17 Americans Die as Typhoon Batters Japan

Estimate Total Deaths in Storm May Hit 1,500

1,000 Lost on Ferry; Fire, Landslides and Floods Add to Misery

By JOHN RANDOLPH
TOKYO (P)—An estimated 1,500 persons perished in a howling typhoon which struck northern Japan last night, including nearly 1,000 who died when a huge sea-going ferry capsized.

Authorities said 590 bodies have been found and estimated that 500 will be recovered from the capsized ferry.

Associated Press Correspondent Robert Euston, who flew to Hakodate, said the search for survivors has ended and rescue squads are lining up bodies of the dead on rough straw mats in an old seaman's center.

The great storm, generating winds up to 110 miles an hour, apparently had whirled harmlessly into the Japan Sea when suddenly it curled back and struck the northern island of Hokkaido almost without warning.

The result was Japan's greatest maritime disaster.

Giant waves in Tsuruga Straits sank five big ferries, four of which carried no passengers, and hundreds of small craft.

A fire virtually wiped out Iwanai, a city of 23,000 on Hokkaido's west coast, and police reported disastrous landslides and floods throughout Hokkaido.

Communications and power lines were wrecked. Rail lines and highways were blocked.

The most terrible disaster occurred in Hakodate harbor, where the big ocean ferry Toya Maru, carrying 1,252 passengers and crewmen, smashed into rocks and turned turtle.

Forty-three railroad cars were hurled about inside the hull.

A survivor described the stricken vessel as "a hell on earth."

The first newsman to reach Hakodate harbor used a similar phrase in describing it—"a sea of hell."

Eyewitnesses said the sickle-shaped harbor and its mile-long coast resembled a great naval disaster scene of the Pacific war. Wrecks of five ships and literally hundreds of small craft littered the beach.

The sand was dotted with bodies, many wearing life jackets which had failed to save their lives in the raging surf.

Smashed lifeboats, shattered timbers, oil and all the flotsam and jetsam of a sea disaster covered the beach.

"We've got a terrible thing up there," said Col. John C. Randolph, commander of the U.S. Air Base at Misawa, who flew over the scene.

In the town of Iwanai, 90 miles north of Hakodate, 32 persons died in a fire which destroyed 3,000 of the town's 4,500 houses in a few minutes. Forty-four persons were injured and others are missing, authorities said.

Lads Start Fire in Antique Shop

Unused Auburn Road Store Suffers $6,500 Damage Saturday

Two eight-year-old Avon Township boys, who admitted setting a $6,500 fire Saturday night in an unused antique shop at 1421 E. Auburn Rd., are in custody of their parents today.

State Police of the Romeo Post said the pair admitted starting the 6:30 fire during a break-in at the cinder block store which has been unused for about two years.

When firemen from Rochester and Brooklands arrived, the pair were attempting a break-in at a nearby home. The owner called police who took the youngsters into custody. They were turned over to their parents Sunday morning.

The building, owned by Mrs. Josephine J. Adams, of 1171 E. Auburn Rd., was gutted by the flames, firemen said.

Mrs. Adams estimated damage to the building at about $4,000 and $2,500 to contents.

1,000 Are Evacuated Forest Fires Threatening Two Towns in California

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (P)—Grimy crews ignited backfires and carved new firebreaks in heavy timber early today in their battle to stop flames threatening to invade two evacuated communities in the San Bernardino mountains.

The fire, which already has destroyed three small structures and 5,000 acres of brush and timber, forced nearly 1,000 persons from the resort settlements of Cedar Pines and Job's Peak in the San Bernardino National Forest yesterday.

LOS ANGELES (P)—Mrs. Pauline Lalor, believing it was her husband moving around her bedroom asked sleepily:

"What's the matter, dear?"

GI Husband Among Missing

Ferry Boat Tragedy Shatters Dream of Journey to U.S. for Japanese Bride

HAKODATE, Japan (P)—She lay dazed and swathed in blood-stained bandages on a hospital bed. Emiko Champagne's dreams of a trip to the United States were shattered.

Emiko is the 24-year old wife of Sgt. L.C. Charles Champagne of Homer, La. He was among the missing.

"We were on our way to Yokohama where we were due to take a boat on Sept. 27 to the United States," she said in a weak voice.

"My husband had been stationed with the 7th Cavalry Regiment at Camp Crawford (Hokkaido) but he was transferred to the 49th Ordinance."

"We got on the Hakodate ferry at 1 a. m., and 30 minutes after leaving the harbor the boat returned because of the rough weather," she said.

"We then got on the 6 p. m. ferry, the Toya Maru. After it left the breakwater it dropped anchor."

"Sometime later, about the time we should have reached Aomori, one of the ship officers came to me and told us to put on our life jackets because the ship was pitching and tossing."

"My husband and I went up to the first class salon. There were many American soldiers already there."

"Suddenly the ship tipped over until the left side of the ship became the ceiling and water started pouring in from the bottom."

"Everybody was trying to get out. It was hell. I could not swim and my husband stayed beside me shouting 'keep your head out of the water!'"

Slowly tears began to form in her eyes. In a wavering, but excited voice she continued:

"A Negro soldier was clinging to the ceiling trying to open one of the windows. He fell right on top of me. I was pushed down and sucked under. I was frantic with (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

U. S. May Back 9-Nation Pact for Defense

May Also Support Eden for Chairmanship of London Conference

LONDON (INS)—Authoritative sources reported today that the U. S. has accepted Britain's plan for trying to obtain a quick nine-nation agreement in principle at the London Conference on the restoration of West Germany sovereignty.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's agenda also is designed to bring about a rapid accord on inclusion of West Germany in the five-nation Brussels pact and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

The U. S. delegation also is expected to support Eden's bid for chairmanship of the nine-power meeting which begins tomorrow.

Since no Communist nations are represented at the conference no reason was seen in American delegation circles for a rotating chairmanship.

The U. S. and Britain hope to obtain an agreement in principle on German rearmament before the conference has a chance to bog down in controversial details.

French sources disclosed on the eve of the nine-nation meeting that Premier Pierre Mendes-France intended to bring up the long-standing problem of the Saar with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Mendes-France, these sources said, will repeat that France must have assurance of a satisfactory settlement of the Saar question before the French Parliament can be expected to approve the rearmament of West Germany.

But it probably will be extremely difficult for Adenauer to promise any concessions to France on the Saar problem during the London Conference for two reasons.

He must consider his dangerous political position at home, and he is faced with the fact that the Saar was linked closely with the European Defense Community (EDC) plan which France rejected.

The French delegation in London also is pessimistic about indications that Britain will refuse to assume any new military obligations beyond those which she already is committed in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Father Is Held in Girl's Death

Attorney in Baltimore Is Awaiting Return to Florida

TOWSON, Md. (P)—Attorney James T. Roberts, accused of killing his 6-year-old daughter and leaving her body on a lonely Miami beach, surrendered to police today to await an extradition hearing scheduled for some time after 9:30 a. m.

It was expected to be cut and dried proceeding. The 43-year-old Baltimore man told State's Atty. John E. Raine Jr. when he gave himself up shortly after midnight that he was willing to return to Florida.

