Hunted Oxford Man Gives Up

Ex-Con Sought for Abduction

Wanted in Kidnaping of 2 Officers, Woman

By DICK HANSON

A paroled convict being sought for the past three weeks in the abduction of two Oxford reserve patrolmen and a woman radio dispatcher, surrendered quietly today to a Pontiac FBI agent and sheriff's detective.

F. Frederick Hannah, 24, gave himself up to agent Palmer Wee and detective Charles Whitlock at his grandmother's home in Oxford. Hannah phoned Wee at 7:20 a.m.

"I'm Fred Hannah and I want to surrender because I have no place to go," Wee quoted the parolee as saying over the telephone this morning.

Wee went to the house at 102 East St. accompanied only by Whitlock. Oxford police stayed in the background in case they were needed.

Whitlock said Hannah agreed to surrender quietly only "if there's no fanfare to embarrass my grandmother."

She is an elderly woman and not involved, said Whitlock.

He retrieved the 25-caliber automatic pistol Hannah used to abduct the entire on-duty Oxford police force when he was brought into the village station at 2:30 a.m. April 6 on a minor traffic violation.

CAN'T EXPLAIN ACTIONS

Hannah said he didn't know exactly why he abducted Mrs. LeLora Westphal, 42, and officers Richard Lamphier, 21, and Wendell Hill, 24.

"They asked me to empty my pockets on the desk, and I reached in and found the automatic in my hand. . . . First thing I knew I had the gun pointed at them."

Hannah had been recently paroled from Jackson Prison where he served time for arson in the burning of an Oxford tavern.

Being caught with a gun in his possession would have ended his parole, forcing his return to prison.

Whitlock retrieved the gun from a dresser in Hannah's bedroom. Hannah said he had pawned the two police officer's revolvers in Miami, Fla., where

GIVES UP — F. Frederick Hannah, 24, of Oxford is booked at the county jail on kidnaping and armed robbery charges after surrendering this morning. He had been sought for three weeks in the abduction of three Oxford police personnel. Tired of running from the law, Hannah said "I've got no place else to go."

Informs Envoy of Full Support on Agreement

Reds Attack Neutrals After Communique Issued in Kremlin

From Our News Wires

MOSCOW — Soviet Premier Khrushchev assured Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman today that he joined with the United States in affirming full support of the accord on keeping Laos neutral and peaceful.

Khrushchev made the declaration in a joint communique issued after he had discussed the Laos situation for three and a half hours in the Kremlin with Harriman.

The communique declared that, "The President (Kennedy) and chairman of the Council of Ministers (Khrushchev) reaffirmed that both governments fully support the general agreements on the Laotian question about which there was an exchange of views between them at Vienna and a mutual understanding reached."

After the communique had been issued, informed sources in Vientiane reported that new fighting had broken out between Laotian neutralist forces and pro-Communist troops at four different spots on the Plain of Jars.

In addition, the Laotian Defense Ministry announced that pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops had attacked an outpost of rightwing forces led by Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

★ ★ ★

The new outbursts of fighting were reported as Laos' beleaguered Neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, scheduled a trip to the Plain of Jars tomorrow in a personal effort to halt the new battling that threatened the existence of his shaky coalition government.

The Soviet press continued to blame the United States for the fighting in Laos. The defense ministry paper Red Star in an article today blamed the hostilities on "the intrigues of American agents who have wormed their way into neutralist ranks."

The article was credited to "Observer," usually a pen name for an upper-level government spokesman.

Fourteen Dead in Mine Blast

Hope Dims for Eight Still Missing in Shafts

CLARKSBURG, W. VA. (AP) — Clinchfield Coal Co. announced shortly after noon that 14 bodies of 22 men trapped by an explosion in its Compass No. 2 mine near here have been recovered.

There was practically no hope the other eight—even deeper in the mine—would be found alive.

Three bodies were found first near the main tunnel, about a mile and a half from the mine entrance. Eleven others were found short time later in a lateral working section.

The 22 men, all married, had 63 dependents.

The bodies, Chapman reported, were found near the opening of a drift in which 13 miners were supposed to be working when a rumbling gas explosion hit the mine.

Seven other men were assigned to a drift 2,000 feet farther into the mine and two men were assisting both crews.

Waterford Schools Get Building Program

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night approved a $6.25-million school construction program and an undetermined hike in staff salary schedules.

Both measures, along with a request for millage to operate the requested facilities, will be placed on the June 10 ballot for voter authorization.

The five - year building program calls for six new schools additions to eight existing buildings, a new bus garage, and remodeling of several other structures.

The largest single cost, $2 million, is for a new junior high school in the northeast corner of the township.

Voters will be asked to authorize:

1. The building program expected to cost one mill spread over 30 years.

2. A 2½ mill tax levy to operate the new buildings.

3. Staff salary schedule improvements to be determined at a later date but estimated to require a 2½ mill levy.

The total six-mill tax levy is in addition to the 10 mills needed for present school operating expenses.

The board agreed to place the renewal of the 10-mill levy on the ballot next year.

Members scheduled a special meeting for 4:30 p.m. Wednesday to determine the amount of the staff salary increases.

Dr. Don Tatroe, superintendent of schools, said that disapproval of the requested staff salary improvement would create "a serious staff morale problem."

The school district needs this hike to improve its competitiveness with other districts, he said.

Under the approved building program, additions are to be made at Cooley, Leggett, Monteith, Burt, and Grayson elementary schools, Isaac Crary Junior High School and Waterford Township High School.

Temperature Rise Predicted for City

First they're up and then they're down but temperatures are gradually climbing.

The weatherman said for the next five days temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees above the normal high of 59 to 64, and normal low of 36 to 43.

Precipitation will measure less than three-quarters of an inch in rain, Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The low recording prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 41. At 2 p.m. the thermometer reading was 61.

Hogan's Redistricting Plan Rejected by State Senate

By JIM DYGERT

The State Senate today unanimously rejected a House-authored congressional reapportionment bill as events took a double-reverse in the week's fast-changing developments on the reapportionment issue.

A 30-0 vote against the measure came after Senate GOP leaders failed to round up the votes necessary to pass it and the Senate Republican caucus voted not to concur in the House's action.

The bill will go to a joint Senate-House Conference Committee to resolve differences between bills passed by both houses.

Earlier today, Republicans had indicated that enough votes were available. They were preparing to reverse yesterday's intentions to take the House bill into conference committee.

★ ★ ★

It appeared then that Oakland County was headed for a split into a smaller 18th district (presently the entire county) and the new 19th district received by Michigan as a result of the 1960 census.

IN HOUSE PLAN

Under the House plan, hastily drawn by Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Bloomfield Township, and passed by the House yesterday, most of Oakland County, including Pontiac, would make up the 19th along with Livingston County.

"It's the best possible plan for Oakland County," said Hogan.

Hogan's new plan is similar to one proposed by the Oakland County Democratic party. He had planned to present one that would have been so radically different from the Senate's version that it was certain to go to a conference committee.

The plan, however, was not in accord with all of Gov. George Romney's wishes and several Michigan GOP congressmen whose districts would be reshaped voiced opposition.

Hogan, chairman of the House Apportionment Committee, drew up the plan to resolve a GOP dispute over alignment of the Thumb area, which he put in one district with Saginaw County.

Republicans then planned to work out a final version in a joint Senate-House conference committee since the Senate bill on reapportionment was quite different.

But plans were changed suddenly as Republicans decided Hogan's new plan was better than taking a chance on getting no reapportionment bill at all this year.

Republicans feared that a conference committee would not finish its work until June 7 date set for formal adjournment of the legislative session and that votes to pass the final version might not be available then.

The final version is expected to be a compromise between Hogan's plan and the Senate bill sponsored by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts' R-Oakland County.

Haiti President's Children Escape Death, Trio Shot

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—The driver and two body guards taking President Francois Duvalier's two children to school were shot to death today by gunmen firing from an automobile, eyewitnesses reported.

The children, Jean-Claude, 12, and Simone, 14, were unhurt, witnesses said. The children ran into the school as the gunmens' auto raced off.

Only three shots were fired, reports said, felling the driver of the presidential car and bodyguards as they drew their guns in front of the school's gates, two blocks from the National Palace.

The terrorism, the first in two years, was believed to be intended as a warning to Duvalier.

In an apparently hysterical reaction to the assassination, militiamen shot and killed at least two motorists and sprayed the home of a suspected army officer with gunfire.

Witnesses to the shooting at the school gates were arrested.

Duvalier's militia and steel-helmeted police blocked off streets and checked all traffic.

The security force was said to be searching for several well known businessmen, but there was no statement from the Duvalier regime.

On His Birthday

Friends Fete Broomfield

It was a warm - hearted, informal evening among friends—a non-political event.

More than 500 of Broomfield's friends turned out to celebrate the Congressman's 41st birthday last night at Glen Oaks Country Club in Farmington Township.

They heard Broomfield's predecessor, George A. Dondero, say Broomfield "has done a better job than I did."

"It gave me some gray hairs," said Dondero, who was in Congress for 24 years before Broomfield took over his seat in 1956, "and I see it's given him some, too."

The guests also heard a comedy impersonation of President Kennedy, and saw Broomfield presented with a huge birthday card signed by all attending along with a gift of a desk pen set.

Broomfield talked only briefly of business. He voted against a $450-million appropriation for the President's public works program because "a meaningful tax cut" is impossible without a drop in spending, he said.

Suspect's Wife, Brother Called

Queried in Dixie Death

GADSDEN, Ala. (UPI) — Police today questioned the wife and brother of Floyd L. Simpson, picked up yesterday in connection with the roadside slaying of Baltimore civil rights crusader William L. Moore.

A third person — a man — also was questioned but police did not reveal his identity.

The three arrived at the Etowah County Courthouse shortly before noon and were quickly ushered into inner offices where they conferred with officials for about 45 minutes.

Deputy Sheriff Tony Reynolds later confirmed that the woman was Floyd Simpson's wife, and one of the men was Simpson's brother, Morris. Reynolds said he did not know the identity of the third man.

★ ★ ★

Asked what went on in the inner offices, Reynolds replied: "We were just checking out another piece of this thing. We've got as many men as we have out checking everywhere.

'GOING ALL OUT'

"We've been on 15-hour days and longer ever since this shooting. We're going all out, but it's a mighty complex affair."

Simpson, 40-year-old father of six children, was taken into custody after authorities learned he had talked with Moore just a few hours before Moore's body was found alongside a desolate stretch of U.S.11 near here Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Killian came to us voluntarily and we discussed the matter," Chief Deputy Sheriff Tony Reynolds said. "He is well respected in his community and we are satisfied that he had nothing to do with the slaying."

HELD ON SUSPICION

Simpson, who operates a grocery-service station, was "still being questioned" and detained on a general charge of suspicion, Reynolds said.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said Simpson, a Korean War veteran, and Killian talked with Moore when the 35-year-old vacationing postman walked through Fort Payne Tuesday afternoon on his way to Jackson, Miss., to deliver a personal letter to Gov. Ross Barnett urging "equal rights" for Negroes.

Simpson and Killian live at Collbran, a suburb of Fort Payne.

The men later got into a car, according to their wives, and caught up with the hiking Moore and talked with him again.

King, 10 Negro Clerics Sentenced to Jail, Fined

From Our News Wires

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — A circuit judge today found the Rev Martin Luther King Jr. and 10 other Negro ministers in contempt of court for defying a state injunction against racial demonstrations.

Judge W. A. Jenkins Jr. sentenced the Negro desegregation leaders to five days in jail starting May 16 and fined each $50.

In an eight-page ruling, Jenkins held that the Negro leaders had committed obvious acts of contempt. He said they had deliberately and blatantly disregarded his court order.

Further, he said, the defendants had made no apology and had given no assurance that they planned to comply with the order in the future.

The judge quoted a Supreme Court justice who held that the dignity of the courts must be maintained and the law of the land must prevail.

Jenkins issued the restrainer April 10, one week after racial demonstrations began in the industrial city. The city brought the proceedings against the leaders.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy arrived in Atlanta, Ga., today on Conference Memorial Day and predicted that Mississippi and other southern states will ultimately solve their racial problems at the local level.

Kennedy, on a two-day swing through three Southern states, cited Georgia as an example of a state that has solved its race problems peaceably in contrast with violence in Mississippi.

At a news conference, the President's brother commented on the fact that the civil rights division of his office has launched numerous actions in various parts of Mississippi. But he added an optimistic forecast of ultimate solutions without federal intervention.

"I think they can work out their problems amongst themselves as citizens," Kennedy said.

"In my judgement, Mississippi is going to make great progress. Look what you have done in the state of Georgia."

There were no demostrations. Yesterday police arrested 17 pickets at Montgomery, Ala., shortly before Kennedy visited with Gov. George C. Wallace.

he went to hide out until funds ran short.

Hannah made a full statement to the prosecutor today, admitting he forced the two officers and the woman dispatcher at gun point to accompany him as far as a motel in Detroit in one of the officer's private cars.

Hannah abandoned the stolen car on a side street in Detroit after hearing on the radio that it had been spotted passing an intersection.

He said he checked into the Tuller Hotel and spent two days there while police were looking for him.

Hannah said he then took a bus to Pontiac and went to the movies before returning to Detroit, where he hopped a bus to Jackson, Miss.

From there he went to Miami by way of New Orleans, according to Whitlock.

Hannah said he decided to come back when his funds began to run low. He arrived home by bus last night.

Hannah was to be arraigned before Oxford Township Justice of the Peace G. E. Meads this afternoon on charges of kidnaping and armed robbery. He was being held at the county jail.

Romney's Signature All Canton Bill Needs

LANSING (AP) — The so-called Ford-Canton strike benefits bill, an epic of controversy in the legislature for the last three years, was on its way to Gov. George Romney's desk today after acceptance by the House.

House concurrence on Senate amendments to the bill came on a 57-45 vote along strict party lines, after Democrats put up a brief fight in protest of the measure.

Meanwhile, joint House-Senate conference committee meetings on more than a score of bills continued today as the 72nd Michigan Legislature approached the end of its regular session.

Gov. George Romney, pen in hand, busied himself with signing bills already passed but paused long enough to dish out plaudits for what he called "the most productive session in many years."

★ ★ ★

Each chamber was meeting today to wind up the business of receiving their own bills returned after passage by the other, consider amendments and send them to conference or to the governor.

Among the measures getting the final touches in conferences were the appropriations bills making up Romney's proposed $547 million, 1963-64 state budget.

House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, said the session probably would run late tonight and possibly spill over into Saturday.

Lawmakers are scheduled to begin a five-week recess tomorrow, returning here June 4 to consider bills which may have been vetoed in the interim by the governor.

Romney said yesterday he believed 80 to 85 per cent of his own program has been — or will be — approved before final adjournment June 7.

The Ford-Canton bill is a key part of Romney's program. It is designed to settle the dispute resulting from the 1959 decision of the Michigan Supreme Court that workers idled by strikes in plants of the same firm elsewhere are entitled to state jobless pay benefits.

Employers have pushed for legislation to overturn the decision, claiming the court action forced them, through their contributions to the state employment compensation fund, to finance strikes against themselves.

★ ★ ★

The Ford-Canton issue was tied to a broader bill which provides for increases in payments by employers to the fund, and increases benefits paid to workers eligible for compensation.

The jobless pay fund is some $180 million in debt for repayment of loans from the federal government.

Legislators have estimated the boosted payments by employers will add between $20 and $30 million to the fund, and increased benefit payments of $3 to $5 a week to employes.

Romney said his two most severe losses in his first dealings with lawmakers was death of the open occupancy and minimum wage bills.

Minimum wage, another part of the Romney program, got to the House floor after approval by the Senate but was killed off by opponents' stalling tactics ahead of Wednesday's deadline for passage.

Raiders Strike Oil Refineries Near Havana

MIAMI (UPI)—Anti-Castro raiders in a twin-engined plane made a low-level bombing attack last night on Cuban oil refineries on Havana's eastern outskirts, it was reported here today.

The "mystery" aircraft dropped five 100-pound bombs on the refineries, former Esso and Shell Oil installations, but Cuban exiles reporting the raid said they were ineffectual.

The attackers were not identified, but in Washington, a free-lance newspaperman, Alexander Rorke, said he, two other unidentified Americans and a Cuban participated in the raid.

Rorke said the attackers did not encounter either fighter or anti-aircraft opposition. He said the home-made bombs, one of them lighted from the end of a cigar, were dropped from 156 feet.

He said it was a nonpolitical organization formed to help free Cuba.

Up to midday, Havana Radio had not mentioned the raid. News agencies were not able to contact their Havana bureaus for information on the attack.

CUBANS SILENT

They noted that the Cuban radio has said nothing about the alleged raid. They also said no protest had been received from the Cuban government up until noon (Pontiac time) at least.

The officials said the State Department and other U.S. agencies were attempting to check whether the raid actually occurred but so far had no confirmation of it.

The Justice Department was known to be interested in the matter.

Exile sources said the attackers were out after a specific undisclosed target, but decided on a secondary objective when they were unable to pinpoint it for accurate bombing.

cause they closely followed reports abroad that he might be preparing to give up one of his two major positions.

"I am already 69 and I have the right to say so," Khrushchev told a meeting of industry and construction workers. "Everyone understands that I cannot hold for all time the position I now have in the party and the state."

The three-hour speech, made Wednesday, was published in full today in all Moscow newspapers.

But his remarks set off a dispute among Western observers in Moscow whether he might announce such plans at a meeting of the Party Central Committee called for May 28.

It has been announced that the committee will discuss ideological matters.

TWO OFFICIAL POSTS

Khrushchev holds two official posts: chairman of the Council of Ministers, or premier, and first secretary of the Soviet Communist party.

Some observers are convinced Khrushchev is determined to hold onto both jobs until he dies. Others have been speculating that the Soviet leader might give up the secretaryship, the premiership or both.

ANOTHER POST

In London ranking Communist diplomats hinted that Khrushchev may be given the post of president of the Soviet Union when he steps down from active leadership of state and party.

The move would elevate him to the role of "elder statesman," as part of a major reshuffle said to have been under consideration in the Presidium of the U.S.S.R. for some time.

Needs of Southeast Asia Discussed at Seminar

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The importance of trade to the development of Southeast Asia was weighed against other factors last night during the World Affairs Seminar at Cranbrook and Kingswood schools.

★ ★ ★

An international panel of experts in the field discussed the topic following a speech by U Tin Aung, editor of the central news desk for the United Nations Information Service.

The eight men are discussion leaders at the two-day co-educational seminar. Topic for the 10th annual meeting is "Asia—Prospect for Tomorrow."

The 11 countries of Southeast Asia have one common goal, Aung said: "To catch up with the rest of the world and to live as well off as the other peoples of the world."

These are the predominant cries in an area with various political systems but very little diversity in products.

Governmental structure in these countries is in the experimental stage and is subordinate at all times to the economy, Aung noted.

Although the United Nations has been instrumental in keeping the peace, it can not apply one blueprint to every situation, the Burmese journalist said.

★ ★ ★

ECONOMY JEOPARDIZED

Limited as it is to the production of raw materials a Southeast Asian country can find its entire economy in jeopardy with an unfavorable balance of trade, according to Aung.

He placed hope in the UN Conference on Trade and Development, planned for 1964. The UN has a vital role in world trade, Aung said.

"The internal deevlopment of each Southeast Asia country hinges on trade — aid will not solve anything," he concluded.

Dr. Sheldon Appleton of Oakland University's history department suggested development away from dependence on single commodities as a possible solution to economic woes.

"Physical security is also needed and not to be taken for granted," Theodore Heavner of the U. S. Department of State said.

"Trade of itself won't produce development. Training and skills are needed—we can provide these and the capital," he noted.

★ ★ ★

James Hamilton of the department of anthropology at the University of Michigan made a plea for "education of ourselves to the needs of these people," commenting that change in one aspect of a society brings changes in others.

★ ★ ★

Also on the panel were Pushkar Johari of the Indian Embassy; Tun S'ia, Chicago counsel-general for the Republic of China; Kenneth Southwood of Malaya, and Judah Subrata of Indonesia.

Last night's reception, which closed the first day of the seminar, was held at Cranbrook House.

Rusk Will Visit Tito to Show U. S. Links

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will make an official visit to Belgrade, Yugoslavia, May 4 and 5, on his way home from diplomatic talks in Asia, the State Department announced today.

Rusk's visit will dramatize U.S. links with the government of President Tito at a time of inner conflict in the Sino-Soviet bloc which has created important questions about relations between Tito and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Tito's independent communist regime—he broke with the late dictator Joseph Stalin in 1940—has been a major target of attack by Red China. Khrushchev has periodically cultivated friendly relations with Tito.

Nik Affirms Peace Pact for Laos

7th Fleet are cruising off the east coast of South Viet Nam ready for possible action in the Laotian crisis.

Gen. Thanom Kittikachorn, who is deputy prime minister as well as defense minister, told reporters this information was given him by Adm. Harry D. Felt, U.S. Pacific commander.

Informed sources in Vientiane said new fighting had broken out last night and today at Khang Khay, Xieng Khouang, Phonsavan and Lat Houang.

The four localities are all on the Plain of Jars where troops of the Laotian Communist and neutralist factions have been fighting sporadically for more than a month.

Premier Souvanna, meanwhile, issued a statement criticizing "foreign" charges—apparently those made by the Russians—that the strife in Laos had been instigated by the United States.

He also declared it was his "duty" to defend American airdrops of supplies to isolated pockets of Meo tribesmen.

Tell of Change-Over in City Water

★ ★ ★

If so, there will be an important letter in your mailbox today or tomorrow.

It's from the Pontiac Water Department. It is meant to prepare water customers for better water and higher bills.

About 22,000 letters were mailed to water customers late yesterday.

The transition from Pontiac's well water to Detroit water will begin July 1. So will the new water rates.

3 TIMES SOFTER

The letter explains that Detroit water is approximately three times softer than Pontiac water.

Substantiating this claim, Water Superintendent Herbert Parker explains that last year "the water in our wells ranged from 270 to 524 parts of hardness per million parts of water.

"Detroit water presently has between 100 and 120 parts hardness per million parts water."

Parker says the Detroit water contains about seven grains per gallon, while Pontiac's well water ranged from 16 to 30 grains per gallon last year.

The letter adds that Detroit water will taste and smell better, won't be red or rusty, and water pressure will improve considerably.

★ ★ ★

"The new water . . . will not clog services or mains due to high mineral or rust content," the letter reads.

Parker says that the Detroit water should give older plumbing systems a new lease on life.

"Naturally, the new water won't remove mineral deposits already there," he noter, "but it should cut further build-up of deposits to a minimum."

★ ★ ★

In the letter, city officials also explain that the red and rusty condition of water may continue temporarily during the transitional period.

'CHEMICAL IMBALANCE'

"There will be a chemical imbalance in the water system for a short time while Detroit water is being introduced," says City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

"We're not sure exactly what this chemical reaction will produce. It won't be harmful in any way, but it may produce colorful water in some locations."

The city will increase flushing of water mains as the new water is introduced to pull through the rust and deposits in mains.

This may result in some discoloration and bad taste for a brief period. The flushing program will continue until all discoloration has been eliminated.

The new water rates are complex and the amount of increase depends upon the size of the individual water service — the size of the main carrying water into a home or business place.

MORE THAN DOUBLE

Generally, residential quarterly bills will be about 2½ times what they are now. Industrial rates will more than triple.

Minimum quarterly bills are based on the use of 1,500 cubic feet of water and the basic billing increases as the size of the water service increases.

The present minimum quarterly billing for a five-eighth-to three - fourth - inch residential service is now $3.30. It will be $7.50 after July 1.

Residential services range up to one inch in size. Commercial services range up to four inches for the larger department stores and banks. Most industries range from four to six inches, and a few go as high as eight to 10 inches.

The minimum quarterly billing for a two-inch service is now $9.90. It will be $45 after July 1.

Minimum billing for a four-inch service will go from $26.85 to $145; from $51.80 to $260 for a six-inch service; from $81.75 to $440 for an eight-inch service; and from $106.80 to $750 for a 10-inch service.

Court Reporters Must Wait for Requested Salary Raise

Now that Oakland County circuit judges are likely to get pay raises, their court reporters also are asking for more money.

But they will have to wait until next year at least.

The salaries committee of the County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday not to consider the matter until they get into final stages of planning the 1964 budget. This will be sometime in June.

The five court reporters were asking for immediate consideration of annual pay increases amounting to $1,200 each.

They are now paid $7,500 annually, making them the highest paid court reporters in the county.

INCREASE IN 1960

The circuit court reporters received their last salary increase in 1960 when their pay was raised from $6,750 annually, Personnel Director John Witherup noted.

Committee members asked if the reporters couldn't be replaced with tape recorders.

Witherup noted the reporters average an extra $3,000 a year by selling copies of transcripts prepared "mostly on their own time."

This isn't always clear profit, he added, saying the reporters often hire typists to do the copy work for them.

The State Legislature is almost certain to raise the circuit judges' salaries from $23,000 to $26,000. The Senate is expected to approve the House-amended Senate bill.

STATE SHARE

The increase would be in the state's share of the judges' salaries, which presently is $12,500 annually.

In other action, the salaries committee approved paying house mothers at the county's juvenile home cottages $700 more annually to bring their salaries in line with others similarly employed by the county.

This step is necessitated by the new federal law requiring equal pay for women doing equal work, Witherup said.

The house mothers' annual salaries would subsequently be raised from $4,800 to $5,500. Final approval by the full board is still required.

The salaries committee also is recommending raising the county's minimum pay scale from $1.34 an hour to $1.50.

The scale applies to summer help, mostly students, employed in brushing down drains and other manual labor on a temporary basis.

By way of comparison, the lowest scale paid by the City of Pontiac is $2.03 an hour, Witherup said.

★ ★ ★

The committee also approved the hiring of an additional domestic relations investigator by the Friend of the Court for $5,000 annually and another clerk in the clerk-register's office for $3,650 annually, due to rising workloads.

Pontiac Business Activity Aims Toward Record Year

The City of Pontiac may be headed toward a record-breaking year if last month's business activity index is any indicator.

Both business transacted through customers' accounts and industrial payrolls are nearing record proportions.

With bank debits standing at $99,922,524, and industrial payrolls at $13,930,532, the previously recorded highs seem destined to topple in the near future.

One basis for this optimism is the number of building permits issued by the city last month.

Permits were issued for 108 construction jobs as compared with 62 in March of last year and 84 in March 1961.

The unusually vigorous rebound from February's normal sluggishness was also reflected in postal receipts, which exceeded the March 1962 figure by more than $25,000.

Figures indicating business trends for March were reported by Community National Bank, Pontiac State Bank, the city water and inspection departments, Pontiac Post Office, Consumers Power Co., Detroit Edison Co., Pontiac Transit Corp., North Central Airlines, and the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

	March 1963	Feb. 1963	March 1962

HST Suffers From Upset to Stomach

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — Ex-president Harry S. Truman suffered today from an upset stomach which forced him to leave a birthday luncheon abruptly yesterday.

His physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, said Truman's stomach had been a "little upset for the pest three days. I think it was some fish he ate."

Graham said that the trouble was not connected with a hernia operation that the 78-year-old former president underwent earlier this year. He said Truman "responded beautifully" to that surgery.

Truman was attending a luncheon honoring Abe Jacobson, brother of the late Eddie Jacobson, Truman's one-time partner in the haberdashery business.

Truman said he "just felt a little faint." He was reported in good spirits shortly afterward.

★ ★ ★

The doctor said that Truman "tends to overdo himself" in attending local social functions. "He thinks he's obligated to them."

Correspondents to Be Guests of Michigan State

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Reporters from Germany, Ghana and Russia who regularly are assigned to covering the United Nations will visit Michigan State University as guests of the university and the Michigan Press Association in May.

★ ★ ★

Scheduled to arrive at MSU May 1 are Leonid G. Valechansky, U.N. bureau chief of the Russian news agency Tass, Dr. Sabina Leitzmann of the Frankfurt, Germany, Frankfurter Allegemeine, and George E. Enninful of the Ghana News Agency.

The correspondents will speak to MSU journalism classes and hold a press conference for students and Michigan newspapermen during their two days on the campus.

Pontiac School Affairs

Board Quizzed on Boundary Changes

Nearly two dozen parents quizzed the Pontiac Board of Education last night over proposed boundary line changes for the next school year.

