OU Has Lifeline to Viet, Thanks to Grad Serving There

Minutes after he graduated from Oakland University in April 1963, Richard Stier was commissioned a 2nd lieutenant in the Marine Corps. In July 1965 he sailed for Viet Nam.

Stier's college years taught him much about economics, politics and other subjects; but they didn't prepare him in advance for what he encountered last December. Oakland didn't offer a course entitled "The Tragedy of War."

Now, in a small, second-hand way, it does — through a humanitarian project at Oakland known as "Thang Binh Lifeline."

Early in February, OU Alumni Relations Director Dorothy Hope received a letter from Stier. It began: "Dear Mrs. Hope, I am writing tonight with a heavy heart . . . wondering if you could help me, and, in turn, help many young Vietnamese children . . ."

The lieutenant's letter described how, during "Operation Harvest Moon" last December, his artillery battery had been ordered to occupy a strategic position in a hamlet some 20 miles south of Da Nang.

ONE DAY LATE

Through no fault of their own Stier's battery arrived one day too late to save an entire battalion of South Vietnamese Rangers from being totally wiped out.

After a fierce struggle, which left 426 Viet Cong dead, the Americans succeeded in occupying the hamlet, named Thang Binh.

There, the young officer came face-to-face with the pitiful circumstances of Vietnamese children orphaned and abandoned in the wreckage of battle.

Stier described them in his letter: "They have a bare minimum of clothing to wear. They are undernourished, dirty, destitute and have very little to live for."

SUPPLIES OR MONEY

Stier asked Mrs. Hope to see if the Oakland student body could be interested in helping to collect supplies or money to help alleviate the suffering of the Thang Binh children.

Not sure of what sort of response the idea might get, she went ahead and called for a meeting with leaders of all OU student organizations.

In short order, the group met and elected Margaret O'Reilly, junior from 2952 Old Orchard, Waterford Twp., as chairman.

"Everyone got on the bandwagon instantly," Miss O'Reilly said. "One after another, each student at the meeting stood up and said, 'Our organization will . . . .'"

NO OVERTONES

The student leader was asked whether Thang Binh Lifeline had any anti-war-in-Viet Nam overtones.

"This has nothing to do with political issues," she said. "These are kids who need help. Students at Oakland who are strongly against the war in Viet Nam have been as eager to help as those who support U.S. policy there."

Stier, now a 1st lieutenant and executive officer in his battery, will serve as liaison for the project and will oversee the distribution.

Novel schemes have been concocted on the Oakland campus to encourage student contributions.

'SOAP DANCE'

Wednesday night, a "soap dance" was held in the Oakland student center. The price of admission was two regular-size bars of soap, one of the items most needed in Thang Binh.

There will be dances on the next two Wednesdays, too, with different items as the price of admission.

One of the men's dormitories at Oakland, Fitzgerald House, is holding an "ugly man" contest.

Photos of two candidates from each of the dorm's floors will be posted around campus, and students will vote for the ugliest by depositing pennies in canisters. Whoever receives the most pennies in his canister is the winner (or loser, depending upon how you look at it).

JOIN CAMPAIGN

Students from neighboring Oakland Community College (Auburn Hills branch) have joined with the OU students.

Cavanagh Enters Race for Senate

Astronauts Return to Launching Base

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The Gemini 8 astronauts flew back to their launching base today to help experts determine why their space flight suddenly turned from triumph to near tragedy.

Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott were in good spirits as they landed here after a jet flight from Hawaii.

They bounced down the plane steps and waved at a crowd of about 200 persons.

"We had a magnificent flight the first seven hours," Armstrong told the group, adding that he and Scott were disappointed they were unable to complete their mission after executing man's first linkup with another satellite.

"It was a magnificent launch — without a doubt the best there's ever been," Armstrong told Lt. Col. John G. Albert, Gemini launch director for the Air Force.

★ ★ ★

They declined to discuss details of their wild ride with newsmen.

FLIGHT REVIEW

Scott said they were "looking forward" to reviewing the flight that ended so swiftly Wednesday night after Gemini 8 and the Agena, to which it was hooked up, suddenly began to tumble crazily through the sky.

The C135 jet transport landed here at 7:58 a.m. after an 8½-hour flight from Hawaii.

At Cape Kennedy, the astronauts will huddle with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials for three days in an effort to solve the mystery of the harrowing ride that caused the first emergency landing in the U.S. man in space program.

★ ★ ★

Armstrong and Scott blasted off from Cape Kennedy at 11:41 a.m. Wednesday and later linked up with an Agena satellite in an historic space feat.

Viet-Bound Ammo, Flares Are Missing

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (UPI) — A U.S. Navy official confirmed yesterday that an undetermined amount of ammunition and flares apparently bound for Viet Nam are missing from equipment thrown out when a train derailed at Logan, N. M. on March 9.

Lt. Commander J. S. Eaves of the 8th Naval District in New Orleans yesterday said he could not categorically say the equipment had been stolen. But he said an inventory showed it definitely was missing.

Ford: Inflation Puts Dems in Deep Trouble

Cites Figures Showing 7 Per Cent Increase in Wholesale Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The Democrats "are now in deep trouble" over inflation, according to House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford.

Ford said the extent of the trouble was disclosed by recent Labor Department figures showing the February increase in wholesale prices to be the sharpest for the month since the Korean war.

Terming it a "disclosure that the lid has now blown off wholesale prices," the Michigan representative said "excessive, virtually unrestrained spending by the Democrats on nondefense programs is a principal cause of inflation."

"This situation demands that the Johnson-Humphrey administration force a cutback in consumer spending or hold down government spending," he said.

★ ★ ★

Ford said it was "shocking" that wholesale prices rose 7 per cent last month. He said a recent Gallup Poll result showed it was costing a family of four about $18 a week more to get along this year than a year ago.

GOOD BET

"It's a good bet prices will go up faster after the middle of the year than they have in the last few months," he said.

The GOP leader said Johnson had "cranked some curbs" against inflation into the economy, including the just-approved $6 billion tax bill.

But he also said many economists don't think these will be enough. He said the administration had taken "only tentative steps to fight inflation for fear of a rebuke at the polls in November."

Ford's statement case as other pressures mounted yesterday on the Johnson administration to move more swiftly toward a decision to seek an anti-inflationary tax increase.

Soviet Charge Reported

'China Set for Russian War'

BERLIN (AP) — A U. S. radio station in West Berlin says it has learned that the Soviet Communist party secretly spread charges that Red China has been preparing for possible war with the Soviet Union.

The U. S. Information Service station RIAS — Radio in the American Sector — made the claim in a broadcast Thursday.

It said the secret letter sent to Communist parties abroad also accused Peking of fostering a long war in Viet Nam in an effort to touch off a clash between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The station said the letter was sent last February by the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party to foreign Communist parties, including the Socialist Unity party in East Germany. The RIAS broadcast was especially beamed at East Germany.

★ ★ ★

The station said the letter instructed foreign party leaders to tell their members of the letter's contents by word of mouth.

E. BERLIN SOURCES

A RIAS spokesman told a newsman today the station learned of the letter "through sources in East Berlin."

The broadcast said the Soviet letter charged that the Chinese have:

- Ignored Soviet attempts to heal the ideological split.
- Systematically prepared their population for an attack either from the Soviet Union alone or from both the U.S.S.R. and the United States.

★ ★ ★

- Stepped up provocations along the Far East border with the Soviet Union.
- Spurned peaceful Soviet efforts to settle the border questions.

★ ★ ★

- Caused the Vietnamese people great damage by promoting the idea of a long war in Viet Nam.
- Hoped for continued cold war tensions to erupt into a U.S.-Soviet clash resulting in mutual destruction of the two nuclear giants.
- Rejected every Soviet effort to coordinate Communist aid to North Viet Nam.
- Blocked shipping of Soviet military aid to Hanoi by air or rail through China.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet dispute with China is expected to be a key topic at the 23rd congress of the Soviet Communist party, opening March 29. Communist party leaders from all over the world will attend the session.

JEROME P. CAVANAGH

Party Chiefs' Views Mixed

Primary Campaign Split Is Main Fear

DETROIT (UPI) — Michigan's Democratic party leadership greeted Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's entry into the senatorial primary race with mixed reaction today.

The main fear expressed was that the primary campaign between Cavanagh and former six-term Gov. G. Mennen Williams might turn into a personality battle, splitting the party and endangering the party's chances of defeating the Republican candidate in November.

Williams, the person most concerned with the mayor's announcement, refused to comment until after he had a chance to hear what Cavanagh had to say.

Neil Staebler, the state's national committeeman, expressed the most chagrin at Cavanagh's announcement. He warned that the heat of the primary could distract Democrats from the job of beating the Republican candidate.

"The greatest danger in a campaign like this is that people get so entranced by the excitement of a primary they forget to do the final groundwork for the final campaign," Staebler said.

TO STAY OUT

With both men in the race, he said he would stay out of the primary battle, although last week he openly urged Cavanagh to stay out of the Senate race.

Zolton Ferency, Michigan's state central committee chairman, also was bothered by Cavanagh's announcement, although he was more optimistic.

"Cavanagh's candidacy for the nomination on the Democratic ticket may in fact be beneficial to the Democratic party," he said.

But Ferency expressed concern that the campaign might turn into a personality battle. "Presumably they will use their time to discuss the issues," he said. "If the campaign deteriorates into a personal assault then it could be detrimental."

He added, however, "I do not think they will do anything to damage the Democratic party's chances in November."

Detroit Mayor Makes Official Announcement

Faces Uphill Fight to Get Dem Bid Over Ex-Gov. Williams

DETROIT (AP) — Declaring "there is a new generation of political leadership in this nation," Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh made it official today: he will seek the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

Cavanagh, 37, will face six-time former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, 55, in a primary battle that many feel could split the party down the middle and cost it the election in November.

The dark-haired mayor, who says he is a politician in a hurry and has risen in five years to become one of the brightest stars on the national Democratic horizon, faces an uphill fight to win the nomination Aug. 2.

Most of organized labor in this industrial state has pledged to support Williams.

★ ★ ★

"There is a new generation of political leadership in this nation," Cavanagh told a news conference jammed for his anticlimactic announcement. He added:

★ ★ ★

"This new generation believes in fiscal integrity as well as social welfare programs, and that both business and labor must prosper for the nation to prosper."

PAYLESS PAYDAYS

Thus Cavanagh raised the prospect he might blame Williams for so-called payless paydays in the late 1950s. Democratic politicians to a man heretofore have blamed them on refusal of Republican-dominated Legislatures to raise funds sufficient to cover their appropriations.

★ ★ ★

Grad's Letter Spurs Lifeline to Viet at OU

ry Zins, Royal Oak freshman, the OCC students have turned the project into a campus-wide competition.

Stier's wife, Barbara, who lives with her two small children at 716 Hamlet, Pontiac Township, has been aiding the Oakland task force in facilitating communication between the students and her husband.

OU students have set up a dozen collection depots scattered around the campus. Daily pickups are made by members of Circle K, a student service organization.

SORTING, PACKING

The Women's Service Organization is handling sorting and packing operations.

All material and supplies are packed into 42-pound boxes, which are then carried to the post office in University trucks. From there they are shipped to California, and from then on the military handles the transporting.

Although the campaign officially got under way only yesterday, more than $1,500 worth of material has already been collected. Included in this are a number of contributions from area business firms.

High on the list of necessities being sought for Thang Binh Lifeline are lightweight children's clothes, nonperishable foodstuffs, soap, cotton yardage, writing paper and pencils.

FIRST WORD

Stier, who turned 24 on Feb. 24, received the first word that his alma mater had taken up his cause on his birthday.

Said he, in a letter to his wife, "It's the finest birthday present I've ever had."

2,850 Out of Work at Chrysler Plant

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI) — Some 2,850 employes of the Chrysler plant here were out of work yesterday after being sent home for the day following a dispute over the suspension of a union steward.

Officials said the 350-man afternoon shift in the metal finishing department of the plant refused to report for work yesterday afternoon because of the suspension.

As a result, officias sent the remaining 2,500 workers home. Plant officials said they expected to have the matter settled by Monday.

Firm Cancels Price Boost on Cigarettes

NEW YORK (AP) — An announced cigarette price increase has been canceled by one major manufacturer, acting under White House pressure, but a second firm says it has no plans to rescind its higher prices.

★ ★ ★

The decision by the R.J. Reynolds Co. to eliminate its scheduled price hike prompted the White House to comment, "This is good news to all who oppose inflation."

A spokesman for Liggett and Myers said his firm does not intend to follow Reynolds' lead.

★ ★ ★

"There will be no change in plans," he said. "We have announced an increase and it will go into effect March 21."

STUDY BOOSTS

Other companies were reported to be studying their recent price boosts.

★ ★ ★

Reynolds raised its wholesale prices Tuesday by 40 cents a thousand cigarettes. The company notified dealers Friday that it was restoring the price of Camels to $8.80 per thousand, less a 2 per cent cash discount. List prices for Winston, Salem, Brandon, Tempo and Cavalier reverted to $9 a thousand, less the 2 per cent cash discount.

Woman Grabs Gunman's Pistol Ends Hours of Terror for Family

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — A spunky young woman grabbed a gunman's pistol and ended four hours of terror for her family Friday night.

While Mrs. Marvin Keeler, 22, wrestled for the pistol, police rushed up and a shot was fired. The gunman, Harvey LeRoy Baker, 33, slumped over, fatally wounded. Police said Lt. Pat Larion fired the shot.

★ ★ ★

The shooting climaxed a wild episode in which the gunman held the Keeler family hostage after ducking into their house following an aborted holdup of a nearby grocery store.

Police rinsed the house, but held their fire when Baker eventually emerged with the Keelers at gunpoint. He forced Keeler, 24, a college student, to drive him away in an automobile.

IN BACK SEAT

Baker was in the back seat with Mrs. Keeler, pointing a pistol at her.

Police and curious residents followed.

"It was a wild drive for quite a bit. H ehad my husband stop once to tell him that he was going to start shooting into the crowd if they didn't stop following us," said Mrs. Keeler.

Baker did, too, wounding a passerby.

HAD TO MOVE

Police said that's when they knew they had to move in on Baker.

A patrol car cut in front of the getaway vehicle in downtown Eugene. Before it stopped rolling, the police were rushing out. Mrs. Keeler said Baker turned the gun toward the police, and that's when she grabbed it.

★ ★ ★

The car still was rolling, but Keeler lunged over the back seat and joined the struggle for the gun. Then the shot rang out. The police car bumped against a downtown building and the other car nudged the police car, both without serious damage.

Baker, also known as David LeRoy Lathman, died in Sacred Heart Hospital of head wounds.

Police said identification papers found on the man showed both Modesto, Calif., and Salem, Ore., as home towns.

The wounded passerby, Milton Seligman, 29, Eugene, was shot just above the collarbone and was reported progressing satisfactorily.

30 Die in Egypt Plane Crash

CAIRO (AP)—A United Arab Airlines plane, en route here from Cyprus with 25 passengers and a crew of five, crashed and burned in a raging desert sandstorm last night.

Rescue workers guided by flames to the site about 10 miles north of Cairo reported no survivors were found.

An eyewitness said the fire had almost burned out when the rescuers reached the wreckage.

The tail of the aircraft was severed from the fuselage, which lay some 500 feet away.

★ ★ ★

LAST DISASTER

The accident was Cairo's first air disaster since the crash last May of a Pakistani International Airlines Boeing 720 that killed 121.

The UAA plane was a twin-engine Soviet-made turboprop Antonev on a regular round-trip flight between Cairo and Nicosia, Cyprus.

Avon Taxes to Be Aired

Avon Township taxpayers will meet at noon tomorrow at Avondale High School to discuss what they call "an unfair tax increase."

Yanks Find Little Action on Ground

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. Air Force B52 bombers hit the Ashau Special Forces camp that fell to North Vietnamese forces last week, a military spokesman announced today.

The strike last night by the giant eight-engine bombers from Guam was ordered after intelligence indicated that all the Americans originally in the camp now are accounted for and the Vietnamese support troops who survived a regimental assault had been extricated.

★ ★ ★

The Northern regulars hit the camp from all sides and smothered it March 10. Only a tremendous effort by Marine and Air Force helicopter units saved a majority of the men from annihilation.

The Communist troops from the North spent the next several days building new fortifications which have been blasted several times by American air strikes.

FINAL CRUNCH

The B52s put the final crunch on the area. There was no evaluation of results and an Air Force officer said it was reasonable to presume the enemy forces had withdrawn, probably across the border into Laos.

★ ★ ★

Ground action against the Viet Cong produced only slight contact today. The 25th Division probing about 30 miles southwest of Saigon closed out Operation Honolulu in which U. S. troops chased the Communists out of an old stronghold, killed 49 and captured 13 Viet Cong.

★ ★ ★

A company of U. S. Marines got into a firefight during the night at Bich Nam, eight miles south of Da Nang where the Viet Cong have laid many ambushes in the past. The Leathernecks suffered moderate casualties from heavy mortar fire and lost a helicopter called in to fly the wounded out.

Two more companies of Marines came to the rescue and superior fire power forced the Viet Cong to withdraw.

★ ★ ★

The aerial attack took precedence Friday both in South and North Viet Nam. One of the heaviest assaults on fortified Viet Cong positions about 55 miles northwest of Nha Trang was prompted by information found on the body of an enemy company commander several days ago.

DONALD E. ADAMS

Probate Judge Seeks 3rd Term

Affidavit Is Filed by Long-Time Jurist, 53

Senior Probate Judge Donald E. Adams will seek reelection this fall.

The 53-year-old jurist yesterday filed his affidavit of candidacy to succeed himself for a six-year term.

Under the 1963 constitution an elected incumbent judge can become a candidate for reelection merely by filing a declaration of intent with the county clerk at least 120 days before the primary. Petitions were required in the past.

A probate judge since 1960, Adams has served two terms, a two-year and a four-year.

★ ★ ★

MEMBERSHIPS

Adams is a member of the Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board, the executive committee for Camp Oakland, and on the board of directors of both the Pontiac and Waterford boys' clubs.

He is currently Oakland County chairman of the educational crusade of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

A practicing attorney since 1936 when he received his law degree from the University of Michigan, Adams served two terms as commissioner of the State Bar Association from the 18th District.

★ ★ ★

He served as an officer in the Naval Reserve during World War II and until recently was in charge of the Pontiac branch of the Reserve Officers School.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR

Following the war he was appointed state public administrator for the county, a position requiring the handling of estates of those who died with heirs and such other probate matters assigned by the judge of probate.

In addition to the six-year term which Adams is seeking, there will be an election for a third probate judge to serve an initial eight-year term.

The Legislature authorized the addition of the third judge, and the position was approved by the Board of Supervisors last year.

★ ★ ★

The second probate judge, Norman R. Barnard, does not have to seek reelection until 1970 when his term expires.

Detroit Man Is Convicted as Perjurer

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon found a Detroit man guilty of committing perjury when he testified before the grand jury.

Convicted was Solomon Brown, 52, of 19975 Wyoming. His trial lasted four days.

