Williams Captures Sixth Term, Potter Loses Senate Seat to Hart

New York Picks Rockefeller for New Governor

Republicans Come Out on Top in Rhode Island, Arizona, Oregon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats surged in Tuesday's elections to their greatest control of Congress since New Deal days.

In the battles for state governorships, they smashed the Republican hold on California and made over-all gains.

But Gov. Averell Harriman, one of the party's national leaders, was chopped down in New York by Nelson Rockefeller, a rocketing new star for the GOP.

This outcome of the "battle of the millionaires" was the happiest spot in the picture for the Republicans. However, they also ousted the Democrats from state houses in Arizona, Oregon and Rhode Island while losing in California, Maryland, Nevada, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

The Rockefeller victory plumped him into the GOP presidential picture for 1960. It beclouded, to some extent at least, the future of the No. 1 prospect for the GOP presidential nomination — Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In California, too, the elections were fraught with possible portents for 1960. Sen. William F. Knowland, considered a potential contender for the GOP, went into sudden eclipse.

He lost a contest for governor

Broomfield Wins Seat in Congress

Oakland County voters yesterday restored Republican William S. Broomfield as their congressman in Washington.

Broomfield, incumbent from Royal Oak, defeated Pontiac Democrat Leslie H. Hudson, 101,061 to 90,547, in the major drawing card among county voters.

Both 36-year-old former state representatives engaged in a hammer-and-tongs campaign, which veteran observers predicted would result in the closest congressional battle in the county's history.

WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD
(Returned to Congress)

This feeling was supported today by Broomfield who said the past campaign was "one of my toughest" in his 10 years as a public official.

★ ★ ★

Broomfield served six years as Royal Oak's state representative and two years as state senator from the county's 12th District.

"I am very grateful for my re-election in view of the national Democratic tide," Broomfield said this morning. "I believe it was a wonderful vote of confidence."

Hudson, a hardware and drug store owner in the city, served Pontiac as its representative in Lansing from 1954 through this year. He announced his candidacy

GOP Wins County Offices but Democrats Closing Gap

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The Democratic production of "New Faces of 1958" will have to skip Oakland County for another two years.

Democrats failed again to place a person in any of the local county offices in yesterday's fall election. But they came close. The Republican margin of victory was one of the slimmest in many a county election, observers said.

The Oakland County Democratic Committee hasn't been able to put forth a candidate which could break the GOP stronghold on these offices since 1936.

Even yesterday's Democratic sweep in the state failed to do the trick for the six Democratic candidates for prosecutor, sheriff, clerk-register of deeds, treasurer, drain commissioner, or surveyor.

Here are the unofficial returns of the votes for these six positions:

Prosecutor: Frederick C. Ziem (incumbent Republican) 99,642 to James P. Lawson's 91,055.

'Heir Apparent' Gets More Votes Than Governor

Defeated Rival Phones His Congratulations to Winner at 3:15 A.M.

DETROIT (AP) — Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, whom political writers long have referred to as Gov. G. Mennen Williams' heir apparent in Michigan's Democratic party, outpolled "The Champ" in yesterday's balloting.

While Williams won a sixth term by rolling up 1,208,308 votes in 5,130 of the state's 5,158 precincts, Hart, unseating Republican U.S. Sen. Charles E. Potter, got 1,212,968.

When the telephone rang in Hart's Sheraton-Cadillac hotel suite at 3:15 a.m. and he learned Potter was on the line, the 45-year-old Hart silenced enthusiastic supporters celebrating victory.

He blushed as he picked up the phone, then he said:

"I know you're having difficulty making this call. For some time, I anticipated having to do the same thing. I naturally wanted to win — but yet I didn't want to beat anybody badly."

Before the call ended, Hart accepted Potter's offer to get together in the near future and prepare for "an orderly transition" of the Senate seat Jan. 1.

Then turning to his well-wishers, Hart silenced talk that he might still have his eye on the governor's chair if Williams' were to get either the Democratic presidential or vice presidential nomination in 1960.

"I have wanted very much to be senator," Hart said, "and I hope I can come back here at the end of my six-year term and present a record which you will think has been good."

With that, the senator-elect shut off his election comment and he and his wife, Jane, got ready to get reacquainted with their eight children.

County Dems Gain 1 Seat in Michigan Legislature

Democrats have brought about an even split of Oakland County's six seats in the Michigan House of Representatives with the election yesterday of three new representatives, while Republicans held onto the county's State Senate seat.

Incumbent Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, Waterford Township Republican, edged out his Democratic opponent for the 12th State Senate post, Leo P. Meagher, Farmington Township pharmacist, by 97,225 to 92,822.

Democrats captured Districts 2 (Pontiac), 4, and 6 in the Legislature, while Republicans returned incumbents to Districts 1 and 3, and voted in a new Republican, William Hayward of Royal Oak, to District 5.

During the last session of the Legislature, Republicans held four seats (Districts 1, 3, 4, 5) while Democrats occupied two seats (Districts 2 and 6).

When the gavel comes down on the 1959-60 session of the Legislature in January, Oakland County will be represented by:

District 1—Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, incumbent Republican from Waterford Township. Anderson defeated Odin H. Johnson, 15,930 to 14,408.

Dems Trounce GOP, Sweep State Offices

Bagwell Cuts Margin of Victory Anticipated by Governor

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Williams won a history-making sixth consecutive term and Democrats swept all over statewide offices in Tuesday's election, including Republican U.S. Sen. Charles E. Potter's.

The Democrats, in possibly their greatest Michigan triumph, also picked up one congressional seat and by adding six in the state house of representatives earned an even split there.

Williams achieved a feat unparelleled in any state when he whipped Republican Paul D. Bagwell by more than 135,000 votes.

But his victory margin disappointed his followers as much as it heartened Bagwell's. Williams won by 253,008 in 1954 and 290,313 in 1956. He had set out to better both marks.

With 5,130 of the state's 5,158 precincts reporting, the unofficial returns gave Williams a 1,208,308 to 1,070,733 lead over Bagwell, and Hart a 1,212,968 to 1,041,765 advantage over Potter.

Reversing the trend of the last five elections, all Williams' running mates defeated GOP rivals by larger margins than he rolled up over Bagwell.

The fact was a tribute mainly to two things:

The strenuous campaign waged by Bagwell, 45, a Michigan State University professor, and increasing Democratic organization strength.

In one of the most astonishing results, Secretary of State James M. Hare won a third term by swamping Republican Raymond A. Plank by nearly 300,000 votes.

Here are the latest returns on state administrative board races:

Lieutenant Governor — With 5,130 of the state's 5,158 precincts reporting, State Sen. John B. Swainson, Democrat, 1,187,219, State Rep. Donald A. Brown, Republican, 1,030,178.

Secretary of State — With 5,130 precincts reporting, Hare, 1,255,788, Plank 961,685.

Voters Decline Convention Call

Constitution Overhaul Defeated by 90,000 Unmarked Ballots

DETROIT (AP) — For the second time in 10 years, Michigan voters declined to order a special convention to overhaul the state's 1908 constitution.

★ ★ ★

Those who expressed themselves on the issue, both in Wayne County and outstate, heavily favored the convention call.

But it was beaten by the more than 900,000 voters who neglected to mark their constitution ballots one way or the other, thus in effect voting against the proposition.

★ ★ ★

To carry, it required a majority of all the approximately 2,250,000 votes cast at the election, or about 1,125,000.

However, returns from 4,812 of the state's 5,158 precincts gave the convention call 771,314 favorable votes, with 563,319 persons in opposition.

The proposition, supported by the League of Women Voters and other groups, was fought by the Michigan Farm Bureau and the AFL-CIO.

It appeared on the ballot this year under a self-executing clause in the constitution which automatically submits the question to a statewide referendum every 16 years.

"My opponent has won the right to represent Oakland County for two more years," Hudson said in a prepared statement. "For this I extend my congratulations."

"I also want to express my deepest thanks to all the people who voted for me and especially to those who worked so hard in my behalf during the campaign. They have done a tremendous job and I am very grateful."

Blustery Winds Spreading Into Midwest Today

By The Associated Press

Blustery winds which fanned a Pacific storm across the northern Rockies into the Plains states, dumping snow in northern areas, spread into the Midwest today.

Wet weather persisted in the Southeast states. Showers were in store during the day for most of the Eastern third of the nation and much of the Pacific Northwest.

★ ★ ★

Gusty, shifting winds up to 60 m.p.h. powered the storm through the northern and central Plains during the night. Ahead of the cool front, strong southerly winds increased through the mid-Mississippi Valley.

★ ★ ★

As the driving storm spread eastward, temperatures dropped rapidly as far south as northwestern Kansas. Winds with gusts of more than 85 m.p.h. lashed Wyoming and continued to whip up dust in western Nebraska and Kansas Tuesday night. Snowfalls ranging from 4 to 6 inches were reported in northern Montana.

