U.S. to Accept Half Payment for Navy Plane

Concession May Ease Probable Tension at Geneva Conference

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said today the desire to create "as friendly an atmosphere as possible" for the July 18 Geneva conference was the major reason behind U.S. acceptance of partial Soviet payment for the destruction of a U.S. Navy plane last month.

"Our government is giving the top-level conference every chance to succeed," Aiken said of U.S. agreement that Russia pay only half of the full amount of damage originally asked.

The Russians had offered the half payment and apologized for the incident.

A foreign relations committeeman, Aiken in an interview also said he understood there was some question about the precise location of the U.S. Neptune, on patrol duty over a narrow stretch of international water between U.S.-owned St. Lawrence Island and Russian Siberia.

Moscow had raised that point. The State Department yesterday reiterated the U.S. contention that the plane was over international waters when attacked by Russian aircraft. The plane crashlanded and burned on St. Lawrence Island. Seven of the 11 crewmen were injured.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), also a foreign relations committeeman, told a reporter:

"It seems to me the Soviet Union made quite a concession in offering to pay anything at all and in apologizing. . . .

"Certainly, this is the first Russian concession of that kind made in many, many years. It's a step in the right direction."

A State Department spokesman indicated that Russia will be billed for 50 per cent of the costs when the total monetary loss has been determined.

Answer to last week's Bonanzagram appears on page 26; current Bonanzagram is on page 31.

64,000,000 Worked in June

Nation's Employment Hits 64 Million Peak in June

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than 64 million Americans were employed in June, the greatest number in the nation's history, the Commerce and Labor Departments reported today.

Unemployment, on the other hand, increased by only 190,000 to a total of 2,679,000. This was one of the smallest increases for the month of June since World War II.

Young job seekers were dumped on the labor market by the closing of schools, as is usual in June, but this was offset by rising adult employment on farms and vigorous rehiring in booming industries.

The June employment total of 64,016,000 compared with 62,073,000 in May.

The number of job holders has climbed to four million from the winter low point, about a million more than the normal spring expansion.

Manufacturing employment continued its sharp rise, climbing by 148,000 to 16½ million in spite of scattered work stopages in metal products plants.

Chicago Police Hunt Sex Fiend

Child Attack Appalls City; Dragnet Spreads for 'Mad Dog' Killer

CHICAGO (INS)—A "mad dog" killer was hunted by Chicago police today for the sex murder of eight-year-old Mary Manzo.

* * *

The body of Mary Manzo was found yesterday under a railroad overpass 12 blocks from her home. She had vanished Monday night after being sent to a drug store to purchase a nipple for a baby bottle.

Police said her killer subjected her to sex attacks and then struck her across the side of the head.

More than a hundred policemen searched the area near her home for clues. A man who was seen talking to the Manzo girl was sought for questioning. It is believed he may have given her a ride in his car.

Homicide detectives said they believe Mary had been attacked and slain elsewhere and her body then carried into the underpass last night.

Icy Street at 97

ENID, Okla. (AP) — The thermometer registered 97 yesterday when police clerk Paul Hickman answered the phone. The caller said: "Intersection at Willow and Grand is covered with ice." It was. Patrolmen found ice all over the place. An ice truck had lost nearly a ton of ice as it pulled away from the intersection.

Makes Appeal for 1,200 Good Cherry Pickers

DETROIT (AP) — Wanted: 1,200 cherry pickers. Good wages: adults can earn $12 a day and expert youthful pickers from $10 to $12.

Max M. Horton, director of the Michigan employment, appealed today for groups of cherry pickers to help harvest the early cherry crop at Traverse City.

Horton suggested that family groups, Boy Scout troops and other youth organizations under adult leaders take part in the harvest that is expected to last about three weeks.

Cherry pickers were advised to arrive in Traverse City not later than Monday, July 18.

Employers will provide housing but workers will have to bring their own bedding and cooking equipment.

Zuverink Purchased by Baltimore Team

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers sold pitcher George Zuverink on waivers to the Baltimore Orioles today.

Zuverink's sale, for the $10,000 waiver price, cut the Tigers roster to one under the player limit.

Detroit gave up on Zuverink after a year and a half's trial. The 28-year-old big boy from Holland, Mich. was acquired from Cincinnati.

Zuverink had a 9-13 record for Detroit last year. This year he was 0-5 for 14 appearances and had a 7.07 earned run average.

Back to Work Move Approved by Bus Drivers

End Wildcat Walkout Which Stranded Riders This Morning

Striking Greyhound suburban bus drivers returned to work this afternoon, ending a walkout which stranded thousands of bus riders at points between Pontiac, Birmingham, and Detroit.

The wildcat strike began at 4:30 a.m. today when drivers, complaining of company regulations which forced them to wear their neckties during the current heat wave, failed to drive their buses from the garage in Birmingham.

The Pontiac-Detroit route handles an estimated 30,000 passengers daily, and many lined the curbs in vain this morning as the surprise walkout left them stranded.

After a three-hour meeting with the drivers late this morning, AFL union president William Marshall said the drivers voted unanimously to go back to work.

The first bus began picking up passengers about 12:45 p.m. The regular schedule will be resumed tomorrow, officials stated.

Also listed as a cause of the strike was a new routing into Detroit, which drivers claimed forces them to exceed speed limits to maintain the schule.

Drivers said the scheduling requires them to drive 43 miles per hour, more than Highland Park's speed limit of 25 miles per hour Detroit's 30, and Royal Oak's 25.

Those who turned out for the meeting were split about 50-50 in wearing ties, despite the muggy weather.

Marshall said the drivers decided to operate their buses without violating the speed laws to maintain the schedule. Drivers had also charged the buses were being overloaded, beyond the right number for safety and courtesy.

"The grievances will now be taken up with the company through the regular channel," Marshall stated.

Birmingham Division Manager Everett Farr and Greyhound vice-president L. J. Stewart said no demands had actually been made by the drivers. Stewart added that the necktie rule was nothing new, and had been in force for some time.

All Mail Is Hot on Days Like Today

AND ALSO THE MAILMAN — If you think your job is a hot one, consider the city's faithful mailmen. Their routes must be covered each day regardless of the temperature. Humid Weather Plagues Nation for Eighth Day

Possible Relief Seen for Melting Residents Sunday, Monday

The oppressive heat wave which has blanketed Pontiac and much of the nation today entered its eighth blistering day.

Scattered thundershowers today, tonight and tomorrow are not expected to ease the mercury's feverish cavortings—tomorrow's high will be in the 86-92 degree range, similar to today's readings.

Despite the lengthening chain of hot, muggy days, the Pontiac water situation remains normal, city officials said. Consumption was up yesterday to 18,000,000 gallons, an increase of a million from the day before, but still well within the system's capacity.

A slight break may come Sunday. The U. S. Weather Bureau's 5-day forecast says it will become a little cooler then and Monday.

The same torrid weather which has covered this area has enveloped much of the eastern half of the country for more than a week. It also was hot in some western areas, but the Pacific Northwest so far has escaped.

Oakland County farmers, meanwhile, are viewing the weather situation with mixed feelings, depending on what crops they are growing.

Those growing vegetables in light, sandy soil are beginning to feel the pinch, according to Lyle Abel, county agricultural extension agent. Corn growers, on the other hand, are watching their crops grow "at a tremendous rate, where they have had moisture," Abel said.

"We have had enough showers through the area so that most farms are holding up quite well," Abel said. "We could certainly stand a good rain, but these showers have helped tremendously.

Lowest temperature during the night was 70 and yesterday's high was 89 degrees.

The official forecast calls for partly cloudy skies, continued hot and humid weather, with scattered thundershowers late today, tonight and tomorrow.

Mercury reading at 8 a.m. today was 70. The 2 p.m. temperature was 89 degrees.

Nike Site Selected

PORT HURON (AP) — A site in Cottrellville Township, halfway between Algonac and Marine City, has been chosen for a Nike guided missile base. Col. Arthur C. Norman of the U.S. Corps of engineers said a proposed site in Algonac State Park was rejected because of poor soil conditions.

Lake Orion Pair Tells of Thefts

Two Implicate Others in Five Safe Robberies Involving $1,500

Two Lake Orion men, nabbed in the act of stealing a safe from a Holly auto agency Wednesday night, waived examination when they were arraigned today before Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib.

Both were being held in Oakland County jail on $2,500 bonds pending Circuit Court arraignment Monday.

The pair, Robert Jackson, 22, and Jack Young, 24, admitted the breakin and five other safe thefts yesterday after more than five hours of police grilling. They also implicated two other men in the crimes.

Detectives today are questioning the two new suspects, one from Lake Orion and the other from Clarkston. Both have denied taking part in the thefts.

Both Jackson, a crane operator and father of two, and Young, a metal polisher and father of one child, admitted taking safes from auto agencies at Lake Orion, Oxford, Rochester, Lapeer and Davison.

In each case, they said, they moved the safes in cars or trucks stolen from the agencies.

The pair was arrested by Holly Patrolmen William Wood and Wilbert Lankin, who noticed the safe was missing from its usual place when they checked the building.

Cooperation between Oakland County Sheriff's officers, Lapeer County Sheriff's deputies, and police in Davison, Rochester, Holly, Oxford, Lake Orion, as well as State Police was credited with apprehending the suspects.

Decide Mystery Sinking Hoax, Call Off Search

NEW YORK (INS)—The Coast Guard today called off after 31 hours its search for a phantom fishing vessel that supposedly sank and burned off the New Jersey coast with 21 persons aboard early yesterday.

In halting the dramatic air-sea search that began with the first distress call at 2:15 a.m. EDT Thursday, Capt. Julius Jaycott, Coast Guard chief of operations for the district, ruled officially that the distress calls were "a hoax."

Convicts Spend Night Outside

Prisoners Get Airing While Guards Search Cells After Revolt

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—The bulk of 1,700 inmates at Washington State Prison traded bars for stars last night—and didn't like it—as they reaped the first fruits of their two-day revolt.

Meanwhile, penitentiary officials harvested another crop—of weapons, broken glass and damaged fixtures, toting up a bill that may run into six figures.

Jammed cell locks and other damage plus the slow job of shaking down the whole prison for hidden weapons kept the prisoners outdoors last night, milling about on an athletic field within the walls.

Around them stood guards and state patrolmen carrying guns and clubs, alert against any revival of the revolt which started Tuesday with the seizure of nine hostages and control of most of the prison.

The prisoners were herded outdoors yesterday after guards objected to trying a cell check with inmates in them.

Officials ordered the 33 tough convicts who sparked the revolt into cells with new locking devices.

The cell shakedown produced large piles of weapons ranging from clubs to meat cleavers. A personal search of the 1,700-odd prisoners will be made before they are returned to cells.

Officials said original damage estimates were too conservative, that the rampages cost may go as high as $150,000. This includes ruined locks, broken windows, damage to cells, fixtures and plumbing, loosened bricks and battered doors and machinery.

Furgol, Nelson Well Back in British Open

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Ed Furgol of Clayton, Mo., the 1954 American Open champion, shot a 73 on his final round in the Britsh Open golf championship today and finished far out of the running with a 72-hole total of 292.

Johnny Fallon of Scotland already was in with 283 when Furgol finished but wasn't expected to hold the lead as Frank Jowle and Australia's defending champion Peter Thomson continued to shoot brilliant golf over the St. Andrews Old Course.

Thomson, leader at 54 holes with 209, started the final round with a four-stroke edge over Fallon. Jowle, who shot a 69 on the third round this morning for a 210 total shot the front nine of the final round in 35, one under par.

Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Tex., 1939 American Open champion who shot himself clear out of the running with a 78 this morning, came back with a final round of 71 and a 296.

Steelworkers Take Over Work on Mackinac Bridge

ST. IGNACE (AP) — The curtain is going up on a new act in the Paul Bunyan-esque construction of the Straits of Mackinac Bridge, linking Michigan's Upper and Lower Peninsulas.

Cat-footed steelworkers are taking over the scene from the cement construction gangs as the anchor sections of the bridge superstructures are set in place.

Iron workers, whose hard safety hats bear the AB insignia of American Bridge Co., have begun to replace crewmen whose hats carry the MCS of Merritt-Chapman & Scott, contractors.

Dan Kline, project manager for American Bridge, said first steel was placed on the bridge foundations last week when cable anchor bars were erected on Pier 22.

* * *

The main tower piers — 19 and 20 — are completed. Spokesmen said only minor concrete work on them remains. Their completion marks eight months of grueling construction work, including the loss of two lives.

WEATHER BATTLE

A tremendous battle against the elements was fought to place the huge caissons for the main tower piers at 203 and 206 feet below the straits.

* * *

Officials say construction now is ahead of schedule and workers now have Sundays free.

Meanwhile, the coming of the steelworkers has brought a new sound which is expected to be heard above the straits for the next two years. Riveting machines have begun tattooing steel studs into the cable anchors at Piers 17 and 22 — each as large as half a city block.

The clatter forms background music for the sure-footed ironworkers who guide the big steel bars into place. Each of the cable anchorages weighs 5 tons. They hold the strands of cable that make up the massive suspension cables of the main span.

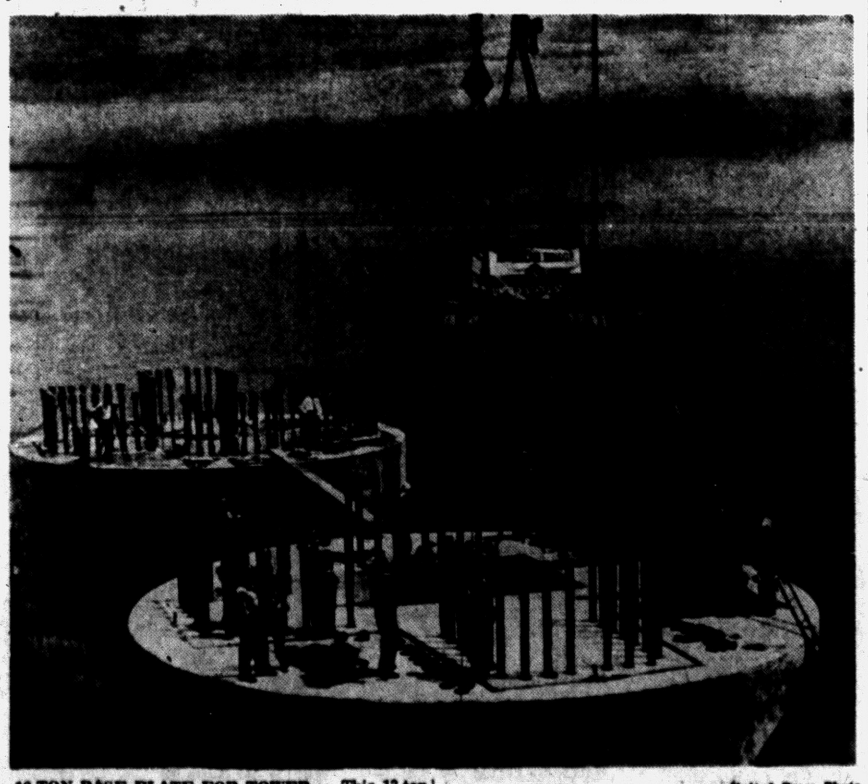

The position of every anchor bolt is determined by squads of surveyors who compare readings by "walkie-talkie" radio with other surveying parties as bolt locations are pinpointed.

WORKERS RETURN

Construction officials say some workers, whose Merritt-Chapman & Scott jobs are finished, have returned as American Bridge Employes.

Other workers are conferring with union officials for a chance to switch when they receive word that their jobs are completed.

The new scene shows big steel jutting into the air. Soon its shadow will fall on the ferries crossing the straits to mark another Paul Bunyan step in the peninsula linkage.

13-TON BASE PLATE FOR TOWER — This 13-ton base plate section is lowered into place on tower foundation in preparation for erection of first vertical steel on $100,000,000 Mackinac Bridge, which will be world's longest suspension span when completed in November, 1957. Tower to be built on top of base plates will be 552 feet high.

Crafty 'Gator Still Victor as Hunters Comb Waters

While the alligator in Lower Long Lake seems to be waging a winning battle against local 'gator hunters, new complexities have arisen.

Detective Ray McConnell of the Romeo State Police said he got a tip from an anonymous caller that may throw new light on the 'gator case.

A man reported that someone asked his youngster several weeks ago if he wanted a small alligator as a pet.

The offer was refused. Whether or not that's the 'gator in the lake, no one knows. Police are investigating.

Meanwhile, the search continues. The 'gator's tactics have been simple — he just lies on the bottom of the lake and gazes up at the boats zig-zagging across the surface.

Everyone from professional 'gator handlers, hopeful newsmen, and police armed with Mausers are peering into the waters, hoping to catch a glimpse of the elusive beast.

Patience is wearing thin, along the roster of contestants. Many supposedly sure-fire methods for catching 'gators have been put into action, and failed.

Two more methods for capturing this center of attention have been advanced by local experts.

Submerging a large bell beneath a boat, and setting up loud underwater vibration by tolling it back and forth across the lake is one new idea. The noise might envoke curiosity.

A second method would be to import an alligator from a local zoo, and try to lure the interloper into surfacing for a little companionship.

Mrs. William O. Singleton, whose five-year-old son Danny first saw the beast, said conservation officers will arrive on the scene tomorrow to see what they can do to lure the thing from its hiding place.

"I think the chances of catching the 'gator are better if there's not so much activity on the lake. With only a few boats in the search, the alligator might surface," Mrs. Singleton remarked.

Says Stevenson Should Declare

Gov. Williams Wants Adlai to Say Whether He'll Run in 1956

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams says Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952, should publicly declare his political intentions for 1956.

The Chicago Sun-Times quoted the Michigan governor as saying in an interview yesterday, "I think the time is coming for Stevenson to let the people know where he stands in the 1956 White House race."

Gov. Williams declared Stevenson has an obligation "both to the people and to the Democratic party" to declare his political plans.

Stevenson, a former governor of Illinois, has declined to announce whether he would seek a second chance to run against President Eisenhower. His friends have said he plans to run if his party wants him. Stevenson was not available for comment on Williams' comments.

The Sun-Times reported Williams said Stevenson should let the Democratic Party chieftains know if he doesn't plan to seek the nomination. Williams said time is needed for party leaders to review other possible candidates.

Williams, a four-time governor of Michigan, has been mentioned as a possible candidate. He said, however, that he is not now a candidate but would be "honored to be a nominee, as would any American."

Nab Pair in Detroit for Bank Robbery

DETROIT (AP) — A 27-year-old man and a 17-year-old girl wanted in a $23,000 Cleveland bank robbery were arrested in a drawn-gun raid on a Detroit apartment house by FBI agents last midnight.

Captured were Louis Emery Teller and Lora Lee Ritenour, wanted in the Jan. 14 stickup of the Cleveland Trust Co. branch at Detroit and 101 streets.

Five families on the same apartment house floor were evacated as FBI men closed in, fearful of a gun fight with the pair.

Warned they were surrounded and ordered to come out, Teller and his girl friend surrendered peacefully, Detroit FBI Chief Fred H. McIntire said.

Evacuation of other apartments was carried out so quietly that their suspicions were not aroused.

Union Okays Contract With Square D Co.

DETROIT (AP) — A quiet wage settlement has been reached between the Square D Co. and the United Electrical Workers (Independent), adversaries in a violent 107-day strike last year.

The unannounced settlement, in sharp coritrast to the bitter contract dispute, was in line with the wage pattern established last month by the CIO United Auto Workers with Ford and General Motors.

All 1,200 employes will get a general six-cent hourly pay increase. Skilled workers will get an additional 8 to 10 cents an hour.

Give Plea of Innocent on Pandering Charge

Charged with pandering, Manie Edmonds, 38, of 39 Maple St., pleaded innocent when he was arraigned yesterday in Municipal Court.

He was returned to jail on a $2,000 bond set by Judge Cecil McCallum pending examination.

Edmonds, an employe of a downtown hotel, was arrested Tuesday with two others who face lesser charges by Pontiac Police Vice Squad members Sgt. Donny Ashley and Detective Herb Cooley.

Doctors Order Long Rest for Ailing Senate Leader

WASHINGTON (AP)—Associates of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) agreed today he had little warning before he was stricken by a serious heart attack last weekend.

Johnson, now under strict orders to rest and relax, is in the Naval Medical Center at nearby Bethesda, Md. Hospital attaches said he had his "best day" yesterday since the attack Saturday. He was described as making "steady progress."

* * *

Johnson was understood to have pushed himself in recent weeks in an effort to wind up Senate business preparatory to adjournment expected around Aug. 1.

Although he was scheduled to take a day off last Saturday, he met with a small group of newsmen in the early afternoon. This is a customary routine for Senate leaders.

* * *

An aide said Johnson noticed brief pains several times recently, but thought nothing of them.

Dr. James C. Cain, a personal friend of Johnson who flew here to help him, told newsmen that even if Johnson had been checked by physicians at the time, they probably could not have diagnosed the impending attack.

After talking with the newsmen, Johnson got in his chauffeur-driven limousine for a drive of about 50 miles to the Middleburg, Va., home of George Brown, a Houston industrialist and a long-time friend.

The Senate leader suffered the heart attack on that drive and a doctor was called to the Brown estate. Later, Johnson was rushed by ambulance to the Naval Hospital.

Dr. Cain said Johnson is cooperating in a program of several months of rest and recuperation.

A few senators who have visited him in the hospital reported Johnson as cheerful, but finding it difficult to avoid discussing Senate matters he was handling when stricken.

640-Pound Bell in Front Yard Tolls Trouble

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Carl Bjorkman was happy with his bells—including a 640-pound one—until yesterday.

That's when a new neighbor, Mrs. Grace F. Hart, had him arrested on charges of disturbing the peace. She doesn't like the 640-pound bell.

Bjorkman, an accountant who collects bells as a hobby, obtained the 640-pounder from an old courthouse. He put it in his front yard and hooked it up with an electrical clock.

"It rings all day and all night," Mrs. Hart complained. "It's just terrible. I'm a light sleeper. It rings the hour and wakes me up. Then when I get back to sleep, it's time for the half hour and it wakes me up again."

Bjorkman, free on bond awaiting a hearing Monday, says he can't understand why anyone wouldn't like his bell.

"The high school and several churches have them and I never hear any complaints," he said.

He insisted he's not going to disconnect his without a court order, adding: "That would be a confession of guilt."

So the bell is still ringing—every hour and every half hour, too.

Driver Questioned in Royal Oak Death

A Royal Oak driver is being held today for questioning in the early morning death of 19-year-old Joan Gizinski of Detroit, who was crushed between two parked trailer vans.

Police said John E. Wigle, 29, told them the accident happened as he backed his car into one of the vans in a Chrysler Corp. trucking lot, where unknown to him, Miss Gizinski had hidden in a game of hide-and-seek.

Wigle told police the game ensued after he offered the victim and two friends, Dolores Alger, 17, and her sister, Diana, 15, a ride on his way home from work from Chrysler's at 3 a.m. Miss Gizinski and her friends, all pajama-clad, were sitting on the Alger porch, when he recognized her, he said.

Pontiac Auto Dealers Set New Sales High

Pontiac dealers delivered at retail 18,213 new cars during the last ten days in June, a new high sales for the period and an all-time sales record for June, R. M. Critchfield, General Motors Vice President and Pontiac General Manager, announced today.

The sales figure brings total Pontiac sales for the month of June to 49,219 new units. It represents a 64 per cent increase over Pontiac sales during June, 1954.

Pontiac Zone also set an all-time record for this area delivering 1,863 cars in the last ten days.

