Romney Urges Quick Attack on Problems

Governor Delivers Address

By JIM DYGERT

LANSING — Gov. George W. Romney today exhorted Michigan's legislators to launch "an orderly and reasoned, immediate attack upon our most pressing problems."

★ ★ ★

Delivering his first State of the State Message to a joint session of the House and Senate, Romney asked for immediate attention to "what is necessary and what is possible" in a short regular session.

He also requested a special session after Labor Day to study tax reform.

"By getting right down to work and passing essential and possible legislation and adjourning," the governor said in his 21-page prepared text, "the legislature can destroy the image of Michigan state government as a dawdling, do-nothing organism with irreconcilable internal division and conflict.

"Such swift, decisive, reasonable legislative action will do much to restore confidence in the legislature, state government and in Michigan."

Repeating his campaign insistence that "Michigan's No. 1 economic need is jobs," Romney proposed government efficiency and economy and recommended legislation in several areas to meet this need.

He said he later will present a balanced budget. He predicted a $32-million surplus in the current fiscal year to apply to the state's $85-million deficit.

State of State Text, Page B-4

Tax reform will be necessary however, he said, because the state would be running a cash deficit again within two years "without adopting a single, significant new program."

★ ★ ★

Romney attributed the coming surplus to last year's increases in consumer and business taxes and to booming automobile production and sales.

DELAY TAX REFORM

He recommended deferring tax reform until fall to have the preliminary recommendations of six certified public accountants as a task force to study spending reforms.

★ ★ ★

"Tax reform for Michigan can best be achieved in a special session next fall with attention focused clearly and sharply upon this specific problem," Romney said.

★ ★ ★

He reflected the optimism in both houses as he said, "It is most heartening that on every hand there is evidence that the days of obstructionism for the sake of obstruction are over."

★ ★ ★

Republicans, controlling both houses, are in their strongest position in 14 years to pass a legislative program.

Moderates, who say they will support Romney's program, control the Republican majority in the Senate.

Throughout his speech, the governor emphasized his belief that approval of the proposed new state constitution by voters April 1 would speed improvement of the state's affairs.

EYE MAY 15

Although he made no specific recommendations on the length of the regular legislative session — the state's 72nd—key legislators have indicated a possible May 15 adjournment date.

★ ★ ★

Pointing out that the state's problems have arisen and have been aggravated over a period of years, Romney said, "solutions cannot be accomplished in a single legislative session or a single year."

★ ★ ★

He said sound money management was necessary to meeting the people's needs.

★ ★ ★

To restore confidence in the state's financial integrity, spark economic expansion and create more jobs, the state must get "more service for each dollar spent," he said.

★ ★ ★

In some of his specific recommendations, the governor asked the legislature to provide:

1. An expanded program in science technology, using the state universities as the basic resource.

★ ★ ★

2. A strong program to create new labor skills through vocational education, and to enlist labor as a fulltime partner in selling Michigan.

★ ★ ★

3. A new commission on economic expansion to replace the present Michigan Economic Development Commission.

AID UNEMPLOYED

4. New legislation to aid the unemployed and legislation enabling the state to qualify for federal funds to children of the unemployed.

★ ★ ★

5. Thorough scrutiny of present mental health facilities to insure their best use, and establishment of a community-based mental health program.

6. Legislation against racial discrimination in housing and labor organizations.

7. Legislation enabling political parties to remove unfit party officials, though not officers who only dissent from the views of the majority.

★ ★ ★

"Favorable action on the legislation I have recommended will make this the most productive legislative session in recent history," Romney predicted.

Highlights of Speech

- Get more service for each dollar spent
- It will be a balanced, tight budget
- Michigan needs complete tax revision
- Business must expand, create more jobs
- A responsible minimum wage must be set
- Action is needed on fair apportionment

Reaction Indicates Bipartisan Backing

LANSING — Initial reaction to Gov. George W. Romney's State of the State message today indicated Michigan's first Republican governor in 14 years may get wide-spread, if not well-scattered legislative support from both parties.

Republication reaction was generally lauditory with a few minor reservations. Democratic reaction was mixed.

His message was interrupted by applause 11 times.

Romney left the legislative chamber to a standing ovation escorted by a six-man committee including Reps. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, and William Hayward, R-Royal Oak.

Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski commented that "one could hardly fail to be impressed by the quantity of Gov. Romney's remarks" but voiced disapproval of Romney's request to defer action on tax reforms until after Labor Day.

"He seems still to find it difficult to deal with specifics," Lesinski noted. "I'm afraid we have at this point only the broadest possible guidelines for the postponement of action.

"I feel that the time for fiscal reform is now."

Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, termed Romney's message "a tremendous speech . . . the most complete State of the State Message I've ever heard.

"It showed the governor is thinking of next year as well as this year," Roberts added.

Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, thought the message was "very well delivered" and that Romney "made some very good points."

Some programs proposed by Romney found support among Democrats. Law voiced general approval common among many Democrats.

"As a whole the speech was

Romney Talks to Citizens

LANSING (AP)—The problems of ordinary citizens came ahead of the problems of state today as Gov. George Romney held his first informal "citizen session," one week ahead of schedule.

The governor hadn't planned to begin the five-minute interviews with private citizens until Jan. 17, because of today's "State of the State" message to the legislature.

But several people were waiting when he arrived at the executive office shortly after 8 a.m. He held nine interviews before going to the house to deliver his address at 11 a.m.

Congo Angry at 2 Envoys

Want British, Belgian Consuls to Leave

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—British and Belgian consuls in Elisabethville were declared persona non grata (unwelcome) today by the Central Congolese Government.

Bomboka asked for withdrawal of the consuls because of "the political positions recently adopted by these diplomats, which are incompatible with their functions."

(The British foreign office said a time limit of 24 hours had been set).

The two consuls, Britain's Derek Dodson and Frederik Vandewalle of Belgium, have been in the forefront of attempts to mediate between Katanga's President Moise Tshombe and the United Nations.

Relations with Britain have also been strained in recent weeks, and last month trainee Congolese journalists pelted the British embassy in Leopoldville with tomatoes.

The Belgian consulate in Elisabethville got the same treatment a few days earlier—from angry Belgians protesting their government's support for the U Thant plan to reunited the Congo.

MAY SCORN GIFT

According to the semiofficial Congolese news agency yesterday, the Leopoldville regime was expected to turn down a badly needed British gift of

President Posts Victory in House Rules Dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy will submit his 1964 budget to Congress at noon E.S.T. Thursday, Jan. 17, the White House announced today.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has won the first battle of the new Congress—the showdown over the House Rules Committee. But not even the victors claimed it was a major breakthrough for the President's program.

Only the tougher fights to come will show whether it was a real or hollow victory.

The tough fights were shaping up even as the Congress members were welcoming each other back to the Capitol, meeting new members and generally going about the task of getting back into business.

Republicans fired opening salvos at the President's estimated $99-billion budget, saying that his proposed tax cuts plus bigger spending would bring a whopping deficit.

Some of the GOP's young Turks let it be known they intend to offer alternatives to Kennedy's programs rather than just condemn them.

The first day's drama centered on the House vote of 235 to 196 to retain 15 members on the Rules Committee instead of having the total drop back down to 12 as it was before the last session.

Presumably, the enlarged membership would give liberal supporters of the Kennedy program an 8-7 edge and keep the committee from falling back under conservative control.

Obviously the result pleased the President. He had contended that unless the committee was enlarged his program would be emasculated.

His aides were saving their cheers for later. One top administration leader, asked if the rules outcome meant the House would now give the Kennedy program its blessing, said bluntly: "Hell, no!"

The same rules fight was won two years ago by a narrow 217 to 212 margin under the prodding of the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

★ ★ ★

By passing it this time by a much safer margin, the House gave Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., his biggest victory since he replaced Rayburn a year ago.

Voting for the increase were 207 Democrats and 28 Republicans. Forty-eight Democrats joined 148 Republicans in voting against it.

Major changes in support of the increase were a net pickup of eight in the Georgia delegation and a big gain in the California delegation swollen through redistricting.

★ ★ ★

For the President, however, this represented only the first of many hurdles in attempting to get Congress to approve tax cuts and revisions, federal aid to education, health care for the elderly financed through Social Security, and other proposals.

LOTS OF HEARINGS

These measures all will be subject to extensive hearings and uncertain action by originating committees before they even reach the rules group.

Coming in the forefront of them may be a bill introduced in the house Wednesday and to be offered in the Senate Monday to set up a youth conservation corps and to authorize a program of local public service works projects.

This measure, aimed at putting a minimum of 50,000 youths on the rolls at an annual cost of $3,500 each, seemed calculated to raise the hackles of conservative Republicans and Democrats. It did.

"How can the President suggest adding around $175 million a year to our civilian expenditures and propose tax cuts at the same time when we may face the biggest deficit in our history?" Asked Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

County Rep Backed JFK

Broomfield Said 'Aye' on Rules Committee

U. S. Rep. William Broomfield, R-Oakland County, was one of 28 Republicans who voted yesterday for the administration-backed proposal to retain the 15-member House Rules Committee rather than trimming it back to 12.

BROOMFIELD

In the first session of the 88th Congress, the House of Representatives favored the 15-member committee 235 to 196, giving the administration an initial victory.

In commenting on his vote, Broomfield said:

"Quite frankly, I don't think it makes a bit of difference whether we have 15 or 12 members on the committee."

"The enlarged committee — as the last two years most certainly proved—didn't result in a flood of fly-by-night legislation passing through Congress.

★ ★ ★

"In fact, it was the rules committee which the Kennedy administration sought that blocked his own program. With two Democrats for every Republican on the committee, the Democrats most certainly can't raise the cry of 'obstructionism' as they have in the past.

"If there is going to be any obstructionism, it is going to have to come from the Democrats, not the Republicans."

RALPH A. MAIN

County Names Head Planner

Succeeds Swanson, Who Quit by Surprise

Former Oakland County Surveyor Ralph A. Main was elected chairman of the County Planning Commission yesterday after J. Robert F. Swanson declined the post he held for the past 10 years.

Swanson, 62-year-old Bloomfield Hills architect, explained he was going into semiretirement and, since he planned to do a lot of traveling, wouldn't be available for many meetings this year.

Fellow commissioners were on the verge of unanimously re-electing him and his fellow incumbents — Main as vice chairman and Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson, secretary.

Swanson, who has headed the commission since its inception 10 years ago, asked the members to elect their former vice chairman, Donald A. Kalmbach.

Swanson said his preference of Kalmbach over Main for the top position was a matter of age.

"It is time for a younger man to step into the job," Swanson said.

PAST DRAIN CHIEF

Main, who also is a former mayor of Birmingham, member of the board of supervisors and past drain commissioner, is 58.

He was re-elected on the Republican ticket to his third term as county surveyor Nov. 6, at the same time voters abolished the office.

Fellow commissioners said they favored Main to succeed Swanson because of a near-perfect attendance record. Kalmbach has been unable to attend many planning commission meetings, they said.

Individuals desiring to come, but do not have tickets, will be admitted just before the demonstration starts, as long as there are seats available.

Younger Republicans Will Battle Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — More of President Kennedy's legislative proposals will be met with counterproposals, rather than simply fought head-on, if newly influential younger Republicans have their way.

The policy of "more alternatives" was described today by Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., as a principal objective of the younger Republican House members who installed Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan as chairman of the House Republican Conference (caucus) and increased their voting strength in the Republican Policy Committee.

Goodell, a third-term congressman, was one of the organizers of a smooth operation with the limited aim of capturing for the younger members a share in the House Republican leadership—but not its top command.

Mounted in little more than a weekend, and taking the older leaders by surprise, the coup was a complete success.

Goodell talked about it in an interview, and others — including some who did not want to be quoted—contributed their versions of the group's objectives.

These included:

1. Generally shaking up the GOP House leadership, whose main figures are Rep. Charles A. Halleck Jr. of Indiana, the minority leader, and Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, the whip.

Profile of Rep. Ford, Page B-7

MASS MEETING

2. Making the Republican conference, the mass meeting of all Republican members, "a more imaginative influence" on party policies.

3. Increasing the self-confidence of the younger Republicans and encouraging them to act on good ideas when they have them.

4. Providing what the insurgents regard as a more attractive image of the party leadership to the country in general.

His election, he said, was symbolic and "gave the younger people a feeling that 'by golly we can do something — we have a spokesman of our own choice in the party.'"

Battle Blaze at Area Home

Bloomfield Hills Fire Blamed on Main Break

Four area fire departments at 1 p. m. today were fighting a stubborn blaze in the Bloomfield Hills home of Dr. Ralph Margulis, 150 Martell Drive, but it was believed that the $200,000 trilevel house would be destroyed.

Firemen have been fighting the fire at the home of Dr. Margulis since 10:30 a.m. It is believed to have started when a ruptured gas main exploded.

The doctor said it appeared that the house and all its contents will be lost.

A ruptured gas main is believed to have been responsible for the start of the fire, reported at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. Anga Cicarelli, mother-in-law of Dr. Margulis, said that she and the maid, Alma Lell, were in the house when a workmen rushed in and told us to "get out before it blows up."

Construction workers were on the property to relocate a water well, she said.

Mrs. Margulis, returned from a shopping trip to find flames shooting out of the roof of the trilevel home.

The fire scene is near the Cranbrook Institute.

very good," Law noted. "Many of his recommendations I will be glad to support because they will be good for the people of Michigan.

"There are others," he added, "where I'm not sure exactly what he has in mind. On some, such as the new constitution, I don't agree with him at all."

Sen. Charles S. Blondy, D-Detroit, newly elected Democratic minority leader, said "many of the programs . . . support part of the Democratic program.

"If the governor can give us some Republican votes, these things can be accomplished immediately." Blondy said he felt the state can't afford to delay action in some areas where Romney calls for delay.

All of the legislators from Oakland County predicted that most of Romney's programs will be enacted this year.

May Bring Breakthrough

U.S. Holds Hope for Red Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials expressed hope today that periodic high level talks with Soviet representatives, such as the ones now under way here, will lead eventually to a breakthrough in improving East-West relations.

Major Kennedy administration hopes at the moment still center on the possibility of getting an American-British agreement with the Soviet Union for a nuclear weapons test ban. This is due in part to the belief that the widening split between the Soviet Union and Red China may influence Soviet nuclear test policy.

President Kennedy spent an hour at the White House late Wednesday with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, who is scheduled to return to Moscow in a few days.

Kuznetsov meets with Secretary of State Dean Rusk today and then lunches with Rusk and other foreign policy officials at the State Department.

Kuznetsov will have lunch Friday with William C. Foster, director of the U.S. disarmament agency.

On leaving the White House Kuznetsov said only that he came from New York to Washington at the President's invitation and that Kennedy and he had discussed "some problems of mutual interest."

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the two men and their aides met "in a very cordial atmosphere" and reviewed the recent negotiations on the Cuban crisis which had been conducted in New York.

U.S. officials said specific subjects touched on by Kennedy or Kuznetsov included disarmament and Berlin. It was reported that Kuznetsov brought up the Berlin question, but for what purpose was not disclosed.

Kuznetsov was invited to see the President and Rusk, it is understood, primarily because U.S. leaders appreciated the diplomatic manner in which he had handled the Cuban negotiations.

The deeper purpose of the discussions here is to try to find some basis for clearing up outstanding problems troubling East-West relations.

So far as Cuba is concerned Kennedy is known to be determined to do all he can to get the Soviet Union to withdraw an estimated 17,000 military personnel.

On the Soviet side there is known to be disappointment at Kennedy's refusal to give the United Nations a formal no-invasion pledge. Kennedy's position is that this is not possible in view of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's failure to make good on his promise of inspection in Cuba of the removal of Soviet rockets and bombers.

Birmingham Area News

Hold Meeting on Development Plan

BIRMINGHAM — City officials met with representatives of eight major civic organizations yesterday in the first of a series of meetings aimed at adoption of Birmingham's central business district development plan.

The plan, described by City Planner William R. Brownfield as "a concept that would revitalize the central business district," was completed in 1961.

It was designed to serve as a guide for improving the movement of vehicular and pedestrian traffic, parking, street lighting and the appearances of buildings in the downtown area.

Birmingham merchants, with assistance of the city administration and professional planners specifically hired for the project, paid more than $15,000 to develop the plan.

The city commission has scheduled a special joint meeting with nine other local organizations to get the plan under way.

The special session will be held at 8 p.m. Feb. 14 in the Municipal Building.

The purpose of yesterday's meeting, like another preliminary session to be held at 3:30 p.m. Feb. 6 in the Municipal Building, is to work out details of topics to be discussed at the joint meeting.

Mayor Florence Willett presided at yesterday's meeting.

She explained that any proposed changes to the present CBDD plan should be prepared now in addition to summaries of the needs of each group invited to attend.

These and other details should be worked out in advance so the organizations will have a workable agenda for the Feb. 14 meeting, she said.

Attending yesterday's session of persons were feared dead.

were representatives of the Birmingham School District, City Planning Board, Birmingham Council of Churches, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Realtors, Library Board and the Birmingham Community House Board of directors.

Also invited to attend the Feb. 14 meeting is a local citizens' committee, an unofficial group of residents who joined together in an effort to determine the traditional values and characteristics of Birmingham.

Mrs. Gunderson died yesterday after a lengthy illness. She was a member of the New Century Club of Detroit.

Might Install Seat Belts in All New Cars

DETROIT (UPI) — The auto industry is considering a plan to make seat belts standard equipment on all new cars starting in 1964, it was learned today.

The plan would cost $75 million a year but could save thousands of lives.

Government, police and safety officials applauded the idea which was proposed recently by Ford Motor Co.

The Automobile Manufacturers Association held committee meetings on the seat belt plan last week. The full AMA board may approve it within a month with only one or two dissenting votes.

Only a small percentage of people now wear seat belts or have them in their cars. The National Safety Council estimates that only five million out of 75 million vehicles have belts.

The installation rate on the '63 models is low — 15 per cent on the Plymouths, for example. A few of the high-performance cars such as the Corvette, the Avanti and the Chrysler 300J have belts as standard equipment.

Some states have passed laws requiring seat belts on all new cars. Among them are Wisconsin, New York, Rhode Island, Virginia and Mississippi.

Municipal Court Judge Will Enter Own Plea

HOLLAND (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Cornelius Vandermeulen referred his case to Traffic Court and expects to be arraigned "just like any other offender" on a ticket he received this week for failure to yield right of way as the result of a collision at a city intersection.

"For 15 years I've been lecturing on traffic safety," said the 82-year-old judge, "and I must admit I was careless."

A continuing heavy demand for building materials is indicated by construction figures. A recent report showed contracts for new homes and apartments were 16 per cent higher for the first seven months of 1962 than for the same period in 1961.

Student All Fired Up

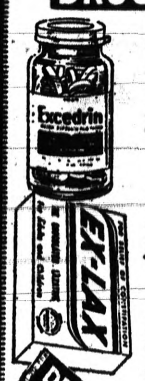

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP) — A 19-year-old engineering student at the University of Cagliari ran afoul of school authorities when he chose a hot method of showing displeasure over a schedule change. Irked when he discovered his class in hydraulics had been canceled, he tried to set fire to the chairs in the lecture hall.

AEC Studies Test Request

End 6-Day Hearing on Monroe Atom Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — An application by the Power Reactor Development Co. to start testing its $95-million atomic power reactor near Monroe, Mich., was taken under consideration yesterday by an Atomic Energy Commission three-man hearing board.

Samuel W. Jensch, chairman of the board, gave PRDC up to Jan. 21 and the AEC regulatory staff up to Jan. 28 to file proposed findings and conclusions.

As the six-day hearing ended, W. Graham Claytor, attorney for PRDC, asked the board to make its intermediate decision effective immediately.

Thus, if the board approves the company's request to start testing the reactor up to one megawatt of power, PRDC could, under such procedure, begin the tests without waiting for final action by the AEC itself.

Claytor informed the board that the Enrico Fermi reactor, a fastbreeder type, would be ready to receive fuel by Feb. 20. He said that a delay in starting the operation would cost $150,000 a month in overhead and administrative expenses.

The electricity to be generated would be transmitted over the Detroit Edison Co. system. The latter is one of 21 corporations that joined in creating PRDC to build the reactor.

Oliver Leo Beaudette

One of Pontiac's truly pioneer families suffer a big loss in the death of OLIVER LEO BEAUDETTE.

Born here 71 years ago, he has been a steadfast and lifelong resident of Pontiac, living on West Huron Street for more than 40 years in the big home on the corner across from the high school.

BEAUDETTE

He was the son of O. J. Beaudette who established the Beaudette Body Company, Pontiac's leading manufacturing institution a half Century ago. Mr. Beaudette was in business with his father until the plant was sold to Fisher Brothers. Shortly after Fisher built the current plant, the Beaudette Body Company was razed.

★ ★ ★

The BEAUDETTES were one of Henry FORD'S prime sources of bodies. Further, it was more than curbstone humor when someone said: "The BEAUDETTES were one of the few suppliers that made important financial progress themselves when dealing with HENRY FORD."

★ ★ ★

Kindly, affectionate and possessing a sense of humor that never left him, Mr. Beaudette was a delightful companion wherever he might have been encountered. During his more active days, he was one of the best golfers in the district, a magnificent upland shot and many people rated him a dry fly fisherman equalled by few of the professional guides. Barely 24 hours before Someone beckoned, he was playing bridge with old cronies and was in high spirits.

Portrait of Mona Lisa Still Holds Mystery

It is on loan from the French government and will be shown also at the Metropolitan Museum in New York City before being returned to the Grand Gallery in the Louvre.

MONA LISA

The Mona Lisa is neither the oldest nor—as some say—the greatest portrait in the world. But it is probably the best known. Actually, it is a small portrait, just 30 inches high and 21 inches wide.

Lisa was the third wife of a Florentine patrician, Francesco di Zanobi del Giocondo. She was about 25 years old when she sat for Leonardo da Vinci, then in his early 50s.

History tells us that LISA sat for LEONARDO for the better part of three or four years. And it seems quite evident that they both enjoyed the project even though LISA was married at the time. As a matter of fact, one of her children died during the sittings.

The story goes that Leonardo was never quite satisfied that the portrait was complete. Another odd point—Giocondo, Lisa's husband, never got his hands on his wife's likeness. Leonardo sold it to Francis I, King of France, about 1516.

There are many theories about the smile. Perhaps the most engaging is advanced by Russian novelist and critic MEREZHKOVSKY. One of LEONARDO'S friends is supposed to have sensed between the painter and his subject a "secret which brought them together and separated them from the rest of the world." It was not a secret love, or love "as one ordinarily understands it." The secret is in the weary-lidded eyes and the unfathomable smile.

Firemen Did Good Job in Fighting WKC Fire

All reports indicate that the Pontiac Fire Department did an excellent job in fighting the WKC store fire.

Many who witnessed this tragic fire marvelled at the way our local department worked successfully to contain the fire within the confines of the one building.

Had it not been for the diligent and dedicated efforts put forth by these firefighters, it is entirely possible that several other nearby structures might have been destroyed.

Oftentimes taxpayers are critical that the firemen are not working a full 40-hour week fighting fires. This is true, but when they are called to duty the risks and dangers they encounter far outweigh the charge that they have slack periods between fires.

We commend these courageous firemen for their dedication to duty.

Industry Awaits Animal Labor

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — What industry is looking forward to, in these days of crippling strikes, is the promised era when birds, animals and fish will take over some of the work of men.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

That era will be, some experimenters assure, a great deal cheaper for big business.

If industry can keep the labor unions out of the animal kingdom (whoever heard of an organized chimpanzee, or a pigeon picket?), they say, the feathered and furred workers of the world can "do a job" as well as, and much cheaper than, machines or men.

For example, chimps have been trained to be excellent fruit-pickers. They can punch presses in factories with deadly accuracy. They can also operate phone switchboards.

Porpoises—well, everybody knows porpoises, with their bigger-than-man-sized brains, have limitless future possibilities. But right now, what they can do is detect certain noises which are important in some industries.

Pigeons are excellent assembly line inspectors, or could be given the opportunity. They've been taught to inspect drug capsules or transistors, and to reject any product that is not perfect in shape or color.

Pigeons also have been trained to read the handwriting on bank checks, and one scientist claims they would be much more economical in a small bank than a scanning machine.

Other animals do other chores. The field is so new that research has barely begun. I'm sure the man-made unions will fight the hiring of animals, fish and birds all the way.

BLUE JANUARY

For most people, January is not the most popular month in the 12. In fact, it is peculiarly unpopular, marking the let-down after the holidays and the lull before most resort vacations.

It is the dead, real dead, center of the least-lovable season of the year.

From what we read, even the month-namers hundreds of years ago didn't cozy up to January. It was named after Janus, a two-faced Roman god.

One of his heads symbolized youth, the beginning, and the other old age, the end. They also symbolized the good and evil in man, and represented man's habits of starting off right and ending up wrong.

So what do you expect of January . . . lollipops and roses?

Want to Bet He Never Finds Us?

David Lawrence Discusses:

Gold, Dollars, Economic Delusions

WASHINGTON—Taking a pad and pencil in hand and doing a little figuring, this correspondent finds that, in the time he has been writing a daily dispatch about national affairs from Washington, the annual expenditures of the Federal government have multiplied 136 times.

LAWRENCE

Next year's spending, for instance, is to be $100 billion, whereas in 1916 it was only three-fourths of a billion.

It isn't, of course, the same dollar it used to be. Thus, in terms of the purchasing power of the 1916 dollar, the Federal spending today would be figured at $36 billion.

So, on this basis, it has gone up 49 times since 1916.

Another way to look at it is in terms of gold. It would have cost only 36 million ounces of gold in 1916 to get the equivalent of the federal expenditures in that year.

Today it costs 2,857,000,000 ounces of gold to equal the Federal expenditures of the coming year, or about 80 times what it cost in 1916.

There has been in the interim, to be sure, a revaluation of gold. In 1934, it went from $20.67 an ounce to $35 an ounce.

★ ★ ★

It has stayed at that price ever since, though lately the gold producers abroad have been agitating to have the official price here raised by the United States government.

DOLLAR DECLINE

Since 1916, the dollar has gone down from 100 cents to 36 cents in purchasing power. If this decline continues over the next few decades, the dollar itself may be worth ten cents or less in comparison with preceding decades.

Two world wars and the Korean War have, to be sure, sent the Federal budgets upward, but somehow, even when the wars are over, there is an inclination to keep up the high level of spending.

Today, the "cold war" is costing more money per year than the annual outlay at the time the United States was participating in World War I.

Expenditures, on the other hand, for nonarmament purposes are raising faster than those necessary for armament.

A strange delusion has emerged from the pens of many of the present-day economists. They argue that bigger and bigger deficits mean more and more prosperity.

There are some professors who contend that bigger deficits should not be constant but only intermittent so as to stimulate growth.

This is the view being accepted by President Kennedy. It has been proved fallacious throughout history, and doubtless will be again.

DEFICITS DEVALUE

Deficits cause the dollar, in effect, to be devalued as prices rise and the purchasing power of the monetary unit itself declines.

The gross national product grows bigger, but if the dollar is worth only 36 cents, you have to have three times as many dollars for the same purchasing power.

They are conscientious persons, of course, who really believe that "liberalism" is a synonym for "progressivism" and that "conservatism" is just a "stand-pat" philosophy.

The real difference between those who advocate deficit spending and those who want to conserve the value of the monetary unit is that most of the former school of thought disregard the experience of people who have gone broke.

Hal Boyle Says:

January's Hope Month at U.S. Business Offices

January is a pulse month, a purposeful month. It makes up only about a twelfth of the year, but in most offices at least a sixth of the year's work is done in January.

BOYLE

Now is the time when new enterprises are launched. The old year with all its failures and disappointments is buried. The new year shakes a strong and eager fist at tomorrow.

January is a hope month. January is a pep month. Everybody pops and crackles like a brand new box of breakfast food, freshly opened.

The boss calls the top yes-men into conference and shows them neat charts showing business going up...up...and way up!

"We'll do at least 15 per cent better this year, or my name isn't Phineas T. Boggle," he growls cheerfully, chomping on the ruins of a six-bit cigar.

"Why not set a goal of at least 20 per cent better, chief, and then let's go on from there?" burbles his favorite cheerleader.

VIGOROUS NODS

Everybody nods enthusiastically. Why not? The big boys leave the conference room all fired up, as if they had just caught the ball on the one-yard line and were running it back for a touchdown.

But what happens? January ends, and February begins. The pulse has pulsed. A pause inevitably follows.

Silently and invisibly enthusiasm wanes. The office staff suddenly tires of the thralldom of winter, the sense of rush...rush...rush. The erosion of the workaday rut begins to chafe again. The feeling of high and holy endeavor vanishes. The problem again becomes one mainly of merely getting the job done.

The white collar peon no longer sees the "Do It Now!" sign on his desk. His glazed eyes are fixed in fancy on a green isle far away, washed by a murmurous sea.

But the boss doesn't just sit there daydreaming. He does something. Something constructive.

"I'm going down to Miami for a couple of weeks and take a look-see into the possibility of us opening a branch office there," he tells his yes-men. "Guess I might as well lug along my golf clubs—on the off-chance I'll be able to crowd in a few rounds."

One by one the staff begins to come in a few moments late to work. The coffee breaks stretch from 10 minutes to 20. The hour lunch to an hour and a half. The suggestion box is empty.

And business goes on as usual.

Need 'Right Action' for Good Year

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The extent to which U.S. government actions influence the national and world economies is emphasized in practically all major business forecasts made for 1963.

EDSON

Almost every analysis predicts with guarded optimism — barring a war, of course—that this will be a good year. Nothing sensational. No boom. But no bust, either, if the government does the right things.

The gloomiest forecast that has come to this department's attention is Bank of America's warning that a recession is a possibility by mid-1963 unless substantial federal income tax cuts are made.

There are many doubts in Washington that Congress can make tax cuts effective by midyear. A more likely target date is Jan. 1, 1964.

Assuming the tax cuts come, however, the California financial giant predicts that consumer spending will be up four per cent, plant and equipment spending up 4 to 5 per cent, government spending up 10 per cent.

This rise in government spending alone will account for one-third of the increase in gross national product to an estimated $577 billion for the full year.

On the east coast, First National Bank of Boston points out that, "the poorer the economic outlook, the more likely a tax cut to thwart it. The better the business outlook, the more likely would seem to be delay for debate on the size, shape and timing of tax changes . . .

"The safest assumption seems to be that there will be no tax reduction in 1963 or that it will have small influence on the year as a whole."

National Association of Real Estate Boards thinks new home sales will be "at levels similar to 1962." Associated General Contractors predicts that total construction, the nation's largest industry, again will reach a new high dollar volume of work put in place.

Association of American Railroads takes hope on narrow margin gains made in 1962, after two rock-bottom years. An improved outlook for 1963 is made dependent, however, on a green light for mergers, an end of featherbedding and congressional approval of the President's transportation program.

From New York, National Industrial Conference Board predicts pretax profits for the first half of 1963 will surpass the first six months' profits in 1962. But the 1963 improvement is expected to stem mostly from increased outlays by consumers and government.

From Pittsburgh, U.S. Steel Corporation's year-end survey notes that while steel consumption in 1962 was close to the 1955-57 high of 115 million tons, domestic production was only 98 million tons. The difference was accounted for by foreign steel imports.

From Detroit, the 1963 outlook is for another year of seven million cars and a million trucks produced, with foreign car sales continuing their decline below 350,000.

This is based on record-rate consumer spending and continuously rising government expenditures. The inference is that if the latter is cut, the outlook might change.

Internationally, Morgan Guaranty Trust of New York finds that the government has used foreign exchange strategy effectively in defending the dollar and stemming the outflow of gold. Federal Reserve System's "currency swaps" are commended.

Under this plan, the Federal Reserve draws on foreign currencies from foreign central banks to buy their surplus dollars which might be presented on claims against U.S. gold. Later, when the pressure is off, the currencies are swapped back.

Morgan Guaranty notes, however, there are limits to what government operations in foreign currencies can do to balance international payments. Again this emphasizes the important role that government plays in the world economy.

It should be a source of great satisfaction to all residents of Michigan to see that Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, is becoming the most important assistant the President has. The national goal is a large number of Americans offering their services to their own communities and to the nation so that we can more adequately cope with critical human problems.