The parents, mostly from the Herrington School and Emerson School attendance areas, questioned changes made to relieve expected overcrowding at the two schools.

William J. Lacy, assistant superintendent for instruction and pupil personnel, told the school board that Emerson School has a projected enrollment of 480 for 1963-64, which is 60 students over capacity for grades one through six.

Lacy proposed that a boundary line change put Jordon, Maxwell, Bigham, Cedar, and Broadway streets between Featherstone and Mt. Clemens in the Longfellow School area.

He said room would be available in Longfellow School because of the new Cottage Street Elementary School. The boundary change would shift a projected 67 pupils in grades one through six and 12 kindergarten pupils.

Emerson parents insisted that the school board provide transportation for pupils who would otherwise have to walk along East Boulevard which has no sidewalks and is slated to become a construction area.

In addition, the parents asked that some provision be made to provide hot lunches for the new pupils at Longfellow School. The school has no such provisions now.

AGREE TO PROPOSALS

The school board agreed to both proposals, but said transportation could only be provided so long as no sidewalks were laid. Hot lunches, it was thought, could be prepared at another school and transported to the Longfellow School.

Herrington School parents were not so easily placated. Armed with their own statistics, the parents strongly protested the boundary line change and insisted Herrington School should have more classrooms built.

Although admitting the projections for the Herrington School attendance area were not reliable, Lacy expected the school would have 35 over capacity next year.

He said one solution would be to transfer pupils living on Kenilworth Street to Longfellow School. This would take care of an estimated 26 pupils in grades one through six.

Lacy said it was "entirely possible" the enrollment could go either way because of the rapid turnover in the area.

Board member Dr. Walter L. Godsell proposed that the matter be delayed until after the school census in May when better figures might be available to measure the enrollment next year for Herrington School.

The city has asked the school board to review its charges to the recreation department. In addition, the city proposes that the board assume all maintenance and custodial costs for the program.

Airline Stops State Flight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) yesterday authorized North Central Airlines to suspend service, effective Sunday, between Hancock-Houghton, Mich., and Port Arthur-Fort William, Ont., Canada.

The CAB previously had decided to end the authority of North Central to operate the route, but the order was not to take effect until May 22.

North Central said this obligation to continue service for another month would impose an undue burden.

Sanity Hearing Will Be Asked

Request for Man Who Buzzed Area in Plane

A sanity hearing will be asked Monday for a 22-year-old Belleville man who buzzed Birmingham in a stolen plane March 7 to impress his estranged bride of three months.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer will rule on a petition for appointment of a sanity commission to determine if LaVern A. Anderson is mentally fit to stand trial.

Anderson is charged with unlawfully taking an aircraft. He was arrested after he landed the stolen $65,000 Piper Aztec twin - engine plane at Pontiac airport.

A petition for a sanity hearing has been filed with the court by Anderson's mother, Mrs. Hope Anderson of Plymouth.

The petition claims Anderson's behavior has been "peculiar" for the past year. It says a psychiatrist who examined him in the county jail where he is awaiting trial is of the opinion that Anderson "manifests a major mental disorder and should be committed to a state hospital."

★ ★ ★

Court Sets Spanking

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Three teenage boys were spanked in Atlantic County Juvenile Court Thursday after two of them had admitted larceny and the third receipt of stolen goods.

County Judge George T. Naame ordered that their parents spank them. Each boy in turn bent over a desk while his father gave him resounding smacks with the open hand.

Proceedings of the Juvenile Court are normally closed to newsmen. But Thursday they were allowed in. The court also was being visited by presidents of four Atlantic City civic clubs, the Kiwanis, Rotary, Exchange, and Lions. And the court was crowded with other parents and their children facing charges.

Judge Naame said the unusual punishment was not given to inflict pain but to hold the youths up to public shame.

Judge Naame also gave the three suspended sentences to the State Home for Boys at Jamesburg and placed them on probation for two years.

Area Should Be Proud of OU's Advancement

Fruition came quickly for Oakland University, which has just loosed its first brood of graduates to the world.

It seems only a few months ago that the raw scars of construction appeared on what had been pleasantly rolling farmland.

★ ★ ★

The speed of development seems greater because of the stereotype entrenched in many minds that a university has to sort of grow into tradition.

But OU was a university from the first student and the first day.

Its force was felt in the community immediately. Popular Chancellor D. B. "Woody" Varner was the advance guard in many cases. For thousands of area residents, OU (MSUO then) stepped out of the dream category and became reality when they met the engaging personality and wit of Varner.

He gathered an expert young faculty from everywhere, and the University eagerly plunged into the community.

From the start, traditional ideas of universities were examined closely, and discarded unless they had significant merit.

The 146 seniors who were graduated have undergone an experience they will never forget. They have competed on a high level, and are better prepared for their life work by virtue of this competition and the high standards of education created.

We wish them well, and hope the following classes will get as much from their education as the pioneer class did.

Keating Still Confident Troop Reports Wrong

When Sen. KENNETH B. KEATING spoke to the newspaper editors in Washington recently, he gave the impression that the Soviet troop movements in and out of Cuba had not been reported accurately.

★ ★ ★

We are not in a position to judge whether or not he is correct. However, we do recall that at a recent press conference President Kennedy said 4,000 troops had left Cuba in March. The impression from this announcement was that the Red forces in Cuba had been reduced by that much.

★ ★ ★

Last Wednesday at another press conference the President partially denied KEATING'S charges and said that 4 or 5 thousand troops had left since January. He also said that several hundred Soviet soldiers have arrived during the period.

From what we have been able to read, JFK did not categorically deny Keating's charges. Instead his explanation was rather vague.

Sen. KEATING'S remarks to the editors did not jibe with the President's. He inferred instead that fresh Russian troops were moving in as fast as the old ones were removed.

★ ★ ★

In fact, Keating went so far as to say that there had not been any reliable evidence whatsoever of a decline in Soviet military strength or capability since those first withdrawals in November.

The New York Senator said: "The great publicity given to recent departures has completely clouded over the fact that a comparable number of new troops have been brought to the island."

★ ★ ★

We wonder just what the correct score is insofar as Soviet troops in Cuba are concerned. If there is proof that Keating is wrong that's one thing.

But if his information is correct, we have been getting half-truths—or what might be termed "managed news."

It seems that the White House should set the record straight. The public deserves the truth.

Consumers Power Co. to Expand Facilities

Pontiac Division Manager CHARLES F. BROWN of Consumers Power Co. has announced expansion plans which bode well for the Pontiac area.

★ ★ ★

The utility firm will spend some $2.5 million here during the next year. It will go for improved and expanded facilities.

This is only a portion of the $62 million the firm will be laying out across the State.

★ ★ ★

Consumers has had a reputation for good service. Much of this is due to anticipating needs and providing facilities for growth.

The Man About Town

Baseball Seen a Holdout Against Changing Trends

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Odd how one thing can lead to another—especially in the think department.

A recent account that Los Angeles had benched the last of her streetcars (leaving but six U. S. cities where trolleys cling to a spark of life) coincided with stories that over-all major league baseball attendance is off to a lagging start.

• • •

What have streetcars and baseball in common? Well, nothing, really . . . but somehow they lined up to start the MAT on a nostalgic line of thought, backtracking a half century.

Then virtually every city and town was represented in a professional baseball league, and the streetcar was the principal transport to the ball park for fans and players.

• • •

Since in those days few parks had dressing rooms, players suited up at their hotels, wearing slippers (the old ankle-high model with elastic side-insert) and carrying their spiked shoes . . . because of hotels' understandable solicitude for carpets.

The flashback picture that comes to mind is that of a hero-worshipping boy (me) watching the passing open "summer" cars with the players en route to the ball park sitting on the floor between the long cross-seats, their slipper-clad feet resting on the lengthwise running board.

• • •

What seems "wrong" with this picture, however, is that in those times most ball clubs made money, or at least were self-supporting; while today with population doubled, it is doubtful if pro baseball—without subsidy support by radio and TV and, in many cities, rental from pro football—could exist on its own.

Despite that, baseball continues to fare fairly well, while its once contemporary streetcar has just about run out of fares.

Clarence D. Barron

His retirement date with the Commission coincidentally fell on his 65th birthday.

All best wishes to the retiree for many enjoyable and rewarding years of well-earned leisure.

A fine honor in itself, particular acclaim lies in the fact that it is the first time in Jaycee history that a first-year member has been named for the top office.

Congratulations to the young Tuscola County Supervisor of Social Aid, transferred from the Pontiac Bureau 18 months ago.

David Lawrence Says:

You've Seen Price-Setting Method

WASHINGTON — The American people have just been given a significant demonstration of how prices are made in a big industry under the free-enterprise system.

LAWRENCE

What various steel companies did in recent weeks — in raising and then lowering some of their prices — tells more than all the congressional committee hearings and reports have ever told about price-making.

A small steel company raised its prices on some products, and the medium - sized companies accepted the figures.

Then, one of the large companies declined to go along at as high a figure as had been set by smaller companies.

But when, a year ago, a political judgment was made by the administration to intervene and coerce the companies to change the prices they had made, the price-making process itself became a national issue.

Ever since April 1962, not only steel but other large industries have been confused and frustrated on the subject of prices.

The administration at that time started federal grand jury investigations and used other threats and forms of coercion against the steel companies.

The administration after a few days achieved its victory. But it was a pyrrhic victory.

Confidence among businessmen sagged. The whole future of the free-enterprise system was threatened with government interference.

BARGAINING CLOUDED

But it became apparent in the last several months, even to labor leaders, that if the government, even without a law of Congress, could intervene to fix prices, it could do the same with respect to wages.

Thus the outlook for collective bargaining has been clouded, and the way has been pointed toward a socialistic state. It was evident, therefore, that something had to be done.

The prices being set now do not indicate what the future will bring.

A smaller company always does the best it can to gauge the price that will attract customers, while a larger company, with more efficient plant and larger capacity, makes up its own mind, too, what a reasonable price would be.

In fact, the larger steel companies, for individual reasons of their own, recently announced a price lower than some of the smaller companies had proclaimed.

So immediately, the smaller ones had to get theirs in line. It was an economic necessity.

Each company at this particular time has gone as high as it can in price. It was the judgment of the companies that their prices could be sustained at least for a while.

While each company made its own judgment, there were some differences among them.

After all the price changes had been publicly announced in the last two weeks, the company that chose a higher figure originally couldn't keep it above that of the lowest man and maintain good relations with regular customers.

So, when the smoke cleared, all the prices had to settle down to the lowest point. This is natural price-making in a free market.

Bob Considine Says:

Movie-Making Man Sam Achieves Colossal Goals

MADRID — A Harvard history professor strolling through the incredibly detailed and colossal Roman Forum which Samuel Bronston has ordered for his forthcoming "Fall of the Roman Empire," turned to his host and spake as follows:

CONSIDINE

"Mr. Bronston, I confess I cannot pass judgment on just how accurately you've reproduced the forum as it was in the time of Marcus Aurelius.

"I can't vouch for how minutely authentic your script will be. But I'm sure that when the picture is shown it will drive my students to do what I've been exhorting them to do for most of my life—tackle Gibbons, every volume of him."

★ ★ ★

Sam Bronston, born in Bessarabia half a century ago and with as little chance of becoming famous and rich as had his nine brothers and sisters, was pleased by the remark.

He is pleased by many things these days, this sensitive and fastidious man who has brought new dimensions of riotous color, action and size to the movie screens of the world.

Pleased, for example, to answer a question that ran something like this: "Why would you waste time and money having an artist create a two-by-four foot frieze at the base of a 50-foot Roman column that the camera won't spend two seconds on as the Praetorian Guard races by?"

★ ★ ★

"If one person notices a touch like that, it will be money well spent," Sam Bronston beamed.

PLEASING VISITOR

Pleased, additionally, when a vice president from the Bank of America, the Rothschilds of movie-making, called on him to applaud his unique method of financing his big ones.

Sam is sole owner of Samuel Bronston Productions, Inc., a Delaware corporation located on a 275-acre plain outside Madrid and in a valuable administration office inside Madrid.

After two generally unhappy distributor arrangements with his pictures "John Paul Jones" and "King of Kings," Sam struck paydirt with "El Cid" and his newest, "55 Days to Peking," whose $9 million investment he says he will win back after only nine months of showings—an unheard of record for the industry, he adds, pleased.

Sam's plans: $70-million worth of films on the screen by 1965, in most or all screen systems, all as perennial as "Gone With the Wind." All Sam's.

Don't bet he won't make it.

Raps Dem View Opposing Updating of Registration

Democratic leaders oppose the bill requiring a check of the names of nonvoters on registration lists every two years instead of every four.

They charge it "disenfranchises" Democrats. They know the sole purpose of this bill is to assure accurate registration lists by correcting addresses and removing names of persons who have died or moved from the city. Democratic distortion of these facts makes honest voters wonder how they benefit by the retention of outdated names on the lists!

The process of purging the lists of deadwood does not destroy the right to vote nor does it require re-registration. It only suspends the nonvoter's registration. He receives a postcard notice of suspension with a return postcard attached. To continue his registration, he merely signs the card and mails it.

The only persons permanently dropped from the lists in this process are those who have died or moved from the city or who don't care enough about voting to sign their names on a postcard. Democratic leaders in Detroit want to keep these names on the list. Why?

Says Press Wrong About U. N. Power

The Press editorial urging that there is a need to furnish the United Nations with real police power was a shocker.

★ ★ ★

Have you seen the movie "Katanga, the Untold Story" which documents the actions of such a police force as you advocate? Have you read "Who Killed the Congo?" which details the terrible atrocities of the U.N. forces; "Peacemakers on the Warpath" which deals with the betrayed principles in which the U.N. allegedly believes; or "46 Angry Men" by the civilian doctors of Elisabethville who denounce the U.N. violations of its own charter, the universal declaration of human rights and the Geneva conventions?

★ ★ ★

All of the things reported in these publications are what would be expected of an organization sired by the traitor, Alger Hiss, for the benefit of the Communist conspiracy. It's the instrumentality with which Mr. Khrushchev is "burying the United States."

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Gold Reserve

The Nashville Banner

Sen. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, is one of those Southern members of Congress — like Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia — who is concerned about the inroads of continuing deficit spending on this nation's fiscal position; notably, the drainage abroad of America's gold reserve.

★ ★ ★

Such is the warning note he strikes, in a report from Washington to constituents. A salient paragraph:

"It is a fact that today our government owes approximately $25 billion more than all the other countries of the world put together. It is also a fact that the Soviet Union is trying to help break confidence in the American dollar by acquiring large amounts of this country's dwindling gold reserves. Through a series of complex but profitable international financial manipulations, the Kremlin has siphoned off some $25 million in U.S. gold since last August. In addition to draining our gold reserve, the Soviets are netting a juicy profit on their bold operation."

Though Russia, as an enemy, is definitely interested in seeing the U.S. monetary position weakened, it isn't the only foreign power drawing thus heavily on the gold supply. As of Dec. 31, 1962, the reserve had declined to about $16 billion, and since the end of the year — Thurmond points out — those stocks have continued to dwindle at the rate of $100 million a month.

This country's fiscal stability can be achieved only by balancing the budget. And this can be accomplished by cutting government expenditures at home and abroad. A few Congressmen seem to know that. All of them should. If they want to save the dollar, they should make a slashing attack on the President's demands for more and more money.

Or So It Seems

The Daily Oklahoman

No, Junior, a government bureau is not where papa's clothes are kept. He just feels that way this time of year.

Ike Not a Bad Guy

The Grand Rapids Press

Former President Eisenhower received some bad and, as it turns out, unfair publicity a while ago when it was reported from Mexico that he killed 40 ducks and 35 other birds on a shooting expedition there.

Sen. Fulbright was so upset that he made a speech in the Senate in which he noted that kills of this size don't give much encouragement to people trying to conserve wildlife.

We learn now, by way of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, that Mr. Eisenhower is not the meat hunter he was represented to be. Actually there were 20 sportsmen and six guns on the hunting expedition and the total bag was 60 birds, which was one-half of the legal limit.

The original, inaccurate story is to be deplored not only because it was a libel on a man who generally has been respected for his sportsmanlike conduct, but because it does exactly what Sen. Fulbright said such reports do.

King Hussein

British Information Services

The London Daily Telegraph (Conservative) says that King Hussein, displaying the resolution that triumphed over previous crises, has acted swiftly to confront the fresh one precipitated by the formation of the United Arab Federation. King Hussein's moves have been accompanied by the promise of a plebiscite and of a general election within four months.

★ ★ ★

He is playing for time — but so, too, is almost everyone else in the uneasy Arab world. Plebiscites are to be held also in the three countries of the Federation, whose constitution is, in any case, not due to come into force until May, 1965. Meanwhile, the constitution itself remains vague on the fundamental point of political organization within its unifying framework.

★ ★ ★

President Nasser is hoping during this period to consolidate his power over the other members. The Ba'ath socialists, who led the revolutions in Iraq and Syria, are determined to preserve their own freedom of action.

★ ★ ★

The period of maneuvering can also serve King Hussein. There will be time for him to show whether he can once again dominate a crisis and assert his leadership of the nation. If so, he would be in a stronger position than before to lead it into some association with a federation which in its present form requires members to be republics.

Report on Near Misses in Air

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON—More than half the near-collisions reported on the nation's airways during the past six months have involved military planes, the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) disclosed yesterday.

SERLING

FAA Administrator Najeeb E. cussion of the problem, said near-misses involving military aircraft and airliners are inevitable, however, because of vital military training missions.

"If there were no wars or threats of war anywhere in the world we could have a common system of controlling all air traffic," Halaby said.

"The military is just as concerned in safety as we are and is doing everything possible to cooperate with us to avoid potential hazards."

Halaby said it was impossible to keep military aircraft out of civil airways. He said to cut down the chancel for collision, the military has been:

David Thomas, head of FAA's air traffic control, told newsmen that only about 10 per cent of the near-misses reported by pilots turn out to be actual near-collisions.

As the FAA expands its program to put all airspace above 24,000 feet under positive control from the ground, he added, it expects near-miss reports to diminish significantly. This program will near completion by the end of this year.

Thomas said in one area now under positive control, legitimate near-miss reports were reduced in a year from 40 to five—with controller error responsible for two of the five.

Halaby said the FAA has spent $1.3 billion in the last 27 months to improve the air traffic control system—with $125 million obligated in recent months for research and new equipment.

"I've said it 50 times and I'll say it again," Halaby continued, "that we're in a transition period between an obsolete, backward system and what we're developing for the future. We're just not out of the woods yet and it will be at least three years before we achieve what we're seeking."

'Love' Makes Little Boy, 5, a Prisoner

NEW YORK (AP)—The little boy walking down the street Thursday had a chain trailing from his ankle, so when police took him home they asked his parents what the chain was for.

The parents, Felix and Hilda Lasso, were quoted as saying they had been chaining the boy to a radiator regularly since last June because they feared the child, Jose, 5, would be struck by a car while they were at work.

★ ★ ★

Lasso, 52, works as a clerk, and Mrs. Lasso is a Bronx hospital worker. They were charged with endangering the health of a child.

Police said the boy appeared well fed and in normal health. They asked the parents what Jose did for food while he was chained.

There was no immediate explanation of why the boy was walking in the area with the chain attached to his ankle.

Aspirin was discovered about 100 years ago by an Alsatian chemist but it remained a laboratory secret 50 years before generally used.

Conclave Eyes Safety in Air

LUCERNE, Switzerland (UPI) — The 15th technical conference of the International Air Transport Association (IATA) opened yesterday with the problem of safer, more reliable air traffic in bad visibility as its theme.

★ ★ ★

The conference at the congress hall here is being attended by 450 delegates from 36 major airlines, 46 governments and private air offices, agencies and institues, and 64 manufacturers of aircraft and related products.

They are exchanging the latest information on all - weather landing and take-off research in nine days of working sessions.

IATA has a three - stage plan for improved landing systems:

Reducing the landing minima for big and fast jet airliners to the present rules for slow piston aircraft, which require visibility of 200 feet vertically and a half a mile horizontally.

Such new instruments will be costly as some speakers pointed out, and they must be adapted to the limitations of the human senses.

Researchers Confirm Weather-Arthritis Tie

CHICAGO (UPI) — Research has confirmed the weather forecasting effect of arthritis, an American Medical Association (AMA) publication said today.

Dr. Joseph Lee Hollander, Philadelphia, a University of Pennsylvania rheumatologist, said in the current issue of the archives of environmental health, "weather effect is not just another old wives tale."

Hollander said, "We believe that we have established on a scientific basis that the environment has a definite and measurable effect on arthritis."

Placing rehumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis patients in the 15 - foot-square concrete chamber which was sealed to exclude the outside air, barometric pressure was lowered and humidity increased, similar to the natural climatic changes which occur just before a rain storm.

★ ★ ★

"In seven of the eight rheumatoid and three of the four osteoarthritic patients there was a significant worsening of symptoms . . . in 29 of 40 trials . . . the subjective symptoms increased within four hours of the start of the climate change and the objective worsening was obvious within six to eight hours," he said.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

He found the pain abated after 24 hours of the high humidity, low air pressure condition, indicating that it was the change rather than the factors themselves which caused the condition.

Infrared Rays Can Reveal Ice Formation

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Infrared radiation, used to record the formation of lake and sea ice, may save northern shippers millions of dollars each winter, say scientists at the University of Michigan Institute of Science and Technology.

★ ★ ★

Techniques using infrared sensing devices can predict when lake and sea ice will form or break up, and are capable of helping a ship pick its way through ice fields, according to Joseph Morgan, principal investigator on the project.

All objects with temperatures above absolute zero give off infrared radiation, with the radiation increasing in intensity as temperatures rise, he added.

"Since infrared radiation is constantly emitted, infrared sensors can be used day or night," he said.

★ ★ ★

"This means that infrared is especially useful in northern areas during the winter when daylight hours are short and clear days are scarce.

"A further advantage," Morgan added, "is that it can detect and measure subsurface ice and snow structure that is invisible to the human eye and conventional camera."

It can predict ice formations and breakups by detecting subtle changes in temperature, he said.

Half the U.S. Loses an Hour This Sunday

By The Associated Press

Some 113.3 million Americans will lose an hour apiece Sunday—all because of old Ben Franklin.

★ ★ ★

When he was ambassador to France almost 200 years ago, thrifty Ben awoke unusually early one morning and found daylight streaming through his window while most of the citizens of the city still slept.

★ ★ ★

Frugal Ben worried about the "wasted" daylight and conceived a plan to conserve the daylight by advancing clocks one hour.

★ ★ ★

He even calculated how many candles this would save the people of Paris. Electricity was not then what it is now, despite his experiments with kite, key and lightning.

★ ★ ★

This was the germ of Daylight Saving Time, which becomes effective generally at 2 a.m. Sunday in more than half the states, all or in part, and the District of Columbia.

★ ★ ★

The millions who lose an hour each when clocks are set ahead to comply with the new schedule will regain it when the clocks are turned back an hour in the fall.

'64 Election Question

Moon's Ancient Mystery a Political Influence

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since caveman days the moon has exerted undue influence on human affairs—and now it threatens to affect the 1964 presidential election.

★ ★ ★

Should we spend $20 billion — more or less—on a crash program to land men on the moon in this decade?

Thus the moon is running true to form in mixing into human lives. Everybody knows about moonstruck lovers. Most everybody knows, too, that in olden days the lunar orb was supposed to be able to convert sane people into lunatics.

★ ★ ★

Less well known, perhaps, is the fact that the moon confounded ancient calendar makers. For centuries astute Babylonian astronomers—and later the even smarter Greeks—tried in vain to construct a satisfactory calendar based on the moons' movements. Twelve moons simply do not make a year and that's that.

CRITIC'S AND JFK

As for the current controversy, it is evident that President Kennedy is folowing closely the arguments of his critics that too much money is being spent on space, at the expense of other scientific undertakings and such earthly needs as education and housing.

He expressed the suspicion at this week's news conference that if budget cutters succeed in slashing space funds, they won't allot the savings to things like education. Then, he said, when the Soviet Union makes another big breakthrough in space, his critics will ask: "Why didn't we do more?"

A number of Senate Republicans complain that the space program threatens to cut unduly into the domain of private enterprise. For example, Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said he was informed that eventualy 60 per cent of all physical scientists would be working for the government.

This was disputed by James E. Webb, director of the National the Senate Space Committee for NASA's $5.7-billion budget for the coming fiscal year, he said 90 per cent of NASA's work would be done by private industry and universities.

The idea that "technological fallout"—earthly benefits—will be vast as a result of the coming journeys to the moon is disputed in some scientific circles. If the economy needs pepping up, some scientists say, space exploration is a roundabout, uncertain way to do it.

To Dr. Philip H. Abelsop, a leading physical chemist, it appears that "a re-examination of priorities" is in order. "Not more than a small fraction of the cost" of the moon program "will be recovered through technological fallout," he writes in the magazine Science, the organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Truckers in 4 States Ballot on Unions

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An election to decide who will represent 8,200 Teamsters in a four-state area got under way yesterday without incident.

★ ★ ★

The election runs through Sunday.

It will determine whether over-the-road truckers in four locals in Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania stay with James R. Hoffa's Teamsters or join the AFL-CIO.

★ ★ ★

So me1,500 voted yesterday in Philadelphia. Another 100 voted in Atlantic City. Polling places in other cities were not open.

AEC Stalls Test Start at N-Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission suspended yesterday for 20 days an initial decision of its Atomic Safety and Licensing Board approving issuance of a license for the start of test operations by the Enrico Fermi nuclear power reactor near Monroe, Mich.

The AEC will review during the 20-day period ending May 6 the April 16 decision of the licensing board to grant a license to the Power Reactor Development Co. (PRDC), builder of the $95 million reactor.

The commission said:

"In review of the complexity of this case with regard to its procedural history, the volume of the record, and the technical questions bearing upon the protection of the health and safety of the public, the suspension of the loading and operation for a period of 20 days from the date of the initial decision is in our judgment appropriate."

The April 16 decision by the board authorized, subject to review by the AEC, issuance of a provisional license calling for operations at a power level not in excess of one megawatt thermal.

Yes.
The exact model Plymouth that beat Chevrolet and Ford can be in your driveway tomorrow.

A customer walked into a Plymouth dealership the other day and asked where he could get a Fury just like the one that beat Chevrolet and Ford in 8 out of 10 tests at Riverside. The Plymouth salesman grinned broadly and said, "Mister, you're leaning on one!" The point is, the exact model Plymouth that performed so well at Riverside—winning every acceleration test, the handling test, both passing-safety tests, and the gas economy test—is performing just as well for thousands of new Plymouth owners every day. (There's probably one sitting in your Plymouth Dealer's showroom this minute, with a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* in the glove box.) See and drive the 1963 Plymouth!

At Plymouth's request, Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute purchased the test cars—a 1963 Chevrolet Impala V-8, Ford Galaxie "500" V-8, and Plymouth Fury V-8. They conducted every test and computed all results. See your Plymouth Dealer for illustrated Official Results Booklet.

JFK Charged With Playing Politics on Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky has charged President Kennedy with playing politics over Cuba.

There are "distinct political overtones," Morton told the Senate Thursday, to Kennedy's suggestion at a news conference Wednesday that Fidel Castro might not be a problem now if the Eisenhower administration had taken action.

"During the 1950s there were few, if any, Republican voices raised in support of Castro and there were few, if any, Democratic voices raised in condemnation of Castro," Morton declared. "This record is clear."

The Kentuckian, a former Republican national chairman, said the Eisenhower administration took steps in March 1960 to train and equip an expeditionary force of Cuban exiles to invade Cuba.

"For various reasons, including the difficulty of finding proper leadership," Morton continued, the plan could not be implemented during the administration's remaining 10 months in power.

When the invasion was attempted under the Kennedy administration in April 1961 at the Bay of Pigs it failed, Morton added.

The senator said Kennedy had shown bold initiative during the missile showdown last fall, but now is pursuing "a wishy-washy policy of backing and stalling."

Other Republicans who commented Thursday picked up Kennedy's challenge to critics of his Cuban policy to say whether they favor an invasion to topple Castro.

"Republicans have not advocated invasion of Cuba," said Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. "Neither have they shrunk because of fear from the possibility of this happening."

