

N. Viet's 'Final' Terms for Talks Given to Thant

RANGOON, Burma (U)—In a meeting arranged with help from Soviet and French ambassadors, a mission from Hanoi has given U Thant North Vietnam's terms for starting peace talks, diplomatic sources say.

The U.N. secretary general confirmed today that he had met in Rangoon this week with a top North Vietnamese representative but declined to give any details. He said he would make a statement about the meeting on his departure from Rangoon later today.

The diplomatic sources said yesterday

Hanoi's two principal conditions were immediate suspension of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and de-escalation of the U.S. military effort in Vietnam.

The terms were reportedly contained in a personal message that Hanoi's representative brought from President Ho Chi Minh to Thant.

The sources described the message as Ho's final and irrevocable terms.

1st OFFICIAL REPORT

The first official report of the meeting

came yesterday night from Gen. Le Tung Sun, North Vietnamese consul general. He said Thant had met with Col. Ha Van Lau, his government's chief representative to the International Control Commission and leader of the North Vietnamese mission.

Sources close to Thant said he felt the disclosure was premature and could hurt his efforts for peace.

The conference, the first of its kind between Thant and top North Vietnamese representatives from Hanoi, came about after diplomatic moves said to have involved Soviet Ambassador Alexei Rodionov and French Ambassador Rene Philippe Yves Millet.

Thant said earlier in the week both sides in the war held "less rigid" attitudes toward peace talks than they had a year ago. Before today, he had said he was in his native Burma only for a week's vacation.

Thant was to leave today for New York and had a meeting scheduled with British Foreign Secretary George Brown during a brief stopover in London.

SOUGHT REFUGE—Four-year-old Adam Stiles couldn't make it up the flaming stairs in an Independence Township basement fire yesterday. He crawled behind a washing machine, under some shelves, and was asphyxiated. Firemen found his body there.

Fire Claims Boy, 4, in Independence

Three neighbor children playing in the basement of an Independence Township home yesterday apparently touched off a fire that proved fatal to one of them.

Dead is 4-year-old Adam Stiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Stiles of 6155 Cramlane, owner of Clarkston Shoe Service, 16 S. Main, Clarkston.

The boy died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Copeman, next-door neighbors at 6175 Cramlane. The Copeman

Appeal Planned for Hoffa Again

WASHINGTON (U)—Attorneys for James R. Hoffa are preparing another appeal to keep the Teamsters union president out of jail after two appeals were turned down quickly yesterday.

Hoffa is scheduled to report to the U.S. marshal at Washington Tuesday to begin serving an eight-year sentence. He was convicted three years ago today at Chattanooga, Tenn., on a jury-tampering charge.

At Chattanooga yesterday, U.S. District Judge Frank W. Wilson refused to delay imposition of Hoffa's sentence until April 1.

He acted one day after Hoffa's attorneys filed an appeal saying he was needed at negotiations on a new nationwide Teamsters contract. The old contract expires March 31.

Hoffa's lawyers then appeared before the U.S. District Court in Washington with a habeas corpus petition, which was promptly denied by senior Judge Matthew F. McGuire.

They then began preparing a further appeal before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

S. Viets Shelled in U.S. Errors; 6 Killed, 26 Hurt

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. command disclosed today that six Vietnamese civilians were killed and 26 wounded in accidental shelling by American artillery of a village and a group of river sampans.

Announcements of the two incidents came as U.S. authorities clamped tight secrecy over the bombing by "unidentified aircraft" of Lang Vie village near the Laotian border Thursday.

South Vietnamese authorities said 55 civilians were killed and about 200 wounded in the bombing. The U.S. command listed 83 killed.

All three incidents are being investigated.

11 HOWITZER SHELLS

The first occurred Wednesday in Dinh Tuong Province when a U.S. artillery unit accidentally sent 11 howitzer shells into Trung Luong village 30 miles southwest of Saigon, killing five civilians, wounding 24 and destroying 24 houses, the announcement said.

No explanation was given for the delay in the report.

The second took place yesterday about 75 miles northeast of Saigon when an air observer requested and received clearance by the South Vietnamese army to call in artillery fire on a group of five sampans.

One person was killed, two wounded and one sampan destroyed, the announcement said. The persons later were determined to be "friendly."

Time Law Exemptions Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—The law requiring all states to observe daylight saving time goes into effect April 1, but 18 House members are fighting a last-ditch battle to win exemptions.

They have introduced bills to alter, in various ways, the law putting all of the nation's clocks one hour ahead of regular time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October every year.

But there seems little prospect for action on any of the proposals by April 1. The House Commerce Committee, which has jurisdiction over such legislation, has no hearings scheduled.

Under the new law, any state may exempt itself from daylight saving time, but only if it exempts the entire state. None has acted so far, the Interstate Commerce Commission reports.

The law poses special problems for 12

IN MICHIGAN

In Michigan, for example, the Upper and Lower peninsulas are in different time zones but have managed to stay on the same time by keeping the Upper Peninsula on Central Daylight Time and the Lower Peninsula on Eastern Standard Time.

Under the new law, the state would be breaking the law by maintaining the present arrangement.

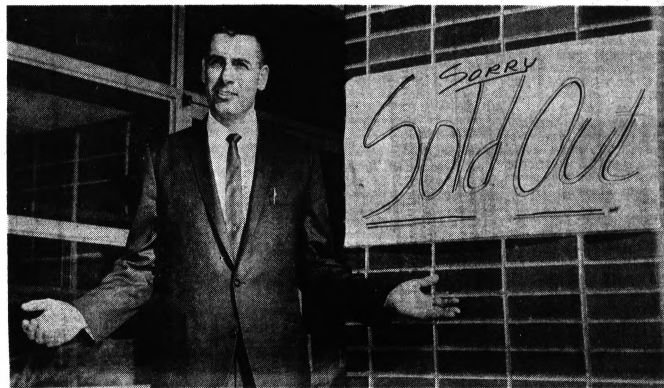

So far Michigan House members, Republican Reps. Gerald R. Ford, Charles Chamberlain, Philip E. Ruppe and James Harvey, have introduced proposals to permit any state to put all of itself into one time zone.

Rep. J. Edward Roush, a Democrat from Indiana—another state split by two time zones—wants to make it possible for part of a state to be exempted from daylight saving time. A similar proposal was passed by the Senate last year but rejected by the House.

OTHER STATES

Other states in more than one time zone are Kentucky, Tennessee, North Dakota, South Dakota, Florida, Nebraska, Kansas, Idaho, Utah and Oregon.

Kentucky also has another problem, and all seven of its congressmen have tried to meet it. The legislature has not been in session to keep the state on standard time, and Gov. Edward L. Breathitt has refused to call a special session.

PLEADING HIS CASE — Dom Mauti, director of the Class A district basketball tournament which closes this evening on the Clarkston High School floor, has been swamped with requests for tickets to tonight's district final between Pontiac Central and Waterford Kettering. A sellout of the 2,000 seats was completed early Friday, leaving Mauti with the task of soothing feelings of those fans who were too late for tickets. The game starts at 7:30.

Panel Defends College Draft Deferments

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special civilian advisory panel has defended draft deferments for college undergraduates, saying a greater percentage of them eventually go into the service than do nonstudents.

At the same time, the advisory group suggested major changes in the draft to induct younger men first and end student deferments when students either earn undergraduate degrees or reach age 24.

College students, said the panel, have not "been protected from the draft or received favored treatment compared to nonstudents."

"In recent years 60 per cent of the college student group has served in the armed forces as volunteers or inductees, whereas 57 per cent of noncollege students were called to or entered military service," the report said.

The report was issued yesterday by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee, which authorized the study of the nation's draft laws.

SEPARATE REPORT

President Johnson's National Advisory Commission on Selective Service will release tonight a separate report on the draft. Key sections of the current draft law expire July 1.

The House committee's panel, while recommending changes, said the public shouldn't believe "that gross unfairness prevails throughout the draft system."

Rejected were more radical changes in the system proposed by critics who say the system is unfair and inefficient. Among these were suggestions for an all-volunteer armed force, a lottery to pick draftees and universal service — military or civilian — by young men.

The civilian advisers, whose findings were given in brief Monday, said in its full report it was "disturbed by the disparity between the fairness existing in military manpower procurement practices and the inclination of the public to believe that gross unfairness prevails throughout the draft system."

Snow, Rain Likely for the Weekend

A few snow flurries, possibly mixed with rain, or rain and windy is the forecast for the Pontiac area for the weekend.

The U.S. official Weather Bureau prediction looks like this:

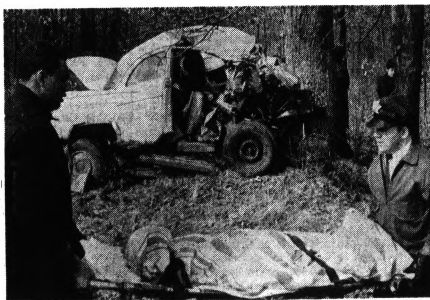

TODAY — Increasing cloudiness and cool. High 39 to 36. Cloudy and cool tonight with occasional snow possibly mixed with freezing rain. Windy and turning colder. Low tonight 25 to 32.

Northeasterly winds 5 to 10 miles becoming southeasterly 10 to 20 miles this afternoon and tonight.

SUNDAY — Cloudy and cool with occasional snow possibly mixed with rain. Windy and colder with snow diminishing to flurries.

MONDAY — Partial clearing and a little colder.

State Gives Ground in Rift Over Reports

LANSING (AP) — An angry dispute between the state and nursing homes over Medicaid rates, which left some elderly patients afraid they might be thrown out, apparently ended Friday.

The state decided it did not need some of the income tax credits which nursing homes did not want to furnish, and removed a deadline for cost reports.

"Please tell people we're still disputing the Medicaid rates," said Bernard Housh, state social welfare director.

"I came to show I don't have horns," said R. Bernard Housh, state social welfare director.

Red Fisherman Faces Charges

U.S. Claims Russian Violated Its Territory

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The master of a Soviet fishing vessel seized by the Coast Guard in the United States waters is scheduled to be arraigned in Kodiak, Alaska, Sunday on charges of violating U.S. territorial fishing rights.

U.S. Atty. Richard McVeigh of Anchorage said the unidentified Soviet skipper would be flown to Kodiak from San Point where his ship was taken Friday under Coast Guard escort.

At least four Soviet crewmen are expected to appear with him at the arraignment, scheduled for 10 a.m.—AST — 3 p.m. EST.

"We don't want to bring him before our courts alone," McVeigh said. "We want to be sure that he is treated with absolute fairness but still brought before the court according to our laws."

Kenneth Jensen, Anchorage attorney, was appointed to represent the skipper.

"WELL INSIDE"

The Coast Guard vessel Storiz seized the Soviet vessel Thursday while making a routine fisheries patrol in U.S. waters 40 miles southwest of Chignik on the south side of the Alaska Peninsula. Don Phillips, skipper of a Kodiak-based fishing boat, said he passed through a Soviet fleet in the area Monday night and that an estimated 22 vessels were "well inside the three-mile limit."

Alaska Gov. Walter Hickel called for punishment of the Soviet skipper and an immediate State Department protest to the Soviet Union.

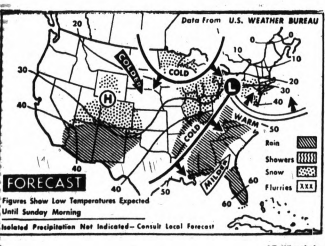

He was shocked and astounded that the Russian government could permit such a violation of our territorial waters to occur," he said. "Apparently stiff penalties are the only thing that will show them that we do not take such violations lightly."

Rain and snow also are expected in the Rockies and the central Plains. It will be colder in the Northeast.

VICTIM'S CHAIR—The chair of Wayne Mullendore was stacked on the table (foreground) yesterday at Wilson Junior High School in Rockford, Ill. Wayne, 14, and his cousin, Ronald Johnson, 14, were shot to death in gangland style Thursday night at a park pavilion in Rockford. The two murder victims were found by sheriff's deputies who responded to a phone call by an unidentified person.

Killing of 2 Teen Cousins Called Planned Execution

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Sheriff Herbert T. Brown says the killing of two teen-age cousins in a public park was a deliberately planned execution.

The victims, Wayne Mullendore, 14, and his cousin, Ronald Johnson, 14, were found Thursday night in an isolated pavilion in Leving Park on Rockford's southwest side. Each had been shot twice.

Latin Slaying Is Connected to Terrorists

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Venezuelan Cabinet met in emergency session early today, hours after the body of former security chief Julio Iribarren Borges was found in a slaying linked to Castroite terrorists.

The ministers who gathered in President Raul Leoni's home at midnight were believed considering whether to suspend constitutional guarantees again in an effort to help capture the killers and prevent more terrorism.

Constitutional rights which were suspended Dec. 13 after a surge of terrorism chiefly against American-owned businesses were restored Thursday.

During the 11-week period, police were empowered to arrest suspects without warrants, hold them indefinitely without bail and enter suspected terrorist hideouts without court permission.

6-County Unit Is Denounced

UTICA (AP) — A group of 150 persons, most of them conservatives, met at Macomb County, met in Utica Friday night to denounce the proposed creation of a council of governments to deal with municipal problems in the six counties, Detroit metropolitan area.

"If this supergovernment is created, we're all destined for the slaughterhouse," declared A. L. St. Clair, who chaired the meeting.

The meeting at the Utica American Legion Hall was heavily attended by members of the Macomb County Conservative Association.

Several speakers charged the proposed council representing Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washington, Monroe and St. Clair counties, would be dominated by the city of Detroit, which could withhold water and sewer facilities.

Rash of UFO Sightings in State

CADILLAC (AP) — Police reported a rash of unidentified flying object sightings in a three-county area in northwest Lower Michigan Friday night.

A Cadillac police officer and other persons reported the sightings at Traverse City in Grand Traverse County, Reed City in Oscoda County and Cadillac in Wexford County.

News Briefs at a Glance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A spokesman for the John Birch Society says the organization now includes about 400 Negro members. John H. Rouselet, Birch Society public relations director, told a City College that some of the group's Negro members hold staff positions and are in demand as speakers. "They (Negroes) know we're not in favor of white power or black power — just the power of all Americans," said Rouselet.

DEARBORN (AP) — Daniel Godfrey, son of an elementary school biology teacher, quit school yesterday after being arraigned on a charge of aggravated assault against two other teachers. Godfrey, 17, a senior at Edsel Ford High School, was charged with hitting two teachers during a basketball game Tuesday night at Dearborn High School.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lance Cpl. Don G. Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Boyd of Lodi, Calif., has been killed in action with the Marine Corps in Vietnam, the Defense Department said yesterday.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is renting Alcatraz, the federal prison island in San Francisco Bay, at $2,000 a day for movie making. The General Services Administration said. "It costs the taxpayers about $24,000 a year just to maintain the place," said Richard F. Laws, GSA regional director of property, said. "We directed we might as well try to at least break even."

DETROIT (AP) — Police Commissioner Gary Girardin is scheduled to testify in Washington Thursday before a Senate subcommittee considering anti-crime legislation. Girardin will talk in favor of President Johnson's proposed Safe Streets and Crime Control Act.

SOUTHFIELD (AP) — Two men robbed a branch of the Oakland National Bank and fled with $2,100 yesterday.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Deciding that its initial ruling was misleading, the Louisiana State for the Deaf has added "state" to its title. Officials said newspaper headline writers should refer to the school henceforth as LSDD — not LSDD.

NILES (AP) — Two children died yesterday in a fire that burned the inside of the house trailer where they lived. Dead are Terry Warren, 3, and his brother, Calvin, 5. Authorities said the trailer had been a "defective old space heater set fire to the trailers."

PORT HURON (AP) — Jerold Liederman, 21, of Toronto, Ont., a freshman at the University of Toronto, has pleaded guilty to a possession of narcotics charge involving marijuana. Authorities said they expect to make further arrests in connection with the case. Source of the marijuana is believed to be either New York or Toronto, police said.

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — A collision between two cars yesterday claimed the life of 19-year-old Mary Ellen Brown of Livonia. The crash occurred at 36-mile and New Haven roads.

OWOSSO (AP) — Robert Stone, 35, a drugstore operator, has been presented with the Jaycee's distinguished service award for outstanding service to Owosso in 1966. Stone has headed a drive to get more off-street parking facilities in the community.

ALBION (AP) — A 25-year-old resident of Albion was killed yesterday when he was struck by a car rammed into a tree. Police identified the victim as Percy Huff.

BAY CITY (AP) — Dow Corning of Midland has announced plans to build a new corporate center on a 1,000-acre site in the southwest section of Bay County's Williams Township. The project will include a series of testing laboratories and administrative offices, but no other developments are disclosed.

DETROIT (AP) — Jimmy Foster, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Foster, was killed yesterday when he darted past a street-crossing guard and ran into the path of a truck, which struck him. The boy was on his way to school.

Group to Discuss Trip to Japan

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (AP) — A group that likes to travel — especially at low rates given charter groups — will meet at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at the Village Women's Club, 190 E. Long Lake, to discuss a proposed trip to Japan.

The Atlanta Society of Birmingham has offered three flying home parties to Europe but the trip planned for next fall is the most ambitious project.

The plan is to spend 23 days in the Orient starting Sept. 13.

At Tuesday's meeting, an airplane representative will be present to give travel tips and show a color travel film.

BIRMINGHAM — The city has launched an extensive search for a man to replace Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley, who will retire April 1 and head the new Oakland County Police Academy at Oakland Community College.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning said advertisements have been sent to police journals announcing the job is open. A competitive exam will be taken by candidates and each will appear before a board to be selected later.

Present members of the police force have been invited to apply.

Kenning said he would make the choice, pending approval by the City Commission.

BIRMINGHAM — A former Cranbrook student, now a nationally known artist, will be present at the opening of an exhibition of his works at 3 p.m., tomorrow at Galerie de Bois, 1000 Woodward Ave.

Rodney G. Landsman has had works displayed at the Detroit Institute of Arts and recently took part in an art in religion show in Youngstown, Ohio, along with 35 representative American artists.

He is a teacher with the adult education program in Detroit and Southfield.

Manual on Coed Hunting Is Blasted by Fair Game

By HAL COOPER

NEW YORK (AP) — A Princeton manual of helpful hints on the hunting of the coed won't patronizing smiles and a few snarls today from the object of the exercise.

"Hilarious," commented blonde Georgetown College, 21-year-old senior at Indiana's DePauw University.

Parents Sue in Suspension of Schoolgirl

The parents of a 16-year-old girl who was suspended from Bloomfield Hills High School for smoking filed a lawsuit in Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday contesting the suspension policy.

A temporary injunction also was obtained by the girl's stepfather, Gus Cifelli, an attorney, preventing the school board from enforcing the regulation. The case shows hearing is scheduled for March 20 before Judge James S. Thornburn.

The injunction will permit the girl, Deborah Cizeler, a junior, to return to classes Monday.

She was suspended Feb. 10 for 20 school days.

The school district imposes a 20-day suspension for the first infraction and the remainder of the school year for the second.

APPEALS REJECTED

The family lives at 104 Hickory Grove, Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Cifelli said that she and her husband had appealed to school officials and the board of education, but when they were turned down, they decided to go to court.

"We're not trying to make it easier for the children and we're against their smoking, but we do believe suspension is the proper punishment."

The students receive no credit for the work they're missed during suspension.

A former professional football player with the Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers, Cifelli has been practicing law since last year when he was admitted to the bar.

"Princeton men are not as tweedy as Yale, not as interesting as Harvard and not as many as Dartmouth."

Some resentment was evident at Stanford, said by "Where the Girls Are" to present "The biggest beauties of plain James in the country."

"This remark," sniffed Barbara Fry, a graduate student in college administration, "merely expresses massive feelings of inferiority on the part of Princeton boys."

The reaction was cool even at Georgia's Agnes Scott College praised by the booklet as "an eye-opening collection of 715 drawings by belles." The Agnes Scott beauties suspected sarcasm, possibly because their team clobbered Princeton last year in a televised quiz match.

"As one who dates a Princeton man," said one Agnes Scott senior who withheld her name, "I find their contemporaries here just as interesting and intellectually stimulating."

HIGHER SCORES

According to the booklet, "Nearly every one of the 750 Bryn Mawr girls got higher college board scores than you did, and few fewer make to forget for a real weekend."

Margaret Edwards, a Bryn Mawr senior, said she had dated about 10 Princeton boys and as far as she could tell they were just as smart as she is.

The booklet characterized DePauw as "Lemonade U, an institution full of 'great-granddaughters of the pioneers, anxious to protect and carry on their chocolate-cream culture.'"

That wounded brunette Agnes, a DePauw senior, who Jackson as follows:

"The coed has emerged from her 'Sweet Daddy, Daddy' me and pink cloud attitude. She is in a real confrontation and involvement with discrimination, social regulations and the Greek system, which are hardly sweet and pleasant."

125 SCHOOLS LISTED

How's that again?

The Princeton booklet lists 125 U.S. schools, their campus life, the kind of girls likely to be found in the student body and the best places to take them on dates.

Peter Sandman, a senior who edited the work — billed as an "informal, indispendible, little book" — conceded that its judgments would irritate some of the campus quail.

He explained: "We took the point of view of a snotty, obnoxious Princeton man."

What Lent Means to Me

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 21st in a series of articles through Lent written by prominent Pontiac area citizens.)

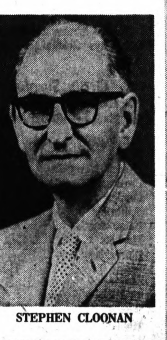

By STEPHEN CLOONAN
Pontiac Druggist

To me, Lent is a time when, knowing God's desire to forgive, to heal and to shape with all men His own divine life, we discipline our passions gladly and with confidence in victory.

We die to our selfishness and worldliness that thereby we may renew our life. There can be no renewal of life without this death. Every Lent we are invited to prove for ourselves this teaching of Christ.

The exuberant experience of renewed life at Easter can happen only for those who are willing to journey with Christ through the dying which is Lent.

God gives the grace for every Lenten restraint.

Wrote Own Speech Permit in U. N. Statement

Thant Speaks Freely on Viet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U Thant speaks out against the war in Vietnam by virtue of a permit that he wrote for himself and got the big powers to endorse.

This is reported by persons in a position to know.

Since his reelection to a new five-year term last Dec. 2, the U.N. secretary general has called repeatedly for an end to the bombing of North Vietnam. He once took issue with the U.S. thesis that the Vietcong is a sledge of Hanoi and that if South Vietnam went Communist, neighboring countries would do likewise.

The informants said Thant considered that he had a go-ahead to talk so freely about the war because he himself had written his own freedom of speech amendment into a statement the Security Council issued in recommending him to the General Assembly for reelection.

FINANCIAL WEAKNESS

With his first term running out Nov. 3, Thant announced last Sept. 1 that he had decided not to offer himself for a second term. He cited concern over the United Nations' financial weakness, the war in Vietnam and some other things.

Later he agreed to stay on till the assembly adjourned Dec. 20. After he did that, the Security Council met privately to persuade him to change his mind about a new term.

The council set up a committee composed of the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain, France and Uruguay. It drafted a statement for the council to issue should it recommend him for reelection.

The proposed statement was intended to induce Thant to stay on. It said the council members

"fully respect his position and his action in bringing basic issues confronting the organization to their notice, as he has done in his statement of Sept. 1."

ASKED FOR COMMENTS

This was sent to Thant for his comments.

Then, the sources report, these developments took place. After "basic issues confronting the organization" Thant wrote in "and disturbing developments in many parts of the world," a phrase meant to make clear that the council recognized his right to speak frankly about Vietnam.

He sent U.N. Undersecretary Jose Rola-Bennett of Guatemala to tell French Ambassador Roger Seydoux that reelection was out unless those words were in the council's statement.

Seydoux consulted his advisers, decided to accept Thant's phraseology and so informed U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko.

AIMED AT U.S.

Fedorenko also accepted the added words in the belief that they were aimed mainly at the United States. After checking with Washington, Goldberg accepted them, too.

When the council met privately the next morning and recommended Thant for the new term, the words were included in a statement on its behalf that was made at the meeting by its president, Uruguayan Ambassador Pedro P. Berro. The statement was issued later in a council communique that is now part of the U.N. public records.

No Run on This Book

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I am indebted to the University of Oregon Athletic Department for making me aware of the difference between New Zealand fartlek and Swedish fartlek.

Fartlek is a term used in training long distance runners. In New Zealand fartlek, you trot along at a steady pace. In Swedish fartlek, you put on occasional bursts of speed.

This information was included in a book called "Jogging," coauthored by William Bowerman, Oregon's track coach, and Dr. W. E. Harris, a medical school instructor.

Children's Art Show at Mall

The Waterford Township School District's sixth annual children's art show will be held Monday through March 18 at Pontiac Mall.

Being held in conjunction with Children's Art Month, the show will feature art exhibits prepared by pupils of 28 elementary schools.

The art will be displayed on the Mall concourse and in store windows at Montgomery Ward and Co. and Tandy Crafts, according to M. J. Root, elementary art coordinator for Waterford Township Schools.

The show will hit its peak next Saturday afternoon when 21 children's demonstration groups perform.

From 1 to 4 p. m. the pupils will demonstrate various art media, including ceramics, metal-enameling, painting, printing, sculpture, stichery, block printing and puppets.

MARIONETTE SHOW

At 3:15 p. m. next Saturday pupils of Cookey School will stage a marionette show, under the direction of teacher Louise Leppa.

At 4 p. m. the pupils will present art work to Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatro, Township Supervisor Dorothy W. Olson and Dr. Maurice Peltin, elementary schools coordinator.

Someone at the university sent me a copy, for which I am extremely grateful.

Otherwise, I might have jogged along for the rest of my life and never known one fartlek from another.

ESCALATION NOTED

The book was given to me because it ties in with a column I wrote on the exercise escalation that has taken place during the Johnson administration.

START RUNNING

During the Kennedy administration, recall, physical fitness experts began urging us to start hiking for our health. Now they're advocating that we start running.

One can only guess what the next step will be. Bowerman and Harris, who are definitely "hawks" on the exercise question, say in their book that regular jogging will make a person feel better.

I believe that. Just reading about it made me feel better.

"JOG-ALONGS"

What about the loneliness of a long-distance runner?

"Well," Bowerman and Harris recommend the development of "community jogging programs" so that people who require conviviality can jog along together, hand in hand, into the purple sunset.

Jogging is said to improve your "posture, appearance, health and mental attitudes," to help you lose weight and to reduce "the anxieties and tensions of modern living."

I can get some of the same results from a dry martini. Which probably means I jogged when I should have jogged.

FIRST BIRTHDAY — Lady Titterlew of Wiggins, "Lindy" to owner Charles Alger of Wichita, Kan., talked of her operation on her first birthday at Wichita this week. Officer Transfer Said Not Linked to Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has denied an Army officer was reassigned because he reportedly refused to squelch a story involving a U.S. ambassador's son. But it says the Army did order Stars and Stripes to drop the story.

Minister Fired Over Placard

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A Baptist minister has been fired from his job as a sheet-metal press-operator because he wore a placard which he said was inscribed with one of the Ten Commandments.

The Rev. Erwin Williams, 46, of Lyons Falls said Friday he was fired Thursday after a foreman at the Bossert Manufacturing Corp. had told him to "take off the sign or quit the job."