District 3—Rep. Farrell E. Roberts, incumbent Republican from West Bloomfield Township, piled up the greatest winning margin (13,712) of the six races in defeating Floyd L. Cobb Jr., 26,352 to 12,640.

District 4—James Clarkson, Detroit attorney and resident of Southfield, barely edged by his Republican opponent, Allen C. Ingle, 21,049 to 20,540.

District 5—William Hayward, former Royal Oak mayor and now a city commissioner, defeated Seymour V. Devereaux, Democratic candidate and a Royal Oak barber, 18,933 to 14,735.

District 6—Democrat John D. Hitchcock, Hazel Park salesman and unsuccessful candidate for the seat in 1956, accrued the second largest victory margin (10,427) as he beat Mrs. Dorothy M. Rowley, former Hazel Park newspaper woman, 17,278 to 6,851.

In the race for the senate seat, voters in the county gave Lodge, Pontiac attorney and former state representative from the city, 4,403 more votes than they gave Meagher.

Lodge, 55, thus won his second two-year term as the county's senator, as Meagher failed in his first political venture.

Meagher is 50 and has for the past 15 years operated a real estate business specializing in the sale of drug stores and general real estate.

Lodge represented Pontiac in the Legislature in 1947 and 1948 (the last time the city has had a Republican representative). He previously was prosecutor for Oakland County.

Two of last year's representatives, who declined re-election in favor of higher government positions, paved the way for the influx of four new faces among the ranks of Oakland lawmakers.

Leslie H. Hudson pulled out of the District 2 (Pontiac) seat to try for Congress. He found today that his old position didn't change political hands, with the election of Law.

Donald A. Brown, former District 5 representative, sought higher stakes too when he joined the Bagwell Republican ticket as candidate for lieutenant governor. District 5 stayed within the GOP grasp with the election of Hayward.

Both Hudson and Brown lost out in their attempts to win higher posts.

Also clearing the way for a new occupant in his old District 4 seat in Lansing was former Republican Rep. Theodore F. Hughes. Hughes, a Berkley attorney, briefly was candidate for county clerk, but dropped out of the race when supervisors merged this office with register of deeds.

The shift in District 4 represents the only readjustment in political lines of the county's six seats. Clarkson is a Democrat.

Hughes defeated Clarkson in 1956 by 7,000 votes for the District 4 position.

Still a Democratic stronghold is District 6, the heavily populated section of the county embracing Royal Oak Township, Ferndale, Hazel Park, and Madison Heights.

The appearance of Hitchcock, 56, as the state representative of these communities, was made possible when incumbent Democratic Rep. Walter T. McMahon was defeated by him in the August primary. McMahon, also of Hazel Park, had been representative since 1948.

This year's victory was sweet revenge for Hitchcock. McMahon edged him out two years ago in the primary by a little less than 200 votes.

Waterford Township Home Hit by Vandal

Two Waterford Township buildings were broken into last night.

A side door was broken down at a house owned by Basil Vernier of 4400 Lanette St. and overstuffed furniture slashed with an axe, Waterford police said. Feathers were strewn all over the house and dishes were smashed on the kitchen floor.

A cement block building owned by John Kent, 3590 Elizabeth Lake Rd., was broken into and an undetermined amount of change stolen from several vending machines.

By Narrow 9 Per Cent Margin

Pontiac Sewage Plant Defeated

By PETE LOCHBILER

The sewage treatment plant bond issue failed yesterday in Pontiac for the second time in two years, by a narrow nine per cent margin.

While the bond issue won a simple majority of votes, it did not gather the three-fifths majority necessary to pass.

The final unofficial tally was 6,354 votes for the bond issue and 5,163 votes against it. To pass, the issue would have needed 6,910 votes.

Only poperty owners voted on the question.

The proposition called for a $3,300,000 general obligation bond issue to build a new sewage treatment plant, expand the old one and tie the two together.

The defeat was not as onesided as in the May, 1957 special election. A $3,091,000 bond issue was turned down then by 4,489 votes to 2,199.

The near success of yesterday's bond issue was attributed, in part, to Pontiac's large voter turnout. The last successful bond issue was in 1956, when approximately 10,000 property owners balloted.

Defeat of the bond issue left city officials scratching their heads. In their minds were two important considerations.

(1) Expanded sewage treatment facilities, they believed, are the keystone to further residential and industrial expansion within Pontiac; and (2) the state Water Resources Commission has a watchful eye on Pontiac pollution of the Clinton River.

It was possible that the Commission, noting the latest election results would order Pontiac to expand its treatment facilities. Expansion under such an order would probably be financed through a revenue bond issue which would be paid off through increased sewage disposal rates to homeowners.

Revenue bonds would probably cost more in interest than general obligation bonds, and the extra cost would also be passed along in the form of higher sewage rates to Pontiac residents, officials figured.

★ ★ ★

The Commission last tested the Clinton for pollution in August and the results of the test should be known soon. If the pollution rate is too high, the sewage treatment plant order may follow. If it is not, Pontiac may be granted another breathing space.

It is the latter possibility that has officials wondering whether they should put the treatment plant question to voters again next spring.

They realize the bond issue has come closer to success each time it is placed before voters and next time there is the chance it might pass.

Sixth Term Captured by Governor Williams

"proud" to have been the GOP standard bearer and saw omens of better things to come for the Republican party in Michigan.

Bagwell said the party had demonstrated fighting spirit in cutting down the opposition's victory margin and in resisting a national Democratic tide, and that "this holds great promise for the future."

Bagwell said he presented his case as "fairly and ably" as he could and accepted the decision of the voters. He congratulated the governor on winning his unprecedented sixth term.

Williams' statement claiming victory had some bitter passages.

"The voters have repudiated the Republican Smear Michigan campaign and placed the blame for the recession and unemployment where it rightfully belongs," he said.

It belongs, he has repeatedly said, on President Eisenhower and policies of his Republican national administration.

"Here in Michigan, we can join together to repair the damage done to our public interest by the type of destructive campaign the Republicans waged," Williams said.

This clearly referred to Bagwell's contention that Williams, in his close alliance with Walter P. Reuther and the United Auto Workers has driven business out of the state and discouraged new industry and jobs from locating in the state.

Williams expressed gratification at Hart's victory and that of Democrat John G. O'Hara, Macomb County attorney who won the 7th District Congress seat now held by Rep. Robert J. McIntosh (R) of Port Huron.

In another major development, the electorate rejected calling a state constitutional convention when larger numbers of voters neglected to mark ballots on the proposition one way or the other, thereby in effect voting against a convention.

In ousting Potter, Williams and his Democratic forces completed a 100 per cent rout of Republicans from partisan offices filled by statewide election, other than six part time GOP-held positions on the governing bodies of the University of Michigan and MSU.

Ten years ago, before Williams was sworn in for his first term, Republicans occupied the eight state administrative board posts and both U.S. Senate seats.

The GOP held all 17 part time education positions on three statewide boards whose members are chosen at spring elections.

Democrats now have claimed four of the eight seats on the U. of M. Board of Regents, four of the six on the State Board of Agriculture, MSU governing body, and one of the three on the State Board of Education, which has supervision over four state-supported colleges and universities.

In addition, they have installed five party members on the technically non-partisan State Supreme Court, winning a majority on the eight-man body for the first time since the Civil War era.

In Tuesday's balloting, Williams ran as strong as ever in the Detroit-Wayne County Democratic stronghold, although his plurality was pared from that of 1954 and 1956 by the relatively light turnout.

He won Wayne County by 275,532 as against 382,500 in 1956 and 303,014 in 1954, but partially offsetting this was the loss of outstate to Bagwell by roughly 130,000.

The Williams-Bagwell pattern stood pretty well in the Hart-Potter contest, but five other victorious candidates came closer to holding their own outstate while sharing an advantage close on the heels of Williams in Wayne County.

County Offices Won by GOP; Dems Gain

William K. Benson's 92,500.

Drain Commissioner: Daniel W. Barry (incumbent Republican) 97,641 to Wallace E. Rice's 92,325.

Surveyor: Ralph A. Main (incumbent Republican) 97,469 to Robert J. Lowney's 92,243.

As can be seen, the Republican margins of victory range from Irons' 12,691 more votes than Hicks, who was seeking the sheriff's job for the fourth straight year, to the margin of 5,122 which put Sparks back as treasurer to begin his 14th consecutive term.

Comparable off-year election returns from 1954 show Irons sweeping over Hicks by 16,244 votes, while Sparks captured his 12th two-year term then by 11,085.

"Looks like we gained on the plurality," said a disappointed Carlos G. Richardson, county Democratic chairman, as he surveyed yesterday's returns.

Democrats had pegged this year as the year to place some Democratic faces in the courthouse and county office building. Richardson said he believed the "national trend against the Republican administration" in the country would carry local candidates to victory.