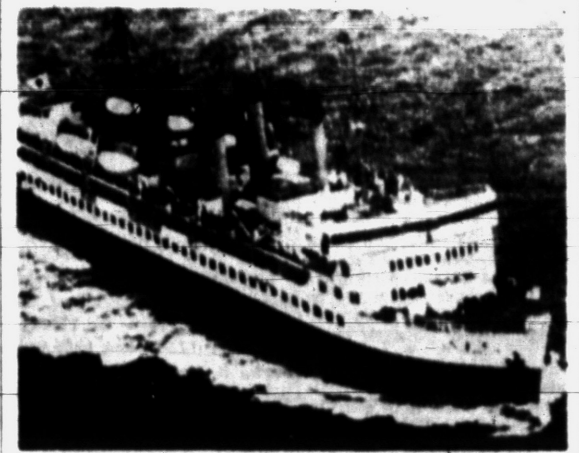

Roberts, accompanied by his wife, law partner and minister, walked into police headquarters about four hours after prosecutor George A. Brantigan of Dade County, Fla., had ordered him arrested.

Roberts' 6-year-old daughter, Judith Ann, was stolen from the home of her grandparents in Miami July 7. Her body was found a few hours later in a thicket on Biscayne Bay. She had been beaten and strangled.

A grand jury returned a secret indictment in Miami last Friday. Its contents remained a secret until Brantigan made them public here last evening.

The two-count indictment accused Roberts, "John Doe and or Mary Roe" of premeditated murder and "an attempt to perpetrate an abominable and detestable crime against nature or kidnapping."

Vice Raid Nets 29 Here Sunday

Home on West Wilson Hit for Second Time in 16 Days

Armed with a warrant, charging maintaining and operating an illegal liquor place, Pontiac Police vice squad officials raided a home at 316 W. Wilson Ave. and arrested 29 persons Sunday morning, only 16 days after the same home was raided by police on a similar charge.

Detective, Sgt. Donny Ashley, leading the raiders, said police smashed a gambling table, chairs, beds and other equipment in the basement of the home.

Mrs. Rose Simmons, 31, of the Wilson avenue address, was charged with maintaining and operating. She also was held under the same charge following the Sept. 10 raid when 33 persons were arrested.

Charged with aiding and abetting an illegal sale of liquor is Earl J. Crocker, 22, also of the Wilson address.

The other 27, of whom six are women, were charged with loitering. They were released by Judge Cecil McCallum on $50 bonds each, pending arraignment in Municipal Court today.

Two Oakland County Sheriff's patrol cars were called to the scene, said Ashley, when the five police raiders were unable to control the group.

Ashley said that several of those arrested started fights with Patrolmen Leroy Hartman and Hall B. Mercer when the policemen tried to direct them into the paddy wagon.

Ashley said two cases of whiskey and three cases of beer were confiscated.

Senators Cite Abusive Attitude Toward Zwicker

Solons Will Reconvene in Special Session on November 8

WASHINGTON (P)—A special Senate investigating committee recommended today that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy "should be censured" by the Senate.

The six-member committee said McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, had treated the Senate and one of its committees contemptuously.

It said further that on another count—his alleged abuse of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, "the senator from Wisconsin, Mr. McCarthy, should be censured."

As for three other broad charges considered in nine days of hearings, the committee said it feels they do not, under all the evidence, justify a resolution of censure.

The Senate will convene in special session Nov. 8 to consider the recommendations.

It will decide then whether to vote censure or noncensure.

Adoption of a censure resolution would amount simply to a public rebuke of McCarthy and would not of itself remove any of his senatorial privileges.

The special committee's report ran to 68 printed pages, a total of around 40,000 words. Much of the text was devoted to a summary of the evidence.

A summary of recommendations said:

"For the reasons and on the facts found in this report, the select committee recommends:

"1. That on the charges in the category of 'incidents of contempt of the Senate or a senatorial committee,' the senator from Wisconsin, Mr. McCarthy, should be censured."

"2. That the charges in the category of 'incidents of encouragement of United States employees to violate the law and their oaths of office or executive orders,' do not, under all the evidence, justify a resolution of censure."

"3. That the charges in the category of 'incidents involving receipt (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Strike Leader Jailed

Square D Talks Stymied Over Rehiring 27 Workers

DETROIT (UP)—Unionist Philip Saba, Square D Co. strike leader accused of running down a process server with his automobile, was jailed today for investigation of assault with intent to do bodily harm.

The 44-year-old Philadelphian, an official of the striking United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.), was arrested Sunday several hours after marathon negotiations aimed at settling the 105-day-old strike were broken off.

Federal Mediator E. Marvin Sconyers said no new talks were scheduled because of a stalemate over the company's refusal to rehire 27 workers accused of picket line violence and intimidation.

Saba, named in Congress as a "Communist functionary," was arrested Sept. 7 on grounds he participated in stoning a car occupied by non-striking workers at the strife-ridden electrical parts plant.

His latest arrest was based on a complaint by George Cory, an attaché of circuit Judge Frank B. Ferguson.

Cory said Saba backed his car into him Saturday when he tried to serve a writ charging violations of Ferguson's anti-mass picketing injunction. Cory said he suffered a bruised leg.

He said the incident occurred behind the UE headquarters building.

Negotiators, who began their weekend talks at 10 a. m. Friday, adjourned shortly before midnight Saturday with only one issue in the explosive dispute still to be resolved.

Sconyers said the biggest step toward settlement came when the company agreed to a modified no-strike clause.

Hoffa's Endorsement of GOP Senator Rapped by Union Official

LOS ANGELES (UP)—James McDevitt, national director of the AFL's Labor League for Political Education (LLPE) took issue with James R. Hoffa, midwest teamsters union boss, over the weekend on the latter's endorsement of Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) for reelection.

Hoffa's endorsement threw AFL leaders into a tizzy during the weekend recess of the annual AFL convention. But for the moment they maintained an official silence to see what stand the Michigan Labor League for Political Education takes.

Some said privately they intended to support Ferguson's Democratic opponent, Patrick V. McNamara of Detroit, a long-time AFL member.

Normally the national LLPE makes no endorsements of its own but supports the political stands taken by state LLPE organizations. So leaders were awaiting with unusual interest the stand of the Michigan LLPE.

James H. Thorpe, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan State Federation of Labor, tentatively had set Oct. 1 as the date for a Michigan LLPE meeting to choose between Ferguson and McNamara.

But Thorpe left the AFL convention just ahead of Hoffa's announcement here last week that he was supporting Ferguson. This led to speculation among AFL leaders that the Michigan League, under Hoffa's influence, might refrain from endorsing either candidate.

Such action would be calculated to weaken McNamara's otherwise strong labor support.

power. Emergency generators were put into operation to floodlight the disaster scene inside the breakwater, where the city keel of the Toya Maru was visible above the still-churning water. Japan's maritime safety force reported one other ocean freighter sunk, five grounded and one damaged in the storm. More than 1,100 small craft, mostly fishing boats were lost, beached or damaged.

Twenty-seven patrol boats, six landing vessels, three mine sweepers—all Japanese—combed Hakodate bay for bodies and possible survivors. They were assisted by U.S. air and naval units, Kyodo News Agency said.

The U.S. Far East Command announced that 57 American military personnel were aboard the Toya Maru and that one was known to have survived.

