Sunday morning.

Floods Hit Texas; 25 Missing, 2 Dead

LAMPASAS, Tex. (AP) — A flash flood smashed through this central Texas town last night, leaving 25 persons unaccounted for today by Red Cross figures. It virtually destroyed the business district and damaged 150 homes.

Two persons were known to have drowned. The Red Cross hoped most of the 25 missing on its list would turn up later. The area was being searched for possible bodies.

New downpours struck Lampasas and nearby areas this morning and rain still fell at a late hour. Most of the flash flood had receded, but the fresh rains brought fears of new flooding.

Lampasas is about 130 miles south and slightly west of Fort Worth. It is a rich agricultural area and has 4,689 population.

The flood hit when a levee broke under an estimated 7 inches of rain. Water from Sulphur Creek poured 6 feet high into the business section. Burleson Creek water joined the flood.

High water also ripped at other parts of the state in a new onslaught of heavy rains.

RAIN STARTED APRIL 18

The first flood producing rains of the spring occurred April 18, and there has been little relief since. About 30 persons have drowned in floods, 9,000 or more have evacuated their homes at one time or another, and federal agencies estimated 85 million dollars in damage was caused — and this figure is expected to go much higher.

A near cloudburst closed scores of streets in Dallas last night and drove 100 families from their homes.

The Waco Weather Bureau issued flash flood warnings today on the Brazos and Bosque Rivers in central Texas.

Holliday Creek at Wichita Falls, in north central Texas, was being watched closely—it drove about 50 families from their homes last week.

TORNADOES HIT

Tornadoes struck with varying amounts of damage this morning and last night in scattered parts of Texas, including Garland, near Fort Worth; Weatherford, west of Fort Worth; Crawford in North Central Texas; and near Dallas and between Greenville and Commerce, in East Texas, and near Big Spring in West Texas.

The new round of flash floods began Saturday. Three persons drowned Saturday when their automobiles were washed off highways.

At Lampasas, City Manager D. D. Nixon said "75 per cent of the stock and facilities in downtown business stores has been destroyed on the average."

Some businesses were completely destroyed.

"I'll have to start all over again," Sam Miller, a fairly typical businessman, said.

"The water turned over my gasoline pumps and washed out the inside of the office. The water just gutted my house—five blocks from the filling station — and turned over my practically new car."

No official estimate of damage was available, but it obviously would run into millions.

Probe Report Teamster Boss Asked Favors

Detroit Trailer Head, Insurance Official Face Questions Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers turn today to what they called Dave Beck's "demands" for favors from two businessmen through whom he channeled Teamsters Union funds.

Summoned as witnesses were Roy Fruehauf, president of the Fruehauf Trailer Co. of Detroit, and A. M. Burke, head of the mortgage loan department of the Occidental Insurance Co. of Los Angeles.

The committee already has heard evidence that Beck lent 1½ million dollars of Teamster funds to the Fruehauf Foundation when Fruehauf needed more capital to cope with a proxy fight.

The loan since has been repaid with interest.

Other witnesses have said that Beck later called on Fruehauf to arrange for a $200,000 loan to Beck personally from the Brown Equipment Co.

This was at a time when the Internal Revenue Service was looking into Beck's income tax returns and when, the committee contends, Beck began repaying with borrowed funds $320,000 it says he had misappropriated to his own use.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said Fruehauf would be asked about this and what he called "other demands" by Beck after Beck had authorized the big Teamster loan.

He said Burke will be asked about reports concerning "demands" from Beck after the Teamsters Union had placed a million dollars worth of insurance with Occidental.

The committee has heard testimony that Occidental agreed to buy $50,000 worth of mortgages a month through the National Mortgage Co., a Seattle firm in which the committee contends Beck held a financial interest.

The committee said the summoning of Fruehauf and Burke "should not be interpreted as meaning that necessarily there was any wrongdoing on their part."

Plan to Appeal Equalized Share

Northville Tells Board That Its Levied Sum Is Too High

Northville has appealed its share of this year's county equalized valuation to the Board of Supervisors.

The equalization of the city's Oakland County portion "is not equitable" with the surrounding area, supervisors were told this morning in a letter from Northville Supervisor Stanley Frid.

The board ordered a review of the figures.

Frid pointed out the county equalized Northville last year at $508,190, while this year, the figure has jumped to $747,086.

"This is almost an increase of a quarter-million dollars on an area which this year has contributed only two new homes to the tax roll," Frid said, "and on an annexed area, mainly of acreage that was assessed by the township last year at $21,300 and by the city this year at $33,500."

A further appeal to the Michigan State Tax Commission is not immediately planned, city officials said.

Board Says It's Determined to Switch Courthouse Site

On the eve of a legal battle testing their plans for a new courthouse, Oakland County Supervisors reaffirmed their decision to switch the site of the new building from downtown Pontiac to the county service center.

In an informal voice vote, the few dissenting nays heard mostly were from the Pontiac delegation.

The vote was proposed by Harold K. Schone, of Birmingham, special building committee chairman, as a reaffirmation of the board's building plans since 1952.

Trial of a suit blocking construction of the new courthouse seems set to begin on schedule Tuesday morning. Attorneys for both sides agreed today they were ready for the 9:30 a.m. hearing before visiting Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke, of Harrisville.

STATE READY TO INTERVENE

The state also was ready to intervene as a third party representing "the interests of the people."

The Oakland County Taxpayers' League brought the suit against the supervisors last November, charging the board padded budgets and illegally transferred surpluses to a building fund for the proposed new courthouse.

The suit charges the change of locations is illegal. This has been denied by Corporation Counsel Harry J. Merritt, speaking for the supervisors.

Pontiac attorneys Glenn C. Gillespie and William H. Wilmot, representing the league, say the board's methods and plans were without the consent of the people.

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh has intervened, principally he said, to obtain a court decision concerning the year-end disposition of budgetary surpluses.

Judge Dehnke, whose circuit includes Alcona, Iosco and Oscoda Counties, was called in because the outcome directly affects Oakland County's four circuit judges.

He will try the case in the chambers of Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick, who has been assigned by the state to sit as a visiting judge in Jackson County.

Background in the dispute dates back to 1954 when voters approved a bond issue for a new courthouse but twice turned down a tax to pay for it.

Supervisors unofficially interpreted this as a mandate to find the money themselves. They set about doing it.

Bread Cast on Water?

LAMPASAS, Tex. (AP)—Strange sights were commonplace in this flooded city today. In the hard-hit downtown section, flooded by as much as 10 feet of muddy water last night, stocks of every grocery store in town were ruined. There were only 14 loaves of bread left after the flood. These were taken to the First Baptist Church where the Red Cross set up disaster headquarters.

Driver, Pal, 10 Bystanders Die as Racer Hurtles Into Crowds

BRESCIA, Italy (AP) — The fiery red Ferrari of Spanish playboy millionaire Marquis Alfonso de Portago sent 12 persons to their death, including himself and his American driving companion, as it hurtled into crowds lining the route of the Mille Miglia auto race near Mantua yesterday.

Later in the day, the race claimed its 13th victim as Dutch driver Josef Goettgens' car skidded on wet pavemnt near Florence and spun into a road guard. He died of a fractured skull.

De Portago's powerful 3,800 c.c. car was hurtling at 150 miles an hour when it blew a tire and cateened wildly to the side of the road, crushing the two occupants and instantly killing 10 spectators. Several others were injured.

De Portago was the estranged husband of the former Carol McDaniel of Greenville, S. C.

She and their two children arrived in Paris by plane from New York.

The Marquesa said she would arrange burial plans soon.

Edmund Eddy Nelson, a native of Beloit, Wis., was the co-driver. He lived with his wife in Paris, but she had been in New York for the past month so their 2-year-old son could undergo an operation on his leg.

She also left by plane early today for Paris, where her husband's body was being shipped.

Area Warms Up, but Rainstorms Are On the Way

Pontiac residents are enjoying a warm weather trend. Shortly after 9 a.m. the mercury read 66 and was rising sharply to reach the 72 to 76 high expected today.

Occasional thunderstorms tonight and tomorrow have been predicted by the U. S. Weather Bureau at Detroit.

The low tonight will be from 54 to 58 degrees. Tomorrow the high will average 74 to 78, dipping to an evening low of 46 to 50.

Downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 56. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 73.

Detroit Seeks to Halt Decline in Business

DETROIT — Disturbed over the loss of 163 businesses from this city since 1950, the City council is calling a meeting of industrial and business leaders within the next fortnight.

"We must stop this decline," said Council President Louis C. Miriani, "and then try to find ways of attracting new industries to the city."

The City Planning Commission voiced some objections but it was immediately overruled. The council president said expansion space, taxation and parking would be studied first.

Students Assist in Auto Checks

Owners of Safe Cars to Receive OK Stickers in Safety Program

Students from Pontiac's three high schools were on duty this morning, the first day of the annual May Vehicle Inspection Program, to assist in giving the ok stickers to owners of safe automobiles.

The annual auto check is sponsored by the traffic and safety committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the Pontiac police and the Pontiac Automobile Dealers' Assn.

Chairman of the entire program is Paul Merideth.

Five safety-check lanes are set up in the city so autos may pass through the single-file lane and be given a thorough but brief once-over.

Students, who are members of driver's training classes, will man the lanes from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. today through Friday assisted by Pontiac police. From 5:30 to 8 p.m., service club members will conduct the check lanes with the help of Pontiac police reserve officers.

Fifty gasoline and service stations throughout the city will participate in the auto-check.

Keego Harbor, with the help of deputies Steve Navarre and Donald K. Kratt, of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, will also participate in the May Vehicle Inspection Program starting today.

Weather Pro Calls Shots Gazing Into Martini Glass

Help.

Help, help.

We're hoisting the white flag of distress.

A dreary and dizzy weekend has just been written into history.

Wot hoppen?

A year ago, the spring and early summer were signally distinguished by a succession of rainy weekends. They broke all records. Come Saturday and Sunday and the heavens always let loose.

Remember?

Picnics, tennis, golf, boating, fishing and even high class love making were seriously handicapped, if not actually terminated.

It was a damp, dismal period. (And you can drop the "P" in damp).

Comely maidens wept.

Strong men cussed.

Finally, we emerged into a facsimile of the good old summer time, but in August the elements went berserk again and we had more rain in August than we've had in any August since someone said a solemn "requiescat in pace" over Alexander the Great. Great.

This newspaper has only one long range weather forecaster. We refer to our ubiquitous H. Lysander Hanaford. Lysander is hard to corner and a dreary soul as soon as he's long divorced from his martinis. This means he isn't dreary too much, but it interferes with his weather prognostication.

We put it up to him.

"How about the balance of May and all of June for weekends?"

Office rules are adamant so Hanaford poured himself a purely imaginary martini. It slid down so easily he reached for the non-existing vermouth to fashion a second. But we interfered.

"Lysander, kick in and kick now."

"OK," said the wizard. "Beginning next weekend, we'll only have one completely rainy weekend into July. The rest will be good. There's the dope. It's definite. It's final. It's official. Now, who'll loan me the price?"

There you are, boys and girls. Expect nice weekends. You won't be disappointed.

MSU to Study Education Needs

Poll to Guide Planning for Proposed Branch at Meadowbrook Farm

What Oakland County needs in the way of post-high school education will be determined by Michigan State University through questionnaires to be distributed this week through area school systems.

The information will be used to guide the establishment of a branch of MSU at Meadowbrook Farm, near Pontiac, the estate given the university by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wilson of Rochester.

More than 100,000 questionnaires will be given to 10th and 12th grade students in Oakland and Macomb Counties, and to the parents of children in the second, 10th and 12th grades. Teachers and school administrators will be included as well.

The questionnaires arrived in Pontiac and at the two county boards of education today. They have two objectives:

TO SURVEY

1. To survey interest of area residents for education beyond high school; 2. To determine area demands for various courses at the projected MSU branch.

"The survey will be expanded in the summer to reach other adults in this area," reports Dr. Robert Hopper, MSU coordinator for the project.

Birmingham Man's Auto Is Snake's Castle

Driver Bows to Scaly Intruder

If you ever meet Nick Babijof, of 1685 W. Lincoln, Birmingham, don't mention snakes. You're liable to wind up in a prone position.

Babijof is no hater of animals, but he confesses that slithering serpents are not his favorite cup of tea. Just the thought of them gives him a creepy feeling up the spine.

Imagine his delight one day recently when he was driving his car up Woodward and a snake reared its lovely head from behind his dashboard, transfixing him with a beady stare.

By some miracle Babijof brought his car to a rapid halt near Twelve Mile and got out in one big hurry. A frantic SOS to his wife brought rescue, but no solution to his problem.

BEGINS EASTER

The story really begins on Easter Sunday when the Babijoff family had dinner at a relative's home in Ann Arbor.

Their son Dick, 10, went off to a nearby playground and returned with a gift from some of his new-found friends—a three-foot garter snake.

"Can I take it home as a pet?" Dick asked his parents.

NO OBJECTIONS

His mother raised no objections, she can take snakes or leave them, but father gave forth with a loud "no."

Dick placed the reptile in an old potato chip can, minus lid, and, certain the snake could never get out, deposited the can in the family car.

A check an hour later revealed one empty can. The car and vicinity were ransacked to no avail. So the family drove home convinced the animal had returned to his native habitat.

So it was, the next day, that Babijof was favored by a brief encounter with his son's pet as it slithered up through the space between the dash and the windshield.

While waiting for his wife to come with another car, Babijof decided to counterattack and drive the intruder forth.

After all, he reasoned, a man's home is his castle and that applies to his auto as well. Why should he give up a perfectly good car to a

30 Acres Added to Holly Village

Board of Supervisors Approves Annexation at Special Hearing

The Board of Supervisors today approved the annexation of 30 acres of land to Holly Village at a special hearing. The board approved the petition of the village board of trustees for annexation of a parcel extending about a quarter mile from the northwest corner of the village to M87.

Supervisors were told the presently vacant area will be subdivided for new homes.

In other action, the supervisors appropriated $2,000 for grading at the county's central garage in the Telegraph road service center.

They also approved relocating the quonset hut presently used by the Animal Welfare Dept. from its present site at 1200 E. Walton Blvd. to a new site next to the Central garage. Moving costs were figured at $5,000.

A new animal shelter building will be ready in the Service Center area "very shortly," said Harry Horton, of Royal Oak, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee.

Area Youth Wins 1st Place Honors as State Orator

A Drayton Plains youth who represented the Pontiac Optimist Club won first place in the 10th annual Optimist oratorical contest held in Grand Rapids Saturday afternoon.

Ronald Kent Schelp, 15, the son of Army Sgt. and Mrs. Sherwood Schelp, 2736 Bender St., competed against all other local winners in the Optimist's 17th District, which covers all of the lower peninsula.

He was awarded a trophy and an inscribed wristwatch, which will be given him in Philadelphia at the International Convention next month. At the convention to be held June 19-22 he will compete against district winners from the U. S. and foreign countries.

Ronald, a sophomore at Waterford High School, spoke on the topic allotted to all contestants: "Optimism—Our Most Indispensable Asset." He will now go on to try for the international championship awards of $1,000, $750 and $500 scholarships.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What is Saint Elmo's fire?

Sailors and pilots probably know the answer, for they have seen this strange weather phenomenon firsthand but most of us have never observed this eerie electrical event.

Saint Elmo's fire is an electrical discharge, which usually takes place on a plane or boat, but which has been reported to have occurred in swamps and on land, too.

The charge is built up by fog or cloud containing positive electricity and from the atmosphere this positive build-up accumulates in the aircraft or boat, or maybe even on a tall, dead tree in a forest or swamp.

When negative clouds or air passes over, or is entered—if one is moving—the positive charge will discharge with a flash. And before the discharge, light may dance along the windshield of an aircraft, or on the propellor or wings. It may be yellow, orange or blue, and creates a disturbing sight, but is not dangerous.

In the old days, when this strange electrical light was not understood, it often struck terror into the hearts of seamen, since it occurs infrequently and appears to be an ominous warning of fire or disaster.

Pilot Crashes Into Home After Plane Falls Apart

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—A flier's body crashed into a living room yesterday, seconds after a small airplane inexplicably fell apart over a residential section.

"We were sitting there working a crossword puzzle, when suddenly it sounded like the house was blowing up. My daughter screamed and we looked around behind us, and there was the body on the floor, only five feet from us," said Fred G. Thomson, 35, owner of the house.

The dead flier was Willis Allen Wood, 21, Salem, Ore., whose light plywood plane disintegrated over southeast Portland in late afternoon. The pieces of wreckage caused no serious damage.

Wood, an Oregon State College senior, either was thrown from the plane when it began coming apart, or he jumped. He had no parachute.

The body tore a hole in Thomson's roof and smashed a chair in the living room.

Thomson was in the living room with his 9-year-old daughter Connie.

"I thought Fred's furnace had exploded," said a neighbor, I. S. McCoy.

Officials have not determined what caused the plane to disintegrate. The weather was clear and calm. Witnesses said they heard no explosion. Several agreed they heard the engine sputter, and then the wings began coming off. They also said the engine steadied again, and some said it still was going when the fuselage crashed. The plane was estimated to have been 2,000 feet up when it disintegrated.

On Eve of Mother's Day

3 Women Killed in Crash

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — It was the night before Mother's Day. Three young mothers were driving home from an evening out. Two of them had left their husbands playing cards together at a friend's house.

Mrs. Leota June Sherington, 26, of Alto, the mother of three children, was driving. With her were Mrs. Ruth Delores Sherington, 29, of Alto, the mother of a daughter, and Mrs. Lois Marie Slater, 26, of Cascade, the mother of two sons. They were sisters-in-law.

Mrs. Sherington drove the car down the side road and pulled onto U.S. Highway 16 about seven miles east of Grand Rapids.

A semi-trailer truck carrying a four-ton load was moving along the highway.

The car and the truck collided. The car was crushed between the truck and a bridge abutment. The three mothers were killed. The truck driver, Leslie I. Leinweber of Petoskey, suffered minor injuries.

