Knudsen Optimistic

Newsmen Shown Tempest, '61 Pontiac; Good Year Predicted

DETROIT—Pontiac Motor Division pulled the curtain off its impressive new family car—The Tempest—before 250 auto writers and editors from across the nation here today.

Semon E. Knudsen, division general manager and General Motors Corp. vice president, predicted a good business year as he introduced both the Tempest and the 1961 Pontiac models.

SEMON E. KNUDSEN

"Our new cars will be introduced under business conditions similar to the ones we now operate in," Knudsen said. "There is no boom ahead, but business will be good.

"In this climate we feel that 1961 industry sales will be as good as 1960 and could go as high as 7 million units, including 650,000 to 800,000 imports.

"We expect to sell the same number of 1961 regular size Pontiacs as in 1960, and that the Tempest will be plus business for our division," Knudsen said.

The Tempest, Knudsen told newsmen gathered at the Masonic Temple, will be the first four-cylinder engine on an American car in nearly a decade.

The Tempest also will feature a rear-mounted transmission which virtually eliminates the "hump" tunnel running between the front seats.

The four-cylinder engine on the Tempest has 130 horsepower, the general manager detailed. An aluminum V-8 engine will be offered as optional equipment with 155 horsepower.

The Tempest has a 112-inch wheelbase and an overall width of 73 inches and length of 189 inches.

The regular Pontiac line will include 15 models and will be introduced in dealer showrooms on Oct. 6.

All Pontiac models for 1961 will be 4 inches shorter and 2¼ inches narrower than the 1960 models, Knudsen said, with a resultant weight decrease of about 250 pounds.

Like other General Motors models Pontiac will use a straight roof line.

The Tempest, unlike the other new smaller cars, will use 15-inch wheels. Most compacts use 13-inch wheels.

In styling, both the standard Pontiac and the Tempest return to the divided front grille which identified the 1959 Pontiacs.

The Tempest, Knudsen outlined, is loaded with more engineering innovations than any other 1961 model car.

Russia Poised for N-Attack

Red Officer Defector Testifies Soviet Needs One-Shot Assurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet leaders would not hesitate to launch a surprise nuclear attack on the United States if they thought this nation could be smashed with one stroke, a former Soviet naval officer says.

Capt. Nikolai Fedorovich Artamonov testified Wednesday that Soviet military strategy has been based on the doctrine of a surprise nuclear attack since February 1955.

Artamonov, 32, who was commander of a Soviet destroyer in the Baltic fleet, defected to the United States in June 1959 while stationed at Gdynia, Poland.

His appearance before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, however, provided the first public disclosure of his presence in this country.

The slim, bespectacled Soviet with a heavy black moustache, spent most of his time telling of his Soviet-style education and of a gradual disillusionment with Soviet leaders.

He said he had been in the United States since shortly after he fled to the West, working with U.S. agencies he did not name.

He said he lives now in New York City, at an undisclosed address, without guards or any form of protection from Communist retaliation.

Despite premier Nikita Khrushchev's repeated pronouncements favoring disarmament, Artamonov said, the Soviet doctrine of a surprise attack has been official since February 1955. He said it was spelled out in a Soviet military publication available only to high-ranking officers.

He said he had not himself seen any directives ordering preparations for such a surprise assault on this nation.

But he added: "I know of general, broad statements which tended to prepare the Soviet officer corps for the, possibility of being ordered to make a surprise attack."

He said "no senior Soviet officer believes that the United States would attack first."

Under questioning, Artamonov confirmed Western suspicions that the Soviet fishing trawlers frequently seen near U. S. waters are spying, not fishing. He said the vessels always are operated and manned by agents of Soviet naval intelligence.

Lumumba Just Escapes Lynch by Own Troops

Rescued by Ghanians; Asks U.N. Aid as His Army Mourns Kin

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congolese soldiers tried to lynch Patrice Lumumba today. They broke into a U.N. troop building and tried to seize the disputed premier. Ghana troops of the U.N. command succeeded in pushing the Congolese troops from the building. "It was a close shave," one officer of the Ghana force said.

The unruly Congo soldiers were roused to fever pitch by reports of numerous casualties among their families in Kasai Province, where troops loyal to Lumumba have been fighting against Baluba tribesmen.

The United Nations announced a truce in the bloody civil war last Saturday. Many of the Congolese soldiers in Camp Leopold II here are Balubas.

Today's clash occurred at the officers' mess of the Ghana forces at the Congolese army's Leopoldville base, Camp Leopold II.

Lumumba lost his grip on his supporters and dramatically appealed for U. N. military protection.

With street demonstrators shouting "Down with Lumumba the Communist," Lumumba tried desperately to rally the Congolese troops in the camp against the military coup by pro-Western Col. Joseph Mobutu.

CAN'T SWING SOLDIERS

But for once he failed to swing the soldiers back to his side in the seesaw struggle with President Joseph Kasavubu for power.

A U. N. spokesman said Lumumba "requested the protection of the United Nations Ghana forces because of the excitement and agitation in Camp Leopold."

The spokesman said Lumumba was given hospitality in the officers' mess of the Ghana brigade, but is free to leave there if he wishes to do so.

It was a tragicomic reversal of fortunes for Lumumba, who repeatedly tried to have U. N. forces

Discoverer Capsule Spotted in Pacific

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An Air Force search plane Wednesday night spotted the missing capsule of the Discoverer XV satellite.

★ ★ ★

The capsule had been all but given up for lost when a JC54 plane found it bobbing in the sea near Christmas Island. Beeping and flashing, it was about 1,000 miles southwest of the recovery area north of Hawaii where it should have landed.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force said an amphibious plane will land as soon as there is enough light.

★ ★ ★

"The sea condition is favorable for a landing to pick up the capsule," an official added.

★ ★ ★

It would be the third straight time the United States has sent a capsule into orbit and recovered it.

Fall Festival Breakfast Draws 2,000 Shoppers

In its opening hours, the Downtown Fall Festival drew thousands of shoppers today, giving early confirmation to predictions that the three days sales event would be the most successful to date.

More than 2,000 persons—more than twice the number expected—enjoyed the first free breakfast by the Downtown Merchants Association as one of this year's chief drawing cards.

★ ★ ★

By noon, sidewalks were filling up with shoppers and sidewalk displays, loud-speakers were blaring, stage shows were beginning and an outdoor farm market had been created along the curbs of downtown Saginaw Street.

★ ★ ★

At 10:15 a.m., 15 minutes before the 1½-hour breakfast was to end, cooks of the West Side Kiwanis Club began digging into their third carton of 1,000 paper plates, indicating that more than 2,000 had already enjoyed a free breakfast of scrambled eggs, pancakes and coffee.

★ ★ ★

The merchants had thought they were optimistic in predicting a turnout of 1,000 the first day.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Transit Corp. reported "brisk" patronage on downtown-bound buses between 8:30-9:30 a.m. when rides were free.

There was something for everyone in the bazaars and displays along Saginaw and Huron Streets.

You could buy just about anything at a bargain price. For instance, you could have a candied apple for a nickel, 300 aspirins for 39 cents, a regulation football for $1.19 or two print dresses for $7.

You could buy a rabbit, if you wanted to, for $1, $1.25 or $1.50, depending on size, or a brand new washing machine for $188.88.

Among the farm produce you could find pears, cabbage, squash, onions, peppers, beans, cucumbers, beets, carrots, potatoes, pumpkins, apples, honey, melons, grapes, peaches, plums — you name it, it was there.

Some farmers displayed handicraft, some flowers, others baked goods.

Mrs. Beecher Rossman, 3342 Isaid Mountain Road, Orion Township, a farmer's wife, was offering for sale nylon and lace tissue boxes, which she makes for a hobby.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sieloff came all the way from the farm at Willis in Washtenaw County to sell melons.

On East Huron Street, a wildlife zoo was being set up and a group of children were fascinated by a Capuchin monkey, a raccoon, a woodchuck, a trio of fox snakes and a fawn.

Pascagoula Residents Take Refuge; No One Reported Injured

From Our News Wires

PASCAGOULA, Miss. — Hurricane Ethel slammed into Pascagoula today with 75-mile-an-hour winds, causing widespread property damage.

Most of the town's 12,000 residents had taken shelter in schools, churches or other stout structures and there were no immediate reports of persons injured.

The streets of Pascagoula were littered with broken glass, felled trees and signs snatched from their moorings by the high winds.

Local weather officials predicted the eye of the storm would pass over Pascagoula or Biloxi, or between them.

Mobile was hit by wind gusts of 90-55 mph, but the historic old city at the head of Mobile Bay appeared destined to escape most of Ethel's fury.

Gov. Ross Barnett ordered 180 national guardmen into the Pascagoula area and more guardmen were requested by local authorities about noon.

Electricity and telephone connections were failing on several streets and roads were underwater.

Ethel's howling winds dwindled to 80 miles per hour as the Gulf of Mexico storm moved inland.

★ ★ ★

The Weather Bureau said that the eye of the hurricane would move over Alabama and Mississippi within the next few hours and the blow would continue to weaken.

The quickly formed hurricane plowed across the Gulf Wednesday night with winds estimated at 150 miles per hour.

The Weather Bureau warned that tides of three to six feet would occur from the Mississippi Sound to St. Marks, Fla., with waves up to eight feet in the Mobile, Ala. area. Mobile is about 40 miles east of Pascagoula.

A wave of cold air moving south across the United States was weakening Ethel.

WEAKENED IN GULF

Pascagoula, one of Mississippi's busiest industrial centers, began to feel the high winds in mid-morning.

Branches littered the streets and live electrical wires dangled from utility poles.

Flooding in the back areas of the city became a problem as swollen bayous and rivers spilled over into the lowlands. National Guard and Civil Defense workers evacuated residents in danger zones.

Bones, Millionaire Coors Clothes Found Near Denver

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The discovery of the bones of a six-foot man and the clothing of Adolph Coors III provided the FBI today with a possible key to the disappearance of the millionaire brewer seven months ago.

The grisly find was made at a trash dump in the Rocky Mountain foothills 12 miles west of Castle Rock, south of Denver.

JOSEPH CORBETT JR.

ADOLPH COORS III

This is 25 miles from the rural bridge where Coors' abandoned truck was found last Feb. 9. He had left his mountain home that morning en route to work at the Adolph Coors Co. plant at Golden.

Agents and sheriff's officers are continuing the search for the skull and other bones they said are needed for identification.

A pathologist has said the bones already found are those of an adult male about six feet tall, about the size of Coors.

A truck driver on a target shooting outing, Edward Green, 30, of Englewood, found the clothing last Sunday.

REPORTS TO POLICE

Green returned to the Denver area and advised a policeman friend, who called the FBI.

The FBI did not disclose the information until Wednesday.

Coors' wife and four children have been in seclusion since his disappearance.

Earlier this summer, the FBI disclosed that an escaped murderer, Joseph Corbett Jr., had lived here for four years under an assumed name and left Denver hurriedly the day after Coors disappeared.

Corbett, 31, escaped in 1955 from the Chino, Calif., prison where he was serving a term for murder.

The FBI never has linked Corbett with the Coors case.

Denies High Spending on Clothes

Fashion Barbs Upset Jackie

NEW YORK (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy can be chic without spending thousands on clothes. She proved it Wednesday by looking smart and charming in a $29.95 maternity dress.

However, the dark-haired, hazel-eyed wife of the Democratic candidate for president is reaching the point where she cries "unfair" when women critics describe her as "too chic" and spending too much on clothes.

She is both hurt and surprised at reports having her spending $15,000 to $30,000 a year on clothes.

The "number" she was wearing she bought at a Manhattan shop.

Concerning one story that has her spending $30,000 yearly on Paris clothes, Mrs. Kennedy, 31, commented: "I couldn't spend that much unless I wore sable underwear."

In this political year, the young lady who was voted the most beautiful debutante of the year in 1948 is also amazed by other remarks about her personal appearance — including a letter to a

Russia May Be Readying Space Feat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy says three Soviet ships are heading for the central Pacific target area where the Soviets aim their long range missile tests. A Soviet tanker and tug also are operating in the North Atlantic.

★ ★ ★

The bare Navy announcement Wednesday had nothing to offer on what these ships are doing. But it set off immediate speculation that the ship movements may be connected with some new Soviet space achievement to be timed with the arrival in New York next week of Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

The ships in the Pacific, the Navy said, are the same ones used to monitor previous Soviet long-range missile tests conducted there last January and June.

★ ★ ★

The tanker and tug in the North Atlantic, the Navy said, carry radar and other electronic gear. It is possible they are merely an escort for the Baltika, which is carrying Khrushchev to New York.

Bar Committee Upholds Rule

Backs Withholding of Pretrial Pleadings From Public Press

LANSING (AP) — The State Bar Committee on Civil Liberties has upheld the so-called "suppression rule" of the Eastern District of the U. S. Federal Court in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The rule permits suppression, or withholding from the press and public, of pleadings made in advance of a trial.

The Civil Rights Committee recommendation will go to the state bar at its annual meeting Sept. 28-30 at Grand Rapids.

The committee noted that the rule "has received widespread publicity in and been severely criticized by the public press."

"Notwithstanding such criticism," the report said, "the committee is of the opinion that the rule is eminently correct when judiciously applied.

"The committee feels as does the State Bar Association that no threat to civil liberties exists because of the rule and that it does not interfere with the proper administration of justice. Premature publicity can be disastrous without serving public good."

The committee said it has started a study of the proposition that premature publicity can effect a violation of civil liberties but has not yet reached a decision.

Voters Can Register in Own Areas

Thanks to the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council, working in cooperation with the city, all unregistered voters in Pontiac have to do to become eligible to vote Nov. 8 is merely to step out their front door.

The Union and the city clerk's office yesterday initiated a mobile "get-out-and-register" trailer, which will be in operation five days a week (10 a.m. to 5 p.m.) in 16 locations through the Oct. 10 deadline for registration.

Today the trailer, with a direct telephone line to the City Hall to check registrations already on file, is stationed at Emery and Stanley avenues.

Tomorrow it will be at Wisner School.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans said her office has provided three deputies to do the registration.

The Union has provided the trailer and persons to roam the neighborhood in the vicinity of the trailer to notify residents.

It makes the sixth location in the city in which registrations may be made.

Others are at the City Hall; the downtown booth in front of the courthouse; the Council office, 214½ E. Lawrence St., UAW Local 653 Hall, 386 E. Kennett Road, and UAW Local 594 Hall, 90 Mt. Clemens St.

Expand Search for Crew of Jet

Hopes for Three Men Rise a Bit With Flares Reported Off Ireland

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Ships and planes expanded their search today for the three-man crew of an American jet bomber which crashed into the gale-swept Atlantic Wednesday.

Hopes rose briefly after two reports of flares being sighted in the search area some 400 miles from the shores of Ireland.

The missing airmen carried full survival equipment.

British and American planes, and naval ships and merchantmen drew a blank after an all-night search.

The missing plane, a six-jet B47 was one of three flying from the United States to a base in Britain. It collided at 33,000 feet with another plane in the flight.

The second plane limped into Shannon with one of its engines hanging from its wing. The crew members were not hurt.

Georgia's Voters Set Back Dems

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A rebellion by Georgia voters against national and state Democratic leaders spelled trouble today for the party in the November general election and perhaps in the electoral college later if a Republican challenge is turned back.

★ ★ ★

The revolt came Wednesday in a Democratic primary referendum.

The voters apparently authorized the state's 12 party electors to bolt if they see fit instead of giving electoral college support to John F. Kennedy for president and Lyndon B. Johnson for vice president.

The straw vote, sponsored by youthful Gov. Ernest Vandiver before he announced support for the national ticket, was purely advisory and not binding on the electoral slate the governor heads.

Vandiver had said he would vote as an elector for Kennedy and Johnson barring unforeseen developments. Seven others concurred.

Mounting returns for unpledged electors posed a question of whether this might be construed as such a development. Vandiver withheld comment, aides saying there probably would be no statement from the executive until the official and complete returns are recorded.

An Associated Press tabulation early today showed 93,305 favoring unpledged electors free to vote for anyone they choose and 76,870 for electors pledged to the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. The returns were from 838 of the 1,826 precincts.

★ ★ ★

Most of the precincts unaccounted for were from rural areas which rolled up heavy majorities for unpledged electors in what was construed to be a vigorous protest against the stringent civil rights provisions of the Democratic platform which Vandiver has called obnoxious.

★ ★ ★

The outcome served notice on Democratic leaders that a redoubling of their efforts may be needed to keep Georgia in the party fold in November. Georgia never has gone Republican but a recent visit by Richard M. Nixon to Atlanta has provided the impetus for a vigorous campaign.

newspaper which described her hair-do as a "floor-mop."

'DREADFULLY UNFAIR'

"I try to keep it neat and well-groomed," she told reporters, adding:

"They're beginning to snipe at me about as often as they attack Jack on Catholicism. I think it's dreadfully unfair."

Since people are getting so personal in remarks about her, Mrs. Kennedy feels she is entitled to her say concerning another lady who buys clothes—the wife of the Republican candidate for president.

"I'm sure I spend less than Mrs. Nixon on clothes," said Mrs. Kennedy. "She gets hers at Elizabeth Arden, and nothing there costs less than $200 or $300.

Mrs. Kennedy says she does buy occasionally from the Paris high-fashion houses. "I've lived in Paris and I have a younger sister, Lee, who lives abroad, so I go there whenever I can.

"But I never buy more than one suit or coat from Balenciaga and Givenchy."

SHOPS FROM MAGAZINES

Mrs. Kennedy said she also does "a lot of shopping from magazines," adding: "Some clothes I have made by a little dressmaker in Washington."

Mrs. Kennedy, who expects a child in December (a daughter, Caroline, will be 3 years old in November), will not be able to dash about the country lending a hand to her husband's campaign.

But a more loyal rooter would be hard to find.

★ ★ ★

"I think Jack has a sense of history and the past of his country," said Mrs. Kennedy. "Someone has to talk to the Russians. If my country were in Jack's hands, to give the decade a start, I'd feel safe."

TRUMAN SPEAKS UP

During his morning stroll here today, former President Harry S. Truman was asked about the criticism of Mrs. Kennedy.

"I always kept the women in my family on a pedestal and never let anyone tear them down," he replied.

"I don't think it is nice or polite to attack the wife of a candidate. I don't think it is proper, decent or polite to bring the candidate's family into the campaign.

"The wives of both candidates are wonderful ladies and that's the way they ought to be treated."

Can't Find Briefing Notes Available to Defectors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said today some handwritten briefing notes available to the two American code clerks who defected to the Soviet Union are missing.

J. Vincent Burke Jr., Defense Department general counsel, gave that testimony as the first witness in a House Armed Services subcommittee investigation of the defection of the clerks, Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin.

The two clerks defected in July via Mexico and Cuba and turned up in Moscow in early September with a denouncement of their own country.

Burke told the committee, meeting in closed session, that there is no evidence at this point that Martin and Mitchell were part of an espionage ring or that they had an accomplice or accomplices here or elsewhere.

CHECKS ON SECURITY

The subcommittee is investigating the circumstances of the run-out of the pair, as well as the adequacy of the security clearance systems of the various security agencies.

Burke's statement, released to newsmen, made these two other points:

"1. In the case of Mitchell and Martin, they can cause no damage to the security of our own communications. They can, however, assist the Soviets in their efforts to render secure Soviet communications activities.

"2. So far as can be determined, no documents are missing. However, it is possible that copies of documents could have been made by them, although there is no evidence thus far which would indicate such to be the case."

Student Enrollment Up 333 From 1959 Total

BIRMINGHAM — A record number of Birmingham students answered the opening school bell last week, said Supt. Otis M. Dickey in announcing total enrollment figures today.

Tabulations as of the first Friday of school, Dickey said, showed an enrollment of 12,349 pupils as compared with 12,016 a year ago, a 333-student increase.

Elementary schools reported a total registration of 7,405, a 139-pupil increase over 1959.

Secondary enrollments showed a 194-student increase for a total of 4,940.

School officials indicated that late registrations would very likely raise the final total to the June estimate of 12,394 by Sept. 30, when the official count is submitted for state aid purposes.

While Birmingham enrollments have reached record highs, the present figures reveal that the decline in the rate of growth, first noted in 1957, is continuing, according to Walter Piel, administrative assistant.

Piel stated that while annual enrollments during the peak years of 1952 to 1957 increased on the average of 1,030 each year, the average rate of growth the past 3 years has decreased by more than 100 students.

"It would appear," Piel noted, "that while we can anticipate continued growth, the related problems of building, equipping and staffing are of more manageable proportions."

He said that several temporary adjustments in housing pupils were necessary this year, to take maximum advantage of existing classroom space.

At the elementary level, 66 sixth grade pupils from Walnut Lake School are being taken to Valley Woods School, and 56 Bloomfield Village sixth graders ride the bus to Midvale School.

Continued growth in the Harlan School area, Piel said, is beginning to tax Harlan facilities.

Recommended capacity at Groves Junior-Senior High School will be reached with the addition of a twelfth grade in 1961-62, he said.

★ ★ ★

The school is built to accommodate 1,500 students and its present enrollment is 1,349. In the future it could be expanded to handle 2,000, Piel added.

Talk Is Cheap, Says Kennedy

Nominee in New Jersey Claims Republicans Are Asleep on Defense.

WITH KENNEDY IN NEW JERSEY (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy said today America "can't stand still in the eye of the hurricane" of political change sweeping the world.

The Democratic presidential nominee pressed down the accelerator on a motorcade campaign tour of politically-doubtful New Jersey with an attack on Eisenhower administration policies he said are "losing the lead to Russia" in world affairs.

Picking Bergen Mall Shopping Center in Paramus for his assault, Kennedy said in a prepared address that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will bring the Cold War to America's doorstep in the United Nations next week.

★ ★ ★

"And yet the administration has told us that all is well," he said.

"In the 1930s while England slept, Hitler armed.

"Today, while we stand still, Khrushchev moves.

"We must learn to face the truth of our situation. You can't stand still in the eye of a hurricane. And hurricane winds of change are sweeping the world."

Kennedy said the summit collapse, the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan and hostile mobs in other parts of the world were "diplomatic disasters." To counter these, he said the United States must rebuild its military strength.

Striking at Vice President Richard M. Nixon's contention that he is best equipped to deal with belligerent Soviet leaders, Kennedy said: "The Russians understand strength. It is not a question of quarreling with Mr. Khrushchev. It is a question of making ourselves stronger than Russia. Talk is cheap."

TALKS ABOUT NIKITA — Capt. Nikolai Fedorovich Artamonov, who held the rank of captain in the Russian navy before defecting to this country last year, talks to newsmen Wednesday after testifying before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Speaking mostly in Russian with the aid of an interpreter, Artamonov said that despite Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's statements favoring disarmament, Russian military forces have been under orders to be ready to touch off an immediate nuclear attack on this country. Tempest, '61 Pontiac Displayed to Press

tiac V-8 engine. This is the first four cylinder engine to be used in an American car since the Willys disappeared in 1955.

★ ★ ★

The Tempest also will offer a 215 cubic inch, water cooled V-8 made of aluminum. This is extremely similar to the standard equipment of the smaller Olds and Buick.

The Tempest also uses a transaxle—a combination transmission and rear axle. This enabled the engineers to virtually eliminate the floorboard hump.

This flat floor pan is helped by the use of flexible propeller shaft instead of the conventional tubular steel propshaft joining the engine and the transmission.

The four cylinder engine with a single throat carburetor and 8.6-to-1 compression ratio will develop about 130 horsepower. Using a 10.25-to-1 compression ratio and a four barrel carburetor the four jumps to about 155 horsepower, the same as the V-8.

City Contractor Alleges Swindle

Claims Detroit Concern Altered Invoices for Up to $100,000

A Pontiac construction firm has alleged in a warrant against a Detroit subcontractor that it was swindled out of $100,000 by the altering of invoices on an addition to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dearborn.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum yesterday signed the warrant charging William McCracken, owner and president of the United Heat Engineering Co., Inc., of 17129 Rockdale St., with uttering and publishing a false and altered invoice and executing a fraudulent warehouse receipt.

In a statement to Anthony Renne, assistant prosecutor, Raymond T. Westrick, secretary-treasurer of the J. A. Fredman Co., 738 S. Paddock St., estimated the alleged fraud at $100,000.

Renne said McCracken would add digits to the amount on the construction material invoices, thus raising the amount of money he eventually received from the government.

The warrant specified that McCracken added a "1" in front of a $7,384 invoice. Renne said there is evidence that the Detroit man altered other invoices also.

A Detroit attorney contacted Renne this morning and said he would surrender McCracken to Pontiac police today.

The Fredman firm is building a $2 million addition to the hospital for a physical therapy facility. Westrick told Renne that McCracken had subcontracted to do $500,000 in installing heating and air conditioning, but had quit last Wednesday after completing only $350,000 of the project.

The official of the Pontiac firm said, however, that McCracken had been paid $450,000 when he stopped work, claiming he had run out of money to pay his employes.

Federal contracts allow McCracken to buy his materials, give the invoices to the Fredman firm which in turn would forward them to the government.

The government would pay the money as spelled out on the allegedly fraudulent invoices to the Pontiac company, which gave the money to McCracken.

★ ★ ★

Not U.S. Responsibility to Guard Khrushchev

A side note on the upcoming KHRUSHCHEV visit is that Sen. MIKE MANSFIELD, D-Mont., has requested the President to give the New York Police Department money for extra police protection to help guard K and his retinue during their stay at the U.N. General Assembly session.

Why is the responsibility up to the City of New York?

The Reds attending the session are to be guests of the U.N. and not the City of New York. Since this is true, guarding and looking over the safety of these bums should be the responsibility of U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

★ ★ ★

If they need more than the regular 200 guards they have at the U.N. they should hire them. Mr. K nor none of his group has been invited by the United States or the City of New York.

This visit is strictly between the Red slave state and the U.N. Let's not stick our necks out.

Stopgap Metal Subsidy Vetoed by the President

President EISENHOWER has vetoed a bill to provide Federal subsidies to small producers of lead and zinc who mine when the price is up and stop when it goes down.

Tariff protection and quota restrictions didn't help the industry much and offended other producing countries including Canada, Mexico and Peru. Voluntary measures to limit production to demand have been taken through the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

The bill would have distributed $4.5 million a year. But the President stressed the fact that production from reopened mines would add to the oversupply of these minerals thereby depressing prices. This, in turn, would cause lay-offs in unsubsidized mines and lead to demands for subsidies throughout the industry.

★ ★ ★

Worst of all, perhaps, subsidies encourage men to stay at mining when they might be gainfully employed elsewhere. They also deplete domestic deposits which might be of utmost importance in wartime if transportation were affected.

Using public money to promote uneconomic production does not solve basic problems.

Civil Rights Platforms Unacceptable to South

Meeting with Republican party officials of Southern States in Jackson, Miss. recently, THRUSTON MORTON, national chairman, made it clear that there will be no sidestepping the race issue.

★ ★ ★

"Southerners must make their choice in the November election on issues other than civil rights," says Chairman Morton. "The South cannot expect concessions from either the Republicans or Democrats on school segregation and voting . . ."

Sen. LYNDON JOHNSON, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, has already stated that he stands firmly on the Democratic platform with its strong civil rights plank. He declared that he would never speak as a Southerner to Southerners but "only as an American to Americans."

★ ★ ★

Similarity of the two party platforms is disturbing to the South where there are deep yearnings for a new conservative political movement. A poll of Southern editors discloses that three-quarters believe that the Republican party offers Southern conservatives the best political future and that the Republicans can give the Democrats a race in this year's presidential election.

★ ★ ★

The consensus of the poll is that the South is now without a party; that foundations have been laid for a two-party system in the South with an entirely different realignment—conservatives and liberals; that conservatism of the southern brand has no leadership acceptable nationwide and that a growing number of voters will take the GOP as the lesser of two evils.

Too often in the past candidates for the presidency have ignored the race question and civil rights. This time leaders of both parties speaking to Southerners have told them that the new President will continue to enforce the law of the land.

There's no turning back.

Mercury Went From High to Low at Very Rapid Pace

Autumn: A season not officially due for a week — but running ahead of schedule.

★

Our weather watchers are scratching their heads. But they cannot dig out anything that beats the recent skid in temperature.

Several reports have been received by this column of drops from 95 to 45 in less than ten hours. As facetiously put by of Waterford: "We feared our thermometer would boil over, and in a few hours thought it would freeze up."

The first killing frost on low ground in the Pontiac area arrived only a couple of days after the highest heat of the year. It did much damage to tomato plants. Thousands of bushels of tomatoes were still in the green stage.

Coming much earlier than usual, and so closely following the extreme heat, the frost caught gardeners unaware. As one lady phones, "We didn't have a chance to do any covering up."

The large number of early entries in our football contest shows that many do not want to be caught like

George Edwardson

Asserting that our home area beats the world for varieties in temperature, of Birmingham phones that his thermometer on Wednesday registered exactly one-half what it did on the same hour one week ago.

Crude traffic sign in front of a Waterford school:

'A' for Effort

David Lawrence Says:

Pennsy Railroad Strike Useless

WASHINGTON — Neither presidential candidate will discuss the problem—because both are afraid to antagonize one side or the other politically — yet it's of paramount importance to the country.

LAWRENCE

It involves a simple question: Why was there a strike on the Pennsylvania Railroad?

Everybody knows who lost the strike — the public. Untold millions of dollars of damage was done to the business of countless bystanders who were not parties to the dispute.

★

Hardships were imposed on individuals who were unable to travel because the railroad was shut down.

The federal government stood by helpless. Not a single law on the statute books authorizes the executive branch of the government to act.

Congress was in session when the strike was threatened and knew that there were no laws available to take care of the public interest. Yet nothing was done.

QUILL CLAIMS VICTORY

Now, when the strike is over, Michael Quill, the union leader, claims victory, and the board chairman of the Pennsylvania Railroad says "this strike should never have happened" and that Quill "finally made an agreement that he could have had without a strike."

But when a devastating strike of this kind happens, there usually is no post mortem. The public never finds out just who is to blame and whether the strike really could have been avoided.

Efforts to get at the truth are usually blocked by the desire of both parties in a strike to let bygones be bygones and not to stir up new antagonisms.

This time the management side has issued a statement which plainly says that whatever was granted will not cost the railroads more than a million dollars a year and that what was offered before the strike amounted to approximately the same figure.

The railroads had strike insurance financed by other railroads to help them cut down their losses during the strike, while the union members had strike benefits of their own awarded them from a federal fund financed by a special tax levied on the railroads.

Under the circumstances, it is amazing to find that the labor leaders of the country have been silent.

NO DENUNCIATION

They have not denounced the failure of the union to accept arbitration or fact-finding boards that would come up with binding recommendations for settlement.

Yet this is one of the few procedures still available to bring into play the processes of reason.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, although previously opposed to compulsory arbitration, was willing in the months preceding the strike to accept the verdict of an impartial judge and to be bound by the settlement.

Michael Quill refused. Yet when two citizens are involved in a dispute as to compensation under a contract, they go to court and find themselves bound by a form of compulsory arbitration.

The railroads are a "regulated monopoly." The rates for passenger and freight traffic are set by the federal government's Interstate Commerce Commission.

Since the railroads' income is thus fixed by governmental authority, it has often been asked why their wage costs should not also be fixed the same way.

CONGRESS MAY ACT

But nobody wants to see wage or price controls extended any further than is absolutely necessary.

Will the arbitrariness of a single union leader, however, cause Congress now to enact legislation making arbitration compulsory or giving the federal government the power to seize the railroads to keep them in operation for the benefit of the public?

Just what was settled by the strike? There is reason to believe that the union got very little more than it would have gotten had it settled the controversy without a strike.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Baldness in Latin Worth More to Trick Specialists

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

A question put to a "panel of experts" representing a county medical society:

Q.—What would cause a young woman suddenly to develop a bald spot on back of her head?

The answer printed in the paper:

A.—"This is very likely alopecia areata, a condition in which the hair falls out in localized patches. Sometimes only a single small spot occurs and other times multiple areas involving large portions of the scalp may develop.

"The cause is unknown. One theory is that it is a psychosomatic disorder, but this remains to be proved. It is a relatively common condition. For treatment, the physician usually attempts to stimulate hair growth by various measures, although spontaneous regrowth may occur.

"The young woman complained of a bald spot on the back of her head. The medical society's panel of experts did a masterly job of translation and came up with the Latin word for baldness, alopecia, and spots, areata."

★ ★ ★

That would be worth $10 right off the bat—if the young woman had consulted a trick specialist or a "clinic" racketeer. But that's only the half of it.

The panel of experts revealed that sometimes there's only one spot, sometimes more. Also that it is relatively common.

How common would that be? Definitely? Rather? Surely not just plain common. Remember, we're experts.

★ ★ ★

Before the "physician attempts to stimulate hair growth by various measures" he should tell the patient he knows nothing that will stimulate hair growth, except good nutrition, if the patient's nutritional condition is not as good as it should be.

Since "the cause is unknown," would it be contrary to the ethical principles of the medical society's panel of experts to say that, other than improving nutrition, no hair or scalp treatment is worth the young woman's time or money?

Why not drink no less than four glasses of milk, skim milk or buttermilk daily—to boost your daily ration of calcium and riboflavin (vitamin B2 or G)? Milk is the best food source of these essentials of good nutrition and our overpurified, namby pamby American diet is inadequate in both.

In the piece titled Nutrition of Nails, Hair and Skin printed here I suggested other factors that maintain or improve the condition of the nails, hair and skin.

If you have the price, you'll find that "miracle workers" who can grow hair on your bald spot are a dime a dozen. All a reputable physician or specialist can say is that "spontaneous regrowth may occur."

So you can see what it means to the "miracle worker" if you happen to be using his treatment or remedy when spontaneous regrowth occurs. Coincidence makes quacks of us all.

Signed letters not more than one page or 150 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

Case Records of a Pyschologist:

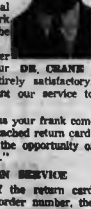

Success Is Dependent on Good Will

Good psychology makes the difference between business success or failure. Your advertising can be mechanically perfect, but if somebody in the sales transaction fails in the minor psychological items that produce good will, you will still lose customers and head for bankruptcy.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE F-470: This is the story of two Chicago garages.

A few days ago Mrs. Crane left our automobile at one of these garages for a check-up. Shortly after its return, I received a double post card. One card was headed "A Great Pleasure," and contained this statement:

"It was a real pleasure to work on your car the other day.

"We are eager to know if our DR. CRANE service was entirely satisfactory, because we want our service to please you.

"Please give us your frank comments on the attached return card. Thank you for the opportunity of being of service."

SPROPERTY IN SERVICE

At the top of the return card was listed the order number, the date and the name of the service man who had handled our car.

Below were the following questions, with "Yes" and "No" opposite each one, plus a little square box, so as a ballot, on that I could place a check mark in the appropriate answer.

"Were you unreasonably delayed? Yes ——— No ———

"Did you receive courteous treatment? Yes ——— No ———

"Were you satisfied with the work done? Yes ——— No ———

"Was the windshield, steering wheel and floors clean? Yes ——— No ———

"I suggest or noted: ———"

Then there was a place for me to sign my name, address and give my telephone number.