Uranium Fever Hits in Upper Peninsula

ISHPEMING (AP)—L. P. Barrett, manager of the Atomic Energy Commission office here, reports that "numbers" of uranium prospectors have been asking information recently on western Upper Peninsula counties.

"Some days," Barrett said, "three or four groups ask for information. If the prospecting fever keeps up this pace all summer, the northland will see a lot of prospectors."

No commercial deposits of uranium have been found in Michigan and State Conservation Department geologists have reported there probably is none.

HOLLAND (AP)—City Council has awarded a $794,629 in contracts for construction of a proposed new addition at Holland Hospital. The structure will boost the hospital's capacity to 125 beds besides providing other facilities and equipment.

House Fight Seen Over $1 Wage Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders said today they still have a good chance to salvage President Eisenhower's proposal for a 90-cents-an-hour minimum wage.

The House Education and Labor Committee yesterday defeated the Eisenhower plan on a 13-13 tie vote and approved instead, 21-9, a Democratic bill to increase the minimum to $1 from the present 75 cents.

Key Republicans predicted a lively House floor scrap next week. They said they expect strong support from southern Democrats for the 90-cent figure.

* * *

If administration officials put up a vigorous fight, these Republicans said, they probably will be able to pass the figure the White House requested.

The Senate already has approved an increase to $1. Republicans suggested an eventual compromise could put the 90-cent minimum into effect next year and $1 in later years

GOP House members said White House officials have expressed concern that raising the minimum above 90 cents in a single step would unduly burden some industries and could drive many small firms out of business.

Re-enlistment Bonus Proposed

Russell Attacks Present Compulsory Reserve Duty for Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga) moved today to prevent compulsory reserve training for veterans. He proposed instead a $400 "bonus" for any veteran who volunteers for three years of active reserve training with "combat units of the Army or Marine Corps."

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, thus proposed a drastic change in President Eisenhower's program to strengthen military reserves. The program is aimed at building the present 700,000-man force to 2,900,000 by 1960.

As passed by the House, the bill would provide that a reservist who fails to keep up with his training schedule may be recalled for 45 days of active duty.

Under present law, a service man is supposed to serve eight years of active and reserve duty, but reserve training has not been enforced. The House-passed bill would cut the total to six years.

Russell contends that 800,000 World War II veterans were recalled in the Korean War while many young men with no prior military service escaped duty altogether.

Estate of McLouth Partially Distributed

A partial distribution of the estate of Donald B. McLouth, Detroit steel magnate, has been authorized by Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore. It amounts of $2,600,000.

Bulk of the estate—$2,300,000—went to his widow, Amy, who lives in Pleasant Ridge. Three $50,000 shares went to three brothers, including L. Newton McLouth, of 1514 Northlawn, Birmingham.

Other parcels of $25,000 each went to four nephews and two nices. The grants to the brothers and nephews and nieces were in stock.

According to court officials, there remains in the estate $3,700,000 in cash and bonds, plus property.

Oakland County Extern Trainees Start Sixth Week

Three men are going into their sixth week as extern trainees assigned to the Oakland County Department of Health.

Two medical students and one veterinary student will participate in the state Public Health program until the latter part of August.

The three trainees are: Lewis Crawford, 1625 Sunset Blvd., Royal Oak, a senior medical student at Wayne University; Paul Rosebolt, 32525 Six Mile Rd., senior medical student at the University of Michigan, and Val Van Gieson of Walled Lake, a veterinary senior at Michigan State University.

The training consists in participation and observation of routine health department activities, including field visits and specialized projects in research and service.

The tuberculosis surveys and case findings, heart disease surveys and facilities in the area prepared to care for the chronically afflicted are part of the program.

The veterinary student will be concerned with regular public health veterinary services dealing with meat and food inspection.

The two medical externs will serve at the South Oakland County Health Center for the remainder of their training period.

Social Welfare Aid Shows June Drop

Improvement in the economic health of this area in recent weks is reflected in the smaller number of persons serviced by the Oakland County Social Welfare Commission.

Individuals receiving aid during June totaled 2,910, a drop of 1,008 persons who were serviced in May.

The welfare case load for June was 1,062 for the county, a reduction of 336 from the May total. City cases during June amounted to 304.

The commission handles problems of persons in the county who are in need because of sickness, loss of income, disability or other reasons, and who are not eligible for federal aid.

Their surplus food commodities are furnished by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture in cooperation with the distribution section of the Michigan Dept. of Administration.

Two Crash Out of Tuscola Jail

Youthful Pair Assault Turnkey, Flee After Being Sentenced

CARO (AP) — Two young prisoners described as dangerous beat up the turnkey and escaped from the Tuscola County Jail early today.

The fugitives are Fred Doyle, 21, and Jim Putnam, 17, who were in circuit court for sentencing Wednesday.

Doyle was sentenced to 7½ to 15 years in Southern Michigan Prison for breaking and entering. Putnam was sentenced to 60 days in jail for violation of probation following his arrest on a breaking and entering charge.

The prisoners asked the turnkey, Deputy Sheriff Ernest Kidder, 62, about 12:30 a.m. for some aspirin. When Kidder opened the door leading to the cellblock, the youths pounced on him and pummeled him with their fists.

They fled out the front door of the jail.

Kidder was treated by a physician but he was not seriously injured.

Deputy Sheriff Clarence Schroeder said the youths were believed to be in a desperate mood because they had been told by the court Wednesday they would be dealt with sternly if they got into further trouble.

Funeral Set Monday for Drowning Victim

Funeral service for Allan M. Hessell, 22, who drowned yesterday in Walters Lake, has been scheduled for Monday at the Spiller-Gramer Funeral Home, Clawson.

Hessell, who lived at 168 N. Astor St., Pontiac, drowned while diving from a diving raft with his brother, Harbey, 15, and a friend, Harold Blanchard, 19, of Rochester.

They told Deputy Sheriff Harry Maur that Allan, who could not swim, failed to come up after jumping into the water.

The body was recovered shortly after noon in 15 feet of water by Independence Township Firemen.

City Nurse Debunks Talk, Gives Cool Cues on Heat

BIRMINGHAM—Housewives and husbands alike are trying to beat the heat these days and helping to take some of the frenzy out of the problem is Mrs. Doris Donaldson, assistant city health nurse.

She quoted from bulletins issued by the Michigan Department of Health, plus giving what she termed strictly her own opinions yesterday, in an effort to straighten out old wives' tales that sometimes cause more confusion than comfort.

Ever been told by someone that there's nothing like a cold shower to do the trick, only to turn around and have someone else recommend a hot one?

A middle-of-the-road policy is what Mrs. Donaldson follows. "Water of a moderate temperature is best, so it's not such a shock to your system," she said.

MEALS HOT OR COLD

Then there's the question of hot or cold meals. Here she read excerpts from a state health pamphlet which said, "hot or cold, meals should be well-balanced." While a cold meal of this type is adequate, "a vitamin of satisfaction is often supplied" with the inclusion of a hot soup or beverage.

The theory that one needs less food in the summer is not necessarily true, either, the booklet showed. A working person coming home to garden or get in nine holes at the golf course, needs more food than someone able to relax all day.

Hot drinks versus cold drinks is another subject for debate, but Mrs. Donaldson had this to offer: After a strenuous activity, don't drink too great an amount or too cold a beverage.

KEEPING TOTS COOL

Try keeping youngsters out of the sun's hottest rays, suggesting they play under the shade of a tree, recommends the health official, and enforce a daily rest period. In the heat of the day, a loose blouse or shirt should protect their bodies.

As for your house, Mrs. Donaldson says she keeps the shades drawn and windows down where the sun is coming in, with the rest of the windows up for ventilation. And a fan is fine, as long as you don't aim it directly on yourself.

How was Mrs. Donaldson feeling?

"Hot!"

City Manager Donald C. Egbert is still in Beaumont Hospital following injuries in an auto accident on June 27 in which he suffered a broken leg, but says he hopes to return to his home on Frank street sometime next week.

Meanwhile Egbert has set up a temporary "office" in his hospital room. His secretary, Mrs. Marjorie Hale, has armed him with a dictaphone and a sheaf of papers requested from his Municipal Building files.

Dulles Believes Reds Weakened

His Views Conflict With Those Expressed by Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' June 10 comment that the Russian economic system "is on the point of collapsing" raised new questions today of Soviet aims and strength at the July 18 summit conference.

* * *

Dulles expressed his view in testimony made public yesterday by the House Appropriations Committee. He said the Soviets are "over-expanded, unable to meet their commitments," and are seeking "some respite against strains" of trying to keep pace with the West.

Release of his testimony, given in connection with foreign aid appropriations, brought up again the question whether the Russians will be negotiating from strength or weakness at the Geneva conference of President Eisenhower and the Prime Ministers of Russia, Britain and France.

* * *

The testimony which was released did not show Dulles giving any details about possible Russian collapse.

Nikita Khrushchev, Russian Communist Party leader, took occasion recently to comment that the Western nations would be disappointed if they believed Russia was going to the Big Four meeting in weakness. Such an attitude, he said, might foredoom the conference.

* * *

Asked about the Khrushchev statement, President Eisenhower said at his news conference Wednesday that "so far as I know there is no individual in this government that has ever said that the Russians, the Soviets, are coming to any conference weak.

"Of course, we recognize their great military strength in the world."

* * *

The State Department declined to comment last night when asked how the Dulles and Eisenhower comments could be reconciled.

Police Probing 'Wealthy' Pair

Hold Two Men Who Flashed Large Rolls of $100 Bills

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Two men brightening the dice tables with new $100 bills touched off a transcontinental police investigation of their possible connection with the biggest cash bank robbery on record.

New York police summoned victims of the bank robbery to view photographs of the two today. And experts are checking their fingerprints in search of a link with gunmen who took $305,000 from a Chase Manhattan Bank in Queens, N.Y., last April 6.

Police here arrested Frank Ellsworth, 36, and Ray Wilson, 33, after casino cashiers told how they moved from one gaming table to another, buying chips with crisp $100 bills.

Dective Lt. B. J. Handlon said Ellsworth had 61 hundred-dollar bills and Wilson 91 when they were picked up here yesterday.

Ellsworth said he sold magazine subscriptions. Wilson said he was a clothier. Police searched their room in a luxury hotel. All told they found more than $87,000.

Liquor Law Violator Must Attend Church

WALDO, Wis. (AP)—Because of liquor law convictions, tavern operator Sam Zolp will have to go to church every Sunday for a year.

In Circuit Judge F. H. Schlichting's court, Sam was charged with letting a minor loiter in his tavern, selling liquor to two minors and selling beer to a minor.

Schlichting placed Zolp on probation, ordered his licenses revoked and said if he fails to attend church as prescribed he will have to spend his probationary period in jail.

Policemen, Firemen Fight Merit System

LANSING AP — Lansing policemen and firemen, seeking abolishment of their controversial merit system, have asked city officials to meet with them for a bargaining session.

Local chapters of the AFL International Association of Fire Fighters and the CIO Organization of Government and Civic Employes asked the City Board of Police and Fire Commissioners for the meeting at an early date.

Principal aim of the union groups representing the policemen and firemen is junking of the merit system. The system, adopted by the City Council, would provide salary increases on a merit basis of from $60 to $120 for some employes while allowing nothing for others.

The union groups said only four other Michigan cities, all with smaller populations than Lansing, now have the merit system.

The two groups also are seeking salary increases, improved clothing allowances, seniority agreements and other fringe benefits.

That's an Asset?

PEKIN, Ill. UP—James Everett Pherigo listed "one black cat" among his assets on his bankruptcy petition. Pherigo, a lumberman, used the space reserved for farmers to list livestock. He gave the cat's value at $.00.

Flagpole Sitter Will End Career With New Record

HERMOSA BEACH, Calif. UP—The fellow perched on the pole today says he's up there because it's the quickest way to land—about five acres of it.

William (Happy) Howard, 35, calls himself America's flagpole sitting champion and says no one has challenged his mark of 196 days, set at Portland, Ore., in 1952.

"I've been up here 12 days," he said yesterday. "I'm going to try and stay a year. But this is my final curtain in show business. If I make any money I'm going to get a five-acre tract of land and try to raise chickens."

The publicity stunt is for an automobile firm. Howard has an "apartment" about 5 by 4½ feet atop the pole, equipped with telephone, radio and television.

Hungarian Farmers to Surrender All Grain

VIENNA UP—Radio Budapest announced today that Hungary's farmers must deliver their entire grain production to government collection points.

The broadcast said the Communist government's desire was necessary to "safeguard bread supplies."

Previously Hungarian peasants had been able to sell their surplus grain on the free market after fulfilling government-set quotas.

Race Ban in Parks Outlawed in Virginia

NORFOLK, Va. UP — A federal judge has ruled Virginia cannot continue racial segregation in a state-owned park hitherto reserved for whites—whether operated by the state or under private lease.

Judge Walter Hoffman ruled yesterday the state cannot deny Negroes the use of Seashore State Park near Cape Henry and cannot make any lease with a private operator that would discriminate against any race.

* * *

Authorities indicated the ruling unless upset, would prevent the lease—possibly even the sale—of public schools for private, segregated operation.

Hoffman said he was aware of "the impact of this decision on the state park system in Virginia." The state operates eight parks exclusively for whites and a ninth exclusively for Negroes.

City Furniture Dealers to Open Wednesdays

The Pontiac furniture dealers decided recently to discard the years-old policy of closing Wednesday afternoons during the months of July and August.

The days off, it was announced, will be staggered by the furniture dealers, to accommodate the public throughout the week.

Solons Favor Foreign Aid Cut

House Unit Complains of 'Chaotic Situation' in Military Program

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)— The House Appropriations Committee today recommended a 20 per cent cut, amounting to $627,900,000 in funds requested by President Eisenhower to finance the foreign aid program.

In sending to the House floor for debate next week a $2,638,741,750 money bill, the committee complained of a "chaotic fiscal situation" in the military aid part of the program

It voiced concern over last-minute obligation of funds in what it said was na obvious move to prevent them from being rescinded.

The biggest cash cut imposed by the committee was 420 million dollars choopped from the 1¼ billion requested for military assistance. The 705 millions approved, the committee said, "should prove adequate."

The committee commented in a report drafted by Rep. Passman (D-La) that estimates of unobligated balances in the military part of the program on June 30 ranged from 100 to 932 million dollars. It said the Defense Department hastily obligated 951 millions during June despite a written understanding with the committee that 420 millions of unobligated balance should not be released for "reservation" by the department.

For direct forces support, the committee recommended 305 millions, a cut of $12,220,000. This program is designed to give friendly nations military equipment other than tanks, guns and planes.

For defense support—economic aid to countries maintaining military forces—the committee allotted the full 70 millions requested for Europe and the entire 102½ millions asked for the Near East and Africa.

It cut $52,800,000 from $827,800,000 requested for Asia, noting that on April 30 this program had $1,056,800,000 in unexpended balances.

For development assistance — economic aid for underdeveloped countries — the committee recommended:

Near East and Africa, 73 millions as requested.

Asia, 61 millions, a cut of 10 millions in funds requested for India.

* * *

American republics, the entire 38 millions requested.

It allotted 125 millions of the 146½ millions requested for technical cooperation of underdeveloped areas and approved the entire 24 millions asked for United Nations technical programs.

Two Young Germans Find Americans Very Friendly

Two young German men who will be in the United States for 18 months find the American people "extremely friendly" and term this country "marvelous."

Harold H. Lemcke, a physician in Hamburg, found his hobby of photography very useful while touring the country, and his companion Dr. Ernst-Dietrich Adler, an economist and economic editor of "Die Werlt" in Hamburg, was especially interested in the journalistic aspect of the U. S. as compared to his own experiences in Germany.

"The United States," they both stated, "holds the fate of Europe. That is why it is so important that we learn and understand the American way of life."

The two, who plan to tour 42 of the 48 states, are now visiting local photographer Clyle Haskill, who was recommended to them by a mutual friend in Germany.

A comparison between German newspapers and American newspapers brought some interesting comments from Dr. Adler.

"Everyone works in a separate room in Germany," he smiled, "mainly because we love peace and quiet."

Dr. Lemcke displayed the camera which Haskill loaned the duo after their own was stolen in Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Haskill, they explained found the camera in Germany during the war, and was glad to offer it to the young men during their American sojourn.

Both Drs. Adler and Lemcke expressed great pleasure with their discoveries in this country.

"No amount of reading," said Dr. Lemcke, "can compensate for the thrill of personal experience."

Dr. Adler, who hopes someday to be a newspaper correspondent in Washington, concluded that "America would certainly be a wonderful place to live."

Food Store Chain Faces Antitrust Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell today announced a criminal antiturust indictment against Safeway Stores, Inc., operating a nationwide food chain. He said it charges conspiracy to monopolize the retail grocery business in portions of Texas and New Mexico.

The indictment was returned by a federal district court at Fort Worth, Tex.

Also named as defendants were Lingan A. Warren of Oakland, Calif., Safeway's president, and Earl Cliff, manager of the company's Dallas division.

Brownell said the three-count indictment accused the defendants of violations of both the Sherman antitrust act and the Robinson-Patman act which forbids price discriminations leading to a lessening of competition.

Veteran Gets Medals After 32-Year Wait

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Frank Lechleidner, World War I infantryman who saw action in France in 1917, has a couple of new medals from the Department of the Army.

Proudly displaying a Silver Star and Purple Heart, he said they arrived only this week, more than 32 years after they were awarded.

The 73-year-old Portlander says he was told of the decorations upon his discharge from the Army in 1923. But it took all these years and three letters to Washington, he said, before he got action. Lechleidner said the latest query was mailed two weeks ago.

There are 3,700 local chapters of the Red Cross in the United States.

The Drink of Water That Travels 320 Miles

Oakland County needs more water.

Let's do something now and not sit idly by and wait for the day when we wake up to the fact we have run out completely. Summers will continue to come with hot weather, and more and more residents are moving into the area.

The situation will not improve; instead it will continue to get worse with the influx of new homes and businesses in the area.

★ ★ ★

Strategically located in this area, water from the Great Lakes is not more than 45 miles away. Why should we be one of the 1,000 American communities that will have to curtail water?

★ ★ ★

Many areas have solved the problem at a much greater expense, such as the drink that travels 320 miles. This morning a man in Los Angeles turned on the tap in his kitchen and drew a glass of water that had traveled all the way from the Colorado River.

This water had passed through 92 miles of tunnels, 63 miles of canals and some 150 miles of pipeline.

★ ★ ★

Water is something most of us take for granted. Of all our daily needs it's the cheapest, most plentiful and the easiest to get.

Or is it?

Let's start a water program now.

Everyone is vitally interested.

An Unsolved Problem

Marginal workers always bring problems.

The thousands of migrant farm workers who travel about our country, moving north in the summertime, and going back to the southward as winter nears, are a case in point.

They fill a temporary economic need in these days when many farmers find difficulty in securing seasonal help for their fields. But they cause problems which will prove serious in later years because of the effect of a roving, unstable life on these migrant families.

Many of these workers live a gypsy's life because they lack education, skill or other attributes required to hold steady jobs. But unless something can be done to provide care and training for their children, the situation will be repeated generation after generation.

This kind of a life provides an ideal spawning place for criminals. People who are in the habit of traveling constantly have few inhibitions. They have little sense of the rights of ownership, for they own little or nothing themselves.

Their children lack proper medical care, as well as education. They learn only a smattering of work in the fields. The schools are handicapped in any effort to compel the children's attendance, because the parents in so many cases conspire with the children to evade attendance laws.

★ ★ ★

These families frequently lose all contact with religion, too, because of the roaming life they lead. The National Council of Churches sends out traveling missions to serve these people, but these missions can only scratch the surface of a problem which is national in scope.

Here is a problem which one of the great foundations might well study. Its solution would promote a healthier nation.

Learn Russian, Is Plea

For reasons of national security, college authorities are urging that more students study the Russian language.

Educators rightly are concerned by the sharp decrease in the number of such students. Since 1950 the total has decreased 35 per cent to fewer than 5,000 enrolled in these courses.

★ ★ ★

The international situation has created a growing demand for persons able to understand, read and write Russian. Military authorities, government intelligence agencies and our State Department want students with a good working knowledge of the language.

Unfortunately, however, as was the case with German during the World Wars, Russian has fallen into ill repute. Students are said to fear that studying it might involve them someday in a Congressional investigation.

Parents understandingly exert pressure against anything which might link their children with Communism. Finally, a factor which can't be ignored is the difficulty of learning Slavic languages.

★ ★ ★

There should be widespread public support of this movement. The greater the number of our students studying Russian, the better equipped the Nation will be to combat world Communism.

Ignorance of the enemy is no asset in either a cold or hot war.

There several thousand dollars is being invested in a cement block building and other equipment to provide for a reptile garden and snake farm. Crawling creatures from all parts of the world, including alligators, snakes, turtles and lizards, will be on display, according to the advance announcements, and the milking of rattlesnakes will be featured.

Some folks have the mistaken idea that 1955 Miss Pontiac, was not eligible for the Miss Michigan contest because she was a few days under 17 when she won her crown. The fact is that the Jaycees, local contest sponsors, knew Charlotte's age, but said it was OK because she would be 17 by state contest time. Then they learned she had to be 18, and she graciously withdrew. So it wasn't because she was a little under 17, but because she was a lot under 18.

The Search Continues

David Lawrence Says:

FBI Is Fulfilling Mission in Probe of Dixon-Yates

WASHINGTON—Attacks on the proper functioning of the executive branch of the government by a certain senator from Wisconsin were widely condemned by the Democrats but now they are doing the very things which they themselves criticized.

* * *

For the attack by several Democratic senators on the attorney general as having done something improper or unusual when he ordered the Federal Bureau of Investigation to send its agents on a fact-finding mission related to a possible cancellation of a government contract, is perhaps the most conspicuous exhibition of interference with executive functions by legislators that has been recorded in recent years.

The fact that the attacks were obviously launched for political purposes doesn't excuse them. What is regrettable is that men elected to the high office of senator are revealed as totally unfamiliar with some of the laws they themselves have passed.

The common impression about the FBI is that it only tracks down criminals or roots out suspected violators of the law on the criminal side. Actually, this is but one of many duties imposed by Congress on the FBI. Businessmen, for example, have long been accustomed to the daily visits of FBI agents who seek information needed by the Department of Justice in the inquiries prior to the filing of civil suits under the anti-trust laws.

DEMS RESPONSIBLE

It was a Democratic administration which delegated to the FBI the task of getting legal information with respect to the existing contract-renegotiation laws. This involves a checkup of the contents of contracts and a verification of a variety of items that can be the basis for dispute between the government and private contractors.

But the main reason for the FBI being called in to get the facts now about the proposal of the city of Memphis to build a power plant is that, because of this action, the executive branch of the federal government has under consideration the possible cancellation of a $106,000,000 contract with the Dixon-Yates organization.

If the contract is canceled, the government may be the defendant in a civil suit for damages. The Department of Justice, which gives legal advice to the President, is obligated to advise upon the liability of the government for any cancellation that is made. Every statement on which any action is predicated must be verified in advance from a legal standpoint.

It is not adequate, therefore, to send a messenger boy to Memphis to collect the documents. The government must send its authorized investigators, who must get certified copies of every piece of evidence which could possibly become the basis for litigation later on. The federal government must be prepared to show it acted in good faith and didn't play politics in canceling the Dixon-Yates agreement, if cancellation should be decided upon as the best course.

LAW IS CLEAR

In the appropriation laws governing FBI funds is to be found a provision which says the FBI is to handle "such other matters under the control of the Department of Justice as may be directed by the attorney general."

