Babson Predicts Successful 1960 for Pontiac Area

By ROGER W. BABSON

Business in Pontiac began moving upward after the recession-troubled early months of 1959, and conditions have been improving, for the most part, ever since. While the steel strike caused dislocations toward the latter part of the year just ended, business psychology on the whole was definitely healthier.

Looking ahead into 1960, I predict a much better twelvemonth for your city, with general activity probably surpassing that of 1959 by some 5%. This will mean, actually, one of the best years on record.

Naturally, I base my prediction to a considerable extent upon prospects for the automotive industry, which has such a strong hold upon your total business fabric. Expansion is assured during the new year for such branches of the industry as automobiles, buses, automobile bodies, parts, and accessories.

SEES LIVELY TRUCK YEAR

While I also anticipate a lively year for truck output, I do not think that it will surpass the volume reached in 1959. Some of your other local enterprises should also do better in the new year than in 1959: Dairy products, iron, electric power, machinery, public construction, and roadbuilding.

Still other items should just about match 1959 high: Rubber products, trailers, paint, varnish, lacquer, commercial building, and industrial construction.

Your retail sales should outdo 1959 levels, particularly grocery outlets and department stores. Even luxury goods will move much more easily. Wage rates will edge higher and employment should reveal marked improvement as the year moves along. This will, of course, brighten consumer buying psychology considerably.

Living costs in Pontiac will feel some upward pressure, but not enough to carry the average more than, say, 1% or 2% above the par for 1959. 1960 should be a much better business year.

Looking at the rest of the world, naturally, as I am just back from Moscow and Berlin, my first thoughts are what will happen in Berlin in 1960. My answer is definitely, "nothing will happen." Mr. K will make no more ultimatums. President Eisenhower will continue his peace talks. Therefore the Berlin situation will be just the same in 1960 and 1961 as it is today.

There will be no World War started between Russia and the United States in 1960. This does not mean such a war will not come within 10 years; but now neither country is ready for it. I am convinced of this after my recent visit to Moscow.

AIRPLANE WARFARE DEPARTING

Airplane warfare with the dropping of bombs is a thing of the past. We are turning to rocketry with pinpoint precision. Our expensive air bases may gradually be varnished.

Moscow is Mr. K's "pride and joy." It is a beautiful city with broad streets and thousands of new apartment houses. Mr. K does not want it destroyed. Furthermore, he wants a reduction in armaments so that he will have money to raise the standard of living in Russia. I forecast he will have to do this in order to hold his power.

We first feared a "shooting war," now we are in a "cold war," but we will soon be in an "educational war." In 1960 the United States will expend far greater effort on education.

Along with the effort to improve education during 1960, I forecast that our teachers will be given a minimum salary of $5,000 and that schools of all states will receive federal aid.

I forecast that instead of spending so much money on new school buildings, municipalities will give more attention to discipline, promotions, and sifting, and to the teaching of mathematics, physics, and chemistry in both grammar and high schools.

I forecast that some of those who have gone into business will seek teaching jobs, which will be a major force in post-poning World War III. School teaching will be a part of our national defense.

SEES RED CHINA FRIENDSHIP

The Russians are afraid of China, which I hope to visit again in 1960. Hence, I forecast, that more friendly relations will develop between China and the United States during 1960.

Space travel to the moon is largely for propaganda purposes and to take our minds off the military phase of rocketry, submarines, and breaking the earth's crust. Only the fear of retaliation will prevent the Russians from starting a world war.

POLITICAL OUTLOOK

I will now forecast who the Republican candidates in 1960 will be—Nixon and Rockefeller. The Democratic candidates cannot now be forecast. Senator Kennedy thinks he has the nomination "screwed up," but Johnson and Symington, and even Stevenson, have large followings.

I forecast that relations with Russia will become far more important than the question of inflation.

The Republican slogan in 1960 will be, "It is always (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Broadcasting Faces Stern Measures in 1960

Need New Laws, More Enforcement of Those
Now on the Books

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new year prospect for the much-investigated broadcasting industry today was a dose of federal law against such things as payola and quiz rigging.

A sterner enforcement of present laws and regulations appeared an even more immediate probability.

A day after President Eisenhower made public a special report he had asked from Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, most discussion was not about whether laws against payola are needed, but how sweeping they should be.

In general, Rogers recommended some additional law but principally more vigorous enforcement by the Federal Communications and Federal Trade Commissions.

Several congressmen who have played prominent parts in the investigations said, however, they are ready now to go well beyond Rogers' recommendations for changes in the communications and criminal laws.

"The time is not now," said Rep. William L. Springer (R-Ill.), "I hope we get promptly into such things as better programming and control of objectionable advertising."

First New Year Baby Reported at 12:02 Here

The first baby of the new year to arrive at either of Pontiac's three major hospitals was a seven-pound eleven ounce girl born to Mrs. Laura Washington of 425 Branch St.

Little Miss Washington arrived on the local scene at St. Joseph's Hospital at exactly two minutes past midnight.

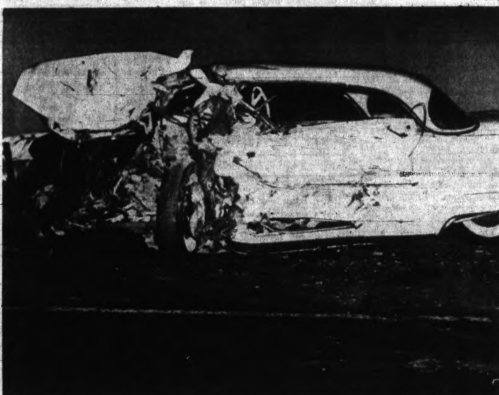

The girl's father, Lawrence Washington, is an orderly at the hospital. They haven't named their daughter as yet.

Pontiac General reported its first baby at 5:05, a boy born to Mrs. Dawn Downes of Grand Haven. She was weighed in at 4 pounds, 8 ounces.

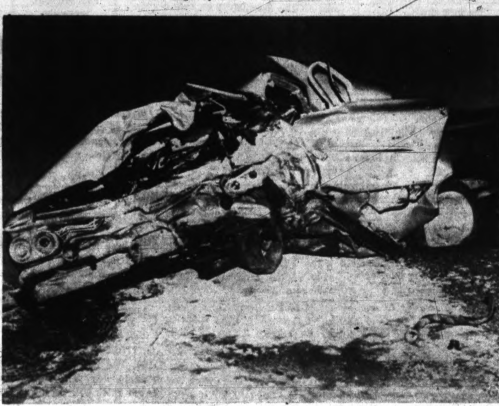

Our Osteopathic Hospital had no births up to 9 a.m. today.

The Washington girl nosed out Deborah Ann Jewell who was born at St. Mary's Hospital, 238 Middle Bell Rd., West Bloomfield Township, three minutes later at 12:05 a.m. St. Joseph.

All babies of parents who live in Oakland County north of 14-Mile road are eligible to be entered in the first baby of the new year contest sponsored by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

THREE KILLED, TWO INJURED—A Clinton teenager and a Flint couple were killed early this morning when their cars (above and below) collided head-on on Dixie Highway near Rattalee Lake Road in Springfield Township. Seriously injured was the son of the couple and his fiancée.

Weekend Forecast: Light Snow, Sleet

New Year's Eve greeted Pontiac area folk with more tolerable weather conditions than 1959's icy introduction.

Although the mercury failed to climb above the freezing line, main highways in the area were relatively free of hazardous ice or slush snow, and forecasts of mostly fair weather were issued.

Increasing cloudiness, with occasional light snow possibly mixed with rain or sleet is the outlook for Saturday. Temperatures will climb a little higher, ranging from 22 to 30 degrees.

The low tonight will be 20. In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 24. At 1 p.m. the downtown temperature read 29.

Banks Open Saturday

Closed during New Year's Day, Pontiac banks will reopen Saturday at their regular hours.

The Press said yesterday they would reopen Monday.

Warn Ranchers, Travelers West in Grip of Blizzard

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Blizzards arrive at Elko, Nev., on a flight whipped the West with Arctic fury today as the new year dawned bleak and cold across a dozen states.

At least seven persons died in the first assault of the massive blizzard front.

Clouds heavy with snow spilled down from Canada and eastward along the southern end of the Rockies in giant pinches.

Stockmen and travelers were warned of blizzard conditions today in parts of New Mexico, the Dakotas, Western Kansas and Nebraska and Oklahoma. Heavy snow warnings were issued for Utah, Colorado, Wyoming and North Texas.

Two civilian pilots and their light planes, vanished in the cold gully Thursday. A Denver engineer, Warren Racine, 33, disappeared after advising the Chatham, Neb., airport he was about to make an emergency landing. A Mr. Anderson of Sunnyvale, Calif., failed to Death Strikes at Holly, Troy, Springfield Twp.

The nation's number one killer took five lives in Oakland County within the past 24 hours. It made 1959 New Year's eve traffic fatality record the worst in recent years.

Many were injured in smashups on county roads. A Davisburg high school student was killed instantly close to 8 p.m. yesterday when his car struck a tree near Holly, while at approximately the same time a Royal Oak disc jockey died in a two-car collision in Troy.

Close to 4 a.m. today, three persons lost their lives and two others were seriously injured in a head-on collision in Springfield Township.

A North Branch man also was killed when his car crashed into a light pole in North Branch.

Dead are:
Donald E. Brendel, 37, of 6015 Brendel Rd., Davisburg.
Carl F. Stenstrom, 36, of 382 S. Maple Rd., Royal Oak.
Louis H. McMillan, 51, of 2376 Hill, Flint.
Mildred McMillan, 49, his wife.
Floyd R. Auglar, 19, of 6517 Snow Apple Dr., Clarkston.
Carlton Morris, 25, of North Branch.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said Brendel was going south on Millford Road when he failed to negotiate a sharp curve and crashed into a tree three miles south of Holly.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Brendel, the teen-ager was pronounced dead at 7:55 p.m. yesterday by deputy coroner Dr. C. E. Lockwood.

Junior J. Kadrozack, 28, of 165 Hart St., Troy, died after being arrested for investigation of manslaughter of Stenstrom, dead on arrival at 8:10 p.m. yesterday at William Beaumont Hospital.

Troy police said there were no witnesses to the head-on collision on Rochester Road just south of E. Maple Road in Troy. Investigating officers said Kadrozack told them he had been drinking and broke down when he learned Stenstrom was killed.

Charles McMillan, 39, of 2376 Hill, Flint, and his fiancée, Viola Ann Bushong, 30, of 125 Washington, Freehold, were the only survivors of the head-on collision on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township which claimed the lives of his parents and a Clarkston youth.

They are in serious condition in Pontiac General Hospital.

State Police of the Pontiac post said McMillan was traveling north on U.S. 10 just south of Rattalee Lake Road when Auglar's car came across the highway and met his head-on in the fourth lane.

McMillan, his wife, Mildred, and Auglar were dead at the scene, according to police. Miss Bushong was rushed to Borgert Hospital, Grand Rapids. He died shortly after arrival at Borgert.

Ray Nelson, 26, of Detroit, was injured fatally Thursday night when his car smashed through lowered protective crossing gates and into the second engine of a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train at Livonia crossing.

Other fatalities included: Kenneth J. Blanchard, 35, of Kalamazoo was killed when his pickup truck skidded off the road and into a ditch in Kalamazoo Township. Blanchard was tossed from the truck and was dragged along for a couple of hundred feet.

Jerry Lee Van Bruggen, 20, of Holland, was injured fatally Thursday night when an auto in which he was a passenger collided with another auto at an intersection near Holland. Van Bruggen was taken to Holland hospital, and then was rushed to Borgert Hospital, Grand Rapids. He died shortly after arrival at Borgert.

Girl, 17, Is Still Jailed for Check

Auburn Heights Wife Can't Post Her Bail, Unhappy New Year

A 17-year-old Auburn Heights woman was spending New Year's Day in jail awaiting criminal court examination on an outstanding check.

Mrs. Nancy Harper, 1630 Avenue B, demanded examination before Judge Maurice B. P. Vanecko on Wednesday.

Mrs. Harper, 1630 Avenue B, is charged with failing to cash a $50.00 check, which was returned to the Oakland County Jail to await the hearing scheduled for Wednesday.

Mrs. Harper was arrested Wednesday while attempting to pass a bogus check at the Perry street branch of the Community National Bank.

She admitted to Pontiac Police officers that she cashed more than $2,000 in bad checks since Dec. 7. Her husband, David, 20, was arrested a block away from the bank.

He was turned over to Birmingham police yesterday. Police said the car he was driving was stolen in Birmingham.

He is in probation for an uttering and publishing check in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Report Dijlas, Still in Jail, Writes Anything

VIENNA (UPI) — A former Yugoslav official says that former Vice President William Dijlas, who was deported and imprisoned in Yugoslavia, "now is in jail" and is allowed to write and publish whatever he pleases and soon may be set free.

The official, who asked that his name be withheld, filed at Austria recently and sought asylum at a political refugee.

He said he last saw Dijlas, whom he had known as Vice President, when they were both confined in Belgrade's Central Prison. He said Dijlas has since been transferred to Belgrade's Mitrovica Prison and assigned a private cell with a typewriter and a radio.

Yugoslav President Tito himself authorized Dijlas to tell his writings out of the prison, the refugee said, in a surprising reversal of the policy which allowed seven years to Dijlas' sentence for his alleged role in the New Chetnik movement.

He added that it seems "quite possible" that Tito's former lieutenant will be released from prison soon.

Certificate of Merit Goes to Ionia Mayor

LANSING (UPI) — Ionia Mayor Roy Balice was given a certificate of merit recognizing his progress in developing industry in his community.

The certificate, sponsored by the Michigan Economic Development Commission, was presented by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Balice, Ionia mayor for 12 years, said the city has set up 15 new economic development committees, built a new water works and annexed about 325 acres for industrial use.

"We're becoming more informed about our resources for attracting industry," he said. "And now our job is to sell Ionia as a place for industry to move to."

House Committee Sets Lamb Hearing Date

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Agriculture Committee will begin hearings Jan. 11 on the Agriculture Department's decision to suspend the federal grading service for lamb and mutton.

The department announced Wednesday that the suspension, originally scheduled to take effect on Tuesday, has been postponed one month to give the committee an opportunity to conduct public hearings.

Blaze Causes $6,000 Damage to City House

The new year was little more than four hours old when Pontiac firemen were at work extinguishing a $6,000 house fire today.

The blaze started from an overheated furnace in the home of Chester J. Morzanki, at 642 Joslyn St., at about 4:30 a.m., said firemen.

Two stations fought the fire for about two hours before extinguishing it. Damage was set at $6,000, the home worth $12,000 to the contents.

The basement was gutted. Firemen said the dining room and kitchen floors burned through and the fire burned upward, between walls. The owner and his family are vacationing in Florida, firemen said.

At a 40-minute an hour cruising speed the average light economy car at 27 or 29 different makes of automobiles was increased by about 40 percent in the two decades from 1920 to 1950.

West Coast Due to Gain 2nd Population Jump

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The westward drift of the U.S. population to the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain area will continue in 1960, Chamber of Commerce officials believe.

The population of this region, which jumped 40 per cent to 27 million in the past decade, is expected to gain another 22 per cent during the coming 10 years.

dangerous to swap homes going across a rapid stream." I therefore forecast that the Republicans will have at least a 50-50 chance of success in 1964. In fact, on the basis of their slogan, I look for a Republican victory, though with a very close margin.

I forecast no reduction in taxes of any consequence during 1960, and that present defense expenditures will be reduced and the money spent on rockets, submarines, breaking the earth's crust, and education.

There will be very little reduction in foreign aid during 1960. I forecast an attempt in 1960 to increase tariffs on goods imported from Germany, Italy, Japan, and other cheap labor countries.

I expect 1960 to be a "do-nothing" year for Congress. Both parties will be working for continued prosperity.

COST OF LIVING
I forecast no substantial reduction in living costs during 1960. The newly imported cheap, low-priced automobiles are here to stay. Their importation cannot be checked. Electric power rates will be lowered in 1960.

The cost of electronic machinery should be higher because of the growing demand for automation to offset the rise in wages. Steel products (especially stainless) — from the table-top to the steel used to build bridges — will be in greater demand in 1960.

The demand for most food products will increase during 1960. This should especially help the United Fruit Company, as bananas give the most nourishment, at the least cost, of any known food.

I forecast increases in rents, maintenance, and taxes. But supermarkets will compete with one another and the housewife should benefit therefrom.

Florida is a good place for middle-aged people to buy a home in a small city as insurance for the time when they retire. Persons buying such homes should depend upon a check from the North every month and not depend upon getting a job in Florida. Even today in Florida one person in ten is over 65 years of age.

REAL ESTATE
The price of city real estate will depend upon its parking privileges. Wise municipal officials will pull down old two and three story buildings to make parking lots and municipal garages much more plentiful. This also applies to suburban real estate. I forecast that new suburban zoning laws will require houses to have vacant adjoining lots sufficient for present and future parking needs.

I forecast that large commercial farms should be profitable in 1960; but many operators of small farms, not properly located for suburban growth, will sell to some ad-hoc farmer. Small farms on well-drained land and near enough to a city for future suburban developments should be held. I forecast such farms should some day sell for triple their present price.

