Chessman to Die, Clemency Refused

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown today refused to save the life of Caryl Chessman, a kidnaper-robber and best-selling author who faces execution next Friday.

"I have used the power of clemency before," the governor said in a formal statement, "and in proper cases I will use it again. I do not believe this is a proper case."

Brown said several factors weighed heavily in his thinking not to grant mercy to Chessman. These, he said, included "a deliberate plan of robberies, sexual attacks, and the use of a loaded gun."

"So too, has Chessman's failure to show contrition," the governor added.

"His attitude has been one of steadfast arrogance and contempt for society and its laws. I have considered too the matter of prior felony convictions. Our constitution recognizes this as a factor in clemency and limits the governor's power to act except upon recommendations from the State Supreme Court where there is a prior felony conviction.

"Because of all these considerations, I have decided that I will not intervene in the case of Caryl Chessman."

Governor Brown once again reiterated his personal opposition to capital punishment but he said he had sworn to uphold and "faithfully to execute the laws of this state."

"Capital punishment remains part of that law," his statement said, "and the chief executive, whatever his personal beliefs, must respect and be guided by the will of the people."

SEARCHED CONSCIENCE

Brown said he had great power to grant clemency but he said in the Chessman case "I have searched the record and my conscience for some sufficient basis for resolving the issue in favor of clemency."

"I have been unable to do so."

Chilly Week Due as Temperature Hits Frosty 31

It finally happened. The mercury fell one degree below freezing early this morning, leaving little doubt that topcoat weather has arrived.

The weatherman reports that temperatures will average about six to eight degrees below the normal 60 high and normal 41 low for the next five days.

Cloudy, windy and not so cold is the forecast for tonight. The low will average 40 to 46.

Tuesday's forecast calls for mostly cloudy, windy and cooler weather with a high near 58. The evening low will be near freezing.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 this morning was 31. Winds were southerly at 8 miles per hour at 10 a.m. At 2 p.m. the downtown temperature was 54.

Around the state, Gladwin, where the mercury fell to 20, was Michigan's coldest spot last night. Other sharp temperature drops recorded were 21 at Pellston, 24 at Lansing and Alpena and 25 at Traverse City.

Ousted Attache Accused as Spy

U.S.'s Russell Langelle Leaves Moscow Amid Cheers of Friends

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union charged tonight that ousted U.S. Embassy Attache Russell Langelle handed espionage instructions to "an American agent who is at present in the Soviet Union."

It said that "Langelle used his stay in the U.S.S.R. to carry out intelligence work."

Langelle, his wife and their three children left Moscow this evening for Amsterdam after they had been ordered expelled from Russia.

The Russians rejected a U.S. protest and gave them three days to get out. The 37-year-old Langelle was the security officer in the U. S. Embassy.

'ACTIONS INCOMPATIBLE'

The Soviet news agency Tass carried a report tonight by the U.S.S.R. ministry of foreign affairs which said that Langelle had been expelled "since his action were incompatible with the status of an accredited member of diplomatic personnel."

On Oct. 16, the Russian statement said, Langelle "had a secret meeting in Moscow with an American agent who is at present in the Soviet Union and to whom he handed instructions concerning further espionage work, coding equipment and a large sum of money."

"During this meeting, both participants were apprehended by the competent Soviet organs while espionage material was removed from their possession," the statement said.

It concluded by saying that "the U.S.S.R. minister of foreign affairs drew the attention of the U.S. embassy to the inadmissibility of similar actions on the part of the diplomatic staff of the embassy."

The statement said that the Russians suggested last Friday, the 16th, that Langelle should leave the Soviet Union.

When the Langelles left Moscow this evening, a crowd of 50 American well-wishers turned out to see them off.

Three Brothers Die in Apartment Blaze

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three small brothers perished in bed Sunday night as fire swept through a two-story apartment building in nearby Braddock.

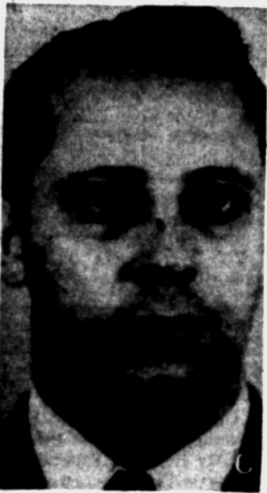

Firemen said dense smoke apparently smothered the boys before the blaze reached their second floor bedroom.

The children were William Dupree, 5, and his brothers, Clifford, 4, and Keith, 2.

Their bodies were found on the first floor where their bed toppled down as the fire burned through the bedroom floor.

Bare Thompson Prison Violation

Flint Teamster Makes Cadillac Deal While at Trusty Camp

Steps were being taken today to prevent a recurrence of a rule violation that enabled Teamsters Union business agent Jack D. Thompson to acquire a 1959 Cadillac during a work assignment at a state corrections camp, a corrections official said today.

It was a Cadillac which figured in Thompson's conviction in April and imprisonment as the second man in the human torch death of his fellow Flint Teamster Frank Kierdorf in August 1958.

S. J. Gilman, director of the state corrections camp program, said an investigation was under way into an incident involving Thompson on Sept. 15.

"We haven't decided definitely what we're going to do, but we're certainly not dropping the matter," Gilman said.

Gilman said it was reported to him that Thompson's wife and Earl Burns, an employee of the Grayling Secretary of State's Office, visited Thompson Sept. 15 at the Grayling State Fish Hatchery. Thompson was working there on a construction crew rebuilding the fish pond.

"They went there to get Thompson's signature on a car title, transferring ownership of the new Cadillac from Flint Local 332 to the Thompsons, Gilman said.

This was a direct violation of the rules prohibiting visits with prisoners while away from the main work camp. Thompson is a trusty at Camp Lehman, eight miles northeast of Grayling.

SHORT TERM CAMP

He was assigned there Aug. 18 from Jackson Prison where he began a 1½ to 10-year sentence for arson in Kierdorf's death.

Camp Lehman is one of 12 corrections conservation prison camps for short-term offenders, whose average stay in prison is eight to nine months, Gilman said.

He said he received an apology from Arthur Kleiss, a foreman at Camp Lehman, on the day the violation occurred.

Gilman said Kleiss had no authority to grant the visit. He described Kleiss as a "good foreman."

"We are pretty sure there was no maliciousness involved and Kleiss will probably not be punished," Gilman said. "He realized it's mistake immediately, and told his boss of the incident that night."

But Thompson was given a new assignment the day after, miles away from the hatchery.

"I ordered him moved," said Gilman. "There was an outside chance the foreman and Thompson were too friendly, and we didn't want to make it so easy for Mrs. Thompson to find her husband."

Prisoners are permitted visitors on Sunday, but not when they are working during the week, he said.

GETS THE 'SAD' REPORT — President Eisenhower today received the report on the steel strike from his fact-finders. Left to right: Eisenhower, John A. Perlins, Paul N. Lehoczy and George W. Taylor, panel chairman. Eisenhower is expected to use the Taft-Hartley Act. But Steel Union President David J. McDonald said today he will carry his fight against the issuance of the injunction to the Supreme Court, if necessary.

Fact-Finders Turn In 'Sad' Steel Report

Union President Warns Fight Against Order to Go to Top Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today ordered the Justice Department to seek a court injunction to halt the marathon steel strike for 80 days.

The White House announced that a petition for an injunction under the Taft-Hartley law will be sought in Federal District Court in Pittsburgh tomorrow afternoon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential fact-finders today reported "with sad hearts" their failure to settle the nation's longest steel strike.

President Eisenhower, however, put off asking for a court injunction sending the 500,000 Steelworkers back to the mills.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there is "no time limit" on the President's study of the report of his board of inquiry which tried for a week without success to bring agreement between industry and the United Steelworkers.

This apparently left time for them to make voluntary moves toward agreement by bargaining. But Eisenhower's three-member fact-finding board gave little hope for early success in their 37-page report to the White House.

"As we submit this report, the parties have failed to reach an agreement and we see no prospects for an early cessation of the strike," the report said.

"The board cannot point to any single issue of any consequence whatsoever upon which the parties are in agreement."

The Union's president, David J. McDonald, said the Steelworkers will fight the issuance of an injunction all the way to the Supreme Court, if necessary.

Speaking to reporters after a one-hour and 15-minute meeting with the Union's executive board, McDonald said the board unanimously approved the Union negotiators' rejection yesterday of the last proposal of the steel industry.

Gas Fumes Kill Boy, Overcome 9

GREENVILLE (AP) — Doctors watched the condition today of hospitalized survivors of a gas-fumes home tragedy in which a small boy died.

Apparently, only a last-minute telephone call for help from one member of a stricken family ward off more deaths.

The boy, 4-year-old Randy Chansler of Royal Oak, and nine other persons were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes from a clogged chimney at the home of Randy's great-grandmother yesterday.

Periled by the gas were three other children and six adults. All nine were taken to United Memorial Hospital.

Hospital authorities reported the six adults and three children in fair condition following overnight treatment.

Randy, son of Sam Chansler, 619 Marlin St., a masonry contractor, was found dead in the home. All the others were unconscious.

The family group had gathered for a weekend reunion at the home of Mrs. Annie Hansen, 83.

Dr. John Glerum, responding to a call to the hospital found the group unconscious.

The call for help reportedly was made by Gladys Hansen, 55, daughter of Mrs. Hansen.

Also overcome were Chansler and his wife, Betty, 34 their three other children, Jerry, 12, Billy, 8, and Cathy, 5, and the younger Mrs. Hansen and Hugh Bradford, 62, of Bear Lake, father of Mrs. Chansler, and his wife, Louella, 58.

Police Save Hoodlum From Pursuing Mob of Angry Residents

From Our News Wires

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A young hoodlum fleeing in a stolen car at speeds up to 100 miles an hour careened through an intersection today and slammed into a crowd of 30 school children, killing three of them and critically injuring another.

Police captured the motorist, Paul D. Graham, 22, as he ran from the scene with an angry group of people after him.

He was hurried to Central Police Station. No charge was filed immediately. Police said he has a record of seven previous arrests, at least two on morals charges.

The dead were identified as Randy Kline, 7, his 5-year-old brother Raymond, and Jane Bellah, 7.

Five-year-old Jerri Bellah's leg was broken.

Police were pursuing Graham for speeding when he apparently tried to slow down, witnesses said. The station wagon skidded sideways and onto a sidewalk in front of a grocery where 30 children were waiting for the school bus.

The careening vehicle mowed the children down where they stood, then smashed into a parked car, careened off and struck a car emerging from a nearby trailer court.

Police said Graham leaped from the stolen station wagon and started to run, but the pursuing police cruiser trapped him against the wall of a nearby bank building. The station wagon was registered in the name of a woman state employee, a North Side resident, who earlier had reported it stolen.

"This is the most pathetic thing I have ever seen," a nurse at Mercy Hospital told newsmen. She said Jane Bellah suffered broken legs, head and internal injuries. The skulls of both the Kline boys were shattered.

Bloomfield Twp. 15-Year-Old Is Shot in Stolen Car Chase

A 15-year-old West Bloomfield Township youth in a stolen car was shot and critically wounded by police early today in a wild chase through Birmingham at speeds up to 100 miles an hour.

James P. O'Leary was in critical condition in William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak. He was shot in the back of the neck, the bullet piercing his spinal column.

A former inmate of the Oakland County Children's Center, O'Leary, of 2583 DePew St., had stolen a field Hills squad car after the sports car about 3 a. m. today. Birmingham police said. It belonged to Paul Kilar, 2385 Chats St., in the Sylvan Shopping Center area. This is five blocks away from the home of the boy's parents.

Birmingham patrolmen Norman Propst and Millard Squire said that about 3:30 a. m. they spotted the speeding sports car headed north on Hunter boulevard in Birmingham and gave chase.

They were joined by a Bloomfield Hills squad car after the

Catholic Social Services Aids Many With UF Funds

The major product of the Catholic Social Services of Oakland County is what might be called a "undo-it-yourself emotional problem kit."

There is an emotional problem behind almost every case coming to the Catholic Social Services office, 53

Franklin Blvd., and the local staff has a "kit" to cure most cases.

The "kits," however, vary from problem to problem. They involve lots of work and understanding on the part of trained experts in showing people why they do as they do and feel as they feel.

Then the staff provides each client a "do-it-yourself" plan to avoid future problems. This service and these so-called kits wouldn't be possible without support of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

One startling trend has been the rise in child behavior problems.

"We are currently handling 16 to 15 such cases each month and are getting more and more requests for help in this field," says Leonard R. Jagels, executive secretary.

A staff psychiatrist was hired on a part-time basis late in July. The office can now offer psychiatric evaluation as well as psychological testing.

"The evaluation seeks out emotional disturbances while the testing centers around abilities to think and do things," Jagels says.

The behavior problems are many. They may concern a child stealing from his mother's purse, not sleeping well, not getting along with other children, or being defiant toward parents.

Rockefeller Moves Openly Into National Politics

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — talk to a major organization of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, aiming at the Republican presidential nomination, moved openly on to the national political scene today with a call for sweeping improvements in public health programs.

The 51-year-old governor made the first of a series of planned statements on top national issues as he headed for the Midwest in a critical test of his ability to overtake Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the GOP nomination.

Nixon holds a commanding lead. Rockefeller is opening an all-out campaign to see if he can catch up.

The New York governor, in his first major political venture outside his home state, invades Chicago today for a hectic round of activities designed for maximum publicity and political value.

Before flying west, he speaks here at the American Public Health Assn. convention.

He declared in his prepared speech that there is "compelling need for fresh approaches and new methods in public health practice."

His own administration, he said, is already at work mapping fresh approaches to major health problems. These, he said, include rising costs of medical care.

Rockefeller reserved the first 15 minutes of his Chicago visit for newspaper, television and newsreel cameramen. A news conference follows.

The schedule also includes a

The parents or environment is at fault, creating an emotional disturbance in the child, we handle the case," Jagels explains.

This United Fund agency also offers trained professional help to unwed mothers, couples having marital difficulties or anyone who has just simply run up against an emotional block.

"In many cases there may be no family trouble at all," Jagels said. "If a wife tells us she is satisfied with her husband but not herself, or that her days are long, that she's not interested in going out, then we try to find out what emotional factor is responsible for her unhappiness."

At least 10 per cent of the people seeking help are single.

150 COUPLES A YEAR

The staff handles well over 150 couples with marital problems each year. Many are unhappy with their mate, others are confused. "In many cases drinking is a factor, in others it is an inability for the couple to 'talk' to each other," Jagels said.

In the case of an alcoholic, medical help is usually required. With "problem drinkers" the cure lies in trying to find the emotional problem and its cause.

The local office has helped 70 unmarried mothers so far this year. This aid includes medical care and placement of the babies.

however, that the Steel Workers will use every legal resource available to oppose issuance of a back-to-work court injunction.

The fact-finders headed by Dr. George W. Taylor of Philadelphia spent one hour and 14 minutes in Eisenhower's office with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell and White House staff members. Then they met reporters in Hagerty's office.

Hagerty said the report had been discussed fully but added: "I have no announcement of any presidential action now."

Hagerty said Eisenhower wants to study the report and "there is no time limit on that study."

Taylor told newsmen the board reached the end of the mediation road "with very sad hearts, because we feel this is an extremely critical situation."

"The parties have a continuing obligation to resolve these issues," Taylor said, after observing that the board feels the differences can be resolved.

"This obligation to the country will not be discharged until they can sign an agreement, which is their duty in a democracy such as ours to avoid the possibility of an imposed decision."

"It is the belief of the board that if we ever come to that (imposed decision in labor disputes), we won't have the same kind of country."

Taylor was referring to recent proposals for stronger government action to settle major disputes through compulsory arbitration and other actions demanded in the last few days by some members of Congress.

