Concern Mounting for Isolated Miner

HAZLETON, Pa. (P)—An aura of grave uncertainty about the fate of Louis Bova hung over the rescue operations today as drilling started on a new escape hole for the three trapped miners.

JFK Disputes Teller

Top Scientist Backs Pact

WASHINGTON (P)—The Defense Department's top scientist testified today the Soviets could not gain any substantial advantage under the limited nuclear test ban treaty even if they "cheat to the maximum extent possible."

Dr. Harold Brown, defense director of research and engineering, added that if the treaty is fully observed, U.S. nuclear superiority over the Russians actually will improve.

Brown took issue with the views expressed yesterday by Dr. Edward Teller, Air Force nuclear consultant, who said ratification of the treaty would be "a dreadful and tragic mistake."

Brown told senators considering the treaty: "Having satisfied myself as completely as is humanly possible that the proposed treaty cannot substantially impair our strategic superiority if we take the steps which we can to continue our nuclear developments and remain prepared, and that indeed it could enhance our strategic superiority compared with unlimited testing, I find the arguments for it on broader grounds persuasive and I fully support its ratification."

President Kennedy welcomed

late last night after David Fellin, 35, and Henry Throne, 25, who were trapped with Bova, reported they heard a shout from him and heard him tapping on the mine wall.

The question of whether they were mistaken was not put to Fellin or Throne. Rescue workers have said a major problem is keeping up the morale of men cramped in a tiny space 331 feet underground since Aug. 13.

Drilling of the first escape hole was called off last night at the 183-foot depth when Throne and Fellin reported the ceiling above them was cracking and they feared another cave-in.

It all had gone well in this attempt, it might have been possible to reach them by late tonight or early tomorrow.

Starting afresh means that it will be at least Saturday morning "and perhaps even three or four more days," said Nelson Stauffer, who heads the drilling work.

The escape hole is being bored 12 inches in diameter by a $200,000 drilling rig that stands 10 stories tall. It is capable of cutting a 48-inch hole through solid rock.

After the 12-inch hole is completed, the plan is to enlarge this to a 24-inch escapeway.

A 6-inch lifeline hole—successfully drilled last Sunday after the men had been all but given up for dead—is the only line of communication Throne and Fellin have with the outside world.

Through it come food, water, blankets, medical supplies and, even, at their request, small tools to help them dig in Bova's direction.

They have said Bova is farther down the mine shaft, separated from them by perhaps 25 feet of debris.

Two attempts have been made to bore a 6-inch hole in Bova's direction. The first failed. The drill bit of the second broke into an opening last night at about where Bova was thought to be.

Strike at Ford to Idle 27,000 at 20 Plants

Sterling Twp., Monroe and Dearborn Added to Closed-Down List

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill.

(P)—A strike of 3,750 production workers at the Ford Motor Co.'s stamping plant in Chicago Heights, a company spokesman says, will make idle some 27,000 workers in 20 plants by tomorrow night.

Layoffs are expected in plants in Monroe, Mich.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Cleveland, Ohio; and Dearborn, Mich. About 1,000 workers were laid off last night at the Sterling Township, Mich., plant, company said.

Earlier layoffs were made at plants in Dearborn, Ypsilanti, Livonia and Rawsonville, Mich.; Sharonville and Sandusky, Ohio, and Indianapolis.

Meanwhile, company and United Auto Workers officials resume negotiations today in an attempt to settle the strike, now in its sixth day. Little progress was reported in bargaining talks yesterday, officials reported.

The strike started last Friday when the workers walked out, protesting the company's failure to settle 74 grievances regarding health and safety conditions at the plant.

The strike already has idled some 11,000 workers. The company said layoffs at parts-producing plants are necessary to balance stocks in preparation for the reopening of assembly plants for 1964 model production.

Warm and Wet Forecaster Says

Sunshine and showers are forecast for the weekend by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Temperatures for the period will climb into the high 80s and drop to the low 60s. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and warm, the high hitting 88. Friday and Monday will be a little cooler.

The low reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 60. The 2 p.m. reading was 87.

Romney Picks 7 for Rights Unit

LANSING (P)—Gov. George Romney has announced seven appointments to Michigan's new civil rights commission.

Among those named was William T. Gossett of 420 Goodhue, Bloomfield Hills, former vice president and general counsel for Ford Motor Co. and currently a special consultant to President Kennedy on international trade.

The eight-member bipartisan commission, created by the new state constitution, will come into formal existence Jan. 1. Romney said he will appoint an eighth member early next month.

Named as cochairmen of the commission were John Feikens of Grosse Pointe Park and Damon Keith of Detroit.

Feikens, a Republican, is a Detroit attorney and former federal judge. Keith, a Democrat and also an attorney, is a member and former president of the Detroit Housing Commission and is chairman of the Civil Rights

Harmon Lays Groundwork for Revamp of City Tax

In a financial report presented at last night's City Commission meeting, Commissioner Charles H. Harmon laid groundwork for what he said will probably be the highest tax rate in Pontiac's history.

He echoed warnings from former City Manager Walter K. Willman and suspended City Manager Robert A. Stierer that the city should discontinue the use of unappropriated surplus to balance annual city budgets.

Harmon also suggested that measures should be taken in the future to realign tax collections and the budget year.

Currently, the City Charter prescribes a July tax collection to finance a Jan. 1-Dec. 31 budget, creating a tight cash position the first half of each calendar year.

An annual surplus was previously used to pay for operations during the January-July period each year.

For the last few years, a lack of surplus has forced the city to borrow in advance on taxes.

So far this year, the city has borrowed $2,266,000 from major taxpayers. The total levy proposed in June was about $4.4 million.

Harmon was commended for his financial survey by other commissioners, including William H. Taylor Jr. who added, "The commission has many times."

Harmon said the city's present cash crisis was the result of the city using surpluses to balance deficit budgets since the mid-1950's to keep the tax rate down.

"It might come to levying a year and a half of taxes in one year" to overcome the charter provision for a Jan. 1-Dec. 31 budget and a July tax collection.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry defended the commission against the charges and asserted that he personally was not engaged in any illegal activities.

Henry accused Soriall of "talking about things you don't know anything about."

Angry exchanges between Henry and Soriall were finally quelled by Mayor Pro Tem Winford E. Bottom, with catcalls and "boos" directed at Henry and cheers from the overflow crowd following Soriall's remarks.

"The basic principle involved here is that the manager obeys the commission and the police chief obeys the manager," Henry asserted in reference to the commission's recent suspension of City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

Commissioner Loy L. Ledford added, "We told Mr. Stierer that we wanted this city cleaned up and promised he'd have full backing from the commission."

Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. argued that "the police chief couldn't effectively carry out our recommendations because he was constantly plagued and bogged down by petty complaints from commissioners."

Constitution Invoked to Set Up Censorship State of Siege

From Our News Wires

SAIGON, South Viet Nam — President Ngo Dinh Diem imposed martial law throughout South Viet Nam today, and sent heavily armed soldiers and police in raids against his Buddhist opposition.

Diem invoked the constitution to establish an official state of siege, impose censorship and set up a 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew, backed by troops with orders to shoot to kill.

In Washington, the United States issued a statement denouncing in blunt terms what it called "serious repressive measures" by the Diem regime against the Buddhists. The State Department said the United States "deplores" the actions and said they were "in direct violation" of assurances by Diem's government that it was pursuing a policy of reconciliation.

Thousands of soldiers stormed the main Xa Loi Pagoda in Saigon, headquarters of the country's Buddhists who claim government discrimination against their religion, and arrested at least 100 monks.

Amid reports that a coup d'etat against the Diem regime was imminent, other troops and police raided the Tu Dam Pagoda in Hue, a city 400 miles north of Saigon where the trouble with the Buddhists began last May when government troops fired on a crowd of demonstrators and killed several.

HIT WITH STICKS

The government-controlled Viet Nam Press Agency said the troops in Hue "met with resistance in the form of stones and sharpened sticks." Nine government troops were reported injured there, five seriously.

Hue was reported "completely quiet" by 8 a.m. today.

Similar raids were carried out in Quang Tri, Quang Tin and Quang Nam, with what the government news agency said were "excellent results."

JFK Insists on 2 Key Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says his "very vital" civil rights and tax programs are so important to the nation that he would like to see them passed by Congress until 1969. He wants votes on both this year regardless of how long it takes.

"And I think most congressmen will agree that they should meet their responsibilities in these two fields before they go home," Kennedy told a news conference Tuesday.

In reply to a question, Kennedy said he saw no reason Congress couldn't be kept in session long enough to act on his civil rights and tax programs.

"What is the advantage of putting it over until next year? We have other problems. We have an election year. There is a good many excuses to year to get out of town," he said.

Congressional action is expected this year on civil rights. But Republican congressional leaders and some top Democrats have questioned whether there will be action this session on Kennedy's broad tax program.

And he described tax reduction

2,000 Russ Quif Cuba, Reports Say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some 2,000 Soviet military personnel, mostly combat troops, appear to have left Cuba in the last three months, sources with access to U.S. intelligence reported today.

President Kennedy told his news conference yesterday there had been "a decline" in the Soviet forces in Cuba in the past two and one-half months. But he did not give the number.

Kennedy said the U.S. military intelligence community believed the troops remaining were mainly concerned with training the Cuban armed forces rather than being "concentrated military units."

"But there are still Russians there," Kennedy said, "and this is still a matter of concern to us." Asked to estimate how many Soviet troops had been withdrawn, the President replied: "It is difficult for us to say precisely."

The administration has been reluctant to make public its estimates of Soviet troops in Cuba for these reasons: Different intelligence channels vary on how many troops have left and on how many were there in the place. Officials believe the Russians are likely to remove more troops if they can do so quietly.

It was variously estimated there were 21,000 or 22,000 Soviet military personnel in Cuba at the height of the October crisis.

Kennedy said previously that 5,000 left in November and, taking into account some new arrival, a net of some 4,000 left during March and April.

This would have left some 12,000-13,000 in late April. The departure of 2,000 more would leave 10,000-11,000 Soviet military personnel in Cuba.

However, most of the 2,000 recent departures were reported to have been combat troops. There have been 5,000 to 6,000 of these.

PEACH FOR THE MAYOR — Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit bites into a peach offered him by pretty Susan Pitt, 18, visitor from Hammond Lake and Rome's Peach Queen.

2 City Men Plead Guilty to Illegal Gaming Charges

Two Pontiac men, arrested in July for charges of failing to pay a federal wagering tax, yesterday pleaded guilty in Federal District Court in Detroit to charges of failing to pay a federal wagering tax.

Six others arrested in the raids, including Clavis Skelton, a member of the Pontiac Civic Improvement Advisory Committee (CIAC), will be arraigned at a later date.

Ray Powell, 822 1/2 Baldwin, and Robert Barnett, 312 N. Saginaw, entered their guilty pleas before Judge Frederick Kaess.

They face maximum sentences of one year in prison and, or, a $10,000 fine.

Each will be sentenced after the federal probation department prepares a presentence report and submits it to the court for study.

Powell, Barnett and Skelton were arrested along with five area men in six raids on what police described as a bookie operation that took in $1.5 million annually.

The U.S. district attorney's office said it may be two weeks to a month before the remaining six are arraigned.

Each will be informed, either through lawyers or personally, as to when to appear in court. A trial date would be set at that time if they pleaded innocent.

Skelton, 50, of 23 W. Colgate, has been a member of the CIAC since January 1961 when he was appointed by Mayor Pro Tem Winford Bottom. He was reappointed early this year by Bottom when the group organized.

He also serves on the CIAC community planning group subcommittee.

Skelton was arrested when federal agents, city and state police raided his bar, the Baldwin Rubber Tavern, 377 E. South Blvd.

Others arrested were Ellis C. Adler, 1916 Hopefield, Orton Township; William W. Brynman, 182 Strathmore; James Flynn, 3029 Avalon, Avon Township; Charles Thompson, 1825 Petrelia, Union Lake; and Steve S. Grapass, 3762 South Blvd.

Yugoslavs Hear Reds Lauded

Our Foes Will Come to Us--K

Belgrade, Yugoslavia (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev told Yugoslav workers today that the enemies of communism would one day want to live in Communist countries.

He also said the fact that the Soviet Union now is rated one of the two big powers in the world along with the United States was a good argument for the Communist system.

Khrushchev made his remarks in an hour-long speech during a visit to the motor plant at Rakovica outside Belgrade.

In his address and extemporaneous remarks, he hailed Yugoslav-Soviet ties and declared that the 1948 break between Belgrade and Moscow had accomplished nothing.

City Tax Rate Seen to Be Highest Ever

to finance that budget, Harmon said.

"The city had the tax base and extra millage available and didn't have to raise its cash position," Harmon explained.

He pointed out that covering budget deficits with surplus had gradually reduced the surplus to nothing.

Harmon's figures, supported by City Finance Director Marvin Alward, showed budget deficits for six of the last seven years ranging from $9,883 in 1966 to $412,630 in 1961. The budget was $350,915 in the red last year.

"This is not a sound fiscal policy," Harmon asserted. "We must meet the issue head-on."

"What we need is strong leadership, able to live within a budget and not tolerate running deficits. It will probably mean we'll have the highest tax rate in our history this year."

Harmon acknowledged that William had recommended he be gradually discontinued in his final budget recommendation before retiring in November 1961.

In recommending the 1962 city budget, William wrote: "This practice... is gradually reducing cash available for operation in the early months of our fiscal year."

William recommended that "a gradual reduction annually of the amount allocated (from surplus) should be in order."

Stierer, in proposing the 1963 budget, wrote: "As the City Commission has recognized, the use of surplus for budget balancing purposes should be discontinued as soon as feasible in the interests of sound fiscal procedures."

Stierer recommended a $100,000 per year reduction, rather than totally wiping it off the books, in order to avoid a sudden, drastic hike in tax rates.

Birmingham Area News 3 Sewers to Eliminate Area Basement Flooding

BIRMINGHAM — Basement flooding in three areas of the city is expected to be eliminated in the near future with the construction of relief sewers.

Planned to benefit hundreds of homeowners are the Ruffner, South Elton and Cummings drain projects.

Special assessments for each were confirmed Monday by the City Commission.

Construction bids now will be advertised, with work possibly beginning in six weeks.

Estimated costs are: South Elton, $151,000; Cummings, $90,000; and Ruffner, $5,100.

In each case, the city will assume 15 per cent of the assessments.

CITY'S SHARE

Since the city is responsible for all municipal owned areas and a large portion of Elton Park is in the South Elton Project, the city's share of the cost will be nearly $71,000.

Assessments against property owners are based on lot area.

The confirmation of the assessment rolls had been delayed two weeks to the administration could obtain two easements for the South Elton drain and a construction permit from the State Health Department for the Cummings project.

Until recently, it would have been impossible to obtain the health department permit because there was no large outside connection available to take the runoff from the areas. The 12 Town Drain will relieve this problem.

Two purchases for the new municipal golf course at 14-Mile Road and Cranbrook also were approved by the commission.

A bid, $3,000 less than engineers' estimates, for fencing around the golf course, was accepted from the Crown Fence and Supply Co.

The Detroit firm will install a six-foot high chain-link fence around the site at a cost of $13,535. The installation is expected to be completed before Sept. 30.

Jobless Drop Perils Grants

A continuing drop in unemployment in the metropolitan area might disqualify Oakland County for any more federal grants under the Accelerated Public Works Program.

Federal administrators of these funds have served notice here that if a brightening economy and job picture in the area prevails for another six months, they will discontinue awarding the grants in the metropolitan area.

So far, Oakland County has received $3.6 million in grants under the acceleration program, which was begun last year.

The county presently has requests pending in Washington for another $4 million under the program.

FIRST UNITS

Among these requests is one for $22.0 million toward construction of first units in a proposed Children's Village for Juvenile Court wards.

Other grants being sought here are for more public utilities to enable continued suburban growth and development.

The Accelerated Public Works Program was started by government to create new construction jobs in areas of high unemployment.

The metropolitan area here was one of many across the nation that qualified for grants in this respect.

Now statistics show that unemployment here has dropped from 11.1 per cent in 1961 to around 5 per cent this year.

The federal administrators have written DeLois Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors, that employment in the area remains the same or improves over the next six months, the grants will be cut off here.

In Detroit, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said this would cost the area about $23 million in federal funds for new construction.

Oakland County officials said it would have the effect of throwing a lot of people back out of work once present jobs are finished.

Most of these jobs in the county are in the construction of sewer, water, and drainage systems. It was made possible at this time by the federal grants.

$105,708 Renewal Bid OK'd

The Pontiac City Commission last night approved a $105,708 contract with the Ann Arbor Construction Co. for project improvements in R20, the city's first urban renewal project. It covers curb, gutter, concrete pavement, sidewalk, and storm drainage work in the central business district.

The work is slated for an area bounded by Auburn, Padgett, Osun and Parke.

Other business saw the commission adopt an amendment to the city traffic ordinance, which puts the city in line with state laws.

Two bids were received on a vehicle towing service. Adler's Wrecker Service of 1188 Baldwin bid $1.85 per tow plus 25 cents per mile, while Pontiac Towing Service of 64 N. East Blvd., bid 75 cents and 25 cents respectively. The bids will be studied.

Laziness Hits the Busy Bee

Performs Pollination While Gathering Food

WASHINGTON —The proverbial busy bee literally works it self to death, but it has a lazy streak, too.

Worker bees live only four to eight weeks after the honey gathering begins.

Buzzing tirelessly from flower to flower, they gradually wear their delicate wings to a frazzle.

Honeybees, however, will fly no farther for food than necessary, and they prefer the most easily obtainable pollen and nectar.

Given the choice, say, of white clover or alfalfa in the same field, the honeybee will choose clover. The alfalfa pollen is harder to reach.

Pollen preferences of honeybees are vital, because they handle more than 80 per cent of all the pollination done by insects. Without honeybees, many important plants would simply disappear.

About 50 cultivated plants in the United States require insect pollination, including alfalfa, sweet clover, watermelons, apples, and cucumbers. Pollinating insects are essential for seed development in carrots, radishes, turnips, cabbage, celery, and many other vegetables.

The honeybee is the pollinator par excellence. Its body is uniquely adapted to gather and carry the pollen and nectar it must have to survive.

A worker's seven-pronged mouth easily rakes up pollen. An energetic honeybee may bring 47 loads back to the hive in one day, and together, the bees of a really busy hive may collect two pounds of pollen a day.

A honeybee usually visits just the plants of one species on a foraging trip — nature's assurance that the pollen necessary for reproduction is sprinkled on the proper blossoms.

Utica Meeting to Climax Drive

Schools Campaigning for Finance Proposals

UTICA — A campaign to stimulate voter interest in Monday's special bonding and millage election climaxes with a public meeting tomorrow.

The informational meeting, set for 8 p.m. at Utica High School, is aimed especially at residents of the 22-Mile Road area.

Harold Coates, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee sponsoring the forum, said school board members and educators will be present to answer questions.

Coates said the committee goal is voter approval of two separate election proposals.

One seeks a $3-million bond issue for a new high school and additions to the existing high school and junior high.

The other asks for 3.5 mills for operation for five years.

SCALED DOWN

Both questions are similar to, but considerably scaled down from, special election proposals rejected by school district voters June 10.

