5.95.

A travel clock with day and date comes in its own tan simulated leather case for $7.98.

A genial sales manager type might appreciate the cordless battery operated drink mixer and purger at $5.95. Its glass container lists the ingredients for 10 different cocktails.

There's a sleek walnut and chrome desk lighter, practical and attractive for $20. For home or office, another suggestion might be a world globe on its own walnut veneer stand for $17.95.

War Absorbs Romney, Kosygin

MOSCOW (AP) — Gov. George Romney left Moscow today after a long talk with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and said he felt generally somewhat encouraged about prospects for a political solution of the Vietnam war.

Romney said Kosygin subordinated all other world problems to Vietnam when they talked for two hours and 10 minutes Tuesday. The Michigan governor, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said he regarded Kosygin as a rea-sioned, logical, intelligent individual who spoke clearly to the point. The premier was personally friendly but spoke frankly and bluntly, Romney said.

Talking to American newsmen shortly before he left for Israel, Romney declined to discuss the substance of his conversation with Kosygin or to be quoted directly on it.

In a statement after the meeting, Romney said they discussed the Vietnam war, the Middle East, arms control and Soviet-American relations. The governor said Kosygin did most of the talking but did not inquire into American policies.

'MORE ENCOURAGED'

Romney said he felt in general more encouraged than discouraged about prospects for Vietnam. The governor emphasized that he envisaged a political rather than a military solution.

The governor, who is on a 13-city global tour, said in talking with middle-rank officials selected for him by the Soviets and with U.S. exchange students here in Moscow, he concluded that the Soviet people are impressed with their material progress and have a genuine expectation that living conditions will continue to improve.

He said he also was impressed by Soviet friendliness toward the American people despite criticism of U.S. government policies and by Soviet fear of Communist China.

OU Asks Hike in State Funds

Proposed Budget Has $2.2-Million Increase

Oakland University yesterday asked the State Legislature for an $1.9-million increase in its state appropriation for 1968-69.

An OU delegation made the request in an annual appearance before the Senate Appropriations Committee in Lansing.

The university asked for $6.3 million in state funds in a fiscal 1968-69 operating budget of $8.4 million. The proposed budget total is an increase of $2.2 million.

Michigan State University, which operates OU, asked for a $4.9 million state appropriation in a proposed $7.7 million operating budget.

OU Director of Business Robert W. Swanson listed these increases in the proposed budget:

- $400,000 for 44 new faculty members to accommodate an estimated student growth of 800.
- $305,000 for salaries of custodians, maintenance and utility men for new buildings.
- $300,000 primarily for purchase of library books.
- $266,000 for 6 per cent salary and wage adjustments.

• $141,000 for new librarians, technicians and secretaries.

• $44,000 for seven officers in the public safety department.

OU's $8.4-million budget proposal includes $1.9 million expected income from fees, $6.3 million from the state, $135,000 from utilities and $106,000 from other sources, Swanson said.

OU budget planners anticipate a $18,000 increase in student fee income as a result of student growth, according to Swanson. The university estimates a total income of $1.5 million from tuition this year.

MSU expects an additional $300,000 from a new sliding tuition scale which took effect in the fall. No comparable figure has been computed at Oakland University.

Swanson said total estimated operating expense increases some $1.5 million is related to student enrollment increases, $430,000 to program improvements and $75,000 for new programs.

Officials said, however, that the end of the outbreak was expected soon. It began several weeks ago at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, where, officials said, several thousand students missed classes because of illness due to Asian flu virus.

School Board Accepts Full COG Membership

BIRMINGHAM — The board of education last night voted to accept full membership in the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

A lone dissenting vote was cast by Mrs. Elaine Wessels who has served as alternate representative from the board to the council.

The board will be required to pay $1,600 annually for membership in the organization.

The vote followed appeals for membership by Mrs. Florence H. Passino, president of the League of Women Voters of Birmingham - Bloomfield, and by Noah Smith, executive secretary of the Birmingham - Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce.

One member of the audience and Mrs. Wessels spoke against membership.

In other business, the board adopted a new policy regarding the possession and use of tobacco in secondary schools.

A student on first offense will no longer be automatically suspended for three to five days, but will be required to appear with his or her parents and guardians for a consultation with school officials.