Judge James S. Thorburn will sentence Brown April 14.

Brown and Clemon Wynn Jr., 35, also of Detroit, were charged with perjury after appearing before grand juror, Circuit Judge Philip Pratt. Both were accused of lying under oath last September.

★ ★ ★

Wynn was found guilty by a jury in January and sentenced to 5-15 years in the state prison.

NUMBERS RAIDS

Brown was convicted of falsely swearing he had not bribed a Royal Oak Township policeman to tip him off about raids planned on numbers establishments.

Urges Hitting China N-Sites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Madame Chiang Kai-Shek said yesterday that conventional bombs should be used against Communist China's nuclear installations.

In her speech and in answer to questions, the 67-year-old first lady of Nationalist China stressed that any settlement of the Viet Nam war that is favorable to Hanoi would only benefit Communist China, and would not serve the interests of the Soviet Union.

She said it is the design of the Chinese Communists to embroil the Soviet Union in a general war so that Peking would come out the real victor.

Madame Chiang, speaking faultless English, reaffirmed that "we shall return" to the China mainland "and we won't need any of your doughboys to do that."

WHY NO AID?

She was asked why Nationalist China has not given military support to South Viet Nam.

"You should ask your government and the Viet Nam government who has not asked us for military support," she replied.

Madame Chiang predicted that the successors to Mao Tse-tung will follow an even harder line than the present aggressive Chinese Communist leadership.

"The inheritor must in every way prove more aggressive and more worthy to be deserving of the inheritance by out-Maoing Mao, especially with 49 other possibles gloating watchfully in the wings to pounce on any sign of weakness and every Communist mistake," she said.

Referring to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings on China, she said it is reported that an outgrowth of the inquiry will be "a supposedly spanking new policy toward the Red Chinese—containment but not isolation."

One of the most vital groups working under the auspices of the committee is a case study committee consisting of a case worker from Oakland County, a pediatrician, a psychiatrist, a lawyer and other volunteer professionals.

★ ★ ★

The committee reviews cases recommended by the schools, police, churches and private sources and works with the child and family to solve the problem.

SEPARATE ENTITY

The Teen Center, now a separate entity, was once a Youth Assistance subcommittee project.

"Each community through an organization such as this can determine the levels of behavior of its children," said Oakland County Probate Judge Donald E. Adams at a recent meeting.

The case study committee of the group handled 47 cases in 1965. The 1966 figure has already surpassed that number.

The Red Cross senior lifesaving class, sponsored by the Recreation Board, will begin Monday at Derby Junior High School.

Classes will be held each Monday from 7-9 p.m. through May. Boys and girls who will be 16 years of age by June 1 are eligible for the course.

Little Judy's Condition Dips

Catches Pneumonia, Now Listed as Fair

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Tiny Judy Lynn Funsch, 5, was reported holding her own today in a battle to survive a five-hour heart operation — but the frail child has developed pneumonia.

Doctors at University of Michigan hospital revised their description of Judy's general condition from "good" down to fair."

★ ★ ★

"For a while she was doing quite well," said the girl's mother, Mrs. Clarence Funsch of Genesee Township, near Flint, Mich. "But now I'm worried all over again.

"Before the operation, I was prepared for the worst. Then she seemed to be getting better. I don't know if I could take it now."

18th TIME

Judy's mother said this was the 18th time the 28-pound child has had pneumonia.

The pretty little brown-eyed blonde was born with an obstruction blocking a pulmonary vein bringing oxygenated blood from the right lung to the heart.

★

In delicate surgery nine days ago, the obstruction was removed. But doctors found that Judy's left lung was not functioning—and never will — because the pulmonary vein was missing on that side.

For the first few days after the operation, Judy appeared on the road to recovery. Her color improved, her temperature dropped to normal and she was taken off intravenous feeding.

INTENSIVE CARE

The youngster was moved from the recovery room, where a doctor had been at her bedside around the clock, to the cardiac intensive care unit, which has special duty nurses.

"She even had a hamburger with french fries and catsup one time, watched 'Batman' on TV and played with her coloring book," recalled Mrs. Funsch.

Her hand shaking as she lit a cigarette, the mother said:

"Judy's temperature has gone up to 101, and she looks much worse. Her face is a pasty gray color, and her eyes are sunken and have dark circles around them. She seems to be tired all the time."

LETTERS, TELEGRAMS

Letters and telegrams continue to arrive by the hundreds at the hospital daily, from as far away as Greece.

★ ★ ★

Most of the senders wish Judy a speedy recovery and a normal, happy life. Some have mailed dolls, stuffed animals and Catholic medals and rosaries.

Detroit Times' Ex-Publisher Dead at 74

DETROIT (AP) — Retired newspaper publisher William E. Anderman died Friday night at his home in suburban Grosse Pointe Farms. He was 74.

Anderman was publisher of the Detroit Times from 1934 until he retired in 1957, three years before the Hearst newspaper was absorbed by the Detroit News.

★ ★ ★

Anderman also was a former director of Hearst Newspapers and a vice president of Hearst Consolidated Publications.

A native of Chicago, Anderman started his newspaper career as a carrier for the Chicago Daily News, were he went on into advertising. He came to Detroit in 1921 when William Randolph Hearst bought the Times, and advanced from national advertising manager, to advertising director, general manager and then publisher.

★ ★ ★

Survivors include his wife, Helen P., and three sons, Albert, William E. Jr., and Francis M.

Services will be Monday.

Veterans Give Ground on Tax Relief

LANSING (AP) — Michigan veterans' groups broke ranks for the first time Friday and said they were willing to discuss alternatives to a flat-rate hike in the veterans property tax exemption bill.

The Michigan Commanders' Group, an organization of the heads of congressionally chartered veterans' organizations, said after a meeting with Gov. George Romney Friday:

"We have agreed an early meeting should be called of Democratic legislative leaders and Republican legislative leaders to discuss a mutually acceptable veterans homestead exemption based on the bill already passed by the Legislature and awaiting veto and the program presented at the meeting today by the governor and Republican legislators."

★ ★ ★

Romney would try to arrange the meeting, they said, "next Wednesday or Thursday."

Democratic legislators have pushed through a bill identical to one Romney vetoed last year. Romney promised the same treatment this time around, and House Republicans said they'll uphold the veto a second time.

HAD BEEN ADAMANT

The measure, the official copy of which has not yet reached Romney's desk, would increase the present exemption for disabled veterans and the widows of veterans from the first $2,000 to the first $2,500 of state equalized valuation.

The vets' groups had been adamant that this was the plan they wanted. They repeatedly rejected a Romney plan to peg the amount of the benefit to the actual degree of disability.

★ ★ ★

"Now it all depends on what the legislators do," said Boniface Maile, legislative officer for the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Romney amended his proposal Friday by adding a temporary plan for this year only. The one-year plan would increase the property tax exemption for disabled veterans to a flat $3,000 and the exemption for the widows of the non-disabled and men now on active duty to $2,500.

SCALED PLAN

After that, the state would swing into his scaled benefit plan, with the scale ranging from $3,000 to $5,000, and windows of the nondisabled remaining at the $2,500 level.

Romney said the plan did not represent his "final offer," adding he would be willing to see negotiations between Republican and Democratic legislators.

★ ★ ★

Clarence Schuumacher, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and chairman of the state commanders group, at first said Romney's proposal "seemed reasonable," but later amended his statement to say "we had hoped for a better break for the widows."

Romney said the Legislature still has about 30 days to enact his temporary plan so it could affect this year's taxes.

Tax Relief for Aged

Deadline Is Extended

The deadline to apply for Senior Citizens Tax Relief has been extended to April 1, it was announced yesterday.

City Assessor James E. Kephart Jr. said the Pontiac Board of Tax Review has agreed to extend the deadline.

The board, which will continue to hear appeals on assessments through Wednesday, will recess until April 1 before setting the city's total assessed valuation.

Kephart said application forms for the tax exemption on 1966 taxes are available at the assessor's office in City Hall.

★ ★ ★

Under Act 27, a new state law, senior citizens can obtain an exemption on their property taxes up to $2,500 on the assessed value as equalized.

TO BE ELIGIBLE

To be eligible for the exemption, persons must:

- Be 65 years old or over on Dec. 31, 1965.

- Earn less than $5,000 annually.
- Live in the state for seven consecutive years prior to application.
- Not own property in the state with a total assessed value exceeding $10,000 as equalized.

★ ★ ★

Bobby Is Warmly Greeted at 2 Southern Universities

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy was warmly applauded and cheered in appearances at the Universities of Mississippi and Alabama — two institutions which were forcibly integrated when he was U.S. attorney general.

"I know there was some controversy about my being invited here," Kennedy, now U.S. senator from New York, told Ole Miss students Friday.

★ ★ ★

"Some compared it with inviting a fox into a hen house," said the Democrat, "but some of my friends thought it was more like putting a chicken in a fox house."

Kennedy alternated between the humorous and the deeply serious in both speeches. He flew by private plane to Tuscaloosa to speak to University of Alabama students after his appearance at Ole Miss.

FULL RESPONSIBILITY

Kennedy told the audience of 5,000 Mississippi students and faculty members that former Gov. Ross Barnett bears full responsibility for the 1962 riots stemming from the federal court-ordered admittance of James H. Meredith, a Negro.

Two men died and hundreds were hurt in the riot, which erupted on the campus on a Sunday at dusk.

★ ★ ★

"It was the governor who suggested that we bring Meredith to the campus on Sunday," said Kennedy.

Kennedy said people in the South bear the same burdens as those in the streets of New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, adding "This is the reality of the new South. This is the meaning of the modern Southern revolution and you are its heirs."

CARRIED SIGNS

A Ku Klux Klan group called the Knights of the Green Forest sent a small truck to the Ole Miss campus shortly after Kennedy's arrival. It had signs which read: "Go home, little Robert. We don't want any agitators in our state."

★ ★ ★

The Kennedy party, which included his wife, Ethel, flew to Tuscaloosa an hour behind schedule, and got an equally warm reception at the school where two years ago Gov. George C. Wallace made an unsuccessful bid to bar the admission of Negroes Vivian Malone and James Hood.

Kennedy took potshots at Alabama's governor, too, but in a far less serious tone than in his remarks about Barnett.

★ ★ ★

"I just wanted to announce that my wife is not going to run for president," Kennedy said. Then he looked at Mrs. Kennedy, smiled, and asked, 'Or are you?" Wallace, forbidden by state law to succeed himself, is running his wife for governor.

Waterford to Consider Pay Boosts

The Waterford Township Board Monday night will consider annual salary increases totaling $12,448 for 19 township employes, including 11 from the water department.

★ ★ ★

Proposed pay hikes for water department personnel amount to $6,948. The increases would be financed through the department's own budget.

Eight other employes would receive wage boosts totaling $5,500, according to Supervisor Dorothy W. Olson.

In other business, the board will consider a recommendation of Mrs. Olson that the township contribute $31,400 in matching funds with the Oakland County Road Commission for primary road improvements.

★ ★ ★

A rezoning request for establishment of a bar and lounge at 7605 M59 will also be considered by the board.

OPPOSITION

Tabled for three weeks Feb. 23, the proposal has received strong opposition from residents of nearby Tull Acres Subdivision.

The proposed zoning change is from local business (C-1) to general business (C-2).

Another factor in the proposed business is the transfer of a resort license from White Lake to Waterford Township.

Waterford board members reportedly are empowered to make this decision also.

Missing Plane Hunt Is Halted

ALPENA (AP) — A two-day search for a missing plane piloted by Ernest Nabors, 42, of Maryville, Tenn., has been called off.

Bob Welsh, owner of the Alpena Flying Service, which employed Nabors, said no trace of the aircraft or its pilot was found Friday.

★ ★ ★

An air-lake search was conducted by the Coast Guard and the Civil Air Patrol Thursday and Friday.

Nabors disappeared early Thursday on a flight from Windsor Locks, Conn., to Alpena. His last reported position was over Wairton, Ont., early Thursday. The search was centered in the heavily forested Wairton area and over upper Lake Huron.

U. of M. Acts on Error

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan took steps Friday to rectify a $200,000 oversight.

* * *

Its board of regents approved a motion to ask the Legislature for a supplementary appropriation of $200,000 for operation of a new Institute of Gerontology (study of the aging).

* * *

The institute is a joint project of the university and Wayne State University of Detroit.

Allan Smith, vice president for academic affairs, explained to the regents that both universities had neglected to include a request for money to cover operating expenses of the institute in 1966-67.

REGENT EMERITUS

The regents also appointed Eugene B. Power a regent emeritus, and praised him for his service to the university over the past decade.

* * *

Power resigned as a regent last week after Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled there was substantial conflict of interest involved in his business dealings with the university.

Power operates a microfilm service in Ann Arbor and it has dealings with the university.

Call for Stepped-Up War on VD

Four national associations individually in the fields of health and medicine have joined in urging a 50 per cent increase in the Federal appropriation for control of venereal disease (VD). The current allocation is $10.4 million.

Goal of the joint effort is to cut in half the incidence of infectious syphilis and gonorrhea in the United States by 1972.

A 1965 report shows that syphilis has increased for eight consecutive years. The reported total of 23,250 cases represented a 2.3 per cent increase over 1964. Gonorrhea, with 310,155 cases, was up 6.7 per cent over the preceding year.

An alarming aspect of VD is that 19.4 per cent of it is contracted by teen-agers. The juvenile syphilis case rate is 22.7 per 100,000, or nearly twice the national rate. The teen-age rate for gonorrhea is 386.2 cases per 100,000 compared with the all-age rate of 158.8.

Health authorities are handicapped in their continuous campaign against VD by the reluctance of those infected to report it. It is estimated that, nationally, but one case in eight is reported. Oakland County, reflecting energetic measures to control VD, has a reporting rate of one case in five.

In requesting the Federal appropriation increase, the four-group agency recommends that $2.5 million should be spent on pilot studies in the control of the related diseases in selected areas and that $1.5 million be spent for expansion of research, professional training and public education. The remaining $11.5 million is needed to maintain current VD control efforts at present levels.

We commend the forces so actively engaged in holding the line against one of society's most insidious and debilitating scourges.

Legal Teeth for Pets to Fight Predators

A reprehensible corollary of America's flourishing economy is the proliferation of its rackets. One not generally known as such but nonetheless revolting is the practice of stealing pets for profit.

Theft of dogs and cats was once a penny ante operation, with the victims resold as pets or returned for rewards. But the increasing use of animals in medical research has created a boom market not only for strays but for any cats and dogs that can be delivered. Few questions are asked and fewer answered once a collar has been removed.

★ ★ ★

Last year laboratories and hospitals receiving Federal grants spent in the neighborhood of $50 million for dogs and cats. More than 1.7 million dogs and 500,000 cats were sold to tax-supported institutions. One Federal agency alone spends more than $100,000 a year on canine and feline supply.

The pet-snatching racket and its nefarious ramifications has assumed such great and widespread proportions that congressional action has been initiated. Rep. HENRY HELSTOSKI, D-N.J., has introduced a bill (H.R. 10743) that would not only do much to curb the evils of pet smuggling by taking the illicit profit out of it. But would spare pet owners the anguish and heartache resulting from loss of their faithful companions.

There are several similar bills in the congressional hopper but this one is considered preferable.

★ ★ ★

Not only animal lovers but all well-disposed citizens should rally behind the legislative move to combat the vicious crime of animal stealing. Such support can be expressed by writing your congressional representative and also Rep. W. R. POAGE, chairman of the subcommittee in which the bill is pending. Both may be addressed in care of the House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Agony of Labor Fading Into Past

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — To the new generations, it won't be long before the agony of American labor and the turmoil, often bloody, between labor and industry seems as remote as covered wagons and Wyatt Earp.

MARLOW

Some of the giants of American labor in the 20th century already have passed into history, dying at a time when labor-management relations had become almost serene compared with the past.

Time has taken its toll of others, still alive. Getting too old for the burdens of leadership, they have stepped aside.

John L. Lewis, with brows so bushy they made his eyes look like caverns, could snarl like a cat, roar like a lion, invent the sit-down strike, defy the government, and plague the coal mine owners.

★ ★ ★

In the end, he got along fine with them. He recognized the inevitability of labor-saving machinery in the coal mines, and when West Virginia University awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of laws in 1957 he was described as "the foremost labor statesman in the world."

FOR FORTY YEARS

He had headed the United Mine Workers for 40 years, and in between times the Congress of Industrial Organizations. But time caught up with him and he began fading from the picture in the 1950s. Now he visits the UMW's headquarters here perhaps once a week. He's 86 now.

And this week, another one of the giants, David Dubinsky, announced he would retire April 12 as president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union which he had headed 34 years.

He is 74 and he wiped his eyes with a handkerchief as an assistant read the resignation. When he took over the union in 1932, the garment workers were in a sweatshop industry.

Under him, it became a wealthy union with excellent contracts that provided the first garment-industry agreement on a 35-hour week, an employer-contributed pooled fund for workers' vacations, health and welfare funds, retirement funds, and severance pay.

ALREADY GONE

But already gone from the scene were such men as Philip Murray, William Green, Sidney Hillman.

Murray, head of the CIO, died 14 years ago at 66. Green headed the American Federation of Labor from 1924 until he died 14 years ago at 79.

Hillman was not extremely active in the labor movement as head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers but was also active in serving the government during the war. He died 20 years ago at 59 after heading the clothing workers since 1915.

★ ★ ★

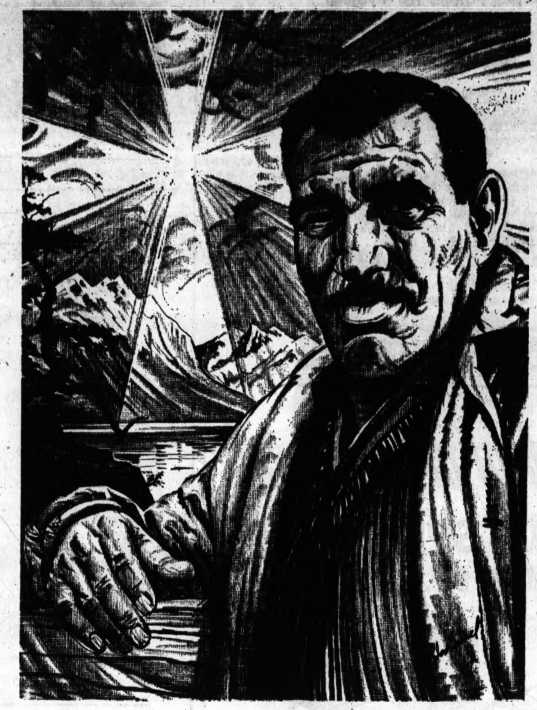
But what the younger generations of Americans are seeing now is a rather placid labor movement with much of the steam out of it as new leaders, well-paid, sit on their hands and fail to organize the unorganized.

But also, labor has made such gains since the 1930s and has such power now to cripple the country, it has lost much of the sympathy it had when it was strictly the underdog and the various managements acted as if the Middle Ages would never end.

