JACKSON, Mich.—A "hard sell" program to promote Michigan as a good place to do business is paying off.

Birum G. Campbell, vice president for marketing at Consumers Power Co., says intense efforts by industrial leaders, state officials and Michigan residents have attracted much nationwide interest in Michigan as the site for plants and for expansion of existing manufacturing facilities.

Director of marketing for a private utility company that serves the electrical and gas fuel needs of industry and residents in 1,646 Michigan cities, villages and townships, Campbell frankly is optimistic about the state's industrial future.

"We are not on the defensive in attracting new industry to Michigan," Campbell said in a recent interview. "We have three times as many good prospects for new manufacturing as we had two years ago."

Campbell said he never believed that Michigan was a poor place to do business despite an image created several years ago when many business organizations transferred their operations to other states.

These transfers followed reports that Michigan officials and labor had combined to make industry a stepchild in the over-all state economic picture.

Campbell said he has noticed a definite positive change in the attitude to Michigan as a business-minded state in the last few years.

"Communities are active in getting industry attracted to the state," Campbell said, "and our people are starting to sell Michigan's major assets to out-of-state visitors."

"This individual effort backed up by state agencies and private business market promotion is paying off," he said.

PRIME ASSETS

Campbell listed as Michigan's prime assets: One of the world's largest fresh water supplies; a network of highspeed highways; a good industrial transportation facilities and a growing population.

These assets have been called to the attention of prospective business operations through a series of area development programs.

Consumers Power has carried out an area development program since 1950. Currently a staff of three engineers handled the company's business promotion efforts.

Part of the program is the preparation of a detailed report on all areas served by Consumers Power. These reports give a complete listing of industrial assets in a specific community. The reports also detail education, recreation and service facilities in each area.

Campbell says his company's effort is just one of many being carried out by private business.

He said Consumers Power now has some 20 "hot prospects" for plant location in Michigan compared to six in 1960.

"The cooperation of all elements has increased in recent years to a point where we are really moving in getting new industry for the state," Campbell said.

He cited efforts by the State Economic Development Commission as one of many aids to private industrial promotion benefiting Michigan.

Campbell also said the electric

City in Top Form for Skates, Sleds

Christmas sleds, toboggans and skates are getting a good workout this week at the Murphy Park sled and toboggan slides and five city skating rinks.

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department reported today that rinks are now operating and in good condition at Washington and Eastern junior high schools, Murphy Park, Oriole Field and LeBaron Elementary School.

Flooding crews are working around the clock to improve the other 20 rink areas scheduled for operation this year.

The sled run and toboggan slide are operating and in "perfect" condition, the department reports.

Both are supervised by department personnel from noon to 10 p.m. each day during Christmas vacation.

FUN RUN — Starting their long run down the lightning-fast toboggan slide at Murphy Park, this foursome is typical of many now enjoying winter sports. Castro in Hot Water

By United Press International

Smuggled dispatches from Western diplomatic and other reliable sources in Cuba reported today that Fidel Castro is battling for his political life.

The dispatches, delivered in New York City, reported that his image has been damaged, perhaps irreparably, by Nikita Khrushchev's unilateral decision to remove Russian rockets and bombers and their crews from Cuba.

The Soviet action enraged Castro's student followers, the dispatches said, and he was reported having trouble keeping them in line.

Cuba's seven million people, meanwhile, were described as increasingly restless over prolonged shortages.

The dispatches said there was continued anti-Castro activity in the interior but described it as scattered and ineffective. More serious for Castro, they said, was growing discontent among the peasants.

The dispatches cited "unconfirmed" reports in Havana of similar discontent within the armed forces.

NIGHTLY VISITS

Castro was said to be visiting his alma mater, the University of Havana, almost nightly to keep his student followers from open street protests against what they term "Soviet treason."

The dispatches cited protest rallies within the university, not only against Khrushchev but against university rector Juan Marinello, veteran president of the Cuban Communist party for 40 years.

Diplomats said that the internal crisis in Cuba provoked by Khrushchev's action also has caused a cleavage in Cuban Communist ranks.

Such party stalwarts as Ernest

(Che) Guevara, generally credited with having been instrumental in getting the rockets and bombers into Cuba, was described as "enraged" over the Russian role.

Long a sympathizer of Red China in its ideological clash with Soviet communism, Guevara was said now to be openly pro-Peking in his political attitude.

HAVANA (UPI) — Cuba today abruptly banned any further departures of relatives of ransomed invasion prisoners.

In an unexplained reversal of previously announced policy, a government spokesman said no more relatives will be allowed to leave Cuba aboard Red Cross-chartered ships.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Katangan troops were reported fighting U.N. forces in Elisabethville today, with casualties on both sides.

Diplomatic reports reaching Europe from the African trouble spot said efforts were being made for a cease fire. In London, the British government said the American and British consuls in Elisabethville also sought to arrange a cease fire.

The Belgian radio, quoting diplomatic sources, described the fighting as very violent. It said U.N. representative Elind

Pontiac Motor Hits New High

Sell 18,331 Units in 2nd December Period

Pontiac Motor Division sales of 18,331 units during the second 10 days of December were the highest for this period in the history of the company.

Similar sales records were reported by other General Motors divisions and other auto firms.

For Pontiac and Tempest sales, the 18,331 units far exceeded the 12,929 units sold in the same period—12,929 units sold in the same 1961 period.

Chevrolet Motor Division delivered 73,323 cars and trucks in the Dec. 11-20 period for another all-time record.

American Motors Corp. reported Rambler sales of 12,242 for the period set another record.

Dodge dealers sold 10,534 cars in the 10 days for an increase of 67 per cent over the same period a year ago.

The Chrysler-Plymouth Division reported sales of 17,944 cars during the second 10 days of December, up 58 per cent over the comparable period a year ago.

CHEVY RECORD

Chevrolet already has sold 2,444,678 units this year—virtually assuring a 12-month sales record of 2.5 million cars and trucks.

Chevrolet Sales Manager Larry Averill said that Dec. 11-20 sales of 62,168 cars were 5,014 above the previous record for the period set in 1961 and 12.8 per cent above the second highest Dec. 11-20 period set in 1955.

Truck sales of 11,755 were 13.5 per cent higher than the same period last year and 549 trucks more than the previous peak for the period set in 1955.

AMC's new 10-day sales record brought deliveries for the calendar year to 421,512 compared with 367,324 in the comparable period of 1961.

Dodge reported that, in the first 20 days of December, sales totaled 108,000—more than in the entire month of December last year when 15,883 cars were delivered.

Chrysler-Plymouth 20-day sales amounted to 23,279 cars, a 52 per cent increase over a year ago.

Moderates Win; Romney Helped

LANSING, Mich. — A major upheaval in Republican leadership of next year's state Senate shaped up today, with self-styled "moderates" capturing floor and caucus control of the GOP.

Republican senators sat behind closed doors for two hours yesterday. When the meeting broke up, Sen. Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor emerged as GOP caucus chairman, and Sen. William Milliken of Traverse City as majority floor leader.

The outcome was regarded by Capitol observers as an indication Gov.-elect George Romney's legislative program will have easier going in the upper chamber than it would have had under "Old Guard" leadership.

To newsmen, Thayer said he hoped the new lineup in leadership would mark the end of the Senate's reputation as a veto bloc because "any veto would be a repudiation of the new governor."

Thayer will succeed Sen. Lynn Francis, R-Midland, as majority leader. Francis has retired from the Senate.

Another former chairman, Sen. Frank Beadle of St. Clair, was nominated for the post but withdrew after a secret ballot showed Thayer was favored 12-11. The selection then was declared unanimous.

Only one member of the so-called conservative wing of the Senate, Sen. John P. Smeekens, R-Coldwater, was granted a title in yesterday's caucus. He was named president pro tempore, a figurehead position with little authority who presides over the Senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor.

There also were indications that more changes in the makeup of the 1963 Senate were in the works.

Sen. Elmer Porter, R-Blissfield, appeared about to be dumped from his position as chairman of the powerful appropriations committee, a post he has held for the past 12 years.

The 74-year-old Porter, who was first elected to the Senate in 1948, has served longer than any other member of the body.

Thayer, who as caucus chairman also will serve as chairman of the committee on committees, said he would like to recommend Beadle for the appropriations committee chairmanship.

He said he assumed there would be no floor fights over the committee's recommendations, but added that anything could happen.

Porter, Thayer said, was nominated for the position of president pro tempore but withdrew from it.

'Senate Ready to Aid Romney'

Roberts Sees Joint Assault on Problems

Michigan's Senate, once dubbed "Netherland" by Democrats, is now set to work with the state's new governor, George W. Romney, in a streamlined attack on modern problems, State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, said today.

Roberts is one of the leaders of a group of Republican moderates who wrested control of the Senate from the "old guard" in a two-hour closed door caucus of the 23 GOP state senators yesterday in Lansing.

"Our aim was to make possible the appointment of committee chairmen who will cooperate with Romney," Roberts said.

The moderates — five senators who will begin their second terms next month — were joined by five freshmen lawmakers, and two others as they elected Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor, majority caucus chairman by a narrow margin.

Thayer also became chairman of the Senate's committee on committees, which will decide on key Senate committee chairmanships and membership.

NAMED TO COMMITTEE

Roberts was named a member of this committee along with William Milliken of Traverse City and Gary Brown of Kalamazoo, giving the moderates four of the six Republican seats on the eight-man committee.

Milliken, who was named majority floor leader, Thayer, Roberts, Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, and Fred Hilbert, R-Wayland, comprise the group of five moderates starting their second terms.

Brown is one of the five freshman senators. Another is Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids, who is expected to be named chairman of the important labor committee in place of John P. Smeekens, R-Coldwater, one of the "old guard" leaders.

Roberts appears headed for the chairmanship of the powerful judiciary committee of which he is now a member. He also may be appointed to the labor committee.

He would replace Carlton Morris of Kalamazoo, a leader of the "old guard veto bloc" who was defeated for reelection.

Big Blast Rips Wall in Berlin

Largest Explosion Yet Tears Hole in Barrier

BERLIN (AP) — The biggest explosive assault ever against the Red wall dividing Berlin was carried out before dawn today.

There was no immediate indication of who set the blast.

The explosion ripped a three-foot square hole in the wall and smashed 600 windows in neighboring buildings, including 150 in a fire brigade headquarters.

West Berlin police said it was the biggest explosive charge laid against the wall in its 16 months of existence, although previous smaller explosions have caused more damage to the wall itself.

They believed the people responsible were disturbed at their work. The charge was not embedded in the wall before it went off, which accounted for the comparatively slight damage to the wall itself and the considerable destruction away from it.

The explosion went off 100 yards from the site of another explosion Dec. 16. That time three men set a charge and gave themselves up to police five minutes before it went off.

Both blasts went off in the Jerusalem Strasse, 800 yards from the U.S. Army's checkpoint Charlie, at Friedrichstrasse.

Nobody was hurt in today's explosion but a wooden weather shelter used by West Berlin police was ripped apart. It was empty at the time.

The East Germans rushed six extra border guards to the hole. They took station, with tommy guns pointing through the hole toward the West.

West Berlin police said they were hindered in their investigation by the Vopos, as the East guards are nicknamed. The wall itself has about 10 feet on the East Berlin side of the actual boundary line.

ENCORE — Two years ago Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams (right), administered the judicial oath to his brother, Probate Judge Donald E. Adams. Yesterday also was Judge Donald Adams' 50th birthday.

Bitter Weather Blasts Europe for Sixth Day

LONDON (UPI) — For the sixth consecutive day, bitter wind brought havoc and death to Europe today with forecasts for more snow and cold over the weekend.

From Britain eastward to the Iron Curtain, from Lapland southward to the normally balmy Mediterranean, an unofficial count showed deaths attributed to the weather rose above 400 for the week.

Traffic, rail and miscellaneous accidents have killed at least 127 Britons to date in the grim fatality toll. Although the airports were back to normal today, a Royal Automobile Club spokesman said roads in hard-hit southern England "resemble Alpine passes."

Delay Hearing in Girl's Killing

Justice Court examination of a youth charged with first-degree murder in the hammer slaying of an 11-year-old Novi girl has been postponed until Jan. 10.

The examination of James G. Gostlin, 20, of Dearborn Township, originally was scheduled for yesterday afternoon before Novi Township Justice Robert K. Anderson.

It was postponed at the request of the Oakland County prosecutor's office, according to Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole. Gostlin is accused of killing Shirley Husted during a night of terror in her family's home at 2099 Austin Drive, Novi. Police say he also attacked her father, Wesley, 40, and mother, Rita, 35, with a hammer.

The delay, BeGole said, was to allow Mrs. Husted sufficient time to recuperate from the attack so she can take the witness stand in the examination.

He Likes Jail Until Weather Gets Warmer

WASHINGTON (AP)—When it was snowy and cold last Friday, Donald Johnson couldn't think of a better place to be than a warm jail cell. He did his best to book one for the winter.

Police said Johnson caught a traffic officer's eye, announced he was snoring and cold last Friday, then flung a hammer through a plate glass store window in downtown Washington.

Junior Editors Quiz on GLASS

QUESTION: How is shatter-proof glass made?

ANSWER: Although glass is one of man's most useful inventions it is made very simply, by taking sand, adding other ingredients such as lime and soda and heating until the materials melt — when it becomes glass. To make glass for windows, the white hot mixture is pressed out between rollers.

As cars became more and more popular, they were made with windows which could be rolled up and down. The tendency of glass to fly off in sharp splinters when broken made the windows extremely dangerous in case of accident.

The three young people in our picture are demonstrating the ingenious principle which is back of the solution to the car window problem. Modern shatter-proof glass is really a sandwich; there are two glass sheets and between them a piece of transparent vinyl plastic.

This is bonded with the glass by pressure and heat. In case of accident, car windows may fracture, but the splinters will not fly off to injure anyone, because they are firmly held by the layer of plastic inside.

Enters Plea of Innocent

Man Charged With Purse Theft in Area

A Livonia man who police say changed his mind about returning a woman's purse he found in the Village of Walked Lake pleaded innocent to a charge of grand larceny Wednesday before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Norman J. Derrick, 30, is accused of taking a purse containing $189 belonging to Mrs. Gladys Hartford of Willis.

Mrs. Hartford told police she placed the purse on top of her car with other packages while she opened the door and then drove away while forgetting the purse was on the car.

Walied Lake Police Chief James A. Decker said Derrick admitted he picked up the purse and followed Mrs. Hartford in his car intending to return it, but changed his mind after following for a few blocks.

A witness took down Derrick's license number.

Derrick was unable to furnish $1,000 bond and is being held for trial at the county jail.

Asks New Bargaining in Shipping Shutdown

By The Associated Press

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz has re-entered the crippling dock strike with an urgent plea to both longshoremen and ship owners to resume negotiations in the name of the national interest.

These developments came as the strike saw its first flareup of violence — the shooting of a dockworker who crossed I.L.A. picket lines in Galveston, Tex. The non-union worker was wounded in the foot.

The current strike actually started last October, went on for four days and was halted by a Talt-Hartley law injunction. It was resumed at the expiration of an 80-day cooling off period.

Wirtz, who has been out of the negotiations since the I.L.A. and the ship owners held their last joint bargaining session before the strike started Sunday, scheduled separate meetings with each side.

The labor secretary set a meeting for 4 p.m. today with representatives of the New York Shipping Association, which represents 135 domestic and foreign lines. He set a meeting for 11 a.m. Saturday with the I.L.A.

Wirtz sent telegrams Thursday to both sides saying: "It is imperative to the national interest that negotiations be resumed."

The strike of 60,000 longshoremen has effectively closed all East and Gulf Coast ports to all but military, emergency and dangerous cargoes, which the union itself has exempted from the strike provisions.

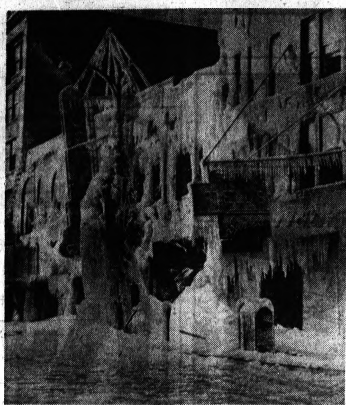

The I.L.A. executive vice president and chief union negotiator, Thomas W. Gleason, said only a new proposal by the shippers could help at this point.

N. Y. Landscaping Pact Awarded to State Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Power Authority has announced the award of a $14,214 landscaping contract to William Reinhold of Flat Rock, Mich., the lowest of 11 bidders.

The contract calls for furnishing and planting the specimen trees, shrubs, vines and plants adjacent to the Lewiston pump-generating plant of the Niagara Power project.

Migration of Puerto Ricans to the United States has varied between 28,000 to 45,000 annually since 1945, including many seasonal farm workers who return home after completing work.

ICY AFTERMATH — The fire is out, the tons of water did their work, now the problem is getting rid of that mountain of ice. Four downtown Gary, Ind., stores were destroyed in a $400,000 fire yesterday that injured four firemen and threatened an entire city block. And as anyone can see, it was a cold day in Gary.

Buried Alive in Construction

DETROIT (AP) — A construction worker was buried alive yesterday when tons of clay and dirt tumbled into a sewer excavation at a work project on Detroit's West Side.

Richard Sanders, 25, of Detroit died as fellow workers and firemen tried desperately to save him.

Another man, Jesse Maris, 63, of Dearborn narrowly escaped death in a second cave-in after he jumped in and started digging for Sanders following the collapse of the walls of the ditch.

Maris was buried to his shoulders in the second cave-in. Firemen worked for more than an hour before freeing him from under more than 3 feet of clay and dirt.

Scout Council Sets Up Fund

Provides for Growth in Clinton Valley

The Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council has established a trust fund to aid its long-range development and future growth, John W. Hunt, council president, has announced.

"The council frequently faces specific projects, camp capital development requirements or extraordinary operating needs which cannot be financed through United Fund or Community Chest contributions, the basis for the normal yearly operating budget," Hunt said.

"Therefore, the trust fund has been set up by the council expressly to help meet the additional financial burdens which such unusual demands impose."

"Our executive board hopes that, through the receipt of special gifts and bequests, the fund will grow steadily and ultimately generate sufficient earnings to enable us to implement and carry out a scouting program for boys with maximum effectiveness."

Two contributions totaling $5,500 already have been made to the new trust fund, the council president said.

The Detroit Bank and Trust Co. has been named trustee of the fund.

Eleanor Roosevelt to Be Honored by U.S. Stamp

PALM BEACH (AP) — Eleanor Roosevelt, who often was referred to as the first lady of the world, will be honored by a U.S. commemorative stamp, the White House has announced.

Mrs. Roosevelt, the widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, died last month at the age of 78.

The design and denomination of the stamp have not yet been decided. It will be issued on Oct. 11, 1963 — the 79th anniversary of Mrs. Roosevelt's birth.

It will be one of 15 special commemorative stamps issued during next year.

The average American is said to be exposed to about 10,000 TV commercials a year.

Blue Approach Lights Taken From Runway

HOLLAND (AP) — Ottawa County sheriff's men are seeking thieves who took a blue approach light from the northeast-southwest runway of nearby Park Township Airport.

It marked the end of a strip of white lights along the runway and its loss, says Airport Manager John VanWieren, makes hazardous any night landing at tempt by pilots unfamiliar with the field.

Americans Prove Tough!

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Many a "soft" American is perhaps tougher and better able to endure hardships than he thinks, a scientist said today.

He faces some dangers and discomforts that might have made the strong men of old shudder, Albert D. Biderman of Washington, D.C., observed.

Biderman said, "We daily huddle in automobiles separated only from others huddling in the opposite direction by a few inches of yellow lines on the pavement"—a risk possibly comparable to that of Indian raids on the old wagon trains.

And the worker who twice daily sardines himself into a hot subway car in August, Biderman said, may be undergoing "training" as potentially valuable for many situations of harsh captivity as is the daily experience of the plow hand.

ENDURANCE RATE

But Americans are becoming unfamiliar with hardship and suffering, Biderman said. And so they tend to underestimate the amount of hardship they could endure if they had to, he told the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Biderman, of the Bureau of Social Science Research, reviewed both folklore about captivity and the experiences of American prisoners of war.

Few prisoners of war had ever realistically thought they might be captured, and so had not mentally rehearsed the prospect, he said.