That was about 10 p.m. Saturday night.

At 11:30 p.m., the two husbands had left their card game and were going home by the same route.

They passed the scene of the accident and saw the wreckage, said Frank Sherington Jr., husband of Ruth Delores Sherington, but didn't stop.

"We didn't know anything about it so we drove on," he said.

His passenger was Raymond Slater. Carl L. Sherington, the husband of Leota June Sherington, the driver of the car, was on a fishing trip at Charlevoix.

Speeding Race Car Kills 10 Bystanders

last two years and newspapers immediately predicted new demands would be made in the Italian Parliament to cancel the classic.

The Mille Miglia has been the last big open road race in Europe since the Le Mans race was dropped after the 90-death tragedy in 1955.

This year's race was approved only after officials pledged strict enforcement of safety regulations. Curves along the route were banked with straw bales, police were stationed along the roads to hold back crowds, and the entries cut nearly in half—from 600 to 350.

De Portago, internationally known in bobsledding as well as auto racing, was running in third place behind Piero Taruffi of Italy, the eventual winner, and Wolfgang Von Tripps of Germany.

INFORMED OF STANDING

He had been informed of his standing during a brief stopover at Mantua and gunned his flaming-red car at maximum speed in an attempt to overtake the leaders.

Witnesses said the car leaped over a canal to the left of the highway, crushed several spectators, then careened back over the canal, across the road and into the crowd there. Two of the children killed were struck by a concrete milestone which the car uprooted and hurled into the crowd.

Early today, Hollywood actress Linda Christian, reported engaged to the marquis, arrived here from Rome and went to a church at nearby Cavriana, where the bodies of de Portago and Nelson were lying in state. She declined to make any statement and later drove to Milan.

A friend, Dr. Giordano Lupetina, who accompanied the actress, today said that she wept silently during the drive from Milan to Mantua, near the scene of the crash.

When she saw the wreckage of the car she broke down and sobbed uncontrollably.

He said she picked up the marquis' helmet and stroked it gently and then expressed a deire to see the body of the Spaniard.

'It's the Humidity' Gets Pretty Boring

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (UP) — What do people talk about in elevators?

"Pretty warm"—11 times.

"We're sweating it out today."—2 times.

"Good day for the beach."—22 times.

Dems Conclude 3-Day Meeting

Restrictions on Weight May Be Removed on Many Roads

Top state Democrats concluded a three-day conference in Oakland County Saturday with only one public announcement, concerning seasonal weight restrictions on Michigan highways.

Restrictions will be abandoned "where common sense and sound engineering analysis indicate they can be lifted," said John C. Mackie, who takes over as State Highway Commissioner July 1.

This decision was announced as the conference broke up at the conservation department's secluded Haven Hill retreat in the Highland Recreation Area.

Previously Gov. Williams had announced a decision to call governing boards of all state colleges and universities to a meeting July 16 to develop what he called "a coordinated program for higher education in Michigan."

DEMOCRATS MUM

Democrats were mum about other subjects discussed. The seasonal load limit policy, Mackie said, has not kept up with the improved design of most new Michigan roads.

Blanket reductions in permissible loads "seriously reduced our industrial efficiency in this vital period of the production year," he said.

Commenting on the announcement, Sol Lomerson, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission, saw advantages to a "more flexible" system of weight restrictions.

"However, we should maintain strict restrictions on many of our local roads. They could be ruined by heavy loads in the spring," he said.

Ministers Pro, Con on Graham Crusade

NEW YORK (UP) — Evangelist Billy Graham's coming crusade in New York was defended and criticized from pulpits around the city yesterday.

Ministers in several Unitarian churches were critical. Praise came from Presbyterian, Baptist and Episcopal clergymen.

Graham's six-week campaign to save souls for Christ opens in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. The handsome preacher worked with his 35-member staff on final plans.

A spokesman for the crusade said 250,000 reservations have been made so far for church groups from all over the country to attend.

Tomorrow night 10 churches in the metropolitan area will hold all-night prayer meetings to ask success for the crusade.

Graham, a Baptist, arrived here Saturday. He said his single aim is to "reach the unchurched."

As for sin in New York, he said: "If New York has more sin than any other city, it is because there is more New York."

Board Reaffirms Courthouse Plans

is being contested. Supervisors say it mainly was accumulated through surpluses, sale of county lands, regular county revenues and the .1 mill levied under law for building purposes.

The surpluses, they say, were accumulated through normal, prudent budgeting, not through padding.

Many supervisors point proudly to their plans for a pay-as-you-go courthouse that doesn't cost any extra tax-money.

If the legal entanglements were cut, they say, additional funds through sale of lands could be quickly gathered and the whole sum spent for the first $2-$3 million section of the proposed $4.5 million building.

The second controversy reflects the interests of groups that want the courthouse to stay where it is, handy to the downtown area, versus the conflicting stand that a new courthouse should be built in the spacious service center area.

The actual proposal to shift the courthouse site is being challenged, as well as the legality of the annexation of the Service Center area to Pontiac, the county seat.

Meanwhile, legislation is pending in Lansing that could affect the whole picture.

A Senate-approved bill that would legalize all the county's financial moves is expected to face a final House vote this week.

Experts expressed differing opinions how the measure would affect the suit, if passed and approved by the governor. Some say the legislation is unconstitutional.

It has been heartily supported by proponents of the supervisors' building plans.

ARMED WITH REPELLENT

So armed with insect repellent and a coat hanger he charged his foe but succeeded only in driving him down into an inaccessible part of the car.

When Mrs. Babijof drove up with Dick, her husband admitted temporary defeat and switched cars with her.

At home that evening, he resumed the battle with a garden hose, but no snake emerged. Beginning to panic slightly at the wily animal's disappearance, Babijof called the snake curator at the Detroit Zoo to be told there was no way to flush out an unwilling snake.

So there the matter rests, Mrs. Babijof is driving the car and thinks the beast is dead. "When warm weather comes, we'll know for sure," she says.

Ike Polishes Up Talk for Television

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — President Eisenhower puts the finishing touches today on the talk he will make to the American people on his record peacetime budget.

The chief executive took time out from his weekend holiday at his Gettysburg farm to go over the draft of tomorrow night's address sent up yesterday by White House aides. He plans careful study of the message today, before returning to Washington this evening.

In Tuesday's 8 p.m. (Pontiac time) nationwide television-radio talk, the President will discuss "The Cost of Your Government."

Aides said he will explain in detail why U. S. spending must remain high if this country and its free world allies are to be reasonably secure from Communist attack.

Eisenhower's return to work at his farm today followed an unusual weekend during which two of the second world war's top generals re-fought the battle of Gettysburg.

His guest was British Field Marshal Montgomery, who served as his deputy commander in Europe. Lord Montgomery, now a top NATO commander scheduled mutual defense discussions with U.S. defense chiefs in Washington today.

In their tour of the Civil War's decisive battlefield the two comrades-in-arms agreed that blunders were committed by both Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee and Union Gen. George Meade.

'Moon' to Get Supervision

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson today ordered his guided missile "czar" to take over personal supervision of the earth satellite program amid reports that the first man-made "moon" may cost 100 million dollars or more.

The Defense Department, it was learned, already has advanced approximately 25 million dollars toward satellie programs in addition to nearly 20 million dollars appropriated to the National Academy of Sciences for the satellie activities.

Wilson told his special assistant for guided missiles, William M. Holaday, to supervise the Navy-directed "Project Vanguard," under which satellite launching rockets are being built, in conjunction with efforts to build 5,000-mile and 1,500-mile guided missiles.

Famous Actor Dies of Cancer

Erich von Stroheim Passes Away at 71 in Home Near Paris

PARIS (UP)—Erich von Stroheim, the film world's most noted portrayer of Prussian army officers, died of cancer last night at his home near Paris.

He was 71.

The noted film actor and director had been ill for six months with a spinal ailment at his chateau in Maurepas, some 25 miles southwest of Paris. Death was attributed to a generalized cancer, the French News Agency reported.

He had lived in France the last eight years, since his last American movie, "Sunset Boulevard." In that film he portrayed a faithful retainer to a faded film star depicted by Gloria Swanson.

Recently he had appeared in French and Italian movies and was writing a novel and a biography.

Von Stroheim was known to audiences of World Wars I and II as a villainous German army officer but in real life he was awarded the French Legion of Honor for his services to the film art. He attempted to enlist in the French Foreign Legion at the outbreak of World War II.

A native of Austria and a graduate of the Royal Military academy, he went to the United States in 1909, volunteered for the U. S. Cavalry when he couldn't get a job, and served three years.

Going west in 1912, he got into pictures first in 1914 and began an association with D. W. Griffith which ultimately, after World War I, took him to the top as an actor and director. His close-shaven bullet head, ramrod-stiff bulk, and monocled heavy face came to represent America's idea of the Prussian military caste.

Vandals Enter House, Cause $1,500 Damage

The Oakland County Sheriff's department has reported that vandals have broken into a new house at 4925 Sashabaw Rd., Independence Township, recently and caused an estimated $1,500 damage.

The deputies received a complaint early Sunday morning that youngsters had entered the empty house sometime during the past week. Upon checking the house, deputies found that the walls, plumbing, electric fixtures, doors, and heating unit had all been damaged.

The deputies also stated that the vandals had broken every window and glass fixture in the house. It was believed that the destruction was caused by a group of unidentified youths recently seen entering the house during a storm.

His brother, Thomas, 11, and Charles Wurm, were rescued by a man whose wife saw their trouble from shore.

State police said the boys found the rowboat abandoned on shore.

The pickets, who took up positions yesterday across the access ad leading to the test site 65 iles north of here, have halted pplies to the forward areas ere various projects connected with the tests are under construction.

The Nevada Test Organization, which is in charge of the tests, said if the work stoppage continues into next week "it is probable that a delay will be caused in the first shot in the series."

NEW APPETITE CONTROL TABLET FOR EASIER, FASTER REDUCING

Clinically tested and used by doctors with remarkable results on many patients in treatment of obesity. Works automatically to depress appetite. Lose weight you want to take off—safely, rapidly, more comfortably. Get positive results or money refunded.

Yes, now you can take off pound after pound of unwanted fat simply by taking a tiny TRIMET tablet that depresses your appetite so that you eat less. And you can do it without the physical and mental torture that otherwise accompanies cutting down on food.

Doctors who have tested the appetite control drug contained in these tablets report obese patients lost substantial amounts of weight — 10, 20, 30, even up to 40 pounds. And because of the convincing medical evidence we dare to make this ironclad guarantee:

You decide how much weight you want to lose. Then take TRIMET tablets as directed. They must produce the results you desire or YOU PAY NOTHING!

How Trimet Helps You Lose Weight Faster, Easier than Any Reducing Aid You've Ever Tried

Your doctor will tell you there is only one sure way to reduce and that is to limit your calorie intake. In plain English: eat less. Nobody has to tell you that takes a lot of will power if you find it hard to resist sweets, butter, gravy, rich desserts and other high calorie foods.

You've probably tried so-called reducing capsules, bulk producing pills, fad diets, exercise — in fact anything that promised to take off those unwanted pounds. As you know from sad experience, they did little or nothing for you.

Now here at long last, is a reducing aid that will really work for you — TRIMET, a tablet that attacks your problem according to a basic physiological principle essential to safe, rapid, effective reducing — APPETITE CONTROL.

TRIMET tablets contain no bulk producing ingredients, nothing to irritate your stomach, nothing to upset your normal routine of living. They do just one thing: control your appetite.

You take one tiny tablet — smaller than an aspirin — a half hour before meals. At mealtime, while you enjoy every mouthful, you quickly notice that your appetite does not seem to be so ravenous. Without hardly realizing it, you stop eating before you have consumed your usual quantity.

Within a short time, you'll discover that TRIMET makes it easier to cut down on fattening foods. You'll feel better, work better, sleep better while losing weight. And as you see the astonishing results day after day, you'll enjoy a renewed zest for life.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

This is it! A safe appetite depressant for overweight people who have despaired of ever finding anything that could help them reduce. We can't blame you for being a bit skeptical after so many past failures. But do give yourself one more opportunity. Start taking TRIMET tablets today. Let results convince you this is the product you have always dreamed about.

TRIMET must do more for you than any reducing aid you've ever used. You must agree TRIMET is the easiest, fastest, most effective appetite depressant you've ever tested, or you may return the unused portion and get a full refund.

MEDICAL PROOF!

Doctors prescribed the basic appetite-control drug found in Trimet in varying doses for their obese patients. A few typical case histories as reported in medical journals:

Miss K. P. — Treated by other drugs and placed on a 1500 calorie diet. Complained of appetite and was switched to Phenylpropanolamine (the basic drug in Trimet). Four days after she had

Lost 8½ pounds

Mrs. R. S. — Weighed 178 lbs. on Jan. 4. Placed on 1600 calorie diet and treated with Thyroid and Pituiturin. On Jan. 23 complained of severe appetite. Switched to Phenylpropanolamine. Jan. 29 reported no appetite and weight as being 161 lbs.

Lost 17 pounds

Mrs. J. B. — Stated: "I have enormous appetite, eat all the time". Advised to take Phenylpropanolamine 20 minutes before each meal. No diet was prescribed. Started treatment April 12 and by June 23 had

Lost 20 pounds

These medical results prove that you, too, can lose weight safely, more easily, thanks to the appetite depressant effectiveness of TRIMET Tablets.

Hal Boyle Says:

Julie Finds Success the Hard Way

NEW YORK (AP) — The people's choice for Blonde of the Year seems to be Julie Wilson this season.

And a thousand show world comrades who know the years of struggle and failure that lie behind this tall breezy Nebraska singer are almost as proud of her success as if it were their own.

No Cinderella she.

"You bump your head against every wall in the world," she mused. "You milk your own blood trying to create something new and fresh—and nothing works.

"Then suddenly everything you did that was wrong turns out to be right. You have what they're looking for, and you never are quite sure yourself what caused the change."

Julie now is a top-drawing supper club performer, making a record eighth appearance at the St. Regis. She is starred in two current movies, "The Strange One" and "This Could be the Night."

Her fabulous 30-gown wardrobe is the envy of almost every other gal in show business. Her gowns cost from $850 to $2,000 each. She has four all-beaded gowns that took a year each to make.

But Julie, whose salary has climbed from $50 a week to $3,500, hasn't forgotten the days when a run in her nylons was a major financial catastrophe. Those were the days when, as a stagestruck teen-ager from Omaha, she ran into more blind alleys than a mouse in a maze.

"I flopped at everything I tried," she recalled. "I was a Powers model, but I couldn't get any work. My hips were too big.

"I did all right in the chorus line, but when I tried to sing, they told me I couldn't. I landed a job with a band, and in two weeks they fired me. I made two film tests, flopped both.

"There were plenty of wolves around, including one in a toupee, who promised they could make me a Broadway or movie star overnight—if I'd let them pick the night. But I wanted to make my own way, or else throw it all over, marry and have 10 kids real quick before I changed my mind again."

Julie really did have a voice. She just didn't quite know then how to use it to put a song over. And in the process of learning she had to sing in some joints where she wouldn't be seen herself as a customer.

Her low point came during a three-month attack of laryngitis, which she now feels was largely psychological.

"It really only reflected my lack of confidence in my voice," she said. "But for weeks I couldn't even talk."

The turning point came in 1948 during a last trial—in her own mind—engagement at the Mocambo in Hollywood.

"Suddenly everything was right, and I still don't know why," she said. "But from that night on I never looked back."

She starred in London in "Kiss Me Kate" and "South Pacific", then won Broadway leads in "Kismet" and "The Pajama Game."

During her say in London, Juliet quit for a full year to study acting at the Royal Academy. Despite her present star status, she spends six to eight hours a day in singing, dancing and acting lessons.

"When you quit learning," she said, "you soon quit earning."

She says she doesn't know what to answer now when kids come to her and ask, "What should I do, Julie? Mama doesn't want me to go into show business."

Julie's speckled green eyes grew reflective.

"What can I tell them?" she said. "A hundred people gave me help when I needed it. Where would any of us be without friends? But in the end you have to make up your own mind—and find your own way."

Truck Loses Steel, Car Tires Blow Out

AUBURN, Ind. (AP)—A big truck bound for Kendallville started leaking its cargo of steel shavings as it passed through Butler on U. S. 6 yesterday.

Tires on nearly 20 automobiles traveling behind the truck began popping like firecrackers.

A Butler police squad car started after the truck, but it was the same story — "bang." The police radioed Waterloo to stop the truck, but the warning was late.

The truck rolled on to Kendallville, and the hunt was on for a big magnet to clean the pavement.

He died yesterday. Then they learned that Young, a bachelor, had: $150 cash; $1,000 in defense bonds and $10,000 in a bank.

Army's Chief of Staff Says He Obeys Order of Defense Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's top-ranked soldier says he has bowed to an order giving the Air Force control over long - range missiles.

Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Army chief of staff, made it clear yesterday he is taking no part in an Army-Air Force squabble growing out of the order by Secretary of Defense Wilson last November.

Taylor, questioned during a televised interview, said "Army spokesmen, including myself, defended before the secretary of defense last November the need for a 1,500-mile missile for the Army."

"We had our day in court, we argued our case and we lost it," he said. "So far as I am concerned, that settles the issue upon that point."

The Army chief said he did not try to outline his point of view to President Eisenhower. Taylor said Wilson was "a competent superior and I accepted his decision."

In his November order, Wilson specified that the Army should have responsibility for missiles with ranges of 200 miles or less. At the same time, he assigned the Air Force authority over longer - range weapons. These would include the intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM), planned to travel 1,500 miles, and the intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), which would have a 5,000-mile range.

Both the IRBM and the ICBM still are in the development stage, with the Army and Air Force competing to come up first with an operational weapon. Wilson's order permits the Army to continue its development work on the project.

Sen. Symington (D - Mo) said yesterday it will be a "good many years" before the United States has an arsenal of intercontinental missiles. Symington, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee and a former Air Force secretary, said Russia is "well ahead" in the race to develop an operational IRBM. He said the two nations probably are "about even" in the ICBM contest.

