Curtain Rises on Giant GM Motorama

GM Unveils Fantastic Stage for Motorama Car Exhibits

PONTIAC ON DISPLAY — Not content with a dazzling array of fabulous cars, General Motors has added another wonder to its Motorama, opening in New York today. It is a flying turntable stage, on which a Pontiac is shown above. On turntables at the tip of five hydraulically-operated cantilever arms, cars swing dramatically into view 13 feet in the air above the stage, and then into position just over a 900-foot artificial lake, which is part of the stage. Britain Considers Asking U.N. to Intervene in China

LONDON (AP)—Britain disclosed today that she has consulted with the United States and New Zealand on a possible move in the United Nations to obtain a cease-fire in the China fighting.

A Foreign Office spokesman, replying to a reporter's question, said the proposal "was one of a number of possible changes of action which we have discussed with the United States and New Zealand in the course of exchanges over recent months."

"But no decision to carry it out was taken," the spokesman added.

President Eisenhower said at his news conference yesterday that he would like to see the United Nations use its good offices to halt the shooting war between Red China and Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese forces on Formosa.

At Hong Kong, the Jebshun Shipping Co reported today that the 1,717-ton British vessel Edendale was sunk last night by unidentified planes in the Chinese Communist harbor of Swatow, due west of southern Formosa.

In Singapore, Britain's naval headquarters for the Far East renewed its warning to all British ships trading with Red China to keep clear of Chinese coastal waters.

At Taipei, Formosa, Nationalist China today asserted its guerrillas were still clinging desperately to their fingerhold grip on battered Yikiangshan, two full days after Peiping radio trumpeted the tiny outpost had fallen to Communist invaders.

There was no official indication of the size of the holdout force, but it was believed to be small.

Yesterday the Nationalist air force prowled along some 300 miles of the southeast China coast and the Defense Ministry said at least 17 Red ships were sunk and five damaged. Most of the ships were small.

'Be Kind to Husbands' Theme Set for Week

DANVILLE, Ill. (UP)—The man of the house will come into his own this week. It's "be kind to husbands week."

A week-long series of special events will be topped off with a dance Friday night. The lady of the house is expected to escort her husband to the dance, open all doors, light cigarettes and provide him with the other polite amenities usually afforded women.

However, the husbands must obtain written permission from their wives to attend the various functions.

INVASION TARGET?—Map locates Chinese Nationalists' Tachen Islands (A) and Pishan (B), likely invasion targets of Chinese Reds. More than 200 Communist planes hit the Tachens today.

Cold Weather Invades Florida

Freezing Temperatures Across U. S. Follow Mid-South Snowstorm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow tapered off over most of the country today but moderately cold weather continued in nearly all sections.

Freezing weather again today extended southward to Atlanta while in northern Florida, Cross City reported an early morning low to 36. Temperatures were mostly in the high 40s in southern Florida and southern Texas.

Coldest readings, zero and 5 below, were in Wisconsin and Michigan. Temperatures moderated a little across the plains. It was generally below freezing in most of the west except in the far Southwest and near the Pacific.

The Weather Bureau reported today that the major storm track across the country for the last two weeks has been consistently farther south than normal. This has brought an extensive snow belt across the middle sections of the country from the Rockies to the Atlantic coast while there are considerable bare spots farther north.

Snow measured 1 to 5 inches deep across Kansas and Missouri. From Tennessee and Kentucky Eastward to near the Atlantic snow was on the ground with depths ranging up to about a foot in the mountain areas.

Boston Convicts Defiant as Prison Gets Explosives

BOSTON (INS)—A large quantity of high explosives was delivered to embattled, ancient Charlestown State Prison today, but was taken to a nearby armory on orders of prison officials.

An ordnance officer, who accompanied the explosives, brought to the prison in an Army staff car, said cryptically:

"There's enough here to blow out a whole wall at Cherry Hill."

City Shoppers Will Be Jolted by Siren Howls

If you happen to be shopping in downtown Pontiac about 1 p.m. Saturday don't be surprised if you get jarred—physically and mentally—when the new civil defense air raid siren goes off.

Should you be on a street within several blocks of the Pontiac State Bank Bldg., on which the big device is located, chances are you will feel as well as hear the mighty blasts from the 180-horse-powered siren.

One Pontiac office worker happened to be in downtown Detroit recently when the siren atop the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel sounded.

He reports his chest started vibrating when the siren reached the peak of its shrieks.

Besides, being near the source of the big sound can be mighty irritating to the ears. It probably will be the biggest manmade noise yet heard in Pontiac.

Hope of a possible end to the two-day holdout of the four prisoners, holed up in the Cherry Hill solitary confinement wing, was shattered as they pledged they will die rather than surrender.

The note of defiance was struck by Fritz Swenson, convicted Boston cop-killer, as the siege entered its third day. Swenson, an equal partner in the rebellion with Theodore Green, bank robber and escape artist, gunman Walter Balben, and Joseph A. Flaherty, rapist, told his brother:

"We're going to stick it out. They'll kill us anyway. We have enough ammunition to hold them off."

Swenson told his brother, Russell, who came to the prison to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

New Yorkers Flock to View Dream Vehicles

Pontiacs Draw 'Ohs' and 'Ahs' as Throngs See Waldorf Spectacle

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher Pontiac Press

NEW YORK — Well, this is it.

There will be automobile shows in many cities, of course. In fact, GM's Motorama hits a glorified sawdust trail itself, but the current offering here at the Waldorf Astoria, right in this vast citadel, stands unchallenged as the real piece de resistance.

This is the show-down. General Motors takes the rubber band off the most gargantuan of all corporate bank rolls and experts pour it on. They have a field day. Wednesday afternoon's affair was a preview and they unfurl the flaps on the main tent today.

This means the guys and gals from Gotham, the most worldly populace in the world according to its own self-appraisal, will form queues four blocks long to see this GM extravaganza.

Wednesday's audience consisted of a medium sized army that came through invitation. It would probably fill Wisner Stadium but it's a social event. Park Avenue's there. But it's business, too.

There are leading executives from New York and other cities. Also, it's a quasi-public huddle of the interested, the curious and those who come to see and be seen.

There are lots of suppliers. The press is always present. So are radio and television. There are photographers, and flash bulbs pop all over the place. There are models and show people.

There are assorted singers and dancers and if you mounted the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Best Year Reported by Federal Savings

Biggest year in its history was reported by the Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn. at its annual meeting Wednesday. Total assets increased 6 1/2 per cent to $6,054,277.23, a gain of almost a million and a half dollars.

President R. C. Cummings reported total savings deposits of $5,246,296.48, a gain of 21 per cent, with 5,245 individual savings accounts.

Interest paid shareholders totaled $86,881.82. New loans also hit a new high, averaging $221,000 a month. Total loans closed topped 1953 by $1,453,821.54.

Shareholders were informed the association hopes to occupy its new main office building at 761 W. Huron St. by mid-year. It will continue to operate two branch offices, one in Rochester and the present main office on E. Lawrence street, which will then become a downtown branch.

Present officers and directors were reelected.

'Slaughter Hill' Leveling OK'd

Broomfield Says Work on M24 North of Orion Will Begin Early in '56

Widening of M24 north from Lake Orion to the Oakland-Lapeer County line will begin early in 1956, State Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) told the Pontiac Press today.

Broomfield said he received the commitment from State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler during a conference this morning. The senator approached Ziegler on request of citizens of the Lake Orion-Oxford area. The work is expected to include leveling of "Slaughter Hill," the dangerous hollow a mile north of Oxford.

Completion of the project will see M24 widened from two to four lanes all the way from Mt. Clemens street in Pontiac to the north county line.

The stretch from Opdyke road to Lake Orion is scheduled for widening starting this spring, with the widening from Opdyke on into Pontiac to follow in 1956. Cost of the whole project has not been determined as yet.

"Ziegler assured me his department will let contracts for the work from Lake Orion north this year and start construction as early in 1956 as possible," said Broomfield.

Pontiac Chilled by 10-Degree Temperature

The coldest weather of the year hit Pontiac and vicinity today when the mercury plunged to 10 degrees above zero at 6 a. m.

By 10 a. m. the temperature reached 18 and by 1 p. m. it had climbed to 30. Yesterday temperatures in downtown Pontiac ranged from a low of 14 to a high of 25 degrees, with snow flurries most of the day totaling .01 of an inch.

The U. S. Weather Bureau says it will be warmer tomorrow. The forecast is for rain probably mixed with snow as temperatures rise to a high of 32 to 36. Tonight is expected to be cloudy with a low of 18 to 22 degrees.