Under these grants of power, the FBI for many years has investigated all the facts connected with cases that the Department of Justice has to defend in the U. S. Court of Claims. Likewise, after the Texas City disaster, the FBI made an extensive fact-finding inquiry so as to advise the department on possible claims that might arise.

The Democrats certainly went to town with their political demagoguery. Sen. Sparkman of Alabama said the use of the FBI in the matter is "utterly ridiculous." Sen. Gore of Tennessee called it an "outrage" and said the FBI was created to "guard the nation's security and apprehend criminals" and not to be used as a "gestapo or political shock troops."

OTHERS OBJECT

Sen. Monroney of Oklahoma called it a "violation of intergovernmental relationships of the worst sort." House Leader McCormack said it is "what would be expected in a police state." Sen. Kefauver denounced it as an unwarranted use of the FBI by the attorney general.

But not one of these members of Congress would be willing today to sponsor legislation to prohibit the FBI from using its agents—as it is now doing in consequence of orders first issued by a Democratic attorney generally.

Mayor Tobey of Memphis, however, sees the point. He has said publicly that he doesn't object to the inquiries by the FBI men. He has promised them every cooperation as they seek data on the legislative and executive powers of the city of Memphis.

* * *

It is, of course, essential to analyze all of this before the federal government starts canceling a contract that could involve American taxpayers in the loss of many millions of dollars through suits for damages.

'Homeless Korean Children Need Aid'; Orphanage Asks Help From Pontiac

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature

I hope this letter will find you well and happy in God's blessings.

I am very happy to write this and inform you that our big family, 240 boys and girls, go on well, studying hard and playing pleasantly, and that our orphanage has developed with the help of brethren of America.

Again I must ask you to assist some of our orphans. We have five boys and two girls who finished their junior high school last spring, and they are going up into high school. But $100 is needed for them to go on studying in the school. To our regret, it is difficult to keep them going with our financial condition.

I should be greatly obliged if you would assist them and let them have a happy school life again.

The orphanage, which was at one time supported, no longer has aid, and we need food, clothes and toys. It would be a hard thing to turn the children out into the streets again.

I should like very much to hear your answer about this. Packages may be sent to Pfc. Donald C. Reich, RA 16451156, 540th (Subs Depot) Co., APO 301, San Francisco, Calif., as he has helped us before, or to the orphanage.

Industrywide Bargaining Now Viewed in New Light

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

Capital and labor appear to be in the process of considering shifting sides in the controversy about industrywide bargaining.

* * *

Three or four years ago the unions battled for the concept, whereas management and the employers' associations fought the trend.

Employers originally gave expression to their fears that the right to do industrywide bargaining would enormously strengthen the unions and fasten them on the national economy with economic power of virtual dictatorial authority.

But management is beginning to weaken in this view. Henry Ford II has advocated industrywide bargaining in the auto industry, saying:

"I am very much in favor of industrywide bargaining. I can't say right now how it would turn out in the auto industry, but I would like to see it."

TAKE NEW LOOK

The national unions, however, in recognizing their strength, seem to be taking a new look at the desirability, from their viewpoint, of industrywide bargaining.

They point to the fact that Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers-CIO, and of the CIO itself, made hay in the auto industry by picking off the major manufacturers one at a time, pitting one against the other and capitalizing on the fear of the leaders to give a major competitor the advantage of continuing production while another big company was closed down.

Maybe this "divide and conquer" is limited in effectiveness to industries in which a handful of titans do the bulk of the industry volume, and where there is intense jealousy among the principals. Autos, steels and soap companies are conspicuously in this category.

While the vested rights for a union to do industrywide bargaining are clear, there is some doubt as to the legality of collusion or cooperation in such matters among corporate employers, who are restricted by the terms of the anti-trust laws, from which the unions are exempt.

ACT CALLED HARSH

When he retired from the Truman administration, Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Electric and now chairman of W. R. Grace & Company, pointed out that the National Labor Relations Act is harsh.

Wilson felt that the law, while requiring the employer to bargain in good faith with the certified bargaining agent — the union — should not force management to reach an agreement.

* * *

Freedom, he felt, included the right to disagree. In such circumstances, Wilson felt, provided management could demonstrate to the satisfaction of a public agency that it had bargained in good faith, it should ultimately, as an alternative to liquidation, have the right to employ other workers.

It was generally assumed that the employer, if he couldn't accept or compromise union demands, always retained the freedom to liquidate or retire from the industry. But this right has recently been challenged by the American Newspaper Guild, which at its last convention called upon the Justice Department to investigate the March 16 suspension of the Brooklyn Eagle.

The guild resolution specifically asked that the Justice Department "determine if there has been a violation of the federal anti-monopoly laws and an infringement, in violation of the law, of the collective bargaining rights of the employes of the Brooklyn Eagle, and to prosecute any such violation to the full extent of the law."

* * *

The industrialist had felt that in common equity both sides should give evidence of a desire to bargain in good faith.

If this status of good faith bargaining is achieved, then the next question arises is what happens if no free meeting of the minds can be achieved. Certainly the owner of the Eagle assumed that he had an unquestioned legal right to throw in the sponge and go out of business.

The former defense mobilizer had raised the question as to whether the owner of the tools, when unable to agree with labor, should have the right to negotiate with others.

From a practical standpoint, when disagreeemnt and deadlock have been in the offing, resort usually has been taken to mediation and arbitration machinery.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Impotence Is a Rare Medical Event Except When Due to Wrong Thinking

Edith points out a mistaken notion of most men who become platonic. Then they suddenly imagine their wives are very passionate creatures, which is not true. Send for the booklet below for the most divorces start in the bedroom, even after the age of 40.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case 0-377: Edith K., aged 42, is the wife of Homer, described at length in yesterday's Case Record.

* * *

"Dr. Crane, I can't thank you enough for what you have done for us," she generously began.

"Maybe Homer didn't tell you all the facts, but he got so moody and discouraged a year ago, that he attempted suicide.

"He swallowed an entire bottle of sleeping tablets and left a suicide note beside the bed.

FAREWELL LETTER

"He had made a new will the day before, which I didn't know about, and wrote me a letter of farewell, saying he was just a millstone around my neck.

* * *

"He said he realized I was unhappy and that he had tried medicine and everything else he knew to remove the platonic element from our marriage.

"But having failed, he said the only way by which he could give me the happiness I deserved, was to free me so I could marry again.

"Oh, Dr. Crane, you don't know how terribly wrong Homer was! Why do men imagine their wives are so very passionate when those husbands suddenly find themselves impotent?

NOT ALONE

"Several of my women friends have told me their husbands are likewise almost totally platonic, and that's when the husbands decide we wives are so dissatisfied.

* * *

"I was content and could have lived happily till death even under the platonic nature of our union.

"But Homer kept insisting he was cheating me and that I was just being noble and unselfish by saying I was quite happy.

"So I finally urged him to consult the genito-urinary specialist who gave him those shots for six months.

"But I made the suggestion only because I thought maybe it would banish Homer's anxiety and worry about himself.

EASY REMEDY

"Dr. Crane, I never dreamed that I was also at fault or that I could easily remedy the trouble in one evening.

"Homer is no longer harassed by anxiety and worry. And I am happier than I have ever been in all of our marriage.

"So I wish you'd tell these things to millions of other wives who grieve to see their husbands so distraught but who don't know what to do to relieve their mates of such apprehension."

ADVICE TO MEN

No divorce is more tragic than that which occurs after a couple have stuck together for 20 years and then part during the 40 to 50 bracket.

* * *

And most of these divorces are based on faulty notions or misinformation.

The menopause does not stop a woman's marital functioning. She can be thrilling and thrillable as long as she lives, for the womb is not primarily a sex organ, anyway.

Whether it is removed in girlhood due to fibroids, or ceases its regular function at about the age of 45, is immaterial.

VIGOR UNLIMITED

Furthermore, there is no "date line" on male vigor. Men were constructed to function as normal husbands as long as they live.

* * *

But a defeatism complex or prudish old-fashioned notions, can stop both sexes and cause all sorts of unhappiness after 40.

Impotence is a rare medical event, except when due to wrong thinking. So the average platonic husband simply needs a new viewpoint and a more actively seductive or aggressive wife.

Though your marriage has continued for 20 years, send for the booklet, "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

For most divorces start in the bedroom, even after the age of 40.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Bones Store Up Calcium for Use When Necessary

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

According to the physiology textbook used in the public schools in the nineteenth century, as some old-timers may remember, "the composition of the bones at maturity is about one part animal to two parts mineral matter. In youth it is nearly half and half, while in old age the mineral is greatly in excess."

* * *

The professor who conjured that out of thin air (there was no precise chemical analysis of the bones available in the 1870's; did not explain just how the change came about. But certainly he implied that somehow between youth and old age the bones lost considerable animal matter or acquired more mineral matter.

In an article spread over twenty pages of a popular magazine a few months ago, the author stated correctly that the bones of elderly people are easily broken, due mostly to gradual demineralization of the bones, especially loss of calcium, and this in turn is partly due to insufficient calcium intake during the years preceding.

So far, so good. But then the author reverts to the 19th century, where so many physicians and dentists still mark time, to recite with the old-timers: "Once the demineralization has happened, there is little or no help for it."

CALCIUM STORED

If this means that there's little help for it after the bone is broken or the tooth has a cavity, it seems reasonable. If it means calcium can't be restored to bones which have lost part of their calcium, it is illogical, for physiologists know that the bones can and do receive and store calcium (become mineralized) as long as the individual's intake of calcium and vitamin D is adequate.

* * *

As a top authority (Best & Taylor, Physiological Basis of Medical Practice) puts it:

"It is perhaps well to point out that adult bone is not simply an inert structural material but living tissue whose mineral composition fluctuates under the influence of other body functions. The trabeculae of the bone, as shown by Aub and associates, constitute a calcium store readily available when necessary . . . supplies are deficient."

All this may be a little too technical for ordinary folk. For that matter it is apparently difficult for many physicians and dentists to understand, especially those whose practice is based on 19th-century physiology.

* * *

But it seems to me Tom, Dick and Harry ought to know that a high calcium diet and as much exposure to sunshine as possible (to insure the essential vitamin D) is a must for anyone who wants to enjoy health, youth, vite and longevity. And the first essential of the high calcium diet is 1½ pints of milk (three large glassfuls) daily for every mature adult, a quart or more daily for every growing child.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Probation Recovery Camp to Spur Rehabilitation

LANSING (AP) — The Corrections Department's new probation recovery camp, now in the planning stages, may be a unique experi- criminals, the Corrections Comment in the rehabilitation of mission indicated today.

Gus Harrison, director of the Corrections Department, told the Commission the Department would like to try "something diffeernt" with the camp.

"We would like to locate the camp near a city so that educational facilities may be available to the prisoners," he said.

A possible location would be near Traverse City, Harrison said. "One arrangement we've discussed would be to let inmates do work at Northwestern College. In return, faculty members might offer parttime instruction for the prisoners."

Harrison said other locations had been discussed, but a site will not be selected until next year.

The legislature appropriated money to bulid the camp, but failed to appropriate funds to operate it.

FOR YOUNG FELONS

The camp is designed for youthful offenders who are placed on probation but whose homes are not considered suitable as a place to serve the probation.

The Commission also discussed last month's minor uprising at Ionia in which four young inmates seized guards as hostages to bargain on grievances.

Harirson said he was still at a loss to explain the cause of th euprising. Three of the inmates cited minor grievances in explaining their part. A fourth, he said, complained he didn't like a work assignment.

Commissioner Eleanor Hutzel of Detroit told the Commission the prisons should make more use of their chaplains in uncovering discontent among prisoners.

The inmate who complained about a work assignment, Harrison said, had not been visited by his family in two years, and had been kept on the same assignment for 11 months.

USE CHAPLAIN

"There seems to be some fail- in gthere ," Miss Hutzel said. "The man should have had the counsel of a chaplain. That might have kept him out of this."

The Commission also reviewed plans to integrate probation and with the hiring of 26 new probation and parole officers.

Harirson told the Commission final drawings for five units of a proposed new 600-man medium security prison should be ready by Dec. 1.

Grandma Hiking Appalachian Trail Start to Finish

BOONSBORO, Md. (AP)—After 66 days and nearly 1,000 miles, Mrs. Emma Gatewood is still pretty determined to become the first woman ever to hike the 2,050-mile Appalachian Trail alone—even if she is 67.

The Gallipolis, Ohio, grandmother emphasized this yesterday as she paused at Washington Monument State Park.

At the rate she's going, grandma Emma should make it to Mt. Katahdin, Me., about mid-September. She left the Mt. Oglethorpe, Ga., starting point May 3.

Lugging a pack of about 35 pounds and spending the nights in her sleeping bag or lean-to shelters along the way, she has worn out two pairs of shoes but none of her enthusiasm.

Texas Sheriff to Halt Drunken Boat Driving

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—Sheriff Wiley Barnes says this practice of drinking a lot of beer and then tearing off at high speed has got to stop.

He's talking about boat operators.

Four drunken boat operators of swimmers, then running the were nabbed last week on Lake Dallas, he explained. Later another man paid a fine for operating a motorboat while intoxicated and running it through a group of swimmers, then running the boat into another boat, knocking a girl into the water.

And What's His Advice? Stick to Your Own Dice

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—While being arraigned on narcotics charges yesterday, James Curtis, 28, said shooting dice is his main job.

"I don't get in any game unless I know I'll win," added Curtis.

U.S. Commissioner W. M. Hill asked: "How can you be sure?" The answer:

"Because I only play with my dice."

Takes Last Nickel

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A bandit yesterday forced Joe Webster, a service station attendant to empty his cash receipts $33.30, into a bag. Then the bandit ordered Webster to turn his pockets inside out. A nikel dropped to the floor. "Put that in the bag, too," the gunman ordered.

June Employment Sets New Record: Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell told a news conference today that employment rose in June to a new high.

Mitchell said the June employment figures show a "smaller than seasonal rise in unemployment." This, he said, will result in a seasonally adjusted unemployment level which would be the lowest in 1½ years.

"It seems to me," Mitchell added, "that we can expect increased employment and declining unemployment in the fall. This should be the best year in history for American labor."

Streamlined Soda Can May Supplant Bottles

NEW YORK (AP) — Continental Can Co. has announced plans for production of a streamlined soft drink can that's shaped like a "pop" bottle.

The slender can is approximately the same diameter as the conventional six or seven-ounce soft drink bottle of glass and just about as tall, but it holds more (nine ounces). The company says it can be used in most automatic vending machines and can be merchandised in the same six-pack carrier now used for returnable bottles.

East German Policemen Flee Red Area in Droves

Did You Ever Hear the One About the Dairy Farmer?

If you haven't, you should make the acquaintance of your Dairy Farmer! He furnishes about a fourth of your food every day and does so for a sixth of what you pay for the other three quarters. Ask any dietician.

This morning, as they do every morning 365 days a year, 13,000 dairy farmers arose at the crack of dawn, fed, watered and milked a quarter of a million tested cows, shipped 2,395 tons of pure, fresh milk to Detroit. That's 2.2 million quarts, including a surplus over table needs going into ice cream, cottage cheese and other healthful dairy products.

Putting on call an abundant daily supply of milk requires production and marketing efficiency of the highest order. The milk assembly line starts with a heifer. It's a line, 3 years long, you can't stop or start with a push-button. Besides, your dairy farmer cooperatively owns plants, laboratories and transport equipment for receiving, testing, conveying and processing his milk shipments.

He supports industry-wide research for the improvement of his product and its uses. He employs management, scientists, technical personnel, stenographers, and truck drivers, in getting his milk from farm to market.

When you meet this farmer, he'll tell you truthfully that he earns less than factory wages for the time and money spent, but he'll say you'll get your milk, fresh from the farm, tomorrow morning.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Private Detective Michael Shayne is deeply involved in a murder case, and it is only a matter of hours until the police begin searching for him. Trying to get a clue to the killer's identity, Mike and his reporter friend, Timothy Rourke, dig through old papers.

XXII

Timothy Rourke stopped at the City Desk to confer briefly with the editor, came back to Shayne shaking his head.

"No one has got anything on the man picked up at the scene of the wreck except fairly positive corroboration that an unconscious man was carted away to the Beach by an unidentified motorist. He hasn't been delivered to any hospital, and no one has reported the accident officially to the police. What could have happened to him, Mike?"

"All we can do is theorize. The way Lucy tells it, he didn't get much of the gas. Just a few good whiffs, probably, before he was thrown clear. That would knock him out, but not for long. Could be he recovered before they reached a hospital, pulled a gun and held his Good Samaritan as a hostage. Anything on the dead woman?"

"Not much. The gray sedan was a stolen car, by the way. From near the scene of the first murder between 8 and 10 o'clock." Rourke was leading the way back to the dark and deserted file room as he spoke.

"Cops checked the motel key found on the woman. They've got a somewhat vague description of the man who checked her in as Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith, and they've got the license number of your car, but don't know it yet. So far, nothing to point the finger at you. Nothing to show any connection between the gray sedan and Bristow or the strangled girl."

Rourke opened double glass doors as he finished, switched on bright overhead lights to reveal filing cases and rows of newspapers hanging from heavy wooden clips. He led the way down a narrow corridor, explaining over his shoulder, "I've a hunch I saw it locally, though I'm sure it wasn't a local story. You take one week and I'll take the next. Look first for a page 1 wire story from some other city."

"New Orleans?" asked Shayne as Rourke selected a file of back issues and spread it out on the table for him.

"We can guess that. But look for the name Allerdice and some mention of a hunk of dough. Rourke took the last week's file for himself and began busily scanning the front pages for each succeeding day.

Shayne was slower than the reporter, not having the instinctive knowledge of where to spot what he was looking for, and he was carefully studying Tuesday's front page in his file when Rourke exclaimed, "Here it is, Mike! Not New Orleans, but Baton Rouge." He read aloud:

"'A triple tragedy occurred today when an automobile occupied by two veteran police officers from New Orleans and a convicted prisoner they were conveying to the state penitentiary left the highway at high speed 30 miles from New Orleans careened off a concrete bridge abutment and crashed into the swirling waters of the Seewatchie River 30 feet below.

"With the river almost at flood peak, rescue operations were hampered by a swift current and neither the automobile nor any of the bodies had been recovered late today. It is believed all three occupants of the car perished in the raging torrent.

"'They were Detective First Class Mark Switzer and Officer John Parradine of New Orleans, and their prisoner was Hugh Allerdice, convicted recently of bank robbery and sentenced to serve an indeterminate term in the state penitentiary. It will be recalled that none of the $80,000 loot alleged to have been stolen by Allerdice was ever recovered.'

"There was a follow the next day." He turned the pages swiftly. "Car was recovered a few hundred feet downstream with the body of the driver wedged behind the wheel. The other two haven't been found yet." He nodded his head as he scanned the story swiftly. "Parradine was driving. Switzer in the back seat handcuffed to Allerdice. With the two guys handcuffed together, no one gives them a Chinaman's chance of having got out alive. Their bodies may well have been carried downstream and out to sea by the flood current."

HE TELEPHONED

"And according to the woman," said Shayne disgustedly, "her husband telephoned her in New Orleans two days ago to met him tonight in front of the 18th Street rooming house."

Rourke turned back to the first despatch and began reading the body of it. He nodded after a moment. "Beatrice Allerdice."

He looked back at the paper and began reading aloud, "Reached by telephone at her dingy two-room apartment on Rampart Street late this afternoon, Mrs. Beatrice Allerdice, young and attractive widow of the convicted man, burst into tears when informed of her husband's death. The youthful wife stayed by her husband throughout the trial, repeatedly asserting his innocence and pointing to their lack of money to employ adequate counsel as proof that her husband had not stolen the money.

"They've murdered my Hugh," she screamed defiantly over the telephone to a reporter. "They weren't satisfied with railroading him for a crime he didn't commit, but had to murder him."'"

"Allerdice manufactured the accident somehow to escape"

"Well, we know now that at least one of the cops was killed. If Allerdice was guilty and had the 80 grand stashed away with a confederate, or hidden, there was enough money involved to have fixed a getaway like that."

Grocer Gives Bandits Really Rough Battle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Grocer Charles Siacotos gave two robbers a hard time.

"I held the gun to his stomach and pulled the trigger, but nothing happened," Siacotos said. "So I beat him with it."

The gun broke. The bandits started throwing tin cans. Siacotos fired back with empty bottles and more canned goods. The men fled. A parking lot owner captured one suspect. The other escaped.

2 Men and 2 Women Named Canvassers

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has appointed two men and two women to the new Board of State Canvassers.

Williams appointed Paul T. Schneider of Marquette and Zoe E. Shaffer of Benton Harbor as the Republican members and Theodore Souris of Ann Arbor and Esther Waite of East Lansing as the Democratic members.

The new bi-partisan board was created by the 1955 Legislature to take over the duties of the former board composed of elected state officials. It supervises elections, the canvassing of state elections and recounts.

Schneider, president of a lumber company, is former Republican county chairman of Marquette County.

Miss Shaffer is a practicing attorney and civic leader.

Souris is an attorney and former district counsel for the office of price stabilization.

Mrs. Waite is a part-time teacher at Michigan State University and is vice chairman of the Ingham County Democratic Committee.

U.S. Buys Linen Tent Washington Used in War

WASHINGTON (INS) — A tent which can rightly claim that "George Washington slept here" has been purchased by the U. S. for $10,000.

The tent, 13 feet six inches long and made of linen, was carried by Washington wherever he went throughout the Revolutionary War.

The government bought it from the heirs of Gen. Robert E. Lee and will display it at the Colonial National Historical Park soon to be built at Yorktown, Va.

THE ANTARCTIC—5

Antarctic Animals

The Antarctic is a strange and desolate place. It is so cold that there is very little life. Animals live in the area only during the Antarctic summers — between September 21 and March 21 each year. Even the summers are bitter cold—on a warm day the temperature may rise no higher than 20 degrees below zero.

Winter in the Antarctic comes when we are having summer in the United States. The really cold weather starts near the end of March and lasts until almost the end of September.

During the warmer months the region is visited by strong swimming animals which can live in the cold. These animals—seals, whales and sea-lions—roam through the frigid waters off the ice floats. The seals and sea-lions climb up on the ice occasionally, but spend most of their time in the water.

On land, the seals are awkward. In the water, though, they are graceful and powerful swimmers.

Today's picture shows a group of seals playing on the ice at the edge of the water. These are not large seals—although some elephant seals are 16 feet long and weigh about 3,000 pounds. Baby seals—called pups—usually are snow white. Grown seals usually are dark brown or black.

Color today's picture and add it to your collection of the Antarctic.

Legislative Committee Starts Highway Study

LANSING (AP)—The joint legislative committee on highway needs has started what it called Michigan's first comprehensive highway financing study.

The study follows a nearly completed engineering study to map Michigan's highway requirements.

The committee said the second study will determine the soundness of the highway, road and street financing and will recommend future fiscal moves.

The study is being directed by Richard M. Zettel, assistant director of the Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering of the University of California.

About 60 million Americans are under the age of 20 years.

And Now He Knows

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP) — Desmond Douglas finally discovered what happened to his 1953 automobile license plate. Winifred E. Wilkins of Rumney, N. H., advertised in the Providence Sunday Journal for a Rhode Island plate for his collection. He said his present Rhode Island plate was "beat up." The plate was one Douglas reported lost two years ago.

Rehearse for Pageant

LUDINGTON (AP) — A cast of at least 400 persons is rehearsing for the Pere Marquette Pageant to be presented in Ludington during centennial week, July 18-22. Harvey Work, pageant producer, says the role of Father Marquette — explorer-priest — will be portrayed by Eugene Christman, Ludington city attorney.

Small Businesses to Get State Advice

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Economic Development Commission took steps to aid small businesses yesterday by forming a nine-man business advisory and fact finding committee.