Chicago Opens Hospital for Care of Alcoholics

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago yesterday opened its first hospital for the care of alcoholics—estimated by officials to number 174,000 in the city.

Director Arthur J. Ward said the 36-bed medical center at first will accept only male patients because men outnumber women alcholics in Chicago six to one.

'Simplest Name,' Chimes Official

Legislators Show Alarm Over 'Atomic Clocks'

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Air Force, bowing to congressional logic, is hunting a new name for its "atomic clocks."

This stems from a House appropriations subcommittee discovery that the $45,000 items are neither atomic nor clocks.

The lawmakers considered the term "atomic clock" almost alarming, according to transcripts of hearings.

"The first thing you know we will see a headline in the Sunday supplement: 'Pentagon goes wild again; paying $45,000 for clocks,'" protested subcommittee Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Texas).

SAYS HE'LL ASK

"I will ask the development people to find a new name," promised Col. Harry R. Page, Air Force equipment programs chief.

Page explained the Air Force called the machines "atomic clocks" because this was simpler than calling them what they really are.

He testified: "This is not so much a clock, as it is a frequency establishing device, a machine which establishes a frequency pulse. The accuracy . . . is one part in one billion."

"Clock . . . is the most comparable description" for laymen to understand, he said, and since "radiation of cesium atoms is measured in terms of electrical energy" the term "atomic clock" cropped up.

"I am at a loss to say just where the name itself came from," Page admitted, since there is no "direct relationship with the military uses of atomic energy."

Subcommittee Executive Secretary Samuel W. Crosby said the Air Force should keep its hands off clocks because the Navy, with its observatory, is "official timekeeper" for the nation.

"I wish we had not used the term 'clock' to describe this device," Page chimed back.

"I wish you had not used the word 'atomic'," exploded Mahon.

The Congressman ordered the colonel to "do a little research work and find out why it is called the 'atomic clock.'"

"The reason is merely that radiation of the material known as cesium is part of the principle," Page pleaded.

Upon which the subcommittee proceeded to discussion of "procurement of snowplows."

2 Who Bailed Out Headed for Honolulu

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two Air Force crewmen who successfully bailed out of a B57 Canberra jet bomber yesterday 1,000 miles west of here are expected to reach Honolulu Thursday on the Coast Guard cutter Wachusetts.

The jet was one of three flying from McClellan Air Force Base, near Sacramento, to Honolulu en route to the 3rd Bomber Wing at Johnson AFB in Japan. The flight was classified. The two-man crew reported by radio their plane was using too much fuel and they could neither make it to Honolulu nor return to Sacramento.

As their plane plummeted into the sea, the pilot, Maj. Peter Cotellesse, and navigator Lt. Jayle P. Johnson parachuted without injury near the Wachusetts.

Equatorial circumference of the earth is 24,902.39 miles.

Bandleader Honeymoons

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bandleader Charlie Barnet was honeymooning today with his 10th bride. Barnet, 42, disclosed yesterday that he and the pretty blonde singer in his band, Joy Windsor, 26, eloped to Yuma, Ariz., Thursday. It was the bride's first marriage.

Hospital Bond Issue Discussions Continued

Our Voice of the People has been filled with letters on the current hospital bond issue. We have carried reports from various organizations in news stories. Small groups have discussed the issue informally. Neighbors have gossiped over back fences. There will be more talk between now and election.

All this is healthy.

It's a democracy in action.

However, through all the pros and cons, The Press cannot seem to find a successful answer to this pertinent and all-important question:

IF WE VOTE AGAINST THE ADDITION, WHAT THEN?

Who wants that building to stand idle? Who wants the good money we have invested to date to remain unproductive? Who wants the needs of the community unattended? Who wants those who require hospital services to suffer without them?

These are big issues.

Others are secondary.

Some people have honestly objected to additional costs. We are very sympathetic with this position. It's no secret that employment hasn't been at peak. The Press itself dislikes to be tapped again for a project we felt had been fairly faced and fairly financed. Our business is running behind 1956; and 1956 ran behind 1955. Hence, we look with no favor on any costs that aren't absolutely necessary. But finishing the hospital seems to drop squarely in that category.

How can it be avoided?

The cost for the average voter will be $2.55 per year on a home assessed at $3,000. This is a very modest charge for a very big service.

Who can look with favor on greater suffering among the sick, the injured, the maimed and those needing operations? We face their needs as a "must." And furthermore, anyone may suddenly fall into those realms.

We see little point right now in reviewing and reliving the past and the reasons for this predicament. Those matters have been thoroughly aired and our present job is to go forward from this point. As explained before, The Press is not in sympathy with past procedures.

Furthermore, we aren't particularly interested in whose father sold what lot to whom. If the conditions that led to the current situation are to be corrected, we can face those measures later.

Yes, a regard for our fellow men — a regard for our own families — says we should vote "YES."

Do you want the hospital?

Do you want a mass of unfinished bricks and mortar? It's that simple.

Make your own personal choice.

We feel strongly the job should be finished.

South Viet Nam's Savior on Visit to This Country

Less than three years ago when Ngo Dinh Diem became President of South Viet Nam, the French were fighting a losing battle against Communists in that part of Indochina.

After the fall of Dien Bien Phu in May, 1954, the United States, taking a long chance, decided to help South Viet Nam politically and economically. Communists, aided by Red China, held North Viet Nam under the peace treaty and it appeared as though they soon would control the whole country.

Some 400,000 refugees from the Communist north poured into South Viet Nam which at the time had no stable government and Communist agents were everywhere. Two chiefs of religious sects with private armies were fighting to gain control of the government.

Playboy Emperor Bao Dai who ruled from the French Riviera, had been deposed but his followers still held important places in the government. The picture was discouraging when President Diem took office and to him fell the task of bringing order out of chaos.

Conditions in his country have improved and stabilized to such an extent that he now is visiting the United States. His conference with President Eisenhower and address before Congress will direct world attention to a courageous and adroit foe of Communism.

A Toledo Paper Couldn't Make New Machines Work

Mothers Day: On which, if you forgot her, you should remember that she's just as entitled to some extra recognition on each of the other 364.

Few men in our nation know more about the mechanical part of newspaper production than of Oxford, who celebrated his ninetieth birthday last Feb. 16. He was a hand typesetter on a Toledo paper when it bought its first typesetting machines. They proved so unsatisfactory that the paper discarded them and went back to hand composition.

The most unique scoop of his career was scored by a Bay City paper when he was setting type on it. Its competitor had been sending over a small boy to buy one of the first copies off the press, and it would steal any important news that it had missed.

But the paper got next to it, and ran a big phony story in a few copies, and saw that the boy got one of them—and it appeared in the other sheet.

Mr. Cox has worked on many Michigan papers, including The Pontiac Press—and Holly Herald when the writer of these lines was wrestling with the latter—and says he got his pay on both occasions.

Ever on the alert for something noteworthy,

tells of a beer parlor sign (undoubtedly on the outside):

"Support our schools; have a double."

Former Pontiac postal employe, now in Florida,

Merlin (Sandy) Hastings

has gone poetic. Published in the Florida Playtime Magazine, his

"Beware of the Sea Witch," is an expose of the talent and trap under the seafaring bonnet.

I like the slogan of one of the tourist agencies:

"Tourist business is everyone's business."

Our sentiments are quite correctly expressed in a letter from which says: "As a farmer, my greatest peeve is to hear people complain about rainy weather, when they should know that it means food for them."

Deserted by its mother, a young opossum is becoming a pet in the family of of Walled Lake, "they'll bloom sooner and in greater profusion."

Making their first visit of the season to their cottage near Clare,

Mr. and Mrs. Burnaby Smith

David Lawrence Says:

Inflationary Trend Will Continue

WASHINGTON — Money is still "tight" and there's no sign that inflation is abating. In fact the government may have to pay higher interest rates to attract lenders and this in turn may force the whole level of interest rates in America up another few points.

LAWRENCE

The Treasury has just tested out the market with its offer to exchange four billion dollars of notes that it borrowed in 1954 at 1⅝ per cent. It made two offerings last week—four-month notes at 3⅛ per cent and notes for four years and nine months paying ⅝ per cent interest.

The holders of the 1954 notes subscribed to about 72 per cent of the new offering. The Treasury now has to put up cash for the other 28 per cent which amounts to about $1,167,000,000. This poses no problem because the government has a big cash reserve. But it does raise some interesting questions for the future.

First of all, why did the holders of nearly a third of the 1954 notes decline to accept the Treasury's offer? The answer is that most of the holders were corporations. They needed cash either for their own capital requirements or founds other investments in today's market more attractive than what the Treasury was offering.

One reason is that many good corporations lately have been offering in the money market to pay interest rates to investors ranging from 4½ per cent to 4.3 per cent. States and cities whose securities are exempt from Federal income taxes have been offering bonds at 3½ per cent and some even as much as four per cent. This puts the Federal government at a disadvantage in its borrowings but that's the law of supply and demand and nothing can be done about it in the way of artificial support without weakening the whole financial structure.

NEVER HAD TO WORRY

Under the New Deal and the Fair Deal the Treasury never had to worry about whether its new issues would be undersubscribed. The Federal Reserve Board, being dominated by the Treasury at the time, simply held the rates down knowing that the Treasury with the cooperation of the banks would merely "print some more money," as it was often described, and buy up the available bonds. By supplying an abundance of credit, money rates were kept low.

In the closing days, however, of the Truman administration there began a policy which has been materially strengthened under the Eisenhower administration whereby money rates are honest rates and the Federal government no longer uses its "printing presses" to hold interest rates at artificially low levels.

The Treasury now must test out the market just as any other borrower does. Last week when the Treasury offered its new notes, officials knew in advance that a quarter to a third of them would not be accepted for exchange. This was because in the first four months of 1957 two billion dollars more securities were sold by corporations, states and cities than for the same period of last year—a record at that time. All these securities were bought by the lenders at rates far higher than what the Treasury has been offering.

The Treasury may be forced to put its rates up to attract borrowers but it is disinclined to do so because: (1) the Federal government goes up a point, or (2) it pushes upward the whole range of interest rates in America. It could be that the situation is temporary but, if it isn't, the Treasury will have no choice but to follow the procession.

Unless both spending and appropriations are materially cut by the government—and especially in the defense category, which seems unlikely—the inflationary trend will not be arrested and money rates will stay high. It's a condition and not a theory that faces American people. With everybody pushing for higher wages and with higher prices consequently being forced on everything, including money rates, it is apparent that the inflation has far from run its course. Moscow, of course, is the root of it all.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Easy to Use Glib Names Like 'Arthritis' or 'Ulcer'

If you are a victim of the "arthritis" obsession this may interest you. If you believe you have arthritis, tell me just what do you think ails you?

DR. BRADY

If you are fairly confident that you have arthritis, better let it go at that. Why embarrass your specialist (you wouldn't fool around with an ordinary doctor, would you?) with questions such as:

1. Doctor, please tell me, just what is arthritis?
2. What is the difference between arthritis and rheumatism?
3. How many modern "miracle" or "wonder" drugs that gave great "promise" have proved worthless?

Should you find a doctor or a specialist who will answer the first two questions for publication in this column—a doctor or specialist of good professional standing, that is—send the answer to me, with the doctor's permission to print, and mention whether you would prefer a year's subscription to this newspaper or the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health.

Americans are inordinately fond of glib names and what they consider smart or plausible explanations for ill health or misconduct.

'ULCER' IS THE WORD

Right now "ulcer" is the word. Nerves and arteries are getting a rest and the stomach and duodenum are getting the treatment.

Peptic (gastric or duodenal) ulcer happens, of course, but by no means as commonly as the glib allusions to "ulcer" might lead the uninformed to suppose.

This being a health column, I shall say nothing about the symptoms or treatment of peptic ulcer. Only your own physician can answer these questions intelligently.

But I have a pamphlet, "Yankee Stomach, which tells how to prevent or relieve many familiar complaints such as hyperacidity, heartburn, hunger pain, gas, sensation of heaviness or fullness after eating, sour stomach, waterbrash, acid eructations, bloating, and irritability due to such discomforts.

If you have the remotest idea that your digestive trouble is ulcer, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet. I'm sure it will do you no harm.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

LI'L ONES

"Don't worry about ants on the food, Mom, I put ant powder all over the sandwiches."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Problem Child? Try 'Yes--But'

Sally's problem is rather common. She is infatuated with a boy who lacks both ambition and education. Her parents are thus panicky lest they elope, as they threaten to do. So memorize the "Yes-But" strategy below and tactfully get down to specific cases. Scrapbook this case record, for you may need it badly in a crisis.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-379: Sally N., aged 18, is a college freshman in Virginia.

"Dr. Crane," her mother told me over the telephone, "we are very much worried about Sally.

CRANE

"For she became a pen pal of a man in military service and corresponded with him for the last two years.

"Now he is out of service but makes no attempt to get a job nor is he interested in going on to college.

"He has only two years of high school behind him. Yet he and Sally think they are ardently in love.

"And they say they will elope if we don't give them our consent to be married.

"But all of Sally's friends agree that they are quite unsuited to each other. And he has no trade or special training by which he can ever support a family. So what can we do?"

In sales psychology we stress the "Yes-But" technique.

That means "Yes" the prospect along when he is dead set on his own course of action. "But" tactfully steer his thinking by casually slipping a few opposing arguments into your dialogue.

If you thus agree with him, as indicated by the "Yes" part of this strategy, he will then be more inclined to listen to you. He will consider you a friend instead of a foe.

If, instead, you grow irate and belittle his arguments or try to threaten that you'll disown your daughter, you may just make her that much more obstinate.

So she will advance more arguments in defense of her boy friend with even greater fervor.

Many girls develop a modified maternal regard for an unfortunate boy, as they feel he has never had a fair chance, etc., etc.

It inflates their ego to believe they can remake his personality and thus serve as an important factor in the boy's future career.

So I urged Sally's mother to employ this "Yes-But" plan and agree that the boy was very nice, but cite the fact that a high school graduate earns $40,000 more during the rest of his life than does the boy without a high school diploma.

Furthermore, each year of college adds an extra $25,000 to the family income during later years.

So suggest that both Sally and her boy friend get some more schooling in order to support their future youngsters like those of Sally's close girl friends.

"You don't want your children to be laughed at, you know, and ostracized by Polly's future children or Sandra's boys and girls, do you?" Sally's mother can ask, as she encourages specific thinking.

See tomorrow's follow up, for this is a common family dilemma.

'Booth or Change Machine Needed at Municipal Lots'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I received a ticket for overtime parking in a City lot. When I drove in I had several quarters, one dime and some pennies. I put the dime in the meter, but it wouldn't register. I moved the car to another meter and put in the seven pennies. This made nearly an hour and a half parking time. I had an appointment with the dentist and didn't have time to change a quarter. I was gone two hours.

I suggest the City put some kind of change machine or booth in each City lot. It would save time, trouble and parking tickets.

Waterford Dems Are Criticized

The Democrats are going to make an enviable record in Waterford. In their first two weeks in office they have cut our police force in half, proposed to raise the taxes, proposed to cut the school budget and placed the Township in a strained financial position.

Their successful campaign cost the Township over $100,000 a year from traffic violators. Isn't it better that out-of-town lawbreakers should pay than we taxpayers? When Dixie becomes "Seven Miles of Death" again, and crimes increase, we'll know whom to blame. Democrats sacrificed safety of our Township to win an election.

The past few years our police department didn't cost taxpayers a dime. Why did Democrats think it unfair for lawbreakers to pay for protection of children, highways and homes just because a Republican justice made proper and legal fees while the Democrat justice handled no Township tickets?

'It's Good to Enjoy Light Side of Life'

I enjoy reading the Voice of the People in your paper and especially the letters concerning North and South, but like you, I felt it was about time to drop the subject. Also enjoyed the ones about Carlotta. I think it does our minds good to get away from the weightier things in life such as politics and taxes.

Praises Kindness of Local Groups

I just want to express appreciation for kindness of the U.S.O. to my son when he left for the army. I know this is done for all the boys and I am sure they all appreciate it as much as my son did. My thanks and gratitude to the U.S.O., the Salvation Army and the church groups.

'Civilian Defense Needs Everyone'

The Air Force has asked all citizens to cooperate with them in defense of our country. The Ground Observer Corps is part of the eyes of the Air Force. Work involved in the sky watch program is relatively easy. It is mainly watching all movement in the sky for planes or flying objects. If sighted, a plane is recorded on a message pad and a call is made to the filter center. Information given tells number of planes sighted, the type, function, altitude, direction from post, distance from post and direction the aircraft is flying. The whole report can usually be made in 40 seconds. We, like you, started new and now realize the wonderful cooperation we get from the Air Force. It is a privilege to serve. Won't you join us in helping others in this program? If interested, please write or call me.

'Children Now Are Better Off'

I am a mother of two very loved children. I've seen them through many an illness and heard their first words. How, after bringing a child into this world, can you deliberately try and hurt what God put into your hands? The jury did right, as we know a couple who adopted one of the little girls. This girl came into their lives with no up bringing whatsoever. With no love, she was shy, meek, afraid but wanting so to be loved. She reminded us of a frightened animal. Now, short months later, what a change. She is no longer shy, afraid or unloved. This child has love and enough food and wonderful care. I say thank the jury, as these children shall now know the meaning of real childhood.

'Who Says That Milk's Cheaper?'

So milk is cheaper! It may be for users of small amounts, but according to my figures, I'll be paying $1.20 a month more. Using 102 units a month, I paid 21 cents for milk, 23 cents for cottage cheese. With the new "lower" price, milk will cost 21½ cents, cottage cheese 26 cents. I'm sure this could have been done without cutting the price to the farmers.