The Rev. Mr. Williams said he refused to quit or to remove the 12-by-8-inch placard, which read: "The Lord will hold him guilty that taketh his name in vain," a paraphrase of the Third Commandment. "I told the foreman," he said, "that, if he would ask the men to stop using foul language, I'd remove the placard."

The Rev. Mr. Williams, minister of the Faith Baptist church in Lyonsdale, said he had worked at the plant for about two months to raise money for church purposes. Robert E. Brown, treasurer of the firm, confirmed Friday night that the minister had been fired.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court will have to give a final answer. If the court's answer favors Powell, a major constitutional controversy could erupt should Congress refuse to submit. Such an impasse presumably would last until one or the other gave in.

POWER IMPLIED? To those favoring Powell's exclusion, the power to expel — explicitly given Congress by the Constitution — clearly implies the power to refuse to seat.

And since the Constitution is not clear on grounds for expulsion — it speaks vaguely of "disorderly behavior" — the Congress had no right at all to keep the Harlem Democrat from taking his elected seat.

They argue that Powell's conduct could be the subject of House penalty action only after he was seated. They further contend the only conduct that could be the basis for a penalty was Powell's conduct since the current Congress opened in January.

On such inexplicit grounds, Congress expelled three members in 1861 for having served in the Confederate army, excluded Brigham Roberts of Utah in 1900 on grounds of polygamy and in 1921 barred Victor Berger, a Socialist convicted under the espionage law.

How Powell will make his attack and in what court is not known.

He presumably could argue that he is suffering damage because of his exclusion from the House — that he is denied the congressional income to which he is entitled by his election.

3 REQUIREMENTS And almost certainly he'll argue that the select committee — which recommended he be seated but punished — found he met the three requirements of the Constitution for membership in the House: that a member be at least 25 years old, have been a citizen for seven years and be an inhabitant of the state from which he was elected.

The resolution that excluded Powell conceded he met those requirements.

The legal fight could be launched in a U.S. District Court, in a special three-judge federal court — or, possibly, his former constituents might sue to try to block New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller from calling an election to fill the vacancy caused by Powell's exclusion from the House: that a member be

Support Youth Employment Plan

A worthy project is launched by a group of community business and church leaders under the banner of Job Opportunity for Youth Committee. It will work to provide summer jobs for youths in the 14- to 21-year old range.

mission or Oakland County Office for Economic Opportunity.

Not only businessmen but the entire citizenry are urged to support the committee in its endeavor to give early job training to youngsters during the school-vacation period as well as to provide them with acceptable earnings.

An added bonus for the community could also be realized from application of the proven principle that mischief has much less appeal for busy minds and bodies.

Under the program initiated, boys aged 14 or 15 will be placed through the Youth Assistance Department of the City of Pontiac, while those 16 and older will come under the jurisdiction of the Michigan Economic Security Com-

Hope Rays Shine Through Vietnam Clouds

Assessing the situation in Vietnam and the imponderables of achieving peace there is analogous to opening a can of worms. Opinions and solutions take off in all directions.

But since hope is one of man's innate traits, there is room for some in three developments bearing on the Vietnam war.

The first is that Red China, bogged down in internal chaos, has virtually cut off aid to North Vietnam with her prestige there in eclipse.

The second is that Moscow — and Moscow alone — is clearly on the spot with respect to steering the conflict to an early conclusion, or prolonging it.

give credibility to their frequent avowals of an interest in restoring peace in Vietnam. Russia will no longer be able to work both sides of the street — peace and war.

The third ray of hope is seen in the revival of Indonesia as a non-Communist force in Southeast Asia, now that the Gen. SUHARTO regime has divested itself of SUKARNO.

SUHARTO, backed by his country's new stability, is suggesting an anti-aggression military alliance embracing Southeast Asian countries that by implication would exert itself toward ending aggression in Vietnam.

These are the current shafts of hope shining through the murky clouds of America's involvement in the most frustrating military operation in her history.

Ombudsman Seen as Government Fifth Wheel

You may not find "ombudsman" in your dictionary, but just to bring you up to date, it is a Swedish term for an office created in 1809 meaning "man's agent," or "everyone's attorney." Function of the ombudsman is to intercede in governmental and legislative areas on behalf of the unschooled and inexperienced incapable of coping with the vicissitudes of life.

England and New Zealand picked up the idea, and it has been in effect to limited and local extent in the United States — notably in Nassau County, New York, where a former judge was appointed commissioner of accounts, with the added title of acting ombudsman. His salary is $24,000 a year.

Michigan has a counterpart (though not at $24,000 a year) whose efforts are centered in the Secretary of State's office. So far, he says, his complaints mostly "involve dogs chasing dogs and people burning trash."

But the idea is catching on fast across the land. A Senate bill would establish ombudsmen on a regional basis, and 13 states are considering establishment of the office.

There has, however, been mixed feeling in Congress about the innovation. One critic, Rep. WILLIAM A. CARNEY, D-Mass., declares that "if Congressmen can't adequately represent the people, they should get out and let someone else do it." They were elected, he points out, for that purpose, not to pass the buck to ombudsmen.

With the multiplicity of social agencies, government bureaus and elected representatives available to iron out the difficulties of John Q. Public, we go along with the Massachusetts legislator.

The crying need in government today is economy, and the idea of setting up another official entity with the inevitable administrative expense hardly seems consonant with it.

Timing Aided LBJ, Hurt Bobby

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It might have been just a presidential coincidence, but the timing was terrific.

There is no doubt Senator Bobby Kennedy, D-N.Y., gets in President Johnson's hair with what he says on Vietnam. But, while earlier this year he MARLOW must have made it look wind-blown, Thursday he blew a gale.

Yet before the day was over Kennedy, who might have had the front pages to himself, had to share them with Johnson who butted in not once but twice.

Kennedy had let it be known he was preparing a major speech on Vietnam.

Thursday was the day he chose to deliver it. He was a clinch to make front pages. Then something happened. Maybe it was only a coincidence. But Johnson suddenly called a news conference a few hours before Kennedy's talk.

Johnson quickly announced the Soviet Union, through Premier Alexei N. Kossygin, had agreed to discuss halting the arms race. This could have been the only reason for calling in the newsmen.

CONVENIENT TIME
But one of them, and it was certainly a convenient time for Johnson to be asked the question, raised a point about the timing, raised a point about the timing, raised a point about the timing.

But Kennedy's whole speech was to be a proposal that U.S. bombing stop for a while to see if North Vietnam wanted to talk peace. Now Johnson had answered Johnson at once made it clear there would be no letup in the pressure on Hanoi.

Later in the day a newsman told Johnson's press secretary, George Christian, "some suspicious people" wondered if Johnson had not called the news conference and made the war statement to take the play away from Kennedy.

Christian expressed innocence. And later in the day Kennedy made his speech but had hardly started before Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., a Johnson supporter on Vietnam, made public a letter from the President.

WOULD CONTINUE

In the letter, Johnson said the bombing had been effective and would continue. Was this a coincidence, too? The timing couldn't have been better, from Johnson's viewpoint.

Here he was throwing cold water on Kennedy's speech before Kennedy could finish it. Johnson's letter, dated March 1, reached Jackson at almost the moment when Kennedy began speaking.

Thus twice in one day, Johnson answered Kennedy without anyone being able to say positively, Johnson was replying to Kennedy at all. In fact, Christian said the White House would have no comment on Kennedy's speech.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"The beauty of faith is in its articulation—not in the poetry of words, but in action. There is nothing passive about faith. It is a personal force which demands to be translated into constructive action."

That is the creed of James H. Boren, of The Partners.

Jim Boren was born in a Methodist parsonage in Wheatland, Okla., and his life has been steeped in faith.

In college he thought he might follow his father's footsteps and become a minister, but decided he could do more good in the field of education. After a series of teaching assignments, Jim finally found the niche that gave him the greatest potential for faith in action in the Agency for International Development. It was with the Alliance for Progress program, a partnership of the people of the free American Republics that Jim conceived and organized The Partners.

The Partners is a person to person program in which organizations, state and city institutions, even individuals, can work with people and groups in Central and South America for social, economic and cultural development through private initiative.

Confident Living:

Learn to Live With Yourself

By NORMAN V. PEALE

A famous novelist has said: "A man can stand anything so long as he can stand himself. He can live without home, without books, without money, without friends — so long as he can listen in peace to his own thoughts."

Because this statement is so true it is vital that a person learn to live with himself in peace, happiness and satisfaction. One inescapable fact of life is this: You have to live with what you are.

"You can never get away from yourself," says Goethe. And Lord Byron, who seemed to have had a good deal of DR. PEALE difficulty with himself, exclaimed: "What exile from himself can flee."

Whether we like it or not there is no alternative: hour by hour, day by day, year by year we must live with ourselves.

For some this is heaven, for others hell. For some it is romance, for others an intolerable boredom. But there is no escape. You and I decide whether we can live in satisfaction and happiness with ourselves.

When one of our daughters was about six years old I was awakened one morning by her voice in the next room. She was carrying on an exuberant conversation and for a moment, emerging from bed, I saw her. I thought she must have company. But it was only her voice.

Going into her room I said, "Margaret, this is a strange time to be talking to yourself. It is 6 o'clock in the morning. Besides it seems queer to laugh at your own remarks."

"Oh, Daddy!" she replied with an air which children use to keep parents in their proper place, "you don't understand! I have an awful good time with myself!" I have often reflected upon that remark. Children often seem to know more about the art of living than adults. They have the ability to have an "awful good time" with themselves. Perhaps that is why the Bible suggests that if we become as little children we shall enter the real art of living.

So many people seem to have lost the keen, fresh and exuberant delight in life. They are dull, unhappy, cynical, even disgusted; and the light and laughter have gone out of them.

I often think of what Jesus Christ said: "If any man a thirst, let him come unto Me and drink. Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst." Sometimes people regard that statement merely as poetry, a beautiful figure of speech.

But when he uttered those words Jesus stood watching sparkling water, probably surging from some height overshooting a cliff, trailing mist and plunging into a deep pool below — or perhaps it was a stream babbling over smooth stones.

But he beheld life in those waters and used the figure to remind people of a deeper satisfaction of their thirst for life.

We drive back and forth from New York City to our farm in the country, past a water reservoir near Carmel, N.Y. During the long drought the reservoir was at one time dry, almost like a desert, revealing an old stone wall that had not been visible since the system was established over 50 years ago.

There was something awesome about it. It struck one as actually sinister — eight million people in New York City depend upon the flow of water from this reservoir system. Water is still a marvelous symbol of life itself.

But an even more sinister fact is that people suffer from inner thirst which cannot be satisfied by earthly reservoirs. The reason for such unhappiness today is because the deeper longings of the human spirit for peace of mind are not satisfied.

The longing for love is unfulfilled as is also the desire for appreciation and for the real meaning of life. Such persons find living with themselves not too rewarding.

One of the top engineers in New York City, who is at present on a dramatic construction job, tells me he is so happy and enthusiastic that the whole world has become extra wonderful.

But only a few months ago he was a disgruntled, cynical and dissatisfied man. Asked, how come this great change, his answer was interesting: "I'm drinking the water of life and now I'm like living with myself."

And I might add, people like living with him, too. It is very important to one's happiness to learn to live with himself. It's something worth working at.

'Readers View Problem of Dogs Running Loose

Dog packs are caused by dog owners, so let's put the blame where it belongs. It is common for several dogs to gang up on one dog that provoked another.

Dogs running in packs should always be considered dangerous. This situation cannot be stopped by killing a dog every time a child is bitten.

It is up to dog owners to see that this doesn't happen by knowing at all times where our dogs are.

EDWARD M. LANGE JR.

The law states a dog is to be penned or tied. I have witnessed the representative of Oakland County Animal Shelter driving by dogs running loose. Last summer a representative came door to door, checking for unlicensed dogs. The department is very concerned about getting their money.

Why don't they show the same concern about enforcing the law on the back of the certificate of license for dogs. I have called about numerous dogs that run loose and they tell me to catch them, then they will pick them up.

MARY HAMLETT
CLARKSTON

If Mr. Bierwith and Chief Warden Sheridan would visit the hospital to see the Kohnen boy they wouldn't hesitate as to what to do with the dogs. I can't understand why they don't have stricter laws. Dogs are unpredictable.

Suggestions to take the plug out of downtown Pontiac: Open North Saginaw between Oakland and Wide Track; extend Wayne from W. Lawrence to W. Pike through parking lot; take parking meters off Saginaw from Oakland to Water; limit speed on Saginaw to 20-m.p.h.; one lane of traffic south and one lane north in center of Saginaw; angle parking; buses unload in center of street at every other corner; no loading or unloading of any kind at curbs.

Questions Groveland Township Tax Raise

In answer to the article concerning the 100 per cent tax increase in Groveland Township, those making all or part of their living on farms should not be taxed the same rate per acre as subdivided land. What are we getting in Groveland Township for these high taxes? We have no fire protection of our own, no schools of our own, no police protection, library, garbage pickup or dump. We have no water or sewage, light, or good roads. Let's not pay our 100 per cent increase in taxes until we are satisfied the board of review will make some changes.

School Board Decision Discussed by Voter

I read the decision of the Waterford school board to start a group of tenth graders in Mason Junior High next fall. This is a classic example of a group of students being "out on a limb."

As for Mott being ready for occupancy in the fall of 1968, the students will be lucky if it's ready six months past that time. Add to this a year or two for an entirely new facility to become acclimated, plus additional time to equip labs, etc., and you have a group of seniors ready to graduate that haven't enjoyed any programs or benefits of an established high school.

I have voted my last "yes" for any Waterford school proposal.

Encourages Support of Fiscal Reform

All groups concerned with government and services to the people have indicated that fiscal reform, including a state income tax, is necessary now in order to carry on the many programs. The income tax, at state level, will support the many state services, thus releasing property tax income for local use.

Michigan's new constitution calls for a balanced budget. Unless a new, broad based tax is passed to provide the monies necessary to carry on present, built-in services, there will be a large deficit in 1968, or as an alternative services will be cut.

Write your State Senator and Representative to give them support in making the decision they must make before April 7.

An Incurable Automobile Paralysis

Traffic Jam Has Paris Burning

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
PARIS — Paris is threatened with an extreme case of automobile paralysis which to all appearances is incurable.

Traffic jams block the main arteries at peak hours every day except Sundays.

When an unusual event occurs, such as the now frequent transport strike, or during the Christmas shopping season, there is no solution other than using one's legs.

Five years ago the situation was critical but not impossible, since then the number of car owners has risen and Paris suffers from automobile sickness because the equation space-automobile parking is insoluble.

Two figures spell out the problem. There are over 1,800,000 automobiles in Paris, but room for only 300,000, divided as follows: 65,000 in circulation and 235,000 in parking spaces. A few thousand extra cars is sufficient to create a state of asphyxiation.

The future is gloomy. Counting a yearly increase of 10 per cent it is estimated that by 1985 the number of Paris automobiles will hit the 4-million mark.

And the fact remains that Paris is not expendable to that extent. The physical make-up of the capital has not changed a great deal since Baron Haussmann, 100 years ago, opened up the eight wide avenues leading from the Place de l'Etoile.

The situation is so hopeless that soon down the boulevards the cars will put pedestrians in chains.

Drivers exhausted by the eternal traffic jams will be allowed to park on the sidewalks and allowed to stay there.

A narrow pavement protected by chains from further aggression will be for pedestrians. Already several of the broader boulevards and avenues have lost one of the double row of lofty plane and chestnut trees which counted among the adornments of the capital.

There is something symbolic about these chains in Paris which has gone a good deal further than other capitals and major cities along the collision course between cities and automobiles. All can look to Paris to see what happens to a capital that has run out of road to put under its traffic stream.

Latest official figures confirm what every driver here knows to his chagrin — the average speed of cars in Paris at peak hours is almost equivalent to complete standstill.

There is one car to every 3 1/4 Parisians. Allowing cars to clamber up on sidewalks like basking crocodiles in certain places and for not more than 24 hours, the authorized 12,000 new places which motorists had already steadily stolen from pedestrians.

This leaves over 200,000 vehicles in a perpetual game of musical chairs, faced with illegal parking or circulating endlessly.

The fact remains that Paris, with its maze of side streets, is badly equipped to meet the challenge of the encroaching monster.

An autoroute is being driven through the heart of the city along the right bank of the Seine and another will soon completely encircle the city. But it is a matter of time before even these will prove inadequate.

The constantly increasing traffic in central Paris is willy-nilly changing the physical aspect of the city and causing it to lose some of its picturesque customs.

Take the once-popular street fairs, with a tradition of over 1,300 years behind them, which were a fixed event on the popular calendar.

Earlier in the century they featured hundreds of small stalls stretching along the streets of Paris. They sold novelties, candy, hot dogs, along with sandwiches, shooting galleries, giant roulette wheels, tattooing booths, fire-eaters and sword swallowers.

Now they are confined to short stretches along the main boulevards and limited to the period around New Year's and Bastille Day (July 14).

While Parisians bemoan the disappearance of the scenes of their youth, Raymond Aron, one of the most brilliant French writers in the economic field recently came to this sorrowful conclusion: "There is no stemming a man's desire for they are in their pristine state."

Cigarette Smoke in Tests Cuts Disease Resistance

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the lungs and throughout the body, cells which make their living by engulfing and digesting bacteria and other invaders. They form a front line in body defenses.

Dr. Gareth M. Green was interested only in the devourers which work in the lungs. The question he wanted answered was what effect, if any, a puff of cigarette smoke had on them.

He and his assistant, Diana Carolin, cultured them in flasks, with around 10 million cells to the flask, in a Harvard University laboratory. Into each of these flasks they introduced a few million bacteria of the staphylococcus tribe, a notorious sickener of people.

After two hours only 24 per cent were alive. The others had been devoured and digested.

A puff of cigarette smoke was forced into flasks containing the same number of cells and newly introduced staph bacteria. After two hours 80 per cent were alive and multiplying their kind. The experiment was inspired by statistics which associate cigarette smoking with both chronic bronchitis and increased susceptibility to lung diseases in general. The statistics indicate "cigarette smoke directly inhibits antibacterial mechanisms" of the breathing apparatus, scientists said.

Their experimental result proved it for the bacterial-devouring cells, the "Macrophages," they reported to the New England Journal of Medicine, recalling it had already been proved for the other cellular "antibacterial mechanism, the cilia cells.

"They prevent bacteria from finding locomotion by vibrating tiny threads which keep them moving.

With mathematical precision they demonstrated that the more smoke in a puff, the greater the inhibition. But they failed in an effort to identify whatever it is in the smoke which inhibits.

DISTINCT EFFECT?

It isn't nicotine nor formaldehyde nor cyanide — at least in the proportional trace amounts in which they're found in smoke, they said.

"This cytotoxic effect may be distinct from the carcinogenic (cancer-causing) effect of smoke which is reported to be related to the organic and tar fraction of smoke," they added.

They worked with bacteria-devouring cells taken from the lungs of instantly killed rabbits in order to get cells for culture which had not been contaminated by disease.

Human bacteria — devouring cells are not obtainable while they are in their pristine state."

Neither stands a chance in a million of getting elected.

They have been nicknamed "political kamikazes" after the Japanese suicide pilots who dive-bombed U. S. warships during World War II.

But the Gaullists figure the very fact of running candidates in the toughest, "Reddest" Communist strongholds in France has a publicity value not to be underestimated.

Both are running in the so-

TV Music-Variety Shows to Come On Strong in Fall

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — The 1967-68 television season will have a Jerry Lewis, for another try at musical life, thanks to the sweet-sounding ratings of this season's shows.

The Nielsen rating for the weeks ending Feb. 6 showed Dean Martin as the new leader. Five other shows in the music-comedy-variety class also scored in the top 20: "Red Skelton," "Jackie Gleason," "Ed Sullivan," "The Smothers Brothers," and "Lawrence Welk."

SMASHING SUCCESS
The network and advertising leaders can spot a trend when it hits them in the face. The word apparently has spread: get us shows that are musical and live.

CBS is dropping the Danny Kaye show after four years, but the network is adding two variety shows to its Skelton-Gleason-Sullivan combo. Carol Burnett is coming back with a Monday night hour. The Smothers Brothers, considered by the trade to be a midseason sacrifice offer to the opposition of the "unbeatable" "Bonanza," have surprised everyone by scoring a hit. They will return in the fall.

The smashing success of Dean Martin is credited for NBC's signing of Dino's old partner, television show, for another try at musical life. The Lewis show is tentatively set for Friday at 8-9. The Kraft Music Hall is returning on a weekly basis with Perry Como expected to alternate with other hosts.

The much-honored but low-rated Bell Telephone Hour will get a chance to show its stuff in prime time on NBC, alternating with new documentaries on Friday night at 10. The network wanted Andy Williams to continue his glossy hour on Sunday nights, but the singer wants to slow to a limited number of specials.

Danny Thomas will be presenting six variety shows as part of his weekly show, Bob Hope will be around for eight, including his 90-minute Christmas show, and Jack Benny will provide two.

As usual, ABC is the least active in the musical field. Lawrence Welk will be back for his 13th season, and the Hollywood Palace will continue. Negotiations for Debbie Reynolds to head up a weekly variety show were unavailing.

SPONTANETTY

Why the trend to music? A top network official offered this explanation:

"Television has offered too much canned entertainment in recent years. That's why viewers welcome a personality as spontaneous as Dean Martin.

"The musical variety show is ideal for the 9 or 10 o'clock time slot. That's when viewers want to relax and enjoy colorful, diverting entertainment. It's like having the best possible night, club show in your own living room — and you don't get stuck with a bill."

Tough British Slum Still Awaits Miracle

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Five years ago a government secretary promised a miracle: a new, clean, safe, and healthy slum for the Gorbals, toughest slum of Britain's second city.

The tenements were going to be swept away. Shining towers would bring gracious living to families jointly using a cold water, a cold-water faucet or a toilet.

Today a few show towers stand on concrete stilts, but the Gorbals remains Britain's worst slum.

A housing advisory committee reports 273,000 Glasgow houses should be demolished rapidly and 193,000 more within 39 years.

ATROCIOUS CONDITIONS

J. B. Cullingsworth of this group says: "Glasgow should be torn from the rooftops because of its problem. We have seen families condemned to live in atrocious conditions which should shock the national conscience."

You don't wander far in the Gorbals to see what he means.

The soot-blackened tenements stand in gaunt rows, reflected by trash-littered puddles in cobble streets. Some buildings have scarcely one set of unbroken window panes. Only a rag of curtain, a gaping frame plugged with cardboard, a naked electric bulb, show this is someone's home.

Yet the fronts of these bare-faced buildings are solid as their native stone. You have to poke into the wasteland of back courts for the places where rats slither nimbly in the filth, where mongrel dogs fight in the rain. And where Gorbals children play.

The police are seen as a special enemy. One street has had its name changed three times. Each time the old name had become so synonymous with violence that a man living there could not get an honest job. The Gorbals wasn't always the slum it is today.

After years as a center for tobacco with the American Colonies, it became a high-class residential suburb in the early 19th century.

When the great emigration of Jews from central Europe began in the early 1900s, those who came to this area settled in the Gorbals. Then came the Irish in even greater numbers. Glasgow evolved the tenement to house them all.

RAZOR GANGS

Between the World Wars the Gorbals had a fearsome reputation because of warring razor gangs. By the 30s, when unemployment in Glasgow was already the worst in Britain, the tenements were crammed to bursting.

New waves of immigration followed World War II. Thousands of Pakistanis came in to man public transport. They made the overcrowding worse.

There is no racial problem in the Gorbals, Pakistani spite shops stand beside kosher butcher shops. White and colored, Jew and Gentile, Irish and Scots, live chummy amidst the general misery.

The Rev. Richard Holloway, an Episcopal vicar, returned to his native Glasgow four years ago, determined to live among the people he wanted to help.

The Rev. Mr. Holloway is organizer for Christian Action Glasgow Housing Association Ltd., a nonprofit body to re-house a hundred families.

Most of the five-room flats in the Gorbals tenements now have a family to each room, he says. He has organized petitions to the public health authorities in bad cases and rent strikes against bad landlords. He finds the going tough in church and out.

Chilling Body Won't Cause Common Cold

By Science Service

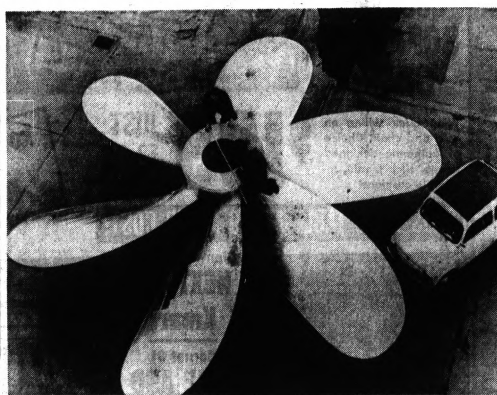

CHICAGO — Chilling, or lowering the body temperatures does not cause the common cold, three National Institutes of Health researchers uncovered when they subjected 43 volunteers to a variety of "cold-catching" situations.

It is the rhinovirus that is the major cause of colds, at least in adults, the investigators report in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Some of the volunteers spent one and a half to two and a half hours in a room where the temperature hovered around 40 degrees F., the kind of short-term chilling commonly believed to bring on a cold.

Others were placed in cool baths, which lowered their body temperatures two degrees. But unless the virus was present, little effect was noted.

The study was begun at the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases by Drs. R. G. Douglas Jr., and R. B. Couch, both now at Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, Tex., and Dr. K. M. Lindgren, who continues his work at NIH.

PLENTY OF DRIVE — Workmen put finishing touches on a 28-foot ship's propeller in Hamburg, West Germany. The bronze-aluminum alloy screw, weighing 62 tons, dwarfs a small car by its side. The propeller will be fitted to a 150,000-ton supertanker now under construction in a Kiel shipyard.

OUT OF JUICE?—An electric-powered Renault failed in an attempt to prove it could make the trip from Detroit to Cadillac this fall. It wasn't a lack of electricity but a motor mishap that halted it on I-75 south of Flint. A trip from Detroit to Washington is planned next week, says Donald Swadlow of Detroit, the owner. State trooper Phillip E. Cowdrey examines car.

India Scientists Studying Secret of Indian Ocean

NEW DELHI, India, (AP) — Indian scientists are compiling dossiers on some badly needed characters hiding out in the Indian Ocean.

Their family names include tuna, mackerel, herring, sardine and anchovy. They are needed to help solve Asia's perennial food shortage.

"What is being done in the oceans is as important as what is being done to increase food production on farms," says Dr. N.K. Panikkar, director of the National Institute of Oceanography in Pondicherry.

This country recently opened an Indian Ocean biological center where information will be kept on the location of schools of fish along with data on their seasonal movements.

DETAILED CHARTING

"There will be a detailed charting of the fish population so we will know just what the varieties are at a given moment," Panikkar says.

This is part of a plan to increase the annual yield of fish from the Indian Ocean, with the aim of making it 25 million tons within 15 years.

Preliminary data was gathered during the 1962-65 Indian Ocean expedition, when ships from 22 nations crisscrossed between Australia and Africa, plotting locations of communities of fish.