Two other Americans listed as missing and presumably drowned were Thomas M. West, an agent for a domestic firm, and Dean Leeper, 32, of Ohio, student secretary for the Japan YMCA.

Alfred H. Stone, 52, a missionary from Toronto, Canada, was listed by the Christian Press here as a known fatality.

Donald B. Orth, a missionary on Hokkaido, was identified as a survivor. The Army said military personnel included 41 soldiers, two wives of military personnel, one Army civilian, one child, two Army postal clerks and 10 casuals, presumably servicemen on leave or being transferred.

The Army survivor was identified as Pfc. Frank Goedken, 21, of Dubuque, Iowa.

The other four ferries lost in Hakodate bay had put to sea when the typhoon struck in an effort to avoid being battered to pieces at their piers.

Of the crewmen aboard 39 are known to be dead and 248 are missing. Only 31 were rescued.

When the police arrested her yesterday they released her on her own recognizance. The officers said the cows still were at large.

Town's Title Threatened

OSLO, Norway (INS) — The proud position which Hammarfest, Norway, has held for years as the world's most northerly city is being threatened by a bustling new community still further north. Hammarfest will lose its title if Honningsvaag, with a population of 3,500, wins approval of its application for a town charter.

3 Try to Break Genesee Jail

Prisoners Are Held in Solitary After Riot in Prison in Flint

FLINT (INS) — Three prisoners were held in solitary confinement in Genesee County Jail today following a riot and jail-break attempt in which cell block bunks and water pipes were ripped from their places.

One of the three men accused of plotting the break was James Styles, 26, one of the leaders in the 1952 Jackson Prison riots. He was being held for investigation of car theft.

His alleged accomplices in engineering the riot were Guesda Fidel, 24, and Richard Nichols, 18.

The attempted break was discovered last night by Deputy Francis Winslow, who noticed water trickling from the ceiling in the first floor jail offices.

Winslow traced the water to the third floor where he found newspapers pasted over windows leading to a day cell holding 15 rioting prisoners.

Winslow summoned help and he and nine other deputies and six Flint city policemen forced their way into the cellblock.

One bar on a window had been sawed half through and several of the prisoners were armed with lengths of water pipe. Two men had spoons whose edges had been ground razor-sharp.

All the rioters surrendered meekly.

Sheriff Don Carmichael said a new hacksaw and two extra blades were found in the cell. He said the prisoners apparently got the saw from an accomplice on the sidewalk below the cellblock windows.

fear. Everything was dark. I remember crawling through dark and narrow passages filled with water.

"I lost consciousness. The next time I remembered anything I was on top of waves. Each time a wave would hit me I would turn somersault.

"I was hit about 10 times by big waves, and then suddenly I felt the sandy beach beneath me. I tried to walk but couldn't so I crawled up on land.

"I lay still for about an hour when someone came up with a flashlight and carried me to an automobile and brought me to this hospital.

"The reason I couldn't walk was because I had a big chunk gouged out of my right leg."

"We lost visas, passports and everything on the ship. I was wearing a pair of slacks and my military identification card was in my pocket but the waves tore off my slacks and I don't even have I.D. papers. I suppose it will take some time to get our visas again," she said.

Then with tears she concluded, "please find my husband for me, won't you?"

In case after case, pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

With the formal dedication of the new dormitory about 90 students a year will be handled in this brick building which cost $175,000. A non-profit institution, Leader Dogs for the Blind is supported by the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan, Inc. and by other public contributions. Home to Lodge Blind Students

90 Per Year Expected to Receive Training at Rochester Center

By HAZEL A. TRUMBULL
ROCHESTER — Through these doors...

Dedicated to help the blind see, heavy glass and steel doors on the new dormitory of the Leader Dogs for the Blind Center in Rochester swung wide with welcome to over 2,000 Midwesterners Sunday.

Marking the dedication of its new beige brick, $175,000 dormitory with its halls of student rooms, spacious lounge, clinic and offices, was the official opening Sunday.

From its birth as a humanitarian idea in 1939 the Leader Dogs for the Blind has become one of the foremost organizations to serve the blind in the entire nation.

Conceived by a group of business men in the Lions Clubs of Michigan, many of Sunday's visitors were members of the clubs in this area who have worked so hard to promote the Leader Dog idea.

Located at the peak of the south hill entrance to the village of Rochester, the new facility is part of an extensive building development including kennels for the leader dogs and wide runways.

A non-profit institution, it is supported entirely from contributions from the public. A member of the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan, Inc., it receives a substantial part of its annual budget from this organization.

When it was first opened in 1939, there were mostly classes of from two to four people. Today the school is turning out 78 per year, said Fred Maynard, director of the Leader Dogs for the Blind, and next year they will be able to graduate over 90 a year with their new facilities.

Applicants to the school must be totally blind or have only slight light perception. Age limitations range from 18 to 55 although special dispensations have been made for unusual cases.

While at the home and during the time the student is being trained to work with his dog, he is under constant supervision.

On the streets of Rochester and in the City of Pontiac every type of traffic condition is experienced with the student and his Leader Dog. There is also a practice course at the school where there is a simulated city block, several hundred feet of sidewalks, broken places, hydrants and barriers and regular and revolving doors. Many hours of practice here sharpen the student's coordination and increase his confidence.

Eight years of freedom and independence is anticipated from each dog. Students often return after the death of a dog to learn to work with another.

Presently, said Director Maynard, they are using German Shepherds, Collies and Retrievers breeds for their leader service. These, he said, have the best temperaments for this type of work.

Dedicating the building Sunday was S. A. Dodge, one of the founders and past-president of the International Association of Lions Clubs, Chairman of the affair was Bruce Clifton Metty of the affair.

Songstress Can't Resist the Sight of a Man's Legs

By PHYLLIS BATTELL
NEW YORK (NS) — Songstress Martha Wright is a keen observer of mankind and in that capacity she has something keen to observe about men's legs.

"I like them!" is how she puts it. Now this may seem curious—Martha's discarding on such a knotty subject—because she's one of those lady-like types, a peach from Washington state.

But she has just completed a summer of barreling from coast to coast in her first convertible and, sort of, in self-defense against the whistles she's grateful but embarrassed to receive, she and her traveling secretary began looking for their own whistle bait.

"And what did we find?" confides the peach in the manner of one who has just discovered uranium in her petunia patch. "We found hundreds of men swaggering around in Bermuda shorts, they looked better than in trousers."

They have a delighted, devilish little boy look about them—and any woman who can resist that look is long dead!

But the average male knee, Martha? Isn't it... "It's marvelous," says Martha firmly. "I don't know why women should think they have a corner on nude knees. Why, only the really spindly-legged men look poor in shorts. The average to heavier men look delightful—which is more than you can say for us girls, most of whom were slumpy not designed for pants."

Martha, star of "South Pacific" and her own TV show, has no commercial interest in shorts for men—"Honest, lady, my sponsor (on TV) is an auto maker"—but she's taken the Bermuda shorts trend to her heart and has gone so far as to encourage her dates to wear same when they take her out to cocktails and dinner.

"Some of them may think I'm crazy," she says tolerantly, "but that's because they don't understand. For years, I've felt simply terrible—guilt complex, y'know—when I'd go out in a sleeveless dress with no hose and two scraps for shoes, while my dates were wrapped in wool from chin to ankle."

