Barry Snubs Romney After Delegate Talk

LANSING (AP) — Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater turned a cold shoulder on Gov. Romney last night after receiving a warm Michigan welcome.

* * *

Goldwater, who pocketed 40 Illinois votes earlier in the day, spent an hour and a half with the 48-vote Michigan delegation to the Republican national convention and, according to his backers, picked up new votes.

He estimated his own national delegate strength close to 690 votes.

He apparently fared better with the Michigan delegation than did Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who spent 29 hours in Michigan last week in his drive to overtake Goldwater in the race for the Republican nomination for president.

* * *

Scranton appeared to have picked up second ballot votes from Michigan's officially uncommitted delegation, while estimates of the senator's overall strength increased after his visit of a little more than three hours.

LEAVES IN RUSH

Goldwater left the Jack Tar Hotel in a rush after a half-hour reception sponsored by the staff of the governor's office and the Republican State Central Committee staff.

Reporters trailed him to a limousine waiting to take him to Lansing's Capital City Airport.

To their questions on the closed door meeting with delegates, he at first snapped, "How should I know how I made out?"

* * *

He later said he felt he had no commitment in Michigan, that the delegation was committed to support Romney.

NO ROMNEY MEETING

The Arizona senator rushed out without meeting with Romney.

The Michigan governor has sought the meeting for nine months and twice yesterday it appeared his wish might be granted.

Goldwater had indicated in a chance meeting with Romney at a Washington airport Monday that he would try to arrive in Michigan early enough to permit a long closed-door meeting

Goldwater Views Called Reckless

New Election Sought in Avondale Schools

A suit to force a new Avondale School Board election was filed this morning in Oakland County Circuit Court by two ousted board members.

Ex-board secretary Mrs. Genevieve Porter and trustee Floyd L. Cobb Jr. charge fellow board members acted improperly in striking their names from the June 8 election ballot, forcing them to run as write-in candidates.

A request for a restraining order barring successful candidates Herbert Miller and Edward Turner from holding office was denied by Judge Philip Pratt, however.

"I don't want to tie the hands of the school board from functioning," said Judge Pratt. He feared a long law suit could hurt the district's operations if board members are temporarily unseated pending a decision.

Mrs. Porter and Cobb complain petitions placing them on the ballot were ruled invalid because of a mix-up over the circulator signing his name, but that school officials neglected to correct the error promptly.

* * *

Their suit asks that Miller and Turner be discharged and a new election held. A show cause hearing will be scheduled later this month.

The incumbents ran as write-ins after they were deleted from the ballot, but failed to get enough votes for reelection.

Storm Leaves Wake of Death

Typhoon Winnie Toll Soars in Manila

MANILA (AP) — Casualty figures from Typhoon Winnie soared today as reports of death and destruction from one of the worst storms ever to smash through Manila started trickling in from stricken areas.

The Philippine News Service and local newspapers reported 40 dead although the Red Cross listed only 11 fatalities.

The Red Cross reported 275 injured and 376,897 homeless in cities and provinces of central Luzon Island hit by the typhoon.

Manila declared a state of calamity and began clearing rubble and debris.

* * *

The city of two million still was without electric power and water 36 hours after the typhoon roared in from the Pacific with winds up to 90 miles an hour Monday night.

RESTORE TRANSPORTATION

Public transportation was restored this morning.

City streets were choked with cars and buses.

Most offices and stores reopened and most employes appeared for work.

* * *

The Manila International Airport reopened to traffic after a 36-hour suspension.

ESCORT SINKS

The Philippine Navy said the destroyer escort Rajah Soliman capsized and sank at the Mariveles shipyard in Bataan Province just across Manila Bay.

The Swedish freighter Nordvind got away from shallow waters off Manila's Dewey Boulevard but two other small freighters were still aground, waiting for a higher tide.

All Philippine armed forces personnel were placed on the alert to help typhoon victims and maintain order.

Government agencies began sending medical and rescue teams to stricken provincial areas, but relief work was greatly hampered by the continuing disruption in communications and Manila's power blackout.

A Navy spokesman said there were no casualties. Aircraft were either lashed securely or flown to safer areas.

Flash

BOSTON (UPI) — A 7,000-ton Liberian freighter and a Russian fishing vessel collided in a thick fog today some 450 miles off the coast of Boston, the Coast Guard said. The Soviet vessel was reported to be jettisoning cargo in an attempt to stay afloat.

"YOU'RE KIDDING!" — That's the opinion of Tandy Bidinger, that a gal's freedom on the beach should not be restricted. At Pontiac Lake yesterday, she gave Supervisor Edward Cheyz her views on the ordinance banning topless bathing suits which the White Lake Township Board adopted last night. The 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bidinger, 1450 Ruffner, Birmingham, has another six years before the law will affect her.

Perimeter Now Wide Track Dr.

"Wide Track Drive" was selected last night by the Pontiac City Commission as the new name for Perimeter Road.

However, the name change was not accomplished without some verbal discord.

The commission resolution noted the increased safety the wide-track design has given Pontiac automobiles.

Adopted from advertising slogans for the car, the name was okayed by a 6-0 vote with one Commissioner not voting.

* * *

Commissioner Wesley J. Wood admitted he had high esteem for the car, but said he couldn't vote for that name on a road.

OTHER IDEAS

Although he voted for the new name, Commissioner Robert C. Irwin later expressed some reservations. He though the street should be called perimeter road or perimeter drive.

Senate Approves Gen. Taylor's Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate confirmed by voice vote today President Johnson's nomination of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor to be ambassador to South Viet Nam.

The Senate also confirmed the nomination of U. Alexis Johnson to the top-ranking status of career ambassador.

Johnson, who previously held the rank of career minister, is already on duty in Saigon as deputy ambassador under Taylor.

Swimmers 'Covered' in New Law

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Topless swimsuit faddists have been given the cold shoulder treatment here.

Township trustees last night passed what is believed to be Michigan's first ordinance outlawing the abbreviated one piecers.

Their action was preventive rather than corrective since no one has yet reported seeing a topless suit in the township.

"We did this before we start having people come out to the township and creating a disturbance," Supervisor Edward Cheyz said. "After all, we have 27 lakes."

* * *

Cheyz a week ago recommended that the board establish minimum apparel requirements for beaches and Township Attorney Paul Mandel was authorized to draft the law.

SPECIAL SESSION

It was unanimously adopted at a special session last night.

The ordinance covers, literally, persons at public beaches and pools and private ones to which admission is charged.

It requires them to "be attired in a garment made of opaque fabric or material which covers all private parts of the body and, in the case of females over the age of 8, their breasts."

Violators convicted of the misdemeanor will face up to $100 fines, 90 days in jail or both.

The limitations will go into effect Aug. 1.

"Those girls who want to try out their new apparel better get out here before then," Cheyz said.

Turning Point Is Reached in Viet War, Says Lodge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge declared today that the "downward spiral" in the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam has been stopped.

He said "we will win" if the United States and the South Vietnamese persist in carrying out realistic political and military policies.

In his first major speech since returning from Saigon Monday, after resigning as ambassador, Lodge pictured the greatest threat to this confident outlook as an increase in "hostile outside pressures" from the Communist side.

If those pressures grow too great, he said in an address prepared for the National Press Club, then "we may be forced" to take other actions to deal with the new threat.

Lodge did not spell out what additional steps might be employed against Communist forces in Southeast Asia. There has been considerable talk from U.S. officials in recent weeks about possibly carrying the war to North Viet Nam by air strikes, but he did not mention that.

PONTIAC WELCOME—Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. (left) pinned a "big three" pin on Joseph A. Warren, who will take over as Pontiac city manager on Aug. 3. Warren, still officially city manager of Jackson, received his "3" pin, which signifies Pontiac's position in the auto industry, at last night's City Commission meeting, when he was officially appointed city manager. Plays Game of Warmonger --Scranton

Governor Returns to Attack Despite Gloom Over Illinois Setback

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton said today Sen. Barry Goldwater is "playing the warmongers' game" in proposing use of military force to solve some international problems.

Scranton declared he believes Goldwater, the front runner for the Republican presidential nomination, "in his heart wants peace."

"Isn't he playing the warmongers' game when he proposes authorizing field commanders to use tactical nuclear weapons on their initiative; when he suggests sending Marines to capture the Guantanamo water?" he asked.

"These are reckless proposals," Scranton said.

* * *

"They are the very opposite of the calm strength with which President Dwight D. Eisenhower for eight years maintained the world's peace."

RETURNS TO ATTACK

Scranton returned to his attack on Goldwater after a respite yesterday to appear before Illinois GOP convention delegates in his presidential bid.

The 58-voter delegation handed Scranton a setback—but one he said he had expected.

Despite gloom in the governor's party in the wake of the Illinois results, Scranton turned his campaign westward to woo delegations in Utah, Washington and Oregon.

Scranton said in a statement: "I do not agree with my opponent

Steel Barrier for Telegraph?

Experts Suggest It in Median Talks

The State Highway Department today set about making Telegraph safer for motorists in Bloomfield Township.

Engineers are working on preliminary figures and their requests are being sent to Lansing.

But township officials will not see the concrete median strip removed as they requested yesterday.

Instead, highway engineers propose running a 2-foot-high steel plate barrier up the middle of the highway.

* * *

It would cost about $132,000 to install the barrier for the entire 5-mile length of the strip, according to district traffic engineer S. J. Levine.

REQUESTED HELP

In his letter to the Lansing office, he requested that protection be provided for at least the areas where hazards exist.

"Our first step will be to outline the entire median with reflectorized paint," Levine said. "This should be done right after the Fourth."

Then the pavement north of the Maple-Telegraph intersection is to be widened to permit a more gradual return from three to two lanes for northbound traffic.

The meeting with Levine yesterday was requested after the median strip was cited as a factor in two recent traffic deaths and nine other accidents this year.

"I don't agree with the steel barrier idea," Township Police Chief Norman Dehnke said, "but at least it's a step in the right direction. It will keep cars from head-on collisions."

Levine noted that a survey of the 1963 accident picture indicated "a lot of this is caused by left turns."

"We are going to install a considerable amount of no left turn signs," Levine said. "Left turns will be prohibited in the township at any intersection that's not protected."

Levine said he hoped the project would be completed this summer.

Mercury Off Mark Seen in Prediction

Let's talk about the weather.

Early this morning, the weatherman predicted a high of 90 to 96 for today, but partly cloudy skies forced temperatures to remain in the high 80s.

It is supposed to be about 90 tomorrow.

Scattered thundershowers forecast for tonight and tomorrow through the entire Lower Peninsula will help break up the heat wave which has kept thermometers at 90 and above since Friday.

* * *

YOU'RE LUCKY

Pontiac residents may consider themselves lucky this year.

It was on July 1, 1963 that one of Pontiac's major water tanks went dry and the mercury hit 99, the hottest record for the day since the U. S. Weather Bureau began compiling records in 1872.

K Asks Norway, Denmark to Quit Western Alliance

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev made a public bid Tuesday night for Norway and Denmark to quit the North Atlantic alliance and join Finland and Sweden in a Nordic zone of neutrality.

An audience of 800—including government ministers, members of Parliament and diplomats—did not applaud Khrushchev's plea in an address at the politically independent Norwegian Institute of Foreign Affairs.

Although insisting that he was not offering advice to the Norwegian government and Parliament, Khrushchev urged adherence to the neutral policies of Sweden and Finland.

'MERE CHANCE'

"We think it would be a contribution toward peace in the north if Norway and Denmark were not bound by military obligations toward states which have nothing to do with this area," the visiting premier said.

* * *

"We think that the participation of such countries as Norway and Denmark in the military plans of the West has been created through a mere set of circumstances.

"From our point of view, the most reliable guarantee for the security of such countries as Norway and Denmark, Sweden and Finland is a policy of neutrality which both sides would recognize — both the Western powers and the Socialist countries.

* * *

"Such a policy would be a kind of guarantee that the countries of northern Europe, in the case of a military conflict breaking out, would have safeguarded themselves against the devastating effects of modern weapons."

* * *

There has been no indication that Khrushchev has swayed either Denmark or Norway from their commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

POSITIONS CLEAR

Both governments made clear before Khrushchev embarked on his tour that they did not want to discuss their NATO alignment.

In reverting to the previous organization, the commissioners followed the recommendation of Acting City Manager John F. Reineck.

REVIEWS SERVICES

Reineck had reviewed the city's inspection services, reporting that the separation of the plumbing and building inspectors created a need for duplicate files, additional personnel, floor space and filing cabinets.

City officials said that an added reason for the switch was to take some of the load off of the city manager, who already has 26 department heads reporting directly to him.

Reineck noted in his report to the City Commission that in the future it might be desirable to establish an inspection department with a chief inspector as its head.

* * *

Consolidated under the chief inspector would be the building, plumbing, sidewalk, heating and safety inspectors.

City Abolishes 2 Departments

Engineer to Direct Plumbing, Building

Pontiac's plumbing and building inspectors, separated into individual departments less than a year ago, were placed back under the city engineer's responsibility last night.

The City Commission approved a resolution repealing 1963 action that put the two inspectors in separate departments.

Since August 1963, the two inspectors have reported directly to the city manager.

A previous City Commission had separated the two inspectors into two departments.

Utica Man on Probation in Fraud Case

A state investigator who tried to use his sleuthing skills for his own profit was placed on two years probation yesterday by Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt.

Up for sentencing was Dean L. Hasse Jr., 53, of 5032 Helene, Utica, who was found guilty by a jury last month on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

* * *

Hasse resigned his $6,000-a-year job as investigator for the State Board of Dentistry upon his conviction.

* * *

Police said Hasse falsely represented himself last September as a licensed private investigator to a Southfield woman seeking to obtain evidence against her husband for use in a divorce case.

RENEW PROTEST—Lake Oakland Heights residents gathered at a hydrant today on a county road right-of-way to renew their protest against a proposed water tower across the street from their subdivision. Water was needed to operate a pile driver at the construction site.

Water Tower Protest Resumed

Residents of Lake Oakland Heights subdivision in Waterford Township renewed their water tower protest this morning by gathering for coffee at the water source for equipment on the job site.

A group of about 20, mostly women, seated themselves around a hydrant directly across Main from the proposed site of the 750,000 gallon tower.

As the protesters sat sipping coffee, a pile driving machine across the street was being fired up to begin work today on the base of the tower.

The steam-operated pile driver requires an ample supply of water.

* * *

Police arrived at the scene at 8:30 a.m. to advise residents that a Circuit Court injunction was issued two weeks ago.

ENDS SIT-IN

That restraining order ended a five-day sit-in by residents at Main and Walton where access to the job site had been blocked.

Police left the scene when Samuel A. Ferguson, president of the subdivision association asserted that the injunction was aimed at blocking the street and didn't mention the hydrant.

The contractor on the tower site indicated he would arrange to truck water to the site, if necessary, so work can proceed on schedule.

* * *

THREE SUITS

One filed by the subdivision group seeks to halt construction of the water tower and another complains that the township ignored deed restrictions in transferring control of the existing subdivision water system to the county for inclusion in a central township system.

A third suit filed by an individual subdivision resident seeks to nullify the contract between the township and county.

An injunction sought by the subdivision group to prevent the township and county from incorporating the Oakland Heights system in the central water system was denied Friday.

* * *

COURT POSITION

Judge Beer said that the court dislikes to issue temporary injunctions when the injunction directly involves the permanent cause of the suit.

* * *

A pretrial on this suit is scheduled for Aug. 24.

* * *

Despite the pending litigation, county and township officials decided to proceed with construction of the Lake Oakland Heights tower.

WON'T GIVE UP.

"I have not given up on freedom," said Scranton. "I have not given up on America and I have not given up on maintaining the peace of the world."

The Illinois delegation came out of a day-long meeting yesterday, giving 48 of its 58 votes to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Eight delegates remained uncommitted. Two declined to make a choice.

* * *

Scranton and Goldwater each had met with the delegation for an hour.

PUBLIC EXPOSURE

Scranton said his strategy in Illinois was aimed more at public reaction.

The point, he said, was to arouse the public, who in turn would influence the Illinois group before it casts the first ballot at San Francisco.

Bus Service Guaranteed to July 31

The city was guaranteed bus service for at least another month last night.

City Commissioners last night approved extension of the city's agreement with American Transit Corp., through July 31.

American Transit is the parent firm of Pontiac Transit Corp., whose contract with the city expired at midnight last night.

The bus company has agreed to continue operations until the question of bus transportation is settled.

* * *

The firm has submitted two proposals in seeking agreement to provide bus service in Pontiac.

REQUEST FOR SUBSIDY

Included in both proposals has been the request for a subsidy from the city.

While negotiations have continued with Pontiac Transit, city officials have also sought a bid from a second bus company.

The city had paid a flat rate subsidy of $420 per month — $5,040 per year — to help offset the bus company's operating losses.

* * *

However, the bus firm reportedly had asked for a basic minimum subsidy of $10,000 annually to keep it in business in the city.

City officials have declined to name the second firm slated to bid for the bus business here.

In February 1941, he was named plant superintendent.

He became manager of the torpedo plant in 1943 and was promoted to general superintendent of all plants on May 1, 1944.

In 1951, Starr was named general manufacturing manager. He was promoted to his present position in December 1960.

Starr and his wife and two children live at 12610 E. Holly, Springfield Township.

Norris has been with General Motors since 1933, when he joined the corporation as a cost accountant with Chevrolet Motor Division in Indianapolis.

Another Victim at Kensington

Avert Second Death in Lotus Lake Mishap

The fifth drowning in the adjoining Kensington and Inland Lake parks this year — the fourth in the area in as many days — was recorded yesterday.

However, at Lotus Lake in Waterford Township yesterday, a 14-year-old Pontiac girl was revived after nearly drowning.

The drowning victim was 4-year-old David M. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terrance D. Thompson, of 7158 Micheal, Taylor Township.

The body of the boy was recovered from Kent Lake at 5:25 p.m. off the Turtle Head picnic site in a posted "No Swimming" area, where the family was wading, according to sheriff's deputies.

The youngster was found in seven feet of water, 25 feet from shore, by skin diver Medward Tessier of the Oakland County Sheriff's Office.

* * *

David's father told police that he had been with the boy in the water and after a while gave him to his mother, who took him back to the picnic area, and then returned to the water herself.

BOY DISAPPEARS

When they looked back a few minutes later the youngster was gone.

The local teen-ager, Kathryn Angel, 58 Forest, regained consciousness after she was given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation by Mrs. Paul David of 4515 Cloverton, Waterford Township.

Kathryn, visiting at the home of the Paul O'Dells, 4146 Lotus, sank in water 50 feet from shore when she got stuck in mud.

She was rescued from the water by Lonney LeFever, 19, of 6379 Saline, Waterford Township.

Mrs. David learned the mouth-mouth breathing method in a course conducted by the Oakland County Sheriff's Office Water Division.

Romney Gets Barry Snub

to discuss key issues with Romney. He arrived late.

He said later, after a 10-minute meeting with the governor, that he would be willing to delay his departure for a "reasonable length of time" to answer any questions that Romney felt were not answered in the delegate meeting.

NO TIME

As he left he said, "We had no time to visit."

Romney, appearing cool toward Goldwater, said in a news conference following the meeting that Goldwater had not answered all questions to his satisfaction.

The questions, he said, covered the areas of civil rights, collective bargaining and foreign policy.

* * *

Goldwater was presented a list of about 24 questions substantially the same as a list presented to Scranton last week. He also answered questions from the floor.

STATE OF CONFUSION

The meeting also left delegates in an apparent state of confusion.

Goldwater backers quoted Romney as saying they were not bound to their pledge to nominate him as a favorite son candidate for president after the platform is resolved at the GOP national convention July 13-17.

Others said they were still bound by the pledge for a first ballot nomination.

* * *

Romney said that delegates who opposed the move were free to vote according to their conscience at the convention.

ASSESSES STRENGTH

The governor placed Goldwater's strength in the Michigan delegation at "six to eight at the start—but no more than that. . . (and) in time 16 to 20."

JUDGE J. S. THORBURN

County Judge Enters Election

Third Appointee to Run on Fall Ballot

Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn today became the third Gov. Romney appointee to the Oakland County bench to announce his candidacy in the fall election.

Judge Thorburn will seek to retain until 1966 the circuit judgeship he was named to in September, 1963 by the governor.

Other appointees, Judges Arthur E. Moore and Philip Pratt, announced earlier this week. All will try for two-year terms, which would take them up to the time longer terms will be available under revised election procedures.

Thorburn, 44, of 2600 Vinsetta, Royal Oak, practiced law in the county for 16 years before becoming a judge. He is a past president of Oakland County Bar Association and South Oakland Bar Association.

As an attorney he was in public law litigation as counsel for the cities of Huntington Woods and Pleasant Ridge, and Birmingham School District.

BOARD TRUSTEE

He also served 12 years on Royal Oak school board, as trustee, vice president and president.

Thorburn is a member of Pontiac Rotary Club and is a William Beaumont Hospital trustee.

Commenting on his candidacy, Judge Thorburn stated: "The Oakland County Circuit Court has for many years had the reputation throughout the state for industry, efficiency and justice.

"During my tenure, I believe I have done my part to maintain the high standard set by my fellow judges and their predecessors."

A World War II Navy torpedo plane pilot, Thorburn was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for sinking a Japanese ship.

New Comet Visible on Horizon Tonight

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A new comet will be visible to the naked eye throughout North America tonight, says the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory.

The comet, named Tomita-Gerber - Honda after the three scientists who first sighted it, is expected to appear as a faint point of light low in the northwest horizon shortly after sunset, George Cornell, observatory spokesman, said yesterday.

Poles Are Sad at Bob Kennedy Leaving—Government Isn't

WARSAW Poland (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's visit to Poland ended today with a noisy tearful farewell from hundreds of Poles and a cold shoulder from the Communist government.

★ ★ ★

Before leaving for London, en route to the United States, he issued a statement to newsmen urging "the reconciliation of Eastern and Western Europe in association with the United States" as "the only sure guarantee against nuclear war whether by design or accident."

Except for low - ranking aides and security people no Polish officials saw Kennedy his wife and three of their children off at the airport.

Although Kennedy's visit was private and not official he had been met on his arrival last Saturday by Foreign Ministry Ambassador Eugeniusz Milnikiel.

★ ★ ★

The government was understood to be irritated at Kennedy's series of stump-style speeches to street crowds and his visit to Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski the Roman Catholic Primate of Poland against the advice of government officials.

But several hundred poles outside Kennedy's hotel repeated the past few days. They serenaded him with a chorus of "Sto Lat" (may you live 100 years) as he climbed once again to the roof of his sedan.

At the airport Kennedy got out of his car to shake hands with almost everyone standing in a crowd of 150 outside the fence. Two old women broke into tears. One kissed his hand and he patted her cheek. The woman sobbed.

Kennedy's departure brought the first appearance of pickets during his visit.

★ ★ ★

Both at the hotel and beside the plane were men with placards in Polish reading "In the name of peace don't give nuclear weapons to West Germany" and "Why doesn't the government of the United States recognize our frontiers of the Oder and the Neisse?"

SHOOK HANDS

Kennedy shook hands with the pickets at the airport and gave one of them a rose.

In his statement to newsmen Kennedy pledged a theme which is said to have attracted the interest of Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki in a meeting two days ago.

It was that "Poland has political ties with the Soviet Union and personal ties with the United States and the Soviet Union."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy said America wants Poland's help "in building those open 'bridge of reconciliation' that President Johnson called for last month."

FRIENDLY PEOPLE

Kennedy said his strongest impression of Poland was the friendliness of the people. He said the Poles were "a strongly religious people devoted to their faith and belief in God."

"This was very inspiring to see" Kennedy said. "I don't think it exists with such intensity in many other countries."

In a statement concluding his three-day visit to Poland he also declared: "I believe that now is the time to work earnestly on the great problem ahead — the security of Poland and of Eastern Europe, of Germany and Western Europe of the Soviet Union and of the United States."

Fumes Overcome 3; Plant Is Evacuated

ADA (AP) — Three Amway Corp. employes were overcome briefly Tuesday night in a work accident involving chemical fumes which caused evacuation of some 50 workers on the shift.

Kent County Sheriff's deputies said it was a result of overheating in a hopper containing sodium hydrosulphite.

Franco Sees Prince, Dutch Princess Irene

It was the first formal meeting of Irene, who renounced her rights to the Dutch throne to marry the Carlist prince, with Franco. They were received in his office in the Pardo Palace on the outskirts of Madrid.

Citizens, Orion Battle Pollution

Group Seeks Clean Stream

Recruiting Supporters in Paint Creek Project

The Paint Creek Citizens Conservation Committee will kick off its program to restore the stream to its original state of natural beauty and purity with "Operation Clean-Up" next month.

The committee is seeking the support of citizens in the six communities that border the stream to help clean up the debris in the stream bed.

Once the clean-up operation is completed, the committee plans to start work on the real problem — halting pollution of the creek.

Residents of Rochester, Lake Orion and Avon, Orion, Oakland and Oxford townships are the ones primarily concerned with the restoration project.

* * *

They were labeled "custodians of the stream" by UAW President Walter Reuther, who is chairman of the conservation committee.

FIRST AWARENESS

He said the first thing needed was awareness of the conditions that exist on the stream and then the backing of the people concerned.

"We want to involve as many citizens as possible to take an active part in the antipollution and beautification project," Reuther said.

As the date for "Operation Clean-Up" approaches, more detailed information on how interested people can help will be made available.

In the meantime, if any residents along the creek are not sure whether or not their premises inadvertently contribute to the pollution of the creek, the committee recommends they call the Oakland County Board of Health for assistance.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

The health department previously gave its backing to the project. Its representative, sanitarian Oscar Boyea, was at the committee's organizational meeting May 26.

Boyea said then that one corrective measure will be instituted in late 1965 when the Lake Orion sewage plant is slated for completion.

* * *

The sanitarian said the county health department plans eventually to have a large sewer system extending up the paint Creek basin, which would also aid in remedying the pollution situation.

LAKES IN DEVELOPMENT — Two good-sized lakes, Voorhels (top) and Lake Sixteen (bottom), are included in the 3,200 acres in Orion Township acquired by a Birmingham firm, Kenting of Michigan, Inc., for a $250-million planned community. Formerly the estate of the late William E. Scripps, the huge parcel lies 1½ miles north of the I-75 Freeway and about the same distance west of M24. A marina is planned on Voorhels Lake and retiree housing near Lake Sixteen.

Bond Issuance Okayed for Rochester District

ROCHESTER — The State Department of Public Instruction has approved the issuance of a $1.5-million school bond for Rochester School District.

The district voted to renew a 2-mill tax levy for five years along with approval of the $1.5-million bond issue in the May 4 election.

Village Asking More Time to Submit Sewage Plans

LAKE ORION — The Lake Orion Village Council has applied to the State Health Commissioner for an extended dead line on the submission of sewage plant plans.

The new sewage system is needed to alleviate the pollution in Paint Creek.

Oakland County Department of Public Works asked the village to apply for the revision because DPW officials had been unable to comply with the April 1 deadline for submission of plans.

The county asked that Aug. 1 be set for completed construction plans, April 1, 1965 for awarding construction contracts and Dec. 31, 1965 for completed construction and the new sewage plant in operation.

NO WORD

The village has not yet heard whether the extension will be granted.

The problem of a new sewage plant plan for Lake Orion came about when the State Water Resources Commission demanded that the village find the source of Paint Creek's pollution and alleviate it.

The village council learned from its engineers that the main cause of the creek's pollution is due to discharge of sewage into the creek from residences and business establishments.

* * *

After considering several systems proposed by consulting engineers Hubbell, Roth and Clark of Birmingham, the council decided the village would need county help.

PLANS REJECTED

It rejected plans for a joint system with Oxford and a system which would encompass parts of Orion Township.

