Autumn Paints Beautiful Scenes

CITY FALL — Take a pleasant October afternoon with the temperature pushing 70. Push aside any cares you might have whether you're 16 or 60, and take a slow stroll down a leaf cluttered city sidewalk. Shuffling through the colorful and crisp fallings like the youngster in this picture makes you ask, "Why can't every day of the year be just like today." Fall offers many vivid sights in the city which poets have sought to describe. But nothing is so impressive as a first-hand experience.

COUNTRY AUTUMN — Oakland County is attracting many weekend sightseers who are cruising over back county roads looking at the breath-taking and artistic sights that fall brings to the country. Our photographer caught this glimpse of several bright orange pumpkins surrounding cornstalks and awaiting the youngsters for Halloween. "Mention a color and the trees and fields in the country offers it and others, during these lovely fall afternoons," a passerby exclaimed.

Sold U.S. Secrets After Soviet Party

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. Army master sergeant has testified that he betrayed his country and turned informer for the Russians after a wild Moscow hotel party with two Russian girls.

A grin flickering across his angular features from time to time and speaking with a lisp, Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes, 40, testified in Brooklyn Federal District Court yesterday that he was paid for giving information to Soviet nationals in 1952.

Rhodes was testifying as a witness for the government in the espionage trial of Col. Rudolf I. Abel, 55, alleged master spy for the Soviet Union in the United States.

"The information you gave them —was it truthful or untruthful?" Rhodes was asked.

"Some of both, sir," replied the veteran of 15 years in uniform.

The Oklahoma-born soldier told Judge Mortimer W. Byers and a jury of nine men and three women that he had received the equivalent of $2,500 to $3,000 in rubles for giving the Russians information about himself, his earlier training in code work and about the habits of military and State Department personnel assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

KNEW CODE

Rhodes said he arrived in Moscow June 22, 1951, and was put in charge of the embassy garage. He had been trained, he said, in code and cipher work in the Pentagon.

The sergeant traced his covert activities in Moscow to a drinking bout in December 1951. He said he was celebrating news that his wife and daughter had received permission from Soviet authorities to join him.

After a night's revelry with his two Russian mechanics and two Russian girls, he said, he woke up the next morning in bed with one of the girls in a strange room.

"Five or ten weeks later," he said, the same girl called him at the garage and he arranged to meet her.

He said they met two men in the street, one the girl's brother, the other an English-speaking Russian introduced to him a Bob Day or Bob Smith.

Rhodes testified that he never saw the girl again after that day but met the English-speaking Russian several times.

"Usually," the witness said, "he was alone but not always. At one meeting a uniformed man was there."

Rhodes gave no indication under direct examination that he knew Abel or had any dealings with him.

Abel faces a possible death sentence if he is convicted. He is accused of stealing American military and atomic data while posing for nine years as a Brooklyn artist.

James B. Donovan, chief counsel for Abel, asked the court to have Rhodes' testimony stricken from the record.

'Student Prince' Gets No Time Off to Greet Parents

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip arrived back in England today from their triumphant visit to the United States and Canada.

The American-built DC7C that carried them from New York landed at London airport at 4:02 p.m.

Princess Anne, their 7-year-old daughter, was at the airport to welcome them as was Prime Minister Macmillan.

Missing from the group which was at London airport to greet the royal couple was Prince Charles, who couldn't get the day off from his grammar school studies at Cheam, and Princess Margaret, who had to attend an official engagement arranged months ago.

In New York, the Port of New York Authority was smarting with embarrassment today. It was literally "caught short."

The red carpet laid out for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip to tread over their last 350 feet in the U.S.— from the air terminal to their waiting airship—reached only half-way.

"Somebody goofed," one official commented.

The Queen will be able to relax from some of her official duties for the next two weeks. During that time she has no major engagements scheduled.

Traffic Accident Kills Detroiter, Also Injures 5

Shotgun Pellet in Eye Blinds Rochester Man in Group Near Bay City

Nine area hunters were wounded, including a Rochester man blinded in one eye, and a Detroit hunter was killed in a traffic accident near Lapeer as the small game season opened in Michigan yesterday.

Altogether, at least 32 persons suffered from gunshot wounds and four others were stricken by heart attacks as the first of an anticipated 600,000 hunters took to the field.

The Rochester man, Harold Atkinson, 20, of 309 Woodward St. was in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital. He lost the sight of his left eye.

★ ★ ★

Killed in the auto crash at M21 and Lake Pleasant road, six miles east of Lapeer, was Joseph Kuczera, 42, of 3538 Farnworth St.

Five other persons were injured, including the other driver, Leonard Martinson, 49, his son, Wayne Martinson, 18, both of 8313 Cooley Lake Rd., Waterford Township, and their passenger, Elmer Williamson, 49, of 3890 Mapleleaf Rd., Waterford Township.

Other area hunters injured:

Clifford Godfrey, 25, of 283½ S. Jessie St., struck in the face by pellets near Elkton in Huron County;

Edward Cadwallader, 43, of 1402 Hiler, wounded in the face near Elkton;

★ ★ ★

Another hunter, identified as Raymond Clemants, 43, of Pontiac, struck in the face by pellets near Cass City;

Harry Yeager, 35, of 21805 W. 14 Mile Rd., Southfield Township, wounded in the head and back near Filion in Huron County;

Jack Klarr, 35, of 1444 Chesterfield Ave., Birmingham, wounded in the head near Pigeon;

Robert Hein, 14, of 8110 Woodside Dr., Clarkston, wounded in the left leg near home;

Charles H. Layman, 67, of 5468 Hurd St., Oxford, struck in the face, neck and chest by pellets near Flint; and Arthur N. Antosick, 27, of Madison Heights, wounded in Sterling Township of Macomb County.

★ ★ ★

Atkinson was hunting pheasant with a group of friends near Bay City yesterday afternoon when struck in the eye by a shotgun pellet.

Doctors said they may have to remove the eye in order to take out the pellet if infection sets in. The right eye was not injured, they said.

Atkinson, a truck driver for a Rochester gravel company, is married and has a two-months old daughter.

The traffic accident occurred at 9 p.m. as Kuczera, heading south on Lake Pleasant, reportedly entered M21 without stopping. Kuczera was returning home from hunting with Joseph Renusch, 45, of 22845 Roxana St., Detroit, and Stanley Stostiak, 64, of 5512 Camden St., Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Renusch suffered chest and back injuries; Stostiak, a broken pelvis, broken legs and rib and back injuries. Both men are in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Flint.

Martinson, suffering head lacerations, a broken jaw and chest injuries, also was admitted at St. Joseph's.

Williamson and Martinson's son were treated at Lapeer County Hospital for minor injuries.

The Clarkston youth, Robert Hein, was hunting with several friends yesterday morning off of Allen road, north of Clarkston.

He was struck in the leg by a blast from a 12 gauge shotgun which went off accidentally, Sheriff's Deputies said, as it was being held toward the ground by one of the friends, Jerry Hennig, 15, of 8180 Allen Rd.

UF Volunteers Start Training

Pontiac Motor Provides Breakfast for Solicitors to Learn Approach

The annual pre-campaign Pontiac Area United Fund volunteer solicitor training sessions began this morning in the Waldron Hotel.

Richard Fell, campaign training chairman, is conducting this year's six sessions. The important role of the individual solicitor is being stressed at the breakfast sessions, which are sponsored this year by the Pontiac Motor Division.

Three groups of the large 500 member volunteer Commercial Division were included at this morning's session. They are the Retail 1 and 2 groups and the Finance Group headed by Edward Maier, group captain.

★ ★ ★

The Commercial Division, under the chairmanship of Carroll Osmun, will seek to raise $164,280 toward the United Fund's goal of $612,000 during the three week campaign beginning Nov. 4.

The money collected during the drive will serve as the life blood for the continued existence of the 55 UF health, welfare, recreational, counseling and character building agencies.

Additional sessions are scheduled for other groups on Wednesday morning and afternoon, Thursday morning, Friday morning and next Monday afternoon, Oct. 28.

INGRID BERGMAN

Ingrid, Rossellini Together in Paris in Happy Reunion

PARIS (INS) — Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini are spending their first day together since December, when the Italian movie producer flew to India and a rumored romance with another woman.

He arrived in Paris yesterday and found his beautiful wife waiting at the airport with open arms and eager lips.

★ ★ ★

Rossellini told newsmen not to call this a reconciliation, "It is only a happy reunion. There never has been any misunderstanding between us."

He dismissed rumors of a romance with Sonali Das Gupta, said he didn't know if she was in Paris as reported a couple of weeks ago and insisted he had no plans to see her.

Asked why he did not meet Ingrid for their scheduled family vacation in Italy last summer, Rossellini answered:

"I was working."

★ ★ ★

He said he would have to return to India soon to complete the films he is making for the Indian government and that he would go to Rome tomorrow.

Ingrid will remain in Paris until the play in which she is starring completes its run Oct. 30.

Pontiac Woman Killed in Crash

Mrs. Rebecca Jacobson Dies Following Accident in Bloomfield Hills

A Pontiac woman, Mrs. Rebecca Jacobson, 59, 453 West Iroquois Rd., was Bloomfield Hills' first traffic fatality of 1957 this morning.

Mrs. Jacobson was injured about 11:30 last night, when the car driven by her husband Joseph S., left the highway and hit a tree in the Woodward avenue parkway just south of Long Lake road.

Police said Jacobson apparently had fallen asleep at the wheel.

Mrs. Jacobson was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where she died at about 4:45 a.m. today.

Jacobson suffered lacerations to the right knee.

Denies Girard Intended to Kill

Presiding Trial Judge Makes Announcement After GI Testifies

MAEBASHI, Japan (INS) — The presiding judge in the Japanese manslaughter trial of GI William S. Girard announced today that the court does not feel Girard intended to hit anybody when the soldier fired a shot that killed a Japanese woman on a U. S. firing range.

Judge Yuzo Kawachi made the announcement from the bench of the three-man Maebashi District Court after Girard underwent lengthy examination by his own Japanese attorney and by the court itself.

Judge Kawachi announced:

"The court does not feel you fired with the intention of hitting anybody."

Girard, testifying in his own defense in the final stage of the two-month-old trial, said that was right.

Kawachi's statement seemed a gain for the defense. But under Japanese law the three-judge court could still convict the soldier of the charge of inflicting bodily injury causing death if it decided he knew the power of his weapon and the danger of firing the way he did.

Sees Flu Infecting 30 Million More

DETROIT (INS) — The U. S. surgeon general predicted today more than 30 million additional Americans will contract Asian flu before it runs its course next spring.

Dr. Leroy E. Burney told a news conference at the Detroit Athletic Club:

"We have had two million cases so far. There is a real probability of a much wider attack.

"However, we see no evidence that it will become more serious. We expect it to continue as a mild disease with a minimum death rate."

Resume Arguments on Hoffa Taking Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys resume their arguments today on whether a federal district judge should further ban James R. Hoffa from taking over the Teamsters Union presidency.

Judge F. Dickinson Letts is due to rule, probably today, on whether to issue an injunction against Hoffa and whether to tie up the funds of the giant union and place it in the hands of court-appointed receivers.

The injunction, if one is issued, would replace a temporary restraining order which now bars Hoffa from taking over the union helm.

The delay was sought on grounds Hoffa was elected by a Teamsters convention dominated by delegates handpicked to rig the elections.

The case challenging Hoffa's election and the entire Teamsters convention proceedings was brought by a group of rank-and-file Teamsters members from New York. Their attorney Godfrey P. Schmidt told Letts there "never was a group of more complacent 'yeah-men' ever gathered together anywhere."

★ ★ ★

Schmidt said well over 600 of the convention's total 1,754 delegates were improperly qualified as delegates under the union's own constitutional rules.

He said the union overlooked constitutional requirements that delegates should have been elected after June 3 and at least 30 days in advance of the start of the convention.

In one instance, Schmidt said, a delegate was elected after the convention was held.

★ ★ ★

Martin O'Donoghue, Teamsters counsel, disputed Schmidt's claims and offered an affidavit from John F. English, Teamsters secretary-treasurer, saying the latest union convention was held the way the Teamsters have held their conventions down through the years.

Hunters Favored by Weatherman

Hunters are favored by the weatherman for the next few days. The predicted light showers will be ideal for all types of hunting, both bird and small animals.

★ ★ ★

For the Pontiac vicinity, the U.S. Weather Bureau has predicted occasional showers tonight. The low will be a mild 52.

Tomorrow occasional rain is expected and continued mild temperatures. The high will be 64.

On Thursday, the outlook is cloudy with scattered showers and turning colder.

★ ★ ★

Snow is expected tonight and tomorrow, but only in the Upper Peninsula.

In downtown Pontiac, the lowest recorded temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 48. By 2 p.m., the mercury had risen to 60.

Health Is Subject of Ike's Speech on Radio Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will discuss America's health and medical needs in a nationwide radio address tonight from New York.

★ ★ ★

The President will be the principal speaker at a Waldorf-Astoria Hotel dinner honoring Afred P. Sloan Jr., philanthropist and honorary board chairman of General Motors Corp.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will fly to New York in midafternoon and go directly to the Waldorf-Astoria.

At tonight's dinner Sloan will receive the Frank H. Leahy Memorial Award presented annually for distinguished service to medical education by a layman.

The award is sponsored by the National Fund for Medical Education, which is giving the dinner, and by the American Medical Assn. and the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Eisenhower's speech will be broadcast at 9:05 p.m., EST, by all major networks. There will be no television.

Frank Lloyd Wright Fires Upon Detroit

DETROIT (INS) — Architect Frank Lloyd Wright, 88, has called Detroit's $30 million City-County Building a "'rat trap" and took a poke at the auto industry yesterday.

Wright, in Detroit to deliver a Town Hall address, said the City-County Building is "a squirrel cage of steel frames."

Mayor Louis C. Miriani, when told of Wright's remarks, had some comments of his own about a house the famed architect is building in Detroit.

"I think it's a lousy looking house," the mayor said. "I wouldn't pay a dime for it.

"What a rat trap that is. It's a disgrace to the community. It looks like an electric company substation."

Turning his fire on cars, Wright declared:

"These ferry boats on the streets go growling at you for no good reason. There is nothing mobile about them but the engine and wheels."

He accused the auto industry of giving the American people designs contrary to nature.

Prepared to Stay

DETROIT (INS) — "Come prepared to stay" is William E. Hamilton's motto. The 28-year-old Detroit man surrendered to police for passing $700 in rubber checks. Once inside his cell he unloaded a supply of cigarettes, candy and chewing gum. He stretched out on his bunk and started reading a paperback detective novel and munched on a chocolate bar.

Records Scrapped

DETROIT (INS) — Three tons of old Wayne County records dating back to the 1700's were disposed of as waste paper today after being placed on microfilm in the registrar of Deeds office. The Michigan Historical Society sorted and retained what historic items it wanted.

Macmillan Due Tomorrow for Crucial Talks With Ike

NEW YORK (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrives here from London tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

He will start three days of crucial talks with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd in Washington.

★ ★ ★

President Eisenhower meets today with Dulles to discuss moves for countering Russia's scientific advances and her diplomatic steps in the Middle East.

Eisenhower was reported thinking in terms of a North Atlantic scientific pool as a step to mobilize the free world's scientific know-how and resources.

Macmillan was understood to be aiming for a far more sweeping partnership under which British and American scientists would divide up scientific tasks in the modern weapons and missiles fields.

★ ★ ★

A major obstacle to greater American-British cooperation in the scientific field is the American Congress. U.S. atomic energy legislation is highly restrictive.

★ ★ ★

Congress has been adamant against changing it, although President Eisenhower is anxious to share more scientific secrets with the British.

But a Congress responsive to the voting public can be counted on to assess carefully the people's mood.

Queen Elizabeth Hailed as Smash Hit on Broadway

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — Elizabeth, the queen, wowed them on Broadway yesterday.

Playing a one-day engagement, the beautiful British monarch and her leading man, the Prince Philip, glided from the Battery to the City Hall in a gay and theatrical blizzard of confetti, ticker-tape and tons of shredded telephone books.

SRO CROWD

She was a bigger hit than "My Fair Lady" and played to a standing room crowd of about a million happily cheering, waving, pointing New Yorkers. It was by far "the mostest" day of her backbreaking 10-day voyage through the New World.

Elizabeth summed it up in a word which may never have been said before by herself or ten centuries of royal predecessors. Elizabeth, coming on the last glittering stage of her tour, exclaimed:

"Wheee!"

★ ★ ★

She could say that again, and may have, during the next 15 crowded hours. These included Mayor Robert F. Wagner's luncheon at the Waldorf for 1,700, a kind of curtain-call speech at U. N., a zip to the top of the Empire State Building, a splendid formal dinner tendered by The Pilgrims and The English Speaking Union, and a dressy ball for 5,000 conducted by the Associated Commonwealth Societies. Then to Idlewild International Airport just after midnight, and her waiting plane.

PERFORMANCE GRAND

The Queen's grandest performance and biggest audience since her coronation in 1953 began a bit after ten o'clock this bright sunny morning when she stepped from the scrubbed and polished observation platform of the private car of the president of the B. and O. railroad and daintily put her foot down on the first stretch of carpet probably ever laid in Stapleton, Staten Island.

This was the wing of the great stage that awaited her across the harbor. Her old friend Gov. Averell Harriman, whom she met as a teenage princess when he served in London during World War II, greeted her with affection. Mrs. Harriman curtsied competently, and pressed a slab of white roses upon her. They matched the mink collar of the queen's burnt-almond outfit.

With Philip, spruced and shiny, walking the traditional three steps behind her, the queen moved down the inevitable line of people chosen to shake her hand. She was none the worse for the wear and tear of her four-day Washington visit and the all-night train trip from the capital.

ENCHANTED BY TRIP

The trip across the buoyantly busy bay enchanted Her Majesty. It was made aboard an army diesel-electric ferryboat, the Lt. Samuel S. Coursen, done up for the occasion with a plastic windbreak to shield the Queen from gusty winds, and a gleaming silver tea and coffee service set in the lounge. Elizabeth took a spot of tea prepared by trim Wacs.

The most familiar skyline on earth, the great broken teeth of lower Broadway, was more of a suggestion than a reality as the ferry sloshed for Manhattan.

The day was bright enough, but still there was the hint of a mist to delay, for a time, a sight she had been longing to see for many years. When Elizabeth was in New York six years ago the whole area was wrapped in fog as impenetrable as the lobster bisque she's been getting with virtually every meal.

PLENTY TO SEE

But there was plenty to see before the skyline revealed itself. Passing ferries and craft of all kinds sounded their A's in all octaves. Two matronly blimps wallowed overhead. Police department helicopters chattered about in their grotesque flight.

A band boomed on an accompanying tug. Two fireboats concealed their homely lines by turning themselves into fountains as beautiful as white willows.

Another queen—Liberty—wearing a cloak of oxidized green, looked down with quiet dignity on Elizabeth, the torch still held high. Near the little island on which sits the land's most famed statue, the replica of the Mayflower bobbed like a cork.

CURTAIN DRAWN

Now it was as if a gauzy curtain had been drawn from the skyline, and it stood there in all its shocking boldness, the sight that wrung the "Wheee!" The guns of Governor's Island coughed 21 times. The Queen's barge nuzzled and scraped into a rough-hewn berth whose burly upright piles, capped by Union Jacks, looked like a line of tough Marines wearing hats by Lilly Dache.

The people were there. They had been there, along the Battery, since early morning. Two blocks up the city's best-known street, where the skyscrapers yield Broadway to the sun only at high noon, bouquets of pretty stenogs filled nearly every window that reached for the sky.

Under the bubble of the President's car, Elizabeth looked like a dish she might be served later.

The sight of her touched off twin cataracts of tape and tinsel as the car headed slowly up a street that soon would look like the floor of a nightclub on New Year's Eve.

She delighted the people and they were open in their enthusiasm. The sensation of being able to look up through the dome of her car and yet be protected from the giant coils and tinted bits of paper that fell toward her was an experience the queen had never known. She was as pleased as a schoolgirl.

Philip, riding with Mrs. Harriman in another plastic top car, was just as well greeted, if not more so in the case of the younger women and girls.

"She's a doll," a man said of Elizabeth.

"You mean HE'S a doll," a lady corrected.

★ ★ ★

If there was a dissenter, he was a brave one. On a high and bare girder of a building now under construction, someone had chalked:

"Free Ireland!"

The relentlessly punctual Elizabeth was 42 minutes late arriving for the mayor's luncheon, where former President Herbert Hoover was on her left. The governors of New Jersey and Connecticut and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt also were in the throng, as was the U.N.'s Dag Hammarskjold.

Elizabeth responded with feeling to Mayor Wagner's formal speech of welcome and the gift of a medal and scroll. She called New York "fabulous" and "exhilarating" and "dynamic," toasted the health of the President and concluded "it is impossible after a journey such as this not to be impressed by the enormous fund of good will which exists between us and which I pray may long continue."