Humane Action Address Given

I'm happy to know there are others interested in doing something about this inhumane treatment of animals. If you write John Taylor, 100 Ferry St., Troy, N. Y., he will give you all the information in regard to this. He has worked hard and spent his own money for publicity all over the United States, and I'm sure you will get results if you write to him. Bob Considine Says:

Use of the Big Stick Pleases Editor

NEW YORK (INS) — Eugene Lyons, a man with a horror for pulling a punch, gives me a day off. He has put on paper something we discussed the other night at the Overseas Press Club. The gifted senior editor of the Reader's Digest says:

It is refreshing, in the Jordan crisis, to watch the United States behaving like a self-confident great power aware of its own interests and strength, and refusing to be intimidated by the squall of denunciations and veiled threats out of Moscow.

There is some balm for American spirits — battered by the shabby failure to support the Hungarian bid for freedom—in hearing the Kremlin accuse our country of subversive activities.

If that means activities to frustrate plans of the Moscow-Cairo axis to drive Jordan into the Red corral, one can only hope that the accusations are not wholly unfounded.

There is, after all, no sensible reason why the Communists should continue to enjoy an unchallenged monopoly of subversion.

American firmness with respect to Jordan provides a dramatic contrast with free-world weakness in the Hungarian crisis six months earlier. It packs lessons that should not be overlooked, since new Hungaries in the Soviet world are inevitable.

FANTASTIC NOTION

At the very least the efficacy of our Jordanian stand should help cure us of the fantastic notion that the Kremlin crowd will touch off a nuclear showdown unless it has its way.

That notion, carefully promoted by the Communists and their friends, has left the free world disastrously open to political blackmail.

But if rests on the premise, illogical to the point of absurdity, that Khrushchev and company somehow have less cause to dread a world conflict than we do.

It assumes that the Red hierarchy, despite their record of prudent avoidance of armed action wherever they have met opposition, are hell-bent for nuclear suicide.

When the gang-up on young King Hussein got going, Washington promptly announced that the independence of his country was of vital interest in America.

Demonstratively the U. S. Sixth Fleet was dispatched to the eastern Mediterranean. An impressive contingent of American Marines went ashore in Lebanon. Ten million dollars were quickly made available to Hussein's hard-pressed government.

NO AMBIGUITY

In short, no margin for ambiguity was left as to American intentions and determination. But the heavens didn't collapse. No H-bombs have fallen. As on every other occasion when the non-Soviet world showed a strong hand, Moscow has limited itself to angry words.

Anti-Communist and pro-Western elements not only in Jordan but in Syria, Lebanon and Egypt itself have taken new courage from the American posure of resolute power.

The whole balance of forces in the Middle East has begun to shift in our favor. The gravitation toward the Communist bloc has been sharply halted and may even be reversed.

How different the international picture might have been today if we had shown the same kind of self-respecting determination last fall!

The free world, and Americans in particular, have a guilty conscience on the Hungarian tragedy, and with good reason. We were not as utterly powerless to affect the events in Hungary as our official conduct assumed.

Moscow surely had no doubt of its ability to smother the revolt by military force; it hesitated 13 days before acting. Only when we showed too clearly that it could proceed with the butchery with impunity—without fear of reprisals or sanctions, expulsion from the U.N. and political isolation — did the Kremlin go ahead with the obscene business.

IMMEDIATE ACTION

A U.N. commission should have been sent instantly, without waiting for the permission of the puppet government. All free nations should have recalled their ambassadors from Moscow at once for consultation.

Millions of volunteers in many countries should have been encouraged to mobilize to join the Hungarian rebels. It should have been made clear that a Soviet invasion would automatically bring major economic and political sanctions.

Jordan today stands as a symbol that we can and must confront Soviets with firmness—that exaggerated fear of war only encourages aggressors to take risks and make miscalculations which bring the catastrophe closer.

Super Shell with TCP

The most powerful gasoline any car can use

- a new grade of gasoline—the successor to Shell Premium
- higher than "high test"
- more aromatics—the power ingredients of aviation fuel
- instantly and automatically supplies any engine with the full octane value needed under every driving condition

To meet the needs of today's high-compression engines and, at the same time, to fill the requirements of the even more powerful cars expected in the future, the Shell Oil Company has introduced an entirely new grade of gasoline.

It is Super Shell with TCP*.

Super Shell is higher than "high test"—even more powerful than Shell Premium Gasoline which it replaces.

Cars that have been using premium-grade gasoline will deliver more power than they ever delivered before when they switch to Super Shell. Super Shell instantly and automatically supplies any engine with the full octane value it needs for knock-free power under every driving condition.

Furthermore, when you're just cruising along Super Shell's extra energy is converted into extra miles per gallon.

The source of this new performance in Super Shell is a "power pack" of special aviation gasoline ingredients known as aromatics. These are benzene, xylene, and toluene—the most precious power ingredients that can be used in making gasoline.

In addition, Super Shell contains TCP additive to neutralize power-wasting engine deposits.

Stop at your Shell Dealer's new white pump and get Super Shell with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline any car can use.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

CIRCUS TIME — 1. The Little Juggler

Let's go to the circus. People have been doing it for thousands of years, long before popcorn and cotton candy were invented. Roman emperors like Caesar Augustus and Nero were the Barnum & Bailey of their day and liked to amuse their subjects by staging glittering spectacles in huge ampitheaters. The Roman general Pompey put on one of the greatest shows on earth before an audience of 150,000 people in the Circus Maximus, perhaps the most famous circus arena.

This week Junior Editors is staging a circus of its own and you are invited to become ringmaster. Be sure to save each act in the series so you can put on your own three-ring circus at home.

First, we'll need a juggler. Every circus has one. And, Presto! here he is: Raja Singh, juggler deluxe, direct from the mysterious orient. If you color his costume brightly with your crayons and follow the instructions carefully, Raja will gladly perform one of his best 000 people in the Circus Maximus, perhaps the most famous circus turban. To make his act more dazzling, color the dishes in the circle alternately pink and blue and watch them whiz through the air like a pinwheel.

(Steven Milan, Wichita Falls, Tex., won $10 for this suggestion. If you have an idea, send it in care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures).

Story Recaptures Golden Era of Filmdom

1920 Hollywood Place of Joy, Tears

Glittering, unbelievable opulence . . . bitter feuds between great, glamorous stars . . . tragedy . . . torrid romance — this was the Hollywood Louella Parsons knew in the long-lost 1920s. It was the Hollywood of Clara Bow, Greta Garbo, Jean Harlow, John Gilbert, Rudolph Valentino, Dolores Del Rio, Tom Mix, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks Sr. Now Miss Parsons brilliantly recaptures the golden era of the film world and describes in fascinating detail how it has changed, in the revealing, entertaining series of five articles that starts today.

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Motion Picture Editor

When I first came to Hollywood in 1925 and started syndicating my column from movietown the entire motion picture colony seemed literally like one, big happy family.

If what I am going to tell you about "the good old days" appears at times frivolous and childlike, it was because the times themselves were happy, gay, and slightly nuts, if you'll pardon an expression of that era.

And never again was the world to recapture those merry mad days, free of worry, strain and tension. It was a period between two wars, one happily finished, the other not even dreamed of.

Movie stars were kings and queens of the universe spending their emotions as well as their enormous salaries with extravagant abandon — and income taxes were nothing much to worry about.

HOLLYWOOD SMALL TOWN

Although Los Angeles was even then the ninth largest city in the United States, with a population of nearly 505,000, Hollywod remained a small town. Its people were clannish, delighted with its glittering and famous citizens and basking in the spotlight of being one of the most exciting places on the face of the map.

Everyone was dancing the Charleston; the flappers were flapping all over the place, singing "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby" and the movies that were breaking box office records were "Beau Geste," "The Big Parade" and "Seventh Heaven."

The Montmartre, a second-flight-up cafe overlooking Hollywood boulevard and presided over by diminutive Eddie Brandstatter, was not only THE place to be seen lunching; it worked in reverse to the point that if you WEREN'T seen there you just didn't rate.

You could easily tell who was who just by the way Eddie and his maitre d' dropped the red velvet rope to admit the favored few —and hoisted it to hold back the breathless tourists and second-rate players who were all but crushed in their anxiety to get in and be counted among the anointed.

I'll never forget my debut at the Montmartre because it afforded me my first closeup of Miss Lucille Le Seur who had just changed her name to Joan Crawford and was making the fat sum of $75 weekly at MGM.

IN WIDOW'S WEEDS

This day the queen was a startling sight! In the first place she was done from head to toe in widow's weeds—black dress, black gloves, and atop her shoulder-length hair, she was wearing a widow's hat with a flowing black veil streaming back from her chalk-white face.

Adding to this startling apparition, the centerpiece on Joan's table was a funeral piece spelling out the single name "Jerry" in white gardenias.

"What in the world is going on?" I whispered to Boniface Brandstatter. "Why the funeral piece and the widow's weeds?"

The genial little Eddie didn't seem to know whether to laugh or cry. He was all choked up as he whispered to me, "A boy Joan used to dance with here named Jerry, died of pneumonia a few days ago. She's going with the girls to the funeral after luncheon.

She ordered the floral piece delivered here because she personally wants to take it to the funeral. There was nothing romantic between them—but they were devoted friends — and Joan is really grief-stricken."

COULDN'T HAPPEN TODAY

No, you don't hardly get these fascinating off-screen glimpses of Hollywood star these days. Can you imagine what gasping such a spectacle today would produce in Mike Romanoff's, Dave Chasen's, Bob Cobb's Brown Derby, or at La Rue?

But I recall one of the most amazing reactions I had that day was that Joan and her funeral piece and widow's weeds attracted so little attention among the lunchers at the old Montmartre.

I can recall others sitting at ringside tables that noontime as "Prof" Moore's hot band played the "Black Bottom" and "I Ask You Confidentially."

The swanky and sophisticated Constance Bennett, herself newly arrived on the Coast to make "Sally, Irene and Mary" with Joan Crawford and Sally O'Neill, looked very New York-y and like a fashion plate at one table.

MARIAN NIXON INTERVIEWED

At another, Marian Nixon was being interviewed about her impending divorce from prize fighter Joe Benjamin.

The breathtakingly beautiful Dolores Del Rio looked like something carved out of alabastar in a white dress and large picture hat.

And, of course, there was the big table of "the wives"—the ladies married to prominent producers, directors and stars, including Mrs. John Ford, Mrs. Tom Mix, Mrs. Victor Schertzinger, Mrs. Edmund Lowe, Mrs. Jack Dempsey (Estelle Taylor) and Ona Brown, wife of director Clarence Brown. These ladies controlled much of the social destiny of Hollywood—and knew it.

The brunette, exotic Estelle Taylor Dempsey was secretly so jealous of her world's heavyweight champion husband Jack that she spent much of the lunch hour telling her girl friends that in private life he was not particularly romantic at all! I'm sure she felt this "scared off" any listening husband-grabbers.

FIRST MET GARBO

Many of my most vividly remembered experiences in Hollywood took place in the Montmartre or in the adjoining supper room, the Embassy Club. It was at a dinner party hosted by director Clarence Brown that I first saw Greta Garbo off-screen.

In those days, Greta was far from aloof nor had she developed her obsession about being alone. Believe it or not, she was even a football fan of the "thundering herd" and went often to the games with Jack Gilbert and their good friends Edmund Lowe and Lilyan Tashman—when the University of Southern California was a football power.

Can you imagine Garbo of today yelling for a touchdown???

One day when I was lunching at the Montmartre, Eddie Brandstatter stopped by my table to extend an invitation. "Can you come Thursday evening, Miss Parsons?" he asked, "I'm introducing a new musical trio who have just broken from the Paul Whiteman band to set up their own act. They call themselves the Rhythm Boys"—and he mentioned three names I'd never heard before.

Three young men appeared in the spotlight and one of them sat down at the piano. "I'm Harry Barris," he sang. One of the other boys chimed in, "I'm Al Rinker" and the last, a rather plump fellow with startling blue eyes piped up nervously, "I'm Bing Crosby."

Well, those introductions didn't stop any traffic. Our party agreed they were pleasant young singers

Of the three, we thought Harry Barris was the best and had the most personality. It was our considered opinion that he didn't need Al Rinker and Bing Crosby. But even so, I decided to be big hearted and mention them all in my column by name.

Several nights later when I was again at the Montmartre — the "Bing" one dropped by my table. "I want to thank you for the nice thing you wrote," he said. "It's the first mention I've ever had in a syndicated column."

'How' Important as 'When' in Use of Facial Cream

The way in which you apply facial cream or lotion is fully as important as how often you apply it.

If you put it on with downward motions, the result will be sagging facial muscles.

To get the right results, start from the base of the throat and apply the lotion with an upward and outward motion. Work from the chin outward to the temples on each side of the face and upward over the forehead. The idea is to work against the lines of the face, not with them. But make the strokes light and gentle.

It's best to proceed with caution until you get the idea. You'll find that with a few applications, you'll have a complete grasp of the procedure.

Fry Chicken in Southern Manner

Mrs. Merwin Adds Garlic Powder to Flour for Dredging

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Real Southern Fried Chicken will be on your menu often after you read how a Virginia cook, Mrs. Gladys Merwin, prepares it. The first unusual thing she does is to skin the chicken.

Mrs. Merwin came up here from Norfolk to be with a son and daughter for Christmas. She stayed to help in her son's home. Now she thinks she might make Pontiac her permanent home. If so, she intends to become active in club and civic affairs.

SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN
By Mrs. Gladys Merwin

Prepare chicken by skinning each piece. Mix salt, pepper, flour and garlic powder in a paper bag. Shake chicken to coat thoroughly. The garlic powder will give the chicken a wonderful flavor.

Brown chicken in a skillet in hot salad oil. Reduce heat and cook slowly until chicken parts are tender. The crust of seasoned flour will hold the juices and flavor in. If done correctly, the chicken will not be grease-soaked at all.

Her Temperament, Good or Bad, Is Usually Contagious

Home Mood Depends on Woman of Family

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Whether or not a home is a place of laughter, charm and understanding depends more on the woman of the family than on anyone else. It is true that one discordant person can damage the happy atmosphere the wife or mother has created, but if she is poised and gay rather than hectic and critical her mood lingers on and is contagious.

I do not know just why this should be so but I have often observed it. If the mother is cross, the children are cross. If the wife is hectic, her husband is either depressed or quick tempered.

Somhow the woman is the one who sets the whole tone of the home, from furnishings and food to moods and conversation, she is responsible to a greater degree for the emotional climate in which her family lives.

The job of homemaking is complex. There are so many details to look after and so many demands from the family that unless a woman organizes her life to some extent she is sure to be victimized by fatigue and hurry, and these do not brew restful or fascinating charm.

In the cluttered life there is little time, if any, left for those most important elements of family companionship. Therefore, organization becomes an essential part of being a woman.

LISTS ARE HELPFUL

As you have no doubt discovered, grocery lists and shopping lists of all sorts are an aid. I think the master list is one of the most helpful ones. On this you write down anything you need or are going to need soon, whether it belongs to the household supply, or sewing, or yard work category.

Grocery lists and shopping lists of all sorts are an aid to organization in the home.

If you fail to write down necessary items in these categories when you think of them, you are almost certain to forget them later on.

I also think it helps to plan meals several days ahead of time. You can do a better job of nutrition and variety and it will give you a pleasant surcease from continual planning. Even if you cook the meal yourself, you will enjoy it more if you planned it a few days ahead of time. This means that you must go to the market less often.

Pads by the telephone help you run your life efficiently and this in turn gives you more time for heartwarming values.

EXCESS CHOLESTEROL MAY SHORTEN LIFE

A tremendous amount of research is being done concerning the problem of cholesterol. This is a fatty substance in the blood. We need some of it but an abnormal amount may lead to clogging of the blood vessels and hardening of the arteries. These factors account for a large percentage of heart attacks and may lead to cerebral embolism or a stroke.

These maiming, crippling and murderous diseases will be conquered before long lonw. Although the time of full understanding and control has not yet arrived, much habe been learned already about heardening of the arteries.

Recently, at the national meeting of the Federation of American Experimental Biologists, scientists urged that a national campaign be waged to cut down on fat in the diet and fat on the body.

There is certainly enough evidence to convince one that diets which are high in fat lead to a high cholesterol level in the blood. Diet is not the only factor however, since some folks manufacture cholesterol out of foods other than fats, and keep a high fat level in the blood even when they are on a low fat diet.

The United States Public Health Service has done some interesting work along this line. They examined a group of middle-aged men as to their cholesterol levels, blood pressure and body weight.

Those who were normal in all three ways had a heart attack rate of one-fourth that of the usual rate for the age group which was tested. Those who were abnormal in one of the three conditions had attacks two or three times as often as those normal in all three ways.

VERY IMPORTANT

So, it seems extremely important to cut fats in the diet (animal fats are the worst) and to lose any extra weight you may have. If you do so, your blood pressure is likely to be normal. Sometimes the simple procedure of losing extra pounds will bring high blood pressure back to normal.

For understanding we can compare blood vessels which are coated and narrowed by cholesterol to rusty pipes.

Chandler-Kirkby Rites Read at All Saints

To reside in San Diego, Calif., are Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Chandler who were married Saturday evening.

The bride, the former Kay Joanne Kirkby, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kirkby of Orchard Lake avenue. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Max Chandler of Baldwin avenue.

The Rev. C. George Widdifield performed the eight o'clock ceremony in All Saints Episcopal Church, in the presence of 150 guests.

As she approached the altar with her father, Kay was wearing a gown of taffeta and Chantilly lace. The bodice of the gown was fashioned in an empire styling with iridescents accenting the boat neckline.

Tiers of lace fell from the sides of the full skirt, continuing to the back of the gown and extending into a fan-shaped train.

VEIL OF ILLUSION

Her fingertip veil of French silk illusion was secured to a cloche type headpiece of lace and tulle trimmed in iridescents and sequins. Stephanotis surrounded the white orchids she carried on her white prayer book.

Mrs. Joseph Swengros, as matron of honor, wore a ballerina-length gown of aqua taffeta. A soft floating panel extended from the back of the bodice to the hemline. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink carnations.