Seashore property should be held. The government can print more bonds and corporations can split and declare stock dividends to make more stock; but only God can make seashore property. I forecast that real estate taxes will increase during 1960. Wise are property owners who make their rentals "Plus Annual Taxes."

As the Russians gradually move westward like a glacier, taking ownership of all property, wise people in Europe will sell their present property and businesses and move to the United States.

I forecast that revolutions in mining will continue during 1960, and you may find that you are living on a valuable iron deposit, if not on a gold mine!

Investment Outlook

For the first time in the 40 years that I have been preparing these annual outlooks, I shall not take a position on the Dow Jones Average for 1960. I am, however, inclined to believe the stock market in general will hold up at least until after the election. Then there may come a break, whichever party wins the election next November.

I forecast 1960 will be the year to buy good stocks. United States Government Bonds yielding 5% are a great bargain. I also like all non-taxable bonds and also some taxable but convertible bonds. I forecast some chemical stock will still be a buy in 1960, although they yield little income and are good only as growth stocks.

There will be failures by the thousands among those companies now issuing electronic stocks. Electronics issues have become a popular fad. There is also unemployment ahead for many who are now working in electronics factories. I forecast that the stocks of electric power companies, but not those of large cities, will be in greater demand in 1960.

Of all stocks, I forecast that United Fruit may be most in demand in 1960. I predict that only a few railroads will be popular during 1960, such as Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, and perhaps Southern Pacific and Atchafalaya. I am bearish on Pennsylvania Railroad, New York Central, New Haven, and all short lines except for the Norfolk & Western, my "pet gravity road." I also fear a short railroad strike.

Failures will continue to increase during 1960. I forecast that the huge national roadbuilding program will give an uplift to business as it progresses. There will be no marked changes in money rates during 1960. Inflation will gradually continue, but may not be serious during 1960.

The best investment policy during 1960 will continue to be a well-diversified portfolio with one-third in stocks for possible growth profits, one-third in bonds for safety and income, and one-third in cash in order to have funds available for investment in the severe and sudden drop in the stock market which will come some day!

CONCLUSION
The three handicaps to American business in 1960 will be increasing installment purchases; the unfair demands of labor union leaders; and President Eisenhower's physical condition. The three hopes for America are our churches, our schools, and our praying partners.

The Day in Birmingham

Family Holy Hour Planned at Area Church Jan. 10

BIRMINGHAM — The North-western Deanery of the Detroit Archdiocese Council of Catholic Women will sponsor a family holy hour Jan. 10 at 4 p.m. at Holy Name Church.

Family life chairman Mrs. Coyle Flaher explained that all families are invited, especially couples celebrating their 25th and 50th wedding anniversaries this year.

For outlying parishes of the Deanery, a Holy Hour will be held at the same time at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Pontiac.

Three area residents have been named vice presidents of Detroit Council Division of American Standard. It was announced today.

They are John R. Warnock, 5128 Old Court Rd., West Bloomfield Township, general manager of marketing; Richard L. Campmington, director of engineering, 830 Randall Court, Birmingham; and George F. Butterfield, Franklin Rd., general manager of manufacturing.

Warnock and Campbell have held their present positions since early 1959. Butterfield had been appointed to his position in Dec. 1958.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters No. 94 have announced the election of new officers.

Heading the organization this year are Kathleen Laff, president; Mrs. Edith Ehlman, vice president; Mrs. Edwin Weaver, secretary-treasurer.

Preschool mothers will meet at the home of Mrs. Louis Lindholm, 1930 N. 1st St., on "Observation of Nursery School."

Children's Jan. 5 at 8 p.m. in the school library.

Miss Judith Hadden is director of Church Haven Nursery School in Birmingham.

Openings in Bloomfield art association classes are still available for the winter term session the association reports.

Instruction is offered in contemporary jewelry, studio art for businessmen, creative dance, water color, sculpture, portrait painting and oil painting.

Nothing's Better Than Verse for Fars Today

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Navy men on watch aboard a thousand American ships the world over joined in an ancient sea tradition today.

They wrote poetry.

Naval custom says the entry in the log by the first watch of the new year must rhyme.

In New Orleans, while rain whipped the deserted decks of the sea-going tug Navajo, signalman Charles Dillard, 25, Bowler Green, Ky., wrote:

"As the year comes in With its noise and din And lights of the lower barn Bright as the stars above."

"I hope and pray In the Vieux Carré But duty calls to its night."

The origin of the little-known ritual is one of mysteries of the sea. Navy historians know only that it began in the early 18th century.

Labor Quarrels Spill Into 1960

1959 Has Bad Record for Strikes; 'Both Sides Fumbling Ball'

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disunion sometimes bordering on chaos marred labor-management relations during most of 1959. And it looks as though the quarreling will spill over into 1960.

Strike statistics tell the story. The year 1959 is going down in the books as one of the worst strike years on record. Only positive 1960 took a greater toll in lost working time.

In a widely discussed speech, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell charged both labor and management with fumbling the ball. He said the problem of making the American economy work more efficiently is a real one requiring cooperation from both sides.

Mitchell said employers are trying to change long-established work practices too quickly and labor unions are too stubbornly resisting change.

Wages and prices meanwhile continued their steady climb through the year.

The flood of 1959 strikes — in the steel, maritime, copper and meatpacking industries — led to name a few — led to talk of arming the government with more power to deal with labor strife. It's a question likely to be raised a good deal in the 1960 politicking.

INUNCTION USED
Twice within a few days President Eisenhower invoked the injunction provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act to halt the record 11-day steel strike and a sudden walk-out of the East-Coast Coast longshoremen.

Labor corruption disclosures over the past three years culminated in passage of a new labor law after a bitter fight in Congress.

It represented a bid political setback for the unions. The new law puts tight controls on internal union procedures and new enforcement powers for corruption.

Powers were upheld after long litigation for court-named monitors to institute reforms in the teamsters union headed by James R. Hoffa. But Hoffa continued to fight back. Former Teamsters leader, Dave Beck, meanwhile was convicted of federal income tax fraud.

Sell Million FM Sets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sales of FM radio receivers hit a record 1 million units in 1959 and 1960 "should be even better," according to Henry Popel, president of Granco Products, Inc.

Scientists Study Idea of No Night

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Navy scientists have been toying with the idea of eliminating night.

This could be done, they say, if man were able to create a thick layer of dust in a region far out from the earth.

The layer of dust would be the future's major ring, which is an area of extremely fine particles about ten miles in depth, located 55,000 miles above the planet.

Dr. Herbert Friedman and James Purcell of the Naval Research Laboratory said it is likely that there is no night on Mars because of the continual brightness of the ring.

Friedman said it might take millions of tons of dust to create an effective ring.

He mentioned that the eruption of Mt. Krakatau on a Pacific island in 1883 spread four million tons of dust that visibly affected the atmosphere for years afterward.

The Krakatau dust was not enough to eliminate night, although it caused long, exceptionally red sunsets.

Connelly and Caudle Win Another Stay

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Two Truman administration officials have won another stay of their fight to stay out of prison.

The U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday granted a 30-day stay of a midstate criminal indictment against Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle to begin serving two-year sentences for conspiracy in a tax case.

The court said the stay would remain in effect until the U. S. Supreme Court rules on the defendants' motion for a review of the appellate court's denial of a new trial.

Connelly was White House appointments secretary to former President Truman. Caudle was former chief of the Justice Department's tax division.

Japanese Nearly Halt Jump in Population

TOKYO (AP) — Japan in 1959 almost held the line in its fight to keep down its expanding population, but there has been a boom year in marriages. The total population is now more than 93 million.

The wedding of Crown Prince Akihito to a pretty commoner, Michiko Shoda, sparked the marriage boom.

"In Friendly Candor"
by Edward Weeks
By CONNOR A. ALDRICH
The biggest difficulty in describing "In Friendly Candor" by Edward Weeks is to avoid excessive use of enthusiastic superlatives, both for the book and the author.

For those who love to read and sometimes fail to see the great adventure in the world of words and writers, Weeks is the man to clear one's vision. In a series of short essays, readers relive with the editor of the magazine "The Atlantic Monthly" the excitement of discovery in new and promising authors.

Only the most biased will miss the stimulation of a man whose life has been spent in personal associations with some of the finest writers of the century.

Associated with "The Atlantic Monthly" for 35 years, longer than anyone in the magazine's history, Weeks describes his experiences in the field with warmth that only a man of great feeling for his work can give.

From the difficulties of its authors' shaping of "Muffy on the Buns" to typographical problems presented by a doctor who insisted on reprinting his entire edition in another type face, he shows the publishing business as a vital and human moving force.

Readers should be prepared to begin an extensive literature program after "In Friendly Candor." In the light of intimate aspects of its creation, each book the author mentions becomes an appeal for immediate reading and in many cases, rereading.

In closing, he expresses concern for a recent dulling of interest in literature and speaks of our nation's need for mentors whose own fire will arouse others to the desire for literary excellence. He may not even have realized when writing this that he is just such a person. Both his magazine and his book vividly attest to that fact.

Centennial's Coming Up

We'll Refight Civil War

LANSING (UPI)—No battle of the American Civil War was fought on Michigan soil, but the State Historical Commission is preparing for the war's centennial anyway.

The commission is working separately and in conjunction with the Civil War Centennial Commission, created in 1959 by the Legislature but without funds.

"We are going to observe the centennial because all the other states are," said one official.

But Michigan soldiers, the commission realizes, were among the most courageous in the war, particularly at the Battle of Gettysburg.

Historical Commission Chairman Louis Beeson paid the addition of old Michigan military records, dating back to 1837, were released to the state archives in 1959 and should prove valuable to historians who wish to study Michigan's part in the Civil War as well as later wars.

PLENTY OF INFORMATION

The records are being listed and sorted, Beeson said, and will be ready for use by historians shortly. "They contain much more than records of individual soldiers," Beeson said. "For instance, commanding officers were asked just after the war to write accounts of the most important or exciting battles in which they participated. The accounts are in the records we have just obtained."

The commission has also prepared film strips and booklets for schools and general use describing Michigan in the war, Beeson said.

The commission is cooperating with Ohio and Indiana in preparations for the sesquicentennial of the War of 1812, in which Michigan did participate, and in which Detroit was a British stronghold. The observance will be in 1962.

Beeson listed some of the important commission activities during the year:

—Work began on the papers of Gov. A. J. Groesbeck, three-time state governor (1921-25) who started the Administrative Department. The commission hopes to have the papers ready for publication in 1960.

—Another volume of a series of books on Michigan governors is being prepared. Four are completed through 1927. The latest volume will include through the governorship of Kim Sigler, ending in 1949.

17 MARKERS ADDED

—Although the Legislature did not appropriate money for the historical marker program in 1959, 17 new ones were added. Private funds paid for 12 and the Mackinac Island State Park Commission purchased five. There are 117 markers altogether; all placed since July 1956. The commission is requesting more money for the program, aiming at a total of 250. It would take two years to place them.

—Fayette, only ghost town owned by the state, was being cleaned up and made ready as an attraction. The Upper Peninsula old iron smelting town was purchased by the Conservation Department in 1958. The commission is interested in adding more ghost towns to state ownership through the Conservation Department.

—St. Ignace on Mackinac Island was visited by 165,000 persons in 1959. Plans continue to make the Mackinac Straits area a historical center of the Midwest.

The number of centennial firms has increased to 1,300 with 135 added in 1959. Firms owners must apply for the centennial markers, and the firm must be owned by one family for a 100-year period.

—A series of booklets for use in high schools concern lumbering, Indians, Civil War, and other state historical subjects was begun. Work continues on a history of Michigan education to be published in 1961.

Add Two U.S. Greats to the Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two American "greats" were added during the past decade to the Hall of Fame on the campus of New York University.

The College of Electors voted in 1959 to include a bust of Woodrow Wilson, the former President, in the open-air colonnade. In 1955, the honor went to Wilbur Wright, co-inventor of the airplane.

A total of 86 persons are now enshrined in the Hall of Fame. To qualify, a subject must have been dead for 25 years or more. New nominations will be voted on in 1960.

U.S. Rules Out ICBM as Key Defense Device

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Here's a real surprise.

The giant intercontinental ballistic missiles already may be well on the way to becoming obsolete.

Studying and thinking in the secret back rooms of the Pentagon now favor some sort of slow flying platform or radically different type of airplane as the major defense weapon.

It would be able to stay in the air indefinitely—or at least for long periods—at low cost.

'PATROL CAR'

It would be a "patrol car" constantly on the prowl, carrying short range hydrogen missiles—maybe in the 500 to 1,000-mile class.

Key Department of Defense planners have already made up their minds that the huge, powerful intercontinental ballistic missile must never become the central "deterrent" weapon in the U.S. war arsenal.

They feel this must be so—even if the U.S. should be able to leapfrog well ahead of the Soviet Union in ICBM quality.

Already in their private skull sessions, there's growing doubt among Air Force, Army and Navy strategists as to the overall worth of the big ICBMs.

There's as yet, of course, no agreement on precisely what kind of a plane or platform missile carrier should take over the first line of defense.

There's a good deal of agreement, however, that it should fly in air—not in space. And that there should be an old-fashioned pilot, using his brains—rather than electronics—to make decisions.

RATE CONSIDERATION

Seriously considered as flying platforms or super-long distance patrol planes are:

Atom-powered winged nuclear, which would evade the world endlessly. They might be supervised by man in some sort of long-distance craft.

Atom-powered airplanes.

Or a radical new type of slow, lumbering airplane, styled somewhere between a modern hummer and a glider, that would be able to come as close to floating in the air as possible. It would be able to almost "hover" in the air, using much less fuel than conventional planes—thereby being able to stay aloft longer at much less expense.

These platforms would, of course, be supplemented by a range of weapons—including Air Force ICBMs, Navy missile-firing submarines, Army short-range missiles, and a handful of radical new weapons now being studied.

What's behind the de-glottification of the ICBMs—shifting them from the center of the stage to "just another weapon?"

PENTAGON THINKING

Here's the thinking as the Pentagon planners see it:

The big ICBMs are too costly and vulnerable. Constantly replacing these big birds as they become obsolescent would be ruinous.

Most ICBMs would have to be on fixed sites. There are easy to "zero in" on in advance. Only a limited number could be put on railway cars.

ICBMs, once fired, can't be recalled. In modern war, an electronic detection system could make a dreadful error, mistake some innocent objects for a missile attack. Then the fat would be in the fire. Planes can be sent up, then called back if there's a mix-up.

Though former Defense Sec. Neil McElroy announced the possibility of a constant B2 air patrol, the experts have studied this proposal and found it wanting—except in dire emergency. The simple reason: it would cost an additional several billion dollars a year.

Concentrating on ICBMs means putting too much of the U.S. military budget in one weapon with one use. It makes impossible a well-rounded force able to fight a variety of types of war.

Flying platforms plus missilesubs would guarantee that U.S. missiles wouldn't be caught on the ground. If Russia attacked, it would know for sure retaliation would come, or so this Pentagon thinking goes.

Industry Confident of Copper Supply

NEW YORK 10—The copper industry heads into the 1960s confident of an adequate supply of the red metal at a more stable price, says Clyde E. Weed, chairman of the Board of Anaconda Co.

Barring prolonged work interruptions in major producing areas, the industry has the reserves and the production capacity to meet the demands for copper which we confidently expect to develop in the 1960s," he said.

"These will result from stepped-up research for new and broader uses, an ever increasing demand from developing countries and the needs of an explosive population increase here and abroad."

Weed noted that Anaconda, which has the world's largest reserves, has doubled productive capacity since 1946.

Silk Makes Comeback

NEW YORK (UPI)—Silk made a comeback in the U.S. market in 1959 after years of decline, the American Silk Council says. Imports for the first 10 months of the year were 38,813 bales, against 25,392 in the same period of 1958.

Mortgage Cash Runs High in '59

But Year Was Second on Record for Home
Building in Units

NEW YORK (UPI) — It got pretty expensive to borrow money to buy homes in 1959 but people kept right on borrowing and buying anyway.

Money isn't likely to become any cheaper next year. The experts figure tight money will cause a reduction in new home building. But not a very big reduction.

As 1958 drew to a close, interest rates on conventional home mortgages — loans not guaranteed or insured by the government — crossed the six per cent level on a national average.

Relatively, it was cheaper to borrow money to buy homes in the northeast than anywhere else, according to federal housing administration figures. If you wanted a home on the Pacific Coast, you paid more than other people to borrow money.

Despite this, 1959 probably was the second largest home building year in history. More homes were built, particularly during the spring and early summer, than had been expected. The rate fell off in the autumn.

At the year drew to a close Norman Mason, housing administrator, said, "Private home building this year is almost certain to exceed 1,300,000 units." The record was 1,352,000 units in 1958.

Housing experts estimate that total housing starts, public and private, ranged between 1,355,000 and 1,390,000 units this year.

The experts believe public and private housing starts in 1960 will slump to between 1,250,000 and 1,275,000 units.

Generally the experts think total dollar volume will decline less than unit volume. They base this belief on expectations that bigger and more expensive homes will be built.

40 Pct. of All Smokers Buy Filter Tip Brands

NEW YORK (UPI) — A possible relationship between cigarettes and lung cancer affected the smoking habits of millions of Americans, during the 1950s.

In 1950, only about 10 per cent of cigarette sales were filter tip brands. Today, 40 per cent of all smokers buy filters.