GOP Chairman in City Thursday

Thruston B. Morton to Talk at Party Luncheon, Attend Women's Tea

As part of his 30,000-mile junket across the country to see how Republican prospects for 1960 are shaping up, Sen. Thruston B. Morton, his party's national chairman, will swing into Oakland County Thursday.

The Kentucky senator's major appearance will be at noon that day at the Northwood Inn in Berkeley. At a $50-a-plate luncheon he's expected to boost local Republican hopes with a talk titled "Victory in Michigan in 1960."

Those planning the luncheon expect 200 to attend.

Morton moves on to Mt. Clemens Thursday night for a speech in that city.

At a meeting earlier in the day, County Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. is expected to brief the national chairman on re-organization plans keyed to next year's national, state and county elections.

Attending the gathering with Elliott will be five district chairmen from Wayne County.

Morton, who took over from former chairman H. Meade Alcorn Jr., will come to Michigan Wednesday afternoon from Fargo, N. D. He'll go to Grand Rapids first, arriving in Oakland County Thursday morning.

Republican women of the county will have a chance to hear Morton, who still doubles as Kentucky senator besides being chairman, at a tea Thursday afternoon at Devon Gables.

The Republican Committee of Oakland County is sponsoring the noon luncheon. Chairman of the affair is W.A.P. John of the Bloomfield Hills advertising agency of MacManus, John & Adams.

Co-chairmen of the luncheon are Elliott, of Pleasant Ridge, and Merritt D. Hill of Bloomfield Township, finance director for the county.

Errol Flynn Goes to His Grave Today

From Our Nws Wires — LOS ANGELES — Errol Flynn, whose zest for living could only be stilled by death, will be buried today.

The tempestuous actor's body arrived from Canada Sunday.

Adoring fans used to mob him at the union station on his arrivals. This time only morticians and newsmen met the train.

In sharp contrast to his lifetime filled with popping flashbulbs, his final hours will pass in strict seclusion. His widow, actress Patricia Wymore, ordered the casket remain closed.

The actor's last love — 17-year-old Beverly Aadland — wasn't on hand for the funeral service.

Miss Aadland, who was the 50-year-old actor's "protege" for the past two years, left Hollywood last night for an undisclosed destination.

Two of the dashing actor's three wives were expected to be among the great and small of Hollywood to turn out for service at Forest Lawn's Church of the Reformation. The church seats 300 persons but 200 additional seats were set up.

The wives attending are his widow and Mrs. Nora Eddington Flynn Haymes, his second wife.

Hunting Dog Doesn't Know When to Quit

Some canines are good enthusiastic hunting dogs, others are failures.

Kaiser told Deputy George R. Emers, "She took off after a rabbit. I tried to keep up with her but she got out of sight and I haven't seen her since."

Most of Nation Crisp and Clear as Judith Passes

By United Press International — Skies were clear and the weather was cool over most of the nation again today.

Tropical storm Judith, which crossed the Florida Peninsula yesterday, was reported about 550 miles east of Daytona Beach today and moving northeast into the Atlantic ocean at 29 miles an hour.

The storm left the southern half of Florida wet but undamaged after its eighth hour crossing.

Virtually the remainder of the country enjoyed crisp, clear autumn weather yesterday.

Of the several hundred reported stations only 5 recorded any measurable precipitation last night, the Weather Bureau said.

The heaviest rainfall was a half-inch at Oronota, N.Y.

Some showers were expected in the Pacific Northwest today, showers or flurries in the Montana and Wyoming Rockies and a few flurries in the lower Great Lakes and extreme northern New England.

ambulance on the way to the hospital.

The youth was confined to the Children's Center in February for being a run away while on probation for car theft. He was allowed to return to his parents in June, but remained a ward of Juvenile Court.

Propst said he didn't know the driver of the speeding car was a youth, or that the boy had been hit by one of the bullets, until after the chase was over.

Freighter Sinks in Gulf

COATZACOALCOS, Mexico (UP) — The small freighter Victor Lynn, out of Tampa, Fla., sank Sunday 20 miles off this Gulf coast port. Seven members of the crew were rescued hours later, but four others were still missing late Sunday.

GOP Hopes Dinners Will Raise $6 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans hope a series of Eisenhower "appreciation" dinners next Jan. 27 will net more than six million dollars for their campaign fund.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the GOP National Chairman, said Sunday in announcing the dinners that one of their chief aims will be "to give the party a financial and emotional thrust into the critical campaign of 1960."

The President will address the dinners over closed circuit television.

CULTIVATING A TASTE — Learning to distinguish drugs and medicines by taste alone, midwife Amna Bint Abdel Hafiz wears a blindfold in a test of her skill at a health center in the village of Hosh, Sudan. Unable to read or write, she learns to identify the medicines in this unusual fashion. In a country with only one doctor for every 72,000 people, midwives serve as an important link between hospitals and the outlying areas of the nation. The midwives are trained in modern medical techniques at the nine maternal and child welfare centers set up by the government with the assistance of the United Nations Children's Fund.

Retaliation for Red Move

May Eject Russ Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is reported to be considering ejecting a Soviet diplomat from the United States in retaliation for the Soviet Union's ouster of the security chief of the U. S. Embassy at Moscow.

The prospect that such a step will actually be taken is at the moment highly uncertain. Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R - Ky) called Sunday for such a move "in the absence of an apology" from the Kremlin.

The uncertainty is due partly to the fact that some officials consider direct retaliation in such cases as an empty gesture. But it is also the result of great puzzlement here about what the Soviet move itself was supposed to accomplish.

One theory advanced in diplomatic quarters is that the Kremlin wanted to warn the Soviet people to be wary of friendly contacts with Americans in spite of the official policy of the "Spirit of Camp David" preached by Premier Nikita Khrushchev following his conference with President Eisenhower three weeks ago.

But this is only a theory and officials here are waiting to see how the Soviets themselves handle the case of 37-year-old Russell A. Langelle before they make up their minds what the maneuver may mean.

Storm Lets Florida Off Easy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Judith raced east northeastward in the open Atlantic Ocean today after leaving Florida wet but practically unscathed.

The storm, which developed unexpectedly in the Gulf of Mexico Saturday, created about its only excitement before it hit—when it was described for a few hours as a small hurricane. There was hardly any excitement during its passage.

This morning, Judith was about 550 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., moving at 35 miles an hour with highest winds estimated at 60 to 70 miles an hour. Judith became disorganized into a huge patch of squalls as it hit Florida and knifed across the southern end of the peninsula. It moved inland on the Gulf Coast near Fort Myers and then across the sparsely settled lake Okeechobee section before reaching the Atlantic in the vicinity of Fort Pierce.

Highest winds on its passage were 55 miles an hour. Torrential rains fell in some areas, and the Weather Bureau said water damage probably would equal that caused by the winds.

Start Idlewild Chapel

NEW YORK (AP) — Religious leaders dedicated ground Sunday at Idlewild Airport on which a $250,000 Protestant international chapel will be built. The chapel, to be built in 1961, will occupy a site near a Roman Catholic chapel now in use and a Jewish place of worship started last June.

Widow to Get Mental Checkup, Children Are Getting Foster Care

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The St. Louis Board of Children's Guardians is considering the case of a 3-year-old widow and her eight children, found living in a station wagon here for the second time since her husband died last July.

Mrs. William H. Catlow was found in the car Saturday. Police said she had $2,800 in cash. Weeping, she told police: "I don't need food and I don't need clothes. All I need is a home."

The children, ranging in age from 4 months to 11 years, were in good condition. They were placed in foster homes and their mother was admitted to a mental hospital for observation.

Mrs. Catlow and her family were found living in the car last August. At that time she declined the help of service agencies, and left for California. She receives $250 a month from Social Security.

Police said she and the family had been living in the station wagon since returning from Pomona, Calif., recently.

It's Not Only Money Working Wives Want

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—Women who hold down outside the home consider it almost as important as the extra income, a study indicates.

Details of the study were revealed during a farm meeting here by Dr. Francena L. Nolan, sociologist at Pennsylvania State University.

RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING: $500,000,000 LOSS TO THE NATION—INCLUDING YOU—EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads — pay for work not done or not needed — is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman — even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

TV Disappointment to Millions of Viewers

These crooked quiz shows present an odd problem.

The people of the United States were the victims of an underhanded dirty plot that outrages every listener who followed the phony "heroes" and "heroines" and applied "body English" to help them.

And yet, was there a crime? Officials say not.

We are inclined to believe they're correct as far as the law is concerned, but the participants are stinkers of the first degree when it comes to honor and decency. One of them weakly cited professional wrestling as an excuse. "We were just entertainers like the wrestlers," said he.

Like the wrestlers, indeed!

The wrestlers do not pretend they're engaging in actual winning combat. The word "contests" was dropped long ago for the truthful word "exhibitions."

This never held true with the quiz shows. Sixty odd peppers the days and nights. These professed to be contests of intelligence, brains and education. Instead of that, they seem to have been hokum of the lowest and most disgusting variety. We all overlook a 280 pound behemoth's grunts and groans but no one forgives outright cheating in intellectual games.

The public was defrauded. Listeners were suckers.

TV has fallen on low days. It is hard to conjure a more despicable trick as people admired the "contestants" and were tremendously interested in their "ups" and "downs."

CHARLES VAN DOREN, the most publicized star, still hasn't made a declaration and won't for a couple weeks. His statement that "he didn't know he was wanted" is quite in keeping with the general character of these foul shows. The PRESS would like to ask him one direct question. In the light of all his erudition, will he give us all a brief run down on "idols" and "feet of clay?"

How could those monkeys sleep nights?

Their perfidy transcends that of most legal criminals who are serving sentences in cheerless bastilles but legally they appear immune from prosecution. VAN DOREN's Aunt said, "she loved CHARLEY, anyway"—whatever that means or implies.

By and large, the TV critics have shaken their heads in regret and disappointment at the "new" fall shows. Many feel that they're a mess of tripe.

TV seems to need something else it hasn't got in addition to a shot of honor and decency.

Lopez' Visit Stresses Mexico's Development

The visit of President ADOLFO LOPEZ MATEOS to this country has drawn attention to Mexico's rapid strides toward modernization.

One quarter the size of the United States, the Republic embraces 29 states, two territories and the Federal District and has a population of 32.4 million. Its cosmopolitan capital, Mexico City, is the oldest metropolis on the continent. Here were constructed the hemisphere's first church, hospital and university.

Our southern neighbor has well established democratic and constitutional practices and in recent years has made great progress in dealing with poverty, ignorance and health problems. Industrialization is changing the face of the country.

President LOPEZ' visit was a pleasant interlude. At the National Press Club in Washington he answered all questions frankly and made an excellent impression. Latin America's greatest problem, he said, was its economic relations with the United States.

In the past we have had disputes over oil nationalization, border incidents and aggression. However, these large grievances have been adjusted and the two countries have learned to live together by using common sense and reason.

The Man About Town

We Still Have It Considerable Hardwood Is Growing in Pontiac Area

Community Fund: Our best community project.

In counting the resources of the Pontiac area, our supply of standing timber is usually overlooked. Originally it was our greatest asset.

While but little of the primeval forest is left, we still have thousands of acres of second and third growth oak and other trees valuable for lumber. It is conservatively estimated that, at the present high prices on this product, Oakland County still has over $10 million on the stump. So, in spite of the clearings for farm land and industrial development, we can still be regarded as a lumber county. The song of the sawmill is still heard in our midst.

Cynical, but with a strong element of truth is that card from

Mrs. Sue Altmore, which says: "Quiz programs are going the way of most everything else on TV."

Sumpin's Gotta Give!

David Lawrence Says:

No Federal Hand Needed in TV Fix

WASHINGTON—Why all the hubbalo about new laws and more government regulation just because some misguided persons betrayed the confidence of the public by "rigging" TV quiz shows?

For there's plenty of law on the statute books and plenty of opportunity for the broadcasting companies to protect themselves and the public interest without intervention by Congress or the Federal Communications Commission.

To understand the subject, it is necessary to realize that the major broadcasting companies are for the most part not producers of shows at all. They are really like landlords of a building. They deal in rentals.

They get paid on a time basis by the sponsors of programs who wish to advertise certain products or services. The sponsors buy from the producers a "package" of shows and, through agents known as advertising agencies, pay rent to the broadcasting companies for the time and facilities used.

The sponsors, of course, write their own "commercials" and are subject to Federal Trade Commission laws if any misrepresentation about a product offered for sale can be proved.

It is easy enough to make sweeping charges against a group of people as a whole. Some of the same critics who were so articulate recently when Communist sympathizers as a class were assailed—and who cried out loudly against "guilt by association"—are quite ready today to issue a blanket denunciation of all advertising men.

There was, of course, no excuse for the fixing of television shows, but the inference that the TV companies or the advertising agencies or all the producers and contestants participated in the deception is a blanket indictment without proof.

Certainly the age-old rule that a man is to be regarded as innocent until proved guilty is valid today, even though it seems to have been disregarded in the innumerable issuing from congressional investigating committee circles and other quarters.

There is a simple way to diminish the amount of fraud in any business, and that's to encourage businessmen to insist on their legal rights and to take to court those who violate such rights.

The broadcasting companies have the right when they make contracts with producers or agents of sponsors or anyone else to insist in explicit terms that the time on the air shall not be used for any fraudulent purpose or to mislead listeners or viewers of radio and television programs.

The broadcasting companies have the right not only to cancel such contracts but to seek punitive damages and even to call for punishment by federal, state or city authorities if there has been any fraud or other violation of criminal law.

The expose of what has been happening on the quiz shows will serve to define more exactly the responsibilities of the broadcasting companies as well as the producing companies with which they do business.

The broadcasting companies may have been hurt in prestige by the recent episodes, and they realize now more than ever that perhaps they should have been vigilant as they should have been in writing their contracts with sponsors and producers so as to prevent what has happened on "rigged" shows.

HAVE DUTY

The broadcasting companies have a duty, moreover, to examine carefully all programs, whether sponsored or not. What shall be said of a program sponsored by a tax-free educational foundation which purports to give an objective view of a subject and then deliberately calls in for "both sides" on a panel persons who really are on the same side of the fence?

What shall be said of some broadcasts sponsored by labor unions and called "news," which select certain facts and omit others so as to make a good show?

Who is to be the judge of the fairness of it all? Certainly not any government agency or any congressional committee.

Smiles

The man who was arrested for having two wives living under the same roof may be just a tight fan at heart.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Special Nutrition Needed by Expectant Mothers

It is inspiring and reassuring to see how sensible, active and happy young expectant mothers are today. Far from slinking, as pregnant women did back in the nineteenth century these modern young women seem proud of their condition.

These young women get their confidence from better education.

They learn about prenatal care and childbirth in school from extracurricular pamphlets and books or in classes of instruction for prospective parents. They will be less likely to submit to the regimentation imposed by the "rules" in 19th century hospitals, more likely to have their babies at home—the safest place to have a baby.

Folklore has many methods of predicting whether the baby will be a boy or girl. Such predictions prove correct in 50 per cent of cases. In birth statistics boys and girls are generally fifty-fifty.

A frequent question, inspired, no doubt, by old wives' tales, is whether an expectant mother can limit the size of her baby and, presumably, make delivery easy, by restricting her diet to a minimum. The answer is no. The baby will grow to normal size anyway.

But the expectant mother may seriously impair her own health and good looks by such foolish dieting.

Should an expectant mother "eat for two"? In quality, yes, but not necessarily in quantity. She needs, say 250 to 500 more calories daily than she needed before she became pregnant, to maintain normal weight. The extra 250 to 500 calories are best supplied by one or two glasses of milk—a glass at bedtime in the early months; an additional glass at any other time of day in the later months.

The expectant mother doesn't need extra calories so much as extra vitamins and minerals for that new citizen who is coming along.

