Politics Simmering

ATTACKS HARRIMAN—Gov. Luther H. Hodges, (D-North Carolina) gestures at the Governors Conference in Atlantic City as he labeled New York's Gov. Harriman as a "super New Dealer."

Governors Discussing Politics and A-Energy

ATLANTIC CITY (INS) — New York Gov. Averell Harriman, convinced he will be the next U. S. president, takes over today as chairman of the last and perhaps most important business meeting of the governors conference—a roundtable discussion on atomic energy.

Though nuclear forces that defy description are involved and sources of power far beyond coal and oil are up for consideration, the final day of the 48th annual meeting inevitably will revert to politics.

This will be the fault of the newsmen on hand, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan Democrat, and Democrat-Farmer Labor leader Orville Freeman, governor of Minnesota, suggested last night.

Williams' long pronouncement containing the Michigan Democratic convention's views on how the Federal Government should be run, sttands in stacks on the handout tables in the press room of the conference.

He is a prominent candidate for chairman of the governors conference of 1957.

Harriman also denied vigorously yesterday that he was "politicking" at the Atlantic City meeting. Shortly thereafter he entertained a majority of the Democratic governors in hand at cocktails.

When Harriman's seminar on the peaceful uses by the states of atomic energy ends today the governors conference will be pretty much at an end.

But Govs. Harriman, Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina, Allan Shivers of Texas and Christian Herter of Massachusetts snared the spotlight at news conferences.

They touched all bases, hitting on such a range of subjects as Catholicism, Communism, segregation, the President's doctors, and tideland oil.

"Platforms aren't made to run on."

Hodges, who came out strongly for Adlai Stevenson, lambasted Harriman for "running around with minority groups who want to set up some kind of super new deal."

Herter, also mentioned as a possible GOP candidate if Eisenhower does not run, spoke chiefly of his own impending retirement from public life. "I'm looking forward to peace," the Massachusetts Republican said in a tired, quiet way.

G'wan, Try It—That Is That That They Did

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Delegates to the National Conference of Teacher Education and Professional Standards were asked to punctuate this sentence to make it make sense:

that that is is that that is not is not but that that is not is not that that is nor is that that is that that is not.

How would you do it? Not many of the teachers would either, it was admitted later. But this is the correct way (they said):

That, that is, is; that, that is not, is not; but that, that is not, is not that that is; nor is that, that is, that that is not.

AF Plane Hits, 11 Die in Flames

4-Engine Craft Explodes in New Mexico; Report 2nd Crash in Geogia

ROSWELL, N.M.-(AP) — Bursting into flame just seconds after takeoff, a four-engine Air Force refueling tanker crashed and exploded last night, carrying 11 men to a fiery death.

The Boeing KC97 was loaded with highly inflammable fuel for a jet bomber refueling above southeastern New Mexico. It was based at nearby Walker Air Force Base.

Workers in the Walker tower said the plane took off "in good shape" at 6:50 p.m.

A few minutes later, the tower crew reported to base officials, the plane "appeared to burst into flames. It was too far away to tell whether the fire was in the engines or in the fuselage."

About 10 miles south of the base, the giant tanker, one of the Air Force's most modern refueling aircrafts, banked off, spun to the ground in an open field and exploded.

There were no Michigan crewmen in the list of victims.

Frail Parakeet Nicknamed Pete Is Birdnaped

Pete, the frail parakeet, had survived six years in a sympathetic home.

A kind of invalid, Pete by birth was small and weak. He had a delicate heart, veterinaries say, because he came from an "inbred" strain.

Like all heart victims, Pete took life easy. Dwelling in the quiet living room of Harry and Irene Lumsden at 79 Delaware Ave.

"He's not a very good companion unless you understand him," Mrs. Lumsden sighed. He'd lie on the cage floor and tuck his head under one wing if strange company come.

"Most of all, he liked sitting in his cage on the front porch, watching the birds on the lawn. If they sang, he'd sing in return. He'd never sing to us.

Pete was on the porch when he was stolen, cage and all, while the Lumsdens were away at dinner time.

Bus Cavalcade to Bring Them to Campsite

Delegates to Roundup Near Milford Coming in Special Trains

Girl Scouts from across the nation will begin arriving in Detroit tomorrow morning, on the final leg of their journeys to the Senior Roundup being held in the Highland Recreation Area near Milford.

With a jangle of dog tags and rustle of new Bermuda shorts, they will depart from 11 special trains, and clamber aboard 104 buses for the ride to the camp site.

A forest of tents will arise, and the encampment will formally be under way.

The eleven Roundup specials will require 160 cars, involving 50 sleepers, 80 coaches, 20 diners and 10 baggage cars.

Although the amount of clothing the girl can bring is limited, their baggage must include such items as kerosene lanterns, tent stakes, mallets, stoves, tents and cooking utensils.

To further the Americana theme of the Roundup, arrangements were made by the Santa Fe to provide sight-seeing tours and stopovers at the Grand Canyon, Denver, the Royal Gorge and Salt Lake City. While in Michigan the Scouts will visit Greenfield Village and the River Rouge Ford plant.

Within two hours after their arrival on the campsite the teenagers are expected to have their tents up, kitchen equipment in place and their belongings stowed away.

Each girl will be identified by a color tag according to the location of her camp. Each will wear a dog tag. All will dress in the special camp uniform—Girl Scout Bermuda shorts or green dungarees, a yellow and white striped blouse for dress or a long-sleeved green one for work and green Bermuda socks.

The local patrol, representing Northern Oakland County, will leave for the Roundup site Thursday afternoon.

The Chief Pontiac patrol includes Marcelene Dennis, Jovita Benavides and Joyce Meyer of Pontiac, Dorothy Staley of Clarkston, Becky Odell of Commerce, Gayle Schenck of Westacres, Mary Lynne Gravelle of Four Towns and Susan Ebbert of Rochester.

The shuttling buses will transport girls from Detroit to Highland for most of the day Thursday. On Friday they will repeat the performance for girls arriving on special trains from the east. By nightfall on Friday all 5,000 girls will be camp.

Steel Talks Enter Critical Stage

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's big three steel firms today laid a new contract proposal before the United Steelworkers union in an effort to head off an industry-wide strike at midnight Saturday.

There was no immediate information as to what the new proposal contained, but it was believed to call for a three-year contract with an hourly pay increase of 10 cents an hour for the first year.

A previous industry proposal, calling for a five-year contract with a 7½ cent hourly pay boost the first year, had been rejected by the union as unsatisfactory.

Negotiators for the three major steel firms and the union displayed great amiability as they went into today's session, at which the new terms were suggested.

Earlier, one of the firms had announced it would start banking furnaces tonight at Gary, Ind., and tomorrow in the Pittsburgh area against the possibility of a strike.

Other major producers expected to follow suit in the move.

The new offer was presented in written form and after a 40-minute morning session the talks were recessed.

It was understood the companies first had broached the idea informally at yesterday's session, then drew it up in writing.

Sources close to the talks had indicated that the session would revolve around the possibility of a compromise three-year contract.

The agreement which expires Saturday midnight, was for two years.

City to Proceed With Tax Bills

Two Allocation Appeals Will Not Halt Mailing Friday, Says Official

Pontiac city and school tax bills totaling nearly $9 million will still go into the mail Friday despite currently pending tax allocation appeals by Brandon and Independence Townships.

City Treasurer Walter A. Giddings said the city has received an "unofficial opinion from the State Tax Commission that the appeals would not effect the city school tax bills."

City Assessor W. Raymond Ransom is in Lansing today conferring with Louis M. Nims, Tax Commission chairman, on what effect the appeals might have on city school taxes.

The appeals reportedly will block spreading county and school taxes throughout the county for at least a month, pending a decision.

Pontiac taxpayers will have the month of July to pay their taxes without penalty. On Aug. 1, a one per cent fee will be added monthly to all unpaid taxes.

The bills are payable at the city treasurer's office in the City Hall, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

City taxes amount to $3,280,430 while school taxes come to $5,669,231.

Giddings urged taxpayers to check legal descriptions on bills and call his office if they do not receive their bills within a week.

Lions attending from Pontiac include John Kent, Mitchell Calbi, Tom Kent, Harry Vernon and John Zeunen.

Two See 'Phantom' by Road

The Panther Prowls Again, Flees From Gun-Wielder

The elusive "black panther" of Oakland County has reared its now-infamous head again — this time in Springfield Township on the Dixie Highway between Oakhill and Holly roads.

ELLWOOD

The most recent report comes from D. B. Ellwood of Davisburg who was on his way to his trailer home on foot after visiting Emil Hove, owner of the Shangrila Motel, 10841 Dixie Highway.

Ellwood said, "I spotted a big black mass coming at me and couldn't distinguish what it was so I turned around and went back after Emil.

He got his shot gun and a bigger light and he saw it down the path too."

Hove reported that as he was going to shoot, the animal jumped into the brush.

Hove said the animal they saw could have been seven feet long. "Of course it was dark and I would hesitate to say what it was," he added.

Ellwood and Hove both said they had seen tracks about four inches in diameter which could belong to the unknown animal.

"They're too big for a dog's," Ellwood said. "I wish someone would catch the thing and make the arm chair critics see what's going on."

Hove said his dog was frightened of something in the woods and wouldn't go near them and "he'll usually tackle anything."

"The cats we've had around keep disappearing, too. Something is getting them," Hove added.

"Whatever it is," he continued, "it's afraid of humans so I don't think it will hurt anyone."

Hove's main interest right now is to find the beast again and shoot it. "That way we'll know for sure what it is."

So Blackie roves again and each time he's reported seen a little bit further south.

'Wiffi' Smith Winner Over Ex-Champ, 3-1

SUNNINGDALE, England (AP)—Power-hitting Margaret (Wiffi) Smith of St. Clair, Mich., knocked out former British champion, Mrs. Frances (Bunty Stephens) Smith, 3 and 1, in the fourth round today as a wave of upsets struck the British Women's Amateur golf championships.

Wiffi, a 19-year-old former Californian who recently won the French Amateur title, shot one-under-par golf for the first 12 holes to take the lead, then held on to the finish.

Officials Predict Network Going Through State

To Share in $33 Billion Measure Now Waiting for Ike's OK

DETROIT (AP)—A network of high speed super-roads crisscrossing Michigan is made possible under the 33 billion dollar federal road bill.

But state highway officials say the 13-year government spending program will build a highway network extending from Detroit's expressways to trunklines beyond the Straits of Mackinac.

The money will be allocated for the first three years on a formula based on population, area and rural road mileage. The federal government will pay 90 per cent. The state and individual counties and cities will pay only 10 per cent.

Although the division of money between the Detroit area and outstate Michigan is not yet established, George M. Foster, deputy state highway commissioner, said a $125,000,000 construction program might be possible outside Detroit.

Michigan has a $25,000,000 highway bond issue in the works. Foster said $12,500,000 of the issue would be used to match federal funds for outstate Michigan roads.

Priority projects were listed as:

1. A 40-mile stretch of four-lane, divided, limited-access highway on U. S. 12 from east of Galesburg to west of Parma.

2. A 54-mile superhighway from Kalamazoo to Stevensville on U. S. 12.

3. Completion of 40 miles of four-lane highway on U. S. 16 north of Grand Ledge to Cascade east of Grand Rapids. That will provide a superhighway from Lansing to Grand Rapids.

4. A 22-mile relocation of U. S. 23 from Bridgeport south of Sagi-

Twister Rakes Gratiot County; Rains Hit Here

Although tornado warnings were posted for many parts of the state yesterday, only one black funnel reached the ground. It caused an estimated $250,000 damage in Gratiot County.

All that struck the Pontiac area was a flash electrical storm with heavy rains. Minor damage caused by lightning was reported to the home of J. S. Mitchell, in Bloomfield Township.

One person was reported injured in the Gratiot County tornado which wrecked at least five homes and two barns as it swept through a two-mile path.

The outlook for tonight and tomorrow is for a temperature drop to a low of 58 tonight. It is predicted to reach a high of 80 tomorrow with pleasant and fair weather.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 63. The thermometer climbed to 77 degrees at 2 p.m.

Pontiac Establishes Three New Stock Car Records

A 1956 Pontiac broke all known existing stock car records for speed, endurance and safety and set a new 24-hour stock car distance record today on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah. The car's average speed was 118.375 miles per hour for the flying start, 118.333 for the standing start and 126.02 miles per hour for the first 100 miles.

Driven by famed race car driver, Ab Jenkins, and his son Marv, under NASCAR observation, the 1956 stock model Pontiac covered 2,841 miles in the 24-hour period. The record tops the previous 24-hour stock car mark by 219 miles.

From the time the green and white Pontiac spun away from the starting line in the early hours of Monday morning until it was clocked across the finish by an official NASCAR timer and officials at the same time Tuesday morning, the car made 284 laps around a 10-mile circular course on the salt desert.

285 H.P. MODEL

The 73-year-old Jenkins, world famous for speed records he has set on the Bonneville Flats in his special race car called the "Mormon Meteor," used the 285 h. p. Pontiac for his first try at stock car speed records. During the day, when the temperature over the blistering salt flats rose to 130 degrees in the sun, Jenkins' fastest time around the 10-mile lap was 126.65 miles per hour and his fastest lap during the night was 125.5 miles per hour. The circular track was marked with reflectors and an oil strip center line to guide the driver.

Jenkins, known as the "world's safest driver," is a Safety Consultant to Pontiac Motor Division. His spectacular distance record was run under the adverse conditions of glaring heat and all night driving to test the endurance and safety of the car far beyond the demands of today's drivers.

Twenty-eight pit stops were made for refueling during the 24-hour run. Average time in the pit, during which a crew checked oil, refueled the car, checked tires and gave Jenkins his driving "diet" of tomato juice and milk, was 26 seconds.

ONE TIRE CHANGE

The Pontiac lapped the giant circle in a counter-clockwise direction. As a precaution only one tire was changed during the speed run, and only one quart of oil added. The Pontiac pit crew was assisted by men from Continental Oil Company and the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. In addition to Jenkins' crew which serviced the Pontiac, industry observers and official NASCAR timers were on hand to witness and verify the new record.

Upon completion of the race, Jenkins said, "I was confident from the beginning that we would break all of the stock car records. This car is the easiest handling car I have ever driven. When I try for speed and endurance records, I want safety and performance, and I had both in this Pontiac car."

Seeking Raise in Jurors' Pay

City Commissioners OK Ordinance Preparation to End $3 Limit

The City Commission took another step last night toward raising the pay of Municipal Court jurors from the present $3 to $6.

The commissioners authorized City Attorney William A. Ewart to prepare an ordinance to repeal the present statute upder which the jurors receive $3 per day for their services.

This will make way for both judges to adopt a 1951 jury statute which allows the city clerk to compile a long list of potential jurors. Lately, the commission has heard many reports from Ewart of the difficulty in securing persons to serve on juries.

The new statute will still pay $3 but the commissioners heard from a communication last evening from Judges Maurice E. Finnegan and Cecil B. McCallum that on Aug. 10 a new law will be in effect authorized the $6 per day pay scale. It is expected that the City Commission will adopt an ordinance calling for the pay hike then.

The other $12,500,000 in the proposed bond issue, Foster said, would be used as state money on M131 and to complete a four-lane divided route on U. S. 127 from Leslie to Jackson.

The federal money will be available only on roads designated as state trunklines. Such designations must be obtained from the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

A revival of the toll road idea for Michigan was predicted by State Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), chairman of the State Senate Highway Committee.

He noted that the federal bill offers 90 per cent of the cost of toll road studies with the state matching the other 10 per cent.

"This is the savior of the toll road idea in Michigan," Nichols said. "It was too big a program to let go."

However, a less optimistic view has been voiced by U. S. Sen. Case (R-SD). He said a state freeway built to the same standards as a toll road could put a turnpike out of business.

Detroit officials, from Mayor Albert E. Cobo down, said the federal bill will speed completion of a projected 125-miles network of 12 expressways in the Motor City.

Mayor Cobo estimated the measure would make $1,600,000,000 available to Detroit over the 13 years. He said it would make possible completion of the East Side Hastings-Oakland Expressway to Holbrook, the West Side Fort-Vernor Expressway, the Northwest Side Southfield Expressway and extension of the Lodge Expressway to Nine-Mile road.

The mayor said to speed action on the expressways, the city will issue revenue bonds under the Federal Reserve Bond Act and then reclaim the bonds when money is available under the government highway bill.

As figured by Foster, Michigan will get $42,200,000 in the year starting July 1, less $6,000,000 already received under a previous act for the construction season.

George Says Cuts in Aid May Cost U.S. Leadership

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga), said today that "ill-considered" cuts in foreign aid could cost the U. S. its leadership of the free world and darken brightening hopes for peace.

The foreign relations committee chairman issued his strong declaration as the Senate prepared to open debate today on the controversial issue of military and economic aid to the free world.

George declared that the horrors of future war cannot be avoided "if we begin to liquidate the military strength of the free world."

OVER HOUSE GOAL

The measure as reported by the committee calls for four billion 270 million dollars in foreign aid authorizations—a substantial boost over the three and one-half billions voted by the House.

Many key senators, however, hope to slash the funds to less than three billion. Senate leaders were driving to complete action on the measure by the end of this week.

The veteran Georgia senator has been named by President Eisenhower as special ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—a post he will assume when his term expires, in January, or earlier. He is not seeking re-election.

In what was probably to be his last major speech in the Senate—where he has served for 34 years—George declared that "substantial" but not basic changes in the Soviet Union have helped the cause of peace.

Ex-Teamster Head Faces Prison Term

Mike E. Nicoletti, 46, ex-president and business agent of Teamsters' local 247 in Detroit, surrendered today to begin a one-to-20 year term in Jackson state prison.

* * *

Nicoletti was one of four Teamsters officials, including Daniel J. Keating, former president and business agent of Pontiac local 614, convicted by a Detroit Recorder's Court jury of conspiracy to solicit "gifts" from contractors and extortion by using threats of labor difficulties.

* * *

The three other officials have completed their prison sentences. Nicoletti lost out Monday in an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Keating and Samuel J. Marroso, former business agent of the Pontiac local, now are under indictment in Federal Court for allegedly concealing the income they received by extortion.

Keating notified the Court last week he will plead guilty to the charge. Marroso has not yet been arraigned.

Secret Sea Weapon to Alter Sub Warfare

WASHINGTON (INS)—Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas revealed today that the nation's sea arm has developed a secret new weapon that will "revolutionize anti-submarine warfare."

Thomas also told a subcommittee headed by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), that the Navy with its 16,000 planes is "far more powerful" in the air than most people realize. He said new jet seaplanes can hit "practically any target in the world."

He declared that the Navy's new attack planes "are what might be termed medium bombers" and can fly a 3,000 mile round-trip from movable bases at high speed to make "all weather delivery of high yield nuclear bombs."

Ohio Triple Slayer Believed Cornered

WARREN, Ohio (INS)—Authorities searching for triple killer Alfred Wilson in a grove between nearby Phalanx Station and Braceville today found definite signs that the 37-year-old truck driver may be cornered at least.

Wilson is accused in the slaying of his two sisters-in-law and a teenage girl Thursday after escaping from an Ohio county jail.

Members of a heavily armed posse found a half loaf of bread and a jar in the woods along the fresh foot prints leading to a shack in the woods, stocked with food. The fingerprints were definitely identified as Wilson's.

The search now is centered in a two-square-male area between neighboring Phalanx Station and Braceville.

The finding of the bread and food was made even more significant when authorities disclosed that food and blankets had been stolen in recent days from farm houses in the area.

Cherry Crops in State Down

Poor Pollination, Heavy June Drop Is Blamed for Lowered Prospects

LUDINGTON (AP)—Michigan's 1956 red cherry crop yesterday was estimated at 90 million pounds, about 16 million under the federal-state crop report of last week.

The estimate, covering cherries utilized for processing purposes, was reported to nearly 100 delegates at the annual meeting of the Michigan Assn. of Cherry Producers.

Poor pollination, a heavy June drop, a drought last year and a late spring were blamed for the lowered sour cherry prospects.

Parker Duksherer of Benton Harbor, reporting for Southwestern Michigan, said the area's prospects are about 19 million pounds—72 per cent of the production last year.

Clarence Mullett, northwest district horticultural agent, predicted a crop of 44 million pounds, a sharp drop from 74 million pounds produced in 1955.

Production for other minor areas in Michigan was estimated at a combined total of 750,000 pounds.

Police of Township Probing 2 Breakins

Waterford Township police are investigating a pair of recent breakins in adjoining businesses in which a total of $530 in cash and merchandise were reportedly stolen.

Township detectives said their chief clue in the investigation is that one of the thieves was apparently badly hurt while making the breakin as considerable amounts of blood were found in both places.

The business establishments looted were the Colonial Lumber Company, and Easley's Super Market, according to the detectives. Missing from the lumber firm was $100 in cash taken from a box in under the counter. Taken from the market was 120 cartons of cigarettes, 15 dozen pairs of nylon hose, and $10 in cash from two cash registers.

