BOARD APPROVES FIVE NEW PROGRAMS

Oakland University will offer five new programs of study effective with the 1974 fall term.

Approved by the Board of Trustees Wednesday, May 22, were: a B.S. degree in classical civilization; a B.S. degree in biological sciences; a B.S.N. (bachelor of science in nursing degree); an M.A. degree in area studies; and an M.S. degree in biology.

Some 300 freshmen have registered for pre-nursing for next fall and they will be admitted to the B.S.N. program following its approval by the State Board of Nursing. OU will submit the program to the board in the fall. The State Board of Education has already approved the program.

The board also authorized the establishment of an organized faculty and School of Nursing effective July 1, 1974. OU's last new schools were in performing arts and economics and management, both created in 1969. A dean for the new school will be hired as soon as possible, OU officials said.

In other board actions, three grants from the National Institutes of Health totaling $160,078 were among the $220,522 in gifts and grants accepted by the board.

The NIH grants support eye research conducted by two faculty members in the Institute of Biological Sciences. Michael V. Riley received $33,147 to support research on "Control of Corneal Hydration and Transparency," and $25,000 for his work on "Metabolism of Cornea in Relation to Control of Hydration." Venkat N. Reddy received $101,931 for his research on "Intraocular Transport."

Among the other gifts and grants were $1,165 in support of Meadow Brook Theatre, $5,915 in support of the Meadow Brook Festival, and $28,506 in support of either the theatre or festival programs.

David Smith, School of Education, received a $15,513 grant from the state of Michigan for a "Training in Substance Abuse Services" program.

SIX NEW FACULTY APPROVED BY BOARD

Six new faculty appointments were approved by the Oakland University Board of Trustees, May 22. Reappointments, two changes of status, and seven leaves of absence were among other personnel actions approved by the board.

New faculty, effective Aug. 15, 1974, are: Richard Ewing, assistant professor of mathematics; Diane Herker, instructor in management; John Thomas Romeo, assistant professor of biological sciences; Eugene Stone, instructor in management; Amal Vinogradov, assistant professor of anthropology; and Alan Weinstein, associate professor of management.

Cordell Wesley Black, formerly in modern languages, was appointed special instructor in learning skills and Josette Morel, former visiting lecturer, was appointed visiting assistant professor of engineering.

Changes of status were approved for Donald Hildum, who was named acting chairman of the Department of Speech Communication, and for Jesse R. Pitts, who was named acting chairman of the Department of Sociology-Anthropology, both from April 26, 1974 through June 21, 1974.

Leaves of absence were approved for: Joel Fink, education, and Thomas Fitzsimmons, English, both from Jan. 2, 1975 through April 22, 1975; James Hart, English, and John Carroll Hill, engineering, both from Aug. 29, 1974 through Aug. 14, 1975; and Richard Tucker, history, Aug. 29, 1974 through Dec. 18, 1974. A change in leave date was approved for John Froemke, mathematics. Froemke has been on leave from Aug. 29, 1973 through April 23, 1974.

Five part-time adjunct professors in Allport College of Behavioral Science were reappointed by board action. They are: Enrique Araneta, Jr., professor of human behavior; Ralph Cash, associate professor of behavioral science; Daniel E. De Sole, professor of human behavior-psychiatry; George R. Gerber, associate professor of human behavior-medicine; and Melvyn R. Rubenfire, associate professor of behavioral sciences-cardiology.

BUS ROUTE NEAR FOR OU

A new bus service between Walled Lake and OU is expected to begin in June. The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) board authorized its staff to negotiate with the Bee Line, a five-bus line which operates primarily charter services, to provide the run under a purchase-of-services agreement.

Julian Wolfe, SEMTA director of service project planning, said five round trips would be made daily.

The line will serve the city of Walled Lake, the Oakland County Community College Highland Lakes Campus, the Oakland County Service Center, the Pontiac Mall, the Clinton Valley Center (formerly Pontiac State Hospital), downtown Pontiac and Oakland University.

The route will start at Pontiac Trail and Walled Lake Road in Walled Lake, and run on Pontiac Trail to South Commerce; north on South Commerce to Glengary; west on Glengary to Benstein, north on Benstein to Commerce; east on Commerce to Union Lake Road; north on Union Lake to Cooley Lake Road; east on Cooley Lake to Elizabeth Lake Road.

The bus then will go to Telegraph where it will loop north to the Service center and then south to Huron and east into downtown Pontiac.

From downtown, the bus will go northeast on Perry to Walton, and east on Walton to Oakland University.

Wolfe said, however, the buses will stop anywhere along the route to pick up passengers.

Fares and exact times of the runs will be announced when negotiations with the Bee Line are completed.

Plans to include a route to Rochester are shelved temporarily but may be revived, OU officials said.

ROYAL OAK STUDENT WINS IODICE GRANT

Miss Kathleen Cousineau, a 19-year-old Oakland University student from Royal Oak, has been awarded the Don Iodice Grant-In-Aid for Foreign Study for 1974.

Miss Cousineau said the grant will assist her in financing an intensive nine-week course in French at the University of Montpellier in Montpellier, France. She will leave this country June 24 for her summer study program. Miss Cousineau, a sophomore, is majoring in French and plans to teach the language at the high school or college level. The winner is selected by the modern language faculty.

The scholarship is financed by private sources, including some former students. Iodice is a Rochester resident and an associate professor of French at OU.

In Washington, a paper entitled "On the Structure of Complex Systems" was presented on April 24 to a special two-day energy forum of the World Future Society.

The Vienna paper will appear later this year in Advances in Cybernetics and Systems Research, edited by F. de Paul Hanika and published by Transcripta Books of London. The Washington paper will appear in Energy: Today's Choices, Tomorrow's Opportunities, edited by Anton Schmaltz and published by the World Future Society.

EVANS SPEAKS ON TOLERANCING

David H. Evans, engineering, presented a paper entitled "Use of Methods of Statistical Tolancing" at the joint Operations Research/Management Science meeting in Boston in late April.

WU IS CO-AUTHOR OF ALGEBRA BOOK.

A book entitled "A Course in Modern Algebra" by Yel-Chiang Wu with P.J. Hilton was published by John Wiley Company in their Pure and Applied Mathematics Series.

The book presents a treatment of algebra from a categorical point of view. Some of the chapters contain materials that have never appeared in print before. According to the referee's report before publication, the book could be used for a graduate course in algebra.

BEOG PROGRAM CRUCIAL FOR LOANS

Grant program.

Michigan's institutions of higher education and their students may lose hundreds of thousands of dollars in federal financial aid in 1974-75. The loss can occur through the students' failure to apply for the new Basic Educational Opportunity

The BEOG program is based on financial need and without first filing an application for that award, a student cannot receive help from any other federally funded financial aid program, Gladys Rapoport, OU's director of financial aid, explained.

In other words, failure to apply for a BEOG grant not only means possible loss of these funds, it means the student cannot receive help from the Work-Study, National Defense Student Loan or Educational Opportunity Grant programs either, she said.

OU now has about 700 students eligible for the BEOG program and each could receive a maximum of $1,050 a year.
