Flanders Files New Charges Against Senator

Accuses McCarthy of Covering Up Forgery, Violating Espionage Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), who initiated the censure move against Sen. McCarthy, has filed new charges accusing McCarthy of covering up forgery and violating the Espionage Act.

The special Senate committee weighing the censure charges disclosed this today during a recess of its public hearings. The group went into a closed session to consider whether certain unnamed witnesses should be called to testify.

The public hearing had wound up on a protest from McCarthy's lawyer that the committee's own counsel had filed a "vigorously partisan" brief on the legal issues in the case.

Flanders, it was disclosed, wrote a letter dated Sept. 2 to Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) concerning McCarthy's attempted use in the McCarthy-Army hearings of a summary of confidential FBI information about subversive risks at the Army's Ft. Monmouth, N.J. radar laboratory.

Flanders said it was his conclusion that either the person who obtained the document falsified it or McCarthy himself was responsible for falsifying it.

"Someone forged a document which was offered as genuine before a Senate committee discharging its official duties and Sen. McCarthy has the clues to the forgery which he has refused to divulge," Flanders wrote.

McCarthy declined comment on the new Flanders statement.

McCarthy described the document during the McCarthy-Army hearings as a letter from J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to Army intelligence.

Later the subcommittee heard testimony that Hoover denied writing any such letter, though the document did contain excerpts from an interdepartmental memo prepared by the FBI.

This Vermont senator said McCarthy "was so heedless of the security of this document that, according to his testimony, he could not remember to how many of his staff he had shown it."

Hearing on Small's Insanity Wednesday

IONIA (UP)—A sanity hearing for Dr. Kenneth B. Small, acquitted love triangle slayer, will be held in Circuit Court Wednesday and it may lead to his immediate release from the Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

Leo W. Hoffman, who defended the 31-year-old Detroit dentist in his sensational murder trial at Allegan in July, predicted Small would be freed at the hearing.

Small was acquitted July 17 of the slaying of Jules Lack, 45, New York industrialist, by reason of temporary insanity. The shooting took place at a luxurious summer home on Lake Michigan where Lack and Small's attractive wife, Edith, 30, were spending the Memorial Day weekend with friends.

Relief on Way

Holiday Weekend Weather Sets Temperature Record

Summer took a last holiday fling over the weekend when temperatures soared to a record 98 degrees but the weatherman says expected afternoon thundershowers may bring relief to the area today.

High temperatures and clear skies sent thousands of area residents flocking to beaches and parks in an effort to cool off.

The temperature climbed to 91 degrees in downtown Pontiac Monday following a low of 64. The stifling 96 degree temperature was recorded Sunday.

While vacationists and other lovers of the outdoors were reveling in the warm, sunny weather, farm crops continued to suffer because of lack of moisture. August rain was well under ex-

Chinese Strike at Red Shipping

Bombers Also Attack Coastal Points to Delay Feared Invasion

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist warplanes struck at Communist shipping along the China Coast today and the Defense Ministry said a Red gunboat, more than 100 wooden military junks and five motorized vessels were damaged.

Identification of the junks as military craft could indicate the Reds were massing an invasion fleet for an attack on Quemoy, but there was no official confirmation.

Quemoy, Nationalist island outpost just off Amoy opposite Formosa, has been under intermittent Communist artillery attack since Friday, when the Reds bombed it for five hours.

The defense ministry said Nationalist bombers struck today at Wuyi Island and Chihmei on the mainland coast within artillery range of Quemoy and at nearby Amoy, a major Red base.

Warships joined in the attack for the second day, the announcement said, adding that Red firepower on Amoy was crippled. Intermittent anti-aircraft fire stopped entirely during the attack, the ministry said.

Pilots said dense clouds of smoke billowed for 40 minutes from White Stone fortress and for 25 minutes from East fortress, two major strongpoints at Amoy.

Fires also were reported on Tantung, a small island within gun range of Quemoy.

All planes returned safely to the Ministry said.

There were new exchanges of artillery fire between Quemoy's defenders and the Communists in the night, the announcement said.

Lt. Gen. Chang Yi-ting, Nationalist army spokesman, described the stepped-up Nationalist attacks as a major retaliation against the Reds for the bombardment of Quemoy.

Chang said Communist planes have not challenged Nationalist air or sea attacks.

Official U.S. sources here said there have been no additional American casualties on Quemoy. Two U.S. officers were killed in the bombardment Friday.

Housing Project to Be Reopened

Crystal Beach Site to Be Rented Pending Sale of Units

Crystal Beach federal wartime housing project here will be reopened for occupancy by families of distressed World War II and Korean War veterans, James N. Wiessner, project manager, announced today.

The government has decided to attempt to sell the project for continued use as housing, said Wiessner, and is reopening it to obtain rental income while steps are taken toward making the sale.

Located at the south end of Lake street, the development has 80 housing units. Applications will be accepted starting today.

Units in the Parkview project, at South and East Blvds., are now up for sale and removal from the present sites. Offers for the 22 buildings consisting of 92 dwelling units will be accepted through 2 p. m. Oct. 7, said Wiessner.

The government feels it may be possible to sell Crystal Beach for continued use on its present location, because its site is controlled by one owner, he explained. The land for both projects was taken over as a wartime emergency measure by the government, Wiessner stated, but still belongs to private individuals.

Persons buying the Crystal Beach units would also have to secure the land they are located on in order to keep them there. The buildings would then have to be brought to city building code standards for continued occupancy.

Pontiac City Commission has passed a resolution stating the Crystal Beach units would be suitable for use on the present site if remedied to code requirements.

Wiessner asked that persons contact him who may be able to aid an unemployed widow with five children facing eviction from the Parkview project. "She has only social security and aid for dependent children to support her," he stated, "and has been unable to find proper housing."

5th Big Storm Gains Strength Near Bahamas

MIAMI (UP)—The fifth tropical storm of the season was expected to reach hurricane strength today as it drifted through the Bahama Islands.

The U. S. Weather Bureau warned shipping and other interests in the storm's path in the Bahamas to use caution as the young storm picked up wind velocities estimated up to 90 miles per hour.

The weather bureau predicted the big whirler, named Edna, would reach the Bahamas late this afternoon.

Unless Storm Edna turns northward it may endanger the Florida Peninsula, the Weather Bureau said. The storm was watched closely for first indications of a trend in direction.

U.S. Takes Plane Attack to U.N.

Early Security Council Meeting Is Requested by Our Delegate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States put its latest cold war brush with Russia before the United Nations today.

U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. asked for an "early meeting" of the Security Council to take up the shooting down of a U.S. Navy plane off Siberia Saturday by Soviet jet fighters.

The Navy plane was the sixth U. S. military aircraft shot down by the Soviets either in Europe or over the Pacific, but this was the first time the United States has brought such an incident before the Security Council.

Lodge returned unexpectedly to New York from a holiday at his Beverly, Mass., home to make the surprise move. He telephoned his request for the council meeting last night to Francisco Urrutia of Colombia, the 11-nation group's president, for September.

Aides on the U.S. delegation said he would follow up with a formal request by letter today.

Boy's Birthday Dollar to Help Catch Dog Fiend

Eleven-year-old Larry Tracy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tracy of 943 Myrtle Ave. was told he could spend a dollar, he received on his birthday Saturday, any way he pleased.

The youngster had received other gifts, but the dollar bill was the only money given to Larry on his birthday.

This morning Larry summoned Mrs. Martin J. Davis, of the Michigan Animal Rescue League, to his home.

"I'd been thinking about it since it happened," Larry told Mrs. Davis.

"It was awfully mean and I want to help catch the mean person who cut out Sandy's tongue two weeks ago."

"Would you please take this dollar and add it to the reward so we can catch him?" Larry said as he handed his 4-year-old Chihuahua, named Cheta.

Sandy, wantonly maimed recently, has been returned to his owner, Mrs. Elizabeth Hodge of 112 Ogden Rd. The dog recovered sufficiently, according to Mrs. Davis, and is "progressing fine."

The dollar offered today by Larry, a Donelson School student swells the reward to $126.

Signing Slated for Asian Pact

8 Nations Agree Upon Most Issues Involved in SEATO Setup

MANILA (AP)—Eight nations writing a pact aimed at halting aggression in Asia today virtually agreed on all outstanding issues and scheduled the formal signing for tomorrow.

A reliable source said it seemed certain there would be no final hitch in secret proceedings, but delegates still were sweating over the exact wording of the key clause.

This involves the military commitments to be made by the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

A Philippines delegate said the final session of the conference has been scheduled for Wednesday evening.

He said only the extent of military commitments to be made and the treaty preamble remain to be agreed upon.

T. Clifton Webb, minister of external affairs for New Zealand, told newsmen:

"We hope to sign the document Wednesday at 4 p. m."

Thailand and the Philippines were reported holding out for a NATO-type agreement under which all members would come instantly to the defense of any member attacked.

The United States is arguing for a pact under which each member would react to an attack on another within its own constitutional framework.

Nation's Accident Death Toll Reaches Over 500

State Safety Drive Holds Total Under 31 Killed on Last Year's Labor Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's accidental death toll over the Labor Day weekend mounted to more than 500 today but traffic fatalities were below the predicted 390 and the lowest in six years.

The latest figures show 347 persons lost their lives in motor mishaps during the period from 6 p. m. Friday to last midnight. It was the smallest total for the Labor Day holiday since 1948, when 293 were killed in traffic accidents.

The traffic toll compared with 405 killed on the highways last Labor Day, 432 in 1952 and the Labor Day record of 461 in 1951.

President Eisenhower's appeal to motorists to "fool the experts" by careful driving was attributed by safety officials as partially responsible for holding down the traffic deaths below the estimate by the National Safety Council.

The council's preholiday estimate of 390 traffic deaths was termed a "grim forecast" by the President in appealing for careful driving.

In addition to the traffic deaths, 90 persons lost their lives by drowning and 79 others were killed in miscellaneous accidents. The total of 516 compared with 574 last year and the record over-all Labor Day toll of 636 in 1951.

An Associated Press survey over a nonholiday period of 78 hours, from 8 p. m. Friday, Aug. 20, to midnight, Aug. 21, showed 348 persons killed in traffic accidents, 41 drowned and 104 killed in various types of accidents. The total was 493.

Several states took extra precautions to hold down the traffic death toll over the long weekend. National Guardsmen were on highway patrol duty in some states. In Maryland, where all state police were on highway patrol, the two traffic fatalities compared with 18 last Labor Day weekend.

The worst single accident occurred near Tipton, Ind., 26 miles (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Churches File Suit in Lottery Dispute

LANSING (AP)—Two church groups asked the State Supreme Court today to decide whether the "charity lottery" amendment was illegally placed on the November election ballot.

The suit was filed by the Michigan and Detroit Councils of Churches.

The court action asks that the form of the petition placing the issue on the ballot be passed upon by the court and that the clerks of political subdivisions check the signatures of petition signers against registration records.

James W. Williams, attorney for the church groups, sought a writ of mandamus to force election officials to check the sufficiency of the petitions and a writ of prohibition against placing the issue on the ballot.

Traffic Deaths in County Held to 3 Over Holidays

Despite heavy traffic over the three-day Labor Day weekend, the Oakland County traffic death toll was held to three, according to latest police tallies.

Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post and Oakland County Sheriff's Department listed only six injury accidents over the long weekend, and counted another eight property damage collisions.

Pontiac Police recorded only one injury accident and added five more property damage crashes to the state totals. Waterford Township police chief Frank Van Atta said today that his department did not handle a single accident complaint during the three-day auto migration.

There were no traffic fatalities in the county during the Fourth of July holiday weekend this year and only one traffic death was recorded here during the 1953 Labor day holiday.

In expressing the gratitude of the Pontiac Police for the light accident tally, Lt. Joseph Koran, head of the traffic and accident bureau said, "It seems that Pontiac motorists are responsive to all precautionary measures suggested by police for a safe holiday period."

Rigid law enforcement, careful motorists and hot weather combined to hold down an expected high death count on Michigan highways over the long Labor Day weekend.

Traffic accidents took 21 lives over the three day holiday this year.

Last year 31 persons died on Michigan highways over Labor Day weekend and 35 perished over the Fourth of July weekend this year.

Surprisingly, few of the fatal accidents fell in the period from 5 p. m. Monday night until midnight Monday—a period previously tagged as "the most dangerous seven hours" on Michigan roads this year. Seventeen of the traffic deaths were recorded in the first 48 hours of the holiday.

In addition to the traffic fatalities, seven persons drowned and seven died in miscellaneous accidents.

State police, aided by 688 National Guard troops mobilized for the holiday, patrolled highways in an effort to reduce accidents.

National guardsmen manned troublesome intersections and rode patrol cars with local law enforcement agencies.

Michigan led the nation in highway fatalities over the Fourth of July weekend. The increased road patrols, aided by nine airplanes, were credited for the reduced toll which placed Michigan third in the nation-wide fatality count. Both Texas and California were ahead of Michigan for the Labor Day holiday.

The latest reported fatalities: Joseph McCauley, of Gladstone, fatally injured Monday when struck by a car while crossing U. S. 2 near Gladstone.

Bert McCall, 89, of Otsego, grocery store operator, was killed when his car collided with another on U. S. 131, north of Plainfield.

Albert Stevenson, 35, of Farmdale, drowned in the Huron river south of Ypsilanti Monday afternoon. His wife and three children stood helplessly on the bank as Stevenson went down in 15 feet of water after falling.

Gilbert Bum, 16, of Flint, died in Flint's Hurley Hospital Monday afternoon of injuries suffered Sunday.

Predict Dewey Will Withdraw

Governor of New York Expected to Endorse Sen. Ives for Post

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York will end the long speculation over his political plans tonight, and a source close to the governor says his announcement will be that he will not run for a fourth term.

Instead, according to the source, Dewey is expected to endorse Sen. Irving M. Ives for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

The governor's office announced yesterday that Dewey would reveal his intentions in statewide television and radio broadcasts.

His speech, from New York City, will be carried over a CBS television network from 8 to 9:15 p. m., EDT, and re-broadcast over CBS radio from 10:15 to 10:30 p. m., EDT.

If the governor calls it a day, he is expected to say that he will return to law practice in Manhattan after he has completed his third term on Dec. 31.

Dewey, twice defeated in bids for the presidency, was elected governor in 1942 and was returned by large majorities in 1946 and 1950.

Ives has said repeatedly that he does not want to run for governor, but friends say that he will be available if Dewey bows out.

The Day in Birmingham

New Telephone Exchange Starts Here in November

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — Birmingham telephone users will really have to watch their numbers in another two months.

Albert H. Warner, local Bell Telephone Co. manager, has announced that starting in November, just about two years after the advent of Midwest 6 exchange equipment for a Midwest 7 exchange will be available.

The latest move will "make available a total of 4,000 telephone numbers in the city," Warner said, in allowing them to expand the Midwest and Liberty groups. It will mean an initial supply of 1,700, he said.

Warner said some of the programs being made in telephone equipment is now on display at the local office. One is an illuminated dial set, where a light flips on when the receiver is picked up.

To be added to the display in the next few days is a telephone instrument equipped with a built-in microphone. The user may talk without lifting the receiver, thus enabling anyone to continue his normal operations with the use of both hands.

Last is the automatic answering set, which tape-records messages phoned in to closed offices.

To acquaint users with the machine the Pontiac Press, which has installed such a set in its Birmingham office, is printing a brief explanation.

A recorded voice will issue instructions for using the machine in a message similar to this one:

"This is the Pontiac Press Birmingham office. Your call is being answered mechanically. If you wish to have an ad or news item in tomorrow's paper call Federal 2-8181. Otherwise, leave your name, phone number and a message. We will call you."