Coates said voter interest still appears low, but he was hopeful the proposals will pass. "If we can only get out the parents of school children."

School Supt., Fred Atkinson reports 50 requests for absentee ballots: much higher than normal. He said approximately 16,000 are eligible to vote Monday. Only 3,100 turned out in June.

County Man Killed; Wife Hurt in Crash

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP

A Farmington Township man was killed and his wife seriously injured when their station wagon plowed into the rear of a dump truck, near Midland yesterday afternoon.

Robert E. Thompson, 32, of 2255 Middlebelt was dead on arrival at Midland Hospital. His wife, Jeanette, 38, was listed in fair condition this morning.

Their two daughters, Janice, 5, and Lois, 2, escaped injury in the accident.

The Thompson vehicle and the Midland County dump truck were both traveling east on U.S. 127 about a mile west of Midland according to Midland County sheriff's deputies.

The station wagon skidded more than 100 feet before slamming into the truck which had been slowed for a right turn onto the shoulder, police said.

Truck driver Lesly Rydman, 58, of Coleman, was treated and released from the hospital.

Hare Assumes Governorship

LANSING (UPI)—Secretary of State James M. Hare took over the reins of Michigan government today as acting governor.

The mantle of executive authority passed on to Hare when Gov. George Romney left yesterday afternoon for a European vacation.

Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski is attending the National Lieutenant Governors Conference in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Executive power, however, is now new experience to Hare.

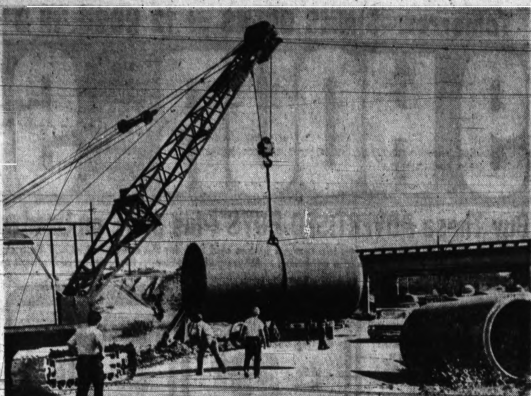

"I would say I have been acting governor of the state of Michigan for at least 200 days during the past three administrations," Hare said.

Hare said he didn't plan any special activities during the absence of his official superiors.

"I just let them know where they can find me in an emergency," he said. "I don't even get to use the official car."

Hare said he felt he would be able to hear up under the double burden of the two offices until Saturday when Lesinski returns to take over.

Lesinski will give the reins of power back to the Republicans when Romney and his wife Lenore return from Europe Aug. 21.

BRING WATER — These 72-inch water mains, being installed along Adams from South Boulevard to Square Lake Road, Troy, will eventually provide Detroit water to residents of Bloomfield Township. Presently slowing traffic on Adams, the construction is scheduled to be completed by the end of this year. The work is being done by Chris Nelson and Sons Co. of Royal Oak.

Wants Troy Police With Civil Service

TROY — The man who instigated a petition drive for reinstatement of ousted Police Chief David Grattop is now seeking civil service status for police and fire department employees.

William Whitcomb, of 3141 McClure, was seeking 3,000 signatures protesting the recent dismissal of Grattop by City Manager David E. Firestone.

Today he began a collection of 800 signatures, from 10 percent of the registered voters, so that an election would be required on the civil service issue.

Mrs. Whitcomb, speaking for her husband, said today a core of 20 persons have already begun circulating the petitions.

"We've retained a lawyer, and found out that we must turn the city in 21 days," she said.

A special election will be mandatory within 90 days after the city receives the petitions, according to Mrs. Whitcomb.

Car Hits Lad Riding Bike

TROY — A 12-year-old boy, knocked from his bicycle by a car yesterday, is listed in serious condition at William Beaumont Hospital with head and leg injuries.

He is Dean Sutherland, 3216 Groveland, Madison Heights. Police say the boy was struck on the roadway of 14-Mile Road, east of John R.

Motorist James Riley, 34, of 11651 Mitchell, Hamtramck, said he swerved but could not avoid hitting the boy.

Schools Head to Give Views

SCHOLAR REWARDED — Charles Cornell, 16, of 201 Granger, Orionville, has been awarded a one-year scholarship by the Michigan Jaycees. He plans to study engineering at the University of Michigan. The youth was valedictorian of Brandon High School's June graduating class.

Bridge Construction Causes M53 Detour

IMLAY CITY — Motorists heading north on M53 are advised they will be routed onto a short detour 2.5 miles south of here.

The State Highway Department says the detour is due to construction of a bridge over Hunter Creek.

The job is part of a $38,000 modernization project on the highway between Imlay City and Almont.

"We're doing this in the hope of protecting the rest of our capable police department," she added.

The former chief was fired earlier this month, after he refused to go along with a request that he resign, according to Firestone.

The city manager said Grattop lacked the ability to handle the 17-man department and failed especially in the administrative portion of the job.

Specifically, he charged that Grattop had not turned in a monthly report since January. Grattop countered that he did not have the staff necessary for the work.

Shortly after the chief's dismissal, a hearing was staged on the issue, and attended by some 300 persons.

Firestone and Grattop exchanged charges, but the commission wouldn't reconsider an earlier 5 to 2 vote of confidence it had given Firestone.

Clawson Seeks Park

TROY — City Commissioners have offered cooperation, but say they have made no commitments to Clawson officials dicker for a 26-acre park site in Troy.

One result of the recent dinner meeting held in Clawson, however, was that commissioners agreed to refer the matter to the Troy Planning Commission.

The Clawson proposal is to acquire park land in the southeast part of Troy between Livernois and Rochester, a quarter mile south of 15-Mile Road.

"The land is presently zoned residential, but the planning commission has been studying the possibility of industrial zoning," said Troy City Manager David Firestone.

He said the property is already surrounded by land designated for industry.

WHO'D USE PARK Another question raised during the informal meeting was whether Troy residents would be allowed to use the park. Firestone said Clawson officials indicated this is a possibility.

Clawson is looking for outside views on what the legislature should do to put into effect sections dealing with higher education, the primary school fund and others.

Brown said he hoped to have Highway Commissioner John Mackie and Aud. Gen. Billie Farnum testify before the committee later in the week on constitutional provisions affecting their departments.

Under the new document, their offices will become appointive instead of elective.

Brown's is one of three sub-committees studying implementation of the constitution. An over-all committee will review their findings and make recommendations to the special session of the legislature.

Grattop had not turned in a monthly report since January. Grattop countered that he did not have the staff necessary for the work.

Shortly after the chief's dismissal, a hearing was staged on the issue, and attended by some 300 persons.

Firestone and Grattop exchanged charges, but the commission wouldn't reconsider an earlier 5 to 2 vote of confidence it had given Firestone.

Back for the first time since 1957 will be a cooking school sponsored by the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. Three free park space because there is no suitable undeveloped land in its north side.

Troy School Board last week went on record against the park, fearing it would result in the loss of a potential good source of tax revenue.

Library Funded for Orion Twp

ORION TOWNSHIP — The federal government's Community Facilities Administration has approved a $51,000 grant for the proposed public library here, township officials learned today.

Work on the one-story building is scheduled to begin within 120 days and will provide 67 man-months of labor.

The township filed application for the grant in December 1962. Township Clerk Mrs. Margaret Stephan said today.

Plans call for a structure with 4,788 square feet of floor space, taken up by a work room, a meeting room and one large room for reading and book storage.

It is to be built on the old roller rink site, on the east side of Lapeer Road across from Buckhorn Lake.

Architect for the project is Louis G. Redstone of Detroit.

Area Residents OK Rezoning

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — Rezoning of a parcel of property on M59 has passed a referendum vote here.

Of the voters who appeared at the polls, 251 voted to uphold the Township Board's decision to change the property from agricultural to commercial. Another 209 voted against the proposition.

The property is located on the north side of M59 just east of Corey's service station. It is 1,320 feet long and 500 feet deep.

The four owners said they requested the change to make the property more appealing to prospective buyers.

Residents of the area began circulating referendum petitions immediately after the board's decision in February.

Launched by Parade

State Fair Begins Friday

The 114th annual State Fair will start in high gear Friday with a nearly three-mile-long parade.

Traveling from Jefferson to Vernor on Woodward in downtown Detroit will be more than 100 units, including bands, drill teams, floats and high-stepping horses.

Before the 8 p.m. parade a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 6 p.m. will mark the official opening of the gates, according to Walter A. Goodman, fair general manager. The fair will run through Sept. 2.

Hoping to top the 160,000 mark in attendance this year, fair officials are emphasizing the free events which annually draw spectators and participants from all over the state.

FREE SHOWS

Open without charge this year will be the shows which were held in the Coliseum in the past.

This year stars such as Duke Ellington, Les Elgart, Johnny Desmond and Dinah Washington will appear in the music shell and there will be no extra admission charge.

In the Coliseum, meanwhile, the horses and livestock will take over. There will be 12 horse shows plus livestock judging. These programs also will be free.

Also included for the general admission price are the grandstand shows featuring Grand Ole Opry stars; all the agricultural, industrial and home arts exhibits; strolling musicians in the picnic grove, old timers' grove and children's area; and television stars, the kiddie farm and puppet theater.

Senior citizens will receive special consideration on admission charges, being admitted free until 5 p.m. on the day they will be honored, Aug. 28.

Back for the first time since 1957 will be a cooking school sponsored by the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. Three free

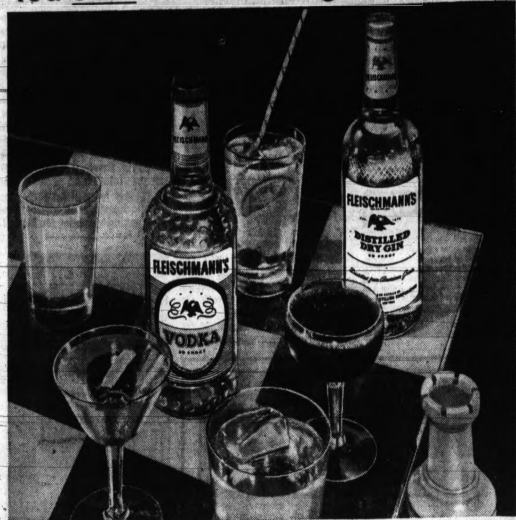

AREA NEWS

Cooking demonstrations will be held daily at the north end of the grandstand area.

Among the new features this year will be the teen-age fair, direct from Hollywood. This setup will cover about 10 acres of the grounds where more than 300 entertainment events and exhibits will be held.

Special day scheduled are grand day, Saturday; religion day, Sunday; beauty queens' day, Monday; children's day, Tuesday; old timers' day, Aug. 28; Ford centennial day, Aug. 29; teachers' day, Aug. 30; governor's day, Aug. 31; 250-mile race day, Sept. 1; and Labor Day, Sept. 2.

Viet Ambassador Embarrassed by Daughter

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Fate and politics have conspired to hand one of the most difficult and embarrassing roles in world diplomacy to Vietnamese Ambassador Tran Van Chuong.

His cultured, beautiful wife is the niece of three of the most powerful oriental emperors. Intellectual and regal she heads Viet Nam's representation to the United Nations, and except for the Russian veto of that nation's membership.

RUTH MONTGOMERY
ship would carry MONTGOMERY the title of ambassador.

Her daughter, Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, is the powerful, tart-tongued "first lady" of South Viet Nam, who has been conducting a headlined feud with Buddhism—the religion she forsook to become a Roman Catholic.

The ambassador himself is a polished, brilliant, highly educated lawyer who is so modest that he would probably win any contest as the "sweetest" envoy along embassy row.

Standing only 60 inches tall, his hands and feet of doll-like proportions, he is proving to be a pillar of strength for the embattled little country to which the U. S. has committed 14,000 American servicemen and a colossal $1,500,000-a-day.

Amassador Chuong and I sat chatting in the exquisitely furnished drawing room of the imposing Vietnamese embassy on Sheridan Circle.

It obviously pained him to speak of his famous daughter, who as the wife of President Ngo Dinh Diem's brother and closest adviser, acts as official first lady for the bachelor president.

His father's voice was her only official rebuke when Mme. Nhu recently shocked the world by referring to the suicide-by-fire deaths of protesting Buddhist monks as "a monk barbecue show."

Her father's voice was her only official rebuke when Mme. Nhu recently shocked the world by referring to the suicide-by-fire deaths of protesting Buddhist monks as "a monk barbecue show."

The son of a Mandarin who governed the most populous province of North Viet Nam, Ambasador Chuong studied in Algeria and France, receiving a doctorate of law in Paris.

His marriage to the beautiful daughter of Princess Nhu Phien, sister of the three successive Vietnamese emperors, was arranged by their parents in time-honored Oriental fashion, but Chuong said he did not arrange his own daughter's marriage to Ngo Dinh Nhu.

"It is a different generation," he smiled. "They are much freer nowadays."

Although the ambassador's wife is an extremely devout Buddhist who recently presided over an annual Buddhist conclave here, and he is a Confucian, their outspoken daughter enthusiastically embraced the Roman Catholic religion of her husband's family.

The soft-spoken ambassador does not attempt to rationalize his daughter's ferocious verbal attacks on "fanatical" Buddhists, but says: "In our home we always had Buddhist monks for all ceremonies and funerals. Buddhists are not in the least fanatical. It is a very tolerant religion."

SUCCESSFUL LAWYER

The future ambassador was a highly successful lawyer in Hanoi when Communists overran North Viet Nam in September 1945, selling his mansion and law office. Eighteen months elapsed before he and his wife could escape to South Viet Nam.

"That experience enriched me for the rest of my life," Chuong said simply. "It gave me an understanding of what it means to live under communism. After that experience, I can be cheerful for the rest of my life, because I have learned the full value of freedom."

Musing, he continued: "I should like for all American leaders—all leaders everywhere—to have that experience for a few weeks. When you have not tasted the lack of freedom, you simply cannot understand the value of preserving it at all costs."

In a dinner toast the other evening to Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., newly appointed U. S. Ambassador to Viet Nam, the ambassador said:

"The free world has already lost North Viet Nam to an enemy who never had one tank, one ship, one plane. It has been transformed into a Communist base for further conquest by both the Soviet Union and Red China. It would be unpardonable to lose South Viet Nam to the same enemy."

He then praised Lodge as a soldier-diplomat-statesman who has the 'energy, experience, insight, vision and wisdom' to help Viet Nam meet the crisis of Communist attack.

The diminutive ambassador who had previously served his country as foreign minister, deputy premier, and supreme court judge, is often called on nowadays to act as dean of Washington's diplomatic corps.

After nine years here, he ranks fifth highest in the 107-man corps.

Since the popular envoy has obviously been deeply embarrassed by his daughter's well-publicized distastes, I asked: "Did you ever spank her as a child, when she was naughty?"

He smiled and shrugged: "Maybe a little, perhaps, but I'm afraid that we spoiled our children. It is much the same as with American families, you know." The Chuongs also have another daughter in Washington and a son, who is a lawyer in Viet Nam.

Does he see hope for his embattled homeland, where 48 American servicemen have already lost their lives? The ambassador lifted his tiny hands expressively and replied:

"I strongly believe that South Viet Nam must be kept free from communism or all of Asia will fall; and it will be saved with the determined help of the United States."

Pilot Project Provides Aid for Able Mental Defectives

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A strong awareness of time pervades a white-brick mansion which is the home of nine teenage girls engaged in a unique experiment.

With their first earnings, they bought watches, symbols of personal responsibility.

"I learn how to leave the house on time. That is very important," one girl wrote.

Such an accomplishment may not seem remarkable for girls of 17 and 18. But, while these girls are mature physically, their mental growth has stopped at 10 and 11. They are officially certified as mental defectives and have been institutionalized, on the average, for three years.

They comprise the second group to participate in a workstudy pilot project being conducted through the Syracuse State School for Mental Defectives.

Participants are selected from the 275 female patients at the state school on the basis of age, comparatively high level of intelligence—average IQ 66—and emotional stability.

Dr. Jacob Schneider, director of the state school, said the project's purpose is "to prove we can get such girls out of the rut of domestic work, which has been the traditional outlet for them."

If the project proves successful, he said, it may be expanded to other communities, and such homes may be opened for young men.

Of the first group of six women, aged 19 to 27, five have been discharged and one continues under school supervision while employed in a cafeteria in her home community.

Of the five who were discharged two work in a cafeteria at Syracuse University, two are employed in hospital work here and one was a seamstress in a downtown department store until her recent marriage. All were placed in the jobs through the school.

Of the girls now at the home, two are department store stock girls, two are employed in a hospital, one works in a laundry and four work in a private workshop for the handicapped.

The girls have a strong desire to succeed—to "be accepted and to be like everyone else," Schneider said.

Since the school year ended, the girls have worked full-time. Before that, they spent half of the work day on the job and the other half at the home. There, they received instructions in the basic subjects and in abilities needed on the job and in day-to-day living, such as making change, reading bus schedules, paying income taxes, banking and budgeting.

Part of their earnings go to pay room and board at the home—$15 to $10 a week, depending on earnings—and to buy clothes and other essentials. They are encouraged to bank the remainder.

To encourage self-reliance, the girls are permitted to go home by themselves on weekends, and to go shopping unaccompanied. They go as a group to movies and restaurants.

They are not permitted to date, however.

Police to Auction Unclaimed Items in East Lansing

EAST LANSING (AP) — Bargain hunters will have a lot to look over when state police hold their annual sale of unclaimed and confiscated merchandise tomorrow at the East Lansing headquarters.

More than 1,500 items will be auctioned off. A similar auction netted $2,882 for the State Treasury last year.

Major items will include 33 bicycles, two aluminum boats, two outboard motors, television sets, record players, a vacuum cleaner, a typewriter and an adding machine.

Other articles will include rings, watches, cameras, radios, car accessories, clothing, tools and hunting and sporting equipment.

City Commission Inconsistent

In the April 1962 city election, candidates LOY L. LEDFORD, DYCK M. KIRBY and WINFORD E. BOTTOM harped on two points:

- 1—The City was abandoning its traditional "pay-as-you-go" financing of improvements under the commission majority led by residents of the West Side of the City; and
- 2—The majority of the appointments to civic boards and committees were residents of the West Side of the City.

ture which promoted Bottom, Kirby and Ledford. The literature was in two parts: a folksy letter featuring pictures of the families of the candidates, and a broadside about urban renewal and appointments.

The City Commission will stand on its record at the next election, says Mayor ROBERT A. LANDRY. The appointments and fiscal policy noted above are part of that record.

Congress Needs Strong Leaders

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—Democrats have run Congress since 1955 but they paid a lot more attention to business under President Dwight D. Eisenhower than they are doing under President Kennedy.

The present Congress, which some people think may be here until Christmas, probably is the greatest do-nothing Congress in a generation. The reason primarily seems to be lack of tough leadership.

For six of his eight White House years, Eisenhower had to depend on a Democratic Congress to get his programs through. It got a lot of work done, although not always in his satisfaction.

None of those Congresses finished later than mid-September. Most were finished before September.

Kennedy has expressed approval of Congress' work so far in his administration but it has left a lot of people cold. And it takes longer and longer to get its job finished.

The 1961 session, ending Sept. 27 was the longest since 1951, when this country was fighting the Korean War. The 1962 session wound up Oct. 13, the longest peacetime session since 1949 and the longest in an election year since 1942. This one will be longer still.