From a great deal of research in recent years and the recommendations of nutrition authorities based on this new knowledge, there is now available in a single dietary supplement every vitamin and mineral element for which there is a known requirement in pregnancy and lactation, namely, calcium, iron, vitamin A, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, vitamin C, vitamin D and the intrinsic factor of vitamin B. Generally the expectant or nursing mother has to take two or three different preparations to make sure of getting her requirement of these essentials.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Beware the Intoxication of Love

"Dora is a love drunkard! Because her family has vainly tried to reform her, she has grown stubborn so she will not listen to their advice. In such a dangerous situation, do you know the quickest way to break up such an unwise romance? Scrabble this case and by all means add the booklet below to your file, for it works whether you are 16 or 60."

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-473: Dora G., aged 21, is a victim of love intoxication.

"Dr. Crane, Dora acts crazy," her brother-in-law informed me. "She is running around with a married man who is 39 years old. He also has four children, the youngest of which arrived just last month."

"And his wife refuses to consider divorcing him. Besides, I don't believe he even wants a divorce, for why should he?"

"As it is, he now has his cake and can eat it, too! But we want to know what to do about Dora. She is pretty and comes from a good home. But she will not listen to any of her family."

"She seems intoxicated with her new boy friend."

LOVE DRUNKARDS
True enough, love addicts can become just as intoxicated by romance as by ethyl alcohol.

And Alcoholics Anonymous has found that it is usually futile to try to reform a chronic drunk unless he first WANTS to change.

"Oh, I can quit liquor any time I wish," glibly states the usual alcoholic.

'Why Must the Celebration of Halloween Be Friday?'

I don't think Halloween should be celebrated on Friday, Oct. 30. The Parks and Recreation Department probably forgot that Friday is a big football night for the kids. I'd like to hear what other people think. I know a lot of other kids like me would like to attend both the Halloween celebration and the football game.

'Would You Explain This Brotherhood?'

Most of us will agree that "Conformity to the moral law that recognizes the brotherhood of man" would solve most disputes if we could all agree just what constitutes "the brotherhood of man."

If "brotherhood of man" is putting the entire country in shackles just so a relatively small group of workers, who are the highest paid in the country, can rake in a little more, then flee on the "brotherhood of man."

I'm tired of being laid off every few years because the steel workers want a raise. I don't even work in the factory, so I lose all the way around.

Agree With Letter on Medical Costs

I sure do agree with Victim about the price of medical care, not only the price but you don't get the care you pay for. They're in too big a hurry to fleece the next victim.

We should all write our Senators and Congressmen to pass some kind of legislation that would give some kind of relief. I don't think much of socialized medicine, but anything will beat what we get for our money.

They're running our insurance so high we can't pay it, as we have to have groceries, clothes and other things as well.

'Wake Up and Give Ike His Due Credit'

In answer to the person who says people shut their eyes to Ike's faults, and who called attention to the national debt, I wish to state he inherited most of the big debt when he was inaugurated.

As for the "peace time," just open your eyes to the fact that we had very little of that in the 24 years before Ike was elected. We were at war when he was elected or has this party forgotten that, too?

Wake up and give our President credit for what he has done. We still have peace, thanks to Ike.

Youth Makes Plea for Good Element

On behalf of the good kids who live in Clarkston, we'd like to say a little on our part. Last week a curfew was set up for us to be in by 10:30. Well, this is fine for week nights, but they don't seem to realize that there are school activities, church activities, and some kids are returning from a date at a later hour. If any of us are caught out later than 10:30 for any reason, our parents are fined $100.

This law came about because a small amount of teenagers spoiled our hours by violating the law last Halloween. All Clarkston kids aren't bad, but all are being punished. This law may be o.k. for kids 15 and younger, but what about the older youths?

Adults just seem to shut their eyes to all good teenagers but have plenty to say about a few bad ones. Why don't older people open their eyes to the good of our youth?

Cuba Develops Projects to Win World's Attention

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba, feeling her oats, has galloped off in a number of unfamiliar directions to round up prestige.

The chief destination of Fidel Castro's regime remains agrarian reform, but the government has undertaken various other projects to focus hemispheric and world-wide attention on this island of seven million.

Cuba is developing a national movie industry and will aim at international prizes—and markets. Shooting is scheduled to start soon on the first films. The government has guaranteed a five million dollar box office to start.

Cuba will have a government sponsored national theater. The theater house, rising ultra-modern at a cost of 5½ million dollars, is expected to open before the end of the year.

Plans are on the drawing board and 2½ million dollars in the budget for the first national aquarium. Its directors want to attract foreign ichthyologists to take advantage of the abundance of sea life in Cuba's waters.

A "writer's city," designed to lure foreign as well as Cuban authors, figures in the touristic future of the Isle of Pines. The island is being dressed up as part of the government's two million dollar-plus campaign to make Cuba a ranking tourist attraction.

erful transmitting station to compete with the Voice of America, BBC and Radio Moscow.

These projects have caught the imagination of a long frustrated people.

Earlier in the year a drive was launched to increase consumption of domestically produced goods.

Western Summit Split Bubbling to the Surface

WASHINGTON (AP) — Differences between the United States and Great Britain over summit policy are bubbling to the surface once again.

Although diplomats don't like to talk about it, President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan still don't see eye to eye on the questions of timing and negotiations.

A week-long exchange of top-secret, top-level messages has made this evident.

Apparently Macmillan is trying to rush Eisenhower and President Charles de Gaulle of France into a conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the earliest possible moment.

The British leader's insistence has surprised American officials. They had thought his earlier urgency about a summit conference was only campaign oratory. With the recent election victory in his pocket, they reasoned, he would not pressure so much. But this has not been the case.

Officials here are concerned about more than the timing. They think they have detected a willingness on Macmillan's part to soften the Western stand on the Berlin issue.

Informants say that Macmillan would like a summit conference next month, at the latest in December. President Eisenhower reportedly has suggested a meeting in early December but, if de Gaulle requests a delay, would be willing to put it off until next year, probably in February.

These differences have made diplomats feel that there must be a Western summit conference in advance of the East-West meeting. There was no confirmation, however, of a Bonn report that Eisenhower had proposed such an advance session for the end of this month.

Meanwhile, Sir Pierson Dixon, the British ambassador to the United Nations, reiterated in a speech

Sunday night in Trenton, N. J., his country's argument that certain world problems can be settled only at the summit.

Fears Sub Missile

MIAMI (UPI) — Navy Sec. William B. Franke said that the United States "could not guarantee to stop a submarine that could fire a missile from 1,200 or 1,500 miles offshore." But he told a Navy League group that this country could stop any close-in missile attack by enemy submarines.

Only Farming, Past Supplying Schools

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Very few young men without farm backgrounds are entering agriculture, according to Dr. R. C. Buck of Pennsylvania State University.

However, Buck told a farm meeting here that of those who did grow up on the farm enough are staying there to insure the economic well-being of agriculture.

Buck made his estimates on the basis of a 10-year study of about 3,000 young people in rural Pennsylvania.

Nab Roman Gamblers

ROME (UPI) — Police disguised as hunters and equipped with walkie-talkies smashed a gambling operation in an abandoned fortress outside Rome last week. The police used ropes to climb down the moat surrounding the fortress and surprised 20 gamblers who surrendered meekly.

Russians to See Movie on Khrushchev's Visit

LONDON (UPI) — A full-length documentary film in color of Premier Nikita-S. Khrushchev's visit to the United States will be released in the Soviet Union within a few days, Moscow Radio said. Soviet cameramen "brought out the spirit of friendliness and progress prevailing during the trip," the broadcast said.

Lengthy Disc Claimed

LONDON (UPI)—Moscow claims that a "super long-playing record" has been developed by a recording laboratory in Gorky. An entire opera can be recorded on it, Radio Moscow said.

American Business Aiding West German Arms Buildup

BONN (AP)—Arms-making is on the increase in West Germany, and American money and technical know-how—almost by accident—are giving it a big boost. Just how far it will go remains to be seen.

U.S. government officials say they are watching the development with interest and some concern. The Defense Ministry says it has no desire to see a major arms industry grow up again in Germany, but adds it can't do anything to prevent Americans from spending their money where and how they wish.

American and German industrialists agree that arms-making is not the major concern of American investors here. But, a German official said, "who can say where arms production begins and ends."

The statement came from Rudolf Richter, director of the stock market division of the influential German Bank. He and American experts agree there are three major factors in the flow of U.S. dollars into German industry:

1. Americans want to get a firm foothold in the European market, particularly in Germany, before the six-nation common market erects a formidable tariff wall against American goods.
2. American investors estimate their money can go further where production costs, particularly labor, are cheaper than at home.
3. Americans feel that West Germany is going to grow more and more important as an arms producer and that profit is to be had in the field.

"But the latter point is essentially a by-product of the first two," says Richter. American officials point out that the major area of U.S. investment in the field of defense production has been aircraft.

U.S. money is going chiefly into the building of wholly owned subsidiary plants rather than in purchase of shares in German industry.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce office in West Berlin reports there are now about 350 wholly owned American firms operating in West Germany and Berlin.

There also are numerous firms in which Germans and Americans share ownership. The number of these could not be learned.

A similar growth of U.S. investment is reported in France, and, to a lesser degree, in the other four countries of the common market—Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The German Defense Ministry is in a bit of a box. It does not want to let the impression get abroad, particularly in the Communist world, that Germany is once again to become a war arsenal.

At the same time Defense Minister Franz-Josef Strauss says increased arms production will give West Germany more of a say in NATO councils.

A spokesman for Strauss said Friday, "It is entirely untrue that West Germany will develop a great arms industry with or without the help of U. S. capital."

West Germany is barred by treaties from producing the more powerful weapons of war, such as atomic bombs, battleships and long-distance missiles.

But it can build aircraft, tanks, short-range missiles, sophisticated electronic equipment and the like. Many of these items are produced by companies which have their primary interest in civilian production.

The biggest single military project in the foreseeable future is the production under license here of the Lockheed F104 Starfighter, selected by the Defense Ministry as the new Luftwaffe's basic jet fighter.

The Germans plan to have about 300 of these aircraft but are buying less than a third of them in the United States. The others are being built under license at the Heinkel and Messerschmitt plants, former makers of German military aircraft in World Wars I and II.

Meyner's Future May Be at Stake

If New Jersey Goes Dem, Governor Free to Eye U. S. Post

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner's national political future may be at stake Nov. 3 when New Jerseyans go to the polls to determine control of the state legislature.

Definitely at stake will be the future of the state Republican party, it must at least retain control of the senate to avoid losing its last foothold in state government.

The Republicans presently control the senate 12-7. The Democrats are in a 42-18 majority in the assembly. They are trying to wrest control of the upper house for the first time since 1914.

All 60 assembly seats as well as 12 of the 21 senate posts are on the line Nov. 3. The senate contests include two vacancies.

But the biggest question which may be answered by the election probably will be: "What next for Meyner?"

The two-term executive has frequently been mentioned as a possible contender for the Democratic national ticket next year. He also is said by some to be considering a shot at the U.S. Senate.

The seat held by Sen. Clifford P. Case, a Republican, is up for election next year.

Political strategists contend that a Democratic sweep of the legislative elections would free Meyner to pursue any national political ambitions he may have.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.* Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Five From Family Are Killed in Crash

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Five members of one family were killed Sunday in a flaming crash on U.S. Highway 99 about 10 miles north of Palm Springs.

A young man, his sister and three of her children were flung from their auto as it careened over a highway divider after blowing a tire, smashed into another and burst into flames.

Killed were John Clifford Beall, 20, of El Monte, Calif.; his sister, Ethel May John, 33, of Brawley, Calif.; and her children, Karen Ann, 8, Barbara Lynn, 3, and James an infant.

Riverside County Dep. Coroner Robert Drake said Beall was apparently driving.

Small Fire Breaks Out in Capitol Basement

Damage was light. Gas escaping from an acetylene tank apparently touched off the fire beneath the House of Representatives' side of the Capitol, firemen said.

U.S. Denies Offer to Leave Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—The U. S. Embassy today denied press reports that the United States has offered to give up its air bases in Morocco, within two years.

An embassy official said the U. S. government has set no specific date nor made any definite commitment to withdraw from the bases. He added, however, that the whole question of the bases is "doubtless being discussed" in Washington with Moroccan Premier Abdallah Ibrahim, who is visiting the United States.

The pro-government newspaper at Tahrir reported Sunday that Washington had asked the Premier to arrange for a mixed commission of military technicians to prepare for evacuation of the bases in two years.

Final Word on Porcupine Mountains

Disputed UP Area to Remain Wilderness

LANSING (UPI)—The last great virgin timber stand in Michigan will remain a wilderness accessible only by foot.

That's the word from the State Conservation Department, which said it plans no development of the interior of the Porcupine Mountains State Park.

The Porcupine, largest of Michigan's state parks, hold the largest virgin stand of hemlock and hardwood in the Mid West and some virgin white pine, a rarity in Michigan.

"There will be some development of the park fringes," said David Wilcox, planning consultant in the Parks and Recreation Division, "but we want to keep the interior completely a wilderness area."

"At one time, there had been talk about making the area a national park," Wilcox said, "but that ended when the state took over preservation."

Michigan at present has one national park, Isle Royale, in Lake Superior. But three national shoreline recreation areas were introduced in Congress and referred to committee. Recently the committee recommended that all of them be brought into the national parks system.

The Porcupine Mountain park was center of a heated controversy last year when the Bear Creek Mining Co. attempted to lease an area along the Lake Superior shore to explore for copper.

Finally, after conservationists and Upper Peninsula economic development groups battled it out for several months, Bear Creek withdrew its request and the Conservation Commission reaffirmed its stand against industry moving into park areas.

NO INFRINGEMENT

"We have developed the ski area to some extent," Wilcox said, "and when we get the money we may duplicate the existing facilities, but this would not infringe on the wilderness portions of the park."

Wilcox estimated that about 40,000 of the 58,000 acres hold virgin timber.

"Planning calls for developing the fringe areas with picnic and camping grounds," Wilcox said. "If people want to hike into the wilderness, there are trails and cabins for overnight trips."

Wilcox said 235,550 persons visited the park this year up to Oct. 11 and "hunting and skiing seasons haven't arrived yet."

Money for the park, situated to the southwest of the Keweenaw Peninsula, was appropriated by the Legislature in 1944 and the park was named in 1946.

The potato originated in the Andes of South America.

3 Left, MacArthur Senior

5-Star Officer Ranks Thin

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the death of General of the Army George C. Marshall, General of the Army Douglas MacArthur is now the ranking five-star officer of the United States.

MacArthur also is one of the Army's two remaining super-rank officers. The other is Gen. Omar Bradley.

On the Navy side, the last remaining fleet admiral is Chester Nimitz, MacArthur's naval opposite number throughout World War II's Pacific campaign.

In the last stages of the war, Congress authorized the five-star rank and the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt promoted four Army generals and three Navy admirals to the new rank.

In order of their dates of rank, the original roster of five-star officers was Adm. William Leahy, Gen. Marshall, Gen. MacArthur, Adm. Ernest King, wartime Chief of Naval Operations, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Adm. Nimitz and Army Air Force Gen. H. H. Arnold. Eisenhower, however, resigned his commission in 1952 when he ran for President.

Shortly after the surrender of Japan and upon his departure from active service, Adm. William Halsey was given five-star rank.

The only man elevated to five-star position since World War II was Gen. Omar Bradley, who served as the first chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Since 1953, Bradley, like MacArthur, has been serving in private industry.

Marshall was the third five-star officer to die this year. Halsey died of a heart attack on Aug. 16 and Leahy of a brain hemorrhage on July 20.