The Queen was given a three-minute standing ovation at the finish. It was a sound that would echo and re-echo until the engines of her plane drowned it out in the small hours of Tuesday.

NEW SAFETY PATH — Children attending the William Beaumont elementary school in Waterford Township, are using a new path for the first time. Parents with the help of Waterford Township officials have made the path, which is 20 feet from dangerously traveled Elizabeth Lake road.

The Circle Players, an amateur dramatic group under the direction of Robert Morse, plan and develop their entire shows, including lighting, costumes, stage props, makeup and publicity.

Past shows include "Lo and Behold," "The Curse of An Aching Heart," "Twilight Walk," "The Curious Savage," "The Male Animal," "Suds in Your Eye," and "The Silver Whistle."

Nephritis Victim Ends Gallant Fight for Life

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—A gallant struggle for life ended quietly last night for Tommy Cooper, 24. He died of nephritis, last of many serious ailments he suffered.

A diabetic from childhood and later victim of a heart attack, Cooper went blind in 1951. Despite this handicap he managed to graduate from high school in 1952 and became an Eagle Scout a year later. His father, B. O. Cooper, is chief of police at Stamford, Tex.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Is there varying weather at great altitudes, such as that attained by the Russian satellite?

No, all our weather occurs in a thin strip of the atmosphere nearest the surface of the earth known as the troposphere. Above the troposphere is the stratosphere, which extends upwards and blends into the ionosphere—which reaches up to about 250 miles.

The troposphere, in which all weather occurs, extends only to about 40,000 feet about the surface of the earth. Above this altitude, or slightly higher near the equator, there is no weather, no clouds, and the temperature is close to constant.

The temperature in outer space is -459 degrees F. Airliners, by flying "above the weather" in the stratosphere, can be assured of smooth flight.

Huron Gardens Water Rates Up

Waterford Board Acts on $17,000 Increase for Subdivision

A total increase of $17,000 in water rates for the Huron Gardens subdivision No. 1 was approved by the Waterford Township board at last night's meeting.

Starting period for the increase to the 2,200 users will be Nov. 1 and will be payable Feb. 1. Payments may be made quarterly, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

The rate to individual homeowners was hiked from $3 to $4.50 per 1,500 cubic feet. "This increase is still lower than most of the surrounding areas," Seeterlin said.

★ ★ ★

Other business of the board was the approval of the Jayno Heights subdivision plat No. 2 on Walton Boulevard.

Board members plan to tour the Holiday Farms development on M59 near Airport road sometime this week before giving full approval for the recommended plat.

A building permit fee for the new crippled children's home on Telegraph road was waived by board members.

★ ★ ★

A plumber's bond for the F. J. Temple Company, of Pontiac, was approved along with a fireworks permit for Waterford Township High School to be used Friday for the homecoming celebration.

A public auction permit was granted to Ernest Lendler to hold a modern furniture sale at 932 Huron St. Thursday through Sunday.

Mayor Under Fire Backed by Council

MT. CLEMENS (AP) — The City Council of nearby St. Clair Shores gave a unanimous 5-0 vote of confidence last night to Mayor Thomas S. Welsh, whose removal has been recommended by a one-man grand jury.

The council voted confidence in Welsh's "integrity and ability" and expressed a "desire that he continue to serve in the office to which he was elected by the people of this community."

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge Timothy Quinn of Caro, acting as a one-man grand jury investigating governmental affairs in St. Clair Shores, recommended to Gov. Williams last week that Welsh be removed from office for allegedly accepting $20,925 in improper payments from builders.

More than 300 supporters and well-wishers of the mayor attended the council meeting. Welsh abstained from voting. So did a political foe, Councilman Harold Blackwell.

Welsh, a real estate broker and mayor since 1952, has denied any wrongdoing. He labeled two of Judge Quinn's eight charges false and said the others involved legitimate real estate fees and were not payments extracted from builders under threat or promise.

St. Joseph Employes Aid Building Fund

The employes of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are participating in the hospital's expansion program with a fund raising project running through Oct. 31. Its motto is "An Hour a Day to Get On Our Way."

A kick-off breakfast was held Monday for 10 team leaders and other solicitors in the drive.

Meanwhile, the first step in the expansion, the new powerhouse and laundry building, is progressing steadily, hospital officials say.

One group of Waterford Township residents has taken the first step in solving the problem of safety for their children walking to school.

★ ★ ★

Parents in the William Beaumont elementary school area have combined resources with township officials and are in the process of constructing a walking path off the pavement, almost one mile long.

The four-foot wide path winds through woods and over swamps on the north side of Elizabeth Lake Rd., 20 feet from the pavement.

After several meetings with supervisor Elmer Johnson, residents in the area were sparked into action by Al Means and Earl Mitchell, who started a fund raising campaign to have the path made.

★ ★ ★

Detroit owners of most of the property, gave their consent for the path to be made on their property, and a bulldozer was hired with money collected from residents.

DADS CLEAR PATH

Work got under way early Saturday morning, when twenty fathers began the job of clearing the land of heavy timber, leveling the fill dirt, and spreading the sand and gravel supplied by the township.

★ ★ ★

Women in the area furnished hot lunches and coffee as the men prepared the land for their children's safety.

At first, the group planned only to go as far west as Hospital road, however, other parents became interested, and the path-plans have been extended to the end of a one-mile stretch.

Since the project began, many other residents have become interested in the outcome, as the same condition exists throughout the entire township, according to Johnson.

★ ★ ★

The problem of keeping the snow off the path in the winter has been solved by the Sluiter brothers, Al and Walter. They own a tractor with a blade attachment and plan on scraping the path whenever it becomes necessary.

Injunction Is Denied in Bowling Alley Suit

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard yesterday denied in Detroit a temporary injunction against seven Pontiac bowling alley owners accused of discriminating against members of a Negro bowling league.

After a two-hour hearing, Judge Picard ruled there was insufficient evidence presented in behalf of the league and six of its members, who brought the suit.

The members charged the alley owners limited the times at which they could bowl, assigned them wall alleys and faulty equipment.

Pontiac attorney Milton R. Henry said he would continue the suit until trial. The six plaintiffs each seek $1,000 damages.

For Beautiful Approach

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission says the $600,000 beauty treatment for 15 miles of approaches to the Baltimore harbor tunnel will make motorists think they're in a public park. The SRC said the trees and shrubs also will cut down on headlight glare, screen unsightly views, help stabilize the slopes and even reduce traffic noise.

May Curtail Research

DETROIT (AP) — Officials at two Michigan Universities say government cutbacks may seriously affect scientific research at their schools. The government spending slashes at the University of Michigan and at Wayne State University reportedly were ordered last month, shortly before launching of the Russian earth satellite was announced.

AFL-CIO Merger Still Deadlocked

Oakland Area Councils Have Dec. 5 Deadline to Consolidate

The deadlock in Oakland County of CIO and AFL labor groups regarding a Dec. 5 deadline to merge, will prevent delegates from attending the AFL-CIO national convention, a CIO spokesman said today.

★ ★ ★

"We, the CIO and the AFL, are both aware that we will not be issued credentials to the convention if we don't meet the deadline," Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County CIO Council declared.

He said it was still his opinion, as he expressed earlier this month, that no progress is being made toward the merger here. No future merger talks have been scheduled, he added.

★ ★ ★

Haggard hinted earlier that the AFL Teamsters union was blocking the merger by putting a "brick wall" between the two unions.

The parent AFL-CIO has set Dec. 5 as the deadline on both state and county levels for the merger. On that same day, the convention in Atlantic City will begin.

★ ★ ★

Similar merger talks in Wayne County are reported deadlocked also.

In 30 states the AFL and CIO organizations have already accomplished their joint pacts.

Files Suit for Divorce

DETROIT (AP) — Ross R. Roy, president of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, has filed a Circuit Court suit for divorce from his wife Mary. Mrs. Ross began a counter action, also requesting a divorce. No reasons were given.

Offer Free Classes in Part-Time Selling

The Retail Merchants Assn. of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce have announced plans for a three-day course to instruct part-time workers who will be seeking jobs in Pontiac stores during the Christmas season.

In cooperation with the Business Education Dept. of Pontiac High School, night classes will be held Oct. 29, 30, and 31 at the school for two hours each night.

★ ★ ★

The classes will be conducted by Ralph W. Rotsel and will be aimed at improving selling techniques of the extra sales persons.

William L. Belaney, assistant Chamber manager, said several applications have already been made for the classes which will be free and open to the public.

Absentee Ballots Now Available

Deadline 2 P. M. Saturday

Pontiac City Clerk Ada R. Evans today reminded city voters who will be unable to go to the polls in Monday's special hospital bond election, that the deadline for absentee ballots is Saturday at 2 p.m.

They will be made available at the clerk's office in the City Hall daily from 8 a.m. to 5 and Saturday from 8 until 2.

At the same time, Mrs. Evans pointed out that the election on the $950,000 general obligation bond issue will be limited to property owners by reason of a state law which says only such persons can decide whether a municipality can issue these bonds.

To date the clerk's office has issued 17 absentee ballots, Mrs. Evans said.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Rejects Idea of Further Paving on Oak

BIRMINGHAM—"We are sorry," commissioners said last night, as they rejected the proposal of surfacing Oak street between Lakeview drive and Lake Park.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Florence Willett had suggested that, since work was being done west of Lake Park on Oak street, this area might be included.

She pointed out that the extreme roughness of the road, plus the narrow bridge, created an especially bad traffic hazard.

Commissioners rejected the idea as "impractical" at this time. They foresee the necessity of widening the bridge and installing permanent pavement for the strip. Doing the work now would, in their opinion, be wasted money.

No action was taken on the request of Baldwin Library Board for a considerable changing of the landscaping there.

Commissioners called for further study, based on the idea that the library landscaping should wait until it is decided whether or not the building will be enlarged.

It also was suggested that the general landscaping design might be planned to coincide with the new program in front of the city hall, a block away.

A Birmingham man, Jack Klarr, 35, of 1444 Chesterfield Rd., received minor head wounds yesterday while hunting in Pigeon (Mich.).

Dr. Earl R. Rice

A former pastor of the Birmingham Methodist Church, Dr. Earl R. Rice, 83, collapsed Sunday after teaching a Sunday School class in Banning, Calif.

He died there on Monday.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Rice served in the Birmingham area for many years, including churches in Ferndale and Detroit.

Surviving are four sons, Dr. Harold B. Rice of Detroit, Dr. Robert B. Rice, San Bernardino, Calif., William E., of Buchanan and Richard M. of Redondo Beach, Calif., and a daughter, Mrs. Rachel Andresen of South Lyon.

Service will be tomorrow in Banning.

Detroiter Admits Beating Woman

Man, 29, Confesses to Entering Carmel Hall, Slugging Aged Resident

DETROIT (AP) — Assistant Prosecutor E. Newell DeGurse said today that Peter A. Grant, 29, of Detroit had admitted beating a 65-year-old woman in a downtown Catholic home for the aged Sunday.

DeGurse said Grant told him he had been drinking heavily when he somehow got into the building, then quoted Grant as saying:

"I walked up several flights and then down a hall where I found an open door. I went into the room and started rummaging around on the dresser for something of value when a woman screamed from the bed. I hit her twice; then ran."

Police found Grant sleeping in another room in the home, Carmel Hall.

The woman, Mrs. Mary Alice Von Mack, is recovering from a fractured jaw and shock.

Still unsolved is the Saturday night attack upon Robert Murray, 60, and his wife, Margaret, 61, in their Detroit home. Both were viciously beaten by an intruder.

Mrs. Murray suffered a depressed skull fracture and her husband a basal skull fracture.

Reject Merger Plan

MT. CLEMENS (AP) — Voters in Clinton Township Monday rejected a proposal which would have merged the township with Mt. Clemens. The vote was 4,125 against to 974 for Mt. Clemens voters approved the merger 1,651-407. The merger would have made Mt. Clemens Michigan's fourth largest city in area.

Coleman Comfortable Following Heart Attack

DETROIT (AP)—John S. Coleman, president of Burroughs Corp. and a former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, was reported in excellent condition in Grace Hospital here today after being stricken with a heart attack.

★ ★ ★

The 60-year-old nationally known industrialist suffered the attack yesterday.

Dr. Walter W. Hassign, his physician said:

"Mr. Coleman has been very comfortable since the attack and has not required medication. The prognosis (outlook) is excellent."

Coleman was among 15 Americans honored by Queen Elizabeth II in ceremonies at the British Embassy in Washington where the monarch was visiting Saturday.

He was appointed an Honorary Knight Commander of the Civil Division of the Order of the British Empire.

September Storms Cost Texas $6½ Million

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — September storms caused $6,572,700 damage in Texas, the state defense and disaster relief headquarters said yesterday.

Heavy rains in the southeast Gulf coast area caused some two million dollars damage, including loss of much of the region's rice crop.

One tornado touched ground during the month, the report said, causing $7,000 damage. Most of the other storm damage occurred in west Texas.

Elect Adenauer as Chancellor

Bundestag Selection of 81-Year-Old Leader Foregone Conclusion

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's Bundestag today elected Konrad Adenauer to his third four-year term as chancellor.

The 81-year-old statesman from Cologne won the post when the Bonn republic came into being in 1949 and never has lost it.

The vote was 274-192 with 9 abstentions.

Election of Adenauer was a foregone conclusion after his Christian Democratic Union gained an absolute majority of the 497 voting seats in the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament.

No other names were placed in nomination. President Theodor Heuss formally had nominated Adenauer and the Bundestag voted on the single candidate.

Adenauer had to postpone indefinitely the presentation of his new Cabinet to the Bundestag. It was originally scheduled for tomorrow, but Adenauer told his Christian Democratic party that the list was not complete.

The Chancellor complained of the numerous interest groups pressuring him for their candidates for Cabinet jobs. He felt attempts were being made to tie him hand and foot, he said.

Junior Editors Quiz on POPCORN

QUESTION: What makes popcorn pop?

ANSWER: Popcorn is a variety of field corn. The Indians had it before white men got here. The plants are small and so are the ears. The kernels have a very hard covering and contain a large amount of starch and a very moist central germ.

When properly dried and then subjected to great heat, the moisture in the germ is turned to steam. The steam softens the starchy part of the kernel and presses against the hard covering. This pressure finally becomes so great that the kernel pops and turns inside out, with the starch expanding into the soft, white substance that taste so good.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Get your mother to let you buy some popcorn at the store and pop it in a covered skillet or popcorn popper.

Roberts' Heart Stops Beating

Prepared for Surgery, Man Dies; Massage Restores Life—Now OK

DETROIT (AP)—Clarence Roberts' heart stopped beating for two minutes after he was put under anaesthetic for surgery on a serious stomach ulcer.

Dr. Ray Stoller, staff surgeon, described yesterday how the 52-year-old patient was revived last Thursday.

"We were preparing him for surgery in the operating room when he died suddenly," the surgeon said. "I made an incision and within two minutes started massaging the heart. He came back just fine. I worked on the heart at first for five or 10 minutes. It seemed like an hour and my muscles started tightening up.

"Then we watched him closely for about an hour and a half. Every few minutes we checked his heart. It was nip and tuck for about 24 hours, but now he is coming along so well he only wants more food."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Stoller said Roberts and his family knew the operation was a poor risk because he had lost so much blood. The ulcer operation has been postponed.

THE BERRYS

By Carl Grubert

Known for Grace and Grit

Macmillan Firm in Beliefs

By International News

With the outward grace and manner of an Edwardian dandy, Harold Macmillan has proved time and again he possesses the guts and grit of a tough cockney street-fighter.

★ ★ ★

And the British Prime Minister, who will visit President Eisenhower next week, has had plenty of opportunity to show his stuff since the Queen personally chose him to take over the reins of government last January.

Left with the enormous tangle of the Suez crisis, faced with a perilous economic situation and a possible breakdown in Anglo-American relations, Macmillan's walrus mustache and aristocratic gentility never once got in the way of his strong determination.

Now threatened by the growing unpopularity of his Conservative party, the loss of by-elections and continued economic problems, he still stands like Gibraltar on what he believes to be the right way.

BATTLE-TESTED

The son of an Indiana woman, Macmillan displayed his inner toughness more than 40 years ago on the battlefields of France, when, wounded three times, he lay all night in No-Man's Land reading Horace until he was rescued.

★ ★ ★

With the soul of a rebel which contradicts his long-time "conservative" label and demeanor, Macmillan went on to chisel out a brilliant career in politics as well as a career in his family's publishing firm.

Macmillan fought the leadership of the Conservative party all through the turbulent '30's, at one time angrily branding it a "collection of extinct volcanoes."

Furious in 1936 at the Conservative government's refusal to move against the rising European dictators he openly criticized, Macmillan declared himself an "independent conservative."

★ ★ ★

Macmillan became friendly with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower during the war when he was assigned to a post in French North Africa, and this friendship was believed to be instrumental last March at the Bermuda conference in healing the Anglo-American rift over Suez.

BROAD EXPERIENCE

The 63-year-old Macmillan has had a broader experience in government at the top level than any Briton now active. He served as minister of housing, defense minister, foreign secretary and chancellor of the exchequer before succeeding Sir Anthony Eden as prime minister.

He was married in 1920 to Lady Dorothea Cavendish, a daughter of the ninth Duke of Devonshire, and they have three daughters and 11 grandchildren.

We Fool Ourselves Gaily About Royalty

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Well, the final results on the battle of Royalty vs. Realism are in, and the other side won.

Elizabeth won over the male cynics, and Philip slaughtered the female reserve. As the late Dr. Kinsey would have said, it figures.

It was sympathy that really put them over at the final analysis—not charm or a love of story-book legends.

★ ★ ★

The American public could have been bored by Elizabeth's porcelain skin and fabulous clothes, and it could most certainly have been unimpressed by Prince Philip's lanky frame and ready smile — but it just couldn't help feeling sorry for those poor kids.

POOR TINY QUEEN!

How many times during this tour was the remark made, "How can she go through it, day after day—such a little thing?"

And beside how many hearths was the prince's rather stiff smile interpreted as a sign of frustration: "Boy, he'd like to speak his mind just once. If he could only get away from the protocol . . . if they only give him a chance!"

★ ★ ★

In even the most blase circles, there was much speculation about what the Buckingham duet discussed upon retiring to their satin sheets of a tour evening. It was generally believed by these blase that the couple possibly used strong language regarding the strains of the day, or at least wound up the bedtime contemplations with self-pitying sighs of exhaustion and a whispered comment to the effect of "How did we get into this?"

I think it's very nice of us Americans to suffer so for the royal twosome. It shows that we are still wholesome and young and have a capacity to weep over little things that harder and less fortunate people would gibe at.

WE DELUDE OURSELVES

But I think, in this case, we were happily deluded. In imagining Elizabeth a poor little rich girl, and Philip a witty, frustrated playboy, we only pleased our own vanities and lifted our own egos.

I believe that Elizabeth was born to be a queen and loves it. Like George Jessel on a Saturday night, she would be miserable indeed not to have state dinners and full dress parades to bolster her morale and remind her that SHE MEANS something, even if only as a feminine figurehead for a nation.

From what I have overheard of Philip's conversations he would be hard put to get a laugh if he were not husband of a queen. Despite the way Americans look at it, I judge his "strained" smile is not of frustration at all but rather a sincere effort to impress those he's meeting to the fullest extent of his facial muscular ability.

★ ★ ★

As for the retiring hour, I believe the couple let down their guard, but not necessarily their hair. Liz remarks, "It was a lovely day, wasn't it? Three nice parades. Did you have a good time, dear?" Phil replies, "Awfully." That is that.

They live in a world Americans never made. It is fun visualizing that they want to run away from it all, like Audrey Hepburn would do in something by Ernst Lubitch. But it ain't necessarily so . . .

Wins Divorce at 75

OGAKI, Japan (AP)—An indignant 75-year-old woman won a divorce from her mate of 47 years. Ayano Shibuya charged her husband Ichiro with infidelity. He is 73. The judge ordered Ichiro to pay Ayano one million yen($2,777) as compensation.

Hart Lists Problems America Must Solve

LANSING (AP) — The United States must settle five major problems in the years ahead "if American democracy is to survive the Soviet challenge," Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Hart listed them in this order in a speech before the Lansing Excalibur Club:

1—Winning over the "emerging nations" of Asia and Africa to the side of democracy.

2—Speeding the end of racial segregation in this country.

"Hi, partners!"

Throughout Michigan, some 50,000 girls and boys from upper elementary and junior high school grades are performing an outstanding service in helping their schoolmates avoid street traffic accidents.