UNDER LBJ'S GUIDANCE
The Senate in Eisenhower's time was under the guidance of Lyndon B. Johnson, now vice president. Speaker Sam Rayburn, a Texas man like Johnson, bossed the House. He was still boss for part of 1961 but died that year.

These men were tough, hard-driving masters of detail. Johnson seems unquestionably to have been the best Senate leader in this century.

His successor, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, is a mild and gentle man, immensely liked, but not in the same league with Johnson for day in and day out hammering.

There also is the question of presidential leadership to get Congress, no matter what its mood, to act on White House programs.

In one way it is difficult to draw a contrast between Eisenhower and Kennedy in this field. Kennedy has followed Eisenhower's technique of never fighting with Congress.

Since he had to deal with a Democratic Congress through most of his two terms, Eisenhower never was in a position to put on the pressure in the way Kennedy should be able to do. Kennedy's own party is running Congress.

David Lawrence Says:

GOP Should Shun 'Me-Tooism'

WASHINGTON—Sen. Goldwater's decision to stay out of the presidential primaries is based, he says, on "a study of history."

The fact is that no presidential aspirant in either party who has gone into the primaries has ever won contests in Lawrence's opinion.

Lawrence says that no presidential aspirant in either party who has gone into the primaries has ever won contests in Lawrence's opinion.

Not all the would-be nominees of the Republican party or their articulate spokesmen behave as if they recognized this sentiment to be paramount. Thus, some of the allies of Gov. Rockefeller think it is more important now to attack other Republicans who are mentioned for the nomination.

LESSER IMPORTANCE
Mr. Rockefeller's weakness to-day, for instance, is not, as its generally supposed, his recent divorce and remarriage. Some of the same voters who raise this objection would regard it as of relatively lesser importance if they felt that the New York governor really wanted to see President Kennedy defeated for re-election and his policies repealed.

This could be clarified in unequivocal terms in every speech Mr. Rockefeller makes. Too many of the governor's utterances, it is argued by his opponents, have accepted the main theme of the Kennedy policies, though offering some amendments.

This is called "me-tooism" by some of the critics of the New York governor. The strategy, however, is aimed at winning so-called "independent" or "middle-of-the-road" voters in the final election campaign.

It does, on the other hand, antagonize the bulk of the conservative Republicans in the pre-convention period, and in that way cuts down Mr. Rockefeller's chances of being nominated.

Now he is being accused of aiming to split the party and defeat anybody else if he can't get the nomination himself.

The assumption is erroneous, but the gap between the New York governor and the conservative Republicans in the Republican party is being widened by such criticism.

What the Republican spokesmen as a whole seem to have missed is the fundamental truth of national politics—that the people have to be convinced that the incumbent does not deserve re-election before they will turn their thoughts toward the selection of a candidate to take his place.

The conservatives have already made up their minds that it would be for the good of the country to displace President Kennedy but many of them would have a hard time deciding to vote for Gov. Rockefeller if he is nominated.

So the principal job ahead for the New York governor today is not just to prepare to run in the primaries but to convince the majority of Republicans in the country that he is not at heart a "New Frontiersman" who would carry on the Kennedy policies of public spending, unbalanced budgets and disregard for constitutional principles by the use of executive orders whenever political expediency points that way.

Bob Considine Says:

Mac Writes Story of Life, Gives His Version of War

NEW YORK—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur announced yesterday that he consented after many invitations and temptations to write the story of his life, his wars, and his opinions about the world in general.

He confined the narrative to 222, CONSIDINE 900 words, a remarkable economy considering the colossal span of events he covered. The general wrote the words in his firm long-hand, most of them over the past six months.

Other passages he picked up from hitherto unpublished accounts of the Pacific war that he prepared with the aid of his past historians during that conflict.

The War Department, at war's end, chose instead, to assign its own people from the Pentagon to prepare the history. That which was written by men who were on the scene and intimately observed the ebbs and flows of battle was rejected by Washington.

The genuine MacArthur view of what happened on the farthest-flung battlefield in history now will be ventilated, as Sen. Dirksen likes to say.

The book will be published by McGraw-Hill. Life magazine will publish it serially.

NO COMMENT
Neither would comment on the amount of money involved, but there is reason to believe that this represents a project approaching or exceeding one million dollars including motion picture and television rights.

Each organization seemed distressed when I telephoned for confirmation and detail.

"But only four people here even know that we have got the manuscript," a man at McGraw-Hill said feverishly.

"So now five know," I said after a lightning calculation.

Life asked that nothing be printed in advance of the press conference, which MacArthur did not want. So we said "sure," remembering all those to vote for Gov. Rockefeller if he is nominated.

So the principal job ahead for the New York governor today is not just to prepare to run in the primaries but to convince the majority of Republicans in the country that he is not at heart a "New Frontiersman" who would carry on the Kennedy policies of public spending, unbalanced budgets and disregard for constitutional principles by the use of executive orders whenever political expediency points that way.

leading advertising agencies have conducted their own surveys.

Paul E. J. Gerhold, director of marketing for Frito, One & Belding, told members of ANA: "If you are tired of television's typical large numbers, come with us now and enjoy some substantially more modest ones."

Mr. Gerhold reported that in 100 tuned homes in the evening: Thirty-five per cent of the housewives did not see any part of the program; another 18 per cent did not see the commercial; another 21 per cent were not sure they saw the commercial; 9 per cent remembered being exposed to the commercial but could not recall the content; and only 17 per cent could recall some of the commercial's content.

It becomes evident that setting up figures have not only been inflated but they have been erroneously promoted as "audience measurements."

In New York City, 11,000 interviews were conducted by FCAB. (One major rating service bases its figures for the entire country on 1,100 homes.) "We found 14.4 per cent tuned to the average evening network television program. This is almost four whole rating points lower than 18.3 per cent average rating shown by the last report of one of the rating services for the New York Metropolitan Area for the same programs in the same period.

"But the tuning figures are only the beginning. We also found that only:

"84 per cent of the housewives viewed some part of the average evening network television program.

"63 per cent of the housewives had a chance to see a specific commercial.

Press Stands Corrected on McClintock Statement

I wish to thank you for the tear sheet and I am grateful for the kind reference to me. However, I am afraid that a most inadvertent injustice was committed, unless, of course, you may have information which I lack. I refer to this sentence about Robert McClintock, U.S. Ambassador to Argentina:

"And worst of all his attitude toward Russia is not consonant with U.S. traditions."

I do not know of any action by McClintock, by word or deed, that casts aspersions on him in that regard. I am sure that you will feel as distressed as I do about that because neither of us wishes to commit an injustice.

Citizens Air Views on City's Problems

I do not understand why our commissioners and our manager should blow up when our city is all torn up. Now is the time to hang together and try and pull out of this mess. Someone has picked Victor Smothers for a target. I have known him his entire life and I knew his father and mother. They were poor people and had a hard time. Victor may have made a mistake, but how many people are perfect? Today Victor Smothers is an upright citizen and has overcome the past. Why try to push him down again?

Defends Congressman's Use of U.S. Mail

The letter criticizing the "franking privilege" and Rep. Broomfield sounds naive and monolithic, not unlike some of the impracticable ideas of Sen. Goldwater.

Perhaps Sen. Goldwater sends his mail and cookbooks by 18th Century personal messenger, allowing use of an occasional horse. The other senators and congressmen prefer the U.S. postal system and zip codes to communicate with constituents.

Talking to some 50 prize-winning newspaper carrier boys from all over the nation, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze told one of his experiences as a newsboy in Cleveland.

After selling a copy of The Cleveland Press to one of his regular customers, young Tony Celebrezze realized that he had been handed a penny and a dime for the two-cent paper.

Wondering whether he should keep the change as a tip or to let his customer know he might have made a mistake, Tony finally decided to tell him. The man thanked him, pocketed the dime and walked on. Back on his corner, Tony realized he had lost a cent on the deal.

"That taught me always to be alert," Celebrezze told the boys. Celebrezze became so alert, in fact, that he became mayor of Cleveland and is now a member of President Kennedy's cabinet. It was a Horatio Alger story come true, with inspiration for all the boys.

New Capital Monument Earned by Bureaucrat?

Regardless of the historic treatment given it, for our money we've just witnessed the eighth wonder of the world.

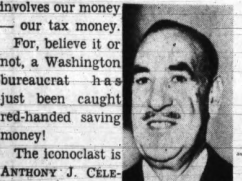

And the wonderful part is that it involves our money—our tax money.

For, believe it or not, a Washington bureaucrat has just been caught red-handed saving money!

The iconoclast is ANTHONY J. CELEBREZZE, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—and he's "guilty" on three counts:

- Failure to hire 1,800 employees that had been authorized, thus saving $5.1 million.
- Realigning social security and welfare phases of the department so they do not cost more, but less.
- Consolidating and streamlining payroll system to save money.

We congratulate Mr. CELEBREZZE on his unorthodox fiscal conduct, hope that he is not unfrocked by the BUMS (Brotherhood of Unlimited Money Spenders) and remains in Washington to fly the banner of governmental economy for many years to come.

Detroit System Hit on Job Opportunities

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Commission on Community Relations charged yesterday that the Detroit Board of Education has failed to provide equal employment opportunities for Negro teachers.

The commission's six-member committee appeared at the board's weekly meeting yesterday. It charged that "very little of a positive nature" occurred between the board's 1955 adoption of an anti-discrimination policy and 1962.

Stanley Winkelman, speaking for the committee, said, "The 73 schools — or 27 per cent — operated by the board of education with all white teaching staffs are testimony to that failure."

Winkelman said unbiased recruitment, transfers and promotion of personnel must take priority over every other consideration. The commission's figures were gathered with the help of school Supt. Samuel Brownell, he said.

Richard Marks, director of the commission, said the figures show that almost half the children in Detroit schools in 1962 had no contact with a Negro teacher.

He added that the board is still assigning Negro teachers to Negro or racially mixed neighborhoods, but not to all-white areas. In its report to the board, the commission said, "Placement of Negro school children does not represent a deliberate policy of the board, but is a reflection of the segregated housing patterns in Detroit."

Duvallier Denies Rebel Charges

Haiti Enmeshed in Word War

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

High, razor-backed mountain ridges on the border between Haiti and the Dominican Republic which together share the island of Hispaniola.

The ridges are not high enough to be snow-covered but high enough to discourage the palm. And in densely populated Haiti, even the tops of these inhospitable ridges are inhabited by peasant families, eking out a bare existence on tiny plots handed down from father to son for the better part of 200 years.

Their telephone line is the tomb.

From these rugged mountains, Haitian rebel leader Gen. Leon Cantave, fighting in the manner of Castro against Batista in the early days of the Cuba revolt, hopes to bring down the dictatorship of President Francois Duvalier who likes to be known as "Papa Doc."

So far it has been a war of conflicting claims, charges and denials.

In the excitement of Cantave's first strike on Aug. 5, rebel sources jubilantly fixed his strength at 500 men. That number finally dwindled to 100 or perhaps as few as 15 or 20.

In the Organization of American States, the Duvalier government charged that Cantave's invasion had been aided and abetted by the neighboring Dominican government of President Juan Bosch who last May threatened to carry out an invasion of his own against Haiti.

The Dominicans denied the charge.

For the United States, the situation was an embarrassment. It has no love for Duvalier but on the other hand does not want Bosch accused of intervention.

CONCERN FOR FAMILIES

In the total breakdown of Haitian communications there also was concern for the safety of scattered American families, wives and families of some of whom had been permitted to return to Haiti only days before.

For both Duvalier and his enemy, Cantave, there were frustrations.

If Cantave had expected Haiti's beaten-down peasantry to flock to his colors, he was disappointed for the Haitian peasantry will go only with a sure winner.

But Cantave, professional soldier who fought the dictatorial ambitions of both Duvalier and his predecessor Paul E. Maguire, is popular with the Haitian army, a fact which made the army less than reliable for Duvalier.

Further, if rebel claims to have shot down an Haitian Air Force plane are true, then Duvalier has lost exactly half of his air force.

Duvalier himself showed little disposition to take on Cantave in the northeastern mountains from which the rebels appeared to be operating.

British Peer in Commons Without Title

LONDON (UPI) — Anthony Wedgwood Benn, the first British Peer over to renounce his title, won back his old seat in the House of Commons last night by swamping three opponents in a by-election at Bristol.

The victory by the 38-year-old "persistent commoner" had been expected. He will take his seat when parliament reconvenes in October.

It set the stage for the resumption of a political career in the opposition Labor party that many observers believe holds a brilliant future.

Benn was forced out of the House of Commons after representing Bristol for a decade when his father, Viscount Stansgate, died in November 1960.

By assuming the hereditary title, Benn was forced into the House of Lords which he once termed the "outer Mongolia" of British politics. Lords is virtually powerless.

But Benn led a campaign for a peerage reform act to permit those who wanted to renounce their titles and run for Commons.

Titled persons are forbidden to sit in Commons under British Law and tradition. The reform act passed last month.

Instead, it appeared to be Duvalier's hope that he can sit tight year in Haiti where the coffee bean grows wild.

As for Cantave's chances, said a Washington acquaintance: "If any Haitian can do the job, it is Cantave."

Joe Kelly Arrests
Joe Kelly in N.Y.

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Detective Joseph Kelly of the forger squad really put his heart into his work when he was assigned to bring in a rubber check artist. The fellow was signing his worthless checks with the name "Joseph Kelly."

Kelly — the real one, arrested

Kelly — the bogus one, at his home. Reported the detective: "When I flashed my badge and introduced myself as Joe Kelly, the detective, the man grinned and shook his head in disbelief."

"Well, how about that?" he said.

There were 66,300 entries in the last edition of the Columbia Encyclopedia. The new publication this fall is expected to have 75,000.

Fall Fertilizer
Aids Lawns

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Fall applications of complete fertilizer before the "first expected frost has been suggested by a pasture specialist at Texas A&M College as a key to producing pretty grass lawns."

E. M. Trew says an application made 30 days before the first expected freeze will keep grass green longer in the fall and give it an earlier start the following spring.

Waterford Eyes Airport Plans

A Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC) committee last night launched a study into proposed expansion plans of Pontiac Municipal Airport.

When the study is completed, the 26-member committee will recommend a council stand on the airport issue.

Donald Smith, 2596 Williams Lake, was named general chairman of the study and Mrs. Robert McIntosh, 2598 Williams Lake, will be cochairman.

The committee also established subcommittees to research present airport use, the effect of expansion on adjacent property, values of this property and legal aspects of the proposed expansion. A fifth subcommittee will handle publicity.

Homer Hoakins, airport manager, outlined airport plans when he spoke at the Aug. 6 general meeting of the GWCC.

A show of hands at that meeting indicated that the vast majority of the 140 in attendance opposed expansion.

The council's steering committee already has indicated opposition to the airport expansion.

Mrs. Edmund L. Windeler, former council president, said the study committee may have a recommendation prepared by its next meeting Sept. 5.

The next general meeting of the GWCC is slated for Sept. 10.

City Settles Case Appeal on Renewal

The City Commission settled one of its urban renewal appeal cases last night with the signing of an agreement with Charles Finklestein of East Side Auto Parts.

The settlement of $73,000 was the same as the quart awarded the owners of the auto parts establishment.

Five property owners and eight parcels of land were involved in the appeal to the State Supreme Court of court awards in urban renewal condemnation.

The commission approved the agreement, which calls for the rezoning of the auto parts firm's new location at 986 Oakland from manufacturing-1 to manufacturing-3.

The agreement also stipulates that urban renewal pay the $7,240 to move the firm to its new location.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said East Side Auto Parts was the principal property owner in the appeal.

He said another agreement should be reached by next week.

Michigan's Careless Drivers Listed Here—as Statistics

EAST LANSING (U)—A traffic cop looking over your shoulder is a good way to make you check your speed and your lights and wonder whether you're following too closely—agreed?

If you do, your thinking is in line with a number of county sheriffs who checked on why their county was up, or down, in traffic fatalities during the first six months of 1963.

The starting point for the study was a state police report compiled in the office of statistician

Orin Lucas showing a breakdown by counties of the state's 760 traffic deaths through June 30.

Lucas cautioned that the bare statistics did not reflect how many of the deaths resulted from multi-fatality accidents.

40 COUNTIES UP
The report showed 40 counties were up, 30 were down and 13 stayed the same in the number of fatalities for the first six months.

The biggest jump was in Genesee County, which was up from 21 deaths in 1962 to 53 this year. Just to the west of Genesee, Shiawassee County registered the biggest reduction with a drop from 13 to 5 deaths.

The state's largest county, Wayne, showed an increase of four deaths to 157, while the surrounding counties of Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Monroe showed increases of 3, 23, 4 and 5, respectively.

State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs has reported that mileage traveled by state police traffic patrolmen from January to June increased by 8 per cent to 7.8 million miles.

A total of 97,490 arrests were made, Childs added, an increase of 6 per cent over last year.

BILLION MILES
But during the same period there were one billion more miles traveled, a 7 per cent increase, Childs said, and the traffic death toll was up by 101, from 639 in 1962.

Some sheriffs noted emerging patterns. In Calhoun, Eaton, Ingham and Saginaw counties, an increase was observed in the number of one-car fatal accidents.

Lucas, however, said state police figures disprove any notion that the increase in one-car accidents might be general.

Calhoun County Sheriff W. Jess Purcell said more patrolmen on the road in his county would help.

In Genesee and Oakland counties, reports indicate stiff enforcement procedures have been put into effect because of fatality rises.

Now in effect, according to reports, are policies providing there shall be no reduction in charges, such as from drunken driving to reckless driving, and that negligent homicide warrants be issued when there is doubt about the blame of the driver.

Further up the eastern traffic corridor, a report from Saginaw County indicates that while fatalities increased by 10 to 24 in the first six months, the figures are less significant statistically because in 1962 the county was far below its average in fatalities.

Taken together, the increase in the four counties of the eastern traffic corridor—Oakland, Genesee, Saginaw and Bay—totaled 75 fatalities.

Lapeer County Sheriff Kenneth Parks said his men are writing more tickets this year and added he is on the radio in the early morning with road reports and safely reminders. Fatalities are down in the county from 11 to five.

California City Tax Rate
Cut 10th Straight Year

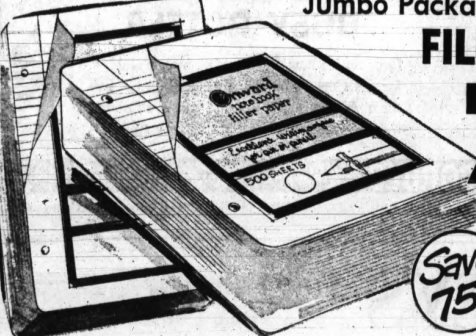

MONROVIA, Calif. (UPI)—The tax rate keeps going down in Monrovia.

Top honors go to the print sweater this fall. A perfect cover-up for cool days on campus, it also doubles as an evening wrap over date dresses. This cardigan, a knit blend of wool and Eastman Kodak polyester in a porcelain blue toile pattern on a white background and will retain its shape and machine wash and dry ability. It retails for approximately $8.

Posh and Practical Sweater Wardrobe now Possible for Budget-Minded Students

Sweaters are stealing the scene at schools this fall. The days when two or three sweaters would fill all requirements are definitely over. The biggest problem for the budget-minded seems to be exactly how many sweaters can be termed "sufficient" to suit all style requirements and occasions.