Albert M. Chandler served his brother as best man. Seating the guests were another brother of the bridegroom, Robert Bruce Chandler, and Richard Bell.

A gown of smoke-gray chiffon with pink flowered hat and a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids pinned to her purse, was Mrs. Kirby's choice for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Chandler wore a gown of pink crystalette with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was also of pink cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held in the Rose Kneale Room of Stevens Hall immediately following the ceremony.

For traveling to the West coast, the new Mrs. Chandler changed to a navy blue sheath dress with navy and white accessories. She wore the orchids from her bridal arrangement.

James, an ensign in the U. S. Navy, is a graduate of Wayne State University and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa fraternity, Psi Chi society, and Mackenzie honor society. Kay is a member of the American Society of X-ray Technicians.

Married Saturday evening were Kay Joanne Kirkby and James Thomas Chandler. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kirkby of Orchard Lake avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Max Chandler of Baldwin avenue are James' parents.

Three Ideas to Consider When Choosing Curtains

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (INS) — What do you expect from a window?

That question ought to be answered before a homemaker picks out her window coverings.

Specialists in home furnishings say that light, privacy and beauty are involved in weighing window choices.

If light is most important, use sheer curtains in light colors.

If privacy is paramount, pull-draperies or venetian blinds are the best choices.

SKY'S THE LIMIT

If beauty is the first consideration, the choices are unlimited. Style, color, design and fabric combinations can reflect the preference of the home's occupants.

Current trends favor valance lighting, with draperies or curtains reaching only to the sill or apron (lower edge of frame surrounding the window).

Casement cloth, of course, open-weave fabric is gaining in favor, specialists have found.

Girl of 11 Too Old to Be Sent to Bed

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sheila's mother was down in the cellar doing the laundry. When she brought it up to hang on the line, she suddenly realized that though Brother's tricycle was still in the yard, Brother was not.

To Sheila, in the kitchen munching cookies over a comic, she cried, "Where's Brother? Didn't I tell you to keep an eye on him?"

After 20 minutes of frantic searching, Brother was restored by a neighbor who had found him playing in the puddle around her rain barrel.

As his mother pulled off his soaked socks, she said to Sheila, "All right, Miss—it's to bed for you for the rest of this afternoon. I'll teach you to ignore what you're told . . ."

Sheila is 11. She is too old to be punished by being sent to bed.

What she requires is not a penalty that stops her physical activity but one that arouses the mental kind—a penalty that forces thoughtfulness on her.

ABILITY TO REASON

As older children have had time to develop the ability to reason, we are foolish not to exercise that ability when we punish them.

Mind, I'm not suggesting we should feel guilt when fear betrays us into some vindictive reprisal on a child who has offended us. But after inflicting it, we can always correct it.

Wanting more reasonableness from Sheila, we can reject the unreasonableness in us that sent her to bed. Going upstairs, we can say something like this to her:

"You are not a baby and I am sorry I have given you this babyish punishment. You can get up now and come downstairs. But don't ask us again for that 75-cent-a-week allowance. Until you can take better care of Brother when you are asked to, you aren't ready to take care of more allowance."

Never do we suffer for substituting a reasonable punishment for a thoughtless one. It is our example of thoughtfulness that evokes it from the child.

PARENTAL EGOTISM

Parents who habitually punish older children by spankings and sendings to bed are overprotective. They depreciate Sheila's power to recognize her own mistake just as they'll belittle her ability to pick out the right spring coat and make her own protest to a teacher.

Their right thinking, their powers, are the only ones that exist to them. It is this egotism that keeps the child irresponsible.

Schoolboy Must Keep Prom Date

Shouldn't Tell Girl He'd Rather Take New Flame

A high school boy writes me as follows: "I need your help with a problem I am faced with. I am 17 years old and up until a month ago I saw a good deal of one girl—nothing serious — just good friends.

"Recently I met another girl whom I like very much, and, now I see very little of the first girl, although we are still friends. Just before I met this second girl I has asked the first one to go with me to the senior prom, and she accepted. I would like to know if I am still obliged to take her, or may I take the second girl instead?"

Answer: You can explain to the second girl that you asked Mary to go to the prom with you before you met her and that you cannot possibly break the engagement.

But you can't go to Mary and say that you now like Jane better and no longer want her to go to the prom with you without deeply hurting her feelings.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is giving a tea for a friend who is soon to be a bride. Should the two mothers be invited, and if so, should they be given any special recognition, such as being asked to sit at the tea table and pour? Or perhaps, if not this, would you suggest that they be asked to receive with my daughter and the guest of honor?"

Answer: They are, of course, invited, and although not a definite requirement, it is a customary courtesy to invite the two mothers to pour — one at either end of the table.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When I happen to meet one of the men from my office in a restaurant at lunch time, and he invites me to join him at his table before he himself has ordered his meal, how can embarrassment be avoided about paying the check?"

Answer: When the check is presented at the end of the meal, you could say to the man, "Please let me pay for my lunch." If he refuses, you would merely thank him for you lunch. .

Mother Needs Assurance of Grown Children's Love

That's Why Special Remembrance Day Means So Much to Mom

By RUTH MILLETT

Her children are grown and scattered all over the country.

They are leading full and busy lives.

And so it often happens that they let days and even weeks slip by without reaching out through a letter to let their mother know that she still has a place in their hearts no one else could ever fill.

But along comes her special day and the mother whose children are gone suddenly and happily has them all back at once.

Cards, gifts, letters, telegrams and telephone calls bring each of her children close on this day.

That, as I see it, is the great blessing of having a special day for mothers.

NOT THE PRAISE

It's not the words of praise spoken in their behalf from the pulpit, or printed about them in editorials. It is not even the cards and gifts from children still at home.

Mothers who are still active as such have no great need for a special day. They know they are needed every day of the year.

But mothers whose children are grown need now and then to have put into words the warming assurance that the love of a child for his mother is not lessened by separation, but only becomes more deep as the child grows in maturity.

So long as there is a special day for mothers once a year, a bit of what grownup children feel for their mothers will be expressed.

If there is any hint of squareness in your build, aim for lines that form V's or curves—never squares.

A boxy silhouette on a robust, sturdy build can look like a "boxer," too much squareness. Lines that form V's to the waist, pleats in the skirt break up this "square lady look" most effectively.

Usage of 'Junior'

At the death of his father the son who is named for him drops the "junior" from his own name. The only exception to this is when the father was a man of such great prominence that his son feels he should not take his father's name.

In that case he continues to use junior after his name.

3 Killed Scaling Peak

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Officials here announced yesterday that a Himalayan avalanche killed a British mountaineer and two Sherpas (Nepalese mountain guides) two weeks ago. The Briton, Capt. Crosby Fox, 30, was leader of an expedition climbing at 20,000 feet in the Jugul Himal range.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

'Mr. Motion Pictures' Consults the Good Book Daily

De Mille Promotes Reading of Bible

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Cecil B. De Mille was pacing the floor — not in the manner of the businessman emulating the caged tiger, nor in the mode of the ham doing Hamlet — but like Cecil B. De Mille contemplating the world.

Suddenly, abruptly, he stopped. "Religion," he said, "isn't a book, not even the Bible. It's a soul and an understanding of a Supreme Being."

The 75-year-old master of spectaculars looked long and respectfully at a battered Bible on his hotel room coffee table. He did not wear glasses and he did not squint.

"I read that this morning after breakfast — always read it at night," he said. "Religion isn't a book, but that book is the foundation of the understanding."

And the boost to the soul.

What Mr. De Mille has to say — and says, in no uncertain terms is that religion is the salvation of the world, and a good old-fashioned Bible-reading session is what the American family needs most to establish as a parlor ritual.

An unstooped elderly man, with a face that fluctuates abruptly between kindness and sternness, he makes you feel a somewhat wayward soul if you have not read your good book recently.

LAWS DRAMATIZED

"I would suggest," he stated firmly, "that those who have not read the Bible begin by reading the first five books of the Old Testament — which dramatize the laws of God — and then read the first four books of the New Testament — which interpret the laws."

They might well also, he added, see a film he's turned out called "The 10 Commandments." (When I admitted I hadn't seen this saga that cost $15,000,000 and 10 years to make, he had appeared immediately to doubt my good faith, if not sanity.)

If De Mille talks more like a minister than a movie mogul, it's because that's the way he feels, at least in this stage of his career.

Cecil is the son of an Episcopal lay reader, who was convinced by his wife to take up playwriting "because the message reaches only hundreds in church, but thousands in the theater." He now recalls that as a child, "the Bible characters were my heroes — like cowboys and supermen are the heroes of children today."

So when he first went to Hollywood, and set up operations in a barn he rented for $25 a month, he was a religious young man.

Although one of his biggest splashes perhaps came when he splashed Claudette Colbert in a milk bath for "Cleopatra," his most generous efforts went into Bible movies. Since 1912, he has made 70 films; among them the lengthiest and most costly have been religious in theme.

BIBLE FROM BILLY

Billy Graham, the evangelist, has given him a "great moment of pride" — by presenting him with a Bible inscribed, "To Cecil De Mille, who has carried the word of the Bible to the greatest number of people of any man who ever lived."

De Mille is certainly not a humble man. Nearly 50 years of success scarcely tends to give one that characteristic. But he does admit to making a few mistakes of which he is not proud. He refuses to name them, however, stating only:

"They were made before you were born. An eternity ago.

"Mr. Motion Pictures," as he doesn't mind whatever being called, will not receive a penny for the decade's task of making "The 10 Commandments." He filmed it, he said, "in the hope it will lure people back to religion, to reading the Bible regularly."

Asked if he is working on another movie, he replied, "Yes." Asked what, he said, "Nobody knows but I." Asked if he plans retirement, he stiffened in protest.

"For me," he said, "it's another picture or another world."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

SLEEP IN HALLS — Some boys feel they are lucky to get this kind of sleeping accommodation. They say it's better than the crowded dormitories.

CROWDED LIBRARY — This is how youngsters at the Oakland County Children's Home have to crowd together for regular library class every day. The library would be more popular if less crowded, officials say. The room serves a double purpose. It is the only place with chairs that children and visitors can meet inside the home.

FOR 16 BOYS—Eight double-decker beds are crammed into this boy's dormitory with the result that state law is being violated. In an area designed for six beds, the space between bunks is less than three-feet apart. Pontiac Press Photos

Built to House 95--Now Has 160

Open house at the Oakland County Children's Home May 18 will give the public an opportunity to see its facilities first-hand.

The home has a reputation of being one of the best in the state. Officials are proud of it.

But the reputation would be better earned, they feel, if crowded conditions could be relieved.

Built in 1929 for 90-95 youngsters, the home has steadily soared above that mark until nowadays it averages 150-160 children daily.

Despite recent action by the Board of Supervisors, increase in the home's facilities has lagged behind the tremendous Oakland County population rise.

One result is there are more children than dormitory space.

Extra beds have been crammed into existing dormitories to relieve the overflow.

Two vocational classrooms have been converted into sleeping quarters. Children are sleeping in other rooms formerly used for rescreation.

And they are sleeping in halls.

The cut in classroom space means that the few schoolrooms left are filled to the brim. In one recent ninth grade class there were 67 youngsters—more than twice the amount in a normal school and four times the number recommended for disturbed children.

The public, which would foot the bill if new facilities are built, is asked to inspect the crowded conditions Sunday.

Uppermost in everyone's mind is whether new facilities are forthcoming.

A recent survey at the home recommended additional outside cottages for special types of youngsters, plus a school with facilities equal to a regular elementary school.

It would be built next to the home, leaving the present building for dormitory and recreational purposes.

Police Seize Boy, 5, for Felony Attempt

CHICAGO (AP)— Police seized a 5-year-old boy yesterday after, they said, they caught him rifling an auto glove compartment and earlier had watched him attempt to enter half a dozen parked cars.

When two policemen attempted to take the youngster into custody he rolled up the car windows and locked the doors. However, they coaxed him into unlocking the doors when they warned him he might have trouble breathing with the windows closed.

Asked what he was doing in the car, the boy replied, "Looking for money."

"He's the youngest prisoner I've ever seen held for a felony in 34 years on the job," said Police Lt. James E. Gorman, who identified the boy as Michael Finneran.

Gorman said that Michael's father Edward, 30, when informed of the boy's action, exclaimed: "Oh, he's done that before!"

The father was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Police said Michael will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Rejected Taipei Suitor Kills Himself and Girl

TAIPEI (AP)—Fu Lin-sheng, 38, decided to renew a marriage proposal which had been turned down.

His hoped-for bride, Sung Ching, and her father would not let him into the house in the village of San Hsia, near Taipei.

"It's no use wasting your time," said the father. "My daughter won't marry you."

Fu replied by pulling the pin on a hand grenade. He and the girl were killed and her father had a leg blown off.

Held in Fatal Stabbing of His Uncle in Albion

ALBION (AP)—Police held 21-year-old Richard Kline today in the fatal Sunday stabbing of his 55-year-old uncle, George Ballantine. Both are of Albion.

Prosecutor Noble Moore said Kline admitted the slaying, saying he stabbed his uncle with a 10-inch butcher knife when Ballantine intervened in an argument between the young man and his mother over money.

Girl Scouts at Waterford Plan Camporee May 17

Some 200 Waterford Township Girl Scouts will have their 2nd camporee the weekend of May 17, at Pontiac Lake Recreation area.

The three-day camput is under the supervision of Mrs. Jay Bendall, and each girl will furnish her own tent, food and other necessary equipment.

All of the food will be cooked on charcoal fires, and will be ated by the girls together as troops. There will be two adults with each of the township troops, according to Mrs. Bendall.

The big event of the Camporee will be the camp fire to be lighted at 8 p.m. Saturday night. Parents, friends and Girl Scouts from outside troops have been invited to this affair, featuring community singing and troop amateur presentations.

Sunday morning, church services for girls of the Catholic faith, will be held in the big barn on the premises. The Protestant scouts will have a hill-side service, under the direction of Rev. Roy Lambert of the Waterford Township Presbyterian Church.

Youth Charged in Poisonings

Arrested in Missouri After Nurse, 2 Students Eat Arsenic in Food

PLATTE CITY, Mo. (AP)—An 18-year-old scholarship student at Park College has been charged with mixing arsenic in food eaten by a school nurse and two coeds.

"I think someone's after me," said Hubert McKinley Fulkerson Jr., of Muskogee, Okla., after his arraignment yesterday. "There is evidence pointing to me because I had access to arsenic in the chemistry laboratory."

The victims, Luella Matthews, Jon Porter and Shirley Flint, were reported in good condition at Waverly Medical Center on the campus. They became ill Thursday after eating luncheon at the center.

Mrs. Matthews is a nurse. Miss Porter is from Greenfield, Mo., and Miss Flint from Dow, Iowa.

Fulkerson was taken to Neurological Hospital in Kansas City shortly after they became ill. He was arrested yesterday and arraigned before Platte County Magistrate John Yeaman. No plea was entered and he was taken to the county jail.

Preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow to allow the youth's parents time to engage an attorney.

The formal charge against Fulkerson is mingling poison with food with intent to kill or injure. The penalty upon conviction is five years in prison to death.

The campus already was jittery over six fires last week when the poisonings became known. Dr. Robert E. Long, president of the college, said the fires were set.

Dr. Long said Fulkerson suffered a head injury about 18 months ago when he was hit by a baseball and has blacked out three times at school.

Waterford Opens Drive

Will Establish Blood Bank

Waterford Township is one of the few communities in the state that does not have a Blood Bank program, and something is now being done about it, according to Mrs. Terry LeRoy.

Sponsored by the Waterford Township Business and Professional Women's Club, a campaign is now in progress to interest area people in the necessity of such a project.

Working in conjuction with the American Red Cross, who supply the doctors and nurses, the Blood Bank unit must be staffed with local volunteer help, and "this is only one small phase of this important project," Mrs. LeRoy said.

"Every organization in Waterford Township has to be contacted for volunteers to help educate the community on what is done with donated blood, how the Blood Bank operates, and why it is so necessary," she added.

A donor to the bank may get credit individually, through various organizations, or he may have his credit given to the community in general, Mrs. LeRoy explained.

This type of program was attempted in the township some time ago, but because there were not the required 125 donors to get the Blood Bank started, the project was dropped.

A steering committee plans to meet with representatives from groups and clubs in the community, at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 21.

They will be trained on how to recruit blood donors and learn about the procedure of setting up the unit, scheduled to be at the C.A.I. Building, October 22nd.

"This is the one thing in the world, that connot be manufactured," Mrs. LeRoy said, "and when blood is needed, there just is no substitute for it," she concluded.

State Lawmaker Asks Social Security Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) today proposed a change in social security laws to align them, he said, with "the facts of our present economic life."

Dingell said he was introducing a bill to increase to $1,800 a year the amount a person can earn and still receive his full social security benefit. The present limitation is $1,200.

Dingell said in a statement that his bill would offer some help for elderly people caught in the price squeeze of rising costs.

He said the effect on the trust fund of such a change would be so moderate that it would not necessarily call for any increase in the tax rate.

Woman Traveling in Wheel Chair Given Train Ride

KEENE, N. H. (AP) — A train ride was one of the nicest Mother's Day gifts crippled Mrs. Eva Lambert, 59, could have received.

The train took her from Jacksonville, Fla., to Keene—a trip she had planned to make by hitchhiking in her wheel chair.

Mrs. Lambert, a victim of multiple sclerosis and heart trouble, was wheeling her chair 50 miles north of Jacksonville last week when she was spotted by James Woodhouse, 28.

She said her husband died three weeks ago and she was going back to Springfield, Vt., to sell the old family homestead.

Woodhouse bought the proud woman a train ticket and a white suitcase, crated her two dogs and a cat and pinned a corsage of flowers on her for the ride north.

She arrived at a friend's house here last night.

During her lifetime, Mrs. Lambert has cared for 26 foster children.

Study Shows South Splits Many Ballots

Increase Seen in One-Party Voting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Serious voters are inclined to go all the way with the party of their choice, says a University of Michigan research team, and casual voters frequently choose the straight ticket as the easiest way out.