Message Paints U.S. Economy in Glowing Light

President Gives Strong Promise of Tax Relief Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, in his economic message today—

1. Reported recovery "well under way," foresaw 500-billion-dollar output by 1965.

2. Gave strong promise of tax relief next year. None this.

3. Cautioned that stock speculation or labor strife could damage prosperity.

4. Called for a 90-cent minimum wage, higher jobless pay.

In a glowingly optimistic economic message, Eisenhower gave virtual assurance of a "general, though modest, reduction in taxes" in 1956, made possible by a broad business recovery now in process.

He wagged a warning finger at the soaring stock market, declaring that "continued economic recovery must not be jeopardized by over emphasis of speculative activity."

The government, he said, will meet its "great responsibility" to prevent a financial boom-and-bust.

Picturing the present as a time of industrial expansion, he said labor strife often increases in such periods with "serious economic repercussions."

The report, third and last of the major presidential messages, urged the states to increase the amount, duration and coverage of unemployment compensation and called again on Congress to raise the minimum wage from 75 to 90 cents.

He discouraged the proposals of labor leaders and some Democrats for a wage floor of $1 or $1.25 an hour. The 15-cent increase, he said, is all that can be "economically justified." A higher minimum might cause lower production and substantial unemployment in several industries.

He proposed, however, that Congress consider extending minimum wage protection gradually to 30 million workers not now covered.

These were among 33 recommendations in the 207-page report. But Eisenhower stressed that government's role—in helping to achieve the 40 per cent production rise needed to reach a 500-billion-dollar annual output of goods and services in 1955—will be primarily that of encouraging private initiative, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Russians Free Missing Soldier

Pvt. Verdine Released After 5 Years in Soviet Prison Camp

BERLIN (AP)—Pvt. William A. Verdine of Stark, La., was released by the Russians in Berlin today after five years of Soviet captivity, including a long stretch in Vorkuta prison camp.

Verdine is the third American to come from Vorkuta this month. The Soviets, according to repeated requests, turned loose John H. Noble of Detroit, and Pvt. William Marchuk of Norristown, Pa., on Jan. 8.

Verdine has been listed by the Army as missing since 1949. He had been stationed with the 14th Armored Cavalry at Coburg in West Germany, not far from the American-Soviet zonal frontier.

The soldier was reported at various times in Russian prison camps by German and Austrian repatriates. Noble, on his release here, said Verdine was not in good health.

The army announced in mid-afternoon that Soviet authorities had turned Verdine over to U.S. liaison officials in the Russian headquarters in East Berlin.

The army added that Verdine is in military custody and will remain there during an inquiry into the circumstances of his disappearance. The soldier faces a possible court-martial for being away without official leave or perhaps desertion, unless he can prove that he blundered into the Soviet zone through no fault of his own.

In the meantime, the soldier will be given a complete medical examination.

$900 Million Expenditure Urged in Next Six Years

Williams Submits Sweeping 24-Point School Aid Program to Joint Legislature

From Our Wire Services
LANSING — Gov. G. Mennen Williams called today for a history-making, multi-million dollar expansion of Michigan's public schools, colleges and union colleges to absorb a "tidal wave of students" during the next five or six years.

In a message prepared for delivery in person to the legislature this afternoon, Williams said $750,000,000 worth of construction will be needed for elementary and secondary schools in the next five years.

He recommended state expenditure of $150,000,000 in the next six years for new construction at state colleges and union colleges.

More taxes will be needed, Williams indicated.

This was the program submitted personally to the Legislature by the governor today at a joint session of House and Senate:

Seeks Federal Aid in School Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five billion dollars in federal money for school construction over the next five years would be provided under legislation proposed today by Rep. Bennett (R-Mich.).

States and local communities would be called upon to match the federal funds to make a total building program costing $10 billion.

Bennett, in a statement, said the nation is short 350,000 classrooms and the problem "is far too big for the states to handle it alone."

1—A constitutional amendment pledging the state's full faith and credit to a bond issue of unspecified amount for local school construction.

2—Legislation permitting state trust funds and other reserves to be invested in local school bonds, where other means of financing are unavailable. Interest rates would be high, he said, but would aid those schools unable to get other financing.

3—State help in obtaining the best advice on school plans, especially standardization of buildings.

4—A legislative request to Congress for federal school aid.

5—Legislation requiring each school district to certify, through the proper agency, that its buildings and equipment conform to reasonable standards of health and safety. After a reasonable period of time, penalties in school aid should be assessed against any district which continues to use structures failing to meet sanitation and safety standards.

6—Minimum salaries of $4,000 a year for fully certified school teachers and $3,000 for teachers without degrees, plus a penalty in state school aid for schools failing to meet these rates.

7—Coordination of the pension plans for state employees, out-state teachers and Detroit teachers.

8—Increasing school employment to a maximum $2,400 annually.

9—Extension of federal social security benefits to teachers in addition to their present pensions.

10—Limiting state aid to schools which maintain a "reasonable" ratio between teachers and pupils—possibly 35 pupils per teacher the first year, 34 the second year and an ultimate 30.

11—A special state school aid allowance of $1,000 to schools for each fully certified teacher hired at the required minimum salary.

12—Recodification of school laws to simplify annexations, bonding plans and provide a more equitable base for school tax-assessments.

13—Legislation requiring districts which operate no schools to combine with operating districts within, say, three years.

14—Elimination of state tuition payments to districts as an encouragement to district mergers.

15—Removal of discrimination on state aid for transporting pupils to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Health Center Report Expected

Supervisors Will Hear Details of $270,000 Building Project

Oakland County Board of Supervisors tomorrow expect to hear a report on proposed construction of a $270,000 health center at the county service center on North Telegraph road.

A joint report on the project is scheduled from the Building and Health committees during the special meeting, beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

The planned health center would provide enlarged and modern quarters for the County Health Dept., according to Highland Township Supervisor Louis F. Oldenburg, who heads the Health Committee.

The Ways and Means Committee has adopted a resolution to be presented to the supervisors recommending that funds be appropriated for the building, Oldenburg said.

As planned now, the structure would provide about 10,000 square feet of floor area. It would be constructed so wings could be added on each side in the future.

The Health Department is now housed in 4,000 square feet of space contained in the old county jail building behind the courthouse at Saginaw and Huron streets in Pontiac.

Of the total cost, about $30,000 would come from federal aid and the rest from the county general fund, Oldenburg explained. An approving vote by the supervisors is needed to get the project under way.

In other action, a report is expected on the proposed incorporation of Southfield Township as a city, which was tabled at the last meeting.

A report is also scheduled on a petition from the village of Ortonville to annex more territory.

The Road Committee is slated to report on progress toward the sale of $300,000 in bonds to finance the county's share of the planned Farmington-Brighton Expressway.

A committee report is expected on awarding a contract for appraisal of county buildings and equipment.

The move is designed to obtain an accurate valuation of county property and determine if insurance coverage is sufficient.

A recommendation is expected from the Ways and Means Committee that the few county offices still remaining open on Friday nights be allowed to close.

Discussion is expected on a proposal that an acting county director of civil defense be employed.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — In satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, following a rear-end auto collision on Maple west of Telegraph Road this morning, are Ellen and Susan Flint, 17 and 15-year-old Kingswood School students.

They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Flint, 6000 Middlebelt Rd., W. Bloomfield. Ellen suffered severe head cuts and Susan received head bruises.

Police said a car driven by Mary C. Kurdell, 5880 Euclid, Birmingham, had stopped to let out a passenger when the car driven by Ellen Flint crashed into it from behind.

GM Opens Curtain on Giant Motorama

dias and asked for a rajah, two authentic numbers from India probably would step one pace forward, complete with turbans. And furthermore, if you called for a strip-tease artist, somewhere in that heterogeneous crowd an expert would start peeling without further inducement.

It's an accurate east coast stand-in for Hollywood's "stupendous" and "colossal." It's super-duper and at times through sheer inadvertence, it's a pushy, bumpy madhouse.

As curtain time approached, all hands were in a final frenzy Wednesday, which is a concomitant part of every New York show. But somehow, everything slides into place at the last breathless minute and the last-gasp polishers are hustled out rear doors with their wiping cloths showing, just as the first guests greet Harlow Curtice.

A short reception line forms at the top of the stairs. Mr. Curtice, smiling, debonair and with an easy savoir faire that becomes him mightily, stands first. He shakes hands with everyone and calls an astounding number by name. Truly, Mr. Big is a capable and splendid representative of Big Business's Big Business.

Next to him are the two executive vice presidents, Albert Bradley is GM's financial wizard and while Mr. Bradley is one of the largest powers in the innermost circles, he isn't quite as well known in Pontiac as his associate, Oakland County's own Louis Clifford Goad.