The pullover and cardigan, perennial pair for all seasons and the bread-and-butter of school wardrobes, have taken a turn for the unusual.

Replacing the "sloppy joe" or simple, shapeless styles that used to top skirts, slacks and blue jeans are brightly printed patterns, neatly tailored knit jackets and brilliantly dyed pull-overs, all created by designers who harken to the European influence.

The new trend is definitely for sweaters with individuality and versatility.

That expensive-looking imported sweater, envy of the campus, and property of a select few fashion leaders, has found its way into the popular domain via the new, young designers and the new wool blends with Eastman Kodak polyester that make them practical to wear.

Sweaters with floral and paisley prints create a decidedly feminine look for coeds who make their cardigans do double duty for school hours and as evening cover-ups. The saddle-shoulder effect, long a French and Italian favorite, is now being used for children's styles because of its easy fit and trim look.

For men, the jacket-sweater has gained prominence, often trimmed tyrolean-fashion with contrasting edging and chain closings.

Prices are not prohibitive for these distinctive style and care features. The new knit blends make the most high fashion look completely practical and eliminates all care worries, yet the soft wool hand and appearance is retained.

Apple red sweaters, matched to pleated plaid skirts, will make a brilliant entrance into the fall school season. The sweaters are cut with a continental air and shaped at the shoulders with saddle sleeves. The box pleated skirts take a new twist and show their colors on the bias, the new feminine way for tailored fashions. Sweaters are about $5 and $6, and skirts about $7.

The ripped jacket-sweater takes first place in the student's wardrobe this year. Tyrolean touches in the chain fastening and contrasting trim further reflect the European influence in sweater styles. Elbow patches are added to this shaker stitch knit fashion which retails for approximately $15.

Back-to-School Fashion Show Launches Oakland Hills Season

Susan Diehl, Jan Ahern and Judy Sanden, all of Birmingham, are fitted for clothes they will wear in today's fashion show at Oakland Hills Country Club.

A mother and daughter back-to-school luncheon, fashion show and bridge party were held today at the Oakland Hills Country Club. Social chairman Mrs. Jesse P. Judd planned a fashion show by Ferguson's Club member Mrs. Patrick J. Any drew was commentator.

Latest styles for the high school and college set were modeled by Jan Ahern, Sue Clifford, Linda Lee Carolin, Sue Barden, Sue Diehl, Nancy Forlman and Nancy Judd.

Others included Susan Judd, Cheryl Howson, Chris Palmer, Janet Prew, Pam Rollins, Judy Sanden and Jane Schroeder. All are daughters of club members.

Mrs. John J. Ahern was chairman of the day for the club's first ladies' gathering of the fall season.

Assisting Mrs. Ahern were committee members Mrs. James Shannon, Mrs. James Knowlck, Mrs. Harrison Wilder, Mrs. Harold Hall, Mrs. Charles Howson and Mrs. Leon Briggs.

News Notes of People From Area

More than 150 secretarial specialists staffing the offices of Michigan's school systems attended a special work conference at Ferris State College earlier this month.

From the Pontiac area were Mrs. Kenneth A. Sutton, Camley Drive; Mrs. Paul S. Arnold, Williams Street; Mrs. Merlin Sander-son, Delevan Street; Mrs. Ervin Atwell, Lehigh Street; Mrs. William L. Thomas, Roland Road; Mrs. Lorenz Ahlgrim, Orchard Lake; and Mrs. Bernice Chappellie, Union Lake.

The Clinton H. Watsons of Silver Spring, Md., with their children Joseph, Mark and Stacy, have returned home after visiting Mr. Watson's mother, Mrs. Herbert Watson of Nelson-Street.

The Ben A. Ronans of East Iroquois Road visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kim of Burlingame, Calif., while on a recent two-month trip to the West Coast. The Kim's became parents of a daughter, Catharine Myung in June.

During their recent stay at the Nassau Beach Hotel in the Bahamas, the Carlton Randolphs of Thorpe Street won a nationwide contest sponsored by the Dairy Guild of America. Bobby Randolph accompanied his parents.

Betsy Gottschalk of Woodbine Drive was one of the fifth-place winners in the ninth annual Lenox Creative Table Setting contest in New York City.

Over 300,000 high school and college home economics students from more than 10,000 schools across the country participated.

Her prize was a tea cup and saucer of Lenox china. Lenox has been the official White House china since 1917.

Former Pontiac resident Mrs. Stanley Ferguson, now of Ojai, Calif., has returned to her home following a three-week visit with Mr. and Mrs. Standish Sibley of Oriole Road. Mrs. Ferguson also visited friends in Dearborn and Birmingham.

Recent house guests of the John L. Leathers of Murphy Avenue were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jennings of Hingham, Mass., and Mrs. Harvey Shoeder of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Julius Hoffman of Roselle, N.J.

Wayne State University's Board of Governors has announced promotions for Dr. Edward A. Bantel of Birmingham and Dr. Jack W. Warfield of Orchard Lake. Dr. Bantel, a faculty member since 1956, has been promoted to professor of educational psychology. Dr. Warfield, on the staff since 1959, has been named associate professor of speech.

MOMS Unit Plans to Hold Installations

Members of Unit 2, MOMS of America, Inc., plan to attend installations of area unit officers in Berkeley this evening and Southfield on Thursday.

Ferndale, Madison Heights and Royal Oak will install on consecutive evenings beginning Aug. 28.

At Tuesday's picnic in Hawthorne Park, Mrs. S. Edgar Thomas was appointed delegate to the state convention Sept. 25-27 in Holiday Inn Motel, Kalamazoo. Mrs. E. K. Vanderlind will be the alternate.

A schoolgirl luncheon is set for Sept. 17 at the home of Mrs. George Cheal, South Lapeer Road.

Mrs. Harry M. Luxon, Mrs. Bessie M. Brown, Mrs. Duncan McVean, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Vanderlind attended the Auburn Heights installation ceremonies Monday.

Picnic guests included Mrs. B. L. Johnson of Melbourne, Fla., houseguest of her sister, Mrs. David Edwards.

CAROLYN VERDA BALL

The Douglas M. Balls of Greenwood Avenue, Avon Township, announce engagement of their daughter Carolyn Verda to Henry E. Stormer, son of the Henry Stormers of West Strathmore Avenue.

New Hanger Keeps Shape

Handy for drip-drying basin laundry is a large horizontal oval plastic hanger with a neck band support which helps to dry a shirt or blouse in shape. It also has clip clothespins for hanging lingerie and small sundresses.

13th Living Rosary Set by Two Catholic Units

Rehearsing for their part in the 13th Living Rosary are (from left) Linda Stevenson of St. Clair Shores, Francis Palms of Square Lake Road and Elneta Metoyer of Rapid Street.

The 13th Living Rosary presented by the Daughters of Isabella and the First Saturday League of Pontiac and vicinity will be held 7:30 p.m. Thursday at St. Joseph Catholic Church grounds.

Assisting these groups will be fourth-degree Knights of Columbus, as well as the Alhambra of Detroit.

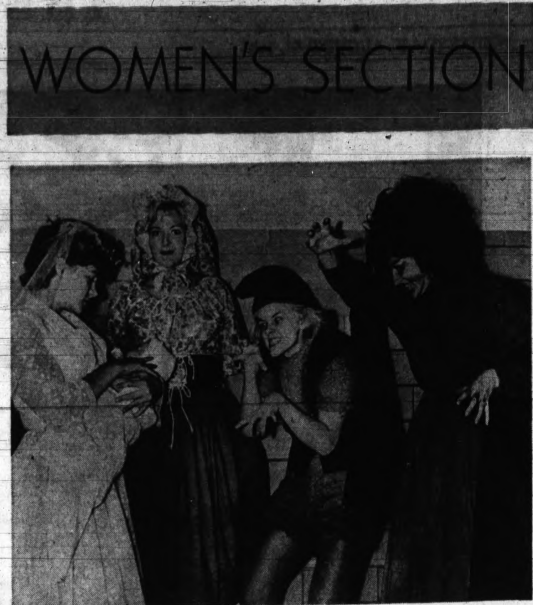

State officers, together with officers of Our Lady of The Lakes Circle No. 479, will form a procession ending in the crowning of the Immaculate Heart of Mary statue and the presentation of roses.

The 15 decades of the Rosary formed by members of the Saturday League and the Confraternity of the Immaculate Heart of Mary will pray the five Glorious Mysteries.

Between each decade will be shown tableaux of the theme, "The Triumph of the Immaculate Heart of Mary."

Following the consecration and the Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament will be a procession around the outdoor Stations of the Cross.

Rev. Father Francis Oklowski, pastor of St. Joseph will be keynote speaker.

James Willette, Mother Hulda. The play, directed by Mrs. Ralph Ellsworth, will be presented at 1, 3 and 8:30 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday at the Waterford Community Center. Tickets are available at the door.

A reminder to all who wish to honor Gov. and Mrs. George Romney that the date of the Oakland County Republican Party's preview performance of the musical "Jennie" at the Fisher Theatre has been changed to Saturday, Sept. 7.

Mrs. Seymour Knudsen and Mrs. Richard Van Dusen, committee co-chairmen, are eager to have citizens interested in attending the performance know that tickets are available at Oakland County Republican headquarters.

Maybe It's the Teen-Ager Who Deserves to Get Bill

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: I added up all the time I spent baby-sitting with my little sister last year and figured it out at the rate of 50 cents an hour. It came to $61.

That is what my mother owes me. I am 15 and can use the money for clothes. Do you think I should send her a bill.

FIFTEEN. DEAR ABBY: Since you are so expert at "figuring," combine the yearly salaries of a cook, housekeeper, nurse, teacher, preacher and chauffeur and then multiply it by your age.

That, my dear, is what you owe your mother. Now, do you still want to send her a bill?

DEAR ABBY: Have you space in your column for a letter that might save someone's life?

Another woman and I were driving to a restaurant for a lobster dinner. The restaurant was only two miles from my home, so I wore my high heels. I hadn't gone far when one of my heels got caught in the rug of the automobile. When I tried to free it, my shoe jammed between the brake and the gas pedal.

The harder I tried to stop, the faster we went. The car went out of control and we hit a house and knocked down a 50-foot chimney.

Fortunately, no one was killed, but we will both be hospitalized for the rest of the summer. And heaven knows when we'll get that lobster dinner.

JERRIE. DEAR JERRIE: Thanks for the fair warning. Forget the lobster, and be thankful you didn't get angel food!

Designer's Plunge Gets Gasps Abroad

LONDON (U) — British designer Mary Quant — darling of London's young sophisticates — today introduced a plunging neckline that could have international repercussions.

This is because the 23-year-old designer is rapidly making a name in Paris, Rome, Milan and other places, including the United States.

Discussing her plunging neckline on a black and white tweed dress, Miss Quant said:

"I made it to wear with a turtleneck sweater. Then we decided to try it without the sweater. It looked rather fun. I liked it."

Miss Quant's dress plunges half way down midlady's chest.

In Paris last month, Dior also came out with a plunge. And actress Elizabeth Taylor, playing hostess to the Bolshoi Ballet dancers earlier this week, appeared in a plunge as deep as anything that displayed her bosom in "Cleopatra."

A DIFFERENCE In past years, the plunging neckline has never been universally embraced by the young. But Miss Quant's sponsoring it may make a difference.

Commented Prof. Janey Ironside, head of the fashion school at the Royal College of Art:

"It looks sensational, but I have a hunch the young will go for it. It's a rebellion against all those boots and so much military dressing."

LINDA WRIGHT

The William E. Wrights of Marquette, announce engagement of their daughter Linda to Clifford R. Irwin, son of the Robert B. Irwins of Clarkston. Both are seniors at Northern Michigan University. Summer vows in 1964 are planned.

BARBARA J. ROESINK

At a recent party in their home, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Roesink of Flint announced the engagement of their daughter Barbara Joan to Charles Edward Hawkins, son of the Floyd Hawkins of LeBaron Street. Both are graduates of Spring Arbor Junior College. The bride-elect attended Greenville College, Greenville, Ill., where her fiancé will be a senior. A June 1964 wedding is being planned.

Head Covers Taking Over

The wrapped-up head takes over in the fall and winter millinery. New York dress designers such as Bill Blass and Jacques Tiffeneau showed it. In the case of Blass, the covers were babushkas in everything from chiffon to evening to genuine leopard triangular scarf for day.

Tiffeneau designed both fabric and fur hoods. The milliners also are in the act with ties-on of both fur and fabric.

Couple Says Vows at Marimont Baptist

Rev. Philip W. Somers officiated at the recent marriage of the Thomas John Largentis (Katherine Lee Chandler) in Marimont Baptist Church.

The Marion Chandlers of Westbrook Avenue and the Glenn W. Largentis of Russell Street are parents of the couple, presently honeymooning at Mackinac Island.

With her gown of embroidered white nylon over taffeta, styled with chapel sweep, the bride wore the bridegroom's gift pearls and a veil of silk illusion. Red sweet-heart rosebuds centered her cascade bouquet of white gladiolus and pompons.

Pink gladiolus rested on a white lace fan held by Ruth Ann Chandler, her sister's honor maid. White gladiolus were combined with pink for bridesmaids Carolyn Wright and Glenda Largent.

MRS. T. J. LARGENT

Their ballerina-length dresses were mint green nylon over lace.

Victor Ross was best man while Loren Davis, Darwin Donaldson and Richard Tenet ushered.

The newlyweds will live in Pontiac.

Yes-You Can Clean Leather

When washing white and pastel leather gloves on your hands, if you need extra scrub power for particularly grimy knuckles and fingertips, use a cellulose sponge which has been dunked in your tepid glove-bath solution.

The soft, gentle sponge won't abrade even the most delicate imported French leathers. Instead, it will help you to erase the extra soil so that your gloves will be completely clean and will dry without those annoying "shadows" which detract from their appearance.

CAROL FEATHAM

Oct. 19 has been set for the marriage of Carol Anne Featham and James Lawrence Owens Jr. Parents of the couple are the Arnold Feathams of Dearborn and the senior Owens of Gateway Drive. Mr. Owens is a graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology, and is presently attending the University of Detroit.

Couple Wed in All Saints Church

All Saints Episcopal Church was the setting for recent vows of Jean Morley to James Thomas Pope, son of the senior Popes of Argyle Avenue.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Walter E. Morley of Oakland Avenue and the late Mr. Morley, was given in marriage by her brother Airman 3.C. Stanley A. Morley of Keesler AFB, Biloxi Miss.

She chose a gown of white silk organza with chapel train and a tiered illusion veil with pearl tiara. Her ivory Bible held her grandmother's lace handkerchief and a semicascade of white gladiolus, roses and Stephanotis.

Roberta Lea Branham attended as honor maid with bridesmaids Mrs. Jack K.

MRS. JAMES T. POPE JR.

Chambers and Chris Renee Miller. Kathy Pope was flower girl and Mickey Gordon carried the rings.

Raymond P. Gordon Jr. attended as best man with ushers Jack K. Chambers and Terry LaFontaine.

Men's Shoes Sport Oxfords

Blucher oxfords will step to the front of the shoe fashion parade for males come fall. Strongest play, reports the National Shoe Retailers Association, will be for three and four eyelet types. Light leathers will be used for the one-and-two eyelet types. Other types remain rugged.

Wrapping Cake

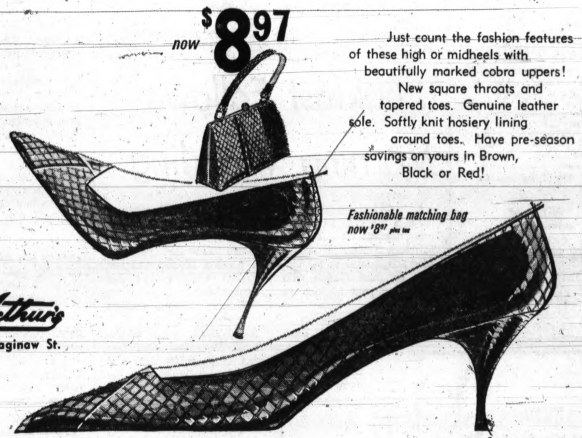

Try sprinkling waxed paper with powdered sugar before you wrap frosted cake for lunch boxes. The sugar will prevent frosting from sticking to the paper.

Old Human Invention

Junior's a Buck Passer

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE 2-487. Matthew, aged 3½, is our daughter Judy's oldest child.

Judy reads Bible stories to her children at bedtime.

Recently she gave them the story of the Garden of Eden. She explained how the Serpent had caused Eve to violate God's commandment to avoid eating the forbidden fruit.

A few days later, Judy was watching her two older boys as they played in the back yard.

She saw Matthew strike his younger brother Peter.

So Judy opened the back door and sharply called Matthew into the house.

"Why did you strike Peter?" she demanded. "I saw you hit your little brother, so what made you do it?" Matthew looked downcast.

"Mother," he began, "that mean old Serpent just whispered in my ear."

Judy could hardly suppress a smile.

For Matthew had hit upon Adam's great invention of buck-passing.

You Bible scholars may recall that God sharply demanded of Adam why he had tasted the forbidden fruit.

Adam was thus on the spot. It was mankind's first attempt at worrying out a solution to a crucial problem.

But Adam came up with a super-duper answer. For Adam passed the buck!

Nice Adam's exact reply, as quoted from Genesis 3:12 in the Bible:

"The woman whom Thou gavest me to be with, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat."

SMART EVE

So God turned to the woman and asked, "What is this that thou hast done?" Eve was a very smart woman.

She saw that Adam had escaped censure by thus blaming his wife. In psychology we call Adam's strategy "projection" or buck-passing.

So Eve decided to adopt Adam's technique, too, as indicated in the following Biblical quotation:

"The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat."

The poor serpent apparently couldn't pass the buck on downward so he became the "goat."

Which illustrates a similar trait of mankind that has persisted to this day.

For there was an old Army adage that when the sergeant bawls out the corporal, then the corporal yells at the private, who finally kicks the mule.

Although Matthew was not even four years old, he spontaneously discovered Adam's strategy of buck-passing.

I offer this recent case not only to show how clever young children become at utilizing applied psychology, but also to indicate the admirable habit that Judy employs in reading Bible stories to her children every night at bedtime.

Mothers, how many of you read any stories to your children at bedtime?

And what kind of stories do you employ?

The time to encourage a liking for morality and good literature, as well as good music, is before your youngsters enter grammar school.

Better let the dinner dishes slide, if you haven't time to do both, and nurture your children's minds with Bible stories at bedtime.

Such mothers also give their youngsters a running head start for college!

Vows Are Exchanged by Couple From Area

MRS. STEVEN RINGI

Geraldine Lavern Fields exchanged recent vows with Steven Ringi in the Apostolic Church of Christ.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fields of North Berkshire Road. The Steven Rings of Royal Oak are parents of the bridegroom.

A bouffant veil of silk illusion complemented the bride's full-length gown of Chantilly lace tiers over taffeta. She carried white carnations, Stephanotis and red roses.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Bennie Vincent was her sister's honor matron, while Donald Archer, Peggy Cone, Mary Beatty and Madeline Erwin were bridesmaids. Carnation bouquets matched their floor-length gowns of silk organza over taffeta in rainbow pastels.