Detroit Woman Hurt as 2 Cars Collide

A Detroit woman suffered a compound fracture of the left knee and a broken bone in the right leg when her car collided with another vehicle at a Bloomfield Township intersection yesterday.

Mrs. Alyce M. Poole, 38, was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and later transferred to the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. Winton J. Kelly, 51, of Birmingham, driver of the other car, was unhurt.

Investigating Township police reported both drivers said they saw the other too late to stop. The crash occurred at Cranbrook Cross-Bradway Boulevard corner.

Snatches Sister in Auto's Path Off to Safety

The older girl, Kathryn, 9, dashed in front of a moving automobile to rescue the tot yesterday afternoon.

They were returning home on foot down the side of Collier road with another sister, Ilene, 8, when a car suddenly came over the crest of a hill.

The little girl must have become confused, according to her parents, Stanley and Margaret Boyd, 780 Collier. She ran in front of the car and her sister followed.

Kathryn grabbed Patricia around the waist and fell with her to the side of the gravel road. Patricia's elbow was skinned.

Directory of Officials Is Now Available

The new edition of the official County, city, village and township government directory is available in County Clerk Lynn D. Allen's office, Allen said today.

The booklet, 35 pages long, is 28th to be issued since the printing began in 1928, Allen said. With the county's growth and addition of new units of government, its size has expanded to more than double the original, he added.

Included in the 1956-57 directory are legislative and road maps of the county, incidental and historical information, tables of national, state and county officers, census information, lists of county supervisors and their committees.

Also included are the supervisors' by-laws, condensed rules of parliamentary procedure, an organization chart of the county government, schedules for tax procedures and equalized valuations of townships and cities and city and village officers.

Jet Base Site Spat Continues

Preference Expressed for Kalkaska by Senate; House Still Differs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another congressional fight over a proposed jet plane base for northern Michigan was in prospect today — this time between the House and the Senate.

* * *

A Senate committee threw the 2½-year-old issue into a turmoil again yesterday when it expressed preference for Kalkaska instead of Manistee County as the site for the multi-million dollar base. The House version of the bill calls for construction of the base in Manistee County.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) hailed the Senate Armed Service Committee's choice of Kalkaska for the installation, saying it "Will best serve the interests of our national defense."

"The time is too short for community bidding on this base," Potter declared. "The Air Force has stated that the Kalkaska base is needed right now to bed down the 137-wing air force."

The Michigan project is wrapped up in a two billion dollar military construction bill which the Senate is expected to approve soon. There was no indication of any Senate opposition to the Kalkaska choice.

* * *

However, the House version of the bill calls for construction of the base in Manistee County. Potter said he hoped the House-Senate conference committee that will be appointed to settle disagreements on the bill will approve the Senate choice.

Hungarian Star of Water Polo Given Asylum

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Italy granted political asylum today to Aladaar Szabo, the Hungarian water polo star. He immediately ended a brief hunger strike.

* * *

Szabo, 23, refused to take any food last night. He said he wanted to emphasize his wish not to be sent back to his Communist-ruled homeland.

"I don't want to die," he said. "Don't send me back."

* * *

He was hidden in a private residence under guard of detectives while the Italian government considered the asylum request.

"I am overjoyed," Szabo said when he was informed asylum had been granted in a decree signed by Ferdinando Trambroni, Italian minister of the interior.

Seixas, Larsen Triumph in Wimbledon Matches

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Tw former American champions, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., easily won their way into the third round of the Wimbledon men's singles tennis championships today as third-seeded Sven Davidson was u set.

Seixas, 1953 Wimbledon winner and 1954 American champion, continued his solid and strong play to dispose of Jean-Claude Molinari of France, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

Larsen, 1950 U.S. champion, played well within himself in a 50-minute, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0 victory over big Hugh Stewart of Los Angeles.

Moscow Losing Its Hold on Satellites, Says Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he believes Moscow's control over Communist parties outside Russia has greatly weakened since the downgrading of Stalin.

* * *

Dulles told a news conference there is grave dissatisfaction among party leaderships outside Russia, and also within the Soviet Communist party, with the Khrushchev-Bulganin regime.

* * *

As he defined it, the failure of international communism to expand control over new countries in recent years made it impossible to justify strong-arm methods of leadership.

Yet the declining use of such methods, he said, has created demands for freedom among Communists in and out of Russia. This weakened the central authority very gravely.

* * *

At the same time Dulles said these changes create serious problems for the West. He made a new appeal for Western unity and strength, and declared these are essential in order to deny communism fresh victories in the future.

Steel Strike Will Cripple Other Industries

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The approach of the steel contract deadline raised a big question today: what would be the effect on other U.S. industries if a steel strike developed Saturday midnight?

For some, like autos and home appliances, a short strike would require only minor adjustments, an Associated Press survey shows.

Other, like the oil and building construction industries, already are working with scant steel inventories. They would be affected almost immediately by a steel stoppage.

* * *

Steelmen feel many customers began as early as last January to build up reserve supplies. Customers were fully aware of strike possibilities as well as inevitable increases in the price of steel.

Best available estimates are that a 30-to-60 day supply of steel of all kinds is on hand somewhere between the mills and the finished products. But this total tonnage estimate does not reflect the fact there is a critical shortage of some steel items now, and a possible surplus of others.

* * *

The canning industry, for one, says it has been preparing for the possibility of a steel strike. A spokesman for Continental Can Co. said: "If there is a steel strike, we'll be able to take care of all the needs of our customers for at least eight weeks."

From the heart of the southwestern oil producing country, though, comes words that just the possibility of a strike already is curtailing new well starts and deep well drilling. Oil men must have equipment on hand when they begin drilling.

* * *

Steel producers, studying the urgency of order demands say that both the oil and construction industries are operating hand to mouth on available steel supplies. Both would be pinched by even a short strike. Any curtailment of construction would mean immediate unemployment for thousands of workers.

* * *

A steel strike would throw a double-barreled jolt at the nation's railroads. The immediate effect would be a drop in freight traffic in finished steel and raw materials. The other would be further delay in building needed freight cars.

* * *

Steelmen feel the auto industry, which has cut production below the record pace of last year and has canceled some steel orders, would have enough steel on hand to complete production of 1956 models.

* * *

* * *

Also farm equipment buying has passed its peak for the year and little difficulty would be expected in that field.

The 350,000 miners who dig coal for the steel mills will be on vacation when the strike deadline comes. But an extended steel strike could mean many miners would have to join the 650,000 idle steelworkers.

* * *

Steel producers also feel that a strike would push them back into the same predicament they were in last year when the industry was unable to meet customer demands, let alone get the steel out on time.

The steel industry produced a record 117 million tons in 1955 and has been slightly ahead of that pace so far this year.

The Day in Birmingham

C. of C. Planning July 4 Giant Fireworks Display

BIRMINGHAM—A giant display of fireworks that can be watched from the football field or elsewhere in the Birmingham area is being planned by Chamber of Commerce members for July 4 at 9 p.m.

Especially invited are those families choosing not to travel on crowded highways on the busy holiday, but who wish to treat their children to an interesting program, says Charles Mortensen, director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Special color and flare displays are planned to appeal to parents, as well as children, Mortensen says. Aerial bombs and colored flags are included. Hard-to-see ground displays are being avoided.

Details are being handled under Charles Toothacker, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee of C. of C., by the merchants committee.

About $1,000 will be expended for the display they estimate.

Little parking difficulty at Cranbrook and Lincoln is foreseen by the Chamber, since much parking space is available for watchers to sit in cars, besides the 5,500 seats in the stadium. Displays will be shot from the ball field.

Because little else is planned by civic groups for the community's holiday, the chamber has instituted the fireworks program. It has been a number of years since a similar program was given.

Soviet Plows Up Virgin Asia Soil

75 Million Acres Cut to Boost Grain Output; Reported as Failure

ROME (AP)—The Food and Agriculture Organization reported today that the Soviet Union had plowed up almost 75 million acres of Asian virgin land since 1952, but the effort to boost grain production had not been fully successful.

The U. N. specialized agency, in a broad review based on Soviet-published information, said two-thirds of the newly broken 30 million hectacres — 74,130,000 acres — in Siberia and Kazakhstan was already sown and the rest would be sown this year. But it added:

"Events so for have lessened early optimism. In part of the newly opened regions there were frequent droughts in 1955 and the quality of some soils had forced abandonement of grain production in favor of stock raising."

The FAO, which does not number Russia among its 72 member nations, said stepped-up farm mechanization there was expected to bring stepped-up output.

It said the Soviet Union sought to increase production of meat 100 per cent, milk 95 per cent, eggs 154 per cent and wool 82 per cent between 1955 and 1960 while nearly doubling the state investment in agriculture.

The Soviet policy changed, it observed, after farm production gained only 10 per cent from 1950 to 1952 while industrial production was gaining 123 per cent.

1 Additional Arrest Made in Drug Case

A 13th arrest was made yesterday in an alleged drug conspiracy in the southwest area of the city, revealed a month ago.

Held for arraignment today is LeRoy H. Eaddy, 24, of 5142 Tillman St., Detroit. Eaddy was arrested by Detroit police after he was picked up for questioning in another case, according to Lt. William Nesbitt, head of the Pontiac vice squad.

Warrants for Eaddy and seven others still at large had been signed by Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

The suspects are all charged with conspiracy to violate state narcotics laws. Twelve of them, including three women, are free under bonds.

They are scheduled for a pretrial examination next week.

Two-Car Accident Injures City Woman

Mrs. Betty Stacy, 25, of 460 Midway Ave., was treated and released at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital last night after suffering minor leg injuries in a two-car accident on Dixie Highway, Waterford Township.

She reportedly received injuries to the right knee and left ankle in the crash as a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Wendell L., 30.

The other vehicle was operated by Rex Vanderwater Sr., 39, of Drayton Plains. Township police reported Stacy's car was struck from behind by Vanderwater when he stopped to make a left turn.

PTA Members Ask Perry Street Light

Several members of the PTA of the new Madison Junior High School on Perry Street appeared before the City Commission last night urging that a traffic light be installed on Perry to protect school children.

After a brief discussion, the commissioners passed a resolution urging the State Highway Dept. to take immediate action to have the light installed. The parents would like it installed before the school season opens this fall, the commissioners learned.

Theodore M. Vanderstempel, city traffic engineer, said this morning he "doubted whether the light would be in by fall." "It is definitely on the state program but probably won't be up before Perry is widened," he said.

Mother, Daughter Hurt in 2-Car Collision

A mother and daughter were slightly injured yesterday in a two-car collision.

Mrs. Opal Hale, 22, of 3401 Bald Mountain Rd. and Deborah Hale, 4, both were treated for minor cuts and bruises at Pontiac General Hospital.

Pontiac police said Mrs. Hale's car collided with another turning left from St. Clair street onto E. Montcalm avenue at 4 p.m. The other driver, Robert L. Townsend, 35, of 3159 York Ave. was not injured, police said.

Scientists Study Effects of Nuclear Radiation on Future Generation

(Concerned about the real and potential effects of radiation in an accelerating atomic age, scientists urgently are searching for ways and means to insure maximum safety for present and future generations. Here, in the first of a two-part report, is one proposal for doing so with an explantion of how it would work.)

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The time is a year — or maybe it's 1961 . . .

A little boy is about to step aboard the school bus. His mother comes to the door and cries:

* * *

Johnny, grinning sheepishly, hurries back and takes a little square badge containing a piece of photographic film. He pins it on his blouse and scoots back to the school bus.

* * *

All the other kids in the bus are wearing the little badges, just like every other person in the United States, young and old.

Such a scene is entirely likely as a result of a recommendation made by the National Academy of Sciences recently in its report on the real and potential hazards of radiation.

The report said radiation — at least in relatively large amounts — could cause "premature aging." Also, that in sufficient quantities and under certain conditions it can cause such things as cancer.

And it said that any amount of radiation, however small, if received in a person's sex glands, produces genetic changes that might result in mentally or physically defective children in some future generation.

The idea is: the more radiation, the more "mutations;" and the more people exposed, the greater the extent of damage to future generations, even though widespread effects on the world's population as a whole—as distinguished from many individual defectives—might not be recognizeable for centuries.

* * *

The academy made this recommendation:

That limits be set on the average amount of radiation Americans can receive in their reproductive glands — especially from conception to age 30, the critical period for reproduction of the species.

And, as an aid in keeping tabs on how much radiation each person is receiving — whether from atomic bomb tests, nuclear power plants, medical Xrays, cosmic rays in the atmosphere, or naturally radioactive materials in the ground — the academy recommended:

* * *

That some kind of a national system be set up to keep a record of every American's cumulative exposure to radiation — from the cradle to the grave.

One of the key scientists involved in the academy's report—Dr. Warren Weaver of the Rockefeller Foundation— sees the possibility of everyone wearing a "little film clip" which would record exposure to the invisible rays of this atomic age. Such badges could be turned in to a central office every month or so for a listing of each person's radiation dose.

* * *

Lest you have the idea that recognizable genetic damage couldn't show up for centuries, look at this picture as presented in the academy report:

At present, about 2 per cent of all babies born in the United States have genetic defects caused by natural radioactivity in the environment and possibly other natural causes.

Now, if the sex glands of mankind were subjected to a "doubling dose" of man-made radiation—that is, an amount sufficient to produce harmful genetic mutations equal in number to those produced spontaneously—this situation would result:

Of the next 100 million babies born to Americans now living, possibly 200,000 of them would have "recognizable" genetic defects of a mental or physical character due to the increased radiation exposure of their parents. Moreover, an additional 1,800,000 of them would carry, in their own "genes," hidden defects which could come to the fore in descend-

Next: Radiation Distribution.

NAACP Maps Racial Strategy

47th Annual Convention Closes in San Francisco With Keynote Speech

By LEONARD MILLIMAN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negro leaders today mapped strategy for their fight against segregation — by new law suits, political pressure, education and negotiation.

* * *

Broad outlines were charted last night in the keynote speech to the 47th annual convention of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People by Thurgood Marshall, NAACP attorney who won the desegregation rulings from the Supreme Court.

Marshall called for:

1. Federal legislative and executive action to attain desegregation. Congress and the administration, he said, "must not continue to stand idle by and allow state governments to surrender to open defiance of court rulings."

* * *

2. Legal suits in school and bus cases in eight states—Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia — where "we found not one instance on the part of the political leadership . . . to even consider the possibility of desegregating."

3. Community education and negotiation elsewhere, including spots of discrimination in the West.

* * *

4. "An accurate appraisal" of whether Republicans or Democrats are doing the most for civil rights.

5. "Strong uncompromising planks on civil rights" in both party platforms.

SEATO Planners End Third Conference Talk

The 14-day secret meeting brought together officers of all eight SEATO members. A higher level conference of the alliance's military advisers is to be held later this summer at Baguio in the Philippines.

Peru Police Wound Rioting Gas Strikers

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Government orders calling for "stern measures" against rioters were in effect today after an outburst of strike violence virtually paralyzed this Peruvian capital.

* * *

Constitutional guarantees were suspended for 30 days as authorities moved to cope with a general strike here and at the nearby port of Callao. The workers walked out to support 500 employes of the International Petroleum Co. on strike for higher wages.

Last night thousands of strikers milled around central police headquarters demanding release of arrested strike leaders.

* * *

Rioters earlier stormed through busy market places, smashing windows, burning buses and clashing with police. Two strikers were wounded by police fire and two officers were injured by stones.

skeleton staffs to handle messages abroad. Telephone service was halted here. Public utilities operated under police guard.

Holding Safety Inspection at Sylvan Shopping Center

The Sylvan Lake Shopping Center was the scene of the first in the series of three voluntary safety inspection days for Oakland County vehicles Tuesday afternoon and evening.

* * *

Deputies of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, officers from the police departments of Sylvan Lake, Orchard Lake, Keego Harbor, and West Bloomfield cooperated in the project in conjunction with area businessmen.

All the police officers at the scene participated in the safety checks along with a committee of merchants. Royal Pazic, Howard Lare, and John Buliga were in charge of the resident inspectors.

The event was sponsored by the Keego Harbor Chamber of Commerce under the National Safety Council.

Cars that passed all requirements were presented a safety sticker.

* * *

All the inspections cover brakes, lights, tires, steering, and other vital parts of cars. The next such inspection day is scheduled on Cass Lake Road July 2 between 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

OFF TO CAMP — 2
Billy Tries His Sleeping Bag

To take on overnight hikes at camp, Billy has a new sleeping bag and a flashlight.

A sleeping bag is light and easy to carry, and offers more comfort and protection than ordinary bedding when sleeping out of doors. Before arranging his sleeping bag, he will scrape out a "hip hole" under it to fit his body, as this is more comfortable than lying on flat ground.

Use your crayons to color this picture, and paste it down on cardboard. Cut out the parts carefully, and cut the slit in the sleeping bag so Billy can be slipped in feet first. Push him well down in the bag, with his arms outside.

(For this idea Rochester Allums, Birmingham, Ala., wins $10. If you have a suggestion for Junior Editors send it in care of this newspaper and it may be worth $10 to you. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Aussies Now Make Synthetic Rubbers

SYDNEY, Australia — Polyurethane, or synthetic rubber, is now being manufactured in Sydney, and is expected to have an important effect upon a number of local industries.

• • •

In its solid form it can be made into motor car tires which are claimed to be more durable than those made from natural rubber. In the form of flexible foam it is also cheaper than rubber foam, and much lighter.

Ansett Airways, one of Australia's airline operators, recently used it in aircraft upholstery. It is claimed to be self-extinguishing when brought into contact with flame, and it can be treated to make it fire-proof.

• • •

Polyurethane was originally developed by German scientists of the I. G. Farbenindustrie, and was used in Germany during World War II to strengthen aircraft, and for the soling and heeling of army boots.

NEW YORK (INS) — James R. Hoffa, strongman of the midwest teamsters, made a 90-minute appearance before a rackets investigating grand jury in New York yesterday.

• • •

Hoffa would not comment on his testimony, which followed after charges by Martin T. Lacy, president of the New York Teamsters joint council, that the midwest teamsters official had conspired to defeat him in a recent union election.

Capt. Harris, 40, leaves his widow and three children and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Harris of Michigan Center.

• • •

Woman Rams Police Car

AKRON, Ohio (INS) — Police Sergeant Darwin Weigle's new police cruiser collided with a car whose woman driver lost control through maneuvers of her pet parakeet. Said Weigle:

"There certainly will be a charge. Why that woman was more worried about the parakeet than what she did to the cruiser."

TV Set Change Ordered by FCC

Industry Told to Effect UHF Switch Without Dating Present Units

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Federal Communications Commission wants the television industry to "improve and expand" its service without making millions of present TV sets obsolete.

* * *

The basic proposal in the long range program is for a gradual shift of all or most U.S. television to the ultra high frequency band—channels 14 through 83.

The FCC, asking for comment by Oct. 1 on the possibility of making the switch, said it would take steps to ease the changeover and elimination of the currently most-used channels 1 through 13.

Making the immediate steps the agency took were increasing the maximum permissible power of present UHF stations to 5,000 kilowatts, effective Aug. 1, and proposing an immediate program of research and development to increase the range of UHF stations.

The FCC said Congress might help speed up the change to UHF by providing tax advantages or even banning interstate shipment of very high frequency receivers.

Most TV sets manufactured and sold today receive only programs transmitted on the VHF band. Relatively expensive conversions would be required to convert these sets to UHF reception.

* * *

The commission said any shift to all-UHF for TV would have to include a transition period "sufficiently long to cover the useful life of VHF-only receivers in the hands of the public, and to permit the amortization, over a reasonable period, of VHF transmitting equipment."

George M. Cohan Statue to Be Placed on Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—A statue of the late George M. Cohan will be erected in the heart of the Great White Way he celebrated in the song, "Give My Regards to Broadway."

A committee of prominent business, theatrical and social leaders announced plans to erect a $75,000 statue in Duffy Square at Broadway and 46th Street.

Cohan, who was an actor, dramatist, composer, director, singer and producer, died Nov. 5, 1942.

Schools Ordered Shut

BRONSON (AP) — All rural school buildings in the Bronson school district have been closed in an emergency order by the board of education, acting on recommendations of the state fire marshal. State inspectors have ruled 10 rural schools unsafe. Voters have twice defeated a proposal for a school improvement program. The issue will be on the ballot again in November.

Wooing of Nosey Gillespie

As is evident in the accompanying tale, the phraseology and humor characteristic of the Broadway guys and dolls stories of Damon Runyon began to take form in a series of sketches entitled "My Old Home Town."

"The Wooing of Nosey Gillespie" was one of the "best" stories chosen for the popular collection, "Runyon First and Last" (J. B. Lippincott Co., New York). It appears also in the collection published in London by Constable, "All This and That." It doubtless will be found in other anthologies regularly. The narrator of "Nosey" Gillespie's story and the narrator of "The Idyll of Miss Sarah Brown" and other later Runyon tales, are one and the same in spirit.