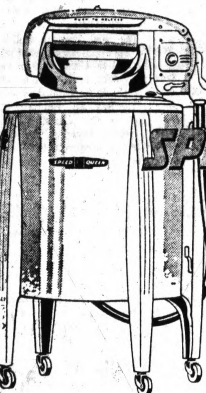

Scientists from some of these countries opened a three-day symposium in India this week.

FOOD SHORTAGES

As Panikkar sees it, fish not only can help alleviate food shortages but can improve diets in many nations where wheat and rice are staple foods.

Panikkar believes "fish farming" in the Indian Ocean may increase rapidly although there is the problem of getting more fishing craft and better equipment.

Redford Chief of Police Quits

DETROIT (UPI) — A second Detroit area police chief has vacated his job after being accused with neglect of duty by Wayne County one-man grand juror Judge George Bowles.

Redford Township Police Chief Owen D. Hudson resigned and left for a vacation yesterday after Bowles asked the township board to remove him.

Only Tuesday, Hamtramck Chief of Police Walter Jaros retired after Bowles charged him with misfeasance and neglect of duty.

Judge Bowles charged in his removal petition yesterday that Hudson "willfully failed to enforce the laws of the state forbidding any person to operate a motor vehicle . . . except under license plates issued for it."

It also accused Hudson of helping a friend "conceal assets from creditors and associates."

Redford Township Supervisor Aldrick Bellaire said Capt. Edwin Glaze, Hudson's chief assistant, was named acting chief, Hudson, 63, had been police chief for five of his 28 years of police service.

Junior Editors Quiz on KING ARTHUR

QUESTION: Was there a real King Arthur?

ANSWER: The stories we read about King Arthur are legends and can not be regarded as being true. Many historians feel, however, that back of the legends was a real person. England was ruled by the Romans until the 400's. But when Roman government was withdrawn, the Britons, Celtic people living in England, were left at the mercy of various invading tribes.

It was then that some kind of a chieftain or leader arose to help the Britons. Such a person may have been the original King Arthur.

Christianity had been appearing in England. The stories about King Arthur pictured him as the perfect Christian king, living in the castle of Camelot, in company with his famous knights who sat at the Round Table (upper right). Arthur and his knights became symbols for the Christian virtues of justice, mercy and defense of the weak.

They fought against evil, which was often imagined in the form of a dragon. Many engaged in the quest to find the Holy Grail, the cup which Jesus used at The Last Supper, supposed to have been preserved by Joseph of Arimathea.

North Viet Still Bar to Peace--Goldberg

SAIGON (AP) — The biggest bar to peace in Vietnam, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said today, "is that our willingness to go to the conference table is not shared by the other side."

The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations addressed a news conference before departing for Manila on the last leg of his five-nation Asian tour.

"I cannot say that there are any new peace proposals under way. I saw this regretfully," he told questioners.

"As I have tried to make clear, both before leaving on this trip and during the trip itself, I have not undertaken a mission related to any new proposals or initiatives for peace in Vietnam."

The ambassador said he met with Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, down a law permitting outer Foreign Minister Tran Van Do hearings before a probate judge.

"and leading figures from labor, political and student communities."

Goldberg said the question whether the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet-Viet, would be directly represented at the peace negotiations sulked in the sheriff's removal "is not an insurmountable problem. But the Appeals Court said the desire on Hanoi's part for law allowing such a hearing continues."

The Saigon government has filed a section on separation of objects to any talks with the powers between the executive, Vietnamese. The ambassador said legislative and judicial he "did not go into that" with branches.

GLENWOOD PLAZA NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

Dr. and Mrs. James W. Gell of Bloomfield Hills congratulate Susan Young of Detroit on her performance in the last evening's Overture to Opera which took place at Pontiac Northern High School. Mrs. Gell is cochairman of the Pontiac Area Opera Association.

Opera Overture Visits in Pontiac

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL
"Overture To Opera 'V' visited Pontiac Northern High School Thursday and Friday. Three abridged student performances and one complete adult performance Friday evening contributed a new dimension to the growing cultural facilities available in the Pontiac area.

Fine professional area artists of the highest calibre were brought together through the combined efforts of the Detroit Grand Opera Association, Oakland University and Federal Aid. The result was high standard performance of opera of three different types and periods.

Produced and coordinated by Dr. David DiChiera, the well-chosen program consisted of Act three Scene one from Verdi's "Masked Ball," the second scene of Act two of Menotti's "The Consul" and the entire one act opera, "Portuguese Inn."

Since lack of space makes it impossible to note each of the twenty-one performers, as well as the many back-stage contributors, comment must be limited to a few of the artists,

Recent Vows Are Repeated

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Szymanski of Cranlake Drive, Independence Township, announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Judith Lynn, to Ned E. Seath in Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Seath also of Cranlake Drive.
The newlyweds are residing on the Dixie Highway.

History to be Told

"The History of A Black People" will be presented Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in Franklin School by members of the Junior Negro Business and Professional Women's Club.

Calendar of Events

MONDAY

Pontiac Symphony Orchestra Women's Association, 1 p.m., home of Mrs. E. L. Windeler of Hatchery Road. William E. Brown will speak.

Maceday Gardens extension study group, 8 p.m., home of Mr. and Mrs. William Newhall of Warringham Street. Husbands are invited to hear program on "Planning Family Security."

TUESDAY

Fashionette Club of Pontiac, 7 p.m., Ada Shelly Library. Dr. Samuel Calton will speak. Any area woman wishing to lose weight may attend.

Alpha Delta Kappa, Alpha whose important roles brought them to the foreground.

Roma Riddell's aria, "To this we've come" from "The Consul," was a great tragic portrait of a distraught and desperate woman.

Miss Riddell's beautiful voice, and her deep understanding of the role gave to Menotti's turbulent and passionate music a universality and pathos which shook her audience to the depths and brought cheers and salves.

Joseph Ryan's aria and handling of the Magician was a comic-tragic foil, beautifully executed to relieve the agony of Magda's despair.

In traditional grand opera style, Robert Taylor sang, with fine tenor mastery and excellent interpretation, the celebrated "Eri tu" ("It was You") from Verdi's "Masked Ball." The excerpt was well-rounded out with the fine soprano voice of Sue Young as his wrongly accused wife, and Philip Zaugg and Daniel Jackson as his fellow conspirators.

Cherubini's curtain-raiser, "The Portuguese Inn," was performed in its entirety, and a delightful and tuneful bit of musical buffoonery it was. Doralene Davis as the heroine, was charming, gracious and demure. Her exquisite, even voice is particularly well suited to the lyric, classic style. J. Michael Bloom, as the inn keeper, is not only a fine singer, but a hilarious clown, whose every gesture and ridiculous posturings delighted the audience with his antics.

But the hero of the evening, to anyone familiar with stagecraft, was John Broome, the director of "The Portuguese Inn," who made what otherwise would have been a static performance, light, moving and comic. His deft, feathery touch, his imaginative development of the stage business, his innate sense of good theatre and his understanding of the opera buffa style, made a perfect gem of a performance. He is an impressive addition to drama in this area.

MRS. PHILIP LORENZ SCHMIDT

The P. L. Schmidts Wed at Flower Banked Altar

White snapdragons and chrysanthemums banked the altar in St. Luke Lutheran Church, Mount Clemens, today, for the marriage of Judith Ann Oles to Philip Lorenz Schmidt.

A luncheon in the Hillcrest Country Club followed the double-ring ceremony.

Will Feature Arranging Wednesday

Japanese flower arrangements will be featured at a meeting of Ikebana International, chapter 85, Wednesday, in the Birmingham Federal Savings Building, West Maple Road at Lahser.

Mrs. James White of St. Clair Shores, who learned her art in Japan as an outstanding pupil of Teshigahara Soju, headmaster of the Sogetsu School of Flower Arrangement, or Ikebana, will be artist for the day.

She was chosen by Mr. Soju to represent the Sogetsu School in the United States and has earned seven teaching certificates, a most unusual accomplishment, requiring years of intensive study.

The public is always welcome at Ikebana meetings which begin at one o'clock. There is a guest fee.

Group Joins Benefit Plans

The Alpha Alpha chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority will be among groups participating in the fashion show by Alvin's of Pontiac, March 15, in the Huron Theatre.

Proceeds from the evening event which will close with a showing of the film "The King and I" will be given to the Oakland County Children's Village for playground equipment.

Mrs. LaMae White and Mrs. Ronald Kraud will represent the chapter as hostesses.

Ramada Inn, Saginaw, has been reserved for the state council meeting on March 12 also for the state convention April 28-30, according to Mrs. Edmund O. Smith.

The chapter is making Easter baskets for a needy area family.

Carson City Rite Planned by Pair

Former Pontiac residents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Williamson of Edmore, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jo, to Frank Donald Kolenda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kolenda of Grand Rapids.

The couple who will graduate from Aquinas College in May with bachelor of arts degrees in education plan to be married Aug. 19 in Carson City.

The newlyweds' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oles of Knollwood Drive, Pontiac Township, and the Lorenz Schmidts of Waterloo, Iowa.

Alencon lace accented the bride's gown of white silk shantung styled with natural waistline, scissors pleat and court train. Her veil was silk illusion and she carried white roses, ivy and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Eddy Mauro was her sister's matron of honor and bridesmaid was Mrs. Harold Dison of Ann Arbor.

With Arthur Schmidt, his brother's best man, were the ushers, Roger Hoffman, Lakeland, Fla., Richard Maxam and Franklin Oles, the bride's brother.

The newlyweds will reside in Mount Clemens after a northern Michigan honeymoon. She is an alumna of Wayne State University and he is a graduate of the State College of Iowa.

Noted Model to Lecture at Town Hall

Nancy Cooke, noted model and fashion authority, will be Pontiac Oakland Town Hall's speaker on Wednesday. Curtain time is 10:30 a.m. in the Huron Theatre.

Mrs. Cooke, a San Franciscan and the mother of four, has traveled the world in search of native costumes. A top panel of fashion critics has appointed her the "United States Ambassador of Fashion." Her commentary capsules fashion trends and influences both here and abroad.

LOCAL MERCHANT
Alvin Steinman, owner of Alvin's of Pontiac, will introduce the speaker and local Town Hall members will model.

The latter include Medames: Donald Long, Gus Birtas, Lowell Satterlee, Edwin L. Adler, John Knobloch, Cleo Hoogerhyde, and J. L. B. Bennett.

A celebrity luncheon follows at Devon Gables. Reservations may be obtained by contacting Mrs. William H. Taylor Jr.

NANCY COOKE

Her 'Friend' Belittles Kind Act Performed During Bad Time

DEAR ABBY: We have some friends whose teen-aged son was killed recently. Wanting to be of some help, I fried three chickens, wrapped them in aluminum foil and sent them to their home in a large cardboard box.

I thought that poor mother had enough on her mind without worrying about returning a fancy platter or tray.

A friend told me that I shouldn't have sent the chicken over that way—that it looked like I didn't "trust" the family to return my platter. Was I wrong?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: In my book you were extremely considerate to have sent the chicken in a disposable container. (Others could learn from you.) But I am wondering what kind of "friend" would be so unkind as to plant such a preposterous notion in your mind?

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to add my voice to that of the mother who deprecates how ugly the young girls look in white lipstick, little-boy haircuts, and those ridiculous little-girl dresses.

I don't know whom these stupid girls are trying to please;

Jerry Booth to Narrate at Symphony

"Peter and the Wolf" will be presented March 12 by the Pontiac Symphony orchestra at Pontiac Northern High School.

TV personality, Jerry Booth, will narrate the concert. His week day cartoon program is popular with youngsters.

The concert will be at 2:30 p.m. and again at 3 p.m. The entire family may attend. Single admissions or special rates for entire families are available at the symphony office in the Riker Building on West Huron Street. A ticket may be purchased that will include the May 21 concert slated at the Baldwin Pavilion at Oakland University. Ticket sales will take place for children in area schools on Tuesday.

surely not us men. I don't know of one fellow who doesn't think the new styles are repulsive.

We men want our girls to look like girls—not boys. We like a girl's hair to be neat and simple, preferably shoulder length (no streaks or gray). We like a girl to have a natural-looking complexion with a little pink or red lipstick and a little make-up artistically applied to her eyes.

Most girls look like they put their eye make-up on with a spoon! And lastly, a girl should wear a dress that complements a well-rounded feminine figure. Very truly yours, JIM S. USN: PEARL HARBOR

DEAR ABBY: Please, please print this letter. It might make a few girls think twice before begging for a wedding ring. I fell in love with Mark when I was 15. He was 17. I fought with my family because I wanted to quit school and get married. Mark wanted to go to college, but I talked him into taking a job in a parking lot so we

Society Names New Officers at Northland

Mrs. John Napley was named president of The Heritage Society at Thursday's meeting in Northland Inn.

Others elected were Mrs. Walter Obenauf, vice president and Mrs. Donald Fillmore, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Charles Hutson read a paper on Tiffany ware. She told of the life of Louis Comfort Tiffany and his work as painter and decorator, his stained glass creations and his favorite glass.

His early pieces were not for sale, neither were they signed but they were sent to museums.

Hostesses were Mrs. Max DeGroot and Beatrice Cameron.

Slate Forum in Detroit on Women's Careers

High school girls, their parents and school counselors have been invited to a forum on careers for women in science and engineering.

Combining for the first time the professional know-how of women engineers and the insight and experience of women in a university counseling and testing center, the meeting will be held March 14 at the Rackerham Building, 100 Farnsworth, Detroit.

Cosponsored by the Detroit Section of the Society of Women Engineers and the Continuum Center for Women at Oakland University, Rochester, Michigan, the program will feature a panel discussion on employment opportunities, educational preparation for careers in science and engineering and other factors involved in choosing a profession.

could get married right away. We ran off and got married and broke our parents' hearts. I got pregnant real quick so our parents wouldn't have our marriage annulled.

Well, Mark wasn't really ready to settle down so when he'd spend an evening with his buddies, I'd get mad and jealous. Then we started fussing at each other. He couldn't stand my whining so he left me. Now he says he missed out on his youth and it's my fault. I still love him, but his love for me has turned to hate.

Please, Abby, keep telling young girls to finish high school and let the guys grow up before they start nagging for marriage. I am 16 years old, pregnant, and in six months I'll be a divorcee. Sign this...

MADE A MISTAKE

DEAR ABBY: Exactly how should a minister's wife dress in this day and age? I get so much criticism I hate to go out of the house.

Is there anything wrong with a sheath dress, which is neither too short nor too tight, but is sleeveless? And shouldn't a minister's wife be able to wear colors? (People would like to see me in black all the time, I'm told.) And isn't it permissible for a minister's wife to wear pale pink lipstick and matching nail polish on occasion?

And when all the other women in the congregation wear nylons and heels, what is a minister's wife supposed to wear—high button shoes and lisle stockings?

I wear jeans or shorts when I garden and a swim suit when I swim, just like any other woman. Your published answer would be very much appreciated by me as well as other ministers' wives, I'm sure. Thank you.

SICK OF CRITICS
DEAR SICK: Your ideas of what to wear and when to wear it sound natural and reasonable to me. Be yourself and ignore the critics' cat calls. That should be acceptable in the living church of today.

for today's woman, the highly professional field of engineering and science is now wide open to competent young women, according to Engineer Marjorie J. Easterbrook who planned the conference. Assisting her was Maria T. Mergentime (Mrs. Max), a chemical engineer, and Priscilla Jackson (Mrs. W. N.), Director of the Continuum Center and Director of Conferences at Oakland University.

The forum is open to the public without charge and is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. For reservations or further information contact the Society of Women Engineers, Engineering Society of Detroit, 100 Farnsworth Avenue, Detroit, 48202, or mail your reservation request to Miss Easterbrook at 5091 Chatsworth, Detroit, 48224.

Reservations should be made on or before March 9 if possible.

SUSAN EVE HYMAN

July vows are planned by Susan Eve Hyman of Middle Trail, daughter of the Arthur Hyman, Maysville, Ky. and Jack Scott Couzens II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack S. Couzens, Orchard Lake. She is an alumna of Centre College of Kentucky. Her fiancé attends Wayne State University Law School.

Mark Anniversary at Luncheon Today

A luncheon today in the Oriental Room at Devon Gables marked the 22nd anniversary of the founding of Xi chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma International Society.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hsu, born in China and educated for a career in dentistry, spoke on "The Nurture of Creativity Across the Seas" a subject of principal concern to the international DKG Society for more than two years.

Her comparison of the extent of creativity in America, also in China and Formosa prompted a lively question-and-answer period.

Before coming to Pontiac with her husband, Dr. John Hsu, the speaker practiced dentistry in Formosa and is studying at Wayne State University to become a teacher.

Guests at the birthday observance included mother chapters Kappa and Lambda, also daughter chapters, Alpha Beta and Alpha Gamma. Mrs. Lawrence Voelker handled luncheon arrangements. Hostesses were Mrs. Joseph Kuras, Mrs. Max Selle, Mrs. Glenn Husted, Mrs. Elmer Huntley and Mrs. Peter Soring. Music was planned by Mrs. George Pulnam who led group singing.

Zeta Chapter Plans to Attend

Zeta chapter members of Alpha Delta Kappa sorority discussed plans for the state luncheon, April 22, in Kalamazoo, at a meeting Thursday in the Somerset Club-house, Troy.

Proceeds from a presentation by Bee Line Fashions went to the chapter's scholarship fund.

Hostesses were Mrs. Mildred Berthelson and Mrs. Sam Hale.

Peter W. Allen of Sydney, Australia, and his bride, the former Liza Minnelli, are all smiles in a car en route to the reception following their marriage yesterday in New York City. The bride is the daughter of entertainer Judy Garland and Vincente Minnelli.

Liza Minnelli Says Vows in New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Liza Minnelli, the actress daughter of Judy Garland, honeymooned today at an undisclosed spot with her husband Peter Woolnough Allen, an Australian actor.

They were married Friday at a double ring ceremony attended by two years.

The ceremony took place in the Park Avenue apartment of friends of the couple. Miss Minnelli, 20, and Allen, 23, had been engaged for two years. The bride wore a long white wool skirt and a white lace blouse. The couple will live in New York.

Miss Garland was accompanied by her two children Lorna, 14 and Joseph, 11, from her marriage to Sid Luft. Joseph caught the bride's bouquet.

Also attending was Miss Minnelli's father, film director Vincente Minnelli, who designed the lace blouse the bride wore.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Not long ago I had a letter which said, "I remember reading that you said women should think thin. I have been wondering about this. Do you really mean that if women think they are thin, they will get thin?"

No, I didn't mean that, as you understood it. You cannot just imagine or dream that you are thin and become slim. You must count calories. However, I believe there is a lot to be said for thinking thin, as I meant it.

Once one of the newspapers which carry my column called me by long distance to interview me about what a quite famous woman had said, and what I thought about it. This celebrity had said that she had lost 30 pounds just by cutting salt out of her diet.

She had been thinking thin. Thinking thin means that you are diet conscious, that you have a goal in mind, that you are seeing yourself as you could be. I am sure the woman in question was sincere, but I think that leaving salt out of food was only one thing she had done.

Without realizing it she had probably been taking much smaller helpings than usual, and cutting way down or out on in between meal snacks. When you think thin, you are not so tempted to overeat. Then, too, let's face it. Food is not nearly so appetizing without salt. It doesn't taste nearly so good.

When you think thin you are much more likely to straighten your spine and pull your tummy in to slim your waistline. I feel sure that salt restriction was only one factor in the loss of weight. It is true that salt encourages water retention in the tissues. Any loss of this kind is not loss of fat but of water and will be gained back easily.

There is also such a thing as thinking young instead of old and thinking attractive instead of unattractive. This can have a tremendous impact on our lives. Such thinking has a great influence on our personality, our attitude toward others, our posture and the way we walk, our interests and activities, in fact on our entire life.

Many women who are in the prime of life think old. What a shame! I believe that this outlook can actually speed the aging process, and it certainly takes the fun out of life.

How old are you? You are only as old as your glands, organs, muscles, bloodstream, outlook, and enthusiasm are. The number of years you have lived is an inaccurate gauge.

In order to keep that youthful look you must keep in shape. To keep in shape you must exercise and why not try my "Isometric Exercises for Women"? To obtain your isometric exercises send 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Sturdy Footgear for Pant Suits

Be sure your footgear is in high gear when you're wearing a pant suit. The new booties and men's old-time-looking spectator shoes with laces, buckles and patent trim give your sport suit the sturdy look it needs.

To keep the look a little feminine, choose a pair with a little bit of a heel.

Output per man-hour in the private sector of the U.S. economy has risen 19 per cent since 1961.

Mrs. Brush is Chosen for Leader

Mrs. Clarence Brush was chosen to head the Wayside Cleaners Society as more than 50 members gathered Friday, in Fellowship Hall, First Baptist Church.

Serving as vice presidents will be Mrs. W. S. Freeman and Mrs. Nellie Monroe, with Mrs. Jack Scott and Inez Slater, secretaries. Mrs. Lewis Peters and Mrs. Tom Racine are treasurers.

Others elected were Mrs. William Carr, chorister; Mrs. Alta Koch and Mrs. W. E. Campbell, pianists. Mrs. Albert Barnett and Mrs. Alan Caroline will handle publicity.

The Rev. Robert Winne, pastor of the Waterford Community Church, addressed the group following the playing of bells by Mrs. Leone Reed. Mrs. Tom Reagan led the hymn singing.

A St. Patrick's Day motif chosen for the annual spring luncheon planned by Mrs. E. A. Stapleton and Mrs. Jack Lilleyman.

Guests included Mrs. Warren Mues, Mrs. Heston Moravec and Mrs. Bessie Rath.

You've loved the pantsuit right down to your toes. Now the newest excitement is the short (above the knees, of course) pantsuit. Find it in wonderful vivid, alive colors.

If you're lucky you may even find one with two pairs of pants, (some manufacturers are making them this way) with a contrasting jacket.

A summer wedding is being planned by Catharine Ann Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webster S. Francis of Orchard Lake Road, West Bloomfield Township, and Michael R. Calcaterra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Calcaterra of Grosse Pointe. They are sophomores at Michigan State University.

The Donald Carrolls of LaFay Drive, West Bloomfield Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joy Beth, to Airman 3 C. Rodney D. Huntley, son of Mrs. Charles Bonham of Harrison. He is stationed at March AFB, Riverside, Calif.

Cleans Grater

After grating soft cheese, rub a crust of hard bread over the grater to remove the cheese that still clings. This not only saves cheese but it also helps to clean the grater, making it much easier and quicker to wash.

Your Neighborhood Pharmacist

IN ONLY 17 YEARS . . .
It's a fact: Seven out of every 10 prescriptions today are for drugs that were not even known in 1950—only 17 years ago. How come? Research is the answer. What of the future? The pharmaceutical industry this year will invest over $350 million on more research. That's nine times as much as was invested in 1950.

And 98% of drug industry research is industry-financed—only 2% is government-financed.

Today's Natural Look Inspired by Fashion

Every woman wants the natural look to complement today's zany, pop art fashions as well as the most elegant designer creations.

And while cosmetics can contribute to achieving the natural look, its true basis lies in a naturally beautiful complexion. Your complexion should be clear and it should have a natural, healthy glow.

For a clear, flawless complexion, your skin must be scrupulously clean. The tiny facial pores must be free of imbedded dirt, city grime, flecks of old makeup, excess oils and other matter that clogs pores and causes blemishes.

To be glowingly radiant, your skin must be adequately nourished. This can only be done by increasing the circulation and bringing the blood supply to the facial tissues.

A new facial sauna, world's first beauty appliance, is a revolutionary approach to skin care offering the three keys to a perfect complexion—cleanness, nourishment and circulation.

The facial sauna is based on the legendary Sauna bath whose benefits have long been enjoyed by the Finns and Scandinavians, people renowned for their attractive complexions.

The gold, crystal and ivory colored sauna appliance is designed for dressing table use; however, it is so lightweight it may be used anywhere or taken on trips. On being plugged into an electrical outlet and with the addition of a few ounces of tap water, it produces billows of warm, gentle mist.

Nation's Grain Warehouses Losing Bulge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the nation's grain warehouses — bulging in recent years with surplus wheat and other grains that depressed farm incomes and cost taxpayers heavily for storage fees — are empty now.

Increasing foreign demands gave the United States a chance to siphon off its once enormous grain surplus.

But the government still is keeping enough surplus grain on hand to meet the possible calamity of drought or other natural phenomena that could drive production of grains below American needs.

The reduction of grain surpluses, along with government crop production controls, hasn't kept the United States from maintaining its position as the world's No. 1 grain exporter.

PRODUCE MORE

That's because the nation still produces far more than it normally needs to meet domestic needs. The overproduction of crop is harvested, these stocks are expected to have fallen to 400 million bushels. This is slightly less than the amount some farm officials say is needed as a safe reserve.

The grain drain started in 1961 with an increase in world demand for wheat. Many countries, including the Soviet Union and needy underdeveloped nations, turned to this country for wheat. As a result, exports which had been averaging less than half a billion bushels annually jumped to 856 million in 1963 and to a record 967 million last year.

EXPORT DROP

Present indications are that exports of wheat this year may dip to around 745 million bushels. This still would be far above the 1959-63 average of 678 million and would top Canada, the world's No. 2 wheat exporter, by close to 150 million bushels. The prospective reduction in exports in part reflects President Johnson's goal of cutting famine relief shipments to India from last year's 8 million tons — nearly 300 million bushels — to 6.6 million tons this year. The President seeks to put more pressure on India to increase its own food productivity and to encourage other nations to help meet India's needs.

Factory workers in South Korea earn an average of $21.15 a month a survey by the Bank of Korea discloses.

TALL PROBLEM — Richard Mrozinski (with ball) of Orchard Lake St. Mary encounters a couple of tall defensive problems in Country Day's 63 Larry Bajor (left) and 6-9 center Dave Swift (54) as he maneuvers for a basket in the first half of their district tournament game at Pontiac Northern last night. No. 42 is OLSM's Michael Kowalski and No. 44 is Jack Zwemer. Country Day won, 54-45, to take the Class C district title and earn a berth in the regionals next week at Grand Blanc.

Country Day Takes District Cage Title

Yellow Jackets Post 54-45 Triumph

By FLETCHER SPEARS
Potent Country Day, held in check by a surprising Orchard Lake St. Mary squad through three periods, broke away in the fourth period last night for a 54-45 victory that gave the school the Class C district tournament title at Pontiac Northern.

The triumph raised the Country Day record to 16-2 for the season and gave the squad a berth in the regional next week in Grand Blanc.

It was the first district title for the Yellow Jackets — the first one they could keep — since the early 1950s.

Two years ago, coach John Hannett and the Jackets took the district crown and were ready for the regional when it was discovered that one of the Country Day players was ineligible.

"We had to give the trophy back," said Hannett as he recalled the incident. St. Michael replaced the Jackets in the regional.

CAN KEEP IT

"But this one (holding the 1967 trophy) we'll keep," he added.

Coach Rev. John Rakoczy and the Eagles dropped an 85-51 decision to the Country Day squad during the regular season and they were determined to slow the Jackets offense last night.

They did. With a deliberate attack, they trailed 14-13 after one quarter and were behind 32-28 at halftime. The pace slowed rapidly in the third and the Jackets managed only eight points and OLSM seven to run the score to 40-35.

But midway in the fourth, the Eagles committed several costly errors and Country Day took advantage of the miscues to open up a 46-39 lead with 2:36 left.