★ ★ ★

The card was a "permit" government postal so it didn't require any postage by me. The garage, therefore, was doing everything to encourage me to return it promptly.

GOOD BUSINESS PSYCHOLOGY

This garage should be commended for its good business psychology. Success in this modern age is largely dependent on good will.

And good will is based on many minor items. For example a year earlier I had received a clever advertisement from another garage which listed various service charges for different amounts of work needed on an automobile.

For $22.50 you could have a motor tune up. For $30.00 you could receive the motor tune up, plus certain additional work, etc.

★ ★ ★

So I sent the car down for a job that ran to $35, for I wanted some additional work done.

But when Mrs. Crane got in the car on the morning it was returned, she found the steering wheel greasy, thus soiling her clean gloves. There was also a greasy footprint on the new rug in the back.

And the windshield hadn't been cleaned! I realize that my $35 job didn't mention cleaning the windshield.

★ ★ ★

But such little extra courtesies make or break a company. It wouldn't have taken five minutes for all the windows to have been cleaned. And the resulting pleasant effect would have greatly offset that extra five minutes.

USE PSYCHOLOGY

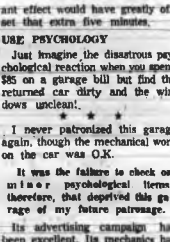

Just imagine the disastrous psychological reaction when you spend $85 on a garage bill but find the returned car dirty and the windows unclean!

★ ★ ★

I never patronized this garage again, though the mechanical work on the car was O.K.

It was the failure to check on minor psychological items, therefore, that deprived this garage of my future patronage.

Its advertising campaign had been excellent. Its mechanics had done their motor repair work well.

But somebody failed in the simple but critical items of cleaning the grease off the steering wheel and the dust off the windshield.

Voice of the People

Gives Reply to Columnist Who Called Age 40 'Old'

Is "life rough for 'old' women" as Phyllis Battelle insisted that it surely was in one of her recent columns?

★ ★ ★

Miss Battelle perhaps was correct when she quoted 'successful women' of the Arts who related how very difficult it is to break the age barrier once a person has reached forty.

★ ★ ★

The door isn't closed to any woman past forty who wishes to just be herself. Great satisfaction arises from being kind to other people's children, to a few older folks, and to your spouse. It can include, this full life, such items as reading books instead of dreaming about writing one, or planting flowers instead of longing to be one on some stage. It can mean singing right in the kitchen. Who needs a stage?

Insists Automation Wasn't Condemned

"More Automation's" interpretation of Sen. Kennedy's and Mr. Reuther's remarks are in error.

★ ★ ★

Neither condemned automation, but spoke of it as a possible blessing. They did warn, however, of possible dangers of automation without long-range planning and control. The question is: Have we learned our lesson from history?

★ ★ ★

In the past the machine has often contributed to the degradation of the individual. Today's men of vision ask only that we try to find measures which will help us utilize the blessings of automation and at the same time avoid some of the harmful effects which could accompany it.

Bishop's Ouster Riles S. Africa

Storm Likely to Bring Major Repercussions in Troubled Nation

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The sudden deportation of the Anglican bishop of Johannesburg, the Rt. Rev. Ambrose Reeves, has raised a storm likely to have great political repercussions in this racially troubled nation.

* * *

The bishop was hustled aboard a plane Monday on orders of the government less than 48 hours after he returned from England.

He had left in April at the height of the racial crisis because he feared arrest.

Some estimate the deportation has cost Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's government thousands of votes in the Oct. 5 national referendum on the question of converting South Africa from a constitutional monarchy under the British crown into a republic with a South African chief of state.

MAY BRING DEFEAT

Optimists in the anti-Republican camp even think the Reeves issue may bring defeat to Verwoerd's proposal because it has angered many English-speaking South Africans — just the people to whom Verwoerd's Afrikaaner-dominated party has been appealing for votes with a "white unity" slogan.

The nationalist government said Bishop Reeves — a British subject and not a South African — was expelled because of the tone in which he criticized racial segregation.

Although many English-speaking South Africans do not like the bishop or his way of doing things, they have been affronted by the way he was allowed to return and then thrown out of the country without legal advice or a court hearing.

* * *

The Dutch-descended Afrikaaners, who speak their own Dutch dialect, are bitterly anti-British. Their ancestors were defeated by the British in the Boer War.

They resent Queen Elizabeth II as head of state even though she has no power here.

Many South Africans of British background — about one-third of South Africa's white population — cling to England as "home" and want to retain some ties with it.

Those ties might be cut by exclusion from the British Commonwealth if South Africa becomes a republic.

Castro Plans to Keep Entire '60 Coffee Crop

HAVANA (AP) — The government announced Wednesday that Cuba's entire 1960 coffee crop will be reserved for Cuban consumption.

The Agrarian Refor Institute will buy all coffee at prices from $43 to $46 per hundred pounds and market it through a government monopoly operation.

The government resolution did not indicate the size of this year's crop.

(The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates the 1960-61 Cuban coffee crop at a million bags. In the past two years, department figures show, Cuba has consumed roughly half its coffee and exported the other half.)

Aussie Destroyer Hit by Practice Shell

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The Australian destroyer Tobruk was hit in the engine room Wednesday by a practice shell fired by its sister ship Anzac in an exercise at sea. One man was injured by escaping steam. The Anzac towed the Tobruk to Jervis Bay, where a three-foot hole was sealed.

Louisiana led the 12 southern states in plantings of seedlings. Alabama was second and Arkansas third.

Strange Product Combine Born at Shannon Airport

NEW YORK (UPI) — Irish-made Japanese radios and Irish-made Dutch pianos.

* * *

These strange combinations have been made possible by a United Nations in industry being promoted by the government of Ireland at Shannon Airport.

This $35 million airport was threatened with near extinction by the coming of the jet age since these long-range planes no longer need to stop there to refuel.

The Irish used a little ingenuity to cope with the situation. They built a $5 million runway to handle jet traffic and established the Shannon Free Airport Development Co.

STEADY TOURIST FLOW

The 10,000-foot runway was needed to accommodate the steady flow of tourists to Ireland, according to Shannon.

He estimated that nearly 15 per cent more Americans will visit his land of shamrocks and leprechauns this year than in 1959.

The airport development idea was conceived about a year-and-a-half ago, with construction beginning six months later.

* * *

Already, eight international companies have set up plants on a 250-acre apron surrounding the airfield, and O'Regan says another 11 firms should be operating by the end of this year.

The present eight companies at the airport — three American, two English, one Japanese, one Dutch and one German—are expected to fly out more than two million pounds of planos, transistor radios, jersey fabric, precision fasteners, capacitors and fabric marking machines in 1960.

The additional 11 firms will help increase this load six times by 1962, O'Regan said.

There are now close to 800 people employed at the Shannon industrial site, and practically all of them were trained on the job at the expense of the Irish government.

The new staff member is 34 years old and a native of Romania. His wife Patricia Ann is from Birmingham.

New Stamp Honors Francis Scott Key

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Sales of a new, commemorative four-cent stamp were launched Wednesday, to the tune of a mock bombardment of Baltimore's Ft. McHenry.

* * *

The stamp, red and blue on white, honors Francis Scott Key, who wrote the national anthem. The fourth in a series of six "Credo" stamps, it represents the defense of Baltimore Harbor against the British during the War of 1812.

* * *

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield was on hand for the ceremony.

Former Ohio Prisoner Finds the Tooth Will Out

TEMPERANCE (AP) — James J. Miller, who learned dentistry while a prisoner at Ohio State Penitentiary, was arrested Tuesday for practicing without a license.

* * *

The 37-year-old Miller was arrested after an investigation by D. L. Hanse Jr., special investigator for the Michigan Board of Dentistry.

Miller told Hanse that he had served some 200 customers and "never had a complaint." He extracted teeth, took impressions and made bridgework and plates, he said.

Miller said he learned dentistry while serving a sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary for armed robbery. When he was paroled in 1953 he moved to Toledo and opened an office. Ohio authorities became suspicious, Miller said, and he moved his operation to nearby Temperance.

The ex-convict said that since May he had purchased a new home and a new car from his earnings.

He was held in the Monroe County Jail.

Score Says Congress Faced 20,164 Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Nebraska Republican has compiled his own scorebook on statistics of the 86th Congress.

★ ★ ★

Here's what Rep. Glenn Cunningham found in checking through records of the Congress, and wound up its business Sept. 1.

There were 20,164 bills and resolutions introduced by members of the House and Senate, of which 1,130 became law.

The House was in session 1,039 hours and 8 minutes, for an average of 3 hours and 55 minutes. One was only three minutes.

The Senate, with no limit on debate such as exists in the House, met for 2,198 hours and 37 minutes.

It took 35,958 pages of the Congressional Record to print all materil during the two-year period.

He didn't figure this but since it costs an estimated $61 per page to print this daily account of congressional activities, the bill for this alone would amount to $2,912,598.

State Population to Slip Because of Auto Trends

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — A long-term decline in automotive employment will slow Michigan's population growth during the next 10 years unless other industries take up the slack, a University of Michigan study indicates.

At present, the population study suggested, Michigan's ability to attract prospective residents from other areas is mainly dependent on the auto industry.

"The most disturbing element involved in this single industry concentration is that . . . there is not likely to be an increased need for more manpower within the auto industry," said Dr. David Goldberg, director of the study.

Goldberg said expanded demand for motor vehicles was expected during the next 10 years but that automation and other advanced production techniques probably would keep the demand for manpower at or below its present level.

He pointed out that prospects of employment in auto making have been Michigan's major attraction to migrants during the past 40 years.

★ ★ ★

"To the extent that the Michigan industrial base shifts and becomes more diversified," Goldberg said, "we may expect the state to enter a new phase of population growth dependent on an entirely different set of conditions."

★ ★ ★

The study revealed migration to Michigan through the mid-1950s was topped only by California and Florida. Still, between 1957 and 1960 nearly 200,000 more persons left Michigan than came in.

However, the state's overall population continued to increase because the natural gain from births exceeded the loss through deaths and migration.

Grist Mill Still Serves After 100 Years of Use

DEKALB, Miss. (UPI) — A water-powered grist mill more than 100 years old still turns out about 60 bags of corn meal a day from its 4,500 and 1,400-pound grinding stones near here.

The mill is operated by George W. Sciples, 59, at the hamlet of Scriples Mill, established by Scipies' great-grandfather. Scipies says maintenance work on the mill has cost $16 in the past 56 years.

Tipsters Get Rewards as Government Collects

CHICAGO (UPI) — Tipsters enabled the federal government to collect about $12.5 million in taxes, penalties and interest last year, according to Commerce Clearing House.

★ ★ ★

Rewards averaging $586 apiece were granted to 708 individuals who acted as tax tipsters. Another 4,394 claims by informers were rejected.

Processed Potatoes Use Rises 18 Pct.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Crop Reporting Board says consumption of processed potato foods rose about 18 per cent last year and government experts forecast a comparable increase this year.

The board estimated that about 40.2 million hundredweight of 1959-crop potatoes were used for processed foods such as potato chips, frozen products, dehydrated potatoes and canned foods. This was an increase of 6.1 million hundredweight over 1958.

The volume of potatoes sold for fresh use in homes and restaurants did not increase. It has run about 143 million hundredweight in each of the last three years. With population rising, this means that per capita consumption of fresh potatoes has been declining.

The flag of the United States was fixed in 1818 except for the placing and pattern of the white stsars.

ONE COLOR

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moffer, D.V.M.

Q. What are the "heaves"?

A. "Heaves" is a lung disease that occurs most frequently in older horses. We're not completely sure of the cause, but there is a possibility that feeding of moldy, or otherwise unfit hay is a factor.

There is also an indication that the overworked horse is more apt to become a heaves victim. Early symptoms may be imperceptible to the layman, but within a few months there will be shortness of breath, excessive flatulence in the intestines, and weight loss.

* * *

In many cases, a characteristic cough develops. Turning the horse to pasture for approximately six months would be the best relief the animal could get. If this cannot be done, feed a good quality prairie (first choice) or timothy hay, well moistened with water.

* * *

Oats and bran should also be moistened. Water the animal frequently, but use small amounts. A veterinarian can prescribe medicine to relieve the respiratory distress.

Another possible origin of the disease may be allergies. If this is the case, antihistimines are indicated. Don't let the horse get chilled, as he is susceptible to lung infections at this time.

To Make Films on Bone Cells

Scientists Find New Technique for Taking Pictures of Growth

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Motion pictures will be made of the development of bone cells at a Hermann Hospital laboratory by Dr. George Rose.

The research project is being financed by a $3,600 grant from the Easter Seal Research Foundation.

Dr. Rose heads a team of scientists who will make the photographs in the tissue culture laboratory of the hospital.

He explained that special culture chambers have been developed which will permit use of high power light microscopy.

Sheets of cellophane are used as an agent for anchoring the bone cells to the glass walls of the chambers.

* * *

The new technique allows cells to grow out from the bone in their functioning form, he said. Conventional methods permit cells to grow out, but not to remain in their normal functioning capacity.

* * *

The three-year project will observe specific effects of compressive forces upon bone cells, Dr. Rose said.

EAST AND WEST COMPARED — Present military strength of the United States and her allies is compared with that of Soviet Russia and the Communist nations. The Soviet armed forces figure of 4.6 million is the total generally accepted in the West, although Premier Khrushchev has placed it at one million less. Chart is based on data prepared by Central Intelligence Agency.

He Conserves Land, Never Farms Again

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Agriculture Department survey indicates that many farmers who put land in the conservation reserve program may never go back to farming.

But the study also shows that most farmers who put their land into the program do NOT leave their farm homes.

The study covers the operation of the conservation reserve in Franklin, Kennebec and Aroostook counties in Maine.

India Seeks Business in Neighbor Countries

Exports of Indian telephone equipment amounted to about $10,000 in 1959 — double the amount of the previous year.

Everyday Things Termed Artistic

Dr. Carl Shull Paints Ordinary Objects—Fish Bones, Moldy Bread

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (UPI) — To Dr. Carl Shull, fish bones and moldy bread aren't garbage, they're art.

Shull, visiting professor of art at St. Cloud State College, likes painting common, everyday objects. He calls his system "designing from nature."

In his classroom, it's possible to find assorted fruits and vegetables, fungi, bugs and even rocks being used as subjects.

He encourages his students to let their imagination take over as they interpret the subjects on paper.

So the bone structure of a fish skeleton, for example, may wind up so exaggerated that it resembles an explosion.

Objects with designs concealed in their innards, like oranges and tomatoes, are sliced open before becoming subjects.

* * *

Student work exhibited this summer included sinister-looking grasshoppers, gutted gourds, and moody-looking fungi and bread mold.

"It's like discovering that small creatures and inanimate objects have secret personalities," one student commented.

Shull, who regularly is director of the Sargent Gallery at Eastern Illinois University, has never attempted to put his theories in writing.

Petoskey Man Gets Nod in GOP Vote Skirmish

LANSING (UPI) — Thomas F. Schweigert, Petoskey, had a solo claim on the Republican nomination to the State Senate from the Northern Michigan 29th District today—though he may not have received as many votes as his opponent in the Aug. 2 primary election.

* * *

Carl Titus, Alpena, who lost to Schweigert by 15 votes in the race to succeed retiring Sen. Frank Andrews, R-Hillman, in the predominantly Republican district, indicated he would not challenge a Board of State Canvassers ruling that gave the nomination to Schweigert.

"We do not feel we should take any action that would upset the election process in seven counties," said Donald M. Habermehl, attorney for Titus.

The action came after Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams refused to start Supreme Court tests to determine who should have the nomination.

* *

A recount which would have given Titus four more votes than Schweigert was stopped before it became official.

Rental of Boats 'Big Business'

Works Like Agency of Cars; Yacht - Size Craft in Dealers' Lists

From United Press International

Millions of people are devoted to pleasure boating. Most own their own boats; but thousands of persons rent them.

On the latter basis there is building up a large network of marine rental organizations which eventually may rival similar groups ashore that lease autos to land travelers.

The business of renting boats is not new. But previously it was confined mostly to rowboats for the weekend fisherman.

Now, it is "big business" and rentals, from one-half hour to three months or longer, involve boats up to "yacht-size."

There have been any number of ventures into this expanding field and most have been successful. It must be remembered that these enterprises differ from the "charter" area where one craft is involved.

Today's boat rental men line up their craft as a car rental man displays his offerings ashore.

A former advertising man, G. Montagu Miller, has cashed in on this idea by establishing a boat rental firm on Long Island, a few miles outside the metropolitan New York area, which he calls Marine Rentals, Inc.

It has been so successful that Montagu plans further expansion this fall and winter in Florida.

Miller believes his success results from a number of "package" plans that he has developed. One plan is a "mid-week package" in which a family rents a boat from Tuesday through Thursday at lower rates than the normal daily and weekend prices.

Another is a "boat-trailer package" — all the equipment that a family needs to take with them for a vacation at a favorite lakeside or seashore resort.

Miller got his rental agency underway last May and now has a fleet of 45 fibreglas sports runabouts, 15 and 17-feet long, all powered by 40 horsepower outboards.

Miller's policy is to make a thorough investigation of each customer's boating ability and to give him a complete check before renting a craft.

Cook Raw Garbage to Curb Trichinosis

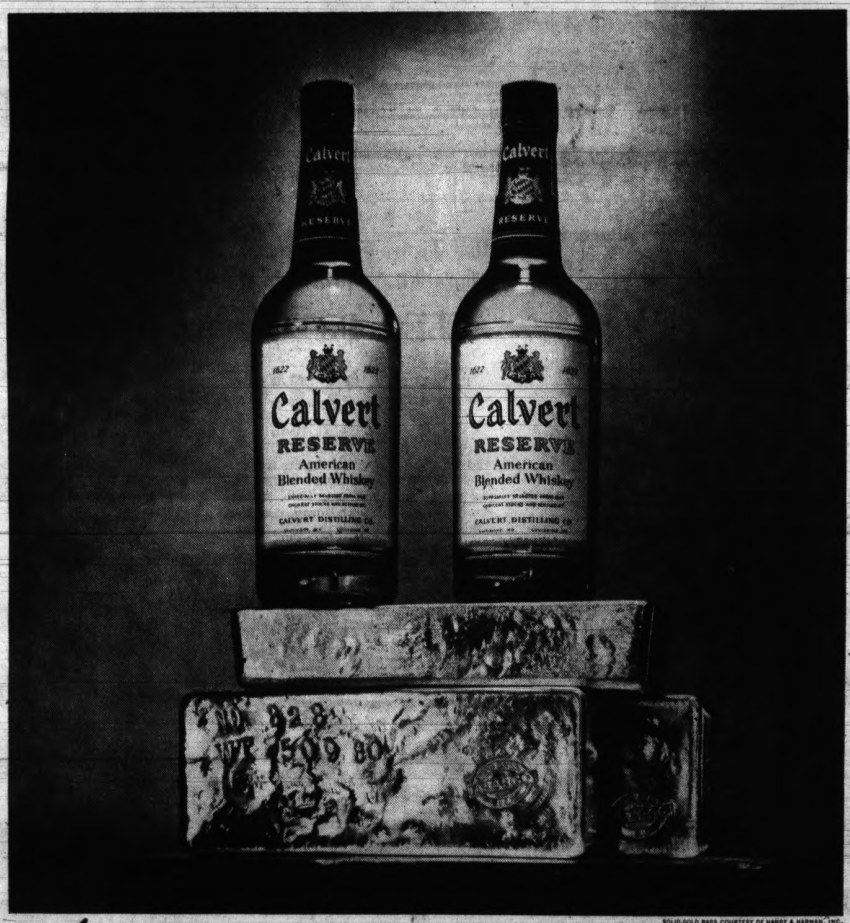

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department says new laws banning the use of raw garbage for feeding hogs are improving control of many hog diseases.

The department says this is especially true in the case of trichinosis, a swine disease which may spread to humans who eat infected pork without cooking it properly.

The department reports that cooking of raw garbage before it is fed to hogs is now required in all 50 states.

Animal disease experts believe that most trichinosis infections in hogs can be traced directly to raw garbage. These experts report that raw garbage feeding must be stopped completely before the disease can be eradicated.

Women Workers Organize for UF

Pontiac Press Photos

KICKOFF LUNCHEON — The kickoff luncheon for the Women's Division of the Pontiac Area United Fund was sponsored Wednesday noon at the Hillside Room of Devon Gables by the Community National Bank. At the speakers' table were (from left) the Rev. George Mahder of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Mrs. Harry Fahrner of 10 Robertson Court, Clarkston; Mrs. Charles Pangus of 210 South St., Ortonville; and Mrs. Alfred Dacey of 463 Park Island Road, Lake Orion.

More than 200 neighborhood and district chairmen of the Pontiac Area United Fund's Women's Division met for luncheon Wednesday noon at the Hillside Room of Devon Gables.

Luncheon guests of the Community National Bank, the workers heard speaker Joseph H. Schultz, technical writer in the Pontiac Motor Division and volunteer training chairman for the 1960 United Fund Drive.

Schultz outlined the workings of the United Fund and the responsibilities of the chairmen present in the total drive.

Area phones will buzz in the next two weeks, according to Mr. Schultz, as hundreds of women create the residential campaign structure which is the backbone of the Women's Division of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

EXTENDS WELCOME

Extending a welcome to the women was Mrs. Roderick Taylor, 1960 Women's Division campaign chairman. With her at the speaker's table were the Rev. George Mahder of St. Paul Lutheran Church; Mrs. Donald White, women's committee chairman; and township Women's Division chairman Mrs. Harry Fahrner of Independence, Mrs. Charles Pangus of Brandon, Mrs. Alfred Dacey of Orion, Mrs. Walter Noffsinger of Waterford, and Mrs. Ben Hawkins of Pontiac.

Others at the speaker's table were Karl Bradley, executive director of the United Fund; Mrs. Margaret Libby, Women's Division director and Mr. Schultz.

Pontiac area chairmen introduced by Mrs. Hawkins were Mrs. Glenn Griffin, Area I; Mrs. Richard Fox, Area II; Mrs. William Coulacos, Area III; and Mrs. Leonard Buzz, Area IV.

* * *

Township area chairmen were introduced by Mrs. Fahrner, Mrs. Pangus and Mrs. Dacey.

"Services done by the United Fund volunteer workers turn into services to the community," said Mrs. White in her talk to the group.

Excerpts of case histories from the files of Big Brothers of Oakland County and the Michigan Children's Aid Society were used by Schultz in his talk "A Brief Glance at the Pontiac Area United Fund."

The importance of the forthcoming training sessions and the necessity for carrying official identification were stressed by Mrs. Taylor in her remarks. She went on to plead for an army of volunteer workers to put the Women's Division of the drive over the top.

Phony Psychologists to Get State Curbs

LANSING (UPI) — Regulations aimed at cutting the ground from under bogus psychologists in Michigan received approval at a public hearing here Wednesday.

Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, presided at a meeting where practicing psychologists and counselors made suggestions for only minor changes.

* * *

Bartlett's department set up the rules under a bill passed by the Legislature in 1959.

The rules provide for licensing examinations, reviews of rejected applicants, means for setting up tests for prospective psychologists and outline the powers and duties of the superintendent of public instruction.

SURVEY AREA — A look at the geographical setting for the 1960 United Fund Campaign was a pre-luncheon must for (from left) Mrs. Margaret C. Libby of 2442 Square Lake Road, women's division director; Campaign Chairman Mrs. Roderick Taylor of 54 Mohawk Road, and Training Chairman Joseph H. Schultz of 964 Sunny Beach Road.

Guess He Said: Please Mr. Sir, I Don't Want to Go

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—It was a proud man who sought information about his grandfather from the director of the University of Michigan's historical collection.

* * *

The man explained to the director, Dr. F. C. Bald, that grandfather had been a member of a famous Michigan cavalry unit which fought in more than 100 battles in the War Between the States.

* * *

The unit, he boasted, had captured Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy. Were there any details in the files about Grandfather?

There were. Grandpa had deserted a week after he joined the army.

Will Help His Ego

Let Junior Win That Battle

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Dad, next time you and junior get into an argument, let tim win—it may help prevent him from developing a warped personality.

This advice was offered by Dr. William H. Mills, professor of education at the University of Michigan.

"If a child is always on the losing side in home battles," said Mills, "then he stops battling at home and carries it outside."

You, dad—and mom, too—can keep junior battling at home instead of away, said Mills, by "acting as a sparring partner."

"It might even be a good idea occasionally to introduce a controversial subject and let him win the argument," Mills added.

On another point, Mills advised parents not to be too disturbed by their teen-ager's occasional lethargy (what some parents call a lack of "get-up-and-go" and others refer to as "laziness.").

These periods of little apparent motion, said Mills, "are offset by sudden bursts of energy upon which parents should capitalize."

Thus, getting junior to help with the household chores would appear to be a matter of timing, although Mills did not put the matter in quite those terms.

Mills summed up his observations on the inner working of the typical teen-ager by saying, "More than anything else youngsters don't like to be told what to do."

He said parents should provide situations in which their teen-age offspring can learn on their own and should offer suggestions which will help their youngsters find their own solutions to problems.

Exiles Reveal Forces Have Landed in Cuba

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Cuban Liberation Alliance announced Wednesday it has landed forces in Central Cuba and opened an armed front to combat the government of Premier Fidel Castro.

A "Major Diego" identified as Victor Manuel Paneque was present at a press conference of Cuban exiles and introduced as the man who opened the front in the Sierra de Escambray range in which Castro himself at one time fought the Fulgencio Batista regime.

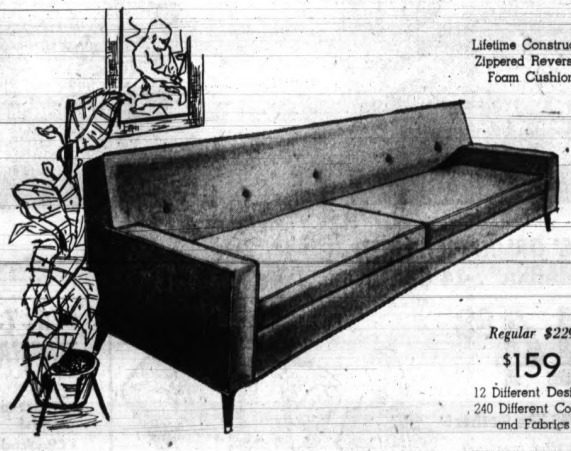

Maj. Diego, a former leader in the anti-Batista struggle, captured Havana at the head of a militia group after the fall of Batista and turned it over to Castro's troops when they entered the city.

Diego said he had left the Escambray encampment four days ago. Other front leaders present included ex-Cuban Air Force Chief Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz, first of the former Castro supporters to defect, and Maj. Nino Diaz who has led a small guerrilla group in the Sierra Maestra of Oriente Province for almost a year.

The new front numbers 900 men at present, those attending said.

The Nebraska state capital was moved from Omaha to Lincoln in 1867.

Sir Laurence Olivier Named in Divorce Suit

LONDON (AP) — Actor Roger Gage cited actor Sir Laurence Oliver as correspondent today in a divorce suit against actress Joan Plowright.

Gage is 30, Miss Plowright 29. Olivier, 53, is married to actress Vivien Leigh.

Miss Leigh announced last May that Olivier wanted a divorce to marry Miss Plowright, then starring with him in a play in London.

So far, however, neither Miss Leigh nor Olivier has filed a divorce petition.

Rep. Conlin Study on Taxes Finds Way to Harvard

LANSING (AP) — Research reports compiled for the so-called Conlin study of Michigan's tax structure are going to be required reading in the Harvard University Law School.

* * *

Rep. Rollo G. Conlin, R-Tipton, who directed the 15-month survey that ended late in 1958, said Wednesday that Oliver Oldman, assistant professor of law at Harvard, had ordered 30 of the 573-page volumes of staff papers. Oldman said they would be used in his class on state and local taxation.

* * *

Two-thousand of the hard-bound volumes were published by the state and 700 still are available at $5 a copy. Most have been distributed to legislators, state officials, universities, newsmen and industrialists.

The study included recommendations and a tax study committee for enactment of a state income tax. The legislature turned it down.

Do-It-Yourself Reaches Harried East Berliners

BERLIN (AP) — Do-it-yourself has reached Communist East Berlin—with a special Red twist to it.

Apparently tired of being unable to get repairmen, apartment tenants in the Lichtenberg district have banded together to establish a series of "strong points." Each will have a stock of tools and materials. Tenants will be encouraged to do the work themselves.

Indonesia Bans Books Critical of Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Military authorities today banned two controversial booklets. The booklets are "The Overseas Chinese in Indonesia" by Indonesian writer Pramudya Ananta Toer, and "Our Democracy," by former vice president Mohammad Hatta. Hatta's book bitterly criticized President Sukarno's regime.

Airliner Amuck, One Man Killed

Plane Swerves Into a Hangar at Dallas, Traps Five for Two Hours

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A huge airliner swerved out of control at Love Field Wednesday and smashed into a hangar killing one of seven men aboard.

A steel girder protruding from the building sliced through the nose of the plane.

* * *

The four-engine Braniff International Airways DC7 burst into flames as it tore into the hangar. The flames were quickly extinguished. No one in the building was hurt.

Elmer R. Tiffany, 43, died shortly after arriving at a hospital. The other men suffered injuries, none critical.

It took rescue workers nearly two hours to free five of the men.

The plane, undergoing maintenance, was being taxied to a ramp to test engines when it swerved sharply and hit the building.

Observers said one engine might have run wild, or the brakes of the plane might have failed.

James E. Jordan, 38, was the only one aboard who escaped from the plane under his own power.

* * *

Jordan said he sensed something was wrong when the engines revved up.

Firemen ripped open a part of the plane and freed the others. The plane's roof—just like a can opener rips open a can.

Injured besides Jordan were Robert Fitzpatrick, 30; B. W. Clark, 23; R. R. Rogers, 29, and David M. Bellows, 29.

W. A. Grunberg was not hurt.

Administrator Named

LANSING (AP) — Appointment of Louis J. O'Malley of Ewen as Ontonagon County public administrator was announced today by Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams.

4th Electra Crashes

It's One More in Mishaps Dogging Turbo Planes

NEW YORK (AP)—The crash of a $2.3 million Electra plane at LaGuardia Airport Wednesday is one more in a series of mishaps that have dogged the turboprop class of airliner.

In three previous crashes since February 1959, a total of 162 persons were killed.

Today's crash came in the midst of a $35 million program the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. is conducting to make structural improvements in each of the more than 130 Electras being flown by 13 airlines in this country and abroad.

* * *

The modification program was undertaken because of a weakness discovered in engine mounts after two of the earlier crashes.

One occurred near Tell City, Ind., this year 17 with a loss of 63 lives. The other near Buffalo City, Tex., last Sept. 29, killed 34 persons.

Both planes lost wings in seemingly safe flying weather. Intensive investigations disclosed that a combination of conditions caused wing flutter at speeds of more than 300 miles an hour. The normal cruising speed of Electras is 400 m.p.h.

The Federal Aviation Agency allowed the Electras to continue in service after the Tell City crash but ordered them to fly at a maximum speed of 316 m.p.h. and later reduced this limit to 250 m.p.h.

* * *

Prior to the Texas and Indiana crashes, an Electra plunged into the East River Feb. 3, 1958, while approaching LaGuardia Airport for a landing. Sixty-five persons lost their lives and eight were rescued. This crash was not attributed to wing flutter.

Liem did graduate work in Princeton University, was assistant professor of political science at Pennsylvania College for Women in Pittsburgh, now Chatham College and moved to Muskingum College in Ohio this year as professor of politics.

President Eisenhower Still a Crowd-Pleaser

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower and crowds apparently just love to be together.

★ ★ ★

In fact, their mutual attraction seems to be growing stronger even though the chief executive's White House days are drawing to a close.

Perhaps that is why Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican standard-bearer, called Eisenhower the "champion campaigner of all time."

Reporters were able to observe the President at two political warmup appearances during the past week. They concluded that he was shaking hands and chucking children under the chin with as much zest as any office seeker.

★ ★ ★

He admitted as much at a big GOP rally for Nixon, describing himself as "an old war horse, sort of smelling a bit of the dust of battle."

During a visit to the South Mountain Fair near his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, Eisenhower was besieged by fair-goers ranging in age from 3 to 93.

He had a handshake, a pat on the head, or a warm smile for virtually all of them.

The President even relaxed his dignity a bit to throw some baseballs at china plates and wooden milk bottles. He grinned with delight when he was presented with a stuffed poodle for his rather unless efforts.

People pressed around him as he strolled through the fairgrounds and responded with cheers when he called out "Goodby folks!"

A matronly woman said: "You are a great man!" And others in the crowd appeared to agree.

Income Record Set in August

Individual Intake Rises Slightly Despite Drops in Steels, Autos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The total of individual incomes rose slightly to a new high in August, the Commerce Department reported Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

With the trimming of factory payrolls in steel and autos nearly off-setting gains elsewhere, personal incomes rose by $300 million from July to an annual rate in August of $407.6 billion.

This was a record high. But economists, aware of the normal tendency for personal income to reach a new peak each month when business is good, were more interested in the smallness of the rise from July.

Mainly because of the low production of steel and early model changeovers in autos, payrolls dropped in manufacturing by $1.2 billion at annual rates.

DROP IS OFFSET

However, increases in payrolls in government, services and distribution offset the drop in manufacturing and left over-all wage and salary payments unchanged at the July record rate of $275.1 billion.

Incomes from dividends, interest and government welfare payments rose by small amounts during the month.

Nearly 11 Million Have Arthritis

1,223,000 Spend Day a Year in Bed, Reports Public Health Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 11 million Americans suffer from arthritis or rheumatism, about 1,223,000 of them severely enough to spend one or more days abed a year, the Public Health Service said today.

A new report said 759,000 spend at least seven days out of each year in bed, and others much longer periods.

The findings came from a survey conducted among 73,000 households all over the country from July 1957 to June 1959.

Other findings:

The estimated 10,845,000 sufferers for the nation as a whole represent a rate of approximately 64 cases for each 1,000 population—ranging from 2 per 1,000 among persons under 25 years of age to 296 per 1,000 among persons 75 years and older.

★ ★ ★

Prevalence was reported higher among females than males — 81 cases per 1,000 females, against 46 per 1,000 males.

Approximately 10 per cent of sufferers "were confined to the house, except in emergencies, or were limited or needed help in getting around outside the house."

New York Study Concludes:

'Artery-Hardening Not Related to Job'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A close study of 207 detached hearts revealed no more artery-hardening in the hearts which had belonged to men with sit-down jobs than in those of men whose jobs had kept them physically active.

This complicates scientific efforts to get at the basic reasons for the common type of heart attack which carries off so many men in their prime. It is a statistical fact that physically active men are less prone to these attacks than men who exercise their bodies but little.

This type of attack is caused by a persistent, long-term narrowing of the arteries which nourish the heart muscles. Eventually not enough nourishing blood can get through. There is a block and the attack follows. This channel-narrowing process is called artery-hardening.