Dr. Norman White, director of secondary education and originator of the policy with secondary principals, said he believed the new system would be worth a try to see if it would cut down second and third offenses. Punishment for the latter remained the same.

BIRMINGHAM — The State Municipal Finance Commission has approved selling of $1.5 million in general obligation bonds to finance a proposed municipal parking structure.

Voters approved the bond issue in November. It will provide an additional five-story structure at 333 Pierce and relieve parking congestion in the downtown area.

The structure will house some 700 cars. Cost of the structure is placed at $1.9 million with 10 per cent of it to be paid for by a tax assessment to benefiting property owners.

General Assembly OKs Space Treaty Prior to Recessing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The U.N. General Assembly recessed for about three months early today after a session overshadowed by two crises it never came to grips with—the Middle East and Vietnam.

The 123-nation assembly also failed to endorse a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

CRC Seeking Talks on Killing

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission (CRC) yesterday asked for meetings with the Pontiac police chief, the Oakland County prosecutor and members of two civil rights groups to discuss the Dec. 7 fatal shooting by Pontiac police of Jimmie King, 17.

"We are seeking facts which we intend to transmit to the public in order to reduce tension between the nonwhite community and the Pontiac Police Department," the Rev. Dr. A. Banks Jr., co-chairman, said.

The CRC executive director, Burton Gordin, said the commission will ask State Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley to attend the meetings.

Banks said the commission is not attempting to prejudice any situation.

He said the commission acted following requests from the Rev. Stanley R. Stefancic, secretary of the Voice of Oakland County Action League (VOCAL), the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth (POBY), private citizens and staff reports.

King was shot early Dec. 7 after he abandoned a stolen car and tried to elude police on foot.

The final day was highlighted by a bright note. The assembly gave unanimous approval to a treaty providing for the rescue and safe return of astronauts forced to land on foreign soil.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg called the vote "an historic action" and one of the major achievements of the assembly. Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko said the agreement would "have great importance in connection with speedy progress in space technology."

No Long Weekends for Treasurer Office

Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson said today that his township treasurer's office from closing Fridays during the month of December.

Consequently, all offices at the Waterford Township Hall will not be closed after the next two Fridays as previously announced by township officials.

The Treasurer's office must remain open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fridays during December, according to local law.

Most offices in the Township Hall, however, will be closed after this Friday and next.

Automatic fishing vessels that could cruise and catch fish without a single person on board, under remote control from a mother ship miles away, are being planned by the Soviet Union.

TRAPPED MAN IS FREED — John Lipscomb, a 62-year-old laborer, is shown as he is hoisted from a well where he had been trapped six hours yesterday by a cave-in at the Apex, N.C., site. Rescue workers worked frantically to free him from five feet of clay and brick that covered him. "I was praying all the time," Lipscomb said after he was freed. He was taken to a hospital where he was examined and released.

LBJ Complies, Signs Order to Cut Budget

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson complied with a congressional order and took action today that will lead to a spending cut of $4.3 billion. It could also lead to congressional enactment of a tax increase next year.

Johnson signed the spending-cut resolution on his plane as he was en route to the South Pacific toward Australia to pay final tribute to Prime Minister Harold E. Holt.

The President noted Congress had pared appropriations for $1.1 billion and vowed he would follow its directive to cut an additional $2.5 billion because of the need to preserve the strength of the dollar.

In the recently concluded session of Congress, the spending cut was made a condition of passage of Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee. And while the tax bill did, Mills has made clear the same condition would apply when the surcharge proposal is brought up again in January.

NEXT STOP

After a brief stop here Tuesday, Johnson took off in his re-luctant jet for American Samoa.

DETROIT (AP) — Representatives of the Detroit Free Press and The American Newspaper Guild met Tuesday in effort to reach a new contract covering editorial and clerical workers at the paper.

Flu Putting Bug in Yule Preparation

By The Associated Press

Influenza and influenza-like respiratory infections are putting a bug in Christmas preparations from Oklahoma to Maryland.

Across the Midwest, mid-South and mid-Atlantic states, outbreaks of various respiratory ailments—many as yet unidentified—have forced schools to close early and businesses to curtail activity.

Though the "bugs" have left some last-minute Christmas shoppers with sore throats, fever, aches and chest pains, their arrival was not totally unexpected.