The result, says the team's report, is a "clear increase in one-party voting."

President Eisenhower's personal popularity split many ballots in 1952 and 1956, especially in the South where the voting traditionally favors the Democrats, the report said.

The nationwide study, conducted by the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center, found that 56 per cent of the voters chose a straight party ticket in the 1956 general election.

SOME SPLIT

Six per cent voted a straight ticket except for president, the report said, and 11 per cent split their ticket at both the national and local levels.

ADDRESSES GROUP

Angus Campbell, director of the survey team, told the American Assn. for Public Opinion Research here today:

"Our studies indicate there was a substantial increase in ticket splitting between 1948 and 1965."

He said, however, that he did not see this as a sign that the two-party system is weakening.

It was, rather, the result of "conflict between candidate preference and party loyalty in the 1952 and 1956 elections," he said.

He pointed to the South as an example.

"In the south, 85 per cent of those who voted for Stevenson cast a straight Democratic ticket," he said. "One-fourth of those who voted for Eisenhower voted a straight Democratic ballot except for the Presidency."

Outside the South, he said, "we find that among both Eisenhower and Stevenson voters it is those who care a great deal whether or not they voted who were most likely to vote a straight ticket.

"In the absence of specific goal-directed motivation, however, behavior tends to be governed by a principle of least effort. The form of the ballot in presidential elections is such that a single decision, and in many states a single mark, is all that is required to resolve what otherwise could be a rather complex decision-making situation," he said.

Campbell said that studies of the 1948, 1952, 1954 and 1956 elections showed the "form of the ballot has an influence on the way voters of all degrees of political motivation make their voting decisions."

Quiet, Religious Man Marks 109th Birthday

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fountain Hughes, a quiet, religious man, passed his 109th birthday without a birthday cake.

His good friend, Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, usually brings the cake, but Waxter is in Europe.

Hughes, one of 13 children, was born in slavery in Charlottesville, Va.

His secret of long life? "I am a quiet man and go to bed every night at seven," Hughes said.

Eggs packed with the small end down are said to keep better that way.

Police, Firemen Re-Elect Carlson

He'll Represent Both Groups Upon Revision of Commission

Theodore Carlson was overwhelmingly re-elected for four years by members of the Pontiac police and fire departments to represent them on the now-being-revised three man Civil Service Commission.

Carlson won and retained his commissionership by obtaining 147 votes compared to his opponent Vance Hanger, retired captain of the Pontiac Police, who received 14 votes. One blank ballot was also cast during the election which was held from Thursday until Sunday night.

Carlson had been the fireman's representative on the commission. Since the police obtained civil service in the April 1 election, the two departments had to agree on a joint representative.

The civil service commission, which governs police and firemen's disciplinary regulations, must be composed of one representative selected by the two departments, one by the city manager and these two, in turn, choose a third man to serve on the commission.

City-appointee Gerald Guinan's term expired Friday. Therefore, the second commissioner will probably be named at tomorrow night's city commission meeting.

Hermann Stresau of Gottingen has been elected president of the German Association of Novel Writers at a meeting in Hanover.

Waterford Area Man Found Dead in Car

Adolfo DeMarco of 483 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township, was found dead in his car Saturday, apparently asphyxiated, according to Waterford Township police.

DeMarco had rented a garage at 487 Elizabeth Lake Rd. and was discovered by Roy Coulter who had just moved into the house on this property.

Coulter told police that when he was checking the garage he found DeMarco in the car which was out of gas with the ignition turned on and the battery was dead.

DeMarco had been dead about a week, according to Deputy Coroner Dr. M. G. Prosser, who was summoned by police.

Pontiac Man Facing Charge of Murder

A second degree murder warrant against Willie Thomas, 34, of 22 Beaudette St., accused of fatally shooting a man early Saturday morning, was to be issued by Prosecutor Frederick, C. Ziem today.

Assistant Prosecutor Walter R. Denison, who took a statement from Thomas about 4 a.m. Saturday following the 2:30 a.m. shooting, said Thomas would be arranged in Municipal Court today.

The victim was Austin O'Dell, 41, who lived at the same address as the accused, where the shooting occurred.

Thomas, arrested by Pontiac police shortly after the reported shooting, admitted he had shot his friend O'Dell during an argument over chipping in to buy alcoholic beverages for a party, according to Denison.

Mortar Shells Found Dating to War of 1812

CORNWALL, Ontario, (AP) — Eleven ball — shaped mortar shells, believed to date from the war of 1812, have been discovered during work on the St. Lawrence power project.

The shells, each weighing about 150 pounds, were found in the dried up area where once the Long Sault Rapids flowed. It is thought they were dumped from one of the U. S. ships carrying U. S. forces down the St. Lawrence after they were defeated at the battle of Crysler's Farm near Morrisburg, Ontario.

Rookie Reliefer Holds Tigers in Check

Fischer Saves Stay in Majors by 5-4 Verdict

Doby Blasts 2 Homers as Foytack Is Charged With 2nd Defeat

DETROIT (AP) — The victory that kept Chicago's go-go White Sox atop the American League standings also kept a 26-year-old rookie pitcher from going back to the Minor Leagues where he spent seven seasons.

Bill Fischer had one chance to show manager Al Lopez whether he deserved to survive the club's final player cut, and he responded with 7⅔ innings of airtight relief pitching yesterday in Chcago's 5-4 trumph over the Detroit Tigers.

The victory, Fischer's first in the Major Leagues, earned the sinkerball specialist the right to remain with the Sox and kept the club a half-game ahead of the New York Yankees.

Lopez, the genial senor in his first season as White Sox skipper, said he decided to give Fischer a try when Jack Harshman was belted out "because he was on the verge — I had to see about him, whether he could stick with the club, and this was about my only chance to get a look."

Although Fischer had pitched only three innings of big league baseball before yesterday, he said, "I'd been around long enough to know where I stood with the club."

Fischer said the home runs, two by Larry Doby that drove in four runs and one by Walt Dropo that accounted for the other, "were the prettiest homers I've even seen."

On the second weekend in May just a year ago, Fischer made the trip to Detroit with the White Sox but didn't see service and was cut from the squad. Had Harshman stayed out of trouble, it's likely Fischer would have been shipped out again.

Instead, he relieved Harshman in the second inning, got Tiger shortstop Harvey Kuenn to hit into an inning-ending double play and then faced only 23 batters — two over the minimum — for the next seven innings.

All the Sox damage was done at the expense of Paul Foytack, trying for his third victory and absorbing his second setback instead. He was a "gopher ball" victim three times, and all the White Sox home runs were tremendous upper deck blasts.

Robinson Paces Cincy Attack

Redlegs Win 12th Straight

NEW YORK (INS) — For a player who cost only $3,000, Frank Robinson has been worth a million bucks to the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The 21-year-old slugger solved Cincinnati's age-old leftfield problem in 1956 as a rookie and now he is making Birdie Tebbets forget about the loss of Ted Kluszewski's big bat.

Robinson has filled in for Klu as clean-up hitter and he's been mopping up opposing pitchers so effectively that Cincinnati now boasts a 12-game winning steak and a share of first place with with Milwaukee's classy Braves.

The winning streak — longest in the National League since 1953 .. was constructed entirely on the road and reached its present length yesterday when the Redlegs beat the Cubs twice at Chicago, 7 to 5 and 7 to 1.

Robinson, who signed with the Redlegs for just $3,000 after graduating from an Oakland, Calif., high schol, led the Cincinnati attack during the three-game Cub series with eight hits in 13 at bats.

He drove in four runs with six hits during the doubleheader and lifted his batting average to a league high of .396.

Robinson scored the run in the first game that broke a 5-all tie and gave the win to Raul Sanchez over Elmer Singleton. He homered in the nightcap to open the scoring and start Don Gross to a victory over Tom Poholsky.

But the Redlegs couldn't pull away from Milwaukee which stayed in a deadlock for first place by thumping St. Louis twice, 4 to 2 and 10 to 4.

The Broklyn Dodgers snapped a four-game losing streak behind Johnny Podres' hurling as they beat the New York Giants, 5 to 0. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh split a pair, the Phils taking the 6-to-2 opener and the Pirates ending a seven-game losing streak in the 6-to-1 second match.

In the American league, homers by Andy Carey and Mickey Mantle gave the New York Yankees a 4-to-3 win over Baltimore. Virgil Trucks won his fifth as Kansas City dumped Cleveland, 9 to 2, but the Indians took the nightcap 7 to 4. Tom Brewer's two-hitter gave Boston a 10-to-0 win over Washington before the Senators evened matters by capturing the afterpiece, 6 to 2.

Carey hit two Yankee homers while Mantle's broke a 3-all tie in the eighth. Bob Grim won in relief and Skinny Brown lost.

THE SAFE SIGN — Umpire John Rice gives the "safe" sign as Tiger first baseman Ray Boone hopes to make a pickoff tag on Jim Landis, Chicago outfielder who slides back to first base in yesterday's game at Briggs Stadium. The Sox won the game, 5-4.

Racing Tragedy May Halt Mille Miglia

BRESCIA, Italy (AP)—The death knell may have sounded for the Mille Miglia, last of the great European open road races, because of Sunday's tragic toll of 13 lives lost in the 1957 renewal.

Twelve died when the powerful, 3,800 c.c. Ferrari driven by Spain's millionaire playboy sportsman, Marquis Alfonso De Portago, blew a tire at 150 miles per hour and careened into crowds lining the highway near Mantua, about 40 miles from here.

De Portago and his companion, Edmund (Eddy) Nelsen of Beloit, Wis., and Paris, were crushed to death.

The hurtling car veering first to the left and then to the right side of the road, killed 10 spectators, five of them children. Several other onlookers were injured.

Another accident in the 1,000-mile race from Brescia to Rome and back took the life of Josef Goettgens of the Netherlands. His car, a Triumph, skidded on wet pavemeny near Florence and crashed into a road guard. Goettgens died of a fractured skull.

The toll boosted to 18 the number of fatalities in the race in the last two years and newspapers immediately predicted new demands would be made in the Italian Parliament to cancel the classic. The Mille Miglia has stood alone as the last big open road race in Europe since the Le Mans race was dropped after the 90-death tragedy in 1955.

This year's race was approved only after officials pledged strict enforcement of safety regulations. In an attempt to minimize the danger to drivers and spectators alike, curves along the route were banked with straw bales, police were stationed along the roads to hold back crowds, and the entries reduced from 600 to 350.

De Portago, internationally known in bobsledding as well as auto racing, was third behind Piero Taruffi of Italy, the eventual winner, and Wolfgang Von Tripps of Germany at the time of the accident.

Only minutes before, he had been informed of his standing during a brief stopover at Mantua and gunned his car at maximum speed in an attempt to overtake the leaders.

Witnesses said the car leaped over a canal to the left of the highway, crushed several spectators, then careened back over the canal, across the road and into the crowd there. Two of the children killed were struck by a concrete milestone which the car uprooted and hurled into the crowd.

Big Bass Reward of Angler on 1st Visit to Lake

On his first visit to Pontiac Lake recently, Rochester's Richard Malcolm, 302 Northwood, was highly rewarded with one of the largest bass taken in this area in some time. Pontiac Lake is an "open" lake.

Never having fished the lake, Malcolm and his angling pal, Charles Warford, decided to try it after reading Pontiac Press story about the fishing there.

What happened would warm the heart of any angler. Malcolm reported that Warford got a 4-pound, 7-ounce fish. It was his first bass in years of fishing. "I was surprised," Malcolm said, "when I landed a 21-inch, 6-pounds, 7-ounce bass that measured 17½ inches around. We also got a 2-pounder that looked like a minnow compared to the others." All were taken on night crawlers used with spinning gear.

At that time, both Olympic diving champion Pat McCormick, the 1956 winner, and the 1957 winner—as determined by the annual Associated Press poll on the year's top athletes—will be honored at a banquet here.

Single Wing Missing in Final 'M' Session

ANN ARBOR — Something was missing at the University of Michigan's annual spring scrimmage game Saturday.

After "five" periods of football it was evident that not one single wing play had been used, and when the session ended the varsity eked out a 31-25 decision over the second stringers.

Actually, the reserves (Whites) thumped the varsity (Blues) 25-12 in regulation time, and it took a 30-minute extention ordered by coach Bennie Oosterbaan before the first stringers could gain their decision.

The varsity could point out it wasn't up to full strength because such figures as fullback John Hernstein, halfback Jim Pace and quarterback Bob Ptacek were missing.

But the reserves could point to a wide edge in almost every department until they were worn down in the "fifth period." Outstanding for the reserves was sophomore quarterback Dave Brown of Battle Creek, who got spectacular assistance at times from Bill Bennett, Dave Haller, Ernie McCoy, John Bates and Jim McPherson.

It took the reserves only six plays to score after recovering a varsity fumble in midfield in the second period. The touchdown came on an 11-yard pass from quarterback Jim Sytek to end Dick Ketteman.

The varsity struck back with two touchdowns to go ahead 12-6, but the edge didn't last long as the reserves came back with three in a row.

One of the reserves' scores came on a 50-yard gallop by Brown. McCoy and Haller got others on short plunges.

Noskin hit end Dave Bowers on a 67-yard pass-run play on the first play of the "fifth period" for a touchdown, and Jim Byers and Brad Myers added others.

Jones Hangs Up Five Victories in Ohio Contest

Former Pontiac High School track star Hayes Jones has added tremendously to the luster of his athletic efforts as an Eastern Michigan College freshman.

In what athletic head George Marshall at EMC says is an unprecedented performance, Hayes Saturday won five events, tied for 3rd in another for a phenomenal 26 point total as the Hurons won over Miami University at Oxford, Ohio. 69-53.

"There is no question but that Hayes' victories in the two hurdle events, the broad jump, 100-yard and 220-yard dashes and his tie for 3rd in the high jump constitute the greatest single performance by an athlete in this school's history," Marshall said this morning. "I can't recall such a phenomenal effort by one man anywhere in this area. And it was against good, hard competition, too." Marshall added that "no one has ever even approached that record around here."

Hayes' best effort was a surprising 9.9 second century. He turned the 220 in 21.4, leaped 23 feet 11 inches in the broad jump and ran hurdles in close to record times. His tie in the high jump was at 6 feet.

Dressen Studies Senator's Offer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Directors of the Washington Senators meet today to learn whether or not Charlie Dressen wants to take a front office job with the club.

Dressen, deposed last week as field manager, spent the weekend pondering the offer of a position in which he would be expected to find new player talent to raise the Senators from the lower regions of the American League. The team is on the bottom.

The exact title of the new job never has been clarified. But Calvin Griffith, club president, has said whoever fills it should bring the Senators players to replace those who have not been able to lift the team from the second division since 1946.

The Knights of the Road Motorcycle Club will hold its annual May race meeting Sunday at Race Track Park in Mt. Clemens. Eight events are planned at the only AAA approved ½-mile dirt track in Michigan. Trophies will be awarded to the top riders.

Pontiac, Birmingham, Walled Lake and West Bloomfield are still trying to add another opponent to their football schedules. Cranbrook and Roseville are seeking additional games in both football and basketball.

The only reason the Cleveland Browns have delayed in signing their top draft choice, All-American Jim Brown of Syracuse, is that he's still being an All-American—in lacrosse.

Former Pontiac High athlete Robert Casteel is a grid candidate at Kansas. The 185-pounder is given a good chance to make one of the alternate units at KU this fall. He excelled as a freshman last year and has impressed Coach Dick Piskoty in spring workouts.

St. Mary's athletic department at Orchard Lake will honor members of the school's sports teams at the annual banquet May 26. The affair will take place in the school dining hall, at which time letters and other awards will be made.

Grady Pinner, who several years ago took a nine-pound rainbow from the Clinton River, and his brother-in-law, Wayne Hilton, have been doing all right with their trout fishing in Oakland county lakes. ★ ★ ★

Tiger manager Jack Tighe was disappointed his boys finished their 1st extended home stand with three straight losses to drop below .500 again after winning seven of the 1st nine. Home attendance total just short of 200,000 mark for an average of 11,470 per game for 17 contests. Reno Bertoia still tops hitters with .372. Al Kaline has no hit in 11 successive tilts.

Sets Hot Springs Pace

Demaret Wins by 1 Stroke

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The numerous talented youngsters who have flocked to professional golf in the past few years still have trouble with a sharp old pro like Jimmy Demaret.

Demaret, 46, was almost flawless on and around the greens yesterday as he posted a five-under-par 67 to take first money in the $20,000 Hot Springs Open.

Demaret's 73-66-70-67—276, 12 strokes under par, beat Souchak and four others by one stroke. His 66 on the tricky, 7,000-yard Hot Springs Country Club course here was the best of the tournament.

Bunched with Souchak, who had a final 70, were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., the 1956 winner who fired a 68, Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif., 68, Johnny Palmer of Tulsa, Okla., 67 and Jackie Burke of Kiamesha Lake, 68.

Demaret had been tied for second place with seven others after the third round. Souchak had taken the lead Saturday with a 67 and he was hitting the ball well in the final round, but he couldn't get his putts to drop.

The victory brought Demaret's 1957 winnigs for the year to almost $17,000. His share of yesterday's money was $2,800.

Morrow Hits 9.4 in 100-Yard Dash

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—The winds and showers that almost postponed the West Coast Relays Saturday brought mixed reactions from participants in the annual track and field carnival.

The 100-yard dash had been boomed as the feature event of the meet and, although the 9.3 seconds that meet director J. Flint Hanner forecast failed to materialize, the packed stadium was thrilled by Bobby Morrow's 9.4.

The Abilene Christian Texas speedster was followed by Leamon KING OF California and Mike Agostini of Fresno State, both with fast times of 9.5. Morrow was voted the outstanding collegian of the meet.

U. S. Racing Outlook OK

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Duane Carter, director of competition for the United States Auto Club, said today that yesterday's mass deaths in Italy's Mille Miglia may bring an end to European road racing but asserted American closed course racing should not be affected.

