Pontiac's New City Hall Opens Doors Today

Polio Shots May Resume Here Saturday

OK Is Expected on Salk Vaccine Producers Soon

Officials Are Confident 'Air Will Be Cleared' This Week

The estimated 9,500 Oakland County youngsters who were to get their first polio vaccine shots last Saturday may get them this Saturday, county health officials said today.

"I'm confident the air will be cleared by Saturday, or even before," said Dr. John D. Monroe, county health director.

Saturday morning, 35 minutes before the Salk shots were to be given to first and second graders in Pontiac, Waterford Township, Birmingham, Southfield Township and Ferndale, Dr. Monroe called off the day's program.

His decision followed a recommendation by the U. S. Public Health Service that states hold up the inoculations over the weekend pending study of an investigation into the manufacture and testing of the vaccine.

Last night, Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele urged that the program be held up for a few more days while federal health authorities make a new safety check.

Scheele expressed hope a plant-by-plant check of vaccine manufacturers would permit resumption by the end of this week.

Dr. Monroe's decision coincides with Scheele's view.

Dr. Monroe said even if the O.K. comes before Saturday, the department would not be able "to marshal its forces" in time to give the shots before then.

Parents whose children have been vaccinated were assured by Scheele that "in the very best judgement of the public health service, they have no cause for alarm."

Michigan is one of the few states not going along with the federal government's "strong recommendation."

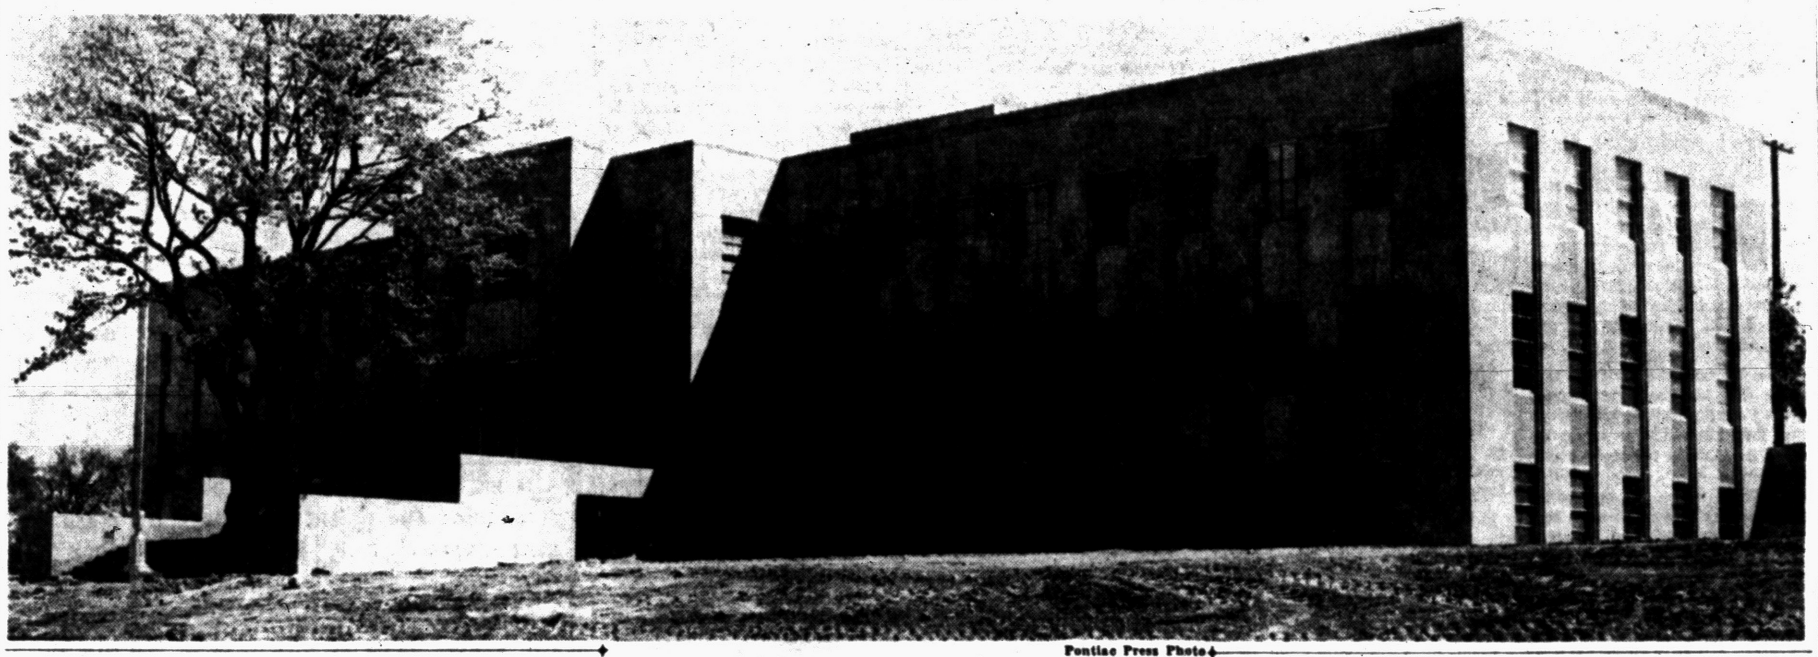

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said Michigan's anti-polio innoculation programs will be continued unless he receives a specific order from Washington to stop using the Salk vaccine.

He based his decision on the success of the state program. He pointed out that 325,000 shots have been given in the state with only one suspected case of polio reported among the children inoculated.

"I believe we have ample evidence that the vaccine we have

Presenting Pontiac's New $1,200,000 City Hall, Ready for Use and Debt Free

Pontiac Press Photo

MILLION-DOLLAR LOOK—Costing $1,200,000 — and all paid for —Pontiac's new city Hall today officially opened for business. The building, which will be dedicated June 12, faces Parke street and is bounded on the north by Pike street and on the east by Hill street. The structure cost $1,050,000, equipment $75,000 and outside work $75,000. It replaces the old City Hall, built in 1909, which probably will be razed.

Civic Center May Be Built Around Building

All Municipal Offices Housed in $1,200,000 Structure

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

A far cry from the days when city aldermen convened on the second floor of the main fire hall above the heads of restless fire horses, Pontiac's modern, million-dollar-plus City Hall today opened its doors.

Constructed of reinforced concrete and faced with Indiana limestone, the new structure is slated to become the focal point of a city civic center.

Costing $1,200,000, the City Hall was completely paid for out of current tax revenues and required no bonds.

Official dedication ceremonies, set for June 12, will cap a three-

For the first time in many years, all city departments are now housed under a single roof.

The ground floor is home for the Health, Parks and Recreation, Electric and Purchasing departments, the engineering laboratory and the printing and mailing office.

Situated on the first floor are the departments with which the majority of the public must come in contact.

In the south wing are the Treasurer's and Water departments. The city clerk's office and building permit and inspection offices are located in the north wing.

The assessor's office is in the eastern portion.

On the top floor, the City Engineering Dept., city planner, Dept. of Public Works director and traffic engineer are located in the north wing.

In the east section are located the accounting and bookkeeping departments.

Paneled in white oak, the administrative suite fills the south wing of the second floor.

Offices are located there for the city manager, attorney, director of finance, personnel director and mayor.

Measuring 47-by-38 feet, the room has a west wall of floor-to-ceiling black walnut. The north and east walls are black walnut above a five-foot wainscoting of Missouri marble.

Highlighting the room is a specially designed Commission table, which took seven weeks to construct. It is so designed that all commissioners face the spectators.

An annex room to the south, which can be separated by a folding plastic door, can seat 50 additional spectators. It also can be used as a conference room.

Doors throughout the 207-by-102-foot building are black walnut.

The main vestibule and lobby are completely walled in imported Italian marble. All corridors are lined five feet up from the floor with the same Cliffdale marble

Broomfield Asks Gas Price Probe

Standard Hikes Rates; Other Firms Expected to Follow Lead

Oakland County's State Sen. William S. Broomfield (Royal Oak) said today he will introduce a resolution calling for a federal investigation of gasoline prices in Michigan.

The lawmaker's action was prompted by announcement of a half-cent increase per gallon on wholesale price of regular gas and a cent hike in ethyl price by the Standard Oil Co.

Most service stations in the Pontiac area did not hike gasoline prices this morning, but were expected to do so this afternoon and tomorrow in line with an increase in wholesale prices announced by the Standard Oil Co.

Other companies usually follow Standard's rate changes, spokesmen for several of them explained. The wholesale jump is ½ cent on regular grade and 1 cent on premium.

The current rate is 30 cents a gallon for regular and 32.5 for ethyl. New figures will probably be 30.6 and 33.6. The extra .1 of a cent will be to cover increased state sales tax payments, dealers explained.

"I feel this increase is not justified and a full investigation should be launched by the U.S. Congress into the gas-price picture," Broomfield stated.

The resolution will probably be submitted to the Senate tonight. If given full state legislative approval, it will be forwarded to Washington.

"Existing prices in other states, such as Ohio, are lower, yet their gas tax is lower than ours or at least comparable," he asserted.

Hiroshima Girls in New York City for Scar Surgery

NEW YORK (INS)—Twenty-five "Hiroshima maidens" hideously scarred by the atomic bomb arrived in New York today with the prayerful hope that plastic surgery will help them to happier lives.

The Japanese girls were disfigured ten years ago in the searing heat and blinding flash of the the first A-bomb ever exploded in warfare.

Suffering psychological and spiritual "wounds" as well as physical scars, they have lived as virtual hermits and without hope for a decade.

The girls, age 19 to 32, will undergo a year-long series of plastic surgery operations at New York's Mt. Sinai Hospital.

Seven Others Injured in Collision Saturday Night on M15

A 51-year-old Detroit man was killed and seven others were hospitalized after a 3-car crash Saturday night on M15 at Seymour Lake Rd., Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said.

Pronounced dead at the scene was Thomas Taylor, a passenger with Albert Walker, 47, of Detroit. Walker was reported in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital with two broken legs and head cuts.

Others riding with Walker, all listed in good condition at the hospital, were: Gloria Jean Walker, 9, of Flint, head injuries; Zelma Walker, 8, of Flint, possible internal injuries; Vickie Manley, 11, of Detroit, possible spine injury; and Roy T. Houston, 8, of Detroit severe face cuts.

Listed in critical condition with a broken hip, ankle and elbow was Miss Barbara Sauvage, 17, of Ortonville. She was riding with Leon J. Weeks, 24, of Ortonville, who is listed in good condition with a broken jaw.

Deputies Allen Biles and Jessie Whitlock theorized that a car driven by Joyce Sellers Jr., 26, of Ortonville, hit the southbound Walker car and that Weeks was unable to stop and rammed the Walker car in the rear.

Sellers, who was unhurt, was unable to tell what happened, while Walker and Weeks injuries prevented their making a statement.

Low Temperatures Cause Only Minor Damage Here

Last night's low temperatures caused only slight damage to gardens and orchards in this area, a survey indicated today.

"Only some of the tender garden plants may have been injured," said Oakland County Agricultural Agent Lyle Abel.

Peach and apple orchard owners in the Romeo area reported the cold snap came too late to do much harm to blossoms. The low reading in Pontiac this morning was 33.

The threat seemed over today with the low tonight predicted at 43 to 47 and a high tomorrow near 75. The forecast was for increasing cloudiness tonight followed by showers and thundershowers tonight and tomorrow.

The weather bureau reported below-freezing temperatures last night from Flint on north. The Berrien County area, in the state's main fruit belt, reported severe damage to strawberries, grapes and raspberries.

There was possible loss in the area to sweet cherries, peaches, red tart cherries, apples and pears.

Clarence C. Mullett, agricultural agent for the Grand Traverse area, said the cherry crop was "well pollinated already so damage won't be too extensive."

The mercury had reached to 52 in downtown Pontiac by 2 p.m.

Statehood Bill Ready for House

First Vote to Decide on Rules for Alaska, Hawaii Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in the long fight over statehood, the House today gets to vote whether it will consider a bill to admit both Alaska and Hawaii as states.

Before voting on statehood itself, the House must decide first whether to consider the bill under rules limiting debate and barring amendments. You could get an argument either way as to the outcome.

Unofficial reports — by statehood supporters — say membership polls by House Democratic and Republican organizations indicate a majority will support the combined bill if it comes to a vote. But they concede it will be close.

As a result, the big fight is likely to come today with opponents seeking to block the bill's consideration. Such a move could draw support not only from those opposed to admitting either territory, but also from supporters who disapprove the no-amendment procedure under which the rules committee approved bringing the bill to the floor.

Ford CIO Council Orders Strike Vote

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers Ford Council today voted unanimously to order a strike vote among 138,000 Ford employes across the country.

The 130-man council, representing UAW-CIO Ford workers, voted within a few minutes after Kenneth Banion, national director of the union's Ford department, reported on contract negotiations.

The GM delegates were expected to take similar strike vote authorization later today.

Pontiac Nearly Had City Hall 26 Years Ago

Pontiac nearly had a new City Hall 26 years ago.

Voters had approved the sale of bonds to erect a new building and land at the corner of East Pike and Parke Sts. was purchased.

Plans were drawn and the bond sale was imminent when the infamous 1929 crash came.

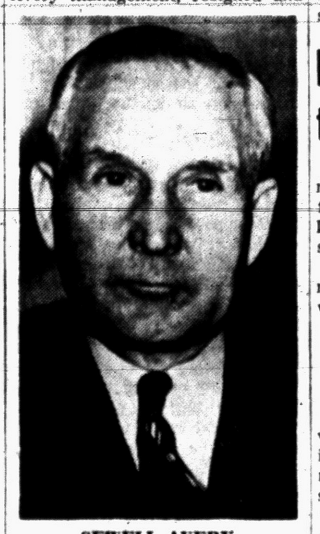

The plans were later completely revised, but the same land was used.

Avery Resigns as Ward Head

Quits Two Weeks After Beating Wolfson; Barr to Succeed Magnate, 81

CHICAGO (AP)—Sewell L. Avery, 81, resigned today as chairman of Montgomery Ward and Co., along with the firm's president who helped fight off Louis E. Wolfson's drive to capture control of the mail order house.

Edmund A. Krider, 42, Ward president who trouped the country to line up shareholders behind the Avery management, resigned and pledged "my full support" to John A. Barr, 47, who was named to succeed Avery as chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee.

Krider had been with the company since 1945 and president since 1952. Barr, vice president and secretary, conducted part of the historic April 22 stockholders' meeting in Avery's place.

Avery will remain a director of the company. He is one of the candidates on the management slate of directors for re-election. Votes taken at the stockholders' meeting April 22 are being counted and tabulated.

Financial circles reported Avery had planned to retire as chairman some time ago but that when Wolfson, New York and Florida financier, made public his plan to seek control of the firm Avery stayed on to lead the management fight.

During Avery's regime four Ward presidents and about 40 vice presidents had been fired or quit.

Oakland Value Hiked by State

Equalized Figure Up by $222 Million for $1.4 Billion Total

LANSING (AP) — The state tax commission, recommending an $831,450,000 increase in the state's equalized valuation, today made public the county-by-county equalization proposals for this year.

The tax commission recommended state equalization of $17,553,525,000 compared to last year's $16,722,075,000. The total of county assessed valuations was $13,479,487,026, an increase over last year of $698,350,814.

Oakland's equalized figure was set at $1,400,725,000 by the state as compared to a 1954 valuation of $1,178,425,000. Lapeer's valuation was set at $70,525,000 as compared with $69,550,000 last year.

It was the first state equalization since the state Supreme Court held that the state equalization must be used as the basis for local property taxes.

The state board of equalization will meet May 23 to hear protests and make the figures final.

The bulk of the increase is contained in $700,000,000 worth of new construction on the tax roll, Louis N. Nims, commission chairman, said.

Bonanzagram Rules Eased Again to Find a Winner

To help someone win the $800 cash prize just waiting to be taken away, rules will be made easier.

Starting as of today, with Bonanzagram No. 10 appearing this week, punctuation marks will not be counted in determining a winner.

Puzzles get a bit harder as we go along, but since no one has submitted an entirely perfect answer, with both missing letters and punctuation correct, the new rule will make it easier to hit the jackpot.

Answer to puzzle No. 9 will be revealed Friday. On this puzzle a perfect answer (letters and punctuation) will be tops. If no perfect solution is found, a solution with but one punctuation error will pay off. This is for No. 9 which appeared last week.

You have through Tuesday, May 17, to submit your answer to No. 10.

Salk Vaccine OK Is Expected Soon

used is safe and effective," Dr. Heustis said.

A number of states and cities had planned to start mass inoculations of first and second graders today, but called off the vaccinations after Scheele's statement. These included, Connecticut, Maine, Vermont, Washington and Los Angeles.

Many state health department heads, like Dr. Heustis, voiced unshaken confidence in the vaccine and some indicated dissatisfaction with the suspension even though they went along with it.

Meanwhile, one of the most prominent figures in the fight against polio, Basil O'Connor, issued a warning that the government should have an "unanswerable scientific reason" for any suspension.

O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said suspension of the inoculation program could prevent at least 2,500,000 children from receiving their first shot and would delay all of the children in the south from receiving their second shot.

O'Connor made his statement in Kansas City before Scheele's announcement. But he pointed out that the government has already banned Cutter vaccine, which has figured in the vast majority of cases where children came down with polio after vaccinations.

"There is nothing that has happened in relation to other vaccines that would warrant any change in attitude to it," he said.

Scheele's announcement included a report that the number of children developing polio after vaccination had risen to 52, with 50 of the cases paralytic.

The surgeon general said 44 of the children had been inoculated with vaccine made by the Cutter Laboratories, of Berkeley, Calif., before Cutter's output was recalled April 27.

Scheele said there is a "definite" but unexplained association between the use of "the Cutter vaccine and the few cases of polio which followed it. He added:

"The incidence of paralytic polio among vaccinated children, other than those who received the Cutter vaccine, has been only one out of almost 700,000. This corresponds to the expected natural occurrence of poliomyelitis among these children this time of the year.

"So, simply in statistical terms, there is every reason to believe the product of the other manufacturers is safe."

Scheele said the government inspection team will visit the manufacturing laboratories in the order the labs entered the Salk vaccine field. That means Detroit's Parke, Davis & Co. will be visited first.

The federal officials will go all over the processing procedures, talk with the people who do the processing, and compare notes on what the other labs are doing. It may well be, Scheele said, some of the vaccine currently manufactured can be cleared for use then and there.

Scheele said the first of the three shots in the Salk system gives "quite a bit" of immunity. But this immunity is strengthened, he said, by the second and third shots—so it's quite possible, he added, some of the polio cases have developed before the vaccine exerted its full effect.

He told questioners, too, the delay caused by the current slowdown in vaccinations will have no "significant" effect on youngsters who will have to wait a little longer for their second shot. The intervening period can be varied from two weeks to five weeks or more, he said.

Pontiac City Hall Opens Doors Today

Ceilings are of fire-proof acoustical tile.

Most offices have three-inch metal sound-proof walls which appear to be permanent.

"They make for great flexibility," said architect Leo J. Heenan. "You can change an office layout overnight."

Floors in public areas are constructed of marble and terrazo. In offices, the floors are of vinyl plastic tiles.

Fluorescent lighting is used throughout. In the Commission chamber, the fluorescent tubes are encased in flush plexiglas fixtures.

Recessed lights are used in the administrative suite, where wheat-colored wooden furniture is the fashion.

With the exception of the ground floor, which is partially underground, the City Hall will be fully air conditioned.

In all portions of the building, winter or summer, temperatures may be set individually in each room via wall thermostats.

Forced hot water will heat the building. A re-circulating water air conditioning system — which complies with a new city ordinance—will keep it cool.

Ice-cold water will gush from every fountain, thanks to a special refrigeration unit in the subbasement under the eastern portion of the building.

Departmental clerks won't have to worry about making change. Pneumatic tubes will lead from all departments where permits and licenses are sold to the treasurer's office.

As in a department store, clerks in the treasurer's office will make all change and stamp bills and receipts "paid."

City Hall visitors will have their choice of walking stairs or riding an elevator. And a shaft is ready for another elevator should the time come when one is deemed necessary.

Aluminum is used for the main doors, all door casings and the spandrels, or facings between windows on the exterior.

Another feature is a $50,000 telephone system, designed especially for the building by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and Western Electric laboratories.

Like most Heenan-designed structures, the new building is constructed so another floor can be added.

The building, located at East Pike and Parke Sts., "won't show up to advantage for a year and a half," said Heenan. "When we get the plantings, shrubs and grass in, then it will really be something to look at."