Goldwater said that while he does not advocate early invasion of the island, he is not afraid of going to war over Cuba.

"If we are not willing to take risks in this world," he said in an interview, "we might as well give up."

Another persistent critic of the administration, Rep. William C. Cramer of Florida, said in a separate interview: "President Kennedy is peddling a fear-of-war psychosis to hide his own fear of action."

"Nobody in congress is proposing war," Cramer said. "But the United States has sent troops to Thailand and Viet Nam. It has troops in Berlin. And the President says we can't do anything about Cuba. That sounds very hollow to me."

Echoing this sentiment, the Republican national chairman, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, said: "The incredible part to me is why is it that it seems to be an act of war or an act that might escalate into war if we do it in Cuba while we don't hesitate to do the same thing in other areas."

Sen. John G. Tower of Texas, in a radio interview (CBS-Capitol Cloakroom), said he does not "currently advocate invasion" and then commented: "We should shoot at Soviet oil tankers if necessary. I think the Russians would have to withdraw. I can't believe that Khrushchev would initiate a thermonuclear war just over Cuba."

Fight to Kill Death Penalty May Be in Vain in 2 States

By RUSSELL LANE

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles Starkweather, the 19-year-old Nebraska ex-garbage hauler who turned killer, and Connecticut's mad-dog slayers, Joseph Taborsky and Arthur Culombe, may have killed, besides their 17 victims, the chances for capital punishment repeal in their states.

★ ★ ★

Moves to abolish the death penalty, regarded as gaining strength, shriveled in both Connecticut and Nebraska in the wake of horror left by the outlaws in the late 1950s. Taborsky and Starkweather were put to death in the electric chairs. Culombe is serving a life term in Connecticut.

FIGHT GOES ON

This year, bills to abolish capital punishment are back before the legislatures of Connecticut and Nebraska, and the perennial fight against execution as a crime penalty is being waged in a score of other state assemblies.

Dedicated leaders of the fight against the death penalty say it is as wrong, morally, for the state to kill a citizen as it is for a murderer to take life. They argue the death penalty is not a deterrent to murder.

Only five states currently outlaw capital punishment. They are Alaska, Hawaii, Maine, Minnesota and Wisconsin. In Michigan, the death penalty may be imposed only for treason in wartime.

North Dakota, too, may execute for treason, and for murder by a convict serving a life term in prison. In Rhode Island, the only time death is prescribed is when a lifer commits murder in prison; and it is mandatory in this case.

The 42 other states, the District of Columbia, and the federal government have capital punishment powers.

Yet, in 1961—the latest year for which the Bureau of Prisons has statistics—there were only 42 executions by civil authority. In that year, the FBI reported there were about 8,600 instances of murder and nonnegligent homicide in the nation.

The 1961 execution total was the lowest in 31 years of record-keeping. All 42 executions were carried out in 18 of the 44 jurisdictions with the death-penalty power. California had the most — eight.

Some states have not used their execution power in decades. Yet, there are 10 crimes which carry the capital penalty in various states; the most common is murder. Thirty-three of the 42 executions were for murder in 1961. Eight were for rape, and one for kidnaping.

Other crimes which are capital in at least one state: burglary, armed robbery, treason, duelling, unlawful use of explosives, attempted rape, carnal knowledge of a child under 14 or of a demented woman.

CHOICE IN UTAH

The method of execution is a patchwork. The electric chair is used in 23 states and the District of Columbia; the gas chamber in 11, hanging in 10, and Utah gives the condemned man his choice—hanging or a firing squad.

The 80-member California Assembly Tuesday voted 41-37, with two not voting, to send Gov. Edmund G. Brown's bill for a four-year moratorium on the death penalty to the State Senate.

The bill, sought by Gov. Brown for the fourth time since he took office is 1958, faces almost certain defeat there.

The governor's proposal would retain the death penalty for those convicted of: murder while kidnaping, killing a policeman, killing more than one person, murder in prison, and murder by one previously convicted of first-degree murder.

A survey has shown that even had the bill been law, 18 of the 37 persons awaiting execution in California would have been sentenced to death anyway.

In New York, the 1963 legislature approved a bill to revoke the mandatory death penalty for persons convicted of premeditated murder.

HAVE OPTION

Under terms of the bill now under consideration by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a person convicted of premeditated murder would be sentenced to life imprisonment unless the trial jury or another panel decided unanimously after a hearing to recommend the death penalty.

The death chair at Sing Sing Prison was not used from June 1961 until March 21 of this year, when Frederick C. Wood was electrocuted for the slaying of two men.

★ ★ ★

There are 19 condemned men in Sing Sing's death row at the present time. Gov. Rockefeller or the courts could save them.

Another governor, Endicott Peabody of Massachusetts, has announced that he will commute any death sentence imposed while he is chief executive of his state.

The Massachusetts Legislature has a bill to abolish capital punishment—as in every session of recent years. The Senate has approved it, but the House has yet to act.

Despite the small number of criminals executed — about one such death for every 1,000 in highway traffic accidents—the pressures continue for elimination of the state's power to take life.

Perhaps the most rock-ribbed demand for the death penalty lies in prisons where guards and wardens argue the specter of execution keeps killer convicts relatively safe to deal with.

Yet, a study of murder convictions over 15 years in Illinois, the legislature has pending a proposal for a six-year moratorium on the death sentence, showed that only 1.2 per cent of killers liable for capital punishment actually was executed.

Clarkston High Sets Card Party

Proceeds Will Bolster Student Aid Finances

By JANET TISCH

May 6 is the date set aside for the student aid fund card party at Clarkston High School. Clarkston girls will be available for free baby - sitting between the card party hours of 8 and 11 a.m.

Presentation of door prizes will highlight the evening.

Tickets are on sale at the senior high school office or may be purchased at the door. Persons desiring baby sitters should call Mrs. Kelly Burnette or Mrs. Paul Hanson.

The student aid idea was conceived at Clarkston High School in 1959.

Since it's beginning, $2,150 has been given in student aid. High school students who are graduates of CHS meeting the scholarship qualifications are eligible for aid.

★ ★ ★

The week of May 6-10 has been designated as Clarkston High School Student Aid Week.

The Clarkston High School faculty guidance department is in the process of compiling a directory for Independence Township. This directory will include the names of all present organization officers.

Sale proceeds from the directory will go into the student aid fund. A directory may be ordered by contacting any one of the high school counselors.

Any student attending Clarkston High School in need of financial aid is eligible for help from the student aid fund.

PCH Students to Search for Fossils

BY JANE BIGLER

Pontiac Central High School's Linnaean society will make its annual pilgrimage to Sarnia, Ont., tomorrow in search of fossils.

Under the leadership of instructor Judith Ungvary students will combine a picnic lunch with the one day's activities. Any interested student is invited to join the group.

First place in the Saginaw Valley Conference was won recently by Central's spring forensic team. In five events PC speakers captured three firsts and one second place.

These winners will now compete in a regional tournament later this month.

- Speech instructor Walter Smith who is also coach of Central's pennant - winning debate squad directs the forensic team.

Ten students from Central attended the Governor's Conference on Student Leadership at Oakland University Monday. Among the group were Linda Fought, Mark Papazian, Glenn Sutt, Sue Carriger, and Susan Dawe.

★ ★ ★

Others were Nancy Jack, Carol Jo Godoshian, Monita Calhoun, Roz Surowitz and Cheryl Wilton. Administrative assistant Donald McMillan accompanied the delegation.

Miss Carriger and Miss Dawe who participated in planning sessions for the conference were two of the hostesses for Monday's meeting.

New members were formally initiated into the PCHS chapter of the National Honor Society in an assembly yesterday morning. Some 55 students were honored at this candlelight ceremony.

★ ★ ★

Principal Francis Staley spoke to the group and was followed by Carol Chappel representing scholarship; Keith Cooley, leadership; Susan Dawe, service; and Michael Jenkins, character.

★ ★ ★

Cheerleading Sessions

PNH Girls Practice at Clinics

BY SUSAN KILLEN

Some 100 Pontiac Northern High School girls interested in cheerleading are attending a series of four practice clinics before tryouts April 29 and 30.

★ ★ ★

Of the approximately 100 girls, 11 will be chosen to serve on next year's varsity and junior varsity squads.

Awards given to dual entries went to Vaughn Wagner and Ruth Vallins, June Maxwell and Betty Sanders, and Sharon Abney and Mary Hill. These students all attend Northern.

SENIOR DIVISION

The senior division trophy went to Beverly Benson and Douglas Shephard, Northern juniors. They entered a project together on the "quantitative and qualitative analysis of water."

This evening, the Pontiac Northern Players will host 40 students from PNH as they attend Cinerama and a dinner following.

This special event is being sponsored by the Northern Players for all students who have helped in PNH's two most recent dramatic productions.

★ ★ ★

Lesley Seymour, Northern's foreign exchange student, is one of many student members who will take part in the talent show for the American Field Service, (AFS) International Fair Saturday at Grosse Pointe War Memorial from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Pontiac chapter of the AFS will have a bake sale at the fair.

BHHS Plans Variety Show

By TERI SEIBERT

Plans are now in progress for the third annual variety show at Bloomfield Hills High School May 17 and 18. This year's program will feature a magazine-type format.

★ ★ ★

Vocal selections will be provided by a group of folk singers, a jazz band, the Jills and the Soph Singers (girls ensembles) and the Beltones, a junior achievement band.

Coordinating the program are Janis Adams, Molly Slader and Charles Bailey. Other chairmen include Kim Kelso, Thomas Roberts, Gail Senteney and Rica Hyde.

BHHS students have been participating in a magazine sales drive to aid the school's foreign exchange program. Profits will enable the exchange club to pay expenses for three foreign students to attend BHHS in the 1964-65 school year.

Varsity Club at St. Fred's Plans Dance

By SHEILA LANE

The St. Frederick's High School varsity club will sponsor "Farewell to Cheerleaders and Senior Sportsmen" in the parish hall from 8 to 11 tonight.

Under the supervision of Teena Monte and Fred Landry, the dance proceeds will be used for boys' varsity jackets.

"White Sheep of the Family" the senior play, will be presented Saturday and Sunday nights in the parish hall at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased from any student or at the door.

The parents' club will sponsor a paper drive Saturday and Sunday to raise money for the athletic program. A truck will be in the church parking lot on Parke Street on both days for the collection of papers.

★ ★ ★

Some 45 members of the honors club traveled to the Cranbrook Planetarium and Museum Tuesday afternoon. They also recently attended the sixth annual Detroit Metropolitan Science Fair at Cobo Hall.

★ ★ ★

Future plans include a trip to Detroit to see "How the West Was Won."

Club members get to go on school time in recognition for their high scholastic achievement which gained them a place on the honor roll.

WALLED LAKE

By SHERI JACKSON

"Bells Are Ringing" opened last night in the Walled Lake High School auditorium. Final performances will be tonight and tomorrow night at 8 p. m.

Freshmen, sophomore and junior girls are practicing for cheerleading tryouts which will be held April 30 through May 9.

Requirements include a "C" average or above, and each girl must be enthusiastic, friendly, original and demonstrate initiative.

Athletic requirements include hand springs, splits and round-offs for the varsity squad. Girls must demonstrate the ability to perform basic cheerleading jumps, split, tiger, straight, and C jump.

For varsity, a series of three toe jumps is also required. Some 15 to 30 finalists will be selected at the tryouts. From this group six regulars and two alternates for each squad will be chosen at the May 16 finals.

PLAY PRACTICE — Rehearsing roles in the forthcoming Milford High School production of "Romanoff and Juliet" are (from left) Jerry Bamber of 4864 Driftwood, Milford; Mary McCarthy of 10164 Elizabeth Lake Road, Union Lake; and Larry Kostecke of 100 Marlene St., Milford. The play will be presented tonight and tomorrow night at 8 p.m.

Rocky Labels JFK's N-Programs as 'Crazy Quilt'

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says the Kennedy administration's nuclear programs for Western Europe would cause a "crazy quilt of nuclear forces within NATO." He urges a "genuine political partnership" with our Atlantic allies.

Rockefeller, a potential but unannounced candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1964, spoke Thursday night at the 50th anniversary dinner of the Bureau of Advertising. The bureau is an autonomous corporation coordinating with, but not affiliated with the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

★ ★ ★

The governor told 1,700 newspaper publishers and other executives:

"Though the administration has talked a great deal about partnership, it is treating our friends of the Atlantic alliance as dependent allies rather than independent partners."

He termed the administration's proposals, in regard to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, "illusionary and shifting" in the field of nuclear policy, which he said amounts to "a prescription for chaos" rather than a 'grand design."

AP Photofax

POSES PROGRAM

Rockefeller proposed a five-point program which includes establishment of a permanent NATO committee, with the U.S. representative being of cabinet rank.

"This permanent group should be charged with exploring areas of common action," he said. "It should work on a common policy for relations with the Soviet Union, particularly with respect to negotiations."

★ ★ ★

One of the committee's most important tasks, he said, should be to devise policies which would enable other regions—such as Latin America, Japan and other Pacific nations, Southeast Asia and Africa—to participate in the progress of the Atlantic area "on the basis of mutual equality and respect."

The United States, Rockefeller continued, should help bring a combined European nuclear force into being as soon as possible by selling—not granting—the required nuclear materials.

Such sales, Rockefeller said, should be at a rate "related to progress toward European integration.

★ ★ ★

"We would continue to hold the final voice in nuclear matters," the governor said. "This may be what the administration wants, but no matter how disguised with labels of multilateralism, it clearly is neither partnership nor community."

ONLY COURSE

The only course open to the Free World, Rockefeller said, "is to devise a North Atlantic political arrangement within which nuclear weapons can be controlled and deployed for the common good of all free peoples.

"It is high time," he went on, "that Washington freed itself of the delusion that it is possible to maintain a position of nuclear monopoly which has already vanished."

★ ★ ★

In addition to the NATO committee proposal, Rockefeller outlined these other four points:

"1. As the European nations demonstrate their desire and capability to share responsibility for their own nuclear defense, we should be prepared to work with them toward common goals.

"2. As European and Atlantic cohesion grows, our goal should be the formation of a combined European nuclear force related to the American nuclear force on a basis of genuine partnership and dedicated to the defense of the NATO area.

"3. Toward this end we should actively assist the British and French in order to bring into being as soon as possible nuclear forces which can serve as the core for a truly European nuclear force.

"4. To make assistance possible, we should in our own national interest amend the McMahon Act to give us the flexibility required."

The 1946 McMahon act had—first by interpretation and then by specific amendment in 1951—prohibited giving any other nation "restricted data on design or fabrication of atomic weapons."

ATOMIC ENERGY ACT

The Atomic Energy Act of 1954 allowed the U.S. to tell its Allies about external characteristics of nuclear warheads so they could be fitted some day into allied delivery systems. A 1948 amendment allowed giving of information to a nation making "substantial progress" in developing atomic weapons. In 1959, agreements with seven NATO countries provided Britain with secret design information and materials for fabricating nuclear weapons, while France was to have received fuel for a submarine power plant.

The administration has two announced basic aims in its plans for NATO's nuclear future.

★ ★ ★

One is to give Great Britain a greater nuclear capability by selling it Polaris missiles which would be put into atomic submarines to be built by Britain. The missiles would be armed with nuclear warheads made by Britain.

A similar offer was made to France but was turned down by French President Charles de Gaulle.

★ ★ ★

The other program is to have a force of surface ships armed with Polaris missiles and operated on a multinational basis to include representatives of NATO countries which do not have nuclear capabilities of their own. This would include only those nations wishing to participate and to provide men and money for the force.

★ ★ ★

Under the McMahon and AEC acts, the U.S. still cannot release nuclear warheads to other nations, and there remains to be worked out some control system for a multinational force which would be compatible with this restriction.

Venereal Disease Is Up Among Teens

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A warning that venereal disease is on the increase among teen-agers was issued yesterday before delegates to the 42nd annual meeting of the Michigan Public Health Association.

★ ★ ★

It came in a speech by William Schwartz, educational consultant with the U. S. Public Health Service Communicable Disease Center.

★ ★ ★

He claimed the disease was hidden socially by association with guilt and fear, medically by escaping clinical detection and educationally by a "conspiracy of silence" toward factual knowledge.

★ ★ ★

Schwartz suggested a program of education and information in an "objective, unemotional, scientific atmosphere" as a practical step toward eradication of the disease.

Plant a Garden to Regain Feeling of Being Useful

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—and how many do you agree with?

BOYLE

Sorrow's crown of sorrows among the elderly is the realization they are no longer needed. To stay young in heart and purpose you have to dwell in a world that is dependent upon you and cannot get along without you.

When you plant a garden you create such a world. It will wither without your hand.

PLEASANT SIGHTS

One of life's pleasantest sights is a fat woman having a belly laugh. There is so much of her having a good time—she's a real mirthquake.

Are you tired of magazines that devote their entire issues to a single general subject—such as women, money or the atom bomb? They give me a big yawn.

I never trust a man who says he feels good on Monday mornings. He is bound to be either a liar or a hypocrite.

CRITICAL DRILLERS

When a woman doesn't care much about a man she addresses him impersonally. But if she is fond of him she gets a tireless thrill out of calling him by his first name. Thus you can always tell what a girl thinks of you by how often she employes your name.

Life is never utterly hopeless to a fellow as long as he can still enjoy eating corn on the cob.

WISDOM TO FOLLY

Nine out of ten husbands never read the fine print in their life insurance policies—but four out of five of their wives do.

If there were only one tree in the world, what kind would you want it to be? I'd like it to be an apple tree. Second choice: Oak. Third choice: Elm. Honorable mention: Maple.

OF HATS AND SHOES

A woman's sense of security is measured by the number of new hats she can buy; a man's by the number of old shoes he has in his closet.

An only child was telling her father about the happy family of 10 kids down the block. "Daddy," she said wistfully, "every time I look in their window they seem to be having a party."

Wayne County Names Hospital Unit Head

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Sidney B. Jenkins, 36, was named by the Wayne County Board of Institutions yesterday to head the phychiatric division of Wayne County General Hospital.

The post had been vacant since the death of Dr. John A. Belisle in September 1961. Dr. Jenkins is the first Negro to be appointed psychiatric director of a major hospital in the United States, officials said.

Eye Huron Valley Bond Issue

Junior High Additions on $2.2 Million Ballot

MILFORD — Voters in the Huron Valley School District will be asked to approve a $2.2-million junior high school building program in the regular school election June 10.

New units to be added to the Milford and Highland junior high schools would be financed through extension of an existing bond issue.

An additional three mills will be requested for operating expenses.

The board of education last night agreed to ask the voters for authority to refinance a 1955 bond issue and incorporate it into a building program.

The debt retirement levy on the issue — 3.4 mills last year—nets $140,000 annually. The board will ask that it be extended to 26 years.

★ ★ ★

Request for the building program was necessitated by the board's decision earlier this year to move ninth grade students out of Milford High School.

SCHOOL LOADED

There are now 981 students attending a high school designed for 900, according to Supt. Erwin M. Johnson. If the ninth grade were to remain there, the school would have an enrollment of 1,250 next year.

Each of the proposed junior high school units, is designed to accommodate 600 students, Johnson said.

Preliminary plans, viewed by the board members at a special meeting last night, call for laboratories, counseling offices, home economics facilities, shops and food services in the addition to the Highland school.

The Milford unit would include both classrooms and laboratories.

Johnson noted that pressure on the junior high schools will be relieved to some degree next year when portions of their facilities will no longer be needed for elementary usage.

BUILDING NOW

The district is now constructing 18 elementary classrooms and two multipurpose rooms which are to be completed next year.

The request for three mills to cover operating expenses is due mainly to planned salary increases for the entire staff, Johnson said.

Such increases would account for $86,329 of the $120,000 to be raised through levy, he said.

Views Filed on Control of Potatoes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joa Penzien, Mount Clemens, Mich., today had a statement on file supporting bills to curb potato surpluses through acreage controls.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday was the opponents' day in the House Agriculture Committee, and the proposed legislation was branded "unworkable, unrealistic and unsound."

Opposition testimony said the measures would lead to more government regulation, expense, waste and inefficiency.

Edd Moore of Idaho Falls, executive manager of the Idaho Grower Shippers Association, said the proposal that the secretary of agriculture fix a national supply need to be translated into state and individual acreage allotments is without sound foundation.

He said it would result in either preferential or prejudicial treatment to producers or consumers.

"In our opinion," Moore said, "this bill cannot possibly cope fairly and equitably with the shifting acreage, varieties produced, the impact of processing and other conditions too numerous to mention."

Witnesses during two previous days have generally favored the proposals.

Committee Lodges Protest on Proposed Use of Millage

OAK PARK — This city's self-appointed "Survey Our Schools" committee has submitted a letter to the board of education condemning the board's proposed use of a 3.5-mill tax increase.

★ ★ ★

Voters will be asked to approve the millage — placed on the ballot because of the S.O.S. group's pressure — in the June 10 school election.

The committee's letter, submitted by S.O.S. Chairman Abraham Brickner, contends that the board's proposed use of the 3.5-mills would not "serve the best interests of the total community."

The school board has submitted a tentative budget to the county, based on anticipated approval of the millage request, which allocates $108,000 for a contingency fund and $105,000 for salary increases.

★ ★ ★

Brickner said today that the S.O.S. committee did not intend for the school board to use the funds from the 3.5-mill increase in this manner.

JUNIOR HIGH FUNDS

The primary purpose of the additional funds was to provide finances for operation of the new junior high school, according to Brickner.

He said the S.O.S. plans did not call for the money to be used for salary increases.

If no millage is approved, the recently-constructed school will have to remain vacant next year.

Under terms of the district's 1963-64 proposed budget, the system would end up $379,579 in the red if it were to open the school without approval of the tax increase.

Two recent millage increase proposals were rejected at the polls.

Smarting under the two defeats, the board set a one-year moratorium providing for no millage requests. It accepted the fact that the new junior high school at Scotia and Nine Mile roads would not be opened next year.

★ ★ ★

The matter will come up for discussion at the May 2 regular meeting of the board.

To Show Film About Burma

Bishop Will Narrate at Church in Dryden

DRYDEN — "The Little Ones," a film depicting the plight of Burmese orphans, will be shown at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the St. Cornelius Catholic Church, 3824 N. Mill.

Bishop Guercilena, who refers to himself as the "Bishop of the Jungles," has lived among the primitive people for 37 years.

He is in the United States as the guest of the Foster Parents Mission Club.

The 63-year-old bishop is traveling to numerous cities lecturing on his experiences and the Foster Parents Mission Club, which has sponsored the "adoption" of more than 600 children in seven orphanages throughout the world.

Anyone interested in more information about the association should write to Foster Parents Mission Club, 121 E. Boston Blvd. Detroit 2, Mich.

Seminary Singers to Give Concert

CLARKSTON — The Wesley Seminary Singers of Washington D. C., will appear in a concert Wednesday night at the First Methodist Church.

The 8 p.m. event will feature soloist Pattie Bennet and 33 young men from all over the United States who make up the chorus.

Directed by Professor J. Edward Moyer, the group will sing church anthems as well as contemporary compositions.

No admission will be charged. The free-will offering to be taken will assist the scholarship fund of the seminary.

440 Die on State Roads

EAST LANSING (AP)—Traffic accidents have killed 440 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll at this date last year was 368.

Romney's Task Force Suggests Economy Acts

LANSING (AP) — Recommendations for more efficient and economical operation of the state government have been presented to Gov. George Romney in a preliminary report from a special governor's task force.

Included in the report was a recommendation that the state consider getting out of the retail liquor business.

The task force of seven certified public accountants said adoption of its suggestions could bring economies that ultimately could "run into millions of dollars each year."

★ ★ ★

Romney appointed the task force last December — before taking office — to conduct an intensive study of areas in which the state might make savings.

NO EVIDENCE OF FRAUD

Romney told newsmen there also was no evidence of fraud.

The task force made several specific recommendations, including the installation of a centralized data processing system for record keeping in the department of administration.

It also suggested that savings could be made in such areas as custodial services, inventory management, insurance coverage, communications, utilities, printing and printed forms, simplification of clerical work and the adoption of performance budgeting and evaluation.

The legislature has approved a proposal by Romney that $150,000 be included in the 1963-64 budget principally for continued work in expenditure management.

★ ★ ★

Part of this sum will be used, he said, to carry out the task force's original suggestions and secure the professional services required.

McCalls Say Vows

CLARKSTON — The First Methodist Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Kathleen Jane Taylor and Jack Richard McCall. They exchanged vows before Rev. William Richards.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Earl P. Taylor, 116 N. Main St., and the late Mr. Taylor. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Phillips, 35 Orion Road.

Mrs. Jack Harker was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Durham of Louisville, Ky.; cousin of the bride, and Rebecca DeLong of Clarkston.

Serving as best man was Jack Harker of Clarkston. The guests were seated by Gar Wilson, David Galligan, Harold Goyette and George McCall, brother of the bridegroom, all of Clarkston.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the nuptials. Upon their return from their honeymoon in London, Ont., the newlyweds will live near Ortonville.

The engagement of Carol R. Streeter to Frederick N. Wagner was announced recently at a dinner party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David L. Streeter, 218 Pleasant St., Romeo. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wagner, 15420 Reid Road, Romeo. A summer 1964 wedding is planned.

Special Meeting Set on School Building

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of education here will hold a special meeting Monday to consider a building program proposed by a citizens committee.

The committee, which has been studying school needs for about two months, last week made its final report to the board.

A $400,000 bond issue was recommended for purchase of eight new elementary school sites, a new junior high school site and another for a senior high school.

The committee recommended that a 50-75 acre high school site be purchased near the center of the district.

The acreage would also provide a site for another junior high school if it were needed in the future.

A total projected high school enrollment of 2,000 was used by the board as basis for its plans.

Besides the purchase of a new junior high site, the committee also recommended conversion of the present high school building at Orchard Lake and Commerce roads to a junior high school.

School board members have placed the $400,000 issue on the June 10 ballot. They are now wondering if a building program should be included.

The 50-member citizens advisory committee was appointed by the board and has been holding public meetings since February.

Set Open House at Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE—An adult education open house will be held at Walled Lake Senior High School Tuesday night.

A style show will be presented by the sewing classes of Mrs. Naomi Smith and Mrs. Beverly Rose, Mrs. Frances Curtis' knitting class and Mrs. Elizabeth Leach's millinery class.

Other teachers preparing exhibits are Mrs. Marion Zoner, oil painting; Mrs. Audrey Hines, cake decorating; Mrs. Hazel Nauman, ceramics and sculpture; Harry Bandy, leathercrafts; Mrs. Thelma Cheeseman, china painting; Mrs. Ruth Finter, gift wrapping, and Bud Holznagle, floral arrangements.

The public exhibit will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m., according to Berle D. Dean, adult education director.

Accused Rests Case in Slaying

Makes Surprise Move in Trial at Muskegon

MUSKEGON (UPI)—Herman Barmore rested his case yesterday after making a surprise move by producing a photostat of a police report that had been lost by the Muskegon County Sheriff's Department.

He offered in evidence the copy of a handwritten report by a deputy who talked to a key witness for the prosecution, Mrs. Elsie Ferrill, two days after the Gorham boy vanished.

Mrs. Ferrill, who received $1,500 in reward money, claims she saw Barmore in his car talking to the Gorham boy on July 5, 1955 on Camp Wabaningo Road. The boy disappered that night and his body was found six weeks later.

In the report written by Deputy Lyle Mathews on July 7, 1955, Mrs. Ferrill said she saw the boy "talking to an elderly dark complected man with dark hair in a medium blue car with Illinois license plates."

Barmore, who admitted to owning a 1949 blue sedan at the time, then produced evidence to show he had the car properly registered for Michigan license plates at the time.

★ ★ ★

Barmore found the copy of the report in the back files of the Muskegon Chronicle, which he had subpoenaed. The sheriff's department said it lost the report.

College Society Sets Prize-Winning Play

ORCHARD LAKE—The Skarga Society of St. Mary's College will present the prize-winning three-act play "Twelve Angry Men" Sunday.

To begin at 7:30 p.m., the play will be staged in the campus auditorium.

Warn School Districts

Borrowing for Profit Hit

LANSING (AP)—In a move to bar school districts from borrowing from the state to invest cash at a profit, the state will require a copy of the school's budget beginning July 1.