HEAR YE, HEAR YE — This familiar greeting and pose of Circuit Court Officer John Dwyer will be no longer as the 72-year-old Dwyer has retired after nine years of county service. Dwyer, of 68 Hill St., served the late Judge George B. Hartwick before his death last year and more recently Judge William J. Beer. A former General Motors factory worker here, Dwyer began with Oakland County March 1, 1950. He had to miss a retirement party this week because he was home in bed with the flu.

Better Glance at This Before '60 Resolutions

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — About ready to make the final, irrevocable promise on your New Year's resolutions?

Listen to Dr. E. L. Signori, professor of psychology at the University of British Columbia.

"I don't know what purposes these resolutions serve. Usually such resolutions are tied up with inner anxiety," he says. "They may help to define a goal but usually some other measures are needed to obtain that goal—sometimes even psychiatric treatment."

"And good resolutions can result in negative reactions unless those resolutions are supported by positive plans aimed at achieving them."

Marriage Today Lasting Longer

Modern Wedded Pair
Can Expect 43 Years of 'Togetherness'

CHICAGO (UPI) — The average modern marriage is lasting longer and lasting better.

Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed can expect 43 years of wedded bliss—or battle—until death do they part, three census experts told the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science yesterday.

This altar-to-grave span is 12 years longer than the 31 years Grandma and Grandpa could expect to live after their turn-of-the-century marriage.

By 1980, the census men said, the average couple can expect to celebrate their 47th wedding anniversary before either the husband or wife is taken by death.

But today's Newbreds are a brave lot. Ever since faced with 43 years of togetherness, they are averaging only one divorce in four marriages, compared with one in three only a few years ago.

The experts, Paul C. Glick, John C. Beresford and David Heer of the U.S. Bureau of the Census, dropped these statistics in their reports on family life pattern at the AAAS annual meeting. They also said that: —Families are growing. In 1950, the average family numbered 3.5 persons. Now it's 3.8. —Wives are having children at a much younger age than their grandmothers did. —Today's young father can expect to marry off his youngest child before he turns 50.

Professions, Service Industries to Award Initiative in the '60s

NEW YORK (UPI) — The young man who wants to strike out on his own in the 1960s will find the going a lot easier in the professions and the service industries.

Of course, there will be exceptions. Always, chaps with a sound idea will come along and get the financing to build a big new company in a few years from the ground up.

But it will have to be big — the era of small companies in manufacturing and commerce is about over.

A retail store in a suburban shopping center today represents a vast investment compared to grandfather's corner grocery. Even a gas station is a rather expensive operation.

Automation will force even more manufacturing and commerce into big patterns in the coming decade.

REWARDING CHANCES

But in the professions and the service industries, the opportunities are as rewarding as commerce and manufacturing offered 50 years ago.

The country has a tremendous shortage of doctors, for example. Medicine takes dedication, long, expensive training.

But the trained doctor is sure of establishing a practice nowadays.

What is better, health insurance assures him of collecting his fees, and today's new drugs and improved therapy mean that, while the doctor works faster than ever, he doesn't have so much night-work and other hardships as in the past.

There will be opportunities in the '60s for all sorts of consulting professional men who master a needed specialty — legal specialties, engineering specialties, accounting specialties and specialists in the social services.

The demand for entertainment producers and writers and actors also probably will continue — but so will intense competition in these fields.

MORE DECENTRALIZATION

Although industry and commerce will continue to form bigger units, they also will decentralize operations more.

This will spread population, creating a tremendous demand for retail service businesses in many areas.

That's where the little business man will find opportunities in the next 10 years.

In the service industries and retail trade, the "franchising" trend of the '50s likely will continue to grow in the first half of the '60s. An expected population increase in the United States of 33 million

Imports, Compacts Running Wild

Auto Trade's Confused, but Has High Hopes

By BEN FOLEGIAL
AP Automotive Writer

The auto industry ends 1959 in a state of confusion and uncertainty, but with high hopes of a bright new year.

Sales and earnings boomed from the recession levels of 1958 only to nose-dive in the final two months from effects of the prolonged steel strike.

General Motors was forced into idleness for the best part of six weeks by a lack of steel. Chrysler suffered, and in a lesser extent Ford. Assembly of new cars was cut by 50 per cent and more through November. Dealers ran short and began demanding full list price for the cars they were able to get.

Three new, smaller American cars were introduced in October—the Corvair, Falcon and Valiant. Public acceptance was immediate despite price tags that more often neared $2,500 than the original $2,000 target.

The effect of the new compacts on the auto market as a whole still was in doubt as the year ended. Because of shortages of American cars the theory won't be tested until late 1960 at the earliest.

The big three automakers, who had been dismissing small cars as a passing fad, finally admitted early in 1959 they were bringing similar cars into production.

In October they joined Rambler and Lark, whose sales soared through 1959, Chevrolet's Corvair was the most radical of the new cars, with an aluminum, air-cooled engine in the rear.

Ford's Falcon was the most conventional and the least expensive. Chrysler's Valiant was the fastest and most powerful.

All three claimed superior gas mileage, a trend echoed in the standard size cars for 1960. The medium price lines offered new easily beat the numbers sold in a whole 12 months five years ago.

These imports are the ones Detroit executives predicted would be hurt most by the new compact domestic cars. But import dealers strongly disagreed and statistics failed to reveal any such immediate trend. Because of shortages of American cars the theory won't be tested until late 1960 at the earliest.

The big three automakers, who had been dismissing small cars as a passing fad, finally admitted early in 1959 they were bringing similar cars into production.

In October they joined Rambler and Lark, whose sales soared through 1959, Chevrolet's Corvair was the most radical of the new cars, with an aluminum, air-cooled engine in the rear.

Ford's Falcon was the most conventional and the least expensive. Chrysler's Valiant was the fastest and most powerful.

All three claimed superior gas mileage, a trend echoed in the standard size cars for 1960. The medium price lines offered new economy V8 engines capable of operating on standard, rather than premium, grade gasoline.

Six cylinder cars increased in popularity, representing more than 40 per cent of the sales in the low price field, a gain of more than 6 per cent in a year.

Along with the emphasis on economy came a gradual reduction in engine horsepower in some lines. An exception was Ford which decided to market its biggest engine ever, 360 horsepower.

Chrysler Corp. introduced the standard size Dodge Dart—first new full line of cars in the popular-price field of Chevrolet-Plymouth-Ford since the Plymouth debut in 1958.

Ford discontinued the Edsel in mid-November after 38 months of production. Although completely restyled for 1960, the Edsel lasted just six weeks of the new model year. It was introduced in September 1957, as a medium price line—Ford's answer to Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Dodge and DeSoto. But the Edsel never was popular and total sales barely topped 100,000.

All five auto manufacturers made money through the first six months of 1959. Chrysler went into the red in the third quarter. Fourth quarter earnings, originally expected to be excellent, suffered because of the steel strike.

The 1960 models were introduced at about the same price as the 1959s, halting the steadily rising price trend. Whether a price hike would follow a steel settlement was a matter of speculation.

Says Michigan in Fiscal Mess

Brown Asserts Tax
Structure Can't Last
During 1960s

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan prepared to step into the decade of the 1960s today as a top state official voiced concern for the state's financial future.

"Our present tax structure can't last the next 10 years," said State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown, "and Michigan won't recover from the 1959 tax fight for at least 20 years. There is no question about it. 1959 was the state's worst year."

"There has to be a major tax revision in the next decade," he said. "Development of Michigan's future depends on development of a sound tax base. The problem will never be solved until we get an income tax."

Where does Michigan stand now, at the junction of the 50s and the 60s?

Brown sees no rosy future. He predicted an "adjustment" in the present standard of living.

In 1948-49 fiscal year about 60 million dollars was handled by the treasurer's office in the performance of state business. During the 1958-59 fiscal year the comparable figure was $1,510,366,000.

Projecting this percentage increase through the next 10 years would bring the figure to $5,473,841,800.

When 1959 ended last night Michigan's treasury had bills totaling more than 33 million dollars and will be another 17 million dollars behind in the approved level of state aid to schools.

It's this way despite an increased income of more than 55 million dollars in four major taxes over the 1958 calendar year.

Revenues from the sales, business activities, cigarettes and use taxes climbed from about $46,822,000 in 1958 to a little more than $46,135,000 during the 12 months of 1959.

One of the biggest problems facing Michigan is that of high interest rates. Brown said Michigan will be paying higher rates for many years because of bad publicity throughout the nation during the tax fight.

"High interest rates automatically increase the cost of doing business," Brown said.

Inflation is another critical area in the future.

Two States Are Added
in Decade of the 1950s

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "The 48" was consigned to history in 1959.

The first time since 1912, the number of states in the U.S. was increased. Alaska became the 49th state in 1958 and Hawaii the 50th in 1959.

The field of stars on the U.S. flag had gone unchanged since Arizona and New Mexico entered the Union in 1912.

ASTRONAUTS POSING — Five Project Mercury astronauts and the project boss pose at Langley Air Force Base. Left to right: Alan B. Shepard Jr.; John H. Glenn Jr.; Robert Gilruth, project director; Leroy G. Cooper Jr.; Malcolm S. Carpenter; and Virgil I. Grissom. On the table is part of a model of a unit designed to carry an astronaut into space and back to earth alive. Gilruth and Grissom hold other parts of the model.

Mercury Men to Take First Short Ride in '60

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Mercury astronauts will take their first space ride in the year coming up.

Specially equipped satellites will advance the arts of weather forecasting and radio communications.

New information will be obtained about the great radiation belt in the earth's magnetic field and about ultra violet and gamma radiation in space above the atmosphere.

MAKE-DO YEAR

Nevertheless, according to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), 1960 will be just a make-do year.

No giant steps into space can be attempted by this country, officials say, until giant rocket boosters now being developed become available to launch the middle of the next decade.

No matter how much money NASA gets next year, 1960 will see the agency plodding along with pretty much the same kind of rocket equipment it had this year.

Improved rockets capable of putting heavy satellites and probes into space will be tested in late 1960 and in 1961. But the first of the really big boosters, the Saturn, is not expected to be ready for space missions until 1964 or 1965.

The size of NASA budget for the new fiscal year starting July 1 will have a greater bearing on the future of U. S. space exploration, officials say, than on projects planned for 1960. Funds for next year's launchings already have been set aside.

NASA got 501 million dollars for fiscal 1960 which ends next June 30. The administration has said the budget for fiscal 1961 will be considerably greater.

Sums ranging from 750 to 900 million dollars have been mentioned, but not confirmed. The larger figure is based on belief that the administration may divert to NASA some of the money which went to the defense department Advanced Research Project Agency (ARPA) before its space role was reduced.

Officials have said Saturn development will take about a fifth of NASA's income in fiscal 1961. The Mercury project, conceivably could consume a similarly big chunk.

The agency is expected to have no more than half a billion dollars or so for next year's launchings, aside from Mercury, and for development of improved rockets smaller than Saturn.

The Mercury project was planned around rocket equipment already available. The first manned space flight will be brief jaunts down the Atlantic missile range in the nose of short-range Redstone missiles.

Some time in 1960 astronauts will take Redstone trips 100 miles up and 200 miles out. Subsequently NASA expects to put a chimpanzee in orbit aboard a Mercury satellite capsule launched by an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

In late 1961, if the Mercury buildup goes well, the first U.S. astronaut will take the satellite trail blazed by the chimp.

Civil Liberties Union Is for Redistricting

LANSING (UPI) — The Detroit metropolitan chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union asked the Supreme Court yesterday for permission to participate in a pending challenge to the state's senatorial districting.

Scholle, when informed of the ACLU's request to enter the case said, "I am most happy."

"I am pressing for equal representation in the state Senate," Scholle said. "When I filed the suit, I emphasized that this was a civil liberties issue. I am gratified, naturally, that such a distinguished guardian of civil rights and 200 miles out. Subsequently NASA expects to put a chimpanzee in orbit aboard a Mercury satellite capsule launched by an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

In late 1961, if the Mercury buildup goes well, the first U.S. astronaut will take the satellite trail blazed by the chimp.

N.Y. Studying Its Constitution

First Concrete Try by a State to Revamp Its Bulky Basis of Law

NEW YORK (UPI)—Governmental experts today studied a newly issued report designed to streamline and modernize the New York state constitution.

The document, more than 100 pages long, was based on a three-year study by the Temporary State Commission on the Revision and Simplification of the Constitution. It represented the first concrete attempt by any state to revamp a bulky, out-of-date constitution into a simple charter dealing with modern problems.

The commission warned that the Empire State's present constitution, which is five times longer than the U.S. constitution, could become even lengthier unless drastic steps are taken.

The group recommended shortening the constitution by almost 18 per cent, or 1,142 words. Under its plan, the local governments shared from 3,453 words to 373.

Among major suggestions is one to change the "home rule" section which allows localities to take only such actions as they are specifically permitted to take. The commission recommended that communities be at liberty to do whatever they wanted to do without specifically forbidden.

More crimes, suicides and insanity occur in summer than during any other time of the year.

More Jobs, More Money, More Fun Predicted

Rosy Optimism Theme of 1960 Forecasts

By WILLIAM FERRIS
NEW YORK (U-P) — You may work fewer hours, make more money, have more fun in the wonderful world of the 1960s.
That's how economists and business men view the future.
Their forecasts require, of course, a peaceful decade.
Given that, they foresee:
Nearly 81 million people employed by 1970. (It's a little more than 68 million now.)
A work week averaging about 37 1/2 hours. (It's a little more than 40 now; was 38 back in 1950.)
A steady growth in wages with only a little more than 13 per cent of all households having an income of less than $3,000. (It's 20 per cent today.)
Prophecies are always hazardous. For example:
Back in October 1959, just before the Great Depression, the Harvard Economic Society concluded no serious recession was likely. If there were, the Federal Reserve System would take steps to raise the money market and so check the movement.
And Professor Irving Fisher of Yale, an eminent economist, said just before the stock price boom and depression that stock prices had reached "what looks like a permanently high plateau."

So, a prudent man will take his predictions with a grain of salt.
Nevertheless, men of business and finance are almost unanimous in glowing forecasts for the coming decade which already has been labeled the "Soaring Sixties," "Surging Sixties" and "Golden Sixties." But some see the expected period of climb interrupted by recessions.
FUTURE BRIGHT
The Committee for Economic Development says:
"If we conduct our economic affairs with intelligence, we can reach a general level of material well-being higher than was ever before conceived of as possible."
Says Milla B. Lane, president of the Citizens & Southern National Bank, Atlanta, the Southeast's largest banking system:
"If exposed the greatest 10 years we have ever had. There will be fluctuations, but I look for very strong forward progress. It will be a decade of terrific technological advance."
S. Clark Beise, president of the Bank of America, San Francisco:

"I share the widely held view that growing population, an expanding labor force, the great increase in family formation, and recent and prospective technological gains will have general economic growth during the next 10 years."
Ernest B. Marsh, president of the Santa Fe Railroad: "My confidence in the future of American business and the system under which we operate is unbounded. The trends in growth of population and industry should by 1970 produce an economy that will cause all previous records of production and employment to appear insignificant by comparison."
Kasili Heyner Jr., president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn., Dallas: "Oil and gas producers are betting billions of dollars annually that by 1970 American industry will be using approximately 1 1/2 times as much energy as it is today."
Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller estimates the gross national product will hit 500 billion dollars by mid-1960.
The National Planning Assn. estimates that by 1970 the GNP will be 730 billion dollars in terms of the 1958 dollar. It's about 480 billion this year. In this year's dollar, about 473 billion in the 1958 dollar.

million with a civilian labor force of more than 85 million by 1970. The National Association of Homebuilders expects to build 1,000,000 to 1,200,000 homes a year by the late 1960s. (This year: about 1,300,000.)
Older folks will become an increasingly important part of the population. The number of new teen-agers will total four million each year until 1968, when it will jump to 4 1/2 million.
Robert J. Lampman, University of Wisconsin economist, in a report for the Senate House Economic Committee, forecasts a steady reduction in the number of low-income individuals.
About 26 percent of the nation was in the low income group in 1947. By 1951 this was down to 19 per cent. By 1971 Lampman expects the drop to continue to 10 or 12 per cent. In 30 years he expects poverty to be virtually eliminated.
Change, however, is not always for the better. You'll have to judge this one for yourself.
Lyle Spencer of Science Research Associates says: "In the future even the office secretary may be displaced by a machine which can translate the spoken word into morse and letters." This is good? good?

SKIPPER SMILES — Commander James B. Osburn, skipper of the United States Navy's first missile-launching submarine, the George Washington, (left) shakes hands with Dr. George B. Kistlikowsky, scientific aid to President Eisenhower, after the George Washington (background) was placed in commission at Groton, Conn. Wednesday. Dr. Kistlikowsky was principal speaker at the commissioning ceremonies.

Gerhard Cohn, chief economist of the National Planning Assn., expects the economic growth rate in the next 10 years to rise 4.2 per cent a year. It averaged 3 per cent in the 1951-59 period.
The Committee for Economic Development has figured out that, if the growth rate should average 4 per cent a year, average family income in 1975 would exceed $8,500, after taxes.
If the rate is 3 per cent, the income would be $7,500, after taxes.
Automation and electronics will provide a fabulous new world. Already an electronic brain is controlling a refining unit of Texaco at Port Arthur, Tex. It is now feasible to run a railroad train without any crew aboard.
Suppose you get sick in this new world? What's wrong? Doctors may call upon computers to answer.
Microwave and coaxial cables will link cities and hospitals with central computers. The computers will have stored the symptoms of thousands of diseases. Your symptoms will be fed into the computer for comparison with other symptoms. The computer will diagnose your illness.