Debra Bowen and Shariene Fandale were flower girls. Jeffrie Watson and Charlie Fandale Jr. carried the rings.

On the equine side were Ralph Gay, Ferndale, best man, with ushers Larry Fields, Tommy Anderson, Clawson, David Elsworth, Charlie Fandale and Bennie Vincent.

Tests Say Let Mom Make Food

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—It's worth the effort to see that your family gets a good breakfast and it's also important that it is prepared by one person, say researchers at Penn State University.

A good breakfast provides a better nutritional balance for the day, eliminating the 11 o'clock slump.

Tests have proved that breakfast is better nutritionally when one person prepares it. That's because the person who has the responsibility is more likely to provide a balanced meal for the group. An individual preparing his own breakfast may call it quits after toast and coffee.

Drying Curtains

To dry straight - hanging, tailored curtains, re - hang them on their rods while still wet. Run an extra rod through the bottom hem to serve as a weight which will pull the fabric into shape.

A Hair Rinse That Works

Here's an exciting hair rinse idea that really works. It might be called the "ready set" rinse.

After shampooing and rinsing the hair in clear water in the usual way, pour a glass of good quality witch hazel over the head. Pour about one-third of a glass at a time, working the fluid well into the scalp.

Fine for the scalp, the pure vegetable extract also cuts any lingering soap film and leaves the hair shining clean. Witch hazel dries faster than water and makes an ideal "set."

Brush hair next morning and notice the new softness and sheen.

Study Shows Sleep Habits

CHICAGO (UPI) — Researchers into sleeping habits report that most persons literally do "drift off" to sleep, very likely several times before reaching a so-called sound sleep. This drifting, reported by a bedding manufacturer, goes on through the night, changing from light to moderate to deep sleep and back again. "Wavy," they call it.

Majority Opposes Possibility

What's Teen View of Kennedy Dynasty?

By Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.
How does the possibility of a Kennedy dynasty strike American youth?

Judging from our latest nationwide survey, covering nearly 1,000 young people who will soon be casting their first ballots in a presidential election, they are not too enthusiastic — nor alarmed either.

Only 27 per cent of these new voters say they would favor Robert Kennedy, the President's brother, as his successor in office.

A third of them — many more young women than men —even think the attorney general's succession is a likely possibility.

As Bill Williams, 21, of Tucson, Ariz., put it, "If he has the necessary qualifications, why not?"

"With his brother's experience in mind, he will know in advance what is expected of him and be able to cope with the responsibility," adds Brenda Sherrill, 21, of Evanston, Ill.

However, the majority of the group says Robert Kennedy has not had sufficient experience as yet.

Forty-one per cent are against such a succession of Kennedys. The rest haven't made up their minds.

PERSONALLY POPULAR
The President is popular with these young adults.

"He's Gang Ho!" declares Lawrence Martin, 21, of Detroit. "Even if you don't approve of what he does, you can't deny his spirit."

"I admire him for giving energy and drive to the presidency," says Rochelle Schaffer, 21, of Inglemere, Calif.

And Jerry Moss, 21, of Chicago adds, "He exercised his authority with his country in mind."

If young people were giving out gold stars for excellence, one-fifth would award one to President Kennedy for his handling the Cuban crisis; 15 per cent would give him one for establishing the Peace Corps; 6 per cent would cite him for keeping the country out of war and 4 per cent each would commend him for projecting a popular image abroad and for increasing U.S. prestige in the world.

On the other hand, 24 per cent would hand him demerits for the handling of the Cuban situation; 12 per cent would give a black mark for lack of progress in desegregation, and another 5 per cent would chalk up against him lack of decisive action on civil rights issues.

Six per cent felt he did not fight hard enough to get measures such as Medicare through Congress. A similar complaint regarding the farm bill was reported by 3 per cent.

Personal traits of the President are the most common assets listed by the young adults.

"He has a good sense of humor; not dull or dry like Ike," declares Robert Geier, 19, of Dayton, Ohio.

"He's absolutely sincere in his efforts to better American life," says Dennis Rivers, 20, of Los Angeles.

And, "He's young and energetic," says Bonnie Doone, 19, of Roanoke, Va., speaking for many of the young women.

While the President's youth and vigor carry him along with most of the new voters, not all the comments are sweetness and light.

City, criticizes "too much emphasis on various members of his family. It detracts from the importance and dignity of the presidency."

Dogs, Women Often Delay Mailmen

(Editor's Note—This is the third installment in a five-part series about U.S. mails.)

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Post Office Department has a sort of combined motto and pep talk which it lifted from the Greek historian, Herodotus, and put on the front of the New York Post Office:

"Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

What frequently does stay these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds is a dog. Also a woman.

The department talks freely about the dog problem, and the supervisor's safety handbook for postmen says under Section 188 that "carriers should neither antagonize nor attempt to pet dogs."

Nowhere is there advice and counsel on what the postman should do when a woman invites him to put down his mail sack and come in for a cup of coffee.

BIG PROBLEM

But it is a real problem and a postman of about 10 years experience told about it after exacting a strict pledge that he would remain anonymous:

"A lot of these women are just the motherly type. You know, it's raining and they feel sorry for you and they want to get you some hot coffee and maybe toast."

"They don't cause much trouble because you can always tell them you're late and have to keep going to get your whole pouch of mail delivered."

"Then there's the other kind. You could call them lonesome. They're waiting at the door every time you deliver the mail. If you turn them down on a cup of coffee, then they tell you to come inside because one of their letters has been lost and they want to talk about it."

"I always tell them to give me a written memorandum, but most of the time they don't buy that. Sometimes they get real tough and say they're going to report me to the department if I don't come inside. Nobody has reported me so far, but you never can tell."

"DANGEROUS ONES"

"It's easy to spot the dangerous ones. Usually they're wearing a kind of something like that and have their faces made up as if they were going to a Saturday night dance. When you see one like that, brother, you better run."

"I'm not saying there are lots of them on my route, but there are enough to cause trouble. But hear things are even worse for people like TV repair men, telephone company workers and fellows who sell things door to door."

"These guys got to go inside the house to do their job. Me, I can always stand at the door and say no."

Unfortunately, there is no way a postman can say no to a dog which is rushing at him with every intention of biting. About 5,000 postmen were bitten by dogs last year, and the worst offenders were Dobermans, cockers, Pekingeses and terriers.

There is no way a person mail-

Nickel Stamp Can Be Good as Airmail

Catholic Sees Common Bible

Priest Exudes Hope at Anglican Meeting

TORONTO (UPI) — A Roman Catholic observer at the 10-day Anglican Congress has expressed the hope that translations of the Scriptures acceptable to all Christian faiths would soon be commonly used.

Rev. Gregory Baum, who lectures at St. Michael College here, spoke yesterday as president of the United Bible Societies. He commended the campaign to bring the scriptures to all people in their own language.

"The Biblical movement which began about 50 years ago, in northern Europe in the Roman church has since spread to most countries. Therefore, we look with approval at the Bible societies distributing the scriptures among the people," he said.

Father Baum is attending the congress, which ends Friday, with Rev. Aloysius M. Ambrose of Scarborough, Ont., the other Roman Catholic observer.

"I have been impressed by the openness and courage with which the problems of the church are being discussed here," Father Baum said.

Churches are sometimes tempted to be concerned only with their own ecclesiastical affairs, he said, but the main concern of this congress "seems to be the impact of the church on the world."

Earlier in the day, representatives of the Anglican World Communion spelled out details of a new policy of mutual responsibility and interdependence which would produce a sweeping reformation within the Anglican church.

Bishop S. F. Bayne, executive director of the Anglican communion, said the new policy would free the 18 autonomous churches within the communion from control by outsiders.

N.Y. Officials Blasted on Bias

NEW YORK (UPI) — A civil rights committee charged today Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert F. Wagner are dragging their feet in eliminating bias in the construction industry because of "fears of political retaliation" from construction industry unions.

The attack from the Joint Committee for Equal Employment Opportunity came as the City Commission on Human Rights opened a hearing on alleged job discrimination in the industry.

Stanley Lowell, chairman of the commission, called the attack "most unfortunate and borders on the irresponsible."

"Some of the people involved don't know their own friends," he said.

Terrorists Shoot 2 in Caracas

CARACAS (UPI) — Castro Communist terrorists, active here for the first time in nearly a month, killed a policeman yesterday, wounded a civilian and tried to sabotage the city's only power plant.

The terrorist gunmen wore Castro-style fatigue clothes with armbands bearing the initials of the Red Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN). Witnesses said the two men were shot when three FALN members, carrying submachine guns, entered the government-owned Vargas Hospital and released a 25-year-old journalism student who had been arrested for terrorist activities.

The student, Rafael Tedelcher, had been taken to the hospital for a physical examination.

Police said the three men were hiding in a doctor's office. When Tedelcher entered it, they grabbed him and escaped in a car they had waiting outside. The policeman and the civilian hospital employee were shot in a gun battle that followed.

The pipeline explosion occurred 40 miles north of here at an electric plant supplying power to Caracas. No one was hurt.

The power plant continued operation despite the bombing. Terrorist dynamites also bombed the Le-Amador pipeline, which supplies oil to the American-owned Creole Petroleum Company's refinery. No casualties were reported, and operation of the refinery was not affected.

The Post Office Department knows it's walking a tight rope. It wants to protect the postmen, but it faces the wrath of millions of American dog lovers.

The first attempted solution was to advise the owner of any dog that bit a postman that hereafter he would have to pick his mail up at the post office.

That didn't work because it developed that many postmen were being bitten by stray dogs.

Now an experiment is in progress in Detroit, Miami, Baltimore and San Francisco where the postmen have been armed with an aerosol capsule called "Halt."

It is loaded with mineral oil and an extract of cayenne pepper and was developed at the University of Georgia. When a postman is about to be attacked, he squirts "Halt" at the dog.

The department says the preliminary results are encouraging: "The sprayed dog does not cry out. He merely puts his tail between his legs and beats a hasty retreat. In most cases, after one or two experiences with 'Halt,' the dog never again attacks the user."

"While an animal obviously has been made uncomfortable for a short period of time, there are no lasting effects to the eyes or other portion of the face. Within 10 to 15 minutes the effect of 'Halt' has worn off and the dog returns to normal."

(Tomorrow: Junk mail: Who sends it and why.)

Official Urges Fallout Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate House Atomic Energy Committee was urged to set up a national policy for monitoring radioactive fallout.

Irving Michelson, director of public service projects for Consumers Union, said that the present federal guidelines for "acceptable risk" will result in less peaceful nuclear power and research programs are fully under way.

Michelson said congressional action was needed because neither the Public Health Service nor the states have the money for an extensive monitoring system for fallout.

He said it was the responsibility of Congress to make a policy, rather than to default on the problem and let the guidelines be set by others.

Calm, Cool and Collected

PHOENIX, Ariz. (P) — Liquor store clerk Roger J. Abbott took it calmly when two men waved a gun in his face.

"Now wait a minute, fellows," he suggested. "We're fully insured. I don't want any trouble."

Why don't you lock me in the cooler like everybody else does?"

The robbers complied. They also took $160, a six-pack of beer and two cartons of cigarettes.

The value of food consumed per person each day in the United States is $1.07 compared to 10 cents in India, according to Richard W. Reuter, director of the Food for Peace Program.

Mrs. Stockmans died yesterday following a four-month illness. She was a member of First Church of Christ Scientist.

Surviving are a sister and a brother.

Flint Seeking Tighter Hotel Fire Laws

FLINT (UPI) — Tighter hotel and motel fire laws have been proposed in the aftermath of a $500,000 fire here Aug. 11 that killed three persons and destroyed the six-story Adams Hotel.

Harold C. Chirgus, city fire marshal, revealed yesterday that plans are being made to draft a law requiring motel and hotel owners to use fireproof mattresses and bedding.

Chirgus made the disclosure at the same time Robert F. Leonard, Genesee County prosecutor, announced the fire was apparently caused by careless use of smoking materials. He said probably a cigarette dropped on a bed in a third-floor room in the hotel.

Leonard said the fire started in Room 234 and the mattress may have been smoldering for nearly an hour before bursting into flames.

Tea Makes It Real Thing

Pound cake mix has a twangy and interesting flavor when it's made up this way.

Tea Cake
1 package (1 pound, 1 ounce) pound cake mix
1 tablespoon instant tea
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Make up and bake the cake mix according to package directions, adding the instant tea and lemon rind to the liquid called for.

Beer Keeps 'Burgers From Sticking to Pan

If you're serving hamburgers to the crowd and dinner is held up, beer comes to the rescue. To keep the burgers hot and to prevent their sticking to the pan, cover the bottom of the skillet with beer or ale; add seasoning to taste (dry mustard, parsley, Worcestershire sauce). Simmer over low heat until serving time, and spoon the beer sauce over the burgers. Serve with glasses of cold thirst-quenching beer or ale.

Supervisors Add to Budget Recommended by Auditors

County supervisors yesterday got their first look at the county auditors' recommended $15.9-million budget for next year and immediately started to revise it.

Tentatively, the supervisors have hiked the proposed county budget by nearly $200,000 in going over the first few items.

As members of the Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee, they will either have to cut elsewhere in the budget or hike estimates of next year's receipts in the next few days in order to balance the budget.

They must have their final budget recommendation ready for the full board Sept. 9. The supervisors then have a week to adopt a budget for next year.

The committee is considering major increases in nondepartmental appropriations for social welfare and contingencies.

Chairman David Levinson said he feared the auditors took too optimistic an outlook on next year's economy in budgeting $1.6 million for welfare and general relief.

His committee tentatively raised the welfare appropriation to $1.7 million.

Members also felt that the auditors recommended $49,635 contingency fund for any unforeseen expenses fell short. They raised it tentatively to $100,000.

PAY RECOMMENDATION
The ways and means committee also received the joint salaries recommendation for county employees next year from the salaries committee and the board of annually in the lower brackets to $2,000 in supervisory positions.

It calls for $7 million, or $314,170 more than what was budgeted for salaries this year.

An additional six new positions are recommended at a cost of $23,225.

Robert Lilly, secretary-member of the auditors, said the remainder of the increase is needed to raise salaries in accordance with those being paid elsewhere in comparable jobs.

He said the amount would allow pay hikes ranging from $100 an

Quick Oriental Rice Fried With Crab

Something different, inspired by the Chinese cuisine.

Fried Rice With Crabmeat
1 tablespoon salad (not olive) oil

1 1/4 cups chilled cooked rice
1 1/4 teaspoons instant onion
1 can (3 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
5 or 6 (one-half of a 5-ounce can) water chestnuts, sliced
8 ounces frozen king crab meat, thawed
4 teaspoons soy sauce

Heat the oil in a 9- or 10-inch skillet; add the rice, onion, mushrooms, water chestnuts, crab meat and soy sauce; mix well. Heat fairly rapidly stirring as necessary. Makes 3 to 4 servings if served with another Chinese main dish.

Trial Ordered for Man in Rape of 6-Year-Old

DETROIT (U) — Norton Silvers, 28, of Livonia was ordered yesterday to stand trial on charges of abducting and attacking a 6-year-old Detroit girl.

Silvers was bound over for trial by Recorder's Judge Gerald W. Groat after his victim identified him.

Silvers is accused of stopping the child as she rode her bicycle near her home last Aug. 7. Police said he forced her into his car and drove to a field in nearby Southfield where he raped her.

Extended Debt Ceiling OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

EXTENSION: Congress has approved legislation to continue the $300-billion ceiling on the national debt until Nov. 30.

Protests that short-term extensions of the ceilings on the national debt are an irresponsible way to manage finances were overruled Tuesday as the Senate voted 57 to 31 to send the measure to President Kennedy.

Without the extension, the debt limit would have dropped at the end of this month to the permanent ceiling of $285 billion, far below the actual debt.

FLATTOP: Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric says a decision between conventional or nuclear power is the sole remaining issue holding up contracts to build another aircraft carrier.

"I better not scoop my boss," Gilpatric told a Senate Appropriations Committee hearing Tuesday while giving this word on the carrier. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is expected to announce the carrier decision when he returns from vacation. Congress authorized $310 million last year for another carrier and later voted $280 million to start construction, but no contract has been let.

MARCHERS: The Knights of Columbus, a Roman Catholic men's organization, has allocated $25,000 to help feed and house participants in the Aug. 28 civil rights march here.

Archbishop Patrick O'Boyle said in his announcement that support.

breakfast and lodging will be provided for marchers prevented by distance or illness from returning home that night. Eight Catholic parish halls and gymnasiums at Georgetown and Catholic universities will be used for lodging.

Indonesia Hit for Raiding by Sarawak

KUCHING, Sarawak (U)—The Sarawak government today put on display captured military documents, uniforms and ammunition it claims provide "indisputable evidence" that Indonesia is responsible for a series of terrorist raids in southern Sarawak.

"We at first were reluctant to believe that the Indonesian government was capable of such conduct as mounting attacks of this kind against a friendly neighbor and against fellow Southeast Asians," a government information officer said.

"But I think you will agree after examining the evidence that there can be doubt no longer."

Sarawak is a British colony scheduled for independence next week. The display included uniforms the government said represented the Tentera Nasional Indonesia (regular Indonesian Army). Indonesian passports reportedly carried by the terrorists, and grenades and ammunition military sources said could have been supplied only by neighboring Indonesia.

Romans Ate 'Snow Cream'

CATANIA, Sicily (U)—Sicily still makes some of the world's finest ice creams—and Sicilians claim that it originated here.

Back in Roman days Sicilians made an iced delicacy from the snows which remain the year round on the upper slopes of volcanic Mt. Etna. It was flavored with orange or other fruit juices.

Packed in straw, ancient Roman trade ships carried it as far as Cleopatra's court at Alexandria.

Fifty-seven of every 100 non-farm homeowner properties in the United States were mortgaged and a total mortgage debt of $117.2 billion was reported in the 1960 Census of Housing covering 15.8 million such properties.

Steel Producers Competing

By ROGER LANE, AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In recent days U.S. steel producers cut prices on polished stainless steel sheets used to make kitchen utensils, appliances and many other familiar items.

The reason: competition from stainless sheet rolled in Japan and Europe and sold for less in the United States.

The incident is symptomatic of problems that have beset the $16-billion domestic steel industry, driving down production, shrinking profits and drying up jobs.

UPHEAVAL REFLECTED It reflects a worldwide upheaval in steel production and distribution patterns that has turned the United States from an exporter of steel to a net importer.

Cutting prices hasn't stemmed the tide of some imports, especially wire products, pipe and tubing, reinforcing bars and some types of sheet and strip.

American steelmen say some foreign producers are "dumping" steel on the U.S. market, selling it at prices lower than those charged in the country of origin.

Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 producer, and David J. McDonald, president of the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers asked President Kennedy on Tuesday to do something about the dumping.

JFK TO CHECK

After a White House meeting, Blough told newsmen, Kennedy had agreed to look into the matter. He said he and McDonald didn't suggest specific action. Blough said he considers a heavy percentage of the 4.3 million tons of foreign steel sold in the United States last year to have been dumped on the market.

American steel exports exceeded imports an average of 2.7 million tons annually in the five years ended in 1958.

In each of the four years ended with 1962, the balance went the other way and the trend is continuing. The country bought 4.1 million tons of foreign steel in 1962 against 2 million tons sold abroad, for an average balance of 2.1 million tons.