Now when labor strikes, particularly in an industry directly affecting the public welfare like transportation or steel, it has to watch its step lest Congress finally forbid such strikes and replace them with compulsory arbitration.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL



Lorenzo Buttice, obviously a man of strong faith, recently taught me a great lesson in brotherhood and understanding.

On a recent visit to remote Southern Argentina, I spent a night in the small hotel where Lorenzo and his large family eked out a living. Upon our arrival they gave us a heart warming welcome and saw to it that we had everything needed for our comfort.

In the evening after a superb dinner, I got out a sketch pad, which was my only form of communication, and made sketches of the children, of Lorenzo's wife, and of Lorenzo himself. There was much laughter, excitement and talk, none of which I understood, except I knew they were pleased. When I asked my interpreter to tell Lorenzo I was sorry that I didn't understand him, Lorenzo laughed and said, "It is not true, for when we understand from the heart we do not have to understand from the lips."

Religion in the News:

'New Era Has Begun for Jews'

By HOLCOMB B. NOBLE

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — Noah Gordon, who has written a best-selling novel about the marriage of a rabbi and the daughter of a Protestant minister, believes a new era has begun for Jews in America.

"When I was a boy, I lived in a Jewish ghetto. There wasn't a family on the block that wasn't Jewish," he says.

Now the novelist lives with his wife and three children in a newly developed suburban neighborhood with a Protestant family on one side and a Roman Catholic family on the other.

"Now most Jews like other Americans — all facing the ovens together. Pressures that made the Jews, now exist for all of us," he said.

★ ★ ★

Gordon, 39, said there has been a surge of Jewish writers in the past decade, and this indicates to him that times have changed for American Jews.

He said he wanted his book, "The Rabbi," to differ from others in that it would avoid "that superneutoric, hysterical character hemmed in by the pressures of Jewishness and the rest of the world. But I didn't want to write about Mamma Goldberg either."

"The Rabbi" has been on best-seller lists for nearly seven months. Despite its popularity, Gordon said, he has received letters from readers who objected to the accounts of Rabbi Michael Kind's sex life and the fact that he drinks liquor.

★ ★ ★

"But I'm not a public relations man for rabbis. Man is a sexual being and drinks liquor, and I feel I must write about this," he said, adding that what he was trying to express was the Jewish faith as a kind of maturing process, a personal commitment as an adult.

Although Gordon says prejudice against Jews has lessened, it has not disappeared. The book deals in part with that prejudice and with prejudice on the part of Jews toward others.

The animosity on the part of the Jewish women in Rabbi Kind's parish against his wife, Leslie, causes her to have a nervous breakdown.

★ ★ ★

Gordon, a reporter for the Boston Herald before he left the job three years ago to write the book, interviewed several rabbis and asked them what they thought of intermarriage and why. The book is a combination of their views and his own experiences.

Part of the background is provided by his grandmother's stories of her flight from a Russian ghetto and terror in crossing the Polish-Russian border.

"There is a sense of loss in the fall of Jewishness. The marvelous old folk legends are told less often. Yiddish has almost died out among our children," Gordon said.

★ ★ ★

But he thinks the loss was inevitable with the "new source of pride and feeling on the part of the Jew that he no longer has to be a shopkeeper or work for himself but can do anything he wants in America."

And while Jewishness, the ethnic trait, is disappearing, Judaism, the Jewish religion, is growing stronger, Gordon said.

Appreciate Press Interest In Litterbugging Woes

Pictures and articles in newspapers prove beyond a doubt that the litterbug survey in The Press editorial of March 15 is correct.

I live on a very nice acre near a Union Lake public school. I find parts of lunches, school papers, teen-age love letters, pages from school books, pop bottles, beer bottles and empty cigarette packs all over my yard. I grow tulips in the spring and find that as many as 16 blossoms have been stolen in the night.

★ ★ ★

I am glad newspapers are trying to help clean up litterbugging.

Readers Support Work of Friend of Court

In answer to letters criticizing our Friend of the Court office, there's nothing the matter there. Maybe the jealous ex-wife is the mother of small children who without the Friend of the Court would be left without adequate support. The Court does take into consideration a second family, but will not close its eyes to the first family.

★ ★ ★

Let's take our hats off to the Friend of the Court who has the child's welfare in mind above any ex-husband or wife.

ONE EX-WIFE WHO KNOWS

The Friend of the Court is to help get support money to children who have nothing to do with a jealous ex-wife or the judges' salaries. Part of a man's income belongs to the children of his ex-wife. I say three cheers for the Friend of the Court!

'Warnings on Smoking Evils Aren't New'

An article in Demorest's Monthly Magazine of October 1877 speaks of the evils of smoking. "Of the three methods of using tobacco, that of smoking has insinuated itself most extensively among the youth and is the most hurtful use that can be made of the weed. Tobacco being drawn in by the breath conveys its poisonous influences into every part of the lungs. There the noxious fluid is entangled in the minute spongy cells and has time to exert its pernicious influence of the blood.

★ ★ ★

"It produces a febrile action in persons of delicate habits and sows the seeds of consumption. This practice impairs the taste, lessens the appetite and weakens the power of the stomach. The craving thirst among smokers can be traced to its action on the lungs and the liquors that are drunk do not alleviate it.

"It is time medical testimony was turned to this point and a great danger pointed out that threatens to make us a nation of Sybarites and pigmies."

Two Comment on Foreign Aid Statistics

I was shocked when I read The Press editorial "Your Money Goes Here." We need more and better equipped hospitals and more help for the mentally ill. Why can't we have some of that money for our own country?

JESSIE HICKS
93 W. NEW YORK

I appreciated reading the foreign aid figures but disagree with the moral that is implied. Figures show that over the past eighteen years, 22 countries received the lion's share — $69.2 billion. The 22 are: France, United Kingdom, West Germany, Italy, Korea, China, Japan, Turkey, Greece, India, Netherlands, Yugoslavia, Viet Nam, Belgium and Luxembourg, Pakistan, Spain, Brazil, Austria, Philippines, Norway and Iran.

★ ★ ★

If everyone drops the half-dozen which he personally would argue about, it's clear that those are all countries which are considered important in defeating communism. The moral, if any, is that Congress and the President have distributed the foreign aid dollar to support the American interest as most voters see it.

Discusses Raises for Township Employes

How could the Waterford Township Board be so careless with my hard earned tax money? They give the underpaid police department a raise and then offer to cut the firemen from 63 to 56 hours per week and add one more man to the fire department. That should buy the groceries. Oh yes, they would get a token raise, too.

★ ★ ★

When does the State law go into effect to cut all firemen to 56 hours per week? Won't it take more than one more man to make up the difference?

'Bill Would Take Control From Taxpayers'

Do Oakland County taxpayers know that the members of the House from Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties sponsored a bill to take away from the taxpayers all control of their tax money and put it into the hands of Civil Servicemen over whom the voters have no control? The Bill is H. 3053 and a list of sponsors is on page 50. Are we going to send those same men back again?

Ex-Serviceman Has Difficulty Finding Job

I spent almost 12 years in the U. S. Air Force and was willing to fight for my country. A cancer tumor was removed from my lung and I was discharged with 100 per cent disability. I came back to Pontiac to get a job and live like a normal citizen. I find this isn't easy because nobody wants to hire me due to my disability. They say they can use my experience but that their insurance will not allow them to hire me. I can't draw unemployment compensation because I receive a disability check, which I can't possibly live on.

★ ★ ★

Now I ask myself why I gave up 12 years of my life for these people. For the right to exist?

THE EAGLE AND HIS EGG. By Mark Rascovich. Atheneum. $4.95.

Here is an engaging, felicitous bit of serendipity. In plainer words, it's fun to read these marvelous tales.

Rascovich, who wrote a popular novel, "The Bedford Incident," demonstrates here that he is a bright raconteur.

In format, this is an account of an American youngster growing up in his adventurous father's household in France in the years between World War I and II.

* * *

Father had been an aerial observer in the first war. Thereafter he had mixed his profession of naval architect with a hobbyist's dedication to neck-risking flights in fragile flying machines.

First there is a riotously slapstick comedy about Father's devotion to an old flying crate that sails into the blue, and the 16-year-old son's fantastic comedy on his first solo flight.

Then comes a grotesque narrative of Verdun veterans assembling in a macabre inn for an anniversary; a sad tale of a trapped whale; a whimsical episode of a swindling Irish seaman's project for a lighthouse at Cape Horn.

Fact or fancy, this is a book that lets you relax into appreciative chuckles. It has a distinct savor. It is a joyful release from the gloomy mud of currently fashionable slop.

THE COMPETITOR. By Thomas Bontly. Scribners. $3.95.

* * *

Marty Hansen had started working for a chain of shoe stores when he was 16. Now at 34 he still is stymied in an assistant managership, almost bereft of any hopes of getting a store of his own.

He is a skilled salesman, but he is honest. And in his high-pressure world of fierce competition, a man who doesn't want to stoop to tricks and manipulations is at a disadvantage.

Marty is in a tight spot. Besides keeping up his own sales figures, he has to take care of all the drudgery and dirty work shoved on him by Eddie, the manager. Eddie is Marty's opposite — a man on the way up, a shrewd baiter of his men, a double-dealing operator, looking out only for himself.

* * *

The author is concerned not with the moral compromises in a viciously competitive business situation, but also with its effects on an individual's struggle to maintain his own integrity. Bontly's first novel is a well-written, intense piece of social realism.

GAMES FOR INSOMNIACS. By John G. Fuller (Doubleday $4.50): If you, your loved ones, your worst enemies, or the fellow on your list who has everything, has a weakness for word games in any and all their forms, waste no time in getting this amusing compilation by an incorrigible game buff.

There is wordsmanship galore, pun-ishment to state the graphisms such as Near, Miss., or Ballpoint, Penn.

The quickie about the East Indian potentate who was overrun by elephants so that his reign was called on account of game.

* * *

This reader has well noted and will long remember Fuller's contrived name for a debt-collecting agency: "Shirley, Guinness and Murphy (Slogan: 'Will Follow You All The Days Of Your Life.')"

Actor Hosts Lynda at Fete Tonight

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson serenaded by Hollywood on her birthday eve, celebrates the big day tonight with a very exclusive party hosted by her current escort, actor George Hamilton.

Lynda, to whom Eddie Fisher sang Friday night, "On one happy day I'll make Lynda mine," will be feted tonight at a dinner party for 12. Among the guests will be Tony Curtis and his wife, actress Christine Kaufman, and British actress Samantha Eggar and her husband, actor Tom Stern. Also around the table will be George's mother, Ann Hamilton Spalding, and brothers, Bill and David.

* * *

Lynda Bird, who turned 22 today, is spending her birthday weekend as Hamilton's guest at the 39-room baronial mansion which he shares with his mother and brothers.

It was the scene Friday night of a quietly elaborate party which George hosted to introduce Lynda Bird to Hollywood's elite.

GUEST LIST

The guest list, carefully screened by Secret Service men, included Greer Garson; Glenn Ford and his fiancee, Kathy Hays; Hugh O'Brian; Natalie Wood; Red Buttons; Lucille Ball and her husband, comic Gary Morton; Lizbeth Scott; and Tony Martin and Cyd Charisse.

Just before the party ended, George and Lynda waltzed to the string orchestra which had played throughout the evening.

* * *

Throughout the party, Eddie Fisher kept encouraging George to take Lynda Bird to The Daisy, one of Hollywood's favorite late-night discotheques. About midnight, they arrived at The Daisy, flanked by Secret Service agents.

There was only one problem. The tables at The Daisy are so small, the Secret Service agents, who have guarded Lynda Bird closely throughout her weekend stay, had to sit at separate tables, a distance away from their charge.

The party, according to one guest, millionaire Harry Jameson, was one of the calmer ones held at the dramatic Hamilton mansion. Jameson said the Secret Service men screening the guests on arrival tended to keep down the number of party crashers who livened up other Hamilton parties.

Lynda, in a high-necked, low-backed black dress set off by an enormous bow at her waist, appeared unawed by the Hollywood notables. But she enjoyed them, her dimples showing frequently.

Past Two Years Support Findings

Mergers Increase During Boom---FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission, which watches business mergers closely for possible violations of antitrust laws, says there's a direct relation between good times and the volume of mergers.

As the economy booms, so do mergers, a commission spokesman said.

* * *

To prove his point, he noted the record number of mergers in the past two years. Last year, there were 1,893 acquisitions, compared with 1,797 in 1964, also a record year.

These are merely acquisitions of which the commission is aware. Many mergers, especially small ones, are not publicized. And the commission's data does not include acquisition of companies subject to federal regulation, such as banks, railroads, public utilities or radio stations.

IN MANUFACTURING

Most of the acquisitions last year — 1,063 — occurred in manufacturing industries as they have in prior years, the commission said.

Roy A. Prewitt, assistant director of the commission's Bureau of Economics, said no projections had been made of the possible number of mergers, either partial or total, for this year. But he said commission experts have found a close correlation between prosperous times and business mergers "over the long haul."

* * *

The commission this week announced rulings in two major merger cases it had had under study for some time. In each case it ruled the antitrust laws had been violated.

In the first case, it barred the National Tea Co. of Chicago, the nation's fifth largest food chain, from acquiring any more stores for 10 years without prior commission approval. The FTC said National had led a merger trend in the food industry which prompted other chains to initiate similar programs of their own.

SUGGESTED SIMILAR BANS

Although the decision applied only to National Tea, which between 1951 and 1958 had made 24 acquisitions affecting 485 retail stores in 188 cities, its sweeping language suggested possible similar bans against other chains.

In the second decision, the commission ordered General Foods Corp. to sell the S.O.S. Co. of Chicago, the leading manufacturer of steel wool soap pads, within one year.

* * *

Merger activity has increased irregularly over the past six years, rising from 1,345 in 1960 to last year's 1,893. The annual average merger rate between 1955 and 1959 was 1,162.

* * *

The number of mergers dropped to 1,667 in 1962 and to 1,479 in 1963, the FTC reported, but these rates were still higher than the 1960 figure and far above the annual average between 1955 and 1959.

Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio were the three northern states invaded by the Confederate army in the Civil War.

BLOOMFIELD MIRACLE MILE NEWSY NOTES

by Sandy Shaw

EVERYTHING'S COMIN' UP POSIES

but let's not spend all of our time staring at the ground to glimpse that first bloom when all we have to do is turn our glances to the store windows of Miracle Mile for that great "Spring Feeling."

SPORTSWEAR IS BLOOMING AT THE BLOOMFIELD MIRACLE MILE and you can expect to see one of the most important flowers of the year in the SPORTSWEAR FASHION FIELD. And, gals . . . we must face it . . . we no longer have a monopoly on the floral design in clothing.

THIS IS NOT THE YEAR FOR THE TIMID and if you don't believe me take a look for yourself in COUNTRY SQUIRE MEN'S SHOP, where the top fashions are on display in a complete color spectacular. "COLOR YOUR MAN BRIGHT!" Feature him in a Bahama sports coat by Palm Beach (from $30) with a colored dress shirt and a bright Paisley tie. And if he goes all out he'll spend his leisure time in hectic floral "Surfers Baggies."

COLOR YOURSELF TO MATCH and bloom for first prize decked out in gay colored flowers. The world of stripes and designs are still making the grade by adding more life to themselves with better color harmony.

GROW TALL AND SLIM in casual stovepipe pants. They are very much "in" and very much "smart." Top 'em off with "The Sleeve Look." Ruffles, Elbow attention, Kabuki, and Mexican peasant add the finishing touches for feminine allure while being casual.

Our Mr. Bamett of PEGGY'S gives the working girl a Sportswear Specialty for On-the-Job-Wear. Lightweight suits by Pravati in the New Indian Handloomed all cotton fabric. Fully-lined, versatile, and SUITable for any 8-hour duty at a price of just $30.

Next Week! LET'S DO THE OLD SOFT SHOE INTO FOOT FASHION!

Designed for Gracious Living

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Inside and out, the John Sterritt home on Harlan Drive, Bloomfield Hills, is designed for gracious living in a beauteous surrounding.

Muted-blue carpeting, walls and draperies set the formal living room's restful background.

On either side of the marble fireplace are matching chairs covered in a quilted floral print of blues shading to lavender with dusty-rose accents on white.

Identical cloverleaf end tables and an arrangement of rhododendrons, mountain laurel and greens in a brass umbrella stand complete the grouping.

Above the fruitwood and cane armchair in the music corner hangs an antiqued brass sconce with white tapers.

Introducing an oriental flair into the traditional room is the round mahogany coffee table before the lavender curved sofa.

Oriental rugs repeat the living room's color theme in the spacious foyer floored in brick.

Decorator accents in the area include an antique walnut chest which belonged to Mr. Sterritt's family and a marble-topped oval table.

The white wrought-iron framed stairway leads to the lower level and the garden room.

Built into a hillside, the bilevel home offers a window exposure ideal for gardeners who get bored with the parade of winter white.

Here, blooming orchids and African violets and assorted tropical leaf plants thrive in the filtered sunshine as they add their living green to the decor of the knotty cedar paneled room.

"Come the warm weather though," said Mrs. Sterritt, "and out they go to the patio or garden. The only thing I keep inside during the summer are the African violets."

* * *

Opening off the foyer is the family room, incorporating a charming blend of styles with the accent on comfort and good taste.

Paneled in a clear cedar, the room is floored in oak parquet squares.

In the dining portion cane-backed chairs circle an oval fruitwood table centered by an arrangement of spicy carnations.

TAKE YOUR PICK: These two trim exteriors were both designed by architect Samuel Paul to permit a choice between the contemporary and the traditional for anyone wanting to use the excellent floor layout of the two-story, three-bedroom house featured this week.

Two-Story Offers Choice of Exteriors

Does your taste run to the contemporary or the traditional?

Either way, here's a two-story house that will satisfy you. Architect Samuel Paul has designed the latest House of the Week with two completely different exteriors, utilizing the same distinctive floor plan for both.

What's more, neither of the exteriors has a high, awkward facade.

Each features a long, low ranch-style front in keeping with modern trends.

* * *

This is made possible by the fact that the house is two stories in back, yet only one story in front.

SLOPE DESIGN

As such, it is ideally suitable for lots that slope down from the road (a rear deck then can be substituted for the patio) or lots that have more interesting rear views than street views.

Inside, the floor plan is distinctive and separate adult entertainment areas spread across two distinct levels, all accessible from a central foyer.

The ground floor is, in effect, two levels, split by three steps.

* * *

The front part has a reception foyer, a living room more than 23' long, a screened deck and a den, which could be used as a fourth bedroom if desired.

Down the three steps are the formal entertaining area, encompassing a family room even longer than the living room, a dining room and an eat-in kitchen.

Also located here are the laundry room, a half-bath, the cellar entrance and an inside garage entrance.

* * *

Upstairs are three bedrooms and two full baths, including one with a huge double-basin vanity backed up by a brick wall and a luxurious sunken tub compartment.

MASTER BEDROOM

The master bedroom has a private dressing room and bath, and at the other end of the room, a sliding door leading to a private balcony.

An examination of the details within each room further shows the distinctive qualities of this house.

