Wilson Sees No Cuts in Spending

Defense Costs Are Considered Near Minimum

Secretary Will Place More Emphasis Upon New Arms, Research

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today that U. S. defense spending is close to "rock bottom" and that 33 billion dollars a year would be the absolute minimum for safety.

Wilson made it clear at a news conference he could foresee no further major military spending cuts unless there is a definite change in the world situation. Current spending is about 35 billions a year.

At the same time, Wilson announced there may be a shift in emphasis in the armed forces to new weapons and research. He said he has about completed reorganization of the armed services and will devote more time to new weapons and research.

The defense secretary said that half the scientists and engineers in the country are working directly or indirectly for the Defense Department, and that he has no plans to reduce the total number.

In describing the new weapons effort, Wilson said there may be some shift of emphasis. One question, he said, will be whether the U. S. is preparing too much for a "big war" and not enough for the "brush fire" type of war.

Wilson also:

1. Said he has not heard of any plans to build U. S. military bases on Formosa.

2. Predicted the Pentagon's plan to permit draftees to enter the reserve forces after six months of training will win Cabinet approval without further formal consideration. He said objections raised by some Cabinet members are being met on an informal basis.

3. Said the Pentagon will have "a good many bills, some of them important" to suggest to the new Congress. He said he will review the legislative program at his news conference next week.

Wilson was asked whether Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens' clash with Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) had made it more difficult to get top men for defense posts.

He replied that it all depended on how "thin-skinned" an appointee might be. He said some men are bothered by criticism while others "keep their own score."

Off to Flying Start

Local Organizations Back War on Traffic Accidents

Pontiac's S-D Day campaign to halt traffic accidents throughout the nation for a 24-hour period Dec. 15 received overwhelming backing today.

Many groups and organizations here threw their support behind the drive to obtain at least 10,000 signatures from residents on petitions pledging a conscientious effort to keep the area free of all traffic accidents that day.

Adding to the success of the campaign so far, Clyde R. Haskill, S-D Day chairman, reported that 2,500 signatures were collected during the drive's first day yesterday.

Over 500 Pontiac residents signed the pledge of the "Army of 10,000" during the first hour of the petition drive yesterday. The scroll will be forwarded to President Eisenhower probably on Dec. 14, claiming this city's leadership in the fight against loss of life on America's highways.

The President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety proclaimed Dec. 15 as Safe-Driving Day after citing the alarming figure of 35,300 lives lost in 1953.

Heavy Early Winter Snow Falls on Port Huron Area

SEE WHAT WE MISSED—Winter wonderland scenes like this were common in the Port Huron area today as another two inches of snow fell overnight on top of the 12 to 14 inches that covered the city.

Monday in a localized storm. Plows had main thoroughfares open but driving was difficult on side roads.

12 Below Recorded at Pellston

Pontiac's Weather Warm Compared to Rest of State

By AL LOWMAN

So you think it was cold in Pontiac yesterday and last night? Well, believe it or not, this area was the second warmest in the state as Michigan became the nation's icebox over the weekend.

Although the temperature last night dropped to a bone-chilling 15 degrees, the mercury in Pellston plunged to 12 below zero, coldest in the nation. Pellston is located near the northern tip of the Lower Peninsula.

Other overnight lows, practically all of them the lowest for the winter in the respective communities, were: Cadillac, -10; Traverse City, -3; Houghton, -5; Grand Marais, -8; Gladwin, -5; Saginaw, 9; Battle Creek, 10; Flint and Jackson, 11; and Detroit, 18.

Meanwhile Port Huron today dug out of a 16-inch snow dumped in the area yesterday and last night by a localized storm which hit almost the entire Thumb area yesterday.

But cheer up—weather forecasters are predicting a general warm-up for the state. Following a 20-degree low tonight, temperatures here are expected to climb to a high tomorrow of between 33 and 37. Little snow is expected except in the Upper Peninsula tomorrow and Thursday and the weatherman says the Thumb storm has petered out.

Around the state, at least two persons were left dead in a rash of fires which accompanied the cold.

Five more persons were injured by blazes, 300 school children were routed from classrooms in Hesperia and 21 Detroit families were forced to flee a burning apartment.

Mrs. Ann Maken, 90, died in a fire that destroyed her one-room cottage in Nankin Township near Detroit. An old fashioned stove was blamed.

George Thomas, 78, Spaulding Township died in a similar blaze near Saginaw Monday.

The Detroit apartment fire injured five persons, two seriously, and forced 21 families to flee.

The blaze was believed set by a four-year-old boy who was stuffing paper into a space heater. One piece reportedly fell to the floor, igniting the rug.

In Hesperia, a fire which started in the boiler room, swept the gym of the community school. Students fled without injury and the blaze was confined before the building was seriously damaged.

On the national scene, the cold snap caused shivering as far south as Florida with winter still two weeks away.

The biting arctic air pushed the temperature down to 16 degrees in New York City. Accompanying snow piled drifts four feet deep on (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

That Man in Your Life

Gifts That Will Please Him Are Offered for Holiday in Moderate Price Range

By JANET ODELL

That man in your life deserves the best gift you can give him at Christmas. By best we do not necessarily mean the most expensive. The best gift is one that suits the recipient and caters to his taste.

Of course you're going to give a tie to some man on your list. This year, however, give one of the new dacron ties for $2.50 that can be washed without losing its shape. These ties come in all colors in the popular small patterns.

No longer is it considered staid for a man to wear pastel colors, especially not when the colors come in shirts and sweaters.

One store has pastel checked sport shirts for under five dollars; you may have your choice of small, medium or large checks.

Nylon or orlon pastel sweaters in beautiful pale colors are available for ten dollars and up. Couples might enjoy matching sweater sets or matching shirts. The sheerest wool imaginable is the material for other sport shirts in the Donegal weave; these are six dollars.

For the young, daring individual you might buy a pink or an off-white buckskin belt to wear with sport slacks.

Before leaving the subject of clothes, we must mention the firemen print pajamas in red and white striped flannel for $6.

Michigan to Defend Use of One-Man Grand Jury

From INS and AP Dispatches

DETROIT — The state of Michigan prepared today to defend its controversial one-man grand jury law before the U. S. Supreme Court which has criticized the law in the past as having "no semblance of due process."

In consenting to review the conviction and sentencing of two gambling-graft grand jury witnesses for contempt, the highest tribunal in the land has agreed to rule on the constitutionality of the law.

The case before the court involves John White, proprietor of the Gotham Hotel in Detroit, and Lee Roy Murchison, one of the policemen suspended as a result of a gambling raid on the home of Edward (Indian Steve) Stephan last March.

One-man grand juror Recorder's Judge John P. O'Hara sentenced White to 90 days and a $250 fine for refusing to testify without his lawyer beside him in the grand jury chambers. Murchison was found guilty of giving false testimony and sentenced to 60 days.

The Supreme Court is expected to docket the Michigan case for March or April. Judge O'Hara's grand jury expires March 16.

Iranian Royalty in New York City on Unofficial Visit

NEW YORK (INS) — Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran and his wife, Queen Soraya, today were looking over the sights of New York City following their arrival by plane for a two-month unofficial visit to the United States.

The royal couple is living in a suite on the 35th floor of the Waldorf Towers during their brief New York stay.

The Shah will enter New York Hospital Thursday or Friday for a three-day checkup and possibly undergo some medical treatment of an undisclosed nature.

He and Queen Soraya will go to Washington Monday for a three-day visit that will include a meeting with President Eisenhower. Then the couple will travel to Los Angeles to visit the Shah's sister, Mrs. Ali Hillyer, the former Princess Fatemi.

Fast U.N. Action Expected in Try to Free Airmen

Resolution for Debate Passes Despite Soviets' Bitter Opposition

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western diplomats predicted today that the U. N. Assembly will vote speedy approval of a resolution by the 16 Korean allies demanding release of 11 American airmen held in Red China on spy charges.

The 15-nation Steering Committee voted over bitter Soviet opposition last night to call for urgent Assembly debate Wednesday on the Allied proposal.

The resolution, agreed upon after a series of private talks by the 16, touches on three main points:

1. It charges Red China violated the Korean armistice agreement by holding the fliers.
2. It declares the Assembly should condemn such violations.
3. It asks the 60-nation body to call on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to use "unremitting efforts" to obtain release of the men and report back to the Assembly by Dec. 31.

American sources said they anticipated no opposition to the resolution except from the five-nation Soviet bloc and perhaps a few Arab-Asian states. Burma and Syria abstained in the Steering Committee balloting yesterday on grounds the case should first be placed in the hands of the Korean Armistice Commission.

Lodge retorted that five fruitless requests had been made for action by that group.

Informed sources predicted India would abstain on the resolution to avoid being aligned with either side in case she is requested to act as go-between with Peiping. The case originally involved 13 men, including two American civilians who were not serving under the U. N. banner. For that reason, the United States decided to limit its case here to the 11 airmen.

Ohio's Bender OK'd for Seat in Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown today certified the election of Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) to the U. S. Senate for a term ending Jan. 3, 1957.

Brown sent Bender's certificate of election to the U. S. Senate clerk following an official canvass of the recount vote for senator in the Nov. 2 election. Bender defeated U. S. Sen. Thomas A. Burke (D-Ohio) in the race for the late GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft's seat.

Veteran Mayor Loses in Windsor Election

WINDSOR, Ont. (UP)—Arthur J. Reaume, mayor of Windsor for 14 years, was unseated in yesterday's mayoralty election by Michael Patrick.

Patrick, 36, who heads a building materials firm, polled 16,125 votes to 15,568 for Reaume in the close race. Reaume, mayor for seven terms, has held the job longer than any other man.

'Wolverine' Derails Coming Into Detroit

DETROIT (INS) — The conductor of the New York Central Wolverine was slightly injured today when three cars of the crack train were derailed and piled up under the Bagley underpass.

None of the passenger cars left the track and many of the 200 passengers in 15 Pullmans and day coaches slept through the jolt.

The conductor, 63-year-old Edward O'Brien was taken to Grace Hospital for treatment of an injured finger which was caught in a coach door.

The train was rolling into Michigan Central Station at about five miles an hour when the car immediately behind the two diesel units left the track and wrapped itself around one of the steel girders supporting the overpass.

Dulles Declares War Peril Less Than in the Past

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles declared today that there is less fear of a shooting war now than there has been in the past.

Dulles told his weekly news conference that the present phase of the struggle with the Communist bloc has shifted to some extent for the time being to the economic field.

But he said that it will be necessary to continue to keep up military strength until there is a satisfactory disarmament program or until there is more confidence between the nations of the world.

At the same time, he made it clear that the U. S. has not yet determined exactly what it will do to fight the economic battle.

The secretary emphasized the need for greater dependence upon private capital investment in underdeveloped countries rather than all governmental aid programs.

He said the emphasis now is on how the government can best stimulate private investment in allied countries by eliminating the political risk entailed in many areas.

3 Are Rescued From Lost Tug

2 Crewmen Are Sighted on Raft; Six Others Still Missing

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A rescue ship reported today it had picked up three survivors from a sunken tug in the Gulf of Mexico off the Florida coast.

A short time later, the Coast Guard said one of its planes reported sighting a life raft with two survivors and was picking them up. The Coast Guard said the plane was equipped to land on water.

The ship Helen Lykes, one of the five ships searching for crewmembers of the sunken tug Bertha R., radioed the Coast Guard he had lowered a boat to pick up the three men. The Bertha R. had an 11-man crew.

Names of the survivors were not available.

The Helen Lykes radioed minutes before that it had "spotted some men in the water and are circling. Lowering boat to pick up survivors."

The tug Bertha R., en route from New Orleans to Tampa, Fla., sent out distress signals yesterday and sank after losing contact with the Coast Guard.

A Coast Guard plane had sighted the raft during the night, but lost it in the choppy waters about 90 miles southwest of Apalachicola, Fla.

Brucker Speaks at Pearl Harbor Arlington Rites

WASHINGTON (INS) — Special rites will be held at 2 p.m. today in Arlington National Cemetery on the 13th anniversary of Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and representative of military and veterans organizations will take part in the ceremonies.

Tribute to those who died during World War II will be paid by Wilbur M. Brucker, defense department counsel and a former governor of Michigan.

Yoshida, Cabinet Resign in Last Minutes to Avoid No-Confidence Vote by Diet

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, the sly old fox who guided Japan's destinies through seven troubled postwar years, stepped down today in the face of overwhelming opposition from both the right and left.

His likely successor is Ichiro Hatoyama, a conservative pro-American, as is Yoshida. Unlike Yoshida, however, Hatoyama favors diplomatic relations and increased trade with Russia and Red China within a framework of friendship with the West.

The Diet Parliament will vote tomorrow or Thursday on a new leader.

Yoshida and his Cabinet resigned just hours before the Diet almost certainly would have toppled his government with a no-confidence vote. Hatoyama led the conservative - Socialist coalition that introduced the no-confidence

Says Eisenhower Approves Delay in Red Probe

Senator Raps Ike Plea for Patience, Tolerance in Dealing With Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a slashing attack on President Eisenhower, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today accused the chief executive of congratulating senators who hold up the exposure of Communists and of urging tolerance for Chinese Communists who torture American soldiers.

McCarthy, who last week was condemned by the Senate for his conduct, interrupted a hearing of his Senate Investigations subcommittee to read a statement which ended like this:

"Unfortunately the President sees fit to congratulate those who hold up the exposure of Communists in one breath and in the next breath urge patience, tolerance, and niceties to those who are torturing American uniformed men."

McCarthy described his statement as "something of a temporary swan-song" as chairman of the investigations subcommittee which he has headed since the Republicans captured control of Congress in the 1952 elections.

He said that during that '52 campaign he, McCarthy, had spoken from coast to coast assuring the people that if Eisenhower were to be elected President they could be sure of a vigorous fight to expose communism.

But, McCarthy added, he since has found "I was mistaken."

The senator said Eisenhower had congratulated both Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) and Flanders (R-Vt.) (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Dr. Sam Cried, Brother Says

Dr. Richard Sheppard Testifies to Tears Shed Over Wife's Killing

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard collapsed in tears when told that his wife was dead, his brother, Dr. Richard Sheppard, testified today.

The witness said he was one of the first to arrive at his brother's home on the morning of the murder, July 4. Trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard on a charge of committing that murder is in its eighth week.

Dr. Richard said he hurried to the bedroom, thinking the victim, Marilyn Sheppard, might still be alive. However, he quickly determined that she had been killed.

Returning to the den downstairs, Dr. Richard told the jury, he found his brother sitting in a red leather chair. He said he asked Dr. Sam about his injuries and then said:

"Marilyn is gone. There is nothing I can do."

With these words, he said, "Sam slumped on the floor on his face and began to cry, and he was moaning 'oh, no, no—oh my God, no.'"

Until the revolt against him, Yoshida ruled the Diet with an iron hand, backed by a working majority in the lower house. Hatoyama may find the road more difficult. He must depend to some extent on the Socialists, who said again today they would support him at least temporarily.

If the Socialists withdraw their support, the Japanese political kettle will probably boil over again.

The resignation may mean the end of the political trail for the 76-year-old Yoshida, who signed the San Francisco peace treaty for Japan and maintained close liaison with the Western nations. He will remain a member of the Diet, but beyond that his future is cloudy.

City Seeking to Work Out Reid-Paterson Assessment

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — Still dickering over the Reid-Paterson share in the Columbia Relief Sewer project, the city commission after an hour's discussion last night, asked City Manager Donald C. Egbert to consult with the building firm on a possible compromise agreement.

The problem dates back to more than a year ago, when Reid-Paterson, in conjunction with its Adams Village development, agreed to pay about $7,000 as its share in the sewer on Columbia, between Haynes and Hazel streets only.

Commissioners now contend the developers should pay an added $12,000 for the Eton relief sewer, which connects with both the Eton and Columbia sewer systems.

Further debate, on improving parking conditions at the Pierce-14 Mile road shopping center led to a request that Egbert prepare plans for construction of an alley and parking lot behind the stores.

Dominic Caputo, owner of the proposed parking property north of the alley, has offered to sell his land to the city, in order that the lot might be financed through special assessments.

City Assessor Elmer W. Haack is attending the three-day ninth annual Short Course for Assessing Officers being held through tomorrow at the University of Michigan. Haack assisted yesterday in a group discussion of fundamentals of assessment.

More than 100 city and township assessing officers from Michigan are attending the meeting sponsored by the Institute of Public Administration and the U. of M. Extension Service, with the cooperation of the Municipal Assessors Assn. of Michigan, the Michigan Municipal League and the state tax commission.

The Rev. Harold Towne, rector of St. James Episcopal Church will give three lectures on the Holy Communion, with the first scheduled for 10 a.m. tomorrow in the church undercroft. Others will be on Dec. 15 and 22.

Communion will be at 11 a.m. with a nursery provided from 10-11 a.m. and tea and coffee served at noon.

A reminder to the community comes from the American Assn. of University Women that Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore) will lecture at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Community House. Open to the public, his talk will deal with "Needed—Legislation for the Country, Not for Political Parties."

A Christmas program for the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church will start at 8 tonight, opening with a seasonal reading by Mrs. Milton Tapp. Songs by Mrs. William Neef, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Vigstedt, will include "The Christmas Candle" and "The Virgin Shimmer Song."

"Win a Surprise Package for Christmas," is the theme of tonight's Child Study Group meeting, to begin at 8 at the Puritan road home of Mrs. Mel Haugh. A representative of the Minnesota Mining Co. will present a demonstration of gift wrapping.

Major William M. Joy will list advantages of the proposed Troy Airport, when he is guest speaker at tonight's 6:30 dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Community House.

Mary Lovell, 1717 Melrose, is one of several University of Michigan students serving on the publicity committee for the 35th all-male Union opera, "Hail to Victor." The musical opens tomorrow in Ann Arbor and will tour six other Midwestern cities.

"Individual Liberties" will be discussed at 10 a.m. tomorrow when Unit 1 of the League of Women Voters meets at the Beardsfield road home of Mrs. J. T. Dorrough.

An 8 p.m. meeting is scheduled when Unit 5 will gather at the home of Mrs. Eugene Moore, on Stanley.

Increasing the campaigns' hopes today, the following moved to pledge their organization and employees:

The Pontiac Insurance Agents' Assn., the various city and county departments, Walled Lake, Waterford Township, Bloomfield Township, Drayton Plains, Pontiac YMCA, Boy Scouts of Clinton Valley Council, and the Pontiac Ministerial Association.