'U.N. Must Restore Its Good Character'

To brand the whole work of the United Nations on account of the current tragedy would be wrong. Revived Strike Talks End With No Progress

NEW YORK (AP)—Suddenly revived joint peace talks between striking printers and publishers of New York City's nine major newspapers, blacked out for 34 days, broke off after 45 minutes.

Said federal mediator Stephen I. Schlossberg Wednesday night: "I can't report any real progress. I have adjourned the meetings subject to my call. I have no idea when I will resume them."

Bertram A. Powers, head of striking Local 6 of the International Typographical Union, AFL-CIO, said: "My guess is we're farther apart than we were."

Asked why, Powers replied: "I don't know why—the publishers are not yet ready to negotiate a contract."

Amory H. Bradford, chairman of the negotiators committee of the publishers association of New York City and vice president of the New York Times, said the situation was "no worse and no better."

"We stand exactly where we stood before today," he said, "It can end only when the union agrees to a reasonable settlement which will allow all the newspapers to survive."

The strike survey being conducted by a three-man fact-finding panel of jurists was to resume today. The panel first met last Tuesday.

In Cleveland, Mayor Ralph S. Locher met again Wednesday with two striking unions which have closed that city's two newspaper, the Plain Dealer and the Press & News, for 41 days.

The walkout involves 525 members of the AFL-CIO Cleveland Newspaper Guild, seeking union security and wage increases, and 455 independent Teamsters Union delivery drivers, demanding more wages and better working conditions. The strike has idled 2,000 other employes of the two papers.

SEPARATE MEETINGS

In the New York strike, subcommittees for both sides met separately for several hours before Schlossberg announced the joint meeting.

Publishers are cooperating with the survey panel, headed by Judge Harold R. Medina of the U.S. Court of Appeals The sessions have been boycotted by Powers pending a union membership meeting next Sunday. The board had been asked to report its findings by Friday.

The printers struck Dec. 8 against the Times, Daily News, Journal-American, and World Telegram & the Sun. The other five major dailies—the Post, Herald Tribune, Mirror, Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press—shut down voluntarily. The Press continues to publish editions distributed in suburban Long Island.

The printers are demanding an $18.45 weekly wage increase plus fringe benefits spread over two years. Prestrike wages were $141 weekly for day-shift work.

The publishers have offered a $9.20 weekly package increase over two years. The printers' demands, the publishers say, would amount to $38 per man per week. The walkout by the 3,000 printers has idled a total of 20,000 employes.

The 900-member mailers union decided Wednesday to strike formally against the Times, News, Journal-American and World Telegram & the Sun. The pressmen's union filed additional federal court suits for $650,000 against the Times and $247,000 against the Journal-American.

Earlier in the week, the pressmen filed a total of $512,000 in damage suits against the Mirror, Herald Tribune and Post, charging the union members were locked out of their jobs in violation of their contracts.

U.S. Dock Workers Strike Starts to Sting Abroad, Too

NEW YORK (AP)—Because of the East Coast dock strike, workers at a West German automobile factory will get an enforced two-day vacation next week.

Fifty thousand banana farmers in Ecuador, lacking insurance on their perishable crop, half of which is sold in the United States, are threatened with ruinous losses.

A million tons of U.S. food consigned as aid to foreign nations is dammed up in nearly paralyzed ports from Maine to Texas.

AFFECTS 41 PORTS

These are some of the effects of the work stoppage that has tied up general cargo at 41 Atlantic and Gulf coast ports since Dec. 23.

The strike stemmed from a contract dispute between 60,000 members of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association and the New York Shipping Association, representing the shipping industry.

Alexander P. Chopin, association chairman, appraised the dollar cost domestically.

★ ★ ★

"It's like throwing a pebble into a quiet lake," Chopin said. "The longer the strike lasts, the farther it ripples back into the nation, squeezing off commerce."

In Chicago, the wholesale price of bananas jumped $1.50 a 40-pound box to $5.25. Imported phonograph record players were in short supply in New York. Dealers in imported cars ran low on, or out of, some popular models.

In a New Orleans wharf shed, a $150,000 shipment of government-owned cheese lay exposed to spoilage.

Chief sufferers so far have been the payless dock and allied maritime workers, port city stores and taverns they patronize, steamship lines and import-export businesses.

No major industrial shutdowns were reported because of inability to move goods from factory sites, or store them. Many businesses adjusted to shipping and storage problems.

The day after the strike began, rail shipments of general cargo to affected ports was embargoed.

Even so, more than 14,000 rail cars clogged yards and approaches to the docks this week. Two-thirds of them were filled with grain for export elevators.

Elevators neared their working capacity of 3.9 million bushels in Philadelphia and 11.5 million bushels at New Orleans.

Oil, coal, sugar, ore and other bulk materials movements were affected little or not at all at Boston, Norfolk and other ports. This type cargo is loaded and unloaded automatically — without longshoremen labor.

400 SHIPS IDLED

★ ★ ★

Talks continue here today in efforts to settle the dispute between the dock union and the New York Shipping Association, which represents 145 shipping and stevedoring companies. Over the years, contract terms reached between the two groups here traditionally set a pattern for settlements in other ports.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, who met separately with representatives of both sides Wednesday, reported no progress toward settlement.

Wages are a major issue in the dispute. The union is seeking a package increase of 50 cents an hour, including 26 cents in wages, over two years. The industry has offered 22 cents over two years. The prestrike basic wage averaged $3.02 an hour.

After 30 Years

Locates Missing Dad

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

A 30-year-old Pontiac woman, who last saw her father when she was 1 month old, is probably responsible for saving his life.

When Mrs. Jesse Rosales, 22 School St., was an infant, her parents separated. Her mother died when the girl was 10 and she went to live with her grandmother.

Never giving up hope that he still might be alive, she was rewarded just before Christmas when an aunt and uncle promised to help her find her father.

Through efforts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the father, John E. Blaisdell, was located in a VFW hospital in Biloxi, Miss., suffering from third-degree burns covering half of his body.

He had accidentally threw gasoline on hot coals in the yard thinking it was fuel oil.

FIRST TIME

Last Sunday Mrs. Rosales called the hospital and heard her father's voice for the first time. Until that time Blaisdell reportedly had no will to live.

He was lonely, tired, and life was bleak for the 63-year-old man.

He wrote a four-page letter telling of his lonely life and, now, of his desire to come to Michigan when and if he is able.

"If God lets me live until next spring I will come back to Michigan to be with you," he wrote.

Mrs. Rosales wants to go to Mississippi to see her father.

But with three little children to feed and clothe and mountainous hospital bills from recent illnesses, she can't afford it.

★ ★ ★

Though frustrated by the lack of funds, Mrs. Rosales is confident she and her father will be reunited at the first opportunity.

Haste Makes Waste

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Stricter enforcement of a local ordinance that prohibits drivers from crossing newly painted traffic markers has been asked by O. J. Falin, city traffic director. Falin estimates that violation of the ordinance costs taxpayers an annual $30,000 in repainting smudged and ruined markings.

Income Tax Primer

Who Qualifies as Deduction?

(Editor's Note — This is the fourth of eight articles in the Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Income Tax Primer, for readers who want more information than is supplied in the official instructions.)

By RICHARD A. MULLENS and CHARLES W. SCHOENEMAN
Written for NEA

When you file your 1962 tax return, you can claim a $600 exemption for a person, though not related to you:

(1) — if you furnish over half the person's support for the year.

(2) — if the person has less than $600 income for the year, and

(3) — if the person makes his (or her) abode in your home the entire year as a household member.

You, of course, receive an exemption for members of your family, including grandchildren, step-relatives, nieces, nephews and in-laws, if you furnish over one-half support.

An exemption is likewise available for any descendant of your uncle or aunt (first cousin) who received institutional care because of physical or mental disability and who was a member of your household before receiving such care.

To measure "support" compare amount of support received from you with amount the individual receives from all other sources — including what the person furnishes himself.

Food, shelter, clothing and medical care are included. Fair market value is taken into account if furnished "in kind."

The amount the person furnishes himself includes Social Security benefits plus, of course, any income which would ordinarily be taxable.

There is a special provision for multiple support agreements.

Scholarship grants to your child do not have to be taken into account in determining total support.

The Internal Revenue Service has recently ruled that amounts spent by a state institution for the mentally retarded for room, board, tuition of a child will be treated as a scholarship grant.

On the other hand, certain expenses you do incur for your child may not be for support, such as premiums for life insurance policies with the children as beneficiaries, and the cost of a car.

Taxpayers get $600 exemptions, without regard to "support" (1) for himself, (2) for being over 65, and (3) by reason of blindness.

There is another exemption allowed for your spouse for her being over 65, or by reason of her blindness.

Spouse's exemptions are available to her (or him) on your joint return — or on your return if you file a separate return, if she (or he) has no gross income, and if she (or he) is not another taxpayer's dependent.

Q — Who may claim the status of "Head of Household" or "Surviving Spouse"? What are the advantages?

A — First, to be "Head of Household" you must be unmarried (including divorced or legally separated), and you must furnish over one-half of the cost of maintaining a household for the entire year for at least one of your relatives.

If the relative is your father or mother, he or she must be your dependent, but can live in a domicile separate from yours.

If the relative is your child, grandchild, or step-child, he (or she) must be unmarried and must live with you — but need NOT be your dependent.

MUST BE DEPENDENTS

Other relatives must live with you and MUST be your dependents.

If you qualify, you can use a special tax rate schedule III which gives you half the benefits of a married person filing a joint return.

Second, to be a "Surviving Spouse" your husband or wife must have died within the preceding two years, you must not have remarried, and you must have been eligible to file a joint return with him (or her), even though you may not have, in year of death.

You MUST have a dependent child (or stepchild) who lives with you, and you must furnish over half the cost of maintaining your home.

If you qualify, you get all the benefits of a joint return and can use tax rate schedule III.

* * *

Note: You cannot claim you are "head of household" if you claim as "surviving spouse."

Seize Communists Contacting Cuba

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Police have uncovered a radio in two-way contact with Cuba and seized four Communists in a house in a fashionable suburb near the sea.

The interior ministry announced the police raid interrupted constant contact between Venezuelan terrorists and Cuba.

It added that messages to Cuba dealt with the progress of violence and politics in Venezuela.

Dem Leader Raps Romney

Collins Upset Over Plans to Fire Inglis

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney came under fire from Democratic State Chairman John (Joe) Collins today for planning to displace James Inglis as chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

In a letter to Romney, Collins said that news of the impending action had brought on "a growing sentiment of shock and dismay" among many people both partisan and nonpartisan. Collins wrote:

"In light of your preinauguration pledge to appoint to positions of public responsibility those who could measure up to your criteria of competence, character and capacity', it is indeed unfortunate that the first major public officer you fire is the very one about whom there is the most nearly unanimous agreement as to all three."

Describing the proposed action as "shabby treatment of a worthy public guardian," Collins said the question of treatment of a personal pledge also was involved.

Youths Pass College Math

25 High School Seniors Finish MSUO Course

Twenty-five high school seniors from the Oakland County area have successfully completed a college course in mathematics at Michigan State University Oakland during the semester just ended.

The students picked to take the course were from high schools in Pontiac, Waterford Township, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Lake Orion, Oxford, Romeo, Royal Oak, Troy and Utica.

★ ★ ★

Those from Waterford were Charles Ahnen, Edward Gula, Craig Hann and Dave Patterson, all of Waterford Township High School, and Don Ferrier from Waterford-Kettering.

Others were Barbara Fowler, Avondale High; Peter Toot, Birmingham Groves; Fred Fink and Tom Hoopengardner, Bloomfield Hills; Carol Melin and Bill Trimble, Lake Orion.

They will receive four hours of college credit for the course, which was taught by Dr. James McKay, head of MSUO's mathmetics department and associate dean for science.

Swainson Departs on Warning Note

LANSING (AP) —Former Gov. John Swainson warned yesterday in his exaugural address to the 72nd Michigan Legislature that delay in adopting tax reform for Michigan would be "only at the high cost to consumers, to business and to the welfare of the state.

"Let us not be lulled by the picture of present revenues exceeding expenditures which will enable us to make the first significant reductions in recent years in our state's general fund deficit," Swainson said, adding:

"The structure which produces those revenues is still inequitable in its impact, is unreliable over the long run, and is neither conducive nor responsive to a growing economy."

Swainson said that since "no voice in authority" was raised in opposition to fiscal reform during the campaign, there exists a strong responsibility on the government to accomplish such reform without delay.

Swainson's 13-page exaugural message, delivered in mimeographed form, reviewed the condition of the state as he saw it and recommended measures he deemed expedient.

Its purpose is similar to that of the "State of the State" message delivered today by Gov. George Romney, in which he outlined what he feels is needed in the way of legislation in the near future.

TAX REFORM

In discussing tax reform, Swainson said complete reform can be initiated immediately.

Declaring that progress made during his two years in office has brought Michigan to the brink of fiscal rejuvenation, Swainson said:

"Present deficiencies of Michigan's inadequate, inequitable and inflexible tax structure have been at the core of the almost-annual bitter controversies to find needed state revenues.

"Our image nationally has been hurt, consumers have been burdened with additional regressive taxes, and business, already bearing heavy fixed-cost type taxes is uncertain of long-run tax policies."

Swainson appeared to disagree with Romney's inaugural address in which he declared that there has been too much partisanship in the past.

Said Swainson: "Citizenship does not require mutual agreement. There is room — there is a necessary role — for loyal partisanship within the broad confines of a citizen's responsibilities.

"May God save us from the stagnation of a bland political system in which the spokesman for our major parties sacrifice the right to express sincere disagreement on important public issues . . ."

Partisanship, Swainson said, is not responsible for what some have called the stalemate in Michigan.

"People are people — with a natural divergence of positions—and the degree to which they defend or advance their positions, their partisanship if you will, does not cause stalemate," he added.

Swainson's address generally reiterated Democratic positions on a broad range of subjects, including civil rights, mental health, education, economic expansion and senior citizens.

Finnish Reds in Tough Spot

Arms Deal With Russ Proves Embarrassing

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI) — Finland's deal with the Soviet Union for guided missiles and other defensive weapons put the Finnish Communist party in an awkward position today.

The foreign ministry disclosed yesterday that Russia will sell this country air-to-air missiles and MIG21 fighters to carry them. Anti-tank missiles will be bought from Britain.

The foreign ministry said the parties to the 1947 peace treaty — which the Soviet Union, Britain and other Western allies signed in Paris — had agreed to the deal.

The Finnish Communist party has long campaigned against higher appropriations to modernize Finland's armed forces and has accused military leaders of thinking in terms of a NATO alliance.

Today the party newspaper Kansan Uutiset did not object to the arms deal but it did not express pleasure either.

"The peace and independence of our country can be safeguarded with a sensible peace policy and by strengthening our relations with the Soviet Union better than with buying weapons," the newspaper said.

The deal would not appear to affect Finland's official neutral stance in the cold war.

Fly Supplies Into Cuba in Prisoner Deal

MIAMI (UPI) — The United States flew $300,000 worth of Cuban prisoner ransom supplies to Fidel Castro yesterday — the first since 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners arrived here at Christmastime.

A chartered Red Cross DC6B flew to Havana with 15,600 pounds of dental, medical and other supplies, and returned to Miami empty.

Enso Bighinatte, assistant national director for disasters for the Red Cross, earlier had denied reports that the 109-seat passenger plane would bring back the first of some 250 Cuban-Americans waiting to get off the island.

★ ★ ★

"That was the first plane available today," he said, "so we took it."

Another air shipment is scheduled to leave here for Havana tomorrow.

The smallest bird in New Zealand bears the militant name of rifleman. Only three inches long, the rifleman is a poor flyer, and it prefers climbing trees to flying to the top. The rifleman is distinguished by a feeble chirping "zee-zee-zee," accompanied by quivering of wings.

MILFORD, New Zealand (AP) — New Zealand's famous 33-mile Milford Track, described as "the finest walk in the world," last year had more than 2,000 persons make the three-day journey on foot in the December through April season. The track is noted for its magnificent views of rugged South Island mountains.

U.S. Pacific Chief Begins Probe

Viet Nam Campaign on Review

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI. — Adm. Harry D. Felt, U.S. Pacific commander, began a thorough review today of South Viet Nam's sputtering, American - backed campaign against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

★ ★ ★

Felt arranged consultations with top American military officials, including Gen. Paul D. Harkins, chief of the U.S. military assistance command which is aiding the South Vietnamese government in its struggle against the Communists.

Felt came to Saigon as part of an Asian inspection tour. His visit followed closely a series of Communist successes against government forces. Three Americans were killed in the recent clashes.

No major shifts in policy were expected from Felt's review, although the apparent increasing aggressiveness of the Viet Cong was likely to lead to the bolstering of certain phases of the South Vietnamese operations.

Coinciding with Felt's arrival was a government announcement that 56 Viet Cong Guerrillas were killed yesterday in two separate actions near Saigon.

The announcement said 31 Reds were killed in Vinh Long Province, about 65 miles south of Saigon, and 25 more died in a clash in Long An Province, just south of the capital.

Government forces suffered three killed and nine wounded in the Long An conflict. No government casualties were announced for the Vinh Long fight.

In recent days the government has announced Communist losses of around 800 men, but other usually reliable military sources have regarded the figures as inflated.

The central topic of Felt's consultations was the battle last week at Ap Bac, where outnumbered Viet Cong forces inflicted heavy losses on American and South Vietnamese units and managed to escape into the jungle with relatively light losses of their own.

Although five American helicopters were shot down at Ap Bac, officials in Washington have made in clear that there will be no change in the basic strategy of using helicopters to ferry Vietnamese troops for attacks.

U.S. military sources here have speculated that the Communists planned a shift in tactics from sudden, hit-and-run attacks, to larger, coordinated assaults on a series of prearranged targets.

The government has lost large quantities of first-rate weapons and military equipment in the recent clashes. Some military observers believed the Communists were building up an arsenal for a concerted drive.

U.S. military sources feel that helicopter transports is the best means of getting to the guerrilla forces. To reduce government losses requires better methods of knocking out the Communist fire power against the aircraft, the sources believe.

The government losses during the past week have led to charges by U.S. advisers that the South Vietnamese troops lacked aggressiveness and refused orders to advance in attacks.

Sprechten Deutsch? Then Join House

ATHENS, Ohio (UP)— A group of Ohio University students has been granted a charter by the state of Ohio for a unique corporation.

They are establishing an Ohio University German Language House, where German must be spoken in all areas except private rooms.

Officials say it is the first nonuniversity, nonfraternity housing unit ever to operate within the confines of Ohio University.

Only three of the 14 men involved speak German fluently, but all are taking courses.

Here's Looking at You

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — State residents apparently keep a sharper eye on their looks than on their health, if license figures from the Vermont Licensing Division are any indication. More cosmetologists than doctors and almost twice as many barbers as dentists are registered.

22 Firemen Killed Fighting U. S. Blazes

The International Association of Fire Chiefs said Wednesday its figures, compiled from newspaper reports, also indicated that 2,475 firemen were injured in more than 600 fires.

Only one showboat is said to have gone to sea. The Hippodrome was en route from the Mississippi Sound to Mobile Bay when it got caught in a storm that raged for 20 hours.

Indians Responsible for Name Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)— Kentucky derived its name from terms applied to it by Indians. It was a paradise or a bloody ground, depending on which tribe was speaking.

★ ★ ★

The Delaware and Shawnee Indians called the Kentucky region Kuttawa, meaning "the great wilderness." The Iroquois referred to it as Kentake, "the hunting ground."

The Wyandottes called it Kahtentateh, "the fair land of tomorrow." And the Chickasaws termed it Kentateh, "the dark and bloody ground."

Watches the Birdies

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) —Roy E. Sallee enjoys the company of both parakeet and people, and he has found a way of combining the two as a retirement hobby. As he sits in the sun in the park, strollers stop to chat with him about the seven parakeets who ride in his pockets climb up his tie and play with his shirt buttons.

'Could Crack Alcatraz With Forged Papers'

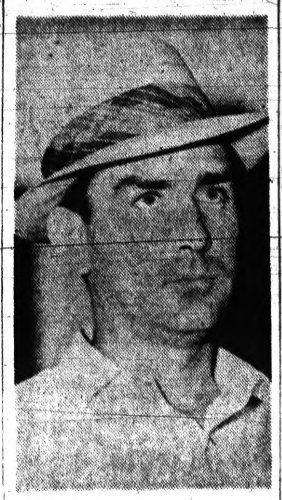

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Alcatraz Warden Olin Blackwell, who uncovered a plot to free a notorious bank robber with forged documents, said Wednesday night it's possible a convict could be freed by such papers "but it's highly unlikely.

"We double check all such orders. It was last week when we got this court order setting aside a term for Roy Drake. The reference numbers to his commitment papers didn't jibe.

"So, I sent the papers back, suggesting maybe there was an error, perhaps a typographical error. But even beyond that we would have double checked had everything appeared OK."

In Washington, the Justice Department said it is conducting an investigation of the plot but declined to comment on its scope.

The Indianapolis Star said the forgery of papers to set aside one of two 15-year sentences imposed on Roy Rudolph Drake, 38, of Indianapolis, in 1956, was discovered Monday as the result of Blackwell's action.

ROY RUDOLPH DRAKE

★ ★ ★

The court order setting aside the 15-year term bore the rubber-stamped signature of Federal Judge Cale J. Holder of Indianapolis.

★ ★ ★

Also termed forgeries were a cover letter to Drake explaining the order, a similar letter to Blackwell and a memorandum entry, all bearing the forged signatures of Court Clerk Robert G. Newbold. Newbold said a preliminary investigation had cleared members of his staff.

Had the order gone through, Drake would not have been freed but would have been made eligible for immediate parole.

'COULD STAND UP'

"With the forgers we have nowadays," Blackwell said, "it's conceivable papers like these could be made good enough to stand up. But we check so carefully I doubt it would work.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know Drake's role in this. I do know whoever handled the paper work knew an awful lot about Drake and about his case. Everything got here almost letter perfect — through the regular mail."

★ ★ ★

Drake led a wild career of crime before he was captured in New Orleans following a pair of Indianapolis bank holdups that netted $82,500. Prior to that, he broke out of California's San Quentin prison twice and once escaped a Missouri prison.

In 1943, he took part in a $100,000 holdup of a Beverly Hills, Calif., hotel.

Blackwell has been Alcatraz warden for a little over a year. He's had a hectic time of it. Last June, three bank robbers—brothers John and Clarence Anglin from Alabama and Frank Morris of New Orleans—staged the most carefully executed escape from "the Rock" in its 28-year federal prison history. Officially, they are presumed drowned.

In August, a self-taught prison lawyer, Charles Benton Russell of Fresno, Calif., successfully challenged a firearms law conviction under which he was sent to Alcatraz following his escape from a Reno, Nev., jail. He was freed by court order.

On Dec. 16, two more bank robbers broke out. One of them, John Paul Scott, 35, of Leitchfield, Ky., became the first escapee known to have reached the mainland. He was found naked ashore more dead than alive. His partner, Darl Dee Parker, 31, of Canton, Ohio, was picked shivering off a rock 100 yards from the prison island.

Offer Pictorial Proof

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — What wine would you serve with lichee nuts? For those thrown into a social tizzy by such gourmet questions, a winery here has come out with a full line of wines with "picture labels" that carry full color photos of the foods with which the contents should be served. And with lichee nuts, muscatel, of course.

During World War II American soldiers and sailors on active duty drank twice as much tea as they consumed when they were civilians.

Eight Legal Wives but Not One Divorce

CIUDAD REAL, Spain (AP)—Officials here believe they have found Spain's most-married man in a country where divorce is not recognized.

★ ★ ★

He is Gregorio Chacon Blanco, who at 75 admits to eight marriages, all of them legal.

He first married at age 21 years, and then as one after another of his wives died, he remarried.

His present marriage occurred 17 years ago. Wife No. Eight, now 50, takes his place in the field when illness prevents him from working as a farmer.

Thanks Good Lord

LOUDON, Tenn. (AP)— Mrs. Mary Aileen Houk, who recently observed her 108th birthday, says she attributes her long life to "the goodness and grace of the Lord." She is in good health, although confined to bed.

Man Charged With Assault

A 47-year-old Pontiac man was arraigned in Municipal Court Tuesday on a charge of assault with intent to murder in connection with the shooting of another man on New Year's Eve.

Richard T. Harris, 475 Nevada Ave., demanded an examination, which was set by Judge Cecil McCallum for Jan. 16. Harris was released on a $50 cash bond.

Harris is accused of wounding Frederick Corr, 30, of 441 Kuhn St., during an argument over a $50 loan Harris had made to Corr, according to the Oakland County prosecutor's office.

The shooting took place at 96½ Bagley St. at 8:30 p.m.

Red Arms in Brazil for Planned Revolt?

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Secret police inspector Alcides Cintra Bueno Filho is convinced that Soviet bloc arms for a projected Brazilian Peasant League uprising are buried in secret caches "all over Brazil."

Bueno, a counter-subversion agent in the political order department of the Public Security Ministry, led an investigation which resulted in the seizure of two such arms caches last Dec. 27.

"I have definite information confirming the existence of hundreds of crates containing arms and ammunition buried for future subversive use in Brazilian soil, especially in the strategic Paraiba Valley region," inspector Bueno told UPI.

The fertile Paraiba Valley strategically dominates important parts of three states. A subversive force in possession of it could threaten Sao Paulo's industrial complex, the important mines of Minas Gerais and the city of Rio de Janeiro.

The arms dug up by Buenos' men near Quiririm in the valley included a heavy Czech machine gun 1941-issue Czechoslovakian rifles, and the submachine guns known as "Checas," the same type which has been issued to the Communist militia in Cuba.

'ENOUGH FOR WAR'

Bueno said the heavily greased and plastic-wrapped weapons were accompanied by enough ammunition "to start a small war."

Bueno recalled that documents were found on the bodies of members of a Cuban agricultural delegation killed in the Boeing 707 crash near Lima, Peru, allegedly linking them to Brazilian Communist conspirators, and that police recently seized a "goodwill letter" sent to Peasant League leader Francisco Juliao by Soviet Ambassador Anatol Chadrin.

Juliao followed Fidel Castro by six days—Dec. 8, 1961—in declaring that he was a Marxist-Leninist.

Bueno said "I believe Cuba is being used as a Latin American arms distribution center. In the case of Brazil, the arms seem to be delivered from Cuba to the Peasant League center of Pernambuco, and from there are apparently being redistributed to hidden caches all over the country.

"This is in order to permit speedy and efficient equipping of guerrilla forces with the objective of provoking simultaneous uprisings in the most strategic spots of Brazil," Bueno said.

Some of the discovered arms were wrapped in burlap bags stamped "Pernambuco." That is Juliao's home state and center of the radical Peasant League.

Nontheless, the administration of Laborite President Joa Goulart has attempted to deemphasize the arms discoveries.

The chief of the Federal Ministry of Public Security, Col. R. P. Cairoli, called a news conference in Brasilia to say the arms caches were evidence of nothing more serious than a widespread smuggling network.

Bueno openly disagrees with his chief. He said the arms found so far represent only a fraction of those buried around the country for potential Communist guerrillas.

Reports on Venus Due in February

WASHINGTON (AP) — Full reports of Mariner 2's close-up look at the planet Venus will not be ready until sometime in February, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said this week.

Scientists and technicians, analyzing data from Mariner's Dec. 14 fly-by the planet, had hoped to have the information available this month. Some of the data is taking longer than expected, a spokesman said.

Nine Miners Killed by Poisoned Water

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Nine miners have died in a flooded coal mine, the news agency Ceteka reported. It said water from an abandoned mine burst into an adjacent pit where the men were working Monday in the Ostrava-Karvina coal basin on the Polish border.

The water had a high content of hydrogen sulphide and the miners died of poisoning. A tenth miner was rescued.

Novi Makes High School Construction Plans

Building First in the District

Superintendent Figures Cost Near $1.3 Million

NOVI — Plans are under way for construction of the first high school in the Novi Community School District at a total cost of approximately $1.3-million, School Supt. Tom Culbert said today.

The district currently operates two elementary schools attended by some 815 pupils in kindergarten through the eighth grades.

Approximately 255 Novi students from the ninth through the 12th grades attend schools in the neighboring Northville district on a tuition basis.

Culbert said the Novi Board of Education's plans for "secondary building program" were caused by the Northville school board's decision to discontinue acceptance of tuition students.

LIMITATION

In the fall of 1964, the superintendent explained, no ninth grade tuition students from Novi will be accepted in the Northville district.

To provide secondary classrooms, the board is developing a two-stage building program to be financed by two separate bond issues.

Culbert estimated the cost of the first bond issue, which the board expects to put before voters in the spring, at $950,000.

It would finance immediate construction of classrooms for seventh, eighth and ninth grade students and pay for basic facilities to be used later for the 10th through the 12th grades. The first section of the school is expected to open in the fall of '64.

★ ★ ★

The second stage of the school board's program would complete the proposed secondary school building. An additional bond issue of approximately $400,000 would be needed later to complete the facility, Culbert said.

NEW BUILDING

The new building for students from the seventh through the ninth grades would be built on an 80-acre site already owned by the district at the southwest corner of 11-Mile and Taft roads.

The proposed building would be planned to house an ultimate enrollment of 700.

Preliminary plans for the proposed building program, presented last night by the Ann Arbor architectural firm of Anicka Associates, will be studied again at a special board meeting slated for 8 p.m. next Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The board last night also discussed replacement of a 2½-mill operational tax which expired at the end of 1962.

★ ★ ★

A proposal to renew the millage may be placed on the same ballot as the one which includes bond issue for financing the first stage of the building program.

THEY'RE 12 NOW — It was 12 years ago today that the birth of Oakland County's Rosebush quads made headlines throughout the country and gave Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rosebush of Oakwood, four more mouths to feed. Now the quads (from left) Kristine, Keith, Kenny and Krystal, are almost teen-agers. However, they are still young enough to enjoy the birthday party planned for them at their home, 3043 Baldwin Road, northwest of Oxford.

Soil Conservationists to Hear About Turkey

A talk on life in Turkey will highlight the annual banquet and meeting of the Oakland County Soil Conservation District Jan. 17 in Pontiac.

Speaker at the 7:30 p.m. event will be Jeanie Stewart of Burt Lake, who spent six months living with Turkish people as an International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) student.

Currently majoring in foreign language at Michigan State University, she will show colored slides to illustrate her remarks.

The meeting, to be held in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland building, also will feature a discussion of soil conservation possibilities in the Oakland District.

Ken McManus, area conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, will be speaker.

In addition, conservation highlights for the past year will be reviewed by Gilbert Landtiser, work unit conservationist of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Certificates also will be presented to winners of the Oakland County Corn Contest.

During the business portion of the program, a district director will be elected for a three-year term. The term of Harold Mitchell of Holly Township is expiring.

TWO NOMINATED

Mitchell and Arthur Stack of Groveland Township have been nominated by the nominating committee. Other nominations will be accepted from the floor.

Anyone owning or occupying three or more acres of land in the county soil conservation district is eligible to vote in this election. This includes both husband and wife.

A Swiss steak dinner will be prepared and served by county Farm Bureau women.

Tickets can be obtained from of the following directors: Robert McCrory of Lyon Township, Sam Miller of Springfield Township, Keith Middleton of Oakland Township or James Reid of White Lake Township.

Tickets also are available from the Soil Conservation Service office in the Federal Building, Pontiac; the county ASCS office, Pontiac; at the county cooperative extension office or at the door.

Transfer Travel Series From Rochester School

ROCHESTER — The Lions Club here will show the remainder of its travelogue films in St. John Lutheran Church beginning with Saturday's movie on Hawaii.

The decision was made to move from the high school to the church auditorium in order to provide better acoustics for the sound films, club officials said.

The church is located on the corner of W. University Drive and Helen Street.

Billed as showing much that the average tourist doesn't see, Saturday's film will be narrated by its producer, David Paul.

★ ★ ★

"Hawaii—Our 50th State," will begin at 8:15 p.m.. The time has been set back to allow those who are unaware of the move to travel from the high school to the church,

Expect OK by Public of School Plan

HOLLY—Final plans for a new elementary school to be built just north of the village are expected to be approved at a public meeting next Wednesday at 8 p.m.

At a public meeting last night, some 25 local residents heard tentative plans explained by representatives of the Holly Area School District and the architectural firm of Charles W. Lane Associates, Inc.

The elementary school building, officials said, is scheduled to be a 14-classroom structure with a multipurpose area for meetings and group activities.