MORE JOBS?

Some steel executives estimate that restoration of the export-import relationship of the middle 1960s would result in 30,000 more jobs in the domestic steel industry.

World steel production in 1959 totaled 308 million tons, with the United States accounting for 45 per cent. Output leaped in 1962 to 394 million tons, with the U.S. share cut to 25 per cent.

The United States, with some steel plants dating from the 1890s, found itself trailing in efficiency. A wide disparity in labor costs also served to push prices of domestic steel to noncompetitive levels.

"Much of the steel which was imported last year was produced in foreign plants having hourly employment costs which averaged from 60 per cent to 80 per cent lower than those of mills in this country," a trade source said.

RIVAL MATERIALS

The domestic steel industry also ran into stiffening competition from rival materials. Aluminum, concrete, plastics and glass made serious inroads into traditional steel markets in construction, auto making and other fields.

To slow down steel imports, and compete with other materials, steel executives have relied primarily on a cost-cutting drive.

American producers have attacked "dumping" in complaints filed under a 1933 federal statute. So far their complaints have been rejected, but several are pending.

Complainants must establish not only that foreign-made products were sold at unfairly low prices but that the domestic industry was damaged.

Make Adjustments for Raised Cakes

NEW YORK (UPI) — It will be some time before bakers will have to cook their own meals in outer space, but you may be having a problem in high-altitude baking at your mountain retreat this summer.

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, which makes a study of such things, has this advice on cooking in high places where the air pressure is usually lower than at sea level.

In baking, GAMA suggests, use less baking powder, and sugar and increase all liquid measurements to prevent cake and pie failures. Most package mixes incorporate necessary adjustments in their instructions.

Sound Waves Record Temperature of Ocean

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Westinghouse research engineers have devised a new kind of thermometer for taking the ocean's temperature.

The job is done with ultrasonics — sound waves too high in frequency to be audible to the human ear.

Judges of Circuit Court Among Busiest

Oakland County's 6th Judicial Circuit ranked second highest in the state in the number of cases disposed per judge during 1962, according to statistics in the annual report of Michigan Supreme Court.

The county's five circuit judges disposed of a total of 7,835 cases, an average of 1,567 per judge.

Only circuit in the state to rank higher was Washtenaw County's 22nd, where one judge disposed of 1,655 cases.

Genesee County's 7th Judicial Circuit was third with 1,371 cases disposed by each of its four judges.

Wayne County's 3rd Judicial Circuit, with 18 judges, ranked fourth with 1,271 per judge. Macomb County, the 16th Judicial Circuit, was fifth with 1,132 for each of its four judges.

Oakland County's judges also ranked second in 1961, when they disposed of 1,427 cases each. The larger average for 1962 represented a 10 per cent increase.

The number of cases started per judge, however, continued to exceed the number disposed. There were 7,870 started, or 1,574 per judge, seven more per judge than were disposed.

The number of cases pending as of Jan. 1, 1963, was 7,495, or 1,499 per judge. This was an increase over the 7,430 cases, or 1,486 per judge, pending as of Jan. 1, 1962.

The number of new cases started in 1962, however, was less than the 7,965, or 1,593 per judge, started in 1961, indicating the rate at which the judges disposed of cases was increased faster than new cases were piling up on them.

Based on 222 session days of court, the average number of cases disposed per judge figures out to seven a day.

The figures include all types of cases, including criminal, civil and divorce. They also include cases settled without trial and suits dismissed for lack of progress.

The estimated cost of fighting juvenile delinquency in New York City last year was $90 million, Sen. Joseph Clarke, D-Penn., disclosed in a recent report to the Senate.

More than a million youths between the ages of 10 and 17 were arrested last year, with nearly 600,000 charged with some form of delinquency.

Worker Gets Diploma After Losing Job

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP)—It took him 40 years to get it, but Eli Lipetz finally has received his high school diploma.

Now 56 years old, Lipetz was graduated from grammar school in 1923, then dropped out of high school to go to work.

Every time he had a chance to advance in his work his lack of a high school diploma kept a him back. He lost his last job as a Suffolk County Supreme Court attendant when the job was classified under Civil Service, necessitating a high school degree.

So Lipetz took a job as a custodian and went back to night school. Because he hadn't studied for so long he failed three times, but wouldn't give up.

Now he has his diploma and has applied for a job with the courts again.

Utah is the only state in the United States which gives a condemned man his choice of how to die—either by hanging or before a firing squad.

Boy's Gas Balloon Goes a Long Way

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP)—Larry Waits' helium-filled balloon traveled far enough, but it didn't travel fast enough.

The youngster launched a balloon in a carrier boys' contest. When the contest closed, Randy Meyers won—his balloon having gone 632 miles to Helena, Ga.

But recently Larry's balloon was found at Trenton, Maine, 1,500 miles from Magnolia. Although the contest has been over for a long time Larry will receive a prize anyway.

Laws Forbid 'Lewd' Dancing

PROSSER, Wash. (UPI)—City laws here include an ordinance forbidding such dances as The Rag, The Turkey Trot, The Texas Tommy, The Bunny Hug, The Boston Dip "or any other dance which is of a lewd, disorderly or suggestive character."

"It is expressly declared," the ordinance says, "that any dance in which the lady is required to go backward or forward with the gentleman in front of her for a distance of more than four consecutive steps shall be an indecent dance, and is hereby prohibited."

The ordinance doesn't say a word about the Twist or Limbo. It was passed March 3, 1914, and has not been amended.

Scientists Say Life Is Absent on Mars

While some distinguished scientists believe there is life on Mars, recent evidence of poison gas on the red planet belies this popular theory.

Spectroscopic studies indicate that Mars' atmosphere, which is largely nitrogen, also contains poisonous nitrogen peroxide. If the gas should be present on Mars, there could be no life as it exists on earth.

The presence of nitrogen peroxide on Mars could explain the planet's shifting polar caps, seasonal variation of its dark areas, the so-called dust storms, and perhaps its red color.

These may be manifestations of the oxides of nitrogen in response to changes in temperatures.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting itchy rash are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. They parasitize that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayer's P-W Tablets do....and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayer's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayer's P-W Vermifuge...special store for children and adults.

Junior Editors Quiz on REPTILES

QUESTION: How can one tell a crocodile from an alligator?
ANSWER: If you can imagine being called upon to judge a contest for world's ugliest beast, you'd appreciate the point of view of the boy in our picture. The alligator is the big, surly-looking brute on the left; the crocodile is the nasty specimen to the right.

The picture shows clearly how to tell these creatures apart. The alligator's snout is much wider, rounded at the end; the crocodile's nose, with a more pointed tip, is narrow for its length.

We have both an American alligator and an American crocodile—although the latter is found only in the extreme southern part of Florida. The alligator is larger, growing up to 15 feet and is a sluggish animal.

While dangerous to man, the alligator is not so much as the crocodile, a faster moving, more vicious creature, even if it is slightly smaller. Crocodiles like warmer, more salty water than alligators.

In other parts of the world—India and Africa—crocodiles grow to enormous dimensions—up to 30 feet in length, and are extremely dangerous to human beings.

FOR YOU TO DO: Find out about the special group of reptiles to which the crocodiles and alligators belong in a book on natural history. They are particularly interesting because their history goes so far back.

Calcium Deficiency Could Lead to Pains

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Brady:
 "I wonder if you would be interested in hearing a voice from the far past.

"In the Warren (Ohio) Tribune, someone had questioned the existence of a town called Penn Yan. I wrote, asking for the pamphlet on adult tetany (the pamphlet is free to anyone who provides stamped, self-addressed envelope), saying that my husband and I had such cramps and pains that we suspected, from your teachings, a calcium deficiency.

"Then I mentioned having been in school in Penn Yan, and that I felt sure the carriage-maker, Mr. Parks, turned out no such de luxe job as you had for your sorrel, Topsy.

(Mr. Parks? That must have been after Topsy's time. It was Mr. Whitfield who made the low sill, patent-leather dash, rubber-tired buggy Mickey and I sported when we were very young, very poor and very happy, for we were expecting the arrival of Lilla Rookh.)

"My letter appeared in your column (anonymously) and you asked me to write again and tell 'how much better your chassis sounds' since we began supplementing our diet with Ca and D.

"I did so, and said you were probably in your high chair at the time I lived in Penn Yan. I learned later that you were older than I.

"I lived and preached your teachings 'till my friends ran when they saw me coming, in later years after I returned to Ohio.

"In periodic examinations, the doctors can find nothing the matter with me except slight nervousness, which I blame on the 'cowboys' tearing past me in my custombuilt Hudson Hornet (an orphan).

"We came to Florida eight years ago (I was widowed on Pearl Harbor day). I still keep my sweet home on a corner under the live oaks, and don't miss much that goes on in the world.

"A reply would be very pleasant, and would keep me from spending my declining years believing that 'Old' Doctor Brady threw in the sponge."

You say "we came to Florida"—does that mean a lot of relatives or in-laws tagged along? You say "I still keep my home under the live oaks"—does that mean you live alone there? It sounds attractive.

People who question the existence of Penn Yan need only look it up in the dictionary—if they have one. The gazetteer of Webster's Dictionary says Penn Yan is in Yates county, on Keuka Lake, in western New York, and has a population of 5,000.

The slight nervousness you mention, ma'am, may very well be a manifestation of calcium deficiency. One of the physiological functions of calcium, as stated by Samson Wright in "Applied Physiology," is to "regulate excitability of nerve fibres and nerve centers."

The richest food source of calcium is milk—whole milk or skim milk—and the next best source of calcium is cheese, any and every kind of cheese.

Growing children and young adults need not less than 1½ pints of milk a day (3 glasses) and mature or elderly adults not less than a pint (two glasses) to supply the MDR (minimum daily requirement) of calcium to maintain good nutrition.

If people in general consumed an adequate daily ration of milk and cheese, they wouldn't need so much acetaminol, phenacetin, aspirin and other analgesic medicine—drugs to kill or numb their everyday aches and pains.

For one who will or cannot take two or three glasses of milk daily, three to six calcium capsules a day, as a supplement to the faulty diet, is better than nothing, but this is scarcely an adequate substitute for milk.

An adequate daily intake of calcium not only steadies the nerves but raises the ache or pain threshold, makes one less sensitive to aches, pains and other discomforts.

Remember, we are speaking of the effects of an adequate daily ration of calcium, and not of the effects of occasional doses of calcium.

Send letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, a stamped self-addressed envelope to: The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright, 1963) means many things to most parents: updating the wardrobe, purchasing school supplies, registering for school, etc.

High on your list of "must-dos" should be an eye examination. Most learning is done through a youngster's eyes and unless their eyes are working at top efficiency school achievement can't be at the child's highest level.

THE DROPOUT

A message of special interest to parents of school age young people

Educators view high school dropouts as a tragic waste of manpower. Once a potential mechanic, salesman, or secretary who could have been making a comfortable living, the dropout becomes a growing part of the labor force competing for the unskilled and semi-skilled jobs which offer an unstable income and uncertain employment.

Approximately one million teen-agers drop out of school each year for a number of reasons, ranging from personal financial needs to a dislike of school. The squandering of their talents on low-paying jobs gives them a false, temporary feeling of financial security. It is a pity that so many of them soon join the ranks of the unemployed when the demand for untrained labor decreases because of lay-offs or technological changes. Too late and too frequently dropouts realize their limited education is a handicap when their salaries show no appreciable increase over the years, while the educated worker passes him by in a career and financial sense.

Unless dire circumstances make it necessary, don't let one of your family become a "Dropout" because it is the easy way. Counsel with them and remember the school will assist too through the Student Advisor, Principal and Special Study Co-ordinator.

This is one of a series of education features published as a public service in cooperation with the Michigan Press Association, the Michigan Education Association and The Pontiac Press.

Ah, So! It's Disneyland and Elvis for Me!

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Bring a young Japanese singing sensation to Hollywood and what does he want to see?

Disneyland, Elvis Presley and Audrey Hepburn, in that order.

The singer is Kyu Sakamoto, whose record of "Sukiyaki" has been a phenomenon of the music business. Although sung in Japanese, it has sold an amazing $90,000 copies in this country.

This prompted Capitol Records to bring Kyu to Hollywood for a whirlwind trip. In three days, it included a riotous greeting by fans at Los Angeles International Airport, appearances on "two Steve Allen television shows, a cocktail reception, disc jockey interviews, visits with the mayor of Los Angeles to plug the Tokyo Olympics and the mayor of Nagoya, Los Angeles sister city.

Alas, Elvis and Audrey were tied up on movie sets. But Kyu had a rip-roaring visit to Walt Disney's pleasure park.

He did get to meet a movie star, Jane Powell was at the next table during our interview, and I introduced him. He was thrilled—and amazed that she had heard his record.

GENUINE HUMILITY

Kyu is a bright-faced lad of 21 whose humility seems genuine. He was astounded by the turnout of 2,000 teen-agers on his arrival. They had been lured by promise of a free record per person, but there was nothing artificial about their enthusiasm. It was a near riot.

"I was scared," Kyu admitted. He said he has experienced crowds in Japan, but they are more restrained.

His comments were necessarily fragmentary, since they filtered through an interpreter.

"My English is very bad," he declared. "I am trying to learn, but I am stupid."

He was the ninth child of a restaurant owner in a Tokyo suburb and was born too late to remember the war or its aftermath. His father served various kinds of Japanese food — "not sukiyaki." Kyu said with a smile, appeared in theaters and television and in three movies. Last year, he did some television in Europe. This is his first visit to America. His impressions?

He became a rock 'n' roll singer and has appeared in three movies. Last year, he did some television in Europe. This is his first visit to America. His impressions?

VELLY COOL! — At the wheel of Disneyland's fire engine is Kyu Sakamoto, 21-year-old Japanese singing rage, who is visiting the U.S. to boost sales of his record, "Sukiyaki," already a $90,000 copy seller.

Actor Wants Wife Cited

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Jacques Bergerac wants his estranged wife, actress Dorothy Malone, cited for contempt of court because, he says, she makes faces at him when he visits their two daughters.

Bergerac testified Tuesday in court that Miss Malone was trying to alienate the girls, Mimi, 8, and Diane, 18 months, from him.

Bergerac and Miss Malone, both 35, are awaiting trial of divorce suits against each other.

Nuclear Affairs Deputy Named by Allied Chief

PARIS (AP)—A deputy for nuclear affairs was appointed on Tuesday by U.S. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Supreme Allied Commander, Europe.

A command spokesman said the post will be filled by Lt. Gen. P. V. P. Van Rolloghem of the Belgian air force.

By 1970, if the present trend continues, the average American will have achieved a high school education. In 1960, 78 per cent had at least elementary schooling, and 41 per cent had graduated from high school.

Trio Robbed at Knife Point

Three youths were robbed at knife point last night by two men who jumped into their car when it stopped for a traffic signal.

Robbed of a total of $3 were p.m.

Raymond H. Brooks, 20, 13 Florence; Earl Shearer, 18, 51½ S. Marshall; and Michael Dray, 14, of 43 Hudson.

Brooks, the driver, said after the men forced their way into the car at Bagley and Wesson, they ordered him to drive to Maple. The robbery occurred at 9:30 p.m.

Ann Arbor Will Seek Arrest of 'Sit-Ins'

By United Press International
Warrants for the arrest of civil rights demonstrators who conducted a 24-hour "sit-in" at the Ann Arbor City Hall will be sworn out today, according to Assistant City Attorney Sanford Elden.

Elden said the persons who remained behind Monday while the City Hall was closed for the night would be arrested for trespassing either by city ordinance or state law.

The group, all members of the Ann Arbor Area Fair Housing Association, has been conducting picket lines and demonstrations at the City Hall for several weeks in protest over alleged housing discrimination in the Ann Arbor area.

La Mar Millern, president of the group, has charged that 90 per cent of the Negroes in the city live in a ghetto. Miller was reported to be inside the council chambers with about nine others.

In Highland Park, an enclave of Detroit, Mayor Mark E. Toren said Negroes demanding police, fire and other city posts must be prepared to take Civil Service exams and compete with other applicants for jobs.

Stores made his remarks before a meeting of two Negro groups which charged that racial discrimination exists in city jobs.

"We're not going to fire anybody and replace him with a Negro," Storen said. "Get your people to write exams and if they're on the top of the resultant list, they'll get the jobs."

And in Detroit, James Meredith, recent Negro graduate of the University of Mississippi, is slated to give an address at the King Solomon Baptist Church this Sunday.

Poetry-Spouting Victim Foils Holdup Attempt

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Police said yesterday Michael Wirt, 21, failed in a holdup attempt because his would-be victim led him into a conversation about poetry.

Rosewell Huff, 47, found Wirt in his apartment Monday with a gun in one hand and a poetry book in the other. After distracting him with talk of poetry, Huff dashed outside and called police who arrested Wirt.

Nothing Left to Do But Lean Back, Relax

MOVELY, Mo. (UPI) — William Houston gave up trying to start his car stalled on a railroad crossing yesterday. He lit a cigarette, stood back, and watched his car destroyed as a freight train dragged it 150 yards down the track.

Local Junior 9 Claims State Class F Crown

Pontiac's two representatives in the state junior baseball championships at Jackson yesterday came home with half the glory they sought.

A three-hit, 16-strike out performance by Dugan Fife highlighted a Class F state championship for the Auburn Heights Boys' Club team sponsored by the Jim Barnowsky Pontiac dealership in Rochester.

But the club's Class D entry was the victim of a 2-0 shutout at the hands of Grand Rapids which won its third straight "D" title.

A car caravan that grew to 32 cars, before it reached Jackson supported the efforts of the local teams.

In Class E, Allen Park won the title, 6-1, for the title.

Both Pontiac representatives won their semifinal rounds. The Class F squad took Jackson, 15-4, with a 12-hit attack, after the older team had ousted Dearborn Heights, 8-1.

BIG RALLY

Fife stopped Allen Park in the "F" title round, 3-0, contributing a triple to the winners' three-run lead.

AU SABLE RIVER QUEEN — Darlene Own, Mio's forestry exposition queen, is helping promote the annual Au Sable River canoe race Oct. 5-6. The paddlers are required to leave the river at the end of the first day. They will resume the next morning. In former years the race was an endurance run from Grayling to Oscoda.

Au Sable Canoe Race Set Oct. 5-6

MIO (AP)—Hunting will take a back seat as a fall sport during the first weekend in October as far as the folks of the Au Sable River valley are concerned.

The main outdoor attraction there will be the annual Au Sable River valley canoe race, largest and oldest continuous event of its kind in Northern Michigan.

Once again this year, the race will be staged down the river on Oct. 4 and 5.

Last year, for the first time, the race was moved from its back seat as a fall sport during the first weekend in October as far as the folks of the Au Sable River valley are concerned.

Reg Armstrong of Pontiac is taking a ribbing these days. The German short-hair he handled in Sunday's obedience division of the Pontiac Kennel Club broke out of contention and finished with a poor 163 out of a possible 200 points.

The reason for the digs is that Armstrong is president of the Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club and annually teaches several classes in obedience.

Adding insult to injury was the fact that his wife, Barbara, also an accomplished trainer, finished the Companion Dog Excellent degree (CDX) for her short-hair, Lady Velvet Greta; daughter Linda won the open division of junior showmanship; and daughter Sue directed her golden retriever, Gold Lord Velvet Buck, to reserve breed honors.