Last August, the council formally requested the county DPW to undertake construction of the first stage of the sewer project.

Now the Department of Public Works will get construction plans and later negotiate a contract for building the system.

FIRST STAGE

The first stage of the project calls for sewage lines throughout the area east of the lake and in the village's central business district. The islands and peninsulas of the lake will not be included.

A way of financing the project will be determined after county representatives confer with the engineers and the specifications for the system are completed.

Lake Orion Village President William Shoup said that a cost estimate should be issued soon.

UAW, Ford Eye Work Conditions

By GEN ESCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiations between the United Auto Workers and the Ford Motor Company opened today with the union's chief proposals focused on improved working conditions.

The first week of contract talks in the nation's largest industry got underway Tuesday when a team headed by UAW President Walter Reuther sat down with representatives of General Motors Corp.

* * *

Negotiations with the last of the Big Three auto producers—Chrysler— are scheduled to begin tomorrow. First - round talks with American Motors start July 8.

Current three - year contracts with the Big Three, covering some 550,000 workers, all expire Aug. 31.

EMPHASIZE FORD

Although union proposals follow a similar pattern for all of the automakers, a UAW source said particular emphasis will be placed on working conditions at Ford because of model mix changes on the assembly lines.

In some plants, the same assembly lines now handle both Mercury and Ford models, placing an added burden on the worker, he said.

* * *

As bargaining opened with GM, both sides expressed hopes for a peaceful settlement without a costly round of strikes, such as those that have plagued the industry in previous years.

But Louis Seaton, GM vice president for personnel, said he believed the union's publicized proposals represented an "exorbitant set of goals."

WILL LISTEN

Seaton said the company would listen carefully to the UAW's specific suggestions, answer them in detail and eventually make proposals of its own.

But, he added, GM would "vigorously oppose any union proposal which we do not feel is practical and sound for the business."

The union began outlining its GM goals in a set of 34 so-called "position papers" dealing with specific contract provisions and working conditions. The presentation is expected to continue through next week.

Included among the proposals are a request for double time for work after eight hours a day or on Saturday, and triple pay for Sundays and holidays.

* * *

'Automation's Effect Greatest on Aged'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—An automation expert today told the Conference on Aging at the University of Michigan "the disruptive effect of automation has been the greatest on the aged—those least able to cope with change."

* * *

George E. Arnstein, associate director of a National Education Association project on automation, made his remarks at a closing session of the 17th annual conference. Some 500 persons attended the meeting.

* * *

Citing increased productivity, leisure time and knowledge because of automation, Arnstein said in a prepared speech that "as a result of this great revolution our values have changed.

* * *

"Communication between members of a multigeneration family are becoming strained because the aged are unable to understand many of the changes."

ROMNEY TO SPEAK

Gov. George W. Romney planned to address the conference today on "Michigan's Plans for Her Aging."

* * *

A speaker Tuesday described as a common myth a belief that a family's care and respect toward elderly members would avert loneliness and boredom and slow the deterioration of the aging.

* * *

"The aged who see their relatives, their families with frequency, have lower morale (and) more symptoms of depression than those who see their families with less frequency," said Dr. Jack Weinberg, clinical director of the Illinois State Psychiatric Institute.

* * *

"Loneliness and boredom are more usually symptoms of personal distress than of family neglect," he added.

RELIEF FROM HEAT — The lake in Lake Orion Village Park is a mecca these days for local residents who want to cool off in the over 90-degree temperatures. But it will be a busier place beginning Monday when the Lake Orion School of Aquatics begins. Children will be attending swimming classes from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily Monday through Friday for six weeks. Instructor will be Lecy Roe. The program is sponsored by the Lake Orion Child Guidance Association.

Michigan produces two-thirds of the nation's supply of soft white winter wheat which is used for commercial cake mixes, pastries, and crackers.

AREA NEWS

Novi Twp. Faces Suit in Death

The mother of an 8-year-old boy who drowned in a swimming mishap a year ago is seeking a $200,000 judgment against Novi Township.

Filing the suit in Oakland County Circuit Court was Mrs. Shirley Kellum of Detroit.

She charged negligence in the supervision of swimming at Novi Township Park, on Walled Lake, resulted in the death of her son, Larry, on July 2, 1963.

Specific complaints are that the township authorities failed to warn children of dangers involved in swimming at the park's beach and neglected to have a lifeguard on duty.

* * *

According to police reports, the boy's body was discovered in five feet of water, 200 feet from shore by other swimmers.

Mrs. Kellum at that time stated she hadn't realized the boy was missing and had seen him 30 minutes before his body was found.

Eight of her 10 children were at the beach at the time of the drowning.

Township Supervisors Elect

White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz has been elected chairman of the Oakland County Township Supervisors Association.

* * *

Cheyz succeeds Duane Hursfall, head of Independence Township.

Others recently installed were Seeley Tinsman of Holly Township, vice chairman, and Homer Cane of Bloomfield Township secretary.

Plan Fireworks in Ortonville

Another community, Ortonville, has been added to the list of seven planning fireworks displays on the Fourth of July.

* * *

Sponsored by the local merchants, the Ortonville display will be handled by the Brandon Fire Department. It will be staged at 9 p.m. at the Brandon School parking lot.

* * *

The other communities where rockets will zoom skyward on the holiday evening include Troy, Milford, Rochester, Auburn Heights and Keego Harbor.

* * *

Fireworks displays also will climax day-long festivities in both Utica and Clarkston.

Rochester Chief Assumes Duties

ROCHESTER — It's Chief Robert Werth today, instead of Sgt. Werth as it was yesterday.

* * *

Today Werth takes over as Rochester police chief, succeeding Sam Howlett who held the post for 28 years.

Howlett retired to take a job in plant protection at National Twist Drill and Tool Co.

Werth has been acting chief since June 12 when Howlett left on accumulated vacation time.

* * *

A new officer, bringing the force back to its full strength of eight, also began work today. He is Nathan Underwood, 21, of 131 E. Fourth.

Has Violence on TV Incited Savagery?

A University of Minnesota psychologist cites the recent attack by four youths on a Detroit woman as she was dying from a stroke as an example of savagery which may have been provoked by television.

There are even those who say that comparable crimes couldn't have happened in such large numbers before television.

The scientist, who stopped short of such all-out indictment, adds, "If it is a new trend in human conduct, speculation as to the cause is in order.

"As a cause for this animal behavior, first there is television. Through it we have become used to violence. We can see three or four persons killed every night in our living rooms."

It is an old story, of course, for professors to blame things on television.

Television executives counter such charges with the argument that nobody has ever proved that violence on television has influenced violence in real life.

★ ★ ★

Thus has run the debate—all of it pretty abstract. But one concrete fact does stand out: If television had no power to influence, there would be no commercials.

We believe that society would be the gainer were every television producer to be guided by this criterion: "What good will this program do?"

Plea for Safe Driving a Season Harbinger

With highway traffic casualties setting grim records throughout America, safe-driving counsel is always timely. But it is particularly so with the summer's fine weather and the Fourth of July weekend ahead.

Surveys show that the average driver reacts to a warning in three-fourths of a second. If his car is traveling at the rate of 40 miles per hour, it covers 44 feet during that split second, and requires 115 feet to stop. If the speed is at the rate of 60 miles per hour, comparable figures are 88 and 226 feet respectively.

No new procedures for safe driving have been evolved. Most drivers are familiar with the essential ones. The trouble is, many disregard them with the inner conviction "that it can't happen to me."

But tragically, it does happen — to a shockingly large number of "me's." Oakland County's highway toll for 1964 stands at 89.

With rear-end collisions a soaring form of highway accident, safety experts continually warn against driving too close to the car ahead.

A standard precaution is to keep one car length back for each 10-mile rate of speed you are traveling.

★ ★ ★

Authorities say, too, that not enough drivers project their outlook far enough ahead as well as behind, through reliance on the rear-view mirror. Thus they are unprepared for trouble that might have been seen in the developing stage and avoided.

Consistent use of directional signals are a must. Most drivers use them when turning corners, but it is equally imperative, particularly with the increasing number of miles of multilane freeway, to signal when changing lanes. Most sideswipe accidents are caused by failure to do so.

★ ★ ★

Finally, don't let delay in starting for an objective cause you to make up for it by excessive speed or recklessness en route. A delay is easier to explain than an accident.

We urge every driver to be everlastingly alert and foresighted in the operation of his car, and to drive as though his life depended on it.

Lodge Still Needs to Get Up Steam

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Henry Cabot Lodge came home from Viet Nam to try to stop Sen. Barry Goldwater but from what he said, or rather refused to say, you might get the impression he wasn't exactly belligerent. But you never can tell.

MARLOW

Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, who is trying to beat Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination, started off on a no-name basis, too. It took him a while to get steamed up.

Lodge quit his job as U.S. ambassador to help Scranton's fight, arrived here Monday, made a farewell report to President Johnson at the White House, and then held a news conference.

He said the Republicans must not nominate "an imprudent man, an impulsive man." But he wouldn't criticize Goldwater by name. Asked if he regarded the senator as impulsive, Lodge said "people can draw their own conclusions."

When Scranton announced June 12 he was going to campaign for the nomination, making it a clear stop-Goldwater move, he sent the Arizonan a telegram, telling Goldwater how much he respected him, and adding:

★ ★ ★

"I will say nothing in the weeks ahead to diminish that respect. On the issues, I will be vigorous with all the power at my command. On personalities I will be silent."

IDEAS ATTACKED

But almost at the moment he disclosed this telegram he was calling Goldwater's ideas—without mentioning him by name—a "weird parody" of traditional Republican principles.

He attacked what he referred to as the "shoot from the hip, rather than think from the head foreign policy," again without naming names. As he warmed up he threw out phrases against "radical reactionaries."

Goldwater responded with "I welcome Bill Scranton into the race as one of the outstanding governors of the nation."

★ ★ ★

Then the senator said that on Dec. 18, 1963—a couple of weeks before he officially announced his candidacy—he received the following letter from Scranton who is now trying to block him from the nomination:

SCRANTON LETTER

"I read in the newspapers that you are reappraising your own situation to decide whether to be a candidate for the presidential nomination. I hope you decide to run, and I would like the opportunity, albeit impertinent, to discuss this with you."

Goldwater said they later discussed it. Scranton, asked about this letter after he started running himself, said he had sent a similar letter to two other persons whom he refused to name.

For some days after starting out in pursuit of Goldwater, Scranton didn't mention the senator by name.

★ ★ ★

But he attacked the "dime-store feudalism" of "radicals of the right" and said this is not the time to join "extreme reactionaries who are anything but conservative."

NAME USED

By last weekend, Scranton was criticizing Goldwater by name.

Since the convention is still two weeks away, Lodge has time to get heated up enough to mention Goldwater by name, too.

Holiday Traffic Tip

David Lawrence Asks:

Just Who Has Been 'Impulsive?'

WASHINGTON — "Impulsive" seems to have become a popular word in the political vocabulary of the hour. Maybe it will even provide an issue in the campaign.

Gov. Scranton of Pennsylvania uses the word in describing Sen. Goldwater's alleged lack of qualification for the presidency. Henry Cabot Lodge, just returned from serving as ambassador to Viet Nam in order to campaign for the Pennsylvania governor, promptly adopts the word as applying to the Arizona senator.

So perhaps it is timely to make an analysis of just what the word means historically as well as in the field of political debate.

LAWRENCE

In the summer of 1950, an important decision confronted a Democratic president, Harry Truman.

The Communist armies had invaded the territory of South Korea.

★ ★ ★

Within 48 hours after the invasion, the President — without waiting for the U.N. to organize an international army and without asking Congress to authorize the employment of our military forces — had ordered U.S. sea and air forces into action against the invaders. Was this "impulsive"?

LITTLE ROCK

It was under a Republican President, Dwight Eisenhower, in the autumn of 1957, that trouble developed in Little Rock, Ark., over school desegregation.

There was some disorder near the school as the Negro students entered, but in the course of a few hours that evening the advisers around the President became panicky and urged that federal troops be ordered to the scene.

He agreed, and federal forces took charge the next morning even though the violence had subsided. Was this "impulsive"?

Under another Democratic President, John F. Kennedy, in April 1961, the Cuban exiles undertook an invasion of their homeland. Air support from the U.S. was expected.

But the President's civilian advisers persuaded Kennedy to cancel any air strike.

BIG QUESTION

Can the President's action in overriding his military advisers be called "impulsive"?

Gov. Scranton, a few weeks ago, had a long talk with former President Eisenhower, and the impression was given that the governor was making himself available for the nomination.

The next day, he said things which indicated that he was not in the race.

Was this "impulsive," or does the word better describe the action of Scranton five days later in reversing himself and becoming an active candidate?

Former ambassador Lodge said this week that a President must not only refrain from "impulsiveness," but must be "prudent."

There comes to mind the action of Sen. Goldwater who had for several months known that an emotional wave of public opinion was pushing the "civil rights" bill to passage by Congress.

But Goldwater decided to vote against the bill.

Certainly it cannot be charged that Goldwater was "impulsive," but may it be said that he was "imprudent" by his vote?

Capital Letter:

Eisenhower Team Is Split on GOP President Choice

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Former White House members of the "Eisenhower team" are split as many ways as there are candidates, in this home-stretch before GOP presidential nominations begin in San Francisco's Cow Palace two weeks hence.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

A fascinating exchange of letters points up the schism in the once solid "Eisenhower team." A high-ranking member of Ike's White House staff recently received a letter from Gerald Morgan which said in part:

"Bill Scranton is a natural compromise candidate between Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller. The other possible compromise candidates — Dick Nixon and Cabot Lodge — both have two significant losses in their books. Bill Scranton has only victories to his credit."

The recipient, who favors Goldwater but is taking no active part in the preconvention tussle, replied that he would gladly support Scranton for "vice president," but added:

RIGHT TIME

"The time to have considered the Scranton presidential candidacy was last February, when delegates were uncommitted and many minds still open. To advance him now, when any realistic count of delegate strength shows Goldwater to be the certain nominee, does much for Lyndon B. Johnson and nothing for Scranton."

Both of those letters were individually typed, but then came the joker: Morgan's reply to his fellow Eisenhower alumnus had only his name typed in, above a mimeographed letter which said: "I am sorry you couldn't join our Bill Scranton project," et cetera.

Apparently, Jerry Morgan had so many rejections from former Ike staffers that only a duplicating machine could handle the acknowledgments.

The day after the mimeographed Morgan epistle, the same Goldwater booster received a personal "Dear ——" letter from John Eisenhower, who wrote:

"As you know, my father has long and consistently followed a policy of refusing publicly to express preference for one Republican candidate over another in any primary at any level; in fact, he has not, in this instance, revealed his real personal preference to me. However, I do not consider that I am bound by this same restriction."

John Eisenhower then declared that Scranton is "the leading candidate among those whose political views are consistent with the principles of the Eisenhower administration."

What has happened to the American people? We used to stand proudly and hold our heads high while pledging allegiance to the American flag, and get a lump in our throat while singing our national anthem.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Suburban Living

The Daily Oklahoman

In a lot of suburbs these days it's almost respectable to be a Democrat. However, it's not quite clear whether Democrats are acquiring status or the suburbs are going to pot.

Spending Unlimited

The Chicago Tribune

The ceiling on the national debt is soaring faster than the mercury in the middle of July. The House has voted to raise the ceiling again for the sixth time in two years, and Senate approval will come.

That will put the new "temporary" debt limit at a record $324 billion — $9 billion higher than it has been and $38 billion above the "permanent" ceiling of $285 billion.

★ ★ ★

Not one Republican member of the House broke ranks to vote for the increase. However GOP proposals to use the ceiling to hold down government spending were of no avail against the Democratic majority.

★ ★ ★

Nor was Rep. Halleck's plea that Congress is piling "new extravagances on top of extravagances" and trying to spend ourselves "rich, smart, and comfortable with our youngsters' money."

The treasury requested the ceiling for the fiscal year that begins today to accommodate the anticipated $5.8 billion deficit in the 1965 budget.

By next March the treasury expects the national debt will have risen to a peak of $321 billion. But it asked for a legal ceiling $3 billion higher.

★ ★ ★

The new ceiling serves to emphasize once again the monstrous burden the politicians have saddled upon the citizens of this country in their never-ending urge to buy political favor by "giving" something to everybody.

The poor, the young, the elderly, the farmer, the urban dweller and even the taxpayer are always being promised new "benefits" by a generous and paternalistic government.

Some time ago Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia estimated the government actually was in hock to the tune of nearly $1¼ trillion and no doubt by this time that mark has been exceeded.

The Johnson administration currently has authority outstanding to spend up to $91 billion. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House ways and means committee says he expects the administration to disburse more than $27 billion under this authority. This leaves $64 billion the administration still can spend without the need for any appropriations from Congress.

★ ★ ★

That's why the debt limit has to be increased. And that's why President Johnson, who makes a public display of turning off lights in the White House to save on the electric bill, is not to be believed in his phony professions of fiscal prudence.

Good Spellers

The Holland Evening Sentinel

Can anyone in the house spell g-e-o-p-h-a-g-y? And how are we all on s-y-c-o-p-h-a-n-t? Those are the tricky shoals William Kerek of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, had to navigate to win the national spelling championship. He had previously matched Robert O. Mathews of Grahanna, Ohio, in a final list of brain-twisters that included peristalsis and nepenthe.

These contestants had some advantages over the ordinary adult, so one needn't feel too badly if the words seem difficult.

For one thing, the champion is 12 years old and the runner-up but 13. The spelling gizmo in the mind is yet springy and well oiled at that age, whereas later it tends to rust.

Besides, they had lots of time to practice. But let's be big about it, bury our adult chagrin, and offer both well versed Ohioans — Kerek and Mathews, but especially Kerek — congratulations!

★ ★ ★

Good spellers today are just as important as they ever were. We hope that spelling contests will continue.

Replaced With Platforms

Skipper Sorry Lightship to Go

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Life on the platforms will be more comfortable than it is on the lightships, but it will be monotonous, the skipper said.

Chief Warrant Boatswain Donald E. Dean, commanding officer of the Chesapeake Lightship, was talking about the four-legged steel platforms that gradually are replacing most of the lightships on the the U.S. East Coast.

Dean, 37, sat in his cabin on the lightship, in port for her annual two-month period of drydocking and maintenance.

"The men will be more comfortable on the platforms," he said "because their quarters will be larger and they won't be bouncing up and down. Lightships ride rough when the wind gets up.

"But there will be only four men on a platform, compared with 16 on a lightship. The smaller number will provide less companionship and make platform duty monotonous."

NOW IN OPERATION

Platforms are in operation at Buzzards Bay, Mass., and Providence, R. I. Others now being built will replace lightships off Savannah, Ga., and Wilmington, N.C.

A $3.5-million item in the budget for the next fiscal year will provide platform replacements for the Chesapeake Lightship anchored 12 miles east of Cape Henry, Va. and the Diamond Shoals Lightship 14 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N. C.

Average age of East Coast lightships is about 35 years. Four of them are more than 50 years old. The Coast Guard says platforms will last longer than lightships, require fewer men and be easier to maintain.

Platforms are not planned for the West Coast because deeper water offshore there makes them impractical, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

PLATFORM STRUCTURE

Each platform will have a tower housing a lantern of 3.5 million candlepower. The roof of the crew's quarters will serve as a helicopter landing pad.

Dean said he would not like platform duty.

"It would be all right if the men could be removed from a platform long before the wind builds up," he said, "but freak storms come up quickly, and in such cases the only thing the men can do is sit there and hope the platform won't topple.

"Lightship duty is fairly good," said Dean. He has been in the Coast Guard 20 years; the past 22 months as skipper of the Chesapeake Lightship.

"We have television and we get good reception from the stations in Norfolk, Portsmouth and Hampton" he said.

"We have movies every night. We have a good library. The men study for advancement in ratings. The food is good. The crew is happy. I've had no requests for transfers and no discipline problems in my 22 months aboard."

Lightship crewmen get 14 days leave for 28 days aboard. They stand two four-hour watches in 24 hours. Five men are on leave at all times.

* * *

The men are shuttled to and from their ships by Coast Guard cutters and patrol vessels which also carry food and other supplies.

The Chesapeake Lightship, 600 gross tons, 133 feet long and 30 feet abeam, was built in 1930.

The Diamond Shoals Lightship, 600 gross tons, 128 feet long and 30 feet abeam, was built in 1946.

A predecessor of the present Diamond Shoals Lightship was shelled and sunk by a German submarine in World War I.

* * *

On Aug. 6, 1918, the U-boat singled out a merchant ship a mile and a half northeast of the lightship, fired 40 shells at her and set her afire.

Defector Says Views Forced

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — The only American officer ever to defect to East Germany told a court-martial yesterday Communist secret police forced him to say he wanted to be a Communist.

* * *

"The East Germans threatened me repeatedly . . . they threatened to try me as an American spy if I didn't comply . . . they gave me drugs," said Capt. Alfred Svenson, 31, Scranton, Pa.

Svenson, charged with desertion and larceny for defecting to the Communists in a jeep May 4, 1963, said the threats and drugs forced him to tell UPI correspondent Edward J. Shields "I hope someday to be able to say, 'I am a Communist.'"

Svenson, interviewed Sept. 30, 1963 in his East Berlin apartment by Shields and AP correspondent John Koehler, also said in a tape-recorded statement he defected because the U.S. Army was "permeated with war criminals."

* * *

The interview was played to the six officer court-martial jury after Svenson claimed it was made under duress and drugs.

NO DUBIESS

Shields told the court he did not think Svenson was under "stress or duress" during the interview, although there were a German woman and two men Svenson introduced as "real leaguers" who were present.

* * *

He testified the interview was arranged by two East Germans who said they were journalists.

Helicopter Herds Cow Off Road in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Traffic was heavy during the evening rush hour Tuesday when a cow meandered onto a north expressway.

A helicopter pilot, relaying traffic conditions to a radio station, saw the bovine and in modern cowboy style herded the cow from the road and into a nearby field.

Russian Killed Girl for Vodka Money

MOSCOW (UPI) — The latest Moscow murder story has a Communist for a killer.

Crime news is rare in the Soviet press, but the newspaper Evening Moscow last night gave a detailed account of the death of an 18-year-old girl named Natasha Vyrtogradov.

The reason might have been that the accused killer, Vladimir Zhuravlev, is a member of the Komsomol, the Communist youth organization, and Soviet officials wanted to make their lesson clear.

* * *

Shameful, the newspaper said of the death of Natasha.

Her body was found in a vacant lot next to a factory. She had died of stab wounds. Someone telephoned Moscow's criminal police. Lt. Col. Salnikov took the call himself.

TERSE DETAILS

From that point, there are these terse details, in detective notebook fashion:

The dead girl is unidentified. Salnikov's men question nearby residents. Natasha's mother finally makes the identification.

She tells detectives Natasha had gone out at 9 p.m. to buy ice cream.

* * *

The police talk to Natasha's friends. A girl tells of Zhuravlev. He is 18 and drinks too much, the girl says.

CALLED HOODLUM

He is a "hoodlum," says Evening Moscow.

Vladimir had been seen talking with friends near the factory.

He was saying he needed money for vodka and talked of stealing it, the girl says.

* * *

Salnikov goes after Zhuravlev.

DREAMED OF VODKA

He discovered the youth drank on the job as a carpenter, drank on his free time and dreamed of vodka, Evening Moscow said.

Salnikov's men find him.

One detective thinks it odd that Zhuravlev is wearing a clean shirt. Perhaps he changed to hide bloodstains.

*

Six hours after Natasha's body was found, police have a confession. "Just put it down that I killed her."

NO MORE MONEY

"That day he had no more money to buy vodka," the newspaper said.

"He led Natasha to the empty lot. He stripped off her wristwatch and then coldbloodedly stabbed her.

"He promptly sold the watch for two rubles ($2.22) and got his glass of vodka."

The newspaper lamented the fact that the killer had been permitted to be a Communist youth member despite his drinking.

* * *

U.S., Canada Agree on Tolls

Postpone Seaway Rate Change 2 Years

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada and the United States have agreed to a two-year postponement in any change in the tolls levied on ships and cargoes moving through the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The two countries agreed to wait until July 1, 1966, to decide whether tolls should be raised, lowered or left unchanged to meet the 50-year program for paying off the $475 million capital cost of building the international waterway.

* * *

Privy Council President George McIlraith told the Commons Tuesday that tolls will be left unchanged during the next two years while the toll level is reviewed in relation to seaway traffic.

"At the conclusion of this two-year extension, tolls proposals will be related as realistically as possible to the financial requirements of the seaway entities," he said.

HARD LINE

This statement was interpreted here as indicating that Canada will take a hard line in setting tolls in 1966 to cover the costs of building the seaway—as required by both Canadian and U.S. law.

* * *

McIlraith's statement came the eve of today's deadline for a toll report to their respective governments by the Canadian St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and by the U.S. St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp.

* * *

The two agencies have been negotiating for several months on a common proposal for a new toll structure, with the Canadians urging a 10-per-cent increase and the Americans trying to maintain the present level.

In Toronto, Stuart Armour, president and general manager of the Great Lakes Waterways Development Association, said the association is disappointed that the government has decided to continue tolls on the seaway for another two years.

* * *

The association comprises shipping companies, primary industries, wheat producers, wheat pools, boards of trade and chambers of commerce.

3 Young E. Germans Cross Berlin Border

BERLIN (AP) — Three young East Germans escaped to West Berlin during the night without being detected by Communist border guards, West police reported today.

A 26-year-old man swam through a canal on the south of the city and two other men, each 20 years old, crept through Communist barbed wire entanglement along the northwestern section of the border, police said.

Stricken India Leader Works on State Affairs

NEW DELHI (AP) — Ailing Prime Minister Lal Bahaddr Shastri put in several hours on pressing state affairs at his home today, still bedridden from a reported heart attack five days go.

Informants said the 59-year-old Indian leader is sitting up in bed, signing papers, making decisions on urgent matters and conferring with government officials.

Pakistan Chief Seeks to Prevent India Aid

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan left for London today and said he would try to convince the Commonwealth prime ministers and Western nations "about the dangers involved in giving military aid to India."

Ayub scheduled stops in Kabul, Tehran and Ankara enroute to the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening in London July 8.

LONDON (AP) — Fifty works by Vasily Kandinsky, Russian-born pioneer of abstract painting, were auctioned for a total of $1,802,424 at Sotheby's Tuesday night.

Americans outbid hopeful buyers from a dozen countries for 21 of the paintings.

The works, from among 170 by the late American financier Solomon R. Guggenheim, were placed on sale by the Guggenheim Foundation of New York. The foundation said the Guggenheim Museum did not have sufficient space to hang the entire collection.

HONG KONG (AP) — A four-engine, U.S. Air Force Stratocruiser with 86 American servicemen and dependents aboard skidded off the runway at Hong Kong airport today just before taking off for Guam. No one was hurt.

SHEFFIELD, England (AP) — A Methodist minister who calls the Virgin birth "a piece of mythology" has been expelled from the ministry on a heresy charge.

"I am no longer a Methodist minister," Walter Gill, 49, said after a two-hour hearing before the church conference Tuesday. There is no appeal from the decision.

Gill, who had been minister to three churches in northern England, said he has a wife, two children and "not a bean in the world."

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist China's parliament, the Legislative Yuan, has enacted a revised copyright law making book pirates liable to fines and imprisonment.

The six nations postponed the deadline until July 31 and agreed to reopen talks July 14.

LONDON (AP) — A $56-million deal in which Britain was to build 14 warships for Spain in Spanish shipyards has fallen through.

Informed sources said Tuesday night that Spain had broken off negotiations. The break was attributed to British Labor party opposition to the deal, although no official reason was given.