The living room, for example, has a cathedral ceiling, a stately brick fireplace and sliding doors leading to a covered rear deck.

* * *

The immense foyer has its own cathedral ceiling — a different one for each of the exterior designs.

The kitchen is nicely appointed and located within a few steps from the side door, the laundry room, family room and lavatory.

The family room has a beamed ceiling and a sliding door to the rear terrace or deck.

* * *

COZY CORNER

This cozy corner could well be the family hangout. It features built-in sofas surrounding a rustic brick fireplace backed by brick walls and paneling, with a slate floor and a hung accoustical ceiling.

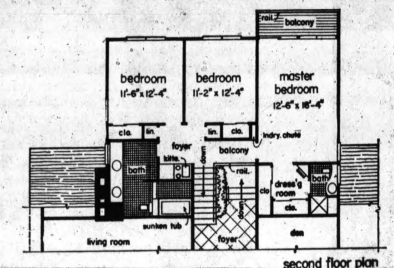
There's an added touch of luxury that will delight those who feel the urge to raid the refrigerator during the night.

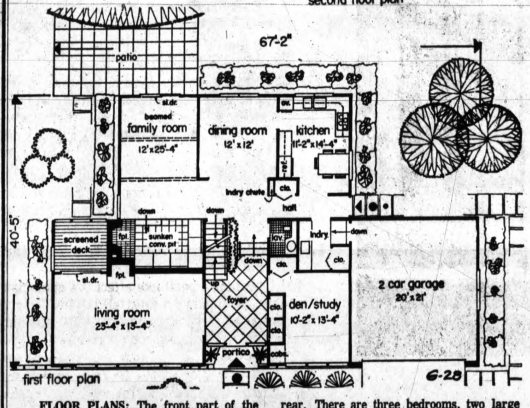
There is a miniature "kitchen" within a few steps of any bedroom.

Set into an alcove on the second floor, with a counter top alongside, it has a sink, range and small refrigerator.

Its location makes it perfect for that cup of coffee on the run in the morning when there isn't time for a full breakfast.

For those who want something out of the ordinary, plus the choice of a traditional or contemporary exterior, Design G-28 is worthy of consideration.





FLOOR PLANS: The front part of the first floor is three steps higher than the family room, dining room and kitchen at the rear. There are three bedrooms, two large baths and a balcony off the master bedroom on the upper floor.

Elegance Enters Dressing Room and Bath

The 1960's may well go down in decorating history as the decade of the bath. Just as kitchens bloomed in the 50's, the bath is currently the focal point of decorators of both the professional and do-it-yourself variety.

Elegance is in. But elegance needn't conjure up visions of thousands of dollars spent on new fixtures and tile. It is possible for anyone with a flair for the dramatic to put color and style to work to create a sense of elegance on a small budget.

The two popular decorating schemes pictured here represent the Spanish Look and Art Noveau, both of which can be easily achieved without resorting to expensive structural changes.

Modern materials for covering floor and walls are available in everyone's price range and are simple to install. Towels come in myriad colors, designs and textures to complement or contrast with any desired color scheme. Apothecary jars can be obtained in many sizes and are most attractive when filled with tiny colored soaps or bath crystals.

Mix or match accessories to create the total look that is so important in bath decor these days.

Those who feel that an oversized old-fashioned bath is a decorator's nightmare and might best be ignored, might consider partitioning this room to create a separate dressing area. If floor-to-ceiling partitions don't seem practical, an imaginative room divider might be the answer. Once its dimensions have been determined, this little room can take on a highly individualized decorating scheme—Spanish, Art Noveau, Greek Revival—whatever appeals to the individual who is going to use it.

Scouting second-hand furniture stores is a pleasant way to discover treasures for the dreesing room. Because it is a small area and one that is not in constant use, one can safely wield a free hand in selecting dressing table, mirror and frame. An antique Spanish chest might hold jewelry or cosmetics, while a giant ceramic ashtray provides a home for small clutter. This is the one spot in the house where one can let imagination take over.

Eliza Doolittle, of My Fair Lady, or Gigi could easily step into this elegant Art Noveau bathroom setting. It represents a revival of the home furnishing style that was popular in Edwardian England and the Paris of the turn of the century.

From chic East Side brownstone apartments to sumptuous Nob Hill duplexes, Art Noveau is back in the limelight of interior decor after almost 50 years of eclipse. Its emphasis is on the gentle, undulating floral patterns of nature. Designers cite the renaissance of Art Noveau as a revolt from the often-times harsh, simple severities of gracious living.

Towels set the dominating floral and color motif in this scene of luxurious bathing. The terri-down print of flowing leaf and flower design provides the room's chromatic ingredients of persimmon, cantaloupe and rosebud which blend effectively with the neutral shades of wall, tub and tile.

Adding a petal-like effect is a combination towel rack and flower stand, topped by an inverted Tiffany lamp that creates an impression of gradual branching curves. Milk glass accessories, a beaded bath curtain and intricate molding are also decorative contributions to an atmosphere of Edwardian opulence and elegance.

The setting is right for reinterpretation of bathroom living, especially in our age of narrow concern for the functional. Art Noveau is an example of how this can be done.

Spanish Room

A flair for the dramatic is evident in this striking dressing room in the colors of Morish Spain. A simple shelf becomes a vanity table when it is supported by lacy wrought iron brackets and covered with a rich gold felt trimmed with black ball fringe. Red felt, used for draperies and to upholster the wrought iron bench, complements the richness of the antique carved wood mirror frame. A miniature Spanish chest holds jewelry and cosmetics. Antique glass bottles and recently emptied apothecary jars are delightful containers for beauty preparations and odds and ends.

Art Noveau Room

Art Noveaeu, a style of home furnishings popular at the turn of the century, is gaining attention in current bathroom decor. The styling emphasis is on gentle, floral curving effects, imitative of nature. Towels provide the dominant color and decorative theme in a room that recalls the elegance and opulence of the Edwardian era when gracious living was truly an art.

Prince Turns to Charity Drive

NEW YORK (AP) — After a day of promoting products, Prince Philip turns today to tending the affairs of British Variety Clubs International, children's charity.

The primary purpose of his 11-day tour of the United States is to raise money for the charity.

Philip attends a luncheon today with Mayor John V. Lindsay, Francis Cardinal Spellman, and youth organization representatives at the New York Hilton Hotel. Tonight, he will attend a Variety Clubs International banquet at the Hotel Americana.

The prince spent much of Friday touring New York stores, touting British products, and drawing large crowds. He acted the role of salesman, but cautioned that no one should get the idea that he is one.

In a low-key, humorous talk at the British-American Chamber of Commeree, Philip tried to put to rest the notion that British marketing skill is underdeveloped.

ACTOR TO WED—Actor Glenn Ford and actress Kathy Hays, who plan to be married on March 27, obtain a wedding license yesterday in Los Angeles. It will be the second marriage for both Ford, 49, and Miss Hays, 31, who met two years ago at a dinner party.

Wedded Roles Go Offstage

DETROIT (AP) — Jane Nettles, 25, and George Sanchez, 26, have had husband and wife roles before, but they hope to play the parts in real life today.

They are actors in a Detroit theater company.

* * *

They have played husband and wife twice in plays since they met two years ago in New Orleans. But two attempts to get married for real were postponed; once when Sanchez' father died, and again because of theatrical commitments.

* * *

"We have the license, the second one we've had, and if we can get away from rehearsals, we'll make it this time," said Sanchez.

They are rehearsing in Anatole France's, "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife."

TV Stars Plan Busy Vacations

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — It's hiatus time in Hollywood, that happy vacation period when television stars earn the loot their fame can bring or else rest up for the rigors of next season.

THOMAS

Within the next few weeks, virtually all the filmed series will finish up their 1965-66 seasons. Those that have been renewed will take a breather—as little as three weeks for hour shows or as much as three months for the half-hours.

Here's how some of the stars will spend their hiatuses:

The two U.N.C.L.E. agents will be making movies in Italy: Robert Vaughn in "The Venetian Affair" and David McCallum in "Three Bites of the Apple."

JAMAICA TRIP

Jim Nabors of "Gomer Pyle" and pal Lee Majors of "Big Valley" plan three weeks in Jamaica together. Then Jim returns to star at Harrah's, Lake Tahoe. Lee will undergo surgery to correct a nose broken accidentallly by Linda Evans in a "Big Valley" scene.

Robert Conrad, "Wild, Wild West," has been booked for a visit to Japan, where he is doubly popular. His CBS show and "Hawaiin Eye" are both playing on Japanese television.

Picking up the nightclub loot are Don Adams, "Get Smart," and Mike Landon, "Bonanza."

Mike's fellow Cartwrights will be visiting Europe — Lorne Greene on a tour with his wife, Dan Blocker to see his twin daughters who attend school in Greece.

Other movie makers: The "Batman" bunch, who will be making a feature about the masked marvel; David Janssen, "The Fugitive," in Paramount's "The Warning Shot"; Dean Martin in another Matt Helm epic.

STATE FAIRS

Three of the "Laredo" boys—Phil Carey, Bill Smith and Peter Brown—have organized an act to play the Louisiana and other state fairs. Ken Curtis and Millburn Stone of "Gunsmoke" will be on the rodeo circuit, as will Peter Breck of "Big Valley."

* * *

The theater is calling Eddie Albert, "Green Acres," who will play "Music Man" in West Covina, Calif., and St. Louis; and Forrest Tucker, who will appear in "Never Too Late" in Chicago.

* * *

Some folks are simply going to vacation. Elizabeth Montgomery "Bewitched," plans to visit her famous father Robert Montgomery in the East. Likewise Efrem Zimbalist Jr., "The FBI," who will see the senior Zimbalist in Philadelphia. And Werner Klemperer, "Hogan's Heroes," is going to Europe to visit his father, conductor Otto Klemperer.

* * *

No fun for Melody Patterson of "F Troop." She's only 16 and has to stay home and go to school.

Irish Eyes Far From Smilin' Over Views on St. Patrick

DETROIT (AP) — "Two nice ladies want to drum me out of the church," says John Mahoney, an Irish-American whose comments about St. Patrick have brought protest from Irishmen near and far.

"If you ever see St. Patrick in the next world, you'll feel cheap," wrote a lady from New York.

"I am willing to debate you," challenged a telegram from James Sweeney of Cleveland following a published accounts of Mahoney's views.

* * *

That was some of the response that Mahoney, an Irishman and an authority on Celtic folklore, got after he declared this week that St. Patrick, as we know him, is "a big legend."

'NOT TRUE'

The New York lady told Mahoney, "Your kind of talk is not healthy because it is not true."

* * *

Signing the letter Margaret Donohue, she added, "I'm ashamed of you because the Mahoneys, the Donohues and the McCarthys are descended from the same ancestor."

Mahoney, 37, a University of Detroit professor, claims that "there were two Patricks."

"St. Patrick would have needed a life span of 125 years to accomplish what the records indicate," he said. "We have documents of another Patrick far too early for the St. Patrick we now celebrate. The first probably did part of the work we credit to St. Patrick."

SECOND NAME

Mahoney believes the first was a man named Palladius, later known by his second name, Patricius, or Patrick.

* * *

This belief, he said, has resulted in so many telephone calls that "I can't remember them all. Everytime I step out of my office and go back, there's a telephone number to call."

Telephone response to Mahoney's views has come from New Jersey, Boston, Hollywood, New York and other cities.

Mahoney, whose grandparents came from County Cork and County Kerry, said it's "just wild and woolly. No one would believe that such a well-established idea would create such a furor.

* * *

"I think I'll see if I can get this published in Dublin and let them fight it out there next St. Patrick's Day."

Biblical Rooster Helps Him Keep Convictions

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 22nd in a 40-part series by famous and unknown persons on how faith in God changed their lives.)

By RICHARD H. SCHNEIDER
Highland Park, Illinois
Publicity Writer

It started one night when I looked in the mirror and myself, "Are you afraid to stand up for your convictions?"

SCHNEIDER

At once I recalled a famous scene from the Bible where the crow of the cock signaled the moral weakness of a famous disciple.

From that moment, as if in answer to a plea for help, a rooster seemed to sit on my shoulder wherever I went. He began to follow me to work, went with me to social affairs, and just the other day crowed loudly in church.

It happened just after our pastor had given a sermon on race relations. Several of us were leaving the church and one of the women asked me, "Don't you think he's carrying that subject a bit too far?"

★ ★ ★

I've always admired this woman and her husband, not only because of the success they've achieved in life, but because I respected their opinions. I hoped they liked me.

CAUGHT SHORT

So despite my own convictions, I mumbled an agreeable platitude.

That's when the rooster crowed.

It caught me short. I stopped, considered her question in the light of my true opinion and said that I thought perhaps the subject had not been carried far enough.

This sparked a lively discussion on the issue. And though we reached no momentous decisions, I'm sure we all gained from comparing honest feelings on the matter.

★ ★ ★

More and more lately I can feel this rooster ruffling his feathers when discussions begin in which sooner or later I must take a stand on what I believe to be right

KNEW HOW PETER FELT

And whenever, as so often it happens, I'm afraid to buck the crowd or disagree with an individual, I know how the Apostle Peter felt when he heard that raucous reminder one early dawning.

Your know the story . . . how after Christ was taken before Pilate, His followers scattered like sparrows before a winter's gale. Peter slunk into a public courtyard for the warmth of a night-watch fire. A servant girl recognized him and said, "This man was also with Him."

Each of us can sympathize with Peter when he tremblingly responded, "Woman, I know Him not."

Three times that awful night Peter denied his Master. And the rooster's cry seared his soul with the memory of his Lord's prophecy, "Before the cock crow thou shalt deny Me thrice." And we know that Peter went out and wept bitterly.

OVER AND OVER

Today, everywhere, that scene at the watchfire is reenacted over and over again . . . in an office discussion . . . in a club meeting . . . in a conversation between two neighbors in a supermarket.

Oh, the temptation to nod politely in agreement with something you do not believe!

Why do we avoid involvement in an issue? Is it really in the interest of harmony? Or do we fear being set apart and considered, somehow, different?

It happened again in my home the other night. We were entertaining a couple with whom we'd recently become acquainted. During the after-dinner conversation they became quite emphatic in a general condemnation of another religious group.

TO PRESERVE WARMTH

To preserve the warmth of the table I was about to anesthetize my conscience until the conversation turned to pleasanter matters.

But I heard from the rooster. And I had to say that we knew many fine people in this other religious group, that we believed in judging everyone as an individual not as a member of any group.

Rather than chilling the atmosphere, it sparkled an honest sharing of viewpoints.

I remember another party when the name of a mutual acquaintance, not present, popped up in the conversation. Unfortunately, as far as party gossip is concerned, his bad points outweigh his good points.

JUST SMILED

I could have said something in his defense. I could have helped salvage his name, but I just smiled and reached for another potato chip . . . until the rooster crowed.

Next — Sam Levenson, story-telling star of TV, shares a poignant childhood memory which highlights the courage and faith of his mother.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Her Prayers Are Directed Toward Wrong Sister

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This man, age 52, has been meeting my sister, age 54, in his barn every night for the last nine years. This started one year before her husband died.

ABBY

I have been praying for her and trying to help her all these years, but to no avail. She denies any wrong doing. I have spoken to several clergymen in town about her shameful sinning, and have asked all our friends and relatives to pray that my sister will put aside her evil ways and repent.

My brother who is a pastor is on her side. He says I should not judge, that the Lord will be the Judge on Judgment Day, but by then it will be too late. (Galatians 6:1).

How can I help my poor misguided sister to be saved if everyone is against me?

ALONE

DEAR ALONE: Your brother is right. "Judge not, that ye be not judged." (Matthew 7:1, 2). You could be mistaken. Put yourself in your sister's place. How would you like it if your sister went around asking everyone in town to pray for you when you had done no wrong?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 59 years old but don't look it. I weigh 147 pounds and stand 5 feet 2 inches tall. I keep myself looking nice and carry my weight well. I think I look a lot better at this weight than if I were to reduce and get all wrinkled in the face and neck like lots of women I know.

I am divorced and have been going with Walt for a year now. He is 50. He speaks of marriage, and I am all for it, but here is the catch. Walt says, "If you will go on a diet and keep losing weight until I tell you to stop, and then show me your birth certificate, I will marry you."

Abby, I never told him how old I was because I never thought it was important. Besides, we are near enough the same age, and I look younger than Walt.

How about the dieting part? Set me straight. I like him a lot.

WALT'S LADY FRIEND

DEAR LADY FRIEND: Better show him your birth certificate first. It might not be necessary for you to lose the weight.

DEAR ABBY: When I invite five or six widowed friends to my home for a lovely dinner and an evening of cards their gratitude is overwhelming. Several have commented that it has been "years" since they have used their nice china and silver.

That set me to wondering. Why do so many widows fall into a lazy do-nothing rut and tell themselves, "I have no one to set a lovely table and cook for." They could do it for each other, couldn't they? They all have beautiful apartments, lovely things with which to entertain, and many are excellent cooks. I am not talking about widows who must watch their pennies. I mean those who have money for travel and clothes.

I don't mean to sound unkind, Abby, but perhaps some lonely widows would be less lonely if they entertained a little instead of waiting for someone to entertain THEM.

A FRIEND

CONFIDENTIAL TO LITTLE D. IN BIG D.: Don't call a doctor a "quack" if you aren't prepared to prove it, or you're a dead duck.

★ ★ ★

Troubled? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Attorney Tells AAUW Unit About Laws

Thomas Hunter, deputy city attorney for the City of Pontiac, spoke before Waterford branch, American Association of University Women, Thursday, in the John D. Pierce Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

His subject "The Law and the Incompetent" included discussion of the criteria used for establishing the legal status of persons who are irrational or incompetent.

★ ★ ★

He outlined the alternatives open to families headed by an alcoholic, also the legal status of the insane and the defense of insanity.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Palmer Burns and Mrs. Thomas Hunter were hostesses for the St. Patrick's Day coffee hour. Guests were Mrs. Larry Timm and Mrs. William Crommett.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gerald Irish of Jeffwood Drive will explain membership requirements to any interested woman.

President Discusses Plans

Art Center for Everyone

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

"But what are they going to do there?"

That's the question many people ask when they are approached to donate money to the Pontiac Creative Arts Center. The current campaign to raise $100,000 is just one month old. To date, nearly $25,000 has been given.

James Clarkson, head of the campaign drive, is optimistic about its outcome and enthusiastic about the project itself.

★ ★ ★

He and Dr. Harold A. Furlong, president of Pontiac Creative Arts Center Inc., met with this reporter recently to discuss the art center which will be housed in the former Pontiac City Library building.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Furlong showed an architect's drawing of the proposed facilities.

GALLERY, STUDIOS

On the main floor will be exhibit areas and studios for classes. In the basement other studios and work areas are planned. The gallery around the main room can become more display area.

★ ★ ★

The creative arts center organization expects to have classes for all ages, available to any area resident. There will be a minimum charge for these classes.

Individual and family memberships will be offered.