Keenest interest among the six local races centered for the office of prosecutor. Here Ziem, 42-year-old Pontiac attorney, bid for re-election to his fourth term, against the challenges of Lawson, 33-year-old Farmington Township justice of the peace.

Ziem walked away with the second largest GOP winning margin next to Irons'. This was 8,587.

Lawson, who claimed he wasn't criticizing his opponent, perked up his campaign for election several weeks ago by charging the county still had six unsolved murders. This, Lawson argued, might be because assistants in Ziem's office were being allowed to carry on their private law practices in addition to their regular county duties.

Ziem countered by listing the many hours of over-time which assistants recorded without being paid.

Contrary to what some expected, the Frank Kierdorf human torch case hardly was touched upon as a campaign issue between Ziem and Lawson.

In the battle for sheriff, Irons again proved to be the top vote getter among his fellow GOP candidates. This was true also in 1954 and 1956.

Hicks, 52, a Pontiac resident and salesman for a cigarette company, was attempting to keep Irons from his third term as head of the sheriff's office and county jail.

Irons, 59, spent 30 years with the Berkley police department, where he later became chief, before his election to sheriff in 1954. Hicks' police experience consisted of 21 years with the Pontiac police.

The election of Murphy to the job of clerk-register of deeds was historical, as the position was created in Oakland County for the first time in June. This happened when the Board of Supervisors decided to merge the offices of county clerk and register in the interests of efficiency.

Murphy, 35, of Pontiac, became register in 1956 upon the death of former register Orrin McQuaid. In November of the same year, Murphy, who had spent six years as chief deputy clerk, was elected to his first two-year term as register.

Falling under Murphy's second win yesterday was Kronenberg, a 35-year-old Royal Oak Democrat who occupies the position as head of the Berkley branch of the Secretary of State's office.

Benson, Democratic candidate for county treasurer, found it impossible to unseat Sparks, the veteran of county officeholders. Sparks, 66, of Waterford Township, was sworn in for his first term as treasurer in 1933.

Rice, a Troy drainage contractor, tasted defeat for the second time in his fight to win over the post of county drain commissioner. He lost to Barry in 1956 by 138,241 to 108,710, the heavier vote coming as the result of the election of the president in 1956.

Barry, 35, of Waterford Township, might find his second term as drain commissioner in jeopardy as supervisors have voted to consolidate his office with the Department of Public Works, if state legislation to make the change possible can be enacted next year in Lansing.

The drive for probably the least known of the six county positions —that of surveyor—was between a former drain commissioner from Birmingham and a retired Royal Oak architect.

Main, 54, of Birmingham, spent nearly six years as drain commissioner before his election to surveyor two years ago. Lowney, the loser for surveyor yesterday, is 65.

Former City Realtor Dies in Mississippi

Edwin S. Harger, a former realtor of Pontiac died Friday in Starkville, Miss. after a prolonged illness. He was 80.

Before moving to Mississippi in 1940, he was engaged in real estate here. He developed several subdivisions including Ottawa Hills and Pontiac Lake.

★ ★ ★

Surviving are his wife, Eunice; three sons, Edwin of Baltimore, Md., Stewart of Flint and Charles of Stockton, Calif.; a brother, Fred L. Harger of Pontiac; a sister Mrs. Ida Gould of Ortonville; and seven grandchildren.

Service and burial were in Starkville Monday.

Hart Takes Senate Seat From Republican Potter

ing at factory gates at 5:45 a.m. yesterday and they didn't quit until dark. She shed her shoes as Potter's concession came through.

An early arrival for Hart's election party was Senator Patrick V. McNamara, whom the lieutenant-governor will join on the Democratic side of the senate next year.

What did Hart think of outpacing Williams in vote-getting appeal?

"All I can say is that I am happy he has won. Even if he won by one vote, it is historic that he has gained a sixth term."

Son of an Irish immigrant who became a small-town Pennsylvania banker and one of the town's few Democrats, Hart graduated from Georgetown University in 1934 and the University of Michigan Law School in 1937.

Hart campaigned mostly without bitterness, pitching his sales talk on foreign policy, world understanding and what he termed the failure of the Eisenhower administration to stem the recession.

But after Potter jibed at what he termed Hart's "millionaire wealth gained under the worst sweatshop conditions," Hart came swinging back hard. He termed the remark "an irresponsible smear in a desperate effort to rally a dying campaign."

Potter referred to Hart's marriage to the former Jane Briggs, a daughter of the late multi-millionaire Walter O. Briggs, founder of the Briggs Manufacturing Co. and owner until his death of the Detroit Tiger baseball team. Hart said his wife had contributed about $8,000 to his campaign and had personally piloted him around in campaign-hopping via helicopter. He described himself as personally considerably less than a millionaire.

Hart served as Michigan corporation and securities commissioner, director of the Michigan Office of Price Stabilization, U.S. District Attorney for Eastern Michigan and legal adviser to Gov. Williams before his election as lieutenant-governor in 1954. He won again in 1956.

Dems Win Big Edge in U.S. Congress

to Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. Brown's emphatic victory was sure to get him talked about for the big Democratic prize two years hence.

The election gave President Eisenhower a record he was far from desiring. He's the first president in history to be confronted by three congresses controlled by the opposite party.

Counting of the tide of votes — perhaps reaching 48 million or more — continued. A few races were still inconclusive.

★ ★ ★

The indicated division in the new Congress shaped up in this fashion:

SENATE: Democrats 61 or 62; Republicans 35 or 34.

The undecided Senate race was a nip-and-tuck battle in Wyoming where Republican Sen. Frank Barrett was opposed by Democrat Gale W. McGee.

The figures leave out of account the two senators Alaska will elect Nov. 25.

HOUSE: Democrats 284; Republicans 151. One additional House member will be named by Alaska.

The indicated Senate line-up is the most predominantly Democratic since the party elected 65 senators in 1940. That was the year Franklin D. Roosevelt won his third term.

The Democrats have not had so many House members since 1936 when they elected 333. The 1950 election put 267 Democrats in the House.

In the present Congress, which will give way in January to the newly elected one, the party division is Senate: Democrats 49, Republicans 47; House: Democrats 235, Republicans 200.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday's Democratic victories were not cut to any particular geographical pattern. In Connecticut, the Democrats grabbed everything, beating Republican Sen. William A. Purtell and six GOP House members.

In South Dakota, they elected the first Democratic governor in 22 years. And in usually GOP Nebraska they ousted two Republican House members, one of them Dr. A. L. Miller, who had held his seat for 16 years.

There were some indications of a flexing of union labor's political muscles in the outcome.

Labor compaigners made a big effort in Ohio, where Democrats took a Senate seat and the governorship from Republicans. They also battled hard in California against William F. Knowland, the former Senate Republican leader who bid unsuccessfully for his state's governorship.

In both of those states, there were referenda on the question of enacting state right-to-work laws. Unions were fighting these proposals which would bar requirement for union membership in order to hold a job.

The proposals were beaten in both states.

Such a proposition also was voted down in Washington, Colorado and Idaho but was approved by Kansas voters.

The election outcome seems to augur a bigger voice for labor union leaders in Democratic affairs and more powerful influence in the selection of the party's 1960 presidential candidate.

In the past, two labor favorites have been Gov. Harriman of New York, now defeated; and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

At the moment, Williams is only another potential nominee in a big Democratic field that includes Sens. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, Stuart Symington of Missouri and Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Labor union leaders happily anticipate greater influence too in the new Congress itself. Through the seniority system, Southern Democrats, who by and large are conservative, will hold to their committee chairmanships. But the increased northern Democratic membership will water down conservative strength.

Waterford OKs Trustees

The question of whether or not to have two additional trustees on the Waterford Township board, was approved by a margin of 65 votes, and a majority of Republican candidates won in the township, at yesterday's general election.

There were 4,474 for the proposition, and 4,409 against it. Prospective candidates names will be placed on the spring election ballot for the two $1,040 yearly salaried positions.

With the addition of two more trustees, the township board now will include the supervisor, clerk, treasurer and four elected trustees.

Nearly 70 per cent of Waterford Township's 18,826 registered voters went to the polls in the 18 precincts. Some 13,170 people voted in the townsh ip.

Democrats Win by Wide Margin in Both Houses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats piled up comfortable working majorities in both branches of Congress in yesterday's election.

With a few results still in doubt, they had elected 25 senators to the Republicans' 8. With the holdovers, this assured 61 Democrats and 34 Republicans in the Senate, and the Democrat was ahead in the one undecided race. The Democrats were victors in 12 former GOP areas.

Two more senators will be elected later in Alaska.

In the House, Democrats elected 271 members and Republicans 133, with Democrats almost certain to add a few more seats. They had taken the scalps of 41 Republicans and had lost none of their own.