Last summer, the government's Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta forecast an influenza epidemic in the eastern United States this winter.

Unfortunately, the prediction appears to be coming true. Flu in the Far West is either nonexistent or below normal. In the East and Midwest, however, several epidemics and near-epidemics are already in full swing.

In Michigan Asian flu was reported reaching near epidemic proportions in the southeastern corner of the state—the population Detroit area—after soaring close to epidemic levels in the rest of lower Michigan, state health authorities reported.

Several thousand schoolchildren in scattered parts of the state were out of class because of the ailment and schools in some sections of the state closed indefinitely because of flu outbreaks.

Officials said, however, that the end of the outbreak was expected soon. It began several weeks ago at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, where, officials said, several thousand students missed classes because of illness due to Asian flu virus.

Holiday Hosts Urged to Help Road Safety

Michiganites who plan to host a party and motorists attending parties or visiting bars over the Christmas-New Years holidays are all targets of a "First a Friend, Then a Host" traffic safety campaign announced today by Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Last Christmas season for the first time we abandoned the traditional 'If you drive, don't drink' admonition," said Auto Club General Manager Fred N. Rehm.

"We are now emphasizing that liquor is involved in over half of all Michigan traffic deaths. We don't condone mixing alcohol and driving."

"But we are recognizing that 80 per cent of motorists do drink and then drive. That is why we are aiming this campaign at holiday hosts and bartenders to encourage them not to let guests overindulge before getting behind the wheel."

Part of this year's holiday program is to point out that the new implied consent law can affect more motorists during the holidays than at any other time, the Auto Club says.

Through its "First a Friend, Then a Host" campaign, Auto Club is placing the responsibility for keeping impaired and drunk drivers off the road jointly on party hosts and others who serve liquor during the holidays and on drivers themselves.

The Auto Club gives these pointers to hosts and others for getting guests home sober and alive:

- Refuse service to minors.
- Encourage car pools, with drivers abstaining.
- Arrange taxi or bus service for large groups.
- Don't press drinks on guests who say, "No thanks."
- Refuse to serve "one for the road."
- Explain the drinking rules of your party before hand so guests will understand your refusal to serve alcohol past a preestablished cutoff period.

Several Letters View Open Housing Laws

Mr. Bruce Annett asks "Should an owner of private property be denied the freedom of choice in the disposition or rental of his private property?" Yes, he should. How does the restriction in the free choice in the disposition of property differ from the restriction in the use of private property — building codes and zoning laws?

Mr. Annett remarks that "... you cannot legislate morality or equality." True. You cannot make people moral by law — at least overnight. However, just laws can encourage people to behave as if they were moral. A strong open housing ordinance with adequate penalties would surely deter real estate brokers from immoral prejudices. An open housing ordinance would uphold the activity of those brokers (however few) who see the justice in nondiscriminatory practice.

Mr. Annett says, "Coercive housing laws do not in themselves afford more and better residential housing to American Negroes." That statement is simply not so. Such a law in Pontiac, for instance, would help immensely. Such laws would not solve all the problems in the area of race relations, nor right the wrongs of 170 years of injustice, but it would be a step in the right direction. And it is a step which we can and should take at this point in time.

C. GEORGE WIDDIFIELD, RECTOR
ALL SAINTS' EPISCOPAL CHURCH

When an individual lists his house with a realtor he is in fact giving that realtor power of attorney over his property. He relinquishes any right to determine to whom that property will be sold. If the individual desires to sell his house, his car or his dog by himself, he should be allowed to do so to whom he desires. The Pontiac open housing law, which surely will and must come, must allow as much freedom to the person selling as it does to the individual buying.

Questions Functions of Legal Aid Society

I got a laugh out of your answer as to where to go for free legal advice. I know of two individuals who have gone to this "free" advisory Legal Aid Society and were both told they couldn't be of any assistance, that they needed an attorney. The advice on this was a fee of $1. Just what are the functions of this so-called Legal Aid Society?

Residents Discuss Waterford Township Tax

I protest the Waterford Township tax increase. We must have taxes to have a better community, but they've gone too far. We don't get the services other townships do but we pay more taxes. My husband's wages don't go up but doctor fees increase as well as food bills, car insurance, etc. If there were enough protests, could we either get more services or a tax cut?