The lift was urged by the Development Credit Corp. Study Committee headad by B. P. Sherwood Jr., president of the Grand Haven bank.

The committee was formed to give counsel and advice to business, particularly on financing, accumulate case histories of the types and needs of Michigan businesses, and give assistance by trying to help solve problems through its research.

The study committee will consist of three members of the banking profession, three manufacturers, one retailer, one investment banker and one university business school representative.

The committee also voted to establish a public relations advisory committee to carry out recommendations made by its economic progress advisory committee. The committee will call public attention to advantages of settling new businesses in Michigan.

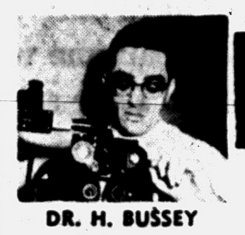

Barry Bans Bingo

HASTINGS (AP)—J. Franklin Huntley, Barry County prosecutor, has ruled out Bingo and other forms of gambling at the County Fair, Aug. 1-6. He wrote to Sheriff Clarence Donovan and Police Chief Richard Sunior that gambling — including dice tables, wheels, chuck-a-luck games and others— is prohibited at the fairgrounds.

Blonde to Assail Flight Record

Travel Agent Leaves July 26 From 'Frisco for 'Round-the-World

SAN FRANCISCO (INS—An attractive 21-year-old strawberry blonde travel agent will leave San Francisco International Airport July 26 in an attempt to break the world's record for around-the-world flight via commercial airliner.

Susan Bryan, chosen Miss San Francisco International Airport by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, hopes to arrive back in San Francisco July 30 to open the airport's two-day Flight-O-Rama.

Announcement of her assault on the current record was made by Warren Rairden, general chairman of the Flight-O-Rama.

He said Miss Bryan will make the flight to "dramatize" the $14,000,000 air terminal dedicated last August.

106 HOUR FLIGHT

Miss Bryan's flight is scheduled to take 106 hours and 55 minutes, almost nine hours better than the existing record of 115 hours and 38 minutes set by Jean-Marie Audibert in 1952 on a flight that began and ended in Paris.

* * *

Susan will leave San Francisco for New York on an American Airlines flight at 12:35 A.M. July 26. If she makes connections as planned, she will arrive back at the international airport at 11:30 A.M. July 30.

Her time might even be better than the planned 106 hours, 55 minutes. She will make the last part of her journey on a Pan American flight from Tokyo —a flight normally aided by prevailing winds which cut down scheduled time.

Miss Bryan will make airport stops at New York, Paris, Rome, Beirut, Baghdad, Karachi, Calcutta, Bangkok, Saigon, Manilla, Tokyo, Wake Island, and Honolulu.

JAYCEES PAYING

Her longest stop will be three and a half hours in New York—the shortest, 50 minutes in Bangkok.

* * *

The San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the Flight-O-Rama, will pick up the bill for Miss Bryan's flight—$1,821.19 including tax.

Miss Bryan, an employe of the Clift Travel Service, will be considered an official ambassadress of San Francisco and will carry a scrmoll from Mayor Elmer Robinson for presentation to local officials in cities on her itinerary.

* * *

A native of Denver, Miss Bryan has never flown farther than from Denver to San Francisco.

There are usually more plants and animals in temperate than in tropic oceans.

Red China Grants Money to Vietminh

TOKYO (AP)—Vietminh President Ho Chi Minh left Peiping for Moscow today with a Red Chinese gift which may keep him Peiping's satellite instead of the Kremlin's.

The Peiping radio broadcast a communique announcing Red China was giving Vietminh 800 million yuan "without compensation" to rebuild its economy.

It said the agreement was based on "long and traditional ties"—ties which have included several hundred years of Chinese hegemony over Indochinese kings.

Based on the prevailing rate of exchange in pound sterling, the grant would amount to about $328,000,000.

KOREA'S CUTEST — Korea has recovered from the war enough to produce a comely candidate for the forthcoming Miss Universe contest in California. She's Kim Lee Jaung, 21, crowned "Miss Korea 1955" after winning from 101 other candidates in Seoul.

Red Scientists Told to Cease Boasting

LONDON (AP)—Pravda told Soviet scientists today to stop boasting and try to learn something from their capitalist colleagues.

As quoted by Moscow radio, the organ of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union declared:

"Armed with Marxist-Leninist theory, the workers of scientific research establishments in our country must carefully follow the developments of science abroad, critically estimate its achievements, assimilate what is best and reject everything that is unscientific and mistaken."

* * *

Pravda asserted that conceit is "foreign to Soviet people" but declared it has made Russia lag behind Western production of new, economical high-productivity machines.

The paper specifically attacked the All-Union Scientific Research Institute of Agricultural Machinebuilding, the Coal Research Institute, the Railway Transport, Transport Machinebuilding and Electrical Industry Ministry research bodies, the Ministry of Petroleum Industry and that of automobile, tractor and agricultural machinebuilding.

Harriman in London for Confab With Winnie

LONDON (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York flew into London today on "a personal and unofficial" visit to Sir Winston Churchill.

Harriman and his wife are on a three-week tour of Europe and the Middle East. They were to call on Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan this afternoon, lunch with Churchill Sunday and later see other British leaders.

They plan to stay eight days in Britain.

The U. S. birth rate which reached a low of 18.4 per thousand in 1933, climbed to 26.6 per thousand in 1917, a record for recent years.

Slip-Proof Stairs

To take the "slip" out of attic or basement steps, cover the wooden treads with quarter-inch hardboard, applied with the screen or skid-proofing side exposed. Lightly bevel the exposed edges. Other places for using this surface are steps in a barn or other farm building, stairways to commercial or industrial lofts, steps to a child's slide, steps leading to a hayloft or water tower, steps of a step-ladder, or floor in home workshop.

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

Neither Rain Nor Snow, Nor Even Covered Wagons

JOHNSON CITY, N. Y. (AP)—"Elfgren Covered Wagon, Westbound, U. S. A., Somewhere between Amenia and Poughkeepsie, N. Y."—that was the address on two letters the Post Office Department had to contend with.

It took eight days and five dollars in phone calls, but the letters were delivered yesterday to Ernest Elfgren's mule - drawn prairie schooner.

Elfgren, his wife and their six children are taking a vacation from their 16-acre farm in East Killingley, Conn., and may buy a farm in Nebraska or Colorado.

The family headed west 13 days ago.

* * *

The letters, postmarked June 28 at Dayville, Conn., were delivered to the postmaster at Amenia. He hoped to deliver them when the wagon crossed the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie.

But the Elfgrens crossed at Catskill, further north. That was a week ago.

The letters then went to Sharon Springs, and on to Oneonta. They missed by two days.

Postmaster Samuel Bertuzzi at Oneonta telephoned the postmaster at Nineveh, Mrs. Marie Schneibel, who finally contacted the wagon and arranged for the family to pick up the letters at Johnson City.

Cardinal Spellman Leaves for Brazil

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman left yesterday aboard the liner Brazil for the International Eucharistic Congress in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

He declined to say whether he would visit Buenos Aires, capital of trouble - beset Argentina, as originally planned. He did say, however, that he was scheduled to say mass at the shrine of Lujan, on the outskirts of Buenos Aires, after the Rio de Janeiro congress.

The luxury liner had been converted into a floating cathedral for the trip. Beside the cardinal, aboard were 329 pilgrims from the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and India.

Miss Granville Okay

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Actress Bonita Granville was reported in good condition today following an emergency appendectomy at St. Joseph Hospital.

She was stricken yesterday at her home, underwent surgery and was reported "resting well" during the night. She is 32.

Says Russian Engines Most Powerful Aloft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Russian bombers paraded over Moscow apparently have jet engines more powerful than any now used by American aircraft, says John R. Alison, vice president of Northrop Aircraft Co.

He said pictures of the Russian engines indicate they develop 15,000 or more pounds of thrust . . . more than any American jets flown operationally.

He addressed civic and military leaders yesterday.

Geologists classify coal as a sedimentary rock because it occurs in the natural succession of sedimentary rocks and it has no fixed formula and also varies in its chemical makeup.

Hal Boyle Says:

Houston Fans Call Sam the Frontier King

MARYVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Davy Crockett, king of the wild frontier?

Why, man, there are people here in Davy's old home state who'll tell you he was nothing but a wet-eared boy in an oversized coonskin cap compared to Sam Houston.

* * *

Davy died in the Alamo, but Big Sam, who spent his youth here, was an even greater soldier and statesman and led Texas into the Union. It is hard today to imagine what Texas would be like if it hadn't been for Sam Houston—and oil wells, of course.

Young Sam might have been judged a juvenile delinquent by modern standards, but he outgrew it. And to Mrs. Boyd McKenzie, one of a group trying to preserve as a historic shrine the old one-room log cabin in which Houston once taught school, Davy isn't in the same class with Sam as a frontier hero.

* * *

"We'd never even heard much of Davy Crockett until six months ago," she said firmly.

Mrs. McKenzie is the descendant of a family which owned land next to the farm on which Sam Houston's widowed mother settled in Tennessee. She made the trek here from Virginia with her nine children.

Young Sam was an avid reader and averse to farm work. He used to run away and live with the Cherokee Indians who named him "The Raven."

* * *

"His first mention here was for public drunkenness at the age of 18," said Mrs. McKenzie. "He walked up and down the streets beating a drum and was charged with disturbing the peace."

During the next year he opened a school here to pay off debts of $100—a big amount in those days. He had run up the bill buying presents for his mother and some Indian maidens.

* * *

"The previous teachers had charged $6 a semester tuition," said Mrs. McKenzie, "but Sam raised it to $8 and insisted that a third be paid in cash.

"His pupils ranged in age from 6 to 60 years, and so many came that he had to turn some away."

Houston's teaching career was brief. He ran up more bills, as he himself later admitted, in "riotous living." In March, 1813, a recruiting officer came to town, beat on a drum and called aloud: "Hear ye; hear; If ye want to join Gen. Jackson's army to fight the savage Indian, come and take a dollar from the drumhead, and this will regularly enroll ye."

* * *

Young Sam, egged on by a friend, stepped up and took his dollar and became a soldier.

His military and political rise after that was swift. He became a governor of Tennessee; he later commanded the army of Texas; led the Republic of Texas, served as a U. S. senator and governor of Texas. He was deposed as governor because he opposed the entrance of Texas into the Confederacy, and died in 1863 at the age of 70 with the fate of Union still unsettled.

* * *

During his last years someone once asked him which of all his posts of authority had given him the most pleasure. And rather wistfully the old frontier hero said he remembered best the task of being a schoolteacher in the floodtime of his youth.

The simple old schoolhouse, weathered by the winds of 161 years, still stands. Wealthy Texans have tried to buy it and move it to the Lone Star state, but Tennessee isn't about to sell it. Or about to fix it up properly either, judging from its present look of disrepair.

* * *

In 1924 a pair of ancient lead knucks with Sam Houston's name scratched on them were found hidden above the doorway. Did young Sam enforce discipline on his pupils with lead knucks? Nobody knows.

"But it isn't likely he needed them," said Mrs. McKenzie. "At 18 Sam Houston was 6 feet 6 and weighed 200 pounds."

Big enough even to handle Davy Crockett.

U.S. Advances Date of Polar Expedition

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today the United States plans to fly Navy planes from New Zealand to Antarctica this December — 10 months ahead of schedule — in a history-making flight to link the south polar continent with other land areas.

The Times dispatch from Paris, where the United States and other nations were reported conferring on plans for south polar expeditions marking the International Geophysical Year, said the Navy would dispatch a flight of six or eight planes to McMurdo Sound.

The White House had announced previously that the flight—part of a Little America naval expedition to be headed by Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd—would not take off until October, 1956.

Polio Cases Down 40 Per Cent in Year

WASHINGTON (AP)— New cases of polio reported for the week ended July 2 totaled 12 per cent above the figure for the preceding week but 40 per cent below the total for the corresponding week last year, the Public Health Service said today.

The service said a total of 331 cases had been reported for the week, excluding Montana which had not yet made its report but which had reported two cases for the preceding week.

The figure 331 compares with 277 cases for the preceding week and 562 cases for the corresponding week of 1954.

Classic Suit 'Feminized' for Autumn

NEW YORK (INS)—The classic tailored suit is being "feminized" for fall.

* * *

Suits are switching from the man-tailored look to the feminine dressmaker suit—but they're keeping the natural-waisted, slim-skirted shape most American women love.

The fashion leader in popular-priced suits has made only slight changes in its classic suit silhouette. Collars are smaller and curved instead of sharply cut reveres.

Jackets are longer and shoulders are padded slightly for roundness. There are more semi-fitted suits where the waistline seems looser, but the waistline remains at the waist.

* * *

The chief change in the new suits is in detailing. Buttons look daintier, trims are delicate, and the effect is one of femininity instead of rigid tailoring.

There is almost no change in skirts, which still put the hemline at mid-calf. Straight four-gored skirts or slightly flared six-gored skirts lead the parade, although you'll find full pleated skirts too.

The seven-eighths or bracelet-length sleeves are not as popular as they were last year. Sleeves on the new suits are almost all full length and set-in.

DOROTHY ANN OLDENBURG

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Oldenburg of North Perry street are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Ann, to Cpl. James I. Batchelor, who is stationed at Cherry Point, N. C. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Batchelor of South Shirley street. A Sept. 3 wedding is planned.

Clean Flour Sifter

Keep a flour sifter in a bag when not in use. To clean it, use a large chicken feather. Don't wash it or you'll get flour lumps and rust.

For hot weather, a tepid bath is much the most cooling kind to take.

Fall Shoes to Appear Unleathery

NEW YORK (INS)—The closed-toe pump, standby of every woman's shoe wardrobe, is getting a fancy new face for fall.

* * *

In addition to the usual black or brown leather, there will be printed leather pumps—in patterns and colors that look as unleathery as possible.

There will be leather printed like a paisley shawl, leather printed in plaids, stripes and geometrics, leather with all-over provincial designs and leather that's printed to look like tortoise shell.

Colors in these new pumps also are unexpected. One of the printed leather plaids comes in pink and blue and in black and silver. The paisley pattern will be seen in gold on white, black on red, or black on tan.

* * *

Plaid leather pumps aren't the only surprise the leather industry is promising. Leather sportswear is taking on some amazing colors—in many cases dyed-to-match high fashion insets of knitted wool, nylon or orlon fleece or tweed.

* * *

As proof, they're already showing one new leather jacket for fall—a leather shortie that looks like silver lamb, and is trimmed with fake chinchilla!

Nubby Silk Hint

Long torso lines go into a flared skirt of nubby silk. The whole, of course, has a belt at the natural waist, but the blouse line continues quite a way into the full skirt.

If your thumb gets scraped when you're grating vegetables, keep a thimble in the grater drawer to wear.

Boy Threatens Girls' Friendship

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

You're probably perfectly willing to lend your best girl friend your books, your records, your pen and your clothes. You'll give her a swish of your lipstick when she has forgotten her own. You can make her feel that your home is her home.

But you draw the line at boy friends! What's yours is yours. You have no intention of sharing them.

The real trouble comes when the two of you like the same boy. Each of you has an imagination, and a collection of suppressed desires. Though you're alike in many ways, you each react to him differently.

And neither of you dares to confide a word about him to the other. It's rough on the closeness and imtimacy that holds you together. . .as this girl has found out:

"Dear Miss Woodward: My best girl friend and I like the same boy. He seems to like me a little better because he always dances with me and not her.

"We're very good friends and don't want to have a fight over him. But she's always accusing me of flirting with him when I'm only being nice. I can't even mention his name or she'll say I'm just trying to make her jealous by talking about him.

"She realizes that he likes me better, but we both have a jealous streak and want him to ourselves.

"She can't help liking him any more than I can. Yet, how can we handle this without spoiling our friendship?"

Answer: You both like the boy. You want him to like you in the same way you like him. Your girl friend feels the same. You hope his dancing with you is a good sign. Your girl friend wishes she had something as tangible as that to go on.

Yet, obviously, neither of you is sure how you stand.

You don't mention that he has made any public announcement of his choice. You don't mention that you have any dates with him, which would be a sign of his preference. Your interest in him has made each of you girls feel possessive.

And there are two ways out of it without spoiling your friendship. You can consider your boy-interests your own private business and discuss them with no one, least of all your girl friend. This will reduce you to confiding in your reflection in the mirror.

* * *

Or, you can take the whole thing less seriously and make a real point of liking him jointly. In which case he will become your mutual boy friend to be discussed with no idea of individual ownership.

Agree to assume that he likes you both equally. Confide in each other on the basis of his own merits and personality without any relation to either of you personally.

Dispossessing yourself takes considerable detachment. The light touch is difficult to manage when your emotions are involved. It might be easier just not to talk about him at all.

Hang On to Your Self-Confidence

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Self-confidence, it seems to me, is the frailest and most fragile commodity of all.

* * *

Unpleasant remarks or heartless criticism will often make the most robust of us wither on the vine, and if we are to survive, we must learn how to evaluate the crushing things other people say.

Just because a character is on the other side of the desk doesn't make him the Delphic oracle. We must learn how to understand the motives behind his remarks.

This is particularly true in job-hunting.

Many employers, when they have to tell us that they cannot hire us, give the true reason; but others are too embarrassed, scared or unsure of themselves.

The good employer, for example, will say something like this: "I'm sorry ,but we hired somebody with more experience in the field. However, we think you are very well qualified, and if another opening should come up, we would call on you. Meantime, good luck. We know you'll land a job before long."

That indicates a well-balanced person.

Suppose the case is the same—they hired somebody with more experience. However, this employer knows how crushingly disappointed you will be; especially if he had been over-enthusiastic during your first talk.

Fearing that you will "give him an argument," he says, "Sorry, but you don't have the qualifications." And you feel totally unemployable.

Or, he may say, "Sorry, we filled it through a friend of one of our staff," and leave you with the conviction that without personal contacts, you're a dead duck.

HAD A BAD DAY

Perhaps he has had a bad day and is unsure of his own job, so he says, "The trouble is, you've had too many jobs." In this case, you feel like the rolling stone to end all rolling stones.

Or, again, he may say, "You've been too long in the same job. We're afraid you have no ambition." And you don't know where you're at.

If he's a frustrated counselor type, he may rip your resume to pieces, or tell you that you're barking up the wrong field entirely, or any number of pseudo-helpful comments.

But they're all to ease him out of a difficult spot and you must learn not to take them seriously.

England's King Charles II Let Lady-Love Run Land

International News
By POWELL GULICK

No event in the history of England had been attended with greater rejoicing than the restoration to the chrone of King Charles II in 1660. After all the solemn rites attending such an event, he rode away to his lady-love, the 20-year-old Barbara Villiers, wife of Roger Palmer whom Charles created Earl of Castlemaine.

* * *

Barbara has been described as being tall and marvelously beautiful, with the figure of a Venus, but with the temper and manner of a fishwife. Her hair was the hue of the raven, her eyes were blue.

Her morals, according to the writers of her day, were nothing to brag about. How and where she met the King is not recorded, but it is known that in February 1661 her first child was born and acknowledged by the King, who named her Ann Fitzroy.

Day by day, her influence over the King grew, and he scarcely ever appeared in public without her. He even compelled the Queen, Catherine, of Braganza, whom he married in 1662, to accept Barbara as a Lady of the Bedchamber.

* * *

Before long, Barbara and her friends were running the country. She made and unmade secretaries of state, fired lord chancellors and elevated to the bench "many a drunken sot who could well afford to pay for the 'elevation.'" Every position in the land had a price.

HONORS FOR SALE

She was selling these positions like commodities were being sold in the market place. The sale of these public offices was the most important source of her income, estimated to be in excess of $1,500,000 annually.

In August 1670, "in consideration of her noble descent; her father's death in the service of the crown; and by reason of her own personal virtue" the King created her Baroness Nonsuch, Countess of Southampton and Duchess of Cleveland.

In 1674, her two daughters were married, Ann, then 14, became the Duchess of Essex, and Charlotte, only 10, became the Countess of Litchfield. Ann received a dowry of $100,000 and Charlotte received one of $90,000.

After the death of the King, the duchess retired into the background; then at 66, she married the 50-year-old Beau Fleming who led her as merry a life as she had led her husband and King Charles.

* * *

Finding that she was not as generous as he had expected, he used violence and she was compelled to resort to law for protection. A year later, having proven that Fleming was a bigamist, she was divorced. She died in 1709 at the age of 68.

Rainbow Cookies Are Party Fare

Mrs. Leon Grogg Bakes Dough Strips Over Juice Cans

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If a summer tea party is in the offing, here is a recipe for some exciting looking cookies. Mrs. Leon Grogg offers this interesting idea for Rainbow Cookies.

The mother of two young daughters, Mrs. Grogg keeps busy with her home duties and her hobbies. She is a Brownie Scout leader for her older daughter, and loves to grow flowers. Sewing is another favorite pastime.

RAINBOW COOKIES
By Mrs. Leon Grogg

1 cup lard
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
1 egg white
½ cup rich milk
1 teaspoon vanilla or nutmeg
3½ to 4 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt

Cream together lard and sugar, add egg yolks and egg white. Add milk and flavoring. Sift flour with salt and add. The dough should be of good consistency to roll. Roll out ⅛ inch thick and cut into strips 1 inch wide and 4 inches long. Paint tops with egg white and decorate with colored sugar or chopped nuts.

Take a tall juice can and cut out both ends. Cut down one side of the can and fold back, making two halves.

Place the cookie strips over the can and bake in a 350-degree oven until delicately browned. Gently remove, and the cookie will be in a rainbow shape.

Prejudice Seeks to Separate Us

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Bernie G., a Jewish child of 7, goes to a school attended by many Gentile children. Until last week, he didn't know that his religious difference made him unacceptable to any one. Then he learned it did. A classmate told him that he'd not been asked to a mutual friend's birthday party because he was a Jew.

* * *

Mrs. G. writes, "We read your column. And ask you, a Gentile, how to explain this senseless Gentile cruelty to our innocent child."

I have a dear Jewish friend—a man of science who barely escaped from Hitler's holocaust with his life. One evening when he was describing his escape, I had a painful realization.

I realized that since I had not been a Jew in Hitler's Germany, neither affection nor imagination could re-create my friend's experience for me. And that my understanding of it would have to remain different from that of his friends who had lived it through with him.

As I am not Jewish, I have not experienced anti-Jewish prejudice. For this reason, my explanation of it may be unacceptable. Nevertheless, here it is . . .

REMIND BERNIE

I would begin it by taking Bernie on my lap. Then I would start to remind him of what he knows. I would remind him of how Billy Halloran who lives on the wrong side of the tracks is scorned for wearing dirty shirts to school.

I'd remind him of his own refusal to invite "show off" Mary Graham to his Halloween party.

* * *

Then when he had recalled these injuries to non-Jewish children, I would say, "You've been hurt, not because you are a Jew, but because cruelty's found a new excuse to hurt.

"It uses Bill Halloran's dirty shirts to make him feel unwanted. It uses Mary's 'show-offness' to make her feel unwanted. Now it's your turn. It says to you, 'Bernie, your religion makes you unwanted.' Tomorrow, it will find a new excuse. Darling, we cannot take it seriously."

The aim of the ill-will behind prejudice is always one thing—to isolate. Its trick is simple. It says, "You are my unique victim. Nobody has ever suffered as you have."

* * *

The instant we fall for this lie, prejudice wins. It succeeds in separating us into Jews and Gentiles, white men and black. We resign from the suffering human race as a whole—and get segregated in our own delusion that hurt is our personal monopoly.