Country Day then moved into a stall and the Eagles were forced to foul in their efforts to get the ball. The Jackets final eight points came at the free throw line.

The winners were in trouble early when 6-9 center Dave Swift collected three personal fouls, but Larry Bajor, Tim Baughman, Steve Tarczy, Mike Ross and Paul Miller took up the slack. Swift returned in the second half and wound up with 12 points and helped CD to a 34-23 edge in rebounding.

Detroit Northwestern, L'Anse Grab District Cage Crowns

By the Associated Press
Detroit Northwestern and L'Anse won their district championships Friday night while South Haven and Ewen, two more favored teams, try for theirs tonight as the Michigan high school basketball tournament winds up district play.

Detroit Northwestern, top-rated team in Class A, beat Detroit Central 78-66. South Haven, top-ranked in Class B, met Paw Paw tonight. The defending Class C champion, top-ranked L'Anse, crushed Crystal Falls 96-73. Ewen, top-ranked in Class D, goes against Ironwood St. Ambrose tonight.

In another top Class A game, Muskegon Heights trounced Muskegon Catholic 87-65 to win a district championship.

In Class B, Marysville meets Marine City tonight while Albion takes on Battle Creek Pennfield. Defending Champion Grand Rapids East Christian trimmed Lowell 73-59.

Leslie plays Williamson tonight in Class C. Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart beat Coleman 80-50 Friday and then Shepherd tonight for the district crown.

MSU Sharing Favorite's Role in Track Meet

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — The express train speed of Michigan State's Gene Washington and Wisconsin's Aquine Jackson has hurried the Spartans and Badgers into covfite role to capture the 50th Big Ten track championship today.

Washington, an All-America football player, is the conference record-holder in the 70-yard high hurdles. He took both events in record-time today in Friday night's preliminaries and nearly overshadowed Wisconsin's slim lead.

Washington, who will lead state's contingent of eight qualifiers — most in the field — into today's finals, won the 70-yard high hurdles in 8.3 seconds tying the Big Ten record he set in 1936. His clocking of 7.7 seconds in the 70-yard low hurdles tied the mark he set in 1965.

Jackson, a junior who captured best times in the 60-yard and 300-yard prelims, will head a list of seven badgers into the finals. Michigan had six.

Flint St. Matthew goes against Flint St. Mary tonight in Class D. The defending D champ, Covert, is out of the tournament. Lamont King scored 26 points and John Mayberry 18 as Detroit Northwestern kept its record undefeated.

UPS RECORD
Muskegon Heights moved to an 18-1 record as Ralph Houston scored 33 points against Muskegon Catholic.

Ralph Simpson hit for 32 points and Spencer Haywood got 30 as Detroit Pershing ran over Detroit Kettering 93-60 for an A district championship. Dan Shimbarger got 34 points in leading Holland to a 97-75 rout of St. Joseph.

Hamtramck squeaked by Highland Park 66-64 for a Class A district crown. The Parkers tied the game with six seconds left, but Dennis Smock hit a jump shot to win it for Hamtramck. Smock got 18 points, James Smith 23 and Ike Blesitt 19 for Hamtramck.

LEADS ATTACK

In Class B, Bill Rykes led Grand Rapids East Christian past Lowell with 20 points. Steve Veneklassen and Ron Flinter scored 15 each.

Ron Alcorn of Bay City John Glenn turned in one of the outstanding individual performances of the tournament so far, scoring 40 points as Glenwood Almond Bullock Creek 74-64. Alcorn hit on 16 field goals and eight of nine free throws.

Elkton-Pigeon-Bayport, paced by Dennis Thiel's 27 points, downed Vassar 64-55. Caro crushed Bad Axe 85-43 and meets Elkton-Pigeon-Bayport tonight for the district crown.

Bill Parkerson scored 25 points for Ishpeming in a close defeat of Negaunee, 65-61. Saline had five men in double figures and crushed Pinckney 112-58 in Class B. Willow Run dumped Dexter 84-57 and meets Saline tonight.

L'Anse, the defending C titlist and a strong favorite to repeat, moved to a 19-0 record by beating Crystal Falls. Jerry Gerard led the winners with 31 points. Wakefield, another Upper Peninsula threat in Class C, whipped Ontonagon 74-35. Al Inkala scored 25 points for Wakefield.

School wrestling championships on the Ann Arbor High School mats.

The two Inter-Lakes League powers were among the top five teams based on Friday's first insignificant team point totals. About the only obvious fact as 48 boys entered this afternoon's 1 p.m. semifinals was that defending champion Battle Creek Central would not repeat.

Trenton leads the standings currently with 12 points. Lansing Everett has 12, host Ann Arbor and PNH 9 each. Walled Lake 7 and five others are tied with 6 points. These are based on advancement points and bonus points for pins.

Everett has the most wrestlers in the semifinals, 4, while Northern, Trenton, Port Huron, Battle Creek Lakeview and Arbor have three each.

Walled Lake has two semi-finalists, but like Northern also has four other grapplers awaiting possible chances to compete

Powerful Groves Whips Brother Rice

Tigers Rank Freehan No. 1

Battle Looms for Catching Job

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
LAKELAND, Fla. — With the early decision by manager Mayo Smith to keep three catchers on the roster this year, a red-hot battle is being waged for the two available jobs after conceding Bill Freehan the No. 1 position.

Holder Orlando McFarlane, Arlo Brunberg and Chris Cannizzaro are the three contenders.

First thoughts would have McFarlane and Brunberg following Freehan. However manager Smith and catching coach Hal Naragon are making it obvious they want a long hard look at Cannizzaro, and that McFarlane would be the expendable one.

Brunberg has been hitting the ball well in camp and looks like a sure bet to stay. He is 26 years old and spent most of 1966 at Syracuse and Montgomery.

He played in two games for the Tigers getting one double in three trips to the plate.

GOOD POTENTIAL

"He's got good wrist action and the potential of getting some long base hits," commented Wally Moses near the batting cage in issuing Brunberg some batting tips.

Cannizzaro is 29 years old, has been in organized ball since 1956 and has had four separate flings with St. Louis and the New York Mets in the National League.

"There's no doubt he's a major league material, but it seems he gets to the doorway but just hasn't been able to make it inside," commented Ed Katalinics, one of the top men in the Tiger farm operation.

Cannizzaro came to the Tigers with a familiar name to Michigan fans, John Herrnstein, former University of Michigan football and baseball star.

They were obtained in a trade with the Atlanta Braves for Julio Navarro and Ed Rakow.

AT TOLEDO

Herrnstein is currently on the Toledo roster as is Cannizzaro, but the ex-Wolverine is not scheduled to arrive in camp until March 7 and there is a possibility that he may be used for training.

Herrnstein captained the U. of M. football team in 1958 and started as a catcher with Des Moines in 1959. He later reached the Philadelphia Phillies' roster as first baseman and outfielder and after five years with the Phils, a short stay with the Cubs and Atlanta Braves, he was sent to Richmond of the International League when obtained by the Tigers.

His best hitting year was a .324 with the Phils in 125 games in 1964.

Cannizzaro had his best year in the majors in 1964 when he hit .311 with the Mets, but the following season, in 114 games he dropped to .138.

He was at Richmond in the latter part of 1966 when he came to the Detroit system with Herrnstein.

NO EXPLANATION

"I can't explain my sudden drop. It just seemed nothing would fall into place," Cannizzaro said.

Cannizzaro recalled that in 1964 when he hit .311, his roommate was former Tiger pitcher star Frank Lary.

"That's the explanation then," joked Norm Cash, "when I had 'Taters' (Lary) as my roommate, I hit .361 and won the batting crown and Frank won 23 games."

"There was something about that Lary that made a winner out of you," Cash then explained.

At any rate, the coaches consider Cannizzaro a good receiver and may be willing to risk his negating another good year as he did in 1964.

McFarlane was former manager Chuck Dressen's personal choice as backup catcher, but he has been prone to injury. He was on the disabled list in mid-season last year.

MUSCLE PULL

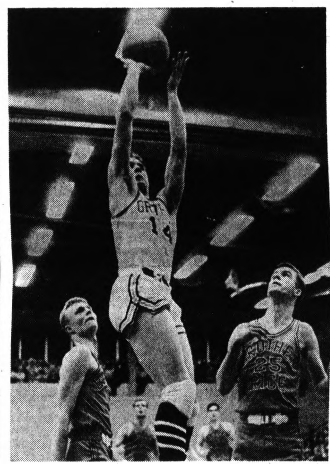

Yesterday he was absent from drills because of muscle pull in the back which trainer Bill Behm said was not serious but required some rest.

In camp yesterday, Brunberg laced a couple balls over the right field wall, as did Jim Northrup.

Birmingham resident Larry Huffman was on the mound for the first time against the major league players and had a tough time of it.

He couldn't find the plate at the start and had Cannizzaro somewhat upset.

The pitchers throw from behind a four-foot high screen and Huffman, a former Groves High School athlete explained, "It was the first time I ever pitched from behind the screen. I was a little nervous and it bothered me somewhat."

Alcindor Scores 20

UCLA Ups Streak to 24

By the Associated Press
The top-ranked, unbeaten UCLA Bruins won their 24th straight, but it was the Late Explorers who grabbed the headlines in college basketball Friday night.

LaSalle, whose coach, Joe Heyer, was hung in effigy earlier in the week by some of the student body, stunned the St. Joseph's Hawks 73-70 in the first round of the Middle Atlantic Conference championship tournament in Philadelphia. UCLA wallowed Stanford on the road 75-47.

POOR MARK

LaSalle, beaten only last Sunday by the Hawks 96-83, got into the MAC playoffs because its poor 13-1 record still was better than some of the other MAC clubs.

Led by Larry Cannon, who scored 22 points, the Explorers went on a 19-3 spurt in the second half that erased an 11-point deficit and gave them the lead at 68-64. The Hawks rallied to within 71-70, but a long pass from Joe Markmann to Chuck Storm sewed it up for LaSalle when Storm scored.

Low Alcindor, the Player of the Year, helped celebrate the naming of his coach, Johnny Wooden, as Coach of the Year by The Associated Press, with 20 points on seven field goals in 11 shots and six of nine free throws.

Falcons' Love, Rafferty Pace Easy Victory

Warriors Outclassed in District Finale; Winners Now 18-0

By JERE CRAIG
Birmingham Groves' basketball machine has the favorite's role for next week's Class A regional tournament at Seaboard High School.

The Falcons' first five left no doubt to their ranking as the county's best game unit and at least the third best in the state by thumping Birmingham Brother Rice, 64-45, last night for the district championship at Seaboard.

Groves (18-0) lacks the quickness of Pontiac Central (or Ferndale district titlist Hamtramck), the depth of Kettering, the steady one-two punch of Rochester or a brilliant player like Clarkston's Dan Funch.

But its starting quint combines all the attributes of a championship game team. Foremost is 6-4 center Craig Love, probably the closest facsimile to a prep Bill Russell ever produced in the county.

Russell is the defensive whiz who led San Francisco University to two NCAA titles, then made the Boston Celtics kings of pro basketball.

NO BETTER

He couldn't have outdone Love Friday night at Seaboard. The slender pivotman slipped down at least a half dozen Brother Rice shots, controlled the defensive backboard at will and scored 10 points when they were needed.

He so unnerved Brother Rice's shooters that 6-5 Dan Parks and 6-6 Lee Hart managed one field goal apiece, and weren't generally effective around the boards.

The Warriors tallied only 17 field goals and 13 of them were from well outside.

With the tall Love working off a high post on offense, 6-4 teammate Mike Rafferty used his shooting and rebounding talent to embarrass the Warriors several times by following up missed baskets and putting the ball in the hoop.

When the Groves' front line slowed its scoring pace, guards Roy Iceberg and Gary Frallick, a pair of quick 6-0 seniors, took up the scoring slack.

IMPROVEMENT

Early in the season, the backliners' ball handling was a weak factor in the Falcons' attack, but that has improved noticeably.

Brother Rice had an early lead of 12-7 as Mel Boomer and Roy Iceberg combined for five of seven field goals tries and 16 of his 16 points in the opening quarter.

But Rafferty got the winners' offense rolling in the next period and with 6 1/2 minutes remaining in the first half, Groves took the lead for good before a crowd of 3,300.

The advantage was only 25-23 at the half, but Rafferty continued living up to his All-Country credentials in the third period and the margin was nine points when Brother Rice managed its second field goal midway through the quarter.

Rafferty departed on fouls with 5 1/2 minutes left in the game, having scored a game high 18 points. His absence wasn't missed.

Love scored the first bucket after the Falcons' leader departed, pushing the edge back up to 31 points at 49:38; and then, Iceberg took over with some sharp free throw shooting to pad the lead.

Ralph Foytack Is Following Uncle's Steps

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
LAKELAND, Fla. — There's another Foytack somewhere in the Detroit Tigers' future. For seven years up until 1961, Paul Foytack was a regular member of the Tigers' pitching staff.

His nephew, Ralph Foytack, used to dream of someday following him into the majors.

"I used to follow Paul's career in the majors," said Ralph, "and my dad used to help me along during my high school days."

Standing 6-2½ and 190 pounds, Ralph received contract offers from the Houston Astros and the Pittsburgh Pirates along with the Tigers.

"My dad urged me to pick the Tigers and naturally since a member of the family was once in the organization it sort of convinced me," he said.

CHANGE UP
Don Lund, director of Tiger farm operations, said Ralph "was a good prospect, with a good fast ball and change up pitch. Naturally, he's young and has a lot to learn but we think he'll learn a lot down here."

Uncle Paul Foytack, who pitched for the Los Angeles Angels after leaving Detroit prior to the 1962 season, also spent a year in the Japanese baseball league.

Tim Wood Finishes 9th at World's Skating Meet

Special to The Press
VIENNA, Austria — Bloomfield Hills teen-ager Tim Wood Friday completed his skating "comeback" by reaching the highest point of his eight-year competitive career.

The slender 18-year-old artist finished ninth in the men's competition at the World's Figure Skating Championships.

Emmerich Daner of Austria

men's title by overtaking countryman Wolfgang Schwarz in Friday's free skating.

Schwarz held a slight lead after the compulsory figures. Daner actually finished with fewer points than Schwarz, but gained the title by virtue of more first place votes from the judges.

Detroit's Gary Visconti, a Detroit Skating Club teammate of Wood's, placed third overall. Canada's Donald Knight was fourth and Scott Allen of New Jersey fifth.

CLIMBS
Wood, who finished 13th in the 1965 World's event, then failed to make the United States team last winter, climbed from tenth to ninth in the over-all standings after his free skating effort yesterday.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wood, 4533 Mayfield Court, was only two points shy of West Germany's Peter Krack who was eighth. Wood attends John Carroll University in Cleveland.

This winter he has captured third place in the U.S. men's championships, and finished fifth in the North American rival North Farmington overcame a 46-23 intermission gap and take the lead in the third quarter as Mark Falter led the comeback.

The lead see-sawed in the final period, and George Grimaldi finally settled the issue with his only two points with 30 seconds left to play. Mike Ames hit eight of 18 points in the last quarter for the winning Falcons.

Falter finished with 27, including 21 in the final half. Holly ran into foul trouble at Howell, and Fenton's Tigers opened a comfortable lead after Illinois Delays Punishment

Chiefs, WKHS in Showdown

Waterford Kettering and Pontiac Central battle at Clarkston tonight for one of the three remaining berths in next week's Birmingham Seaholm Class A regional basketball tournament.

Troy visits Rochester and Royal Oak Dondoro goes to Kimball in the other two district championship contests.

Friday night, Birmingham Groves beat Brother Rice, 64-45, and Hamtramck edged Highland Park, 66-64, to clinch two of the regional berths at Seaholm.

Farmington nipped North Farmington, 67-63, to take the Class A district crown at Farmington and qualify for the Livonia Franklin regional. The other three teams will be determined tonight at Southfield, Dearborn and Franklin.

In Class B district semifinal play at Howell, defending champion Holly was ousted by Fenton, 70-51, and plays Linden (a 75-64 victory over Fowlerville) in tonight's title fight.

Unbeaten and highly ranked Kettering rates a slim favorite's role over Pontiac Central although the Chiefs eliminated WKHS's once-beaten quintet in last year's district meeting.

INCONSISTENT

The youthful PCH cagers have compiled a 13-4 mark to date and have the speed, shooting and jumping ability to upset almost any team on a good night. But those have been scattered this season and this inconsistency could prove their downfall against the rugged, well-balanced Captains.

Rochester and Kimball are solid favorites for the other two regional berths.

At Ferndale last night, Hamtramck led most of the way until Highland Park tied the score at 64 with 17 seconds to play. Dennis McKim then canned a clutch 20-foot basket with six seconds remaining to decide the outcome for the Cosmos (15-3).

EARLY LEAD
Farmington built a big lead in the first half, then saw fifth in the North American rival North Farmington overcome a 46-23 intermission gap and take the lead in the third quarter as Mark Falter led the comeback.

The lead see-sawed in the final period, and George Grimaldi finally settled the issue with his only two points with 30 seconds left to play. Mike Ames hit eight of 18 points in the last quarter for the winning Falcons.

Pistons Racked by Wilt, 76ers

Philadelphia Breezes to 129-103 Triumph

BOSTON (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain and his fellow Philadelphiaans proved too much for Detroit to handle again Friday night as the 76ers racked up their eighth straight triumph over the Pistons, 129-103.

In the nightcap of the National Basketball Association doubleheader at Boston, the Celtics whipped Cincinnati 111-104. Los Angeles defeated New York 138-132 in the only other NBA action.

Hal Greer poured in 23 for the 76ers and Chamberlain added 19. Jim Tresvant led Detroit with 19 and Dave Bing contributed 13.

Boston rallied from a 62-54 halftime deficit, then broke a 100-100 tie in the closing minutes in winning its seventh straight. Larry Siegfried paced the Celts with 28 and Oscar Robertson piled up 26 for the Royals.

Jerry West poured in 34 points for Los Angeles and Elgin Baylor had 29 as the Lakers defeated New York.

Boxing Show Set April 12 at PCH Gym

An all-star boxing show featuring 1967 Michigan Golden Gloves champions is slated for April 12 at 8:30 p.m. at Pontiac Central High School.

Harold Duggan, head supervisor of child care facilities at Oakland County Children's Center, is matchmaker for the show, which has the sanction of the Michigan Amateur Athletic Union.

Sponsoring the show are members of various men's clubs of Pontiac St. Michael Church.

Tickets, $2, $1.50 and $1, go on sale Tuesday at Fortino's Steakhouse on Wide Track Drive and Don Frayer's Furniture & Appliance on West Huron.

Duggan, a former pro boxer who organized a similar show in Pontiac last year, said the show would include fighters from Lansing, Flint, Grand Rapids, Saginaw and Detroit.

Golfers Share Lead at 136 in Doral Open

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The galleries were waiting for the giants to challenge today as the $100,000 Doral Open golf tournament moved into the third round with young Homero Blancas and Tommy Aaron still in charge.

Blancas, a 28-year-old Latin with a record of dramatic ups and downs and a fun-loving approach to the game, had to shoot only a par 71 Friday, and Aaron needed only a 70 to keep them out in front of the pack with 136s, six under par.

Four Are Held on Gun Charge

Preliminary court examinations for four Detroiters charged with carrying concealed weapons are scheduled for Wednesday in Walled Lake Municipal Court.

Two loaded guns were found in their car when Walled Lake police stopped them for speeding about 2:30 a.m. yesterday.

The four pleaded innocent at their arraignment yesterday afternoon before Walled Lake Municipal Judge Eugene Schneck.

They were remanded to the Oakland County Jail after failing to meet bond of $3,500 each.

Held are Sammy W. Bateman, 20; William A. Krenko, 17; Dennis F. Sarnowsky, 21; and William F. Mosher, 23.

Cancer Drug Work Slated; Stock Probed

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Work on the Rand cancer vaccine will continue at the Rand Development Corp. laboratories in Cleveland and perhaps at two foreign locations, H. James Rand, president, said yesterday.

As Rand began mapping plans for production of the vaccine in Germany and on a Caribbean island, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) announced it has launched a full investigation into alleged stock manipulations by Rand.

U.S. Attorney Merle M. McCurdy said the investigation stems from the hearing that brought a permanent injunction against manufacture and distribution of the vaccine and use of the drug on humans.

During the hearing, the government charged Rand sold or transferred 90 per cent of his stock, conservatively valued at $400,000.

McCurdy charged Rand planted stories to get the stock to jump and said Rand gave false information to a New York stock broker in order to obtain a private $1-million stock sale.

The SEC suspended trading in Rand Corp. stock six weeks ago and launched an investigation into the publicity.

The new investigation, stemming from the hearing, will

Waterford Community Church Builds New Addition

WATERFORD COMMUNITY CHURCH—The congregation of Waterford Community Church will dedicate the new Christian education building at 3 p.m. tomorrow. The church first known as the First Baptist Church and Society of Waterford, was then located on Andersonville Road just a block from Dixie Highway. The church was organized in 1869 when two men, Grow and Gene Fifield, went about the community getting pledges to erect a house of worship. The new addition designed by Eldon Eroh and constructed by Roy Hanson will offer space for a Sunday School of 1,200.

The congregation of Waterford Community Church, Airport and Olympic Parkway, organized more than 98 years ago, will dedicate the new Christian Education Building at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Dr. David Allen of Calvary Baptist Church, Hazel Park, will bring the dedicatory message.

The new addition designed by Eldon Eroh and constructed by Roy Hanson will, with the present building, offer space for a Sunday School of 1,200 persons.

Presently the congregation is in the midst of a Sunday School contest with a goal of 1,000 by Easter.

ORGANIZED IN 1869

The church one of the oldest in Waterford Township, dates back to 1869 when, according to the record, two men, Grow and Gene Fifield, went around the community getting pledges to erect a house of worship.

The church built on Andersonville Road near Dixie Highway

was known as the First Baptist Church and Society of Waterford.

In 1935 the name of the church was changed to the Waterford Community Church, and in 1940 the church became a member of the Independent Fundamental Churches of America.

Elizabeth Jencks was called in 1943 to be the children's worker and to direct Child Evangelism work in the Oakland County area, a position which she still holds.

In 1957 the present pastor, the

Rev. Robert D. Winne, came to the church.

Two years later the congregation voted to sell the old building and to purchase property on Airport at Olympic Parkway.

In 1961 a $250,000 auditorium seating 500 was dedicated, and since that time the congregation has grown immensely, Pastor Winne said.

In connection with the dedication of the new addition, a special Christian Workers' Conference with Dr. Allen will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings beginning at 7:30.

The conference is open to everyone. The nursery will be available to parents with small children.

'Encounter,' Film Slated for Bethany

"Boy Meets Girl" sounds a little familiar but the story takes a different and dramatic turn in the film entitled "Encounter."

It relates the results of an encounter between a boy from Switzerland and a girl from Montana as they make some transforming discoveries at the New York World's Fair.

The film will be the highlight of the Family Night program at Bethany Baptist Church Wednesday evening.

Parents and children of all ages will gather at the church for a planned buffet dinner at 6:30 p.m. Singing of hymns and familiar songs will follow.

Harold Mourning of Mason will show the film.

Children are provided with a story hour and there's a nursery for little tots.

Mrs. Doris Thornton will give devotions and Jim Donaldson will lead the singing.

Neighbors and friends of the community are invited. The film produced by Worldwide Pictures will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Pastor Emil Kontz said.

Two series of Bible studies are being given at Bethany Church during the Lenten season.

At 11 a.m. each Sunday the theme is "Dialogue With Jesus." Each Wednesday evening at 7:30 the topic is "In the Steps of the Master" with a review of the important events leading to Holy Week and beyond.

News of Area Churches

MARIMONT

The Rev. Robert Richardson, Christian education coordinator at Five Points Community Church, will be guest speaker at all services of Marimont Baptist Church tomorrow.

Special music will be provided by Mrs. Wanda Smades in the morning worship hour. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Herne and the Rev. and Mrs. Richardson will furnish selections at the evening service.

Vicki Gavette was elected president of Junior High Fellowship.

Other officers include Blair Miller, vice president; Terrie Smades, secretary; Chris Frick, treasurer; and Susan Garant and Danny Matthews, group captains. The group will have a Bible baseball quiz at 6:30 p.m. Cheryl Clark will lead the Teens & Twenties Bible study at the same hour.

ELIZABETH LAKE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Mark Huntley, missionary to Chile, will bring the morning message to the congregation of the Elizabeth Lake Church of Christ tomorrow.

The March Youth Rally sponsored by the Highland Park Church of Christ will be held on March 16 at Hackett Field House in Highland Park.

The rally will feature the annual basketball game between the preachers and high school students.

Jim Lyons will represent the local church. Marshall Akers will play in place of James W. Lemmons, minister who is recovering from an automobile accident.

Organ Recital by Dr. Mason

Dedication Is Set at Beautiful Savior

The dedicatory recital of the new Casavant pipe organ of Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church, 5631 N. Adams, Bloomfield Township, will be at 7:45 p.m. Monday evening.

Dr. Marilyn Mason, head of the department of organ, University of Michigan School of Music, will present the recital. A reception will follow.

The Rev. Donald G. Zill, pastor, said the public is invited. The organ, designed by Dr. Mason and custom built by Casavant Freres of St. Hyacinthe, Que., contains 1,421 pipes and is free standing in the rear gallery of the church.

Dr. Mason will play compositions by Bach, Walther, Reger, Kindermann, Boyce and Searle-Wright.

Heard in recitals throughout North and South America as well as Europe, she received the doctor of sacred music degree in 1954 at Union Theological Seminary.

Dr. Mason was the first American woman to play in Westminster Abbey when she represented the United States at the International Congress of Organists in 1957.

inet will present a celebration of the folk Mass, "Rejoice," at 7 p.m. tomorrow in Christ Church Cranbrook.

A discussion will follow. The Marquis Club is composed of church young people.

BROWNSON GUILD

The Brownson Guild will observe a Day of Recollection on March 12 at the Convent of Sacred Heart, 1250 Kensington, Bloomfield Hills, with the Rev. Nicholas Maestri, the director.

The opening conference at 10:30 a.m. will include the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass at 11:45. Lunch will follow.

A conference and question and answer period is scheduled for 2 p.m. The day's program will close with meditation and benediction.

ASCENSION

Mrs. Philip Gentile of Birmingham, an official observer at the United Nations, will speak on "The United Nations and What It Is Really Like" at the 8 p.m. meeting of church women Tuesday at the Lutheran Church of the Ascension.

Mrs. Gentile serves with the fund for adult education of the Ford Foundation.

The women are presently making dresses for young girls in Africa.

Singspiration Set for Sunday

The youth group of Auburn Church will host the Youth for Christ Singspiration at 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Special guests will be missionary interns from local churches with Kenneth Orr of Waterford Community Church, evening soloist.

LEAVE IT TO ME—"I'll have it all cleaned up for Sunday," said Nelson Krick of Holy (right) as the Rev. Robert Winne, pastor of Waterford Community Church, appears to look over progress in the new Christian education building to be dedicated tomorrow. Pastor Winne is alarmed about how the building will look as he views paint cans, boards, pieces of tile, tools and plaster piled around in the new Fellowship Hall.