School districts failing to supply a copy of their buget cannot qualify to borrow funds against anticipated state aid payments, according to Harold Brown, assistant superintendent of public instruction.

He said school boards would be sent a form for showing their anticipated receipts and expenditures at the same time they ask permission to borrow funds.

This procedure has been followed informally since the opinion was handed down, Brown said, but will take effect formally July 1. He said school boards have cooperated with the procedure so far.

Attorney General Frank Kelley's opinion, which was requested by Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, delt with the practice of investing borrowed funds.

Kelley said:

"The board of education of a school district acts unlawfully when it borrows money and issues notes pledging unpaid state school aid appropriations for the purpose of investing such borrowed money in interest-bearing obligations."

Kelley said borrowings were allowed to meet operating expenses and for no other purpose.

★ ★ ★

"Any board of education that would borrow money and issue notes therefore, pledging unpaid state school aid fund appropiations, and invests the same in interest-bearing obligations, obviously is suffering no want in operating funds," Kelley said in the opinion.

Wayne School Suspends 27

WAYNE (AP) — Wayne Memorial High School suspended 27 students yesterday after they were arrested by two off-duty policemen who said the youths created a disturbance at a confectionery during the noon recess.

Fifteen of the youths pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a disorderly charge and were fined $10 each and placed on probation for six months.

Another pleaded innocent and was released on $20 bond.

City Educators Hold 34th Annual Banquet

"You must understand not only the teaching process but also the learning process," declared R. H. Bechtold to a full house of Pontiac Education Association (PEA) members at the 32th annual banquet Thursday evening at Devon Gables.

★ ★ ★

Keynote speaker, Mr. Bechtold was former registrar and chairman of the admissions committee at General Motors Institute, Flint.

In a brief but humorous talk on "The Joy of Teaching," Bechtold spoke of the boy who didn't like school.

"It isn't the school that's so bad—it's the principal of the thing".

In a serious moment he told the teachers that they "must grow with the students".

★ ★ ★

Outgoing president William Neff spoke of the assistance he had received from various committees and introduced new officers. Mrs. Ralph Ellsworth was toastmistress with Burtella Green giving the invocation.

Incoming president is Mrs. Ellsworth.

Assisting her will be Traver Miller, first vice president; Glenn Hartman, second vice president; Palmer Swanson, recording secretary; Mrs. Cornelia Jackson, corresponding secretary; and Paul Gehman, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

Directors are Homa Tindall, Glenn Cheek and Thor Petersen. Delegates to the representative assembly of the Michigan Education Association are Dominic Paterra, Mrs. Hilda Webb and Kay Stickle.

Representatives of the department of classroom teachers are Mary Belle Jordon and Mamie Wyatt.

Personal News Notes From Birmingham Area

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

This weekend Mr. and Mrs. William B. Bachman Jr., of Oakleigh Drive expect Mrs. Bachman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weyand of San Francisco to arrive.

The Weyands telephoned early this week from New York that they were back from two months' traveling in Africa and South America.

They will bring fresh news from grandson Bill Bachman, a student at the Proctor Academy, whom they visited in the East and of Mrs. Bachman's nephew, John Teal, whom they visited at the Oxford School in New Jersey.

★ ★ ★

On Sunday evening, the Weyands' close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Everett H. Wells of Bennington Road will entertain the family group for supper.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Toms, Detroit, was the chairman, assisted by Miss Edna Apel.

Mrs. M. M. Burgess had invited as her guests, Mesdames Alfred J. Fisher, Lawrence P. Fisher, Lloyd H. Diehl, William J. Ulrich, Aloysius F. Power and James M. Roche.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Herman D. Scarney entertained Mrs. Percy Loud and Mrs. Elton MacDonald of Grosse Pointe. In a group were Mrs. John Kinzel, Mrs. Francis H. Phelps and Mrs. C. Clement Richard.

Carol Ann Yamasaki has returned to Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Teruko Yamasaki of Hickory Grove Road.

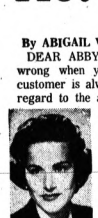
Customer Always Right?

Hot Letters on Cool Issue

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You were wrong when you said "the customer is always right" in regard to the airconditioning in a restaurant.



ABBY

It is far easier to get custom ers than it is to get a good waitress. If the waitress wants it cooler, we make it cooler. And we serve hot coffee for the customers who need it.

IN BUSINESS 30 YEARS

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Just read the complaint from CHILLED. I have been an air-conditioning engineer for years so can speak with some authority on the subject.

In eating places where the hostess stands still, she is cold.

The waitress who rushes around is hot. The customers are both cold and hot.

On ships, the woman with the baby says you are giving her baby pneumonia. The man in the next stateroom says it is so stifling he is getting seasick.

Nuts to everybody.

WALT, THE SOURPUSS ENGINEER

DEAR ABBY: One of my sons has been taking money from my purse since childhood. He is now 18 and is about to graduate from high school.

We are still unable to leave money around without having it "disappear."

He seldom admits to taking it, but there is no question about his guilt.

We've tried reasoning with him, punishing him and even increasing his allowance. Nothing works. Can you suggest any other methods to break him of this habit?

ANXIOUS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Psychiatrists tell us that many youngsters steal money because they feel cheated of love or affection.

The money fills the real or imagined void. Your son appears to need professional help.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DISAPPOINTED FATHER: If you will pull a few wires while your children are growing up, you won't have to pull any strings to get them into a "good" college. (Suggested wires to pull; television, hi-fi and telephone.)

Careless in Sending Gifts Out

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I sent the wrong present to the wrong person. One present was quite expensive and the other of trifling value. The person who was to have received the trifling present was sent the expensive one, and vice versa. Can I write to each of them, explaining what happened and ask them to return the presents to me so that I can rectify the mistake?

A: You cannot tell the one who received the expensive present that you meant her to have the trifling one, and as punishment for your carelessness you will have to buy the one who received the trifling one and send it with a note of explanation.

Q: I am a secretary and quite often when I am taking dictation from my employer he will receive a personal telephone call. I never know whether to stay or leave. I feel very uncomfortable sitting there trying not to listen to his conversation. What is the proper thing to do in this situation?

A: The best thing to do is to get up and start to leave and then if he wishes you to remain, he can motion to you to stay.

Q: My son was married last week. The wedding took place in the morning and was followed by a luncheon at a hotel. After the reception I invited a few relatives and close friends back to the house.

I did not ask any members of the bride's family to join us. I understand they feel slighted. Will you please tell me if I was wrong not to ask them too?

A: It was not at all necessary to ask the bride's family back to your house.

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Clothes of the Bridal Party." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Cancer Pads Are Sewn by Church Guild

Cohostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Howard Hall and Mrs. Freda Flynn. Devotions were led by Mrs. Guy Caswell.

Mrs. Raymond Batchelor was welcomed as a guest.

Women's Capabilities Theme for Symposium

Alpha Beta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International society chose the theme "Strengthening Respect for Woman's Capabilities" for Wednesday's dinner meeting in Alpine Inn.

Dr. Joann M. Gates, Pontiac physician, gave her views on women in medicine and Mrs. Janet Odell, Pontiac Press Women's Editor, spoke on "Women in a Man's World."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hollister Mabley, Oakland County social worker, joined the symposium, stressing skill, creative ability and dependability as essential attributes to strengthen capabilities of the fair sex.

Hostesses were Mrs. John Dawson, Mrs. William Sax, Mrs. Fay Ealy, Mrs. Theodore Wiersema, Helen Bulla, Mrs. Edward Chubb and Mrs. Richard Penman.

Mrs. Chester Arnold and Eleanor Traut were cochairmen.

Unit Honors Commander

Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary No. 16 honored State Commander Virginia Guitar Tuesday at the DAV Home.

Miss Guitar gave a talk on membership and Americanism before the reception. Members also discussed hospital work for the veterans and families in various hospitals around Pontiac.

LAURIE E. PANTZER

August vows are planned by Laurie E. Pantzer, daughter of George Pantzer, Detroit, and Mrs. Frieda Pantzer, Oak Park, to Michael Bernard Nosanchuk, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph I. Nosanchuk of Cherokee Road. They attend Michigan State University and Ferris Institute, respectively.

Paintings, Sculpture Inspire Exhibit

Will Present 'Heritage in Flower' Show

The Michigan Division, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association (WNF&G), will present "Heritage in Flower" Wednesday and Thursday, in Wright, Kay & Co., downtown Detroit store.

★ ★ ★

Favorite paintings, sculpture or weaving will inspire many planned exhibits of flower arrangements.

Artistry in international table settings will be shown in a formal dinner table as done in France, a table for a high tea in England, and an Irish luncheon table.

TO HONOR STUDENTS

Several exhibitors will honor International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) students by using materials from Holland, Sweden, India and Portugal.

★ ★ ★

Seven compositions will represent world religions. Included will be the head of a Buddha from Thailand, loaned by Mrs. Frederic Garrison, of Detroit, president, Michigan WNF&G.

★ ★ ★

Tables will depict the Japanese Festival of Dolls, an Austrian wine festival, a Hula festival in Hawaii and Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

The street-level windows of Wright Kay will feature floral compositions showing our heritage of design from Rome, Athens, London and Williamsburg, Va. The show is open to the public from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. both days, without charge.

The Wright, Kay award of $1,000 presented to the Michigan division will contribute to the support of Camp Kett, near Cadillac, a training center for volunteer youth group leaders.

Mrs. Walter Patterson of Dearborn, general chairman names her committee: schedule, Mrs. Newton D. Skillman Jr., Lake Angelus Shores, staging, Mrs. Frederic Stefansky, Birmingham; entries, Mrs. Fred Trickey, Birmingham; and her cochairmen, Mrs. James Morrison, Trenton and Mrs. Byron Hasse, St. Clair Shores.

Mrs. George Dixon, Birmingham, and Mrs. Elton MacDonald, Grosse Pointe Park, are handling publicity.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac area exhibitors are Mrs. Skillman, Mrs. Russell Kock, Pine Lake Branch; Mrs. A. W. Bickley, Mrs. C. Howard Bingham, Mrs. Richard H. Hulbert and Mrs. Max Hawkins, New England Estates Branch. From Lake Orion are Mrs. Alfred Dacey, Mrs. I. J. Gouin and Mrs. Thomas Hunt.

★ ★ ★

Honorary patronesses from the area are Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and Mrs. Frank R. Chapman, Rochester; Mrs. Irving McKenzie, Mrs. Harold I. Tanner, Bloomfield Hills; Mrs. Parker Rockwell, Union Lake; Mrs. Nelson Miles, Mrs. William McCallum, Mrs. F. Gordon Davis, Mrs. George Cutter and Mrs. Charles L. Crane, Birmingham; Mrs. Marvin L. Katke, Bloomfield Twonship.

LANSING (UPI) — A GOP state legislator today blamed fellow Republicans for thwarting the party's leader, Gov. George Romney, and killing a minimum wage bill that would take people off "the dole."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Marie Hager, R-Lansing, who led the unsuccessful fight to establish a $1.15-an-hour minimum wage in Michigan, disagreed with GOP leaders who claim minority Democrats were responsible for its death yesterday.

House speaker Allison Green, R - Kingston, said Democrats killed the bill because Michigan AFL-CIO President August Scholle "doesn't want to see Governor Romney get credit for a minimum wage law."

Mrs. Hager, who sponsored Romney's bill, said, "I do not agree with Mr. Green. I had all the Democrats with me on the final roll call. The Republicans killed this bill."

The measure, approved earlier in the Senate, died on the House calendar at midnight Wednesday. A last-ditch attempt by Mrs. Hager to get the bill reconsidered failed yesterday by a 45-55 vote on straight party lines.

"Each of these groups wants it for the other fellow but they don't think it's necessary for themselves."

'THEY ALL HATE ME'

Mrs. Hager declined to name any of the pressure groups, however. "They all hate me bad enough as it is," she said.

The Republican lawmaker said she and the governor "feel very badly but he told me 'we did our best.'"

She pointed out that the bill at least escaped death in committee, the fate of all previous minimum wage attempts in the legislature.

"I still feel we'll get this thing through next year," she said.

Mrs. Hager based her optimism on the fact that the legislature passed her equal pay for women bill last year.

"A minimum wage is badly needed in Michigan," she said. "It's either that or go on the dole. People can't exist on less than $1.15 an hour.

MARIA COSMA

Fall vows are planned by Marla Cosma, daughter of Mrs. Ernest Cosma of Ogemaw Road and the late Mr. Cosma to Gus Stavropoulos, son of George Stavropoulos of Dearborn and the late Mrs. Stavropoulos.

Wear Pearls Which Fit Your Neck

What kind of pearls you wear largely depends on the shape of your neck.

A woman with a long and thin neck should wear a short strand lying loosely just above the collar bone. A multiple strand with the first strand now the base of the neck also helps to improve the proportions.

A long-necked woman should not wear high, tight chokers and plunging lines of sautoirs (ropes) or opera length necklaces.

A woman with a short or wide neck can improve her neckline with a string of oval shaped pearls that fall just below the collarbone. Two or more strands are attractive if the strands are separated slightly.

Women Elect Unit Officers

Mrs. Gerald Otzman was elected president of the Women's Society of Christian Service (WSCS) for Trinity Methodist Church, Waterford, at the April meeting.

Committee chairmen were also elected.

Mrs. John Wherritt is WSCS historian.

Set Fashion Show

Pontiac Federated Beauticians, Chapter No. 188, will present its 12th annual fashion show Sunday at Bethune School. The show, from 4 to 6 p.m., will feature LaTrelle Powers models.

Childhood Dream Leads to Practical Nursing Job

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Her family said, "What next?" when Mrs. Cratus Riley (Atrell) announced that she was going to take a course in practical nursing.

But when she started and came home in her uniform, her son Charles thought she looked "kinda nice." He also thought it odd to have his mother going to school.

Mrs. Riley was 48 years old when she began her course at the Ann Arbor School of Practical Nursing in 1958.

The youngest of her four children was 13 and she had five grandchildren.

Today Mrs. Riley works on the third floor of Pontiac General Hospital as a licensed practical nurse, satisfied that she has at last found the job she's always wanted.

★ ★ ★

As a little girl, the sound of starched uniforms always thrilled her, and she thought being a nurse would be wonderful.

But she was orphaned at an early age and stopped her schooling at the eighth grade.

★ ★ ★

When she applied to the nursing school, she had to take a high school test at Pontiac Central High School. To her delight, she scored 85 on the test.

WORLD WAR II

Mrs. Riley's life was centered in her home until World War II when she went to work for Baldwin Rubber. Before the factory called her, she had worked a few weeks as a nurse's aid at Pontiac General.

Eleven years of full-time work was enough and Atrell quit, determined never to have an outside job again.

★ ★ ★

Life sometimes decides otherwise for us and did for Mrs. Riley. Her husband was not well, and the two of them came to the decision that she should get some training so that she could be independent.

"This was the wisest move I ever made," she says.

★ ★ ★

The first few weeks were really rough.

She was out of the habit of studying, and the medical terms nearly floored her.

PROPER PERSPECTIVE

But suddenly, everything fell into proper perspective and she began to take it all in her stride.

Four months of commuting five days a week to Ann Arbor were followed by eight months at Pontiac General.

Charles who will be graduated in June from Pontiac Northern High School is going to Oakland University for premed training.

★ ★ ★

Atrell Riley's feeling about her work is summed up in one statement:

By now, Atrell Riley (Mrs. Cratus) is an old hand at putting on rubber gloves and doing all the jobs that a licensed practical nurse does. Since 1959, she has been employed at Pontiac General Hospital. She's proof that it's possible for a woman to start an entirely new career in her late forties.

Women Set May Meeting

Members of the Christian Women's Club will gather at Devon Gables May 8 for a luncheon and style show. Local model for the hair styles will be Mrs. John Napley of Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

David W. Dyke and Mrs. Hugh Clark will be guest speaker and soloist respectively. Those interested in making reservations may contact Mrs. Eugene Thomas of Bloomfield Hills.

Luncheon Served by Heralders

The Christian Heralders Class served luncheon to some 125 members of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society Thursday in First Baptist Church.

Rev. Robert Shelton conducted election of the following officers:

Mrs. Frank Rudlaff, president; Mrs. Albert Slater, first vice president; Mrs. Floyd Miles, second vice president; Mrs. Reinold Yeager, secretary; Mrs. Jack Scott, assistant secretary; Agnes Sturman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Stuart Davis, treasurer; Mrs. Jack Maher, assistant treasurer.

Speaking on her work among the Kawa tribe in New Guinea, Mrs. Karl Franklin titled her message "I Live Six Lives" as wife, mother, missionary, linguist, teacher and counselor.

Meals at the post are prepared in a nine-inch square oven, with mostly sweet potatoes to cook.

League Execs Plan Activities

Activities for the year and plans for the Elks' Flag Day were discussed at the Saturday meeting.

Fashionettes Hear Dietitian

This meeting ended the three-month category contest on weight loss and measurements.

Next week is mother and child night, which will include a puppet show and story singer.

A University of Wisconsin zoologist, Arthur D. Hasler, has demonstrated that salmon can follow an odor to its source like hounds.

Thick Heels Now Back in Fashion

Thick-heeled low shoes, the kind that ample old ladies have clung to with tenacity despite all fashion evolutions, are now back in favor with style setters.

American designer, Norman Norell's models wore a version of them with his country clothes at his spring collections recently.

In the French collections Balenciaga's manikins wore navy and white laced oxfords aptly described as Nanny shoes

'It's Not Wise to Take Second Mortgage'

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: Is it ever wise to take a second mortgage on your home? Obligations are getting behind. We are paying on a '62 car, our home, and a small loan.

MARY FEELEY

But my husband wants to get a second mortgage to pay off the car and loan. In a year, however, these two would be paid off.

Do you advise a second mortgage?

Mrs. E. M., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Dear Mrs. M.: It's not wise to take a second mortgage, as rates would be very high. Is there a possibility of refinancing the first mortgage, increasing the length of time you'd have to pay and lowering the monthly payments?

Perhaps you could extend the car payments so this monthly expense would also be cut down.

I think you'll come out better in the long run if you look for other means, rather than a second mortgage, to ease the strain.

Dear Miss Feeley: I would like to make a will. If I write a will myself and have two witnesses to my signature, will it be lawful?

After making a will, can I add to it from time to time without further witnesses?

Mrs. C. W. G., Dale, Wis.

* * *

Dear Mrs. G.: Rather than trying to make your own will, you'll be smarter to go to the chief clerk in the local county courthouse for advice. He will know about the Lawyer's Referral Service of the local bar association.

If you know just how you want your will to read, you can pay as little as $10 for the service — which might be the best money you ever spent.

* * *

While a few states do recognize "holographic wills" — those that are entirely in the handwriting of the testator — this law might be changed at some time in the future.

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband is still in his medical training and brings home a salary of $400 per month. Our rent is $95 and we spend $280 a year on insurance and hospitalization. We have one small child.

Could you outline for us a budget on a monthly basis? I find that every time I spend money I feel guilty because I'm never sure whether we really should or can afford it.

Thank you for your help. I enjoy your column.

Mrs. A. G. A. W., Cincinnati

* * *

Dear Mrs. W.: You're not the first wife and mother to tell me she feels like a criminal if she so much as buys herself a new compact. Well, the best cure I know of for that guilty feeling is a common sense budget.

* * *

For a good budget provides for both saving and spending. Even spending something on yourself!

When you write down the figures and what they are for, you see in black and white that a certain amount is justified for personal allowances. Maybe it's a skinny figure, but you're entitled to enjoy it anyway.

You and your husband might look over this set-up, as a guide for planning your expenditures: rent, $95; household operating costs, $30; food at home, $98; clothing, including upkeep, $30; savings, including insurance, $43; personal allowances for you both, $44; miscellaneous, including church, gifts, etc., $20; medical costs, $10; recreation and vacation, $20; and education, books, magazines, $10.

Most Women Get Them

Avoid Flabby Upper Legs

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "Please give me a good exercise for the legs."

Straighten the right leg and return the left foot to place. Now bend the left knee and reach back with the right foot, right knee stiff. Place the right toe on the floor. Continue, alternating left and right.

* * *

Q. "Please tell me how to get moles off my face. I have lots of them and I would appreciate it if you would give me directions."

A. Do not touch or treat moles yourself. See a skin specialist. He can remove them successfully.

Q. "My upper legs are getting flabby. What can I do about it? I am not overweight."

A. Exercise is the only answer. Most women notice this tendency as the years pass. Try this exercise:

Stand tall with your toes pointing forward. Raise your arms sideward, shoulder height, as you do a deep knee bend. Be sure to keep your back straight as your knees bend and your heels leave the floor.

This is most important since you want your thigh muscles to do the work. Straighten the knees slowly, and return heels to the floor and arms to the side.

If you cannot do this exercise and keep your back straight, place one hand on the wall or on a divan or chair for balance.

Q. "I am just sick. I allowed an amateur to cut my bangs for me and she cut them so short that I can't do a thing with them. Please help me."

A. You will just have to stand it for awhile. If the hair is long enough, perhaps you could roll the bangs up in pincurls at night. This would help. Hair spray might also be an aid in holding the hair in place.

Q. "I have some little whiteheads. What can I do to get rid of them. All my skin is rough."

A. Stimulate the area by using a bath brush or a very rough cloth with soap and water. Massage with the brush, using a circular motion. Vitamin deficiency sometimes causes rough skin.

Neckties for Aprons

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I use old neckties to make pretty aprons. Cut the ties in the length desired for the apron and use the wide ends of the ties at the bottom.

Sew together and hem or zigzag on the sewing machine. Use small ends to make a waist band and ties for the apron.

I launder mine in the washer as if they were cotton. I have now used up all the old ties that had been hanging around for years. E. I. W.

DEAR POLLY — A thin coat of regular automobile oil applied to the chrome of your car in the fall and periodically throughout the winter will cut down possible rust. A MALE FAN

DEAR POLLY — Don't throw away those old window shades. They make excellent canvases for the art student or amateur painter in your family. E. S.

DEAR POLLY — I tacked a yardstick to the top edge of an old dresser in my sewing room. Now I do not have to look for a yardstick when I want to measure materials. MRS. B. T.

U.S. Experts Doubt Khrushchev Will Step Down Soon

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite Premier Khrushchev's talk that he cannot stay on as the Soviet leader "for all time," U.S. experts voiced doubt today that he is going to step down soon.

★ ★ ★

Nor, despite a recent spate of rumors to the contrary, do Washington authorities have evidence that Khrushchev is about to be ousted from his Kremlin command.

★ ★ ★

This was an initial reaction from qualified U.S. sources who studied Tass' account late Thursday of Khrushchev's Wednesday speech to an industry and construction workers group in Moscow.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. analysts tended to agree that Khrushchev had other things in mind than abdiction. One was an argument for the party's supremacy in the current artists' revolt among the Soviet intelligentsia. Another was an effort to smooth the leadership changeover process when he does go.

News Analysis

Since 1953 Khrushchev has occupied the real control position in the Soviet Union as first secretary of the Communist party. Since 1958 he has held clear title to the post of chairman of the council of ministers—in effect, head of the government.

★ ★ ★

Noting that he had passed his 69 birthday, Khrushchev told the Moscow group: "Everyone understands that I cannot hold for all time the position I now have in the party and the state."

★ ★ ★

As read here by some experts on Soviet affairs, Khrushchev was making an argument in behalf of Communist party authority in the context of the present dispute over party suppression of more liberal activities by Soviet artists and intellectuals.

★ ★ ★

He declared that the "tried and tested leader of the Soviet people is our Communist party." And he contended that artistic deviation, conflicting with traditional party authority, steers away from true Marxist-Leninism toward bourgeoisism.

Glenn Plans Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. plans a family vacation in Japan next month after doing his part in the next American-manned orbit attempt, the Space Administration announced in Washington.

THINKS OF PARTY

The Soviet leader also stated that he has no "special standing of my own in the party. I do not think of myself; but of our Leninist party, the Soviet people and the great cause of communism."

★ ★ ★

These remarks were assessed by Washington experts as perhaps an effort by Khrushchev to stress the party role, as against the Stalinist personality cult, in order to reduce the chances of turmoil when he does step down.

★ ★ ★

Under the system of party authority which Khrushchev sought to stress, the party's central committee would pick his successor. Khrushchev well knows the crises of succession which the Soviet Union, as well as other dictatorship, have gone through in the past.

★ ★ ★

Besides not finding in Khrushchev's speech a cue to imminent departure, U.S. authorities were inclined to believe that it would not be in his nature to relinquish his power.

★ ★ ★

Cuba Refugee Ship Stalled in Havana

HAVANA (AP)—Sailing of the SS American Surveyor for the United States with more than 750 emigrants has been delayed until Sunday, Swiss Embassy sources said Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The freighter came here with 8,000 tons of drugs, medical supplies and baby food. It was the sixth shipload of ransom payment for the freed 1,110 Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners.

★ ★ ★

Sources gave no reason for postponement of the Surveyor's return journey. It had been expected to leave immediately after unloading its cargo.

Limit Bills Approved by Mackie

LANSING (AP)—Legislative approval of two freeway speed limit bills—raising the nighttime maximum of 70 miles per hour and fixing a minimum of 45 miles per hour—has been praised by State Highway Commissioner John Mackie.

★ ★ ★

"The minimum speed limit for freeways is something we've needed for several years," Mackie said.

"It should do much to reduce the number of rear-end collisions on freeways caused mostly by slow-moving vehicles."

Mackie added that the Highway Department supported the increase in maximum nighttime freeway speed limit from 60 to 70 m.p.h. "because we feel motorists can safely drive 70 m.p.h. on freeways at night as well as during the daytime."

Kaiser Gives Savings Bonus

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly 4,000 employes of the Kaiser Steel Corp. will get a bonus of about $80 a man, or some 45 cents an hour, in the first monthly cost savings distribution under Kaiser's unique new labor plan.

Word of the initial distribution has been eagerly awaited in steel industry quarters because of the possibility that the AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union may urge such a plan for the rest of the industry.

The plan gives to workers each month about a third of the cost savings realized over Kaiser's 1961 cost level. It also guarantees continued jobs despite automation effects.

Kaiser announced that during March, first month of effective operation of the plan, cost savings amounted to $962,000 and the workers' share will be $312,000 for 3,930 eligible employes.

This figures out roughly to about $80 a man for the month, or about 45 cents an hour.

'U.S. Will Aid in Malaysia'

Malayan 2nd Minister Speaks to Press Club

WASHINGTON (AP)—Malaya's Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak said today he is sure the United States "will not leave us alone unaided" in building the new Malaysian federation in the face of the Communist challenge.

★ ★ ★

He made the statement in a speech for the National Press Club after talks with President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other top officials.

Razak, who is also minister of defense, pulled no punches in describing the challenges to the security of the federation which will link Singapore and the Borneo territories of Brunei, Sarawak and North Borneo to Malaya after Britain severs colonial ties in the territories this summer.

INDONESIAN OPPOSITION

Speaking of opposition from Indonesia, Razak said:

"The Indonesian confrontation policy against Malaysia was engineered and influenced by the Communist party in Indonesia. The Communists are trying to create serious coordinated disturbances throughout Malaysia by subverting our people. Such disturbances, if successful, could result in the widespread racial conflicts which would constitute the most serious internal security threat to Malaysia."

★ ★ ★

Razak said that in Brunei the armed rebellion which flared last December is likely to result in sporadic disturbances for some years.

New Methods Can Be Developed

'Time Has Come to End Quarrels Over Birth Control'

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The time has come for Protestants and Catholics to declare a truce in their rancorous quarrel over birth control.

★ ★ ★

If they'll do so, new methods of fertility regulation can be developed — perhaps "within a remarkably short period of time" — which will be safe, effective and morally acceptable to all religious groups.

So says Dr. John Rock, a man who has unique credentials for speaking on this subject.

Dr. Rock is a Harvard University scientist who is world famous for his pioneering research in human reproduction. He is codeveloper of the oral contraceptive pill.

He also is a devoted member of the Roman Catholic Church.

He has written a book, entitled "The Time Has Come," (Knopf, $3.95), which ought to be read and pondered by every church leader, politician and plain citizen who is concerned about the problem of limiting population growth.

★ ★ ★

Former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter contributed a foreword, in which he warns that it is "not just desirable, but urgently necessary," to terminate the religious controversy which is paralyzing government action in this field.