There will be a lot more people around. Population will total 214 million with a civilian labor force of more than 85 million by 1970. The National Association of Homebuilders expects to build 1,000,000 to 1,200,000 homes a year by the late 1960s. (This year: about 1,300,000.)
Older folks will become an increasingly important part of the population. The number of new teen-agers will total four million each year until 1968, when it will jump to 4 1/2 million.
Robert J. Lampman, University of Wisconsin economist, in a report for the Senate House Economic Committee, forecasts a steady reduction in the number of low-income individuals.
About 26 percent of the nation was in the low income group in 1947. By 1951 this was down to 19 per cent. By 1971 Lampman expects the drop to continue to 10 or 12 per cent. In 30 years he expects poverty to be virtually eliminated.
Change, however, is not always for the better. You'll have to judge this one for yourself.
Lyle Spencer of Science Research Associates says: "In the future even the office secretary may be displaced by a machine which can translate the spoken word into morse and letters." This is good? good?

Chemical Sales in Record Year
Reach 25 Billion Mark; Look for Another Hike During 1960
By RIP WATSON
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The chemical industry chalked up another sales record in 1959, despite the steel strike, and looks forward to more of the same in 1960 and beyond.
Products for itself, for other industries and for direct sale to consumers brought the industry sales of 25 billion dollars, estimates the Manufacturing Chemists Assn. (MCA), a trade group representing manufacturers with 90 per cent of U.S. production capacity.
This compared with sales of $23,219,000,000 in recession-plagued 1958 and $23,418,000,000 in the previous peak year of 1957.
Some industry people look for sales of 28 billion dollars in 1960. Production, as measured by the Federal Reserve index (1947-49 equals 100), ran from 138 to 216 in the first nine months compared with 143 to 155 for all industrial production.
The far-reaching effects of the steel strike extended to only a few segments of the chemical industry. Producers of some basic chemicals, such as sulphuric acid, lost a good customer for awhile.
Certain raw materials which are by-products of steelmaking (not for use) were in short supply. And chemical sales to major steel consumers like automobile makers fell off as steel inventories declined.
Price trends were mixed. Prices of some raw materials in short supply during the steel strike rose sharply. Nitrogen fertilizers also moved up, along with synthetic rubber, which benefited from an upswing in natural rubber prices.
Other products, such as nylon tire cord, were cheaper.
Capital expenditures overseas increased sharply. Gen. John E. Hall, president of MCA, estimated that foreign facilities probably would account for 15 per cent of the total capital outlay.
Countering this trend was the first commercial production of man-made rubber exactly duplicating the tree-grown product. Such rubber has been known for some time but this was the first production in commercial quantities.
Plastics in all their varied forms continued to grow by leaps and bounds. Although final figures are not available, the society of the plastics industry estimates that it second half results are comparable to those in the first six months of 1959, production would soar to a whopping 100,000 pounds in 1958. It also would be greater than production of any metal except steel.
My, How We've Grown
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States had a population of 151,683,000 in 1959. By 1963, the figure had risen to 165,000,000 and the 1960 estimate is 181,540,000.

NEW SUMMER HOME FOR GOVERNOR
Gov. Williams has confirmed he is dickering for the purchase of this rambling frame home on Mackinac Island. It is known as the Commander McDonald home, after its last owner, the late Eugene F. McDonald Jr., president of Zenith Radio Corp. Williams said he wanted a permanent summer home on the island.

First Time Since 1930
Billion-Share Year for N. Y. Exchange
By ED MORSE
NEW YORK (AP)—A billion shares were traded on the New York Stock Exchange in 1959 for the first time since 1930.
Prices took off from the springboard of 1958's bull market and worked to greater record highs, attracting an army of investors and speculators.
The trouble drive ran into trouble, topping out on Aug. 3. Prices plummeted. The year's gain in the Associated Press average was wiped out by Sept. 22.
Stocks rebounded vigorously from the Sept. 22 low and by late October had recouped half the losses taken since Aug. 3. November was a month of consolidation and doubt. In December the market broke out above its narrow trading range and advanced again.
The prolonged steel strike was a major factor in upsetting Wall Street's confidence. So was the decision of President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to exchange visits. This prompted fears that defense spending might be sharply reduced.
SPUTNIK KHRUSHCHEV
The arrival of Khrushchev in the United States in mid-September, joined as it was with the success of the Russian moon rocket, gave the market a jolt reminiscent of the "Sputniked" 1957 market.
Just prior to these events the Federal Reserve Board raised the discount rate to 4 per cent from 3 1/2 per cent—another sign of the tight money Wall Street dreads so heartily.
These bullish events combined with the lengthening steel strike to bring about a shakeout which culminated in the Sept. 22 low. By that date the Associated Press average of 80 stocks had declined to $14 from the Aug. 3 record high of $25.80 and the Dow Jones Industrial average was down to 616.45 from its closing record of 678.18 reached the same date.
Prices were so comparatively cheap by Sept. 22 that mutual funds and other institutional investors began coming back into the market. Experienced Wall Streeters saw in the stock price level a portentous "buy point" and the market rebounded vigorously, purely on a technical basis.
CLIMAX OCT. 16
The recovery move climaxed Oct. 16 with the AP average at $22.50 and the Dow Industrials at 637.22. A new settlement offer by the striking Steelworkers helped spark this rise but hopes of an agreement vanished over a weekend and President Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley Law.
Alternate hopes and fears concerning the steel labor situation were accompanied by up-and-down juggling of the market for a period of about six weeks. Yawls selling and switching also modulated the trend but the market found renewed optimism in early December and surged above the October recovery high.
The market rise was accompanied by some fantastic gyrations early in the year and these occasional warnings from heads of the major exchanges as well as from the Securities and Exchange Commission which saw plain signs of manipulation.
The Federal Reserve Board also stepped into the picture by ordering stiffer rules for the handling of margin accounts. On three separate occasions the "Fed" upped the discount rate in an attempt to put the damper on too-rapid business expansion as well as on the roaring stock market.

Foreign Steel Is Challenging
Estimate Russia and Europe Can Outstrip U.S. Mills
NEW YORK (AP)—Foreign steel producers are mounting an increasingly open challenge to the United States, the metalworking trade magazine Iron Age said today.
"Not since the rise of the United States as a manufacturing nation has there been a comparable shifting of the balance of power in steel production," the magazine said in a year-end study of world-wide steel developments.
The era of change is characterized by these major factors:
"The coming of age of the steel industry of Western Europe in technology and product balance; changes in European marketing and sales concepts to more closely parallel those of the United States; the continued rise of Soviet Russia as a force in world steel production."
Iron Age estimated 1959 production by the Soviet bloc at 99 million tons, compared with American output of 92 million.
The magazine pointed out that Western Europe had a steelmaking capacity of about 100 million tons in 1957 and by next year it will be 124 million. Peak steel production for Japan was 13,800,000 tons in 1957. Japan is planning for 20 million tons of capacity by 1962.
Iron Age said that the government probably won't allow another steel strike when the Taft-Hartley injunction expires Jan. 26. But it said the strike could resume "because of possible lethargy, lack of planning, and massive confusion in government as to what steps to take."
It added that feeling is growing that a mandated settlement may come, and that if it does, it will bring a steel price increase.
Atlanta Firm Purchases Ainsworth Castings Co.
ATLANTA (AP)—Purchase of the Ainsworth-Precision Castings Co., a division of Harco Corp., Harrisburg, Pa., by the Fulton Cotton Mills of Atlanta has been announced by Jay Levine, chairman of the Board of Fulton.
The cash purchase price was not disclosed.
Levine said yesterday the purchase includes the operations and all assets of seven plants at Syracuse and Fayetteville, N.Y.; Kalamazoo and Marysville, Mich.; Springfield, Tenn.; Cleveland, Ohio, and Chicago.

OPEN MONDAY — FRIDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Jenkins of Wrennham drive, at right, exchanged challenges with party-planners Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Allen of Pioneer drive from the steps of the chartered bus which became a circus bandwagon for the progressive costume subscription party held New Year's Eve by a group of Pontiac couples.

Mrs. L. Jerome Fink of Quanton road played a frolicsome monkey to her mustachioed husband's organ grinding at the costume party they helped plan. Operating the wheel of fortune to the right of Dr. Fink is "gypsy" Mrs. Edward E. Elder of Wakerobin street. The Fink home was transformed to a circus "Midway" for the event.

Roll in New Year Aboard Festive Circus Bandwagon

A progressive costume subscription party served as a fun-making vehicle in welcome in the New Year for a number of area couples last night. Establishing a circus motif, party-planners Dr. and Mrs. Jerome L. Fink, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey C. Roberts dubbed their party "FAR Bros. Circus." The name was derived from the initials of their last names.

A chartered bus became the circus bandwagon. Guests were picked up at designated times and cocktails and tidbits were served en route to the Bloomfield Hills home of the Finks. Their home became the circus "midway" where games of chance were in order and dinner was served circus canteen style.

Gaily costumed as circus performers and animals, the group again boarded the bandwagon-bus for the trip to the Dick street home of the Roberts. This was the "big top" where "the great Houdini-escape act" and "the devil-defying cannon act" preceded the "grand parade" and costume-judging.

The New Year was heralded in with group singing and dancing.

Post- midnight acts included a contortionist act for the men and a special animal-act for the women.

Party-goers were dropped at their homes by bus following the serving en route of pre-breakfast coffee and doughnuts.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. James P. Nye, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Thomas Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Willis D. Lefurgy, the Jack W. Halpits of Clarkston, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Madole, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Howarth and Mr. and Mrs. Claire Scriven.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. James R. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Strait, the Charles D. Scribners of Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. B. Jack Habel, Dr. and Mrs. George N. Petroff, Mr. and Mrs. Collis A. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Jack S. Coutsen.

Completing the list were Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Rich, Dr. and Mrs. Robert T. Lyons, Dr. and Mrs. Edward E. Elder Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Ruppel, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Allen and Dr. and Mrs. Fink.

Isabellas Celebrate

Holiday entertainment followed the business meeting of Daughters of Isabella at Knights of Columbus Hall.

Estelle Stevens and Mrs. Omer DeConick were in charge of the program.

Members brought gifts for shut-ins and prepared baskets for distribution under the chairmanship of Mrs. D. W. Polmer assisted by Mrs. A. F. Schoenmann and Mrs. Joseph Gilson.

After group singing with Mrs. Paul Miller accompanying, refreshments were served to the 100 members and guests.

3-Way Tie in Bridge Play

A three-way tie for first place resulted when the Land O'Lakes Duplicate Bridge Club held its weekly tournament game Wednesday at Waterford's CAI Building.

Winners were Mrs. Robert Segula and Mrs. Ernest Guy, Richard Guy and Rudolph Thomas, Dr. Charles Patrick and Ernest Guy.

What a Supermarket This Would Be!

NEW YORK (AP)—Food store executive Ted Dublin says the housewife's grocery shopping chore will be considerably less nerve-racking in the 1960s.

He unveiled at the Food Exposition and Country Fair at the Coliseum recently a model of what he predicts will be the supermarket of the future.

It is a round building with seven circular ramps. Elevators whisk the housewife to the top of the market where she receives a market with a code number. She travels on a moving sidewalk slowly down the ramps and can step off to mark any item she wants with her code number.

Here selections travel down conveyor belts to the check-out point. An electronic computer produces an itemized statement and the total cost, receives cash and returns change.

To Fete Ernsts

The shopper then moves on to a pickup near the parking lot. In exchange for her receipted bill, she receives her groceries.

Dublin said some of the techniques will reach the production stage soon. The building was designed by Prof. William N. Breger, chairman of the department of architecture at Pratt Institute.

Arrangements for the reception are being completed by their children, Stephen Ernst Jr., Mrs. Mark Belts, and Mrs. James Fuller.

Birmingham students include: Michael J. Mally, of Upton road, medicine; Howard T. Smith, Buckingham road, dentistry; and David F. Spehar of Hazel street, liberal arts.
Fred Ahrens of Shawnee lane, Drayton Plains, is a law student.

T. Sgt. and Mrs. Truman W. Stuart, with their children, Cindy and Johnnie, are returning to Independence, Mo. after holiday visits with his parents, the Truman A. Stuarts of East Beverly avenue. This was Sgt. Stuart's first Christmas at home in eight years. He is stationed with the U.S. Marine Corps in Kansas City, Mo.
Joining the family group for Christmas dinner were the Robert G. Stuarts of Pontiac, with their sons, Jeffrey and Scott.

The John Gregors (nee Ruth Ann Robb) of Coventry drive, Drayton Plains, were hosts at family dinner during the holidays. Places were marked for the Ransom Robbs, also of Drayton Plains, who brought Mrs. Robb's mother, Mrs. Bernard Decker of Keego Harbor. From Detroit came the William Robbs and six little Robbs, Michael, Anne, Stephan, Terry, Kathy Mary and Thomas Stanley; also Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Traston (nee Lulu Robb) with their four children.

Teen-Agers: Adults Have Feelings, Too

BY RUTH MILLETT
The four of us who were sitting in the hotel dining room having lunch all have children in either high school or college.
So we understood what she meant when one of the mothers remarked, "I guess I'm getting to the age when I'm grateful to have a teenager go out of her way to greet me or seem pleased to see me."
The remark was made after a pretty 18-year-old, a friend of the woman's daughter, left her own group of friends to come over to our table and say "hello."
It's a very unimportant incident and yet it might surprise a lot of teenagers to find out just how much their smallest courtesies are appreciated by adults.

Pfc. and Mrs. Robert Morden (nee Charlotte Robb) are living in West Berlin, Germany, where Robert is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Returned to their home in Clovis, N.M., are Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Worthington, with their sons Gregg and Hunter, who have been house guests of the Ben D. Mills of Vaughan road, Bloomfield Hills, through the holidays.

The William Taitt (nee Jean La Mont) with their daughters, Shawn and Shelley, and Mr. Taitt's parents, Judge and Mrs. Joseph Taitt, have returned to their home in Webster Groves, Mo., after holiday visits with the Charles La Monts of West Irons road.

Mrs. Jack Brumack of Lakeview drive and her sister, Mrs. Glen Rivard of Glenwood avenue, left Saturday morning on a motor trip to Miami Beach, Fla. Mr. Brumack and daughter, Barbara Jo, and Mr. Rivard left by plane Thursday to join their families for New Year's. After spending several days at Miami Beach, the group will tour Florida, returning to their Pontiac homes on Jan. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coe opened their home on Alco drive, Lake Oakland, for their traditional New Year's Eve party. An orchestra played for dancing following buffet dinner. Guests came from Rochester, Grand Rapids, Ann Arbor, Farmington and Detroit.

Dinner guests of Mrs. Donald C. Porritt at her home on Cherokee road, on New Year's Eve were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kantz, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur MacAlams and the Verne Todds.

Jack Porritt who is food supervisor in Brodie Dormitory at Michigan State University will spend the New Year weekend with his mother. He was graduated from MSU in hotel management last June.

Returned to their home in San Mateo, Calif. are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davenport who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Henry P. Gaudier of Interlaken Road, Five Lake.

Honor Older Child, but Do It Sincerely

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
With the coming of Jerry's baby sister, his sense of self-satisfaction was badly shaken.

This was because the mommy, who came home from the hospital looked like the one who'd gone to it — but behaved so differently. At both times no longer would she watch admiringly when he made waves for his sailboat. No longer did she tell stories to beguile his boredom with the last of his prunes.

Instead of beaming at him while he put on his galoshes, she stuck him on chairs and fastened them herself. What time she now gave him she gave in a hurry that suggested she begrudged every moment she wasn't with the baby.

No, naturally Jerry began to wail that he was the baby instead of himself.

This self-dissatisfaction, inevitable in the arrival of new brother and sisters, is the main spring of jealousy.

Though we can't hope to rid an older child entirely of it, we can reduce its intensity.

With the arrival of a new baby, we can begin to show new honor.

Start Building Gem Collection

(NKA)—If your family did not leave you a cache of jewels, go antique hunting. This has become a national hobby and it's fun. Treat yourself to an antique brooch, a Victorian bracelet or a pair of dainty earrings.

You'll build your own small jewel collection this way. And many old pieces are no more expensive than costume jewelry.

We can make a celebration of extending the older child's bad time. We can use the occasion to inaugurate a small weekly allowance.

We can take special care to include him in conversation at meals, make a point of consulting his preferences in food, in clothing, in the color of new blankets for his bed.

We can, if we are ourselves perceive that his jealousy of the baby stems from dissatisfaction with his older age, seize all kinds of natural opportunities to demonstrate its advantages to him.

But the spirit in which we show him this new honor is all-important.

If we lavish privileges on him out of fear of his jealousy, he will know it — and discredit their value. He'll know we're trying to "make up" to him.

But if we honor his older age, because we truly believe it rates honor, he'll know that, too, and begin to appreciate it himself.