Presbyterians Approve Confession of Faith 1967

Since 1958 the Presbyterian Church has worked on a contemporary Confession of Faith, but to supplement them.

Guest Speaks at Services Tomorrow

The Rev. Peter Nieuwkoop, a director of Christian witness to the Jews, will speak at all services Sunday and on Monday evening in Calvary Baptist Church, Waterford Township.

Services tomorrow are Sunday School at 9:45 a.m.; morning worship at 11; Teen Tyme at 5:30 p.m. and worship at 7 p.m. The Monday meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Among Mr. Nieuwkoop's subjects are "The ABC's of Bible Prophecy," "The Claim for World Peace," and "Daniel's Startling Prophecy."

The Rev. Mel Johnson of Minneapolis, Minn., will speak Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30. A youth leader, the Rev. Mr. Johnson will answer questions concerning young peoples problems each night.

Pastor Speaks

The Rev. Malcolm K. Burton will preach on "Hearing and Doing" at the 10:30 morning worship in First Congregational Church tomorrow. The Pastor's Class will meet at the parsonage, 97 Mary Day at 3 p.m.

By 1966 a proposed New Confession was approved by the General Assembly and sent out to the 188 Presbyteries of the United States for approval or rejection.

At the meeting of Detroit Presbytery this week, the Confession of Faith was approved when delegates of 100 churches met in First Presbyterian Church, Pontiac.

According to the Rev. Galen E. Hershey, host pastor, the New Confession does not claim to be either final or adequate. It is, as a whole, a rather weak document so carefully worded that it can offend few and elate fewer.

"More important to Presbyterians of this area was the weakening of the supporters of the controversial 'West-Central Organization,'" he said.

"Though the church believes in an extensive social education and action, it does not believe that it is the duty of Presbyterian pastors to either defy or run the Armed Forces, schools, industries and governments," said Pastor Hershey.

"No confession of faith can justify undue interference with the established institutions of society when change can be brought about through peaceful methods."

PRESBYTERY VOTES—The Rev. Galen E. Hershey (left), minister of First Presbyterian Church, was host pastor when representatives of 100 churches of Detroit Presbytery met in Pontiac Tuesday. Discussing events connected with the acceptance of the Conference of Faith-1967 is Robert D. Will of 36 Mark, an elder of the church.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMAR

"The wise man controls his destiny..." — Aesop's fable tells the way.

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Good time to stamp out superstitious ideas, get directly to the point. If true to yourself others will be frank, truthful. You do succeed!

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Look for a change in your life. You are a versatile, spread listener. When aware of various positions, theories, you arrive at valid conclusion.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21): Key to be perceptive... see beneath surface values. Fine! Fine! Fine! Discreet! Discreet! Discreet! You are sincere! Those who hold money strings will loosen them.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22): If you emphasize beauty, you gain major credit. Fight those close to you. There is love close by. Seek and you discover.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Count on experience. Those with flowery statements, promises tend to lack reliability. Stick to familiar ground. Accents today on work, positive, basic accomplishments.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Now is time to take slow steps in new direction. Emphasize greater independence. Thought, action. Leave details to others. Plan for giving attention to hobby.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Purchase of gift for one close to you is advisable. Unlike your usual sense of good taste, if charming... you gain objective appreciation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Journey for a change. Do not get involved in complicated areas. Be sure you are not guided by conscience. Be thoughtful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): You create situation. Be sure you have solution. Don't get involved in complicated areas. Be sure you are not guided by conscience. Be thoughtful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Cycle of change. Do not get involved in complicated areas. Be sure you are not guided by conscience. Be thoughtful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Actively show in conversation with group. Do not rock boat. Be sure you are not guided by conscience. Be thoughtful.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Obtain information, and from specialists or "satellite" services. Go directly to source. Pay attention to facts, not rumors.

IF SUNSHINE IS YOUR BIRTHDAY... you have insight into sensitive situations. Others and events around you... would do well as writer or editor.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for CAPRICORN, AQUARIUS. Social word to SCORPIO: Concentrate on task at hand. Avoid scattering forces.

We finish our discussion of plays against ten spots with a standard safety play which has appeared in many bridge books and in every bridge column, including this one. It will be well-known to many readers, but we feel that there are enough people who don't know this play to justify repetition.

South is able to account for all the aces and kings by his use of Blackwood but settles for six in view of the possibility that his partner won't hold both the king and queen of spades.

North is tempted to bid seven anyway because he has solid diamonds. But North recalls that he has opened the bidding and given a jump raise, so North also settles for the small slam.

If South is alert, he makes the slam by the simple expedient of playing his ace of trumps at trick two. East shows out but this doesn't worry

De Gaulle Planning Final Voter Appeal Before the Election

PARIS, (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle goes on television and radio tonight for a final appeal to French voters to back his supporters in legislative elections starting Sunday.

Some opposition leaders have charged that de Gaulle's plan for a last-minute intervention is illegal, since the three-week campaign officially closed last midnight.

Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France said the president's decision to make an election-day plea showed that he was afraid of the outcome.

The 487 deputies of the new National Assembly will be elected in two rounds of voting Sunday and March 12.

MAJORITY
Candidates getting a majority vote will be immediately elected. In the last legislative elections in 1962, 96 deputies made it on the first round.

Former Georges Pompidou, Francois Mitterrand, defeated presidential candidate in 1965, and former Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, now closely allied with the Gaullists, are expected to win their seats on the first try.

In districts where no candidate gets a majority, a second vote will be held the next Sunday.

Candidates who get less than 10 per cent of the vote are automatically eliminated. Many others are expected to withdraw voluntarily, with requests to their followers to vote for another candidate of approximately the same political shading. On the second ballot, the high man wins.

BIG QUESTION
The Gaullists, linked under the banner of the Fifth Republic, held 266 seats for an absolute majority in the outgoing Assembly. The big question is whether they will be able to hold this majority. Sunday's balloting should indicate a trend.

The Gaullists are entered in 486 districts. Communists are putting up 478 candidates, the Federation of Democratic and Socialist Left 418 and the Democratic Center 351.

The leftist federation is headed by Mettarrand, who got 45 per cent of the vote in the second round of the 1965 presidential election against de Gaulle. Jean Lecanuet, another defeated presidential candidate, heads the Democratic Center but is not a candidate. He holds a Senate seat.

Preclection checks by professional polling organizations indicated the Gaullists will get about 37 per cent of the vote and 240-280 seats in the Assembly.

DETROIT PAIR
Disrupt Mass Second Time

DETROIT (UPI) — A father and daughter arrested once for interrupting a Roman Catholic Mass are in trouble again because they insist on shouting Latin responses during celebration of the Mass in English.

John Tamplin, 58, and his daughter, Margaret, 19, yesterday were charged with two counts of conspiracy—to disturb a religion service and to disturb the peace on a public street.

The charges are felonies and could carry penalties of up to five years in prison.

Tamplin and his daughter, members of the Catholic Traditional Movement which opposes the use of English in the Mass, had been arrested in January on a charge of disturbing a religious service.

The charge was dropped when they appeared in court, however.

Huge Aerial Map Mosaic on Display

TALUS, the Transportation and Land Use Study of the metropolitan region, now is utilizing the largest commercial aerial photograph map mosaic ever made.

Measuring 16 by 16 feet, the map includes the center portions of 801 aerial photographs that show 4,500 square miles of southeastern Michigan and bordering areas of Ohio and Ontario. It is on display at Cobo Hall.

The mosaic was ordered by TALUS to aid the agency in its goal of developing comprehensive transportation and land use plans.

These plans, which will be projected through 1990, will serve the counties of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw, St. Clair and Livingston.

The Abrams Aerial Survey Corp. of Lansing was contractor for the aerial photography which was completed last May.

Rights Group Flails Bigotry

Assistance Offered in Synagogue Probe

DETROIT (UPI) — The Michigan Civil Rights Commission said yesterday recent vandalism in a suburban Detroit synagogue was prompted by "anti-Semitism and racism in our society."

John F. Perkins and Damon Keith, co-chairmen of the commission, issued a statement deploring the destruction and fire damage at Beth Issac Synagogue in suburban Trenton.

They offered the commission's assistance to police in turning up the vandals.

"This outrageous act of destruction of a holy place must not be explained away as a unique act of a sick person," they said.

"Though the culprit may be ill and the act relatively rare, such individuals are encouraged by the anti-Semitism and racism in our society."

"THIN LINE"
"Only a thin line separates the 'gentle people or prejudice' from the violent bigots," the statement said.

Two groups, meanwhile, united to help the congregation rebuild its temple.

The Rev. Walter C. B. Saxman, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Trenton, met with other ministers in the suburb and the clergymen agreed to help replace the prayer books which were burned in the fire.

Robert C. Munson, a lawyer who lives near the synagogue, contacted other lawyers in the Detroit area and the men decided to start a fund-raising drive.

Actually, the contracting firm used one twin-engine Beechcraft which maintained a speed of 185 miles per hour and an altitude of 19,000 feet while photographing the area.

A great frontier adventure!

A Winning Subject, Four-Year-Old Barry Smiles From The Wing Back Chair In The Country Kitchen

Jewel of a House in Franklin

By JODY HEADLEE

Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
A jewel of a house in the reclaimed brick Dutch Colonial of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sherwood in Franklin.

Though new, towering trees create the feeling that the house, like the village, is turning back time to the peaceful settlements of the early 1800s.

"We designed our own home," said Mr. Sherwood proudly.

"After keeping a scrap book for six years," added his wife, cuddling four-month-old Brendan. The Sherwoods have five children, Shannon, 12, Bridgett, 10, Chiara, 7, Barry, 4, and the baby.

Heart of the home is the comfortable country kitchen at the back of the house.

"We didn't want to spoil the view of the back yard," said Mrs. Sherwood. "so we did not install draperies on the windows in the bay."

"By using just the valances, it keeps the windows open and I can watch the youngsters sledding down the hill with no trouble at all."

The bay area is also the children's inside play area and the convenient window seats are hinged to allow for toy storage space.

A portion of the walk-in fireplace so common to Colonial kitchens is set aside for an indoor barbecue as a concession to today's cooking and entertaining habits.

"And the fireplace has a touch of the modern too," said Mrs. Sherwood. "It is gas with ceramic logs. When we want to burn wood, there's no problem getting the fire started."

"Just add a natural log to the fire basket and before long it's snapping and crackling."

Authentic glass pieces and pewter decorate the mantel beam.

"One of the bottles," said Mr. Sherwood, "we found in the basement excavation." Hand-blown green glass, it's marked with the letters D. B. C.

A basket of polished red apples graces the cracker barrel which serves as an end table to the wing back sofa covered in Oxford gray.

An Early Master print, antique sauerkraut slicer and old keys are grouped above the pine dry sink.

Green statice in the white pitcher and bowl introduces a bright touch of color to the cozy room.

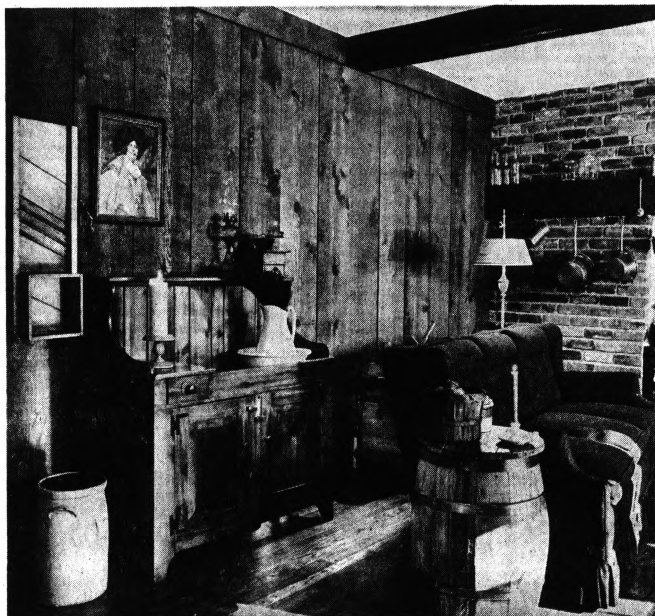

A drop-leaf pine table with ladder back chairs centers the dining portion. Lighting the table is an authentic brass and milk glass hanging lantern.

Electrified, it sends a soft glow over the diners similar to the original flickering kerosene flame. Cutwork on the lantern's flanges is repeated on the brass straps.

The counter top stove is recessed in a brick frame. Gleaming brass and copper pieces add to the Americana feeling of the room. The small covered pail on corner of the stove was the early dairyman's version of today's milk bottle.

Heating Plant Questions Stump Home Owners

The average home owner may be more sophisticated than his predecessor, but to Mr. and Mrs. Public, the heating plant remains one big mysterious, mechanical monster.

So reports the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, the education-information center for the hydronics (hot water heating) industry — which answers thousands of consumer inquiries each year.

As a service to the home owners, the council has prepared a list of the most often asked questions and their answers:

QUESTION: Which fuel is the best?

ANSWER: Any fuel — gas, oil, electricity or coal — will efficiently heat a house, but comfort is not dependent on fuel.

Comfort is produced by the heating system. The fuel merely powers the heating system.

QUESTION: What are the systems?

ANSWER: There are three basic heating systems. A hydronic (hot water) system centers around a boiler that heats water.

The heated water is then circulated through piping to each room.

A warm-air system consists essentially of a furnace and a network of ducts. The furnace heats air and the air is distributed through the ducts to air outlets in each room.

Electric resistance is the third basic system. Whereas hydronics and warm-air systems can use any fuel, resistance heating is limited to electricity. A separate baseboard unit in each room supplies the heat, and it operates in much the same way as a toaster.

QUESTION: Is dirt created by the heating system?

ANSWER: The heating system does not normally cause dirt. Dirt found on the walls is usually brought indoors by occupants of the house, or consists of fats and grease from kitchen cooking.

A heating system can add to the streaked-wall problem if it blows air about at an excessive rate. Also walls may become streaked if the system's operating temperature is excessively high (over 215 degrees).

QUESTION: Can central air conditioning be added to any kind of heating system?

ANSWER: There are many ways to cool a house, and any house with any kind of heating system can be air conditioned. In their haste to air condition, many homeowners will sacrifice good heating in order to add cooling at a lower cost.

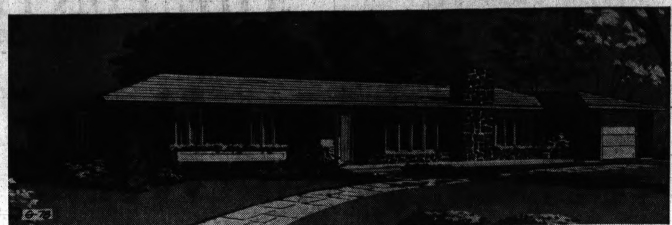

Effective air conditioning requires careful system design and quality installation. Homeowners are urged to consider all methods of air conditioning.

Prefab Houses Sold by Pound

How many pounds of house does your family need?

Prefabricated aluminum houses that can be riveted together in two days are being sold by the pound.

There's a choice of 12 models, with from one to three bedrooms, ranging in weight from 2,000 to 6,000 pounds. Cost is $1 a pound.

NEAT BUT NOT GAUDY: Although modern in every respect, this contemporary, three-bedroom ranch does not have the wide expanses of glass and other features that would prevent it from blending with older, traditional houses in the same neighborhood.

Modern Ranch Fits Traditional Location

Anyone who wants to build a contemporary house on a piece of land surrounded by traditional homes faces the probability that the new residence will appear out of place.

An architect given this assignment must strive to create a design which will prevent the house from seeming to be over-conspicuous yet fall within the concept of modernity desired by its client.

The newest House of the Week has achieved that result. Architect Herbert C. Struppman has turned out a design whose exterior has generally contemporary lines but fits comfortably in a neighborhood of traditional houses.

G-78 STATISTICS

This three-bedroom ranch has 1551 square feet of living space, comprising a living room, dining room, kitchen-breakfast room, laundry, mud-hall, lavatory, three bedrooms and two full bathrooms. In addition, there is plenty of room for outdoor relaxation, with a long covered portico and a roofed porch at the side, as well as a one-car garage. Over-all dimensions, which include the portico, porch and garage, are 71' 6" by 36' 4".

ed by a pair of sliding glass doors that form a window wall and open to a covered portico. The portico, in turn, connects to the roofed porch at the side, which can also be reached from the service mud hall.

A lavatory, the laundry appliances, a closet and the stairs to the basement also are in this area.

KITCHEN COUNTER
The kitchen counter, cabinets and appliances are well laid-out for the saving of steps.

A closet in the breakfast portion would make an excellent pantry if so desired.

Note how this entire area can be reached from the side porch, the rear portico or the front foyer without ever taking a single step in any other room in the house, a maintenance feature the housewife will appreciate.

To the left of the front entry is the bedroom hall and the three bedrooms.

The master bedroom, at the rear of the house, has two windows, two closets and a private bathroom.

A wide vanitory, is back-to-back, for plumbing economy, with the family bathroom that includes a vanitory and a linen closet of its own.

LIVING AREA

The living area of this house is a moderate 1551 square feet. The over-all dimensions of 71' 6" by 36' 4" include the one-car garage, the roofed porch and the rear portico.

A door in the back of garage permits entry into the service portion of the house.

This makes it convenient to take packages from the car into the house without going through any of the formal rooms.

The same thing is true if any material carried in the auto is to be stored in the basement.

Modernization Saves Money.

The smart home owner can earn a profit on heat modernization.

A modern hydronic home heating boiler can cut fuel costs by as much as 25 per cent or more compared to a 20-year-old heating plant. If the current fuel bill is, say $400 a year, a 25 per cent saving would amount to $100 a year.

By paying for the boiler with a low-interest FHA Title I Property Improvement Loan the home owner can keep monthly costs at a minimum and actually come out ahead after a few years.

Not only will he save money in the long run but a new heating plant will produce quicker response, reduce noise and minimize repair expenses.

To further modernize the system, modern wall-hugging baseboard units can be installed to replace the bulky radiators which were used 20 and 30 years ago.

The "profit" made on the new hydronic home heating boiler can be used to pay for the baseboard units.

For additional modernization information, send 15 cents to Remodeling, Better Heating-Cooling Council, 250 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017, for the Council's booklet, "Remodel Your Home with Hydronics."

House Story Is Old Tale

The term, "story," as it applies to the number of floors in a house comes from an old European architectural custom.

In those days, a picture story was painted on the outside wall of each floor of the house.

Thus, a three-floor house had three "stories."

The avoidance of wide windows—that might destroy privacy—and gimmicky details—that might be too "far out"—are chief reasons this house blends with older homes in a conservative area.

The hip-roofed ranch has a good, clean look, with vertical board-and-batten, stone veneer and planters for accent.

WIDE STRETCH

The living-dining areas that stretch almost 30' across the front of the house are given privacy by the wide front porch and recessed entry.

There is a most interesting arrangement of the fireplace at the front of the living room, with the living room windows on one side of it and the dining room windows on the other.

The two rooms can be treated as one or separated into their individual functions.

The center hall arrangement keeps traffic out of the area except when the rooms are in use. Important to planning and decorating are the long unbroken walls in each room.

The breakfast end of the kitchen, which is 18' long, could be utilized as a kind of family room, since it is light-

After Refinishing Job

Grandma's Heirloom Is Perfect in Modern Setting

After a good revarnishing job, even Grandma's oldest heirloom can provide a delightful touch in a modern furniture setting!

To refinish an old piece of furniture, it is often necessary to remove the old finish. A non-flammable, wax-free chemical paint and varnish remover is the safest and easiest to use.

Wear old clothes, work in a well-ventilated area, and be sure to wear rubber gloves to protect your skin.

Spread the remover on liberally with the side of your brush, stroking in one direction only. Apply remover to one section at a time, allowing it to soak in until the entire finish is soft.

Then scrape off the softened finish carefully with a dull, putty knife to avoid scratching the wood. To take off remover in tricky areas, use steel wool, pointed sticks, or an old toothbrush.

SAND WELL

After scraping off the remover, sand the furniture well, beginning with medium or fine grade sandpaper and finishing with very fine. Sand with the grain to eliminate scratching the wood.

If you don't like the color of the wood, change it. If the wood is too dark, bleach it using a commercially prepared wood bleach. Most of these are two-solution preparations.

First apply the bleach with a brush or sponge and allow it to dry until the right shade is reached. Next rinse or neutralize according to the manufacturer's directions.

Apply varnish with a quality bristle brush in parallel strokes, then cross-stroke by brushing immediately at right angles.

Next stroke lightly with an almost dry brush, working parallel to the grain for a uniform finish.

If the final coat is marred by dust specks or is too high a gloss, a final rubbing is your answer. Allow the varnish to harden for a week.

Then mix a paste of powdered pumice stone and motor or machine oil and rub it on parallel to the grain with a pad of heavy, lintless cloth until the surface is completely smooth. Wipe off remaining residue with a clean, dry cloth.

To restore a high luster, a second polishing is necessary. Mix a paste of powdered rotten-stone and crude oil and rub as described above. When the desired luster is reached, rub off residue with clean cloths until the surface squeaks.

With care and a little effort, you can change any piece of furniture from an uninspiring dust collector to a charming collector's item!

Eases Tight Money Situation

Government Gives Building a Boost

By JOHN PIERSON

United Press International

The federal reserve board has moved to ease the tight money situation, freeing bank reserves for an enlarged lending market that can allow interest rates to be brought down.

The board specified late Tuesday in announcing reduced requirements for bank reserves that it was acting to assure "that the availability of credit is adequate to provide for orderly economic growth."

It said the reserves it was

FNMA Action Assists Buyers, Lifts Ceilings

Leon N. Weiner, president of the National Association of Home Builders, recently applauded the triple price-percentage actions taken by the Federal National Mortgage Association.

FNMA, the government's "mortgage broker," increased prices it will pay for mortgages under secondary market operations, scrapped its four-month purchase rule, and lifted ceilings on mortgage amount purchases.

"These are major steps in helping to revive the mortgage market, and reflects the continuing improvement in the mortgage market situation," Weiner said.

"We are pleased that President Johnson and administration officials have been quick to recognize this situation and the need for an improving climate to carry on the job of providing better and more housing for the American people."

"These actions together with others previously directed by the President—and the latest by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in easing some of its restrictive rules on loans should be of big assistance to home buyers and home builders although the impact may not be felt for some time."

freeing would "assist in meeting developing credit needs throughout the country." A board source said the move was aimed specifically at boosting the slumping home building sector of the economy.

Some $850 million that banks previously had been required to keep on reserve would now be available for loans under the reduced requirements, the board estimated.

Since one bank's loan is another bank's deposit, the potential credit expansion was many times $850 million.

The board's eased requirements applies to reserves maintained against savings deposit, Christmas and vacation club accounts, and the first $5 million of other time deposits. These are deposits held in a bank for a specified period of time.

The board action lowers this requirement from 4 to 3 percent in two equal steps on March 2 and 16.

One source said the board was concerned about the strength of the economy, a concern that gained substance Monday in a size according to the manufacturer's directions.

The commerce department reported a decline in the number of American families planning to buy new cars, houses and television sets this year, although there was an increase in the number planning to buy used cars or air conditioners. The comparison was to surveys taken a year ago.

Of 35,000 families interviewed in January, 4.4 percent said they planned to buy a new car during the next six months. When the same question was asked a year ago, 4.8 percent answered yes.

New car sales have been slumping, and the survey may indicate that the slump will persist at least through the first half of this year.

Families planning to buy a new house during the next 12 months declined slightly, from 1.7 percent in January, 1966 to 1.6 percent last month.

Those intending to buy a previously occupied house dropped more, from 2.3 to 1.9 percent.

Don't Let It Be Through Your Front Door

Burglars Follow Line of Least Resistance

No home can be made totally burglar proof. If the burglar is determined and skillful enough he will break in anywhere.

But a housebreaker is only human and will follow the line of least resistance.

He will break into a home with few or inadequate safeguards more frequently than he will attempt to break into a house that is relatively secure.

Though there are a variety of alarm devices that can be installed, security begins with good locks.

A good lock on the main entrance is wasted money if the back door is protected by an easily tampered with spring lock and if windows are left open.

Good locks are not expensive nor are they difficult to install. Most doors are equipped with a spring lock, a lock with a sloped face on the bolt so that it locks when you slam the door shut. These are easily opened.

Replace this type lock with a deadlock, which has a square or round bolt that must be turned to either open or close it. From the outside, a key must be used to lock it.

Deadlocks and spring latches are very similar in size and type of hardware, so there is little trouble in making a replacement.

If it is a new door, check for some of the newer deadbolts. One type has a bolt that moves up and down rather than across.

A large window in the door

Make your home difficult to burglarize makes most locks useless since the housebreaker can break the glass and reach in and open the door.

You can buy a double-cylinder lock to guard against this. A key must be used on the inside to open it, just as you would on the outside.

Door chains have been used for years so that you can open a door part way and still have it secure enough to prevent someone from pushing it open from the outside.

This has always been popular in homes where the man of the house is away part of the day and the woman wants to be able to answer the door safely.

There are newer chain bolts that can be opened from the outside with a key, permitting the person inside to retire for the night without having to get up later to admit another member of the family.

Most window locks work only when the window is totally closed. Even then, a determined housebreaker can break or cut the glass, reach in and open the lock and raise the sash.

Locks can be obtained that will permit the window to be opened partially. Best of these are the locks that work with a key.

There also are barrel bolts for windows that permit them to be opened part way. Perfect all windows, including cellar windows, with locks of some kind.

Don't forget upstairs windows. There are such things as ladders and most people know how to use them.

Do not leave your own ladders around, in an unlocked garage for instance.

ALARM SYSTEM
Burglar alarms are expensive and should be installed by an expert.

If your house is left empty for long periods of time, an alarm system might be a good investment.

It can be powered by house current or batteries. These are best if they use both, with batteries as standby power if wires are cut or there is a power failure.

In general, remember that a housebreaker can get in most anywhere but is most likely to try it where he encounters the least fuss and bother.

Plank-and-Beam Facilitates Design

Wood plank-and-beam homes are distinguished by streamlined roof structures formed with horizontal ceiling beams under wood roof decking.

The roof is so strong that it requires support at fewer points than conventional homes. This facilitates open planning and the location of large window areas adjacent to secluded patios.

The handsome exposed beam ceiling creates a warm feeling of the outdoors inside the home. Plank-and-beam is an ideal medium for jointly utilizing the high strength and attractive appearance of preshrunk Southern Pine.

A single tree may do more for your home grounds than a dozen shrubs.

Household Tool Help to Handyman

Add to the score of handy household tools you don't know how you lived without, an electric glue gun designed for the housewife as well as the handyman.

The 8-ounce pistol-shaped tool is easy to operate as an iron and can be used for everything from repairing children's toys, and mending loose furniture joints and mirrors to attaching closet insignias to clothing and basting meats and seams.

"Ammunition" is a solid cartridge of polyethylene-based glue which melts in the gun's heating chamber, and is emitted through the nozzle in a liquid stream.

The glue dries in 60 seconds and a strong, waterproof bond is achieved, thereby eliminating the need to clamp materials together.

It adheres to almost all surfaces, particularly wood, plastic, fabric, leather and paper.

To further expand the gun's versatility a caulking cartridge is also available.

The gun will provide instant.