A long flight of stairs, broken by two plateaus and planting boxes filled with flowers, will eventually lead to the main entrance from Parke street.

Plans now call for construction of a new $500,000 public safety building next to the new City Hall to house the police department, municipal courts and fire department administration.

City Manager Walter K. Willman has already received Commission approval to go ahead with the building, and construction may start some time next fall.

Willman also has authorization to tear down the city hall annex on Hill street directly behind the new building, and also a city-owned house on Parke street.

Willman Saturday said he probably will seek sanction to tear down the old City Hall which has stood at Pike and Mill Sts. since 1909.

The Michigan National Guard has stated interest in vacating its armory corner Mill and Water Sts. (at the opposite end of the block the old City Hall is on.)

Plans call, too, for demolition of the ancient fire station No. 1 at E. Pike and Perry Sts.

Then will be gone the last memories of the turn-of-the-century days when aldermen carried on the business of a burgeoning city above the clatter of fire horses stabled below.

Now You Can Win!

"Bonanzagram"

Have Fun! Win $100!

"Bonanzagram" is an exciting new puzzle in which the Pontiac Press offers both fun and a $100 cash prize. BUT before you try your hand at "Bonanzagram" be sure and read the rules at the bottom of this page. Solution will appear in the Press May 20.

Claim Check

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No. 10 is published Friday, May 20. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning solution. Check the rules below for further details.

Bonanzagram No. 10

The Explorer Scouts were in trouble. A sudden, huge rockslide had penned them in the main canyon of a range they were exploring. After some worried consultation, Scout leader David Borden decided it was best to divide the group into two parties. He assigned one to their Indian guide and took the other himself. Using their maps and compasses, they set off in opposite directions in search of a "forked patch" which, according to Indian legend, provided the second means of escape from the canyon. After two foggy and strenuous days, Borden's group found the way out, but meanwhile lost contact with the others. That night one of the boys on night watch picked up a code message from a distant flashlight. He had missed some of the letters, but Borden was able to decipher it and form a plan for reuniting the two groups. Can you, too, figure out what happened to the others?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message. Clues may also be found in the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation will help solve the message but is not necessary to win.

All missings letters must be correctly inserted to win a Bonanzagram prize. Punctuation will not be considered in judging a correct answer.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p.m. Tuesday, May 17. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, May 10 for Bonanzagram No. 10. Address "Bonanzagram, %, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." Postmark on this letter must be not later than 5 p. m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employes of the Press and members of their immediate families. (Immediate family means all those living in an employe's household.)

2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.

3. The Press will award a prize of $100 to the winner of each weekly "Bonanzagram." If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the $100 will be added to the next week's prize. If the winner is a subscriber of record to the Press a $20 bonus will be added to the $100.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize, but there is no limit on number of entries.

5. The Press retains the right to correct typographical errors.

6. Judges' decision will be final and contestant's submission of entries indicates acceptance of these rules.

7. No liability is accepted for entries that fail to reach us.

8. The Press reserves the right to alter rules and/or discontinue the contest at its discretion.

Salk Vaccine Leaves Zoo Without Monkeys

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—What's a monkey island in a zoo without monkeys?

Hogle Zoological Gardens here rent monkeys for the summer because it has no winter quarters. But this year, so many of the Rhesus monkeys from India—the kind which always have inhabited the island—are being used in the manufacture of the Salk polio vaccine that none are available for the zoo.

Finds $50 Coin Collection Worth Up to $7 Thousand

DETROIT (AP) — In all of jeweler Meyer Rosenbaum's years of collecting treasured art he has seldom had so much good fun as now.

A mounting of old Japanese gold and silver coins for which Rosenbaum paid $50 to a Boston anitque dealer turns out apparently to be worth many times that amount.

Rosenbaum gives an uncritical estimate of "from $4,000 to $7,000." He is in the process of getting an exact determination. Experts are helping him.

To Rosenbaum — who parted with a reputed $100,000 to acquire the fabulous Moon of Baroda diamond — the value of the old Japanese coins, 40 in number, appears only incidental.

He is having a good time trying to learn their various history. Though a longtime collector of art and gems, he admits being an amateur, strictly, on coins.

A stroll on Boston's Boylston street on an August weekend last year led to Rosenbaum's discovery.

Rosenbaum bought the collection on a whim. The coins impressed him for their "unusualness and artistic mounting."

A native Philadelphian who has been in business here many years, the 55-year-old jeweler said, "I'd never seen anything like it."

The 40 coins are flat and of odd shapes and sizes. They have imprinted, vertical Japanese characters.

But from a catalogue published by the numismatic review of New York, Rosenbaum ascertained that the largest coin in the collection—a gold piece five inches long of a rectangular-noval design — has a value of apparently $1,000. It may be almost 400 years old.

Rosenbaum indicated sympathy for the antique shop dealer who let the coins get away.

Rosenbaum had only a vague recollection of the place of his acquisition that it was on Boston's Boylston street.

Inquiry by the Associated Press at Boston cleared that up.

Alexander Marcus, an associate in Boston's Brodney Art Gallery on Boylston recalled selling the collection to Rosenbaum.

He was interested when told of the possible value, but said:

"It was priced to move quickly. We are not experts on things like that and we get many diversified items that if we tried to check on every one we might have to charge probably 10 times more for them."

Marcus said the coins had been part of a collection and that the Boston family which sent them to him apparently had them for a great many years, judging by the paper on the back.

"They were framed in Hong Kong — a beautiful job," he said. "We had no way of knowing whether they were originals or not or whether they were really gold and silver."

The Japanese coins are not for sale. They are a part of Rosenbaum's "treasure chest collection," which includes the Moon of Baroda of Mongolian and Persian and Austrian Empress Marie Theresa background and numerous other dazzling items.

Effort Revived to Get OK for Warren Airport

Reorganization of Detroit Metropolitan Aviation Authority has revived hope for construction of the sorely needed Warren Township airport.

In the reorganization, Supervisor William C. Hudson of Royal Oak was elected authority president. Another result was to bring out into the open the five year long undercover fight between advocates of Warren Township and Wayne Major airport projects.

For a time this dispute threatened to block reorganization. Finally however, the two factions agreed to revive the authority in an effort to get something done for needed Oakland-Macomb-Wayne airport facilities.

The superiority of the Warren Township site is self evident. An Oakland County Citizens' Committee says it would serve 65 per cent of the metropolitan area more conveniently than Willow Run.

For this section the advantages of the Macomb County site bounded by Twelve Mile, Ryan, Fourteen Mile and Dequindre Roads are overwhelming. It is 18 miles from Pontiac. Willow Run is 40 miles distant.

Every month of delay merely increases the need for this facility.

Germany Sovereign Again

World events have combined to mark the first third of May, 1955, as one of the most historic postwar periods.

Besides the 10th anniversary of V-E Day, May 8, there are included three events born of the final ratifications of the pacts of Paris.

May 5—Deposit by France and Great Britain of their ratifications restoring German sovereignty. May 6—Formal admission of the West German Federal Republic to the new West European Union. May 9—Raising of West Germany's yellow and black flag at NATO headquarters to signify that country's admission as the 15th member.

Despite the delaying tactics of the French, movement toward German sovereignty and rearmament must be considered, historically, as remarkably rapid. As recently as April, 1950, the United States was opposing German rearmament. To admit Germany to NATO has meant a reversal of policy.

By September 26, 1950, however, the North Atlantic Council had agreed that Germany should be enabled to contribute to the buildup of West European anti-Communist defenses. Although thereafter the whole idea of German rearmament seemed occasionally in peril, the basic decision had been made. What remained to be worked out was the nature of Germany's contribution.

Latent neutralism in West Germany and Soviet Russia's active opposition still stand in the way of creation of German armed forces. Long NATO discussions, probably lasting into midsummer, will be devoted to the details of German troop raising.

The greatest log jam was broken last March, when France finally ratified the Paris agreement. Big Power action was completed when on April 7, President Eisenhower signed the U.S. ratification of the pacts and they were deposited in Bonn April 20.

Blough Succeeds Fairless

When his 65th birthday compelled Benjamin F. Fairless to resign as board chairman, the destiny of U. S. Steel was placed in the hands of Roger M. Blough.

Like Fairless, Blough is a small town product maintaining his permanent residence at Hawley Pa. There he taught history in the high school before becoming a corporation lawyer and rising, at 51, to board chairmanship of the world's largest steelmaker.

A native of Pigeon Run, Ohio, and son of a Welsh miner, Fairless taught school for two years to help pay for his higher education at Wooster College and later Ohio Northern. After a hard working start in the ranks, he became president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel in 1935. Two years later he moved to the same post in U.S. Steel of Delaware, predecessor of the present company.

During his service as president and board chairman, the corporation's capacity has been increased 30 per cent to a point where it produces one-third of the Nation's steel. In the same period U.S. Steel's labor force has been increased 20 per cent.

Outstanding advances have been made under Fairless' direction. This and his warmly received offer to remain a director means that his experience and wisdom will continue to be available to the corporation he has served so well.

David Lawrence Says:

U. S. Forced to Go Along With False Peace Talk

PARIS—On the surface there's a wave of peace talk. It's the kind that can deceive millions of people everywhere and dash their hopes in bitter disappointment when they learn the sad truth. The top government officials in the allied governments indulge in the peace talk because they are forced into it by Soviet strategy on the one hand and by political influences on the other.

Having no political axes to grind and having no responsibility to any political party or faction, this writer can give the facts as he finds them, unpleasant though they may be.

For one thing, United States government officials privately haven't any illusions about what is happening. They know the Soviet leopard hasn't changed his spots, but, for various reasons, this isn't the time to stand off and say so.

To do this would put a crimp in the election campaign of the British Conservatives, and it is an open secret that many of our officials fear that a Labor Socialist victory might mean that World War III would be brought nearer rather than made remote as the Socialists claim. This is because the Socialist Labor Party leaders favor appeasement not only in Europe, just as Chamberlain did in 1938, but they favor it in the Far East, and this could bring on a war with Red China.

In fact, a British election victory for the Laborites may touch off the Far Eastern war because of a mistaken belief by the Reds that the time to strike is when America and Britain are farthest apart.

There will, therefore, be a public statement saying America favors a four-power conference to discuss German unification but not to take up any Far Eastern issues.

It is difficult at this stage of the game to see what any four-power conference could accomplish. For, if there had been anything to negotiate on the part of the Russians, they could have taken it up with the American ambassador in Moscow, Charles E. Bohlen, who speaks Russian fluently.

No ambassador from any other country has received any proposals that could be the basis for a European settlement.

But the Communists see a big propaganda advantage in a four-power conference. It enhances their prestige and keeps the Western world guessing. If there had been any real desire to relieve tension, the Soviet and Red China governments would be showing it in concrete ways. Hundreds of Americans are still held prisoner in Red China. The Anglo-Soviet treaties of friendship have just been formally annulled. And there is no let-up in the propaganda of denunciation.

To notify the world, moreover, that President Eisenhower's recent correspondence with Marshal Zhukov is meaningless, the Communist leaders wrote an article for the marshal to sign which has just appeared in "Pravda." It denounces the Western countries as warmongers.

Also a meeting of all the satellites has been called at Warsaw to establish a Communist military alliance, which has been called a "Red NATO," as a counter-measure to the West's North Atlantic Treaty Organization, into which West Germany now has been admitted.

All these moves add up to a reaffirmation of Communist imperialism and aggressive purposes, but the top officials of Britain, France and the United States, pressed by electorates which are swallowing appeasement talk, now have apparently decided to ignore the bellicose moves of the Communists and to act as if they were not happening.

Hence, there will be public statements made indicating a plan to work up a four-power conference. The signing of the Austrian treaty, which has been held up for ten years by Soviet strategy, is being hailed as a sign of the firendly purposes of the Communists. Actually, it's a strategic move in the larger game, which aims to split Germany off from the West.

Already inside West Germany, now a sovereign state, the Communists have succeeded in dividing the political parties by these tactics, which hold forth the bait of unification. There are well-informed persons who are willing to take bets that not a German soldier will be delivered to NATO in the next four years and that West Germans will find themselves faced with the terrible alternative of withdrawing from NATO or facing a continuation of their country's division.

Will the West Germans see through the scheme to keep them neutral and detached from any military alliance so as to make easier the control from within of the undefended country by influences favorable to Soviet Russia?

It isn't all sweetness and light, therefore, in Europe despite the proposed four-power conferences and the plans to withdraw troops from Austria after a new treaty is signed. These facts constitute an unpleasant realism, but the Western world in the period prior to two world wars learned only the hard way. Maybe that will have to happen again.

'Daily Reader' Says Parents Not Always Only Ones to Blame for Delinquency

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Who are delinquent parents? High school students are taught that they should have free thought and act accordingly. Parents' side of the question isn't considered.

Even eighth graders are out late for sports when they should be home in bed, if only for health.

In Miss Woodward's column 14 and 15-year-olds are upset because their mothers won't let them date. They should be told to forget boys and use the privilege of a good education, paid for often at extreme sacrifice by elderly taxpayers who never made big money.

How many high school pupils can be found in Sunday school? I was told by a 16-year-old that only sissies go to church.

Then we are told there is nothing for them to do. I never saw a home where there wasn't something to do. At 15 they are old enough to help, especially with so many mothers working to help give them more.

There are the delinquent parents . . . those who won't accept the advice of well-meaning parents and grow up unfit for marriage and the care of a home.

Once I went with some parents to pick up a 15-year-old at a party. At 10:30 refreshments had not even been served, but she had to leave. She was crying and I said, "You should be glad you have parents who care." She said it wasn't that, but what she would have to take the next day at school.

That was not a case of parents' bad judgment. Others are often more to blame because they fight what parents stand for.

Ike Gives Deep Concern to Problems of Economy

By MERRYLE RUKEYSER
Economic Commentator

WASHINGTON (INS) — In light of the fact that President Eisenhower spent most of his life in the Army, his lively interest in the authentic nature of the American competitive system is noteworthy.

As the nation grows, the complexity of the White House job skyrockets, and in the nature of things an executive must delegate work to others.

But his close associates point out that, aside from acute issues relating to war and peace, Eisenhower gives much personal time and attention to reading and analyzing current data bearing on the economic trend. When pressed for an explanation, one important aide remarked to me: "Perhaps the President feels that a sound national economy is basic to national defense."

Whatever the motivation, the paradoxical fact remains that a public leader, who during most of his adult life was sheltered from the rigors of the competitive system, has become one of its most devout proponents and one of its most sympathetic interpreters.

Behind the inspirational implications of Eisenhower's attitude is evidence that he means what he says and in interludes of transition he has faith in the capacity of a free-choice system to work out its problems.

This is somewhat of a departure from attitudes of the two decades before he entered the White House, when every fluctuation was looked upon as an occasion for remedial intervention in the business system by the government.

The late F.D.R was so conscious of interventionism that on one occasion in the mid-1930s at a White House press conference he announced an intention to give business "a breathing spell."

In contrast President Eisenhower thinks that the normal procedure is to let the enterprise system do its own breathing, and that governmental intervention would be warranted only if business showed an inability to breathe.

Those less familiar with what makes the national economy tick may de-emphasize this point of difference. However, the basic change in the attitude of government toward private enterprise and private property has been reflected in the substantial contribution now given to high level employment through willingness of savers and business executives to invest in additional capital goods—tools of production.

On the contrary in 1939, prior to the outbreak of World War II, the low index of business government at that time was registered in the smallness of capital expenditures for tools, and the price the country paid for such lack of confidence was chronic large scale unemployment.

The language of the Eisenhower Administration should be re-examined because, in stressing the middle-of-the-road position, the impression is created in some quarters that it represents merely a Republican New Deal.

Among significant points of difference from the past is the Eisenhower enthusiasm for the enterprise system as "another road to Rome"—as a means of achieving the social and humane objectives of the American people for peace, prosperity, a better life, and adequate leisure.

Stall Off Teenage Marriage With Use of 'Yes, but' Technique; Don't Say 'No'

Dorothy threatened to elope with her high school sweetheart. Such a quickie marriage would probably have ended in divorce within a year. But her parents used the "Yes-but" strategy and got Dorothy to rate her boy friend on the "Tests for Sweethearts" described below. See what happened!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-325: Dorothy L., aged 17, is a charming high school senior.

"But she is infatuated with a boy in her senior class and wants to get married at once," her mother informed me.

"She has even threatened to run off and elope, unless we consent to her marriage.

"Dr. Crane, we have nothing against this boy except he is only 17 and totally unprepared to support a family.

"So what do you psychologists recommend to help control such infatuated young people?"

Employ the "Yes-but" technique, which is a standard psychological method in dealing with people.

It usually accomplishes little to bluntly oppose infatuated teenagers as by putting a complete veto on Dorothy's demand for marriage.

For when you threaten an infatuated person, your very opposition just fortifies his or her resolve.

For the act of repeating one's sales talk thus helps increase the conviction of the salesman, even if it doesn't persuade his prospect.

So "Yes" Dorothy along but stall for time by introducing the qualifying clause that begins with "but."

"Yes, he's a fine young man," you can thus seem to assent to Dorothy's demand, "but do you think it would be fair to him to prevent his going on to college where he could learn how to earn a better pay check to support you and your future babies?

"Maybe it would be smarter to let Bill go to school and then you, too, could get a year at college before you are both tied down for life.

"Meanwhile, you could be engaged and do your planning while both of you are getting more education."

Actually, an engagement of 17 is usually vetoed by us psychologists, but in this crucial attempt to stall for time, an engagement is better than an elopement.

Besides, it will defer the wedding for some months, so Dorothy's parents can have more time to inject a little additional "horse sense" and push it off still farther.

Meanwhile, encourage the infatuated couple to rate each other on my "Tests for Sweethearts," which list the most common merits and the most frequent demerits which engaged couples find in each other.

You infatuated youth should likewise welcome this chance to get a more sober impression of your sweetheart, for when you are madly in love, your vision is clouded.

You are often almost as intoxicated, albeit by romance, as the chronic alcoholic.

So rate each other carefully. These tests tear personality apart into 100 essential points for each sex. You can then obtain a more detached or objective viewpoint.

Dorothy's parents used the "Yes-but" method and stalled for time. Meanwhile, they gave Dorothy and her boy friend the tests mentioned below.

Even in her infatuation, Dorothy rated her sweetheart only "average," and her blind devotion to him was somewhat lessened by thus seeing his many faults in black and white.

The next fall they both went away to school, and within three months had broken their engagement. Thus another teenage marriage and quick ensuing divorce were avoided.

So send for those "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a stamped return envelope and a dime. Use them to jolt yourself out of unwise infatuations.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Opinions on Antiseptics Given by Health Expert

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

In 1843 Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes published his paper on "The Contagiousness of Puerperal Fever"—childbed fever or septicemia (blood poisoning) which killed so many young mothers—and was roundly denounced for his temerity by the recognized medical authorities of the day. Holmes was 34 years old and a blooming poet, at that.

Three years later another young upstart by the name of Semmelweiss, Drl Ignaz P. Semmelweiss, 28-year-old Hungarian, struck with the frightful mortality in one of the maternity, wards of the General Hospital in Vienna, ordered that no student should examine a patient in the ward until he had washed his hands in chlorin water.

The big shots of the profession were furious. They opposed Semmelweiss and his radical teaching with all their might. It may seem strange to some of us that the undisputed leaders of the medical profession could be so terribly wrong. But not to me. I know the medical profession.

I know, too, that it is virtually impossible, for the tail to wag the dog. I've been wagging away for longer than many of you knuckleheads have been able to read, much less think about how to keep well, and I doubt if the dog has budged—as yet. Even so, I intend to keep on wagging, because it's great fun, and I sincerely believe it does some good.

The "chlorin water" is a solution of calcium hypochlorite or "chloride of lime" in water. "Chloride of lime" (otherwise called chorinated lime) is still used as a sewage disinfectant, but chlorin, chlorides, hypochlorites are seldom or never used as antiseptics or germicides in modern medicine.

For the first aid disinfection of minor wounds, burns or abrasions, mild, weak tincture or solution of iodine (2 per cent strength) is preferable to any substitute the eager salesman may prefer to sell.

Plain soap and water washing is the best way to disinfect or (try to) sterilize the hands.

In my opinion a wound inflicted by the teeth or claws of animal or bird should be immediately washed with soap and water, dead tissue cut away and stitches inserted if the wound is open. In my opinion the hideous nineteenth century practice of cauterizing such wounds with "fuming nitric acid" or any other caustic or destructive agent, constitutes malpractice.

This is my opinion, no matter whether the question of "rabies" arises or not. Let me remind lay and medical readers that the occurrence of rabies in man has not been scientifically proved.