"Now, if they wear shorts, I feel they are every bit as stylish."

And yet they have that all-important draft-in-the-middle makes the difference between life and listlessness on a hot day.

On thing depressed Miss Wright as she reminisced about her cross-country crusade. Knee-length shorts are not being adopted—"not even by the sports"—in the midwestern states. Which is silly, she says. Because it's hotter there than in the East and West where the exposed knee is catching on, so to speak.

"What the Kansans and their neighbors need more than anything is that draft-in-the-middle. But the few times I got a chance to recommend it to a man, he'd always say shucks he'd feel foolish. But they'll get the word," says Miss Wright brightly. "I believe by next summer this shorts thing'll be hotter than the weather."

There are still plenty of opponents to the trend. "I hear they won't allow even the most conservative 'knees in the Stork Club,'" mourns Martha. "And some of my friends—women, yet—are still denying their men the right to wear them."

"But the opposition will, finally crumble. I predict, because this thing is really rolling and men are getting less inhibited by the summer."

They'll probably never wear shorts in place of evening clothes, however, concedes Miss Wright. "Men are too vain—much vainer than women, really," she explains. "When they go out for the night, they want to dress fit 'kill—even if it kills them."

Victim of Crash to Get $250,000 for Paralysis

NEW YORK (AP)—As a federal judge put it, the government has shown it has "a heart" by awarding $250,000 damages to a civilian consultant who was severely injured in the crash of an Air Transport Command plane in 1951.

The award goes to Samuel Mazzarelli, 33, of Newburgh, N.Y., who was permanently paralyzed in all four limbs after the plane went down near Fort Dix, N.J.

Mazzarelli, an Air Force veteran and father of a 5-year-old son, had been a $5,000 a year engineering adviser employed by United Aircraft Corp. and assigned to the ATC.

Judge Irving R. Kaufman signed the award yesterday and commented: "I commend the U.S. attorney in this case for having the fortitude and strength to put through a settlement like this one."

"It shows that the government is not run by mechanical people but by persons who have a heart and conscience."

Homicide Witness Kills Self Before Trial Opens

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—A woman under bond as a material witness in a homicide killed herself yesterday after she had called to her employer, "I think I'll shoot myself."

Sheriff Horace Alexander said Reva Wiles Clary, 38, was to have testified at the trial of William W. Bennett, shot herself in the head. She had testified last week before a grand jury which indicted Bennett on a charge of "assault with intent to murder" Charles H. Harmon.

At West Point, in the days when every room of the United States Military Academy had a fireplace, loose bricks were commonly found in the hearth. The space behind could be used as a hiding place for "boodle"—forbidden food or drink.

Electric Misuse Causes 12 Pct. of Home Fires

WASHINGTON (INS) — Twelve per cent of home fires have been blamed on the misuse of electricity according to safety experts with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

They reported that overloaded wires have become an increasing home hazard as families plug in more electrical equipment, especially high-wattage and automatic appliances, without modernizing household wiring systems.

Overloaded wires, the specialists explained, blow fuses or overheat and damage insulation, then may start fires smoldering in the walls.

According to some estimates, as many as half the U. S. home wiring systems need modernizing to keep pace with air-conditioners, clothes dryers, television sets, home freezers and many other appliances.

By 1955 well-equipped homes are expected to be using twice as much electricity as in 1945.

Don't Worry if an Open Heart Occasionally Leads to Some Trouble

Sisters Plan Event for Parents

Sample Invitation Given to Answer Girls' Questions

By EMILY POST

A daughter writes: "My parents will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. My two sisters and I would like very much to give a reception for them but we are puzzled as to how the invitations should be worded.

"I am single but my other two sisters are married. Also, we don't want any of the guests to feel that they have to bring a present. Would it be proper to include 'No presents, please' at the bottom of the invitations?"

All three names are used at the head of the invitation in the order of your ages—your oldest sister first:

Mrs. Oldest Sister
Mrs. Next Sister and Miss Young Sister
hope you will come in on Friday evening, March 1st at 9 o'clock to help celebrate their parents' Golden wedding Anniversary. "No presents, please."

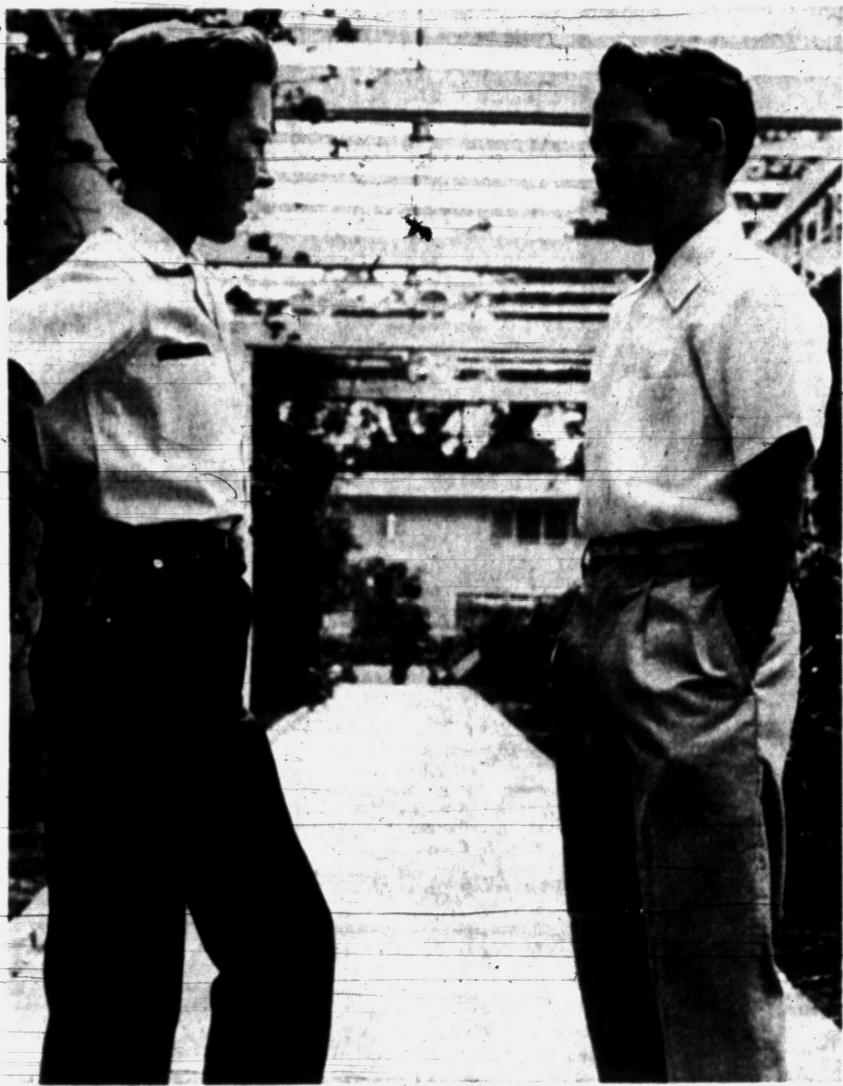

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to display a portrait of the founder of a company in the reception office of that company while he is still alive?