By DAMON RUNYON

In all the world there is nothing so sweet as love, and we have plenty of this business going on back in my old home town out West at all times.

* * *

In fact, it is as good as an even money bet that we have as much love going on in my old home town as any other town in this country, population considered.

We have all kinds of romances, some of which are very lovely indeed, and others which are not so good, and among these romances is the romance between Nosey Gillespie, the editor of the Weekly Bee, and Miss Jo Eva Gildersleeve, the school teacher.

This Nosey Gillespie is called Nosey because he is nosey, but of course being nosey is largely his racket, being the editor of this Weekly Bee. This Weekly Bee is not much of a newspaper, being nothing like the Pueblo Morning Chieftain, but Nosey Gillespie does fairly well for himself with it, what with ads from the saloonkeepers, and contributions from the candidates at election times.

NO HARM IN NOSEY

He is a little dried-up man, maybe fifty years old, with a goatee, and he is as quiet and mild as an old tomato. Nothing much ever happens to him in his whole life, except one time years ago when he first starts his paper, a Mexican drops in on him and shoots his right leg off, thinking he is shooting the editor of the Morning Chieftain for putting something dirty in the paper about him.

Anybody knows that the last thing Nosey Gillespie will ever think of is putting anything dirty in his paper about anybody, even a Mexican. There is no harm in Nosey, whatever. He is always ready to put something nice in his paper about people, and while not many are apt to see it after it is in the paper on account of the circulation of the Bee being very low, this shows Nosey has a good disposition anyway.

Well, for many years Nosey goes along on his one leg as an old bachelor, doing all right, and well satisfied with life, when Miss Jo Eva Gildersleeve lights on him. My Old Man claims that the reason Miss Jo Eva lights on Nosey is because he is the only man left in town she does not light on in thirty years, it being Miss Jo Eva's idea to catch herself a husband.

SURE AS YOU'RE A FOOT

Well, of course, it is a tough break for Nosey, because Miss Jo Eva is homelier than a mud fence, and with a terrible disposition, but somehow poor old Nosey does not have the strength to resist her, what with being one-legged, and none too lively to begin with.

So it begins to look as if Miss Jo Eva will become Mrs. Nosey as sure as you are a foot high, especially when she takes to making old Nosey keep out of saloons, and change his collar more than somewhat, to say nothing of having himself shaved several times a week.

Nosey offs with his coat and hops into the river . . . and he's never seen in my old home town again.

Furthermore, Miss Jo Eva hangs out in the office of the Weekly Bee more than is good for circulation, and she makes Nosey have the windows washed, and keep his desk tidied up, all of which is naturally very much against nature with Nosey.

LIKE A REGULAR KNIGHT

But in general Nosey seems resigned to his fate, because he is not experienced enough to get away from such a crafty dame as Miss Jo Eva, when what happens but Miss Joe Eva commences to get romantic. Up to this time, her idea of marrying Nosey is strictly a business proposition with her, but Nosey is so easy that Miss Jo Eva gets to thinking maybe she ought to have a little romance in it, like other people before they get married.

So she gets to mooning to Nosey, and getting very soft, and by and by she tries to make Nosey act like a regular knight, or some such. But of course Nosey is no knight, except a Knight Templar, and there is no more romance in his system than there is in a crabapple.

But Miss Jo Eva keeps at him, trying to make him romantic, and poetic, and what not, like the guys in the novels who are in love, and one day they are out walking down by the Arkansas River, watching the spring rise, which carries away all the bridges, as usual, and a few spare houses here and there.

* * *

Now during the spring rise, if the bridges go out down the river, the side Nosey and Miss Jo Eva happen to be on is cut off for a few days from the railroad depot on the other side, and this is the case the day Nosey and Miss Jo Eva stroll down to the river.

'JUST WATCH ME'

They are watching the old Arkansaw, with the spare houses from ranches up the river, and logs, and chicken coops, and dog kennels, and one thing and another floating past, when Miss Jo Eva lays her head on Nosey's shoulder, and says to Nosey like this:

"Gerald," she says, Gerald being Nosey's regular name, "Gerald," she says, "suppose I ask you to swim this raging torrent to prove your love for me, would you do it?"

"Would I?" Nosey says. "Well, just watch me!"

Before you can say Jack Robinson, he offs with his coat and hops into the river, and the next anybody sees of him he is crawling out on the opposite bank, half a mile below, near the railroad yards.

Well, Miss Jo Eva faints dead away when she sees Nosey in the river, and so she does not see him when he comes out and hops on a freight train which is just pulling out of the yards, wet as he is, and everything.

Furthermore, Miss Jo Eva never sees Nosey again, and nobody else in my old home town does either, and this is the reason why the Weekly Bee is now edited by Miss Jo Eva Gildersleeve, and why it prints many boilerplate stories of blighted love, and what not.

Jaycees Throw Noisy Shindig at Convention

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Jaycees turned a humdrum June evening into New Year's Eve last night, tossing a mammoth party which probably was the biggest, noisiest shindig this city ever saw.

* * *

Some 7,500 people, give or take a thousand, jammed the huge basement floor of the one-block-square municipal garage for various treats offered by state delegations to the National Junior Chamber of Commerce Convention.

Potato chips, cold cuts and other goodies were dispensed literally by the barrelful.

* * *

The Californians served 25 cases of champagne.

Missouri did itself proud with quantities of milk, cheese, soft drinks and beer. South Carolina pitched in with sackloads of shrimp.

The man in charge of the prodigious arrangements was Newton Baker, member of the Kansas City Jaycee chapter. Baker, a slender, mildmannered fellow with horn-rimmed glasses, began to look like a harassed housewife as the party approached.

* * *

"Eight thousand people and a seating capacity of 2,500," he groaned. "Of course, we expect them to mill."

Mill about they did, in platoons and regiments—encouraged, if not actually blasted into motion, by a 70-piece marching band.

Somebody came up with the somber information that a load of shrimp was frozen solid.

"Thaw 'em out," Baker snapped. "I don't know, but some people expect to feed the multitudes on loaves and fishes. I hope there'll be enough."

* * *

But it all turned out splendidly, even though the Californians did run out of their champagne before things had well got under way. There were plenty of other refreshments.

Ancient Guild of Fishmongers Fetes Truman

Asked by reporters why he accepted this invitation, the former President of the United States said:

Truman's traveling companion on his trip to Europe, Stanley Woodward, accompanied him to the luncheon. Under his arm he carried two bottles of American bourbon. Truman likes bourbon — which is hard to get in England.

The luncheon was one of the last affairs in Europe to be attended by Truman. He and his wife leave for home tomorrow from Southampton aboard the liner United States.

Lear Flies Into Moscow —and Is Embarrassed

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. aircraft executive William P. Lear flew his own plane into Moscow yesterday and had the ignominious experience of having his engines fail when he tried to taxi.

Typographers to Back Williams-Hart Team

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan Federation of Typographical Unions will give its official support to Gov. Williams and Lt. Gov. Philip Hart in the coming election.

Kennett A. Hull of Detroit was named president as the organization re-elected all its officers. Edgar Crumb of Lansing was named secretary-treasurer and John Gallagher of Kalamazoo and Ben Abrham of Muskegon vice presidents.

Red Leaders Start Task of Erasing Stalin's Name

MOSCOW (INS) — The Soviet government carried out its first public act of de-Stalinization today by stripping Stalin's name from one of the late dictator's prize Moscow showplaces — the Stalin automobile factory.

Beginning today the factory will be known as the Likhachov automobile factory, in honor of a Soviet auto pioneer who died Monday.

Vandals Shooting Wild

SAGINAW (AP) — Police say more than 185 automobiles on used car lots have been damaged in a two-week shooting spree by vandals with air rifles. Damage is estimated at almost $10,000.

Our State Constitution Is Out of Date

Most of the citizens of Michigan realize that our State Constitution has become somewhat out of date with the swift changes of the past few years; but they have not cared enough about it to bring about a change. For a real demand by the people is the only way a change will be made.

No one can say: "There is nothing I can do."

On the State ballot in 1958 a proposal automatically will appear asking the voters whether they want to call a constitutional convention. If enough of them do, such a convention will be called, and needless to say the new Constitution would be submitted to the voters of Michigan before it could replace the present one.

This affords plenty of time for all persons already interested to stir up sentiment in favor of such a convention. It also affords time for any citizens not familiar with the faults being found with the present Constitution to study them and make up their own minds as to the need for a change and what they believe should be included.

Here is a fine project for public minded civic groups. Forums could be held, concrete suggestions proposed and argued. Organizations which conduct essay contests might well make the need for a constitutional convention the subject of their next contest. This would interest many young people, and, indirectly their parents, friends and neighbors.

Oakland County has an important stake in keeping our State Constitution up to date. Growth in population brings new problems, new situations. We here in Oakland County are in the most rapidly growing area in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

In the matter of representation in the State Legislature, for example, Oakland County is being grossly short-changed. Our county population today is probably more than half a million people. In the 1950 census it was 396,000. Yet we still have only one State Senator. One Senatorial District in Northern Michigan had only 61,000 people in 1950, yet they had as much power in the Senate as our 396,000. That is taxation without fair representation.

★ ★ ★

The Oakland Citizens League has repeatedly called attention to this situation. So have many other students of government.

Daniel S. McHargue, Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Michigan, says the State is plodding along under a Constitution drafted for a farming and lumbering society of 100 years ago. This is an extreme statement and untrue.

A Commission under former Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner studied the State Constitution at length and in detail during his administration. It served that day quite comfortably. However, times have changed in even the brief interim, since the Oakland County Governor.

Prof. Albert L. Sturm, another political scientist, points to the rigid restrictions on "home rule" for counties, which prevent a county like Oakland from modernizing its county government.

But action is up to the people.

Needless to say there will be differences of opinion as to the changes to be made. But there is no difference of opinion as to the fact that the present Constitution is out of date. That being true, a concerted effort should be made to bring about a favorable vote in 1958. The Press pledges its full aid and support.

New Aid to Health

People who grouch about how badly they feel may do themselves some good in the future, according to Dr. Edward G. Freimuth, University of Michigan dental graduate. At least they may be aided to better health if they "open up wide" in their dentist's office and he spots evidence of diabetes, tuberculosis, leukemia, anemia or other disease there.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Freimuth says the mouth is a mirror of the body's health and that dentists therefore are in a good position frequently to spot diseases before the patient has even been to see a physician.

He is secretary of the new Michigan section of the American Academy of Dental Medicine. This comparatively new national organization is now in its tenth year.

★ ★ ★

Ability to gain information about bodily health from examination of the mouth long has been known to medical doctors, but increasing ability and awareness on the part of dentists may well make an increasing contribution to general health.

A Letter From Meyer Simon Brings His Congratulations

Nice, France

Dear Mr. Fitzgerald:

Being rather far away from home, a letter is always welcome, for it fills a void in one's life. The mail bringing a letter from Ben Ronan, containing the page announcing The Pontiac Press, as winner of (3) top national awards made me very happy.

I was made doubly happy in reading that part of the Award: "Its ad make-up is attractive through-out the inside pages allowing for a free flow of news."

I have always been very proud of the excellent quality and type of advertising in The Press and this Award confirms my pride as being a real pride.

Winning one award is something to be proud of, but winning three awards is really an achievement. Congratulations to all.

Hoping all of you are enjoying good health, and with fondest regards from Mrs. Simon,

Meyer Simon.

Never Had It So Good

James Marlowe Says:

Le May Super-Sells the Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)— Gen. Curtis LeMay, the stocky, cigar-chewing boss of the Strategic Air Command whose long-range bombers would have the job of hitting Russia at once if war came, has done a super-selling job.

He urged the senators to vote more money for the Air Force—mostly for his command—than President Eisenhower, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Air Force Quarles said was necessary.

• • •

When Secretary of State Dulles boasts that the Russians are dissuaded from war by this country's "deterrent power," he's talking of the ability of LeMay's long-range bombers to reach Russia and retaliate with nuclear bombs.

LeMay's command — called SAC—is this country's first line of defense. It would also be the first line of defense for American allies in Europe and elsewhere.

WELL PREPARED

The 49-year-old LeMay —carefully prepared with facts, figures and forebodings—alarmed the senators when he testified before them this year on the needs of SAC if this country hoped to keep abreast of the Russians.

If war started tomorrow, he said, this country would win it. But he said by 1959—the way things are going now—the Soviets would have the superior strategic air force meaning long-range bombers capable of hitting this country.

During the next three years, he said, the Soviets will have "twice as many" heavy bombers as the United States. This got a quick reaction. Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) called at once for "several billions" more in Air Force funds.

• • •

This was right down LeMay's alley. He asked the Senate for four billion dollars more than the Eisenhower administration requested. The Senate didn't buy LeMay's full figures but yesterday voted the Air Force nearly an extra billion.

The bulk of this money—to be spread over several years and to assure production—is intended for making the B52, this country's long-range jet bomber, which costs about eight million dollars apiece.

NEW B52 GOAL SET

The current rate of B52 production is six a month. Before LeMay was through testifying the Pentagon said this rate would be increased. And, before the Senate voted yesterday, the Air Force raised from 500 to 600 its goal of B52s by 1959.

Eisenhower had asked Congress for about 15½ billion dollars for the Air Force. The House voted just under that figure. The Senate vote boosted it to 16½ billion. About five billion of Eisenhower's 15½ billion was intended for LeMay's strategic command next year.

• • •

The extra billion voted by the Senate will not stand unless the House also agrees to it. If not, there will have to be a compromise. But even if both House and Senate agree, the Air Force may not get to use that extra billion.

Eisenhower may decline to use it, just as President Truman once refused to spend more Air Force money than he thought it needed in his day, even though Congress voted it.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart. — Jeremiah 29:13.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Again Doctor Expostulates: Have Your Baby at Home

A reader sends stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet on The Bed-Wetting Habit and says:

Incidentally, did you read Jan Sterling's account of having her baby at home? It was just wonderful. No curt, bustling nurses. Just her secretary and her massagist at hand. And what poor misguided housewife doesn't have a secretary and a massagist?

(Mrs. C. A. S.)

I'm not sure which account you mean. Did you read the interview with Jan, published in this column just a week or two before her baby was born? When we learned that Jan was expecting a baby and that she was a friend of Coleen Gray, also a movie star, whose baby had been born at home (natural childbirth), we hoped Jan would have her baby at home.

Commodore John F. Dille of National Newspaper Syndicate, distributors of Personal Health Service, wanted me to interview Miss Sterling (Mrs. Paul Douglas), but, shucks, I'm a bashful man, for all my tough talk, and I just couldn't visit the lady and urge her to have her baby at home. We briefed the Young Snip, and she called on Miss Sterling, who had already decided to have the baby at home. My daughter found Miss Sterling gracious and agreeable.

• • •

She learned that the secretary and, if I recollect, the massagist, had received instructions from the doctor concerning the technique of natural childbirth. The idea was one or both of them might thus become capable of helping in the event that the doctor were not available when needed.

If a "poor misguided housewife" has no secretary or massagist to stand by, even a husband will do, if there's one around the ranch with enough brains to listen to the doctor's instructions and encourage his wife to carry them out.

Maybe the husbands in Mrs. S.'s part of the country like the booby role assigned to them by the doctors, nurses and other "officials" of nineteenth century hospitals. It makes it easy for them to evade responsibility—just duck into the monkey cage with the other sweet nambypambies or go down to the corner bar and take a few drinks to dull your consciousness of what a rat you are, while your wife carries on alone.

I plump for (1) having your baby at home, (2) natural childbirth whether at home or in hospital, and (3) the modern method called "rooming-in," not just because these methods are sound in principle and practice but also because I believe a man who shares with his wife the miracle of the birth of their baby acquires a kind of dignity which distinguishes the boy or the playboy from the man of character. It takes more than a trifle to put asunder man and wife.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist

'Saving Home Is Wife's Job'

Chuck is facing divorce. But he still loves his wife and children. Belatedly, he now asks for some kind of crucial marriage charts long offered in his Rockford newspaper. But his wife should have sent for these 10 years ago, since husbands expect wives to be the letter writers of the family. It is unfair to the children for her to seek a divorce.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I have lived in Rockford, Illinois, for the last 20 years," he began.

• • •

"Your column has run in our paper all the time I have lived there.

"But I confess I never read it till last week when my wife filed suit for a divorce.

"We have four children. The oldest two are in school. I thought our family life was about like that of everybody else.

"After we were married for six months my wife seemed to become frigid. She never was interested in physical affection.

"'She'd stall me off. After putting up with this kind of behavior for a few months, I asked her what she expected me to do.

"So she told me to go find somebody else. Well, I made the error of doing just that.

"And then my troubles really began, for she became completely frigid.

"Now, 10 years too late, I am asking you for some of your marriage charts and sex booklets.

"I hope it isn't too late to remedy matters, for I really love my wife and four kids. So I should like you 'Tests for Good Parents,' your 'Tests for Husband & Wives' and that booklet on 'Sex Problems in Marriage'."

BRAVO, CLERGYMEN

Our clergymen of all faiths are usually informing young wedding couples about such hazards nowadays and thus nipping such divorces in the bud.

Hundreds of priests and ministers order those same booklets in quantity from their local newspapers and tactfully slip them into a white envelope, which they offer the new bride.

For it is much more efficient to forestall disaster by warning young people in advance.

You young brides already realize that God Almighty created man to have a much greater gastric appetite than women do.'

Your husband may thus demand 3,500 calories per day at the dinner table though you may be content on 2,500.

• • •

But you don't "freeze up" as a cook and deny him the extra calories that he was created to need, do you?

And you don't tell him, "Well, if you can't be satisfied on my 2,500 calories per day, go get satisfied from some other woman's cooking."

Certainly not! Instead, you go out of your way to please your mate and tickle his palate with fancy receipts until he consumes possibly 4,000 calories.

Well, why don't you employ similar good sense and satisfy your husband in the erotic realm?

WIVES, BEWARE

Even if your husband doesn't read this column as often as you do, and polls show that women outnumber men in this regard, it is your wifely duty to protect your home.

That is doubly true after you have children. Most men expect their wives to insure the welfare of the home and children, anyway, which is why they look to you to write for educational aids such as the booklets Chuck now desires.

• • •

Since men are much more erotic than their wives, accept that fact. And don't blame your husbands. God made them that way, just as he created them to crave more food at the dinner table.

Smart women learn to be good actresses and feign ardor for the sake of pleasing their mates. Then they never need worry about divorce.

But to keep such delights from being a one-sided affair, send for the booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents in coin.

At least for your children's sake, learn to make a success of your marriage.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

U.S. Support for Israel Urged by City Resident

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

To me the struggle of the Jewish people for their homeland is the epitomy of all that we Americans believe in.

While it differs in detail with the beginning of our country, it has much of the characteristics that were necessary to begin both efforts. This group of less than two million people dedicated in a democratic way to hewing out a nation in what is practically barren land should be given all our support.

It is unthinkable that we as a nation should deny them anything that is possible to give them and by the same token, we should assist no other country that has dedicated itself to stamping out Israel. To assist Israel with arms for their defense is one thing: to send the Arabs a number of tanks and other materials of war is quite another.

It is almost impossible for Israel to be an aggressor when you know the opposition is 20 or 30 times larger. We cannot go hand in hand down the road of international politics holding the courageous hand of Israel on the right and the hand of the Arab ruler on the left.

We may want Arabian oil but our stature in the world will surely suffer immeasurable damage unless we walk with Israel.

'Typical Teenager' Presley Fan, Too

I agree with James E. Barnowsky about the article by Jack O'Brien about Elvis Presley. I was truly surprised to read such an article.

I doubt if Mr. O'Brien could find very many teenagers who don't like Elvis Presley. I think he more or less represents today's teenagers. His records sell like hot cakes.

So come on, Mr. O'Brien. Don't be a square. Think different about Elvis Presley. The one and only Elvis Presley.

A Typical Teenager

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

• • •

East German Communist leaders have opened another hot attack against squeaky-voiced Minister of Justice Hildegard Benjamin, accusing her of railroading many innocents to prison.

The East Berlin regime attacked her in announcing the release of 19,000 political prisoners, including 691 Social Democrats.

British Laborites stirred Soviet party boss Nikita Khruschev into flame last April by asking him to use his influence to obtain the release of Socialists in Russia and East European lands.

• • •

PURGING THE PURGERS

Purging of the purgers is going on in many Communist-ruled lands now that Khrushchev has paved the way in his safe, bitter denunciation of Stalin, and the execution of secret police boss Lavrenti Beria and his pals.

• • •

French Socialist informants in Paris incidentally say Beria was not shot by a firing squad in 1953. A story said to come from Khrushchev himself says First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan shot Beria in the back of the neck at a meeting of the Politburo.

East German Reds now confess that thousands of persons have been wrongly convicted on the basis of false confessions. Some of the victims were given stiff prison terms for minor automobile accidents.