The proposed deal called for construction of 8 light cruiser, four frigates, two submarines and seven other ships, using British plans, materials and technicians.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman indicated today that Malaysia is pressing British to approve and join in military strikes at Indonesian guerrilla bases across the border from Malaysian Borneo.

Rahman told newsmen threats into Indonesia to knock out bases from which guerrillas have been mounting border raids for more than a year would require "the green light from those responsible for the operation."

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Fear that smoldering Mount Irazu might erupt anew mounted today after the eastern wall of the volcano tumbled into the crater, building up internal pressure.

Irazu's western wall also was reported on the verge of collapse.

The volcano came to life again about two weeks ago, sending avalanches of volcanic mud slithering down Irazu's slopes and forcing authorities to close down a major highway near the city of Cartago.

Bomb Shelters Are Paying Off

MIAMI (AP) — What are people doing with their backyard bomb shelters?

About 300 were installed in the Miami area. The owners have found all kinds of uses for them. They're serving as laundries, Cub Scout dens and places for weekend campouts.

A favorite use is for storage. People keep Christmas decorations, suitcases, lumber and paint in them.

And a retired optometrist has turned his shelter into an underground laboratory. There he does "a little charity work for my friends."

Fear It Will Help Reds

U.S. Unhappy About 2nd Laos Confab

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — A meeting of the three warring Laos factions in a neutral capital was shaping up today and American officials were by no means happy about it.

They considered that such a meeting would be less likely to put an end to the fighting here than to lead to another full-scale Geneva-type international conference on Laos.

The object of the three-faction meeting, as suggested by Communist Poland, is indeed to serve as a preliminary to another Geneva conference.

The United States has long noted that the 1962 Geneva Conference which was to bring peace and neutrality to Laos accomplished neither purpose.

* * *

It fears that another such conference would simply be turned into a propaganda forum by the Communist powers.

ACCEPTED IDEA

Jerzy Dudzinski, Polish representative on the International Control Commission for Laos (ICC), returned yesterday from Khang Khay, headquarters of Communist Pathet Lao on the Plaine des Jarres, and announced "Red Prince" Souphanouvong had accepted the proposal for a meeting of the three factions.

Neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma said earlier this month that he was in favor of such a meeting. Political sources said Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the right-wing leader, also wants it.

The meeting would actually be a six-nation conference composed of the three Laotian factions plus Britain and the Soviet Union, as cochairman of the 1962 Geneva Conference, and India, Canada and Poland, who are ICC members.

Dudzinski said Souphanouvong wanted the accent on the Laotians, with the other countries attending as observers.

MEETING PLACE

He said Souphanouvong suggested Jakarta, Indonesia, or Phnom Penh, Cambodia, as possible sites for the talks. Dudzinski himself had suggested Zurich, Switzerland.

The last meeting of the three faction leaders started last April 17 but broke up the next day over the question of neutralizing the royal capital of Luang Prabang, held by right-wing forces, and moving the administrative capital there from Vientiane.

The following month, hostilities resumed.

The April 17-18 meeting had been the first get-together of the three leaders in a year.

HOLIDAY PUNCH — Serve punch on the Fourth of July in a drum. Cover a hat box with paper and use red adhesive paper for the handle. Set your punch bowl inside the box.

Patriotic Motif for Party Food

After the parades and fireworks on July Fourth, ask your friends to disband at your home for a cool fruit punch and cupcakes made "patriotic" with tiny American flags.

Make preparations easy for yourself. Use the modern frozen fruits and concentrates. Brightly colored paper plates and cups help out work, too.

Raspberry Lemonade Punch

2 packages (10 ounces, each) quick-frozen red raspberries, partially thawed
2 cans (6 ounces each) quick-frozen concentrate for lemonade
1 quart water
1 large bottle (28 ounces) club soda
Ice cubes

Press raspberries through a sieve or ricer and blend until smooth in an electric blender. Discard or strain seeds. Place fruit puree in a small punch bowl. Add lemonade and water; mix well.

Just before serving, add soda and ice cubes. Makes 12 servings, 8 ounces each.

Swirls of Red Show in Creamy Salad

Planning a party around the Fourth of July? The perfect salad for that gala occasion is this vivid red and white Apple Swirl Salad. Its gay colors carry out the holiday theme, and its flavor will complement ham, ham loaf, chicken, or any meat you serve.

* * *

The first fresh apples of the season are the inspiration for this salad. To achieved the rosy red color and spicy flavor that are so appealing, cook the apples with some of those peppy little red cinnamon candies.

* * *

This rosy applesauce mixture goes into lemon-flavored gelatin with a dash of lemon juice to bring out the flavor highlights.

Three delicious dairy foods go into the second layer: cream cheese, sour cream and nonfat dry milk. Each one adds a bonus of good flavor and creamy texture as well as the protein summer meals need.

Apple Swirl Salad, with its spicy cinnamon flavor, will be a delightful addition to any summer meal or party. It's pretty enough to stand alone as a luncheon salad, too. Serve it with dainty finger sandwiches or crackers, and salted nuts.

APPLE SWIRL SALAD

Layer 1:

2 cups unsweetened fresh or canned applesauce
¾ cup red cinnamon candies
1 package (3-oz.) lemon-flavored gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Few drops red food coloring, if desired

Cook applesauce with cinnamon candies until candies are dissolved. Remove from heat and add gelatin. Stir until gelatin is dissolved; then, add lemon juice and blend well. Turn into shallow baking dish. Chill until the consistency of egg white.

Layer 2:

1 package (3-oz.) lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
⅔ cup instant nonfat dry milk
1 package (3-oz.) cream cheese, softened
½ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice

In a small mixing bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Chill until partially set. Add nonfat dry milk, cream cheese, sour cream and lemon juice; beat until fluffy. Turn into dish over apple layer. Stir once or twice until swirls of red show in the top layer. Refrigerate until firm. Cut in squares, and serve on beds of bibb lettuce or other greens. Makes 6-8 servings.

SPICY SALAD — Make a swirled red and white salad with the fresh apples of the season, spiced with red cinnamon candies. Apple Swirl Salad is delicious as a luncheon salad, or served with ham at a summer party.

Tell Experts Your Choice

EAST LANSING — Do you like your apple juice plain or spiced?

If you're not quite sure . . . or if your family is split evenly on preference . . . then chalk yourself up as being an average consumer.

* * *

In a recent Detroit consumer taste panel test supervised by Michigan State University agricultural economists, half of the panelists liked the plain apple juice and the other half preferred the spiced product.

* * *

This information and the results from further tests will be passed on to apple producers and processors who are trying to decide how much of their apple juice should be sold with with spices added to give different flavors.

If you want to make tomato aspic for a party, use three envelopes of unflavored gelatin and a 46-ounce can (5¾ cups) of tomato juice and season to taste.

Custardy Mix Covers Apples

Baked in a pie pan, the English call it a Flan, and so do we. It is a delicious dessert winter or summer, but especially good in summer as dessert after a light meal.

Apple Flan

3 cups milk
1½ cups sugar, divided
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
Few grains salt
1 inch stick cinnamon
¼ cup water
4 eggs, beaten
1 can (1 lb.) apple slices

Combine milk, ½ cup sugar, lemon peel, salt and cinnamon in large saucepan. Bring to boil; lower heat; simmer 15 minutes. Let cool.

Combine remaining 1 cup sugar and water. Bring to boil; boil 8 minutes without stirring; lower heat, simmer until caramel color.

Meanwhile arrange apple slices in bottom of 12-inch pizza pan or 10-inch pie pan. Pour syrup immediately over apples. Strain cooled milk mixture, add to beaten eggs; mix thoroughly; strain over apples.

* * *

Set pan in another pan of hot water. Bake at 400 degrees for 45 minutes for pizza pan, 1 hour for pie pan, or until knife inserted near rim comes out clean. Let cool, then chill. Makes 8 servings.

Frozen Vegetables Break Meal Dullness

Here is a new frozen sliced squash casserole (use either zucchini or yellow crookneck and barely cook it enough to separate before adding cottage cheese and sauce) that is an innovation in vegetable-main-dish cookery.

It is followed with a Frozen Vegetable Salad in which a nippy dressing and extra flavor-uppers blend with frozen wax beans and frozen mixed vegetables.

Squash Cheese Casserole

2 (10-oz.) packages frozen sliced squash (zucchini or yellow crookneck)
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon celery salt
⅛ teaspoon garlic salt
1 cup evaporated milk
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1½ cups cottage cheese
1 (4-oz.) package frozen French fried onion rings

Turn frozen squash into saucepan with the 2 tablespoons water and 1 teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil and cook briefly until slices separate, using two forks to pull apart. Do not drain. Measure butter margarine into another saucepan. Stir in flour, pepper and garlic salt.

Add evaporated milk and cook while stirring over low heat until thickened white sauce is formed. Add Worcestershire sauce. Then add this sauce to undrained squash along with the cottage cheese.

* * *

Combine gently, then pour all into greased 1½-quart casserole. Top with frozen French fried onion rings. Bake, uncovered, in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 35-40 minutes or until browned and bubbly. Serves six.

If desired, ¼ cup chopped cooked mushrooms may be added to the sauce.

Frozen Vegetable Salad

1 (10-oz.) package frozen wax beans
1 (10-oz.) package frozen mixed vegetables
½ cup sharp-flavored French dressing
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon chopped frozen dill
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 teaspoon frozen lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon salt
Sprinkling of pepper

Cook vegetables in small amount of salted water until just tender. Drain, reserving liquid for soups and sauces. Cool, then mix with French dressing and let stand in refrigerator approximately one hour. Add chopped onion and celery to vegetables.

Add Green Pepper to Frozen Peas

Give an everyday vegetable this fresh treatment.

Pepper Peas

1 medium or large green pepper
½ cup boiling water
1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas
½ cup boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Wash and seed pepper; cut into about ½-inch squares. In a saucepan bring green pepper and boiling water to a boil; boil several minutes to precook.

Add frozen peas, salt and sugar; bring to a boil; cover and boil gently for several minutes or just until peas are tender. Drain if necessary. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Canned Stew Is Used to Fill Little Meat Pies

As the shadows lengthen and the evening breezes cool, a summer meal on the porch or on the patio is a relaxing delight. One hot dish, such as a meat ball stew in curried pastry crust, creates and satisfies appetites at the same time.

Curried Meat Ball Pies

2 (10 oz.) packages pie crust mix
4 teaspoons curry powder
2 (1 lb. 14 oz.) cans meat ball stew

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Mix the dry pie crust mix and curry powder together. Follow directions on package for water addition and mixing directions.

Roll out half the dough at a time. Cut out 6, 7" circles and fit into 5" individual pie plates. Allow ½" for turning under before fluting crust. Bake shells for 7 minutes. Remove from oven and fill shells with the meat ball stew.

Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees F. Bake the pies for 25 minutes. Save any left-over dough for another crust or roll it out and cut into letters to represent names of family or guests. Bake the letters and place on top of pies just before serving. Makes 6 individual meat ball pies.

Keep Door Closed

If a summer storm causes a power failure, don't open the refrigerator door unless it is absolutely necessary.

Hotpoint home economists recommend these steps to prevent food spoilage in your refrigerator; if the electrical failure occurs near the dinner hour, make a list of the items you'll need and remove them at one time from the refrigerator; if the shut-off threatens to last for several hours, obtain dry ice from a locker or ice plant and place in the freezer compartment.

New Exhibition for OU

The first American exhibition of the works of Ljubo Biro, Yugoslav painter, will be open to the public in the Oakland University Art Gallery from today through July 27. There is no admission charge.

Biro, who is a completely self-taught artist, has exhibited in Athens and in the Far East as well as in many cities of his native country.

His most recent show was in Athens in 1961 where many of his pictures were bought by American tourists. He believes his work is represented in six of the United States.

Biro graduated from the Naval Academy in Sibenik, Yugoslavia and is radio officer with rank of captain on a Swiss freighter which circumnavigates the world.

He says his job offers time to devote to his painting on board ship and inspiration from all parts of the world.

The artist has worked as both writer and speaker in radio stations in his country, and has taught navigational electronics at the Naval Academy during shore leaves and vacations.

Gallery hours are 12:30 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday. About 40 paintings and drawings will be shown.

Give Painting Brush-Off

Portrait Worth a Battle?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My very lovely sister-in-law is an art student, and she has just entered her broad brush syndrome.

Her oils resemble an explosion in a paint factory. She is now doing a portrait of my wife, and we both agree that it is an atrocity.

ABBY

When it is finished, must I hang it in the living room and suffer an aesthetic jolt every time I set eyes on it?

Or should I risk a family donnybrook and send it to the attic, where it clearly belongs?

APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: Prop it up somewhere downstairs for a reasonable length of time, then banish it to the attic.

If the artist complains, tell her you couldn't bear to hang your wife in the living room.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who worries himself half-sick over what to buy his mother for Mothers Day, and then turns around and says to his wife, "Don't buy me anything for Fathers Day because I am not buying you anything for Mothers Day."

BOILING OVER

DEAR BOILING: Your husband apparently feels that his mother eagerly anticipates a Mother's Day gift, and would avoid disappointing her—even though he disapproves of the idea generally.

If you think he is discriminating, and it bugs you, tell him! Or would you rather just go on "boiling"?

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, when our teen-age son was unable to find summer work, we let him paint our house rather than contracting the job to regular painters.

We made arrangements with a neighborhood paint store not only to supply the materials but also to provide him with instructions and periodic inspections and corrections.

The results were amazing! In addition to spending a useful summer, our son earned money, and his paint job was first-class.

So this is our suggestion for keeping a teen-ager busy and happy during summer vacation.

Women Honor Coordinator

Several hundred staff members and Gray Ladies paid tribute to Mrs. George Sheriff Tuesday in the nurses' residence home at Pontiac State Hospital.

Mrs. Sheriff, Gray Lady coordinator since 1959, is leaving her volunteer position to move to Florida when her husband retires.

The committee for the tea included Mrs. Ruby Eargle, Mrs. Eleanor McCurry, Mrs. Herman Humphrey and Ted Panaretos.

Mrs. Wayne Smith is taking over Mrs. Sheriff's duties as coordinator.

SUSAN WIDMAN LEADER

Dr. and Mrs. Luther B. Leader of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of their daughter Susan Widman to Bruce Oliver Wilson, son of the A. Glenn Wilsons of Alice Avenue. They are Michigan State University alumni.

Fringe Benefits

Eyes in Spotlight

By JEANMARIE ELKINS

The eyes have it for summer. The reason is simple. No other feature, with the possible exception of your hands, is so well able to express your inner vitality and individuality.

A succession of pencils, powders, creams or liquids, brushes and colors that can change you into another Cleopatra overnight is endless.

But if you're not inclined to be as generous with the eye makeup as that fabled queen of the Nile, the conservative use of the same products will give the desired effect.

Coloring the lids is the first step in your transformation from an ordinary housewife into a femme fatale.

* * *

When using the cream or stick variety of eyeshadow, dust lightly with powder. This will arrest the tendency of the shadow to crease.

A flick of white shadow just under the outer arch of the eyebrow attracts light to give your eyes a quietly devastating look even in the darkest places.

Eye lines are intended to make your lashes seem thicker. If you extend them past the outer corner, they will also make your eyes seem longer.

Eye lines can be tremendously effective or they can look owlish. It all depends on how skillfully you draw them.

Beautifying your eyes with eyeliner can also fall short of the desired effect if this requisite is not applied to a dry surface, cautions one leading cosmetic manufacturer.

For that wide-eyed look, try curling your lashes between applications of mascara. If the lashes stick together, separate them immediately with a dry brush.

Specific eye problems may require more than the usual amount of attention and care.

Plastic surgery seems to be the only real answer to the problems of bags or pouches under the eyes.

Puffs under the eyes and puffy lids are another matter. Kidney or heart diseases or poor circulation may occasionally cause this.

Usually, though, the cause is less serious. If it happens to be a case of allergy, there are many hypo-allergenic cosmetics.

Ceil Chapman Designs Feminine Mystique

AP Wirephoto

The pretty miss wears a pink silk satin evening dress plunged to the bow-belted waistline and a red velvet back-dipping jacket. The costume by Ceil Chapman was modeled for the fashion press Tuesday in the weeklong program called the American Designer Series.

AP Wirephoto

Wardrobe for a good sport. This went on display in New York Tuesday. The brown Loden dugout circle coat has a kangaroo lining. Blouse and pants are brown worsted stretch fabric. Fashion imported by Yankee sportswear house, Zacari.

Ceil Chapman is a girl's best friend. "Enjoy being a woman!" says Ceil.

In her own charming way she has designed the fall 1964 collection making the most fashion of the feminine mystique.

For spinning at the discotheques there are little slithery shapes of crepe or twists of matte jersey, sometimes black oft times cafe noir, and always with something special going on at the top — as a collar cuffed or muffled high in front and cut low in back.

* * *

Evening suits and costumes come in delightful profusion, but the most dramatic surprise of all are those of all white or all black ottoman. As they sweep past, they leave a nostalgia for Marlene Dietrich and the serene impression of perfection achieved.

* * *

New emphasis on the bosom is seen all through the collection as Ceil Chapman arches, draws or gathers the fabric into a rounded, high, small young line. And necklines are showing more, more, and a hi Ceil 1964, even more in back or front.

Perfect foil for interest at the top — the taper silhouette, not quite straight, barely touching the body, and as flexible as a wand.

* * *

Newly shaped skirts curve gently outward under the discipline of panel folds from the waist, or just below the bosom. This results a gently tarred ease for short fashions, and delicate figurine fullness in the most regal ball dresses.

* * *

When the skirt is slim there is no awkward tautness at the hem; the merest profile flare to the back gives movement and grace to the slender silhouettes.

* * *

Really superb ball dresses are of two minds —there are those with the elegance an inauguration fete would call for, or on the other hand, breathlessly as young and beguiling as any debutante would wish to be.

Predicting a season of opulence for all, Ceil Chapman shows heavy silks and velvets as well as drifts of chiffon all dazzling with beautiful embroidery. Tiara necklines, crown jewel motifs, and gems as big as the idol's eye are all used with profusion.

Remove Clothes by the Fabric

Clothes that are washed together can be dried together. However, if you mix loads in the automatic drier, you must be prepared to remove the quicker drying items first.

For Clean Covers

An ironing board cover fits snugly when put on while damp. It stays smooth and clean longer if dipped in a medium solution of starch before being stretched on the board.

Keep Your Clothes Partially Damp

Never, never, never let the drier go on and on until everything is bone dry.

This causes an artificial or abnormal shrinkage — yes, even if the garments are labeled "Sanforized."

Mortarboards Are Being Made for Autographs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Today's graduates can take more than diplomas away from graduation.

They can take autographs of friends who sign their mortarboard.

One company which furnishes graduation cap and gowns have come out with mortarboards with space inside for the signatures of friends.

Normally, the company said, caps like gowns are rented to graduates.

But there has been a growing demand for a souvenir of the occasion. At first, the company offered a detachable tassel that graduates could buy.

Now it's gone all out, offering the whole cap to the students sentimental about one of those commencements in life.

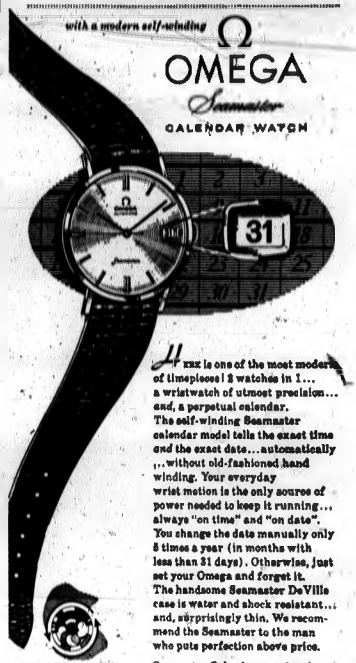
END WATCH-WINDING

with a modern self-winding Ω OMEGA Seamaster CALENDAR WATCH



HERE is one of the most modern of timepieces! 2 watches in 1... a wristwatch of utmost precision... and, a perpetual calendar. The self-winding Seamaster calendar model tells the exact time and the exact date... automatically ...without old-fashioned hand winding. Your everyday wrist motion is the only source of power needed to keep it running... always "on time" and "on date". You change the date manually only 8 times a year (in months with less than 31 days). Otherwise, just set your Omega and forget it. The handsome Seamaster DeVille case is water and shock resistant... and, surprisingly thin. We recommend the Seamaster to the man who puts perfection above price.

Winds itself while you wear it — needs no external power

Seamaster Calendar watches from $120. Other Omega Seamasters from $89.50 to $460. F.T.I.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: Can you imagine how it is to be 80 miles from nowhere? When I'm sewing I feel you are next to me and give me the courage I need. I have no one to fit me and that is my greatest problem at the moment. How do you do it?

Mrs. C. M.

Dear Mrs. C. M.: Fit the bodice first, sew the underarm seams about 3 inches, leaving BOTH side seams open the rest of the way. Slip your bodice on and tie a string tightly around the waistline.

Now pull up a little ease, so that you can comfortably move your arm. When this has been adjusted, place pins just under the string as a guide for the waistline seams.

Next, baste the skirt to the bodice, joining the bodice front to the skirt front, and the bodice back to the skirt back (leaving BOTH side seams completely open.)

Place dress on, right side out, and see if the waistline is in the correct position. If so, you can easily pin the side seams while the dress is on you. Don't worry if the pins aren't in exactly straight, just so you have a guide to use for the seamline.

* * *

After the fitting is completed, separate the seams, rub colored chalk on the pins, and just like magic, the marks will show up on the wrong side where you will need them in order to machine stitch.

Naturally, it takes a little more time to fit yourself than it does to have someone else do this for you, but it does work. I fit all of my own clothes!

Dear Eunice: When I have lined my skirts the way you suggest, by trebling the lining and fabric as one piece, the skirt lining seems to pull too tight when I sit down and the hem has a rolled look. What am I doing wrong?

Mrs. V. G.

Dear Mrs. V. G.: Possibly the lining is pulled a little too tight in the hem. May I suggest that before you have the hem marked, you push up a little of the lining above the hem, and baste in place.

Now, when the hem is complete, there will be a little extra "give" in the lining and it should keep the hem nice and flat.

Dear Eunice: Being an experienced seamstress, I'm quite confused and it is disturbing. Blouse patterns show the buttonholes made on the right back, and ready made blouses of this type have the buttonholes on the left back. Who is right?

Mrs. P. W.

* * *

Dear Mrs. P. W.: I have looked through many patterns after reading your letter, and have also checked on many ready made blouses from the cheapest to the most expensive. I find that both patterns and ready made blouses have used the buttons on BOTH sides.

There doesn't seem to be any right or wrong on this subject. Guess it's up to you, in other words "dealer's choice."

How to Take Mud Off Leather Shoes

Remove mud from leather shoes by first allowing it to dry, then rubbing shoes vigorously with dry cloth. Use lighter fluid to get tar stains off shoes.

To clean dirty sneakers, dip a brush first in detergent and water solution, then in dry baking soda and give them a good scrubbing. Turpentine will remove grease spots from leather. The surface may then be revived by rubbing with the beaten white of an egg.

STRENUOUS CAREER — Zamba, a 500-pound jungle-born African lion, growls as he gets blood transfusion in Hollywood administered by owner-trainer Ralph Helfer and actress Lucy Gafcia. The lion and Lucy both have parts in movie called "Fluffy." Helfer says working on a movie set takes a lot out of a lion—thus the transfusion. Damba, another lion, supplied the blood.

Truce in St. Augustine Brings Racial Peace

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Racial peace returned to St. Augustine today.

Both sides in the dispute agreed to a truce while a secret biracial committee attempts to find a middle ground.

* * *

The truce is aimed at ending for at least two weeks the marathon series of demonstrations that resulted in more than 300 arrests and scores of injuries in brawls on the streets and the beaches.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who is leading the assault against racial barriers here, told a jubilant Negro rally Tuesday night that a victory had been scored.

GOAL DEFINED

"The purpose of our direct action was to create a crisis, a tension, to bring our case out in the open, so that they would talk to us about it," he said. "Now they have agreed to do that."

The Negroes applauded and when King finished sang an old spiritual called "Keep Your Eye on the Prize."

Gov. Farris Bryant said he had named the committee to function until a permanent biracial committee is established as recommended June 18 by a county grand jury. He declined to identify the interim group's members.

* * *

King said the committee was made up of two whites and two Negroes. He said their names were withheld to protect them from harrassment.

GOOD FAITH

King said he had called a halt to demonstrations to show good faith.

The leaders of white segregationists also accepted the truce.

Holsted Mauncy said a Ku Klux Klan rally scheduled July 4 has been canceled.

* * *

Mauncy, who declaims membership in the KKK, advised his followers not to engage in violence during this truce period.

KING RELEASED

King was released on his own recognizance Tuesday, after warrants were sworn out against him on six charges. Fred Brinkhoff Jr., county juvenile counselor, charged King in four warrants with contributing to the delinquency of a minor by having juveniles on probation march in demonstrations. James Brock, owner of a motel that has been the scene of racial demonstrations, swore out two warrants charging conspiracy to break the peace.

Slain Millionaire Banker Knifed at Least 13 Times

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police sought today a killer who stabbed millionaire banker Jacques Mossler more than 13 times with a stiletto.

Mossler, 69, owner of banks in Indiana, Illinois and Florida, was found clad only in a nightshirt by his wife, Candace, 45, about 4:30 a.m. Tuesday.

* * *

An ornamental glass bird lay shattered on the floor and drapery in the plush ocean-front apartment was torn. Capt. Pat Gallagher, Miami homicide chief, said no murder weapon was found but "we assume it's a thin-bladed knife, something like a stiletto."

Mossler's dog Rocky, chained inside the door, was heard barking wildly about 2 a.m. A neighbor reported hearing someone shout, "Don't, don't do that to me."

HEAVY FOOTSTEPS

The neighbor, a red-haired former model, Peggy Fletcher, said, "I heard someone close the door across the hall and walk down the hall. Then I heard him run down the concrete outdoor stairway." She said heavy footsteps convinced her it was a man.

About 2:45 a.m., before police knew of the murder, several officers questioned a man found cut and bloody near Mossler's apartment. He told officers three boys had beaten him up and stolen his car. A routine report was filed.

* * *

Police returned to the man later for more questioning, but it was halted after his lawyer obtained a court order demanding a stop to interrogation. He was not charged.

Mossler and his wife each had children by former marriages. Four adopted children were with Mrs. Mossler when she found the body upon returning from a morning drive.

WIDE INTERESTS

Mossler owned interests in three Miami banks and others in Chicago, and South Bend, Ind., and was president of the Mossler Acceptance Corp. of Houston, Tex. The Mosslers had homes in Miami and Houston.

Mossler's daughter, Rita, 20, said about $600 in cash, a diamond wrist watch and a gold brooch were missing from Mossler's apartment.

"His room had been ransacked," she said. "So had mother's room been searched."

Tax Intake Sets Record in Michigan

LANSING (AP) — The state sales tax take during the past fiscal year was a record $487.7 million, up from $455.6 million last year, reports State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock.

Lock said the increase reflected the general prosperity in the state.

* * *

Major department stores showed the greatest gain, both in dollars and percentagewise, he said. Auto sales showed the second highest increase followed by grocery stores and building materials.

June sales and use tax collections also hit a new high, amounting to $48.06 million, a jump of $3.8 million over the same month last year.

SHOW INCREASE

This was the 29th consecutive month in which sales and use tax collections showed an increase over the comparable month the previous year, Lock said.

The other four major state taxes also showed rises over the previous year, reflecting Michigan's booming prosperity, Lock said.

* * *

The fiscal year collections included:

—Use tax, $50.9 million, up from $42.5 million last year.

—Business activities tax, $90.0 million, up from $77.9 million.