Man Dressed as Woman Denies Robbing Cabbie

CHICAGO (AP)—The woman who robbed cab driver Joseph Rizzo yesterday was no lady.

Cruising detectives shortly after the robbery came upon what appeared to be a woman removing her clothes in an alley. Beneath a wig and pert straw bonnet they found Joseph Ross, 42.

Rizzo said Ross was the "woman" who robbed him of $19. Ross denied it, but was held for questioning.

WORDS ALONG A WIRE

The Story of Samuel Finley Breese Morse

From the earliest times, men have found ways to send messages to each other — by smoke signals, drum beats and arm waving.

It was an American — Samuel Finley Breese Morse — who first invented the electric telegraph, a practical means of signalling over long distances.

Morse was born in 1791 at Charlestown, Mass. He studied art at Yale College and in London, and later became an art teacher in New York City. But he had an inventive mind.

The idea for the telegraph came to him in 1832. He was sure his telegraph would work, but he needed money to build a line long enough to prove it. Congress first refused him money, but, in 1843, voted $30,000 to build a line from Washington to Baltimore.

On May 24, 1844, Morse stood in the United States Supreme Court room and successfully tapped out his famous message: "What hath God wrought?" He was honored by many countries. He died in 1872.

Under the drawing of Morse and his machine, you see a sample of the widely used International code. In it, each letter is sounded out on a telegraph machine as dots or dashes or both. Color the picture for your own story of this famous inventor.

Hal Boyle Says:

Store Installs Water Bar for Dogs

The century of the common man has also turned out to be the century of the common dog.

A thoughtful men's clothing firm has just installed a "dog bar" in its storefront—the first, so far as we know, on Fifth avenue. As yet the bar only offers water as refreshment for thirsty wayfaring pooches, but all Manhattan is waiting to see what happens when the first gentlemanly St. Bernard shows up with a small cask of brandy under his chin.

A new form of animal crackers is now on the market to tease Rover's appetite. They are dog biscuits colored and shaped to represent different foods, such as a red heart for meat, a brown bone, a white milk bottle, an orange wedge for cheese, and a green fish. Presumably it would be in bad taste to offer Rover a cat-shaped dog biscuit. Might stir him up emotionally.

The Changing Homefront: A new Mrs. America will be picked this week at Ellinor Village, Fla. A survey of the original entrants showed that scrubbing floors was the household chore they despised most; That cherry pie is replacing apple pie in popularity.

It has been another heartening year for American can openers. . . . They snipped through four million miles of tin-coated steel, a distance equal to more than eight round trips to the moon. Some 66,591 cans are opened every minute now, about 788 a year in the average home. More than 3,000 edible and nonedible items are packed in cans today.

Incidentally, have you ever thought of canning your money? Stored in cans kept in a dark cool place, money will stay fresh indefinitely. Its value, however, may evaporate somewhat over a long period of time.

Almanac Editorial: The woods were God's first temples, and what are you doing to keep up America's green cathedrals?

Last year the nation's reforestation program reached a new peak. Tree planting has increased 133 per cent in six years.

Private landowners during the year planted 687,388 acres. But in only two states — Florida and Georgia—were more than 100,000 acres planted.

Many Americans now have taken up the custom of planting trees as individual monuments to departed relatives and close friends. It is a good custom. What simpler way is there to keep the memory of a loved one green than the creation of a beautiful living memorial—a tree?

Things You Ought To Know Dept.: An insurance survey shows that starting salaries offer high-quality college graduates this year are up $10 or $15 a month over a year ago. A number of restaurants now print prayers on their menus, and an enterprising firm is also putting out "Grace napkins" for the home embellished with prayers of thanks in the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths.

Coming from the sublime to the meticulous, have you been fretting about the actual measurements of Gina Lollobrigida? The buxomy Italian actress reportedly has shared this secret only with her dressmaker. But word from Rome is that she finally consented to be taped, and for all who care about such matters here are the results: Bust, 37 inches; waist, 21; hips 35¼.

The Statue of Liberty, whose hip and bust measurements have never been revealed to a palpitating world, has a 35-foot waist. She is 111-foot 1-inch tall, and she has a fingernail 13 inches long and 10 inches wide. The length of Miss Lollabrigida's fingernails varies, presumably depending on the success of her last picture.

MAGNIFICENT 260 HORSEPOWER PACKARD PATRICIAN

the New PACKARD with Torsion-Level Ride

A truly distinctive fine car — the new Packard.

Distinctive in having exclusive Torsion-Level suspension . . . providing a ride so smooth, so level, so comfortable on any road it has created a higher concept of motoring pleasure! Distinctive in its quiet magnificence, with color harmonies both refreshing and sophisticated and interiors designed for your personal luxury.

Torsion-Level Ride — Packard's newest achievement in creative engineering leadership — eliminates conventional coil and leaf springs. In other cars, twisting forces due to wheel shock are transmitted to the frame with resulting pitch and bounce of passengers and wracking of car body and frame. With the new Packard these same twisting forces are transmitted along the new torsion bar system and absorbed before they can reach frame or passengers.

Distinctive, too, are Packard's new "free-breathing" V-8 engine, developing up to 275 horsepower . . . and the agile automatic response of Packard's two-in-one Twin Ultramatic Transmission.

Pushes Gaming Drive Despite Car Bombing

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Police Commissioner Russell T. Beebe says he won't let what he terms a "lay off" bombing of his car stop his drive against gambling.

No one was injured in the blast which wrecked Beebe's car and blew out three windows in his home Saturday. Beebe planned a top-level meeting with other officers today to discuss the situation.

The bombing came three days after Beebe led a raid against what th St. Louis Post-Dispatch calld the headquarters of Frank (Buster) Wortmarf and Elmer (Dutch) Dowling, who the newspaper said "have taken control of the $500,000-a-waak growing baseball betting business in the St. Louis area."

A quarter-inch of soot on a furnace wall will reduce its heating efficiency as much as 30 per cent.

Asks Barbers' Help in Labor Legislation

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A union president urged barbers and hairdressers today to toss in a few plugs for "beneficial" labor laws while chatting with customers.

"The barber and beauty shops today," said Ernest Hebert of East Meadow, N.Y., "are America's miniature town halls in which public opinion can be molded to support measures beneficial to labor and the welfare of the country."

Caterpillars Invade Baltimore Section

BALTIMORE (AP)—Thousands of fuzzy, black-eyed caterpillars who are slowed but not stopped by sprays are causing a clamor among the residents of the 400 block of Dale Avenue.

That is the block the caterpillars apparently have chosen for their favorite. They hunch on rose bushes, shrubs and tree leaves. Residents coming home at night say they can't get in without stepping on them.

County Health Officer Dr. William Warthen said the caterpillars are not dangerous and there is "no possible cause for alarm."

But Mrs. Elsie Cecil, who lives in the block, said "I don't even want to live here anymore."

Red Boss Hails Western Role in Hitler Defeat

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev toasted the Western Allies' role in defeating Hitler at a VE-Day celebration yesterday. But other high Soviet officials marked the 10th anniversary of Nazi capitulation by blasting the West for rearming the Germans.

Khrushchev saluted Russia's wartime allies at a party given by the East German embassy and stressed the Soviet government's desire for good relations with all countries.

Earlier in Moscow's Bolshoi theater, Deputy Defense Minister Ivan S. Konev denounced the Paris rearmament agreements.

In East Berlin, the conqueror of the former Reich capital, Marshal Georgi Zhuvov, defense minister of the Soviet Union, urged West German workers to thwart the Paris pacts bringing their country into NATO.

Lose Anything, Sir? Oh, Yes, My Daughter

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A policeman halted motorist Floyd Robinson yesterday on a Topeka street and asked:

"Did you lose something?"

Says Adlai Must Seek Bid to Be Considered

KANSAS CITY (AP) — National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler says if Adlai Stevenson wants the Presidential nomination at the 1956 Democratic convention "he is going to have to declare himself a candidate and be active in his campaign for it."

Butler, who was here to attend a birthday dinner for former President Truman last night, made his comment in an interview after being asked if he thought Stevenson would be a nominee again.

He said the 1956 convention will not draft a candidate as it drafted Stevenson in 1952.

Powered by the most modern V8 in any truck . . . Chevrolet's new Taskmaster V8 engine!

Here's a great new advance in close-coupled truck design by the nation's number one truck builder! Chevrolet's great new L.C.F. models bring you all the advantages of a C.O.E.—plus a long list of important new advances you won't find anywhere else!

For example, the cab is a full seven inches lower than former C.O.E. models. It has only two steps instead of the usual three—saves time and effort both! Also, the low L.C.F. is handsomer by far than any C.O.E. ever built!

Inside, the L.C.F.'s new cab has a level floor with plenty of "stretch-out" leg room and offers the same driver convenience you'll find in all new Chevrolet trucks. The driver has a commanding view of the road—both far ahead and close up front—through the big, broad panoramic windshield.

Quicker, simpler maintenance is another big advantage offered by the new L.C.F. Everything's easier to reach in the roomy engine compartment.

In addition to its exclusive new features, the L.C.F. brings you all the easy maneuverability of a C.O.E.—plus modern Task-Force truck advantages like sturdier, standard-width frames, with full-length parallel side members . . . new suspension . . . and many other new features besides!

Shortest Stroke V8 of All! It's the new Taskmaster V8 that powers the L.C.F.'s! It has a 12-volt electrical system (twice the "steam" for quicker cold-weather starting and finer performance!). It delivers 145 h.p. with a gas-squeezing 7.5 to 1 compression ratio. It's the most modern V8 in any truck today!

If you don't get the all-modern features offered by the new Task-Force trucks, you're getting an old-fashioned truck and stand to lose money on the job and at trade-in time, too. Come in and see the most modern trucks of all!

Older Workers Match Juniors

Survey Shows Person Past 60 Is Sometimes Even More Efficient

CHICAGO (UP) — The Civil Service Assembly says a new study shows that older workers are as efficient or better than employes under 60.

The assembly cited a study made and evaluated by the University of Illinois, which rated a sampling of workers on over-all performance, absenteeism, dependability, work quality, output, and ability to get along with others.

The university contacted supervisors in 20 companies who told what they thought of the competence of 1,025 workers in their 60's and 70's.

In over-all performance, supervisors rated 16 per cent of the older workers as excellent, 32 per cent very good, 36 per cent good, 15 per cent fair and 1 per cent poor.

The supervisors reported that 70 per cent were absent less often than younger workers, 23 per cent about the same and 7 per cent more often.

On dependability 50 per cent were judged more dependable than younger employes, and 6 per cent less dependable.

Comparative percentages for work quality were 36 per cent better, 57 per cent about the same and 7 per cent poorer.

More than 75 per cent of the older workers had production records equal to or higher than those of younger workers.

Thirty-three per cent get along with others better than younger workers do, the study showed. Sixty per cent are on a par with younger employes in this standard and seven per cent do not fare as well.

Driver Makes Arrest a Cinch for Patrolman

QUINCY, Calif. (UP) — Highway Patrolman Dave Story received a report on his home telephone of a hit-run accident and made an arrest in the case almost immediately.

Story was told a truck had sideswiped an auto driven by Dr. James Styler 20 miles north of here about 25 minutes before the call to him. Story looked out his front window, which gives a commanding view of the highway, and spotted the truck reported to have been the offender just entering town.

He went out, stopped the truck and arrested its driver, William Graff, San Leandro, Calif., on charges of reckless driving and crossing the center line. Graff said he was unaware his truck had hit anything.

Dutch Strive to Preserve Tourist-Luring Windmills

(Editor's Note: The windmills which literally made the Netherlands in centuries past are still packing in the dollars by drawing tourists. But keeping them in business is a tough job in these days of less colorful but more efficient sources. Here's the story of their unique role in the 20th century vacation trade.)

By STERLING SLAPPEY

BERGEN OP ZOOM, The Netherlands (AP) — Windmills for tourists to have their pictures taken in front of are getting scarce in the Netherlands.

There were 8,000 of the big breeze-catchers 100 years ago. Today, wars, fire, decay and the advance of modern machinery have cut the number to 1,100.

This is a serious trend for this well-scrubbed little country. To the Netherlands, the windmills are what the pyramids are to Egypt, the Alps to Switzerland and the Eiffel Tower to Paris.

Without windmills, the Netherlands would have only its wooden shoes to fall back on as a major tourist gimmick.

In these days when prosperous Americans and Europeans are wandering around, spending money and looking at other people's countries, a little place like the Netherlands needs all the tourist attractions it can find.

A big effort is under way along the dikes and canals to save as many old mills as possible, both for their value as backdrops for tourist pictures and because they do a pretty good job of pumping water away or grinding grain.

In Amsterdam, the Society for the Preservation of Windmills in the Netherlands (SPWTN) collects contributions from natives as well as sympathetic Americans, Britons, Belgians, Norwegians, Danes and Luxemburgers.

Miss Elsriede Caro is secretary of the society and the Dutch lady loves every brick, board and sail in every one of the 1,100 windmills left standing.

Miss Caro counted up the windmills built since 1945 and found only three. Meanwhile, many others have disappeared.

The trend to decay is nothing like as fast as it was before the society began caring for as many mills as its funds would allow. The society bases its selection of history, construction, location and extent of need.

The mills are refurnished, often inside and out, and put back in working order, sails are tipped back into the sky at the traditional 10-degree angle and the mill is put back to work.

"We would like to think we could increase our responsibilities," says Miss Caro, "but that depends on our funds. At least we have reasons for hoping that fewer mills will disappear in the next 10 years." The society now sponsors 250 mills.

Many old mills today are nothing but tourist attractions but that was not always true. With a little liberty of expression one could even say windmills almost created the Netherlands.

Much of the land here once was not land at all. There was water all around. Farmland was scarce 600 and 700 years ago and a few isolated Dutch villages and monasteries perched on what fondly was called "high ground." (The term meant the land was not below sea level).

About 1350 some unknown genius looked at a windmill that was being used to grind a crop, and decided that it could be made to lift water. Along with improved dikes, the water-lifting windmills, called "windmolen," turned underwater land into dry farm land in the years that followed.

'Blonde Witch' Works Wonders

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — She is known as the "blonde witch," because there is sorcery in her fingers.

When she was a five-year-old child in Yugoslavia, she was walking with a governess and a dog one day. The dog pounced on a new-born goat and half-chewed off its ear. The little girl, weeping, led the goat back home and sewed his ear back in place with ordinary needle and thread.

Word spread across the country about this strange, sympathetic child who was said to have the "hand of God," who healed animals with a gentle touch, splinted the broken wings of birds and looked like a small angel with a yellow halo.

When she was 14, Genia Sakin was sent by her family to Berlin to see Prof. Jacques Joseph, the late pioneer in plastic surgery, and he took her on as his pupil. At 15, she was standing in on his operations and giving him advice. The first time, he told her to "shut up." After that, he took many of her suggestions.

Today, Dr. Genia Sakin is in New York — almost broke, as she always is when she returns to New York — looking to make a little money before she goes out to make more miracles in far parts of the world. She is little known in this country, because here she conducts a conventional practice in plastic surgery, among dozens of pros who've built up a big clientele by operating in one place.

But Genia's weakness, (or, rather, her strength) lies in the fact that as soon as she builds up a large enough bank account, she will be off again, to perform her sorcery on disfigured people of poor lands who never heard of miracles until she came along.

"It is my hobby," she said, in her one-room apartment far uptown in Manhattan, "going out in the world to help people who were so ugly they didn't want to live anymore. But it is a very expensive hobby, and I must come home here and make money in between."

Perhaps the idolatry she received as a child went to her still-lovely blonde head, but whatever is the cause for her unique charitable pursuits, many hundreds of persons in Europe and South America are grateful. Word reached the INS office in Brazil, her last (literally) operating point, that hundreds of the grateful turned out with flowers and tears to see her off. Of this she says:

"They do not know, but they do me as much good as I do them. I was always dissatisified with nature, and when I see a face that has never smiled turned into a face that can laugh, it makes me laugh too. If you knew me, you'd know I am either laughing or working or sleeping. There is nothing in between."

Dr. Sakin, beautifully dressed in hand-made clothing and costume jewelry that Brazilian families gave her in lieu of money, took her final medical examinations in 1939 and came to the United States from Germany. For a few years, she set up a practice here but, just as it was building, she volunteered for U.S. Army service.

There never was a shapelier, harder-working woman in the Medical Corps when she was sent to be in charge of surgery in the American military hospital in Berlin. She was a major and the only lady plastic surgeon in the Allied armies.

After the war, she took up her private business until she saved enough to go to Greece for two years and hundreds of operations. Weary and out of funds and holding citations from Gen. James Van Fleet and King Paul and Queen Frederika, she was about to return home when an 18-year-old girl who had often tried suicide because of her hideously deformed face asked for help.

"What could I do?" she remembers. "I was too tired to have any fingers left." So she sponsored the girl's trip to New York, kept her here a year, performed 20 operations on her face, and sent her home an attractive young woman.

Dr. Sakin just returned from South America a few days ago, and does not know where she will go next. But she knows she will go soon again, because she sees her self as "two people — the woman who wants to sit and contemplate beauty, and the one who wants to make-it-herself."

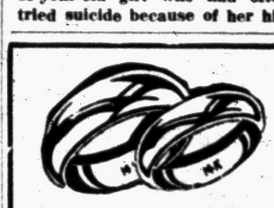

The latter woman is stronger.

Premier Diem Cautions Big 3

Warns That Viet Nam Won't Accept Return of Bao Dai

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Warning that the Vietnamese people would tolerate no revival of colonialism, Premier Ngo Dinh Diem urged the Western Big Three last night to spurn Chief of State Bao Dai's latest efforts to retain power.

In a broadcast addressed to the free world, but aimed specifically at the Western foreign ministers meeting in Paris, Diem declared Viet Nam's future government would be decided only by Democratic means through elections.

A spokesman said Diem referred to Bao Dai's reported plan to obtain big power sanction for his return to Viet Nam as a constitutional monarch. The plan was said to include an appointed high council and an assembly of Vietnamese notables to which both the chief of state and premier would surrender their powers. It would ignore Diem's project for an elected assembly.

Before announcing a new provisional government, Diem is awaiting results of talks on Indochina crisis between Secretary of State Dulles, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan. The ministers, who are meeting in Paris, are reported to have disagreed on several phases of the Vietnamese issue, with Dulles reportedly still backing Diem against Bao Dai.

Diem said the anti-Bao Dai decisions of the two national congresses which met here last week made plain that no other solution could be accepted by the Vietnamese people. The congresses called for election of an assembly which would hold the supreme authority the chief of state has exercised since 1949.

Jury Finds Herron Guilty of Murder

Charley R. Herron, 37, of 357 Rockwell Ave., was found guilty of second degree murder this morning by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury.

Herron stands convicted of the fatal shooting last Sept. 25 of Lawrence Freeman, 28, of 476 Ditmar Ave., in back of a home at 29 Iowa St.

The jury started deliberating last Thursday afternoon and took 12 hours to reach a decision.

An argument had developed between Herron and the victim, police said, over Freeman's attempts to get his estranged wife to rejoin him.

The convicted man will be sentenced May 23 by Judge H. Russel Holland, according to Assistant Prosecutor Homer G. Gerue.

Pontiac Woman Injured When Car Rams Tree

Mrs. Mary E. Shotwell, 34, of 69 Gateway St., suffered a broken jaw and face cuts Sunday afternoon when the car in which she was riding rammed a tree on M87 near Holly. She was reported in satisfactory condition by authorities at Pontiac General Hospital.

She was riding with her husband, Loel, 37, who said he was driving east when he apparently lost control of the car and hit the tree. Loel was unhurt.

'National Hospital Week' Observances Start Here

National Hospital week got off to a flying start yesterday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital which held open house and an elaborate program for scores of visitors.

Prospective nursing students, accompanied by their parents, officials and the general public were entertained during a style show on "what the well-dressed student nurse wears," and taken on a tour of the hospital and the nurses' home.

A general discussion also was held, acquainting visitors with hospital techniques and latest developments in the medical field.

As in former years, the hospital has planned an extensive program for the entire week, said Sister Mary William, hospital administrator.

"We hope everyone will take advantage of this exceptional opportunity to learn more about their hospital and how they operate," she added.

Highlighting the week's program will be Hospital day on Thursday, marking the birthday of Florence Nightingale. A tea will be held for the general public and hospital personnel.

Hospital day will be devoted mainly to young persons interested in medicine or allied professions. Open house is scheduled every day in some departments of the hospital and detailed explanation of the various departments will be given in tours.

Today's program includes a tour through the business administration and medical records department, headed by Sister Jane de Chantel and Miss Phyllis Addison, co-chairman.