The association said Haskill has agreed to sound church bells all over the city at 9 and 11 a.m. on Dec. 15 as reminder of the S.D. Day cause.

All General Motors plants will blast their whistles for one minute at that time also.

Seven more days of signing are left to make the campaign a success.

"Pontiac can keep its promise to the nation — in leading the President's campaign — only with the help of every pedestrian and motorist. Do that by signing the petition and avoiding traffic accidents," said Haskill.

The pledge may be signed at Huron and Saginaw Sts. where Pontiac police are stationed to take signatures. Others will be seeking signatures throughout the downtown area and in residential sections.

Water Said Valueless Under Christmas Tree

CHICAGO (UP) — A man who sells 80,000 of them every year says it's just silly to put the butt of your Christmas tree in water on the theory that it will keep it fresher.

"And water with sugar added—that's even sillier," says Gust Relias, who wholesales trees. Relias said today the supply will be ample this year, but was wary of predicting retail prices. He said this is approximately what the retailer "should" charge: 8-foot tree, $3.25, 5 to 6-foot $2.75, 4-foot $1.50.

Oxford Motorist Admits Driving While Drinking

Accused of driving under the influence of liquor after he was involved in an injury auto accident last week, Cuyler Bennett, 21, of 848 Gibson St., Oxford, pleaded guilty yesterday when he appeared before Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum. Unable to furnish a $250 bond, Bennett was returned to Oakland County Jail, pending his trial today.

In other action, the Supreme Court ruled yesterday that states may not bar interstate truckers from their highways, even for repeated and illegal overloading.

And that decision set off a new round of discussion today on the effect of heavy trucks on the nation's highway system, and how to enforce weight limits imposed by states.

Two influentially placed Democrats—Sen. Monroney of Oklahoma and Rep. Harris of Arkansas—said the new Congress may consider giving states more police power. But a spokesman for the American Trucking Associations said present laws are quite adequate.

McCarthy Denounces President Eisenhower

McCarthy said that both men were responsible in part for holding up his efforts to expose Communists.

Watkins was chairman of the special bipartisan Senate committee which unanimously recommended that McCarthy be censured for his conduct. Flanders was author of the original censure resolution.

"Our committee," McCarthy said, "has been held up now for approximately 10 months. The President of the United States has taken it upon himself to congratulate Sens. Flanders and Watkins who have been instrumental in holding up our work."

Only last Saturday Watkins conferred at the White House with Eisenhower and the President congratulated him for a "very splendid job" as chairman of the censure committee.

While saying that on one hand Eisenhower had congratulated these senators, McCarthy said that on the other hand Eisenhower "urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who, as of this very moment, are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men in Communist dungeons."

Cape Cod where oldtimers said the snow "was the worst in history for this time of year."

It was below freezing as far south as northern Florida, southern Alabama and Mississippi. The 32 degrees recorded at Jacksonville, Fla., was 40 degrees colder than yesterday.

For those faint-hearted souls who have been frightened off by the cold snap, Miami temperatures are reported hovering around the 75-degree mark.

Yesterday in downtown Pontiac, the mercury climbed from an 18-degree low to a high of 27 coupled with snow flurries and biting winds. A year ago the highest temperature recorded was 47 following a low of 29 degrees.

Expect Detroit Council to Okay Parking Plan

DETROIT (UP) — The Detroit Common Council was expected to approve a 15½-million dollar municipal parking program today, adding 7,358 parking spaces at various spots throughout the city.

A resolution approving the huge program was introduced in the council yesterday by President

Louis C. Miriani. The program would include a $4,000,000 underground parking garage under Grand Circus Park.

Nab Korean Fugitives

TOKYO (UP) — The newspaper Nihon Keizai said today 438 South Koreans, mostly youths trying to escape the draft, were captured in the last two months trying to slip into Japan.

Bohlen to Seek Prisoner Data

Ambassador to Moscow Will Ask Facts on Trio Held by Russians

WASHINGTON (U.S. Ambassador to Moscow Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen is expected to press again soon for data on three Americans held inside Russia longer than any other U. S. citizens believed detained behind the Iron Curtain.

Bohlen, in Washington since Thanksgiving week for consultations, leaves for New York City tomorrow for the Soviet capital.

One task awaiting him there, U. S. officials said, will be another presentation to the Soviet government—the eighth this year—seeking information about William

Farmers' Union Hits Flexible Parity Plan

MIDLAND (UP)—The Michigan Farmer's Union was on record today as opposing the government's sliding scale parity program.

The union voiced its opposition to the program Saturday and endorsed a plan for 11 per cent parity on all farm commodities to be supported by direct production payments at the closing session of its 17th annual convention.

S. P. Martin of Stanton was re-elected president of the union at the session and John Speelman, Central Lake, and Joseph L. Seija, Wallace, were elected first and second vice presidents, respectively.

Penny-an-Hour Slice Made in Auto Payrolls

DETROIT (UP)—The pay of CIO United Auto Workers was cut one cent an hour today because of a drop in the cost of living.

The cut, under the cost-of-living clause of the CIO-UAW contract with the auto companies, was due to a drop in the cost-of-living index announced Nov. 24. It became effective today, the first pay period after Dec. 1.

Whisky With a Wallop Seized by Government

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Willard Hurst explained he was "just making a few gallons to surprise my pals for Christmas" when government agents seized a still and some 40 gallons of bootleg whisky. Officers agreed that Hurst's pals, indeed, would have been surprised. For bouquet, officers said, Hurst had thrown into it old whisky and beer bottles, mustard jars, cleaning fluid bottles, potato peelings, raisins and fermented chicken feed.

Patrol Kills Five Huks

MANILA (AP)—Five Communist-led Huk dissidents were killed yesterday in a clash with a Philippine army patrol near Lucban, about 50 miles southeast of Manila, the army reported.

Hal Boyle Says:Adults Should Copy Kids to 'Insure Right Yule Loot'

NEW YORK (AP)—It has always been my contention that children are more intelligent than grownups. One sign of intelligence is the ability to get what you really need or want out of life.

And the Christmas season is the time when the kids best show their mental superiority over adults in this respect. A child knows exactly the presents he wants, and he knows the right technique for getting them.

The little boys and girls get out their school pads and pencils and write letters such as the following:

"Dear Santa Claus,
"I am a littl girl just ate yares old. Boy, have I ben a good girl. I ben so good my mommy says if she had another littl girl just like me she wouldn't know whut to do.
"I wanna bike and pigtails and a net dress and police don't bring me no more dolls on accounta I already got more dolls than a store.
Your littl fren,
Rosebud O'Hare."

On Christmas Day Rosebud and her pal next door, Butch Rosenfranz, compare the loot.

"Sure, I got 'sactly what I wanted," brags Rosebud. "Don't you think my daddy can read plain writing?"

"I thought you ast for pigtails—you ain't got no pigtails," objects Butch.

"Silly, I knew there wasn't time to grow pigtails 'fore Chris' mus," says Rosebud. "I jus' put that in about the pigtails so they'd be sure to get me the bike. That's what I really wanted."

It is this striking innocence about children that pays off. They have faith. Grownups are only older children with ulcers. They pretend they aren't mad when they don't get what they want for Christmas, but they really are hurt, and they sulk inside.

The real reason they often don't get what they want is because they are so dumb. Any child realizes Santa Claus has to be told what to bring.

But silly grownups make their secret Christmas wishes and keep them to themselves. Then they get angry because Santa Claus hasn't been able to read their mind.

An adult should write a letter as follows:

"Dear Santa Claus,
"I am just a poor tired grown-up. But I've been a good boy all year. I never have got what I wanted for Christmas.

"This year I'd like to. I want some gloves, size 10, and some shirts with regular collars (neck 15½, sleeves 33), and a pair of black shoes (size 10-C), and a blue camel's hair coat (size 42 regular), a sailboat with an outboard motor an aqualung, a one-man submarine, a new car (any size), and any spare cash you got lying around.
Your big friend,
Roscoe McFuddle."

Don't address this letter to the North Pole. Make 100 copies. Send one copy to your wife, 49 to your favorite friends and enemies, and the other 50 to people picked at random who have a high rating in Dun & Bradstreet.

How do you know it won't work?

Pope Pius XII Said Better Now

Pontiff Resting Easily; Is Taking Nourishment, Treatments

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII's private physician said the ailing pontiff was able to take more nourishment today and that "all goes well."

Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi - Lisi reported the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church passed a tranquil night. A nun and a physician remained in attendance throughout the night.

The Pope has been regaining strength slowly during three days of revised treatment. A reliable Vatican source said his sleep was "interrupted two or three times" last night but he was able to rest fairly well.

It was the fourth night in a row in which the Pope's sleep was described in such terms. But Vatican sources emphasized he remained in a serious, though not desperate, condition after his serious collapse last Thursday.

Technicians prepared to install a television set in the Pope's bedroom so he can watch tomorrow's rite ending the observance of the Marian Year. A microphone is also being installed so that he can recite an Ave Maria and his blessing "to the city and the world" over Vatican radio.

Rochester Man Hurt in Auto-Train Crash

James Donahoo, 18, of 3165 Emmons Rd., Rochester who fell asleep at the wheel and ran his car into a train at Sanderson and Oakland Aves. Sunday night, was released after a physical check-up at Pontiac General Hospital.

Francis Helias of Holly, the engineer, told Pontiac Police he was switching cars at the time that Donahoo's auto rammed the train. Helias is an employee of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

Fulton's Monkey Wrench

Pennsylvania's Republican Congressman JAMES FULTON has learned that interference in U. S. foreign affairs can bring a sharp rebuke.

As observer for the House Foreign Affairs Committee but with no official connection, Mr. FULTON was attending a hemispheric economic conference at Rio de Janeiro. He was displeased with Treasury Secretary HUMPHREY's stand that our aid to Latin American countries not go beyond loans to help them help themselves.

Thereupon the Congressman announced that he would ask Congress to appropriate a billion dollars for loans and grants-in-aid. Then came his rebuke. While dressing to attend a dinner given by U. S. Ambassador KEMPER, he was notified that the Ambassador could not receive him.

What happened, as the Pennsylvanian no doubt realizes now, is that the Administration was letting it be known that it is weary of such interference with its conduct of foreign affairs. Our delegation, headed by Secretary HUMPHREY, had as its Congressional advisers, Senators WILEY, CAPEHART and SMATHERS.

Secretary Humphrey has been criticized for balking at two Latin-American proposals. One of these was that a new inter-American bank be established with the cash mainly supplied by Uncle Sam and the loaning authority controlled by recipient nations. The other was a plan to fix minimum prices for coffee and other South and Central American products.

Thus Congressman FULTON was criticizing the Treasury chief for refusing to approve Government connivance with a plan to gouge U. S. consumers. Mr. HUMPHREY couldn't have done otherwise.

50,000 Welcome Santa

Pontiac's 1954 welcome to Santa Claus was the most enthusiastic and colorful he ever received here.

The throng of 50,000 children and adults who lined the route from Franklin Road to Sanderson Street was the largest that ever watched a parade in this city. More important, the hour long parade itself with its 37 floats and seven school bands was by far the finest ever staged here.

For children, of course, the high spot was the float bearing Santa Claus, his sleigh and four of his reindeer. In no previous parade, however, have the floats been so artistic and effective.

For us the most inspiring and heartwarming feature of the community's welcome was the fitting emphasis placed on the religious origin of Christmas. Not only the churches and organizations which provided the 24 religious floats, but the sponsoring Retail Merchants are to be commended for keeping this idea in the forefront.

We at the Press are proud of the fact that a guiding spirit of this annual event is our own JOHN RILEY. To him, as parade marshal, and his chief aides are due congratulations for its great success. Credit also is due, as he emphasizes, to every school, organization and individual contributing to or participating in the parade.

It was a big job well done.

More Police-Less Crime

Law enforcement officials know there are several ways of combatting crime and one of them is stronger police forces.

Some 10 weeks ago New York's police commission decided on a practical test of that method. The area chosen for the test was a square mile of East Harlem.

Normally 186 police officers are assigned to safeguard the citizens of that tumbledown tenement area with its exceedingly high crime rate. That force was increased 150 per cent by the addition of 250 policemen.

The results speak for themselves. Major crime in the area was reduced nearly 50 per cent. Arrests increased from 20 to 60 per cent of the cases reported.

It can be argued that such increased police protection is far too costly. Clearly few, if any communities would be willing to boost their police costs for any given area 150 per cent.

Unfortunately, however, it is far too easy to call the cost of extra protection excessive. If exact figures were available on the high cost of crimes, an augmented police force might seem more of a necessity than a luxury.

Antarctic Rumor Spiked

Washington has gone to some lengths to deny reports based on the sailing for Antarctica of the U. S. Navy Icebreaker Atka.

Among other things the Government has categorically denied is that the Atka would seek a site for the testing of an atomic or hydrogen bomb. It also is pointed out that there are no plans for any expansion of our interests in the South Polar area.

The real purpose of the Atka's three months voyage is to make surveys and collect data for a more elaborate scientific expedition planned for 1957.

Despite Admiral BYRD's exploratory work, the U. S. has made no claims to any part of Antarctica. Instead, the Government has suggested that the area be internationalized because of its suspected wealth in many kinds of minerals.

The Man About Town

Hunting the Deer

One Experience Was Enough for an Entire Span of Life

Boy Scout: A good youngster who often also becomes a girl scout.

Most of the hunters have returned from the north woods, with varied stories of success—or the lack of it. Among those who didn't go this year is Harm Fritch.

Oakland County auctioneer. In fact, he hasn't gone for several years, but we like his tales about the only time he did go. He says, "I don't go deer hunting any more. I learned better long ago. They took me on one trip, and I spent three days sawing wood at the camp before the season opened, and when it was legal to shoot I couldn't even straighten up. So I just stayed in the tent and shivered and ate some lousy cooking, some of which was my own. There were 13 in the party and it was unlucky for me. Some of those good sports now are deceased, but I don't think the hunting can be blamed for that, and hope my cooking also has an alibi."

Pontiac churches are joining in the program of entertainment of foreign students in Michigan colleges and universities at Christmas time. This year, for the first time, there are more than 1,000 students from foreign lands enrolled at the University of Michigan.

This has been officially designated as Leader Dog Week throughout Michigan, and has an extra local significance. Executive Director of Leader Dogs for the Blind, Inc., at Rochester has much praise for the Lions Clubs who furnish dogs for blind people. These dogs are educated at his school.

One of the big gasoline corporations has put out a magnificent 1955 calendar, each month showing an outstanding color scene in our nation's outdoors. That for October is a hunting picture taken within a few miles of Pontiac, that being the only Michigan scene used.

According to Police Officer Neil King, who has much to do with gathering the contents of the parking meters, people are more honest than heretofore. He rarely finds anything in the meters but real money.

Saturday's Parade Inspired Onlookers With Real Reason for Christmas Season

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I have just forwarded to the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce my sincerest congratulations on one of the finest Christmas parades I have witnessed. I have seen such extravaganzas in many cities but have failed to enjoy or receive such a warming feeling for the Christmas season, as I did from the parade Saturday morning.

The floats of the toyland section were as fine as the best of creators could have produced and my deepest admiration to the churches of Pontiac, and for the productions they brought forth to inspire youth and mankind with the reason for Christmas.

Without a doubt, the people who participated in this year's welcome to the Yuletide did so with the love for Christmas and the love for youngsters in their hearts.

The surprising and delightful result was the lack of any form of commercialism throughout the entire parade.

I am very proud to be a resident of a city that can do what was produced, by a series of cooperative ventures, Saturday in downtown Pontiac.

Christmas Parade Best, Says an 'Old Citizen'

I have watched a great number of parades in Pontiac but this last one was the best. Pontiac is a wonderful city. There are a few funny people but all you had to do was to see the parade to know what Pontiac stands for or any city or town nearby.

Fear Like Puppy Barking at Stranger; If a Person Runs, It Will Pursue Him

Fears are much like barking puppies. If you run from them, they continue to pursue you even more vigorously, but if you turn on them, then the fears as well as the puppies will flee.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.
 Case M-386: Nathan F., aged 48, is the father of one of my former students.

"My Dad was driving home from the Loop in our car," Nathan's son informed me, "when another smaller car crashed into him. Dad had the right of the way, for he had the green light."

"The occupants of the smaller car were seriously injured. One woman died before they could get an ambulance and a little girl later died in the hospital."

"Now the peculiar part about it is that my Dad was cool and calm at the time of the accident. He called the ambulance and rendered first aid. But the next day he began to tremble and feel so nervous he couldn't eat. He put our car in the garage and wouldn't drive it."

"Today he sold the car, and vows he will never drive again. He was entirely innocent of blame, but still he is making a nervous wreck out of himself. Dr. Crane, what should we do to help him?"

This is a tragedy of which we read very frequently. The father acted calmly at the moment of the accident because he saw things to be done quickly. He adjusted to them with muscular responses. His attention was extroverted. He called the ambulance. He made tourniquets and applied them. He helped load the injured into ambulances.

Because a person cannot think of two things consciously at the same instant, he had little opportunity to appreciate the ferribleness of the accident. He couldn't indulge in introverted thinking then, but later he dwelt upon it till he terrified himself.

Airplane pilots know that after a crack-up, if they are physically able, they must take to the air immediately in order to leave success behind them when they finally depart from the field. If they walk away with a wreck as their last contact with aviation, the memory of this may enlarge until it renders them incompetent to fly again. Many a good pilot has been ruined in this manner.

Nathan should have continued driving his car until he returned to a normal emotional state. He should resolutely have driven home from the wreck and possibly taken his family out driving. He should have stuck to the wheel until he conquered his fear instead of fleeing from it. Instead, he has let fear conquer him!

Fear is like a puppy, boldly barking at a stranger. If the stranger is afraid and runs, the puppy will pursue him more vigorously. But if the stranger yells at the puppy in an irritated voice or makes as if to chase the latter then the dog will flee in terror.

Millions of American men and women are running in terror from similar "puppy" fears. If they would turn about and face their fears, it wouldn't be long until they could put the fears to rout and then enjoy the emotional status of a free man or woman.