Many Americans captured in the Korean War complained they were not told what to expect. About one-third of Air Force patriots said their treatment was not as bad as they had expected, while another third said it was worse, or much worse.

CAN TAKE IT

Many of their answers to questioning, Biderman said, "reflect the surprise experienced by people who have encountered extreme hardship at discovering what men can endure."

"I believe that the ordinary American who has experienced oppressive captivity has entered the situation with a general underestimation of his ability to 'take it,'" Biderman said.

Commenting on one magazine article "purporting to describe how readily American prisoners succumbed to minor hardship," Biderman said if people knew of the day-by-day details of what the men had lived through, "they would be amazed that so many of them survived at all."

Seals Find Freedom

NEW YORK (AP)—Two seals escaped from the Freedomland Amusement Park in the Bronx.

The lady seal was loaded into a radio car.

Arthur Thornton of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals appeared with a truck and a lasso to round up the male seal.

"I was trying to figure out how to get that 300 pounds on the truck," Thornton said, "when he jumped in."

Deregoski, whose appointment will be effective Jan. 2, replaces Eugene Krasicky, 39, in the post.

The solicitor general usually handles appellate proceedings before the Supreme Court.

Kelley said Krasicky would continue his responsibilities as head of the attorney general's expanded education and retirement division and as a member of the opinion review board.

Krasicky was appointed last week to the attorney general's civil rights and civil liberties task force.

Other appointments announced yesterday by Kelley were:

— Joseph Sullivan, 40, assistant attorney general in charge of criminal trial work. Sullivan is a former executive secretary to Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

— Michael David Schwartz, 33, Mount Clemens, special assistant attorney general for highway condemnation work in Macomb County.

— William Cahalan, 37, special assistant attorney general for highway condemnation work in Wayne County.

Government to Study Welfare Chiseling

A long-overdue crackdown on Federal welfare aid chiseling is in prospect.

A comprehensive study, timed for early next year, by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare will explore the whole $3.9-billion program of aid to the needy with particular emphasis on assistance to families with dependent children.

This category accounts for $1.4 billion of the total, and critics say it harbors the bulk of the fraud and misdirection from which the administration of the agency suffers.

With this program, families become eligible for assistance if there is no breadwinner. But investigators in Washington found recipients with undisclosed income. "Disabled" fathers were found to be no longer incapable of earning a living. Some children for whom payments were made couldn't be located. In all, ineligibility was shown in over 50 per cent of the cases reviewed.

In other cities and states, investigators found similar evidence of fraud and in other types of aid. West Virginia officials disclosed that 11 per cent of beneficiaries were ineligible. In California, 1,600 cases were turned over for prosecution on charges of welfare chiseling.

The study will cost $1.25 million in state and Federal funds. Welfare workers will visit 21,000 families, representing 2 per cent of the Nation's dependent children case load. The results should be released next spring, in time for Congress to make changes in welfare legislation.

We think a realistic appraisal of welfare aid of all kinds and on all levels is most timely. It is hoped that this investigation will be an objective one and not just another "snow job." It is hoped, too, that once in possession of the facts, Congress will act promptly and forthrightly, giving the suffering taxpayers much-needed relief from one burden that is increasing at the rate of $2 million a year.

Freeman Cautious on Farm Legislation

The problem of farm prices in recent years has come before our Washington legislators time and time again, with seemingly little satisfaction for the farmer or the public.

In the last session of Congress it appears that some gain was made with the defeat of the Administration's plan. Had it gone through, farm prices would have been raised and the government would have instituted more controls over farmers.

Shortly after the bill was killed, the word from Washington was out that the new Congress would again drive hard to pass the same legislation. But something apparently has happened, for Agriculture Secretary ORVILLE FREEMAN has indicated that he will let the matter rest.

It seems to us that this is a sound decision as it will allow the farmers to work their land and market their own crops without fear that they will be judged guilty of some infringement and heavily fined.

As the legislation now stands, it is a break for the taxpayers. Under the Administration's bill, higher subsidies would have come about, which naturally would have forced our food bills up.

The issue is far from being completely closed. The present system of farm subsidies is costing $3 billion a year. And without a doubt, this adds to the retail cost of all food and clothing.

Most farmers are not satisfied. They have at least staved off any more restrictions, but they still have some old restraints. The government still has the whip hand and can dump grain on the market to depress prices; the farmer can do nothing.

Our supported prices are too high. The American farmer can produce many crops at lower prices. The new Congress should pass only farm legislation which leads in this direction.

To use the old ballpark chant, "You can't tell a player without a program."

But to end the suspense, they are The Rummels, pere and fils. The pere is Martin P. of Birmingham, for 33 years a top executive of GM's Pontiac Horseless Carriage Division, and fils is Roger P. of Rochester, for five years a junior executive of Community National Counseling house.

In this case, paraphrasing the protective note that appears on a prefatory page of novels, let it be said: "The characters in this piece are not fictitious and any resemblance to actual persons is not coincidental."

Reference a short time ago to a couple of Pontiac's pre-eminent pipe smokers, moved "Your Boy, Browne" to send in a "genuine birch and maple" cornucop pipe" designed for those bent on quitting smoking. Its efficacy stems from the fact that the business end, the bowl, has no hole!

To accompany this ingenious device, for abetting non-smoking pipe smoking, we suggest that there is a waiting market for pre-smoked tobacco.

David Lawrence Says:

Treasury May Regret Diary Idea

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Treasury may rue the day it ever mentioned the idea of keeping an "expense-account diary."

For, judging by the talk that's being heard nowadays, the Treasury may actually lose hundreds of millions of dollars of revenue that it has been collecting heretofore, because the taxpayer now will avail himself of every tax deduction to which he is entitled.

The revenue derived from the carelessness of the citizen in failing to claim LAWRENCE legally specified deductions is probably far larger than the amounts that have been lost annually to the Treasury by improper expense-account claims.

Thus, government officials said this week that the Treasury is hoping to collect only about $100 million a year more in revenue than before by being strict on expense accounts.

But if the citizens start claiming every legal deduction and start keeping records of the amounts they pay out in sales taxes alone, it could cost the Treasury many millions of dollars.

Some idea of the huge amounts involved can be inferred from the fact that, in 1960, the states collected $18 billion and the counties and cities $18.1 billion in taxes of all kinds.

This totals $36.1 billion in taxes which are generally deductible on federal tax returns. Yet all the deductions claimed by individuals for these taxes added up to only $10.5 billion.

Now, there are no comparable figures as to what corporations or businesses claimed as deductions just for state and local tax payments, but their deductions for all taxes, including some federal and foreign taxes, added up to $19.2 billion in 1960.

The discrepancy, it would seem, could therefore amount to several billions of dollars which could be legally deducted by both individuals and businesses.

It also seems probable that, while businesses are claiming deductions for sales taxes, individuals are not aware that they have a right to deduct on their federal income taxes every penny of state or local sales tax that they pay at the stores in their communities.

They are unaware also of the fact that state income taxes, real estate taxes, state taxes on gasoline and cigarettes, automobile licenses, municipal utility taxes, and a number of other taxes are deductible.

MORE ITEMIZE Many citizens do a good job of itemizing their deductions, but some persons take the easy way by lumping everything in a "standard deduction" just because they don't want to take the trouble to make itemized returns.

whereas in 1950 only 23 per cent did.

With the Treasury publicizing the idea of an expense-account diary to be kept in one's pocket, however, there will be a handy way every moment of the day to keep a record of legitimate expenses that are deductible on federal income taxes.

Maybe when all the tax deductions are added up, the Treasury will wish it had never made such a fuss about expense accounts and had centered its attention instead on ferreting out those who were really cheating.

Checking expense-account items is likely to be a big headache and may easily cost the government more than it takes in as a result of the new check-up.

Bob Considine Reports:

'What Are Unions?' Bellows Comrade K

MOSCOW (Very Much Delayed) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev awakened this morning at his customary hour, brushed his teeth, called for tea and toast, and was nettled to discover when the tray arrived that the usual neatly folded Pravda was not there beside the napkin.

"But he's my son-in-law," ordered Comrade Butcher to be packed off down the Road of the Enthusiasts — CONSIDINE formerly Abandon All Hope Highway—to Siberia. Then he said to his secretary, "Bring me my Pravda, on the double."

"The poor man shook with fright. "What is it, fool? Get me my paper," N. S. Khrushchev belted.

"I'm sorry, Comrade Nikita Sergeyevich, but there is no Pravda today," the poor soul whimpered.

"No Pravda? Are you mad? There's always a Pravda. How else would the peasants and workers know how well off they are?"

"Pravda's on strike," the man said. "Just like the New York and Cleveland newspapers."

COUNTER REVOLUTION

"I know only a little about such things," the secretary said nervously. "But I read once that a strike is a kind of counter revolution. A union decides its members are not being treated right."

"So what's a union?" Nikita Sergeyevich thundered.

"Well, as I get it, a union is a kind of collective whose leader can tell the members whether to work or not work for the company or the state."

"They demand a 10-minute instead of a five-minute borscht break. Management has offered seven and a half minutes, plus such fringe benefits as free blintzes on Lenin's birthday."

"They've been shot, of course," Khrushchev said brusquely. "Of course, Comrade Nikita Sergeyevich. But it will take a day or two to get new printers."

"Nonsense, order the printers at Lysyets to do double duty."

The man gulped again. "They're on strike, too, Comrade."

Three public schools in Sharon, Mass. have banned Christmas trees in order to "separate church and state." It was pointed out by Massachusetts officials that many of the children are Jewish and hence do not celebrate the birth of Christ.

This is a ridiculous reason. Jewish children celebrate such holidays as Yom Kippur, Rosh Hashana and the Passover.

These are impressive traditions and Christian children would be better off if teachers or visiting rabbis explained their meaning. But however much we may prize the separation of church and state, America has a Christian tradition, and to knock all Christian symbolism out of American schools is an impossible price to pay for the nothingness that is confused with tolerance.

The kindergarten Easter bunnies would have to go. Easter celebrates the resurrection of Christ. Even if you don't believe it really happened the spring festival is nearly as old as human beings. We'll have to stop having the kids cut out Pilgrim fathers and turkeys for Thanksgiving. There are a number of atheists in America, many of them sincere, law-abiding people who are evangelical in their disbelief. If we are not going to irritate any minority the schools must ignore Thanksgiving, for if there is no higher power than man to whom do we give thanks?

We are sure, too, that the flight has been "more than justified" by the data gathered even if it turns out not to have answered all the questions.

1962 Marks End of 'Religious Era'

Church Growth Is Slowed, but Real Revival Is On

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

For America's churches, 1962 marked the end of an era. It was an era in which "religion" achieved unprecedented popularity, and church membership rose at a spectacular rate.

Since 1946, when the postwar "religious revival" got under way, American churches have gained about 42 million new members.

For 15 consecutive years, the annual growth in church membership substantially exceeded population growth. During this period, the proportion of Americans affiliated with religious bodies increased from less than one-half to nearly two-thirds.

To make room for the influx of new members, churches embarked on the biggest building boom in their history. Expenditures for church construction, which had totaled less than $200 million in 1946, rose to a level of $1 billion annually in the late 1950s.

The Yearbook of American Churches, the most authoritative compilation of religious statistics, gave clear warning last year that the tide was beginning to ebb. Its figures showed that church membership gains were only slightly greater than population growth.

The new Yearbook of American Churches is out this week. It reports that church membership gains, for the first time since World War II, have fallen below the rate of population growth. To be precise, church membership rose 1.4 per cent, while the national population was increasing by 1.6 per cent.

This means that the proportion of church members in the U.S. population has actually declined—only a fraction of one percentage point to be sure—but enough to mark the end of the era of rapid and easy growth.

SOME MOURN END

Those who saw a "religious revival" in the rosy statistics of the 1950s may mourn its passing. But there are others who believe that American churches are only now beginning to experience a genuine revival.

"The flocking of people to the churches following World War II was a type of crisis religion, a shallow demonstration of popular piety without any real depth of concern," says the Rev. Dr. Arthur Vincent, a Missouri Synod Lutheran leader.

"Today we find that religion is not quite so popular among the masses. But, instead, we are discovering a tremendous growth of interest in Bible study among our people."

Clergymen of other denominations can offer similar testimony. Throughout America, there are signs—not easily measured by statistics, but unmistakable to any close observer of church life—or deepening faith and commitment.

CAN BE SEEN

It can be seen in such things as the spontaneous development of small groups of concerned laymen who meet in private homes to wrestle seriously with the implications of Christian doctrine; in the active interest displayed by adults in religion courses which require them to do real study; in the growing acceptance of liturgy as a minimum standard for stewardship of money; in the steady demand registered at church libraries and book stores for good religious books (as opposed to the tripe which often hit the best-seller lists in the days when religion was being peddled to the public as an easy out for life's problems.)

It is also reflected in growing attendance at weekend retreats; in the number of teenagers who remain active in church life after they are too old to be "made" to go to Sunday school; in the searching curiosity of college students about authentic Christianity; in the readiness of young churchmen to risk imprisonment or injury to bear witness for Christian convictions on such social issues as race relations.

These manifestations of real Christian commitments are still confined to a creative minority in the church. They do not refute the observation that a great many divorces and 5,700 annulments.

church members remain lukewarm, ill-informed and apathetic. But they do provide better evidence of real religious revival than could ever be found in the soaring membership statistics of the postwar era.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—For every two marriages in California this year there was nearly one divorce.

Skunked Cows Injure Farmer

RINGGOLD, Ga. (AP)—A herd of cattle stampeded after stumbling onto a skunk's den and trampled dairy farmer John P. Yates.

Yates was listed in satisfactory condition after being run down by the cattle Wednesday.

To Try to Separate Siamese Twins

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A medical study is under way to see if Siamese twin girls, born to the wife of an Arkansas Air Force airman, can be separated by surgery.

The twins, totaling 12½ pounds at birth, are joined at a portion of both chest and abdomen.

They were delivered by caesarean operation Christmas day at the Blytheville, Ark., Air Force base. The mother, Mrs. Daniel G. McKay, 20, formerly of San Diego, Calif., was reported in good condition.

World Has Many Unsolved Problems Going Into '63

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—As the old year drags to a cliffhanging close, many unsolved riddles posed by its 12-month reign accompany it to the grave.

The passing of 1962 will scarcely be lamented. It brought bloody warfare to India and the brink of war to the United States and Russia.

The suffering of 1.13 Cuban prisoners and their relatives cannot be entirely erased by their joyous Christmas reunion.

Every continuing day throbs with heartache for the countless other Cubans who remain virtual prisoners of Fidel Castro in his hungry, strife-torn island stronghold.

A strike of longshoremen paralyzes the east coast from Maine to Texas, and is costing Americans millions of dollars a day.

Other strikes have blacked out all newspapers in New York and Cleveland, and although citizens starve for news and merchants cry for lost business, the end is not in sight.

The dying year bequeaths little to cheer about. Hundreds, perhaps thousands of babies were born without arms or legs during 1962, because their mothers innocently took a sleeping pill that had not been adequately pretested.

KREMLIN REFUSES

The United States and Soviet Russia abandoned attempts to agree on a nuclear test ban that could save mankind, because the Kremlin refuses to permit inspection of its clandestine operations.

Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa slithered scot-free through his fourth trial in five years and a federal judge promptly ordered a grand jury investigation of three alleged attempts by Teamsters officials to bribe the jurors.

Fidel Castro, during the year just ended, revived ransom as an instrument of national policy for the first time in a century and a half. (Not since the days of the Barbary Pirates has a ruler so brazenly sold his captives.

Bitter fighting erupted in the Congo, and here in America racial strife reached its ugly peak on the campus of "Ole Miss," when a foreign newsmen was killed while attempting to cover the enrollment of a Negro student.

A GOOD NEIGHBOR

Brazil, once the staunchest of good neighbors, formed a cabinet-level committee to expand its dangerously burgeoning trade with Russia and her satellites.

Canada, our nearest kin among nations, meanwhile signed a new contract to sell 34,000,000 bushels of wheat to the militant Red Chinese who have recently overrun Tibet and parts of India.

This brings to a total of 145-million bushels the wheat that Canada is providing for the aggressive Communist regime with which we refuse to deal.

Here at home, 1962 left its indelible brand on men in public life. It ended the political career of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and of such long-time senators as Alexander Wiley and Homer Capehart.

The year marked the rise of another star in the Kennedy dynasty, with the election of 30-year-old Teddy to the Senate.

Further, Peace Corps director

Sargent Shriver, husband of Eunice Kennedy, disclosed that he dog successfully to orbit the earth, whom Premier Nikita Khrushchev presented to Caroline

Arkansas Town Slips Back Into 1875-1925 History

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark. (AP)—The remainder of the town will be just as it was in the 1875-1925 period. Page by page, this southeastern Arkansas community is slipping itself back into history—back into the busy, bustling Mississippi River port it was half a century ago.

The old sternwheelers that once tied up at its wharves are gone forever. Stacks of timber and bales of cotton will never line wharves that aren't there any more.

But if plans are carried out, the

The citizens' do-it-yourself rejuvenation of the town into a reproduction of its own heyday is expected to attract a commodity perhaps as valuable as the cotton and timber upon which it once thrived—the tourist.

At the turn of the century, Arkansas City was a growing Mississippi River port with a population of 10,000.

"It was a gateway to great timber and farm lands, boasting lumber and planing mills, a grain elevator, several cotton gins and even two hotels.

The people walked on dirt or sometimes mud streets and there was the occasional rowdiness of the old river steamer days.

A FINE FUTURE

But there was also a fine opera house, big and solidly built homes and churches and all the signs of a solid core of citizenry.

The sight of the sternwheelers gliding into port with gay people crowded on deck and of other vessels struggling away from docks loaded heavily with bales of cotton and stacks of timber, foretold a fine future.

The optimism existed from 1873, when the little port was founded, until over a quarter of the 20th century was gone.

In 1927, the Mississippi sent its waters roaring into the community to depths of 18 feet.

There was death and there was destruction. But there was hope, even as the waters receded.

Hope began to end when the little Mississippi kept on receding, backing farther and farther away to settle in a channel she had cut three miles away.

Arkansas City was left high, if not dry.

Since that year, virtually nothing new has come to the town—no railroads, no highways, no industry and few residents.

The appearance of the town has changed little in the past years. And in this lies the renewed hope of those who were born in the community and do not want to see it added to the list of the dying.

The plan is simply to restore, year by year, each historic building, eventually turning the town into a facsimile of the port they remember.

It hasn't been easy, as one resident says, "but each year we cut a ribbon. We manage to get something done."

De Soto street which once faced the river and a 43-mile scenic drive along the top of the levee.

Future work is planned on the old opera house, which once ad- vertised "movable red velvet seats for 400 persons," and on the hotels.

OLD AND THE NEW — This newly opened "genuine 1880 post office" in Arkansas City, Ark., was restored at the expense of the federal government. Interior equipment is modern but the facade and lobby belong to the past.

This is part of a planned reconstruction in which this community is slipping itself back into history to make the town attractive to tourists.

Barnett Hits 'Hold' on Schools by U. S.

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—The people should decide whether or not they want their schools under the control of the federal government and courts, Gov. Ross Barnett said yesterday.

Barnett urged the Congress to submit the question to the people "as the first order of business when" it convenes in January.

Barnett said it seems that "certain federal officials are determined to take over and operate schools, colleges and universities of our states regardless of the constitution or the Congress."

124 Hurt in Cuban Train Wreck

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Two passenger trains collided 10 miles south of Havana today and injured 124 persons, six of them seriously, Havana Radio said.

The broadcast, heard at Key West, said both locomotive engineers, who suffered minor injuries, were arrested pending an investigation.

The pre-dawn accident involved a train traveling from Guantanamo City, near Guantanamo Bay, north to Havana and one southbound out of Havana.

Several cars were derailed near the Havana suburb of Maria del Rosario, the radio said.

U.N. Fans Have Odd-Ball Requests

BY TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—One U.N. admirer informed the secretary general that he would like to get married in the general assembly hall.

Another thought it would be nice if his wife could give birth to her baby in the headquarters building. A third wrote that when his time came, he wished to be buried in the U.N. rose garden.

Among the thousands of communications the U.N. receives each year from crowned heads, chiefs of state and tribal leaders is a scattering of such requests

When Dag Hammarskjöld died last year, proposals were made to bury him on the 17-acre domain of U.N. headquarters. A delicate decision was averted when his body was returned to his native Sweden.