Tuesday's program will include guided tours of the laboratory, pathology and physiotherapy departments. The public may visit the x-ray, pharmacy and dietary divisions on Wednesday. On Friday, hospital maintenance, housekeeping and laundry branches will be toured.

Miss Marie Hickey, director of nursing service, said an information booth at the hospital has been set up for persons interested in a nursing or medical career. Information about other hospital employment for older persons also is available.

"We will be happy to assist anyone wishing this information and will attempt to help them plan their careers," said Miss Hickey.

Sister Mary William, hospital director, said the hospital will be holding daily tours throughout this week. Groups desiring tours should contact the hospital at FEderal 4-3511.

Thirteen Arrested in Gambling Raid

Thirteen men were charged with disorderly conduct after officers raided a Keego Harbor home early today.

The raid, led by Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons, came after neighbors complained that gambling operations were being conducted at the home on Orchard Lake Avenue.

Irons said the place had been under investigation for about three months.

The raiders said they were unable to find money but they confiscated 26 decks of cards and a pair of dice during the 1:30 raid. Tables and other gambling equipment were smashed.

Taking part in the raid besides Irons were Undersheriff Elmer McQuern, Detective Roy Hartwick, Deputy Steve Hawlick and Sgt. Raymond Meggitt and Detective Herbert Cooley of the Pontiac Police vice squad.

Two Men Are Injured When Car Overturns

Two men were injured Sunday night when their car overturned on Orion road near Silverbell road, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said.

Reported in good condition with leg injuries at Pontiac General Hospital was Thomas Young, 23, of Rochester. He was a passenger with Bruce P. Newberry, 36, also of Rochester, who was treated for face cuts.

Newberry was unable to give an explanation how the accident occurred, but deputies said skid marks were visible for 125 feet down the wrong side of the roadway.

Child Study Unit to Meet

MT. SUNAPEE, N.H. (UP) — Skiers were a little surprised when a snow tractor with a harrow behind it started running over the slopes here. But Mt. Parker also said he also treats icy patches with salt to make fresh powder snow stick to the slick sections of trails.

Salk Can Prevent Polio, Can't We Cure Wars?

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Everybody wanted to say thank you to Dr. Jonas Salk and the national outpouring of affection was most moving to watch.

It is good to know that even in the midst of the mighty tensions of the time we have kept our capacity for gratitude.

Dr. Salk gave us much more than a polio preventive — he brought a tremendous lift of the spirit to every sufferer from a disease that has been considered incurable.

The emergence of the vaccine made us realize that today no one need feel that he is living under a death sentence.

Tomorrow, next week or next month a commutation to life will surely come from the laboratories.

But it seems ironical that from those very same laboratories which will fulfill our hope for a future free of "other fears that plague mankind," has issued also the greatest fear-provoker of all — nuclear power.

There's some kind of bitter paradox in the thought that man can be at once completely determined to use every possible weapon to wipe out killers like cancer, heart ailments and the rest, and at the same time seem to move away doggedly and determinedly from international peace, the only condition under which he could take advantage of the boons medicine and science have conferred upon him.

The Salk vaccine and all the other fear-reducing marvels of our age lose most of their power to reassure if every one of us — including those parents who no longer need worry about polio — must watch with the sense of impending doom increasingly frequent flare-ups in areas of the world where man cannot get on with man.

The news that we could completely control cancer may well be announced to a world just ready to drop a bomb that will wipe out even the laboratories and their gift-bearing workers.

It takes my breath away to reflect that I have seen in my own lifetime the end of so many of the worst terrors.

These were conquered by the determination, hard grueling work and downright consecration of those who cared enough.

I cannot — I dare not — let myself believe that the drive for power makes some leaders of nations so ruthlessly and blindly ambitious that they can for much longer continue so to ignore all elements of decency and common sense that they will go on dangling over us the threat of destruction.

And if they do so continue, then we must dedicate ourselves, every man and woman of us, to finding a way to stop them.

Party Cake Frosting Never Dries Out, Says Mrs. Hancock

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Have you ever been disappointed in cake frosting when you ate it the day after it was made? If you use Mrs. Robert Hancock's recipe for a white frosting, you'll never be in that fix. This frosting never dries out and is wonderful for angel food cake.

Mrs. Hancock says, "raising kids is my only handcraft." We do know, however, that she does do a bit of church work.

PARTY CAKE FROSTING

1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup margarine
½ cup vegetable shortening
1 teaspoon desired flavoring

Cook flour and milk together until thick. Be sure this mixture is completely cool before going on with the frosting. Cream sugar, margarine and shortening. Add cooked mixture and flavoring. Beat until desired consistency is reached.

Newest Plastic Fabrics Increasingly Adaptable

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

The place for fabrics in the home is pretty well cleared up by now.

There are dozens of kinds, and not a one of them is thought of as a substitute for anything else.

This meeting of the material on its own terms is recognized when you try to recall how long it's been since you heard the word leatherette.

Plastic upholstery fabrics for some time have made it plain they are not leather and don't try to be, that they are proud of their own virtues.

And they have new ones besides their wonderful resistance to the onslaught of small boys and puppies.

Plastic upholstery fabrics fit furniture better than they once did and resist a seated figure less because they are softer and more stretchable, have fabric backing and minute openings through which air can pass.

Design directions which have changed them mean most, however, because they're increasingly attractive and adaptable to many sorts of decorating schemes.

Plastics have lost their early typical shine and take on a variety of textures. Reed and straw fabrics inspire some of these, and others are handsomely tweedy.

Miss V. A. "I've had the responsibility of choosing carpet for an executive office thrust upon me. The room is walnut paneled and inclined to be dark. Can you help me with suggestions for type of carpet and color?"

Especially if there is a traffic pattern in the room — if everyone who comes in wears a path from the door to the desk, as is so often the case — make sure that the carpet is a hardy type, of superior quality. Since there is little other opportunity to put color in the room, put it on the floor in a tweedy mixture of several colors, to include light and bright. Go a step farther and study the room's lighting. Better placed, more efficient fixtures, and more of them, should help greatly.

Mrs. T. J. T. "I thought I'd love a bedroom all in blue, and I matched everything carefully, but now I'm disappointed in it. Do I need another color in addition to the blue and the white of the woodwork, or what do you suggest?"

Blue is a beautiful color, but it can fail when too much of a washed-out shade of it is used in a room. Dark and light blue in a pattern on white might do more to save the room than another color, although some green or yellow might be an improvement if it does not interfere greatly with the blue effect.

George Balch gave the invocation and Mrs. Morris Van-Horn was mistress of ceremonies. Toasts to the mothers were given by Patricia Elkins and Fred Young.

A toast to daughters and sons was given by Mrs. Carrie Heath. Entertainment was presented by Mr. Balch.

Youngsters Appreciate Their Folks

It's Your Attitude That Counts Most With Younger Set

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Children appreciate:

Parents who can say "No" with the firm cheerfulness that sees nothing peculiar in not having everything you want.

Parents who permit you to remain up for the end of your TV program without attacking their own decision by complaining, "When I was a child, I went to bed when I was told to."

Parents who encourage your joy in a new bike or a turkey drumstick without reminding you of your good fortune as though you didn't deserve it.

Parents who recommend specific action toward your class bully instead of sneering, "What kind of a sissy are you? Nobody ever pushed me around like that when I was your age!"

Parents who never ask your friends personal questions like, "Why was your mother away last weekend? Do you know how much your father got on the old car?"

Parents who do not say, "Just wait until you have real problems, son" when you're frantically trying to locate the mislaid history notebook you need for school.

Parents who ask, "Why did you disobey me?" with more interest in what you have to say than in what they have to say.

Parents who don't try to soothe you after an arithmetic failure by saying, "Next month, you'll get an A."

Parents who answer your sex questions without trying anxiously to tell you everything they know.

Parents who notice you've just finished reading that magazine article on the H-bomb "fall out" —and need help to come back to trust of the world that could consider dropping one.

Parents who can digest and discard the anxiety aroused by your teacher's complaints, just passing the facts on to you.

Parents whose punishments somehow always end with you thinking, "I see something new about my attitude to other people that I didn't see before I got this reproof, this deprivation, this spanking."

Parents who refuse to get mad at themselves because you get mad at them.

Parents who can make fun of their worries about you instead of using them to make you sorry for them.

Parents who don't harass you with warnings whenever you leave them in case you forget how much wiser and trustworthy they are than you are.

Parents who provide fun and treats for themselves as happily as they arrange them for you.

Pink Pearls Part of Ladylike Styles

Some are strung with pink glass beads to add a note of texture to so-smooth pearls.

In the days of chivalry, it was customary to present a red feather as a reward for a courageous or unselfish act.

Age Certainly Has Its Advantages

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Age may have its disadvantages but, judging by my mail, it certainly has its advantages, too.

Daily, I hear of some oldster whose initiative, judgment and wisdom have helped him carve out a good career after retirement.

Many times, these activities are carried on at home, with almost no initial expense or capital. Frequently, both husband and wife are active in the business.

Here's a typical letter, from a Mrs. J. J.:

"My husband retired six years ago," she writes, "when he was sixty-six and I was sixty-one.

We had enough to live on, and for the first six or eight months we took it easy, did a little traveling, and mostly just loafed.

Pretty soon we both got tired to death of loafing. Joe announced that he was going to find something to do.

"Joe is a cautious type; so, before plunging into just any old thing, he did a lot of thinking.

Finally, he decided on a cutlery sharpening service. Our town has no good one, and he figured it could use one.

"He wrote the big mail order houses for catalogs, and talked with the big hardware shop in the nearest city.

He started small, and really did learn the trade. He opened with simple equipment in a room in our house.

"At first," she went on, "Joe did simple things, sharpening knives for householders, butchers, delicatessen owners, grocers, restaurants.

After a while, he took on gardeners, handling the sharpening of garden shears, hedge clippers, lawn mowers and so forth.

He did skates for kids, too. He now has many steady customers, who pay a monthly fee for regular services.

"As for me," she concluded, "I'm the so-called office manager. Joe works mornings on the actual sharpening, while I do the bookkeeping, billing, and answering the phone.

At one o'clock we both call it quits, and relax in the afternoon.

"Working together is delightful, and the money we make is wonderful.

"I never would have believed how much fun you can have in your so-called old age!"

Only about 4 per cent of mental patients in the United States are in private hospitals.

Garbo: The Legend and the Lady

By JOHN BAINBRIDGE

The success of Greta Garbo's protracted strike against MGM added one more bright thread to the fabric of her legend. A virtual newcomer to Hollywood, she had quietly but firmly defied its mores by disputing the wisdom of Louis B. Mayer, one of the film community's most powerful chieftains.

She had taken issue with him on the highly sensitive subject of money, and she had made her will prevail. The fact that the maneuver had been initiated by Stiller and carried through by Edington did not detract from the distinction that the coup conferred on Miss Garbo.

She was given credit for outsmarting one of the smartest men in the business. Her legendary character was now endowed with another element: sagacity.

As her business manager, Edington took steps to see that this newly acquired reputation for astuteness was perpetuated. From reading the stories that had been published about his new client he realized that her remarks in print did not always sound like conversational pearls.

Acting on the proposition that silence never betrays, he advised her to stop giving interviews, except any that he might approve. In addition, Edington used his influence at MGM to put an end to the practice of using his client in circus-type publicity photographs.

By design and by happenstance Greta Garbo was gradually being fashioned into the legendary figure who was to become known as "the Swedish Sphinx," mysterious and wise. She needed to be invested with one other quality, Edington felt, and that was dignity.

He decided that she should no longer be spoken of as Greta Garbo; instead she was to be called, with simple dignity, just Garbo, as if she were a latter-day Bernhardt or Duse. Edington's idea was happily accepted by the MGM publicity department, and it wasn't long before the word "Garbo" could mean only one thing—in English or nearly any other language—the woman of legend.

The title of the film, which was a modern-dress version of the novel, was thoughtfully changed to Love, possibly because John Gilbert was again co-starred with Miss Garbo and, reports of their romance being in wide circulation, Metro could see no serious disadvantage in being able to advertise the picture with the potent and timely caption, "John Gilbert and Greta Garbo in Love."

Love, when exhibited, brought forth a shower of praise from the critics and a rain of cash at the box office. At the premiere the management saw fit to emphasize the nature of the film by projecting an enormous, blood-red heart on the stage curtains during the playing of the overture.

Even without the benefit of such tasteful showmanship, Love fared exceedingly well in Sweden. "Greta Garbo has never been better," wrote Sweden's best-known film critic. . . . "Gradually Miss Garbo has worked her way towards becoming a real artist, an actress with depth and sincerity. What she gets out of the part of Anna Karenina, which is far from easy, is always engrossing, often touching, sometimes even human and great."

The time had now come, MGM decided, to feature Garbo as a star in her own right. Since she was to carry her next picture, Metro's best minds were set to the task of choosing the proper vehicle. There was much deliberation, and out of it came what the studio considered a plum: Garbo would portray Bernhardt. The script was to be adapted (as it turned out, very loosely) from Gladys Unger's play about Sarah Bernhardt called Starlight, in which Doris Keane had appeared a couple of years before. Metro executives thought the title of the play too tame for a cinematic work, so they changed it to something with a more seductive sound —The Divine Woman.

Mauritz Stiller had now come to the end of the road in Hollywood. After the success of Hotel Imperial, he had directed not one more picture, as he had planned, but two. Both were failures. He had gotten into a squabble with Paramount and had left the studio with bad feeling on both sides.

Blacklisted by both Paramount and Metro and ailing in health, Stiller packed his belongings and headed for home. Both Garbo and Stiller wept when he kissed her good-by. "I will see you soon, Moje," she called as Stiller waved farewell from the departing train. That was the last time she saw her mentor.

When Stiller returned to Sweden, he was suffering from a lung ailment and also, though he did not know it, from an incurable circulatory disease. In the fall of 1928, he collapsed and was taken to the Red Cross Hospital.

It was there that Victor Seastrom, who returned to Stockholm with his family in November, found his old friend, eager to hear all the news, especially about his protege. She had written a few letters, but Stiller had dozens of questions. Seastrom was able to talk glowingly of her work in The Divine Woman, which on the whole had been well received.

Following that, she had played a a glamorous Russian spy in The Mysterious Lady. Her popularity was steadily rising. Seastrom went on, and she had also completed A Woman of Affairs, yet to be released. She was then in the middle of making her eighth American film, Wild Orchids, in which she was being supported by their countryman Nils Asther. When she finished her current film, she was going to have a few weeks off, and she was coming home for Christmas. Stiller cheerefully predicted that he would be out of the hospital by the time she returned.

But his condition worsened after an operation for the removal of several ribs, and on November 8, 1928, he died, at the age of forty-five. Seastrom cabled the message of Stiller's death to Greta Garbo. The wire was delivered to her on the set of Wild Orchids, where she was playing a love scene with Nils Asther. "She turned deathly pale," one of the men who was on the set has said, "I thought she was going to faint."

"She walked slowly away from all of us, as if she were in a trance. When she got to the other side of the building, she stood there leaning against the wall with her hands pressed against her eyes for several minutes. Then she pulled herself together, came back and continued the scene. She didn't say a word to anyone about what was in the wire."

Whether Stiller was in love with Greta Garbo and she with him is a matter on which his closest friends have never agreed. But all such speculation is idle and unnecessary. For by her actions through the years Greta Garbo has revealed more clearly than any words what Stiller meant to her. From the day of his death she has been engaged in a never ending search to find a substitute for Mauritz Stiller.

Her sorrow was alleviated to some extent by her preparations for returning to Stockholm for Christmas. It was a triumphant homecoming. To Garbo's disgust, however, the Swedes' curiosity about her turned out to be no less insatiable than the Americans'. She was besieged with requests for interviews, her phone rang almost incessantly, until she had it disconnected.

When she went for a walk, people followed her. When she went shopping, crowds collected and stared at her. Compared to this existence, life in Hollywood was serene.

One morning she taxied to the office of Hugo Lindberg, who had been Stiller's attorney and was acting as executor of his estate. Garbo asked Lindberg for permission to look at Stiller's possessions, which were in storage, awaiting auction, at Frey's Express. "I went with her," Lindberg said recently, "and I remember vividly how she walked about the room, touching this item and that."

Before leaving, Garbo asked Lindberg for directions to find Stiller's grave. He told her in what part of the Jewish section of the North Cemetery, on the outskirts of Stockholm, Stiller had been buried, and offered to accompany her there. "Thank you," she said, "I will go alone."

Despite the pandemonium that her appearances in public created, Garbo managed in one way or another to wrest some enjoyment from her Swedish sojourn. She spent a quiet, homely Christmas with her mother and brother. On New Year's Eve, Garbo was the guest of an old friend, Mimi Pollack and her husband, at a party they gave at the Strand Hotel. She drank champagne, danced and sang and joined wholeheartedly in the merrymaking.

As Garbo's women friends knew, however, gaiety was by no means her customary mood. Alone with them she was generally taut, anxious and morose. She smoked without letup, and she suffered constantly from insomnia. She had a deep dread of being alone, especially at night; whenever she went out in the evening, she elicited a promise from one of her women friends to see her to her apartment and sit up with her until she fell asleep, no matter what the hour.

Though Garbo's friends were aware that she planned to start back to Hollywood early in March, she kept the exact date of her departure a tightly held secret and was thus able to slip out of Stockholm without having a brush with reporters and photographers.

When, a couple of weeks later, the studio received word from its New York office that Garbo had entrained for Hollywood, MGM made plans for a suitable reception. Metro executives, newspapermen and a mob of fans were on hand to meet her train at the Los Angeles station. She wasn't on it. She had gotten off instead at San Bernadino, where she was met by John Gilbert, ebullient as ever.

In the three months she had been gone he had talked of her incessantly to his friends. They knew that he regretted the bitter quarrels he and Garbo had had before she left and that he had high hopes of reviving his tempestuous romance with "The Swede." But absence, in her case, had not had the advertised effect of making the heart grow fonder.

Before she and Gilbert reached Hollywood, they were quarreling again. According to Gilbert, Garbo told him, "You are a very foolish boy, Yacky. You quarrel with me for nothing. I must do my way. But we need not part." That was not the speech that Gilbert had hoped to hear from his leading lady. He came to the conclusion at last that his affair with his obstinate Fleka had no chance of a happy ending.

Girl Friends Not Freaks So Where Are the Beaus?

Female Company Getting Wearisome; Two 15-Year-Olds' Anxious to Date

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: We're both 15 years old and we've never had a date. All our friends have dates, and they don't think we're circus freaks. So please tell us what we can do!

"Going to shows with our girl friends, and spending the night at each others' houses gets sort of boring."

If you're fed up with playing around with the girls—and if you you know any boys—you'd better take this business of dating into your own hands. The boys won't know you're around, and available, until you advertise the fact.

So enlist your mother's aid and plan a series of informal little parties. Invite a different group of girls and boys to each one, but manage to include practically everybody you know sooner or later.

Don't make a grandstand play for any one boy—but be friendly and interested in all of them.

If any one of those boys shows a particular interest in you, concentrate on him for a while. Draw him closer into your circle by inviting him over to the house to watch television or to sit around and chin.

It doesn't matter whether you're crazy about him or not. See to it that he comes by your house often. Eventually he'll ask you to go somewhere with him. And when other boys see you around with him they'll know you're dating, and their own interest will perk up.

This won't necessarily happen overnight. Slow and steady does it. But be mighty sure you're ready to date before you start all of this. Be sure your family will let you go out if you get a date bid.

Be sure you'll know how to talk to the guy if you have him on your hands all evening. Be sure you'll know how to show a boy a good time if he asks you out.

All of this you can be practicing while you're having those parties, and going to parties at other girls' homes. And none of this getting ready is boring!

"Dear Miss Woodward: How can you get a boy interested enough in you to ask you for a date?

"Is it all right for a girl who knows a boy only by name in class to go up to him and introduce herself?"

If a girl knows a boy by name in class, dollars to doughnuts he knows her by name too. So formal introductions aren't really necessary.

The frontal attack you suggest might be an awkward strain, while just saying "hi" to him, and chatting with him whenever you meet would be easy. There's much you have in common, so start anywhere — homework, teacher, class, school, party.

Make a gay, friendly impression on him, and keep that impression constant and natural all the time.

And if he happens to be in the mood, and goes for a girl like you, he might be interested enough to ask you for a date.

Cure May Lie in Cancer Cell Appetite

(Editor's Note: This is the first of four articles on cancer, giving an up-to-the minute account of the scientific fight against the disease and telling what you should know about its causes, symptoms and treatment. The author is Dr. Charles S. Cameron, medical and scientific director of the American Cancer Society as well as clinical assistant surgeon at New York Memorial Hospital and president of the Commission on Cancer Control of the International Union Against Cancer.)