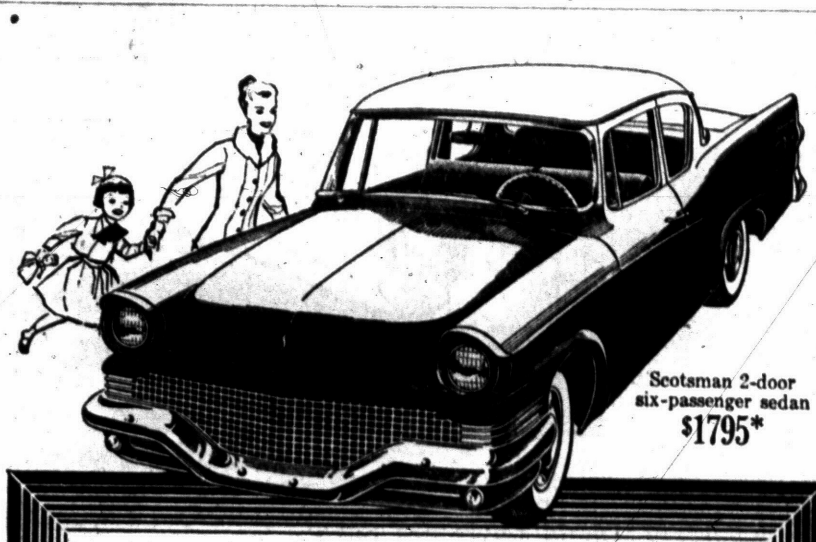

They are members of 2200 School Safety Patrols operating within the State, a public interest activity sponsored by the AAA and its affiliate, the Automobile Club of Michigan.

These Safety Patrol members must be at their posts each day at least fifteen minutes before school opens, must stay on duty after school closes until all pupils have passed their posts. Day after day, in all kinds of weather, these girls and boys serve their schoolmates and help save lives. Their loyal efforts have been a major factor in the substantial reduction of fatal accidents involving child pedestrians in the 5-14 age group over the past 15 years.

Michigan's Trucking Industry salutes these Safety Patrol members. Like them, the Industry is doing its utmost to promote safety on our streets and highways — through rigid driver training programs, careful maintenance of equipment, and educational campaigns. So, to you girls and boys in the white Sam Browne belts we say, "Hi, partners! We're with you!"

U.N. to Debate Charge of Turk Threat to Syria

Soviet Russia has talked so long and so loud about the "threat to Syria" that the U.N. General Assembly is slated to debate the question this week.

The 82 nation Assembly voted 66-0 to take up Syria's, and Russia's, complaint that Turkey threatens the Syrian border. Russia also is airing the charge that the U. S. is urging Turkey to invade Syria. President NASSER of Egypt has gotten into the act by sending troops to Syria to help repel invaders.

★ ★ ★

Moscow issued a statement that Turkey plans to attack Syria along its 180 mile northern border with the support of U. S. 6th Fleet; that Britain has consented secretly and that in case of attack Russia would go to Syria's aid. Secretary DULLES has warned that any Russian-Syria attack on Turkey would bring U. S. forces to the aid of the Turks and that Russian soil would not be a "privileged sanctuary" safe from retaliation.

★ ★ ★

This is an artificial crisis whipped up by Russia for propaganda purposes. The Turkish ambassador in Washington declared that Moscow was trying to intimidate his country "by creating a fictitious situation." He added that Turkey has assured both Syria and Russia that she has no aggressive designs against her Arab neighbors.

The Western powers welcome a full airing of the charges. U. S. Ambassador Lodge said that he hoped a discussion "would show not only the absurdity of the charges against the U. S. and Turkey but would also reveal the true source of tension in the entire area."

★ ★ ★

A meeting between President EISENHOWER and Britain's Prime Minister MACMILLAN also is scheduled for this week. KHRUSHCHEV thinks he should be invited and that only a meeting with Russian leaders can solve world issues. Could all this agitation over a supposed threat to Syria be Russian pressure for an invitation to KHRUSHCHEV to discuss settlement of Middle East affairs, thereby giving official recognition to Russia's interest in that area?

Teenage Traffic Court Success in Birmingham

Birmingham has successfully launched the first juvenile traffic court in this area. If the opening session is any indication, the court has the hearty approval of all Birmingham citizens.

★ ★ ★

Attending the first teenage traffic session was Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, who said, "I think you are doing a wonderful job." He further remarked that the success of the court depended on the teenagers themselves.

The court is operating under the direct supervision of juvenile officer Sgt. Robert Schaule, of the Birmingham Police Department. The costs of the project are being underwritten by the Birmingham Exchange Club.

★ ★ ★

According to Sgt. SCHAULE, the project is designed to increase teenage knowledge of good driving practices. If the court can accomplish this by sitting in judgment on its own contemporaries then progress has been made.

Perhaps the penalties set down by the all-teen jury will have lasting effects with the youngsters. If the jury decisions are discussed at school, which we are sure they will be, a great many students should become traffic conscious.

★ ★ ★

This constant reminder should be a big step forward in cutting down the number of traffic offenders.

★ ★ ★

The Birmingham Police Department, along with the students, is to be congratulated on inaugurating this progressive program.

IN THEIR efforts to get out of a lot of work, tailors who belong to a French organization are foolishly attempting the impossible in trying to make it stylish for men to wear suits without pockets. Most men would about as soon go naked as to wear a pocketless suit.

David Lawrence Says:

Certificate Plan to Help Education

WASHINGTON — A certificate plan of direct state educational grants to the parents of the individual child for education in schools of their own choice has been proposed by a Catholic educator, the Rev. Virgil C. Blum, assistant professor of political science at Marquette University.

LAWRENCE

While Father Blum does not in any way discuss the current controversy over segregation, his plan is plainly applicable to such disputes because it directly supports "freedom of choice" and "freedom of association" in education.

"The plan," writes Professor Blum in a magazine article, "does not violate state constitutional prohibitions against aid to denominational schools. The grant is a subsidy of the individual child to enable him, under the direction and control of his parents, to purchase his education in the market place of elementary and secondary education. In this respect the certificate plan incorporates the same constitutional principles that underlie the educational provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

"The federal government did not subsidize America's nearly 474 Protestant colleges and universities and her nearly 265 Catholic institutions of higher learning through the direct subsidization of the education of veterans. . . .

DEMOCRACY IN LEARNING

"The proposed plan applies the principles of democracy to education. No child is forced to conform to a mass pattern. Each child is individually considered, and his parents, in whom the prime responsibility for his education rests, can choose the kind of education best suited to develop their child's character and talents . . . enforced conformity creates an undifferentiated mass. Such a mass is the foundation, not of democracy, but of the totalitarian state. . . .

★ ★ ★

"For the state to demand conformity as a condition for sharing in welfare benefits is to negate the whole intent and purpose of the equal-protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment."

The Marquette University educator says, furthermore, that the plan "would ensure freedom of choice in education" and thus would reduce "the power of government over the minds of our nation's children." He adds:

SMALL GROUP RULES

"Today a relatively small group of officials are in the position to determine the political, the economic, the philosophical and the theological orientation of government schools throughout the nation."

But would such a plan be constitutional? In his article—reprinted in "U.S. News & World Report" from the October issue of "The Homiletic and Pastoral Review"—Professor Blum cites various decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States as upholding the principle of "freedom of choice" in educating the nation's children.

★ ★ ★

Incidentally, this correspondent noted the other day a case known as Meyer vs. Nebraska, decided in 1923, in which the Supreme Court of the United States said that the right of parents to educate their children according to their convictions and wishes is "within the liberty of the Fourteenth Amendment."

While this case was applicable to private schools, there was a subsequent decision, known as the Zorach Case, in 1952 in which the Supreme Court buttressed this view by applying the same principle to public schools.

SUBSIDY'S ALL RIGHT

It would appear that a government subsidy to the parents rather than to the school is within the rights of the states and that, so long as the aid is given equally to parents, irrespective of color or creed, there can be no constitutional challenge on grounds of discrimination. In fact, today private schools which require segregation get federal benefits in the form of tax exemptions.

★ ★ ★

Although Professor Blum was obviously making a plea for the relief of Catholic parents in America from the double burden of paying taxes for public schools and paying tuition for their children in parochial schools, the principles involved in his proposal could also become the answer to the difficult problem which the southern states face in dealing with the desegregation problem.

It could develop that the public schools would become the mixed schools, while the private schools would become the institutions in which the color line or the religious line is drawn.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Epilepsy, Mental Illness Happen in Every Family

A lady who is an officer of her county epilepsy Society and of the Western Institute of Epilepsy says many people who did not know she was epileptic have asked her why she was working with "these crazy people and freaks."

DR. BRADY

She wishes she had a camera at hand to catch their expressions when she reveals that she has been subject to seizures.

The lady's letter is tantalizing. She says:

"Once I realized that I was epileptic and wasn't afraid to say the word or have a seizure in public, my seizures immediately dropped 75 per cent. Where once I had eight or nine seizures a month. I began having in about one a month, without any change in treatment.

"So in order to get under complete control and thus be able to drive again, I began going to a neurologist. As a result, I haven't had a seizure in the past 11 months.

"I sincerely hope more people will take part in their local epilepsy societies, that we may show the world we aren't freaks."

It is not so long ago that persons with mental derangement or deterioration were incarcerated in "asylums" and subjected to callous neglect if not actual cruelty.

NO NEED FOR SHAME

Some intelligent people still try to conceal the fact that some member of the family is alcoholic, addicted to some other narcotic, subject to petit mal (lapse of consciousness) or grand mal (convulsions), dementia (mental deterioration), mania (exaltation), paranoia monomania systematized delusions (especially delusions of persecution) or paresis (paralytic dementia, progressive general paralysis ("softening of the brain").

Since "asylums" became hospitals, and more people have learned that proper care and treatment relieves or cures mental derangements as well as physical ailments, the old stigma has been largely replaced by sympathetic understanding and the realization that it happens in every family — today, perhaps, in yours or a neighbor's family; but tomorrow in mine, or vice versa.

So no one can be smug about it —not for long. Show me a family history of three generations without any such neurosis or psychosis, and I'll show you a false or inaccurate record.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Victim Wonders About One Who'd Steal Another's Dog

Every year around this time you hear about someone's dog getting stolen. It has just happened to me and it made me wonder what kind of a person would do it. Has he no regard for another's property or just too cheap to feed one all year?

Mine was a hunting dog, but also a friend and companion, as I work alone and often take her with me to keep me company. I try to take her out as often as possible during hunting season, but with her stolen a week before the season, it doesn't leave much to look forward to.

I've checked the dog pound and there are quite a few good looking dogs there. If people want one so bad they would steal it, you'd think they could at least pay the license and expense of shots.

Reader Defends Hospital Stand

In defense of Pontiac General Hospital's policy during the flu epidemic, I want to reply to the letter in Voice of the People Oct. 16. "The lady across the hall" was in a private room and was allowed to have her immediate family present during the day.

Hospital rules were strictly adhered to during visiting hours. The "permanent" referred to was simply a case of the daughter's feeling it her duty to arrange her mother's hair with pin curls and spray net and was not a home permanent.

Also, Mrs. Pawley's father-in-law had a room available to three patients to which visitors were necessarily restricted. With all due respect to Mrs. Pawley's complaint, I can only say that the treatment and care at General Hospital was and always has been satisfactory.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Many Fine People Are Unmarried

Marjorie is a wonderful girl with all the assets for a delightful, jolly wife. She is pretty and has a neat figure. But she turned down three marriage proposals in college because of her sense of duty. Now she is pouring her talents into school teaching. But she should be married. If any of you men are interested, read further.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-326: Marjorie M., aged 29, is the attractive school teacher whom I described last week in Case W-321.

You may recall the transformation which she produced in her classroom by using some applied psychology and also making a social call on the parents of each of her 36 pupils.

DR. CRANE

Marjorie is a brunet, 5' 4" tall, with a shapely figure and a sincere love for children.

After spending five days a week in the public school room, she also teaches a Sunday school class of girls in her local church.

She has dimples and a jolly disposition. What more could any smart man ask for in a wife, than a charming girl like Marjorie?

"Then why isn't she married?" you may logically inquire.

Well, she isn't married because she had such a high sense of loyalty to her invalided mother, that she stayed home to look after her parent.

★ ★ ★

Her father is dead. She has three older brothers, but they married and left home.

So Marjorie was left to keep the home fires burning. When she returned from college, there was nobody else who would take over.

So Marjorie got her teaching position in her home city and has faithfully carried on ever since.

Last year her mother passed on, so Marjorie chose that classroom of rowdy, incorrigible youngsters, to help divert her mind from her grief.

Meanwhile, most of the eligible men in her neighborhood have married. Marjorie was popular in high school and college. She had three proposals of marriage.

But she turned them down, partly because she realized her duty to her ailing mother came first.

So Marjorie is unmarried because of her high sense of duty and her family loyalty.

Thousands of other charming women, such as the nurses in our hospitals, plus the school teachers and private secretaries in business offices, as well as girls at factory benches and sales counters, are likewise unmarried not because they are unattractive, but because family duty made them defer getting married.

And the same is true of men who may have been left as the chief support of their widowed mother when their father died while they were in high school.

★ ★ ★

Valiantly, these school boys got jobs as newspaper carriers. They worked in stores over the weekend or ran errands.

SALUTE TO BACHELORS

They may have helped send their younger brother or sister through school. Now, maybe at the age of 30 or 35, they are able to consider marriage.

But if they live in a small community and have a farm or store, they can't take time to gallivant all over the U. S. A. looking for romance.

And the eligibles in their small village may already have married.

"Dr. Crane," they protest by the thousands, "I have gone to the Young Peoples' Meetings at our church, but they are attended by high school kids, usually 15 to 17.

★ ★ ★

"I don't wish to rob the cradle, so where can I find a girl about 25 to 35, who is suitable in background, religion and interests?"

At the present moment we have 11,000,000 eligible unmarried women past 21 years of age and almost 8,000,000 eligible unmarried men.

They would be much happier if married to a suitable partner. But society thus far has ignored this critical problem, or has tittered at the idea of a scientific marriage foundation.

But I have finally launched such a wholesome project. See tomorrow's case.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Hal Boyle Says:

Dietrich Has Glamor Without Skin Creams

NEW YORK (AP)—America today is full of glamorous grandmothers, but Marlene Dietrich, one of the most beautiful, probably has the fewest beauty secrets.

★ ★ ★

"I wash my face with soap," she admitted cheerfully, "and I don't own a jar of skin cream. Perhaps I should, but I just can't be bothered. I keep only one bottle of perfume in my house—if I have that.

She can enter a room full of celebrities, and all heads will snap her way. Whatever she had, she still has.

Glamor is her trade mark, but never has impressed her very much.

★ ★ ★

"I was brought up to be useful," she said, "and to do something useful.

"The biggest misconception about glamor is that you cannot be glamorous and also clean house, wash dishes — and do everything anyone else does."

Marlene feels that any housewife can be glamorous but remarked: "I don't know why she would want to. With me it happens to be a profession."

★ ★ ★

"What defeats most women who seek to be glamorous? In America I would say it is insecurity in their own judgment," she said.

"They become too regimented, which is strange, because we are told this is a nation of individuals.

"To feel they are well-dressed they must have the assurance of others—they must have the seal of approval to be sure they haven't made a mistake.

"But that is where they make their mistake. Their own individuality cannot come through if they follow a pattern, yet they must follow a pattern to feel secure."

★ ★ ★

Miss Dietrich says she has never had a pattern in life and doesn't yearn for one. She usually makes one picture a year now, does four weeks in Las Vegas, has no ambitions to storm the battlements of television.

"Why should I?" she asked. "I am not trying to prove anything.

"If I hadn't become an actress I think I'd like to have been a doctor—but I could have enjoyed living very well without a profession at all."

She lives simply. When she isn't working, she likes to attend concerts and Broadway openings. The rest of the time she spends reading—two to three books a week—and caring for her three young grandchildren.

"There is so much you want to do for children, and so very little you actually can do," she said. "You can watch their health and equip them with some basic ideas you believe in. You can refrain from giving them candy.

"As for the rest of it, they'll do what they want to anyway."

★ ★ ★

The things that bore her are stupidity, superficiality and people who don't know their job.

The things that please her most are imagination, efficiency and people who are good at what they do, no matter what they are doing."

She often eats only one real meal a day, doesn't care particularly what it is. She is still fond of potatoes and turnips even though "that is about all I had as a child."

She sometimes misses the war years, when she traveled thousands of miles entertaining troops.

"There was a great aim to life then, and I believed in that aim," she said. "You didn't have to think what to do next. It was there to be done."

★ ★ ★

Asked if she could sum up her philosophy in a sentence, Marlene shrugged wryly with her mouth, then said: "Do your duty—but do it every day."

That has been the actual glamor of her life—duty.

Anti-U.S. Acts Erupt in Saigon

Time Bombs Shatter American Buildings and Bus, Injure 18

SAIGON (AP)—Time bombs today shattered the United States Information Service library, a military bus and a hostel in a sudden outburst of anti-Americanism in Saigon. Eighteen persons, including 13 U.S. soldiers, were injured.

The other injured were Vietnamese or Chinese civilians. No one was killed.

★ ★ ★

Two of the soldiers were reported in serious condition. Eight of the American wounded were being evacuated immediately to the Clark Field military hospital in Manila, a U.S. spokesman said.

The soldiers belong to the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group here to train South Viet Nam's army. Their names were withheld.

The injured persons were in or near the bus and hostel. The bomb in the Information Service library exploded during the siesta hour when the building was empty.

It was the first case of anti-American attacks in Saigon in almost two years. There are some 2,000 Americans in the Viet Nam capital, including military and diplomatic personnel and construction company workers helping build two modern highways.

Radioactive Dust Blamed on Test

LONDON (AP)—A secret experiment with H-bomb material was blamed in a newspaper report today for the accident which recently poured radioactive dust onto farms around the big Windscale atomic plant in northwest England.

★ ★ ★

The Daily Express said a canister of H-bomb material was being "cooked" in unusual heat in one of the plant's uranium furnaces.

The accident Oct. 10 spewed radioactive dust from a chimney of the plant, which produces plutonium triggers for Britain's nuclear weapons.

Since then milk from 700 farms in 200 square miles around the plant, in Cumberland near the Scottish border, has been condemned. Farmers have been unable to sell their cattle, although assured by the government that the animals suffered no permanent injury.

A business agent of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 will appear before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams today for trial on charges of assault and battery on a fellow union member.

Floyd Harmon, 47, of 2990 Barnes St., Waterford Township, is charged with slugging Roy Smith, 33, of Keego Harbor as Smith allegedly tried to take a photograph of Harmon in a West Bloomfield Township tavern last March.

Convicted by West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle, Harmon appealed to Circuit Court. His sentence of $35 in fines and costs has been held up until the appeal is finished.

JACKIE DREAMS IN GOLD BRAID

—BUT WILL HIS DREAM COME TRUE?

Ever since he can remember, Jackie has had one dream—to be captain of a big, Navy carrier sailing the Seven Seas. Wonderful dream, but it doesn't look as though it will ever come true.

Jackie lives in a community where there's a serious shortage of classrooms, teachers and good schoolbooks. That means less schooling for Jackie than he needs.

Let's see that this doesn't happen to the children in our schools. You can help by supporting our School Board, by attending PTA meetings and school conferences.

At Least 150 Die With Asian Flu

Disease Seems to Hit Hardest at Elderly and Retarded in U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Asian flu and its relatives have claimed the lives of 150 persons—and possibly many more — since the respiratory disease began sweeping across the country several months ago.

★ ★ ★

It is practically impossible to get exact figures on flu deaths.

Reporting techniques differ among state health departments. Lengthy laboratory tests are required usually to confirm death from Asian flu.

The disease seems to hit hard elderly persons and retarded children. Both groups have lower resistance to diseases than healthy adults.

Hundreds of schools have been closed as a result of absenteeism —student and teacher—attributed to respiratory illnesses. Some schools later reopened.

College and high school football games and dances have fallen victim to the illnesses.

Prisons and churches have felt the effect too.

★ ★ ★

For instance:

In Atlanta, Ga., a city judge authorized the release of inmates from city prison to prevent the spread of flu. In Scranton, Pa., visiting hours were canceled this week at the Lackawanna County jail "to keep inmates healthy."

Church services were canceled in parts of the Lehigh Valley of Pennsylvania last Sunday because of fear of spreading the disease.

★ ★ ★

In Detroit, a judge caught up on his docket yesterday by sentencing six men from the hospital bed to which he had been confined by flu two weeks ago.

In Lansing, pregnant Mrs. Jerome Garcia, wife of a factory worker, was ill with the flu. So were her 14 children.

Tomorrow the Public Health Service's Advisory Committee on influenza will hold a meeting in Washington to discuss the situation.

Ionia Teacher Leaves Estate to Feline Pets

IONIA, Mich. (AP) — The will of Mrs. Blanche Bonner Barber, admitted to probate yesterday, left most of her estate to provide food and care for her cats.

There was no immediate estimate on the size of the estate, but Probate Court set bond at $26,000 for the executrix, Mrs. Hattie Schaefer. Mrs. Barber, a widow and former Detroit schoolteacher, made small bequests totaling $1,100 to nieces and nephews and set up the rest of the estate as a fund for the cats.