If I were Bernie's mother, I'd refuse to let him get separated. I just wouldn't let him believe that his experience with ill-will was special Jewish experience — and win understanding and acceptance of it as inevitable human experience.

Go on Diet or Else Be Good Sport

Friends' Remarks Not Rude Unless Obesity Is Ailment

By EMILY POST

"I was recently made to feel very embarrassed by certain remarks which I consider very rude and tactless." The letter explains further, "I am inclined to be on the heavy side. At a small informal gathering at a friend's house one evening everyone in the room had something to say about my weight.

"This went on all during the course of the evening (in a joking way as far as they were concerned) but, needless to say, I was very much hurt. Isn't there some way to tell these tactless people that I do not like to be made sport of?"

Answer: If the cause of your fatness is an illness which cannot be cured, I think you ought to tell your best friends about it and let them tell the others how unfair they are; if it is because of your own love of sweets, I think you should go on a diet or else be a good sport about their remarks.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The son of one of my neighbors is going to be ordained to the priesthood shortly. I have received an invitation to the ordination and also to a reception which is being given later for him.

"I have known this young man ever since he was a small boy and he has always been Tommy to me. I would like to know what I should call him now, and, also, what is the proper thing to say to him on the day of his ordination?"

Answer: Tell him how very happy you are for him. I think it would be better now to call him "Father Tom."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to wear a fur neckpiece after hot weather really sets in? I have a very pretty mink scarf which I wore to a wedding recently. I was told that a fur neckpiece was out of place during the summer months. Will you please give me your opinion on this?"

Answer: On a cold day it is entirely proper; but in very, very hot weather, certainly not, because your reason for wearing it would obviously be to show it off.

If you're going to paint walls that now have a high gloss paint on them, wash the surfaces with a solution of one tablespoon trisodium phosphate to one gallon of warm water.

Lace Doilies Back in Style —for Neckwear

NEW YORK (INS)—It may not be stylish to put lace doilies on the furniture any more, but it's become ultra-stylish to wear lace doilies around your neck.

The favored "touch of white" for spring outfits this year is a pretty bit of frosty white lace or tatting. In fact, it's quite a la mode to tat your own collar.

The most popular shapes for these doilie-type collars on spring suits and dark spring silks are the deep V collar and the Puritan collar. Puritan collars are the big ones that look like bibs, and fit best on the round high neckline.

The V and the Puritan are both deep collars, and some dip down to short-sleeve level. This bigger-collar trend is obvious even in the familiar Peter Pans, which are slightly deeper this year and trimmed with lace inserts if they aren't all lace to start with.

3 Waterford School Contracts Awarded; Windeler Is Elected President of Board

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Waterford Township Board of Education last night held its election of officers and awarded contracts for construction of three new elementary schools.

Edmund L. Windeler, 5601 Hatchery Rd., was re-elected president of the board at the meeting in the school board offices on Walton boulevard.

Elmer Johnson, 3320 Seebaldt Ave., Drayton Plains, was elected secretary and Mrs. Donald Adams, 2711 Walton Blvd., was named treasurer.

The Schurrer Construction Co. of Birmingham, low bidder, was given the contract for the three schools at a construction cost of $698,707.

LOCATIONS LISTED

The new school structures will be built on Winding drive near Elizabeth Lake Estates, on Midland drive between Waterford Village and Drayton Plains, and on Pontiac Lake road near Cass Lake road.

Following a report from its School Naming Committee, the board resolved to name all new elementary schools for people historically prominent in Michigan.

An elementary school now under construction on Crescent Lake road will be called the John Montieth School.

FIRST UM PRESIDENT

Montieth was the University of Michigan's first president when it was formed in 1817 in Detroit. He was also a minister of note in the Detroit area and made many early exploration trips to Oakland County as well as visits later as a minister.

According to the Board's annual reports, some $2,200,000 will be expended for the township's 8,800 school children.

In other business, the Board named the Community National Bank, the Pontiac State Bank, and The Manufacturers' National Bank of Detroit as depositories for school funds.

Rush Is Elected to School Board

Romeo Education Unit Also Asks Continued Use of Maple Classes

ROMEO — Allen F. Rush was named president of the Romeo Community Schools Board of Education at a meeting Wednesday night. Walter W. Sewell was elected secretary and Dr. Ralph G. Renwick was re-elected treasurer.

A request for the use of Maple School for three eighth grade classrooms will be sent to the state fire marshall for approval, the board decided.

The Maple School was to have been vacated, but increase in student population necessitates continued used of the old frame structure, according to Schools Superintendent T. C. Filppula. A recently completed $450,000 school expansion program has not taken the overload.

Filppula reported installation of sidewalks at the South Grade School site is scheduled to begin early next week.

TRANSPORT STUDENTS

Transportation of parochial students in the school district was approved by the board.

The board also authorized the advertising of bids on repair of sidewalks on the high school property, and announced that bids on the outmoded Cascade School and site will be accepted at the August meeting.

An appropriation of $1,848.75 for purchase of school equipment and textbooks was approved.

MADE PRINCIPAL

Norman Hevel, teacher at Washington Elementary School last year, was promoted to principal of the school, at a salary of $5,300.

It was also voted to name an athletic director in place of the former head coach position. Dan Barnabo is being considered for the position.

Census figures showed 2,406 school-age children in the district.

BUTTONS AND BOAS — Five-year-old Ruth Marie Belknap likes to play with boas but her hobby differs slightly from the other little girls of her age. She is showing getting acquainted with one of the newly arrived boa constrictors for her grandfather's Serpentorium. Although the boa, because of its size strikes terror into the hearts of many people, it is actually a very quiet, good natured snake that likes to be petted, her grandfather said. Ruth Marie's only complaint is "He's too heavy."

East, West Worlds Apart on Big 4 Slate

Split Forecast at 1st Session

Reducing of 'Tensions' Only Common Ground for Chiefs of State

By DAVID L. BOWEN
(AP) Newsfeature Writer

If their warm-up pitches are any indication, it's not going to take long for the Big Four to move from pleasant greeting to serious argument at the first session in Geneva July 18.

* * *

President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Eden, Premier Faure and Premier Bulganin can unanimously agree they have come together to talk about reducing "tensions" which threaten the peace of the world.

But as soon as they strike out beyond that point to select those "tensions" they want to discuss, the conference temperature will begin to rise. East and West are far apart on what is prolonging the Cold War both claim they wish to end.

The foreign secretaries of the United States and Russia each outlined their views on this subject at the United Nations 10th anniversary celebration in San Francisco.

Secretary of State Dulles spelled out five major problems. As listed on the accompanying map, they were:

The unification of Germany:

The problem of the eastern European satellites of Russia.

Communist China's use of force and threats of force in Korea, Indochina and Formosa.

INFILTRATION

Efforts of "international communism" to overthrow governments by conspiracy.

Disarmament.

Foreign Minister Molotov's version of actions necessary to promote good feeling went like this:

Settlement of outstanding Far Eastern problems "in accordance with the principles of sovereignty and territorial integrity.

Removal of any discrimination "hampering the development of wide-scale economic cooperation and international trade."

* * *

Dismantling of military bases in foreign countries.

Termination of war propaganda.

Development of the peaceful uses of atomic energy, large-scale industrial, scientific and technical assistance to countries which are underdeveloped, and extension of cultural ties.

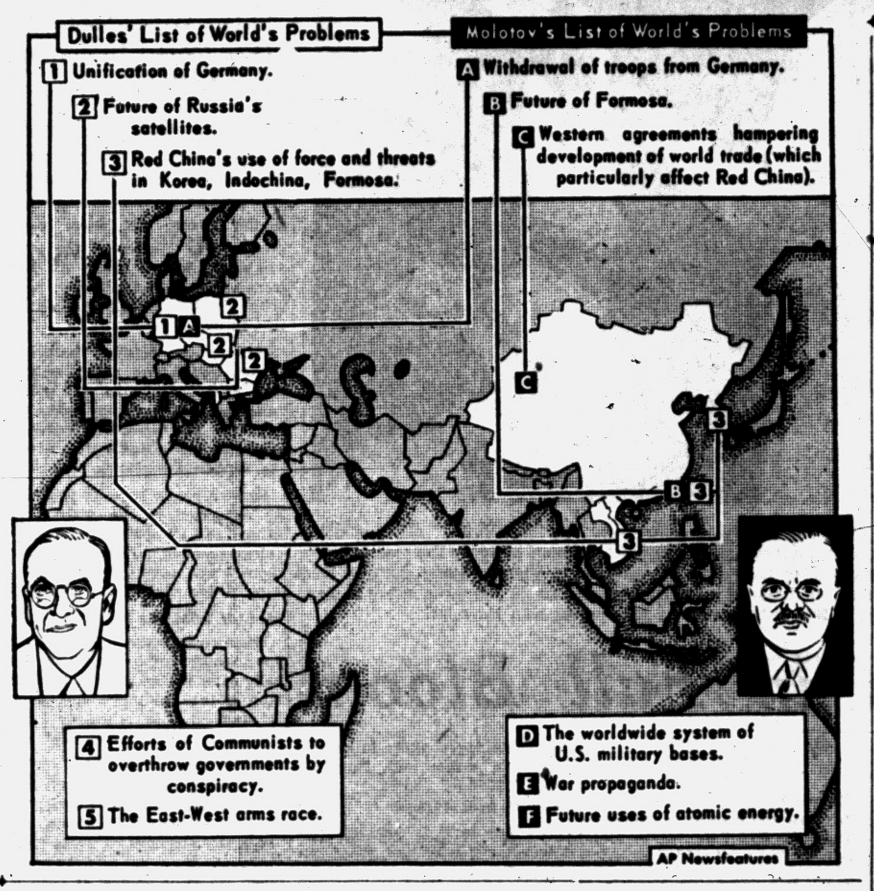

Secretary Dulles has stated that the key question at Geneva will be the future status of Germany. He said last week continued partition was an evil that could not be prolonged indefinitely without bringing on new evils. He also deplored Moscow's loss of enthusiasm for unifying that country.

RUSSIA CHANGES

Before the Bonn Republic joined the North Atlantic alliance, he noted, the Russians were full of promises about "reuniting" Germany. Now they speak only of "withdrawing" troops. The United States would have to withdraw a great deal further than the Russians.

Germany is one of the two geographic points on the lists of both East and West. Formosa is the other.

Except in the very broad field of disarmament and future use of atomic energy, Dulles and Molotov cited a completely different set of problems in completing their unofficial agenda lists.

Should Winnie Go to Geneva?

Laborite Wants Eden to Let Sir Winston Tag Along With Big 4

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Eden today dodged Laborite suggestions that he take Sir Winston Churchill to the Big Four summit parley as an adviser.

Laborite Marcus Lipton asked Eden in the House of Commons: "Would it not strengthen the British delegation and please many people in many lands if he (the Prime Minister) would invite Sir Winston Churchill to accompany him to Geneva?"

* * *

Eden refused to answer directly. He said he understood the question Lipton had submitted earlier concerned only junior officials who would assist him at Geneva.

Churchill, who first called for a summit parley two years ago, resigned as Prime Minister last April to make way for Eden.

* * *

The 80-year-old statesman stayed on in Commons as a backbencher. He has left the limelight to Eden.

Left Wing Laborite Emrys Hughes asked Eden:

* * *

"Is the Prime Minister satisfied that the foreign secretary (Harold Macmillan) is strong enough to wrestle with (U. S. Secretary of State) John Foster Dulles?

"Will he not consider approaching Sir Winston Churchill to attend the conference if only to censor the official communiques and to cut out the platitudes and cliches?"

* * *

Eden, ignoring the first part of the query, retorted:

"Mr. Hughes has carried through very rapidly to the conclusion of the conference. If we reach agreement we shall all be content to put up with platitudes and cliches in which to express it."

* * *

On another aspect of the summit conference the Foreign Office announced that a conference secretariat had been set up at the Palace of Nations in Geneva and that Peter Wilkinson, a British diplomat, had been named its secretary general. He is a first secretary in Britain's Washington Embassy. American, Russian and French deputies are helping him.

Advancing Snakes Are Just Curious Says Owner of Local Serpentarium

Snakes alive! Hundreds of them on Dixie highway!

But, don't worry, they are all safely confined in their pits at Allen's Serpentarium, about four miles past Clarkston road.

Ever since Eve had her famous run-in with the reptile of Biblical lore mankind has been terrified —and fascinated by the very sight of a snake.

Paul Balfonte and his son, Paul Allen, are capitalizing on this interest at the serpentarium, where a collection of over 200 reptiles includes huge boa constrictors, deadly rattlers, alligators and big turtles on display.

The new business was opened July 3.

Paul Allen, 21, a Michigan State University student, says that the fear of snakes is like any other fear. "It is the natural reaction to any unknown," he says.

They rely upon their senses of hearing and smell in searching for food and cannot see much beyond striking distance which is approximately one-third of their total length, he stated.

Snakes are very fussy eaters and one of the big problems in captivity is getting them to take enough food to keep them in good health, Allen said. They eat mice, rats, and frogs and often rabbits. Some will take food every 3 or 4 days but many, especially the larger ones, go for several weeks between meals.

One of the most interesting points of the tour of the snake farm is "milking" the poisonous snakes of their venom. The snake is grasped behind the head and the mouth is pried open with a hook.

A glass is brought close to the protruding fangs and the reptile will generally strike at it, automatically ejecting his venom into the glass. The venom is used to make serum.

The serpentarium also features such delicacies as canned rattlesnake meat and turtle soup.

CHECK THOSE FANGS — Time out for a fang check as Paul E. Allen proudly displays the gleaming deadly weapons of his most vicious pet. This pleasant looking fellow has to be kept in solitary confinement in a glass cage from which he has a "rattling" good time scaring the daylights out of anyone who passes by. Paul caught this one himself on a recent trip to the Florida swamps.

She Toed in Out

MOLINE, Ill. (AP)—Oice DeBord was swimming Sunday when a diamond ring valued at $500 slipped off his finger. Skin divers had no luck searching for it. But Wednesday night Mrs. DeBord was wading in the same lake when she felt something against her foot. She lifted it. There on her big toe was the ring.

Saginaw Pioneer Recalls Early-Day Fish Business

SAGINAW (AP)—At 86, Lavern C. Stine has a lot of memories.

"I once loaded a car of suckers—800 boxes—in four days for New York.

"I was two days buying the fish and two days loading them," he said.

That refers back to the day when Vern Stine was active in the fis hbusiness in an earlier and roistering era of the lake city.

The home he lives in, Stine fondly calls "The Fish House." He named it that because he built it from money made in fish. It is a South Saginaw landmark.

* * *

Stine's personal history is a part of Saginaw's. He is himself a landmark. He dates back to the rough and tough days of the pine forest lumbermen.

HEALTH PRESERVED

An active life has preserved his health. He still enjoys fishing trips. He likes to work in his garden.

The son of a sawyer, Stine had his first job at the age of 12 hammering nails. He was paid 50 cents for an 11-hour day.

Later he worked for his father Peter in Stine's Saloon, famed for its free lunch and as a gathering place for the woodsmen.

A sauerkraut plant followed as a father and son enterprise. Prohibition killed the saloon. They quit their sauerkraut endeavors, too, when neighbors kicked about the odor.

The fish business and a grocery store then came along.

Stine sold suckers from the Saginaw, Tittabawassee, Shiawassee, Flint and Bad Rivers. He freighted a great deal of it to Eastern markets.

Uruguay Longs for Unseating of Peron

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Most of Uruguay stands by and cheers at every attempt to unseat President Juan D. Peron in big-neighbor Argentina. When such attempts are defeated, Uruguay has new problems to meet.

* * *

People came out on the streets here to rejoice June 16 when news arrived that a revolt had broken out against Peron. Despondency set in when two score rebel planes took refuge in Uruguay.

Today this country of 2½ million is wrestling anew with the problem of Argentine refugees, reinforced by 100 men in the June revolt. There previously were about 100 military and 200 civilian refugees here—fugitives from former revolts or from political justice in Peron's country.

* * *

The refugees are a matter of pride—but also a headache. They enjoy the freedom of this country, probably the most democratic in Latin America. They can say or write what they please, even about Peron. Argentina holds this responsible for strained relations with Uruguay.

In an exchange of diplomatic notes just before the June revolt, Argentina asked Uruguay to put a stop to attacks on the honor of Peron and other Argentine officials by the refugees.

Uruguay replied that every resident here has full freedom of speech. Another Argentine note insisted that the Uruguayan government, if it wants to improve relations, should see that attacks are stopped. It is still waiting for an answer.

* * *

Some days before the revolt flared in Buenos Aires, it was reported here that the Argentine government had told business firms with branches in Uruguay that drastic measures would be taken against them in Argentina if they continued advertising in three Montevideo newspapers. These three, El Dia, El Pais and El Plata, often print contributions by Argentine political refugees — men like former Congressmen Silvano Santander, Gustin Rodriguez Araya, Raul Damonte Taborda, Americo Ghioldi, Ernesto Sammartino. All earn part of their living here by writing for the press.

Workers Win Birthdays Off in Two Unions

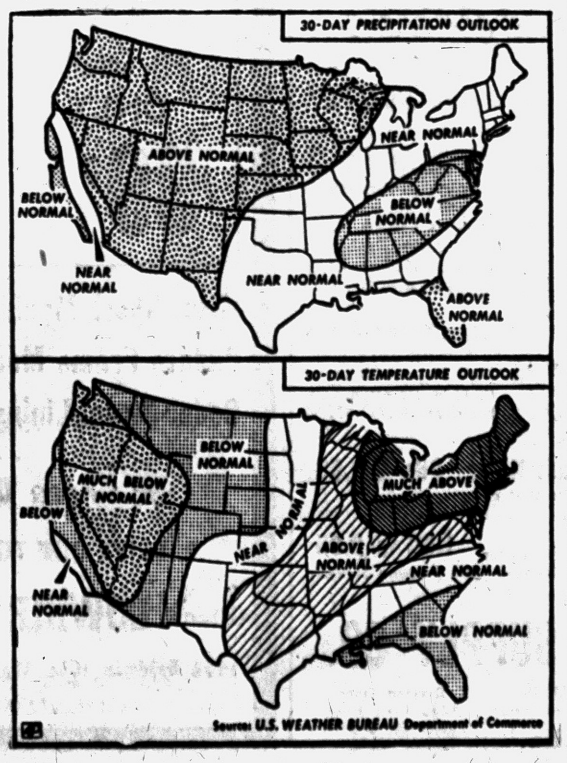

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Members of two San Francisco labor unions now can call their individual birthdays national holidays — or the equivalent thereof.

The two AFL unions — Auto Painters' Local 1073 and Garage Employes' Local 665 — announced they have signed a contract with management groups calling for premium pay on eight holidays.

The holidays are New Year's day, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Admission Day — and the employe's birthday.

If a man works on his birthday, he will get double time. If his birthday falls on one of the other holidays, he will get triple pay for working and double pay if he stays home.

Burma Premier Hits U.S. Policy

U Nu Seeking Direct Talks Between China and America

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) —Burmese Prime Minister U Nu is pressing his campaign for direct talks on Far East problems between the U. S. and Red China, which he says "needs and wants peace."

* * *

The visiting Asian leader expressed that conviction during a news conference at U. N. Headquarters.

At the same time, while professing his admiration and support of the U. S., U Nu criticized American foreign policy for its support of Nationalist China and the "colonial powers" in Asia.

He said such a policy, including boastings of U. S. military and economic might, has caused misunderstanding in Asia.

The premier said he was "constantly surprised" that the U. S., with its predominant position in world affairs, "tends to exaggerate its fear of the menace of communism." He urged, instead, a return to the American "heritage" of democracy and freedom in the world.

* * *

Nu indirectly rebuked American support of Nationalist China and said both the U. S. and Red China must "rid themselves of existing suspicions and fears" and meet directly to settle their differences.

IMPRESSED BY REDS

He said he returned from his recent visit to Red China and talks with Communist officials "impressed with their honesty, sincerity and dedication to the cause and welfare of their people and their good will towards the American people."

* * *

Nu, whose government is on friendly terms with Peiping, predicted it will take the Red regime "a hundred years to consolidate its power and bring unity, peace and prosperity throughout the country."

He made the statement before the Overseas Press Club after telling a news conference at U. N. Headquarters he got the impression in Washington that "responsible" American leaders are not opposed to Peiping's admission to the U. N. but are moment for its admission. biding time awaiting the proper

Nu's statement caused surprise among U. S. officials at the U. N. and in Washingon, where it was pointed out the U. S. has never ruled out the eventual admission of Communist China to the U. N. Such a move, however, was not foreseen for years to come.

Japan is not a member of the U. N. but is permitted to maintain an official observer there.

PRESSing Questions:

Do Many Folks Realize True Holiday Meaning?

"Do you think many people give real thought to the holidays for the holidays we 'celebrate?' "

The question was met with about as much apathy as people seem to have about our national holidays.

Jerry Buckley, 116 Palmer;— It seems that the majority of people are out to get themselves killed over the holidays. This recent Fourth of July was awful. The only thing on people's minds over the holidays seems to be to have a good time."

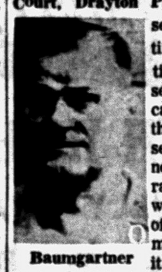

BUCKLEY

Miss Barbara Davidson, 402 N. Saginaw St.;— I think people consider it just another day — they don't have to work and take the opportunity to get out and have as much fun and relaxation as they can. This leads to a careless, carefree attitude which might be the cause of at least some of the accidents."

Miss Davidson

Leo Baumgartner, 4142 Lance Court, Drayton Plains;— Holidays seem to be a time for recreation rather than sentiment in most cases. I think there is more sentiment connected with Decoration Day than with the Fourth of July, because many people visit the graves of their war dead. However, I don't think the majority give a thought to the background of the holiday.

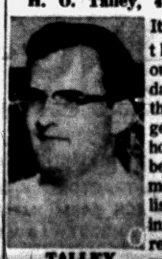

Baumgartner

Mrs. George Johnson, 477 California;— The holidays seem to be a time for party going and merry making, with never a thought as to what Holidays mean. I'll bet there are quite a few people walking the street right now who would have to stop and think for quite a while to tell you what the holidays stand for.

Mrs. Johnson

H. O. Talley, 41 Pine St.; — It seems that they desecrate our national holidays by making them a time to get drunk. The holidays are fast becoming synonymous with long lists of dead and injured which read more and more like a war casualty list.

Limited Martial Law in A-Raid Planned by U.S.

WASHINGTON (INS— The White House says the Army would have to maintain order under "limited martial law" in the event of a massive atomic attack on the U.S.

It also disclosed plans to set up a permanent duplicate federal administration, on a skeletonized basis, in comparatively safe areas to keep the government functioning in case of a surprise attack.

These were the two principal lessons learned from the nation's first test of the ability of the federal government to evacuate Washington and keep functioning.

They were outlined in a report by Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming to President Eisenhower on the recent "Operation Alert 1955," which the White House made public today.

The White House said that "a high-level task force" is now working out a detailed plan for execution of a proclamation by the President of limited martial law in case of atomic attack.

Finds Double Egg

RIVERTON, Wyo. (UP) — Nanette Phillips got a bonus egg when she checked her brood of Red Hampshire pullets. Inside one egg was a smaller egg. The double egg was laid by a pullet less than a year old.

Make Stakes to Support Vine Crops

FARMER'S PRIDE — Everyone knows that running a farm, small or large, requires a good measure of down-to-earth horse sense, plus plenty of hard work. But that's no reason for ruling out beauty, in the opinion of 84-year-old Allen May of 2620 Walton Blvd. May says he's "right proud" of the climbing clematis which he tends himself. The vine is loaded with the exotic waxy white blossoms, some of them measuring as much as six and seven inches in diameter, as May proves with his ruler.