In the present House, there were 235 Democrats and 200 Republicans.

Bob Considine, Weathered Traveler:

Crosses Atlantic 10 Times to Cover News

NEW YORK — In the mail I opened on returning from Rome was a nice letter from Baron Theo von Roth, manager of the Embassy Club of Park avenue's swank Sheraton-Bast Hotel. It began:

"Dear Mr. Considine: We notice with pleasure that you are visiting New York . . ."

So true.

This year has been one of the more memorable and mobile years I've spent in the business of reporting the news. It has involved 10 crossings of the Atlantic by air, and a jaunt to the Bering Sea and back.

Repetition is unpardonably boring, but these gallops involved such stories as the opening of the Brussels World Fair, a role in the interviews the Hearst panel of reporters had with German Democratic and Communist leaders, the events in Paris that led to Charles de Gaulle's premiership and his first trip to Algiers, a trip around Europe with two of our wide-eyed kids and a meeting with Pius XII, and trips to Rome for the death of the same great man and the election of his wise and jolly little successor.

Got a bad stomachache here yesterday within an hour of arriving in this strange land. Baron von Roth may be interested to know. It is probably the American water, or perhaps such exotic native dishes as ham and eggs or a hamburger made of beef which caused the trouble.

However, the natives are charming and have many rituals that will arrest the eye and seize the attention.

On the way in from Idlewild we passed a taxicab, or what was left of one, reclining against a fence on our side of the road. The driver of our car, which was composed entirely of fins and several seats, said, "He cut in front of a bus on the other side of the road, about 20 minutes ago.

"The bus smacked him and he came across the grass and onto this side and wound up against the fence. Lucky guy; got only a cut lip. He must have been asleep." There was a big cloudy bullseye on the windshield where he hit. Tough lip, that boy.

There were other trips during this year, to San Juan for a Hilton dinner with one of the most remarkable men of our hemisphere, Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico; to Cuba, to the coast a couple of times; to Mexico City and Cuernavaca for a sobering talk with Dr. Ernest Lawrence, the immortal nuclear physicist who is now dead. To Bill Corum's derby and Bob Turley's series. And to robust Fairbanks, Anchorage, Juneau and other towns in the 49th of the states, including McGuire (pop. 102). And to Cape Canaveral to see a moon rocket miss, this one a miss by 230,000 miles—but still awe-inspiring and thrilling beyond description, and a jet ride to Paris in Pan Am's new 707.

What were the stickouts, from a reportorial view? There were two:

1. The death of Pius. There was a man who was loved or revered or respected by more people—in all probability—than any human being in history. He transcended the dogma and ritual of his sect and became moral leader in a sense of millions who were not communicants of his church. He made basic sense to Protestant, Jew and Moslem as well as to his own.

His was the most widely mourned death among world figures since Franklin Delano Roosevelt was struck down in the closing days of World War II. This man so many Americans knew will one day be a saint.

2. The election of John XXIII. No reporter can capture the drama of the opening of the doors to the Loggia of St. Peter's and the unveiling of a 261st successor to the saint himself. We won't try here now. We tried in recent days and failed badly.

But what we started out to say was that it was nice of Baron von Roth to accept a stranger in his midst, and as soon as I've reintroduced myself to my children I'll be at ringside at his Embassy Club. Hope I can answer the waiter in American.

Pushbutton parking has made its world debut in Basel, where parking cars in an eight-story garage is all done automatically. It's called the Autosilo and it took 3½ years, $3,600,000, and some of the best engineering brains in Switzerland to build.

County Plea for October Safety Pays Off

Traffic Fatality Rate Drops Suddenly

By DICK SAUNDERS

Oakland County law enforcement officials are heaving a sigh of relief today and preparing to once again hold their breath in expectations of an outstanding traffic record this year.

At the beginning of October The Press published a plea by all area officials warning motorists of the traditional "bad month" to come and asking for cooperation in safe driving.

Evidently the plea rubbed off on a considerable number of county drivers. October, which had yielded 16 traffic deaths in 1957 (high month for the year), counted only five deaths this year.

There is a brighter outlook now for cutting last year's county death toll of 103 considerably. At the beginning of October we had exactly 70 deaths. Now we have 76, one of which occurred Monday.

TREND WAS RISING

This contrasts to last year when 65 had died on county roads up to October and after that month of wholesale slaughter, the total was 81.

Authorities are also pleased because the 1958 death trend had been going up until last month, when it was feared things would get even worse.

A total of 30 persons died from July 1 to Oct. 1, exactly 10 each of the three months.

Now, authorities assert, if all goes according to the pattern in past years, December will be the big hurdle. Eight died in traffic mishaps during November last year and 14 during December (second only to October.

Moreover, 38 people died during the last three months of 1957, while since Oct. 1 this year only six persons have been killed.

Both Oakland County Sheriff's Department and State Police officials urge drivers not to "let up" in November.

★ ★ ★

Authorities say the best rules to observe at this time of the year are refraining from excessive speeding and using headlights (not just parking lights) during the dusky hours of late afternoon.

U.S. Increases Student Loans

Ups Other School Aids to Meet Challenge of Red Competition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — College students can begin drawing on a new multi-million dollar federal loan fund by next February.

Other school aids authorized by the last Congress also are being hurried into operation by the government in an effort to meet the challenge of Soviet technological competition.

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare said money for most of the programs would be available to states and educational institutions by January or February. This includes funds for the college student loans, guidance and counseling services and for science and mathematics teaching equipment.

Flemming said federal outlays for awarding graduate fellowships and for operation of foreign language centers and institutes would be available in the spring of 1959.

The secretary told a news conference that the program was one of the "most exciting" developments that has taken place in education, going far beyond original expectations.

Flemming said he could not foretell whether the national defense education act of 1958 would be the complete answer to Soviet technological competition. But he added, "it does represent a real contribution toward strengthening our educational system."

Reject Incorporations in Farmington Township

Voters in Southfield Favor $450,000 Bond for Parks

By JOEL RIPPA
Suburban News Editor

Farmington Township remained unchanged after yesterday's election, which found voters in two areas rejecting incorporation proposals that would have reduced the township to less than half its present size.

These were among a host of proposals sharing the election spotlight in 15 Oak-

Voters in the northern half of Farmington Township turned down plans to create the city of Farmington Woods, 1,367 to 1,906. The area would have taken in 14.5 square miles.

Incorporation of 4.1 square miles east of the city of Farmington as the city of Clarenceville failed by the decisive margin of 1,061 to 342.

Despite the lively battle staged between organized groups in favor and against the proposed cities, the election drew only a 68 per cent turnout of registered voters in the township. This is compared to almost 73 per cent in the city of Farmington.

Only qualified voters residing in the areas of the proposed cities were eligible to decide the incorporation issue. A simple majority would have been enough for approval.

Property owners in Southfield, which just last April was incorporated as a city, gave their approval to a $450,000 bond issue to acquire and improve park facilities. The vote was 3,040 to 2,493.

Despite turnabout approval of the Oak Park Industrial Tax Study Group, Oak Park property owners again rejected a $306,000 bond issue to finance enlargement of the city's crammed Department of Public Safety quarters.

Needing a 60 per cent majority, the vote fell short, 4,334 "yes" to 4,081 "no."

Opposed by the Tax Study Group when it lost in the August election, the proposal this time failed to carry although having the blessing of the group.

Oak Park's municipal financing is suffering due to its rapid growth. The 1950 census, taken when the city had a population of 5,200, is the basis for present sales tax refunds from the state.

Public Safety Director Glenford S. Leonard has estimated that the city, which now has a population of around 35,000, is losing about a quarter of a million dollars a year in revenue.

A proposed 2-mill tax increase for construction of a village-township fire hall was approved by Milford Township electors, 605 to 458.

In nearby Highland Township, however, a 2-mill tax hike for 20 years to pay for the hiring of three full-time firemen met defeat, 548 "no" votes to 419 "yes."

Southfield Township voters approved a proposal to permit the village of Franklin to enter into contract with the Oakland County Department of Public Works to construct a village sewer system.

DEFEAT LIQUOR PROPOSAL

Oxford residents again turned down the sale of liquor by the glass in the township. There were 697 "no" votes to 555 "yes."

Three proposals establishing primary elections for city officials and setting their terms of fofice were approved in Madison Heights. Also okayed was a charter amendment for a technical change permitting the use of regular mail to send out notices of assessment increases.

A plan to delete lot-size requirements in the charter and have them set up according to state statutes was defeated.

Ferndale residents turned down a proposition to pay non-elected city employes $20 a year for every year of service over five, not to exceed 20 years. The margin was a narrow 3,442 "no" to 3,421 "yes."

In Hazel Park, an ordinance restricting parking to one side of the street in residential areas was repealed, 2,515 to 1,825.