Mr. Goad bears the distinction of being the only left handed executive vice president in GM history and former Big Ten pitcher still recall what a nuisance he was at the plate for Illinois.

However left handed proclivities didn't put him where he is. Ability did that and you can capitalize all seven letters. Of course Mr. Bradley hit the corresponding high spot through more of the same.

He was born in England but he attended Dartmouth and Michigan. Once past the receiving line, you're strictly on your own. You, faithful and factual reporter has a quick message for the home town boys on the line that built these cars.

Your handwork is getting a tremendous play. All of these Pontiacs are scoring and scoring heavily. There were constant crowds around them Wednesday. They command just as many "Oh's" and "Ah's" as they did at home.

GMC Truck and Coach Division is more of a hot spot this year. In the past, the corporation has restricted the big South Boulevard institution somewhat as this is primarily a passenger car show.

But our own Philip Monaghan contrived to work a minor miracle by wheeling and wheeling a truck into the south lobby of the Waldorf. Right there under the cold scrutiny of the lognettes of Park Avenue's celebrated dowagers and under the surveillance of top business men from all over America, stands this Pontiac product.

It's this new "L'Universelle" which is ten inches lower and ten inches shorter than current panel delivery trucks. Furthermore, with only a minimum of black magic, it becomes a bus, a taxi or a station wagon and they've made it big enough to hold Phil Monaghan's whole family.

No truck in all automotive history has ever been rubbed by so much costly mink or ever been appraised by so great a horde of top flight executives. Score another victory for the Truck and Coach Division.

In the same section of the lobby is one of the new LaSalle's. Even the visionary dreamers struggled to come up with this one. It's only 99 inches long and still more astounding, it's only 33 inches high. Place your hand on top of a yardstick standing straight up from the floor and you're above the top of the body of the LaSalle. Another LaSalle occupies a place of honor in the main ball room.

The ball room holds a Pontiac Strato-Strat, a Cadillac El Dorado, and Olds Delta, a Chevrolet Biscayne and Buick Wildcat. These are the cars of tomorrow and I don't dare mention the colors by name. They defy analysis.

Color is rampant. It's running wild. It takes a robin egg blue, splashed with the radiant red of a summer sunset to command a second look. These cars are brilliant and resplendent. They're beautiful.

It required more than a decade for the manufacturers to pry the public loose from somber, funeral jet blacks. And it took another decade to edge buyers away from strictly conventional reds, blues and greens. But the transition is nearing completion.

This year GM will build enough solid black jobs to supply the undertakers, the white bearded bankers of eighty summers and the boys who are transporting hot goods unseen in the dark of the moon. But that's about all.

Pontiac's star piece is the new Safari. This is a station wagon that will claim tremendous attention. It's only 53 inches high and is one of the most striking models in the entire show. Mr. Critchfield says they expect to be in production some time in February.

Boy Leads Cops on Wild Chase

Police Officer Injured in 9-Mile Race Behind Fleeing Teenager

A 14-year-old Birmingham boy, who authorities said took the family car without permission, led police on a wild nine-mile chase through southern Oakland County and Detroit early this morning.

The chase ended when Birmingham Police Sgt. Richard Brown, one of the pursuing officers, hit another auto at Lahser road and Grand River avenue.

The boy and a 13-year-old companion stopped the car a short time after the accident at the Cranbrook and Maple road intersection.

Sgt. Brown gave chase when he spotted the two boys driving from a parking lot behind the Birmingham High School.

Brown raced down Lahser road in pursuit but was cut off by the youthful driver each time he attempted to pull the car over to the side of the road, police said.

The two youths were released to their parents and will make statements to the police today.

Brown will be x-rayed today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, for chest injuries he received in the accident. Everett P. Sewell, driver of the auto struck by Brown, was not hurt.

Ike Sees Growth of U.S. Economy

curbing monopoly and avoiding encroachment on industry.

Most of the specific recommendations underscored requests made in the earlier State of the Union and budget messages. Eisenhower asked Congress to:

Promote foreign commerce by extending for three years the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, with presidential power to reduce tariffs by as much as 15 per cent.

Postpone the cuts in corporation and excise taxes scheduled for April 1. By next year, Eisenhower said, rising revenues and further federal economies "should make possible another step in the reduction of taxes."

Take action "this year to help meet our nationwide needs for school construction." The President again did not specify the kind or amount of federal aid he has in mind. A special message will be sent Feb. 15, he said, dealing with "appropriate" plans.

Give the President power to tighten credit terms and increase down payments on federally underwritten mortgages when inflation threatens, and relax the terms when real estate activity slacks off.

Authorize 35,000 public housing units in each of the next two years, and increase the mortgage-insuring authority of the Federal Housing Administration.

Sharpen the teeth of the Sherman antitrust law by raising "substantially" the maximum fines.

Extend the program of small business loans which expires June 30, and increase the lending authority.

Let the government put 25 billion dollars, largely raised by bond issues of a proposed independent authority, into a 10-year, 100-billion-dollar highway construction program in partnership with the states.

Increase the ceiling on the national debt. The limit now is temporarily at 281 billion dollars and is being crowded; on June 30 it reverts to 275 billion.

Provide additional funds to finance city and state planning of public works, and for operating a new "office of coordinator of public works" in the White House.

Expand the Commerce Department's program for helping depressed areas and ailing industries.

Criminal Cases Set for February Being Reviewed

A review was begun today of 130 criminal cases now slated for trial in the February term of Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge George B. Hartrick and Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor will hold pre-trial conferences with each of the accused or their attorneys.

"Many persons, who first plead innocent, immediately change their plea to guilty when they appear in court for a jury trial," Taylor explained.

"In the pre-trial conference, the case is reviewed and each individual given opportunity to change his plea then, instead of waiting for a jury to be assembled and a trial date arranged."

Many persons change their plea, said Taylor, lightening the jury trial docket and preventing unnecessary assembling of juries.

Sees Few Foes of $500,000,000 Road Bond Issue

"Few, if any, of the Michigan state legislators seem outwardly opposed to a $500,000,000 bond issue to finance a large-scale road building program," Oakland County's State Senator William S. Broomfield said today.

"However, we want all the facts before asking the people to vote on the bond issue," he added. "I'm vitally interested in knowing what Oakland County can expect to gain from it."

A group authorized to make a study of state road needs by the Legislature is expected to report in mid-February, the senator stated, "and we expect to get more details soon on the proposed multi-billion-dollar federal highway program."

After the two reports are in, a quick decision will probably be reached on submitting the bond issue for a statewide vote April 4, he added.

Troy Township Girl Hurt in Car Crash

A 16-year-old Troy Township girl suffered a broken leg yesterday when the car she was riding in went out of control on 16 Mile Road, and hit a tree.

Patricia Ann Dula of 1730 Beech Lane Rd. was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Driver James Green, 17, of 1950 Boulan St., Troy, received a cut chin.

St. Troy, received a cut chin. He told police something went wrong with the steering. Green was ticketed for failure to have an operator's license. He said he borrowed the car from Viola Aspinwall of 61 Cutting St., Troy Township.

They claimed to have 450 rounds and those who visited the cell block said they had the ammunition stacked on tables and had at least three pistols and possibly a shotgun.

schools by paying two-thirds of the actual cost.

16—More money for the state tax commission to help local assessors in obtaining more local tax funds for schools.

17—Increased state aid to junior colleges from $130 per pupil to $225.

18—State funds to pay communities half the cost of expanding junior colleges, possibly combined with a central state authority over junior colleges.

19—Legislation permitting adjoining counties to combine in supporting one junior college.

20—A six-year $150,000,000 construction program for state colleges and universities, starting with 25 million dollars this year, at least 20 million dollars a year for the next five years and five million dollars for junior colleges and Wayne University.

21—Six million dollars more this year to operate the state colleges and universities.

22—A million and a half dollars from state school aid money for driver education in the schools.

23—A request to Congress to expand the school lunch program, now worth two million dollars a year to Michigan.

24—A request to Congress to continue Michigan's $1,100,000 annual share of the vocational educational program.

In addition, Williams said he had set up a committee to consider the role of Wayne University, a Detroit-financed institution receiving some state help, in state education.

Michigan, Williams said, ranks second among the states in median income per family and is 12th in per capita income. But, he said, it is 33rd among the states in percentage of income spent on public schools.

"To realize this program," Williams ended, "the state will need to find sources of additional revenue, a topic which I shall treat fully in a later message."

Convicts Are Defiant as Explosives Arrive

pled with him to surrender, that if state troopers try to shoot their way into Cherry Hill they will find the five hostage-guards shackled to windows and doors. The brother quoted Swenson as saying:

"If they get us they'll get them, too. We aren't going to kill the guards. We'll shackle them to the windows and doors. The troopers will shoot them if anyone shoots them."