Fear Will Avert World War III, Gruenther Says

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A third world war will be averted because leaders of both the United States and the Soviet Union realize the destruction it would cause, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther says. "I include (Soviet Premier Nikita) Khrushchev among those who realize this," the retired Army general, who now heads the American Red Cross, said in an interview Sunday.

The lessened danger of a hot war, Gruenther said, does not mean the U.S. and the Soviet Union have solved — or can solve — their cold war differences. But he said he thought the exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Khrushchev would ease the situation.

Sheriff Head Barnes Resigns

Still Denies Charge of Drunk Driving; State Officers Reshuffled

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Sheriffs Assn. has a new lineup of top officers in the wake of Sheriff Willard P. Barnes' resignation as president.

The Ingham County sheriff, who is under a charge of drunk driving to which he has stood mute, turned in his resignation over the weekend.

Sheriff Clarence Kackmeister of Saginaw County was elected Barnes' successor by the association board of directors. Kackmeister had been vice president.

Sheriff Robert W. Dugan of Newaygo County was named vice president. Sheriff Elton Sampson of Montcalm County was named to a board position which Barnes also gave up.

Barnes, free on $250 bond for trial in November, was charged with drunk driving Oct. 7 in a warrant sworn to by Richard O. Goble, 28, Dimondale motorist. Ingham County Prosecutor Jack Warren approved the warrant.

Goble said Barnes' driving nearly caused a collision with him. Barnes, commenting out of court, said that if he was "guilty of anything," it was "putting in too many hours." He said he had been searching for a fugitive, became fatigued and stopped his car.

Named members of the board of directors for three-year terms were Clyde E. Moffitt, publisher of the Fort Collins (Colo.) Coloradoan, and Henry J. Schmidt, editor and publisher of the Aberdeen (S.D.) American-News.

The association represents 475 newspapers in 20 states and Canada. It is holding its annual meeting this week in Chicago. Sylvia Porter, financial column-

People Lacking Fear of Death, Graham Says

CHICAGO (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham told an overflow audience in the Indiana State Fair Ground Coliseum at Indianapolis last night that people "are not enough concerned with death."

More than 18,000 persons crowded into the Coliseum and a nearby cattle barn to hear the evangelist describe the terrors of being unprepared to die.

Graham said everyone dies but few persons have made their peace with God. Unless a man accepts God and Jesus Christ, he stated, he will go to Hell.

Graham is in the third week of his month-long crusade, which is scheduled to end Nov. 3.

Economic Rivalry in Europe Is Bad

BOSTON (UPI) — The United States must join two bickering economic development groups in Europe if it is to prevent an outright split and a victory for the Communist world, an economist warned today.

Alfred C. Neal, president of the committee for economic development, said a brewing split between Europe's common market and the "outer seven" threatens the West. "We should realize that the split in Europe is dangerous from the standpoint of our economic competition with the Communist world," Neal said in a speech prepared for the 31st annual Boston conference on distribution.

"We must realize too that just as Europe needed our aid in the period of its own reconstruction, we now need Europe's aid in the further task which lies before us of developing the under-developed world."

The common market in Europe was set up to raise production and living standards in Italy, France, West Germany, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg. The six nations have, said Neal, "started on the road toward eliminating all restrictions on the movement of persons, goods, and capital among themselves."

However, he said, England, Austria, Switzerland, Portugal and the three Scandinavian nations — not included in the common market and facing "a growing discrimination against their products" — formed a little free trade area called the "outer seven."

"There is no question that there is a possibility of a split developing in Europe between these two groups," said Neal. In this situation it is the United States which, I believe, can have decisive influence."

Since many common market proponents feel the "outer seven" was formed merely to offset the common market, the United States must take the initiative and "strengthen the mechanism for negotiation," said Neal.

"The discrimination exercised by the common market against all outsiders could be reduced as its common tariff is reduced," he said. "Our good intentions would be demonstrated if we were to join the organization for European economic cooperation and help to convert it into an organization for Atlantic economic cooperation which would deal with all of the major economic problems of common concern to the Western World."

Four Teen Negroes on Trial for Rape

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Negro teen-agers are scheduled to go on trial in Queens County Court today charged with raping a 14-year-old white girl.

The girl, whose name has been withheld, allegedly was raped last June 18 at a Queens junior high school where she is an eighth-grade student. An Adolescent Court judge decided that the boys should be tried as adults.

The four—Edward Jacobs, 17, and Henry Stokes, Jacob Bethea and John Rich, all 16—could be sentenced to 20 years in prison if convicted. New York has no death penalty for rape.

The girl testified in Adolescent Court that she had promised intimacies to one of the boys but had no intention of going through with it.

Is Relationship Privileged?

Debate News Source Shield

Editor's Note: This is another in a group of articles in connection with newspaper week Oct. 18-21.

By The Associated Press

The list is small. It begins with John T. Morris of the Baltimore Sun. It ends, for the moment, with Marie Torre of the New York Herald Tribune.

It's a list of reporters who have this in common: they have gone to jail rather than name the source of information given them in confidence.

Their defense of what they considered a moral principle has sparked 13 states to place conversations between a reporter and a news source in the same privileged place as conversations between priest and penitent, doctor and patient, attorney and client.

However, the number of states giving legal approval to a reporter's privilege doesn't appear destined to increase. For while reporters are almost unanimously in favor of the so-called "shield laws," legal groups, the American Civil Liberties Union, and even many newspaper publishers oppose them.

Morris was responsible for the first one. In 1896, while a Maryland grand jury was considering an important case, he predicted the indictment so accurately that the prosecutor declared Morris had a source in the jury room. Morris served four days in jail rather than name his source.

The Sun campaigned so heavily for a protective law that within two months the Maryland legislature extended the right of privilege to a reporter and his source.

Judicial groups raised so much furor, however, that it was 37 years before another state, New Jersey, passed a similar law.

In addition to Maryland and New Jersey, these states have shield laws: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Montana, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Efforts have been made several times to have a federal shield law enacted. Bills "to protect confidential sources of information of newspapermen" died in House and Senate judiciary committees when the 86th Congress adjourned in mid-September.

It was a federal judge who sentenced Miss Torre, the Herald Tribune's radio television columnist, to 10 days in jail last January for refusing to disclose the name of the anonymous TV executive she quoted in a column about actress Judy Garland.

Miss Torre's attorneys argued that "forced divulgence would inflict upon the reporter permanent and irreparable harm" since her news sources might evaporate.

This is the reporter's main argument for shield laws — that disclosure of sources shuts off further news for them.

But they also argue that unhealthy or illegal government situations and crimes are often brought to public attention if newspapers can guarantee their informants anonymity, that many sources for such news are reluctant to talk to proper authorities through fear of retaliation, and that libel laws provide adequate guarantees against publication of reckless statements or innuendoes.

Motivated by the Torre case, the World Congress of the International Federation of Journalists unanimously passed a resolution in May supporting the principle that newsmen have the right to protect their confidential sources of information. The American Newspaper Guild followed suit in June.

The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. has taken no stand on the shield laws. Cranston Williams, general manager of the ANPA, says he recently heard one newspaper executive say that no good reporter would write a story based on a confidential source without checking facts with other sources.

And if he did that, the executive said, there would be no need to protect a confidential source.

Williams says another executive expressed the opinion that shield laws would be used by columnists more than others and would eventually have a bad effect on the newspaper business.

Unlike the legal and medical professions, the newspaper business has no standards of practice. To the ANPA's way of thinking, says Williams, this constitutes the free press that is necessary to the nation's welfare.

The American Civil Liberties Union says shield laws are neither necessary nor desirable.

Williams in Frankfurt on Tour of Europe

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Michigan's governor, G. Mennen Williams, arrived in Frankfurt this morning after a flight from Munich where he spent the past two days.

Williams was scheduled to attend a luncheon with high-ranking American military officials including Gen. Clyde D. Eddleman, commander of United States Army, Europe.

Later he was to meet government officials at Frankfurt's City Hall and visit the birthplace of poet Johann Wolfgang von Goethe.

Dear Abby Says 'Bake a Cake'

Try Being Good 'Friend In Deed'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Our home is so close to our neighbor's that we can hear everything that goes on over there without meaning to. The mother (she's about 45) screams at her 4-year-old child constantly. I can hear, "Patsy, don't climb on that! Patsy, get out of there! Patsy, you're driving me crazy!" It's like a record being played over and over.

They never let the child play with the neighbor children. They keep her cooped up in the house all day. The poor child is a nervous wreck and stutters so badly she can't be understood. When her mother isn't yelling at her, she is slapping her. The crying is more than I can stand. I'd like to help, if I could. But how? I think the mother is a mental case. The husband is about 65 and this is their only child.

INTERESTED, NOT NOSY
DEAR INTERESTED: Bake a pie, cake or cookies and call on your neighbor. Cultivate her friendship so that you can tell her as a friend (not a meddling neighbor) that Patsy needs the companionship of other children. Sympathize with her. And suggest that her lack of patience could be due to "nerves." Then encourage her to see a doctor. It will take time and effort on your part, but the rewards will make it worthwhile.

DEAR ABBY: Before I was married I made a horrible mistake. I took my punishment and gave my baby for adoption. I told my husband about it before I married him. He forgave me in front of a preacher. But he has told my sin to people in every community we've lived in (and because of his occupation, we've lived in many). We've been married nine years and have two children.

Is this the kind of revenge I should expect from a man? Or could he be using my one mistake to cover up his many?

NOT FORGIVEN

DEAR NOT FORGIVEN: It is difficult to believe that a man in his right mind would behave this way. He is, of course, trying to make himself appear the martyr. He needs to go before that preacher again. This time to ask you for YOUR forgiveness. His sin is greater than yours.

DEAR ABBY: Will somebody please tell me why hi-fi has to be played so loud in the ordinary living room it goes through you like the vibrations of a cannon? My family says it is the only way hi-fi should be heard.

Please withhold my name as I requested this set as my birthday, anniversary and Christmas gift only because I knew my family wanted it so much.

I am now ready to throw the set out and ask for the milk coat I deserve.

LONGING FOR QUIET
DEAR LONGING: Either something is wrong with your hi-fi set or something is wrong with your family's hearing. No properly installed hi-fi should set off vibrations that sound like a cannon. Have it adjusted by the people who installed it. There is no reason why you can't enjoy it, too.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A NO-BODY": It's nice to be important... but it's more important to be nice.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Hawthorne PTA Hears Varner Education Theory

Some 100 Hawthorne PTA members and guests heard D. B. Varner, Chancellor at MSUO, discuss the development of the new university Thursday evening.

Chancellor Varner explained that the institution was developed by citizens, business, professional people and manufacturers who consulted experts in the field of education and business.

Three thoughts he gave concerning today's educational methods were: American higher education is too specialized; learning should be more international, and a teacher's job is not only to teach a class, but to help students learn in any way.

A question and answer session followed the talk. Leslie Hudson introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Vernell Kaul resigned as vice president.

President Mrs. Vern L. Rollison announced a Halloween party for Oct. 30. Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Hoffman are cochairmen for the affair which will feature a costume parade for the entire family.

Gladioli, large chrysanthemums and palms decorated the altar of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church for the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of deustered satin with long tapered sleeves, a full skirt and a cowl neckline. The back of the dress featured a butterfly bow with a chapel train. Her queen's crown of pearls secured a fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and ivy.

The skirts were semibelted and the dresses had scooped necklines. They wore short veils held in place with green satin bows and carried a cascade arrangement of yellow fuji chrysanthemums with bitersweet, croton leaves and wheat.

Mrs. Harry McCreary, left, and Mrs. Thomas Hegwood had cause to celebrate Friday at the Women's Division Victory luncheon of the Pontiac area United Fund. Mrs. Hegwood, in spite of being crippled with arthritis, and the nine workers in her district made 100 per cent of their quota during the fund drive.

Honored at Victory Luncheon

Reaches UF Goal Despite Affliction

By MARJORIE EICHER
Mrs. Thomas Hegwood of Merrimac street and her "legs," Mrs. Harry McCreary, were among the 600 women honored at the Women's Division Victory luncheon of the Pontiac area United Fund Friday at Elks Temple.

Dark, vivacious Mrs. Hegwood in a crisp black and white dress moved with grace in spite of her cane and arthritic condition. Her neighbor, Mrs. McCreary, who is helping hand as well as extra legs beamed with pride when it was announced that the nine workers in Mrs. Hegwood's district had met their quota.

Stricken with arthritis at 29, Mrs. Hegwood felt her life was worthless. Her doctor referred her to the Family Service of Oakland County. This agency worked with her in weekly conferences for a year to rehabilitate her spirit.

Twice a week for four months a visiting nurse supervised and encouraged her in exercising painfully swollen joints.

"I was very depressed," said Mrs. Hegwood. "The nurse and counsellor were mother, big sister and friend when I needed help most."

She added, "I was so grateful to the community for this service, I wrote a letter to the editor of The Pontiac Press." Mrs. Roderick Taylor, Pontiac area chairman says, "United Fund desperately needed volunteers in Mrs. Hegwood's area. We saw her letter and thought she might be able to help us. She accepted with enthusiasm."

Her enthusiasm rubbed off on nine other women who heard at first hand of the help given a young mother by the community services for which an army of Pontiac area women ring doorbells each October.

What Mrs. Hegwood, mother of Michael, 10, and Thomas, 6, has lost in function, she has gained in spirit. The boys and their father are proud of her. They call her "chairman."

Active in PTA, doing her own housework, Mrs. Hegwood says, "I have a new lease on life. I'm just starting. The problem now will be holding me down."

A valiant spirit, this chairman. She welds her cane like a glory stick.

BROWN SUGAR COOKIES

By Mrs. Nora B. Park

2 cups brown sugar
1 cup vegetable shortening
4 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking soda

4 teaspoons cream of tartar
4 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons vanilla OR 1 teaspoon black walnut flavoring
Ground raisins or dates, if desired.

Cream shortening, add sugar and beat until fluffy. Add eggs and vanilla and beat well. Sift dry ingredients together and add. If dates or raisins are used, use some of the flour to dredge them before adding to dough.

Drop on greased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees for 8-10 minutes. If you want to roll the cookies, add enough more flour to make a stiff dough and chill it for at least an hour. Roll out on powdered sugar to keep the cookies tender.

Friend Will Like Having Invitation

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A close family friend has been abroad for the past month and is not expected back for several more weeks. My daughter is going to be married in the meantime and there is a question as to whether or not this friend should be sent an invitation even though she will not be here at the time of the wedding."

"I say an invitation should be sent to her house so that when she returns home she will know she was on the wedding list. My daughter thinks it would be ridiculous to send an invitation under the circumstances and that she will take it as a bid for a wedding present. Your opinion will be appreciated."

Answer: It would be courteous to send her an invitation and she need not feel obliged to send a present.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A few days before my girl friend was to have been married, her brother was killed in an automobile accident. Naturally the invitations had to be recalled. The problem now is what to do when they again set their wedding date which will probably be some time this winter. Does she send new invitations to the wedding, or just what is the proper procedure to follow in this situation?"

Answer: Have the following printed and sent to those originally invited.
Mr. and Mrs. John Smith announce that the marriage of their daughter Mary to Mr. Henry Jones which was postponed will now take place on Saturday, the twenty-six of December at ten o'clock St. Mary's Church

What to Do

Even Women Grow Bald

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Complete or partial baldness is a concern to many men and women. Whether or not anything can be done about it depends on what causes it.

"Pattern Baldness" is the most usual kind. This is inherited and does not respond satisfactorily to treatment, although the latter may postpone the loss of hair for a while. Men are much more subject to baldness than women.

A woman may inherit the baldness gene from both of her parents and still keep her hair or lose very little of it. When a man inherits pattern baldness from both of his parents all of his sons will be bald and about 50 per cent of the sons of all of his daughters.