Death Toll Climbs in Train Collision

CATALCA, Turkey (AP) — Ten more passengers have died from injuries received Sunday night in a train collision near here, raising the death toll to 89.

★ ★ ★

Seventy-nine died in the wreckage. The surviving injured now total 112.

Most of the casualties — all Turks—were aboard a local diesel train bound for Istanbul from Edirne. The local smashed into headed from Istanbul for Europe.

Police said they were holding the stationmasters of the two stations between which the wreck occurred to determine if either had been negligent.

RICHMAN BROTHERS 78TH YEAR

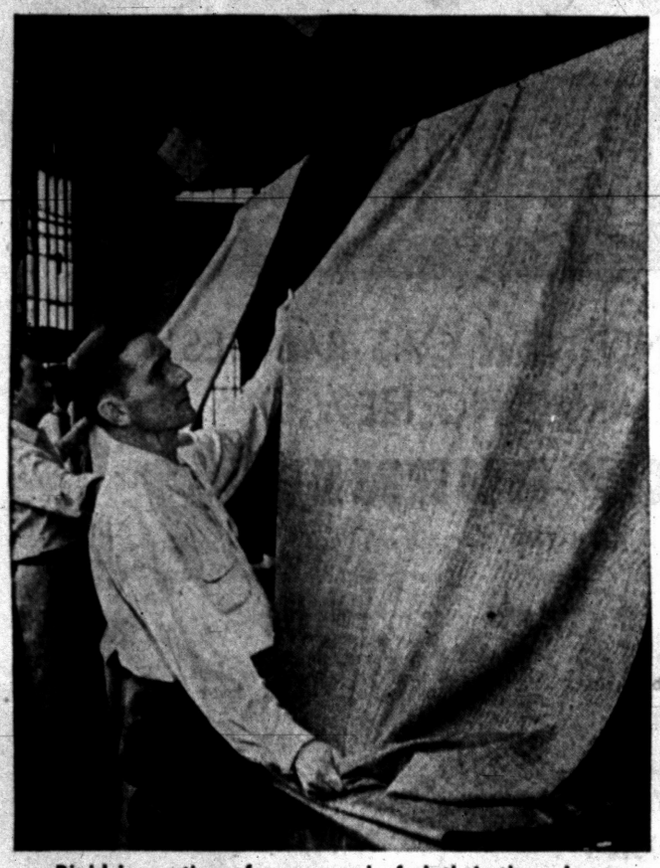

why RICHMAN'S offer you America's Greatest Clothes Values

Richman Brothers' 17-acre tailor shops in Cleveland, Ohio, home of the famous Richman Family. In this model plant, employing 2500 highly skilled workers, are made the clothes that are sold in Richman stores from Coast to Coast. You buy direct from the maker, save—plenty!

Hand-sewing still is essential to fine clothes making, and Richman Brothers hand-tailor their clothes at all necessary points to assure you smartness, comfort and wearing quality.

Rigid inspection of every yard of cloth is the rule at Richman's. Any deviation in color, or even the slightest flaw in weaving means instant rejection. Only perfect materials go into Richman clothes.

Children Charmed by 'Rumpelstiltskin'

MARGARET BROWN

"Rumplestiltskin," in all his dwarfish impishness, emerged from the pages of German folklore Monday afternoon when the Pontiac High School Playcrafters presented the first performance of their annual Children's Theater production.

★ ★ ★

As the house lights gradually dimmed, the youngsters' excited pre-curtain chatter grew correspondingly subdued, creating an ideal effect for the opening scene.

★ ★ ★

Then the children were introduced to the infamous little Rumplestiltskin, stirring his charm cauldron at his desolate mountaintop abode, defiantly shouting his name to the elements, because it made him feel "full of himself."

WANTED TO RULE

The dwarf, whose temperamental foot-stomping was so violent it destroyed the works of men, wanted to rule the thoughts of men and to fill them so with greed that they would destroy each other, thus leaving the elf to reign supreme in the earth.

★ ★ ★

He reasoned that the only means of subduing men's thinking would be to add to his charm pot the ruling potential of a king's son. The fairy tale revolved around his attempts to bargain for and to obtain a baby prince.

★ ★ ★

As it happened the infant eventually was born to the king's son and a boastful miller's lovely daughter for whom Rumplestiltskin had spun straw into gold, upon the condition that he might have her first-born son.

★ ★ ★

Bob Thompson, who played the gnome, did an effective job of portraying humorously the menacing yet pity-evoking qualities of Rumple. Unlike the storybook Rumple, this interpretation of the odd little fellow appeared to give him more of the unstrained qualities of mercy.

FEELINGS OF GUILT

For after frightening and threatening the queen, a role expertly handled by Sherry Everett, he would be overcome by feelings of guilt, crying pitifully, "Don't look at me that way. I don't like to feel that way."

★ ★ ★

Rebukes at his weakness and constant nagging from his Mother Hulda (Terri Fortino), would spur his foot-stomping tantrums. He appeared at times to want to be kind, but knew it was his duty to his witch mother to be cruel.

★ ★ ★

The children didn't care about Rumple's disturbed personality, however, and shouted with natural glee when in the closing scene the temperamental elf verily raged himself to pieces upon the queen's guessing his strange name.

★ ★ ★

Sherry Everett, as the miller's daughter, polished off her role with the finesse of a professional. As a simple spinning maid she seemed to be wistful, a bit of a dreamer. Yet, upon becoming queen, she proved herself not naive and superficial, but mature and adept at a queen's duties.

★ ★ ★

In spite of being a gentle girl, she did not cringe at Rumple's shrieking threats, but remained beautifully calm and shrewd. The children loved her for it, too, and were with her all the way.

REGALLY PORTRAYED

The gold-greedy king, whose heart later was melted by his prince grandson, was played regally and maturely by Alan Higgins.

★ ★ ★

Dan Chandler, as the king's son was, of course, chivalrous and ready to defend his lovely queen, brandishing his sword in several swashbuckling scenes that excited the children.

Effective scene stealers throughout the drama were jesters Sophia Skinner and Sandy Sommerville, whose sprightly antics seemed to express and to share the emotions of each actor.

★ ★ ★

Two favorites of the children were the comic palace guards. These grenadiers, one a flustery tongue-tied little man and the other a big slightly more sophisticated pigeon-toed soldier, battled their way through the drama, devoted to their queen and hilariously devoted to each other. Dorita Carlyle and Dick Hathaway handled these parts.

HOLD THEIR OWN

The remaining actors, though their roles were minor, held their own in adding to the first-class drama.

★ ★ ★

Mary Parrish and Garth Errington, directors, are to be complimented for the polished, fast-moving performance. The gauze technique of staging created the illusion of fantasy needed and also permitted effective fadeouts of eerie scenes. The costuming was flawless, from the tip of the actors' Medieval-styled caps to their pointed toes.

★ ★ ★

The drama, sponsored by the Pontiac Chapter of the Association for Childhood Education, will run matinee performances through Friday, with an evening performance Thursday.

Washington Social List Is Revised

Speaker Rayburn Moves Higher by Two Notches

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Local hostesses are boning up on a new set of seating arrangements for big-wig dinner guests so they won't make any social boners.

In this town, where officials are placed at the dinner table according to their importance, one must constantly be aware of who outranks whom.

This touchy business is fixed by the State Department's protocol boys and re-emphasized in the "Table of Precedence" in the Social List of Washington, the green suede - bound "bible" of the capital hostess.

MORE CHANGES

Publisher Carolyn Hagner Shaw, who has been bringing out the list for the past 18 years, says there are more changes in social precedence this year than ever before.

★ ★ ★

The most significant change, she points out, is that the speaker of the House of Representatives has been "upped two notches" and now takes precedence over ambassadors of foreign powers and widows of former presidents.

This ruling won't upset any Washington hostess as far as the current speaker is concerned. No one on the official scene is more popular than Sam Rayburn, the veteran Democrat from Texas.

★ ★ ★

They're all happy, they say, to have him sitting as close to them as formal rules and regulations permit.

SECOND IN LINE

Reason for Rayburn's promotion, protocol-wise, is that the speaker is now second—behind the vice president—in succession to the President.

★ ★ ★

Also promoted is Sherman Adams, assistant to the President. He now ranks above members of the Senate and governors of the 48 states and the directors of defense mobilization and the budget. Adams' importance is rated directly under Cabinet members.

Another presidential aide, Harold Stassen, also has been subjected to a change in rating. He was demoted.

★ ★ ★

"There was some discussion last year as to where he should be placed in the table of precedence and, in the past, we didn't actually list him," Mrs. Shaw said.

RATHER LOWER

"Later we found him under the Cabinet. Now he's been placed rather lower—just below the undersecretary of state and the deputy secretary of defense."

★ ★ ★

The new Social List contains more than 6,000 listings, which Mrs. Shaw says "reflects not only the growth of Washington, but the growth of importance of the United States as a world power." Representatives of 83 foreign nations are listed—double the number 10 years ago.

Some 800 new names were added and about 700 names taken out of the new edition.

★ ★ ★

Among those dropped were Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Chrysler Jr. "with regrets by all concerned," says Mrs. Shaw, "and only because this socially impeccable pair have sold their estate in Warrenton, Va., and moved to New York."

Father, Son Make Fine Style Team

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

"Maybe I'm just a crazy, mixed - up kid," says this handsome young character actor named Andrew Arkin, "but I've been looking at some old fashion magazines from 1925, and I can't tell the difference between some of those dresses and the newest things in our fall line."

Andrew, the outdoor type who goes in for skiing in Switzerland and such, joined up with his father, Leonard Arkin, veteran New York dress manufacturer, a few years ago. Now father and son do business in twin showrooms, Pop specializing in regular misses' sizes, son in petites.

"I never really liked those sack shapes, even back in 1925," says the senior Arkin thoughtfully. "But these today don't look so bad. Maybe it's just that the girls who wear them are better looking."

He has something there. The Arkin girls, Lee and Andy, who model Arkin fashions around the country, were chosen as typical wearers of the clothes—Lee is tall, Andy is small and neither is flat-chested, as were the girls of the 1920s.

Demiteens Hold Initiation Ritual at Agree Home

Susan Pill, Nancy Chapman, Margaret Melzer, Cathy Steinbaugh, Sally Costentino, Susan McFadden, Connie Ludwick, Bonnie Valuet and Janet Taylor were initiated into Demiteens.

MRS. WILLIAM N. McHATTIE

Marcia Jean McLintock and William Northrop McHattie were married Saturday in Orchard Lake Community Church. Mrs. Josephine D. McLintock and Milo D. McLintock are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. McHattie.

Marcia Jean McLintock Speaks Marriage Vows

Married at noon Saturday in Orchard Lake Community Church were Marcia Jean McLintock and William Northrop McHattie. The Rev. Edward D. Auchard performed the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Josephine Durant McLintock of Cherokee road and Milo D. McLintock of Birmingham. The William A. McHatties of Bloomfield Hills are the bridegroom's parents.

GOWNED IN BLUE

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of ice blue Chantilly lace over satin. Matching accessories and a cascade arrangement of gardenias enhanced the street-length dress.

★ ★ ★

Mary Lou McLintock, as her sister's only attendant, wore a gown of raspberry Chantilly lace with pink accessories and carried an arrangement of pink carnations.

A brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Carl E. Pfeiffer of Houston, Tex., served as best man and the bride's brother, Philip D. McLintock of Birmingham, seated the guests.

★ ★ ★

For a luncheon at Forest Lake Country Club the bride's mother wore a beige lace dress with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a mink brown crepé gown with matching accessories.

TRIP TO WISCONSIN

Before leaving on a trip to Wisconsin the new Mrs. McHattie changed to a beige costume suit with black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. McHattie was graduated from Kingswood School Cranbrook and attended the University of Michigan. The bridegroom was graduated from Northwestern Military and Naval Academy and also attended the University of Michigan.

Chubbuck, hospitality chairman, and Mrs. John D. Tebben, first vice president, (left to right) make last-minute arrangements for their Nov. 4 tea and lecture in Cranbrook Institute of Science auditorium.

Flower Arranger to Lecture

George Tolbert of Detroit, one of the country's outstanding flower arrangers, will lecture Nov. 4 on the art of flower arranging and will illustrate his talk.

This lecture in Cranbrook Institute of Science Auditorium is being sponsored by Bloomfield Hills Branch of Women's National Farm and Garden Association. It is the branch's main project for the year.

Mr. Tolbert began his career at the age of 10 when, as a 4-H Club member, he entered the International Flower Show in Detroit where he won first and third prizes. In 1952 one of his arrangements was chosen as the best by a national magazine and was the subject of a full-page article in that magazine.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Tolbert works constantly with the Detroit Institute of Arts, correlating both cut flower arrangements and small gardens with art objects for exhibitions.

★ ★ ★

The tea is under the supervision of Mrs. Charles Chubbuck, hospitality chairman. She is being aided by Mrs. A. A. Clark, Mrs. E. J. Anderson, Mrs. Willis Anderson, Mrs. George I. Goodwin, Mrs. Hubert J. Quinn and Mrs. John Q. Nagel.

Offers an Escape From Loneliness

Job Provides Vital Companionship

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

While we all need some time alone, it is not good to overdo it. It is depressing to be cut off from the hustle and bustle of everyday life and its contacts. This is especially true if a woman lives alone. We need human companionship if we are to be well adjusted.

★ ★ ★

Yet thousands of women are by themselves because of the death of their husband and the absence of grown children. This is a terrific readjustment for one who has been the center of a warm, active family circle.

Probably even more devastating is the sudden leisure which the retired unmarried woman often finds a burden rather than a pleasure. After being a part of the business world for years, this enforced home life may pall.

Many women are depressed by these situations to such an extent as to become ill. Retired career women seldom have many opportunities for daytime social life since they have not had the time to develop such relationships.

I think we definitely can say that women who live alone should find outside interests of some sort and that many would profit by having a job. And, of course, in many instances it is a financial necessity.

The following are the case histories of some middle-aged part-time workers, taken from the files of the largest part-time service firm in the world.

Women who live alone should find outside interests of some sort, and many of them would profit by having a job.

TO FEEL USEFUL

1. A Chicago woman was widowed three years ago. Untrained in the ways of the business world, never having worked before, she nevertheless needed work to feel useful. Playing cards or working in her garden did not give her the feeling of doing a real job.

★ ★ ★

In spite of her lack of training, her attractiveness made her useful in a demonstrating program. She works Fridays and Saturdays, and occasionally during the week, as a demonstrator in stores. She gives her "pitch" and hands out samples of meat to customers. She still has time for her church work, clubs and card playing.

2. A Seattle woman felt lonely and idle after almost 50 years of continuous employment when she was forced to retire from her position because of age. Her first assignment was with an insurance company installing a new terminal digit filing system.

3. A 60-year-old Chicago woman has a crippled hand as a result of polio and had been unable to secure permanent work because of her hand as well as her age. She needed to supplement the family income since her husband is a pensioned semi-invalid.

★ ★ ★

She has now worked in a number of positions with television manufacturers, utilities, research firms and charitable organizations. A willing worker and a genial person, she has received excellent ratings from all customers.

BECAME BORED

4. A middle-aged woman from Milwaukee has two grown sons, one who has just finished four years of service and has entered college and another who has just married. She found that housework was not enough to keep her busy and she grew bored. She is now doing clerical and filing work and earning extra money for a car and some furniture.

★ ★ ★

5. Another middle-aged Milwaukee woman needed an outlet. Her husband resented the demands of a full-time job and she could not work during the summer because of many houseguests. Part-time work on the days she could work was the answer.

Her assignments gave her little extras without cramping the budget and, more important, gave her an opportunity to meet different people. Adjusting to different situations made her feel young. She was assigned as private secretary to the manager of a big firm. She was to fill in until he could find a replacement. She worked four days a week for five months. Since, she has worked for other executives.

Think of the difference this part-time work has made in the lives of these women! The psychological repercussions of increased happiness and lack of boredom is the most important result.

★ ★ ★

If you are depressed, you will find that work and outside contacts are awfully good medicine.

MR. and MRS. PAUL SEDWICK

Couple Exchanges Vows in Silvercrest Ceremony

Married Sunday afternoon in Silvercrest Baptist Church were Mary Ann Kurpinski and Paul Sedwick. The Rev. James Luther performed the ceremony before 50 guests.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Edward Kurpinski of Detroit, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Chapman of North Paddock street.

For her wedding the bride chose a blue lace dress with a carnation corsage.

Mrs. Lyle Watt served as the bride's only attendant and Mr. Watt was the best man.

★ ★ ★

For her son's wedding Mrs. Chapman chose a black sheath dress.

The couple will live in Pontiac.

Girl Visits Boy's Home Overnight

Mother Considers This Wrong, Even With Chaperons

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if you think it is proper for a young girl of 19 to stay at her boy friend's house overnight? We live in the suburbs and my daughter's boy friend lives in the city, about an hour's ride from here.

"As there aren't too many places to go to out here, she often goes into the city with him to a dance or the theater and then someplace afterwards. If the hour is late, instead of coming home, she spends the night at her boy friend's house, the excuse being that it is too far for him to drive her home and then have to go back to the city again.

"I don't think the distance is so great that she can't come home and, in my opinion, her staying at his house is wrong, especially since they are not engaged.

"Of course his mother and father are home and they do have a spare room, but nevertheless it does not seem right to me. I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: It is not improper for your daughter to spend the night in her boy friend's house when she is invited and chaperoned by his mother.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When chops are served with small paper frills around the bone, does that mean that they may be picked up in the fingers?

"A friend of mine claims that is the purpose of them, but I have always been taught that it is not good table manners to pick up a bone, whether chop or chicken, in the fingers at the table. Will you please tell me if my friend is right about this?"

Answer: The paper frills are for decoration and to hide the usually charred ends of the chop bones. The chops are not to be picked up in the fingers.

"Dear Mrs. Post: If a bridesmaid in a wedding party is going steady with a boy, is it permissible and proper for her to ask the bride to invite him to the wedding? The young man in question is unknown to the bride and bridegroom and therefore did not receive an invitation."

Answer: It is quite correct for a bridesmaid to ask that a special young man be invited to the wedding.

Royal Blue Popular

Big color for winter is royal blue. It's followed in popularity by rouge red, and for evening, emerald green.

Cooler Filters Need Cleaning

Most new air-conditioning units have permanent filters — which don't need to be replaced, but do need to be kept clean.

★ ★ ★

The method is to left the filter out, shake off loose dust, then dip it up and down in hot soap or detergent suds. This loosens and removes the greasy soot which the filter has captured.

Rinse, dry, and apply a coat of special filter oil before the filter is replaced — to help "trap" and hold the next batch of soil.

★ ★ ★

Disposable filters need to be washed the same way, but since they will take only a couple of such treatments a season, they need to be replaced occasionally with new ones of the same size and make.

For Back Appeal

For evening or late-day wear, try placing a brilliant pin at the back or a satin dress near the waistline. It's an attention-getter.

Educational Secretaries Install Mrs. John House

Installation of new officers was the main item on the agenda when members of the Pontiac Educational Secretaries Association met at Willis School Friday.

At a ceremony conducted by Anna Marie Predmore, outgoing president Mrs. John House became the new president.

Other officers are Mrs. Merlin Sanderson, vice president; Virginia Gregory, recording secretary; Mrs. Glenn Rivard, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Donald Butler, treasurer.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was Byron Chapin of the Pontiac Business Institute, whose topic was "The Formula for a Good Secretary."

Plans are being made to prepare a secretarial handbook.

At the luncheon, served in the school's multi-purpose room, tables were decorated in a fall motif with miniature cornucopias and Halloween favors.

Hostesses were Mrs. William Trudgen, Mrs. Warren Reaume and Mrs. Clarence Kloka. Registrations were handled by Mrs. Cramer Wilson and Janet Zatik.

Pasties Are Really Easy to Prepare

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Whenever possible, we like to answer requests for recipes. A Pontiac reader wrote in asking for a Pasty recipe. We called Mrs. Peter Aldo who was born in the Upper Peninsula and got her Pasty recipe. We hope the Harold Schaffers like this one.

Mrs. Aldo belongs to Tuesday Musicale and the Newcomers Club. She is active in the Webster PTA. An excellent cook, she also has a flair for interior decorating.

PASTIES
By Mrs. Peter Aldo

1 pound meat (¾ beef and ¼ pork)
3 large potatoes
½ rutabaga or turnip
1 onion
Salt and pepper

Dice onion fine and cube other ingredients. Mix well and let stand while you prepare the crust.

2 cups sifted flour
⅔ cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt

Make like regular pie crust. Divide into four parts. Roll each portion thin and fit into a pie tin to shape. Place ¼ of cubed ingredients on one side of the pastry. Dot with butter. Fold over and press down edges. Slit top of pasty several places.

★ ★ ★

Moisten crust with water or milk. Bake 15 minutes at 375 degrees. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake another 45 minutes. Serves four.