U.S. Trapshooting Meet Enters Final Rounds

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—One of trapshooting's most coveted championships, the wide open 16-yard North American title, was up for decision today at the 64th Grand American.

Today's event winds up the 16-day division in the week-long Roaring Grand. The final days will be taken up by handicap and doubles shooting.

The little fellows had their day Tuesday as the class championships were decided. In some added events, the Illinois five-man team broke 987 of 1,000 targets and out-shot all other states. Missouri was second with 985 and Ohio third with 984.

In a special doubles race, a tuneup for Saturday's finale, Larry Gravesstock, of Amarillo, Tex., broke the entire 100 twin clays, which are thrown simultaneously. It was only the second perfect score in doubles ever registered here and only the 27th ever made in the country.

Don Orlich, former Green Bay Packer football player and now manager of a gambling club, broke 50 straight for his third straight men's crown.

Peace Corps Sets Testing

A new round of Peace Corps placement tests will be administered at over 800 post offices and college campuses Saturday beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Local testing will be in Room 123, Federal Bldg., 231 Lafayette,

Detroit. This will be the last testing until Oct. 19.

Peace Corps officials said the test, which will take all day, is noncompetitive. It is merely a placement exam. Potential volunteers must take the test and also fill out a Peace Corps questionnaire.

Before the Common Market could be set up in 1958, the six countries involved had to come to terms with '2,000 conflicting customs regulations.

Cool Weather, Rain Slow State Harvest

LANSING (U) — Recent cool weather and rains have slowed up the harvesting of both fruits and vegetables, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service said today.

blueberry harvest was at a peak in the west central section of the state. The raspberry harvest was completed in the Alpena area.

Adequate moisture was reported for most of the state, although some scattered counties still needed rain.

The first successful amputation performed under local anesthesia was credited to the late Dr. George Washington Crile, prominent Ohio surgeon.

Hot Line Expected in Operation by End of August

NEW YORK (AP) — The Defense Communications Agency hopes to have the Washington - Moscow hot line in operation by the end of this month.

Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and the Radio Corp. of America announced yesterday they had received contracts for work on the United States end of the line.

The setup will provide continuous direct communications between the White House and the Kremlin, mainly as a precaution against accidental war.

The government's civilian payroll reached a record of $14,296,000,000 last year.

S.C. Parks to Close; Integration Feared

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — South Carolina's 26 public parks will be closed indefinitely Sept. 8 to avoid racial integration.

Some men have the reputation for being energetic when they're just nervous. . . . Nowadays it seems that some Hollywood couples marry for love, some for money, and most for a short time.

Many men who complain about being up to their ears in work are often just lying down on the job. Earl Wilson.

China Says 'No Buildup'

TOKYO (AP) — Red China's foreign ministry denied yesterday an Indian claim of a Red Chinese Army buildup along the Indian-Chinese border. A statement issued by the ministry's spokesman said New China News Agency in a broadcast monitored here was in reply to Indian Prime Minister Nehru's charges that the Chinese had brought fresh troops into Tibet and increased their forces on the Himalayan border with India.

World production of natural rubber in 1962 is expected to slightly exceed consumption of 2,130,000 tons.

Commerce Head to Visit 3 Foreign Trade Fairs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges will be the U.S. representative at three international trade fairs in Europe next month.

Hodges will visit trade fairs at Zagreb, Yugoslavia, on Sept. 7, at Brno, Czechoslovakia, on Sept. 8 and at Bari, Italy, on Sept. 10.

City Teacher at Seminar

A Pontiac Northern High School teacher, Miss Anne Sheppard, 1118 Pelham, is attending a summer journalism seminar at Syracuse University, New York. Miss Sheppard was awarded a full-expense fellowship by The Newspaper Fund, Inc., to attend the Empire State Teachers' Press Seminar. She is faculty adviser for Pontiac's Northern's bi-monthly student newspaper, and is also a teacher of homemaking.

Scientists at Michigan State University are seeking to isolate chemical "growth inhibitors." The scientists have found that most seeds are dormant at the time of harvest because they contain chemical compounds which inhibit germination.

Viet Nam Gets Radio With Anti-Red Channel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is sending 10,000 radios to South Viet Nam at a cost of $140,000.

The U.S. Agency for International Development said yesterday the radios contain a built-in wave trap preventing reception from Communist-controlled transmitters in North Viet Nam.

The first man to announce a the 1921 World Series between baseball game over radio was the New York Yankees and Graham McNamee. He handled Giants.

Whither Weather?

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is nothing like a good crusade to start the day off right.

Are you forming a committee to make our highways safe for water buffalo? Count on me to be a block chairman.

Need someone to solicit funds for a campaign to rehabilitate wayward icebergs? I'll ring a hundred doorbells before night.

Here of late, however, I've been having some trouble finding worthy causes that I can identify with. The new crusades I've been asked to join all seem lacking in appeal.

Take this scheme to add a prefabricated breakfast to the line of frozen TV dinners. Some experts are predicting that it will destroy the last remnants of Western civilization.

I agree that a TV breakfast will further weaken the fabric of our society, but there are offsetting factors that deter me from enlisting in the campaign against it.

I have found that the aluminum trays the meals come in are just handy for coloring Easter eggs.

It is much the same with an appeal for help that I received from William L. Hopper, crusading assistant city editor of the Greenville (Ohio) Advocate.

My lofty position enables me to spread my influence to quite a number of readers," Hopper wrote, "but there may be a few million readers outside my sphere."

Therefore, he urged that I draw upon my experience as a crusader to help "cut away temperatures today. For tonight and tomorrow, the weatherman will bring hail, mixed with sleet, partly followed by tornadoes.

It is his contention that a weatherman couldn't possibly cause such abrupt climatic changes. In the interest of scientific accuracy, he says, such stories should read: "The weatherwoman, etc."

Although it pains me to turn down a colleague, I must regretfully reject the Hopper crusade on grounds that it likewise is based on a fallacy.

In order to be meteorologically correct, the stories would have to read: "The weather committee, etc."

City Tax Rate Seen to Be Highest Ever

— Harmon Gives Fiscal Report at Pontiac's Commission Meeting

Commissioner Charles H. Harmon laid the groundwork for "the highest tax rate in Pontiac's history" in a financial report presented at last night's Commission meeting.

Harmon attacked what he termed the "deficit financing" of the city in recent years.

Prime reasons he cited for this financing were the use of unappropriated surplus as an income item to balance city budgets and financial limitations in the City Charter.

Harmon has strongly opposed any use of surplus to balance the annual budget since he was elected to the commission in 1962.

He said the city's present cash crisis was the result of the city using surpluses to balance deficit budgets since the mid-1960s to keep the tax rate down.

"It might come to levying a year and a half of taxes in one year" to overcome the charter provision for a Jan. 1-Dec. 31 budget and a July tax collection to finance that budget, Harmon said.

Commissioner William H. Taylor noted that "the commission has been made aware of this by the administrative staff many times."

WARNED ON USE
Both former City Manager Walter K. Williams and suspended City Manager Robert A. Stierer had warned that use of surplus as an income item was not sound and should be discontinued.

"The city had the tax base and extra mileage available and didn't have to raise its cash position," Harmon explained.

He pointed out that covering budget deficits with surplus had gradually reduced the surplus to nothing. The surplus had previously been used to keep the city operating from Jan. 1 to July tax collections.

Harmon's figures, supported by City Finance Director Marvin Alward, showed budget deficits for six of the last seven years ranging from $9,883 in 1956 to $412,639 in 1961. The budget was $350,919 in the red last year.

"This is not a sound fiscal policy," Harmon said.

Resident Rebukes Officials

City Commission interference with the police department drew the ire of a city resident attending the commission meeting last night.

Edward C. Souriall, 867 Peninsula, rose at the meeting was opened to the public, and chastized the commission for pressure on the police vice squad.

Souriall deplored the fact that the city had to "wait for federal agents to come in and break up rackets" which he felt "the police were well aware of in advance."

"We never needed the FBI in this town until you people put the heat on the police department to take the heat off," he said to commissioners.

He was referring to a July 19 raid by federal agents and state police which uncovered a $1.5-million racket in the Pontiac area, according to federal agents.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry defended the commission against the charges and asserted that he personally "was not engaged in any illegal activities."

Henry accused Souriall of "talking about things you don't know anything about."

Angry exchanges between Henry and Souriall were finally quelled down by Mayor Pro Tem Winford E. Bolton, with catcalls and "boos" directed at Henry and cheers from the overflow crowd following Souriall's remarks.

"The basic principle involved here is that the manager obeys the commission and the police chief obeys the manager," Henry asserted in reference to the commission's recent suspension of City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

Commissioner Loy L. Leford added, "We told Mr. Stierer that we wanted this city cleaned up and promised he'd have full backing from the commission." Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. argued that "the police chief couldn't effectively carry out our recommendations because he was constantly plagued and bogged down by petty complaints from commissioners."

Gov. Romney Appoints 7 to Commission on Rights

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has announced seven appointments to Michigan's new Civil Rights Commission.

Among those named was William T. Gossett of 420 Goodhue, Bloomfield Hills, former vice president and general counsel for Ford Motor Co. and currently a special consultant to President Kennedy on international trade.

The eight-member bipartisan commission, created by the new state constitution, will come into formal existence Jan. 1. Romney said he will appoint an eighth member early next month.

Named as co-chairman of the commission were John Feikens of Grace Pointe Park and Damon Keith of Detroit.

Feikens, a Republican, is a Detroit attorney and former federal judge. Keith, a Democrat and also an attorney, is a member and former president of the Detroit Housing Commission and is chairman of the Civil Rights Committee of the Detroit Bar Association.

Romney said he is naming the members early so the commission can start its preliminary work at once. Both Feikens and Keith agreed to this approach, the governor said.

Other members named to the commission were Richard Cross of Detroit, board chairman of American Motors Corp. and chairman of the Detroit Commission on Community Relations.

Rev. A. A. Banks Jr. of Detroit, pastor of the Second Baptist Church and chairman of the Detroit Council of Churches Committee on Civil Rights and Christian Race Relations.

Sidney Shevitz, Detroit attorney and president of the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Detroit.

Rev. Theodore La Marre, pastor of St. Joseph Catholic Church of Saginaw.

Diem Declares State of Siege; Arrest Monks

Strict Curfew, Control by Military Imposed to End Crisis

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Troops and police seized Buddhist pagodas throughout South Viet Nam today in a crackdown ordered by President Ngo Dinh Diem. Many monks and nuns were arrested.

Seeking to end a three-month-old crisis, Diem instituted a state of siege that included a strict national curfew and military control. He remained at the helm.

The Saigon radio announced raids were made on three pagodas in the capital.

Though the monks are pledged to nonviolence, it said a submarine gun, 14 plastic explosive charges and 10 daggers were seized at the Ravada Pagoda.

Information reaching Washington through communications systems not subject to censorship by Diem's government indicated there had been no Buddhist attempt to unseat Diem violently and no fighting between government forces and the Buddhists.

A campaign of Buddhist leaders allegedly aimed to win "religious freedom and social justice" has complicated for more than three months the war against Communist efforts to swing South Viet Nam into the Red camp.

It flared when troops broke up a Buddhist demonstration May 8 at the city of Hue. Eleven persons were killed. Prosecution of the troops and indemnity for the families of the victims is among demands pressed by Buddhists.

Ford Strike to Idle 27,000

Plants to Be Touched Include Sterling Twp.

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP)—A strike of 3,750 production workers at the Ford Motor Co.'s stamping plant in Chicago Heights, a company spokesman says, will make idle some 27,000 workers in 20 plants by tomorrow night.

Layoffs are expected in plants in Monroe, Mich.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Cleveland, Ohio, and Dearborn, Mich. About 1,000 workers were scheduled to be laid off last night at the Sterling Township, Mich. plant, company said.

Earlier layoffs were made at plants in Dearborn, Ypsilanti, Livonia and Rawsonville, Mich.; Sharonville and Sandusky, Ohio, and Indianapolis.

Meanwhile company and United Auto Workers officials resume negotiations today in an attempt to settle the strike, now in its sixth day. Little progress was reported in bargaining talks yesterday, officials reported.

The strike started last Friday when the workers walked out, protesting the company's failure to settle 74 grievances regarding health and safety conditions at the plant.

The strike already has idled some 11,000 workers. The company said layoffs at participating plants are necessary to balance stocks in preparation for the reopening of assembly plants for 1964 model production.

New Drilling Starts for Trapped Miners

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Drilling in the tunnel where they fled at a new escape hole for three trapped miners began today.

But a mine inspector—Arthur Joyce—cast doubt today that there had been any contact with Louis Bova, 42.

The other trapped men, David Fellin, 56, and Henry Thorne, 26, set off a scene of wild rejoicing.

RESCUE DIAGRAM — This illustration shows the progress in the attempt to save three trapped miners. While two of the men below ground were trying to reach the third, rescuers started drilling a new escape hole (extreme right) at dawn today. Drilling of a previously planned escape hole stopped when ceiling above the two miners cracked.

JFK Disputes Teller

Top Scientist Backs Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department's top scientist testified today the Soviets could not gain any substantial advantage under the limited nuclear test-ban treaty even if they "cheat to the maximum extent possible."

Dr. Harold Brown, defense director of research and engineering, added that if the treaty is fully observed, U.S. nuclear superiority over the Russians actually will improve.

Brown took issue with the views expressed yesterday by Dr. Edward Teller, Air Force nuclear consultant, who said ratification of the treaty would be "a dreadful and tragic mistake."

Brown told senators considering the treaty:

"Having satisfied myself as completely as is humanly possible that the proposed treaty cannot substantially impair our strategic superiority if we take the steps which we can to continue our nuclear arms race, I am convinced that the treaty would be a dreadful and tragic mistake."

Circular-Shaped Building Eyed

Charles L. Langs, developer of downtown Pontiac urban renewal lands, wants to jump, but he doesn't know how high.

Langs wants a circular-shaped office building as part of a proposed plan for redevelopment of the central business district, but he does not know how high it should be.

Langs would erect his donut-shaped building on 7.3 acres of land at the perimeter road and West Pike. It would be bounded on the east by South Saginaw and on the south by Orchard Lake Road.

Costing 15 per cent more to build than a conventional structure, the building would be "of the most modern design."

Langs plans an interior courtyard with a plaza with one or two reflecting pools. The building would house offices of doctors, lawyers, insurance firms and similar professional services.

He said it might also contain banking facilities, a restaurant, broker's office and even a show room of some type.

The developer said the top floors would protrude over the ground floor, giving a canopy effect. There would be 38 offices per floor except for the first floor.

Langs also plans an enclosed tunnel or bridge crossing South Saginaw, connecting with a planned parking lot.

To help the developer determine the need for downtown office space, The Pontiac Press publishes the accompanying coupon.

Duvalier Denies Rebel Charges

Haiti Enmeshed in Word War

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
High, razor-backed mountain ridges cut the border between Haiti and the Dominican Republic which together share the island of Hispaniola.
The ridges are not high enough to be snow-covered but high enough to discourage the palm. And in densely populated Haiti, even the tops of these impenetrable ridges are inhabited by peasant families, eking out a bare existence on tiny plots handed down from father to son for the better part of 200 years.
Their telegraph line is the totem.

From these rugged mountains, Haitian rebel leader Gen. Leon Cantave, fighting in the manner of Castro against Batista in the early days of the Cuba revolt, hopes to bring down the dictatorship of President Francois Duvalier who likes to be known as "Papa Doc."

So far it has been a war of conflicting claims, charges and denials.
In the excitement of Cantave's first strike on Aug. 5, rebel sources jubilantly fixed his strength at 500 men. That number finally dwindled to 100 or perhaps as few as 15 or 20.

In the Organization of American States, the Duvalier government charged that Cantave's invasion had been aided and abetted by the neighboring Dominican government of President Juan Bosch who last May threatened to carry out an invasion of his own against Haiti.
The Dominicans denied the charge.

For the United States, the situation was an embarrassment. It has no love for Duvalier but on the other hand does not want Bosch accused of intervention.
CONCERN FOR FAMILIES

In the total breakdown of Haitian communications there also was concern for the safety of scattered American families, wives and families of some of whom had been permitted to return to Haiti only days before.

For both Duvalier and his enemy, Cantave, there were frustrations.
If Cantave had expected Haiti's beaten-down peasantry to flock to his colors, he was disappointed for the Haitian peasantry will go only with a sure winner.

But Cantave, a professional soldier who fought the dictatorial ambitions of both Duvalier and his predecessor Paul E. Maguire, is popular with the Haitian army, a fact which made the army less than reliable for Duvalier.

Further, if rebel claims to have shot down an Haitian Air Force plane are true, then Duvalier has lost exactly half of his air force.
Duvalier himself showed little disposition to talk on Cantave in the northeastern mountains from which the rebels appeared to be operating.

British Peer in Commons Without Title

LONDON (UPI) — Anthony Wedgwood Benn, the first British Peer ever to renounce his title, won back his old seat in the House of Commons last night by swamping three opponents in a by-election at Bristol.

The victory by the 38-year-old "persistent commoner" had been expected. He will take his seat when parliament reconvenes in October.

It set the stage for the resumption of a political career in the opposition Labor party that many observers believe holds a brilliant future.

Benn was forced out of the House of Commons after representing Bristol for a decade when his father, Viscount Stansgate, died in November 1960.

By assuming the hereditary title, Benn was forced into the House of Lords which he once termed the "outer Mongolia" of British politics. Lords is virtually powerless.

But Benn led a campaign for a peerages reform act to permit those who wanted to renounce their titles and run for Commons.

Titled persons are forbidden to sit in Commons under British Law and tradition. The reform act passed last month.

Instead, it appeared to be Duvalier's hope that he can sit tight in Port au Prince until his government "speculators" can bring in an expected $20 million from the coffee crop in October. This to protect him through the same democratic processes he himself has destroyed.
As for Cantave's chances, said a Washington acquaintance: "If any Haitian can do the job, it is Cantave."

Joe Kelly Arrests Joe Kelly in N.Y.

MINNEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Detective Joseph Kelly of the forger squad really put his heart into his work when he was assigned to bring in a rubber check artist.
The fellow was a signing his worthless checks with the name "Joseph Kelly."
Kelly — the real one, arrested

Kelly — the bogus one, at his home. Reported the detective: "When I flashed my badge and introduced myself as Joe Kelly, the detective, the man grimed and shook his head in disbelief.
"Well, how about that?" he said.
There were 66,300 entries in the last edition of the Columbia Encyclopedia. The new publication this fall is expected to have 75,000.

Fall Fertilizer Aids Lawns

Moscow Sun Sets on Molotov

MOSCOW (AP) — A little man with aluminum gray eyes and a black mustache got out of a big car at Berlin's Reich Chancellery in 1940 and was whisked into an important conference with Adolf Hitler. This honored guest was Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet foreign minister and right-hand man of Stalin.

Where is he today? On extremely rare occasions, a little man with aluminum gray eyes and a gray-white mustache strolls with his wife in a park, not noticed, not wanting to be noticed.

That happens to those who lose out in the Soviet Union.