MRS. W. LAUNGER
6296 GRACE K., WATERFORD

Waterford Township politicians better stop biting the hand that is feeding them because through unfair taxation they are going to drive the small businessman right out of doing business. When a small store building 50 x 80 ft. is taxed over $1,300 a year, it is far beyond the average businessman's ability to pay this tax. We understand school taxes must of necessity be high in a growing community, but most of us are living in Waterford Township so that makes us pay double taxation on school taxes. If Waterford Township wants businessmen to stay in the Township, they better give the businessman a fair tax.

A SMALL BUSINESSMAN

We received an increase of $180 in Waterford Township taxes in one year. We have no services that merit this tax bill. Our street is so poor that when the County tried to grade it, it buried its own truck. We hear that we have critical needs in our education system but at present we are constructing multipurpose rooms for the grade schools.

It must be that this is the price of Mr. Johnson's Great Society. I am sick of welfare, ADC, Social Security and all the rest crying more, more, more. We should quit, sit at home and make them survive on their own without our tax dollars. Let them pull the oars awhile.

PATRICIA CADWALLADER
4410 MIDROW, DRAYTON PLAINS

There has been much moaning by our Waterford school superintendent about the failure of the recent millage vote. Why was this millage necessary? With the increase in our taxes by the new State system of appraisal, my school taxes are over one-third higher this year than last. If everyone's taxes went up percentage-wise as mine did, we should ask for a more economical school board and superintendent. While he got his raise first, my yearly income dropped by an almost equal amount. Is he fair in requesting this money when they did find enough to put up a new radio station for the schools?

'Title Should Be Restored to Cassius Clay'

The members of the World Boxing Association could do those who have a spirit of sportsmanship a good turn by restoring the heavyweight championship of the world to Cassius Clay. When he won the light heavyweight title at the Olympics he proved to me that if you have what it takes in any sport or profession you can reach the top. He has not burned his draft card, he believes as a champion that his faith does not include war. That is his right. Someday those who condemn his action will say, "there stands the champion of his own convictions."

Views Continue on Law Enforcement Case

I notice that no one seems to care that two of Pontiac's policemen were almost run down by a person suspected of committing a felony. Anyone who decides to steal a car should be prepared to pay the penalty.

GARY G. HUGHES
3820 PONTIAC LAKE RD.

I commend your excellent editorial on law enforcement. If the two officers in question are going to be suspended for doing their duty, there is no reason for having a law enforcement agency. I stand behind their actions 100 per cent.

MRS. ROBERT McFARLAND

Is revenge the answer to the recent incident of a Negro youth being shot for disobeying law and order? Is it right to have to fear for your safety on a busy street? A youth in panic, a moving run-away car and two men trying to uphold law and order — God only knows what can happen in such a situation. Even police officers can panic.

A police officer endangers his life constantly for the safety of the community. Without him we would have utter chaos. A police officer has every right to justice for himself. I hope fellow officers stand behind them.

CONCERNED CITIZEN

Your editorial on law enforcement "hit the nail on the head." If the two officers in question are suspended, they are being done a great injustice. These men deserve the support of all conscientious citizens and I support their actions.

LAURENCE BRUSH
108 N. SAGINAW

Your editorial on support of law enforcement expresses my point of view exactly. If the police department is going to be issued guns and then expected not to use them, we certainly will not have law and order in this community.

NANCY McCULLOUGH

Regarding the editorial about police action, the police have to make decisions immediately at times even though it means their life or the lives of others. We need these men and people who support them.

FRANK HARDING
1054 PREDMONT

I commend you for your editorial in support of police enforcement tactics. I hope this editorial will give a moral uplift to the thankless defenders who risk their lives to protect lives and property of the community. It is long past time to give these needed individuals their due credit, deserved respect and united support. Next call they answer may be yours.

MRS. JOSEPH JOZWICK

Voice of Oakland County Action League strongly disagrees with the principle that allows a policeman not only to arrest but to try, sentence and then execute any person suspected of breaking a law. Since VOCAL is a large multiracial group seeking justice for all, our answer to your rhetorical question, "Would there be a large group seeking suspension of the two officers if the slain suspect had been a white youth?" is an unequivocal YES. The question is racist. VOCAL is not.