• • •

Premier Otto Grotewohl, in a somewhat ungentlemanly attack, first accused Dr. Benjamin's ministry last March of making many illegal arrests. So it looks as if she is about to sink into oblivion.

FROM MIDDLE GLASS

The former Hilde Langue grew up in Berlin in a middle class family and won a doctorate of law shortly after World War I. She celebrated by joining the Communist Party. She was married to Dr. Wilhelm Benjamin, who perished later in a Nazi concentration camp.

• • •

The mannish appearing woman who likes Paris-tailored suits and wears her hair drawn back tightly into a bun was made a state prosecutor by the Russians after World War II.

By 1950 she was vice president of the supreme court and its real head. She became justice minister in 1953.

In one three-month period during the enforced Sovietization of East Germany Frau Hilde sent two East Germans to the gallows, eight to life imprisonment, and 17 others to a total of 190 years at hard labor.

• • •

• • •

It was tidy time while it lasted, but now she joins the herd of Communist scapegoats.

Smiles

We soon can expect politicians to start clouding the issues because they're in the dark about them.

• • •

It's amusing to read about collectors of rare coins. Aren't they all?

An ultrasonic system that saturates a room with electronic impulses. If the slightest movement is detected, a central alarm office is signaled.

O-JIB-WA OFFERS YOU FREEDOM FROM PAIN

This true, unpaid for testimonial, from Mrs. Sherman V. Taylor of Route 2, Lowell, Michigan, tells the facts of how O-Jib-Wa Bitters made it possible for her to walk again, without the terrible pains of Rheumatism and Arthritis.

"I first learned about O-JIB-WA BITTERS about 15 years ago, through a newspaper ad. I was bothered at the time with severe gas and indigestion, so decided to try it. It helped my stomach so much that when rheumatism struck my legs and hips recently, I again called upon this wonderful medicine for help. My left leg often gave out, and at times I couldn't walk a step. I managed to get meals and do some housework, but it was a real chore. I could just barely get around by slowly moving one foot out in front of the other. I didn't see much change in the first five days, and was a little disappointed, but by the time I had taken your medicine for two weeks, I was feeling lots better. I am completely free of pain and stiffness now, and can walk good, and do all my housework with no pain or trouble at all. My brother also took O-JIB-WA BITTERS with good results, so sure thank you for making us feel so good. I'm glad to have this opportunity to tell other sufferers bothered with rheumatism, arthritis or stomach trouble, how O-JIB-WA BITTERS helped me. I'm certain that anyone who gives this medicine a fair trial, will soon see why I praise O-JIB-WA so highly."

Metals Sought From Two Gases

Hydrogen, Ammonia May Be Source of New Substances

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — New kinds of metals made out of hydrogen or ammonia will become a reality soon, a group of scientists who deal in very high temperatures was told today.

Other strange substances heretofore unheard of probably can be recovered from regions many miles below the earth's surface, said one investigator.

* * *

Some of these substances of the future may help researchers to lick the problem of making containers for the million-degree heat of atomic energy.

Atomic power research at present is hampered by a lack of containers. The toughest metals melt at temperatures under 6,000 degrees. Ceramic materials, made mostly of sand and metallic oxides, tolerate heat fairly well but are too brittle for practical use. Mixtues of metals and ceramics, called cermets, have been tried but have not worked out well.

* * *

The new metals will be made by squeezing atoms so hard that they will shrink in size and form substances that behave differently from those made out of unsqueezed atoms, said Dr. H. Tracy Hall of Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

Substances like these probably exist now deep inside the earth, having been made by the squeezing effect on atoms produced by the enormous weight of the earth's crust, Dr. S. S. Kistler of the University of Utah reported.

Dr. Hall and Dr. Kistler addressed a symposium on high temperatures, sponsored by Stanford Research Institute and the University of California.

* * *

Ammonia, which at ordinary temperatures and pressures is a gas, will change into a metal when subjected to a pressure of about three million pounds per square inch, Dr. Hall reported. This "soon will become a reality," he said, but did not go into detail.

Hydrogen, he added, is expected to turn into a metal when put under a pressure of seven million pounds per square inch.

* * *

Pressures as high as three million pounds per square inch have been produced on a laboratory scale by several scientists.

The value of meat by-products is 5 to 6 per cent of the wholesale value of the fresh meat.

Two Governors Once Checked Wife's Speeding

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler yesterday told the annual governors' conference his wife was arrested in so many states for speeding that he had a governor placed on the accelerator of her car in 1936.

* * *

Chandler said shortly afterward his wife was driving with their two children in the car and sought to pass another vehicle.

"The governor took over and she couldn't pass," Chandler said, adding:

* * *

"She said that damned governor will kill us yet.

Ground-Breaking Shovel Is Stolen at Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — It's only a chrome-plated shovel with a white handle, but city officials want it back . . . badly enough to threaten police action against the culprit who took it.

The shovel is owned by the city and is brought forth only for official ground-breaking ceremonies. It disappeared last Thursday when it was used for ground breaking at the 42½ million-dollar convention building in the Civic Center.

It was last seen in the possession of a short, stocky man wearing a T-shirt and baseball cap.

Nixon Ignored in Pledge to Ike

GOP Governors and White House Officials Omit Vice President

By JACK BELL

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Vice President Nixon turned up today as the forgotten man of 20 Republican governors and White House officials urging President Eisenhower to run again.

Nixon's name was left off a formal statement forwarded to Eisenhower by GOP state executives attending the 48th annual Governors Conference.

PLEDGE SUPPORT

They expressed their "wholehearted approval of the administration of our great Republican President" and pledged "our full support for his renomination and re-election."

GOP Gov. Fred Hall of Kansas, who said he thought up the round-robin signed by all except absentee Gov. George N. Craig of Indiana, contended that the omission of Nixon as a candidate for second place on the ticket was merely an oversight.

Former Gov. Howard Pyle of Arizona, an Eisenhower aide who got advance White House clearance on the statement, said it just hadn't occurred to him that Nixon wasn't to be mentioned.

NOT SO POPULAR

Eisenhower has said he would be happy to run on any ticket that included Nixon. But the omission of Nixon's name from the GOP resolution seemed to indicate the vice president is not so highly regarded among the GOP governors or White House assistants as he may be in other party circles.

This posed a practical political problem for Nixon: If Eisenhower should decide not to run again, would Nixon be opposed by powerful GOP governors and the White House staff members for first place on the ticket?

War No Joking Matter; Anarchist Proves It

SASSARI, Sardinia (INS) — An elderly anarchist drew a revolver from his pocket during a speech in Sassari and asked the heckling crowd: "Do you want war or peace?"

"War," the crowd shouted back jokingly.

"Here you are then," said the speaker. Police picked him up for wounding a young man.

Footprint Conviction

LONDON (INS) — British police recently used bare footprints as evidence to convict a man of a crime for the first time in English history. A Scotland Yard fingerprint expert suggested the reason why footprints had never been used before was "English people do not normally go around in their bare feet."

Pontiac City Affairs

Approve Airport Deed, Leases

A deed, two subleasing agreements, and a land grant agreement for federal aid involving Pontiac Municipal Airport were acted on last night at the weekly City Commission meeting.

The latter was approved in order to receive federal assistance in purchasing land needed for the expansion at the local field.

A deed was accepted, and ordered filed in the county Register of Deed's office, from Carlos G. Richardson and wife for a parcel of land to the west of the port which will be used to extend the present east-west runway.

Subleases were approved for hangar space at the field for the Executive Aircraft Corp. of premises previously leased from the city by Felicity I. Wyrick and the Gordon Air Service, Inc.

Other action taken up on the relatively routine 37-point agenda included the acceptance of an engineer's estimate to re-construct sidewalk and related work and change of grade on the south side of East Pike from Mariva to Jessie.

A protest petition has temporarily delayed a proposed sanitary sewer on Durant street from Pershing to Inglewood. The commissioners requested the petition be forwarded to the assessor's office to check the signatures.

Mrs. R. A. Sheriff appeared before the commission urging the sewer be installed to eliminate "very unsanitary conditions" in the area.

Public hearings were also held on four other projects for which the city assessor was instructed to prepare special assessment rolls and report to the commission July 10.

A public hearing will be conducted next Tuesday on a roll to pay for sidewalks for the following: Columbia to the north line of lot 5 Walton Blvd. Park; Princeton to Sheffield; Belt Line Railroad to Walton boulevard; east side of Barkell street from the south line of lot 303 LeBaron Farms No. 1 to Westbrook; and for the north side of Virginia from the railroad to Saginaw.

Public hearings were aired on eight other projects while confirmation and payments were scheduled for seven others in the city.

A low bid of $85,590.85 was approved for Kutchins Co. of Lansing for construction of sidewalks in the city. L. Kevorkian's bid of $23,013.85 was accepted by the commissioners for construction of water mains.

As no bids were received for insurance on city-owned vehicles and workmen's compensation coverage for city employes, a new date of July 2 at 3 p.m. was set to receive bids.

In other business, a hearing on vacating an alley in Elkins Addition Subdivision needed for rezoning to Commercial 1 two lots in the area, was held. Further action was deferred pending receipt of set-back agreement by the city.

The City Commission gave its approval to the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees to purchase a home at 48 S. Johnson Ave. to use for storage during construction of the new hospital addition.

Request for transfer of a package beer license at 230 Osmun St. from Vincent Deni to Paul E. Deni was approved.

A public hearing was set for July 17 on the proposed rezoning of lots 89-99 in Washington Park Subdivision to Residential 3. The first reading of an ordinance to rezone the lots was read by title only last evening.

A request from the Jerome Building Co. for payment for a sewer on Stanley avenue was referred to City Manager W. K. Willman.

A new date of Aug. 6-12 was approved for an Amvets Post 16-Marine Corps League sponsored carnival which was approved last month for another date at which time it was unable to be held. The site of the show has not been determined.

Adenauer Flatly Rejects Unity Approach by Soviets

BONN (INS) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has flatly rejected a direct unity approch with Moscow—now or in the future—on the problem or reuniting East and West Germany.

Adenauer stressed the German reunification question, "for which Russia expressly accepted responsibility as one of the big four victorious powers, must be discussed on a big four level."

"Any other solution now would be a halfway house which the Soviets would exploit to their full advantage to create the impression that West Germany is nibbling Soviet bait and about to make a secret deal to side with Russia.

"I will not be lured into a trap that would turn this vital free world issue into a regional German national one. It must remain an international issue and no attempt at fanning the dangerous fires of nationalism will divert us."

EUROPE IS THE KEY

Seemingly aware that his "stand-pat" statement will be interpreted by some as a calculated risk, the venerable statesman who has just returned from a visit to the U. S. warned that the free world must not lose sight of the fact that Russia's prime objective still is to seize Germany.

"I'm convinced Europe and not Asia is the decisive theater even though Asia may continue to be tough sledding for the United States. Let me assure you Russia sees things in a similar light."

He asserted confidently:

"The same goes for the United States whose people and government are not being taken in by the false front smiles as made evident in the Twining declaration in Moscow."

The chancellor, who has been the target of growing attacks for what his critics describe as his "inflexibility and lack of initiative in foreign policy," faces a political rough house in this week's Bundestag debate on foreign policy.

Adenauer said he was convinced "the East Germans in their state of intimidation behind the Iron Curtain would support a clear-cut course knowing this is the only language the Soviets understand.

"Any courting of Russia would be regarded as a sign of weakness on our part."

In response to a question on how he interprets the reaction of international Communist leaders to the Soviet denunciation of Stalin, Adenauer discounted the possibility of a schism in the Communist Party.

"The Soviets are spreading their net over the whole of Europe to make use of every method to try and make the Communists of France and Italy acceptable for inclusion in popular front governments by granting them a small measure of independence, knowing well the parties would stick close to Russia where their money comes from."

On the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the chancellor, who is one of the most ardent pioneers in the movement to revamp the pact into a political alliance, deplored the present crisis regarding NATO's future.

NEGLECT OF ISSUES

He noted the Cyprus crisis "illustrates where we went wrong. This chaotic situation could easily have been avoided as Papagos (former Greek Prime Minister Alexander Papagos) told me in 1953 by timely consultation."

He said that what applies to Cyprus applies to all of NATO, that there is "a neglect of mutual political issues."

Urging that NATO's military strength be maintained, Adenauer cautioned that "it stands to reason that a military alliance without political coordination is bound to stagnate into a dead letter.

"Hence, we must throw our full weight into finding a key common denominator."

Adenauer's NATO advice will be tested this week when Germany and the 14 other NATO partners will be asked to answer a 36-point questionnaire seeking ways of making the alliance more active and cooperative in the economic and political fields.

First Flight From U. S. to Hawaii Blazed Trail for Later Sea Crossing

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The man who co-piloted the first plane to fly from the U. S. to Hawaii sees no reason why anyone should be interested in such "ancient history."

* * *

Albert F. Hegenberger, who moved to a quiet lakeshore home near Orlando six years ago after retiring with the rank of major general, said he hasn't kept in touch with Lester J. Maitland, who was with him on the historic flight over the Pacific.

The two men, both Army Air Corps lieutenants, took off from a soft cinder air strip at Oakland, Calif., June 28, 1927, in a trimotor plane and landed 24 hours later in Honolulu. Their flight, the longest over water up to that day, blazed the trail for future commercial service and for the bomber and transport flights which were everyday affairs during World War II.

"The engineering computations and pre-flight planning were very thorough," Hegenberger said in an interview today. "We had to fit up the cabin with extra gas tanks and install facilities for celestial navigation.

"We ran into trouble right after the takeoff — cloudy conditions, head winds and icing at 10,000 feet.

"Halfway across, one engine failed when the carburetor iced up, but we got it going again in about two hours by flying at a lower altitude."

HAWAII ON THE BUTTON

The fliers took turns at the controls and between times Hegenberger did the navigating. He says: "We hit Hawaii right on the button."

Asked if they got a big reception on their arrival in Honolulu, Hegenberger grinned and said: "We just took a snooze and then went for a swim."

The plane stayed in Hawaii and the two fliers took a ship back to California.

* * *

Hegenberger said Maitland served for some time as a brigadier general on the staff of Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan and recently has been an Episcopal preacher in Michigan, but he hsn't heard from him in a long time.

Hegenberger made many contributions to aviation during his career. He was once in charge of an air force project to develop a system for blind landings. The basic methods discovered then are still in use today.

"Our trouble was lack of money," he said. "We had a budget of $600 for outside expenses in one year on that project. We couldn't buy anything—had to make all our own parts."

He noted that tremendous sums are being spent today to build up air power, but he has no quarrel with that. If more money had been spent in earlier years, he said, the strike at Pearl Harbor would not have had such a drastic effect on the nation's defenses.

His most recent assignment before retirement was to work on a method to detect atomic explosions anywhere in the world.

* * *

Hegenberger has two sons in the air force. At his retirement home, he and his wife spend most of their time gardening and riding around in their boat.

Trucks Evacuate Town From Australia Floods

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—A fleet of trucks evacuated nearly 1,000 residents of North Wagga, 320 miles southwest of Sydney, as floodwaters surged toward the town today.

The overflowing Murrumbridge, Darling and Murray rivers in southwestern Australia have created a lake covering hundreds of thousands of acres of rich grazing land in the Riverina district.

Twining Lauds Russian System

Soviets Impress Allied Air Chiefs

MOSCOW (AP)—Western air force leaders visiting the Soviet Union continue to be impressed by Russian air equipment and installations.

The school, located in central Moscow, offers a five-year course for training top technician officers of the Red air force. It has an annual enrollment of about 2,000.

Gen. Nathan Twining, U.S. Air Force chief of staff, described the program as well balanced "between good theoretical courses and good practical courses."

"They have concentrated everything into one ball of wax for five years," Twining said. "We have no school like this. It's a good system, but ours is good too. They accomplish the same purpose."

Another American officer said the academy offers courses like those given at schools like the California Institute of Technology, plus practical work with weapons.

* * *

Operated by the Soviet air force, the academy selects students from officers with four or five years service. They go back to the Air Force after their academy training.

Twining said at the school they were shown cross sections of jet engines, both axial flow and centrifugal types. He termed them "very good engines."

Included were those of the supersonic "Farmer" fighter plane or MIG19, the IL28 "Beagle" light jet bomber and night fighter, the "Flashlight" all-weather fighter and a helicopter.

(This was the first time the "Farmer" has been described specifically as faster than the speed of sound—760 miles per hour at sea level. Jane's All the World's Aircraft says the single-jet craft is believed to have been developed from the earlier MIG17.)

Also on display were some firing systems for fighters and equipment for both visual and electronic bombing.

Game Wardens Told to Check Warrants

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Circuit Judge Edward H. Fenlon has criticized the type of affidavit used by the State Conservation Department to prepare search warrants.

* * *

He says it is inadequate because it does not specify the information desired.

His opinion was delivered yesterday as he reversed the conviction of Arthur George of Petoskey. George had been fined $100 and sentenced to 10 days after pleading guilty to illegal possession of venison.

* * *

George first pleaded innocent, then changed his plea to guilty.

Judge Fenlon said the search warrant used in the arrest was illegal. He said mere suspicion does not amount to probable cause.

Rattlesnake Bite Kills Escaped Mental Patient

Yesterday his body was found, leaning against a tree in a seldom frequented wooded area of a cattle ranch near the hospital.

This Boy's Growing!

RESEDA, Calif. (AP)—Jeffrey D. Jaeger, who weighed 27 ounces at birth, will tip the scales at 17 pounds tomorrow when he celebrates his first birthday. The son of Donald and Yvonne Jaeger, both movie studio workers, was born three months prematurely.

The army bought its first automobile in 1903.

'Co-Existence' of Split Berliners Sought by Mayor

BERLIN (AP) — Otto Suhr, lord mayor of West Berlin, is working to melt down the "Little Iron Curtain" which divides his half of the city and Communist East Berlin.

* * *

He would like to restore the trolley and bus service which now halts at the sector border and to connect telephone lines severed in the 1948 cold war.

He hopes he may be able to remove many of the barriers in daily life that confront the citizens of this city of two governments, two fire departments, two police departments, two kinds of money.

* * *

Significantly, he wants to do this without giving official recognition to the rival Communist city government. He aims at a city-size "peaceful coexistence" but without political appeasement of the Reds or a change in the political setup.

Suhr is a nearly bald man of 61, with a prominent, curved nose, an ever-present grin and invariably a bow tie. An economist and labor expert in private life, he was elected to the West Berlin Parliament in 1946 and became mayor after Ernst Reuter's death in 1953.

* * *

His opposite number in East Berlin, Communist Mayor Friedrich Ebert, recently proposed direct talks with Suhr on city transportation problems. Suhr took this as a maneuver to gain recognition of the East Berlin government. He informed Ebert that he saw no necessity for such discussions on the top city level. He appointed a member of his cabinet to work on "technical contacts" with East Berlin representatives.

'Superstitious' Judge Obliges Unlucky Thief

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Terrence F. Daly, who had pleaded guilty to stealing a car in Kansas City and driving it to Los Angeles, asked Federal Judge William M. Byrne to sentence him on Friday instead of yesterday.

"Tuesday was always my unlucky day," he said. "Every time I've been picked up by police it's been on Tuesday."

The judge, after studying Daly's record of minor arrests, declared:

"I'm superstitious too. I think 15 months in a federal prison might break up your urge to drive other people's cars."

Actor Gwenn Lauds Social Security Plan

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Edmund Gwenn, 78-year-old actor, will receive old-age Social Security payments of $103.50 monthly while he vacations in England and while he keeps on working.

Gwenn, who applied for the payments on his secretary's advice, said he was authorizing the Social Security Administration to tell the story in order to illustrate that Social Security is not a program for the needy but an annuity, earned by working and paying the contributory tax.

Journalists Reminded of Competition Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Political Science Assn. has reminded midwest political writers that its Awards to Journalists competition requires that they must submit applications and clippings by midnight July 1.

* * *

Executive director Evron M. Kirpatrick of the association said yesterday the competition, financed by a Ford Foundation grant, is open to political reporters between the ages of 25 and 35 on daily newspapers in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, the Dakotas, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Kefauver Seeks Tennessee Help

Uneasy Armistice With Gov. Clement Cracks Over Racial Issue

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, badly scarred in primary campaigns for the Democratic presidential nomination, returns today to a bitter fight for very limited home-state backing.

* * *

The segregation issue loomed large as Kefauver's forces sought to win agreement from Gov. Frank Clement for some kind of Kefauver endorsement at tomorrow's state party convention.

TO ELECT DELEGATES

The convention, normally controlled by the governor, will elect a 32-vote delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

* * *

The lid blew off last night from an uneasy truce which shut off budding warfare between the Clement and Kefauver factions of the state party last January. These were developments:

1. State Agriculture Commissioner Buford Ellington, a top Clement political lieutenant, said no compromise between the two forces was possible on the basis of a Kefauver endorsement.

* * *

2. Seven Kefauver supporters wired Clement asking "an audience" to discuss a proposal to have the convention endorse Kefauver without hampering the governor's control of the Chicago delegation.