The building, according to the architects, can be constructed so it will remain within the budgeted figures of $15 per square foot.

The new school is to be financed through a $950,000 bond issue approved by voters in October. Next week's meeting will be held in the library of Holly High School.

2 County Churches to Show N-Movie

"Which Way the Wind," a film on the consequences of a nuclear conflict, will be shown in two area churches Monday.

★ ★ ★

At the University Presbyterian Church, 1385 S. Adams Road, Avon Township, the 28-minute film will begin at 10:30 a.m.

★ ★ ★

St. Paul's Methodist Church, 620 Romeo Road, Rochester, will sponsor a showing of the film at 8 p.m. The public is invited to both churches. There will be no admission charge.

Lake Orion Schools

May Halve Sessions

LAKE ORION —Half-day sessions will probably be necessary beginning in September 1964 for the majority of senior high and elementary students in the Lake Orion School District.

★ ★ ★

This is the decision reached by the school board at a meeting called to determine program adjustments necessary due to the recent defeat of a $2,-million bond issue.

Voters also turned down a proposed 4-mill operational tax hike in last month's election.

Following a discussion in which school principals, the board, County Director of Instruction Dr. Harry T. Hahn and other school officials participated, tentative plans for the next two years were established.

High school seniors next year will receive a 20 per cent reduction in curriculum. However, the board agreed, this was inevitable even if the expansion proposals had passed.

Additional teacher aids will also be necessary next year, the board decided.

"In rooms containing more than 40 students, it seems advisable teacher aids will be employed," Asst. School Supt. Lewis Mundy said.

"In the fall of 1964," he added, "tentative plans call for all four grades in the high school and a large portion of the elementary department being put on half days."

ENROLLMENT TO JUMP

He pointed out that high school enrollment will jump to 970 compared with the present 873 students.

The board also considered budget changes which will be necessary.

"The budget will have to be planned to accommodate added cost for transportation and additional staff members necessary as a result of half-day sessions," Mundy commented.

He pointed out that the music, art, and physical education classes will be difficult for many of the students to attend, as they will only be offered once a day.

School Supt. A. A. Reed earlier had warned that a "no" vote in the election could mean half-day sessions, a limited program, more overcrowded classrooms and too few teachers.

Should it have passed, the board agreed, the bond issue would have been sufficient to remedy the present overcrowded situation and to handle the 6 per cent annual enrollment increase for at least three years and probably more.

The purchase of a 20-acre site adjacent to the high school for a proposed new junior high school building was made early last month.

To Present Estimate on Pollution Costs

LAKE ORION — A preliminary cost estimate of the facilities necessary to solve the Paint Creek pollution problem will be presented at the Jan. 22 meeting of the Village Council.

★ ★ ★

The Birmingham engineering firm of Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., is currently working with representatives of the village on the task of determining what corrective measures can be employed.

The village has until Jan. 24 to find the source of pollution and also to prepare a financially-feasible solution.

On that date a hearing will be help in Lansing at which time local officials are expected to offer their findings to the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

Representatives of the village met with the firm of Johnson & Anderson of Pontiac before reaching an agreement with the Birmingham firm.

However, the Pontiac engineers submitted cost figures "that were astronomical," according to Village President Irvine J. Unger.

The state water commission has demanded that completed construction plans and specifications for treatment facilities be completed by Dec. 1, 1963.

To Decide On Probe of Dem

LANSING (AP) — A Republican resolution to create a five-member committee to investigate and rule on the "fitness" of a new Democratic house member was scheduled to come up for a vote as the 1963 legislature resumed today.

The measure was given favorable recommendation yesterday by the House resolutions committee following a day-long opening session marked by bitter partisan debate.

The House voted 57-51 along strict party lines to refuse to seat Leonard Walton, a Detroit Democrat, until the special committee can rule, by Jan. 24, on whether to let him take the oath of office.

Walton, elected from Wayne County's 12th District, faces trial in Detroit next month on charges of having violated election laws by permitting distribution of campaign literature urging voters to "re-elect" him.

Use of the words "incumbent" and "re-elect" by persons who have never held the office they seek is a violation of state law.

Legislators were formally sworn in and their leaders confirmed only after lengthy debate that exceeded anything in the opening-day memory of capitol veterans, and left the House short one of its 110 members.

LEONARD S. WALTON

SELECTS LEADERSHIP

The house selected its leadership, naming Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, as the new speaker and re-installing Rep. Wilfred Bassett, R-Jackson, as speaker pro tem.

In the senate, meanwhile, Sen. Charles Blondy, D-Detroit, won a narrow 6-5 Democratic caucus vote to oust Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, as minority floor leader.

Sen. Philip Rahol, D-Iron Mountain, was picked as assistant floor leader for the Democrats.

In their house caucus, the Democrats returned Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, to the post of minority floor leader and named Rep. Albert Horrigan, D-Flint, as assistant floor leader.

Voting on the resolution concerning Walton — introduced by Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe—was expected to follow Gov. George Romney's "State of the State" message to a joint session.

In opening business, the senate approved a resolution to appoint a six-member committee to conduct a recount of a Nov. 6 election race in the Upper Peninsula. The house was to take action on a similar resolution today.

In the senate recount, results will be checked in the election of Sen. Charles McManiman, D-Houghton, whose 277-vote victory over Republican Bert Heideman, of Hancock, is being challenged.

The house will name a committee to conduct a recount in the Menominee district, at the request of Rep. James Constantini, D-Iron Mountain, who was defeated by 95 votes by Republican Clifford Perras of Nadeau.

SWORN IN

Perras was sworn in yesterday as one of 29 new legislators sitting for the first time.

Waldron, who became the GOP's new house floor leader yesterday, touched off the debate when he proposed, before house members were sworn in, to refuse a seat to Walton until the question of his "fitness to serve" is settled.

Democrats, led by Kowalski, objected strenuously to the resolution and contended through the three-hour argument that it was "unconstitutional" and amounted to a "prejudgment" of Walton before his case is decided in a court of law.

"I think it stinks," said Kowalski, who at one point introduced, and later withdrew, a resolution to prevent Waldron as well from being sworn in.

★ ★ ★

Kowalski said he has asked that the Wayne County prosecutor issue a warrant against Waldron and Republican party officials in the 17th District of Wayne County on grounds that they have "slandered" him and another Democratic house member in recent elections.

★ ★ ★

Waldron dismissed the accusation as having no basis in fact.

He said if the committee investigation determines that Walton is unfit to be seated in the house, Gov. Romney may order a special election as part of the spring primary to fill his vacancy.

If Walton is cleared, Waldron said, "the house would have no objection to swearing him in as a member."

Fingerling salmon live on insects in the stream where they are hatched until an internal mechanism urges them to migrate downstream and into the sea. There they live two to five years before returning to spawn and die.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATS

QUESTION: Do all cats dislike water?

ANSWER: Any one who has tried to wash a cat knows how it dislikes water. The reason is that cat fur is not adapted to water, since cats don't have to swim for a living. Animals who stay in water most of the time, such as beaver, seal and muskrat, have fur with a dense undercoating which keeps the skin dry.

Of course we love to swim and have no woolly undercoating. But our skins dry off quickly when we come out of the water and we can take our damp bathing suits off. The cat's fur is like a damp suit of clothes hanging around him after he gets wet and this is very uncomfortable.

Not all of the cat family dislike water, however. The South American jaguar lives by the edge of rivers which are frequently flooded and he has learned to swim across them. He is also very fond of fish (what cat isn't) and scoops them out with his paw, sometimes leaping in to catch them.

When it is very hot, a jaguar will often jump into a water hole and splash around just to cool himself off, much as we might do.

FOR YOU TO DO: In spite of what our friends in the picture seem to think, cats are clean. They rarely need bathing because they clean themselves by licking. But you can help your cat by brushing its coat gently (use a bristle or nylon brush, never a wire one). The cat will probably enjoy it and it will remove loose hair.

Text of Romney's State of State Message

I am honored and pleased at the start of the 72nd session of the Michigan Legislature to extend to each of you my warm personal greetings. I look forward to working with you and getting to know each of you better.

★ ★ ★

Ten days ago, on New Year's Day, I expressed my conviction that our progress as a state depends primarily on greater exercise of personal responsibility. I sketched the goals which we, as responsible citizens of a free society, must pursue:

— Active citizenship in community and state affairs.

— Strengthening responsible state and local governments.

— Encouraging voluntarism, and its expression in the spontaneous cooperation of free and responsible citizens.

— And renewed personal effort guided by a spiritual and moral rebirth. These are the bedrock values which can lead to sound and lasting solutions to Michigan's problems—problems that admittedly did not spring full-grown upon us in a single legislative session or a single year, but have accumulated and been aggravated during years of basic social, economic and political change.

In turn, solutions to these problems cannot be accomplished in a single legislative session or a single year.

The program I outline here today is premised on an orderly and reasoned immediate attack upon our most pressing problems.

Tied to Necessity

This program is premised on what is necessary and what is possible.

It serves no purpose to pursue either the obstructionist role of blindly opposing needed change or the equally obstructionist role of deriding and defeating possible progress while noisily protesting support for the impossible. Perhaps you recall the ancient Biblical story of Absalom and David. In II Samuel chapter 15, we read:

"Absalom rose up early and stood beside the way of the gate . . . when any man that had a controversy came to the king (David) for judgment, then Absalom called unto him, and said, . . . 'O, that I were made judge in the land, that every man which had any suit or cause might come unto me, and I would do him justice'."

Thus he divided the Israelites. Such a course is no stranger to lesgislative halls. To oppose the possible while crying vainly and loudly for the impossible can be as destructive for Michigan in some ways as it was for Israel in the days of Absalom and David.

Obstructionism of both types have played an important part in creating our present problems, particularly those of an economic character. It is most heartening that on every hand there is evidence that the days of obstructionism for the sake of obstruction are over.

Michigan's number one economic need is jobs. Our progress as a state, both in economic and human terms, depends on more jobs. Our thoughts and actions must be directed toward this end.

Today's job needs will be much greater tomorrow. By 1970, Michigan's work force should increase by about one million persons.

Our first task is to encourage job creation, both by employers already located in Michigan and by new employers either from within or outside of Michigan.

Economy Lags

In economic expansion, Michigan simply has not kept pace either with the nation or with directly competing industrial states. From 1950 to 1961, Michigan's per capita income increased only 35 per cent, while the national average per capita was 52 per cent and in our eight-state competing industrial group the increase was 46 per cent.

To achieve more jobs through economic expansion, we must restore confidence in our state government. To help restore such confidence, I urge these basic guidelines for legislative action this year.

I recommend that the legislature limit itself initially to a short, action-packed regular session, followed by an equally action-packed special session after Labor Day.

Such a procedure, I believe, has three primary advantages for Michigan:

1. By getting right down to work and passing essential and possible legislation and adjourning, the legislature can do much to destroy the image of Michigan state government as a dawdling, do-nothing organism beset with irreconcilable internal division and conflict. Such swift, decisive, reasonable legislative action will do much to restore confidence in the legislature, state government, and in Michigan.

2. Michigan voters will decide on a new constitution on April 1. If the constitution is adopted, the legislature will have immediate duties placed upon it. These duties can be handled best by interim legislative study, following the regular session and before the special session in the fall.

3. Michigan badly needs genuine total fiscal reform, which includes both spending reform and tax reform. As governor, I already have set in motion a highly competent financial management task force to go after spending reform. Tax reform, in my judgement, should await at least the preliminary recommendations of this task force and their assurances that we have taken concrete steps to achieve efficiency and economy in state operations. Adequate public support as well as legislative support is necessary for basic legislation such as tax reform. Until we have conscientiously approached spending reform and convinced the public of the frugal use of their tax dollars, the people generally cannot be expected to accept a complete, fundamental and adequate reshaping of the tax structure. Thus I believe tax reform for Michigan can best be achieved in a special session next fall with attention focused clearly and sharply upon this specific problem.

Then, this is the blueprint I am recommending for legislative action this year:

A short, active regular session . . . more preparation in problem areas, particularly in total fiscal reform and in responsibilities growing out of a new constitution . . . and a special session in the fall.

Quick Action

I turn now to my recommendations for immediate legislative action in four general areas:

I. Fiscal affairs
II. Economic expansion
III. Our social institutions
IV. Our political institutions

A fervent desire to meet the needs of people through public service programs is disastrous if it leads to chronic spending beyond state income. Indispensable in meeting the needs of the people for jobs and services is confidence in the willingness and ability of government to live within its income.

Our state has lost such confidence. Re-establishing confidence in Michigan's financial integrity is an absolute must.

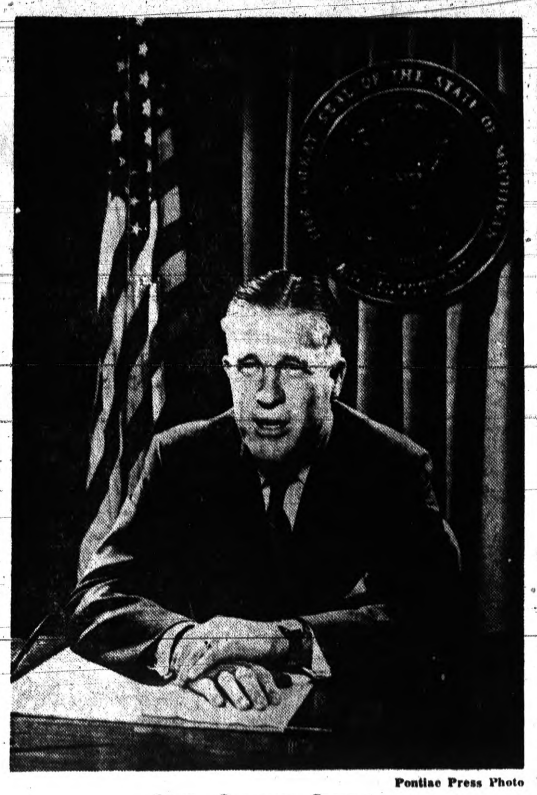

This year, for the first time in seven years, state income will equal state expenditures. The surplus this year results from two things: Last year's increases in consumer and business taxes and booming automobile production and sales. Even if we continue indefinitely to enjoy an uninterrupted level of high auto output, which we cannot reasonably expect, Michigan's human and financial needs will not continue to be met by foreseeable state income.

On the basis of presently authorized state services and programs, our ability to meet expenditures without a deficit will end with the next fiscal year. This is because of the built-in rising cost level of presently authorized state services. The current fiscal year should realize a surplus in excess of $32 million to apply to our cash deficit of $85 million. However, continuation of presently authorized state services next year will reduce the surplus to less than half this amount, and the following fiscal year (1964-65) we will again be confronted with a deficit unless we stimulate economic growth or increase taxes.

Thus, meeting the needs of our people depends on sound money management. We must get more service for each dollar spent. We must wipe out the deficit and put the state on a sound pay-as-you-go basis, and we must secure an adequate and fair tax structure.

Vital Steps

dence in our financial integrity, are also essential in economic expansion, more jobs, adequate state services and more revenue without higher taxes.

Sound money management requires that each tax dollar we spend be used with maximum effectiveness and for essential services.

To this end, I have appointed a special assistant on financial affairs. Already a special task force on expenditure management consisting of outstanding Michigan specialists is at work. In cooperation with and aided by legislative committees, they will report on means of making our dollars go further. More important, they will plan a continuing program of managerial analysis and financial reporting necessary to test effectiveness of future expenditures.

I intend to secure comparable expert help to make sure we identify the extent of the public service needs facing our state. With your help, we will determine which services are essential and use our funds only for such services.

Another step toward fiscal stability would be the adoption of the new constitution. Among the ways in which it would improve the administration of state government and effect savings are these:

—It would increase administrative efficiency by consolidating our sprawling network of over 120 state boards, agencies and commissions into not more than 20 principal departments.

—It would put in sharp focus budgetary responsibilities of the governor and legislature, eliminating or at least reducing the buck-passing of past years.

—The four-year term for governor and for state senators would permit greater stability and attention to accomplishment.

The elimination of the state spring elections may save as much as a million dollars every two years.

—Increased short-term borrowing power would help avoid cash crises.

—Greater flexibility in the raising and spending of state monies would permit more effective use of available funds.

—It would provide a legislative auditor to conduct performance audits, review expenditures, and place the post-auditing function properly within the legislative branch.

—It would permit coordinated educational budgeting and planning, with substantial savings and increased efficiency.

—It would broaden the fiscal powers of local units of government, enabling them to become more self-reliant.

These are some of the reasons why this administration regards the new constitution as an important step in the improvement of our state's fiscal affairs.

Although my detailed budget message will not be submitted to you for a few weeks, I would like to outline some of the policies it will contain.

Balanced

It will be a balanced budget. It will provide for continued, orderly reduction of the state deficit. Its primary emphasis is on economic expansion and stimulation of job creation, more efficient administration of state operations; better collection of revenue; and planning for future state services.

It will be a tight budget, with no substantial new programs, but with allowances for population increases, rising living costs and pay adjustments for both classified and nonclassified employes.

The budget will provide funds for continuation of capital outlay programs now under way, and money to plan selected new projects.

I believe you will agree that the budget we will submit, on a sound pay-as-you-go basis, and with continued orderly deficit reduction, will be one more step in restoring confidence in Michigan.

Along with careful and continuing management of expenditures, and sensible budget practices, Michigan must have complete tax revision.

Taxes must be as low as possible, and distributed as equitably as possible among all citizens.

The current upsurge in the state's economy, prompted by a good automotive year, has produced higher-than-expected tax revenues. The consumer and business taxes enacted last year have provided further revenue breathing room.

But, although the budgets for this year and next year should balance, our state revenue structure still penalizes job-creators and discourages new jobs . . . it still hits too hard at low-income families . . . it still hamstrings local governmental close to home . . . it still needs complete and thorough revision.

Within two years, under the present tax structure with relatively good revenue yield, and with only present program levels, we would once more be in a deficit position . . . without adopting a single significant new program.

Economic expansion means more jobs. No matter what terms are used the basic problem here in Michigan is to create more jobs, produce more paychecks, have more people working at better jobs.

Where do jobs come from? Not primarily from government. Governments create jobs—to many, sometimes—but they're financed from citizens' pocketbooks in the form of taxes.

Basically, jobs come from individuals — individuals who have an idea about a product or a service they think people will buy, and who have enough faith in their ideas to invest their time and efforts and money to make them work. On the average, it requires investment of about $11,000 to create a single industrial job.

When you realize that Michigan now has about 158,000 persons unemployed, and that we must create almost one million new jobs by 1970 because of our expanding work force, the magnitude of the investment needed to accomplish this is staggering.

But from jobs, and economic expansion, flow the lifeblood of our personal and our governmental existence.

Demand for governmental services—in schools, and welfare, and recration and all the other areas—increase apace with our population.

Our role as public officials is clear—we must do everything within our power to encourage economic expansion and more jobs.

This is the time from breaking the economic barrier, by putting to work the tremendous resources we have at hand—the trained manpower, the able management, the scientific skills and the abundant natural resources to create more jobs. Economic growth results from creating the proper conditions to compete successfully. A large part of my program will be based on self-improvement, and the responsibility for this rests squarely on the shoulders of all people, regardless of what political party they belong to, what section of the state they are from, or their membership in any special group.

7 Major Areas

My program is designed to meet the state's responsibility in this area. First and foremost, the state must have sound and responsible financial management, which I have discussed. In addition, our recommendations will be concentrated in seven major areas.

1. An expanded program in science and technology depends on using our outstanding universities as our basic resource. The new technologies on which modern industrial complexes are being developed center around research-minded universities.

Research activities for Michigan industry must be stimulated. Through research, our educational institutions should take a leading role in Michigan economic expansion. A joint effort, with progressive industrial enterprises, small and large, is essential.

2. A vigorous community development program should be instituted, sparked by local citizens, designed to improve industrial facilities, but also including cultural activities and recreational opportunities as the best way to keep existing industry and to attract new ones. Community climate often influences decisions on industrial location.

Certain programs are already underway in the area—for example, the Upper Peninsula "Operation Action." This is an outstanding example of citizen participation. These people have recognized their problems and are seeking ways and means of economic expansion. These efforts should be applauded and encouraged by all of us.

3. Legislative action will be recommended in many areas which affect economic growth. Among these are workmen's compensation, unemployment compensation and taxation. Further legislation will be requested to assist sound new and expanding industries in securing adequate sources of capital.

4. Research should be undertaken promptly to pinpoint our economic opportunities and to determine the specific industries which Michigan should go out and seek. We need to know exactly what job-creating activities have the best chance of prospering with Michigan resources. The cooperation of all economic groups would be enlisted.

5. We will undertake a strong program to create new labor skills through vocational education and to enlist labor as a full time and essential partner in selling Michigan.

6. Michigan's role in international trade must be strengthened and stimulated. The more than $1.3 billion dollars earned in world trade represent job opportunities and great potential for Michigan's people.

Aggressive state leadership can expand our portion of international trade. Emphasis should rest with smaller and medium-sized Michigan companies. To this end, I propose a special corps of international trade advisers, to lend their experience and know-how, especially to smaller firms. We must vigorously promote our state as a plant location site for foreign firms, and imaginatively pursue our expanding foreign markets for our manufactured and agricultural products.

7. A new state organization for economic expansion should be created. The present Michigan Economic Development Commission should be dissolved. A new commission on economic expansion should replace it. Representatives of industry, agriculture, labor, education, government and other elements should be asked to work with us in stimulating economic growth. The director of the department of economic expansion should be responsible directly to the governor, appointed by him, and have direct and personal responsibility for operations.

Our program is not based on gimmicks or one-shot cure-alls but on basic self-improvement which will be the basis for sound and continuous growth.

Protect Workers

An important factor in the continued economic health of a state is its recognition that it has the responsibility to maintain programs that will protect workers who are idled through no fault of their own, because of injury or layoff.

If Michigan is to be strong we must live up to this responsibility. We must see that our systems of workmen's compensations and unemployment compensations are financially sound, that they provide promptly and adequately for those they are designed to benefit, and that their administration is so clearly fair and impartial that they inspire the confidence of the entire public. Such programs must meet each of these tests, if they are to fill their proper roles.

One of the major points of controversy between the legislative and executive branches of Michigan's government in recent years has been our system of unemployment compensation. Three major aspects of this system calls for immediate attention: (1) The level of benefits paid to unemployed workers, (2) The basis on which the program is financed, and (3) the eligibility of workers who are unemployed as the result of labor disputes in which they do not participate directly.

Action is needed on all three fronts, and I believe that we can achieve results in this session of the legislature. I urge:

(1) Legislation improving benefit levels to reflect increases in the cost of living since the present rates were fixed.

(2) Legislation putting the financing of the program on a sound and equitable basis.

(3) Legislation which will assure workers unemployed as a result of labor disputes in which they do not participate and from which they will not benefit that they will receive compensation, but which will assure employers fair treatment by denying compensation to employes who participate in or who may benefit as a reult of such a labor dispute.

One of Earliest

Michigan's workmen's compensation program was one of the earliest in the nation. It seems that if it is to continue to fulfill its function of prompt compensation for losses sustained in industrial accidents, improvements should be made in three areas:

(1) Benefit levels should be increased to reflect changing economic conditions.

(2) Standards of eligibility should be thoroughly reviewed, so that the system can finance adequate benefits to those properly entitled without unduly burdening the job-creating employers who bear the cost.

(3) The administration of the program should be overhauled, to eliminate delays which create great hardship for injured workers and are costly for all.

These three objectives are clear. I am presently of the opinion that specific recommendations should await intensive study by representatives of labor, industry and the legislature. I propose that such a study begin promptly, and that action in this field be deferred until a report can be made.

Compensation of the injured or laid-off worker is only a part of the public responsibility however. The major thrust of our program must be to train and retrain idle workers, and to seek actively to place them in gainful employment.

Therefore, this administration also will foster and encourage expanded programs for training and retraining of workers by industry and by local school systems, as well as under existing federal programs. Expansion of placement tools in the Michigan Employment Security Commission also should be accomplished.

Sensible and reasonable action along the lines I have indicated—coupled with completely dedicated and impartial administration of laws—again will do much to restore confidence in state government and encourage job creation.

Notice Others

While manufacturing produces the most paychecks for Michigan people, and our primary attention logically must focus on industrial expansion to lead us out of the economic forest, we must never lose sight of the vital roles played by our number two and three industries, tourism and agriculture.

Agriculture, which makes an annual billion-dollar contribution to our economy, must be promoted and encouraged, with recognition of emerging special problems caused by changing agricultural methods. I urge attention by our educational institutions to research aimed at improving existing farm products and developing new ones, and in packaging, processing and merchandising so aggressive marketing and promotional programs can expand sales of Michigan farm products.

A serious agricultural problem is the economic threat from pest infestation such as the Japanese beetle in southeastern Michigan. It is not so well known, however, that in a past few months a potentially dangerous beetle infestation was discovered in southwestern Michigan. Because these real threats to our agricultural economy cannot be predicted accurately in advance, contingency funds to permit prompt action for pest control and eradication will be recommended.

The $650 million spent by tourists in Michigan last year means jobs for our people and tax dollars for our state treasury. But Michigan's tourism business does not accurately reflect our assets and our potential. Our immediate aim must be a billion-dollar-a-year business. The added attention being devoted by the legislature in this area is to be commended.

I intend to devote full support to a stronger tourist business. One way is to encourage the highway department to do some small things to make it much easier and more pleasant for visitors to travel our network of expressways. I refer to sensible and more adequate highway signs and tourist information.

Michigan must be promoted not merely as a summer wonderland —which it is—but as a four-season vacation haven—which it is also. Our inviting ski facilities can attract more people, and the effort should be made to promote winter vacations as well as more imaginative emphasis on Michigan's summer attractions. Although advertising and promotional dollars for tourism are restricted by our limited resource base, we must make the maximum efficient use of what we have; the new budget will propose modest increases in these areas.

Backs Olympics

I also propose vigorous support for Michigan as the site of the 1968 Olympic Games. The Olympics would attract huge crowds to Michigan, and once people see Michigan they like it.

Both agriculture and tourism are based primarily on natural resources. And conservation and proper use of these resources must receive constant vigilance.

State government's role in conservation is well - established. However, I do not believe we are receiving the type of state leadership the situation demands. I intend to probe deeply into our organization, management and operation of the department of conservation. There is definite need to restore department morale and effectiveness.

Our Water Wonderland's most abundant, important and demanded resource is water. Michigan's future depends upon water, which is essential to tourism, agriculture and industry.

The administration is dedicated to a program of protecting and strengthening our water resources by stimulating public awareness and understanding of the problems of water use and conservation; to this end, I recommend continued attention to water use problems to determine equitable water rights legislation.

We also will stimulate cooperative and vigorous action by local, state and federal governments with civic, fraternal, recreational and conservation groups to clean up pollution in our lakes, streams and other surface waters. I shall support a strong program of enforcement and stronger state and local pollution regulations.

The state can do more in recreation, particularly in relation to use of natural resources. We should encourage multiple use of public and private lands for recreational purposes, through legislation to limit private owner liability on state-leased lands or by state purchase of recreation rights on private lands.

Our state parks should be expanded, as the recreational needs of our people are expanding. I recommend the legislature grant additional bonding power under provisions of the State Park and Recreation Bonding Act of 1960 to acquire new park sites and further develop present parks.

The Upper Peninsula is our area of most severe economic distress, and its economy must be strengthened if the area is to make its full contribution to Michigan's total development.

The Upper Peninsula has some real natural advantages, and its long-range recovery must be based on maximum utilization of these advantages. Mining, forest products and tourism are the tripod of natural advantages that can restore the Upper Peninsula.

Therefore, I recommend increased support for intensified and expanded research programs to improve processing and use of low-grade ores and to develop forest resources more fully; increased support for a geolocial mapping program to aid in development of mineral resources; and intensified programs for promotion of the Upper Peninsula as a four-season tourist and recreation center.

The need for more government services is already apparent today, but our needs will be accentuated in the years just ahead by the tremendous increase in Michigan's population, especially among the young and the old where government services are expanding most rapidly and are most needed.

Governments are financed by taxes—and taxes are money taken from people. Nothing from government is free; somebody pays for it. These are truths that sometimes get lost.

Our central problem at this session is to determine which services can be met now and which ones should be met later when we can pay for them.

In perhaps no field are the pressing needs of citizens felt more acutely than in education. Education is not an end in itself, but a means of preparing for the future by making an investment in our future through our children.

Must Lead

The quality of our educational systems and institutions in Michigan has been largely responsible for our past economic and cultural progress, and our educational institutions must lead the way to lasting progress in the future.

Although we are not limited in what we would like to do, we are limited in what we can do. Adequate future educational financing depends upon economic expansion or increased taxation.

We are entering a period when both the complexity of knowledge and the number of students entitled to an education are increasing by seven-league strides. During our two-year terms of office, applications for college enrollment are expected to increase by over 25 per cent.

To reduce delay in meeting these needs, I am taking two steps:

1. I will recommend an immediate appropriation to plan and design some of the buildings which are known to be essential.

2 As governor, I will appoint a citizens committee of the most competent individuals available to make a complete and thorough study of our educational facilities and programs from kindergarten to graduate levels.

I will ask the citizens committee to update and extend past studies of higher education, covering such areas as extent and methods of financial assistance, use of existing facilities, locations of and plans for additional facilities, the role of community colleges, development of research activities, and all other pertinent areas of concern.

Make It Simple

I will also ask this citizens committee to pay particular attention to the school aid formula with the intention of simplifying it and making it more equitable. I recommend that the increased school aid voted last year be continued but that no substantial changes be made in the formula until the study is completed.

I will also ask the committee to review teachers' salaries, which should reflect their professional training. This is not the case in many areas of the state today.

Out-of-school and out-of-work youth as a growing problem should also receive committee attention.

At present no state agency is authorized to prepare statewide plans to meet the exploding needs of our children for higher education. While the new constitution would create an enlarged board of education with such statewide planning authority, it could not begin to function before 1965. The sharpest rise in college enrollment will occur before their plans could be prepared or considered.

Just as the problems of the young are pyramiding, so are the problems of our older citizens.

Every citizen, regardless of age or economic means, should have access to competent medical attention. Help should be provided for those who need help.

Michigan was among the first states to pass enabling legislation for participation the Kerr-Mills program back in 1960. As of June 30, 1962, the program had benefited 19,000 Michigan persons at a cost of over $23 million. However, I am not satisfied with the extent of our participation.

Amendments

These are the specific amendments I would like to see added to the 1960 Michigan act:

1. Amend the act to make more people eligible.

2. Amend the act to relate eligibility to cost of living.

3. Amend the act to take into account exhaustion of private resources in dealing with serious and extended illness.

4. Amend the act to remove claims of the state against the estates of persons who have received aid.

5. Amend the act to provide that payments under the act equal payments made for similar services under normal circumstances.

However, by amending the act in these ways, Michigan would be incurring an added financial burden which our budget simply cannot afford right now. So, reluctantly, I cannot recommend adoption of these amendments at this session.

I also would be pleased if I could in good conscience propose that we increase old-age assistance payments this year from $90 to $130 per month, I believe such an increase is justified, but again I must decline to propose it because at this time we can't afford it.

Some problems of the aging can be alleviated in other ways, however.

I recommend most careful consideration of the possibility of providing a reasonable property tax exemption for citizens over 65. However, adoption of this program must depend on present and future cost and its impact on local governments.

Both private and public pension programs should be examined to see if age barriers to hiring can be reduced or eliminated.

Older-worker placement service by the Michigan Employment Security Commission should be intensified.

Medical Safety

In the executive budget to be submitted shortly, we have provided for increased attention to nursing home and general hospital licensing to assure maximum standards of care and safety. We also have provided modest additions for the commission on aging to establish effective local aging councils or committees, to develop information and referral centers in local communities, to establish a senior advisory council to the commission, and to establish a senior service corps to work at the community level.

Critical need for improvement of mental health programs and facilities is apparent. Our mental health facilities at the state and community levels have not met needs for effective treatment of mental affliction.

I recommend thorough scrutiny of present facilities to insure their use to best advantage. As an additional step, I urge the legislature to move ahead with establishment of community-based mental health facilities in areas with the most critical needs.