DAVID HACKETT

'Theft of Lights Dims Our Christmas Spirit'

It is most depressing to know there are some morally sick people who cannot appreciate the spirit of Christmas. People of Lorena Drive spent many hours decorating their homes, trying to spread the spirit of Christmas. Now all the joy is gone because someone stole lights from several homes.

Where are the parents? Do they know or care where these young people are? We take pride in our neighborhood but the competition is too great.

Comments on Possible Effects on Pontiac

What can one ambitious, undaunted man do to a city of 80,000 people? He can force the elected officials to close libraries, fire stations, community center and the department of health and youth assistance office. Also, lay off over 40 employees and cut recreation programs that keep hundreds of young people out of mischief. Instead of getting more street maintenance, we will get less, as well as cuts in an already understaffed police department.

On behalf of city employees who will be working under increased handicaps and especially those who will lose their jobs, we wish to thank Mr. Mullinix and his group.

'Church States Position on Current Issues'

At the most recent meeting of the official board of St. Luke's Methodist Church, Rochester, the following resolutions were passed:

1. On Vietnam, because all wars are morally wrong and because the loss of life and great suffering by the Vietnamese on their own soil as a result of the actions of the combatants violates the Christian principles, we urge the leaders of both forces to de-escalate the fighting and make all efforts to secure a lasting and equitable peace.

2. On Open Housing, because we are convinced that every man should have an equal opportunity to enjoy the benefits of life without restrictions placed upon him because of his religion, race, color or national origin, and because we believe that a man's basic human rights supersede rights of property and because we believe that in our present society housing is seen to be the critical area in which inequalities exist and basic human needs are being bypassed, we respectfully urge the legislature of the State of Michigan to enact with care and speed legislation which is both enforceable and equitable to all parties and which adequately secures for all parties the right to obtain housing free from discrimination based upon the factors of religion, race, color or national origin.

Junior Editors Quiz on HANDSHAKING

QUESTION: When and why did handshaking start?

ANSWER: Handshaking is one of those customs we practice without realizing how it started. It is one of the rules, based on the ideas of courtesy and fair play, which grouped together, are called etiquette.

The origin of the handshaking goes back to the Middle Ages, when law courts and police were not available for protection as they are now. To guard themselves from attack, most men carried swords.

The custom arose of extending the empty right hand to someone you wanted to claim as a friend, in order to prove there was no sword in it and that you had no intention of provoking a quarrel.

If your friend extended his own right hand in response and grasped yours, he was signalling his own peaceful intentions.

As society grew more friendly, with more protection under the law, it was no longer necessary to carry a sword for defense. Yet handshaking remains as a symbol of respect for another person, expressing your trust that he will deal fairly with you as you intend to do with him.

VC Feeling Troop Pinch

SAIGON (AP) — Intelligence reports indicate a widespread Vietcong effort to recruit young teen-agers and women to solve replacement problems. The U.S. Command said today.

Citing several reports and captured documents, the command said they added up to one thing: "The Vietcong are being plagued with manpower problems."

In a memorandum for the press attached to the daily war communiqué, it cited the following:

"In Pleiku the youth section of a district front committee is responsible for two age groups: 9 to 15 years of age and 16 to 26 years of age. The youths are recruited for various tasks, including village guards and message-carrying."

USING FEMALES
"In Bien Hoa the Vietcong are using females in military units. Youths of 16 who do not volunteer may be forced into Vietcong military units."

"A captured document indicates that 14-year-olds in Long An Province will be forced, if necessary, to join Vietcong units."

The U.S. Command said evidence of the Vietcong's "developing chronic recruitment problem" was underlined in a battle Dec. 8 in the Mekong Delta in which South Vietnamese troops reported killing 456 guerrillas.

Emergency Food Rushed to Snow-Besieged Navajos

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)

— More emergency food supplies were rushed toward the Navajo reservation today after a new storm and whipping winds during the night left thousands of Indians fighting waist-high snow.

Nearly a foot of snow fell in some areas of the 16-million-acre reservation, the largest in the United States.

60,000 AFFECTED

Tribal officials said the known death toll on the reservation from seven days of snow remained at three persons. But they say about 60,000 Navajos are affected to some degree by the storms.

The weather picture was similar over much of the snow-smothered Southwest. Nearly seven feet of snow was reported on the ground at Flagstaff in northeast Arizona. Eight deaths during the past two days were attributed to snow in California, where snow fell at Porterville in Tulare County for the first time in four years.