And so you'd expect the heart arteries of physically inactive men to show a greater amount of hardening than those of physically active men of the same age. For the past few years Drs. David M. Spain and Victoria A. Bradess have been checking this expectation.

* * *

Working through the medical examiner's office of Westchester County, N.Y., they were able to study the hearts of men who had been killed in accidents, homicides, and suicides. Only after the hearts had been assayed for degrees of artery-hardening, was there a check on the ages and occupations of the men from whom the hearts had come.

As was expected, heart-artery hardening was slowly but steadily progressive through the younger age groups up to the oldest. The unexpected was that there was no significant difference in degree of artery hardening between the sit-downers and the physically active men in any of the six age groups.

This shouldn't be taken to mean that the statistical studies were wrong and lack of physical exercise has nothing to do with proneness to heart attack. The statistical conclusions are well established and Drs. Spain and Bradess did not feel their results provided a basis for attacking them.

* * *

They suggested the answer to the apparent paradox was in "collateral circulation." Blood flow since it is under pressure, can set up channels apart from the established arteries and veins. The scientists reasoned that the hearts of physically active men were better able to set up these auxiliary channels than those of the physically inactive.

* * *

When the challenge of a severely hardened heart artery comes, the heart muscles of the active already have collateral vessels in the process of developing, and so the challenge is met and there is no attack.

U.S. Jigs as Russia Calls the Tune: Our President Fights Back at U.N.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Russians are making the United States dance. Repeatedly this country's actions have been reactions to Communist actions. It happens again.

* * *

President Eisenhower has finally decided he'd better try to address the United Nations General Assembly next week before Premier Nikita Khrushchev has a chance.

There was no indication Eisenhower had any intention of going before the U.N. until it was learned Khrushchev and the Communist chiefs of the Iron Curtain countries were coming to the Assembly meeting which opens in New York Sept. 20.

And even then the administration played with the idea of avoiding a direct meeting—even if it meant only being in the same assembly hall together—between Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

At first it seemed the administration had no plans for countering any anti-American propaganda Khrushchev and his satellite friends might turn loose at the United Nations.

SLAP FOR SLAP

Then it was decided that Secretary of State Christian A. Herter should go there and speak before it was Khrushchev's turn. This seemed to be the administration's plan, although Eisenhower had talked vaguely on Sept. 7 of going to the United Nations.

Meanwhile, the State Department slapped restrictions on Khrushchev by saying that, for security reasons, the Russian would not be allowed to leave Manhattan Island when he got here.

The Russians began to denounce this. So did Khrushchev from aboard the ship bringing him here.

Then the administration finally seemed to realize that if Herter spoke first and if Eisenhower waited weeks—or until after Khrushchev had departed—before talking to the international group the Russian damage might be complete.

* * *

So Wednesday the administration did a switch and said Eisenhower would take Herter's place in addressing the General Assembly next week, probably before Khrushchev speaks.

It was only a year ago that Khrushchev blackjacked the West and Eisenhower into agreeing to a summit meeting by his threats of shutting off West Berlin unless there was a meeting to discuss a settlement of some kind.

There was no doubt that Eisenhower even invited Khrushchev here last September to try to cool him off on Berlin before there was a summit conference.

Eisenhower surely knows that his going to the United Nations is a pretty ticklish journey since no one can guess what Khrushchev might pull off to embarrass him again in the eyes of the world.

* * *

Still, Eisenhower could hardly afford, with the whole world watching, to let Khrushchev dominate the U.N. meeting and perhaps denounce the United States from inside America without any effort to punch back.

Defense Dept. Eyes Extra $$

Has 500 Million From Congress Appropriation to Allocate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. said Wednesday his office is studying allocation of about $500 million still remaining from the extra money voted by Congress for defense.

* * *

Among other subjects up for scrutiny is a list of 25 items submitted by the Army for its modernization project.

The dollar total of the Army list is greater than the approximate 92 million dollars provided for that purpose in the add-on funds voted by Congress, Gates said during an informal talk with reporters.

A decision will be made next week on how much of the extra 100 million dollars for the B70 superbomber program can be used at this time, Gates said.

TO BOOST SUB RANGE

Also to be worked into the revised program will be the plan to boost the range of the Navy's Polaris submarine missile from a present 1,200 miles to 1,500 miles.

President Eisenhower already has sanctioned that project.

The defense chief, in answering another question, said the United States is still standing on its offer to NATO countries to provide Polaris missiles for Western European defense.

No definitive requests have been received so far.

Gates told reporters he believes the troubles which have caused delays of as much as six months in completion of launching bases for the Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles have been straightened out and he hopes the base building program will be back on schedule later this fall.

Order Trial for Party Where Anita Danced

ROME (AP)—A Turkish belly-dancer, two Roman princes and five other persons have been ordered to stand trial on charges of public indecency because of a party two years ago where Anita Ekberg danced the cha-cha-cha barefooted.

The trial is scheduled for Oct. 1.

Named as defendants were belly-dancer Ayshe Nur who did a striptease, Prince Pier Francesco Borghese, Prince Andrea Hercolani, Marquis Carlo Durazzo, a journalist, and three members of the band that played at the party. Miss Ekberg was not named.

★ ★ ★

The party jolted staid Roman circles and brought a call from the Vatican newspaper for Italy to expel "undesirable guests."

In 1766 Rhode Island enacted laws for the "preservation of the oyster" to keep the coastal oyster beds from being scraped bare.

NEW STAMPS — The Post Office will issue memorial stamps commemorating three deceased national figures. The stamps honoring Robert A. Taft will first be put on sale in Cincinnati Oct. 4; Walter F. Son Knows the Rules About Riding on Bus

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice H. Badders was warning her 5-year-old son, Bobby, to be a good boy during his first ride on a school bus.

"There is a rule about riding on the bus, you know, Bobby," she said.

"I know," replied her son with a worldly air. "It's 'No Smoking.'"

Warns Soviets About Violator

But U.S. Won't Expel Red Aide Who Defied Travel Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has given the Soviet Embassy a strong warning about a Soviet aide who violated a U.S. travel ban, but has decided not to expel the Russian from the country.

★ ★ ★

State Department sources said the warning about the action of Sergei G. Zhdanov was given to a Soviet Embassy representative orally Monday by John M. McSweeney, head of the department's Soviet desk.

Zhdanov, an official of the Russian trading agency Amtorg, broke U.S. travel restrictions against Russians by going from New York to Chicago to attend a machine tool exhibition.

The State Department disclosed last weekend that Zhdanov had been ordered Friday to go back to New York.

BANNED AUG. 31

It said the Soviet Embassy last Aug. 31 had been denied permission for Zhdanov and another Russian official to attend the exhibition.

The United States, in retaliation for similar restrictions against moves by Americans in the Soviet Union, has placed about one-third of the United States off limits to the Soviets, including Chicago.

Russians must get special permission to enter the barred areas.

Washington authorities said they had decided not to boot Zhdanov out of the country after receiving an explanation from the Soviet Embassy saying there had been a misunderstanding.

The Russians claimed that while the State Department's refusal for travel permission to the second Soviet official was clear, it was not clear that Zhdanov also was barred from going to Chicago.

Delay Parcel Service Bid for Lower Rates

LANSING (UPI) — A hearing on a bid by United Parcel Service (UPS) for permission to charge lower rates than minimums set up by the Public Service Commission has been recessed until Oct. 19-20, Commission Secretary Norman Berkowitz said.

The parcel transporting company had witnesses on the stand Tuesday backing up its request, he said.

Greyhound Corp., Railway Express Agency and the Michigan Intra-State Motor Tariff Bureau are opposing the lower rate schedule because they say it means unfair competition to them.

UPS charged the lower rates under a commission order issued several years ago until the State Supreme Court ordered them thrown out earlier this year because no proper hearing was ever held.

The PSC sets up minimum rates, but law requires any company wishing to charge lower than the minimums to appear for a public hearing.

Fine of $2,800 Assessed London Concerning Riot

LONDON (AP) — Brian London former British heavyweight champion, was fined $2,800 Wednesday and suspended for three months by officials investigating a riot in the ring after his last fight.

★ ★ ★

Police had to quell a fist-swinging free-for-all inside the ring after London was beaten by Dick Richardson, Britain's European heavyweight champion, at Porthcawl, Wales, last month.

★ ★ ★

Stewards censured London for lack of control which "was detrimental to the best interests of boxing and has done great harm to the sport."

During World War I, many British troops were infected with anthrax, believed carried on shaving brushes imported from Japan.

Workmen Take Floor From Second Story

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The second story of a house was reported stolen recently by its owner, Dr. R. E. Maresh.

★ ★ ★

Police learned from neighbors that a gang of workmen had removed the floor on instructions of a real estate dealer. Dr. Maresh wanted the property sold, and the eager real estate man did it in pieces.

VERWOERD ENEMY — David S. Pratt, wealthy British-born farmer accused of attempted assassination of South Africa's Premier Hendrik Verwoerd, fingers his tie during an appearance in Supreme Court at Pretoria, South Africa, Tuesday. The trial was adjourned until Dec. 26.

Mean Hot Bath for Queen Liz

Palace Gets New Face

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace is getting a $420,000 face lifting that, among other improvements, will enable Queen Elizabeth II to take a really hot bath.

★ ★ ★

While the royal family is vacationing at Balmoral in Scotland, squads of workmen have moved in.

One of their first jobs will be to overhaul the antiquated hot water and central heating systems. They will replace some of the old elevators which have been in disgrace ever since one got stuck between floors and made Prince Philip, the Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra 25 minutes late for a royal film performance.

The Belgian suite, where foreign heads of state are lodged, has been redecorated and baby Prince Andrew's nursery has been brightened up. The front of the palace also has been cleaned.

Dies 104 Days Later

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Lewis (Ernie) Tubbs, Houston welterweight boxer injured May 30 in a bout in Pensacola, Fla., died late Wednesday night in Jeff Davis Hospital here.

★ ★ ★

Tubbs, 20, had been unconscious since suffering a concussion in his semifinal bout 104 days ago.

The knockout blow came during the 8th round in a preliminary bout that matched Tubbs with William Crosby of Mobile, Ala.

Car 'Quiet as a Kitten' — Until Cat Got Inside

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Thomas R. Donovan's car was usually quiet as a kitten, but not the morning he heard an "awful noise."

Donovan drove cautiously to a service station where an attendant opened the hood and quickly spotted the cause of the noise. A neighbor's full-grown cat had become trapped inside.

A BOX-LUNCH AFFAIR — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller rips into a drumstick that was included in his box-lunch dinner Wednesday night in Richmond, Calif. Rockefeller, campaigning in California for the Republican presidential candidate, Vice President Richard Nixon, was guest of honor at the box-luncheon affair in the city's civic auditorium.

South Carolina Paper Endorses Nixon

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The Charleston Evening Post said Wednesday it "unhesitatingly supports" Richard M. Nixon for president. It was the first time the paper supported a Republican for president.

★ ★ ★

In an editorial, the paper said the choice before the voters will be "between conservatism as represented by Nixon, and radicalism as represented by Kennedy."

The newspaper said it believes a victory for Nixon will be to the best interests of the South and the nation.

The editorial quoted from a resolution adopted by the South Carolina Democratic party in 1948 which expressed "in no uncertain terms our resentment at the deliberate and contemptuous political betrayal of the South by the National Democratic party leadership."

"That indictment is more forcibly true now than it was in 1948," said the newspaper. "Only at the polls can that betrayal be effectively answered."

Although the first time it has endorsed a Republican ticket, the Post supported the States Rights Thurmond Ticket in 1948, the Independents for Eisenhower in 1952, and it backed Independents for Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., in 1956.

All Right, Editor, Send That Storm Someplace Else

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — State Editor Bob Hudson of the Tampa Tribune, hardly recovered from cleaning up news details of Hurricane Donna, was a bit stunned when a telegram was tossed on his desk.

It read: "Manager, hurricane department, Tampa Tribune, Tampa, Fla.

"Due to severity of Hurricane Donna in our section and in view of appearance of Hurricane Ethel, be advised as follows: If it's strictly necessary that you direct Ethel over landed areas, kindly direct her into sections not already hit. Frankly, we ain't got cleaned up from Donna as yet."

The telegram Wednesday was signed by W. L. Whitley, a businessman in Winter Haven, Fla.

State Auctions Off Land for Oil, Gas Exploration

LANSING (UPI)—The Conservation Department Wednesday held an auction of some 160,000 acres of state-owned land to be opened up for oil and gas exploration.

The sale, second largest offering on record, follows another auction in June when nearly 84,000 acres were leased, the department said.

Always So in Troubled Times

Magic Going Over Big Now

By PHYLLIS BATELLE

NEW YORK — It is in times of chaos and disaster, said the great magicians Blackstone and Dante, that professional illusionists do their biggest business.

★ ★ ★

And thus it is both fascinating and disturbing to note that on Sept. 26, illusionist Milbourne Christopher will begin sawing girls in three, raising bodies into space, making people diminish and disappear before your very eyes.

It will be the first such show in New York in 30 years.

This, of course, is not a forecast of gloom and doom and world war, says Christopher.

WANT TO BELIEVE

But it is symbolic of the fact that "the people who are pressed on all sides with very real danger want to believe in the unreal, the uncanny.

"The average man is so frustrated, it's a real pleasure for him to watch another man pull money out of the air.

"When he feels he's being deceived in real life, he finds it a relief to be deceived on stage and be able to laugh about it.

★ ★ ★

"He is afraid of death, so it is reassuring to see that a woman can be cut to pieces and come out a moment later — whole and alive."

Christopher knows these philosophies to be true because he is a student of magic and its effect on audiences.

The top-ranking hocus-pocus master in the U.S. since 1935, when he produced rabbits on the White House lawn for the Roosevelt Easter festivities, he's traveled 36 countries pronoting global good will through "honest deception."

Everywhere he goes, he buys "illusions" — which he describes as "large stage feats in which a human or a large animal is the object of deception: big scale hocus-pocus, as opposed to parlor game magic."

Like good paintings and rare books, the price of illusions constantly goes up.

TRICK COST $50,000

For instance, the "levitation trick" perfected by the Great Thurston — in which a body is raised and suspended in air while hoops are passed around it to show there are no strings attached — cost $50,000 to develop originally.

Fortunately, Christopher as a youth was a Thurston apprentice, and today owns all his diaries.

Christopher himself has invented more than 1,000 tricks, written 20 books for the benefit of other magicians.

Still, in the past years, he has purchased 20 illusions created by other men, because you have to keep up to date on your disappearing elephants.

"Which reminds me," he said, "I wanted to use the vanishing elephant trick in this show (called Christopher's Wonders') but this being election year I was afraid the donkeys would demand equal disappearing time."

He replaced it with a new idea of his own; the empty TV cabinet from which five girls appear.

One of his most spectacular feats has been catching live bullets between his teeth, but Christopher was forced to give it up after his wife (whom he periodically saws in half, disintegrates and shoots) learned that 12 professional magicians had been killed while performing the trick.

"And she's right to forbid it, of course. Even Lloyd's of London wouldn't insure me when I was bullet-catching. As soon as I announced I was giving it up, everybody wanted to sell me insurance."

There literally are millions of wondrous tricks magicians can use. Seemingly believable, all. But unfortunately most people don't take them seriously.

★ ★ ★

"The only people who take magic seriously," says Christopher, "are uneducated or stupid people . . . and it's always quite frightening to me to meet them."

Japanese-Americans Get Benefits by Law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower Wednesday signed into law legislation intended to provide retirement and sick leave benefits to federal employes of Japanese ancestry interned during World War II.

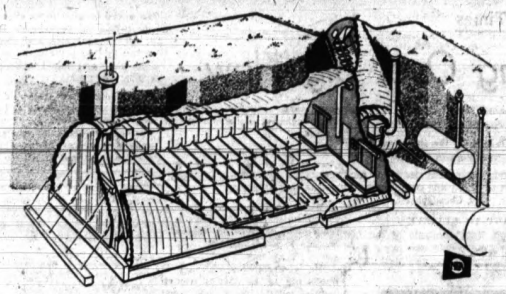

* * *

The bill, sponsored by Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., would grant such employes credit toward pension and sick leave benefits for the time spent in internment camps.

A House Civil Service Committee report on the bill said 110,000 Americans of Japanese ancestry were evacuated during the war from strategic areas in California, Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

It contained no estimate of how many were federal employes.

$102,016,180 in Savings Bonds Owned in Area

Oakland County residents currently have an estimated $102,016,180 invested in U.S. Savings Bonds Series E and H, according to Alfred C. Girard, volunteer county chairman for the bond program in Michigan.

* * *

Latest Treasury Department reports from Washington show the national savings bond total in these series has hit a new at $42.8 billion. Michigan residents own an estimated $2,411,160,000 of this amount.

"These statistical facts, however, are a comparatively minor part of the story," according to assistant of the Secretary of the Treasury William H. Neal who is national director of the savings bonds program.

* * *

"Of vastly greater importance are the accomplishments of millions of families in making dreams come true through systematic savings," he said.

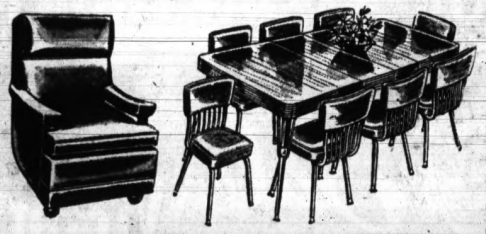

One out of every four Oakland County residents is a bond owner, Girard noted.

Be Prepared for That A-Bomb

Firms and Communities Study Life-Saving Plans

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a four-part series by an ace Pentagon reporter on new discoveries about fallout and how they affect you and your family.)

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — You and your community or your company can work out a practical way to save your lives if an H-bomb raid ever came.

Some businesses already have made these plans. One is the Stanford Research Institute at Palo Alto, Calif.

The Institute and its 4,000 to 5,000 employes are in the San Francisco Bay region. In the over-all area are key air fields, a missile plant, strategic oil refineries and a major U. S. city.

If, the Russians attacked in force, it's estimated that without protection"a fourth of the Institute's employes and their families would be killed by blast, virtually all the rest by fallout.

This assumes five-million-ton H-bomb strikes, and a total fallout 40 to 70 times more than is needed to kill a man.

* * *

To meet this threat, Institute men have converted the basement of Building No. 1 into a 30,000-square-foot shelter for 3,000 men, women and children. Building plans include a basement to shelter 2,000 more.

* * *

These basements can take blasts of five pounds per square inch. They would give blast protection from a five-million-ton H-bomb five miles away. The expected 25,000 roentgen fallout would be cut to a mere 100.

Thirteen inches of concrete in the roof and two floors above the basement give fallout protection. The basement floor, 13 feet below grade, is shielded by the surrounding earth from radiation on the ground.

An example of how a community can act is found in Burbank, Calif., where Civil Defense men are set to push vigorously a plan to get the citizens of each neighborhood in the city to buy and put underground a 100-man "neighborhood" shelter.

SHELTER DISTRICTS

Neighborhoods would be organized into "shelter districts." They'd finance the shelters with "shelter bonds" in the same way sewer districts bond themselves to pay for sewers over the years. A bill to allow this will be submitted to the California State Legislature in January.

These shelters, like giant half sections of steel pipe, would be 25 by 48 feet, made of corrugated steel and braced and buried under three feet of earth.

They would be equipped with emergency power, chemical sanitation facilities, air blowers, cement flpors, emergency food, first aid supplies and a safety entrance.

They would be fallout proof. They have blast protection sufficient to assure survival at about one mile from the surface detonation of a million-ton H-bomb.

Cost of the currently planned shelter is $18,000. The estimated cost in quantity is $14,000.

Burbank is about ready to let bids for the first local model shelter and expects it to be ready in late January.

At the Stanford Institute, each family has been assigned an area in one of the basement's five major wings and corridors.

A 14-day minimum-diet dry ration for 3,000 people has been stored in Building No. 1. Water would be available from an emergency well.

Several doctors and their families have been invited to join in the institute's shelter plan to provide medical services. The institute will lay in emergency medical supplies.

Toilets have been installed underground. A motor generator has been put in and two weeks of fuel stored to provide power for communications, lighting, sewage disposal and for pumping water.

The basement is provided with shortwave transceivers which could send and receive information about the attack. There would be standby emergency communications with the sheriff, police, Red Cross and the military amateur radio net. Radiation measuring instruments are stored.

* * *

Staff members have been assigned the jobs they'll have after the bomb hits. One is responsible for rationing food and water, others for public health, communications, fuel and power, sanitation. One man is to measure radiation, detect radiation leaks aand determine when it's okay to leave the shelter.

A handbook has been issued, telling the staff members and their families what to do now and what to do if an attack comes. One pertinent piece of advice:

"Staff members who live within five miles of the Stanford Research Institute and have access to bicycles may make better time that way."

The reason is simple. Roads will be jam-packed. You might never get there in time by car.

In the handbook's introduction it also says:

"Your chance of surviving a nuclear attack is negligible if you are not prepared for it."

(Next: Will your shelter deter Khrushchev?

THIS FALLOUT SHELTER model is at Camp Parks, Calif. Civil Defense men suggest neighborhoods organize shelter districts. They would finance the shelters in the same way sewer districts bond themselves to pay for sewers. A bill to allow this will be submitted to the California State legislature in January.

Loser Gov. Furcolo to Resume Practice

CHICOPEE, Mass. (AP)—Gov. Foster Furcolo, defeated by more than 50,000 votes by Mayor Thomas J. O'Connor Jr. of Springfield for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination, said Wednesday he will resume his law practice.

* *

The governor said he plans to take a rest somewhere along the line. He characterized his defeat as "one of those things."

As for O'Connor, he said: "I wish him all the luck in the world." O'Connor will run against veteran Republican Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

BREAD WINNER — Tony Accetta, a baker with the desire to deal in big dough, holds the 65-pound loaf of French bread he produced when his imagination ran wild at San Pedro, Calif., Tuesday. It's 6 feet long, but Tony isn't satisfied. Now he wants to bake a loaf 12 feet long.

She'll Fold Up Accordion at 81

Sidewalk Serenader to Act

NEW YORK (AP)—From sidewalk accordion player to a Broadway debut—that's the story of 81-year-old Lylah Tiffany.

★ ★ ★

How could anyone guess that the white-haired Lylah, who sits stooped and forlorn on a folding stool outside Carnegie Hall fingering the keys of her music box and hoping someone will toss her a coin, would land a part in a major theater production?

Lylah just signed a $200-a-week contract to portray a 102-year-old great great-grandmother in "All The Way Home," an adaptation of James Agee's Pulitzer Prize winning novel, "A Death In The Family."

Rehearsals begin just a month from today. Getting a shot at Broadway hasn't made Lylah high hat. She's going to keep on playing that accordion, wearing her long skirt, shabby green coat, and pathetic look. At least until rehearsals start.

LIVES COMFORTABLY

Getting to her street musician chore is no problem for the lady. She lives comfortably in a tiny studio apartment in Carnegie Hall.

★ ★ ★

Born in 1879 at Columbus, Ohio, Lylah sought her fortune in Chicago when she was in her late teens. She sold shoe polish from door-to-door and took piano lessons.

A couple of years later, Lylah recalls, there she was—playing a piano with an all-girl orchestra—in Butte, Mont.

In 1902 she married a professional bicycle rider. The couple toured the western vaudeville circuit for six years.

HE DRANK

Lylah left her husband "because he drank too much."

For her it was on to Mexico City, where she opened a hair-treatment salon.

★ ★

After a manicurist job in Havana, Cuba, Lylah returned to her first love—the piano. She played one in the silent movie houses for years. Then she graduated to the pipe organ. Then talkies came in and Lylah went out.

For the past 11 years she's been carrying her chair outside Carnegie and playing for passers-by.

YMCA Will Launch Enrollment Drive

The annual membership enrollment campaign of the Pontiac YMCA will run from Monday through Sept. 29, Maxwell H. Doerr, general campaign chairman, has announced.

★ ★ ★

Launching the drive for members will be a noon luncheon Monday at the "Y" building.

Guest speaker for the luncheon will be Dr. Dana F. Whitmer, superintendent of schools.

★ ★ ★

Division chairmen for the campaign are George Crabtree, Frank Odsterhof, John T. Rogers, Mrs. Jean Ellsworth and George Watson.

School Administrators to Meet on Mackinaw

Former Dean of U. of M. Graduate School Dies

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Peter Okkelberg, 79, who retired as associate dean of the Horace A. Rackham School of Graduate Studies at the University of Michigan in 1951, died in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

Okkelberg served on the University of Michigan faculty for 40 years before his retirement in February 1951. He is survived by his wife Maude.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The average commercial hog will eat the equivalent of 33 hogs, 15 lambs, eight steers and four veal calves during his meat-eating days, according to an agricultural trade group.

Charges, Denials Fly on Religious Hate-Mail

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, Democratic national chairman, says someone is flooding the mails with anti-Catholic literature in an attempt to defeat John F. Kennedy for president.

Former President Harry S. Truman also brought up the subject while taking a morning stroll Wednesday in New York. "In my home town," Truman remarked, "the Republicans are sending out all the dirty pamphlets they can find on religion."

★ ★ ★

That brought emphatic denials from the former GOP national chairman, Meade Alcorn and from Ed Stollenwerck, Republican chairman of Truman's own Jackson County, Mo. They said Republican organizations have no part in any hate-mail campaign.

Jackson said that as far as he knows the mail has not come from any Republican party official, but he urged newsmen to track down the source of the anti-Catholic mail.

He wouldn't say what information he has on any source, but told a news conference: "(I'll) give you a little clue. You might ask Dr. Peale who prepared his statement."

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, New York minister and author of inspirational books, led a group of 150 Protestant ministers and laymen who met here a week ago and issued a statement. It said any Roman Catholic president (Kennedy is a Catholic) would be under pressure from the church hierarchy to breach the wall of separation of church and state.

BACKS DOWN

The statement was issued as a collective one by the group, which called itself the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom.

Peale later backed off a little. He said public agitation over the religious issue would harm the nation and that therefore he would take no active part in the political campaign.

Jackson said Peale was a Republican and a friend of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Kennedy's Republican opponent. He said, "I think Dr. Peale has a deep responsibility as a matter of conscience to tell the truth" about the authorship of the group's statement.

Peale was not available for comment on Jackson's statement.

Nixon, President Eisenhower and other GOP leaders have disavowed and deplored any use of the religious issue in the campaign.

Truman agreed that "Nixon answered the thing pretty well" and that he feels the vice president has no part in the matter. But Truman said he thought the mail campaign he said was going on in Missouri was part of a nationwide one.

He said the anti-Catholic pamphlets were "long sheets" like "the dirty sheets which they used against Al Smith in the 20s."

Alcorn called Truman's statement a "typical shoot-from-the-hip falsehood" and "maddening of the lowest character."

Five Get Stern Lesson on Woes of Parking Car

LONDON (UPI) — Five men realize now just how careless they were when they parked a car laden with 127 sticks of dynamite close by No. 10 Downing St.

★ ★ ★

Too many trips to a pub near the residence of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan led to the exposure of what detectives first believed was a political plot because two of the principals were Irishmen.

The Irishmen, Martin Muldoon and Willis Crowe, drove into London last July with three cronies to sell their dynamite on the black market at $14 a stick.

It was a hard drive from Birmingham so they stopped at a pub to refresh themselves. But the refreshment only made them sleepy.

FOUND NAPPING

They were found napping in their car near the prime minister's residence, now closed for repairs. However, Macmillan was residing there then.

Muldoon and two of his pals, Alfred Price and James Griffin, were sentenced to jail for 30 months when the five appeared in court Tuesday.

Crowe and William Gill were put on probation for three years.

★ ★ ★

The judge said Crowe, who didn't know what the trip was for when it began, was "used as a stooge," because it was his car.

"I'll be a darned sight more careful where I park my car from now on," he said.

DAV Units to Distribute Forget-Me-Nots in Area

Members of Disabled American Veterans Chapters 16 and 101 will distribute forget-me-nots in downtown Pontiac and in surrounding communities Friday and Saturday to raise funds for needy disabled veterans and their families.

The distinctive blue and white flower was chosen by the DAV to remind people of the many American veterans who must remain in hospitals long after war memories are dimmed in the minds of others.

Hospitalized veterans manufacture the flowers by hand.

Korea's Chang Grateful on Anniversary of Inchon

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—On the tenth anniversary of the historic Inchon landing of U.N. forces South Korea today expressed thanks to her allies who helped defend the republic from Communist aggression.

'Better Meals Build Better Families'

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

"Better Meals Build Better Families." For the second year this slogan is being used all over the country by the food industry in their newspaper advertising and by food editors writing for their newspapers. From everyone's point of view it was so successful in 1959 that it is slated to become an annual affair.

More than January first this time of the year is a beginning time. We reluctantly put away summer and vacation gear and get set for the active months ahead. Children are back in school and schedules become more rigid.

The importance of good meals increases, if possible, and the place food plays in the family life is re-evaluated.

Meals are more than times to nourish the body, important as that is. Mealtime may be the only time a family is together. Nutritionists deplore the snack repair, the eat-as-you-go meals that too many families indulge in.

So . . . It's up to us women to set the pace, make the pattern and lead the field for the family. If we consistently put appetizing meals on the table at regular hours and expect the whole family to participate in them, we shall be rewarded by better health and better spirits all around.

FOOD CLASSES

We need a yardstick to measure our meal planning. Are we including foods from all these classes of food every day:

Meat — Dairy Products — Fruit and Vegetables—Cereal Products? No one can be omitted for any length of time without unbalancing the diet.

We know as well as anyone that you simply have to take your family's likes and dislikes into consideration when you are planning menus. But we believe that American food producers and processors supply a wide enough variety of food so that every individual can have a balanced diet he enjoys.

Today we'll give you some new recipes for the first two groups of food; next week we'll tackle the second two.

★ ★ ★

You know, of course, that the meat group includes poultry, fish and eggs. Two or more servings daily is the recommended amount with at least four eggs a week.

When a tight rein must be kept on the food budget, you plan meat dishes that call for a small amount of meat with larger amounts of other food.

In the following recipe one pound of pork steak—or even a cheaper cut of pork that can be cut into cubes—will feed four people. Pork seems to go especially well in a sweet-sour sauce.

Sweet and Pungent Pork

1 pound pork steak
2 teaspoons chicken bouquet
2 tablespoons fat
1 can sliced pineapple, 9 ounces
¼ cup pineapple syrup
¼ cup vinegar
2 chicken bouillon cube
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon ginger
3-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms
1 green pepper, cubed
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Cut pork into ¾-inch cubes. Place in suitable bowl and sprinkle with the chicken bouquet. Melt fat in frying pan. Add pork and brown quickly over moderate heat. Drain pineapple syrup and add sufficient water to make ¾ cup. Add pineapple syrup, vinegar, bouillon cube, brown sugar, mustard and ginger. Bring to boil and cook, covered, for 25 minutes.

Cut each slice pineapple into 4 pieces. Drain mushrooms, reserving broth. Add pineapple pieces, mushrooms and green pepper, cut into ½-inch cubes. Cover and heat thoroughly, about 5 minutes.

Combine mushroom broth and cornstarch and stir into pork mixture. Bring to boil, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Serve immediately with fluffy hot rice and Chinese noodles.

★ ★ ★

Eggs can appear at any meal of the day. This omelet would be equally good at a luncheon as at breakfast. What makes it a little different is the Creole sauce that goes with it.

Fluffy Omelet Creole

6 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons water or milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
2 tablespoons butter

Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Without rinsing beater quickly beat egg yolks with water, salt and Tabasco. Fold into beaten egg whites. Melt butter in a heavy frying pan. Add mixture and cook over low heat; until omelet is slightly brown underneath. Place in a moderate oven, (350) degrees F.) about 10 minutes, until dry on top.

★ ★ ★

Cut part way through center. Fold and slip from pan on platter or platter. Serve with *Creole Sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Creole Sauce

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup finely chopped green pepper
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1½ cups canned tomatoes
½ teaspoon Tabasco
½ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Melt butter, add green pepper and onion. Cook until onion is tender, but not brown. Add remaining ingredients and continue cooking over low heat about 30 minutes or until thick. Yield: About 1 cup.

★ ★ ★

Everyone tired of just plain milk? It's still the best beverage for youngsters and the preferred one for many adults. Who wouldn't enjoy this peach milk shake made with nonfat dry milk?

Weight-Watchers Peach Star Cooler

1 cup nonfat dry milk
1 (8-ounce) jar pureed peaches OR 1 cup fresh pureed peaches
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Combine all ingredients in deep bowl; beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until well blended OR combine all ingredients in blendor; blend for 1 minute. Pour into mug or glass. If desired, garnish with thick slice of fresh peach. Makes 2 servings.

★ ★ ★

Sour cream has become a staple article in the dairy counters. Many people who do not care much for milk are fond of sour creams. No, it doesn't have fewer calories than sweet cream, but it does have lower than whipping cream.

★ ★ ★

Here is a sour cream sauce that is good to serve on meat loaf.

Tangy Sour Cream Sauce

1 cup commercial sour cream
½ cup catsup
½ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
1 teaspoon onion salt
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento

Beat sour cream until stiff. Fold in remaining ingredients. Spoon over slices of meat loaf.

This Year's Turkey May Have White Feathers

There's a change in color in the nation's turkey flock, although you may not be aware of it, since most of us see turkeys after their feathers have been removed. The Department of Agriculture says there has been a big increase, almost one-fifth, in the number of turkeys that have white feathers.

These white breeds are increasing in popularity with the turkey growers because the dressed birds don't have unsightly dark pinfeathers, and more of the birds can be sent to market at weights which might be considered "family size."

Cucumber Soup

A bowl of chilled soup hits the spot on a hot day. Here's a "cool" combination: Canned condensed cream of chicken soup, 1 soup can water, ¼ cup minced unpeeled cucumber and a tablespoon of minced scallions. Mix it early in the day and refrigerate until serving time.

Vinegar Dresses New Salad

If you're looking for an unusual dish to make on the top of your kitchen stove, to take out to your back porch, patio, or to a table under a spreading tree in your back yard, here's Hot Shrimp and Potato Salad, combining two of America's favorite foods. The shrimp, by the way, is breaded — truly a convenience food as you can buy it all cleaned, breaded, frozen and packaged, ready for cooking.

Hot Shrimp and Potato Salad

2 pounds potatoes
1 – 2 packages frozen breaded shrimp
sliced bacon (optional)
2 tablespoons flour
1¼ cups water
6 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon grated horseradish
Dash pepper
¼ cup sliced celery

Cook potatoes in boiling salted water until tender; drain; cool slightly, then peel and slice. Then prepare breaded shrimp as directed on package label; keep warm.

Fry bacon crisp in large skillet; remove bacon, pour off fat and return one-third cup of bacon fat to skillet, (Or use one-third cup butter or margarine instead of bacon and fat.) Stir in flour, then water, vinegar, sugar, salt, mustard, horseradish and pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring, until thickened and smooth. Remove from heat and turn mixture (dressing) into small saucepan and keep warm.