RACIAL PROBLEM

3. Charles Neese, a former Kefauver state campaign manager, suggested that the convention express its views on the "racial problem," endorse Kefauver with the exception of his segregation views and send an uninstructed delegation to Chicago.

* * *

4. Melvin Handelman, national treasurer of the Young Democratic Clubs, was conspicuously snubbed at the state YDC banquet after he had criticized Clement for aiding Gov. Allan Shivers and praised Kefauver and other Tennesseans for supporting Speaker Sam Rayburn in the Texas intra-party fight.

Irish Elect a Jew Lord Mayor of Dublin

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—The new lord mayor of Dublin is a Jew. He said today his election is a demonstration of the "absolute tolerance" of Catholic Ireland.

* * *

Robert Briscoe was picked as lord mayor of the Irish capital last night. His name was drawn from a hat after there had been a tie vote between him and the outgoing lord mayor, Denis Larkin.

Briscoe said he knew he would have the goodwill of Dublin citizens.

Hal Boyle Says:

Unlimber and Do the Limbo to Lose Weight

TRINIDAD, B. W. I. (AP) —The natives here have got a sure cure for excess weight. They just limbo it away.

* * *

The limbo should soon be sweeping the United States. I'll guarantee that any girl who practices the limbo for six weeks will have a wasteline as supple as a fishing worm. (Either that or she'll be in the hospital with a mystified doctor murmuring, "Madam, how did you ever get yourself tied up like a pretzel?)"

What is the limbo? It is an ancient African dance resembling the high jump. But instead of leaping over the crossbar, you dance under it, each time lowering the crossbar nearer to the floor. You wear nothing but a swim suit and dance barefooted.

Sound simple? Try it. As the bar gets lower and lower, the dancer has to spreadeagle his legs farther apart as he shuffles forward, his delicately balanced body and head bent backward like a weaving cobra.

The dance puts a tortuous strain on leg, stomach and back muscles. Before each effort the dancer loosens his body in wild leaps in tune with a steel band as he chants his challenge to the other dancers:

—"I want somebody to limbo like me—limbo, limbo, limbo like me!

"But 10,000 people can't limbo like me—limbo, limbo, limbo like me!"

Once he starts under the crossbar, however, the dancer has no energy for anything except his own strained contortions. Oddly enough, despite its seeming monotony, the dance holds a tense interest for spectators.

"The limbo is an old folk dance that came over with the slaves, probably in the 17th century," said Charles S. Espinet, local newspaper editor who is an authority on island customs. "No one knows the origin of the name."

In 1944 Edric Connor, a Trinidad-born singer and stage and screen star, revived the dance. Soon it became a popular diversion among society figures here (American airmen even adopted it as a physical training exercise), and it is now being boomed as a tourist attraction.

There are perhaps a hundred professional limbo dancers in the West Indies, of whom a dozen are rated as first class.

The record is held by a woman, Ruth Henry of Antigua, who danced under a crossbar only 8 inches from the floor. The most famous limbo artist, however, is "Stretch" Wilcox, who is six feet three and has gone under a bar at 10 inches. He has the widest following because he mixes comedy with his gyrations.

Moneywise, the best of limbo dancers at present hardly threatens to break into the Fred Astaire class. They have no difficulty staying marvelously slim. They don't earn enough to eat themselves out of shape.

A folklore scholar here estimated that ranking limbo dancers in the best Trinidad night clubs earn less than $30 a week take-home pay.

To a visitor, however, limbo dancing holds some wonderful possibilities as an export to the United States. Not just to thin down our overweight dames either.

It could turn out to be a real exciting new craze for the American teen-ager. It might even take his mind off rock 'n' roll for a change—and who's against that?

Most modern truck V8's ...and the pounds prove it!

Pound for pound, the most powerful truck V8's today are Chevrolets. That's one way you can tell they're the most modern V8's going!

Any engineer will tell you that high horsepower-per-pound is a good indication of efficient engine design. And Chevrolet's modern short-stroke V8 truck engines do more work for their weight than any other V8 in any truck today!

That means they carry around fewer pounds for power they develop. (They weigh up to 200 pounds less than other comparable engines!) It means, too, that less of the maximum truck G.V.W. consists of engine weight—and more is devoted to payload. So, you not only can haul bigger loads—you have more usable power to move them!

Stop by and let us show you how Chevrolet's compact, super-efficient truck V8's can save hours and dollars on your job.

and you'll choose today's most modern trucks

Chevrolet's short-stroke truck V8's have a rugged yet remarkably compact cylinder block. Modern design cuts down engine weight and increases engine efficiency!

More power per pound means more power for your payload!
Since less power is used in moving engine weight, a bigger proportion of the power is available for moving your payloads. Here's where you get hour-saving performance!

There's a powerful, deep-breathing V8—either standard, or optional at extra cost—in every new Chevrolet Task-Force truck model. Horsepower ranges as high as 195!

COOL ROMANCE—Kissing gourami no longer have a monopoly on underwater romance. The tiny tropical fish are lost in the swim, trying to compete with Jerry Allen and Betty Sue Connell. Swim saucers, which increase rate of speed in case anyone's interested in coming up for air, conceal the buss. These aquatic goings-on occurred at Rainbow Springs, near Dunnellon, Fla.

Indiana Democrats Endorse Wickard

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Claude Wickard, former secretary of agriculture, was nominated to run for the U.S. Senate by Indiana's Democratic convention last night as National Chairman Paul Butler survived a bitter test of strength.

* * *

Butler openly was behind Wickard, who now operates a farm near Camden, but his lone opponent was never a serious threat and was without strong support from McKinney.

* * *

However, candidates favored for the gubernatorial nomination by Butler and McKinney both lost out to dark horse Ralph Tucker, mayor of Terre Haute, after nine hard-fought ballots in the sultry Indiana Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Russian Roulette Proves Fatal to Man With Guts

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Louis Don Davis, 18, a soda pop truck helper, was fatally shot last night while playing "Russian roulette," two of his companions told police.

They said Davis, whose wife is expecting a baby in about two weeks, was riding alone in the backseat of their car, toying with an old pistol.

"He first put one shell in the revolver, then two. He would spin the cylinder, aim at his head and pull the trigger," one of the youths related.

"We heard him say, 'It takes guts to play Russian roulette' and then there was a big noise inside the car. It scared us. We looked back. Louie was slumped over and blood was pumping out of a little hole in his head."

'Foolishness' Pays Off

Court's License Decision May Hurt Driving Program

LANSING (AP) — State officials claim an Ingham County Circuit Court decision may have a crippling effect on the state's driver improvement program.

* * *

Judge Marvin J. Salmon ruled that the Secretary of State is not empowered to deny a person a driver's license because of a bad driving record.

Last year, the state denied licenses to 25,000 persons, most of the denials were made because of long records of violation.

"We've been operating on the theory that we have this power for three years and state police used the same procedure for some 15 years before," said George M. Newman, chief examiner in the Driver Services section.

The court's ruling was made on petition of Mrs. Eva Weidner of Lansing.

* * *

The petition said Mrs. Weidner's license expired in July, 1953, that she applied for a new one, passed the written examination and was issued a temporary permit.

On Aug. 4, 1953, she was informed that her application for a license would be denied because of her "bad driving record," the petition said.

Mrs. Weidner appealed to the Secretary of State, but the appeal was denied.

The Secretary of State's office said she was convicted of two moving violations and was involved in three minor property damage accidents from Aug. 19, 1949 to Aug. 22, 1952.

Mrs. Weidner's attorney contended that the law fails to define what constitutes a bad driving record.

Judge Salmon's ruling said:

"We find that the office of the Secretary of State is not empowered by statute to deny the issuance of an operator's license to a person on the ground that he has a bad driving record, and that in attempting to do so the secretary exceeded his statutory authority."

Judge Salmon ruled that the denial of Mrs. Weidner's license should be set aside.

Secy. of State James M. Hare was not available for comment.

Newman said the decision would take "a lot of study."

* * *

"The whole intent of the law is to control drivers. In some cases, the record of a driver is so bad there just isn't any use to talk about it any more," he said.

Layoff at Greenville

GREENVILLE (AP) — A total of 711 workers have been laid off because of a seasonal decline at Gibson Refrigerator Co, according to a company announcement. Some 561 are scheduled to resume their jobs July 16 for two weeks until the annual plant shutdown for inventory in August.

Bob Considine Says:

48 Years Make Great Changes in Meeting

ATLANTIC CITY (INS) — The first governors' conference was called by President Theodore Roosevelt 48 years ago. The President was gravely concerned over conservation of the nation's natural resources, mineral, land and water. It was the only discussion on the agenda.

By contrast, Gov. Soapy Williams of Michigan arrived at the current governors' conference with a nine-page "declaration" which begins, "The Democratic Party of Michigan declares its belief that the world is embroiled in total revolutions of great peril or promise in the affairs of men and of nations.

"We urge the party . . . to reject complacency and to relight with living thoughts and burning words the zeal and ardor of the American people for great accomplishments."

* * *

They are "the revolutions of atomic energy . . . nuclear weapons . . . anti-colonialism . . . conquest' by Soviet imperialism . . . athestic communism . . . integration . . . and the revolution of time and space."

CONTRASTING SPEAKERS

By further contrast, the principal speaker at the 1908 convention was Andrew Carnegie, who read a paper on ore deposits. The principal speaker this time was Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme military commander of a U.S.-backed union of European nations which the gentlemen of 1908 could hardly have comprehended.

* * *

In another respect, the first and the present conventions were alike. There was no entertainment at either. Roosevelt provided none. The current convention provided Martin and Lewis.

The 1908 meeting, held at the White House, attracted the governors of 34 of the 46 states and of the territories of Alaska, Arizona, Hawaii and New Mexico and of the Dependency of Puerto Rico.

There was no politicking in 1908. There has been little else except that at Atlantic City.

So far, the convention has shown that the Republican governors have no presidential choice or plans beyond Eisenhower. The candidacy of Adlai Stevenson has been strengthened here, though he is not in attendance.

The candidacy of Tennessee's Gov. Frank Clement and Massachusetts' junior senator, Jack Kennedy, as Stevenson's running mate, has emerged.

The first conference was covered by a meager handful of reporters. There are more than 200 at Atlantic City, and they sent narly 60,000 words of wire copy on opening day.

* * *

In addition, there are scores of radio and TV people. One network has 90 people on hand and the reveille calls for its first show of the day—devoted to the conference—are at 4 a.m.

Many of the governors who answered Teddy Roosevelt's call sported handsome beards or flowing mustaches. The only beard here is jauntily worn by John F. Simms, Democratic governor of New Mexico.

A curious newsman tapped Simms on the shoulder in the lobby of the Dennis Hotel the other day and asked, "Hey, are you with the governor of New Mexico?"

* * *

"Slightly," he said. "I am the governor of New Mexico."

PAYING THE BILL

* * *

Alabama's kissin' Jim Folsom brought 16 people with him, including five of the kids, among them Miss Bama Folsom. The New York Port Authority provides helicopter service for the governors.

Ford sent a fleet of air-conditioned new Lincoln limousines, one for each governor, and has offered the $6,100 cars to reporters for $4,500. The sales pitch is "this second-hand car was used to carry a clean-living, non-smoking, lightweight governor."

The Navy's famed Blue Angles jet fliers will risk their necks for the amazement of the governors today. But then again, they always do.

What's New in Getaway?

Buick SUPER 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

Well, it means a brand-new principle in transmission design that the engineers call "double regeneration." A new way to make whirling oil add to its own velocity. A new way to produce fast torque build-up at only part throttle.

What does it do for you?

It gives you a quick new getaway response right in the first inch of pedal travel—right where you do most of your normal driving—and right where you get better gas mileage every inch of the way.

It gives you more safety-surge breakaway when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch—more electrifying full-power acceleration to pull out of a tight spot.

And it gives you all this with absolute smoothness—whether you're in stop-and-go traffic, or in a highway emergency—because no gears ever shift in Dynaflow.

But if you think this great new getaway is the only reason for Buick's strong position in the Top 3 of America's best sellers—listen:

In every 1956 Buick there's newness from end to end.

New 322-cubic-inch V8 engines. New brakes, new frame, new rear end. A new deep-oil cushioned ride. New "sense of direction" tracking steadiness. New steering linkage and front-end geometry. New handling ease, new quiet, new comfort, new safety. New carburetor "deicing." New exhaust manifolding. New interlocking safety door latches. New Safety-Aim headlamps. New features everywhere you look—including new styling and beauty inside and out.

What it all adds up to is the Best Buick Yet, by far. And we cordially invite you to come see and sample all the new thrills a '56 Buick has in store for you.

You'll find them packaged in a price that makes any model you choose your smartest buy yet. Can you make it this week?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Wilson and Benson 'Assets' to Democrats

WASHINGTON (INS)—Two Democratic congressmen have joined in a tongue-in-cheek declaration that Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson are "assets" to the Democrats.

In referring to furor over the cabinet official's use of the word "phony" in discussing the Senate debate over airpower, House Majority Leader John McCormack, Mass., said it would be a "loss" if Wilson resigns.

Earlier, Rep. Charles A. Vanik (D-Ohio) proposed Wilson and Benson be named "Honorary Democrats" for their "repeated and valuable contributions to the cause" of the opposition party.

Uranium Production Sets Record in U.S.

DENVER (INS)—United States' uranium production is now disclosed for the first time to be nearly three million tons of ore annually.

Jesse G. Johnson, director of raw materials for the Atomic Energy Commission, revealed the figure in Denver Monday as he addressed more than 250 mining industry executives, engineers and geologists at conference on uranium and the atomic industry.

* * *

Johnson said nine uranium mills now in operation in the nation and three more will go into production this summer. He added the number of mills may double by 1958, indicating the AEC expects U-ore totals to increase two-fold.

* * *

Johnson said the figure of three million tons compares with uranium production of 70,000 tons in 1948. An estimated 90 per cent of U.S. uranium comes from the rich Colorado plateau.

Liquid air turns to vapor at such a low temperature that it boils when poured on ice.

Cobo Takes 3 Days Off to Campaign for Votes

DETROIT (INS)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo will be absent from city hall three of these four days to pump for votes in his campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

The mayor was in Bay City yesterday, Muskegon on Thursday and in Traverse City Friday. He is in Detroit today for the dedication of the new Northeast Water Pumping Station.

Well, the Key Worked

RATON, N. M. (AP)—Fifteen locks, mostly from garage doors, are being held for their owners by city police. Officers said the locks were removed by youngsters who had made a home-made skeleton key.

Walled Lake Sets July 23 for Special Election

1,300 Petition School Board

Would Vote on Two Mill Tax Increase Recently Defeated by Voters

By STANLEY BOK
Commerce Correspondent

WALLED LAKE—Following the recommendation of a petition signed by about 1,300 persons, the Board of Education of the Walled Lake School District last night set a date of July 23 for a special school election concerning a proposed two-mill tax increase. The board met in a special session in the Junior High School.

This is the same proposal that met defeat by a margin of about 75 votes on June 11 of this year. It calls for additional money for school operating expenses.

Whether or not the election will be held as scheduled depends on the outcome of a special meeting to be held from 1:30 until 5:30 p.m., Monday, July 9, in the office of Clifford H. Smart, school district superintendent.

Invited to that meeting are business leaders, school officials, civic leaders and other prominent citizens. At that time, the group will review and analyze the school situation, covering the budget, enrollment and financial statistics. At the end of the session, the group will be asked to decide if an election is necessary to raise funds.

Meanwhile, the board will prepare for an election since time is an important element. An early election is necessary in order to get the tax increase on the tax rolls and to prevent the curtailment of any school activity—should the proposal receive the approval of the voters. The board will send out informative literature to all citizens in the school district.

The proposal — if approved—would provide an extra $60,000 per year for school operation. Also, the school district would then be eligible for an additional $30,000 in state aid, according to board members. The school district will be called a distressed area if voters grant the tax hike.

A newly-formed group, the Citizens Civic League, submitted a petition with more than 40 names which called for a meeting with the board to examine and discuss financial statisics. The group was represented by Attorney William I. Liberson of Detroit. The board tabled the request, referring the group to another source of information.

* * *

In other action, the board appointed Mrs. Arthur Stover of 8020 Locklin, Union Lake, to fill the school board post vacated by Robert Shores, who resigned recently with one year remaining of his elected term.

The board also re-elected its officers.

Hearings Ended in MMPA Trial

Plaintiff Fritz Given Until July 15 to File; Officials to Aug. 1

ROMEO—Hearings in the lawsuit involving 15 Michigan Milk Producers Assn. directors and Harold H. Fritz, president of the Romeo local, were completed at 10 a.m. yesterday before Judge Thomas J. Murphy in Wayne County Circuit court.

A declaratory judgment on the rights of MMPA members and an interpretation of association by-laws is expected early in September, according to Fritz' attorney Edward A. Jacob.

The case has been pending for over a year with months spent in gathering pre-trial evidence and holding preliminary hearings. During the past two weeks the case was postponed twice, once for additional hearings and a second time when the judge disqualified himself for being a stockholder in a dairy firm.

Once hearings began last Wednesday, action was speeded up and hearings completed in less than six days.

Seek Financing for Weed Control

LAKE ORION — Weed control can be on a tax-supported basis in Lake Orion next year, says the new president of the Lake Orion Property Owners Assn., but this year's program cannot.

The association meets at 8 p.m. Thursday at the village hall to discuss the program.

Only if continuous stretches of shoreline can be sprayed will the cost be reasonable enough to be advisable, Barry says. A Wisconsin biochemist suggests an area of one and one-half to two miles as a minimum.

Two or three successive seasons of spraying are needed to keep down weeds, he says.

The other is a cooking demonstration of Michigan bean soup made in an antique copper kettle of huge proportions and will be cooked over an open fire and served to 400 people.

Hopeful for Use of Interceptor

State Health Map Says Farmington Township May Be Served

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Donald Pierce of the State Department of Health spoke at a Township Board meeting there last night, asserting that it is still possible for the township to join with the city of Farmington to make use of the sewer interceptor.

He urged that the city and the township combine their efforts to make sewer connections with the Detroit system. Pierce stated that he had talked recently with Detroit officials and that "nothing was said to indicate that Detroit could not serve Farmington Township. There is no bar on this area anymore than on any other area."

Pierce then added that there had been a misunderstanding. The city of Farmington is under a court order and their contract must be awarded by July 5. He urged that the township also make arrangements to use the outlet.

There may be sufficient interest in the township, Pierce also stated, to increase the size of the outlet here to the Southfield sewer.

Ward Eagle, the township supervisor, stated that he had had the impression that Detroit would not take sewage from the township. However he will meet with Earl Scherffius, city manager, to see what can be done.

Local Farmers Can Underplant for Soil Bank

Some Oakland County farmers will be able to qualify for payments in the soil bank for the 1956 season if they can comply with the requirements recently released to the Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee according to Walter Cook, office manager.

To receive payments, farmers enter into a contract with the Department of Agriculture certifying that they have underplanted their soil bank corn base or their allotment for wheat either in anticipation of complying with the 1956 acreage reserve or because of adverse weather conditions.

Another way of complying with the requirements is to destroy a crop by mowing it, clipping it, or working it into the soil. Noxious weeds must be controlled on the area set aside as acreage reserve.

Provisions for the conservation reserve part of the soil bank have not yet been received in the county, but will be announced as soon as they arrive.

Farmers who are interested in getting details of the soil bank payments should contact the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in the Hubbard Building, Pontiac, or one of the county committeemen.

FANCY EATIN'

for a party meetin' is Grapefruit—Surprise. And don't look so astonished when I tell you I like to serve salted crackers with it. Just cut grapefruit in half, remove sections from the shell (and any bitter skin too). Fill the grapefruit shell with lemon sherbert—top with the grapefruit sections, a tablespoon of whipped cream and 3 to 4 strawberries or raspberries. This comes from my "glamour" file and once you've tried it, I think you'll add it to yours.

HOW TO BAKE A HAM . . .

Baking either "ready-to-eat" or uncooked ham brings out a fuller flavor, and that we want. Place the ham fat side up on rack set in an open pan, in a slow oven (325°). No water—no cover! Insert a meat thermometer into the center of the thickest muscle and bake until temperature indicates the ham is done. Allow 10-15 minutes for glazing in a hot oven. Pour off all drippings and remove all skin. With a sharp knife cut the fat, ¼ inch deep, in diamond shape (called scoring). Cover fat with your choice of glaze—a clove in each diamond—return ham to a 400° oven for 15-20 minutes to brown. For easier carving and prettier slices, let the ham stand (out of oven) for about 15 minutes. Whatever your choice of ham—whole, half, sliced or canned—you'll find it in the meat department of your neighborly National Food Store.

Yours for satisfaction,

Hollywood Headlines

Dan Dailey Happy to Play in 'Wings of Eagles' Role

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Dan Dailey was delighted to receive a personal call from John Ford asking him to play the other male lead with Duke Wayne in "Wings of Eagles." John remembered Dan from "What Price Glory?", the 1952 version for 20th Century-Fox.