Brady Modifies Original Karrell Cure With Skim Milk and Diet Supplements

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

In the days when feminine patients who wished to see the doctor recoiled when they learned that I was he—young doctors probably get a break in Penn Yan now—the Karrell "cure" was routine in obesity complicated with edema (dropsical swelling) from heart weakness or kidney trouble.

For one thing this regimen appealed to some of those Penn Yan farmers who were bent by the strain of providing their wives and sometimes even children with 21 meals a week, for, unlike my prices (75 cents to $1 for office consultation, including medicine, of course) it was quite "reasonable," consisting of nothing more than 1½ pints of milk a day. Moreover, if they had known it, they might have cut even that cost appreciably, for when I prescribed Karrell diet—my innate meanness was already evident—I directed that the milk be skimmed.

A good many young persons who, for some reason beyond my comprehension, dislike or will not take whole milk cultivate a fondness for skim milk and drink at least a pint of it daily.

David Lawrence Asks:

Does Eisenhower Accept Armistice as a Treaty?

WASHINGTON — Is the United States accepting the Korean armistice agreement as a peace treaty or is there now a state of war between Red China and this country? If the Korean armistice has been broken by the Communists in holding captive American prisoners who were to have been released, has not Red China committed an act of war?

Is President Eisenhower repudiating the legal argument made by President Truman that it isn't necessary to ask the authorization of Congress in order to apply a naval blockade or the use of armed forces to carry out an obligation undertaken by this country through the United Nations charter?

These questions arise out of a careful examination of the authorized transcript of the press conference held by President Eisenhower last week at which he said a blockade would be an act of war and that he would go to Congress to ask for authorization if any such step has to be taken at all.

Now it so happens that the charter of the United Nations specifically says in Article 42 that the U. N. "may take such action by air sea or land forces as may be necessary to maintain or restore international peace and security" and then adds:

"Such action may include demonstrations, blockade and other operations by air, sea or land forces of members of the United Nations."

When these provisions of the charter were before Congress to be ratified in 1945 a question arose as to whether the war powers of the Congress were being ignored. Amendments were proposed by the late Senator Taft of Ohio and by Senator Wheeler of Montana to require congressional authorization for the use of the armed forces of the United States whenever the contingency arose. But such proposals were rejected by the Senate. Likewise Senator Watkins of Utah, by an amendment, endeavored to require the President to go to Congress before exercising certain powers under the North Atlantic Treaty. This too failed.

A Senate document presenting a lengthy opinion attributed to "the executive departments" in February 1951 and issued by Senator Connally, who was at that time chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee makes the flat statement that the President is under no obligation to get authorization from Congress before imposing a blockade or using the armed forces to carry out either U. N. or NATO obligations.

Indeed, the document quotes at length from a formal report made by both the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs which discussed Article 42 of the U. N. Charter and then in identical language said:

"Preventative or enforcement action by these forces upon the order of the Security Council would not be an act of war but would be international action for the preservation of the peace and for the purpose of preventing war. Consequently the provisions of the charter do not affect the exclusive power of Congress to declare war."

It was this reasoning which the Department of State used in defending President Truman's decision to join with other United Nations forces in repelling aggression in Korea without asking authorization before or afterward from Congress.

So, when Mr. Eisenhower says to the nation that he cannot impose a blockade without going to Congress because it would be an act of war, it means either that he has never been familiarized with the background of the American ratification of the U. N. charter and the interpretation placed on it by committees of Congress, or else he means to reverse the Truman policy and take up with Congress before-hand any military or naval action hereafter required through the U. N. Charter or through the North Atlantic Treaty provisions.

In any event the President has justified Senator Knowland's discussion of the subject by publicly declaring it to be a subject for congressional action. But at the same time Mr. Eisenhower has added some confusion to the problem because, if he thinks the Korean armistice is a peace treaty, then it is the first time in history that an armistice has been accepted as a document that does what only a peace treaty can do—namely, end a state of war.

For the very breaking of the armistice by Red China is an act of war against the United Nations. It remains to be seen whether the 16 nations which fought in Korea will be content to let the matter rest with a resolution of "condemnation."

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

 Premier Mendes-France's lien on immortality is he asked the French taxi-drivers to plianissimo their horns.

The French horn is one that can be wrapped around the player's neck or yours. When attached to a boulevard traffic-mixer it demands attention by right of sonority.

It sounds like an addict to smogged truffles, smoked herring and kiln-cured tobacco coughing up his back collar button.

On the other foot we have the querulous tremolos of the shrill gossiping horn that sounds like a voice with a mouthful of clothes pins. This is not the horn that guarantees you French in ten easy touts.

Not since the founding of the Bronx Philharmonic have so many tight-lipped arpeggios been escalated on a stuttering note. The taxicabs that saved Paris in 1914 forgot to pasteurize the job.

The meeting song of the French horn is beep-beep. It is sounded an octave above a rasp.

It will set your nerves on edge like a picket fence and then run a hickory stick along it. It's like a dip in a refreshing cement-mixer with a brisk rub with a Turkish hoss-radish grater.

It's just as calming as a shave in a barber chair on rockers. And as soporific as a Swiss baby-sitter practicing her yodeling in the nursery.

Appointive officers for the coming year include: David S. Neal, chaplain; William Vandercook, Francis E. Mapley, Richard H. Parsons, Robert Brownridge, stewards, and Douglas Logan, marshal.

In installation ceremonies to be the 108th for this lodge, new officers will be installed at Masonic Temple, 18 East Lawrence St., Friday, Dec. 10, at 8 p.m. The ceremony is open to the public.

On the following night, an installation ball is planned at the Waterford Community Center, in honor of newly installed officers.

Flint Man Listed Good After Auto Breaks Leg

Edgar Casey, 37, of Flint, is listed in good condition today with a fractured leg he received Sunday when struck by a car on U.S. 10 near Oakhill road in Groveland Township.

Casey was pushing a stalled car owned by William Hubbard of Flint when an auto driven by Basil

Burke, 56, of 1104 Lasalle Ave. came up behind the Hubbard car. Burke told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies that he applied his brakes and swung to the ditch but as he did so, Casey ran from behind the Hubbard car and into the path of his auto.

Mitchell Against 'Right-to-Work'

Labor Secretary Raps State Laws Prohibiting Union Shops

LOS ANGELES (U)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell today came out flatly against state "right-to-work" laws outlawing labor contract provisions that workers must become union members.

Mitchell's declaration that he was opposed "categorically" to such laws now in effect in 17 states, mostly in the South and West, came as a surprise in a speech prepared for the annual CIO convention.

Labor unions are as much or more concerned with getting such laws repealed and preventing enactment of new ones in other states as they are with changing or repealing the federal Taft-Hartley law.

Both the CIO and AFL have outlined campaigns to have state legislatures ditch the "right-to-work" laws next year. They generally make illegal any labor contract arrangement for the union shop or similar proviso requiring workers to join unions.

Mitchell, whose speech also conveyed "warm personal greetings" to the CIO from President Eisenhower, practically invited their repeal of such laws by recommending that they be "further considered" by states.

The Taft-Hartley law permits union shop contract clause but specifically says they are illegal in any state which prohibits them.

Monty's Boy-Beating Idea Runs Afoul of Educators

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS)—"A good beating with a cane," said a famous man the other day to about 1,500 educators, "can have a remarkable sense of awakening on the mind and conscience of a bad boy."

A remarkable sense of horror came upon me, to read such a statement in this day and age, and my horror wasn't lessened by the fact that these words were uttered as part of a lecture called, "Education for Leadership."

Nor was it soothed away by the fact that they were spoken by a British war hero, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, who had just received an honorary LL.D. degree from Columbia University.

The very idea of canings and beatings in 20th century schools struck me right across the face like a sudden slap, and I started checking around a bit with some modern authorities on the bringing up and educating of children—to see whether I'm a dunce or not.

First I turned to that famous pediatrician whose word has been law to millions of American mothers through his "Pocket Book of Baby and Child Care." He's Dr. Benjamin Spock, of course, with the Mayo Clinic until 1951, and since then professor of child development at the University of Pittsburgh.

Discussing the problem of spankings and physical punishment in general, Dr. Spock was talking more of younger children and of home discipline, but every word he writes, I'm sure, applies equally to older children and school discipline.

"Where does punishment fit in?"

Dr. Spock asks, "I disagree with the grim or irritable parent who seriously believes punishment is a good regular method of controlling a child."

Then I turned to another famous book, "How To Help Your Child in School," by the well-known Mary and Lawrence S. Frank, and found what to me is the $64 question.

"Who is to draw the line between spanking and physical cruelty?" they ask. "Who is to say what kind and amount of spanking the child should get?"

Turning from books, I then asked various officials in the world of education whether "caning and beating" would be permitted in American schools. And I very nearly got my mouth washed out with soap and my knuckles rapped smartly with a ruler!

Pontiac Buys New Ping Pong Equipment

Determined to make the ping pong equipment at its 12 community centers last through the coming winter season, at least, the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. has just finished procuring new equipment it is confident will prove sturdy.

Yesterday, the department took delivery on 50 substantial-looking paddles made of metal. The maker guarantees to replace a paddle if it breaks.

Wooden paddles, handled by many different youngsters and sometimes used as hammers to test the soundness of the ping pong tables, had a way of wearing out, explained Leonard T. Buzz, activities supervisor.

New non-sag plastic nets will be set up on the 16 tables in the community centers. They are regulation size, Buzz said, and proved their merit in trials last year.

The new nets will be suspended from clamps made especially for the department, Buzz said ordinary net holders wear out rapidly under department use since they are put on and removed daily.

In having the new clamps made, the department followed the design of a commercially made clamp and beat the price by 50 cents each, Buzz said.

Only the Names Were Changed—Da-da-Dum-Dum

LOS ANGELES (U)—Sunday night county jailers had an order to release John H. Jernigan, 43, pending his Burbank appearance Dec. 9 on a drunk driving charge. But somehow they released, instead, John H. Jernigan, 27, a convicted robber awaiting transportation to San Quentin Prison.

Then they had to release Jernigan too.

Yesterday a deputy sheriff waited at Jernigan's home and nabbed him when he appeared late in the day. He denied he had tried to flee and had, in fact, worked all day yesterday for a plastering contractor.

"I thought my lawyer had got me out on bail," he said.

Minister's Wife, 46, Gives Birth to 16th

METHUEN, Mass. (U)—Mrs. Rudolph E. M. Krey, 46, wife of a Lutheran minister, had her 16th child, a daughter, yesterday.

At home with father in Haverhill, are nine girls and five boys whose ages range from 3 to 28. Three of the children were born in a German internment camp, where a son died at 4 months.

The Kreys were married in Union City, N. J., in 1952. They returned to their native Germany for a visit in 1939 and were interned until 1947.

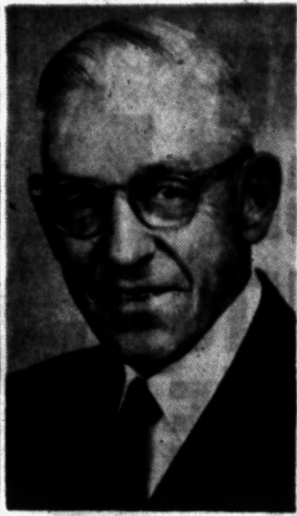

Pontiac People Active in Urban League Meet

Fifteen directors or former directors of the Urban League of Pontiac attended the state conference in Detroit Saturday. Mrs. John D. Monroe presided over the social action discussion and Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein and Dr. Robert R. Turpin headed group discussions on employment and guidance. Seventy-five board members attended from leagues in Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Flint, Pontiac and Detroit.

Christmas Tree Sales Expected at 2½ Million

LANSING (UP)—More than 2,500,000 Christmas trees will be purchased in Michigan this year, state agricultural officials predicted today.

"Trees are being purchased at a normal rate," C. A. Boyer, chief of the plant industry bureau, said. "And most of the trees are of a better grade than in the past."

IVAN H. LONG

The Pontiac High 12 Club at its annual election of officers meeting in the Masonic Temple Monday named Ivan H. Long president. He succeeds Roy M. Gallipio who was elected international representative.

Other 1955 officers are Max E. Kerns, vice president; Bryan F. French, 2nd vice president; Vergil Myers, 3rd vice president; Marvin M. Alward, secretary; John C. Beck, treasurer, and Stanley Kevorn, sgt.-at-arms.

Orrin Huntton was named to the board of directors for a three-year term.

Exchange Suits Filed in Sammy Davis Case

LOS ANGELES (U)—There is now an exchange of damage suits based on a traffic accident in which Sammy Davis Jr., 28, night club entertainer, lost his left eye.

Mrs. Helen S. Boss, 72, of nearby Van Nuys, asked $125,000 damages in a suit filed yesterday against Davis. She claimed Davis was at fault when their automobiles collided Nov. 19 near San Bernardino, Calif. She said she suffered severe shock and injuries.

Her passenger Mrs. Bessie Roth, 69, Akron, Ohio, filed a federal court suit against Davis, asking $75,000 damages.

Last week Davis, now recuperating, sued Mrs. Boss, asking $150,000 damages.

Rochester Man Admits Breaking and Entering

Lester K. Sandusky, 23, of 3534 Samuel, Rochester, yesterday pleaded guilty to breaking and entering in the nighttime when he appeared before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Sandusky is in Oakland County Jail on $2,000 bond pending sentence Dec. 13. He admitted entering the Auburn Variety Store at 504 Auburn Ave., Oct. 19.

Lakes Ore Shipments Down in 1954 Season

CLEVELAND (U)—The 1953 ore-shipping season on the Great Lakes has ended with one of the smallest total movements in recent years. When the final boatload was unloaded last week, the season's tonnage stopped at 60,793,697 tons, the Lake Superior Iron Ore Assn. reported today. A record 95,844,449 tons was hauled in 1953.

This year's slowdown was due to slackening of steel needs.

Denies Driving Charge

Pleading innocent to drunk driving when he appeared before Pontiac Judge Maurice E. Finegan yesterday was Randall Davis, 63, of 615 Dittmar St. He was released on personal bond, pending trial Dec. 15.

Admits Reckless Driving

Pleading guilty to reckless driving, Ivan G. Cole, 20, of 763 Portland Ave., posted a $100 bond yesterday pending his sentence Friday by Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum.

Straits Bridge Head Denies Ice Danger

LANSING (UP)—Officials of the Mackinac Bridge Authority said today "no known pressure of ice could possibly budge" the six main foundations of the straits bridge this winter.

"The engineers and contractors plan to found the caissons on rock and seal them with concrete on the bottom as well as within their water-tight compartments," President M. Brown, chairman of the authority, said.

"The rumor that the huge caissons for the Mackinac bridge main pier foundations will be left dangling in the ice this winter is absolutely ridiculous," Brown said. "The construction is not behind schedule and these foundations will be completed as planned."

MSC Confers Degrees on 640 Fall Graduates

EAST LANSING (U)—Michigan State College conferred 640 degrees at fall term commencement exercises last night.

MSC President John A. Hannah presented degrees to 340 undergraduates and 150 graduates in ceremonies at the college auditorium.

Motorist's Trial Set

Allen J. Austin, 25, of 484 Lowell St., who pleaded innocent to a drunk driving charge, is scheduled to appear for trial Wednesday before Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum.

City Recreation Unit Offering Dancing Classes

Classes in ballroom dancing for adults will be offered by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept., starting in January.

"Persons interested in joining the class should register with the department now since enrollment may be limited," said John A. Streit, assistant director.

Registration by couples is preferred, Streit said. Registration may be made by telephoning the department at FE 3-7173.

Registrants will be notified later as to date, time and place of the class.

Four Stand Mute on Burglary Count

Standing mute on a breaking and entering charge yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court were four men accused of forcing their way into the Detroit Creamery Co. division at 370 Orchard Lake Ave. July 2.

Judge Frank L. Doty entered a not guilty plea for them and the quartet were returned to Oakland County Jail when unable to post $5,000 bond. Trial will be held in the present court term.

The men are Percy Buckley, 23, of 503 Highland Ave.; John Gipson, 29, of 396 Highland Ave.; Percy Thomas, 34, of 522½ Highland Ave. and Joseph Johnson, 19, of 233 South Blvd.

SANTA AND THE MARS KING

Chapter Four
A RIDE ON A BROOM

Tom had been looking forward to seeing Santa Claus. But, after all, the important thing was to find out about flying saucers and it looked like the witches were the ones who could help him.

Handsomeness, the elf, had to return to his place in the fountain at the city park. He left Tom in the care of the witches.

“Now, boy,” said Granny, “you'll have to make yourself a broom if you're to fly with us tonight.”

“Couldn't I use one of your old brooms?”

“We do not have old brooms. A broom flies only once and we have to make new ones for every trip. I tell you a witch's life is not an easy one. We are always hunting for the proper pieces of straw for our brooms.”

“Oh,” said Tom. “That's why you're all covered with straw! When I first saw you I thought you were haystacks.”

“That is what we want people to think. It's our disguise. Sometimes, when I pass a field, even I can't tell if haystacks are really haystacks or witches working at their brooms.”

“But our brooms are truly wonderful! They carry us anywhere. All we have to do is wish aloud to be someplace and oh, ho! we are there.”

Granny told Tom how to make his broom. He needed so many bent straws and so many straws with rounded ends, brown straws and yellow ones and orange ones and one of pure white. Some straws must have juice still in them and some must be so dry that they crumble between his fingers. He must have some straws of wheat and some of barley and some of rye.

And when he had all the proper straws he must bind them with a magic twine and fasten them to a stick cut from a hickory nut tree.

Tom worked and worked. By the time the sun went down, he, too, was covered with a pile of discarded straws. Anyone looking at him would have thought that he, too, as well as all the witches round about him, were haystacks.

The brooms were finally done and Tom said, “When shall we fly?”

“Not until the moon is high,” said Granny. “First we must eat.”

She led Tom to the river bank where an old witch, more bent and wrinkled than all the rest, stirred some food in a big, black pot over an open fire.

All the witches gathered round her and scolded for their dinner. Tom did not want anything to eat. He had heard strange tales of witches' brew and he thought of all the horrible things that might be cooking in the pot.

Suddenly Granny dipped in a cup and passed it to Tom.

“Drink it!”

He was afraid to refuse. He shut his eyes and swallowed it.

What a surprise! It was the most delightful concoction he had ever tasted. He felt suddenly light-hearted and lightfooted.