Elaborating further on what the center will offer, Dr. Furlong spoke of possible classes in ceramics, painting, metalwork, drawing, sculpture, water color, lithography, commercial art, photography, stitchery and weaving.

★ ★ ★

"There are many excellent traveling exhibits from the New York Metropolitan or National Art Galleries, also excellent lectures and movies, that we can have in Pontiac with such a center."

LOCAL ARTISTS

He also looks forward to the day when some of the noted artists and sculptors in the Detroit Metropolitan area will exhibit their work in the building.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Furlong, was the person who first saw possibilities for an art center in the former Pontiac City Library building on Williams Street.

At one time, the city had thought of using the place for a recreation or senior citizen center. Officials had gone as far as to have the building inspected and found it structurally sound.

★ ★ ★

"It's a substantial building, said Dr. Furlong, "and well adapted for the purpose we have in mind. It's well located."

BUILT AS LIBRARY

Built in 1896 and presented to Pontiac by the Stout family, the red brick structure has been a center of social and cultural activity ever since.

At first, it was the Ladies Library Association, a private library.

★ ★ ★

Then it became the Stout Memorial Library and in 1924 was turned over to the city for a public library. At one time, plays were presented on the main floor.

Details Explain 'E' and 'H' Bond Story

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

"How will the higher interest rate being paid on U.S. Savings Bonds affect the ones I already have?" asks a reader in Madison, Wis. "Do I have to make any sort of application for this increase?"

The increase in interest rates, when it goes into effect, will apply automatically to all series E and H bonds which you already own. You don't have to do a thing about it. It won't be retroactive, but it will apply on all the accumulated interest the bonds have been earning.

You readers who want to supplement your retirement income some day with your bond earnings can also find cheer in the fact that E and H bonds are automatically extended, under the present policy, for 10 years beyond their maturity. After retirement, you will doubtless be in a lower tax bracket, and therefore will pay less tax on accumulated interest when you sell the bonds.

Since each day's mail to this column brings in more questions about E and H bonds — ownership privileges, handling of bonds in case of death, rights of survivors, joint ownership, etc. — I think you'll be glad to know that the Treasury Department offers a new booklet on the subject.

★ ★ ★

The title is "Some Legal Aspects of United States Savings Bonds," and you can get a copy for 15 cents by writing to the Office of the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I enjoy the advice you dish out to us — so could you, please, explain what "a point" in stock quotations is? We view and hear the stock market news, but don't understand some of it.

A.M.C., Conesus, N.Y.

Dear A.M.C.:

A point in stock market quotations is a recognized unit in quoting prices of stock, shares and various commodities. In stocks, one point ordinarily means $1 a share.

Let's say your stock goes up 1 and ¾ points that day. That means it goes up $1.375 per share. Of course some days it goes down—but let's not talk about that.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mary Feeley:

I read with interest your column regarding FHA loans and the changes involved. I specifically refer to the change indicating that a veteran may now need only 90 days on active duty to obtain an FHA insured mortgage.

Does this mean continuous days of active duty — or a total of 90 days? That is to say, can a reservist who has put in a total of 90 days or more on active duty over a period of years (i.e., two weeks every year) qualify? Or does it have to be a straight 90 days without interruption?

G.M.C., New York City

Dear G.M.C.:

A reservist who has to his credit only the two-week training program is not qualified to apply for this loan.

The ruling says 90 days (which means consecutive) on active duty. If you have any question about the length and classification of your service, write to the Veterans Administration in Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions of wide interest will be answered in her column.)

A May wedding is planned by Connie Rae Crozier, daughter of the Harold Croziers of South Tilden Avenue, and John S. Chester of Royal Oak, son of the J. S. Chesters of Salem, Ohio. She attended Ferris State College and her fiance is a graduate of the PGA Business School, Clearwater, Fla.

July vows are being planned by Judith Ann Karl, daughter of the Cecil G. Karls of Pirrin Drive, and Robert Michael Ottman, son of the Charles R. Ottmans of Ledgestone Drive.

Can Be Too Tired to Sleep

Illinois State Medical Society

A surprisingly common cause of insomnia is exhaustion — you're just too tired to sleep.

To counteract this unpleasant problem, physicians recommend a nap — even just for a few minutes — during the afternoon or early evening. If you can't sleep while "napping," at least rest with your eyes closed and with the TV or radio off.

★ ★ ★

Hunger is also frequently a cause of insomnia. This can be allayed by a pre-bedtime snack of hard candy or something sweet to help maintain a constant sugar level in the bloodstream.

Annual Show Set for Oct. 5

Committees for the annual fashion show sponsored by the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills are already working on plans for Oct. 5.

Saks Fifth Avenue will present the clothes. New models of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler cars will be shown at the same time.

This is the tenth year for the show.

Petticoat Comes Mid-Thigh High

Keeping in step with fashion's short skirts is a demi-petticoat. Hitting mid-thigh, it is for those who wear their skirts shorter than short, says the manufacturer.

For the conservative, there's a regular petticoat also edged with red binding and having side slashes punctuated by a tiny red bow. The regular petticoat ends well above the knees. (Hollywood Vassarette).

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We used to think that what goes up must come down. However, hemlines have shown no inclination to do so. To the contrary! For some time now many of the feminine sex have been wearing their skirts above the knees.

The majority of women have thought this for the birds, or the kids. However, it is amazing what the eye can become accustomed to. It's a good bet that the shorter the skirts of others are the longer yours will look to you unless you follow suit.

The term "follow suit" reminds me of one time when I was watching a bridge game in which a famous expert was playing. At the end of one hand a kibitzer who had been observing the play said, "But you can't bid three hearts on that hand."

The expert replied with great dignity, "I can bid three hearts whenever I want to."

MAKE ME!

Well, you know, you don't have to wear your skirts above your knees if you don't want to. Nobody can force you to do so. I really think that it is an awkward chopped-off style. The legs of most women are most attractive if the hemline just covers the knees or if more leg contour is visible as it is in a swim suit.

My worry is what a tremendous job of "becoming accustomed to" the eyes will have to do if middle-age fat knees are spotlighted.

Actually I shouldn't have mentioned age in connection with this because many older women have beautiful legs. The contour of the leg depends on correct weight and regular exercise rather than age.

It is just that women are apt to gain weight and to become less active-wise as the years pass.

Even if you wear your hemlines below your knees the latter are in evidence when sitting and when wearing play clothes and swim suits. Today let me give you a few exercises for beautifying the knees. Remember that flabby fat thighs can slosh over into knee contour.

Exercise 1: Lie on the floor on your tummy. Bend your elbows and rest your chin on your hands, legs straight. Bend your left knee back toward your hips as far as you can. As your left leg straightens and returns to place, bend your right knee back. Continue, one leg straightening as the other bends. Try to spank yourself.

This tightens your back thigh muscles and helps stretch any fatty deposits off your knees.

Exercise 2: Stand erect. Place your hand on the wall or a chair for balance. Bend your right knee up in front of you, upper leg at right angles to the body, lower leg at right angles to the upper leg. Hold this position while you make circles with your foot, circling the lower leg, first in one direction and then in the other. After a time do the same thing with your left leg.

Exercise 3: Sit on a chair. Raise your legs out in front of you with stiff knees. Place your hands on your thighs. Pull up with your legs as you press down with your hands. Hold for eight seconds at maximum tension. This firms the thighs.

Be certain to massage the knees each night with a softening lotion or cream.

Some Big-Time Operators Leave Country

Fear Hits Viet Black Marketeers' Ranks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The execution of a war profiteer has sent a wave of fear through the ranks of Viet Nam's big-time black marketeers. But for the small-time operators, it is business as usual.

Ta Vinh, a Chinese businessman convicted of profiteering was executed Monday. Since then some merchants deeply involved in large scale operations reportedly have fled the country. There has been a run on black market Hong Kong dollars as the profiteers, mostly Chinese businessmen, try to get their capital out of the country.

★ ★ ★

Others are reported doubling and redoubling bribes to highly placed officials in hopes of continued protection. Several are said to have smuggled detailed accounts of the operations out of the country complete with the names of government officials involved with them and incriminating evidence.

A highly reliable source said many big operators are waiting to see how serious the government is about its often promised crackdown on war profiteers.

There is some feeling that the heat will be off soon since too many high government officials, poorly paid for their official duties, depend on kickbacks or actually share in the profiteering.

Even some American officials concede that for this reason, prospects for stamping out illegal traffic are dim.

"You have to accept it in Asia and try to get people to hold it to a minimum," said one official.

The threat of a crackdown does not seem to have bothered the little operators, in fact the black market stalls appear to have increased since Premier Nguyen Cao Ky announced the cleanup months ago.

One small operator does business across the street from the U.S. Information Service. Another flourishes near the U.S. Embassy in downtown Saigon. They sell clothing, American canned goods and such items as toothpaste. You can also buy American post exchange champagne and whiskey, cigarette lighters and transistor radios.

They can rustle up tape recorders and even a television set if you are not in too big a hurry.

★ ★ ★

The biggest suppliers of all these items, an American official said, are U.S. servicemen abusing their PX privileges.

Recently orders went out limiting purchases of such big items as television sets, tape recorders, radios and expensive cameras to one each a month per GI.

One source said Saigon's police could smash the black market in one day if they wished. All the operations are known, the dealers pegged.

In Asia, the payoff is considered part of holding office. Kept within bounds, the public seldom disputes the official's "right" to something extra.

★ ★ ★

Significance was placed on the fact that the only profiteer executed to date was a Chinese.

Now attention is focused on a former provincial tax official, a Vietnamese, who has been sentenced to death for embezzlement. His appeal still has not been acted upon.

"If Ky really is serious about all this, then we are going to have to send a general or a high Saigon official to the stake," one source said.

Wilson Blasts Foes on Mart

Will Seek Admission Only on His Terms

LONDON (UPI)—The British election campaign heated up today following Prime Minister Harold Wilson's announcement he was ready to negotiate the nation's entry into the European Common Market, but only on his terms.

★ ★ ★

In a speech at Bristol last night, Wilson charged the Conservative government which he succeeded 18 months ago had entered Common Market talks "cap in hand."

He added, "We shall not proceed on the basis of an unconditional acceptance of whatever terms are offered us."

Conservative party leader Edward Heath, speaking in Cardiff, Wales, later termed the speech "poisonous" and said it contained "filthy insinuations."

★ ★ ★

"One really ought not to say these sort of lies and abuse even during an election campaign," Heath said of the Laborite prime minister's remarks.

FRENCH MOVE

France blackmailed British entry into the European economic community three years ago at negotiations conducted by Heath for then Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

"Given a fair wind, we will negotiate our way into the Common Market, head held high, not crawling," said Wilson.

Smart Salesmen Are Still Trapping Unwary Householders With the "Referred Lead" Gimmick!

In a typical case, the housewife wanted an item which she knew she could not afford. While watching a television program, she heard the fast-talking "pitchman" say she could have one "at no cost."

After calling the number given, our ladyfriend was assured that she could, indeed, have the item without cost. All she would have to do would be to give the company the names of her friends who might be prospects.

Came the dawn!! After signing the purchase contract, she slowly came to the realization that she was obligated to pay far more than the market price for the item—and that the referred leads just did not pay off!

A number of legitimate dealers may offer you money or credit for buyers that you may refer to them—but they make this offer only after you have made your purchase!

Never buy merchandise in the belief that referred leads will make your payments.

Junior Editors Quiz on FINGER PRINTS

QUESTION: Why are fingerprints used to identify people?

ANSWER: Emperors in ancient China used to sign documents with a pressure of the thumb, so they must have known something of the value of fingerprints.

But it was a long time before the full usefulness of fingerprints for identification purposes was realized. People may have the same measurements and tatoo marks may be imitated, but the fingerprint record is infallible.

It's a remarkable fact that no two sets of fingerprints have been found which are exactly alike.

Realizing the value of this to identify people, the FBI has made a collection of more than 150 million fingerprints. Servicemen, government workers and others have their prints taken.

To do this, printer's ink is spread on glass, the person's fingertips pressed on the ink and then rolled from side to side on paper.

In criminal cases, unseen prints are frequently left on guns, safes and so on. Using powders and chemicals, detectives can get clear pictures of such prints, which can be checked against the prints of suspected persons.

There are three main fingerprint patterns. The arch (A) has lines going across; the whorl (B) has lines which go round a center; and in the loop (C) the lines make a horseshoe shape.

FOR YOU TO DO: If you can borrow a bit of lipstick, you can make your own fingerprints. Spread it on your fingertips and roll them on paper.

If you don't have the time to take a tour of the world, please take our word for it:

River Rouge Upset by Grand Rapids Quintet in Title Contest

East Christian Records, 76-66, Over Panthers

Rouge Needed Rally in Semifinal Game to Beat Shrine

EAST LANSING — Tall and talented Grand Rapids East Christian stunned heavily favored River Rouge, 76-66, here today to win the state Class B basketball championship.

Rouge had reached the finale by overcoming scrappy Royal Oak Shrine, 77-71, in a semifinal game last night while East Christian was dumping Ishpeming, 54-49.

River Rouge had won the title the last five years.

It took free throw precision on the part of Rouge to even reach the championship game. The Panthers trailed Shrine by eight points late in the third quarter.

CLASSY SHOOTER

Rouge, led by classy Frank Price with 30 points, bucketed 31 of 36 free throws with little guard Bennie Benford hitting a perfect 15 of 15.

★ ★ ★

From the opening tipoff it was Rouge which was forced to come back after Shrine set the pace with Rick Chudy hitting key buckets in his 29 point effort.

When the first quarter ended Shrine led 16-15 and at halftime the prowling Panthers moved ahead 38-34.

Shrine came out in the third quarter with as much determination as when the game started and grabbed the lead 44-43 at 4:40 on a bucket by Chudy.

The Knights capitalized on a floor violation and two stolen balls and with the crowd screaming in scent of an upset, the Panthers called time out as Shrine went ahead 54-46.

★ ★ ★

Coach Lofton Green's pep talk apparently had some affect as Price hit two crucial buckets and Benford's deadly free throws helped the Panthers to 10 straight points and a 56-54 lead.

FINISH AT HAND

Shrine tied it again but Price's range was uncanny at this stage and when the third quarter ended with Rouge ahead 58-57, it was the beginning of the end for the Knights from Oakland County.

Rouge outscored Shrine 10 to 2 and 18 to 3 in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter and although the Knights connected on 26 field goals, three more than the defending champs, the 16 point deficit was too much to overcome.

Rouge hit 40 per cent on 23 of 58 shots while Shrine had 36 per cent on 26 of 71.

Unbeaten Fives Duel in 'D' Tilt

By the Associated Press

A pair of unbeaten teams vying for the Michigan Class D basketball championship highlight the final day of action in the 41st annual tournament today.

Defending champion Covert and Trout Creek, one of two Upper Peninsula teams to reach the finals, will match their 25-0 records in the Class D finale.

Covert marched to its 47th consecutive win by dumping Freesoil 88-70, last night while Trout Creek disposed of Flint St. Mary 69-54.

UNRANKED TEAMS

Two unranked teams were to battle it out for the Class C championship. Flint Holy Redeemer qualified by upsetting sixth-ranked Middleville 79-74 while L'Anse bested Scottville 70-64 in the night's only overtime attraction.

Maurice Armstrong was the big gun for Covert, getting 20 of his 26 points in the first half as Covert took a 40-30 halftime lead. Stephen Papes had 26 for Freesoil.

★ ★ ★

Don Reid scored 35 points in a losing cause for Flint St. Mary. Bob Gale topped the well-balanced Trout Creek attack with 24 points.

Deane Kent of L'Anse tied the score at 60-60 with a basket with 1:28 remaining in regulation time to send the tilt with Scottville into overtime.

Bob Frederikson then scored four of his 20 game points in the extra session to spearhead the victory. George Hankwitz had 20 for Scottville.

Middleville closed to within two points with 10 seconds to go but never got closer as Flint Holy Redeemer prevailed.

Ferndale Tops East Detroit in Semifinals

Eagles vs. Ann Arbor for 'A' Crown; East Detroit Ambushed

By the Associated Press

Class A will be a real classy championship game in the State High School Basketball Tourney tonight.

It will be Ferndale against Ann Arbor, with identical 19-3 records.

It was the Ferndale Eagles who provided the major thrill of Friday night's semifinals.

You could describe it as a "barn-burner... heart - stopper ...thriller..."—you pick your own adjective.

Ferndale, after being consistently 10 points behind, pulled it out in the last seconds to whip East Detroit, 63-62.

The Shamrocks were top-ranked and undefeated going into the game.

"Beat them... beat them..." urged the cheer leader of the Jolly Green Giants.

But Ferndale was deadly at the free throw line, hitting 17 of 23 and 14 in a row in the gift shots.

POOR THROW

High Scorer Dwight Dunlap, a 24-pointer, was a hero who nearly threw the game away by throwing the ball out of bounds after an East Detroit basket.

Dunlap scored what was to be the winning basket with 13 seconds left on the clock. Then he let the ball go off the court.

Ron Binge, high scorer for East Detroit with his 22 points, had a shot at the bucket with two seconds left. The ball rimmed the basket, spun there seemingly endlessly and finally dribbled off the edge after the buzzer.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, the Shamrocks looked well in control from a 17-15 first-quarter lead to 35-25 at the half. They were controlling the ball and setting up shots at will.

The 10-point margin continued to 46-36 and 50-40 before the Eagles started moving in. Dave Jensen hit one of those payoff free throws to tie it at 58-58 with 2:14 left. On the second free throw try he missed, but grabbed the ball on the rebound and swished it in to make it Ferndale 60-58.

HIGH SCORER

Ann Arbor stuck with an attack plan of feeding the ball to agile, often-shooting Earle Higgins and saw it pay off for the 64-59 win over Grand Rapids Catholic.

Higgins made 28 points before he went out on fouls with 1:32 left in the game. He took 37 shots, connecting for 13 buckets.

Bob Sherwood, high man for the losers, also had 28 points, hitting 12 of only 19 tries.

Higgins also did some agile work at the boards, grabbing rebounds to put his Pioneers in position to overcome a deficit at one point was as much as eight points.

The Ann Arbor surge was all in the final quarter, as the winners outscored the losers there 21-12.

Jerry Rush Signs, Will Play Offense

Fleet Amos Marsh and big Jerry Rush became the first two players to sign their 1966 contracts with the Detroit Lions.

The 220 pound Marsh was acquired from Dallas last Sept. 9 prior to the start of the regular NFL campaign. He scored eight touchdowns including one of 62 yards against the Baltimore Colts, longest scoring run in the league. His 495 yards from scrimmage was tops for the Lions.

As Marsh, 27, heads into his sixth season his five-year total at Dallas and Detroit stands at 2,560 yards rushing, 1,561 yards on kickoff returns and 1,170 yards as a pass catcher.

Rush, second-year lineman from Michigan State, was used as a defensive tackle last season but will be groomed for offensive line duty when training camp opens in July.

"Jerry is too valuable to play behind Alex Karras and Roger Brown on defense," Coach Harry Gilmer explains. "We plan to give him a strong shot at an offensive tackle position."