The felons, who are keeping four prison guards and six other inmates as hostages, showed late last night the first signs of weakening in their demands for a "safe-conduct" pass to freedom.

The indication was given to the Rev. Edward Y. Hartigan, the Roman Catholic chaplain at the prison, after they had rejected tearful pleas from relatives to give in.

The hardened convicts themselves, however, continued to issue statements that they would release the hostages only after the state provided a getaway car and guaranteed their flight to freedom.

Fr. Hartigan expressed optimism over the possible end to the minor rebellion after the rebels talked with him and Dr. Samuel Merlin, the prison physician, for an hour and a half.

The somewhat conciliatory talk with the priest and the physician came after a day of defiance and callous refusal to listen to relatives and officials who appealed to the four to surrender.

Some of the tension appeared to be gone from the cell block, where the convicts hold the five guards and six fellow convicts prisoners.

They shouted good-natured jibes at state troopers who edged closer to the bastion in the sub-freezing temperatures.

The troopers replied in kind. Prison officials were puzzled, meanwhile, by the apparently large quantity of ammunition possessed by the convicts.

They claimed to have 450 rounds and those who visited the cell block said they had the ammunition stacked on tables and had at least three pistols and possibly a shotgun.

The Day in Birmingham

Area Group Set to Name Permanent Youth Council

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Having last week released its first major recommendations on facilities needed to avoid a serious area juvenile problem, a nine-member youth committee last night held a meeting of mounds with the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills-Franklin Council of Community Services, to interpret the report.

The main suggestion, that a permanent youth committee be formed by the council to deal with problems of all youth organizations, won unanimous approval.

Charles Kass, council chairman, appointed a group under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harvey B. Greene to name the new committee, probably at a meeting next Tuesday.

The citizens group making the study of area-wide needs were appointed by the council a year ago after other residents expressed growing concern.

Birmingham news is now being handled direct through the Birmingham desk at the Pontiac Press, FE 2-8181.

African Witchdoctor Kills 'Evil Spirit' in Otter Form

JOHANNESBURG (UP)—When word got around among the inhabitants of Johannesburg's Western Native Township that a "tokoloshe" had been killed in their midst by a witch-doctor there was much excitement and hasty offering of prayers.

London Dairy Whips Up Nip With Lottsa Zip

LONDON (UP)—A big London dairy has begun production of an alcoholic milkshake—a potent brew of three parts milk and honey to one part whisky—to sell for the equivalent of 35 cents a four-ounce slug. The lactical liquor was thought up by Brian Laidlaw, a director of a suburban dairy chain, after his firm's fruit-flavored milk scored a big hit with the local small fry.

"We decided that if the kids liked it, their fathers might go for something similar with a kick in it," he said.

After tests, the government gave the dairy a license yesterday. The mixture, called Noggo, will be sold in taverns and liquor stores. It will also come with gin, rum or brandy in place of the whisky.

U.S. dairies have been selling eggnog mixtures for several years but their customers have to add their own liquor. No honey, either.

For, as is well known among all Africans, the tokoloshe (call it leprechaun, goblin, evil spirit or what you will), can assume the shape of a fearsome animal and can easily strangle any man, woman or child it catches.

This particular tokoloshe—brown, furry and about three feet long—was found hiding on the step of a Western Native Township home.

No ordinary human dare tackle it, so the witch-doctor was called and killed it with a "medicine stick."

Excited groups of natives gathered to discuss the killing as the body was taken to the police station. Superstitious Africans carressed their throats as they thought of the strangulation they had escaped.

An official of Johannesburg Zoo later pronounced the carcass to be that of a magnificent otter, strayed from its natural riverside habitat. But the Africans of the Western Native Township know that to be nonsense.

"Whoever heard of a tokoloshe assuming the shape of so harmless a creature as an otter," one said.

A single female house fly can lay 600 to 1,000 eggs in her lifetime.

OAS Proposes No Man's Land

Costa Rica - Nicaragua Border Zone Suggested to Prevent Clash

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (U)—The Inter-American investigating commission today proposed a demilitarized zone be set up along the western sector of the Nicaragua-Costa Rica border in an effort to prevent a clash between the two countries over the rebel outbreak against President Jose Figueres.

The five-nation commission made its proposal in the wake of a protest from Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza that two Costa Rican F51 fighters, on their first mission since the planes arrived Monday from the United States, had veered over Nicaraguan territory yesterday during an attack on the rebel-held town of La Cruz, seven miles from the border.

Somoza, a long-time foe of the Costa Rican president, announced that his own fighters would patrol the border to meet any further trespassers. He told a news conference last night in Managua, the Nicaraguan capital, that the situation could become "an international conflict."

Somoza's protest said he was also reinforcing his border garrisons to meet the "very tense" situation created by the air trespass. The commission, sent here by the Organization of American States, proposed a security zone 18 miles long and six miles wide between Lake Nicaragua and the Pacific. The zone would straddle the border three miles on either side.

Under the plan, planes of both nations would be forbidden to fly over this strip. The southern limits of the zone would be just over a mile north of La Cruz, rebel headquarters in the northwest corner of Costa Rica.

The purpose of the zone would be to limit the area of military action. One person attached to the commission explained it thus: The Costa Rican government forces could chase the rebels as far as the zone limits on their side of the border. The rebels could escape into Nicaragua, but OAS observers would patrol the zone itself while only OAS observation planes could fly over it.

The commission has charged that the rebels were aided from outside Costa Rica. The Costa Rican government has accused Nicaragua of training, arming and supplying the rebel forces, a charge Nicaragua denies.

Commission chairman Luis Quintanilla of Mexico, sent Jorge Maciel, technical adviser of the Brazilian delegation to Managua by air to deliver a copy of the proposal to Nicaraguan Foreign Minister Oscar Sevilla Sacasa.

Another copy was to be handed Costa Rican Foreign Minister Mario Esquivel here in San Jose. The commission has charged supplying the rebel forces, a Figueres, meanwhile, predicted today would see the decisive stage in his government's fight against the rebels in northwest Costa Rica.

Chicago Police Hunt Missing Woman

CHICAGO (U)—Police said today they have asked the FBI to aid in a search for Mrs. Lee Tatham, 31-year-old office manager, who has been missing for a week and may have been kidnapped.

Her husband Harry, a layout artist for the Roeder Studios, said his wife last was seen Jan. 12 when she left work at the Illinois Shade Cloth Co. to obtain license plates for a new automobile. Police said her car later was found in a parking lot near her office.

Police said Tatham reported he had received a telephone call Jan. 13 from a woman whose voice sounded like that of his wife. He quoted the caller as saying: "Harry, I'm being held. They kidnapped me. Don't call police or they'll hurt me."

Road Commission to Present Study

The Oakland County Road Commission has been requested to make a detailed highway-needs study for presentation to the Michigan Automotive Safety Foundation by Feb. 15, according to Road Commission Engineer-Manager Leon V. Belknap.

The report will tell the foundation what work is needed in Oakland County to make roads adequate to handle present and expected traffic volume, Belknap explained.

The foundation is making a stateside roads study for the Michigan Legislature in preparation for a possible public vote April 4 on a $500,000,000 bond issue for highway construction.

Try to Rescue Trapped Horse

Group of Ranchers Now Scaling Icy Peak to Lead Hungry Animal Down

FAIRPLAY, Colo. (UP)—A group of ranchers set out yesterday for the high slopes of Mount Silverheels to rescue a tethered horse trapped above timberline for a month.

No one knows how the horse got caught on the mountainside. Binoculars show that he has grubbed beneath the snow for grass as far as his harness rope will allow. The horse may have been tied there and abandoned, or may have fouled the rope while grazing and been unable to work it free.

The little flat stretch of which the horse is trapped is three miles away from a usable road, and one rescue party was forced to turn back because of snow and ice conditions.

Whether a party could reach the horse today depended on whether wind and temperature turns sufficiently moderate in the frigid high country.

Without food, and now apparently unable to reach the ring of snow lying just outside its tethered reach, the animal must die unless it is freed and led down the mountainside.

Clayton Hill, a prominent rancher who first spotted the trapped horse and is leading the rescue plans, said that if the animal is beyond help it will be shot to save it further suffering.

Death Stops Speeder Police Couldn't Slow

BISHOP, Calif. (U)—Death finally accomplished what traffic officers had attempted to do—stop Leo Reising from speeding.

Reising, a Porterville shoe salesman, lost control of his car on an icy highway about 12 miles south of here last night. His auto side-swiped another, overturned in a field and killed him.