Royal Oak electors approved reduction of firemen's duty week from 63 to 56 hours.

A charter amendment to limit city budgets to not more than 1.1 per cent of the city's total assessed valuation was defeated in Berkley, along with another amendment that would have permitted notices of city ordinances to be posted in public places rather than published in a newspaper. Both lost by more than 1,000 votes.

Accountant and Barber Elected to 3-Year Term on City Council

A former councilman and a one-time member of the Sylvan Lake Village council were elected yesterday to three-year terms on the city council.

G. Richard Jarvis, village president before Sylvan became a city in 1947, received 412 votes. Anthony Kreps, a former mayor, received 404 votes.

Defeated were incumbent mayor Robert Menees, who received 375 votes, and Joseph A. Wilhelm, another incumbent, who got 145 votes. Kenneth Meredith, who also ran, got 149 votes.

Frank L. Scott was unopposed for another term as constable.

GOP's Two-Party South Dream One Congressman Further Away

By The Associated Press

Republican dreams of a firm two-party South were one congressman further away today, and two other House seats were dangling.

A surge of Democratic votes in Louisville unseated Republican Rep. John M. Robsion Jr. in the Kentucky 3rd District in favor of an energetic young Democrat, Frank W. Burke. Rep. Eugene Siler in the 8th District, the state's other Republican congressman, was re-elected.

★ ★ ★

With the count nearly half completed, Republican Rep. Bruce Alger was ahead of Democrat Barefoot Sanders in the Texas 5th District, but the outcome was far from certain.

A tight race developed in Virginia between Republican Rep. Joel T. Broyhill and Democrat Joseph H. Freehill in the 10th District. Broyhill won and so did the other Virginia Republican representative, Richard H. Poff, in the 6th District.

★ ★ ★

All of the Senate seats are in the hands of Democrats except the two in Kentucky which did not come up for election this year. Six Democratic senators won re-election the others were holdovers.

Democrats occupy the governor's office in each of the 12 states. Six governors were elected.

Other Southern Republican representatives are William C. Cramer, Florida 1st District; B. Carroll Reece, Tennessee 1st, and Howard H. Baker, Tennessee 2nd. All were re-elected.

State highlights:

ALABAMA — Democrat John Patterson had a walkaway for governor over Republican W. L. Longshore. Nine Democratic representatives were re-elected. Only one had opposition.

★ ★ ★

ARKANSAS — Gov. Orval E. Faubus Jr., embattled segregationist, had a landslide victory over Republican George W. Johnson. Democrats held a firm grip on the six House seats but Rep. Brooks Hays, a moderate on the racial issue, had a menacing challenge from a write-in candidate, D. Dale Alford, a vigorous segregationist.

GEORGIA — Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver, a Democrat, won the governorship unopposed and all 10 Democratic congressmen were re-elected.

★ ★ ★

FLORIDA—Conservative Democrat Spessard Holland was returned to the Senate by a wide margin over Republican Leland Hyzer. Seven Democratic House members were re-elected, together with Republican William C. Cramer.

KENTUCKY — Republican Rep. John M. Robsion Jr. was unseated but a second Republican was re-elected as were six Democratic House members.

LOUISIANA—Eight Democrats were back to the House.

MISSISSIPPI — Sen. John Stennis and six House members, all Democrats, were unopposed.

NORTH CAROLINA — Eleven Democratic House members won re-election as did Republican Rep. Charles R. Jonas who defeated Democrat David Clark, both from Lincolnton.

TENNESSEE—Sen. Albert Gore, a Democrat, had easy going over Republican Hobart Atkins. So did Buford Ellington, also a Democrat, over Thomas . Wall Jr. for the governorship. Seven Democratic and two Republican House members won re-election.

TEXAS—Democrat Price Daniel kept the governor's office against a challenge by Republican Ed Mayer. A lone Republican House member, Bruce Alger, had it nip-and-tuck with Democrat Barefoot Sanders for the 5th District seat.

VIRGINIA — Re-elected were Sen. Harry Flood Byrd, eight Democratic and two Republican House members.

SOUTH CAROLINA—Ernest F. Hollings was elected governor and six House members were re-elected, all Democrats.

Sleep First on Agenda for Governor Williams

LANSING (UPI) — Sleep was top priority for the winner and the loser of the Michigan governor's race today after weeks of campaigning and a long night of waiting.

In a house jammed with visitors, party workers, aides and state officials, Gov. G. Mennen Williams stayed to the side rooms much of the time. It wasn't until he secluded himself in his son Gery's third-floor room for more than an hour that he recognized the Democratic win for himself and his "team."

"We were fighting for a team win and we got a team win," Williams told newsmen as he leaned on the back of a chair in the room high in the governor's mansion.

The governor, known as a tireless campaigner, admitted a let down late yesterday but said he felt "buoyant" until that time.

Williams visited his wife Nancy in a Lansing hospital where she is recovering from a siege with a virus complication. Williams dropped in on his wife before settling down at home to watch the returns.

At Williams' home, visitors were greeted by an array of food enough to feed 500. Liz Abernethy, wife of one of Williams' aides, said about 80 pounds of ham, turkey and roast beef were prepared, plus 35 pounds of cheeses, 25 heads of lettuce and countless trimmings.

The scene throughout the night and into the pre-dawn hours was one of noise and smoke as people crowded into the house, getting latest reports on an election-night teletype and radio and television.

A bright mood existed at both places most of the night with things quieting down in Paul D. Bagwell's rented ballroom only when the Williams' trend developed strongly.

In a telegram to Williams, the defeated Bagwell said he thought it was "a good campaign based on the major issues facing our state."

Bagwell telegramed defeated Sen. Charles E. Potter that he was "proud to have been on the Republican ticket with you . . . (and) the fact that there was no Democratic landslide . . . is proof that we do have a fighting organization. . ."

Williams said immediate plans called for "trying to sleep as long as I can' and then getting at what he called the more urgent problems of the state.

Voters Return County Court Commissioners

As expected, Oakland County Circuit Court Commissioners Maurice F. Cole and Verne C. Hampton are back in office today.

★ ★ ★

County voters in yesterday's election gave the only unopposed candidates on the ballot more than 40,000 votes each to return them to office. Cole received 44,533 and Hampton 40,288 votes on the non-partisan judicial ballot.

Cole is a 65-year-old Ferndale attorney who has held his position since 1938. The commissioner handles court matters pertaining to tenacy problems mostly in the southern part of the county.

His fellow commissioner Hampton is a 55-year-old Pontiac attorney. His business relates to the same, but for the northern section of the county. Hampton was first elected in 1937.

Michigan Dems Enjoy Monopoly

Party Holds Complete Slate of Major State Offices for 1st Time

DETROIT (AP)—Even in the high tides of the Franklin D. Roosevelt era, the Democratic Party in Michigan never enjoyed the monopoly of major statewide offices now in prospect.

Even after the 1932 Roosevelt landslide, Republicans James Couzens and Arthur H. Vandenberg occupied the state's two U.S. Senate seats, and Frank D. Fitzgerald, later a Republican governor, was retained by voters as secretary of state.

Led by Fitzgerald in his first campaign for governor, the party recovered four of the five statewide offices it had lost two years earlier in the 1934 election.

In their resurgence of 1936, Democrats captured one of the U.S. Senate seats through election of Prentiss M. Brown, now chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, and recovered the state administrative board posts in 1934.

★ ★ ★

However, Vandenberg continued to serve in the Senate, and by this time Republican Eugene B. Elliott, now president of Eastern Michigan College, had won election in 1935 as state superintendent of public instruction, a post he held until 1948.

With the exit of U.S. Sen. Charles Potter, defeated for re-election yesterday, in January the GOP will be left without a single major statewide office.

GOP Keeps State Senate; 2 Parties Even in House

DETROIT (AP)—High-riding Democrats came within a whisker of taking control of the House of Representatives for the first time in 20 years today, driving to an unprecedented 55-55 standoff with Republicans.

Six new seats in the House, coupled with another sweep of state offices and a new U.S. Senate seat, raised Democrats to the highest pinnacle of power since New Deal days in the 1930's.

Republicans in January will be forced to retreat into their last citadel in the capital—the state Senate. The GOP still held a commanding grip on the upper legislative chamber, winning 22 seats to 10 for the Democrats with two districts still unreported.

★ ★ ★

The down-the-middle split in the House set the stage for some bitter wrangling among top party powers when the 1959 legislature goes into session. It also sent parliamentarians to their legislative rulebooks to figure out what might happen.

★ ★ ★

"Something will have to give somewhere," said Norman E. Philleo, clerk of the House for the last 13 years.

Philleo, who stands to lose his jobs if Democrats win control, said the two parties have no choice but to come to terms, perhaps with one party electing a speaker and the other the speaker pro-tem.