A different weather hazard—rising temperatures which could cause flooding—was reported in some areas of Arizona. Several persons were evacuated at Miami, Ariz., when water in the Bluebird Mine Reservoir was just a foot below the top. Floods were reported in a Phoenix residential area after a downpour.

The U.S. Weather Bureau had heavy snow warnings in effect during the night for much of Arizona and New Mexico.

The federal government had taken no action on Nakai's request that the Navajo reservation be declared a disaster area so that additional heavy equipment could be obtained to help clear snow-plugged roads to villages and hogans.

"Give us a clear 24 hours and we can make a lot of medicine," said Graham Holmes, Bureau of Indian Affairs Navajo area director, in reference to the blocked roads.

Holmes said the bureau had 60 tons of surplus food commodities on the way by truck and another 77 tons were being held in reserve. The New Mexico Welfare Department sent additional foodstuffs to the Indian areas of Crown Point and Shiprock, N.M.

Sgt. Joe Duffy, Kansas City, Mo.: "Our survivor was a back-seater (navigator) shot down in the lowlands north of the DMZ."

"When we got to the area the survivor popped a flare and we spotted him at once."

'LOTS OF FIRE'

Dragging of Ohio for Bodies Continues

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP) — Small boats continued to drag the Ohio River today downstream from the collapsed suspension bridge here while divers attempted to free wrecked autos from the mangled steel and concrete 40 feet under water.

The divers use torches to cut the sunken steel girders into workable lengths, which are then hauled up by 100-ton floating derricks. Officials estimate it may take several months to clear all debris from the river bottom.

Searchers have recovered 21 bodies since the Silver Bridge collapsed Friday. It was loaded with bumper-to-bumper traffic at the time, and Civil Defense officials estimate there are at least 40 persons still missing.

No bodies have been brought up since Tuesday morning.

SHUTTLE CONTINUES

An emergency shuttle service across the New York Central Railroad bridge 300 yards upstream of the collapsed bridge is continuing. Officials hope this will ease some of the traffic on the Pomeroy, Ohio-Mason, W. Va. bridge 20 miles north of here.

Meanwhile in Washington, Highway Administrator Lowell Bridwell announced he would appoint a federal panel to investigate the bridge collapse.

Dr. Benjamin Spock, the American pediatrician and anti-war campaigner, told Soviet mothers in Moscow today children should be taught to "refrain from violence as a way of settling disputes."

Children must be reminded often that man "should be affectionate and noble" wrote Spock in the current English language edition of Sovetskaya Zhenshina (Soviet Woman).

He implied that such children would be most likely to keep the world peaceful in the future.

He implied that such children would be most likely to keep the world peaceful in the future.

Spock appealed to the Soviet Union, the United States and other industrialized nations to "get our minds off Cold War rivalries and onto the "desperate problems of the underdeveloped nations."

"Belligerence provokes belligerence" he wrote. But "friendliness arouses friendliness."

Retiring Senator Didn't Plan on Political Career

Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., who announced yesterday he would retire after 40 years in public office, said he never intended to get into politics.

"In 1928 I was cutting wheat, and a car drove up at the end of the field.

"I stopped the combine and got off. There were four men from my home town of Concordia. One said, 'we want to put your name on the ballot for the Kansas legislature.'"

"I said I can't be bothered with it. I'll be feeding a couple hundred head of cattle in the winter and the legislature meets in January.

Carlson won every election he entered—for the legislature, congressman, governor and senator.

Ousted Dahomey President Seeks Asylum

Gen. Christophe Soglo, who lost the Dahomey presidency in a bloodless coup, has received asylum in the French Embassy in Cotonou.

The 58-year-old general took his French-born wife with him to the embassy yesterday.

Soglo's two-year regime was ended by a group of young officers headed by Maj. Maurice Kouandete. Soglo took power in December 1965 in the same kind of bloodless coup.

The moving of Soglo and his wife to the embassy was done after a meeting between the new government leaders and French ambassador Guy Georgy.

Rejected Teen Issues Call to the Marines

LANSING (AP) — Richard Armstrong said he now has Armstrong, the 19-year-old son given Selective Service head- of a disabled combat Marine, quarters permission to turn his says he is hoping the Marines draft file over to the Marines. will come to the rescue so he Armstrong, formerly of Muir and now of Lansing, was turned down twice for physical reasons when he tried to enlist through the Ionia Draft Board.