"Talk at the first tone signal. Continue until the second tone signal. You have 28 seconds to record your message."

A recent survey shows that 97.3 per cent of the 1954 graduating class from Cranbrook School went on to receive further schooling at college level.

Ranking topmost on the list of colleges and universities selected by the graduates was the University of Michigan. Harvard University placed second, with Dartmouth College the choice of the third largest group of graduates.

School will start for Holy Name students this Thursday. The buses will run as scheduled.

In other Holy Name news, the women's church bowling league gets under way tomorrow, while the men's team will begin on Sept. 14. New or prospective team members are asked to call Mrs. Robert E. Sade or Robert L. Partan.

Meeting back at the Community House for the first time since July, the Kiwanis Club will gather for dinner and a program at 6:30 tonight. Paul L. Gillette is slated to speak to the group on the Big Brother movement and reports will be received on proceeds from last week's polo game, with all profits turned over to the club for charity work.

A board meeting will follow the regular meeting.

With the Baptist Weekday Nursery School scheduled to open officially next Monday at 9 a.m., a "Fall Roundup" for "little buckaroos" will be held at the church Friday, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Parents may then inspect a handwork display, new equipment and expanded facilities. The school will be in session from 9 a.m. to 12 noon weekdays, for children aged 2 to 5, including daily art, music, physical, rhythm, and Bible stories and songs, prayer and rest time.

Of special interest this year is a new outdoor playground area. Mrs. C. Holger Johnson will be the director of the school, assisted by Mrs. Frank Prowse. Both have had specialized training and experience and both are regular staff members of the First Baptist Church School.

The school is open to all children in the community and registration will be made on a "first come, first served" basis.

Mrs. Charles D. Dooley Service was held today at Aurora, Ind., for Mrs. Charles D. (Maude Botta) Dooley, 85, of Green Lake Rest Haven. The body was taken to Aurora from Bell Chapel Sunday. Burial will be in Mt. Moriah Cemetery, Kansas City, Mo. She died Friday following a long illness.

Vicar Seeking Letters Missing Off Weathervane

BOSTON (U)—The vicar of the Old North Church, which lost its Revere steeple during last week's hurricane, appealed for help today in his search for parts of a weathervane made in 1740.

The Rev. Charles Russell Peck said the big letters N-E-W-S, spelling the points of the compass, were part of a copper and lead weathervane set in place 35 years before the lanterns were hung that sent Paul Revere on his famous midnight ride.

The weathervane was found otherwise intact after it crashed to the ground with the steeple.

tration as "trying to run a great nation in the 20th century on 19th century ideas."

"For the first time in many years, I am facing a Labor Day gathering which, unfortunately, includes a great many unemployed," he said.

Pointing to the unemployed in Michigan, McNamara said, "My Republican opponent has done nothing to correct the situation."

He charged the Republican administration with "murder" of small business by its money policies, and of "setting the country's conservation policies back three quarters of a century in the greatest give-away in the history of the country."

In asking for immediate removal of the excise tax on automobiles, he stressed that the resulting stimulation of sales would mean more jobs and that increased personal income tax exemptions would put purchasing power in the hands of the "99 per cent of the people who have no tax relief."

Sharply critical of the administration, Masey, charged that the GOP has created the Republican theory of establishing "government of big business, by big business and for big business."

He added that labor's biggest challenge in coming months is the fight to restore jobs for some five million people in the U. S.

Hart told the huge crowd, that Communism's real enemy is union members with patriotic aims. "We are on the road to routing out all the evils of communism," he said. He charged that the Republicans "are missing the target by aiding big business with current tax policies."

"They should understand where the light is really needed," Hart added.

Hundreds of spectators, who previously watched a half-hour Labor Day parade, went to the park for the talks.

Other speakers on the platform were Paul Sutton, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 18th District, and Leslie Hudson, Democratic candidate for the state legislature.

Pontiac Mayor William Donaldson also spoke briefly and Walter (Spoke) O. Briggs, president of the Briggs Mfg. Co., Detroit, was a guest at the affair.

The parade included the Pontiac High School Band, CIO and AFL union locals, city officials, veterans groups, the 703rd Tank Bn., and out-of-town groups.

Woman Again Foils Restaurant Bandits

ST. LOUIS (U)—Mrs. Irene Penrick, a 140-pound brunette, foiled her second holdup attempt within a month yesterday at a sandwich shop where she serves as night manager.

Mrs. Penrick, 32, said two men, handkerchiefs over their faces and one armed with a gun, entered and said it was a holdup. She grabbed the smaller of the pair and "kept the little fellow between me and the man with the gun. I knew he wouldn't shoot his buddy."

Then she grabbed a clothes rack and started swinging. The bandits fled empty-handed.

Police shortly afterward arrested two men. Both were booked on suspicion of attempted robbery.

Oakland County Boat Inspection Job Finished
A summer-long boat inspection job was completed recently by the Oakland County sheriff's deputies who reported that 1,929 rental boats at 116 liveries were approved and licensed.

Sixteen boats were rejected as unsafe because of dry-rot. Holcomb said, and three boat rentals that were in operation last year went out of business.

However, 18 new liveries this year raised last year's figure of 101 by 15. A 50c fee per boat is charged for anyone who has more than two boats for hire, according to Holcomb.

Pontiac General, while its total ran closer to a dozen, reported today that no one was treated for auto accident injuries since early Monday.

Mobile American Red Cross radio-equipped cars, which put in 2,450 man-hours during the holiday, handled only one injury accident because of the light rain.

Police throughout the county handled a heavy traffic load, much of it northbound during the early part of the holiday. Southbound traffic increased through yesterday and was still heavy earlier today, police reported.

Oakland County Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell said today that some of the danger was taken off the highway with a dozen arrests since Saturday for drunk driving and half as many arrests for reckless driving.

Deputy Ferris Holcomb reported that deputies during the holiday ticketed 57 persons for traffic violations.

Holiday traffic victims in this county were:

Elroy Jove, 46, of Plymouth, who died when his parked car was hit by another auto on Farmington Road near Colfax Road in Farmington Township Saturday.

James E. Goodman of 5411 U. S. 23, Brighton, who was killed when his car struck a bridge abutment on Commerce road about three miles east of Milford. Goodman was the father of 10 children.

Rudolph W. Schurg, 29, of Royal Oak, who died from injuries he suffered when he was hit by a car near his home Sunday.

Check Fraud Brings Youth Prison Term
The passing of a $40 forged check and the withdrawal of $75 from someone else's bank account resulted in a sentence of one-and-a-half to 14 years in prison today for David L. Carey, 17, of 1936 Paris St.

The youth was sentenced to Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty after pleading guilty to uttering and publishing Aug. 30.

Carey admitted breaking into the home of Richard Greig of 1736 Point Dr., Milford, Aug. 4, and stealing a bankbook and 25 checks. He told authorities he withdrew the money from Greig's account using the stolen book as identification.

Right now it's calling the children back to school. But it should warn us, too, that America's schools are more overcrowded than ever. And by 1960—enrollment will have increased another 25%.

To solve this we must plan wisely and act boldly. We must have a long-range school plan that looks at least ten years ahead!

Child Is Born After Mother Falls to Death

DALLAS, Tex. — An expectant mother tumbled to her death from a third-floor window at Parkland Hospital last night, but doctors safely delivered her baby boy minutes later by Caesarian section.

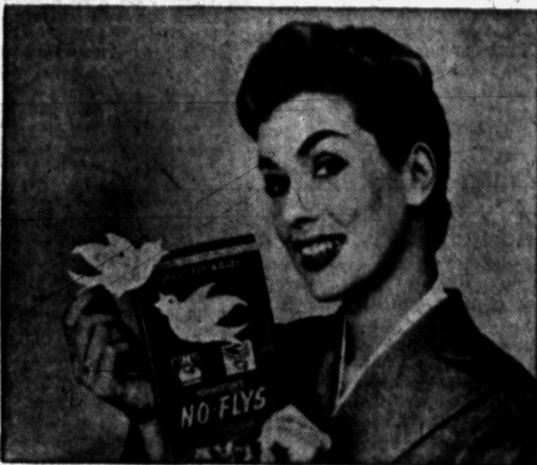

Mrs. Elrena Marie Harris, 23, had arrived at the hospital about an hour earlier to have her second baby. She was in a ward with Mrs.

Patricia Walker, 21, also there to have a child.

Hospital spokesman Red Bell quoted Mrs. Walker as saying she noticed Mrs. Harris go to the window and stand there a minute. Mrs. Walker said she paid little attention until she noticed Mrs. Harris had disappeared.

Mrs. Walker called nurses and doctors, who ran downstairs and found Mrs. Harris' body. She was dead then, doctors said, but they rushed her to the emergency room and delivered an 8-pound, 6½-ounce son.

9 Cents a Gallon Brings Jam-Up to Gas Station

WANTAGH, N.Y. — Edwin R. Butterworth's gas station was a popular fueling spot over the Labor Day weekend.

Fed up with pressure from his oil company to boost sales, he was getting rid of his monthly quota at the break price of 9 cents a gallon. Five policemen were needed to handle the crowd. By yesterday afternoon the 20,000-gallon quota was gone and Butterworth returned to the regular 25.9 cent price.

He figured the sale cost about $2,000, which he said he would charge off to "advertising and entertainment."

The rush of business kept Butterworth so busy he forgot to fill up his own car. With his pumps empty, he had two buy fuel at a rival station across the street to get home.

Blind Man and Dog Are Injured by Car

MIDDLETOWN, N.J. — A blind man and his Seeing Eye dog were injured last night when they were hit by two automobiles while crossing a highway.

The injured man, Edward Fe dush, 24, of Garfield, was taken to a hospital, where he was in fair condition with shoulder, face, and leg injuries.

The Seeing Eye dog was so badly hurt that it was destroyed by a veterinarian.

Police said neither driver was at fault. They said the blind man, waiting for a bus to his home, started to cross the dark highway but turned back midway. He walked into the side of a car driven by Howard Poduska of Rumson, and was hit by a car driven by Bertha Balog of Marlboro as he lay in the road.

FIGHT TORTURING PAIN... from Arthritis or Rheumatism in hands, arms, neck, back, legs

A famous medical authority, one of the nation's leading research specialists, holds out new hope for sufferers from all types of muscular aches and pains in hands, arms, neck, back, legs, feet.

This new approach is so sound, so logical that it is bound to appeal to you as the one safe, sure way to obtain pain relief leading to a better, more enjoyable, more active and more comfortable life.

Hope lies in doing the following things: Relieving the muscular aches and pains, because pain acts in a vicious cycle. It prolongs the spasm of the muscles around the joints and this spasm causes the sufferer to refrain from movement of the joint. This voluntary immobilization may cause the muscle to atrophy or waste away. Result is this vicious cycle. The joint may be on its way to deformity. Relieve the pain to break the vicious cycle and you take a very important step.

First... to break the vicious cycle of muscular pain a safe, harmless, fast-acting medication is indicated. This effective medication is contained in PRUVO Tablets.

Yes, it is a fact that tens of thousands of sufferers have found their best answer in PRUVO — quick-acting, longest lasting, non-narcotic relief — at a low cost made possible by wide-spread use and demand for PRUVO Tablets. Get genuine PRUVO today from your druggist — start on the road back by first getting relief from pain. And then be sure to work with nature to insure the best ultimate results. As pain is relieved, become gently active at first — easily, comfortably. Stimulate circulation by action. When you realize that with PRUVO you move about with more comfort — your biggest worry is past — and just forget other worries — concentrate on living a more normal life — you help break the bonds of pain while taking PRUVO.

Then a well-balanced diet — avoid overweight or underweight — secure plenty of rest — avoid worry. That is the scientifically developed, newest therapy — using safe medication to obtain relief from pain when it occurs, and nature's laws to give you a new, more comfortable, more active and beautiful life.

The most reliable drug stores feature PRUVO Tablets — no prescription needed. They can supply you with the $1.50 trial size, also the Economy Home size, $4.00, and the Hospital-Clinic size, $7.50.

Schools Adopt Insurance Plan

Huron Valley Students Get Accident Coverage at $1.25 Per Year

MILFORD — A voluntary insurance program is being afforded parents of the Huron Valley School system, as classes convene today, according to Harold Hansen, superintendent.

The program will give the parents an opportunity to insure their children against all accidents during school attendance. A fee of $1.25 per student a year has been voted upon by the Board of Education.

Under the plan, children are covered while in school, on school playgrounds, for an hour before school, an hour after school and on their way to and from their classes.

Coverage also includes bus trips and field trips when made under school supervision, and in all athletic games, whether practicing or actual competition.

This is the first time a plan of this type has been offered in the school system, although the school board had been considering it for some time.

Scientists Believe Tillage Can Stop Wind Erosion

WASHINGTON (INS) — An investigation of wind erosion problems on the great plains has led agricultural researchers to the conclusion that proper emergency tillage can save even the barest soil during dust storms.

A. W. Zingg, an Agriculture Department soil conservationist, and his associates reached this conclusion following a study of soil in a wind tunnel experiment at Manhattan, Kans.

They point out that while stubble farming is capable of protecting land in most years, it is not effective in periods when there is no effective vegetative cover, dead or alive, on the ground.

During these latter periods — such as in the Spring of 1954 — great dust storms sweep across the plains, taking a heavy toll in both soil and property.

Zingg and his co-workers are studying wind-breaks, deep plowing to bring up clay subsoil, strip cropping and other conservation measures. They say farmers will be able to plan width, spacing and type of vegetation from their wind-tunnel studies.

The researchers learned through the use of high-speed photographs of moving soil exactly what the particle size and make-up of blown soil are, and how the soil gets into motion.

They found that the finest silt and clay dust particles nestle in the surface grain of the soil and are safe from the wind. Medium size particles, however, will move with a wind as light as eight miles per hour.

Such a wind causes medium particles to roll along the ground and, on collision with other elastic particles, to bound into the air, spinning 300 to 1,000 revolutions per minute.

The scientists say that by this dramatic leaping and jumping action — called saltation — the particles can traverse a field. They usually move one fifth to one fourth as far upward as they do forward.

The researchers found in their wind-tunnel studies that topsoils of fairly high clay and clay-loam content erode till projecting clods shelter the remaining blow soil against wind.

The goal of researchers is to stabilize such cloddy beds against the wind when cover is not available.

Zingg says it takes quite a bit of clay or fine silt and sometimes moisture to form clods. On the sandy lands of the plains, much of the clay and silt have been lost from the plow layer, and additional clay and silt must be brought up from the subsoil.

To achieve this end, fields are strip-plowed with chisels ahead of the spring blow period.

The researchers recommend stubble — mulch cropping, shelter belts, and strip cropping for normal years, and surface chiseling for the years in which extreme dust storms occur. These heavy storms normally occur about eight times in one century.

Hereford Gets Second Place

Aberdeen Angus Breed Returns to Top Honors for Another Year

ROCHESTER — Greak Oaks Stamp, a year-old calf owned by the Greak Oaks Farm, was selected yesterday as the grand champion steer at the Michigan State Fair.

It was the second straight year that an Aberdeen Angus has been judged grand champion of the Fair.

Second place went to Hi-Point Junior, a Hereford calf owned by Hi-Point Farms, of Romeo.

Fair officials said 65,000 persons had passed through the gates up to 3 p.m. yesterday.

Attendance for the first three days of the fair was about 8,000 under that of 1953, officials said.

General Manager James M. Hare blamed the drop on the unseasonal heat wave, and also on the Detroit interurban bus strike.