He was about to ask for more but suddenly the witches started climbing on their brooms. Tom looked and saw that the moon shone high. He ran for his broom. He threw one leg across the hickory nut stick and instantly he soared into the sky. Granny was right beside him. They sped upwards and made great circles above the face of the earth.

They flew over cities and oceans and mountains. Once Tom thought he was flying above his own town and could look down on his very own home far below.

The moon passed overhead and was sinking out of sight and still the witches flew on.

And then it happened! What they had all been waiting for. Two spinning lights appeared out of nowhere and streaked across the sky.

“There they are!” screamed Granny. “There are the flying saucers!”

Tom clutched his stick and stared in terror, for the whirling lights were speeding towards him. In an instant more they would crash into him and sweep him from the sky.

(Tomorrow: Tom Gets Lost)

Coloring suggestion: Sky purple. Moon yellow. Witches green. Boy's jeans blue, hair orange. Faces flesh colored.

Men, Women Don't Need Sex Appeal for Friendship

The other evening a fellow who fancies himself a minor oracle on psychology declared that no such thing as platonic friendship exists between a man and a woman.

"Sex," said he, "is the tie that binds—not friendship. Without a basic sex attraction, it's impossible for any two individuals of the opposite sex to enjoy the other's company!"

And if you are looking for a question which will propel conversation away from senatorial censure and other hot issues disruptive of after-dinner talk among friends, this is a good place to start.

It never ceases to amaze me that sex is blessed and blamed for nearly every modern social problem. It seems to me that in the absence of anything else on their minds, too many folk depend on sex to get them out of trouble, or into more trouble.

Those unable to understand platonic friendship are surely still a little bit immature. It appears quite possible to me that any nice woman can and should have a number of men friends whose company she thoroughly enjoys, and the closest of whom she may love as friends—without the slightest implication of sex attraction. The same goes for men, who can and do have true friends among women.

There are always those certain few silly women, however, who wouldn't know friendship from the side of the barn. They delude themselves into believing every man they meet will be instantly smitten with whatever feminine charms are theirs. Meager though they may be. Every pleasantry from men becomes a proposal or proposition.

In their minds, Every admiring glance becomes a sexy leer. All their husbands' pals are obviously, (to them) ready to leave home and whisk them away to Algiers on wings of romance.

And the men are just as bad, the on-a who can't distinguish between friendship and sex. They may be tottering on their canes, grappling with arthritis, and still grapple with the notion that every girl is out to win them for her very own.

Should Marion Brando or Gregory Peck ask a lady for the next waltz, I don't say she should launch into a discussion of good books. No, honey, there are mitigating circumstances which alter cases. However, if Brando had by chance read the same book, it could be the beginning of a beautiful friendship, at that!

Detroit Is Sentenced on Two Traffic Counts

Holly Township Justice Mrs. Maxine Howe, Saturday sentenced Leonard E. Braden, 43, of Detroit, to 35 days in Oakland County Jail after he was unable to pay fines and costs on two traffic counts.

Braden was fined $50 and $20 costs for reckless driving, and $10 fine and $5 costs for not having an operator's license.

What, No Boobie Traps?

Democrats Hit Budget Remark

Humphrey's Statement on Unbalance for 1955 Draws Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats today hopped on Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's declaration that a balanced budget is out for next year. Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) charged it made "political clackety-clack" of 1952 Republican campaign pledges.

Humphrey told a news conference yesterday, "We cannot balance the budget" during the year starting next July 1. He said every effort would be made to keep the deficit below three billion dollars. And he confirmed a previous forecast that the deficit for the present fiscal year, ending next June 30, would be in the vicinity of 4 1/2 billion dollars.

Sparkman and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) assailed the administration for what they called "utterly unrealistic" 1952 campaign promises to cut spending and balance the budget.

Sen. J. Lee (R-NY) said Humphrey's statement would guarantee a "very careful study" by Congress of tax reduction scheduled for next spring.

These include a decrease from 52 to 47 per cent in the corporate income tax rate and a reduction in a number of excise (sales) taxes. Humphrey said he couldn't anticipate whether President Eisenhower will suggest abandoning the cuts. But his comments encouraged the belief that the administration will oppose any tax decreases next year.

Bob Considine Says:

Sheppard Trial Newsmen Find Impartiality Difficult

CLEVELAND (INS) — It's hard to stay impartial in a murder trial. You get to hate the defendant or like him or feel sorry for him. You are impressed with this or that lawyer, or get a story from one and feel vaguely grateful.

You must constantly remind yourself that you should strive for and achieve that zenith of impartiality which Bugs Baer ascribed to the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

"He even parts his beard in the middle," Bugs wrote.

The Sheppard murder trial is one of extreme intimacy. The spectators in Judge Blythin's legal Turkish bath are confined to 50 reporters and a handful of relatives of the deceased and of the defendant.

If you are a buff of this case you know that the relatives of Sam and the relatives of Marilyn never plan to speak again, regardless of the verdict handed down in this case.

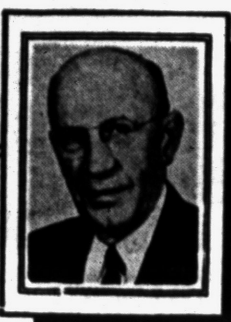

When Dr. Steve Sheppard was on the stand, Marilyn's aunts and stepmother would gasp at some of his replies to questions submitted by young Tom Parrino, the assistant prosecutor.

Something the doctor had said had deeply annoyed or distressed or angered them. And you felt they might stand up in court and shout out a denial. But they remained in their seats.

Dr. Steve responds in kind. He will not speak to Marilyn's lady relatives when he enters court each day and takes his place either in the pew ahead of them or in that very bench.

It is not an easy assignment for one charged with objectivity. Verily, the reporter here finds himself sitting on the laps of the principles, in an air made heavy by their understandable biased breaths.

About 80 per cent of teachers in U.S. public schools are women.

Come in and Drive the All-New '55 Pontiac

MAKE COURTESY YOUR CODE OF THE ROAD

Road-test the Reasons why America says "IT'S HOT!"

With its first look at the All-New 1955 Pontiac, America said "It's hot!" Now that record thousands have driven this spectacular new car, the verdict is even stronger—because Pontiac for 1955 performs even better than it looks!

The only way to know what a great step forward Pontiac's perfected Strato-Streak performance represents is to test-drive it yourself—under any conditions you wish.

See how Pontiac's Strato-Streak V-8 engine—with its remarkably improved economy—gives you acceleration as quick as a wish, with a tremendous reserve of power on tap for every need. Feel how Pontiac's long 124-inch wheelbase and wide-stance rear springing let you enjoy a ride you've never known before. Experience how Pontiac's recirculating ball steering and larger, more efficient brakes provide almost effortless handling. Then glance around you at the wonderful roominess of the all-new bigger, wider, more luxurious Body by Fisher with its all-around panoramic vision. Make Tie-on Decorations for Christmas Packages

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Packages will be prettier, and so much time will be saved later on if tie-on package decorations are made right now.

These are little decorated bows and imaginative clusters of greenery and trim that tie onto packages to finish them off with a fine flourish.

Drop Cookie Rich With Fruit, Nuts

Mrs. Tollerday Has Recipe Using Dates, Candied Cherries

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you make these delicious Christmas fruit cookies now, that will be one chore out of the way; the cookies will keep well, and be on hand for serving anytime.

Today's cook is Mrs. George Tollerday. She has a child in both ends of the school system, one in high school, one in kindergarten. She belongs to Child Study Club No. 3, the Saybrook group of her church and the Pontiac Women's Chorus. For the last group Mrs. Tollerday serves as president.

CHRISTMAS FRUIT COOKIES

By Mrs. George Tollerday

1 1/2 cups brown sugar
1 cup butter or margarine
2 eggs, well beaten
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
2 pounds dates, cut fine
3 cups chopped nut meats
Sift spices and soda with flour. Cream sugar and shortening. Add eggs, fruit, and nuts. Drop on greased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees about 10 minutes.

Make Cotton Rug

If you're good with a crocheting needle, you can make cotton yarn, the heavy kind, into a nice throw rug for a baby or child's room. Cotton is good here because it washes easily and babies and children are hard on rugs.

Select Nails and Screws of Right Size

By HUBBARD COBB

One of the small problems that keeps coming up from time to time is which size nail or screw to use for a particular fastening job.

While this is a small problem it's also an important one because of the faster is too small it won't hold and if it's too big it may split the wood.

A good rule of thumb for selecting the correct size nail is to use one about three times as long as the thickness of the board that is to be nailed.

For example, if you wish to nail a board 1-inch thick, use a nail about 3 inches long. Don't place the nail too close to the edge of the board and stagger the nails so they are not in line with each other.

This will reduce the possibility of the board splitting. When nailing hardwood, it's wise to drill a small pilot hole through the wood before you nail.

Selecting the correct size screw is more difficult than choosing nails because the length of the screw will depend on how much load is to be placed upon it and also on how many screws are to be used.

The length will also depend on the thickness of the board to which the object is fastened.

One rule that works pretty well is to select a screw with the unthreaded shank the same length as the thickness of the board which is to be fastened.

You will note that the average wood screw has an underthreaded portion directly under the head. When fastening wood to wood, drill a hole in the first piece the same diameter as the unthreaded portion of the screw.

Don't Let Bygone Wealth or Beauty Ruin Life

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Living in the past is always a dangerous mistake, and nobody is more apt to do it than the woman who used to be wealthy and is now poor.

A European woman who came to see me was a perfect example of this. She had been titled, wealthy, with many servants—and she never forgot it.

She was starving to death, because most jobs were beneath her, and she wanted one as a companion to a lady where she could use her French and her conversational skills, and not really do very much.

Such jobs no longer exist, but she was still living in the past—and getting more and more bitter about it.

Actually, my experience has been, the real lady is the first one to adjust to new conditions with good sportsmanship, and pitch in to whatever she has to in order to make a living.

Take, for example, Mrs. R. L. Mrs. R. L. was a European woman from a wealthy and cultivated family.

When the war overthrew her country, she lost everything, and nearly lost her life. When she finally arrived here in this country, she was in her mid-50's.

Her English was not good enough to get a clerical job, so she got a job as a domestic. She did it cheerfully and well, and kept herself alive.

When she was 56, she enrolled in a housekeeping school where she learned all about institutional housekeeping.

A year later she was hired as assistant housekeeper in a small hospital in Baltimore. Within three months she was made executive housekeeper in the same hospital.

When I told my embittered woman the story of Mrs. R. L., her eyes widened.

"I wouldn't mind running a hospital," she answered thoughtfully, "but I certainly wouldn't want to be bothered doing the dirty work."

If you are living in the past—whether remembering past wealth, or past beauty, or past happiness—better stop it right now and concentrate on the present.

It's all you've really got—and it can make the future better than the past.

Couple Takes Limelight Away From Bridal Party

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me: "I would like your opinion on the following incident: At a recent wedding reception, it so happened that two of the guests present were observing their 13th wedding anniversary on this same day."

"The daughter of the anniversary couple (all are relatives of the bride) took it upon herself to ask the orchestra leader to announce this fact and also to play the Anniversary Waltz in their honor."

"After hearing the announcement, their friends gathered around them to congratulate them. All this was done without asking permission of the bride or bridegroom."

"I and many others, believe that this was in very bad taste, and rude to the wedding couple as it drew attention away from them. Your comments will be appreciated."

Answer: I thoroughly agree with your disapproval of their thoughtlessness.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are planning to entertain six couples at a dinner party in a private room of one of our local hotels.

We would like to know what per cent of the bill is supposed to be left for a tip. We do not do this sort of thing often and are wondering if the usual 10 per cent is still customary?

Answer: The adequate 10 per cent of yesterday is today from 12 to 15 per cent.

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it is permissible to sip tea, or coffee, from a spoon if it is too hot to drink from the cup. I like my tea hot and so sip it from the spoon until it is cool enough to drink from the cup.

I was told that this is very bad manners and shows lack of breeding. What is your opinion?

One of Best Gifts for Christmas Is a Typewriter

One of the finest gifts you can give, for the person who goes to business, the student, or budget-pinched housewives, is a modern portable typewriter.

As a suitable gift for a student, of course, the typewriter ranks near the top. In addition to offering homework convenience, it tends to improve his school marks.

A controlled experiment by experts has produced some definite conclusions. Schoolroom classes were divided into two sections—half using pen and pencil and the other half using typewriters. Those who typed their work did much better than normal in several fields of study. They also showed more interest and developed stronger neatness traits.

But the typewriter's many gift advantages are not just confined to students. They're ideal for all the family.

Slighted Girl Needs Independent Spirit

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Are people always letting you down? Forgetting to include you when something special comes along? Disappointing you by breaking dates at the last minute, upsetting your plans, leaving you in the lurch?

It can get you down, if you'll let it. But you can bounce back too, if you just will. You can try to understand how it all happened, forgive reasonably, and rapidly make other plans for yourself.

Only the girl who's the helpless, dependent, nina-ya type will consider herself permanently blighted. Which is my tip to this girl, and others like her, who find themselves getting the go-by more often than they like.

"Dear Miss Woodward: How can I keep my friends loyal, to an extent, to me? Just this past week one of my best (at least I thought she was a best) friends gave a party and invited all the kids we hang around with except me.

"They talked about it all week but I was left out altogether. Then tonight I was supposed to go to a neighborhood party with another girl, but when I phoned, her mother said she'd gone already with a boy she claims she doesn't like.

"She had left without even phoning me. That's my trouble all the time. I'm a bosom pal until something special comes along then I'm pushed into the background."

"I date as much as most girls. I have fun in school and with my church group. Then something happens to make me feel left out."

"I tried having the kids over for the evening—but nothing seems to work. Is it my choice of friends—or is there something wrong with me? I don't know how to act more friendly than I do now!"

One disappointment after another is enough to make you think that there's something wrong with you. The failure is yours, you're sure. You can't quite make yourself necessary to the people you consider your best friends.

But I suspect the trouble rests in the fact that your best friends are too important and necessary to you! When you consider someone a best friend, it's because you like her a lot, you make her affairs your affairs, she belongs to you.

It's being very possessive. And it's putting yourself in a spot where you're let down consistently. Liking her gives you rights, you feel. Rights to be included every time. Rights to be shown consideration. It's because you count on her more than you should that you're let down. It's because you give of yourself so generously that you feel short-changed.

The remedy is to be more independent. To be less at your friends' mercy for your happiness and fun. To be complete unto yourself. Giving your friendship with no thought of returns. But not caring so deeply that you can be hurt and disappointed.

Consider Pattern

If you're redecorating and you have moppets, consider patterned wallpaper instead of plain or paint. You'll find that those dear infant handprints disappear into a pattern, whereas they are undecorative as a solo design.

IF short neck, large bust—

Heaps of jewelry add to the top-heavy look. Better gift her with huge cuff links, or fairly large bag.

Mrs. L. B.—This figure type is best without a necklace. Direct the eye lower on the figure with the new cuff links of colored stones placed on the sleeves of suits and dresses.

Jewish 'Feast of Lights' Described to Club Women

Mrs. Percy Latimer opened her home on Dwight avenue Monday afternoon to 30 members of the Women's Literary Club. Mrs. Robert McNeil was co-hostess.

During the business meeting the group made donations for Christmas gifts which will be presented to women at the Oakland County Infirmary.

Mrs. J. Harry Baker, president.

Look Good on Holiday With Effort

Trim Yourself Up and Greet Guests in Real Style

When the holidays roll around, you can expect friends to drop in for visits and you yourself will probably be doing some Christmas calling. Naturally, you will want to look your very best . . . so why not trim yourself for Christmas?

You can begin with a permanent. Set the date for your permanent with your beauty shop, or with a friend who helps you, early enough so your hair will look its prettiest for the holidays.

Foster the shine of your halo. If your hair is dry, fuzzy, unmanageable, groom and tame it with a cream treatment or cream rinse after each shampoo and brush it daily with a clean hairbrush.

Guard your skin against the nip of north winds. Keep it well oiled; use rich cream nightly. Coat your lips at bedtime with a softening pomade, to keep them soft and to correct chapping. In bitter weather, slick pomade over your lipstick, and do avoid the roughening habit of licking lips.

Smooth your hands oftener with your favorite cream or lotion—before going out in the cold, after every dunking and at bedtime.

Decorate your eyes with green mascara, light-green shadow. If you've never used this Christmas shade, now is the time to experiment with it.

Don a protective creamy powder base to shelter your skin from the attack of wintry air. Blend a touch of swivel-stick make-up under your eyes when you want to cover any shadow left by midnight caroling or Santa Claus.

Paint your lips to match the holly berries pinned on your shoulders. And relax in a pine-scented bath. Soap, bath salts, and such will put you in the spirit of the evergreen season.

led a discussion concerning a donation which will be made to benefit Girls' Town. This project is being participated in by clubs which belong to the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Frank M. Arnold and Mrs. Fred Bohman were welcomed by the group as new members.

Mrs. Latimer introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Sanford Saperstein, who spoke to the club on the Jewish "Feast of Lights," Chanukah. During her talk Mrs. Saperstein described the kindling of colorful candles which are held by the Menorah or candelabrum.

Families also enjoy singing, games and the exchange of gifts during the eight-day period from Dec. 9 until Dec. 26. The homes are decorated with streamers holding symbols of the Jewish faith.

Elaborating on the lighting of the candles, Mrs. Saperstein explained that the first evening of the observance the father in each household lights the service candle which is held by the Menorah above eight smaller candles.

On the second evening the father lights two of the eight smaller candles, on the third evening he lights three candles and continues this pattern until the eighth night when all of the brightly colored candles are glowing.

Mrs. Saperstein displayed the candle arrangement for the club and also played a record which illustrated the blessing which is chanted by the fathers and their children.

The speaker concluded her talk by saying that the children are reminded of the glories of the past and promises of the future on the eighth night, as they look upon the lighted candles.

Tea was served to the club by Mrs. Martha Braid, chairman, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Slaybaugh. Mrs. Charles Rhodes and Mrs. John P. Wilson presided at the tea table.

Children's Party Slated Dec. 18

A Christmas party for children is being planned by members of Cook-Nelson unit 20 American Legion auxiliary, Dec. 18 from 2 to 4 p. m. is the time for the party. Movies, refreshments and a visit from Santa Claus will be among the activities.