Inn Workers Vote for Union

Employees of the Rotunda Country Inn on Pine Lake have named Local 794 of the Hotel, Restaurant and Bartender's Union as bargaining agent. It was announced yesterday by the AFL-CIO Local.

Robert W. Teays, secretary-treasurer of Local 794, said that 15 employees voted for union representation and nine voted against it.

Teays said that negotiations with the restaurant management will begin immediately. F. W. Ouradnik is owner of the restaurant at 3230 Pine Lake.

Couple Loses Life Savings

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP) — "We're electrical inspectors." That introduction Friday led to the end of the life savings of Sig Johnson and his sister, Elsie, who live a mile west of Wing, Ky.

Two men gained entrance to the home on the pretext of making an "electrical inspection," Johnson said. One man engaged the Johnsons in conversation while his partner roamed through the house. After the two left, the Johnsons told police $5,100 was missing.

Man Ordered Returned to State Hospital

Arraigned yesterday in federal court for threatening Internal Revenue Service (IRS) agents, a Pontiac Township man has been ordered returned to Pontiac State Hospital.

John W. Blehm, 32, of 2284 Auburn was arrested late Thursday by IRS agents who had stalked out Blehm's trailer.

Prior to his arrest, Blehm drove off two IRS agents with a shotgun, Otzewski said.

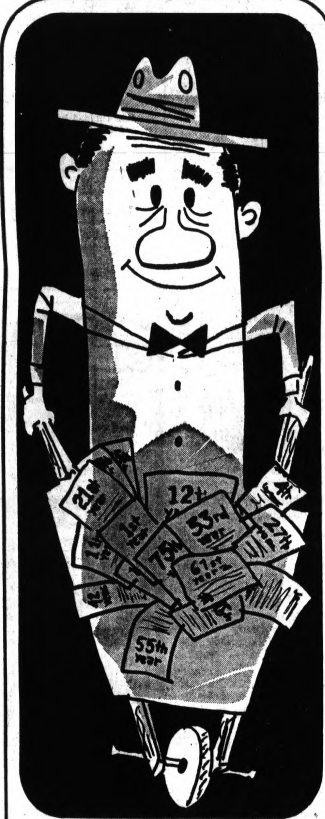

Otzewski said agents confiscated three shotguns and a 5-inch knife from Blehm's trailer in addition to a pistol Blehm had with him.

A search had been launched for Blehm, according to Agent John Otzewski, after Blehm came into the IRS office at the Pontiac federal Building and threatened workers there.

Otzewski said the threats followed a letter sent to Blehm asking for payments of delinquent taxes.

SOUGHT REFUGE—Four-year-old Adam Stiles couldn't make it up the flaming stairs in an Independence Township basement fire yesterday. He crawled behind a washing machine, under some shelves, and was asphyxiated. Firemen found his body there.

Fire Claims Boy, 4, in Independence

Three neighbor children playing in the basement of an Independence Township home yesterday apparently touched off a fire that proved fatal to one of them.

Dead is 4-year-old Adam Stiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Stiles of 6155 Cramlane, owner of Clarkson Shoe Service, 16 S. Main, Clarkson.

boy, Steve, 3, and a boy from across the street, Paul Biondi, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer S. Biondi of 6156 Cramlane, were with Adam at the time the fire broke out, about 2:30 p.m.

Deputy Fire Chief Frank Ronk said the boys apparently obtained flames from the gas furnace.

Mrs. Copenman was cooking in the kitchen next to the basement stairs and a television repairman was also working in the house, the chief said.

'FLASH FIRE'

A "flash fire" apparently ensued when Christmas decorations and other materials stored under the stairway ignited Ronk said.

The two boys who escaped dashed through the flames on the stairs, but the Stiles boy didn't make it, firemen said. He appeared to have died from asphyxiation and was not badly burned, the chief said.

Damage estimates were $15,000 to the $30,000 home with $3,500 in furniture also destroyed.

The blaze was the second fatal fire in the township in less than two weeks. Prior to that, Independence Township has not had a fatal fire since the late 1940's, Chief Ronk said.

NEVER A FATAL

One of the firemen said he had been on the force 17 years prior to the two deaths without experiencing a fatal fire.

On Feb. 19, Imogene Alexander, 58, of 6527 Orion-Clarkson Road, was the victim of a blaze that struck her home. Fire that started on a sofa ignited her clothing and she was found dead near the back door.

Bobby Peace Talk Still Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration, drawing support from some Republican leaders, is continuing its assault on Vietnam peace moves proposed by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"Hanoi has made it quite clear that it is not interested in a temporary pause," Secretary of State Dean Rusk said yesterday. Kennedy's proposal that the United States suspend its bombing of North Vietnam and initiate peace negotiations.

The New York Democrat told the Senate Thursday the bombing could be reconsidered and possibly resumed if time and events prove the Communists to not want peace.

But Rusk, after appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday, said Hanoi seems to have "closed the door" on the Kennedy's kind of peace approach.

Johnson made it clear as Kennedy was speaking that the bombings would continue. He previously had said "military and civilian leaders are doing what they believe is best to protect the safety, lives of our men there, and to try to bring about a halt to the war and the aggression."

N. Viet's 'Final' Terms for Talks Given to Thant

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—In a meeting arranged with help from Soviet and French ambassadors, a mission from Hanoi has given U Thant North Vietnam's terms for starting peace talks, diplomatic sources say.

The U.N. secretary general confirmed today that he had met in Rangoon this week with a top North Vietnamese representative but declined to give any details. He said he would make a statement about the meeting on his departure from Rangoon later today.

The diplomatic sources said yesterday

Hanoi's two principal conditions were immediate suspension of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and de-escalation of the U.S. military effort in Vietnam.

The terms were reportedly contained in a personal message that Hanoi's representative brought from President Ho Chi Minh to Thant.

The sources described the message as Ho's final and irrevocable terms.

1st OFFICIAL REPORT

The first official report of the meeting

came yesterday night from Gen. Le Tung Sun, North Vietnamese consul general. He said Thant had met with Col. Ha Van Lau, his government's chief representative to the International Control Commission and leader of the North Vietnamese mission.

Sources close to Thant said he felt the disclosure was premature and could hurt his efforts for peace.

The conference, the first of its kind between Thant and top North Vietnamese representatives from Hanoi, came about after diplomatic moves said to have involved Soviet Ambassador Alexei Rodionov and French Ambassador Rene Philippe Yves Millet.

Thant said earlier in the week both sides in the war held "less rigid" attitudes toward peace talks than they had a year ago. Before today, he had said he was in his native Burma only for a week's vacation.

Thant was to leave today for New York and had a meeting scheduled with British Foreign Secretary George Brown during a brief stopover in London.

S. Viets Shelled in U.S. Errors; 6 Killed, 26 Hurt

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. command disclosed today that six Vietnamese civilians were killed and 26 wounded in accidental shelling by American artillery of a village and a group of river sampans.

Announcements of the two incidents came as U.S. authorities clamped tight secrecy over the bombing by "unidentified aircraft" of Lang Vie village near the Laotian border Thursday.

South Vietnamese authorities said 95 civilians were killed and about 200 wounded in the bombing. The U.S. command listed 83 killed.

All three incidents are being investigated.

Both of the latest reported incidents took place in the thinly populated Mekong Delta region south of Saigon.

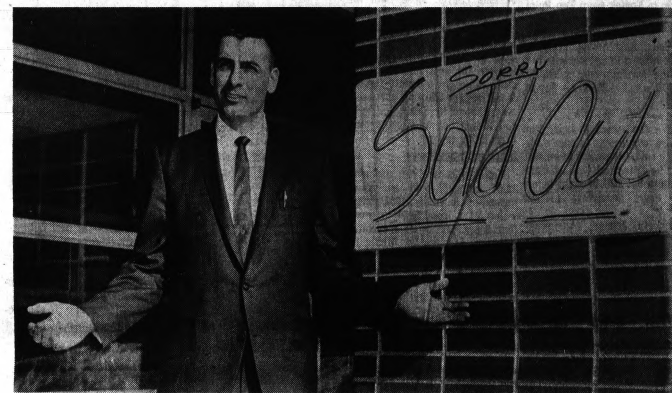

11 HOWITZER SHELLS

The first occurred Wednesday in Dinh Tuong Province when a U.S. artillery unit accidentally sent 11 howitzer shells into Trung Luong village 30 miles southwest of Saigon, killing five civilians, wounding 24 and destroying 24 houses, the announcement said.

No explanation was given for the delay in the report.

The second took place yesterday about 75 miles northeast of Saigon when an air observer requested and received clearance by the South Vietnamese army to call in artillery fire on a group of five sampans.

One person was killed, two wounded and one sampan destroyed, the announcement said. The persons later were determined to be "friendly."

PLEADING HIS CASE — Dom Mauti, director of the Class A district basketball tournament which closes this evening on the Clarkson High School floor, has been swamped with requests for tickets to tonight's district final between Pontiac Central and Waterford Kettering. A sellout of the 2,000 seats was completed early Friday, leaving Mauti with the task of soothing feelings of those fans who were too late for tickets. The game starts at 7:30.

Panel Defends College Draft Deferments

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special civilian advisory panel has defended draft deferments for college undergraduates, saying a greater percentage of them eventually go into the service than do nonstudents.

At the same time, the advisory group suggested major changes in the draft to induce younger men first and end student deferments when students either earn undergraduate degrees or reach age 24.

College students, said the panel, have not "been protected from the draft or received favored treatment compared to nonstudents."

"In recent years 60 per cent of the college student group has served in the armed forces as volunteers or inductees, whereas 57 per cent of noncollege students were called to or entered military service," the report said.

The report was issued yesterday by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee, which authorized the study of the nation's draft laws.

SEPARATE REPORT

President Johnson's National Advisory Commission on Selective Service will release tonight a separate report on the draft. Key sections of the current draft law expire July 1.

The House committee's panel, while recommending changes, said the public shouldn't believe "that gross unfairness prevails throughout the draft system."

Rejected were more radical changes in the system proposed by critics who say the system is unfair and inefficient. Among these were suggestions for an all-volunteer armed forces, a lottery to pick draftees and universal service — military or civilian — by young men.

The civilian advisers, whose findings were given in brief Monday, said in its full report it was "disturbed by the disparity between the fairness existing in military manpower procurement practices and the inclination of the public to believe that gross unfairness prevails throughout the draft system."

Time Law Exemptions Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—The law requiring all states to observe daylight saving time goes into effect April 1, but 18 House members are fighting a last-ditch battle to win exemptions.

They have introduced bills to alter, in various ways, the law putting all of the nation's clocks one hour ahead of regular time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October every year.

But there seems little prospect for action on any of the proposals by April 1. The House Commerce Committee, which has jurisdiction over such legislation, has no hearings scheduled.

Under the new law, any state may exempt itself from daylight saving time, but only if it exempts the entire state. None has acted so far, the Interstate Commerce Commission reports.

The law poses special problems for

IN MICHIGAN

In Michigan, for example, the Upper and Lower peninsulas are in different time zones but have managed to stay on the same time by keeping the Upper Peninsula on Central Daylight Time and the Lower Peninsula on Eastern Standard Time.

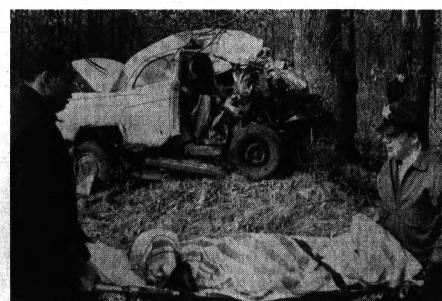

Under the new law, the state would be breaking the law by maintaining the present arrangement.

So four Michigan House members, Republican Reps. Gerald R. Ford, Charles Chamberlain, Philip E. Ruppe and James Harvey, have introduced proposals to permit any state to put all of itself into one time zone.

Rep. J. Edward Roush, a Democrat from Indiana—another state split by two time zones—wants to make it possible for part of a state to be exempted from daylight saving time. A similar proposal was passed by the Senate last year but rejected by the House.

OTHER STATES

Other states in more than one time zone are Kentucky, Tennessee, North Dakota, South Dakota, Florida, Nebraska, Kansas, Idaho, Utah and Oregon. Kentucky also has another problem, and all seven of its congressmen have tried to meet it. The legislature has not been in session to keep the state on standard time, and Gov. Edward L. Breathitt has refused to call a special session.

Snow, Rain Likely for the Weekend

A few snow flurries, possibly mixed with rain, or rain and windy is the forecast for the Pontiac area for the weekend.

The U.S. official Weather Bureau prediction looks like this:

TODAY — Increasing cloudiness and cool. High 30 to 36. Cloudy and cool tonight with occasional snow possibly mixed with freezing rain. Windy and turning colder. Low tonight 25 to 32.

Northeasterly winds 5 to 10 miles becoming southeasterly 10 to 20 miles this afternoon and tonight.

SUNDAY — Cloudy and cool with occasional snow possibly mixed with rain. Windy and colder with snow diminishing to flurries.

MONDAY — Partial clearing and a little colder.

State Gives Ground in Rift Over Reports

LANSING (AP) — An angry dispute between the state and nursing homes over Medicaid rate-setting, which left some elderly patients afraid they might be brown out, apparently ended Friday.

The state decided it did not need some of the income reports which nursing homes did not want to furnish, and removed a deadline for cost reports.

Red Fisherman Faces Charges

U.S. Claims Russian Violated Its Territory

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The master of a Soviet fishing vessel seized by the Coast Guard in the United States waters is scheduled to be arraigned in Kodiak, Alaska, Sunday on charges of violating U.S. territorial fishing rights.

U.S. Atty. Richard McVeigh of Anchorage said the unidentified Soviet skipper would be flown to Kodiak from San Point, where his ship was taken Friday under Coast Guard escort. At least four Soviet crewmen are expected to appear with him at the arraignment, scheduled for 10 a.m. — AST — 3 p.m. EST.

"We don't want to bring him before our courts alone," McVeigh said. "We want to be sure that he is treated with absolute fairness but still brought before the court according to our laws."

Kenneth Jensen, Anchorage attorney, was appointed to represent the skipper.

WELL INSIDE

The Coast Guard cutter Storis seized the Soviet vessel Tuesday while making a routine fisheries patrol in U.S. waters 40 miles southwest of Chignik on the south side of the Alaska Peninsula. Don Phillips, skipper of a Kodiak-based fishing boat, said the Soviet vessel was in the fleet in the area Monday night and that an estimated 22 vessels were "well inside the three-mile limit."

Alaska Gov. Walter Hickel called for punishment of the Soviet skipper who allegedly violated the State Department protest to the Soviet Union.

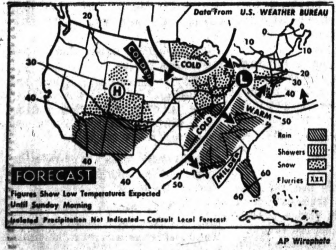

"I am shocked and astounded that the Russian government could permit such a violation of our territorial waters to occur," he said. "Apparently still penalties are the only thing that will show that we do not take such violations lightly."

NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain is forecast tonight in the Gulf states and the Tennessee Valley with snow mixed with rain due in the upper Mississippi Valley, the Lakes region, the Ohio Valley into the middle Atlantic states. Rain and snow also are expected in the Rockies and the central Plains. It will be colder in the Northeast.

VICTIM'S CHAIR—The chair of Wayne Mullendore was stacked on the table (foreground) yesterday at Wilson Junior High School in Rockford, Ill. Wayne, 14, and his cousin, Ronald Johnson, 14, were shot to death in gangland style Thursday night at a park pavilion in Rockford. The two murder victims were for by sheriff's deputies who responded to a phone call by an unidentified person.

Killing of 2 Teen Cousins Called Planned Execution

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Brown, sheriff of Winnebago County, said evidence uncovered thus far indicates the cousins in a public park was a deliberately planned execution.

The victims, Wayne Mullendore, and his cousin, Ronald Johnson, both 14, were found Thursday night in an isolated pavilion in Leving Park on Rockford's southwest side. Each had been shot twice.

Ferdale Pair Going to D.C. in Electric Car

FERDLE (AP) — Two Ferdale businessmen say they are set to make a 535-mile trip from Detroit to Washington in a horseless carriage that also is noiseless, gasless and exhaustless.

They are Robert Aronson, president of Electric Fuel Production, and Donald Swanson, vice president. Swanson also is president of a foreign car agency in Ferdale.

Swanson said plans call for a Sunday morning departure via turnpike for the nation's capital city in a 1967 Renault R-10 model converted to electric power.

Along the way, he said, stops have been scheduled at utility company facilities for recharging of the 20 six-volt batteries which have been installed in the small French-built car. The first stop is at Toledo, Ohio, and the other at Baltimore, Md.

War End Seen by '68 Election

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., House minority leader, said yesterday chances are good the Vietnam war will be concluded before next year's November election.

And if it is, he said, the Republican presidential candidate will have an excellent chance to win.

Shows that parties in power during wars usually lose in first election after peace is made.

But if the war continues, Ford told a news conference, the GOP candidate still will be able to wage a strong campaign on numerous domestic issues.

He said his "feeling at the moment" is that with more military successes, the "likelihood" is that a truce, at least, will have been achieved by November, 1968.

Rash of UFO Sightings in State

CADILLAC (AP) — Police reported a rash of unidentified flying object sightings in a three-county area in northwestern Lower Michigan Friday.

A Cadillac police officer and other persons reported the sightings at Traverse City in Grand Traverse County, Reed City in Oscoda County and Cadillac in Wexford County.

Cadillac is about half way between Traverse City and Reed City, a distance of about 100 miles.

News Briefs at a Glance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A spokesman for the John Birch Society says the organization now includes about 400 Negro members. John H. Roussett, Birch Society public relations director, told a City College that some of the group's Negro members hold staff positions and are in demand as speakers.

"They (Negros) know we're not in favor of white power or black power — just the power of all Americans," said Roussett.

DEARBORN (AP) — Daniel Godfrey, son of an elementary school biology teacher, quit school yesterday after being arraigned on a charge of aggravated assault against two other teachers. Godfrey, 17, a senior at Edsel Ford High School, was charged with hitting two teachers during a basketball game Tuesday night at Dearborn High School.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lance Cpl. Don G. Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Glyn of Lake City, has been killed in action with the Marine Corps in Vietnam, the Defense Department said yesterday.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is renting Alcatraz, the abandoned federal prison island in San Francisco Bay, at $2,000 a day for movie making, the General Services Administration said. "It costs the taxpayers about $24,000 a year just to maintain the place," Richard F. Laws, GSA regional director of property, said. "We decided we might as well try to at least break even."

DETROIT (AP) — Police Commissioner Ray Girardin is scheduled to testify in Washington Thursday before a Senate subcommittee considering anti-crime legislation. Girardin will talk in favor of President Johnson's proposed Safe Streets and Crime Control Act.

SOUTHFIELD (AP) — Two men robbed a branch of the Oakland National Bank and fled with $1,000 yesterday.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Declaring that its initials had been a bit misleading, the Louisiana State for the Deaf has added "state" to its title. Officials said newspaper headline writers should refer to the school henceforth as LSDD — not LSD.

NILES (AP) — Two children died yesterday in a fire that burned the inside of the house trailer where they lived. Dead are Terry Warren, 3, and his brother, Calvin, 5. Authorities said the youngsters were asleep when a defective oil space heater set fire to the trailers.

PORT HURON (AP) — Jerald Lieberman, 21, of Toronto, Ont., a freshman at Port Huron Junior College, has pleaded guilty to a possession of narcotics charge involving marijuana. Authorities said they expect to make further arrests in connection with the case. Source of the marijuana is believed to be either New York or Toronto, police said.

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — A collision between two cars yesterday claimed the life of 19-year-old Mary Ellen Brown of Marine City. The crash came at 28-Mile and New Haven roads.

OWASSO (AP) — Robert Stone, 35, a drugstore operator, has been presented with the Jaycee's distinguished service award for outstanding service to Owosso in 1966. Stone has headed a drive to get more off-street parking facilities in the community.

ALBION (AP) — A 35-year-old resident of Albion was killed yesterday when his car ran into a tree. Police identified the victim as Percy Huff.

BAY CITY (AP) — Dow Corning of Midland has announced plans to build a new corporate center on a 1,000-acre site in the southwest section of Bay County's Williams Township. The project will include a series of testing laboratories and administration offices, but no other details were disclosed.

DETROIT (AP) — Jimmy Foster, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Foster, was killed yesterday when he darted past a street-crossing guard and ran into the path of a truck, which struck him. The boy was on his way to school.

Group to Discuss Trip to Japan

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A group that likes to travel especially at low rates given charter groups — will meet at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at the Village Woman's Club, 130 E. Long Lake, to discuss a proposed trip to Japan.

The Atlanta Society of Birmingham has enjoyed three fly-ing house parties to Europe but the trip planned for next fall is its most ambitious project.

The plan is to spend 23 days in the Orient starting Sept. 13.

At Tuesday's meeting, an airline representative will be present to give travel tips and show a color travel film.

BIRMINGHAM — The city has launched an extensive search for a man to replace Police Chief Ralph W. Mosley, who will retire April 1 and head the new Oakland County Police Academy at Oakland Community College.

City Manager Robert S. Keating said advertisements have been sent to police journals announcing the job is open. A competitive exam will be taken by candidates and each will appear before a board to be selected later.

Present members of the police force have been invited to apply.

Keating said he would make the choice, pending approval by the City Commission.

BIRMINGHAM — A former Cranbrook student, now a nationally known artist, will be present at the opening of an exhibition of his works at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Galerie de Boi-cour, 725 S. Adams.

Rodney G. Landsman has had works displayed at the Detroit Institute of Arts and recently took part in an art in religion show in Youngstown, Ohio, along with 35 representative American artists.

He is a teacher with the adult education program in Detroit and Southfield.

Manual on Coed Hunting Is Blasted by Fair Game

By HAL COOPER

NEW YORK (AP) — A Princeton manual of helpful hints on the hunting of the coed won't patronize smiles and a few snarls today from the object of the exercise.

"Hilarious," commented blonde Georgetowne Kelley, 21, a senior at Indiana's De-Pauw University.

At Barnard, described by the booklet — "Where the Girls Are" — as a good place to forget, an anonymous young man bared her fangs at the paper tiger in this way:

"Princeton men are not as twos as Yale, not as interesting as Harvard and not as many as Dartmouth."

RESENTMENT

Some resentment was evident at Stanford, said by "Where the Girls Are" to present the highest collection of plain Janes in the country.

"This remark," sniffed Barbara Fry, a graduate student in college administration, "merely discloses massive feelings of inferiority on the part of Princeton boys."

The reaction was cool even at Georgia's Agnes Scott College praised by the booklet as an eye-opening collection of 715 drawing belles.

The Agnes Scott bounties suspected sarcasm, possibly because their team clobbered Princeton last year in a televised quiz match.

"As one who dates a Princeton man," said one Agnes Scott senior who withheld her name, "I find their contemptuousness just as interesting and intellectually stimulating."

HIGHER SCORES

According to the booklet, "Nearly every one of the 750 Bryn Mawr girls got higher college board scores than you did, and few make money to forget it for a whole weekend."

Margaret Edwards, a Bryn Mawr senior, said she had dated about 10 Princeton boys and as far as she could tell they were just as smart as she is.

The booklet characterized De-Pauw as "Lemonade U, an institution full of 'great-granddaughters of the pioneers, anxious to protect and carry on their chocolate-cream culture."

That wounded brunette Ann Jackson, a De-Pauw senior, who deposited as follows:

"The coed has emerged from her 'Sweet Daddy, Daddy give me' and pink cloud attitude. She is in real confrontation and involvement with discrimination, social regulations and the Greek system, which are hardly sweet and pleasant."

125 SCHOOLS LISTED

How's that again? The Princeton booklet lists 125 U.S. schools, their campus rules, the kind of girls likely to be found in the student body and the best places to take them on dates.

Peter Sandman, a senior who edited the work — billed as an "informative, indispensable black book" — conceded that its judgments would irritate some of the campus quail.

He explained: "We took the point of view of a snooty, obnoxious Princeton man."

Romney Is Hit on Viet Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., has accused Michigan Gov. George Romney of "betrayal of a tradition of bipartisanship in foreign policy" with criticism of President Johnson's Vietnam position.

McIntyre, in a Senate speech, Friday, pointed to a Romney charge that political expediency was involved in Johnson's policy.

Romney made that statement on Feb. 22 in Pocatello, Idaho. He would not offer examples.

Said McIntyre: "I am sad that partisan politics has already begun to intrude in our vital bipartisan approach to foreign policy."

McIntyre said that the issues in Vietnam are for too important "to become nourishment for political ambitions."

"We must resist blatant political campaigning on an issue that involves the security of the American people and the lives of its fighting men," he said.

Delegation of Hondurans Coming Here

A delegation of British Honduras officials, headed by Premier George Price, will visit Oakland County next week while touring Michigan to promote a people-to-people aid program.

The group will take a motor tour of Oakland University and the Highland Lakes Campus of Oakland Community College, stopping for lunch at the latter.

Traveling with Price will be U.S. Consul Robert Tepper; Raphael Fonseca, permanent secretary to the British Honduras minister of finance; and Rodolfo Castillo, chief information officer for the Central American country.

The will meet in Lansing Thursday and Friday to discuss investment possibilities in British Honduras with members of the Michigan Partners for the Alliance.

The organization was established last year to provide an avenue for Michigan residents to aid in the development of British Honduras.

What Lent Means to Me

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 21st in a series of articles through Lent written by prominent Pontiac area citizens.)

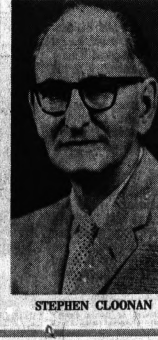

By STEPHEN CLOONAN
Pontiac Druggist

To me, Lent is a time when, knowing God's desire to forgive, to heal and to shape with all men His own divine life, we discipline our passions gladly and with confidence in victory.

We die to our selfishness and worldliness that thereby we may renew our life. There can be no renewal of life without this death. Every Lent we are invited to prove for ourselves this teaching of Christ.

The exuberant experience of renewed life at Easter can happen only for those who are willing to journey with Christ through the dying which is Lent.

God gives the grace for every Lenten restraint.

Wrote Own Speech Permit in U. N. Statement

Thant Speaks Freely on Viet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U Thant speaks out against the war in Vietnam by virtue of a permit that he wrote for himself and got the big powers to endorse.

This is reported by persons in a position to know.

Since his reelection to a new five-year term last Dec. 2, the U.N. secretary general has called repeatedly for an end to the bombing of North Vietnam. He once took issue with the U.S. thesis that the Vietcong is a stooge of Hanoi and that if South Vietnam went Communist, neighboring countries would do likewise.

The informants said Thant considered that he had a right to go ahead to talk so freely about the war because he himself had written his own freedom of speech amendment into a statement the Security Council issued in recommending him to the General Assembly for reelection.

FINANCIAL WEAKNESS

With his first-term running out Nov. 3, Thant announced last Sept. 1 that he had decided not to offer himself for a second term. He cited concern over the United Nations' financial weakness, the war in Vietnam and some other things.

Later he agreed to stay on till the assembly adjourned Dec. 20. After he did that, the Security Council met privately to persuade him to change his mind about a new term.