★ ★ ★

Combine potatoes with crumbled bacon, half of shrimp (reserve rest for garnish), celery, radishes, onion and lettuce. Add about ¾ of dressing; toss gently; return to skillet over low heat. Garnish with reserved shrimp. Serve rest of dressing separately, to be poured over shrimp. Makes 8 servings.

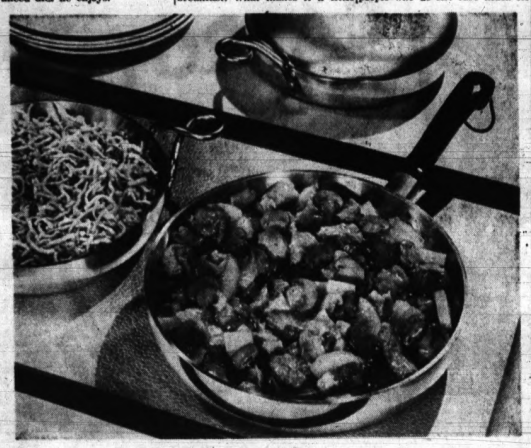

Scallop Kabobs Fill Bill for Goodness

If you want to delight the family with a special preparation of scallops, serve Scallop Kabobs. For a family of six persons, buy one pound of scallops, and cut the larger ones in half.

Combine ¼ cup of butter or other fat, melted, 1 teaspoon of salt, ½ teaspoon of paprika and ¼ teaspoon of pepper. Dip the scallops in this butter mixture. Then fry 10 slices of bacon slowly until cooked, but not crisp, and drain on absorbent paper. Then cut the bacon in thirds, crosswise.

Using six long skewers, 7½ inches long, alternate the scallops, bacon and 1½ cups of pineapple chunks, drained, until the skewers are filled. Place the skewers across a baking pan, 10 by 6 by 1½ inches. Bake in a very hot oven, 450 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes, turning once during baking to brown the other side.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK — Chinese food is popular with many families. Here is a simple version of sweet-sour pork. Inexpensive cuts of pork are available nearly every week. Treat your family to this dish soon.

Tuna Fish — Vegetables Recipes From Japan

The field of Oriental cooking has become more popular each year. Japanese recipes are welcomed because they combine a small amount of meat or fish with vegetables, making dishes economical as well as appetizing.

The International Tuna Fish Association has adapted the following recipes from Japan to suit the American palate. Popular acorn squash stars in the first one.

Tuna Stuffed Acorn Squash

6 small acorn squash
½ can dried mushrooms, cut in small pieces
½ cup water
½ cup grated carrot
1 can (6½ to 7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
2 tablespoons instant oats
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups canned chicken broth
1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon monosodium glutamate

Cut slices from tops of squash to form a cover. Remove seeds. Cut slices from bottoms of squash so that squash will stand. Soak mushrooms in water 5 minutes. Combine mushroom-water mixture, carrot, tuna, oats, sugar, salt and ¼ cup chicken broth; mix well.

Cover bottoms of squash with aluminum foil. Fill squash with tuna mixture. Arrange covers over filling and secure with small skewers. Cook squash, covered, in 2 inches boiling salted water about 1 hour, or until tender.

Meanwhile, blend cornstarch, monosodium glutamate and remaining 1 cup chicken broth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve chicken broth with stuffed squash. Serves 4.

★ ★ ★

Tuna with Vegetables

2 cups stock or bouillon
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon soy sauce
4 medium-sized carrots, cut in 2½-inch strips
¼ cup dried mushrooms
1 package (10 ounces) frozen cut green beans
1 can (8½ ounces) bamboo shoots
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cans (6½ to 7 ounces each) tuna, drained

Combine stock or bouillon, sugar, monosodium glutamate, salt and soy sauce. Heat to boiling point. Add carrots, mushrooms and green beans. Cover and cook over medium heat 20 minutes. Drain bamboo shoots; reserve liquid.

Blend cornstarch with reserved liquid. Add to vegetable mixture and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add bamboo shoots and tuna; mix. Heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally. Serves 6.

TUNA IN SQUASH — Serve dinner with a Japanese air. Canned tuna with acorn squash is a tempting entree. Chicken broth moistens the stuffing and provides a sauce for the dish.

Michigan's Sweet Cherries Are Ripe

It's time for all food shoppers to look for those delicious morsels of Michigan goodness — dark or light sweet cherries and red tart cherries, advises Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Agent in this area.

★ ★ ★

There are three main sweet varieties in Michigan. The Napoleon, or Royal Anne, is a yellow fruit with a red mottled appearance. This variety is important for brining and maraschino processing but it's also good for canning and preserving.

The Schmidt is a large black cherry with very firm flesh of excellent quality. This variety is the most important variety of sweet cherry grown in Michigan. The Windsor is a large, dark purplish red to nearly black cherry, with firm flesh that's crisp, sweet and good.

★ ★ ★

High quality in cherries is denoted by plumpness with a bright appearance, firmness and good color. When they become dull and tasteless, you may be sure they've been around too long for real flavor and texture.

Miracle Fresh Blueberry Pie

Packaged Pudding Keeps Blueberry Pie Firmer

Beautiful blueberries, abundant now, perform miracles at dessert-time when featured in this pie. Vanilla pudding and pie filling mix is used to give added flavor to blueberries, and at the same time, thicken the fruit and juice mixture to a consistency that keeps the filling from running when the pie is cut.

Miracle Fresh Blueberry Pie

1 pint fresh blueberries
¾ cups water
1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled

Add blueberries to ½ cup of the water in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Meanwhile, combine pudding mix, sugar, salt, lemon juice, and remaining ¾ cup water. Stir to form a smooth paste. Add to boiling fruit, stirring to blend. Then cook and stir until mixture comes to a full boil.

Remove from heat and add butter. Cool 5 minutes. Pour into pie shell. Let stand about 3 hours, or until firm. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream or prepared dessert topping mix, if desired.

Potato Tomato Soup Beaten Up in Blender

Tempting in flavor and color is this soup combination. Place an unopened can of frozen condensed cream of potato soup in a pan of hot water for about 15 to 30 minutes to thaw.

In an electric blender, blend soup, 1 cup cold milk, 1 cup cold tomato juice, and a dash of garlic powder until smooth. Stir in ¼ cup chopped green pepper and serve in chilled bowls to 3. Follow with grilled hamburgers on toasted buns and crisp relishes.

Look a fish in the eye to tell if it's fresh. Home economists at Michigan State University say the eyes of a fresh fish are bright and clear, not cloudy and sunken.

Fresh Plums Good in Tempting Kuchen

"Sugar plums" is another way of saying "purple plums" — those silver-dusted beauties which are now in our markets for all too short a time, September into early October. Idaho-grown, these fresh purple plums (really Italian prunes but various called "prune plums," "blue plums," "sweet plums") are large, plump, firm, with a delightful tangy-sweetness that sets them apart from other fruits, lending interest to many a basic fruit dish.

So good eaten out of hand or sliced and served with cream and sugar, we sometimes forget that this accommodating freestone fruit is delicious in a variety of salads and fruit cups; in pies — two-crust, deep-dish, lattice-top; as desserts—upsidedown cake, whips, souffles, crisps, steamed puddings, frozen desserts; in breads — quick coffee cakes, fruited nut loaves, and in the time-honored favorite

PURPLE PLUM KUCHEN

Basic Raised Sweet Dough

This is enough for two Kuchen. You may like to bake and freeze the second one to enjoy when the purple plum season is gone. Hot roll mix made into a "richer dough" or your favorite sweet yeast dough recipe may be used.

½ cup softened butter or shortening
½ cup granulated sugar
1 cup scalded milk
1 package powdered yeast
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well-beaten
½ teaspoon mace
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
4 cups, sifted, sifted all-purpose flour

Pour scalded milk over butter, sugar and salt. When cool, stir in beaten eggs, then yeast which has been combined with the 2 tablespoons sugar. Mix in mace and flour, a little at a time, to form a soft dough. When too stiff to mix with a spoon, turn out on floured pastry cloth or board and knead in only enough flour to form a soft dough. Knead gently several minutes until smooth. Shape in ball.

Place in well-buttered bowl, bring top of dough with melted butter or shortening. Cover with towel, let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Turn out onto board or cloth and knead again for several minutes. Return to greased bowl, repeating process. Allow to rise again until double.

Purple Plum Kuchen

Divide dough in half. Shape each into smooth ball. Pat and roll one ball to fit a 10-inch round or square pan. Place in well-greased pan pulling and stretching dough to fit, having it come up on all sides about 1 inch. Spread with softened butter. Sprinkle with 3 tablespoons dry bread crumbs and let stand about 15 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Wash about 20 firm Idaho Fresh Purple plums, number depending on shape of pan and placing of plums. Remove seeds. A flick of the paring knife will zip the seeds right out, since this is a free-stone fruit. Cut in quarters.

For a square pan, lay plums in parallel rows on top of crumbs, in circles for a round pan. Sprinkle with ½ cup granulated sugar mixed with ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Combine 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 egg yolk, 1 tablespoon cream. Drizzle over the plums. Let stand 15 minutes or until dough appears light.

Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven about 50 minutes or until crust is brown and plums are soft. Serve hot, preferably. Wonderful for breakfast with sausage. Good too as dessert with plenty of hot coffee.

★ ★ ★

TO FREEZE A BAKED KUCHEN: chill quickly in the pan in which it was baked. Wrap in freezer wrappings, pan and all. Or chill Kuchen, cut in serving pieces. Place on cookie sheet and freeze quickly. Put into plastic storage bag, twisting and tieing opening to seal, in this way, only the desired number of pieces may be removed. Heat without thawing in moderate oven.

PURPLE PLUM KUCHEN — Dutch Purple Plum Kuchen is so good that you will want to make two. Here is one all baked and ready for a chilly sojourn in the freezer, to enjoy in weeks to come. Another is waiting to be put together for tonight's dessert or tomorrow's breakfasting. Idaho-grown purple plums are in our markets now coaxing to go into treats such as this one, onto your canning shelves as jellies, jams, conserves, and into your freezer to use in so many ways after the short season has gone.

Hot Chicken Sandwich

Let's face it! What? Why the open-faced sandwich, of course. Try one of sliced cooked chicken, sliced tomatoes, and sliced cheese. Better yet, make 3. Broil, 5 inches from heat, 5 to 10 minutes, or until cheese melts. Meanwhile, heat 1 can (10½ ounces) chicken gravy. Pour over hot sandwiches for a good 'n hearty lunch.

Guests Will Like The 'Go-Withs'

Just about any food goes with turkey. But some go better than others. Here are a few suggestions and recipes:

Grilled Garlic Buttered Corn

Combine ¼ pound butter or margarine with 1 clove crushed garlic. Use to butter hot boiled ears of corn. Grill immediately over glowing coals. Or let each guest grill his own on a skewer.

Unmold on lettuce. Serve with Horseradish Dressing. Makes 9 servings.

Horseradish Dressing

Mix mayonnaise or salad dressing, chopped parsley and horseradish together and chill until serving.

Buy Fruits and Vegetables for Canning, Freezing

Has the family adjusted to the routine of school again? And do you have a few more hours at home each day? If your plans include preserving, canning or freezing more of Michigan's fruits and vegetables don't hesitate, advises the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

★ ★

If peaches are included in your plans, it will probably pay to check with growers concerning cost, time of picking, etc. This is especially true if you have preferences for particular varieties.

Most peaches now being marketed are of the Elberta variety (a late variety which totals about one-third of the state peach crop. When Elbertas arrive, this is a clue that peach season 1960 will soon be over.

This is an excellent time to buy sugary Bartlett pears to eat out-of-hand or to use in canning or freezing. The Bartlett is a bell-shaped, yellow skin pear blushed with red. The flesh is white, fine-grained and juicy. They ripen within two or three days.

Bartlett pears are highly prized for eating fresh — out of hand, in salads, in fruit cups. They serve well as a fruit to stew, pickle, bake or glaze. About two thirds of the total crop is canned and the balance is sold fresh in September and October.

Unlike most other fruits, pears do not ripen on the trees ordinarily. They are picked green or at "tree maturity," and then brought to a juicy ripe stage. For use within a few days, buy firm pears for ripening at home. Allow them to ripen in a moderately cool place (60 to 70 degrees). For immediate use, select pears with a slight softness at the base of the stem and of a color that indicates the variety is ripe.

Usually the peak of the tomato season comes about Labor Day, but this year large quantities are still available. If you buy a bushel, you can expect about 50 pounds—enough for 15 to 20 quarts of tomatoes or juice. If you buy a pound, you can expect 3 medium size tomatoes — enough for 12 to 16 slices or 2 cups of wedges.

MELONS

This is a good time to freeze cantaloupe and honeydew melon for fresh fruit cups this winter. Michigan State University recommends cutting the fruit into chunks or balls; then packing the fruit in layers with waxed paper between. Cover with a cool syrup made by using 3 cups of sugar to each 4 cups of water. Or mix fruit with 1 cup of sugar to 6 cups of fruit before packaging.

The short work week, due to the Labor Day holiday, had a slight effect on meat prices. Some retailers report that wholesale prices of most meats are slightly higher. But if you study retail prices and compare them with those of a week ago, you'll find most retail prices average near what they did then. You'll also notice that stores are featuring many cuts of beef, pork, lamb and poultry.

Looking for meat to freeze? Some stores are offering forequarters of beef cut and wrapped to your specifications. The forequarter, which contains the chuck roasts, is usually priced higher in winter than in summer. Other stores are offering forequarters and hindquarters of lamb cut for the freezer.

Pork cuts receiving most emphasis this week include smoked and fresh ham, bacon and sausage.

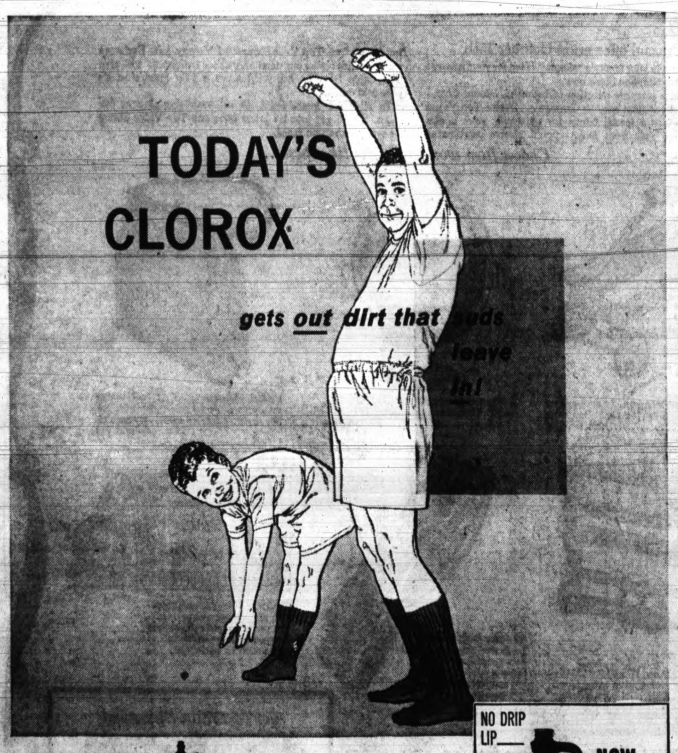

Although wholesale lamb prices are up slightly, most lamb cuts are featured in some stores. If your family is small, a leg of lamb offers meat for more than one meal. Had you thought of having lamb steaks cut from the top part of the leg? If you like lamb chops, it's almost certain you'll like lamb steaks cut from the leg. These steaks broil tender in minutes. Then the rest of the leg will be a tender juicy roast, if you set the oven at 325 degrees.

Chicken on your menu? Fryer prices have eased off a little and you'll find them at the same or near the same prices as a week ago.

★ ★ ★

This is the season for canning, and it's also the season when many canned foods are marked as "sales." Corn, peas, tomatoes, pears, peaches are a few of these so marked this week.

Green Salad First, Gelatin Next in Popularity

By JEANNE LESEM
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Salad favorites in the U. S. are a toss-up between the fruit and vegetable worlds.

But tossed or mixed green salad ranked first by a sizeable margin in a poll to determine the six best-sellers. The study was made by Institutions Magazine, a trade publication for mass feeding and mass housing.

The next three in line feature fruit — in gelatin, with cottage cheese, and mixed fruits. Cole slaw placed fifth, and sliced tomatoes sixth.

You can't always identify a salad by its name. The wheel of fortune on the menu of a leading New Orleans hotel combines tomato aspic, egg salad and shrimp on shredded lettuce. Horseshoe or racing king salad at a famous Denver hotel is made with avocado sliced in horseshoe shape, with "nails" of black olive dots and orange, grapefruit and maraschino cherry filling. Jewel salad at a San Jose, Calif., food service operation consists of cream cheese with left over cubes of assorted gelatins.

To make every day a salad day, the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association offers these reminders:

A simple salad is best, never a conglomeration of flavors or a dressing that masks rather than enhances ingredients. Both ingredients and salad plates should be cold and greens should be crisp. To prevent sogginess, add dressing just before serving, and drain all fruit well.

Cut ingredients into varied, interesting shapes, but not so small that they look hashed. Strips, rounds and cubes make a good combination. A bed of shredded lettuce or lettuce leaves to frame the salad should not cover the plate completely or hang over the edge.

As a first course, serve a tart, crisp salad, and avoid sweet fruits or heavy dressings. Luncheon salads are usually larger. Made with protein food, such as meat, cheese or eggs, they may constitute the main course, accompanied by hot bread, toast, sandwiches or beer. Dinner calls for a small salad, emphasizing raw fruits and vegetables, or the national favorite, a green salad.

For dessert, try fruit salad with a cheese or a cookie, frozen fruit salad or a fruited gelatin mold such as this orange-pineapple whipped sundae salad.

Drain 1½ cups (20-ounce can) of crushed pineapple. Reserve 1 cup of syrup. Heat syrup to boiling, pour it over 1 (3-ounce) package of orange-flavored gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill until thick and syrupy.

Chill 1 cup of undiluted evaporated milk in refrigerator tray 15 to 20 minutes, or until ice crystals form around edge. Whip about 1 minute, or until stiff. Add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice and whip 2 minutes longer, or until very stiff. Add ½ cup of chopped pecans, tall glasses, alternate layers of ½ cup of mayonnaise and 1 2/3 cups of orange sections to the gelatin. Fold into whipped milk. In Serves 6.

Cranberry Jewels

For a "jewel" of a summer salad you'll like this idea: Make your favorite chicken salad . . . using handy cans (5 ounces each) of boned chicken. Chill. Pile into crisp lettuce cups. Top with cubes of jellied cranberry sauce for a true sparkle.

Cookie Crust Different for Rich Chocolate Pie

Chocolate pie is an old favorite with a man—always has been and always will be. Now here's a new twist, chocolate marshmallow pie with a cooky crust.

This crisp new crust is made complete when filled with chocolate marshmallow filling. The filling, too, is easy to make! Just a package of pudding mix and miniature marshmallows topped with chopped nuts and you have a tasty treat that demands second helpings.

Chocolate Marshmallow Filling

1 package chocolate pudding mix
2 cups miniature marshmallows

Make chocolate pudding as directed on package. Add marshmallows. Cool. Stir well and pour into chocolate crust. Sprinkle top with nuts. Chill. Serve with whipped cream, if desired.

Pickles Can Be Used More Than Just as a Relish

For a delightful luncheon or supper, try serving these Pickle Rice Meat Muffins. They have a zesty flavor which comes from a surprise ingredient, sweet pickle relish. You'll find it an easy recipe to prepare and an attractive dish to serve. This dish illustrates how well pickles can be used as a seasoning ingredients with meat.

The second recipe may surprise you because it combines fruit and pickles. The result is a salad that's sure to please at any supper this summer. It's no coincidence that both of these recipes include some kind of pickles in the list of ingredients.

Pickle Rice Meat Muffins

1 pound ground beef chuck

½ cup drained sweet pickle relish
1 egg, slightly beaten

Dairy Foods Good in Salad

These warm summer days call for light yet nourishing lunches with as little preparation as possible. Cottage cheese can be the answer to a variety of main dish salads, attractively garnished using a variety of raw vegetables or fruits.

Cottage cheese, ready to serve right from the carton, is one of the most versatile of dairy foods. Whether in salads, main dishes, or desserts, the mild pleasant flavor of cottage cheese is a favorite with most everyone.

Cottage cheese is a high quality protein food with relatively few calories. A half-cup serving (4 ounces) contains only 120 calories, but at the same time adds nearly the same amount of protein as in one medium serving of fish, poultry, lean meat, 3 eggs or 3 slices of American cheese. So use it often for luncheon main dish salads during warm weather. To top off this salad try a low calorie dressing using dairy sour cream. You might be surprised to discover that there are only 36 calories in one tablespoon of dairy sour cream as compared to 92 calories for the same amount of mayonnaise.

For an attractive and nourishing summer luncheon serve a Cottage Cheese Salad Tray consisting of your favorite style cottage cheese, mounded in a nest of lettuce leaves, slices of tomatoes and cucumbers, garnished with radish roses. To complete the menu serve low calorie Gourmet Sour Cream Dressing, tea rolls, butter, ice cold milk and a simple fruit dessert.

Gourmet Sour Cream Dressing

2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash of Tabasco
½ teaspoon pepper
1 cup dairy sour cream

Combine all ingredients and chill in refrigerator for ½ hour or longer to blend flavor. Serve as a dressing for vegetable salads, sliced tomatoes, or cucumbers and onions. Makes 1¼ cups dressing.

Cheese Rounds Ideal With Fruit Salad

It's a happy hostess who can outguess the summertime on-again, off-again appetites of her guests. A luncheon inspiration, when temperatures spiral, is a fruit-of-the-season salad served with toasted Cheese Rounds — French bread slices partied with a cheese butter.

Cheese Rounds

1 (1 pound) loaf French bread, long and narrow
½ cup soft butter or margarine
½ cup finely grated Parmesan cheese
2½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Slice loaf of French bread into 30 equal-sized slices. Combine butter, cheese and Worcestershire sauce in a small mixing bowl. Spread about 1½ teaspoons Parmesan butter on each bread slice. Place spread slices on a cookie sheet. Toast in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about five minutes. Serve 3 slices with each fresh fruit salad. Yield: 10 servings.

Fresh Beef Tongue

To cook fresh beef tongue put it in a kettle with onion, carrot, celery tops, parsley sprigs, a bay leaf, peppercorns, a few allspice and whole cloves. Cover with water and simmer from 3 to 5 hours or until tender.

Stuff Tomatoes Oriental Fashion

A delightful gift for all your friends who have been to the Orient, are contemplating a trip or just dreaming about it, is Myra Waldo's new book, "The Complete Book of Oriental Cooking." (Published by David McKay Co., New York, $3.95).

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Waldo, a world traveler, who knows all the pitfalls in trying to follow foreign recipes, has simplified her recipes so that ingredients may be found in American stores. Each country has its own section, with its own fascinating introduction — making the book exceedingly good reading.

With fresh tomatoes in our stores, this recipe for Shrimp Stuffed Tomatoes from the Philippines has an especial appeal:

SHRIMP-STUFFED TOMATOES
(Tomates Rellenos Con Langostinos)

6 large tomatoes
3 tablespoons oil
½ cup chopped onions
1 pound raw shrimp, shelled, deveined and chopped
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1 cup bread crumbs
¼ cup heavy cream

Buy firm, even-sized tomatoes. Cut a ½-inch piece crosswise from the stem end. Carefully scoop out the pulp and reserve. Heat the oil in a skillet; saute the onions 5 minutes. Add the tomato pulp. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Stir the shrimp, salt and pepper into the mixture; cook over low heat 5 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Mix in the bread crumbs and cream; stuff the tomatoes and cover with the tops. Arrange in an oiled baking pan. Bake in a 375 degree oven 20 minutes or until tomatoes are tender. Serve on a round of buttered toast. Serves 6.

Peaches Long Regarded as Symbol of Long Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—In ancient Cathay, where peaches were probably first grown, the fruit was regarded as a symbol of long life and immortality.

Modern science has confirmed part of this theory — that peaches are good for you. The sun-tinted fruit carries a fair amount of essential vitamins A and C — and is low in calories.

School Sets Open House

Public Invited to Clarkston

$2.5-Million Facility Is Designed for Enrollment of 1,000 Students

CLARKSTON — The new $2.5-million high school here will throw open its doors Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. for public inspection.

Some 700 high school students began regular classes last Thursday in the huge school designed to accommodate more than 1,000.

The school houses 38 instruction areas comprised of general classrooms, special instruction areas for science, biology, chemistry, physics, art business education, homemaking, music, drafting and industrial arts.

Window-wall construction for maximum lighting; colorful insulated "translitop" panels at the top and bottom and the aluminum door entrances and turquoise porcelain triangular exterior panels provide unusual exterior beauty.

In the gymnasium which has an electric rollaway bleacher seating capacity of 2,000 there is a huge dividing curtain to separate the area into two smaller gyms.

Floors are of mosaic tile. Radiant heat in the spacious locker rooms will provide warmer and drier floors.

One of the most spectacular features of the entire building is the main entrance which opens into a large uncluttered lobby finished in light wood paneling with wall benches for seating.

Three large ceramic tile murals depicting the various historical eras in the development of the Clarkston school district are secured to the ceiling and floor by metal supports.

Tiny varicolored pieces of tile were used in each design, and the entire panorama of murals was created by the Clarkston school faculty and the Board of Education.

At the open house Sunday, members of the student council and the faculty will be hosts and light refreshments will be served.

Organization Meeting Tuesday Eye Art Club in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — An informal, cabaret-type setting at the Conservatory of Music is planned for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, to encourage area residents in organizing a Village Friends of Arts Club.

Those interested in sculpture, pottery, enameling and silvercraft as well as amateur painters, have been urged to participate.

The idea of organizing an art group in the community stems from the response to the Artist's Fair, held during the Labor Day weekend, Mrs. Storer added.

More than 50 artists from surrounding communities entered about 1,000 exhibits and the public's interest in the show indicated that an art club in Clarkston could be successful, Mrs. Storer said.

Invitations to Business Place OK

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Our company is giving a large dinner for one of the executives who is retiring in several months.

* * *

Invitations are to be sent to business friends with whom he has been associated these many years. We would like also to include their wives.

Herein lies our problem: We do not know the home addresses of many of those being invited, and it would be a tremendous task to look them all up.

We were wondering if it would be proper to address these invitations to Mr. and Mrs. and send them to the business address?

* * *

Answer: It would be quite all right, under the circumstances, to send the invitations to the business address.

* * *

However, I would suggest that as with wedding invitations, you put yours in two envelopes and address the outside envelope to Mr. John Jones followed by his business address and then write to Mr. and Mrs. Jones on the inside envelope, indicating that his wife is invited too.

Dear Mrs. Post: My father's sudden death canceled my European trip. I had been given quite a number of going away presents which I still have. Should these be returned?

Answer: Under ordinary circumstances you would keep them in the hope of going on the journey in the not-too-distant future.

On the other hand, if the chances of your every going are very slim, you return anything of intrinsic value.

Put Left Foot Forward, Says Abby

Getting Into Car Is Weighty Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This isn't a love problem. It's more like a hate problem the way my husband has been crabbing. I am 48 and he is 57. We've been married 31 years. We are both large people. I am 5 feet 10 and weigh 198 pounds, but I am not clumsy. I'm a good dancer and carry my weight with grace and ease.

ABBY

* * *

My husband keeps telling me I don't know how to get into a car. The only way I know how to get into a car is to put my head and shoulders in first, then set my feet on the floor and then bring the rest of me in. What's wrong with that? He says I am ruining his upholstery and wrecking his floor mat. What am I doing wrong, please?

BIG BUT GRACEFUL

DEAR "B" BUT "G": You should put your left foot in first, then place yourself squarely in the seat, and swing the rest of you in gracefully. I don't know what kind of a car you have to get into, but with some of these new ones, if you are a contortionist, it helps.

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those "nosy" nurses who has worked for many years in a doctor's office. I also get numerous telephone calls from people who refuse to discuss their problem with anyone but the doctor. They are very foolish because all the information is written on their records and the nurse sees it anyway.

Here's a sample of what goes on in our office:

Nurse: "Mrs. Smith called today."

Doctor: "What was her trouble?"

Nurse: "She refused to tell me. When I asked her, she hung up on me."

Doctor: "When she calls again, tell her YOU run the office. I only work here."

"ALSO NOSY" R.N.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Because I am the youngest of the family, I am faced with a rather embarrassing problem. Whenever my mother introduces me to people she hasn't seen for a while, she will say, ". . . and this is my baby!"

Please don't tell me to laugh it off. I am 41 years old.

BIG BABY

DEAR BABY: Where's your sense of humor? Your mother is fortunate to have her "44-year-old baby." And you are even more fortunate to have your mother.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO SOPHOMORE: Automobiles can be dangerous. It's not only his DRIVING you have to be careful of—it's his PARKING.

Five-Hundred Guests at Crites-Barbe Rites

Ruth Ann Barbe became the bride of Guy O. Crites Saturday evening in Emmanuel Baptist Church in a ceremony performed by Dr. Tom Malone. Altar flowers were white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

After a church reception for 500 guests, the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Barbe were hosts at a buffet dinner in their home on South Anderson Street.

With her floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta, the bride chose a chapel veil of illusion held by a crown of pearls and sequins. She wore the bridegroom's gift of pearls and held a white Bible topped with white roses and stephanotis.

Attendants wore waltz-length nylon organza over taffeta and carried cascades of Talisman roses with ivy foliage.

Honor matron Mrs. Floyd Mathews, sister of the bride, appeared in violet, with Elmerdena Thorne in peacock blue and Kay Weaver of Flint in coral.

* * *

Deborah White, niece of the bride, as flower girl wore peacock blue taffeta. The bridegroom's nephew Richard Ives was ring bearer.

Wesley Crites stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Crites of North Midland Drive. Guests were seated by the bride's brother Donald and the bridegroom's nephew Ronald Crites of Clarkston.

After a honeymoon near Gladwin, the couple will be at home on West Columbia Avenue.

A corsage of white carnations and red rosebuds accented Mrs. Barbe's black and white silk print and the powder blue lace dress for Mrs. Crites.

Mr. and Mrs. Ely Barbe of Southfield Township attended their granddaughter's wedding. The Bawdoin Millers and son Leland came from Rockland, Maine, and Joan Pelts from Nashville, Tenn.

Which Leaders to Get Invitations?

U.S. Up a Protocol Tree

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today faced the ticklish task of deciding who, if any, of the national leaders coming to the United Nations meeting should get an invitation to stop by at the White House.

★

Prevailing U. S. foreign policy virtually ruled out any such overtures to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and his European bloc lieutenants or to Cuba's Fidel Castro. Both Khrushchev and Castro are under U. S. order not to stray from Manhattan Island during their U. N. visit.

But experts figured this country might gain a diplomatic advantage by inviting some of the government heads down to Washington—provided the obstacles aren't too great along the way.

Yugoslavia's Josip Broz Tito, Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser and Indonesia's Achmed Sukarno are among prospective participants in the U. N. General Assembly meeting starting next Tuesday. Any bending of these three neutralist chiefs toward the Free World would benefit the West and campaign.

FIRST OF PROBLEMS

The heads of new African delegations, too, might be favorably impressed by a welcome to the capital of the United States.

But there are some of the problems in the way of such visits.

1. Diplomatic Problems: How can some of them be invited without slighting the others? Yet to invite all could bring a summit swarm on Washington. The U. S. government doesn't even know yet just how many government heads will show up for the U. N. gathering. One estimate is 25.

2. Physical Problems: Normally, it takes weeks or months to arrange a visit to Washington by a foreign chief. Eisenhower is a busy man and the visitor normally has a packed schedule too. Eisenhower already has a number of commitments for the following weeks.

★ ★ ★

3. Domestic Politics: With the 1960 election campaign heating up, segments of the American public are deemed more likely than usual to raise a cry against Eisenhower's fraternizing with foreign leaders who sometimes have been quite sour towards U. S. policy.

Tito and Nasser pose particular problems, from a standpoint of vote seekers in the American election.

A proposal that Tito visit the United States about three years ago was abandoned after an outcry from Americans critical of the Yugoslav Communist leader's anti church actions.

Nasser is regarded as a prime enemy by the more vigorous supporters of Israel.

The State Department has said that the question of inviting foreign chiefs to Washington was untold a news conference Wednesday that it is up to Eisenhower active consideration. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to make any announcement.

French Town Compromises on Togetherness

PORT-L'EVEQUE, France (AP) — The mayor, the priest, the schoolteachers and the parents of this little Normandy town have been bickering for two months over whether boys and girls should attend school together.

After many bitter attacks, protests, debates and votes, it was decided the children could attend lectures in the same classrooms.

But on the playground, a white line will separate the boys from the girls.

Bagwell Favors Aged-Care Plan, Thus Takes Politics Out of Session

By United Press International

Republican candidate for governor Paul Bagwell apparently took politics out of the special session of the legislature called Wednesday for Sept. 21.

Bagwell, campaigning in Owosso, endorsed the plan for using new federal funds for medical care for the aged put forward by Gov. G. Mennen Williams and said he would like to see it adopted as soon as possible.

The action apparently killed any chance of the matter becoming campaign issue and indicated that the special session likely will be a short one.

Bagwell did indicate that the program to be adopted should be a temporary one and it should be subject to review later to "make it more comprehensive."

In other Michigan political news Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, Bagwell's Democratic opponent, carried his campaign into the heart of the enemy camp by stumping through Rep. Alvin M. Bentley's home territory.

★ ★ ★

Swainson shook hands at factory gates and union halls in Owosso and announced that Dr. William Haber of the University of Michigan economics department has agreed to head his "bipartisan" citizens group to advise him on the state's economy.

★ ★ ★

The group is the first of several Swainson hopes to utilize on key problems facing the state.

Bentley, the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, wasn't home when Swainson invaded his hometown.

The Owosso congressman campaigned through Shiawassee, Barry and Allegan counties, stopping in Hastings for lunch. He told the group at Hastings that the arrival of Nikita Khrushchev at the United Nations could touch off the most explosive international incident since the beginning of the Cold War.

He said Cuban dictator Fidel Castro and Hungarian puppet Janos Kadar were "potentially more dangerous in New York than Khrushchev."

★ ★ ★

Democrat Patrick McNamara, campaigning to retain his Senate seat against Bentley, continued his week-long tour of the Upper Peninsula in Iron River.

He told an audience there that the top priority item of the next Congress will be enactment of a federal aid to education measure.

McNamara pointed out that the bill he cosponsored with Michigan's junior senator, Democrat Philip A. Hart, was the first education bill to pass the Senate in 11 years and blasted Republicans, who he said killed that measure and many others, "because of a phobia for balanced budgets."

McNamara's headquarters in Detroit announced the formation of a senior citizens committee to support the senator's re-election. He has been very active in seeking federal aid for the nation's older people.

Wayne State Votes No Tuition Raise

DETROIT (UPI) — The Wayne State University Board of Governors voted Wednesday night not to raise student tuition. The action ruled out any hike in faculty salaries for the coming year.