Mrs. Charles Foote gave the 18th district report at the Monday evening meeting of the group held in American Legion Home. Mrs. George Danick, 18th district president will visit the group on Feb. 7. The group has cancelled its Dec. 20 meeting and will meet on Jan. 3.

MARY ANN SHEETS

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Edmund Guzman are Mrs. Mae Sheets of Judson street, and J. U. Sheets of Plymouth. He is the son of the Joseph Guzmans of Osceola drive. A May wedding is planned.

Has Lived Through Ages

Silver Is Precious Gift

Oriental kings first brought gifts on Christmas day, and ever since this day has been marked for precious gifts . . . not necessarily gold . . . but certainly precious silver.

This year many a woman's heart will be brighter, happier, more excited than ever before because she has received the sterling of her choice . . . or perhaps a whole set of sterling flatware in any of a variety of charming patterns . . . or perhaps a lovely piece of sterling holloware, so important to serving friends at tea or after-dinner coffee. Whatever the choice, no other gift will gleam so bright . . . no other ornament seem so fair.

Because certain patterns are so free form in appearance, they blend beautifully with everything that is truly Christmas . . . the gleaming candles . . . the flashing tinsel . . . the evergreen and holly . . . the roaring hearth . . . the atmosphere of home.

It is also a pleasure to recall how truly modern in feeling so many of the early colonial silver services can be. Even if home is the most ultra-modern bubble-roofed solarium on earth, nothing could blend in with more simplicity and grace than a "Pointed Antique" tea or coffee service.

For the new feeling in every home from the Cape Cod salt box to the more extreme of the modern is the aura of friendship and "at home" entertaining which demands the service of sterling holloware.

Annual Yule Concert Set December 19

Pontiac Women's Chorus and MacDowell Male Chorus will join the Pontiac High School Vocal Department on Dec. 19 for the annual Community Christmas concert.

The high school gymnasium will be the setting for the 3 p.m. event. Combined chorus members will renew the tradition of singing the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah". Selections from Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" will also highlight the program. Former vocal department members will join the massed chorus for the last number.

Betty Whitson Hostess to Club

Betty Whitson was hostess in her Harper street home for a recent meeting of TBI Women's Club.

Members made tray favors for Pontiac General Hospital to be used on Christmas Day. The group will also send gifts to the children at the hospital. These gifts were collected at the meeting.

Typical of many local groups which have answered the request of soldiers for clothing to be presented to the people of Korea is Jimmy Dey Auxiliary, Post 12. Packing clothing as one of the auxiliary's projects are (left to right) Mrs. Wesley Newman and Mrs. Bennie Mirkin, both of Oakshire avenue, Mrs. Fred Olson of Camley drive and Mrs. Keith Bigger of Old Orchard drive.

Donna Temporalis Weds George Links Saturday

Donna Joyce Temporalis and George Links spoke their marriage vows Saturday evening in Silvercrest Baptist Church. She is the daughter of the Andrew Temporalis of Hartung court, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Links of East Pike Street.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a lace bodice and a bouffant skirt with insets of lace matching the bodice. The skirt ended in a cathedral length train.

Her fingertip veil was held by a matching queen's crown of lace studded with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a crescent bouquet of stephanotis, white roses and shattered carnations.

Betty Nordgren of Port Huron was maid of honor. The bride's other attendants were Eunice Hastings, Carole Robins and Elsie LaRue of Davisburg.

Marlin Gilson of Guthrie Center, Iowa, was best man, and seating the guests were Dallas Deaton of Indianapolis, Ind., Nathan Links of Indianapolis, and Jerry Austerman.

Yule Program Held by BPW

Christmas movies presented by Jane Danton and a Christmas story given by Kay McPherson formed the entertainment which was enjoyed by members of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club when they gathered Monday evening at Hotel Waldron.

Invitations were read for the district meeting to be held Jan. 23 at Devon Gables and the Christmas program to be given Dec. 14 by the Tuesday Musicales in Central Methodist Church.

The refreshment table was decorated in a Christmas motif with Vera Bassett, Miss Danton, Fritz Stoddard and Josephine Seeley serving as hostesses for the holiday party.

PTA Activities

Emerson PTA will meet at the school 2 p.m. Wednesday. Program will be presented by the children.

Eastern PTA will meet Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Theda Bara Heads Cast at Playhouse

Silent Film Will Be
Will-O-Way

Theda Bara, the woman who introduced the word "vamp" to the English language, is the star of "A Fool There Was," next attraction to be shown at the film festival series currently being shown at Will-O-Way Playhouse in Bloomfield Hills.

It will be shown one night only, Friday December 10 at 8:40 p.m. Reservations are available by telephoning the box-office.

The special attraction, arranged for showing through the courtesy of the New York Museum of Modern Art Film Library, was the first picture to introduce Theda Bara to the screen.

With this picture Theda Bara became famous overnight. As a result, she became the object of a publicity campaign that reached every movie-goer in America.

She became known as "The Vamp," "Queen of the Silent Screen," and "The Woman Who Made the Tiger-Skin More Than a Throw-Rug."

Following the release of "A Fool There Was," Theda Bara vamped her way through some forty pictures produced by the Fox studios, and in three years, established a box-office name that was a boon to exhibitors and an unending source of worry to the censors.

Dr. Leo Kirschbaum, Professor of English at Wayne University, Detroit, and an avid film enthusiast, will introduce the attraction with comments regarding both "A Fool There Was" and Theda Bara's fabulous motion picture career.

Also to be presented on the film program is a Technicolor short subject titled "Totems," an interesting and unusual off-beat pictorialization of Indian handwork filmed high in the Northwest section of British Columbia, Canada.

From Jack Horwitz Holiday collection comes this costume. The full length coat is of red velvet with side slits, a small mandarin collar and buttons down the front with large round bone buttons. The pink lining matches the pink camisole-top dress underneath.

NCCW Schedules Meeting

Mrs. Thomas L. Carry, president of League of Catholic Women announces that the Northwestern Deanery of Northwest Council of Catholic Women will meet Thursday at 1 p.m. in the South Saginaw street League Building.

Chairmen of the event are Mrs. Arthur Crawford and Mrs. Dan Call who will be assisted by Mrs. Delmo Chapdelaine, Mrs. Frank Zwicker and Mrs. James Pendergast.

Ladies Guild Has Christmas Party

Members of the Ladies Guild of Grace Lutheran Church gathered Thursday at the church for a meeting and Christmas party. Contributions were donated by members to the Bay City Lutheran Children's Friend Society.

Mrs. Otto Mielke, treasurer, reported on a recent bazaar and dinner held at the church.

A dessert luncheon was served from a table decorated festively with evergreens and candles. An exchange of Christmas gifts followed. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Martin Rummel, Mrs. Ruth Parshall, Mrs. Alvin Wines and Mrs. Ralph Flickinger.

Mules Can Change

Could not be more exotic: a pair of mules grown enormous with black fox over the tops. They don't flop like the mules of old, but flutter and whisper. These over-furred items make small ankles tiny, not-so-small ones smaller.

Try Draped Chiffon

Softness is femininity, let no tailored suit fan argue with that. The softest thing this side of a kitten is chiffon draped like the richest of jerseys. With a shirred top or a Grecian waist, it flows in folds like no other fabric.

Coming Events

Could Pearl Harbor Happen Again? Question Draws Yes, No Answers

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 7 (AP)—This is the 13th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Could it happen again?

This question drew a yes and no answer as the anniversary was observed by a simple wreath-laying ceremony on the platform built on the rusting hulk of the battleship Arizona, tomb for 1,174 sailors trapped when it overturned during Japan's surprise attack in 1941.

Consensus of high-ranking Army, Navy and Air Force officers could be summed up as follows:

No matter how much money is spent or how elaborate a defense is devised, military men will not guarantee absolute success in stopping a surprise assault.

Chances of success of a carrier force, such as Japan used in 1941 are, as one admiral put it, "absolutely zero." But, military planners say, a single plane or submarine using nuclear weapons might succeed.

Importance of Pearl Harbor and Hickam Field—main targets of the Japanese attack—remains the same but military men say in war they would be secondary or third-rate targets.

In other words, the enemy would not expend the element of surprise solely on Pearl Harbor. It more than likely would be used as a diversion with the main effort directed at some juicy industrial area on the mainland.

Does Hawaii have the manpower to stop an attack?

One high-ranking Air Force officer says:

"We have below minimum requirements. But the threat (to Hawaii) is below standard."

Actually Hawaii's greatest defense is the huge mass of water between the islands and a potential enemy and the screen of outposts extending from Alaska down through the Aleutians, Japan, Okinawa, Formosa, the Philippines and Southeast Asia.

Electronic detection gear, submarines, patrol ships and planes keep a constant vigil for any warlike moves toward the United States. Although this giant defense arc serves well against any major moves it has gaping holes for any sneak punch.

The Navy and Marines have relatively few jet fighters in Hawaii. The Air Force depends on a National Guard jet squadron in an emergency. Pearl Harbor is home port for some warships, and transient warships, including carriers, pass through here frequently. All would be available in an emergency.

What about air replacements? An Air Force officer frankly admits it would take at least 72 hours before the first replacement plane from the mainland could be on its way.

Military men are hopeful intelligence will give at least a 72-hour warning if and when the cold war turns hot. If it doesn't, what lesson did the military learn from the Dec. 7 chaos of 13 years ago? The answer to this, military planners in Hawaii say, is summed up in three words: unity of command.

In Hawaii, this is the Hawaiian Defense Command.

HDC is an emergency organization made up of components from existing Army, Navy and Air Force units and the civil defense organization. Its job is to defend Hawaii and see that everyone "gets the word."

If an aggressor does strike, HDC is geared to handle the post-disaster situation. It also is the organization responsible in civil disasters and operates an effective tidal wave warning system.

Adlai Restores Unity to Shattered Dem Party

AFTER 40 YEARS—James Wilson, center, looks down as his wife pins on the lapel emblem signifying his 40 years as a member of the International Typographical Union, trade brotherhood of printers. He was presented the award at last night's banquet of Pontiac Local 512 by Norman Andress, left, president of the local union which includes Pontiac Press employees. Wilson, who began his apprenticeship with the ITU on the old Kansas City Star in 1909, joined the Press in 1936. He is now a proofreader, and one of nine Press mechanical department staffers to wear the coveted 40-year pin.

Completes Job Without Rifts

Defeated '52 Candidate as Popular in South as in North

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson and his lieutenants have completed one of the most subtle and successful campaigns of recent political history with the election of Paul M. Butler of Indiana as Democratic national chairman.

The choice of Butler is in reality the climax of a two-year drive by Stevenson to overhaul the party machinery, heal old wounds, wipe out a campaign deficit of some $800,000 and restore the unity which was shattered in the election of 1952.

In this period, the party's center of gravity has shifted from former President Harry S. Truman to Stevenson, who is now by all odds the party's strong man. And perhaps it was planned that way by Stevenson.

But the important thing politically is that Stevenson has achieved his goals with no loss of political favor for any faction in the party. He has healed old wounds to be cleaned up later. His popularity appears to be high in the South as well as in the North. After his defeat two years ago by President Eisenhower, Stevenson set out on his course.

Through Stevenson's influence, his old friend Stephen Mitchell had been named Democratic national chairman. Mitchell was little known on the national political scene, but he worked hard to win friends and influence people. And politicians generally agree he did a good job for his party and for Stevenson.

Stevenson paid court to the Southland. He soothed the Southerners, whose pride had been hurt in the fight over the "loyalty oath" in the 1952 national convention. He made friends for himself in Dixie where feeling had run so high against Harry Truman.

And yet while wooing the South, he didn't snub Truman. He often conferred with him and managed to keep his support.

Ragan-Lide American Legion Auxiliary of Detroit. The presentation took place at the Pentagon in Washington where former governor of Michigan Brucker is general counsel for the Defense Department.

County Road Commission Ready for Winter Activity

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

It's that time of the year again when the Oakland County Road Commission sends men and equipment forth to plow, sand and salt roads in the annual effort to keep area drivers moving freely between destinations.

The job would be easier and less expensive if more of the county's gravel "and just plain dirt" roads were paved or blacktopped, according to Oscar Loomis, road superintendent.

Every time it thaws dirt roads break up at least partially, Loomis explained. The next freeze leaves them with ridges sticking up, which are hard on plowing equipment plus slowing down the road clearing process.

On pavement or blacktop we don't run into that problem," he stated. Spring thaws put a mud surface on the over 1,800 miles of township and subdivision roads. Although the road commission does not run a wrecker service, many times it must pull out mud-bound vehicles to clear roads.

This year the road commission has about 90 snowplows ready if needed, including 16 trucks equipped with plow blades and 25 road graders which can be used to clear snow up to four to six inches deep.

Some 80 trucks are on hand to sand and salt county routes plus state trunk lines maintained by the county.

About 3,000 tons of snow-and-ice melting salt is stored and ready plus 2,000 cubic yards of sand. Crews were out yesterday afternoon salting slippery spots, said Loomis.

Salt is more effective at temperatures down to 30 degrees, Loomis explained. "Below that snow melted by salt tends to freeze over again and sand is necessary."

Some 240 men are available to man the equipment, he added.

"We now have a lot more horsepower available," Loomis stated. Graders are now equipped with 100 to 130 horsepower motors, compared with 50-horsepower plants in the past. They move at speeds up to 22 miles per hour, contracted with the former 12-mile limit. Trucks are also more powerful and speedier, Loomis said.

Yards with equipment and materials are located in Pontiac, Highland, Davisburg, Lake Orion and Walled Lake.

Gains from use of more and better equipment are partly nullified by need to maintain the extra 40 miles of dirt roads added to the system each year by construction of new subdivisions.

Believe Hessian Soldiers Introduced Yule Tree to U.S. During Revolution

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Christmas tree the average householder picks out to brighten the 1954 yule season is likely to be a balsam fir somewhat more than six feet tall.

A pre-holiday survey showed today that the reason for such a choice is simple. Trees of that species and size are more numerous on the market than any other kind and, besides, the balsam fir is one of the most attractive of the evergreens.

U. S. Forest Service officials backed away from making any forecast on what the retail price situation will be this year.

But as in past years, they expect Americans to buy upwards of 30 million trees, including substantial imports from Canada. Estimates through last season indicate that about eight families out of every 10 buy and decorate a tree of some description.

Production and marketing of the crop has become such big business that the Department of Agriculture and nearly a score of state governments have issued special literature on the subject.

Paradoxically, the federal publication credits Hessian soldiers hired by the British to fight against the Colonials in the American Revolution with introducing Christmas trees to these shores.

General acceptance of the custom is summed up by authors of the pamphlet in this simple fashion: "The Christmas tree is a symbol of a living Christmas spirit and brings into our lives a pleasant aroma redolent of the forest."

The experts are somewhat doubtful about how the custom of decorating trees originated. They think tufts of cotton and strings of popcorn may have been used in the beginning to represent around the table as if it were a general habit for them. In the picture are Mary, 8; Steven, 12; Mr. and Mrs. Ritter, David, 4; and Helen, 14.

What Religion Means to Our Family

Ritters Believe Divorce, Delinquency Defeated by Faith

By LULA B. OGDEN

"God has been very good to us and we try to express our gratitude by giving our time, talents and gifts, as best we can, to the church," the parents said.

The family of Ray Ritter, consisting of himself, Mrs. Ritter, Marilyn, Steven, Mary and David have lived at 74 Hamilton for the past eight years.

Shortly after moving there the parents transferred their membership from the Wilson Avenue Methodist Church to the Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church, and immediately started working in the church as had been their habit.

Born in Yale, the father came to Pontiac with his parents when he was two years old, growing up a member in the Wilson Avenue Church. Mrs. Ritter was born here and belonged to the First Baptist Church.

Superintendent of the Church Sunday school, Mr. Ritter held that position when in his home church. The mother teaches a Nursery class. Helen joined the church in 1951.

Amateur photography and their parakeet are among the hobbies of the family.

"We believe that religion is a family affair. It has been said that 'A family that prays together stays together.' We believe divorce and delinquency are no problem when religion is nurtured in the home.

"Our religion provides a sense of inner strength, and lends unity and direction to our family life. We believe that it is important to attend church and Sunday School as a family. A child's faith is not apt to root in religion if parents fail to set the good example."

"To us, religion means a way of life filled with peace and happiness," they said.

Pleads Not Guilty to Negligent Homicide

David G. Bratton, 19, of 5434 Savoy, Waterford Township, pleaded not guilty yesterday when arraigned on a negligent homicide charge in connection with the Nov. 8 auto death of a Pontiac motorist.

Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Leary, who arraigned Bratton, set examination for Dec. 16, and ordered the Waterford youth to jail when he failed to produce a $300 bond.

A warrant issued Nov. 30 against Bratton, charges him with negligence in the death of George R. Hensley, 52, of 100 Marquette St.

At the time of the accident Bratton told police that his brakes failed when a truck made a right turn in front of him, and swerved into the path of Hensley's auto on Elizabeth Lake road, one mile west of Pontiac.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Six members of the extremist Moslem Brotherhood were hanged in Cairo's military prison today for plotting to assassinate Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and overthrow his government.

Disregarding pleas for clemency from other Moslem countries, Egypt's governing Revolutionary Council carried out the executions ordered by a military court, which convicted the men Saturday.

3 Burros Move Again With New Freight Tags

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Railway Express Agency attached new shipping tags to three little Mexican burros and sent them on their way. The animals ate their original tags before they arrived in Cleveland Union Terminal Sunday night.

The express agency, which says this happens every Christmas season, telegraphed the shipper in Laredo, Tex. He replied that one burro was bound for North Jackson, Ohio; one for Oyster Bay, N. Y.; and one for Lexington, Ky.

Educator Says Colleges Becoming Flophouses

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A leading educator says U.S. universities are becoming "high class flophouses" where parents send their children to keep them off the labor market and out of their own hair.

Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, former chancellor of the University of Chicago and now president of the Ford-subsidized Fund for the Republic, told a press conference yesterday that college enrollments will double in the next 15 or 20 years.

Firemen Gain Job Security

Waterford Department Wins Trial Board Right on Employee Dismissals

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Waterford Township Fire Department's paid employees will be included with the police department under the new trial board ordinance recently established.

The firemen requested the trial board coverage and rights in a letter to the township board, which approved the move last night.