So I remind you that honoring it is morally sound. Jerry takes more responsibility for himself than the baby does. He feeds himself. He uses his own legs. He uses language to ask for what he wants.

He has achieved more independence than the baby.

2nd Baby Needs Special Attention

(UPI)—The family expecting a second or third child needs to spruce up accessories and furniture used for previous babies.

To give an old bathtub a new look, add a plastic tub designed to fit most standard frames. When outgrown, it can be used as a laundry basin.

Invitation Not a Must This Time

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Last Saturday my husband and I and two other couples went out to dinner. It was Dutch treat. We were seated at the table and looking over the menu, another couple with whom we were all acquainted but not overly fond of, came by and stopped to chat.

After a while one of the women in our party asked them if they would like to join us, which they did. Their presence cast a pall over the group, and instead of spending a pleasant evening, it was strained and stiff. I thought this friend was very wrong in taking it upon herself to ask them to join our party. She claims it was the only polite thing to do.

Answer: It was not at all necessary to ask this extra couple to join your party and knowing how the group felt toward them, I agree with you that she was wrong to have asked them to do so.

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother and I went to visit an aunt and uncle the other evening. While we were there an elderly man came to call. When he said good-night my brother shook hands with him and said he was delighted to meet him, while I stayed in my chair and merely said good-night. Later my brother told me that I should have gotten up and shaken hands, but I don't believe this formality is expected of a young woman.

Answer: Because you are young you should have stood up to say goodnight. Had he been a younger man, or you nearer his age, you would have remained seated since you were not in your own house.

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is engaged to a man who is going to be best man at a wedding. Is she supposed to be included in dinners and other parties given for the bride and groom? I think she should be just the same as a wife always is. But there seems to be some difference of opinion.

Answer: You are right. If your daughter's engagement has been announced, she should be invited to all dinners and parties at which her fiancé is to be present.

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a waffle with butter and syrup be cut with a knife or may it be cut with the side of a fork?

Answer: If you can cut it easily with the side of your fork you do so, though most of us prefer to use both knife and fork when eating waffles.

She Could Win by a Nose—Abby

Plastic Surgery Gives Many Self-Confidence

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My 17-year-old daughter would be a living doll if she had her nose fixed.

Maybe if I could hear from some of your readers who have had their noses fixed and were satisfied. It might help convince my husband.

Please help me, Abby. I am enclosing a picture of my daughter. Cover up her nose with your finger and you'll see how beautiful she is. Can you recommend a doctor for this kind of operation?

DEAR MRS. RSVF: Ask your family doctor to recommend a competent plastic surgeon. If you and your husband and daughter go to the surgeon he will explain what the operation involves. If a conspicuous nose has been a problem to your daughter, plastic surgery is well worth exploring. It has brought amazing self-confidence to many. Your daughter could win by a nose.

DEAR ABBY: When we make something in cooking class at school, don't you think we should be allowed to eat it?

MARY NELL
DEAR MARY NELL: ALLOWED? You should be COMPELLED to!

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have had our names listed with several reliable adoption agencies for almost five years (we can't have our own). I am 34 and she is 30 and we are desperate.

We have a chance to get an 8-year-old boy. He is a ward of the state welfare. His parents are living, but we can adopt him legally. We've never seen him. Only pictures.

My wife is all for grabbing him, but I am not. I am afraid that this boy through no fault of his own has already formed too many bad habits which will make him hard for us to raise. I think we should hold out for an infant or nothing at all.

We would like your opinion and the opinions of others who know something of this problem. We are on the fence.

MR. AND MRS. K.
DEAR MR. AND MRS. K.: You surely will be invited to examine the record of this lad, disclosing his habits, personality, traits and capacity to learn. Or perhaps even a "trial" period will be allowed. Before rejecting the boy, meet him and judge for yourself.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MAC": A 35-year-old man does not need his mother's permission. Ask the girl to marry you and when you tell your mother the news don't be surprised if she flies off her broomstick.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Concepts Change

(NEA)—It's strange how that favorite dress of three years ago can change in appearance even though it still fits perfectly. Actually, what happens is that our concept of fashion changes and so the old-time favorite begins to look old.

And It Just Might Do That

Resolved: I'll Be Model Wife if It Kills Me

By DOROTHY ROE

New Year's resolutions are good for the soul, whether you keep them or not. So here are a few I'd like to suggest for today's women:

1. I shall try with all my heart to be fresh, smiling and glamorous at breakfast. Even if Junior upsets his orange juice. Even if my husband complains about the coffee and goes off in the snow without his rubbers.

2. I shall endeavor to make my home look like the color pictures in the best shelter magazines, although how you get the family from marring the scene with scattered gum balls, raisins, snow suits, old newspapers and housework I haven't quite figured out.

3. I shall attempt never to introduce an unpleasant subject at the dinner table, even though Junior spends most of mealtime on the telephone and Junior brings a live frog to the table.

4. I shall do my best to remain calm, capable, sweet and forbearing at all times, even when the electricity goes off right at dinner time and I have to finish the beef stew on the back-yard barbecue grill.

Even when the water pipes freeze and the washing machine goes on the blink, and I can't bribe a repair man to come within two weeks.

5. I shall never indulge in female hysterics. Even if I do have a full-time job at the office and then have to come home and get dinner and do the dishes. Even though my husband converses volubly on the charm and talents of Betty Jones next door, who has no children and inherited income and nothing to do except keep herself beautiful.

6. I shall try to live up to that ideal of the modern woman always extolled in the women's magazines—the wonder girl who runs a brilliant career with one hand, a home and family with the other, community activities, social life, PTA politics and artistic hobbies with the third, fourth, fifth and sixth hands and always is fascinating. If it kills her.

7. I shall become a gourmet cook, and serve up every meal in true Ecocutor style, even though my family prefers hamburgers.

8. I shall live graciously, come heck or high water. I shall always have flowers and candlelight with dinner, sunshine and laughter with breakfast and gay companionship with lunch. I shall tie satin bows on the kitchen chairs when his gets dull, and make charming table mats out of old bath towels, dyed in my automatic washing machine and embroidered on my automatic sewing machine.

9. I shall take advantage of leisure time, gained through modern push-button housekeeping, by improving my mind and getting acquainted with the higher things of life, even if I have to do it between two and four in the morning, after I've finished running the electric dishwasher and putting tomorrow's dinner in the automatic oven.

10. When the whole family seems unbearable I shall ask myself how it would be to live without them, and things will immediately seem better.

P.S. The tenth is probably the only one of these resolutions I shall keep.

Glamor Queens Are Too Skinny

You're Fine, So Why Diet?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I read your column every day and I am wondering if you can help me with my problem. I am 16 years old and weigh 118 pounds. I am 5 feet, 4 inches tall and my measurements are bust, 36 inches; waist, 24 1/2 inches; hips, 36 inches."

A. "All of my friends say that I am just right but I think I should weigh 110 pounds and lose a half inch around the waist. You may think I am crazy, but I have always desired to be that weight. I can usually get down to 115 pounds without much trouble but that five extra is hard to manage because I start eating again."

A. No I do not think you are crazy but I think you have some of the crazy ideas young women of your age are likely to have. If you lose eight pounds for a weight of 110 you will be from 18 to 19 pounds underweight. You are just about right now but on the low rather than the high side. Your measurements are very good. You waist is already an inch and a half smaller than required for a perfect figure. No wonder you have trouble losing that last five pounds!

Many young women try to simulate the figures of movie stars and models. This is a great mistake. The camera adds about 15 pounds in appearance and you are probably much prettier at the weight you are now. You should not lose more weight because it could be detrimental to your health.

Q. "I am a teenage girl with a problem about my weight. I am very athletic and eat proper meals but I still remain very thin. I need help. Please answer in your column."

A. Athletics builds health and stamina but if you are trying to gain weight perhaps you should indulge in sports less strenuously for a while. Competitive sports may be too much if you wish to gain pounds. Why not concentrate on such sports as swimming and golf?

Also drink milk, with a little cream added between meals and eat a little snack before going to sleep at night—something like crackers and cheese and fruit or ice cream. Of course you must be sure to get enough sleep.

Q. "Please give me some advice. I am 14 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, I weigh 137 pounds. My measurements are: bust, 37 inches; waist, 28 inches; hips 37 1/2 inches. Am I too tall for my age? I have a very large frame. Where do I need to lose in inches?"

Tomorrow: "A Few Basic Needs For Skin Care."

Catch Self in Mirror for Faults

(NEA)—Nervous mannerisms detract from any woman's beauty. The woman who fusses with her hair, grimaces, gestures constantly, moves about restlessly or clutches other people in order to gain attention as she talks is always a minor and sometimes a major irritant.

The sad part of it is that she seldom is aware that she has a nervous mannerism. It's so much part of her that she would be shocked if someone pointed it out to her. And, with rare exception, no one will. People will avoid her, of course, but they won't say anything.

So, the only way each one of us can be sure that we haven't let a nervous mannerism get the best of us is to check up. Watch yourself in a full-length mirror. Be conscious of the gestures you make. And stop when you find yourself twisting a lock of hair, waving your hands or distorting your face as you talk.

That's Candidate Humphrey A Rock 'Em, Talk 'Em Fighter

By United Press International

Hubert Horatio Humphrey, who Wednesday declared his candidacy for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, has described himself as "a walking, talking liberal" who can carry his party to victory.

His prowess for activity — physical and vocal — is conceded by friend and foe.

The bouncy, indefatigable, 48-year-old Minnesota senator acknowledges his propensity for talking on any number of subjects to anyone who will listen — and at any length. Last year, he spent eight hours talking with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev at the Kremlin and admitted he probably filibustered a bit.

Humphrey, who once clerked at the soda fountain of his father's drugstore in Huron, S.D., has been a foretold figure at every Democratic convention since 1948. That year, as a brash young mayor of Minneapolis, he was one of the "Young Turks" who led a successful fight for a strong civil rights plank in the party platform.

The same year, he won election to the Senate over Republican incumbent Joseph Ball.

Humphrey promptly got off on the wrong senatorial foot by assailing the need for a small committee headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, the highly-respected Virginia Democrat. Humphrey found himself talking to an almost empty chamber before he was through.

Since that blunder, he has toned down his tactics and won acceptance into the Senate's inner circle.

Humphrey, a blunt-spoken critic of the Eisenhower administration, has spoken up sharply on foreign policy, farm problems, defense and civil rights.

He won the accolade of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. The former First Lady said he has inspired her "the mark of greatness" needed by an occupant of the White House.

Humphrey, who still is a registered pharmacist, is a six-foot-two, 170-pounder who scales around 170 pounds. His hairline is receding rapidly. He is recognized as one of the best dancers and conversationalists in Washington.

The Democratic hopeful is a tireless campaigner who can mix a high-level approach with a homespun touch. In Minneapolis, he spotted the license plate, whistled them to a stop, introduced them to his wife and four children, and insisted they stay for Sunday dinner.

Nuns 'Star' in Show on Channel 56

DETROIT (UPI) — Television has invaded the cloistered world of the Catholic convent.

And the nuns have invaded the world of television with the aplomb of seasonal performers.

Nuns perform on a weekly, hour-long show, "Believe Me, Teachers," originating from the University of Detroit study of Detroit's educational television station, WTVS, Channel 56.

When the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Vincent J. Herkan, superintendent of parochial schools in the archdiocese, decided to start the show, he approached the nuns about being the "stars."

"With characteristic dignity the nuns who participated in the first shows resembled the word, 'show,'" said Fr. Raymond R. Schlinker, producer of the program.

"After a few terms before the camera, however, they soon realized that this is exactly what they are doing — putting on a show."

The program is required viewing for the 2,500 nuns teaching in the elementary grades of the Detroit archdiocese and is recommended by lay teachers as well.

In the hands of the "performing nuns, simple children's toy become tools for explaining scientific principles so that the young students will understand them."

A ramp for a miniature wheeled demonstrator on an inclined plane. A toy airplane propeller illustrates the principle of the screw. And a toy power wheel shows how a lever works.

TV Star Van Williams Weds for Second Time

PALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif. (AP) — Van Williams, 25, co-star of television's "Bourbon Street Beat," and Vicki Richards were married Thursday.

It was the second marriage for each. Mrs. Richards, 24, recently was divorced from actor Jeff Richards.

READY FOR BEAR — Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey, 48, who robustly threw his hat into the presidential ring Wednesday, is a magnetic and continuous talker. Here he greets a student at Concordia College, Minn., recently, before addressing a mock Senate session.

WEST BRANCH — A Roman Catholic priest started the new year in jail here today, charged with forgery and accused of trying to flee with $13,450 in church funds.

The Rev. Francisco Paz, 33, of the Archdiocese of Popayan in Colombia, was arrested yesterday on a warrant obtained by Ogemaw County Prosecutor Randall B. Clemence.

He was held at the Ogemaw county jail here in lieu of $2,500 bond after he waived examination before Justice of the Peace George Niese.

Sheriff Fred Power said the priest, when questioned about the case, just shrugged.

Clemence said the money belonged to the parish fund of St. Joseph Catholic Church here, where Father Paz had been on temporary assignment since September. Police said they understood the priest went to the parish and asked for assistance when his funds ran low.

They said he had been in the United States for about two years. Officers said he had been an exchange student at the University of Michigan.

Clemence said Father Paz obtained the money by signing the name of the parish priest, Father Aloysius J. O'Toole, to church checks. He then cashed them at the West Branch bank, Clemence said.

Father Paz was seized at a state police roadblock near Bay City. Sheriff Powers said the priest's car held a briefcase containing a bank draft for $6,000 and about $5,000 in cash.

Father O'Toole notified state police early yesterday when the bank called and told him about the cashed checks. He then found Father Paz missing.

McNamara Asks CAB for Jets to Coast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) Thursday asked the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) to permit immediately non-stop jet plane service between Detroit and Los Angeles.

He suggested that proposals for jet flights between Detroit and San Francisco be held for further study to determine whether they are justified by passenger demand.

McNamara made the statement in a letter to CAB chairman James H. Dorn.

The CAB denied petitions filed earlier by Detroit, Wayne County and the state of Michigan for jet service between Detroit and Los Angeles.

He said the surveys made no mention of the "substantial" Detroit-Los Angeles market.

The denial was based primarily on two passenger surveys which indicated there would not be enough traffic between Detroit and San Francisco to support the three airlines now flying the Motor City-West Coast route, McNamara said.

McNamara said, "It is ironic to think that Detroit, which was one of the first cities to build a jet airport, will be among the last to have jet service."

FOR THE LAST TIME — Senior Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty was yesterday afternoon as he left the Courthouse for the last time. The 78-year-old respected jurist retired from judicial service yesterday after 32 years on the local bench. Appointed first in 1927, he re-elected five times, Doty said. "Retirement is something I've dreaded all my life." He plans to "take it easy" at his home at 180 State Ave. and his farm in Rose-Highland Township.

Air Safety Mark at 7-Year Low

Industry Makes Blunt Study of 'What Went Wrong in 1959'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commercial aviation's worst safety record in seven years may have one beneficial result: all concerned are determined to keep it from happening again.

Government and industry alike are conducting blunt appraisals of what went wrong in 1959 and what may have to be done for 1960 and thereafter.

The Airline Transport Assn. (ATA), which represents the scheduled airlines, has asked all members to take a critical look at their operations—maintenance, pilot training and over-all flight procedures.

ATA, in an unusually frank letter to airline operations executives, said even carriers which had no crashes in 1959 should join in this "self-criticism" to catch any potential weaknesses.

TIGHT CONTROL

The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA), which came into existence only a year ago, has spent its first 12 months riding herd on the airlines with the tightest rein in history.

It is so tight that pilots and some airline officials regard it as petty harassment more than necessary enforcement of rules.

FAA issued a number of new safety regulations, including such controversial ones as grounding all pilots 60 years or older and requiring airborne radar on all four-engine passenger-carrying planes.

It is presently engaged in a rigid 30-day monitoring program of airline training, maintenance and flight procedures. By Feb. 1, it hopes to determine whether any corrective measures are necessary.

It has ordered the airlines to submit pilot training programs for FAA approval.

In recent months, FAA inspectors have been flight-checking airline pilots in an unprecedented inspection program — much the annoyance of the Airline Pilots Assn., which claims that most of the inspectors are not qualified on the aircraft and over the routes involved in check flights.

Briefly stated, the FAA has been getting tough. There have been more fines levied against airlines and individual pilots for alleged rule violations during 1959 than in any other single year.

FAA officials emphasize that their stricter enforcement program does not mean the airlines and their crews have been getting careless. They describe the program as a preventive future trouble, not just as punishment for past errors.

Mortality Rate Declines Slowly in 1950 Decade

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. mortality rate declined further during the 1950s but not by nearly as much as in the preceding two decades.

Statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. report that the death rate is now about 8.4 per 1,000 population, 2 per cent below the 1950 figure. It had declined more than three times as fast in the '40s and about twice as fast in the '30s.

The U.N. decision in 1958 to end the Cameroon trusteeship, proposed by the Communists and many African and Asian nations. They supported the outlawed U.P.C.

One of the major questions now is whether they will recognize Cameroon. Most Western nations have indicated they will do so.

Record Amount of Yuletide Mail Causes No Woes

Although a record amount of Christmas mail was received and dispatched in Pontiac this year, the Post Office today said it enjoyed "the smoothest operation ever."