Registration fees were adjusted to make WSU tuition approximately the same as the University of Michigan and Michigan State University. WSU and Michigan students will now pay $280 per academic year while those at MSU will pay $279.

AP's Roger Lane Gets Reassignment to NY

LANSING (AP) — Gene Schroeder Wednesday was appointed correspondent in charge of Associated Press operations in Lansing effective Oct. 2. He succeeds Roger Lane who is being reassigned to New York.

The appointment was made by Frank J. Starzel, Associated Press general manager in New York. Schroeder, 39, has been on the AP staff in Detroit for the past two years.

Reject Tax for Library

BENTON HARBOR (UPI) — Voters have rejected, 976-543, a tax proposal of one-half mill a year for 20 years to finance a new city library.

Sen. Church to Address Midland Dem Dinner

MIDLAND (AP) — Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, the keynoter for the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles, will be the featured speaker at a 10th Congressional District Democratic dinner here Oct. 14.

Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, also is scheduled to deliver a major address at the dinner.

Liner to Wear 6 Coats

PARIS — The new French luxury liner SS France, under construction at St. Nazaire, will require 20 tons of paint to protect its hull when the work is finished. It will be applied below the water line and five above it.

Waterford Gets Last Crack at Pontiac Central

SPORTS

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Pontiac area athletes and athletic teams have suffered a great loss with the death of Dr. George Petroff.

No matter what the job or when his services were requested "Doc" was always available and ready to donate his time for the physical well being of the athlete.

His latest contribution to the sports cause was at the time of the Oakland County All-Star football game a few weeks ago.

He donted his time putting through nearly 60 players of the North and South teams through physicals for nearly four hours in one evening

★ ★ ★

Only a man who loves sports and one devoted to his profession would do this.

Dr. George Petroff was such a man.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Any area independent football teams which would be interested in playing Sunday games during September or October in Jackson this season can set schedule arrangements with Robert Parsaca, 4000 Cooper Street, Jackson.

They must be home games for Parsaca's team. He is the athletic director at Jackson State Prison.

Northern Hosts Orion in Opener

By CHUCK ABAIR

The curtain goes up on another high school football season in Pontiac tomorrow night when Northern entertains Lake Orion at 8 at Wisner Stadium.

It will mark the starting of the second season in varsity football for the Huskies who blanked the Dragons 13-0 in their debut a year ago.

PNH went on to become a contender as a new entry in the Inter-Lakes League and finished 5-4 for all games. Lake Orion wound up 4-4 and ranked 4th in the Oakland B race.

Northern rates the slight favorite role again but Orion could easily turn the tables with an excellent array of backs.

★ ★ ★

Both coaches Ed Heikkinen of the Huskies and Dragon boss Frank Kownacki plan to do a lot of experimenting while trying to win at the same time.

Heikkinen has tried several different boys in his backfield with set quarterback Bruce Norton since drills began and remains undecided on actual starters.

Heikkinen has settled on a first team line although he likely will be getting a look at several other boys.

Veterans Jerry Minesweaser and Steve Thompson will be at ends, John Erkkila and Don Glowar at tackles, Lynn Johnson and Al Lawrence at guards and Bill Chapa, center.

Shields is a definite starter on defense as is returning vet Winfred Miracle.

★ ★ ★

Kownacki has had his nightmares trying to pick a line. His unit at the kickoff may include sopha Denny Callison and Fred Lauer at tackles, Jim Johnston and Tom Longpre manning the guards. Mickey LaMagna at center, big Larry Thompson and Dave Perry at ends. Several others are expected to be in the forward wall before the night's over.

★ ★ ★

Roger Williams is set at quarterback, speedy Gary Hunter and Bucky Craven will be the halfbacks and Tim Alban at fullback. On defense, rugged Dave Julien, Doug Cole and Carlon Williams will be starters.

Northern will have one more "warmup" before starting loop play but this will be it for Lake Orion as the Oakland B opens next Friday.

Pontiac Press Photo

"STARTING PITCHER"—Bruce Norton will be at his familiar quarterback post as Pontiac Northern starts its second football season Friday night at Wisner Stadium against Lake Orion. The passing ace played a big role in the big start for the Huskies last fall which began with a triumph at Orion.

Series to End Friday Due to New Schedules

Both Schools Ready for Season Opener on Skipper Field

By BILL CORNWELL

Time is running out on Waterford High School in its bid to beat Pontiac Central on the football field.

To be more specific, the Skippers have exactly 48 minutes remaining —the length of one prep contest— to turn the trick.

The Skippers get their 6th and final chance to defeat the Chiefs in gridiron combat Friday night when the two neighboring rivals open the 1960 season against each other at Waterford at 8 o'clock.

It's not that PCH doesn't want to continue the rivalry nor does Waterford wish to end it, but due to circumstances beyond the control of either school, the series will end tomorrow.

The nine-game limitation rule plus the expansion of the tough Saginaw Valley Conference from six schools to nine will terminate the spirited series after a five-game fling.

Next year's Valley expansion means that the Chiefs must play eight league games and since the 9th spot on Central's schedule is reserved for the annual city feud with Pontiac Northern, the Skippers have to be dropped from the slate.

Waterford's four previous efforts to lick the Chiefs have been failures. Furthermore, the Skippers haven't even come close.

The rivalry began in 1954 and Central's winning margin was 39-0. In 1955 the score was 24-6, three years later the count was 26-0 and last year the difference was 31-6.

★ ★ ★

As might be expected, the Skippers are reaching a keyed-up state of mind for Friday's outing. They're the underdogs and they know it, but this little fact is not dampening their enthusiasm one bit.

Dave Freeman, Waterford's veteran coach whose slump-ridden gridders show only six wins and a tie in their last 27 contests, is no more than hopeful.

"Pontiac is faster than we are and we must contain their speed or we're sunk," Freeman said. "We were giving them a good run for their money a year ago until superior speed got the best of us."

Tomorrow's game marks the PCH coaching debut of Paul Dellerba, a thorough, hard-driving Ohioan who replaced Jesse MacLeay and inherited a green, graduation-riddled squad.

Dellerba just hopes for the best and expects no miracles. "The kids are young and inexperienced and they'll probably make a lot of mistakes, but they're a spirited, enthusiastic bunch with great desire. We only hope we can have a respectable year."

Both coaches are stringing along with inexperienced quarterbacks. Central's Bob Pomeroy, a junior, and Waterford senior Bob Newman are the likely starting quarterbacks and neither has been seriously tested under fire.

Waterford's interior line appears stronger due to more experienced players such as Bruce Marti, a tackle, and guards Bob Couture and Bob Nestor.

Central seems better on the flanks, although rangy George Fed will miss the opener because of a swollen ankle. Ends Clarence Montgomery, Milford Hilley and Elick Shorter look ready to deliver solid performances.

The Chiefs boast more backfield speed. Waterford Backs Harry Savas, Mike Kaines, Ed Stigers and Dave Goff cannot equal the breakaway threat offered by Central backs like Dick McCauley, Roy Couser, Tony Rubio and Andy Roach.

With the exception of Fed, both teams are in sound physical condition. According to all reports, both sides will also be in a sound frame of mind at kickoff time.

U.S. Gold Medal Lost by Decision on Jones

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, Pontiac Press

The United States Olympic Track Team—and Pontiac's Hayes Jones—lost a gold medal through an unfortunate decision.

Three entrants are allowed as a maximum in each event. Hence, when you pick a relay team, you have to select a fourth man from some other event. Anyone is eligible. Germany's winning 400 meter relay team picked Lauer, world's record holder whom Hayes defeated for third place in the hurdles for their anchor man.

★ ★ ★

Coach Larry Snyder once planned to use Hayes in the 400 meter relay. Each contestant runs a hundred yards. Hayes is certainly the fastest man on the American track team outside of the pure sprinters. Also, he had practiced the exchange of the baton many times. Hayes was conceivably the opening sprinter for the U.S.

★ ★ ★

Coach Snyder promoted Carney from the 200 meter sprint team to the 100 meter relay. Also, back stage rumors say he was going to replace Norton with Jones. Before the games opened, Norton was doped to win the 200 meters. Also, this nation counted on him to whip Harry, the German sensation, in the hundred.

★ ★ ★

In the hundred, Norton finished sixth. Then in the 200, his best event, he finished another dismal sixth. It looked promising for Jones.

However, moved by compassion and humanitarian motives, Snyder decided to give Norton a chance to salvage some glory from his unhappy showings. It was purely an altruistic move.

★ ★ ★

Therefore, someone had to be crowded off. Sime was anchor man and Number One. Budd was the logical second choice to stick. So it came down to Jones, Carney and Norton for two spots.

Norton and Carney got the nod and Norton came another cropper.

★ ★ ★

Running second, in his eagerness to atone for his failures, he started before Budd was close enough. Budd yelled but Norton was already outside the marker when he received the baton and red flags dropped all over the place.

★ ★ ★

The American team continued and Dave Sime staged a glorious last lap to nose out Germany for the title and a gold medal. That also meant a gold medal for each man on the team.

But it was no soap.

★ ★ ★

The original flash placed U.S. first but the disqualification threw us out. It cost the United States a gold medal — and running Norton cost Hayes Jones one, too.

★ ★ ★

Wally Schloerke of Pontiac, who coached Hayes successfully said he figured Hayes would run the first lap because of his great speed, to give U. S. an edge at the outset if possible. He told me this in New York at Idlewild.

In the program, six U. S. runners were listed and Hayes was second. That's where I think he might have run as Norton ultimately occupied the second spot in the actual race.

★ ★ ★

Well, Coach Snyder's gesture to retrieve something for a fallen athlete may have been commendable. I leave that to you. All I know is, we won the race and had Hayes been in there in place of Norton (or Carney), the United States and Hayes Jones would have had gold medals. Hayes wouldn't have fouled.

★ ★ ★

So what, Jonesy?

You are a hero as it is and you nosed out this great Lauer for third place in the highs when he flashed over that last hurdle perceptibly ahead of you.

All Pontiac is proud.

Big Welcome Home Given Red Athletes

LONDON (AP) — Moscow citizens Wednesday night acclaimed the Soviet victory at the Olympic Games at a meeting at Lenin Stadium at which athletes were welcomed home.

Moscow Radio said the secretary of the Komsomol Central Committee made the welcoming speech. He said American leaders did the boasting, but Soviet athletes went out and won the medals.

"A leader of the American sports delegation to the Olympics fell victim to his own confidence," the spokesman said. "He promised that if the American team were defeated he would eat his hat. Today I can only wish him a good appetite."

Unknown Fights Hank to Draw

Detroiter Is Anxious to Meet Jesse Smith Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Hammering Henry Hank, Detroit slugger who has been angling for a crack at the middleweight crown, had a new ambition today—a rematch with hitherto unknown Jesse Smith of Chicago.

Smith, unranked among the middleweights, mixed a blistering attack with skillful defense Wednesday night and held Hank to a draw in a 10-round nationally televised bout at the Chicago Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Smith, unawed by Hank's impressive knockout record, would have scored a big upset if hadn't been tagged with a whistling left uppercut midway in the final round that dropped him for the nine count.

He struggled to his feet, as stuck out his tongue at Yank in a show of heroics, but a chopping overhand right had him sliding along the ropes when the final bell sounded.

Smith, fast afoot and quick with his hands, slipped most of Hank's heavy artillery and countered effectively, until the was tagged the tenth. He had Hank in trouble momentarily in the third with a left-right combination and again in the sixth round, after successfully absorbing some stiff shots from the Detroit belter.

Referee Frank Sikora had Hank ahead 49-44 under the 5 points-a-round mus system, while Judge Frank McAdams awarded the bout to Smith, 47-45. Judge William Doty marked both fighters even, 46-46. The Associated Press had Smith ahead 47-45.

Tacoma Open Starts in Washington Fog

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Early morning fog and dew set a damp stage as the first of 152 contestants teed off today in the 72-hole, $25,000 Tacoma Open Golf Tournament.

The early risers got away at 7:15 a.m. and the last trio was not due off the Faircrest golf course's first tee until 2:02 p.m. (PST).

This is the first appearance of the touring professionals in western Washington since 1948, when the $11,000 Tacoma Open ended in an historic five-way tie and Dr. Cary Middlecoff set a course competitive record of 64. Porky Oliver won the playoff, beating Middlecoff, Chuck Congdon, Vic Ghezzi and Fred Haas Jr.

Most Preps Start Friday

Very few schools in the Oakland County area will be among the missing when the 1960 prep football season gets rolling tomorrow.

Three afternoon games will officially ring in the new season as Emmanuel Christian plays its first varsity game at Flint Hoover, Country Day entertains Maumee, Ohio and Lamphere goes to New Haven.

Several interesting non-league affairs will feature a long list of night contests.

Walled Lake is at home to meet Redford Union, Southfield hosts Royal Oak Kimball, Farmington goes to Livonia Bentley, Utica is at Rochester and Birmingham Seaholm takes on Edsel Ford in Class A affairs.

★ ★ ★

Avondale entertains Milford, Oxford is guest of Clarkston, Bloomfield Hills travels to Oak Park, Holly has its traditional lidlifter with Grand Blanc, Clawson meets Center Line, Romeo plays Richmond, Ortonville is at Goodrich, Northville starts out with Plymouth as usual, Madison and Royal Oak St. Mary tangle, Brighton vs. South Lyon and Troy battles Marysville in other classes.

One of the top local attractions will be at West Bloomfield where St. Michael meets what is expected to be another strong Laker contingent. Center Line St. Clement, Suburban Catholic favorite, also gets an early start battling Warren.

Royal Oak Dondero visits East Detroit as Roseville is at Warren Lincoln and Port Huron at Ray City Handy. South Central teams North Branch, Imlay City and Millington are away. North Branch vs. Marlette, Imlay plays Almont and Millington meets Vassar.

★ ★ ★

Hazel Park and Fitzgerald will tangle, L'Anse goes to Fraser, Dryden plays Peck while other Southern Thumb teams, Capac, Brown City, Armada and Anchor Bay all debut at home. Clarenceville takes on Ypsilanti Lincoln at home.

Emmanuel will take a 12-man squad into its initial game. Walled Lak. should get off and running to a big year. The same is true of Seaholm. Southfield tries to start its comeback.

The openers will feature the renewal of many old rivalries which match teams from different leagues.

The openers will give coaches a much better idea of what to expect from their charges when league play starts. Good examples are Avondale and Holly going with sophomore quarterbacks. Many other young players will be getting their first real tests.

Pleases U-D Coach

Shorter Shines in Drill

When Jim Shorter enrolled at the University of Detroit his prime interest was track.

While at Pontiac Central, Shorter's athletic activities included the dashes on the track team and defensive backfield duties under football coach Ed Graybiel.

He decided last year to try out for the U of D football team as a sophomore and smidgen of a couple injuries he saw limited duties as ball carrier and on the kicking team.

Yesterday, the Titans went through a two-hour scrimmage and Shorter raced for three touchdowns.

He was listed as the third string left halfback, but coach Jim Miller was highly impressed with the speedy ex-Chief.

★ ★ ★

"He is one of the most improved players out here," said Miller, "and there's no one faster on the squad."

Shorter, who stands 5-10 and weighs 170, ran the 100 in 9.5 for the track team. He is a junior in physical education.

★ ★ ★

The Titans have a tough home opener next Friday night September 23rd against Iowa State, a team which had a 7-3 record last season including victories over Colorado, Kansas State and Nebraska.

★ ★ ★

Up for All-America honors in many pre-season publications is fullback Tom Watkins, considered the best in the Big Eight Conference.

Tigers Wear Out Orioles in Loss

DETROIT (AP) — Paul Richards' hopes of having a well-rested pitching staff for the vital weekend series against the New York Yankees have been dashed.

The Baltimore manager rushed eight pitchers into Wednesday's frantic battle with the Detroit Tigers before the Orioles snagged an 11-10 decision.

It was a game the Orioles wrapped up in the third inning, lost through ineffective pitching, won again on some shoddy play by the sixth-place Tigers, lost on some loose fielding of their own, then won again on a desperate rally with two out in the ninth inning.

Even after all that, the second-place Orioles nearly lost it again. The Tigers scored one run in their half of the ninth and had the winning run on base when stocky southpaw Steve Barber caught pinch batter Dick Gernert guessing on a two-strike pitch and ended the tense struggle with a strikeout.

It was only the Orioles' fourth triumph in nine games since their three-game sweep over the Yanks Labor Day weekend. They now trail the Yankees by only one percentage point following New York's 2-1 loss to Kansas City Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Richards, noted for his lineup juggling—he used nine outfielders in addition to the eight pitchers—confessed he was "running out of strategy."

Somehow through it all the Baltimore infield remained intact.

"I don't know how that happened," Richards said in a kidding manner. "That was a master stroke."

One of the slumping infielders, third baseman Brooks Robinson, helped save catcher Gus Triandos from the goat's role with a two-out, two-on triple in the ninth inning.

★ ★ ★

The Orioles had fiddled away a 5-0 lead, pushed in front again 8-6 and watched the Tigers recapture the lead on a single, a walk, another single, Triandos' error and a passed ball. One-out pinch singles by Jim Busby and Walt Dropo set the stage for Robinson's big hit.

Robinson scored what proved to be the winning run on a single by shortstop Ron Hansen. Robinson was hitless in 11 at-bats and had only an infield single in his last 26 tries when he lashed one of Hank Aguirre's pitches solidly into center field.

★ ★ ★

The Orioles left immediately for New York, where they will face the Yankees in a night game Friday, a single game Saturday and a doubleheader on Sunday. Richards will send Barber, Chuck Estrada, Milt Pappas and Jack Fisher against the team the Orioles defeated three straight in their most recent meeting.

All but Pappas saw service Wednesday, and he went seven innings in a losing cause the night before.

"We tried to plan things well ahead so our staff would be well rested for this series," said Richards. "But I learned a long time ago that it doesn't often pay to plan far ahead. One game is as important as the next, and we had to win this one. Now we'll concern ourselves with the Yankees."

The Orioles must play 11 of their remaining 13 games on the road while New York is home for 9 of 15 and the third place White Sox are home for 6 of 13.

"No, it's not going to be easy," said Richards, in his soft, Texas drawl. "But no one said it would be."

AP Photofax

TWO BIRDS DOWN — A toss to first base by Frank Bolling, Tiger second baseman, completes the double play getting Brooks Robinson at first after forcing Jim Gentile at second in the 5th inning. Robinson grounded to Chico Fernandez to start the twin killing. The Orioles still won, 11-10 with a 9th inning rally.

All applications postmarked before that time will be returned, the baseball club said.

Reserved and bleacher seats will be available only by mail. Box seats will not be available at all. Four thousand standing room tickets will be sold at Forbes Field only at each game.

★ ★ ★

The Pirates said tickets will be sold for single games only, and limited to two tickets per order. Applications will be filled as they are received and specific games cannot be requested, the club added.

Ticket prices:

Single grandstand reserved $8.70; two for $16.40.

Single bleacher reserved $3.20; two for $5.40.

Standing room $4.40 each.

If the Pirates win the National League pennant, the first two World Series games will be played here Oct. 5-6.

If required, games six and seven also would be played in Pittsburgh, Oct. 12-13.

The Pirates said refunds would be made on tickets purchased for the final two games if they are not played.

Ex-Yank Carey Homers in 9th for KC Victory

Top 2 Teams Begin Big Showdown Series Friday Night

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees and the Baltimore Orioles are in a virtual tie for the American League lead today as they take a breather before Friday night's opener of a four-game showdown at Yankee Stadium.

And all because the Yankees' kissin' cousins, the last place Kansas City A's, bussed 'em right on the kisser.

The A's, after winning only five of 20 decisions with New York, swept the final two games of the season series with a 2-1, ninth-inning shocker Wednesday night on a tie-breaking home run by ex-Yank Andy Carey.

★ ★ ★

That shaved the Yankees' lead to one percentage point over the Orioles, who twice blew leads before beating Detroit 11-10 in an afternoon game. Chicago's third place White Sox, who play four at Detroit while the Yankees and Orioles meet head-on, remained two games behind with a 6-1 setback by Washington that ended their winning streak at six.

Cleveland whipped Boston 11-7 in the other AL night game.

Carey's 12th home run led off the ninth for the A's and beat Art Ditmar (14-9). The Yankees' right-handed ace had blanked the A's on five hits after giving up a first inning RBI single by Dick Williams who drove in six runs in Tuesday's 12-3 romp over New York.

Ray Herbert (11-15) was the winner, leaving 12 runners stranded and shutting out the Yankees on five singles after they scored in the third inning on two walks and a single by Roger Maris.

The White Sox were beaten by ex-teammate Earl Battey, who walloped a two-run homer in the second inning off loser Herb Score (4-10). Washington made it sure with three more in the sixth, capped by Zorro Versalles' two-run triple off Turk Lown. Jack Kralick (8-4) won it, checking the Sox on nine hits. He lost his shutout in the sixth when Roy Sievers, who had left four runners stranded earlier, hit his 27th home run.

★ ★ ★

A seven run third inning triggered by a leadoff homer by Mike (Pinky) Hoe and capped by Vic Power's three-run homer, bagged it for the Indians. Tito Francona, who also homered, and Power each drove in three runs. Barry Latman (6-5) was the winner with Frank Funk's relief help. Frank Sullivan (6-16) was the loser.

Younger Fullmer Wins

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —Don Fullmer, 21-year-old brother of world middleweight champ Gene Fullmer, battled European middleweight champion Gustav (Bubi) Scholz to a draw in a 10-rounder fight at Congress Hall Wednesday night.

The draw was considered a fine success by the young West Jordan, Utah, fighter, like Scholz, gunning for his brother Gene's title.

Involves Mays

Latest Hassle on Giants

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — San Francisco's Willie Mays reported back to the Giants on time Wednesday and probably avoided a stiff fine by Manager Tom Sheehan.

Mays had asked for a 48-hour leave to visit his family in New Rochelle, N. Y. The outfielder said he had some business to attend to.

"Your business is playing baseball," Sheehan was quoted as telling him.

Sheehan said he could have 24 hours. Mays left the clubhouse in a huff in Pittsburgh Tuesday. "I'm going anyway," he said as he departed. He had made his request for a leave after Sam Jones had been granted a weekend leave to go to Monongah, W. Va.

Sheehan told Mays the cases were not the same—Jones, a pitcher, is not an everyday ballplayer; Mays is needed in the outfield because there is no one available to replace him.

Willie showed up after the Giants arrived here by chartered plane and the team had checked in to its hotel.

"I surprised you, didn't I?" he asked baseball writers with the club. "I'm back. No other comment."

Club Frenzy, vice president of the Giants, is accompanying the club on its last trip east. He said he was surprised at the Mays-Sheehan flareup.

"Mays has been with the team 10 years and never has caused any trouble," he commented.

In disclosing the verbal tiff with Mays, Sheehan also reported pitcher Jack Sanford had been fined $200 for walking off the mound in a Braves-Giant game at Milwaukee last week before Sheehan got out to the mound to relieve him formally.

★ ★ ★

Sam Jones also had words with Sheehan just prior to his weekend leave. The two shouted at each other in the Giant dugout in Cincinnati after the manager yanked Jones out of a game in the eighth inning.

Sheehan said Jones will not be fined.

Single Piston Still Unsigned

DETROIT (UPI)—Only one player—all-league guard Gene Shue—remains unsigned for the 1960-61 season with the Detroit Pistons.

Two more Pistons were brought into the fold yesterday—guard Chuck Noble and forward Earl Lloyd, both of whom are expected to open practice with the Detroit NBA entry today at St. Clair, Mich.

Piston general manager Nick Kebrawy was expected to meet today with Shue and the 6-3 guard was expected to sign his contract for the coming season.

Noble, who has played with the Pistons ever since he broke into the pro ranks, will be starting his sixth season in the NBA. He had an 11.2 average last season, sitting out the last nine regular games with three broken ribs.

Lloyd, a native Detroiter, will be starting his ninth season in the NBA. He came to Detroit in 1958 from the Washington Nats, after the club disbanded.

Four Teenagers Shine in Amateur

GIANT KILLER — Defending champion Jack Nicklaus (left) was the victim of an upset in the U. S. Amateur Golf Championship yesterday when 19 year old Charles Lewis of Little Rock defeated him 5 and 3 in the 4th round of the tournament at St. Louis Country Club.

Champ Is Upset in 4th Round by 19-Year-Old

Last Two Michigan Entries Are Eliminated at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Four brash teenagers, with Chuck Lewis, scion of an old English golfing family, the ringleader, today try to keep the accent on youth in the National Amateur.

Joining Lewis, conqueror of defending champion Jack Nicklaus in Wednesday's fourth round, are: Phil Browlee, Ontario, Canada, junior champion; Steve Spray of Indianola, Iowa, clerk in his dad's grocery who was given time off to win the 1959 Western junior title, and Harry Root, Tampa, sophomore member of the University of Florida golf team. All are 19 years old.

The match-play marathon over the hilly, timbered 6,616-yard St. Louis Country Club course, has fifth and sixth round action today. This will trim the field to the four semifinalists who will joust over the 36-hole route Friday. The winners meet in a double round Saturday for the prestige-packed championship of the 60th tournament.

Charles Francis Lewis III, whose grandfather was a golf pro 51 years in Devonshire, England, and various cities in the United States, is the teenage idol of the moment after his giant-killing act in knocking off Nicklaus 5 and 3. His father is pro at the Little Rock, Ark., Country Club.

★ ★ ★

The dark-complexioned Lewis stands 5-11 and weighs 140 pounds. Still he out-drove the booming 20-year-old Nicklaus on nearly every hole in cutting him down with steady, accurate play that put him one-under-par for the 15 holes needed.

The Ohio State pharmacy student was gaged 6-down after the first nine before stubbornly yielding in what must be one of the classic upsets of the tourney's history.

Michigan's Tom Draper won his third round match but bowed out in the fourth round by losing to steady Steve Spray of Indianola, Iowa, 3 and 2.

★ ★ ★

Gene Woodward of St. Clair lost to Sam Carmichael of Martinsville, Ind., 2 and 1 in the third round.

Just before going out against Lewis, Nicklaus had been a tiger-like killer in mauling Marine Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., 6 and 5. His surge of par-busting included five birdies, one eagle and seven pars in the 13 holes required to complete the job.

Lewis' fifth round opponent will be Carl Lohren of Norbeck, Md., 22, current Mid-Atlantic champion making his fourth try in the National.

Brownlee, 5-5, 125-pounds takes on John Guenther of Hershey, 27, the 1960 Pennsylvania Open titlist.

Pirates Really Fan Breezes in 2 Games

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Stan Williams struck out 13 Pittsburgh batters Wednesday night and help set a strikeout record. But he complained his control was off.

"I just didn't have my control," said the Los Angeles right-hander after beating Pittsburgh 5-2. "I wasn't getting them in there where I wanted, and that may have had something to do with it."

"When the batters see a pitcher who normally has pretty good control acting a bit wild out there, they just can't loosen up like they want to.

"Some of those pitches weren't where the batters thought they were going to be. They couldn't hit them."

Dodger Manager Walter Alston agreed.

★ ★ ★

"He was pitching high all of the time, right to their strength a lot of time," Alston said. "I don't think he threw a dozen balls below their waists all night long. Still, they couldn't hit him."

The strikeouts combined with Mike McCormick's 13 strikeouts against the Pirates Tuesday night for San Francisco, gave Pittsburgh 26 in two games, a new National League mark.

The old mark was set in 1933 when St. Louis pitchers struck out 24 Chicago batters in two straight games. The major league mark is 28.

★ ★ ★

Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh commented:

"Williams was just pitching real good ball out there. Our trouble is we're just not scoring any runs. You can't win without them. We'd better get some tomorrow."

The game wasn't too unusual for Williams as far as strikeouts go. He now has 160, fourth in the National League, behind teammates Don Drysdale, 222, and Sandy Koufax, 179, and San Francisco's Sam Jones, 176.

The whiffs also raised the Dodgers pitching staff's total to 1,024. It's the second year the staff passed the 1,000 mark.

The loss for the Pirates, their second straight, helped cut their National League lead to 5½ games over St. Louis.

Pirates Lose 2nd Straight, 5½ Up

By the Associated Press

Those world champion Los Angeles Dodgers may be lost, but they're not forgotten — not when they keep bobbing up to harrass the leaders in what still could become a race for the National League pennant.

After taking two of three from third place Milwaukee last weekend, the Dodgers tagged first place Pittsburgh with a second straight loss, 5-2 Wednesday night trimming the Pirates' lead to 5½ games by beating Vern Law for the first time this season.

★ ★ ★

The second place St. Louis Cardinals, who have to play three against Los Angeles next week, gained on the Bucs with their eighth victory in 10 games, beating Cincinnati 6-4. The Braves walloped the Chicago Cubs 10-2 and now trail by 6½ games.

Pittsburgh, losing two in a row for the first time in 2½ weeks, has 15 games left, while the Cards have 16 to play. The Braves have 14 left—six against the Pirates.

Philadelphia whipped the San Francisco Giants, who have been short on temper and long on lineups of late, 5-1.

The fourth place Dodgers, nine games behind and all but officially out of the race, handed Law his third straight defeat in a bid for his 20th victory. Wally Moon drove in three runs, bringing in the clincher with a two-run double in the fifth, against the Pirates' right-handed ace, who had a 5-0 record over Los Angeles.

Stan Williams (14-8) was the winner, checking the Pirates on seven hits and fanning 13 as Pittsburgh set a NL record with 26 strikeouts in two games. Bill Mazeroski's 10th home run, with a man on, broke up Williams' shutout bid with two out in the eighth.

★ ★ ★

Maury Wills had three singles, scored three runs and stole two bases for the Dodgers. The thefts gave him 45, most in the NL since Frankie Frisch stole 48 for the Cardinals in 1927.

Daryl Spencer, whose triple won Tuesday's game, socked a two-run homer in the eighth inning that iced it for St. Louis. Rookie Bob Miller (3-1) was the winner in relief of Ray Sadecki, but needed eighth inning help from Lindy McDaniel. Jay Hook (10-17) was the loser for the Reds, who had home runs by Roy McMillan and Vada Pinson.

★ ★ ★

Ed Mathews hit his 37th home run in a two-run first inning for Milwaukee, and Hank Aaron then hit a three-run triple as the Braves scored four in the second against loser Don Cardwell (7-14). Half of the Braves' runs were unearned, Wynn Joey Jay (8-7) gained his second complete game with a six-hit performance. He lost a shutout when George Altman lined a two-run, pinch double in the fifth.

★ ★ ★

Robin Roberts (10-15) beat the Giants by allowing only five singles. He retired 19 in a row and had a three-hit shutout with one out in the ninth. Willie Mays, latest Giant to have a run-in with Manager Tom Sheehan (Willie wanted to skip the game to take care of business in New York) had two of San Francisco's hits. Billy O'Dell (7-12) was the loser.

Houston-Denver Even

By United Press International

Houston collected 13 hits at Denver to pull even in American Association playoffs last night while Louisville squelched a St. Paul rally for a two-game lead in the best-four out of seven series.

Starter Ben Johnson and right-hander Barney Schultz, who relieved in the sixth, held Denver to eight hits as the Buffs took a 11-8 victory for a 1-1 record in the semifinal playoffs.

ORIOLE NEXT — The happy Baltimore Orioles rallied for three runs with two out in the 9th inning to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 11-10, and move into a virtual tie for the American League lead with the Yankees. Left to right are Brooks Robinson who hit 9th inning triple to score two runs, Ronnie Hansen, manager Paul Richards and Jim Gentile. The Orioles came from behind twice in the game before winning. The Yanks lead only by one percentage point.

Lions' QB Problem Still Unsolved

Pro Quarterbacks Get 4 Seconds to Throw to Receivers

Coach George Wilson still hasn't solved the Detroit Lions' quarterback problem.

He tried a new angle in practice yesterday. He used a stopwatch to check on how long it took Jim Ninowski and Earl Morrall to get off passes.

Apparently it was a draw. Both quarterbacks were conscious of the stopwatch and they were sharp on throwing the ball.

* * *

In pro football, quarterbacks aren't expected to take more than four seconds in getting off passes.

* * *

"You can't expect to hold out enemy linemen forever," the coach said.

Wilson is whipping the Lions into shape for their exhibition game with the Cleveland Browns in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium Saturday night. The Lions are out to avenge the 28-14 licking they took from the Browns in the first exhibition game of the season.

The Lions are handicapped by the absence of linebacker Joe Schmidt, who dislocated a shoulder in the 16-16 tie game with the New York Giants Sunday. But defensive back Yale Lary is expected to return to action. He missed the Giant game to be with his wife who was hospitalized in Fort Worth, Tex.

Northwestern Has Thornton Back

By the Associated Press

Any move that Northwestern makes at a Big Ten title this year will be a little more than threatening now that quarterback Dick Thornton is back on the job.

* * *

Thornton, the pride and joy of Wildcat Coach Ara Parseghian, was mainly responsible for leading Northwestern out of the Big Ten dungeon as a sophomore in 1958 and had started them in the right direction last year before breaking an ankle in the second game.

* * *

But the plucky Thornton received a reprieve. The governing body of the Big Ten announced that he would not be charged with a year of eligibility even though he played in the 'Cats 45-13 romp over Oklahoma, and had started the second game before being injured.

* * *

This meant that Thornton would help compensate for the loss of halfback Ron Burton. He was part of a two-fold blessing for the Cats, who welcomed back halfback El Kimbrough, also out in 1959 with injuries.

* * *

Burton served notice in last spring's windup game that he was ready to go. As the No. 1 quarterback for the varsity he passed for three touchdowns, completing three of seven passes for 104 yards, and was just as deceptive a runner as he had been when he led the Wildcats to that surprisingly easy victory over Oklahoma in the 1959 opener.

* * *

Wednesday, Thornton, an aspiring disc jockey whose music with a football is most appreciated by Northwestern fans, showed he'll be as good as always when the Wildcats open their season against those same Sooners next Saturday.

* * *

He tossed for two touchdowns in an intra-squad game, hitting Kimbrough with a 60-yard toss and throwing 50 to Paul Yanke. In addition, his passing set up two more scores.

Thornton may just put the "thorn" in the hopes of other Big Ten title aspirants, and wind up amongst the roses in Pasadena on New Year's Day.

* * *

One of those aspirants, Illinois, Wednesday elevated sopha Thurman Walker, an end, and Norm Willis, a left half, to the first team.

* * *

Iowa State got some help at the fullback slot in case its stalwart Tom Watkins should be injured. Soph Bill Smith drew praise from Coach Clay Stapleton who called him "the most improved man on the squad — both mentally and physically. He'll make a real fine fullback for us."

* * *

Baylor losts its second quarterback in two days when Gerry Erwin injured his shoulder. Ron Stanley was hurt Tuesday.

The University of Buffalo, which meets Army Saturday, also lost a quarterback when No. 2 signal-caller Gene Guerrie was declared scholastically ineligible. Joe Oliverio took over his spot.

Sale of Athletics Being Negotiated

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Negotiations for the sale of the Kansas City Athletics to a hometown investment group began Wednesday.