HALF WILL BE BALD

About half of the sons of a man who has this type baldness will become bald. Sometimes a man will develop pattern baldness when both of his parents have full heads of hair. In this case the woman carries the baldness gene but was able to resist it herself. About six women out of every hundred sooner or later suffer from partial baldness.

Heat treatments have sometimes been thought to be of help but these must be given by an expert in order to avoid burns or damage to the scalp. You should not try to treat yourself.

The best procedure if you have this type of baldness is to realize that many others are in the same boat and become reconciled to the condition.

HAIR PIECES

Also there now are available wonderful extra hair pieces which look entirely natural and cannot be detected or even suspected. Practically all women who have this difficulty resort to these and many men do also.

There are wigs to cover the entire head or small extra pieces to cover smaller bald areas.

"Our critics, including you, were wrong on all three counts. Auto Fleet Leasing More Popular

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Auto fleet leasing—one of the more controversial subjects tackled in many directors' boardrooms—is steadily creeping up on the other methods of providing transportation for company personnel.

About a fourth of the cars now used in industry are leased, an equal percentage are company owned, and roughly half are owned by salesmen themselves.

The rapid climb in leasing since World War II is credited largely to corporate desire to free working capital for other purposes. And inflation has played a major role, since it takes more working capital now to carry an equal amount of higher priced goods and materials and steadily increasing production costs.

A study of car leasing (nothing to do with truck leasing) by the Foundation for Management Research of Chicago stresses that each concern must decide whether leasing autos is better than owning its own fleet or giving salesmen mileage allowances.

The Foundation predicts that in time leased fleets will displace most company owned fleets and about half of salesman-owned cars.

The American Automotive Leasing Assn. puts the value of leased fleets at 575 million dollars. It says this frees that amount of working capital for other uses. Fleets range from five cars to 2,000.

The Foundation's study indicates that a company whose working capital earns at least 12 per cent net profit on working capital after corporate income taxes could find it profitable to lease rather than own its auto fleet. If it earns less than 12 per cent on working capital, leasing is rarely worthwhile.

Other situations in which leasing lacks appeal, the Foundation reports, are: companies who have all the working capital and short and long term credit they need; companies with low mileage fleets—say 12,000 miles a year—if mileage payments to salesmen are under 10 cents a mile; companies whose door-to-door salesmen are paid for use of their cars.

On the basis of inspection of individual company records covering 29,264 cars and interviews with 2,076 salesmen using their own cars on a mileage payment, the Foundation says that almost no company pays less than seven cents a mile.

"As soon as the annual mileage goes above 17,000 miles at 9 cents a mile, or 18,000 miles at 8 cents a mile, or 23,000 miles at 7 cents a mile, the cost to the company for a salesman owned car is greater than a leased car," says the report.

One big auto fleet leasing company, Wheels Inc. of Chicago, reports keeping records on mileage payments to salesmen for all industry which show for last year an average of 8.91 cents per mile on an average 25,600 miles a year—or $2,280.96 per car per year.

The Foundation's study shows some industries averaging less than that: beverages, chemicals, drugs, electrical appliances, machinery, plastics, radio, TV, rubber, retail lumber and food processing.

The Foundation concludes: "Auto leasing is far from a cure-all; it has advantages and disadvantages. A knowledgeable executive will acquaint himself with both sides before leaping one way or the other."

Only Inland Life Taxing?

Drizzle Fizzles Trial Racing at Drag Strip

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Saturday's rain didn't quell the fiery indignation of residents here against plans to build a drag strip at the Pontiac Speedway race track on M59; but it did put a damper on a trial run for their benefit.

The demonstration fizzled, because drag racers were prevented by the rain from pushing their cars to high speeds.

Residents in the immediate area had been invited to the track by Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz as a probable solution to problems that have arisen with the proposed construction.

Because of the early morning rain, Cheyz said, the test did not prove a thing. "The boys weren't able to get traction," he said.

CONDUCTED BY TIMERS
The test was conducted by six members of the Oakland County Timing Assn., which races cars against the clock. The association members had cars ranging from a 1930 Ford coupe with a Corvette engine to a 1959 stock Pontiac.

"I couldn't blame the Pontiacs to the proposed track for not being satisfied with what they saw and heard," Cheyz said. "Conditions were not the same as if the cars had been racing on dry pavement. There was hardly any squealing of tires. This just wouldn't be the same on a dry track."

He said he could not blame the boys who were racing for not giving all they had. "If they had hit a dry spot after skidding on the wet track, it is possible that could have broken an axle," said Cheyz.

"The members of the association have put too much money into the cars to have them ruined on a test run," he added.

"It's unfortunate that it rained, but it did get the people protesting the track out to see what takes place at one of these races."

"I think those opposing the strip are seeing it now in a different light."

"The people were very cooperative," Cheyz concluded. "At least we were talking and not arguing."

The test had been arranged by Cheyz, Donald Cavin, chairman of the Township Board of Appeals, and Maurice Van Gorvan, a resident near the track.

Other township officials attending the tests were Everett Gillow, trustee, Ronald Voorheis, treasurer, Police Chief Andrew Plano and Fire Chief Carlton Richmond.

The controversy started several months ago when Bill Amos, the owner of the Pontiac Speedway began construction of the drag strip.

Amos had begun on his property at the speedway site, which was all right with the township, but they found he continued into 15 acres of property zoned for agriculture.

The township board got a restraining order from Oakland County Circuit Court to hold up further construction.

Amos has taken his request to rezone the area to the Township Zoning Board of Appeals. So far it has reached no decision.

Dodger Ravine Park Plan Is Upheld

WASHINGTON (U) — The Supreme Court dismissed today three appeals attacking plans by the city of Los Angeles to deed land in Chavez Ravine to the Los Angeles Dodgers for a baseball park.

The high court's action leaves standing a California Supreme Court decision upholding the city's plans.

The ordinance, approved in a referendum, authorized the city to convey to the Dodgers 185 acres in Chavez Ravine. It also provided Los Angeles would use its best efforts to acquire and convey to the club more land to make a total of 300 acres.

Area Group Has $500,000 Air Force Contract

Gravel Combine Petitions to Continue Work

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A new gravel mining combine here has petitioned Macomb County Circuit Court to allow it to continue operations to fill its sub-contracts amounting to a half million dollars with Selfridge Air Force Base, prior to developing a residential building site on the property.

The plaintiffs are seeking an injunction to restrain the township from interfering with the removal of sand and gravel from an 80-acre site they acquired

Sept. 25 on 25-Mile road, east of Jewell road.

Initiating the court action are Jerome De Visscher, Harold Dean, Joseph Ciaramitaro and Joseph Michaels. They purchased the parcel on a land contract from Mrs. Clara La Godna for $72,000.

TO IMPROVE LAND
According to the declaration, the plaintiffs claim they are trying to "enhance the value of the property" by removing the sand and gravel to level it to surrounding property grades.

They also plan to create an artificial lake on the property as a preliminary move to developing it as a residential building site, they said.

In anticipation of this development, Dean entered into two sub-contracts, one for $437,340 and one for $150,093, with the U.S. District Corps of Engineers to provide sand and gravel for construction work at Selfridge Air Force Base.

Large gravel mining equipment was moved onto the site Oct. 5 and removal work was started.

Township officials immediately ordered the combine's truck drivers to be ticketed and later summonses were issued to the operators for violation of the township ordinance which classified the area as a residential farming zone.

'INVALID AND VOID'

The plaintiffs claim that the ordinance under which the property is classified is "invalid, void and unconstitutional." They further claim that, since there is no valid ordinance, they have a right to use the land for gravel mining.

Township Supervisor Steve Skula said he had asked De Visscher to appear before the township Zoning Board to ask permission to remove the sand and gravel.

He added the Zoning Board would "probably have approved" the plan if it had been presented.

In seeking court action on the matter, the plaintiffs allege the township is "in its present state, they ask that they be allowed to continue operations and that the township be restrained from prosecution of any criminal cases in the matter until the case is decided."

Macomb County Circuit Judge James E. Spier has directed that the Justice Court appearance of the truck drivers be adjourned until the show cause issue is heard. The hearing is set for Friday.

These Are Issues in Steel Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here are the major issues balking settlement of the steel strike:

WAGES AND BENEFITS

The union is seeking an increase of 19.5 cents an hour in a new two-year contract. It is asking improvements in insurance and pension plans valued at 9.32 cents an hour in the first year and about 10.5 cents more, nearly all in wages, during the second year. The companies contend this package would cost them nearly 30 cents an hour over the two-year period.

Management is proposing a three-year contract with about a 30-cent wage - benefits package. The union evaluates this as worth about 15 cents hourly on a two-year basis, rejecting a three-year deal. Both sides dispute each other's arithmetic.

INSURANCE PLANS

The union proposes that the companies take over the full cost of insurance programs now financed on a 50-50 basis by workers and management. The companies refuse to abandon the contributory principle entirely.

WORK RULES

The companies at first demanded contract changes to give them a freer hand in revising local work practices they said barred efficient use of manpower and equipment. The union vigorously opposed this request and suggested the matter be studied. Management compromised yesterday by proposing that the work rules issue be submitted to binding arbitration. The union resisted this approach. There are thousands of local work practices, differing from plant to plant, on matters such as crew sizes, seniority and overtime allocation.

Rejects U.S. Citizenship to Live in Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — Robert Edward Webster of Cleveland, Ohio, a plastics technician at last summer's U.S. exhibition in Moscow, has given up his American citizenship and become a Soviet citizen, it was revealed today.

H. G. Rand, president of the Rand Corp., Webster's employer at the exhibition, quoted him as saying: "I've examined both systems and decided that I like it here and want to live here. I'm doing this for ideological reasons."

But Rand told reporters that "That's not true — he's having domestic troubles back home."

The U.S. Embassy said Webster signed an affidavit last Saturday rejecting his American citizenship.

State, Township Officials Will Confer at Farmington

Plans for the annual meeting of all township officials in the four Congressional districts embracing Oakland and Wayne counties have been completed, announced Farmington Township Treasurer Elise Avery today.

She is director of the 14th district of the Michigan Townships Assn.

The public dinner-meeting is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at Botsford Inn, Farmington.

Purpose of the meeting is to bring together those who make the laws and those who carry them out, explained Mrs. Avery.

Attending will be state congressmen, senators, representatives and officers, county officers and township officials.

Among those invited, besides several hundred township officials, are Congressmen Louis Rabaut, John Lesinski, Martha Griffith and William Broomfield and State Senators Patrick J. Doyle, Harvey L. Lodge, Harold M. Ryan and Raymond Dziedzic.

Also, State Representatives William R. Copeland, Joseph I. Jackson, Lucille H. McCollough, Hiram McNeely, Robert Waldron, Chester Wozniak, Alexander Petri, Harvey J. Beadle, William H. Thorne, Lloyd L. Anderson, Arthur J. Law.

Crews Still Work to Free 3 Miners

TONOPAH, Nev. (UPI) — Rescue crews probed into the earth in several areas today searching for three men trapped by a cave-in four days ago at the famous old Mohawk mine.

The missing miners comprised the overnight crew at the old-time silver producer, which was opened only two weeks ago.

They were James Roberson, 33, Mina; Samuel Sickles, 45, Tonopah, and William Delorme, Redding, Calif.

The cave-in was discovered Friday when the day shift arrived to relieve the men, who were working at the 300-foot level. Since that time, 40 experienced miners have worked in relays both manually and with power equipment to reach the trapped men.

Jim White, a spokesman for the U.S. Milling and Mining Co., said yesterday there was still hope the men were alive and well, if they had warning of the disaster.

C. C. Gilliland's Death Revives 'Fort' Case

LAPEER — With the death Saturday of Clayton C. Gilliland, memories are revived of the famous Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co. case which drew nationwide attention in the early 50s.

Mr. Gilliland, 65, of 26 Church St., Highland Park, suffered a stroke at his home Saturday. He died in Highland Park Hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Gilliland headed a Lapeer County farmers' committee which rebelled against assessments levied against them.

He came into prominence as the man who defended Chris and Paul Zeigenhardt, farmer brothers who turned their property into a fort to resist eviction, and for the widowed Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens whom evicting officers carried bodily from her home.

Gilliland was sentenced to prison in 1953 for a 4 1/2 to 5-year term for conspiracy to obstruct justice in the case of the late Mrs. Stevens. He was released from prison last May.

Both the Zeigenhardts and Mrs. Stevens lost their cases and were evicted.

The background of the story which almost erupted into a small scale war, was the financial trouble of an insurance agency in which Lapeer County farmers had invested.

Under state law, the farmers were liable to assessments to cover losses of the firm, the Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Some of the farmers refused to pay. Court actions for judgments were brought against them, and farmers were seized. For 20 years Gilliland, a one-time private detective, led the fight against seizure.

He was arrested at "Fort Zeigenhardt" and later, all appeals exhausted, he was carried to prison on a stretcher. The "fort" was torn down, and the case dissolved into a bitter memory for those who survived.

Service for Mr. Gilliland will be held in Detroit tomorrow with burial in Grand Lawn Cemetery. Surviving are his wife, Ora; a brother and a sister.

Missing Girl Found Shivering but Alive, Well

POTOSI, Mo. (U) — A little girl missing all night in near-freezing temperatures in the Clark National Forest was found alive at 9:53 a.m. (CST) today, three miles from the point where she disappeared. Donna Rulo, 3 1/2, was shivering from the cold but otherwise appeared to be in good condition.

The child, still wearing only a light summer dress, walked out onto a country lane from a wooded sector just as seven searchers headed by Arthur Edsel were passing by.

More than 400 searchers, including 150 soldiers, were combing the rugged area for the child when she was found.

Nine Protesting Job, Pay Losses

Seek Mandamus Writ for Restoration of Their Status

By LEE WINBORN
SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The nine Shelby Township firemen who were either relieved of duty or received pay cut last May have instituted court action to get back their positions and lost wages.

They are asking Macomb County Circuit Judge James E. Spier to issue a writ of mandamus ordering the Township Board to restore their job status.

In their bill of complaint against the Township, the five who were laid off charge they were "unlawfully suspended" and all nine claim the required notices were not issued.

The Township electorate approved civil service for the firemen in the Feb. 16 election, and under the Civil Service Act employees must receive layoff notices personally and individually.

The firemen claim the only word the five who were laid off was a notice on the department bulletin board.

The four who were given pay cuts first learned of it when they received their pay checks after the Township Board's April 25 budget meeting in which both economy moves were approved, they said.

The nine firemen appealed their case to the Civil Service Commission which ruled that they be reimbursed for lost wages retroactively to May 1 and that their pay rate be restored to what it was prior to that date.

The ruling followed a July 23 hearing.

Among the plaintiffs are suspended Fire Chief Clyde Schmitt whose case is the subject of separate proceedings and Acting Fire Chief Marvin E. Meitz. Both received cuts in the economy move.

Defendants are Steve Skula, township supervisor; Lorin E. Evans, clerk; Jack Millard, treasurer; and William Peper, Emil Hag, Jesse Bennett Sr. and Elmer Parrott, township trustees.

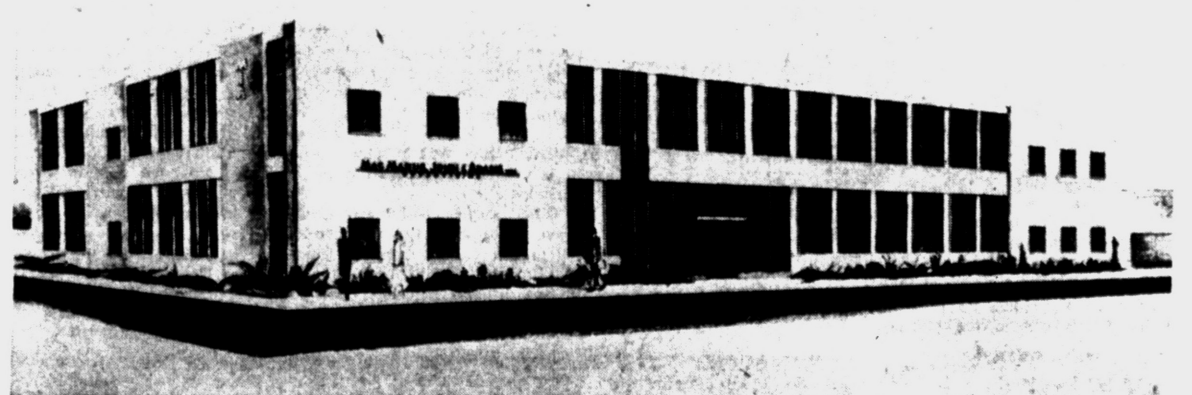

The hearing is set for 10 a.m. Friday.