—Cigarette tax, $70.3 million, up from $68.6 million.

—Intangibles tax, $34.7 million, up from $33.8 million.

* * *

Lock said all the cigarette tax gains were made during the first six months of the year. The surgeon general's report on smoking dangers caused a drop in the last six months, but the total still was an increase over the previous year, he noted.

DRUM CAKE—From the very first 4th of July, celebrated in Philadelphia in 1776, upon the signing of the Declaration of Independence by the 13 colonies, the day has been marked by three things: bell ringing, fireworks, and special dinners. Make your dinner special by serving a drum cake, gaily decorated with red maraschino cherries and candy sticks.

Gay Cherries and Candy Sticks Turn Layer Cake Into a Drum

Parades and fireworks, band concerts and patriotic speeches, ice cream made in an old-fashioned hand-crank freezer, picnics and plenty of cake . . . these are the makings of a sparkling 4th of July.

Mark the holiday with a drum cake. It's easy to decorate with maraschino cherries and candy sticks for the trimming.

The recipe below makes a handsome, holiday-worthy 3-layer cake. Frost it with 7-minute icing, made from a packaged mix or your own favorite recipe. Its glossy white is particularly effective with the red cherries.

Maraschino Cherry Drum Cake

2½ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, separated
1½ teaspoons vanilla
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 jar (6 ounces) or ½ cup maraschino cherries, drained and chopped (about 15 cherries)
Candy sticks
1 jar (8 ounces) whole maraschino cherries

Sift flour, baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt together. Cream butter or margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks; blend. Add sifted ingredients and milk alternately to egg yolk mixture, beating well after each addition.

Combine egg whites and ¼ teaspoon salt. Beat until stiff, but not dry. Fold egg white mixture and chopped cherries into egg yolk mixture. Turn into 3 greased 9-inch layer cake pans.

Bake in 350 degree oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until cake tests done. Frost with 7-minute icing.

Arrange candy sticks and cherries around sides and on top of cake to resemble drum.

Creole Beans Are Elegant as Party Fare

The colorful cultures of France and Spain, often with a touch of the West Indies, combine in the cooking arts associated with New Orleans.

Baked Beans Creole

Combine and soak overnight: 1 pound dry navy beans, 1 quart water.

Add and cook over low heat till beans are tender, about 1½ hours: 1 No. 2 can tomatoes.

Melt in skillet: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Add and saute till lightly browned: 1 clove garlic, 1 onion, diced, ½ cup diced green pepper, 1 cup chopped celery.

Remove and discard garlic clove and stir into beans with: ¼ teaspoon ginger, ½ cup molasses, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Turn bean mixture into a two quart casserole. Top with: Slices of uncooked bacon.

Cover casserole and bake at 300 degrees for two hours. Remove cover and continue baking till bacon is crisp, about 15 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

Saucy Note to End Meal

A fresh fruit sauce for ice cream lends that homemade touch.

Fresh Pineapple Sundaes

1 large ripe pineapple
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Vanilla ice cream

Pare and slice pineapple; dice fine; there should be about 4 cups packed down. Add sugar and allow to stand at room temperature until sugar dissolves. Bring to a boil and let bubble for a few minutes. Cool; stir in vanilla; chill. Makes about 3 cups.

Serve over vanilla ice cream.

Good with cooked smoked tongue or baked ham: Applesauce and horseradish, folded into whipped cream.

Broil Steak by Rules

There's more to broiling meat than just tossing a steak or chop on the rack. A few broiling tips can make the difference between broiled food that's good and broiled food that's perfect.

Follow these tips for better broiling.

- For juicier meat, salt after broiling, not before. Salt tends to draw juices out of the meat as it cooks.
- Turn meat only once and use tongs rather than a fork. Piercing the meat with the tines of a fork causes the loss of meat juices.

* * *

- When broiling frozen food, place it on the shelf one position lower than indicated in the guide to your range, advise Hotpoint home economists.

But His Mediation Efforts Failed

LBJ Sees Cyprus in Same Grave Light as SE Asia

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Just how seriously President Johnson regards the little civil war on Cyprus may be seen from the fact that, in the midst of grave decisions on future U.S. action in Southeast Asia, the President also took time to meet with the prime ministers of Greece and Turkey.

NEWSOM

His efforts to bring the two together failed because of Greek Premier George Papandreou's insistence that the difference between the two were so deep that nothing could be gained by direct negotiations now.

Later, at a news conference in which he frequently was applauded by members of the Greek-American community in New York, Papandreou enlarged upon his position.

- It is wrong for a minority to be able to enforce its will upon a majority. By this, he placed upon Cypriot Turks, outnumbered four to one by Greeks, the responsibility for failure to achieve Cypriot peace and stability.
- The solution for Cyprus is to be found in a plebiscite. The Greek premier carefully refrained from saying so, but presumably he spoke in the belief that the Greek majority would vote overwhelmingly in favor of "Enosis" (union) with Greece.

In any event, he said, the results would guarantee rights of the minority.

- Partition of the island, as demanded by Cypriot Turks and tacitly supported by the Turkish government, only would mean that ancient feuds would live on indefinitely.
- The 1960 agreement which permitted either Greek or Turkish intervention in Cyprus is dead, automatically so, since Cyprus is now a member of the United Nations which remains the most competent agency to settle the dispute.

JOHNSON FAILS

President Johnson's conciliation attempts obviously failed.

But what they did do was bring into sharp focus the differences between the two governments, the most basic of which is the question of intervention.

The Turks hold firmly to the 1959 agreement and in this accord to have the support of the United States.

A communique winding up the Johnson conference with Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu referred to "the present binding effects of existing treaties."

On the other hand, Washington is credited with being the restraining hand which has prevented a Turkish landing on the island.

NEITHER SUPPORTED

Neither Greece nor Turkey received the support they wanted in Washington.

Inonu in his own New York news conference declared that "sooner or later, the United States will have to take a stand," on the Cyprus crisis.

Two other elements have entered the picture. One is the return to Cyprus of Gen. George Grivas, who for five years led the Cypriot terrorist movement against British rule.

The other is the still-undeclared position of French President Charles de Gaulle, who is in close touch with both Greek and Turkish leaders and who might undertake independent mediation.

TRUEST WORDS

But in the end, probably the truest words were those of Inonu.

Sooner or later, the United States will have to take a positive stand.

Thanks to Humans

Charlie the Coyote Reviving

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Charlie the coyote is alive and halfway kicking today because of tender loving care by humans and 250 ccs of English setter blood.

He's not wholly kicking because his hind legs are in splints.

They were put there by Dr. Robert Brabrook, owner of a veterinary clinic. The doc saved Charlie's life.

The coyote, a scrawny puppy, was brought to Dr. Brabrook by two men who had found Charlie alongside a road, severely injured by an automobile.

★ ★ ★

Charlie was badly dehydrated, the veterinarian said. He had been in the men's car most of the day, and there wasn't much hope.

PUP INJURED

The pup was x-rayed. The leg fractures, back and other injuries were discovered. Dr. Brabrook prepared to operate.

Charlie's breathing stopped when anesthesia was administered. Charlie's nose was thrust into a machine attached to a resuscitator. Blood from the setter did its part during two transfusions.

It looks now like Charlie is going to be okay.

This Unlucky Fish Was Just Too Hungry

EUREKA, Kan. (AP)—Bill Lewis of Eureka caught a catfish that must have thought he'd found the granddaddy of all worms.

The fish had swallowed a 30-inch long water moccasin and still was hungry enough to take Lewis' bait and get itself caught.

CHICKEN OF COURSE — Holiday time is chicken time . . . Picnic fried chicken celebrates the Fourth of July in splendid fashion. Serve with crisp greens, follow with succulent watermelon slices, and you have the best possible festive fare.

Fried Chicken

Serve Traditional Fare

From the first anniversary celebration of Independence Day, an outdoor feast has been essential to the festivity.

* * *

The first anniversary celebration in Philadelphia, then the capital, consisted of a parade with floats, fireworks, and oratory. "Tables with a cold collation had been arranged in a circle on the grounds of Bush Hill, and when the last division of the parade arrived, the company went to dinner," according to a description of the time.

The "cold collation" is still an integral part of the day's events, and whether you observe the occasion at a picnic, camp cookout, or patio supper, chances are that cold fried chicken comes to the party.

Fried chicken is a traditional American favorite, and because it is so popular it generally turns up at holiday time.

The chicken pieces are first dipped lightly in seasoned flour and then in a mixture of milk, egg, and lemon juice. The egg thickens the milk and helps the flour adhere, and the lemon juice gives the meat a pleasant tang.

Roll the chicken again in seasoned flour, and be sure to let the pieces stand for at least a half hour before cooking. This gives the coating time to dry and permits it to cling to the chicken pieces.

Keep in mind that you need a heavy skillet for frying chicken properly; if your pan is too thin, the coating will be brown before the chicken is nicely cooked through.

Be sure to drain well on paper towels, for no matter how well you cook the chicken it will not taste its best unless all traces of cooking fat have been removed from the crust.

Picnic Fried Chicken

2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut in serving pieces
1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons MSG
1½ teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons thyme
2 teaspoons paprika
1 egg
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Vegetable oil or shortening

Wash chicken; do not dry. Combine flour, MSG, salt, thyme, and paprika in pie plate. Beat egg in another pie plate; add milk and lemon juice and mix well.

Roll chicken pieces in seasoned flour, dip in egg mixture, and then roll again in seasoned flour. Let chicken stand at least 30 minutes for the coating to dry; roll in flour again if coating is moist.

Have fat ½ inch deep in 1 very large or 2 medium skillets. Heat fat; (if thermometer is used, heat to 375 degrees).

* * *

Add chicken pieces, skin-side down. Cook until golden brown on one side, about 10 minutes. Turn and brown other side, 5 to 10 minutes.

Reduce heat, cover skillet, and cook 25 minutes, or until done. Drain on absorbent paper. Yield: 8 servings.

Stuff Zucchini With Salmon

Salmi Stuffed Zucchini is a different main course for luncheon or supper. It is both attractive and flavorsome. The perfectly seasoned salmon topping is an ideal stuffing for halves of zucchini squash. To go with the main dish serve canned peas in pimiento sauce, parsley potatoes and a light fruit salad.

Salmon Stuffed Zucchini

3 medium size zucchini squash
2 tablespoons butter, or margarine
Salt, pepper
1 cup toasted bread cubes
1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 small onion
1 tablespoon celery flakes
1 can (1 lb.) pink salmon

* * *

Cut cleaned zucchini squash in half lengthwise. Brown cut side in butter. Arrange browned squash cut side up in shallow baking dish. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper.

Combine bread cubes, seasoned salt, mayonnaise, chopped onion and celery flakes; mix well. Add liquid and oil drained from salmon and the salmon broken into chunks. Mix gently and pile on top of the halves of squash.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 30 minutes, until squash is tender and salmon is browned. Six servings.

Roquefort Cheese Puts Zest in Fruit Cup

Offer a Cheesy Fruit Cup and begin the meal in a most agreeable fashion. Combine ½ cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon milk and 1 teaspoon each sugar and vinegar. Mix in ¼ cup crumbled Roquefort cheese; lightly toss with a 1 lb. can of drained fruit cocktail.

* * *

Serve in lettuce lined sherbet dishes with crisp rye wafers. The recipe makes 4 to 5 servings.

News Briefs From Washington

LBJ Approves Excise Tax Extension Hours Before Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — TAXES: President Johnson approved extension of a batch of excise taxes Tuesday—just hours before they were due to expire.

The action assured the government of annual revenue of $4.9 billion from the taxes on such items as liquor, wine, beer, cigarettes, automobiles, local telephone service and airline tickets.

Earlier in the day, the extension had received votes vote approval from the House and passage on a 75-10 roll call in the Senate. The taxes were originally applied during the Korean war and have been extended annually since.

Other excise taxes on such things as jewelry, furs and cosmetics were not subject to renewal. The Senate voted to repeal these but the amendment was tossed out Monday by a Senate-House conference committee.

FUNDS: A Senate-House conference committee agreed Tuesday on a compromise authorization of more than $5.2 billion to continue the nation's space program—including the man-to-the-moon project.

The compromise retained $33 million of the $53 million which the Senate added to the authorization previously voted by the House for the fiscal year which starts today.

The committee's action is subject to approval by both houses. Funds will be supplied by a later appropriation.

BUILDUP: State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips says the United States continues to consider the Communist Pathet Lao buildup in central Laos as a "serious threat" to the neutralist government.

* * *

Phillips said Tuesday U.S. aerial surveillance of Laos is continuing as necessary.

TAYLOR: Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the new U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, plans to leave Saturday night for his post in Saigon.

APPROVE CHOICE

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, with only Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., in opposition, approved Taylor's nomination Tuesday.

It was learned that William H. Sullivan, 41, who has headed the Viet Nam task force in the State Department, would become No. 3 man in the Saigon embassy under Gen. Taylor and Deputy Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson.

PIERRE MONTEUX

Musician Dies; World Famous

Long Career Extends From Europe to U. S.

HANCOCK, Maine (AP) — French-born Pierre Monteux; a commanding figure among orchestra conductors for half a century, died early today at his home after a long illness. He was 89.

* * *

Monteux's sister, Mrs. David Michlin, said he had been confined to his bed for several months and died in his sleep.

Monteux's first conductorship was of the Ballet Russe in France in 1910. The company toured the United States in 1916, and Monteux stayed on in this country to become conductor of the French Repertory of the Metropolitan Opera for three years.

He then took over as conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra for five years and was concertmaster of Amsterdam's Symphony for nine years.

* * *

In 1934, he returned to the United States and picked up the pieces of the faltering San Francisco Symphony, directing it for 17 years.

LIVED ON ESTATE

Monteux and his wife, Doris Hodgkins Monteux, lived on an estate near her birthplace here for many summers. They moved here permanently in 1952, when Monteux stepped down at San Francisco.

Even in retirement he had made many guest conducting appearances.

Monteux once said he liked Brahms, Beethoven, Schumann and Wagner—"in that order."

"I don't like abstract music," he said: "Or abstract painting either. Modern is all right, but not abstract."

2 N.Y. Laws Grant Police Search Power

NEW YORK (AP)—Two controversial laws — "stop and frisk" and "no-knock" — go into effect today in New York State.

A State Bar Association committee has condemned them as unconstitutional and a law clerk has filed suit seeking a federal court order banning their enforcement.

* * *

The stop and frisk law permits police to stop and question in a public place anyone suspected of a serious crime or of intent to commit one. The suspect also can be searched for a weapon.

The no-knock law permits police, armed with a search warrant and court permission, to enter buildings or homes without first knocking or announcing their presence.

Law enforcement officials have agreed to use "a very narrow interpretation" of the measures.

Nikita's Scandinavia Trip Largely Pointless

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's 18-day visit to Scandinavia promises to be remembered as a journey into pointlessness.

Apart from some agreements to expand trade, Khrushchev's tour had produced no practical results of importance either politically or commercially. It is almost as if neither the Soviets nor the Scandinavians really see much use in trying to get on closer terms.

* * *

Khrushchev mostly buoyant and high spirited but occasionally sour and sarcastic — at times has gone out of his way to scorn Scandinavian achievements and philosophies.

He upset the Danes by saying their farming methods were too small-scale to hold any lessons for the massive Soviet collectives. Denmark's Socialist Premier Jens Otto Krag was miffed by a Khrushchev dig at his "capitalist state" during an informal television program.

FLUSTERS PREMIER

In Sweden, Khrushchev also wrote off a typical farm as "too small" and he flustered Premier Tage Erlander in an astonishing, half-serious, half-peevish luncheon speech.

He demanded to know whether Erlander planned to join anti-Communist Ukrainian exiles in an attack on the Soviet Union. Khrushchev was angry because during his five-day stay one Ukrainian exile leader went to Sweden and laid a wreath at a statue of King Charles XII who invaded Russia at the start of the 18th Century.

K MISTAKEN

"Khrushchev doesn't realize that we just don't bar people from a free country like Sweden unless they are criminals or something," one Swedish official said.

The visit, which ends Saturday, thus far has seemed to add no new dimensions to Soviet Scandinavian relations. People have been curious to see the Soviet leader but there has been no enthusiasm.

Khrushchev's routes have not been published in advance for security reasons, which makes it difficult for crowds to assemble, but even when people did get a chance to gather near Khrushchev, there was blank reserve.

When Khrushchev left Denmark and Sweden, his first ports of call, there were sighs of relief from government and press.

WELL ENDED

"Now it has ended—and well ended," editorialized Copenhagen's Berlingske Tidende. "Khrushchev is still a Communist and Denmark goes on in peaceful coexistence with itself and its neighbors."

* * *

Some comments were sharper. Danish Conservative leader Poul Moeller, told television viewers: "It was nothing but a circus. Khrushchev is a dictator and will never be any different."

* * *

Khrushchev left Sweden in an even more strained atmosphere. Swedish officials were affronted by the Kremlin leader's declaration that Swedish diplomat Raoul Wallenberg, arrested by the Red army in Budapest at the end of the war in Europe and reportedly held ever since, was not in the Soviet Union.

SWEDISH CLAIM

Sweden claims to have information that Wallenberg, who, the Russians previously said, died in a Soviet prison in 1957 still is alive and behind bars.

* * *

Expressen, Scandinavia's biggest paper, called Khrushchev a liar. Others said Sweden had expected more understanding of its deep concern over Wallenberg's fate.

* * *

The security mesh around Khrushchev is such that he has been able only rarely to mix with ordinary people. There is little doubt that he would have liked more opportunity for the kind of informal badinage at which he is expert.

Instead, Khrushchev has indulged his earthy humor at the expense of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who appeared to have no desire to answer back.

On his last full day in Sweden, Khrushchev instructed Gromyko to join him in a circle of hand-holding dancers. The foreign minister, whose dislike of dancing was written all over his face, tripped around moodily while Khrushchev hailed him with phrases like "Shake a leg, Gromyko."

Water Levels Force Move of Marina

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A 17-acre recreation complex on the Boulder City shore line of Lake Mead was scheduled to be towed four miles today, from Boulder Beach to Hemenways Beach.

* * *

The McCulloch Engineering Co. of Los Angeles is handling the job with a dozen large power launches.

* * *

To be moved are the Nautical Flag restaurant, an adjoining ship's store and about 350 boat slips containing $4.5 million worth of pleasure craft. The entire complex is afloat.

* * *

James Corey, owner of the floating marina, said the decision to move was triggered by the steady lowering of the lake's level.

Planes Collide; No Survivors

Two Navy Jets Hit Off California Coast

AVALON, Calif. (UPI) — Two twin-engine Navy antisubmarine planes collided in flight yesterday despite near-perfect weather, and the Navy said there were apparently no survivors among the five men aboard.

* * *

One body was recovered by early afternoon. One of the S2F planes carried three men and the second had two, according to spokesmen at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station from which both aircraft took off almost simultaneously Tuesday morning.

The Navy said wreckage of one plane was found, but that there was no trace of a second.

Policeman Don Anderson, a witness aboard a fishing boat, said one plane appeared to disintegrate after what he called a "head-on" collision observed by scores of fishermen and pleasure boat occupants.

* * *

Anderson, aboard the 85-foot fishing vessel Freedom I with more than 60 other persons, told investigators:

"I saw two twin-engine planes collide in mid-air and flat-spin into the water. They appeared to explode about when they hit the water."

He estimated the planes were about 1,000 feet in altitude at the time of collision.

Some cricket games in Great Britain last two or three days. There are two innings per game which end only when 10 players have been retired.

Indian Job Training — Bow, Arrow Making

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thirteen Indians will be taught how to make bows and arrows in an on-the-job training program.

The New Mexico congressional delegation was advised Tuesday by the Bureau of Indian Affairs that the $13,175 program will be conducted at Groves Archery Corp. in Albuquerque, N.M.

A survey of the travel habits of Americans revealed that only 52 per cent of the population had taken any kind of a trip 200 miles or more away from home during the preceding 12 months.

A get-out-the-vote campaign in that election. This was considered, Wausau, Wis., produced a 90.7 per cent turnout in the presidential ... cts of its type ever undertaken.

Search Continues in Mississippi

Town Where 3 Vanished Calming Down

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) —This little town—cast into national prominence 10 days ago by the baffling disappearance of three civil rights workers—is almost back to normal.

The search for the missing trio goes on.

* * *

There are no more anxious groups of residents crowding street corners. Discussion of the mysterious disappearance is limited to quick questions and occasional jokes.

A week ago today, a large force of FBI agents, state highway patrolmen and other investigators moved into Philadelphia to comb the hills and swamps of Neshoba County for clues in the disappearance of Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, two white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, a Negro from nearby Meridian.

SAILORS SEARCH

Dungaree-clad sailors from the Navy's air field at Meridian joined the search by order of President Johnson.

The trio—part of a task force working on a summer-long Negro voter registration campaign in this racially troubled state—were last seen the night of June 21 after posting $20 bond when jailed on a speeding charge.

* * *

Residents of Neshoba — it means "wolf" in Choctaw—were at first resentful of the invasion by investigators and nearly 100 newsmen.

"We're not accustomed to large numbers of strangers descending upon us at once and asking a lot of questions," said a local businessman.

Last week it was difficult to tell if a warning to stay off the streets after dark was a warning or just friendly advice.

At Jackson, civil rights leaders announced they had dropped plans to send Volunteer college students into parts of the state because of a pattern of terror and vigilantism in the whole southwest and in the area northeast of Jackson.

Robert Moses, director of the Council of Federated Organization's summer project, said paid staff workers — more experienced in civil rights work than the volunteers—probably would be sent into southwest Mississippi to assess the situation.

COFO is coordinating the civil rights drive by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Congress of Racial Equality, the Students Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and the Commission on Race and Religion of the National Council of Churches.

2 Are Critical in Sniper Spree

Bullet Spray Hits Officer, Fisherman

NETCONG, N.J. (AP) — A sniper hidden in a vacation bungalow felled a fisherman and a state trooper with rifle fire last night. The wounded men were in critical condition today following emergency operations.

A young man apprehended in the bungalow, Paul John Zeman, 23, of Orange, was questioned intensively, police said, then locked up overnight in the Sussex County Jail.

Police said no charges have been placed against Zeman and that their investigation was continuing.

The wounded men were Trooper George Lensi, 21, of New Milford, and Henry Grebe, 30, of Stanhope.

* * *

Grebe was fishing in the Cranberry Lake resort area of northern New Jersey. Suddenly, the sniper opened fire with a 22-caliber rifle.

STRIKES BACK

A bullet skimming low across the lake struck Grebe in the lower back.

Lensi, a rookie who joined the state police here a month ago, and Trooper Peter Kusant sped to the scene. At the beach, bullets flew at the troopers from the far shore. One shot tore through Lensi's right arm and lodged in his chest.

An urgent call for help brought 50 more troopers to the lake. As they arrived, the sniper sprayed "numerous" shots in their direction, Sgt. Louis Babbitt said.

* * *

Half an hour later, Zeman was taken into custody at the bungalow with a 22-caliber rifle in his possession, police said.

Officials 'Burn:' Inmates May Use Cigarettes Again

OLYMPIA Wash. (AP)—Kids hunted in garbage cans for them. Parents muggled them in. Counselor-inmate relationships were going to pot.

So, Tuesday the state announced it has lifted a ban on cigarettes at all but one juvenile correction home.

* * *

"The minute you tell them they can't smoke," said a disillusioned official, "that is the minute they all want to smoke."

Instead of banning cigarettes, officials said they will try to discourage smoking by pointing out health hazards.

PAUL WHITE McKEE

Publisher Dies at Age of 71

Ran 6 Newspapers in Macomb County

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Publisher Paul White McKee of the Daily Monitor-Leader and five Macomb County weekly newspapers died Tuesday at a Detroit hospital. He was 71.

McKee entered Grace Hospital May 28 and underwent a cancer operation there June 11. He had undergone several other periods of hospitalization in recent years.

* * *

As a publisher, McKee constantly hammered at department heads: "People are more important than things."

A highlight in the life of this native son of Tipton, Iowa, came on April 21, 1961, when more than 500 individuals from all walks of life came here to pay their respects on "Paul McKee Day."

Gov. John B. Swainson served as chairman of the event and the late President John F. Kennedy extended congratulations for "38 years as a distinguished publisher and shaper of public opinion." The Michigan House and Senate paid tribute through a joint resolution.

Chairmen of the state central committees of both the Democratic and Republican parties were included on the arrangements committee. So were congressmen, bankers and wire service executives.

* * *

McKee took over the Nellis newspaper group of five weeklies in 1923 and converted the Monitor into a daily on Aug. 26, 1940. Acquiring the Daily Leader in 1943, he merged it with his other daily into the Monitor-Leader.

Besides running Macomb County's only daily, McKee also was publisher of the South Macomb News, Tri-City Progress, Harper Woods Herald, Macomb County Legal News and Selfridge Flyer.

Survivors include his widow, the former Lucile DeYoung; a daughter, Mrs. Ardath McKee Clark, St. Clair Shores; a son, Paul W. Jr., Washington, D. C.; two brothers, Marl T., Derby, Conn., and Max B., Grosse Pointe.

A nephew, Mark T. McKee Jr., is assistant publisher of the Daily Monitor-Leader and the Macomb County Newspaper Group.

Ex-Telegrapher Dies at Age 77

Was Lodge Founder, Worked for The Press

Evert E. Johnston; a retired telegrapher formerly employed at The Pontiac Press, and organizer of Roosevelt Lodge F&AM No. 510, died yesterday.

Service will be at 1 p.m. Friday in Voorhees-Siple Chapel with cremation at White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Johnston, 77, of 105 Oak Hill started his career as a telegrapher with the Santa Fe Railroad, then went on to become a train dispatcher.

Later, he worked a circuit all over the United States for the Associated Press. He was associated with Michigan newspapers in Port Huron, Bay City, Lansing, Battle Creek, Detroit and Pontiac.

He had mastered the three codes in telegraphy.

Mr. Johnston, a life member and past master of Michigan Roosevelt Lodge, was active in the City Old-Timers Golf League.

Surviving besides his wife, Goldie, are a son, Evert E. Jr. of Bedford, Ind, three sisters and two brothers.

Expect Fireworks in License Sales Dispute

LANSING (AP) — Post-Fourth of July fireworks are due over the issue of whether 35 key license plate sales offices controlled by the secretary of state should be operated under the fee system or civil service.

Immediately at stake will be some $600,000 in annual fees paid to the political appointees managing the offices in nine major cities.

* * *

The 35 offices in dispute are located in Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Pontiac, Saginaw, Bay City, Muskegon, Kalamazoo and Lansing.

More important than the immediate argument is what appears to be a challenge to the State Civil Service Commission's authority to determine which state services should be performed by state workers and which can be let out on a fee or contract basis.

Willis Brewer, manager of the Pontiac branch, said today he will continue operating his office "as in the past until he hears otherwise." Appointed as manager under the fee system in January 1956, Brewer said his office is run entirely with fees from the sale of license.

Secretary of State James Hare and the commission have been conducting a running battle on the issue.

Hare is ahead in the fight at this moment. But the Civil Service Commission has said it will bring on a final test by refusing to approve payment of fees to the 35 branch managers.

* * *

The commission complained to Hare last July that 14 new fee offices had been established since 1955 and that five offices manned by salaried state workers had been closed during that time. Hare was asked to work out a plan to reverse the trend.

Hare said he felt all license plate offices should be on the fee system but that managers should be given civil service tests and a chance for tenure.

BRANCH OFFICES

There currently are 230 branch offices under the fee system and only 10 manned by state workers.

After months of negotiations, the commission told Hare last December it would no longer approve the payments to the fee managers of the 35 offices after July 1.

* * *

The commission, meanwhile, announced it was preparing to conduct civil service examinations to fill the disputed branch manager jobs.