About a year ago, an enter-

SENDS PRIME MINISTER

"He even sent his so-called prime minister here for an audience, but he never got beyond the information booth," a U.N. employee said.

A legal question that has long intrigued Hollywood and some novelists is whether a fugitive seeking haven in the U.N. would receive asylum.

One movie dealt with a stateless person who stowed away on an America-bound ship, then took refuge in the U.N.

"He'll be on international soil," said one of the characters. "No body can touch him there."

One fiction thriller involved a murderer who raced across town and ducked into the U.N. building, leaving frustrated cops at the gate.

"This nonsense stems from traditional concept of international law," said Oscar Schachter, chief of the U.N.'s general legal division.

WOULD ASK POLICE

"It is true that under the U.N. headquarters agreement with New York City, legal summonses cannot be exercised without consent of the secretary general," he said. "That's partly to keep process servers from swarming all over the place."

"If a murderer or any other criminal tried to win haven here, the police would certainly be asked to pick him up."

How about an accused spy wanted by U.S. authorities on political grounds? The secretary general would probably cooperate. If, for some reason, he decided not to turn over the accused, a complex legal problem would result.

Digestion Suffers Little From Nonedibles

NEW YORK—I was pretty worried when our baby ate the stones.

They were not very big stones, and there were not many of them.

Just a handful, and a baby's fist is small.

Still, it gave me quite a turn—especially when he rattled.

But doctors take a calm view of these BATTLE things, and so do babies. I've just read a report from Dr. W. W. Eldridge Jr., former director of the Medical and Surgical Research Division of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C., in which he reveals the digestive tract is remarkably insensitive to curious nonedibles.

Many persons (either very young or awfully psychotic) have swallowed such items as needles, pins, nails, tacks, broken glass and crockery, thermometers, fork and spoon handles, coins and wristwatches. Almost none of them caused more trouble than a burp.

In 36 years of treating hundreds of patients who'd devoured such uncooked specialties, Dr. Eldridge reported, fewer than a dozen needed to be operated on.

When operations were required, it was generally to recover a fountain pen or a nail file that couldn't maneuver the sharp turns of—to use an oft-heard TV phrase—the lower digestive tract.

But stones? Nothing to them.

"Sticks and stones may break your bones" ... but only when taken externally.

ROUND CURSING

"A new invention, called the 'Spin-Sulter,' may take the curse off cursing.

It is a cardboard wheel, 10 inches in diameter, which helps the angry man select the appropriate insult to hurl at the object of his disaffection.

On the outer rim of the wheel are the words, "Why, you -" and on the inner rings, you merely line up the best possible adjectives ("sniveling," "rapacious," "grave-plundering") with the most powerful nouns ("rake-hell," "nincompoop," "ro-dent") that are applicable to the person being cursed at.

In these days when the world is so swift-paced that men tend to toss the same old epithets, without thinking this is a must for the aggressive progressive.

Stereotyped slurs like "you blasted idiot" or "you damn fool" are so hackneyed they have lost all meaning.

Let's be specific. Let's swear with care. If a man is a slandering, muddle-minded pollywog, let's say so.

In Summer, it's not the heat, it's the humidity that destroys comfort.

In Winter, it's not the cold, it's the wind.

The army has a circular on prevention of cold injury, which makes it clear we should all study the wind velocity readings, rather than the thermometer, when we bundle up for an outdoor venture.

For instance: The Sun is shining. The temperature is 51. But, if the wind is blowing at 45 miles an hour—the effect on nose, face, ears and hands is as if the reading were 27 degrees below freezing!

If the temperature reads 39 but there is a 35-mile-an-hour wind, then we're in an atmosphere as dangerous as being in the winless Arctic at 28 degrees below zero!

Any exposed areas of the body, including the ever-exposed lungs, could suffer serious injury under the circumstances.

Writer Bearded in His Yen

Fine Face Fuzz Fills In for Filthy Fags

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—When I quit smoking last summer, it left a void in my life that peanuts, popcorn, chewing gum and a cacklerjack have been unable to fill.

About a week ago, however, I finally found a satisfactory substitute for tobacco. I began growing a beard.

I don't mean that I actually light up my chin foliage. Several persons have told me I should burn it, but I would never inhale whisker smoke without a filter.

WEST

The way that a beard helps is by giving me something else to think about, such as the alleged wit of my friends and associates.

I have kept a running tally of the gibes and insults flung at my beard and thus far the score stands approximately as follows:

—1,918 persons have asked me if I lost my razor.

—1,812 persons have asked me if I lost an election bet.

—1,776 persons have asked me if I am an apprentice beatnik.

—1,492 persons have asked me if I have taken up folk singing.

In addition, there have been an uncounted number of allusions to poetry, to Mitch Miller, to Santa Claus and to Abe Lincoln.

1 ORIGINAL PERSON

The steady outpouring of jokes of this sort, most of which were wearing whiskers themselves, made me welcome the comment of one of my colleagues. Even though derogatory, it at least had a spark of originality.

"You," he said, eyeing me distastefully, "are giving beards a bad name."

To all inquiries as to why I am growing a beard, I made just one reply: "I need the exercise." In a way, this is true.

In recent years, about the only exercise I have gotten came from lifting a cigarette or cigar to and from my chops. When I quit smoking, even that mild form of exertion was reduced.

It did not, however, disappear entirely. I found I was not nearly as addicted to nicotine as I was to moving my arm up and down.

Long after I abandoned the weed I continued, out of habit, to put my hand to my mouth every few seconds. This gave people who were not aware of the circumstances the impression that I was blowing kisses at them.

The beard has solved that problem nicely. Now when I involuntarily raise my hand to my mouth, I give my chin a couple of strokes and it looks perfectly normal.

Five Russian Soldiers
Run Back to Nikita

MELLRICHSTADT, Germany (UPI) — Five Russian soldiers accidentally crossed the Iron Curtain on Christmas Eve into Bavaria, it was disclosed yesterday. Border police said the five men in a jeep, crossed at one of the few points not fortified with barbed wire, asked where they were and ran back to their jeep and sped toward the border.

Druggist Pleads
Guilty to Theft

A Livonia pharmacist arrested by FBI agents in California early this month pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of grand larceny in the theft of $2,500 from a Waller Lake drug store.

David H. Leach, 27-year-old father of six, entered his plea before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem, who set Jan. 15 for sentencing.

Leach was accused of taking the money Aug. 11 from Anderson's Pharmacy, 1192 W. Maple Road, where he was employed.

He told FBI agents he took the money to pay gambling debts in Las Vegas, Nev. Police said he also took $400 from a Northville drug store where he was once employed.

They said Leach left notes at the two stores saying he took the money because it was "a matter of life and death" and asking the owners not to tell anyone about it. Leach waived extradition from California after his arrest by the FBI on a warrant for interstate flight to avoid prosecution. Unable to furnish $1,000 bond, he was remanded to Oakland County jail.

Dr. Kelsey Will Steer
FDA Watchdog Branch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, hailed as a national heroine for keeping thalidomide off the American market, today was put at the head of a new U.S. office which will pass on requests to test new drugs on humans.

Her appointment as director of the investigational drug branch was part of a reorganization at the Food and Drug Administration's new drug division which was approved today by Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze. In a statement Celebrezze said the retooling of the drug division into five branches will permit the FDA to cope with its increased responsibilities in the new drug area.

REDRAFTING RULES

As a backlash of the outcry over thalidomide — a sedative blamed for deformities of thousands of infants born in Europe — Congress last October enacted a law giving the FDA stronger authority over production and sales of prescription drugs.

To carry out the new law and to make administration changes the FDA proposed a rash of tighter regulations which after being discussed and criticized are now being redrafted.

An FDA spokesman said today that the regulations dealing with the testing of drugs on humans will be issued fairly soon.

Dr. Kelsey's investigational drug branch, according to the FDA announcement, "is being established to evaluate reports of proposed clinical tests of new drugs" which manufacturers and others will submit in compliance with the investigational drug regulations.

"Frankly, I don't know what it (the new job) will consist of" until the regulations come out, Dr. Kelsey told a newsmen.

But broadly her duties, for which she will receive $15,045 yearly, will be to check on reports of firms proposing to test new drugs on humans.

California to Cheer for Itself

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California, the self-proclaimed most populous state in the Union, will launch a four-day party tomorrow in its own honor.

Not everybody will take part because some people think there's more cause to mourn than to celebrate, but throughout much of the state there will be parades, speeches and glowing predictions from businessmen and politicians.

In the Sierra Nevada community of Truckee near the Nevada line, an unsuspecting family coming into California will find itself suddenly riaged out for celebrations as a "typical" family of the sort that has swollen the state's population.

There will be floats honoring California in the Rose Parade at Pasadena Jan. 1. And in months to come state and private promotional literature will circulate "California First" boasts throughout the world.

All this was occasioned by the discovery by state statisticians that California surpassed New York in population sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The U.S. Census Bureau says California won't pull ahead of New York until the spring. But Gov. Edmund G. Brown, when he got the word from his statisticians, issued a proclamation calling for a statewide celebration during the New Year's weekend. Brown said the state's ascension to the nation's population pinnacle, with 17,300,000 citizens, was an "epochal event."

Season's Hat Fashions Accent Personal Taste

'Cavalier', features sleek and sure-leopard stenciled on deep pile plush to form this suit cloche. Its fashion silhouette is underscored by a banding and bow of cascade green silk grosgrain. Bar-priced from $6.95 to $12.

'La Belle Saison' creates fashion drama in this black and white bold shepard check wool which shapes this higher duchess toque. Its fashion 'rightness' is dominated by its higher, more rounded line. Surprise! It's perfectly packable. A Mr. John custom designer original at approximately $79.50.

Hat fashions for this season are individualistic. Colors, textures and silhouettes are a personal matter. No stereotype is imposed on the smart woman who wishes to express a mood or her personality—to be her most attractive self.

So say the fashion experts. The hat completes the look and well-dressed women always wear hats to complement their clothing ensemble.

The world's fashion taste for furs continues to grow and a single fur hat is never enough. This season, frankly, fake furs are often trimmed with the real thing.

A wealth of mink is every imaginable mutation—as well as fabulous fox, sable, leopard, chinchilla and other rare pelts—go to smart women's heads. A collection of fur hats can give new status to many a fashionable wardrobe.

Many ladies demand the important finishing touch of fur originals. But for the fashion-conscious woman with a limited budget, there are copies of higher-priced originals which will fool all but the most expert eyes.

Hat experts tell us that to color closest to the face, hats are often designed in lighter or brighter tones of the costume color. Because hats are an essential component of the total ensemble it is more important than ever that the hat be chosen with the costume in mind and vice versa.

Even the simplest shapes and neutral tones do not make a basic all-purpose hat. But the wide variety of styles, colors and materials offers a choice for every face shape and wardrobe combination. "Mr. John", internationally-recognized as one of the world's leading fashion originators, has created a line of hats to fit every woman's budget, while retaining that "haut couture" look of individuality.

Here are featured but a few of the many hats from his recent collection. There are hats in every price range and for every occasion.

A champagne portrait silhouette named 'Palais de l'Elysees' features a pouf of diamond white hatter's plush molded into this dramatic sailor and spiced with garlands of diamonds draping the crown and diamond encrusted cascade green velvet band. Approximately $175.

'Diane', a circle of natural ranch mink perched on a bandeau of brown velvet is bowed for the dramatic with self-colored velvet catching Mr. John's new Marquise veil. Price range, $5.95 to $10.95. Gowns, furs, gloves, jewelry and make-up in all pictures are from the Mr. John collection.

Apily named 'Biarritz', this silhouette toque features red cross-fox. Glorious fur in glorious color tones is sparked by embroidery in tones of gold, tan, yellow and beige. Price range $22.50 to $39.50.

Gives Something of Self

Teen Gets Thank You

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In these days when everyone is so eager to get the teen-agers, I want to tell you about an experience I had with one. She is a 14-year-old neighbor girl who has sat with my children many times.

A few days before Christmas I gave her a little gift. On Christmas Day I found the following note in my mailbox: "Dear Mrs. Blank: I have no money to buy expensive Christmas gifts but I want to give you something, so this letter is good for one evening's baby-sitting. Love, Gloria".

Knowing that this little girl wanted to give something of herself meant a great deal to me. Sincerely, Mrs. Blank

DEAR ABBY: Women are always getting lectures on how they must be slim and trim if they want to get a man and hold him. So they pass up bread and desserts and count calories like crazy. But how about the men? You don't see them passing up a bottle of beer or anything good to eat. They aren't even ashamed.

They stuff their faces and let their stomachs hang over their trouser tops. Who wants to kiss a walrus anyway?

HUNGRY
DEAR HUNGRY: A lady writes. Now eat something, dear, you'll feel better.

DEAR ABBY: I am a school teacher. Each Christmas I receive many gifts from students. Some good and some not so good.

This year I received several things in poor taste, among them a pair of earrings with large multicolored stones. They were hideous and I gave them to my wash woman. The other day the mother called me saying her daughter gave me "those lovely earrings" by mistake and she wanted them back. I told her I would "look for them," hoping she would forget it. She didn't.

Yesterday I received a very ugly letter, demanding I return the earrings at once. What can I do? I can't tell her the truth. Is it proper to ask for a gift back? I'd hate to lose my job for a 29-cent piece of junk.

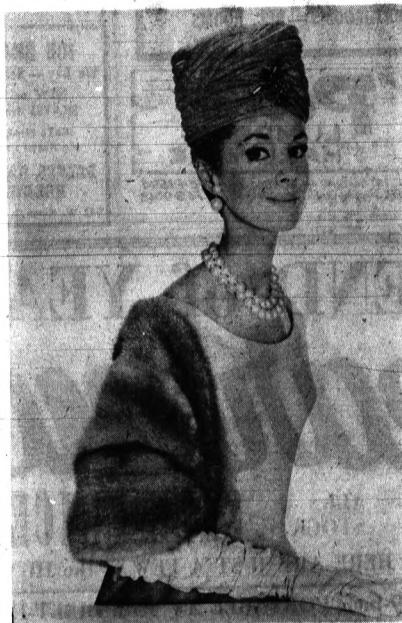

NEEDS HELP
DEAR NEEDS: The child obviously gave you the earrings without her mother's knowledge.

Buy another gift for your "wash woman" and explain the situation to her. Then, next time a child gives you a gift, "thank" the mother.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend and I had a discussion about how old you are before you become an old maid.

My friend says that you are not an old maid as long as you are still looking; just you haven't found the right person yet. Sign me—

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Technically, an old maid is a maiden lady who has never married. Maiden ladies have been known to marry at 80. Your friend is right. Until a lady gives up and quits looking, she is not an old maid.

'Toujours L'Amour' shatters the current fashion news with a glittering chapeau of gold lame draped to a new fashion height and forming this squared cocktail casque spiced with a gleaming topaz. May be found in the $14.95 to $20.95 price range.

International Debutantes Bow

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thirty-three American and 16 foreign debutantes, led by Serena Russell, were introduced to American society last night at the annual international debutante ball at the Hotel Astor.

Miss Russell, the American granddaughter of the Duke of Marlborough, had been presented to British society in a lavish debut last spring at her grandfather's home, Blenheim Palace.

She is the daughter of Vogue magazine publisher Edwin F. Russell and Sarah Spencer Churchill Russell and a descendant of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt.

The 49 debutantes from 15 countries were escorted by uniformed students from the U.S. Military Academy, the U.S. Naval Academy and the U.S. Air Force Academy.

Nearly 2,000 dignitaries from government and diplomatic circles and prominent socialites viewed the event.

Other debutantes included Princess Feodora of Reuss (Germany); Beatrice Frelinguysen, daughter of Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinguysen Jr., R-N.J.; Nanette C. Cavanagh, daughter of Deputy Mayor Edward F. Cavanagh Jr., of New York; Martine Alphonse, niece of French Ambassador Herve Alphonse; Jane Lahr, daughter of actor Bert Lahr; and Pamela Lee Littleton, daughter of financial magnate Henry Littleton Jr.

Q: When several women have an engagement to dine together in a restaurant, some of them coming from home and some from their offices, shouldn't the first comers wait in the lobby until all have arrived before going into the dining room?

Last evening, I had a date to meet some friends for dinner. I was the last one to arrive and when I got to the restaurant the others had already gone into the dining room. A: They should have waited for you unless you were as much as 15 minutes late in arriving.

Must Give Gifts Back if Troth Off

By the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: I think your advice that a girl must return all engagement presents when her engagement has been broken is very unfair.

I can see this when no engagement party was given, but I think that when there was a party at which the guests were wine and dined at a great expense to her family, she should be allowed to keep these presents "in payment," so to speak, for an evening's entertainment.

Answer: Engagement presents are given because of affection for the bride-to-be, not in payment for entertainment and must be returned when her engagement is broken.

Q: My daughter was ill for several weeks and as a result missed much of her school work. Her teacher has been keeping her after school every day for an hour helping her to catch up with the others.

I appreciate her taking the time and trouble to do this and would like to show my appreciation in some way. This is not being paid extra for this and I wondered if it would be proper to send her a check.

A: Rather than a check, it will be better to send her a very nice Christmas present with a note thanking her for her kindness in tutoring your daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Steinbaugh of Owego Drive announce the engagement of their daughter Susan Elizabeth to William Joseph Faassen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Faassen of Memphis, Tenn. She is a senior at Michigan State University. Her fiancé is a senior at Purdue University.

20 Beauties Take Part in Cotton Maid Finals

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—A beautiful young girl clad in a cotton evening dress will walk down the ramp of the Municipal Auditorium here tonight when she hears her name called out as the 1963 Maid of Cotton.

Cotton's new first will be chosen from 20 pretty finalists who came here Wednesday to participate in two days of busy preparation for the 25th annual judging.

The charmer will accept her new title from the 1962 maid, blonde Penny Percy of Waco, Tex., and will turn her mind immediately to preparation for a dazzling, six-month, 50,000-mile tour of the fashion centers of the world.

Her reign as goodwill ambassador of the cotton industry begins in Dallas at the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day. She will then journey to New York City for nearly a month of fittings for her extensive, all-cotton wardrobe designed by the nation's top fashion experts.

Chances are good the lucky lady described will be from Texas. The state has a bumper crop of seven entries in the finals.

Vitamins May Help

Some Dry Skin Aides

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Q. "What can I do for a very dry, thin skin? I use a good grade of night cream and a hormone cream but I am still getting more lines and wrinkles. Would you suggest washing my face at night? I have been using cleansing cream."

A. Since your skin is dry, you will be much better off using the cleansing cream. Don't change that. It seems that you are already doing the things I would suggest. You must use the hormone cream daily for results. I do not know whether or not you are doing this.

Facial exercises will help firm facial contour. Also vitamin deficiency is sometimes an underlying cause of extremely dry skin. You might take a vitamin supplement as well as eat the best balanced diet possible. Try vitamins A and C.

Q. "I am 5 feet 7 inches and weigh 114 pounds. I consume three malted milks a day and have gained some weight. However my increased poundage is in my face, which is round and large enough. My waistline has increased too. How can I prevent this?"

A. I don't imagine you have to worry about your waistline yet. There is no way you can control a gain of weight in the face. You can make your face look slimmer with makeup and hairstyling.

Special exercise is the only way to distribute weight nearer to the measurements you desire. If you or any of my readers would like to have my waist slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6. Address Josephine Lowman in care The Pontiac Press.

Q. "I read your column every day and think you can help me with a question. I am 5 feet 4 1/2 and weigh 133 pounds. My measurements are: bust 27 inches, waist 27 inches and hips 37 inches. My mother says I am just right for my age but I feel overweight and would like to lose an inch or so everywhere. Am I correct?"

A. If you have an average build you are overweight some. If you have very large bones you are just about right. If you do lose a few pounds be sure to do it sensibly. Eat three well-balanced meals a day but take smaller portions and substitute fresh fruit or water packed fruit for desserts. Do not eat between meals.

Q. "I am thin like my mother. I wonder if you have an exercise for building up my hips so that I would look better in straight skirts."

A. It would be very helpful if you took ballet lessons. Try this one: kneel on both knees and place your hands on the floor in front of you. Straighten your right leg out behind you, toe on the floor. Now raise the right leg up and down slowly, with a stiff knee.