AD AGENCY EXPANDS — Construction of the new office building for MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., in Bloomfield Hills is proceeding on schedule. It is located on West Long Lake road, just west of Woodward avenue and across from the firm's main offices.

Personnel now working in MJA offices in the nearby Gleaner building on Woodward are expected to be moved into the new quarters sometime in March.

To Occupy New Building in March MacManus, John, Adams Expands

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A new two-story office building now under construction at West Long Lake road and Woodward avenue here, will be occupied by MacManus, John & Adams, Inc. upon its completion next March, according to E. A. Jones, president of the national advertising agency.

The building, which is directly across West Long Lake road from the main offices of the firm, has been designed to provide for the more than 100 employees of the agency presently occupying the nearby Gleaner Building.

The agency's original building, completed in 1952, was designed to provide for a 50 per cent expansion of staff, but became overcrowded a short time after the agency occupied it in 1952," Jones said.

Originally, the agency headquarters contained 33,000 square feet of space. An additional 6,000 square feet was built three years ago, and the new building will provide another 30,000 square feet, for a total of approximately 70,000.

Architectural design of the new building will approximate that of the main building. The lobby will have sufficient Parking space for 95 cars will be provided adjoining the building, according to the builders, Bloomfield Center, Inc. Construction is by Charlson Co. of Wyandotte.

Birmingham Firm to Design School

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Board of Education has hired the Birmingham firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach to design an elementary school.

The building will be located on a 10-acre site at the west end of town recently donated to the school system by Howard L. McGregor and Howard L. McGregor Jr.

The Board is considering inviting citizens to help formulate plans for the school. An additional group of faculty members and residents has been proposed to work on the junior high expansion program.

San Francisco Hands Detroit Setback No. 4

Charging 49ers Shove Their Way at Will in 34-13 Decision

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Let's be charitable about the Detroit Lions' 34-13 loss to the San Francisco 49ers yesterday. Let's just say they were lousy.

Even coach George Wilson couldn't find enough charity in his heart to search for an adequate word to describe the humiliation of the team which was once proud World Champions.

Wilson wasn't bitter over his team's 4th straight loss. He was quiet, downcast and fidgety.

"We've got to sit down and try to figure something out. I don't know what it will be, but we have to do something," he said.

Wilson, who gave his quarterbacks a tongue lashing in past weeks, saw these signal callers take a physical beating from the onrushing 49er line.

Tobin Rote, who was hailed by the Motor City in 1957 for directing the team to the World's championship, dressed quietly with the upper half of his body covered with bandage.

"Everywhere I looked, no matter where I turned that helmet was there," said Rote whose passing yardage was a minus-3 in the first half.

Big Leo, a 10-year veteran who had not practiced all week because of a leg injury, and Matt Hazeltine, took turns in smearing Lion runners and passers all afternoon.

It was Hazeltine who scored the touchdown which did most to demoralize the Lions. After Hopalong Cassidy scored in the third quarter on a beautiful pass play covering 59 yards to make the score 20-7, things looked up for the Lions.

They got possession a few minutes after the touchdown and started another march, but then John Henry Johnson fumbled on his own 40. Hazeltine picked up the ball and went all the way for the touchdown to make it 27-7 and thus shattered thoughts of a comeback victory.

Even the vaunted Lions' defense unit could not cope with the jarring bursts through the middle of Joe Perry and J. D. Smith.

Perry and Smith accounted for every single rushing yard, all 296 yards accumulated on the ground by San Francisco. Perry picked up 145 in 15 carries for a 9.6 average and Smith's average was 6.6 with 152 in 23 carries.

Meanwhile Y. A. Tittle enjoyed himself in the 49er backfield. He completed seven of 13 passes for 108 yards without losing a single yard or having a pass intercepted.

It was 20-0 at halftime. The 49ers went 71 yards in the first period with Smith going the last 18 and in the second quarter after Nick Pietrosante's fumble, Tittle hit Clyde Conner for a 37-yarder. The series started on the Detroit 40.

Before the half ended Tommy Davis booted 13 and 21 yard field goals.

The fans jeered as the Lions took the field in the second half and then cheered as Cassidy scored to make it 20-7.

After Hazeltine's runback of the fumble, the cheers again turned to boos, and the second Lion TD by Pietrosante hitting from four did little to change this.

Smith scored from the one for the 49ers to add a little more fuel to jeering in the 4th quarter with only a minute left. Actually at this point there may have been 20,000 of the 52,585 still in the stands.

Sawchuk Posts Shutout No. 2 on Olympia Ice

Cullen, Kelly, Howe Click as Detroiters Blank Leafs, 3-0

DETROIT — This is Terry Sawchuk's 10th season as a National Hockey League goaltender, so he knows something about the people who play in front of him.

"The forwards are forechecking, making things easier for the defense," Sawchuk explained. "The defense is doing a much better job and staying in the right position, so that makes my job a lot easier."

Sawchuk got his second shutout in five games last night when the first-place Detroit Red Wings blanked the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-0, before 12,158 Olympia Stadium spectators.

"Everybody seems to be working out there," Sawchuk added. "When they do that, they always make a goalie look good. I'll have my bad nights, though, but we're all hoping there won't be as many as there were last season."

Coach Sid Abel and general manager Jack Adams praised Sawchuk's work in the nets through the first five games. "Of course, he's a great goalie," said Abel, "but he's off to a fine start besides."

Adams, the man who brought Sawchuk into the big leagues, traded him, then bought him back to Detroit, said "good goaltending and a bunch of kids who want to win are making me sleep better."

Newcomer Barry Cullen got the opening goal, scoring at the 1:51 mark against his old teammates. His was a 10-footer that followed a great rush from the opening gun, and it was his first goal as a Detroit.

Defenseman Red Kelly made it 2-0 before the period was half over, getting a hard 50-footer past goalie Johnny Bower, who was screened out of the play and never saw Kelly's shot.

The Wings sagged in the middle period, but the Leafs were weak, too, and Sawchuk had only nine chances. He had 21 for the night. Gordie Howe made it 3-0 in the final period, getting a power play goal from close range.

The Wings were two points ahead of Boston and Montreal. As for Sawchuk, he has yielded only four goals in five games and is off to a quick start in search of his fourth Vezina Trophy — an award monopolized by Montreal's Jacques Plante the last four seasons.

The New York Giants took over undisputed possession of first place in the Eastern Conference and the Green Bay Packers, losing their first game, dropped into a triple tie for the lead in the Western as National Football League teams played a full schedule of games Sunday.

The Giants, thoroughly trounced by the Philadelphia Eagles two weeks ago, 49-21, delighted 68,783 partisan fans by downing the same club 24-7.

Green Bay was plastered with a 45-6 defeat by the geared-up Los Angeles Rams.

Other games found the champion Baltimore Colts squeezing out a 21-7 victory over the Chicago Bears, the Pittsburgh Steelers taking a 27-6 decision over the Washington Redskins, San Francisco beating the still-wince Detroit Lions, 34-13, and the Cleveland Browns defeating the Chicago Cardinals, 17-7.

After the first period the Giants completely dominated play, both on the ground and in the air, while bottling up the Norm Van Brock combination.

The New Yorkers gained a total of 440 yards to 247 for the Eagles, who scored their lone touchdown in the first period on a plunge after Tom Brookshire had started the drive with an interception on the Philadelphia 39. Harland Svare got the Giants even by scoring on a 70-yard gallop with an intercepted pass in the first period.

The Colts also were getting a little revenge. They suffered their only defeat at the hands of the

Shamrocks Blanked by Ravens, 32-0

Eaglets Blast Rams 53-14

There was nothing but gloom in the football camps of the two Pontiac parochial schools today, after Sunday's overwhelming defeats.

St. Frederick's club, playing what coach Tom Kennedy said was its most disappointing contest of the season, was rolled under by the high-flying Orchard Lake Eaglets, 53-14. It was their worst defeat of the year, and the victory elevated the St. Mary club right back into title contention.

On its first trip away from home this year, St. Michael was run down by St. Benedict, 32-6, giving the Ravens a 4th straight Suburban Catholic League victory and almost a virtual claim to the crown. Ravens are unbeaten. No other loop eleven appears capable of stopping them.

Out at Orchard Lake, Eaglets

scored about as they pleased, turning Ram ends, punching the St. Frederick line and converting aerials into touchdowns. Rams' defensive play was mostly ineffective, and their offense was stopped cold. The Pontiac club scored in the first period and in the finale on aerials to Steve Posc and Rudy Yap.

Eaglets' coach, Rev. John Rakocy, said his "crew was alert and turned in a well-rounded game." Ted Barszczewski, fleet halfback checked in with three counters, two on runs of 56 and 41 yards, both in the 2nd period.

But the most spectacular efforts were the TD gallop at start of the 2nd half by Bill Krul, for 90 yards, and Chet Odom's 85-yard center for his first and only TD, after intercepting a Ram pass in the 4th period. Odom is the Eaglet center.

St. Michael again booted all conversions (five). Rams were never in scoring position except on the two pass plays. Eaglets gained a total of 400 yards.

Shamrock's coach Jim Niebauer, figured his club wasn't too bad, against a powerful Raven eleven. "We did a pretty good job," he commented today. "But we just couldn't stop Dan Donar (Raven halfback) and Eddie Everhardt."

Ravens' Pete Bannington scored first on a short run after a sustained drive in the first period. Jerry Caravaro nailed the victory with his 35-yard TD on a pass in the 2nd. Starting the third period Art Masucci electrified the big audience with his 80-yard TD gallop, during which he outran fleet Pat Campbell of the Shamrocks.

Ravens also collected a safety in the waning minutes when Tommy Dabbs was downed in the end zone, after a bad pass. A fumble had sent St. Michael back to the 10 just before.

Mikemen were inside the Raven 30, several times, but fumbles spoiled the opportunities.

Other SCL games Sunday resulted as follows: St. James defeated St. Clement 26-12 and St. Rita defeated RO St. Mary 25-6, while OLS (Farmington) won over St. Agatha 14-7.

52 Points by Baylor Overcome by Detroit Offensive Depth

MINNEAPOLIS — It took the Detroit Pistons just one game to find something they lacked all last season — balanced scoring.

The Pistons had five players with 13 points or better in yesterday's National Basketball Assn. opener. The spread-out attack offset a sensational individual performance by the Minneapolis Lakers' Elgin Baylor. The Pistons won, 106-105.

Six 700 Keglers at Westside; Donner In Again

Dan Berry's 728 Tops for Tourney; Donna Verhey Out

By CHUCK ABRAHAM

Twenty more men and 13 women gained the right to compete in the Pontiac Press Bowlerama finals Sunday at Huron Bowl with strong showings in the closing qualifying rounds yesterday.

A total of 35 men will compete for such prizes as $500 and a beautiful clock-trophy including the qualifiers from the first two sessions.

As expected, the men went wild at Westside yesterday. A 665 or better was needed to make the grade as six different keggers hit 700 or better with their handicaps.

Pat Donner, women's champion last year and runnerup before that, got right back into the swing of things by heading the pack at Lakewood Lanes with 671.

Donna Verhey, her bowling partner who also had a 1st and 2nd in the two previous events, was eliminated when she faltered in the final game.

Dan Berry turned in the best handicap score of the tournament with a 728 aided by a 98 handicap. "Ski" Neal rolled 711 including 701 actual. Frank Spadafore and Joe Kane hit 710. Jim Tracy 704 and Rod Timm 700.

Others surviving the cut were Fran Bertram, Ed Oldenkamp, W. Bridge, Thurlin Cloud, Gene Podgorske, George Kazarian, R. Thompson, R. Bowden, L. J. Roy, Louie Weedon, R. Keith, R. Moore, Berj Gerjekian and Tom Helsety.

Marvel Scot followed Pat Donner with 656. Carolyn Newcomb and Helen L. Smith shared 3rd place with 644. Erma Pierce hit 634. Catherine Smith, Helen's sister-in-law, had 633. Jo Seavey and June Paddy 629. Catherine Karr 617. Luille Lyon 615. Jean Preston and Laura Chenoweth 614. Barbara Childress 613.

Berry and Donner are assured high qualifier trophies. All who made the championship round are assured of finishing in the money when the prizes are awarded following Sunday's action.

All scores are unofficial until a check is made of averages. The entire list of yesterday's non-qualifiers will be printed in Tuesday's Pontiac Press.

Says Falcon Trip Coast to Coast Would Cost $30

DETROIT (AP)—The total fuel cost of driving a Falcon the 2,904 miles from New York to Los Angeles would be $30, according to Ford Motor Co.

Ford said it based the cost figure on a quarter-million-mile test run made by 14 of its new Falcons. It said the driver of each of the cars traveled an average 615 miles a day for a total of 15,990 miles.

"The average gasoline mileage attained at this grueling pace was 44 miles per gallon," Ford said. Based on a regular grade fuel cost of 30 cents per gallon, the quarter-million-mile test was completed at a total fuel cost of $2,378, or approximately one cent per mile."

Armada, New Haven Tie

Armada and New Haven battled a 6-6 tie Saturday afternoon in Southern Thumb League football game at Armada. It was Armada's mecoming game. Jerry Blake's e-yard touchdown run in the 1st quarter handed Armada a 6-0 lead. New Haven tallied the tying in the 4th period on a 21-yard as from Joe Kozub to Tom Grif-

Broncos 'Explode' in 78-0 Victory

By The Associated Press

Western Michigan was loaded with dynamite all season. It just wouldn't go off.

Then it exploded all at once Saturday and the thrice-beaten Broncos ran Washington (Mo.) ragged, piling up a 78-0 victory. Western (2-3) ran way to a 36-0 lead in the first quarter and finished with a torrent of 11 touchdowns.

A strange aspect of the rout was that Western's heralded speedster, Lovell Coleman, scored only one of the touchdowns. Nine Broncos shared in the rout.

Hillsdale and Hope, tied atop the MIAA with 3-0 league records and 5-0 season marks, prevailed with impressive victories. They became the last of Michigan's unbeaten teams when Wayne State (2-1) committed a flock of errors and was trounced by John Carroll 40-0.

Hillsdale rolled over Albion (3-2) as Chuck Redding scored two touchdowns and passed for a third in a 34-7 triumph. It was the 69th meeting in the state's oldest rivalry. Jerry Henriksen got off scoring runs of four and 53 yards at Hope walloped Kalamazoo (1-4) 41-6.

In Saturday's other games, Central Michigan (4-2) beat Eastern Michigan (1-3) 21-8 without any scoring help from stars Jerry O'Neil and Walt Beach. Ferris (2-2) fired up by Bill McNally's 94-yard return of the opening kickoff, swamped Illinois' Chicago branch 47-0. Alma (3-2) blanked Arian (3-2) 35-0 with Jik Northrup's passing showing the way; Paul D'Arras led Northern Michigan (4-1) to an easy 46-0 victory over Western Reserve; Jack Boldt ran 80 yards with an intercepted pass as Michigan Tech (4-2) downed St. Cloud (Minn.) 25-8; and Grand Rapids (3-2-1) and Boise (Idaho), challengers for the national junior college championship, battled to a 20-20 tie.