* * *

Edward G. Vollers, Chicago, attorney for the estate of Arnold Johnson, majority stockholder, and also for the minority stockholders, met with representatives of a group organized by the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce to buy the club.

Pistons Play Knicks in 2-Game Exhibition

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons announced today they will meet the New York Knickerbockers in a pre-season basketball game at Saginaw high on Monday, Oct. 17.

* * *

Proceeds of the game will go to the Saginaw Junior Chamber of Commerce, the sponsor of the game.

* * *

The game will be the first of a two-game exhibition series between the two teams. They will play the following night at Pontiac Northern High.

'60 MSU Prospect Optimistic

No Crying Towel--Daugherty

(This is another in a series previewing 1960 football prospects by Charles Chamberlain, AP Midwest assistant sports editor, who has finished a piano tour of Big Ten and Notre Dame's camps.)

EAST LANSING (AP)—"We never get out the crying towel at Michigan State and sometimes I get carried away with my enthusiasm."

That's coach Duffy Daugherty talking as he looks over his 1960 football prospects.

"I can get elated just by seeing something good happen out there in practice," adds the most optimistic mentor in the conference. "The other coaches always could keep a secret better than I can. We'll be better than last year—and if that's not optimism, I would like to know what is."

The Spartans finished second with a 4-2 record last fall and leading Duffy's Gladiators into the Big Ten arenas this season are 19 lettermen and an exceptional gang of sophomores.

"We've the greatest bunch of newcomers I have seen since I've been here," enthuses Daugherty. "Of course, I haven't seen them in a game yet.

* * *

"Our main problems are building an interior line, where we have only five lettermen available from tackle to tackle in our two platoons, and in developing a quarterback to take Dean Look's place.

"We have good backfield depth and plenty of talent at ends. But the heart of any football team are the tackles and guards."

Senior Tom Wilson, an accurate passer and capable runner, is the current No. 1 quarterback. Battling him for the starting job in the opener at Pittsburgh Sept. 26 is junior Leroy Loudermilk.

The halfback chores are in the excellent hands of senior Herb Adderley and junior Gary Ballman. They could be one of the best combinations in the country—blending power with speed, fine pass-catching ability and defensive steadiness.

Lettermen Pete Kakela and Mickey Walker, plus three sophs, are at tackle. The newcomers are Jim Bobbitt, 235, Buchanan; Ed Budde, 225, Detroit, and Jim Kanicki, 237, Bay City.

* * *

Daugherty rates Behrman and Azar his outstanding sophomores.

* * *

Heading the stampede at the end posts are Wayne Fontes, a speedy, stubby junior who starred in the spring game; senior Fred Arbanas, who is averaging 18.6 yards a catch, and junior Art Brandstatter, versatile all-around player and placekicker.

* * *

With Indiana's games not counting this season in the standings, Michigan State has only five conference engagements — fewest of any of its rivals. Also significant is that the Spartans play two powerful contenders, Iowa and Ohio State, at home and do not meet Illinois, another prime favorite.

Exhibition Fracas

2 Hockey Players Fined

By The Associated Press

Lou Fontinato, New York Rangers' fiery defenseman, and Frank Mahovlich of the Toronto Maple Leafs were fined $100 each Wednesday by National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell in the wake of a stick-swinging duel.

The fracas occurred in the closing seconds of Tuesday night's opening exhibition game, which was won by the Rangers, 5-4. Both players drew match penalties for "deliberate attempt to injure" from Referee Dalton McArthur.

No one could recall when fines from NHL headquarters had ever before been levied at players as a result of an exhibition game brawl.

The Boston Bruins Wednesday signed Orval Tessier, the highest scorer in minor league pro hockey last season, to a 1960-61 contract.

Milt Schmidt, coach of the Bruins, said he planned to play the slim Cornwall, Ont., star on a line with veterans Don McKenney and Doug Mohns as a second line. He will use the three as a unit in an exhibition game with Providence Saturday.

Tessier, 27, collected 126 points on 59 goals and 67 assists last season with the Kingston Frontenacs of the Eastern Professional League.

Four members of the Chicago Black Hawks signed 1960-61 contracts, General Manager Tommy Ivan said Wednesday.

Ed Litzenberger, Ron Murphy and Stan Mikita, all with the Hawks last season, and Ab McDonald, obtained from the Montreal Canadiens in an off-season deal, came to terms as Ivan settled down to the business of signing 40 players.

Seaholm Harriers Lose Despite McPhee's 1st

The Birmingham Seaholm cross country record was 1-1 today following 25-32 loss to Edsel Ford Wednesday.

Maple Jock McPhee finished first in a time of 10:46 while Ted Egner was 4th and Bill Heydon 8th. The Seaholm reserves won 23-36. Seaholm meets Port Huron and Hazel Park next week.

Gresham Bout Sept. 23

DETROIT (UPI) — Hometown favorite Gene Gresham and Lahouari Godih, former French title holder, will clash in a featured lightweight bout in the first of a new series of "Friday night fights" at Olympia Stadium Sept. 23, it was announced yesterday.

96 Tam O'Shanter Members Play, Burkemo Team Wins

When Tam O'Shanter Country Club holds a pro-member golf tournament, the members really turn out in force.

There were 96 Tam O'Shanter members on hand Wednesday to join forces with 32 professionals, thereby making it the biggest pro-member tourney yet conducted anywhere in Michigan.

There was no doubt about the winning team when the 18-hole best ball event was over. Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills and his three playing partners—Dr. Sam Reisman, Howard Kaichen and Don Roberts—were ahead of their nearest rivals by three strokes.

Burkemo and his associates combined for a 14-under-par 57 on nines of 27 and 30. The winning team birdied eight holes on the front side, four more coming home and added an eagle three on No. 10.

Burkemo also was the winning pro. He rifled a three-under-par 68 with his own ball, best individual score among the pros, to pick up $60 in 1st place prize money. Burkemo's scorecard listed six birdies and three bogies.

The runnerup pro was Washenaw's Tom Talkington, who fired 69. Larry Tomasino of Barton Hills, Detroit Golf Club's Eldon Briggs and Mac McElmurry, assistant pro at Tam, each shot even par 71 to tie for 3rd place. Briggs had a somewhat unusual round, shooting six birdies, six pars and six bogies.

McElmurry had a chance to be medalist after making the turn in 33 with the aid of three birdies against a lone bogey. But he soared to 38 on the back nine as he bogied four holes compared to just two birdies. Tam's par is 35-36—71.

Tamarine and his partners—Avery Tucker, Oscar Braun and Harold Finney—took 2nd place with a score of 29-31—60.

McElmurry, Bob Rosin, Joe Feldman and Dr. Hubert Curson shared 3rd place with Hal Whittington, head pro at Grosse Ile, and his associates—club champion Seymour Winokur, Rube Levin and Sam Hassin.

Their totals were 61 with the McElmurry team carding 31-30 and the Whittington foursome netting 28-33.

Burkemo's three partners each received $40 in merchandise prizes as his share of the victory.

West Side Keg Loop in Action

The powerful West Side Classic Bowling League got off to a flying start this week with a full complement of 16 teams represented.

There were 29 new faces in the lineups but they didn't seem to hinder the scores any as many good games were rolled.

Top game of the night was a husky 1,006 along with a 2,903 series rolled by the Lake Center Drug boys. Bicmar Inn boys had a 1,011 game and 2,841 series for second place for the night.

Big point winners included Lake Center Drugs three-game win over West Side Lanes, Calbi's sweep over Slater's Concrete, West Side Mobil over Blue Cleaners and Bicmar Ind over Team 16. Other winners included Pasqualies over Oakland Coin 2 games to 1, Judah Lake Shopping 2 to 1 over Triple X, Sparks Griffin 2 game win over Hazeltons Lettering and Tony's Rental 2 game winners over Coca Cola.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "Getting nowhere fast."

DIAGNOSIS: Change in practice methods needed.

TREATMENT: At least nine out of 10 golfers—maybe an even greater percentage—confine whatever practicing they do to hitting full shots. This is foolish when you realize that in any given golf round you'll be called on to hits several short chips and pitches. These shorter shots, in fact, are generally the key to good scoring.

Therefore, the sensible golfer will give over at least a good part of his practice sessions to hitting these short shots.

Another important point about practicing to improve your game is that you should give the most time and work the hardest on the weaker parts of your game. If, for instance, you have been hitting your wood shots well and your short irons poorly, work on those short irons.

Most golfers, unfortunately, tend to practice the things they do best. They find it more fun. Maybe it is more fun, but the real satisfaction in golf comes from getting better at the game. To get better, work hardest on the weakest parts of your game.

There's No Pat Answer for You

'Should I Buy a '60 or '61 Car?'

Automotive Writer

DETROIT — If you are thinking of buying a new car you probably are undergoing some soul searching right now.

Should you buy a 1960 model at close out prices, or wait a month when all the 1961s will be in the showrooms?

Nobody can give you a pat answer. Much depends on what you want — the latest styling and some of the gadgets which will be new in the 1961 lines, or dependable transportation at the lowest price.

By careful shopping you probably can pay a minimum of $300 less now for a car than the comparable 1961 model will cost you. And that's assuming that there is no appreciable boost in prices of the new models.

Prices have not been announced but it is no secret that the automakers hope to come close to their 1960 list prices again next year.

If you buy a 1960 model now it will age one year during the coming month. By Oct. 15, when the national auto show opens here in Detroit, all of the new models will be on sale except Thunderbird, Lincoln-Continental and the smaller Pontiac Tempest.

★ ★ ★

Depreciation of from one-fourth to one-third of the list price will be automatic. On the other hand, depreciation means nothing until you attempt to market the car, or trade it in on a future model.

If you buy a 1960 you should be assured of getting a car with a minimum of production faults in it. The models have been running since last fall and any minor troubles will have been corrected.

If you wait for a 1961 version you will be getting one of the early production models. Often, but not always, these too are without flaws. There is little doubt, however, that the chances of annoying problems are greater in the first cars off the lines.

Another factor to consider before making your decision is how often you change cars. If it is frequently — every year or every other year — depreciation must be considered.

★ ★ ★

At the moment there are some 600,000 to 650,000 unsold 1960 models in dealers' hands. Many of these are loaded with optional equipment.

The faster sellers have been cars with automatic transmissions, six cylinder engines and station wagons.

Most of the compact cars, and especially Falcons and Comets, are in relatively short supply. Chances of getting a spectacular price deal on these aren't very good.

On the other hand, styling changes on the compacts are minor with the exception of the Rambler American. It will be hard to tell the difference, for example, between a 1960 Corvair and a 1961 Corvair from the outside and the same goes for Valiant, Comet and Falcon.

The Corvair has some inside changes, such as a different heater and a relocated spare tire.

In standard car lines, styling changes are more noticeable, especially on the volume lines of Ford and Plymouth.

So the decision as to buy now or wait becomes a personal one. You'll never know for sure if you guessed wrong.

Johnson Hits Trail to Tucson

Tells Rally in Phoenix That GOP Is Party of Failure, Do-Nothingism

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson took his campaign for Arizona's four electoral votes to Tucson today after blasting the Republicans as "the party of do-nothingism."

★ ★ ★

Speaking at a rally in Phoenix Wednesday night, the Democratic vice presidential candidate said the Republican party has "failed conservatism without serving liberalism—or contributing to American progress."

★ ★ ★

He told a wildly cheering, partisan crowd of about 2,000 that every conservative American owes it to his conscience to examine the record of the Eisenhower administration.

In an earlier talk before the Phoenix Press Club, the Texas senator accused the Republicans of switching signals in calling for new federal reclamation projects.

SEES SWEEP OF SOUTH

In reply to questions, Johnson predicted the Republican ticket would not carry a single Southern state and said his running mate, Sen. John F. Kennedy, had improved his position in Texas on his recent swing through the state.

★ ★ ★

And in a talk before the Jewish men's club of Temple Beth Israel, Johnson pleaded against intolerance.

He said it would not be catastrophic for either party if the other won, "but it would be tragic if anyone lost because of race, religion or region."

Kohler Offers Jobs to 1,400 Strikers

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP) — The Kohler Co. Wednesday offered to reinstate about 1,400 striking employes who had not been called back to work since members of Local 833 of the United Auto Workers left their jobs six years ago.

★ ★ ★

The announcement was made by Herbert V. Kohler, president of the plumbingware firm struck on April 5, 1954. He said letters had been mailed to the 1,400 onetime employes offering reinstatement and requesting they make application by Oct. 3.

The sometimes bitter strike, the longest major labor dispute in the nation until it was ended by the union last week, began over contract demands. It included wages and union security.

The National Labor Relations Board last month held the company guilty of unfair labor practices in the strike and ordered reinstatement of certain workers. The company and union appealed the findings to federal courts.

In his announcement, Kohler said:

"With home building starts showing signs of improving after a slow period earlier in the year, and with abandonment of the strike, it is possible that some striking employes, in addition to the hundreds who have already returned to their jobs, may wish to come back. How many we don't know."

Americans use about 780 gallons of petroleum a person each year, about 13 times the amount used by the average person in the rest of the free world.

Chrysler Shares Returned by Court

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Chancery Court of Delaware Wednesday released the stock of eight officers and directors of Chrysler Corp. after they agreed to appear in defense of a stockholders' suit.

The court impounded the stock Aug. 15, after three stockholders asked the corporation be placed in receivership and an accounting be ordered to stockholders.

Those agreeing to testify included L. L. Colbert, Chrysler board chairman.

Chrysler, in a counteraction on Aug. 29, filed a $30 million libel and slander suit against Sol A. Dann, who the company claimed acted out of malice to deliberately injure the company when he filed the original stockholders action.

Market Drifting Low . . . Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted lower in moderate trading early this afternoon as Wall Street wondered whether 1960's "triple bottom" would hold.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .60 at 218.30 with the industrials down .90, the rails down .30 and the utilities down .20.

Key stocks declined from fractions to about a point. The market was lower from the start, met some scattered support and was above its lows as the session wore on.

* * *

Steels, chemicals, drugs, oils, utilities and electronics declined. Autos, nonferrous metals and tobaccos were mixed.

The list still lacked incentive from business news. But Wall Streeters bore in mind that the Federal Reserve Board frequently takes action after the close on Thursday and some hoped that another cut in margin requirements might be in the offering.

Holders of steel shares were discouraged by an article in Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, that October may have to be written off as a recovery month for steel output and that some observers now have put off long-term recovery until March 1961.

U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin and Youngstown Sheet fell about a point. Bethlehem and Republic are about unchanged.

Some of the wider moves took sharp issues. Eastman Kodak dropped about 3 and Texas Instrument more than 2.

Southern California Edison fell a point to 64 on 9,500 shares. Beckman Instruments and Schering were off about a point each.

Thiokol, the rocket fuel stock, was up more than a point in a continued rise. Zenith made a similar gain.

Kellis Urges Security Probe

County Dem Candidate for Congress Requests Study by Ike

President Eisenhower has been urged by Oakland County's Democratic congressional candidate to appoint a committee to survey the country's intelligence and security agencies.

In a letter to the President James Kellis of Berkley also continued his criticism of Allen Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and his handling of these branches of the government.

"Mr. Dulles has a fine record as an intelligence operative in the OSS and CIA but to put it mildly 'he is innocent of administration,'" Kellis wrote the President.

He suggested a man such as J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, for the high post.

First, however, Kellis suggested in the seven-page letter to the White House that "a committee of knowledgeable, courageous and tough-minded individuals be appointed to survey all our intelligence and security agencies."

"It should be bipartisan or nonpartisan and should include certain individuals such as Sen. Mansfield, D-Mont., Congressman John A. Blatnik of Minnesota and Mr. J. Edgar Hoover," Kellis went on.

This committee, Kellis said, should do more than come forth with "an optimistic picture of our effort," which emanated, the candidate said, from a similar committee the President appointed in 1954 upon the suggestion of Kellis, then acting operations chief in the CIA.

3 Groups Back State on Housing Antibias

LANSING (UPI) — Three anti-discrimination groups Wednesday filed a brief in Ingham Circuit Court in support of the state's position in favor of a controversial corporation and securities rule against bias in real estate dealings.

Representatives of Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams were to meet with Judge Sam S. Hughes this week to discuss the case.

Three Lansing real estate dealers obtained an injunction from Hughes to prevent the antibias rule from going into effect.

Earlier, real estate men had vigorously opposed the rule in public hearings and legislative committee had disapprove it on the ground it usurped legislative powers.

The American Jewish Congress, American Civil Liberties Union and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People entered the case as interested parties.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Leon S. Cohan, one of the lawyers handling the state's case, called their brief "very comprehensive."

Reuther to Urge Votes

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers Chief Walter P. Reuther will speak in the Ford Auditorium here tonight in the first of a series of AFL-CIO voter registration rallies across the nation.

THE COMET — A new grille and modest ornamental changes identify the 1961 models of the two- and four-door sedans and the two- and four-door station wagons. In addition to the standard 85-horsepower engine, the 1961 Comet, which offers an optional 101-horsepower six, may be seen at Lloyd Motor Sales, 232 S. Saginaw St.

Optional Engine Available

Comet Styling Same for 1961

The Comet will retain its basic styling for 1961 and will offer a higher performance optional engine, Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Co. vice president and general manager of Lincoln-Mercury Division, announced today.

* * *

Two engines will be available for the 1961 Comet. The standard 85 horsepower economy engine will be continued. In addition, a 101 horsepower engine will be offered in the new model Comet for the first time at a modest extra cost. The new engine has a displacement of 170 cubic inches and develops its maximum torque, 156 foot-pounds, at 2,400 r.p.m.

The Comet continues with four models for 1961: a two-door sedan, four-door sedan, two-door station wagon, and four-door station wagon. All are available with either the standard or optional engine, and with manual or automatic transmission.

Main styling changes include a new aluminum grille, new fender ornamentation, and new standard and optional trim fabrics. Standard fabrics offer more color harmony with exterior colors, and there is greater variety in the optional fabrics.

* * *

Basically, the 1961 Comet retains the sheet metal treatment of the 1960 model: the styling balance of a larger car, luxury line roof, canted taillights, and ample luggage space.

Comet's unitized body is rust-protected in underbody areas with a galvanized coating. Tests have shown this zinc-coating more than doubles the rust resistance of the Comet.

The Comet will have a wide variety of options and accessories as it had in 1960 models, but offers an air conditioning unit.

* * *

Comet dimensions are simple for a family of six to travel comfortably with luggage. The sedans are 194.8 inches long, 54.5 inches high, and 70.4 inches wide.

Effective headroom is 38.9 inches in the front, and 37.6 in the back. Station wagons, on a 109.5 inch wheelbase, are 191.8 inches long, 55.1 inches high, and 70.4 inches wide.

* * *

Headroom and legroom is basically the same as the sedans. Sedans have luggage capacity of 28.5 cubic feet, and station wagons have cargo space of 76.2 cubic feet.

DART PICK-UP — Featuring a 140-horsepower slanted 6-cylinder engine, the 1961 Dodge Dart half-ton pick-up combines passenger car styling and handling ease with traditional truck durability. Available in wheelbases of 114 and 122 inches, the Dart pick-up has a maximum gross vehicle weight rating of 5,100 pounds.

2 Pilots Spend 30 Days in Tank

Break 'Space-Flight' Record

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two Air Force pilots, grinning and happy, today completed a record-breaking 30-day simulated flight to the moon and back.

Capt. William D. Habluetzel of Ingleside, Tex., and Lt. John W. Hargraves, Jr., of Castle Air Force Base, Calif., stepped from their 8x12-foot pressurized steel tank at 6:30 a. m.

Habluetzel, 36, and Hargraves, 30, were locked in the space cabin simulator at the School of Aviation Medicine here Aug. 15.

"I feel fine, just a little wobbly in the knees," said Habluetzel.

"I'm okay, except maybe I lost 15 pounds," said Hargraves.

* * *

Both said the first things they noted upon leaving the cabin was the bright lights in the room and the lightness in their heads.

Habluetzel said he did not experience headaches as previous space cabin test pilots have reported.

* * *

Both wore their light blue-green hospital pajamas that had been their uniform throughout the test.

Habluetzel said he thought they felt as good as they did because they kept regular sleeping hours and did exercises every day.

* * *

"We did a lot of thinking, too. We had a lot of time for it. We thought about what people will go through when they actually fly a space ship. And we thought a lot about memories of the past," Habluetzel said.

Today's hatch-opening ceremony completed the Air Force's third major test designed to show the human body is capable of withstanding space frontier hardships.

* * *

In February, Sgts. Hobart M. Craft, 36, Wedowee, Ala., and William W. Henderson, 30, of Alice, Tex., spent almost 14 days in the same cabin. The sergeants crawled out of the tank complaining of wobbly knees and occasional headaches.

The first simulated space pioneer was Airman Donald Farrell who attracted national fame in 1958 by spending seven days in a 3x5-foot cabin. He urged other space travelers not to travel alone because of the loneliness.

SPACE TEST OVER — Capt. William D. Hubluetzel, 36, (left) of Ingleside, Tex., and 1st Lt. John J. Hargraves, 30, of Castle AFB, Calif., came out of a pressurized tank this morning in San Antonio, Tex., after 30 days, 8 hours and 21 minutes of simulated space flight. Greeting them after the record stint is Dr. Billy Welch, space scientist in charge of the experiment.

Four Escapees From Hospital Found in Florida

Two boys and two girls who escaped from Pontiac State Hospital a week ago were arrested yesterday in Bradenton, Fla.

Bradenton Police Chief Harry Wilkison reported they were in a car stolen in Pontiac.

The four were identified as Nancy and John Belber, 18 and 19; and Sharon and Terry Morgan, 18 and 19.

Dr. Walter H. Obenauf, Pontiac State Hospital medical superintendent, reported the apprehended patients fled from the hospital grounds last Thursday.

Victim of Car Fumes Recovering in Hospital

An Detroit motorist overcome yesterday by carbon monoxide fumes in his car was in satisfactory condition this morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

* * *

Sheriff's deputies found Edward Robinson, 45, unconscious in his car yesterday morning on West Maple Road east of Pontiac Trail in Walled Lake.

* * *

Investigation showed his car to have a leaky exhaust system.

U.S. Confident U.N. Will Nix Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials expressed confidence today that the forthcoming meeting of the U.N. General Assembly will again turn down—and by a comfortable majority—the question of seating Communist China.

The issue has been raised and defeated each year for a number of years.

* * *

The Soviet Union has asked Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to have the Chinese Communist representation issue placed on the agenda.

* * *

TV News and Reviews

'Aquanauts' Story Reads Like Father, Like Son

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Aquanauts," a full-hour adventure series that CBS-TV hopes will sidetrack "Wagon Train" in the renewed ratings war, dog-paddled gamely into view last night.

The first episode gave off more bubbles than Lawrence Welk and Lloyd Bridges, combined, see in a whole season.

It was possible to discern in "Aquanauts" an embarrassingly close resemblance to the prototype underwater TV series, "Sea Hunt." And why not? the producer of both shows is Ivan Tors. It's all in the family.

"Aquanauts," the latest outlet for Tors' extensive library of underwater action scenes, offers nothing new. The premiere introduced us to Drake Andrews and Larry Lahr, a team of free-lance skin divers (have fins, will travel) effortlessly portrayed by Keith Larsen and Jeremy Slate, respectively.

* * *

The boys put in a busy hour. Besides mining manganese off the ocean floor around Hawaii, they set off underwater explosions, rescued a lady diver who was trapped in an underwater cave, saved four men who were trapped in a shark cage, steered clear of man-eating sharks.

They also waved at a friendly whale, participated in a fist fight (above water), taught a reckless diver the merits of diving carefully and introduced us, with more film clips, to the relatively new pastime of "paradiving," which involves diving into the drink from an airplane.

While there doesn't seem to be much available film about paradiving at present, I'll bet Ivan Tors will find enough for weaving into a new series next year.

The "Aquanaut" story, or stories, were cleverly drawn-out and, as with "Sea Hunt," occasionally offered some technically interesting scenes. Also reminiscent of "Sea Hunt" is the background music and the "voice-over" narration.

The only edge I can give "Aquanauts" is in the supporting cast category. The "Sea Hunt" bit players are usually amateurish but the "Aquanaut" crew seemed more competent as actors. Lloyd Bridges, however, is still the greatest scuba artist alive.

While each "Aquanaut" episode will last twice as long as a "Sea Hunt" episode, it's not twice as good. Or twice as bad. Just twice as long.

* * *

"Hawaiian Eye" began its second bloodshot season on ABC-TV last night with an episode that was chiefly distinguished by a perky title: "I Wed Three Wives," nothing else perked.

The story dealt with a show down session as the three exwives of a movie idol sought back alimony from him at gunpoint. The production never settled down as a comedy and as drama was woeful.

The hour was padded with the usual time-killers — a song, automobile driving, ordering drinks. Efrem Zimbalist and Roger Smith, stars of "77 Sunset Strip," were utilized briefly — very briefly — in an early scene. The rest of the cast had to stuck around to the bitter end

A VIEW FROM THE INSIDE — The tables turned, Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons (right) looks out from the wrong side of the jail house bars after he and William F. Sylvan Council Names Manager

Marshall H. Woodburn Formerly at Baltimore Credit Firm

The Sylvan Lake City Council last night named Marshall H. Woodburn of Detroit as city manager-clerk.

Woodburn, 52, was formerly assistant credit manager for Commercial Credit Equipment Corp. of Baltimore, Md., a subsidiary of Commercial Credit Co.

Appointment to the $6,000-per-year position is effective immediately.

Woodburn is the city's first full-time city manager since David Fitzsimons resigned Aug. 1 to accept the city manager post in Troy.

Woodburn will take over from Acting City Manager Stanley Filkins, who had filled the position on a part-time basis since Aug. 1.

Before working for the Baltimore firm, Woodburn was zone manager in Pittsburgh and Detroit for the Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Co.

He will continue to live in Detroit temporarily.

The city manager in Sylvan Lake is also city clerk.

Nixon Woos Machinists Labor Vote

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon wooed labor votes today after a free-wheeling news conference assertion he won't be downhearted if the Soviet Union puts the first man into space.

The Republican presidential nominee told reporters it was "hard to say" whether such a Soviet achievement would have an adverse effect on his candidacy.

* * *

But if it does happen, he said, "our own program is coming along splendidly, and if they do move ahead, they won't stay there long."

That was at a televised press conference in Peoria, Ill., before he spoke in Bradley University's Field House to a cheering crowd of some 10,000 persons.

Then he flew into St. Louis on the heels of Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic rival, for an address before the convention of the million-member International Association of Machinists.

* * *

Nixon said upon his arrival here Wednesday night that he expected the union would endorse Kennedy.

But, he told an interviewer, "I appreciate the invitation to address the convention—who knows, I may pick up a few votes."

Kennedy addressed the convention Wednesday.

Nixon arrived at St. Louis Municipal Airport at 11 p.m. and was greeted by a police-estimated crowd of 5,000.

* * *

"It caps a wonderful day of campaigning for us," Nixon told the gathering as his wife, Pat, stood by his side. "When you see a crowd like this at this time of night in a state that is supposed to be hopelessly on the other side, believe me, things are happening."

* * *

The crowd was only about half of that which turned out for Kennedy the night before when he arrived some three hours earlier.

State Seeking WMU President

School Board Meets Still Deadlocked Over Successor to Sangren

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education today turned once more to the knotty problem of finding a new president for fast-growing Western Michigan University.

* * *

Lynn M. Bartlett, who as state superintendent of public instruction is board secretary, declined in advance of the meeting to speculate whether a decision was imminent.

Bartlett disclosed however that the board last week quietly interviewed Robert Steadman, a former state controller and Wayne State University faculty member.

The state school chief opened a push for Steadman when he yielded a month ago in pressure to drop his own candidacy for the $25,000 a year post and end a long deadlock on the four-member board.

* * *

At the time, there was speculation that Bartlett's withdrawal might enhance prospects for James W. Miller, also a former state controller, to be named as permanent successor to Paul V. Sangren, who retired July 1.

Miller only 10 weeks ago took up new duties as secretary of the Michigan State University Board of Trustees.

But in recent weeks reports circulated that emergence of Steadman's candidacy left the board in a continuing two-to-two standoff — split in effect for and against Miller rather than Bartlett.

The search for a replacement for the ailing Sangren began about 10 months ago when he announced retirement plans.

* * *

When it became obvious in June that the board could not agree, Gerald Osborn, 57, dean of liberal arts and sciences, was appointed acting president.

Meantime, evidence grew of Democratic politicking in the background — with friends maneuvering in behalf of Steadman and Miller.

* * *

Russel E. Siebert, a WMU vice president, has been among those prominently mentioned for the position.

First Session of School Year

Train Bus Drivers Tonight

Oakland County school bus drivers will meet at Pontiac Northern High School tonight for the first and biggest of several training programs this fall.

* * *

It will be the first time that all the more than 400 drivers for county schools have met in one place for the driving safety and training course.

* * *

Instructors will be representatives from the Pontiac State Police Post and Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Previously the in-training course had been handled by college personnel who came to the county to teach small local groups of bus drivers.

The initial program tonight will take place from 7 to 10. The instruction must be offered each year, according to state law.

* * *

Erwin Hendershott, director of school transportation for the county board of education, will be in charge of the entire program.

Poland Enters W. Reich Fight

Refuses to Recognize Validity of Passports for Travel to East

BERLIN (AP) — Poland today joined in the Communist squeeze on West Berlin.

The Warsaw government, following the example of East Germany, refused to recognize the validity of West German passports for travel to the East.

A spokesman at the Polish mission here said West Berliners traveling to Poland must have their visas stamped on a separate piece of paper attached to their personal identity cards.

Czechoslovakia was expected to impose the same restrictions.

For the past two weeks East German Communists have been jabbing at West Berlin, a four-power occupation city since 1945.

The ultimate objective is to get the Allies out of Berlin.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt charged Wednesday night that the squeeze was an attempt to "isolate and humiliate" West Berliners.

Western officials in Bonn disclosed the United States, Britain and France have officially protested to the Soviet Union.

The Soviets rejected a previous protest. Under the postwar agreement, the West holds the U.S.S.R. responsible for actions of the East Germans in the Red-ruled half of Berlin.

The West German government said out a long-range threat of a trade boycott by announcing that it would prevent West German businessmen from attending the Leipzig Trade Fair in East Germany. The next fair isn't until spring and a Bonn spokesman said enforcement of the ban will depend on whether the Communist travel restrictions are still in force by that time.

17-Year-Old Called 'Bad'

Court Summons Parents of Imprisoned Daughter

CHICAGO (UPI) — A couple accused of imprisoning their 17-year-old adopted daughter for two years because she was "bad" were in appear today in Domestic Relations Court.

* * *

Robert A. Cordt, 49, an auto agency credit manager, and his wife Margaret, 48, were charged with contributing to the dependency of their daughter Carole.

Carole told police Wednesday her adoptive parents had not permitted her to leave their house for two years and had kept her locked behind iron bars on their back porch for the past three months.

The Cordts were seized Tuesday night on a complaint by Cordt's niece Pamela Sheets, 13, of suburban Glenview. Miss Sheets told officers she had slipped into the house several times since July and taken Carole out for a meal.

* * *

Carole said Cordt forced her to address 2,000 envelopes a day by hand. He collected about $250 a month for her work, she said. He gave her oatmeal for breakfast and then locked her up, she told officers.

He checked her progress every night, she said, and "if I was through with my work, I got what they ate for dinner. If I wasn't through, I got oatmeal again, or nothing."

Carole charged Cordt with beating her. She said he allowed her to bathe once a week in the basement laundry tub.

Police said Cordt explained his actions by saying that Carole was "bad. She's a shoplifter."

* * *

Carole admitted stealing food from a grocery store because "I was hungry." Police said she appeared undernourished.

WMU's Registration 600 Over Prediction

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Western Michigan University Registrar Clayton J. Maus said today that enrollment at the school was 600 more than anticipated and late registrations were still coming in.

Total enrollment for the fall term has reached 8,900 and is expected to pass the 9,000 mark.

Chrysler Suit in Court

Attorney Threatens Sol When Dann Gets Excited

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A Chrysler corporation attorney has threatened to charge Sol A. Dann with contempt when Dann raised his voice during the taking of a deposition.

* * *

Dann has charged Chrysler and certain corporation officials in the auto firm. He has demanded an accounting of Chrysler profits.

* * *

Questioning of Dann was conducted Wednesday by Nelson Pollock of New York, a Chrysler attorney. He asked Dann if he had organized protective stockholder committees for firms other than Chrysler.

Dann replied he had in American Motors. He refused, on advice of counsel, to say whether he had done the same for Studebaker-Packard. Asked about other companies, Dann said he would have to consult his records before answering.

Dann said that in addition to Chrysler he has held stock in General Motors, Ford, American Motors and Studebaker-Packard. He has held Chrysler stock since 1956.

* * *

Dann said he notified the Securities and Exchange Commission last April 29 about alleged mismanagement in Chrysler. He said that attempts were made at the time to bribe him not to notify the SEC. He refused to say who tried to keep him from making the report.

* * *

Asked about the protective stockholders committee at Chrysler, Dann said he and his wife organized it and that others were permitted to join in a "loose arrangement."

When Dann became excited a second time during the questioning, Pollock threatened to take him before the chancery court on a contempt charge.

To which Dann replied: "I've been threatened by experts including your $30 million quasi-criminal libel suit."

* * *

Dann referred to the suit Chrysler filed in Superior Court here after Dann filed his original suit against the company.

* * *

Chancery Court Wednesday released the stock of eight officers and directors of Chrysler Corp. after they agreed to appear in defense of Dann's suit.

Another class on "Communism and How to Recognize It" will also be included.

The lessons are taught by volunteer doctors and nurses and there is no charge for the course. Meetings are 8 p.m. each Tuesday at the William Austin Burt School, 581 S. Winding Drive.

Start Installing Lodge Xway TV

Traffic Control Aid to Be Done Within Year; First of Its Kind

DETROIT (AP)—Work begins today on installation of a closed circuit television network designed to aid traffic control on the John C. Lodge Expressway that cuts through the heart of Detroit.

General Electric Co. and Michigan Bell Telephone Co. will complete the project before the end of the year, said State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The $420,000 project calls for installation of 14 TV cameras on bridges crossing one of the busiest sections of the expressway.

An operator, viewing the pictures from a central control room, will be able to close traffic lanes, reduce speed limits and close ramps leading to the freeway when conditions indicate.

Mackie said it was the first of its kind in the nation.

The federal government will pay for 80 per cent of the cost, with the state, city and Wayne County sharing the balance.

The system will operate for at least two years and probably will be expanded if it proves successful, Mackie said.

Tab Was Disciplining Dog, Gets in Trouble

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Tab Hunter's in town admitting a fondness for an NBC TV program starting Sunday night—called "the Tab Hunter Show"—but inwardly the sensitive young man is seething.

WILSON

He is burning about his trial on dog-beating charges which comes up in Los Angeles on Oct. 10.

"It's really got me bugged and I can't wait to prove my innocense," Tab exclaimed across a chopped steak the other night.

