French Cancel Evacuation Plan for the Injured

Can't Land Big Planes So Will Attack Tonight; Says Red Stockpiling

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French high command announced today it had canceled its agreement with the Vietminh for evacuation of wounded French Union forces from Dien Bien Phu.

The French said they shortly would resume all-out air attacks on the rebels steaming eastward from the fallen fortress toward the vital Red River delta.

Only 11 of the French casualties have been evacuated. The Vietminh had agreed to let 753 "seriously wounded" go but the French said they refused to repair the fallen fortress' two wrecked airstrips so larger planes could land and speed up the operation.

In exchange for removal of their own wounded, the French had stopped bombing the 70-mile road between Dien Bien Phu and Son La.

This was so that Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap could transport his own casualties from the battlefield he conquered May 7.

But Giap, the French charged, was using the road to transfer artillery, antiaircraft guns, other war material and combat troops along with the wounded toward the delta. The command in Hanoi fears that vital area and Hanoi will be the target for another major rebel offensive, perhaps in June.

The French estimated it would take at least a month to move the 753 "seriously wounded" by helicopter and small single-engine planes, the only aircraft that now can land at Dien Bien Phu.

The French figured Giap during that time could move his entire battle-tested force from Dien Bien Phu unmolested, a price the French military judged too high to pay. Estimates of the total French Union wounded captured at Dien Bien Phu range between 1,300 and 2,000.

Reliable sources in Saigon said the French had demanded they be allowed to get up controls on the Dien Bien Phu-Son La highway to prevent movement of other than rebel wounded, but Giap refused.

The sources in Saigon said bombing of the highway would be resumed at 6 p.m. today.

The French in Saigon indicated more negotiations would be sought with the Communists in a further effort to arrange for removal of the wounded, to which the rebels agreed in principle at the Geneva conference. These sources insisted the evacuation plan had only "broken down locally but is still in effect in general."

The French had charged earlier that Giap had refused to release any Vietnamese wounded along with the other French Union troops. V. M. Molotov had agreed specifically to this in Geneva.

The French feared the Red rebel leaders were holding on to their countrymen in an effort to indoctrinate them with communism.

Two French officers flew by helicopter to Dien Bien Phu yesterday to negotiate further with the Vietminh. The French Press Agency said they reported back that to repair the airstrips so they could accommodate 40-place Dakota transports (Continued on Page 25, Col. 4)

Son of College President Steals Church Collections

ZEELAND (AP)—Police said today the 29-year-old son of a college president admitted calmly walking into two churches during Sunday services and nonchalantly leaving with $600 from collection plates.

Police Chief Al Boss identified the man as Irwin Lubbers Jr., son of the president of Hope College in nearby Holland. Young Lubbers was scheduled to be arraigned in nearby Grand Haven today on a charge of larceny from a building.

Boss said, however, young Lubbers had been under psychiatric treatment and may not be required to stand trial. All the money was returned, Boss said, when Lubbers surrendered at his father's home two hours after the thefts.

The churches are the North Side Christian Reformed Church of Zeeland and the Garfield Park Reformed Church of Grand Rapids.

The Rev. John Buichelaar of the Zeeland Church had just finished his sermon when a man entered, walked to the communion table and picked up six collection plates containing an estimated $100.

"I thought," said the pastor, "he was a new deacon assigned to take up the offering."

At Grand Rapids a man walked down the center aisle before the eyes of the whole congregation, including an assistant prosecutor and the mayor. He picked up a collection tray containing an estimated $500, then he turned and walked out.

Boss said Lubbers told him he went home and informed his wife what he had done and that at her insistence he talked the chief and gave himself up.

The elder Lubbers said his son, a former Grand Rapids architect and father of two children, had suffered a nervous breakdown a year and a half ago and had been "a very sick boy."

McCarthy Hits Secrecy Order as a 'Cover-Up'

Says He Doesn't Think President's Judgment Is 'That Bad'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential order clamping secrecy on executive branch actions in the McCarthy-Army row brought a denunciation from Sen. McCarthy as a "cover-up" today. He proposed suspending Senate hearings while the issue is threshed out. Sen. Symington (D-Mo) objected to halting the hearings, even for the day. The Senate investigations subcommittee fell into argument over what course it would take.

In the upshot, the group recessed at 10:55 a. m. (EST) to decide behind closed doors their course in view of what McCarthy denounced as the "Iron Curtain" imposed by the President. Public sessions were scheduled to be renewed at 2 p. m. (EST).

The President's order was laid before the subcommittee when it convened, and received a calm reception at the time.

But later, Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), McClellan (D-Ark) and Symington fired a few critical volleys at it.