By DR. CHARLES S. CAMERON

NEW YORK (INS) — The $64 question in cancer control today is: "What's the difference between a cancer cell and a normal one?"

In the last 10 years we've learned a lot about the normal cell, billions of which comprise the human body. We have a lot more to learn. Even before the last decade, much was known about the appearance of the cancer cell compared with a healthy one.

Pathologists recognize these differences by observing stained tissue specimens through the microscope. They see a cell that is best described as "disorganized." Normal cells have a well-defined nucleus, a center island containing a substance called chromatin which comprises the chromosomes and genes that pass on to subsequent offspring cells their characteristics.

Cancer cells frequently are larger by comparison with normal cells. The nucleus is misshaped, disproportionate to the rest of the cell, sometimes filling the whole area of the cell body. The chromatin may be scattered through the cytoplasm, the jelly-like substance that makes up the outer portion of the cell.

To the trained eye, the appearance defines which type of cancer is present and how far advanced it is. The microscope slide will disclose too how much cancer proceeds to invade the surrounding tissue.

DR. CHARLES S. CAMERON

The cancer stretches its "tentacles" like a crab from which creature it derives its name. The word "crab" is synonomous with cancer in Latin.

But in addition to local extension, cancer spreads in another way. By a method known as metastasis, cancer cells are floated off in the blood and lymph fluid to other parts of the body. Here they set up colonies of growth similar to the original cancer.

They continue to grow at a rapid rate, robbing surrounding tissues of nutrition. Finally interfering with the vital organs, they result in death.

The structure of these deadly cells then is vastly different from healthy cells and they act in a different way — dividing rapidly and wildly without breaks or controls. But the biochemist has not yet found any marked differences between these two cells, at least not enough to contrive a chemical means of control.

Hundreds of laboratories are busily engaged in seeking something unique about the appetite of the cancer cell. Are there compounds that this deadly little organism requires that the healthy cell won't ingest—won't take in for digestion? Perhaps, but they have not yet been found.

Starting with heredity, can we say that cancer is inherited? No, the evidence is that only in some sites of cancer is a tendency passed on from generation to generation.

But a few kinds of tumors, both benighn (non-deadly) and malignant (cancer) are congenital. retinoblastoma, an eye cancer, is one of these and Wilms tumor, a kidney cancer, probably has its origin before birth.

Some conditions occur in humans that many develop into cancer. It must be emphasized that any use of the term precancerous means that a condition might tend to become cancerous under certain circumstances.

Ulcerative colitis is one of these. In a rather impressive percentage of colitis cases followed for many years at one institution, cancer of the colon eventually occurred.

Warts and moles have been known to change and turn into cancer of the skin. A particularly dark pigmented mole, blue-black in color, occasionally precedes melanoma, a deadly type of skin cancer. A condition known as leukoplakia, white patches usually appearing in the mouth, is a well-recognized precancerous condition.

One fairly well-established cause of cancer is chronic irritation. A mole which has been constantly rubbed by some part of the clothing has been known to end up as cancer. Gallstones will irritate the lining of the gall bladder and eventually may cause cancer. Or stones may do the same thing in the urinary bladder.

Infections, over long periods of time, have resulted in cancer.

Repeated sunburn can cause cancer as many farmers and sailors have learned. Over-exposure to ultraviolet light causes cancer in laboratory animals. Roentgen, the discoverer of X-rays, died of cancer, most probably induced by his experiments. Radiation from X-rays, radium or the atom bomb are all known as causes of various forms of cancer.

A long list of chemicals has been identified as cancer-causers. Butter-yellow, a compound formerly used to color butter, will induce cancer of the liver in mice, rats and dogs.

Records going back almost 200 years disclose the first occurrences of occupational cancer. Chimney sweeps in London in 1775 had a high rate of cancer caused by the coal soot.

A hundred years later another industrial cancer was discovered. Oil flecked off from cotton spinning machnes in Germany was causing cancer of the skin among workers. Then the discovery that miners in Bohemia were dying of lung cancer. Later it was known that this was due to the radioactivity of pitchblend, the ore from which radium is derived.

In more modern times, the classic case of the watch-dial painters in New Jersey showed that the young women who did this chore frequently died of bone cancer due to a radium compound in the paint used to make the dials luminous.

(Tomorrow: Dr. Camerone writes on cancer treatment.)

In the three centuries from 1650 to 1950, the total population of the world has more than quadrupled.

United Church Women Hold Annual Luncheon

By MARY ANGLEMIER

Gay paper dolls, carrying daisy parasols, in a garden setting, decorated the tables at the United Church Women's May Fellowship luncheon Friday at Central Methodist Church with more than 28 churches represented.

The women gathered to hear and honor Josefina Phodaca of the Philippine Islands who has just returned from a trip around the world with the United Church Women Team.

Mrs. John Nunly opened the luncheon with the invocation with Mrs. George L. Garver, toastmistress.

In her devotional talk, Mrs. Clayton Rule compared Christian living to a garden. She said our lives need cultivating for spiritual growth and that we should sow seeds of kindness, friendliness and courtesy. Like a garden, we need to weed — to discard wrong thoughts.

Joining the International Goodwill Team of United Church Women March 4 in Indonesia, Miss Phodaca reported the first day was spent in orientation, discussing food, customs, countries and visiting the schols.

Using the Book of Ephesians for basic study, the women asked themselves "What Are the Evidences of Power in My Life" and "What Divides Us? Is It Color of the Skin, Customs or Manner of Thinking?" As Christian women they were seeking to discover what God required of them.

Miss Phodaca said she was impressed with the sincerity and genuineness of the African people. The women say, "Now we know no fear." Superstition has given way to faith and trust in God.

Easter Sunday the Team went to the Tomb of Jesus and applied to themselves the words He spoke to the women the morning of His resurrection, "Go and tell that the Lord is risen.

The guest speaker said the people of the East have a great respect for their leaders and an admiration for the people of the United States. They want to copy our ways and it behooves us to set an example by always giving the best that is in us.

Thanking the United Church Women for making the trip possible, Miss Phodaca also brought greetings to the group from President Magsaysay of the Philippines.

The 200 women present will soon be in the midst of plans for the Seventh Biennial Assembly which will be held in Cleveland this fall.

Officers Installed at Dinner Held by Sorority

Installation of officers and a progressive dinner highlighted the recent meeting of Xi Alpha Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Mrs. Robert Graham installed the 1955-56 officers, including Mrs. S. Waillard Sovey, president; Mrs. Tyrus Menzel, vice president; Mrs. Clifford Maison, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Raymond Jewell, recording secretary and Betty Giddings, treasurer.

The dinner sent members to the homes of Mrs. George Fraser, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Menzel. Assisting hostesses were Marie McGill, Mrs. Richard Benham, Mrs. Maison and Mrs. Douglas Menzel.

During the program which followed, Mrs. Elwyn Hall spoke on "Planning the Kitchen," while Mrs. Tyrus Menzel told members how to have "Fun with Flowers."

Teenagers Comprise PTA Panel

"Teenage Problems With Teachers and Parents" was the theme for a panel discussion held by the Pontiac High School PTA.

Student panelists at the recent meeting were Kay Rouse, Irene Williams, Mary Turvey, Willie Edwards, Jim North, Connie Mapes and Jim Jolly. Mrs. Lela Long, Waterford High School principal, was moderator.

Ann Ess Morrow took pen in hand to introduce each panel member in rhyme, and thanked them in the same way afterwards.

High school songstresses Sue Daly and Deanna and Betsy Bradley composed the trio which entertained those present.

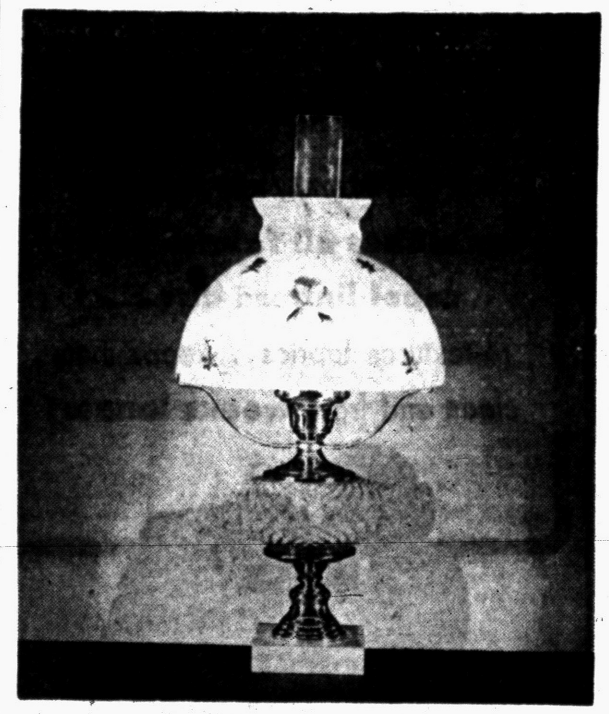

During a business meeting presided over by Mrs. Donald North, it was voted to contribute $75 to the PTA scholarship. Members also voted to change their meeting date from the first Wednesday to the last Thursday of each month, beginning in the fall.

Mrs. North announced that the district meeting will be held May 17 at First Methodist Church, and added that those PTA members desiring to attend should contact her.

She also noted that the mass installation of officers has been scheduled for June 7. Time and place of the dinner meeting will be announced later.

How You Feel About Tariffs Depends on Your Job

Editor's Note: Pros and cons over what kind of tariff laws the United States should adopt for regulation of foreign trade in this country reflect complex and widely varied motives and opinions. Here, in the first of five stories are some samples by a reporter who observed them first hand.

By STERLING F. GREEN

PADEN CITY, W. Va. (AP) — The vital, complex fight over the nation's tariff laws gets down to bread and butter terms in two different kinds of signs you see along the Ohio River these days.

Along the river highway outside of Paden City, there's a sign advertising 80,000 square feet of factory space for sale or lease. This is the epitaph of a 40-year-old glass company which gave up four years ago because of low-wage Japanese competition in table glassware. About 450 of the town's 2,500 people lost their jobs.

Now, follow the same river west, around the southern bulge of Ohio, until you reach Evansville, Ind. Here you see help wanted signs. Here, the town is booming particularly because of foreign trade.

The two kinds of signs reflect many of the grass roots stakes in the fight just now ending in Washington. Last week, the Senate passed the bill empowering President Eisenhower to cut U.S. tariffs to spur world commerce.

This week the Senate and House try to agree in conference on a final bill. Behind these last efforts stretches a long complicated debate involving basic dilemmas such as these:

If friendly foreign nations are to improve their economies and thus become less vulnerable to communism, they will have to sell us more. But if they sell more here, some U.S. industries will sell less. How do you protect or help those industries?

In a generally healthy national economy, some "sick" U.S. industries have been made sicker by foreign competition. How, if you reduce tariffs further, do you avoid making the illness fatal?

If we're going to sell more abroad foreigners will have to get the purchasing power by selling more here. But while various surveys show that the American economy is helped more by increased foreign buying here than it is hurt by foreign selling here, that still doesn't make the wounded minority feel any better. What can be done for them?

These are the broad outlines of the problem. To understand it in human terms, let's return to the signs along the Ohio River.

In Paden City, the sign for the defunct glass works is symptomatic of the troubles plaguing many of the glassware and pottery factories in this northernmost corner of West Virginia. Some have shut down completely. Others are working part-time. Unemployment has been running from 8 to 14 per cent in this part of the state.

Rep. Robert H. Mollohan (D), who represents the area and voted against the administration bill authorizing a gradual, three-year lowering of tariffs, says the bill could mean that glass and pottery will be "practically wiped out as a domestic industry."

And then there is the marbles industry. Six of the seven U.S. companies which make marbles—Vitro Agate, Marble King and the other brands familiar to schoolboys—are in West Virginia.

Roger W. Howdyshell of St. Mary's told the House Ways and Means Committee the Japanese will soon put the United States marbles industry out of business unless Congress helps.

But the picture brightens as you go west on the Ohio River. Let's stop at Evansville and Indiana's 8th Congressional District, represented by Winkfield K. Denton. Denton voted for the administration bill, evidently echoing the sentiments of most of his constituents.

A foreign trade case study was made here, at the request of members of Congress, by the legislative reference service of the Library of Congress. The survey showed:

About 10,000 of Denton's constituents work for Servel, Inc., at Evansville. If Several exports to the same extent other U.S. refrigerator producers do, 1,300 can be said to owe their jobs to foreign trade.

About 2,500 work in auto and auto parts firms. Export sales account for 5 per cent of passenger cars and 15 percent of trucks. Another 1,100 work for Mead Johnson & Co., which exports 10 per cent of its output of vitamins and baby formula products.

The district's second largest employer — Colgate-Peet with 2100 workers in Clarksville — exports little but depends a great deal on imports of raw materials. In the area's tractor and farm machinery industry, export sales helped sustain employment when domestic sales slumped in 1953-54. One big employer, Bucyrus-Erie Co., manufacturer of road building and heavy construction equipment, has been exporting 40 to 50 per cent of its output.

The farmers in the area produce corn, wheat, barley, tobacco, soybeans, hogs and lard, eggs and dairy products—almost all import-export commodities.

The Library of Congress survey also noted that while foreign competition has been felt in coal, oil, lumber and furniture, these industries together employ less people in the 8th district than the refrigeration industry alone.

Finally, in comparing the two Ohio River Valley areas, it appears that foreign trade has created more jobs in Rep. Denton's Indiana district than it has destroyed or jeopardized in Rep. Mollohan's West Virginia district.

NEXT: Industrial fever, chart.

Convention Planned by Body Engineers

Members of the American Society of Body Engineers have scheduled their 10th annual Technical Convention for Oct. 26 to 28, at Rackham Memorial Building in Detroit, according to George F. Lasher, convention publicity chairman.

A drafting contest, for high school mechanical drawing students, first introduced by the A.S.B.E. last year, will be repeated this year. More than $500 in prizes will be awarded students submitting the best drawings, judged on neatness, correctness and completeness. The awards will be given the final night of the convention.

Automotive body suppliers will display their most recent technical developments, and papers will be read by authorities in the automotive body field at the 3-day convention.

50 Miles of Wire Connect New City Hall's Telephones

Saturday, as Mayor William W. Donaldson plugged in the last fuse, a $50,000 telephone installation involving 50 miles of wire, the efforts of dozens of phone experts and years of preparation went clickety-clacking into operation at Pontiac's new City Hall.

The tailor-made system, termed by a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. official "the most, efficient, modern, compact and workable devised to this point," has as its heart a costly piece of equipment known as a dial switching unit.

Located in a specially designed room on the ground floor of the new building, the switching unit will result in faster service for outside callers and city personnel, alike.

With it, the City Hall operator handles no outgoing calls, thus is free to devote full time to routing incoming calls. To get an outside line in less than a second, the city worker need only dial "9."

The dial switching equipment also permits inter-office calls to be dialed directly. Each office or department has a two-digit number of its own.

Any official or employe can reach another by phone in the time it takes to poke his finger in the dial and take two pulls.

Not only does this give the operator more time to handle incoming calls, it makes possible more rapid emergency phone communication, points out City Manager Walter K. Willman, who is also city civil defense head.

Formerly, all inter-departmental calls had to be handled manually through the switchboard and could easily pile up under rush conditions.

Linking the 81 phones in the City Hall network to the switching unit and switchboard are cables carrying a total of more than 50 miles of wire.

Included among the new telephone instruments are five new "hands-free" sets which enable persons using them to walk around the room digging out files or looking up data while still talking and listening.

A microphone is built into the base of these phones and a small loudspeaker carries the caller's voice.

Initial plans for the system were first laid five years ago at a meeting of city officials, the architect and Michigan Bell representatives. Chief result of the session was to establish the amount of space that would be needed.

Three and a half years later, a phone company traffic department survey crew kept count of the different type calls which went through the old City Hall switchboard for six days.

With the results of the study, Walter Barnett, company commercial representative, asked equipment engineers in Detroit to draw up specifications on what was needed to meet the needs.

Plans in hand, he later conferred with Willman and architect Leo J. Heenan, who agreed to the layout.

Barnett then sent the minutely-detailed request for the system's construction to Western Electric laboratories in Chicago. There, piece by piece, the system was assembled.

Eight weks later it was en route to Pontiac.

When it arrived here, a 20-man Western Electric installation crew took over. A local Michigan Bell squad of construction and cable men moved into the picture at the same time.

On April 29—six weeks after they had begun—the job was complete.

With the complex system installed, another local crew, this time PBX-men, hooked up the WE equipment with the phones.

It will be this crew's responsibility to keep the switchboard and dial switching unit operating.

Despite the welter of new-fangled devices, Mr. and Mrs. Public visiting the building won't be confused if they want to make a phone call.

Old-fashioned pay stations have been installed on each of the three floors.

NATO Grows to 15 Members

North Atlantic Defense Community Is Now Six Years Old

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

West Germany joins the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) today as its 15th member. Here is a thumbnail sketch of NATO:

Under a treaty effective in 1949, 12 nations joined in a mutual defense alliance "to promote stability and well-being in the North Atlantic area." The original signers were Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Great Britain and the United States.

Greece and Turkey were admitted as partners in 1952. Now West Germany is ready under its newly won sovereignty to begin recruiting an armed force to add to the alliance.

These 15 nations have a total population of about 435 millions. In signing the treaty the nations announced their support of the United Nations and their desire to settle differences peacefully with all peoples and governments. They agreed to develop their individual and collective capacities to resist armed attack, and warned that any attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America would be considered an attack against them all.

The NATO council of governments has headquarters in Paris. On the council sit the nations' foreign ministers and defense and financial ministers. In addition each government has a permanent representative.

A military committee composed the chiefs of staff meets normally in Washington to shape military policies and assay defense needs. A standing group, a subcommittee of the military committee, functions continuously in Washington. It is composed of one representative each of Britain, France and the United States.

In December, 1950, the NATO council established an integrated force for the defense of Western Europe under a Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers, Europe (SHAPE). U. S. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther is SHAPE commander, with Paris headquarters. U. S. Adm. Jerauld T. Wright heads an Atlantic command with headquarters at Norfolk, Va.

STRANGE BROOD — "Betty," a Beagle hound owned by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallivan of Commerce Township, had some strange visitors on Mother's Day, just because she's a good mother. The kittens, born three weeks ago had not been treated as baby kitties should be by their mother, "Hateful." After Betty discovered the parental cruelty, she adopted the kittens and has even nursed them. The Gallivans said Betty had puppies before she came to the Gallivan home during a storm recently, but apparently had lost them.

Kittens Desert Mom on Mother's Day Prefer Maternal-Minded Beagle Hound

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

Instead, the 3-week-old kittens, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallivan of 2460 Union Lake Rd., Commerce, cuddled around their adopted mother, "Betty," in a small cut-away box.

Strange that the kittens should desert their mother on such a day. It is strange, thinks Hateful, because their adopted mother is a Beagle hound who should be nursing her own pups.

The Gallivan's daughter, Gail, 23, believes the matter is going according to natural laws, though Betty possibly should get some psychiatric treatment as a frustrated mother.

"We found Betty the same way we did Hateful," said Gail. "Last fall Hateful meowed at our front door—her long angora hair was just drenched with rain and she was hungry. So we kept her.

"Recently, Betty came barking at our front door and Dad decided to take her in. We could see that she had just had puppies. Three weeks ago Hateful had her kittens and Betty didn't like the way she was taking care of her babies.

"One day Betty gently picked up the three kittens and took them into her doghouse. From then on Betty wouldn't let Hateful near the kittens."

The mamma cat is named Hateful, explained Gail, because "she just is. She treats her babies rough and she sneaks around like she's going to pounce on you."

What makes Betty such a good and gentle mother to the kittens, is baffling the Gallivans.

"Even Dad likes Betty better. She's so affectionate to everybody, especially the three small kittens. The kitties play with Betty and never get hurt. And when they want to nurse, they're never pushed away.

Maybe, it's because Betty knows what it means to lose her own little puppies that makes her such a good mother, think the Gallivans. And perhaps the black, slanted green-eyed Hateful has been treated "just too dog-gone good."

What is it that makes a good or bad mother? The Gallivans say either the contentment which Hateful has experienced or the frustrations Betty has had to endure.

Finding Missing Cab, but Driver Is AWOL

DETROIT (INS) — A taxi belonging to the Checker Cab Co., of Detroit, which had been missing since last Friday, was found today but a search is still being made for the driver, John Ford, 39, of Detroit.