Vital to any progress in treatment of mental disorders is research and training. Only research can provide the needed basic knowledge of the causes and cures of mental disorders; only trained personnel can conduct the research programs and apply the treatment techniques. All too often shortage of competent personnel has hampered and delayed application of advanced treatment techniques already available. My budget recommendations will bolster the research and training programs now being conducted in the state hospitals and at the University of Michigan.

Michigan's most urgent human problem is discrimination —in housing, public accommodations, education, administration of justice, and employment.

Adoption of the new constitution would give Michigan the strongest civil rights guarantee of any state, and I am confident the legislature would give full support, moral and financial, to such a civil rights commission.

Early Steps

Meanwhile, there are a number of specific steps we can and should take at this session of the legislature.

1. The most crucial and pressing problem in civil rights is housing discrimination. I am convinced the principle of open housing is sound and accepted by the vast majority of people. I urge legislation which will make it clear that no licensee of the state will be permitted to initiate or encourage housing discrimination.

2. I urge legislation to prohibit discrimination within labor organizations and in apprentice programs.

3. In order that our practice may more nearly approach our principles, I am recommending in my budget message that the fair employment practices commission receive an increased appropriation for its educational program, and additional staff including the establishment of a new field office.

These actions will be immediate steps toward preparing the state to meet broader responsibilities in the urgent field of civil rights.

Just as the state has a responsibility to assure human justice wherever possible, so too does the state have a responsibility to assure the physical safety of workers on their jobs wherever possible. Existing laws cover many areas, but one significant area is left uncovered. For this reason I recommend that legislation be adopted to provide effectively for the safety of construction workers.

Michigan's vocational training program for the handicapped is woefully inadequate. The budget will recommend some increase for this purpose.

Michigan is one of only 12 states which has not established a minimum wage scale. I believe our citizens recognize and accept a responsibility to prevent the exploitation of human beings. A part of this responsibility, which we must exercise as elected officials, lies in the establishment of minimum levels of compensation, below which no one should be expected to accept employment.

It's Complex

While the vast majority of employers pay wages which more than meet minimum living standards, some take advantage of the unfortunate to promote their own gain.

I recognize the complexity of this problem, and the difficulties posed by many service jobs where gratuities are received, by part-time jobs, and by jobs where nonmonetary benefits are part of compensation.

Nevertheless, I am confident we can develop legislation which will recognize the complexities but which will assure workers that they will be paid enough to maintain themselves in health and decency. Such legislation also would protect ethical employers who now face unfair competition from those few who pay substandard wages.

Youth is our most important resource. As with all precious resources, it is accompanied by special problems. I have mentioned some of these problems in other sections of this message, but there are other steps we should take.

We must encourage and extend on-the-job training and work-plus-education programs in schools, and we must encourage our youth to stay in school. We must put greater emphasis on prevention and early detection of potential delinquency, as well as improved parole and probation services.

We must emphasize the rehabilitation of our young offenders. Initial steps have already been taken to establish a youth rehabilitation camp, and I urge that this approach be encouraged and expanded if our initial experience with it proves fruitful.

More Jobs

In addition, legislation should be enacted for a job upgrading program, a work training program utilizing local public agencies, and regional detention facilities.

More extensive state actions in youth problems are desirable — including the establishment of youth conservation camps — but I am not recommending them at this time because of our limited financial resources.

Enabling legislation will be recommended early in this session to qualify Michigan for federal funds available for aid to dependent children of unemployed parents.

The enactment of this legislation in Michigan will produce a four-foud positive result:

1. Federal funds would finance 60 per cent of the total estimated program cost. The State of Michigan would pay the remaining 40 per cent.

2. Increased monthly payments will be provided to nearly 12,000 families who would otherwise rely on direct relief payments for their primary income. Direct relief payments are provided under a program which is financed jointly by state and local governments.

3. The transfer of families from direct relief rolls to the proposed program will result in direct savings to local governments in Michigan of nearly $10 million and little, if any, additional cost to the state.

4. The program has the further advantage of requiring cooperative arrangements with public employment agencies for the purpose of retaining and reemploying the unemployed parent. Thus the emphasis is not alone on financial aid but also on retraining and gainful employment.

We are constantly under the obligation to strengthen the hallowed processes of self-government, elections and the system of two strong political parties, which combined have given strength to our free institutions.

Cornerstones

The safeguarding of elections and the confidence of electors in fair and honest elections are cornerstones of our successful government. Everything we can do to maintain and strengthen such confidence must be undertaken.

Our highly mobile society has made the problems created by voter registration more acute.

Therefore, I recommend legislation to provide for frequent examination of registration records and removal from the voting rolls of the names of persons who have not voted for a period in excess of two years.

The necessity for strong political parties is recognized in the development of our statutes, which comprehensively establish their structure and regulate their conduct. We must always be alert to opportunities to improve these laws in light of experience, to provide the framework within which parties can be organized and can operate as strong and effective and representative bodies.

For some time both major parties have sought legislation to permit the delegates to county and district political conventions to select their county and district chairmen and other party officers. I believe such legislation is sound, and I recommend action at this session.

Another problem faced by political parties is that they are powerless to protect themselves from party officers who may demonstrate they are unfit to serve. At the present time, Michigan political party members cannot remove a party official from office for the duration of his term, even though that official might prevent the party from acting in a responsible manner.

Just as the constitutions of the United States and of this state provide for impeachment and removal of public officials who have proved themselves unfit for office, so the laws governing political parties should give members the right to remove officers who have demonstrated they are unfit. And there is no reason why party officials should not be subject to recall, just as government officials are.

I should emphasize that I do not suggest that a political party should purge itself of those officers who dissent from the views of the majority. Such a course of conduct would eventually result in sterility and extention for any party which adopted it. Diversity of viewpoint is a prime source of strength and growth in any political organization.

What I do recommend is legislation embodying careful safeguards, which would extend to party members the right to be assured that their duly chosen party officials remain fit for the important offices they hold.

A major problem, going to the roots of our system of our representative government, is the apportionment of the 19 seats to which Michigan is entitled in the United States House of Representatives.

The problem which now confronts us is not simply one of alloting the 19th seat. Michigan has seen tremendous shifts in population in recent years —from rural to urban areas, and from urban areas to the suburbs. As a result, disparities have been created between the populations of existing districts, the continuation of which cannot be justified on any logical basis.

Some of these disparities are between districts in metropolitan centers and those in areas where population has remained static or has declined. But great disparities also exist within Wayne County itself. And, surprisingly, two Wayne County congressional districts rank behind all but the Upper Peninsula districts in terms of population. The 16th district, in Wayne County, contains almost three times as many people as the 13th District, also in Wayne County. And the 6th District, consisting of Ingham, Livingston and Genesee counties, has over twice the population of the 1st District in Wayne County.

Action is needed in this session of the legislature to fairly apportion the 19 seats to which Michigan is entitled, so that every citizen may be given an effective voice in the Congress of the United States.

The recommendations I have made are possible of accomplishment in this session of the legislature, and their prompt realization is the most important action we can jointly take in restoring confidence in our state and its government. Renewed confidence is essential to more jobs, adequate economic expansion and future increases in meritorious public services.

I realize that some of you will be disappointed that all the desirable programs recognized in this message are not recommended for immediate adoption. While I have made it evident that I favor additional deserving programs, I believe we must learn to say, "No, we cannot afford it at this time."

Favorable action on the legislation I have recommended will make this the most productive legislative session in recent history.

I hope that all of you will approach my effort to define what is possible in the spirit of your responsibility as public officials. As you do so, remember the petition of this familiar prayer: "Give me the courage to change what should be changed; the patience to accept what I cannot change; and the wisdom to know the difference."

May God help us to be directed by this spirit.

Planners in Favor of S. Park Rezoning

Following a lengthy public hearing, the Pontiac Planning Commission last night recommended that the city rezone South Park Subdivision for industrial use.

★ ★ ★

The nine-man commission voted 7-1 in favor of the recommendation. The lone vote against a favorable recommendation was cast by William F. Davis.

One member, Wayne Weaver, was absent.

The recommendation will now go to the City Commission which can accept or reject it. If accepted, it will be subject to another hearing before final action.

Rezoning of the 50-acre subdivision from residential-2 and -3 classifications to manufacturing-1 had been proposed a month ago by the city planning staff.

LAND DWINDLING

The move is intended to boost Pontiac's dwindling supply of vacant land available for industrial development.

Several residents and property owners both in and near the subdivision voiced approval and disapproval of the proposed rezoning.

There are only 12 homes in the subdivision. Three of the 12 residents objected while two others approved the rezoning.

★ ★ ★

A home builder also objected on grounds that industrial use of the land would lower the value of dwelings he is putting up on nearby Irwin Street.

★ ★ ★

The subdivision is bounded by South Boulevard, East Boulevard, Michigan Airline Railroad and Bradford Street. It contains about 350 lots.

In othre zoning matters, the planning group recommended denial of a request to rezone the southeast corner of Franklin Road and South Boulevard to manufacturing-1.

OWNERS OBJECT

The property is now zoned commercial-2. Affected property owners in the area objected to the rezoning.

The vote was 6-2 for denying the request. Robert C. Irwin and Mayor Robert Landry, a member of the planning board, cast the votes favoring rezoning.

Unanimous approval was given a recommendation to rezone from residential to commercial a six-acre parcel on the northeast side of Oakland Avenue just south of the Belt Line Railroad.

The 1940 United States census listed 20,000 people as prospectors for gold.

Escapee Holds Woman in Car

Captive Unhurt by State Hospital Inmate

An escapee from Pontiac State Hospital held a young Pontiac housewife captive in her car for an hour and a half last night before he was seized by state police.

William R. Bochatyn, 33, was apprehended by troopers from the Brighton Post after they had stopped to investigate a parked car on the shoulder of M59 in Highland Township.

As the troopers, Robert Rozman and John Swanson, pulled behind the car, the woman jumped out of her auto and ran back to them.

Bochatyn offered no resistance.

At no time was the 20-year-old woman molested by Bochatyn, according to her statements to state police.

She told police that Bochatyn jumped into her car while she was waiting for a red light on North Saginaw Street and threatened her with a gun to drive west on M59.

The gun was later found by police to be made of plastic.

Police said Bochatyn had been allowed ground privileges at the hospital.

Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Robert L. Shipper said it was doubtful any charge would be made against Bochatyn, "considering his mental condition and the fact that he did not hurt the woman."

Fire Damages Pipes in Bank Boiler Room

A fire in the boiler room of the Community National Bank Building yesterday afternoon caused about $25 damage to pipe insulation and wiring.

The fire department discovered the fire in the basement of the building after they had been called to investigate smoke.

Chief James N. White said the fire was caused when waste paper was placed in a container with hot ashes. The alarm was turned in at 4:40 p.m.

They're Still Paying

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—When income tax time rolled around this year, "The Echo," inmate publication of the Texas State Penitentiary, reminded "those fortunate inmates who had income in 1961" that they, too, must give part of it back to Uncle Sam.

The South Pole receives more sunlight in midsummer than any place on earth. About 85 per cent is reflected, however, so the bottom of the world remains exceedingly icy.

Kettering High Works for Accreditation

By JOE MULLEN

Staff members of Kettering High School in Waterford Township are winding up a year-long effort they hope will lead to accreditation of the school by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

An inkling of whether they have been successful should be forthcoming Feb. 26 when a North Central Association committee visits the school.

Preparation of the application for accreditation began last January when school principal James Fry requested a seven-member steering committee composed of school teaching personnel to launch the program.

Assistant principal George Madden was named general chairman, and the task was under way.

A total of 26 different committees and subcommittees were formed with all teaching staff members participating.

Each committee researched a particular segment of the school's function and prepared an evaluation report. Now, reports on such as the school philosophy, program of studies, school plant, staff and administration and the guidance program, among others, have been compiled.

All that remains to complete the application is to consolidate the reports into a single volume which will contain 376 typewritten pages.

HOLD WORKSHOPS

In addition to the endless committee and staff meetings, three workshops aimed at polishing the various committee reports were held.

The importance of accreditation by the Association was recognized by all concerned and served to inspire completion of the application in the relatively short span of a year.

Accreditation by the North Central Association, the largest of five such agencies throughout the nation, offers two noteworthy advantages.

First, graduates of accredited high schools are more readily admitted to colleges and universities.

And, secondly, recognition by the Association, which embraces some 22 states in the central area of the country, is a confirmation that a school is a good institution.

Of the more than 800 high schools in the state, fewer than 300 are so accredited.

As work on the report resumed last September at the start of classes, two stumbling blocks were encountered, but both were later overcome.

The school, which opened in September 1961, had no athletic site, and its library lacked the number of books deemed necessary by the association.

Early in the fall, the school board appropriated an outlay of funds for the establishment of an athletic site, and much of the groundwork was finished before winter. Completion is scheduled for the spring.

ACQUISITION OF BOOKS

The board came to the rescue again in December by authorizing acquisition of the needed books to meet NCA specifications.

Miss Patty Looman, a speech teacher at the school and chairman of the steering committee, and Dr. Edgar Johnston, director of research for the school system, were cited particularly by Madden for their parts in spearheading the drive toward accreditation.

Dr. Johnston, who retired from the staff at Wayne State University two years ago, is considered one of the foremost authorities on accreditation in the nation. He was instrumental in the formation of the North Central Association.

A committee of 8 to 12 people from the NCA will spend all day at the school Feb. 26. They will report their findings to the staff at a meeting that afternoon.

If the oral report is favorable, a written report will be prepared and referred to the state committee of the NCA.

If still favorable, the application will be forwarded to the general assembly of the NCA scheduled for March in Chicago.

The general assembly's new school committee will then review the application and either send it to the floor for a vote or reject it.

Firm Makes Cow Beds

SHELTON, Conn. (AP) — A local industry here is making rubber mats called Kow-Mats that are five-eighths to three-quarters of an inch thick, and are said to eliminate costly bedding, along with saving labor, and reducing injuries, particularly to cows' udders. If a farmer sends dimensions of his cow stalls, the rubber mats are made to order.

Michigan Solon Considers He's 'Conservative Realist'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan counts himself a conservative on domestic matters and a "modern and realistic internationalist" on foreign affairs.

And the junior Republicans in the House of Representatives count him as a new and powerful voice for their viewpoint in GOP leadership councils.

They chose the 49-year-old Ford Tuesday to head the House Republican Conference, in a surprise 86-78 vote that ousted Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa. Hoeven, 67, has been chairman since 1957.

Ford battled odds to win his House seat in 1948, and the drive that swept him into the Republican high command was an uphill fight.

It began last week in closely guarded secrecy. The handsome, sandy-haired Michigan congressman didn't even know about it until late in the week.

When leaders of the dissident GOP group asked him to be their candidate, Ford recalls, "I said if you think there is a broad enough base to make a decent showing and you want me to do it, I'll do it."

DECENT SHOWING

Ford's habit of making a decent showing dates back to his youth.

He was born in Omaha, Nev., and moved to Grand Rapids, Mich., as a child. He played center on the University of Michigan's undefeated, national championship football teams in 1932 and 1933, and was chosen the team's most valuable player in 1934.

Then he went on to Yale University Law School, and earned part of his tuition by serving as an assistant football coach and freshman boxing coach.

He joined the Navy in 1942, and spent 47 months on active duty.

Ford went back to Grand Rapids in 1946, and resumed his law practice.

Two years later, he won nomination for the House, and scored a lopsided victory to become representative of Michigan's 5th District.

Trim and athletic, Ford looks the part for which the younger-bracket Republicans have chosen him. He is vigorous, aggressive and popular.

In 1958, Ford was mentioned as a possible compromise candidate to become House GOP leader in the contest between Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana and former House Speaker Joseph M. Martin of Massachusetts. He put a stop to that talk himself.

OUST HALLECK MOVE?

Hoeven says he thinks Ford's election is just the first step in a drive to oust Halleck as floor leader and Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois as GOP whip. Ford emphatically denies that.

Ford was married in 1948 to the former Elizabeth Bloomer of Grand Rapids. They have four children: Michael, 12, John, 10, Steven, 6 and Susan, 5.

When the push that thrust him into the House Republican Conference leadership began, Ford was with his family on a holiday ski trip in western Michigan.

GERALD R. FORD JR.

Spring's Half-Size Fashions Reason for Rejoicing

Women who throw up their hands in despair when they see new fashions displayed on models wearing size eight can now rejoice. Half-size fashions for spring are varied and good looking.

Called the Young Viewpoint Collection, the group of clothes is superbly feminine, giving the wearer the "look of the lady."

Fabrics are elegantly exciting with silk rating high. Pure silk linens, textured pure silks and silk crepes go along with tweedy effects, embroideries, rayon crepes and Arnel jersey prints.

No longer is the woman who wears sizes 12½ to 22½ limited to black, navy and charcoal. Desert beige, regency red, peach tones, shades of blue and pink are all available to her.

Knits continue to be important and provide an uncomplicated way of dressing. Tycora and Ratine yarns are featured in clothes that are weightless, bulkless and so packable.

Daytime dresses are the season spanning type . . . in rayon crepes, pure silk prints, tweedy mixtures or spun linen.

The lined rayon coat is a welcome "added plus" to the new slim spring look. Underneath is a 100 per cent Arnel jersey print shirt dress with a three-panel back skirt. It comes in toast, white and black with a toast coat; or blue, white and navy with a blue coat. About $65.

Tailoring artistry shapes the three-piece, body-skimming suit . . . with straight tunic-length, collarless coat of pure silk linen over a slimming skirt and overblouse of silk surah that matches the coat lining. About $100.

The impeccable good taste dress of textured pure silk is a spring mainstay. Young Viewpoint creates this pared-down, sheath dress, self-belted and bowed, with bias cut banding for elegance on the bodice and skirt. Comes in blue, desert beige, navy, pink. About $45.

'Arrive fresh' after traveling in a tweedy black and white Tycora and Ratine knit dress and jacket costume. The basic short-sleeved dress has an elasticized waistline and its own Chanel type jacket. Colors are black and white; navy and white; or brown and white with red trim on the jacket. About $65.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago I met a man, I'll call him Paul. We went together constantly and I learned to care for him deeply.

He said the feeling was mutual. Then I found out from a friend that Paul was getting married.

In September he married a very respectable girl. He has called me since his marriage and has begged me to see him again.

ABBY

So far I have refused although my feelings for him have not changed.

I want to know two things: (1) Why would a man with a young, attractive and newly acquired wife be interested in someone else? (2) What should I do?

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: (1) Some men are more interested in the chase than in the prize.

Once they've caught it, they seek the excitement of the chase again. Your friend is such a man.

(2) Tell him the only married man you'd have time for would be your own husband. And hang up!

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who has travelled a lot and thinks she knows everything.

She says that in the Middle East, the traditional bridal dress is RED. I have been unable to find this in any book. Is it true?

CHECKING UP

DEAR CHECKING: Yes. In East Pakistan. And the groom's face is covered with gilt (not guilt) to complete the picture.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Where do I start if I want to check the character and background of a person?

A young woman with a child comes to my home uninvited and stays for weeks at a time. She is trying to capture my 33-year-old son.

He is a very smart man in some ways, but he's never been married and is stupid when it comes to women. Please, before he marries her, tell me how to get some information on her.

BOX 443

DEAR BOX 443: You could hire a private detective to check up on her, but it seems to me that a "smart" man of 33 should be smart enough in all matters to take care of himself.

The woman is not "uninvited" if she visits you on your son's invitation. Why don't you have a talk with your son and get the facts, ma'am?

DEAR ABBY: I am an interior designer and free-lance artist and sometimes I work from 6 p.m. until 4 a.m. My work requires light.

My next door neighbor threatens to call the police because she claims my light keeps her awake.

What if her window opened on a street light or neon sign? Is there any law against keeping one's lights on 24 hours if necessary?

NIGHT WORKER

DEAR WORKER: It is your privilege to keep your light on all night if you wish. If the light bothers your neighbor, SHE should get herself a heavy shade.

Medical Writer Due to Speak on Russia

Guests and members will convene at 6:30 p. m. for dinner at the Detroit Press Club.

High School Stage Bands Are Growing

According to the American Music Conference, more than 1,000 high schools will add "stage" (jazz or dance) bands to music programs during the current school year, bringing the total of high school stage bands to approximately 7,000.

★ ★ ★

Most music teachers agree that learning to play popular music helps improve student musicians' versatility and technique in all forms of music.

Watch That Diet

Thoughts for Teen-Agers

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here are a few thoughts for my teen-age readers to take into the new year with them.

The food you eat has a drastic effect not only on how you look but on how you feel. Food influences your personality and has an effect on whether you are vibrant and gay or dull and drab, on whether you are gracious or cross.

Yours is the age of the most rapid growth, except that during infancy. At this age, you are probably more active than you will be in later life. You need a generous supply of calories daily.

This doesn't mean that you should get fat, but you should be well nourished. Don't go in for crazy diets and damage your looks and your personality.

Surveys have shown that teenagers have the poorest eating habits of any age group, with the exception of oldsters. When you realize how very important food is to you now (not just any food but the right kind of food), this seems sad.

All vitamins are important but it is believed that vitamins A and C have an especially happy effect on the skin.

Some of the richest sources of vitamin A are meat, especially liver, and the green and yellow vegetables and fruits.

The citrus fruits and their juices are the richest sources of vitamin C. Tomatoes and cabbage are also rich sources. Other fruits and vegetables have vitamin C also.

Studies have shown that teenagers improve in their school work when they begin eating an adequate breakfast. Fatigue is often the result of hunger and so is irritability.

Remember that real kindness and thoughtfulness and friendliness, too, plus enthusiasm, add to lots of friends.

Surveys show that teenagers snack too much, and don't eat nourishing meals.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Popularity," which was written especially for you, send a 5-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Northside Group Holds Get-Together

The Northside Neighbors Club gathered Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Mathias Keller of Ivy Street. Booklets concerning rules and bylaws of the club were distributed by the chairman, Mrs. Jack Cole.

Mrs. Robert D. Rushing, Mrs. Keller and Mrs. Glenn Williams presented the program.

Round Table Gathers at Tea Meeting

The Round Table Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Leon V. Belknap on East Iroquois Road. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Elmer Reynolds, Mrs. Eugene Cleland, Mrs. George Cram and Mrs. Paul Kantz, committee for the day.

In the brief business meeting, Mrs. T. C. McFetridge, a long-time member of the group, who recently moved to Indianapolis, was made an honorary member.

Tea was served with the president, Mrs. Randall Spurgeon presiding.

Garden Club Has Meeting

The Maceday Garden Extension Club met Monday at the Wilson Road home of Mrs. Donald Constable. Mrs. Paul David was cohostess.

Program for the evening was the making of leather articles. Each member made an article of her choice with help from club members knowing the craft.

Polly's Pointers

Oil Good Cleanser

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Here is one I am sure you don't know. For cleaning stainless steel refrigerators, oven doors, hoods, etc., take any light oil—I prefer a light machine oil but mineral oil is good, too.

Using a paper towel, napkin, or oil cloth, apply the oil lightly to the surface. It not only shines the surface but helps prevent future finger marks. C. L.

DEAR POLLY — To brighten up black wrought iron such as television table legs and telephone stands, apply black liquid shoe polish.

No sanding, not even a paint brush is necessary. Does not rub off or wash off. No muss, no fuss and the iron's always bright, shiny and easy to dust.

DEAR POLLY—If you are ever caught without a ruler, you will find a passable substitute in your wallet.

A dollar bill is just a fraction over 6 inches long and can be used as as a tape for rough measurements. MRS. C. F. M.

DEAR POLLY — For eight hours of sound sleep comfort, place a wool blanket on the mattress under the sheet that you sleep on.

This way less covering is needed over the body.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your ideas in Polly's Pointers.

Buy Best for Lining

When relining a coat, buy a good quality fabric for long wear. A lining fabric should be firmly woven and colorfast so it won't fade or crock onto other garments. Read labels before buying.

Space Saving New Hamper

You can pop laundry in the top and drop it out the bottom through flip-up doors of a space-saving new hamper. It hangs neatly inside a linen closet or bathroom door on a bedroom wall. Can be kept clean by washing with a sudsy sponge.

Using Horn Bad Taste at Times

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I live in a lovely apartment, and I am very happy with it except for one thing. The noise from the street below is almost driving me out of my mind, particularly the incessant honking of car horns.

I know a horn must be used at times, but so many drivers use it indiscriminately with no regard for the nerves of others.

I think this definitely comes under the heading of good manners and do wish you would write something about it in your column.

A: Unnecessary horn blowing is not only inconsiderate but bad manners as well, and no well bred man or woman ever sounds his (or her) horn needlessly. Many cities have ordinances forbidding any unnecessary horn blowing and those found guilty of this offense are fined.

Q: When a man takes a girl to the movies, should she go with him up to the ticket window while he buys the tickets or does she walk on ahead into the lobby?

A: If there is no line, she walks ahead very slowly while he buys their tickets. But when there is a really long queue, she stands beside him to keep him company until he gets close to the window. Then she may go into the lobby and wait until he joins her.

Q: My silver is very ornate and there is really no place to have it marked on top where silver is usually marked. Someone suggested having it marked on the under side.

Please give me your view on this. It seems silly to me to mark it at all if it won't show.

A: It would be silly in this country, although in Europe silver is marked on the underside and is set on the table with the marked side up.

Discover Pair Missing in Italy

Treated in Hospital for Auto Crash Injuries

NAPLES (UPI) —Two American teen-agers who had been missing from their families' homes here since Sunday were located yesterday in a hospital where they are being treated for automobile accident injuries.

Genevieve Hutchinson, 14, of Buxton, Maine, and Joseph Bizi, 16, of Port Huron, Mich., suffered minor injuries Tuesday night when the Italian car in which they were traveling ran off the road near Roccella Ionica, a U.S. military spokesman said.

They were hospitalized at Siderno Marina, near the toe of the Italian boot.

It still was not clear why the pair, children of U.S. Army families, left Naples together. Although the obvious assumption was that they had eloped, there was not known to have been any previous indication that they were in love.

A nationwide search for the couple was ordered yesterday when U.S. military authorities were unable to locate them in Naples.

Until they were traced to the hospital, the only clue to their whereabouts had been a note from Bizi saying he was leaving home to look for a job.

Bishop Says Romney 'Off' on 'Bigness'

DETROIT (UPI) — Gov. George Romney has been accused of confusing bigness with lack of controls.

The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, Episcopal bishop of Michigan, has said Romney should avoid viewing bigness as an evil in society.

Bishop Emrich said Romney "rightly sees" the danger of concentrated power in human affairs and "sees clearly" the necessity for checks and balances.

"But it's his next step of being opposed to bigness as such that I don't quite understand," the bishop said.

Bishop Emrich said the day of the little factory set in the New England hills is gone forever. He said "bigness today is almost inevitable."

Noting that the "best-working conditions and the most security" are in the great corporations, Bishop Emrich asked, "if bigness is evil, why these benefits?"

New Way to Kill

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Termites may be banished from new homes by adding a dash of insecticide to the batch of concrete used in the foundation. University of Wisconsin entomologists say that the insects crawl up the concrete and absorb the poison through their feet.

Celery Once Used Only as Medicine

LOW CALORIE CELERY SALAD — This delicious salad is your dish, especially if you're watching your weight. Crisp-tender Florida celery, shrimp and other vegetables are all low-calorie.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Every time I pick out a big crisp bunch of celery in the store I remember that for a year or more I've been planning to write an article on this vegetable.

Readers who have driven in the western part of the state have seen celery growing in the almost unbelievable black soil over there. Celery-growing in the United States began right here in Michigan. It is one of Michigan's larger crops!

At this time of year, of course, our celery comes from Florida.

Younger homemakers probably do not remember a time when they could not get Pascal celery. They don't know that in pre-Pascal days the celery wasn't so green, nor so big, nor even so crisp. It was blanched to a creamy golden color.

Until about 350 years ago celery was used only for medicinal purposes. When adventuresome cooks discovered that it gave a distinctive and delightful flavor to food, gardeners began cultivating it.

One more bit of information before we have some recipes: a "stalk" of celery is the whole bunch. One part is called a "rib."

Celery and Shrimp Salad

3 cups sliced celery
2 cups shredded cabbage
3 tablespoons chopped scallions or onions
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
¾ teaspoon salt or salt to taste
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
1½ lbs. shrimp, cooked or 2 cans (6½ ounces each) shrimp
1½ teaspoons salt
Sliced cucumbers

Combine celery, cabbage and scallions. Blend together mayonnaise, vinegar, salt and black pepper. Pour over vegetables and toss lightly. Turn into a salad bowl. Mix shrimp with the 1½ teaspoons salt, black pepper and lemon juice.

Make a nest in the celery and cabbage and fill with shrimp mixture. Garnish with sliced cucumbers, place around edge of salad. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

If you haven't tried cooked celery, you're in for a pleasant surprise. You never could have convinced me of that when I was a teen-ager at camp. About once a week the cook gave us celery soup for supper. It was nothing more than hot milk with slices of celery floating around in it.

Braised celery is a different dish. This one you bake and it could well go in the oven with meat and potatoes.

Braised Ribs of Celery

18 ribs of crisp tender celery 5 inches long
¾ cup sliced carrots
1-3 cup sliced onion
½ cup beef stock
¼ cup ground beef suet
½ teaspoon salt
1-16 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon flour

Select tender inside ribs from 2 stalks celery. Cut them 5 inches long, measuring from the bottom of the rib. Parboil in 1 inch boiling water 5 minutes. Place carrots and onions in bottom of casserole over which arrange parboiled celery ribs.

Heat beef stock, suet, salt and black pepper. Pour over celery. Cover and bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 40 minutes or until carrots are tender.

Mix butter with flour to form a roux and mix with ½ cup celery liquid drained from the casserole. Spoon over celery. Place under broiler 5 minutes to glaze. Serve hot as a vegetable.

★ ★ ★

Raw celery yields to no vegetable on the relish plate. It's good as an appetizer, good with the main course and a welcome change after a sweet dessert (at least at our house it is).

Zippy Stuffed Celery Sticks

Blend an 8-ounce package creamy cottage cheese with ¼ cup Bleu or Roquefort cheese. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons ground dill seed and mix well. Pile lightly into 3-inch ribs of celery and garnish with Spanish paprika. Yield: 24 three-inch ribs.

Discovered in France

The night they invented champagne was in October 1679, when a Benedictine monk discovered that a secondary fermentation in bottled wine would make it sparkle and bubble. He was so delighted with his discovery he named it after his local province of Champagne in France.

Ripe Olives Are Key Ingredient

If there's no turkey left over, buy some for this really scrumptious casserole. Easy to put together, it cooks in only 20 minutes. Husky wedges of ripe olives add flavor as well as color to "Turkey Crunch Casserole." Along with the olives and turkey there are green peas, potato chips, milk and seasonings, making a main dish that is quite outstanding.

Remember that ripe olives can be purchased pitted or unpitted, sliced or chopped. The nutlike flavor of the olives is enhanced with heating.

Turkey Crunch Casserole

¾ cup ripe olives
⅓ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
1 cup cooked green peas
2 cups cooked diced turkey or chicken
2 cups potato chips

Cut olives into large pieces. Melt butter and blend in flour. Add milk, salt and Worcestershire. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add olives, peas and turkey. Turn into 1-quart casserole.

Crush potato chips lightly and sprinkle on top. Bake in 400-degree (hot) oven for 20 minutes, until thoroughly heated. Makes 4 servings.

Cranberry Ice Served in Cubes

For something new serve a cranberry ice with the turkey as a variation on the usual cranberry sauce. Refreshing and colorful cranberry cubes, made in the refrigerator tray, may be prepared several days ahead and removed from the freezer just before the blessing is asked.

Frosty Cranberry Cubes

4 cups fresh cranberries
1 cup water
¾ cup sugar
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup corn syrup
Juice of 1 medium orange

Cook cranberries, water, and ¾ cup sugar in covered pan until skins pop open. Force berries through a sieve.

Beat egg whites until stiff, and gradually beat in the ¼ cup sugar, milk, corn syrup, and orange juice. Blend in 2 cups cooked pureed cranberries. Place in ice cube trays in the freezer section of the refrigerator. When the mixture reaches the mushy stage, pour in a chilled bowl and beat until smooth.

Return the cranberry combination to the freezer trays, and when frozen, remove and beat again until smooth. Spoon whipped mixture into trays and press ice cube dividers down into mixture. Cover trays with aluminum foil and freeze for several hours or until firm.