Parents Err in Allowing Girl to Date Older Fellow

Daughter May Wed Too Soon Unless Mother, Dad Use Good Judgment

By RUTH MILLETT

When their 15-year-old daughter ran off and married the 19-year-old boy she had been dating for several months, her parents were stunned with disbelief.

They shouldn't have been. In fact, it was a possibility they should have considered when they let their 10th-grader start dating a boy who was through high school and was working.

The boy, no longer financially dependent on his parents, could do as he pleased. It didn't take him long to convince the girl that her parents were too strict, that she had a right to lead her own life, and that if they were married, there wouldn't be anything the parents could do about it.

And sure enough, there wasn't. For by the time the parents found out about the runaway marriage, a baby was on the way. All they could say to their daughter was: "We didn't choose marriage for you. You chose it for yourself. Now you will have to assume all of its obligations and responsibilities."

If the boy and the girl have enough character, despite their youth they may make a go of the marriage. It won't be easy. Both will have given up a lot for their shortsightedness.

★ ★ ★

The girl will have given up her chance for an education made easy by parents anxious to give her every advantage. The boy will be stuck in the small job he had because with a wife and child to support he can't afford to take chances.

WHAT DIFFERENCE?

It isn't the kind of start in life thoughtful, loving, conscientious parents would choose for their children.

★ ★ ★

But, in a way, it is one of the choices the girl's parents offered her when they let her start dating a boy old enough to be on his own and to feel he could offer her marriage.

"What difference does it make that he is older than I am?" teenage girls who are flattered by the attention of an older boy ask their parents.

Instead of listening to the girl's immature arguments, the parents should say, "It makes a lot of difference," and sit down and explain the facts as they see them.

Grandma Modernizes Bean Bag

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Whenever a new product comes out, say a new household gadget, do you find yourself thinking, "But how obvious! Why didn't I ever think of that?"

I guess most of us do. Here the world is full of wonderful ideas waiting to be thought up, but most of us are not exercising our thinking muscles nearly enough.

There's money to be made, fun to be had and real self-development waiting for the person who gets busy at thinking.

All that it takes, really, is a seeing eye and an open mind.

To be able to face the fact that nothing in the world is as good as it could be and to keep the mind open for improvements—that's half of it. The other half is to be constantly on the lookout for new ideas. The trick here is in Solomon's old edict: "Under the sun there's nothing new."

★ ★ ★

So-called new things are just new guises for old things. So it comes to looking at the old things and trying to use them as a mental point of departure to something new.

TYPICAL STORY

That's what Mrs. T. did. Her story is typical of what thinking can accomplish.

★ ★ ★

I came upon Mrs. T. indirectly.

I had gone to a gift shop to buy a present for a not-very-close friend who had had a baby. It wasn't necessary to send a present, but you know how it is they were a cute young couple and a new baby is pretty exciting.

I thought if I could find something inexpensive, say for about a dollar, I would send it to them.

★ ★ ★

The girl in the gift shop said, "I have just the thing," and brought out a charming, silly, very modernistic-looking bean bag.

A CHARMING CAT

It was shaped like the head of a cat—and a charming, silly cat at that. He was made of black felt and looked very bold, with chartreuse eyes, a scarlet nose and stark white whiskers.

★ ★ ★

It was the kind of thing that would amuse a child and I knew that the parents, who are as modern as tomorrow's newspaper, would get a kick out of it, too.

The young parents were delighted and their thank-you note asked, among other things, where in the world I had found it. They wanted to give one to friends who also had just had a new baby.

★ ★ ★

I had already found out all about the bean bags — naturally! They were made by a charming young grandmother — 56, to be exact. I wrote to ask her how she thought of the idea and here is what she said:

"My grandchildren bought a bean bag for their youngest child. It was a real, old-fashioned bean bag, the kind I had in my youth.

NO IMPROVEMENT

"I looked at it with a combination of nostalgia and impatience. Really, to think there had been no improvement in bean bags over the years!

★ ★ ★

"Then I looked at the children's house. It was as modern as could be. So I decided to make a really modern bean bag—and I did."

The gift shop owner is a friend of the family. The minute she saw the modern bean bag, she put in an order. They have sold like hot cakes ever since.

If you want additional skill in thinking up ideas, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you, "Pointers to an Open Mind."

This Fall's Evening Bag Should Glitter, Not Glare

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (INS)— It is all right for your evening bag to glitter, but don't carry one that glares.

★ ★ ★

That's the latest news on what the well-gowned woman will carry her cosmetics in this season.

RESTRAINT BEST

If you have the itch to stitch, and also the necessary talent, you can turn last year's small evening bag into a bright new number. Or you can dash right down to your local department store.

★ ★ ★

Either way, remember that restraint is the best policy for the smart style note.

Pearls, beads, gold, tiny but the designs — as well as the beads — should be small and ladylike. If you want pearls, they should be of the seed, not baroque, variety.

PRACTICAL IDEA

Evening bags with some sort of handle are a practical idea, since they are easy to drape around the wrist. Again, it's the gilt-edged look that tops the fashion parade, with gold chains leading the list.

★ ★ ★

If you want to keep one up on the Joneses, then a fur evening bag is the thing for you — preferably one to match your evening wrap.

Gold Doesn't Affect Washing Methods

With gold "plated" fabrics so popular, it's helpful to know that the washing method is determined by the fibers with which the gold is combined.

For instance, a stole of gold-flecked wool should be washed gently in cool soap or detergent suds and rinses — while a durable cotton bathmat interwoven with gold will withstand the usual machine washing in hot suds.

Benson Seeks Law Extension

Feels Time Is Needed to Move Farm Surplus in Foreign Markets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson hopes that a world trade tour he starts today will help get another year's extension of an important farm surplus disposal program.

★ ★ ★

Large quantities of the surpluses moving abroad are being sold under a law that permits the agriculture department to accept foreign currencies as payment and allow those currencies to be spent in the purchasing countries to help finance various U. S. government operations.

This law—officially designated as Public Law No. 480, the Agricultural Trade Development Act — expires next June 30.

Benson wants it extended until the middle of 1959. He feels that more time is needed to get rid of big farm surpluses and to develop permanent markets in countries getting the benefit of the law.

Singing Group in First Concert

Rochester's Season Opens Oct. 27

ROCHESTER—The second season of the Rochester Civic Music Assn. will open on Sunday Oct. 27, at 3:30 p.m., in the Student Center at the new Rochester High School, Livernois and Walton roads.

The Continental-Aires America's well known new concert-singing group will be the first of the four concerts to be presented here, this season.

Julian Parrish, noted pianist and arranger directs the quartette, and Clinton Holland, tenor; Robert W. Alexander, tenor; Wanza L. King, bass-baritone, and J. Wayland Jackson, basso, make up the quartet.

All five have impressive careers with appearances in all major TV and radio, in night clubs such as the world-famous Latin Quarter in New York, the legitimate theater, including "Showboat," "Mamba's Daughter," Green Pastures," Finians Rainbow" and "Heilzappopin."

Outstanding numbers they will present will include renditions of "The Old Woman," "The Hit Kit," "Ezikel Saw the Wheel"; and their famous "Sea Chantey" medley.

★ ★ ★

The second and third concerts, Marquita Moll, soprano and Ruth Slenczynska pianist also will be presented in the Student Center. The fourth of the series, the Saint Louis Sinfonietta, will take place in the gymnasium auditorium of the new high school.

THE CONTINENTAL-AIRES

Waterford OKs Police Reserve

6-Man Volunteer Unit Will Serve Township as $1-a-Year Deputies

A six-man police reserve unit has been set up for Waterford Township, and board members officially approved the move at last night's meeting.

The men, recommended by Supervisor Elmer Johnson, who is also civil defense director and acting chief of police, include Loren Anderson, 38, of 2361 Edinborough Ave., who has had four years experience in the Pontiac Police Department. He is in charge of the group.

Tom Peterson, 43, of 6141 Andersonville Rd., has had four years of active duty as captain in the U. S. Army in World War II.

Others include: David Roberts, 39, of 4041 Baybrook Dr.; Clayton Hall, 36, of 1066 Boston Ave.; Harvey Gilchrist, 43, of 460 Lakeside Dr. and David Putman, 38, of 74 Camley Ave.

Chosen because of their 11-week Michigan State Police training course and civil defense work, as well as on a basis of interest and past records, the men will work strictly on a volunteer basis, Johnson said.

However, they are established on the township payroll as dollar-a-year men for bonding and insurance purposes. They have been officially deputized by Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons.

Johnson said that these men will continue their police training in CD with a 10-hour course in first aid beginning at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow night.

They will work under the direct supervision of the Waterford Township Police Department, and help during football games or any occasion where they may be needed throughout the township, Johnson concluded.

OES Association Slates Fall Meeting

The Oakland County Assn. of the OES will have its annual fall meeting at the Brandon Township School in Ortonville, on Thursday.

Meeting opens at 10 a.m. There will be annual reports and election, luncheon, and in the afternoon, installation of officers.

The president to be installed is Mrs. Frank Voll, 4240 Collins Rd., Rochester.

Tickets for the luncheon are available from local chapters or Mrs. Walter Weitzel, 4691 Haddington Lane, Birminham.

Methodists of South Lyon to Hold Dinner

SOUTH LYON — The Methodist Church 32nd annual harvest festival and family style chicken dinner will be held on Wednesday in Quick Hall here.

Dinner will start being served at 5 p.m., continuing until all are served. Various booths will be open to the public at two o'clock.

There will be a "Slave Auction" when high school students auction their time to the highest bidder. Proceeds are to go to the Methodist Home for the Aged.

A sale of produce will be featured in the evening with Cornell Elkow as auctioneer.

Rochester Revival to Run Oct. 23-Nov. 3

ROCHESTER — Church of the Nazarene here will open a revival tomorrow, to run through Nov. 3.

Preaching will be by the Rev. Cleius Franklin of Odon, Ind. The coast-to-coast evangelist will open meetings at 7:30 each evening.

Ray Sigler, Rochester choir director, will be in charge of music. Public attendance is invited.

St. Anne Parish to Honor Pastor

Ortonville Members Arrange Open House for Father Ging

ORTONVILLE — The Rev. George Ging, pastor of St. Joseph Church in Lake Orion, is to be honored by parishioners of St. Anne Parish for his timeless work in bringing a Catholic Church to Ortonville.

Parishioners and the public are invited to an "Open House" to pay tribute to Father Ging this coming Sunday afternoon, at 2 p.m. in the Veteran's Building on Varsity drive.

A program has been planned with all active groups of the parish taking part.

William McFeeley is general chairman of the affair. Hugh McPhail is program chairman, Dr. Edward Gates is chairman of presentations, and Mrs. Lawrence Wudarcki heads the refreshment committee.

★ ★ ★

It was through the efforts of Father Ging that a meeting was called in the spring of 1949 and a move was begun to establish a Catholic Church in Ortonville. Due to his lifelong devotion to St. Anne, Father Ging proposed that the newly founded church be called "St. Anne Mission."

The first mass was celebrated on May 15, 1949, in space rented at Brandon Grange Hall. For approximately three years, the parishioners very faithfully took their turn in setting up the improvised altar and arranging the chairs for the Sunday services. The discomforts of kneeling on the rough floors are now almost forgotten for the membership increased and the Archbishop soon deemed it necessary to begin plans for erecting a church.

Five acres of land were purchased on M-15 as a future building site. Ground breaking ceremonies for the proposed church were held in the fall of 1951.

★ ★ ★

The church was completed and the first mass was sung in the new church on Easter Sunday April 13, 1952. The Rev. Kenneth MacKinnon, assisted by twenty seminarians from the Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit, celebrated the mass.

During the first year of the Mission only thirty families were registered. One hundred and five families now compose the membership, and the attendance during the summer months is greatly increased by the summer visitors to the lakes in this area.

On Sept. 17, 1957 the Archbishop deemed it necessary to elevate St. Anne Mission to the status of Parish. The Rev. John Hardy, who was assistant pastor in Monroe, became the first pastor of St. Anne's Parish.

★ ★ ★

But, it was The Rev. Ging, say parishioners, who made all this possible, since he put eight years of hard work into making St. Anne the parish it is today. That is why they wish to honor him on Sunday.

'Abie's Irish Rose' Billed at Avondale High School

AVONDALE — "Abie's Irish Rose," a comedy, in 3 acts, by Anne Nichols, will be presented Wednesday and Thursday nights at 8:15 p.m. at the Avondale High School auditorium.

The play is given for the benefit of the Boy's Club of Auburn Heights, Inc. Proceeds will benefit the work of that club in its recreational and educational work among more than 200 boys in the area.

★ ★ ★

Linda Burt takes the part of Rose Mary Murphy and Paul F. Grosse plays Abraham Levy. The father is played by Joseph Margola and, opposite him, the Irish father is played by Tom Galloway, Sr.

Plenty of comedy is provided by Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Cohen, played by Jack Wylie and Eleanor Hedberg. Toni Galloway, Jr. and Thad Johnson play the parts of the priest and rabbi.

Other members of the cast include Janis Lane, Sharon Martens, Rose Marie Mead, Judy Stokes, Dianne Warren, Pat Denton, and Suzann Harmon.

★ ★ ★

Members of the Curtain Call Theater Group, recently organized in the Avondale area are staging the play. Among the members are Mrs. Caroline Stokes, president, Mrs. R. Grant Graham, Jack Wylie, Mrs. Corinne Phillips and Mrs. Jean Walters.

The Boy's Club committee headed by Charles Cresswell, executive secretary, is cooperating in the sale of tickets.

Eye Amending City Traffic Law

Change Would Prohibit Drunk Driving Within Parking Lots

First steps will be taken tonight to strengthen Pontiac's traffic law that makes it unlawful to drive reckless or under the influence of alcohol in parking lots in the city.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said he will propose to the City Commission two amendments to ordinance 926 to bring it in line with the state law. "In the past," Ewart said, "a reckless or drunk driver was safe is he was committing his acts in parking lots."

★ ★ ★

The two changes will make such acts unlawful in "any area designated for parking of motor vehicles within the City of Pontiac."

Commissioners are also scheduled to make two routine agreements with the Pontiac Housing Commission. The first will permit the increase to 3.25 cents from the present 2.50 cents maximum interest on short term notes held by the housing commission.

The second will be an annual agreement between the city and the commission where the city agrees to pay interest on FHA bonds.

Other items on a 16-point agenda will include a public hearing on a special assessment roll to finance sanitary sewers for both sides of Stanley avenue from Kinney to Lounsbury, Livingston avenue from Blaine to Stanley, and Blaine avenue from Kinney to Livingston.

★ ★ ★

There are several other items involving the city's public works program to be taken up this evening.

Residents of the north side have submitted a request signed by 29.75 per cent asking for sanitary sewers for Arlene, Second, Third, Fourth and Columbia from Arlene to Fuller.

To Reconcile or Not — That's Diana's Question

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Diana Dors took off her shoes—nothing more, unfortunately—and said with a toss of her long blonde hair that she may reconcile with her swimming pool spouse, Dennis Hamilton, who she sued for divorce six months ago.

WILSON

I'd heard that Britain's answer to Marilyn Monroe, very soon after her arrival here for a few days to do the Perry Como show, had bought a signet ring inscribed:

"D plus D times D equals Us."

Cute, hey? Bare feet and legs tucked up under her prettily, she said, "A week ago I'd have said no to a reconciliation, but now it looks like we might."

And then the phone rang, the first of many times.

"PEETUH!" she said. (pause). "Peetuh, so if we could have lunch tomorrow . . ."

Her high-necked black dress was . . . well, real snug on her. "This matter of having a big bust has got to the comical stage," she decided. "We have a girl in England, named Sabrine, who has never done anything but show her bust. I'd hate to be a freak people would want to ogle and nothing more."

Doctor to Head Haiti's Destinies

Becomes 34th President of Strife-Torn Republic in Brief Ceremonies

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—A mild-mannered country doctor, Francois Duvalier, becomes the 34th president of strife-ridden Haiti today.

Brief and austere ceremonies were scheduled for the 48-year-old victor in elections Sept. 22. Duvalier asked that there be no display of pomp in view of Haiti's economic difficulties.

★ ★ ★

Duvalier takes over from a military junta headed by Brig. Gen. Antonio Kebreau which has ruled at bayonet point since June 14. Whether Duvalier lasts for his six-year term or becomes another in the string of short-time government chiefs—seven in the last 10 months—seems to depend on Kebreau.

★ ★ ★

Duvalier said he would form a "national union" Cabinet tomorrow. It faces serious economic and financial problems created by a long series of general strikes and bitter political feuding.

The main problems are:

1. The national treasury is virtually bankrupt, the nation's economy wrecked. The government's domestic and foreign debts total about 123 million dollars, a sizable sum for four million poverty-stricken people.

2. The tourist trade that is the second biggest source of income—coffee exports are first—has been ruined by the internal disorder.

★ ★ ★

3. Three-fourths of the population are officially described as hungry. Duvalier said he hopes to obtain U.S. surplus food.

4. American aid, once about 1½ million dollars annually, has been cut about 75 per cent. U.S. officials say Haiti failed to provide matching funds. Relations with the United States have been strained since the recent death of an American citizen, Shibley Talamas. The U.S. Embassy charged he was beaten to death; the police claimed he died of a heart attack.

★ ★ ★

5. Some supporters of defeated presidential candidate Louis Dejoie refuse to accept Duvalier's election. There are recurrent rumors that revolt might flare again within the 2,500-man army, possibly touching off street fighting like the brief civil war that raged in Port au Prince May 25.

Warden Bans Visits to Keep Inmates Well

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)— Prisoners in Lackawanna County jail indirectly felt the effects of influenza today.

Warden Patrick Manley banned all visits to the 65 prisoners as an epidemic of upper respiratory illnesses continued strong in the area.

"None of the prisoners is sick," Warden Manley said. "We want to keep them healthy."

Actor and Publicist Accuse Policemen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Scott Brady, 33, and publicist Desmond Slattery, 43, charged with possessing marijuana, have accused the arresting officers of "bizarre and unusual conduct."

★ ★ ★

When they appeared for arraignment yesterday, their attorney Robert Eaton told Municipal Judge Louis W. Kaufman: "Our investigation will show the bizarre and unusual conduct of these officers in entering Mr. Brady's home, ransacking it and searching it, then leaving without an arrest, only to return the next day and arrest them."

★ ★ ★

Eaton said there is a possibility of false arrest proceedings.

Preliminary hearing for Brady and Slattery was set for Nov. 19.

Flynn and Actress Will Fight Charges

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Errol Flynn and actress Maura FitzGibbon will fight drunk charges before a Municipal Court jury Nov. 25.

Attorney Bob Ford entered pleas of innocent for them yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Flynn and Miss FitzGibbon were arrested Saturday night at the Publicists Assn. Hollywood Ball. They were released on $20 bail each after being booked at a police station.

★ ★ ★

Policeman William Friedman said Flynn grabbed his badge and was belligerent. Flynn denied he was drunk and said he took the badge in fun. Miss FitzGibbon said Flynn handed her the badge and she lost it.

Mitzi Gaynor's New Role Reverses Former Defeat

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Three years ago, Mitzi Gaynor was told by 20th Century-Fox that her services were no longer needed.

Today she's back on the lot with one of the prize roles of this or any other year.

★ ★ ★

She's playing Nellie Forbush, the pert nurse from Little Rock in "South Pacific." She was the only girl who tested for the role.

And what a sweet victory it was! Now she's welcomed back to the studio where she got her start in movies.

"They let me go just before I started 'There's No Business Like Show Business,'" Mitzi recalled in her dressing room. "No explanation. No farewells. They just told me my option would not be picked up.

★ ★ ★

"But I think it worked out for the best. I've been pretty lucky on the outside. Now, when I come back to the studio, they accept me as I am.

When she went out on her own, picking her roles carefully, Mitzi did pictures with Bing Crosby, Donald O'Connor and George Gobel. Now she has two hits in the theaters—"The Joker is Wild" and "Les Girls."

★ ★ ★

How did she get to do Nellie?

She auditioned for Oscar Hammerstein II while suffering from laryngitis, singing two "South Pacific" songs in the cavernous Crystal Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Hammerstein's only comment: "Thank you. You're a good sport."

But the production minds got together and decided to give her a test. Then her confidence rose, since she knew no one else had tested for the role.

★ ★ ★

As soon as the picture is over, she and husband Jack Bean are embarking on a round-the-world trip.

"Josh Logan talked me into it," she said. "I told him I had some other offers to consider after the picture, and he said I should get as far away from show business as possible."

Sooners Back on Top in Poll

Spartans Drop to 8th Place in National Vote

Defeat by Purdue Ends MSU's Reign After One Week of Leadership

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After a one-week absence, Oklahoma was back in its accustomed spot atop The Associated Press football poll today.

As if to lend emphasis to the change, Michigan State, which had displaced the Sooners at the top of the heap a week ago, tumbled all the way down to eighth.

★ ★ ★

Nor were the Spartans the only ones to go into a nosedive. Minnesota Oregon State and Arkansas, all of whom were high on the list before each absorbed a beating Saturday, dropped.