The cab meter showed it had been driven 562 miles, but the trip sheet disclosed no paying customers.

Safety Checks Slated on Cars

Inspection of 20,000 Automobiles Goal for City-Wide Plan

Pontiac today launched its 4th annual city-wide vehicle maintenance program with hopes of inspecting at least 20,000 autos in a week's time.

Scheduled to last only a week this year, the program formerly had been conducted for an entire month with inspections of only 10,000 cars.

Designed as a public service in the interest of greater safety, the program is sponsored by the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee, the Police Dept. and the Auto Dealers Assn.

"The success of the program," said Clyde R. Haskill, committee chairman, "is expected to be boosted by help from various civic groups who are participating in the campaign. Members of the Auto Dealers Assn. also are making the free inspections at various garages in the city.

Motorists are urged to drive into the following reserved lanes throughout the city today for the inspections:

On Johnson street, between Elizabeth Lake and Liberty Sts.; on Hillside drive in front of Lincoln Jr. High School; East Blvd., between Auburn avenue and Whittemore street; Municipal Parking Lot on Pike street and on West Huron, beside the Oakland County Courthouse.

Motorists passing the safety check will be given an "OK" sticker to be pasted on the windshield indicating the auto's safety features have passed inspection. Others will be advised on unsafe features.

Civic groups helping in the program this week include the Northside Kiwanis Club, the Lions Club, Civitan Club and Pontiac Police Reserve officers.

WALT DISNEY'S True Life Adventures

POWs' Fate Linked to India-China Talks

By UNITED PRESS

The visit which India's peppery Vengalil Kirishman Krishna Menon is paying to Chinese Communist premier Chou En-Lai this week may make him a diplomatic hero.

It is entirely possible that the Krishna Menon-Chou talks, in the Red Chinese capital of Peiping may lead to United States-Communist negotiations on a Formosa cease fire.

They also may have important bearing on the suddenly intensified efforts of United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to win the release of American and other Korean war prisoners held by the Reds in violation of the armistice.

The State Department does not often care much for the diplomatic activities of Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Krishna Menon, who is his chief delegate to the U.N. and chief diplomatic adviser.

Nehru and Krishna Menon can not fairly be called fellow travellers of the Reds. But too often, in the United States viewpoint, they and the Communists happen to be going the same way diplomatically.

This time it is difficult to see how Krishna Menon can do any harm. He could do much good.

Here is the situation:

Chou En-Lai made the dramatic announcement on April 23, at the Asia-Africa conference in Bandung, Indonesia, that Red China was ready to negotiate directly with the United States on the Formosa situation and Far Eastern issues in general.

Ever since then, there has been an under-current of secret diplomatic negotiations involving countries which have diplomatic relations with both the United States and Red China.

Nehru announced in New Delhi on April 30 that during the Bandung conference Krishna Menon and Chou had discussed "certain aspects" of the Formosa situation.

As the result, Nehru said, Chou invited Krishna Menon to Peiping to continue the talks.

"We have known for some time that (Red) China was ready to enter direct talks with America on Formosa," Nehru said.

Krishna Menon took off for Peiping Saturday.

It happened, interestingly, that Hammarskjold's stimulated attempt to get the American prisoners in China freed coincided with Krishna Menon's visit.

Hammarskjold announced last Thursday at U.N. headquarters in New York City that he had "intensified" his work in behalf of the prisoners. The intensification started during a 10-day visit he made to Europe.

He said that it was "just by feeling that this is the time for it" that led to his suddenly stimulated activity.

But the Chou-Krishna Menon talks and the prisoner situation fit together.

There is also the new development that the Chinese Reds have just agreed to accept relief packages through the Red Cross for 54 detailed Americans. These Americans include 15 imprisoned airmen —11 of them accused of being "spies" — in whose behalf Hammarskjold is primarily acting.

Ford Willing to Run If GOP Cooperates

DETROIT (AP)—Rep. Gerald R. Ford indicates he is willing to run for the Michigan governorship in 1956 provided state Republican leaders adopt two principles—avoid the "big business" label and rid the party of strife.

The four-term Grand Rapids Republican also says, if he is to risk his congressional career, the state GOP must give unqualified support to the Eisenhower program.

Ford, a strong Eisenhower supporter, has voted 92 per cent of the time for the President's legislative program—the second highest mark in the house.

Claims Security Probe Already Shows Results

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC) said today a Senate investigation of the administration's employe security program "already has had a good effect" without public hearings so far.

Johnston, chairman of the Civil Service Committee conducting the inquiry, said in an interview that federal agencies now "are guarding the rights of individuals more than they were before."

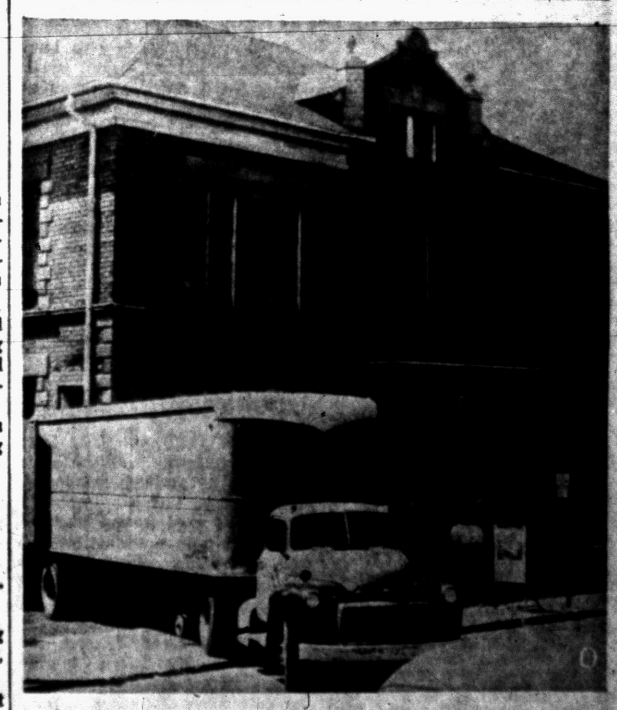

Conant Confirmed Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today confirmed without debate President Eisenhower's nomination of James B. Conant as ambassador to the new sovereign republic of West Germany.

Conant has been U.S. high commissioner at Bonn.

VISIT CAPITAL — David Doyan, (left) of St. Frederick School, and Spencer Gray, of Whittier School, were among 120 Michigan school safety patrol leaders who visited Washington, D. C. as guests of the Automobile Club. They are shown visiting with Clarence E. Otter, Auto Club president, and Congresswoman Ruth Thompson of Michigan. The 4-day trip is part of the 19th AAA National Safety Patrol Rally.

Indians Following 1954 Victory Formula

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maybe, as Al Lopez stoutly maintains, Cleveland will not equal its record 111 victories of last year but the wily manager cannot deny that his Indians are adopting the same formula that brought the American League championship in 1954.

Cleveland won the flag by holding the top clubs even and belaboring the weaker clubs. The Indians are atop the standings today because they are doing the same thing again.

Sunday's 9-6 and 2-1 sweep of a doubleheader with Kansas City gave Cleveland 11 victories against only two defeats against the four second division clubs. That's an .847 gait. Against the same four clubs last year—Washington, Boston, Baltimore and Kansas City (Philadelphia)—the Indians had a 75-13 record for an .852 percentage.

Against the first division clubs—New York, Chicago and Detroit—Cleveland is only 6-5 for .545. Against the same clubs last year, the Indians were 36-30. That's exactly .545.

The Yankees and White Sox stayed within two games of the Tribe, in a second place deadlock. The Yankees polished off Willard Nixon, who had beaten them six straight times over a two-year span, 5-0 behind Bob Grim The White Sox won a pair from Detroit 5-4 in 11 innings and 1-0 to plunge the Tigers from first to fourth. After Baltimore had nipped Washington 4-3 with two runs in the ninth inning, the Senators bounced back to pound out a 15-7 second game triumph.

Brooklyn's relentless Dodgers defeated the fading Philadelphia Phillies 9-8 for their 21st victory in 23 starts as they racked up their second 10-game winning streak in less than a month. Their nearest pursuer is Milwaukee, 9½ games behind. The Braves took undisputed possession of second place by defeating St. Louis 6-2 as the New York Giants split, winning the second game 6-3 after Pittsburgh won the opener 7-5.

The home run was the decisive factor in the Chicago-Cincinnati split. The Cubs won the opener 5-3 on four baggers by Randy Jackson and rookie Bob Speake. The Redlegs took the second game 4-3 on Hobie Landrith's ninth inning homer.

Al Smith went on a slugging spree, walloping three home runs in the Indians' double win. The Indians' outfielder cracked two in the first game, each with a man on base, and added two singles as Cleveland overcame a 5-0 deficit. Bob Feller, who pitched a one-hitter last Sunday, was whacked for five hits before being removed for Art Houtteman, the winner. Al Rosen's 11th inning homer broke up the second game which was forced into overtime by Smith's blast over the left field fence in the eighth.

Two-run homers by Joe Collins and Hank Bauer helped Grim register his first victory although fireman Jim Konstanty had to come to his rescue after the sophomore walked the first two batters in the ninth.

Outfielder Tom Umphlett led a 15-hit attack against seven Baltimore pitchers with a home run and three singles. The Orioles came from behind to win the opener in the ninth when pinch hitter Eddie Waitkus drove in the tying and winning runs with a triple.

Duke Snider's grand slam homer in the seventh, the fourth of his major league career, earned Brooklyn's Johnny Podres his third victory in four decisions. The Phillies outhit the Dodgers 14 to nine but left 11 stranded. It was the Phils' ninth straight defeat.

Warren Spahn registered his 169th victory and 37th against the Cardinals spacing 12 hits effectively.

Don Mueller of the Giants extended his hitting streak through 21 consecutive games with two hits in the opener and three in the second game. Don's hitting went to waste in the opener as homers by Dick Groat, Jerry Lynch and Gene Freese helped Dick Littlefield gain his second Pirate victory. Sal Maglie picked up the Giant victory, in relief, as Willie Mays contributed four hits including his fourth homer.

Swaps, Outsider, in Front

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Rex Ellsworth and Meshach (Mickey) Tenney, a couple of wiry ex-cowpunchers from the West, will return next year in quest of their second straight Kentucky Derby victory with a horse they rate better than Swaps.

And that is saying a lot for Swaps whipped the mighty Nashua and eight other 3-year-olds last Saturday in one of the fastest Derbies in the 81-year history of the turf classic. Time for the mile and one-quarter of the $152,500 race was two minutes, one and four-fifths seconds, just two-fifths of a second off the track and Derby record set by Whirlaway in 1941.

Ellsworth and trainer Tenney, close friends since childhood, shipped Swaps yesterday to Hollywood Park in California, where the colt's next big engagement will be in the $50,000-added Westerner on July 9.

"Our 1956 Derby candidate is Like Magic, a full brother of Swaps," said Ellsworth. "He's a great big old colt with something to learn but we think he is a better horse than Swaps."

Ellsworth and Tenney, who breed horses on their 300-acre farm at Ontario, Calif., and have another 250,000 acres of range land in Arizona, didn't enter Swaps in either the Preakness or the Belmont Stakes. They didn't think he was good enough. The Preakness will be run May 28 and the Belmont June 11.

Willie Shoemaker, astride Swaps for his first Derby triumph in four efforts, stayed around only a few hours after the 100,000 or so fans had departed from the downs. Shoe goes back to work today at Golden Gate Fields.

Most of the other Derby horses also were on their way to other tracks. Nashua, beaten a length and a half, was the first to leave. The big bay from William Woodward's Belair Stud entrained for New York to await the Preakness. Mrs. John W. Galbreath's Summer Tan, a disappointing third, was to ship out for New York today with his future uncertain. He had a slight fever in his front legs yesterday.

"We ran Nashua's race," said Ellsworth. "We didn't want to but found it necessary when Shoemaker saw the early pace was too slow. We had to go to the front."

The first six furlongs were run in 1:12 2-5 and the mile in 1:37. But the last half-mile including the final quarter of the mile was the fastest in Derby history. It was run in 49 2-5 seconds as compared to the previous fastest of 49 4-5 by Dark Star, Whirlaway and Twenty Grand.

With a quarter-mile remaining, it looked as if Nashua was ready to make one of the famous stretch drives that had given him 10 victories in 12 starts.

But it was Swaps, with Shoemaker cracking him a couple of times with his bat, that made the strongest finish. Eddie Arcaro, seeking his sixth Derby victory, also went to the bat but Nashua just wasn't equal to the occasion and was beaten by a length and a half as Swaps picked up $108,400 to run his total earnings to $236,500.

FINISH OF DERBY — Swaps, ridden by jockey Willie Shoemaker up, wins the 81st Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs racetrack, Louisville, Ky. Saturday. Favored Nashua, Eddie Arcaro up, finished second. Summer Tan, ridden by Eric Guerin, is third. Winner paid $7.60 per $2 win wager.

Trusts Americans Though

Cockell's Pilot Seeks English Judge for Bout

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — There'll be an English judge among the officials for the Rocky Marciano - Don Cockell heavyweight title fight at San Francisco if John Simpson has his way.

Simpson, Cockell's manager, said today he will ask that an Englishman be one of the two judges selected by the California Athletic Commission when it meets Thursday to name the ring officials for the May 16 bout.

"I think it only fair," said Simpson in his clipped British accents, "that an Englishman serve as one of the judges.

"That's not to imply, and I mean that sincerely, that I don't trust you Americans. Not at all. And besides, you'd still have the other judge and referee, wouldn't you?"

Simpson said he had the names of three fellow Britishers, all of whom will be available, to submit to the commission. One would be Edward W. (Teddy) Waltham, secretary of the British Boxing Board of Control. Waltham is due here within a few days.

"After all," said Simpson, "if qualified Englishmen are available, why not use them? This is an international bout and the presence at ringside of one of them would add something to the event, don't you think?

State Bowlers Set Records in WIBC Meet

Marion Ladewig, Mich. Team Hang Up All-Time Mark

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The Women's International Bowling Congress Tournament neared the halfway point today with three all-time records broken and two to go.

Other all-time marks set this year are 2,991 by Falstaff Beer of Chicago in the team division and 2,424 by Tipsy Pine of Denison Iowa, in the booster team bracket.

Mrs. Ladewig's 1,890, which took the all-events lead yesterday, was the second best in the WIBC's 37-year history. Only a 1,911 by Marie Warmnier of Chicago in 1935 is better.

The other record still standing is 712 in singles. It was set by Marie Clemensen of Chicago in 1934. The best to date this year is 668 by Frances Klein of Honolulu.

Mikes, Eaglets Fight for Lead

Pontiac St. Michael's baseball team faces the Eaglets of Orchard Lake St. Mary today at Orchard Lake in a game vital to both in their aspirations for supremacy of the Suburban Catholic League.

Pressure will be heavier on the once-beaten Shamrocks, since defeat will all but eliminate them from title contention. Eaglets are perched on top with a 4-0 won-lost mark, St. Mike's record is 3-1.

Coach Bob Mineweaser will call on Dave Smith to keep the Mikes' hopes alive. Smith has hurled steady ball this season, but encountered one stumbling block in Highland Park St. Benedict. St. Mary's will counter with Pete Ziebron.

St. Frederick's Rams, still looking for their 1st win of the season, meet St. James of Ferndale, also today, in another SCL game at Columbia-Joslyn south field.

47 Expensive Race Cars Get Set for Tests

Value of Machines Now at Speedway Placed at About a Million

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)— About a million dollars' worth of specially built race cars were on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway grounds today—46 out of 57 entries for the 500-mile race May 30—with five days to get ready for opening time trials Saturday.

Weekend arrivals included two probable contenders for the track record and the pole position that goes with the best time in the first of four elimination sessions.

The big Novi Special, only front-drive car in the field, was delivered by air for Troy Ruttman of Houston, the youngest driver ever to win the Indianapolis classic—1952, when he was 22.

Bill Vukovich, who has won the last two "500s," got on the track for the first time this year Saturday, but he made a relatively slow run to familiarize himself with the Lindsey Hopkins Special, which is new to him.

The Dean Van Lines Special, to be driven by 1954 AAA National Champion Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz., also arrived over the weekend. It's a new Kuzma with an Offenhauser engine. The wind was high Sunday, and Bryan and Ruttman didn't get on the track.

Jack McGrath of Inglewood, Calif., who set the 10-mile qualifying record of 141.033 miles an hour last year, has been just under 140 in practice. So has Sam Hanks of Burbank, Calif. Both have Kurtis-Krafts of the "500" series built especially for the 2½-mile brick speedway.

Veterans Paul Russo of Fort Worth, Tex., and Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., turned 137-mile-an-hour laps Sunday in spite of the wind.

Yale Gridders 'Scrimmage' Parking Meters

Four Eli Footballers Called Into Court for Early-Morning Capers

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Four Yale football players faced the City Court today, accused of scrimmaging parking meters.

The Bulldogs found themselves in this situation early Sunday morning when they ran into a stronger Blue line—a squad of cops.

The cops, quarterbacked by Sgt. John Boyle, said the Elis were holding what looked like a spring football drill—with a few exceptions—at a street corner near the university.

Instead of a football, they were throwing beer, said Boyle. And they were trying to bend over a couple of parking meters, he added.

Booked at headquarters on charges of breach of peace and injuring public property were Paul R. Lopata, a 6-2 end from Vandergrift, Pa.; Vern Loucks, a 6-4 end from Kenilworth, Ill.; John P. Owsiechik, a 6-3 center from Greenfield, Mass., and Denis (The Menace) McGill, a 5-11 back from North Bergen, N. J.

Further Tests to Be Made of Fighter

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission scheduled further medical tests today for light-heavyweight Harold Johnson to determine if he had been drugged before losing a two-round technical knockout to heavyweight Julio Mederos Friday night.

Two commission officials said that until results of the forthcoming tests have been studied, initial reports that Johnson was not drugged must be regarded as inaccurate.

Sid Geal, director of the YMCA Boy's Camp at Hale, Michigan will be the speaker, and in addition will show movies of the popular boys camp. A special wildlife film also will be shown.

The OCSC junior organization is in the process of being reorganized, and it is hoped that many fathers will take their sons to the event. From this gathering plans will be developed to send a group of youngsters to the boy's camp.

Dinner is at 7 o'clock, with program set for 8 o'clock. Dinner tickets are available at the Sportsmen's Club.

Katlin Wins 1st Pontiac Feature

Howell Hardtopper Takes Dash; Dillard Is Double Winner

Mickey Katlin, heavy-footed hardtop driving veteran from Howell, raced off with top honors as the auto racing season got started Sunday at the Pontiac Speedway.

Despite the chilly weather, over 1,000 fans watched Katlin open the program by winning the 4-car dash and close it by taking 1st in the 25-lap feature race. He outsped Bill Kourt, Jimmy Nelson and Gene Lock to win the feature.

Dorris Sanders of Troy was among the leaders in the feature until he bounced off the retaining wall in the 8th lap and was forced out. Kourt was the day's fastest qualifier, but was shut out as far as winning a race.

Bill Dillard of Pontiac won the 15-lap semi-windup and also won a heat race. Jack Coneley of Brighton won the Australian pursuit and the other heat winners were Nelson, of Flint, Lock and Leon Blachura, both of Detroit.

Another program is set next Sunday at the M59 oval with time trials at 12:30 p.m. and races starting at 2:30 p.m.

Milford Rated Tops in W-O League's Big Spring Track Event on Tuesday

The Wayne-Oakland League has become accustomed to close races and down-to-the-wire finishes in all sports, but Milford's well-balanced track squad rules a solid favorite to race off with league honors Tuesday in the annual meet, slated this time on the new Milford track.

Trials will begin at 5:30 with final events starting shortly thereafter.

Last year, Clarkston won the title in a very close meet. W-O coaches expect Milford to have an easier time this spring. However, Clarkston, which has never finished worse than runnerup in the 4-year history of the meet, will make a strong bid and West Bloomfield and Clarenceville are hopeful of cutting in.

The close competition in last year's meet resulted in a wholesale bettering of 10 records, but many top-flight athletes are missing this year, such as Clarkston's state record high jumping champion, Al Warman, and West Bloomfield's Dennis Singleton, who is no longer on the Keego team.

Singleton thus will not defend his titles in the broad jump and dashes. He set league records in each event a year ago. The marks in the running events, particularly, look safe with the meet being held on Milford's new track, which is still soft.

Leading the Milford cause are Lee Averill, a sprinter-broad jumper, and Don Perkuchin, who doubles in the high jump and shot put. Good entries in nearly every event give Russ Gabler's Redskins the edge.