About noon yesterday he got a ticket near Ridgecrest for doing 70 m.p.h. And six hours later he received another citation for traveling 75 m.p.h. near Lone Pine.

Dorothy was reported to have told crooner Julius La Rosa by Her decision climaxed days of conflicting reports on whether she would reconcile with Brown, who recently returned from Army duty in Korea. The reconciliation followed an effort by TV star Arthur Godfrey, acting as cupid in the affair, to bring the couple back together.

Detroit Interchange Worries Experts

DETROIT (AP)—Traffic experts today cast anxious looks at Detroit's spectacular new Ford-Lodge expressway interchange, built at a cost of 50 million dollars to speed up traffic in and out of the city.

Opened partially to traffic Tuesday, the multi-level interchange got its first rush hour tests yesterday morning and evening. It failed miserably as motorists found themselves ensnared in one of the city's worst traffic jams in recent years.

Alerted to the advantages of the expressway system and the interchange, motorists roared by the thousands onto the east-west Ford expressway and the north-south Lodge expressway, anticipating a swift, non-stop ride to the heart of the city.

Glen C. Richards, commissioner of the Department of Public Works, said the jam was the result of publicity and curiosity on the part of the motorists.

"The tieup was caused mostly because a lot of people wanted to try out the interchange," he said.

Seek Shopping Center

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Mayor George Veldman and city commissioners met with property owners on lower Monroe avenue yesterday and heard a request for city help in developing a multi-million dollar shopping center to restore that section of the city's downtown district. Monroe avenue is the city's main street but the lower end has deteriorated as a center of retail trade.

Believe Bar Owner Shot Girl Friend, Self

DETROIT (AP)—Distraught over his broken romance, a Detroit bar owner apparently murdered his attractive blonde girl friend yesterday, then committed suicide, police said today.

A maid found the bodies of Jack Frank Fera, 47, and Sue Marie Myers, 21, yesterday in a room at a hotel in downtown Detroit. Detectives said they had been dead for about 12 hours.

Officers said Fera evidently had shot Miss Myers in the chest, slashed his wrists in an adjoining bathroom and returned to the room where he fired another shot from his .45 caliber pistol into his own chest. Fera's wallet contained $531.

Eddie Cantor Ran for President—Received 6 Votes in 1932 Election

By EDDIE CANTOR

In 1932 a group of people insisted that I run for president. "It was a large and distinguished group consisting of Ida, Marjorie, Natalie, Edna, Marilyn and Janet."

Every member of the family voted, and that's what I finished with—six votes. Not bad for a guy who never finished grammar school.

However in 1956 it's going to be different. I already have the backing of many business groups. Take the druggists, for instance. They insist that I run. It seems they're overloaded with aspirin and feel that with Cantor as president they have a very good chance of getting rid of it.

Industrialists are for me. They applaud my theory of what causes inflation. So simple, too. Here's the reason: You go into a store and you want to buy a nickel candy bar, but you've got to pay a dime for it. Why do they charge you a dime? Because the man who makes it has to pay more for sugar.

Why does he have to pay more for sugar? Because it costs more to grow the sugar. Why does it cost more to grow the sugar? Because it costs more to pick it. Why does it cost more to pick it? Because the man who picks it is getting higher wages.

Why does he have to get higher wages? Because when he goes into the store to buy a nickel candy bar, he has to pay a dime for it.

The first thing I'll do when I'm president will be to change around the map of the world for the purposes of peace. I'll put France where Germany is—I'll put Germany where England is—I'll put England in Holland—I'll put Russia in Egypt. Y'see, all these people would be so busy learning a new language they just wouldn't have time to fight!

GM Motorama Opens With Fanfare in New York City

GREETING STARS — GM President Harlow H. Curtice, greets TV star Audrey Meadows and radio, movie and television star Bob Hope (right) at a special preview of the Motorama last night. Featured in the spectacle are seven GM dream cars, a dream truck and the kitchen of tomorrow. After closing at New York next Tuesday, the show moves to Miami, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Boston.

U.S. Tax Return Error Revealed

Mistake in Schedule K Effects Persons Who Are Retired

A mistake in income tax return Form 1040 which affects retired persons who earned more than $600 in 1954 has been discovered by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service.

A correction on the form was announced yesterday by A. M. Menninger, Michigan district director for the service.

The mistake is in lines 2 and 5 of Schedule K, on page four of the new Form 1040.

As printed, line 2 reads, "Enter here amount shown in line 1 or $1,200, whichever is lesser." The line should read, "Enter here $1,200," since that figure is correct in all cases.

Line 5 reads, "Balance (line 2 minus line 4)." The error here is the omission of the phrase, "or line 1, whichever is lesser."

These two mistakes in printing, the Internal Revenue Service pointed out, could lead a taxpayer to computing his tax due at too high a figure.

The Internal Revenue office in Pontiac at 53 1/2 W. Huron, has announced that tax accountants are on duty there each weekday to assist persons filing returns.

Anyone who needs help in making out his income tax return, or who desires information on the return or any other tax problem, may visit the office or telephone Federal 2-6208.

Psychiatrist Urges Sports Participation

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP)—Americans are becoming too "gladiator-minded," according to a University of California psychiatrist.

Dr. Frank Tallman, at the university's Los Angeles Medical School, pointed out that thousands of Americans sit watching football, basketball, boxing and wrestling or see such contests on television.

This is not too good, according to Tallman, because we take part in sports only as spectators.

"Direct participation in some form of group activity rather than just in the role of an observer would be a much healthier form of recreation," he said.

"More active participation in recreation would ease some of the tension of modern living."

The UCLA psychiatrist suggested that many parks and playgrounds are not as good as they could be.

"Public parks are really too neat," Tallman said. "They might be better with plain dirt and less grass to keep off."

More Fun to Eat Out

PLEASANT HILL, Calif. (U)—Poochie ate most of his meals at the home of neighbors, Stella and Howard Walte. So they asked his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hakel, for the dog.

The Hakels agreed but now the Waltes never see Poochie. He went back to scavenging meals from his original owners.

Sheppard to Join Family at Burial of Father Today

CLEVELAND (U)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard joins with his two brothers today for the second family burial in 10 days—the third in six months.

On a snow-flecked knoll overlooking a lagoon in Sunset Memorial Park, the 31-year-old Samuel, Dr. Richard A. Sheppard will be placed next to his wife Ethel, who shot herself to death Jan. 7.

The eldest of the osteopath family died Tuesday night of a serious respiratory ailment. His sons said he "lost his will to live" after the suicide of his wife, who left a note saying she "could not go on without Dad."

Shackled to a deputy as he was at his mother's funeral, the youngest son, 31-year-old Samuel, will be taken under guard to a Lakewood mortuary, and later to the cemetery, 10 miles away.

Both his parents were ailing during his nine-week trial for the July 4 bludgeoning murder of his pregnant wife Marilyn. Sheppard is appealing his second-degree murder conviction.

The Rev. Alfred C. Kreke, pastor of the Bay Methodist Church, officiates at the private services today. It was the Rev. Mr. Kreke who delivered the funeral sermons at the rites for the young osteopath's mother, and six months ago, for his wife.

The family requested that the time of the services be kept confidential to prevent crowds of curious onlookers from appearing. Several hundred persons clustered near the cemetery when the elder Mrs. Sheppard was buried.

Besides the convicted osteopath, his brothers and their wives, only a small group of close relatives and some doctor friends are to attend.

Similar bacteria were also isolated from frozen asparagus, Brussels sprouts, broccoli and cauliflower. None of the organisms so far observed in frozen vegetables has any significance from a public health standpoint, Dr. Hucker added.

He added that he understands both Chicago and Philadelphia are offering each party $250,000 and that Philadelphia has indicated it would furnish its Convention Hall free.

Dem Convention Choice Between Chicago, Philly

WASHINGTON (U)—Choice of a site for the 1956 Democratic presidential nominating convention appeared today to lie between Chicago and Philadelphia.

Chairman Paul M. Butler told newsmen after a Democratic National Committee meeting here yesterday he will name a site committee within the next 10 days. He said a suggested Aug. 27 starting date seemed to have general approval.

Butler made it clear the Democrats intend to pick their own city. He said, however, they will "not indulge in novelty for the sake of novelty" by deliberately placing the convention in a city other than that chosen by the Republicans.

In recent years, the two parties have been meeting in the same city and sharing some of the costs. Butler said that when the Democrats choose their site, it will be on the basis of the best facilities offered for delegates and representatives of the press, radio and television.

He added that he understands both Chicago and Philadelphia are offering each party $250,000 and that Philadelphia has indicated it would furnish its Convention Hall free.