The ailing Beach or O'Neil didn't score for the first time in Central Michigan's six games. But Al Bernardi and Bob Kelly took up the slack. Bernardi scored twice from close in and Kelly scored on a 78-yard ramble.

After McNally got Ferris off winging, Bill Skidmore came on to score four touchdowns on runs of 17 to 30 yards in the rout of Illinois-Chicago.

Northrup passed for two touchdowns and scored another on a 69-yard run in Alma's MIAA licking of Adrian.

D'Arras provided the fireworks for Northern Michigan with 67- and 52-yard touchdown runs while Tom Schwalbach scored on a 56-yard jaunt.

Injured Griddier Dies

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—John Chroniak, 19, died in St. James Hospital Sunday night a week after he was injured in a sandlot football game.

Chroniak struck his head when he was tackled. Other players wore protective equipment but Chroniak did not.

Detroit will travel to Tulsa this Saturday to renew a rivalry with its one-time Missouri Valley Conference foe.

Hogan's Gift Putter Turns Trick in Costa Mesa Test

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Jay Hebert used a putter given him by Ben Hogan to win the $15,000 Orange County open golf tournament yesterday with an 11 under par 273.

It was Hebert's first major victory since 1958. Hogan gave him the center-staffed mallet at Dallas in September when he saw Hebert having difficulty with his approach shots. Hebert has finished in the money three times since then. This time he won $2,000.

He had a two-stroke margin over Jerry Magee of Toronto, Canada, and Jack Fleck of Los Angeles, who tied for second at 275. They won $1,350.

Fleck had a chance to tie Hebert, but he missed a "must" 30-footer on the last hole.

Enterprising? Ah Yes, That's Today's Youth

DETROIT (AP)—The boy was the picture of enterprising youth as he beckoned busily to cruising latecomers headed for the Detroit Lions-San Francisco 49er's football game.

Forty motorists eyed the easy-in, easy-out lanes and glided into parking spaces on the big field near Briggs Stadium. The dollar asked by the youth seemed reasonable enough.

When the parkers returned after the game, their cars were there but the hustling had wasn't. Tucked into each windshield was a $3 parking ticket. The convenient parking lot was Detroit's J. C. Nagel playground.

Book on FDR Is Critical

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Henry Regnery Co. of Chicago has published a book with a provocative title which is likely to stir up some angry dispute in the United States.

The title is: "Roosevelt's Road to Russia." The author is George N. Crocker. The price per copy is $5. That is a high price for a book of 312 pages, and it may discourage some readers.

More discouraging to readers could be a trend in book reviewing which the right-wingers of American politics declare they can discern and identify. This is a trend toward shrugging off as bad manners, or worse, those books and pamphlets in circulation which fiercely challenge Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1933-45 stewardship of the American destiny.

Crocker's book is a fierce bluntly worded challenge. It will be all the more offensive to FDR's defenders because it challenges their hero as the architect of World War II strategies which left the world in the condition now prevailing, which is a mess. The theme of Crocker's book is that FDR was a glib stoolie for J. V. Stalin's master plan to dominate the post war world or as much of it as possible.

ABOUT CONFERENCES

"Roosevelt's Road to Russia" is a chronicle of the men around FDR and of the great wartime conferences at which these men and the President matched wits and wisdom with the Allied teams and notably with Stalin and V. M. Molotov. Crocker documents his charge that the U.S. team was overmatched and outplayed. He especially tags the late Harry Hopkins as a safety man who forever was dropping the ball for lack of the will to catch it.

"That a web of subversion was spun over Washington in Roosevelt's administration is now beyond question," Crocker writes.

"J. Edgar Hoover's 'Masters of Deceit' is but one of many authoritative sources which verify that the government was infiltrated by both Communist sympathizers and Soviet agents and that U.S. policies, plans and official attitudes were not only influenced by these infiltrations but also promptly reported to Moscow.

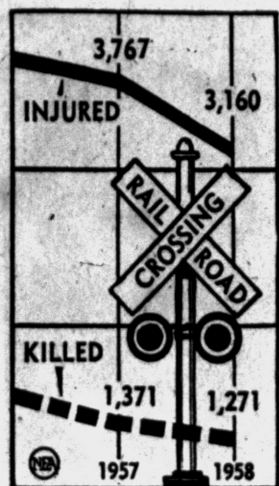

BITTER COMPLAINT

"If Franklin D. Roosevelt became, as war went on, Stalin's favorite fellow-traveller, it was not necessarily because any ideological conversion occurred. 'The pro-Russian atmosphere in Washington . . . was galling to many, including the frustrated Secretary of Navy, James

V. Forrestal. His diaries reveal that in September, 1944, he had written to a friend that 'if any American suggests that we act in accord with our own interests, he is apt to be called a Fascist or imperialist, while if Uncle Joe (Stalin) suggests that he needs the Baltic provinces, half of Poland, all of Bessarabia and access to the Mediterranean, all hands in Washington agree that he is a fine, frank, candid and generally delightful fellow.' Such was the frame of mind Roosevelt took to Yalta."

The dust cover of "Roosevelt's Road to Russia" says: "Many people will be made angry by this book."

That is a sound and reasonable prediction, especially if the questions raised by Crocker become involved in next year's Presidential campaign.

STOP ON SIGNAL—Some 1,271 persons were killed at railroad-highway crossings last year, reports the Interstate Commerce Commission. There were a total of 3,099 accidents, involving pedestrians as well as motor vehicles and trains. The figure was below that for 1957 (see chart)

Best Year Predicted
by Ex-Ike Adviser

BOSTON (UPI) — The nation will have its best economic year in history next year, former White House economic adviser Dr. Gabriel Hauge predicted.

Hauge, now chairman of the finance committee of the Manufacturers Trust Co., New York City, also said personal incomes will continue to grow in 1960. He said his predictions were based on the assumption that the nationwide steel strike would no longer be a factor in the economy by then.

He told the 19th New England Bank Management Conference that inflation does not appear to be a problem for the immediate future, but he warned that inflationary trends must be watched carefully.

Order Pad Probably Saves Driver's Life

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Brooklyn truck driver probably owes his life today to an order pad he carries in his shirt pocket.

Charles Hager, 23, told police that two armed thugs jumped on the running board of his truck and tried to rob him. When he attempted to shake them off, he said, one fired right at his heart. The bullet hit the order pad and was deflected. The thugs fled.

Paul de Kruif Weds

HOLLAND (UPI) — The marriage of Paul de Kruif, a roving editor for Reader's Digest and noted writer on medical topics, to Eleanor Lappage, of Birmingham, Ala., has been disclosed. It was the second marriage for De Kruif, about 69, whose first wife died. He lives outside Holland at a secluded retreat. The marriage took place last month.

Research Head Will Resign to Become Artist

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Roy W. Johnson is going to leave his job as boss of the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency and learn to be an artist — a good one.

Johnson already has paintings on display in Stamford and surrounding towns, but he considers himself only a midding good "weekend painter." He wants to do it right, he said Sunday by enrolling in school, starting at the beginning and not cutting any corners.

His decision to leave ARPA was not a surprise to Washington. When he went to the Pentagon in February 1958 after leaving his job as executive vice president of General Electric Co., he said he'd stay with the new agency only a year or so, long enough to get it running smoothly.

Johnson Claims Loss of Pioneering Spirit

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Loss of the pioneering spirit by the American people is a much greater threat than Soviet advances in outer space, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) says.

The Senate majority leader said Sunday, "The real threat in the outer space field does not come from a collection of new military hardware. It comes from the fact that we have fallen behind in what has been an American specialty from the beginning—pioneering."

Johnson's views on the space race were aired in his weekly broadcast transcribed for Texas radio stations.

Great Lakes Shipbuilders Say Seaway Aids Them

DETROIT (AP) — Shipbuilders on the Great Lakes now are ready to take on all comers in shipbuilding competition made possible by the St. Lawrence Seaway.

That's what William M. Defoe of Bay City, executive vice president of the Defoe Shipbuilding Co., told the American Merchant Marine Conference here.

First effect of the Seaway on Great Lakes yards, he said, was to permit them to compete in a much wider field. He pointed to his company's 64-million-dollar contract for four guided missile destroyers as an example.

The Seaway makes it possible to get ships of destroyer size, and even larger, direct from the Lakes to the Atlantic ocean. That was impossible before.

Smaller ships have been built and taken to sea via the Mississippi river, but that cost about $100,000 each, and Defoe said elimination of this cost "certainly improves the position of the Lakes yards."

Competition from Seaboard yards will increase in the building of Great Lakes ships, Defoe said, "but it is not a factor that puts fear and trembling in our hearts."

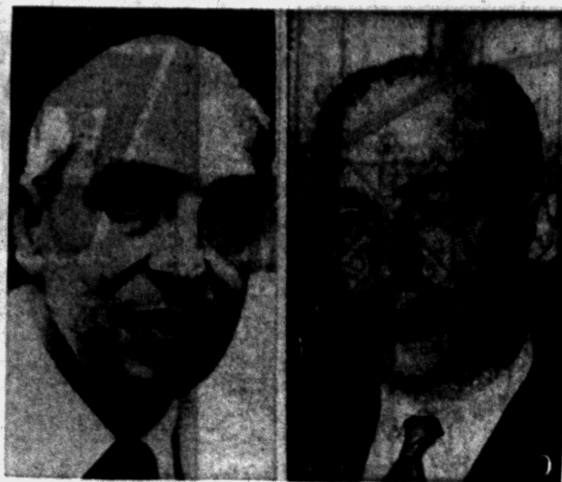

Defoe said that shipbuilders must prove they can design and build new and larger Lakes ships which will force retirement of older vessels on a purely economic basis.

Salt water operators think in terms of 20 years as a ship's life, he continued, but the Great Lakes are fleet of 249 vessels has 125 that are at least 50 years old and only 46 that are less than 20 years old.

Bopsters Rocked by Men 21-50

'Oldsters' Riot at Show

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Men from 21 to 50 years of age caused much of the riotous disorder that led to the closing of a rock 'n' roll show Saturday night, police said.

A crowd of 12,300, mostly teenagers, was in municipal auditorium when fist fights, popping firecrackers, yelling and milling of the crowd brought the police riot squad to the scene.

The show, advertised in the name of television star Dick Clark was stopped. A dance scheduled to follow the show was canceled. Police hustled the more belligerent patrons off to jail. Forty-nine were booked on such charges as peace disturbance and public drunkenness. Of that group, 45 are Negroes.

The 49 range from 17 to 50 years of age; slightly more than half are 21 or older.

There were no serious injuries.

Even More Sneers Than Husbands

Bardot, Taylor, Piaf — All Suffer

PARIS (NEA)—Three of the world's most famous glamour queens are finding out the hard way that all the world does not love a lover.

Elizabeth Taylor, Edith Piaf and Brigitte Bardot recently have felt the cold blast of censure over their much publicized affairs of the heart.

The trio is learning that there is nothing so fickle as the public; that even talented artists have to watch their step. To defy tradition too consistently finally boomerangs, even in the liberal world of today.

The marriage of "BB" to dashing Jacques Charrier not so long ago touched off many nasty comments.

"One more to add to her list of victims," some people said. "A fine example she sets the younger generation," was another comment heard in France.

Some days later Edith Piaf, completely recovered from two major operations in the U.S., landed at Orly Field here.

The little "sparrow" (Piaf is argot for sparrow), dewy-eyed and holding the hand of a tall, athletic young American, announced: "I want you to meet my 'new happiness,' Douglas Davis. He is a painter to whom I am much indebted. He has given me a new interest in life."

This happy state of affairs de coeur, too, was met only by acid and ironical comment. Over the past 15 years, Piaf has shed many a bitter tear over the snide remark in print and the smirk in public which followed her love affairs.

Both Piaf and Bardot, in turn, are aware that at about the same time, Elizabeth Taylor was severely criticized for marrying Eddie Fisher so soon after the death of Mike Todd. They know that the beautiful "Liz"—yesterday the world's sweetheart—was booed in the streets during her visit in Paris.

TAYLOR: Shaky Throne

BARDOT: Insatiable?

PIAF: Happiness?

Not so long ago at Saint Tropez, Riviera playground of the younger generation, Brigitte was obliged to flee from the taunts and insults of a crowd which had gathered outside the terrace of a restaurant where she was dining.

INSATIABLE?

Both she and Edith Piaf are considered "insatiable" so far as their love lives are concerned. And like most French women, both are resentful of public intrusion into their private lives.

"Why are people so hard on me?" she asked one of her intimates recently. "Other women fall in and out of love just as often as I do and nothing is ever said about those. Just because I am in the public eye, all my movements are dissected and commented upon."

"My private life is nobody's business!"

But the unkind comments which followed her marriage were an even greater surprise to her. It is beyond her understanding why people call her a man-eater.

Edith Piaf's story is similar. She, too, cannot understand why her public, who obviously are crazy about her singing, should be so upset by her private life.

Like Bardot, she apparently needs the constant presence of a man she loves.

Unlike Bardot, the little sparrow never knew anything of the comfort and security of a middle-class background, let alone its moral standards.

Piaf and Bardot have one other trait in common. Both are generous, and if their public may look with disfavor upon their romantic escapades, at least their old loves remain tried and true friends, ready to comfort them when they feel lonely and frightened.

Safety-First Bike Loaded Down With Gadgets

LONDON (UPI)—Schoolboy Howard Coleman yesterday sent the London Daily Graphic a picture of his safety-first bicycle. The bike was equipped with:

—Six headlights, six rear lights, a brake light, two sets of turn signals, a speedometer, an electric horn, a home-made radio with loudspeaker and headphones, three dynamos, four batteries and a dashboard clock.

"I got fed up when my ordinary cycle lights let me down," the boy explained, "so I began adding to the machine. One thing led to another."

Primo Carnera Breaks Sound Barrier in Jet

SEQUALS, Italy (UPI)—Former world heavyweight boxing champion Primo Carnera broke through the sound barrier in a subsonic jet during a weekend visit to the U.S. NATO air base at Aviano. "It was a tough but great experience," said the mountainous Carnera, who had weighed in at 260½ pounds when he knocked out Jack Sharkey for the boxing crown in 1933. "My only difficulty was getting into a jet flying uniform."

Dante's Inferno Burns as Satan Loses Head

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dante's Inferno, a night club, caught fire yesterday, and satan lost out. Firemen had to get a large wooden devil's head adorning the front of the club out of the way before they could get in. So they chopped satan's head off.

'DRUNKARD' CLOSES 26-YEAR RUN — That grand old institution, "The Drunkard," ended its 26-year theatrical performance last night with cast and audience joining in a champagne toast at the final curtain. Hanging up his stage hat for the last time is Neely Edwards, 76, who has played in "The Drunkard" since six months after it opened July 6, 1933. With him is Mrs. Mildred Lase, producer-founder of the show that played to three million.

Liz Taylor Inks $1 Million Pact

To Get Highest Figure Ever Paid Feminine Star for 'Cleopatra'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor has become the first feminine screen star to sign a one million dollar contract for a single movie, 20th Century Fox studios announced today.

Miss Taylor completed negotiations yesterday to play the title role in "Cleopatra," a film that caused a squabble between the actress and her home studio MGM.

MGM suspended the beautiful star briefly when she insisted on appearing in "Cleopatra" before fulfilling her contract by playing in "Butterfield 8."

The actress said she disliked her lady of easy virtue role in the film and also objected to the script, which she called "almost pornographic." All was settled when MGM agreed to tame down the part and she guaranteed to return after the shooting of "Cleopatra."

Miss Taylor said she would set up a trust fund with the million dollars for her children, Michael, 6, Christopher, 4, and Liza, 2.