UNTHINKABLE CONSEQUENCES

"The consequences of failure to find effective, acceptable ways of meeting the population crisis are unthinkable," Herter says.

Dr. Rock says that Protestants and Catholics are now in substantial agreement" about the objectives of family planning, and differ mainly about the methods which may be employed.

Most Protestant bodies endorse the use of any medically-approved contraceptive technique, but the Catholic Church condones only the so-called rhythm or "safe period" method.

Since this dispute is tied up with differing views of "natural law," Dr. Rock sees little hope of resolving it "within the limits of the family planning methods now available.

"This will include not merely refinements of current methods, but also entirely new approaches which will fit into normal reproductive physiology."

NEW TECHNIQUES

Given an adequate research program, he says, "it is not unrealistic" to anticipate that science can come up with a variety of entirely new birth-control techniques, far better, cheaper and more effective than those which are now most widely used (and which date back to the 19th century or earlier.)

Among these new techniques, he is confident, "will be effective methods which all religious groups can accept."

Although he considers the rhythm method presently rather unreliable, Dr. Rock says it could be perfected if researchers found a simple and accurate home test to predict the day of ovulation, or if they developed an equally simple way to induce ovulation on a selected day of each menstrual cycle.

"I believe that a concerted research effort could yield substantial progress toward this goal within a remarkably short period of time," he says.

The real problem, he thinks, is not scientific but political.

"The federal government is the one conceivable source of research support of sufficient magnitude to attract the scientists and to get the job done," he says.

★ ★ ★

But government leaders are notoriously afraid of the "religious controversy" they might stir up if the National Institutes of Health (NIH) were given a green light to undertake a massive program of research in fertility control.

The result is that the NIH is dabbling timidly along the fringes of the problem, devoting to it only a tiny fraction of the sums it spends on, for example, preventing tooth decay.

Policeman's Tie Hanging Noose, Magistrate Says

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Policemen who must wear ties are working with their necks in a noose, according to a Newark magistrate.

The sentiment was voiced by Chief Magistrate Nicholas Castellano during a hearing Thursday for two persons charged with assaulting a Newark officer. One of the defendants allegedly grabbed Patrolman Thomas Amico by his black uniform necktie and started choking him.

"This necktie is an occupational hazard," Castellano said.

To Use Pesticides
Ten Commandments

With all the furor about dangers of use or misuse of chemical pesticides, we offer ten commandments designed to reduce garden accidents.

★ ★ ★

The safety tips are:

1. Read the label carefully before you even open the container.

2. Store pesticides out of reach of children and pets, outside the home, away from food and under lock and key.

★ ★ ★

3. Keep sprays and dusts in their original containers, which should be kept tightly closed.

4. Do not smoke while spraying or dusting.

5. Avoid inhaling sprays or dusts. Wear protective clothing and masks if the label so directs.

6. Cover bird baths, dog dishes, fish pools before spraying.

7. Use separate equipment for applying hormone-type herbicides. This will guard against injury to susceptible plants.

8. Dispose of empty containers so they will not endanger humans, animals or valuable plants.

★ ★ ★

9. Observe label directions and cautions to keep residues on edible plants within safe limits.

10 Do not plant mint, berries or other edibles near ornamentals that may be sprayed frequently with pesticides.

Remember that Grandmother used to say that lima beans grew best when planted edgewise with the eyes downward? Well, she was right and you will do well to follow her advice.

Here's Where to Store Tools

Easily Built Center Jumps Home Value

That headache of where to store the lawnmower, garden tools, fertilizer or patio umbrella has been solved by a new "outdoor storage center."

★ ★ ★

It's easy to build, adds to the value of your home — and will eliminate clutter from the garage, basement or other storage areas.

★ ★ ★

Detailed working plans and step-by-step instructions for the 4-by-16-foot center (it can be made smaller or larger by simple plan alterations) were developed by a plywood manufacturer.

They are available free at thousands of retail building materials dealers from coast to coast this spring and summer.

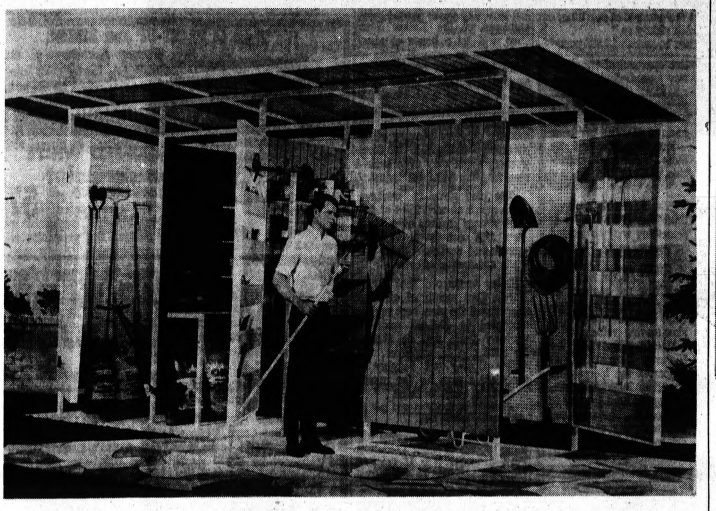
The center utilizes a low-cost factory-coated plywood siding and tempered perforated hardboard for an attractive yard structure with a minimum of painting. The wood, which is really house siding, comes in red, brown, green, grey and off-white.



PLANS AVAILABLE—This easy-to-build storage center is made of factory-colored plywood and perforated hardboard. It has shelves and storage walls and can be built in 4 by 16-foot size of this model or other sizes on 4-foot module. Free plans are available at most retail building material dealers or by writing to J. R. Watterson, Georgia-Pacific Corp., Equitable Bldg., Portland 4, Ore.

Will Lend Short Film

The International Flower Show has a 13-minute narrated film it will lend free to garden and other clubs willing to pay return postage.

Grow Two Flowery Vegetables

Maybe you never stopped to think about it, but when you are eating a vegetable you're most often eating its leaves (as with lettuce, cabbage or spinach) or its roots (as with carrots, beets or turnips).

On rarer occasions it's the stem that tastes so good (celery, kohlrabi) but sometimes you have flowers to eat.

This is the case with cauliflower and broccoli, both members of the cabbage family. Of the two, broccoli is easy to grow, cauliflower a bit harder as it takes a little time to protect the developing heads of bloom from the sun which would turn them purple.

Market gardeners often start broccoli seeds indoors about six weeks before their frost-free date and grow them for an early crop.

Most home gardeners, however, plant the seeds outdoors, either under the wax paper protectors called hotkaps or directly in the row and expect heads to mature in late summer.

Twelve to fifteen seeds are sown to each inch of row and, when seedlings are about two inches high, they are transplanted to set 18 inches apart. Thus only a very short row need be sown.

★ ★ ★

Cauliflower heads have poor texture and color if they develop in warm weather. Hence the aim is to have them growing during the cooler days of fall.

Seeds may be sown early in July, in a short row, spacing seeds 10 to the inch. As with broccoli, 2-inch-high seedlings are transplanted to stand 18 inches to 2-feet apart.

Like all cabbage relatives, broccoli and cauliflower are attractive to various cabbage worms. A weekly dusting with safe rotenone, freshly purchased each year, will control them.

'Remodeling Has Merit'

There is real merit in an industry-wide drive which encourages Americans to remodel and improve their homes.

Such a program also helps in the maintenance and enhancement of community life throughout the nation," stated President Kennedy in a telegram to the Home Improvement Council.

These improvements add to the liveability of individual properties as well as neighborhoods and communities.

Try New Kind of Snapdragons

Would you like to have snapdragons in your garden this year that could be used as a carpet and be able to cut off their dead and faded blooms with a lawn mower? You can have them — just buy seeds of varieties named Magic Carpet or Tom Thumb.

Both of these come in mixed colors, grow only four to six inches high and have miniature blooms in great quantities. Consider these varieties for the rock garden or for a long-blooming house plant for winter, as well as for carpeting or edging.

You'd prefer your snapdragons slightly taller? Nothing could be easier—just ask for Sprite hybrids and the plants will be compact, grow fourteen to eighteen inches high, with true hybrid vigor. For this strain is a semi-dwarf type.

Tall snapdragons are your favorites but you prefer them to bloom very early? Try the new First Ladies strain or the older Hit Parade. Both bloom two weeks earlier than most tall snapdragons.

A week later to flower than these very early types is one known as Vacationland and a mixture of seeds of this mid-season kind and the later flowering, magnificent Rocket snapdragons is offered by one seed house for a longer season of bloom.

The Rocket strain is bred to withstand hot summers and still give flowers. First Ladies, on the other hand, will flower early, then, if dead flower heads are cut, rest while the weather is hot and then flower a second time.

There are snapdragons that are bred to be resistant to the disease called rust, like the Sentinel strain which produces plants three feet high or the Supreme snapdragons which are not only rust-resistant but also have double flowers and hybrid vigor.

Should you wish even more "offbeat" types, you can buy seeds for hyacinth-flowered snapdragons which have extra-large florets in such a tight mass that the spikes look like hyacinths.

You Can Build Barbecue Set

From the moment we sight our first crocus, or see the first robin, there arises in all of us a terrific urge to begin our outdoor living.

When Americans first adopted the barbecue as a favorite form of summer cookery, equipment resembled that found in tepees of the original dwellers.

★ ★ ★

Experience has taught us that the fine line between a hostess' delight or despair usually is drawn not when the last guest departs, but before the first guest arrives.

Proper equipment is the surest road to success; it is the oil upon which an outdoor dinner party runs smoothly.

LIFETIME DESIGN

The handsome table and benches pictured here with NBC's television actress Eileen O'Neill were designed to last a lifetime.

They will withstand all kinds of severe outdoor weather. A coat of paint or varnish each spring will keep them looking just like new.

The benches are attached to the table. This one is six feet long and will easily seat eight people.

★ ★ ★

However, you may make yours longer or shorter depending upon your needs. It's put together with bolts and screws, the way outdoor furniture should be.

When you build it yourself, the cost is within everyone's budget.

To build the table, you need only trace the full-size pattern on wood, then saw out the parts and put them together.

★ ★ ★

The table pictured was built of fir, but pine or redwood may also be used.

Required materials are listed on each pattern along with easy - to - understand directions and illustrations.

To obtain the full-size barbecue table and benches pattern No. 312, send $1.00 by currency, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P. O. Box 2383 Van Nuys, Calif.

FLOWERLAND IN THE MALL

If You Plan Salads, You Can Plant Them

Easy to plant and care for, you'll find home-grown peppers are economical, too.

A packet of seed costs only 15 cents at your supermarket. And while you're there, why not get all the other ingredients for your summer - time salads?

Lettuce and tomatoes and cucumbers and radishes. Two minutes spent in front of your seed rack will repay you with a summer-long supply of salad vegetables.

Should Clean Flower Beds

Perennial beds must be kept clear of weeds, and plants should be divided or thinned every few years, preferably in late summer or early fall.

★ ★ ★

For an all-season garden, we suggest the following easy-to-grow-and-tend perennials:

Daffodils and tulips, for bloom in April and May.

★ ★ ★

Delphinium for July.

Phlox for July, Auguust and September.

★ ★ ★

Chrysanthemum for August, September and October.

Reform Must Accompany Tax Cut, House Expert Says

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy will get no tax-cutting legislation this session unless it is coupled with some tax reform and budget trimming.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

This is the flat prediction today of a man who ought to know—Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, which is now working on the tax bill behind closed doors.

He is also the "key man" in the 88th Congress, since every administration "must" bill on taxes, tariffs, social security, medicare, public debt and unemployment benefits must first clear his committee.

* * *

No other congressman finds his way as effortlessly through the maze of our tax jungle as Wilbur Mills. So heavily do his colleagues rely on his sound judgment that not once since he took over the chairmanship has his committee's tax bill been altered on the House floor.

BASIC PHILOSOPHY

Mills has a basic philosophy about taxation that gives some of President Kennedy's more liberal economists the willies." He states it in simple English, like this:

"I have always believed that the purpose of taxation is to raise revenue to run the government, not for some social purpose, or for manipulating the economy."

The administration would frankly like to manipulate it by means of a quick tax cut, hoping that this would increase spending and provide a shot-in-the-arm for the sluggish economy.

To achieve this purpose it is willing, if necessary, to abandon tax reforms for the present.

Mills is not. Seated in his Capitol hideaway beneath the stern-visaged portraits of a dozen predecessors, the ways and means chairman drawled:

* * *

"If a tax bill is passed this year, it will include not only rate reduction, but also some tax revision."

ELABORATES ON 'IF'

Intrigued by his use of the word "if", I asked whether a tax cut is in doubt.

Puffing on a midget cigar, he responded: "By the time we can possibly get around to a vote on a tax measure this summer, we will have complete information on what Congress has done about the spending bills."

* * *

"The passage of a tax bill will be tied to other matters, such as the rate of spending. In order to accept the objective of tax reduction, we must also reduce government spending. The two have to be tied together."

Asked how his Arkansas constituents feel about a "planned" deficit of nearly $12 billion, he replied:

"I'm satisfied that most of the American people disapprove of the idea of any planned deficit whatsoever. The letters I receive from home indicate that reaction, and I feel as they do about a planned deficit.

* * *

"I have always preferred in a time of high economic prosperity such as this to achieve a balanced budget. My mail urges the coupling of tax reduction with a cut in federal spending. I agree."

This sounded so much like the fiscal philosophy of former President Eisenhower that I asked if he felt JFK had pulled the rug from under him, by seeming to abandon tax reform in favor of a quick tax cut.

"I have no such feeling," he replied. "He was talking about his tax program, not mine."

Mills made plain that he considers our income tax rates entirely too high. He said tax increases hastily passed during World War II and the Korean War hit hardest at the middle-income bracket, which is most in need of some tax relief now.

He added that any tax bill passed this year will undoubtedly also give relief to those in the lowest income tax brackets, and to corporations.

Mills believes there is little question but that our inflated tax rates have curtailed incentive to start new businesses, or to create more jobs.

Asked what he would do if he were "starting fresh" to write a new tax law for America, the hard-working Arkansan rocked back in his leather swivel chair and mused:

"I would try to keep the tax rates as low as possible, and hold down deductions to a minimum.

Instead of our present progressive rates which range from 20 to 91 per cent, I would start off with 10 per cent and set the ceiling at 35 or 40 per cent of the taxable income."

* * *

Mills said that by thus de-emphasizing personal deductions for charity, interest payments and the like, Uncle Sam could collect as much money as he does at today's inflated rates, and at far less administrative costs.

Bride, Woman Die in Two-Car Collision

COLBY, Kan. (AP)—The 17-year-old bride of a soldier from Michigan and a 70-year-old woman were killed yesterday in a two-car collision.

* * *

In the other car were Victor Priske, 69, and his wife, Frances, of Mahnomen, Minn.

The two men were taken to a Colby hospital where Priske was reported in critical condition. Powers was reported in good condition.

Makes Costly 50 Cents

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Harold Edward Morefield was sentenced to four years and nine months in prison yesterday for making counterfeit 50 cent coins. "That's a long time in jail for a half-dollar," he said.

Goodyear Tire, Rubber Workers Sign New Pact

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the United Rubber Workers signed a new two-year contract yesterday calling for wage increases and other benefits for 21,000 Goodyear employes in 11 plants.

* * *

A tentative agreement on the new contract was reached Wednesday.

The 22 to 23 cents package deal calls for wage increases, effective June 10, of nine cents an hour for Goodyear's five tire plants.

It also call for improvements in certain contract clauses, extended supplemental unemployment benefits and supplemental workmen's compensation benefits.

* * *

Germans Enter Rowing Meet

Only U. S. Colleges Can Win Childs Cup

By The Associated Press

Germany's world champion crew is an added starter—though not eligible for the title—in the Childs Cup Regatta Saturday, first major Eastern crew race of the season.

The Ratzeburg Rowing Club of Germany, now on an extended tour of the United States, will row against the eight-oared shells of Princeton, Columbia and Penn, but only the three schools are eligible for the cup that was inaugurated in 1879.

Penn, eastern spring co-champions last year, has won the Childs Cup for five straight years, but faces stiff opposition. Princeton is unbeaten in two races and may have its best crew in 11 years while Columbia has won three straight going into the 1¾ mile test on Lake Carnegie, at Princeton, N.J.

Other major eastern races include the Hughes Cup Regatta over 4¼ miles off Long Island between Fordham, Iona and the New York Athletic Club; MIT rows against Yale at Deroy, Conn.; Rutgers and Brown are at Harvard and Syracuse is at Dartmouth.

Congress Aid Asked for Olympic Games

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was asked yesterday to support Detroit's bid for the 1968 Olympic Games.

Sens. Philip A. Hart and Pat McNamara, D-Mich., prepared a resolution which "expresses the sincere hope that the Olympic Games will be held in this country in 1968."

Hart told a news conference the resolution was almost a word-for-word copy of a similar proposal he offered four years ago for the 1964 games, which eventually were scheduled for Tokyo.

He said he hoped the International Olympics Committee would find the 1963 version more persuasive.

Woman Dies in Car Smashed by Truck

KINDERHOOK (AP) — A semi-trailer truck rammed into a car on U.S. 27 near the Indiana state line last night, killing the driver of the auto, John C. Ort, 18, of Coldwater, police said.

Ort's car made a U-turn in the path of the truck, officials said.

Calendar for School Year Ok'd

The school year will begin Sept. 2, but students will not report until Sept. 6. Kindergarten students report Sept. 9.

Students will get two vacation days off in October. All pupils will be dismissed Thursday and Friday, Oct. 17-18.

The Thanksgiving vacation time will give two days off Nov. 21-22. The 12-day Christmas vacation will begin Dec. 23 and end Jan. 2, 1964.

Secondary pupils will get off Jan. 24 through Jan. 26 at the end of the first semester. The Easter vacation will be from March 26-31.

The school year will end June 12.

Judges Push Program

'Juveniles Need Job Training'

By DICK HANSON

Oakland County has many youths in its juvenile institutions who must undergo practical, on-the-job training if they are ever to become useful citizens, Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard declared yesterday.

"Otherwise they will be turned out cold at age 18—likely to be tomorrow's welfare recipients or much worse," he added.

★ ★ ★

Both he and Probate Judge Donald E. Adams are advocating immediate expansion of an existing work education program for the youths.

It would entail assigning them to work in various departments of the county for four hours each weekday.

Care would be exercised in selecting department heads able to help the youngsters develop work skills, the judges said.

★ ★ ★

Their recommendation has the approval of both the Salaries Committee of the County Board of Supervisors and of the County Board of Auditors.

It must now go to the Ways and Means Committee since it entails the expenditure of $3,200 in county funds this year and an additional $5,000 next year.

PERFORM DUTIES

The existing program referred to by the judges is one in which 15 youths at the Children's Center are performing duties in the kitchen, stock room, office and infirmary, and as waitresses and maintenance helpers.

In return, they are paid minor wages much as allowances are paid in private homes.

★ ★ ★

The program has been well-received by the youngsters and is having a very good effect on their sense of values, according to James Vanleuven, assistant juvenile director of the county.

"It is instilling them with a proper sense of responsibility and an awareness of their own abilities," he added.

The expanded program also would be an accelerated one. It would encompass an additional 10 youths 15 to 17 years old.

★ ★ ★

Where a youth might now have duties that take only an hour of his time daily, many would be working as much as four hours, supplemented with four hours of regular schooling.

In many cases, it is the practical knowledge gained from on-the-job training that will best prepare a particular youth for future employment, Judge Barnard noted.

Children fitting into the expanded program would be drawn from both the Children's Center and the County Youth Home. There would be 25 of them in the program.

★ ★ ★

They would be paid anywhere from 12 to 50 cents an hour, depending on the type of work they would be doing, Vanleuven said.

ASSIGNED JOBS

Under the program, they would be assigned to such county departments as central stores, cutting meat; county garage, learning vehicle maintenance; medical care facility, as nurses' aides; and various county offices, learning clerical procedures.

In all instances, they would be receiving practical experience that would prepare them for future employment in their own communities, Barnard said.

He listed the following benefits to the youths:

1. Learn that he can be useful with his hands, thus help improve his concept of himself. (The program would apply to girls as well).
2. Change attitudes toward work.
3. Learn to accept necessary authority.
4. Accept adult values.
5. Learn of his strengths and weakenesses.
6. Explore interests in preparing to choose a vocation.
7. Feel that he has personal worth—that he is worthy of pay.

★ ★ ★

As another step in preparing the youths to lead productive lives, Vanleuven said they would be taught how to present themselves properly in seeking employment.

"As a further follow-up we would plan to have the various protective service committees of the county assist these children in obtaining employment," said Barnard.

School Board Splits Precinct at Junior High

A proposal to divide precinct R at Washington Junior High School into two precincts was approved last night by the Pontiac Board of Education.

The precinct — largest in the city — was cut in half because of the substantial increase in the number of voters turning out at the polls.

★ ★ ★

"Verifying voter registrations in this precinct has become burdensome and time consuming," Vernon L. Schiller, board treasurer, explained.

He noted that there are more than 3,600 eligible voters in the precinct. Precinct R included city precincts 4, 5, 30, 39 and 40.

Last night, the school board split the precinct into R and T. The new precinct R will be made up of city precincts, 5, 30 and 40, while precinct T will consist of 4 and 39.

★ ★ ★

Orion Boy Hit, Injured by Car

A 4-year-old Orion Township boy struck by a car near his home yesterday afternoon was listed in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Martin Siegwart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith G. Siegwart, 3471 Gregory Road, suffered a possible fracture of the leg, a hospital spokesman said.

The driver of the car, Garner Miracle of 2059 Galloway St., told sheriff's deputies that the boy ran into the side of the vehicle. Miracle was released after making his statement.

Break-In at Hospital Yields Pistol, $40

Thieves stole an estimated $40 and a 38-caliber revolver when they pried open a small safe at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital last night.

The missing items were taken from a safe in the office of assistant hospital director Jack Whitlow sometime after 10 p.m.

The thieves attempted to force the door of the director's office nearby with a crowbar but failed to gain entry. They found the key to Jack Whitlow's office in his secretary's desk drawer.

The theft was discovered this morning at 6 a.m. by a cleaning woman.

Briton Claims Industry Doesn't Use Scientists

DUNOON, Scotland (UPI)—Labor party leader Harold Wilson complained yesterday that Britain is losing scientists to the United States because British industry fails to use them.

He denied the exodus was caused by defects in the American school system as charged by Science Minister Lord Hailsham.

House Okays Juvenile Bill

The State House of Representatives yesterday concurred with a Senate provision giving immediate effect to a bill authorizing Oakland County's operation of juvenile homes and camps.

The measure goes next to Gov. George Romney for his signature.

The legislation eliminates a possible threat posed by a state attorney general's ruling to the operation by the county Probate Court of the county's Youth Home, Children's Cottages, Camp Oakland facilities and plans for a Children's Village.

The ruling said the probate court could maintain only a temporary detention home under existing law.

County Probate Judge Donald E. Adams said the county's juvenile facilities other than the Children's Center would not come under that category.

★ ★ ★

The House was expected to approve today a Sentate - amended bill with provisions enabling Oakland County to establish a community college system.

★ ★ ★

If the measure is approved, the county board of education plans to have the question of establishing such a system on the ballot for the June 10 regular school elections.

★ ★ ★

If voters approve, the county may have two junior colleges in at least partial operation by September 1964.

Hagen Youth Still Critical

The 15-year-old grandson of golfing great Walter Hagen, Walter Hagen III, is still unconscious today at Pontiac General Hospital three days after he was accidentally shot in the head by a young friend.

The boy's condition was described as "still very critical" by a hospital spokesman.

The shooting occurred in the Hagen home at 6353 North Shore Court in West Bloomfield Township, when Michael Hough, 14, of nearby 6847 Alden Drive, was handling an automatic pistol he thought was unloaded.

The alpine mountain-climbing death toll this season dropped to its lowest mark in six years but was still well above 200 deaths.

Mrs. H. M.

Wondering how to have a better lawn, free of crabgrass? Read these letters:

No pulling. "What a relief not to have to sit in the sun pulling crabgrass; HALTS is the greatest gift you have given the lawnmaker." T.F.H.

Most proud fella. "I am the most proud fella. No crabgrass, and my lawn is a thick carpet thanks to TURF BUILDER." F.W.B.

The clincher. "HALTS did a marvelous job of eliminating crabgrass last year. Put it on again this year for a clincher. Also TURF BUILDER. Have the best grass in the five years I've owned our home." A.L.A.

Simple explanation. "When neighbors ask why my lawn is so much greener than theirs I explain it's because they aren't using TURF BUILDER. It's truly remarkable." B.T.

Congratulations. "After a single treatment of HALTS I didn't find crabgrass except in the places I missed at the edges. Congratulations on a good product." R.W.M.

In the middle. "We have crabgrass in the lawns next door—and moles. We're free!" R.F.

Big change. "Ever since I bought my Scotts Spreader and a bag of TURF BUILDER things haven't been the same at our place. You have solved our problem." O.L.M.

Not the same. We thought all fertilizers were the same until a neighbor told us about TURF BUILDER. All I can say is — our lawn is now as thick as a carpet." A.M.

These are your neighbors speaking

It's no secret. Stop the crabgrass before it starts—with HALTS.* America's best known crabgrass control. And use TURF BUILDER,* America's most wanted lawn fertilizer. You can put both on a 2500 sq ft lawn in less than half an hour. And if you want to plant seed, you can do so at the same time. No need to wait a month or two as with other crabgrass controls.

How to save a quick $2 (or even $7!)

Right now your Scotts Dealer is making a special offer—a bag of TURF BUILDER and a bag of HALTS at a $2 saving. And if you need a new Scotts Spreader he can save you an additional $5.

Got a problem? Ask your Scotts Dealer for a FREE LAWN CHECKUP.

Thresher Probe Continuing in Court, Beneath Waves

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — The Navy's search for answers to the mysterious sinking of the atomic submarine Thresher moved along on land and sea today.

* * *

Some of the most modern equipment in the Navy was trying to pierce the Atlantic Ocean depths for some clue to the cause.

And due in Boston today to join the search is the odd-shaped Trieste, a bathyscaphe capable of dropping as far as 37,500 feet in the ocean.

* * *

The submarine - like 58-foot-long Trieste is winding up a two-ocean voyage from San Diego, Calif., via the Panama Canal to aid in the hunt for the Thresher, last reported some 220 miles east of Boston.

Out on the choppy Atlantic, the oceanographic research vessel Atlantis II reported success in taking pictures of the ocean bottom, but the Navy said "the results are unknown."

* * *

For the first time, the research ship got its cameras down 8,400 feet . . . the depth at which the Thresher is believed to have met disaster.

NAVY COURT CONTINUES

In Portsmouth a Navy court of inquiry looked for possible technical causes of the tragedy. Military and civilian experts in submarine design have testified in closed sessions of the court at the Navy shipyard.

Today's session also was expected to be secret. The Navy revealed testimony thus far in the closed hearing has concerned the possible effect on the Thresher of shock tests conducted last summer off Key West, Fla.

A Navy spokesman at Norfolk, Va., said the shock tests had "no connection with the Thresher's casualty."

Cmdr. R. I. Gulick, public information officer for the Atlantic Fleet Submarine Force, told newsmen such tests were "normal procedure for a ship which is the first of her class."

Local Unionists at GM Talks

Presidents of the three United Auto Workers locals representing workers at General Motors plants in Pontiac are heading a 15-man delegation at the union's GM conference which started yesterday in Detroit.

* * *

The three are Cecil Mullinix, president of Pontiac Motor Local 653; Andy Wilson, president of GMC Truck & Coach Local 594; and Gerald Kehoe, president of Fisher Body Local 596.

The delegation, composed of shop committeemen from the three plants and their union presidents, will present issues that they feel should be covered in new negotiations.

While formal contract negotiations with GM will not begin until July 1964, an exploratory meeting was held April 15 at which both management and the union agreed to the immediate formation of a committee to study the issues.

* * *

Honeymooners Request That Reporters Get Lost

BALLATER, Scotland (AP) — Princess Alexandra and Angus Ogilvy, honeymooning in Ballater, Scotland, have asked newsmen and photographers to stop bothering them.