Thirteen persons were killed in the Italian road race, including 10 spectators struck by the hurtling car in which Spanish millionaire Marquis Alfonso De Portago lost his life.

"We have made the safety of spectators our No. 1 objective," Carter said. "On closed tracks, we are able to protect the crowds to an extent impossible in a road race."

He said there have been no spectator deaths at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway since World War II and there had been no driver fatalities in the 500-mile race for eight years until Bill Vukovich was killed in the 1955 event.

Area Thinclads Take Regional Honors

Oakland County prep track squads dominated the various MHSAA regionals in this part of the state Saturday, with five championship teams, and several runnersup.

Pontiac High School's defending state Class A champions, won their 1st title of the season, with a resounding 69-point victory at Ypsilanti. Waterford's surprising Skippers were runnersup; 35½ points back. Chiefs were 1956 champs.

Dean Wilson's Chiefs broke one record, tied another while qualifying 12 individuals plus their 880-yard relay team. PHS was 2nd in the relay, with Jim Keller, Jim Hawkins, John Phlegm and Hudson Ray. PHS took 7 firsts.

Roger Coats' 4:37.1 mile was the meet's best and Coats' best time. Woolsley of Jackson set the old mark in 1939 (4:37.4). Larry Beamer tied a 2:03.2 half mile mark set in 1941. Both were strong at the finish and loom as threats in these events in the state MHSAA meet Saturday at East Lansing. Ray won his two usual firsts, in the high and broad jumps.

In other regionals, area winners included:

Class B — at Fitzgerald, Cranbrook; at Howell, Milford; at Ann Arbor, Walled Lake; at Algonac, Lake Orion.

Birmingham was 2nd at Fitzgerald in Class A, behind East Detroit, which meets the Maples in a Wednesday afternoon dual at Birmingham. Waterford followed Pontiac at Ypsilanti. Orchard Lake St. Mary was runnerup at Vandyke Class B. Rochester was 3rd at Algonac "B". Farmington 6th at Ann Arbor.

Flint Northern topped the Ann Arbor "A" field, with Flint Central 3rd. Vikings constitute the chief threat in Chiefs' state title defense Saturday.

Crane's Tom Noteware and Bob Waddell led the parade of eight 1sts that included a school high jump record for Noteware at 5-10½.

Maples collected five 1sts, qualified 10 athletes. One will miss the state meet, as Pat Berry, 220 winner (2nd in 100) can't make it. Birmingham was defending titlist at Fitzgerald.

St. Mary's qualified two plus both relay teams.

Waterford qualified five, Troy one.

Pontiac's qualifiers were Ray, Alex Barge, Fred Brooks in the high jump (first, tie for 2nd); Phlegm (HH), Keller and Hawkins (100); Keller won (10.6); Coats mile; Archie Brooks won 440 (2nd race); Phlegm, Hawkins in the low hurdles; Tom Conley in the 220; Beamer and Pete Cox in the half mile; Mike Hardiman in shot; Ray (won high and broad jumps, shared in 2nd in relay) and 880-relay team.

Waterford's qualifiers included Cole (won high hurdles); Vogal (2nd 100); Oakley (3rd mile); Stan Jones (won low hurdles); Dumbrigue (tie 2nd in vault and 2nd in broad jump).

Lake Orion qualified five, Jim Drake, James Neph, Richard Mach, Neil Van Wagoner, John Schoff, for 100, broad jump, pole vault; 220, half mile and half mile relay (won by Orion. Orion had three firsts, 100, half mile and half mile relay).

Cornell Gains Carnegie Title

Unbeaten Rowers Go After Eastern Race Honors Saturday

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Off its great performance in the Carnegie Cup regatta, Cornell's veteran crew appeared ready for another sweep of the Eastern Sprint and Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. championships.

The Big Red all - senior eight, only unbeaten crew left in the east whipped hitherto undefeated Yale in the Carnegie Cup two - miler on Cayuga Saturday, and will be favored to do it again in the sprint championship at Princeton's Lake Carnegie next Saturday.

Cornell, winner of the Eastern Sprints and IRA titles last year but beaten by Yale in the Olympic trials, gained a measure of revenge in its record - breaking triumph on Cayuga. True, the Yales only had four rowers and the coxswain back from the Olympic champion eight, but the impressive one - length win helped salve the Big Red's wounded feelings.

Eastern Golf Test Reaches Semifinals

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Bill Davidson of Penn State met Warren Simmons of Syracuse and Gerry Goring of Princeton took on Mike Dritz of Syracuse today in semifinals of the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Championships.

The four emerged with victories from first-round and quarter-final action yesterday. Finals were scheduled later today over the par-71, 6,519-yard Naval Academy course.

Harry (Peanuts) Lowry made seven straight pinch hits for the 1952 St. Louis Cardinals.

20 Homers in 8 Games

Romeo Has Own 'Murderer's Row'

By CHUCK ABAIR

A fellow who turned to coaching after failing to make the grade in professional ball because of weak hitting has come up with one of the greatest homer-hitting aggregations in Michigan high school history.

Bud Brotebeck is as surprised as anyone every time one of his Romeo players hits a circuit smash, although he is kind of getting used to it by now.

The Bulldogs have won eight straight games and clouted a total of 20 home runs, twice getting five in one contest. Wonder if Jack Tighe has heard about them?

Nine different boys have shared in the homer parade with senior Benny Meyer and Ray Ritter, only a sophomore, leading the pack with five each. Four of them have been grand slammers, two by Ray Rinke.

Dave and Bob Proper, Dale and Dave Kiser, Tom Williams and George Green are others who have circled the bases at least once. A real modern day "murderer's row."

Brotebeck, a former Western Michigan star who played in the Phillies farm system, credits the amazing power of his team to "a lot of confidence and plenty of batting practice."

He admits the majority of the round trippers have been hit at home but does not consider the Romeo park an easy one to get homers in. "The leftfield fence is 260 feet and it tapers off to 350 in center where Meyer hit one of his. There is no fence in right," explained the 1st-year coach.

The Bulldogs break a new record every time they hit for the circuit now and still have four games to play. The old mark was 13 for a full season.

"They got off to a good start and have since been confident they could keep hitting them. I don't tell them to swing for homers but to just meet the ball," remarked Brotebeck. He said a big reason for the club's all around success is that several of the boys have played together a few years.

Meyer and many of the others helped spark the 1956 team to a 10-2 record. He is currently one of the two .500 hitters with .518. Green is swatting .524, Rinke .455 and Dale Kiser .450. Only four of the 21 team members are hitting UNDER .300. How many teams can match that?

This amazing hitting has enabled the locals to average better than 16 runs per game. They have tallied 25 twice, 22 once and were held to less than 10 just once. That was a 3-0 win over Avondale.

All this scoring has made it comparatively easy for the hurlers. Williams and Fred Browarski have each flipped a trio of victories. Rinke and freshman Bob Galan have chipped in with singles.

Will this unbelievable slugging continue is the big question around Romeo and the entire area. "I hope this homer record does not hurt them the rest of the season," commented Brotebeck today.

His team has four games to play meeting Almont, Utica and Avondale away and Rochester at home. Avondale and ace hurler Larry Laforge appear to be the biggest obstacle to an unbeaten Bulldog season. A three-run homer by Meyer in the 1st were the only runs in their earlier meeting.

Stuart Fails to Make Good at Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dick Stuart, 24, who usually strikes out or hits a home run when he steps to the plate, has struck out in the Pacific Coast League.

The tall, slugger failed to make the grade with the Hollywood Stars and has been sent by the Pittsburgh Pirates to Atlanta in the Southern Assn.

Stuart will remain on option from the Pirates through the 1957 season, but if they don't recall him at the end of it, he becomes Atlanta property.

When Stuart was taken off the Hollywood roster he was still tied for the home run leadership of the league with six, although Steve Bilko of Los Angeles passed him up over the weekend. But it will be a long time before anyone surpasses Stuart's 32 strikeouts, a record compiled in 72 times at bat.

Ohio Farmer Takes BPAA Singles Lead

DETROIT (AP) — William See of Canton, Mo., got off in front in the singles competition as the 1957 handicap tournament of the Bowling Proprietors' Assn. of America got under way over the weekend.

See, a farmer and first - year bowler with a 131 average, rolled a 928, an actual 721 plus a 207 handicap. A total of 1,084 bowlers are scheduled to take a shot at See's mark and the $500 first place singles money before the tournament ends June 16.

Joe Mazzola of Kent, Ohio, was second in the opening singles round with 890, including a 197 handicap. Sully Nardozzi of Geneva, N. Y., was third with 874, including a 246-pin spot.

Davis Leads Bucks to Triangular Win

EAST LANSING (AP) — Olympic track star Glenn Davis won three events to lead Ohio State to victory over Michigan State and Penn State in a triangular track meet on a wet field at East Lansing.

The scores in the tournament Saturday were: Ohio State, 66⅔; Michigan State, 47½, and Penn State 47.

Davis captured the broad jump, the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash, besides placing second in the 220-yard low hurdles for 18 points. The Buckeyes took seven firsts in the 14 events and tied in another.

$800 Awaiting Right Numbers for Pot-O-Gold

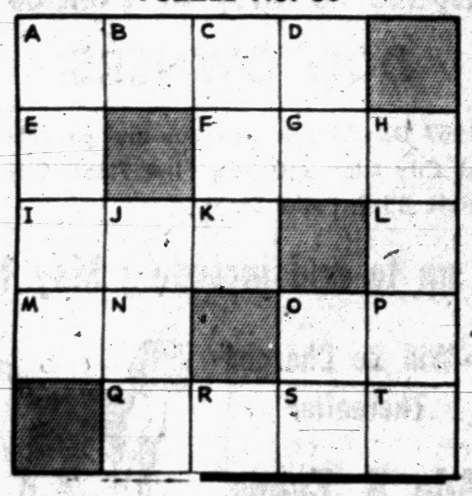

We don't need to tell you all the things you can do with $800, but we will remind you that, you may be the recipient of that amount if you can successfully pick the numbers for this week's Pot-O-Gold puzzle. Remember to write the numbers in the squares, not the word answers. Entries are disqualified if puzzle blanks contain words.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

Woman Abductor Gets Time Off 10-15 Year Term

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—Nancy Campbell, 49, refusing to talk to newsmen, walked out of the New Mexico State Prison at dawn yesterday and hurried to a waiting car.

It was six years ago that Miss Campbell, then a prominent Santa Fe physician, kidnaped 9-year-old Linda Stamm for $20,000 ransom. She has served six years of a 10-to-15 year prison term, getting time off for good behavior.

Her head was covered with a scarf and she wore dark glasses as she entered the car of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Turley of Santa Fe who were waiting to take her to San Antonio, Tex.

Six years ago Linda Stamm testified at the trial that Miss Campbell took her from home to an abandoned, windowless ranch house south of Santa Fe.

The child was found unharmed 30 hours later in the kidnaper's yellow convertible, only a few feet from where officers captured Miss Campbell as she reached for the ransom.

Miss Campbell's license to practice medicine in New Mexico has been revoked and officials have indicated it will be almost impossible for her to obtain another.

Queen, Philip to Come to U. S.

Report British Royalty to Visit Washington in Early October

WASHINGTON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II of Britain and Prince Philip are due to visit the United States for about 10 days in early October, according to plans which have been worked out between Washington and London.

Persons close to the negotiations have reported that the Queen's formal acceptance to an invitation from President Eisenhower to come to Washington probably will be received here in two to three weeks. It has been pending for months while officials worked out details.

Elizabeth and Philip are expected to visit places other than Washington but diplomats said they did not know what towns and cities would make up the itinerary except that it seems certain Jamestown, Va., would be included. Talk of an invitation to the Queen was started originally by sponsors of this year's celebration of Jamestown's historic past.

So far all exchanges between Washington and London on the Queen's projected visit have been handled primarily by the U. S. Embassy in London and have been covered with as much official secrecy as the authorities could muster. This is normal in the case of an invitation by the President to the chief of another state. Nevertheless word usually gets around and reports have been current for about a year that the President would invite Elizabeth and Philip to Washington and that she would accept.

When Patrick Goldring, firm critic of London's Daily Workers, resigned he was the fourth member of the staff to quit over the Hungary massacre.

VERTIJET — The U. S. Air Force X-13 Vertijet, a jet-powered vertical take-off and landing research plane, takes off from a ground service trailer at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The plane, developed by the Ryan Aeronautical Co., made its first complete flight sequence last month. Rising and descending on a column of exhaust gases, the X-13 depends solely on thrust from its jet engine for both direct lift and level flight.

Italian Producers Make Big Plans for New Firm

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The old established producing firm of Ponti-De Laurentiis which made "War and Peace," "La Strada" and "Gold of Naples" is no more! A new partnership has now been formed by Carlos Ponti and Marcello Girosi.

Both producers, now in Hollywood, reveal fabulous plans to put it mildly. One picture will be "The Three Sisters," based on Chekhov's famous play.

The Italian producers want Ingrid Bergman, Sophia Loren and Audrey Hepburn for the three leads—but the only one they can be sure of is Sophia, who has made many films for Ponti.

Since she won't be free for some time, the first Ponti-Girosi picture will be "The Sea of the Dead," by Brazilian novelist Jorge Amado.

Doris Day's favorite boy friend and business partner Marty Melcher took time out from his picture "Green Eyes" at Warners to tell me of an idea he has for Doris.

"We have a story called 'The Lady and the Bandit,'" said Marty, "which, if it works out, will co-star Doris and Dean Martin. It's a very cute idea with Doris as a suffragette and Dean as a lovable bandit. I've turned it over to a director, and if we're able to work it out, this will be made before the end of the year."

Sunday, the Melchers gave a barbecue for the visiting newspapermen who are in the Perlberg-Seaton picture, "Teacher's Pet."

LUCKY LYNN BARTON

Two dreams came true in the life of Lynn Barton, pretty model, with but a single flip of the wheel of fortune. She'd always wanted to be a movie star — and she'd always wanted to meet Elvis Presley.

So it's Lynn's good luck to be chosen from dozens of girls by producer Pan Berman to play one of the top femme roles in "Jailhouse Rock" with Elvis.

Pan selected the young beauty after he saw her picture, "Play Girl of the Month" in a national magazine. The other good femme part in Elvis' film goes to Judy Tyler.

When Paul Newman is on location in Europe for "A Time to Love" and a Time to Die," he won't be without Joanne Woodward's company. Joanne has taken Claire Bloom's house in London and will live there during August and September.

The reason I know is because 20th asked Joanne to do personal appearances with "Three Faces of Eve" during those months and she replied that she was not available because she would be in Europe.

It doesn't look to me as if there is any chance of Paul getting his immediate freedom, however, because Mrs. Newman is still going to remain Mrs. Newman for the time being at least.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Those two greats, Dick Rogers and Oscar Hammerstein, are expected here today to see the Todd-AO test Leon Shamroy shot of Mitzi Gaynor for "South Pacific."

Marlon Brando's former fiancee (?), Josianne Berenger, has that look when she's with singer Henri Phillip, formerly wed to Susan Harrison, young starlet.

Dean Martin does the Tuesday night show at the Cocoanut Grove for Tony Martin, who has to be at the Copacabana in New York. The McGuire sisters open Wednesday.

Ardis and Bill Holden reached New York by plane yesterday after five months away from home. They'll only stay in town a few days, returning here Wednesday.

Nate Gross, working in "Teacher's Pet," has decided he'd rather be a columnist on the Chicago American than an actor—the lights are too hot. Ann Marsters, of the same paper, agrees.

Kisses His Wife Goodby, Prisoner Returns to Cell

WESTMORELAND, N. H. (AP)—Emil Jantti, 53, kissed his wife goodby at the gate of Cheshire County Jail last night and walked inside.

Sheriff Frank Walker said Jantti, serving 30 days for an escape last March, broke out again last Friday by walking through a fence hole he was sent to repair.

Jantti spent two days in the woods and then went home to Winchester. After supper, his wife drove him back to the jail.

Susan Hayward Allowed to Take Sons Home

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Actress Susan Hayward now can take her 12-year-old twin sons to her Carrolton, Ga., home under an agreement reached with her divorced husband, actor Jess Barker.

The agreement was approved in Superior Court yesterday. The two boys, Timothy and Gregory, will join the actress and her new husband, attorney Floyd Eaton Chalkley, after finishing their current school term and visiting Barker for part of the summer.

It Came Late for Rojas

Colombia Ruler Enjoyed His First Taste of Power

By International News Service

Power came late in life to Gustavo Rojas Pinilla of Colombia, and perhaps that is why he found its taste so sweet.

The American-educated engineer and lieutenant general had shown no outward sign of political aspirations before 1953.

Then a new crisis in the South American republic sent the army into action, "for the peace of the nation and the future of Colombia."

As usual with such actions in Latin America, the army installed its commander, Rojas Pinilla. Tension-weary members of opposing Liberal and Conservative Parties cheered.

SHOWS IMPATIENCE

But the tall, solidly built, skilled soldier with an attractive smile, soon showed he was sometimes impatient and inflexible. He evidenced a growing taste for power.

Colombians of almost all parties cheered again Friday — four years later — when the dictator-president was deposed in a bloodless coup by the same army men who had installed him.

The balding, clean-cut general was born in Tunja, Colombia, on March 12, 1900. He entered the army young and became an artillery specialist.

For three years he studied engineering at Tri-State College, Angola, Ind., and worked for some time on an automobile assembly line in the Midwest.

He rose rapidly in the army. He was director of Colombia's War College in 1944, director of aeronautics in 1946-47, commander of the first brigade, and became a lieutenant general by 1949.

When the Korean War broke out, he served as a staff officer with the contingent that became the battle-trained corps of Colombia's highly skilled peace-time army.

But his political career showed no parallel to his military years. He was irritated by the press, closed one liberal paper and set up his own government-run chain. He forced the two parties into common opposition to his military dictatorship, offended first protestant circles and then the Roman Catholics and finally got the national constituent and legislative assembly to re-elect him to a four year term. The members voted Wednesday as armored cars and soldiers guarded the capitol.