Convenience Foods Combine in Cold Pie

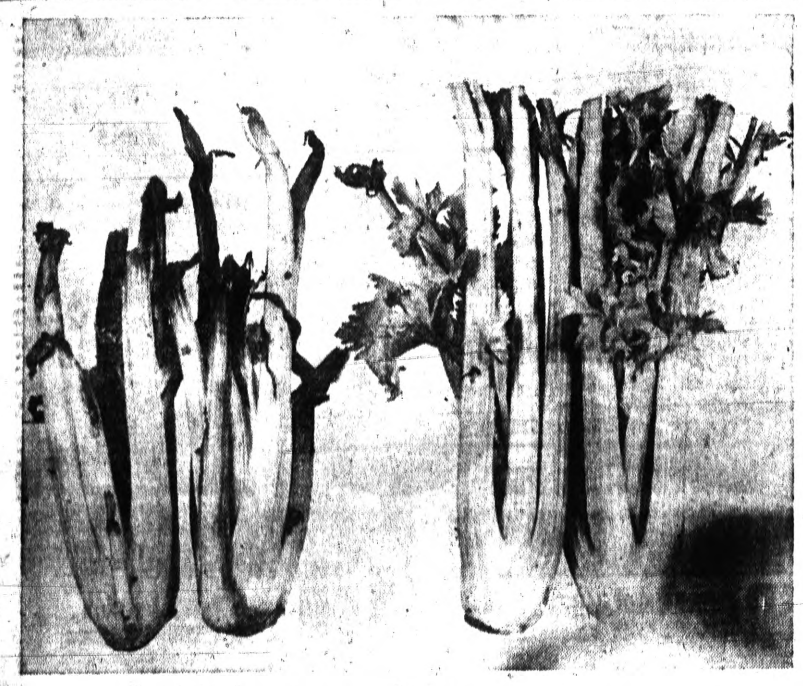

If you are wishing for a party dessert that is low in calories, economical and a perfect snap to make, try this Butterscotch Ice Cream Pie.

Beat together until blended: 1 pint softened vanilla ice cream, ½ cup instant crystals, ½ cup ice water and one 3¼-ounce package instant butterscotch pudding mix. Turn into an 8-inch crumb pie shell. Freeze 4 hours, or until firm. If pie becomes too firm, let stand 15 minutes before serving.

Children Can Enjoy Old-Time Tradition

It's easy to make an old-fashioned cranberry rope for the Christmas tree. Thread a long, large-eyed needle with black No. 8 thread doubled in 1 yard lengths. Knot end of thread.

Push needle through raw cranberries, pushing them off the back of the needle onto thread, being careful not to tangle or knot thread. String as many yards as desired and tie together into a single rope.

Preservation of freshness in celery was obtained by use of a new chemical, N6-benzylaminopurine, by Michigan State University horticulturists. All the celery pictured here was held at 70 degrees for 22 days. The bunches on the right were dipped in a very dilute solution of the new chemical. Researchers found the new chemical effective on asparagus and broccoli also. (MSU Photo)

Turn 'Em Loose With The Food

More and more these days, the kitchen is becoming a popular hangout for teen-agers of both sexes. All that's necessary for a good kitchen party are ingredients for hearty combination sandwiches and burgers, some disposable paper cups and plates to eliminate clean-up chores, and a family-size aluminum electric buffet griddle for the amateur chefs.

As teen-agers love to experiment with sandwich mixtures of their own selection, here's a new one in two different versions.

Peanut Butter Combos

1 cup peanut butter (plain or crunchy)
½ cup cottage cheese
½ cup chili sauce
½ teaspoon salt
16 slices bread
Soft butter

Mix peanut butter with cottage cheese, chili sauce and salt. Spread about ¼ cup of mixture on 8 slices of bread. Top with another slice of bread and spread outside of sandwich with soft butter. Grill on medium heat until lightly browned. Serves 8.

Alternate filling: One cup of peanut butter and 1 cup of all-purpose barbecue sauce, blended together, may be substituted as a delicious alternate for above mixture.

Carrot Haters Will Succumb to This Dish

There could hardly be an easier way than "Onion-Glazed Carrots" to glamorize carrots. The cooked vegetable is served with a flavorful glaze of butter and instant minced onion — onion always ready to use straight from the container with no fussing and fretting over peeling, slicing and chopping.

Onion-Glazed Carrots

1 lb. carrots
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar

Scrape or pare carrots; cook in boiling salted water until tender, about 15 minutes. Melt butter in skillet; add onion, salt and sugar. Cook over very low heat, stirring constantly until onion is pale gold. Drain hot carrots and add to skillet mixture, turning until glazed. Makes 6 servings.

Place leftover mashed potatoes in buttered aluminum foil. They are good when reheated in the same foil.

Bean Fruit Cassoulet Is French

Thrifty French housewives extend many casserole combinations by adding beans to the ingredients. The bean casserole is now famous in all restaurants where French family cooking is served. Called a cassoulet, it may contain lamb or chicken or other meat besides the beans.

Cornish Apple Cassoulet

2 teaspoons instant minced onion
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons salad oil
½ lb. sweet Italian sausages
2 Rock Cornish hens, split into halves
½ teaspoon salt
3 tart apples, peeled and sliced
1 green pepper, cut in rings
1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) white kidney beans (Cannellini)
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine onion and water; let stand until water is absorbed. Heat salad oil in large skillet. Cut sausages in chunks; brown in oil; remove. Rub hens with salt; brown in same skillet; remove. Add apples and green pepper rings to skillet; cook 5 minutes. Add beans, Tabasco, Worcestershire sauce and onions; mix well.

Spoon bean mixture into 4 individual casseroles; place hens on top; cover. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes, or until hens are done. Makes 4 servings.

Catsup Adds Zest to Molded Salad

Here's an imaginative salad ring mold that readily passes in the living room or at the dinner table as a combination of appetizer, first course, and salad. Fill the center with your choice of sea food and top with Russian dressing. This mold does well as a luncheon entree too.

Savory Salad Ring

2 tablespoons gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup chili sauce
½ cup mayonnaise
6 hard-cooked eggs, diced
½ cup celery, diced
½ cup green pepper, diced
1 can pimento, diced
¾ teaspoon sugar
Dash cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ cup catsup

Soak gelatin in water. Heat until dissolved. Mix all ingredients, add gelatin. Pour in greased mold, chill until firm. Turn out on platter. Garnish with lettuce, fill center with sea food. Serve.

Easy mixing of salads can be accomplished by tossing the salad and its dressing in a plastic bag.

Experts Favor Right Snacks

ANN ARBOR — After-school snacks for children have won a qualified nod of approval from professional dietitians at The University of Michigan Medical Center.

They say the snacks — whether food or drink — should alway provide some of the calories, vitamins and minerals necessary to good all-around nutrition, yet should not spoil the child's appetite for his evening meal.

How mom can manage these two requirements is a trick in itself.

The U-M food specialists turn thumbs down on such snacks as candy, soda-pop and potato chips. They recommend instead:

—Fruit juice, vegetable juice or milk.
—Crackers with peanut butter or cheese.
—Raisin cookies.

—Fresh fruit, carrots, celery or even cucumber wedges for casual but nutritious, "munching."

—Cereal and milk.

They even offer mom a way to circumvent demands by small fry for the outlawed soda-pop and candy. "Keep only the more nourishing kinds of snacks readily available in the kitchen," says dietitian Betsy Holli, "and let nature take its course. The whole family will benefit nutritionally."

Cranberry and Orange Sauce Covers Bananas

Wash 1 cup of fresh cranberries. Place in saucepan with ½ cup of water. Cover. Cook 10 minutes or until skins pop. Press through sieve.

In a 9-inch pie plate, place 3 large ripe bananas, halved crosswise and dipped in juice of ½ a lemon. Mix ½ cup of sugar and ¼ cup of orange juice with cranberry juice and pour over bananas. Cover.

Bake 20 to 25 minutes, or until tender, in a preheated 350-degree oven. Serves 6.

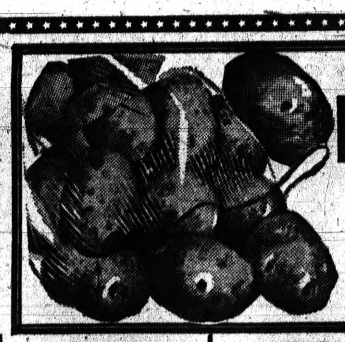

Brownie Ring Holds Ice Cream in Center

Bake your favorite recipe for Brownies in an 8- or 9-inch ring mold for a surprise dessert. Be sure to grease the ring well.

Preheat the oven to 325 degrees and bake the ring 25 to 30 minutes. When it is done, remove it from the ring mold immediately. Serve with a bowl of ice cream in the center and pass hot fudge sauce.

REPENT, SINNERS — Billie Sol Estes, Pecos, Tex., rancher convicted in a fertilizer storage swindle, told a church fund-raising program last night that repenting is essential to religious salvation. AP Photofax

'Repent,' Urges Estes

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Billie Sol Estes, convicted and bankrupt Texas financier, came here last night to collect nickels and dimes for a Nigerian school.

The mild-mannered Texan and deacon of the Church of Christ, addressed about 200 Negroes in a modest church on the city's far West Side.

In his sermon, entitled "The Simple Plan of Salvation," Estes told the group "if you follow Christ's life there will be no problems."

Estes confined his talk to a listing of the five steps to salvation and only briefly mentioned the Nigerian Mission Fund, saying "it is a very good thing."

Estes has conducted several such talks in behalf of the Nigerian Mission Fund, a group that wants to raise $6,000 in 1963 to build a school in Nigeria.

Several times during his sermon, Estes stressed the need for repentance. Estes was convicted in Tyler, Tex., on charges growing out of a multi-million dollar fertilizer-grain storage scandal and now is free pending an appeal.

Estes is free on state and federal bonds totaling $130,000 and may travel anywhere in the United States.

He was convicted and sentenced to eight years in prison in November on a state charge involving a $95,000 mortgage on anhydrous ammonia tanks.

He also is under a 25-count federal indictment.

Estes has filed a bankruptcy declaration. He frequently attends Negro churches and built the Negro church in Pecos, Tex., his hometown. He neither smokes nor drinks.

PERSONAL FAVOR

Rev. G. P. Holt, pastor of the Indianapolis church, said Estes came here as a personal favor to Rev. Floyd Rose, pastor of a Toledo, Ohio, Church of Christ congregation.

Rev. Rose has known Estes since he was 11 and was helped through college by the west Texas financier.

Estes, called a master salesman when he talked west Texas farmers into taking chattel mortgages on nonexistent fertilizer tanks, was warmly received by the congregation, which crowded to the front of the small church to wish him well and shake his hand.

Estes ended his sermon with an eyes-closed, hands-upraised prayer in which he asked God to help the persons present to be "good Christians."

★ ★ ★

After that, Rev. Holt asked his congregation to give to the Nigerian Mission Fund and passed pledge cards and donation baskets.

The churchgoers were dismissed with a benediction from the regular Wednesday-night meeting.

Rev. Holt said later he had known Estes for about three years and thought of him as a "very simple, down-to-earth man, interested in helping people."

Newsmen tried to talk to Estes after the meeting, but received a polite brushoff with a blank look and a firm "I'd rather not comment."

Holt said Estes has spoken at Churches of Christ in Toledo and Dayton, Ohio. Estes was scheduled to leave Indianapolis today after spending the night with Rev. Holt and his family.

He will deliver a sermon tonight in Cleveland at the Edison Road Church of Christ.

Holt said Estes was a "very ardent supporter of the church's school work in the smaller churches of the brotherhood."

Holt said the evening raised about $120 in cash and he was not sure how much in pledges.

Takes Oath as Treasurer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Kathryn E. Granahan, D-Pa., was sworn in as treasurer of the United States at a White House ceremony.

With President Kennedy standing by her side, Mrs. Granahan took the oath from Herbert Miller, assistant executive clerk of the White House.

"It is a pleasure to pass on this certificate (of appointment) to a distinguished former member of Congress and a great campaigner," Kennedy told her.

Mrs. Granahan, of Philadelphia, succeeds Mrs. Elizabeth Rudel Smith who resigned last April.

Douse Fire in Suite Planned for Meg

LONDON (AP) — Ten fire trucks raced to Kensington Palace today and brought under control a fire in the apartment being prepared for Princess Margaret.

Margaret was in her present apartment at the other end of the historic palace when the fire broke out, a royal spokesman said. The London fire brigade said the fire started in the rafters. There was no immediate estimate of the damage.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, moved into Kensington Palace after their marriage in 1960. The home being prepared for Margaret contains 20 rooms and is known as 1A Kensington Palace. Her present apartment is much smaller.

Tunisia 'Won't Tolerate' the Communist Party

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—The Tunisian government has decided not to tolerate the Communist party in Tunisia, informed sources said Wednesday night.

There was no official comment from the government although rumors that the Communist party has been banned have persisted for several days.

Two of four men arrested in a gambling raid on a card game in a Waterford Township cabin a year ago were sentenced to fines or six months in Oakland County Jail yesterday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

The two pleaded guilty Dec. 11 to a charge of accepting money upon result of a contest.

★ ★ ★

Fleeing Driver Jailed in Flint

A wrong turn after leaving the scene of an accident led Willie Cross of Pontiac into a Genesee County Jail cell.

The description of the car matched the one police had on the car that had left the scene of the accident at an intersection just north of Flint. No one was hurt in the crash.

Taken before Flint Township Justice of the Peace Joseph E. Gaultney, Cross pleaded guilty to six charges driving with a revoked license, reckless driving, leavin gthe scene of an accident, malicious destruction of property and being drunk and disorderly.

Need 3 New Planners to Retain Federal Grant

Unless Oakland County can hire at least three new planners it will have to surrender a $142,960 federal grant, the County Planning Commission was told yesterday.

★ ★ ★

County Planning Director George Skrubb said his staff was too depleted to carry out the two-year program for which the grant was made.

He said three of his top planners have suddenly left for more lucrative positions elsewhere in the field.

Furthermore, he said the county couldn't hope to adequately fill the vacant positions unless it raised the wage scale substantially.

Because the federal government is now spending big money in the form of grants for community planning throughout the country, there is a growing demand for qualified planners who are too few to meet the needs, Skrubb said.

★ ★ ★

He added that the county's wage scale for planners has fallen behind on the market, making the positions here less desirable.

Nine vacancies now exist in the planning department here.

OFFER HIGHER SALARIES

Skrubb said he isn't proposing that all of these be refilled, but that he be allowed to offer higher salaries for two chief assistants in order to obtain their services.

The result he said would see the county spending no more for planning than has already been appropriated, but would require changes in the salary schedule and a reduction in planning personnel authorized.

The reductions would be made in the presently unfilled positions. None of those still employed would lose their jobs or receive any salary cuts, Skrubb said.

The federal grant referred to by Skrubb as new being in jeopardy was made for two-year studies of population, employment, industrial structure and land use in the county.

Purpose of these studies is to determine current trends here as they affect the future economy in an effort to encourage these favorable trends.

Cleveland Coach to Remain as Vice President

Pro Football Era Ends With Firing of Paul Brown

CLEVELAND (AP) — Paul Brown, the football master who led the professional Cleveland Browns for 17 years after gaining coaching glory at the high school and college level of the game, has been fired.

The end of a gridiron era in Cleveland came later Wednesday with a simple but stunning announcement from Arthur B. Modell, club president:

"Paul E. Brown, head coach and general manager of the Cleveland Browns, will no longer serve the team in those capacities. . .Brown will remain as a vice president. . .and will assume other duties. He will finish out the balance of his six-year contract at the same compensation and will continue to be a stockholder."

SIX YEARS TO GO

Brown signed an eight-year contract two years ago.

While football fans buzzed in surprise at Brown's ouster, the 54-year-old grid genius was unavailable to callers. Because he is such a proud man, there was some doubt he would remain with the National Football League club he founded in 1946.

But Modell, who hopes to name a successor within 10 days, said: "I fervently hope Paul Brown will continue his association with the Browns for a long time to come. I have every indication he will stay with us."

Modell indicated Brown's shoes would be filled by two men—one a coach and the other a general manager.

"As for a coach I have four men in mind now," Modell said. "One is in the college ranks and the other three are pro coaches, but not necessarily head coaches."

Some names that drew speculation were Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys; Bill Austin, an assistant with Greer Bay; Ohio State's Woody Hayes and Browns' backfield coach Blanton Collier.

"I have not been in communication with any man about the coaching job," Modell said. He said he had been thinking about removing Brown for the past three weeks. He told brown Monday.

"It was not a pleasant thing to do," said the 39-year-old former New York advertising executive who bought the club for $4 million in March, 1961.

"Paul Brown has made enormous contributions to the game of football, legendary contributions. I hope the club will continue to have his advice and guidance.

"The only reason I will give for the change is that I believe it will serve the best interests of the Cleveland Browns."

FRICTION SEEN

Brown is believed to be drawing in excess of $50,000 a year from the Browns. But it was no secret that friction was building up between him and Modell, both of whom are strong personalities.

Until Modell came on the scene, Brown was the boss of everything to do with the Browns. He had a free hand. He was the only man in the NFL with a team named after him.

Actually, the name was given to the team when it first started in 1946 in the All-America Conference. The Browns won every championship in the four years that league lasted, piling up a record of 52 victories, four defeats and three ties.

In 13 NFL seasons the Browns have won seven Eastern Conference titles and three league championships.

GREAT RECORD

Brown's 33-year coaching record is probably unmatched. It spans two seasons at Severn Prep, nine at Massillon, Ohio, High School, three at Ohio State University, two at the Great Lakes Naval Station in Chicago and the last 17 with the Browns. He won 296 games, lost 75 and had 15 ties.

It will seem strange for football fans not to see the nervous Brown pacing up and down in front of the Cleveland bench next season. His brusque manner and biting sarcasm won few friends. But he never seemed to care about that. He did earn grudging respect for his coaching methods — and success.

As a coach, Brown was a cool precisionist. He revolutionized many coaching ideas since copied by others in the pro ranks. A master organizer, he took movies of all games, kept exhaustive statistics on players and was the first to employ an entire coaching staff for 52 weeks and keep them all busy.

Brown's oft-criticized method of sending in plays from the bench has been imitated in varying forms by nearly every coach in the NFL.

A fierce competitor, Brown often said he'd rather lose in a tough battle than have a push-over.

"I want to battle—can't help it," he has said. "I don't want your money. I want to beat the hell out of you."

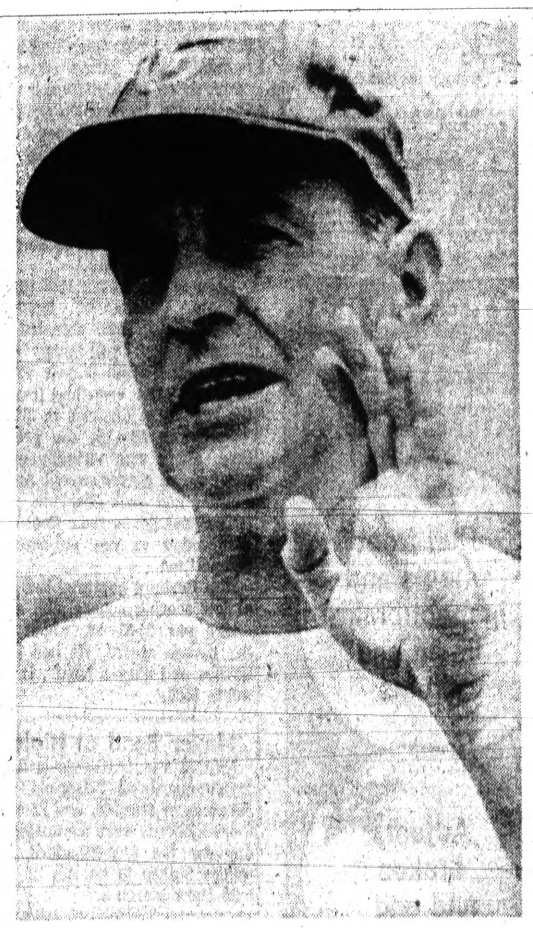

Despite frequent and growing criticism in recent years because the Browns had not been in a championship game since 1957, Brown never gave a thought to stepping down. Two years ago he said:

"I love my job. I love the challenge of it. It's my life."

Strict and demanding, Brown would not tolerate what he called "boozers" or "chasers" no matter what their football ability. Many good players were discarded because of this code.

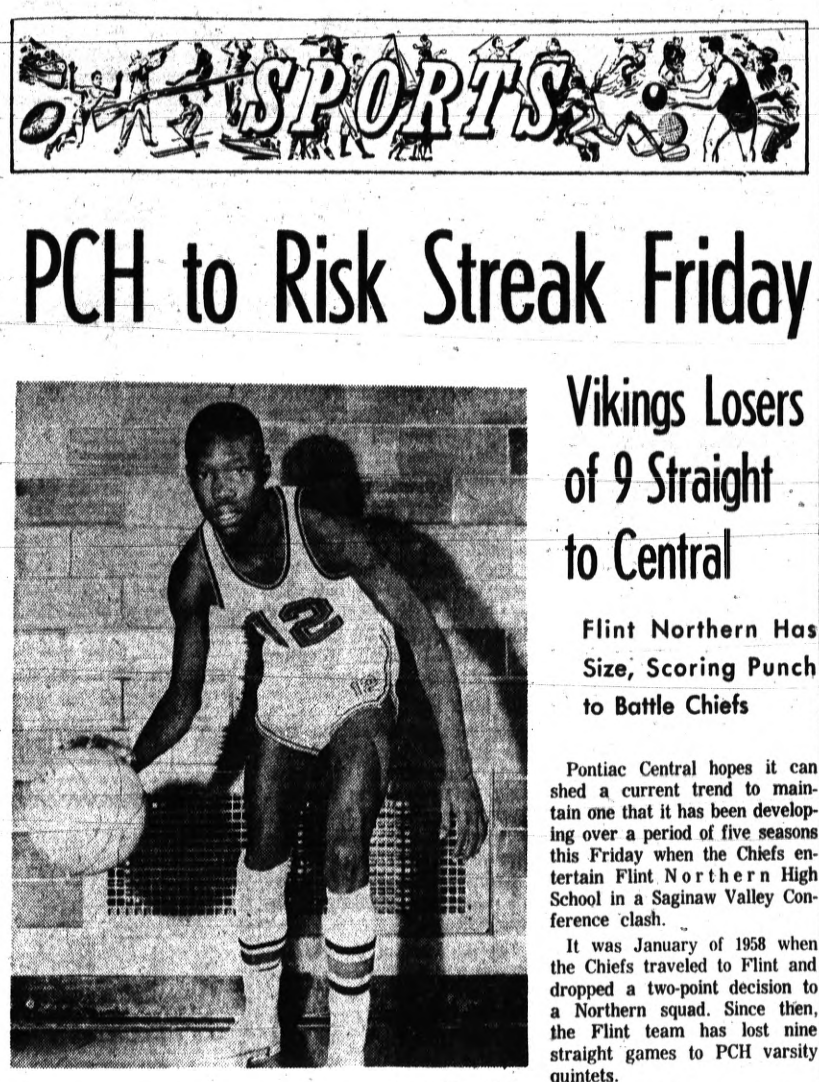

"We want men who are willing to pay the price," he would tell the squad at the opening of preseason practice each summer. "High-class players win the big ones. These are the real pros, the men who can be stunned early in a ball game and have the courage to come back and take it all."

One man who fits that description is Lou (The Toe) Groza, the great place-kicker who is the only surviving member of the original Browns.

PCH to Risk Streak Friday

CENTRAL SHARPSHOOTER — Mel DeWalt has blossomed into a top scoring threat for Pontiac Central. He will be in the starting lineup Friday when the Chiefs host Flint Northern.

Vikings Losers of 9 Straight to Central

Flint Northern Has Size, Scoring Punch to Battle Chiefs

Pontiac Central hopes it can shed a current trend to maintain one that it has been developing over a period of five seasons this Friday when the Chiefs entertain Flint Northern High School in a Saginaw Valley Conference clash.

It was January of 1958 when the Chiefs traveled to Flint and dropped a two-point decision to a Northern squad. Since then, the Flint team has lost nine straight games to PCH varsity quintets.

Central has high hopes of increasing that streak to 10 consecutive wins with a victory this Friday, and in the process, shed its win-away-from-Pontiac habit this season. PCH's only two victories in six starts were road triumphs at Midland last Friday and Bay City Central earlier.

It will not be an easy task. The visiting Vikings were accorded the 16th slot in the weekly AP Class A state poll this week, although their 77-64 loss to Saginaw Monday night was not considered in the balloting.

GOOD MATCH

"They'll be a good match for us," Central coach Art Van Ryzin said Wednesday. "We'll have to play really good ball against them."

Van Ryzin compared the Northern cagers with the Flint Central squad that pinned a 45-44 loss on PCH here earlier this season.

Leading the visitors on the floor Friday will be Don Mayfield, 6-2 forward, who has tallied 68 points in four games this year. Mayfield's brother Larry, who hit 22 points including 10 of 17 field goal attempts against Saginaw, will team with Lane Ellis in the backcourt. Ellis had a career high of 20 points in the losing effort Monday.

Shula Has Duties Outlined by Colts

BALTIMORE (AP)—Don Shula, at 33 the second youngest coach in the National Football League, has a big order to fill in 1963: Bring the league championship back to Baltimore.

After Shula, a former colt player, was hired Tuesday to replace 55-year-old Weeb Ewbank, the owner of the Baltimore Colts, Carroll Rosenbloom, made it clear what he expected of his new head coach.

"I thought the Colts should have won the championship this past year and I think we will win it next year," said Rosenbloom.

"If it were just a case of moving up to second place in our division, I never would have made the change. I think we will win the title; that is why I hired Shula."

BIG CHALLENGE

The new coach, who played under Ewbank here for four years before his release prior to the 1957 season, knows what he is up against.

Asked whether he considered himself ready for a head coaching assignment, Shula replied:

"It doesn't make any difference what I tell you about that. I'd have to prove it. That's by winning." By winning, Rosenbloom means the championship and Shula knows it.

Shula, who was given a two-year contract, inherits a team that won the NFL championship in 1958 and 1959, but which tumbled to 6-6 in 1960, 8-6 in 1961 and 7-7 this past season.

The squad that reports for preseason training at Westminster, Md., next July will include nine former teammates, plus two who joined the team the year he was dropped.

PROBLEMS

At least three of his players are older than Shula—defensive end Gino Marchetti, middle guard Bill Pellington and fullback Joe Perry, all 35. Will this present a problem?

Pellington and Marchetti said it would not. Perry was not available for comment.

"I have no quals about playing for him," said Pellington. "We were and I hope are very good friends. I'm sure that isn't going to be of concern in my playing and I know I will give him my best."

". . . it took a lot of guts for Rosenbloom to hire a 33-year-old for the head coaching job," Marchetti said. "That means the coach is a couple of years younger than Pellington and I.

"But I don't think that will be a problem. Shula will be tough. No one will walk over him."

Marchetti was asked whether he would be interested in a player-coach job such as that of Andy Robustelli of the Giants.

"Well, yes, but Shula must be allowed to make his own appointments," the Al-Pro end said. "He might and probably will want a fulltime coach."

Shula, who was defensive backfield coach the past three years for the Detroit Lions, is scheduled to arrive in Baltimore Thursday.

Irish Sophs Lead Way

DePaul Upset, 82-60

By The Associated Press

Notre Dame's tender sophomores may not set the world on fire basketball-wise but they're turning into a bunch of old spoilsports.

New Year's eve, they knocked Illinois from the unbeaten ranks, and that remains the only blotch on the record of the 5th-ranked Illini.

Then Wednesday night, proud DePaul, boasting a spotless 8-0 record came into the Irish's South Bend lair. With three sophs leading the way, the Irish pushed to a five-point half-time lead, then raced away in the second half for an 82-62 decision.

THREE SOPHS

The three sophs who did most of the damage to DePaul were Larry Sheffied, who scored 21 points; Don Reed 17, and Walt Sahm 16.

Reed was the big man. He came off the bench to ignite the Irish with nine minutes left in the first half. When he left the game with eight minutes to go, Notre Dame held a solid 66-53 lead.

So now Notre Dame shows a 9-3 record. DePaul will have an opportunity to get even on its home court next Wednesday.

Sophomores have been standouts all over the country this season. In another game Wednesday night, soph Billy Rado of Georgia dunked in 23 points in a losing cause. Georgia Tech, 7th-ranked nationally, barely eked out a 72-70 decision over the Bulldogs to keep its record a perfect 9-0.

Billy Cunningham, another super-soph, also did Herculean work for a losing cause. His North Carolina club, No. 10 in the current Associated Press poll, lost a 78-70 Atlantic Coast Conference decision to Wake Forest. Cunningham led all scorers with 25 points. The Deacons had to come from behind a three-point deficit at the half. Frank Christie and Bob Woollard each had 18 points for the winners.

Virginia turned back North Carolina State 78-69 in another AAC game. The results left Wake Forest and Duke, which coasted past Navy 85-70 in a non-league game, tied for the loop lead.

Art Heyman hit for 28 points in Duke's victory over Navy.

Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, the nation's top scorer among the major collegians, registered a paltry 21 points in the Pirates' 79-47 victory over Rider, a New Jersey rival.

This tied Werkman's lowest previous varsity effort, and pulled down his average which was 34.2 going into the game. He did not get over the 20 mark until there was less than 90 seconds remaining. Although he was guarded closely, his troubles were caused mainly by his own poor shooting. He hit on only nine of 25 shots from the floor.

Pistons' Win Streak Is Halted by Lakers

From Our Wire Services

The Detroit Pistons had their three game winning streak shattered last night when the Los Angeles Lakers warded off a last minute Pistons rally and went on to win, 123-115.

The game was the second of National Basketball Association doubleheader that saw the St. Louis Hawks down the New York Knicks, 110-95, in the opener.

Los Angeles held a 99-81 lead going into the final period and the Pistons began hacking away at the margin. At the four minute mark, they cut the lead to 110-106.

But Dick Barnett quickly tossed in two baskets and a free throw for Los Angeles to salt the game for the west coast five.

RUSSELL OUT

This was proved again last night when Russell was sidelined with a sore back and the Chicago Zephyrs won 131-123. It was Chicago's first victory over Boston this season.

While Boston didn't have Russell, the Zephyrs had Charley Hardnett and the latter turned in his finest NBA performance with a 35-point effort. Hardnett clinched the game with five straight points after the Celts pulled to within 119-117. Rookie John Havlicek paced the losers with 20 points.

Syracuse had a 71-57 lead midway through the third quarter before the Royals cut the Nats' margin to four at the end of the period.

Rookie John Barnhill reeled off eight straight points in a 61-second span to pace the Hawks. Barnhill's heroics came midway in the third period. Each time he scored an easy layup after the ball had been stolen from the Knicks at the other end of the court.

Hawks Trio Paces Victory Over Toronto

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They put the million dollar tag on the Chicago Black Hawks' line of Bobby Hull, Red Hay and Murray Balfour.

But the Hawks' trio which has really been playing like a million bucks is the one centered by Stan Mikita with Ab McDonald and Kenny Wharram on the wings.

Wharram and McDonald scored and Mikita assisted each Wednesday night as the Hawks regained sole possession of first place in the National Hockey League with a 3-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs. No other games were scheduled.

Chicago's new million dollar line found the nets in the opening period with Wharram getting his 10th goal after 11 minutes, 27 seconds and McDonald his 14th at 16:54.

The triumph gave Chicago 47 points, two more than the Leafs.

The surging Montreal Canadiens, unbeaten in their last 10 games, get an opportunity tonight to take over second place. They play the Detroit Red Wings in the Montreal Forum. Chicago is at Boston in the other game.

ATTACK FAILS — An attempted scoring attack by Toronto Maple Leafs' forward Frank Mahovlich (dark jersey, foreground) on Chicago Black Hawk goalie Glen Hall fails in the first period of their game last night in Toronto. In on the defense are Hawks' Len Lunde (9) and Pierre Pilote (3). The Hawks won, 3-1.

The barbers and realtors are the first and second teams in the loop race. Capitol has a four-game lead which could evaporate in the six-game struggle tonight.

Mrs. Wolverton will clash with Nancy Vondette who has dropped only one singles match this season.