McCarthy asked for a five-minute recess to confer with his aides, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, about their course in the light of what he termed this "almost unbelievable situation."

Returning, he told the subcommittee: "I must admit I'm at somewhat of a loss as to what to do at this moment."

"For some fantastically strange reason," he said, "the Iron Curtain is pulled down" forbidding testimony concerning what was said or done at a meeting last January attended by Atty. Gen. Brownell, top White House aide Sherman Adams, and others. McCarthy said:

"The American people will not stand for a cover-up half way through these hearings."

McCarthy described the Jan. 21 meeting as one at which the charges the Army has fired at him of "improper" pressures to get favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, "were instigated and conceived."

He said he didn't believe Eisenhower was really responsible for the order cutting off possible testimony from government officials about this meeting.

"I don't think his judgment is that bad," McCarthy declared. He feels sure, McCarthy added, that Eisenhower would not have issued it "if he knew what it was all about."

McCarthy said the questions raised by the White House directive "go far beyond" what was said and done at the Jan. 21 meeting.

They deal not only with "this occupant of the White House" but whether future occupants "can by an executive order keep the facts from the American people," McCarthy said.

5 Killed, 1 Critical After Car Hits Train

TRENTON, Ill. (AP)—A car carrying six young people home from a dance smashed into a fast Baltimore and Ohio passenger train yesterday, killing five of the occupants and critically injuring the other.

Dead were Raymond L. King, 22; Martin J. Goff, 19; Horace H. Hooks, 19; and Kenneth Ray Stewart, 18, all of Edwardsville, Ill., and Eleanor Car, 16, St. Jacob, Ill.

The only other occupant of the car, Dona Reed, 18, Highland, Ill., was in a critical condition.

Sheriff Henry Klutho said witnesses in another car told him they had stopped for the railroad crossing as the train, bound from St. Louis to New York, approached.

They said the victims' car, traveling at high speed, swerved around their automobile and crashed into the train.

Breezy, Sunny Weekend Lures 50,000 to Beaches

Sunny skies and soaring temperatures this weekend gave Oakland County's parks and highways their heaviest crowds this year as some 50,000 people swarmed to local beaches.

Two Youths Drown Sunday

One Disappears Trying to Rescue Companion in Rose Center Lake

Two youths — one trying to rescue the other — drowned Sunday afternoon while swimming in Little Buckhorn Lake in Rose Center. The victims were identified as John Martin Youngblood, 17, of Pascagula, Miss., and Charles Johnson, 18, of Newton, Miss.

Witnesses said Johnson dove in to rescue Youngblood who disappeared in 70 feet of water. Johnson came to the surface screaming for help then went under again.

Two members of the Michigan Muck Combers Club of Pontiac, James B. Smith, 23, of 8 Miller St., and William Boyer, 27, of 4348 Sedum Glenn, recovered the bodies.

The youths were among a group of migratory furniture makers living on the estate of Dr. Daisy Northcross in Rose Center.

Witnesses said Youngblood dove in and failed to reappear. Fearing his companion had suffered a cramp, Johnson leaped in a minute later.

Johnson came to the surface, shouted for aid in the rescue attempt, then disappeared, said witnesses.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies summoned Smith and Boyer, both equipped with aquanogs, to hunt for the bodies. The bodies were recovered several hours after the 1:15 p. m. drownings.

Sheriff Clare Hubbell said the two "frogmen" were called as logs and stumps on the bottom of the lake hampered dragging operations.

Honor Founders at Cranbrook

Foundation Chairman Speaks at Dedication of Memorial Altar

The benefits of the Faith of Henry Wood Booth and others to seek the Lord and the presence of God, "which came together in a tent," were recalled by Henry S. Booth in Founders Day ceremonies at Cranbrook yesterday.

The Cranbrook Foundation chairman pointed to the "many evidences of both divine and human love" which surrounded to simple stone altar which was consecrated at the ceremonies.

On that spot, 50 years ago, his grandfather, Henry Wood Booth, worshiped services in a tent.

"With that combination, the impossible is possible — not by miracle, but through the driving force which chugs away over rough roads and through whatever difficulties come along."

At a special commemorative ceremony in Christ Church Cranbrook, which followed the outdoor altar dedication, headmaster Harry D. Hoey traced for the congregation the birth and growth of the six Cranbrook institutions.

These institutions are Cranbrook School, Kingswood School Cranbrook, Brookside School, Cranbrook Academy of Art, Cranbrook Institute of Science and Christ Church Cranbrook.

Hoey paid tribute "to the many who have contributed to the development of (Cranbrook) for their services," and suggested that "there might well be a founders society of the Cranbrook Institution, whose roster would be headed with the names of George and Ellen Booth."