GLITTERING ENTERTAINMENT — Lovely dancers whirl on artificial lily pads on a 900-square-foot pool of water, part of the unique stage upon which a Broadway musical review is presented as a feature of the General Motors 1955 Motorama. Above the dancers, a 26-piece orchestra plays music especially written for the show. The Motorama is open to the public in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel through next Tuesday.

PUBLISHER VISITS PREVIEW — Visiting R. M. Critchfield, GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division at the special preview last night were Pontiac Press Publisher Harold A. Fitzgerald and his wife. Besides the dream cars, regular production models of each of GM's auto divisions are on display.

New Policy Will Shorten Patients' Stay

Thanks to a policy of trimming "unnecessary" days from a patient's stay, Pontiac General Hospital last year reduced the average number of patient-days while increasing the number of patients treated.

In releasing a compilation of 1954 statistics yesterday, Lauretta Paul, hospital director, explained the policy stemmed from acutely crowded conditions at the hospital.

As a result, 15,198 admitted patients spent a total of 89,193 patient-days in the institution. (A patient-day is a day a patient spends in the hospital. One patient spending six days would make six patient-days.)

These totals compare with 14,791 admissions in 1953 for a total of 89,826 patient-days.

"Efforts continue to be made to have beds available for emergency cases and what appears to be unnecessary stay in the hospital is carefully checked," Miss Paul said.

Occupancy in the 198-bed city medical institution averaged 207.4 patients per day in 1953. Percentage of daily occupancy dropped to 104.7 from 106.9 the year before.

pected to continue until construction of a $3,000,000 addition approved by taxpayers in November is completed. Initial paper work is under way on the project, which is expected to add 150 beds.)

A bumper crop of babies broke the hospital's all-time yearly birth record. In the 12 months, 2,960 births were recorded. November was the high month with 259 bouncing newcomers.

The number of outpatients treated in the emergency section totaled 21,200, an increase of nearly 1,800 over 1953.

Reflecting the drop in number of days spent at the hospital by the average patient, the number of meals served dipped to 374,100 from 392,517 the year before.

The hospital's total operating income for 1954 totaled $2,570,237 and its total operating expense was $2,569,447, Miss Paul reported.

Despite being in the black in operations, the hospital showed a net loss of $16,734, due chiefly to bad debts, the director said.

At that, the loss was down from the $19,780 deficit recorded for 1953. Percentage-wise, the bad debt write-off was down from 3.5 of the operating income in 1953 to 2.9 in 1954.

Mystery Veils Bomb Slaying

Police Refuse Comment on Booby Trap Death of Texas Woman

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (U)—Deepening mystery today veiled the booby trap bomb death of attractive Mrs. Harry E. Weaver, wealthy wife of a prominent architect and geologist.

Mrs. Weaver, 52, was killed yesterday about 8:30 a.m. as she set out for a local hospital to visit her ailing mother.

A Houston businessman, questioned following officers' long conferences with Weaver, was accompanied to the Harris County Court House by Texas Rangers and sheriff's deputies and his two small children.

Four Rangers accompanied the man and the children back to their home in a well-to-do section of Houston. Neither he nor officers would discuss what took place in the long session behind locked doors.

Officers would not answer questions either about the man's identity or any other development in their hunt for the person or persons who planted the nitroglycerine bomb in one of the Weaver automobiles.

Tom Green County Dist. Atty. Aubrey Stokes said no arrest warrants had been issued. He refused to comment about possible suspects but did say he was working with information furnished by Weaver and other members of the family.

Weaver, 60, said he was in the big, old-fashioned home of Mrs. Weaver's mother, Mrs. Ralph Harris, when the blast occurred outside. The architect and his wife formerly lived in Houston. In recent years they resided on a show-place ranch 23 miles north of here and maintained an apartment in San Angelo.

City May Hire Students as Parttime Traffic Cop

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (U)—Here's a new gimmick for college students looking for an after-school job and some extra cash. City Commissioner Stanley J. Davis says he's drawn up a plan which would authorize students at the city's two colleges to ticket cars parked overtime at parking meters.

Davis said the plan would release members of the police force for more important duties.

Says U.S. Changing Policy on Red China

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said today it appears the United States "is changing its policy" toward Communist China. Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said he is not ready to say a shift is in the making.

Mansfield, avoiding any expression of approval or disapproval of what he called "an apparent degree of further recognition of the Red Communist regime," said in an interview:

"We seem to be shifting in part the responsibility over the Formosa situation to the United Nations. Up to now we have been the sole arbiters."

Both Mansfield and Knowland serve on the Foreign Relations Committee. Knowland, the GOP leader, has disagreed with some aspects of administration policy in the Far East.

Ambassador T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China's chief delegate to the U.N., said in a New York speech last night the Chiang Kai-shek government on Formosa "will never bind its hands by U.N. resolution or any other method."

Attorney General Pledges Legal, Efficient Service

LANSING (UP)—Thomas M. Kavanagh, new Michigan attorney general, says he wants his department run on a strictly legal basis, with no special or secret favors to government officials or private corporations.

Kavanagh, who was elected in the Democratic sweep of last Nov. 2, already has banned so-called "letter" or "off-the-cuff" opinions which are not recorded or kept on file.

"I picture my department as a large law office giving service to state officials and the people of Michigan," Kavanagh said.

"As such, I want it run on an efficient, legal basis."

From now on, all legal opinions will be a matter of record and kept on file, he said.

Kavanagh, a 44-year-old attorney from Carson City who has practiced law for 23 years, also said he intends to eliminate requests for opinions from unofficial agencies or private corporations.

Requests for attorney general's opinions must come from government officials or agencies. Probably the closest link between the attorney general's office and the public is the county prosecutor who is eligible to seek opinions.

As an example of his desire to "serve the public more fully," Kavanagh points to his recent decision to intervene in a long-standing dispute about strikes outside of Michigan preventing jobless workers in the state from collecting unemployment compensation checks.

Kavanagh said he received no outside request or pressure to enter the case but was doing so "as a public service to have a policy definitely established."

Kavanagh has about 54 assistant attorneys general and special assistants working under him. Some of these assistants are assigned to various departments to advise on legal questions involved in departmental operations.

As a long range plan, Kavanagh said he would like to have all of these assistants housed under one roof—in the attorney general's department. Many of them now have offices in the departments to which they are assigned.

"There may be a tendency for the assistants to go into policy matters of the various departments if their offices are located within the departments," he said. The attorney general said he wants the assistants to steer clear of policy matters and rule only on legal questions.

Navy Plane Reported Down in Pacific Ocean

HONOLULU (U-P)—The Hawaiian Sea Frontier reported last night a Navy PBY was presumed down at sea somewhere between Johnston and Kwajalein islands in the central Pacific after radioing an SOS.

The plane normally carries up to seven men, but a Navy spokesman said it was not reported how many were on the missing craft.

Planes were being readied to sweep the area and two vessels were diverted to search.

Fleet of Ships Run Afoul of Shores and Shortages

NORFOLK, Va. (U-P)—Got troubles?

Consider the plight of one Norfolk shipping company operator, who has one ship ashore at Bermuda, another out of fuel and being towed in, two out of fuel and awaiting bunkers in Bermuda, two others returning to the Azores because of fuel shortages and all others running 3 to 10 days late.

There were 388,000 divorces in the U.S. in 1953.

Millionaire Helps Actors Shed Physical Liabilities

NEW YORK (INS) — The girl had a big talent, everyone agreed on that, but it wasn't big enough to make people forget the birthmark that splashed like a bitter berry stain across her face. She was going nowhere in show business.

Then, six months ago, the millionaire heard about her. The average man might have said "tough" and let it go. But this was an unusual man, as will be pointed out in a moment, and so within three weeks the girl was out of a hospital with a new, flawless face.

The plastic surgeon who removed the berry stain had even trimmed down her too-full nose.

Today the girl is on her way, getting second billing in a famous musical show. Her name can't be revealed because only two handfuls of friends know that she was once homely, and she would rather keep it that way.

But the millionaire must be exposed because most of the wonder that touched her also touched him, and now he wants to perform more and fancier miracles.

"Show business is tough enough to break into, without having the added problem of a physical handicap," explained Dr. John Myers in a brusque, don't-call-me-a-Santa-Claus kind of voice. "I am a theater lover and a TV fan, and I have money to spare. What is more logical than my helping people with talent and troubles?"

So the simple give-away offer of the day is this: Anyone with show business talent and a physical liability—be it a crooked nose, a speech defect, a correctable posture problem—is invited to state his case. If it is worthy, Dr. Myers will pick up the tab for whatever medical repairs or transformation is required.