Rush likes the proposed shift. "I let myself get too heavy last year," he says. "I was up over 280. I'm 270 now and plan to hit camp at less than 265. I played a lot of offense at MSU. I'm positive I can play it as a pro."

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Central product, now 22, will challenge 255-pound Roger Shoals, acquired last year from the Cleveland Browns, for a job in the offensive line.

Mets Trim 13 From Roster

Diamond Crews Drop Excess Weight

By United Press International

Spring training is the best time for a baseball player to knock off some excess weight.

Of course, the player always runs the risk of being knocked off himself if he becomes excess weight on the roster.

The wholesale hatchetings began in earnest Friday as the New York Mets lopped off 13 players and the Pittsburgh Pirates hacked six nonentities from the roster.

Although the cuts have begun mildly enough with only unfamiliar names being crossed off the osters, the borderline veterans might have cause to start worrying.

In exhibition games Friday, the Kansas City Athletics lost to the Houston Astros 6-3, ending a five - game winning streak.

Jim Hickman led the Mets to an 8-7 triumph over St. Louis.

Cleveland defeated the San Francisco Giants 6-2. Home runs by 38-year-old Joe Adcock, Tom Egan and Rick Reichardt helped the California Angels whip the Chicago Cubs 10-1.

The Chicago White Sox took advantage of a Washington error in the seventh inning to score five runs, four unearned, and beat the Senators 5-0.

Tony Cloninger, Hank Fischer and Jim Britton combined to pitch a two-hitter for Milwaukee as the Braves beat the New York Yankees 7-0.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Cincinnati Reds 8-7, and Boog Powell's third homer in two days to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 9-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Wildcats vs. Texas Western in Finals

Kentucky Favored to Take Cage Title

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The top-ranked Kentucky Wildcats will be favored to win their fifth national collegiate basketball championship tonight despite Coach Adolph Rupp's dour observations and dire predictions.

* * *

"They look like they'll be rough to get along with," Rupp said after watching brawny Texas Western whip Utah 85-78 Friday night and move into the NCAA tourney final for the first time in history. "We can't jump like them."

* * *

But Rupp's runts outbounded taller Duke, as they had done to other bigger teams during the season, and edged the second-ranked Blue Devils 83-79 in the opener of the semifinal doubleheader witnessed by 14,253 fans.

Texas Western, the nation's No. 3 team in the final Associated Press poll, is even bigger and rougher than Duke. But that may be the downfall of the Miners against a team with the finesse and discipline of Kentucky. Each of the finalists takes a 27-1 record into the championship game.

The Miners were charged with 27 fouls against Utah, with 6-7 David Lattin and 6-5 Harry Flournoy fouling out.

* * *

Kentucky blew a 59-52 second half lead as Duke rallied behind Jack Marin to tie the score 69-69 with 4:48 to play. But fevered Larry Conley scored four clutch points in the stretch and the Wildcats capitalized on a muffed layup by Duke's Mike Lewis.

Conley, who had a temperature of 102 degrees Thursday night, was rested periodically throughout the contest. But he sank two free throws in a bonus situation to put Kentucky ahead 73-71 and then drove the length of the court for a basket to make it 79-73 with less than a minute remaining.

Duke had a chance to tie the score after Conley's foul shots, but Lewis missed an easy layup under the basket. All-America Louie Dampier grabbed the rebound and fed Pat Riley on a fast-break basket which Coach Vic Bubas of Duke called the turning point of the game.

PACED DUKE

Riley scored 19 points for the Wildcats and Dampier 23, including 13 in the second half. Marin paced Duke with 29, Lewis had 21 and Steve Vacendak had 17.

Jerry Chambers scored 38 points for Utah, which was playing without George Fisher, who broke a leg late in the season.

Utah Coach Jack Gardner said he was surprised by the outside shooting of Texas Western, but added, "I don't expect them to shoot as well Saturday. I would pick Kentucky to win because it is a better all-around club."

Eye Surgery Successful; Wing Resting

BOSTON (AP) — Defenseman Doug Barkley of Detroit's National Hockey League Red Wings was resting comfortably Friday after undergoing a second operation for an eye injury suffered in a recent game.

A spokesman at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary said the surgery Thursday was "quite successful."

Barkley was struck in the eye by a stick. He underwent surgery to correct a detached retina and the second operation was to strengthen the retina.

* * *

"It is unusual to have only one operation in these cases," the spokesman said.

Meanwhile, the fourth-place Red Wings are idle tonight but will entertain third-place Toronto Sunday night at Olympia Stadium.

They will need a victory if they're to retain any hopes of catching the Maple Leafs in the NHL standings.

California Vaulter Cracks Own Mark

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Bob Seagren-John Pennel pole vault poker game is about to move outside.

The Glendale, Calif., roommates each have held the indoor title in the last two weeks, but Seagren upped the ante at the 26th Knights of Columbus track meet Friday night with a record leap of 17 feet, ¾-inch.

It broke his own mark of 17¼, set at the AAU Games in Albuquerque, when he shattered Pennel's record of 16-10. The Glendale City College sophomore now plans to go for the outdoor record of 17-4, but said, "I'll have to watch out for Pennel."

Swiss Skiers Sweep Opening Alpine Races

STOWE, Vt. (AP)—Peter Rohr and Madeleine Wuilloud scored a sweep for Switzerland in opening-day events of the U.S. Alpine and International Ski Championships Friday, winning the men's and women's downhill races.

Rohr was first in the men's race with a time of 86.50 seconds for the Nosedive Trail course of just under 1½ miles. Miss Wuilloud won the women's event, shooting down the mile run in 66.55.

Snead Falters, Dickinson Grabs Lead in Citrus Golf

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Gardner Dickinson has that lean and hungry look—hungry for the $21,000 first prize money in the $110,000 Florida Citrus Open golf tournament.

And if the slim, 130-pound player from Dothan, Ala., keeps playing the consistent golf he has the past two rounds, he may enrich his bank account considerably.

Dickinson, who has had his ups and downs on the tournament trail took the lead Friday after the second round with 34-34—68 for a 36-hole total of 137, five under par.

* * *

Though Dickinson played good golf, it was the disintegration of Sam Snead's game that gave him a one stroke lead over the field.

FIVE BOGEYS

Snead went into the second round leading with a five-under par 66, two strokes ahead of the nearest competitor, but blew it on the back nine, where he carded five bogeys. His 76 left him at even par for the two rounds with 142.

Dickinson's putting helped him into the lead going into today's third round, cut to 77 players out of a field of more than 140.

One stroke behind Dickinson are Dean Refram and Joe Campbell, with 36-hole totals of 138.

* * *

The Big Three of golf, Gary Player, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, have had poor showings during the first two rounds.

Player, competing in his first U.S. tournament of the season, missed the 147 cut, carding a 36-hole total of 150, and packed his bags. Nicklaus had rounds of 70-73 to bunch with six others at 143. Palmer, who was back at 145 with rounds of 75-70.

Artificial Grass Under Dome

Astros, LA Test Turf

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers meet this weekend in an exhibition series which will be the first official baseball games to be played on synthetic grass.

The Astrodome infield and foul territory areas will be covered with a chemical substance called Astroturf.

GRASS DIED

The Astrodome opened last year with natural grass but it died because of lack of sunlight when light panels in the dome had to be painted to cut down the glare which caused players to misjudge routine fly balls.

Astro officials said if the artificial turf works out, the entire outfield will be covered with it by mid-season.

* * *

The infield surface is portable and can be removed and put back within a few hours, officials said.

Surprising MSU After National Hockey Title

Spartans Duel Eastern Sextet in NCAA Final

East Lansing Squad Advances With 2-1 Win Over Boston

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Late-blooming Michigan State and Eastern kingpin Clarkson collide tonight for the National Collegiate Athletic Association hockey championship.

Michigan State, which has come on strong after a dismal start this season to surprise everybody but Spartan Coach Amo Bessone, bids to keep the NCAA crown in the West, where it has rested for 11 years.

★ ★ ★

The Spartans will again be underdogs, however, against a Clarkson team which has fashioned a 23-2 record enroute to the title game.

"That's okay with us . . . we'll take the Cinderella label," Bessone said Friday night after his Spartans had beaten Boston University 2-1 in a semifinal game at the University of Minnesota to keep Western hopes alive for a 12th consecutive championship.

"Now we're going to the ball," Bessone added.

Clarkson Coach Leonard Ceglarski, whose Knights downed Denver 4-3 in the other semifinal Thursday night, didn't challenge pre-tourney figuring which surmised that the winner of the Clarkson-Denver game likely would go all the way.

"We won't argue with that," Ceglarski said.

STRONG FINISH

Michigan State is not to be taken lightly, however, after a turnabout which has seen the Spartans recover from a 4-10 mid-season record to win 11 of their last 14 games.

The Spartans finished sixth in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association regular-season race, then knocked off Michigan and WCHA champion Michigan Tech in the Western playoffs to make it into the NCAA.

★ ★ ★

Clarkson, winner of eight straight games, beat Michigan State 6-3 in an early-season game at Potsdam, N.Y.

Not since Rensselaer beat Minnesota 5-4 in overtime in 1954 has the East taken the title. And the East has had only one other champion in the 19-year history of the tournament, Boston College in 1949.

Michigan State picked up steam after a ragged, scoreless first period to whip Boston Friday night. Sophomore Doug French's first goal as a collegian gave MSU a 1-0 lead and Doug Velmar scored the winning goal with 7½ minutes to play.

Judge Denies Bid to Dismiss Baseball Suit

Defense Takes Floor to Counter Antitrust Charges Against NL

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball proceeded with its defense against antitrust charges today after failing to obtain dismissal of the case on the ground that the State of Wisconsin lacked jurisdiction and hadn't proved much of anything.

★ ★ ★

Over the protest of defense attorneys, Circuit Judge Elmer Roller ordered a Saturday morning session. He announced his decision after attorneys battled for several hours Friday over defense exhibits.

★ ★ ★

Baseball attorneys argued Friday that the sport's exemption fromfederal antitrust regulation extended to the present case, which resulted from the Braves move from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

Wisconsin accused the National League of violating the state's antitrust law by authorizing the transfer and refusing to grant Milwaukee an expansion franchise. The state charged conspiracy and illegal use of the monopolistic structure of organized baseball to boycott Milwaukee as a major league city.

UPHELD CLAIM

Judge Roller in rejecting the dismissal motion said he was satisfied the court had jurisdiction and upheld the state's claim that it had met the legal requirements for cause of action.

★ ★ ★

Earl Jinkinson of Chicago, an attorney representing the Braves, told the court "Baseball is as exempt from the Wisconsin antitrust act as it is from the Sherman Act. No state law can reach beyond its borders. It is beyond the power of the state to interfere."

★ ★ ★

Jinkinson labeled the lawsuit "a shameless abuse of the legal process and a travesty on justice."

U. S. Supreme Court rulings in 1922, 1953 and 1957 were cited by Bowie L. Kuhn, National League attorney, as decisions specifically exempting baseball from antitrust legislation. He added that Congress had seen fit to make baseball self-regulating.

★ ★ ★

Jinkinson told Judge Roller that if he ordered the Braves to return to Milwaukee it would bankrupt the club.

"If the Braves were ordered to return here, they would be held as hostages," Jinkinson said. "A distorted image of this good city is being spread throughout the nation as a result of this case."

Jinkinson said the state had failed to prove its charge that baseball had abandoned Milwaukee.

Sen. Hart in Key Position

May Vote on Gun Bill

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

A controversial piece of firearms legislation—better known as the Dodd Bill — may be reported out of the Senate Subcommittee to Investigate Juvenile Delinquency Tuesday.

And Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) is reported to hold a key vote in determining whether the White House backed measure will succeed in reaching the full Senate Judiciary Committee.

★ ★ ★

The bill is designed to curtail the sale of firearms by mail order houses and has other features that sportsmen consider too restrictive.

Harold Glassen, a member of the Michigan Polar-Equator Club, states that the bill (S.1592) "is in no way acceptable to the American sportsmen."

Glassen urges outdoorsmen to contact Sen. Hart, preferably by wire, before Tuesday's meeting stating their feelings on the Dodd Bill.

Other sportsmen's organizations across the nation, most of the various state conservation departments and the American Rifle Association oppose the bill.

A few state legislatures have gone on record opposing the measure while the different police departments in the nation have been divided on its stated purpose as a deterent to crime.

WAVERING

Sen. Hart has acted to hold up the bill. But now he is showing some inclination in the other direction. It is believed that a strong endorsement of the bill by President Johnson earlier this month may have influenced the senator toward backing the measure.

The subcommittee met earlier this week to discuss possible amendments. This is the first time any amendments have been proposed since the bill was introduced by Sen. Thomas Dodd (D-Conn.), chairman of the subcommittee, last May.

The subcommittee will meet Tuesday at which time a vote may be taken to see if the bill has enough support to be sent to the Judiciary Committee.

Members of the subcommittee have been divided evenly on the issue.

But in a recent transfer of assignments, apparently directed by the White House in attempt to get the bill moving, Sen. Ted Kennedy (D-Mass.), joined the subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

He is believed to go along with federal firearms legislation.

The Michigan Conservation Commission has made official the idea of allowing sportsmen and hunters to advise it on setting deer quotas.

The idea was unofficially endorsed at the March 11 commission meeting. No formal vote was taken, however.

Polled by telephone this week, the commissioners confirmed their approval in telegrams to the department.

Details of the citizens advisory committee on deer setup, meanwhile, were announced with a provision that no such group was planned for southern Michigan.

Committees of 25 members each will be appointed in each of the eight northern Michigan conservation districts.

Tournament's Long Shot Battling for NIT Crown

NEW YORK (AP) —Lou Rossini took his New York University basketball team into today's National Invitation Tournament championship match against Brigham Young with the air of a man who had nothing to lose.

The Violets weren't expected to make it into the tournament at all, and were one of the longest shots in the field to advance to the finals.

★ ★ ★

"I'm always confident," said Rossini Thursday night after his Violets had battled from behind after suffering through an eight minute scoring drought and eliminated Villanova 69-63. BYU made it to the finals by whipping Army 66-60.

NYU got into the tourney only by sheer tenacity, beating first Manhattan and then St. John's—both NIT invitees. The tournament committee gave the Violets the next-to-the-last bid in the 14-team field.

GOOD HEIGHT

Brigham Young featured an explosive backcourt combination in Dick Nemelka and Jeff Congdon, helped by good height underneath in 6-5 Steve Kramer and 6-11 Craig Raymond.

The Violets counted on the playmaking and shooting of Mal Graham and hoped that 6-5 Charlie Silen and 6-5 Stan McKenzie could handle the Cougars off the boards.

Villanova and Army were to meet in the consolation game for third place.

Basketball Scribes Cite Rupp, Russell

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Adolph Rupp of Kentucky was named Coach of the Year Friday by the United States Basketball Writers Association.

★ ★ ★

Cazzie Russell, the two-time All-America from Michigan who previously had been so honored by The Associated Press, was chosen by the Writers group as the Player of the Year.

★ ★ ★

Rupp gained the honor by leading the Wildcats on an incredible comeback, from 15-10 record a year ago — the worst in Kentucky history — to a 27-1 mark this season and the No. 1 ranking among the nation's college teams.

South knew that he was pushing some when he went to four spades and was not at all surprised when West doubled.

JACOBY

West opened the king of clubs and South's Analysis of the lead and Review of the bidding told him that West was going to show up with every missing high card.

South's Count of losers showed seven possible losers of which three were certainties. He was going to lose to the ace of hearts, the king of spades and either the king or queen of clubs and he had two more possible losers in each minor suit.

Completing the word ARCH with "How can I make the hand?" South noted that he could get some discards on dummy's hearts and ruff some clubs with dummy's trumps. Then South was ready for action.

He won the first trick since he could not afford to give West a chance to shift to a diamond. Then he led his jack of hearts.

West made a good play by ducking but South overtook; led out another high heart and discarded a diamond while West took his ace.

West led the king of diamonds but it was too late. South won in dummy and discarded his last little diamond on the ten of hearts. Then South led a club and West was back in the lead.

He led a trump but all South had to do was to win in his own hand with the seven spot; ruff a club with dummy's eight; return to his hand by ruffing a diamond with the ace of trumps; ruff his last club with dummy's ten and concede a trick to the king of trumps.

It should be noted that if the king of diamonds was the opening lead South would have had no way to make the hand but West had no way to know that.

Gerald G. Guinan Honored at Dinner

During the parish dinner at All Saints Episcopal Church, this week, the congregation honored Gerald G. Guinan for his 39 many years of service to the church as vestryman.

In his response to remarks of the Rev. C. George Widdifield, rector, Mr. Guinan said he deserved no praise, for he did what he loved doing — working for God through his church.

★ ★ ★

"The most satisfaction I received during the years as a vestryman was in having a part in establishing four missions.

"These include St. Mary's-in-the-Hills, Lake Orion; St. Andrew's, Waterford Township; St. George's, Milford; and the Church of the Resurrection in Clarkston," said the honored parishioner.

Always interested in young people with four children of his own, Mr. Guinan served as Church School superintendent for 15 years.

Elected a vestryman first in 1927, Mr. Guinan retired from the office in January. In the early years he served as secretary, then in 1943 he was chosen junior warden.

In 1951 he was chosen senior warden, an office he held for 10 years.

Gerald Guinan's interests extended far beyond All Saints' parish.

★ ★ ★

From 1953 to 1956 he served on the standing committee of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

He also served two terms from 1955 to 1962 on the executive council of the diocese.

Twice Mr. Guinan was elected lay deputy to the General Convention of the Episcopal Church in the United States, the highest legislative assembly of the church which meets every three years.

He served first as deputy in 1958 when the convention met in Miami, Fla., and again in 1961 when the convention was held in Cobo Hall, Detroit.

In February, by a unanimous vote of the vestry, Mr. Guinan was elected an honorary life member of All Saints vestry.

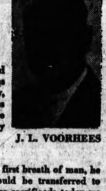
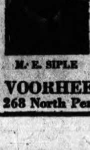
Reflections

ENERGY

Our early pioneers packed dry beans, flour and salt pork to last to their destination and sometimes they brought salt water in bottles to cure scurvy, but I think the strangest item in the inventory was "sponge." I can't believe those people ate a sponge as food; it must have been a medicine, as quackery was rampant.



J. L. VOORHEES



M. E. SIPLE

Superstition came with the first breath of man, he believed that longevity would be transferred to others if old, old men were sacrificed; today we have men who eat vegetables because dinosaurs ate vegetation and grew to be the biggest animals on earth; our Indians were hunters, lived on red meat and what the squaw could find in the forest—but they reached the highest culture when they planted seeds and harvested crops. Energy is essential to all living things, including man. Energy is abundant but certainly not in the pills of the quack or in superstition.

"In spite of their technological inferiorities," he said Friday "the North Vietnamese have a respectable radar net, concentrated and accurate light antiaircraft defenses all around likely targets and a network of surface-to-air missiles."

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF MAYME BURNS who passed away March 20, 1962.
Her memory is as dear today,
As in the hour she passed away.
Loving sister Rhea, brother-in-law Bob.