The Booths donated the land on which Cranbrook is located.

Hoey concluded by comparing Bloomfield Hills to "cathedral towns of the middle ages."

"Bloomfield Hills has grown and expanded, in large measure, because people wish to avail themselves of the cultural advantages of the several institutions which George and Ellen Booth founded."

Boy's Nose Too Close, Turtle Takes Hold

Frank's mother, Mrs. Yvonne Ford, said last night the boys "no longer own 14 turtles."

NEW YORK (AP)—Racketeer Frank Costello was sentenced today to five years in prison for federal income tax evasion and fined $30,000.

Hail Surrender of Huk Leader

Deal, Taking Months of Negotiating, Is Seen as End of Rebellion

MANILA — The surrender of Luis Taruc, colorful leader of the Communist-directed Huk rebels, was hailed today as a major step in President Ramon Magsaysay's campaign against the Huk.

Army combat teams surged through the jungles of southern Luzon seeking the remnants of Taruc's elite guard while Carlos P. Romulo, a top presidential aide, hailed the surrender as the end of the rebellion.

Chief target now is Jesus Lava, whom the army considers the top Communist in the Philippines.

Taruc, 40, who repeatedly has slipped through army traps in the past six years, surrendered to a Manila Times reporter, Benigno Aquino, who carried a letter from Magsaysay. The meeting on a dusty road north of here climaxed months of negotiations.

Terms of the surrender were not disclosed.

"Taruc had no alternative but to surrender," Magsaysay commented. "He was cornered by the armed forces."

Unless granted amnesty, Taruc faces trial on charges ranging from murder to sedition.

The surrender was a major step in Magsaysay's efforts to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Huk uprising. Although a bitter foe of the rebels as a field commander, as defense chief and as president, Magsaysay long has advocated resettling the rebels on newly developed land.

Ike Forbids Data for M'Carthy Probe

risks at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., should be made public.

The President's order, in the form of a letter to the secretary of defense, and a letter from Brownell to Chairman Mundt (R-S.D.) were laid before the Senate Investigations subcommittee as it resumed its televised hearings on the controversy between McCarthy and Pentagon officials.

As he has before, Sen. McCarthy said he didn't think the committee is bound "by any letter from the attorney general."

He suggested the group go into closed session to read his version of the FBI memorandum.

Mundt said he regards Brownell's ruling as final.

"That settles it so far as I am concerned," Mundt said.

McCarthy has said he would pay no attention to any Brownell ruling but would withhold the information only if FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said it was not in the national interest to make it public.

Eisenhower's general order—for which he cited precedents ranging from Presidents Washington to Truman—seemed to shut the door against effective inquiry by the senators into who said what to whom at a high-level administration conference at the Justice Department last January on the controversy.

Disclosure that there was such a conference had piqued curiosity among members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, the Democrats as to whether the Army's moves in its scrap with McCarthy were directed from the White House itself.

Army Counselor John Adams related last Wednesday that there was such a conference. He said Presidential assistant Sherman Adams suggested at the meeting that John Adams compile a written record of the Army's difficulties with the McCarthy subcommittee over Pvt. G. David Schine.

But when asked on Friday for details of the January conference, Adams pleaded that his lips had been sealed by an order from "the Executive Department."

Adams said he got his orders orally from Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Anderson but he understood Anderson was only transmitting them.

He was instructed to be prepared this morning to explain who originated the orders.

Before the Senate hearing convened, the White House released the President's letter whereby the President himself shouldered the responsibility for the secrecy order, whoever originated it.

Some pretty well informed sources said Anderson actually originated it in the first place. But in any case, Eisenhower was standing firmly behind him.

The senators took the Eisenhower letter with complete calm. But when it was read into the record, Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) served notice he would want to go into the issue further after he had more time to study both the letter and Brownell's supporting memorandum.

Chairman Mundt (R-Sd.) noted the memorandum cited precedents going back to the Washington administration, and said the subcommittee would like to give it study. This course, Mundt said, would prevent any "snap judgment."

Sen. McCarthy refused immediately comment to reporters, as did Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) who had said previously that an executive order "might not be enough" to deny his demand that the committee "lay the facts on the table" about the Jan. 21 meeting.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) said he personally is in doubt how far the committee has the right to go in seeking information on what happened at an Executive Department meeting.

"It's like calling a Cabinet member and asking what went on at a Cabinet meeting," he said.

Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho) said he thought the Jan. 21 conference presented only a "side issue" in any event and doubted it would be worthwhile going into the details.

The McCarthy document dealt with in Brownell's letter to Mundt is the one which Sen. McCarthy originally offered as a "letter" from FBI Director Hoover to Army intelligence.