The trial board was set up following the controversial firing and re-hiring by the township board of Waterford Police Chief Frank Van Atta in August.

In other action, the township's consulting engineers were directed to determine the needs of the township for a garage and storage unit, to be located at the township hall.

The board also gave temporary approval to the plan for the Woodland subdivision, at Crocus and Gertrude Rds.

AT HOSPITAL CONFAB—Reviewing facts and figures on hospital expansion needs in Oakland County at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Monday night are Dr. Felix J. Kemp, St. Joseph chief of staff; Sister Mary William, hospital administrator; Elmer R. Pettengill, Pontiac Motor Division executive, and R. C. Cummings, president of the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Assn. At the meeting, attended by 20 representatives of industry, business and the hospital, an executive committee was named to select a chairman to head the hospital's proposed $4,000,000 public subscription drive aimed at furnishing an additional 200 beds. The executive committee is also to study possibility of employing a professional fund-raising organization.

Freedom, Discipline, Go Hand in Hand, Waterford Parent Study Group Learns

By JANE WINDELER

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — "Self-discipline, Responsibility and Freedom" was the topic presented last night to members of a program planning committee participating in the adult education course on "Parenthood in a Free Nation."

Lay leaders Mrs. Francis Davis, Mrs. Lyle Crowley and Mrs. Lester Carlson directed discussion at the meeting, held at Covert School.

This is the fifth part of the program which is being sponsored by the University of Chicago, under the direction of Ethel Kavin, as an experiment in connection with Waterford Township schools.

Using the study guide, the group found that "Discipline in its true meaning implies a voluntary following of rules or principles . . . All good discipline eventually becomes self-discipline."

"Training a responsible person—that is, one who is trustworthy and can be depended upon—begins at a very early age and is interrelated with self-discipline.

"True freedom means knowing how, and opportunity to use this knowledge effectively. It is not merely freedom from, but is also freedom for something," the group was told.

Marion's Shop at Romeo Sold to W. T. Creed

ROMEO — A change in ownership and name of Marion's Card and Gift shop is now final, with the purchase of the store by Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas Creed of Normal, Ill.

The shop will be known as the Creed Department Store. The new owners plan to expand existing lines, and add additional household furnishings, dry goods and women's and children's clothing. Creed was employed as comptroller with the Eureka Williams Corp. of Bloomington, Ill., prior to his investment in the Romeo concern. Purchase of the store was made from Walter Tesner, who plans to devote full time to his insurance business in Mt. Clemens.

Sacred Heart Women to Plan 2 Yule Parties

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Election of officers will be held at the 8 p.m. meeting of the Sacred Heart Church Altar Society Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Donald Markus, 880 Nichols Dr.

The group will make plans for the church's annual children's Christmas party, and also a Christmas party for the adult members.

Area Choirs to Join in Handel Concert

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — High School glee clubs and choirs from Waterford, Southfield and Farmington townships, as well as from Berkley and seven local churches will be represented when a massed choir of 600 voices presents Handel's "Messiah" here Thursday.

The concert will be given at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Southfield High School, under the direction of Donald Blodale, vocal music director of Southfield High.

Guest soloists for the oratorio will be Ethel Green, soprano; Robert Allen Roach, tenor; Evelyn DeCourville, alto; and Alexander McDonald, bass. Organist will be Lode Vandessel.

An organ brought in for the occasion will be purchased by the students if proceeds from the concert and an annual Christmas festival are sufficient. Tickets will be obtainable at the door.

Scientists say a good diet included 11 parts carbohydrates, 2 parts protein and 3 parts fat.

County Groups Planning Many Christmas Parties

Christmas parties, gift exchanges, carolling and yuletide festivities are on the schedules of almost every home extension group, service club, and community organizations all over the county.

Here are some of the forthcoming events of the holiday season: The Drayton Plains Home Extension group will meet at the home of Mrs. Maurice Young on Seebault street for its annual Christmas dinner at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Louis Dorman, Sr., home will be the site for a Christmas party, potluck and exchange of gifts of the Waterford MOMS unit 36 at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Waterford Goodwill group will gather at the residence of Mrs. Henry Mehlberg on Monroe street for a 1 p.m. luncheon, with gifts to be presented. Gifts will also be brought for children at the Oakland County Juvenile Home.

The Imity City Methodist Church WSCS will meet Wednesday in the Fellowship room of the church for an exchange of gifts also.

The New Hudson Methodist Church WSCS is holding its annual party and luncheon at the Church at 1 p.m. Thursday. They will see a film entitled "Things Belonging Unto Peace."

Mrs. Emma Foe will host the Leonard Women's Club for its holiday festive meeting, with a potluck dinner at 1 p.m. Thursday. Gayly wrapped presents will be distributed.

TODAY'S FOREIGN ASSIGNMENT FOR

JUNIOR EDITORS

A TRIP ABROAD—THE COUNTRY

Junior Editors are on a foreign assignment. Yesterday we made the ship that traveled across the Atlantic Ocean. Today's picture is a jig-saw puzzle of the country which is the setting for this week's columns.

This is one of the oldest countries in Europe. Its history is rich in art, literature and music. The country is bounded on almost all sides by mountains and the seas. The English Channel is in the north, the Atlantic Ocean to the west and the Mediterranean Sea to the south. The high Alps separate it from Italy and Switzerland, and the rugged Pyrenees Mountains form the border between it and Spain. The highlands bordering on Germany slope gradually into an almost flat plain through which runs the border of Belgium.

As you've probably guessed, this country is France. To make a small map of the country follow these instructions:

1. Mount today's picture smoothly on cereal box cardboard with white library paste. Cut out the five sections of the puzzle. Fit these together, using the heavy black lines of the outside edge as a guide.

2. Study the drawings in the little circles on the map. These show some points of interest in France. In the upper part is a drawing of the Eiffel Tower, a landmark of Paris, the national capital. On the Atlantic coast is a ship, located in the region of the great seaports. Southern France is the center of vast grape vineyards, and large herds of goats and sheep roam the hills of southwestern France, toward the Alps. Many of the famous French cheeses are produced here.

3. You can color the parts of your puzzle map if you wish. Make the five sections of the country different colors, the seas dark blue, and the land of the surrounding countries brown.

Sees Reduction in Excise Tax

Dingell Says Congress
Will Let Special War
Levy Expire April 1

WASHINGTON (INS) — A key House Democrat predicted today that the next Congress will save the American taxpayer more than one billion dollars in excise taxes after April 1.

Rep. John Dingell (D-Mich) declared the Democratic-controlled 84th Congress will accomplish the cise levies expire on the April 1 reduction by merely letting the ex-deadline.

Dingell, a veteran member of the tax-drafting House Ways and Means Committee, expressed confidence his group will not vote to extend the excise tax increases enacted in 1950 to help finance the Korean War.

The tax increases were scheduled to expire last April 1, but were continued for another year at the request of President Eisenhower. They will terminate automatically this April 1 unless Congress specifically extends them.

There have been reports that the President will seek another extension, but Dingell expressed doubt that the administration could even get all the Republicans on his committee to support such a request.

Expiration of the Korean War excise levies on April 1 would result in the following tax reductions:

Gasoline, from 2 per cent to 1½ per cent per gallon; passenger automobiles and motorcycles, from 10 per cent to 7 per cent of the manufacturer's sales price; trucks, buses, trailers and automobile accessories, from 8 per cent to 5 per cent; whisky, from $10.50 a proof gallon of alcohol to $9; beer, from $9 to $8 a barrel; wine, a reduction varying according to the alcoholic content of the product; cigarettes, from 8 cents to 7 cents a pack; sporting goods, from 15 per cent to 10 per cent of the manufacturer's sales price; and diesel fuel used for highway vehicles, from 2 cents to 1½ cents per gallon.

Pet skunks have been found to be effective mousers.

Accused Slayer
Pleads Innocent

Charles M. Himes, 40, of 2861 Grayson, Ferndale, Monday pleaded innocent to second degree murder before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty and was returned to Oakland County Jail.

He is accused of shooting Benjamin Graham, 45, of 2832 Goodrich, Ferndale, following a fight at Himes home Nov. 19.

Ferndale police said the argument followed a drinking bout. They said Himes previously shot his brother-in-law, John O. Kilgour of Riverside, in March, 1952, and was found not guilty of a manslaughter charge by a circuit court jury on Oct. 16 of that year.

Himes today told Judge Doty he would plead self defense as in the previous case. Trial will be held in the present court term. Bond is $10,000.

Well-Known Beverly Hills Resident One Very Amusing Hypochondriac

By EDDIE CANTOR

I have met hypochondriacs in my life, but the most amusing one is a well-known star who lives in Beverly Hills. For as long as I can remember, this bird has been taking pills. Doctors can't operate on him—he is so full of pills he keeps rolling off the table. Some of his bottles of medicine have no labels on them, but he says it doesn't matter. Whatever they cure—he's got it!

His is the only house on the block with a sign that reads "Hospital Zone—Drive Quietly." I am sure he, himself, does not believe all the things he tells—like when he was born he was so weak the stork dropped him off at the YMCA so he could build himself up before meeting his parents.

And when he was seen entering a dermatologist's office he said he has been having his skin treated since his birth. As a matter of fact, as a baby his skin was so tender they couldn't wrap him in ordinary blankets. You know what they used? The fuzz from peaches.

Some people see spots before their eyes. This guy sees man-hole covers. I'm sure when he dies they won't bury him, they'll just put him back in the drugstore.

Since he learned about psychiatrists, he's hardly been on his feet. You've heard of actors between pictures—he's between couches. All of this has cost him quite a fortune. His family takes it good-naturedly because they know that long ago he set up a trust fund for his wife and five daughters.

Too Few Teachers, Classrooms in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bumper crop of "war babies" is growing up, but there still aren't enough qualified teachers or classrooms to meet their needs.

That's the nub of two reports which came out yesterday, one by the National Education Assn. and the other by the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools. The NEA, a national professional organization of educators, reported that about 700,000 youngsters are attending school on a part-time basis and that many thousands of others are taught in overcrowded classrooms.

The educators' organization said the Census Bureau estimated in October a year ago that 4,599,000 children between 5 and 17 were not attending school at all.

Eden Hits Reds for Jailing PWs

Raps Chinese Action as Direct Violation of Korean Truce

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today accused the Red Chinese of "direct violation" of the Korean armistice in jailing the 11 Korean airmen they have charged with "espionage."

Eden said he was speaking on behalf of "the government and all civilized nations." "We deplore this (Red China's) conduct," the foreign secretary said.

Eden's views on the highly explosive case of the imprisoned Americans were given before the House of Commons in reply to Socialist John Baird who asked why instructions were given to British United Nations representatives to "condemn the Chinese People's government because they have punished United States spies."

Eden snapped back that he refused to accept the reference to "United States spies." "Those men were airmen in uniform... and as such should have been repatriated at the conclusion of hostilities." "The Chinese action is a direct violation of the Korean armistice agreement."

Bob Hope's TV Show to Have Foreign Flavor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Tonight Bob Hope's TV show takes on an international flavor that you'll be seeing more of in future shows.

Hope will present an hour show which he made recently in London. Among his attractions: Maurice Chevalier, Beatrice Lillie, French ballerina Liane Daye and the Colonne Choir. I dropped in at Hope's Toluca Lake mansion and heard him enthuse about the show.

"You gotta stay ahead of people in television," he said. "I just got back from Dallas, where I helped open a new bank. After talking to people there, I realized again how the general public is about TV entertainment. They watch everything."

Hope, who has six shows to do this season, decided early that he would try to do something different. Most of the good variety acts and guest stars have been seen over and over on TV, so a new attack was needed. When he accepted a bid for the command performance in London, he decided to work in his TV show over there.

At first union problems seemed rugged. The musicians' union has frowned on the use of foreign-made music on American TV shows. Hope called union boss James Petrillo. "Bring back anything you want, Bob," said Petrillo, "but come home soon."

"Naturally I wanted Chevalier," said Hope. "He is the greatest. I saw him do a two-hour show in Paris with nothing but a piano on the stage with him. Even in French the show was terrific. He's 66 now, but when that smile lights up his face, he looks like 34."

"I had to have Bea Lillie too. She was touring in her own show, so I had to follow her to rehearse. I went from London to Edinburgh to Bournemouth to Edinburgh and back to London." Hope feels that such a different kind of show will draw the top audience rating. He said that the rating on his last show, Oct. 12, was only 4 below the leader, I Love Lucy—"which is not bad for a lad who is on every month or so."

Gambler Facing Charge of First Degree Murder

JACKSON (UP)—Police said today they would seek a first-degree murder warrant against a man accused of shooting his companion to death in a gambling argument.

The victim, Edward Oliver, died at Foote Hospital Saturday night shortly after he was shot by Willie Johnson. Johnson told police he shot Oliver in self-defense when Oliver pulled a knife on him.

Houghton Gazette Editor Succumbs After Illness

HOUGHTON (UP)—Mervin Youngs, editor of the Houghton Mining Gazette, died late Saturday after a prolonged illness.

Youngs started out as an educator after graduating from Milwaukee State Teachers College but switched to journalism after he was offered a position with the Marquette Mining Journal. He later served as editor of the Calumet Daily News before beginning a reign of more than 50 years as editor of the Houghton paper.

Give the gift your whole family will enjoy...extension telephones

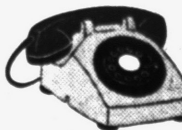

An extension in the bedroom cuts down on tiresome stair climbing. It's a blessing, too, when you're ill in bed.

An extension in your teen-ager's room lets your youngster speak in precious privacy and without disturbing other members of the family.

An extension in the den saves steps when the phone rings. Lets you make those important calls in quiet privacy.

An extension in the kitchen or laundry room makes life much easier. Saves steps and lets you keep an eye on things during phone conversations.

Whether yours is a three-extension house or a one-extension house, each extension will quickly prove its value. Besides the convenience and pleasure it brings, an extension telephone means extra protection in emergencies. And you'll be surprised how little it costs (less than 4¢ a day). Call your Business Office today to order your extensions. By the way, they make wonderful gifts for friends, too.

For a moderate additional installation charge, you may have your choice of extensions in two-tone colors (Black with Georgian Gray, French Ivory, Venetian Green, or Roman Red).

Stars and City Merchants Join Oakland Celebration

By ABBIE KUCSELA
Motion Picture Editor

CinemaScope—film's mighty baby, now one year old, was first introduced to Pontiac on the screen of the Oakland Theater, Dec. 8, 1953, via 20th Century-Fox's magnificent picture "The Robe."

Theaters and theater-goers in every important city of the world are helping to celebrate the first birthday of the revolutionary "youngster" which marked the beginning of an even greater era of progress and enjoyment than did the advent of "talkies."

Here in Pontiac much excellent entertainment has been packed into the year since the Oakland's manager, Arthur H. Sanford first announced the installation of a giant, 48-foot screen, anamorphic lens and a stereophonic sound.

turn, "New Faces," "Three Coins in the Fountain," "Ring of Fear," "The Egyptian," and "Brigadoon." This week, congratulatory telegrams and messages are pouring into the Oakland from local merchants, movie stars and other film personages.

Among them were telegrams from stars Richard Widmark, Gene Tierney, Robert Wagner, Jean Peters, Elizabeth Taylor, Michael Wilding, Ann Blyth, Esther Williams, George Murphy, Gene Kelly and 20th Century-Fox President Spyros P. Skouras.

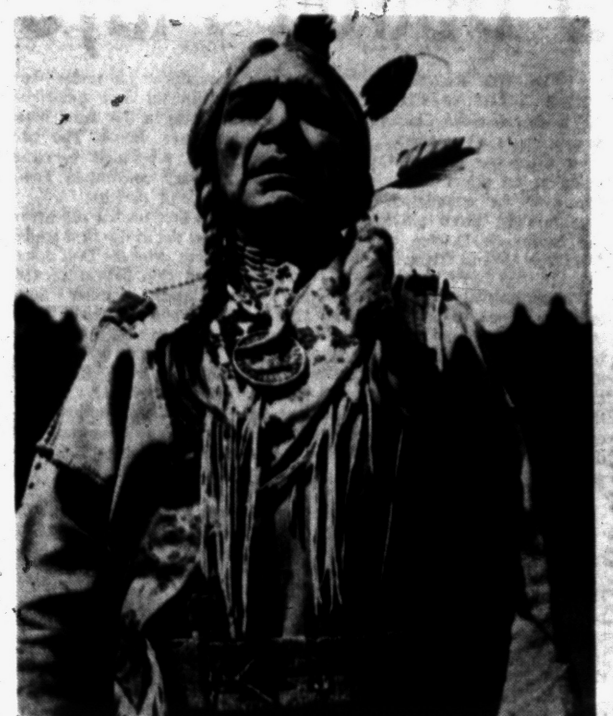

In the theater lobby is enshrined a huge, four-tier cake from a well-wishing local bakery in honor of the CinemaScope celebration. The cake will be passed on to a charitable institution for the enjoyment of its residents, Sanford said.

Pictures booked into the theater for coming holiday viewing-pleasure include "Track of the Cat," (now showing) "Adventures of Hajji Baba," "Athena," "Drum Beat," "Black Widow," "Desiree," "Sitting Bull," "Sign of the Pagan," and "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea."

"THE ADVENTURES OF HAJJI BABA"

John Derek and Elaine Stewart are starred in "The Adventures of Hajji Baba," scheduled to be at the Oakland Dec. 12-18, is double-billed with a different guest feature each day. To appear with "Hajji Baba" respectively are, "How to Marry a Millionaire," "Garden of Evil," "Broken Lance," and "River of No Return."

"SITTING BULL"

Released through United Artists, "Sitting Bull," starring J. Carroll Naish, Dale Robertson and Mary Murphy, is due at the Oakland on about Jan. 15. The historical film, in CinemaScope and the new Eastman color, was directed by Sidney Salkow and is a W. R. Frank presentation.

3 Detroit Players Figure in Lane's Latest Swap

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Lane, the trade-conscious Chicago White Sox general manager, today went after the Kansas City Athletics in an effort to add to the two deals he completed Monday that brought three players from the Baltimore Orioles and three from the Detroit Tigers.

Without actually naming the athletes he hoped to pry loose from the Athletics, Lane left no doubt in the listener's mind that he was after third baseman Jim Finigan and pitcher Arnie Portocarrero, the two most desirable trading commodities in Manager Lou Boudreau's assortment of cellar-dwellers.