The council set up a committee composed of the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain, France and Uruguay. It drafted a statement for the council to issue should it recommend him for reelection.

The proposed statement was intended to induce Thant to stay on. It said the council members "fully respect his position and his action in bringing basic issues confronting the organization to their notice, as he has done in his statement of Sept. 1."

ASKED FOR COMMENTS

This was sent to Thant for his comments.

Then, the sources report, these developments took place.

After "basic issues confronting the organization" Thant wrote in "and disturbing developments in many parts of the world," a phrase meant to make clear that the council recognized his right to speak frankly about Vietnam.

He sent U.N. Undersecretary Jose Rolz-Bennett of Guatemala to tell French Ambassador Roger Seydoux that reelection was out unless those words were in the council's statement.

Seydoux consulted his advisers, decided to accept Thant's phraseology and so informed U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko.

AIMED AT U.S.

Fedorenko also accepted the added words in the belief that they were aimed mainly at the United States. After checking with Washington, Goldberg accepted them, too.

When the council met privately the next morning and recommended Thant for the new term, the words were included in a statement on its behalf that was made at the meeting by its president, Uruguayan Ambassador Pedro P. Berro. The statement was issued later in a council communiqué that is now part of the U.N. public records.

No Run on This Book

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I am indebted to the University of Oregon Athletic Department for making me aware of the difference between New Zealand fartlek and Swedish fartlek.

WEST at a steady pace. In Swedish fartlek, you put on occasional bursts of speed.

This information was included in a book called "Jogging," coauthored by William Bowerman, Oregon's track coach, and Dr. W. E. Harris, a medical school instructor.

Someone at the university sent me a copy, for which I am extremely grateful.

Otherwise, I might have jogged along for the rest of my life and never known one fartlek from another.

ESCALATION NOTED

The book was given to me because it ties in with a column I wrote on the exercise escalation that has taken place during the Johnson administration.

START RUNNING During the Kennedy administration you'll recall, physical fitness experts began urging us to start hiking for our health. Now they're advocating that we start running.

One can only guess what the next step will be.

Bowerman and Harris, who are definitely "hawks" on the exercise question, say in their book that regular jogging will make a person feel better.

I believe that. Just reading about it made me feel better.

'JOG-ALONGS'

What about the loneliness of a long-distance runner?

"Well, Bowerman and Harris recommend the development of 'community jogging programs' so that people who require conviviality can jog along together, hand in hand, into the purple sunset.

Jogging is said to improve your "posture, appearance, health and mental attitudes," to help you lose weight and to reduce "the anxieties and tensions of modern living."

I can get some of the same results from a dry martini. Which probably means I judged when I should have jogged.

Children's Art Show at Mall

The Waterford Township School District's sixth annual children's art show will be held Monday through March 18 at Pontiac Mall.

Being held in conjunction with Children's Art Month, the show will feature art exhibits prepared by pupils of 28 elementary schools.

The art will be displayed on the Mall concourse and in store windows at Montgomery Ward and Co. and Tandy Crafts, according to M. J. Root, elementary art coordinator for Waterford Township Schools.

The show will hit its peak next Saturday afternoon when 21 children's demonstration groups perform.

From 1 to 4 p.m. the pupils will demonstrate various art media, including ceramics, metal-enameling, painting, printing, sculpture, stichery, block printing and puppets.

MARIONETTE SHOW

At 3:15 p.m. next Saturday pupils of Cooley School will stage a marionette show, under the direction of teacher Louise Leppia.

At 4 p.m. the pupils will present art work to Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe, Township Supervisor Dorothy W. Olson and Dr. Maurice Pelton, elementary schools coordinator.

Congress-Court Battle Shaping Up on Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Adam Clayton Powell case poses the question whether Congress can exclude an elected member who meets basic constitutional requirements for seating.

This week the House excluded the Harlem Democrat from its membership. But the action is not likely to be final until after the courts say Congress had the authority to do it.

While even the outlines of Powell's legal challenge are not yet known it is expected the issues his lawyers raise will be so important and so complex that the Supreme Court will have to give a final answer.

If the court's answer favors Powell, a major constitutional controversy could erupt should Congress refuse to submit. Such an impasse presumably would last until one or the other gave in.

POWER IMPLIED?

To those favoring Powell's exclusion, the power to expel—explicitly given Congress by the Constitution—clearly implies the power to refuse to seat.

And since the Constitution is not clear on grounds for expulsion—it speaks vaguely of "disorderly behavior"—the grounds for exclusion can be kept the Harlem Democrat from taking his elected seat.

They argue that Powell's conduct could be the subject of House penalty action only after he was seated. They further contend the only conduct that could be the basis for a penalty was Powell's conduct since the current Congress opened in January.

The alleged spending of public funds on himself was investigated during the last Congress and cannot be the basis for exclusion from this Congress, they argue. And his alleged defiance of New York courts, they say, is beyond the legislative process.

How Powell will make his attack and in what court is not known.

He presumably could argue that he is suffering damage because of his exclusion from the House—that he is denied the congressional income to which he is entitled by his election.

3 REQUIREMENTS

And, almost certainly, he'll argue that the select committee—just recommended he be seated but renounced—found he met the three requirements of the Constitution for membership in the House: that a member be at least 25 years old, have been a citizen for seven years and be an inhabitant of the state from which he was elected.

The resolution that excluded Powell conceded he met those requirements.

The legal fight could be launched in a U.S. District Court, in a special three-judge federal court—or, possibly, his former constituents might sue to try to block New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller from calling an election to fill the vacancy caused by Powell's exclusion.

Officer Transfer Said Not Linked to Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has denied an Army officer was reassigned because he reportedly refused to squelch

Minister Fired Over Placard

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A Baptist minister has been fired from his job as a sheet-metal press-operator because he wore a placard which he said was inscribed with one of the Ten Commandments.

The Rev. Erwin Williams, 46, of Lyons Falls said Friday he was fired Thursday after a foreman at the Bossert Manufacturing Corp. had told him to "take off the sign or quit the job."

The Rev. Mr. Williams said he refused to quit or to remove the 12-by-8-inch placard, which read: "The Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain," a paraphrase of the Third Commandment. "I told the foreman" he said, "that, if he would ask the men to stop using foul language, I'd remove the placard."

The Rev. Mr. Williams, minister of the Faith Baptist church in Lyonsdale, said he had worked at the plant for about two months to raise money for church purposes.

a story involving a U.S. ambassador's son. But it says the Army did order Stars and Stripes to drop the story.

The Defense Department said Friday that Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara, commander of Army forces in Europe, ordered the reassignment of Col. George E. Moranda, public affairs officer at headquarters in Heidelberg.

The Pentagon statement said the reassignment had no connection with any story in Stars and Stripes. It said Moranda was shifted "because of a loss of confidence in his suitability as public affairs officer, U.S. Army Europe."

Reports from Germany earlier this week said Moranda's reassignment followed his refusal to kill a Stars and Stripes news story about the arrest of Michael A. McGhee, 19, son of U.S. Ambassador to West Germany George C. McGhee.

TWO EDITIONS

The story, reporting that young McGhee was arrested in California and charged with driving under the influence of the hallucinatory drug LSD, was carried in two editions of Stars and Stripes Feb. 3.

The Pentagon quoted Col. James Campbell, editor in chief of Stars and Stripes in Europe, as saying: "I killed the story because I don't see any point in smearing a prominent figure of the firm, confirmed Friday night that the minister had been fired."

The Rev. Mr. Williams, minister of the Faith Baptist church in Lyonsdale, said he had worked at the plant for about two months to raise money for church purposes.

Robert E. Brown, treasurer of the firm, confirmed Friday night that the minister had been fired.

Junior Editors Quiz on KING ARTHUR

QUESTION: Was there a real King Arthur?

ANSWER: The stories we read about King Arthur are legends and can not be regarded as being true. Many historians feel, however, that back of the legends was a real person. England was ruled by the Romans until the 4th's. But when Roman government was withdrawn, the Britons, Celtic people living in England, were left at the mercy of various invading tribes.

It was then that some kind of a chieftain or leader arose to help the Britons. Such a person may have been the original King Arthur.

Christianity had been appealing in England. The stories about King Arthur pictured him as the perfect Christian king, living in the castle of Camelot, in company with his famous knights who sat at the Round Table (upper right).

Arthur and his knights became symbols for the Christian virtues of justice, mercy and defense of the weak.

They fought against evil, which was often imagined in the form of a dragon. Many engaged in the quest to find the Holy Grail, the cup which Jesus used at The Last Supper, supposed to have been preserved by Joseph of Arimathea.

North Viet Still Bar to Peace—Goldberg

SAIGON (AP) — The biggest South Vietnamese leaders, bar to peace in Vietnam, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said "the limited objective shared by both our sides today, is that our willingness to go to the conference table is not shared by the other side."

The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations addressed a news conference before departing for Manila on the last leg of his five-nation Asian tour.

"I cannot say that there are any new peace proposals under way. I saw this regretfully," he told questioners. "As I have tried to make clear, both before leaving on this trip and during the trip itself, I have not undertaken a mission related to any new proposals or initiatives for peace in Vietnam."

The ambassador said he met with Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, Foreign Minister Tran Van Do and leading figures from labor, political and student communities.

Goldberg said the question whether the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Vietcong, would be directly represented at any peace negotiations "is not an insurmountable problem... if there was a genuine desire on Hanoi's part for talks."

The Saigon government has objected to any talks with the Vietcong. The ambassador said, "judicial he 'did not go into that' with branches."

Possible Ouster Averted by Sheriff

LANSING (AP) — The Court of Appeals Friday handed Wayne County Sheriff Peter Buba a legal victory as it struck down a law permitting ouster hearings before a probate judge. Buba, accused by former grand juror Edward Piggins of malfeasance, misfeasance and wilful neglect of duty, had faced a hearing before Macomb County Probate Judge Francis Calabrese which could have resulted in the sheriff's removal from office.

But the Appeals Court said the law allowing such a hearing conflicts with the State Constitution's section on separation of powers between the executive, legislative, and judicial branches.

Mark Anniversary at Luncheon Today

A luncheon today in the Oriental Room at Devon Gables marked the 22nd anniversary of the founding of Xi chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma International Society.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hsu, born in China and educated for a career in dentistry, spoke on "The Nurture of Creativity Across the Seas" a subject of principal concern to the International DKG Society for more than two years.

Her comparison of the extent of creativity in America, also in China and Formosa prompted a lively question-and-answer period.

Before coming to Pontiac with her husband, Dr. John Hsu, the speaker practiced dentistry in Formosa and is studying at Wayne State University to become a teacher.

Guests at the birthday observance included mother chapters Kappa and Lambda, also daughter chapters, Alpha Beta and Alpha Gamma.

Mrs. Lawrence Voelker handled luncheon arrangements. Hostesses were Mrs. Joseph Kuras, Mrs. Max Sells, Mrs. Glenn Husted, Mrs. Elmer Huntley and Mrs. Peter Spring. Music was planned by Mrs. George Putnam who led group singing.

Zeta Chapter Plans to Attend

Zeta chapter members of Alpha Delta Kappa sorority discussed plans for the state luncheon, April 22, in Kalamazoo, at a meeting Thursday in the Somerset Club-house, Troy.

Proceeds from a presentation by Bee Line Fashions went to the chapter's scholarship fund.

Hostesses were Mrs. Mildred Berthelson and Mrs. Sam Hale.

Why Grow Old?

Not long ago I had a letter which said, "I remember reading that you said women should think thin. I have been wondering about this. Do you really mean that if women think they are thin, they will get thin?"

No, I didn't mean that, as you understood it. You cannot just imagine or dream that you are thin and become slim. You must count calories. However, I believe there is a lot to be said for thinking thin, as I meant it.

Once one of the newspapers which carry my column called me by long distance to interview me about what a quite famous woman had said, and what I thought about it. This celebrity had said that she had lost 30 pounds just by cutting salt out of her diet.

She had been thinking thin. Thinking thin means that you are diet conscious, that you have a goal in mind, that you are seeing yourself as you could be. I am sure the woman in question was sincere, but I think that leaving salt out of food was only one thing she had done.

Without realizing it she had probably been taking much smaller helpings than usual, and cutting way down or out on in between meal snacks. When you think thin, you are not so tempted to overeat. Then, too, let's face it. Food is not nearly so appealing without salt. It doesn't taste nearly so good.

When you think thin you are much more likely to straighten your spine and pull your tummy in to slim your waistline. I feel sure that salt restriction was only one factor in the loss of weight. It is true that salt encourages water retention in the tissues. Any loss of this kind is not loss of fat but of water and will be gained back easily.

There is also such a thing as thinking young instead of old and thinking attractive instead of unattractive. This can have a tremendous impact on our lives. Such thinking has a great influence on our personality, our attitude toward others, our posture and the way we walk, our interests and activities, in fact on our entire life.

Many women who are in the prime of life think old. What a shame! I believe that this outlook can actually speed the aging process, and it certainly takes the fun out of life.

How old are you? You are only as old as your glands, organs, muscles, bloodstream, outlook, and enthusiasm are. The number of years you have lived is an inaccurate gauge.

In order to keep that youthful look you must keep in shape. To keep in shape you must exercise and why not try my "Isometric Exercises for Women"? To obtain your isometric exercises send 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Sturdy Footgear for Pant Suits

Be sure your footgear is in high gear when you're wearing a pant suit. The new boot-fits and men's old-time-looking spectator shoes with laces, buckles and patent trim give your sport suit the sturdy look it needs.

To keep the look a little feminine, choose a pair with a little bit of a heel.

Liza Minnelli Says Vows in New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Liza Minnelli, the actress daughter of Judy Garland, honeymooned today at an undisclosed spot with her husband Peter Woolnough Allen, an Australian actor.

They were married Friday at a double ring ceremony attended by Miss Garland, who said: "All I can say is that I'm very proud."

The ceremony took place in the Park Avenue apartment of friends of the couple. Miss Minnelli, 26, and Allen, 23, had been engaged for two years.

The bride wore a long white wool skirt and a white lace blouse. The couple will live in New York.

Miss Garland was accompanied by her two children Lorna, 14 and Joseph, 11, from her marriage to Sid Luft. Joseph caught the bride's bouquet.

Also attending was Miss Minnelli's father, film director Vincente Minnelli, who designed the lace blouse the bride wore.

Mrs. Brush is Chosen for Leader

Mrs. Clarence Brush was chosen to head the Wayside Cleaners Society as more than 50 members gathered Friday, in Fellowship Hall, First Baptist Church.

Serving as vice presidents will be Mrs. W. S. Freeman and Mrs. Nellie Monroe, with Mrs. Jack Scott and Inez Slater, secretaries. Mrs. Lewis Peters and Mrs. Tom Racine are treasurers.

Others elected were Mrs. William Carls, chorister; Mrs. Alta Koch and Mrs. W. E. Campbell, pianists. Mrs. Albert Barnett and Mrs. Alan Caroline will handle publicity.

The Rev. Robert Winne, pastor of the Waterford Community Church, addressed the group following the playing of bells by Mrs. Leone Reed. Mrs. Tom Reagan led the hymn singing.

A St. Patrick's Day motif chosen for the annual spring luncheon planned by Mrs. E. A. Stepleton and Mrs. Jack Lilleyman.

Guests included Mrs. Warren Muse, Mrs. Heston Moravec and Mrs. Bessie Rath.

You've loved the pantsuit right down to your toes. Now the newest excitement is the short (above the knees, of course) pantsuit. Find one in wonderful vivid, alive colors.

If you're lucky you may even find one with two pairs of pants, (some manufacturers are making them this way) with a contrasting jacket.

A summer wedding is being planned by Catharine Ann Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webster S. Francis of Orchard Lake Road, West Bloomfield Township and Michael R. Calcaterra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Calcaterra of Grosse Pointe. They are sophomores at Michigan State University.

The Donald Carrolls of LaFay Drive, West Bloomfield Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joy Beth, to Airman 3.C. Rodney D. Huntley, son of Mrs. Charles Bonham of Harrison. He is stationed at March AFB, Riverside, Calif.

Today's Natural Look Inspired by Fashion

Every woman wants the natural look to complement today's zany, pop art fashions as well as the most elegant designer creations.

And while cosmetics can contribute to achieving the natural look, its true basis lies in a naturally beautiful complexion. Your complexion should be clear and it should have a natural, healthy glow.

For a clear, flawless complexion, your skin must be scrupulously clean. The tiny facial pores must be free of imbedded dirt, city grime, flecks of old makeup, excess oils and all other matter that clogs pores and causes blemishes.

To be glowingly radiant, your skin must be adequately nourished. This can only be done by increasing the circulation and bringing the blood supply to the facial tissues.

A new facial sauna, world's first beauty appliance, is a revolutionary approach to skin care offering the three keys to a perfect complexion—cleanliness, nourishment and circulation.

The facial sauna is based on the legendary Sauna bath whose benefits have long been enjoyed by the Finns and Scandinavians, people renowned for their attractive complexions.

The gold, crystal and ivory colored sauna appliance is designed for dressing table use; however, it is so lightweight it may be used anywhere or taken on trips. On being plugged into an electrical outlet and with the addition of a few ounces of tap water, it produces billows of warm, gentle mist.

Tigers Rank Freehan No. 1

Battle Looms for Catching Job

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
LAKELAND, Fla. — With the early decision by manager Mayo Smith to keep three catchers on the roster this year, a red-hot battle is being waged for the two available jobs after conceding Bill Freehan the No. 1 position.

Holdover Orlando McFarlane, Arlo Brunsberg and Chris Cannizzaro are the three contenders.

First thoughts would have McFarlane and Brunsberg following Freehan. However, manager Smith and catching coach Hal Naragan are making it obvious they want a long hard look at Cannizzaro, and that McFarlane would be the expendable one.

Brunsborg has been hitting the ball well in camp and looks like a sure bet to stay. He is 26 years old and spent most of 1966 at Syracuse and Mt. Vernon.

He played in two games for the Tigers getting one double in three trips to the plate.

GOOD POTENTIAL

"He's got good wrist action and the potential of getting some long base hits," commented Wally Moses near the batting cage in issuing Brunsberg some batting tips.

Cannizzaro is 29 years old, has been in organized ball since 1956 and has had four separate flings with St. Louis and the New York Mets in the National League.

"There's no doubt he's major league material, but it seems he gets to the doorway but just hasn't been able to make it inside," commented Ed Katalinas, one of the top men in the Tiger farm operations.

Cannizzaro came to the Tigers with a familiar name to Michigan fans, John Herrnstein, former University of Michigan football and baseball star.

They were obtained in a trade with the Atlanta Braves for Julio Navarro and Ed Rakow.

AT TOLEDO

Herrnstein is currently on the Toledo roster as is Cannizzaro, but the ex-Wolverine is not scheduled to arrive in camp until March 7 and there is a possibility that he may be used for trading.

Herrnstein captured the U. of M. football team in 1958 and started as a catcher with Des Moines in 1959. He later reached the Philadelphia Phillies' roster as first baseman and outfielder after five years with the Phils. a short stay with the Cubs and Atlanta Braves, he was sent to Richmond of the International League when obtained by the Tigers.

His best hitting year was a .234 with the Phils in 125 games in 1964.

Cannizzaro had his best year in the majors in 1964 when he hit .311 with the Mets, but the following season, in 114 games he dropped to .138.

He was at Richmond in the latter part of 1966 when he came to the Detroit system with Herrnstein.

NO EXPLANATION
"I can't explain by sudden drop. It just seemed nothing would fall into place," Cannizzaro said.

Cannizzaro recalled that in 1964 when he did hit .311, his roommate was former Tiger pitching star Frank Lary.

"That's the explanation then," joked Norm Cash, "when I had 'Taters' (Lary) as my roommate, I hit .261 and won the batting crown and Frank won 23 games."

"There was something about that Lary that made a winner out of you," Cash then explained.

At any rate, the coaches consider Cannizzaro a good receiver and may be willing to risk his having another good year as he did in 1964.

McFarlane was former major league pitcher and a personal choice as backup catcher, but he has been prone to injury. He was on the disabled list in mid-season last year.

MUSCLE PULL
Yesterday he was absent from drills because of muscle pull in the back which trainer Bill Behm said was not serious but required some rest.

In camp yesterday, Brunsberg laced a couple balls over the right field wall, as did Jim Northrup.

Birmingham resident Larry Huffman was on the mound for the first time against the major league players and had a tough time of it.

He couldn't find the plate at the start and had Cannizzaro somewhat upset.

The pitchers throw from behind a four-foot high screen and Huffman, a former Groves High School athlete explained, "It was the first time I ever pitched from behind the screen. It was a little nervous and it bothered me somewhat."

Falcons' Love, Rafferty Pace Easy Victory

Warriors Outclassed

in District Finale;

Winners Now 18-0

By JERE CRAIG

Birmingham Groves' basketball machine has the favorite's role for next week's Class A regional tournament at Seaholm High School.

The Falcons' first five left no doubt to their ranking as the county's best cage unit and at least the third best in the state by thumping Birmingham Brother Rice, 64-45, last night for the district championship at Seaholm.

Groves (18-0) lacks the quickness of Pontiac Central (or Ferndale district titlist Hamtramck), the depth of Kettering, the steady one-two punch of Rochester or a brilliant player like Clarkson's Dan Fife.

But its starting quintet combines all the attributes of a championship cage team. Foremost is 6-8 center Craig Love, probably the closest facsimile to a prep Bill Russell ever produced in the county.

Russell is the defensive whiz who led San Francisco University to two NCAA titles, then made the Boston Celtics kings of pro basketball.

NO BETTER

He couldn't have outdone Love Friday night at Seaholm.

The slender pivotman slipped down at least a half dozen Brother Rice shots, controlled the defensive backboard at will and scored ten points when they were needed.

He so unmercifully Brother Rice's shooters that 6-5 Dan Parks and 6-4 Lee Hart managed one field goal apiece, and weren't generally effective around the boards.

The Warriors tallied only 17 field goals and 13 of them were from well outside.

With the tall Love working off a high post on offense, 6-4 teammate Mike Rafferty used his shooting and rebounding talents to embarrass the Warriors several times by following up missed baskets and putting the ball in the hoop.

When the Groves' front line slowed its scoring pace, guards Roy Iceberg and Gary Falkus, a pair of quick 6-0 seniors, took up the scoring slack.

IMPROVEMENT

Early in the season, the backline's ball handling was a weak factor in the Falcons' attack, but that has improved noticeably.

Brother Rice had an early lead of 12-7 as Mel Boomer hit five of seven field goals and 10-16 points in the opening quarter.

Rafferty got the winners' offense rolling in the next period and with 4½ minutes remaining in the first half, Groves took the lead for good before a crowd of 3,300.

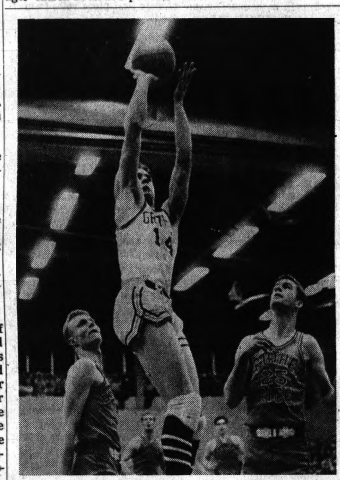

The advantage was only 25-23 at the half, but Rafferty continued living up to his All-Conference credentials in the third period and the margin was nine points when Brother Rice managed its second field goal midway through the quarter.

Rafferty departed on fouls with 5½ minutes left in the game, having scored a game high 18 points. His absence wasn't missed.

Love scored the first bucket after the Falcons' leader departed, pushing the edge back up to 11 points at 49-38; and then Iceberg took over with some sharp free throw shooting to pad the lead.

UCLA Ups Streak to 24

By the Associated Press
The top-ranked, unbeaten UCLA Bruins won their 24th straight, but it was the LaSalle Explorers who grabbed the headlines in college basketball Friday night.

LaSalle, whose coach, Joe Heyer, was hurt in effigy earlier in the week by some of the student body, stunned the St. Joseph's Hawks 73-70 in the first round of the Middle Atlantic Conference championship tournament in Philadelphia. UCLA wallpated Stanford on the road 75-47.

POOR MARK
LaSalle, beaten only last Sunday by the Hawks 96-83, got into the MAC playoffs because its poor 13-11 record still was better than some of the other MAC clubs.

Aid by Larry Cannon, who scored 22 points, the Explorers went on a 19-3 spurt in the second half that erased an 11-point deficit and gave them the lead at 68-64. The Hawks rallied to within 71-70, but a long pass from Joe Markmann to Chuck Storm sent it up for LaSalle when Storm scored.

Lew Alcindor, the Player of the Year, helped celebrate the naming of his coach, Johnny Wooden, as Coach of the Year by The Associated Press, with 20 points on seven field goals and 11 shots and six of nine free throws.

TALL PROBLEM — Richard Mrozinski (with ball) of Orchard Lake St. Mary encounters a couple of tall defensive problems in Country Day's 6-3 Larry Bajor (left) and 6-9 center Dave Swift (54) as he maneuvers for a basket in the first half of their district tournament game at Pontiac Northern last night. No. 42 is OLSM's Michael Kowalski and No. 44 is Jack Zwerner. Country Day won, 54-45, to take the Class C district title and earn a berth in the regionals next week at Grand Blanc.

Country Day Takes District Cage Title

Yellow Jackets Post 54-45 Triumph

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Potent Country Day, held in check by a surprising Orchard Lake St. Mary squad through three periods, broke away in the fourth period last night for a 54-45 victory that gave the school the Class C district tournament title at Pontiac Northern.

The triumph raised the Country Day record to 16-2 for the season and gave the squad a berth in the regional next week in Grand Blanc.

It was the first district title for the Yellow Jackets — the first one they could keep — since the early 1950s.

Two years ago, coach John Hannett and the Jackets took the district crown and were ready for the regional when it was discovered that one of the Country Day players was ineligible.

"We had to give the trophy back," said Hannett, as he recalled the incident. St. Michael replaced the Jackets in the regional.

CAN KEEP IT

"But this one (holding the 1957 trophy) we'll keep," he added.

Coach Rev. John Rakoczy and the Eagles dropped an 85-51 decision to the Country Day squad during the regular season. They were determined to slow the Jackets' offense last night.

They did. With a deliberate attack, they trailed 14-13 after one quarter and were behind 32-25 at halftime. The pace slowed rapidly in the third and the Jackets managed only eight points and OLSM seven to turn the score to 40-35.

But midway in the fourth, the Eagles committed several costly errors and Country Day took advantage of the miscues to open up a 46-39 lead with 2:26 left.

Country Day then moved into a stall and the Eagles were forced to foul in their efforts to get the ball. The Jackets' final eight points came at the free throw line.

The winners were in trouble early when 6-9 center Dave Swift collected three personal fouls, but Larry Bajor, Tim Baughman, Steve Taracy, Mike Ross and Paul Miller took up the slack. Swift returned in the second half and wound up with 12 points and helped CD to a 54-45 victory.

Detroit Northwestern, L'Anse Grab District Cage Crowns

By the Associated Press
Detroit Northwestern and L'Anse won their district championships Friday night while South Haven and Ewen, two more favored teams, try for theirs tonight as the Michigan high school basketball tournament winds up district play.