The 1964 legislature upset the commission applecart, however, by the wording of its appropriation for the jobs. It allowed $1.3 million for the payments to fee branch managers without making any provision for transfer of the funds to cover classified state workers.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley upheld Hare in a ruling.

The legislature further got into the act with a study committee which examined the question and heard from both Hare and Franklin DeWald, state civil service director.

* * *

A middle-of-the road conclusion was made by the study committee.

DeWald said the test on whether a job should be done on a fee basis or a salaried civil service basis has been whether the service was of sufficient volume and performance to constitute a full time job for the state. The 35 offices meet this criteria, he said.

FIREWORKS START

The July fireworks will start when the Civil Service Commission refuses to approve the vouchers for the affected fee offices.

Then there will be the question of whether the Department of Administration will approve the payments and if the state treasurer will issue the checks.

Lines are drawn for a legal battle with Kelley batting for Hare and the commission retaining its own attorney for the showdown.

"I can't see them winning any change this year," said Hare of civil service."

Shooting Neighbor Brings Prison Term

Using a gun to try to win an argument over money brought a 1½- to 4-year prison term yesterday to Gene Hill, 56, of 56 Clark.

The sentence was ordered by Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt, who had found Hill guilty of felonious assault in a nonjury trial last month.

Hill was accused of wounding neighbor Howard Brown, 58, of 20 Clark with a small-caliber pistol in a money dispute last Sept. 26.

Water Shortage Here? That Was '63!

It shouldn't happen again!

Remember June-July 1963, the city imposed a rigid lawn sprinkling ban, some shifts were sent home early at the car plants . . . remember . . . water was the number one topic of conversation.

Well, it shouldn't happen again, according to Water Superintendent Herbert G. Parker. The water problem was solved last Aug. 9 with the arrival of Detroit water.

In fact, Parker said that Pontiac residents used a record 25 million gallons yesterday—the highest water consumption in a single day this year.

* * *

The superintendent said that the city's water supply is backed up by the City of Detroit and until they have problems local residents need not fear a repeat of last summer's shortage.

EXTRA SUPPLY

Pontiac also has a proverbial "ace in the hole." The city's three elevated storage tanks contain an added three million gallons that can be used to handle peak loads.

Evening lawn sprinkling is one such period of a "peak load," said Parker.

Last year residents faced a serious water shortage problem. Lawn sprinkling was restricted to 9 p.m. to midnight and police ticketed violators.

* * *

During a couple of heat waves, both Pontiac Motor Division and Fisher Body had to send workers home as early as 10 p.m.

RECORD SET

Residents were urged to use water only for essential purposes. Heat and a lack of rain drove the water table lower and lower—the record depth of 130.7 feet was set on July 24.

Even with the restrictions, however, a heavy demand was placed on the city's 17 operating wells. Their capacity was set at 28 million gallons.

Also in 1963, fire officials warned of a possible major fire that could become a holocaust because of the water shortage.

* * *

But, that was 1963. It couldn't happen again!

Owner of Cleaners Dies of Coronary

Burt H. Goodwin, owner and operator of Huron Dry Cleaners, died of a heart attack yesterday. He was 59.

* * *

Surviving are his wife, Dolores, a son Richard B., stationed at Malmstrom Air Force Base, Great Falls, Mont., and a grandchild.

Garage Fire Causes $1,000 Loss in City

A garage fire at the home of Garner Grogan, 647 W. Huron, caused an estimated $1,000 damage yesterday afternoon, according to the Pontiac Fire Department.

The 5 p.m. blaze started when a hot lawnmower was being filled with gasoline, firemen said.

LAST OF TROOPS—General Aguiyi Ironsi of Nigeria, last United Nations soldier to leave The Congo, waves crocodile-shaped stick as he boards aircraft before departure from Leopoldville yesterday. The withdrawal fell on the fourth anniversary of Congolese independence.

May Be Leaving Wake of Chaos

U.N. Ends 4 Years of Congo Intervention

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The United Nations yesterday ended a frustrating four-year Congo intervention that cost the world $466 million.

* * *

The government of Premier Cyrille Adoula resigned immediately afterward, and the Congo appeared close to the chaos that prevailed before the United Nations arrived.

Adoula's resignation prepared the way for one - time Katanga Province President Tshombe to try, as new premier, to unify the Congo under a government of national unity.

It was Tshombe, whose secession of Katanga Province on June 11, 1960, first split the Congo into warring states. He is considered most likely to win the new premiership.

* * *

Four years to the day after the Congo obtained its independence from Belgium, it was torn and divided with Communist-led rebellions in four provinces, open civil war in some areas. The vast territory's economic life is at a standstill, its future uncertain.

LAST TROOPS

When two planes took the last Canadian staff officers and 85 U.N. Nigerian troops out Tuesday, the nation's leaders paid no tribute to the force that had lost 235 dead and its leader, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. Not one official saw them off.

Adoula's resignation came as no surprise. He succeeded the late Patrice Lumumba on Aug. 1, 1961, and had been expected to resign so the Congolese government could hold elections for a new parliament. The circumstances made it the end of an era.

President Joseph Kasavubu announced in a broadcast to the nation that the Adoula government had resigned but was remaining in a caretaker capacity until a new government is formed.

* * *

He said the government's task would be to organize elections for the second Congo parliament.

Kasavubu pledged a major effort to guarantee the security of lives and property of both Africans and the Congo's remaining 40,000 whites, 40,000 of them Belgians. There are about 2,000 Americans still in the Congo.

DETROIT (AP) — The Common Council Tuesday approved transfer of the Cobo Hall catering contract from Al Green to George T. Roumell. Green had agreed to give up the $1.5-million yearly deal after city auditors reported a $63,000 shortage in his accounts. Green repaid the city its share of the loss.

Rights Bill Is Cleared for House Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House votes Thursday on the revised civil rights bill. Overwhelming approval is expected which would send the measure to President Johnson for a symbolic July 4th signing ceremony.

Tuesday night, a pro-civil rights bloc on the House Rules Committee, by a 10-5 vote, cleared the 126-page bill for House floor action.

* * *

The House approved the original version on Feb. 10 by a vote of 290 to 130. House members now will vote on the Senate version of the bill.

The idea of a Fourth of July signing ceremony moved a Rules Committee member, Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., to declare "I think it would be a desecration."

ELECTION ISSUE?

Another Southerner, Rep. Joe D. Waggonner Jr., D-La., predicted that the civil rights bill and the racial issue "is going to be the issue whether you want it or not" in the November presidential election.

"The Democratic party hoped for a me-too Republican candidate, so the line never would be drawn," he said. "Now it appears that it won't be a me-too candidate, and the line is going to be sharply drawn."

* * *

He mentioned no names. But Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, front runner for the GOP nomination, voted against the civil rights bill in the Senate and said parts of it were unconstitutional.

The bill was not changed in any basic way in the Senate. Its 11 sections include bans on discrimination in public accommodations, employment and federally aided programs.

It gives the attorney general power to speed desegregation of public schools, parks and playgrounds, and to help individuals secure equal protection of the law.

It also contains new guarantees of voting rights, extends the Civil Rights Commission for four years and sets up a new community relations service to help local communities solve their racial questions voluntarily.

Rocket Pumps Will Be Tested

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Space agency officials have ordered a severe testing program for hydraulic pump shafts like one which caused the failure of an Atlas - Centaur space rocket test launching yesterday.

* * *

They want to learn if vibration caused the shaft to snap about four seconds after the Centaur second stage ignited or whether the part was faulty.

The break resulted in loss of hydraulic pressure and the second stage engines shut down after 253 seconds instead of the intended 380 seconds.

The stage failed to gain orbital speed and it plummeted into the Atlantic Ocean 2,706 miles east - southeast of Cape Kennedy.

Officials don't foresee a delay of the next Atlas - Centaur flight now scheduled for October.

STRIKE BREAKERS—Police use dogs last night to dislodge striking grain handlers from barricades they placed across an access road to the Standard Milling Co. grain elevator in Kansas City, Kan. Pickets attempted to keep grain trucks from entering.

Dogs Break Strike Line in Kansas

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Violence broke out last night in a grain handlers strike against half of the terminal elevators in the Kansas City area.

Police and striking elevator employes, members of Grain Millers Union Local 16, clashed at the Standard Milling Co. plant in Kansas City, Kan. Other officers, with dogs, broke up the demonstration.

Later, two truck drivers leaving the plant were attacked. One of the drivers was struck by a stone. Benjamin Fitzpatrick of Lamar, Mo., was treated for a three-inch gash above his left eye. He said he was leaving the plant when informed it could not unload him.

The other truck driver escaped injury. Both drivers said 12 to 15 men were throwing stones at them.

A union spokesman, Howard Richard Porter, 39, was arrested at the scene and charged with disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct.

PEAK OF HARVEST

The strike began Monday night after a breakdown in negotiations. The walkout came at the peak of the wheat harvest in Kansas.

Judges Set Meeting on Juror's Pay

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County's 20 Circuit Court judges, shocked at the plight of a man who said he lost $1,800 in wages and loans while serving on a jury, will meet Thursday to discuss juror compensation.

Many of the judges have been reported to favor increasing the present $8 daily fee.

The juror, Karl Sauermilch, was empaneled May 4 and served until last Friday. He said his take-home pay fell from the $133 a week he earned as a pluber to $32.

Judge James N. Canham said "This was a tragedy."

If the judges reach a decision, it will be referred as a recommendation to the legislature, which sets the fee.

Pontiac City Affairs

3 Board Vacancies Filled

Vacancies on two city boards were filled last night by the Pontiac City Commission.

Commissioners reappointed Vernon Page to a five-year term on the Pontiac Housing Commission. His term expired June 30.

Page, of 199 Rockwell, was first named to the commission to fill a vacancy Oct. 1, 1957, and reappointed to his present term in 1958.

Daniel R. Veasey and Barney J. Habel were appointed to three-year terms on the Zoning Board of Appeals.

* * *

Veasey, who also heads the City Plan Commission, succeeds Arthur M. Shick on the zoning board, while Habel was reappointed to his second term on the board.

ONLY ONE BID

City Commission members reflected concern last night over receiving only one bid on public liability, property damage and workmen's compensation for waste collection and disposal employes.

A resolution was approved directing the finance director and city manager to prepare by May 30 each year bid forms to give all qualified bidders the opportunity to make a bid.

The purpose of the bid forms, which will contain a history of the city's insurance losses, is to furnish all potential bidders with adequate information to make a bid.

* * *

Commissioner Robert C. Irwin commented that he thought the reason there weren't more bids this year was because background information was not available soon enough.

State Dinner High Jinks

Luci Twists, Daddy Watches

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Daddy says it's all right," said Luci Baines Johnson every time she ran up to society band leader Lester Lanin to request another twist tune.

"Well, if it's all right with the President," Lanin said with quizzical look. He then would strike up a number that only teen-agers could dance to, such as the "frug."

The teen - agers literally took over the dancing phase of the state dinner last night in honor of President and Francisco Orlich of Costa Rica.

Luci again proved that she is the dancer in the Johnson family, even outshining her father. The President, who usually dances a lot, sidelined himself last night.

Most of the evening, he sat out the fast dances when Luci and her teen-age friends had the floor. He walked around, with his hands behind his back, preferring to watch rather than to do his favorite two-step.

TEENS A HIT

Luci and her friends brought down the house with their twisting and wiggling. Johnson led the applause for his daughter, who will be 17 tomorrow.

Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, watching on the East Room terrace which had been turned into a roof dance spot with fishing poles supporting lanterns, commented: "Former first ladies would turn over in their graves."

But the observation did not hold for at least two former residents of the White House. While Luci was twisting with Stafford Hutchinson, a son of an Interstate Commerce commissioner, she had the company of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. also doing the twist.

When the twisting stopped, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, went up to Lanin to request another twist or at least "a rock n' roll."

Only at one stage of the party did the Johnson family lose the spotlight. That was when comedian Jimmy Durante got up to the microphone when the band began playing some of the tunes he made famous like "Inky Dinky Do" and "Everywhere I Go."

Durante sang and everyone stopped dancing. They shouted "more, more" several times.

At 12:45 a.m., EDT, the President called it a night, beckoned to Mrs. Johnson and walked toward the elevators to the family quarters.

Alaska Now 'Great Land' With a Huge Headache

ANCHORAGE, Alaska AP)—Alaska is an Aleut word which means "The Great Land." Today, three months after a great earthquake battered sections of it, Alaska also has a "great headache."

The nation's 49th state, seeking to recover from the disaster, is encountering problems and delays in reconstruction no one could foresee immediately after the south-central section stopped shaking that fateful March 27.

* * *

In Alaska, problems of soil stability have required time-consuming tests. Some sections have been found to have dropped as much as five feet, as the land tilted. The question of tides has not been settled completely. All these factors have slowed reconstruction in an area where construction work outdoors must end when the frost hardens the ground in mid-October.

And one prominent banker fears that the initial impetus to rebuild, so prevalent immediately after the quake, may have been lost.

RAPID CHANGE

The situation changes so rapidly in the hardest hit areas of Anchorage, Seward, Kodiak and Valdez that an up-to-the-minute report is almost impossible.

But the picture one gains from a tour of the area is that the final road to reconstruction will be a long one.

* * *

"What has been done is small potatoes compared with what has to be done," said Lt. Col. Manley E. Rogers, Waterville, Maine who heads the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers residency for the Anchorage area.

If there is one villain in this drama of the Northland, it is the unstable soil which was greatly responsible for damaging slides in Anchorage, Seward and Valdez.

SHOCKS FELT

Aftershocks still were being felt when the Army Engineers moved in swiftly to restore essential public services, demolish badly damaged buildings, remove rubble and move undamaged buildings from unsafe land.

But in Anchorage, the state's largest city and financial center, water lines still run on top of the ground to furnish water to some areas. These must be buried before winter. Some major buildings still stand empty and others, obviously damaged beyond repair, have not been demolished.

* * *

The pie-shaped, devastated area of Kodiak — only a small part of the entire town — has been cleared of rubble.

An urban renewal program has been approved although some fishermen scoffed at a plan for a fish pond in a major fishing area and a covered mall.

HUGE TASK

At Seward, huge cranes are tackling the jack-straw piles of twisted rails, burned railroad cars and masses of concrete in the start of a cleanup program. Freight cars still lie in Resurrection Bay and must be removed if the town's position as an important seaport is to be restored.

Seward, too, is looking toward urban renewal although City Manager J. W. Harrison indicated the town felt the proposed plan was too ambitious. Estimated at up to $5 million, the plan provides for turning devastated dock areas into park areas. Residents point out that the town, with the snow-covered mountains reaching almost down to the water, has as much park area as it needs and wants industrial land.

There is a major change at Valdez, too. The children and dogs are back and are playing in the streets. They were conspicuous by their absence shortly after the seismic wave swept more than 30 persons to their death the evening of March 27. Soil tests show the picturesque little town must be moved to a new site 2 miles west, but this is a long-range program. In the meantime, housing for the winter must be assured the some 500 persons who have returned.

One great monument to frustration and the soil problem is the three-block stretch of cleared land on the north side of 4th Avenue in the center of Anchorage's main business district.

LAND FELL

It was here that the land dropped out from under a score or more of business houses and the Denali Theater.

Anchorage is sitting on the edge of its chair waiting for the answer to what will be done with this land—and other land now in what is described as a "high-risk" area.

On May 19, Task Force 9, a field study team of the Alaska Reconstruction Commission that is headed by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., outlined "high-risk" areas in the city. They were areas near slides or where the soil was known not to have proper stability or where the stability was in question.

The area included the Turnagain Heights section of fine homes, a section of 3rd, 4th and 5th avenues, including Providence Hospital, the federal building, City Hall, the Anchorage Westward Hotel, banks and other buildings. A third area covered sections of a bluff on the Elmendorf military reservation overlooking the city to the south.

* * *

Soil studies were ordered. Irwin Long, chief of the soils section of the Army Engineers, said the problem was to study the soil and determine which are weak areas, how far back from a slide area the land is firm enough to support structures the kind and size of structures.

The firm of Shannon & Wilson, Seattle, Wash., soil mechanics and foundation engineers, was assigned the $700,000 soil test project and is making thousands of tests.

* * *

Preliminary reports are in, or will be shortly. The final report is due Aug. 28.

The picture is not all dark. Alaska hopes that tourists will flock there this summer. There are as many accommodations as before even in the south-central cities. And such cities as Fairbanks, Juneau, Nome, Sitka and Ketchikan were not touched by the quake.

HIGH HOPES

Before March 27, tourist bookings were 20 per cent above a year ago and hopes were high. Even after the quake Alaskans hoped tourists would flock in to see what had happened.

This did not materialize. Either those in the "lower 48" states were fearful of more quakes — there have been none — or they feared accommodations were not available.

* * *

Charles B. West, president of Westours which operates ships, motels, buses, etc., reported an upward trend several weeks ago and predicted the tourist business would equal that of last year.

There is hope for more government help — although this hope is dimming insofar as it concerns outright grants or pre-earthquake type insurance. In the field of urban renewal they hope that the present allocation of 75 per cent federal funds to 25 per cent local will be changed to 90-10.

TOLL LOW

There still is rejoicing at the low loss of life. In Seward, which lost its industry, its railroad and most of its docks, there is still a thankfulness.

* * *

Designated an All-America City for 1963, Seward had planned a big celebration for the night of March 27 until someone suggested it might not be appropriate for Good Friday and the celebration was postponed.

If they had gone through with the original plan, at 5:36 p.m. Seward time, 1,500 persons would have been sitting down to a dinner on the waterfront. The waterfront was wiped out that night.

* * *

Estimates of the total damage, which soared as high as $750 million shortly after the disaster, have been revised to around $430 million, although Alaska Gov. William A. Egan believes the cost of full restoration will be considerably above that.

THREE MISSING BLOCKS — The area of cleared land is where three blocks of Anchorage, Alaska, were destroyed in the March 27 earthquake. Though the rubble has been removed, the future of the area in the center of the city's main business district must await soil studies to determine if building will be permitted there.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Crohn's Disease Not a Form of Cancer

BRANDSTADT

Q — I have had a portion of my bowel removed because of Crohn's disease. Is there any chance that the disease will come back? Is it a form of cancer?

A — Crohn's disease or regional ileitis is an inflammation of the small intestine (ileum). The cause is not known. It is not a form of cancer.

It often involves several short portions of the ileum with normal bowel in between. The victim has cramping pains in the abdomen often aggravated by eating, loose stools and loss of appetite.

About one third of the victims recover spontaneously from an acute attack. In the rest, the disease becomes chronic and extends to involve an ever greater portion of the intestine.

The treatment is not very satisfactory and several approaches must be used.

BLAND DIET

A bland diet with antispasmodic drugs and enough food to prevent loss of weight is important. In some victims psychiatric care is necessary to remove emotional factors that may be aggravating the disease.

Antibiotics may be needed for the acute attack.

Removal of the involved segment has been widely used, but because recurrences have been so common surgeons are now advocating an opening of the healthy bowel through the abdominal wall (ileostomy) to give the diseased portion a rest.

Q — I am 30 years old and have been taking Enovid for several months. Are there any harmful results from taking this drug?

A — Although too large a dosage may cause such side effects as headache and nausea, when taken in the prescribed amount this drug can be safely taken for prolonged periods.

* * *

Q — What is Decagesic and what is it given for?

A — This is a combination of dexamethasone, one of the cortisone group of drugs, with aspirin and aluminum hydroxide.

It is especially recommended for rheumatoid and other types of arthritis, bursitis and other diseases of the joints.

As with all drugs containing cortisone or related hormones, it should not be taken over a prolonged period.

* * *

Q — I have been taking Dexedrine for several years to help me reduce. Will it cause any bad side effects?

A — Dexedrine is a brand of dextro amphetamine. It is commonly used as a nervous system stimulant and appetite depressant. Large doses may cause insomnia, nausea or fainting. It should not be used continuously because it is habit-forming.

Coordination Helps Grades

Sports Help Students Build Confidence

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

What fault is your child developing this summer? Running, jumping, swimming, climbing, sailing, music?

Any one of these helps a child realize that he can train his body to do his bidding.

NASON

The American Medical Association recommends 30 to 60 minutes of planned exercise every day. But the development of physical skills demands more than just getting the proper amount of exercise.

What is needed is exercise or other activity that stimulates the pupil to develop skill and coordination.

Whether it's music lessons or swimming lessons, the results extend over into studying, and bring better grades.

Lack of confidence in physical things is a severe handicap to children. Those who lack the coordination and confidence for games on the playground are often afraid to try writing in the classroom.

Consistent practice in such a simple thing as throwing, catching and batting a ball can help a child overcome his fear.

* * *

When children learn that they can control their bodies, it not only adds to their confidence but enables them to apply the same techniques elsewhere.

LEARNED CONTROL

A member of a college swimming team once stated, "When I learned that I could control my thinking in the same manner that I learned to control the backstroke, my grades went up. I could handle my school work and still travel with the team."

Bill, a successful businessman, can trace at least part of his success to the development of physical skills. The same kind of planning and striving for perfection paid off in both cases.

One summer it was swimming the next year he spent hours performing on stationary bars both at home and on a supervised playground. Two other summers he spent his time sailing.

This latter sport gave him the physical feel of the wind on the sails, a sensitivity to a variety of circumstances.

Purposeful activities such as these seldom just happen. Bill was responding to the suggestions and encouragement of his parents.

There are many things that boys and girls can do to gain skill in the use of tools. It is important that they learn to work with their hands.

It helps them to create and it gives them a practical understanding of how things work.

Incidentally, the carryover from physical skills to mental skills is not always automatic. Students should have the parallel pointed out to them.

By OSWALD JACOBY

JACOBY

Here is a hand from Edgar Kaplan's "Winning Bridge Complete" that illustrates quite a few principles of bidding and play.

Let's consider the play in a novice game.

The jack of spades is played on West's six. East covers the jack with king and South with the ace. South leads a diamond toward dummy.

West ducks and the jack forces East's king. The ten clears the spade suit, but South continues about the business of setting up his own diamonds.

West gets the lead with the ace and plays a heart. If South finesses he will be set two tricks, but South counts nine tricks and goes up with the ace and winds up with two spades, one heart, three diamonds and three clubs.

West might have set the hand by playing second hand high on the first diamond lead and setting up his partner's spade suit while East still held the king of diamond but declarer still could have made the hand by two different lines of play.

One way would have been to let East's king hold the first spade trick. The other to go right after hearts and wind up with two spades, four hearts and three clubs.

Could East have set the hand by playing the ten of spades at trick one? Could South have made the hand against any defense? See tomorrow's article for the answer.

♥♣CARD Sense♦♠

Q—The bidding has been:

You, South, hold:

What do you do?

A—Bid three no trump. You have hearts well stopped.

Junior Editors Quiz on LAKES

QUESTION: Lake Maracaibo is not completely surrounded by land — so why is it a lake?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: A "lake" generally means a body of still water surrounded by land, but the word may also be used if such a mass of water has a connection with the sea.

As our map shows, Maracaibo is situated near the coast of Venezuela, in the northern part of South America, and has an arm which is open to the sea on the north side, making the water on this side somewhat brackish.

The southern part, fed by rivers, is fresh. This big lake, with an area of 6,300 square miles, is a waterway over which boats carry farm produce; but its chief importance to Venezuela is in the heavy deposits of petroleum which lie under the bottom and on the shores.

In some places, Maracaibo is dotted with oil derricks built over the water. The wells pour out so much crude oil that it amounts to 90 per cent of the country's exports, making Venezuela one of the most prosperous of the Latin American countries.

When the Spaniards first explored South America, they found an Indian village built on poles over Maracaibo's waters and this reminded them of Venice in Italy — hence the name, Venezuela.

FOR YOU TO DO: Check the location of Venezuela on a map and learn something more about this prosperous, troubled country and its people.

Out-State Buyers to Get New Tags

LANSING (AP) — A new type of in-transit license plate is being issued starting today to smooth the way for out-of-staters buying cars in Michigan.

Secretary of State James Hare says he hopes the new license system will provide "a real stimulus" for out-of-state residents to visit Michigan, buy cars and spend their vacations in the state.

★ ★ ★

The new license plate, made of heavy cardboard, will fit in the regular license plate spot and replaces the former sticker, pasted on the rear window.

At Famed Hollywood Eatery

Chef Enjoys 42-Year Reign

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Jean Rue rules his realm with a soft voice and a wooden spoon. He is the chef of the Musso and Frank Grill, the oldest and still the best restaurant on the boulevard.

In gentle gallic tones M. Rue wheedles from tradesmen the most qualitative of provender for his kitchen. With his spoon he tastes the concoctions of his assistant chefs, bestowing a nod and a few French words of commendation.

Rue has lived in the aromatic world of Musso and Frank's for 42 years. When he first came to the restaurant, Hollywood was a village with unpaved side streets. The growing movie society was centered on the boulevard.

"They all used to come here," the chef recalled. "Rudolph Valentino was a regular customer; he loved the Italian spaghetti. Charlie Chaplin had lunch here almost every day; his favorite was the boiled lamb with caper sauce. There were many others —Douglas Fairbanks, Bebe Daniels, Alan Hale. I remember when Hale first brought in his little boy — the boy who is an actor today."

CROWD MOVED

Hollywood grew, and restaurants proliferated. The movie crowd moved to Beverly Hills and the San Fernando Valley. But Musso and Frank's continued. While the younger set prefers flashier places, the boulevard landmark is still a favorite with film veterans, and especially with writers, press agents and advertising men.

Musso and Frank's was only three years old when Jean Rue arrived in February 1922. The founders have long since passed from the scene but Rue continues his guardianship of the kitchen.

★ ★ ★

A native of Limoges, France, Rue served two years of apprenticeship in the old country before graduating to Maxime's and La Rue. After cooking on the French Line, he landed in New York, then the Ambassador Hotel here.

★ ★ ★

A smallish man of 66 years, he has a brush mustache and a lean figure despite a lifetime of intimacy with food.

SIMPLE FARE

"I eat plain food, very plain," he explained. "When I go home at night, my wife makes me a simple meal —I have taught her pretty good. Some boiled beef or fresh fish, some fresh vegetables, that is enough for me."

Nothing much riles M. Rue, but he does express dismay over the way Americans eat.

★ ★ ★

"The gourmet has almost disappeared," he lamented. "Americans are too much in a hurry. In Europe the people spend one hour, two hours, even three hours over the midday meal. They know how to enjoy food."

AROMATIC WORLD — Chef Jean Rue of the Musso and Frank Grill in Hollywood tastes some of his cooking in the kitchen where he rules his realm with a soft voice and wooden spoon. His reign at the famed restaurant has covered 42 years.

Space Race Speeds Up Development of Medical Techniques

(Editor's Note—This is the second of two articles on the space revolution in the United States.)

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A cancer specialist at the National Institutes of Health privately outlines his hopes of collapsing the time it takes to make important medical discoveries.

"Take the work in developing a new piece of research equipment. One of our doctors had a new idea. We had it worked up and made ready in 48 hours by turning to an atomic energy team at Oak Ridge.

"If we had farmed it out to an old-time firm they'd have taken months to do the job in the traditional way.

"When these new men go after something they get it done. I don't know quite how to latch on to this new way of doing things, but I have an idea.

★ ★ ★

"I'd like to sell the people here and the Congress on the idea of setting up a number of three-man teams.

EACH TEAM

"On each team there would be a doctor, an engineer and a mathematician. You can't sit on your own job, pick out things and say this or that could be used by someone in a different field.

"But if you put men together with different ways of looking at things, I think something would happen. I think it would change medical research radically.

"Doctors now don't have the information they need to work with. If you have a patient, you get his temperature, his pulse and other data at intervals. You get a blood analysis or some other analysis now and again.