The committee sent one of its staff to contact Hoover and received the advice that Hoover never had written such a letter but that the subject matter, and most of the language were the same as covered in a more extensive FBI memorandum.

Army Counselor Joseph N. Welch protested the McCarthy "letter" was "a perfect phony." Democrats on the investigating subcommittee have called for an investigation into how McCarthy got the secret and confidential information, saying the law was broken somewhere along the line.

McCarthy took the witness chair and swore the document was given to him by an Army intelligence officer. He refused to name the officer and declared he would always protect all informants who gave him information for use in fighting communism.

McCarthy has insisted that security information was deleted from his paper, and contends it should be made public to back up his charge that the Army ignored repeated FBI warnings about possible subversion at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

On May 10 Mundt wrote to Brownell asking whether any portions of the 2 1/2 page "letter" could be made public without injury to national security interests.

In his reply the attorney general said the 2 1/2 page letter was "not authentic" but did quote from a confidential FBI memorandum and that disclosure of any part of its contents would not be in the best interests of the nation.

If FBI files are not respected, he said, "serious and irreparable harm will be done to the FBI."

Brownell also said the Justice Department had the transcript of the subcommittee's testimony under investigation for possible criminal violation. Any disclosure

Eastern Flood Imperils Health

Broken Dam Pollutes Water, Idles Tanneries in Massachusetts

PEABODY, Mass. — This industrial city of 23,000 counted a loss of millions today as it cleared debris and fought a health menace in the wake of a flash flood caused by a dam burst.

Mayor Philip C. O'Donnell said the flood waters which raced into the heart of the city last night caused what may result in the "heaviest property damage of any nonfatal disaster" in the city's 300-year history.

As digging out operations got underway, state and local health officials joined to combat the health problem.

The city's nine schools, with 3,500 children, were ordered closed for the day. All restaurants and food stores were earmarked for close inspections. Citywide water tests were scheduled. Police equipped with loud-speaking systems cruised the streets warning residents to boil all water used for drinking or cooking.

The health menace was increased, officials said, by the mixture of chemicals from leather tanneries and other industrial plants with the flood waters. Hundreds of gallons of gasoline also flowed freely as some service station pumps toppled.

The water surged downhill into the central business area of Peabody Square after two one-ton granite blocks of a dam gave way at a pond called The Flume about a mile away.

"It looked like the Mississippi River flowing in," witnesses on rooftops said.

Water up to six feet deep flooded scores of buildings, including 75 factories, all the city's main stores, City Hall, the police and fire headquarters and the historic 150-year-old South Congregational Church. Mayor O'Donnell said some 1,000 leather workers face an indefinite layoff because of damage to tanneries.

He contends that is back of the whole controversy over Pvt. Schine, his ex-aide who was drafted last fall.

The Army, denying McCarthy's charges, contends the senator and his staff brought improper pressures for favored treatment for Schine, son of a wealthy New York family.

The President put his directive in a letter to Secretary of Defense Wilson.

The key paragraph said: "Because it is essential to efficient and effective administration that employees of the executive branch be in a position to be completely candid in advising with each other on official matters, and because it is not in the public interest that any of their conversations or communications or any documents or reproductions, concerning such advice be disclosed, you will instruct employees of your department that in all of their appearances before the subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Government Operations regarding the inquiry now before it, they are not to testify to any such conversations or communications or to produce any such documents or reproductions."

"This principle must be maintained regardless of who would be benefited by such disclosures."

Doty Sentences Mrs. Cottrell

Royal Oak Mother Gets 20 to 40 Years in Prison for Daughter's Death

"If you were a man I'd give you life," Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty told Mrs. Lois Ann Cottrell today as he sentenced her to 20 to 40 years for the beating-death of her three-year-old daughter last Jan. 16.

"You tried starving the child first and when that didn't work you used other means that were successful," Judge Doty told the 22-year-old Royal Oak woman. Mrs. Cottrell, of 823 Etowah St., will serve her term in the Detroit House of Correction.

She pleaded guilty in the second day of her second-degree murder trial April 28 to beating her daughter, Lois Ann, to death because the child "had bad toilet habits."

The mother also told officials after her arrest last January that she hadn't liked her daughter from the first time she saw her in the hospital but that she didn't know why she felt that way.

Royal Oak General Hospital officials said the child was dead on arrival at the hospital last January and that she was covered with bruises and lacerations.

Dr. Richard E. Olsen, pathologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, said the baby's death could have been caused by a head injury, a liver injury or both.

Edwin Stanton, Lincoln's Secretary of War, was appointed to the Supreme Court, but died four days after the appointment.