IN FOND MEMORY OF ARCHIE T. MacLarty who passed away 8 years March 18.
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad and weary the way,
Life has not been the same;
Since you were called away.
Sadly missed by wife Elva, children and their family.

Jerry's Gary Coming Comic, but Not as Mad as His Dad

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — There was a 20-year-old boy at one of the showcase tables at Gallagher's, the steak house where drinking is a way of life, and he was heard to say, "Maybe I'm going to go for an orange juice."

WILSON

A blonde woman at the checkroom said, "To think, I used to hold that kid on my knee."

"And I knew his dad when his partner Dean Martin wasn't his partner yet and still had his old nose," I said.

* * *

Gary Lewis, the singing comedian of tomorrow! Skinny, spectacled, with a nose like his father's, seemingly more studious, and less nutty — he is a rock 'n' roll hero to a vast audience of 12-to-16-year-olds who have bought 4,500,000 of his records.

"And the new one, 'Sure Gonna Miss Her,' broke on the charts at 76th the first week," Gary said happily. "It will probably go to 45th this week. Boy, that's beautiful!

"And everything's gonna start happening when we get back to the coast.

"Probably be a movie at Universal. They're talking about a remake of 'That's My Boy,' with me playing the Jerry Lewis part and my dad playing the Eddie Mayehoff part.

* * *

"Sure, I want to be a comic," Gary nodded.

"My dad says just the way I pick up things — the timing — stuns him. He says 'you're going to be tremendous sometime.'

"No, I never had any coaching. Just livin' with my dad all the time is enough."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Author John Steinbeck, scribbling a note at the Brasserie, said, "I'm not writing — just jotting down my grocery list" . . . Double-talker Al Kelly gave up 15 paid engagements here for a vacation in Miami Beach — where he did 20 benefits, gratis. . . . Marty Ingels and his wife Jean Marie, estranged, are dating more now than ever . . . Lawrence Welk'll have an entourage of 70 when he works at Lake Tahoe's Harrah's in June . . . Merv Griffin'll be honored at the Catholic Actors Guild dinner May 6 (with tickets going fast).

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "I've found that the great lovers of history were usually of low intellect, because if they had been interested in cultural pursuits they never would have had so much time to waste in women's boudoirs."—Somerset Maugham ("The Two Worlds of Somerset Maugham," by Wilmon Menard).

EARL'S PEARLS: One Hollywood marriage got off to a bad start, reports Pat Collins — the couple argued over the billing on the ring's inscription.

TV and film star Horace McMahon, who's portrayed policemen many times, was asked to run for sheriff in Connecticut. "It's very tempting," said actor McMahon, "—but there are no residuals." . . . That's earl, brother.

U.S. Culture Pact OK Now Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a puzzling three-day delay, the United States has told the Soviet Union it now is prepared to sign a new U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange agreement.

The agreement was ready for signing Wednesday, but President Johnson reportedly intervened because he was concerned about provisions to guarantee that the Soviets would live up to it.

* * *

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Friday negotiations had not been concluded on two points. He referred further inquiries to the State Department.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey also said there were "a couple of matters to be worked out" but didn't elaborate. Later, however, McCloskey announced:

"The United States told the Soviet government tonight we are ready to sign the text of the exchange agreement. We are prepared to sign whenever and wherever it is mutually convenient."

LEFT FOR RUSSIA

A time and place was not announced immediately. The chief Soviet negotiator, S. K. Romanovsky, already has left for home.

* * *

The proposed agreement calls for a one-for-one exchange of students, teachers, artists, entertainers and the like during 1966 and 1967.

* * *

There was no immediate official explanation for the delay, which took the Soviets — and apparently U.S. negotiators, too — by surprise.

A Soviet spokesman said the pact was to be signed at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, but "one hour before this, the American side postponed the signing. We don't know the reasons why."

American informants would say only that the government has now completed its review of the test and found it acceptable without change.

* * *

Earlier, information circulating among diplomats indicated the President did not want a repetition of Soviet rejections of U.S. cultural projects.

OU Has Lifeline to Viet, Thanks to Grad Serving There

Minutes after he graduated from Oakland University in April 1963, Richard Stier was commissioned a 2nd lieutenant in the Marine Corps. In July 1965 he sailed for Viet Nam.

Stier's college years taught him much about economics, politics and other subjects, but they didn't prepare him in advance for what he encountered last December. Oakland didn't offer a course entitled "The Tragedy of War."

Now, in a small, second-hand way, it does — through a humanitarian project at Oakland known as "Thang Binh Lifeline."

Early in February, OU Alumni Relations Director Dorothy Hope received a letter from Stier. It began: "Dear Mrs. Hope, I am writing tonight with a heavy heart . . . wondering if you could help me, and, in turn, help many young Vietnamese children . . ."

The lieutenant's letter described how, during "Operation Harvest Moon" last December, his artillery battery had been ordered to occupy a strategic position in a hamlet some 20 miles south of Da Nang.

ONE DAY LATE

Through no fault of their own Stier's battery arrived one day too late to save an entire battalion of South Vietnamese Rangers from being totally wiped out.

After a fierce struggle, which left 426 Viet Cong dead, the Americans succeeded in occupying the hamlet, named Thang Binh.

There, the young officer came face-to-face with the pitiful circumstances of Vietnamese children orphaned and abandoned in the wreckage of battle.

Stier described them in his letter: "They have a bare minimum of clothing to wear. They are undernourished, dirty, destitute and have very little to live for."

SUPPLIES OR MONEY

Stier asked Mrs. Hope to see if the Oakland student body could be interested in helping to collect supplies or money to help alleviate the suffering of the Thang Binh children.

Not sure of what sort of response the idea might get, she went ahead and called for a meeting with leaders of all OU student organizations.

In short order, the group met and elected Margaret O'Reilly, junior from 2952 Old Orchard, Waterford Twp., as chairman.

"Everyone got on the bandwagon instantly," Miss O'Reilly said. "One after another, each student at the meeting stood up and said, 'Our organization will . . . .'"

NO OVERTONES

The student leader was asked whether Thang Binh Lifeline had any anti-war-in-Viet Nam overtones.

"This has nothing to do with political issues," she said. "These are kids who need help. Students at Oakland who are strongly against the war in Viet Nam have been as eager to help as those who support U.S. policy there."

Stier, now a 1st lieutenant and executive officer in his battery, will serve as liaison for the project and will oversee the distribution.

Novel schemes have been concocted on the Oakland campus to encourage student contributions.

'SOAP DANCE'

Wednesday night, a "soap dance" was held in the Oakland student center. The price of admission was two regular-size bars of soap, one of the items most needed in Thang Binh.

There will be dances on the next two Wednesdays, too, with different items as the price of admission.

One of the men's dormitories at Oakland, Fitzgerald House, is holding an "ugly man" contest.

Photos of two candidates from each of the dorm's floors will be posted around campus, and students will vote for the ugliest by depositing pennies in canisters. Whoever receives the most pennies in his canister is the winner (or loser, depending upon how you look at it).

JOIN CAMPAIGN

Students from neighboring Oakland Community College (Auburn Hills branch) have joined with the OU students.

Astronauts Return to Launching Base

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The Gemini 8 astronauts flew back to their launching base today to help experts determine why their space flight suddenly turned from triumph to near tragedy.

Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott were in good spirits as they landed here after a jet flight from Hawaii.

They bounced down the plane steps and waved at a crowd of about 200 persons.

"We had a magnificent flight the first seven hours," Armstrong told the group, adding that he and Scott were disappointed they were unable to complete their mission after executing man's first linkup with another satellite.

"It was a magnificent launch — without a doubt the best there's ever been," Armstrong told Lt. Col. John G. Albert, Gemini launch director for the Air Force.

★ ★ ★

They declined to discuss details of their wild ride with newsmen.

FLIGHT REVIEW

Scott said they were "looking forward" to reviewing the flight that ended so swiftly Wednesday night after Gemini 8 and the Agena, to which it was hooked up, suddenly began to tumble crazily through the sky.

The C135 jet transport landed here at 7:58 a.m. after an 8½-hour flight from Hawaii.

At Cape Kennedy, the astronauts will huddle with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials for three days in an effort to solve the mystery of the harrowing ride that caused the first emergency landing in the U.S. man in space program.

Armstrong and Scott blasted off from Cape Kennedy at 11:41 a.m. Wednesday and later linked up with an Agena satellite in an historic space feat.

Viet-Bound Ammo, Flares Are Missing

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (UPI) — A U.S. Navy official confirmed yesterday that an undetermined amount of ammunition and flares apparently bound for Viet Nam are missing from equipment thrown out when a train derailed at Logan, N. M. on March 9.

Lt. Commander J. S. Eaves of the 8th Naval District in New Orleans yesterday said he could not categorically say the equipment had been stolen. But he said an inventory showed it definitely was missing.

Ford: Inflation Puts Dems in Deep Trouble

Cites Figures Showing 7 Per Cent Increase in Wholesale Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Democrats "are now in deep trouble" over inflation, according to House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford.

Ford said the extent of the trouble was disclosed by recent Labor Department figures showing the February increase in wholesale prices to be the sharpest for the month since the Korean war.

Terming it a "disclosure that the lid has now blown off wholesale prices," the Michigan representative said "excessive, virtually unrestrained spending by the Democrats on nondefense programs is a principal cause of inflation."

"This situation demands that the Johnson-Humphrey administration force a cutback in consumer spending or hold down government spending," he said.

★ ★ ★

Ford said it was "shocking" that wholesale prices rose 7 per cent last month. He said a recent Gallup Poll result showed it was costing a family of four about $18 a week more to get along this year than a year ago.

GOOD BET

"It's a good bet prices will go up faster after the middle of the year than they have in the last few months," he said.

The GOP leader said Johnson had "cranked some curbs" against inflation into the economy, including the just-approved $6 billion tax bill.

But he also said many economists don't think these will be enough. He said the administration had taken "only tentative steps to fight inflation for fear of a rebuke at the polls in November."

Ford's statement came as other pressures mounted yesterday on the Johnson administration to move more swiftly toward a decision to seek an anti-inflationary tax increase.

Soviet Charge Reported

'China Set for Russian War'

BERLIN (AP) — A U. S. radio station in West Berlin says it has learned that the Soviet Communist party secretly spread charges that Red China has been preparing for possible war with the Soviet Union.

The U. S. Information Service station RIAS — Radio in the American Sector — made the claim in a broadcast Thursday.

It said the secret letter sent to Communist parties abroad also accused Peking of fostering a long war in Viet Nam in an effort to touch off a clash between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The station said the letter was sent last February by the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party to foreign Communist parties, including the Socialist Unity party in East Germany. The RIAS broadcast was especially beamed at East Germany.

★ ★ ★

The station said the letter instructed foreign party leaders to tell their members of the letter's contents by word of mouth.

E. BERLIN SOURCES

A RIAS spokesman told a newsman today the station learned of the letter "through sources in East Berlin."

The broadcast said the Soviet letter charged that the Chinese have:

● Ignored Soviet attempts to heal the ideological split.

● Systematically prepared their population for an attack either from the Soviet Union alone or from both the U.S.S.R. and the United States.

★ ★ ★

● Stepped up provocations along the Far East border with the Soviet Union.

● Spurned peaceful Soviet efforts to settle the border questions.

★ ★ ★

● Caused the Vietnamese people great damage by promoting the idea of a long war in Viet Nam.

● Hoped for continued cold war tensions to erupt into a U.S.-Soviet clash resulting in mutual destruction of the two nuclear giants.

● Rejected every Soviet effort to coordinate Communist aid to North Viet Nam.

● Blocked shipping of Soviet military aid to Hanoi by air or rail through China.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet dispute with China is expected to be a key topic at the 23rd congress of the Soviet Communist party, opening March 29. Communist party leaders from all over the world will attend the session.

Junior Miss Is in Alabama

Attractive North Farmington High School senior Bonnie Britton arrived in Mobile, Ala. yesterday to begin pursuit of America's 1966 Junior Miss title.

All seniors, the girls were greeted by a crowd of several thousand yesterday at Mobile's Municipal Airport after arriving in a chartered jet, the "Junior Miss Special."

Miss Britton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Britton, 34234 Northwick, Farmington Township, hopes to duplicate Patrice Gaunder's effort last year.

Miss Gaunder of Stevensville captured both the Michigan and national Junior Miss titles.

FDA Orders Drug OKs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has ordered a review of all drugs cleared for public use before 1962 as part of its tough new administrator's drive to put more teeth in the FDA's regulatory bite.

Administrator Dr. James L. Goddard said yesterday that a bureau director will be assigned to full-time work in the review, which is to test the safety and effectiveness of drugs.

JEROME P. CAVANAGH

Party Chiefs' Views Mixed

Primary Campaign Split Is Main Fear

DETROIT (UPI) — Michigan's Democratic party leadership greeted Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's entry into the senatorial primary race with mixed reaction today.

The main fear expressed was that the primary campaign between Cavanagh and former six-term Gov. G. Mennen Williams might turn into a personality battle, splitting the party and endangering the party's chances of defeating the Republican candidate in November.

Williams, the person most concerned with the mayor's announcement, refused to comment until after he had a chance to hear what Cavanagh had to say.

Neil Staebler, the state's national committeeman, expressed the most chagrin at Cavanagh's announcement. He warned that the heat of the primary could distract Democrats from the job of beating the Republican candidate.

"The greatest danger in a campaign like this is that people get so entranced by the excitement of a primary they forget to do the final groundwork for the final campaign," Staebler said.

TO STAY OUT

With both men in the race, he said he would stay out of the primary battle, although last week he openly urged Cavanagh to stay out of the Senate race.

Zolton Ferency, Michigan's state central committee chairman, also was bothered by Cavanagh's announcement, although he was more optimistic.

"Cavanagh's candidacy for the nomination on the Democratic ticket may in fact be beneficial to the Democratic party," he said.

But Ferency expressed concern that the campaign might turn into a personality battle. "Presumably they will use their time to discuss the issues," he said. "If the campaign deteriorates into a personal assault then it could be detrimental."

He added, however, "I do not think they will do anything to damage the Democratic party's chances in November."

Detroit Mayor Makes Official Announcement

Faces Uphill Fight to Get Dem Bid Over Ex-Gov. Williams

DETROIT (AP) — Declaring "there is a new generation of political leadership in this nation," Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh made it official today: he will seek the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

Cavanagh, 37, will face six-time former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, 55, in a primary battle that many feel could split the party down the middle and cost it the election in November.

The dark-haired mayor, who says he is a politician in a hurry and has risen in five years to become one of the brightest stars on the national Democratic horizon, faces an uphill fight to win the nomination Aug. 2.

Most of organized labor in this industrial state has pledged to support Williams.

★ ★ ★

"There is a new generation of political leadership in this nation," Cavanagh told a news conference jammed for his anticlimactic announcement. He added:

★ ★ ★

"This new generation believes in fiscal integrity as well as social welfare programs, and that both business and labor must prosper for the nation to prosper."

PAYLESS PAYDAYS

Thus Cavanagh raised the prospect he might blame Williams for so-called payless paydays in the late 1950s. Democratic politicians to a man heretofore have blamed them on refusal of Republican-dominated Legislatures to raise funds sufficient to cover their appropriations.

★ ★ ★

The winner most likely will meet Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., in the November general election for the seat being relinquished by 71-year-old Democratic Patrick V. McNamara.

Monday will begin another week of impressive Pontiac Press stories. Don't miss the:

ry Zins, Royal Oak freshman, the OCC students have turned the project into a campus-wide competition.

Stier's wife, Barbara, who lives with her two small children at 716 Hamlet, Pontiac Township, has been aiding the Oakland task force in facilitating communication between the students and her husband.

OU students have set up a dozen collection depots scattered around the campus. Daily pickups are made by members of Circle K, a student service organization.

SORTING, PACKING

The Women's Service Organization is handling sorting and packing operations.

All material and supplies are packed into 42-pound boxes, which are then carried to the post office in University trucks. From there they are shipped to California, and from then on the military handles the transporting.

Although the campaign officially got under way only yesterday, more than $1,500 worth of material has already been collected. Included in this are a number of contributions from area business firms.

High on the list of necessities being sought for Thang Binh Lifeline are lightweight children's clothes, nonperishable foodstuffs, soap, cotton yardage, writing paper and pencils.

FIRST WORD

Stier, who turned 24 on Feb. 24, received the first word that his alma mater had taken up his cause on his birthday.

Said he, in a letter to his wife, "It's the finest birthday present I've ever had."

2,850 Out of Work at Chrysler Plant

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI) — Some 2,850 employes of the Chrysler plant here were out of work yesterday after being sent home for the day following a dispute over the suspension of a union steward.

Officials said the 350-man afternoon shift in the metal finishing department of the plant refused to report for work yesterday afternoon because of the suspension.

As a result, officials sent the remaining 2,500 workers home. Plant officials said they expected to have the matter settled by Monday.

Firm Cancels Price Boost on Cigarettes

NEW YORK (AP) — One major cigarette manufacturer has canceled its price increase under White House pressure to hold the line against inflation. Other tobacco companies were reported to be studying their recent price boosts today.

"This is good news to all who oppose inflation," said the White House of Friday's move by the R.J. Reynolds Co.

* * *

Reynolds raised its wholesale prices Tuesday by 40 cents a thousand cigarettes. The company notified dealers Friday that it was restoring the price of Camels to $8.80 per thousand, less a 2 per cent cash discount. List prices for Winston, Salem, Brandon, Tempo and Cavalier reverted to $9 a thousand, less the 2 per cent cash discount.

Reynolds said the rollback was "in accordance with the urgent request of the President of the United States and in cooperation with his effort to avoid consumer price increases at this time."

The company declined to say just how President Johnson had convinced it to cancel the price rise.

American Tobacco was down $2.38 at $36.88, Lorillard $2 at $48.75 and Liggett & Myers $2.63 at $71.25.

Family Terrorized, Man Is Shot Before Bandit Dies in Getaway

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Police said a fleeing gunman's chance selection of a hiding place led to four hours of terror for the Marvin Keeler afmily, and death for the gunman, Friday night.

Police said they fatally shot Harvey LeRoy Baker, 33, after he held three members of the Keeler family hostage in their home, led officers on a wild chase through downtown Eugene and wounded a passerby.

* * *

Baker, also known as David LeRoy Lathman, died in Sacred Heart Hospital of head wounds.

Police said identification papers found on the man showed both Modesto, Calif., and Salem, Ore., as home towns.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS

The wounded passerby, Milton Seligman, 29, Eugene, was shot just above the collarbone and was reported progressing satisfactorily.

The wild spree started late in the afternoon when a gunman attempted to hold up the One O'Clock Market. A police officer accosted the fleeing man, and shots were exchanged.

The man ducked into the Keeler home. Police, armed with shotguns and machine guns, surrounded the house.

After about three hours, the robber demanded a get-away car and got it. He herded Mr. and Mrs. Keeler into the car. A son, Martin, was left behind.