★ ★ ★

"You really don't know what's going on in your patient all the time under different conditions.

CONTINUOUS REPORTS

"Some of the new space techniques make it possible, cheaply, to get continuous reports on a lot of things about your patient. You could, for example, get a series of analyses daily at a reasonable cost, if you needed them.

"But I can't tell what ideas would appear as being the most practical. That's why I'd have engineers, doctors and mathematicians work together and see what would happen."

This same thinking is to be found among other doctors and among the engineers and management men at the space industries in Louisiana and California.

★ ★ ★

The vice president of one corporation making space rockets said, "We've got our company doctor working with our engineers on some new ideas. We're enthused."

NEW APPROACHES

Already, some radically new medical approaches are being developed as a result of the intense space work. Scanning some of the more important developments we find:

A device used in making inertial guidance systems has turned out to be a valuable medical research tool for studying blood.

An electronic stethoscope has been designed to give physicians the same hearing quality as present units, but with many times the hearing power.

Douglas Aircraft has made several prototypes of an electronic thermometer.

MONITOR CONDITION

Boeing has developed an instrument system which can monitor the physical condition of men and women while they are performing normal operations, thus giving medical men much more meaningful data in some cases than the static measurements taken in a doctor's office.

Studies in animal hibernation aim at reducing the metabolic activity of astronauts to permit extended space trips. As a result, doctors may gain knowledge of the best ways to decrease body temperature for surgery or for other treatment.

Studies on calcium metabolism while simulating weightlessness are providing valuable data on the prevention of muscular atrophy, the cause and treatment of kidney stones and the factors influencing calcium absorption, metabolism and excretion.

The results will have great importance in the care and treatment of fracture cases and polio patients.

CONDUCT EXPERIMENTS

National Aeronautics and Space Administration experimentation with high oxygen pressures in astronaut pressure suits has shed new light on the use of increased oxygen pressures during surgery to prevent lung collapse.

NASA's efforts in mapping and charting the brain and developing advanced measuring equipment have contributed materially to the therapy of disorders of the nervous system through active stimulation of the brain.

Says Canterbury Archbishop

Understand Topless Dresses

DURHAM, England (AP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury says understanding, not shock, should be the Christian reaction to topless dresses.

Dr. Michael Ramsay, 59, the archbishop, said yesterday, "The worst possible thing for church people is to adopt an attitude of being shocked.

★ ★ ★

"We must accept the fact that young people express themselves in new methods of dress that may seem queer to the older of us. We must accept that fact and . . . understand them."

Festivities in Canada

Mark Dominion Day

TORONTO (AP) — Sporting events, parades and festivals range throughout Canada today as the nation observes Dominion Day, marking the 97th anniversary of its birth.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson will attend ceremonies in Ottawa, where a feature will be a changing of the guard ceremony on Parliament Hill.

Mix-Up at Hospital

Parents Spot Baby Switch

HAMPTON, S.C. (AP) — The proud parents who took their infant son home from Hampton County Hospital thought he did not look like the baby they had been shown at the hospital, and a pathologist has confirmed their doubts.

Dr. William B. Mullins took blood samples from two sets of parents and two baby boys who were born June 16 and agreed the hospital had inadvertantly switched babies.

W. L. Mikell, father of one of the infants, said he had been shown a blond baby at the hospital nursery but that he and his wife later were given one with brown hair.

The Mikells kept the baby for two days before notifying doctors a mistake had been made.

★ ★ ★

The hospital arranged for the blood tests and saw to it that the Mikells and Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Youmans got the right babies.

Battle of No-Hit Pitchers Fizzles Out Early

Bunning's Duel With Johnson Fails to Jell

Cubs' Jackson Takes One-Hit Victory From Reds' Joey Jay

By The Associated Press

Jim Bunning of Philadelphia, one of the few men to pitch a perfect game, and Ken Johnson of Houston, one of the few to lose a no-hitter, faced each other.

So, who came closer to perfection?

Larry Jackson of the Chicago Cubs.

* * *

The Bunning-Johnson duel failed to materialize at Houston Tuesday night. Bunning lost his bid for a perfect game in the first inning and Johnson never survived it—the victim of three errors that led to five runs and an 8-1 Philadelphia victory.

At Chicago, however, Jackson had a perfect game for six innings against Cincinnati and admittedly had started thinking seriously of a no-hitter.

ONE MORE TIME

"For the first time in my life I really felt I had a chance," said Jackson. "The thought which raced through my mind was that I could do it if I went through the order one more time."

He couldn't get past the next batter. Pete Rose, leading off the seventh, ripped a slider into center field for a single. That was to be the Reds, however. Jackson set the final nine men down in order, winging 1-0 over Joey Jay, who was touched for only two hits.

* * *

Jackson's one-hitter made him the sixth 10-game winner in the National League and put him in an exclusive group of seven NL pitchers who have hurled no-hitters or one-hitters this season, surpassing the entire 1963 total.

San Francisco's Gaylord Perry also turned in a shutout, blanking the New York Mets 5-0 on three hits as the Giants remained one-half game in front of the Phillies. Milwaukee edged St. Louis 5-4 in the only other game scheduled.

FIVE HITTER

Bunning, knocked out in his last start Friday, posted his first victory since his June 21 perfect game against the New York Mets by checking the Colts on five hits. Any thoughts of another perfect game left after the leadoff batter drew a walk and any prospects of a no-hitter disappeared when Nellie Fox, the second man up, singled.

Johnson, meanwhile, never had a chance. Walt 'Bond dropped a fly ball hit by the Phillies' leadoff batter, Tony Taylor, and later in the inning added a throwing error while Joe Gaines also dropped a fly ball in the Phillies' five-run burst. Bunning, now 8-2, chased Johnson, 6-7, with a two-run single that wrapped up the rally.

Perry retired 19 consecutive Mets at one stretch, brought his record to 6-3 and lowered his earned run average to 1.65 as the Giants won their 10th game in the last 12. Perry received home run support from Orlando Cepeda and Tom Haller.

Hank Aaron collected four hits for the Braves, including a homer, before pinch hitter Ty Cline clinched it for Milwaukee with a two-run homer in the eighth. It was Cline's first homer of the season and tagged Cardinal reliever Roger Craig with the loss.

SENIORS' CHAMPION — Ed Harrison won his fourth Senior Golf Tournament title in six outings at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course yesterday. The 70-year-old Harrison fired a 43 and wound up with a net 35.

Great-Grandfather Cops Seniors Golf

Age hasn't cramped the golf swing of Ed Harrison.

The 70-year-old great-grandfather who retired in 1959 after 32 years with the Standard Oil Company, breezed around Pontiac Municipal Golf Course yesterday in picking up his fourth Seniors' Golf championship in six tries.

* * *

Harrison, who has seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild, recorded a 43 over the nine-hole route and, finished with a net 35.

Jacob Myers fired a 53 and also finished with a net 35, with an 18-stroke handicap, but Harrison picked up the winner's trophy with his 43 actual.

Harrison won his first Seniors' title (golfers 65 and over) in 1959. He grabbed his second in 1960 and he was at the top again in 1962.

Art Button recorded an actual 39, lowest score of the day among the 37 entries, finishing with a net 36.

Defending champion Ray Clothier fired a 45 and closed with a net 39.

Tigers Return 'Even' on Road

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers returned home today with the memory of one swing that knocked victory out of their hands.

The Senators edged Detroit 6-5 Tuesday night on John Kennedy's three-run homer in the ninth inning at Washington. The blow gave the Nats a sweep of the two-game series and left the Tigers with a 6-6 record for the road trip.

* * *

The Tigers open a six game home stand tonight against Cleveland. Detroit rookie Dennis McLain (1-0) will pitch against Tommy John (2-7).

Dave Wickersham, seeking what would have been a major league high of 11 victories, gave way to Mickey Lolich when he tired in 87-degree heat with one out and one on in the ninth.

Lolich walked pinch hitter Chuck Cottier and Kennedy followed with his game-winning blast. Kennedy had driven in another Senator run with a seventh-inning single.

EARLY LEAD

Detroit jumped to a 2-0 lead in the opening inning on Gates Brown's single, Al Kaline's double and a single by Norm Cash.

Dick McAuliffe's single and a double by Don Wert gave Detroit another run in the fifth, and two more runs scored in the sixth on Bill Freehan's RBI single and an error.

The Senators scored two runs, one unearned, in the fifth. Don Lock and Ed Brinkman singled with one out and pinch hitter Fred Valentine walked to load the bases.

* * *

Then Don Blasingame sent a grounder to Lumpe, who tossed to McAuliffe to force Valentine. But the Tiger shortstop's return throw to first was wide for an error.

Wert left the game in the fifth inning when he was struck on the left wrist by a smash off the bat of Lock. He was sent to the hospital but Tiger officials said x-rays showed no serious injury.

* * *

If Wert is unable to play tonight, Bubba Phillips will take his place at third base.

Lolich, now 7-6, took the loss. Steve Ridzik (3-1) won in relief for Washington.

Tribe Woes Start With 2 Outs

White Sox Rout Indians, 12-3

By the Associated Press

Mrs. Doubleday's little boy Abner decided the game ought to be played with three outs in every inning. Cleveland pitchers would be all right if they needed only two.

The Indians' staff wasn't having much trouble getting those first two outs Tuesday night against Chicago. The 12-3 White Sox romp came while the Indian staff was chasing that elusive third one.

Cleveland nursed a 1-0 lead through four innings but with two out and two on in the fifth, the roof fell in. Three hits, a bit batsmen and a walk later the White Sox had seven runs. Then came out No. 3.

* * *

There were two out and a man on second in the sixth when three White Sox hits produced three more runs. And in the seventh, an error, two hits and a walk accounted for Chicago's final two runs—all after two were out.

In other AL action Tuesday, New York swept a twi-night doubleheader from Los Angeles 4-0 and 3-2, Minnesota topped Baltimore 3-1, Washington edged Detroit 6-5 and Kansas City nipped Boston 2-1.

ALL SINGLES

The Twins got all their runs on singles, Bob Allison drove in one in the first and then Jimmie Hall delivered the other two in the third after Steve Barber had wild pitched the runners into scoring position.

Roger Maris tagged five hits for the Yankees including the game-winning homer in the nightcap as New York swept two from the Angels. Jim Bouton fired a four-hitter in the opener and Al Downing, winning his first game in over a month, took the second game.

* * *

Mickey Mantle drove in two runs in the first game and Bouton never allowed more than one base runner in any inning. Clete Boyer's sensational game-ending catch balled Downing out of a two-on spot in the nightcap.

Rocky Colavito drove in both Kansas City runs with a homer and a double and three Athletic pitchers combined for a two-hitter.

* * *

Moe Drabowsky and Wes Stock permitted just one Red Sox hit over the first eight innings but Carl Yastrzemski's ninth homer of the season broke the shutout in the ninth. John Wyatt came on to end it.

Semifinals at Wimbledon

McKinley Gets Right-Handed Foe

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Chuck McKinley, the defending Wimbledon tennis champion, faced a right-handed opponent today for the first time since the tournament's opening round — and his foe was the last barrier between McKinley and a berth in the final.

* * *

The American ace met Fred Stolle, the tall Australian he beat for the title a year ago.

Top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia played Germany's Wilhelm Bungert in the other semifinal.

McKinley, Davis Cup star from San Antonio, Tex., said he wasn't bothered by having to play four left-handers in succession. He reached the semifinals by defeating southpaws Tomas Koch of Brazil, Torben Ulrich of Denmark, Billy Knight of Britain and Abe Segal of South Africa.

STUDIES MERITS

"I take every match on its merits," McKinley said. "Right or left-handed, I just take them as they come."

McKinley's only right-handed victim was Terry Ryan of South Africa, eliminated in the first round.

* * *

Billie Jean Moffitt, the Wightman Cup star from Long Beach, Calif., was the only other U.S. singles hopeful after Nancy Richey of Dallas lost her women's quarter-final match Tuesday to Australia's Lesley Turner 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Moffitt crushed Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones of Britain 6-3, 6-3 and gained a semifinal slot Wednesday opposite defender Margaret Smith of Australia.

* * *

Maria Bueno of Brazil, seeking to regain the title she won in 1958 and 1960, plays Miss Turner in Wednesday's other semifinal.

Keith's Arm, Bat Win Softball Game

Harland Keith used his arm and bat in leading 300 Bowl to a 3-2 triumph over first place Arro Realty last night, and the victory moved 300 to within a game of the top in the American League.

Keith came on in the fifth inning in relief of Floyd Hicks after the losers had tied the score with two runs.

And with two out in the bottom of the fifth, Keith banged out a double and scored the winning run on another two bagger by Jim Long.

The loss left Arro with an 8-3 mark. 300 Bowl is second at 7-3.

In a second American game, Leo Sherby hurled five-hit ball as Elks No. 810 defeated Sam Reeves, 4-0.

In the International loop, Pontiac Merchants trimmed Buckner Finance, 8-2 and Lytell-Colegrove edged Motorcar Transport, 4-3.

The Elks picked up two runs in the second on a walk to Fred Millron, a double by Jerry Dennis and a single by Sherby. They added the final markers in the third on singles by Jack Avery and Bob Sherman and a double by Millron.

TIGHT GAME

The Merchants broke up a tight game with four runs in the fifth on four hits and an error. Dan McInnis paced the attack with two hits in three trips.

Lytell-Colegrove pushed across two runs in the last of the seventh inning in winning its third game of the season. Mickey Allen's triple sent Glenn Risbucka across with the tying run and Allen scored the clincher on a single by winning pitcher Jerry Redman.

In Waterford Township action, Harry Dearborn cracked out a pair of doubles, drove in two runs and scored twice as Spencer Floor won its 13th game of the season, a 5-4 triumph over Lakeland Pharmacy C.

In a second game, Jim Addard clouted a bases-loaded home run in the sixth inning to lead Lakeland Pharmacy B to a 11-6 decision over Haskins Chevrolet.

Detroit River Record for Gold Cup Prelims

DETROIT (AP)—Seattle milkman Bill Brow, whipping Miss Exide through some turns at nearly full power, set a Detroit River course record Tuesday with a three-lap Gold Cup qualifying average of 119.567 miles per hour.

The run, made under smooth conditions on the normally choppy river, eclipsed the (117.646) mile-per-hour posted minutes earlier by another Seattle driver, Ron Musson, and his defending champion boat Miss Bardahl.

* * *

It also was the second fastest time in unlimited hydroplane history, just under the 119.998 average notched by Bill Stead and Maverick at Seattle in 1958.

Both Brow and Musson surpassed the old course mark of 116.323 miles an hour set last year by Bill Muncey in Miss Thriftway.

Tuesday's third qualifier was Detroit's Mariner Too with Col. Warner Gardner at the wheel. He averaged 99.662.

The old Maverick, now Miss Budweiser, raised a few eyebrows when driver Bob Schroeder of Buffalo, N.Y., upped his qualifying average to 110.580 miles an hour for the third run in two days. Schroeder was the first to qualify a boat Monday at a little over 106 miles per hour. He later boosted this to 109.

Nine of 17 boats on hand have qualified for 12 positions in Sunday's race. All have until race time to make the minimum 90 miles per hour qualifying limit. But each driver has the right to qualify at a higher average once he makes the minimum.

* * *

Other boats which have qualified, their drivers and speeds speeds are:

Notre Dame, Bill Muncey, 115.302; Miss Madison, George Byers, 113.247; Miss Eagle Electric, Norm Evans, 108; Miss U.S. V, Don Wilson, 105.537; and Tahoe Miss, Chuck Thompson 103.185.

Palmer, Lema Pass Nicklaus in Dollar Race

DUNEDIEN, Fla (UPI) — Arnold Palmer took over first place in the PGA money-winning list and red-hot Tony Lema vaulted into second place today ahead of Jack Nicklaus, who had been the top golf money winner almost all year.

Palmer, who hasn't won a tournament this month, and Lema, who has won three, were involved in a playoff Sunday for the Cleveland Open title in which Lema took away $20,000 first-prize money to boost his earnings to $60,561.59 this year. Palmer received $12,000 to increase his total to $61,651.25, less than $1,000 ahead of Lema.

Nicklaus received $6,250 for finishing in a third-place tie at Cleveland and dropped to third place with a total of $57,676.66.

U. S. vs. Russian Fishing

Horsehair Line Used

By DON VOGEL

Nickolai Ivanov might still be fishing with a forked pole and horsehair line in his native Russia if an American Army major hadn't decided to bend the Yalta agreement.

As things turned out, the 41-year-old bachelor was casting with modern spinning equipment Monday night when he caught a 5¾-pound largemouth bass at Fish Lake in Rose Township.

* * *

This is the heaviest fish Ivanov has taken since coming to this country in 1951.

The bass leads its division in The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby.

Nickolai and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gregori Ivanov, live at 225 Cherryland, Auburn Heights. But if the military officer hadn't turned up at the right time, all three probably would be tilling the land today on a Russian commune near Leningrad.

* * *

The Ivanovs, including daughter Nina, became displaced persons in 1941 when Nazi occupation forces moved the family to Germany to work as slave labor.

"We were in a part of Germany occupied first by the Americans and then the Russians," said Nickolai in accented English. "It was April, 1945, and the Russians were circling the area preparing to take over.

DIDN'T KNOW

"We didn't want to go back, although we could have under the Yalta agreement, because we didn't know what awaited us — maybe jail, or something else."

An American major befriended the family and agreed to apply "this version" of the Yalta agreement and take the Ivanovs to the American sector, now a part of West Germany.

* * *

"Nina was in another part of the city and we waited two hours for her," said Nickolai, "but the Russian troops were already entering and we had to leave.

Nina, now 34, is living in Estonia and has not seen her brother or parents since that fateful day.

The Ivanovs worked in West Germany until 1951 when they finally were cleared for entering the United States. They lived for seven months in Texas before coming to the Pontiac area.

"The only difference between fishing here and in Russia," said Nickolai, "is that the equipment is much better here.

* * *

"We never had lines like you have. We would take four or five strands of horsehair and weave it together. The rope was then tied to a pole with a fork in the end and the extra line wrapped around the prongs."

The lake near the Ivanov home was a mile long and a half mile wide and a river flowed out of it to the Baltic Sea.

"We caught eels that came up the river, northern pike, like you have here, and perch. The perch there are darker and broader than in this country.

"There were many other varieties of fish, too."

They used red worms on minnows for bait. The minnows for pike fishing.

* * *

"We would wrap the rope (horsehair) around the forks and when a pike hit we would drop the tip so the line could be pulled off."

LARGE PIKE

Largest pike Nickolai can remember being caught from the lake was a 38-pounder taken by a neighbor.

The lake froze over in the winter, but the fishing was done "by men with nets."

The Ivanovs have a cottage on Fish Lake and Nickolai, now a citizen of the United States and an employe of Jig Bushing Company, is on vacation. He was fishing with his 69-year-old father when the big bass hit a Jitterbug about 9:30 p.m.

* * *

It may be the biggest fish for him in this country, but Nickolai is just catching up to his father.

"My father catch two or three last year that go between five and six pounds," he reported. "We always get big bass after dark."

That should be hint enough.

Pontiac Press Photo

SAME RESULT—The only difference between fishing an inland lake in Russia and similar waters in the United States is the equipment, according to Nickolai Ivanov, 225 Cherryland, Auburn Heights. In Russia, he used a horsehair line. Monday night Ivanov was fishing Fish Lake in Rose Township with modern spinning equipment and caught this 5¾-pound largemouth bass, a new leader in The Pontiac Press Fish Derby.

Department Seeks Opinions on Dogs

Questionnaires are being passed out to a random sample of state park visitors to get their thinking on how dogs should be handled in these public recreation areas.

The opinion survey, which runs through Labor Day, is prompted by a growing number of complaints against dogs and the Conservation Department's defeated plans to bar these pets from state parks during the peak vacationing season.

It is designed to find out if visitors think current controls are adequate, or whether they favor stricter regulations over dogs.

The questionnaire's choice of stronger measures calls for restricting dogs to certain parts of campgrounds, or completely closing state parks to the animals during the busy May 1-Sept. 30 season.

'Dog Show' Classes Set

Instruction classes in "How to Show your Dog" will start July 8 at Oakland Park.

Pontiac Kennel Club instructors will direct the one hour sessions which will be held on Wednesdays during July. The starting time is 7:15 p.m.

The program is open to any breed of dog.

PKC officials have long felt that there are many people living in the Pontiac area who would like to enter their dogs in regular shows but do not know the proper procedures and techniques.

The classes will be shifted to McConnell School in the event of rain.

State Parks Loan Books

Library shelves of 47 state parks and recreation areas in Michigan have been filled with 8,000 books to help vacationers pass those rainy days and get more out of their fun-time excursions this summer.

The reader service is again provided by the State Library and the Conservation Department, with books available for free loans at park manager offices.

Reading selections are keyed to interests of all age groups and include numerous books about the outdoors and Michigan history.

Elk License Forms Coming

Schedule Distribution During This Month

License applications for Michigan's first elk hunting season in modern times will be available by the middle of this month.

The forms are being printed and will be distributed to the Conservation Department's regional offices in Marquette, Roscommon and Lansing.

Other field offices — Imlay City is expected to be included — and the department's publications room in Lansing will receive the forms.

Only 300 permits will be issued for the Dec. 5-13 season.

A $25 license fee must accompany the application. A drawing late in August will determine who is to receive the permits. The $25 will be returned to all unsuccessful applicants.

Out - of - state sportsman and full - time Conservation Department employees will not be permitted to apply.

Not Really Larks

Meadowlarks are not larks at all but actually belong to the blackbird family.

Report Second Best Deer Season in '63

Michigan's 1963 firearm deer season goes into the record books as the second best in the state's history with a kill of 124,000 whitetails, final figures of the Conservation Department show.

Topped only by the 1962 harvest of 162,000 deer, last season's take was up nearly 30 per cent over the previous year, according to results of the department's annual postcard survey of licensed hunters.

Buck kill was the highest since 1951, jumping to 74,710 as a record 502,000 sportsmen took to the state's fields and forests.

Last season's antlerless deer take rose to 49,360, an increase of 50 per cent above the year before which places it second to the 1962 total.

Included in the antlerless figure are 11,000 buck fawns and whitetails with sub-legal spikes.

Statewide, nearly one of every four hunters took home a deer.

In the Upper Peninsula, more than 30 per cent of the hunters were successful. Also scoring in the kill column were 25 per cent of the hunters in the northern Lower Peninsula and 12 per cent in the southern Lower Peninsula.

NEW HIGH

Compared with the 1962 season, buck kill edged up from 17,800 to 19,700 above the Straits, while climbing from 40,130 to 48,220 in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Hunters took 6,790 bucks from the southern Lower Peninsula's fast-growing herd to notch that region's new high in kill for the third straight year.

Last November's special seasons in 46 trouble areas produced an antlerless harvest of 12,790 animals in the Upper Peninsula and 36,570 in the northern Lower Peninsula.

An estimated 515,560 deer licenses were sold last year, shattering the record of 468,623 set in 1959.

TAKES LEAD — Jack Weiss, 4420 Meigs, Waterford Township, holds the 7¼-pound northern pike he caught last week at Grassy Lake in White Lake Township. He caught the pike while still fishing using a large shiner for bait. The northern leads the pike division of The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby.

Checklist Helps Tell if You're Still Young

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people don't know whether they are young, middle-aged or old.

BOYLE

For these conditions are not always a matter of physical age, emotional feeling or mental elasticity.

Here's a checklist to help guide you. The chances are that you're still young in heart, and perhaps in body, if—

Without thinking about it, you automatically yield a seat on the bus to an older person—instead of racing him for it.

Most of the girls in the office call you by your first name, rather than address you as "mister."

When he's lonely, the kid in the apartment down the hall asks if you won't go out and play catch with him.

ROMANTIC LANDS

When you daydream at your office desk, your mind turns to thoughts of adventure in romantic lands — instead of how soon you'll get your pension.

You go up a flight of stairs two at a time without having to pause halfway up, and look around for medical help.

* * *

The only medicine you usually take is aspirin.

You look forward confidently to promotion in the office—that is, if you choose to stay with the firm and you don't have the idea that all your co-workers are leagued in a conspiracy to wreck your career.

There are so many things you'd like to do that the days seem too short.

Anything you eat agrees with you, and you're not at all finicky about what you put into your stomach.

You'd rather go water skiing than golfing. You'd rather play gin rummy than bridge.

When you look up a number in the phone book, you don't have to put on glasses or light a match to read the fine print.

When you go to the dentist, he is still more interested in filling your teeth than in pulling them.

You know you ought to read more good books, but there are so many other interesting things to do that you just don't find time.

When the phone rings, you don't jump three feet in the air in compulsive fear, wondering what problem it will bring.

You still like to sing in the shower. And, if you drop the soap, you don't sigh and take a deep breath before bending over to pick it up.

When you glance at the obituary page of a newspaper, you rarely or never find the name three of anyone you know personally.

You'd rather plan for the future than remember the past.

* * *

If all these things are true of you, you're still youthful.

Unbelievably youthful, in fact. For how can anyone that young be left in a mad, bad, moss-grown world?

Gains Are Narrow

Stocks Move Up Cautiously

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved cautiously ahead this afternoon.

Trading was moderately active with changes of most key issues narrow.

* * *

Brokers said traders were taking it easy because of the long Fourth of July holiday weekend ahead.

Steels, aircrafts, chemicals, utilities, rails, airlines and tobaccos were mostly ahead.

ISSUE UNCHANGED

American Telephone, which before the opening of trading reported record earnings for the three months ended May 31, was unchanged.

Burroughs was actively traded on blocks of 25,000, 21,900 and 12,500 shares. The issue was off about 1¼ points at one time but this loss was halved. Burroughs had been recommended by an advisory service as a "comeback" stock.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained 4 to 312.6 with industrials up .3, rails up .3 and utilities up .5.

Pure Oil, which received a $700 million purchase offer, spurted 4 points to 66¾, a new high.

Also reaching a new high was Lukens Steel, up 1 at 81½.

Kennecott was unchanged despite a strike at its properties in Utah and Arizona.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in quiet trading.

Corporate bonds were steady to a little higher and governments edged upward.

COLLISION — Flames and smoke trail two Air Force planes colliding near Bermuda yesterday. This photograph, released by the Department of Defense, was taken from a boat. The Air Force declared 17 officers and enlisted men dead. Seven men, who parachuted from the planes in a training mission before the crash, were rescued from the sea.

Tracing of $50,000 in Hoffa Case Cited

CHICAGO (AP) — A Federal Bureau of Investigation accountant Tuesday testified that he traced $50,000 from a Teamsters pension fund loan allegedly diverted for James R. Hoffa's benefit to a lawyer who represented an associate of the Teamsters' union president.

★ ★ ★

John C. Connors said the $50,000 went through several Florida banks to an Orlando, Fla., lawyer who represented Benjamin Dranow.

★ ★ ★

The government charges Hoffa devised a plan for diverting the money to himself to extricate himself from a failing land development near Orlando called Sun Valley, Inc., in which he was financially involved.

The $50,000 came from the proceeds of two pension fund loans totaling $1,275,000 made to Samuel Hyman, president of the Key West Foundation Co., Key West, Fla., Connors testified.

FUNDS MIXED

Under cross examination by defense attorneys the accountant said proceeds of the pension fund loans were mixed with other Key West Foundation funds.

He said he could not be sure that the $50,000 in question was pension fund money.

★ ★ ★

Hyman and the other six defendants are charged with fraudulently arranging more than $20 million in pension fund loans and diverting more than $1 million for their own purposes.

The alleged diversion was discovered through records of the Miami National Bank, Miami, Fla., where proceeds of the loans to Hyman were deposited, Connors testified.