★ ★ ★

Other games tonight will include Francis Fuel vs. Club 99, Frostop Drive In vs. Clark's Drive In, Pepsi Cola vs. Kennerly's Service, Crocker's Candy vs. Anita's Lettering, A&W Root Beer vs. Country Kitchen and Seaman Manufacturing vs. Buettner's Cleaners.

Golfers Start San Diego Open

$25,000 at Stake in 72-Hole Tourney

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Firing got under way today in the $25,000 San Diego Open Golf Tournament, with gallery attention centered on PGA champion Gary Player and two hometown products, former national open champions Gene Littler and Billy Casper Jr.

Site of the 72-hole event, second on the 1963 tournament trail, was the 6,800-yard, par 35-36 Stardust Country Club course.

Here to defend his 1962 title is Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif., who defeated another younger pro, Johnny Pott, in a sudden-death playoff on the first hole after each had finished the regulation distance in 277.

Pott was also in the present field, along with virtually every other name player except Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

Bob Rosburg captured individual low scoring honors with an 8-under par 31-32—63, which tied the course record. He had eight birdies and nary a bogey. It was worth $500.

'Position' Night in Wayne-Oakland

It will be just like "position" night in the Wayne-Oakland loop Friday as all eight teams are involved in conference games.

The biggest contest will see Holly (4-0) invading West Bloomfield (5-0) as the league's only two undefeated squads meet with undisputed possession of first place at stake.

Another first division affair will have Clarkston (2-2) invading Blomfield Hills (4-1). The Wolves must win or be counted out of the championship race.

The league's second division quintets will pair off to cut the four-way fifth place deadlock in half. Defending league champion Northville will be looking to improve its 1-4 league slate at Milford. Clarenceville, which won its first game last Friday, will tangle with Brighton on the latter's court.

EYEING HOLLY

West Bloomfield, admittedly looking past Walled Lake to the Holly clash, almost fell from the unbeaten ranks and its high state ranking (No. four in the weekly AP Class B poll) Tuesday as Walled Lake, a winner only once in 25 starts, pushed the Lakers to two overtime periods before losing, 78-73.

The Lakers do not figure to be caught napping against Holly which has only a non-league, 46-42 loss to Fenton to mar its five-game record.

Sharp-shooting Dan Greig heads the well-balanced scoring attack for coach Art Paddy of the Lakers. In the high scoring game Tuesday, six West Bloomfield players hit double figures.

Other starters will probably be Bill Eliason and Dan Armistead at forwards, Dave Helmreich at center and Charlie Robison will team with Greig at guard.

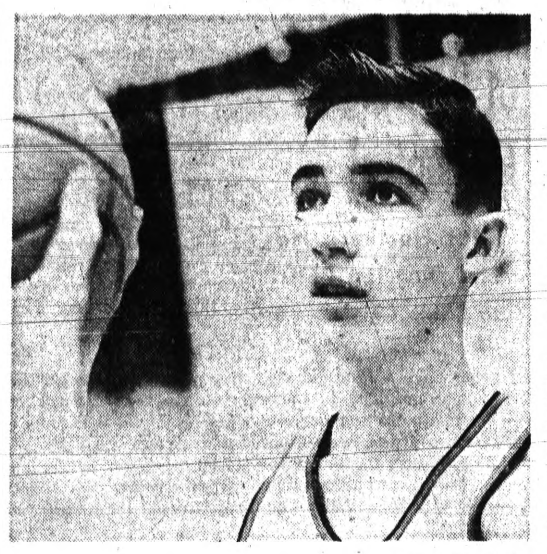

Holly coach Bob Pence plans to start Jim Ray and Dave Young up front, Doug Williams will handle the pivot and Larry Brandsher will be paired with Jack Bennett in the back court. Bennett has hit twin figures in every game this season while the other starters have hit double figures at least once.

★ ★ ★

Both teams have had good results with reserves coming into a game and helping the starting five. Woody Pierce rallied the Broncos last Friday with 10 points in the second half as Holly whipped Northville.

★ ★ ★

Inter-Lakes League Hangs in Balance on Waterford Court

HOLLY NEXT — Bill Eliason will start for West Bloomfield Friday against Holly in the Wayne - Oakland League battle for first at Keego Harbor.

Actually, the 6-4 center has done more standing than toeing.

Waterford fans hope Readler stands around some more Friday when the Skippers host Pontiac Northern for an important Inter-Lakes game.

The big senior has stood at the free throw line an average of 14 times in Waterford's five games. This tendency to draw fouls has resulted in 44 free throws converted, nearly half his 102-point total.

Despite Readler's 20.2 average the Skippers have only a 1-4 record.

They are in a position, however, to gain a tie for first place by beating the front running Huskies. PNH is 2-0 in league play and 4-1 overall. Waterford has split two league games.

BID MAY FAIL

Northern is favored to spoil the Skippers' bid. The Huskies could gain additional ground if Southfield (0-2) upsets Farmington (1-1) on the Blue Jays court. Walled Lake (1-1) will be the underdog at Berkley (1-1).

Neither Walled Lake or Berkley are considered challengers for league honors.

At the start of the season, it was felt that Northern's success would depend on the scoring of All-County Gary Hayward. The first two games did little to dispute this fact.

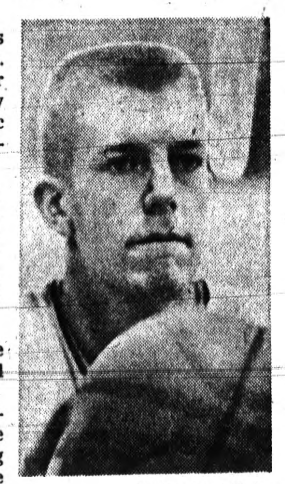

Since then, the opposition has clamped down on the PNH star. But this has allowed his teammates to get loose. The result has been four PNH players averaging in double figures.

Reese, a junior, and the younger Hayward are the key players in PNH's surge to the top of the I-L.

After Readler, Waterford has only one player in double figures. He is Paul Moran at 10.2. But much of this was earned with one 25-point game.

Pontiac Press Photo

'FOULED UP' — Bob Readler of Waterford has scored 44 of his 102 points this season from the foul line.

Four Lions Volunteer to Take Lie Detector Tests

DETROIT (UPI) — Four Detroit Lions players have volunteered to take lie detector tests to prove that acquaintanceship with known gamblers did not affect their play.

William Clay Ford, Lions president, said Darris Mc Cord, John Gordy, Alex Karras and Wayne Walker all volunteered to take the tests.

Three of the players — Karras, Gordy and Walker — were named in a report made by Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards to the Lions management and National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The report linked the three players with known gamblers but no criminal actions were discovered in the associations.

Ford said yesterday it had been his understanding that Rozelle was coming to Detroit early next week to take personal charge of the investigation.

In New York, however, Rozelle denied he planned to question the four players and said he did not have any plans to come to Detroit. Rozelle said only that the investigation was continuing and he will make a statement when it is concluded.

IN CLEAR

Ford said he was convinced all the Lions players were in the clear but he conceded some of them may have used "poor judgement."

Mc Cord, a defenive end, was not mentioned by name in the report.

Edwards said his department was interested in four Detroit men who went to Miami, Fla., last Sunday to watch the Playoff Bowl in which the Lions defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers.

While at the game, the four were kept under surveillance and pictures of them were taken by Miami authorities. Edwards said no attempt was made by the men to contact Lion players.

In Los Angeles yesterday, Karras admitted he rode a "party bus" with Gordy on the return trip from the Lions-Cleveland Browns exhibition game at Cleveland Aug. 18. Edwards said the bus was "hoodlum operated." The bus, equipped with a bar and bunks, was driven by either Vita Giacalone or his brother, Anthony, Edwards said.

The Lions became involved in the football probe when it was reported that the management was unhappy with Karras' partnership in a Detroit bar, where police said known gamblers congregated.

Edwin Anderson, Lions general manager, was said to have attempted to pressure Karras to give up his share of the bar. Anderson denied such pressure had been exerted.

Walker entered the picture when it was learned he had loaned his car for several weeks to Jim Butsicaris, Karras' partner in the bar. Walker also admitted he knew several men Edwards identified as gamblers.

Ford said he was not sure how Mc Cord's name was thrown into the investigation. He said, "Mc-Cord doesn't know either but he wants to take the lie detector test anyway."

Adams Thinks NHL Should Move West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jack Adams, who spent 45 years in big time hockey as player, manager and executive, says he is convinced the National Hockey League will have to expand to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The 67-year-old Adams, who retired last spring after 35 years with the Detroit Red Wings, was a visitor in San Francisco, where a Western Hockey League franchise began operations last year.

"A fanchise would have to do an $800,000 annual business to make it in the big leagues," Adams explained today. "It looks like Los Angeles, with a minor league team, will do $600,000 this year, and I know San Francisco could do it.

"With the major league, each should draw over $1 million and there are the television possibilities with a national hookup. The entire league would be better off televisionwise.

"You know, we did those Saturday afternoon games for a couple of years. The network said one of the reasons for discontinuing was not enough coverage in the South and West. Now there are some rinks in the South with amateur hockey to create interest. And what a potential market for television out here with the millions of people?"

SIX TEAMS

★ ★ ★

The former executive said that until last year acceptable rinks weren't available in Los Angeles and San Francisco but both have good ones now—at the Sports Arena in the former and Cow Palace in the latter.

Should the two California cities enter the NHL, the problem of stocking two additional major clubs would face the league.

Adams suggested a plan similar to that in major league baseball's expansion.

"I know there is a player shortage, and I might be murdered for this suggestion, but if the six clubs would make a pool of 30 players, new teams could be stocked. The established clubs would keep their great stars but make up the pool with a fair price for purchasing players from it.

"If they do take in new clubs, they have to give them a chance to live. I feel if the NHL took them in, that they'd work out something for them."

Houston Writers Name Drysdale Top Pitcher

HOUSTON (AP)—Don Drysdale, Los Angeles Dodgers' ace pitcher and 25-game winner last year, has been selected "Pitcher of the year" by the Houston chapter, Baseball Writers Association of America.

Drysdale, the biggest National League winner since 1956, will receive the Dickie Kerr award at the third annual Major League dinner here Jan. 22.

The award is given in honor of Kerr, the little southpaw who stayed honest in the "Black Sox" scandal of 1919.

County Swimmers in 73-32 Rut

Oakland County swimming teams are in a rut. In three meets reported last night, all ended in the same identical score, 73-32.

Pontiac Northern won its 4th swimming meet of the season in five starts yesterday by defeating Livonia Franklin, new Suburban Swim League member, 73-32.

Most of the Huskie reserves took part in the meet and the best time was turned in by regular Carl Cascaddan who yesterday swam in exhibition.

Cascaddan posted a 1:08.4 in the 100 breaststroke by swimming the extra lane. Winner was Bob Hayes of Northern in 1:14.4.

Northern won all but two first places with Skip Ervin gaining victories in the 200 freestyle and the 100 butterfly.

OTHER MEETS

Kennedy from Utica was also a double winner as he took the individual medial and 100 butterfly.

Mike Reynolds of Warren Fitzgerald won his 22nd straight dual diving meet and he did it with a victory over Chuck Stenbach who was third in the state meet last season. Last week Reynolds won his meet against Birmingham Seaholm diver Hoeft, who was 4th in state competition a year ago.

4-Point Plan Adopted as NCAA Meet Closes

Track Rhubarb Has Mild Effect on 1st Indoor Meet

BOSTON (AP)—So what's all the fuss about?

You'd think—from all the hubbub about the NCAA, AAU, ECAC, USTFF, et al —that the 37th Knights of Columbus track meet at Boston Garden Saturday night was consigned to the scrap heap, with maybe a couple of broken down sports writers competing in various events to pad things out.

Yet, the kickoff meet of the winter indoor track season includes: four minute milers.

—Three high jumpers who have bettered seven feet.

—The two fastest 1000 yarders ever to run in Boston.

So, come what may with the NCAA-AAU feud, K of C officials are understandbly looking forward to a fine meet. In addition to the feature events, the relay card should be presentable since 15 colleges are still entered as of the moment.

Though Villanova, MIT and Manhattan have withdraw teams, still remaining are teams from Holy Cross, Providence, Amherst, Rhode Island, Fordham, St. John's, Seton Hall, Iona, Maryland State, Yale, Columbia, Maryland, Fairleigh Dickinson, New York University and Georgetown, D.C.

However, meet officials, working on the possibility that some or all of these 15 schools may withdraw by Saturday night, have arranged an alternate schedule which would space the feature events throughout the evening, beginning at 8 p.m. EST, with no college relays included.

Heading the field in the featured mile is Bill Dotson, who has turned in 3:39 and 4:00 miles. The former Kansas runner finished fourth in last summer's AAU championships with his four-minute mile.

HIGH JUMPER

In the high jump, Sweden's Stig Pettersson has leaped 7-feet-1 and has twice beaten world record holder Valery Brumel of the Soviet Union. He'll get his chief competition from John Thomas, the U.S. indoor record holder with a 7-3 jump, and Bob Gardner, who cleared an even 7 feet last summer.

In the pole vault, former Marine Dave Tork held the world record until his 16-2 vault was bettered by Finland's Pentti Nikula, who did 16-2½. Don Meyers, who holds the indoor record, has been sidelined with mononucleosis.

The fleet 1,000 yarders are Ernie Cunliffe, who holds the Boston Garden record of 2:07.9, and defender Bill Crothers, a teammate of Kidd at Toronto University. Crothers won the Boston A.A. 1000 last year in 2:08.6.

Kidd, of course, needs no introduction. He set a track record as a 17-year-old in his debut two years ago, running the two-mile in 8:49.2 and capturing the fency of the crowd with his unorthodox, over the shoulder glance running. An infected foot hampered him here last year but he went on to win the AAU three-mile, turn in a 4:01.4 mile and be named Canada's athlete of 1962.

Tough Policy May Weaken Arbitration

Boston Track Meet Will Lose Support of NCAA Entrants

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Delegates to the National Collegiate Athletic Association convention headed home today after adopting an unexpectedly tough four-point policy that shows they intend to keep fighting the Amateur Athletic Union.

The delegates also reaffirmed their support of three new sports federations which have invaded fields governed by the AAU. The immediate affect of the strong stand—which was particularly unexpected in the wake of apparent progress toward arbitration of the dispute under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, will be on the AAU-sanctioned major indoor track and field meets in the East which begin at Boston Saturday night.

It was learned that none of the NCAA Eastern colleges entered in the Boston meet would compete. Some will send their athletes into special races and events created on the program of a previously scheduled meet Saturday afternoon between Manhattan and Army at West Point, N.Y. Most are members of the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC).

After Wednesday's action, the 600 NCAA member schools are pledged to a policy that calls for the AAU until the situation improves, a boycott of AAU events not sanctioned by the federations, withdrawal of all personnel from AAU committees in basketball, gymnastics and track and field, and a limitation which restricts use of institutional facilities and equipment to collegiate and federation activities.

The policy on facilities and equipment carries the proviso that the AAU may "enjoy these same priviledges" if it either accepts membership in the federations or agrees to a form of dual sanctions.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, doubted any defiance of the policy, which came in the form of a resolution.

"I think allegiance will be amply demonstrated," he said.

At the same time, the ECAC, which has traditionally cooperated with the AAU, was holding firm to its stand against participation until arbitration is definite. Announced in a Jan. 3 letter, it touched off the first hint that the major effect of the dispute would be on the indoor track season since the Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington meets draw heavily upon ECAC athletes.

While the AAU indoor meets are the immediate losers, the cut-and-dried over-all meaning of the NCAA policy is that the colleges and universities are out of events not sanctioned by the federations until some sort of a settlement is reached in the 2½-year dispute that has raged over administration of amateur athletics.

The AAU holds international recognition as the U.S. governing body in three sports in which federations have been created—track and field, basketball and gymnastics.

Spencer Five Setting Pace in Waterford

Two leaders emerged in the Class A and B races in the Waterford Township Recreaiton Department's adult basketball leagues as a result of games played last night at Pierce Junior High School.

In the battle between the unbeaten Class A teams, Spencer Floors overcame an early 11-2 lead by Lakeland Pharmacy for an 83-71 triumph. Reserve John Keating came off the bench to spark a third quarter rally by tallying five straight points to give the floormen a lead thed never relinquished.

Leading the Spencer scoring was John Harrington with 35 points and Chuck Gillis added 24. Lakeland also had a two-pronged offense with Jim Robinson and Tom Nickman getting 22 and 21, respectively.

CLASS B GAME

O'Neal Realty moved in front of the Class B teams with a 3-1 mark after drubbing the Don Nicholie Insurance team, 75-55. Bill Crow's 13 markers were tops for the winners who had four men in twin figures.

Russ Rana topped the Nicholie five with 17.

Two games will be played tonight with Tim's Barber Shop playing Woodcum Drilling at 7:15 o'clock in the Crary Junior High School gymnasium and Hoyt Realty tangling with Reeves Service at 8:30. Both will be Class B contests.

Westside Recreation Wins 2nd

Westside Recreation captured its second tilt this week with a convincing 83-35 triumph over Colonial Lumber during adult league play last night in the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's recreational basketball program.

Chuck Grove's 13 points led an 11-player offense that saw four of the winners in double figures. Bill Dunstan had 17 for Colonial.

Other adult action had McDonald's Drive-In, a Class B team, upset Class A Local No. 563, 86-70. The union men fell before a 28-12 onslaught in the third quarter that broke open a tight ball game.

Michigan Bell had bud Hayward (16) and Bob Becker (14) combine for 30 points as it defeated Town & Country Lounge, 49-39. A big third quarter made the difference as the winners garnered a 19-4 margin to break a 22-22 halftime tie in the Class C contest.

In Class D ball, Otis Webb hit 21 points, Frank Williams 18 and Earl Thompson 16 in a 75-57 romp for Neopolitan over Victor Paint. Dave Drake and Bob Whitmore had 19 and 18, respectively, for the losers.

No city recreational basketball games are scheduled for tonight.

Orion Matmen Enjoy Revenge Over Davison

Michigan Tech Withstands Rally

By the Associated Press

Northland College of Ashland, Wis., was the only small college basketball team to venture into Michigan Wednesday night and the welcome the visittors got sent them scurrying for home.

Michigan Tech, playing host at Houghton, slapped down the Wisconsinites' late game rally, beating them 83-75 in a non-conference game.

MIAA GAMES

Five other small college games —three in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association — were on Wednesday night's card.

In MIAA clashes, Alma downed Kalamazoo 69-61, Adrian defeated Olivet 79-60 and Calvin bowed to Albion 67-59. In non-conference contests, Central Michigan took the measure of Eastern Michigan 82-65 and Detroit Tech rolled over Cleary 85-64.

Doug Scheuneman's three-point play with six minutes left stifled a Northland rally as the Huskies rolled to their sixth victory in seven starts. Northland now is 3-8.

Michigan Tech had four players in double figures, led by guard Sandy Johnson with 23 points. Northland forward Jack Povaser matched Johnson's output.

At Kalamazoo, Alma — paced by Bud Acton's 19 points — led all the way in recording its fourth MIAA victory against one loss. The Scots are 7-4 over all. Kalamazoo, whose high man was Bob Morgan with 15 points, suffered its second MIAA loss in three six losses.

Adrian, playing host to Olivet, held the Comets scoreless in the first period. The Bulldogs have a perfect 3-0 MIAA record, while Olivet is 0-4 in the MIAA and 0-9 overall. Olivet's Jim Everett led all scorers with 17 points.

Albion, paced by Gary Chandler's 26 points, pleased the home crowd by leading all the way and squaring their MIAA mark at 2-2. Top scorer for Calvin was Tom Vander Woude with 15 points. The Britons have won four and lost seven this season, while Calvin is 1-4 in the MIAA and 1-8 over all.

At Mount Pleasant, Central Michigan had five players in double figures as the Chippewas posted their fourth victory against starts. The Hornets have a 3-5 season mark.

Pontiac Lake Skiing at Mercy of Weather

The Pontiac Lake ski area, Southeastern Michigan's newest winter facility, may be open to the public for the first time this weekend — weather permitting.

★ ★ ★

The state-owned area, located on Maceday Road between Williams Lake and Teggerdine Roads, will be operated by the Kandahar Ski Club.

The area features open and wooded slopes and has new rope tows.

A 1963 state park vehicle permit at 50 cents daily or $2 for the car is needed to enter the area. Skiing hours will be 10 a.m. to sunset.

Tow charges will be $2 for adults and $1 for children 12 years old and under. There will be no rental equipment available.

★ ★ ★

Weather will play an important role. The area has no snow making equipment. The open slopes were listed in poor condition yesterday, the wooded runs were fair.

Kandahar is operating the area under a lease from the state.

SOLD TO STATE

The club formerly leased the area from the Orr family as a place for its members to ski. The state purchased the land last spring.

A jump located in the area will not be open for use by the general public. Only qualified jumpers will be allowed to use it, and only then under the supervision of Kandahar members.

The club does not plan to hire a manager to direct operations on weekdays. If club members are skiing there during the week, however, the area will be open at those times.

This will be the second state-owned ski area in the Oakland County. The other is Teeple Hill in the Highland recreation area.

★ ★ ★

Second was Christine Goitschel of France with 63.84 and 68.09 for a total of 131.92 seconds.

Australia's Traudl Hecher finished third with 64.34 and 68.21 for a total of 132.55, followed by France's Annie Famos with 65.49 and 67.50 for 132.99

Toni Sailer's Skiing Tips

(Editor's Note—The world famous champion, Toni Sailer, has written for the readers of this newspaper an ABC guide to the art and joys of skiing. If you can walk, says Toni, you can ski. Be sure to read all 12 articles.)

By TONI SAILER

THE SOONER THEY START . . .

It's the most thrilling yet most relaxing, the healthiest and the easiest to learn.

It combines the open air pleasures of golfing and mountain climbing, the powerful precision of tennis and the elegance of figure skating.

Yet it's easier than any of them because you don't have to learn any difficult rules or systems. You don't ski by the book, you ski by instinct.

Skiing is more than just a sport. It's a way of life, an addiction. Even in a crowd of skiers, you feel like being the only one in the world.

Moreover it's not a fighting sport, unless you compete in a race. Yet you do all the work of a top-notch athlete — and enjoy every minute of it.

★ ★ ★

And once you are able to tackle your first slope without falling, you feel you have accomplished a great thing. From then on, you are "in."

START YOUNG

If you want your kids to become perfect skiers, let them grow up on skis. The sooner they start, the better.

If they're good twisters, they should make out fine. Twisting and skiing have a lot in common.

As for anybody above and beyond the teens, let me tell you this: It may take you a little more time and sweat to learn the trade, but it will pay dividends when you reach the age where your heart condition counts.

When I was two, my father bundled me and a pair of tiny skis and poles to a test hill behind our home in Kitzbuehel, Austria.

There he put us together, and, after a countdown that included fixing of diapers, shoved me into orbit. Shortly I found myself sitting on my behind. I had made the mistake every beginner makes: Got scared, leaned back and lost balance.

After a dozen or so falls I completed my first triumphant orbit. Kids aren't scared on skis. They just let go. Also, they have no need for special physical training to enable them to stand on a pair of skis. But anybody beyond his teens needs it. I'd say that calisthenics is a MUST.

KNOW HOW

You have to know HOW to do your calisthenics. Not right after you get out of bed. That would only throw you right back. First, let your body unwind. Take your shower. After ten to 15 minutes, start with a couple of breathing exercises and pushups, twist your head and shoulders, bend your knees. That will loosen your joints.

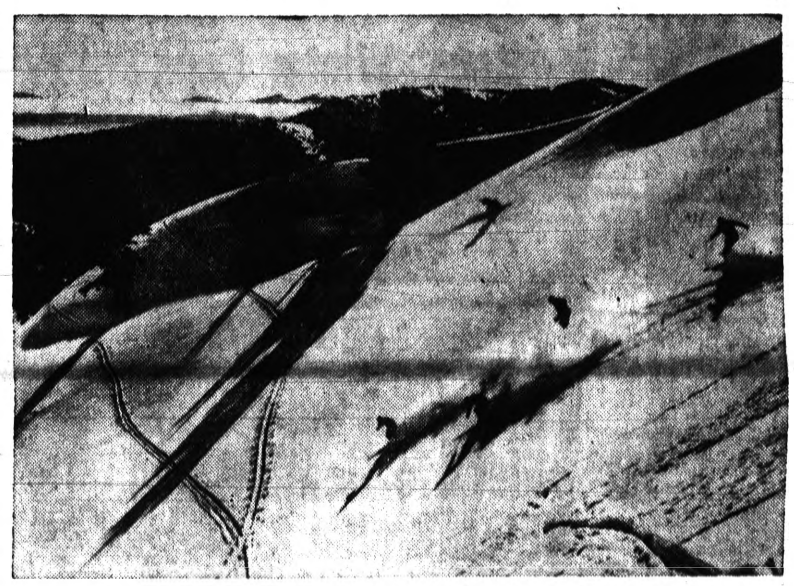

Don't overdo it because you don't want to get tired again. Much better, raise the number of your exercises gradually, day by day.

This gives you body-control and improves your instinct for balance. And it helps your body resist better the strains and stresses of skiing.

Add Bus Link for Commuter Train Traffic

BOSTON (AP) — Transportation officials, continuing to express optimism over the increased number of passengers riding Boston & Maine Railroad commuter trains, announced today a bus link in the experimental program.

The Massachusetts Mass Transportation Commission announced it has signed a contract with Lynnfield Community, Inc., under which the bus line will add six trips daily between Wakefield and Lynn.

The schedule will coincide with the increased service being offered by the railroad under the program.

Dr. J. F. Maloney, Mass Transportation Commission executive director, yesterday described the 18.4 per cent opening day increase in B&M passenger traffic as "truly amazing."

Maloney said the railroad, which runs commuter trains from communities north of Boston into the city, carried $2.2 million federally sponsored program, for an 18.4 per cent increase over the number carried the corresponding Monday of 1962.

Slightly Behind Times

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Roy Cheminant, cited for improper passing Tuesday, produced a 1929 California driver's license. He got another ticket — for driving with an improper license.

Loss from worthless checks offered for payment in the United States in a single year runs as high as $300 million.

AF Titan 2 Flops Third Time in Row

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The Air Force shot its giant Titan-2 rocket at a south Atlantic Ocean target early today. It missed.

The 10-story missile, mightiest in the U.S. arsenal, had upper stage troubles and ran out of steam on what would have been its longest flight to date. It fell far short.

It was the third straight time over a period of three weeks that ICBMs touted by the Air Force as being "highly accurate" failed to go anywhere near where they were aimed.

The results were expected to be of interest to the Federal Space Agency, which is relying on the reliability of the Titan-2 to boost its two-man teams of astronauts into orbit aboard Gemini capsules starting early next year.

Even by the Air Force's somewhat flexible standards, that one was a 100 per cent failure. The missile missed by hundreds of miles.

Indications were the first stage performed fine. But when the second stage — largest ever ignited in flight — was turned on, things went wrong.

The nose cone carried aboard the Titan-2, a model known as "Mark-6," is believed to be the largest ever flown on a U. S. military missile.

Sources said it could carry a nuclear warhead "well in excess" of 10 megatons — equal to 10 million tons of TNT, enough to virtually level a fair-sized city.

Husband Poisoner, 71, Dies of Natural Causes

LONDON (AP)—Mary Elizabeth Wilson, 71, the "Widow of Windy Nook," who poisoned two husbands, died of natural causes in Britain's Holloway Prison Dec. 5, prison officials said Wednesday.

Mrs. Wilson was sentenced to death in 1958 for the phosphorous poisoning of her second and third husbands. She was given a reprieve and sentenced to life imprisonment.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Howard Schenken is a contemporary of mine; while his partner, Peter Leventritt, is about half a generation younger. Peter is a partner in New York's Card School, which is the most successful teaching group in the country. I have known Peter since he was a baby. His father used to play bridge with my father in those days. When Jim was a baby, Mrs. Jacoby and I used to play tennis against Peter and his brother who were students at Princeton at that time.

JACOBY

Peter is a former President of the American Contract Bridge League and has been one of our top players for twenty years.

West's opening was one of those weak two bids which are very popular in expert circles. This time the bid backfired since it gave Peter the key to making his contract.

It wasn't really a tough play. The weak two bid invariably indicates a six card suit, so Peter simply let the jack of spades hold the first trick. West continued with the ace and another spade. Peter won and tried the heart finesse. It lost but East had no spade to lead and Peter made one spade, three hearts, two diamonds and four clubs for a total of ten tricks.

Mart Consolidates Gains

Motors Pace Moderate Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Chrysler and other motors paced a moderate stock market rally early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The market spent most of the morning in a further consolidation of recent gains, showing mixed prices.

Chrysler, up well over a point, touched a new 1962-'63 high of 80 and was by far the outstanding performer in its group.

Aside from the dramatic improvement in its profit picture, Chrysler was also affected by short covering, brokers said. This is the purchase of stock to cover borrowed stock "sold short" in the expectation of profiting by a decline.

Selected gains among utilities, aerospace issues, electrical equipments, chemicals, and aerospace issues helped establish a plus for the stock list as a whole.

American Motors, yesterday's most active gainer, continued in demand, rising ⅜ to 18½ on a block of 10,000 shares and extending its gain to a new 1962-'63 high of 18¾.

General Motors, Ford and Studebaker strung along with fractional gains.

Government Bonds Are Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Government bonds opened higher today but corporate issues showed little pattern in early trading.

An over-the-counter dealer in U. S. Treasury issues quoted long bonds up 2/32 except for the newer issues, which climbed as much as 6/32 to 8/32. Intermediates and bills were listed as unchanged.

In corporate activity, a few issues made fractional gains. Among these were Northern Pacific 4s of 1997, up ⅜ at 88; General Motors Acceptance 5s of 1977, up ⅜ at 106; and Sears Roebuck Acceptance 4¾s of 1983, up ⅝ at 105¼.

Casual Filming

Back to 'Sight Comedy' Theory

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Amid the crisp, cool efficiency of Revue Studios a movie is shooting with the casualness of a Hollywood that has all but disappeared.

When I arrived on the set of "Man's Favorite Sport?" one afternoon, nothing was happening. The star, Rock Hudson, was playing solitaire bridge. The rest of the crew was idling.

THOMAS

Nothing happened that morning, either. Hudson and his co-stars Paula Prentiss and Austrian actress Maria Perschy sat around a table to read the script pages that had been brought in that day. No film was shot.

Yet there was no gnashing of corporative teeth in the upper levels of Universal Pictures or the upper upper reaches of MCA. The money-watchers knew that Howard Hawks was in charge and all was well.

An even-tempered and ageless 66, the lean, white-topped director works his own way or not at all. He is no slave to schedules or scripts. He fiddles with a scene until he feels it's right.

LOUSY WITH TV

"This studio is lousy with television series," Hawks explained. "I don't want to write a funny scene into the script and then see it on television eight months before the picture comes out."

The new film is a return to the wacky comedy that Hawks perfected in "Twentieth Century," "Bringing Up Baby" and "His Girl Friday."

"I went off to Europe for a few years and I had a chance to think about essentials," he said. "I thought I should get back to what we used to do well on the screen—sight comedy. There are only a few of us left who can do it—Leo McCarey, George Marshall, Frank Capra and myself. All of us were schooled in two-reel comedies.

"So I did 'Rio Bravo' which had more laughs than drama in it and did two and half times the business of usual John Wayne pictures. Then I did 'Hatari,' which cost $5 million. I would guess it will make between 6 and 7 million in this country and 11 million abroad."

TAKES TIME

The Hawks theory is that such hits cannot be ground out like sausage. It takes time to think up gags and bits of business. Time and money.

He spent $40,000 on research for the rocket-netting of monkeys in "Hatari," many times that for actual filming. Special scuba outfits for the leading ladies of "Man's Favorite Sport?" cost $10,000.

The plot portrays Hudson as a sporting goods salesman who is no sport. He gets into all kinds of scrapes learning to use the equipment.

"The budget is $3 million and it should be an even better investment than 'Hatari' at that figure," said the confident Hawks. "Comedies like 'Pillow Talk' that rely on dialogue have a limited potential abroad—maybe 30 per cent of the total gross. A sight comedy like 'Man's Favorite Sport?' should be able to get 65 per cent of its profit abroad."

IN HAPPIER DAYS — Actress Debbie Reynolds says in a new book she didn't even want to live after losing singer Eddie Fisher to Elizabeth Taylor. Here, Miss Reynolds and Fisher are pictured after their 1955 wedding.