However, today is Children's Day at the fair, and that is expected to swell attendance.

In other animal judging, a lamb owned by Sally Chapman, 13, of South Rockwood, won two prizes, the Junior and Grand championships.

A lamb owned by J. M. MacAllan, of East Lansing, took second place in the grand championship.

Selected as grand champion steer in the junior division was a Hereford belonging to Phillip House of Rosebush. A Shorthorn owned by Maxine Perkins of Swartz Creek was second.

The prize animals will be sold at auction at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Fair Coliseum.

Low Pressure Strikes Suburbs; It May Continue

Northern and Eastern suburbs of Detroit were hit by low water pressures yesterday and residents were faced with continuing shortages as hot weather lingered.

Officials said the low pressure resulted from a combination of heat and lifting of the lawn sprinkling ban.

Water difficulties were reported in Huntington Woods, Oak Park, Hazel Park, Ferndale, Birmingham and Roseville.

Pressures were normal in Detroit.

Walled Lake Rotary Entertains Teachers

WALLED LAKE—A dinner given by the Walled Lake Rotary Club for the district's new elementary teachers, Superintendent of Schools Clifford Smart characterized the school district as a growing dynamic community.

He pointed out that, with school population tripled in the last seven years, there were many problems such as securing adequate buildings and teachers.

However, he told the businessmen present, such growth meant prosperity for them, as school children consumed immense supplies of food and clothing, and their parents looked to local merchants to supply most of their needs.

After giving a table for evaluating schools in the light of how well they fulfilled the basic human needs, Smart concluded his remarks with this statement, "Our community will be just as big as all of us working together can make it."

Representatives of community organizations were introduced by Cameron Rose, Rotary president. Miss Nina Kropidloski expressed the appreciation of the schools to the Rotary members and introduced the teachers who were present.

Two Grass Fires Call Rochester Firemen

ROCHESTER—The Village Fire Department fought two grass fires for three hours yesterday.

A blaze five miles north of town near the home of James Hunt first activated them, until another alarm for a grass fire took additional members to Washington Road.

At the second fire, 50 acres of land were burned over, and a garage and barn of Dr. I. C. Schlechte was endangered.

ARTHRITIS MADE ME SCREAM WITH PAIN SAYS DETROIT WOMAN

"X-rays showed that I had an extremely bad case of arthritis in my neck and shoulders. Still, O-JIB-WA BITTERS helped me," says Mrs. Bertha List, 14802 DuCote, Detroit.

"I wish to express my deep appreciation for what O-JIB-WA BITTERS has done for me. You can't realize how wonderful it is to be entirely free of pain and stiffness once again after suffering such a long time. Arthritis struck me first in the neck and shoulders so severely that I couldn't turn my head. X-rays showed that I had an extremely bad case. I started taking treatments and shots for it right away, but they didn't help me; in fact I was getting worse as it spread to my arms and fingers. My knuckles were so enlarged that I couldn't close my hands and raising my arms to comb my hair was impossible. I screamed with pain on many occasions as it hurt worse than a toothache. When the arthritis went down to my hip and I had to drag my legs around, and couldn't get up or down the stairs, my family feared I would be an invalid. I started taking O-JIB-WA BITTERS on the recommendation of a friend, but was a little discouraged at first when after 15 days I didn't see much change. By the time I had taken it a month though, I was much improved. I picked up so that I could eat and sleep better and begin to feel like myself again. I was surprised to find that I could close my hands again, and my neighbors couldn't get over what O-JIB-WA was doing for me. Now I am glad to report I do all my housework, including the washing, as the pain and stiffness are completely gone. I am still taking O-JIB-WA as a preventive and you can be sure that I will recommend it to anyone that I hear of that is suffering from rheumatism or arthritis."

ROMEO—Beauty and pageantry marked the final day of Romeo's 22nd annual peach festival, which ended yesterday.

The first of three parades, the Children's Parade, began at 10 a.m. and featured over 50 entries.

All participants from the single entry to those riding on the largest float were attractively garbed and received the plaudits of the thousands of spectators who lined the parade route.

Winning first place honors with a life-size replica of the Statue of Liberty, done in gold with representatives of various nations seated at her feet, were its creators, the David Ross, Herbert Miller and Stephen Brewer families.

The Romeo Book Club took the second-place award with a Courier and Eve winter scene, and the Club Scouts of Romeo's Pack 57 were third with Liberty's Team.

First place winners in the three other classifications featured in the morning parade were the "Freedom of Worship" entry in the small float division, "Easter Parade of 1909" in the walking group, and "Grandma Moses" portrayed by Linda Sue Tinknell as the best single entry.

Detroit Police Commissioner Edward Piggins and Recorder's Court Judge McKay Skillman, also of Detroit, had a difficult job picking the winners in the giant floral parade, staged at 2 p.m.

An estimated 20,000 persons witnessed this colorful event with Peach Queen Karen Hoff of Pontiac riding on a red, white and blue float with her attendants.

Receiving first place honors in this parade were the Seventh Day Adventists of Detroit with their religious float, "Christ—the Hope of the World."

Romeo Rotary Club won the second place trophy and the Romeo Merchants entry placed third.

Many antique cars, sports models and horseless carriages were entered in the first section of the parade and 11 bands also participated.

The Mimmers' Parade, with humorous entries from hula dancers to a Roman and his chariot, brought the day's activities to a close.

First place honors were awarded to the "Woodchoppers of Allenton" in the group entry division, and "Nero," a picture in gold from his beard to his toes, was first place winner in the single entry classification.

IT'S "PURSE"-ONAL

We can hardly ask a motorist to quit giving his friends and acquaintances a lift. But many give rides to persons who are waiting at bus stops. This really hurts. It amounts to a lot, too.

Most all of those who give others a lift would never pull over to a newsstand, call a prospective customer away from the newsboy and hand him a newspaper. Of course not. Yet the practice of giving lifts to bus riders has the same effect on us. IT'S "PURSE"-ONAL.

One of Chicago's suburban papers played up this scalping of bus line riders. The editor urged motorists to move over to non-transit streets. The motorists did just that. They did it because they were one-car-owner-families. They didn't want to lose their bus service. Bus riding increased materially.

UNLESS YOU'RE A TWO CAR FAMILY, YOU, TOO, NEED PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

WHEN... the car won't run, or the family needs it for shopping, special trips, or visits to the school. That's when public transportation becomes "PURSE"-ONAL to you.

IF YOU WANT TO BE SURE TO HAVE BUS SERVICE WHEN YOU NEED IT — USE IT AT LEAST ONCE A WEEK, NOW. ... and help, too, to discourage lifting of bus line riders.

Ours is a business of carrying people. Less riding forces cuts in service frequently. More riding insures services and means better service.

Free Booklet Tells What New Miracle Transistor Means To The Deaf

CHICAGO (Special)—New hope for the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing was voiced by S. M. Posen, noted Chicago acoustical scientist and president of the Beltone Hearing Aid Co.

He revealed that a new "atomic age" all-transistor hearing aid, eliminating all vacuum tubes and costly B-batteries, has been unveiled.

This revolutionary new tubeless electronic wonder for the deaf is sound powered by three tiny miraculous transistors and cuts all battery costs 80%.

To acquaint the hard-of-hearing readers of this newspaper with what this amazing new invention, the transistor, means to them and how it enables them to hear again with a clarity and ease they never dreamed possible, full authoritative details are described in a fascinating new illustrated booklet. It will be sent in a plain wrapper without any cost or obligation.

To obtain your free copy, simply send your request to: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 865A, Beltone Hearing Aid Co., 2800 W. 36th St., Chicago 32, Ill. A postcard will do.

Detroit Woman Held in Husband's Death

DETROIT (U)—A 24-year-old woman was held for investigation of murder today in the stabbing death of her husband during an argument over whether she should do washing on Labor Day.

Police said Mrs. Virginia Edwards told them her husband, Joseph, 29, objected to her hanging out her wash on Labor Day because no one was supposed to work.

She said an argument ensued, her husband hit her, and she grabbed a knife and stabbed him.

Boy, 16, Shoots Himself, Noise Scares Burglar

DOWNEY, Calif. (U)—The shot that 16-year-old Malcolm Michael Robbins fired really hurt. It also frightened away the prowler outside his house.

Malcolm's parents were away, so when he heard noises in the yard he got a .22 caliber revolver from his mother's bedroom. Before he could locate the prowler the weapon discharged accidentally and the youth had to be taken to a hospital for removal of a bullet in his left foot.

Monkey Chooses Girl Friend Over Freedom

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Chico, a three-year-old Rhesus monkey, had to make a choice between freedom and his girl friend Jo-Jo.

Today he's back in captivity. Chico escaped Friday from the automobile repair yard operated by his owner, Luscious Stevens.

The monkey laid low until yesterday. Then, in a holiday mood, he turned the North Philadelphia neighborhood around the repair yard upside down.

He disrupted several checker games on front steps by scattering checkers in all directions. Then he ran through a number of back yards, pulling clothes from lines. Police and the Pennsylvania SPCA were called. No one could coax Chico to surrender. Then Tex Emery, a driver for the P.S.P.C.A., thought of Jo-Jo, Chico's companion at the repair yard.

Jo-Jo was chained to an automobile in a garage. Presently, Chico showed up. He paused only a moment, then entered the garage. Emery closed the door behind the trapped runaway with a catpole and returned him to Stevens.

Nordics Set Example

For an excellent example of international co-operation, consider the Nordic Council.

This body made up of representatives from the parliaments of Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Iceland recently held its second annual meeting at Oslo.

Among other things it recommended a reduction of customs barriers between the member countries and increased trade. Even more interesting, the Council began a study of proposals to establish a Northern People's Academy, mutual recognition of patent rights and exchange of government employees for training purposes.

Also under study is the right of citizens of one country to start a business, receive free medical and hospital care and even vote in another member country.

Recommendations made at last year's Copenhagen session now have become law. They include the right of Scandinavians to travel in the four countries without passports, to reside and work in any of the nations without permit and to move automobiles across borders without paying duties.

The Nordic Council is the creation of four small but very thrifty Nations. It does not concern itself with foreign policy or defense problems. But it has given the whole world a good lesson in how some important common problems can be solved.

Our 102,500,000 Voters

The Census Bureau announces that for the first time more than 100,000,000 citizens plus 2,500,000 in the armed forces will be eligible to vote in November.

This is a reminder that our voting record is one of the poorest among the world's democratic countries, especially in a mid-term election.

The disturbing fact is that nowhere near 100,000,000 persons will go to the polls. In the Presidential election of 1952 when an all time record was set, the total vote was 61,500,000. Yet there were 75,000,000 persons registered and 98,000,000 eligible.

Thus that election was decided by no more than 62 per cent of eligible voters. In the Congressional election of 1950 only 44 per cent voted.

This is a sorry showing compared to Britain's in 1951 when 83 per cent went to the polls, and Sweden's the following year when 80 per cent of the electorate voted.

One of our most urgent national needs is some method of persuading a far larger percentage of our people to exercise their priceless right of franchise.

Navy Rights a Wrong

Long delayed though it was, the Navy's effort to make amends for the grave injustice done ABRAHAM CHASANOW will have public approval.

The 43 year old employee in the Navy's Hydrographic office for nearly 23 years was suspended as a security risk on July 29, 1953. On October 29 last CHASANOW was cleared completely by the Navy hearing board.

However, the Hydrographic office disagreed and unknown to CHASANOW the case was taken to the Security Appeals Board. This board overturned the October decision and on April 7, JAMES H. SMITH, Assistant Navy Secretary for Air, ordered CHASANOW's dismissal.

After talking with CHASANOW in May, SMITH ordered a rehearing. That has resulted in his declaration that a "grave injustice" had been done and that Navy loyalty procedures would be revised in order to avoid a repetition.

According to SMITH, CHASANOW's accusers, whose identities never have been revealed, "either failed to corroborate their original testimony or were unable to produce specifics for earlier allegations."

If the theory is sound that exoneration never catches up with accusation, the Navy will be unable to make full amends to Mr. CHASANOW. But it is doing all possible in that direction by reinstating him with full pay from the date of suspension.

It also announced that he has been found to be an above average loyal American citizen with a fine record of family and church life and civic and patriotic activities.

If the court acquits the woman on trial for shooting her husband because he didn't provide her with enough money to keep her dressed in the latest style, the lives of thousands of husbands will be imperiled.

The Man About Town
$300 in U. S. Bonds
That's Prize Offered in the Annual Football Contest

Easy money: What you may get by following the rules below.

Football days are near at hand, so the Man About Town 1954 contest gets under way. The prize is $300 in U. S. Savings Bonds. Do you want it?

It costs nothing to enter, and every member of your family may compete, but all entries must be on separate pieces of paper. You don't have to be an expert—not even a football fan.

It is not necessary to buy anything, hunt for a missing word, answer any questions, write an essay, clip a coupon or do anything else, except spend a few minutes of your time.

You merely predict which team you think will win each of the 12 football games listed below or, if you think any of them will end in a tie, you may so designate:

- Sept. 12—Maryland vs. Kentucky.
- Sept. 24—Waterford vs. Pontiac High.
- Oct. 2—Detroit Lions vs. Cleveland Browns.
- Oct. 9—Pennsylvania vs. Princeton.
- Oct. 16—Michigan State vs. Notre Dame.
- Oct. 22—Tulsa vs. Detroit.
- Oct. 26—Indiana vs. Michigan.
- Nov. 6—Wayne vs. Omaha.
- Nov. 13—Michigan State vs. Michigan.
- Nov. 20—Southern California vs. U.C.L.A.
- Nov. 25—Brown vs. Colgate.
- Nov. 27—Army vs. Navy.

You will note that the games include ten college or university games, one high school and one professional contest.

This is a straight elimination contest, and all entrants agree to abide by these rules, and the decision of the judges will be final.

Before the first game all entries will be divided into three piles: those who pick Kentucky to win, those who pick Maryland, and those who forecast a tie game.

After the first game the pile representing the correct choice will be divided in accordance with the selections made for the second game. The others are eliminated.

The process continues until only the final winners are left. You are in the contest only as long as you forecast correctly.

All entries must be in the Pontiac press office by Saturday noon, Sept. 12. Be sure that your entry is received by that time, or it will be disqualified. A good time to make out your entry is NOW.

Everyone is eligible to compete except employees of the Pontiac Press or members of their families. Only one entry is allowed from each person.

The contest is open to both sexes and all ages. In past years the ladies have won fully as often as the men.

In case of a tie, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. Your chance to win the $300 in the best investment in the world is as good as that of anybody else.

All you need is a pencil and piece of paper. Address your entry to Football Contest, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich., and send or bring it to this office, so it will be received by noon on Saturday, Sept. 12. Don't let $300 in bonds get away from you.

If We Lived the Ten Commandments
What a Happy World We Would Have

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical to its nature.)

I think Aunt Het gives some very good advice. The kind of advice which was used before the days of so-called psychologists. Work laws and punishment added to the Ten Commandments are good medicine.

If we could all get down to keeping those ten laws, what a happy world we would have. No jails, no reform schools and what a saving in money!

As for our juvenile delinquency, I think schools are not blameless by far. Do teachers realize their work is not competent unless every normal child at least rates a "C" second?

No other field of employment will accept less; every bolt in a car must be correct, our mail must be on time, planes must be perfect, ships must be seaworthy, etc.

Teachers should demand work well-accomplished and only by so doing are they good teachers. Respect to God and parents would help to reduce delinquency and should be boosted by the schools. We have had wonderful citizens out of the one-room, eighth grade schools and delinquency was a word seldom heard.