"We're ready to trade some more," the free-trading Lane said. "Only the curfew stopped us from completing a third deal last night. We know what Boudreau wants. He's looking to get a number of players. He doesn't expect to pick up any top guy. We've got enough players now to give Boudreau the guys he needs."

Lane figured in the only two deals swung Monday as the major league convention got under way with the National and American League meeting in the same hotel but in separate rooms. The two leagues were scheduled to close out the two-day convention Tuesday with a joint meeting.

The White Sox traded off seven players to get six in the first trade. Chicago sent pitchers Don Johnson (8-7) and Don Ferrarese (18-15 at Oakland), catcher Matt Batts (235) and infielder Fred Marsh (306) to Baltimore for catcher Clint Courtney (270), pitcher Bob Chakales (5-7) and infielder Jim Bredeweser (266).

In the second transaction, Chicago acquired first baseman Walt Dropo (281), outfielder Bob Nieman (263) and southpaw Ted Gray (3-5) from the Tigers for first baseman Ferris Fain (302), utility infielder Jack Phillips (307 at Hollywood) and righthanded pitcher Lee Cristante (24-7 at Atlanta).

No cash was involved in either deal. Lane, who estimated he has traded for and traded away between 275 and 290 players in his six years as general manager of the White Sox, explained his trades this way:

"We're trying to maintain a defense and add to our offense."

"Dropo and Nieman give us righthanded punch and strengthen our bench. If Gray comes through we got another lefthanded pitcher. His arm is questionable. We're taking a gamble."

Paul Richards now has gotten rid of all but five of the old St. Louis Browns since he took the job of field and general manager of the Orioles three months ago. Monday's deal came 18 days after his gigantic deal with the Yankees that resulted in the departure of eight Orioles.

Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, owner of the Tigers, did not appear especially enthusiastic over his end of the deal with Chicago.

"I think they got the better of it," he said, "but we simply had to make a deal. Of course, if Fain comes through and shows complete recovery from his knee operation, we have made a heck of a deal."

The National League, completely overshadowed in the trade mart by the American, was expected to get into the act today with the Brooklyn Dodgers playing a leading role.

A five-player trade between Brooklyn and Cincinnati was hanging fire. The Reds have offered right fielder Wally Post, southpaw Fred Baczewski and catcher Hobie Landritth to the Dodgers for second baseman Jim (Junior) Gilliam and one of two young righthanded pitchers, Bob Milliken or Bob Darnell.

Any moment now, the Dodgers expect to sell Billy Cox to either Cleveland or Baltimore. They have obtained waivers on the veteran third baseman and the asking price is $50,000 and a player to be sent to one of their farm clubs. The Indians and Orioles both claim they were offered first crack at Cox.

Iron Dukes Open With Win

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

If Duquesne hopes to win the national basketball title this year, the club is going to have to live up to its nickname, the Iron Dukes. Coach Duddy Moore has a powerful first five at his command, but beyond the regulars, he has trouble enough to cause many a gray hair.

The Dukes, rated No. 3 in the pre-season Associated Press poll, opened their campaign Monday night with an easy 72-52 conquest of Carnegie Tech. Moore kept his star forward, Dick Ricketts, in all but four minutes of the game and he scored 34 points. His younger brother Dave, making his first start as a sophomore, had six points.

The defending Big Ten champions, Indiana, had a rough night, and bowed to Missouri 64-61. It appears that the key to beating the Hoosiers is to get rid of All-American Don Schlundt.

Schlundt had 25 points to lead both teams, but he was benched more than five minutes with four personal fouls. At the rate he was pouring the points in, the game very well might have gone the other way if he had kept out of trouble. As it was he sat out most of the last eight minutes.

While Indiana was getting its lumps, Iowa, the heir-apparent to the Big Ten throne, and rated No. 4 in the poll, opened its campaign with an 84-61 victory over Nebraska. The Hawkeyes built up a commanding lead in the second half and Coach Bucky O'Connor wound up using 15 players.

Dr. Phog Allen of Kansas sent four sophomores and a junior into action in the opener and they emerged with an 83-58 conquest of Louisiana State. It was the 30th victory in a row for Kansas.

Tennessee Tech edged Eastern Kentucky 85-80 in five overtimes. This is a rarity but has happened several times before.

Vanderbilt reached a milestone in its basketball fortunes when it topped the 100-point mark for the first time in history in downing Washington and Lee 104-88.

Wisconsin breezed to an 80-68 victory over Western Michigan, while the University of Detroit won its third straight, beating Bowling Green of Ohio 91-60. Loyola of Chicago whipped North Dakota State 90-75. Washington University of St. Louis turned back Mississippi State 66-44. Marquette crushed Creighton 96-68. Tulsa trounced Baylor 60-48 and Colorado halted Brigham Young 65-46 in other major games.

NCAA Champ, Leading Team in Last Year's AP Poll in Front Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
La Salle and the University of Kentucky rated 1-2 today as the top college basketball teams in the country in a pre-season Associated Press poll.

La Salle captured the NCAA tournament last spring, while Kentucky was ranked No. 1 in the final AP poll after that tourney was completed. Kentucky was undefeated in the 1953-54 season, and stayed out of the NCAA tourney because three of its stars were ineligible.

With 61 sports writers and broadcasters balloting, La Salle received 34 first-place votes and 17 for second to roll up 549 points. Kentucky got 13 first-place votes and 343 points based on 10 for first, 9 for second, etc.

The leading teams with first-place votes in parentheses (points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1. LaSalle (34)	549
2. Kentucky (13)	343
3. Duquesne (11)	280
4. Iowa (3)	255
5. Holy Cross (3)	210
6. Indiana (2)	208

20. Louisville, Ohio State and Tulsa also received one first-place vote each

Manny's, Poole Fives Win Cage Openers

Waterford Township recreation basketball league action began Monday night with Manny's Ring-side and Poole Lumber winning opening games.

Manny's whipped Beattie Motor Sales, 48-35, and Poole's tripped Philgas, 50-40.

Dick Mineவை banded in 25 points to pace Poole's victory. Jim Klaus was high for Philgas with 10. Dick DeWitt and Paul Atkins each had 10 points for Manny's, but Jack Taylor of Beatties took game honors with 18.

Games are played at Cray Junior High School each Monday and Wednesday night.

Writers Honor Patton

NEW YORK (UP)—Amateur golfer Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N. C., today was named winner of the gold tee award presented annually by the New York Golf Writers Association to the person who has done the most for golf during the year.

Tigers Get Fain, Two More for Dropo, Gray, Nieman

NEW YORK (AP)—The Detroit Tigers got first baseman Ferris Fain and two minor league stars from the Chicago White Sox yesterday in a six-man swap.

Detroit gave up first baseman Walt Dropo, outfielder Bob Nieman and pitcher Ted Gray in the deal. Dropo and Nieman played only part of last season and Gray, a lefthander, was bothered most of the summer with a sore arm.

Besides Fain, a two-time American League batting champion, Detroit got infielder Jack Phillips and pitcher Lee Cristante.

Australian Netter Lew Hoad's Mother Denies Cupid Is Culprit in His Slump

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP)—Lew Hoad's mother denied today that Cupid may be the culprit responsible for the Australian Davis Cup ace's slump in form.

Commenting on reports Hoad's romance with tennis player Jennifer Staley may have caused his recent poor play, Mrs. Bonnie Hoad said: "I think it is utterly ridiculous to suggest it."

"Jennifer was Lewis' girl friend last year and you saw what happened then," she added.

Asked whether the romance was serious, Hoad's mother said, "I hope so. We all love Jennifer very much."

Miss Staley, a leading woman player, was beaten by Thelma Long last week for the Victorian Championship.

Hoad's loss of form and indifferent attitude toward tennis were worrying Australian Davis Cup selectors.

In another Davis Cup development, Harry Hopman, Australian cup captain, said today Rex Hartwig and Mervyn Rose still have a chance to play the doubles assignment in the challenge round despite their loss to America's Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert Monday.

At the same time he said, "Australia can expect to meet a much tougher Seixas-Trabert combination."

He added that Trabert showed better form than earlier in the tournament and that Seixas started sluggishly as if tired from Saturday's singles match with Ken Rosewall.

"I am sure Vic will be a fitter man in 20 days," Hopman said.

He blamed the loss on the poor serving of Rose, who was "tired and lost accuracy," but added: "Merv Rose could show such improvement of form before the challenge round that I am sure the selectors will not rule out Rose and Hartwig as a doubles pair."

Most observers, however, were sure Hoad and Rosewall would be Australia's doubles selection.

Big Field Starts Miami Open Action

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Qualifying play begins today in the oldest consecutive winter golf tournament in the nation—the $10,000 Miami Open.

The first of 195 pros and amateurs began teeing off shortly after sunrise over the 6,500 yard par 35-37-20 Miami Springs Country Club course.

The bulky field will be cut to 80 for medal play starting Thursday.

Sam Snead is seeking his sixth Miami Open title. His chief competition is expected from Ed Furgo, National Open champion and Chick Harbert, PGA champion.

Tulane, George Players Added to Shrine List

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Tulane line-man and two University of Georgia players have been added to the South roster for the Shrine College All-Star football game here Christmas night.

Coach Andy Gustafson of Miami, who will tutor the South squad, announced today he has added Charles Coates, 6-foot-3 200-pounder who plays end or tackle on defensive tackle.

He also added Joe O'Malley, 200-pound end from Scranton, Pa., and Bob Clemens, 28-pound fullback from Scottsboro, Ala., of the Georgia squad.

Handshake Was Missing 'Lip' and Lopez Feuding Over Picture Request

NEW YORK (AP)—A feud between Managers Leo Durocher of the New York Giants and Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians appeared in the making at Monday's baseball meetings. Photographers asked Durocher to walk across the lobby to pose with Lopez. Leo declined, claiming Lopez had not taken the trouble to extend the customary congratulatory handshake at the conclusion of the World Series in Cleveland.

Buyers Crowd Newmarket Sale

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Buyers from all over the world flocked back to the sales ring again today to attend Britain's biggest thoroughbred sales of the century at Newmarket Park's paddocks.

The 5-day sale which ends Friday already has set one record. Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham of New York, owner of the Maine Chance Farm racing stable, paid $35,860 Monday for a chestnut son of Fair Trial-Monsoon. It was the most ever paid for a colt sold at public auction in England.

There are some 35 American buyers here and they spent almost $300,000 during the first day of Tattersall's December sales.

It's Time Out!

"You'd never guess it was a home permanent, would you?"

Selvy Passes Cousy in NBA Point Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Rookie Frank Selvy of the Milwaukee Hawks continued his sensational scoring to retain the top point-producing spot in the National Basketball Assn. after a one-week absence.

The former Furman All-American has scored 449 points in 20 games for a 22.5 average. Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics, who lost the lead, is in second place with 397 points in 17 games for a 23.4 point-per-game average—the top mark in the circuit.

Larry Foust of the Fort Wayne Pistons, leading the Western Division, leads in field-goal accuracy with 52.0 per cent. Teammates Frank Brian and Andy Phillip retained their leads in free-throw percentage and assists respectively.

Milwaukee's Bob Pettit regained the rebound department from Harry Gallatin of the New York Knickerbockers. He has 273 to Gallatin's 257.

Paul Host, captain of the 1932 Notre Dame football team, sells automobiles in Wisconsin.

MHSAA Lists Four County Tourney Sites

PHS, Troy, WL and Ortonville Will Host District Trials

Tournament sites for Michigan High School Athletic Association playoffs next March were announced Monday. District tournaments will be held March 2-5, with regionals, March 9-12.

Tournament sites for Oakland County area teams are at Pontiac, (Class B-C), Walled Lake (Class B), Troy (Class B-D), and Ortonville (Class C). Districts are also scheduled at Livonia Bentley, Brighton and Van Dyke Lincoln.

District survivors will play in regionals at Birmingham (Class A), Pontiac (Class B and C) and Ferndale (Class A). Class B regionals also are slated at Van Dyke Lincoln and Livonia Bentley.

Titans Swamp Bowling Green

Sparrow's 19 Points Lead Way to 91-60 Win Over Ohioans

DETROIT (AP)—University of Detroit's unbeaten basketball team had easy sailing defeating Bowling Green of Ohio, 91-60, for its 3rd straight victory last night.

Titans took a 10-0 lead in the opening minutes and never were threatened thereafter.

Coach Bob Calihan used his entire squad in the workout with the Falcons.

Detroit peppered in 55 points in the 2nd half after building up a 36-25 halftime margin.

Forward Guy Sparrow of Pontiac led the scoring for Detroit with 19 points. Titan guard Ralph Goldstein followed with 18.

Lanny Miles paced the visitors with 16 points.

U of D meets Kalamazoo in a home game next Saturday.

Majors' Crowds Show Increase

NEW YORK (INS)—Major league baseball enjoyed an attendance increase of 1,552,484—a jump of 9.7 per cent—over the 1953 total with the Baltimore Orioles registering the biggest single increase.

National League reported yesterday that its 1954 total attendance was 8,013,517, an increase of better than eight per cent.

Milwaukee again broke the all-time league mark, eclipsing its 1953 peak of 1,826,397 by 304,989.

The American League's total attendance of 7,922,364 was an increase of 958,288 over the 1953 total. Orioles drew 1,060,910 or 763,672 more patrons than they did as the Browns at St. Louis.

New York Yankees drew the biggest AL gate with 1,476,171, while the Philadelphia Athletics drew the low of 304,666.

Pittsburgh drew the NL low of 475,494.

2 More Added to Roster of Fired Coaches

Vols' Robinson and Citadel's McMillan in Latest Moves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two coaches were dismissed and another hired in the latest developments of the fast-changing college football coaching picture while Maryland's Jim Tatum is rumored headed for North Carolina.

Harvey Robinson of Tennessee and John D. McMillan of The Citadel were added to the coaches' casualty list Monday while John Michelosen was signed for three years to succeed the ailing Lowell (Red) Dawson at Pittsburgh.

Meanwhile, the Miami Daily News reported it learned from "an excellent source" that Tatum would transfer from Maryland to North Carolina to succeed George Barclay. News Sports Editor Morris McLemore quoted his source as saying the news probably would be announced after an athletic council meeting at Chapel Hill Dec. 14. Tatum was not available for comment.

Robinson's 1-year contract was terminated by the Tennessee athletic council with speculation on his successor centering on other former Tennessee players, particularly Bowden Wyatt of Arkansas.

Wyatt denied, however, he'd even been contacted on the matter. After leading his team to the Southwest Conference title, Wyatt was given a raise and now has three more years to run on his present contract at $15,000 a year.

The Tennessee action came as no surprise with the Vols' 4-6 record their worst in 30 years.

Four assistants were fired along with McMillan. Gen. Mark Clark, president of The Citadel, said no successor had been named. Sports Editor Van Newman of the Columbia (S. C.) Record indicated the new coach probably would be John Sauer, assistant coach of the professional Los Angeles Rams.

Michelosen, trained under Pitt's famous Jack Sutherland, has been an assistant to Dawson since leaving as head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL in 1952.

California End Pass Receiving Champ for '54

NEW YORK (AP)—A regular defensive end as a sophomore in two-platoon football two years ago, Jim Hanifan of California is the nation's major-league pass receiving champion Tuesday, the first the Pacific Coast has ever had.

Hanifan completed his sensational switch, final NCAA Service Bureau Statistics showed, by catching 44 passes this season. He also led in touchdown passes caught with seven and his 569-yard advance was exceeded only by Stanford's John Stewart, who gained 577. Stewart was runner-up in number caught with 36.

Orchard Lake Names Officers for 1955

Most 1954 officers for Orchard Lake Country Club were returned to office Monday night at the annual meeting in the clubhouse. New members of the official family included John L. McQuigg, secretary, vice-president Sidney Olberg, and directors Thomas Neal, (former vice-president), Bert Shurley and Robert Leland, all of Birmingham.

Kenneth D. McGregor of Wing Lake and George H. Crane of Pontiac were re-elected president and treasurer, respectively.

The group also dedicated a plaque to the club's founder, Willis Ward, who provided the land upon which the fine layout is situated.

McLaughry to Leave Dartmouth Grid Job

HANOVER, N. H. (INS)—Deormond "Tuss" McLaughry, 61, has announced his retirement as head football coach at Dartmouth College but will serve on an advisory committee, named to pick his successor.

Word of his resignation was contained in a joint announcement by McLaughry and the college athletic council. The resignation is effective at the end of his current contract, March 30.

Barred Jockey Meade Seeks Return to Track

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Don Meade, America's leading jockey in 1939 and 1941, who was barred from racing 10 years ago, plans to apply for a permit as a trainer.

Meade, now 41 years old, appeared before the Florida State Racing Commission Monday and asked that he be allowed to return to the tracks.

LaSalle in Top Spot

NEW YORK (UP)—LaSalle, defending NCAA champion, received 28 of a possible 35 first place votes today to top the 1954-55 weekly college basketball ratings of the United Press board of coaches by a wide margin.

With the voting based on games played through Saturday night, coach Ken Loeffler's LaSalle team collected 322 of a possible 350 points.

Jewelers, GM Take Victories in City League

Coach Quintet Edges Boys' Club on Late Goal by Bowers

By BILL MARTIN
City Basketball League competition opened last night with a pair of high-scoring games in Pontiac High School's gymnasium.

In the Class B opener, General Motors came from behind to edge Boys' Club 66-64 on a basket by Mark Bowers in the final 10 seconds of play.

GMC led 43-38 at halftime, but fell behind by two points, 55-53, at the end of the 3rd period. Ron Woodhull sank a free throw to tie the score with a minute remaining and Bowers came through with his winning basket 50 seconds later.

Bowers and Ron Terry led the winners with 16 points each, while Marv Holler had 16 for Boys' Club. Shaw's Jewelers pulled away from a slim 32-30 intermission edge to wallop Chuck's Shack, 78-54, in Class A action. Jewelers outscored their opponents 24-9 in the 3rd quarter to take a commanding 56-39 lead at the end of the period.

Ken Titherage, with 20 points, and Bob McManus, with 15, placed the Jewelers. Russ Hester and Bill York had 11 apiece for the losers. No games are scheduled tonight. Wednesday's schedule follows:

Stadium Inn vs. Courtney Flores (Class B, 7 p.m.); Griff's Grill vs. Davis Machinery (Class B, 8:30 p.m.); GMC vs. Boys' Club (Class A, 8:30 p.m.); Shaw's vs. Chuck's Shack (Class A, 9 p.m.).