Molotov, 72, lost out in one of the most dramatic struggles of Soviet history. In 1957, four years after Stalin died, he made the mistake of trying to drive out of power a rising man named Nikita Khrushchev.

Molotov, who for over a quarter of a century was one of the big figures in shaping the government and foreign policy of the Soviet Union, was named Soviet ambassador to Mongolia. Later he was transferred to Vienna as representative to an international committee dealing with peaceful uses of atomic energy.

BIG LETDOWN

It was a letdown for a man who had traded cold stares and colder words with the great of the world — Eisenhower, Truman, Churchill, Ernest Bevin, Dulles, Gen. Marshall.

In 1961, when Khrushchev met President Kennedy in Vienna, there was a great lineup of Russians as the train came in from Moscow. At the head of the line were Austrian officials, the Soviet ambassador and embassy personnel. Far down the line, among the junior clerks, stood the strangely withered little man whose cold

"nyet" played a major role in driving Western nations into a defensive alliance against communism.

Khrushchev shook hands with Molotov, exchanged a few quiet words on a suddenly hushed station platform, and went on.

Four months later, Khrushchev felt that the old Stalin group needed another going over in a revived attack on the "cult of personality." In the congress of the Soviet party, Molotov and his associates were denounced again. Scores of murders were attributed to them.

In November, a month after the congress closed, he returned to Moscow by train. Only the secret police, his daughter and Western newsmen met him. His daughter led him and Mrs. Molotov to a car.

with gripe. Not a word of it was in the Soviet press.

There has been no report that Molotov was pensioned, but doubtless he has been. He and his wife evidently live with their daughter and her husband in an apartment not far from the foreign office.

He can't travel abroad, nor apparently even in the Soviet Union. It is not known publicly what he does.

Parochial School Bus Law Is Constitutional — Kelley

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has ruled that the so-called parochial school bus law passed by the 1963 legislature — under which public schools must furnish transportation to private school students — is constitutional.

Kelley, in a 20-page opinion, said the law must be regarded as a public welfare benefit to parents and children because it helps them to comply with laws requiring school attendance.

He said it fulfills the requirements of the 1st Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and also is in accord with Michigan's new constitution, which goes into effect Jan. 1.

The law, said Kelley, "assures the regular and safe attendance of Michigan children at state-approved schools, both public and non-public, and is a further implementation of the policy expressed in the Michigan Constitution and our compulsory education laws."

Kelley's opinion on the validity of the law was sought by Sen. William Leppien, R-Saginaw.

Approved overwhelmingly by lawmakers and signed by Gov. George Romney, the law will become effective July 1, 1964.

It will require public school districts which furnish transportation to their own students to do the same for parochial and private school students residing within their borders, provided they live at least one and one-half miles from a school.

Some church groups and other organizations have criticized the law but thus far there have been no reported efforts to challenge its validity in court.

TO ASSIST PARENTS

Kelley said the "purpose and primary effect" of the law is to assist parents in complying with the compulsory education laws requiring schooling for children between the ages of 6 and 16.

"This is in fulfillment of a secular legislative purpose that neither advances nor inhibits religion," said the attorney general.

He noted that the constitutional convention, in its deliberations over the new document, came up with wording that was regarded by some as restricting the use of state school aid money for such a purpose.

This language subsequently was clarified, Kelley pointed out, to make certain it could not be misconstrued to bar transportation.

Posh and Practical Sweater Wardrobe now Possible for Budget-Minded Students

Sweaters are stealing the scene at schools this fall. The days when two or three sweaters would fill all requirements are definitely over. The biggest problem for the budget-minded seems to be exactly how many sweaters can be termed "sufficient" to suit all style requirements and occasions.

The pullover and cardigan, perennial pair for all seasons and the bread-and-butter of school wardrobes, have taken a turn for the unusual.

Replacing the "sloppy joe" or simple, shapeless styles that used to top skirts, slacks and blue jeans are brightly printed patterns, neatly tailored knit jackets and brilliantly dyed pull-overs, all created by designers who harken to the European influence.

The new trend is definitely for sweaters with individuality and versatility.

That expensive-looking imported sweater, envy-of-the-campus, and property of a select few fashion leaders, has found its way into the popular domain via the new, young designers and the new wool blends with Eastman Kodel polyester that make them practical to wear.

Sweaters with floral and paisley prints create a decidedly feminine look for coeds who make their cardigans do double duty for school hours and, as evening cover-ups. The saddle-shoulder effect, long a French and Italian favorite, is now being used for children's styles because of its easy fit and trim look.

For men, the jacket-sweater has gained prominence, often trimmed tyrolean-fashion with contrasting edging and chain closings.

Prices are not prohibitive for these distinctive style and care features. The new knit blends make the most high fashion look completely practical and eliminates all care worries, yet the soft wool hand and appearance is retained.

Top honors go to the print sweater this fall. A perfect cover-up for cool days on campus, it also doubles as an evening wrap over date dresses. This cardigan, a knit blend of wool and Eastman Kodel polyester is in a porcelain blue toile pattern on a white background and will retain its shape and machine wash and dry ability. It retails for approximately $8.

Apple-red sweaters, matched to pleated plaid skirts, will make a brilliant entrance into the fall school season. The sweaters are cut with a continental air and shaped at the shoulders with saddle sleeves. The box pleated skirts take a new twist and show their colors on the bias, the new feminine way for tailored fashions. Sweaters are about $5 and $6, and skirts about $7.

The zippered jacket-sweater takes first place in the student's wardrobe this year. Tyrolean touches in the chain fastening and contrasting trim further reflect the European influence in sweater styles. Elbow patches are added to this shaker stitch knit fashion which retails for approximately $15.

Flint Seeking Tighter Hotel Fire Laws

FLINT (UPI) — Tighter hotel and motel fire laws have been proposed in the aftermath of a $500,000 fire here Aug. 11 that killed three persons and destroyed the six-story Adams Hotel.

Harold C. Chirgin, city fire marshal, revealed yesterday that plans are being made to draft a law requiring motel and hotel owners to use fireproof mattresses and bedding.

Chirgin made the disclosure at the same time Robert F. Leonard, Genesee County prosecutor, announced the fire was apparently caused by careless use of smoking materials. He said probably a cigarette dropped on a bed in a third-floor room in the hotel.

Leonard said the fire started in Room 234 and the mattress may have been smoldering for nearly an hour before bursting into flames.

County supervisors yesterday got their first look at the county auditors' recommended $15.9-million budget for next year and immediately started to revise it.

Tentatively, the supervisors have hiked the proposed county budget by nearly $200,000 in going over the first few items.

As members of the Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee, they will either have to cut elsewhere in the budget or hike estimates of next year's receipts in the next few days in order to balance the budget.

They must have their final budget recommendation ready for the full board Sept. 9. The supervisors then have a week to adopt a budget for next year.

The committee is considering major increases in nondepartmental appropriations for social welfare and contingencies.

Chairman David Levinson said he feared the auditors took too optimistic an outlook on next year's economy in budgeting $1.6 million for welfare and general relief.

His committee tentatively raised the welfare appropriation to $1.7 million.

Members also felt that the auditors recommended $49,635 contingency fund for any unforeseen expenses fell short. They raised it tentatively to $100,000.

PAY RECOMMENDATION
The ways and means committee also received the joint salaries recommendation for county employees next year from the salaries committee and the board of auditors.

It calls for $7 million, or $314,170 more than what was budgeted for salaries this year.

An additional six new positions are recommended at a cost of $23,225.

Robert Lilly, secretary-member of the auditors, said the remainder of the increase is needed to raise salaries in accordance with those being paid elsewhere in comparable jobs.

He said the amount would allow pay hikes ranging from $100 annually in the lower brackets to $2,000 in supervisory positions.

According to Lilly, the fact

City Settles Case Appeal on Renewal

The City Commission settled one of its urban renewal appeal cases last night with the signing of an agreement with Charles Finkelstein, of East Side Auto Parts.

The settlement of $73,000 was the same as the court awarded the owners of the auto parts establishment.

Five property owners and eight parcels of land were involved in the appeal to the State Supreme Court of court awards in urban renewal condemnation.

The commission approved the agreement, which calls for the rezoning of the auto parts firm's new location at 896 Oakland from manufacturing-1 to manufacturing-3.

The agreement also stipulates that urban renewal pay the $7,340 to move the firm to its new location.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said East Side Auto Parts was the principal property owner in the appeal.

He said another agreement should be reached by next week.

Trial Ordered for Man in Rape of 6-Year-Old

DETROIT (AP) — Norton Silvers, 38, of Livonia was ordered yesterday to stand trial on charges of abducting and attacking a 6-year-old Detroit girl.

Silvers was bound over for trial by Recorder's Judge Gerald W. Groat after his victim identified him.

Silvers is accused of stopping the child as she rode her bicycle near her home last Aug. 7. Police said he forced her into his car and drove to a field in nearby Southfield where he raped her.

Waterford Eyes Airport Plans

A Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC) committee last night launched a study into proposed expansion plans of Pontiac Municipal Airport.

When the study is completed, the 29-member committee will recommend a council stand on the airport issue.

Donald Smith, 2596 Williams Lake, was named general chairman of the study and Mrs. Robert McIntosh, 2598 Williams Lake, will be cochairman.

The committee also established subcommittees to research present airport use, the effect of expansion on adjacent property, values of this property and legal aspects of the proposed expansion. A fifth subcommittee will handle publicity.

Homer Hoskins, airport manager, outlined airport plans when he spoke at the Aug. 6 general meeting of the GWCC.

A show of hands at that meeting indicated that the vast majority of the 140 in attendance opposed expansion.

The council's steering committee already has indicated opposition to the airport expansion.

Mrs. Edmund L. Windeler, former council president, said the committee may have a recommendation prepared by its next meeting Sept. 5.

The next general meeting of the GWCC is slated for Sept. 10.

Bloomfield Bonds Get State Approval

Sale of $2.12 million in bonds to finance installation of mains which will carry Detroit water to Bloomfield Township has been approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

Under the supervision of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, construction of the mains is to begin in mid-October and take about seven months. The township will pay off the bonds through water revenue and debt-retirement service charge to customers.

Cereal, Bacon and Fruit Are Put Together

Start off summer weekends or holidays with an extra special gourmet breakfast. Use some imagination and plan a menu which provides the necessary food values plus some unusual taste treats. Serve it in the early morning dewiness of the garden or on a terrace.

Begin the meal with a tall glass of orange juice, followed by Honey Bacon Scramble, hot rolls, butter and jam, and a pot of steaming coffee. Honey Bacon Scramble is a delectable combination of crisp bacon, apple wedges, and crunchy, honey coated rice cereal.

That's a breakfast menu that's guaranteed to tempt early morning appetites and create sunny dispositions.

Honey Bacon Scramble
 1/2 pound bacon
 2 cups apple wedges (about 2 medium apples)
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 1 cup honey coated rice cereal

Cook bacon until crisp; crumble and drain on absorbent paper. Fry apple wedges until tender in bacon fat. Melt butter in another skillet, add cereal and cook 45 minutes or until hot, stirring with a fork. To serve, sprinkle bacon over apple wedges and top with more cereal. Makes 6 servings.

Buy Frozen Livers

Skewer cookery: thread chicken livers and small mushrooms on small skewers. Brush with French dressing and broil on one side; turn, brush with more dressing and finish broiling.

HONEY BACON SCRAMBLE—To really rouse the family on a summer weekend, serve a gourmet breakfast in the garden. Feature Honey Bacon Scramble, an unusual combination of crisp bacon, apple wedges, and honey coated cereal.

Tea Makes It Real Thing

Pound cake mix has a twangy and interesting flavor when it's made up this way.

Tea Cake
 1 package (1 pound, 1 ounce) pound cake mix
 1 tablespoon instant tea
 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 Make up and bake the cake mix according to package directions, adding the instant tea and lemon rind, to the liquid called for.

Beer Keeps 'Burgers From Sticking to Pan

If you're serving hamburgers to the crowd and dinner is held up, beer comes to the rescue. To keep the burgers hot and to prevent their sticking to the pan, cover the bottom of the skillet with beer or ale; add seasoning to taste (dry mustard, parsley, Worcestershire sauce). Slinger over low heat until serving time, and spoon the beer sauce over the burgers. Serve with glasses of cold thirst-quenching beer or ale.

U.S. Restaurants? Pretty Dull!

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

ROCKY MOUNTAIN NATIONAL PARK, Colo.—Fall seems not far off here in the mountains. Mornings and evenings have a definite chill and the gas heater in our cabin feels good.

This article is being written at the halfway point in our vacation. This year, it's not a camping trip. There are just the two of us until we pick up the teen-ager and bring him back to Pontiac with us from a summer at a ranch camp.

One of the syndicated articles on the women's pages just before I left criticized the food along America's highways. The author said it was monotonous and consisted of too much greasy fried foods.

I am half inclined to agree with her, but we have managed to eat fairly well without resorting to stomach-soothing medicines.

Breakfast menus offer the least variety. Fresh fruit is hard to get—and very expensive. So we skip it at that meal and buy twice as much for our lunch.

Lunchtime always finds us shopping in a grocery store, preferably a supermarket. Even though I intend to buy only some fruit, some cold meat and a can of frozen lemonade, I go up and down all the aisles, just to see what's new and different.

FAITH IN THE BUTCHER

In one store, I saw one, two and five-pound rolls of ground beef in plastic wrappings, much like sausage wrappings. I saw these at last year's Food Editors' Conference, but never before in a store. They look very convenient, but you would have to have faith in your butcher to buy them.

I found a tiny jar of peanut butter to put in our lunch bag; it's a 6-ounce size and would be ideal for the person who lives alone.

Over in the western part of Colorado, we saw packages of ready-to-eat bacon bits. The wrapper suggested using these in salads, sandwiches and casseroles.

We were invited to share a meal of freshly caught mountain trout. Not a fish eater, even I enjoyed them.

Restaurants I doff my hat to include the one that would let me have just one piece of toast for breakfast—I never eat two and hate to waste that second one. The same restaurant had a milk toast on the menu.

Twice our dinner plates have been garnished with a half slice of unpeeled orange; this is a colorful idea you could easily follow. Keep the rest of the orange wrapped in wax paper if you use only part of it.

One restaurant—not a pancake house—had quite a list of pancakes and waffles, including blueberry, coconut, pecan and pineapple.

Quick Oriental Rice Fried With Crab

Something different, inspired by the Chinese cuisine.

Fried Rice With Crabmeat
 1 tablespoon salad (not olive) oil
 1 1/2 cups chilled cooked rice
 1 1/2 teaspoons instant onion
 1 can (3 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
 5 or 6 (one-half of a 5-ounce can) water chestnuts, sliced
 8 ounces frozen king crabmeat, thawed
 4 teaspoons soy sauce
 Heat the oil in a 9- or 10-inch skillet; add the rice, onion, mushrooms, water chestnuts, crabmeat and soy sauce; mix well. Heat fairly rapidly stirring as necessary. Makes 3 to 4 servings if served with another Chinese main dish.

QUICK-EASY

CREAMETTES

—offered us a place to wash our fruit for lunch, and ice water for our vacuum bottle.

This is good cattle country and we have eaten our share of steaks and hamburgers.

Colorado is also a state of spectacular scenery and the pictures our minds are recording now will last long after we return to the flatlands of the Middle West.

Watermelon Salad

A surprise summertime salad can be made by combining juicy, sweet watermelon cubes with tangy pineapple chunks. Scatter the combination over a mound of cottage cheese on a crisp lettuce cup. Top off this Hawaiian highlight with a dollop of mayonnaise, sweetened with watermelon or pineapple juice.

Peanut Butter Shake

To prepare two 12 oz. milk shakes, pour into a blender or electric mixer: 3 cups cold milk, 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1 pint vanilla ice cream, and 1 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Whirl or blend until mixed, pour into chilled glasses and serve.

Trading Is Moderate

Market Reveals Mixed Pattern

NEW YORK (AP)—Continuing to feel its way carefully, the stock market today revealed a mixed pattern. Trading was moderate. Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional.

Strength was displayed by some of the more volatile issues, IBM and U.S. Smelting gained about 2 1/2 points. Polaroid and Control Data advanced over a point each.

Korvette seemed to be winning an increased following and rose 1/4 to 27 3/4, extending its upside breakout in its price chart pattern yesterday.

National Airlines eased following a report of sharply lower earnings but most other airline stocks edged higher. American Express advanced more than a point. Kaex Chemical and Aeroflex General were among fractional losers. Federal Seaboard Drilling edged higher.

A dividend action was awaited from the board of directors of American Telephone, the stock moved up a small fraction in routine dealings. Alhambra rose 1/4 to 10 1/4 on block of 17,000 shares. The firm is the holding company for New York Central, which was easy along with most other leading rails as Wall Street still awaited developments in the railway labor dispute which presents a possible strike deadline Aug. 25.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Synthetic advanced more than a point. Kaex Chemical and Aeroflex General were among fractional losers. Federal Seaboard Drilling edged higher.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged.

Senate Holds

Rail Showdown

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK—Uncle Sam continues to push his exports well above his imports but also sends an increasingly larger number of dollars abroad than he gets back.

And so foreign holdings of dollar claims against him have gone up again. The Senate Commerce Committee held a showdown session with union and management negotiators today to see if there was any chance for an agreement in the railroad rules dispute.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, who continued his mediation efforts until 5 a.m. EDT today, joined the closed-door session.

Two chiefs of the major railroads, Engineers President Roy Davidson, and Firemen's Union President H. E. Gilbert, flew to Washington last night for last minute talks with Wirtz.

Wirtz presented new proposals to leaders of the five unions in an effort to clinch a tentative arbitration reached last Friday.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, head of the Senate Commerce Committee, called today's meeting to see whether his group should go ahead with legislation to avert a threatened Aug. 29 nationwide rail strike.

The administration has been attempting to get a private agreement to pass a law for settlement of the snarled controversy.

But peace efforts by Wirtz ran into snags over procedures for settling secondary issues and the workings of the arbitration agreement.

Soybeans Firming

In Quiet Trading

CHICAGO (AP)—Corn and soybean futures developed a little firmness in spots in quiet early transactions today on the board of trade, but the market otherwise was listless.

Corn moved up major fractions at best during the first several minutes and soybeans a cent at the extreme. All other contracts were within minor fractions either way from previous levels.

Brokers said the support for corn appeared to reflect within minor fractions either way from previous levels.

The river project must be completed to finish construction of the downstream perimeter road where it is to cross the Clinton River.

However, the resolution also provides that the city does not have the funds available to finance the work "due to city financial troubles."

Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. disagreed. He maintained it was a "financing" and not a "financial" problem.

Walk Out on Airline

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mechanics and ground crew personnel of United Airlines struck in major cities across the country early today. The airline said no flights have been curtailed.

Members of the International Association of Machinists, (IAM) which has locals in 31 cities, walked off their jobs in New York, Newark, N.J., Los Angeles, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Seattle and Portland, Ore.

A company spokesman said supervisory employees were "filling in" and that there have been no interruptions in service.

Barry said a meeting of the drainage board would be called this week. He indicated that some money might be available from the 12-town surplus funds if the board wants to transfer it.

The drain commissioner said no specific source has been discussed.

Barry's latest statement, however, gives "no assurance that a source of funds can be found," although every effort to obtain such funds is promised.

"We have never been asked for funds," Barry commented today. "This resolution paves the way."