Officer Who Helped
Lost Boy Is Praised

On August 28, about 11 a.m. I walked out of a downtown department store and noticed a crowd gathered around a little boy. On inquiry I learned the little boy was lost and was crying for his mommy.

Just then a police officer came by on a motorcycle and someone called to him. The officer immediately parked his vehicle by the curb and came up to talk to the lost child.

In spite of the large crowds and the heavy Saturday traffic, this officer picked up the child in his arms and if the little boy had been his own child he could not have been more gentle or talked more reassuringly to him. I noticed some broad smiles come over the faces of some rather hardened individuals as the officer phoned the station about the lost child. Somehow it made the day a little brighter for a lot of us.

We hear so much of corruption and graft in other cities but, on the whole, we in Pontiac can be justly proud of our public servants and that includes our firemen, police officers and our very efficient mail carriers.

Somehow, I am rather proud of our fair city and glad I have been a resident here for over 30 years.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

But I have all, and abound! I am full, having received of Ephraim things which were sent from you, an odour of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well pleasing to God. — Philippians 4:18.

Abundance consists not alone in material possession, but in an uncovetous spirit. — Seiden.

Boy Shouldn't Let Conversation Stall;
Pay Girl Compliment; Ask Questions

Terry gets caught in those embarrassing pauses that develop when a boy and girl don't know how to carry on easy, effortless conversation. So be sure you memorize the technique described below. It will raise your "date bait" rating very definitely.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case M-308: Terry L., aged 20, is a junior at Notre Dame University.

"Dr. Crane, I make high grades and engage in athletics, but I don't know how to carry on an interesting conversation, he confessed.

"And girls scare me. For I don't know how to talk to them. On a date, I usually find myself saying 'yes' or 'no' but that's about the limit of my vocabulary.

"Unless the girl is gay and an easy conversationalist, I feel so embarrassed that I never ask her for a second date.

"And the girls I have dated seem to be about as tongue-tied as I am. So what can a fellow do to get over this shyness? Why it takes me hours to work up nerve enough to telephone a girl and ask her for a date, even though I admire her a lot."

When you get stalled in conversation and an embarrassing pause starts to develop, one quick way to break the silence is to pay your companion a sincere compliment.

Pick out something nice about her and then praise her thereon. It may be her smooth, clear complexion or white teeth or her smile or giggle or her clothes.

And don't worry if your compliment is blunt, for she'll not be angry even if you bluntness tell her, "Mary, you certainly have a cute dimple," or it might be a kissable mouth or pretty teeth.

And then, to keep conversation moving steadily, remember the key word "HELP" in which every letter stands for a different field of conversation.

The "H" indicates hobbies, so explore this topic fully. Ask your companion, "What is your favorite hobby?"

Find out if she likes dogs or cats. Did she ever have a garden of her own? Did she ever make hats or paint or swim or play tennis, etc.?

The "E" then represents the field of entertainment, indicating movies, opera, the theatre, games, hiking, picnics and dozens of other related subjects.

But to help the other person pick up her cues more readily, try to give her two choices. And end your part of the dialogue with a question.

"Mary, if you had your choice, would you prefer a swimming party or a hike?"

People find it much easier to decide between two things than to think up an original answer to a general question, such as: "What's your opinion of movies?"

The latter question is vague. It may not bring out a quick reply. So inquire "Do you think TV will kill people's interest in movies?"

The third letter "L" represents literature and covers everything from comic books to Shakespeare and the Bible.

Remember, however, to give her two choices and fade out with a question whenever you invade each new field of conversation.

If she doesn't perk up very enthusiastically to the previous three fields of conversation, then use the "R" in your key word "HELP" and see if she will respond to politics.

Does she think 15-year-olds should have the right to vote? What about universal military training? Should U. S. Senators be limited to two terms as the President now is?

Meanwhile, be very liberal with compliments and also fall back on them for conversation starters.

For a fuller discussion, send for my bulletin "Formula for Interesting Conversation," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Your date bait rating will rise fast if you use it.

David Lawrence Says:

Senate Needs Standards
for Conduct of Members

WASHINGTON — Senator Watkins of Utah, chairman of the special committee of six which is considering the resolution to censure Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, says frankly that the Senate makes up its own mind irrespective of precedents.

What the public doesn't realize perhaps is that some of these precedents are very bad and constitute conduct unbecoming to the United States Senate itself.

For it will hardly be believed today but there were 25 United States senators who once voted to censure the duly elected United States senator from Utah, Reed Smoot, because he was a high official of the Mormon Church and because various senators didn't like the church's attitude toward polygamy.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(International News Service)

All the 84th Congress wants is to be the 84th.

The job is tougher than midnight for Cinderella. But the hours are heavily upholstered and the take-home pay gets there.

That's why the incumbents are taking up the slack in their options. When a workman is worthy of his hire he doesn't want it lower.

When a man dedicates his life to his country, he wants a nice rate of insurance.

He hopes to die in harness. With his head toward the wagon.

Thomas Jefferson knew that like the taste of his teeth when he wrote, "few die and none resign."

The old philosopher was as correct as a business machine. They all had tuxedos. But none of them would travel.

Realize that Jefferson wrote that when the republic still had some of the shell on its back.

The 83rd was a good Congress as Congresses go. But it forgot that legislatures bat with a broom.

There is no certainty that the 84th will return with a Republican edge. An election is a tickle between the shoulderblades that strangers must scratch for you.

This contest for control is going to be so close every senator will have to part his hair exactly in the middle.

The popular shibboleth is "it's time for a change." Even guys who don't wear sex yell that.

Common Middle Age Joint Disability
Just Plain Rheumatiz (Degeneration)

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

"Simple conservative treatment involving nothing more dramatic than bed rest, exercise and—a popular pain killer which I shall not mention here—often can do more toward the lasting improvement of . . . crippling rheumatoid arthritis than most modern drug therapy."

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation made this statement to the press about three months ago.

Just what distinction there is to be made between "rheumatoid arthritis," plain "chronic arthritis," "atrophic arthritis" and "chronic rheumatism," I don't know. From what I read in the medical journals and books, if anybody knows he prefers to keep one guessing.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation might have saved a lot of people a lot of money and some people much grief had they issued the statement a year earlier.

If Dr. Osler was right when he said, in the Practice:

"Chronic rheumatism commonly comes on insidiously in persons who have passed the middle period of life. In my experience it is extremely rare as a sequence of acute rheumatism."

—and I think he was—then it is wrong to label the disability "chronic arthritis," "rheumatoid arthritis" or any other kind of "arthritis," for there is seldom any evidence of inflammation, except as the consequence of strain, sprain, or accidental injury.

The joint disability which "comes on insidiously in persons who have passed the middle period of life" and "persists indefinitely" is just the rheumatiz, and the rheumatiz is physical degeneration and physical degeneration is due to nutritional deficiency through the years from childhood to breakfast this morning.

I have no cure to offer.

But it can do you no harm to send a stamped, self-addressed

Although the Constitution says "No religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States," a motion was made in the Senate on January 27, 1904, to unseat Smoot.

He was not a polygamist himself and his church had already issued a manifesto banning plural marriages. Nevertheless, after a protracted investigation, a Senate committee rendered on June 11, 1906, a majority report recommending that Smoot be unseated.

On February 29, 1907, the Senate itself voted 42 to 28 to permit him to retain his seat and 39 senators did not vote.

Smoot became one of the most respected members of the Senate, was re-elected several times, and for several years served as chairman of the all-powerful Finance Committee. Another Mormon—Senator Watkins of Utah—is one of the most respected members of the Senate today.

If the Senate, however, had the power in 1907 to expel a member because the senators of that day didn't like the Mormon church, another group of senators tomorrow can expel someone else because the Senate may not like the allegiance of a senator to the Catholic Church or to some other church.

No court can restrain the Senate or the House from doing an improper act with respect to its members as each house is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members.

This makes it all the more important that United States senators should not be governed by the passions or hysteria of the hour and that they now should establish a set of standards and, in fairness, declare that the punishment for violating the new rules should not be imposed on any senator on an ex-post facto or retroactive basis.

For there is hardly a single charge leveled against Senator McCarthy which could not have been made the subject of a censure resolution against many other senators in the past.

Take the charge about the alleged FBI document to which Senator McCarthy referred during the McCarthy-Stevens hearings but which he never made public. It contained data on personnel procedures rather than national security secrets.

Yet if the "standard" is that a senator cannot make public information arbitrarily marked "top secret" by an executive department or agency, then the case of Senator Edwin Johnson of Colorado, Democrat, could have been investigated for possible censure because of what he revealed about the hydrogen bomb in a television speech in November, 1949.

Among the charges filed against Senator McCarthy are some referring to his intemperate characterizations of fellow senators. But Senator Flanders himself made a speech recently insinuating something improper about the Wisconsin senator's personal life and the insinuation was not lost on the television audience.

Likewise, many members of Congress have declined to accept an invitation to testify about their personal affairs before a congressional committee.

As to "browbeating witnesses," what shall be said of the action of Senator Bush of Connecticut, Republican, who a few days ago, while sitting as a one-man committee in the investigation of windfall profits in the housing scandals, castigated a businessman for evading questions and refusing to bring in his books?

Would Senator Bush be subject now to censure or is it all right, according to senatorial "standards," to denounce a recalcitrant witness if he doesn't happen to be a general?

Plainly the Senate cannot have one rule for the Wisconsin senator and another rule for other senators unless it intends to return to the rule of anarchy whereby a United States senator was almost unseated because other senators didn't like his particular church.

envelope and ask me (without clipping, please) for the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz. Calcium isn't all, but the typical Yankee everyday diet of children and adults makes calcium deficiency almost inevitable.

To the best of my knowledge there is no cure for rheumatiz or for any of the 33 dollar synonyms your trick specialist applies to your rheumatiz.

Certainly no "miracle drug" has given more than temporary relief and some of these wonderful new medicines have proved too dangerous to give any one.

The degeneration process, taken in time, is reversible by restoring to the everyday diet the nutritional elements that the typical Yankee (North American) diet lacks. It takes a year to change degeneration into regeneration. Call that cure and you'll be talking sense!

Send letters, not more than one page or 100 words, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

Hal Boyle Says:

Israel's 1954 Wine Queen Doesn't Look Like Cactus

NEW YORK (U.S.)—Ziva Shapir is a Sabra—and a very pretty Sabra, too.

"A Sabra is a native-born Israeli," explained Miss Shapir, who is Israel's 1954 wine festival queen. "It is the Hebrew word for cactus, which, like our people, must be tough on the outside to endure—but remains sweet inside."

But Ziva, a 21-year-old tall shapely brunette with amber wine-colored eyes, doesn't look at all like a cactus outside. Doesn't look much like a wine salesman either, but the purpose of her month-long tour of America is to stir up interest in Israeli wines. After industrial diamonds, wines are now Israel's most important export to the United States.

"Israel has these wonderful crops—children, oranges and wine," she said. "We have 22 kinds of wine, including champagne."

"Using American equipment, we are now able to turn out 30,000 bottles a day, although as yet we don't. This year we hope to export 400,000 bottles to this country."

The United States is Ziva's second homeland. She came here at the age of 14 and spent three years in St. Louis studying ballet dancing. After returning to her own country, she spent a year with the Israel defense army. Since then she has become an actress, and has appeared in several movies.

How does she compare life in America and Israel?

"The average Israeli lives a much simpler life," she said. "Women keep themselves busier. They do more community work."

"I miss some things there very much—such as department stores. You don't have such a wide range of choice in most things."

"But on the other hand, here your cigarettes are all the same color. Why is that? In the Middle East it is possible for a woman to buy cigarettes to match the color of her dress."

What did she miss most about America? Ziva, whose father is an accountant, thought for a long time.

"In St. Louis I had my own room," she said. "When I returned to Israel our family had a small apartment, and it was impossible for each of us to have his own room. That is what I really missed most—the feeling of owning a room to myself."

Ziva feels that the relationship between boys and girls is much more natural and honest in Israel.

"Here if a boy phones on Thursday to ask a girl for a date on Saturday, she tells him no—whether she really already has another date or not. She wants to impress him how popular she is. So she would rather stay home than let him know she isn't dated up two weeks in advance."

"In Israel we don't have so many telephones. Dating is much more casual. Girls don't bother to pretend they are popular. They are more realistic."

"Boys are more realistic, too. They don't run around a car to open the door for a girl, when she is strong enough to push it open herself. They are very straightforward. They don't beat around the bush."

Miss Shapir—her full name is translated as "Sunshine Sapphire"—is sure that Dior's new flat silhouette will flop in Israel.

"The bustline there is very important," she said. "The false bustline is very bad. There is hardly any such thing as a flat-chested girl."

As to the romantic difference between American and Israeli men, she remarked archly:

"Well, I have heard there are frustrated women in this country. I don't know of any frustrated women in Israel."

"But, please, don't misunderstand me. I like American men. Very, very much."

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — A scrubwoman fired for swearing was granted unemployment compensation by an official who decided it was unfair to require her to clean up her language as well as the building where she worked.

Maneuver Eyed by Mississippi

Southern Legislature in Extraordinary Session to Save Segregation

JACKSON, Miss. (UP) — A historic special session of the Mississippi Legislature was called today to lay the foundation for dodging the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

The key proposal was a constitutional amendment empowering the Legislature to abolish public schools. It provides two methods: 1. Statewide, by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature. 2. Local option, with individual counties and school districts being allowed to abolish their public schools and set up private systems.

Leaders of the Legal Educational Advisory Committee said the amendment would be introduced and sent to the constitution committee of each house as any other amendment would be handled.

The committee is composed of most important state officials. The LEAC rejected the idea of asking each house to go into committee of the whole "to consider the amendment as soon as it was introduced." Fear of charges of "steam-roller" convinced the LEAC the amendment should go through the usual process.

The session was expected to last about six weeks, depending mainly on the amount of opposition that pops up to the constitutional amendment.

100-Year-Old Records Hunted in Indian Mound

KALAMAZOO (UP) — Workmen began excavating an Indian mound in Bronson Park today in a search for valuable records believed buried there 100 years ago.

Alexis A. Prais, director of the Kalamazoo Museum, said a man named A. J. Sheldon is reported to have buried a glass jar containing the records in the mound in 1854.

Prais and his crew planned to bury in the mound some new records giving the City Planning Commission's prediction of what it believes Kalamazoo will be like in 2054.

BARRELS ALONG AT 11 MILES PER HOUR—Idling along at 11 miles per hour, the 2½-ton Custer Channel Wing 5 moseys above the Oxnard, Calif., Airport during tests. Inboard section of the plane's wing is bent like a half-barrel, with engines mounted in the curved space. Its inventor, William R. Custer, says the engines pull air through throats of the half-barrels, creating a vacuum which sucks the plane aloft. The ship is said to have a high rate of climb, and to require as little as 200 feet of take-off space.

Two Slightly Injured in Opdyke Road Crash

A Lake Orion motorist and his passenger suffered cuts and bruises in a two-car collision early this morning on Opdyke road about ¼ mile south of Walton boulevard.

Both men, Delmar H. Irvin, 25, the driver, and Bill Martin, 32, refused medical treatment. Oakland County sheriff's deputies said. Irwin said he collided with a car driven by Clarence Reed, 15, also of Lake Orion, as Reed's unlighted car was pushed in front of him. Reed told deputies his car had stalled and he was being pushed by another motorist.

Pat McCormick, 24, Gored in Bullfight

CIUDAD ACUNA, Mexico (UP) — Patricia McCormick, 24, of Big Spring, Tex., remained in critical condition today in a hospital at Del Rio, Tex., across the Rio Grande, from the goring she received here Sunday.