Teens Must Be Taught Value of Money

By MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley: When we asked our son what he wanted for his 17th birthday, he answered: "A small sports car." And he wasn't kidding. His father and I were dumfounded.

We were thinking of a new tennis racket, or something like that! What's the matter with teenagers today? They don't seem to have the remotest idea of the value of money. All their wants are "way out," it seems to me.

Mrs. E.L.P.
Dear Mrs. P.: Let me ask you a question: When was the last time you and your husband told your son what the family income actually is? How many times have you invited him to sit in on any financial discussions? It's all too true that many bright young people who make top grades in math still have no realistic grasp of money values. And their parents are largely to blame.

The financial facts of life are considered too sordid to mention in front of the children. Now, then, can they expect these youngsters to realize what's "way out"? You would do yourselves and your son a great deal of good by taking him into the family council.

Let him know just how much it takes to keep the family on an even keel. Tell him what his father's income is. Let him learn from you, how far a dollar goes and what it takes to earn one. Discuss with him freely such things as your family savings plan, any investments you may have made. Just saying "we can't afford it" isn't giving him anything he can get his teeth into.

Dear Miss Feeley: Recently a home in our community burned to the ground. The owners had an old household insurance policy for fire, but it didn't cover their losses. This started me doing some serious thinking. We have a large six-room home with three bedrooms. What amount of insurance should we have? And do you have any idea how much it would cost?

Mrs. J.Y., Detroit
Dear Mrs. Y.: You've probably invested several thousand dollars in furnishings, accumulated over the years. You'd be smart to take inventory of what you have in each room as after a fire or disaster. It's practically impossible to remember everything that was destroyed. Keep this record in a safety deposit vault.

If the replacement value of your home is $20,000, your personal property might well be $10,000. You should have complete coverage for fire, lightning, and comprehensive. This means protection if the home is damaged by wind storm, hail, smoke and smudge, riot and explosion.

Comprehensive with a $50 deductible clause is usually available at a greatly reduced price. You might also want to look into personal liability insurance, to protect you against accidents for which you might be held responsible.

The cost of fire insurance on a home of plain, common construction, that is not exposed to any extra hazard, will range from 60 cents to $2 per year for each $1,000 of coverage. Extended coverage insurance costs range from $1.50 to $3.40 per $1,000. Personal liability costs $1 per year for each $1,000 of coverage.

Polly's Pointers

Plastic on Windows

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Since I could not afford storm windows for my house, I created my own.

I bought clear plastic and wrapped it around my "fitted" window screens which ordinarily are stored during the winter. Clear tape and thumbtacks hold the plastic in position.

DEAR POLLY—My latest timesaving device has been the conversion of drawer space near my stove from a dish towel and catch-all drawer to a spice drawer. Hunting through the stacks of hidden spices on a shelf finally got the best of me.

I lined the drawer with contact paper and hunted up gift boxes (tie and sock boxes work fine) in sizes and shapes to hold the various sizes of condiments.

By laying the spice boxes on their sides in the open boxes, the levels are always clearly visible. This drawer also holds my baking ingredients.

DEAR POLLY—I use the thread from my sewing machine bobbin rather than more from the spool to put the finishing handwork on a dress, hems, sewing down facings, etc. So the bobbin is left empty for a new color and a new dress.

Usually I have only a few colored clothes to starch so instead of wasting all that water on the new starching method in the machine, I merely dampen them with water in which some instant starch has been dissolved.

Boy Sucks Thumb; Mom Needs Comfort

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My older grandson still sucks his thumb though he's going on 7. I know that psychologists disapprove of trying to break this habit by force, but as he will be entering school next fall, I feel something should be done to help him overcome this habit between now and then.

We have thought of offering to pay for psychological treatment for him, but know that our daughter-in-law would resent it. She is a high-strung girl and is expecting her third child.

ANSWER: There's surely no point in offering what you know will be resented. But I have another idea.

Instead of offering to pay for your grandson's psychological treatment, what about offering to pay for some household help for his mother?

Thumb-sucking is a child's attempt to give himself the comfort his environment doesn't provide—a connection with himself he turns to out of discouragement over his connections with other people.

Usually, he turns to it because his mother herself needs comfort and cannot give the time and energy she is expending on inner worries we know nothing about.

COMFORT MOTHER So, if we cannot help him directly, we can sometimes help him indirectly by comforting his mother with evidence of her importance and dearness to us.

In your daughter-in-law's case, it is possible that the grateful relief she would feel at your offer of household help would release some of the time and energy your grandson needs to discover that closeness to her is more gratifying than closeness to his thumb. Anyway, it's worth trying.

As you may know, this column is not primarily interested in children. It is primarily interested in parents. Though you and I don't suck our thumbs when we feel lonely and discouraged, we have our own grown-up ways to express our needs for others' awareness and attention.

We ask for comfort by overworking, by showing defensive resentment at any hint that we are not doing perfectly by a thumb-sucking youngster, by developing high-strung tempers or drinking too much.

As the people who call themselves "parent educators" show no interest in these parental expressions of discouragement, nobody recognizes them as our forms of thumb-sucking. Nobody

Clerks Need Protection From Welfare Seekers

LONDON (UP)—The Civil Service Clerical Union urged today that ashrays in the National Assistance (welfare) Board offices be anchored securely to desks.

It said that every year about 70 angry welfare applicants hurt ashrays at assistance clerks.

Wall Street, the nation's stock market center, was named after a wall the Dutch built in New York to protect their settlement in 1653.

Doctor Is Baffled

Work in Cellar, Have No Colds

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Maybe that long-sought cure for the common cold is lurking around a brewery.

Forty-two St. Paul men who work in the chilly cellars and filter room of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Co. claim not to have had a cold or flu as long as 31 years.

The cold-free periods range from 9 to 31 years, as long as the men have gone to work daily in temperatures between 32 and 47 degrees.

Dr. Floyd A. Thompson, the company doctor, agrees it's "pretty amazing."

"But it is a fact," he said. "It's been checked."

He said the men wear only a little heavier clothing than normal inside workers, with sweatshirts the main concession to the cold. Some wear long underwear and some don't.

KEEP FEET WARM

"But they do insist on keeping their feet warm," Dr. Thompson said. The men wear wool socks and rubber boots. They shower and dry thoroughly after work.

What does it mean to the rest of us, who battle sniffles?

Dr. Thompson doesn't know what scientific connotation can be put on it. He notes that the bacteria content in the cellar is low, and any organisms present would be pretty inactive at those temperatures.

The men are busy and keep moving, possibly keeping their circulation systems in good tone. And most keep their homes a bit cooler than average—usually 68 to 70 degrees.

There's one more thing. Like most brewery workers, they may drink beer on the job. Could that be the secret?

"Ask the fellow who wrote this up for the brewery newspaper," said Thompson. "He drinks beer, and he has a cold all the time."

Sylvan Lake Sticks to Its Own Water

The City of Sylvan Lake will continue to draw its own water supply even after Pontiac gets Detroit water in July 1963.

City Manager Leroy Traflet, queried today on Sylvan Lake's plans, said, "We've got enough water in our two wells to take care of our needs."

Sylvan Lake city, linked with Pontiac's sewage system, would be unaffected by water fluoridation brought to Pontiac when and if Detroit fluoridates its supply.

Traflet said city fathers had considered an emergency water tie-in with Pontiac, however, no definite action has been taken, he said.

Snips Ribbon for Freeway

'New Document Would Wreck Road Program'

DETROIT (AP) — Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie blasted the proposed new state constitution yesterday at ribbon cutting ceremonies opening two miles of the new Southfield Freeway.

Mackie said the document produced by the recent constitutional convention was "a step backward" that might "wreck the highway program."

Yesterday's ceremonies opened two miles of the new freeway under the three-way intersection with Fenkell and Grand River. The span was built at a cost of $4.7 million. The federal government pays 50 per cent of the cost.

The new length of freeway is part of a route that will shoot north from I-94 to the intersection of Northwestern (I-696 business spur and an extension of the John C. Lodge) and nine mile Road.

The $40 million freeway will be finished next fall. Later, in a prepared speech at a suburban restaurant, Mackie said the proposed new constitution would tear out three mainstays of highway progress.

He claimed it would "water down" the "rigid earmarking provision" which says the highway funds shall be used for highway purposes only.

Mackie said the proposed document "tampers with the civil service provisions of the present constitution in a manner which is alarming" and would jeopardize the positions "of a large body of competent, hard-working civil service employees."

Finally, he said it would replace Michigan's system of electing a state highway commissioner with a setup in which the commissioner would be elected by a four-man bipartisan commission appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the State Senate.

He added it would jeopardize "the record of accomplishment" achieved by "direct election of the state highway commissioner by the people for whom he is working."

Firemen Seeking Belated Yule for Homeless Family of Eight

PONTIAC, TOWNSHIP — The fire department here today began a drive to provide a belated Christmas for a family of eight who lost all but the clothes on their backs when fire gutted their home on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Havens and their six children were watching television Tuesday evening when their oil stove, burning oil donated by the township Goodfellow, exploded and burst into flame.

Within an hour the rented house was gutted by the blaze which caused the family's possessions as well as its Christmas spirit to go up in smoke.

Each of the six children ages 4 through 11 had received a pair of new shoes from the local Goodfellow.

Only shoes saved were those of the youngsters were wearing when they fled from the burning house.

STAYING WITH NEIGHBORS — The Havens are now staying with the neighbors living at 429 Alberta St. From there they can see the charred remains of their former home at 590 Alberta St.

"They were in bad shape before the fire started," Fire Chief Carl Schlegel said today. "Havens is looking for a house to rent but won't have any furnishings for it even if he does find one he can afford."

"We are definitely urging peo-

Wixom Gets Report on Sewer Plans

WIXOM — A detailed report on plans for a proposed sewer system was presented to the City Council last night by a Birmingham engineering firm.

Hubbel, Roth & Clark, Inc., which had been contracted to make the sewer study late last summer, was complimented for completion of the report ahead of schedule at a brief meeting last night.

The report will be studied by city officials before further discussion is held on the sewer plans, according to City Clerk Mrs. Pearl Willis.

Area Pair Pleads Guilty to Burglary Charges

A man, whose mother lies critically injured in a Flint hospital following an auto accident, and his 18-year-old companion pleaded guilty Wednesday to burglary charges before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Solon B. Johnson, 21, of 1008 Grubb Road, Highland Township, and Alden G. Pettibone, of 8901 Cole St., Holly, were accused of breaking and entering a residence at 8555 Tipico Trail, Rose Township.

Sheriff's deputies said the pair also admitted some 13 other burglaries of Rose and Highland Township homes from which they took television sets, power mowers and other articles.

Johnson's mother, Grace Johnson, 47, of 6383 Maybree Road, Independence Township, was injured Saturday night in an auto accident on Grange Hall Road near the Genesee County line, according to deputies.

Milford Woman Named to Cancer Unit Post

MILFORD — Mrs. Frank W. Prather of 701 E. Liberty St. is the newly appointed volunteer activities chairman for the North Oakland County unit of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Mrs. Prather, a registered nurse, is past president of the Oakland County Medical Society women's auxiliary, medical representative to the Council of Churches and a member of the Milford Protective Society.

Citizens Plague Hare's Offices

Want to Sign Petitions Against Income Tax

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan Secretary of State James M. Hare said yesterday suburban Detroit offices of his department have been plagued by persons seeking to sign petitions outlawing city income taxes.

Hare said the Secretary of State's Office only accepts petitions and does not circulate them.

"There seems to be some confusion," Hare said, "regarding a statement made by George Kahn, head of the Vigilance Tax Committee, requesting more signatures on their petitions and stating these petitions must be 'on file' with the Secretary of State by Dec. 29."

The Vigilance Tax Committee is an organization devoted to the task of upsetting Detroit's income tax on residents and nonresidents who work in the city.

Hare said his offices did not have any petitions to be signed. "Any petition circulated by any group must be entirely handled by themselves."

"Only on completion of the signing of their petitions can they present them to the Secretary of State."

Girl, 13, Dies in Fire; Rest of Family Safe

MARINE CITY (UPI) — Bonnie Minor, 13, was killed early today when a fire swept her two-story frame home.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Minor and five other children in the family escaped the flames. One girl of the family was spending the night at a pajama party when the flames swept the home.

Authorities said the girl's burned body was found in a rear bedroom of the house. They said Mrs. Minor was able to get the other children out of the house before the flames engulfed it.

Fire officials speculated that the fire was caused by faulty heating apparatus. The home was a total loss.

Albion College Head to Address Youth

CLARKSTON — Dr. Louis W. Norris, president of Albion College, will be guest preacher at the annual Student Recognition and Youth Sunday Services this Sunday at First Methodist Church.

Dr. Norris will speak at both the 9 and 11:15 a.m. services which will launch a two-day period of extensive youth activity at the church.

Each year during the Christmas holidays the young people of the church are honored and encouraged to attend Youth Week activities.

Assisting Dr. Norris in the Sunday services will be several students home from college. They include Linda Chapman, Fred Warrick, John Koskela and Ronald Waller.

Other Sunday events for the young people include a 10 a.m. Fellowship Hour under the direction of Associate Pastor Jack E. Giguere. An open house featuring a discussion of "Religion on the Campus" by four of the college students is slated for 7 p.m.

A Monday dinner served by the Women's Society of Christian Service is scheduled for 6 p.m. at the church-school building at the corner of Buffalo and Church streets.

The annual New Year's Eve party in the north wing of the church will follow the dinner. There will be dancing, refreshments and entertainment until 1 a.m.

Going to Rome in March

Wixom Pastor Leaving

WIXOM — Rev. Edmund F. Caes Jr., who is leaving to become a teacher in Rome, will deliver his last sermon Sunday as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wixom.

The Sunday service is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Caes said he will make a speaking tour in the Detroit area during the next two months before leaving for Italy in March.

In Italy he will study the language for two years and then teach at the Italian Bible Institute in Rome.

He will be accompanied by his wife Marian and their three children, David, 8; Jonathan, 6; and Ruth, 4.

Since Rev. Caes became pastor here 5½ years ago, the congregation has built a new $100,000 church on a 6½-acre site at 620 N. Wixom Road.

Stands Mute at Arraignment in Murder

OAK PARK — Manuel Barris, 46, of 24050 Condon Ave., Wednesday stood mute at his arraignment on a first-degree murder charge before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem in Pontiac.

Barris is accused in the fatal shooting of his partner in a laundry machine business, Leo Broadsky, 46, of 24531 Seneca Ave.

Broadsky was shot in the Oak Park office of Paul Baker, a certified public accountant, who told police the two men were trying to agree on a price at which one could buy out the other's interest in their business, the Hughes Laundry Machine Co. of Dearborn.

Broadsky's wife Mae has filed a $500,000 lawsuit against Barris in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Youths Killed When Train Smashes Car

GALESBURG (U) — Two teen-aged boys were killed yesterday when their car was struck broadside by a speeding freight train at a railroad crossing just west of here.

Dead are Charles Gaudum, 18, and Donald Bronson, 17, both of Augusta.

Police said the train was traveling at about 80 miles per hour when it hit the car and dragged it some 400 feet.

The engineer said it appeared the driver was attempting to beat the train to the crossing and decided too late that he couldn't make it, police said.

A continuous magnetic field of over 135,000 gauss, believed to be the most powerful ever produced, has been generated in the laboratory.

For City Employees

Talk Residency Plan

A proposal that would require future city employees to live inside Pontiac is under study by the City Commission and administrative staff.

Commissioners Winford E. Bottom and Milton R. Henry have asked administrators for a report on the city's personnel department and procedures.

The commission has indicated it feels procedures for hiring employees are inadequate.

Bottom feels that city employees should be local taxpayers. He has suggested that in the future, when new employees are hired, they be required to live in the city.

His proposal wouldn't cover present employees.

Henry last night asked for a list to show how many current city employees live inside the city. He also questioned the legality of a residence requirement.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said that he didn't think the city could impose a residence restriction by ordinance.

"Highland Park tried it by ordinance and it was overruled by the State Supreme Court," Ewart noted. "Going on that decision, my current opinion is that it would have to be an amendment to the city charter voted in by the people."

The entire matter will be studied at a future informal meeting before any official action is recommended.

Youth Shoots Self in Hunting Mishap

CHARLOTTE (U) — Claude Redfield Jr., 15, of Charlotte was listed in poor condition in a Lansing hospital today after he was accidentally shot and wounded yesterday in the yard of his home four miles northeast of Charlotte in Benton Township.

Eaton County sheriff's officers said Redfield and his brother Wiley 14, were leaving home to hunt rabbits and that Claude was carrying a bolt-action shotgun.

The officers said Claude tripped over a protruding tree root in the yard. The gun discharged into his right hand and stomach.

Big One Doesn't Get Away

DECATUR, Ga. (AP) — Angler Leo Acres set out to hook a big fish—the Dekalb County Street Repair Department.

Beside a foot-deep mudhole in the street near his store Acres put up a placard reading, "county pond—no fishing."

Then he sat in a rocking chair by the hole Wednesday with pole, line and a big plastic fish.

His purpose, he said, was to push the county into fixing the mudhole and making other community improvements.

He got a quick strike—a statement by a county official that if any streets need repair they will get it immediately.

1962 a Good Year for Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—It was a good year for going to the movies even if 1962 didn't produce any film that seemed to be an enduring classic.

The general run of Hollywood film provided entertainment of a wide variety. There was less dwelling on the sordid, although the year did bring "Lolita" and "A Walk on the Wild Side." Movie makers found out that sex and shock didn't necessarily guarantee box office.

Here are the dozen American-made movies that seemed to this movie fan the most meritorious of 1962:

1. "Lawrence of Arabia." Too long and sometimes diffuse, it was nevertheless a monumental achievement in the use of the film medium.

2. "To Kill a Mockingbird." A modest lesson in human dignity, it got closer to the heart than any recent movie.

3. "Long Day's Journey into Night." Terrifically acted, this filmed stage play was a potent and demanding experience.

4. "Billy Budd." An effective parable of good vs. evil, it was notable for the angelic performance of Terence Stamp.

5. "The Longest Day." Almost as good as the original cast.

6. "Miracle Worker." A beautifully acted duet between Anne Bancroft and Patty Duke.

MIRACULOUS MUSICAL
7. "Music Man." A bit overproduced, it was still a miraculous musical, thanks in large part to the driving performance of Robert Freston.

8. "Mutiny on the Bounty." It made up in beauty and size for what it lacked in dramatic impact.

9. "Freud." A remarkable intellectual experience, it was a brave and successful attempt at plumbing the hidden reaches of the mind.

10. "Counterfeit Trailor." Here was high adventure at its best, a drama that moved fast yet managed to be moving.

SCIENCE FICTION
11. "Manchurian Candidate." Its audacious science-fiction plot was not to be taken seriously; it could be enjoyed as a suspense film ranking with the best of Hitchcock.

12. "Birdman of Alcatraz." It managed to take a difficult theme and turn it into engrossing drama.

Other films were notable for startlingly good performances, though the entire productions left something to be desired. Among these I would include: "Sweet Bird of Youth" with the amazing Geraldine Page; "Days of Wine and Roses" with Jack Lemmon and Lee Remick; "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" with the ageless Bette Davis and Joan Crawford; "Two for the Seesaw" with Shirley MacLaine and Robert Mitchum.

BEST COMEDY

"That Touch of Mink" seemed the best comedy on a year that wasn't kind to comedies. "Jumbo" was the only other musical of note, after "Music Man."

Other films that seemed worthy "All Fall Down," "Notorious Landlady."

The year's worst: "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

Crosby, 28, was later released on $276 bail. He is to appear in Beverly Hills Municipal Court next Wednesday. Officers said he was cooperative during his detention.

Mays Will Sign $100,000 Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Center fielder Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants will become the fourth player in baseball history to reach the $100,000 salary level, the San Francisco Chronicle said today.

The newspaper quoted "an unimpeachable source" as saying that the Negro star would receive more than a token raise in 1963, marking the sixth consecutive year his salary would go up.

Mays reportedly earned $90,000 last year when the Giants won their first National League pennant since moving west in 1958. They lost the World Series to the New York Yankees.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, both retired, and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals are the three players who have had $100,000 seasons.