The votes by the nation's sports writers and sportscasters were tabulated on the usual 10 for first place, 9 for second and so on down the line, basis.

★ ★ ★

The accounting gave Oklahoma, which hung up its 44th consecutive victory Saturday—a 47-0 lacing of hapless Kansas—1,365 votes compared to 1,108 for second place Texas A&M. Oklahoma had 89 first place votes and Texas A&M 5.

The Aggies advanced from third to second by virtue of their hard-earned 7-0 victory over Texas Christian.

★ ★ ★

Following them in the top 10, in order, were Iowa, Duke, Auburn, Mississippi, Notre Dame, Michigan State, Army and Louisiana State.

Michigan State was the only one of Saturday's losers that managed to stay in the top 10. Minnesota toppled from fourth to 14th, Oregon State and Arkansas, seventh and tenth, respectively a week ago, fell clear out of sight.

★ ★ ★

Minnesota was beaten by Illinois, the same club that upset Michigan State last year. Oregon State lost to UCLA, 26-7, and Arkansas dropped a 17-0 decision to Texas. What a difference a week can make. This time, the 148 voters, gave Oregon State just 19 points and Arkansas 16.

Army, Louisiana State, which hasn't been in the top 10 in a long, long time, and Mississippi are the three newcomers to the select circle.

The Top Ten teams with points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses):

1.	Oklahoma (89) (4-0)	1,365
2.	Texas A&M (5) (5-0)	1,108
3.	Iowa (16) (4-0)	998
4.	Duke (10) (5-0)	982
5.	Auburn (11) (4-0)	798
6.	Mississippi (10) (5-0)	601
7.	Notre Dame (4) (3-0)	588
8.	Michigan State (1) (3-1)	547
9.	Army (3-1)	196
10.	Louisiana State (4-1)	133
	SECOND TEN
11.	North Carolina State (4-0-1)	115
12.	Ohio State (1) (3-1)	112
13.	Rice (3-1)	103
14.	Minnesota (3-1)	80
15.	UCLA (4-1)	58
16.	(tie) Illinois (1) (3-2)	53
	Navy (4-1)	53
18.	Oregon (4-1)	35
19.	Texas (3-2)	34
20.	Michigan (3-1)	33

Army-Navy 'Mighty Mites'

Ike Will See 1st Grid Battle of 150-Pounders

Annapolis, Md. (AP) — Football players come in two sizes at seven Eastern colleges.

These seven schools, where varsity football is king, also field teams in the Eastern Intercollegiate 150-pound Football League.

Lightweight football, an 11-year old game, has yet to gain much prominence on sports pages. But it will get a boost next Saturday when President Eisenhower views the first clash of the "mighty mites" from Army and Navy.

★ ★ ★

This "Little Army-Navy Game" will be played in the Naval Academy's Thompson Stadium for the benefit of a $3,000,000 Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium to be constructed here.

Eisenhower will see a fast football game in which lumbering linemen weigh no more than fleet halfbacks and are just as swivel-hipped.

★ ★ ★

Lightweight football is played exactly like its big brother sport seen by thousands of spectators across the nation each Saturday afternoon. The playing rules are similar to those used by the heavyweights, and the players' equipment is the same — but smaller.

The squads weigh-in in the night before each game, and anyone heavier than 154 pounds is ineligible for the battle next day.

★ ★ ★

The sport operates under a purist code which outlaws spring practice and scouting or movies. The league rules also prohibit any team from beginning practice until two weeks before its first game.

The game, frequently billed as "one of the most unusual sports in the athletic world," made its appearance in 1933. Yale, Princeton and Lafayette comprised the Conference prior to 1941. The war years brought a halt to lightweight competition, but a reorganization in 1946 saw Yale and Princeton joined by Cornell, Pennsylvania, Rutgers, Villanova and Navy.

★ ★ ★

Since that time, Columbia has replaced Villanova, and the sport has been dropped by Yale. Illinois was a brief member of the league, and Army joined the loop this season.

Each club in the league plays a round-robin schedule, meeting every other league member once during the season.

Navy has won the league championship nine times since the league was re-organized 11 years ago. The Middies yielded the crown to Villanova in 1949 and Princeton in 1954.

SPARTAN KILLERS — Michigan State fell from its perch as the number one team in the country this week and here is a trio of reasons. These three Purdue players scored the touchdowns for the Boilermakers in the 20-13 upset. They are halfback Kenny Mikes (25), fullback Bob Jarus (36) and halfback Len Wilson (43).

Leadership in Class 'A' Ratings Still Deadlocked

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's still a dead-heat between Bay City Central and Midland high for the No. 1 rating among Michigan's class A high school football teams.

And the setting couldn't be more perfect for Saturday night's "game of the year" at Central Stadium between the two toughest teams in the state's scholastic circles. Midland's Chemics, will bring a perfect 5-0 record and thousands of their own rooters to Bay City for the showdown battle that will be witnessed by the biggest crowd in Bay City football history, an estimated 10,000.

The Wolves of Elmer Engle also have a 5-0 record, having disposed of Owosso, Birmingham, Bay City Handy, Flint Central and Saginaw Arthur Hill in easy fashion. Midland has beaten Flint Central, Arthur Hill Saginaw, Traverse City and Alpena — all by one-sided scores.

Members of the Associated Press Class A panel of sports writers put Midland and Bay City in a deadlock for the top spot, just as they did a week ago.

Muskegon Heights' 10-0 Saturday night triumph over Muskegon Catholic earned third place for the Heights and dropped Catholic to sixth place. Ann Arbor and Lansing Eastern of the Six-A league tied for fourth spot in the weekly ratings.

Ann Arbor, whose five-game record is marred only by a 14-14 tie with Flint Central, defeated Battle Creek 24-14 while Lansing Eastern was rolling to its fifth straight victory, 25-7 over Jackson.

Flint Northern, the 1956 champion and a 13-6 upset victim at the hands of a keyed-up Muskegon crew, slipped to seventh place just one point ahead of Grosse Pointe, whose only defeat was a 7-0 verdict to Northern in which the Pointe team had the edge in everything except the final score. Grosse Pointe, one of the state's finest defensive teams, has yielded only seven points in five games.

Here's the way the panel ranked the "top ten" for the fifth week; with won-lost-tied records included:

1. Midland (5-0), Bay City (5-0) (tie)
3. Muskegon Heights (4-0)
4. Ann Arbor (4-0-1), Lansing Eastern (5-0) (tie)
6. Muskegon Catholic (4-1)
7. Flint Northern (4-1)
8. Grosse Pointe (4-1)
9. Grand Rapids Union (3-1)
10. Wyandotte (3-1)

Others: Muskegon, East Detroit, Grand Rapids Ottawa, Grand Rapids Catholic, Port Huron, Traverse City.

North and South Tourney Starts

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—A record 37 players scrambled over three courses here today in the qualifying round for the sixth annual North and South Seniors Golf Tournament.

★ ★ ★

The 18-hole qualifying play will set the stage for match play tomorrow through Saturday for the shotmakers aged 55 and up.

Many flights will be arranged to assure competition the rest of the week for as many players as possible.

Defending his title is Tom Robbins of Pinehurst and Larchmont, N. Y. Also in the field are the man he beat in last year's finals, J. Wood Platt of Philadelphia, and former champions Ben Kraffert of Titusville, Pa., and Judd Brumley of Greeneville, Tenn.

Sally, who rolls with the Elks Ladies Monday night loop, carries an average of 177.

'Family' Affair in NHL Scoring

Richard Brothers Pace Point-Making; Montreal Leads League

NEW YORK (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens and the Richard Brothers, in particular, are beginning to make the National Hockey League's scoring race a "family" affair.

★ ★ ★

Figures released today after the second week of league play show the league-leading Canadiens have the four top scorers, the top goalie while a fifth member is tied for the lead in assists.

Maurice "The Rocket" Richard leads the scoring with 13 points, and goals with 7. One of these was his 500th in regular NHL play, which he scored last Saturday. His brother Henri, "The Pocket Rocket", is second in scoring with 12 points, on six goals and six assists.

Montreal's Dickie Moore and Jean Beliveau have 10 points apiece to tie for third in scoring. This pairs plus the Richards and Doug Harvey give the Canadiens five of the top seven assist-getters, all having six. New York's Andy Bathgate and Detroit's Alex DelVecchio also have six assists.

Charlie Hodge, the Canadiens goalie, has a 1.67 goals-per-game average to lead the loop's goal tenders.

County List of Perfect Teams Cut to 3

Undefeated and untied high school football teams in Oakland County are getting scarcer than hens' teeth.

Only three county teams boast unblemished records as the 1957 season swings into its final stages. Clawson was last week's casualty.

Hazel Park, Troy and Lake Orion are the elite squads and their perfect marks will be in jeopardy before the campaign is finished.

Class A Hazel Park, tied with Port Huron for 1st place in the Eastern Michigan League, is sporting a flawless 4-0 slate, but the Parkers have yet to meet either the Big Reds or defending champion East Detroit.

Troy is clean after five games, but the Colts must contend with an angry Clawson team this Friday in an Oakland B League headliner at Clawson. The Trojans saw their spotless mark scarred by Lake Orion last Friday.

Orion, unbeaten and untied in four games, should not have too much difficulty protecting its record against Avondale Friday, but the clash with Troy the following week is another matter.

Two Oakland elevens continue undefeated, but their records are marred by ties. Southfield, the Inter-Lakes Conference leader, has four wins and one tie. Holly, the Wayne-Oakland pace-setter, has been tied twice while winning three.

The list of perfect record teams in the outlying area was reduced from nine to six.

Area teams unbeaten and untied are Warren, South Lake, Almont, Brown City, Detroit St. Rita and Highland Park St. Benedict. St. Rita and Almont own five victories while all the rest are 4-0.

Last week's victims were East Detroit, Romeo and Armada.

The Shamrocks were upended by Port Huron, 13-6; Romeo was toppled by Lapeer, 19-13, and Armada absorbed a 21-0 whitewashing at the hands of Almont.

Among the area elite, at least one will fall by the wayside this Friday when Almont plays host to Brown City.

Blue Ribbon for Mexico

HARRISBURG, Pa. (INS) — Mexico captured its first blue ribbon at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show last night by winning the initial team event in a three-place international low score competition for riders from seven nations.

The United States team was second, England third, and Chile fourth. Ireland, Argentina and Canada failed to place in the first of three low-score events.

Hawks Yanked Off Top Spot

Up to last night Ortonville's football Blackhawks were atop the South Central league standings, with one win and no losses.

But Oxford's Wildcats changed all that with a 6-0 win under the lights at Oxford, throwing the league standings into a 3-way tie for 2nd and leaving Imlay City alone at the top, 2-1.

Oxford grabbed its victory, incidentally its first of the season, after Bob (Rammin' Red) Newton bulled 63 yards and quarterback Mike Lewis went over on the next play. Winning tally was in the 3rd period after the clubs had battled mostly in midfield.

Oxford on one other occasion got within Ortonville's 15, but that was the only time it was inside the Blackhawks' scoring territory. Hawks were never inside Oxford's 20.

Newton is the 245 pound former tackle, converted into a crushing fullback. He ran the extra point, but a holding penalty after which the 2nd try failed.

Winter Races Scored

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Years ago trainers of 3-year-olds frowned upon winter racing, believing that if a horse raced during February he would not be in the best of shape for the Triple Crown races. But that's all changed now, as witness the results of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

Iron Liege won the Kentucky Derby, Bold Ruler the Preakness and Gallant Man the Belmont. All raced at Hialeah last February.

Dodger Party Heads for LA

Club Officials Leave for Coast Wednesday in Private Plane

NEW YORK (INS)—Tomorrow is D-Day for the full-scale Dodger invasion of Los Angeles.

A large party of Dodger officials will leave New York's LaGuardia Airport tomorrow in the club's private plane and arrive in Los Angeles that evening.

The party will be headed by club president Walter O'Malley, vice presidents Buzzy Bevasi and Fresco Thompson, and Capt. Emil Praeger, the engineer who is to design the new Dodger stadium in Los Angeles.

Later in the week, Dodger manager Walter Alston and four players — Pee Wee Reese, Gil Hodges, Roy Campanella and Gino Cimoli — will travel to Los Angeles and will be joined there by Duke Snyder, a native Californian.

They will be introduced to their new baseball home at a reception to be held by the Dodgers next Monday.

Celtics Face Hawks in Season Opener

NEW YORK (INS) — The Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks, favored to repeat as division champions, open the National Basketball Association's 12th season tonight when they clash in St. Louis.

The contest kicks off a long season in which each of the league's eight teams will play a 72-game schedule before starting the playoffs leading up to the championship set.

Boston, which whipped the Hawks for the title in seven games last spring, invades St. Louis with much the same wrecking crew that ripped the NBA apart last season.

The Celtics still have their fine backcourt duo of Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman and will have big Bill Russell for the entire season.

Birds averaged 2¾ pounds, the hunters reported.

Get Japanese Nicknames

Golf Stars 'Christened'

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese have their own names for America's golf stars—"Long Hit" Sam Snead and "Smoothie Man" Jimmy Demaret—and have established them as prohibitive favorites in the Canada Cup golf matches, starting Thursday.

★ ★ ★

There was almost a riot today when Snead and Demaret played at a neighboring Tokyo club, disappointing hundreds who had gathered at the Kasumigaseki Country Club to see the two Yanks in action.

Spectators, who had paid 60 cents to watch the practice, started demanding their money back until Snead and Demaret were persuaded to come to Kasumigaseki and play an extra nine holes.

★ ★ ★

When word went out that the two Americans were on the course fans deserted other players and swarmed to the Yanks' gallery.

Every time Snead swung, although Demaret often outdrove him, the Japanese emitted loud "ohs" and "ahs" and sucked in their breath in admiration.

"Mr. Sam Snead is big hitter," was a common comment. "Ball go very far."

Others praised Demaret. "He is really smoothie man," one fan was heard to remark. "Easy swing, ball go very straight and very close to hole."

Despite attention being given the two Americans, a U. S. victory in the 72-hole, four-day medal play event is far from a foregone conclusion.

★ ★ ★

Saner heads have figured there are at least a half-dozen tandems among the 30 from throughout the world capable of seizing the top prize.

★ ★ ★

Outstanding among these is the Australian team of Peter Thomson and Bruce Crampton, both young yet experienced golfers who have a brilliant international reputation.

★ ★ ★

Also held in high esteem are these teams: Argentina's Antonio Cerda and Leopoldo Ruiz; Stan Leonard and Al Balding of Canada; Belgium's Flory Van Donck and Arthur de Vulder and the four British teams, made up of Ryder cup members who recently beat America's top professionals in England.

11 Major Teams Still Unbeaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Forty teams, only 11 of them classed as major schools, have approached the halfway mark of the college football season unbeaten and untied, an Associated Press survey disclosed today.

Duke, Mississippi and Texas A&M, each rated among the top 10 in the AP's nationwide poll, lead the major survivors with five straight victories. Top-ranked Oklahoma, Dartmouth, Auburn, Iowa, Arizona State of Tempe, Texas Western and Drake each have won four straight, and Notre Dame completes the major list with a 3-0 mark.

Satterfield Winner

PITTSBURGH (INS) — Bob Satterfield, 183½, Chicago, won a 10-round split decision last night over Garvin Sawyer, 188½, Cincinnati protege of former champion Jersey Joe Walcott, before 986 fans in Pittsburgh.

Ideal Quarterback Among Three

Packer Ingredients Mixed

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers don't have the ideal pro football quarterback, but they have the ingredients — Bart Starr's pass accuracy, Babe Parilli's snappy throwing and rookie Paul Hornung's running.

The trio of signal callers are doing their best to take the place of veteran Tobin Rote, whom the Packers traded this year to the Detroit Lions to gain defensive talent.

The Packers now have a fine defense, but their offense lacked the touchdown touch in three straight National Football league losses to Detroit, Baltimore and San Francisco. Green Bay had won its opener against the Chicago Bears.

Starr played the first 18 minutes against the 49ers in Milwaukee Sunday. He gained 36 yards in completing four of his five passes. However he lost 29 yards trying to pass on other plays.

★ ★ ★

Parilli completed 5 of 11 passes, accounting for the rest of the Packers' aerial gain of 104 yards. He also plunged one yard for Green Bay's first touchdown in the 24-14 loss to San Francisco.

Hornung entered the game in the final period and ran 62 yards on just four carries, one of them a touchdown run of nine yards.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on Hornung's performance, Blackbourn said, "The boy is the best running quarterback we have. But he also is our poorest passer. If he could pass close to Starr or Parilli, there would be no question who our quarterback would be."

The coach said Starr continues as the starting quarterback because he throws the best pass.

Pro Basketball Makes Return to Motor City

Boston Celtics Provide Opposition at Olympia Wednesday Night

DETROIT (AP) — Professional basketball returns to Detroit tomorrow night after an 11-year absence.

★ ★ ★

The re-located Detroit Pistons make their debut at Olympia Stadium against the world champion Boston Celtics in the nightcap of a doubleheader.

★ ★ ★

It is the first of 72 games the former Fort Wayne (Ind.) Zollner Pistons will play in the National Basketball Assn. season.

The St. Louis Hawks, champions of the NBA's western division, face the New York Knickerbockers in the opener.

Not since the Detroit Gems failed to make a go of it in 1946 has Detroit had a professional basketball team.

★ ★ ★

Pro basketball was in its infancy when the Gems performed in all-but-empty Olympia Stadium 11 years ago. But in the intervening years, the game has acquired stature, stability and adherents despite suffering a decline in team number.

★ ★ ★

In 1949, 17 teams were packed into three divisions. Of these 17 teams, eight remain. Two are re-located. The Pistons are one of the displaced squads and the Royal of Rochester, N.Y., now are the Cincinnati Royals.

The eight clubs are split into two division, with Detroit, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Cincinnati forming the western division and Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Syracuse making up the eastern division.

★ ★ ★

At the end of the season, all but the last-place teams enter a post-season playoff. Boston emerged the victor over St. Louis in seven games last spring.

There is a world of difference between pro basketball and the college game. The one resemblance is the 12-foot foul lane.

★ ★ ★

From there on out, the NBA has rules all its own.

In the NBA, for example, teams play for 12-minute quarters rather than the 20-minute halves the collegiates play.

★ ★ ★

And the zone defense, which reduces shooting, is outlawed by the NBA. In pro ball a team must make a shot at the goal within 24 seconds after crossing the center court or lose the ball.

★ ★ ★

College players are benched after five personal fouls. The pros are allowed six. Only six personal fouls are allowed each team in each quarter in the pro game. Additional fouls mean the opponents get a penalty shot. In college basketball there is no foul limit placed on a team.

Fouls in the NBA are not called as rigidly as in college ball.

Layne-Cassady Aerial Not 'Luck'

Lions TD Play Rehearsed

DETROIT (AP) — It was no stroke of luck that Hopalong Cassady snagged the 29-yard pass from Bobby Layne that pulled the Detroit Lions to a spine-tingling uphill 31-27 upset over unbeaten Baltimore Sunday.

Long hours of gruelling work in after-hours practice went into perfecting that exact play.

"I've seen Layne throw that same pass to Hoppy at least a hundred times in practice," said coach George Wilson yesterday. "They stay after the regular drills and practice pass patterns."

Wilson explained that Cassady h. to learn pass patterns after he came with Detroit. He caught only three passes in four years at Ohio State where he was twice All-America and a Heisman Trophy winner.

Cassady has learned the routine well. He ran the patterns perfectly Sunday, catching six passes for 113 yards and a pair of touchdowns —including another 26-yard toss from Layne.

Catching a pass in a pro football game isn't as easy as it sometimes appears to the spectator. It's a split-second maneuver that requires the closest co-ordination between the passer and the receiver plus a detailed knowledge of the defense.

The pass patterns the pros use are intricate and elaborately planned and detailed.

Wilson pointed out that the two interceptions of Layne's passes by the Colts Sunday — one of which led to Baltimore's 1st touchdown in the 1st period — were both actually the fault of the receiver.

Layne threw to predetermined positions. In each case the intended receiver had cut the wrong way. Layne hit the spot but the right man wasn't there.

Wilson allowed little time for the Lions to bask in the glory of their stunning 3rd straight victory. "It was fine and wonderful and we all enjoyed it but it's all history now," he declared.

He remarked he thought the Lions put up a good defensive battle against Baltimore but added there were plenty of weak spots in the offense — spots, he said, that must be tightened before Sunday's game with the Los Angeles Rams.

The Lions coach said his club was lucky to beat the Rams 10-7 in their earlier meeting this season and that their upcoming road trip promised to be tough.

The trip to the West Coast is always a rough one for Detroit. Seldom have the Lions returned home with double victories over Los Angeles and the San Francisco 49ers — whom they meet the following week.

To make matters worse, the Lions play their next game after the San Francisco contest against the Eagles in Philadelphia.