"I was crazy to accept," Dan told me, "but before I could give an answer I had to get permission from 20th to loan me to MGM."

Producer Charles Schnee tells me it's all settled and Dan will play Commander Speed Wead's chief petty officer in the Navy. Duke, of course, plays Wead.

While Eddie Fisher is in Cedars of Lebanon undergoing tests, Debbie Reynolds is shooting her scenes in "Bundle of Joy" with Tommy Noonan, who is on loanout to RKO from 20th Century-Fox.

This is Tommy's last picture on his 20th contract. His next, he says, will be for Norman Krasna, who will follow "The Ambassador's Daughter" with "Billionaire Rooster." Can't imagine what that would be about.

Eddie's illness is a recurrence of indigestion trouble from which he has suffered from time to time.

JOAN ON THE GO

Wearing a huge hat with almost as many roses on it as I have in my garden, Joan Crawford stopped to talk to me at Chasen's. She was having dinner with her husband, Al Steele.

She said Al leaves tomorrow for a weekend board meeting in New York. She follows July 9, and they both go to Europe July 19, where Joan will spend three months making "The Story of Esther Costello."

"We're taking none of the children," said Joan, "but the twins will join us in mid-August after they return from camp."

It was so crowded at Chasen's Jeanne Crain, who had dinner with Bell Smith of 20th Century-Fox, ate in Dave Chasen's office. She said there has been talk of her playing Betty Compton in "Beau James" with Bob Hope and that she would like very much to do it.

I told her that another girl who is greatly interested in the same role is Patti Page. Well, Jeanne has red hair, Patti is a blonde, and Betty's hair was dark. But, of course, that can always be remedied.

Jeanne tells me she is going to work just as soon as possible. She is thinner than I've ever seen her, but pleased that so many of her friends have sent her word of their loyalty to her.

TABLE FOR TWO

At a quiet table for two at Chasen's, Ann Miller was having dinner with man-about-town Hal Hayes.

Just as we entered the cafe Rosalind Russell and her son, Lance, were leaving to go to the airport to meet Freddie Brisson who has been in New York for three weeks.

Sunshine Steals Wife; Husband Gets Divorce

CHICAGO (INS)—Joseph Leshinski Jr., 28, took his wife to Orlando, Fla., for a three-week vacation on the couple's third wedding anniversary.

He told Judge John J. Lyons that his wife, Greta, 25, enjoyed the sunshine so much that she refused to return with him to Chicago. He was granted a divorce.

Coward Not 'Sophisticated'

Never Drinks, Hates Parties and Nightclubs, Always in Bed by 9:30

NEW YORK (INS) — Noel COWARD — world renowned as a sophisticate—confided today that he hardly ever takes a drink, hates going to parties and nightclubs and is in bed at 9:30 every night.

"People always expect to find me with a cigarette holder in one hand knocking back martinis," the veteran theater personality said. "Truth is, I don't care much for liquor—it dulls the wit."

Coward, who has more than his share of both wit and debonair manner, said the only time he ever gets to bed later than 9:30 is when he's working at Las Vegas.

"Time is the element," the 56-year-old Coward explained in an interview, "I'm always up at the crack of dawn, because I work better in the morning. I stop whatever I'm doing at lunch time and the rest of the day is mine, to do with as I wish."

And just what does someone like Noel Coward do until he turns in?

"Oh, maybe a small, intimate dinner party—three or four close friends and certainly never more than six. But what I enjoy most is just puttering around the house, reading a good book or poking around the kitchen."

HOBBY—COOKING

Coward, best remembered going through his routine in a dinner jacket and boutonniere, was comfortably dressed in sports clothes and spoke enthusiastically about his hobby—cooking.

He laughingly confessed, "It's all something quite new to me," and went on to explain that he couldn't even boil an egg properly.

For the time being the very active playwright, producer, actor and director plans to do nothing at his new home in Bermuda but rest "and work on my book which I can't tell you much about, yet."

"American television is frantic," said the Briton who has a broadway reputation for being a perfectionist. "You never can get the actors you want—and there's never enough time to do it all."

Women Don't Count in This Male Paradise

Tropical Plant Silences Venezuelan Wives

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

CARACAS, Venezuela (INS) — This is a country which, by nature's laws and man's, has done away with the nagging wife.

* * *

It is totally a man's world, where even heaven doesn't protect the working girl unless she behaves herself like a veritable symbol of virtue. . . A male stronghold where the very fruits of the earth are designed to keep a fella from being entrapped, bored, or unduly burdened by womankind.

There is a local, home-grown tropic plant in this area called LA Planta del Mudo (The Plant of the Dumb), which is not only enticing to look at but also paralyzing to eat.

When Chris Columbus discovered this country, the mudo plant was only an insignificant part of the lush foliage; but after the Spaniards settled here and began to set up adobes, the picture changed.

* * *

Meals were a little hard to come by in those days and naturally, for lack of tortillas, the caballeros began to partake of the floribunda.

JUST THE GREATEST

Some were poisonous. Some tasty. And the mudo leaf—well, it was the greatest. It was discovered quickly that this green-and-yellow will cause a temporary loss of the powers of speech. It paralyzes the palate.

* * *

Wives can be, and frequently are, forcibly silenced for from 48 to 56 hours by this wholesome method (known as "natural silencio") and come out of the experience better, more docile mates.

* * *

OTHER METHODS

For the husbands of such stubborn senoras, the law has provided other ways and means of avoiding harassment.

* * *

A man in Venezuela can divorce his wife on almost any grounds, from incompatibility and adultery to simple distaste. There is no such thing as a double standard of behavior in these parts, and judges, being men, will always give a guy the fairest possible shake.

A woman, on the other hand, has virtually no chance of saying "I've had it"—and backing out of a marriage. Her husband may have a harem of other women, and she cannot sue for divorce.

Her only substantial claim against mankind is desertion, and many Venezuelan women are too proud to admit they have been discarded.

* * *

He may beat her every Friday, but she'll get nowhere in court. If he is caught in an adulterous situation, the missus still has nothing to say in this mixed-up male paradise.

For it is accepted here, by men, women and lawyers, that the soft air and tropic moon may do strange things to men . . . lovable old philanderers that they are.

TIME TO RETIRE

To women, a full moon should do nothing but remind her it's time to retire so she can get up early and feed her average (census statistics) of 6.5 kiddies.

* * *

It is difficult for the U.S. traveler to visualize how the Venezuelan housewife could put up with these inequities, not to mention the plant life.

The answer was given by a 25-year-old beauty who has been married eight years.

Fowl-Minded Thief Suspect

Baby Crane Believed Dead

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—If the case of the missing whooping crane remains unsolved, it won't be because of lack of help.

* * *

"We've been swamped by letters and telephone calls from all over the South by persons who claim they've seen the missing bird," said George A. Douglass, superintendent of New Orleans' Audubon Park, "but all reports have been erroneous."

It was at Audubon Park that some fowl-minded thief walked off, or flew off, with the rare whooping crane chick—the second of its kind ever hatched in captivity—shortly after its birth in May.

When Douglass says that someone may have flown off with the chick, he means just that. He and other ornothologists believe the chick was the victim of an owl.

"You see," the zoo director explained, "prowling owls are quite a problem at the park. They swoop down at night for choice tid-bits of squirrel and bird and one of them probably made a meal of our star offspring."

With the disappearance of the bird, the world's whooping crane population suffered a severe setback. Only 30 are known to be in existence, according to Douglass.

COVERED WITH FUZZ

However, the missing bird's brother—or sister—(Douglass says it's impossible to tell the sex of the species until one lays an egg) is doing very nicely. The first-born chick, now 20 inches tall and covered with brown fuzz, is the delight of his gangly-legged parents, Josephine and Crip. Jo and Crip have been a feature attraction at the park since they were brought to it three years ago with their wings riddled by hunters' bullets.

Although Douglass has resigned himself to the fact that the missing bird is dead he is delighted that so many people have taken an interest in it.

"We've gotten letters and phone calls from Texas, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi as well as Louisiana," he said, "with many people reporting seeing the bird in flight."

* * *

"But those spotted in the air just couldn't be our bird," he shrugged. "It would be a long time yet before it would be able to fly."

Boston Commuter Pays His Fare—in Stamps

The commuter, whose name was not disclosed, had only $1.10 to pay a $1.17 fare from Hudson to Boston.

He refused the offer of conductor J. J. Keeley of Worcester to pay the seven cents for him.

The commuter explained he had three postage stamps valued at nine cents. Keeley accepted them and returned two cents change to the commuter.

Consumers Lineman Eludes Death in Fall

MACKINAW CITY (AP) — A Consumers Power Co. lineman narrowly missed death when he fell across a 2,400-volt high tension power line yesterday.

* * *

* * *

Company officials said the charge would have been fatal if his left side had touched a line, sending the current through his heart.

Factory Workers Gain

NEW YORK—The nation's manufacturers employed 16,500,000 persons during 1955, a rise of two thirds over the 1939 total. Biggest gains were registered by the metals, machinery, and transportation-equipment industries.

Realizes Life Ambition; Runs Giant Dirt Digger

She went to E. A. Dougherty, whose company is building a playground near her home, and asked if she could lend a hand.

"It's really very easy if you just remember which lever to pull first," the tickled Mrs. Freeman said.

Importance of the Home Emphasized

Economists Have Annual Meeting in Washington

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Home Economists in Homemaking — a group that practices what it preaches — today heard a minister's wife speak on the importance of the home.

• • •

The HEIH group, part of the American Home Economics Assn. holding its 47th annual meeting in Washington, is made up to a large degree of professionally trained home economists who are currently full-time homemakers — on a private, not professional, level.

Mrs. J. Warren Hastings, wife of the minister of the National City Christian Church, told the group that "the home holds the key for sound growth."

She continued, "Home is the place where a child finds himself —where he comes to know who he is as a person."

• • •

Mrs. Hastings stressed the importance of affection to bind the family together and said the child

There are six pages in today's Women's Section learns to accept and like himself because his family accepts him. She said home is the place where each member should practice "unlimited liability for each other."

ANOTHER ADDRESS

Mrs. Elizabeth Walbert Crandall —a practicing homemaker as well as associate professor of home economics at the University of Rhode Island—also addressed the group.

• • •

"The perfectionist housekeeper," Mrs. Crandall said in a talk on home management, "is not necessarily a good manager. She may overtax her strength and antagonize her entire family by her desire for perfection. She is frequently a person who has lost sight of the forest for the trees.

"In home management today, the trend is toward rational and flexible standards rather than perfectionism."

The expert defined home management as "a 3-step mental process through which family resources are used to obtain family goals. The process is the same regardless of the resources involved or the goals sought.

"The three steps are: Planning, controlling the plan in action — whether it is carried out by oneself or by others — and evaluating the results preparatory to future planning."

OTHER MEETINGS

Other groups of home economists meeting this morning were the Elementary, Secondary and Adult Education Group which discussed various aspects of strengthening homemaking education in the school program; and the Home Economics in Business section which discussed ways in which business works with government in food, equipment and textiles.

• • •

A research group traveled out to the agriculture research center in Beltsville, Md., for a program of discussions and a tour of the research laboratory.

Your clothes will be subtly scented if you spray the walls of your closet with one of your favorite colognes or toilet waters. Use an atomizer or one of the aerosol-contained fragrances for this job, so that a fine mist will settle on your garments.

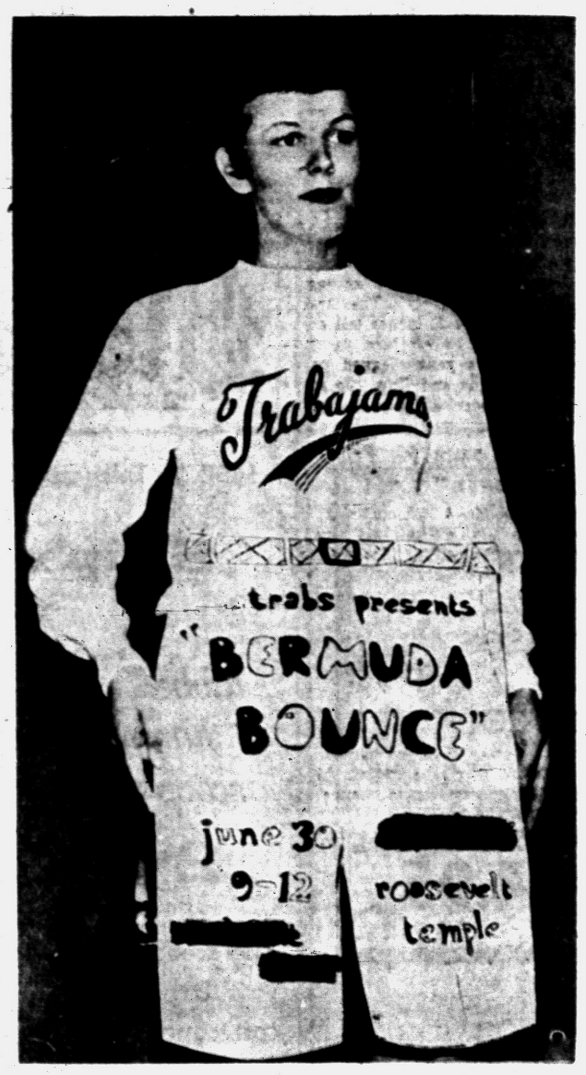

BETH CORNELL

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cornell of Henderson street are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Beth, to Karl Walker. He is the son of Mrs. Mary Bolin of Troy Township and Charles Walker of Hudson street. The couple plans an Aug. 25 wedding.

A local orchestra will play for the Bermuda Bounce Saturday at Roosevelt Temple. Muriel Upton of Third avenue (left) and Dolores Lutzkew of Willard street are holding posters advertising their first annual dance of this type. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Margaret Selvala of Judson street is showing the Pontiac Press photographer "just what they'll be wearing" at the Bermuda Bounce Saturday. Sponsored by the Trabajamas Club, the dance will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Plans Directed by Joan Richards as General Chairman

Shoe Wear Economy

It's real economy to have three pairs of shoes going at once if you possibly can. One pair at the shoe shop, one in the closet, one on you feet. This way, they all last longer and look better while they last.

A permanently-pleated rain coat in nylon is a handy thing to own. Packs well, takes up small space in a suitcase and is good for all summer.

Some Predict Rock 'n' Roll Death

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
International News Service

"Rock 'n' roll"—the torturous rhythm that makes dervishes of teenagers and despondents of their parents—has a most muddled origin.

Some musicians say, frankly, that it is a poor white trash version of a music form called "rhythm and blues."

"It is only logical to assume," said one classicist, "that it rolled out from under a rock."

Wherever it came from, its bawling, squawling beat has taken over the lion's share of most afternoon, and many evening, radio disk jockey shows.

* * *

Disk jockeys who three years ago refused to play it, because they considered the passioned rhythm a bad influence on youngsters, have now been forced to take it up.

THE PUBLIC RULES

In Atlanta, one reported: "The people let you know what they want to hear and if you don't play it, you're out. Oh, we can "push" certain types of music and help record sales along a bit. But we cannot censor music just because we don't like it.

* * *

It boils down to this, then: The teenage citizens of America, like their parents before them, want their own peculiar music to dance to and talk about.

If the rock 'n' roll beat is a bigger fad today than "The Big Apple" was in their parents' day, it's because these teenagers have more money to spend for records and dancing.

If you ask people throughout the country — people who allegedly "know" — you get a variety of answers as to what rock 'n' roll really is, where it came from, and how it started.

RHYTHM AND BLUES

"It's been going on for 50 years—maybe a hundred. Started down South. The kids who liked it down there used to call them 'cat songs.'"

Miller insists that when white musicians began to pick up the beat (a syncopated rhythm, in which the second and fourth beats are heavily stomped out) it took on a "ridiculous frenzy."

The words "rock and roll" have for decades appeared in Negro blues songs, and when white artists picked up the rhythm, it began to be referred to, in the record industry, as rock and roll stuff.

* * *

Then Allen Freed (a disk jockey from Ohio who came to New York several years ago) started a local show and titled it "Rock 'n' Roll." Its success was instantaneous and overwhelming.

POUNDED TO PUL P

* * *

They have pounded it to a pulp for three years now, and show no signs of claming down for a session with the Viennese waltz.

In Denver, they prefer to think the hillbilly influence is the strongest factory in the new craze. Ray Perkins, a popular local disk jockey, calls it "rockbilly."

* * *

Whatever its uncertain heritage, it's making a lot of people a bundl of money. As a recording company director told the music educators' national conference in St. Louis recently, it's like this:

"It will make tons of money for many people, and will last long enough to be a long-remembered fad in popular music. But it hasn't the substance to remain in the mainstream of jazz.

'IT'S SO BAD'

"Perhaps the most hopeful thing about rock 'n' roll is that it's so bad. It cannot endure indefinitely."

* * *

"Indefinitely" is too remote a term to the thousands who are fearful of its effects on today's children, and cry out for its sudden death.

In Alabama, a pro-segregation group put pickets outside a hall where a rock and roll revue was in progress — but minutes later, there appeared another set of pickets with hastily painted signs picketing the pickets.

* * *

Religious leaders in Boston have long urged censorship of RR, after a series of "incidents" in which high school and college students were injured by their companions who had worked up to what was referred to as "frenzy pitch" after an evening of dancing.

IMMORALITY CLIMBS

Judge John J. Connolly, head of Boston's Juvenile Court, says "the climb in immorality among youngsters is shocking. Innocent girls get into trouble when they go unsupervised to record hops. Older boys, excited wise guys, sell them a bill of goods, and what happens is shameful."

Young Folks Plan Visit to Resort

Should Mom, Dad Let Girl Take Trip Unchaperoned

By EMILY POST

The mother of a young girl writes as follows: "I wonder if you will be kind enough to help me with this problem: A group of young unmarried couples all in their early 20s is planning a motor trip to a resort for a weekend.

"My daughter and her boy friend have been invited to go along. They are all good friends and respectable young people. The girls will all stay together and the boys will group together.

"As there is no chaperon going with them, my husband and I feel this would be improper. However, perhaps we are being overstrict with her and we don't want to deprive her of going if it would be all right. I am appealing to you, Mrs. Post, to tell us whether it would be proper to let her go."

Answer: Since you say you know these young people to be everything they should be, I believe that they will all quite perfectly chaperon each other.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I use the word 'Greetings' in the salutation of many of my letters instead of the worn out 'Dear Sir,' 'Dear Madam,' etc.

"I recently wrote a letter to a very prominent person and started out with the word 'Greetings.' I have been criticized for this. I would very much like to know whether you approve, or disapprove of this salutation."

Answer: In my opinion, when writing to a very informal person or to someone you know well, "Greetings" is quite all right, but not to a person of importance, and certainly not when writing a formal letter.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When someone receives an invitation to a wedding reception and declines the invitation, is she obliged to send a wedding present?"

Answer: The invitation (of itself) carries no obligation to send a gift. The "obligation" is only to a relative or close friend whom you love.

Beauty Clinic

EARLY IN THE MORNING

How much time do you need to put on your make up in the morning?

Too much, I hear you say . . . here is my suggestion:

Keep everything you need in a box. If you have properly cleansed your face the night before all you need in the morning is cold water. After you have dried your face, you are ready for make up. If you wear a foundation, apply little dabs all over the face, then spread with the fingertips. Now, give your face a light going over with a tissue. This will even it up and remove surplus. Apply lipstick, with fingertips take a little lipstick from your lips and apply to cheeks. (This is not harmful.) Blend a little with fingertips, then use tissue to blend edges completely. Eye shadow may now be applied and a dab of powder on the nose. Never powder a wrinkle.

Here's Hints for Day or Night Hair Styles

Every good woman deserves two hair styles, says Lilly Dache, fashion and beauty authority.

As if women weren't having enough trouble caring for one head, Miss Dache suggests they pretend they have two. One head is for day and the other is for night, she says. No one hair style can be right for both.

Clothes are glamorous for evening wear, so the day hairdo will hardly flatter the elegant switch.

She likes down styles for day and up styles for night and says the basic requirement for night and day coiffures is hair that has grown a bit from the short lengths popular last year.

FROM 2 INCHES

The updo is soft, rather than severe, and has some face curls. It may be waved if it is long enough.

Daytime hairdos may be worn sleek, brushed straight and slightly turned under at the ends or set in soft waves and turned up.

DRESS-UP HAIR

Dress-up hair ornaments may include velvet bows, jewels and flowers, suggests Miss Dache.

She and Mr. Kenneth believe that for the best health and appearance of the hair it should be brushed often while lying across the chaise lounge or bed with head dangling as you brush for at least five minutes every morning and night.

It will be much easier to go from one to the other hairdo if hair is not worn in an elaborate style to begin with.

Silly Ideas May Prove to Be Best

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Our silly ideas make better sense, sometimes, than our sensible ones.