"Most people should have as good a life as Fritz has had!" Tab added, brandishing a fork. "I've got pictures of him swimming in the pool with me, and sleeping under the trees on hot days.

"He's a big Weimaraner," Tab explained. "He was digging. 'I said 'No dig, no dig!' and I slapped his paws. He howled.

★ ★ ★

"Well!" argued Tab. "You have to discipline animals. My dog-trainer told me that." "Now," he shrugged, "a lot of people have said they'd like to hang both the trainer and me."

JULIA

A friend asked Mrs. Buddy Hackett, who's expecting in three week, how she's feeling. She replied, "Fat!"

Lovely Julia Darvas (of the dance team of Darvas & Julia) is getting a Mexican divorce from Los Angeles jeweler David Blake after a few months of marriage — and there'll be a party for her new freedom tomorrow. The marriage ended amicably. But it hampered her career as a dance partner of Nicky Darvas, author of the stock market best seller. A Moscow engagement they had canceled will be revived, and they'll return to the Perry Como show . . .

Should Britain Stop A-Output?

Labor Party Proposes England Rely on U.S. for Nuclear Weapons

LONDON (UPI) — Opposition Labor party leaders proposed Wednesday that Britain eventually should quit making atomic weapons and rely solely on the United States to produce a nuclear deterrent.

★ ★ ★

The proposal was contained in a policy statement worked out by the party's national executive. It will be submitted to the party convention next month.

★ ★ ★

The statement said Britain and other NATO Allies aside from the United States should confine themselves to producing conventional arms.

★ ★ ★

U.S.-made nuclear weapons should be controlled by NATO and the decision to use them should rest with politicians, not generals, the statement said.

★ ★ ★

The executive said the United Nations must be the keystone for British foreign policy "but so long as the world is divided into rival blocs the United Nations itself will remain divided and so unable to guarantee security of its members."

Smuggling Laid to Ex-Admiral

Retired Naval Officer Indicted for Bringing in Liquor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department announced Wednesday that retired Adm. William L. Erdmann has been indicted on charges of smuggling an estimated $4,300 worth of scotch, bourbon, gin and assorted liquors into the United States.

★ ★ ★

The Justice Department announcement, made with the concurrence of the secretary of the Navy, said that Erdmann, a much-decorated veteran of 38 years in the service, was indicted by a grand jury in San Francisco.

Erdmann, 57, retired last April. His last post was commander of U. S. Naval forces in the Marianas Islands in the Pacific.

The four-count indictment charges him with bringing 42 cases of untaxed liquor into the port of San Francisco aboard the aircraft carrier Bonhomme Richard in a 3,651-pound case labeled "household effects."

COUNTER INTEGRATED — A Tampa, Fla., Negro is served Wednesday at a lunch counter after a secret meeting of city officials, store managers and NAACP representatives. Following the meeting, 70 Negroes traveled from store to store, one or two at a time, and were served by white waitresses at previously all-white counters.

So Song Writer Flees

E. Germany Raps Love

BERLIN (UPI)—One of East Germany's most popular song writers said Wednesday that he fled to the West to escape having to write songs designed to downgrade love and popularize work.

Twenty four-year-old Konrad Wolf was interviewed 24 hours after seeking political asylum here.

He was accompanied by his 18-year-old wife Ingrid who said she fled because the East Germans would not allow her to perform American hit tunes.

Konrad said he was compelled to write songs about "cement mixers and chemistry" and that "as a result 30 of my songs still are not printed or recorded."

OTHERS TOO DECADENT

He said that more romantic songs like "Don't Kiss Me Just Once" and "Between Departing and Meeting Again" had been recorded by West German companies but were rejected as "decadent" and "sounding American" by the Communists.

He said that the East Germans said "young people would be unfavorably influenced by them."

The composer, who also was a director of a musical publishing house and of a radio program, said rock 'n' roll was strictly out in East Germany and that jazz was officially "not desired."

★ ★ ★

He said "most people listen to it on the Western radio even more so because it is forbidden."

Fall Festival Turnout Doubles Expectations

Free Breakfast Draws 2,000; They Eat It Up

Stage Shows Begin, Loudspeakers Blare in Carnival Atmosphere

In its opening hours, the Downtown Fall Festival drew thousands of shoppers today, giving early confirmation to predictions that the three days sales event would be the most successful to date.

More than 2,000 persons —more than twice the number expected—enjoyed the first free breakfast by the Downtown Merchants Association as one of this year's chief drawing cards.

By noon, sidewalks were filling up with shoppers and sidewalk displays, loud speakers were blaring, stage shows were beginning and an outdoor farm market had been created along the curbs of downtown Saginaw Street.

At 10:15 a.m., 15 minutes before the 1½-hour breakfast was to end, cooks of the West Side Kiwanis Club began digging into their third carton of 1,000 paper plates, indicating that more than 2,000 had already enjoyed a free breakfast of scrambled eggs, pancakes and coffee.

The merchants had thought they were optimistic in predicting a turnout of 1,000 the first day.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Transit Corp. reported "brisk" patronage on downtown-bound buses between 8:30-9:30 a.m. when rides were free.

There was something for everyone in the bazaars and displays along Saginaw and Huron Streets.

You could buy just about anything at a bargain price. For instance, you could have a candied apple for a nickel, 300 aspirins for 39 cents, a regulation football for $1.19 or two print dresses for $7.

You could buy a rabbit, if you wanted to, for $1, $1.25 or $1.50, depending on size, or a brand new washing machine for $188.88.

Among the farm produce you could find pears, cabbage, squash, onions, peppers, beans, cucumbers, beets, carrots, potatoes, pumpkins, apples, honey, melons, grapes, peaches, plums — you name it, it was there.

Some farmers displayed handicraft, some flowers, others baked goods.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Beecher Rossman, 3342 Bald Mountain Road, Orion Township, a farmer's wife, was offering for sale nylon and lace tissue boxes, which she makes for a hobby.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sieloff came all the way from the farm at Willis in Washtenaw County to sell melons.

On East Huron Street, a wildlife zoo was being set up and a group of children were fascinated by a Capuchin monkey, a raccoon, a woodchuck, a trio of fox snakes and a fawn.

Judy Wright, 16, of Monroe, demonstrated how an eight-inch long Blow adder inflates himself with air to make himself look bigger to his enemies.

Her father, Ernest Wright, operator of the zoo, promised to have a 200-pound lion, born in Africa, on hand tomorrow.

Discoverer Capsule Spotted In Pacific

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An Air Force search plane Wednesday night spotted the missing capsule of the Discoverer XV satellite.

★ ★ ★

The capsule had been all but given up for lost when a JC54 plane found it bobbing in the sea near Christmas Island. Beeping and flashing, it was about 1,000 miles southwest of the recovery area north of Hawaii where it should have landed.

The Air Force said an amphibious plane will land as soon as there is enough light.

★ ★ ★

"The sea condition is favorable for a landing to pick up the capsule," an official added.

It would be the third straight time the United States has sent a capsule into orbit and recovered it.

From left are James M. Cribner, president of the West Side Kiwanis Club; Norman L. Pattison, festival chairman; Mayor Philip E. Rowston; Philip R. Sauer, who with Monroe M. Osmun is in charge of the free breakfast; Lester Simmons, the chef; and Osmun, one of many downtown leaders who sported costumes today. Breakfast consisted of scrambled eggs and pancakes, cooked by the Kiwanis Club.

Says Defector From the Soviet

Russia Poised for Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet leaders would not hesitate to launch a surprise nuclear attack on the United States if they thought this nation could be smashed with one stroke, a former Soviet naval officer says.

Capt. Nikolai Fedorovich Artamonov testified Wednesday that Soviet military strategy has been based on the doctrine of a surprise nuclear attack since February 1955.

Artamonov, 32, who was commander of a Soviet destroyer in the Baltic fleet, defected to the United States in June 1959 while stationed at Gdynia, Poland.

His appearance before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, however, provided the first public disclosure of his presence in this country.

The slim, bespectacled Soviet with a heavy black moustache spent most of his time telling of his Soviet-style education and of a gradual disillusionment with Soviet leaders.

He said he had been in the United States since shortly after he fled to the West, working with U.S. agencies he did not name.

He said he lives now in New York City, at an undisclosed address, without guards or any form of protection from Communist retaliation.

Despite premier Nikita Khrushchev's repeated pronouncements favoring disarmament, Artamonov said, the Soviet doctrine of a surprise attack has been official since February 1955. He said it was spelled out in a Soviet military publication available only to high-ranking officers.

He said he had not himself seen any directives ordering preparations for such a surprise assault on this nation.

But he added: "I know of general, broad statements which tended to prepare the Soviet officer corps for the possibility of being ordered to make a surprise attack."

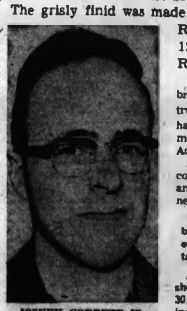

He said "no senior Soviet officer believes that the United states would attack first."

Under questioning, Artamonov confirmed Western suspicions that the Soviet fishing trawlers frequently seen near U. S. waters are spying, not fishing. He said the vessels always are operated and manned by agents of Soviet naval intelligence.

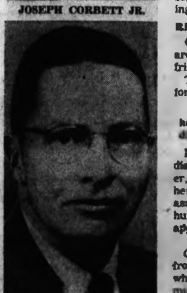

Bones, Millionaire Coors' Clothes Found Near Denver

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The discovery of the bones of a six-foot man and the clothing of Adolph Coors III provided the FBI today with a possible key to the disappearance of the millionaire brewer seven months ago.

The grisly finid was made at a trash dump in the Rocky Mountain foothills 12 miles west of Castle Rock, south of Denver.

JOSEPH CORBETT JR.

ADOLPH COORS III

This is 25 miles from the rural bridge where Coors' abandoned truck was found last Feb. 9. He had left his mountain home that morning en route to work at the Adolph Coors Co. plant at Golden.

Agents and sheriff's officers are continuing the search for the skull and other bones they said are needed for identification.

A pathologist has said the bones already found are those of an adult male about six feet tall, about the size of Coors.

A truck driver on a target shooting outing, Edward Green, 30, of Englewood, found the clothing last Sunday.

REPORTS TO POLICE

Green returned to the Denver area and advised a policeman friend, who called the FBI.

The FBI did not disclose the information until Wednesday.

Coors' wife and four children have been in seclusion since his disappearance.

Earlier this summer, the FBI disclosed that an escaped murderer, Joseph Corbett Jr., had lived here for four years under an assumed name and left Denver hurriedly the day after Coors disappeared.

Corbett, 31, escaped in 1956 from the Chino, Calif., prison where he was serving a term for murder.

The FBI never has linked Corbett with the Coors case.

Knudsen Predicts Good Year

Tempest, '61 Pontiac Unveiled for Press

DETROIT—Pontiac Motor Division pulled the curtain off its impressive new family car—The Tempest—before 250 auto writers and editors from across the nation here today.

Semon E. Knudsen, division general manager and General Motors Corp. vice president, predicted a good business year as he introduced both the Tempest and the 1961 Pontiac models.

"Our new cars will be introduced under business conditions similar to the ones we now operate in," Knudsen said. "There is no boom ahead, but business will be good.

"In this climate we feel that 1961 industry sales will be as good as 1960 and could go as high as 7 million units, including 450,000 to 500,000 imports.

"We expect to sell the same number of 1961 regular size Pontiacs as in 1960, and that the Tempest will be plus business for our division," Knudsen said.

The Tempest, Knudsen told newsmen, will be the first four-cylinder engine on an American car in nearly a decade.

The Tempest also will feature a rear-mounted transmission which virtually eliminates the

City Contractor Alleges Swindle

Claims Detroit Concern Altered Invoices for Up to $100,000

A Pontiac construction firm has alleged in a warrant against a Detroit subcontractor that it was swindled out of $100,000 by the altering of invoices on an addition to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dearborn.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum yesterday signed the warrant charging William McCracken, owner and president of the United Heat Engineering Co., Inc., of 17129 Rockdale St., with uttering and publishing a false and altered invoice and executing a fraudulent warehouse receipt.

In a statement to Anthony Renne, assistant prosecutor, Raymond T. Westrick, secretary-treasurer of the J. A. Fredman Co., 735 S. Paddock St., estimated the alleged fraud at $100,000.

Renne said McCracken would add digits to the amount on the construction material invoices, thus raising the amount of money he eventually received from the government.

★ ★ ★

The warrant specified that McCracken added a "1" in front of a $7,384 invoice, Renne said there is evidence that the Detroit man altered other invoices also.

A Detroit attorney contacted Renne this morning and said he would surrender McCracken to Pontiac police today.

ETHEL'S AIM — Hurricane Ethel is reported nearing the Mobile, Ala.-Pensacola, Fla., area with top winds of 100 miles per hour. The map shows the location and direction of the new howler.

Tornado Offshoots Cut Power Lines, No One Reported Injured

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Ethel, her power drained considerably by colder air, moved toward the coast today with top minds estimated at 100 miles per hour.

A Weather Bureau bulletin placed the center of the storm 80 miles southsouthwest of Mobile and heading for the Mobile-Pensacola area at 15 miles an hour.

Tornadoes, an offshoot of the hurricane, struck in the Panama City, Fla., area today, 100 miles to the west. Power lines were knocked down and other property damaged by the twisters in the communities of West Bay and Springfield, the Florida Highway Patrol reported. No casualties were reported.

The Coast Guard in New Orleans, La., reported two persons were missing and presumed drowned after their boat capsized near the mouth of the Mississippi River about 90 miles southeast of New Orleans.

The Weather Bureau said a mass of colder air moved into the hurricance circulation, cutting down Ethel's power.

The center of the storm extended outward 100 miles to the northeast and 50 miles to the southwest, the Weather Bureau said.

One death was indirectly attributed to the storm. Josie Savoie, 68, a retired engineer, died in New Orleans of a heart attack while securing attic windows preparing for the storm. At first there were indications the hurricane would strike New Orleans.

Authorities in the Central Gulf Coast estimated at least 50,400 persons fled from the fury of the storm.

FLEE QUICKLY

At New Orleans, Louisiana Civil Defense officials said a conservative estimate of persons in shelters and private homes in southeast Louisiana was 31,000.

Residents of Louisiana's marshland country left without a second warning, undoubtedly recalling that Hurricane Audry left 500 dead and missing in 1957.

Officials along the Mississippi Gulf Coast said some 5,900 persons were in shelters at Biloxi, Pascagoula, Gulfport, Bay St. Louis and Ocean Springs. Refugees jammed hotels and motels as far away as Jackson, 200 miles from the coast.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy says three Soviet ships are heading for the central Pacific target area where the Soviets aim their long range missile tests. A Soviet tanker and tug also are operating in the North Atlantic.

The fore Navy announcement Wednesday had nothing to offer on what these ships are doing. But it set off immediate speculation that the ship movements may be connected with some new Soviet space achievement to be timed with the arrival in New York next week of Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The ships in the Pacific, the Navy said, are the same ones used to monitor previous Soviet long-range missile tests conducted there last January and June.

Congo Seesaws Back to Lumumba

Crisis Looming Over U.N.'s Dag

Soviet Jumps In With Most Bitter Attack on His African Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The United Nations faced a major crisis today as a result of a shifting Soviet attack on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and his Congo policies.

A wide-open break was threatened virtually on the eve of the Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's appearance here.

The Western powers, led by the United States, prepared to rally to Hammarskjold's support in another round of Security Council meetings beginning this morning on the chaotic Congo situation.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet attack, more bitter than ever made by a big power against a U.N. secretary general, came Wednesday night from Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, newly arrived from Moscow. It reflected the intensity of the Soviet interest in the outcome of the power struggle in the new African country.

★ ★ ★

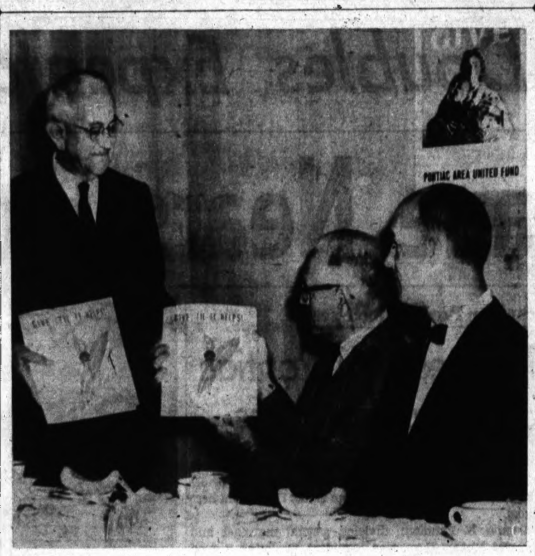

Zorin's blistering 74-minute speech against Hammarskjold was delivered after the Security Council failed to grant a Soviet bloc demand that a delegation representing leftist Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba take part in the debate. Only the Soviet Union, Poland and Ceylon voted for a motion to seat Lumumba's delegation, while the other eight council members abstained.

ADMIT RIVALS

The action was taken on the admission of a rival delegation representing Congo President Joseph Kasavubu.

Zorin accused Hammarskjold of being a tool of Western imperialists, of conspiring with the NATO powers to undermine Lumumba, and of trying to re-impose colonialism under the blue and white banners of the United Nations.

Chief U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth, in a statement outside the council, called the Soviet accusations "arrogant and hypocritical." He planned to throw his full support behind Hammarskjold during today's debate.

Army in Power for One Day

Premier Has Mobutu Arrested After Coup by Military

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—A spokesman for Premier Patrice Lumumba said today Col. Joseph Mobutu was arrested on Lumumba's orders 12 hours after the colonel announced the army was taking over power.

Mobutu, coming forward as an army strongman, announced Wednesday night that the army was "neutralizing" both Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu, the contestants in the Congo's own cold war for power, and that the Soviets and other Communists were being given 48 hours to get out of the country.

★ ★ ★

But Lumumba's spokesman, Serge Michel, a leftwing French expatriate, announced today that Lumumba was still in power.

★ ★ ★

"The prime minister is having a working session," he said. "Col. Mobutu is out of harm's way. He has been arrested."

No one in the Congolese capital was surprised by the announcement of what appeared to be the second coup in 12 hours—with possibly others being prepared.

Crowds of President Kasavubu's Abako party supporters were still marching through the city, joyful over Mobutu's coup and chanting for Lumumba's death.

★ ★ ★

Immediately after Michel's announcement of Mobutu's arrest the Senate met for an emergency session that was four short of a quorum.

★ ★ ★

Earlier Mobutu had told newsmen that Lumumba was at Camp Leopold II, the main army camp at Leopoldville. This was taken to mean that he was in custody, but the wily premier may have been busy winning his jailers over as he did once before when he was arrested on Kasavubu's orders.

In the fast-changing situation, steel-helmeted U.N. soldiers dispersed troops of Congolese in the European quarters. U.N. Ghana troops waited behind machine guns.

NAMED WEDNESDAY

Mobutu, 30, was named army chief of staff only Wednesday by Kasavubu. He also told newsmen that the embassies of the Soviet Union and her satellites were being shut down and the Red diplomats expelled.

★ ★ ★

He told a news conference the army was taking over rule in the strife-torn young African republic until some solution is reached in the deadlocked power struggle between Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba.

★ ★ ★

Mobutu called for full support from the United Nations in the sudden move and appealed for cooperation of Congolese and foreign technicians.

Mobutu had angrily denounced infiltration of the Congo by Soviets and other Communists in recent weeks in talking to newsmen at the Regina Hotel.

He said seven "technicians" at Camp Leopold II, main garrison of the army in Leopoldville, had been found to be Soviet army officers.

At the breakfast site at West Huron and Wayne Streets tantalizing odors filled the air and Pontiac won a friend.

Sam Barnell, a St. Louis, Mo., man who is visiting here, sat at a picnic table after finishing his pancakes and declared that Pontiac is a wonderful town.

"Breakfast in the open, Man, that gives you an appetite!" he said.

At Barnell's table and most of the others there was an amiable morning conversation going on among strangers enjoying the carnival atmosphere of the festival.

Mrs. Joseph Wilkinson, 881 Glendale Ave., and her neighbor, Mrs. William Rahn, 875 Glendale, shared small talk with the out-of-state visitor and were enthusiastic about the festival activities.

★ ★ ★

"We wouldn't have missed this breakfast for the world," said Mrs. Rahn.

"We came downtown especially today to shop because it's a lot more fun to shop in the street."

At one point the line for breakfast number 127 adults plus several dozen children.

Mrs. Richard Hagberg, 738 Third St., stood in line with her sons, Herbert, 2, and Robert, 4, and said she appreciated the free bus ride downtown on the Joslyn Avenue line.

Student Enrollment Up 333 From 1959 Total

BIRMINGHAM — A record number of Birmingham students answered the opening school bell last week, said Supt. Otis M. Dickey in announcing total enrollment figures today.

Tabulations as of the first Friday of school, Dickey said, showed an enrollment of 12,349 pupils as compared with 12,016 a year ago, a 333-student increase.

★ ★ ★

Elementary schools reported a total registration of 7,409, a 139-pupil increase over 1959.

Secondary enrollments showed a 194-student increase for a total of 4,940.

School officials indicated that late registrations would very likely raise the final total to the June estimate of 12,394 by Sept. 30, when the official count is submitted for state aid purposes.

While Birmingham enrollments present figures repeal that the decline in the rate of growth, first noted in 1957, is continuing, according to Walter Piel, administrative assistant.

★ ★ ★

Piel stated that while annual enrollments during the peak years of 1952 to 1957 increased on the average of 1,030 each year, the average rate of growth the past 3 years has decreased by more than 100 students.

"It would appear," Piel noted, "that while we can anticipate continued growth, the related problems of building, equipping and staffing are of more manageable proportions."

He said that several temporary adjustments in housing pupils were necessary this year, to take maximum advantage of existing classroom space.

At the elementary level, 86 sixth grade pupils from Walnut Lake School are being taken to Valley Woods School, and 56 Bloomfield Village sixth graders ride the bus to Midvale School.

Continuing growth in the Harlan School area, Piel said, is beginning to tax Harlan facilities.

Recommended capacity at Groves Junior-Senior High School will be reached with the addition of a twelfth grade in 1961-62, he said.

The school is built to accommodate 1,500 students and its present enrollment is 1,349. In the future it could be expanded to handle 2,000, Piel added.

Talk Is Cheap, Says Kennedy

Nominee in New Jersey Claims Republicans Are Asleep on Defense

WITH KENNEDY IN NEW JERSEY (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy said today America "can't stand still in the eye of the hurricane" of political change sweeping the world.

The Democratic presidential nominee pressed down the accelerator on a motorcade campaign tour of politically-doubtful New Jersey with an attack on Eisenhower administration policies he said are "losing the lead to Russia" in world affairs.

Picking Bergen Mall Shopping Center in Paramus for this assault, Kennedy said in a prepared address that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will bring the Cold War to America's doorstep in the United Nations next week.

★ ★ ★

"And yet the administration has told us that all is well," he said.

"In the 1930s while England slept, Hitler armed.

"Today, while we stand still, Khrushchev moves.

"We must learn to face the truth of our situation. You can't stand still in the eye of a hurricane. And hurricane winds of change are sweeping the world."

Kennedy said the summit collapse, the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan and hostile mobs in other parts of the world were "diplomatic disasters." To counter these, he said the United States must rebuild its military strength.

★ ★ ★

Striking at Vice President Richard M. Nixon's contention that he is best equipped to deal with belligerent Soviet leaders, Kennedy said: "The Russians understand strength. It is not a question of quarreling with Mr. Khrushchev. It is a question of making ourselves stronger than Russia. Talk is cheap."

Tempest, '61 Pontiac Displayed to Press

"hump" tunnel running between the front seats.

The four-cylinder engine on the Tempest has 130 horsepower, the general manager detailed. An aluminum V-8 engine will be offered as optional equipment with 155 horsepower.

★ ★ ★

The Tempest has a 112-inch wheelbase and an overall width of 72 inches and length of 189 inches.

The regular Pontiac line will include 15 models and will be introduced in dealer showrooms on Oct. 6.

All Pontiac models for 1961 will be 4 inches shorter and 2¼ inches narrower than the 1960 models, Knudsen said, with a resultant weight decrease of about 250 pounds.

Like other General Motors models Pontiac will use a straight roof line.

The Tempest, unlike the other new smaller cars, will use 15-inch wheels. Most compacts use 13-inch wheels.

In styling, both the standard Pontiac and the Tempest return to the divided front grille which identified the 1959 Pontiacs.

The Tempest, Knudsen outlined, is loaded with more engineering inovations than any other 1961 model car.

Under the skin, the Tempest is definitely different. First of all, it comes with a four cylinder engine, slanted at a 45 degree angle. This appears to be the left side (looking from the front) of the regular Pontiac V-8 engine. This is the first four cylinder engine to be used in an American car since the Willys disappeared in 1955.

★ ★ ★

The Tempest also will offer a 215 cubic inch, water cooled V-8 made of aluminum. This is extremely similar to the standard equipment of the smaller Olds and Buick.

The Tempest also uses a transax—a combination transmission and rear axle. This enabled the engineers to virtually eliminate the floorboard hump.

This flat floor pan is helped by the use of flexible propeller shaft instead of the conventional tubular steel propshaft joining the engine and the transmission.

The four cylinder engine with a single throat carburetor and 8.6-to-1 compression ratio will develop about 130 horsepower. Using a 10.25-to-1 compression ration and a four barrel carburetor the four jumps to about 155 horsepower, the same as the V-8.

Expand Search for Crew of Jet

Hopes for Three Men Rise a Bit With Flares Reported Off Ireland

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Ships and planes expanded their search today for the three-man crew of an American jet bomber which crashed into the gale-swept Atlantic Wednesday.

Hopes rose briefly after two reports of flares being sighted in the search area some 400 miles from the shores of Ireland.

★ ★ ★

The missing airmen carried full survival equipment.

British and American planes, and naval ships and merchantmen drew a blank after an all-night search.

The missing plane, a six-jet B47 was one of three flying from the United States to a base in Britain. It collided at 33,000 feet with another plane in the flight.

The second plane limped into Shannon with one of its engines hanging from its wing. The crew members were not hurt.

Georgia's Voters Set Back Dems

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A rebellion by Georgia voters against national and state Democratic leaders spelled trouble today for the party in the November general election and perhaps in the electoral college later if a Republican challenge is turned back.

The revolt came Wednesday in Democratic primary referendum.

Tie voters apparently authorized the state's 12 party electors to bolt if they see fit instead of giving electoral college support to John F. Kennedy for president and Lyndon B. Johnson for vice president.

The straw vote, sponsored by youthful Gov. Ernest Vandiver before he announced support for the national ticket, was purely advisory and not binding on the electoral slate the governor heads.

★ ★ ★

Vandiver had said he would vote as an elector for Kennedy and Johnson barring unforeseen developments. Seven others concurred.

Mounting returns for unpledged electors posed a question of whether this might be construed as such a development. Vandiver withheld comment, aides saying there probably would be no statement from the executive until the official and complete returns are recorded.

An Associated Press tabulation early today showed 93,305 favoring unpledged electors free to vote for anyone they choose and 76,970 for electors pledged to the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. The returns were from 838 of the 1,626 precincts.

Most of the precincts unaccounted for were from rural areas which rolled up heavy majorities for unpledged electors in what was construed to be a vigorous protest against the stringent civil rights provisions of the Democratic platform which Vandiver has called obnoxious.

★ ★ ★

The outcome served notice on Democratic leaders that a redoubling of their efforts may be needed to keep Georgia in the party fold in November. Georgia never has gone Republican but a recent visit by Richard M. Nixon to Atlanta has provided the impetus for a vigorous campaign.

'DREADFULLY UNFAIR'

"I try to keep it neat and well-groomed," she told reporters, adding:

"They're beginning to snipe at me about as often as they attack Jack on Catholicism. I think it's dreadfully unfair."

Since people are getting so personal in remarks about her, Mrs. Kennedy feels she is entitled to her say concerning another lady who buys clothes—the wife of the Republican candidate for president.

"I'm sure I spend less than Mrs. Nixon on clothes," said Mrs. Kennedy. "She gets hers at Elizabeth Arden, and nothing there costs less than $200 or $300.

Mrs. Kennedy says she does buy occasionally from the Paris high-fashion houses. "I've lived in Paris and I have a younger sister, Lee, who lives abroad, so I go there whenever I can.

"But I never buy more than one suit or coat from Balenciaga and Givenchy."

SHOPS FROM MAGAZINES

Mrs. Kennedy said she also does "a lot of shopping from magazines," adding: "Some clothes I have made by a little dressmaker in Washington."

Mrs. Kennedy, who expects a child in December (a daughter, Caroline, will be 3 years old in November), will not be able to dash about the country lending a hand to her husband's campaign.

But a more loyal rooter would be hard to find.

TRUMAN SPEAKS UP

During his morning stroll here today, former President Harry S. Truman was asked about the criticism of Mrs. Kennedy.

"I always kept the women in my family on a pedestal and never let anyone tear them down," he replied.

"I don't think it is nice or polite to attack the wife of a candidate. I don't think it is proper, decent or polite to bring the candidate's family into the campaign.

★ ★ ★

"The wives of both candidates are wonderful ladies and that's the way they ought to be treated."

Voters Can Register in Own Areas

Thanks to the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council, working in cooperation with the city, all unregistered voters in Pontiac have time to become eligible to vote Nov. 8 is merely to step out their front door.

The Union and the city clerk's office yesterday initiated a mobile, pull-out-and-register trailer which will be in operation five days a week (10 a.m. to 5 p.m.) in 16 locations through the Oct. 10 deadline for registration.

Today the trailer, with a direct telephone line to the City Hall to check registrations already on file, is stationed at Emiry and Stanley avenues.

Tomorrow it will be at Wisner School.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans said her office has provided three deputies to do the registration.

The Union has provided the trailer and persons to roam the neighborhood in the vicinity of the trailer to notify residents.

It makes the sixth location in the city in which registrations may be made.

Sylvan Council Names Manager

Marshall H. Woodburn Formerly at Baltimore Credit Firm

The Sylvan Lake City Council last night named Marshall H. Woodburn of Detroit as city manager-clerk.

Woodburn, 52, was formerly assistant credit manager for Commercial Credit Equipment Corp. of Baltimore, Md., a subsidiary of Commercial Credit Co.

Appointment to the $6,000-per-year position is effective immediately.

Woodburn is the city's first full-time city manager since David Firestone resigned Aug. 1 to accept the city manager post in Troy.

Woodburn will take over from Acting City Manager Stanley Filkins, who had filled the position on a part-time basis since Aug. 1.

Before working for the Baltimore firm, Woodburn was zone manager in Pittsburgh and Detroit for the Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Co.

He will continue to live in Detroit temporarily.

The city manager in Sylvan Lake is also city clerk.

NYC Dock Workers to Heckle K

NEW YORK (AP) — The dock workers plan to heckle Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev when he sails into New York harbor Monday.

★ ★ ★

Thomas W. Gleason, general organizer of the International Longshoremen's Association, said his union is hiring an excursion boat to go down the bay to meet the Baltika, the ship bringing Khrushchev here for the United Nations meeting.

★ ★ ★

The Baltika will dock at pier 73, East River and 25th street, 17 blocks south of the U. N.

When the Baltika is in earshot, Gleason said, the dockers will give out with catcalls and boos. The boat will be decorated with anti-Communist placards and banners.

And a band aboard the boat will play "God Bless America" — fortissimo.

Son of the president of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Campbell had been depressed recently because of a heart ailment, his wife Kathryn told sheriff's deputies.

Deputy Coroner Isaac C. Prevette said the shotgun wound was self-inflicted.

Fine of $2,800 Assessed London Concerning Riot

LONDON (AP) — Brian London former British heavyweight champion, was fined $2,800 Wednesday and suspended for three months by officials investigating a riot in the ring after his last fight.

★ ★ ★

Police had to quell a fist-swinging free-for-all inside the ring after London was beaten by Dick Richardson, Britain's European heavyweight champion, at Porthcawl, Wales, last month.

★ ★ ★

Stewards censured London for lack of control which "was detrimental to the best interests of boxing and has done great harm to the sport."

During World War I, many British troops were infected with anthrax, believed carried on shaving brushes imported from Japan.

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The second story of a house was reported stolen recently by its owner, Dr. R. E. Maresh.

★ ★ ★

Mean Hot Bath for Queen Liz

Palace Gets New Face

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace is getting a $420,000 face lifting that, among other improvements, will enable Queen Elizabeth II to take a really hot bath.

★ ★ ★

While the royal family is vacationing at Balmoral in Scotland, squads of workmen have moved in.

One of their first jobs will be to overhaul the antiquated hot water and central heating systems. They will replace some of the old elevators which have been in disgrace ever since one got stuck between floors and made Prince Philip, the Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra 25 minutes late for a royal film performance.

The Belgian suite, where foreign heads of state are lodged, has been redecorated and baby Prince Andrew's nursery has been brightened up. The front of the palace also has been cleaned.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (UPI) — A U. S. Labor Department official disagrees with the theory that working mothers are a major cause of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Alice K. Leonard, director of the department's Women's Bureau, said in fact that they are good planners and good organizers, able to take good care of their children.

Always So in Troubled Times

Magic Going Over Big Now

By PHYLLIS BATELLE

NEW YORK — It is in times of chaos and disaster, said the great magicians Blackstone and Dante, that professional illusionists do their biggest business.

★

And this it is both fascinating and disturbing to note that on Sept. 26, Illusionist Millbourne Christopher will begin sawing girls in three, raising bodies into space, making people diminish and disappear before your very eyes.

It will be the first such show in New York in 10 years.

This, of course, is not a forecast of gloom and doom and world war, says Christopher.

WANT TO BELIEVE

But it is symbolic of the fact that "the people who are pressed on all sides with very real danger want to believe in the unreal, the uncanny.

"The average man is so frustrated, it's a real pleasure for him to watch another man pull money out of the air.

"When he feels he's being deceived in real life, he finds it a relief to be deceived on stage and be able to laugh about it.

★ ★ ★

"He is afraid of death, so it is reassuring to see that a woman can be cut to pieces and come out a moment later — whole and alive."

Christopher knows these philosophies to be true because he is a student of magic and its effect on audiences.

The top-ranking hocus-pocus master in the U.S. since 1956, when he produced rabbits on the White House lawn for the Roosevelt Easter festivities, he's traveled 50 countries promoting global good will through "honest deception."

Everywhere he goes, he buys "illusions" — which he describes as "large stage feats in which a human or a large animal is the object of deception; big scale hocus-pocus, as opposed to parlor game magic."

Like good paintings and rare books, the price of illusions constantly goes up.

TRICK COST $50,000

For instance, the "levitation trick" perfected by the Great Thurston — in which a body is raised and suspended in air while hoops are passed around it to show there are no strings attached — cost $50,000 to develop originally.

Fortunately, Christopher as a youth was a Thurston apprentice, and today owns all his diaries.

Christopher himself has invented more than 1,000 tricks, written 20 books for the benefit of other magicians.