Only clear-cut individual favorites are Keego shot man Doug Frasier, freshman mile ace Jim Cook of Milford, and Clarkston's league record-holding half-miler Gordon Cascadden.

Outstanding races are anticipated in the hurdles, dashes and quarter-mile, the half-mile relay, and competition also should be keen in the broad jump and pole vault.

Gary Rogers of West Bloomfield is the man to beat in the high hurdles, with Gordon Campbell of Clarkston, Jim Jones of Clarenceville and Jim Davidson of Milford providing the competition. Milford's Bill Cook, along with Jones and Rogers, should make a thrilling race in the lows.

Nobody is expected to outlast Jim Cook in the mile. He has hit 4:58 this spring and is a capable successor to Dick Jackman, who set the league mark of 4:43.6 last year. Cascadden has not approached his 1954 time in the 880 this year, but could be pushed by Phil Schultz of Keego.

Del Munson of Milford, Lou Holser of Clarkston, Carl Westerberg of Keego and Don Douglas of Clarenceville will make the 440 heats interesting and the dashes will be lively with Averill challenged by Holly's Jerry Hunter, Clarenceville trio John Jarrell, Bob Soop and Jim Healy, Clarkston's Dave Swayne, and Walt Goetz of Keego.

Cascadden, Averill, Rogers and Jones are all 19-foot-plus broad jumpers and the pole vault should be closely contested among Campbell and Bob Yahnke of Clarkston, Jerry Van Rossen of Milford, and Jack Borah and Ray Brancheau of Keego, all 10-foot and better vaulters.

Sue Danner Named Queen in Annual Rolladium Test

Miss Sue Danner, 408 Alberta, Pontiac, was chosen queen of the 3rd annual skate queen contest at Rolladium rink, Sunday night.

Eight girls originally entered the contest with four finalists being selected. Finalists were Sue Danner, Sally Barclay, Beverly Doud and LaVonne Dailey. Winner was picked after the judges watched each girl skate around the rink, followed by individual conversations.

Judges for the contest were Mary Ellen Wyngarden, executive director of the Campfire girls; Gib Shandley, WPON disc jockey; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sayles, of Drayton Plains; and Lewis Berry, Waterford Township clerk.

As a climax to the evening's activities, Rolladium's own Laurene Anselmy, four-time senior ladies North American champion, presented a skating exhibition.

Miss Danner, the new queen, will compete in the Michigan State Skate Queen contest at the Michigan State championships in Saginaw on May 28, 29, and 30.

Strike-Bound Track Opens Entries Again

DETROIT (UP) — Hazel Park Harness Raceway will try again today to get enough entries to open its 1955 racing season.

Tonight's card at the track already has been cancelled because of a horsemen's strike but the entry box for tomorrow's card will be open.

Track officials said there are now about 200 horses in the track's barns and there is room for only about 200 more.

The horsemen have indicated they are ready to meet with track officials at any time but they are holding out for their original demands of 40 per cent of the track's share of the mutuel handle.

Imlay City Woman Leads State Tourney

JACKSON (AP) — Binnie Clark, a young housewife from Imlay City who started bowling only a couple of years ago and who carries a modest 144 average, made the big news over the weekend in the 29th annual Women's State Bowling Tournament.

Unheralded Mrs. Clark flashed into the singles handicap lead with 588-105-693 and then wept with joy after turning the trick.

She also took over fourth place in the all events handicap with 605 in team, 581 in doubles and her big 693 in singles.

Mrs. Clark accounted for the only two changes on the board. The big tourney swings into nightly action beginning Monday and continues until the windup 27 days hence June 14.

Lee Kocsis Tries Unusual Technique Teaching Golf

Lee Kocsis is unique in being the only female golf club professional in this area. She also has come up with a novel approach to teaching golf.

A playing lesson, of course, is nothing new, but Mrs. Kocsis, new pro at Twin Lakes Golf Club, has tried giving playing lessons to not one, but 10 women novices, all at once!

Told the idea was foolhardy, the affable Mrs. Kocsis accepted it as a challenge and put her theory to work last Saturday at Twin Lakes. Taking the group of 10 around the course, she gave instructions while 2 players made the shots on one hole, a differeng pair on the next, etc.

Lee reports that she was very well pleased with the success of the plan. She finally played the 9th hole herself and showed the students she knew what she was talking about by parring the hole.

The lesson, 3rd in a series given the group, served not only to teach the new golfers proper technique on the course, method of club selection and shot making as it occurs in actual competition, but also to familiarize the girls with the layout of the course.

Nearly all of Mrs. Kocsis' students plan to compete in 2 leagues (beginners and advanced) at Twin Lakes this season.

Chief Golfers Oppose Big Reds Here Tuesday

Pontiac High School's golf squad will duel with Port Huron's Big Reds Tuesday afternoon to feature the high school's only athletic activity for the greater portion of this week. Port Huron scrap at the Municipal course is a return meet, the Chiefs having beaten the Big Reds at Black River last Wednesday.

Coach John Maturo's lads, paced by Bill Martin and Tom Cross, have been shooting their best golf of the season the past week. They triumphed in two matches last week, Port Huron and Flint Northern, to bring their record to a respectable 4-3 won-lost figure.

Throneberry Sidelined With Shoulder Injury

Throneberry, who holds a .282 average and leads the Red Sox with 18 runs batted in, was injured when he attempted a diving catch of a liner by Gil McDougald in the fourth inning of the 9-6 loss to the Yanks.

Fox, Ex-Bronco Ron Jackson Slug Tigers Out of Chance for Top Spot, Drop Bengals Down to 4th

DETROIT (AP)—But for the timely hitting of little Nellie Fox, Chicago White Sox 2nd baseman, and gangly Ron Jackson, 6 foot 7 skyscraper from Michigan, the Detroit Tigers likely would be pushing Cleveland today for 1st place in the American League.

As it was, the Tigers fell to 4th position, three games behind the league-leading Indians, after dropping both ends of a doubleheader to the White Sox at Comiskey Park yesterday.

Chicago, whose double victory boosted them to a 2nd place tie with the Yankees, barely squeaked by the Tigers in both games, taking the opener, 5-4, in 11 innings and winning the nightcap, 1-0.

Fox, who tied for 3rd in American League batting last year with a .319 average, was responsible for the winning run in both games. He singled home the game-ending tally in the opener and scored the single run in the 8th frame of the afterpiece.

Jackson, bonus baby picked up by the White Sox last summer from the campus of Western Michigan College, turned his 1st appearance at the plate this year into a rousing success. Appearing in a pinch hitting role in the 9th inning of the 1st game, he parked a 2-run homer into the lower left field stands that tied the score at 4-all and sent the game into extra innings.

Tigers and southpaw Billy Hoeft appeared to have the 1st game sewed up going into the last of the 9th. They had taken the lead on a pair of runs—both unearned—in the 5th and two more stemming from Bob Wilson's double and Harvey Kuenn's single in the 7th.

Then, with 17,532 chilled fans ready to concede Hoeft his 4th consecutive victory, Walt Dropo collected his 2nd double of the game and Phil Cavarretta went in to run for him. After Sherm Lollar fouled out, Jackson stepped to the plate and poled his decisive home run.

Winner Mike Fornieles, 3rd Sox hurler, checked the Tigers but his teammates failed to bring home the winning tally after loading the bases in the 10th. They finally came through in the 11th after Fornieles singled off George Zuverink, who replaced Hoeft in the 10th. Carrasquel walked and Fox drove home Fornieles.

Lary limited the Pale Hose to seven hits in the nightcap, but successive blows by Fox and Minoso were all Chicago needed to win as Fox tripled and came home on Minoso's single.

It was the 1st time Detroit had dropped both games of a doubleheader since June 12 last year.

Escobar Plans Layoff

HOLLYWOD (AP) — Andy Escobar of Los Angeles was considering a layoff today after having his lightweight comeback try stopped by the punching fists of Arizona's Johnny Hart.

Harper Now in Line for Vardon Award

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Chandler Harper claimed leadership for the Vardon Trophy today because victory in the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament had given him a stroke average of 69.64. The PGA wouldn't confirm it but is checking.

Harper shot a two-over-par 72 yesterday to wind up with 276 for 72 holes and first money of $5,000, taking the tournament by the widest margin in its nine-year history —a matter of eight strokes over young Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio.

The Chattanooga veteran said he had averaged 69.70 in five previous tournaments but wasn't even listed among the contenders for the Vardon Trophy, the high accolade of golf. He added acidly that the PGA was usually wrong anyway.

Ray O'Brien, director of the PGA tournament bureau, said he didn't have his records here and couldn't determine if a mistake had been made.

But Harper's victory in the Colonial tournament did vault him from 14th to seventh place in money winnings and this was shown by PGA records. The 41-year-old Harper has taken down $8,014 in six tournaments. Mike Souchack of Durham, N.C., who failed to win any money here, still is the leader with $14,648.

The golf tour moved on to Hot Springs, Ark., today for the next tournament, opening Thursday, but Harper wasn't with it. He went to Norfolk, Va. to play in the Virginia State Open. He is a native of that state.

Harper led the tournament all four rounds, boasting a six-stroke margin entering yesterday's final. For the first eight holes it appeared the balding Virginian might be slipping as Finsterwald made his bid. But Harper, who had taken three bogeys in the first eight holes, got his putter operating on the ninth. He sank a 20-footer for a birdie and from then on had no trouble, increasing his lead.

There were over 15,000 fans in the gallery for the final day, making 50,500 for the entire tournament, a new attendance record. And most of those 15,000 were jammed around the 18th green to see Harper's finish. He sank a 9-foot putt on the last hole and doffed his pink straw hat to them.

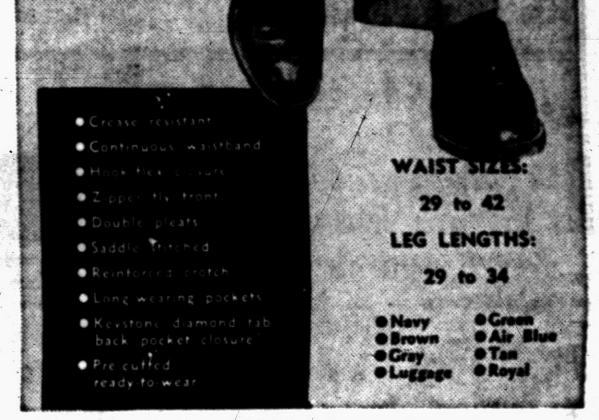

Finsterwald won $3,000 by shooting 74 in the final round for a 72-hole total of 284. Third and winning $2,000 was Ed Oliver of Lemont, Ill., with 287. Tied for fourth and winning $1,430 each were Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C.; Cary Middlecoff of Klamesha Lake, N.Y.; Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex.; Antonio Cerda of Buenos Aires, and Harry Todd of Dallas. Each had 287. Hogan finished with 289 for 11th place.

No Changes Made in ABC Weekend Rolling

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Weekend squads failed to jostle the 10 high standings in any division of the American Bowling Congress but some observers are saying, "wait until Thursday."

That's the day when the powerful Stroh's Beer team of Detroit, captained by Buzz Fazio, bid for a place in the open division now headed by Pfeiffer's Beer, also of Detroit, with 3,136.

One-Run Nemesis Hits Cranes Again Saturday

Cranbrook's baseball team dropped its 5th one-run decision of the season Saturday at Hudson, O., as the Cranes bowed to Western Reserve Academy, 1-0, in an Inter-State Prep School League game.

A walk, sacrifice and single in the 1st inning gave the Ohioans the game's lone tally. Steve Hayes and Dave Morris shared the Cranbrook pitching and yielded 5 hits, while their mates got 4 off Reserve's Bill McLain.

In tennis, Cranbrook was a 5-0 winner without even losing a set.

GMC Opens State Loop Season With Win

Bishop, Farms Pace Decision Over Dearborn

Each Homer, Pitcher Gives 6 Hits, Fans 13 in 5-1 Triumph

A pair of baseball veterans, Herman Bishop and Jack Farms, got Pontiac off to a great start in the new Michigan State Baseball League at Wisner Field Saturday as the General Motors nine defeated Dearborn Heating, 5-1, in the league opener.

Bishop, a crafty right hander, doled out 6 hits and whiffed 13 batsmen in posting the mound victory, besides helping his own cause at the plate with a home run. Farms, an outfielder with GMC teams for many seasons, staked Bishop to the only runs he needed in the first inning by belting a 2-run homer to the "wrong" field.

Bob Fell, who picked up 3 hits off an assortment of 3 Dearborn moundsmen, opened the Pontiac 1st inning with a single and the right-hand hitting Farms took advantage of a strong wind to crack one over the right field fence.

That was all Bishop needed. He had his strikeout pitch working in great fashion and he walked only 2 batters. The Dearborn club's lone run came in the 7th when they put together a double and single.

By that time, Paul Parks' GMC nine had built up a comfortable 5-0 lead. In the 2nd inning, Farms drove home another marker with a single that followed an error.

Bishop smashed his bases-empty homer over the right field fence in the 4th and the scoring for Pontiac was closed in the 6th when Bishop walked, Fell singled and Terry Thomas drove home the tally with a single.

Fell, Farms and Bishop collected 7 of the GMC hits off Dearborn pitching, while single hits were notched by Thomas, Les Stone and Bob Swindell.

A small crowd sat in chilly weather to watch the game, which followed opening day ceremonies that saw Mayor William Donaldson throw out the 1st pitch to Pontiac Baseball Federation president Charles Irish. Donaldson also gave a brief welcome.

GMC plays a return game at Dearborn Thursday night, then travels to Battle Creek for a double header at Bailey Park Saturday.

A three-year survey by Brandies University reveals that knee injuries top the list of football ailments.

OPEN SEASON—Officials of the Michigan State Baseball League, city baseball figures and other dignitaries were on hand Saturday as Pontiac GMC opened the new league season with a 5-1 win over Dearborn at Wisner Field. GMC manager Paul Parks is shaking hands with Mike Rogan, Dearborn pilot, who also is secretary-treasurer of the MSBL. Standing (from the left) are Owen O'Neil, supervisor of personnel services at GMC; Mayor William W. Donaldson and police chief Herbert W. Straley of Pontiac; Pontiac Baseball Federation president Charles Irish; Harold Welch of GMC, vice-president of the MSBL; and Ed Omera, coach of the Dearborn entry.

Sam Snead's Golf School

In the putt pictured notice that clubhead is swung back at right angles to the desired direction line a few inches slightly inside the direction line, by the wrist action. There is no tenseness in the body, arms or hands. Tenseness spoils accuracy. The hands are close in to the body and, if you're bending over properly the left forearm rests easily, lightly on the left leg. How far you take the club back depends upon how far you want the ball to roll forward. And you should shoot for a spot a foot or so beyond the cup. This is to make sure that you give the ball a chance to drop. Notice that the blade of the club, at the extreme of the backswing, has "opened" slightly. On wet greens allow for the retarding effect of the moisture on the roll of the ball.

Brundage Says Australians Can Handle Olympics

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Australia will be able to handle the 1956 Olympic Games, says Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee. He said Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies has assured him of it.

Brundage, who arrived yesterday by air from Australia, said Menzies told him at a recent dinner date in Melbourne that if the "worst comes to the worst he would personally take over."

Last month in Sydney, Brundage told Australians that unless they "stop arguing and get busy," the Olympic Games Committee meeting in Paris in June may need to shift the games away from Melbourne.

Brundage said there is still the possibility the games will be moved from Australia but "that possibility is slight."

Michigan, Gophers Still Locked at Top

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan and Minnesota failed to settle their showdown in the Big Ten baseball pennant race over the weekend and remain locked in the lead as they face 1st division clubs this week.

The two pacesetters split a doubleheader Saturday and have identiacl 7-2 records.

Minnesota took the 1st game 4-3 after piling up a 4-0 lead in the 1st two innings.

Michigan came from behind twice to win the nightcap 6-5 by scoring the decisive run in the last inning with the help of one of Minnesota's three errors. Darrell Cochran's two-run homer had pushed the Gophers into a tie.

Defending champion Michigan State (5-4) is at Michigan Friday. The Wolverines then go to Michigan State for another scheduled single game Saturday.

Minnesota is host to Ohio State (4-2) Friday and entertains Indiana (3-4) in a Saturday doubleheader.

Michigan State, despite seven errors in the opener, swept a double header from Iowa 9-6 and 2-1. Ohio State trimmed Purdue 14-9 on a 15-hit attack led by Howard Cassady's two homers and a pair of singles. The 2nd game was rained out, leaving the Buckeyes in 3rd place, 1½ games behind the co-leaders.

In other doubleheaders Illinois defeated Indiana 6-2 in the nightcap after losing the opener 8-1, and Northwestern took a 4-1 decision from Wisconsin on Dale Pienta's pitching and three-run homer but dropped the 2nd game 9-2.

Other single games Friday send Wisconsin to Illinois, Indiana to Iowa and Northwestern to Purdue. Saturday's doubleheader schedule includes Northwestern at Illinois, Ohio State at Iowa and Wisconsin at Purdue.

HARPER WINS — Chandler Harper of Chattanooga, Tenn., licks his lips as he holdsthe trophy that was presented to him for winning the Colonial National Invitational tournament at Ft. Worth Sunday. Harper, who wound up with a 4-under-par 276 for the 72 holes, led all the way in the 4-day affair.

Sowell Rising Fast Among Middle Distance Runners

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Young Arnie Sowell, a frail-looking lad with terrific stamina and quicksilver in his heels, is fast developing into one of the top middle distance runners in track history.

Just turned 20, the Pitt flash has yet to reach his peak. But already he's chalked up some spectacular times.

The latest was an amazing although unofficial clocking of :45.4 for his quarter-mile anchor leg of the mile relay in a meet here Saturday in which Pitt, Army and Ohio State competed.

Ohio State's Meade Burnett, no slouch as a runner, had a 10 to 15-yard start on Sowell. But the lithe Pitt Negro caught him on the final turn and won by 5 yards.

It was one of the fastest quarter-miles ever run. However, it meant nothing as far as records are concerned because relay runners have a flying start and no official times are kept.

What made Arnie's feat more remarkable was that it came after he had competed in three other events. He won the individual quarter-mile in :48.2, running only hard enough to win; the 880 in 1:55.5; and placed second in the broad jump with a leap of 23 feet, 2⅞ inches.

De Castries Takes Controversial Post

LANDAU, Germany (UP) — Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries took over his controversial new assignment today as deputy commander of the 5th French Armored Division here.

It was his first post since he returned last year from Indochina, where he was commander at Dien Bien Phu.

Some West German newspapers protested the assignment when it was announced in March. They claimed that de Castries ordered the sacking of the Black Forest town of Freudenstadt in the closing days of World War II. They charged he allowed his Moroccan troops to loot the town and rape the women.

Digitalis, an effective heart medecine, is derived from the foxglove plant. Some toads yield a similar drug.

Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of ¼ of 1%. The interest rate for each coupon period on any one bond shall be at one rate only. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

The said Water Improvement Special Assessment Bonds, aggregating the principal sum of $100,000, are to be issued in anticipation of the collection of an equal amount of special assessments on Special Assessment Roll No. 2, made to defray a part of the cost of installing water mains in said city, and will mature serially on the first day of September in each year as follows: $6,000 in each of the years 1956 thru 1960, and $7,000 in each of the years 1961 thru 1970. Bonds of said issue maturing in the years 1956 thru 1960 will not be subject to redemption prior to maturity. Bonds of said issue maturing after the year 1960 will be subject to redemption at the option of the city prior to maturity, in direct numerical order, on any one or more interest payment dates on and after September 1, 1957, at par and accrued interest but without premuim. The bonds of said issue will pledge the full faith and credit of the city for the payment of the principal and interest thereon when due. The city's taxing power therefor is without limitation as to rate or amount.

The said Water Bonds, aggregating the principal sum of $125,000, are to be issued for the purpose of defraying a part of the cost of acquiring a water supply system, and will mature serially on the first day of September in each year as follows: $3,000 in each of the years 1956 thru 1959, $4,000 in each of the years 1960 thru 1966, $5,000 in each of the years 1967 thru 1971, $6,000 in each of the years 1972 thru 1975, $7,000 in each of the years 1976 thru 1979, and $8,000 in the year 1980. The bonds of said issue are payable as to both principal and interest from ad valorem taxes without limitation as to rate or amount and the full faith and credit of the city will be pledged for the payment thereof. Bonds of said issue maturing in the years 1956 thru 1975 will not be subject to redemption prior to maturity. Bonds of said issue maturing after the year 1975 will be subject to redemption at the option of the city prior to maturity, in inverse numerical order, on any one or more interest payment dates on and after September 1, 1965, at par and accrued interest, plus a premium on each bond in accordance with the following schedule:

$20 if called to be redeemed on or after September 1, 1965 but prior to September 1, 1968

$15 if called to be redeemed on or after September 1, 1968 but prior to September 1, 1972

$10 if called to be redeemed on or after September 1, 1972 but prior to September 1, 1976

$5 if called to be redeemed on or after September 1, 1976.