RECORDS CITED

He explained that bank records show the $50,000 in what the prosecution says was pension fund money was transferred to Orlando lawyer Charles Davis May 2, 1960.

Davis was an attorney for Union Land and Home Co. in 1960. The prosecution charges Dranow set the firm up to help Hoffa out on the home development.

★ ★ ★

The prosecution further charges that Dranow was planning to buy Sun Valley and save Hoffa. The project went bankrupt in 1961.

Parties Meet in Hauler Strike

New Cars Piling Up at Assembly Plants

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —With new cars and trucks continuing to pile up around auto assembly plants on the East Coast, Teamsters Union leaders and representatives of new car haulers held a negotiating session here Tuesday.

Information was not available after the meeting broke up on whether any progress was made in settling the strike that has tied up car deliveries to dealers since last week.

★ ★ ★

The negotiation meeting coincided with the Eastern Conference of Teamsters, which is being addressed tonight by Teamsters President James R. Hoffa. Delegates representing some 700,000 Teamsters in 15 eastern states and Canadian provinces are attending.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa negotiated a national contract with haulers of new cars, but 18 East Coast locals have refused to ratify contracts in their areas.

DISSATISFIED WITH TERMS

Speaking for New Jersey locals, Anthony (Tony Pro) Provenzano has said repeatedly that the strikers were dissatisfied with the terms of the contract but that they were not in revolt against Hoffa.

Provenzano heads the New Jersey Teamsters Joint Council and is president of the 14,000-member Local 560 of Union City.

★ ★ ★

Disorders at picket lines around car assembly plants broke out again Tuesday night, this time at a General Motors plant in Newport, Del.

Police said Teamsters David McQuown of Avondale, Pa., and Eugene R. Schmidt of New Castle, Del., were arrested after they sat down in the path of new cars being moved out of the plant.

★ ★ ★

The Newport Teamsters, members of Local 107, are striking against Anchor Motor Freight, Inc. of Wilmington, Del., which delivers cars from the GM plant to area dealers.

NEA, Union Set to Battle

Organizing Efforts Center of Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid bitter charges, a battle is shaping up over organized labor's efforts to woo the nation's school teachers away from their traditional organization, the National Education Association.

The NEA's executive secretary, Dr. William G. Carr, used the organization's national convention in Seattle this week as a platform to launch a major attack on AFL-CIO organizing drive.

★ ★ ★

"It would destroy the National Education Association and its state and local affiliates," Carr charged.

★ ★ ★

"Scare tactics," retorted Carl J. Megel, president of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers which is spearheading the organizing campaign.

UNION SUCCESSES

Although NEA, with more than 900,000 members, is nearly 10 times the size of the teachers' federation, the union has scored some notable successes that doubled its membership in a relatively short time.

Megel said his union has a record of recent collective bargaining victories affecting 70,000 teachers, compared with only 7,000 for the NEA.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Carr's fears were expressed because he knows we have a positive program for classroom teachers and that the NEA is dominated by school administrators and cannot possibly find the solution for classroom teachers," Megel said.

★ ★ ★

"We're going to keep right on organizing," an AFL-CIO spokesman said in reply to Carr's charges that unions would drastically affect the teaching profession.

NEW CAMPAIGN

The campaign to sign up teachers is part of the AFL-CIO's stepped-up emphasis on trying to organize the nation's millions of nonunion white-collar workers to make up for slipping industrial membership.

Group Eyes Promise of Pure Coffee

LONDON (AP) — Good news is in store for coffee addicts in this world of substitutes. The International Coffee Organization is trying to make sure they get their brew almost pure.

Nearly every cup of coffee hides a substitute, sometimes called an additive. It may be ordinary roasted dried bean or barley or chicory.

★ ★ ★

The executive board of the ICO in a report today called on its member nations to implement legislation requiring coffee roasters and packers as well as manufacturers of instant coffee to see that what they brand as coffee is mainly coffee.

★ ★ ★

They suggested a tolerance of 10 per cent—called for in the World Coffee Pact—which means that at least 90 per cent of the stuff marketed as coffee would be coffee.

18 POINTS

This is one of 18 points the board will consider when it meets Monday to prepare an agenda for a meeting of the ICO Council opening in London July 27.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the organization are worried about the failure of the U.S. Senate so far to pass implementing legislation to make the coffee pact operative. The legislation has been passed by the House of Representatives.

★ ★ ★

The pact is designed to stabilize coffee prices by regulating exports and imports, using quotas where necessary. Since the United States is the world's largest coffee consumer, the pact could become a scrap of paper unless Congress authorizes the government to regulate imports.

★ ★ ★

A major item before the executive board and the council will be next year's quotas. Although world coffee prices remained stable during the summer, a number of producer and consumer nations have demanded higher quotas.

Continue Arrests in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Police arrested 45 - 50 demonstrators yesterday in the third consecutive night of civil rights demonstrations on the south side.

Among those arrested and later released on $25 bond were Lawrence Landry of Chicago, head of the recently formed ACT, Stanley Branche, 30, organizer of a school boycott in Chester, Pa., and Charles Price, 18, of Chicago.

They were charged with conducting an open air meeting without a permit.

Landry and 19 others were arrested at 47th Street and South Parkway where the group had apparently assembled preparatory to marching to police headquarters south of the loop.

The group had planned to protest Landry's arrest Monday night at the same spot he was arrested last night.

FLAUNT POLICE

While the group was in custody at the Wabash Avenue police station, nearly 300 persons, mostly teen-agers, gathered in front of the building taunt police. They chanted "Freedom, Freedom, Freedom" and sang, "We Will Overcome."

★ ★ ★

The second batch of arrests took place after some of the persons in front of the station became unruly, police said.

Then the demonstrators went to 48th and State streets where several of them attempted to block traffic, police said. They, too, were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

Faith in Hubby Has Precedence in Traffic Case

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Police Judge R. P. Moloney noticed that the defendant in a traffic case and her attorney had the same last name.

"Is this your cousin or something?" the judge asked attorney Tommy Bell Tuesday.

"Something, judge," Bell replied. "She's my boss—er, that is, my wife."

The judge dismissed the charge against Mrs. Bell.

KEEP FAITH

"We can't let a wife lose faith in her husband's capabilities as an attorney," the judge said.

He Sees Divorce Business Split 'Tween Reno, Mexico

By EARL WILSON

RENO — Is Reno becoming Divorceville, U.S.A., again?

Some people thing that since a recent headlined Mexican divorce was thrown out by the courts, there will be a new divorce boom here and it will be chic to "get an American divorce."

WILSON

Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.—an authority on divorce, having obtained six—has spotted some of the biggest society names, incognito, at exclusive guest ranches, waiting to get rid of rich husbands.

"Society's falling apart, if it hasn't already," somebody remarked. "One reason they like divorces here is the secrecy. The press leaves them alone."

Even the first Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller didn't get bothered much. At Donner Trail, where she spent her six weeks' residence, there are now 26 women and three men sweating it out.

It's customary to mention these society names by their initials.

Mrs. W. or Mrs. V. or Mrs. R., you hear them say. They whisper Mrs. W's husband, who is fabulously rich, is chucking her for an airline stewardess.

At night the divorce-getters drink to their troubles at the Mapes bar. The men and the women console each other, holding each other's hands, dancing and having some more drinks.

"I've been married ten years and I've had it!" one of these gals remarked.

"I've been married 15 years and I've had it twice!" exclaimed another one, still holding hands with a masculine divorce-getter.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Soup Bath 'Clears Air'

WINTHROP, Wash. (AP)—This case of mistaken identity had a certain air about it.

John Dabritz was missing one of his pet deodorized skunks.

He thought he spotted the animal in a pit near a neighbor's house.

Dabritz hopped into the hole to pick up the little rascal and hopped back out in a hurry. Wrong skunk.

Dabritz took a bath in tomato soup—the best way to clear the air after such a mistake.

35 Grads Aid City Hospitals

Interns Were Chosen by Computer Process

A total of 35 June medical school graduates are interning in Pontiac hospitals, 15 at Pontiac General, 10 at St. Joseph Mercy and 10 at Pontiac Osteopathic.

Most were assigned here through the National Intern Matching Program, a computerized system which matches the interns' choice of hospitals against the hospitals' choice of interns.

The system isn't entirely foolproof, hospital officials say, but it greatly increases the chances of satisfaction with assignments on the part of both the interns and the hospitals.

Osteopathic and general hospitals use a separate matching program, but both operate on the same principle.

★ ★ ★

It is interesting to note that, according to hospital officials, many doctors who intern here remain here in general practice or seek specialized training elsewhere and return to Pontiac.

MOST FROM STATE

While most of the interns at St. Joseph Mercy and Pontiac Osteopathic are from Michigan, all of the doctors interning at Pontiac General are from out-of-state, and four are from foreign countries.

Schools represented are Santo Thomas, Philippines (2); University of Istanbul, Turkey; University of Athens, Greece; McGill University, Montreal, Canada; and Loma Linda University, Calif.

Others represented are the University of Vermont, Howard University, Washington, D.C. (2), University of Kansas (3), University of Minnesota (2) and the University of Missouri.

Nine of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital's interns are graduates of Wayne State University Medical School and one is a graduate of the University of Michigan Medical school.

Six of the interns at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital are graduates of the Chicago College of Osteopathy and four are graduates of the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery, Des Moines, Iowa.

Says Ban Cites New Law Need

LANSING (AP) — The need for a new law protecting the insurance policies of Michigan motorists, effective Aug. 28, is underlined by the suspension of a Texas insurance firm, Secretary of State James Hare said today.

The Career Insurance Co. of Texas recently had been ordered suspended from doing business in Michigan by state courts and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

★ ★ ★

Hare said there are hundreds of Michigan motorists no longer able to drive unless they have a financial responsibility insurance policy in effect. All those Michigan drivers insured by Career Insurance are no longer covered, and therefore no longer entitled to drive in Michigan, he said.

★ ★ ★

The insurance, sold by such companies as Career, is for persons who are judged as "substandard risks," Hare said. Most of the policies sold by the Texas firm were in the Detroit area, he said.

★ ★ ★

"I would urge all persons who are under financial responsibility, who have insurance policies they bought in the Detroit area to immediately examine their policies and determine if they were written by Career," Hare said. "If they were, they should immediately find another company to insure with to retain their right to drive in Michigan."

Only about 10 per cent of Haitians speak French, the official language. Most speak Creole or West African dialects.

Congress Passes Bill to Aid Mass Transit Systems

WASHINGTON (AP) — After ly backed the measure a five-year fight, Congress nal congressional action came Tuesday when the Senate passed its first program of fed- voted 47 to 36 to accept House eral aid for commuter mass changes in the bill, which pro- transit systems. vides $375 million in grants to President Johnson had strong- cities and stalls over the next three years.

Sponsors said it should help at least a few cities to rebuild or halt the decline of transit systems that have suffered from competition with the automobile. Opponents called transit a local problem, and contended it would cost $10 billion for the federal government to undertake to meet all needs in the field.

Under the legislation, Washington would put up two-thirds of the net cost of any project. The state or city would provide the remaining one-third.

The federal funds could be used to buy land, right-of-way, parking facilities, buses, rail cars, signal equipment, stations and terminals.

The Senate passed its first April 1963 and passed the House last Thursday 213 to 189.

Barry Snubs Romney After Delegate Talk

LANSING (AP) — Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater turned a cold shoulder on Gov. Romney last night after receiving a warm Michigan welcome.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater, who pocketed 48 Illinois votes earlier in the day, spent an hour and a half with the 48-vote Michigan delegation to the Republican national convention and, according to his backers, picked up new votes.

He estimated his own national delegate strength close to 800 votes.

He apparently fared better with the Michigan delegation than did Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who spent 29 hours in Michigan last week in his drive to overtake Goldwater in the race for the Republican nomination for president.

★ ★ ★

Scranton appeared to have picked up second ballot votes from Michigan's officially uncommitted delegation, while estimates of the senator's over-all strength increased after his visit of a little more than three hours.

LEAVES IN RUSH

Goldwater left the Jack Tar Hotel in a rush after a half hour reception sponsored by the staff of the governor's office and the Republican State Central Committee staff.

Reporters trailed him to a limousine waiting to take him to Lansing's Capital City Airport.

To their questions on the closed door meeting with delegates, he at first snapped "How should I know how I made out?"

★ ★ ★

He later said he felt he had no commitment in Michigan, that the delegation was committed to support Romney.

NO ROMNEY MEETING

The Arizona senator rushed off without meeting with Romney.

The Michigan governor has sought the meeting for nine months and twice yesterday it appeared his wish might be granted.

Goldwater had indicated in a chance meeting with Romney at a Washington airport Monday that he would try to arrive in Michigan early enough to permit a long closed-door meeting

Community Planned on Scripps Estate

A $250-million unified community is planned on the 3,200-acre estate of the late William E. Scripps in Orion Township.

The announcement about the proposed development to provide housing for 35,000 persons was made yesterday by Howard T. Keating of Keating of Michigan, Inc., Birmingham.

Keating said his firm has acquired the land through purchase of all the outstanding stock of Village Acres, Inc.

owned by the R. Howard Webster interests in Montreal.

The Webster interest bought the land 10 years ago and for some time has been looking for developer to make use of the rolling fields and woodland for recreational and business purposes.

Formerly known as Wildwood Farms, the huge parcel lies 1½ miles north of the I-75 Freeway and about the same distance west of M24.

Suburban living facilities for families, apartment dwellers and retirees in a setting that provides more than 500 acres in lakes, an 18-hole golf course and miles of slopes for winter sports are included in the master plan.

NAME 'KEATINGTON'

Donald Gaeke is the land planner for Keatington, as the community will be named.

The scope of the development is so great, said Donald Condon, vice president and general manager of the Keating organization, that the work will be spaced over a 10-year period.

A plat for the initial area shows 147 80-foot lots for single family homes. They will be located at Baldwin and Waldon roads, in the southwest section of the proposed community property.

★ ★ ★

Condon said the homes will be priced at about $20,000 and that models are expected to be ready by early fall.

'Turning Point for Viet War'

Lodge Says Policies Can Win Over Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge declared today that the "downward spiral" in the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam has been stopped.

★ ★ ★

He said "we will win" if the United States and the South Vietnamese persist in carrying out realistic political and military policies.

In his first major speech since returning from Saigon Monday, after resigning as ambassador, Lodge pictured the greatest threat to this confident outlook as an increase in "hostile outside pressures" from the Communist side.

If those pressures grow too great, he said in an address prepared for the National Press Club, then "we may be forced" to take other actions to deal with the new threat.

★ ★ ★

Lodge did not spell out what additional steps might be employed against Communist forces in Southeast Asia. There has been considerable talk from U.S. officials in recent weeks about possibly carrying the war to North Viet Nam by air strikes, but he did not mention that.

OUTSIDE PRESSURE

He did say, however, that one kind of "outside pressures" can come from neighboring land used as a "sanctuary" from which Viet Nam can be attacked and the Communist Viet Cong forces given assistance "with impunity."

"YOU'RE KIDDING!"—That's the opinion of Tandy Bidinger, that a gal's freedom on the beach should not be restricted. At Pontiac Lake yesterday, she gave Supervisor Edward Cheyz her views on the ordinance banning topless bathing suits which the White Lake Township Board adopted last night. The 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bidingbr, 1459 Ruffner, Birmingham, has another six years before the law will affect her.

Plays Game of Warmonger -- Scranton

Governor Returns to Attack Despite Gloom Over Illinois Setback

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton said today Sen. Barry Goldwater is "playing the warmongers' game" in proposing use of military force to solve some international problems.

Scranton declared he believes Goldwater, the front runner for the Republican presidential nomination, "in his heart wants peace."

"Isn't he playing the warmongers' game when he proposes authorizing field commanders to use tactical nuclear weapons on their initiative; when he suggests sending Marines to capture the Guantanamo water?" he asked.

"These are reckless proposals," Scranton said.

★ ★ ★

"They are the very opposite of the calm strength with which President Dwight D. Eisenhower for eight years maintained the world's peace."

RETURNS TO ATTACK

Scranton returned to his attack on Goldwater after a respite yesterday to appear before Illinois GOP convention delegates in his presidential bid.

The 58-voted delegation handed Scranton a setback—but one he said he had expected.

Despite gloom in the governor's party in the wake of the Illinois results, Scranton turned his campaign westward to woo delegations in Utah, Washington and Oregon.

★ ★ ★

Scranton said in a statement: "I do not agree with my opponent

Steel Barrier for Telegraph?

Experts Suggest It in Median Talks

The State Highway Department today set about making Telegraph safer for motorists in Bloomfield Township.

Engineers are working on preliminary figures and their requests are being sent to Lansing.

But township officials will not see the concrete median strip removed as they requested yesterday.

Instead, highway engineers propose running a 2-foot-high steelplate barrier up the middle of the highway.

★ ★ ★

It would cost about $132,000 to install the barrier for the entire 5-mile length of the strip, according to district traffic engineer S. J. Levine.

REQUESTED HELP

In his letter to the Lansing office, he requested that protection be provided for at least the areas where hazards exist.

"Our first step will be to outline the entire median with reflectorized paint," Levine said. "This should be done right after the Fourth."

Then the pavement north of the Maple-Telegraph intersection is to be widened to permit a more gradual return from three to two lanes for northbound traffic.

The meeting with Levine yesterday was requested after the median strip was cited as a factor in two recent traffic deaths and nine other accidents this year.

"I don't agree with the steel barrier idea," Township Police Chief Norman Dehnke said, "but at least it's a step in the right direction. It will keep cars from head-on collisions."

Levine noted that a survey of the 1963 accident picture indicated "a lot of this is caused by left turns."

"We are going to install a considerable amount of no left turn signs," Levine said. "Left turns will be prohibited in the township at any intersection that's not protected."

Levine said he hopes the project would be completed this summer.

Manila Storm Toll Soars; State of Calamity Declared

MANILA (AP) — Casualty figures from Typhoon Winnie soared today as reports of death and destruction from one of the worst storms ever to smash through Manila started trickling in from stricken areas.

The Philippine News Service and local newspapers reported 40 dead although the Red Cross listed only 11 fatalities.

The Red Cross reported 275 injured and 376,897 homeless in cities and provinces of central Luzon Island hit by the typhoon.

Manila declared a state of calamity and began clearing rubble and debris.

★ ★ ★

The city of two million still was without electric power and water 36 hours after the typhoon roared in from the Pacific with winds up to 90 miles an hour Monday night.

★ ★ ★

Public transportation was restored this morning.

STREETS CHOKED

City streets were choked with cars and buses.

Most offices and stores reopened and most employes appeared for work.

The Manila International Airport reopened to traffic after a 36-hour suspension.

★ ★ ★

SHIPS AGROUND

The Swedish freighter Nordvind got away from shallow waters off Manila's Dewey Boulevard but two other small freighters were still aground, waiting for a higher tide.

China Charges U. S.

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China charged today U.S.-made planes have made new bombing runs over pro-Communist Pathet Lao territory in Central Laos in a move to provoke war.

Swimmers 'Covered' in New Law

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Topless swimsuit faddists have been given the cold shoulder treatment here.

Township trustees last night passed what is believed to be Michigan's first ordinance outlawing the abbreviated one-piecers.

Their action was preventive rather than corrective since no one has yet reported seeing a topless suit in the township.

We did this before we start having people come out to the township and creating a disturbance," Supervisor Edward Cheyz said. "After all, we have 27 lakes."

★ ★ ★

Cheyz a week ago recommended that the board establish minimum apparel requirements for beaches and Township Attorney Paul Mandel was authorized to draft the law.

SPECIAL SESSION

It was unanimously adopted at a special session last night.

The ordinance covers, literally, persons at public beaches and pools and private ones to which admission is charged.

It requires them to "be attired in a garment made of opaque fabric or material which covers all private parts of the body and, in the case of females, their breasts."

★ ★ ★

Violators convicted of the misdemeanor will face up to $100 fines, 90 days in jail, or both.

The limitations will go into effect Aug. 1.

"Those girls who want to try out their new apparel better get out here before then," Cheyz said.

Perimeter Now Wide Track Dr.

"Wide Track Drive" was selected last night by the Pontiac City Commission as the new name for Perimeter Road.

However, the name change was not accomplished without some verbal discord.

The commission resolution noted the increased safety the wide-track design has given Pontiac automobiles.

Adopted from advertising slogans for the car, the name was okayed by a 6-0 vote with one Commissioner not voting.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Wesley J. Wood admitted he had high esteem for the car, but said he couldn't vote for that name on a road.

OTHER IDEAS

Although he voted for the new name, Commissioner Robert C. Irwin later expressed some reservations. He thought the street should be called perimeter road or perimeter drive.

Barry Snubs Romney After Delegate Talk

LANSING (AP) — Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater turned a cold shoulder on Gov. Romney last night after receiving a warm Michigan welcome.

★

Goldwater, who pocketed 48 Illinois votes earlier in the day, spent an hour and a half with the 48-vote Michigan delegation to the Republican national convention and, according to his backers, picked up few votes.

He estimated his own national delegate strength close to 600 votes.

He apparently fared better with the Michigan delegation than did Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who spent 29 hours in Michigan last week in his drive to overtake Goldwater in the race for the Republican nomination for president.

★ ★ ★

Scranton appeared to have picked up second ballot votes from Michigan's officially uncommitted delegation, while estimates of the senator's over-all strength increased after his visit of a little more than three hours.

LEAVES IN RUSH

Goldwater left the Jack Tar Hotel in a rush after a half hour reception sponsored by the staff of the governor's office and the Republican State Central Committee staff.

Reporters trailed him to a limousine waiting to take him to Lansing's Capital City Airport.

To their questions on the closed door meeting with delegates, he at first stopped. "How should I know how I made out?"

★ ★ ★

He later said he left he had no commitment in Michigan, that the delegation was committed to support Romney.

NO ROMNEY MEETING

The Arizona senator rushed off without meeting with Romney.

The Michigan governor has sought the meeting for nine months and twice yesterday it appeared his wish might be granted.

Goldwater had indicated in a chance meeting with Romney at a Washington airport Monday that he would try to arrive in Michigan early enough to permit a long closed-door meeting

Community Planned on Scripps Estate

A $250-million unified community is planned on the 3,200-acre estate of the late William E. Scripps in Orion Township.

The announcement about the proposed development to provide housing for 35,000 persons was made yesterday by Howard T. Keating of Keating of Michigan, Inc., Birmingham.

Keating said his firm has acquired the land through purchase of all the outstanding stock of Village Acres, Inc., owned by the R. Howard Webster interests in Montreal.

The Webster interest bought the land 10 years ago and for some time has been looking for developer to make use of the rolling fields and woodland for recreational and business purposes.

Formerly known as Wildwood Farms, the huge parcel lies 1½ miles north of the I-75 Freeway and about the same distance west of M-24.

Suburban living facilities for families, apartment dwellers and retirees in a setting that provides more than 500 acres in lakes, an 18-hole golf course and miles of slopes for winter sports are included in the master plan.

NAME 'KEATINGTON'

Donald Gaeke is the land planner for Keatington, as the community will be named.

The scope of the development is so great, said Donald Condon, vice president and general manager of the Keating organization, that the work will be spaced over a 10-year period.

A plat for the initial area shows 147 80-foot lots for single family homes. They will be located at Baldwin and Waldon roads, in the southwest section of the proposed community property.

★ ★ ★

Condon said the homes will be priced at about $20,000 and that models are expected to be ready by early fall.

'Turning Point for Viet War'

Lodge Says Policies Can Win Over Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge declared today that the "downward spiral" in the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam has been stopped.

★ ★ ★

He said "we will win" if the United States and the South Vietnamese persist in carrying out realistic political and military policies.

In his first major speech since returning from Saigon Monday, after resigning as ambassador, Lodge pictured the greatest threat to this confident outlook as an increase in "hostile outside pressures" from the Communist side.

If those pressures grow too great, he said in an address prepared for the National Press Club, then "we may be forced" to take other actions to deal with the new threat.

★ ★ ★

Lodge did not spell out what additional steps might be employed against Communist forces in Southeast Asia. There has been considerable talk from U.S. officials in recent weeks about possibly carrying the war to North Viet Nam by air strikes, but he did not mention that.

OUTSIDE PRESSURE

He did say, however, that one kind of "outside pressures" can come from neighboring land used as a "sanctuary" from which Viet Nam can be attacked and the Communist Viet Cong forces given assistance "with impunity."

Plays Game of Warmonger -- Scranton

Governor Returns to Attack Despite Gloom Over Illinois Setback

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton said today Sen. Barry Goldwater is "playing the warmongers' game" in proposing use of military force to solve some international problems.

Scranton declared he believes Goldwater, the front runner for the Republican presidential nomination, "in his heart wants peace."

"Isn't he playing the warmongers' game when he proposes authorizing field commanders to use tactical nuclear weapons on their initiative; when he suggests sending Marines to capture the Guantanamo water?" he asked.

"These are reckless proposals," Scranton said.

★ ★ ★

"They are the very opposite of the calm strength with which President Dwight D. Eisenhower for eight years maintained the world's peace."

RETURNS TO ATTACK

Scranton returned to his attack on Goldwater after a respite yesterday to appear before Illinois GOP convention delegates in his presidential bid.

The 58-voted delegation handed Scranton a setback—but one he said he had expected.

Despite gloom in the governor's party in the wake of the Illinois results, Scranton turned his campaign westward to woo delegations in Utah, Washington and Oregon.

Scranton said in a statement: "I do not agree with my opponent

Friday will be cooler with the high near 83 and the low near 64. Temperatures will continue in the 80s over the weekend.

Rainfall through Friday will average less than 1 inch in showers and thundershowers.

Winds southwesterly will continue at 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Steel Barrier for Telegraph?

Experts Suggest It in Median Talks

The State Highway Department today set about making Telegraph safer for motorists in Bloomfield Township.

Engineers are working on preliminary figures and their requests are being sent to Lansing.

But township officials will not see the concrete median strip removed as they requested yesterday.

Instead, highway engineers propose running a 2-foot-high steelplate barrier up the middle of the highway.

★ ★ ★

It would cost about $132,000 to install the barrier for the entire 5-mile length of the strip, according to district traffic engineer S. J. Levine.

REQUESTED HELP

In his letter to the Lansing office, he requested that protection be provided for at least the areas where hazards exist.

"Our first step will be to outline the entire median with reflectorized paint," Levine said. "This should be done right after the Fourth."

Then the pavement north of the Maple-Telegraph intersection is to be widened to permit a more gradual return from three to two lanes for northbound traffic.

The meeting with Levine yesterday was requested after the median strip was cited as a factor in two recent traffic deaths and nine other accidents this year.

"I don't agree with the steel barrier idea," Township Police Chief Norman Dehnke said, "but at least it's a step in the right direction. It will keep cars from head-on collisions."

Levine noted that a survey of the 1963 accident picture indicated "a lot of this is caused by left turns."

"We are going to install a considerable amount of no left turn signs," Levine said. "Left turns will be prohibited in the township at any intersection that's not protected."

Levine said he hopes the project would be completed this summer.

Manila Storm Toll Soars; State of Calamity Declared

MANILA (AP)—Casualty figures from Typhoon Winnie soared today as reports of death and destruction from one of the worst storms ever to smash through Manila started trickling in from stricken areas.

The Philippine News Service and local newspapers reported 40 dead although the Red Cross listed only 11 fatalities.

The Red Cross reported 275 injured and 376,897 homeless in cities and provinces of central Luzon Island hit by the typhoon.

Manila declared a state of calamity and began clearing rubble and debris.

★ ★ ★

The city of two million still was without electric power and water 36 hours after the typhoon roared in from the Pacific with winds up to 90 miles an hour Monday night.

★ ★ ★

Public transportation was restored this morning.

STREETS CHOKED

City streets were choked with cars and buses.

Most offices and stores reopened and most employes appeared for work.