I learned that after interviewing many hundreds of people in their 30's and who hated their jobs and wanted desperately to change to other fields entirely.

When I would ask, "Why didn't you consider the other field when you were in college? Why did you ignore it and take the wrong one?" The answer was often, "Oh, I was afraid it would sound silly."

And so, because of a fear of sounding silly, these people had taken long and heart-breaking vocational detours.

* * *

I thought of that recently when I was reading an interesting issue of the Vassar College alumnae magazine.

The whole issue is devoted to vocational matters and has a good article by Jane T. Johnson, director of the college's Vocational Bureau.

IDEAS DISCUSSED

Miss Johnson says, among other things: "The student in need of help makes an appointment with the Vocational Bureau. Enough time is allowed for interviews so that the student will feel at ease and unhurried.

"If she wishes, she can spend an hour talking over all kinds of job ideas.

"We want her to feel that no question is silly, that she will get a sympathetic hearing and all the concrete assistance we can give."

If you are a parent, do try to take this same approach.

* * *

When Junior wants to talk over job possibilities, don't scoff at any weird idea, or silly hobby, he may indulge in.

The boy next door may be a serious math student, dignified and scholarly, while your Johnny does nothing but collect pocketsful of toads. But your Johnny may one day be a successful zoologist, of whom you'll be enormously proud.

DON'T BE HASTY

And if you are a young person trying to decide on a career, don't decide in advance that certain ideas are "silly" and others are sensible.

* * *

Make a list of all the things you honestly like to do and find interesting, regardless of whether they seem to make sense or not.

Then have a heart-to-heart with your high school or college adviser, with your parents, with business people in whom you have confidence.

Anything that you honestly love doing can be the clue to a successful career—but a so-called "sensible" choice that leaves you cold is going to be the most stupid thing you could do!

One Basic Color, Others to Blend, Is Style Secret

PARIS (INS) — One of the surest ways to have a practical and fashionable wardrobe is to choose one color and stick to it.

When picking your vacation wardrobe pick a basic color, and since it's for summer it need not be a neutral shade. You can choose blue, red, a bluish or orange shade, whichever suits you.

* * *

Once you've made up your mind, carry a color sample — a fabric swatch, gloves or a ribbon of your chosen color in your purse and use it for comparison every time you make a purchase.

This way you can buy accessories, and either blouse or skirt of a separate outfit, in the right color. Then, on vacation, you can switch around your wardrobe without clashing colors, and you'll always have matching accessories.

If you choose a bright color as the basic one for your vacation wardrobe, you will be able to wear both clothes and accessories in this shade with white. They'll also look smart with black or grey come fall.

The colors considered fashionable in Paris, and which can be worn with white in summer and black or grey in autumn are:

Look Clothes Over

A stitch in time saves potential hours on precious vacation days. Include in your luggage a small sewing kit; check your garments each night for missing buttons, ripped hems and other signs of vacationland attrition.

MRS. DWAYNE G. BUTLER

Dixie Sue Tharp and Dwayne G. Butler were married Saturday evening in a candlelight ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Tharp of Elm street. Dwayne is the son of the Raymond Butlers of Silverdale drive.

Dixie Sue Tharp Speaks Vows in Candlelight Rite

Married Saturday evening were Dixie Sue Tharp and Dwayne G. Butler. The couple was married by Elder Claude Cook in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

* * *

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tharp of Elm street, the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace and net over white satin with a chapel train. Her veil was fingertip length. She carried a white Bible with a cluster of white rosebuds and baby chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Donald E. Hall was her sister's matron of honor. She was gowned in white dotted Swiss over pink crystalette. She wore a matching picture hat.

* * *

Dwayne, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Butler of Silverside drive, asked his brother, Richard, to serve as best man. Ushers were Willis Swensen and Richard Dorris.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the candlelight ceremony. For receiving the guests Mrs. Tharp chose a beige linen sheath dress with beige and brown accessories and a corsage of rose and pink carnations.

* * *

Mrs. Butler selected a light blue sheath dress with white accessories. Her flowers were peach-colored roses and carnations.

When the newlyweds left on their honeymoon trip to northern Michigan, the new Mrs. Butler had changed to a light blue princess-style dress with white accessories. On their return they will make their home on Whittemore street.

Mrs. McVittie Says Grandma's Treats Are Easily Made

By JANET ODELL

New foods appear on the scene, new methods are suggested. But there are some things that Grandma did that are still good today. Take cookies, for instance. Mrs. Warren McVittie of Clarkston gives us a recipe for Grandma's Treats. Who could improve on that?

Mrs. McVittie is an avid gardener. Since warmer weather arrived, she has spent countless hours putting in plants. The McVittie home is on the lake and the whole family enjoys boating and swimming.

Mrs. McVittie belongs to the Fashion Your Figure Club, also to the Clarkston Eastern Star. She likes to sew and paint.

GRANDMA'S TREATS
By Mrs. Warren McVittie

1 cup chopped dates
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup water
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
3 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
pinch of salt
3 cups sifted flour

Combine dates, sugar and water in saucepan and cook over low heat until thick. Add nuts and let cool.

Cream shortening and brown sugar, add eggs. Sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Add vanilla. Divide dough in half and roll out into rectangles an inch thick.

Spread date filling on dough and roll up like a jelly roll. Chill overnight. Cut in ½-inch slices. Bake in a 375-degree oven for 8-10 minutes.

Deal Firmly With Aggressiveness

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Kay's aunt brought her a pair of pink, five-year-old ballet slippers. To Davy, Kay's little brother, she brought a red drum.

* * *

For a while Davy's drumming monopolized grownup attention. Finally, however, he went outside to march up and down. Then his father turned on the record player so his sister could dance in her new slippers.

With shining eyes, Kay ran about the living room, waving her arms and feeling herself as airily beautiful as ladies she'd seen dancing on TV.

But right in the middle of a little hop of ecstasy, Davy charged through the front door. He pushed past his sister banging his drum and yelling, "Listen to me! Rat-a-tat-tat! Hear my drum?"

* * *

His father said, "No drum now. Not till Sister's finished dancing" —but Davy didn't stop. He banged so much louder that Kay had to stop instead.

DAVY BANISHED

His father moved. With one arm he scooped up Davy; with the other, the drum and sticks. Bearing them all upstairs, he said again, "Until Sister has finished dancing, you can't play your drum down here."

But when the time came to play his drum, Davy was too tired from anger and tears to want to play it.

Controlling his jealous aggressiveness will be easier next time. Davy's resistance to control is mostly his conviction that we are afraid of him.

It's very like the kind our own appetite for cigarettes or calories puts up when we set out to control it. Initially, it makes us very uncomfortable.

* * *

Some parents, like people who can't stop smoking or eating too much, can't stand the first discomfort involved in controlling Davy. They allow him to go on bullying his sister, excusing their encouragement of aggressiveness with nonsense like "He's only 3."

Their faulty justice is the real problem.

Davy pushes Kay away from what he wants because he has been allowed to discover that pushing her works. She submits to the pushing because she's been allowed to discover that resisting him doesn't work.

Under these circumstances, what is required is their parents' clear-cut decision for the most impartial justice to them both—one that is made without fear of its consequences.

When Davy has experienced their better justice for a while, he will trust it more than his aggressiveness. When his sister is sure we think it's right to resist it, she will begin to resist it herself.

Gloria Jean Edler became the bride of Bill J. Rose Saturday evening. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edler of Muskegon, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rose of Euclid avenue.

MR. and MRS. BILL J. ROSE

Couple Will Make Home in Kalamazoo After Trip

Honeymooning in Northern Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Bill J. Rose.

* * *

The bride is the former Gloria Jean Edler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edler of Muskegon. Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rose of Euclid avenue.

The Rev. Hilding Bihl of Perry Park Baptist Church performed the 8 o'clock ceremony Saturday evening in Marimont Baptist Church in the presence of 150 guests.

As the bride approached the altar she was wearing a ballerina-length gown of imported Chantilly lace and nylon net. The fitted bodice was accented by a mandarin collar, and layers of net and lace in deep, full ruffles formed the skirt.

* * *

Her fingertip veil was secured by a Juliet cap of lace and satin. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

ATTEND BRIDE

Mavis Johnson attended the bride as maid of honor. Mrs. Zane Gayette, sister of the bridegroom, and Darlene Edler, sister of the bride, were the bride's other attendants.

Their gowns were of flocked nylon fashioned with full hooped skirts banded with crystalette and featuring a bow at the center hemline. The honor attendant's gown was maize and the other attendants wore blue.

* * *

WEARS NAVY BLUE

Mrs. Rose chose a dress of navy blue fashioned with a lace bodice. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of pink roses.

* * *

Latest for Men: Blues, Browns

Color highlights, especially in men's suits and sport jackets for spring and summer will be shades of blue and brown — gray-blues, slate blues, tans and beiges—also light grays and green tones.

The demand for lighter fabrics has been filled by cool, absorbent featherweight all - wool tropical worsted, which will be seen in the newly - popular stripe, check and glen plaid designs as well as in solid colors.

Glen plaid tropical worsteds, in a muted form at first, gradually becoming bolder as the trend is established, will probably take top honors as the number one patterned suit fabric for spring and summer.

Wives 'Adopt' Hubby's Role for Self Use

NEW YORK (INS)—Men's robes are getting brighter in color and slinkier in style—'cause that's how women like to wear them.

The days of the conservative maroon or dark blue robe are over, laments robe manufacturer Marvin Safir, since women decided that hubby's bathrobe was just the thing for them.

"We've had to go into colors like gold and pink," says Safir. "And we're putting buttons on. Women want buttons, in addition to the regular wrap-tie."

Safir says this "adoption" of men's robes by women has taken place only in the past year. Women always bought most of the men's robes made, but they now are wearing them, too.

"We discovered this," says Safir, "because all of a sudden small sizes began to sell out"—and all our statistics show men are getting bigger, not smaller."

The new robes for which the ladies can take credit include vivid Madras, gay plaids and such fashion colors as bamboo, light green and ivory. Safir says the trend extends even to terry robes —which have gone two-toned and candy-striped.

Foot Ailments Begin in Childhood

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We take our feet for granted but they play a large part in our comfort and happiness. Your physical comfort and your mental outlook can be drastically affected by the condition of your feet.

* * *

The human foot is a remarkable structure. Did you know that foot structure is not complete until the age of 18 and that practically all of the foot troubles grownups suffer from are due to neglect in younger years?

Bunions, corns and weak arches usually come from incorrectly fitted shoes and stockings and from poor posture in earlier years.

Foot defects increase rapidly from childhood to maturity. Thirty-five per cent of persons, age 3, have foot defects, 76 per cent at age 15, 80 per cent at age 20 and 90 per cent at age 50.

* * *

You readily can see how important a correct fit in shoes is, especially to the child or young person. The National Foot Health Council gives the following rules for correct fitting:

MEASURE BOTH FEET

1. Have both feet measured for length and width, with each foot bearing weight. Pull out the toe of the stocking and straighten the child's toes to insure that the measurement is taken at the longest toe.

2. The widest part of the foot should fit into the widest part of the shoe, called the ball, at both the little and large toe joints.

3. The length and width of his foot can be proved by having the child stand with full weight on his toes. The correct shoe length leaves a space of one-half to three-fourths of an inch between the end of the longest toe and the end of the shoe.

The correct width allows the leather to be drawn slightly together between the fingers. Shoes that fit correctly should not press or hurt when new, slip at the heels or pinch either toes or heels.

5. At short regular intervals growing feet should be re-measured.

* * *

When we consider that 1952 surveys show that 87 per cent of children in public schools were wearing outgrown shoes, we realize that this matter deserves serious investigation.

TO GET LEAFLET

If you would like my leaflet "Take Care of Your Feet," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 14 to Josephine Lowman in care of the Pontiac Press.

Shoes that fit correctly should not press or hurt when new, slip at the heels or pinch either toes or heels.

MR. and MRS. DAVID L. COBB

Ruth Ann Johnson and David Cobb were married Saturday evening. Ruth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam T. Johnson of Oliver street, and David's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Leon F. Cobb of Maplewood drive.

Brother-in-Law Officiates at Cobb-Johnson Nuptials

First Congregational Church was the setting Saturday evening for the marriage of Ruth Ann Johnson and David Lawrence Cobb.

* * *

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam T. Johnson of Oliver street and David is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Leon F. Cobb of Maplewood drive.

The Rev. John H. Peatling, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and pastor of St. John Episcopal Church in Saginaw, officiated at the ceremony.

The bridal gown of nylon over taffeta had a Sabrina neckline and embroidered medallions from shoulder to waist. The bouffant skirt featured medallions on the overskirt which swept into a chapel train.

* * *

Ballerina-length gowns with V-necklines and fitted bodices were worn by Mrs. John Gibbs and Mrs. Velmar Logan, bridal attendants. Their gowns were of white Schiffli embroidered nylon organdy over blush pink and blue taffeta, respectively. They carried cascade arrangements of carnations.

* * *

Edwin Anthony was best man. Groomsmen were Leon J. Cobb and Franklin D. Cobb, brothers of the bridegroom.

For the ceremony Mrs. Johnson wore a light blue lace dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A gown of rose beige lace was worn by Mrs. Cobb. Her accessories were white and she also wore a corsage of white carnations.

* * *

Following the reception held in the church parlors, the bride changed to a navy blue crepe dress with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

* * *

Government Aids Bride Preparing Stock in Linen

MADISON, Wis. (INS)—When it comes to assembling a linen wardrobe, brides can take a tip from a survey recently completed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Several thousand families of varied incomes were interviewed and all seemed to have the same kinds and the same numbers of linens. Oddly enough, even the size of the family had little effect on the total linen inventory in a household.

Besides linen actually in use, the homemaker stored away a dozen bath towels and wash cloths; three bedspreads; four blankets; comforters or quilts; four blanket-sheets; six sheets; seven sets of pillow cases and some dresser scarves.

In kitchen linens, homemakers had six aprons; twelve dish cloths; fourteen dish towels; ten hand towels and eight pot holders stored away in cabinets or closets. Six napkins for guest use and six table cloths also were stored.

Program Presented at Summer Theater

Eighteen short cuttings and plays appeared on the first program of the Cranbrook Summer Theater Friday morning and Monday evening in the Greek Theater.

Cuttings were taken from "Our Town," "What Every Woman Knows," "Four O'Clock," "Adding Machine," "Life with Father," "Number Two" and "Little Square Toes," among others.

Free performances of student productions will be given for the public in the Greek Theater on Monday evenings.

'Blackboard' Paint for Child's Room

A popular paint in children's rooms is chalkboard paint that can transform any surface into a blackboard.

* * *

The new coating takes chalk erasing, may be washed or scrubbed without harm to the finish. Surfaces must be clean and smooth before the paint is applied. The coating is available in green and black.

Coming Events

Welcome Rebekah Lodge, 246, will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in Malta Temple, 82 Perkins St.

Looking for a way to overcome that summer lethargy? The Press' new word game POT-O-GOLD is designed to perk you up — and give you a chance to win one of the weekly prizes which will be offered until Labor Day. It's fun. All you need is a pencil and a postcard. Everything else is below

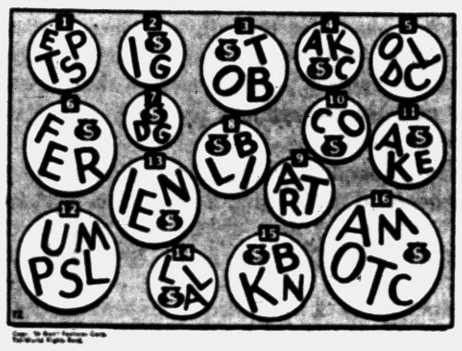

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conform to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

That's all there is to it. Good luck!

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Harris Gets 'Confidence' Vote

DETROIT (AP) — Bucky Harris had a vote of player confidence and an improved, though still shaky position with his boss today, but his Detroit Tigers still are without a victory in 10 games.

The best the bewildered Bengals could do last night was a 2-2 deadlock with last-place Washington in a contest called by rain in the fifth inning.

• • •

Team Captain Harvey Kuenn and veteran pitcher Steve Gromek went to bat for their 59-year-old pilot last night. Both said the players are "100 per cent behind Bucky" and added he is not to blame for the Tigers' recent failures.

In a radio interview before the game, both players blamed injuries for the tailspin that has jolted the club's first-division hopes and sent the Tigers plunging into sixth place.

• • •

Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr., the club's president, issued a statement in which he said he has no immediate plans to fire either the manager or the coaches.

Earlier, Briggs announced he was "fed up" and criticized what he called lack of spirit and hustle. He said he would "make a change right now" if the club were not up for sale.

Shortstop Kuenn emerged from a players' clubhouse meeting called to discuss the much-criticized Harris' position and said "we hope we can get going and win for him."

Gromek cited injuries to Kuenn and third baseman Ray Boone. "Nobody in the league can replace those fellows," he said.

• • •

Kuenn had just returned to the regular lineup after being sidelined since June 7 with an injured ankle. Boone has been out for several games and probably will not be back for several more. Ned Garver, counted upon as one of the club's pitching mainstays, goes back on the active list today. He has been out since the first week of the season with a sore arm.

• • •

At one time or another since spring, pitchers Billy Hoeft and Virgil Trucks, both starters, have been forced out with aching arms.

Briggs made it clear he still is "dissatisfied" with several things, including the manager. He also criticized the coaching. But he hedged when asked if his statement meant a confidence vote for Harris.

He first said it was not to be taken as such. Later he said "you could call it a vote of confidence."

SQUAT SHOT—Ben Hogan lines up a putt during play in the Canada Cup tournament played at Virginia Water, England. Hogan won the individual golf championship and then paired with Sam Snead to retain the Canada Cup trophy for the U. S. in a strong finish. Hogan shot a 68 for a 72-hole total of 277. Snead had 68 for a 290 total.

Gerald Corcoran, physical director, Memorial High, Plains, Pa., directed a sports festival that raised $265 for the Olympic Fund. He suggests: "Why not urge every school in our nation to conduct some type of sports benefit?

"Our Olympic team then would receive enough money to place our athletes on a par financially with teams of any other nation, including those who are openly subsidized. At the same time it would make our youth Olympic-minded as well as sports-minded."

Gold Digest, in an article, "Golf and Business Do Mix," states: "Some firms are conducting searches for good amateur (?) golfers who are also fine salesmen to add to their staffs."

Best test of whether a man is an amateur is his reaction to the challenge: "Leave your sticks at home—and see how much business you do."

It is estimated 90% of our headline amateur golfers, directly or indirectly, make money out of their low handicaps through insurance, real estate, law, public relations, banking, or allied businesses where the "pigeon" is romanced on the fairways.

Most of these players now profess to abhor even private club Calcuttas.

Current squabbles over "expense differentials," ranging from $40 to $50 a track meet and from $1 to $2 per football player per day, brings nothing but chuckles from good-natured Fred Bellars, Lyndhurst carpenter.

Bellars lived in Lyndhurst, N. J., in 1908 and competed in a meet at the 22d Reg't Armory. By the time the poorly supervised meet was finished, there was no way he could get home.

The last train for Lyndhurst had departed so Bellars stayed in a New York hotel.

For the meet he charged $2.50 for his expenses.

His actual outlay for the evening was $2.40.

Huge Golf Crowds Hail Hogan-Snead Twosome

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) —Almost 40,000 British golf fans at the Canada Cup tournament saw Ben Hogan turn his hand to nursing—and the man he nursed was the illustrious Sam Snead.

Hogan and Snead won the international 3-day 72-hole team competition yesterday from a field of 29 nations.

Hogan took the individual trophy.

• • •

"I'm delighted," the fabulous little Texan told the crowd at the presentation ceremony. "Not only because I've won this trophy but because I was able to get Snead back on his game again."

But that's just what Hogan did over three days—helped Snead back into the groove.

Snead, worried by a hand injury, shot 76 the first day, 73 the second, another 73 on the morning round of the final day and a brilliant 68 as the climax.

Hogan shot immaculate golf — 68-69-72-68—277. Hogan's precision golf brought the best out of Snead in the final payoff round.

The Hogan-Snead partnership finished with a two-man score of 567 for 72 holes—14 better than second-place South Africa.

Hogan had a five-stroke individual edge over Mexico's Roberto de Vicenzo.

Most of the golfers from 28 countries set off north for Hoylake and the British Open starting Monday, but Hogan and Snead were missing.

• • •

Hogan did not enter the Open. "This is my last competitive round of golf in Britain," he said.

Snead originally intended to play but he said he would not compete partly because his form was not good enough and partly because of his hand injury.

The Canada Cup competition next year probably will be played in Australia.

Thus far it has been staged in Toronto, Montreal, Washington, D.C., and London.

Wiffi Moves Up in British Meet

St. Clair River Golfer Defeats Briton in 4th Round of Tourney

SUNNINGDALE, England (AP) — Polly Riley, a scrappy, pint-sized veteran from Fort Worth, Texas, upset former American champion Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., one-up, in a third round match in the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship today.