She might have been killed instantly but for Alejandro del Hierro de Juarez, an ex-matador who trained Pat to fight bulls.

Del Hierro jumped into the ring, ran to the bull and pulled the girl from the horns after it charged and lifted her into the air. An understudy matador drew the bull's attention with a cape and killed it.

Governor Williams Hits Unemployment

DETROIT (UP) — "We cannot find it in our hearts to rejoice when more than 240,000 of our Michigan people are out of work," Gov. Williams told a Labor Day audience at the conclusion of a giant parade in Detroit.

An estimated 100,000 took part in the traditional march while another 50,000 watched.

Patrick V. McNamara, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, also addressed the crowd. He urged that Congress be called into emergency session to remove the excise taxes from automobiles. He said this "would reduce the price of autos by about $100 and would be a tremendous stimulus to sales."

Want Autoless Students at Western Michigan

KALAMAZOO (UP) — Students at Western Michigan College have been asked to leave their cars at home when they report to the campus for the fall term.

J. Towner Smith, dean of men, said today that an automobile almost always is involved when a student gets into trouble.

Cruises Call for Wisdom in Packing

Even if your vacation is one of those budget cruises which are becoming so popular, wise packing can increase your travel pleasure no matter how little time or money you have to spend.

If your ship is your hotel, a trunk is a good choice. There are large ones which hold dresses on hangers, provide drawers and compartments for accessories.

A traveling garment bag will keep the wrinkles out of fuzzy party dresses and hold coats as well. Flat packing trunks are also widely used for ship travel; a removable tray handles shoes and small items.

If you're planning stop-over visits to several different places, a big pullman case, a hatbox and duffel bag or cosmetic case should be adequate. Porter problems and expenses are solved when you add luggage wheels to the largest piece and wheel your own.

A one-stop cruise will call for a different luggage "wardrobe." The trunk is still a good idea — with a piece or two of hand luggage or a duffel bag for going to the beach, shopping, or all-day sight-seeing excursions.

Joan Quiggan Davis and David Hart Locklin were married Saturday in West Shore Unitarian Church at Rocky River, Ohio. He is the son of the A. L. Locklins of Oneida road and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Davis of Medina, Ohio.

MRS. DAVID HARTT LOCKLIN

Joan Davis Wears Satin for Rite

Pontiac Resident Travels to Ohio for His Bride

Joan Quiggan Davis of Medina, Ohio, and David Hart Locklin were married Saturday afternoon at the West Shore Unitarian church at Rocky River, Ohio.

The bride is the daughter of the Paul C. Davis of Medina and David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Locklin of Oneida Rd.

Joan chose a gown of candlelight satin covered with imported Maltese lace. Her floor length veil was antique rose-point lace over silk illusion and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, delphinium and pink sweetheart roses. She wore an heirloom crystal necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Bebe Dodworth of Pittsburgh, Pa., as maid of honor, wore an aqua chiffon waist length gown and the other attendants, wearing similar gowns in shades of coral and moss green, were Judy Wade of Fort Wayne, Ind. and Yvonne Fox, a cousin of the bride, of Schenectady, N. Y. They carried colonial bouquets of Talisman roses.

Brace Jacobsen of Pontiac served as best man and seating the guests were Richard Davis, a brother of the bride, and James Tarr of East Lansing.

The bride's mother wore blue gray taffeta with blue accessories and her corsage was of Talisman roses and blue delphinium. The mother of the bridegroom was gowned in black and lavender taffeta with lavender accessories and wore a corsage of orchid Fuji chrysanthemums and pompons.

A reception at the church followed the ceremony.

Joan chose a black and white check taffeta dress with matching coat and wore black accessories for her wedding trip through the East.

The couple was graduated from Alleghany College, Meadville, Pa., where the bride was a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

They will reside in New Haven, Conn., where David will attend Yale University, majoring in technical production and design in the School of Drama.

But because with all this there is a refinement of cut and detail, and almost more importantly, an unprecedented variety of handsome fabrics, the general effect is hardly casual. This year, it's an enriched 20th Century look, just as the century itself is.

One factor common to all silhouettes that is news-making is the deemphasis of any one particular body contour. That is to say, no extremes of bustline curves, or waistline indentation, or hip-rounding. On the other hand, these 20th Century clothes have no relation to the formless, baggy lines of the 1920s.

Mrs. Richard Frye Heads Group Officers Elected at Session

New officers for the year have been elected by members of Fashion Your Figure Club of the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation.

Mrs. Richard H. Frye is president; Mrs. Hartley Bray, vice president and Mrs. Gerald Rose, secretary.

Others elected to office are Mrs. Arthur Noel, treasurer; Mrs. Park Nique, weight recorder and Mrs. Charles Ruggles, scales manager.

At a recent meeting, held in Washington Junior High School Mrs. Robert H. Lake received the corsage of the month and pigs were given to Mrs. Noel, Mrs. George Rinkenberger, Mrs. Robert Quinn and Mrs. Harold Hopper.

Mrs. Noel and Mrs. Quinn were in charge of the week's program. Mrs. Quinn, as outgoing president, received a gift from the members in recognition of her services to the club.

It was announced that the second annual fall style show of the club will be held Sept. 30 in St. Benedict Hall. Mrs. Reuel Baker is chairman of the event assisted by Mrs. Nique who will handle tickets and reservations.

Styles Dictated by 20th Century

The new fall fashions are more genuinely 20th Century than clothes we have had in a long time. "Casual" is the name applied where-ever clothes done on straight lines are shown. And straight lines cover a major area of daytime fashions this season.

Reviews of new lines by fashion editors show that more easy lines, less upholstering of the silhouettes and softer fabrics in clothes designed for the way women live today, especially in contrast to clothes of the recent past, are bound to raise the word "casual."

But because with all this there is a refinement of cut and detail, and almost more importantly, an unprecedented variety of handsome fabrics, the general effect is hardly casual. This year, it's an enriched 20th Century look, just as the century itself is.

MR. and MRS. JOHN S. SHANKS

Shirley Mix Speaks Vows

Honeymooning in Canada are Shirley Catherine Mix and John S. Shanks, who were married at 12 o'clock Saturday in St. Michael Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Mix of East Beverly avenue and Mr. and Mrs. George Shanks of North Marshall street are the bridegroom's parents.

A gown of white imported Hungarian lace and net with matching bolero jacket and gauntlets was worn by the bride. A bonnet studded with seed pearls secured her shoulder-length veil of French illusion. She carried a white prayer book with a rosary entwined, topped with a white orchid, pompons and stephanotis.

Betty Mix attended her sister as maid of honor wearing a ballerina length gown of orchid French nylon with darker orchid jacket in velvet and a matching corsage of orchids.

Storage Hint Given for Vacuum

If you wrestle with the hose of your tank vacuum cleaner to get it in the bottom of the closet, try this.

Tie a strong string around the middle of the hose and make a loop. Hang loop of the string on a stout hook installed about five feet up inside the closet door.

Parents Use Brains so Their Daughters Wear Furs to School

Pity the Poor Girl, Envy Her, Too

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE
Lynn is off to college—with a three-quarter length beaver coat. Very elegant, very unexpected.

The beaver came into the picture several months ago, when Lynn's parents were organizing for the final step involved in setting their eldest's feet on the path to higher education. The had planned for college since the day she was born. Their savings—marked "college of Lynn"—will take care of board and tuition, an enormous item for the father of a big family.

The wardrobe was budgeted for—modest but adequate.

It was while Lynn was busily winding up her high school career, final exams and senior supper dance, that Lynn's mother, nervous at the impending upheaval in family life, read in one of the younger-girl fashion magazines that everybody, but everybody, must hit the campus come fall swathed in some kind of fur. Lynn at the family conference, plumped for mink.

Her father who had hoped for rabbit juggled the budget to provide for the down-payment.

Then Lynn's luck began. Her mother, discussing the all-important business of a fur coat with a neighbor was met by a casual: "Say, before you buy, take a look at my old beaver. I was going to throw it away, but you might be able to salvage enough to get a jacket for her out of it."

A furrier, for $100, bargained to make a complete coat for slim, lucky Lynn. And such rejoicing in the Gerry household! Lynn's father saves money. Her mother has forgotten to worry about Lynn's shyness for now the child will surely be able to compete with anything short of mink. And the neighbor feels like a real Lady Bountiful.

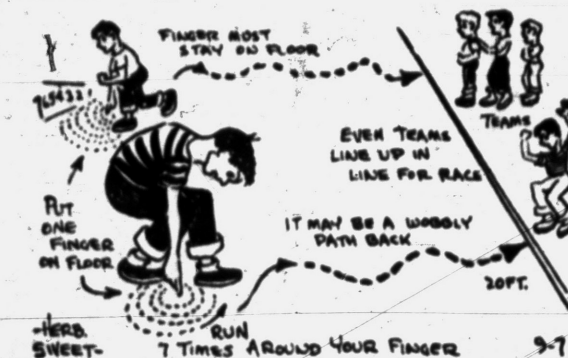

Lynn's luck started me thinking about the day Papa came back from Excelsior Springs and told Mama that Aunt Bina was sending me to a boarding school that fall. I was 11 and when the news spread, everybody in town said what a lucky little girl I was.

I agreed, for Aunt Bina had sent me all kinds of presents—dress goods, a grown-up blue pocketbook with a mirror in it, a hairbrush with a rubber foundation that you could squish up and down.

I took my first train ride wearing a red and white checked gingham dress and carrying a big basket packed with sheets, pillow cases and the rather horrifying gymnasium bloomers I had been told to bring. The whole town had watched Mama make those bloomers for me and some had criticized her for sending me off so young to a place where girls were supposed to wear panties on the outside.

Papa escorted me and my basket and turned me over to Miss Fanny Willis Booth, the lady principal. "I have brought you my dearest treasure, my only daughter," Papa said, and blew his nose, for he was a sentimental man. "She is yours as long as she stays here."

Then how scared I was, poor little wretch, when Papa kissed me and went away. I felt I hadn't a single friend nor would ever have one in the strange, bewildering boarding school existence where everybody but me seemed to fit. But I held on to the pocketbook with the looking glass in it and got through somehow. I just hope Lynn's beaver coat will be a talisman as effective.

Try It

Here's a New Team Game

Here is another game to add to those in your collection. This can be played with a large group or with six or more people. When you have a large group divide the players into several teams playing at one time, then let the winners play.

Draw a starting line on the floor with chalk or tape the line on with some of the new cloth tape. Make a dot on the floor several yards from the starting line. This can vary with the age of the people playing. For eight to twelve year olds, I would suggest the circle be about 20 feet away. At the word "Go," the first player in each team runs to the circle, puts his finger on the dot and runs around it several times. He is out if his finger leaves the floor and another player must fill out his turn. The team whose players all complete the circle first, wins the game.

You can see that if one of the players goes out of the game, it means that another player must go around the circle twice which is hard. Try this with the gang in the neighborhood.

If utility bride—

Separate train to wear later as a cape. Smoother silhouette, handsome silk gowns a floor-length for later formal wear.

Miss U. B.—Convertible traditions are what the young brides of today want. Less crinolone-like fullness, less cluttering of applied decoration, more elegance and, at the same time, more youthfulness of design characterizes fall brides.

Mink's Pink Now

Pink mink? Yes, and lots of other colors this fall. So don't ask, my dear, is it rabbit? It's mink just the same and she's proud of it.

When Lacking Experience

Jobs Can Be Obtained Through Volunteer Work

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Mrs. Marjorie Witty likes people, but unlike many women, she is doing something concrete about it. Mrs. Witty, an attractive woman in her late thirties, is happily married with two children, 13 and 9.

She stayed at home with her family until just recently, but because she knew her big interest was people, she planned all her volunteer work around that interest. And she really studied the people she worked with, got so that she could understand them easily and rapidly, learned what made them tick.

Then, several months ago, Mrs. Witty decided to get a job—with people, naturally. She settled on an employment agency, because she knew she would be able to interview the applicants intelligently, and to deal with the employers well.

Because she had never had any experience, she didn't ask for a salary, but offered to start on a commission basis, to see how it went.

It went beautifully. Two young men with a successful employment agency offered her a job. In the beginning, she interviewed clerks, office boys, typists, secretaries—people for all kinds of openings. But as she kept her eyes open, she found one interesting thing.

She found that she herself liked the radio and television field the best of all—and that it was in a pretty bad state.

"Most people who want to go into that field," she told me "are in New York City. There are very many more applicants than there are openings, and it breaks your heart. But at the same time, many of the out-of-town stations have a tough time getting good help."

Mrs. Witty decided, then and there, to specialize in radio and TV jobs for out-of-town stations. She screens the applicants, in New York, and arranges interviews for them throughout the country. And she loves every minute of it.

"It's just good common sense," Mrs. Witty told me. "We women think we don't learn anything when we're just housewives, but it isn't true. We learn plenty of good common sense—and it sure can pay off!"

PETUNIA!

Among my best Good-Eating tips Is gorgeous sweet Potato chips!

And they're wonderful, Petunia! Slice sweet potatoes thin, soak in ice water, dry well, deep-fat fry at 375. Delicious.

Spread Makes Skirt

Have you ever thought of making a skirt out of a bedspread? Old bedspreads, the candlewick or embroidered kind, make very pretty casual skirts. Of course, you have to know how to sew, but the swirly, circular skirts are easy to make.

Don't cut up a brand new bedspread. Use the least worn places of an old one. And if you like, you can dye it to make it look fresher. Of course, this kind of a skirt can be popped into a tub with the other wash, and may not even need ironing.

Bathe Baby Safely
Wash the baby in the sink. But take these precautions: turn the faucet back; be sure the last water to run out was pure cold; put a flat rubber stopper over the drain; cover the bottom with a towel for brand-new babies.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Take a long and calculating look at new textured fabrics—they're worth a special shopping trip all by themselves. The new textures aren't merely something new. They're means to a good end: the goal of making rooms look larger. How can this be true? A jumble of color and pattern has always pulled walls closer together, but fewer, serene plain colors push them farther apart. The trend today is toward the wide use of a single color to create an effect of spaciousness in small rooms.

Girl Wants Friendship With Group

Should Make One Friend at a Time While Selling Self

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: There's a group of girls that have the same interests I have, and that I enjoy hanging around with—but they just don't want me."

I tried hanging around with another bunch of girls who accept me, but who just don't interest me. They're all right for a while, but they get dull. The girls I like include me for a time, then they start talking about me behind my back and leaving me out of things. So what should I do?"

There come moments in practically everybody's life when it seems as though you haven't a real friend in the world. It looks as though there's nothing sustained and permanent about any of the friendships you have. Some of the people you like the best seem to have other friends they like better than they do you. Some of the people you like the least are delighted to have you around. To some people you seem frightfully dull—while others seem dull to you. It just happens that this all—that moment of feeling terribly alone.

It doesn't happen so often to people who are not dependent on other people for their happiness. It does happen to girls who, as someone else has so aptly put it, "have no wherewithal for being left alone in a room."

A girl who is glad to be alive, who has plenty to think about, varied interests, and too few hours each day to do all she wants to do—is never dull. She is such a live-wire in her own right, that people love to be with her. And no one else is ever dull to her. She gives them the benefit of the doubt—they have interests, opinions, activities too. She wants to know about them, share them, feel part of them.

If hanging around with either of those groups of girls is just to give you something to think about, and something to do, small wonder you feel restless and dissatisfied. But if you're quite a person yourself you'll make such a stimulating contribution to the moments you share with your friends that they'll continually seek you out and include you in.