SAT IN BACK

Keeler drove. The gunman and Mrs. Keeler sat in the back. "It was a wild drive for quite a bit. He had my husband stop once to tell him that he was going to start shooting into the crowd if they didn't stop following us," Mrs. Keeler told newsmen.

The gunman fired then, and hit Seligman.

Lt. Dale Allen, a detective, said it was then that "we knew we had to take him."

Mrs. Keeler said that at this point, "I grabbed his gun, then my husband got in the back seat to help."

As the officers converged, a shot rang out and Baker slumped over.

The fatal shot was fired by Lt. Pat Larion, who had dashed up from another police car, officers said.

30 Die in Egypt Plane Crash

CAIRO (AP)—A United Arab Airlines plane, en route here from Cyprus with 25 passengers and a crew of five, crashed and burned in a raging desert sandstorm last night.

Rescue workers guided by flames to the site about 10 miles north of Cairo reported no survivors were found.

An eyewitness said the fire had almost burned out when the rescuers reached the wreckage.

The tail of the aircraft was severed from the fuselage, which lay some 500 feet away.

* * *

LAST DISASTER

The accident was Cairo's first air disaster since the crash last May of a Pakistani International Airlines Boeing 720 that killed 121.

The UAA plane was a twin-engine Soviet-made turboprop Antonev on a regular round-trip flight between Cairo and Nicosia, Cyprus.

3 Former Nazi SS Men Sentenced to Prison

HECHINGEN, Germany (UPI) — A West German tribunal sentenced three former Nazi SS men yesterday to prison terms ranging from 10 to 13 years for complicity in the killing of concentration camp inmates during World War II.

Johann Hofmann, 59, was sentenced to 13 years; Stefan Kruth, 48, to 12 years; and Helmut Schnabel to 10 years. A fourth defendant was acquitted.

Yanks Find Little Action on Ground

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. Air Force B52 bombers hit the Ashau Special Forces camp that fell to North Vietnamese forces last week, a military spokesman announced today.

The strike last night by the giant eight-engine bombers from Guam was ordered after intelligence indicated that all the Americans originally in the camp now are accounted for and the Vietnamese support troops who survived a regimental assault had been extricated.

* * *

The Northern regulars hit the camp from all sides and smothered it March 10. Only a tremendous effort by Marine and Air Force helicopter units saved a majority of the men from annihilation.

The Communist troops from the North spent the next several days building new fortifications which have been blasted several times by American air strikes.

FINAL CRUNCH

The B52s put the final crunch on the area. There was no evaluation of results and an Air Force officer said it was reasonable to presume the enemy forces had withdrawn, probably across the border into Laos.

* * *

Ground action against the Viet Cong produced only slight contact today. The 25th Division probing about 30 miles southwest of Saigon closed out Operation Honolulu in which U. S. troops chased the Communists out of an old stronghold, killed 49 and captured 13 Viet Cong.

* * *

A company of U. S. Marines got into a firefight during the night at Bich Nam, eight miles south of Da Nang where the Viet Cong have laid many ambushes in the past. The Leathernecks suffered moderate casualties from heavy mortar fire and lost a helicopter called in to fly the wounded out.

Two more companies of Marines came to the rescue and superior fire power forced the Viet Cong to withdraw.

* * *

The aerial attack took precedence Friday both in South and North Viet Nam. One of the heaviest assaults on fortified Viet Cong positions about 55 miles northwest of Nha Trang was prompted by information found on the body of an enemy company commander several days ago.

Voter Deadline Monday in City

Residents have until 8 p.m. Monday to register to vote in the April 18 general election, according to City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley.

Seven City Commissioners and two municipal court judges are to be elected in the April vote. The two incumbent judges are unopposed for reelection.

* * *

Fourteen candidates, including seven incumbents, seek two-year commission terms.

Avon Taxes to Be Aired

Avon Township taxpayers will meet at noon tomorrow at Avondale High School to discuss what they call "an unfair tax increase."

Robert Thor, Avondale fireman, said a committee will be set up to hire a lawyer to approach the Township Board regarding the tax situation.

* * *

He claims the residents are being taxed unfairly and said they "want something done about it."

DONALD E. ADAMS

Probate Judge Seeks 3rd Term

Affidavit Is Filed by Long-Time Jurist, 53

Senior Probate Judge Donald E. Adams will seek reelection this fall.

The 53-year-old jurist yesterday filed his affidavit of candidacy to succeed himself for a six-year term.

Under the 1963 constitution an elected incumbent judge can become a candidate for reelection merely by filing a declaration of intent with the county clerk at least 120 days before the primary. Petitions were required in the past.

A probate judge since 1960, Adams has served two terms, a two-year and a four-year.

* * *

MEMBERSHIPS

Adams is a member of the Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board, the executive committee for Camp Oakland, and on the board of directors of both the Pontiac and Waterford boys' clubs.

He is currently Oakland County chairman of the educational crusade of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

A practicing attorney since 1936 when he received his law degree from the University of Michigan, Adams served two terms as commissioner of the State Bar Association from the 18th District.

* * *

He served as an officer in the Naval Reserve during World War II and until recently was in charge of the Pontiac branch of the Reserve Officers School.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR

Following the war he was appointed state public administrator for the county, a position requiring the handling of estates of those who died with heirs and such other probate matters assigned by the judge of probate.

In addition to the six-year term which Adams is seeking, there will be an election for a third probate judge to serve an initial eight-year term.

The Legislature authorized the addition of the third judge, and the position was approved by the Board of Supervisors last year.

* * *

The second probate judge, Norman R. Barnard, does not have to seek reelection until 1970 when his term expires.

Detroit Man Is Convicted as Perjurer

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon found a Detroit man guilty of committing perjury when he testified before the grand jury.

* * *

Convicted was Solomon Brown, 52, of 19975 Wyoming. His trial lasted four days.

Judge James S. Thorburn will sentence Brown April 14.

Brown and Clemon Wynn Jr., 35, also of Detroit, were charged with perjury after appearing before grand juror, Circuit Judge Philip Pratt. Both were accused of lying under oath last September.

* * *

Wynn was found guilty by a jury in January and sentenced to 5-15 years in the state prison.

NUMBERS RAIDS

Brown was convicted of falsely swearing he had not bribed a Royal Oak Township policeman to tip him off about raids planned on numbers establishments.

* * *

The officer was working undercover for state police.

Urges Hitting China N-Sites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Madame Chiang Kai-Shek said yesterday that conventional bombs should be used against Communist China's nuclear installations.

In her speech and in answer to questions, the 67-year-old first lady of Nationalist China stressed that any settlement of the Viet Nam war that is favorable to Hanoi would only benefit Communist China, and would not serve the interests of the Soviet Union.

She said it is the design of the Chinese Communists to embroil the Soviet Union in a general war so that Peking would come out the real victor.

Madame Chiang, speaking faultless English, reaffirmed that "we shall return" to the China mainland "and we won't need any of your doughboys to do that."

WHY NO AID?

She was asked why Nationalist China has not given military support to South Viet Nam.

"You should ask your government and the Viet Nam government who has not asked us for military support," she replied.

Madame Chiang predicted that the successors to Mao Tze-tung will follow an even harder line than the present aggressive Chinese Communist leadership.

* * *

"The inheritor must in every way prove more aggressive and more worthy to be deserving of the inheritance by out-Maoing Mao, especially with 49 other possibles gloating watchfully in the wings to pounce on any sign of weakness and every Communist mistake," she said.

Referring to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings on China, she said it is reported that an outgrowth of the inquiry will be "a supposedly spanking new policy toward the Red Chinese—containment but not isolation."

Antidelinquency Group Reports to Civic Leaders

BIRMINGHAM — The Youth Assistance Committee brought its purposes, activities and needs to the attention of close to 100 community leaders last week.

The committee, organized three years ago as a protective services group to help troubled youngsters before they reach the court, conducted a program, "The Birmingham You Never See."

Consisting of 25 volunteers representing service and community groups, the committee uses local resources to prevent delinquency.

One of the most vital groups working under the auspices of the committee is a case study committee consisting of a case worker from Oakland County, a pediatrician, a psychiatrist, a lawyer and other volunteer professionals.

* * *

The committee reviews cases recommended by the schools, police, churches and private sources and works with the child and family to solve the problem.

SEPARATE ENTITY

The Teen Center, now a separate entity, was once a Youth Assistance subcommittee project.

"Each community through an organization such as this can determine the levels of behavior of its children," said Oakland County Probate Judge Donald E. Adams at a recent meeting.

The case study committee of the group handled 47 cases in 1965. The 1966 figure has already surpassed that number.

The Red Cross senior lifesaving class, sponsored by the Recreation Board, will begin Monday at Derby Junior High School.

Classes will be held each Monday from 7-9 p.m. through May. Boys and girls who will be 16 years of age by June 1 are eligible for the course.

Little Judy's Condition Dips

Catches Pneumonia, Now Listed as Fair

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Tiny Judy Lynn Funsch, 5, was reported holding her own today in a battle to survive a five-hour heart operation — but the frail child has developed pneumonia.

Doctors at University of Michigan hospital revised their description of Judy's general condition from "good" down to fair."

* * *

"For a while she was doing quite well," said the girl's mother, Mrs. Clarence Funsch of Genesee Township, near Flint, Mich. "But now I'm worried all over again.

"Before the operation, I was prepared for the worst. Then she seemed to be getting better. I don't know if I could take it now."

18th TIME

Judy's mother said this was the 18th time the 28-pound child has had pneumonia.

The pretty little brown-eyed blonde was born with an obstruction blocking a pulmonary vein bringing oxygenated blood from the right lung to the heart.

* * *

In delicate surgery nine days ago, the obstruction was removed. But doctors found that Judy's left lung was not functioning—and never will — because the pulmonary vein was missing on that side.

For the first few days after the operation, Judy appeared on the road to recovery. Her color improved, her temperature dropped to normal and she was taken off intravenous feeding.

INTENSIVE CARE

The youngster was moved from the recovery room, where a doctor had been at her bedside around the clock, to the cardiac intensive care unit, which has special duty nurses.

"She even had a hamburger with french fries and catsup one time, watched 'Batman' on TV and played with her coloring book," recalled Mrs. Funsch.

* * *

Her hand shaking as she lit a cigarette, the mother said:

"Judy's temperature has gone up to 101, and she looks much worse. Her face is a pasty gray color, and her eyes are sunken and have dark circles around them. She seems to be tired all the time."

LETTERS, TELEGRAMS

Letters and telegrams continue to arrive by the hundreds at the hospital daily, from as far away as Greece.

* * *

Most of the senders wish Judy a speedy recovery and a normal, happy life. Some have mailed dolls, stuffed animals and Catholic medals and rosaries.

Rouge Overcomes Inspired Shrine; Ferndale Records Upset

Panthers Rally for 77-71 Win Over Knights

Royal Oak Team Led by Eight; Chudy's 29 Paces Loser

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LANSING — If championships were won on inspiration and courage alone, Royal Oak Shrine would be sitting on top of the class B throne today.

Instead, the scrappy Knights of coach Marty Foley faltered temporarily in their final stanza after leading at 2:13 in the third quarter by eight points, and lost the final decision to perennial champion River Rouge, 77-71.

The jam-packed crowd exceeding 2,300 in Lansing Everett's gym smelled an upset and made the Knights their sentimental favorites.

CLASSY SHOOTER

Rouge, led by classy Frank Price with 30 points, bucketed 31 of 36 free throws with little guard Bennie Benford hitting a perfect 15 of 15.

★ ★ ★

From the opening tipoff it was Rouge which was forced to come back after Shrine set the pace with Rick Chudy hitting key buckets in his 29 point effort.

When the first quarter ended Shrine led 16-15 and at halftime the prowling Panthers moved ahead 38-34.

Shrine came out in the third quarter with as much determination as when the game started and grabbed the lead 44-43 at 4:40 on a bucket by Chudy.

The Knights capitalized on a floor violation and two stolen balls and with the crowd screaming in scent of an upset, the Panthers called time out as Shrine went ahead 54-46.

★ ★ ★

Coach Lofton Green's pep talk apparently had some affect as Price hit two crucial buckets and Benford's deadly free throws helped the Panthers to 10 straight points and a 56-54 lead.

FINISH AT HAND

Shrine tied it again but Price's range was uncanny at this stage and when the third quarter ended with Rouge ahead 58-57, it was the beginning of the end for the Knights from Oakland County.

Rouge outscored Shrine 10 to 2 and 18 to 3 in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter and although the Knights connected on 26 field goals, three more than the defending champs, the 16 point deficit was too much to overcome.

Rouge hit 40 per cent on 23 of 58 shots while Shrine had 36 per cent on 26 of 71. Shrine had been going along with a shooting clip of nearly 50 per cent prior to the fourth quarter, when the Knights then made only five of 21 shots.

In the other class B game, Grand Rapids East Christian took an early lead and then had to come back to defeat Ishpeming 54-49 and become Rouge's opponent in the finals this morning.

Unbeaten Fives Duel in 'D' Tilt

By the Associated Press

A pair of unbeaten teams vying for the Michigan Class D basketball championship highlight the final day of action in the 41st annual tournament today.

Defending champion Covert and Trout Creek, one of two Upper Peninsula teams to reach the finals, will match their 25-0 records in the Class D finale.

Covert marched to its 47th consecutive win by dumping Freesoil 88-70, last night while Trout Creek disposed of Flint St. Mary 69-54.

UNRANKED TEAMS

Two unranked teams were to battle it out for the Class C championship. Flint Holy Redeemer qualified by upsetting sixth-ranked Middleville 79-74 while L'Anse bested Scottville 70-64 in the night's only overtime attraction.

Maurice Armstrong was the big gun for Covert, getting 20 of his 26 points in the first half as Covert took a 40-30 halftime lead. Stephen Papes had 26 for Freesoil.

★ ★ ★

Don Reid scored 35 points in a losing cause for Flint St. Mary. Bob Gale topped the well-balanced Trout Creek attack with 24 points.

Deane Kent of L'Anse tied the score at 60-60 with a basket with 1:28 remaining in regulation time to send the tilt with Scottville into overtime.

Bob Frederikson then scored four of his 20 game points in the extra session to spearhead the victory. George Hankwitz had 20 for Scottville.

Middleville closed to within two points with 10 seconds to go but never got closer as Flint Holy Redeemer prevailed.

Big Comeback Brings Eagles 63-62 Triumph

Top-Rated E. Detroit Toppled; Ann Arbor 5 Also in Finale

By the Associated Press

Class A will be a real classy championship game in the State High School Basketball Tourney tonight.

It will be Ferndale against Ann Arbor, with identical 19-3 records.

★ ★ ★

It was the Ferndale Eagles who provided the major thrill of Friday night's semifinals.

You could describe it as a "barn-burner. . . heart - stopper . . .thriller. . ."—you pick your own adjective.

Ferndale, after being consistently 10 points behind, pulled it out in the last seconds to whip East Detroit, 63-62.

The Shamrocks were top-ranked and undefeated going into the game.

"Beat them. . . beat them. . ." urged the cheer leader of the Jolly Green Giants.

But Ferndale was deadly at the free throw line, hitting 17 of 23 and 14 in a row in the gift shots.

POOR THROW

High Scorer Dwight Dunlap, a 24-pointer, was a hero who nearly threw the game away by throwing the ball out of bounds after an East Detroit basket.

Dunlap scored what was to be the winning basket with 13 seconds left on the clock. Then he let the ball go off the court.

Ron Binge, high scorer for East Detroit with his 22 points, had a shot at the bucket with two seconds left. The ball rimmed the basket, spun there seemingly endlessly and finally dribbled off the edge after the buzzer.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, the Shamrocks looked well in control from a 17-15 first-quarter lead to 35-25 at the half. They were controlling the ball and setting up shots at will.

The 10-point margin continued to 46-36 and 50-40 before the Eagles started moving in. Dave Jensen hit one of those payoff free throws to tie it at 58-58 with 2:14 left. On the second free throw try he missed, but grabbed the ball on the rebound and swished it in to make it Ferndale 60-58.

HIGH SCORER

Ann Arbor stuck with an attack plan of feeding the ball to agile, often-shooting Earle Higgins and saw it pay off for the 64-59 win over Grand Rapids Catholic.

Higgins made 28 points before he went out on fouls with 1:32 left in the game. He took 37 shots, connecting for 13 buckets.

Bob Sherwood, high man for the losers, also had 28 points, hitting 12 of only 19 tries.

Higgins also did some agile work at the boards, grabbing rebounds to put his Pioneers in position to overcome a deficit at one point was as much as eight points.

The Ann Arbor surge was all in the final quarter, as the winners outscored the losers there 21-12.

Jerry Rush Signs, Will Play Offense

Fleet Amos Marsh and big Jerry Rush became the first two players to sign their 1966 contracts with the Detroit Lions.

The 220 pound Marsh was acquired from Dallas last Sept. 9 prior to the start of the regular NFL campaign. He scored eight touchdowns including one of 62 yards against the Baltimore Colts, longest scoring run in the league. His 495 yards from scrimmage was tops for the Lions.

As Marsh, 27, heads into his sixth season his five-year total at Dallas and Detroit stands at 2,560 yards rushing, 1,561 yards on kickoff returns and 1,170 yards as a pass catcher.

Rush, second-year lineman from Michigan State, was used as a defensive tackle last season but will be groomed for offensive line duty when training camp opens in July.

"Jerry is too valuable to play behind Alex Karras and Roger Brown on defense," Coach Harry Gilmer explains. "We plan to give him a strong shot at an offensive tackle position."

Rush likes the proposed shift. "I let myself get too heavy last year," he says. "I was up over 280. I'm 270 now and plan to hit camp at less than 265. I played a lot of offense at MSU. I'm positive I can play it as a pro."

The Pontiac Central product, now 22, will challenge 255-pound Roger Shoals, acquired last year from the Cleveland Browns, for a job in the offensive line.

Mets Trim 13 From Roster

Diamond Crews Drop Excess Weight

By United Press International

Spring training is the best time for a baseball player to knock off some excess weight.

Of course, the player always runs the risk of being knocked off himself if he becomes excess weight on the roster.

The wholesale hatchetings began in earnest Friday as the New York Mets lopped off 13 players and the Pittsburgh Pirates hacked six nonentities from the roster.

Although the cuts have begun mildly enough with only unfamiliar names being crossed off the osters, the borderline veterans might have cause to start worrying.

In exhibition games Friday, the Kansas City Athletics lost to the Houston Astros 6-3, ending a five - game winning streak.

Jim Hickman led the Mets to an 8-7 triumph over St. Louis.

Cleveland defeated the San Francisco Giants 6-2. Home runs by 38-year-old Joe Adcock, Tom Egan and Rick Reichardt helped the California Angels whip the Chicago Cubs 10-1.

The Chicago White Sox took advantage of a Washington error in the seventh inning to score five runs, four unearned, and beat the Senators 5-0.

Tony Cloninger, Hank Fischer and Jim Britton combined to pitch a two-hitter for Milwaukee as the Braves beat the New York Yankees 7-0.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Cincinnati Reds 8-7, and Boog Powell's third homer in two days to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 9-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.