But they advised that they would be going to nearby Crathie Church on Sunday and that maybe photographers could get some pictures then.

Special Stamp Asked on Michigan Massacre

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster Gen. J. Edward Day said yesterday a special stamp has been requested to memorialize the massacre at Ft. Michilimackinac 200 years ago.

There was no indication such a stamp would be printed. A bicentennial celebration of the massacre will take place Memorial Day weekend.

Dividends to Lapse on Some Policies

DETROIT (UPI)—About 7,100 Michigan veterans of the Korean War have about six months in which to take advantage of $794,000 in special insurance dividends.

Robert M. Fitzgerald, VA's regional manager for Michigan, said the money will be paid to those exchanging "RS" insurance policies bearing the letter "W." The special dividend offer expires Sept. 13.

It applies only to Korean veterans whose insurance policy number is preceded by the letters "RS".

'Robe' Producer Films Story of Peale

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—It's lucky that Frank Ross believes in the power of positive thinking. Otherwise he might despair of ever producing his pictures.

"Take "The Robe." Ross tried 11 years to make it into a movie. He was first set to do it at RKO, then Howard Hughes bought the studio. He couldn't get a decision from the elusive Mr. Hughes.

★ ★ ★

When he finally wrested the property away from RKO, he signed for deals with MGM, Warner Brothers and Universal. Each time the project failed.

★ ★ ★

Then he took it to 20th Century-Fox. His luck turned at last. The studio made "The Robe" as the first feature in cinemascope. Ross filmed it for $3.7 million and reports that it grossed $30 million.

★ ★ ★

Ross is now finishing another picture on a religious theme, "The Story of Norman Peale." He worked only four years on this one.

The story is about the New York clergyman.

The producer first came across the Peale legend through a Reader's Digest article, "Minister to Millions." He read up on the minister, found his own philosophy coincided with Peale's.

LUXURY OF LEISURE

Ross went to work on a screen treatment. He took his time; the income from the "The Robe" provided the luxury of leisure. The story was ready to film two years ago, but Peale's participation in presidential politics made the timing unfavorable. Until now.

"I'm glad I waited," said Ross. "I have become a firm believer that there is a time for everything. Delays may seem bothersome at the time, but they are often for the best. That was certainly true for 'The Robe.' And I believe it is true for the Peale story. His views have much more acceptance now from persons of every faith than they did two or four years ago."

★ ★ ★

The script covers the Peale years from his youth as a newspaper reporter and his calling to the ministry up to his emergence as controversial author of a best-seller.

Ross has cannily filmed "The Story of Norman Peale" for a reasonable $800,000 and plans to give it a special sell. He realizes the hazards of making a film about a churchman, especially a Protestant, but feels strongly that a movie that deals with man's relationship to God should attract a wide audience of all creeds.

Pilot Tests 'Sky Spy' Camera

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—X15 pilot John McKay tested a "sky spy" camera at 3,400 miles an hour, then quipped "it's great to be back in the office again."

★ ★ ★

The flight yesterday was McKay's first since he crash-landed another X15 Nov. 9.

McKay was bruised when the plane overturned in an emergency landing after engine failure. The craft — one of three X15s — was extensively damaged and officials have not yet decided whether it is worth repairing.

State Fails to Revive School Bill

LANSING (AP)— The Detroit Board apparently will have to wait until the general election next year for the chance to put a school millage proposal and bond issue before voters.

Efforts to save the special school election bill were abandoned yesterday after a similar move to revive the minimum-wage bill failed.

The school bill had been placed on the bottom of the House calendar after becoming entangled in a dispute. It died at the Wednesday midnight deadline for passage of bills.

Gov. George Romney has promised to call a special session after Labor Day to deal with fiscal reform and enabling bills for the new state constitution.

The governor would be willing to call the legislature into a special one-day session in order to enact the bill if the school board decides it is necessary, Republican officials said.

The Detroit board requested the power to call a special election after voters turned down a millage increase and bond issue at the April 1 election.

Angels Tag Aguirre With First Loss

AP Photofax

PONDERING PITCHER — Hank Aguirre (right) Detroit Tiger pitcher ponders on the mound as manager Bob Scheffing tells him he was heading for the showers after the Los Angeles Angels had scored three runs on three homers in the first three innings against him. Catcher Gus Triandos gets in on the conversation. The Angels won, 7-5.

Pan-Am Baseball Title at Stake

Look Out! U.S. to Play Cuba

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The baseball team from Cuba, where Castro says they play the game for fun and others claim at least some of them used to play for pay, gets a chance to jar the U.S. juggernaut at the Pan-American Games today.

Cuba and the U.S. tangle in baseball at 4 p.m., EST, in a game that will probably decide the Game's gold medal.

Cuba slugged the U.S. 13-1 in the opening game of the double round-robin. The U.S. has a 3-1 record at this stage, while Cuba is 2-1 with the loss to Mexico.

If the baseball medal eludes the Yankees, it will be one of the few that got away in a triumphant march that to date has even exceeded the high expectations of the U.S. team.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. has grabbed 33 gold medals, with only eight going to the other nations in the Games. Only Brazil, with two, has won more than one.

CLEAN SWEEP

Thursday, American athletes grabbed 14 of the 15 medals decided, finished a clean sweep of all eight wrestling titles and took all the swimming titles on the card to maintain that monopoly.

Two gold medals came in weightlifting, and one each in fencing, equestrian dressage and tennis. Another was sewed up in rapid fire pistol shooting, where two Americans tied for first and will shoot it off today.

The U.S. also has 12 silver and 10 bronze medals, both high.

A sellout crowd paying double prices—64 cents—will sit in on the Cuba-U.S. baseball battle. The earlier Cuban victory — which spread joy through Castro's circles and charges that some of the Cubans players might have been pros before they took up the amateur game—lend spice to the encounter. The Cold War adds a good bit of flavor, although the two teams have been careful to exhibit sweetness and light on the field.

Also on today's card are tennis, shooting, fencing and equestrian finals, trial swimming heats and competition in basketball, soccer, volleyball and water polo.

SWIM WINNERS

American swimmers, led by two 17-year-olds and a girl a few days shy of that milestone, set three Pan-Am records in winning all four races Thursday.

Carl Robie, 17, of Drexel Hill, Pa., won the 200-meter butterfly in 2 minutes, 11.3 seconds; Alice Driscoll, 17, of Louisville, took the and Terri Stickles of Santa Clara, Calif., 17 next month, won the 100-meter freestyle in 1:02.8.

That gave the Yanks eight for eight in swimming, with six records set and one tied. The U.S. also has one of the two diving gold medals.

★ ★ ★

Yankee wrestlers, who had won three titles, added the other five Thursday. Andy Fitch, New York, won the flyweight; Bill Riddle of Livonia, Mich., the bantamweight; Greg Roth of Highland Falls, N.Y. the lightweight; John Fitzgerald of Ann Arbor, Mich., welterweight and Joe Israel James of Chicago the heavyweight crown.

Patricia Galvin of San Francisco won the equestrian dressage, and the U.S. men's foils team took that competition.

The Americans who tied for the pistol title were SFC Lawrence Mosely of Norfilk, Va., and Capt. Cecil Wallis of Columbus, Ga.

Oddly enough, it was only the third gold medal the U.S. has won at tennis in four Pan-Am Games. American players have already been eliminated in the men's singles and mixed doubles, and the women's singles was won by Maria Bueno of Brazil.

That was the only gold medal that escaped the Yankees Thursday.

In other scattered action Thursday, the U.S. opened its water polo campaign with a 7-1 victory over Mexico, and the women's volleyball team was beaten by Brazil.

KC Loses Lead to Barber Hex

Actually, it isn't that easy. Steve Barber can't just toss his glove on the mound and have Kansas City roll over and play dead.

Barber provided the pitching and Gentile the power in Baltimore's 3-2, 10-inning victory over Kansas City Thursday night as the Orioles reclaimed the American League lead and the Athletic's dropped from first to third.

HOMER DOES IT

Gentile's 10th inning homer wrapped it up and maintained Barber's all-winning record against the A's. The young lefty is 10-0 against them for his career.

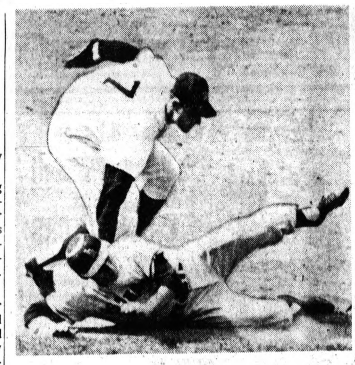
The Chicago White Sox, who were idle, remained in second place while Kansas City slipped to the third place standing it vacated just the day before.

Minnesota's Jack Kralick hurled a three-hitter in the Twins' 3-0 triumph over the Senators at Washington and Los Angeles defeated the Tigers 7-5 in Detroit in the only other games on the light schedule.

Barber, who had a 9-6 record after his return from military service last season, is off to one of the better starts of his four-year major league career. He went the distance against Kansas City and pushed his record to 4-1. He owns a 1.58 earned run average, and leads the league in strikeouts with 31.

The 24-year-old lefty spaced seven hits and struck out seven, but was no better than even with the fired-up A's until Gentile smashed a 1-2 pitch into the left field bleachers, an opposite-field hit for the left-handed hitter.

Al Smith's two run homer accounted for the Orioles' first runs, but Kansas City matched them on an unsuccessful doubleplay attempt in the fourth and Norm Siebern's run-scoring single in the sixth. John Wyatt lost in relief.



AP Photofax

RUN DOWN — Tiger outfielder Rocky Colavito turned infielder yesterday for one play as he came in to make a putout on shortstop Jim Fregosi of the Los Angeles Angels. Fregosi was caught in a rundown between second and third and four Tigers got into the act to tag him.

Ortonville Cindermen Score Second Victory

Ortonville won its second track meet of the season in three starts by defeating Lake Fenton, 61-48 as part of a double deal on the home grounds yesterday. In the other meet, Goodrich lost to Flint Hammady, 56-50.

Ortonville's Larry Jackson won the 440, was 2nd in the high jump and was part of the winning mile relay team which won in 5:06.1.

The 880 relay team of Dave Myers, Mark Brown, Jerry Cleveland and Steve Hubbs won in 1:43.1 Cleveland also won the 880 and Hubbs the 100.

Goodrich had a triple winner in Terry Bolck in the pole vault, 100 and 220 while Hammady's triple triumph was by Steve Bolton in high and low hurdles and high jump.

Drake Relays to Run Today

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Given good weather—and it looks promising for the next two days—the 54th annual Drake Relays, with its field of 880 college and university athletes, could develop into a record-busting spree.

Of the 27 events listed, times or distances in 14 of them have been bettered this season by one or more of the entries.

Launching the big sports carnival today will be, finals in the two-mile run, college distance medley relay, university sprint medley relay, 440-yard hurdles, four-mile relay, broad jump and discus. Preliminaries will be held in seven other events. Finals in the 20 other events will be Saturday.

Semifinals at Pinehurst

Patton Goes Long Route

PINEHURST, N..C (AP)—Geographically speaking, the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament was just that as 18-hole semifinal pairings today pitted defending champion Bily Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., against Ray Terry of Jacksonville, Fla., and Bob Allen of West Hartford, Conn., against John Guenther of Reading, Pa.

Patton is striving to become the first man to win back-to-back championships in this 63-year-old classic since Frank Strafaci did it in 1938-39.

Patton's road hasn't been easy, although he flashed some of his better form in Thursday's 5 and 3 quarterfinals victory over Cobby Ware of Augusta, Ga. The 41-year-old Walker Cup team member led from the first hole.

But in four earlier matches he played the full 18 holes of the 7,000-yard, par-72 No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club three times and once went to the 19th.

LONG ROUTE

In winning five times this week he has played 88 holes of a possible 90, by far the longest route any of the semifinalists has had to travel.

Terry has played only 79 holes, only once being extended beyond the 16th. He disposed of Jake Howard, also of Augusta, 5 and 3, in his quarter-finals test.

Allen has played 81 holes. Two matches went extra holes and twice he had one-sided affairs, including a 6 and 5 decision Thursday over Sam Marsh of Greenville, S.C. Allen won three of the first four holes.

★ ★ ★

Guenther, with three matches that went the distance, has played 82 holes, including a 2-up quarter-final victory over Dave Smith of Gastonia, N.C. Guenther swept the last two holes after Smith had drawn even with a birdie at 16.

The 30-year-old Guenther, who has won Pennsylvania open and amateur titles, played about three weeks of Florida winter tournament golf this year and credits it for his best showing in several years of play here.

'Hillbilly' on Program of Armory Wrestling

Popular Zeke Rivers, 'The Scuffin' Hillbilly, will be on the four-boat card listed for the National Guard Armory professional wrestling card Saturday night, opposing 'Terrible John' Terry.

Also on the card are Davy Duncan-El Gaucho and Tom Londos-Bill Ledger bouts; while Mr. Q, the Giant Masked Man, will grapple with Louie Papineau.

Wildlife Area Work

LANSING (AP)—Development work is scheduled to start within the next few days at Southern Michigan wildlife areas under a $565,000 federal-state program designed to speed up game improvements and soften unemployment in economically-distressed areas.

Tigers Manage Ten Hits, but Only Singles

Twins Visit Detroit for Initial Night Tilt of Season

All Scheffing's woes were bundled into one game yesterday as the Tigers lost 7-5 to the Los Angeles Angels. About the only encouragement was the hitting perked up ever so slightly.

NIGHT GAME

Detroit tries to snap out of the doldrums again tonight in the first Tiger Stadium night game of the new season. Scheffing will send Don Mossi against the Minnesota Twins and rookie Jim Roland in a battle of southpaws with 2-0 records.

In the early games while the hitters weren't in mass production, Scheffing's one comfort was his pitching. It kept the Tigers from sinking too far into second division.

But against the Angels yesterday, Scheffing spotted the first indication the pitchers won't always be able to survive without adequate support.

Hank Aguirre, brilliant in pitching three low-run, route-going victories, was shelled in less than four innings. He yielded three homers and a two-run double before Scheffing yanked him.

"At least our hitting was a little better, but not much. But we finally got a few hits in a row."

The Tigers managed to spring loose with 10 hits. But they were all singles. Five were in the fifth when the Tigers bunched all their runs and sliced the Angels' six-run lead to 6-5.

REGULARS OUT

By then Scheffing had removed two regulars because of injuries. Bubba Phillips aggravated a hip injury and Frank Kostro took over at third base in the third. Billy Bruton's pulled leg muscle caused his removal in the fifth with Bubba Morton taking over center field.

Scheffing said Kostro and Morton would be in the lineup tonight, He also intends to put Jake Wood in at second base and rest Dick McAuliffe.

Bruton's inability to run at full speed hurt the Tigers as much as the homers off Aguirre. Felix Torres lashed a ball to left center in the third, It would have been a fairly easy chance for a well Bruton. Instead it carried just over his head for a double and brought in two runs.

★ ★ ★

Leon Wagner tagged Aguirre for a homer in the second. Bob Rodgers and Ken Hunt drove him out with successive homers in the fourth. Wagner hit another homer in the eighth off Dick Egan after the Tigers had closed in.

Coot Veal, playing shortstop in place of the slump-ridden Chico Fernandez, drilled three of the Tiger singles. He started the rally in the fifth with his second hit. Bruton brought him in with a single and left immediately for a pinch runner. Kostro walked before Al Kaline, Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash singled for three more runs.

Colivito scored on a wild pitch, but rookie Julio Navarro shut off the Tigers with the potential tying run on second. It was the closest the Tigers came as Navarro held them to three hits the last 4⅔ innings.

Mets at Top Speed, Post 1st Thursday Win

By The Associated Press

OXI TE PEMPTH.

That would be Greek, even to Casey Stengel. It means Never On Thursday, and until Casey's New York Mets edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2, they never had.

Baseball's hottest team—that's the Mets—climbed Mt. Olympus against the Cubs at Frank (Hercules) Thomas provided the runs that gave the New Yorker's their sixth victory in the last seven games. The Mets are now 6-9 on the season for a .400 percentage—the highest in their history.

THURSDAY WIN

The Mets, who usually find one day of the week as bad as the one before and no better than the one coming up, used Thomas' run-producing single in the first inning and a two-run sixth inning homer for the first Thursday victory in their two-season history.

Coupled with Thomas' hitting was the tight seven-hit pitching of Roger Craig and a heads-up play resulting in a rare third to first to shortstop doubleplay that ended the game.

Lou Brock, who scored both Cub runs, singled with one out in the ninth inning and attempted to go to third base as Charlie Neal threw out Ken Hubbs. A quick throw by first baseman Gil Hodges to Al Moran, the shortstop covering third, nailed the speeding Brock.

Bob Miller, who survived a 1-12 season with the Mets and was traded to Los Angeles, exceeded his 1962 victory total as he won his second with a five-hitter in the Dodgers 7-1 triumph over Cincinnati. The Dodgers have won five of six, not quite up the Mets' pace.

Elsewhere, San Francisco moved into a tie with St. Louis for first place in the National League by beating the Cards 8-4, and Houston beat Milwaukee 7-5 on fine performances by three former Braves. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

John Roseboro, Willie Davis and Ron Fairly backed Miller's pitching with homers off Joey Jay, who has lost four without winning. Fairly collected three hits in four trips and drove in four runs.

★ ★ ★

The Giants moved out front to stay in the second inning when Orlando Cepeda hit a solo homer and Ed Bailey connected with one on. Bailey, veteran catcher starting for the first time this season, also singled home a run in the third inning off loser Ray Sadecki. Billy O'Dell was the San Francisco starter, but the victory went to reliever Bob Bolin. Curt Flood homered for the Cardinals.

Former Braves Don Nottebart, Don McMahon and Al Spanger did most of the damage for the Colts. Nottebart won his third without a loss with help from McMahon while Spangler singled in the run that snapped a 2-2 tie as Houston came up with five runs and tagged Hank Fischer with the defeat. Bob Aspromonte homered for the Colts while Joe Torre connected for Milwaukee.

'Iron Man' Has Irons Working for Early Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The fellow they call "the iron man" of the golf tour—Bruce Crampton of Australia—took the lead in the $30,000 Texas Open Thursday and observed that it was just like last year.

Crampton, who plays in more tournaments than any other regular on the tour—he was in 38 straight in 1962 and is in his 16th straight this year, said he didn't really get started until this same tournament a year ago.

Gene Bone of Pontiac was six strokes behind as he fired 36-34—70 for the opening round.

Thereafter, he stepped out and won himself $31,000, including first place in the Motor City Open at Detroit.

Thursday, Crampton was sensational with his irons as he carved a 7-under-par 64 out of the 6,775-yard Oak Hills Country Club course for a 2-stroke lead over four other hotshots—Phil Rodgers, Tommy Aaron, Johnny Pott and Don January.

Milford, Captains Nab Golf Triumphs

St. Fred's lost a close match to Kettering, 224-225. Chuck Dean, Tom Bradley and Dean Morris all came in with 44s but the winners' Mike Kimmerer was one stroke better for medalist honors and the difference in the meet.

Bloomfield Hills has won 41 consecutive matches in the Wayne-Oakland gold league but only nipped Milford by two strokes in a recent quadrangular meet. Today's meet will be on the Redskins' course.

Barons Post Net Win

WHEN YOU NEED SHOCK ABSORBERS

simply say Delco

How do you know when your shocks are dangerously bad? Your car "bottoms" on bumps. "Lurches" at stops. "Leans" on curves. The tires wear unevenly. Ask a United Delco serviceman to check your car now. He can spot trouble before it begins. He recommends Delco Superide shock absorbers. They have a nylon-skirted piston which prevents metal-to-metal wear between piston and cylinder. Your car rides smoother longer.

Delco Superide shock absorbers (for normal use) and Delco Superlift shock absorbers (for extra-heavy loads) are distributed nationally through United Delco.

Hawks Rule NHL 'Stars'

MONTREAL (AP) — Scoring champion Gordie Howe of Detroit, two members of the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs and three members of the Chicago Black Hawks make up the National Hockey League All-Star team announced today.

On the team with Howe, also the top favorite to win the Most Valuable Player award, are right winger Frank Mahovlich and defenseman Carl Brewer of Toronto, and goalie Glenn Hall, defenseman Pierre Pilote and center Stan Mikita of the Black Hawks.

REPEATER

Mikita was the only repeater from last year's first team. Howe was a first team selection for the seventh time, Hall for the fourth, Mahovlich for the second, and Pilote and Brewer for the first time.

★ ★ ★

Mahovlich was the closest to a unanimous choice, getting 168 points of a possible 180 in the split-season voting by hockey writers and broadcasters in the six league cities. Mikita had 160 points and Howe, who drew a perfect 90 points in the second half balloting, finished with 157.

Named to the second team were goalie Terry Sawchuk of Detroit, defenseman Elmer Vasko and left winger Bobby Hull of Chicago, defenseman Tim Horton of Toronto, center Henri Richard of Montreal and right wing Andy Bathgate of New York.

Under the new system of league all-star bonuses, the NHL gives $1,000 to players making the final first team, $500 to those making the final second team, $500 to those leading the voting in either half of the split balloting, and $250 to those on the second team in either poll.

Chiefs, St. Mike's Lose

Pontiac Central and St. Michael both made unsuccessful league debuts on the baseball front yesterday while the Wayne-Oakland race developed into a five-team fray.

Central was bombed for a seven-run inning by Saginaw Arthur Hill and never could catch up in a 9-5 road defeat. Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows posted an 11-2 win over St. Mike's with the help of a six-run inning.

Milford, Bloomfield Hills, Clarkston and Holly won W-O victories and Northville stayed right in the race despite its extra-inning loss to the Barons.

Milford bombed West Bloomfield 11-0 as lefty Ed Sparkman hit long home runs his first two times up and added two doubles later for a perfect afternoon and six runs batted in.

Holly took an early lead to belt Brighton, 6-1; Clarkston scored a run in the eighth inning to beat Clarenceville, 1-0; and Bloomfield Hills posted a single marker in the ninth inning for a 5-4 triumph over Northville.

In the Tri-County loop, Rochester and Romeo both posted wins No. 2 to stay tied for first place. The Falcons whipped Kettering with a late rally, 6-1; and Romeo coasted over Lapeer, 11-2.

There were three home runs for the Bulldogs as they tallied seven times in the third inning against Lapeer. Ron Mignot and Mark Johnson had solo blasts and Benny Payne a two-run blast. Keith Simunic and Butch Peraino also hit none-on circuit drives for the winners.

Other prep diamond action saw Madison take Lake Orion, 4-2, in eight innings for the Dragons first Oakland A loss; Capac was extended nine innings before defeating Armada, 3-1; Cranbrook posted a first inning run to nip Hamtramck, 1-0; and L'Anse Creuse scored in the bottom of the ninth, also, to edge Fraser, 5-4.

PCH found some hitting might finally and had a good relief job late to overcome Arthur Hill's big second inning. Don Vlassis tripled twice for the winners for five rbi's. Mike Brooks also tripled, and the Chiefs' Tim Carie had a three-bagger.

Bob Davies homered in FOLS' win over St. Mike's and Tom Burke tripled for the winners. Larry LaRousa singled twice and scored both runs for the losers.

NCAA Says No to N.Y. Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has ejected the Gotham Bowl from the ranks of approved post-season football games.

But 13 other football bowl games were approved Thursday.

The Gotham Bowl, hard luck king of post-season events, has never been a financial success. Last year, the two teams chosen to play, Miami and Nebraska, even refused to board planes for New York until they had been assured that a check covering their expenses had been deposited in a bank.

Rec Nine to Practice

The Talbott Lumber team of the city's Class A recreation baseball loop will practice from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday on the diamond at Columbia and Joslyn Avenues.

Manager Julius Mayo requests all interested candidates to report for tryouts.

The 11th Frame

Huron Bowl tomorrow will welcome 36 teams from three states as the Metropolitan Clubs of America 14th annual Bowling Tournament will make its first appearance in Pontiac.

Locally sponsored by Waterford Township Spirit No. 62—an organization composed of firemen, mailmen and policemen—and slated for the next two weekends, the tournament will begin at 3:30 Saturday following appropriate ceremonies involving township officials.

Five teams from the Waterford Township Professional Fire Fighters Association will be entered among the total of 72 from Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

Competition will include team events, singles and doubles activity.

CLASSIC SCORES

Neither of the Pontiac Traveling Classic's top two teams survived the playoffs with the third and fourth place teams.

Westside Lanes defeated Airway Lanes two straight last weekend, 30-7 and 24-15, and 300 Bowl & Lounge fell to Huron Bowl, 12-9 and 15-11.

The two winners now have a best-of-three showdown beginning at 1 p.m. Sunday on the neutral Cooley Lanes boards for the Frank Jennings Trophy.

The Westside Classic reported 12 series over the 600 mark Monday night including a 702 by George (Chico) Chicovsky. His 277 game also topped the individuals who rolled games in the 200s.

Jerry Perna who had 257-229-217-279 (for 18 winning points) in the Traveling Classic semifinals Sunday came back with a 245—606 performance Monday in the Westside Classic.

OTHER ACTION

The Fawns moved ahead in the late going to clinch first place in a close race most of the season in the Lakewood Lanes' Bucks & Does League.

Harmon Persons had 212—570 to lead the men in the mixed loop Monday and Fran McCallum rolled 202-202—581 among the women participants. Florence Aris was celebrating with her first 200, a 202 on the final night.

The 300 Bowl's Pontiac Motor Inter-Office League last week recorded 24 games of 200 or better as 22 individuals contributed to the total.

Empire Show Service captured first place as the Goodfellows League concluded its season last Friday and City Glass was a close second. The 300 Bowl's Twilight League is led by Terry Machine.

The Ladies All Star League had a 239—580 display by Joyce Skotzke and 212—570 by Ginny Bradley last Friday. In the Royal Bowlerettes loop the same day, top effort was Lori Kazako's 509.

One point separates the Ten Pins and Four A's in "300's" Guys and Dolls League. The American Legion circuit Sunday saw Charlene Germain produce a 214 game, Frank Huebenr a 204 and Reid Helms a 562 total. The Four Hits are the top team.

The Pioneer League only mustered three 200's this week. Betty Guerin rolled 211, Dot Iverson 203 and Pat Allen a 200.

Two doubles tournaments will conclude this weekend. The sixth annual Milford Doubles Tournament at Fairgrounds Bowling has a 1,470 total claiming the $500 first prize at present.

At Cooley Lanes the Dublin Community Center's third annual Doubles Tournament is led by a 1,285 total with one weekend left to shoot at the $300 first place money. Both tourneys are still accepting entries.

To level out the ride of an outboard boat, set the angle adjustment on the motor. To bring the bow up, tilt the motor away from the transom. To overcome "Bow bounce," set the motor in toward the transom.

Trout Fishermen Ready for Big Weekend Opening

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

This spring, however, the dedicated angler can be thankful for the white stuff.

★ ★ ★

While it was raining, sleeting, snowing and generally being miserable earlier this week in Southern Michigan, snow fell in the north. There was no rain to raise and roil streams, just snow. And not enough to stick.

The result is that streams are at normal levels and clear.

If it doesn't rain, fishermen should find conditions almost ideal. A wet weekend, of course, could wash out the fishing.

Most of the fishermen planning to try their luck in the north will leave Friday. Many of them will carry smelt nets in their cars.

If the trout fail to co-operate, the smelt will be available. The silvery fish started running in large numbers along Lakes Huron and Michigan north of the Muskegon-Bay City line Wednesday. Good runs are reported from AuGres to Tawas.

HATCHES POSSIBLE

If the weather is clear and the temperature climbs above 50 degrees, the dry fly specialists may get in some good licks. Hatches of stone flies and Adams will occur, under the right conditions, on some streams.

Opening day is always dominated by the bait fishermen. The night crawler rules supreme, although wigglers are fast catching on. Others will use salmon eggs and rainbow spawn on the steelhead streams. A small, soft-shelled crawfish, is another favorite.

The purists will concentrate on using nymphs, wetflies, bucktails and streamers. A nymph, if fished properly, will probably catch more trout than any other lure or bait.

Streams expected to feel the heaviest angling pressure opening weekend are the Rifle, all branches of the AuSable and the main stream, the Manistee, East Branch of the AuGres, Pine near Cadillac, Cedar, Tobacco, Little and Big Manistee, Platt, Pere Marquette, Sturgeon and parts of the Muskegon.