Instead of worrying so much over whether you're being tolerated or accepted by one group or another, concentrate on getting along for a while. See how interesting you can make yourself to yourself. When you're persuaded that you're not a dead weight, branch out and make friends with one girl at a time. Let her feel the bracing pep of your interest and friendliness.

Instead of dragging on her, give more than your share of chatter and ideas for things to do. Gradually gather around you a lively new group of your new friends—friends who feel as you do that you must give plenty to a friendship in order to make it stick.

Rest Assured That Bed Is Cared For

By HUBBARD COBB

The average person gets about eight hours sleep at night and the way things are going these days, that isn't a minute too much. Anyway, if a bed is acting up you don't get a very good night's sleep so here are a few common bed ailments along with their cures.

The springs and mattresses of many beds are held up by means of wood slats. If the bed frame has a tendency to bulge a little, some or all of these slats may fall down and that means the mattresses and springs are going to fall down too.

You can eliminate this condition by installing a cable or rod and turnbuckle between the sides of the bed frame so that the sides can't bulge out. And speaking of bed slats, they are great dust collectors and make cleaning difficult.

An improved device for holding things together is a metal bracket that fits on the side of the frame and supports the mattress and springs.

Squeaks in metal springs can be corrected by spraying with liquid wax. A wax spray bomb is ideal for this job. Just spray where metal touches metals and then jounce the springs a few times so that the wax works into the joints.

Squeaks in the bedframe itself are usually caused by the bolts that hold the frame together not being tight. They do occur, however, where the wood touches wood and the cure here is to coat the wood surfaces with wax or paraffin.

Keep Best Length and Resist Fads

If your legs need a special presentation to minimize large ankles or calves or enhance skinniness, you've probably found the perfect skirt length for you.

Stick with it, change your length just enough to avoid being conspicuous. Resist fads when they come your way.

Line Soft Tweeds

A lovely tweed suit may be found on sale. But the softer the tweed, the more easily it stretches. Line the skirt with a stout, light fabric. Join it at the waistband and side seams.

LITTLE LIZ
There are two ways to keep from paying alimony—stay single or stay married.

Baby Will Cry but Don't Worry

When a baby is very young, he may cry furiously before going to sleep. If you have checked that he is comfortable, warm and well-ventilated, then leave him alone, even for an hour, until he drops off to sleep.

The next night it will take less time. In four nights he should go to sleep in ten minutes. Popping in on him will encourage him to cry, just to see you.

However, when he learns to turn over one way, but not the other, and you hear a sudden cry, check on him. He may be jammed in the corner of the bed and unable to roll out.

Shop Systematically

When time is short, make out the marketing list in the order you usually proceed through the supermarket or with the groceries, meats, paper products, etc., grouped together to save the clerk steps.

Most everybody's hair now is showing the strain of summer exposure. Pretty rich browns fade to a mousey shade... natural golden highlights often turn to a carrot tone... blacks lose their depth and sheen... and blondes show their delicacy of shade by an even quicker change of color — streaks and an artificial appearance (especially if blondeness has been encouraged with a commercial bleach).

For every shade and every change of shade, there is a quick and perfect answer to returning your hair to its natural, even brightness and color.

It's a color hair rinse... a safe, temporary coloring which is applied after shampoo. In a matter of only three minutes. For quickness and most expert distribution of color, a plastic applicator, with long nozzle tip, is recommended.

This color rinse has special characteristics which add to its popularity. The color really adheres until washed out (does not rub off). The rinse gives body to limp, over-fine hair, and so helps to keep curls crisper longer.

You have 14 shades to choose from — beautiful, true-to-life hair colors which look completely natural. So whatever your original color, there are one or more shades with which you can camouflage drabness, change to a shade brighter or darker than your own, or mask streaks and unwanted gray.

Consult the shade chart at your favorite cosmetic counter to see which shades are recommended for your hair color and particular problem.

There is one shade, silver white, which can be used for several corrective "miracles." It is recommended for glamorizing all white hair (it eliminates yellow discoloration); also to give a platinum effect to light blondes, and to tone down brassiness on over-bleached hair.

Hats Develop Completely New Fall Silhouettes

"Real hats" make the news. Long months of excitement over "more hat" have crystallized into hats with completely new silhouettes, new dimensions, a whole new feeling. They are easy, elegant, nonchalant, personifying the overall 1954 look.

Top excitement for the casual look is the dramatic, soft-brimmed swag. Crushed crowns, rippled or sawtooth brims, plushy beavers, soft velours or felts, tweed and even satin give swaggers current signature.

New this year silhouette is the draped "rappy" hat with a molded-to-the-head look, drawn smoothly from brow line to back or side. Excellent in skirting felt, drap is often accentuated by soft self-bows or big rhinestones.

Berets from beanie to breton — plus many hats with beret feeling — carry out the casual feeling. Small berets clip over one ear, tiny French sailors sit level, soft shower-cap berets are smart at any angle.

Here are the first American adaptations of the controversial flat-chested silhouette introduced by Christian Dior in Paris. At left is a black taffeta afternoon dress with long torso lines, the skirt flaring below the hipline. Note that the bosom is rounded, not flattened, and the waistline is indented, but not as sharply nipped as previously.

At right is the sack jacket suit in pale gray worsted, with side darts achieving the new modified bustline. Both are designed by Andrew Arkin who modified the Parisian style to American tastes.

Then It's His Wife's Fault

Does Hubby Look Like 'Unmade Bed'?

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

If Pop goes out in the evening looking like an unmade bed, it's all the fault of his wife, says Morris Rudofker, former president of the Men's Formal Wear Institute and head of the country's largest manufacturing firm devoted to after-6 clothing for men.

It's up to the little woman to put her foot down, says dapper Rudofker, if she wants her husband to live up to her own standards of dress.

"Men just get in the habit of refusing to dress because they can get away with it," says Rudofker. Apparently a large group of American wives are keeping the situation well in hand because the sales of men's formal wear have increased from about 5½ million dollars in 1946 to 55 million in 1953. Further, men are going for the new colors in dinner jackets, cummerbunds and ties.

"Most men actually enjoy dressing in the evening," said Rudofker. "The trend in recent years has been away from the old-fashioned heavy tuxedos and tails and the starched shirts and collars to evening clothes that are lighter in weight and more comfortable than business suits.

"Women always have been smarter than men about clothes. When they get dressed up, they're comfortable."

Now that men are starting to dress again, they're doing the thing up brown, says this authority. They're buying cummerbund and tie sets in every color of the rainbow, in plaids, regimental stripes and solid colors.

They're going for the pastel-colored dinner jackets for resort, spring and summer wear too. Next spring, he says, you'll be seeing men wearing lightweight silk shantung dinner jackets in the new ice colors — pink, heliotrope, yellow charcoal, blue, gray and white.

Second Miss Connecticut Pickets Pageant Officials

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—From the North, East, South and West, the pick of the nation's beauty crop gathered here today and primed as they made ready to battle it out for the "Miss America 1955" crown.

Also on hand—but barred from the contest—was a former WAC from Middletown, Conn., who caused quite a stir yesterday by picketing the pageant because she felt the officials had done her wrong.

While the 50 "legal" contestants were registering, Violet Fuchs, 24, barged in, announced that she was Miss Connecticut and even obtained the white silk badge bearing the title.

But the officials soon learned of their mistake and rushed over to Violet while she was posing for photographers.

Miss Lenora Slaughter, the pageant's executive director, demanded the badge and told the blue-eyed blonde:

"You are not Miss Connecticut."

Violet flushed.

"I am Miss Connecticut," she insisted. "I won the Miss America Pageant contest legally."

She refused to relinquish the badge.

At least not until she got outside, when tears flowed freely as photographers snapped away.

She promised she would picket the headquarters. She did in a hired rolling chair, on which hung anti-pageant signs. One read:

"Miss America Pageant unfair to the only legal Miss Connecticut."

After three hours in the sun, Violet keeled over in a faint. She was revived by police, who sent her to her hotel in a cab.

And who was the last of the 50 contestants to register? Dorothy Anne Hopkins, 18-year-old coed from Storrs, Conn., and the beauty who is officially recognized as the Miss America entry from the Nutmeg State.

Dorothy Anne won the contest put on by the Connecticut Junior Chamber of Commerce, which the pageant says is the only organization authorized to select Miss Connecticut.

Violet won a rival contest, staged by Alfred Patricelli, a New Haven bathing beauty promoter. He named Violet as the Connecticut representative in the pageant.

Patricelli, who came here with Violet, told reporters he managed the pageant contest in his state for the past eight years. In the present squabble, he has filed breach of contract and damage suits against the pageant totaling $210,000.

Preliminary judging in the pageant starts tomorrow, and Miss America will be crowned Saturday night.

Donald J. Ranta, 18, of 3300 W. Lone Pine Rd., Bloomfield Township, waived examination on a breaking and entering charge Saturday before W. Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle.

The youth was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court on $1,000 bond which he did not furnish. He is in Oakland County Jail awaiting court arraignment Sept. 13.

Ranta, picked up in a State Police blockade in the Upper Peninsula Aug. 28, is accused of six Pontiac-area break-ins during May and June.

What music means to him

Right now, music means mother humming a lullaby at the close of a busy baby day.

It means the mystery of sound coming from the radio and television set—and the fun of watching a record whirl 'round.

When he pounds the piano, he's making his kind of music—noise to the adult but mighty music to him.

Lucky is the child who grows up in the delightful world of music because his will be a richer, fuller, happier, more beautiful life.

Grinnell's, first in music since 1879, salutes all the makers of music, from babyhood to grandparent-hood, who make life richer for Michigan's millions.

2 Soldiers to Get Medal of Honor

President Eisenhower
Will Present Awards
Today at Denver

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower arranged to award the Medal of Honor today to two Army heroes of the Korean War.

They go to infantry 1st Lt. Benjamin F. Wilson, 33, of Vashon, Wash., and Medical Corps M.Sgt. Ola L. Mize, 23, of Gadsden, Ala.

Mize is the 70th veteran of the Korean War to win the medal. Wilson is the 72nd.

Ceremonies for presentation of the nation's top service award at the Summer White House were scheduled shortly after the President's return from an overnight stay at Fitzsimons Army Hospital here.

An aide said he underwent an annual physical checkup there.

The citation to accompany Wilson's medal praises him for "sustained valor and intrepid actions" which "reflect utmost credit upon himself and uphold the honored traditions of the military service."

It said on June 5, 1951, in Korea he was twice wounded in action near Hwach' On-Myon. During an enemy counterattack, the citation said, he charged the enemy ranks and fought valiantly, killing three enemy soldiers with his rifle before it was wrested from his hands, and annihilating four others with his entrenching tool.

Mize is cited for gallantry in action on June 10-11 near Surang-ni in Korea.

The citation said that during the action Mize was "blown down by artillery and grenade blasts three times, but each time he dauntlessly returned to his position, tenaciously fighting and successfully repelling hostile attacks."

Blame Gas Fumes in Air Crash Deaths

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland. (AP) — The coroner's inquest into the deaths of 28 persons aboard a crashed Dutch KLM airliner has been told that 25 victims trapped in the plane's cabin died of asphyxiation from gas fumes.

Adriaan Viruly, captain of the plane, said quick action on the part of Elizabeth Snyder, a 25-year-old New York businesswoman, "prevented a terrific explosion which would have torn the craft to bits."

As the plane was sinking into the river and gasoline fumes poured into the cabin, he said, Miss Snyder knocked a box of matches from the hands of a dazed passenger about to light a cigarette.

The crash of the big plane, in early morning darkness only two miles from the airport, probably was caused by an instrument failure, KLM-President A. I. Aler told reporters.

Sleeping Child Falls 30 Feet Without Injury

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A two-year-old George Meredith tumbled out of bed yesterday and landed, unhurt, three stories below.

The baby's bed was against an open window on the third floor of his home. His sister, Margaret, 19, said she saw George roll toward the window in his sleep. Before she could grab him, he rolled right out the window and fell 30 feet to the brick sidewalk below.

The girl rushed downstairs. Little George, wobbling unsteadily, but with a big smile on his face, toddled up to meet her.

A Harrisburg Hospital physician said he suffered no apparent injuries.

George went right back to sleep as soon as he returned home.

Climber Is Rescued From Mt. Whitney

LONE PINE, Calif. (AP) — Rescuers today brought down from 14,496-foot Mt. Whitney an injured climber, Henry Mandolf of San Diego, who fell 200 feet to a ledge.

Mandolf suffered an arm fracture, abrasions and possible internal injuries as he lost his footing on an icy trail. He was trapped on the ledge for 25 hours in 18-degree cold before his 14-year-old companion, James Prichard of San Diego, walking all night to Whitney Portal for help summoned forest rangers and sheriff deputies. An airplane directed the 17-man searching party to the ledge.

Paul Whiteman's Hunch Pays Off; Atlantic City Spot Starts Success

By EDDIE CANTOR

The list of Paul Whiteman discoveries would fill a couple of columns all by itself. Bing Crosby, Mildred Bailey, Jane Froman, Morton Downey, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey—these and everyone else who has ever worked for him affectionately call him "Pops."

Back in 1919 when young Paul, he was 29 then, was playing in Los Angeles, he heard the Victor recording people were holding a convention in Atlantic City.

Paul had a hunch that this was "the right place at the right time" for his orchestra to be heard and he wrote the Ambassador Hotel, asking for a booking the week of the convention. He gave his price as $1,500. The hotel wired their top price was $500.

Ferde Grofe, who was Whiteman's arranger then, still laughs about Paul's reaction to the wire. "He hesitated a minute," Ferde told me, "then shrugged his shoulders and said, 'We'll take it. Why let a mere thousand dollars stand in the way?'"

Paul's hunch paid off. The Atlantic City engagement lit the fuse that set off his success rocket. The Victor people signed him, and his first release, "Whispering," sold 2,000,000 records.

Paul always has had a little trouble with his weight. At one time he was the stoutest orchestra leader in show business. When we appeared together in Ziegfeld's "Whoopee," he had trouble getting out on the stage because of a tremendous set that fitted right into the wings.

When I advised him that he ought to try getting out sideways, he pointed to his "frontage" and said, "Look, Cantor, I have no sideways."

One of the principal dancers in that show, a little girl by the name of Mary Jane, once bragged to Paul that she weighed 90 pounds. Paul laughed. "I ate more than that for lunch today," he told her.

ANTHOL, Kan. (UP)—The little cabin home of Dr. Brewster Higley where he wrote "Home on the Range" has become a Kansas shrine.

Before it was dedicated as the birthplace of Kansas' official state song, the limestone and log cabin had served as a hen house.

The cabin is located nine miles northwest of Anthol in Smith county. It was restored by the Smith Center, Kan., Lions Club.

Higley built the cabin in 1872 on the bank of Beaver Creek and in it wrote the song that apparently has won everlasting popularity.

U. S. Prestige at Stake in Manila Conference on Asian Defense

(What developments will make this week's top national news? What are the stakes in Manila, where the U. S. seeks to build a wall against Communist aggression in southeast Asia? How will Sen. Joe McCarthy defend himself against "misconduct" charges? What's up in politics? A candid, dramatic preview here the probable course of the week's banner-headline stories.)

WASHINGTON (INS)—American prestige is on the line this week at Manila, where Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has begun his all-out attempt to build a southeast Asia defense alliance so strong that the Communists will never again dare aggressive action.

The world will be watching Dulles' efforts to construct an Asian treaty organization. If he succeeds, the U. S. position of free world leadership will be solidified and chances will be improved for the rebirth of an anti-Communist union in Europe.