Clematis in Full Bloom

A couple of men who are batching it and running a farm too aren't likely to find much time for flowers.

But 84-year-old Allen May of 2620 Walton Blvd. in Pontiac Township has a flourishing clematis climber that this year was loaded with close to 100 blossoms. Not niggardly two or three-inch blossoms, either, but big white waxy blooms measuring up to seven inches in diameter.

The luxuriant clematis is May's special favorite — the only flower he has time for — and he gives it lots of attention.

Since the death of his wife, Myrtle, two years ago, May and his unmarried son Paul have been keeping their 10-acre farm up themselves, in addition to cooking their own meals and doing the inside household chores.

KNOWN FOR FRUIT

The May farm is not large, but it has a reputation for the excellence of its fruit.

One acre is a vineyard where the two men grow ten varieties of grapes, though Concord grapes are their specialty.

Dwarf pear trees that bloom the first year they're planted produce the large, juicy Mountain Bartlett pears.

There are a number of peach trees, apples, plums, prunes and nectarines, and strawberries and raspberries are grown in their season.

PREFER TO SPECIALIZE

The Mays don't grow vegetables or flowers, outside of Allen's clematis. They prefer to get their eating vegetables from neighboring farms, and specialize in fine fruit.

But the grounds include a variety of trees and shrubs, some of them rare specimens imported from abroad.

And always, as a reminder that man does not live by bread alone, the clematis turns its white yellow-centered blossoms to the sun.

And two men, batching it, take time out often to admire its beauty.

Farm Expert Lists Methods

String Woven Between Guy Wires Useful for Beans, Peas

Some of the taller growing plants and vine crops will need a support of some kind to hold them erect.

To support pole beans and other similar plants, set 6-foot posts every 12 to 15 feet in the row, and drive stakes about 12 feet from either end of the row, says John K. Bray, assistant Oakland County agricultural agent.

Stretch wire between the posts at top and bottom, extending the top wire beyond the end poles and fastening it to the stakes to serve as guy wires. Weave string between the top and bottom wires to support the plants.

Shorter plants such as peas can be supported in the same way, using 3 to 4 foot poles. If available, cut brush stuck in the ground along the row will serve as a satisfactory support for such crops.

MULCH TOMATO PLANTS

Whether to stake tomatoes is a considerably argued question. Usually it is not necessary in Michigan if the soil under the plants is mulched with straw or grass clippings at the time that the plants start to vine out.

This will keep the fruit off the ground and prevent rotting; it will also help to maintain an even soil moisture. If grass clippings are used, not more than an inch should be applied at a time.

If the tomato plants are to be staked, use stakes 1½ inches in diamaeter and 6 feet long. Space them about 24 inches apart in rows 3 feet apart.

TRIM BRANCHES

As the plant starts to grow, remove the small side branches as they appear so only one, or at most two, stems are allowed to develop. Don't remove the leaves on the main stem.

Although it is possible, with proper care, to produce more perfect fruit and to get an earlier crop if tomatoes are staked, the production per square foot is less than when they are allowed to run.

Hunt for Driftwood in Coves or Inlets

Driftwood, of course, on any frequented beach, is at a premium. Any shore spot which has heard of tourists is hep to the monetary value of decorative driftwood.

If you want your driftwood for free, don't scour the ocean side. Someone has been up early in the morning.

Hunt the coves and inlets, particularly after a storm which might have dislodged some choice pieces.

Sure, you can buy driftwood pieces anywhere. But it's more fun to make your own discoveries.

Desert driftwood is where you find it. Sand and wind-scoured wood can be most attractive.

Just be sure to include a small, sharp saw in your travel kit, and keep it handy. Some good pieces are yours if you can detach them from the deep buried whole tree.

Special Care Needed to Keep Ferns Healthy

There are more than 6,000 species of ferns, yet only a few will tolerate the atmosphere of the average home.

First of all, they are extremely particular about light. No self-respecting fern will unfold its fronds in a sparkling green when placed in a dark corner. But if introduced to an eastern window or a very light north window, it will be most happy.

Ferns thrive in a porous soil to which sand, humus and some charcoal has been added, and they must be kept constantly moist, never too soggy or too dry.

Marjorie Norrell Sulzer, in her book, "House Plants," says "the foliage needs frequent wetting with a misty spray on both the under and upper surfaces."

Spraying the foliage every day is recommended by most growers, except during their resting period, (usually in autumn when the leaves drop from the trees).

Check Guy Wires

Check labels, fastenings and guy wires on plant material to make certain that they aren't cutting rings into the swelling trunks and stems of shrubs and trees.

Legend has it the gladiolus is the flower of peace. The plant was unknown in Europe until the 17th century, when it was brought there from South Africa.

The legend that sprang up at that time tells of two brothers who quarreled, and drew their swords in anger. But as they were about to attack each other, one brother said, "How foolish we are — Let us be friends."

Thereupon they thrust their swords into the earth.

Later, where the blades had pierced the ground, sword-like leaves emerged. In time came the flower, which was then called gladiolus from the Latin word, sword.

Rid Garden of Aphids — They Pack a Real Wallop

You often give your house a good cleaning, but how about your plants and trees?

This is the time of year when homeowners should take steps to clean their garden of aphids. These tiny insects often are invisible to the naked eye but they pack a destructive wallop.

They may retard growth, deform buds and shoots, develop galls, produce honeydew, and act as carriers of diseases.

However, the pests readily are controlled by application of contact insecticides, according to F. R. Lancaster, entomologist and technical adviser on tree care.

Summer oil is the control spray generally used, although a formulation of pyrethrum and rotenone or nicotine sprays are effective alternates for some types of trees.

Timing is important in ridding trees of aphids. If the first few can be killed, they won't have a chance to multiply to their usually prolific numbers. More than one tree cleaning a year is recommended to keep them under control.

Homeowner "detectives" spot a sure clue to their presence when leaf surfaces are covered with gummy, sticky deposits. This is called honeydew. At times it becomes so heavy cars parked under trees and sidewalks will become covered with it.

Farm Researchers Tell Advantage of Irrigation

WASHINGTON (INS)—A couple of government farm researchers indicated today they have a sneaking suspicion home gardeners do not fully realize the advantages of irrigation.

Victor R. Boswell and Marlowe D. Thorne, both Agriculture Department scientists, pointed out that many a proud vegetable grower across the nation does not take full benefit of the wonders of irrigation.

They said too many gardeners are of the opinion that irrigation should be confined to areas of moderate rainfall, whereas, according to Boswell and Throne, irrigation can improve yields in all parts of the country.

The two researchers explained that growing vegetables are thirsty little things, and can use three to nine inches of water per month.

HIGH TOTAL

Total water needs of various vegetables during the growing season range from six inches for winter lettuce to as much as 24 inches for tomatoes or potatoes.

Boswell and Throne suggest the use of irrigation in any area which generally receives less than enough rainfall to supply adequate water for all growing vegetables.

According to the government officials, it takes 2,700 gallons of water to supply one inch to a garden measuring 60 to 70 feet. This is about 25 times as much as the average household uses daily per person.

But gardeners should make certain, the scientists advise, that they can obtain their irrigation water at reasonable rates.

USE PURE WATER

Here is one vital recommendation from Boswell and Throne: Vegetables to be eaten raw should be irrigated with pure water only.

* * *

They urge that all gardeners check the quality of irrigation water to make certain it will not harm growing plants.

The two point out, for instance, that garden beets, kale, asparagus, and spinach can stand a great deal of salt in the water they receive. On the other hand, radishes, celery, green beans, and vine crops will tolerate very little salt.

For many crops — other than those to be eaten raw—water from contaminated wells or streams may prove satisfactory.

The researchers suggest moderate irrigation, perhaps once each week, pointing out that five one-inch rains do a garden more good than one five-inch rain.

The "squeeze test" can be applied to soil so that gardeners can determine whether to irrigate. When soil at the rooting depth of vegetables is a little too dry to hold together when it is squeezed in the hand, it is time to irrigate.

Western U.S. contains more than 65 billion feet of standing white fir saw timber.

Santa Claus Leads Writer to Big Bankroll

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Any time I meet a career girl who makes 14.8 times my salary per annum, I become furtive and talk in whispers.

* * *

"Who gotcha the job, honey?" I am likely to say. Or "What do you hear from 'Lucky'?"

* * *

But with Mrs. Ketti Frings, who has a nice, suntanned, open face to go with her bankroll, the big money was obviously honestly obtained. I was frank. "Listen, how did you get into this fabulous income bracket?"

Ketti nicely, openly and suntannedly grinned. "It's easy," she replied:

"I started my career by winning two tickets to a movie in Dayton, Ohio, writing an essay for a local newspaper on 'What Santa Claus Really Means'—did you ever hear of such a subject?—and I knew right then that I was going to be a writer, so I just made it my business to be as good a writer as I could be," she said. Shortly thereafter, she breathed.

"But the money—" I said. "Most writers are notorious paupers."

"Simple," she went on. "I went to Hollywood. You know Hollywood. Where the big contracts grow?"

NO SIMPLE SUCCESS

But the rumor is that women are big time in Hollywood only if they are glamor girls, and there is discrimination against women in the writing and production ends of the business...

* * *

"You don't say!" said Ketti. She reached for the clasp of her weighty purse, then reconsidered. "Ah, but let's not be vulgar," she said.

Truly, in spite of her claim to having had a "simple" burst of success, Mrs. Frings, who is married and has two children, had spent long years over a cold set of typewriters before she won the position she holds today: That of the top-classified woman screen writer in Hollywood.

There were about eight years of rejection slips between her college days and her first movie scenario. To keep her confidence and weight up during that period, she worked anywhere from $20 to $35 a week in Newark, N.J., and New York City.

"It was not so good," she remembers, "but nobody minds things being not so good when she is young."

BROADWAY OUSTER

Her first brush with show business came when—on a month's leave from advertising—she tried to crash Broadway for an acting job. The first producer she met was kind enough to give her a play script to read for an audition.

She studied it overnight and the next day returned the script, saying she didn't think she wanted to be in that show after all because the play was not very good.

* * *

"He threw me out, of course," she said.

Somewhat disillusioned that such perspicacity as hers was to go unrecognized, she returned to ad copy, wondering if she had done the right thing.

The following season the play opened, was panned, and lasted seven performances. Ketti, confidence in her judgment and talent renewed, headed for Hollywood.

* * *

Her first screenplay, "Hold Back the Dawn," earned enough to keep the Frings in patios for a year. Success breeds success, and she now has such screenplays to her credit as "Come Back, Little Sheba," "About Mrs. Leslie," "Because of You," "Thelma Jordan," and her latest — "The Shrike." She also writes successful novels, plays and musical comedies.

* * *

"See how easy it is?" said Ketti. "All you have to know is what Santa Claus really means—and you're on your way."

There's a moral in that somewhere.

PHS Editor Describes Summer Journalism Study

Students from state high schools recently completed a short course in journalism at Michigan State University at East Lansing. Vicky Micu, assistant editor of the Pontiac High School "Tomahawk," has written the following report of the session.

By VICKY MICU

More than 160 high school journalists throughout the state of Michigan attended the Michigan State Journalism Short Course Workshop from June 20 to July 1.

* * *

The group was housed in Abbot Hall for the course, later sharing it with students attending the music and speech seminars. (In the journalism group the girls outnumbered the boys nearly 5 to 1.)

Special workshops were offered in the morning sessions of the course; printed newspapers, mimeographed newspapers, and yearbooks. We who worked on the printed newspaper, put out two issues of the Michigan State News, the college paper. Our staff numbered 75, and our editor and various associate editors were chosen. The morning workshops proved to be most interesting, and of most value to a majority of students.

Lecture courses were given in the afternoon: news writing; news editing; feature writing, and photography. A special course in management and advertising was given to those interested by Professor A. A. Applegate, head of the department of journalism, and Professor McIntyre also from the journalism department. In photography class, the group learned how to operate the Speed-Graphic camera, develop pictures, crop and enlarge them. One afternoon was devoted solely to picture taking around the campus by students, who developed and enlarged their pictures.

NOT ALL WORK

Recreational facilities were abundant, with organized games provided for the group by counselors and a special student committee. Highlights of our trip were a visit to the State Capitol and tour of the city of Lansing.

* * *

During the stay at State, many students became very familiar with the beautiful campus, and took full advantage of its tennis courts, volley ball and softball fields, the swimming pool, ice-skating rink, the museum and library, and Fairchild theater.

Rounding out the 2-week stay was a special banquet served the Friday we left, July 1. It was important to the journalism group because it was the final day of our summer course, and the last time Professor Applegate, head of the journalism department, would address a group as head of the J-department, for he is retiring. Also Michigan State College officially became Michigan State University that day.

Special awards were given at the banquet for those doing outstanding work in the various workshops. I was honored to receive an award for work in printed newspapers section.

CHICAGO (UP) — The new headquarters building of the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind will have a special garden for the blind nearby.

Tags marked in braille will be attached to the flowers and shrubs so the sightless may identify them by touch.

Hope Receives $1,000

HOLLAND (UP) — Hope College has announced receipt of a $1,000 grant from the United States Steel Foundation. Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, Hope president, said the grant came from a fund of $220,000, to be distributed among about 200 privately supported colleges throughout the United States.

Flood Control Includes Three State Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise version of a 554 million dollar program for flood control and navigation goes back to both the House and Senate today.

A conference committee compromised differences yesterday. Among projects on which the two chambers differed were three in Michigan.

The Michigan phojects came through committee action with the same appropriations as recommended originally by the House.

These were $110,000 for the Black River harbor; $241,000 for the Crooked and Indian Rivers, and $433,000 for Port Austin.

Quiet Candy Wrappers Boon to Concertgoers

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — A British firm has invented a silent wrapping for chocolates to cut out that rustle at concerts and theaters.

Two hundred boxes with the new plastic - based wrapping were tried out at a philharmonic society concert last night.

Society officials said they didn't hear a thing except the music. They canceled their longtime ban on chocolates with music.

Woman Dies of Burns

PORT HURON (AP) — Burns over most of her body from a rubbish fire last Saturday brought death Wednesday to Mrs. Olive M. Arnot, 51, of nearby Yale.

Hollywood Headlines

Wilding Hopes to Produce Picture With Liz Taylor

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella Parsons is on vacation her column will be written by Dorothy Manners.)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Michael Wilding, never really happy over his roles at MGM, is shopping carefully for the right part now that he's on his own.

Meanwhile, he's put out his own cash to buy Richard Bennett's "One More Moment" which he'll produce under the banner of his newly formed independent company and in which he hopes to co-star with his wife, Elizabeth Taylor.

For this, of course, he'll have to borrow Elizabeth from MGM — which shouldn't be too hard if she turns on the charm.

"Naturally," says the British Mike, "it's a love story."

TITA FINDS ROMANCE

Tita Purdom, a very bitter gal over the romance of her soon-to-be ex, Edmund, and Linda Christian, seems to have found romance herself.

She is continually in the company of Jack Iverson and the talk is that as soon as she and Purdom make a financial settlement, Tita will file for divorce.

After this, it's anybody's guess what happens. The betting is heavy that Linda won't marry Edmund—but you get few takers that Tita and Iverson don't tie the knot.

THEY'RE RECONCILING

It's beginning to look as if the "summer separation" of Vivian Blaine and Manny Franks won't last through the summer. Very quietly these two have been dining at La Paradiso, a small cafe near Toluca Lake.

They also make frequent visits to the home in Beverly Hills, construction on which was started before they decided to take a holiday from marriage.

When it's completed, who'll be surprised if the Franks move in right on schedule?

DIANA CALLED HOME

Hotel accommodations are so scarce in London that Diana Lynn had to move in with Mona Freeman at the Savoy. And, no sooner was Diana unpacked than she was flagged down to come home for the U.S. Steel Hour's "The Seventh Veil."

Remember when James Mason made this a movie with Ann Todd? It was really Mason's initial hit in this country.

The Mason role in the TV show will be played by Dan O'Herlihy and Diana plays the Todd part, that of the protegee of a cruel but fine pianist.

SHIMMY IT OFF

The long blooming, or should I say shimmying—Gilda Gray is being tested for the part of a burlesque doll in "Weekend in Las Vegas."

But my favorite news about Gilda today is that she will sponsor a "shimmy bed" being put out by a reducing company claiming "you sleep—we'll shimmy it off!"

What next, what next?

LORETTA IMPROVING

Hollywood in shorts: With Loretta Young improving so beautifully from her recent surgery, Tom Lewis took off on a flying business trip to New York.

Michael Rennie surprised diners at the Captain's Table by singing a few songs to his heart, Lisa Davis. Good voice, too.

His studio is doing a nip-up over Audie Murphy's newly acquired craze for skin diving. Not while he's on a picture, anyway.

Ruthie Berle, Uncle Miltie's wife, has rented a house in Beverly Hills for a year and she and Milton move in Aug. 1. He's doing all his new TV shows from the NBC Burbank studios.

Gina Lollobrigida is so eager to learn to speak English she's hired a secretary forbidden to speak anything but "American-style" English to her.

State Grad Pay —$81.21 a Week

Average Starting Wage Now $4,223 Yearly for Michigan Collegians

EAST LANSING (AP)—This year's graduate from Michigan State University is getting a starting salary of $257 more than the 1954 graduate, the MSU placement bureau said today.

The average starting salary of the 1955 graduate is $4,223 compared to $3,966 for the 1954 graduate.

Veterinary medicine continued to pay the highest starting salary with a $4,750 average this year against $4,300 last year.

Graduates with Doctor's degrees averaged $6,455 this year against $6,268 last year. Those with Master's degrees jumped from $4,059 last year to $4,886 this year.

More than 6,400 interviews were conducted on the campus by prospective employers. More than 90 per cent of the employers said they were willing to hire men who faced military service.

Job opportunities, the Placement Bureau said, continued to be the greatest for graduates from the School of Engineering.

Sugar Company Gets Pleas for Inspiration

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—The switchboard at the Crystal Sugar Co. probably was the busiest one in Chicago for a couple of hours yesterday, but not with business calls.

The callers wanted 30-second inspirational messages in a new service of the Young Men's Christian Assn. The telephone number to call had appeared incorrectly in a newspaper and the company received 300 calls in two hours.

The calls were switched to the YMCA which reported callers kept the service busy all day at its capacity of 600 messages an hour.

Hay Baler Accident

JACKSON (AP) — Gerald Russler, 27, an inmate of Southern Michigan Prison, suffered a crushed leg Thursday when it became entangled in a hay baler. The leg later was amputated in the prison hospital.

Five Children Die From Gas on Shore Holiday

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) —Five children were found dead yesterday in their gas-filled bedroom while on seaside vacation with their grandfather.

The children, three girls and two boys ranging in age from 4 to 13, didn't answer their grandfather's breakfast call.

The grandfather, Robert Patton, said he thought "the rest would do them good" so he didn't trouble them further.

Later he opened the door and found an old gas jet wide open and the children dead in their beds. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

Affectionate Husband Finds Cuddling Costly

DETROIT (AP)—Carlton Jackson, an affectionate husband of six months, was riding with his arm around his bride. It cost him $73.

A policeman spotted Jackson and pulled him over to the curb. In the process, Jackson hit another car, causing slight damage. Then he griped to the officer and wound up at the pogey.

That's when a check showed he owed $43 in past traffic tickets and his wife owed $8.

Traffic Judge John D. Watts said pay up—now—including a fine for one-armed reckless driving.

UAW Names Patterson

DETROIT (AP) — E. S. Patterson, Assistant Director of the CIO United Auto Workers' General Motors Department, has been named an administrative assistant to John W. Livingston, UAW vice president and GM department director. E. J. Moran was named to succeed Patterson, who was an original organizer of the UAW's Oldsmobile local in Lansing.

Turkey to Reject Note

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Foreign Office sources say Turkey will reject Bulgaria's demand for the release of Bulgarian Vice Consul Georgi Barkanoff Tcholakoff, arrested in Istanbul July 4 on spy charges. The note from Sofia had termed the charges a frameup.

The number of U.S. women working in private households as maids declined from 2 million in 1940 to less than 1.5 million in 1950.

Man Gives Mate Impromptu Bob; Ends Argument

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—James Milton Waters, 23, mentioned to his wife that he planned to move to Oklahoma City and she, of course, should come along.

No, said Mrs. Waters, she wasn't going.

Then, according to Mrs. Waters' testimony yesterday in court:

Waters grabbed her and started whacking at her hair with a butcher knife.

She, petite and 22, was proud of her hair. It was red and waist-length. (It's sort of crew-cut now).

The butcher knife was dull and Waters switched to a razor blade, said Mrs. Waters. "He cut it a curl at a time and dropped it on the floor."

* * *

Waters, a tile-setter, admitted he cut her hair but said, "I just wanted to hurt her feelings." He did.

Anyway, he said offhand in court her hair is really blonde; she dyed it red.

"My hair," snapped Mrs. Waters, "is not dyed. It is naturally red."

Waters was fined $250 on aggravated assault charges. Mrs. Waters also is asking a divorce.

The period of gestation in kangaroos is about three weeks, but the young are very poorly developed at birth, requiring a period in the marsupial pouch before they are capable of much independent movement.

High School Youth Beats, Kills Woman

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—An Atlanta housewife was bludgeoned and shot to death in her home last night and a 16-year-old high school pupil was charged with the crime, police said.

* * *

The body of Mrs. Sarah White, 46, a bullet hole in her face and the head covered with marks of blows, was found in a bedroom.

* * *

Sgt. G. H. Christian and Detective N. W. Flanagan said Ray Coggins, a neighbor boy, made an oral admission and led them to the weapon. The gun, a .32-caliber revolver belonging to the slain woman, had one chamber fired, officers said.

"She was always teasing me," the boy was quoted, "so I hit her and she was laying there screaming, so I got her gun and shot her."

Here's Answer to Bonanzagram No. 17

Pasted-Up Note Tells Why Hubby Left

Scraps of a note found by police, when pasted together, indicated that the missing man had left of his own accord and the note explained his motives.

This is how it was figured out:

MY ANGEL takes precedence over MY ANGER as the opening words, for the story clues characterized the couple as "ideally happy." MY CROSSNESS AND RAVING fit better than CRASSNESS, which would indicate stupidity, or RAGING, which would repeat the idea of CROSSNESS.

NEVER MAKE SENSE has more validity than the phrasing RAGING FEVER MAKE TENSE SITUATIONS COME UP. The writer is apparently apologizing for former quarrels, mentioned in the story clues.

SITUATIONS COME UP begins a new sentence, which goes on BUT WE'VE BEEN HARRIED SO LONG, HARRIED, (that is, harassed) is another reference to the constant arguments, and so is better than MARRIED. AND LOSE EACH OTHER is, by the same reasoning, more to the point than LOVE EACH OTHER.

IN THE BUSTLE OF DAILY LIFE. BUSTLE, meaning agitation or fussy activity, has the edge over HUSTLE, meaning energetic activity. DAIRY LIFE would not fit, for no indication was given of the man's occupation.

I SEEM ALWAYS TO BOG DOWN. The phrasing of this letter is fairly colloquial and therefore BOG DOWN is better than BOW DOWN, TO FAIL TO HAVE MY WAY. The writer has already mentioned his CROSSNESS and RAVING; therefore FAIL is chosen over RAIL or WAIL. And it is his WAY that he wants; the "loud arguments" in the story clues gave evidence that he did have his SAY.

HAVE I EVER DENIED YOU—EVER is more logical than EVEN, and DENIED carries the thought better than DEFIED, for the question goes on ANYTHING YOU SOUGHT FOR? SOUGHT is a more tactful word than FOUGHT here.