Debbie Tells Emotion at Losing Out to Liz

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Debbie Reynolds, silent until now about how she felt when she lost Eddie Fisher to Elizabeth Taylor, says in a new book that at first she didn't even want to live.

The experience was so painful, she says, it took her a year and a half to recover and left her suspicious of younger men.

Miss Reynolds talks about her part in the most celebrated Hollywood triangle of recent years in a book called "If I Knew Then." It's partly an autobiography and partly a book of advice to the younger set on dating, relationships with parents, grooming and sex.

"You exist. You wake up one morning and you have a different life from the one you had yesterday. It is a life you don't like. But you must live it. But you must live it.

'MUST KEEP BUSY'

"You must keep busy so you won't think. Every hour of the day must be occupied and part of the night because you won't be able to sleep.

"You try to think straight but you can't. Your world has been turned upside down and you can't get your bearings. You react instead of act.

"You have been hurt, so your first instinct is to hurt back. Afterward you realize you have wanted to behave in a childish and immature way, and you are ashamed of that emotion.

★ ★ ★

"If he lives on in your mind, the memory can only punish you. You must decide he is no longer a part of your life—that chapter is closed, finished."

After a year and a half, she said, "the heartache is gone."

Film Producer Dies of Cancer

Was U. S. Counterspy Working in Kremlin

NEW YORK (UPI) —Boris Morros, Russian-born Hollywood film producer who was a U.S. counterspy for 12 years, died this week in Beth Israel Hospital of cancer, it was disclosed yesterday.

Morros, 73, had been ill for the past two years, a family spokesman said.

He was instrumental in the convictions of Soviet spies Jack and Myra Soble and Jacob Albam in 1957.

Morros began his counter-espionage work in 1947 and by the time he completed it had worked his way into such Kremlin confidences as the late Lavrenti Beria, head of the Soviet secret police before his assassination.

In his key role, Morros was so trusted by the Soviet spy chiefs that he was a major outlet for transmission of information by the Kremlin.

Morros, before dropping from the public eye on the eve of his spy work, had produced such films as "Carnegie Hall" and "Tales of Manhattan."

Largest Quorum Yet Hears Congress Roll

The 433 members who responded to the opening quorum call were the most ever to answer a quorum call.

The old quorum call record was 432, set at the opening of the 86th Congress in 1960, when the membership totaled 437. The membership now is 435, with one vacancy.

Polio Vaccine Use Urged for Everyone

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Medical Association (AMA) noting that polio dropped to a new low in 1962, warned yesterday, the disease can still strike the unvaccinated.

There should be no let up in the program of immunizing all Americans against polio, the AMA said.

Dr. F. J. L. Blasingame, AMA executive vice president, said the U.S. Public Health Service recently lifted a precautionary warning against use of the Type III Sabin oral vaccine for adults and now recommends that all types of the Sabin vaccine be given to persons of all ages.

Mac Plans Italian Visit

ROME (AP) — Premier Amintore Fanfani's office announced that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will visit Rome Feb. 1-3 "for an exchange of views on world problems that affect the two nations."

The bulk of his shares in Four-Star Television Co. went to actress June Allyson, the couple's son, Richard, 12, and their adopted daughter, Pamela, 14.

Opening Requires a Bottle Opener

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The crowd waited impatiently while workmen put the finishing touches on Kunz's swanky new restaurant.

Finally, the blue ribbon was cut and the thirsty throng headed inside for the bar.

There was another delay while the bartender sneaked down the street to borrow a vital tool from a competitor.

Someone had forgotten to bring along the bottle openers.

Poland Pays $2 Million for American Property

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poland paid $2 million to the United States Wednesday as the third installment on compensation for American property nationalized in Poland after World War II, the Polish Embassy reported.

In 1960, Poland agreed to pay $40 million over a 20-year period and to date has paid $6 million.

Actress Sorry for Annulment

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Linda Christian, describing herself as "truly sorry," says she has filed for a Mexican annulment of her brief marriage to actor Edmund Purdom.

Miss Christian, 38, and Purdom, 37, married last March.

She said Wednesday the annulment petition was filed in a little town near Mexico City and may already have been granted.

She said Purdom, now in London, was informed of the annulment action.

The actress said she plans to fly to Italy soon to visit her daughters by the late Tyrone Power, Romina and Taryn. The girls are in school in Rome.

Radiation Scare

Worse Than Fallout

More people have been hurt by the radiation scare than could possibly be hurt by fallout — at lease under present conditions.

That was the point one of the developers of the A-bomb and H-bomb made last night for members of the Oakland County Medical Society and its auxiliary at the Birmingham Country Club.

But in the same discussion, Dr. Edward Teller, now associate director of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in California, warned of atomic reactor power plants such as the Enrico Fermi plant in Monroe.

Such a reactor, he said, is dangerous not only because it could explode (and cause as much damage as a chemical plant blast), but it could dispense as much radiation as a hydrogen bomb—radiation that would stay at a level close to the ground.

Exceedingly great care is needed in the construction of such a plant, he said, because it possesses some unusually dangerous features.

However, Dr. Teller said he couldn't give any official advice on that particular plant without spending at least two months with it.

Assuming all the dangerous possibilities had been met, he said, it seemed reasonable to go ahead with construction.

As a scientist, Dr. Teller gave both sides of radiation arguments, but his emphasis was on downgrading the potential danger of fallout radiation.

Expressive, heavy eyebrows signaled the various tones of his message — sometimes serious, often humorous — as Dr. Teller made the following points:

High-energy radiation is like a hammer. Its effect depends on how hard it hits you.

Not that fallout shelters shouldn't be built because "in a nuclear war there will be plenty of dangerous fallout.

★ ★ ★

"If the worldwide level of fallout radiation is dangerous, then living in Denver is much more dangerous" because its higher altitude draws more cosmic radiation and natural deposits of uranium ore nearby.

But the general distribution of fallout is not dangerous.

Whether the mutations caused by fallout radiation are bad is a matter of judgment. Natural radiation causes more mutations. Trousers, as a matter of fact, cause a hundred times more mutations than fallout radiation.

Lives can be saved by radiation such as X-rays. "No one should be exposed unnecessarily to X-rays, but where they are called for, they should be used without fear."

Doctors, more than any other group of people, have a duty to quell the fears of radiation.

Fear 40 French Hurt in Crash of 2 Trains

PARIS (AP)—Two subway trains collided today on a line in southwest Paris. Police said about 40 persons were injured, but a spokesman for the line placed the number at 10 to 15.

There was no official report on how the accident occurred, but a passenger told a reporter the train he was on halted between stations and the second train crashed into it.

The accident occurred after the morning rush hour, and the cars carried only a few passengers.

Thinner and Prettier Judy Stealing the Eligible Guys

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Slimmed-down, younger-looking Judy Garland's grabbing off all the eligible guys now since her big calorie countdown. There's a tendency toward more "mature" glamour women—and away from the rattle-brained kid starlets—and it could be that the new Judy would become the new No. 1 doll of the nation.

WILSON

Lionel Bart, the British author-composer of "Oliver!", chose Judy as his date for that famous opening—later he told me she held him down several times when he wanted to leave because he didn't think all was going well.

"But HOW did you lose all that weight?" I demanded of Judy later.

"I just worked hard — and behaved myself," July smiled. (She swore off drinks.)

Kaye Ballard, being a comedienne, is trying to see something funny in the fact that Perry Como cut the Kraft Music Hall Players out of his TV show and David Merrick closed the NY company of "Carnival" about the same time. Kaye—featured in both—said: "I got my Como notice for a Christmas present, my 'Carnival' notice for New Year's—when my Valentime's Day present arrives, I won't even open it."

When Anthony Quinn gets a cold, that's serious. He has no understudy in "Tchin-Tchin" the Broadway show. And so when he had a cold the other Friday and Saturday, "Tchin-Tchin" had to cancel three performances—and the producers had to give the customers their money back—about $16,000. Tony is the only actor I can think of who doesn't have an understudy.

Gypsy Rose Lee now has a beautiful home in Beverly Hills—thanks to selling her NY town house for $175,000 (she paid $12,000 for it about 20 years ago). . . . Cole Porter's intimates report sadly that they just can't get interested in writing any more songs. He resides luxuriously in the Waldorf Tower content to rest on past glory—of which he has plenty. . . . Paul Burke's eye ailment is, fortunately, nothing serious. (He wear a patch on "Naked City" one show only).

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A boat being towed on a trailer in Los Angeles bore a sign "Instant Fun" and under it, "Just Add Water" (Matt Weinstock).

EARL'S PEARLS: "Alleging that he kills the audience, a Greenwich Village comedian bills himself as 'the Massacre of Ceremonies.' "

Don Morrow took back a shirt and said to a clerk, 'This label reads 'Guaranteed not to shrink!' The clerk replied, "Well, the label didn't shrink, did it? . . . That's earl, brother.

Family of 13 Wins Honor as Catholics

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—How do you bring up 11 children and have "no problems at all"?

"I suppose it was because we had great love for them and wanted them to be happy so they'd be good," said Mrs. Richard T. Seidel, named with her husband and children as the National Catholic Family of 1962.

Two sons are priests, Fathers John J. Seidel, 35, curate of St. Peter Canisius Church in Chicago, and Thomas E. Seidel, 31, Holy Cross father who teaches at Notre Dame High School, Chicago.

Two youngest daughters are nuns—Sisters Mary Gabriel, 23, and Catherine, 19. They are at the Benedictine Priory in St. Paul.

TO GET PLAQUE

Announcement of the selection for the honor was made Wednesday by the National Catholic Welfare Conference. Sunday the family will receive a plaque at services at Visitation Church, with the presentation to be made by Archbishop Leo Binz of St. Paul.

Seidel, 63, a retired oil executive, said his family is extremely grateful and humbly proud about the honor. He said there probably are many other families better qualified.

He said the children always were well behaved and attended daily Mass with their mother "from the time they were toddlers." Reciting the Rosary has been a daily ritual for years, he said.

Mrs. Seidel voiced the hope "that our being named the Catholic Family of the Year will encourage our children and grandchildren to carry on with the same fine home life."

They have 16 grandchildren.

OTHER CHILDREN

The other Seidel children are: Richard, 37, Wilmington, Del.; Stephen, 36, St. Paul; Joan, 26, Rochester, Minn.; and Mrs. Miriam Murphy, 33, James, 29, Robert, 28, and Barbara, 25, all of Minneapolis.

Joan and Barbara are school teachers.

Student Struck in Violence at Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — A new incident of minor violence at the University of Mississippi has been reported in the midst of a federal grand jury investigation into rioting on the school campus three months ago.

William Jordan Temple was hit by flying glass Wednesday night after a soft drink bottle was thrown through a transom into his dormitory room. Temple once sat with James H. Meredith—the Negro who shattered the university's segregation barrier—during a meal in the school cafeteria.

Temple, a freshman from Washington, D.C., was hit on the forehead by flying glass but was not believed seriously hurt.

Temple and about eight others joined Meredith in the cafeteria several weeks ago. Temple's room later was wrecked. Black paint was rubbed on the doors and walls.

Meredith ate in the cafeteria Wednesday night and university students, who all but ignored him for the past few months, renewed table - pounding demonstrations. Another group of students collected outside, but Meredith left through a rear door for his dormitory.

Nasser Thanks Russia for Help on Aswan Dam

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — President Abdel Gamal Nasser expressed appreciation for Soviet help in building the Aswan high dam in the United Arab Republic.

In a speech Wednesday marking the third anniversary of the start of work on the dam, Nasser said the Soviet Union had proved "her aid is without political conditions and that she helps countries which are determined to secure a dignified life, combined with freedom."

That's Way Love Goes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Red Button's wife says she and the comedian still love each other—although she has just divorced him.

★ ★ ★

Helayne Buttons, 43, got the divorce and an $84,000 settlement Wednesday on grounds of extreme cruelty.

She said the 43-year-old comedian's absences caused her to lose weight.

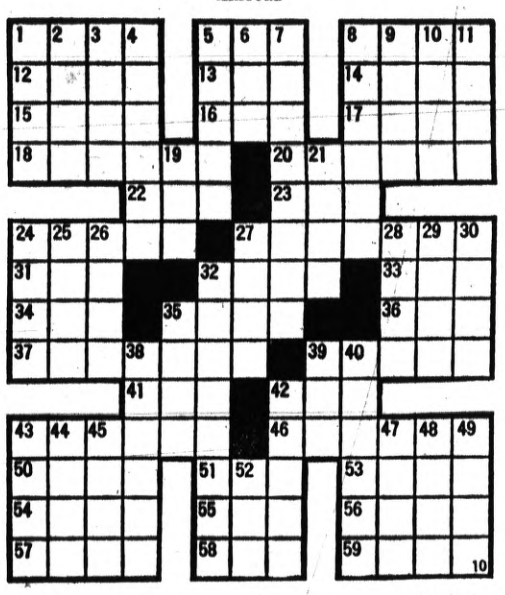

★ ★ ★

"I love Red," she said, "and he loves me. We will always love each other, but we are no longer in love with each other."

The couple married in 1949. They have no children.

The White House in Washington has been painted white since 1814.

EMPIRE STATE BLAZE — Firemen pour water into a duct on the 65th floor as they fight a fire in the Empire State Building in New York yesterday. They're in a law office which was damaged by the fire that whipped through a pipe shaft running the height of the 102-story structure, the world's tallest. At one time or another evidence of fire was seen on eight floors of the building.

Tallest Skyscraper Gets Fire to Match

NEW YORK (UPI)—If records are kept for "world's tallest fires," few will equal the blaze that brought smoking chaos yesterday to the world's tallest building.

A narrow column of fire, 5 feet wide and leaping to a 61-story, 850-foot height from its lowest to its highest point, produced a memorable day for the Empire State Building.

The flames, which ate through thick insulating material around pipes in a top-to-bottom shaft, were not spectacular and resulted in only two alarms.

But with firemen chasing from floor ot floor in elevators, 10,000 persons waiting behind police lines to enter the building, the smoke pouring into corridors and the uncertainty of where flames would break out next, it was hardly a routine incident.

The first sniff of havoc came at 12:45 a.m., and the smoldering embers were not officially doused until 9:55 p.m. last night when the "returning taps" signal from Engine Company No. 1 signified the end of the fire and the beginning of a giant repair job.

"Building damage, heavy; contents damage, medium." This was the terse report of the fire department today, as maintenance crews finished mopping up the puddles from the lobby to the 85th floor, one floor below the famed observation platform.

The tricky nature of the fire was evident from the start. Although television engineer Joseph Hayden smelled smoke at 12:45 a.m., he was not alarmed—nor were several hundred others in the building, mostly cleaning and maintenance personnel and a few all-night office workers.

But three hours later Hayden decided the smell was getting stronger, and turned in a report which brought firemen to the scene.

TV ON THE SCENE

By morning, television station transmitters atop the towering skyscraper were telling New Yorkers what was going on below decks. Throughout the day, eyes were turned toward the Empire State from vantage points around town while its exterior wore its usual majestic calm.

Inside, flames popped out in the insulation around steam pipes, water mains and electrical conduits. They lit up at one floor, were doused and reappeared at another level.

Firemen had to chop through walls to get at the shaft from the proper approach. They hooked up hoses to the 102-story building's water system as well as their high-pressure pumpers outside.

Most of the damage was at the 24th, 25th, 65th, 66th, 67th and 85th floors, according to firemen. On the 65th and 66th floors the fire moved out of the shaft far enough to cause extensive damage in some offices. The loss of records was of particular concern to an import-export company and a law firm on these floors.

Firemen termed the fire under control after four hours, but the on-and-off battle lasted all day and into the night.

At one point, some of the 16,000 who work in the Empire State building were let in, but were evacuated after a new outbreak. Most of the building was finally opened to the crowd by noon, while the smell of smoke still hung on many floors.

HOPE FOR DAY OFF

In the pleasant, sunny weather, many of the office workers were in a festive mood as they watched firemen come and go, and hoped they would have a day off.

When the Empire State Building appeared on the police blotter 18 years ago—July 28, 1945—it was a grimmer story. Fourteen persons were killed and 27 injured when a B25 bomber crashed into the building between the 78th and 79th floors.

Move Wrecks $50,000 House

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A four-room house, built to show the Air Force how easy it could be moved from one place to another, was demolished — while being moved. A tow truck struck a railroad underpass Wednesday and dumped the 16-ton, wood-beamed structure onto a heavily traveled Nashville street.

★ ★ ★

Clarence Felker, an official of National Homes, said the test model cost about $50,000 and was almost a total loss.

The United States has 6 per cent of the world's population living on 7 per cent of the world's land area.

Brando Sues Post for $5-Million Libel

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Marlon Brando has filed a $5-million libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post.

Brando charges the magazine defamed him last June in an article titled, "Marlon Brando — How He Wasted $6 Million By Sulking On the Set."

The story was about the filming of "Mutiny on the Bounty," in which Brando stars.

Uninsured Insurers Lost

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., (AP) —Officials of a Daytona Beach insurance company say they hope police find the thief who stole $300 in cash from the firm Tuesday.

The loss wasn't insured, they said.

To Probe Jury for 'Tampering'

Special U. S. Unit to Deal With Hoffa Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A special federal grand jury was summoned yesterday to investigate alleged jury tampering in the recent conspiracy trial of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa starting Jan. 17.

U. S. District Judge Frank Gray Jr. directed that 100 prospective grand jurors be ordered to appear. Twenty-three of them will be selected to hear the matter.

Hoffa's trial on charges of violating the Taft-Hartley Act by accepting concealed payments from a Michigan trucking firm ended in a mistrial Dec. 23 when the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

U.S. District Judge William E. Miller declared that close labor union associates of Hoffa made improper attempts to contact and influence certain members of the jury.

Two jurors were dismissed during the nine-week trial after Miller heard testimony at secret sessions that approaches were made to members of their families. A third prospective juror told of being offered a $10,000 bribe.

Miller excused himself from the grand jury investigation and appointed Gray to select and charge the jury and preside at any future trials.

BALTIMORE (AP)—For the past eight years, pharmacist M. L. Cooper has saved some of the choicer order notes his customers have sent to his North Avenue shop.

There were other requests for: 1 box insane (incense); inarcle (arnica); easy it tape (adhesive tape), and hair ranch (hair rinse).

Romney Asks for Legislative Speed

President Posts Victory in House Rules Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has won the first battle of the new Congress—the showdown over the House Rules Committee. But not even the victors claimed it was a major breakthrough for the President's program.

★ ★ ★

Only the tougher fights to come will show whether it was a real or hollow victory.

★ ★ ★

The tough fights were shaping up even as the Congress members were welcoming each other back to the Capitol, meeting new members and generally going about the task of getting back into business.

★ ★ ★

Republicans fired opening salvos at the President's estimated $99-billion budget, saying that his proposed tax cuts plus bigger spending would bring a whopping deficit.

Some of the GOP's young Turks let it be known they intend to offer alternatives to Kennedy's programs rather than just condemn them.

The first day's drama centered on the House vote of 235 to 196 to retain 15 members on the Rules Committee instead of having the total drop back down to 12 as it was before the last session.

Presumably the enlarged membership would give liberal supporters of the Kennedy program an 8-7 edge and keep the committee from falling back under conservative control.

Obviously the result pleased the President. He had contended that unless the committee was enlarged his program would be emasculated.

His aides were saving their cheers for later. One top administration leader, asked if the rules outcome meant the House would now give the Kennedy program its blessing, said bluntly: "Hell, no!"

The same rules fight was won two years ago by a narrow 217 to 212 margin under the prodding of the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

★ ★ ★

By passing it this time by a much safer margin, the House gave Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., his biggest victory since he replaced Rayburn a year ago.

Voting for the increase were 207 Democrats and 28 Republicans. Forty-eight Democrats joined 148 Republicans in voting against it.

Major changes in support of the increase were a net pickup of eight in the Georgia delegation and a big gain in the California delegation swollen through redistricting.

★ ★ ★

For the President, however, this represented only the first of many hurdles in attempting to get Congress to approve tax cuts and revisions, federal aid to education, health care for the elderly financed through Social Security, and other proposals.

LOTS OF HEARINGS

These measures all will be subject to extensive hearings and uncertain action by originating committees before they even reach the rules group.

Coming in the forefront of them may be a bill introduced in the house Wednesday and to be offered in the Senate Monday to set up a youth conservation corps and to authorize a program of local public service works projects.

This measure, aimed at putting a minimum of 50,000 youths on the rolls at an annual cost of $3,500 each, seemed calculated to raise the hackles of conservative Republicans and Democrats. It did.

"How can the President suggest adding around $175 million a year to our civilian expenditures and propose tax cuts at the same time when we may face the biggest deficit in our history?" Asked Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the 87th Congress had chalked up a good record for the Kennedy administration and there was every reason to believe the 88th Congress would be "even more successful."

Speaker McCormack said that while "no president gets everything he wants," he is confident the outcome will be a successful one for Kennedy.

By JIM DYGERT

LANSING — Gov. George W. Romney today exhorted Michigan's legislators to launch "an orderly and reasoned, immediate attack upon our most pressing problems."

Delivering his first State of the State Message to a joint session of the House and Senate, Romney asked for immediate attention to "what is necessary and what is possible" in a short regular session.

He also requested a special session after Labor Day to study tax reform.

"By getting right down to work and passing essential and possible legislation and adjourning," the governor said in his 21-page prepared text, "the legislature can destroy the image of Michigan state government as a dawdling, do-nothing organism with irreconcilable internal division and conflict.

"Such swift, decisive, reasonable legislative action will do much to restore confidence in the legislature, state government and in Michigan."

Repeating his campaign insistence that "Michigan's No. 1 economic need is jobs," Romney proposed government efficiency and economy and recommended legislation in several areas to meet this need.

He said he later will present a balanced budget. He predicted a $32-million surplus in the current fiscal year to apply to the state's $85-million deficit.

Tax reform will be necessary however, he said, because the state would be running a cash deficit again within two years "without adopting a single, significant new program."

Romney attributed the coming surplus to last year's increases in consumer and business taxes and to booming automobile production and sales.

DELAY TAX REFORM

He recommended deferring tax reform until fall to have the preliminary recommendations of six certified public accountants as a task force to study spending reforms.

"Tax reform for Michigan can best be achieved in a spe-

County Rep Backed JFK

Broomfield Said 'Aye' on Rules Committee

U. S. Rep. William Broomfield, R-Oakland County, was one of 28 Republicans who voted yesterday for the administration-backed proposal to retain the 15-member House Rules Committee rather than trimming it back to 12.

BROOMFIELD

In the first session of the 88th Congress, the House of Representatives favored the 15-member committee 235 to 196, giving the administration an initial victory.

In commenting on his vote, Broomfield said:

"Quite frankly, I don't think it makes a bit of difference whether we have 15 or 12 members on the committee."

"The enlarged committee — as the last two years most certainly proved—didn't result in a flood of fly-by-night legislation passing through Congress.

"In fact, it was the rules committee which the Kennedy administration sought that blocked his own program. With two Democrats for every Republican on the committee, the Democrats most certainly can't raise the cry of 'obstructionism' as they have in the past.

"If there is going to be any obstructionism, it is going to have to come from the Democrats, not the Republicans.

"I will continue to oppose those programs which I consider a waste of money, erosion of freedom and a stifling of individual initiative."

Younger Republicans Will Battle Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — More of President Kennedy's legislative proposals will be met with counterproposals, rather than simply fought head-on, if newly influential younger Republicans have their way.

This policy of "more alternatives" was described today by Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., as a principal objective of the younger Republican House members who installed Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan as chairman of the House Republican Conference (caucus) and increased their voting strength in the Republican Policy Committee.

Profile of Rep. Ford, Page B-7

Goodell, a third-term congressman, was one of the organizers of a smooth operation with the limited aim of capturing for the younger members a share in the House Republican leadership—but not its top command.

Mounted in little more than a weekend, and taking the older leaders by surprise, the coup was a complete success.

Goodell talked about it in an interview, and others — including some who did not want to be quoted—contributed their versions of the group's objectives.

These included:

1. Generally shaking up the GOP

Do Not Shoot at U.N. Troops —Tshombe

From Our News Wires

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, — With his control of Katanga shattered, President Moise Tshombe emerged from house arrest today and drove far into the jungle, urging his forces not to fire on advancing U.N. troops.

"I want to save my people from massacre," the secessionist leader declared on his arrival at Mokambo, on the Northern Rhodesian border, 174 dusty road miles southeast of Elisabethville, his fallen capital. A white U.N. jeep was the only escort for his motorcade.

A dispatch from an AP correspondent at Mokambo said Tshombe was cheered by villagers along the route, and little bands of Katangan gendarmerie formed roadside honor guards to greet him.

RALPH A. MAIN

County Names Head Planner

Succeeds Swanson, Who Quit by Surprise

Former Oakland County Surveyor Ralph A. Main was elected chairman of the County Planning Commission yesterday after J. Robert F. Swanson declined the post he held for the past 10 years.

Swanson, 62-year-old Bloomfield Hills architect, explained he was going into semiretirement and, since he planned to do a lot of traveling, wouldn't be available for many meetings this year.

Fellow commissioners were on the verge of unanimously re-electing him and his fellow incumbents — Main as vice chairman and Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson, secretary.

Swanson, who has headed the commission since its inception 10 years ago, asked the members to elect their former vice chairman, Donald A. Kalmbach.

Swanson said his preference of Kalmbach over Main for the top position was a matter of age.

PAST DRAIN CHIEF

Main, who also is a former mayor of Birmingham, member of the board of supervisors and past drain commissioner, is 58.

He was re-elected on the Republican ticket to his third term as county surveyor Nov. 6, at the same time voters abolished the office.

Fellow commissioners said they favored Main to succeed Swanson because of a near-perfect attendance record. Kalmbach has been unable to attend many planning commission meetings, they said.

Most Students Cheer

School Starts Dress, Decorum Code

To the astonishment of many, the revolutionary program of dress and decorum put into effect in Philadelphia's public secondary schools has cheers far outnumbering squawks.

The code, intended to bring greater dignity into the classrooms and to eliminate antisocial behavior, applies to 96,000 pupils in more than 50 schools.

It is the result of more than a year's efforts to arrive at what might be accepted generally as reasonable standards of costume and conduct.

The young people, in their own councils and committees and in concert with faculty advisors and Board of Education consultants, came up with the guideposts to what the seemly pupil should wear.

SPECIFIC CODE

Introduced just before the new year, the code of proper attire specifies that boys should wear a dress shirt with or without tie or a conservative sports shirt, pressed trousers and polished shoes free from hardware.

BANNED HAIRDO

Taboos for the girls include also V-neck sweaters without blouses, low cut or off-the-shoulder blouses, short or tight skirts or dresses.

Also inappropriate in school are coiffures so extreme they attract undue attention, curlers, clamps and headscarfs.

Since the pupils knew what was coming there was no shock. School officials said there was little or no rebellious feeling.

"It's not a matter of discipline, or telling others what to do," said one girl. "It's simply common sense. After all, in certain schools students have to wear uniforms."

Nathan Rand, a high school freshman, said, "I guess we were getting to look a little crummy."

A critic said, "It's from squaresville."

Said Doris Gilchrist, obviously speaking for many: "We got pretty tired of seeing so many of the boys coming to school dressed like hicks or bums."

Romney Asks Fast Action

He reflected the optimism in both houses as he said, "It is most heartening that on every hand there is evidence that the days of obstructionism for the sake of obstruction are over."

Republicans, controlling both houses, are in their strongest position in 14 years to pass a legislative program.

Moderates, who say they will support Romney's program, control the Republican majority in the Senate.

Throughout his speech, the governor emphasized his belief that approval of the proposed new state constitution by voters April 1 would speed improvement of the state's affairs.

EYE MAY 15

Although he made no specific recommendations on the length of the regular legislative session — the state's 72nd—key legislators have indicated a possible May 15 adjournment date.

★ ★ ★

Pointing out that the state's problems have arisen and have been aggravated over a period of years, Romney said, "solutions cannot be accomplished in a single legislative session or a single year."

★ ★ ★

He said sound money management was necessary to meeting the people's needs.

★ ★ ★

To restore confidence in the state's financial integrity, spark economic expansion and create more jobs, the state must get "more service for each dollar spent," he said.

In some of his specific recommendations, the governor asked the legislature to provide:

1. An expanded program in science technology, using the state universities as the basic resource.

2. A strong program to create new labor skills through vocational educational, and to enlist labor as a fulltime partner in selling Michigan.

3. A new commission on economic expansion to replace the present Michigan Economic Development Commission.

AID UNEMPLOYED

4. New legislation to aid the unemployed and legislation enabling the state to qualify for federal funds to children of the unemployed.

5. Thorough scrutiny of present mental health facilities to insure their best use, and establishment of a community-based mental health program.

6. Legislation against racial discrimination in housing and labor organizations.

7. Legislation enabling political parties to remove unfit party officials, though not officers who only dissent from the views of the majority.

★ ★ ★

"Favorable action on the legislation I have recommended will make this the most productive legislative session in recent history," Romney predicted.

Final Service for Beaudette Set for Friday

He had been associated with his father in the former Beaudette Body Co. in making buggies, carts and furniture, then later in producing automobile bodies.

Honorary pall bearers will be A. C. Girard, Graham John Graham, William Hartman, H. Gray Muzzy, Harold A. Fitzgerald, Harry M. Pryale, Dr. Howard B. Barker, Louis H. Cole, O. E. Hunt, Dr. L. E. Farnham and James Harrington.

Others include Clarence K. Patterson, John H. Fitch, E. R. Pettengill and William R. Yaw.

MASS MEETING

2. Making the Republican conference, the mass meeting of all Republican members, "a more imaginative influence" on party policies.

★ ★ ★

3. Increasing the self-confidence of the younger Republicans and encouraging them to act on good ideas when they have them.

4. Providing what the insurgents regard as a more attractive image of the party leadership to the country in general.

His election, he said, was symbolic and "gave the younger people a feeling that 'by golly we can do something — we have a spokesman of our own choice in the party.'"

Both Goodell and Ford, however, were emphatic that no permanent bloc within the party is planned.

May Bring Breakthrough

U.S. Holds Hope for Red Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials expressed hope today that periodic high level talks with Soviet representatives, such as the ones now under way here, will lead eventually to a breakthrough in improving East-West relations.

Major Kennedy administration hopes at the moment still center on the possibility of getting an American-British agreement with the Soviet Union for a nuclear weapons test ban. This is due in part to the belief that the widening split between the Soviet Union and Red China may influence Soviet nuclear test policy.

President Kennedy spent an hour at the White House late Wednesday with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, who is scheduled to return to Moscow in a few days.

MEETS WITH RUSK

Kuznetsov will have lunch Friday with William C. Foster, director of the U.S. disarmament agency.

On leaving the White House Kuznetsov said only that he came from New York to Washington at the President's invitation and that Kennedy and he had discussed "some problems of mutual interest."

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the two men and their aides met "in a very cordial atmosphere" and reviewed the recent negotiations on the Cuban crisis which had been conducted in New York.

U.S. officials said specific subjects touched on by Kennedy or Kuznetsov included disarmament and Berlin. It was reported that Kuznetsov brought up the Berlin question, but for what purpose was not disclosed.

INVITED

Kuznetsov was invited to see the President and Rusk, it is understood, primarily because U.S. leaders appreciated the diplomatic manner in which he had handled the Cuban negotiations.

The deeper purpose of the discussions here is to try to find some basis for clearing up outstanding problems troubling East-West relations.

So far as Cuba is concerned Kennedy is known to be determined to do all he can to get the Soviet Union to withdraw an estimated 17,000 military personnel.

On the Soviet side there is known to be disappointment at Kennedy's refusal to give the United Nations a formal no-invasion pledge. Kennedy's position is that this is not possible in view of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's failure to make good on his promise of inspection in Cuba of the removal of Soviet rockets and bombers.

"I am authorized to declare," said British Consul Derek Dodson, "that President Tshombe grants to the United Nations complete freedom of movement on the road to Sakania."

U.N. undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche returns from the Congo today to report to Secretary General Thant on the drive to end Katanga's secession.

Bunche took off from Rome early today while U.N. forces in Elisabethville, capital of Katanga, called off their house arrest of Tshombe which they had imposed as a result of a message from Thant.

★ ★ ★

Bunche left Leopoldville late last night. During a stopover in Rome en route to New York, he said he knew nothing of Tshombe's arrest prior ot his departure. He said the situation in the Congo was "much better."