Acting Postmaster Robert G. Miller announced a 1.4 per cent increase over last year's record volume.

Pieces of mail handled by the Pontiac Post Office in 1959 from Dec. 1 to Dec. 25 numbered 10,576,945. The total for this year's comparable period was 11,178,622.

Miller said he was particularly pleased that "all this work was accomplished at a cost below that of last year."

Some 212 employees were hired to help with the Christmas load this year, over 183 last year. Changes in operation resulted in saving 600 hours in contract car hire at $1.25 per hour.

Said Miller: "Despite the record-breaking volume of Christmas mail, no bottlenecks to prompt delivery were experienced. This was due primarily to the extensive dedication and effort of postal employees, efficiency of postal operations and fine cooperation of the public in keeping our 400 published 'Mail Early' program."

A NEW DECADE BEGINS — With Pontiac in the background, pretty Donna Brook of Waterford Township smiles as she looks ahead to the new decade that began today. An office worker at GMC Truck & Coach Division, Donna helps The Pontiac Press with its readers not only a happy 1960, but a happy 1960-1970 too.

Strife at Birth of Cameroon

30 Killed Just Before Africa's New Nation Gains Independence

YAOUNDE, Cameroon (AP) — The new African nation of Cameroon was born today under a sign of uncertainty and in the wake of violence that claimed 30 lives.

Terrorist bands poured into the country's largest city, the Atlantic port of Douala, less than 48 hours before the new year brought independence. Several Europeans were killed.

The outbreaks were blamed on the Communist-line Union of Cameroon People — U.P.C. — which took to the hills in 1955 to fight for independence.

The U.P.C.'s exiled leader, Dr. Felix Moussie, claims the elections which installed premier Ambo Abido were rigged. He wanted new elections prior to independence.

A large number of foreign dignitaries were present in this gala dedication capital for the opening of four days of independence celebrations. They included U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, Henry Cabot Lodge, head of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations, and French minister of State Louis Jacquinot.

KNEW MANY RULERS

The country of eight million on central Africa's Atlantic Coast is the first African territory under U.N. trusteeship to gain sovereignty.

A German colony until conquered and partitioned by the British and French in World War I, it was ruled by France under the League of Nations, then under the United Nations.

The future of the British Cameroons has not been decided.

The U.N. decision in 1958 to end the Cameroon trusteeship, proposed by the Communists and many African and Asian nations. They supported the outlawed U.P.C.

One of the major questions now is whether they will recognize Cameroon. Most Western nations have indicated they will do so.

Areas Will Feel Shifts in Defense

But Impact on Nation as a Whole Shouldn't Be Substantial

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON — Important shifts in defense spending, ordered as budget-balancing moves, will have a major economic impact on many American communities in the year ahead.

To hold defense spending to about 41 billion dollars, fiscal planners have decreed that some programs must be scrapped, cut back or stretched out to make room for costly new projects deemed more essential.

Just where the reductions and increases will come has not been spelled out in detail. However, the trend will be toward increasing emphasis on missiles and nuclear ships and cuts in manned aircraft, conventional vessels, ammunition and vehicles.

Communities which have a big stake in programs due for the axe will feel the pinch. On the other hand, those which among the expanded projects can look forward to new prosperity.

MORE OF SAME

Actually, this sort of thing happened in 1959. Aircraft contracts were particularly hard-hit as the military canceled out a series of fighter plane programs. The outlook, therefore, is for more of the same in 1960.

The national impact will not be great, however, because cuts in one spot will be offset by increases elsewhere.

The effect of federal outlays on the economy is often measured in terms of spending for goods and services. Goods include everything from paper clips to missiles while services range from laundry charges to the President's salary.

Altogether, Uncle Sam buys more than 10 per cent of all the goods and services produced each year.

In 1960, spending for items in these categories is expected to change very little from the 1959 level — about 53½ billion dollars.

Two MSU Students Rescued From Peak

GORHAM, N.H. (AP) — "We just made ourselves snug and waited for help."

That was how two young climbers saved their lives when a snowstorm marooned them for four days in a cabin near the top of 5,338-foot Mount Madison in the White Mountain National Forest.

The storm, blowing since Sunday night, covered the Appalachian Mountain Club hut with two feet of snow.

Richard Bonier, 27, Watertown, Mass., and Harold Karsgaard, 25, Cambridge, Mass., graduate students at Michigan State University were found in excellent condition Thursday by a search party led by Robert Prescott, Lexington, Mass., a U.S. Weather Bureau observer on a day off from his job on the summit of 6,288-foot Mount Washington.

Accuracy Really Is What Counts — Doesn't It?

AUBURN, Ala. (NEA) — After Auburn's third football defeat of the season, the telephone at Gene Lorenzo's house rang late at night.

Lorenzo, the Tigers' offensive end coach, answered it.

"How do you spell your name?" asked the caller.

Lorenzo spelled it out and asked why the call.

"We're going to hang you in effigy," was the reply, "and wanted to be sure and have the name right."

K to Visit Indonesia Before Paris Summit

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev will make a trip to Southeast Asia before meeting with the Western Big Three leaders at a summit conference in Paris in mid-May.

The Indonesian Foreign Office announced today that the Soviet Premier will visit this neutral republic in February.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the visit will contribute to "further easing of international tension and strengthening of peace in Asia and the world."

You Bought More Food at Lower Prices in 1959

BY RUP WATSON
NEW YORK (U. P.) — Americans bought more food — at generally lower prices — in 1959. Prices are expected to average a little lower next year.

Although many food shoppers may not realize it, monthly figures from the Bureau of Labor statistics were anywhere from 0.5 to 4 points below the comparable 1958 figure from February through October. In January the bureau's index was 119.0 of the 1947-49 figure, compared with 118.2 a year earlier, but the 1959 figure was lower than 1958's every month after that.

Due to an increase of 4 percent in tonnage, however, the total spent on food through all channels of distribution rose to $73 billion dollars from $69 billion in 1958, estimates Paul R. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers Assn.

The food processing trade group looks for over all food spending of $76 billion dollars next year and $115 billion dollars in 1970.

The outlook for 1960, according to the government's Agricultural Marketing Service, is for a greater food supply and hence slightly lower prices. Higher marketing charges are expected to be offset by lower prices to farmers.

SEES MORE MEAT

The service looks for heavier supplies of pork and the better grades of beef, resulting in a per capita supply of red meats of 101.5 pounds, up 3 pounds from 1959. Increased supplies of eggs and fresh and processed fruits (especially citrus) are forecast. Butter, cheese, potatoes and most fresh vegetables are expected to be in smaller supply.

More fresh growing weather in Florida and other major producing areas could, of course, spoil the pleasant food outlook.

Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet Inc. Food Index, also were lower all through 1959.

The index ran anywhere from 2.4 to 10.1 percent below earlier figures and late in the year was close to a nine-year low. The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

From the industry point of view, Willis says profit of 89 representative GMA members show an average rate of about 3 cents per dollar of sales, up slightly from 2.7 cents in 1958. Wages, taxes, all transportation except rail freight rates and most other costs moved up during 1959.

Sees Record Year for U. S. Packaging

NEW YORK (U. P.) — Next year should be a record year for the packaging industry, believes William C. Stolk, president of the American Can Co.

He added that a primary task will be to "redouble our efforts towards belt-tightening in both business and government in order to offset the continuing presence of inflationary forces in our economy."

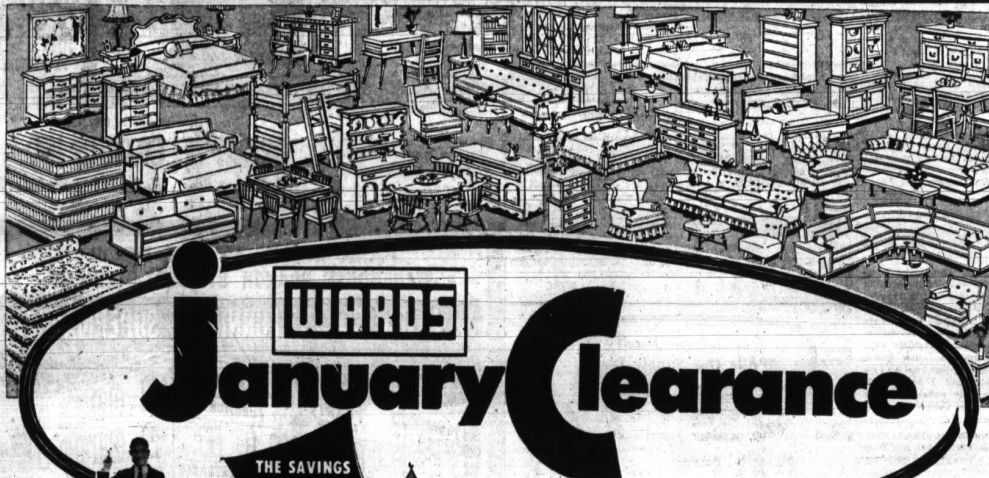

In industry generally a new pattern of wage increases was established in 1959, even though there appears to be a growing public awareness that automatic annual wage increases, which are not earned by a corresponding gain in value of input, are self-defeating.

MAINE'S NEW FIRST FAMILY — Gov. John H. Reed, 39, poses with his family at Fairfield, Maine. With him are, left to right, Cheryl, 14, Cora, 38, and Rudy, 12. Youthful potato-grower

Reed took over the governorship Wednesday, after the death of Democratic Gov. Clinton A. Clauson in his sleep at 84. Reed, a Republican, will serve until a special primary Jan. 4, 1961.

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle has approved a list of 18 Negroes from countries in the French African community to serve in the French diplomatic service.

She Gets Out Much More Often

Nina K's Still Charming the Public

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
NEW YORK (UPI)—If anyone is making up a list of the most intriguing stories of 1959, the debut of Nina Petrovna Khrushchev on the world scene is certainly a candidate for a high position.

No one knows why the stout, motherly wife of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was allowed to emerge from the obscurity that customarily surrounds the women of the Kremlin clique, but one thing is sure—Nina is "out" and she is going to remain out in the public eye.

Since her much-publicized tour of the United States with her husband last September, Mrs. Khrushchev has rated regular mention by Tass, the official Soviet news agency. Before the tour her name and her picture had never been in print in Russia, and the mass of the people did not even know of her existence.

Now, Tass reports Mrs. Khrushchev's attendance at diplomatic receptions in Moscow and recently published a glowing account of her visit to the Moscow Electric Bulb Plant, where she was warmly received by the workers and showered with gifts were oddly reminiscent of reports of factory visits by the British Royal Family.

It's NEW
This could not have happened before the Khrushchev safari to the United States. The concept of women as celebrities—except in the fields of ballet, opera and the theater—was swept away with the Russian aristocracy in the 1917 revolution. Since then the lower middle class custom of "keeping women in their place" has prevailed.

"We do not dominate our husbands," was the way Mrs. Khrushchev once expressed it.

Despite the Communist boast that Soviet women have equality with men, only a few females ever have become public personalities. Among them were Alexandra Kollontay, revolutionist and diplomat; Lenin's wife, N. K. Krupskaya; Leningrad's Zhenskuchina, fish industry commissar, and Yekaterina A. Furtsava, only woman member of the current Communist party Presidium.

For many years, Miss Furtsava was the only woman in the Soviet publicity spotlight. She went abroad three times on official missions, once with Khrushchev and Bulganin, and she was for several years Khrushchev's hostess at Kremlin parties. Her presence at Nina's elbow has not been noted of late.

IT'S NINA NOW
Instead, Nina Petrovna is there.

A KEY FOR MRS. K — Mrs. Nina Khrushchev, wife of Russia's globe-girdling premier, continues to attract the public eye. She stepped into the limelight for the first time on her trip to America this fall. On that occasion, she is shown receiving a key to New York City from Mrs. Robert Wagner, wife of the mayor. At left is her daughter Rada, and with broad-brimmed hat is Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller. At right are Mrs. Andrei Gromyko and the Khrushchev's daughter Julia.

AP Wirephoto

Khrushchev's position even more intriguing.
Evidence available in this country indicates that Khrushchev's first wife, Nadezhda Gorskaya, mothered four children and was "sent away" in disgrace about 1931. Nina Petrovna did not come onto the scene until about 1938 and is known to have only one child by Khrushchev.

Nina and Nikita denied all this during their visit to America. Khrushchev said his first wife died in a famine in the early 1920's and he married Nina soon after.

Mrs. Khrushchev claimed the three children as hers. The children kept silent.
Baseball is the national sport of Nicaragua.

National Debt Down on Per Capita Basis

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Our national debt has edged upward during the past 10 years but the debt per capita has gone down.
In 1950, the U.S. public debt was $257,357,000,000, which figured out to $1,886 for every man, woman and child. By mid-1959 the debt Khrushchev's children destroyed some of the illusion of sincerity, however, but it makes Mrs.

NEW YORK (UPI)—These also made up the 1959's:
Translucence, instant coffee, frozen TV dinners, squeeze bottles, TV spectacles, Cinema scope, Cierama, credit cards, hoola hoops, Elvis Presley, Zan Zax Gabor, allicio heels, sack dresses, Charles Van Doren, anti-anti-Communists, anti-missile-missiles, adult westerns, Jaye Massfield, Marilyn Monroe, "See you later, alligator," and After while, crocodile.

Friendly Maine Potato Grower Takes Governor's Reins at Age 39

JOHN H. REED
FORT FAIRFIELD, Maine (AP)—A boyish-faced, friendly potato grower took over Wednesday as Republican governor of Maine.

John H. Reed, who will be 39 next Monday, automatically succeeds Democratic Gov. Clinton A. Clauson, who died in his sleep Wednesday.

Reed is president of the state Senate—the nearest thing to lieutenant governor in Maine. He will not necessarily fill out the whole of Clauson's term. A constitutional amendment changing the term from two to four years also provides that in the event of a governor's death more than 30 days prior to the primaries in an "off" year, the Senate

President will serve only until the first Wednesday of the next January—in this case Jan. 4, 1961.

So, a governor will have to be nominated and elected in 1960. Reed ran the 1959 Senate with a firm hand. A soft-spoken man who doesn't talk much, Reed had been in the background during previous Senate term and one in the House.

His speech betrays his birth and rearing in Aroostook County, where people pronounce their R's with marked emphasis. Most Mainers dwell.

Reed is associated with his father and brother in an extensive potato growing and shipping business.

driven racers since he was 15, owns a string of horses and is president of the Northern Maine Fair, which conducts harness racing at Presque Isle.

A graduate of the University of Maine in 1942, he taught high school briefly at Houlton. Then he spent four years in the Navy during World War II, emerging as a junior grade lieutenant.

He and Mrs. Reed, the former Cora Davison of Newport, R. I., have two daughters, Cheryl, 14, and Ruth, 12.

The American Red Cross in one year issued 670,000 certificates to men and women who had completed the courses of instruction in emergency first aid training.

High Frequency Sound Breakthroughs Forecast

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major breakthroughs in the field of high frequency sound are forecast for 1960 by Edward P. Schiman, president of the Bogue Electric Manufacturing Co.

Ultrasonic devices with no moving parts, he said, can be harnessed to perform such functions as cleaning auto bodies prior to painting, triggering electronic brains that control assembly line processes and detecting flaws in a wide variety of products.

New Grampian Lift Now in Operation

Mt. Grampian will have its pump-lift completely in operation tomorrow. The snow machines have been working for three days and nights.

The beginners slope has nearly 8 inches of snow as does intermediate bowl.

Most portions of the expert's hill will be open this weekend. The ski school and ski shop and cafeteria are in operation.

Reset Clocks! World Running 31 Seconds Slow

LONDON (UPI) — A Soviet astronomer asserts that the world is running 31 seconds behind time. Kheino Potter of the Pulkovo Observatory in Leningrad said the lag has built up since the first decade of this century because of the earth's wobbling as it turns on its axis.

Potter, quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass, said he established the accumulated accuracy by studying 200 photographs of the moon against its celestial background of stars.

The moon won't quite where it should have been if world time were exactly right.

"The photographs have established," Potter said, "that 31 seconds should be added to world time. Thanks to this measurement scientists in various countries will by 1960 be able to use the readjusted time for their scientific work."

Florida gains about 130,000 new residents from other states each year.

Property Rights Guards Sought in Labor Strife

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich.) said today that property rights are being ignored in labor disputes. He said he plans to try to remedy the situation.

Hoffman said he would introduce a bill on the opening day of Congress that would give the right to sue to anyone who suffered personal injury or property damage through "illegal practices" in labor disputes.

He defined these practices as including use of massive picket lines which, in effect, deprive management of its property, denial of the right to work to any person through "conspiracy between management and unions," and property damage inflicted by strikers.

Houghton Mining School Gets Big Housing Loan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $1,000,000 loan to Michigan College of Mining & Technology at Houghton has been announced by the Community Facilities Administration.

The money will finance construction of 16 two-story apartment buildings to house 150 student families.

Titan North 8th Among Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's two-time All-American star, is making a run-away of the individual scoring race in major college basketball competition.

The 6-5 Cincinnati ace has tallied 375 points in nine winning games this season for an average of 41.7. Only one other player, Jim Darrow of Bowling Green, is up to the 30-point level. Darrow's 34 points in Wednesday night's consolation game with Wichita at Oklahoma City, gave him 242 in eight games or a 30.3 average.

Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure went on a rampage in the Garden tournament and wound up with 42 points in Wednesday night's game against St. John's. He has scored 221 points in eight games, a 28.7 average. Frank Burgess of Gonzaga with 28.4 and Jerry Lucas of Ohio State with 28.0 round out the first five.

Newcomers to the list of top 10 scorers were Stith, Charley North of Detroit (eighth), Terry Dischinger of Purdue (ninth) and Mark Dumars of Penn State (tenth).

The leading scorers, including games of Dec. 29:

Player	Team	G	P	F	Pts	Avg
Oscar Robertson	Cincinnati	9	137	107	375	41.7
Jim Darrow	Bowling Green	8	104	34	242	30.3
Tom Stith	St. Bonaventure	9	90	69	221	28.7
Frank Burgess	Gonzaga	8	90	76	224	28.4
Jerry Lucas	Ohio State	9	101	50	242	28.4
Mark Dumars	Penn State	8	87	68	240	28.7
Charley North	Detroit	11	107	79	288	25.8
Terry Dischinger	Purdue	10	88	67	249	24.9
Don Picman	K.C.	6	47	40	197	24.6
John Walker	Walley Lake	7	47	37	246	24.6

The Titans began the new year with nine wins in 10 games, a .922 scoring average, and 11th place in the Associated Press' national rating poll. They are averaging over 6,000 in attendance for eight home games and are off to a season's record in this department.

The only loss has been 89-85 to Indiana at the Hoosiers' home court. Score was tied at 46-44 at halftime after the lead had changed hands 14 times. Detroit overcame seven-point deficits twice in the second half and Indiana stalled out the last three minutes to win.

The newspaper quoted owner Ralph C. Wilson as saying Bill's General Manager Dick Gallagher signed Lucas in Tucson, Ariz. Lucas will play in the Optimist Bowl there Saturday. Lucas confirmed the signing by phone.

His salary was not disclosed. Lucas, the Bills' top draft pick, was also drafted by the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

Last Saturday he was named most valuable back for his play with the National All Stars in the Copper Bowl.

The Bills also signed Harold Olden, a 250-pound tackle from Clemson.

Toronto Beats Wings, 4-2

MAN IN THE PLEXIGLAS MASK — Marcel Paille wears a mask different from the one sported by Montreal goalie Jacques Plante. The New York netminder's protector has a plexiglas eye shield for better vision while offering safety.

Cleveland Gets Dawson in Deal With Steelers

Dawson and end Gern Nagler in exchange for defensive back Lou Wren and halfback Preston Carpenter.

Dawson, a 6-foot 185-pounder from Alliance, Ohio, played at Purdue and was the first draft choice of the Steelers in 1957. Since the acquisition of Bobby Layne from the Lions, however, Dawson has been warming the bench.

Coach Finally Agrees-U-D All-Time Best

Bob Calihan, University of Detroit's conservative head basketball coach, is almost inclined to agree with fans who call this year's team the greatest in U. of D. history.

Wren, a 6-2, 190-pounder, joined Cleveland in 1956 and was the team's safety man.

He gave coach Paul Brown a verbal jacking for being traded.

"I think the reason I was traded is because Brown knew I was disgraced and was sent to the new league," Wren said.

He continued his attack on Brown by saying, "I know this sounds like sour grapes, but anyone who has ever played for Brown will not say a good word for him."

Wren was benched after the Browns took a 46-7 beating from Giants in New York.

Carpenter was Cleveland's first draft choice in 1956 after playing at Arkansas. He led the Browns in rushing at halfback in his rookie year, but played offensive right end the past two seasons.

While at Purdue, Dawson led the Big Ten in passing and Brown's assistant coach Eddie Ulinski was on the Purdue staff in 1957.

Presently, Cleveland has Milt Pritch as the number one quarterback followed by Jim Ninowski.

Walker, Richards, Bible in Texas Hall of Fame

DALLAS (AP)—The Texas Sports Hall of Fame Thursday added three members — Dock Walker and D. X. Bible of football and Paul Richards of baseball.

Walker, the three-time All-American of Southern Methodist who also starred in pro football; Bible, who compiled a great coaching record at Texas A&M; and Richards, who won fame as a player and big-league manager in baseball, were inducted to bring the number to 29.

Leafs Capture Second Place After Victory

Stanley Hits 2 Long Screen Shots; Detroit Plays Tonight

DETROIT (AP)—Defenseman Allen Stanley of the Toronto Maple Leafs fired two long-range screen shots into the net last night and that helped Toronto climb past the Detroit Red Wings into second place in the National Hockey League.

Toronto clipped the Wings 6-2, jumping to a 4-0 lead and then holding off Detroit.

Detroit plays at Chicago tonight.

George Armstrong and Bob Stewart also scored for Toronto. Stanley's goals were his fourth and fifth of the season and they came nine minutes apart in the middle stanza. Armstrong had scored on a 25-footer first and then Stanley got his two, one from 55 feet out and one from 61.

Stewart scored in the final period on Bob Pulford's rebound.

Len Lunde hit on a power play from 25 feet from the net and Gordie Howe scored from behind the net when his passout bounced in off a Detroit player for Detroit's scores late in the final period. Lunde's last major tryout goal Johnny Bower's bid for his fourth shutout.

The Wings dominated the early action, but couldn't hit the nets while the Leafs showed a sharp shooting eye.

Bad Weather May Hit Top Bowl Games

By The Associated Press

Only the Orange Bowl at Miami appeared likely to have good weather on Friday's schedule of major post-season games in college football. Rain was a possibility elsewhere.

Here's the way the weather forecast shaped up:

Cotton Bowl at Dallas (Sunny, 65-70). — Scattered showers, temperature in the low 60s.

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. (Sunny, 65-70). — (Wisconsin vs. Washington) — Mostly sunny, with chance of light showers, temperature near 60.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans (Louisiana State vs. Mississippi) — Possible light rain, temperature in the 50s.

Orange Bowl at Miami (Georgia vs. Missouri) — Sunny, temperature in mid-70s.

Parry O'Brien Top AAU Star

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Only one achievement could top winning the Sullivan Award, says Parry O'Brien. That's throwing the shot 65 feet.

"And I expect to do it—maybe this year in the Olympic Games," the husky shot-put king said after he won the 1959 James E. Sullivan Amateur Athletic Union Memorial Trophy yesterday.

The two-time Olympic Games champion took first choice on 176 ballots cast by a nationwide tribunal of sports authorities. Weightlifter Tommy Kono of Honolulu, also a double Olympic winner, was second with 113 first and swimmer Chris Von Saltz of Santa Clara, Calif., was third with 73 firsts.

"This is something I've been shooting at for six or seven years," said O'Brien, "during my years of competition I've always held that the Sullivan Award was the highest honor amateur sports has to offer."

For a fellow who will be bowling in the big BPAA All-Star tournament only a week from now, Pontiac's Monroe Moore is a pretty calm, cool and collected fellow these days.

He hasn't had much time to get excited about the big event lately due to the rush of business at Huron Bowl. "Mo" is a staff member at the area's newest establishment.

"I don't have any jitters now and I probably won't until I first step on the alley. Then there will be some butterflies but they will go away once I start bowling."

He said today looking ahead to his debut Jan. 8. Play continues through the 15th at Omaha, Neb.

Moore will be competing against 239 of the nation's outstanding performers for a record $10,000 first prize. The 240 total men entries resulted from qualifying trials involving 8,872. He beat out several topnotch stars to make the grade and has been going good ever since.

His 70th stands up as high series in the Times Classic thus far and he has 70th here at the Huron Classic.

A big drawback to the recent rash of work has been the lack of opportunities to get in much-needed practice. "Mo" hopes to make up for it some during the next few days although he plans no special changes in his delivery, grip or anything else.

"The biggest thing now is getting my legs in shape. I will do calisthenics and run at home and get in a lot of bowling," was the way he described his program for the rest of this New Year's week. He has had no thumb trouble and is hoping his luck will continue on that score.

Moore is feeling strong now in contrast to when he survived the eliminations. He was going great guns despite having the flu and a sore throat most of the time. Maybe he ought to get sick again.

Bill Gerlach of Lapeer and the great Ed Lubanski of Oak Park will be among his foes as will former Huron instructor Joe Joseph. Bill Golembiewski, Don Carter, Ray Bluth, Tom Hennessey, Buddy Bonmar and Bob Hitt are only a few of the many other stars entered. Billy Weis and Marion Ledewig are defending champs in the battle for $50,000.

EXTRA ITEMS
All scores of top sanctioned boys and girls in AJBC eliminations at Lakeside Lane Tuesday will be mailed to Chicago to be matched with others from around the nation. Senior Steve Foster fired the top actual of 50 contestants with a 257. Junior Joe Hughes hit 228. There were 58 doubles teams. N. O'Rourke rolled 232 in Clarkson Women's League.

Marion Collins fired a 555 game as the climax to a 600 series at Royal Recreation to top the Royal Aces loop in both departments. His Jacobson's Flowers team in bowling the pack them for the 4th straight season. The 14th Annual GMC Doubles tourney coming up Feb. 6-7, 13-14.

Gator Bowl Tomorrow Hinges on Ground Game

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Opposing coaches for tomorrow's Gator Bowl football game agree that victory likely will hinge on whether Arkansas' ground game is better than Georgia Tech's defense against running plays.

"The whole key to the game, as I see it, is can we move enough on the ground to maintain field position," said Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. "Tech has a good kicking game. If we get the ball say, 12 times, probably 10 of those Tech will have us deep in our own territory. We've got to move the ball."

"We're primarily a running team—and it sort of disturbs you when you realize that 60 per cent of the first downs made against Tech came on passing."

Arkansas boasts two tremendous ball-moving halfbacks in All-America Jim Moody and sophomore Lance Alworth. Quarterback Jim Monroe, the Razorbacks' top passer, was handicapped by a shoulder injury much of the season but has been throwing well in workouts.

Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech agreed that Arkansas, with its light, fast line and speedy backs, has a superior ground game. "Broyles has an advantage in backs," Dodd said. "His running backs are better. They proved that during the year. We're still not making the long runs."

"I think their running game will be more dangerous than their passing. And they won't concentrate on wide stuff. They'll hit us up the middle, too. Our defense

MOSCOW (AP)—The Communist Party paper, Pravda, says the cold war that has American people happily looking forward to 1960 despite burdensome domestic problems.

The paper's New York correspondent wrote that "there is much the Americans are pondering over on New Year's Eve and much that is worrying them."

inspiring reports of fresh loyalty. The housewives are coming home from their shopping tours disgruntled, prices again are going higher. There is growing discontent over rising taxes.

"Yet for all that," the correspondent continued, "the Americans are welcoming the New Year far more joyfully than ever before."

"This is because there is a burning hope in men's hearts that no people will go to war against another people and that their children will never see the horrors of war."

TV Rights Rip Movie Industry

Actors, Writers Fight to Keep Royalties Pact on Post-1948 Films

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie industry now faces 1960 with the threat of a strike that could shut the studios.

The issue is coming to a head, with the actors and writers on one side (though not necessarily together) and the major studios on the other. The prize: the right to be earned from release of post-1948 movies to television.

For the two talent guilds are remaining firm. They feel they deserve a share of the proceeds from the features they helped create.

The studios are equally firm. Spyros Skouras, president of 20th Century-Fox, last week predicted "a battle to the death" if the writers and actors continue their demands.

"We need this money," said Skouras of the future funds from TV sales. His contention: most films nowadays lose money; the studios must get money wherever they can; if the guilds don't back down, the studios would be closed for a year or more.

Other movie heads have been making tough talk. There have been rumors that production would be shifted to England if a strike occurred.

Why is all this happening now? Because the writers and actors have been negotiating for new contracts with the studios. The guilds feel the time is ripe to demand a share of receipts from sales of feature films to TV.

The seeds of the dispute were planted Aug. 1, 1948. That was the date of a screen actors guild contract with the studios. The actors, concerned about the growth of the TV industry, got a clause stating they could strike against any producer selling features made after that date to television without cutting the actors in for a share.

The Writers Guild of America got a similar clause in 1951.

Most of the features you see on TV were made before 1948. But between 300 and 400 newer ones have been sold to TV and the guilds have profited from them. Writers and actors have received up to 15 per cent of the original salaries. Other deals call for a percentage of the profit from the TV sales.

For example, the sale of 82 recent RKO pictures brought between $650,000 and $730,000 to actors.

Actors argue they should continue sharing the TV money because their faces are used on the home screen, with the possible impairment of their careers. Writers reason that they have one stock in trade—stories—and their supply is limited; that they should profit from rights to their stories in any medium.

Both feel the studios couldn't shift production abroad.

Benson Gives Nixon Support

But Says He Will Not Remain at His Duties of Agriculture Head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson endorsed Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination Thursday. But he indicated he would not remain in the Cabinet if Nixon is elected.

"Yes, he is my candidate, of course," Benson told a news conference. "He appears to be out in front and I feel he would make a good president."

Benson said he saw no reason why Nixon, as president, would not support the present farm program "which he supported and helped develop."

Benson was asked if he would continue as secretary of agriculture if Nixon is elected. He replied that after eight years on the job he hoped to be free to do something else. Benson is an apostle of the Mormon Church and is on leave from his church duties.

This was Benson's first news conference since his blunder operation a month ago. Benson said he had lost 22 pounds. "And I hope I don't gain them back," he said. Doctors had given him a clean bill of health.

He indicated the administration would stick with its present farm policy in the next session of Congress.

"If anyone has a new approach," he said, "I would be glad to have him trot it out."

Most Popular Pamphlet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Information Agency says, "Atomic power for peace" is its most popular overseas pamphlet. The agency, reviewing its pamphlet activity in 40 countries during 1959, said yesterday that next on the popularity list is "facts about the U.S."

High and Low Spots in '59 Movies

Films Good Last Year but Use Old Techniques

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — High spots and low points in the 1959 movies—

There were fewer movies from Hollywood last year—fewer good ones, too. Some of the attractions were sordid entertainment, but it was that was the trouble—they were too sure. There was little experimentation with new techniques, offbeat castings, and the chocky-chock taking that has made movies a vital, exciting medium.

These were the films that comprised the Big Five for this reviewer:

"The Diary of Anne Frank" was a masterpiece from the films' top craftsman, George Cukor. Unfortunately, its subject matter kept it from being a box office hit. Too Jewish, reasoned Variety. But I believe the failure was because people don't like stories that show a family in jeopardy and everyone knew the tragic ending.

"Ben-Hur" surprised everyone who expected just another ex-and-salvation movie of Biblical times. The film had its faults, notably overlength, but it was done in William Wyler's excellent taste.

"The Nun's Story" was another triumph of a craftsman, Fred Zinnemann. He took a rambling story and molded it into a profoundly moving film.

"Room at the Top," a British-made film, was a frank, hard look at contemporary life. The picture was studied with fine performance.

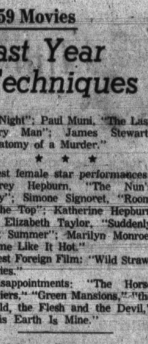

"Some Like It Hot" was a winner for sheer enjoyment. Billy Wilder took a delicate situation—males disguised as females—and made it rollicking good fun.

Best male star performances—Laurence Harvey, "Room at the Top"; Charlton Heston, "Ben-Hur"; Fredric March, "Middle of the Night"; Paul Muni, "The Last Angry Man"; James Stewart, "Anatomy of a Murder."

Best female star performances: Audrey Hepburn, "The Nun's Story"; Simone Signoret, "Room at the Top"; Katherine Hepburn and Elizabeth Taylor, "Suddenly Last Summer"; Marilyn Monroe, "Some Like It Hot."

Best Foreign Film: "Wild Strawberries."

Disappointments: "The Horse Soldiers," "Green Mansions," "The World, the Flesh and the Devil," "This Earth Is Mine."

Builders Expecting Big Year in 1960

NEW YORK (AP) — An upsurge in optimism on the part of U.S. builders is reported by George W. Warnecke, head of a large independent mortgage banking firm bearing his name.

Warnecke said applications for building loans for apartment, industrial, commercial and office construction have increased markedly in his firm's offices around the country. He added that amounts of equity money into their projects than previously, which he termed an optimistic sign.

Chessman Requests New Hearing on Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A new petition has been sent to the U.S. Supreme Court seeking a hearing for convict-author Caryl Chessman.

Chessman, under sentence to die Feb. 19 in San Quentin's gas chamber, asked the high court in his petition yesterday to get aside its ruling Dec. 14 denying a petition for a rehearing.

Chessman has been in San Quentin's death row for nearly 12 years following his conviction of kidnapping and raping two young women. He successfully postponed seven previous death sentences by appealing his conviction.

Romances, Divorces... and Deaths

Eyebrows Lift in 1959
Over Hollywood Affairs

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The year 1959 held the usual number of moviegoing milestones—marriages, divorces, deaths and eyebrow-lifting romances.

Number one story of the year was the violent Debbie Reynolds-Eddie Fisher-Elizabeth Taylor romance-divorce-marriage mixup.

But the biggest event to hit town was Nikita Khrushchev's visit and subsequent complaint that he couldn't visit Disneyland.

The Crosby boys kept things hopping by forming a quartet. Then, after a succession of battles, they broke up.