The vacationing President Eisenhower is by no means concerned only with trout fishing in Colorado streams and tricky punts on velvety golf-course greens.

Ike is in touch, day and night, with Dulles at Manila and with the American Foreign Service officers who are coping elsewhere with the crisis created by the French rejection, last week, of the European Defense Community plan.

This week should see clarification of the European picture. Britain is seeking an eight-power conference to consider alternative methods for making use of the West German military potential, now that EDC has died.

Dulles, who certainly holds the travel record as far as U. S. secretaries of state go, may proceed from Manila to the European conference which probably will take place in London sometime this month.

The proposed London meeting would be in advance of the emergency session of the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization council for which Dulles called when the French national assembly wrote EDC's death warrant.

Persons Over 65 Expected to Increase at Least 16 Per Cent by Year 2017

ROME (U)—It's becoming increasingly an old man's world. Scientists told the United Nations Conference on Population today that persons over 65, now only 10 per cent of the population, will increase at least to 16 or 17 per cent by the year 2017. This steady increase in man's life span, population scientists from 70 countries were told, will pose critical new social and economic problems.

Some experts proposed stronger social security provisions for the increasing numbers of old people. Others recommended that present retirement age limits be extended to perhaps 70 years to keep older workers economically productive longer.

Jerzy Berent, of the population division of the United Nations, said there is reason to believe the lengthening of the average man's life will continue. He added:

"It seems that the beneficial effects of antibiotics, to the introduction of which the postwar boom in mortality of older persons has mainly been attributed, have not yet been fully exhausted.

"At the same time, progress has been made in the diagnosis of such degenerative diseases affecting mainly the old as cancer and diseases of the heart, and in the treatment of diabetes."

Berent quoted forecasts for Britain—figures almost identical to those for the United States—that the normal life expectancy at birth will increase from the present 67.7 years for males and 67.4 years for females to 69 and 76.3 respectively by 1978.

He predicted that the older population category in western industrialized countries like the United States and Britain will increase from the present 10 per cent to 13 per cent by 1967 and to 16 per cent by the end of the century. Berent foresaw a momentary halt in the increase from the turn of the century until about 2007 with a renewed increase between the latter date and 2017. After that, he said, the trend will depend on birth rates and on unforeseen medical and other scientific progress.

Robert Morse Woodbury, industrial population expert of Bryn Mawr, Pa., said U. S. population totals of persons 65 or older jumped from 4 per cent in 1900 to 8.5 per cent in 1950.

population, the city is steadily replacing the small town as "the old folks' home" of America. T. Lynn Smith, professor of sociology at the University of Florida, told the conference.

He cited two leading "retirement cities": St. Petersburg, Fla., where 22.2 per cent of the 96,738 population is over 65, and Pasadena, Calif., with 16.8 per cent of its 104,577 population over that age.

Two of the leading "retirement towns" are St. Cloud, Fla., where 41.6 per cent of the 3,001 population is over 65, and Ocean Grove, N. J., with 32.7 per cent of 3,806.

Smith defined a "retirement town or city" as one where people over 65 make up an increasing percentage of the population, where the elderly population is augmented by old people who move in from elsewhere, and where steps are being taken to make retired life more pleasant.

He said the number of old people in America is skyrocketing. He pointed out that 3,080,498 or 4.1 per cent of the U. S. population was over 65 in 1900; 12,269,637 or 8.1 per cent in 1950, and the nation may have 20,000,000 persons over 65 by 1970.

Group Reveals Latest Cancer Discoveries

WASHINGTON, (U)—An extensive U. S. cancer study indicates about one half of all cancers in women originate in breasts or sex organs compared with only one eighth of the cases in these areas among men.

The figures are based on the first cancer study blanketing big population groups, covering about 15 million people in 10 metropolitan areas of the United States.

The results were reported today in a paper prepared for the International Congress of Pathology by Dr. Harold F. Dorn of the National Institutes of Health at Bethesda, Md. Several hundred doctors from 39 countries are pooling information at the congress and seeking, among other problems, to find geographical patterns in disease and the causes.

Dorn said that when all age groups are considered, the U. S. cancer rate is about the same for males and females.

But cancer strikes women more frequently during their reproductive years and dwindles somewhat in years after the menopause, he said.

The disease was reported more dangerous for men after middle age. Dorn said most cancers in men affect organs that are subject to contact with environment—such as the mouth, throat, esophagus, skin and lungs. Cancer of exposed skin—on face, head, neck and arms—was said to be 46 per cent more common in men than in women.

Dorn said the study showed that by the age of 30 the annual number of new cases of malignancies of the reproductive organs of women is greater than that for all types of cancers found in men.

"Not until the age of 50 does the total male cancer rate begin to exceed the cancer rate of the reproduction system in women," Dorn said. "However, were reproduction system cancers excluded, the survey showed that all the more common forms of cancer occur more frequently among men than among women."

The chance of developing cancer is about one third greater for white persons living in the South and West than for those in the North. Dorn said, adding that skin cancer seems to account for this higher incidence. He said much of the difference may be attributed to a difference in ultraviolet radiation in sunlight.

Cancer strikes at all ages but Dorn said the least threat for both sexes appears to be between the ages of 5 and 15, and that by age 50 the threat has increased 200 times over what it was at birth.

The cancer risk at 20 years is about the same for men and women, he said, but at age 35 twice as many women as men have cancer. By the age of 60 in whites and 70 in nonwhites the greater risk is faced by men, he said, and this continues through the life span.

Hubbard said he hoped the officials would get together no later than tomorrow to set up temporary service to aid bus riders in all 14 western and downriver communities.

The strike was called last Friday by members of Local 1263 of the AFL Street, Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union against the Intertown Suburban Lines, Inc.

Hubbard Seeking Emergency Move

DEARBORN (INS)—Mayor Orville Hubbard of Dearborn said today he would ask officials of all suburban communities affected by the Intertown bus strike to meet to consider emergency strike measures.

Hubbard said he hoped the officials would get together no later than tomorrow to set up temporary service to aid bus riders in all 14 western and downriver communities.

The strike was called last Friday by members of Local 1263 of the AFL Street, Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union against the Intertown Suburban Lines, Inc.

Pontiac Explorer Scouts Return From Western Trip

Members of three Pontiac Explorer Scout posts returned tired and sunburned Sunday, following a 16-day camping tour of the Rocky Mountains.

William J. DeGrace, tour director, said the boys were eager to see Michigan's green hills and lakes again after traveling in a heat wave reaching 110 degrees in arid Texas and Oklahoma.

Posts 4, 13 and 66 made the 4,400-mile trip.

The Scouts each brought back different experiences as expedition highlights. David Birchmeier, for instance, was impressed by the elaborate protection given the U. S. Mint in Denver by secret service police.

At Laramie, Wyo., the group attended the national convention of the Order of the Arrow, a national society of honor campers and leaders. Here, Don Hegeman was particularly interested in the national Indian dance team competition.

"Live snakes were used by the Scouts for the snake dance," Don exclaimed, "and flaming hoops were used for the hoop dance."

Robert N. Webb, Post 4 adviser and Pontiac District camporee director, noted that a teepee stage setting similar to his camporee at Camp Agawan was used for the campfire Indian spectacle.

DeGrace was a member of the Vigil honor degree team at the convention which held a ceremony atop Medicine Bow Mountain. The Vigil honor is the highest degree awarded to Arrow members.

The Scouts visited Stuart Richter, Colorado Springs superintendent of recreation and former Pontiac City recreation director, at his office. Richter was especially pleased to greet Eddie Winchester, formerly a Pontiac day camp counselor.

Also in Colorado Springs, the group inspected cool caverns in the Cave of the Winds, red rocks in the Garden of the Gods and inner ceremonial rooms in the ancient Indian cliff dwellings.

Above Seven Falls waterfall, one night, the boys aided a party of lost Texans to find the return path out of a rocky forest.

Robert Frank and Jim Spring were inspired by Royal Gorge and its highest suspension bridge in the world. The boys rode the world's steepest incline railway down more than 2,000 feet to the bottom of the canyon.

Next stop was at Philmont National Scout Ranch in northern New Mexico. Here, Bruce Gillies was thrilled to view a herd of 50 wild buffalo and inspect Kit Carson's home.

Archie Haynes continually pointed out the change in vegetation and rock formations which ranged from timber line in the mountains to sagebrush in the New Mexican deserts.

At Santa Fe, King Stetler, post adviser, enjoyed bargaining with Indians who displayed turquoise, silver and pottery wares in the market square.

En route home, the group stopped at Amarillo, Texas; Tulsa, Okla.; and St. Louis, Mo. In Springfield, Ill., the Scouts visited the home and tomb of Abraham Lincoln.

Tigers Sweep Doubleheader at Chicago

Detroit Back Home to Face Boston Red Sox

Two-Game Series Will Decide Fourth Place in American League

DETROIT (UP)—Detroit Tigers have shown themselves that an old-fashioned baseball combination like sharp pitching and aggressive hitting is the surest way to land in the 1st division.

Bengals, now out of 4th place by only half a game, employed such tactics Monday in sweeping a doubleheader with the White Sox at Chicago's Comiskey Park. Detroit won the 1st game, 9-1, and took the 10-inning nightcap, 3-2.

Manager Freddie Hutchinson's keyed up team returned home for a day of idleness today, but the Tigers will meet Boston at Briggs stadium Wednesday in the 1st tilt of a two-game series.

The series will be a show-down battle for 4th place in the American League. Boston clung to the position Monday by splitting a twin bill with New York, losing the opener, 6-5, but winning the finale, 9-7.

In the opener against Chicago Monday, Tigers batted out 12 hits, including Bill Tuttle's two-run homer, a well-placed triple and three doubles off Bob Keegan and rookie Dick Strahs.

Ned Garver, allowing only four hits, chalked up his 13th victory against nine losses.

The nightcap proved to be the thriller for 16,256 Labor Day fans. George Zuverink, Detroit's Holland, Mich., pitcher, won his 8th game against 11 losses, with the help of relievers Ray Herbert and Al Aber in the 10th inning.

Zuverink held a 2-1 lead until the 9th when he was hit by a double. At that crucial point, Minnie Miñoso rapped his 18th home run for the White Sox to tie the score.

Red Wilson's double and Harvey Kuenn's single scored the winning Detroit run in the 10th.

Detroit jumped ahead in the opening frame by scoring twice off Virgil Trucks on Kuenn's double, Fred Hatfield's double and Ray Boone's single.

White Sox tallied an unearned run in the 3rd inning when Chico Carrasquel was hit by a pitched ball. He reached second on Hatfield's error and scored on Willard Marshall's single.

Fans Give Tribe Royal Welcome in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (INS)—Cleveland Indians were greeted by some 10,000 cheering fans, a band and city officials late last night when they returned home from a successful three-week road trip.

The fans gathered at Hopkins Airport and whooped it up as the Redskins, four and a half games in front of the second place New York Yankees in the American League pennant race, descended from the airliner which brought them from Baltimore.

Promoter Seeks Work

Jack Kramer Finds Tennis Public Has to Have New Young Star to Stimulate Sport

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (UP)—When a professional promoter goes looking for work, things are bad. Jack Kramer, the tennis tycoon, says his racket is so dead for the time being that, with a fourth child coming soon and one thing and another, he's open to any reasonable offers.

"I've found that the public does not just want to see the best," the former world's champ said glumly. "It's got to have a new young player to get excited about every so often, and there isn't one of that kind around now or even in sight. I've got to find something else to do."

"Tony Trabert asked me for advice and I gave it to him. I told him to forget about turning pro now or any time soon. Of course, if he should help win back the Davis Cup this winter and then win both Wimbledon and our National Championships next summer, that would be different. He would be an attraction then, but I couldn't use him or anybody else now. There's nobody with any record."

So the immediate pickings look

Davis Makes Another Bid for Crack at Champion

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (UP)—Ever ready Teddy (Red Top) Davis made another pitch today for a title shot at featherweight champion Sandy Saddler and his manager said he'd back it up with cash.

"Saddler can have $25,000 if he'll fight Red Top for the championship in New Haven," Manager Mushky Salow said after his busy little contender outpointed Canadian lightweight champion Armand Savoie last night.

"I've been chasing him for two years," said Davis, No. 4 featherweight from Hartford, Conn. "If I ever catch up to him I'm gonna make him pay for keeping me waiting so long. I guarantee you, I'll knock him out in five rounds."

The victory over Savoie by unanimous decision was Red Top's fourth in a row.

Built up to 133½, so he wouldn't give away too much weight, Davis threw punches in a steady stream from the opening bell.

He got off winging, tailed off in the middle rounds, and finished with a flourish in the final two to clinch the verdict over the 136-pound Montrealer.

Over at Eastern Parkway in Brooklyn, Ted Olla, 163½, Milwaukee, and Jesse Turner, 159, St. Louis, fought a 10-round draw in another televised bout.

GMC Golf Meet Slated for Weekend

General Motors' annual plant-wide 18-hole golf tournament will be held Saturday at the Highland Golf Club. Tourney is open to men who have played in a GMC league during the summer.

Tea-time is a.m. to 2 p.m., with each golfer playing against others in his flight for cash prizes on the average of his eight best league games. Five flights will be set up.

World Walking Mark Broken by Detroit

DETROIT (UP)—Bill Mihalo, Detroit's monopolist in fast walking, has set another world's record—his flat.

The nimble-footed Mihalo posted a 29-mile world's professional walking championship Monday by covering the distance on a Belle Isle course in 4 hours, 5 minutes and 1 second.

He clipped almost a quarter of an hour off the old mark of 4:29 set by William Franks, Little Bridge, Eng.

Mickey Katlin Wins Feature at M-59 Oval

Mickey Katlin of Howell, back in the good graces of the Land-O-Lakes Racing Association, won the 35-lap hardtop feature at Pontiac M-59 Speedway Sunday.

Katlin, who missed several starts because of a rules infraction, gained the lead in the 16th lap and never relinquished it. Joy Fair outdrove Rusty Kelly for 2nd place.

Kelly won the 4-car dash, Joe Doyle took the pursuit and Dorris Sanders won the semi-final, shortened to 15 laps because of pileups. Heat winners were Katlin, Sanders, Jack Weston, Wayne Bennett and Benny Evans.

Racing Accident Injures 8, Kills One, Labor Day

Horn Memorial Event Marred by Tragedy at DuQuoin, Ill.

DUQUOIN, Ill. (UP)—Clay Smith, 39-year-old Los Angeles, mechanic, was killed and eight other persons injured yesterday when a racing car went out of control and overturned into the pits during the Ted Horn Memorial auto race.

The race, shortened to 83 laps by the accident, was won by Sam Hanks of Glendale, Calif., for the second straight year.

Hanks' time was 56:34.33. He is the second racer to take two victories in the event at the Du Quoin state fair. Tony Bettenhausen, Tinsley Park, Ill., was the other.

The accident, which came on the 51st lap, occurred when a car driven by Roger Ward of Los Angeles blew a tire and went out of control at the pit area in front of the grandstand which was jammed with about 12,000 persons.

Smith, a mechanic for Chuck Stevenson of Garden Grove, Calif., was killed instantly. Drivers continued under the caution flag for two more laps until the race was stopped after the 83rd lap.

Stevenson finished second; Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz., third; Jimmy Davies, Van Nuys, Calif., fourth, and Jimmy Reece, Tulsa, Okla., fifth. The race was scheduled for 100 miles on the 1-mile dirt track.

Ward refused treatment at a hospital here. His blowout came as he was coming into the stretch, throwing his racer into Stevenson's car where the two machines apparently locked wheels for an instant. Stevenson's car was not damaged and he continued in the race to finish second.