The Manila International Airport reopened to traffic after a 36-hour suspension.

★ ★ ★

SHIPS AGROUND

The Swedish freighter Nordvind got away from shallow waters off Manila's Dewey Boulevard but two other small freighters were still aground, waiting for a higher tide.

Swimmers 'Covered' in New Law

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Topless swimsuit faddists have been given the cold shoulder treatment here.

Township trustees last night passed what is believed to be Michigan's first ordinance outlawing the abbreviated one-pieces.

Their action was preventive rather than corrective since no one has yet reported seeing a topless suit in the township.

"We did this before we start having people come out to the township and creating a disturbance," Supervisor Edward Cheyz said. "After all, we have 27 lakes."

★ ★ ★

Cheyz a week ago recommended that the board establish minimum apparel requirements for beaches and Township Attorney Paul Mandel was authorized to draft the law.

SPECIAL SESSION

It was unanimously adopted at a special session last night.

The ordinance covers, literally, persons at public beaches and pools and private ones to which admission is charged.

It requires them to be attired in a garment made of opaque fabric or material which covers all private parts of the body and, in the case of females, their breasts."

★ ★ ★

Violators convicted of the misdemeanor will face up to $100 fines, 90 days in jail or both.

The limitations will go into effect Aug. 1.

"Those girls who want to try out their new apparel better get out here before then," Cheyz said.

Perimeter Now Wide Track Dr.

"Wide Track Drive" was selected last night by the Pontiac City Commission as the new name for Perimeter Road.

However, the name change was not accomplished without some verbal discord.

The commission resolution noted the increased safety the wide-track design has given Pontiac automobiles.

Adopted from advertising slogans for the car, the name was okayed by a 6-0 vote with one Commissioner not voting.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Wesley J. Wood admitted he had high esteem for the car, but said he couldn't vote for that name on a road.

OTHER IDEAS

Although he voted for the new name, Commissioner Robert C. Irwin later expressed some reservations. He thought the street should be called perimeter road or perimeter drive.

K Asks Norway, Denmark to Quit Western Alliance

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev made a public bid Tuesday night for Norway and Denmark to quit the North Atlantic alliance and join Finland and Sweden in a Nordic zone of neutrality.

An audience of 900 including government ministers, members of Parliament and diplomats did not applaud Khrushchev's plea in an address at the politically independent Norwegian Institute of Foreign Affairs.

See Story, Page B-14

Although insisting that he was not offering advice to the Norwegian government and Parliament, Khrushchev urged adherence to the neutral policies of Sweden and Finland.

"MERE CHANCE"

"We think it would be a contribution toward peace in the north if Norway and Denmark were not bound by military obligations toward states which have nothing to do with this area," the visiting premier said.

* * *

"We think that the participation of such countries as Norway and Denmark in the military plans of the West has been created through a mere set of circumstances.

"From our point of view, the most reliable guarantee for the security of such countries as Norway and Denmark, Sweden and Finland is a policy of neutrality which both sides would recognize — both the Western powers and the Socialist countries.

* * *

"Such a policy would be a kind of guarantee that the countries of northern Europe, in the case of a military conflict breaking out, would have safeguarded themselves against the devastating effects of modern weapons."

* * *

There has been no indication that Khrushchev has swayed either Denmark or Norway from their commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

POSITIONS CLEAR

Both governments made clear before Khrushchev embarked on his tour that they did not want to discuss their NATO alignment.

City Abolishes 2 Departments

Engineer to Direct Plumbing, Building

Pontiac's plumbing and building inspectors, separated into individual departments less than a year ago, were placed back under the city engineer's responsibility last night.

The City Commission approved a resolution repealing 1963 action that put the two inspectors in separate departments.

Since August 1963, the two inspectors have reported directly to the city manager.

A previous City Commission had separated the two inspectors into two departments.

* * *

In reverting to the previous organization, the commissioners followed the recommendation of Acting City Manager John F. Reineck.

REVIEWS SERVICES

Reineck had reviewed the city's inspection services, reporting that the separation of the plumbing and building inspectors created a need for duplicate files, additional personnel, floor space and filing cabinets.

City officials said that an added reason for the switch was to take some of the load off of the city manager, who already has 26 department heads reporting directly to him.

Reineck noted in his report to the City Commission that in the future it might be desirable to establish an inspection department with a chief inspector as its head.

* * *

Consolidated under the chief inspector would be the building, plumbing, sidewalk, heating and safety inspectors.

Utica Man on Probation in Fraud Case

A state investigator who tried to use his sleuthing skills for his own profit was placed on two years probation yesterday by Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt.

Up for sentencing was Dean L. Hasse Jr., 53, of 5032 Helene, Utica, who was found guilty by a jury last month on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

* * *

Hasse resigned his $6,000 - a - year job as investigator for the State Board of Dentistry upon his conviction.

* * *

Police said Hasse falsely represented himself last September as a licensed private investigator to a Southfield woman seeking to obtain evidence against her husband for use in a divorce case.

NATIONAL WEATHER—Showers are expected tonight over parts of the Tennessee Valley and widely scattered areas of the Southeast and plains states. RENEW PROTEST—Lake Oakland Heights residents gathered at a hydrant today on a county road right-of-way to renew their protest against a proposed water tower across the street from their subdivision. Water was needed to operate a pile driver at the construction site.

Water Tower Protest Resumed

Residents of Lake Oakland Heights subdivision in Waterford Township renewed their water tower protest this morning by gathering for coffee at the water source for equipment on the job site.

A group of about 20, mostly women, seated themselves around a hydrant directly across Main from the proposed site of the 750,000 gallon tower.

As the protesters sat sipping coffee, a pile driving machine across the street was being fired up to begin work today on the base of the tower.

The steam-operated pile driver requires an ample supply of water.

* * *

Police arrived at the scene at 8:30 a.m. to advise residents that a Circuit Court injunction was issued two weeks ago.

ENDS SIT-IN

That restraining order ended a five-day sit-in by residents at Main and Walton where access to the job site had been blocked.

Police left the scene when Samuel A. Ferguson, president of the subdivision association asserted that the injunction was aimed at blocking the street and didn't mention the hydrant.

The contractor on the tower site indicated he would arrange to truck water to the site, if necessary, so work can proceed on schedule.

* * *

Meanwhile, three circuit court suits relating to the township water system still are pending.

THREE SUITS

One filed by the subdivision group seeks to halt construction of the water tower and another complains that the township ignored deed restrictions in transferring control of the existing subdivision water system to the county for inclusion in a central township system.

A third suit filed by an individual subdivision resident seeks to nullify the contract between the township and county.

An injunction sought by the subdivision group to prevent the township and county from incorporating the Oakland Heights system in the central water system was denied Friday.

* * *

COURT POSITION

Judge Beer said that the court dislikes to issue temporary injunctions when the injunction directly involves the permanent cause of the suit.

* * *

A pretrial on this suit is scheduled for Aug. 24.

* * *

Despite the pending litigation, county and township officials decided to proceed with construction of the Lake Oakland Heights tower.

WON'T GIVE UP

"I have not given up on freedom," said Scranton. "I have not given up on America and I have not given up on maintaining the peace of the world."

The Illinois delegation came out of a day-long meeting yesterday, giving 48 of its 58 votes to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Eight delegates remained uncommitted. Two declined to make a choice.

* * *

Scranton and Goldwater each had met with the delegation for an hour.

PUBLIC EXPOSURE

Scranton said his strategy in Illinois was aimed more at public reaction.

The point, he said, was to arouse the public, who in turn would influence the Illinois group before it casts the first ballot at San Francisco.

Bus Service Guaranteed to July 31

The city was guaranteed bus service for at least another month last night.

City Commissioners last night approved extension of the city's agreement with American Transit Corp., through July 31.

American Transit is the parent firm of Pontiac Transit Corp., whose contract with the city expired at midnight last night.

The bus company has agreed to continue operations until the question of bus transportation is settled.

* * *

The firm has submitted two proposals in seeking agreement to provide bus service in Pontiac.

REQUEST FOR SUBSIDY

Included in both proposals has been the request for a subsidy from the city.

While negotiations have continued with Pontiac Transit, city officials have also sought a bid from a second bus company.

The city had paid a flat rate subsidy of $420 per month — $5,040 per year — to help offset the bus company's operating losses.

* * *

However, the bus firm reportedly had asked for a basic minimum subsidy of $10,000 annually to keep it in business in the city.

City officials have declined to name the second firm slated to bid for the bus business here.

The drowning victim was 4-year-old David M. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terrance D. Thompson, of 7158 Michael, Taylor Township.

The body of the boy was recovered from Kent Lake at 5:35 p.m. off the Turtle Head picnic site in a posted "No Swimming" area, where the family was wading, according to sheriff's deputies.

The youngster was found in seven feet of water, 25 feet from shore, by skin diver Medward Tessler of the Oakland County Sheriff's Office.

David's father told police that he had been with the boy in the water and after a while gave him to his mother, who took him back to the picnic area, and then returned to the water herself.

BOY DISAPPEARS

When they looked back a few minutes later the youngster was gone.

The local teen-ager, Kathryn Angel, 55 Forest, regained consciousness after she was given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation by Mrs. Paul David of 6515 Cloverton, Waterford Township.

Kathryn, visiting at the home of the Paul O'Dells, 4146 Lotus, sank in water 50 feet from shore when she got stuck in mud.

She was rescued from the water by Lonney LeFever, 19, of 6379 Saline, Waterford Township.

Mrs. David learned the mouth-mouth breathing method in a course conducted by the Oakland County Sheriff's Office Water Division.

to discuss key issues with Romney. He arrived late.

He said later, after a 10 - minute meeting with the governor, that he would be willing to delay his departure for a "reasonable length of time" to answer any questions that Romney felt were not answered in the delegate meeting.

NO TIME

As he left he said, "We had no time to visit."

Romney, appearing cool toward Goldwater, said in a news conference following the meeting that Goldwater had not answered all questions to his satisfaction.

The questions, he said, covered the areas of civil rights, collective bargaining and foreign policy.

* * *

Goldwater was presented a list of about 24 questions substantially the same as a list presented to Scranton last week. He also answered questions from the floor.

STATE OF CONFUSION

The meeting also left delegates in an apparent state of confusion.

Goldwater backers quoted Romney as saying they were not bound to their pledge to nominate him as a favorite son candidate for president after the platform is resolved at the GOP national convention July 13-17.

Others said they were still bound by the pledge for a first ballot nomination.

* * *

Romney said that delegates who opposed the move were free to vote according to their conscience at the convention.

ASSESSES STRENGTH

The governor placed Goldwater's strength in the Michigan delegation at "six to eight at the start—but no more than that. . . (and) in time 16 to 20."

JUDGE J. S. THORBURN

County Judge Enters Election

Third Appointee to Run on Fall Ballot

Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn today became the third Gov. Romney appointee to the Oakland County bench to announce his candidacy in the fall election.

Judge Thorburn will seek to retain until 1966 the circuit judgeship he was named to in September 1963 by the governor.

Other appointees, Judges Arthur E. Moore and Philip Pratt, announced earlier this week. All will try for two-year terms, which would take them up to the time longer terms will be available under revised election procedures.

Thorburn, 44, of 2600 Vinsetta, Royal Oak, practiced law in the county for 16 years before becoming a judge. He is a past president of Oakland County Bar Association and South Oakland Bar Association.

As an attorney he was in public law litigation as counsel for the cities of Huntington Woods and Pleasant Ridge, and Birmingham School District.

BOARD TRUSTEE

He also served 12 years on Royal Oak school board, as trustee, vice president and president.

Thorburn is a member of Pontiac Rotary Club and is a William Beaumont Hospital trustee.

Commenting on his candidacy, Judge Thorburn stated, "The Oakland County Circuit Court has for many years had the reputation throughout the state for industry, efficiency and justice.

"During my tenure, I believe I have done my part to maintain the high standard set by my fellow judges and their predecessors."

A World War II Navy torpedo plane pilot, Thorburn was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for sinking a Japanese ship.

REP. J. G. O'HARA

Congressman Will Run for Fourth Term

Congressman James G. O'Hara of Utica stated yesterday he will be a candidate for a fourth term as representative of Macomb County.

* * *

Democrat O'Hara, 38, is a member of the House Education and Labor Committee and serves on both the select and special subcommittees on labor.

He has been a supporter of legislation to improve educational opportunities and laws to "solve problems created as a result of automation and technological change and to expand employment."

O'Hara also works under the House Democratic leadership as assistant "whip" for the states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

* * *

The 12th Congressional District in which he is running includes all of Macomb County and a small corner of Detroit, but excludes areas north of Macomb formerly in the district.

AN ATTORNEY

O'Hara, 38, of 45306 Cass, is an attorney and graduate of University of Michigan Law School.

New Comet Visible on Horizon Tonight

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A new comet will be visible to the naked eye throughout North America tonight, says the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory.

The comet, named Tomita-Gerber - Honda after the three scientists who first sighted it, is expected to appear as a faint point of light low in the northwest horizon shortly after sunset, George Cornell, observatory spokesman, said yesterday.

Citizens, Orion Battle Pollution

Group Seeks Clean Stream

Recruiting Supporters In Paint Creek Project

The Paint Creek Citizens Conservation Committee will kick off its program to restore the stream to its original state of natural beauty and purity with "Operation Clean-Up" next month.

The committee is seeking the support of citizens in the six communities that border the stream to help clean up the debris in the stream bed.

Once the clean-up operation is completed, the committee plans to start work on the real problem — halting pollution of the creek.

Residents of Rochester, Lake Orion and Avon, Orion, Oakland and Oxford townships are the ones primarily concerned with the restoration project.

* * *

They were labeled "custodians of the stream" by UAW President Walter Reuther, who is chairman of the conservation committee.

FIRST AWARENESS

He said the first thing needed was awareness of the conditions that exist on the stream and then the backing of the people concerned.

"We want to involve as many citizens as possible to take an active part in the antipollution and beautification project," Reuther said.

As the date for "Operation Clean-Up" approaches, more detailed information on how interested people can help will be made available.

In the meantime, if any residents along the creek are not sure whether or not their premises inadvertently contribute to the pollution of the creek, the committee recommends they call the Oakland County Board of Health for assistance.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

The health department previously gave its backing to the project. Its representative, sanitarian Oscar Boyea, was at the committee's organizational meeting May 26.

Boyea said then that one corrective measure will be instituted in late 1965 when the Lake Orion sewage plant is slated for completion.

* * *

The sanitarian said the county health department plans eventually to have a large sewer system extending up the Paint Creek basin, which would also aid in remedying the pollution situation.

LAKES IN DEVELOPMENT — Two good-sized lakes, Voorheis (top) and Lake Sixteen (bottom), are included in the 3,200 acres in Orion Township acquired by a Birmingham firm, Keating of Michigan Inc., for a $250-million planned community. Formerly the estate of the late William E. Scripps, the huge parcel lies 1½ miles north of the I-75 Freeway and about the same distance west of M24. A marina is planned on Voorheis Lake and retiree housing near Lake Sixteen.

Village Asking More Time to Submit Sewage Plans

LAKE ORION — The Lake Orion Village Council has applied to the State Health Commissioner for an extended deadline on the submission of sewage plant plans.

The new sewage system is needed to alleviate the pollution in Paint Creek.

Oakland County Department of Public Works asked the village to apply for the revision because DPW officials had been unable to comply with the April 1 deadline for submission of plans.

The county asked that Aug. 1 be set for completed construction plans, April 1, 1965 for awarding construction contracts and Dec. 31, 1965 for completed construction and the new sewage plant in operation.

NO WORD

The village has not yet heard whether the extension will be granted.

The problem of a new sewage plant plan for Lake Orion came about when the State Water Resources Commission demanded that the village find the source of Paint Creek's pollution and alleviate it.

The village council learned from its engineers that the main cause of the creek's pollution is due to discharge of sewage into the creek from residences and business establishments.

* * *

After considering several systems proposed by consulting engineers Hubbell, Roth and Clark of Birmingham, the council decided the village would need county help.

PLANS REJECTED

It rejected plans for a joint system with Oxford and a system which would encompass parts of Orion Township.

Last August, the council formally requested the county DPW to undertake construction of the first stage of the sewer project.

Now the Department of Public Works will get construction plans and later negotiate a contract for building the system.

FIRST STAGE

The first stage of the project calls for sewage lines throughout the area east of the lake and in the village's central business district. The islands and peninsulas of the lake will not be included.

A way of financing the project will be determined after county representatives confer with the engineers and the specifications for the system are completed.

Lake Orion Village President William Shoup said that a cost estimate should be issued soon.

Novi Twp. Faces Suit in Death

The mother of an 8-year-old boy who drowned in a swimming mishap a year ago is seeking a $200,000 judgment against Novi Township.

Filing the suit in Oakland County Circuit Court was Mrs. Shirley Kellum of Detroit.

She charged negligence in the supervision of swimming at Novi Township Park, on Walled Lake, resulted in the death of her son, Larry, on July 2, 1963.

Specific complaints are that the township authorities failed to warn children of dangers involved in swimming at the park's beach and neglected to have a lifeguard on duty.

* * *

According to police reports, the boy's body was discovered in five feet of water, 200 feet from shore by other swimmers.

Mrs. Kellum at that time stated she hadn't realized the boy was missing and had seen him 30 minutes before his body was found.

Eight of her 10 children were at the beach at the time of the drowning.

Township Supervisors Elect

White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz has been elected chairman of the Oakland County Township Supervisors Association.

Cheyz succeeds Duane Hursfall, head of Independence Township.

Others recently installed were Seeley Tinsman of Holly Township, vice chairman, and Homer Case of Bloomfield Township secretary.

Plan Fireworks in Ortonville

Another community, Ortonville, has been added to the list of seven planning fireworks displays on the Fourth of July.

* * *

Sponsored by the local merchants, the Ortonville display will be handled by the Brandon Fire Department. It will be staged at 9 p.m. at the Brandon School parking lot.

* * *

The other communities where rockets will zoom skyward on the holiday evening include Troy, Milford, Rochester, Auburn Heights and Keego Harbor.

* * *

Fireworks displays also will climax day-long festivities in both Utica and Clarkston.

Rochester Chief Assumes Duties

ROCHESTER — It's Chief Robert Werth today, instead of Sgt. Werth as it was yesterday.

Today Werth takes over as Rochester police chief, succeeding Sam Howlett who held the post for 29 years.

Howlett retired to take a job in plant protection at National Twist Drill and Tool Co.

Werth has been acting chief since June 12 when Howlett left on accumulated vacation time.

A new officer, bringing the force back to its full strength of eight, also began work today. He is Nathan Underwood, 21, of 131 E. Fourth.

UAW, Ford Eye Work Conditions

By GEN ESCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiations between the United Auto Workers and the Ford Motor Company opened today with the union's chief proposals focused on improved working conditions.

The first week of contract talks in the nation's largest industry got underway Tuesday when a team headed by UAW President Walter Reuther sat down with representatives of General Motors Corp.

* * *

Negotiations with the last of the Big Three auto producers—Chrysler — are scheduled to begin tomorrow. First - round talks with American Motors start July 8.

Current three - year contracts with the Big Three, covering some 550,000 workers, all expire Aug. 31.

EMPHASIZE FORD

Although union proposals follow a similar pattern for all of the automakers, a UAW source said particular emphasis will be placed on working conditions at Ford because of model mix changes on the assembly lines.

In some plants, the same assembly lines now handle both Mercury and Ford models, placing an added burden on the worker, he said.

* * *

As bargaining opened with GM, both sides expressed hopes for a peaceful settlement without a costly round of strikes, such as those that have plagued the industry in previous years.

But Louis Seaton, GM vice president for personnel, said he believed the union's publicized proposals represented an "exorbitant set of goals."

WILL LISTEN

Seaton said the company would listen carefully to the UAW's specific suggestions, answer them in detail and eventually make proposals of its own.

But, he added, GM would "vigorously oppose any union proposal which we do not feel is practical and sound for the business."

The union began outlining its GM goals in a set of 34 so-called "position papers" dealing with specific contract provisions and working conditions. The presentation is expected to continue through next week.

Included among the proposals are a request for double time for work after eight hours a day or on Saturday, and triple pay for Sundays and holidays.

* * *

'Automation's Effect Greatest on Aged'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—An automation expert today told the Conference on Aging at the University of Michigan "the disruptive effect of automation has been the greatest on the aged—those least able to cope with change."

* * *

George E. Arnstein, associate director of a National Education Association project on automation, made his remarks at a closing session of the 17th annual conference. Some 500 persons attended the meeting.

* * *

Citing increased productivity, leisure time and knowledge because of automation, Arnstein said in a prepared speech that "as a result of this great revolution our values have changed."

* * *

"Communication between members of a multigeneration family are becoming strained because the aged are unable to understand many of the changes."

ROMNEY TO SPEAK

Gov. George W. Romney planned to address the conference today on "Michigan's Plans for Her Aging."

* * *

A speaker Tuesday described as a common myth a belief that a family's care and respect toward elderly members would avert loneliness and boredom and slow the deterioration of the aging.

* * *

"The aged who see their relatives, their families with frequency, have lower morale (and) more symptoms of depression than those who see their families with less frequency," said Dr. Jack Weinberg, clinical director of the Illinois State Psychiatric Institute.

* * *

"Loneliness and boredom are more usually symptoms of personal distress than of family neglect," he added.

RELIEF FROM HEAT — The lake in Lake Orion Village Park is a mecca these days for local residents who want to cool off in the over 90-degree temperatures. But it will be a busier place beginning Monday when the Lake Orion School of Aquatics begins. Children will be attending swimming classes from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily Monday through Friday for six weeks. Instructor will be Lucy Rae. The program is sponsored by the Lake Orion Child Guidance Association.

Truce in St. Augustine Brings Racial Peace

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Racial peace returned to St. Augustine today.

Both sides in the dispute agreed to a truce while a secret biracial committee attempts to find a middle ground.

* * *

The truce is aimed at ending for at least two weeks the marathon series of demonstrations that resulted in more than 300 arrests and scores of injuries in brawls on the streets and the beaches.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who is leading the assault against racial barriers here told a jubilant Negro rally Tuesday night that a victory had been scored.

GOAL DEFINED

"The purpose of our direct action was to create a crisis, a tension, to bring our case out in the open, so that they would talk to us about it," he said. "Now they have agreed to do that."

The Negroes applauded and when King finished sang an old spiritual called "Keep Your Eye on the Prize."

Gov. Farris Bryant said he had named the committee to function until a permanent biracial committee is established as recommended June 18 by a county grand jury. He declined to identify the interim group's members.

* * *

King said the committee was made up of two whites and two Negroes. He said their names were withheld to protect them from harrassment.

GOOD FAITH

King said he had called a halt to demonstrations to show good faith.

The leaders of white segregationists also accepted the truce.

Holsted Manucy, said a Ku Klux Klan rally scheduled July 4 has been canceled.

* * *

Manucy, who disclaims membership in the KKK, advised his followers not to engage in violence during this truce period.

KING RELEASED

King was released on his own recognizance Tuesday, after warrants were sworn out against him on six charges. Fred Brinkholt Jr., county juvenile counselor, charged King in four warrants with contributing to the delinquency of a minor by having juveniles on probation march in demonstrations. James Brock, owner of a motel that has been the scene of racial demonstrations, swore out two warrants charging conspiracy to break the peace.

Slain Millionaire Banker Knifed at Least 13 Times

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police sought today a killer who stabbed millionaire banker Jacques Mossler more than 13 times with a stiletto.

Mossler, 69, owner of banks in Indiana, Illinois and Florida, was found clad only in a nightshirt by his wife, Candace, 45, about 4:30 a.m. Tuesday.

* * *

An ornamental glass bird lay shattered on the floor and drapery in the plush ocean - front apartment was torn, Capt. Pat Gallagher, Miami homicide chief, said no murder weapon was found but "we assume it's a thin-bladed knife, something like a stiletto."

Mossler's dog Rocky, chained inside the door, was heard barking wildly about 2 a.m. A neighbor reported hearing someone shout, "Don't, don't do that to me."

HEAVY FOOTSTEPS

The neighbor, a red-haired former model, Peggy Fletcher, said, "I heard someone close the door across the hall and walk down the hall. Then I heard him run down the concrete outdoor stairway." She said heavy footsteps convinced her it was a man.

About 2:45 a.m., before police knew of the murder, several officers questioned a man found cut and bloody near Mossler's apartment. He told officers three boys had beaten him up and stolen his car. A routine report was filed.

* * *

Police returned to the man later for more questioning, but it was halted after his lawyer obtained a court order demanding a stop to interrogation. He was not charged.

Mossler and his wife each had children by former marriages. Four adopted children were with Mrs. Mossler when she found the body upon returning from a morning drive.

WIDE INTERESTS

Mossler owned interests in three Miami banks and others in Chicago, and South Bend, Ind., and was president of the Mossler Acceptance Corp. of Houston, Tex. The Mosslers had homes in Miami and Houston.

Mossler's daughter, Rita, 20, said about $600 in cash, a diamond wrist watch and a gold brooch were missing from Mossler's apartment.

"His room had been ransacked," she said. "So had mother's room been searched."

Tax Intake Sets Record in Michigan

LANSING (AP) — The state sales tax take during the past fiscal year was a record $487.7 million, up from $455.6 million last year, reports State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock.

Lock said the increase reflected the general prosperity in the state.

* * *

Major department stores showed the greatest gain, both in dollars and percentagewise, he said. Auto sales showed the second highest increase followed by grocery stores and building materials.

June sales and use tax collections also hit a new high, amounting to $48.08 million, a jump of $3.8 million over the same month last year.

SHOW INCREASE

This was the 29th consecutive month in which sales and use tax collections showed an increase over the comparable month the previous year, Lock said.

The other four major state taxes also showed rises over the previous year, reflecting Michigan's booming prosperity, Lock said.

* * *

The fiscal year collections included:

—Use tax, $50.9 million, up from $42.5 million last year.

—Business activities tax, $90.0 million, up from $77.9 million.

—Cigarette tax, $70.3 million, up from $68.6 million.

—Intangibles tax, $34.7 million, up from $33.8 million.

* * *

Lock said all the cigarette tax gains were made during the first six months of the year. The surgeon general's report on smoking dangers caused a drop in the last six months, but the total still was an increase over the previous year, he noted.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at drug counters everywhere.

Promise Fight Over Pay Hike

Proposed Congress Raise Has Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of a proposed $7,500 salary increase for members of Congress promised a floor fight today as the Senate opened floor debate on a $664-million federal pay hike bill.

Sponsors of the legislation said they were confident they could beat off any major amendments, including those aimed at the congressional boost.

* * *

They said that if the House could go along with this increase, when all of its members are up for election this year, the Senate should be able to do so without difficulty. Only one-third of the senators must face the voters this fall.

The bill covers about 1.7 million classified civil service and postal workers, and also all federal executives and U.S. judges as well as senators and representatives.

PUSHING HARD

President Johnson has been pushing hard for prompt action on the measure, asserting the executive raises are essential to retain key personnel in his administration.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told a reporter he would like to see the bill amended to give a $10,000 raise to members of Congress, the same as that which would be granted Cabinet members.

* * *

He conceded that the chances for this seemed to be slim. Congressmen are now paid $22,500 annually.

Dirksen said he also was interested in a House provision stricken from the bill by the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee which would give members of Congress and federal executives automatic raises in the future proportionate to those voted for the civil service employes.

PLEDGED A FIGHT

Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, pledged a fight to knock out the congressional increases, arguing that a one-third pay raise was not justified.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., proposed an amendment to postpone all raises for those making $20,000 or more annually until a balanced federal budget is achieved.

Mother of the child is Mrs. Judy Richards.

Jeffrey's mother and aunt both live at 1154 E. Big Beaver.