Mays batted .304 last season, his lowest average since 1956, but led the league with 49 home runs. He also drove in a personal high of 141 runs.

Highlights of Mays' season included a home run that forced a pennant playoff with the Los Angeles Dodgers and two more homers in the first playoff game.

'Squashed-basket' Touch Keeps Loyola Scoring High

By The Associated Press

First it was James Naismith and a peach basket. Now it's Paul Marchalski and a squashed basket. And between the inventor and the innovator, Loyola College has turned a matter of inches into a huge advantage.

On the second day of the holiday tournament scramble Thursday, some favorites felt like Santa climbing down the chimney—not much room to spare—but it was a different story for the powerful Ramblers.

The nation's highest scoring basketball team, undefeated and third-ranked, raced to an 81-62 victory over Arkansas in the first round of the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City. It was the eighth victory for the Ramblers and another triumph for Marchalski and the squashed basket.

Loyola Coach George Ireland stumbled upon the Pierre, S.D., innovator two years ago. Marchalski had tampered slightly with the game Naismith invented and took the liberty of trimming the standard 18-inch rim to 15. The Ramblers used it prior to the season in six weeks of practice.

"I don't know where he makes these things," says Ireland, may-be in his basement, but I liked the idea right off. It has made us a better shooting team."

GOOD SHOOTING

That's the way the hot-shooting Ramblers felt as they moved into tonight's semifinals of the All-

College—the oldest holiday tournament in the country, but only one of a host of major college extravaganzas holding the spotlight on the nation's basketball courts.

Here's a capsule rundown on the other results: All-College—Memphis State advanced with Loyola, beating Toledo 76-71.

Los Angeles Classic—Colorado State U. outclassed Northwestern 75-50 and qualified for Saturday night's final along with UCLA, which topped St. Louis, 85-66.

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.—Unbeaten Georgia Tech edged Virginia Tech 73-72 in overtime and Florida defeated Rice 66-57 to set up tonight's final.

Hurricane Classic at Miami—Unbeaten Miami crushed Cornell 94-74 and will take on Pitt 96-73 conqueror of LSU, in tonight's windup.

Queen City at Buffalo, N.Y.—Sixth-ranked Arizona State squeaked by Rhode Island 89-83 and Canisius belted South Carolina 85-72.

Big Eight at Kansas City—Oklahoma State nipped Oklahoma 49-48 and Kansas State walloped Missouri 61-43 to complete the first round.

Far West Portland, Ore.—California outlasted Seattle 85-77 in overtime and Oregon State handed Idaho its first defeat 80-53 to complete the first round.

West Coast at San Francisco—St. Mary's whipped Los Angeles Loyola 83-71 and San Francisco beat Portland 56-50 to complete the first round.

Gulf South at Shreveport, La.—Eastern Kentucky edged TCU 68-65 and Southern Mississippi beat Northwestern Louisiana 85-71 to complete the first round.

Here's the schedule for the seven playing semifinals: All-College—Loyola vs. Memphis State, Oklahoma City vs. Wyoming.

Big Eight—Kansas vs. Iowa State, Oklahoma State vs. Kansas State.

Gulf South—Southern Mississippi vs. Eastern Kentucky, Centenary vs. Louisiana Tech.

Holiday Festival—Illinois vs. wfar West—Iowa vs. Oregon, California vs. Oregon State.

West Coast—St. Mary's vs. San Francisco, Santa Clara vs. San Jose.

Still in the spotlight, but outside the tournament limelight, two of the top ten elite came through with victories. Second-ranked Ohio State, getting 24 points from Gary Bradds, had to battle all the way to subdue stubborn Butler 66-62, but fifth-ranked Kentucky had no such problem with Dartmouth, winning 95-49.

OTHER GAMES

Elsewhere, Wichita knocked off Minnesota 79-62, Temple took St. John's, N.Y. 64-51 and Purdue defeated Yale 76-66. It was only the second meeting in 60 years between the Bolshakovs and Ell. Yale made it closer this time. In 1902, Purdue won 68-10.

In consolation games of the Los Angeles Classic, seventh-ranked Southern California got by ninth-ranked Stanford 65-57 and Utah State downed Washington 71-60. Alabama thumped Georgia Southern 71-44 and Florida State defeated Georgia 77-69 in the Savannah, Ga. round robin.

Loyola of Chicago had to overcome Arkansas' slow-down tactics before pulling away. But the quick Ramblers broke through and built a 61-39 margin that put it out of reach. Jerry Harkness paced Loyola with 23 points.

The Los Angeles Classic is limited to consolation action tonight and the Queen City is idle, but other tournaments start up, the Gator and Hurricane decide their championships and the others move into the semifinal round along with the remaining Holiday Festival at New York and Quaker City at Philadelphia.

Patterson-Liston Bout Likely After Meeting

NEW YORK (AP) —

Despite strong opposition, a rematch for the heavyweight championship between titleholder Sonny Liston and former crown-wearer Floyd Patterson loomed today as a distinct possibility following a somewhat clandestine meeting between representatives of the two camps.

Promoter Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports Inc., revealed Thursday he is discussing a rematch with Patterson; Jack Nilon, Liston's adviser; Nilon's attorney, and Patterson's attorney.

The Thursday night meeting was held at Nilon's New York residence. Before the closed-door session, Nilon said either Baltimore or Las Vegas was the likely site but reminded that Patterson would call the shot for a March or April fight.

CONTRACT

"I hope," said Bolan, "we'll be able to iron out an agreement and reduce it to writing for a contract. I don't think we'll be able to do it all in one night."

What about the two main items standing in the way of the proposed rematch—Liston's purse from the first fight and the opposition of World Boxing Association officials?

"Liston will get the money (more than $200,000) before he fights," said Bolan's brother, Al, who is charged with inspection of sites for the rematch.

Tom Bolan said he wasn't concerned about the statements made by WBA officials, who have publicly stated that Patterson should meet one of the other challengers before fighting Liston again. Both Maryland and Nevada are members of the WBA.

Emile Bruneau, WBA championship committee chairman, said Monday his committee would recommend the automatic suspension from the WBA of any state or country that accepted a Liston-Patterson rematch at this time.

In their first fight, Liston knocked out Patterson in 2 minutes, 6 seconds of the first round at Chicago, Sept. 25.

Aussie Aces Finish Cup Careers on Top

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—

Neale Fraser and Rod Laver, two of the latest in Australia's long line of tennis champions, closed out their Davis Cup careers with victories today which gave Australia a 5-0 sweep over Mexico in the 1962 challenge round.

It was the last big time match as an amateur for both. Fraser, 29, limping and leg weary, put on a tremendous fighting exhibition for a 3-6, 11-9, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4 triumph over Mexico's No. 1 ace, Rafael Osuna, in a marathon match which lasted two hours, 45 minutes.

The handsome Melbourne left-hander, who won Wimbledon in 1960 and the U.S. championship in 1969 and 1960 announced it was the swan song of his long competitive career.

"I have been travelling around the world playing tennis for 10 years," he said. "I have had it."

Then Laver, winner of every major tournament during the past year in a grand slam paralleling that of Don Budge in 1938, turned back talented Antonio Palafox, 6-4, 6-4, 8-6.

With the same deft left hand which carried him to a world pinnacle in amateur tennis, Laver Saturday is expected to sign a $100,000 contract for a professional career.

He will begin his tour against Lew Hoad in Sydney Jan. 5.

CHEER MEXICANS

A sporting crowd of 5,000 at Milton Courts—chased to cover once by a 23 minutes shower—cheered the Mexicans in their attempt to salvage something from the one-sided series but Fraser was too big in service and in heart and Laver was too good.

Laver played in patches and

Gridiron Offensive Explosions Foreseen

Bowl Team May Score High

Associated Press Sports Writer

Wide open football was predicted today for Saturday's Gator Bowl, East-West and Blue-Gray games and the Louisiana State-Texas Cotton Bowl meeting New Year's Day.

Rip Engle, whose Penn State's 9-1 club meets Florida, 6-4, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., wouldn't say right out he expected a high scoring game, but he hinted at it.

Charlie McClendon, LSU coach, said so right out.

"It will be a wide open game," said Charlie.

McClendon's forecast was rather surprising considering that both teams are noted for their defense. But he explained that each squad would have to go all out offensively in order to crack out of their portals. Texas had a 9-0 record during the regular campaign while LSU was 8-1-1.

SHRINE GAME

In San Francisco, scene of the East-West Shrine game, Art Parrish of Northwestern, assisting head coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue in readying the East squad, declared "the skills are there to make for an offensive explosion."

With this in mind, Mollenkopf has been drilling his club on goal line stands as the practice session for each team began tapering off. And, in Montgomery, Ala., where the Blue-Gray game will be played, both coaches, Tom Nugent, the Rebels' head man, and Bob Devaney of the North are planning wide-open-game strategy. Nugent is working up a shotgun formation with two wingbacks and split ends.

OTHER BOWLS

The remainder of the major bowl schedule coming up in the next week pits West Texas State and Ohio University, each with an 8-2 mark, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. Monday and three other games of New Year's Day, Southern California 10-0 against Wisconsin 8-1 in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., Alabama 9-1 versus Oklahoma 8-2 in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., and Mississippi 9-0 against Arkansas 8-1 in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

There was good news for Oklahoma supporters, but sad tidings from the Southern California camp Thursday.

Flu-ridden Monte Deere, the Sooners' fine quarterback, re-joined his teammates and went through the full practice. As chief throttle man in the high-geared Oklahoma attack, Deere was most welcome as Coach Bud Wilkinson completed the installation of new plays. Starting fullback Joe Grisham was unable to work out after bruising his right shoulder Wednesday, but he is expected to be ready for the kickoff.

Meanwhile, Southern California was jolted as reserve back Ron Heller was injured and feared lost for the Rose Bowl game. Heller, a sophomore who netted 216 yards in 55 carries, suffered an injured left knee while blocking in a dummy scrimmage.

Wisconsin spent most of its two-hour practice session sharpening its passing attack, triggered by quarterback Ron VanderKelen.

Coach Frank Broyles had his Arkansas Razorbacks concentrate on its offensive tactics and also on defense against Mississippi's offense.

The Ohio University team started conditioning immediately upon arrival at El Paso. Coach Bill Hess said that his club will have to stop West Texas' "outside" game if it is to win the Sun Bowl game. He referred to the Texans' running attack, spearheaded by Pete Pedro, leading scorer in the nation last year and to Jerry Logan, who accounted for 110 points this season.

Mrs. Ladewig True All-Star

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — "I hope to be even more ready than I was for the invitational," says Marion Ladewig, 48-year-old grandmother, who over the last score of years has made Grand Rapids as synonymous to top-flight women's bowling as it is with furniture.

Mrs. Ladewig is preparing for the Jan. 10-26 all-star tournament. "Being ready" has become a way of life for the queen of the world's women bowlers who maintains a .500 average for championships in two of the top match tournaments.

and world invitational tournaments, Mrs. Ladewig is the only woman in history to win her city, state and National (WIBC) all-events titles in the same season (1950-51).

All these and other honors though she took up the game for the first time after turning 22, today an age at which starlets are beginning to be termed veterans of the game.

AP Wirephoto

Mrs. Ladewig last month won her third of six world invitational tournaments at Chicago.

Her domination of the all-star classic has been even more amazing — seven championships in the 14 years women have participated in it. Five of the titles have come in succession, from 1949 through 1953.

Marion's superlative performance in the invitational — averaging 203 in the 48-game finals after storming to the head of the qualifying field in the final session — makes her even more than ever the woman to beat when all-star rolling begins at Municipal Auditorium, Kansas City, Mo.

TOP TEACHER

As Brunswick's top woman teacher of the game, pacesetter in tournament earnings, consultant in apparel designing and writer of a syndicated "bowling tips" column, Mrs. Ladewig has moved well into the five-figure income bracket.

Her $30,000 suburban home, which she shares with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Vicari, and five grandchildren, recently was enlarged giving it its fifth bedroom and third bath.

In the plush deep-pile carpeted new bedroom's walk-in closet Mrs. Ladewig always has an overnight case packed and ready to go to one of the many public appearances her popularity demands.

TRAVELS

Having graced lanes in every state in the union except Maine, Marion also has dedicated lanes in England, Australia, Hawaii, Japan and Germany. In the process she annually logs around 100,000 air miles.

Named woman bowler of the year eight times since 1949 she was the first bowler elected to her state's athletic hall of fame and honored a Michigan's woman athlete of all time.

Besides her peerless position in the head-to-head all star

GRANDMA'S GREAT — Marion Ladewig, 48-year-old grandmother, shows off her array of trophies she has won in a lifetime of bowling. Mrs. Ladewig, one of the greatest woman bowlers in the world today, travels an estimated 100,000 miles annually from her Grand Rapids home on tours for bowling clinics.

Money Rewards Added to NHL Trophy Stars

MONTREAL (UPI) — An innovation in the granting of financial rewards to the leading National Hockey League players in the various trophy and All-Star balloting at the half-way mark was announced today by President Clarence Campbell.

In the case of the Hart, Lady Byng, Calder and James Norris memorial trophies, the award will be $500 to the leader in the balloting by the selectors in the various league cities.

In the case of the All-Star leaders, the financial rewards will be $500 to the leader in each position, and $250 for each runnerup.

In the case of the Art Ross and Vezina trophies, $500 will be awarded to each of the leaders as determined by the official league statistics after completion of 35 games by each team.

Because of the fact that the 35th game does not fall on the same date for each club, the following is the list of dates on which the half-season ends for each of the teams: Chicago, Dec. 29; New York, Dec. 30; Detroit, Boston and Toronto Jan. 1, Montreal, Jan. 3.

Similar awards will be made for performances in the second half of the schedule, and the composite totals of the two halves will be the basis of the regular awards for the entire season.

The 11th Frame

All the new bowling and gear delivered earlier this week by St. Nick and his assistants are making their appearances at Oakland County 10-pin establishments with many league bowlers anticipating, perhaps, a fresh start at various levels of competition.

While it won't be a fresh start, the two leaders in the Huron Bowl Classic, Eamon, Electric and Pontiac Window Cleaning, both have a good opportunity to take command of that tight two-team struggle.

It will be position night in the Classic tonight with the two leaders clashing head-on. And the same two squads will do battle again next week when the regular schedule resumes.

The window washers set up this week's battle by knocking two more games of the electricians' advantage last time leaving only one game separating the two teams.

Leading the scoring last week was "Mo" Moore with 499 (244-257) and Larry Crake with 475 (238). Dick Carmichael's 265 was the top game.

Huron Bowl was the scene of a triplicate last Thursday. Angie Couture rolled a 118 trio in The Benedict Women's Bowling League. The 118 figure is also her average, ironically.

LADIES MATINEE

A close race exists in the Ladies Matinee Bowling League at Huron Bowl Fridays with five points separating the top four teams. Hallman Druggs leads the field but is closely followed by Cut-A-Way Market, Huron Bowl and Morris & Son Realtors in that order.

Alice Schurr hit 201-565 for the leaders last week.

The Pontiac Inter-Office Motor League reported nice scores this week at 300 Bowl. Jack Goodchild set the pace with 234-282-627 figures while Paul Placer's 246 game broke individual honors. Jess Williams rolled a 235.

Carol Kinchla posted a 245 game on the 300 Bowl alleys this week in the Wednesday Night Ladies Classic League while Audrey Zumbrennan had a 211.

That house's Double Trouble Mixed League Wednesday had a 217-534 duo by Arnold Phillips only 600 series.

Joe Foster Scores 690 in Huron 'A' League

Joe Foster bombed the pins for 235-367-600 totals Wednesday night in the Huron Bowl 'A' League as 36 games of 200 or over were recorded.

Larry Crake also scored well with 287-446 while C&M Marath continued to dominate the team race with a 104-32 mark, 14 games in front.

STRIKING LADIES

FOLLOW THROUGH

Because of the desire to put zip in their delivery, or perhaps because they are straining under a ball that is too heavy, many women have a tendency to rush the follow through once the ball is released.

Good bowling requires that the follow through should be a continuation of the entire delivery. It should be carried out in the same smooth, determined pace.

Michigan Sports Highlights of 1962

DETROIT (AP)—Wait till next year—that familiar plaintive cry prevailed again in Michigan in 1962.

It was another year of disappointment and frustration for Michigan's top sports teams.

For the fifth straight year, no major championship of national stature was brought back to the state.

DETROIT'S four major league teams were also-runs again.

Most disappointing were the Tigers, a genuine American League pennant contender at the start of the season for the first time since 1951. Injuries and poor performances below 1961 peaks made them flop from second to a sad fourth in 1962.

Most frustrated were the Lions, who came so close to winning the Western Division championship in the National Football League and missed for the third straight year. Eight points in three losses to Green Bay (6-7), New York (17-14) and Chicago (13-0) were all that kept the Lions from the western crown and a perfect season. Yet they came back to beat Green Bay 26-14 on Thanksgiving in Michigan's Game of the Year.

The Red Wings were the flops of the National Hockey League, finishing fifth. They missed the Stanley Cup playoffs for the second time in 22 years.

After the season Jack Adams retired as general manager—best indication were he was forced into retirement—after 35 years. Coach Sid Abel took on new duties as general manager and the Wings sputtered in front at the start of the 1962-63 season.

The Pistons, after finishing a poor third in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, made a fight of it in the playoffs. They ousted Cincinnati and carried Los Angeles to seven games before bowing in the division finals.

COLLEGES FLOP

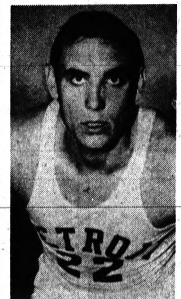

Michigan, Michigan State and Detroit suffered miserably on the football field. The Wolverines were 2-7 and finished last in the Big Ten for the first time since 1936.

The Spartans, a Big Ten title hope at the start, wound up 5-4.

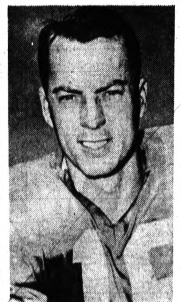

The Titans had a 1-8 season, poorest in their history.

After a rare year of stability for the state's managers and coaches, 1962 began with a change at the University of Detroit in January. Jim Miller quit as football coach to go to Boston College and John Idzik replaced him.

Late in the baseball season, Jim Campbell was promoted to general manager by the Tigers.

MILT PLUM Obtained by Lions

He took over the duties handled by vice president Rick Ferrell, upon whom was heaped much of the criticism for the Tigers' showing. Campbell soon started making trades in contrast with the previous off-season.

Dick McGuire was rumored on shaky ground as the Pistons' coach from January to December.

INJURIES HURT

Injuries to Frank Lary and Al Kaline were the main cause for the Tigers' downfall from 101 victories in 1961 to 85 in 1962. Lary won only two games after winning 23 in 1961. Kaline missed two months with a broken collarbone.

Norm Cash, the 1961 batting champion, fell off 118 percentage points to .243. Jake Wood and Steve Boros disappointed after outstanding rookie years in 1961.

But the Tigers belted 209 homers, a club record. And Hank Aguirre was the surprise of the team. He won 16 games and the league's earned run average championship.

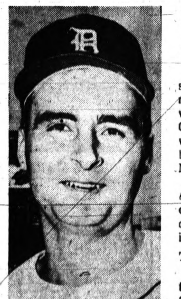

To many Tiger fans, the low spot of the season was the departure of popular Charlie Maxwell. He was dealt to the Chicago White Sox in June and came back to have a fine season.

On June 24, the Tigers played the longest game in elapsed time in major league history at Tiger Stadium. It lasted seven hours and went 23 innings, four innings short of the record. When it was over, the Tigers had lost another game to the Yankees.

The Tigers finished the season by making a six-week tour of Japan.

The state did have one baseball champion, though. Michigan's Cinderella team scrapped through to the NCAA championship. The Wolverines beat Santa STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State's Ronnie Clinton and Olympian Russ Camilleri of the Air Force battled to a scoreless tie to highlight opening matches in the Pan-American games wrestling trials Thursday.

A field of 113 competitors are participating in the three-day event, hopeful of landing a place on the eight-man United States team in the games at Sao Paulo, Brazil, starting April 20.

The tie between Clinton and Camilleri came after 10 minutes of full-scale firing with Clinton fighting out of one single leg pick-up by the Air Force champion, then keeping the pressure at high pitch in the closing stages of their 171.5 pound struggle.