★ ★ ★

The half dozen Democrats who won in districts that went to Republicans in 1956:

Harvey J. Beadle, Detroit, who beat first-termer Sterling Eaton (R-Plymouth).

James Clarkson, Southfield, who took over the district vacated by Rep. Theodore Hughes (R-Berkley).

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Joseph J. Giachino of Iron Mountain, winner over veteran Rep. James Goulette (R-Iron Mountain), a legislator since 1938 except for a break in 1949-50.

Andrew H. Wisti, of Hancock, who will take over the seat vacated by Rep. D. J. Massoglia (R-Laurium).

For a time, it appeared Democrats might edge out Rep. George Gillespie (R-Gaines) in Genesee County's second district but the veteran GOP lawmaker won out in a nip-and-tuck race with Russell A. Alger of Davison.

Democrats, sensing a continued rise in party strength, early in the campaign set their sights on control of the House, all but resigning the Senate to Republicans.

Gov. Williams told Democrats they must reverse the 61-49 Republican majority in the House to give him a lever with which to force through some of the programs steadfastly rejected by Republicans in his first five terms.

Senate Republicans, if they want it, will be able to block legislation in the 1959-60 term, but they have lost most of their authority.

Considerable "horse-trading" between the two chambers likely will be used to resolve expected stalemates.

★ ★ ★

Some of the leading lawmakers re-elected for two-year terms were Reps. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the highly important house taxation committee; Arnell Engstrom (R-Traverse City), who heads the powerful ways and means committee; Allison Green (R-Kingston), House majority leader, and Louis Mezzano (D-Wakefield), House minority leader who was elected witout opposition.

All Republican incumbents who sought re-election in the senate were winners.

★ ★ ★

With defeat of Eaton, sole Republican legislator remaining in Wayne County was Rep. Robert E. Waldron, who won handily in the heavily Republican Grosse Pointe district.

Wife of Allan Jones Condition Improved

★ ★ ★

Mary Florsheim Picking Jones, 38, heiress to the Florsheim shoe fortune, was hospitalized Sunday. She was suffering from an overdose of sleeping pills and a head injury suffered when she fell from a stretcher while being taken from her home.

★ ★ ★

Police said Mrs. Jones apparently attempted suicide after an argument with her husband. He denied this, saying they had only a minor spat and that the overdose was an "unconscious accident."

Scientists Planning Huge Space Radar

ITHACA, N. Y. (UPI)—Cornell University scientists are working on a gigantic radar system that might gather data which once seemed accessible only to artificial earth satellites.

★ ★ ★

The system, twice the size of a football field, is not expected to substitute for the satellites but will free them for other work, its designers say.

Defense Department authorities are considering two possible locations for the proposed space radar, one in Puerto Rico and the other in Texas.

The radar will be used to obtain information that might aid man in becoming a space traveler. The 1,000-foot dish will probe the thick cloud cover around Venus and is also expected to provide information about Mars and the sun.

Guard Trains Leaders

WASHINGTON — Three of the nation's defense leaders received their earliest military instruction in the National Guard. Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy served in the Ohio National Guard. General Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was in the Oregon National Guard before he entered West Point. And Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker enlisted in the Michigan National Guard before World War I.

Massachusetts City Pioneer in Lighting

BROCKTON, Mass. (UPI)—This city is marking the 75th anniversary of an unusual distinction it enjoys in the field of illumination.

In 1883 Brockton became the first place in the world to possess an underground, three-wire system for the distribution of electricity. The city soon boasted the first theater and first fire station to be lighted by Thomas A. Edison's incandescent system with power supplied from a central station.

On the evening the switch was thrown, one witness of the experiment was described in newspaper accounts as being especially delighted with the results. This was Edison himself.

High-strength steels, containing nickel, are used in aircraft landing gears. These steels develop tensile strengths of as much as 30,000 pounds per square inch.

Russian Gold Sales Up

LONDON—The total volume of Russian gold sales in 1957 is estimated in Samuel Montagu & Company's Annual Bullion Review at 7,500,000 ounces. The 1956 estimate was 4,300,000 ounces. It is believed that a little less than half of Russia's total output was sold in world markets in 1957. If this estimate is correct, Russia's 1957 gold production would be nearly as great as South Africa's.

Spill-Proof Car Game Amuses Tots on Trip

NEW YORK (AP) — Car travel play problems for the younger set are neatly solved with a game which ends the problem of losing pieces ingeniously by attaching the playing pieces firmly to the board by cords.

★ ★ ★

The spill-proof car travel game board represents a highway marked by varied obstacles which habitually delay motorists. The object of play is to be the first to drive from one end of the route to the other.

The federal constitution of 1948 is based on a series of agreements between the British crown and the nine Malay rulers.

Dem Sweep Ruins Some, Sparks Ambitions of Others

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What happened in yesterday's election can be told today in what it all meant to several brightly ambitious young men.

They are:

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who suffered a political reverse of the first magnitude. For Nixon, the election was a Democratic flash flood which wrecked his Republican home base of political operations in California. The party damage was duplicated generally around the country. Nixon's plus mark is that he is by instinct a take-charge guy. He was able therefore to emerge from the wreckage of the Republican Party today as political head man of the Eisenhower administration.

Nelson A. Rockefeller, Republican governor-elect of New York, was all plus and no minus on the election returns. Rockefeller smacked down Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman's re-election bid. He smacked it so far down that Harriman already is disappearing into the political shadows although he was only 48 hours ago a possible Democratic choice for president in 1960. Rockefeller did more. He won big enough to carry to victory with him New York's Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, Kenneth B. Keating. By these feats, Rockefeller became a major contender for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination—the only man who seems now to have any chance whatsoever to beat Nixon for that nomination.

HOPEFUL NO MORE

Sen. William F. Knowland who abandoned the Senate Republican leadership to run for governor in California was a Republican presidential prospect when this week began. No more. Knowland shook up California politics for forcing himself into the gubernatorial contest and compelling Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to step aside and to run for the Senate. They both lost and California, the second most populous state, fell to the Democrats for the first time in 16 years.

Sen. John F. Kennedy continued his early foot performance as front runner for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination. Kennedy sought re-election in Massachusetts. To maintain his favorable position, Kennedy needed a smashing victory over a lost-cause Republican opponent, Vincent J. Celeste. Kennedy got it. He clobbered Celeste by 3 to 1 or thereabouts.

New Jersey's Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner, also young, substantially held his own in the game of presidential politics by getting his man elected to the U. S. Senate. His man was Harrison A. Williams Jr., who defeated Republican Robert W. Kean. The Republicans had expected to win that one, despite the general Democratic trend.

Still another young man, Democratic George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, plodded with New York's Harriman into the political shadows. Leader lost a U. S. Senate contest to Republican Hugh Scott. Like Harriman, Leader had been counted until the returns came in as among the Democratic presidential possibilities.

Missouri kept Democratic Sen. Stuart Symington among the party's live aspirants to the White House. Symington's re-election, however, lacked the spectacular thump of a run-away majority such as Kennedy won in Massachusetts.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams was the Democratic young man of the hour in big, industrial Michigan. Williams, in political cahoots with big labor's Walter P. Reuther, won an unexampled sixth term. Williams, almost automatically, becomes the man left wing Democrats of the North, East and West would most welcome as head of the 1960 party ticket—and, by the same measure, Williams is the man whose nomination Democrats of the South would most protest.

NEW MR. BIG

Not so young, but mighty big in politics today is Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the Democrat who ran Knowland out of politics in California. Brown may not figure greatly as a presidential possibility himself, but as California's new Mr. Big, he will have a big part in choosing the next Democratic nominee.

In the day-after-election dawn, big labor stood amid the coast-to-coast Republican wreckage flexing its muscles like a Paul Bunyan in a forest of stumps. The tide of right-to-work laws and state constitutional amendments appeared to have been turned. The right-to-work proposition carried in agricultural Kansas, lost in Washington, Ohio and California, big industrial states, appeared to be rejecting right-to-work on the basis of incomplete returns.

Tossed up for grabs after yesterday's polling was leadership of the Democratic Party in New York State. Tammany boss Carmine Desapio put his blue chips on Frank S. Hogan, an organization Democrat, whom Desapio compelled left wing elements of the party to accept as nominee for the U. S. Senate. The left wing bawled in protest and New York's liberal party threatened to put up a Senate candidate of its own. That practically would have assured election of a Republican.

The liberals relented, however, to accept Hogan who, with Harriman, lost despite nomination by both the Democrats and liberals. Boss control became a cutting issue against the whole Democratic-liberal ticket.

Desapio probably will be the goat of this political series. Desapio's power play in putting Hogan on the ticket offended thousands of voters not to mention his public humiliation of Harriman and Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York.

Desapio and Wagner now must get together for some hatchet burying unless there is to be a party-jarring ruckus for Democratic control in big New York.