Armstrong then turned in his draft card. Unlike most who return cards, he wasn't objecting to the draft but hoped the act would start some action to get him drafted.

Armstrong's father was disabled fighting with the Marines on Guadalcanal, the youngest said.

"I think everyone should see some service," the son said.

Col. Arthur Holmes, state Selective Service director, said he was prepared to send Armstrong's files back to his home.

His story already has received sympathy from servicemen overseas.

Saffron, Sesame Seed Go into Rolls

Fresh, homemade breads cording to USDA recommendations. Note: If self-rising flour is used omit salt.

Saffron Sesame Seed Rolls are so unusual looking, so delightful tasting! you'll enjoy them even without the meal. They make wonderful nibblers with cheese.

The lovely, golden rolls with delicately browned "petals" flecked with toasted sesame seeds — are shaped to resemble Christmas flowers. They're almost too pretty to eat, but neither you nor your guests will be able to resist them. They look, smell, and are delicious.

Saffron, a spice once associated with royalty, gives the dough a beautiful yellow hue. The sesame seeds add crunch and seasoning.

Saffron Sesame Seed Rolls
2 packages yeast
1/4 cup warm water
1 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup oil
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon ground saffron
5 cups sifted enriched flour about
2 eggs
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons milk
1/2 cup sesame seeds

Soften yeast in water. Heat milk until almost simmering. Measure sugar, oil, salt and saffron into large bowl. Add milk; stir until sugar dissolves. Cool to lukewarm.

Stir in 2 cups flour and beat until smooth. Beat in yeast, eggs and lemon rind. Add enough remaining flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and satiny, 7 to 10 minutes. Shape into ball; place in lightly greased bowl, grease top of dough. Cover and let rise in warm place (80-85 degrees) until doubled, about 1 1/2 hours.

Punch down; divide in half. Let rest 10 minutes. Roll each half to 11x18-inch rectangle. Cut into 1x11 strips. Brush with milk; sprinkle with half of sesame seeds.

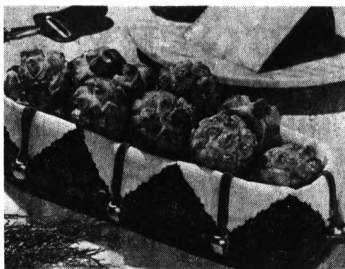

Snip at 1/2-inch intervals along side of strip. Roll up and place in greased muffin cups. Repeat with remaining dough.

Cover and let rise until doubled, about 25 to 30 minutes. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Makes 3 dozen.

English Cut Beef Best to Braise

Do you know how to cook an English cut, or maybe you know it as Boston cut? This is a cut of beef from the shoulder which is rectangular in shape and consists of layers of lean, with thin layers of fat between. It makes an excellent pot roast — juicy, with so much flavor.

Brown the roast in a Dutch oven in a little hot fat; season, cover with sliced onions, if desired, and add a little liquid. Cover and simmer over low heat for three hours or until tender.

SAFFRON SESAME SEED ROLLS — Let a basket of fragrant, warm, homemade rolls beguile your family or guests. Shape these like petals. Serve in a gaily decorated basket.

WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration, responding to inquiries it said came from some consumers, says there is no scientific evidence to show widely used artificial sweeteners are a hazard to health.

However, the FDA said studies of the chemicals are continuing in the United States and abroad.

"If at any time the scientific evidence shows some basis for restricting the use of artificial sweeteners, the FDA has the authority" to take action the agency said.

The FDA made the statement in an apparently little-publicized "Fact Sheet" which an agency spokesman said was prepared recently because of inquiries.

The question of safety "is asked with increasing frequency as beverages and food products sweetened with sugar substitutes multiply on supermarket shelves," the sheet said.

"Articles in newspapers and periodicals citing possible dangers related to the artificial sweeteners also contribute to the concern on the part of consumers."

The publication added: "The safety of artificial sweeteners—saccharins and cyclamates—has been reviewed periodically for more than a decade.

"As is true of a wide array of other food additives developed by industry, the artificial sweeteners have undergone extensive toxicity testing in past years."