Sterling Hayden provided a side show of his own by defying a court order and sailing off for the South Seas with his children. And Robert Mitchum was good for laughs when a Irish fishman clobbered him in an Irish pub.

Mickey Rooney and Jack Paar jarred viewers with a display of bad manners while Grace Allen retired as partner of husband George Burns. Little Evelyn Rudie ran off to Washington, D. C. (aboard an airplane) to talk to Mumie Eisenhower—but was sent home disappointed.

Two highly publicized pictures laid turkey eggs, "Porgy and Bees" and "The Diary of Anne Frank," but "Ben-Hur"—at 15 million dollars the most expensive film ever made—looked like a box office champion.

Divorces and separations were as abundant as ever. The following stars were in the 1959 list: Terry Moore, Marlon Brando, Joan Caulfield, Vera Miles, Ann Arnes, Deborah Kerr, Ernest Borgnine, May Britt, Vic Damone, Arlene Dahl, Sammy Davis, Glenn Ford, Betty Hutton, and Ernest Zinbald Jr.

Taking the plunge to the altar in '59 were: Vic Mature, Rod Steiger, June Lockhart, Margaret O'Brien, Gila Soles, Dorothy Malone and Jacques Bergeron, Nick Adams, Dale Robertson, Barbara Rush and Arlene Howell.

During the year the stork flapped over the homes of Jayne Mansfield, Joan Caulfield, Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis, Bing Crosby and Kathy Grant, Jerry Lewis, and Marlon Brando and Anna Kashfi.

Death stalked this celluloid city claiming more lives in 1959 than in many past years. Among those who died were Cecil B. DeMille, Errol Flynn, Lou Costello, Wayne Morris, Mario Lanza, Paul Douglas, Kay Kendall, Ethel Barrymore, Gilda Gray, Edmond Grevin, Steve Guberman, Regenes and Alfalfa Switzer.

Twelve Nations
Born During Last Decade

NEW YORK (UPI)—Twelve new independent nations were added to the maps of the world during the 1950s.

One of them, Austria, regained independence status on May 14, 1955, after a war-wrecked period as part of Hitler's Reich. The others were former colonies or protectorates achieving independence after long periods under the wing of European powers. They were, with their dates of independence:

Libya, Dec. 24, 1951; Sudan, March 31, 1953; Pakistan, Feb. 29, 1956; Morocco, March 2, 1956; Tunisia, March, 1956; Viet Nam (South), Oct. 26, 1956; Ghana, March 6, 1957; Federation of Malaya, Aug. 31, 1957; United Arab Republic (Egypt and Syria) February, 1958; Republic of Guinea, Oct. 2, 1958; and Cyprus, February, 1959.

Furniture Trade
Finds 1959 Fine

Sales Rebound After Poor 1958, Expected to Be Strong Till Midyear

CHICAGO (UPI)—The furniture trade stamps 1959 as "one of the best years."

It looks ahead to the first half of 1960 with confidence, and to the second half with hope.

The home furnishing shows, starting Jan. 4 in the Merchandise Mart and American Furniture Mart, will gauge business for the year ahead.

The shows provide a meeting ground for wholesalers and buyers from stores around the country.

The recession in 1958 caused some stores to mark down merchandise to keep it moving. The overall result was a poor year for profits.

But this year the story was different.

"Final figures will show that 1959 was one of the best years in furniture history," said Frank S. Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart.

MOMENTUM TO CONTINUE:

His statement covered manufacturers, distributors and retailers.

"The momentum of the furniture business, which started bouncing back from the 1958 recession in April of that year, will carry well into 1960," Whiting predicted.

"The first half of 1960 is sure to be well ahead of the comparable period of 1959. But, from midyear on, it may be hard to match the sizable gains."

Trade reports indicated that, as 1959 entered the Christmas holiday season, furniture shipments from manufacturing plants were running 15 to 20 per cent ahead of shipments for the corresponding period of 1958.

Dealer sales were estimated at seven to nine per cent ahead of the previous year. Inventories have been built up to normal volume in merchants' outlets.

The outlook for the future is good. The constant growth in the nation's population means a constant increase in customers for the industry.

Libraries of Harvard university contain in excess of six million volumes.

Castro of Cuba Says: 'I Sleep Very Well, I Do Not Worry'

Which Quotation of 1959 Do YOU Like?

LONDON (UPI) — Some persons pick a "Man of the Year." Others choose the seven best quotations of the year.

Today Britons were sifting 1959 quotations from such persons as President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung.

Favorites for the quotation of 1959 among in British newspapers including sayings from the world leaders (and non-world-leaders):

King Baudouin of Belgium: "I had my first night in which I slept peacefully together from the country."

Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba: "I sleep very well and do not worry at all."

Eisenhower: "We must be prepared during the years ahead to live in a world in which tension and bickering between free nations and the Soviet will be a daily experience."

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan: "To be alive at all involves some risk."

Khrushchev: "We are not the kind of people we have been pictured. We do not grope up bushes."

Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov: "We will even support the Pope if he is for peace."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer: "A thick skin is a gift from God."

Pope John XXIII: "Don't be afraid of having many children; this world has not been created to be a cemetery."

British Minister of Science Lord Hailsham: "The Martians have nothing to fear from Britain."

U. S. rocket scientist Werner Von Braun: "If we continue at this leisurely pace we will have to pass Russian customs when we land on the moon."

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt: "We have simply lost the habit of being afraid."

Historian A. J. P. Taylor: "The great thing about the past is that it has happened."

British radiation expert Sir Ernest Rutherford: "Living is a dangerous pastime."

Psychologist Carl G. Jung: "The only real danger that exists is man himself."

Philosopher Bertrand Russell: "The whole ancient world miserably deteriorated when it adapted Christianity."

Of the war between the sexes: English Chief Constable J. S. H. Giskaine: "If you give a woman an inch she'll park a car in it."

French Novelist Françoise Sagan: "I feel sorry for men. They have more problems than women."

In the first place they have to compete with women."

British Justice Winifred Winterton Stoble: "If it were our sex that had to have babies, some of you young men would be much more careful about how you behaved to the opposite sex."

Mrs. West: "I've always had a weakness for foreign affairs."

And on other subjects: Mayor Robert Wagner of New York: "Taxes are the price of civilization. There are some in the jungle."

Hostess Elsa Maxwell: "I don't think it wise to know geniuses too well."

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery: "I think I am the first honest man Mr. Khrushchev has ever met."

Jayne Mansfield: "I live up to the 10 commandments 100 per cent."

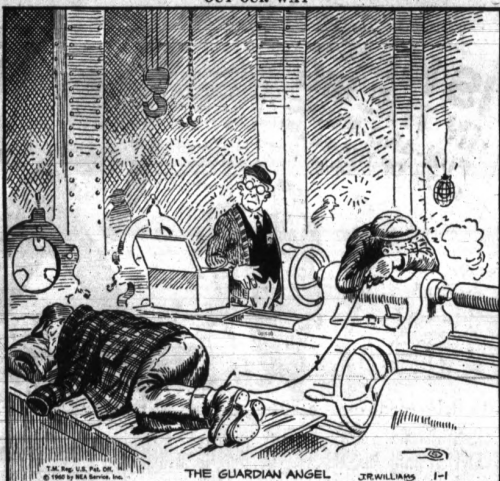

Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth: "I have had very little experience of self-government. In fact, I am one of the most governed people in the world."

And from the Rev. E. A. Willis, general secretary of the English Tiddlywinks Association: "The world is now looking to tiddlywinks in its need to get back to the primeval simplicity of life."

United Nations Adds 24 Countries in '50s

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Nations added 24 countries to its membership rolls during the 1950s, growing from 51 nations in 1950 to 82 today.

In the past decade two of the Axis powers of World War II, Japan and Italy, became U. N. members.

The world organization also enrolled the Soviet satellites of Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, and admitted Spain and Portugal.

The decline of colonialism in Africa and Asia is reflected in the list of new U. N. members. It includes the newly-independent states of Malaysia, Laos, Indonesia, Cambodia, Ghana, Libya, Morocco, Tunisia, Sudan and the Republic of Guinea.

'Is Adams Still in Apple of Governor's Eye?

LANSING — A political riddle engendered the capital today despite an unusual move by Gov. Williams to quiet speculation. Why did the governor pass over Attorney Gen. Paul L. Adams for advancement to the State Supreme Court in favor of a young and relatively obscure Detroit attorney?

Fisher Body Official Goes Into Retirement

Sidney J. Sabourin, 61½, Golfview Dr., Birmingham, retired today from his position as factory manager of Fisher Body Division's fabricating plant in Detroit. The retirement was announced under the provision of General Motors Corp. Retirement Program. Sabourin came to Fisher Body in 1919 as a metal worker. He became assistant resident manager of the Fisher Pontiac Plant in 1933 and has held executive positions in Grand Blain and Flint plants before assuming his present position.

4 Share Shaw's Prize for Simple Alphabet

LONDON (UPI)—Three Britons and a Canadian woman will share the $1,400 prize offered by George Bernard Shaw's estate for a new, abridged English alphabet. R. J. Shaulwick, administrator of the famed Irish playwright's estate, identified them winners as Sydney Barrett, of Halifax, N.S.; Dr. Pylene Pagniere, a Lancashire physician; Kinsey Reed, a 72-year-old retired type designer; and London insurance agent John Macgregor.

Prof. P. A. D. MacCarthy of Leeds University will tackle the task of consolidating the four alphabets submitted by the winners into a single system of letters.

If all goes well, Shaw's play "Androcles and the Lion" will be published in this year in both the new and old alphabet to provide a handy basis for comparison.

Shaw bequeathed his residuary estate of $714,000 to the alphabet project, stipulating that the new alphabet should reduce the basic components of written English from 26 to 12 letters.

Each of the new characters, he said, should have an unmistakable and unchanging sound of its own.

The bequest was challenged in court and the amount available to Baukwick for the alphabet project was reduced to $23,240.

Avert Transit Strike in New York City

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new contract agreement today ended the threat of a city-wide subway and bus strike.

Mediation worked successfully Thursday night against a 5 a.m. deadline set by the Transport Workers Union. At 12:42 a.m. Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced: "There will be no strike in New York."

Then came details of the new contract, with wages in increments totaling 18 or 25 cents an hour per employee, depending on job classifications. Wage hikes during the first year will range from 10 to 14 cents an hour.

In the second year boosts will come in two steps, 4 to 5 1/2 cents hourly on Jan. 1, 1961, and the same step-up on July 1, 1961.

TWU President Michael J. Quill, who changed the strike deadline from midnight to 5 a.m. in order to allow New York's residents to return to their homes via transit facilities—said he was "delighted with the results."

Charles Patterson, Transit Authority chairman, said the authority would try to maintain the 15-cent subway and bus fare. The transit system carries eight million fares daily.

Business Notes

Frank Fraser Jr., 6955 Brookfield Lane, Birmingham, has been promoted to manager of the J. L. Hudson Co. store in Detroit.

Charles Patterson, Transit Authority chairman, said the authority would try to maintain the 15-cent subway and bus fare. The transit system carries eight million fares daily.

State Sales Tax Receipts Good

Far Better Than 1958's, Despite Car Lag; GOP Argues for Economy

LANSING (UPI)—Chasing of straggled state receipts in November and December sales tax collections, although not enough to drag them below December 1958 receipts.

But on the whole 1959 sparked a state revenue producer compared with 1958.

Charles W. Lock, deputy state tax commissioner, reports that the sales tax yield, $77,885,827 last month, up about one half of one per cent from the same month a year ago.

December collections reflected business activity in November. Lock called them "a little disappointing" notwithstanding expected steel effects.

In recent months, the sales tax registered gains of nine to 14 per cent over corresponding months of 1958 when Michigan was slowly edging up after the recession floor.

Republican legislators cited the gains to back up their contention that the state could get along with a much smaller new tax program than sought by Democratic Gov. Williams.

On the encouraging side, Lock said that the sales tax yield for the 1959 calendar year hit $1,115,740,771, a rise of $7,155,000 over 1958.

An even sharper reflection of economic recovery showed up in collections from the business activities tax, based almost entirely on payroll and net profit.

The BAT last year brought in $63,674,065, or $3,675,000 above 1958. The sales tax gain figured nine per cent, the BAT gain five per cent.

Auto Dealer's Death Blow to Gov. Williams

LANSING (UPI)—The death of Saul Rose, a Detroit auto dealer, Thursday was called "loss of a good personal friend," by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The governor said Rose's "business skills and knowledge were exceeded by his public spirit."

Rose was credited with initiating the Williams' birthday party as a means of helping meet payrolls for the governor's staff and was considered an important figure in Michigan's Democratic party.

A successor to Dr. Paul V. Sangamon as head of the Kalamazoo institution will be chosen by the State Board of Education. The board will listen attentively to any wishes the governor might express.

The Noble suit to break the Senate, pending before the Supreme Court, is being opposed by Adams as attorney general.

Adams held that while Senate debate was being resumed, it was disproportionate it nevertheless was not for the courts to effect a cure, but rather was up to the people at the polls.

Has No Trouble in Payroll Theft at J. L. Hudson

DETROIT (UPI)—The men's wear department at the J. L. Hudson Co. lost its shirt yesterday.

Department supervisors were ruing at the cashier's window to collect pay envelopes for their employees.

A man wrapped up and said, "I'll take men's wear and men's hats." He signed the proper name of the real supervisor, took $100 in pay envelopes and left.

Three hours later the real supervisor went to get the pay and the theft was discovered. The employee received their pay, but the firm is working out a new distribution system.

Gay World Gives 1960 Happy Hello

By The Associated Press

A high-spirited world cheered in 1960 today with buoyant hopes that good days lie ahead.

In most countries, it was one of the gayest celebrations in years. Many national leaders made speeches for mounting prosperity, and a more stable peace.

In such a mood, millions made merry with shouts, songs and shenanigans, while church bells tolled and bands played.

Thousands turned New York's Times Square into a reveling sea of humanity. In Rome, showers of pigs and buckets cascaded into the streets.

Aula horns blared on the avenues of Paris, and fireworks banged a salute in German cities. Scottish bagpipes wailed. Champagne flowed in the restaurants of Vienna.

It was a spirited farewell to the old decade, and a gladsome greeting to the Sixties. Optimism, was the dominant note.

For the Soviet Union, the celebration was mostly in homes, but Moscow's streets were crowded and sparkled with decorations.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev toasted the new year at a Kremlin party with government officials, scholars and artists.

A Moscow radio commentator said in a broadcast beamed to North America: "1960 is dawning under happy auspices. Although the path to peace may be rough and thorny, mankind is nevertheless marching forward along the path with steady strides."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer predicted stronger ties with the East and the "acute threat to Berlin has been beaten back for the moment."

French President Charles de Gaulle foresew "expansion and progress" as the keywords of 1960. Even in trouble spots, there was jubilation. Every amusement place in Taipei, on Formosa, was packed. All was quiet on the offshore islands, the Chinese Communist guns silenced for the holiday.

In Cuba, despite popular warnings of a possible year-end invasion attempt by the revolutionaries, the country was in an exultant mood.

It was the first anniversary of the overthrow of dictator Fulgencio Batista, and Havana's casinos and night spots swarmed with revelers.

In Tokyo, Japanese launched the new year by scrubbing their homes, polishing their streets and stepping out in new hairdos and dress—a tradition symbolizing a fresh start, in body and spirit.

Four Waterford Township Classes to Resume Jan. 11

Four activities just completed in Waterford Township will be resumed Jan. 11, according to Recreation Director Thomas Belton.

Cake decorating, ladies exercise and ballroom dance instruction will be resumed. Each class will have a maximum registration during the first 10 weeks. All classes were held in the Michigan State University.

From 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Jan. 11, Mrs. Audrey Hines of Walpole Lake will teach cake decorating to advanced pupils, and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. will be devoted to ballroom dancing.

Ladies exercise sessions will be from 7 to 9 p.m. starting Jan. 12 under the direction of Mrs. Carol Wolfe. There will be a free play day and exercise to music during each lesson.

Workers to Get Share of Local Firm's Profits

All MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., employees will share in the advertising agency's income under profit-partnership plan as they start in 1960.

The plan was announced today by President Ernest A. Jones.

Jones said the agency's board has decided that the program be effective immediately for the same base 100 employees at the Bloomfield Hills headquarters and in the New York, California and Canada divisions.

News in Brief

Max Long, 53 Cornell St., reported to Pontiac Police yesterday that someone had taken miscellaneous items totaling valued at $60 from his home.

4 Persons Injured in Two-Car Collision

A two-car collision at Joslyn and Beverly streets sent four persons to Pontiac General Hospital Thursday afternoon, according to city police.

Treated and released were drivers, Richard Carrick, 25, of 388 Second St., Mrs. Millie Pence, 45, of 762 E. River St., and her son, David, 15.

Admitted with facial cuts was Luther J. May, 39, of 333 Goring St., a passenger in Carrick's auto. He is in satisfactory condition.

Julie London Marries Musician Bobby Troup

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Julie London and musician Bobby Troup were married New Year's Eve.

Friends said a honeymoon trip to Rio de Janeiro will be postponed. Miss London, 32, has been under a doctor's care because of a heart ailment.

Mr. Troup, 36, and Troup, 47, have been going together since 1954.