CIVIL RIGHTS BREACH

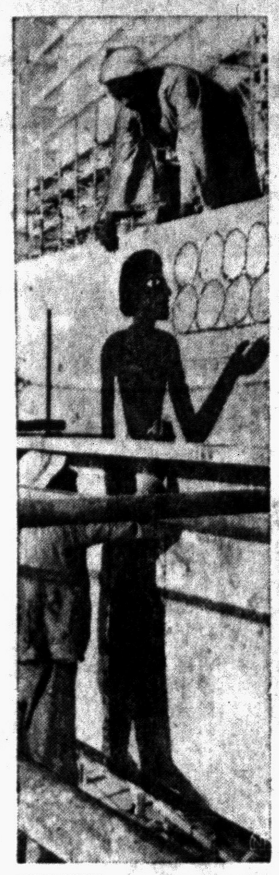

Good news for Republicans in that. Also comforting for the Republicans, perhaps, is the fact that the bitter civil rights breach between Southern Democrats and all other elements of the party had small impact, if any, on yesterday's congressional and gubernatorial elections.

This angry, intra-party dispute, however, will come into its own in 1960 when both parties will put up national candidates and the Democrats again must cope with the hazard of a no longer solid South.

Phones Rockefeller

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller said Vice President Richard M. Nixon telephoned to congratulate him on his New York gubernatorial victory. Rockefeller said "He was delighted. He said it was the brightest spot on the national scene for the Republican Party."

Helium gas is odorless, tasteless, colorless, inert. It will not burn or explode.

Voters Favor Race Track

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans had better begin examining themselves.

Their defeat by the Democrats Tuesday for control of Congress—the third time in a row—shows a clear lack of voter confidence in the party.

Eisenhower was elected overwhelmingly in 1952 and 1956. But in the three congressional races since Eisenhower took office, the voters have given the Democrats control of the legislative branch.

Tuesday's beating forces the Republicans to face this gloomy question: "Unless we can somehow regain voter confidence, how can we possibly hope to win the presidential and congressional elections in 1960?"

No Republican in sight, from Eisenhower down, seems to have the answer.

Despite all the campaign urging by Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon—some of it pretty shrill—the voters still put their faith in the Democrats to run Congress.

This sometimes gets difficult to understand since both parties are basically conservative except that the Republicans, or many of them, seem even more so.

★ ★ ★

One conclusion seems fair:

That the voters definitely think the Democrats more truly represent their views and interests, are more responsive to their needs, and in these days of vast social changes are more progressive.

That can explain to some extent why the voters elected Eisenhower while defeating his party in Congress, for he has tried to follow a moderately progressive line in his administration.

★ ★ ★

But neither he nor his party can claim that a majority of congressional Republicans could, or perhaps would want to, be called Eisenhower Republicans.

It seems difficult to think that either Eisenhower or Nixon can give their party more political sex appeal by 1960.

Both men have had six years in which to lead their party down a road that pleased the voters. They couldn't do it.

One of his patients is named Ann. She is eight years old. She has grey eyes and fair hair and a doll named Taggers.

Today the doctor discovered that Ann is suffering from the mysterious cancerous malady of the blood called leukemia.

He can hope to prolong her life awhile. He can only hope.

He needs desperately the tools that will let him help the 18,000 boys and girls who are stricken by leukemia each year.

Supplying the tools he needs to help these children is one of the many jobs of your United Fund dollars. Fortunately, with your past help, steady progress has been made. Many agencies are at work in the war against leukemia and other forms of cancer. The disease can be detected in the early stages. Some patients can be helped. But the great goal is the cure. With such a golden aim, won't you give again this year.

Accident a Blessing, With Red Cross

CHECKING THE CARGO — Here, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stowell of 43 Elizabeth Lake Rd. check a valuable cargo to be taken to an area hospital. They are Red Cross Motor Service volunteers transporting blood plasma to a hospital blood bank. This is typical of the many services performed each day by volunteers of the local Red Cross, a United Fund agency.

The screeching of brakes . . . a dull thud . . . and suddenly a woman writhing in pain — this describes a scene which was the turning point in the lives of an area family.

Although the scene was tragic at first, the turning point for Mrs. Jones, when she was struck by a passing car, was possibly the best thing that ever happened to her.

The "good" in this accident was brought about by the Pontiac Chapter of the American Red Cross, a United Fund agency.

A volunteer in the hospital emergency room notified Mr. Jones, and the Red Cross began supplying what eventually amounted to 12 pints of blood that Mrs. Jones required for transfusions in the coming weeks.

After Mrs. Jones was in the hospital for some time, a Red Cross Gray Lady noticed that her husband never came to visit. When a skillful Red Cross volunteer home service worker contacted him, Mr. Jones first said he was afraid of what it would cost him to replace the blood.

She explained that replacement was not demanded and could be accomplished if and when he was able to do it. This turned out to be the least of the Jones' troubles.

He was unemployed, having quit his job when his wife was hospitalized. This was necessary, the volunteer found, because he had to care for their only daughter.

It was then discovered that the 5-year-old daughter was badly retarded both physically and mentally, and the parents had been caring for her since birth without knowing outside help could be obtained at little or no cost.

PLACED CHILD

The Red Cross saw that both parents had done more than could be expected of them and that there was a definite financial need present. Other trained workers set out to find a suitable hospital, best equipped to give the crippled child proper care.

This was done and transportation was furnished to the hospital by Red Cross Motor Service volunteers, in this case a retired Pontiac Motor employe and his wife.

After a gradual recovery facilitated by the tireless help of Gray Ladies, Mrs. Jones returned home to a new life.

Her husband had taken a responsible position as landscaper for a large county firm. In several months she too got a job.

This all happened several years ago. Today Mr. and Mrs. Jones have paid all debts that were hanging over their heads at the time of the accident and have moved from their two-room dwelling to a comfortable home in a modest residential neighborhood.

They visit their daughter at the hospital regularly, realizing that she is receiving much better care and guidance than they could have given her at home.

This family can thank the Red Cross for giving them a "new start" in life out of what appeared to be their "darkest hour."

Many families throughout Oakland County benefit in similar ways each year due to the continued work of the local Red Cross, made possible by your United Fund contributions.

Doris Day's Next Film Will Be Zany Comedy

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — That busy girl Doris Day has just signed herself a new deal. She goes to Columbia for "Who Is Sylvia," based on an original story by Leonard Gershe, with David Miller directing. David's last for Columbia was "The Story of Esther Costello."

★ ★ ★

"Who Is Sylvia" won't be made until Doris finishes "It's That Time of Year" which she'll make with Rock Hudson at Universal-International. Of course Marty Melcher, who has certainly been good for Doris' career, is executive producer, with Roger Eden as producer. "Who Is Sylvia" is a zany comedy with six songs to be written especially for Doris.

★ ★ ★

Debbie Reynolds will take her two children, Carrie Frances and Todd, East with her when she goes to New York to talk about two play offers.

★ ★ ★

Fascinating is Gen. Merion Cooper's idea to produce a motion picture called "Chennault of China." Fascinating because Gen. Cooper served with Chennault in China during the war and knew the greatness of the man whom Gen. MacArthur called "the greatest living soldier."

I asked the general if he had found an actor to play Chennault, and he said he had not—but he planned to use an unknown.

★ ★ ★

London has acclaimed Mary Costa as the world's most glamorous opera singer, and she is not only glamorous but excellent as Cunegonde in "Candide," Voltaire's classic which played here two nights.

★ ★ ★

Mary is the voice of Disney's "Sleeping Beauty," and she's a wonderful girl. No wonder her husband, director Frank Tashlin, is so proud of her.

Marilyn Monroe was in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital over a weekend but she didn't lose her baby. She was suffering from complete exhaustion.

Katy Jurado is in Mt. Sinai Hospital for observation. She was taken there by Ernie Borgnine.

Major Hoople Sez: Egad! Hak! Zounds!

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Built First Goalposts

EGAD! Traditional contests abound as the football season enters its final stages. It is a time when alumni return to alma mater and renew old friendships. In color-splashed stadia great feats of derring-do will be recorded as the athletes reach a fever pitch.

Ah, it would be a magnificent picture except for my findings after a week's drudgery on the IBM machines and with old-fashioned pencil and paper.

Hak-kaff, I am talking about tremendous upsets. I assure my zillions of readers they are in the making at this very moment. The morale of coaches will be shattered as the unexpected hits their teams this week.

Zounds! As my perfect handicapping shows, there will be surprises throughout the land. None, of course, of the magnitude of the one I caused by belaboring Pudge Heffelfinger in a private scrimmage at Yale one fall. But still the surprises will be big ones.

Baylor will attack Texas with relentless force and imagiation reminiscent of my greatest days and come away with a 27-13 victory! People will refuse to believe the final score of the Iowa State Oklahoma games until it has been re-checked and even then will only half believe Iowa State has won by 15-6!