Kremblas, Badger Star Lead Scoring

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State's Frank Kremblas moved into a first place tie for the Big Ten all-games football scoring lead with Wisconsin quarterback Sid Williams over the weekend.

Kremblas scored a pair of touchdowns and added a conversion against Indiana to run his total to 25 points while Williams was shut out in Wisconsin's 21-7 loss to Iowa.

Dick Lebeau of Ohio State and Jim Pace of Michigan are tied for third place with 24 points each on four touchdowns.

Dietz, Berry Capture Final Pro-Pro Event

Firing a best-ball card of 32-35—67, to edge a fast field of area golf pros at Plum Hollow yesterday, Mike Dietz of Indianwood and Art Berry of Pine Lake won the final pro-pro tourney of the season. They were two up on three other pairs, and Dietz carded the low individual score of 70. Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills, and Jimmy Johnson had 71s.

Warren Orlick of Tam O'Shanter, and Ty Damon had 35-34—69; Johnny Dalrymple and Alex Sinclair had 33-36—69 and Johnson and Bill Langenau carded 33-36—69.

Sparrow to Play With Knicks in Olympia Twinbill

Guy Sparrow, former University of Detroit basketball star from Pontiac, makes his debut in the National Basketball Assn. tomorrow night when his New York Knickerbockers meet the St. Louis Hawks in the opener of an NBA doubleheader at Olympia Stadium.

The Detroit Pistons play the defending NBA champion Boston Celtics in the nightcap.

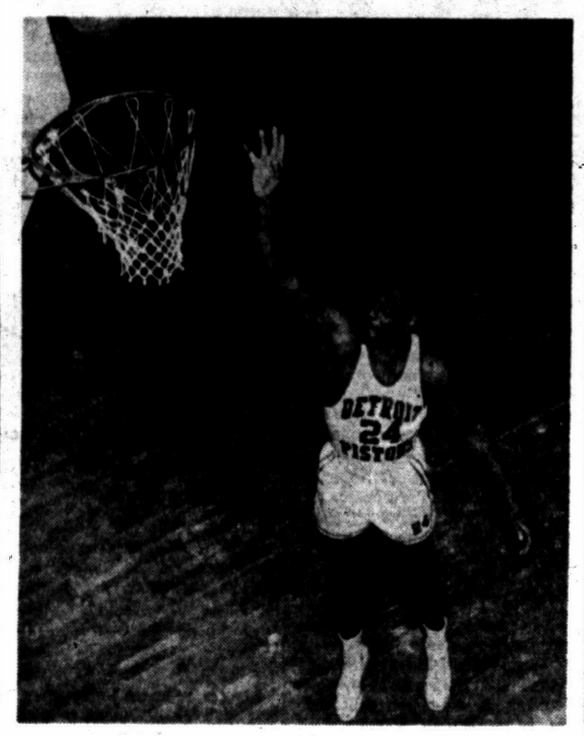

Sparrow, a 6-foot-6 forward, pumped in 22 points in New York's 109-94 victory over the College All Stars last Saturday.

Sparrow's debut in the NBA will take place on the eve of his wedding. He will be married Thursday to Carolyn McNamara of Iowa City, Iowa, at Gesu Catholic Church.

Phils Change Coaches

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Bill Posedel, manager last season of the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League, has been named pitching coach for the Philadelphia Phillies, replacing Whit Wyatt, whose contract was not renewed.

The 1924 North Carolina basketball team had a 23-0 mark.

STARTS FOR PISTONS — Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton, who at 31 is a 7-year veteran of the National Basketball Association, will start for the Detroit Pistons when they make their debut in Detroit against the Boston Celtics Wednesday night at the Olympia. Clifton was obtained in a trade from New York.

Brown Dropped by Lions

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions have asked waivers on rookie halfback Marvin Brown.

The National Football League club said yesterday the 150-pound former East Texas State player will be replaced by defensive halfback Gary Lowe.

Lowe is an ex-Michigan State player who was released recently by the Washington Redskins.

Brown was drafted in 1953 by the Lions. He was released from the air force last summer and this season is his first as a professional football player.

The Lions used him primarily on kick returns. Brown carried the ball only twice from scrimmage for Detroit — both times against Baltimore Sunday. He gained six yards.

He returned six kickoffs 106 yards and two punts 16 yards in previous games.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Here's a tip for you once-a-week bowlers. Keep an accurate record of your scores each week. After four or five weeks, check to see which game is consistently lower than the others. It may be your first game, in which case, you're having trouble warming up properly.

If your third game is generally your lowest, you may be getting tired. Perhaps your ball is too heavy and your wrist or fingers need strengthening.

Another helpful record is a list of how many times you miss the headpin on your first ball. If it happens as often as five or six times a game, practice getting that

You might also keep track of

Youmight also keep track of which spares you miss to see if any particular one gives you more trouble than others. For right-handers, the 10-pin shot we show today is among the most difficult.

Records like these help you recognize your weaknesses—and that's the first step toward correcting them.

Harvey Haddix Was Top Hitter Among Hurlers

NEW YORK (AP) — Harvey Haddix of the Philadelphia Phillies, who saw occasional service as a pinch-hitter, had the highest batting average among major league pitchers in 1957. He hit .309 and shared honors with Willard Nixon of the Boston Red Sox, who led the American League with .293.

★ ★ ★

Haddix collected 21 hits in 68 times at bat, figures compiled by the Associated Press showed today. Harvey failed to hit a home run, but he did deliver three doubles and one triple.

Nixon had 22 hits in 75 at bats. He had one double and four runs batted in.

20-13 Score Haunts Spartan Gridders

Fell to Purdue, Illini in 1956 by Same Count

MSU Starts Preparing for Homecoming Game With Illinois

EAST LANSING (AP)—That score of 20-13 was haunting the Michigan State football team this week.

It was not only the margin of the Purdue upset that knocked the Spartans out of the top national football spot. Illinois, at East Lansing for a homecoming game this Saturday, pulled a surprise victory over MSU last fall by an identical 20-13 score.

And Illinois should be riding high after knocking off Minnesota 34-13—those jinx 13 points cropping up again.

Coach Duffy Daugherty wasn't concerning himself about numerology, however, as his squad settled grimly down to the business of preparing for the Illini.

★ ★ ★

Monday's workout concentrated mostly on pass defense. In the Purdue game, a 42-yard pass completion that caught the Spartan secondary napping moved the Boilermakers down for a tie-breaking score.

★ ★ ★

Illinois outpassed Minnesota 159 yards to 45. Illinois quarterback Tom Haller was particularly effective with his throws that kept the Minnesota defense off balance and honest.

Daugherty made no reshuffling of the MSU lineup after the defeat that ended the early season victory honeymoon.

The only switch was of end Harold Dukes, a senior from Detroit, from left end to right end. Dukes was moved across to run second at the position in place of Larry Harding, senior from Detroit, who was knocked out of the lineup by a knee injury in Saturday's contest.

★ ★ ★

Harding went into the campus hospital today for a knee operation that will end his playing action for the season.

So the Purdue game ended Michigan State's early lucky streak from more than one angle.

It brought the first serious injury of the season on top of the first loss plus the epidemic of 10 fumbles after the Spartans had gone through three games without a single bobble.

★ ★ ★

Two other injuries, although less serious, also were causing some concern. Center and linebacker Dan Currie had a knee sprained and end Dave Kaiser was bothered by a hip bruise.

★ ★ ★

Currie and Kaiser, first stringers and key men on both offense and defense, were expected to be ready to go against Illinois, however.

Wolverines Recall Cox, Minnesota

'M' Nightmare Comes Back

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The memory of brazen Bobby Cox haunts Michigan like a recurring nightmare.

It was on a sunny afternoon a year ago at Michigan Stadium that the curly-haired Minnesota quarterback almost single - handedly ripped the Wolverine line to shreds with his bold dashes.

The upstart Gopher ruined Michigan's dreams of a Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl. And on his shoulders he carried the Little Brown Jug back to Minneapolis for the first time in three years.

The 20-7 Minnesota upset victory has been replayed often in the minds of the Michigan coaching staff. This week the coaches are rigging their defenses to stop Cox and veteran-laden Minnesota Saturday.

It's a task of revenge but one that's not considered impossible. That was demonstrated last Saturday by Illinois, supposedly a conference weak sister.

The Illini clawed championship - conscious Minnesota into submission, 34-13, in what would have been the season's most startling upset if Michigan State hadn't lost to Purdue.

"It was just one of those days," said Michigan coach Matt Patanelli, whose job is has been to keep tab on the Gophers.

"They haven't gone down in my estimation one bit."

ta7 ee JL22

He also scouted Minnesota a week before when it was near perfect in routing Northwestern, 41-6.

"This is a team that has depth in the backfield and depth in the line," said Patanelli. "Cox is the same old Cox. He's as great as ever. A daring take - charge guy."

The day Cox zoomed into prominence he scored two fourth quarter touchdowns and gained 83 yards on his deadly option runs against the bewildered Wolverines. Calling his plays quickly and running his team with precision, Cox kept the Michigan defense off balance continually.

His supporting cast is much the same as it was for the game former Gopher coach Bernie Bierman called "the best a Minnesota team played in 10 years."

Perry Gehring returns as starting left end. Michigan backs are familiar with him because they met so often last year. For his outstanding defensive work Gehring was chosen the Associated Press Lineman of the Week following the 1956 Michigan-Minnesota game.

Michigan started grooming for the Gophers yesterday with a brief practice and Patanelli's scouting report. The Wolverines suffered few injuries in the Northwestern victory. End Dave Bowers with a pulled muscle and right halfback Mike Shatusky with a bad back missed yesterday's workout.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan ruled fullback John Herrnstein out of Saturday's game. Jim Byers, a star in the Wildcat encounter, again will take his place. Herrnstein tried running yesterday but was unable to keep it up on his injured ankle.

HAVE YOU NOTICED HOW MANY MORE PEOPLE ARE DRINKING GOEBEL!
AMERICA'S ONLY BEER BREWED WITH CRYSTILLED* WATER

Yes, a lot more folks are finding refreshment and relaxation and pleasure in Goebel Beer—thousands more of them every day as they discover what only this water can do for beer. As the jolly song says, "It's the biggest news in beer this year"...or for many a year, we might add.

Brewers have never been satisfied that ordinary city drinking water was what they wanted for brewing their beer. Goebel has done something about it... Crystilled water, purer than finest mountain spring water...and even more refreshing.

Try crystal clear Goebel—we feel so very sure you'll be glad you did.

Above is reproduced an actual photograph of the Crystilled Water Technical Control Center at Plant No. 3 which was recently expanded because of Goebel's rapidly increasing sales. Here, through a system of super filtration and catalytic ion exchange (exclusive in the United States with Goebel), ordinary city drinking water is transformed into Crystilled water . . . purer than finest mountain spring water. This is the only water that Goebel uses to brew Goebel beer—and only Goebel is brewed with Crystilled water.

Stand By During Mideast Crisis

Marines, 30 Warships Boost 6th Fleet Strength

ROME (AP)—Vice Adm. Charles R. Brown said today 6,200 Marines and a flotilla of warships scheduled to return home three weeks ago have stayed on with his U. S. 6th Fleet during the Turkish-Syrian crisis.

The fleet's strength, he said, "is more than four-fold greater as long as these boys are with us."

Eight thousand Marines and about 30 extra ships joined Brown's atomic-armed, 50 - ship fleet in mid - September for a NATO exercise off Turkey. The ships and all but 1,800 of the Marines were to return home immediately after the exercise.

In answer to an Associated Press query, Brown cabled:

"By decision of higher authority, the 8,000 Marines and associated shipping are being retained in the Mediterranean for the present in order to conduct further exercises and familiarization visits.

★ ★ ★

"The normal amphibious capability of the 6th Fleet is a reinforced battalion of 1,800 Marines embarked in a squadron of amphibious shipping.

"So it can be easily seen that our strength in this respect is more than four-fold greater as long as these boys are with us."

The Marines, of the 4th Provisional Marine Air-Ground Task Force, have with them artillery and rockets capable of firing atomic shells.

Their supporting ships include destroyers recently arrived from the United States and the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain. This is in addition to the two carriers and other warships normally operating in the 6th Fleet.

A hunter - killer antisubmarine task force and still another carrier reportedly have also joined the fleet temporarily.

★ ★ ★

The Marines' transports and most major units of the fleet now are visiting Greek and Turkish ports in the eastern Mediterranean — one to two days' cruise from Syria. The Lake Champlain was sent westward temporarily to aid flood victims at Valencia, Spain.

Brown's flagship, the cruiser Salem, has been visiting Piraeus, Greece.

In Washington, it was reported the additional Marines and the ships that support them will start homeward within a month.

Grains Steady After Decline

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grain futures steadied on the Board of Trade today after declining at the opening.

Trade was mixed in light dealings in wheat, corn, oats and rye. Soybeans declined more than a cent a bushel at the start but recovered some of the early loss in subsequent dealings. Both the bread and feed grains were down fractionally at the start but these, too, moved upward later to around previous levels.

Some selling of wheat was regarded as a holdover from yesterday's session. There was buying of the bread grain by local traders and commission houses.

Demand for corn was somewhat improved. Overnight shipments out of Chicago totaled about 450 cars.

Soybeans eased on scattered selling, with most of the offerings taken on resting orders. A Lake steamer left Chicago for Canada with 350,000 bushels of soybeans.

Near the end of the first hour new style wheat was ¼ to ⅜ higher, Dec. $2.18¼; corn was ¼ to ½ higher, Dec. $1.21; oats was ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, Dec. 67¼; rye was ⅜ to ¾ higher, Dec. $1.27¾; soybeans were ¼ lower to ⅜ higher Nov. $2.29¾; lard was unchanged to 2 cents higher per hundred pounds, Nov. $11.65.

34 Apartments to Be Built Here

Building permits for two apartment buildings and a Borden Co. milk plant building at 256 Norton Ave. were approved Monday by Cary F. Alt, Pontiac building inspector.

A $82,500 22-unit apartment building will be constructed by the Stein Building & Lumber Co. of Detroit at 20 Salmer Dr. It will be a 127 by 90-foot brick building.

The second building will be constructed by the same firm at 30 Salmer Dr. and will be a 12-unit structure 92 by 90 feet. The building permit listed the total value of the project as $52,500.

The milk company will build a $27,000 100 by 150-foot cement block building at 256 Norton Ave. to be used as a milk plant and tank wash room.

New Limited Tops Buick Lines of Cars for 1958

FLINT — Buick today presented its 1958 line of cars with which General Manager Edward T. Ragsdale hopes to capture a greater percentage of industry sales next year.

The 1958 models feature new Dynaflow transmission, brakes with thicker linings and a host of other engineering changes.

The new cars will go on display in dealer showrooms next Tuesday, the first of General Motors' Golden Anniversary models to be shown the public.

The new Buicks come in five series, topped by the new Limited, a distinctively-styled luxury model which is Buick's new entry in the prestige car market.

All models are equipped with dual headlights on each front fender. The fender line has been lowered and the hood line raised to complement the new front end design.

★ ★ ★

Heading the list of engineering achievements is the new flight pitch Dynaflow transmission in which the stator vanes operate on the same "switch the pitch" principle as an airplane propellor.

The new transmission also has three turbines instead of two, which increases the torque output.

★ ★ ★

Air-poise suspension is available on all 1958 Buicks. Four bellows filled with compressed air replace the traditional steel springs in the new suspension system, and automatically keep the car level regardless of the load. The air suspension system is optional.

★ ★ ★

All cars are equipped with 12-inch brakes. Total contact area has been increased to 218 square inches.

Front brake drums on all models except the Special are of aluminum with cast iron liner. This provides faster cooling for the front brakes which absorb the major portion of the braking power.

Brake lining on all models has been increased in thickness.

All cars are powered by a 364 cubic inch high compression V-8 engine with two-barrel carburetor on the Special and four-barrel on all other models.

Stocks Recoup Vigorously

NEW YORK (AP) — The Stock Market rebounded vigorously early this afternoon from yesterday's huge set-back.

★ ★ ★

Key stocks rose from fractions to their losses of the previous session. A scattering of declines ranging from fractions to a point or more dotted the list.

★ ★ ★

The high-speed ticker tape was late for a total of 48 minutes in a turbulent first hour which saw the tremendous total of 1,070,000 shares changing hands.

★ ★ ★

Prices churned irregularly. Brokers reported that a considerable number of margin accounts were sold out but that the offerings met demand at the comparatively low prices prevailing. Later the tone changed from mixed to slightly higher. Brokers said the market's action was primarily a technical rebound from yesterday's shake out, the worst since Sept. 26, 1955, the first session after President Eisenhower's heart attack.

Believe 12 Fishermen Perished in Japan

SHIOGAMA, Japan (AP)—Twelve Japanese fishermen are believed to have perished early today when their 50-ton fishing boat, the Yazaki Maru, burned and sank.

★ ★ ★

Another fishing boat rescued 10 of the 23 crewmen. The rest apparently were trapped in the ship.

The sea tragedy occurred 20 miles off the northern Pacific coast of Japan.

How much more grievous are the consequences of anger than the causes of it. —Marcus Aurelius

Bob Considine Says:

Jinx Falkenburg 'Queen' in Press Tumbrel

NEW YORK (INS) — Rode up Broadway today in a tumbrel. Actually, the Army calls it a "weapons carrier" and assigned three of them to carry the press in the procession of Elizabeth and Philip from the Battery to Ma Waldorf's Place.

But it looked like and rode like the open cars which hauled the French aristocrats to the Place de la Concorde's Guillotine. It was, at times, an unnerving experience, especially when upon entering the square in front of the mayor's office we detected a number of old crones patiently knitting.

The tumbrels had been shedyuled to creak along in the vicinity of Her Majesty's bubble-bath of a car, so that we could tell all Christendom with bated breath that she scratched her nose (left side) near Trinity Church, turned her head completely around in front of the Equitable Building, and said something into Gov. Harriman's ear (the bad one) as the procession reached City Hall.

* * *

But somebody goofed (or had good taste) and so our swaying tumbrels wound up a good five furlongs behind the Queen's car.

We were out of the money from start to finish, and beat out the white-wings of the sanitation corps only by a desperate sprint between 48th and 49th on Park. They were sweeping dangerously close to us at the end of the race.

But the caboose-like position we held in the motorcade provided us with a fine sampling of the temper of the crowd. This was as good-natured a turnout as any queen could wish for. The tumbrel folk know.

* * *

We are accustomed to riding the rear echelon. There have been times when, there being no way to turn off the avenue, we have had to pass through twin walls of pure, sullen disappointment and resentment. This mob liked Liz and her leading man and was still viewing the world through rose-colored glasses when the wan heads protruding above the sides of the tumbrels swept by.

Once, when Gen. MacArthur invaded Houston, after President Truman had fired him, the press car finished 28th in a field of 28 cars in the general's parade. The cheers that greeted MacArthur, blocks ahead of us, were like sounds from another planet.

But a crowd that had stood for hours had found only brief recompense in one swift and darting look at the old soldier. Immediately behind MacArthur were some politicians the majority of the crowd plainly disliked, and behind these statesmen rode people the crowd didn't figure rated a place in the parade, and behind them—'way behind—came the silent and increasingly apprehensive reporters.

HARD ON MORALE

It is not good for the morale to hear 500,000 people say, consecutively, "who are THOSE guys?" as you pass by at a stately pace. Well, on MacArthur day in Houston, at least, one big fellow in a wide-brimmed hat, lounging along the parade street, had an answer as he coolly surveyed us.

"Them bums must be his cooks," he drawled.

The tumbrel set couldn't see the Queen, the prince or even (L, W, R, J, Z) Her Majesty's Lady in Waiting for Repairing Jammed Zippers. But we had our own celebrity, Jinx Falkenburg, NBC's hardworking and beautiful news-hen.

Thousands called her name, waved to her and took her picture as our ghastly vehicles tagged along. We can't tell you what the Queen wore, but Jinx had on a fireman's red woolen coat with mink trim, woolen jersey dress to match and thick gray wool socks. For lunch she had lobster bisque Waldorf, Johannesburg riesling, squab chicken Manhattan with wild rice and tiny green peas, Beaulieu vineyard Georges de Latour Cabernet 1948, and delices of raspberries a la royale.

Any questions?

Cleveland-Cliffs Mines on Four-Day Week

CLEVELAND (AP) — Some 2,000 employes at six mines operated by Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. will be placed on a four-day week Nov. 3. A spokesman said the cutback is being made because of abnormally large stockpiles resulting from decreased demand for iron ore. It will affect six of the eight mines operated by Cleveland-Cliffs on Marquette range. No layoffs are planned.

Conspirator in Case of Riesel Freed

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph Carlino, a conspirator in the Victor Riesel acid blinding case, has gone home to the East Side after a year and two months in custody.

But although he's a free man—at least temporarily—he can hardly feel greatly relieved.

He was the star government witness against other alleged conspirators in the plot to silence Riesel.