Local Guardsmen Display Techniques in Sham Battle

Fixed bayonets flashing, infantrymen of Pontiac's National Guard unit slugged their way to the top of an enemy-held hill at the 4-H Fairgrounds here Saturday.

Undercover of protecting heavy machinegun and 81 mm mortar fire, 100 officers and men of Co. M, 125th Infantry Regiment, supported by the 10th Ordnance Co., charged the high ground in a sham battle staged in observance of Arm Forces Day.

The estimated 150-200 onlookers saw typical infantry tactics that carried Americans to victory on foreign battlefields.

The battle opened with a rifle grenade and mortar barrage followed by softening fire from 30 caliber heavy machineguns.

Following the barrage, riflemen fixed bayonets and charged the objective, a small hill 600 yards away. The hill was secured within a half-hour after the battle began.

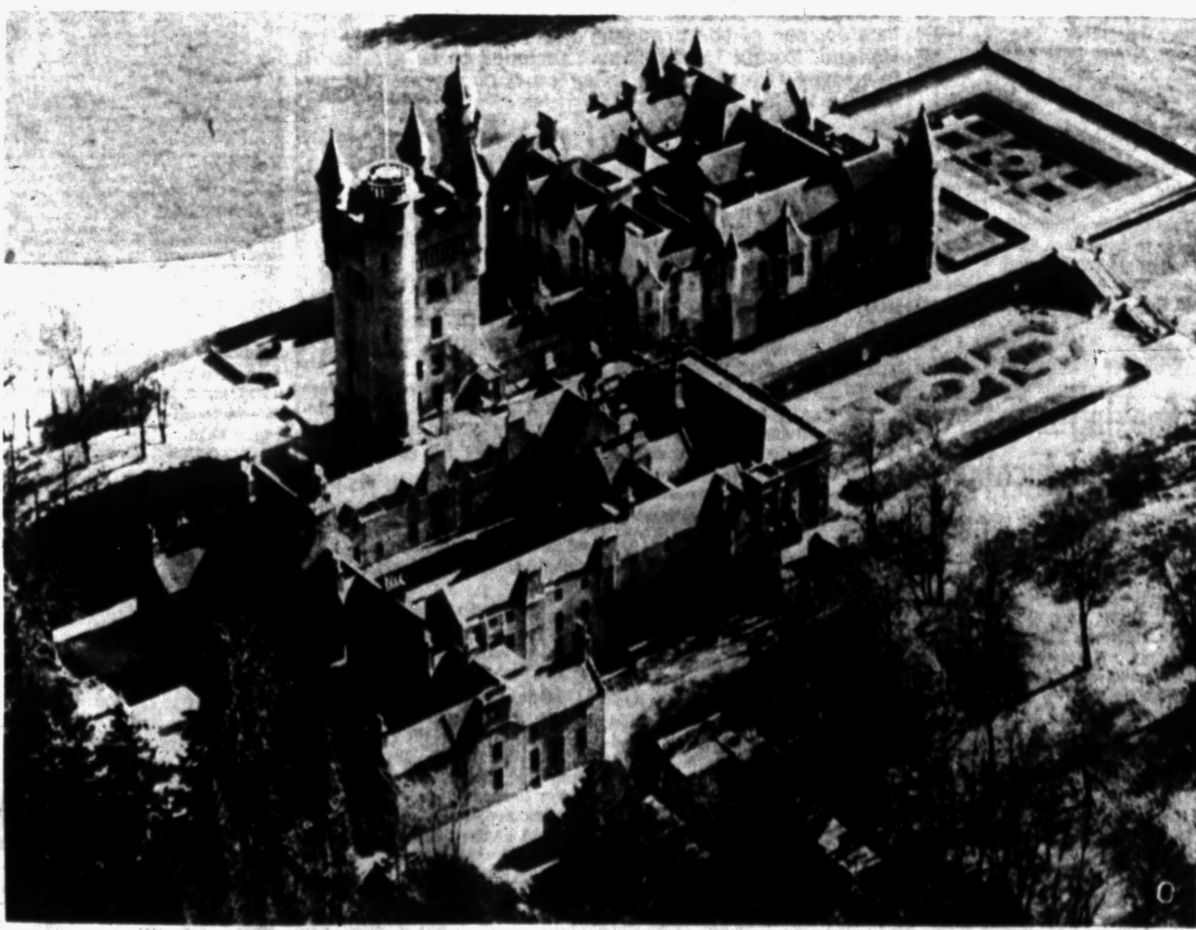

Capt. Carl G. Yarling, commander of the Ordnance unit, manned a loudspeaker explaining the tactics to the audience. The infantry units were under the command of Capt. A. J. Largent.