Columbia is to reach great heights in subduing Dartmouth, 7-0. On this latter score, I must admit it will not be as much of an upset as all indications would have it appear. You see, I have taken time out from a busy week to give advice on the telephone to the Columbia coaching staff.

I have not done this for anybody since I went to Worcester in 1941 to tutor the Holy Cross youngsters who went on to amass an implausible score in beating mighty Boston College.

Iowa's Fleming Gets 'Unsung Hero' Title

CHICAGO (UPI)—Iowa's sophomore halfback, Willie Fleming of Hamtramck, was named "unsung hero of the week" by the Chicago football writers for his performance in the Hawkeye victory against Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Fleming, never higher than the second team and used sparingly, ran 72 yards with a punt for one Iowa touchdown, and ran 61 yards from scrimmage for another score.

He also had a 40 yard kickoff return and averaged 14 yards per carry on six rushes from scrimmage. In five previous games he had only 90 yards in 26 carries.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Fred Marberry Jr., 21, son of former major league pitcher Firpo Marberry, has signed a 1959 contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates' San Angelo, Tex., farm club.

Young Marberry, 6-1, 180 pounds, is a pitcher and shortstop, throwing and hitting right-handed. He resides with his parents in Waco, Tex.

Yellowjackets at Home for Title Game

Avondale vs Troy Friday

By CHUCK ABAIR

The Oakland B League championship goes up for grabs Friday night when Avondale plays host to Troy in what is expected to be one of the outstanding games of the season in this sector.

Already certain of at least a tie for the crown due to four straight triumphs, the Yellowjackets are giving no thought to sharing the title with anyone. They are determined to take all the marbles as a climax to a cinderella-like season.

Avondale was not figured a contender this fall after going winless all season in 1957 but coach Frank Crowell has done an outstanding job in developing a formidable array.

The Jackets divided their 1st four games—three of them non-league affairs—but have since taken three straight while showing an amazing ability to come from behind.

A typical example was last week at Clawson when the locals overcame a 12-0 deficit to win out 14-12.

Crowell drilled his charges on offense last night and stressed defense today in the final heavy workout. Starters Ken Mather and Gary Acker have been ailing but are able to practice. Mather has a knee injury while Acker has a boil on his chin which prevents him from fastening his helmet.

The coach expects a busy time with the visiting Colts. "It will be the first time we have faced an unbalanced line this year," said Frank today.

★ ★ ★

Troy can do no better than tie for the title but such an occurrence would make the Colts happy.

★ ★ ★

"We want this one bad. You know we never have had a championship or even a co-championship since entering the league in 1950," pointed out Troy skipper Joe Bechard today.

A loss to Madison has been the only blot on the Colts' loop record. "That was a bad night. We've got a good team," added Joe.

★ ★ ★

Avondale will likely rate the favorite role by a slim margin on the basis of its unbeaten record plus the home field advantage. An overflow crowd is anticipated by officials at the Auburn Heights school.

Avon has had a variety of offensive stars from week to week throughout the season while Troy has depended largely on two boys.

A total of 11 different Yellowjackets have scored points, nine of them getting at least one touchdown. Hustling quarterback Dick Smith and halfback Dennis Shaw head the pack with five TDs apiece. Pass catcher Herb Harris has four tallies and co-captain Larry Douglas three. Acker has a pair plus nine extra points.

★ ★ ★

Powerful Dave Stokes, a 190-pounder who likes to run over defenders, has been the big noise for Troy all season. He has scored twice in four different games and has a total of 55 points. Quarterback Rick McKinnon and Jim DePauw have 18 each.

Most of the other area league titles are either settled or at least virtually decided but there will be several other interesting games on the Friday docket.

★ ★ ★

Saturday, Rochester goes after a 2nd place finish in the Tri-County as guest of L'Anse Creuse, Ferndale visits Royal Oak Dondero and Cranbrook makes its final bid for victory as host to Gilmour of Ohio.

Gophers' Grid Misery Brings Words of Alarm

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's football misery brought expressions of alarm and words like "serious" and "terrible" Tuesday from the executive secretary of the University Alumni Assn.

But Ed Haislet, the secretary, denied there was any organized pressure against Coach Murray Warmath or Ike Armstrong, the athletic director.

★ ★ ★

He suggested, however, that more teamwork was needed to deliver top-drawer talent to the school.

Minnesota has lost six in a row this season and nine straight since November 1957, the longest losing streak in the nation among schools playing a big time schedule.

"I was on the phone almost all day answering calls from rabid fans who wanted to know what can be done about the situation," Haislet said.

"My answer is that we need more statewide support than ever behind the present athletic department setup."

In his personal opinion, Haislet good coach" and Armstrong has done "a pretty doggone good job as athletic director and is a fine human being."

Minnesota does not have close liaison between the athletic staff and alumni and other groups who want to help recruit, Haislet said.

"This is one area in which I think Minnesota's football situation must improve," he said.

Gator Bowl Studies Teams for Classic

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Fifteen of the nation's top-ranked teams, including the surprising Air Force Academy, are being considered for bids to the Gator Bowl football classic here Dec. 17.

Besides the Air Force, which has only a tie with top-ranked Iowa to mar a perfect record, the Gator committee also is keeping an eye on undefeated Louisiana State and once-beaten Syracuse, Mississippi, Clemson and Texas Christian.

★ ★ ★

Others among the select 15 are Boston College (4-2), Holy Cross (4-1), Pittsburgh (4-2-1), Vanderbilt (4-1-2), Georgia Tech (4-2-1), North Carolina (4-3), Rice (4-2), Southern Methodist (3-3) and Texas (4-2).

Orioles Select MacPhail Club General Manager

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lee MacPhail will take over the general manager's job of the Baltimore Orioles from Paul Richards who "will devote his full attention to managing" the team on the field, it was announced today.

The announcement by James Keelty Jr., Oriole president, confirmed recent reports that the 41-year-old MacPhail will give up the position of director of player personnel for the New York Yankees to come to Baltimore.

The son of Larry MacPhail formerly an owner of the Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, will take over the end of this month in time for the winter meeting of baseball in Washington on Dec. 1.

Richards has been designated both general and field manager since he was hired by the Orioles from the Chicago White Sox in 1955. As such, he personally has made practically every decision on signing and trading players.

Keelty's definition of MacPhail's position set forth a separation of powers.

MacPhail "will have the authority to approve and conclude all major deals and will confer with Manager Richards on any contemplated transfers of player personnel," Keelty stated.

"We feel the new arrangement —one in which MacPhail will function as general manager and Richards will devote his full attention to managing—cannot help but be in the best interests of the Orioles and the fans of Baltimore."

He added that MacPhail will direct responsibility for all minor league operations, including the signing of young players and of all business details."

Keelty said that Richards was in full accord with the change.

He said the selection of MacPhail was on the personal recommendation of Richards and his "enthusiasm for the move is demonstrated by the fact that he has voluntarily relinquished the position of general manager."

Richards' contract extends through next year. Originally it had a clause giving him exclusive control of all player personnel both on the Orioles and throughout the farm system.

2 More Fleets Buy GMC Unit

Each Trucking Firm Orders 50 Lightweight Highway Tractors

Two more big trucking fleets have purchased the GMC Diesel highway tractor, the D860, which in the five months since introduction has been setting new standards of economical operation for truckers, according to R. C. Woodhouse, general truck sales manager of the GMC Truck and Coach Division.

Ellis Trucking Company of Indianapolis; and Point Express of Charleston, W. Va., each have purchased 50 of the lightweight GMC Diesel units which haul loads in the 55,000 lbs. and up gross combination weight class.

Approximately 800 of the D860s have been sold to well over 100 customers, indicating the wide acceptance of the relatively new GMC tractor.

"The demand for this model, and its COE companion Model DF860, has been very strong, resulting in frequent schedule increases which are now providing a production rate nearly five times the monthly volume scheduled just a few short months ago," Woodhouse said.

The D860 has aluminum construction features giving it an extremely low-curb weight. It is powered by the famed GM 6-71 Super Economy Diesel developing 189 horsepower at 1800 RPM. An optional engine is the 6-71 developing 210 horsepower at 2100 RPM.

Bumper-to-back-of-cab dimension is only 90 inches which gives the model cross-country operating versatility and a high degree of trailer interchangeability.

S-P Starts Overtime to Cope With Demand

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Studebaker-Packard Corp. said today it has started overtime production to meet dealer demand for its new 1959 Lark, Silver Hawk and truck models.

The company said its production lines are working nine hours a day during the week and eight hours on Saturday to meet dealer demands.

The 1959 Studebaker-Packard lines go on public display Nov. 14.

About 35 to 40 per cent of all the cobalt produced is used in the manufacture of alloys designed to withstand high temperatures.