I think that this is proper only after his death, or retirement, from the company and that as long as he is still active in the firm, displaying his portrait in this way is not proper. Will you please give your opinion?

It is entirely proper to display the portrait now.

Dear Mrs. Post: If a boy friend brings me a corsage to wear to a dance he is taking me to, is it proper to wear it regardless of whether or not it goes with the dress I am wearing that particular evening?

If possible you wear a dress becoming to it. If you can't, you must wear the corsage anyway.

There's news in jeans—these heavy 10 ounce jeans have a new feature—the "koin-keeper" pocket. Mothers will appreciate the stitched knee and young wearers will recognize immediately the true snug fit western styling. Those are popular corduroy trousers with smart narrow belt on the right.

Early Explanation of Life Is Best

By MUREL LAWRENCE

Howard was four and a half when he learned he was to become a brother. Some time later, he commented one day on his mother's changed appearance. Instead of ignoring him, she recognized her appropriate opportunity to tell him how babies were born.

He accepted the information without great surprise. Two days before, he had felt much greater astonishment to discover a hatched butterfly in the box in which he'd been keeping a chrysalis.

Two years later his mother seized another appropriate moment to increase his sex information. It came the afternoon the baby of a pretty young neighbor was born.

Before the neighbor left for the hospital, she was greatly agitated because she couldn't reach her husband at his office telephone. Howard was disgusted with her.

That evening, as his mother was telling his father what a hard time she'd had locating the young neighbor's husband, he exploded.

He said, "What's the matter with her? Why couldn't she have her baby by herself without bothering her husband? Gee, I think she's an awful fussy."

He accepted the news of the male role in conception as easily as he'd accepted the female's in the giving of birth.

I believe in early sex instruction of children.

Those of us who don't might try to remember what it was like to be four, six and seven years old.

At these ages, we are so used to new marvels that they are commonplace. We are so accustomed to a miracle a minute in this Place of Wonders that the miracle of conception and birth is accepted as naturally as others.

Our first snow falls, soon we are playing in it as though we'd always played in snow. One minute we scream at the vacuum cleaner's roar; the next, we are demanding rides on it.

Watch a child at the seashore. How long does it take him to make friends with the waves? After the first encounter with the sea he doubted five minutes ago, is he happy with it—or isn't he?

This blessed readiness to make friends with new things, people and ideas is the special gift of early childhood that has not been poisoned by adult confusions. If we are wise, we use it. We seize our appropriate chances to unfold to little boys and girls the great wonder of conception and birth before evil gets its chance to contaminate their innocent trustfulness. If we tell it simply, it is always simply received.

Make More Closet Room With Double Deck Rods

By ELIZABETH HILYER

The usual place may not be the best place for a hanging pole in a well-organized closet. Are inches above it going to waste? What about the extra square inches below hanging garments?

Use them and they may make a big difference in the efficiency of the closet.

In a man's closet, for example, a double-deck plan with two hanging poles can double the room for his suits and jackets—even make room for those jackets and fishing jackets that there never is a place for.

In the closets of homes that have high ceilings, extra hanging poles just below the ceiling can take garment bags full of clothing, and perhaps draperies and slipcovers, that are not in current use.

Double-deck hanging is helpful for children's closets, too. Raising the pole even a few inches may make a big difference in the closet of ordinary ceiling height.

Shoe racks there wasn't room for before, and perhaps storage boxes, may fit in.

Little storage cabinets might be placed on one side of a woman's closet under her jackets and blouses.

You May Profit by Getting Fooled

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Thank you, Wetumkans, for proving one of my pet theories. For a long time I've believed that it's better to be a sucker than to be perpetually scared somebody is going to do you. I know so many suspicious-minded, miserable human beings who are always on the agonized alert because they are sure they will be cheated or over-charged.

On the other hand, I've also known delightful men and women who occasionally are taken advantage of simply because they are so open-hearted, generous and kind. I prefer them.

The citizens of Wetumka, Okla., are in that category. Four years ago they were so trusting when the traditional smooth-talking stranger came to town that they believed every word he said. He identified himself as an advance man for a circus which he promised would be along soon.

He sold advertisements in a projected program to local merchants, ordered many yards of hot dogs from the butchers, thousands of buns from the bakers and seven tons of hay to feed elephants. He finished by leaving town without paying his hotel bill.

The gallant Wetumkans, minus considerable money, plus too many hot dogs, buns and hay, had a good laugh at themselves and whipped up a little circus of their own, complete with refreshments composed of their overstock. Every year since, they have celebrated "Sucker Day," and invited the confidence man to come back to town and get a $100 suit of clothes.

He never replies but they have fun speaking of him familiarly and even affectionately as if he were a fellow townsman.

I was discussing this whole subject not long ago with an expert on the subject of grabbing from life what you want.

"A person should really be glad every time he is fooled or deliberately misled," I philosophized. "He learns something and is never fooled that way again."

The expert shook her head decisively. "Oh, no," she demurred. "Nobody should allow himself to be exploited. Life is competitive. Many people are out to do others. It is not good to be too suspicious, but neither should one be too naive. I'm for more self-interest, more self-centeredness. Such qualities give a better sense of balance."

Even as she spoke I thought of two examples to disprove her point. One is a woman whose disposition has been completely transformed by a single experience with a dishonest employee whom she trusted implicitly. Ever since her experience with treachery, as she calls it, she has been suspicious of everybody's motives. And she's a miserable woman as a result.

The other woman who never trusts anybody, hasn't a close friend to her name. Even her relatives dread being with her. She makes the grocery checker go through her bill twice and then checks it herself.

Nobody has ever satisfied her and, strangely enough (or perhaps it's not so strange) workmen employed by her do seem to skip on time and effort. Therefore she's always disgusted and complaining—and being cheated. So who's the sucker?

Happy days, Wetumkans. I do believe you're on the right track!

Girl Scares Boy Away by Chasing She Should Stay Away So Lad Will Really Miss Her

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm going with a boy I like very much, but he lives 15 blocks away from me. We used to meet in the park until his father forbade him to go there any more.

Since then I've been walking up to his house every day, except when it was too hot during the summer. I've been calling him up every day. One night, not long ago, I called him up and he got mad over nothing and hung up. I like him a lot, but I'm not sure he likes me now. Do you think I should call him up and find out?"

You've chased the lad mighty hard. You've worn a lot of leather off your shoes in his behalf. You've called him regularly. You've gone out of your way to get in his. He might just be sick to death of it!

It's one thing to like a boy—but it's another to be all over him like a tent. A little of that long walk to his house might have pleased him. But day after day was too much. Calling him very night was a bother. The lad probably felt cornered—he couldn't get away from you—felt you'd track him down no matter where he hid.

That last call of yours was one too many. It struck him wrong. Came at a bad time, maybe. Getting cross and hanging up was his way of showing you, at long last, that you were out of order. You were too eager, too persistent, too much in evidence.

When he begins to miss you, he'll call you. And until then stifle that mighty urge of yours to check upon him. Don't go near his house. Stay away from that phone.

Chasing is more becoming to the male of the species!

"Dear Miss Woodward: I met a boy about two weeks ago, and I didn't like him at first, so I was very cold with him. Now I find myself liking him very much. I sit on my front stoop a lot and he keeps passing by on his bike, but never stops.