PHS' Banquet Set Thursday

Annual Pontiac High School fall sports banquet will be held Thursday night in the PHS cafeteria.

Members of the 1954 football and cheerleaders will be honored at the affair.

Guest speaker will be Kenneth A. (Bill) Kelly, former Saginaw Arthur Hill High School coach now head football coach at Central Michigan College. Accompanying Kelly will be several players from the Chippewas' 1954 IAC co-championship team.

Affair will get under way at 6:30 p.m.

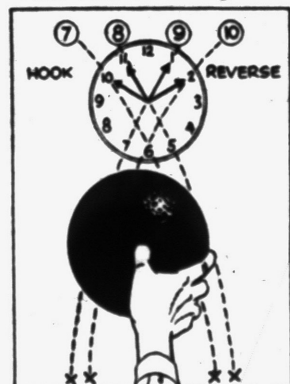

Japanese Boxer Barred in China

SINGAPORE (AP)—Refused in his attempts to get Japanese bahtam-weight Mitsuo Yamamoto into Singapore for a fight, promoter A. Razak says he's going to go slow until the government "clears up its policy" about Japanese boxers. Immigration authorities denied a visa to Yamamoto. The refusal was based on fear of "public reaction" to a Japanese boxing in this city which was occupied by the Japanese during World War II.

CARE—Clock Hand Direction. With a little imagination, and smooth wrist turn, you can develop either a hook or reverse (backspin) delivery for left or right hand spares. You do it with clock control, as suggested by former world match champion Buddy Bomar.

In the sketch the hand position is set for a hook turn, right to left. Note that the fingers are on the right (outside) of the ball, and can be turned effectively to the left, as if turning a door-knob, so that the ball break will cover the Nos. 2, 4, 7 or 8 pins, singly or in cluster.

Shift to the left side of the alley with your stance, turn the back of the hand to the extreme left line of the thumb, and you'll get a reverse ball to cover the Nos. 3, 6, 9, or 10 pins, singly or grouped.

Don't try to put an extra wrist turn to the ball. You don't need it. Merely swing through smoothly with the hand in the positions prescribed, and with a follow-through you'll feel the fingers applying spin with control.

Moore Offers to Put on Double-Header in Dec. 29 Show

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—Archie Moore, world light heavyweight champion, told the Toledo Blade today that he has offered to meet two heavyweights, Johnny Williams and Don Cockell of England, on Dec. 29 in Miami.

Moore said he would ask the Florida boxing commission for approval today.

The light heavyweight champion's unique proposition is an outgrowth of his feud with the International Boxing Club. Moore and Bob Satterfield, Chicago, were scheduled to meet on the Miami card but Satterfield was knocked out last week by Marty Marshall and the IBC decided to drop him from the card.

Rather than seek a new opponent for Moore, the IBC plans to make a new match, and Moore is protesting. Cockell or Williams were mentioned as prospective opponents for Charley Norkus, recent winner over Roland LaStarza.

"I'll fight both of them (Cockell and Williams) in successive bouts on the same card," Moore told Eddie Jones, Blade boxing writer, in a telephone conversation from Miami, where Archie is in training. "I'm tired of reading where Rocky Marciano must remain idle because he has no one to fight. There is at least one fellow he can fight, and I'll give him the fight of his life," he added.

Moore, in a one-man campaign to force IBC to match him with Marciano, is pleading with sports editors and fans to help him carry his fight to the IBC.

Break Scoring Mark

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Central Michigan defeated Ferris Institute, 104-72, last night to top the old school basketball varsity scoring record by 10 points. Old record was set in 1945.

Ferris center Bill Vanderlun led the scoring with 18 free throws and three field goals for 24 points. Central's Dick Kackmeister and Tim Burdon followed with 22 points each.

Ex-Pitt Player Named Coach

Johnny Michelosen to Guide Panther Squad in 1955

Michelosen played for Sutherland, then was his assistant and finally succeeded him as coach of the National Football League's Pittsburgh Steelers.

When Capt. Tom Hamilton, Pitt athletic director, announced Michelosen's appointment Monday he didn't mention terms but the new coach probably will receive from $12,000 to $15,000 annually on his 3-year contract. He succeeds Lowell (Red) Dawson who resigned Nov. 16 after being hospitalized with a heart condition for several weeks.

Record at Delaware

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A new one day record for gross purse distribution was established at Delaware Park during its 1954 thoroughbred race meeting. The record—$165,400—was set on July 5, the closing day of the meeting, when the $100,000 added New Castle Handicap was renewed. This race is the world's richest for fillies and mares.

Tonight's Games Set Stage for Title Campaigns

Half Dozen Top Scraps Included in Area's Program

By JACK SAYLOR
Area prep basketball teams play their final non-league tuneups tonight before commencing the drive for conference championships Friday.

Clarkston is at Waterford, Rochester at Utica, Oxford at Imlay City, Shrine at Troy and Royal Oak at Birmingham in the foremost games. Holly and Ortonville open their seasons at home against Hartland and Goodrich, respectively.

Walled Lake and Southfield seek their second straight victories with home court engagements against Redford Union and South Lake. Milford prep for its league opener with Holly by meeting Fenton.

Waterford tallied 50 points in its opener, enough to win many games, but the Skipper defense allowed Milford to run up 78 points. While Waterford stresses defense, Clarkston will try to improve its free throw average, which cost the Wolves their opener at Oxford.

Oxford, which nipped Clarkston by a single point, faces another stern test at Imlay City. The Spartans, always tough at home, have won two games already, but Oxford probably will be bolstered by the return of center Fred Bergin, who missed the Clarkston game with sinus trouble.

Utica, which uncovered a sophomore scoring threat in 6-2 Lou Hasse, meets Rochester, which spanked Fitzgerald, 64-48, despite the fact that it has only one returning veteran player.

The Shrine-Troy tilt is an interesting match. The Knights, playing their first game, have excellent height and scoring power, but Troy showed fine balance in downing Lake Orion as three players chipped in with double-figure scoring.

Ortonville starts a new season by entertaining Goodrich. After a couple of brilliant seasons, Max Berry's Blackhawks slipped to a

Coach Erdelatz Hails Selection of His Navy Team as Best of East College IIs

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Mythical football champion of the East is the latest honor to be voted Navy and the more merrier is the reaction of Coach Eddie Erdelatz today.

"I'm happy to see this team get every honor it can because if ever one deserves it, this one does," he said upon learning Navy won the Lambert Trophy.

"I'm glad when individual players receive awards," Erdelatz said. "But winning the Lambert Trophy makes me even happier because it is a reward for team effort and that's what we owe our success to this season." Phil Monahan, the Navy captain who has played in only three of the games because of injuries, took the same tack as his coach. "It's a great honor," he said. "We are proud to have been chosen. I am pleased for the team. This is one of the things that we have been working and hoping for because I do think we have the best team in the East."

Navy clinched the Lambert Trophy by beating Army 27-20 in the last game of the regular season. Of the 97 football writers and broadcasters who balloted for the award, 77 favored Navy and 11 Army. Penn State was third in the voting.

It is only the second time in 20 years that Navy won the trophy. The other was in 1933 when it won eight games and lost only to Notre Dame.

This year's team won seven, the most in one season since 1945, and lost 6-0 to Notre Dame and 21-19 to Pitt.

The 1954 team also will be only the second to participate in a bowl, the 1923 eleven being the first to go to the Rose Bowl. Erdelatz is taking his team to the Sugar Bowl against Mississippi.

Individually, Ron Beagle at end previously had been honored by selection by the Maxwell Club of Philadelphia as its choice for the outstanding college football player in the country. Beagle also had been named during the season as an Associated Press Lineman of the Week and quarterback George Welsh got the nod among the backs for the Army game.

Chuck Hunsinger Gets Montreal Fans' Backing

HARRISBURG, Ill. (AP)—Chuck Hunsinger, Montreal Alouettes halfback who was the goat of an important Canadian football game, today received a 1,000-foot telegram from 21,947 loyal fans who want him back next season.

The 29-year-old Hunsinger, an all-state high school player here, let loose a wild lateral pass in the Grey Cup game at Toronto Nov. 27 that allowed Jackie Parker of the Edmonton Eskimos to run for a touchdown and a 26-25 Edmonton victory.

6-13 record last year and should be on the rise.

Tonight's schedule:
Clarkston at Waterford; Redford Union at Walled Lake; Wayne at Farmington; South Lake at Southfield; Milford at Fenton; Hartland at Holly; Rochester at Utica; Oxford at Imlay City; Fitzgerald at Lake Orion; Shrine at Troy; Royal Oak at Birmingham; Goodrich at Ortonville; Mt. Clemens at Van Dyke; Brighton at South Lyon; St. James at Ferndale; East Detroit at Fordson; Brown City at North Branch; Vassar at Millington; Lapeer at Beecher; Cranbrook at Kennedy (Winnetka); St. Clement at Warren; Lake Shore at Harper Woods; Lakeview at Fraser.

Second of 4 Articles on 'You and Your Money' To Plan the Budget for Your Family Pit Your Will Against Foolish Spending

By MERRYLE S. RUKESER
NEW YORK (INS)—The philosophy of management in the home or in the office is to put the human will against the drift of external circumstances.
Napoleon remarked "Circumstances! I MAKE circumstances." This should make him the patron saint of management.
At home, the family budget is the principal management tool. It is both a means of self discipline and of self expression.
Ready-made budgets are of little help except as a rough guide. Conditions differ family by family, depending on such things as the number of dependents who share in the total income, family tastes and aspirations, and the number who are contributing to the family income.

If there are young children, then a larger portion of the income must be allocated to savings, including such devices as family income life insurance policies.

Don't try to run your affairs by emulating the family next door. For all you know this other family may be making the supreme economic blunder of using up its income for immediate costs, to the neglect of invisible accruing costs such as saving for old age, sickness or premature death.

If living on your budget takes care, planning and a lot of self discipline, the chances are you are really meeting your problems, rather than evading some of them.

In the family budget, don't regard "what's left" as your saving fund. If you do that, what with the high cost of living and the appeal of many glamorous items, what's left is apt to be zero.

It's much more effective to put aside your savings as a first demand on your income and consider the remainder as your sole income available for taxes and other costs of living. In most cases Uncle Sam has already protected his "stake" in your income through the withholding tax.

It used to be said that it was prudent to spend a fourth of your income for shelter, but these foot rules are at best rough guides. When food costs, for example, are up, they infringe on other percentages.

The great danger is in failing to allow for irregular contingencies such as illness. The average family should take care of such hazards through hospitalization and pre-payment medical policies, and through health and accident policies, preferably policies you can't cancel, and through life policies, including disability and waiver of premium provisions.

To provide enough insurance coverage within limited means, you must utilize such devices as diminishing term insurance (which gets cheaper as you get older), and annual payment settlements over a limited number of years before your dependents may be expected to be self supporting.

If window shopping makes your mouth water, one possibility is to expand your gross income. This depends not only on making good more productive, but also possibly on inducing mom and the children to take on some part time work.

A budget is an instrument for planned, instead of hit-or-miss, spending. It represents a philosophy of life, and determines what luxuries shall be by-passed as well as which ones shall be bought.

The ideal that installment buying permanently expands your purchasing power is a snare and a delusion.

The installment plan is useful if (1) it induces you to manage your income more systematically and (2) if the earlier availability of the commodity bought on time helps you to earn the funds with which to pay for it. A good illustration of this is a car for a salesman.

Psychologically, some people with nest eggs find the installment plan a useful way to buy durable comfort goods out of income, instead of paying for it by dissipating permanent savings.

The regular amortization of home mortgages applies this same technique of a systematized plan for getting out of debt, to long term assets.

But partial payment obviously is no substitute for a budget. Unless the budget keeps expenditures in balance, too large a ratio of the family budget becomes committed to fixed payments for a home, furniture, automobile, household appliances and other durable goods, leaving insufficient funds free for current operating expenses including food, cultural and entertainment expenses, clothing or medical needs.

Modern business depends on credit, but an overuse of credit can become harmful.

The greatest peril in the family budget is to overemphasize the present and visible wants, to the neglect of accruing and invisible needs such as a nest egg for the hazards of life.

A budget should have balanced ingredients and should fit family preferences.

By way of illustration, families that love concerts and operas should not deprive themselves of music because of extravagance in buying fancy cuts of meat, which reflect popularity rather than intrinsic nutritive values.

Suspect Stands Mute on Robbery Charge

Raymond Lenzian, 27, of Royal Oak, Monday stood mute on an armed robbery charge and Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frank L. Doty entered an innocent plea for him.

Lenzian is accused with three other men in the $5,000 holdup of the Club Bar, 844 E. 10 Mile Rd. on Nov. 12. The others are set for examination in Hazel Park justice court Wednesday.

The four, armed with shotguns and hooded with pillowcases, took the money from a safe. Lenzian has failed to furnish $2,000 bond and is in Oakland County Jail awaiting trial.

Auto Makers Facing Critical YearGrains Mixed, Get Weak Start

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains weakened at the start and then developed a mixed pattern on the Board of Trade today. Dealings again were quite active even though price changes weren't large.

Only rye had a steady tone from the opening gong. This followed news West Germany had bought 800,000 bushels of No. 2 rye for December shipment overnight. There was quite a bit of export business in grains, a factor in helping to sustain prices.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was $\frac{1}{8}$ lower to $\frac{1}{4}$ higher. December 2.26 $\frac{1}{2}$; corn $\frac{1}{4}$ higher, December 1.15; oats $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, December 81; rye unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ higher, December \$1.20 $\frac{1}{2}$; soybeans 1 cent lower to $\frac{1}{4}$ higher, January 2.76 $\frac{1}{2}$; and lard 5 to 25 cents, a hundred pounds lower, December \$14.42.

Radio Future Brings Heated Controversies

Network Boss Forecasts Fall

Ad Rate Reductions Indicative of Decline as CBS Holds On

By WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK (AP)—How sick is radio? What are its chances of surviving in a television era? Conflicting diagnoses have been heard in recent days from several top industry figures—who should know the answers. But out of these confusing bedside bulletins these appear to be the facts:

1. Network radio business has been declining and some in the industry have raised the question of whether all four nationwide chains will survive.
2. Individual stations have been holding their own or gaining, and over-all radio broadcast business is near record levels, or close to half billion dollars a year.
3. Radio, according to Nielsen Audience Surveys, still reaches more people in daytime hours than television, but TV moves into a big lead at night.

The controversy was touched off recently when David Sarnoff, board chairman of Radio Corp. of America and the subsidiary National Broadcasting Co., told NBC affiliates there is "only one direction, income-wise, for radio networks to go, and that is down instead of up." He added, "It may be possible to eke out a poor existence for radio networks, but I don't know."

This brought roars of protests from heads of other networks, including a particularly tart comment from Dr. Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System. His network's publicity office issued a release quoting him as saying, "Those who do not believe in (radio) should make way for people who do." But the same office 14 days later issued another release, beginning "CBS radio will reduce cost-to-advertisers of its network evening time an average of approximately 20 percent" two weeks from that date. It was one of several reductions in radio network night rates since TV began cutting into evening audiences.

Meanwhile, Sarnoff's comments had led to speculation that NBC might be planning to drop its radio network, and he followed up with a statement saying that if any nets dropped out NBC "would be the last, and not the first, to abandon the field." He added that his intention in his earlier talk was "to call attention to the realities."

As for figures, the latest report of Publishers Information Bureau indicates total network broadcast time sales for the four nationwide radio chains in the first nine months of this year ran more than 12 per cent behind a year ago—104 million dollars against nearly 119 million. ABC radio with a slight gain ran counter to the trend.

But total business of all stations, including both independents and network affiliates, plus the networks' own gross, is expected to approximate 500 million dollars, for the full year, about the same as in 1933 and more than 65 per cent above 1948 when TV still was in its infancy.

The number of radio stations, meanwhile, has increased from about 1,800 in 1948 to more than 2,600 standard stations now, and the total number of sets in use has increased.

The decline in importance and popularity of network radio shows has been accompanied by an increasing reliance on local programs or recorded shows broadcast on a local basis. Individual radio stations have been withstanding TV competition better than network radio.

Rain-Making Machine Sabotaged in California

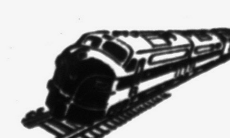

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Any rain that Laguna Beach gets in the immediate future will have to be a gift of nature.

Someone has sabotaged the town's rain-making machine. The device, which shoots acid crystals into rain clouds, was found dismantled, and a gauge and the tubing was stolen. The city plans to replace it.

Ace of Cafe Comedy Got $7,500 for 1 Gag

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"I got the most money anybody ever got for one joke—$7,500," Eli Basse said—and it wasn't about Texas millionaires or California smog.

The unsimiling little man from Leeds, England, who writes most of America's night club comedy, was staring into a cup of coffee at the Friars.

Sophie Tucker, Lillian Roth, the Kean Sisters, Miti Greene, the Berry Sisters, Romo Vincent, Luba Malina, Billy Gray and other cafe stars are always hounding him for that new material they ordered.

"Yeah, yeah, I got it about finished—it'll be ready at 4 tomorrow," he tells them.

"Then I start workin' on it," he told me.

ELI BASSE AND KEAN SISTERS

"But Joe E. Lewis—I'm always with him. We were in Florida. I said to him, 'How's our account?' He said, 'You owe me $7,500.'"

"I happened to give him a joke. He said, 'I like that joke. We'll call the whole thing even.'"

"What was the joke?" I asked.

"Oh," shrugged Eli, "some astrology joke. 'What sign were you born under?' . . . 'Visiting hours 5 to 7.' Something like that."

For Lillian Roth, Eli just wrote, "Don't Let Dior Start Takin' Us In, or the Boys Will Stop Takin' Us Out." And one about a beauty parlor gossip, "Keep This Under Your Dryer."

Eli longs to do a musical comedy and has "the perfect switch" copyrighted.

"The Indians," he said, "sue Hollywood for $20,000,000 for defamation of character because of the western pictures. They win and take over the studios. They make a picture showing what S.O.B.'s the cowboys were. Hopalong Cassidy is the villain."