He doesn't want, personally, to meet his would-be beneficiaries, however. "I might be tempted to judge, myself, which would be worthy of help and which would not. Since I really know very little about show business, I'm not qualified to do that," he says.

Anyone applying for the free Cinderella offer, therefore, must contact Clarence Derwent, producer-president of ANTA (American National Theater and Academy). Derwent will decide who is deserving. John Myers will foot the bills.

Footing the bills is an old habit with the good doctor. For years he has been doling out dollars surreptitiously, like they were so many hot potatoes to be gotten rid of as rapidly as possible.

On the surface, Dr. Myers is a graying, 55-year-old businessman with a wife and two daughters (one of them is the rising red-haired starlet, Tina Louise) and a pleasant apartment on 5th Ave. His title, "Dr.," is legitimate. He was a prominent oral surgeon in London until, protesting the socialized medicine aspect of doctors' practices, he came to the U. S. in 1933, and became vice president of the American Flange and Manufacturing Co., Inc.

Before he knew it, what with investments on the side, he was—in a neat, unspectacular way—filthy rich. So he set up a John Myers Foundation to distribute his excess money. Art is Dr. Myers' hobby, so one way the foundation gets rid of money is to donate 20 full art scholarships annually to young talents.

It also contributes to more than 100 charities, and is responsible for bailing more than 200 minor offenders out of jail, finding them jobs and seeing to it that they have every chance to become respected members of society.

But of all his charities, Dr. Myers is most excited about the idea of helping theater folk.

"As a former surgeon," he explains, "I look at people in the Tree Wins Court Fight Over Hanging Branches

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—A tree won a state supreme court battle here and saved itself from destruction.

The tree is a 40-foot high catalpa growing on the property of Mrs. Pearl Winstel. Neighbors contended that the tree had become a nuisance, its branches damaging a garage roof and its roots causing cracks in the garage wall and floor.

The neighbors brought suit to have the tree removed but an official referee, Paul J. Batt, ruled that "it is the law that overhanging branches, not poisonous or noxious in nature, are not a nuisance per se."

TV in 1880—Almost

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP)—Three men named Ayton, Perry, and Carey invented a sort of television set in 1880, according to General Electric researchers. Their camera had a lens and a bank of selenium cells. It almost worked, too.

Cites Growth by Township Governments

LANSING (UP)—Joseph A. Parisi Jr. of Kalamazoo, president of the Michigan Township Association, told his delegates yesterday just how big township government in Michigan is.

He said a survey made by the three-year-old association showed that almost 80,000 persons participated in township government, either on a paid or volunteer basis. He said:

There are 16,735 elected officials in the 1,374 Michigan townships and 19,546 appointed officials.

There are approximately 801 regularly organized volunteer township fire departments with 20,250 firemen and 1,015 pieces of equipment.

There are 164 township police departments ranging from those with one cruiser and an officer to those with 15 patrol cars and 60 officers.

There are more than 14,500 full-time and part-time township employees in more than 600 townships.

More than 7,500 citizens serve on township election boards. "I wonder if the critics who have referred to us as 'horse and buggy' every took the trouble to get some of these facts," Parisi said.

It is estimated that it requires at least twice as much power to crank a gasoline engine at 10 degrees temperature as at normal summer temperatures of 80 degrees or more.

Last Resting Place

WEST SCARBOROUGH, Me. (UP)—When Roy Waterman set aside a quiet plot on his 100-acre farm as a burial ground for the family's pets, he didn't realize it would become an institution. Friends from all over southern Maine have been burying their deceased pets in the plot on the bank of a brook near a stand of pine.

SNOWBALL PEAKS—Here is a fresh, new dessert idea to brighten menus of the winter season. Made with marshmallow frosted cupcakes from the grocery store, this is a quick and easy dessert to prepare. You'll like serving it to both family and guests.

Snowball Peaks Brighten Menu

Snowball Peaks are a quick dessert to make to brighten winter menus.

This delectable dessert begins with cookbook quality pink snowballs, one of the many 10 cent treats available at your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department.

When you see snowballs in their transparent wrappers, you see petal pink marshmallow twins covered with fine-shredded coconut. When you cut into them you find luscious chocolate cake all the way through.

To make Snowball Peaks, cut tops from snowballs, slanting the knife toward the center. Lift out the "peak." Fill the centers with chocolate pudding, either your own, made from your favorite recipe, or one made with a pudding mix, or one of the new instant puddings.

Fill well, letting the pudding run over the sides of the snowball. Press "peaks" into place, peak side up.

You'll find Snowball Peaks such a good tasting dessert and so eye appealing that you'll choose it for many guest occasions as well as family meals.

Theresa Butts to End 50 Years of Court Service

LAPEER — Fifty years of service to the courts of the state will end Feb. 1 for Miss Theresa Butts, court stenographer for the Tuscola Lapeer 40th Judicial Circuit since its inception in 1916.

On that day the woman, so long a familiar part of the courtroom scene, will retire.

Miss Butts, who before 1916 worked in the Lapeer - Oakland County Circuit, has no specific plans for the future. She will, however, continue to do stenographic work for the Justice and Probate Courts, a county appointive position.

During her many years as court stenographer, Miss Butts has served under the jurisdiction of eight circuit judges.

Last week, 62 members of the bar associations of Tuscola and Lapeer Counties, with their wives and several honored guests, paid tribute to Miss Butts at a testimonial dinner in Lapeer. She was presented with a double string of pearls and a travel clock in recognition of her work.

Disabled Child's Future Brighter

Wayne Educator Tells Pontiac Group of Need for Special Education

"Teamwork — with parents, teachers, nurses, physicians and vocational rehabilitation workers cooperating — is the answer for the child who needs special education."

Thus spoke Dr. John J. Lee of Wayne University Wednesday night before a public meeting on special education. It was sponsored by the Pontiac Area Chapter of the International Council for Exceptional Children.

Speaking in the Lincoln Junior High School Auditorium, Dr. Lee forecast a brighter picture for the physically and mentally handicapped child by the year of 1965.

"There is immediate hope for a child in this county who is exceptional and cannot function as do normal boys and girls," he said.

Pointing to the recent action taken by Oakland County whereby a millage increase will establish and operate special education programs and facilities for handicapped children, Dr. Lee said this county set a precedent for the entire nation.

"It is noteworthy that the pioneering in this program began here," he said.

He stated that this was a definite sign of the awakening of public interest which is a vital force in the operation of a special education program.

An encouraging sign, too, he said was the new recognition of the role vocational rehabilitation plays in educating the exceptional boy or girl.

Dr. Lee serves as advisor for Wayne's special education department and also is on the advisory committee for elementary and secondary education in the U. S. Office of Education.

Township Association Blasts Equalization Ruling

Supreme Court Decision Scored

Restoration of Power to Local Units Sought by Resolution

LANSING (UP)—The Michigan Township Association struck back today at a State Supreme Court decision which ordered state equalization of local property valuations instead of county equalization.

The Association's convention adopted a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to "restore to local taxing authorities the power to determine valuations and the function of equalizing valuations." The resolution did not specify the wording or type of constitutional amendment desired.

The resolution also urged legislation requiring the State Board of Equalization to accept county equalized valuations as correct unless an objection was raised by another county.

The State Board would function only as an appeal body to act on disputes between counties.

The 600 delegates elected State Rep. Roy H. Brigham (R-Battle Creek) as president after Leonard Broquet, Redford Township, withdrew from the race.

Other officers elected were: Julius Sutto, Saginaw, first vice president; John Ryan, Houghton, second vice president; Louis Vos, Wyoming, 3rd vice president; Helen H. Reese, Waterford, secretary; and Leo La Pointe, Branch, treasurer.

Joseph A. Parisi, Jr., of Kalamazoo, executive director of the association said townships should give serious study to such proposals ahead of a $300,000,000 highway bond issue, more money for public schools and a revision of the state constitution.

An all-lace jacket covered the strapless bodice of her dress, which featured a fitted waistline and full skirt. A seeded pearl bandeau held her veil of illusion net, and red rosebuds and white carnations composed her bouquet.

Ruth Ann Jarvis was her sister's maid of honor, and Marie Cassada was the bridesmaid.

Wayburn Koyle served as his brother's best man. Ross Cornell of Dewitt, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, was the attendant, and ushers were Jack Hutton and Joe Gwin.

Sir Winston Adds Bird to Chartwell Menagerie

LONDON (INS) — Sir Winston Churchill, an ardent animal lover, has a new pet—a tiny love bird. The bird named Toby occupies a place of pride among the black swans, dogs and goldfish at the premier's country home, Chartwell, in Kent.

While the weighty problems of state rest heavily on Sir Winston's shoulders, Toby, the "friendliest of creatures" often cheerfully perches himself on his famous master's shiny, bald head.