I have tried to make him realize I like him by coming out every time I see him outside, but still he doesn't stop. I would like to let him know I like him. I'd talk to him if I knew what to say. I think he likes me, but thinks I don't like him. What can I do about him?"

All of that riding by your house might be an indication that he is interested in you. But he's apparently too shy to stop without definite encouragement from you. It's not enough that you should appear when he does. Why not speak to him.

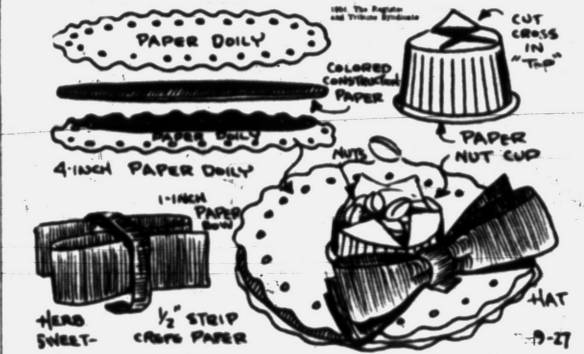

"Hi" would be enough to make him realize you're aware that he's there. "Hi" would bridge the distance between you, and make him stop his bike at your front stoop to talk to you. Speaking politely to a boy you've met is not chasing him, really.

Selling Aprons Helped to Ease a Family Budget

By ANN EHEYWOOD

One of my readers in Newark, New Jersey, named Mrs. Gelia Duardo, has an extremely interesting home project, which she has given me permission to tell you about. In fact, she has written me a letter about it, and here it is, pretty much in its entirety.

"First of all," she says, "I don't think I'm alone in the category of young mothers and housewives who want to fully care for the home and children, and yet be able to earn some needed extra money."

"Before my boy, now three and a half, came along, I worked in a photographer's darkroom, was a laboratory assistant in a beverage company, and sold and wrapped gifts in a department store."

My hobbies include poetry writing, cooking and baking, antiques, interior decorating, reading, sewing—all creative, never with patterns—and concert singing, which I studied for four years. I have a mezzo-soprano voice, and sang in concerts, recitals, churches and choral groups.

That's enough of a combination to floor most women, but not Mrs. Duardo. She says:

"I thought sewing seemed the best bet, and aprons most of all," and so she specializes in making aprons and does very well for herself.

"Some features of my aprons include oversized pockets with double thickness of material for sturdiness and strength; the whole apron double-stitched for thorough reinforcement; a pocket which I call an oversized ice cream cone, and extra fullness in the skirt. Each apron is one-of-a-kind, extemporaneously designed and cut."

Some are made with a row of pockets along the hem, and pot holder to match. Another is a ballerina type for a little girl, with an exact replica for her doll. Still another is a party or hostess apron.

Most of them are decorated with buttons. For materials, I use anything from the sturdiest muslin and denim to the most shimmering satin.

"Sales" come from friends and their families, and on holidays I post notices, with miniature aprons, on the bulletin boards of the different buildings in the gigantic private development where I live.

Mrs. Duardo has a very successful home enterprise because she chose an activity she loved, brought imagination and skill to it, and most of all, because she specialized!

CRAZY, MIXED-UP SIGN—Everything these days seems confused and there's probably some political leader in Chicago, Ill., who is really scratching his head and wondering what to do. A painter puts the finishing touches to a campaign billboard that says elect Thomas Godfrey, who is a Republican and in small print says to vote a straight Democratic ticket.

Capital's Race Integration Is 'Amazingly Successful'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Dr. Robert M. Corning, superintendent of District of Columbia schools, said today that initial integration of Negro and white teachers and students has been "amazingly successful."

The program, which brought a commendation from President Eisenhower last Thursday, may give the Supreme Court a clue on how schools can be integrated without friction.

Corning said Negro and white teachers have been installed in one-fifth of the schools and integrated students are enrolled in about two-thirds of the classrooms.

The District's smooth compliance with the court's ruling against segregation contrasts with a wait-and-see attitude in most of the affected states, active political opposition in others and threats of violence which have closed the schools at Milford, Del.

The great question remaining before the Supreme Court, to be argued beginning Dec. 6, is whether integration should be effected immediately or gradually in the twenty-one states which, like the District, have maintained separate schools for Negroes.

The court is to issue a decree early next year stating how integration must be carried out.

Corning's system involves elements of both the immediate and gradual proposals. Here is his program affecting just over 100,000 students, about 60,000 of whom are Negroes, and 3,620 teachers, of whom 1,943 are Negroes:

1. On the first day, Sept. 13, children were ordered to report to the same school they had attended, except in cases where they had been traveling unusually long distances. But children entering for the first time were required to go to the school nearest them.

2. Before the end of October, parents will be given the option of sending children either to the school they have been attending or to the school to which they belong geographically. If the child lives in the school district where he is attending, there is no option.

3. Teachers have generally been assigned to the schools where they taught last year, but 17 of the 79 elementary and two of the 11 high schools already have both whites and negroes on their teaching staffs.

Even before the exercise of the October options, all but 20 of the elementary and all but three of the high schools, formerly divided into white and Negro, now have at least a few students of the race formerly excluded. The filing of options in high schools has already begun.

Actress-Bullfighter Stages Best Show

PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Mex. (AP) — Former New York actress Bette Ford won applause here yesterday in what critics said was the best appearance of her brief career as a woman bullfighter. She was rewarded two ears and the tail of one bull for her excellent performance, but got only applause for her second bull—a stubborn black animal that took numerous sword thrusts to dispatch.

Miss Ford said she would fight Oct. 3 in Ciudad Acuna where Patricia McCormick, a Texas coed turned bullfighter, was critically gored by a bull.

This Year's Series to Be Richest in History

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees will be missing from the scene for the first time in six years as the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants come to grips

Wednesday in what is almost certain to be the richest of all World Series.

With two huge arenas — Cleveland's Municipal stadium seating

86,000 and New York's Polo Grounds seating 52,000—this could produce a record pool for the players with each winning share totaling $10,000 and each losing share about $8,000. The players share in the receipts of the first four games.

Should the series go the full distance of seven games — and many experts believe it will — a new attendance mark is certain to be set. The first two games in the best-of-7 series will be played at the Polo Grounds, Wednesday and Thursday. All games will begin at 1:00 p.m. (EST).

With no interruption for travel, the battle-ground will shift to Cleveland where the third, fourth and fifth games will be played on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Should the issue still be undecided, the scene will shift back to New York for the sixth and seventh games next Monday and Tuesday.

The series should develop into one of the most exciting and closely fought in many years. Led by two colorful managers — Al Lopez and Leo Durocher — the Indians and Giants are both opportunist clubs, featuring standout pitching, tight defense, clutch hitting and ability to come from behind with last ditch rallies.

The Indians already have been established as 17 to 10 favorites, mainly because of the brilliant pitching of their "big eight" that was so instrumental in setting an American League record of 111 victories.