Still, in the past years, he has purchased 20 illusions created by other men, because you have to keep up to date on your disappearing elephants.

"Which reminds me," he said, "I wanted to use the vanishing elephant trick in this show (called 'Christopher's Wonders') but this being election year I was afraid the donkeys would demand equal disappearing time."

He replaced it with a new idea of his own: the empty TV cabinet from which five girls appear.

One of his most spectacular feats has been catching live bullets between his teeth, but Christopher was forced to give it up after his wife (whom he periodically saws in half, disintegrates and ghosts) learned that 12 professional magicians had been killed while performing the trick.

"And she's right to forbid it, of course. Even Lloyd's of London wouldn't insure me when I was [illegible]-ing. As soon as I announced I was giving it up, everybody wanted to sell me insurance."

There literally are millions of wondrous tricks magicians can use. Seemingly believable, all. But unfortunately most people don't take them seriously.

★ ★ ★

"The only people who take magic seriously," says Christopher, "are uneducated or stupid people . . . and it's always quite frightening to me to meet them."

French Town Compromises on Togetherness

PORT-L'EVEQUE, France (AP)—The mayor, the priest, the schoolteachers and the parents of this little Normandy town have been bickering for two months over whether boys and girls should attend school together.

After many bitter attacks, protests, debates and votes, it was decided the children could attend lectures in the same classrooms.

But on the playground, a white line will separate the boys from the girls.

Americans Face the Great Crisis: Eat Less or Get More Exercise

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nutritional scientists believe countless Americans are at the point of painful personal crisis. If they don't overcome their aversion to regular exercise, they'll have to cut down on their eating even more than they have which means they'll feel a little hungry most of the time.

These are the scientists who have thought all along the waistline problem of most Americans is not so much the result of overeating as of underexerting.

The ideal way to reduce weight, they have contended, is to exercise more while eating less. Instead the trend has been to play up reducing diets and play down the weightloosing virtue of exertion.

Sneers at exercise have been accepted as fact.

Meanwhile, labor-saving devices have been multiplying in homes and offices. People have even abandoned walking so far as it is possible and the diet has been their only means of weight control. The result is this crisis — either exert or be hungry or get fat.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Charlotte M. Young, of Cornell University's graduate school of nutrition, spoke up for this scientific viewpoint in an advisory on weight reduction for members of the Medical Society of the State of New York.

Her central point was that people put on weight when their "energy input" in the form of food and drink exceeds the "energy output" which fuels the body's basic processes and physical activities.

You can match reduced "energy output" with a reduced "energy input" to maintain a given body weight for only a limited time, she continued, and then you reach "the point where the further reduction of food intake to match a reduced energy expenditure" is going to give you only a constant gnawing feeling of hunger. And then you'll really need will power for the diet.

★ ★ ★

"Some who are fond of stressing the will-power aspect of controlling food intake could also stress the will-power aspect of making the effort to take regular physical activity," she said, "in practical terms in both the prevention and cure of obesity much more attention needs to be focused on the role which exercise can play.

Exercise is the only practical way to increase energy expenditure. A decrease in physical activity is not necessarily accompanied by a decrease in appetite nor is a moderate increase in exercise accompanied by an increase in appetite."

She added, however, that for exercise to work on weight it had to be "carried out frequently, consistently and in moderation."

She used as an example a person weighing 165 pounds who exercises little but whose "energy input" exceeds his "energy output" by only 80 calories daily. In five years this person will have gained 13 pounds.

But if he adds to his daily "energy output" a walk of only a mile, the input and output will be in balance and his weight won't change.

Mayor T. Walter Kelly, chairman of the committee, said the county will have to build a new jail. The State Corrections Commission has told the county the present jail can not be remodeled.

Pontiac area athletes and athletic teams have suffered a great loss with the death of Dr. George Petroff.

No matter what the job or when his services were requested "Doc" was always available and ready to donate his time for the physical well being of the athlete.

His latest contribution to the sports cause was at the time of the Oakland County All-Star football game a few weeks ago.

He donted his time putting through nearly 60 players of the North and South teams through physicals for nearly four hours in one evening

★ ★ ★

Only a man who loves sports and one devoted to his profession would do this.

Dr. George Petroff was such a man.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Any area independent football teams which would be interested in playing Sunday games during September or October in Jackson this season can set schedule arrangements with Robert Parsack, 4000 Cooper Street, Jackson.

They must be home games for Parsaca's team. He is the athletic director at Jackson State Prison.

Northern Hosts Orion in Opener

By CHUCK ABAIR

The curtain goes up on another high school football season in Pontiac tomorrow night when Northern entertains Lake Orion at 8 at Wisner Stadium.

It will mark the starting of the second season in varsity football for the Huskies who blanked the Dragons 13-0 in their debut a year ago.

PNH went on to become a contender as a new entry in the Inter-Lakes League and finished 5-4 for all games. Lake Orion wound up 4-4 and ranked 4th in the Oakland B race.

Northern rates the slight favorite role again but Orion could easily turn the tables with an excellent array of backs.

★ ★ ★

Both coaches Ed Heikkinen of the Huskies and Dragon boss Frank Kownacki plan to do a lot of experimenting while trying to win at the same time.

Heikkinen has tried several different boys in his backfield with set quarterback Bruce Norton since drills began and remains undecided on actual starters.

Heikkinen has settled on a first team line although he likely will be getting a look at several other boys.

Veterans Jerry Mineweaser and Steve Thompson will be left ends, John Erkkila and Don Glowar at tackles, Lynn Johnson and Al Lawrence at guards and Bill Chapa, center.

Shields is a definite starter on defense as is returning vet Winfred Miracle.

★ ★ ★

Kownacki has had his nightmares trying to pick a line. His unit at the kickoff may include sophs Denny Callison and Fred Lauer at tackles, Jim Johnston and Tom Longpre manning the guards, Mickey LaMagna at center, big Larry Thompson and Dave Perry at ends. Several others are expected to be in the forward wall before the night's over.

★ ★ ★

Roger Williams is set at quarterback, speedy Gary Hunter and Bucky Craven will be the halfbacks and Tim Alban at fullback. On defense, rugged Dave Julien, Doug Cole and Carlos Williams will be starters.

Northern will have one more "warmup" before starting loop play but this will be it for Lake Orion as the Oakland B opens next Friday.

"STARTING PITCHER"—Bruce Norton will be at his familiar quarterback post as Pontiac Northern starts its second football season Friday night at Wisner Stadium against Lake Orion. The passing ace played a big role in the big start for the Huskies last fall which began with a triumph at Orion.

Series to End Friday Due to New Schedules

Both Schools Ready for Season Opener on Skipper Field

By BILL CORNWELL

Time is running out on Waterford High School in its bid to beat Pontiac Central on the football field.

To be more specific, the Skippers have exactly 48 minutes remaining—the length of one prep contest—to turn the trick.

The Skippers get their 5th and final chance to defeat the Chiefs in gridiron combat Friday night when the two neighboring rivals open the 1960 season against each other at Waterford at 8 o'clock.

It's not that PCH doesn't want to continue the rivalry nor does Waterford wish to end it, but due to circumstances beyond the control of either school, the series will end tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

The nine-game limitation rule plus the expansion of the tough Saginaw Valley Conference from six schools to nine will terminate the spirited series after a five-game fling.

Next year's Valley expansion means that the Chiefs must play eight league games and since the 9th spot on Central's schedule is reserved for the annual city feud with Pontiac Northern, the Skippers have to be dropped from the slate.

Waterford's four previous efforts to lick the Chiefs have been failures. Furthermore, the Skippers haven't even come close.

The rivalry began in 1951 and Central's winning margin was 29-0. In 1955 the score was 24-6, three years later the count was 26-0 and last year the difference was 31-6.

★ ★ ★

As might be expected, the Skippers are reaching a keyed-up state of mind for Friday's outing. They're the underdogs and they know it, but this little fact is not dampening their enthusiasm one bit.

Dave Freeman, Waterford's veteran coach whose slump-ridden gridders show only six wins and a tie in their last 27 contests, is no more than hopeful.

"Pontiac is faster than we are and we must contain their speed or we're sunk," Freeman said. "We were giving them a good run for their money a year ago until superior speed got the best of us."

Tomorrow's game marks the PCH coaching debut of Paul Dellerba, a thorough, hard-driving Ohioan who replaced Jesse MacLeay and inherited a green, graduation-riddled squad.

Dellerba just hopes for the best and expects no miracles. "The kids are young and inexperienced and they'll probably make a lot of mistakes, but they're a spirited, enthusiastic bunch with great desire. We only hope we can have a respectable year."

Both coaches are stringing along with inexperienced quarterbacks. Central's Bob Pomeroy, a junior, and Waterford senior Bob Newman are the likely starting quarterbacks and neither has been seriously tested under fire.

Waterford's interior line appears stronger due to more experienced players such as Bruce Marti, a tackle, and guards Bob Couture and Bob Nestor.

Central seems better on the flanks, although rangy George Fed will miss the opener because of a swollen ankle. Ends Clarence Montgomery, Milford Hilley and Elick Shorter look ready to deliver solid performances.

The Chiefs boast more backfield speed, Waterford backs Harry Savas, Mike Kaines, Ed Stigers and Dave Goff cannot equal the breakaway threat offered by Central backs like Dick McCauley, Roy Couser, Tony Rubio and Andy Roach.

With the exception of Fed, both teams are in sound physical condition. According to all reports, both sides will also be in a sound frame of mind at kickoff time.

U.S. Gold Medal Lost by Decision on Jones

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, Pontiac Press

The United States Olympic Track Team—and Pontiac's Hayes Jones—lost a gold medal through an unfortunate decision.

Three entrants are allowed as a maximum in each event. Hence, when you pick a relay team, you have to select a fourth man from some other event. Anyone is eligible. Gehmany's winning 400 meter relay team picked Lauer, world's record holder whom Hayes defeated for third place in the hurdles for their anchor man.

★ ★ ★

Coach Larry Snyder once planned to use Hayes in the 400 meter relay. Each contestant runs a hundred yards. Hayes is certainly the fastest man on the American track team outside of the pure sprinters. Also, he had practiced the exchange of the baton many times. Hayes was conceivably the opening sprinter for the U.S.

★ ★ ★

Coach Snyder promoted Carney from the 200 meter sprint team to the 100 meter relay. Also, back stage rumors say he was going to replace Norton with Jones. Before the games opened, Norton was doped to win the 200 meters. Also, this nation counted on him to whip Hary, the German sensation, in the hundred.

★ ★ ★

In the hundred, Norton finished sixth. Then in the 200, his best event, he finished another dismal sixth. It looked promising for Jones.

However, moved by compassion and humanitarian motives, Snyder decided to give Norton a chance to salvage some glory from his unhappy showings. It was purely an altruistic move.

★ ★ ★

Therefore, someone had to be crowded off. Sime was anchor man and Number One. Budd was the logical second choice to stick. So it came down to Jones, Carney and Norton for two spots.

Norton and Carney got the nod and Norton came another cropper.

★ ★ ★

Running second, in his eagerness to atone for his failures, he started before Budd was close enough. Budd yelled but Norton was already outside the marker when he received the baton and red flags dropped all over the place.

★ ★ ★

The American team continued and Dave Sime staged a glorious last lap to nose out Germany for the title and a gold medal. That also meant a gold medal for each man on the team.

But it was no soap.

★ ★ ★

The original flash placed U.S. first but the disqualification threw us out. It cost the United States a gold medal — and running Norton cost Hayes Jones one, too.

★ ★ ★

Wally Schloerke of Pontiac, who coached Hayes successfully said he figured Hayes would run the first lap because of his great speed, to give U. S. an edge at the outset if possible. He told me this in New York at Idlewild.

In the program, six U. S. runners were listed and Hayes was second. That's where I think he might have run as Norton ultimately occupied the second spot in the actual race.

★ ★ ★

Well, Coach Snyder's gesture to retrieve something for a fallen athlete may have been commendable. I leave that to you. All I know is, we won the race and had Hayes been in there in place of Norton (or Carney), the United States and Hayes Jones would have had gold medals. Hayes wouldn't have fouled.

★ ★ ★

So what, Jonesy?

You are a hero as it is and you nosed out this great Lauer for third place in the highs when he flashed over that last hurdle perceptibly ahead of you.

All Pontiac is proud.

Big Welcome Home Given Red Athletes

LONDON (AP) — Moscow citizens Wednesday night acclaimed the Soviet victory at the Olympic Games at a meeting at Lenin Stadium at which athletes were welcomed home.

Moscow Radio said the secretary of the Komsomol Central Committee made the welcoming speech. He said American leaders did the boasting, but Soviet athletes went out and won the medals.

"A leader of the American sports delegation to the Olympics fell victim to his own confidence," the spokesman said. "He promised that if the American team were defeated he would eat his hat. Today I can only wish him a good appetite."

Unknown Fights Hank to Draw

Detroiter Is Anxious to Meet Jesse Smith Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Hardmering Henry Hank, Detroit slugger who has been angling for a crack at the middleweight crown, had a new ambition today—a rematch with hitherto unknown Jesse Smith of Chicago.

Smith, unranked among the middleweights, mixed a blistering attack with skillful defense Wednesday night and held Hank to a draw in a 10-round nationally televised bout at the Chicago Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Smith, unawed by Hank's impressive knockout record, would have scored a big upset if he hadn't been tagged with a whistling left uppercut midway in the final round that dropped him for the nine count.

He struggled to his feet, and stuck out his tongue at Yank in a show of heroics, but a chopping overhand right had him sliding along the ropes when the final bell sounded.

★ ★ ★

Smith, fast afoot and quick with his hands, slipped most of Hank's heavy artillery and countered effectively, until the was tagged the tenth. He had Hank in trouble momentarily in the third with a left-right combination and again in the sixth round, after successfully absorbing some stiff shots from the Detroit belter.

Referee Frank Sikora had Hank ahead 46-44 under the 5 points-a-round mus system, while Judge Frank McAdams awarded the bout to Smith, 47-45. Judge William Doty marked both fighters even, 46-46. The Associated Press had Smith ahead 47-45.

SKIPPERS PLOT — Coach Dave Freeman and his Waterford High quarterbacks, Bob Newman, left and Dick Shipman, have been working on plans which they hope will produce an upset of Pontiac Central at the Skipper field tomorrow night.

In 1960 Grid War

Most Preps Start Friday

Very few schools in the Oakland County area will be among the missing when the 1960 prep football season gets rolling tomorrow.

Three afternoon games will officially ring in the new season as Three Emmanuel Christian plays its first varsity game at Flint Hoover.

Country Day entertains Maumee, Ohio and Lamphere goes to New Haven.

Several interesting non-league affairs will feature a long list of night contests.

Walled Lake is at home to meet Redford Union, Southfield hosts Royal Oak Kimball, Farmington goes to Livonia Bentley, Utica is at Rochester and Birmingham Seaholm takes on Edsel Ford in Class A affairs.

★ ★ ★

Avondale entertains Milford. Oxford is guest of Clarkston, Bloomfield Hills travels to Oak Park, Holly has its traditional tiddlifter with Grand Blanc, Clawson meets Center Line, Romeo plays Richmond, Ortonville is at Goodrich, Northville starts out with Plymouth as usual, Madison and Royal Oak St. Mary tangle, Brighton vs. South Lyon and Troy battles Marysville in other classes.

One of the top local attractions will be at West Bloomfield where St. Michael meets what is expected to be another strong Laker contingent. Center Line St. Clement, Suburban Catholic favorite, also gets an early start battling Warren.

Royal Oak Dondero visits East Detroit as Roseville is at Warren Lincoln and Port Huron at Bay City Handy. South Central teams North Branch, Imlay City and Millington are away. North Branch vs. Marlette, Imlay plays Almont and Millington meets Vassar.

★ ★ ★

Hazel Park and Fitzgerald will tangle, L'Anse goes to Fraser, Dryden plays Peck while other Southern Thumb teams, Capac, Brown City, Armada and Anchor Bay all debut at home. Clarenceville takes on Ypsilanti Lincoln at home.

Emmanuel will take a 12-man squad into its initial game. Walled Lake should get off and running to a big year. The same is true of Seaholm. Southfield tries to start its comeback.

The openers will feature the renewal of many old rivalries which match teams from different leagues.

The openers will give coaches a much better idea of what to expect from their charges when league play starts. Good examples are Avondale and Holly going with sophomore quarterbacks. Many other young players will be getting their first real tests.

Pleases U-D Coach

Shorter Shines in Drill

When Jim Shorter enrolled at the University of Detroit his prime interest was track.

While at Pontiac Central, Shorter's athletic activities included the dashes on the track team and defensive backfield duties under football coach Ed Graybiel.

He decided last year to try out for the U of D football team as a sophomore and amidst a couple leg injuries he saw limited duties as ball carrier and on the kicking team.

Yesterday, the Titans went through a two-hour scrimmage and Shorter raced for three touchdowns.

He was listed as the third string left halfback, but coach Jim Miller was highly impressed with the speedy ex-Chief.

★ ★ ★

"He is one of the most improved players out here," said Miller, "and there's no one faster on the squad."

Shorter, who stands 5-10 and weighs 170, ran the 100 in 9.8 for the track team. He is a junior in physical education.

★ ★ ★

The Titans have a tough home opener next Friday night September 23rd against Iowa State, a team which had a 7-3 record last season including victories over Colorado, Kansas State and Nebraska.

★ ★ ★

Up for All-America honors in many pre-season publications is fullback Tom Watkins, considered the best in the Big Eight Conference.

Kellis Urges Security Probe

County Dem Candidate for Congress Requests Study by Ike

President Eisenhower has been urged by Oakland County's Democratic congressional candidate to appoint a committee to survey the country's intelligence and security agencies.

* * *

In a letter to the President James Kellis of Berkley also continued his criticism of Allen Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and his handling of these branches of the government.

"Mr. Dulles has a fine record as an intelligence operative in the OSS and CIA but to put it mildly 'he is innocent of administration,'" Kellis wrote the President.

He suggested a man such as J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, for the high post.

* * *

First, however, Kellis suggested in the seven-page letter to the White House that "a committee of knowledgeable, courageous and tough-minded individuals be appointed to survey all our intelligence and security agencies."

"It should be bipartisan or nonpartisan and should include certain individuals such as Sen. Mansfield, D-Mont., Congressman John A. Blatnik of Minnesota and Mr. J. Edgar Hoover," Kellis went on.

This committee, Kellis said, should do more than come forth with "an optimistic picture of our effort," which emanated, the candidate said, from a similar committee the President appointed in 1954 upon the suggestion of Kellis, then acting operations chief in the CIA.

Mart Sinks Near 'Support Level'

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed into another decline early today. Trading was moderate. Key stocks fell from fractions to a point or more. A few selected issues bucked the downtrend.

* * *

Steels, autos, rubbers, oils, chemicals and most electronics joined in the retreat.

The market was sinking closer to the thrice-tested "support level" in the Dow Jones industrial average which held in March, May and July. The big question in Wall Street was whether this would hold again or whether the list would pierce it and rebound from a lower level.

The news background included a drop in steel scrap prices at Pittsburgh, a rise in commercial paper interest rates, and another climb in personal income.

TAKE POINT LOSSES

Losses of a point or more were taken by such issues as U.S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Beckman Instruments and Texas Instruments. Eastman Kodak dropped more than 2.

Thiokol resumed Wednesday's advance, rising another point. Conspicuously was ahead more than a point. Boeing and Phelps Dodge added fractions.

Fractional losses were shown by Republic Steel, Goodyear, United Aircraft, Radio Corp., American Telephone, International Telephone, Kennecott, American Smelting, Du-Pont, Westinghouse Electric, Southern Railway and Liggett & Myers.

New York Central was steady. Lorillard and Ampex nudged ahead. The ticker tape was late very briefly at the opening.

3 Groups Back State on Housing Antibias

LANSING (UPI) — Three anti-discrimination groups Wednesday filed a brief in Ingham Circuit Court in support of the state's position in favor of a controversial corporation and securities rule against bias in real estate dealings.

Representatives of Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams were to meet with Judge Sam S. Hughes this week to discuss the case.

Three Lansing real estate dealers obtained an injunction from Hughes to prevent the antibias rule from going into effect.

Earlier, real estate men had vigorously opposed the rule in public hearings and legislative committee had disappove it on the ground it usurped legislative powers.

The American Jewish Congress, American Civil Liberties Union and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People entered the case as interested parties.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Leon S. Cohan, one of the lawyers handling the state's case, called their brief "very comprehensive."

17-Year-Old Called 'Bad'

Court Summons Parents of Imprisoned Daughter

CHICAGO (UPI) — A couple accused of imprisoning their 17-year-old adopted daughter for two years because she was "bad" were to appear today in Domestic Relations Court.

* * *

Robert A. Cordt, 49, an auto agency credit manager, and his wife Margaret, 48, were charged with contributing to the dependency of their daughter Carole.

Carole told police Wednesday her adoptive parents had not permitted her to leave their home for two years and had kept her locked behind iron bars on their back porch for the past three months.

The Cordts were seized Tuesday night on a complaint by Cordt's niece Pamela Sheets, 18, of suburban Glenview. Miss Sheets told officers she had slipped into the house several times since July and taken Carole out for a meal.

* * *

Carole said Cordt forced her to address 2,000 envelopes a day by hand. He collected about $250 a month for her work, she said. He gave her oatmeal for breakfast and then locked her up, she told officers.

He checked her progress every night, she said, and "if I was through with my work, I got what they ate for dinner. If I wasn't through, I got oatmeal again, or nothing."

Carole charged Cordt with beating her. She said he allowed her to bathe once a week in the basement laundry tub.

Police said Cordt explained his actions by saying that Carole was "bad. She's a shoplifter."

* * *

Carole admitted stealing food from a grocery store because "I was hungry." Police said she appeared undernourished.

THE COMET — A new grille and modest ornamental changes identify the 1961 models of the two- and four-door sedans and the two- and four-door station wagons. In addition to the standard 85-horsepower engine, the 1961 Comet offers an optional 101-horsepower six.

Optional Engine Available

Comet Styling Same for 1961

The Comet will retain its basic and optional trim fabrics. Standard styling for 1961 and will offer a higher performance optional engine, Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Co. vice president and general manager of Lincoln-Mercury Division, announced today.

* * *

Two engines will be available for the 1961 Comet. The standard 85 horsepower economy engine will be continued. In addition, a 101 horsepower engine will be offered in the new model Comet for the first time at a modest extra cost. The new engine has a displacement of 170 cubic inches and develops its maximum torque, 156 foot-pounds, at 2,400 r.p.m.

The Comet continues with four models for 1961: a two-door sedan, four-door sedan, two-door station wagon, and four-door station wagon. All are available with either the standard or optional engine, and with manual or automatic transmission.

Main styling changes include a new aluminum grille, new fender ornamentation, and new standard inches in the front, and 57.6 in the back. Station wagons on a 103.5 inch wheelbase, are 191.8 inches long, 55.1 inches high, and 70.4 inches wide.

* * *

Basically, the 1961 Comet retains the sheet metal treatment of the 1960 model the styling balance of a larger car, luxury line roof, canted taillights, and ample fin gage space.

Comet's unitized body is rust protected in underbody areas with a galvanized coating. Tests have shown this zinc-coating more than doubles the rust resistance of the Comet.

The Comet will have a wide variety of options and accessories as it had in 1960 models, but offers an air conditioning unit.

* * *

Comet dimensions are ample for a family of six to travel comfortably with luggage. The sedans are 194.8 inches long, 54.5 inches high, and 70.4 inches wide. Effective headroom is 38.8 inches. Headroom and legroom is basically the same as the sedans. Sedans have luggage capacity of 13 cubic feet, and station wagons have cargo space of 76.2 cubic feet.

DART PICK-UP — Featuring a 140-horsepower slanted 6-cylinder engine, the 1961 Dodge Dart half-ton pick-up combines passenger car styling and handling ease with traditional truck durability. Available in wheelbases of 114 and 122 inches, the Dart pick-up has a maximum gross vehicle weight rating of 5,300 pounds.

2 Pilots Spend 30 Days in Tank

Break 'Space-Flight' Record

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two Air Force pilots, grinning and happy, today completed a record-breaking 30-day simulated flight to the moon and back.

Capt. William D. Hablueteel of Ingleside, Tex., and Lt. John W. Hargraves Jr., of Castle Air Force Base, Calif., stepped from their 8x12-foot pressurized steel tank at 6:30 a. m.

* * *

Hablueteel, 36, and Hargraves, 30, were locked in the space cabin simulator at the School of Aviation Medicine here Aug. 15.

"I feel fine, just a little wobbly in the knees," said Hablueteel.

"I'm okay, except maybe I lost 15 pounds," said Hargraves.

* * *

Both said the first things they noted upon leaving the cabin was the bright lights in the room and the lightness in their heads.

Hablueteel said he did not experience headaches as previous space cabin test pilots have reported.

* * *

Both wore their light blue-green hospital pajamas that had been their uniform throughout the test.

Hablueteel said he thought they felt as good as they did because they kept regular sleeping hours and did exercises every day.

* * *

"We did a lot of thinking, too. We had a lot of time for it. We thought about what people will go through when they actually fly a space ship. And we thought a lot about memories of the past," Hablueteel said.

Today's hatch-opening ceremony completed the Air Force's third major test designed to show the human body is capable of withstanding space frontier hardships.

* * *

In February, Sgts. Hobart M. Craft, 36, Wedowee, Ala., and William W. Henderson, 30, of Alice, Tex., spent almost 14 days in the same cabin. The sergeants crawled out of the tank complaining of wobbly knees and occasional headaches.

U.S. Confident U.N. Will Nix Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials expressed confidence today that the forthcoming meeting of the U.N. General Assembly will again turn down—and by a comfortable majority—the question of seating Communist China.

The issue has been raised and defeated each year for a number of years.

* * *

The Soviet Union has asked Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to have the Chinese Communist representation issue placed on the agenda.

Nationalist China was a founding member of the United Nations and is a Security Council member. Adoption of the Soviet resolution would strip President Chiang Kai-shek's representatives of their U.N. standing.

'Aquanauts' Story Reads Like Father, Like Son

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Aquanauts," a full-hour adventure series that CBS-TV hopes will sidetrack "Wagon Train" in the renewed ratings war, dog-paddled gamely into view last night.

The first episode gave off more bubbles than Lawrence Welk and Lloyd Bridges, combined, see in a whole season.

It was possible to discern in "Aquanauts" an embarrassingly close resemblance to the prototype underwater TV series, "Sea Hunt." And why not? the producer of both shows is Ivan Tors. It's all in the family.

"Aquanauts," the latest outlet for Tors' extensive library of underwater action scenes, offers nothing new. The premiere introduced us to Drake Andrews and Larry Lahr, a team of free-lance skin divers who have fins, will travel effortlessly cued a lady diver who was trapped in an underwater cave, saved four men who were trapped in a shark cage, steered clear of man-eating sharks.

They also waved at a friendly whale, participated in a fist fight (above water), taught a reckless diver the merits of diving carefully and introduced us, with more film clips, to the relatively new pastime of "parasailing," which involves diving into the drink from an airplane.

While there doesn't seem to be much available film about parasailing at present, I'll bet Ivan Tors will find enough for weaving into a new series next year.

The "Aquanaut" story, or stories, were cleverly drawn-out and, as with "Sea Hunt," occasionally offered some technically interesting scenes. Also reminiscent of "Sea Hunt" is the background music and the "voice-over" narration.

The only edge I can give "Aquanauts" is in the supporting cast category. The "Sea Hunt" bit players are usually amateur ish but the "Aquanaut" crew seemed more competent as actors. Lloyd Bridges, however, is still the greatest scuba artist alive.

While each "Aquanaut" episode will last twice as long as a "Sea Hunt" episode, it's not twice as good. Or twice as bad. Just twice as long.

"Hawaiian Eye" began its second and bloodshot season on ABC-TV last night with an episode that was chiefly distinguished by a perky title: "I Wed Three Wives" (with ing else perked.

The story dealt with a showdown session as the three exwives of a movie idol sought back alimony from him at gunpoint. The production never settled down as a comedy and as drama was woeful.

The thugs was paddled with the usual time-killers — a song and-dance routine, ordering drinks. Efrem Zimbalist and Roger Smith, stars of "77 Sunset Strip," were intrigued briefly — they briefly — in an early scene. The rest of the cast had to stick around to the bitter end.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Producer Fred Coe and Director Arthur Penn have signed to produce four original dramatic specials for ABC-TV. The plays, 60-and-90-minutes in length, will deal with the love lives of famous women. Included is a teleplay about the late Eva Peron of Argentina.

Vice President Richard Nixon and his family will be guests in a special half hour "Person to Person" visit on CBS-TV Thursday, Oct. 6. Sen. John Kennedy and family will be visited by the show's cameras the previous Thursday, Sept. 29.

Perry Como's return to motion picture work will be as the star of a film called, "The Great St. Bernard." Lucille Ball and Jackie Gleason are set as the guests on the closing "Celebrity Talent Scouts" show Monday, Sept. 26 on CBS-TV.

"For the Defense," a full-hour dramatic series, is being produced by NBC-TV for nighttime viewing in 1961. The series will deal with the workings of an international law firm.

Increased Outgo of U.S. Gold Adds to Top Brass' Economic Confusion

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The increased flow of gold to other nations recently and the steady expenditure of American investment dollars abroad while such spending is slowing down here adds to the uncertainty belogging the domestic economy.

Government authorities and banking spokesmen assure that confidence in the dollar isn't being undermined. But some of them add the ominous word "yet."

★ ★ ★

They mean that only if the financial balance continues to run against the United States too long would there be trouble. And they point to several hopeful signs that the situation isn't in imminent danger of getting out of hand. Some hope the trend can be reversed.

★ ★ ★

The loss of gold is told in the statistics. The U. S. gold stock is now under $18 billion for the first time in 20 years. The outflow has been much slower this year than in the two previous years. The board now is about $500 million lower than this time last year. But $323 million of that loss has come in the last nine weeks.

The U. S. Treasury loses gold when other nations or international financial agencies turn in their dollar assets for it. This use law permits them to do, although the Treasury won't sell gold to U. S. citizens except for use in industry and the arts.

Other nations have been piling up dollar assets for several years.

One is the investment abroad by American business. That is U. S. dollars go overseas to buy plants, materials and labor. They do so because of rising production costs here or because overseas plants let American business get around the remaining restrictions that other nations impose on U. S. products, whether quotas, or frozen currency transactions.

★ ★ ★

Another reason for increased foreign holdings of U. S. dollars is that the U. S. government sends around $4 billion abroad each year in the form of military, and economic aid.

American tourists add to the pile of dollars that foreigners are building up, and so do our military bases abroad.

Foreigners also get dollars for the goods and services they sell us. Competition with American goods has been increasing, especially in products made in Western Europe and Japan. Of late several American industries have increased their complaints and sought relief in higher tariffs or import controls.

But imports into this country run behind exports from this country. So far as trade itself is concerned, the United States takes in more money than it loses dollars through what it buys from abroad.

The overall loss comes from the other spending abroad — the investments, the foreign aid, travel and upkeep of military bases.

Those who say this isn't too serious yet point to the growth this year in our exports while our imports have tended to drop, and to the size of our gold pile, far taller than that of any other Western nation.

★ ★ ★

Confidence in the dollar depends on other things besides the size of the gold board. It depends in large measure on government fiscal policies. At the moment the Treasury appears headed for another year of a moderate surplus — provided tax collections hold up. These in turn depend on such things as corporate profits getting a little better than they are right now, and in personal incomes at least holding up if not increasing.

107 Million Americans Are Old Enough to Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 107 million American civilians will be old enough to vote in the November presidential election, the Census Bureau estimated Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

But the bureau noted that many of these millions will be ineligible to vote because they have not satisfied state voting requirements.

They are confined in prisons or mental hospitals, or live in the District of Columbia and lack voting residence in any state.

In the 1956 election 61.6 million votes were cast.

The bureau gave state-by-state estimates based in part on preliminary results of the 1960 census. The figures include all civilians 21 and over for 46 state and the District of Columbia.

For Georgia and Kentucky, the estimates include those 18 or over, for Alaska 19 and over and for Hawaii 20 and over. These four states permit persons under 21 to vote.

The estimates for each state were:

Hennings' Death Breeds Caution

Legal Opinion Will Be Sought Before Special Replacement Election

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. James T. Blair said he would ask the attorney general for a legal opinion before calling a special election Nov. 8 to choose a successor for Sen. Thomas C. Hennings.

Hennings, Missouri's Democratic senior senator, died in Washington Tuesday of cancer. His death set up waves of speculation in both Democratic and Republican camps, since the nominees to run in the special election would have to be chosen by the party state committees.

Blair said he wanted to make sure about the procedure in calling a special election since there are some legal questions involved.

Under one law, the governor has the right to appoint a successor when a senatorial vacancy occurs but Blair said he had not decided whether he would do that. Since Congress is not in session, he said there is no urgency about filling the vacancy.

Former President Harry S. Truman was mentioned by some Democrats as a logical nominee for the job but Truman apparently took himself out of the race when he said in New York he had no ambition to return to the Senate.

'WANTS NOTHING MORE'

He is 76 and in recent years has said repeatedly he wants nothing more from his party except the chance to help it win elections. Blair's name also has come up in the speculation but he had no comment.

Other Democrats whose names have been mentioned include two congressmen — Rep. Richard Bolling of Kansas City, who keynoted the Democrats' state platform convention Tuesday, and Rep. Charles H. Brown of Springfield, campaign manager for Sen. Stuart Symington's unsuccessful attempt to gain the presidential nomination.

Man Accused of Living With Three Wives at Once

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A 26-year-old man was arrested Tuesday night and accused of living with three "wives" by whom he had six children.

★ ★ ★

Roger Ward, a draftsman for the Las Vegas Valley Water District, was booked on a charge of statutory rape because one of his mates was 17 years old.

Also arrested was George Briscoe, 44, a carpenter, the father of two of Ward's mates, Donna, 17, and Opal, 22. He was booked on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Sheriff's deputies said both Ward and Briscoe are former Mormons who were expelled from the church five years ago because of their polygamist beliefs.

GRAB FIRST WIFE

Others taken into custody included Ward's first wife Mary, 34, whom he married in a church six years ago.

She was charged with conspiracy to commit unlawful cohabitation along with Ward's second mate Opal whom he "wed" four years ago.

His third mate Donna was placed in custory of juvenile authorities.

★ ★ ★

Deputies said Ward had his six children by his first two mates. The 17-year-old girl was childless.

Detectives Ray Roberts said Donna told him she and her sister Opal "wed" Ward during rites in the desert in which Briscoe, his wife and their eight children and the Ward family all took part.

"They said they joined hands, prayed, called for God Almighty to look on them and then declared Ward and the girl married," Roberts said.

"This happened, both when he joined with Opal and Donna."

Ward believed he received messages from God telling him to marry Briscoe's daughters, Roberts said, and that Briscoe also believed in the messages.

The detective said the two families recently joined a religious sect called the Church of the First Born Truthfulness and were about to go to its headquarters in Chihuahua, Mexico, when they were arrested.