After the battle, officers and men explained their weapons to onlookers and described their tactics.

Capt. Largent and Capt. Yarling who held a critique after the problem, commended their men for their parts in the sham battle.

In another Armed Forces Day observance, scores visited headquarters of the 73rd Tank Battalion at 37 W. Lawrence St.

The Army Reserve outfit displayed two medium tanks in front of the headquarters and exhibited military vehicles and weapons inside.

Vision Testing Program Under Way

Drayton Lists Tuesday Hours

Aims to Discover Sight Defects in Tots 3 to 5; Examination Free

DRAYTON PLAINS—Vision tests for children between the ages of three and five got off to a good start here today, when the Birmingham Junior League opened its two-day program at Community United Presbyterian Church, Sashabaw Rd. and Monroe St.

All parents who didn't bring their children in for free sight tests today are urged to do so from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

No appointment is needed and the examination takes only a few minutes. Residence in the county is not a requirement, and anyone is welcome.

In the friendly atmosphere of the center, specially trained Junior League workers will introduce the children to the "sight games" that constitute the Snellen Section of the Massachusetts Vision Test.

No treatment or diagnosis is made, but where vision is found to be faulty the child is referred to the family eye doctor for treatment.

A community service for the benefit of people in all income brackets, the program is presented in cooperation with state, county and city health and education departments. Its purpose is to discover vision defects before school work begins.

Previous tests show that over 10 per cent in this age group need corrective treatment.

The center closes in Drayton Plains tomorrow, but two more stops are scheduled before the program ends for the season.

Wednesday there will be a one-day clinic at Christ Lutheran Church, Airport and Williams Lake Rds., Waterford Township.

Friday, the final day, the center will operate at West Bloomfield Town Hall, 4460 Orchard Lake Rd.

Utica Man, 21, Dies of Burns

Succumbs on Sunday After Saving Wife, Baby From Blazing Room

UTICA—Seven hours after saving his wife and baby son to safety through a window of their burning bedroom, Donald Fralick, 21, died yesterday in St. Joseph Hospital, Mt. Clemens.

Fred Beck, president of the Utica Volunteer Fire Dept., which fought the blaze, said Fralick and his wife, Donna, 20, went to sleep at 2 a.m.

A neighbor aroused them about 3 a.m. when he saw flames, Beck said. Fralick passed the blanket-wrapped child, Richard, 18 months, through the smashed bedroom window to the neighbor, who was not identified.

He next helped his wife out and then crawled out himself. "By that time he was so badly burned, I knew he didn't have a chance," Beck said.

The fire department arrived at the four-room house at 4815 Vineyard, Shelby Township, seconds after the three were outside.

Fralick died at 11 a.m. Mrs. Fralick is listed in critical condition at the hospital. Richard is reported in good condition.

Although firemen have not been able to determine the cause of the blaze they have established that it started in the bedroom, where the family was sleeping.

Famous trichologist tells truth about saving and improving hair

This new method of home treatment for saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Pontiac, Mich., Tuesday ONLY, May 18, 12 noon to 9 p.m.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 10—In an interview here today Mr. William Keele, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Keele Hair and Scalp Specialists, Inc., said "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so-called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED
"The Keele firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads offer a guarantee," Keele said.

Once a person avails themselves to the Keele treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee: "If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First, the Keele specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Keele firm can perform wonders. Everyone is given a complete, private, examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examination is very thorough and highly technical. It requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After the examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment, he makes regular reports to the Keele firm in Oklahoma City, and a trichologist will return to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help the Keele firm is sending specialists to various cities throughout the United States to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE-ALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Keele emphasizes. "If there is fuzz the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

There is one thing Keele wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If client follows our directions during treatment, and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Keele said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment. It all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?
If it worries you call Trichologist G. Lloyd Evans at the Pontiac Hotel in Pontiac, Michigan on Tuesday ONLY, May 18, 12 noon to 9 p.m.

The public is invited. You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way. (adv.)

Atomic Waste Poses Disposal Problem

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP) — The problem of disposing of "hot" radioactive materials once they've served their purposes is the subject of an intense study for future application going on at the University of California here.

One possible method the university's engineering field station is exploring is utilization of sewage plants. Dr. Warren J. Kaufman, assistant professor of sanitary engineering, thinks a way might be found to burn atomic waste along with sewage, reducing the amount of "hot" material that must be disposed of.

Kaufman said that results so far indicate that although sewage plants may be able to help solve the problem, no thorough solution has been found yet.

Ferguson Balks at McCarthy

Wants No Campaigning From Joe in Michigan This Next Fall

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Homer Ferguson, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, has indicated he does not want Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy to campaign for him in Michigan this fall.