Farmers Offer Eggs for Free

Irate Poultrymen Picket Agriculture Department, Hand Out 240 Dozen

WASHINGTON (INS)—Disgruntled poultry farmers dished out free eggs in front of the Agriculture Department today in protest against what they consider the government's failure to aid their industry.

About 25 members of the Eastern Farmers Union from New Jersey, in effect, picketed the department briefly in a demonstration against low egg prices.

Their mood apparently was reflected by one picket's sign which said philosophically: "We are going broke anyway; take some eggs."

Skeptical at first, passersby caught on after a while. From then on it was first come, first served as a large woman in a red coat dished out 240 dozen free eggs.

A few daring Agriculture Department employees darted out to the sidewalk to claim a share of the booty. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson hadn't returned from testifying before the Senate Agriculture Committee when the picketing group showed up.

Marriage Vows Spoken in Saturday Church Rites
ROCHESTER — St. Andrew Catholic Church was the scene Saturday of the wedding vows of Louisa Mary Merlo and Armand Felix Codere.

The bride is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eligio Merlo of 407 E. Third St. Mr. and Mrs. William Codere of Lake Linden are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride chose a white satin gown with a basque bodice and a lace over satin Queen Anne collar. The long sleeves came to points over her hands.

Sister of the bride Mrs. Robert Codere was the matron of honor, and her husband served the bridegroom as best man.

Louis Merlo, brother of the bride, seated the guests.

A wedding breakfast followed the 10 a.m. ceremony. After a trip in Northern Michigan, the couple will live in Rochester.

Proposed Seal of Quality Getting Lukewarm Start

LANSING (UP) — Gov. Williams' proposal for a "seal of quality" for Michigan farm products is getting a lukewarm reception among agricultural experts.

The plan, outlined in his introductory message to the legislature, provides for inspection and labeling of quality products.

Rep. George A. Gillespie (R-Gaines), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, says he will introduce a bill today to establish the seal of quality.

The bill is identical to measures introduced several times before, Gillespie said. Previous bills have been killed in committee.

Gillespie said he would introduce the bill as a "feeler" to get reaction on the proposal.

Stanley Powell, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau, said his organization is "not antagonistic" to the seal of quality idea.

"But we've discovered very little interest in it," he said. "I've certainly received no mandate to get busy and promote it."

William Brake, master of the State Grange, said the proposal "has merit, but the difficulty lies in policing it."

"The State Department of Agriculture is doing an excellent job of inspection on farm products but they need more manpower," he said. "We'd certainly back that."

Miles Nelson, chief of the department's Marketing and Enforcement division, said the bill would allow voluntary subscription to the program by producers.

"This bill has got teeth in," he said. "Another good feature is that it won't cost the public any money. Producers will pay for inspection in return for the prestige of the seal of quality."

Advances Made by Feed Grains

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Feed grains made small advances but the rest of the grain market eased on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1/4 lower, March 2.29 1/2; corn 1 1/4 to 1/2 higher, March 1.54 1/2; oats 1/4 to 1/2 higher, March 1.19 1/2; soybeans unchanged to 1/4 lower, January 2.80 1/2; and hard 2 to 2 1/2 cents a hundred pounds lower, January 2.12 1/2.

Worm Ranching Full-Time Job

New York Man Feeds Half Million Livestock in Cardboard Corals

BALISTON SPA, N. Y. (UP)—Howard Albring buys mollusks in 100-pound sacks, with which a million hungry mouths to feed.

Albring used to work on a radial drill at a locomotive plant in Schenectady, but now he's a rancher—a worm rancher.

His corals are cardboard boxes and his livestock consists of 500,000 worms. Albring feeds them, breeds them, and sells them to fishermen and farmers.

What started as a hobby became a full-time job when the factory laid him off two years ago.

"Night crawlers"—bought from local kids—are hard to breed, Albring said. He is now raising "giant reds" to compete with them.

The giant reds are giants only when compared to other worms—"red wigglers," for instance, the common, garden variety of worm.

Most of Albring's livestock are the red wigglers, and it is for them he buys the 100-pound sacks of mollusks. When the worms are fat and tender, he packs them in small boxes and sells them to week-end crowds.

Worms lay eggs. In about a month, the eggs hatch and two to 20 worms come out. It takes them another month to turn from white to red.

In about half a year the worms are ready for sale—or for Albring himself, a confirmed fisherman.

Poor Ex-Teacher Revealed Giver of $50,000 Fund

SCRANTON, Pa. (U.P.)—The secret donor of a $50,000 scholarship fund at Lehigh University was revealed yesterday to be a retired school-teacher who subsequently sought a part-time job to make ends meet.

The university announced yesterday that the donation had been made in 1936 by Henry A. Kemmerling with the request that it be kept unknown until he died.

Kemmerling, 84, taught in the Scranton public schools for 40 years until his retirement in 1934. He died Friday. Recently he had been living on a $100-a-month pension in the YMCA here.

The disclosure of his donation surprised friends. They said that in the recent years he had found it increasingly difficult to live on the pension and that last year he applied for a job as a substitute teacher.

Kemmerling's letter to the Lehigh treasurer said his donation was "in appreciation of the education that I received at Lehigh."

Diggers Seek Gold From Dream Clue

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (U.P.)—Two young boys rushed breathlessly into police headquarters with an ominous report.

On the outskirts of the city, they had stumbled upon two men digging a hole in the ground. One of the men pulled a gun and ordered them away. Armed policemen came to the scene.

The men explained that they were looking for gold. One of them had seen the exact location of buried treasures in a dream. At last report, the treasure hunters had given up the search.

Compliment May Result in New Hat for Mamie

WASHINGTON (INS)—If Mamie Eisenhower gets a hat in the mail one of these days, it may be the result of a hint dropped by Democratic Sen. Robert Kerr. Kerr ended a weekly newsletter to the home folks in Oklahoma by reporting that when wives of college presidents were received at the White House recently, the first lady held up the line several minutes by exclaiming to one woman, "My dear, that cute hat! Turn around and let me see it." Kerr, who said that he heard of the incident from an Oklahoman in the line, added: "I don't know if the lady will send her hat to Mrs. Eisenhower but when the President admired my tie, I sent him one just like it." Rainfall in Seattle, Wash., averages 58 inches annually.

Predicts 70 Pct. Boost in College Enrollment
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Dr. J. Paul Leonard, president of San Francisco State College, predicts that by 1970 the number of young people attending college in the U.S.

may have increased by 70 per cent. Leonard, speaking before the colleges and universities department of a recent American Home Economics Assn. convention here, predicted there will be 13,600,000 people of college age by 1970. He estimates 3,400,000 of them will be going to college, compared to the present nationwide enrollment of 2,250,000. Gold was first discovered in Colorado along a small stream that flowed into Cherry creek, not far distant from the present site of Denver.

Michigan King Not Forgotten

Beaver Island to Have Permanent Monument to Mormon Leader

ST. JAMES, Beaver Island, (UP)—This historic island in northern Lake Michigan will have a permanent monument in honor of the man who ruled the island as a king 100 years ago, it was announced today. R. P. Hoffmann, Plymouth industrialist, said he has purchased the old Mormon printing house and will restore it as a historical landmark.

The building housed Michigan's first daily newspaper north of Grand Rapids, the Northern Islander, and is the last remaining landmark from the era of King James Jesse Strang, who ruled the island from 1830 to 1836.

Hoffmann said that after the building is restored to its original state, he hopes to develop it into a museum on Mormon history and the history of printing in America. King Strang was a Mormon leader and all of his followers were Mormons.

Hoffmann purchased the building built in 1830, from Francis E. Left for $2,500. Left has been threatening for several years to raze the building to make room for cottages.

Dr. Lewis Beeson, executive secretary of the Michigan Historical Commission, hailed purchase of the building by Hoffmann as "the best thing that has happened to Beaver Island in years."

Beeson said the commission will name a special committee to work with the Beaver Island Historical Society, which will be formed by Hoffmann and other summer and permanent residents of the island, to raise funds to repay Hoffmann part of the purchase price and to finance restoration of the building.

Hoffmann said he visited Beaver Island for the first time last October when he bought some property for a summer home and that while on the island he heard the printing shop was going to be torn down. He said he immediately obtained an option to buy the building.

The newly formed Beaver Island Boat Co. announced recently that it will build a $75,000 luxury ferry to operate between the island and Charlevoix, a distance of 30 miles. The new boat is expected to be a boon to the island's tourist industry.

Most of the work of promoting Beaver Island and its historic significance has been done by persons who live here only during the summer.

The Swiss is one of the oldest flags in Europe, used as early as 1339.