Among Michigan's entries in competition, Bill Riddle of Hazel Park scored two victories last night.

NY Will Hire Red Sullivan?

BALTIMORE (AP)—A spokesman for the Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League confirmed today a report that player-coach George (Red) Sullivan will move up to coach the New York Rangers of the National League.

The spokesman, who would not be quoted by name, said that Sullivan will make his final appearance in Clipper uniform tonight against the Pittsburgh Hornets.

Sullivan, who formerly as a forward for the Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks, is to replace Muzz Patrick, who is also the Rangers' general manager.

The 32-year-old Sullivan reportedly will serve only as a sideline coach for the Rangers.

'Ring' Names Tiger as Fighter of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Ring Magazine today selected last January's middleweight fight between Henry Hank of Detroit and Joey Giardello of Philadelphia at Philadelphia as the fight of the year.

The boxing magazine named Nigeria's Dick Tiger, the world middleweight champion, as its fighter of the year. Tiger earlier this month was named Fighter of the Year and winner of the Edward J. Neil Trophy by the Boxing Writers Association.

In the Jan. 30 bout with Giardello, Hank, ranked seventh in the latest ring ratings, lost a disputed split decision to Giardello. Two Michigan fighters were selected as top contenders in their class in the latest ratings. Kenny Lane of Muskegon was ranked first in the junior welterweight class, and Flint's Auburn Copeland was top-rated among the junior lightweights.

Spartan Five Upset, 95-88

HONOLULU (AP)—Servpac of Hawaii of the Armed Forces League upset Michigan State 95-88 Thursday night, giving service teams here a surprising sweep of a doubleheader at Pearl Harbor.

The champion Subpac team dumped Tennessee State 107-97 in the opener.

Pete Gent scored 33 points for Michigan State in the second game while Pete Blackman, former UCLA star, had 32 for Servpac.

Gent, hitting for 12 straight points within 90 seconds, gave the Spartans an early 18-12 lead. But after the score was knotted five times in the opening half, Servpac went ahead 53-45 at intermission.

The service team pulled ahead to a 95-78 lead with two minutes to go in the second half before coach John Dowd sent in reserves.

Wallace Wins 'Bowl' Regatta

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mike Wallace of Anaheim, Calif., broke his own two international records Thursday in retaining the Orange Bowl regatta nine-hour power boat endurance race championship.

Wallace's 16-foot class A inboard traveled 454.23 miles during the round-and-round grind, an average speed of 49.804 miles per hour. He won last year with average speed of 47.795 M.P.H. on a 423.18-mile cruise to nowhere.

Wallace was one of only 23 finishers in the endurance race for which 18 inboard and outboard craft were entered. Mechanical troubles eliminated some of the competing boats early in the Biscayne Bay event off Pelican Harbor Yacht Club.

If Student Wants to Improve

Practice Corrects Careless Handwriting

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Dear Dr. Nason: My son is in the third grade and will be 8 years old next month. Why is he so careless in his writing? He leaves out letters and words, makes in's for it's and vice versa. He doesn't put capitals, periods and question marks where they should be. Yet ask him where they should be and he can tell you.

He is beginning to dislike school as he is easily discouraged. Yet he wants to make good grades and is very pleased when he does. I am very worried about him as I don't want him to not want to go to school.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

BY OSWALD JACOBY

The ostrich buries his head in the sand and believes that his enemies can't see him. Some bridge players bid that same way and are about as unsuccessful as the bird.

East had a good raise for his partner's overcall, but chose to "hold it on the theory that if he bid his opponents would get to game and if he kept still they would settle for a part score. It never occurs to the ostrich East that if the opponents have a game they will bid it anyhow.

West was sailing blind in a fog, but managed to find the ace of diamonds lead against the spade contract. This lead held South to eight tricks, but that was his contract.

Now let us see what would have happened if East had taken his head out of the sand and bid three diamonds:

West might have been allowed to play that contract and would have made it easily. Or North and South might have continued and gone down at either three or four spades. In any case East and West would win points instead of losing them.

What can you suggest to help her gain the ability to set up the problems herself?

E. F., Larchmont, N. Y.

To translate from words to the symbols of algebra, there must be some connection between the symbols and words in the student's mind.

I suggest that your daughter approach the problem backwards. Practice translating symbols into words before trying to translate words into symbols.

X plus V equals 6 translated becomes the sum of two numbers is 6. If the number X is increased by the number Y the result is 6, or, if two numbers are added together the sum is 6.

If the words are about triangles and rectangles s's should translate the equations in the illustrative problems in the book to the word situations stated in the problems.

A few days of this exercise will establish enough connections in the mind between the symbols of algebra and words to make it possible for her to translate worded problems into symbols.

Dear Dr. Nason: You state that there will be a shortage of engineers. Well, my husband is an engineer and for three or four years there has been no work for engineers.

He has very little to show for two years of college and 20 years of experience. He would have been better off working in a factory.

J. R. G., Flushing, N. Y.

Your husband is not an engineer. He lacks the college training required for the thousands of jobs now open.

You are right, he would be ahead financially and happier working at a technical job with which he could be trained quickly with the background he, now has.

Dr. Nason will welcome your question addressed to him in core of The Pontiac Press. Those of most general interest will be answered in his column.

Slaying Exam Gets Started

DETROIT (AP)—The examination of a Birmingham stock brokerage firm salesman, accused of slaying his widowed mother-in-law, got under way in Recorder's Court yesterday with indications it would take several days.

Robert M. Thorsen, 31, of 2333 Buckingham Road is charged with first-degree murder in the death of Mrs. Dorothy M. Thorsen, 62, whose beaten body was found in her Detroit home Dec. 4.

Dr. Edward Z. Zawadzki, Wayne County medical examiner, was one of three witnesses heard by Judge Arthur Koscinski.

The examiner fixed the time of death as 3 a. m. on Dec. 4 and drew intensive cross-examination as police reports had indicated Mrs. Thorsen died sometime before midnight.

Dr. Zawadzki conceded that while 3 a. m. was probably the latest time at which the death occurred, it could have been several hours earlier.

The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office said it planned to call 14 witnesses, including Mrs. Marjorie Breach of Bloomfield Hills, daughter-in-law of Ernest R. Breach, former chairman of the Ford Motor Co.

Ass't. Prosecutor Max Silverman said Mrs. Breach was believed to be the only witness to an auto accident in which Thorsen was involved shortly after he was informed that his mother-in-law had been slain.

Installment Plan for 1st-Time Fliers? WASHINGTON (UPI) — Braniff International Airways asked the government yesterday to approve a special installment-plan for persons who have never flown.

Braniff's proposal to the Civil Aeronautics Board would allow passengers flying for the first time to pay $1 down and $1 a week on any fare up to $52.

It would be available to anyone who had not flown on a commercial airliner within the last 10 years.

Stays Decision on Rail Jobs

Supreme Court Deals With Featherbedding

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court today granted a stay of a lower court decision that would have eliminated "featherbedding" in railroad work rules.

The U.S. Circuit Court in Chicago on Nov. 28 decided the nation's railroads had the right to reorganize employee practices in an effort to eliminate unnecessary work.

Counsel for five railroad unions asked a stay of the effect of the Circuit Court decision. The Circuit Court had directed its decision should go into effect Jan. 2.

Douglas specified that his stay would extend to Jan. 9, to give union counsel time to file a formal appeal. The appeal will ask the full Supreme Court to review and overturn the Circuit Court decision.

Union counsel in asking Douglas for a stay said the case involved important questions of interpretation of the Railway Labor Act.

These questions, counsel said, included the right of railroads "to insist on uncontrolled discretion" in areas of the employee-employer relations long subject to collective bargaining.

Counsel also complained that the Circuit Court had based its opinion on disputed facts that did not appear in the railroad's complaint.

The proposed work rules changes could eliminate the jobs of 15,000 locomotive firemen within a year and eventually wipe out an estimated 65,000 to 80,000 jobs in the industry.

Grain Prices Lean Toward Firmness CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices leaned toward further firmness today during the first several minutes of transactions on the board of trade.

Gains ran about a cent in rye and soybeans, but were limited to small fractions elsewhere with trading a little more active than on other days this week.

Dealers said a good deal of activity was speculative and included some evening up for year-end tax purposes.

3 Nuns Injured in Area Crash

2 in Hospital After Collision

Three Catholic nuns were injured when a car in which they were passengers was struck by another car yesterday in Pontiac Township.

Listed in fair condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital were Sister Eunice, 63, and Sister Roseanne, 58, both of Flint. A hospital spokesman said they received possible head injuries.

A third nun, Sister Laura Marie, 22, also of Flint was treated at the hospital for minor injuries sustained in the crash and released.

The driver of the car in which the nuns were passengers, Verina B. Cole, 40, of Flint, said she was backing out of a driveway onto Walton Boulevard when struck by a passing car, driven by Mrs. Howard Fields, 37, of 2763 Walton Blvd.

Neither driver was injured, according to the sheriff's report.

Board Planning School Rooms

Farmington Area Set for Special Education

Oakland County is expanding its special school program for children with severe behavior problems, it was announced yesterday.

The Oakland County Board of Education voted yesterday to underwrite construction of three special education rooms in the Farmington School District at a cost of $53,133.

All three rooms — two at School and one East Junior High School — will be used for children in the adjusted study program. The children have severe behavior problems.

Outside Oakland County, only three other school districts — Livonia, Wyandotte and Ann Arbor — have similar programs for these children.

Dr. Paul Thams, county director of special education, says these children are too poorly adjusted to function in regular classrooms.

Similar programs are being operated in five other districts in the county: Pontiac, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Hazel Park and Walled Lake.

Farmington Public School District will conduct and maintain special education programs in these three rooms for a period of 15 years.

Furnishings, cost of operation and teachers' salaries will be paid by the county under state special education provisions. The contract between Farmington and the county stipulates that Farmington will accept nonresident special education pupils as assigned by the county without tuition charge.

Police Holding Clue to Hit-Run Death Car

Police believe the hit-run car which struck and killed a father of five in Bloomfield Hills last week is a 1950 Oldsmobile which had been repainted a light, mist green.

Identification of the car was obtained by an analysis of paint samples found at the scene of the accident, Bloomfield Hills Police Capt. Walter Sluiter said today.

The analysis, Sluiter said, was completed yesterday by the Michigan Crime Detection Laboratory, operated by the State Health Department in Lansing.

Killed in the accident in the early morning hours of Dec. 19 was Melvin Litrich, 30, of 2908 Spon St., Madison Heights, a water captain at Kingsley Inn. The hit-run car, apparently repainted over its original light blue finish, also may have a rusty rear bumper, Sluiter said.

The police captain said the Man Is Nabbed During Alleged Break-In Try

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP — A 23-year-old man was apprehended here early yesterday while breaking into the home of Mrs. Agatha Kleinow, 7091 Granite St., according to state police.

Robert D. McKim, 11080 26-Mile Road, demanded examination yesterday when he was charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime. He is being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

McKim allegedly was walking around the home when Mrs. Kleinow called the Romeo state police post.

Troopers arrived to find he had kicked in an outer back door and was working on another in an attempt to gain entrance to the house, according to police reports.

Examination is set for Jan. 9 before Macon County Justice of the Peace Francis A. Castellucci. Police are continuing their investigation.

Dem Escapes Prosecution

Madison Heights Democrat Lee Walker has escaped prosecution for failing to file his statement of campaign expenses for the Aug. 7 primary by filing the long overdue voucher in proper form this week.

An unsuccessful candidate for nomination to the sixth district state legislative race, Walker filed the expense statement Dec. 3 after the county prosecutor's office disclosed a warrant for his arrest was planned.

But the statement was returned to Walker because it was not notarized. The expense voucher was due in the county clerk's office 10 days after the primary.

Revive Duke-Nazi Squabble

LONDON (AP)—British papers divided today in their reaction to a revival of the charge that the Duke of Windsor—while Britain's king for less than a year—wanted to make a personal deal with Hitler.

The perennial argument was revived by publication by the British, American and French governments of captured Nazi documents kept secret since World War II.

The Daily Express, published by Windsor's old friend Lord Beaverbrook, again defended the former King Edward VIII.

The Laborite Daily Mirror scathingly derided the duke.

The liberal Guardian said the new report only showed how stupid the Nazis were.

U.S. Cash Due for Area Roads

County Eligible to Get $226,657 After July 1

Oakland County is eligible to receive $226,657 in federal matching funds for secondary road construction in the fiscal year beginning next July 1, according to State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The money will be part of some $8.3 million made available to the state by the federal government, Mackie said.

Counties receive the funds as reimbursements on completed projects, according to Oakland County Road Commission Chairman Sol D. Lomerson.

Lomerson said counties have three years in which to use the money.

Oakland County plans to use the funds, according to Lomerson, to rebuild a three-mile section of Baldwin Road between Seymour Lake and Oakwood roads, a three-mile stretch of Millford Road from Grand River Ave. to 10-Mile Road and two miles of Halsted Road between Grand River Avenue and 12-Mile Road.

Mackie said the state would use about $3 million for state trunklines eligible under the program, and some $5.2 million would be available for use by counties.

The largest amounts will be available to Wayne County, $648,022; Oakland; Kent, $142,674; and Genesee, $132,339.

Pennsy Gets GM Diesels

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad announced yesterday it has ordered 52 high-speed diesel electric freight locomotives from the electro-motive division of General Motors at a cost of approximately $10.75 million.

The biggest police force in the nation is New York City's department which totals about 25,000 men and women.

to Hitler after an interview with Edward VIII.

"A Germany-Britain alliance is for him an urgent necessity and a guiding principle for British foreign policy."

"To my question whether a discussion between Baldwin (Stanley Baldwin, then British prime minister) and Hitler would be desirable for future German-British relations, he replied in the following words:

"Who is king here? Baldwin or I? I myself wish to talk to Hitler and will do so here or in Germany. Tell him that, please."

The duke also reported to the fuhrer that the king had "spoken well" of Rudolf Hess, the Nazi leader who later parachuted into Scotland during World War II.

With the publication, old antagonists reform ranks and debated the dusty questions—did Britain lose a potentially great king when Edward abdicated in 1936 for the love of an American divorcee? Or would he have been a puppet of Hitler?

The former king at his home in Paris had no immediate comment on the new documents. His secretary said he was studying the texts.

But in the past, when questions about him were raised by published Nazi documents, the duke has denied there was anything improper in his connections.

Whizzer White Named for 'Mr. Sam' Trophy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Associate justice Byron "Whizzer" White of the supreme court has been voted the Mr. Sam trophy by the Touchdown Club of Washington.

Honoring the memory of the late horse speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., the trophy is awarded annually to the government figure who has contributed most to sports. It will be presented to White at a dinner Jan. 12.

White was an All-American basketball player at the University of Colorado and later played with the Pittsburgh Steelers and Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Consumers Power will install six 20,000-lumen mercury vapor lights south to Elm Street at no charge to the city other than the normal billing for street lights.

The lights will remain in operation for about a month.

"Purpose of the test," said Roy Hetherington, city electrical superintendent, "is to determine the effect on drivers' eyes of driving from one type of light to another."

Hetherington explained that fluorescent lights are presently used on Saginaw in the Central Business District and incandescents are used outside downtown.

"The mercury vapor type have been considered for the perimeter road," he added, "and we'd like to see if the different types of lights create any visual difficulties for drivers moving from one to another."

Some mercury vapor lights are used in parking lots. They require less replacement and the light direction or area to be lighted can be more easily controlled than with other types.

The lasting quality of the lights is indicated by the fact that of those used in municipal lots, the city has had to replace only one in eight years.

'Off With the Old' Refers to Ex-Spouses on B'Way

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"Off with the old and on with the new!"—and on Broadway that doesn't refer exclusively to the New Year's period...

Wilson

Francisco Sagan is shedding her American sculptor husband Robert Westhof in Paris.

But Jayne Mansfield's return to Mickey Hargitay—sending Italian producer Enrico Bomba home to Rome after a fast rendezvous with him—was the wackiest bit, yet.

"Jayne does everything based on the publicity she thinks she can get," a friend said later. "She will try to revive the Bomba romance again in a few months."

"Ask Jayne if she'd like to see a movie and she'll say, 'Will there be any photographers there?' She doesn't care what the movie is. It's too bad that Jayne's letting her life be dominated by her scrapbooks."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Ingrid Bergman's daughter, Jenny Lindstrom, was working an UNESCO in Paris as an information clerk... Tony Bennett's getting $20,000 for 9 days at the Brooklyn Town & Country... Debbie Reynolds was a little surprised about that incident at the Las Vegas Riviera—when she offered to pick up the tab of everybody in the room (because the sound system had conked out entirely and she didn't feel she was doing her best show). "Because not one person in the place objected and said, 'No, I won't let you pick up mine.' They all thought it was a dandy idea."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "There's an Englishman who can trace his family tree all the way back to the days when his family lived in it."—Frances Rodman.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "To girls who know all the answers, no-body ever poses the question."

EARL'S PEARLS: "There's another advantage to being poor," Elbert Hubbard once said. "The doctor will cure you faster."

They say it happened after a very wet holiday party. A soused celebrator called, "Young man, get me a cab." A big man in uniform retorted, "Young man, I'm not a cab, I'm an Admiral." The celebrator said, "So all right, call me a ship." That's earl, brother.

Wage Floor Eyed for State

Republican Lawmaker Will Propose Bill

LANING (R)—A $1.15 hourly wage minimum for Michigan workers will be proposed in a bill to be introduced in the 1963 legislature by Rep. William Doorn, R-Grand Rapids.

Doorn's announcement of his proposed bill yesterday followed disclosure that Republican Gov. George Romney has decided to push for enactment of a minimum wage law next year.

Every minimum wage measure introduced in the last 25 years has been killed by the Republican-controlled legislature.

Romney's aides said he has not decided on details of his proposal, including the minimum wage figure.

Doorn said he did not think employers should be basking in the sun in Florida while their employees at home are earning 75 and 80 cents an hour.

The retired produce dealer said he had received "between 300 and 400 letters this year, many of them pathetic, asking for action on a minimum wage and I think it's time Michigan had one."

Doorn said his bill would exempt part-time workers.

Bill drafters in the Legislative Service Bureau said several requests for minimum-wage legislation have been filed by lawmakers, most of them Democrats.

Democrats have tried to put through pay minimum bills in most annually, but few have gone to the floor from committees.

MSUO Prof Will Study Poems in Paris

Paris, love and springtime!

They're the ingredients of the study trip for a professor who will venture out from Michigan State University Oakland next spring.

Dr. Richard E. Quintance, professor of English, will try to find out in the city of lights whether love poems—racy or otherwise—of some famous English poets were original or imitations.

He'll spend the summer in France's national library reading French poetry of the 17th century. He suspects that in such verse may be the origins of some English love poetry.

He expects that similarities between the two nation's poetry will affect the artistic reputations of such men as Dryden, Pope, Swift, Gay, Prior and the Earl of Rochester.

The poetic detective work is being financed by a grant from the American Council of Learned Societies.

Bannan Resigns at Jackson

High Official Takes DEHOCO Post

DETROIT (AP)—William H. Bannan, one of the nation's top-ranking prison officials, tendered his resignation as warden of Southern Michigan Prison yesterday and took over the job of superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction.

The surprise decision of Bannan to step out as head of the world's largest walled-in prison came after Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh accepted the resignations of the DEHOCO superintendent and commissioner.

A NEW START
Cavanagh told newsmen "a new start was needed" at DEHOCO, which had been the scene in recent years of many quarrels between Supt. Al Shapiro and the four-member DEHOCO commission.

Cavanagh's removal of Shapiro and the commission was a surprise, but even more dramatic was his appointment of Bannan.

The 63-year-old Bannan won national attention in July 1952 when he took over as No. 1 man of Southern Michigan Prison which had just been torn by a bloody, fiery riot.

He restored order to the prison and in the intervening years, won widespread recognition as a prison administrator.

Bannan was accompanied by his wife yesterday when he came to Detroit to meet a newly appointed DEHOCO commission and to be with Cavanagh when the mayor announced his appointment.

He told newsmen his retirement from the Southern Michigan Prison was a surprise, but even more dramatic was his appointment of Bannan.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Encephalitis Vaccine Not for General Use

I get so many interesting questions I can't possibly answer them all, as much as I would like to.