"At the present time, I would say he wouldn't present any of the issues I want to present. A candidate ought to take the issues to the people," Ferguson said in an interview Sunday.

This is believed to be the first time any leading Republican has publicly indicated he would not welcome McCarthy's support.

It is not known whether McCarthy has offered to campaign for the Senate policy leader, nor did Ferguson say whether he has. Ferguson is seeking another six-year term from Michigan.

However, McCarthy is expected to take an active part in the coming congressional campaign, although he himself is not up for reelection. The extent to which he will speak for specific candidates will probably hinge on their willingness to have his backing.

The Republican National Committee has taken a hands-off attitude toward use of McCarthy as a campaign speaker.

Ferguson said Republican candidates will have to tell the voters this fall they were prevented by Democrats from enacting some parts of President Eisenhower's legislative program.

Michigan Locals of UAW-AFL Attack Rackets

LANSING (UP) — Michigan locals of the AFL United Auto Workers Union today were joined in a fight against what they called "racketeering elements" in their union.

Nearly 500 delegates to a regional meeting Saturday joined in pledging support to president George Meany of the American Federation of Labor to "cut off this cancerous growth."

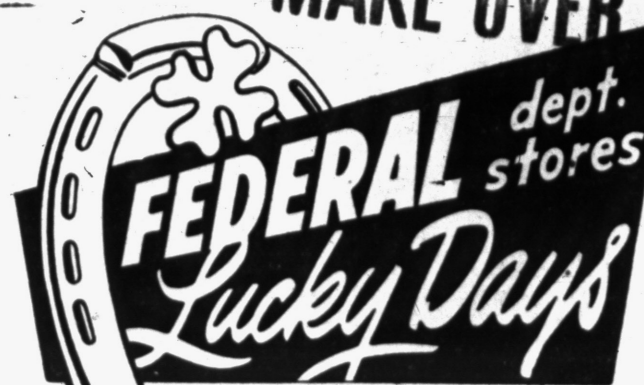

The delegates came from Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Lansing, Grand Haven, Muskegon and Manistee.

They adopted a resolution saying that Lester Washburn has resigned as international president because of the failure of the union's executive board to back up his expulsion of John Di Guard, alias Johnny Dio, and his revocation of the charters of so-called "Di Guard locals" in the New York area.

The delegates pledged support to the incoming international president, Earl Heaton of Decatur, Ill., in cleansing the union of "disreputable elements at any level of our organization."

They said they were "eager" to cooperate with other union regions to eliminate racketeers in the international's ranks.

Hal Boyle Says:

Doctor Makes No Bones About Tough Profession

NEW YORK (UP)—When a friend of ours takes her children to her small home town in Pennsylvania for a vacation, one of the biggest treats she can give them is a visit to one of America's vanishing types—the old family doctor.

This man is like the doctor everyone born early enough in the century remembers: The doctor who bounced you on his lap, found frogs in your aching stomach, knew not only your first and last names, but your nickname, too. His name is Wilbert L. Grounds. At 70 he is starting his 40th year in Roaring Spring, 15 miles south of Altoona. In that time he has delivered "somewhere between three and four thousand" babies—more than enough to repopulate the entire town of 2,800 people.

"When I gave out diplomas to a high school class 15 years ago," he called, "I found I had brought 26 of the 30 graduates into the world."

The whole town knows and loves Dr. Grounds. His graying red hair and twinkling eyes are familiar everywhere. He sees 50 to 60 patients every day except Sunday, still does up to 32 major operations a month in a practice that ranges, as does any country doctor's, from measles to madness.

But he still finds time to serve on the school board and as an official in the local bank. He has missed only two meetings of the Rotary Club in 25 years. Both times he went hunting.

Dr. Grounds spent his first year in practice as a young railroad doctor in a mining town peopled largely by illiterate immigrants. He delivered 160 babies. During one such case the husband, slightly the worse for liquor, stood over him with a shotgun shouting, "you can kill baby, but if you kill wife, I shoot you!"

During four years in another small Pennsylvania town Dr. Grounds sometimes drove 25 miles a day by horse and sleigh in temperatures that went to 42 below zero.

"Many's the night I slept straddling a chair," he said recently. "Women then'd call you when their pains started and want you to stay until the baby came, if it took all day and all night."

The only real rest he could snatch came in rural confinement cases in which the wife was what he called "a walker."

"When her pains started, she'd get up and walk," he explained. "And while she walked I'd lie on the bed and sleep. Then when she felt better and wanted to lie down, I'd go back to the chair."

How does he feel about the younger generation of doctors? "Well, I don't believe many of the new doctors could take what we did in the old days," he said. "They couldn't and they wouldn't."