Notice of redemption of any bonds of either issue which are called for redemption shall be published not less than 30 days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds. Both principal and interest will be payable at such bank or trust company as shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds.

The issuance of each of said issues of bonds was approved at a special election duly held in said city on the 24th day of June, 1954, by more than three-fifths of the electors of said city who were qualified to vote on bond issues and who voted thereon at said election.

The bonds of both issues will be awarded collectively. For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from June 1, 1955 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the city. No proposal for the purchase of less than the combined total of all the bonds of both issues, or at a price less than their par value, will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $4,500 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the treasurer of the city must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccesful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Berry, Stevens & Moorman, attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds will be paid by the city. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan, or such other place as may be agreed upon by the purchaser and the city.

Famed Texas Ranch Head Dies After Heart Attack

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (UP)—Richard M. Kleberg Sr., cowboy and congressman, was a Texan in the grand manner, a giant in the storied tradition of the ranch country.

He died yesterday at 68 in Hot Springs, Ark., a victim of a heart attack. Kleberg was chairman of the board of the 1,250,000-acre King Ranch.

Even casual acquaintances called him "Mr. Dick," charmed by his easy democratic manner. A tall, dark-haired, striking man, he loved a crowd and the crowd usually came to "Mr. Dick," his friends said.

"He was an able man," said John E. Lyle today, "a good man, a gentleman. He served his country well." It was Lyle who unseated Kleberg in 1944 after the latter's 13 years in Congress.

Kleberg and his brother Robert expanded and brought to national prominence the big ranch. They developed breeds of cattle and dogs, worked with thoroughbred horse development and brought the King Ranch stables to the top of the racing world with such horses as Assault and Stymie.

Richard wrote some of the early New Deal farm legislation and, sponsored it through Congress. He was a leader in cotton and cattle organizations and was a devotee of wildlife conservation.

Although he went to Congress a staunch supporter of Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Deal, he supported Republican presidential candidates after the Supreme Court controversy and FDR's third-term bid.

Kleberg's command of Spanish and its ranch and border dialects endeared him to his Latin-American employes and to Mexicans generally. Several times he was mentioned as possible ambassador to one Central American nation or another.

House-Watching Legal

DURHAM, N.C. (UP)—A Durham woman telephoned police headquarters saying that her husband and another man were out in the yard "watching my house."

After checking the complaint, officers wrote in their report: "We advised her we could not do a thing to her husband for watching his own home and if he wanted someone to help him there was nothing we could do with him either."

New Navy Air Base Eyed in Detroit Area

DETROIT (UP)—The U.S. Navy today was prepared to spend $10,000,000 for construction of a new jet air base in the Detroit area—if it could find a place to locate the base.

Rear Adm. Daniel V. Gallery, chief of naval air reserve training, said the Navy was seeking a new base in the area because many Navy veterans are joining Air Force units so they can fly modern jet planes.

He said naval reservists in the area are restricted to old fashioned propeller-driven planes because of the short runways at Grosse Ile Naval Air Station.

If the commercial airlines decide against accepting an invitation to use Wayne Major Airport, Gallery said, the Navy may be able to secure it for a new naval base.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Benny Reviews Radio

'Money or Life' Joke Draws Biggest Laugh

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Jack Benny—who'll welcome a farewell to radio because it bores him now—was reviewing 23 years of laughs and said his best radio laugh came when a holdup man said, "Your money or your life"—and he didn't answer but just hesitated, for a long, long pause.

★ ★ ★ ★

Jack plans to do this one—a laugh classic—on TV sometime. The longest TV laugh he had was on a New Year's eve show when he was supposedly dancing with Mrs. Jimmy Stewart. In swinging her around, Jack lost Mrs. Stewart and instead grabbed a waiter by the hand. The waiter—a stunt man—did a double somersault, spilling food and drinks all over everybody, including Jack.

"We timed that laugh—it was about 40 seconds," Jack says.

On a filmed TV show, Jack dreamed he was at dinner, serving meat to a young man calling on his daughter—a young man "whose father works for a bank."

Piling the meat high on the young man's plate, Jack said, "So your father works for a bank?" The young man said, "Yes—he's a janitor." The next scene showed Jack removing some of the meat from the young man's plate.

Gen. Melvin Maas, retired, who's sightless—and chairman of the President's Committee to employ the physically handicapped—remarked at a recent U. S. THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Arthur Godfrey picked up Peter Lind Hayes' option for another year . . . CBS signed Nat "King" Cole to an exclusive one-year contract; he'll do ten variety shows . . . Pupi Campo—who'll lead his band at the Malibu Shore Club, Lido Beach, starting May 30—told the management he'll wed Betty Clooney 2 weeks before. (They declined to marry at the club during the engagement.)

Larry Puck, Marion Marlowe's husband, celebrated his 56th birthday at the Little Club with his fiancee; also Lu Ann Simms and others.

Marion says her honeymoon apt. has in it only "two TV sets and a hair-dryer" . . . MGM actress Taina Elg will appear on the radio show, "Second Mrs. Burton."

It looks like Marilyn Monroe will wind up more important than before in her settlement with 20th Century Fox. The studio'll release one picture for her, and one for Marilyn Monroe Productions, which she'll make herself! And she'll have a voice in stories!

Italian Actress and Orson Welles on Honeymoon

LONDON (AP)—Orson Welles, one-time boy wonder of the American theater, honeymooned today with his new bride. She is dark-haired Countess Di Girfalco, an Italian actress better known as Paoula Mori.

Welles, 40 Friday, was wed to the 24-year-old starlet yesterday in an early morning ceremony at London's Caxton Hall Registry. British producer Peter Brook and his wife were the witnesses.

The couple kept their honeymoon destination secret.

It was Welles' third marriage and the Countess' first. The showman married Virginia Nicholson in 1934 and movie star Rita Hayworth in 1943.

United Artists Signs Wagner

Young Producers Plan to Film Story on Lines of 'American Tragedy'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I might have known when I saw Robert Jacks and Robert Goldstein talking a mile a minute to Bob Wagner that something was in the air. Well, something definitely is happening.

Bob—Wagner, that is—stars in "A Kiss Before Dying," Ira Levin's prize-winning mystery novel of last year. This is the first United Artists picture for young producers Jacks and Goldstein.

The story has an "American Tragedy" slant in that Wagner plays a scheming college boy who murders the girl standing in the way of his marriage to an heiress.

In a few days you'll be hearing about a rarin', tearin' Greek beauty by the name of Irene Papas. She arrived in town over the weekend to make additional tests for Spencer Tracy's picture, "Jeremy Rodock," and you can take my word for it that she's one of the most attractive actresses to be in our midst in many a day.

It's difficult to stay up late at parties when you have to work early next day, but it's one way of getting news.

At a recent party I heard whispers that Monty Clift has agreed to star in D. H. Lawrence's "Sons and Lovers" at Columbia. If you haven't read this book, let me say that it's much better than Lawrence's famed "Lady Chatterly's Lover," which brought him criticism.

"Sons and Lovers" is the story of a coal miner's son, a sensitive, intellectual boy, who is completely dominated by his mother. Two other women enter his life and when his mother dies he is free from her domination. It's going to be difficult to film, but I understand Columbia has it all worked out.

The Marilyn Monroe Co., which Marilyn formed with photographer Milton Greene, has let it be known that they are ready to do tie-ups in a big way.

Marilyn has already loaned her name to the A. Periman Co., a New York corset manufacturer. No, she won't have Marilyn Monroe corsets, she'll have Marilyn Monroe bras, which now are being readied for the market.

This doesn't interfere with the exclusive story I printed some time ago that Marilyn and 20th Century-Fox are talking reconciliation. And speaking of reconciliation, Joe Di Maggio is still waiting for Marilyn to come back to him. He goes with no other girls.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Looks very promising for Polly Bergen to play the Helen Morgan role. She arrived over the weekend to make a test.

Baby Fraser Heston had to have a complete medical examination before he could play the infant Moses in "The Ten Commandments" with his daddy, Charlton Heston, the grownup Moses.

Five favorite leading men have been invited by Mae West to ringside at her Ciro's opening. They are: Cary Grant, Vic McLaglen, George Raft, Phil Reed and Steve Cochran. Cary's first picture was Mae's "Diamond Lil."

The admiration for Donna Atwood is great. Opening night of the Icecapades she skated with a sprained ligament in her foot, and she never skated better. I particularly like the "American in Paris" ballet with George Gershwin's music and Donna and Bobby Specht as the stars.

Builds Portable Planetarium for Tour of Ohio

NORTH CANTON, Ohio (UP) — A Goodyear Aircraft Corp. engineer has built a portable planetarium designed to give school children a better look at the stars.

Richard H. Emmons, an amateur astronomer and former Kent State University astronomy instructor, said he is planning to take his miniateure planetarium on a tour of Ohio.

It recently completed its public debut at Canton Art Institute before some 1,500 persons.

Emmns built the device, which includes a 16-foot fabric sky, in his spare time. He says it is easily set up and knocked down.

She Looked Familiar

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — A 45-year-old man was arrested in a tavern after he asked police to help him "get my wife out of this joint." He was booked on a drunk charge when the woman convinced investigating officers the man was not her husband.

Comeback by Pearl Fills Divers With Hope

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UP)—A new diving season is filled with hope for the divers. Not long ago, the change of fashion, which substituted plastic buttons for mother-of-pearl, foreshadowed the passing of the pearl shell from the world's market places.

But the mother-of-pearl has become a vital ingredient in the manufacture of certain war materials. Once again prices are high, compensating for a loss in revenue because of a fall in the price of copra (dried coconut meat from which coconut oil is pressed out.)

Grains Firm Up After Opening

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains firmed after a mixed opening on the Board of Trade today. Dealings were fairly active.

Wheat met some selling pressure at the start, probably based on scattered moisture in parts of the winter wheat area over the weekend. The bread grain quickly recovered under the leadership of the May contract.

Soybeans were firm from the start, as were oats. Corn lagged early and then made a small recovery.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1½ higher, May $2.18¼; corn unchanged to ¾ higher, May $1.44⅞; oats ⅛ to ½ higher, May 73¼; rye ¼ to ¾ higher, May $1.00¾; soybeans ½ to 2¼ higher, May $2.54; and lard unchanged to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.60.

Ford Foundation Finances Study in Mental Health

A $15,000,000 allocation for research in mental health over the next five to ten years has been announced by the Ford Foundation.

Long-range goals of the research include determining causes of mental illness and developing and testing methods of prevention and treatment, H. Rowan Gaither Jr., the foundation's president, said.

Typical projects will be undertaken in universities, in departments of psychiatry in medical schools and their related hospitals and in public and private mental hospitals or independent research organizations.

Gaither said the announcement was made at the close of Mental Health Week in the hope of stimulating further public interest in "what many regard as the nation's major health problem."

"About half the hospital beds in the United States are occupied by mental patients," he said.

Keeps C47 Aloft While 11 Jump

Pilot, 3 Others Survive Crash After Letting Rest Parachute; 1 Killed

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—In order to give the other 14 men aboard a chance to parachute, an Ohio Air National Guard pilot stayed with his C47 plane until it crashed in the Belmont County Hills last night.

The pilot survived, along with three others who elected to stay or were unable to jump in time, suffering relatively minor or no injuries.

He was identified as Sgt. Thurl W. Starcher, 46, New Philadelphia. Five others are in Barnesville, Ohio General Hospital, none of them injured seriously.

The plane was carrying 11 members of the all-Ohio National Guard rifle team on a return flight from Friendship Airport, Baltimore to Columbus, Air National Guard officials said.

The pilot, Maj. Charles C. Cook, 30, of Dayton, stayed with the plane and kept it gliding so the others would have a chance to parachute.

Atom Scientist Raps Secrecy on Fallout

CHICAGO (AP)—An atomic scientist-author charged today that "excessive" government secrecy caused "a year of paralysis" in civil defense preparations to meet the new peril of deadly radioactive dust.

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp said the Atomic Energy Commission waited until nearly a year after the March 1, 1954 Bikini H-bomb test before revealing "some facts" about its radioactive fall-out to the American people.

* * *

Declaring the knowledge could have been "of life and death importance" had nuclear war broken out, Lapp called for a "massive review" of America's atomic secrecy policy so civil defense planners will have more than "half-facts or unofficial information" made the statements in the Bulletin of the atomic scientists.

State's Budget to Start Moving

House and Senate Bills Must Pass to Opposite Chamber by Friday

LANSING (AP) — The 269 million dollar State General Fund Budget will start moving in the Legislature this week.

Under legislative rules, each member must pass its budget bills over to the opposite chamber by Friday. All bills came out of committee late last week.

The Legislature has four weeks in which to finish up the work of the 1955 session, but many of the major decisions will still be hanging unsettled this week.

The House has scheduled debate Tuesday on the Conlin bill to boost the business receipts tax about 30 million dollars. This is the House's main answer to a budget estimated at 23 million dollars out of balance as it starts through the Legislature.

The Senate has its own revision of the business receipts tax—the Morris bill to increase the levy seven to 12 million dollars a year —but on a different formula than the House bill. The Senate has not indicated how soon it will begin to move with its bill.

Both chambers shrank their calendars drastically last week, but a new deadline——requiring committees to clear bills from the opposite house by Friday—is expected to pile the desks high again this week.

Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) has virtually promised that his Senate Highway Committee will release a House bill giving municipalities veto power over toll road routes through their communities. His committee is due to meet Tuesday.

County GOP Group Plans Larger Program

The Oakland County Republican Committee is planning to enlarge its size and get an expanded program under way, acecording to chairman Chad M. Ritchie.

Oakland's four members of the GOP State Central Committee already have been added to the group, he stated. They are Mrs. Doris Stacey, of Troy Township; Mrs. Delphine Lamb, Oak Park; Clare Fuller, Oxford; and Arthur Elliott, Pleasant Ridge.

Chairman of last fall's county convention, Robert A. Sutton of Pontiac, also has been named to the committee.

"We plan to further expand the committee by addition of two members from each of the 213 precincts in the county," said Ritchie. The group will include every delegate to the county convention elected in September 1954, he explained.

Future meetings will be scheduled on Friday allowing committee members serving in the State Legislature to attend. Another meeting will be slated within two weeks, said Ritchie.

Doctor, 94, Becomes Father Second Time

CLINTON, Iowa (INS) — Ninety-four-year-old Dr. John D. Hullinger of Clinton, Iowa, listed as the oldest practicing physician in the nation, appears headed for records of another sort.

He became a father yesterday for the second time in 22 months, and said he and his 32-year-old wife, Lucille, still are "looking for a girl."

Dr. Hullinger, who has delivered more than 3,000 babies, did the honors himself, in his home. He commented:

"My wife behaved like a good fellow and both mother and son are getting along fine."

The Hullingers have been married since May 28, 1952.

3 Fishermen Rescued, Overcome by Fumes

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Three Benton Harbor fishermen were rescued yesterday after being overcome by poisonous gas from a leaky exhaust line on a tug boat they were taking from Charlevoix to Benton Harbor.

The coast guard station in Traverse City and surface craft from Charlevoix took part in the rescue.

Rescued were William Eyerly, owner of the tug; Warren, his brother, and Raymond Groom, father-in-law of William Eyerly. They are recovering at Northport Hospital.

American Vets Reach Moscow

To Be Soviet Guests in Commemoration of Meeting on Elbe

MOSCOW (AP) — The reunion of Russian and U. S. veterans of the 1945 Soviet-American linkup at the Elbe River got underway today with a post-midnight airport reception and a banquet of caviar, steak and vodka.

The nine American veterans of World War II arrived by plane shortly after midnight for a five-day stay as guests of the Soviet Union.

Col. Evgeny Porfiriev, chairman of the welcoming committee, greeted them at the airport as "Our friends, our comrades-in-arms who fought against Fascism!"

Murray Schulman of Queens Village, N. Y., replied: "We sincerely appreciate your welcome and we, too, hope it will be a happy stay."

Movie, television and still cameras recorded the arrival of the Americans. They had flown via Paris to Prague, where a twin-engine Soviet airliner picked them up. The visit is being given wide publicity in the Soviet Union.

At the National Hotel the Americans and Russians had an early morning banquet of red and black caviar, steak, ice cream, vodka and red and white wines.

Maintenance Walkout Fizzles at Chrysler

DETROIT (INS) — A wildcat strike of 200 maintenance workers at the Chrysler jet engine plant ended this morning after company and union officials persuaded the strikers to return to work.

The maintenance workers, members of UAW-CIO Local 1245, had hoped for support from 1,800 workers at the automotive division of the Chrysler plant. The strike was called off when the auto workers crossed the picket lines.

The strike erupted over the company's alleged hiring of outside contractors to do work the maintenance men could handle.

Improvements Now on Way

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Your television set of the future will be different and better, and so will your radio.

The radio set has by no means reached the peak of its development, and significant improvements are ahead, says a pioneer manufacturer of radio and TV sets.

Radios the size of a cigarette pack, or smaller, that a man will carry in his shirt or coat pocket and a woman in her purse.

Home radios without tubes or wiring that will operate so cheaply on batteries that the electric cord and plug will become unnecessary.

Ultimately, tiny personal sets that not only will receive, but also will transmit on a private channel and enable you to keep in constant touch with home or office no matter where you are.

Abrams says two developments already well advanced will bring further profound changes in radios: The tiny transistor, only a fraction the size and using only a fraction the current of a vacuum tube, and printed metallic circuits on pastic or composition strips in place of conventional wiring and soldered joints. Both have been around several years but only now are finding their place on production lines.

The transistor first was announced seven years ago but still is in limited use because of production expense. When the cost comes low enough to make it practical for low priced sets, says Abrams, you can have a table model that will operate three or four years on a battery without replacement.

Several years ago he forecast the TV set ultimately would be contained in a box only about one foot square and would project its picture movie-fashion onto a wall screen. He sticks to the forecast and says it's much closer, possibly four or five years away.

Some redwood trees have bark up to two feet thick.

Expects College Boom

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's college enrollment will double within 15 years, says Dr. Albert Mayer of Wayne University. Present enrollments of 99,000 will reach at least 167,00 by 1970 and may well go to 215,000, he predicts.

His figures are based on the fact that the children already have been born.

Ease Parcel Curbs for U. S. Prisoners

WASHINGTON (INS)—American prisoners in Red China will soon be receiving food and comfort packages more quickly because of a new agreement between the Chinese and American Red Cross organizations.

The American Red Cross says the Reds had agreed to allow direct transmission of the parcels through the Bamboo Curtain. Previously the Peiping government had required that the gifts be sent through international parcel post channels.

Now they will be shipped to Hong Kong and handed to Chinese Red Cross officals who will take them to the prisoners.

There will be two shipments every month—one on the 15th and the second on the 30th. The first shipment will be May 15.

ARC president Ellsworth Bunker said the Chinese insisted that all packages be subject to Chinese customs inspection at the entry point.

The Chinese agreed to accept packages only for the 29 U.S. civilians and 15 airmen they have acknowledged holding.

World Bank Farm Head in Japan for Conference

Though smaller, the moon appears to be the same size as the sun because the latter, with a diameter of 400 times that of the moon, is 400 times as far away.

Rodney Brodie Wakes From 51-Hour Coma

CHICAGO (AP)—Rodney Dee Brodie has taken a turn for the better, but still is listed in critical condition at Illinois Research Hospital.

The 3½-year-old boy—first head-joined Siamese twin to survive separation—came out of a 51-hour coma yesterday. Rodney's eyes flitted happily over the faces of his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie who visited at the hospital on Mother's Day.

Rodney, seemingly well on his way toward a normal life after separation from his twin 29 months ago, was returned to the hospital Tuesday with a deep, mysterious bleeding in his brain.

A hospital spokesman said Rodney was resting comfortably but that doctors could not tell for certain whether the brain hemorrhage had stopped.

Blame Denver Fire on Culprit in Kansas

DENVER (AP)—Firemen here are blaming some unknown resident of the Kansas City area for putting them to work yesterday.

The firemen, wearing special gas masks, fought through heavy smoke to extinguish a blaze among 1,400-pound rolls of roofing paper jammed into a boxcar.

Asst. Chief Art Becker said a cigarette apparently had been tossed into the car before it was sealed and sent out of Kansas City last Tuesday. The paper had smoldered the four days and 650 miles to Denver.