A hint: The shorter the letter, the more likely it is to be answered soon.

Please put questions on only one subject in your letter.

If several people write asking for information on the same subject I will try to BRANDSTADT cover the subject in a full-length column.

Q—In view of a recent outbreak of encephalitis in Florida, I was wondering what measures can be taken to keep from getting it.

A—Although there is a vaccine against the type of encephalitis or brain fever recently seen in Florida, it is not recommended for general use but only for use in persons with a greater than average risk of exposure.

This is because of the danger of rather severe reactions.

For this reason control of infection is a matter for the local health department wherever an outbreak occurs.

The only thing you as an individual can do is to avoid exposure to mosquitoes during the hours they are known to bite each day, if there is an outbreak in your town.

You could also sleep under a mosquito net.

A—The drug, disulfiram or Antabuse, can be taken in small amounts daily.

Of itself it has no harmful effects on the body even when taken over a long period.

If a person who has taken this drug regularly for three weeks drinks even a small amount of alcohol he will have a severely unpleasant reaction which is characterized by flushing, rapid heart action with palpitation, shortness of breath, gasping, nausea, vomiting, and even loss of consciousness, depending on the amount of alcohol taken.

Because of the severity of the reaction, an alcoholic should never be given the drug without his knowledge and consent.

Once he has started taking it he should take one small trial drink so that he will know what to expect.

This should be done only under the supervision of a physician.

This drug is not a cure for alcoholism but in a person who recognizes that he is a problem drinker and who sincerely wants to overcome the habit, it may help to tide him over a difficult period of readjustment.

Great harm can be done by slipping the drug into the food of an alcoholic without his knowledge and any person who is taking it must be warned not to take any cough syrup or other medication that contains alcohol.

Persons with diabetes, goiter, epilepsy, insanity, cirrhosis of the liver, or kidney disease are not fit subjects for treatment with this powerful drug.

Man Elected to Post Which Pays Nothing

ST. CLAIR SHORES (P) — A St. Clair Shores attorney says he will be the first to move toward abolishing his newly gained political office if he finds there is really no need for it.

As it stands, Joseph C. Soma, certified as county surveyor by the Macomb County Election Commission, has a job which offers him nothing to do, and he will draw no pay for doing nothing.

Soma finished fifth with seven write-in votes in the Nov. 6 election race for the post. He was declared the winner after the first four were ruled ineligible.

Election laws require that county surveyors be graduate engineers, or have at least five years of equivalent experience.

There were more than 60 write-in candidates, including Mickey Mouse and John Doe, for the mythical office.

NO ONE MISSED IT

The office has not appeared on county ballots since 1934. No one missed it until last summer when state elections officials ruled it must be voted on every two years until it is legally abolished.

"I didn't run for the job as such, but asked a few friends to write me in," Soma said.

"I felt that if the election commission or someone considered the office important enough to put it back on the ballot after an absence of some 28 years, the office ought to be filled by someone who is at least qualified," he added.

He added he didn't know what he was going to do with the office now that he had it.

Suggests Excise Tax to Up Flint Income

FLINT (P) — An excise tax to help bolster Flint's tax base was suggested by City Manager Robert A. Carter last night.

Carter submitted an 11-page report to the City Commission and suggested that voters approve the tax in the April election.

Action was deferred while commissioners studied the report.

There was no indication what type of excise tax was involved, but city hall observers interpreted the recommendation as a suggestion for an income tax for Flint.

Carter said some $6 million annually would be produced by the tax.

BIRUM G. CAMPBELL

JACKSON (U-A) "hard sell" program to promote Michigan as a good place to do business, is paying off.

Birum G. Campbell, vice president for marketing at Consumers Power Co., says intense efforts by industrial leaders, state officials and Michigan residents have attracted much nationwide interest in Michigan as the site for plants and for expansion of existing manufacturing facilities.

Director of marketing for a private utility company that serves the electrical and gas fuel needs of industry and residents in 1,616 Michigan cities, villages and townships, Campbell frankly is optimistic about the state's industrial future.

"We are not on the defensive in attracting new industry to Michigan," Campbell said in a recent interview. "We have three times as many good prospects for new manufacturing as we had two years ago."

Campbell said he never believed that Michigan was a poor place to do business despite an image created several years ago when many business organizations transferred their operations to other states.

"These transfers followed reports that Michigan officials and labor had combined to make industry a stepchild in the over-all state economic picture. Campbell said he has noticed a definite positive change in the attitude to Michigan as a business-minded state in the last few years.

"Communities are active in getting industry attracted to the state," Campbell said, "and our people are starting to sell Michigan's major assets to out-of-state visitors."

"This individual effort backed up by state agencies and private business market promotion is paying off," he said.

PRIME ASSETS

Campbell listed as Michigan's prime assets: One of the world's largest fresh water supplies; a network of highspeed highways; good industrial transportation facilities and a growing population.

These assets have been called to the attention of prospective business operations through a series of area development programs. Consumers Power has carried out an area development program since 1960. Currently a staff of three engineers handled the company's business promotion efforts.

Part of the program is the preparation of a detailed report on all areas served by Consumers Power. These reports give a complete listing of industrial assets in a specific community. The reports also detail education, recreation and service facilities in each area.

Campbell says his company's effort is just one of many being carried out by private business.

He said Consumers Power now has some 20 "hot prospects" for plant location in Michigan compared to six in 1960.

"The cooperation of all elements has increased in recent years to a point where we are really moving in getting new industry for the state," Campbell said.

He cited efforts by the State Economic Development Commission as one of many aids to private industrial promotion benefiting Michigan.

Campbell also said the elec-

GOP Moderates Win

Katanga, U.N. in Fierce Battle

Trying for Cease Fire; Casualties Reported

BRUSSELS, Belgium (U-A) — Katangan troops were reported fighting U.N. forces in Elisabethville today, with casualties on both sides.

Diplomatic reports reaching Europe from the African trouble-spot said efforts were being made for a cease fire.

The Belgian radio, quoting diplomatic sources, described the fighting as very violent. It said U.N. representative Elud Mathu was trying to reach President Joseph Tshombe of Katanga to bring a halt to the fighting.

Shooting was said to have begun last night on the outskirts of the Katanga capital and continued through the night.

There was no direct information from Elisabethville. Telegraph and telephone communications between there and Brussels were interrupted.

LARGE FORCE — Katanga has succeeded from the Congo central government based in Leopoldville and the United Nations has been pressing Tshombe to bring his mineral-rich province under Leopoldville's control. The larger part of the United Nation's 19,000-man Congo force is reported to be in Katanga.

The British foreign office said that the British consul in Elisabethville, Derek Dodson, reported that a cease fire had been arranged by both sides for 6 a.m. (11 p.m. Pontiac time yesterday).

"But it was not observed," a spokesman told newsmen, and "doubtful firing has continued."

Missile Defeat Leaves Fidel Fighting for His Political Life

By United Press International

Smuggled dispatches from Western diplomatic and other reliable sources in Cuba reported today that Fidel Castro is battling Khrushchev's unilateral decision for his political life.

The dispatches, delivered in New York City, reported that his image has been damaged, perhaps irreparably, by Nikita Khrushchev's unilateral decision to remove Russian rockets and Cuba's seven million people, meanwhile, were described as increasingly restless over prolonged shortages.

The dispatches said there was continued anti-Castro activity in the interior but described it as scattered and ineffective. More serious for Castro, they said, was growing discontent among the peasants.

The dispatches cited "unconfirmed" reports in Havana of similar discontent within the armed forces.

NIGHTLY VISITS

Castro was said to be visiting his alma mater, the University of Havana, almost nightly to keep his student followers from open street protests against what they term "Soviet treason."

The dispatches cited protest rallies within the university, not only against Khrushchev but against university rector Juan Marinello, veteran president of the Cuban Communist party for 43 years.

Diplomats said that the internal crisis in Cuba provoked by Khrushchev's action also has caused a cleavage in Cuban Communist ranks.

Such party stalwarts as Erro to (Che) Guevara, generally credited with having been instrumental in getting the rockets and bombers into Cuba, was described as "enraged" over the Russian role.

Long a sympathizer of Red China in its ideological clash with Soviet communism, Guevara, said now to be openly pro-Peking in his political attitude.

CONFIRMS INFORMATION

The dispatches confirmed earlier information from Havana of serious differences between Castro and Anastas Mikoyan, the Soviet deputy first premier, in their recent "peace talks" in the Cuban capital.

The consensus among Western diplomats in Havana was that Castro's subsequent dispatch of an emissary to Moscow to talk trade with Russia means the Cuban leader is fully aware of his economic dependence on the Kremlin.

New Leaders in State Senate to Aid Romney

Thayer Caucus Head; Milliken to Be Majority Director on Floor

LANSING (U-A) — A major upheaval in Republican leadership of next year's state Senate shaped up today, with self-styled "moderates" capturing floor and caucus control of the GOP. Republican senators sat behind closed doors for two hours yesterday.

When the meeting broke up, Sen. Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor emerged as GOP caucus chairman, and Sen. William Milliken of Traverse City as majority floor leader.

The outcome was regarded by capital observers as an indication Gov.-elect George Romney's legislative program will have easier going in the upper chamber than it would have had under "Old Guard" leadership.

To newsmen, Thayer said he hoped the new lineup in leadership would mark the end of the Senate's reputation as a veto bloc because "any veto would be a repudiation of the new governor."

Thayer will succeed Sen. Lynn Francis, R-Midland, as majority leader. Francis has retired from the Senate.

UNANIMOUS!

Another former chairman, Sen. Tom Beadle of St. Clair, was nominated for the post but withdrew after a secret ballot showed Thayer was favored 12-11. The selection then was declared unanimous.

Only one member of the so-called conservative wing of the Senate, Sen. Joseph Smekens, R-Colwater, was granted a title in yesterday's caucus. He was named president pro tem, a figurehead position with little authority who presides over the Sen.

CHEVROLET RECORD

Chevrolet Motor Division delivered 73,925 cars and trucks in the Dec. 11-20 period for another all-time record.

American Motors Corp. reported Rambler sales of 12,242 for the period set another record.

CHEVY RECORD

Chevrolet already has sold 2,444,678 units this year—virtually assuring a 12-month sales record of 2.5 million cars and trucks.

Chevrolet Sales Manager Larry Averill said that Dec. 11-20 sales of 62,168 cars were 5,814 above the previous record for the period set in 1961 and 19.8 per cent above the second highest Dec. 11-20 period set in 1955.

Truck sales of 11,755 were 13.5 per cent higher than the same period last year and 549 trucks more than the previous peak for the period set in 1955.

Dodge reported that, in the first 20 days of December, sales totaled 18,880—more than in the entire month of December last year when 15,683 cars were delivered.

Chrysler Plymouth 20-day sales amounted to 29,279 cars, a 52 per cent increase over a year ago.

Big Blast Rips Wall in Berlin

Largest Explosion Yet Tears Hole in Barrier

BERLIN (AP) — The biggest explosive assault ever against the Red wall dividing Berlin was carried out before dawn today.

There was no immediate indication of who set the blast.

The explosion ripped a three-foot square hole in the wall and smashed 600 windows in neighboring buildings, including 150 in a fire brigade headquarters.

West Berlin police said it was the biggest explosive charge laid against the wall in its 16 months of existence, although previous smaller explosions have caused more damage to the wall itself.

They believed the people responsible were disturbed at their work. The charge was not embedded in the wall before it went off, which accounted for the comparatively slight damage to the wall itself and the considerable destruction away from it.

The explosion went off 100 yards from the site of another explosion Dec. 16. That time three men set a charge and gave themselves up to police five minutes before it went off.

Both blasts went off in the Jerusalem Straits, 800 yards from the U.S. Army's checkpoint Charlie, at Friedrichstrasse.

Nobody was hurt in today's explosion but a wooden weather shelter used by West Berlin police was ripped apart. It was empty at the time.

The East Germans rushed six extra border guards to the hole. They took station with Tommy guns pointing through the hole toward the West.

West Berlin police said they were hindered in their investigation by the Vopos, as the East guards are nicknamed. The wall itself lies about 10 feet on the East Berlin side of the actual boundary line.

Romney Puffs Peace Pipe in Camp of Enemy Chieftains

LANSING (AP) — Gov.-elect George Romney made a fast dash through supposedly enemy territory yesterday afternoon after four of the men who had been most outspoken against him.

They were August (Gus) Scholle, state AFL-CIO president, in Lansing for a Democratic fund-raising dinner; Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, who was termed the Democratic "hatchman" during the recent campaign; Attorney General Frank Kelley, and Gov. Swainson.

Said Romney of the surprise visit to the man he unseated from the governor's chair: "It was just a friendly, personal visit. I wanted to thank him for the use of his office prior to the inauguration."

Swainson said Romney also thanked him for the cooperation his administration has given to the staff of the incoming governor.

Romney met first with Scholle, describing it as "an exploratory and friendly meeting."

When they started discussing the recent campaign, Romney said: "I pointed out that I had never attacked him personally. He cleared up some things. I'm pleased with his attitude. I attempted just to determine whether he would consider my proposals on the basis of merit or just oppose them."

Scholle confirmed the friendliness of the meeting: "I don't know what it is to take another human being, and that goes for politics," he said. Scholle said he agreed to cooperate with Romney on mutual objectives, such as a minimum wage law.

Kennedy also is expected to renew his advocacy of more federal aid for schools and colleges and expanded student loan and adult education programs.

The President turns his attention to these matters following two days of meetings on his 1963 tax cut plan and a lengthy session with Pentagon leaders on military spending.

Underlying all the talks was the need to pin down final figures for the federal budget which goes to Congress next month. This bulky document will call for outlays of about $99 billion—a new high—in the 12 months starting July 1.

JFK Studies Health Program

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy takes a new look today at the administration's health, welfare and education proposals—some of the most controversial items tagged for congressional action in 1963.

Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze flew to this ocean-side resort city Thursday to prepare for a midmorning conference with Kennedy on the Welfare Department's new budget and legislative recommendations.

TO PUSH EDUCATION

Accompanying Celebrezze were Assistant Secretary Wilbur J. Cohen and Francis Keppel, the new commissioner of education.

Although all department programs were slated for review, Keppel's presence indicated a major emphasis on education proposals that failed at the last session of Congress.

GOP 'Moderates' Get Senate Control

In the absence of the lieutenant governor.

There also were indications that more changes in the makeup of the 1963 Senate were in the works.

Sen. Elmer Porter, R-Bisbee, appeared about to be dumped from his position as chairman of the powerful appropriations committee, a post he has held for the past 13 years.

The 74-year-old Porter, who was first elected to the Senate in 1936, has served longer than any other member of the body.

Thayer, who as caucus chairman of the committee on committees, said he would like to recommend Reade for the appropriations committee chairmanship.

He said he assumed there would be no floor fights over the committee's recommendations but added that anything could happen.

Porter, Thayer said, was nominated for the position of president pro tem but withdrew from contention before a vote was taken.

Painting a portrait of GOP harmony, Thayer said: "The consensus of the caucus was that everyone wants to support the Romney administration, although there are some differences on how this should be done."

Thayer said he regarded his election as a victory for the incoming Romney administration which should make it easier for the new governor to get his proposals adopted.

Looking ahead, Thayer said he felt that a new brand of republicanism has come to Michigan—both in the legislature and the executive branch.

They exuberantly invited "all residents of Miami and the people of the United States to this ceremony."

Bitter Weather Blasts Europe for Sixth Day

LONDON (UPI) — For the fifth consecutive day, bitter winter brought havoc and death to Europe today with forecasts for more snow and cold over the weekend.

From Britain eastward to the Iron Curtain, from Lapland southward to the normally balmy Mediterranean, an unofficial count showed deaths attributed to the weather rose above 400 for the week.

Air traffic, rail and miscellaneous accidents have killed at least 137 Britons to top the grim fatality toll. Although the airports were back to normal today, a Royal Automobile Club spokesman said roads in hard-hit southern England "resemble Alpine passes."

Expect to Clear Block on Bonds

County to Go Ahead on Dequindre Sewer

Oakland County will not lose a $13.3 million federal grant because of a legal stumbling block, Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry announced today.

The threat came when the State Municipal Finance Commission refused to approve sale of bonds to finance the $13-million Dequindre Interceptor Sewer in South-eastern Oakland County.

The commission acted on the advice of the attorney general's office which has maintained the approval is unnecessary.

The county's bonding attorney Claude Stevens said he can't sell the bonds without the approval.

Barry said federal authorities were certain that the legal question would be cleared up in Lansing during the next legislative session and were willing to leave the $13-million grant in effect providing construction begins before Jan. 1.

WILL START JOB

According to Barry, contractors have agreed to start work by the deadline, equally certain that the legal air would be cleared and the bonds sold.

Had the grant been withdrawn, the real losers would have been the 14 municipalities to benefit from the sewer.

The Dequindre is to carry sewage diverted from the $40-million 12-Towns Storm Relief Drain under construction in the area, into the Detroit system for treatment.

These same communities will realize a $400,000 savings on a related project, enclosure of the Red Run Drain which will carry 12-Towns drainage into the Clinton River and on to Lake St. Clair.

Barry explained that income from invested 12-Towns Drain construction funds will be used to finance the enclosure of the Red Run Drain in order to meet health standards set by the federal government.

Pass Plan to Ease Corner Traffic

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission last night approved a recommendation by Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley aimed at easing traffic congestion at Hunter Boulevard (U. S. 10) and Oakland Avenue.

Commissioners agreed to allow installation of a delayed amber traffic signal at the busy intersection.

Moxley said the delayed signal will permit more time for traffic moving east and west on Oakland to clear the intersection, thus avoiding congestion at the center island on Hunter.

Cost for the installation will be shared equally by the State Highway Department and the city. Further studies by the highway department will be conducted to solve other traffic problems at this site.

The commission also approved two-hour parking limits on Townsend Street, between Henrietta and Chester streets for between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. except Sundays and holidays.

The action followed a petition by approximately 20 Townsend Street residents and property owners opposed to unrestricted parking spots in the area being taken by all-day parkers.

No action was taken on rector John G. Chiera's suit against the city, requesting an area on the south side of Birmingham rezoned from single family residential to multiple family dwelling zone. The request has been referred to the legal adviser.

In other business the commission reappointed Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham legislative contact for the Michigan Municipal League and passed recommended changes in traffic regulations previously in effect on a trial basis.

April 1 Is Starting Date for Clinton Improvements

Huge piles of mud will be added to the downtown Pontiac scene after April 1.

That is the date construction is scheduled to begin on proposed improvements to the Clinton River at an approximate cost of $2.7 million.

Engineers' plans, specifications and a more exact estimate of the cost are due Jan. 15, Oakland County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry said today.

A public hearing of necessity, sale of bonds and letting of construction bids will follow in time to start digging April 1, Barry added.

The hearing can be expected in mid-February.

The county has agreed to widen, deepen and straighten out the river for the city as a special assessment district.

This means the county will sell bonds to finance construction and the city will retire the bonds, probably over 30 years, by levying a special assessment on property owners throughout Pontiac.

The assessments will be spread on the county tax roll for Pontiac property owners, not the city tax roll.

The work is intended to relieve flooding in the downtown area.

The river improvements will be made between the Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing at Orchard Lake Avenue and Union Street.

IN LARGE PIPE

Most of the improved Clinton will flow through a large, underground drain pipe once the project is completed 12 to 15 months after commencement.

Barry said initial construction will be dovetailed with State Highway Department plans to build a perimeter road around the downtown district this spring.

Also scheduled for construction at the same time is the Skanska drainage project, which is intended to re-

Cuban Has Money but No Goods

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — What life like under Fidel Castro these days?

Money is abundant, but essential foodstuffs and clothing are in short supply. Government vigilance and fear is the lot of those who oppose the regime, but physical violence is rare. And non-conformity can cost a man his job.

These were the views expressed by many of the more than 900 relatives of Cuban prisoners who arrived here Thursday aboard the freighter African Pilot.

"There is money, but food is hard to come by," said Mrs. Norga Portuondo, a teacher of Spanish in a Santiago Teacher's College. "You need government authorization to buy good clothes or luxury items, and it's easier to do without than stand in the long lines."

Mrs. Portuondo, 36, whose husband got permission to leave Cuba one month after their marriage, said that after he was captured in the invasion she tried to resign from her job.