Many only want to work three days a week and have office hours two nights."

Dr. Grounds, who started life as a farm boy, doesn't drive a Cadillac, puts little faith in bookkeeping, rarely sends a bill.

"If people are going to pay, they'll pay," he said, "and if they're not, they won't. I charge what I think they can pay without hardship"—he emphasized the last two words.

"When patients go into a drug store and find out a prescription is going to cost $8, they'll say they don't want it and walk out. What good do you do a patient when you charge a high fee and prescribe medicine he can't afford to buy?"

During the bitter days of the last depression Dr. Grounds once performed 100 tonsillectomies in a single month, and never collected a dime for them. Recently a woman wrote asking him to send his bill for an operation he performed on her in 1932. At least two boys, after growing to manhood and going to work, returned to pay him for bringing them into the world.

"I didn't charge them interest," he said, smiling. "I was glad to get the principal."

Dr. Grounds doesn't claim any high motives for going into medicine (when he was 16 a friend said he had decided to go to college and become a doctor and he said, "well, I guess I will, too").

But when the time comes he can no longer respond to a late night telephone plea, "doctor, I need you," it will be hard to say who will suffer most—Dr. Wilbert L. Grounds or his town.

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (UP)—Use of aircraft for spreading fertilizer and for other farm work is speeding development of low-grade hill country and adding considerably to New Zealand's position as the world's leading exporter of meat and dairy products.

In 12 months to March 31, 1953, pilots of 38 companies flew 40,726 hours to drop 144,802 tons of superphosphate on 1,376,118 acres. Since 1950 the number of operating companies has grown from 5 to 40, while today more than 160 aircraft are, regularly employed on farm work.

Under average conditions a top-dressing aircraft makes about 12 flights an hour, while some pilots have made up to 120 and 130 flights in one day. Besides spreading fertilizer, the planes now sow seed, drop rabbit poison, fly fencing materials, and deliver supplies to "cutback" homesteads. They also undertake spraying and crop-dusting against weeds and insect pests.

Sightless March on Rome Seeking Government Aid

ORVIETO, Italy, (UP)—A ragged column of blind people shuffled down the road from this hilltop city in Umbria today, soaked by rain but vowing to complete their 250-mile march to Rome.

The 70 men and women, led on their sightless way by sympathizers, are campaigning for more government aid to the blind. They started their "march of misery" as they call it, from Florence May 8.

Navy Gains Guardsman

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UP)—Richard G. Hall pulled a switch on his father, Rear Admiral Arthur G. Hall, superintendent of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy. He's a candidate for West Point.

Police Ambush Pal of Dillinger

Last Member of Gang
 Killed While Attempting Burglary

BEDFORD, Ind. — Clyde Alfred Steinbarger, who state police said was a member of the notorious Dillinger gang, was shot to death tonight trying to escape a police ambush in a Leesville, Ind., general store.

The 36-year-old Steinbarger, whose 30-year police record was studded with safecrackings, burglaries and armed robberies, was fatally torn by a shotgun blast in the darkened store 14 miles east of here.

State police were uncertain on Steinbarger's exact connection with the Dillinger gang, but Capt. John Barto said, "I brought Steinb back from Chicago in 1935 when he was wanted for armed robbery at Richmond, Ind. At that time the papers all said he was the last member of the John Dillinger gang captured."

Dillinger was the leader of a gang of desperadoes which staged a series of bank robberies, holdups and killings through the Midwest in the late 1920s and early 1930s. FBI agents shot him to death in July 1934 as he emerged from a Chicago movie theater.

State police had lain in wait inside the store for nearly a week after Wayne Armstrong, the owner, had reported becoming suspicious of two men who came in to buy a flashlight. He identified Steinbarger from state police pictures.

The second man, identified as Lewis Reece Smith, 47, Indianapolis, was knocked unconscious after falling against a store counter when police opened fire.

The state police said the two had broken in a front door. When ordered to surrender, officers reported, both tried to escape.

Police took Smith to Bedford for questioning.

Japanese Appeal to U.S. Women on H-Bomb Tests

TOKYO — The Osaka City Enfranchised Women's League, in an appeal to American women as "the most civilized people in the world," today asked an end to hydrogen bomb tests.

The letter, written on the league's sixth anniversary, was delivered to U.S. Ambassador John M. Allison.

The league claims to have 3,000 members.

The letter said: "The amazing results of the recent hydrogen bomb tests at Bikini have shown that the United States is the possessor of the most powerful weapon in the world and also the most excellent scientific power."

"On account of recent hydrogen bomb tests made by your country, our people have become the victim of an advanced science, and damages both mental and bodily, suffered by us are very heavy."