Birmingham Area News

Hold Meeting on Development Plan

BIRMINGHAM — City officials met with representatives of eight major civic organizations yesterday in the first of a series of meetings aimed at adoption of Birmingham's central business district development plan.

The plan, described by City Planner William R. Brownfield as "a concept that would revitalize the central business district," was completed in 1961.

It was designed to serve as a guide for improving the movement of vehicular and pedestrian traffic, parking, street lighting and the appearances of buildings in the downtown area.

Birmingham merchants, with assistance of the city administration and professional planners specifically hired for the project, paid more than $15,000 to develop the plan.

The city commission has scheduled a special joint meeting with nine other local organizations to get the plan under way.

The special session will be held at 8 p.m. Feb. 14 in the Municipal Building.

The purpose of yesterday's meeting, like another preliminary session to be held at 3:30 p.m. Feb. 6 in the Municipal Building, is to work out details of topics to be discussed at the joint meeting.

Mayor Florence Willett presided at yesterday's meeting.

She explained that any proposed changes to the present CBDD plan should be prepared now in addition to summaries of the needs of each group invited to attend.

These and other details should be worked out in advance so the organizations will have a workable agenda for the Feb. 14 meeting, she said.

Attending yesterday's session were representatives of the Birmingham School District, City Planning Board, Birmingham Council of Churches, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Realtors, Library Board and the Birmingham Community House Board of directors.

Also invited to attend the Feb. 14 meeting is a local citizens' committee, an unofficial group of residents who joined together in an effort to determine the traditional values and characteristics of Birmingham.

Skyscraper Hit by Blaze Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The second smoldering fire in as many days brought firemen to the Empire State Building today. They ripped out a section of wall in a public hallway on the 31st floor to uncover and extinguish a fire in insulation.

A series of fires Wednesday in the 102-story building—the world's tallest—burned out several offices and delayed thousands who work in the building. A carelessly thrown ciragette was tentatively blamed for the fire, which spread through a utility shaft that runs the height of the building.

Office Seeker Farnum Dies

Farnum, of 2990 Lansdowne St., Drayton Plains, was employed in the Detroit office of the UAW-CIO.

He was a brother of Michigan Aud. Gen. Billie S. Farnum.

Mrs. Gunderson died yesterday after a lengthy illness. She was a member of the New Century Club of Detroit.

Royal Oak Man on County GOP Statutory Group

Walter Koch, 153 Lakeside St., Royal Oak, has been named to the 13-member statutory committee of the Oakland County Republican organization.

He also was named spring campaign director for the county GOP.

Statutory committee members are selected by the 13 Republican nominees for county and state legislative offices in the November election.

The nominees and the statutory committee members comprise the party's county executive committee.

Municipal Court Judge Will Enter Own Plea

HOLLAND (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Cornelius Vandermeulen referred his case to Traffic Court and expects to be arraigned "just like any other offender" on a ticket he received this week for failure to yield right of way as the result of a collision at a city intersection.

"For 15 years I've been lecturing on traffic safety," said the 82-year-old judge, "and I must admit I was careless."

A continuing heavy demand for building materials is indicated by construction figures. A recent report showed contracts for new homes and apartments were 16 per cent higher for the first seven months of 1962 than for the same period in 1961.

Student All Fired Up

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP) — A 19-year-old engineering student at the University of Cagliari ran afoul of school authorities when he chose a hot method of showing displeasure over a schedule change. Irked when he discovered his class in hydraulics had been canceled, he tried to set fire to the chairs in the lecture hall.

Text of Romney's State of State Message

I am honored and pleased at the start of the 72nd session of the Michigan Legislature to extend to each of you my warm personal greetings. I look forward to working with you and getting to know each of you better.

★ ★ ★

Ten days ago, on New Year's Day, I expressed my conviction that our progress as a state depends primarily on greater exercise of personal responsibility. I sketched the goals which we, as responsible citizens of a free society, must pursue:

— Active citizenship in community and state affairs.

— Strengthening responsible state and local governments.

— Encouraging voluntarism, and its expression in the spontaneous cooperation of free and responsible citizens.

— And renewed personal effort guided by a spiritual and moral rebirth. These are the bedrock values which can lead to sound and lasting solutions to Michigan's problems—problems that admittedly did not spring full-grown upon us in a single legislative session or a single year, but have accumulated and been aggravated during years of basic social, economic and political change.

In turn, solutions to these problems cannot be accomplished in a single legislative session or a single year.

The program I outline here today is premised on an orderly and reasoned immediate attack upon our most pressing problems.

Tied to Necessity

This program is premised on what is necessary and what is possible.

It serves no purpose to pursue either the obstructionist role of blindly opposing needed change or the equally obstructionist role of deriding and defeating possible progress while noisily protesting support for the impossible. Perhaps you recall the ancient Biblical story of Absalom and David. In II Samuel chapter 15, we read:

"Absalom rose up early and stood beside the way of the gate . . . when any man that had a controversy came to the king (David) for judgment, then Absalom called unto him, and said, . . . 'O, that I were made judge in the land, that every man which had any suit or cause might come unto me, and I would do him justice'."

Thus he divided the Israelites. Such a course is no stranger to lesgislative halls. To oppose the possible while crying vainly and loudly for the impossible can be as destructive for Michigan in some ways as it was for Israel in the days of Absalom and David.

Obstructionism of both types have played an important part in creating our present problems, particularly those of an economic character. It is most heartening that on every hand there is evidence that the days of obstructionism for the sake of obstruction are over.

Michigan's number one economic need is jobs. Our progress as a state, both in economic and human terms, depends on more jobs. Our thoughts and actions must be directed toward this end.

Today's job needs will be much greater tomorrow. By 1970, Michigan's work force should increase by about one million persons.

Our first task is to encourage job creation, both by employers already located in Michigan and by new employers either from within or outside of Michigan.

Economy Lags

In economic expansion, Michigan simply has not kept pace either with the nation or with directly competing industrial states. From 1950 to 1961, Michigan's per capita income increased only 35 per cent, while the national average per capita was 52 per cent and in our eight-state competing industrial group the increase was 46 per cent.

To achieve more jobs through economic expansion, we must restore confidence in our state government. To help restore such confidence, I urge these basic guidelines for legislative action this year.

I recommend that the legislature limit itself initially to a short, action-packed regular session, followed by an equally action-packed special session after Labor Day.

Such a procedure, I believe, has three primary advantages for Michigan:

1. By getting right down to work and passing essential and possible legislation and adjourning, the legislature can do much to destroy the image of Michigan state government as a dawdling, do-nothing organism beset with irreconcilable internal division and conflict. Such swift, decisive, reasonable legislative action will do much to restore confidence in the legislature, state government, and in Michigan.

2. Michigan voters will decide on a new constitution on April 1. If the constitution is adopted, the legislature will have immediate duties placed upon it. These duties can be handled best by interim legislative study, following the regular session and before the special session in the fall.

3. Michigan badly needs genuine total fiscal reform, which includes both spending reform and tax reform. As governor, I already have set in motion a highly competent financial management task force to go after spending reform. Tax reform, in my judgement, should await at least the preliminary recommendations of this task force and their assurances that we have taken concrete steps to achieve efficiency and economy in state operations. Adequate public support as well as legislative support is necessary for basic legislation such as tax reform. Until we have conscientiously approached spending reform and convinced the public of the frugal use of their tax dollars, the people generally cannot be expected to accept a complete, fundamental and adequate reshaping of the tax structure. Thus I believe tax reform for Michigan can best be achieved in a special session next fall with attention focused clearly and sharply upon this specific problem.

Then, this is the blueprint I am recommending for legislative action this year:

A short, active regular session . . . more preparation in problem areas, particularly in total fiscal reform and in responsibilities growing out of a new constitution . . . and a special session in the fall.

Quick Action

I turn now to my recommendations for immediate legislative action in four general areas:

I. Fiscal affairs
II. Economic expansion
III. Our social institutions
IV. Our political institutions

A fervent desire to meet the needs of people through public service programs is disastrous if it leads to chronic spending beyond state income. Indispensable in meeting the needs of the people for jobs and services is confidence in the willingness and ability of government to live within its income.

Our state has lost such confidence. Re-establishing confidence in Michigan's financial integrity is an absolute must.

This year, for the first time in seven years, state income will equal state expenditures. The surplus this year results from two things: Last year's increases in consumer and business taxes and booming automobile production and sales. Even if we continue indefinitely to enjoy an uninterrupted level of high auto output, which we cannot reasonably expect, Michigan's human and financial needs will not continue to be met by foreseeable state income.

On the basis of presently authorized state services and programs, our ability to meet expenditures without a deficit will end with the next fiscal year. This is because of the built-in rising cost level of presently authorized state services. The current fiscal year should realize a surplus in excess of $32 million to apply to our cash deficit of $85 million. However, continuation of presently authorized state services next year will reduce the surplus to less than half this amount, and the following fiscal year (1964-65) we will again be confronted with a deficit unless we stimulate economic growth or increase taxes.

Thus, meeting the needs of our people depends on sound money management. We must get more service for each dollar spent. We must wipe out the deficit and put the state on a sound pay-as-you-go basis, and we must secure an adequate and fair tax structure.

Vital Steps

These steps, which are essential to the restoration of confidence in our financial integrity, are also essential in economic expansion, more jobs, adequate state services and more revenue without higher taxes.

Sound money management requires that each tax dollar we spend be used with maximum effectiveness and for essential services.

To this end, I have appointed a special assistant on financial affairs. Already a special task force on expenditure management consisting of outstanding Michigan specialists is at work. In cooperation with and aided by legislative committees, they will report on means of making our dollars go further. More important, they will plan a continuing program of managerial analysis and financial reporting necessary to test effectiveness of future expenditures.

I intend to secure comparable expert help to make sure we identify the extent of the public service needs facing our state. With your help, we will determine which services are essential and use our funds only for such services.

Another step toward fiscal stability would be the adoption of the new constitution. Among the ways in which it would improve the administration of state government and effect savings are these:

—It would increase administrative efficiency by consolidating our sprawling network of over 120 state boards, agencies and commissions into not more than 20 principal departments.

—It would put in sharp focus budgetary responsibilities of the governor and legislature, eliminating or at least reducing the buck-passing of past years.

—The four-year term for governor and for state senators would permit greater stability and attention to accomplishment.

The elimination of the state spring elections may save as much as a million dollars every two years.

—Increased short-term borrowing power would help avoid cash crises.

—Greater flexibility in the raising and spending of state monies would permit more effective use of available funds.

—It would provide a legislative auditor to conduct performance audits, review expenditures, and place the post-auditing function properly within the legislative branch.

—It would permit coordinated educational budgeting and planning, with substantial savings and increased efficiency.

—It would broaden the fiscal powers of local units of government, enabling them to become more self-reliant.

These are some of the reasons why this administration regards the new constitution as an important step in the improvement of our state's fiscal affairs.

Although my detailed budget message will not be submitted to you for a few weeks, I would like to outline some of the policies it will contain.

Balanced

It will be a balanced budget. It will provide for continued, orderly reduction of the state deficit. Its primary emphasis is on economic expansion and stimulation of job creation; more efficient administration of state operations; better collection of revenue; and planning for future state services.

It will be a tight budget, with no substantial new programs, but with allowances for population increases, rising living costs and pay adjustments for both classified and nonclassified employes.

The budget will provide funds for continuation of capital outlay programs now under way, and money to plan selected new projects.

I believe you will agree that the budget we will submit, on a sound pay-as-you-go basis, and with continued orderly deficit reduction, will be one more step in restoring confidence in Michigan.

Along with careful and continuing management of expenditures, and sensible budget practices, Michigan must have complete tax revision.

Taxes must be as low as possible, and distributed as equitably as possible among all citizens.

The current upsurge in the state's economy, prompted by a good automotive year, has produced higher-than-expected tax revenues. The consumer and business taxes enacted last year have provided further revenue breathing room.

But, although the budgets for this year and next year should balance, our state revenue structure still penalizes job-creators and discourages new jobs . . . it still hits too hard at low-income families . . . it still hamstrings local governmental close to home . . . it still needs complete and thorough revision.

Within two years, under the present tax structure with relatively good revenue yield, and with only present program levels, we would once more be in a deficit position . . . without adopting a single significant new program.

Economic expansion means more jobs. No matter what terms are used the basic problem here in Michigan is to create more jobs, produce more paychecks, have more people working at better jobs.

Where do jobs come from? Not primarily from government. Governments create jobs—to many, sometimes—but they're financed from citizens' pocketbooks in the form of taxes.

Basically, jobs come from individuals — individuals who have an idea about a product or a service they think people will buy, and who have enough faith in their ideas to invest their time and efforts and money to make them work. On the average, it requires investment of about $11,000 to create a single industrial job.

When you realize that Michigan now has about 158,000 persons unemployed, and that we must create almost one million new jobs by 1970 because of our expanding work force, the magnitude of the investment needed to accomplish this is staggering.

But from jobs, and economic expansion, flow the lifeblood of our personal and our governmental existence.

Demand for governmental services—in schools, and welfare, and recration and all the other areas—increase apace with our population.

Our role as public officials is clear—we must do everything within our power to encourage economic expansion and more jobs.

This is the time from breaking the economic barrier, by putting to work the tremendous resources we have at hand—the trained manpower, the able management, the scientific skills and the abundant natural resources to create more jobs. Economic growth results from creating the proper conditions to compete successfully. A large part of my program will be based on self-improvement, and the responsibility for this rests squarely on the shoulders of all people, regardless of what political party they belong to, what section of the state they are from, or their membership in any special group.

Gov. George Romney

7 Major Areas

My program is designed to meet the state's responsibility in this area. First and foremost, the state must have sound and responsible financial management, which I have discussed. In addition, our recommendations will be concentrated in seven major areas.

1. An expanded program in science and technology depends on using our outstanding universities as our basic resource. The new technologies on which modern industrial complexes are being developed center around research-minded universities.

Research activities for Michigan industry must be stimulated. Through research, our educational institutions should take a leading role in Michigan economic expansion. A joint effort, with progressive industrial enterprises, small and large, is essential.

2. A vigorous community development program should be instituted, sparked by local citizens, designed to improve industrial facilities, but also including cultural activities and recreational opportunities as the best way to keep existing industry and to attract new ones. Community climate often influences decisions on industrial location.

Certain programs are already underway in the area—for example, the Upper Peninsula "Operation Action." This is an outstanding example of citizen participation. These people have recognized their problems and are seeking ways and means of economic expansion. These efforts should be applauded and encouraged by all of us.

3. Legislative action will be recommended in many areas which affect economic growth. Among these are workmen's compensation, unemployment compensation and taxation. Further legislation will be requested to assist sound new and expanding industries in securing adequate sources of capital.

4. Research should be undertaken promptly to pinpoint our economic opportunities and to determine the specific industries which Michigan should go out and seek. We need to know exactly what job-creating activities have the best chance of prospering with Michigan resources. The cooperation of all economic groups would be enlisted.

5. We will undertake a strong program to create new labor skills through vocational education and to enlist labor as a full time and essential partner in selling Michigan.

6. Michigan's role in international trade must be strengthened and stimulated. The more than $1.3 billion dollars earned in world trade represent job opportunities and great potential for Michigan's people.

Aggressive state leadership can expand our portion of international trade. Emphasis should rest with smaller and medium-sized Michigan companies. To this end, I propose a special corps of international trade advisers, to lend their experience and know - how, especially to smaller firms. We must vigorously promote our state as a plant location site for foreign firms, and imaginatively pursue our expanding foreign markets for our manufactured and agricultural products.

7. A new state organization for economic expansion should be created. The present Michigan Economic Development Commission should be dissolved. A new commission on economic expansion should replace it. Representatives of industry, agriculture, labor, education, government and other elements should be asked to work with us in stimulating economic growth. The director of the department of economic expansion should be responsible directly to the governor, appointed by him, and have direct and personal responsibility for operations.

Our program is not based on gimmicks or one-shot cure-alls but on basic self-improvement which will be the basis for sound and continuous growth.

Protect Workers

An important factor in the continued economic health of a state is its recognition that it has the responsibility to maintain programs that will protect workers who are idled through no fault of their own, because of injury or layoff.

If Michigan is to be strong we must live up to this responsibility. We must see that our systems of workmen's compensations and unemployment compensations are financially sound, that they provide promptly and adequately for those they are designed to benefit, and that their administration is so clearly fair and impartial that they inspire the confidence of the entire public. Such programs must meet each of these tests, if they are to fill their proper roles.

One of the major points of controversy between the legislative and executive branches of Michigan's government in recent years has been our system of unemployment compensation. Three major aspects of this system calls for immediate attention: (1) The level of benefits paid to unemployed workers, (2) The basis on which the program is financed, and (3) the eligibility of workers who are unemployed as the result of labor disputes in which they do not participate directly.

Action is needed on all three fronts, and I believe that we can achieve results in this session of the legislature. I urge:

(1) Legislation improving benefit levels to reflect increases in the cost of living since the present rates were fixed.

(2) Legislation putting the financing of the program on a sound and equitable basis.

(3) Legislation which will assure workers unemployed as a result of labor disputes in which they do not participate and from which they will not benefit that they will receive compensation, but which will assure employers fair treatment by denying compensation to employes who participate in or who may benefit as a reult of such a labor dispute.

One of Earliest

Michigan's workmen's compensation program was one of the earliest in the nation. It seems that if it is to continue to fulfill its function of prompt compensation for losses sustained in industrial accidents, improvements should be made in three areas:

(1) Benefit levels should be increased to reflect changing economic conditions.

(2) Standards of eligibility should be thoroughly reviewed, so that the system can finance adequate benefits to those properly entitled without unduly burdening the job-creating employers who bear the cost.

(3) The administration of the program should be overhauled, to eliminate delays which create great hardship for injured workers and are costly for all.

These three objectives are clear. I am presently of the opinion that specific recommendations should await intensive study by representatives of labor, industry and the legislature. I propose that such a study begin promptly, and that action in this field be deferred until a report can be made.

Compensation of the injured or laid-off worker is only a part of the public responsibility however. The major thrust of our program must be to train and retrain idle workers, and to seek actively to place them in gainful employment.

Therefore, this administration also will foster and encourage expanded programs for training and retraining of workers by industry and by local school systems, as well as under existing federal programs. Expansion of placement tools in the Michigan Employment Security Commission also should be accomplished.

Sensible and reasonable action along the lines I have indicated—coupled with completely dedicated and impartial administration of laws—again will do much to restore confidence in state government and encourage job creation.

Notice Others

While manufacturing produces the most paychecks for Michigan people, and our primary attention logically must focus on industrial expansion to lead us out of the economic forest, we must never lose sight of the vital roles played by our number two and three industries, tourism and agriculture.

Agriculture, which makes an annual billion-dollar contribution to our economy, must be promoted and encouraged, with recognition of emerging special problems caused by changing agricultural methods. I urge attention by our educational institutions to research aimed at improving existing farm products and developing new ones, and in packaging, processing and merchandising so aggressive marketing and promotional programs can expand sales of Michigan farm products.

A serious agricultural problem is the economic threat from pest infestation such as the Japanese beetle in southeastern Michigan. It is not so well known, however, that in a past few months a potentially dangerous beetle infestation was discovered in southwestern Michigan. Because these real threats to our agricultural economy cannot be predicted accurately in advance, contingency funds to permit prompt action for pest control and eradication will be recommended.

The $650 million spent by tourists in Michigan last year means jobs for our people and tax dollars for our state treasury. But Michigan's tourism business does not accurately reflect our assets and our potential. Our immediate aim must be a billion-dollar-a-year business. The added attention being devoted by the legislature in this area is to be commended.

I intend to devote full support to a stronger tourist business. One way is to encourage the highway department to do some small things to make it much easier and more pleasant for visitors to travel our network of expressways. I refer to sensible and more adequate highway signs and tourist information.

Michigan must be promoted not merely as a summer wonderland —which it is—but as a four-season vacation haven—which it is also. Our inviting ski facilities can attract more people, and the effort should be made to promote winter vacations as well as more imaginative emphasis on Michigan's summer attractions. Although advertising and promotional dollars for tourism are restricted by our limited resource base, we must make the maximum efficient use of what we have; the new budget will propose modest increases in these areas.

Backs Olympics

I also propose vigorous support for Michigan as the site of the 1968 Olympic Games. The Olympics would attract huge crowds to Michigan, and once people see Michigan they like it.

Both agriculture and tourism are based primarily on natural resources. And conservation and proper use of these resources must receive constant vigilance.

State government's role in conservation is well - established. However, I do not believe we are receiving the type of state leadership the situation demands. I intend to probe deeply into our organization, management and operation of the department of conservation. There is definite need to restore department morale and effectiveness.

Our Water Wonderland's most abundant, important and demanded resource is water. Michigan's future depends upon water, which is essential to tourism, agriculture and industry.

The administration is dedicated to a program of protecting and strengthening our water resources by stimulating public awareness and understanding of the problems of water use and conservation; to this end, I recommend continued attention to water use problems to determine equitable water rights legislation.

We also will stimulate cooperative and vigorous action by local, state and federal governments with civic, fraternal, recreational and conservation groups to clean up pollution in our lakes, streams and other surface waters. I shall support a strong program of enforcement and stronger state and local pollution regulations.

The state can do more in recreation, particularly in relation to use of natural resources. We should encourage multiple use of public and private lands for recreational purposes, through legislation to limit private owner liability on state-leased lands or by state purchase of recreation rights on private lands.

Our state parks should be expanded, as the recreational needs of our people are expanding. I recommend the legislature grant additional bonding power under provisions of the State Park and Recreation Bonding Act of 1960 to acquire new park sites and further develop present parks.

The Upper Peninsula is our area of most severe economic distress, and its economy must be strengthened if the area is to make its full contribution to Michigan's total development.

The Upper Peninsula has some real natural advantages, and its long-range recovery must be based on maximum utilization of these advantages. Mining, forest products and tourism are the tripod of natural advantages that can restore the Upper Peninsula.

Therefore, I recommend increased support for intensified and expanded research programs to improve processing and use of low-grade ores and to develop forest resources more fully; increased support for a geolocial mapping program to aid in development of mineral resources; and intensified programs for promotion of the Upper Peninsula as a four-season tourist and recreation center.

The need for more government services is already apparent today, but our needs will be accentuated in the years just ahead by the tremendous increase in Michigan's population, especially among the young and the old where government services are expanding most rapidly and are most needed.

Governments are financed by taxes—and taxes are money taken from people. Nothing from government is free; somebody pays for it. These are truths that sometimes get lost.

Our central problem at this session is to determine which services can be met now and which ones should be met later when we can pay for them.

In perhaps no field are the pressing needs of citizens felt more acutely than in education. Education is not an end in itself, but a means of preparing for the future by making an investment in our future through our children.

Must Lead

The quality of our educational systems and institutions in Michigan has been largely responsible for our past economic and cultural progress, and our educational institutions must lead the way to lasting progress in the future.

Although we are not limited in what we would like to do, we are limited in what we can do. Adequate future educational financing depends upon economic expansion or increased taxation.

We are entering a period when both the complexity of knowledge and the number of students entitled to an education are increasing by seven-league strides. During our two-year terms of office, applications for college enrollment are expected to increase by over 25 per cent.

★ ★ ★

To reduce delay in meeting these needs, I am taking two steps:

1. I will recommend an immediate appropriation to plan and design some of the buildings which are known to be essential.

2 As governor, I will appoint a citizens committee of the most competent individuals available to make a complete and thorough study of our educational facilities and programs

Watch That Diet

Thoughts for Teen-Agers

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here are a few thoughts for my teen-age readers to take into the new year with them.

The food you eat has a drastic effect not only on how you look but on how you feel. Food influences your personality and has an effect on whether you are vibrant and gay or dull and drab, on whether you are gracious or cross.

Yours is the age of the most rapid growth, except that during infancy. At this age, you are probably more active than you will be in later life. You need a generous supply of calories daily.

This doesn't mean that you should get fat, but you should be well nourished. Don't go in for crazy diets and damage your looks and your personality.

Surveys have shown that teen-agers have the poorest eating habits of any age group, with the exception of oldsters. When you realize how very important food is to you now (not just any food but the right kind of food), this seems sad.

All vitamins are important but it is believed that vitamins A and C have an especially happy effect on the skin.

Some of the richest sources of vitamin A are meat, especially liver, and the green and yellow vegetables and fruits.

The citrus fruits and their juices are the richest sources of vitamin C. Tomatoes and cabbage are also rich sources. Other fruits and vegetables have vitamin C also.

★ ★ ★

Studies have shown that teen-agers improve in their school work when they begin eating an adequate breakfast. Fatigue is often the result of hunger and so is irritability.

Remember that real kindness and thoughtfulness and friendliness, too, plus enthusiasm, add to lots of friends.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Popularity," which was written especially for you, send a 5-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Oil Good Cleanser

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Here is one I am sure you don't know. For cleaning stainless steel refrigerators, oven doors, hoods, etc., take any light oil—I prefer a light machine oil but mineral oil is good, too.

Using a paper towel, napkin, or oil cloth, apply the oil lightly to the surface. It not only shines the surface but helps prevent future finger marks. C. L.

DEAR POLLY — To brighten up black wrought iron such as television table legs and telephone stands, apply black liquid shoe polish.

No sanding, not even a paint brush is necessary. Does not rub off or wash off. No muss, no fuss and the iron's always bright, shiny and easy to dust.

DEAR POLLY—If you are ever caught without a ruler, you will find a passable substitute in your wallet.

A dollar bill is just a fraction over 6 inches long and can be used as as a tape for rough measurements. MRS. C. F. M.

DEAR POLLY — For eight hours of sound sleep comfort, place a wool blanket on the mattress under the sheet that you sleep on.

This way less covering is needed over the body.

Four Lions Volunteer to Take Lie Detector Tests

DETROIT (UPI) — Four Detroit Lions players have volunteered to take lie detector tests to prove that acquaintanceship with known gamblers did not affect their play.

William Clay Ford, Lions president, said Darris Mc Cord, John Gordy, Alex Karras and Wayne Walker all volunteered to take the tests.

Three of the players — Karras, Gordy and Walker — were named in a report made by Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards to the Lions management and National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The report linked the three players with known gamblers but no criminal actions were discovered in the associations.

Ford said yesterday it had been his understanding that Rozelle was coming to Detroit early next week to take personal charge of the investigation.

In New York, however, Rozelle denied he planned to question the four players and said he did not have any plans to come to Detroit. Rozelle said only that the investigation was continuing and he will make a statement when it is concluded.

IN CLEAR

Ford said he was convinced all the Lions players were in the clear but he conceded some of them may have used "poor judgement."

Mc Cord, a defenive end, was not mentioned by name in the report.

Edwards said his department was interested in four Detroit men who went to Miami, Fla., last Sunday to watch the Playoff Bowl in which the Lions defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers.

While at the game, the four were kept under surveillance and pictures of them were taken by Miami authorities. Edwards said no attempt was made by the men to contact Lion players.

In Los Angeles yesterday, Karras admitted he rode a "party bus" with Gordy on the return trip from the Lions-Cleveland Browns exhibition game at Cleveland Aug. 18. Edwards said the bus was "hoodlum operated." The bus, equipped with a bar and bunks, was driven by either Vita Giacalone or his brother, Anthony, Edwards said.

The Lions became involved in the football probe when it was reported that the management was unhappy with Karras' partnership in a Detroit bar, where police said known gamblers congregated.

Edwin Anderson, Lions general manager, was said to have attempted to pressure Karras to give up his share of the bar. Anderson denied such pressure had been exerted.

Walker entered the picture when it was learned he had loaned his car for several weeks to Jim Butsicaris, Karras' partner in the bar. Walker also admitted he knew several men Edwards identified as gamblers.

★ ★ ★

Ford said he was not sure how Mc Cord's name was thrown into the investigation. He said, "Mc-Cord doesn't know either but he wants to take the lie detector test anyway."

Adams Thinks NHL Should Move West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jack Adams, who spent 45 years in big time hockey as player, manager and executive, says he is convinced the National Hockey League will have to expand to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The 67-year-old Adams, who retired last spring after 35 years with the Detroit Red Wings, was a visitor in San Francisco, where a Western Hockey League franchise began operations last year.

"A fanchise would have to do an $800,000 annual business to make it in the big leagues," Adams explained today. "It looks like Los Angeles, with a minor league team, will do $600,000 this year, and I know San Francisco could do it.

"With the major league, each should draw over $1 million and there are the television possibilities with a national hookup. The entire league would be better off televisionwise.

"You know, we did those Saturday afternoon games for a couple of years. The network said one of the reasons for discontinuing was not enough coverage in the South and West. Now there are some rinks in the South with amateur hockey to create interest. And what a potential market for television out here with the millions of people?"

SIX TEAMS

★ ★ ★

The former executive said that until last year acceptable rinks weren't available in Los Angeles and San Francisco but both have good ones now—at the Sports Arena in the former and Cow Palace in the latter.

Should the two California cities enter the NHL, the problem of stocking two additional major clubs would face the league.

Adams suggested a plan similar to that in major league baseball's expansion.

"I know there is a player shortage, and I might be murdered for this suggestion, but if the six clubs would make a pool of 30 players, new teams could be stocked. The established clubs would keep their great stars but make up the pool with a fair price for purchasing players from it.

"If they do take in new clubs, they have to give them a chance to live. I feel if the NHL took them in, that they'd work out something for them."

NCAA Veep Picked From U-M Faculty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Professor Marcus L. Plant, University of Michigan Big Ten faculty advisor, was named yesterday as a Vice President of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. (NCAA).

The convention also named Ivan B. (Ivy) Williamson of the University of Wisconsin as chairman of the NCAA football rules committee. He succeeds H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, University of Michigan athletic director.

Also named a vice president was Ernest B. McCoy of Pennsylvania, a former assistant coach at the University of Michigan.

Houston Writers Name Drysdale Top Pitcher

HOUSTON (AP)—Don Drysdale, Los Angeles Dodgers' ace pitcher and 25-game winner last year, has been selected "Pitcher of the year" by the Houston chapter, Baseball Writers Association of America.

Drysdale, the biggest National League winner since 1956, will receive the Dickie Kerr award at the third annual Major League dinner here Jan. 22.

PNH Wins 4th Meet

County Swimmers in 73-32 Rut

Oakland County swimming teams are in a rut. In three meets reported last night, all ended in the same identical score, 73-32.

Pontiac Northern won its 4th swimming meet of the season in five starts yesterday by defeating Livonia Franklin, new Suburban Swim League member, 73-32.

Most of the Huskie reserves took part in the meet and the best time was turned in by regular Carl Cascaddan who yesterday swam in exhibition.

Cascaddan posted a 1:08.4 in the 100 breaststroke by swimming the extra lane. Winner was Bob Hayes of Northern in 1:14.4.

Northern won all but two first places with Skip Ervin gaining victories in the 200 freestyle and the 100 butterfly.

OTHER MEETS

Jim Yeager was a double winner for Southfield by winning the 200 freestyle and the 400 freestyle events, and the Blue Jay relay teams won both events.

Kennedy from Utica was also a double winner as he took the individual medial and 100 butterfly.

Mike Reynolds of Warren Fitzgerald won his 22nd straight dual diving meet and he did it with a victory over Chuck Stenbach who was third in the state meet last season. Last week Reynolds won his meet against Birmingham Seaholm diver Hoeft, who was 4th in state competition a year ago.

Key Stocks Move Narrowly

Mart Continues Consolidation

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market early today continued a consolidating movement of its big rise from late October to this week's 1963 peak. Prices were mixed.

Key stocks moved very narrowly.

U.S. Smelting, which backed away sharply in the past couple of days from a big run up lasting about three weeks, steadied and recouped about a point.

Oils were unchanged to easy as a softness in some petroleum prices were reported. At the same time, President Kennedy's tax program was seen to have another obstacle in its path because of the decision of Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., to take a seat on the Senate Finance Committee. Dirksen opposes cutting taxes while there is a federal deficit.

Most of the auto stocks were steady. Chemicals were irregular, Union Carbide and Eastman Kodak posting moderate gains while some other leaders took fractional losses.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Gainers included General Development, Ogden Corp., Loral Electronics, and Cubic Corp. Among losers were Aerojet-General, Creole Petroleum, National Bellas Hess, and Shawinigan.