WHATEVER APPEALED TO YOU is the choice over APPEARED TO YOU, for the next phrase is TO BE BITTER FOR THE MOMENT WAS OK. BITTER and not BETTER fits here: the husband is understandably BITTER at the situation with his wife, but he has tried hard not to show it. The disclosure that he is feeling BITTER, even FOR THE MOMENT, may well account for his decision not to leave the note, but to tear it up and throw it in the basket.

I CAN'T RATTLE AROUND ANY MORE is more logical wording than I CAN'T BATTLE AROUND AND MOPE. THE WASTING YEARS is right. YEAR is fairly obvious, and WASTING gives the sense better than WAITING or WANTING or the poetic WAFTING.

COULD BRING US THE BEST—BEST has a broader meaning than the REST or ZEST here. THE GIFT OF THINGS WE'VE EARNED, WELL DESERVED. GIFT is a better fit than GIST. DESERTED would not fit. The writer might have said DARNED WELL DESERVED, but the evidence tips in favor of his saying THINGS WE'VE EARNED.

YOU'VE DERIDED MY WISHING AS SILLY. DERIDED, a word which may be another reason why the remorseful but stubborn husband tore up his letter, is better than DECIDED. FISHING, while it takes many men away from home, was not implied by any of the clues. Therefore, other combinations, such as YOU'VE DECIDED MY FISHING IS SILLY, do not fit so well.

From what follows, it becomes obvious that the husband is going off on a trip in spite of his wife's arguments against it. YES, SIR, TRAVEL IS FOR ME shows him indulging in a bit of bravado. If AIR TRAVEL had been the attraction, he would probably have used the word FLYING. MONEY IS ON THE SHELF indicates a more likely hiding place than IN THE SHELL.

The signature is not ROMED, ROMER or ROMES, although they would tie in with the foot-loose character of the writer. The man who calls his wife MY ANGEL would surely sign himself ROMEO.

American Gag Writers Should Come to Europe

By EARL WILSON

GENOA—I wonder why the Hollywood and Broadway gag writers don't come to Europe for a spell.

Let's take the circus.

"That's a very religious lion" . . . "Why is he very religious?" . . . "He only eats his trainers on Friday."

There's a beautiful shapely girl lunging at her boy friend on the sofa. He's doing his best to hold her in his two arms but almost needs another one, since she overflows somewhat.

"I'm going to call my aunt," she whispers passionately.

"Why are you going to call your aunt?" he asks.

"Because my aunt is deaf!"

★ ★ ★

The husbands in Europe seem better trained than ours in some respects—much wilder in others. Four women at a tea party unexpectedly see the hostess' husband bending over them.

"Oh, darling," the wife shrieks, "we were just talking about you!"

And they're all laughing fit to kill.

In the U. S., husbands might resent that; here they accept it. We may often mention their siesta habits—but in a cartoon, they show a Mexican prison guard jealously eyeing a prisoner in his cell when the temperature reaches 120 in the shade.

Finally the guard takes his siesta in the cell on the cot—makes the prisoner stand outside the cell guarding him.

I also saw a cartoon of a husband and wife perched atop a chiffonier with a Great Dane staring at them from below, a piece of his master's britches in his teeth.

The husband has the telephone.

"H-e-l-l-o," he is saying timidly," is this the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Ann-n-n-imals?"

Commuter Ticket May Be Answer to End Problem

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—A Bulgarian who twice fled from his home country apparently wants to go back again.

* * *

He is Vasil Mavrodiev, 26. He quit Bulgaria in 1949, telling Turkish authorities he had been beaten for voting a blank ballot in an election.

He went home in 1953, under terms of an amnesty announced by the Communists.

Early this year he showed up in Turkey again, with an 18-year-old girl. He said the promises which had drawn him back to Bulgaria were lies; this time he was choosing freedom, along with his sweetheart. Refugee groups lent a helping hand.

In May the couple disappeared. There's some ground for belief they are living in the Bulgarian consulate. At least, Bulgarian officials are seeking an exit permit for Mavrodiev to return to Bulgaria. The Turks insist he apply in person. There the matter rests.

This is only one facet of a struggle being waged here and in many European cities to reclaim refugees. Agents for satellite countries are trying to talk refugees into returning home. They promise good jobs and forgiveness.

Boarding House Blaze Traps, Kills 4 Lodgers

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP)—Four men perished today in a lodging house fire.

They were trapped on the top floor of the three-story brick dwelling and perished despite rescue efforts by the landlady, Mrs. Mary Lacey, 63, fellow-lodgers and firefighters.

The dead were identified tentatively by police as: Edward Johnson, 76; Charles Kenney, 65; John Eagan, 70, and Robert Davis, 37.

Folk Music Authority Dr. Bryan Dies at 43

PINSON, Ala. (AP)—Dr. Charles Faulkner Bryan, 43, composer and authority on American folk music, died unexpectedly at his home yesterday.

He was a native of McMinnville, Tenn. He had composed more than 35 musical works.

Congress legally named the Star Spangled Banner as the national anthem on March 3, 1931. It was written 117 years before by Francis S. Key.

The voyage of the steamship Savannah in 1817 from the U. S. to England marked the first time that mail traveled by steam power instead of sails.

INDIAN LEGEND...

IN 1750 the Ottawa Indian Chief, Pontiac selected Apple Island in Orchard Lake as the site for the capital of his vast empire which extended from the Appalachian Mountains to the Mississippi and from Lake Superior to the Gulf of Mexico. It was from this site in 1763 that Pontiac planned his conspiracy against the British.

State Eyes Its Best All-Time Tourist Mark

Furlong Says Michigan Expects 16 Millions to Visit Parks

LANSING (AP) — A crescendo of cash registers in the north country has boosted hopes that this may be the best tourist year in Michigan history.

From the Indiana border to the Keweenaw Peninsula, a sport-shirted army is capturing lakes and streams, camping in the forests and building sand bulwarks along a thousand miles of beaches.

State conservation officials have predicted some 16,000,000 persons will visit the state's parks, setting a new record.

And the sale of fishing licenses, which has already reached 472,000, may set a new high, they say.

"We expect about nine million persons will be travelling in Michigan this year," says Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council. Of these, some three million will be from out of state.

Although he hesitates to make a prediction, Furlong said present indications are that the tourist industry may do as well this year as in 1953—its peak year.

What brings all these people to Michigan? "Mostly water," answers Furlong.

Michigan comes by its current alias, "Water Wonderland," naturally. Here are some facts about the state's water resources:

There is no point in Michigan where you are more than 85 miles from one of the four Great Lakes. And it's impossible to be more than six miles from a lake or stream.

Michigan has 11,037 inland lakes larger than 10 acres. More than 400 of these are over 200 acres in size.

Only two counties—Sanilac and Saginaw—don't have lakes. Seven counties — Oakland, Marquette, Luce, Iron, Gogebic, Schoolcraft and Barry—have more than 300 lakes.

Michigan has 36,350 miles of streams, about half of which are trout waters.

Donovan's Five Hit Job, Dropo's Homer Features

Big Walt Blasts Four Run Hit in Sixth as Chicago Wins 12-1

DETROIT (AP) — Those pesky Kansas City A's—who act like the Yankees when they play the Detroit Tigers — move into Briggs stadium tonight for the opener for a four-game series.

Strange as it may sound, it's an important series for the Tigers, who are only 5½ games ahead of the 6th place A's.

Kansas City has taken seven of 12 games against the Tigers this season—including the last six in a row.

The A's swept the Tigers in a Memorial Day doubleheader in Detroit, then took four straight from them last weekend in Kansas City.

Billy Hoeft, Tigers' all-star southpaw, will oppose Kansas City's Arnold Portocarrero, a promising righthander. Hoeft had an 8-3 record and Portocarrero 2-3.

A pair of ex-Tigers—Dick Donovan and Walt Dropo — combined their talents yesterday to lead the White Sox to a 12-1 romp over the Tigers.

Serving up his "nickle curve," more commonly known as a slider—Donovan yielded only five hits while racking up his 10th win against only two losses. He retired the 1st nine batters in order, then the last 10, but lost his shutout in the 6th on Fred Hatfield's home run.

Donovan, you'll recall, had a brief trial with the Tigers last season. He appeared in two games, pitching six innings.

The Tigers sent him to Atlanta, where he learned his nickle pitch from Whitlow Wyatt, manager of the Crackers. White Sox drafted him last winter, and they've never been sorry.

Dropo, who hit only a nickle's worth of homers when he was with the Tigers, crashed his 10th yesterday. It came with the bases loaded in the 6th inning, highlighting a six-run outburst.

It was Dropo's 2nd this season with the bags loaded. He also had two singles yesterday and knocked in five runs.

Duke Maas, rookie righthander from Utica, went out in the 2nd inning when the Sox jumped away to a 2-0 lead. It evened his record at 5-5. Babe Birrer, Leo Cristante and George Zuverink followed him to the mound.

King-Sized Gemuetlichkeit!

Enthusiastic Milwaukee Fans Set for All-Stars

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee baseball fans, who pour through the gates of County Stadium in never ending streams to watch their Braves play, are setting the stage for a king-sized Gemuetlichkeit next Tuesday, the date for the 1955 All-Star game.

Milwaukee, as the National League's newest member, is midway in its third season and hardly a fan who shouted a welcome when the Braves moved in from Boston has dropped by the wayside. In the first two years in the league, Braves' fans posted new senior circuit attendance records, and the pace for 1955 is ahead of the 1954 record year.

* * *

Milwaukee and Wisconsin fans remained in line for a look at the 22nd annual All-Star game. They sapped up the tickets to County Stadium in 24 hours when they were put on sale early in the spring.

The park's capacity, 43,110, will be stretched to 45,000 or a few more for the big day.

All fans will know it's a special day in Milwaukee—the land of the Gemuetlichkeit—a genial hospitality—long before they get to the ball park.

An All-Star festival will open Monday evening with a parade along Wisconsin Ave., the city's main street, and will last for eight days. Flags and pennants will deck the line of march and eight-foot tall cutouts of famous sports events will be added to the decorations.

The parade will include, besides marching bands and units, some real Braves as 60 of Wisconsin's Indians take their place in the line of march.

Steve Kebler of the Union nine and the Jets' Russ Lothery tangled in a pitchers battle, which saw the Anderson club come from behind twice to knot the count. Lothery gave up four hits and struck out 16 batters. Kebler was touched for six hits while fanning five.

CIO opened the scoring with a run in the 1st on a walk, two stolen bases and a fielder's choice.

Union club scored again in the 4th on two singles and a walk before the Jets tallied for the 1st time in the same inning. Another tally by the Jets in the 5th forced the contest into overtime. Each team scored once in the 8th stanza, then darkness intervened.

Ducky Oertel on Sidelines After Injury

Broken Wrist Result of Collision; May Be Out Rest of Year

Misfortune struck the young baseball career of Pontiac's Charles (Ducky) Oertel last Monday night when he suffered a fractured wrist during a doubleheader with the Shreveport club at Mission Stadium in San Antonio, Texas.

News of Ducky's accident was received here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Oertel, 111 Raeburn Court. It is believed that the injury will keep him out of action for the rest of the season.

Oertel, an outfielder for the San Antonio Misisons in the Texas League, incurred the break in a collision at 1st base. Ducky slid into 1st, causing the Shreveport 1st sacker to fall on him.

The former St. Frederick's star was enjoying a prosperous season with the San Antonio team, property of the Baltimore Orioles. He was among the Texas minor loop's top hitters at the time of his injury.

Golfer Graham Finds It Easy to Reverse Self

Graham John Graham, certainly one of Oakland County's best known citizens, reversed himself rather easily the other day.

John had just played a weekend round of golf on one of those ninety plus days. "I see the Press says it will be 90 again tomorrow," remarked the observant Graham. "I think I'll lay off."

"That," agreed one of his foursome, "is a sage and sensible decision."

The Great Graham nodded.

"By the way, John," queried one of his opponents, "in the 1955 calendar, how many Julys do you think there are?"

"That," agreed John after very brief reflection, "is another sage and sensible observation. I'll be on the tee at 2:30."

Could the fact the G. G. had a 76 that day have influenced his decision?

Farmers Upset Bulldogs

Fightin' Farmers upset league-leading Bulldogs, 12-11, in a Free Methodist Church Softball League game Thursday night at the GMC athletic field. The Sluggers and Crusaders battled to a 22-22 tie in a slugfest called at the end of eight innings because of darkness. Bulldogs still top the standings with a 4-2 record, chased by the Farmers at 3-3.

Orioles' Camp Real Success, Officials Say

Friday's Roster Gets Boost to 75; Some Good Prospects Seen

Baltimore Orioles' major league baseball tryout camp concluded Thursday at Wisner Field on a high note of success. An additional 20 boys reported yesterday, bringing the two-day total to 75.

"We were very pleased with the success of the camp," said Tony Stiel of Birmingham, who conducted the camp's activities. Stiel, Baltimore scout for this area, was assisted by Lou D'Amunzio, former Tiger scout; Art Conn of Detroit; and Pontiac's Ernie Zubalik, part-time scout for the Orioles.

A "perpetual" game was played in yesterday's windup sessions. The contest enabled every boy to participate and permit the scouts to observe their performances under game conditions. No score was kept and players and positions were constantly changed.

Of the 75 hopefuls who turned out, 35 were from Pontiac. Nearly a dozen Pontiac boys showed definite capabilities and upwards of another dozen from the Oakland County area also indicated strong potential, according to Stiel. Orioles were almost certain to sign up three or four outstanding candidates, Stiel reported.

Pontiac boys listed as potential talent were Ted Wharry, Jerry Vallad, Al Hayward, Jim Lowery, Robert Yahnke, Frank Brown, Dick Slade, Dick Deschaine, Bob Pickett, Homer Harrison and Bobby Sykes.

Oakland County area players on the potential roster were Bob Johnson, Clarkston; Earl Garner, Holly; Harold Krueger, Snover; Dick Sheldon, Birmingham; Harlan Worden and Louis Grinnell, Lake Orion; Jim Scheibner and Jerry Faught, Milford; and Roger Voorheis and Melvin McKeachie, Davisburg.

"It's my opinion," said Tony, "that this was one of the best major league tryout camps of the year."

"Every kid that came out at Wisner field showed something good. He might be a good pitcher, a good thrower, a good hitter and runner, but every one had something good to show us. We were very pleased at the results.

"I would say that the pitching prospects were the most promising. there were a number of boys who displayed very good ability. Of course, we haven't made up our minds about who may, or may not be signed as a result of the tryouts, but we hope to find some good prospects among the leading group of a half dozen or more."

Details are being worked out with Dave Ewalt of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department to make the camp an annual affair, Stiel said. The recreation department was a co-sponsor of the camp just concluded.

Stiel said he hopes to make next year's event a clinic for boys ages 14-18 rather than a tryout camp.

NBA Will Honor Ring Suspension

HARRISBURG, Pa., (AP) — Light heavyweight Harold Johnson is under a nationwide six-months suspension today as an aftermath of his May 6 fight with Julio Mederos.

Tony Petronella, president of the National Boxing Assn., announced in Providence, R. I., last night that the NBA would honor the suspension of Johnson by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

Meanwhile, the Illinois Athletic Commission said it would automatically recognize the suspension if approved by the NBA. And James A. Finnegan, Pennsylvania's Secretary of the Commonwealth, said that Connecticut and New York have "an unwritten gentleman's agreement with Pennsylvania to go along with each other on suspensions." New York is not an NBA member.

'Say Hey' Hits Stride

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Say Hey! Willie Mays is thumpin', not slumpin', these days.

It was a long spring for the New York Giants' 24-year-old phenom, but now that the weather has turned hot, so has Willie.

With two home runs in the Giants' 8-5 victory over Philadelphia yesterday, Mays has hit 10 in the last 10 games after going without a homer in the preceding 11. The spree leaves him just one shy of the National League leaders, Brooklyn's Duke Snider and Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski, who have 28.

* * *

Mays now has hammered two home runs in one game six times this season, putting him within reach of the league record of 10, set by Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh in 1947, and the major league mark of 11 set by Detroit's Hank Greenberg in 1938.

Mays hasn't been going exclusively for the homer, however. Willie, who hit 41 homers and took the National batting crown with a .345 mark last season, has been hitting at a .390 clip in the last 10 games. That's upped his average from .283 to .298.

* * *

With Mays hitting one of three Giant homers in a six-run sixth, New York overcame a 5-0 deficit to beat the Phillies and strengthen its hold on fourth place. Half of the Giants' 10 hits were home runs.

Brooklyn extended its league lead to 13½ games again, beating Pittsburgh 4-3. Milwaukee moved a percentage point ahead of third place Chicago, defeating the Cubs 3-2. St. Louis beat Cincinnati 9-8.

* * *

With New York idle in the American, Cleveland clipped the Yankees' lead to four games, beating Kansas City 9-1. Third place Chicago whipped Detroit 12-1. Boston won its seventh straight, 6-5 over Washington.

Art Ceccarelli held Cleveland to one hit for six innings, but the Tribe got rolling in the last three frames for all its runs. Larry Doby homered twice and Al Rosen once in the prolonged rally.

Boston scored three in the first on Norb Zauchin's 18th homer, but had to break a 3-3 tie with three more in the seventh. George Susce saved it for reliefer Ellis Kinder, shutting off a two-run Nat rally in the ninth.

A one-hit shutout by Pat Carrey of Louie's Tavern and a comeback triumph by Drive-In Cleaners featured Thursday night's action in the men's city softball leagues.

Louie's Tavern kept on top of the National loop standings with a 2-0 victory over Mike's Used Cars. Pat Carrey hurled a neat one-hitter for the tavern nine, LaRose singling in the 5th inning for Mike's lone safety. Louie's scored twice in the 4th frame on a walk to Don Dubats, and singles by Del Wheeler and Harry Diehl.

Drive-In Cleaners overcame a 3-2 deficit to edge Franklin Products, 4-3. The winners took an early 2-0 lead, only to see Franklin score three times in the 3rd on singles by Don Williams and Blake, a double by pitcher Cal Bidwell and Burt's triple. Cecil Poppy's triple was Drive-In's big blow in the winning rally, plus a single by Robert Volk and a double by Ed Smith. Bob Harris was the winning hurler.

Ashland Flying Octane scored four runs in the 4th inning, then went on to defeat Bicmar Inn, 6-2, for its 1st win of the season. The Ashland crew had lost 12 straight games prior to last night's triumph.

North Side Service chased runs across the plate in every inning to smother Pontiac & Opdyke, 24-8.

The losers scored in all but two innings, but their sprees were not as prodigous as the North Side crew.

Pontiac Old Timers Seek 2nd Victory

Pontiac's Old Timers will try to get back on the victory trail Sunday afternoon at Wisner Field when they meet St. Thomas of Ontario in an International Old Timers League baseball game. Starting time is 2 p.m.

Manager Bud Leslie's Old Timers have dropped their last two decisions to sport a 1-2 record. "Lefty" Wolf and Clyde George are slated for mound duty in Sunday's tilt, with Kenny White behind the plate. George is currently leading the league in batting with nine hits in 11 times at bat for a fat .818.

Rosebud Market and Clarkston Merchants prepped for an important Class D meeting today by winning Thursday contests in City Junior League action, while Class E Boys Clubbers continued to roll.

Rosebud downed Dublin Community Center, 3-1. Pitching rivals matched 3-hitters but the winners took advantage of walks and errors for the victory margin. After a walk and a miscue put 2 on in the 1st inning, Enoch Graves knocked them in with a single.

Clarkston shut out the Mets, 10-0, as Art Caverly and Bob Yahnke teamed up on a 4-hitter. Yahnke also was the big man at the plate with 4 hits, including a home run.

Boys Club toppled Community Market, 9-1, as Jerry Orr posted a 2-hitter. A 6-run flurry in the 3rd settled the issue.

Both Class F games were forfeits with Boys Club and West Side winning from City Janitors and North Siders, respectively, and the North Side Aces claimed a Knothole forfeit from the Orioles.

In the other three Knothole tilts, the season pattern remained the same. The team that doesn't score 20 runs is a piker. The Senators did it to the A's in the 1st inning to put a quick end to their game as Dick Perez contributed a homer.

The Red Sox missed by one run, getting "only" 19 in the 1st inning, but finished off Lytell-Colegrove, 24-0, in the 2nd inning. The trick was done on only 5 hits, one a homer by Alex Shorter.

Tigers walloped Wing Lake, 20-0, in a game that went 5 frames. Ron Burnstrum held Wing Lake hitless, while Bob Bashore had 3 safeties for the Tigers.

Dodgers Possibly Could Win Pennant by Playing Only .500 Ball, but They'll Likely Do Better

NEW YORK (AP)—A man says he has seen it seriously suggested that the Brooklyn Ddgers can win the National League pennant merely by playing .500 ball the rest of the way, and he wants to know if this is true. The answer is that they might, provided the other clubs cooperate, but that they had better not try it.

* * *

In looking back over that fabled season of 1951, the one in which the Giants passed their "little miracle," it still comes as mild surprise to realize that the Dodgers held a 13½-game lead in the middle of a doubleheader on August 11. Also that from that point on Charley Dressen's bewitched athletes played better than .500 ball—27-25 to be exact—and did not get into the World Series.

So, it all depends upon whether there is a team in the league which, starting within the next month, can put together a victory streak somewhere approximating the 39-8 drive that carried the Giants into a tie on the final day and set the stage for Bobby Thomson's dream home run in the last inning of a three-game playoff.

* * *

It is possible, of course, that even such a streak by, say, the Milwaukee Braves would not turn the trick this time, for it is generally acknowledged that today's Dodgers are a sounder outfit than the '51 club, deeper in reserve strength and in pitching. Barring a series of crippling injuries to key men, it is difficult to imagine them settling for an even break the rest of the way.

Delving into how the '51 club contrived to dissipate its great lead—70-35 to the Giants' 59-51 on the day the world began to tilt—one is struck by luckless Ralph Branca's role in the skid to oblivion.

Through Aug. 11 Branca was sporting a gaudy 10-3 mark and appeared to be on the brink of a fine career. He was to win only three more games while losing nine, and was never to regain his skill and confidence after Thomson's climactic belt.

* * *

While all the Dodger hitters fell off to some extent, there was no real collapse in that department. Peewee Reese's drop from .316 to .286 probably hurt the most. Roy Campanella still wound up hitting .325 and knocking in 108 runs. Jackie Robinson had a .338 season, and both Gil Hodges and Duke Snider drove in more than 100 runs. When you get that kind of hitting and don't win a flag you're just not living right.

One of the main reasons the present Dodgers are not likely to give a repeat performance is the very fact that their key men went through the '51 ordeal and still suffer from the recollection.

Only 1.32 Earned Runs!

5 Good Relief Pitchers Giving Red Sox Big Lift in Dash From Second Division

BOSTON (AP)—Five hard-working relief pitchers, the core of Boston's forgotten bullpen staff, loom as the key men of the onrushing Red Sox.

Ranging in age from 22-year-old George Susce Jr. to 40-year-old Ellis Kinder, the group also includes clutch specialist Tom Hurd, Ivan (Ike) Delock and lefty Leo Kiely.

Manager Mike Higgins proved the value of his "Miracle Moundsmen" last night in the Sox 6-5 victory over Washington—seventh in a row and 26th in their last 31.

* * *

Kinder came on in the sixth inning when starter Bill Henry yielded three hits as the Nationals rallied to tie the score 3-3. His mates gave Kinder three runs in the seventh but Ellie weakened and was pounded for three hits and two runs with none out in the ninth.