Political Group Puts OK on 7 Legislators

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Michigan's two senators and five of its representatives have been given top ratings by the Americans for Democratic Action.

The congressmen all were graded 100 per cent by the ADA for the way they voted on 13 issues in the first session of the 86th Congress.

Cited were Democratic Sens. Patrick McNamara and Philip Hart and Democratic Reps. Charles Diggs, John Dingell Jr., Martha Griffiths, James O'Hara and Thaddeus Machrowicz.

United Nations Still Immature, Bunche Declares

DETROIT (UPI)—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche says the United Nations still is "immature" and has not yet begun to realize its full potential in dealing with world problems between nations.

Dr. Bunche, U.N. undersecretary for special political affairs, also said yesterday his world organization will lend its full support to any summit conference between leaders of global powers.

"The U.N. is still immature," the U.N. official told an audience kicking off Detroit's United Nations Week observance. "It could do so much more if it had more resources."

Dore Schary Praised for Political Sacrifice

NEW YORK (UPI)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler last night praised movie producer and writer Dore Schary for voicing his political beliefs even though it hurt him in the entertainment world.

Schary headed the Democratic Party's Committee for the Arts in the 1956 campaign. Shortly thereafter he was fired by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Newspaper reports claimed his "personal political activities" had a lot to do with the firing.

'Drunkard' Collapses — at Last

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The final curtain has fallen on "The Drunkard," ending the longest run in theater history.

A champagne toast and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" climaxed the 9,477th performance at the Theater Mart Saturday. When it was over, some of the cast hardly realized the end had come.

Rising costs and the desire to sell the theater property prompted Producer Mildred Lase to close the show, which opened in 1933.

"Oh well," said Neely Edwards, 76, who played the bartender in the melodrama, "they told me this job wouldn't last when I took it."

That was 26 years ago.

Get Into Politics, Industry Is Told

Businessmen in Detroit Warned Public Affairs Part of Their Job

DETROIT (UPI)—Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller today advised businessmen to get into politics lest free enterprise "find itself out of business in the next few years."

Acknowledging that he was juggling a "hot potato," Mueller said in a speech prepared for the Economic Club of Detroit that public affairs and national policy must become the business of business.

Otherwise, he indicated, "squandermania" might triumph and the people be "led astray by the siren music of radicalism or by the hog calls of spend-thrifts."

While this was the topic to which Mueller devoted almost his entire text, he made one indirect reference to the steel strike. He said:

"We must not sanction... strikes in great industries that cause serious injury to the entire public and push this nation in the direction of economic suicide."

He said strikes of this sort "menace the security of the worker, the economic health of the entire country and the safety of the United States."

The nation must not fail to "find an answer to these constant strikes and threats of strikes," he said. Turning back to the question of businessmen in politics, Mueller said it would be "blind stupidity" for them to stand aloof from public affairs.

Serves Free Dinner for 1,000 Friends

MILLER, Neb. (UPI)—Dr. J. C. Ramer, an elderly bachelor veterinarian, had some friends in for dinner yesterday. He invited all his customers, neighbors and friends in for a free meal. About 1,000 showed up. "It's just a sort of hobby of mine," Ramer said. "I like to treat my friends this way."

Tired Postman Rests

VERSAILLES, France (AP)—Apprentice postman Robert Melet, 26, has been given a suspended three-month prison sentence for tossing part of his load of letters into the sewers. "I was tired that day," Melet told the court, "I didn't feel like working."

Hollywood Headlines:

'The Show Must Go On' Even as Death Strikes

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Now that movie-town is moving into its third generation, death is cutting down heroes and heroines who dominated screens for the past two decades—stars who seemed like neighbors to the nation's audiences.

In the past year death came to Tyrone Power, Mario Lanza, Paul Douglas, Wayne Morris, Lou Costello, Kay Kendall and Errol Flynn, among others.

In each instance superstitious show folk talked about death striking performers in series of three, waiting for a second or third friend to succumb.

Most recent trio to die within a few days of one another were Miss Kendall, Paul Douglas and Wayne Morris. The deaths of Lanza and Flynn leaves an ominous vacancy in the cycle.

Peculiarly, actors—who are known for their emotional reactions—rarely display grief when one of their number dies. Nor do they indulge in maudlin eulogies.

RECALL QUIPS

It has become almost a tradition among TV and movie stars to recall the lighter moments of their departed friends.

At the country clubs, studios, network rehearsal stages and the Brown Derby stories and anecdotes fly.

Such phrases as "I once played the Orpheum circuit with him..." "I'll never forget the time she first set foot on a soundstage..." "Man, he could take a drink with the best of them" are part of the jargon.

This week the stories are concentrated on Errol Flynn.

His escapades already were being exaggerated, knitting the fabric of a legend to challenge John Barrymore's flamboyant life and times. All the memories were kindly. Old foes fondly remembered the good times, not the bad.

It is at these moments the stars forget their egos for a few minutes.

Army Reserve Units in Pontiac Have Openings

There are now openings in Pontiac's two Army reserve units, the 2nd Battalion, 333rd Basic Combat Training Regiment, and the 4th Gun Battalion, 39th Artillery, for nonprior service men, according to announcements from Capt. Claude H. Reed, coordinator of the Pontiac Reserve Center and advisor to divisional units.

According to Reed, young men 17 to 18½ can spend six months of active duty and then serve three years in the ready reserve and 4½ years in the standby reserves. This involves no part-time military duties.

Another program for young men 18½ to 25 allows them to serve six months on active duty, serving remainder of their obligation in a reserve unit for 5½ years.

The reserve center advisor emphasizes that these programs are especially geared for young high school and college men to continue their education with the least amount of interruption.

Going Back to Cluttered Rooms

Women Feel Need for More Work

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — Subconsciously, the American housewife of today wants to do more work around the house.

She has guilt complexes about her push-button, packaged-food and cocktail party life.

She knows that she strolls an easier road than her mother did, and it gives her a strong sense she is shirking.

WANTS TO WORK

She realizes that the American tradition calls for hard work. Idleness is sinful. Her life is too soft, and consequently:

She's not a good enough wife and mother. Nothing (the tradition says) is worth having unless you struggle for it—and how can you struggle with a dishwasher, garbage disposer, electric laundry, frozen pie dinner and money to buy even more wonders of lethargy?

These are the opinions of a couple of fascinating interior decorators named Stuart Blaine and Robert Booth, who help New York women spend their wealth in the most splendid way possible.

"Subconsciously, women are as divided on this matter of modern ease as their split-level homes," said Booth. "This is why we see a whole new trend today, not only in architecture but in inside decor."

The trend in architecture: More two-story homes, with more and smaller rooms, requiring more care from the maid-free housewife of today.

THE CLUTTERED LOOK

The trend in interiors: A gradual discarding of modern "functional" furniture, and in its place the "cluttered look."

Now on the surface, the "cluttered look" in chi-chi decor would seem to signify even less work for mama. But hold onto your dolls and revolvers, kiddies—it does NOT mean peanut shells in the parlor, nor sanction of that grand kiddie's game, spin the milk-glass.

"This," said Blaine, "is a well-cluttered look. And good cluttering—important, fashionable, admirable cluttering—is far more difficult to achieve than a simple, severely uncluttered decor such as we've had since the war."

The decorators feel that perhaps home design never recovered from the effects of World War II, and its austerity.

MORE ROOMS, MORE JUNK

This is another reason for the new look in homes, which are to be "cluttered" only in the sense that they will be more cheerful and more colorful, with such tried-and-true clutteries as gay floral wallpapers, more patterns on chairs and sofas, a familiar revival of antique bric-a-brac and elegant frames around paintings.

And rooms will be smaller.

"People—gals especially—like a feeling of tight comfort. Large rooms make them nervous. Everyone used to call for big rooms, and then they'd chop them up with room dividers."

So if you are fashionable, Mrs. America, you will have more-rooms houses built on more levels with more furnishings to decorate in more patterns and more artistic problems.

Going out (if you can believe Blaine & Booth) are ultra-modernism, functionalism, miles of circular sofa and all forms of slick sleekness personified.

And with them should go some of American woman's lethargic hours and, simultaneously, her subconscious guilts.

Air Suspension Bubble Bursts

Too Costly Compared With Coil Springs, Say Most Auto Firms

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI) — The bubble of air suspension has burst.

Just two years ago air suspension was being heralded as the coming thing in the auto industry.

Although it won acceptance from every auto maker in Detroit in 1935, it will virtually disappear during the model year just getting underway.

The only two cars offering air suspension in 1936 will be Rambler and Cadillac.

It is being dropped this fall by Imperial, Chrysler, DeSoto, Dodge, Plymouth, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Buick. Ford discontinued it last year.

REJECTED BY PIONEERS

Although Studebaker-Packard engineers were among the leaders in developing the air suspension system for cars, the South Bend company management turned down a constant leveling device that was to be offered on its 1936 cars because of the cost.

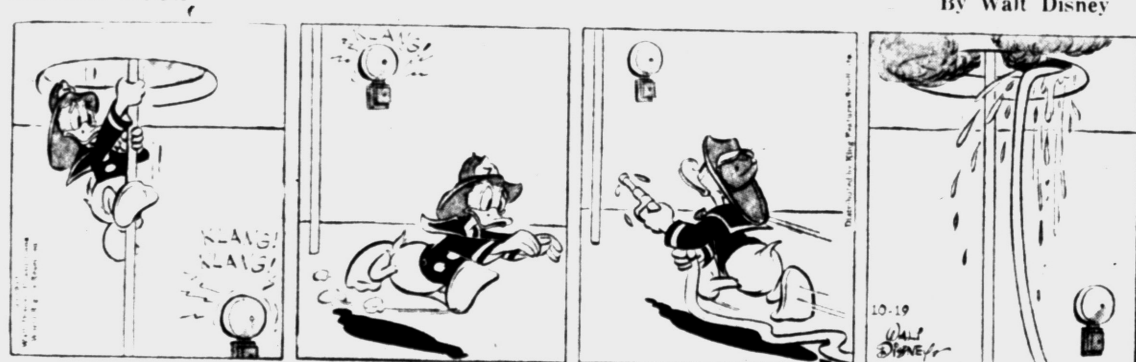

It was the cost, coupled with improvements in coil steel springs, that finally got to the Detroit management and led to the wholesale abandonment of air suspension.

Edward Rollett, new general manager of Buick, explained the position of the auto company executives.

"Improvements in coil springs have made it unprofitable to continue to offer air suspension," Rollett said. "The ride offered by the new air springs made the added cost of air suspension too great."

The cost of air suspension varied from make to make, ranging from $38 on the Rambler to $214 on the Cadillac.

Two hunters, John Wortman and Bob Grief, both 14, of nearby Pullman, found the skeleton in a woods near Pullman.

Writ and Reward Unsettled

Sheppard Case Isn't Dead

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—More than four years have passed since Dr. Samuel Sheppard began serving a life sentence for the murder of his pregnant wife, but the last legal skirmish is yet to be fought in his sensational case.

For one thing, the Cleveland Police Department is still trying to collect a $10,000 reward offered by the Sheppard family "for the arrest and conviction of the murderers of Marilyn Sheppard" on July 4, 1954.

For another, a habeas corpus petition is pending before the Ohio Supreme Court seeking Sam Sheppard's release on the grounds that he was denied a fair chance to establish his innocence before, during and after his 43-day trial, one of the longest in U.S. judicial history.

Meanwhile, Sam Sheppard, now 35 years old, goes about the drab business of being an inmate at the Ohio State Penitentiary in Columbus. He will not be eligible for parole until he has spent 10 years behind bars. That will be July 20, 1965.

But Dr. Sam's talents are not being wasted. He serves with the medical-surgical crew of the prison hospital, administering anesthesia for operations and doing routine hospital chores.

Outwardly, he has changed little. His dark hair is thinning and turning gray, but he remains trim with weightlifting and body-building exercises three days a week.

Among his fellow inmates, he has acquired a reputation as a "good guy." He trains and coaches the prison baseball and basketball teams. Occasionally, his brothers and their wives come to visit.

Sheppard seeks to avoid publicity but word of his activities sometimes leaks out.

In September, 1956, he was credited with saving the life of a fellow prisoner who choked after an operation. The prison surgeon had left Dr. Sam, on duty as a nurse, removed the obstruction from the prisoner's throat and massaged his chest until his heart started beating again.

The following February Sheppard was transferred to the prison printing shop. Later he returned to the hospital. He also has worked as an instructor in auto mechanics and as a personnel clerk.

In March, 1957, he volunteered as a "guinea pig" in a cancer inoculation test at the penitentiary.

Time has changed the lives of others involved in the case. Samuel Reese "Chip" Sheppard, now 12 and the only child of Sam and Marilyn Sheppard, was finally turned over to his uncle Stephen after the boy's aunt, Mrs. Henrietta Munn, dropped her fight to become his guardian.

The lad attends public school in suburban Rocky River and appears to have a tendency toward science. Last year he won a citation in a science contest.

Chip's paternal grandparents are dead. His father's father — the founder of the family hospital — died of cancer shortly after Dr. Sam's conviction. The condemned man's mother committed suicide soon after that.

"The other woman" in the case, Susan Hayes, once a nurse in Sheppard's Bayview Hospital, is married. She lives in California with her husband, a television producer, and their son. She was called at the climax of the trial to testify about her romance with Sheppard and the week they once spent in California.

Bay Village's mayor at the time of the murder, J. Spencer Houk, the first person to be told by Sheppard that his wife was dead, has sold his butcher shop. He is a salesman for a Cleveland auto agency. His health broke down during the case.

Death has taken Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin, who conducted the trial; Henry Balke, Marilyn Sheppard's grandfather;

Have You Noticed Yourself Growing Older?

NEW YORK (AP)—Things are getting younger. This is not only a columnist might never know unless he read his mail: A report put to the U. S. Senate says that as a people we are growing older faster than we are growing younger. This is not only probably true nationally, but it substantiates regional doubts in our own neighborhood and local areas. The figures say only 3 million Americans were over 65 in 1900; by 1970 it will be 20 million. The fellow we gave our opinions to yesterday today shows the usual old age signs of nongratitute. The mattress has no known father in history. The Romans enjoyed it 300 years before they traded republicanism for dictatorship. At different times mattresses have been stuffed with reeds, hay, wool, feathers, and uncleanliness. Do you have trouble in reading a menu? Singer Polly Bergen is said to own more than six dozen pairs of eyeglasses but rarely uses them. Have you ever met anyone with weak eyes who had 73 excuses for not saying hello?

AEC Chairman Sees No Possibility of Russian Nuclear Lead

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — America's atomic chief says the Soviets are not ahead of the United States in nuclear science and he sees no possibility of them forging ahead. Chairman John A. McCone of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission told a news conference Sunday that he came to this conclusion after leading a party of American scientists on a 10-day tour of the Soviet Union.

McCone said he favors cooperating with the Soviet Union in the peaceful use of nuclear energy provided both countries share secrets equally.

"If we are going to open the book," he said, "we both have to open the book."

As an example, McCone said the Soviets declined to disclose production figures of a uranium mine his party visited in the Ukraine. He pointed out such figures are made public in the United States.

He suggested that as a first step toward possible joint U. S.-Soviet nuclear enterprises an exchange of personnel for periods of 10 months.

'Understand Government, Read Bible'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman told worshippers at a suburban church Sunday they and their children would get a better understanding of government if they read the Bible more.

The Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence both are based on the Bible, and the Good Neighbor Policy is drawn from the tenth chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke, Truman said.

The ex-president's address to about 900 persons at the Elmwood Methodist Church was his final public appearance in a three-day tour of Texas during which he met with Democratic leaders, delivered three speeches and was honored at a rally here Saturday. His remarks at the church were occasioned by Laymen's Day, a national observance of the Methodist Church.