Lopez bases his hopes for victory on the pitching of Bob Lemon (23-7), Early Wynn (23-11), Mike Garcia (19-8), Art Houtteman (15-7), Bob Feller (13-3), Hal Newhouse (7-2), Don Mossi (6-1) and Ray Narjeski (3-3) and the hitting of Bobby Avila, Larry Doby, Al Rosen and Vic Wertz. Avila's .341 was the league's top mark, Doby paced the circuit with 32 homers and 126 runs batted in and Rosen swatted 24 homers while batting an even .300.

The Giants can't match the Indians' pitching in numbers but they have three outstanding hurlers in Sal Maglie (14-6), southpaw Johnny Antonelli (21-7) and Ruben Gomez (17-9). They've got a pair of aces-in-the-hole, however, in star relievers Hoyt Wilhelm (12-4) and Marv Grissom (10-7) plus a "dark horse" entry in lefthander Don Liddle (9-4).

The Giants, led by Willie Mays and Don Mueller, appear to have the edge in hitting. Mays, the sensational center fielder, won the National League batting crown with .345, only three points higher than Mueller's runner-up .342. Mays also slammed 41 homers.

As in recent years, all games will be broadcast (Mutual) and relayed (NBC) over nation-wide networks. This is expected to bring about $1,200,000 to the central fund out of which the Players' Pension Fund is paid.

Red Wings Return Home

SAULT STE. MARIE (UP)—Red Wings, unbeaten in four exhibition starts against their Edmonton farm club, broke camp here today and headed for Detroit to await Saturday night's National Hockey League All-Star game.

Wibel Wins 3rd Title

Dick Wibel won his 3rd consecutive Bloomfield Hills Country Club championship yesterday by defeating Dick Strickland, 2-up. Wibel shot the final nine in 35 to overcome his 4-run deficit at the 27-hole mark.

Wolverines Shut Out Huskies 14-0 in '54 Opener at Seattle

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan's football team went West with a helmetful of problems. It returned home with those same problems, plus some more.

Despite defeating the University of Washington, 14-0, in Saturday's opener at Seattle, the Wolverine team remains a question mark.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan deserted tradition and relied mainly on the T-formation instead of the single wing, an ancient trademark of Michigan football. Oosterbaan's team won, but he's not convinced the T-formation is the answer to his problems.

"I'm not sure whether we'll stay with the T," Oosterbaan said. "I thought the team showed good potential but it is not as advanced as last year's team at this time."

Adding to Oosterbaan's problems was a hip injury sustained by Ron Kramer, the promising sophomore end from East Detroit. Kramer picked off two of Duncan McDonald's passes, then was injured. He left the game in the 1st quarter. He may miss one game.

Oosterbaan said he was satisfied with the performance of McDonald at quarterback. The Flint senior tried 14 passes and completed eight for 103 yards.

Lou Baldacci, playing fullback for the 1st time, scored both Michigan touchdowns. He went 21 yards in the 1st quarter and one yard in the third. Baldacci also was forced from the field late in the game with a shoulder injury but it is not considered serious.

After their test in the Northwest, the Wolverines return home for two consecutive games in Ann Arbor. They meet Army Saturday and play Iowa the following week. Army dropped its opener Saturday to South Carolina, 34-20. Duffy Daugherty can tell Oosterbaan all about Iowa.

Wins Baton Title

DETROIT (UP)—Nancy Stern of Inlay City won the Detroit Lions' baton twirling championship Sunday at Briggs Stadium in competition with a line of Michigan's top majorettes.

A crowd of 52,343 selected the champion by applause, clapping loudest for Miss Stern in the half-time twirling contest.

INTERCEPTION—Dan Cline, Michigan left half, reaches over teammate Tony Branoff (17) to share Washington pass intended for end Steve Roake (88) in the 2nd quarter of Saturday's game at Seattle, Wash., U. of M. won, 14-0.

Daugherty's 1st Game Same as Munn's—a Loss

Mechanical Errors Are Damaging to Spartans 14-10 Setback at Iowa

By ROBERT E. VOGES
EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State football rosters had one crumb of consolation today following coach Duffy Daugherty's debut as head coach with a 14-10 defeat by Iowa.

They recalled that athletic director Biggie Munn, in his 1st game as football boss here, also went down to defeat. This was the 55-0 walling by the University of Michigan back in 1947.

But Munn snapped back after the defeat to compile an outstanding coaching record.

Daugherty, however, will have a rough assignment again next week. The Spartans go against Wisconsin, which smothered Marquette 52-14 last Saturday.

"Certainly we're disappointed," Daugherty said of Saturday's loss. "We were sorry to let the fans down."

"I'm proud of the team, though. They fought right down to the last play. We made a lot of mechanical errors that we'll have to straighten out. We'll be working hard this week to prepare for a tough Wisconsin team next Saturday."

Some MSC squad members were blaming themselves for the defeat after the game. The players felt they had Iowa on the hook at one time and then left them off.

MSC was completely outplayed in the 1st half and trailed 7-0 at the intermission, Iowa scoring on a 33-yard sideline run by Earl Smith.

In the 3rd quarter, the 1954 team reminded stadium and TV watchers of the squad that made a stirring comeback in the 2nd half of the Rose Bowl game. Spartans went 75 yards in nine plays to score with LeRoy Bolden making the touchdown.

A field goal by Jerry Planutis put MSC briefly ahead 10-7. But Elden Mathewson, substitute Iowa halfback, made a 52-yard punt return to the MSC goal line and Iowa punched over for the victory.

Chief Harriers to Open Season Against Waterford

Pontiac High's defending Saginaw Valley Conference champion cross-country squad opens its 1954 season tomorrow with a non-league run against Waterford.

Meet is set for 4 p.m. at the Beaudette Park course.

Coach Wally Schloerke has only two lettermen—senior Bill Imboden and junior Bill Douglas—back from the 1953 team that swept top honors in the Valley and state regional meets.

He lost four men through graduation and a fifth, junior John James, to the PHS football team.

Chief harriers won five dual tests last year to extend their 5-year undefeated streak to 28 meets.

Boston College '11' Defeats Titans, 12-7

DETROIT (UP)—University of Detroit isn't a 4th period football team based on the results of its 1st two games this season.

Titans were only 14 yards from a possible winning touchdown against highly-regarded Boston College in the final period Saturday night. But the drive bogged down and Detroit suffered a 12-7 loss.

Boston College, rated the top team in New England, dominated play during the 1st half. Halfback Ed De Silva sprinted 60 yards to score on the 3rd play from scrimmage and quarterback Henry Sullivan boot-legged four yards for a 2nd period touchdown.

Titans scored on a 44-yard march in the 3rd period with Bob Burmeister going the last two.

Detroit Man Wins 14th Annual Regatta

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—The 25-year-old son of a Detroit sportsman beat out veteran racing driver Bill Cantrell yesterday in the 14th annual running of the New Martinsville Regatta.

Lee Schoenith, son of sportsman Joseph A. Schoenith, piloted his Gale V to the Gold Cup championship by edging out Cantrell in Gale IV, a sister ship.

Nats to Reveal New Manager

Dressen Believed in Line as Replacement for 'Resigned' Harris

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Washington Senators arranged to make an announcement today about next year's manager — and all signs were that it would be the signing of Chuck Dressen, former Brooklyn pilot.

Bucky Harris, the Nats' manager for the past five years, was let out Friday in what the Washington baseball club called a resignation and Harris implied was a firing. The Nats wound up the season in sixth place in the American League.