All streams and lakes in the Kalkaska area will be pounded. The annual National Trout Festival is being held there this weekend.

Many will stay close to home, fishing the stocked lakes and streams of Southern Michigan. Anglers trying their luck on lakes will find that wigglers, corn, minnows and night crawlers fished in four to 12 feet of water will be productive.

Pole Vault Events Key in I-L Meets

Waterford and Berkley both used the pole vault event to score dual track victories in the Inter-Lakes Conference yesterday.

The Skippers collected six firsts but a second place by Gary Brandon in the vault brought his team a 55½ to 53½ victory.

Walled Lake needed a first place or had to win both second and third place, however the Vikings got only second by Steve Pitcher and Berkley gained the triumph, 55-54.

In other track meets, Clawson took a 67½ to 41° victory over Lake Orion; Thurston was the winner of a triangular with 77 points over Bloomfield Hills 46 and Livonia Franklin 14; Ortonville won over Lake Fenton 61-48 and Goodrich lost 56-50 to Mammady in a double dual at Ortonville.

Waterford's winners were Chuck Cole in the 120 hurdles in 15.8; Rick LaBair in the 100 dash at 10.8; Cole.

2 SKIPPERS DOUBLE

Waterford received double wins from Chuck Cole in the high and low hurdles and Rick LeBair in the 100 and 220 sprints. Cole went 15.8 in the 120 highs and 20.9 in the lows, while LaBair went 24.0 in the 220 and 10.8 in the century.

Brown and Southfield ran the mile two seconds shy of a school record in 4:34.

Walled Lake and Berkley each had six firsts and the other ended in a tie. Pitcher took the broad jumy in 19-feet-2 and in the important vault, Berkley's Bill Barrett won in 12-feet-3 with Pitcher taking second.

Bob Wozniak won twice for Walled Lake in highs at 15.7 and lows at 21.5 while Rick Speck won the mile in 4:46.

CLAWSON MARK

Dale Strittmatter won a double winner as Clawson took 8 firsts, winning the 100 and 220 in 10.6 and 24.3. Clawson's Tom McArthur set a new Oakland A shot record by heaving it 52 feet ¾ inches.

Orion winners were Ocha in the broad jump, Mark Town send in the mile at 4:52.8; Rick Field in the 440 at 56.2. Bill Dunn and Henry Gawne tied in the pole vaule at 10 feet.

STEWART DOUBLES

Roger Stewart was a double winner for the Hills as he won the 100 in 10.3 and the 220 in 22.5. He also was part of the 880 relay victory in 1:33.5.

Bill Calhoun set a new school shot record with a 50-feet-3 inch throw.

Studies Show That Poor Men Just Can't Do Anything Right

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Who says so? The sociologists, psychologists and college professors say so.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

These experts are always making widespread studies (this is also the "let's - make - a - widespread - study - Charlie - and - get - our - names - in - the - scientific-journals" era) to discover the similarities and differences between the male and female sexes.

★ ★ ★

A widespread study-compiler named John E. Gibson reveals (in "Catholic Digest") the latest results, which are enough to make a strong man weep. (Yes they weep. Earlier widespread studies have proved it.

To wit:

★ ★ ★

On the average, a man is far more likely to have a high opinion of his own importance than a woman does.

Women are more perceptive of other people's thoughts than men are. When a woman says, "I can read that man like a book," her claim has some validity.

★ ★ ★

Women are far more adept at conveying their feelings understandably to others; ask a man how he feels about something, and he is much more likely to grope for words.

Men have less imagination than women.

★ ★ ★

Supposedly, women are more dependent than men. However, single women have been found to be appreciably happier, better adjusted, less frustrated and more successful in working out their personal problems than are single men.

★ ★ ★

When a man is unsure of his ground, he is far more likely to resort to bluff than is a woman. When a woman feels certain she is right, she will back her judgment more fearlessly than a man will under similar circumstances.

When husbands complain that their wives lie abed late in the morning, they call them lazy. Is this right? No. The husbands are wrong.

If a wife finds it hard to get out of bed in the morning, she is not necessarily lazy — it is far more likely that she is just sleepy. (And how do you like THAT for a widespread study revelation?)

★ ★ ★

Men are more likely to "go to pieces" over a broken romance than women are. They are more liable to become mentally ill, or driven to drink, depression, or suicide over an unhappy romance.

Men do not hear as well as women. The percentage of man whose hearing is not as keen as it should be is one-third higher than for women.

MORE CULTURED

In general, women are more cultured than men. They have more refined and cultivated tastes, are better read, and have a greater appreciation for music, art, literature than men have.

And finally, women have a definite edge over men in getting their way in domestic arguments. Reason: The average woman is more articulate, forceful and resourceful in her arguments than man.

Well, that's the picture of men — vain, weak, insensitive, dependent, inept — which you get from widespread studies.

Isn't it marvelous that we all know such a relatively narrow spread of strong males who are too busy being men to be studied?

Thatcher, Patterson and Wernet INSURANCE

'Quiet' New Jukebox Designed for Adults

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Seeburg Corp., the country's largest producer of coin-operated phonographs, has introduced a new juke box, different in style and dimensions from its flashy predecessor.

The company feels that the new "quiet" version will be more acceptable to resorts, cocktail lounges, motels, country clubs, cruise ships and similar establishments.

Junior Editors Quiz on REFLECTIONS

QUESTION: How is it we see our faces in the water when we look down into it?

★ ★ ★

Answer: If you (1) throw a ball hard at a wall it will bounce right back at you, but if (2) you throw the ball downward toward the wall it will bounce down at the angle opposite to the one at which it was thrown. When rays of light hit a polished surface like a mirror or the calm surface of a pond they act in the same way.

In (3) John and Joan stand on opposite sides of a little pond. Light rays are bouncing off them in all directions. But the ones which come from John's face along the direction of the dotted line are reflected up at the opposite angle, and since Joan's eyes are on this line she sees the image of John in the water.

In the same way, John is seeing her image at the same time. As they look directly down, light from their faces goes down and bounces up again, coming into their eyes, so that they see themselves in the water. We see ourselves in a mirror for the same reason.

Notice, though, that the image is in reverse, lift your right hand and your image will lift his hand, too, only it will be his left.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a friend and try the John-Joan experiment. You don't need a pond; you can lay a mirror flat on the ground between you. Both of you have to stand just the right distance away to see the other one's face.

LONDON (AP) — Pilot Francis G. Powers has been charged with espionage and Premier Nikita Khrushchev has promised "We shall try him—try him severely as a spy."

★ ★ ★

This was reported today by the Soviet news agency Tass.

The penalty for espionage in the Soviet Union ranges from 10 years in prison to execution by firing squad.

The latest developments were announced in Tass broadcasts from Moscow today in the wake of the news conference Khrushchev held Wednesday at the Moscow exhibit of espionage articles which the Soviets say Powers carried when he was downed May 1.

Part of Western correspondents' dispatches on the news conference had been held up in Moscow censorship. The Tass account of Khrushchev's remarks was carried from Moscow 20 hours after the news conference took place.

TASS VERSION:

Q. "Will this plane incident influence Soviet public opinion when Eisenhower comes to Moscow?

A. 'I would not like to be in Eisenhower's place if I would not like to answer the question which might be put to him when he comes to Moscow. I can only say the Soviet people and our public are very patient and there will be no excesses.' Animation, laughter.

"I would put it this way: 'One person, namely U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, has helped the President particularly in this respect. At his press conference Herter made statements that [illegible] that this will continue in the future.

"Only countries which [illegible] state of war can [illegible] in this way. We [illegible] in a state of [illegible] Herter's statement says that the plan was endorsed by the government.

"The Americans, obviously, were compelled to say this because otherwise they would have had to bring Allen W. Dulles, chief of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency) to account. Dulles, in turn, would have exposed the government by saying he carried out a plan approved by it, and, consequently, endorsed by the highest government, I proceed from the statement that was made by Herter."

Moderate Trading

Stock Market Lacks Incentive

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market seemed to lack incentive to go anywhere in particular and prices were mixed, with a slightly lower tendency early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional.

* * *

The trend was lower among the major steelmakers, rails, big three autos' and drugs.

Utilities were firm. Some of the airline stocks were up smartly on this year.

UPWARD DRIVE

The latest upward drive of the market seemed to be pretty well dampened by profit taking. At the same time, there was ngws of a decline in construction contracts awards in March from the same 1962 period, the first year-to-year decline in 15 months. The Census Bureau reported that retail trade volume fell below year-ago levels in the past week for the first time this year.

Chrysler was off a point and General Motors a fraction. Ford eased and American Motors was steady.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher in moderate trading. RIC Group, formerly Reinsurance Investment, advanced fractionally in brisk dealings. Supermarket Operations rose a point. Mangel Stores was gainers included Detroit Industrial Products, San Carlos Milling, Syntex, Paddington "A" and Yale Express "A." Among losers were Gulf American Land, United Asbestos, General Plywood, Pacific Coast Properties and Seaboard Industries.

Government Bonds Unchanged

NEW YORK (AP) — Government bond prices were unchanged to a bit higher in moderate opening activity today. Corporate trading was fairly light and prices were unchanged to slightly lower.

One over-the-counter dealer said there was little interest in U.S. government refunding issues, with most interest centered in the longer bonds. There were a few gains of 1/32 or 2/32.

Correction Is Teacher's Right

Make Discipline Work to Own Advantage

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

DR. NASON

Dear Dr. Nason: I am a freshman in high school. Our math teacher makes us write 500 times "I will not talk in class" if you talk out of turn. Do you agree that this is proper punishment for talking or do you think, as I and my classmates do, that this type of punishment is a waste of time?

J.B., Livingston, N.J.

Answer: The teacher has every reason to request that you not talk out of turn in class. You can take advantage of this punishment and keep it from being a waste of time by practicing your handwriting while you are writing your 500 sentences.

The handwriting in your letter shows need for practice on your part. It is quite juvenile for a high school freshman. Isn't it also juvenile for high school students to act in such a manner that they require discipline?

Dear Dr. Nason: We have just found out that our 14-year-old son has an IQ of 123. His marks in high school do not bear this out.

He is not a "wise guy" and this is why we feel sorry for him. His marks are in the high 70s and low 80s except for Latin which is in the 90s (however, my husband drills him in Latin each night).

He is flunking algebra. (We have found a neighbor who is helping with this subject.)

We believe our son lacks the power of concentration and good study habits. He wants to please us and will say he understands something when he doesn't just to make us feel good.

Can you help us?

R.B., Wayne, N.J.

★ ★ ★

Answer: Your son is concentrating on pleasing you rather than on learning his subjects. The help that his father and the neighbor are giving him is temporary in nature.

Instead of smothering him with help get him counseling on how to study and let him dig it out for himself.

Dear Dr. Nason: Being a mother of a teen-ager, I'm concerned naturally about his behavior. He started junior high school with a poor mark in deportment, but still his grades were good.

In my opinion, a mark in deportment is just as important as a mark in a subject, so to show him this, both my husband and I took away his privileges until he improves in his behavior.

When his friends told their mothers what we did, they told my son that we are being very old-fashioned, for as long as his grades are good we should not worry about his deportment.

I disagree. I would like to get your opinion on this subject.

Do you think I'm wrong?

MRS. J.P.O., Woodbridge, N.J.

★ ★ ★

Answer: Hurrah for you! We need more parents with your understanding and determination.

A good answer for your son at times might be "I'm not other mothers."

Dear Dr. Nason: My grandchild is not making satisfactory grades in school.

His older brother keeps the radio and television going constantly. Could this be a contributing factor?

MRS. H. B., Coalinga, Calif.

Answer: Music and talking from radios and televisions fill a portion of the mind whether or not we try to shut them out.

Parents have a duty to provide some place and time for quiet study. Training children is a most important responsibility.

Opening lead—♠7

The rule for third hand high is, "third hand should play high unless he has a definite reason to play low."

West opens his seven of spades against the three no-trump contract and South plays the ten from dummy.

JACOBY

East should play the nine of spades, not the king. It takes a lot of intestinal fortitude to give up an immediate sure trick, but if East wants to beat three no-trump he had best do so.

Assuming that East plays the nine of spades, South will win the trick, go to dummy with a heart and lead the jack of clubs. East will duck and South will finesse. The king play will do him no good. West will be on lead with the queen of clubs and will play his second spade.

This will knock out dummy's ace and establish the rest of the suit for East who still holds the ace of clubs as a sure entry.

If East clatters up with the king of spades at trick one and leads the suit back, South will still take and lose the club finesse, but West won't have a spade to lead and there will be no way to beat the contract.

A—Bid six no-trump. You want to be declarer so that a heart can't be led through you.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five diamonds over your four no-trump your partner bids five hearts to show two aces. What do you do?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Saturday

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Get ideas on paper. Later, attend to details, security matters, affairs at home. Key is domestic harmony. If family member has problem, be sympathetic.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): You have urge to be "on the move." Avoid carelessness. Money decisions can work out in your favor. Know what things cost—in time and care. Stress practicality. Insist on quality.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Get enough rest before starting day's activities. Fatigue can cause brooding and worry. Highlight moderate approach. Avoid extravagance. Budget in spotlight. You gain . . . if you take sensible steps.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Cycle high. Personality, personal appearance spotlighted. Trust intuition. Follow first impressions. Stress independence. Be a pace-setter. Plan for next week.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Intimate discussion with one close to you needed. Clear the air. Get some privacy. Get to know yourself and loved ones. Don't be pushed into anything foolish.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23): You can now bring dreams closer to realities. Be perceptive. Consult authorities, including your newspaper. Be aware, alert, ready to adopt creative attitude. Accept change as a challenge.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Go after what you want . . . including professional opportunities. This accomplished at social gathering. Keep "watch" on prestige. Be ready to perform at moment's notice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Money, security, willingness to break from status quo emphasized today. Key is vision, appreciation of potential. Be patient. Have faith in goal, and take steps to bring it closer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): In celebrating tonight, don't try to impress by extravagance. Win popularity through wit, charm. Don't try to "buy" your way. Very good for being with special person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may find others object to your plans, desires. These could be persons who previously expressed enthusiasm. Take with grain of salt. Conditions due to change. Be discreet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Many are attracted to you with their questions, problems, confessions. Don't become so involved you forget your own duties, obligations. Be sympathetic . . . but only to a certain point.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Good Lunar aspect indicates romance. Emphasizes change, travel . . . success in creative endeavors. Fine evening for attending theater, dining out, being with congenial people.

★ ★ ★

IF SATURDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you would make fine nurse, social worker, actor. Emphasis is on giving and self-expression.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Day features change: Much traveling about, news conferences, checking, admissions and denials. Adds up to very busy news day.

Trial of Official for Teamsters in Fourth Day

The trial of Pontiac Teamsters Union official Floyd B. Harmon on charges of embezzlement and making false entries in union books went into its fourth day in Detroit Federal District Court today.

★ ★ ★

Defense witnesses took the stand today.

The case, being held before Judge Talbot Smith, is now expected to last into next week, U. S. Atty. Lawrence Gubow said this morning.

Harmon, who lives at 2990 Barnes St., Waterford Township, is charged with embezzling amounts ranging from $11.32 to $1,012.35 between October 1959 and December 1961.

★ ★ ★

The financial secretary of Pontiac Local 614 was indicted last June following an audit of the local's records by federal Labor Department investigators.

Dunes Backers Expect Support

National Park Service States Position Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of a bill to create a 77,000-acre Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore Area in Western Michigan expect full support today from the National Park Service.

★ ★ ★

The measure, introduced by Sens. Philip A. Hart and Pat McNamara, Michigan Democrats, is being considered by a Senate Interior subcommittee in the resumption of a hearing postponed from last month.

Allen Edmunds of the National Park Service is to present the agency's position on the controversial bill to establish the lakeshore on the western edge of the state along Lake Michigan.

One source said the service has revised its earlier position concerning the size of the proposed park and will go along with the Senate bill.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall told the subcommittee last month he supported the Hart - McNamara bill — but with amendments to increase the area to 92,172 acres and 68 miles of shoreline.

The revised view of the park service would accept the 77,000 acres as provided by the bill.

The service also is expected to endorse the principle of private holdings within a park area as contained in the Hart-McNamara bill, rather than to hold to its traditional position to eliminate eventually all private holdings within such an area.

The extent to which private holdings would be permitted within the proposed Sleeping Bear Dunes area has been a major point of conflict.

Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., is sponsor of a bill to create a park of about 37,000 acres.

Griffin contends the Senate bill is too broad, is unnecessarily expensive and would include too many private holdings on inland lakes.

Alabama Chief Bans Freedom Marches

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Gov. George C. Wallace has warned an integrationist group that "freedom walks" in Alabama will not be tolerated and the marchers will probably be arrested.

The governor's warning was prompted by a telegram yesterday from the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) in Atlanta which said the group planned to continue the freedom walk started by William L. Moore.

Moore is the 35-year-old Baltimore postman who was killed Tuesday in Alabama while making a "freedom walk" from Tennessee to Mississippi.

Six Killed by Fire in Alabama Home

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A young tenant farmer and five members of his family died in a fire which swept their small frame home late Thursday night. Two others escaped.

Coroner A. G. Osborne identified the dead as Wayne Lewter, 22; his wife, Dorothy Ann, 23; his brother, Johnny, 11; and three of his children, Cathy Ann, 3, Wayne Jr., 2, and Jerry, 9 months.

U. S. Bees Buzz Britain

LONDON (UPI) — A shipment of 1.2 million bees arrived in Britain from the United States yesterday to restock hives hit by last winter's severe weather.

Labor-School Wage Issue Winds Up in Circuit Court

A year-old labor dispute between the Pontiac School Board and the United Skilled Maintenance Trades Employees (USMTE) has landed in Circuit Court.

Judge Clark J. Adams has been asked for a declaratory judgment to compel the school board to further negotiate a 1962 dispute with the USMTE, which represents 49 skilled workers.

The complaint, which was filed Wednesday, asks the court to determine whether the board has "a duty to meet and bargain collectively with the USMTE with reference to the labor dispute between them."

The complaint alleges the board would not bargain collectively, so a petition for mediation was filed in June 1962 with the State Labor Mediation Board.

The complaint claims that even though a mediator was assigned, the school board "failed, refused and neglected to mediate" prior to adopting its 1962-63 budget.

The USMTE filed a petition for fact finding with the State Labor Medition Board.

★ ★ ★

The USMTE then demanded, according to the complaint, that the school board bargain further on the basis of the fact-finding report, but the board refused.

The school board, according to Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent for business and staff personnel, granted a 6-cent-an-hour package last July. This included several fringe benefits.

He said the union's proposals averaged 25 to 75 cents an hour depending on the worker's classification.

The union said it seeks to adjust wages in line with local industry.

Storm Has Damp Days for Weekend

By United Press International

The weather bureau said the growing storm would affect weather across the nation this weekend.

Elsewhere in the nation the weather was mild and dry. Temperatures in the 60s surged into the Southern Plains while the mercury settled into the 40s and 50s across the Midwest and Ohio valley.

Sgt. York Awaits Hospital Release

Request N-Conference Set at Summer's End

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. Scientific Advisory Committee announced Thursday night it advised Secretary-General U Thant to call the third U.N. Conference on the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy for Aug. 31-Sept. 9, 1964.

★ ★ ★

Attending the committee meeting were scientists from Brazil, Britain, Canada, France, India, the Soviet Union and the United States.

Jury Trial Waived by Accused Slayer

JACKSON (AP) — The confessed slayer of a Jackson area woman last Feb. 17 waived a jury trial at his examination yesterday in Jackson County Circuit Court.

Larry L. Hanley, 22, of Napoleon, will be tried before a judge sometime in early May, court officials said.

No Traffic Lights

Sees NY to LA Freeway

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York to Los Angeles freeway without a traffic light is foreseen for "the not too distant future" by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges.

Hodges told the National Association of Surety Bond Producers Thursday that the administration's $41-billion highway program is "without parellel in its magnitude" and that private and public construction will reach a record outlay of $63.3 billion this year.

TRADING IS TERRIFIC

HERE'S THE STURDY stability of fine English architecture enhanced by the lovely landscaped acre by white mature trees, evergreens and well kept shrubs. This beautiful colonial, features a comfortable large living room with fireplace, family room, breakfast room, kitchen and bath on 1st floor. 4 spacious bedrooms and bath up. Recreation room, laundry and hobby room in basement. 2-car attached garage. The family who is fortunate to obtain this property will be very lucky indeed. — Price $28,-000.

NO NEED TO ENVY FOLKS who live "on the water"; now you can join them at a reasonable price. Owner will bring his sharp, sharp, 3-bedroom home at a time when you can get in for the long summer months. Large kitchen and bath are real, modern beauties. Decorations are very attractive throughout. There's a "Rec" room in the basement with a walk out door to the sandy beach of your choosing. Located on White Lake, where the fish are biting and are caught. At only $13,900 you can't afford not to look at it.

"A HEAP O-LIVIN" at a small price. $10,500 buys an immaculate 2 bedroom, one story ranch home at Commerce Lake Estates. Large family kitchen, lots of cupboards and double sink and offering single-hung windows. Full basement. Dandy, clean basement. Gas heat, gas and electric combo, gas cooking for true economy. Back yard all enclosed, insures babies safety. $1,050 down, mortgage costs down. Will go quick.

YOUR WONDERFUL FAMILY Deserves something special — and they'll find it here in this striking ranch contemporary. 3 bedrooms, 2½ colorful baths, large family room, opening into living room overlooking patio, beamed ceilings. One of the finest locations with excellent lake privileges and Pine Lake area, be bought on land contract with $2,000 down.

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A NICE 3 or 4 bedroom home in city conveniences? Well your looking over can be ended with this dandy home. This rancher has a full basement, gas heat and it's fully insulated, furnished down and lake over $82 per month payments at 4% per cent interest.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

State Reduces Employe Firing

LANSING (AP) — The State Civil Service Commission hearing board has reduced the firing of Benjamin Parks, liability examiner for the Michigan Employment Security Commission in Detroit, to a 90-day suspension without pay.

★ ★ ★

Parks, 50, of Highland Park, a 20-year employe of the state agency, was fired on Feb. 20. He will be reinstated in his job 90 days after that date.

Parks was charged at the time with failure to receive written approval for outside employment that represented a conflict of interest.

The charge said he aided representatives of the Whiteus Lawn Service of Detroit in filing an improper application to obtain unemployment benefits.

Eugene Busha, personnel officer of the state agency, testified that some 300 workers for the agencies had received permission for outside employment.

★ ★ ★

Mail fraud convictions by the government the last fiscal year totaled a record 524. Investigations resulted in the restitution of $1,414,000 to intended victims.

Comes From Texas to Michigan

Charges Contract Shift Costs $11 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said today shifting of a defense contract from Texas to Michigan was a political decision that will cost an additional $11 million by the Army's own admission.

Laird, a member of a House appropriations subcommittee which is considering the Defense Department's request for money to carry out the contract, said he believes the added costs will run to at least $20 million.

He was referring to the award last fall of a $102.5-million contract to the Texas Chance-Bought aircraft builders which specified that the work be done in the Army missile plant now run by the Chrysler Corp. near Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Announcement of the contract was made on Nov. 1 by then governor of Michigan, John B. Swainson, a Democrat, five days before the Nov. 6 election in which George Romney, Republican, defeated him for the governorship.

★ ★ ★

Chance-Vought had submitted the low bid. The contract, also sought by Chrysler, involves research and development for the Army's Lance missile, also known as the Army's new missile B.

TESTIFY IN HEARING

Laird said Army officials currently appearing before the subcommittee in closed hearings in support of funds to carry out the contract, have testified that the provisions shifting the work to Michigan from Texas will cost an additional $11 million.

"There is no question that Chance-Vought had submitted the lowest bid," Larid said. "But the administration wanted to play politics with the contract so the decision was made to allow then Gov. Swainson to announce the contract award and that the Texas firm would do the work in Michigan.

"My objection to this as a member of the defense appropriations subcommittee is to the use of procurement on research and development contracts for political purposes or for the relief of a depressed area.",

★ ★ ★

Laird said that if the Defense Department "starts placing contracts on a political basis or to stimulate the economy in one part of the country at the expense of another," millions of dollars would be added to the costs.

NY Just a Village to LA, but Towners Still Like It

NEW YORK

"Nice little city we've got here,
An ocean, a park and a mall,
Couple of nice little rivers—
—From a Columnist's Notebook.

But even if New York City is small, we still like it . . .

On his honeymoon, Paul Anka met the Polish Prime Minister who said, "My people like you." So now, at the Copa, arrived an invitation from the Polish Embassy to visit Warsaw . . . Robert Goulet's resting at his home at Bedford Village—first vacation since he became a big star . . . Kim Novak now swears she'll marry London columnist Roderick Mann . . . Nelson Eddy and Gale Sherwood get howls at the Latin Quarter doing a Queen of Sheba bit in JFK-and-Jackie accents. It becomes "Queen of Sheeber."

Come Along Often

'Series Like Streetcars'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — "Television series are like streetcars," said actor Larry Blyden. "They come along every so often, and then it's up to the actor to decide whether it will take him where he wants to go."

★ ★ ★

Blyden is a versatile performer equally at home playing a heel (Sammy in "What Makes Sammy Run?"), a singing, dancing leading man (Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Flower Drum Song") and assorted bookkeepers, scientists, reporters, suburban husbands on assorted television anthologies.

About three years ago, along came a projected TV series to be adapted from a book called "Les Girls."

HIS 'STREETCAR'

Blyden, who had been turning a disinterested shoulder to five or six series ideas a year, decided that the series, retitled "Harry's Girls," was his streetcar.

★ ★ ★

So, next week, Blyden (who plays Harry) and three beautiful young actresses (who play the girls) depart for a year of filmmaking in Europe. A grass widower, Blyden has already rented a flat in London, and expects that he'll be doing plenty of traveling around the continent for location shots.

"Why should I turn down an opportunity to become rich and famous?" he asked expansively. "Besides, I like the idea of the series; it gives me a chance to live abroad for a while; a chance to work with European actors and an opportunity to see a lot of theater in London and Paris, even Germany, Russia and Scandinavia, if I'm lucky."

★ ★ ★

The assignment on the show which will be an NBC Friday night entry next season will not make him a complete expatriate. He expects to fly to New York every five or six weeks, mostly to visit his two children, aged five and two, who live with his former wife, Carol Haney, the dancer and choreographer, in New Jersey.

A network of unmanned weather stations will soon be sending data to a central Weather Bureau computer for analysis and forecasting.

Seek Ways of Avoiding Walkouts

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) seeks new ways to avoid strikes.

★ ★ ★

Miles P. Patrone, chairman of the ANPA's special standing committee, announced the association's decision to conduct a wide study of labor relations problems, which have been increased by advances in automation.

The announcement was made yesterday during the final session of the ANPA's four-day convention. Labor relations and government management of news were the major topics discussed at the convention.

Leaders in the newspaper business have been consulted in the exploration of the problem, Patrone said, and more will be consulted.

Patrone said the study will include all angles of the problem, including automation. No deadline for completion of the study has been set, he added.

Asked by a reporter whether leaders of unions in the newspaper industry would be consulted, Patrone said it was possible, but no plans along that line had been decided upon at this point.

★ ★ ★

The publishers association deferred a proposed meeting of ANPA representatives with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz pending the outcome of the study.

'2 Groups Important to Dems'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic party must pay more attention to women voters, all suburban voters and the art of effective political communication on national issues, Rep. Neil Staebler, D-Mich., said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"These are the new frontiers of national politics which we must cross and conquer to insure the growth of the Democratic party, our success at the polls and in Congress," Staebler said.

Staebler, Michigan's Democratic national committeeman, said in a talk to members of the Women's National Democratic Club that voters of their sex represent one of the prime factors in national politics.

Their emergence as an important political force, he said, is evident in the fact that there are almost four million more women of voting age than men.

"We know," he said, "that 52 per cent of the women voters voted for Democratic candidates in the 1962 elections. But we can and must increase this percentage."

Staebler said the Kennedy administration has recognized the valuable political contributions of women by appointing more than 250 to high posts in government.

He said recent votes in Congress clearly demonstrate the difference in attitude between Republicans and Democrats in tackling national problems.