Detroit Northwestern, top-rated team in Class A, beat Detroit Central 78-66. South Haven, top-ranked in Class B, met Paw Paw tonight. The defending Class C champion, top-rated L'Anse, crushed Crystal Falls 96-73. Ewen, top-ranked in Class D, goes against Ironwood St. Ambrose tonight.

In another top Class A game, Muskegon Heights trounced Muskegon Catholic 87-45 to win a district championship. The defending Class A champion, Ferndale, fell out earlier.

TITLE GAME

In Class B, Marysville meets Marine City tonight while Albion takes on Battle Creek Penfield. Defending Champion Grand Rapids East Christian trimmed Lowell 73-59.

Leslie plays Williamston tonight in Class C. Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart beat Coleman 98-50 Friday and tries Shepherd tonight for the district crown.

MSU Sharing Favorite's Role in Track Meet

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — The express train speed of Michigan State's Gene Washington and Wisconsin's Aquino Jackson has hurried the Spartans and Badgers into covetous roles to capture the 57th Big Ten track championship today.

Washington, an All-American football player, is the conference record-holder in the 70-yard high and low hurdles. He took both events in record-setting time in Friday night's preliminaries and nearly overshadowed Wisconsin's slim lead.

Washington, who will lead state's contingent of eight qualifiers — most in the field — into today's finals, won the 70-yard high hurdles in 8.3 seconds, tying the Big Ten record he set in 1965. His clocking of 7.7 seconds in the 70-yard low hurdles tied the mark he set in 1965.

Jackson, a junior who captured best times in the 60-yard and 300-yard relays, will head a list of seven badgers into the finals. Michigan had six.

Flint St. Matthew goes against Flint St. Mary tonight in Class D. The defending D champ, Oshtemo, is out of the tournament. Lamont King scored 26 points and John Mayberry 18 as Detroit Northwestern kept its record undefeated.

UPS RECORD
Muskegon Heights moved to an 18-1 record as Ralph Houston scored 33 points against Muskegon Catholic.

Ralph Simpson hit for 32 points and Spencer Haywood got 30 as Detroit Pershing ran over Detroit Kettering 93-60 for a district championship. Dan Shinnaberger got 34 points in leading Holland to a 97-75 rout of St. Joseph.

Hamtramck squeaked by Highland Park 66-64 for a Class A district crown. The Parkers tied the game with six seconds left, but Dennis Smock hit a jump shot to win it for Hamtramck. Smock got 18 points. James Smith 23 and the Blessit 19 for Hamtramck.

LEADS ATTACK

In Class B, Bill Rykes led Grand Rapids East Christian 30-14 with 20 points. Steve Veneklassen and Ron Fletstra added 15 each.

Ron Alcorn of Bay City City Gien turned in one of the outstanding individual performances of the tournament so far, scoring 40 points as Glenview downed Midland Bullock Creek 74-44. Alcorn hit on 16 field goals and eight of nine free throws.

Elkton-Pigeon-Bayport, paced by Dennis Thiel's 27 points, downed Vassar 64-55. Carlo crushed Bad Axe 85-43 and meets Elkton-Pigeon-Bayport tonight for the district crown.

Bill Parkkonen scored 25 points for Isenheim in a close defeat of Negaunee, 65-63. Saline had five men in double figures and crushed Pinckney 112-58 in Class B. Willow Run dumped Dexter 84-57 and meets Saline tonight.

L'Anse, the defending C titlist and a strong favorite to repeat, moved to a 19-0 record by beating Crystal Falls. Jerry Gerard led the winners with 31 points. Wakefield, another Upper Peninsula threat in Class C, whipped Ontonagon 74-35. Al Inkala scored 25 points for Wakefield.

LEADS KEGGERS IN FINALS

School wrestling championships on the Ann Arbor High School mats.

The two Inter-Lakes League powers were among the top five teams based on Friday's rather insignificant team point totals. About the only obvious fact as 48 boys entered this afternoon's 1-p.m. semifinals was that defending champion Battle Creek Central would not repeat.

Trenton leads the standings currently with 13 points. Lansing Everett has 12, host Ann Arbor and PNH 9 each. Walled Lake 7 and five others are tied with 6 points. These are based on advancement points and bonus points for pins.

Everett has the most wrestlers in the semifinals, 4; Walled Lake 3, Trenton, Port Huron, Battle Creek Lakeview and Arbor have three each.

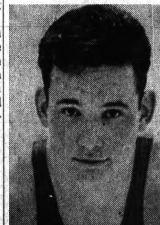

Walled Lake has two semi-finalists, but like Northern also has four other grapplers awaiting possible chances to compete for third- or fourth-place points. Those boys eliminated by matmen who then reach the finals are eligible for the consolation round.

TOP RATED
PNH's Tom Kell (103 pounds), Bill Green (112) and Frank Laferty (130 pounds) are in the semifinals. Kell and Laferty are top seeded in their events.

Walled Lake has Rick Hyde, the 132-pound No. 2 seed, and Dennis Brandt (108) still unseeded; but 145-pounder Den Fitzgerald, also second seeded, lost his opening match.

Pontiac Central's heavyweight Charles Mason ousted the No. 1 seed, 270-pound George Trujillo of Jackson, with a dramatic takedown at the buzzer for a one-point victory; but he then lost a 5-2 decision to Utica's Dan Krause who is in the semifinals.

Waterford Community Church Builds New Addition

WATERFORD COMMUNITY CHURCH—The congregation of Waterford Community Church will dedicate the new Christian education building at 3 p.m. tomorrow. The church first known as the First Baptist Church and Society of Waterford, was then located on Andersonville Road just a block from Dixie Highway. The church was organized in 1869 when two men, Grow and Gene Fifield, went about the community getting pledges to erect a house of worship. The new addition designed by Eldon Eroh and constructed by Roy Hanson will offer space for a Sunday School of 1,200.

The congregation of Waterford Community Church, Airport and Olympic Parkway, organized more than 98 years ago, will dedicate the new Christian Education Building at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Dr. David Allen of Calvary Baptist Church, Hazel Park, will bring the dedicatory message.

The new addition designed by Eldon Eroh and constructed by Roy Hanson will, with the present building, offer space for a Sunday School of 1,200 persons.

Presently the congregation is in the midst of a Sunday School contest with a goal of 1,000 by Easter.

ORGANIZED IN 1869

The church one of the oldest in Waterford Township, dates back to 1869 when, according to the record, two men, Grow and Gene Fifield, went around the community getting pledges to erect a house of worship.

The church built on Andersonville Road near Dixie Highway

was known as the First Baptist Church and Society of Waterford.

In 1886 the name of the church was changed to the Waterford Community Church, and in 1940 the church became a member of the Independent Fundamental Churches of America.

Elizabeth Jencks was called in 1941 to be the children's worker and to direct Child Evangelism work in the Oakland County area, a position which she still holds.

In 1957 the present pastor, the

Rev. Robert D. Winne, came to the church.

Two years later the congregation voted to sell the old building and to purchase property on Airport and Olympic Parkway.

In 1961 a $250,000 auditorium seating 500 was dedicated, and since that time the congregation has grown immensely, Pastor Winne said.

In connection with the dedication of the new addition, a special Christian Workers' Conference with Dr. Allen will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings beginning at 7:30.

The conference is open to everyone. The nursery will be available to parents with small children.

Silvercrest Contest Starts Tomorrow

The Sunday School Contest for new members will begin tomorrow at Silvercrest Baptist Church, 2562 Dixie Highway, under the direction of Alfred L. Hines, Sunday School superintendent.

During the month of February, members of the congregation called at some 2,000 homes inviting all ages to the Silvercrest Church and Sunday School. The goal set is for 540 by Easter Sunday which falls this year on March 28.

'Encounter,' Film Slated for Bethany

"Boy Meets Girl" sounds trite and familiar but the story takes a different and dramatic turn in the film entitled "Encounter."

It relates the results of an encounter between a boy from Switzerland and a girl from Montana as they make some transforming discoveries at the New York World's Fair.

The film will be the highlight of the Family Night program at Bethany Baptist Church Wednesday evening.

Parents and children of all ages will gather at the church for a planned buffet dinner at 6:30 p.m. Singing of hymns and familiar songs will follow.

Harold Morrison of Mason will show the film.

Children are provided with a story hour and there's a nursery for little tots.

Mrs. Doris Thornton will give devotions and Jim Donaldson will lead the singing.

Neighbors and friends of the community are invited. The film produced by Worldwide Pictures will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Pastor Emil Kozak said.

Two series of Bible studies are being given at Bethany Church during the Lenten season.

At 11 a.m. each Sunday the theme is "Dialogue With Jesus."

Each Wednesday evening at 7:30 the topic is "In the Steps of the Master" with a review of the important events leading to Holy Week and beyond.

News of Area Churches

MARIMONT

The Rev. Robert Richardson, Christian education coordinator at Five Points Community Church, will be guest speaker at all services of Marimont Baptist Church tomorrow.

Special music will be provided by Mrs. Wanda Smades in the morning worship hour. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Herne and the Rev. and Mrs. Richardson will furnish selections at the evening service.

Vicki Gavette was elected president of Junior High Fellowship.

Other officers include Blair Miller, vice president; Terrie Smades, secretary; Chris Frick, treasurer; and Susie Garant and Danny Matthews, group captains. The group will have a Bible baseball quiz at 6:30 p.m.

Organ Recital by Dr. Mason

Dedication Is Set at Beautiful Savior

The dedicatory recital of the new Casavant pipe organ of Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church, 5631 N. Adams, Bloomfield Township, will be at 7:45 p.m. Monday evening.

Dr. Marilyn Mason, head of the department of organ, University of Michigan School of Music, will present the recital. A reception will follow.

The Rev. Donald G. Zill, pastor, said the public is invited. The organ, designed by Dr. Mason and custom built by Casavant Freres of St. Hyacinthe, Que., contains 1,421 pipes and is free standing in the rear gallery of the church.

Dr. Mason will play compositions by Bach, Walther, Regner, Kindermann, Boyce, and Searle-Wright.

Heard in recitals throughout North and South America as well as Europe, she received the doctor of sacred music degree in 1954 at Union Theological Seminary.

Dr. Mason was the first American woman to play in Westminster Abbey when she represented the United States at the International Congress of Organists in 1957.

met will present a celebration of the folk Mass, "Rejoice," at 7 p.m. tomorrow in Christ Church Cranbrook.

A discussion will follow. The Marquis Club is composed of church young people.

BROWNSON GUILD

The Brownson Guild will observe a Day of Reflection on March 12 at the Convent of Sacred Heart, 1250 Kensington, Bloomfield Hills, with the Rev. Nicholas Maestrini, the director.

The opening conference at 10:30 a.m. will include the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass at 11:45. Lunch will follow.

A conference and question and answer period is scheduled for 2 p.m. The day's program will close with meditation and benediction.

ASCENSION

Mrs. Philip Gentile of Birmingham, an official observer at the United Nations, will speak on "The United Nations and What It Is Really Like" at the 9 p.m. meeting of church women Tuesday at the Lutheran Church of the Ascension.

Mrs. Gentile serves with the fund for adult education of the Ford Foundation.

The women are presently making dresses for young girls in Africa.

Singspiration Set for Sunday

The youth group of Auburn Church will host the Youth for Christ Singspiration at 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Special guests will be missionary interns from local churches with Kenneth Orr of Waterford Community Church, evening soloist.

LEAVE IT TO ME—"I have it all cleaned up for Sunday," said Nelson Krick of Holy (right) as the Rev. Robert Winne, pastor of Waterford Community Church, appears to look over progress in the new Christian education building to be dedicated tomorrow. Pastor Winne is alarmed about how the building will look as he views paint cans, boards, pieces of tile, tools and plaster piled around in the new Fellowship Hall.

not to replace the historic creeds and confessions of the church, but to supplement them.

By 1966 a proposed New Confession was approved by the General Assembly and sent out to the 188 Presbyteries of the United States for approval or rejection.

At the meeting of Detroit Presbytery this week, the Confession of Faith was approved when delegates of 100 churches met in First Presbyterian Church, Pontiac.

According to the Rev. Galen E. Hershey, host pastor, the New Confession does not claim to be either final or adequate. It is, as a whole, a rather weak document so carefully worded that it can offend few and elate fewer.

"More important to Presbyterians of this area was the weakening of the supporters of the controversial West-Central Organization," he said.

"Though the church believes in an extensive social education and action, it does not believe that it is the duty of Presbyterian pastors to either defy or run the Armed Forces, schools, industries and governments," said Pastor Hershey.

"No confession of faith can justify undue interference with the established institutions of society when change can be brought about through peaceful methods."

PRESBYTERY VOTES—The Rev. Galen E. Hershey (left), minister of First Presbyterian Church, was host pastor when representatives of 100 churches of Detroit Presbytery met in Pontiac Tuesday. Discussing events connected with the acceptance of the Confession of Faith—1967 is Robert D. Will 36 Mark, an elder of the church.

NEW MINISTER—The Rev. John W. Trate of 4920 Orchard Lake, new minister of the West Bloomfield Baptist Church, is shown with his family. Seated in front of Mrs. Trate are (from left) Diane, Daryl, Daniel and Douglas. The Rev. Mr. Trate was installed as pastor of the church Sunday evening.

Silver And Crystal Cruet, A Sherwood Family Heirloom

A Winning Subject, Four-Year-Old Barry Smiles From The Wing Back Chair In The Country Kitchen

Jewel of a House in Franklin

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

A jewel of a house in a perfect setting is the reclaimed brick Dutch Colonial of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sherwood in Franklin.

Though new, towering trees create the feeling that the house, like the village, is turning back time to the peaceful settlements of the early 1800s.

"We designed our own home," said Mr. Sherwood proudly.

"After keeping a scrap book for six years," added his wife, cuddling four-month-old Brendan. The Sherwoods have five children, Shannon, 12, Bridgett, 10, Chiara, 7, Barry, 4, and the baby.

Heart of the home is the comfortable country kitchen at the back of the house.

"We didn't want to spoil the view of the back yard," said Mrs. Sherwood, "so we did not install draperies on the windows in the bay."

"By using just the valances, it keeps the windows open and I can watch the youngsters sledding down the hill with no trouble at all."

The bay area is also the children's inside play area and the convenient window seats are hinged to allow for toy storage space.

A portion of the walk-in fireplace so common to Colonial kitchens is set aside for an indoor barbecue as a concession to today's cooking and entertaining habits.

"And the fireplace has a touch of the modern too," said Mrs. Sherwood. "It is gas with ceramic logs. When we want to burn wood, there's no problem getting the fire started."

"Just add a natural log to the fire basket and before long it's snapping and crackling."

Authentic glass pieces and pewter decorate the mantel beam.

"One of the bottles," said Mr. Sherwood, "we found in the basement excavation." Hand-blown green glass, it's marked with the letters D. B. C.

A basket of polished red apples graces the cracker barrel which serves as an end table to the wing back sofa covered in Oxford gray.

An Early Master print, antique sauerkraut slicer and old keys are grouped above the pine-dry sink.

Green statice in the white pitcher and bowl introduces a bright touch of color to the cozy room.

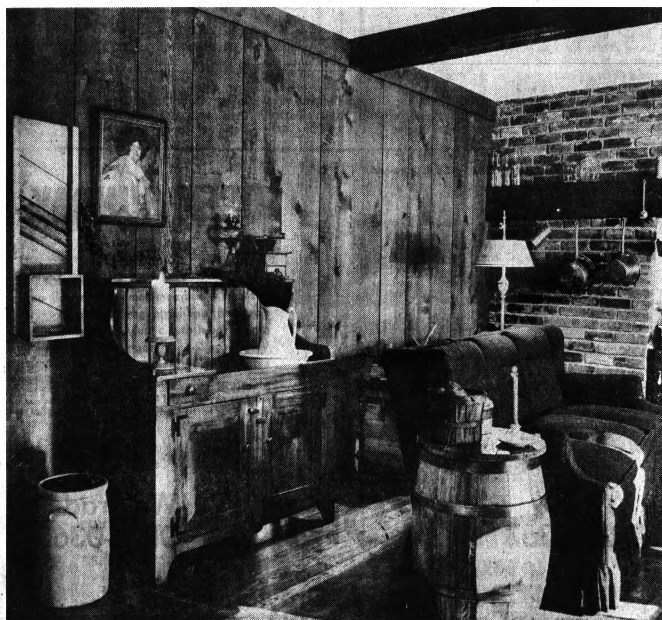

A drop-leaf pine table with ladder back chairs centers the dining portion. Lighting the table is an authentic brass and milk glass hanging lantern.

Electrified, it sends a soft glow over the diners similar to the original flickering kerosene flame. Cutwork on the lantern's flanges is repeated on the brass straps.

The counter top stove is recessed in a brick frame. Gleaming brass and copper pieces add to the Americana feeling of the room. The small covered pail on corner of the stove was the early dairyman's version of today's milk bottle.

Panel Topic Deals With Spring Plans

Oliver Dunstan of 157 Hillcroft, Waterford Township; and Dr. John M. Cofy of 1807 Long Pointe, Bloomfield Township will join James Kittle of Oak Park and Vernon Groat of Mount Clemens in a panel discussion "A Blueprint of Your 1967 Organic Garden."

Moderating the panel will be Robert M. Powell of Detroit. Dunstan will speak on "The Living Soil," Cofy, "Soil Tillage," Kittle, "Seed Varieties and Garden Layout," and Groat, "Care of Growing Plants."

The program will be presented Thursday at the general meeting of the Organic Farm and Garden Club of Royal Oak.

Open to the public, the meeting will be held at the Royal Oak Woman's Club, 404 S. Pleasant at Fourth, Royal Oak at 7:45 p.m.

ACCENT PIECE — You can go all out on upholstered furniture, floor coverings and curtains, and come up with nothing if you don't finish your room with interesting accent pieces. After. Refinishing Job

Grandma's Heirloom Is Perfect in Modern Setting

After a good refinishing job, even Grandma's oldest heirloom can provide a delightful touch in a modern furniture setting!

To refinish an old piece of furniture, it is often necessary to remove the old finish. A non-flammable, wax-free chemical paint and varnish remover is the safest and easiest to use.

Wear old clothes, work in a well-ventilated area, and be sure to wear rubber gloves to protect your skin.

Spread the remover on liberally with the side of your brush, stroking in one direction only. Apply remover to one section at a time, allowing it to soak in until the entire finish is soft.

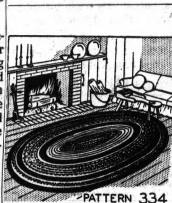

Then scrape off the softened finish carefully with a dull, putty knife to avoid scratching the wood. To take off remover in tricky areas, use steel wool, pointed sticks, or an old toothbrush.

SAND WELL

After scraping off the remover, sand the furniture well, beginning with medium or fine grade sandpaper and finishing with very fine. Sand with the grain to eliminate scratching the wood.

If you don't like the color of the wood, change it. If the wood is too dark, bleach it using a commercially prepared wood bleach. Most of these are two-solution preparations.

First apply the bleach with a brush or sponge and allow it to dry until the right shade is reached. Next rinse or neutralize according to the manufacturer's directions.

MAKE BRAIDED RUGS during winter evenings of T. V. watching. Pattern 334 shows every step what materials, how to dye, cut braid and sew; length of first round of an oval; hints on color combinations. Price 35c. This pattern also is included in the Hooked and Braided Rug Packet 21 which gives actual-size hooking patterns and novelty ideas all for $1.

The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept. P. O. Box 50 New Windsor, N. Y. 12550

When the furniture is perfectly dry (a matter of a day or two), sand lightly with very fine sandpaper.

If the wood is too light stain it. Remove all exposed hardware, and clean all grease or dirt marks by sanding or wiping with denatured alcohol. Pigmented oil stains or combination stain-sealers are very popular for use on furniture.

To check the color, first apply the stain to an inconspicuous place, allow it to dry, and then apply the final finish. If the test area is blotchy, you should apply a wash coat of clear penetrating sealer first.

Apply the stain with a lint-free cloth or brush, working on one section at a time. Allow it to stand for a few minutes, then wipe lightly with a lint-free cloth until you obtain a uniform color.

Begin with the more inconspicuous parts and do the front faces and tops last. Since end-grained wood absorbs more stain, apply sparingly. Now let the stain dry overnight, and you will be ready to apply the varnish!

WATER RESISTANT

Quality varnish is resistant to water and other liquids. Get a hard-drying type for furniture. A smooth finish requires at least two coats with light sanding between each.

After sanding, always completely clean the surface with lint-free cloths. Never work in a dusty location or apply varnish when the air is humid or cold.

Apply varnish with a quality bristle brush in parallel strokes, then cross-stroke by brushing immediately at right angles. Next stroke lightly with an almost dry brush, working parallel to the grain for a uniform finish.

If the final coat is marred by dust specks or is too high a gloss, a final rubbing is your answer. Allow the varnish to harden for a week.

Then mix a paste of powdered pumice stone and motor or machine oil and rub it on parallel to the grain with a pad of heavy, lintless cloth until the surface is completely smooth. Wipe off remaining residue with a clean, dry cloth.

To restore a high luster, a second polishing is necessary. Mix a paste of powdered rotten-stone and crude oil and rub as described above. When the desired luster is reached, rub off residue with clean cloths until the surface squeaks. With care and a little effort, you can change any piece of furniture from an uninspiring dust catcher to a charming collector's item!

Eases Tight Money Situation

By JOHN PIERSON
United Press International
The federal reserve board has moved to ease the tight money situation, freeing bank reserves for an enlarged lending market that can allow interest rates to be brought down.

The board specified late Tuesday in announcing reduced requirements for bank reserves that it was acting to assure "that the availability of credit is adequate to provide for orderly economic growth."

It eased the reserves it was freeing would "assist in meeting developing credit needs throughout the country." A board source said the move was aimed specifically at boosting the slumping home building sector of the economy.

Some $850 million that banks previously had been required to keep on reserve would now be available for loans under the reduced requirements, the board estimated.

Since one bank's loan is another bank's deposit, the potential credit expansion was many times $850 million.

The board's eased requirements applies to reserves maintained against savings deposit, Christmas

FNMA Action Assists Buyers, Lifts Ceilings

Leon N. Weiner, president of the National Association of Home Builders, recently applauded the triple price-purchase actions taken by the Federal National Mortgage Association.

FNMA, the government's "mortgage broker," increased prices it will pay for mortgages under secondary market operations, scrapped its four-month purchase rule, and lifted ceilings on mortgage amount purchases.

"These are major steps in helping to revive the mortgage market, and reflects the continuing improvement in the mortgage market situation," Weiner said.

"We are pleased that President Johnson and administration officials have been quick to recognize this situation and the need for an improving climate to carry on the job of providing better and more housing for the American people."

"These actions together with others previously directed by the President—and the latest by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in easing some of its restrictive rules on loans—should be of big assistance to home buyers and home builders although the impact may not be felt for some time."

mas and vacation club accounts, and the first $5 million of other time deposits. These are deposits left in a bank for a specified period of time.

The board action lowers this requirement from 4 to 3 percent in two equal steps on March 2 and 16.

One source said the board was concerned about the strength of the economy, a concern that gained substance Monday in a report on consumer purchasing plans.

The commerce department reported a decline in the number of American families planning to buy new cars, houses and television sets this year, although there was an increase in the number planning to buy used cars or air conditioners. The comparison was to surveys taken a year ago.

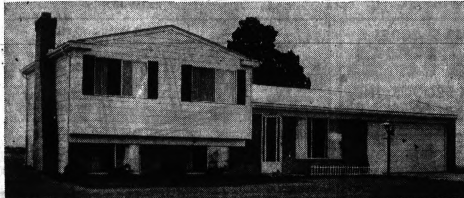

Of 25,000 families interviewed in January, 4.4 per cent said they planned to buy a new car during the next six months. When the same question was asked a year ago, 4.8 per cent answered yes.

New cars sales have been slumping, and the survey may indicate that the slump will persist at least through the first half of this year.

Families planning to buy a new house during the next 12 months declined slightly, from 1.7 per cent in January, 1966 to 1.6 per cent last month.

Those intending to buy a previously occupied house dropped more, from 2.3 to 1.9 per cent.

N-Arms Treaty Periled by Nonnuclear Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposition from nonnuclear nations is clouding prospects for a treaty halting the spread of nuclear weapons, State Department officials say.

Sources said that Japan, West Germany, India and France are among the nonnuclear nations sharply questioning the proposed treaty.

Failure of these and other nations to become part of an international treaty would make such a pact all but worthless, officials concede.

Sources said opposition to the treaty from non-nuclear nations largely rests on three issues:

- Fear the pact would interfere with the development of nuclear power for peaceful uses.
- Suspicion that it would give those nations already possessing nuclear capabilities a virtual monopoly on technology.
- Concern that creation of an international inspection agency charged with making sure nations observe the treaty, would lead to espionage.

SKEPTICISM REMAINS

The United States has attempted to give assurances along these lines, the sources said, but some nations remain skeptical.

Also threatening the proposed treaty is the possible inspection by nonnuclear powers that any pact requiring nuclear disarmament by the United States, Soviet Union and other nuclear powers. U.S. officials feel there is no chance that Communist China or France would accept such a condition.

U.S.-Soviet talks aimed at ending their race to develop both offensive and defensive missiles, officials emphasized, hopefully could curb increases in nuclear weaponry by other nuclear nations.

The United States is said to be cool to the suggestion that it revamp its present system of alliances. Prof. Robert A. Scalapino of the University of California urged the government this week to encourage regional defense pacts banding together a number of Asian nations while neutralizing some other areas.

Scalapino recommended a new Pacific military structure in the event the United States would provide military logistical support but Asians would be expected to supply military manpower.

Fire Damages Church Interior in Mississippi

GRENADE, Miss. (AP) — Fire early today damaged the interior of the Vincent Chapel A.M.E. church used by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference for mass meetings on civil rights. No one was injured.

The police department said the fire started in the church's office was investigating.

The pipe organ was destroyed and a small surrounding area was damaged.

The SCLC began using the church for its meetings after fire destroyed the Bellflower Baptist Church a few weeks ago.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "They keep saying the early birds get the worm. But look what happens to the early worm!"

EARL'S PEARLS: Tallulah Bankhead explained what she does to attract attention: "I just stay home, and people wonder what I'm up to."

A local character seldom gives a direct answer. At his wedding he was asked, "Do you take this woman . . . and he said, after some hesitation: "Well, that depends . . ." That's earl brother.

College Letter Hits Bombing

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 200 members of the faculty and staff of Teachers College, Columbia University, sent a letter to President Johnson Friday protesting the war in Vietnam and urging an end to bombings.

The letter said: "We call on you to stop the bombing of North Vietnam, escalation of the war and give a definite sign that the United States will accept the direct participation of the Viet Cong in peace negotiations."

"We submit that . . . the risks we are running and the price we are paying are out of all proportion to any possible benefit that can be foreseen for South Vietnam or for the United States."

GM Won't Appeal Layoff Benefits

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors has advised the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESCC) that it will not appeal a decision granting jobless pay to GM workers idled by a wildcat strike in Ohio.

The strike, declared illegal by both the company and the United Auto Workers union, shut down a vital parts plant in Mansfield, Ohio. This forced the company to lay off 97,000 workers in Michigan and about 100,000 elsewhere around the nation.

An MESCC spokesman said it was not known how many will be eligible for unemployment compensation.