When Carlino, 44, was freed yesterday in federal court as a reward for his testimony, his lawyer, Bernard Moldow, told the judge:

"He knows he is risking his life. Violence runs rampant throughout this case. He has no assurance when he leaves custody that the case ends there. And he will have that feeling until the end of his days."

Joking Mates' Greeting Card Backfires on Him

CHICAGO (AP) — Stanley Levy's greeting card message to his estranged wife backfired in Circuit Court yesterday.

The front of the card read: "Because I value our friendship, please accept the enclosed check." Inside was a red check mark.

Mrs. Etty Levy, 27, who has a separate maintenance suit pending against Levy, told Judge B. Fain Tucker she didn't think the card was funny. Her attorney asked that Levy, 29-year-old salesman, be punished for contempt because he is $1,255 in arrears on payments for support of Mrs. Lavy and their 6-month-old daughter, Jan.

Judge Tucker agreed with Mrs. Levy and sentenced Levy to six months in jail. She ruled he wouldn't be released until he paid the support payments in full.

Sidekicks of Western Heroes Become More Helpful

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

Copyright 195"

THE STORY SO FAR: Jerry Conway is alarmed by an advertising campaign Clifford Farrell, a discharged employe, is conducting to obtain proxies and oust Conway at the stockholders' meeting of the California & Texas Global Co. In a mysterious telephone call, a woman calling herself Rosalind offers to supply Conway with a list of the proxies Farrell has acquired. Though he suspects a trap, Conway agrees to follow her cloak-and-dagger directions. Eva Kane, his secretary, thinks she has heard her voice before. Asking the hotel clerk for a message for Gerald Boswell, he obtains a key to a hotel suite for the meeting, but instead of finding Rosalind, there's a young woman scantily attired and on her face a mud pack. She's Rosalind's roommate, Mildred. She points a gun at Conway, which he takes from her. Since the gun has been fired recently, Conway suspects a frame-up and call Perry Mason, an attorney. Mason looks over the gun and asks Conway for the key to the hotel room. Detective Paul Drake convinces the hotel clerk he is Gerald Boswell, and with Mason, finds a woman murdered, in the suite. Mason asks his confidential secretary, Della Street, to hide Conway and try to make him remember what it was about Rosalind's voice that was familiar. They notify police and await the arrival of Sgt. Holcomb.

Chapter 8

"I don't like this," Drake said.

"Who does?" Mason asked.

"Are we in the clear withholding Conway's name?"

"Why not? Conway didn't commit any murder."

"How do you know he didn't"

"He says he didn't."

"He has the gun."

"What gun?"

"The one with which the murder was committed!"

"How do you know it's the gun?" Mason asked.

"It has to be," Drake said.

"I told you," Mason told him, "we're not supposed to engage in any surmise or jump to any conclusions as far as the police are concerned. We're supposed to tell them what we know, provided it isn't a privileged communication."

Drake said, "They'll sweat it out of us."

"Not out of me, they won't," Mason told him.

"They'll find Conway in my office."

Mason shook his head.

"So that's it!" Drake said. "That was the first telephone call you made!"

MASON YAWNS

Mason yawned, reached for his cigarette case, said, "You're not supposed to deal in surmises when you're talking with the police, Paul, only facts. That's all they're interested in."

Drake cracked his knuckles nervously.

The clerk left the desk and came over to join them. "Did you two report a body in 729?" he asked.

"Sure," Mason said, as though surprised at the question.

"How did it happen you did that?"

"Because we found a body," Mason told him. "You're supposed to report to the police on things like that."

"I mean, how did you happen to find the body?"

"Because she was there."

"Dead or passed out?" the clerk asked.

"She looked dead, but I'm not a doctor."

"Mr. Boswell was with you when you found the body?" the clerk asked.

"Boswell?" Mason asked in surprise.

The clerk nodded toward Paul Drake.

HE'S NOT BOSWELL

"That's not Boswell," Mason said.

"He claimed he was Boswell," the clerk said accusingly.

"No, he didn't," Mason said "He asked if there were any messages for Mr. Boswell."

"And I asked him to identify himself," the clerk said indignantly.

"And he put the key to 729 on the counter," Mason said. "You went and looked up the registration and found it was in the name of Boswell. You felt that was all the identification you needed. You didn't ask him for a driving license. You didn't ask him if his name was Boswell. You asked him for identification and he put the key on the counter."

★ ★ ★

The clerk said indignantly, "I was led to believe I was dealing with Mr. Boswell. The police aren't going to like this."

★ ★ ★

"That's unfortunate," Mason said, and then added, "for you."

"I asked him for identification as Boswell."

"No, you didn't. You asked him for some identification."

"That's a technicality, and you know it."

"What's a technicality?"

"I meant that I wanted to know who he was. I wanted to see his identification."

"Then you should have asked him for it and insisted on seeing it," Mason said. "Don't try to hold us responsible for your mistakes."

"The room is registered in the name of Gerald Bsowell."

"Uh-huh," Mason said.

"An this is the man who claimed to be Boswell earlier in the evening. He got an envelope from me."

"You're sure?" Mason asked.

"Of course, I'm sure."

"You weren't so sure a moment ago."

"I was sure."

"Then why did you ask him for identification?"

"I wanted to be certain he was the same man."

"Then you weren't certain."

"I'm not going to let you cross-examine me."

"That's what you think," Mason told him, grinning. "Before you get done, you'll be on the witness stand. Then I'll give you a real cross-examination."

"Who are you?"

"The name's Perry Mason."

The clerk was nonplussed. "The lawyer?"

"That's right."

Abruptly, the door of the lobby pushed open and Sgt. Holcomb, followed by two officers in plain-clothes, came striding across toward the elevators, saw Mason, Drake and the clerk, and detoured over to them.

"Good evening, Sergeant," Mason said cordially.

Sgt. Holcomb ignored the greeting.

He glared at Perry Mason. "How does it happen you're in on this?"

"I was advised to go to 729 to look for some evidence," Mason said.

"Advised by whom?"

"Advised by a client."

'THIS IS MURDER'

"All right," Holcomb said, "let's quit playing ring-around-the rosy. This is murder. Who was the client?"

Mason shook his head and said, "That information is confidential."

"You can't withhold that," Holcomb told him. "You'll become an accessory, if you try to protect a murderer."

"This man wasn't a murderer," Mason said.

"How do you know?"

"I know. Furthermore, he's my client. I don't have to divulge the names of my clients to anyone."

"You can't withhold evidence."

"I'm not withholding any evidence. As soon as I entered the room, I found a body. As soon as I found the body, I notified you."

The clerk said, "Excuse me, Sergeant, but this man standing here is the client."

Sgt. Holcomb said disdainfully, "Don't be silly. That guy's the private detective who does Mason's investigative work. Mason called him in after he knew there'd been a murder."

STORY NOT TRUE

"I'm sorry, Sergeant," the clerk protested, "but that isn't true in this case."

"How do you know?"

"That's the man who got the key to the room in the first place. His secretary registered for him. He's been in several times asking for messages."

Sgt. Holcomb turned to Paul Drake. "Hey! Wait a minute! Wait a minute! What's all this?"

Paul Drake said, "The guy's nuts!"

"What's your name?" Holcomb asked the clerk.

"Bert King."

"All right. Now what's this about the room?"

★ ★ ★

"I've phoned the man who was on duty this afternoon," the clerk said, "I asked him about 729. The records show it was rented about one o'clock. He remembers that a young woman came to the desk and said she was the secretary of Gerald Boswell, that Boswell wanted to have a suite in the hotel for one day, that he would appear later, and go to the suite but that she wanted to inspect it and make sure it was okay, that since she had no baggage she would pay the rent in advance and take the keys.

★ ★ ★

"She asked for two keys. He can't recall what she looked like. He thinks she was fairly young and good-looking but that's all."

"Say," Holcomb said, "you're giving out a hell of a lot of valuable information."

"Well, you asked for it. What's valuable about it?"

Holcomb jerked his head toward Mason. "He's drinking it in."

"Well, you asked me."

"All right. Now shut up . . . Wait a minute Tell me about Paul Drake here."

"He showed up about six-thirty, asked for a message, gave the name of Boswell, and I went through the file and gave him an envelope."

"An envelope containing a key?" Holcomb asked.

★ ★ ★

"Perhaps the key was in it, but as I remember it now, and it's beginning to come back to me, it was a big, heavy manila envelope, thick and jammed with papers."

"And it was Paul Drake here who got the letter?"

"I think so . . . Yes, this was the man."

"Then what did he do?"

"Went up to the suite. I didn't pay much attention. He seemed quiet and respectable and the suite was paid for in advance."

Holcomb whirled to Paul Drake and said, "What about this?"

Drake hesitated.

"I can answer for Paul Drake," Mason said. "I think there has been a case of mistaken identity."

"The hell there has" Sgt. Holcomb said. "Drake went up there on some kind of job for you! This girl got herself bumped off in his room, and he sent out an SOS for you. He didn't stay in the suite, did he?" Holcomb asked the clerk.

BACK SECOND TIME

"I don't know. I didn't pay attention. He came back this second time and asked for messages. That was when I had occasion to look at him particularly because these two gentlemen were together and I asked this man, whom you say is Mr. Drake but who gave me the name of Boswell, if I hadn't already given him a message."

Sgt. Holcomb said to Drake, "We may not be able to make Mason kick through with the name of a client but we can sure as hell make a private detective tell what he knows about a murder or bust him wide open."

Mason said, "I tell you, Sergeant, it's a case of mistaken identification."

"Phooey!" Holcomb said. "I'm going up and take a look at the place. We'll have a fingerprint man up there. If we find your prints and . . . "

"We were up there," Mason said. "No one questions that. That's where we discovered the body."

"Drake with you?"

"Yes."

"You came in together?"

"That's right."

"What about the story King tells about Drake going to the desk and asking for messages?"

★ ★ ★

"That part of it is true," Mason said. "We had reason to believe the suite was registered in the name of Boswell, and Drake, acting purely in an investigative capacity, asked if there were any messages for Boswell. He never said he was Boswell."

★ ★ ★

Sgt. Holcomb said, "This thing sounds fishy as hell to me. You two stick around. I'm going up. Remember now, don't leave. I want to question you further."

Holcomb strode toward the elevator.

Mason turned to Paul Drake, said, "Get on the phone, Paul. Start locating operatives. I want half a dozen men and a couple of good-looking women if I can get them."

"You can get them," Drake said, "but, if you don't mind my asking, the question, just what the hell do you intend to do?"

"Protect my client, of course," Mason told him.

"I mean about me," Drake said.

"I'm going to get you off the hook," Mason told him.

"How?"

"By letting you tell everything you know."

"But I know the name of your client."

"I can't keep him out of it," Mason said. "He's walked into a trap. All I can hope to do now is to gain time."

"How much time?"

"A few hours."

"What can you do in that time?" Drake asked.

"I don't know until I try," Mason said. "Get on the phone and line up some good operatives. Have them at your office. Come on, Paul. Let's go!"

Drake went to the telephone booth.

Mason lit a cigaret, paced the floor of the lobby thoughtfully.

A deputy coroner, carrying a black bag, two plain-clothesmen, a police photographer loaded with cameras and flashbulbs entered the hotel.

Sgt. Holcomb came back down as Drake finished with his telephoning.

"All right," Holcomb said. "What do you know about this?"

"Only what we've told you," Mason said. "We went to that room. We entered it. We found a corpse. We called you."

★ ★ ★

"I know, I know," Holcomb said. "But how did you happen to go to that room in the first place?"

"A client suggested that I go there."

"All right. Who's the client?"

"I can't tell you the name of my client until I get his permission."

"Then get his permission."

"I will, but I can't get it now. I'll get it first thing in the morning."

"Well, you can't hold out on us in a case like this. It's one thing to be an attorney, and another thing to be an accessory."

"I'm not trying to hold out," Mason said. "I can't betray the confidences of my client. My client will have to speak for himself. I need time to get in touch with him."

"Tell me who he is and we'll let him speak for himself."

Mason shook his head. "I can't give you his name without his permission. I'll have my client at the

She ran toward Mason almost as soon as he had the door open.

District Attorney's office at nine o'clock in the morning, my client will submit to questioning. I'll be there. I'll advise him as to his rights. I can tell you this, Sergeant: There was no corpse in the room when my client left it. He sent me there to meet someone."

"Who?"

"A woman.

"This one who was killed?"

"I don't think so. The description doesn't check."

"Look, we want to talk with this guy whoever he is."

"At nine in the morning," Mason said firmly.

Holcomb regarded him with smoldering hostility. "I could take you in as a material witness."

"To what?" Mason asked. "I've told you all I know about the murder. As far as the private affairs of my client are concerned, he's going to speak for himself. Now if you want to start getting tough, we'll both get tough and I'll withdraw my offer to have my client at the D.A.'s office at nine in the morning."

'HAVE IT YOUR WAY'

Holcomb said angrily, "All right, have it your way. But remember this. We're not considering this as cooperation. You have your client there at nine o'clock and he won't be entitled to one damn bit of consideration."

"He'll be there," Mason said, "and we're not asking for consideration. We're asking for our rights. And I think I know what they are."

Mason turned and walked out.

★ ★ ★

It was shortly after eight-thirty when Mason left the elevator and walked down the echoing corridor of the office building.

The lawyer walked past the lighted door in the office of the Drake Detective Agency and kept on down the corridor. He turned at a right angle, walked to the door marked: "PERRY MASON, ATTORNEY AT LAW, PRIVATE," fitted his latch key and opened the door.

Della Street was seated at her secretarial desk reading a newspaper.

She dropped the paper to the floor, ran toward Mason almost by the time he had the door open.

"Chief," she said, "what is it? Is it . . . a murder?"

Mason nodded.

"Who found the body?"

"We did."

"That's bad."

"I know," Mason said, putting his arm around her shoulder and patting her reassuringly, "we always seem to be finding bodies."

"Who was it?"

"No one seems to know. Rather an attractive young woman sprawled out on a bed. What about our client?"

"He's taken care of."

"Where?"

"Do you remember the Gladedell Motel?"

"Mason nodded.

"The man who runs it is a friend of ours and it's close in."

"Did you call on the manager personally?"

She shook her head. "We drove down together. I had Mr. Conway let me out a block and a half from the motel. The he went in and registered by himself, came back, picked me up, reported and took me to where I could get a taxicab. He's in Unit 21.

"I came back by cab. I didn't want to use my own car. I was

Unions in Argentina Begin 48-Hour Strike

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Seventy unions claiming more than three million members began a 48-hour general strike at midnight last night demanding wage increases to meet the rising cost of living.

The unions, whose membership comprises nearly half Argentina's workmen, defied pleas of Provisional President Pedro Aramburu to stay on the job and increase production to ease inflation. The 70 include 62 unions that give nominal support to exiled former dictator Juan Peron.

Some observers said the strike might so disrupt the country that it would topple Aramburu's government, which has ruled under a state of siege for almost three weeks. Aramburu has announced plans for a presidential election in February and return of the government to civilians by next May 1.

Comic Figures Are Vanishing

Chester of 'Gunsmoke' Exemplifies New Trend in TV Horse Operas

By HAL MC CLURE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — That venerable veteran of the horse opera, the comic sidekick, has apparently ridden his balky mule into the sunset for the last time.

★ ★ ★

For now there's a new breed of sidekick on TV — serious, more intelligent and helpful.

The Wyatt Earps, Matt Dillons and assorted riders of the range now are virtually assured of a little support when they go after villains.

Not that comedy has disappeared. It's just a little more tame than in the days when Gabby Hayes, Smiley Burnette, Roscoe Ates, Fuzzy Knight or Al St. John rode the trail.

★ ★ ★

"Sure Western comedy has changed," says 30-year-old Dennis Weaver, the sober sidekick to James Arness in "Gunsmoke." "But drama itself has progressed from the old pie-throwing days."

PURE OKLAHOMA

As Chester, Matt Dillon's lame deputy, Weaver speaks "pure Okarche County, Oklahoma" which he picked up from a college buddy at the University of Oklahoma.

★ ★ ★

"No, I don't really limp," he says, "but fans often write — even from England where I understand the show is very popular — asking about my bad leg."

Traditionally, Weaver observes, sidekicks have been older men, not expected to shine at the showdown. The limp serves the purpose of "allowing the lead character, Marshal Dillon, to take complete charge of the situation."

Mason Alan Dinehart III, 20 years old, is another TV sidekick, The son of the late Alan Dinehart, longtime Hollywood and Broadway actor, Mason plays Bat Masterson, Wyatt Earp's problem pal, on TV.

★ ★ ★

Dinehart looked so young that he had to wear a mustache and sideburns to age him a mite.

STILL FUNNYMEN

Almost harkening to the past are the comic relief men of the Roy Rogers, Gene Autry and Wild Bill Hickok shows.

★ ★ ★

Andy Devine, a 51-year-old veteran of movies from the 1920s, admits the sidekick has refined. As Jingles to Wild Bill Hickok (Guy Madison), Andy is really Jingles to many kids.

He remembers once when some youngsters showed up at his Van Nuys, Calif., home and asked his wife, "Can Jingles come out and play?"

"The Proxy Murder"

afraid some one might notice the license number if I left it parked near the motel."

"How much did you find out on the trip down?" Mason asked.

"Quite a bit."

"Such as?"

"Jerry Conway's a very eligible bachelor. He seems to be really a grand person. He takes an interest in the people who work with him and seems to be on the up and up.

★ ★ ★

"Gift Farrell worked for Conway for a year or two, then Conway helped him get promoted to assistant manager. It took Conway a year to find it out, but Farrell was systematically trying to undermine Conway. He started rumors. He got confidential information from the files and used it in such a way that it would make things more difficult for Conway. In fact, he did everything he could to get Conway in bad.

★ ★ ★

"Finally, Conway found out about it and fired him. Farrell took the matter to the directors and he had been preparing his case for months. He'd made careful note of all sorts of things that had happened, and I guess there was quite a scene at the directors' meeting."

Mason nodded.

SECRETARY LOYAL

"Farrell almost made it stick. He might have done so if it had not been for the loyalty of one of the secretaries. Conway was able to show that Farrell had been passing confidential information on to a competitive company simply in order to discredit the program Conway was carrying out. When that became apparent, the directors threw Farrel out. Farrell waited for an opportunity and then started this campaign trying to get proxies.

"Now then," she went on, "I worked on him all the way down to see if he could place the voice of the person who phoned him. He seems to think the voice was disguised as to tone and it was the tempo that was hauntingly familiar. He just can't place it.

"I told him to keep working on it and phone Drake's office if he came up with any answers.

"His secretary, Eva Kane, used to be a phone operator and is accustomed to listening to voices on the phone. She feels positive the voice was that of some one they both know."

★ ★ ★

Mason said, "Well, I've got to go talk with Conway. You'd better go home, Della."

She smiled and shook her head. "I'll stay and hold the fort for a while. Phone if you want anything. I'll make some coffee in the electric percolator."

Mason drove his car past the lighted office of the Gladedell Motel, stopped in front of Unit 21, parking his car beside Conway's car, and switched out the lights.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Conway opened the door of Unit 21, but didn't come out in the light. He stood back on the inside and said, "Come on in, Mason."

Mason entered and closed the door behind him.

Conway indicated a chair for Mason, seated himself on the edge of the bed.

"How bad is it?" he asked.

Mason said, "Keep your voice down. These units are close together and the walls may be thin. It's bad!"

"How bad?"

"Murder!"

"Murder!" Conway exclaimed.

"Watch it!" Mason warned. "Keep your voice down."

"Good heavens!"

"You should have known," Mason told him. "I wouldn't have spirited you down here unless it had been serious."

"I knew it was bad but I hadn't. Who was killed? Farrell?"

"No, some woman."

"A woman?"

"That's right, a young woman. Now tell me if you've seen her, and I want you to think it over carefully. This is a woman about twenty - six or twenty - seven, blonde, with blue eyes and a good figure, but perhaps a little overdeveloped. The waist seems slim, but she had curves above and below. She was wearing a light blue sweater that probably matched her eyes."

Conway thought for a moment, then shook his head. "She means nothing to me — unless she was the girl I saw. She had black lace underthings. I think her eyes were sort of light, but that black mud pack on her face would make her eyes seem light. I can remember how the whites of the eyes glistened."

★ ★ ★

"How about young women you know?" Mason asked. "Any of them fit that description?"

"Listen," Conway said impatiently, "we have fifteen or twenty girls working for us. I can't seem to place one of that description offhand. You say she's good-looking?"

"Very!"

Conway thought again, shook his head.

"Try tying it up with the voice?" Mason asked.

"I've been trying to."

"Let's take a look at that gun."

Conway handed Mason the revolver. Mason broke it open, looked at it, took down the numbers in his notebook.

"You're going to try to trace it?" Conway asked.

"That's right," Mason said. "C 48809. I'll try and trace it. What about this secretary of yours? Where does she live?"

"Eva Kane, Cloudcroft Apartments."

★ ★ ★

Mason said, "You're going to have to go before the D. A. tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and tell your story."

"Do I have to?"

Mason nodded.