Ward's auto went into a spin, overturning in the pit area.

The injured included: Jerry Seibert, 14, Elkville, Ill., broken arm; James H. Beatty, 12, Elkville, Ill., treated and dismissed; Dave Boyer, 23, Speedway City, Ind., neck injury; Ervin Endley, Speedway City, treated and dismissed;

Leonard Woolford, Columbus, Ind., chest and shoulder injuries; Karl Hall, 42, Orleans, Ind., car owner, broken ankle; Paul E. Brooks, Elizabethtown, Ind., broken collar bone and Jesse Fiedscher, 22, Elkville, Ill., back injury.

*Source: R. L. Polk & Company, Registrations for January through June, latest month for which figures are available.

Ford's first in "GO"

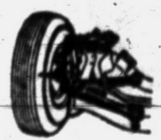

Ford's Y-block V-8 is the most modern in the industry

Ford's 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 is the greatest engine development since the original Ford V-8. Deep, Y-block construction assures greater rigidity for smoother performance; longer engine life. Short-stroke, low-friction design means less friction—more usable power from every gallon of gas.

Ford's first in Ride

Ford is the only low-priced car with Ball-Joint Front Suspension

Only Ford in the low-price field has Ball-Joint Front Suspension. This advanced system eliminates old-type kingpins. Wheels move right and left, up and down on smooth-acting ball joints. This makes all handling and riding easier. And that "new car feel" stays on and on... because 12 points of wear are eliminated by the new Ball-Joint system.

Ford's first in Style

Ford's long, low look sets the trend for tomorrow's cars

Ford's modern styling has brought luxurious beauty to the low-price field... and set a new styling trend in the industry. The eye-catching exterior beauty is complemented by interiors that combine fashion and function in a way that matches a fine living room for both beauty and comfort.

Ford's first in Resale Value

Used car prices show FORD returns a higher percentage of its original cost at resale than any other car

The cost of a car to you is the amount you pay for it less the amount you get for it when you sell it or trade it in. And recent-model Ford cars return a greater portion of their original cost at resale than any other car in the low-price field. That's why it costs you less to own a Ford!

Queen Elizabeth in Fight Against Diseased Rabbits

LONDON (U)—The plight of Britain's diseased wild rabbits is attracting the attention of Queen Elizabeth II, along with thousands of persons who grow rabbits for show, meat and fur.

The Royal Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (RSPCA) has become concerned with the myxomatosis-infected rabbits and so has Parliament.

The disease is helping harried farmers clear their land of long-eared pests. Reports to Parliament that some farmers were deliberately spreading the disease brought questions from the House of Commons and a government answer that no immediate legal action would be taken pending further observations.

In mid-August myxomatosis broke out among rabbits on the royal family's estate at Sandringham and later it spread through Windsor Great Park and Windsor Forest. On the Queen's instructions, keepers patrolled the lands, shooting infected rabbits to prevent their suffering.

The British Rabbit Council said that at least five cases of myxomatosis among domestic rabbits had been reported. Warned that the disease can be carried by mosquitoes, they have been advised to cover hutches with nets and vaccinate the animals.

The RSPCA said 66 inspectors were forming volunteer mercy squads to kill infected rabbits throughout the country.

The National Farmers Union says the disease should be left to take its course "but on humane grounds we do not advocate its deliberate spreading."

Myxomatosis came to Britain only recently, the result of a retired French doctor's experiment two years ago. Australia three years ago began using the virus to kill off millions of rabbits wreaking havoc with her crop and sheep lands. Angered at the animals' depredations on his thousand-acre estate in France, Prof. Paul Armand-Delille injected two rabbits with the myxoma virus.

The professor thought the walls of his estate would check the spread of the disease, but it flashed across the rabbit population of France, Belgium and Germany and finally jumped the Channel.

9-Nation Conference Urged by British

LONDON (U)—Britain has suggested Sept. 14 for a nine-nation London meeting of foreign ministers to discuss West German rearmament.

Italy, the Netherlands and several other countries have agreed to the date, but Washington officials said yesterday they were not certain that U.S. Secretary of State Dulles could fit the mid-September London date into his busy schedule, however, that it was agreeable to him.

The State Department indicated, however, that it was agreeable to the conference, to which the British also have invited France, West Germany, Canada, Belgium and Luxembourg.

South Korea Leaders Meeting With Rhee

SEOUL (U)—South Korea's top military leaders, back from conferences in Washington, met with President Syngman Rhee today.

Sources said they discussed the planned withdrawal of two thirds of American troops from Korea and probable buildup of South Korean military forces.

The United States has 51 million telephones or one for every three people.

Murrow's TV Visit Involves Crew of Forty

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When Edward Murrow calls at your house, he doesn't just drop in for a brief visit the way it seems to viewers. His friendly chats on his "Person to Person" TV show, I found out, are a major production. So did the Bogarts—Humphrey and his wife, Lauren Bacall.

When I arrived at the Bogart mansion on the morning of the telecast, you'd think there was a social gathering in the neighborhood. Cars all over the place. I swung up the driveway and found the parking area filled with trucks and big lamps.

In one corner was a truck from the telephone company, and workmen were climbing up and down a 30-foot tower with a big circular ear on top. This, I found out later, was for sending the TV signal to Mount Wilson, whence Los Angeles stations send their pictures. Men were tramping in and out of the door, so I just walked in. I found Humphrey Bogart in the hall standing in a characteristic pose. He had a drink in one hand and gazed disconsolately at his once-tranquil home.

Bogart recognized me and growled, "This was Miss Bacall's idea," he said. "Anything for her friend Murrow. I never met the man. Like him, though, Miss Bacall knows him well, has gone pub-crawling with him."

The whole production began five days earlier, he reported. CBS technicians cased the place, did a drawing of the house, complete with camera angles and light placements. Men had been swarming around the house all week.

Bogart showed me how the show would proceed. It was to start with Lauren and the children out in the yard near the pool.

After the kid talk, Murrow was to explore the living room, where Bogart would appear. Then Bogart would take a tour through the house, starting with a drawing room that was empty except for some crated paintings.

"Miss Bacall picked them up in Paris," he remarked. "I don't get the message of most of them."

He put down his drink and announced he would have to leave to get a haircut for the telecast and discuss working conditions with his cronies at Romanoff's. He darted away in his Jaguar. Since Miss Bacall was also away tending to her hair, I prowled around the place in search of information.

I discovered that about 40 men would be required to put the Murrow-to-Bogart conversations on the air. Four cameras would be used, and they had stopped counting the lights.

"Most of the Murrow pickups require maybe 12 men, 20 at the most," said a CBS man. "Sometimes we have problems."

As I left, a whole new shift of men in overalls was arriving. All this for one intimate chat.

Average value of a ton of U. S. bituminous coal at the mine in 1953 was placed at $4.91.

Wingless Jet Makes 7 Flights in Great Britain

LONDON (INS)—A British test pilot revealed today he had made seven successful flights in a revolutionary jet aircraft without wings that is little more than an engine with a pilot mounted on top.

The contraption—dubbed a "flying bedstead"—can take off and land vertically eliminating the need for the lengthy runways required by standard jet planes.

Ronald Shepherd, test pilot for Rolls-Royce Ltd., said the main purpose of the machine was for studying its application to air-liners and bombers. He said:

"It means you can do away with a runway. The aircraft can rise and come down on a landing area like a helicopter."

The machine reached a height of 100 feet during the initial flights.

Women, More Than Men, Enjoy Ending a Vacation

By LAURA E. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS) — We flung open our own front door, and I saw dusty tables, chairs, window-sills. It was one of the greatest sights of the whole summer!

For we were home at last. Every woman who's ever had her family away for a long vacation will know exactly what I mean. And why I didn't give a hoot about the glaze of dust over every wood surface, and over every plastic covering on sofas and chairs.

Whether the family vacation was in a little shack or bungalow, or perhaps in some glamorous hotel or inn or lodge, there's some special magic about getting back at last to your own house or apartment, your own room, your own things.

Men and children love to get back home at the end of a vacation. I know. But I think the biggest magic is felt by those women who really enjoy running a house.

Each summer, they're the first ones to develop the craving to get home again, to have things the way they want them again, and not the way some hotel or motel or "summer rental" forces them to have them.

Suddenly, a few days before the one special Monday called Labor Day, all such women find their vacation mood has flown the coop—flown right out of the car window, the bungalow window, the porch or the test-flap.

Suddenly they fairly itch to be where they permanently belong. At times they feel guilty about their secret longing to have done with all the outdoor life and the barbecues and the beach picnics; they seem to think their longing means they've not had such a pleasant summer as they've pretended. All of which, of course, is nonsense. It doesn't mean anything of the sort. In my case, I was fairly bursting with impatience to get home—right in the same breath with admiring the most glorious vacation we've ever had.

Both things were true; it had indeed been glorious, touring the nation for 8,000 miles or so with my boys, me working hard but enjoying every moment of it as much as they.

Then suddenly came the moment when I began to feel I'd go mad if I couldn't say "that's that" and be home five minutes later—or sooner.

All at once, every newspaper ad about new carpets or new curtains, about thick fluffy bath towels or new aluminum broilers—every one made me yearn to get through with vacationing back to my real life.

The difficulties of running a house week in and week out—that was forgotten. The boring little exasperations didn't exist, nor the fretfulness about budgets and menus and cleaning-days.

To listen to my chatter about how grand it would be to get home again, you'd have thought I'd never yipped about a woman's lot or moaned about how I needed a complete change of scene.

And it wasn't only new carpets and thick bath towels that filled me with longing for home. Each September magazine on the newsstands during the last days of August simply needed me about new fashions and new clothes. Suddenly I wanted to throw out all my faded summer dresses, and get back into tweed and silk. I longed for a new permanent wave, new high-heeled shoes instead of summer sandals; a smart little hat instead of windblowing hair.

In other words, I had been bitten real hard by the bug of homesickness—the special kind that really tops off the joys of vacation as whipped cream tops off a too-rich sundae.

The kind that reminds you of the old saying — "be it every so humble!"

Wheat and Rye Leading Grains

CHICAGO (U) — Grain prices firmed on the Board of Trade today with wheat and rye again in the lead. Soybeans opened lower but rallied as the session progressed, all deferred deliveries climbing back above the previous finish.

Feed grains got off to a steady start and pushed timidly upward in sympathy with the rest of the market. Trading in these cereals, however, was not active.

September soybeans tumbled around seven cents at the opening and then came back to reduce their loss by several cents.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, September $2.18 1/2; corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, September $1.64 1/2; oats 1/4 to 1/2 higher, September 75c; rye 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher, September $1.39; soybeans 2 1/4 lower to 2 1/2 higher, September $2.94 1/2, and lard 12 lower to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $16.80.

He Quit College to Broadcast

Fans Liked His Routine, Early Bosses Didn't; He's Done It Ever Since

Bland, bespectacled Steve Allen will bring his assorted talents as comedian, musician and emcee to the network when Tonight makes its debut. It will be heard Mondays through Fridays.

The versatile Steve, a handy man with a quip and a good fellow with a jazz piano, has been the favorite of New York stay-ups who have watched his easy-going "Steve Allen Show" for months. So loudly have they chortled at his "sweet and pungent" approach to a rib that the network has decided the whole country should get a chance to get in on the fun. Easy-going, relaxed and informal though his style may be, Steven Allen's humor, as Faye Emerson remarked, is "definitely crisp."

The 32-year-old Allen is the only child of two vaudeville comedians, Belle Monrose and Billy Allen. Born in New York, he boarded with various relatives and attended numerous schools. Following his father's death, Steve and his mother settled in Chicago. Even this was a temporary arrangement, when acute asthma made it imperative for the frail youngster to be taken to Arizona for a year.

Despite his mixed-up childhood, the end result was favorable. By the time he had finished high school, he could play the piano by ear, edit the literary magazine, write verse, newspaper stories and plays, and turn his hand to the composition of popular songs.

A recurrence of asthma made a return to Arizona imperative, and he enrolled in Arizona State Teachers College. An advertisement for a part-time announcer brought him to the actual beginning of his career as an entertainer. Soon the part-time stint became full-time and Steve quit college to concentrate on his radio job. Except for a few months in the army, from which he received a medical discharge, he has remained in radio and television ever since. From Phoenix Steve moved to Hollywood, still as an announcer.

Convinced that he could write better material than he heard on the radio, the versatile Allen—in partnership with another announcer named Wendell Noble—wrote a 15-minute show called "Smile Time." They wrote and performed this program for two years. It taught him a tremendous lesson about comedy material—mostly that what he made up was better than the stuff he converted from old joke books.

Next came a late-evening job as a disk jockey in Hollywood. It gave Steve another opportunity to haul out a few of the special Allen routines, much to the distress of the management, who wanted him to just play music. A sharp memo reminding him of this fact prompted Steve to read it to the audience. Indignantly they wrote to the management by the hundreds, demanding that the comedy be reinstated. The station managers not only let him alone but gave him extra time. One thing leading to another, he expanded the format to include guests with whom he conducted highly humorous interviews. Having become a local celebrity on the coast, Allen was brought to New York first as a quizmaster. Then he was a replacement for a situation comedy.

Steve is married to Jayne Meadows, television actress. By a previous marriage he is the father of three sons.

Social Security Law Broadens Family Coverage

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of eight articles dealing with 1934 changes in the Social Security Act. Reprints are available by contacting the Pontiac Social Security Office, 333 Hubbard Bldg.)

Families of workers who died after 1933 and before Sept. 1, 1935 may now be eligible for a monthly check even if a previous application was turned down.

Under the new law, any worker who died during the ten-year period is considered fully insured if he had at least 1½ years work under social security.

In the past, many survivors of deceased wage earners could not get social security benefits because the worker had not been under social security long enough to be fully insured under the law as existing at time of death.

So, if you are the surviving: 1. Widow, age 65 or over. 2. Widow, any age if you have children of the deceased worker under 18 in your care. 3. Child, under 18. 4. Dependent parent, age 65 or over.

And the deceased worker had at least 1½ years of work under the law, go in touch with your nearest social security office.

Benefits under this provision of the law can begin this month.

First Warden of Alcatraz Dies of Illness at 79

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—James A. Johnston, 79, first warden of Alcatraz, died last night. Johnston had a long career in penology, taking his first warden's job at California's Folsom Prison in 1912. The next year he took over as head of San Quentin Prison and resigned in 1925 to enter the banking business. In 1934, when the government converted the island in San Francisco Bay from a military to a federal prison where the toughest federal convicts are sent, Johnston was named warden. He held the job until 1948. President Eisenhower, recently reappointed him to the Federal Pardon and Parole Board. Johnston had been ill since December.

Business Planes Now Outnumber Airliners in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UP)—American business has taken to the skies in such numbers that today's fleet of business planes is almost 17 times larger than that operated by the nation's fleet of domestic airlines. In fact, according to Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Association, U. S. businesses own almost twice as many large, multi-engine transport planes as do the scheduled domestic airlines.

Latest figures show that business planes now number 21,500—of which 2,437 are multi-engine and 19,063 are single-engine. Aircraft on scheduled airlines total 1,268.

The industry publication says the sharp rise in use of aircraft by corporations and professional men, as well as by small businesses, has made this type of flying one of the major factors in the U. S. civil aviation picture.

Last year, these business planes spent an estimated 6,450,000 hours in the air, covering approximately 903,000,000 miles on business trips. This compares with a total of about 525,000,000 plane miles flown by the scheduled airlines, although the commercial airlines carry tremendously larger numbers of passengers.