Higgins went to the well again, this time for Susce to hold a hairline lead.

Susce, whose repertoire of slow-breaking, tantilizing pitches, was out of it in no time. Tom Umphlett popped up, Ed FitzGerald fanned and on the pitch pinch runner Pedro Ramos was thrown out trying to steal second for the final out.

* * *

While frequent mention has been made this year of the work of reliefers like New York's Jim Konstanty and Tom Morgan, Cleveland's Ray Narleski and Don Mossi and Chicago's Sandy Consuegra, the Sox feel Boston's firemen have been slighted.

* * *

As the fourth place Sox moved to within 6½ games of first place New York, the five relief men have appeared in 19 of the 31 games in Boston's headlong dash. In the stretch they've pitched 61 1-3 innings and given up nine runs for a collective earned run average of 1.32 for nine innings.

The two runs off Kinder last night were the first given by Sox relief men for 25 innings dating back to June 28.

Drayton All-Star Tilt Set Tonight; Drug, D&W Win

Waterford Township's softball leaguers take time off from league play tonight to play an all-star game at the Drayton Park at 8 p.m. The game is a benefit for Frank Keelean.

Tickets will be available at the gate and the proceeds from the contest will help defray expenses incurred by Keelean, who suffered a broken leg in a recent league game.

The "Yankees," coached by Jack McCaffree will be opposed by Frank Richardson's "Tigers." At least 3 members of each league team will play. Don Herr and Ken Spears form the Yankee pitching staff, while Bruce Dryer and Bill Goulet will work for the Tigers.

In league play last night, Dick & Wes Sports and Drayton Drug pulled back into a 3-way tie for 1st with Waterford Lions.

Dick & Wes handed Richardson's Dairy its 11th loss in 12 games, 10-1, as Fred Konchis hurled 4-hit ball and fanned 10. A 5-run 2nd inning sent the D&W nine off and running.

Drayton Drug pushed over a run in the 5th frame and withstood a 6th inning rally to nip Gidley Electric, 4-3. Bob Turnbull singled home the deciding run.

29-Year-Old Record Falls in Yacht Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 24-hour sailing record that had stood for 29 years was smashed yesterday as the schooner Ramona logged 303 miles in the Trans-Pacific yacht race from Los Angeles to Honolulu.

The 109-foot vessel, owned by William Pomeroy of San Francisco, shattered the record set in 1926 by the late Don Lee's 136-foot steel schooner, Invader—288 miles.

The Ramona has taken over the lead in the race and the flagship Morning Star, which set the pace for the first two days, has been shunted back to third.

Johnny Proving Best of Pirates' O'Briens

PITTSBURGH (AP) — When the O'Brien boys were signed by the Pirates, Johnny was the basketball star but brother Eddie was regarded as the better baseball player.

Johnny's performance to date is making the experts think again. While Eddie rides the bench, Johnny is making good as a second baseman. He has delivered 14 hits in 40 attempts for a .350 average.

Johnny hit safely four times yesterday as the Bucs bowed to Brooklyn 4-3.

Since 1944 the Dodgers have been fourth or higher in the National league.

Swaps Lop-Sided Favorite for $50,000 Westerner

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)— There will be no betting at all or win betting only in Hollywood Park's 15th running of the Westerner Stakes tomorrow — all because Swaps, California's greatest homebred, has frightened out his opposition.

The track will decide today when entries close whether to make a betting race of the $50,000 added event. If there is betting, Swaps may set an all-time low payoff of $2.10 to win. The record is $2.20, set in 1938 by Lawrin.

* * *

The opposition, when the entry box shuts down this morning, probably will consist of Swaps' stablemate in the Rex C. Ellsworth barn, Bequeath; the Murcain Stable's Jean's Joe; the El See Stable's Brooksickle, and possibly one or two others.

* * *

Unbeaten as a 3-year-old in six straight races, Swaps appears to be a cinch to run away with his third derby of the year, the Westerner being Hollywood's big event for the 3-year-olds.

Swaps was unable to inveigle his arch rival for national honors, Nashua, to compete in a $100,000 winner-take-all match race out here, after having beaten the pride of the East on neutral grounds in the Kentucky Derby.

High Gun Is Brooklyn Pick

NEW YORK (AP) — Entries close this morning for the $50,000-added Brooklyn Handicap, with the King Ranch's High Gun heading the list under a tough 132 pounds.

Only five were expected to oppose the champion 3-year-old of 1954 in this mile and one quarter classic which features the close of the Aqueduct summer meeting.

They are Mrs. Edward Lasker's Lychnus, 103; the Greentree Stable pair of Straight Face, 116, and Palm Tree, 106; Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Paper Tiger, 107; and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kerr's Bassanio, 105.

Eddie Arcaro, who rides High Gun, and Ted Atkinson, who will pilot Straight Face, both have won three Brooklyns with some of the best horses of recent years.

Rochester Legion Nine Faces 'Must' Assignment

Rochester's American Legion baseball team plays a crucial make-up game with Clawson at 6 p.m. tonight on Rochester's Halback Field. Upset by Huron Valley Boys Club, 7-3, Wednesday, Rochester needs a win to stay in the running for the zone tournament berth awarded the 18th District (Oakland County).

Clawson upset one contender last Sunday by beating Birmingham, 7-5, but lost to league-leading Waterford Wednesday, 16-4.

Aussie Assumes 3rd Round Lead With 208 Total

American Hopes Vanish as Bulla's 218 Is Low; Jowle Hits 69 for 210

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (INS) —American hopes for victory in the British Open golf championship faded almost to the vanishing point today when the five U. S. entrants fell far behind in the third round.

Johnny Bulla, giant Pittsburgh pro, led the Americans with a 218 aggregate for the three rounds but this left him far back of Australia's defending champion, Peter Thomson, who was leading the field with 208.

With only 18 holes left to play nobody conceded Bulla a chance to make up a 10 stroke deficit on Thomson. Thomson started the day in a three-way tie for the lead with Eric Brown of Scotland and Dennis Smalldon of Wales.

Thomson shot a fine two-under-par-70 today. Frank Jowle, the British medalist, returned a brilliant 69 and was right on Thomson's heels with an aggregate 210.

Ed Furgol, last year's U. S. Open champion, had a sound par 72 today but his 219 total left him far out of the running.

The two American amateurs, Jim McHale of Philadelphia, and Lt. Joe Conrad of San Antonio, started the day even but McHale shot a par 72 in the third round and an aggregate 220 while Conrad slipped to a 74 and a 222 total.

Byron Nelson, former U. S. Open champion from Roanoke, Tex., soared to a 78 today and an indifferent 225.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—A foot-sore field of 47 chases after Australian Peter Thomson, a Scot and a Welshman in the final 36 holes of the British Open golf championship today with St. Andrews' Old Course herself ready to favor or crush any of them.

Thomson, the smooth-swinging defending champion, ranks as the big man now. All he has to do is keep on the rail and he'll be hard to keep away from the title again.

He went into the final two rounds tied for the lead at 139 with P. F. Smalldon of Wales and silent Eric Brown, Scotland's greatest hope in years.

But this tournament still is wide open. One slip and any of the leaders could fall as five American challengers have done.

Johnny Bulla of Pittsburgh with 145, Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Tex. and Ed Furgol of Clayton, Mo., with 147s and amateurs Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., and big Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia with 148s are still in the race but barely.

Swim Marks Fall in South

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Dave McIntyre, representing the North Carolina State AC, and Buddy Baarcke, Fort Knox, Ky., representing the Chapel Hill, N.C., Swim Club, set new American swimming records division of the Palmetto Open here last night.

Swimming in the record trials swimming and diving championships, McIntyre made the 165-yard medley in 1:44.4. The old record of 1:49.8 was set by Wally Wolf of the University of Southern California in 1950.

Baarcke swam the 100-meter butterfly in 1:05.2 topping the 1:07.4 mark set by Dick Fadgen of North Carolina State in 1954.

Evans, Cooke Draw

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Billy Evans, 125¼, of Pasadena, Calif., and Wayne Cooke, 127, Los Angeles, battled to a sensational 10-round draw at the Olympic Auditorium last night.

Barber Takes St. Paul Lead

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Keller Golf Course, which held up pretty well for the National PGA last year, was left a shambles yesterday by the nation's top golf professionals in the first round of the St. Paul Open.

Little Jerry Barber of Los Angeles knocked nine strokes off the par 72 with a 63 to take the lead. Barber teed off today only a stroke ahead of Fred Hawkins of St. Andrews, Ill., and Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., who holed out with 64s.

Two strokes off the pace are Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, Tenn., Walker Inman, Augusta, Ga., and Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., the National Amateur king in 1954.

* * *

No less than 50 professionals in a field of 140 starters shattered Keller's par of 72 and 24 of the players broke 70 in the greatest opening day scoring burst in the 25 years tournaments have been played here.

Lloyd Mangrum's course record of 62 withstood the first assault. But the first nine record of 6-under par 30, held jointly by Joe Coria of St. Paul and Mangrum, was equaled twice.

The first to do it was Barber and a few minutes later, Palmer also matched it. Coria missed the second nine record of 29 set by Herman Coelho, by a stroke. Hawkins and Wall both shot 5-under-par 31s on the second nine.

Coria, the tournament's early leader Thursday with a morning round of 66, had slipped back to seventh by nightfall. George Bigham of Kansas City, Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., are deadlocked with 68s.

* * *

Fourteen players are tied at 69, among them such tournament favorites as Mike Souchak, the nation's leading money winner, Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio Bo Winninger, Oklahoma City; Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, and Frank Stranahan of Toledo.

* * *

Sammy Snead, who won at Keller in 1937 and captured the Western Open here in 1949, was in an eight-way tie at 70 as were Bud Holscher and former National Open champion Julius Boros.

The tournament's 72-hole record is a 22-under-par 266, shared by Mangrum and Cary Middlecoff.

Scott Frost Looks Like Favorite for Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—The men who know their trotters say the August 3 renewal of the Hambletonian over Goshen's mile track could well be the greatest race in the 28-year history of the 3-year-old trotting classic.

And from the evidence produced in yesterday's Dickerson Cup over this town's half-mile oval and in previous races at Roosevelt Raceway, also a twice-around course, the men who own, train and drive the stars of the sport appear to have the right dope.

Scott Frost has been made the future book favorite for the Hambletonian chiefly because he trotted a mile in two minutes flat last year for the fastest time ever turned in by a 2-year-old in a race. That was over Lexington's mile track.

The son of Hoot Mon, 1947 Hambletonian winner from Soi A. Camp's stable in Shafter, Calif., also was made the choice for the Dickerson Cup even though it was his first start of the season. He won but it took four heats for him to assert his superiority over Childs Hanover, another 1955 first time starter owned by K. D. Owen of Houston, and William T. Maybury's Galophone of Dexter, Me., who already had proved himself at Roosevelt Raceway.

Dallas Pitcher Wins 20th, Sets Sights on Record

DALLAS (AP) — The winningest pitcher in organized baseball today is a pappy guy named John (Red) Murff and the way he's going he's likely to set a new record for the Class AA Texas League.

The 31-year-old freckled, gangling righthander took his 20th decision last night as he pitched Dallas to a 6-2 victory over Oklahoma City. He has the opportunity of winning at least a dozen more in his regular turn and might pick up a few in relief. So it's possible the fellow can attain the league record of 34 set by Al McFarland at Fort Worth in 1895. The season is a little less than two-thirds over.

Brethren 9 Takes Church Loop Victory

Church of the Brethren nosed out St. Paul Lutheran, 7-6, Thursday night at LeBaron, in the only game played in the Pontiac Church Softball League. Contest was a see-saw affair from start to finish. Undefeated First Baptist leads the loop with a 9-0 mark, followed by Central Christian with 7-1.

Too Much Mom Said Causing Alcoholism Now

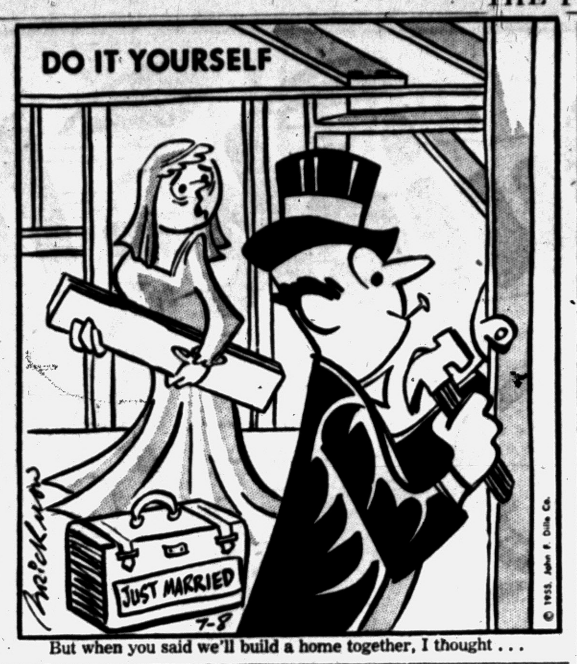

DETROIT (UP) — Too much mother and not enough father during childhood is one reason why many persons turn out to be alcoholics, according to a Detroit psychiatrist.

Dr. Aloysius Church told a medical meeting that many fathers' jobs keep them away from home too much. The result, he said, is that the children look to their mothers for love, affection and moral support.

"Matrimony is the basis for most alcoholism today," he said.

"But let's not punish mother and father, for this situation is part of civilization's pattern of living which takes the father away from the home much of the time," he said. "But father must be urged to 'live' with the family, to participate in the individual children's and family's interest. He must bring a balance of influence back to family life."

Wheat Spirals in Buying Rush

CHICAGO (AP) — A collection of modest-sized buying orders in the hands of leading commission houses sent wheat spiralling upward on the Board of Trade today.

The bread cereal had gains extending to around a cent before it ran into opposition. There did not appear to be much hedging pressure. Grainmen thought some of the buying reflected purchases by mills, evidently covering sales of flour.

Other grains didn't show the firmness of wheat. They started out lower and mostly remained under the previous close as trading progressed.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅝ to 1⅛ higher, July $2.01⅜; corn ⅛ to ½ lower, July $1.42⅛; oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, July 64; rye unchanged to ½ higher, July $1.01½; soybeans unchanged to ½ lower, July $2.41⅞, and lard 7 to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $11.80.

A sharp trend toward the use of GMC highway tractors was strengthened by the purchase of 50 such units by the Best Motor Lines, of Dallas, Tex., announced A. S. McEvoy, manager of the Fleet Division of GMC Truck and Coach Division.

Bonanzagram No. 18 Story Clues

Joan and Bill were way ahead of everyone else in the annual August Treasure Hunt. After many adventures, they reached the place where the last clue was supposed to be hidden — a curving beach, empty under the midnight moon. On the high chair where the lifeguard usually perched, they found the piece of paper they sought. Like the other clues, it was very tricky, with many of the letters left out to make it harder. After a good deal of argument, they managed to fill in the missing letters and succeeded in finding the treasure. Can you, too, decipher the clues and plot the way to the treasure?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters as indicated by the underscores. In the message insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story or anecdote accompanying the message itself, and in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation will help solve the message but is not necessary to win.

All missing letters must be correctly inserted to win a Bonanzagram prize. Punctuation will not be considered in judging a correct answer.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office 48 W Huron St., until 5 p. m. Tuesday, July 12. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, July 12 for Bonanzagram No. 18. Address "Bonanzagram, %, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim

Chile Workers End Day-Long Walkout

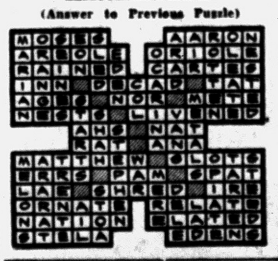

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—An estimated 1,200,000 Chilean workers returned to work today after a 24-hour general strike. But the central Labor Union (CUT) threatened to call an unlimited walkout unless demands for higher pay are met.

Yesterday's stoppage was called to back wage demands of 40,000 striking rail, bus and communications employes. They have been out eight days. The CUT also was protesting high living costs—up one-third in five months.

The general strike tied up much of the nation. Workers in Chile's biggest industry, copper, stayed on the job. The miners got wage hikes last fall.

The U.S. Office of Education lists 1,350 degree-granting colleges and universities of which 360 are tax supported.

'Super Circus' Now in 7th Year

Long Blonde Tresses Are the Trademark of Video Majorette

By JOHN BARROW

CHICAGO (INS) — Blonde Mary Hartline of television's "Super Circus" looks like artist George Petty's dream girl and acts like the tomboy next door who plays sandlot baseball.

* * *

She actually does play baseball. Unhampered by her 22-inch hair, she also skis, swims, shoots skeet, sails and rides horseback.

Possibly this is why no watercress diet is needed to keep the 5-foot-6 Mary at 113 pounds. Reading upward she measures 33½, 21, 37.

And with her, one suspects sheer exuberance has a trimming effect, too. At the age of 27 she has performed "live" in Chicago for the last 11 years with "no real vacation."

"I've only had three weekends off in the whole time," she says. Because her ABC network TV "circus" comes each Sunday, no one in the troupe gets away from Chicago for more than 10 days at a stretch. They are allowed one absence in a blue moon.

NONSTOP SINCE '48

"Super Circus," one of the nation's original television shows, has run nonstop each Sunday since 1948 with no summer replacement.

* * *

The tootling band and cavorting clowns of the big top, highlighted by Mary Hartline's majorette capers, play to a Chicago studio audience of some 900 persons.

TV cameras carry the spectacle to families in 85 cities. ABC executives say Mary averages 700 fan letters a week and that a poll last summer rated the show second only to Jackie Gleason's.

Mary's career began in high school in the 4,000-population Illinois town of Hillsboro, where her father is postmaster.

As a 16-year-old high school senior she was voted Hillsboro's "Queen of Love and Beauty." A trip to Chicago with her mother, plus a color picture in one of the city's newspapers, started a clamor that is still going on.

APPEALING GLOW

A rollicking humor gives Mary a sort of glow that appeals to kiddies and grownups alike. Her eyes are smoke blue against a country girl complexion that freckles easily. She "loves pink and periwinkle blue, except for some evenings when I'm in the mood for black lace."

* * *

The color scheme is carried out in trunkloads of slacks, ski togs, dungarees, sweaters and riding habits — not to mention street and evening attire. Even her five-room lakeshore apartment is done in white, gold and periwinkle blue.

Mary's trademark is her hair, the glossy hue of bamboo which she keeps "22 to 24 inches long — it gets longer when it's wet."

She and her husband, George Barnard, a corporation tax attorney, keep a second home aboard a 53-foot twin-diesel cruiser in Lake Michigan. But "Super Circus" prevents them from venturing very far. Work, however, doesn't seem to faze Mary.

* * *

"I honestly love my work," she says, "because I love people. I love to have them — even perfect strangers — stop me on the street to say how much they like the show.

"The show appeals to people from 2 years old and up. My most prized fan letter came from a man who said, 'I'm still a kid at heart. I love circuses.' He was 81 years old."

Nehru, Tito Publish Joint Declaration

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslav President Tito and Indian Prime Minister Nehru published a joint declaration today again advocating world disarmament, use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes only and peaceful coexistence of all nations.

They also called for peaceful solution of "the questions relating to Germany and Taiwan" (Formosa) and a U.N. seat for Communist China.

The two worked out the statement during Nehru's week-long state visit to Yugoslavia. The Indian flew to Rome yesterday.

Bob Considine Says:

Cleric, Comic Team to Combat Teddy Boys

NEW YORK (INS) — It sometimes comes as a surprise to learn that other countries have juvenile delinquents, too. Even Britain, a most proper place.

The Rev. J. Butterworth, a remarkable soul who has operated for 34 years in one of London's worst slums, fills me in on the meaning of a term you may sometimes see — "teddy boys."

* * *

"The teddy boys are the London counterparts of your zoot-suited hoodlums," he told us. "It's a corruption of 'Edward.' The boys attempt to dress as did the dandies of the Edwardian era: Velvet collars, long jackets, tight stovepipe trousers, black ties and flashy socks.

"It's expensive dress and pathetic exhibitionism, and all adds up to a display of misplaced bravado. The movement attracts aimless youths to rival gangs in the hope of becoming 'important . . . slick . . . clever . . . tough.'"

Butterworth, as a boy, could never have afforded to become a teddy boy. The little fellow was poorer than a church mouse, sold papers at 8, went to work in a Lancashire cotton mill at 12.

He served with the Lancashire Fusiliers in the great war of 1914-1918, which, as everyone knows, ended all wars, became a parson, and pledged his life to lifting the hearts, minds and souls of the children of squalor.

CLUBLAND OPENED

By 1922 he had raised the handful of pounds that enabled him to rent a room and take in five homeless boys. On May 20, 1939, Queen Mary opened his "Clubland," a fine $400,000 copy of our Boys Town or George Junior Republic.

* * *

On the 10th of May, 1941, the Luftwaffe came over London in force and in 20 seconds obliterated the Rev. Butterworth's 20 back-breaking years of work. With bombs still falling, dozens of young former toughs whose lives had been salvaged by club activities fought the blazes through the night. They lost.

The long job of rebuilding began. It continues. Butterworth became a hawker in the Sunday markets, picking up the first shillings of the rebuilding fund. The money came slowly. What Queen Mary had called a "temple of youth" was but one of countless places that had to be restored to the map of London.

It was a dark time for the little man. Never in his memory had his part of London needed a youths' haven more than in the rudderless days after the war. He turned his eyes to this country.

With five pounds sterling (the legal take-away money) and a round-trip air ticket supplied by Col. Eddie Eagen, former New York state boxing commissioner and once amateur heavyweight champion of the world, the little man reached this country—broke and friendless, save for the Eagans.

* * *

They put him on to John Considine, the Hollywood producer who produced the Boys Town pictures for Metro. One day the British parson showed up as a sightseer on the Paramount set where Bob Hope was making Runyon's "Lemon Drop Kid."

HOPE FROM HOPE

Hope, noticing him in the crowd, invited him to take a seat. After the scene they met, Hope heard a brief outline of Butterworth's past and the reason for his presence in the U. S., and impetuously promised to do a benefit for him the next time he was in London.

* * *

Hope made good. A year later he gave his entire two-week earnings at London's Prince of Wales Theater, 11,500 pounds sterling ($32,200), to the rebuilding of Clubland. On his next trip back he brought Big Crosby and has been back once again since then. The place is reborn because of him.

After one of Hope's visits a mob of teddy boys raided Clubland and partially wrecked the place. Hope wired the leader of the gang, "What's come over you boys? Pitch in with the little reverend."

Some of them are now raising funds throughout England, while Butterworth labors here — with headquarters in Hope Enterprises, Paramount Studios, Hollywood.

He is asking for a dollar contribution "for a brick," $100 for a pew in the new chapel, and $300 for an engraved wall stone.

About 100,000 persons live in a half-mile radius of Clubland and 10,000 homes were destroyed in and about there in WW II. The litlte cleric spends his every wakened hour carrying forward with what he calls, "Placing a fence at the top of the underprivileged or misguided youth's cliff, instead of an ambulance at the bottom."

Old Clothes in Style

LUDINGTON (AP) — Wearing old clothes will become fashionable in Ludington beginning today. The Mason County Centennial Committee has urged residents to help revive the old times of the county with appropriate centennial costumes during the celebration.

To Vote on New Gym

HESPERIA (AP) — Voters will decide Monday whether a new $138,000 gymnasium will be constructed to replace the high school facilities destroyed by fire last Dec. 6. They will be asked to pass on a $98,000 bond issue to help finance the project. School board spokesmen said the remaining $40,000 is available in insurance settlements on the old building.

Indiana's population exceeds 4.5 million.