Gutter-Type Pigeons End Up Blind Drunk

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Thirsty Portland pigeons spotted a brimfull city gutter and converged to delicately dip their bills.

Within minutes, nearly all were staggering blindly about. Someone, it appears, emptied a radiator filled with alcoholic antifreeze into the gutter only moments before.

Fire Department Tosses Water on Hot Strip Act

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Burlesque stripper Tangerine has been cooled off by the Fire Department.

Tangerine, who is really Dorothy Hopson, 26, has been using a ring of flame in her act. The Fire Department didn't like it—the fire hazard — and sought a complaint yesterday.

Tangerine contended her fire actually is harmless, and, producing a small purse which she said contained her entire costume offered a demonstration at a deputy city attorney's hearing.

The offer brought things to a quick close. Officials agreed to forget the fire hazard complaint, with these stipulations:

No fire dancing in the city attorney's office.

Stock Market Strides Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market stepped further ahead today as nonferrous metals and oils made gains in early trading.

Among pivotal issues the gains ran from fractions to around a point or so. A few stocks went ahead as much as 2.

A prediction by Commerce Secretary Weeks' business advisory council that 1957 business will be better than in 1956 and a forecast by Labor Secretary Mitchell that employment will reach a record 68 million this summer were bullish. But signs of even tighter money and of a holddown on inventories by manufacturers made the background mixed.

Most aluminums and coppers rose as they made up somewhat for their poor showing last week. Alcoa was ahead more than a point. Aluminum gained around a point. Other gainers were Kaiser Aluminum, Anaconda and American Smelting. International Nickel added 2.

Wheat Futures Drop Lower

CHICAGO (AP)—A government report boosting indicated winter wheat production caused selling which pushed almost all grain futures downward in active early board of trade dealings today.

Wheat futures dipped around a cent at times before meeting support. Trade authorities said the government boost of about 30 million bushels, in indicated production did not cause as much selling as anticipated, however.

Corn met some support after an early downturn, with buying based partly on comparatively light receipts. Soybeans dipped around a cent and then recovered somewhat.

Near the end of the first hour old style wheat was ¼ to 1⅜ lower, May $2.16⅜, new style wheat was unchanged to ¾ lower, July $2.07⅞, corn was unchanged to ⅜ higher, May $1.30¾, oats were ½ lower to ⅛ higher, May 70¾, rye was ½ to ¾ lower, May $1.14¾, soybeans were ⅛ to lower, May $2.41, and lard was 12 to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $12.95.

Chrysler, UAW Reach Accord

Colbert-Reuther Session Ends Strike Threat on Job Transfer Rights

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers Union have reached agreement on a dispute over job transfer rights that threatened to erupt in a full-scale strike.

L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler, and Walter P. Reuther, president of the UAW, announced settlement of the controversy after a six-hour closed-door meeting Saturday night.

Both Colbert and Reuther expressed complete satisfaction with the settlement as did Pat Caruso, president of Local 212 which had voted to ask strike authorization in the dispute.

"The agreement is a good one," said Caruso. "They not only clarified the Twinsburg and Delaware situations but have also given members of Local 212 the right to move between existing plants or to new plants in the corporation."

The union had claimed it was unable to get satisfactory commitments on job protection for Detroit members whose work was being transferred to Chrysler plants at Twinsburg, Ohio and Newark, Del. The company had insisted it already had an agreement with the international union on the subject.

Caruso, to back up his demands, had prohibited the moving of equipment from Chrysler Detroit plants. The company had countered with firings and suspensions of employes refusing to comply with orders to move fixtures and dyes.

Sporadic walkouts resulted, curtailing Chrysler production almost two weeks.

Reuther stepped into the dispute after the company filed a five million dollar suit against the local charging it violated the Taft-Hartley Act and the UAW contract.

4 in Family Die After Collision

Burn to Death as Bus, Station Wagon Crash on Ohio Turnpike

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Four members of a Pennsylvania family burned to death shortly before midnight last night after the collision of a Greyhound bus and a station wagon on the Ohio Turnpike four miles west of the Youngstown interchange.

The State Highway Patrol said the station wagon burst into flames after it was struck from the rear by the bus. Both were eastbound.

The dead were identified as Murray Lockard Sr., 45, of Blairsville, Pa.; his wife, Mary Jane, 42; their son, James Maurice, about 14; and a daughter, Elizabeth Jane, about 12. Their identification was not established until more than six hours after the crash.

Officers said the bus driver, whom they identified as Edward Bukosky, 30, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was charged with second-degree manslaughter. They said he was unable to give a suitable explanation for the collision.

The station wagon was knocked more than 800 feet down the road by the impact but remained upright, police said.

A few of the 40 passengers on the bus—which was bound for Pittsburgh from Cleveland — were shaken up but none required hospital treatment, the patrol said.

Both eastbound lanes of the road were blocked temporarily, but one lane was opened to traffic a few minutes after the crash.

Holdup Bandit Seized in Detroit

Man Who Robbed Motel Early Saturday Found at Friend's Home

The bandit who held up the St. Christopher Motel, at 3915 Telegraph Rd., early Saturday morning, and then led police on a wild chase was finally captured at the home of a friend in Detroit, Saturday night, police said today.

Walter L. Burrell, 31, of 16515 LaSalle St., Detroit, a parolee from Jackson Prison, was chased on foot into a swampy area near the motel by Bloomfield Township and State Police who arrived at the scene as he was driving away.

Burrell, who admitted 17 armed robberies since Jan. 12, said he hid in the swamp all night while police searched so close that he could hear their voices. At daylight he hitch-hiked his way to Detroit, according to police.

Detroit detectives said they captured him after following a lead furnished by an unidentified informant. They estimated his total loot at $7,000.

Air Force May Clear His Name

Retrial for Billy Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Mitchell's name may yet be cleared —by the separate Air Force on behalf of which the Army convicted him of insubordination.

The Air Force announced last night that the former Army brigadier general, who died 21 years ago, will be given a retrial this week of the charges against him.

The closed hearing will be before the Air Force Board for Correction of Military Records. The board's recommendation would go to Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas, who would have authority, if he chose, to toss out the court - martial conviction returned by nine Army generals in 1925.

After serving as Air Force commander during World War I, Mitchell spoke out sharply, and publicly, in the postwar years, charging incompetency and inefficiency in the Army and Navy air services. Among other things, he called for a separate air force, which was established after World War II.

But at the time he was arguing, most military men disagreed with his views. He was charged and convicted not for the views he held but for advocating them publicly.

After his conviction on insubordination charges, he chose to resign rather than be suspended from his Army rank.

A formal request for a review was filed by Mitchell's son William Mitchell Jr. The son presumably will appear before the board to plead in his father's behalf.

A spokesman said the board also could consider any errors of record, and the emotional climate of the period in which Mitchell was tried.

Comic's Future Still Uncertain

He Hopes to Be Doing New Hour-Long Show Next Season

By AGRA BAER

NEW YORK (INS)—Sid Caesar's in a thoughtful mood.

He's looking to the future with an eye on his past performances, and he's also in a mood to answer his critics.

"I don't know exactly what I'm going to do next season," says Sid—his Saturday NBC spot is going to be scrapped—"but I'm not going to quit television in favor of any other medium. I like my work, it's the way that I express myself, but I have to work a certain way."

The threat of being out of a job isn't bothering Sid who reportedly can pick up the phone this minute and cement a deal with another network.

"But I want an hour show. I like to put in a six-day week preparing it. I'm not a perfectionist, but looking back on this season I can see some of the things that were wrong."

Sid won't cite specifics, but says: "Some of the things I thought were bad were the best received. Some I thought were good got 'nothing' reactions."

NO WIFE YET

The question of who'll be Caesar's wife next fall is undecided. Sid won't say if he even plans having one.

I asked him if his award-winning writers and his general production crew will tag along with him when he finds the spot he's looking for.

"It's up to them," he anssered.

Caesar hasn't exactly made a habit of talking to reporters. "I'm not much of a talker. On camera it's different, off I sort of sit in a corner and listen."

As a result some of his statements—in the small, economy size—seem curt, but were never meant to come out that way. He is a guy who thrives on admiration and who will take criticism, analyze and evaluate it until he comes up with an answer.

It has been argued that Caesar is "over the head" of that vague group known as the "average audience."

WON'T 'PLAY DOWN'

"I will not 'play down' to a television audience," he says adamantly. "There is no reason to."

One thing's sure, no matter where Sid's show goes next season, it'll be done the way he wants it. This summer, he plans to "get acquainted with his family. No work, no nothing except lazy days at home.

"At least," Sid amends, "I plan to take a short vacation. I'm happy when I'm working."

A stream in California is known as the West Fork of the South Fork of the North Fork of the San Joaquin River.

Peaceful Uses of Atom Viewed

U.S., 21 Latin American Nations Study Creation of Nuclear 'Community'

BROOKHAVEN, N.Y., (AP)—The United States and 21 Latin-American nations open today a many-sided study of means to speed the peaceful uses of the atom on an intercontinental scale.

More than 200 scientists and engineers from the two continents are attending the sessions here on Long Island. They will last five days.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower was scheduled to deliver the opening address. He was President Eisenhower's spokesman on the Inter-American Committee of Presidential representatives which recently recommended a commission to promote the development of nuclear energy in Latin America.

The Brookhaven conference will hear reports from United States scientists on uses of the atom in medicine, industry, biology and agriculture.

It requires about 15 minutes of camera shooting time for each minute of finished film to be produced on a typical television drama show.

You May Not Realize the Power You Have

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Do you know you're pretty lucky?

But I understate it. You're downright pampered—"spoiled rotten."

You're not only living in the best-fed, best clothed, best-governed country—but now also in the best entertained. And you're probably getting the biggest ego in the world because you've now become a TV critic with tremendous power to make and break stars.

Talk about "influential" Broadway drama critics!

You make big men out of Lawrence Welk and Tennessee Ernie Ford. You can do more magic with that dial than Aladdin could with his lamp.

And folks outside of New York especially have the power.

The Hollywood and New York big shots used to think they ran Show business. No, it's the ordinary Joes between the coasts, bless their little cotton-pickin', dial-twistin' hearts.

"Many New Yorkers like Sid Caesar," I told a midwestern woman.

"We don't," she said. "We don't think he has any sense of humor."

I was amazed—his satirical comedy isn't broad enough.

"How do you feel about Steverino and Ed?" I asked.

"A lot of us wonder why Ed has so many foreign stars where there are plenty of people right here in America who should get the work."

Again I was astonished. Ed, in his roaming, searching for great acts, probably never thought of that.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Marilyn Monroe chose not to testify in California's case vs. Confidential . . . If Frank Costello'd talk, he could get $1,000,000 for his life story, to be published after his death . . . CBS is dangling dough in front of Jackie Gleason to get him to continue weekly, but he still says no.

Barbara Nichols, getting so much publicity now in Hollywood, was about to give up her acting ambitions two years ago to become a strip teaser. Big lawsuit coming up! Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt sued for $100,000 by St. Louis ad man Frank Kurka as a result of fight in a hotel lobby a year ago which I witnessed. Row started when somebody booed an entertainer, a woman hit Kurka with her shoe, and Vanderbilt joined in. Now I'm to be a witness.

BARBARA NICHOLS

EARL'S PEARLS: An Ohio husband told his wife: "Yes, we HAVE been through a lot together . . . everything I had!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Why do people have a headache the morning after — when they didn't use it the night before? —That's Earl, brother.

Report Anti-Red Kings to Meet

Hussein, Saud to Join Faisal for Talks in Iraq, Diplomatic Sources Say

BAGHDAD (AP)—Reports mounted today that the Arab world's three leading anti-Communist kings will meet this week in Iraq.

Diplomatic sources said King Hussein of Jordan would join King Saud of Saudi Arabia and Faisal of Iraq, possibly Thursday, for their first joint talks since the 21-year-old Jordanian ousted leftist and pro-Egyptian forces from control of his government.

The sources said the conference would be in Baghdad, where Saud is visiting; or at Habbaniyah, site of a British military and air base 45 miles west of Baghdad.

In Amman, Hussein's capital, there was renewed evidence of dissension in the Egyptian-led Arab bloc. But here in Baghdad, where the kings of Saudi Arabia and Iraq were already meeting, it was reported King Saud was trying to smooth relations between this pro-Western country and Egypt.

Qualified sources said Hussein's arrival while Saud is still here would further bolster the plans of Iraqi Premier Nuri Said for a stronger bond between the three Arab kingdoms.

Saud, the traditional enemy of the Hashemite family ruling Iraq and Jordan, arrived Saturday. He kissed cheeks fraternally with Iraq's 22-year-old King Faisal. Hussein's cousin. Negotiations got under way yesterday on an unlimited Iraq-Saudi Arabia trade agreement.

Germany Seeks Promise British Troops Will Stay

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Twelve years after the Allies crushed Hitler, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has an ironic task: To convince the Germans that the British will stay in Germany.

Macmillan's job in visiting West Germany Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn was the larger one also of avoiding a crisis inside the 15-nation NATO membership.

Signs of a crisis developed last month when Britain suddenly announced a revolutionary defense policy. The shock was felt in the United States as well as Germany.

Britain dramatically announced that the British army, navy and air force soon would be virtually halved, that the battleship is doomed like the dodo, that ancient regiments will retreat into the limbo of old colored prints, that the conscripted soldier would become out of date and that even supersonic fighter planes would have had their day.

NATO CONTRIBUTION

This came at a time just after Adenauer had pushed through his plan to raise conventionally armed German divisions as a big contribution to NATO.

The British defense switch clearly was aimed at aiding the wobbly British economy. Britain has been wobbly since the war she did so much to help win. In contrast, the economy of West Germany, a loser in the war, has boomed.

With American willingness to supply atomic weapons—not the warheads which still are under Washington control — to NATO allies, Moscow opened up a diplomatic offensive.

The Soviet Union sent savage notes to Bonn and other NATO partners warning them of possible annihilation if they allowed their nations to become atomic war bases.

Adenauer's job, already tough in view of Socialist opposition to his Soviet and military defense policies, became complicated. He needs to win the September elections from an electorate which Moscow is doing its best to frighten.

The Soviet note warned West Germany particularly it might become "one big cemetery" if it accepted atomic weapons.

IN THE FRONT LINE

Britain's military plan as outlined did not help Adenauer either because of the official admission that the British Isles cannot "now" be defended in an atomic war. Germany of course is in the front line by its geographical position.

Macmillan must try to quiet Adenauer's fear that the British reduction of troops in West Germany from 80,000 to 50,000 men is not the beginning of a complete retreat from the continent.

NATO Supreme Allied Commander Gen. Lauris Norstad also is unhappy over the British cuts.

NATO will depend on atomic power as "the great deterrent" to possible war, but Norstad also contends there must be a minimum of 30 allied divisions to hold the line in the German "moat" of middle Europe.

Recipients of Western Electric scholarships are selected by the colleges and universities. The only stipulation is that each be an American citizen.

Girl, 16, Ends Religious Fast After 21 Days

FORT OGLETHORPE, Ga. (AP) — Evelyn Jenkins, a pretty 16-year-old, ended 21 days of fasting "for the glory of God" last night.

The gray-eyed brunette said she has taken only occasional drinks of fruit juices and water since April 22.

She said she will drink fruit juice every four hours at first and begin eating soft food three or four days from now.

Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jenkins of Cartersville, Ga., came here last fall to live with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Maddox.

She dropped out of high school when she started the fast. Since then she has spent most of her time between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the woods near her home reading the Bible and praying.

She said yesterday she believes her weight has not dropped much below 120. She weighed 130 when she began her fast.

Balloting in Bombay Jolts Nehru's Party

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's ruling Congress party has been jolted out of power in the key commercial city of Bombay.

It took only 55 of 131 seats on the City Council. A combined opposition won control with 68 seats, including 13 for the Communists. Independents won the remaining 8.

Nehru has described Bombay as the political barometer of India. But the government party lost considerable popularity in the big industrial port last year because of its plan, since abandoned to take the city out of Bombay state and make it a separate political entity.

The Congress party held its dominant national position in recent general elections, but its leaders have become alarmed at opposition gains in local contests. The Communists have been making inroads in south India, where unemployment is widespread.

Dog Rescued After 2 Weeks in Dallas Sewers

DALLAS (AP)—A 22-year-old dog who spent two weeks walking the sewers of Dallas is home today, thinner, but wiser.

Poochie, owned by Hugh C. Calhoun, was fished out of a storm sewer yesterday.

The dog was first noticed in the sewer by Mrs. Thomas U. Anderson Jr. last Saturday. She called firemen but by the time they arrived, Poochie was gone.

Thursday Mrs. Anderson heard the dog barking and dropped some food down the sewer. Yesterday workmen snagged Poochie's collar with a coat hanger and hauled her to safety.

Calhoun theorized that the dog must have scurried for a storm sewer opening when she became frightened during the heavy thunderstorms several weeks ago.

Cafeterias were established in New York about 1885 and were for men only.

France to Reshape Military Planning

PARIS (AP)—Like Britain, France is reorganizing its armed forces for the demands of atomic war.

A new concept of French military planning announced yesterday follows the British lead in pitting chief reliance on defense against nuclear attack and on quick reprisal. France also will cut back military spending.

But Defense Minister Maurice Bourges - Maunoury promised France will maintain its participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) defenses.

Whirl-Air Seeks to Run 'Copters in Detroit Area

Whirl-Air Inc. has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D.C., for authority to operate a helicopter passenger, cargo and mail service within a 75-mile radius of Detroit.

In its application, Whirl-Air asked for a seven-year permit to operate six routes with the main Detroit Post Office acting as the central hub. The major routes would link the post office with Willow Run and the Detroit City Airports, and with Willow Run and Wayne County Airports.

Among the proposed routes is one which would extend to Bay City by way of Royal Oak, Birmingham, Pontiac, Holly, Flint and Saginaw.