★ ★ ★

Says Hikers Are Foolhardy

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The national reaction to President Kennedy's challenge on 50-mile hikes was foolhardy, says a former Green Bay Packer football lineman.

"Leave the spectaculars for television," Dr. James S. Feurig, now director of student health at Michigan State University, said at the American College Health Association meeting Thursday.

K Adds Force to Speculation of Resignation

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

MOSCOW — Nikita Khrushchev's reminder to the Russian people that he is not immortal lent weight today to speculation he might soon resign one of his top government and Communist party posts.

There was no official indication Khrushchev was under political pressure to make a change, but his public statements on his advancing age focused attention on his possible successors in the Kremlin.

The spotlight fell especially on Frol Kozlov, 54, a secretary of the powerful Party Central Committee who is considered Khrushchev's heir apparent as party chief, the actual seat of power in the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

"I am already 69 and I have the right to say so," Khrushchev told a meeting of industry and construction workers. "Everyone understands that I cannot hold for all time the position I now have in the party and the state."

The three-hour speech, made Wednesday, was published in full today in all Moscow newspapers.

But his remarks set off a dispute among Western observers in Moscow whether he might announce such plans at a meeting of the party central committee called for May 28.

U. S. Doubts Nikita to Quit Soon, Page B-10

It has been announced that the committee will discuss ideological matters.

TWO OFFICIAL POSTS

Khrushchev holds two official posts: chairman of the council of ministers, or premier, and first secretary of the Soviet Communist party.

Some observers are convinced Khrushchev is determined to hold onto both jobs until he dies. Others have been speculating that the Soviet leader might give up the secretaryship, the permiership or both.

U.S. experts in Washington expressed doubt that Khrushchev is going to step down for a while.

Asks Aid for Peace in War-Torn Laos

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev assured undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman today that he joined the United States in affirming full support of the accord on keeping Laos neutral and peaceful.

From Our News Wires

MOSCOW (AP)— Diplomatic troubleshooter W. Averell Harriman put before Premier Khrushchev today an appeal from President Kennedy for help in bringing peace to Laos.

Harriman and U.S. Ambassador Foy Kohler went to the Kremlin to see the Soviet premier after talking for two and a half hours with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

As the Moscow meetings were in progress, the Laotian Defense Ministry reported in Vientiane that Communist Pathet Lao forces have attacked an outpost of right-wing forces led by Gen Phoumi Nosavan.

★ ★ ★

The attack, political observers believed, raised the serious threat that Phoumi's forces might retaliate and possibly trigger another civil war.

The attack was reported in southern Laos.

Harriman said after his meeting with Gromyko that both the United States and Russia are determined to assure the independence and neutrality of Laos.

The U. S. undersecretary of state declined to say whether he was optimistic or pessimistic. "I would not know about using those words," he said.

PERSONAL LETTER

Harriman carried a personal letter from Kennedy asking Khrushchev to help enforce the Geneva agreement guaranteeing the neutrality of the tiny Southeast

Senate Ready for Approval of Hogan Redistricting Plan

The Senate Republican caucus today voted not to concur with a House-approved Congressional reapportionment bill, overturning earlier expectations that the Senate might agree. The reapportionment issue now goes to a joint House-Senate conference committee.

By JIM DYGERT

A sudden change in Republican plans left the State Senate ready today to approve a Congressional reapportionment bill hastily drawn and passed in the House yesterday.

The measure would put Oakland County's southeast corner—all cities and townships south of 20-Mile Road (South Boulevard) and east of Inkster Road — in a smaller 18th district.

Pontiac and the rest of the county would go with Livingston County in the new 19th district received by Michigan as a result of the 1960 census. The county now comprises all the 18th.

"It's the best possible plan for Oakland County," Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Bloomfield Township, said today.

★ ★ ★

Hogan, chairman of the House Apportionment Committee, drew up the plan yesterday to resolve a GOP dispute over alignment of the Thumb area, which he put in one district with Saginaw County.

Republicans then planned to work out a final version in a joint Senate-House conference committee since the Senate bill on reapportionment was quite different.

PLANS CHANGED

But plans were changed suddenly as Republicans decided Hogan's new plan was better than taking a chance on getting no reapportionment bill at all this year.

They began rounding up support for Hogan's bill in the Senate and indications this morning were that the 18 votes needed for Senate passage were available.

Republicans feared that a conference committee would not finish its work until June 7 date set for formal adjournment of the legislative session and that votes to pass the final version might not be available then.

Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, who sponsored the Senate version, said he was agreeable to Hogan's new plan.

Robert's plan would also have put Farmington Township in the 18th, and Lapeer and St. Clair counties in the 19th instead of Livingston County.

Hogan's version puts Lapeer and St. Clair in the Thumb area district from which House Speaker Allison Green, R - Kingston, may seek election to Congress.

ONE DISTRICT FOR UP

Hogan's version also puts the Upper Peninsula in one district instead of its present two. Population of the new district there would be about 305,000, or about 26 per cent from the "ideal" of 411,000 per district.

As to Oakland County, Hogan's plan is similar to one proposed by the County Democratic party.

The 18th would have a population of about 385,000 and the 19th about 345,000.

On the basis of past voting, the 18th would be about 56 per cent Republican, the 19th about 61 per cent.

Hogan said his Upper Peninsula district was justified by geography even though Republicans had hoped to keep all districts within 15 per cent of the "ideal."

He said no other district in his plan was further than 16 per cent from it.

House-Senate Committee Busy as Time Runs Out

LANSING (AP) — Joint House-Senate conference committee meetings on more than a score of bills continued today as the 72nd Michigan Legislature approached the end of its regular session.

Gov. George Romney, pen in hand, busied himself with signing bills already passed but paused long enough to dish out plaudits for what he called "the most productive session in many years."

Each chamber was to meet today to wind up the business of receiving their own bills returned after passage by the other, consider amendments and send them to conference or to the governor.

Among the measures getting the final touches in conferences were the appropriations bills making up Romney's proposed $547 million, 1963-64 state budget.

House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, said the session probably would run late tonight and possibly spill over into Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Lawmakers are scheduled to begin a five-week recess tomorrow, returning here June 4 to consider bills which may have been vetoed in the interim by the governor.

Romney said yesterday he believed 80 to 85 per cent of his own program has been — or will be — approved before final adjournment June 7.

★ ★ ★

"I know this is a better score than the state has seen for a long, long time," said Romney. "A remarkable record of accomplishment has been turned in by the legislature."

Romney said his two most severe losses in his first dealings with lawmakers was death of the open occupancy and minimum wage bills.

★ ★ ★

Minimum wage, another part of the Romney program, got to the House floor after approval by the Senate but was killed off by opponents' stalling tactics ahead of Wednesday's deadline for passage.

Find 3 Bodies in W. Virginia Gas Explosion

Rescue Crews Look for Missing Inside; Little Hope Seen

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Rescue crews working their way slowly into the Clinchfield Coal Co. Compass No. 2 mine today found the bodies of three of 22 miners trapped by a violent gas explosion deep inside the works.

There was little hope the other 19 would be found alive.

Two of the victims were sprawled in the main passageway about 1½ miles from the foot of the main shaft. The third body was nearby. None was identified.

Announcement of the finding of the first victims of Thursday's explosion was made by mine Supt. Harry Chapman, whose brother is one of the missing miners.

The bodies, Chapman reported, were found near the opening of a drift in which 13 miners were supposed to be working when a rumbling gas explosion hit the mine.

Seven other men were assigned to a drift 2,000 feet farther into the mine and two men were assisting both crews.

Outside women, coal miners in working gear, police and coal company officials kept vigil.

NO INDICATION

There was nothing on the outside to indicate what had taken place. Fans which circulate air through the mine continued to operate.

The shaft was not damaged. The elevator which can carry 10 men down into the working area was still operating.

About 60 men familiar with mine rescue methods took turns in clearing a path to the 22.

It was difficult. The air had to be checked constantly to be cer-

Sought in Abduction, Ex-Convict Gives Up

A paroled convict being sought for the past three weeks in the abduction of two Oxford reserve patrolmen and a woman radio dispatcher, surrendered quietly today to a Pontiac FBI agent and a sheriff's detective.

F. Frederick Hannah, 24, gave himself up to agent Palmer Wee and detective Charles Whitlock at his grandmother's home in Oxford. Hannah phoned Wee at 7:20 a.m.

"I'm Fred Hannah and I want to surrender because I have no place to go," Wee quoted the parolee as saying over the telephone this morning.

★ ★ ★

Wee went to the house at 102 East St. accompanied only by Whitlock. Oxford police stayed in the background in case they were needed.

Whitlock said Hannah agreed to surrender quietly only "if there's no fanfare to embarass my grandmother."

She is an elderly woman and not involved, said Whitlock.

★ ★ ★

He asked Hannah for the 25-caliber automatic pistol he used to abduct the entire on-duty Oxford police force when he was brought into the village station at 1 a.m. April 6 on a minor traffic violation.

CAN'T EXPLAIN ACTIONS

Hannah said he didn't know exactly why he abducted Mrs. LeLora Westphal, 42, and officers Richard Lamphier, 21, and Wendell Hill, 24.

"They asked me to empty my pockets on the desk, and I reached in and found the automatic in my hand. . . . First thing I knew I had the gun pointed at them."

Hannah had been recently paroled from Jackson Prison where he served time for arson in the burning of an Oxford tavern.

Being caught with a gun in his possession would have ended his parole, forcing his return to prison.

Whitlock retrieved the gun from a dresser in Hannah's bedroom. Hannah said he had pawned the two police officer's revolvers in Miami, Fla., where he went to hide out until funds ran short.

Hannah made a full statement to the prosecutor today, admitting he forced the two officers and the woman dispatcher at gun point to accompany him as far as a motel in Detroit in one of the officer's private cars.

School Board OKs Buildings

Increase in Millage on Waterford Ballot

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night approved a $6,250,000 school construction program and an undetermined hike in staff salary schedules.

Both measures, along with a request for millage to operate the requested facilities, will be placed on the June 10 ballot for voter authorization.

The five-year building program calls for six new schools additions to eight existing buildings, a new bus garage, and remodeling of several other structures.

The largest single cost, $2 million, is for a new junior high school in the northeast corner of the township.

★ ★ ★

Voters will be asked to authorize:

1. The building program expected to cost one mill spread over 30 years.
2. A 2½ mill tax levy to operate the new buildings.
3. Staff salary schedule improvements to be determined at a later date but estimated to require a 2½ mill levy.

This 6-mill tax levy is in addition to the 10 mills needed for present school operating expenses.

The board agreed to place the renewal of the 10-mill levy on the ballot next year.

Members scheduled a special meeting for 4:30 p.m. Wednesday to determine the amount of the staff salary increases.

Dr. Don Tatroe Supt. of Schools said that disapproval of the requested staff salary improvement would create "A serious staff morale problem."

The school district needs this hike to improve its competitiveness with other districts, he said.

On His Birthday

Friends Fete Broomfield

BROOMFIELD'S BIRTHDAY — A cake in honor of his 41st birthday was presented last night to William S. Broomfield (center), Oakland County's Republican representative to the Congress, at a dinner at Glen Oaks Country Club in Farmington Township. Chairman of the dinner was Chad Ritchie (right) county GOP treasurer. Among those celebrating the occasion was the Congressman's father, Dr. S. C. Broomfield (left) of Royal Oak.

It was a warm - hearted, informal evening among friends—a non-political event.

More than 500 of Broomfield's friends turned out to celebrate the Congressman's 41st birthday last night at Glen Oaks Country Club in Farmington Township.

They heard Broomfield's predecessor, George A. Dondero, say Broomfield "has done a better job than I did."

★ ★ ★

"It gave me some gray hairs," said Dondero, who was in Congress for 24 years before Broomfield took over his seat in 1956, "and I see it's given him some, too."

The guests also heard a comedy impersonation of President Kennedy, and saw Broomfield presented with a huge birthday card signed by all attending along with a gift of a desk pen set.

Broomfield talked only briefly of business. He voted against a $450-million appropriation for the President's public works program because "a meaningful tax cut" is impossible without a drop in spending, he said.

Pan-Am Baseball Title at Stake

Lookout! Cuba-U.S. to Meet

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The baseball team from Cuba, where Castro says they play the game for fun and others claim at least some of them used to play for pay, gets a chance to jar the U.S. juggernaut at the Pan-American Games today.

Cuba and the U.S. tangle in baseball at 4 p.m., EST, in a game that will probably decide the Game's gold medal.

Cuba slugged the U.S. 13-1 in the opening game of the double round-robin. The U.S. has a 3-1 record at this stage, while Cuba is 2-1 with the loss to Mexico.

If the baseball medal eludes the Yankees, it will be one of the few that got away in a triumphant march that to date has even exceeded the high expectations of the U.S. team.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. has grabbed 33 gold medals, with only eight going to the other nations in the Games. Only Brazil, with two, has won more than one.

CLEAN SWEEP

Thursday, American athletes grabbed 14 of the 15 medals decided, finished a clean sweep of all eight wrestling titles and took all the swimming titles on the card to maintain that monopoly.

Two gold medals came in weightlifting, and one each in fencing, equestrian dressage and tennis. Another was sewed up in rapid fire pistol shooting, where two Americans tied for first and will shoot it off today.

The U.S. also has 12 silver and 10 bronze medals, both high.

A sellout crowd paying double prices—64 cents—will sit in on the Cuba-U.S. baseball battle. The earlier Cuban victory — which spread joy through Castro's circles and charges that some of the Cubans players might have been pros before they took up the amateur game—lend spice to the encounter. The Cold War adds a good bit of flavor, although the two teams have been careful to exhibit sweetness and light on the field.

Also on today's card are tennis, shooting, fencing and equestrian finals, trial swimming heats and competition in basketball, soccer, volleyball and water polo.

SWIM WINNERS

American swimmers, led by two 17-year-olds and a girl a few days shy of that milestone, set three Pan-Am records in winning all four races Thursday.

Carl Robie, 17, of Drexel Hill, Pa., won the 200-meter butterfly in 2 minutes, 11.3 seconds; Alice Driscoll, 17, of Louisville, took the and Terri Stickles of Santa Clara, Calif., 17 next month, won the 100-meter freestyle in 1:02.8.

That gave the Yanks eight for eight in swimming, with six records set and one tied. The U.S. also has one of the two diving gold medals.

★ ★ ★

Yankee wrestlers, who had won three titles, added the other five Thursday. Andy Fitch, New York, won the flyweight; Bill Riddle of Livonia, Mich., the bantamweight; Greg Ruth of Highland Falls, N.Y. the lightweight; John Fitzgerald of Ann Arbor, Mich., welterweight and Joe Israel James of Chicago the heavyweight crown.

Patricia Galvin of San Francisco won the equestrian dressage, and the U.S. men's foils team took that competition.

The Americans who tied for the pistol title were SFC Lawrence Mosely of Norfilk, Va., and Capt. Cecil Wallis of Columbus, Ga.

Oddly enough, it was only the third gold medal the U.S. has won at tennis in four Pan-Am Games. American players have already been eliminated in the men's singles and mixed doubles, and the women's singles was won by Maria Bueno of Brazil.

That was the only gold medal that escaped the Yankees Thursday.

In other scattered action Thursday, the U.S. opened its water polo campaign with a 7-1 victory over Mexico, and the women's volleyball team was beaten by Brazil.

Tigers Manage Ten Hits, but Only Singles

Twins Visit Detroit for Initial Night Tilt of Season

All Scheffing's woes were bundled into one game yesterday as the Tigers lost 7-5 to the Los Angeles Angels. About the only encouragement was the hitting perked up ever so slightly.

NIGHT GAME

Detroit tries to snap out of the doldrums again tonight in the first Tiger Stadium night game of the new season. Scheffing will send Don Mossi against the Minnesota Twins and rookie Jim Roland in a battle of southpaws with 2-0 records.

In the early games while the hitters weren't in mass production, Scheffing's one comfort was his pitching. It kept the Tigers from sinking too far into second division.

But against the Angels yesterday, Scheffing spotted the first indication the pitchers won't always be able to survive without adequate support.

Hank Aguirre, brilliant in pitching three low-run, route-going victories, was shelled in less than four innings. He yielded three homers and a two-run double before Scheffing yanked him.

"At least our hitting was a little better, but not much. But we finally got a few hits in a row."

The Tigers managed to spring loose with 10 hits. But they were all singles. Five were in the fifth when the Tigers bunched all their runs and sliced the Angels' six-run lead to 6-5.

REGULARS OUT

By then Scheffing had removed two regulars because of injuries. Bubba Phillips aggravated a hip injury and Frank Kostro took over at third base in the third. Billy Bruton's pulled leg muscle caused his removal in the fifth with Bubba Morton taking over center field.

Scheffing said Kostro and Morton would be in the lineup tonight, He also intends to put Jake Wood in at second base and rest Dick McAuliffe.

Bruton's inability to run at full speed hurt the Tigers as much as the homers off Aguirre. Felix Torres lashed a ball to left center in the third. It would have been a fairly easy chance for a well Bruton. Instead it carried just over his head for a double and brought in two runs.

★

Leon Wagner tagged Aguirre for a homer in the second. Bob Rodgers and Ken Hunt drove him out with successive homers in the fourth. Wagner hit another homer in the eighth off Dick Egan after the Tigers had closed in.

Coot Veal, playing shortstop in place of the slump-ridden Chico Fernandez, drilled three of the Tiger singles. He started the rally in the fifth with his second hit. Bruton brought him in with a single and left immediately for a pinch runner. Kostro walked before Al Kaline, Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash singled for three more runs.

Colivito scored on a wild pitch, but rookie Julio Navarro shut off the Tigers with the potential tying run on second. It was the closest the Tigers came as Navarro held them to three hits the last 4⅔ innings.

KC Loses Lead to Barber Hex

Actually, it isn't that easy. Steve Barber can't just toss his glove on the mound and have Kansas City roll over and play dead.

Barber provided the pitching and Gentile the power in Baltimore's 3-2, 10-inning victory over Kansas City Thursday night as the Orioles reclaimed the American League lead and the Athletic's dropped from first to third.

HOMER DOES IT

Gentile's 10th inning homer wrapped it up and maintained Barber's all-winning record against the A's. The young lefty is 10-0 against them for his career.

The Chicago White Sox, who were idle, remained in second place while Kansas City slipped to the third place standing it vacated just the day before.

Minnesota's Jack Kralick hurled a three-hitter in the Twins' 3-0 triumph over the Senators at Washington and Los Angeles defeated the Tigers 7-5 in Detroit in the only other games on the light schedule.

Barber, who had a 9-6 record after his return from military service last season, is off to one of the better starts of his four-year major league career. He went the distance against Kansas City and pushed his record to 4-1. He owns a 1.58 earned run average, and leads the league in strikeouts with 31.

The 24-year-old lefty spaced seven hits and struck out seven, but was no better than even with the fired-up A's until Gentile smashed a 1-2 pitch into the left field bleachers, an opposite-field hit for the left-handed hitter.

Al Smith's two run homer accounted for the Orioles' first runs, but Kansas City matched them on an unsuccessful doubleplay attempt in the fourth and Norm Siebern's run-scoring single in the sixth. John Wyatt lost in relief.

AP Photofax

RUN DOWN — Tiger outfielder Rocky Colavito turned infielder yesterday for one play as he came in to make a putout on shortstop Jim Fregosi of the Los Angeles Angels. Fregosi was caught in a rundown between second and third and four Tigers got into the act to tag him.

Ortonville Cindermen Score Second Victory

Ortonville won its second track meet of the season in three starts by defeating Lake Fenton, 61-48 as part of a double deal on the home grounds yesterday. In the other meet, Goodrich lost to Flint Hammady, 56-50.

Ortonville's Larry Jackson won the 440, was 2nd in the high jump and was part of the winning mile relay team which won in 5:06.1.

The 880 relay team of Dave Myers, Mark Brown, Jerry Cleveland and Steve Hubbs won in 1:43.1. Cleveland also won the 880 and Hubbs the 100.

Goodrich had a triple winner in Terry Bouck in the pole vault, 100 and 220 while Hammady's triple triumph was by Steve Bolton in high and low hurdles and high jump.

Drake Relays to Run Today

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Given good weather—and it looks promising for the next two days—the 54th annual Drake Relays, with its field of 880 college and university athletes, could develop into a record-busting spree.

Of the 27 events listed, times or distances in 14 of them have been bettered this season by one or more of the entries.

★ ★ ★

Launching the big sports carnival today will be finals in the two-mile run, college distance medley relay, university sprint medley relay, 440-yard hurdles, four-mile relay, broad jump and discus. Preliminaries will be held in seven other events. Finals in the 20 other events will be Saturday.

Semifinals at Pinehurst

Patton Goes Long Route

PINEHURST, N..C (AP)—Geographically speaking, the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament was just that as 18-hole semifinal pairings today pitted defending champion Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., against Ray Terry of Jacksonville, Fla., and Bob Allen of West Hartford, Conn., against John Guenther of Reading, Pa.

Patton is striving to become the first man to win back-to-back championships in this 63-year-old classic since Frank Strafaci did it in 1938-39.

Patton's road hasn't been easy, although he flashed some of his better form in Thursday's 5 and 3 quarterfinals victory over Cobby Ware of Augusta, Ga. The 41-year-old Walker Cup team member led from the first hole.

But in four earlier matches he played the full 18 holes of the 7,000-yard, par-72 No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club three times and once went to the 19th.

LONG ROUTE

In winning five times this week he has played 88 holes of a possible 90, by far the longest route any of the semifinalists has had to travel.

Terry has played only 79 holes, only once being extended beyond the 16th. He disposed of Jake Howard, also of Augusta, 5 and 3, in his quarter-finals test.

Allen has played 81 holes. Two matches went extra holes and twice he had one-sided affairs, including a 6 and 5 decision Thursday over Sam Marsh of Greenville, S.C. Allen won three of the first four holes.

★ ★ ★

Guenther, with three matches that went the distance, has played 82 holes, including a 2-up quarterfinal victory over Dave Smith of Gastonia, N.C. Guenther swept the last two holes after Smith had drawn even with a birdie at 16.

The 30-year-old Guenther, who has won Pennsylvania open and amateur titles, played about three weeks of Florida winter tournament golf this year and credits it for his best showing in several years of play here.

'Hillbilly' on Program of Armory Wrestling

Popular Zeke Rivers, 'The Scuffin' Hillbilly, will be on the four-boat card listed for the National Guard Armory professional wrestling card Saturday night, opposing 'Terrible John' Terry.

Also on the card are Davy Duncan-El Gaucho and Tom Londos-Bill Ledger bouts; while Mr. Q, the Giant Masked Man, will grapple with Louie Papineau.

Wildlife Area Work

LANSING (AP)—Development work is scheduled to start within the next few days at Southern Michigan wildlife areas under a $565,000 federal-state program designed to speed up game improvements and soften unemployment in economically-distressed areas.

Mets at Top Speed, Post 1st Thursday Win

By The Associated Press

OXI TE PEMPTH.

That would be Greek, even to Casey Stengel. It means Never On Thursday, and until Casey's New York Mets edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2, they never had.

Baseball's hottest team—that's the Mets—climbed Mt. Olympus against the Cubs at Frank (Hercules) Thomas provided the runs that gave the New Yorker's their sixth victory in the last seven games. The Mets are now 6-9 on the season for a .400 percentage—the highest in their history.

THURSDAY WIN

The Mets, who usually find one day of the week as bad as the one before and no better than the one coming up, used Thomas' run-producing single in the first inning and a two-run sixth inning homer for the first Thursday victory in their two-season history.

Coupled with Thomas' hitting was the tight seven-hit pitching of Roger Craig and a heads-up play resulting in a rare third to first to shortstop doubleplay that ended the game.

Lou Brock, who scored both Cub runs, singled with one out in the ninth inning and attempted to go to third base as Charlie Neal threw out Ken Hubbs. A quick throw by first baseman Gil Hodges to Al Moran, the shortstop covering third, nailed the speeding Brock.

Bob Miller, who survived a 1-12 season with the Mets and was traded to Los Angeles, exceeded his 1962 victory total as he won his second with a five-hitter in the Dodgers 7-1 triumph over Cincinnati. The Dodgers have won five of six, not quite up the Mets' pace.

Elsewhere, San Francisco moved into a tie with St. Louis for first place in the National League by beating the Cards 8-4, and Houston beat Milwaukee 7-5 on fine performances by three former Braves. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

John Roseboro, Willie Davis and Ron Fairly backed Miller's pitching with homers off Joey Jay, who has lost four without winning. Fairly collected three hits in four trips and drove in four runs.

* * *

The Giants moved out front to stay in the second inning when Orlando Cepeda hit a solo homer and Ed Bailey connected with one on. Bailey, veteran catcher starting for the first time this season, also singled home a run in the third inning off loser Ray Sadecki. Billy O'Dell was the San Francisco starter, but the victory went to reliever Bob Bolin. Curt Flood homered for the Cardinals.

Former Braves Don Nottebart, Don McMahon and Al Spanger did most of the damage for the Colts. Nottebart won his third without a loss with help from McMahon while Spangler singled in the run that snapped a 2-2 tie as Houston came up with five runs and tagged Hank Fischer with the defeat. Bob Aspromonte homered for the Colts while Joe Torre connected for Milwaukee.

Barons Post Net Win

'Iron Man' Has Irons Working for Early Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The fellow they call "the iron man' of the golf tour—Bruce Crampton of Australia—took the lead in the $30,000 Texas Open Thursday and observed that it was just like last year.

Crampton, who plays in more tournaments than any other regular on the tour—he was in 38 straight in 1962 and is in his 16th straight this year, said he didn't really get started until this same tournament a year ago.

Gene Bone of Pontiac was six strokes behind as he fired 36-34—70 for the opening round.

Thereafter, he stepped out and won himself $31,000, including first place in the Motor City Open at Detroit.

Thursday, Crampton was sensational with his irons as he carved a 7-under-par 64 out of the 6,775-yard Oak Hills Country Club course for a 2-stroke lead over four other hotshots—Phil Rodgers, Tommy Aaron, Johnny Pott and Don January.

Milford, Captains Nab Golf Triumphs

The Redskins did not lose a match. Larry Hoy took medalist honors with a 41 while the high man for the winners, Pete Castle, had 45. The Trojans low shooter was Dennis Watson with 48.

St. Fred's lost a close match to Kettering, 224-225. Chuck Dean, Tom Bradley and Dean Morris all came in with 44s but the winners' Mike Kimmerer was one stroke better for medalist honors and the difference in the meet.

Bloomfield Hills has won 41 consecutive matches in the Wayne-Oakland gold league but only nipped Milford by two strokes in a recent quadrangular meet. Today's meet will be on the Redskins' course.

WHEN YOU NEED SHOCK ABSORBERS

How do you know when your shocks are dangerously bad? Your car "bottoms" on bumps. "Lurches" at stops. "Leans" on curves. The tires wear unevenly. Ask a United Delco serviceman to check your car now. He can spot trouble before it begins. He recommends Delco Superide shock absorbers. They have a nylon-skirted piston which prevents metal-to-metal wear between piston and cylinder. Your car rides smoother longer.

Delco Superide shock absorbers (for normal use) and Delco Superlift shock absorbers (for extra-heavy loads) are distributed nationally through United Delco.

Steels Take Minor Losses

Stock Mart Moves Irregularly

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market moved irregularly early today in moderately active trading.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional.

Minor losses were taken by steels, motors, and aerospace issues. The trend was firmer among tobaccos, electrical equipments, and utilities.

U.S. Steel, yesterday's most active issue, resumed its decline with a fractional loss. It reports on first o quarter results next week. Bethlehem, whose quarterly profits are about half the year ago figure, also lost a fraction in routine dealings.

* * *

Still responding to higher sugar prices, South Puerto Rico Sugar added another point.

American Agricultural Chemical dipped fractionally in further profit taking on Wednesday's spurt in the stock of new Continental Oil plans to acquire its assets.

Polaroid fell more than a point. Fractional losers included Texaco, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Great Western Financial, Allied Chemical, Air Reduction, Phelps Dodge and General Dynamics.

* * *

Prices were irregular on the American Stock exchange. Gainers included Insurance Co. of America, Wood Newspaper Machinery, and South Coast Corp.

* * *

Among losers were Louisiana Land, Molybednum, and General Plywood.