Calvin Griffith, vice president of the club, announced a "press conference" in New York City late today.

Dressen, who managed Oakland, Calif., of the Pacific Coast League this year, was reported to be seeking a three-year contract at $42,500 a year.

Grains Ring Up Small Losses

CHICAGO (U-P)—Small price losses were rung up in grain on the Board of Trade today. Trading was active in soybeans but slow in all other pits.

Soybeans backed down several cents in early dealings, largely reflecting excellent harvesting weather and receipt of 618 cars of cash beans at Chicago. Easiness in beans was reflected in other pits but no real selling developed anywhere.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December $2.16, corn 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower, December $1.51, oats 1/2 to 1/4 lower, December 78, rye 1/2 to 1/4 lower, December $1.39, soybeans 1 to 2 1/4 lower, November $2.62 1/2 and 2 cents lower to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $14.92.

Pontiac Man, 28, Killed in Fight

Lawrence Freeman Shot During Argument; Police Hold Suspect

A 28-year-old father of five children died of a bullet wound at Pontiac General Hospital Saturday night about three hours after he scuffled with another man who, police say, has admitted the shooting in a home at 29 Iowa St.

The victim, Lawrence Freeman of 476 Ditmar Ave. died at 9:05 p.m. after one of two bullets struck him in the right lung. Pontiac Police said they are holding Charles R. Herron, 37, of 357 Rockwell Ave., booked for investigation of murder.

Herron, according to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, will be charged Tuesday pending further information.

Four witnesses, including Freeman's wife, Dorothy, 27, told Detective James LaPonsie the victim came to the Iowa street address in an attempt to effect a reconciliation after nine months of separation.

According to statements to police, Herron pulled a .38 revolver from his belt and fired twice after Freeman slapped his wife when she refused to return home with her husband.

One of the bullets struck the kitchen wall behind the victim while the second hit him in the chest, said police.

Both men, according to witnesses, fought briefly in the kitchen after the shooting. The scuffle ended in the backyard when Freeman passed out. Witnesses also told police that Herron beat the victim on the head and neck with a board after Freeman collapsed.

Herron, who fled from the home, was seized by police about 10 minutes afterwards at South boulevard and Bagley street. Police said he readily admitted the shooting.

Jews Will Pray for Strength as Old Year Ends

NEW YORK (AP)—The last night of an old year flickers out at sunset tonight, and millions of Jews gather to pray for greater spiritual strength in a troubled—but hopeful—world.

It is the eve of Rosh Hashana—the "beginning of the year" of 5715 as calculated by the ancient lunar calendar—and the first of Judaism's annual high holy days.

"Help us, God," the congregations will pray tonight, "to understand that injustice and hate will not forever afflict the sons of men; that righteousness and mercy will triumph in the end."

The occasion, which will be marked by the sounding of the shofar—the ram's horn—in temples and synagogues tomorrow, is one equally of thanksgiving, of repentance and redemption of God.

Special significance attaches to the observance this year, the 300th anniversary of the first Jewish immigration to what is now the United States.

Ike Helps Cook Beef Stew Says Defense Orders Favoring GM Plants

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower, playing the role of supervising chef, invited more than 175 guests to a beef stew lunch today.

The guests included several long-time friends who have been Eisenhower neighbors the many years he has been spending Colorado vacations at the home here of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud.

Invited, too, were quite a few Denver business men who are golfing pals of the President. Also asked were a couple of fellows who make a living at golf and give Eisenhower a few pointers — Ed Dudley, the pro at the Augusta National Club in Georgia and at Colorado Springs, and Ralph (Rip) Arnold, pro at Denver's Cherry Hills club where today's luncheon was being held.

The President also invited about 40 newsmen who have been covering his activities here. He said they were to have a half holiday today and gave instructions that everything at the luncheon, except the beef stew recipe and guest list, was off the record.

Close friends of Eisenhower have been telling for years about his beef stew, a ritual-like preparation usually several days in the making.

The recipe the White House made public is for 60 people, but assistant White House press secretary Murray Snyder told apprehensive newsmen enough stew was being cooked to provide even "seconds" for the more than 75 guests.

Here's the recipe:

First off you get 20 pounds of prime round steak — something considerably better than the "stew-ing meat." The White House calls it. Also eight pounds of small Irish potatoes, six bunches of small carrots, five pounds of small onions, 15 fresh tomatoes, three gallons of beef stock made from marrow bone with a bit of meat on it, salt, pepper, and a bunch of bouquet garniture, made of thyme, garlic and bay leaves.

With the ingredients ready, you start your beef stock two or three days ahead of your beef stew party. At Cherry Hills it has been simmering since Saturday.

Several hours in advance of the dinner hour put in the stew meat and cook it slowly in the beef stock until tender. Cook that mixture until the vegetables are done.

Then draw off two gallons of beef stock and thicken it slightly with beef rue. In this case, the rue is a mixture of about a pint and half of the fatty substance on top of the beef stock, and about a pound of flour. The rue should simmer 10 to 15 minutes before being used to thicken the stew.

After it has simmered, pour it back into the stew. Then let the whole concoction simmer for an hour and a half and serve.

Policemen Sylvester Lingeman and Robert Cady said Williams admitted committing two car thefts and two burglaries since his escape.

Lingeman and Cady arrested Williams because they became suspicious when he pulled the car he was driving to the curb and turned off the lights after passing them. The car, they said, turned out to have been stolen.

Decided He Could Act Better Than the Actors So He Went to Tryouts NEW YORK—Six months after Ethel and Albert started as a radio serial in 1944, Alan Bunce took on the role of Albert—and has been playing the patient spouse ever since. Alan's contribution to the program's success has been considerable. Ethel and Albert became a nationally televised show in April, 1953. Bunce co-stars with Peg Lynch, who plays Ethel. Bunce made his mark in television with "Ethel and Albert," but he was a seasoned performer of the legitimate stage and on radio long before the comedy series began. His decision to become an actor was a sudden one. He had been, in turn, an assistant broker on the Cotton Exchange and a candy salesman; and then, one night, while watching a play at the Broadway Theater, he concluded he was as good an actor as the principals on the stage. He auditioned for a role in the play, got it and, in a matter of six weeks, was doing the lead. The Cotton Exchange and the candy industry never saw him again. Instead, he became one of the theater's most ardent students. He worked diligently with summer stock companies, read all the books available on acting and the theater and saw as many plays as time and money would allow. As an actor on the legitimate stage, Alan has appeared in more than 30 plays, including the theater Guild's production of Valley Forge. Fine Lady starring Grace George, and Tommy, Howard Lindsay's first Broadway play. His total radio appearances exceeded 10,000. For six years he played the title role in the Young Doctor Malone series. Following "Dr. Malone," he became Albert in the "Ethel and Albert" series, which has become a favorite of families all over the U. S. Bunce was born in Westfield, N. J. He attended high school in Melrose, Mass., a suburb of Boston. His jobs with the Cotton Exchange and selling candy followed shortly thereafter. Not long after his debut as an actor he met and married Ruth Nugent, sister of writer-actor Eliot Nugent and a talented actress. They have three children: Alan Nugent, a sophomore at college; and John and Virginia, who are in high school. The family lives in Stamford, Conn.