"They wouldn't accept my resignation because there is a shortage of teachers," she said. "Restrictions became worse and worse, but honestly speaking nothing is supposed to me."

Aida Rodriguez Valladares, who arrived with her husband and two children, said, "One is continuously under a severe nervous strain because of the vigilance. It's worse than the food short-

"The food problem, she said, 'was a question of simply eating without the extras we used to enjoy.'

Among these were the traditional Cuban spicy sauces. "Onions are hard to come by and tomato ketchup is nonexistent," she explained. These were the basic ingredients for sauces that went with meat, now rationed three-fourths of a pound a person a week, and rice limited to 6 pounds a person a month.

Librada Muniz, 37, wife of a prisoner, expressed the feelings of several passengers toward civilian neighborhood defense committees.

"Every day their vigilance got worse, especially after the invasion," she said. "I was insulted by them for being a wife of a prisoner."

U.S. Readies Parolee Unit for Detroit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is moving ahead with plans to open the new halfway house in Detroit for young parolees and to close Alcatraz, the island prison in San Francisco Bay.

James V. Bennett, director of the Bureau of Prisons, described the plans in his annual report to Attorney Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Kennedy called the halfway house program "a promising breakthrough in the war against juvenile delinquency and hoodluming crime."

Like others opened last year in Chicago, Los Angeles and New York City, the Detroit halfway house will be used as a guidance center for juveniles and youths paroled from federal institutions.

During their stay they receive guidance from counselors and hold daytime jobs in private industry and business.

Government to Study Welfare Chiseling

A long-overdue crackdown on Federal welfare aid chiseling is in prospect. A comprehensive study, timed for early next year, by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare will explore the whole $3.9-billion program of aid to the needy with particular emphasis on assistance to families with dependent children.

This category accounts for $1.4 billion of the total, and critics say it harbors the bulk of the fraud and misdirection from which the administration of the agency suffers.

With this program, families become eligible for assistance if there is no breadwinner. But investigators in Washington found recipients with undisclosed income. "Disabled" fathers were found to be no longer incapable of earning a living. Some children for whom payments were made couldn't be located. In all, investigation was shown in over 50 per cent of the cases reviewed.

In other cities and states, investigators found similar evidence of fraud and in other types of aid. West Virginia officials disclosed that 11 per cent of beneficiaries were ineligible. In California, 1,600 cases were turned over for prosecution on charges of welfare chiseling.

The study will cost $1.25 million in state and Federal funds. Welfare workers will visit 21,000 families, representing 2 per cent of the Nation's dependent children case load. The results should be released next spring, in time for Congress to make changes in welfare legislation.

We think a realistic appraisal of welfare aid of all kinds and on all levels is most timely. It is hoped that this investigation will be an objective one and not just another "snow job." It is hoped, too, that once in possession of the facts, Congress will act promptly and forthrightly, giving the suffering taxpayers much-needed relief from one burden that is increasing at the rate of $2 million a year.

Freeman Cautious on Farm Legislation

The problem of farm prices in recent years has come before our Washington legislators time and time again, with seemingly little satisfaction for the farmer or the public.

In the last session of Congress it appears that some gain was made with the defeat of the Administration's plan. Had it gone through, farm prices would have been raised and the government would have instituted more controls over farmers.

Shortly after the bill was killed, the word from Washington was out that the new Congress would again drive hard to pass the same legislation. But something apparently has happened, for Agriculture Secretary ORVILLE FREEMAN has indicated that he will let the matter rest.

It seems to us that this is a sound decision as it will allow the farmers to work their land and market their own crops without fear that they will be judged guilty of some infringement and heavily fined.

As the legislation now stands, it is a break for the taxpayers. Under the Administration's bill, higher subsidies would have come about, which naturally would have forced our food bills up. The issue is far from being completely closed. The present system of farm subsidies is costing $3 billion a year. And without a doubt, this adds to the retail cost of all food and clothing.

Most farmers are not satisfied. They have at least staved off any more restrictions, but they still have some old restraints. The government still has the whip hand and can dump grain on the market to depress prices; the farmer can do nothing.

Our supported prices are too high. The American farmer can produce many crops at lower prices. The new Congress should pass only farm legislation which leads in this direction.

Treasury May Regret Diary Idea

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Treasury may rue the day it ever mentioned the idea of keeping an "expense-account diary." For, judging by the talk that's being heard nowadays, the Treasury may actually lose hundreds of millions of dollars of revenue that it has been collecting heretofore, because the taxpayer now will avail himself of every tax deduction to which he is entitled. . . . Maybe when all the tax deductions are added up, the Treasury will wish it had never made such a fuss about expense accounts and had centered its attention instead on ferreting out those who were really cheating. . . . Checking expense account items is likely to be a big headache and miffy easily cost the government more than it takes in as a result of the new check-up.

It was pointed out by Massachusetts officials that many of the children are Jewish and hence do not celebrate the birth of Christ. . . . This is a ridiculous reason. Jewish children celebrate their holidays as Yom Kippur, Rosh Hashana and the Passover. These are impressive traditions and Christian children would be better off if teachers or visiting rabbis explained their meaning. Pointless Aid The Baltimore Sun

The rough handling of foreign aid by the Congress, which cut the Administration's request by $1 billion, is the signal for study. It is because many advocates have developed doubts. . . . The prime worry is that this immense outpouring is the direct cause of our balance of payments deficit and the chronic drainage of gold. Most sober advocates of foreign aid draw the line short of this. A foreign aid program must be held within the nation's means.

Not even this is defensible if it fails to accomplish its purpose. Aid that leads neither to political advantage, nor the strengthening of our security, nor the improvement of the aided nation, is pointless. Insofar as it seeps off as private gains for our strengths, undesirable elements in the aided nations, it is worse than pointless.

The President's new committee is a strong one. General Clay, outstanding and European black, are advocates of foreign aid yet share the doubts mentioned above. They will not be content merely to act as a cheering section.

Still more important, this committee is intended to be a continuing body. Something like that has been badly needed.

Season's Hat Fashions Accent Personal Taste

'Cavalier', features sleek and sure leopard stenciled on deep pile plush to form this suit cloche. Its fashion silhouette is underscored by a banding and bow of cascade green silk grosgrain. Bar-priced from $6.95 to $12.

Hat fashions for this season are individualistic. Colors, textures and silhouettes are a personal matter. No stereotype is imposed on the smart woman who wishes to express a mood or her personality—to be her most attractive self.

So say the fashion experts. The hat completes the look and well-dressed women always wear hats to complement their clothing ensemble.

The world's fashion taste for furs continues to grow and a single fur hat is never enough. This season, frankly, fur is often trimmed with the real thing.

A wealth of mink is every imaginable mutation—as well as fabulous fox, sable, leopard, chinchilla and other rare pelts—go to smart women's heads. A collection of fur hats can give new status to many a fashionable wardrobe.

Many ladies demand the important finishing touch of fur originals. But for the fashion-conscious woman with a limited budget, there are copies of higher-priced originals which will fool all but the most expert eyes.

Hat experts tell us that to color closest to the face, hats are often designed in lighter or brighter tones of the costume color. Because hats are an essential component of the total ensemble it is more important than ever that the hat be chosen with the costume in mind and vice versa.

Even the simplest shapes and neutral tones do not make a basic all-purpose hat. But the wide variety of styles, colors and materials offers a choice for every face shape and wardrobe combination.

"Mr. John", internationally-recognized as one of the world's leading fashion originators, has created a line of hats to fit every woman's budget, while retaining that "haut couture" look of individuality.

Here are featured but a few of the many hats from his recent collection. There are hats in every price range and for every occasion.

A champagne portrait silhouette named 'Palais de L'Elysee' features a pouf of diamante white hatter's plush molded into this dramatic sailor and spiced with garlands of diamonds draping the crown and diamond encrusted cascade green velvet band. Approximately $175.

Gives Something of Self

Teen Gets Thank You

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In these days when everyone is so eager to knock the teen-agers, I want to tell you about an experience I had with one.

She is a 14-year-old neighbor girl who has sat with my children many times.

A few days before Christmas I gave her a little gift. On Christmas Day I found the following note in my mailbox:

"Dear Mrs. Blank: I have no money to buy expensive Christmas gifts but I want to give you something, so this letter is good for one evening's baby-sitting. Love, Gloria" trim if they want to get a man and hold him. So they pass up bread and desserts and count calories like crazy.

But how about the men? You don't see them passing up a bottle of beer or anything good to eat. They aren't even ashamed.

They stuff their faces and let their stomachs hang over their trouser tops. Who wants to kiss a walrus anyway?

HUNGRY: A lady walrus. Now eat something, dear, you'll feel better.

DEAR ABBY: I am a school teacher. Each Christmas I receive many gifts from students. Some good and some not so good.

This year I received several things in poor taste, among them a pair of earrings with large multicolored stones. They were hideous and I gave them to my wash woman.

The other day the mother called me saying her daughter gave me "those lovely earrings" by mistake and she wanted them back. I told her I would "look for them," hoping she would forget it. She didn't.

My friend says that you are not an old maid as long as you are still looking; you just haven't found the right person yet. Sign me.

WONDERING: DEAR WONDERING: Technically, an old maid is a maiden lady who has never married. Maiden ladies have been known to marry at 80.

Your friend is right. Until a lady gives up and quits looking, she is not an old maid.

DEAR NEEDS: The child obviously gave you the earrings without her mother's knowledge.

Buy another gift for your "wash woman" and explain the situation to her. Then, next time a child gives you a gift, "thank" the mother.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend and I had a discussion about how old you are before you become an old maid.

My friend says that you are not an old maid as long as you are still looking; you just haven't found the right person yet. Sign me.

WONDERING: DEAR WONDERING: Technically, an old maid is a maiden lady who has never married. Maiden ladies have been known to marry at 80.

Fox of Wayne. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Taylor C. Phillips of Stirling Avenue. Rev. Hilding Dahl performed the candle-light ceremony.

Georgia Fox, her sister's maid of honor, wore red taffeta. Bridesmaids Jeanne Phillips, Maureen Bishop and Sandra Huber wore green taffeta.

Best man was Duane Johnson with Tony Higdon, Sonny Chancery and Ronald Hais as ushers.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the Knights of Pythias hall.

Must Give Gifts Back if Troth Off

By the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: I think your advice that a girl must return all engagement presents when her engagement has been broken is very unkind.

I can see this when no engagement party was given, but I think that when there was a party at which the guests were wined and dined at a great expense to her family, she should be allowed to keep these presents "in payment," so to speak, for an evening's entertainment.

Answer: Engagement presents are given because of affection for the bride-to-be, not in payment for entertainment and must be returned when her engagement is broken.

Q: My daughter was ill for several weeks and as a result missed much of her school work. Her teacher has been keeping her after school every day for an hour helping her to catch up with the others.

I appreciate her taking the time and trouble to do this and would like to show my appreciation in some way. This is not being paid extra for this and I wondered if it would be proper to send her a check.

A: Rather than a check, it will be better to send her a very nice Christmas present with a note thanking her for her kindness in tutoring your daughter.

Q: When several women have an engagement to dine together in a restaurant, some of them coming from some missed much of their offices, shouldn't the first comers wait in the lobby until all have arrived before going into the dining room?

Last evening, I had a date to meet some friends for dinner. I was the last one to arrive and when I got to the restaurant the others had already gone into the dining room.

A: They should have waited for you unless you were as much as 15 minutes late in arriving.

Standards Mute at Arraignment in Murder

OAK PARK — Manuel Barris, 45, of 24050 Condon Ave., Wednesday stood mute at his arraignment on a first-degree murder charge before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem in Pontiac.

Barris is accused in the fatal shooting of his partner in a laundry machine business, Leo Brandisky, 46, of 24831 Seneca Ave.

Brandisky was shot in the Oak Park office of Paul Baker, a certified public accountant, who told police the two men were trying to agree on a price at which one could buy out the other's interest in their business, the Hughes Laundry Machine Co. of Dearborn.

Brandisky's wife Mae has filed a $500,000 lawsuit against Barris in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Mackie Snipes at Con-Con

Snips Ribbon for Freeway

'New Document Would Wreck Road Program'

DETROIT (AP) — Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie blasted the proposed new state constitution yesterday at ribbon cutting ceremonies opening two miles of the new Southfield Freeway.

Mackie said the document produced by the recent constitutional convention was "a step backward" that might "wreck the highway program."

Yesterday's ceremonies opened two miles of the new freeway under the three-way intersection with Fenkell and Grand River. The span was built at a cost of $6.7 million. The federal government pays 50 per cent of the cost.

The new length of freeway is part of a route that will shoot north from I-94 to the intersection of Northwestern (1,696 business spur and an extension of the John C. Lodge) and nine mile Road.

The $40 million freeway will be finished next fall.

Later, in a prepared speech at a suburban restaurant, Mackie said the proposed new constitution would tear out three mainstays of highway progress.

He claimed it would "water down" the "rigid earmarking provision" which says the highway funds shall be used for highway purposes only.

Mackie said the proposed document "tamper with the civil service provisions of the present constitution in a manner which is alarming" and would jeopardize the positions "of a large body of competent, hard-working civil service employees."

Finally, he said it would replace Michigan's system of electing a state highway commissioner with a setup in which the Women's Society of Christian Service is scheduled for 6 p.m. at the church-school building at the corner of Buffalo and Church streets.

The annual New Year's Eve party in the north wing of the church will follow the dinner. There will be dancing, refreshments and entertainment until 1 a.m.

He added it would jeopardize the "the record of accomplishment" achieved by "direct election of the state highway commissioner by the people for whom he is working."

Firemen Seeking Belated Yule for Homeless Family of Eight

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The fire department here today began a drive to provide a belated Christmas for a family of eight who lost all but the clothes on their backs when fire gutted their home on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Havens and their six children were watching television Tuesday evening when their oil stove, burning oil donated by the township Goodfellow, exploded and burst into flame.

Within an hour the rented house, was gutted by the blaze which caused the family's possessions as well as its Christmas spirit to go up in smoke.

Each of the six children, ages 4 through 11 had received a pair of new shoes from the local Goodfellow.

Only shoes saved were those worn by the youngsters when they fled from the burning house.

STAYING WITH NEIGHBORS

The Havens are now staying with the neighbors living at 429 Alberta St. From there they can see the charred remains of their former home at 590 Alberta St.

"They were in had shape before the fire started," Fire Chief Carl Schingek said today. "Havens is looking for a house to rent but won't have any furnishings for it even if he does find one he can afford."

Wixom Gets Report on Sewer Plans

WIXOM — A detailed report on plans for a proposed sewer system was presented to the City Council last night by a Birmingham engineering firm.

Hubbel, Roth & Clark, Inc., which had been contracted to make the sewer study late last summer, was complimented for completion of the report ahead of schedule at a brief meeting last night.

The report will be studied by city officials before further discussion is held on the sewer plans, according to City Clerk Mrs. Pearl Willis.

ple to aid the family," Schingek said. "This family is destitute. The father makes less than $50 a week installing brake linings."

The Chief estimated the damage to the house at $2,000 and $1,000 on its contents. There was no insurance on the contents, according to Schingek.

He asks anyone interested in providing aid to the family to contact his department.

Sheriff's deputies said the pair also admitted some 13 other burglaries of Rose and Highland Township homes from which they took television sets, power mowers and other articles.

Johnson's mother, Grace Johnson, 47, of 6383 Maybree Road, Independence Township, was injured Saturday night in an auto accident on Grange Hall Road near the Genesee County line, according to deputies.

Mrs. Johnson is in critical condition at Hurley Hospital and is not expected to live, they said.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Albert, 55, which collided with one driven by Claude H. Smith Jr., 24, of Lake Penton.

Judge Ziem will sentence the two men Jan. 15 following a presentence investigation by the probation department. They were released on $100 personal bonds.

2 in Hospital After Collision

Three Catholic nuns were injured when a car in which they were passengers was struck by another car yesterday in Pontiac Township.

Listed in fair condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital were Sister Eunice, 63, and Sister Roseanne, 58, both of Flint. A hospital spokesman said they received possible head injuries.

A third nun, Sister Laura Marie, 25, also of Flint was treated at the hospital for minor injuries sustained in the crash and released.

The driver of the car in which the nuns were passengers, Verina B. Cole, 40, of Flint, said she was backing out of a driveway onto Walton Boulevard when struck by a passing car, driven by Mrs. Howard Fields, 37, of 2763 Walton Blvd.

Neither driver was injured, according to the sheriff's report.

Farmington Area Set for Special Education

Oakland County is expanding its special school program for children with severe behavior problems, it was announced yesterday.

The Oakland County Board of Education voted yesterday to underwrite construction of three special education rooms in the Farmington School District at a cost of $53,133.

All three rooms — two at School and one East Junior High School — will be used for children in the adjusted study program. The children have severe behavior problems.

Outside Oakland County, only three other school districts — Livonia, Wyandotte and Ann Arbor — have similar programs for these children.

Dr. Paul Thams, county director of special education, says these children are too poorly adjusted to function in regular classrooms.

Similar programs are being operated in five other districts in the county: Pontiac, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Hazel Park and Walled Lake.

Farmington Public School District will conduct and maintain special education programs in these three rooms for a period of 15 years.

Furnishings, cost of operation and teachers' salaries will be paid by the county under state special education provisions.

The contract between Farmington and the county stipulates that Farmington will accept nonresident special education pupils as assigned by the county without tuition charge.

Police Holding Clue to Hit-Run Death Car

Police believe the hit-run car which struck and killed a father of five in Bloomfield Hills last week is a 1950 Oldsmobile which had been repainted a light, mist green.

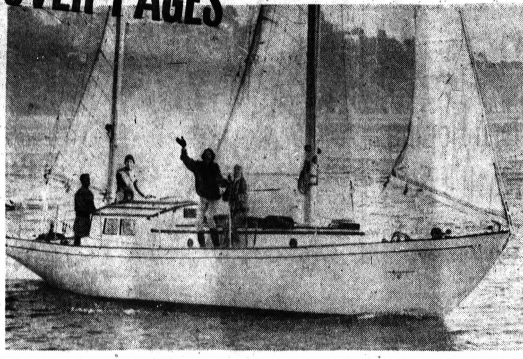

Identification of the car was obtained by an analysis of paint samples found at the scene of the accident, Bloomfield Hills Police Capt. Walter Sluiter said today.

The analysis, Sluiter said, was completed yesterday by the Michigan Crime Detection Laboratory, operated by the State Health Department in Lansing.

Killed in the accident in the early morning hours of Dec. 19 was Melvin Litrich, 39, of 29100 Spoon St., Madison Heights, a waiter captain at Kingsley Inn.

The hit-run car, apparently repainted over its original light blue finish, also may have a rusty rear bumper, Sluiter said.

Revive Duke-Nazi Squabble

LONDON (AP) — British papers divided today in their reaction to a revival of the charge that the Duke of Windsor — while Britain's king for less than a year — wanted to make a personal deal with Hitler.

The Daily Express published the story that the Duke of Windsor, then Lord Beaverbrook, again defended the former King Edward VIII.

The Laborite Daily Mirror scathingly derided the Duke. The liberal Guardian said the new report only showed how stupid the Nazis were.

The perennial argument was revived by publication by the British, American and French governments of captured Nazi documents kept secret since World War II.

DOCUMENT QUOTES The documents showed that a mysterious German envoy — identified by other sources as the German duke of Coburg — reported to Hitler after an interview with Edward VIII.

"A Germany-Britain alliance is for him an urgent necessity and a guiding principle for British foreign policy."

"To my question whether a discussion between Baldwin (Stanley Baldwin, then British prime minister) and Hitler would be desirable for future German-British relations, he replied in the following words:

"Who is king here? Baldwin or I myself wish to talk to Hitler and will do so here or in Germany. Tell him that, please."

The duke also reported to the Fuehrer that the king had "spoken well" of Rudolf Hess, the Nazi leader who later parachuted into Scotland during World War II.

With the publication, old antagonists reformed ranks and debated the dusty questions — did Britain lose a potentially great king when Edward abdicated in 1936 for the love of an American divorcee?

Or would he have been a puppet of Hitler?

The former king at his home in Paris had no immediate comment on the new documents. His secretary said he was studying the texts.

But in the past, when questions about him were raised by published Nazi documents, the duke has denied there was anything improper in his connections.