Miss Romack, American champion in 1954 and runner-up to Mrs. Jessie Valentine of Scotland in last year's British Championship, had been playing the best golf of the tournament until she ran into her U. S. Curtis Cup teammate today.

Miss Riley joined stocky Margaret (Wiffi) Smith of St. Clair, Mich., a 7 and 6 winner over Britain's Mavis Glidewell, in the fourth round of the tournament.

Miss Smith, a husky, who works as a golf club secretary in Michigan, was the first of seven American girls to play in the 3rd round over the 6,002 yard Sunningdale course.

The morning's play got under way in ideal golfing weather, with a bright sun shining and only a slight breeze.

Miss Smith shot the front nine of Sunningdale's par 36-36 — 72 course in par figures in spite of a double bogey six at the fifth. That was the only hole she lost as she reached the turn five up, won the 10th and 11th holes and closed out the match by halving the 12th.

Houston Takes Team Title In NCAA Golf Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The luck of the draw tossed a lot of highly touted talent into the upper half of the top bracket as 64 students launched man-to-man combat today for the 59th National Intercollegiate Golf Championship.

• • •

There was a bit of unfinished business before actual match play got under way as 12 aspirants who tied at 154 in the 36-hole qualifier being ordered out early to stage a sudden-death playoff for 11 berths.

Crowded in the upper 16 were this year's medalist and 1955 semi-finalist, the defending champion and his 1955 victim. That set the stage for some friendly vengeance, for only one of the top trio can get as far as the semi-finals.

The kid everyone has an eye on is 20-year-old Rex Baxter of Houston University, who cracked Ohio State's 7,120-yard par-72 course wide open with a 67 yesterday to walk away with the qualifying medal. He shot seven birdies in tying the competitive course record, and had a pair of bogies.

Baxter drew Jake Howard, a 152 shooter, as his opening foe, but just below him in the pairings, ready to do battle if both win the first two rounds, is Joe Campbell of Purdue, the talented defending champion.

• • •

Baxter's birdie on the final hole with a 40-foot putt gave the team championship to Houston with a 601 total, a stroke ahead of Purdue and North Texas State. Oklahoma A&M had 605, Florida State 606, Notre Dame 607, Louisiana State's defending champions were well down the list with 613.

Game Called at 2-2

Tigers-Nats Tie Then Protest

DETROIT (AP) — A lot of arguments and a lot of rain, and the only losers were the umpires—that's the story of last night's 2-2 tie between the Detroit Tigers and the Washington Senators.

The umpires were still being criticized long after they called an end to the contest with Detroit still batting in the 4th inning.

There were as many arguments as runs, starting in the first inning and winding up only when play was halted.

Detroit scored a disputed run in the first inning after what appeared to be a spectacular catch against the left field screen by Nat outfielder Ernie Oravetz. Play was delayed 15 or 20 minutes while managers Charlie Dressen of the Senators and Bucky Harris of the Tigers, along with the coaches and players of both teams, battled it out with the umpires.

Harvey Kuenn led off with a single. Jack Phillips hit a line drive and Oravetz leaped against the screen and apparently snared the ball in the webbing of his glove. But third base umpire John Rice ruled that the ball bounced off the screen into his glove.

• • •

Phillips, thinking the ball had been caught, started for the Tiger dugout until notified of Rice's decision. Then he hurried back to first base as the argument began. While it was going on, Kuenn trotted around to third base. Although Phillips was credited with a base hit, he was declared out when the umpire at first, Bill McKinley, held that the putout had been made while Phillips was away from the base.

The Senators argued that time had been called and that Kuenn should not have been allowed the extra bases. The Tigers disputed McKinley's call on Phillips, and Rice's decision on the line drive.

Both managers announced they were continuing the game under protest.

After the first argument was over, Al Kaline singled Kuenn home from third.

The Nats got two runs in the third off starter Paul Foytack on two singles, a sacrifice and another single.

• • •

The rains came and stopped everything. It was declared a legal game and the statistics will count. But the contest will be replayed from the start at a later date.

Today's windup of the 3-game series is an afternoon affair, with Detroit's Frank Lary, loser of eight games in 12 decisions, opposing southpaw Bob Wiesler. The former Yankee hurler has a 2-4 record.

Elks Win, 2-1 on Wild Pitch

Grill Team Is Loser in City Baseball Loop Class A Game

A wild pitch by Bob Overcashier in the last half of the 6th inning handed Elks No. 723 a 2-1 decision over Griff's Grill in a Class A City League baseball game Tuesday night at Wisner Field.

With one man out in the 6th, Clay Williams reached 1st on 2nd baseman Dave Zittel's error. Pinch batter Ernest Nelson singled and R. D. Winfield was hit with a pitched ball to load the sacks.

Then Overcashier uncorked a wild pitch and Williams romped home with the winning run. Bob Johnson relieved Overcashier at this point and quelled the uprising.

Griff's knotted the count in the 3rd stanza on shortstop Lee Beavers' bobble, Zittel's single and a one-base knock by Ted Wharry, which scored Al Hayward.

Huey Thomas hurled six innings for the Elks and allowed four hits to receive credit for the win. Bill McGuire worked on the hill in the 7th.

Arm Troubles

Schoendienst Looks Bad as Benchwarmer

NEW YORK (AP) — Red Schoendienst was sitting in the clubhouse after the New York Giants' 3-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last night when Chub Feeney, the club's vice president, came over to ask him how his arm felt.

Feeney, who engineered the big trade with the Cardinals that brought Schoendienst to the Giants two weeks ago, nodded understandingly and said, half-kiddingly and half-seriously:

"I hope you can get in there real soon. You're making me look bad by not playing."

• • •

"Nobody wants to play any worse than I do," Schoendienst replied. "If anybody is on the spot, it's me."

After Feeney had departed, Schoendienst was asked to explain what he meant by being "on the spot." Was it because Alvin Dark, for whom he was traded, was going like a house afire for St. Louis while his sore arm made him useless to the Giants?

• • •

"No," said Red, "I haven't even thought about the trade. It makes no difference to me what Dark does for St. Louis. And I don't feel badly about being traded. It doesn't matter to me where I play. It's just that I want to play so badly, it hurts."

• • •

Had he any idea when he would be able to play?

"None whatsoever," he said shaking his head sadly. "I suppose you know what's wrong. The doctors found out I had a calcium deposit in my right shoulder. They gave me some kind of an injection . . . it's supposed to dissolve the calcium. In the meantime they advised me not to throw a ball or swing a bat for at least six days. I'm to report to them again tomorrow for another injection and for X-rays."

Since coming to the Giants, Red has been confined almost exclusively to pinch hit roles. Now he cannot do even that.

Babe Zaharias Has Birthday Party Surprise

GALVSTON, Tex. (AP) — Forty-two lighted candles atop a five-layer cake yesterday radiated the tribute of the nation and the sports world to Babe Didrikson Zaharias at a birthday party the famous woman athlete declared to be "the finest I've ever had or hope to have."

The party, staged on the sixth floor lounge of the University of Texas John Sealy Hospital where the Babe has waged her long battle against cancer, was a complete surprise to her.

Frail and 40 pounds lighter, the Babe, dressed in light blue pajamas and robe, was ushered into the lounge where 50 friends started singing "happy birthday."

New Chief Boss

Wilson Named to PHS Track Position

By H. GUY MOATS

Conditioned by three years of work as assistant to PHS track coach Wally Schloerke, recently resigned, Dean Wilson today became the new Chief thinclad boss.

Wilson will have for his partner in handling the 1957 spring track squad, the veteran mentor, Ray Lowry.

Wilson and Lowry, with Schloerke, guided the Chiefs to their first state championships in 1955 and 1956. They have worked together for the last three years and possess great respect and admiration for one another.

LOWRY

WILSON

Dean came to Pontiac from a three-year tenure at Traverse City. While in the northern Michigan city he served as track coach, two years as head man. He produced a conference winner in 1953.

Wilson was a varsity football, golf and track man at Western Michigan College from which he graduated. All three years here Wilson has also worked as an assistant football coach. He will continue as backfield coach with head grid mentor Ed Graybiel.

"I'm very happy over the announcement," said Wilson, when informed of his appointment. "Particularly so with retention of Ray," he added.

Appointment of a cross-country coach, which post Schloerke also held prior to his retirement from coaching duties, has not been made.

Lowry has been in the Pontiac school system for 14 years. He had four years at Keego Harbor, two at Oscoda prior to coming here, a total of some 20 years of active association with schoolboy athletics.

Announcement of the appointments was made today by Athletic Director Tom Dodson, who added a word of praise for both Wilson and Lowry.

Argue Over Draws

Rhubarb at Rowing Trials

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—A heated controversy over the draw for the heavyweight eight-oar crews, marked by charges of "injustice" and "inequality," erupted today on the eve of the U.S. Olympic Rowing Trials.

The veteran Navy coach, Rusty Callow, and Harrison (storck) Sanford of Cornell were the most outspoken in their criticism of the draw which placed Cornell, Navy, Admirals, Washington and Stanford against each other in the opening heat.

Yale and Wisconsin, two of the other strong contenders, were arrayed in the second heat with a patched-up crew from the Detroit Boat Club which admittedly is planning only a "token race."

There are seven heavies in all bidding for the trip to Australia. The No. 1 and No. 2 finishers in each heat qualify for the semi-finals, with the losers forced to row in Friday morning repechage —or second chance—test. The trials tomorrow, Friday and Saturday on Lake Onondaga.

"This is the rankest injustice I've seen in 30 years of rowing," said the white-haired Callow, who is coaching the comeback Navy crew which won the eight-oar championship at Helsinki in 1952.

"We paid $100 entry fee and intend to go ahead with the race," said the Detroit coach, Walter Hoover Sr. "It's true our eight is made up of men competing in the other events-the single sculls, doubles and fours. But we believe we can do a good job."

Yale's coach, Jim Rathschmidt, said he felt the fuss was much ado about nothing.

Bada's 64 an Also-Ran

Paul Bada had a personal scorecard of 64, five under par, in Saturday's best-ball golf tournament, yet he and his partner, Stan Savage, could do no better than finish 2nd, one stroke shy of the 62 posted by Bill Pembroke and Jim Pettiford.

Latins Steal Net Show in NCAA Meet

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Jose Agueros, Brazil's flashy young tennis star, faces a Mexican entry today in his first real test of the National Collegiate Tennis championships at Kalamazoo College.

Agueros, defending NCAA champion representing Tulane, is paired against Joaquin Reyes, University of Southern California student from Mexico City, in the top match of the third round singles competition.

In second round play yesterday the South American stylist put on an impressive display of the form that won him the 1955 crown as he trounced the University of Detroit's Sanford Kaplan, 6-0, 6-0.

Second-seeded Alex Olmedo of the defending champion USC team meets Les Dodson of Kalamazoo College in another top third round match. Olmedo whipped Dave Brogan of Michigan State, 6-2, 6-1, yesterday while Dodson was disposing of Johnny Lawhon of the University of Houston, 6-3, 6-1.

Third-seeded Mike Franks of UCLA, who whipped David Snyder of Texas, 6-3, 6-2, faces Barry Walraven of Oklahoma, the Big Seven conference champion.

USC's Francisco Contreras, the No. 4 seed, overpowered George Stepanovic of Michigan State, 6-2, 6-1, and is paired with John Cranston of UCLA.

Dodson and Dick Potter of the University of Michigan were the only Michigan entries to survive the second round. Potter, lone Big Ten survivor, defeated Al Kuhn of Northwestern, 6-2, 7-5.

Other Michigan results:

John Cranston, UCLA, defeated Dean Pinchoff, Kalamazoo 6-3, 6-4; Walraven defeated Mike Deal, Kalamazoo, 6-1, 6-2.

Said Richards, "It's hard to believe, but this is the 1st time I can recall that everything went off perfectly."

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)— All the top men and four of eight women seeds battled out second-round matches in a star-packed competition at Wimbledon's ivy-clad courts today.

Taking a rest will be reigning queen Louise Brough, perky Mrs. Beverly Fleitz from Long Beach, Calif., and Britain's Angela Buxton and Shirley Bloomer. They all drew first-round byes and played their second-round matches yesterday, advancing without incident.

In the men's singles, six of the seven remaining seeds — Jaroslav Drobny fell to young Indian Ramanath Krishnan in a first-day upset—look like they have easy passages into the last 32.

Only doubtful one is young Ham Richardson, Westfield, N.J., sixth seed whose 2½-hour marathon with Australia's Jack Arkinstall yesterday was cut short by failing light. Richardson led, 2 sets to 1, and was trailing 2-4 in the fourth set.

• • •

Hold Down Five Positions

Redlegs Lead All-Star Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—The free-swinging Cincinnati Redlegs moved in to take over the lead at five positions today in the voting to pick the National League team for the July 10 All-Star game, replacing such solid favorites of past classics as Red Schoendienst, Roy Campanella, Ernie Banks and Duke Snider.

• • •

The latest vote count of fan ballots by the office of Commissioner Ford Frick also put Redlegs in the runner-up spot at the other three positions to be decided by the grandstand managers.

Cincinnati's Johnny Temple took over at second base, edging ahead of Schoendienst, now with the New York Giants, by some 6,500 votes as the commissioner's office force hurried to complete the overall count by week's end.

Roy McMillan now leads at shortstop, topping Chicago's Banks by about 10,000 ballots in the Cincinnati surge while rookie Frank Robinson replaced the St. Louis Cardinals' Rip Repulski as the favorite left-field choice. Ed Bailey scrambled into a near 10,000-vote lead over Campanella, Brooklyn's stand-out catcher, and three-time most valuable player in the NL.

• • •

At the other three NL positions, Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski, Ray Jablonski and Wally Post apparently still are within striking distance.

Boston's Mickey Vernon retained his lead over Cleveland's Vic Wertz for first, but by less than 2,500 votes. Baltimore's George Kell held the lead at third base, but by only a little more than 2,500 over Detroit's Ray Boone.

Casey's Hit Nips Mets

Isaac Jones slammed a solo home run as the Pontiac Boys Club downed the Auburn Heights Boys Club, 9-5, in another 'E' contest.

In Class F play, Tom Mayes pitched a five-inning no-hitter as Boys Club No. 1 shut out Don Nicholie, 13-0; Dick Perez hurled a two-hitter as Boys Club No. 2 blanked North Side Kiwanis, 4-0, Arnold Drugs defeated Osmun's, 7-3, and Boys Club No. 3 trimmed Tel-Huron, 6-3.

The Auburn Heights Boys Club administered an 8-2 setback to the Indians and the Tigers outslugged the Senators, 14-10, in Knothole division games.

Ottawa Grid Club Signs Evan Slonac

Slonac, both a defense and offense man, played briefly with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Western Interprovincial Football League in 1954. But a draft call to the U. S. Army ended that. His service term is up this year.

Signing of the 25-year-old, five-foot-eleven back brings to 24 the number of imports the Riders have dug up.

Academy Builds Stadium

WASHINGTON (INS)—Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles has approved plans for construction of a football stadium to seat 50,000 at the new Air Academy north of Colorado Springs.

The Air Force said the cost of the athletic plant cannot yet be estimated because most of the specifications have not been drawn up.

Detroit Golfer Locked in Tie

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP) — Joe Sommers, of Detroit, was locked in a three-way tie for third today in the 72-hole Union Print Craft International Golf Assn. tournament.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Outside Swing.

DIAGNOSIS: High Riding Shoulder.

TREATMENT: So you've got that old ailment, the slice, and you want the remedy for it. Here's the prescription which I'm sure will make you well: Don't let your right arm get away from your side.

This is how: As you start the downswing with a pull-down of the left arm drop your right elbow directly downward into your side, against the hip. Result: Your right shoulder drops into position so that as sketch shows, it will wind up under your chin as the arms extend fully into a reaching, powerful follow-through.

As you pull down with the left arm be relaxed so that the right side will freely follow the pull-down lead and move right on into the shot to be completely turned in the follow-through. IMPORTANT: Don't over-reach. In addressing the ball with the wooden clubs, the arms should hang almost straight down, just a little outward from the legs. And flex the knees to get a relaxed feeling.

WDGA Leaders Remain in Knot

There was no change today in leadership of the Women's District Golf Assn. tournament.

Mrs. Susie LeClair and Betty Courtright Wilson of Ann Arbor still held top spot after yesterday's play at Knollwood Country Club. Each fired an 83, for a 167 total after the 2nd round.

Sally yesterday moved into the lead of the top flight briefly, after taking a fine 38 on the front nine. She slipped back, however, following a 45 on the home nine.

Elorde Adds Coast Fighter to KO List

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Gabriel (Flash) Elorde, 130, of San Francisco and Manila, continued his campaign for another shot at the featherweight title of Sandy Saddler when he knocked out Cecil Schoonmaker, 125½, of Los Angeles, in 27 seconds of the 9th round Tuesday night. Elorde had Schoonmaker down for two counts of seven in the seventh round.

Kelly Makes Scull Bid for Medal Like Father

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Kelly Jr. is to make a final try this year to win the Olympic sculling gold medal like his father did 36 years ago.

"This is it," said the handsome, 29-year-old brother of movie queen Grace Kelly today as he warmed up on Onondaga Lake for the U.S. Olympic Trials beginning here Thursday. "If I don't make it this year it will be never.

• • •

"You've got to work at it full time these days if you want to beat fellows like Jurij Tjukalov of Russia (the 1952 Olympic champion) and Kocerka of Poland. I think Kocerka is the man to beat this year from what I hear. Then Australia has a new youngster who beat veteran Mervyn Wood and New Zealand has a fine sculler. I can't put full time on sports and I'm going to give up single sculling after this year," Kelly added.

• • •

Jack has won seven National single sculls titles, the diamond sculls in England twice, and the Pan-American crown in Mexico in both 1948 and 1952.

His father, John B. Kelly Sr., captured the Olympic singles sculls championship in 1920 and teamed with Paul Costello to annex the double sculls that same year and in 1924. The elder Kelly never had a crack at the diamond sculls because the rules then permitted only "gentlemen" and barred anyone who worked with his hands. Kelly Sr. was a bricklayer then. Today he is the head of a large construction firm and president of the Atlantic City race track.

• • •

Although his father is a millionaire, young Kelly, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, worked as a bricklayer for three years to earn his card.

"I'm proud of it," said the supple 6-footer. "I finished laying bricks about a year and a half ago. Now I'm working on estimates and contracts."

Baptist Nine Takes Verdict

Emmanuel Baptist survived late rallies by Gidley Electric to hang up a 3-2 verdict and rain caused Drayton Drug to waste a nine-run spree in last night's Waterford League softball action at Drayton Plaains.

The Baptist team scored single runs in the 1st, 2nd and 3rd innings, then eked out a narrow victory behind the four-hit pitching of Harlan (Fat) Keith.

Although Morgan made two hits for the winners, it was singles by Holman, Collins and Ray Keith that accounted for the scoring. Singles by Dick Goyette in the 5th and 7th stanzas produced both Gidley runs.

Drayton Drug sent 11 batters to the plate, scored nine runs and Thrifty Drug retired only one man when their game was stopped by rain in the 1st inning.

This season 13 major league clubs will telecast about 860 games and the cost will be about $26 million.

Fast Field Looms for State Open Test

By H. GUY MOATS

Indianwood Country Club, one of the area's top golfing tests, despite its wide, rolling fairways, today was all set for the start of the 1956 Michigan Open Championship on Friday.

"The course has not been changed a bit for this event," said professional Mike Dietz, who won the open on this layout back in 1952, with a 280 count. "But, because of the longer grass, it is going to play long. It'll be a real test. The rough will be tough, and penalize those who stray."

Starting with a pro-amateur event Thursday, with some 25 invited professionals teaming with club amateurs, the tourney will run four days. Actual medal play, however, does not get under way until Friday morning. Finals are Sunday when 36 holes of medal play will decide the title, now held by Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills. Wally won the 1955 Open at Washtenaw CC, at Ypsilanti. He will be back to defend his crown.

Friday and Saturday's rounds will be over 18 holes.

The field will be the usual strong combination of the state's top amateurs, and its leading pros. They include Glenn Johnson, 1955 state amateur champion, Ex-Tiger Roy Cullenbine, State Publinx king Mike Andonian of Pontiac. Among the pros, besides Burkemo, are Chick Harbert (former State Open titlist) Eldon Briggs, Max Evans, Horton Smith, Dietz, Pete Cooper, the veteran Al Watrous, former Indianwood pro Bob Waara, Gene Bone and Larry Pintuik, former PHS stars. Warren Orlick and Tommy Shannon, plus many others.

Prizes totaling $5,000 in value are offered.

Rain Shortens Softball Play

Evening thundershowers abbreviated Tuesday's City Softball League program, but three of four scheduled games at Beaudette and North Side parks officially went into the record book.

The North Side Merchants were outhit, 11 to 7, but still trounced Franklin Products, 11-3, in the opener at Beaudette. Catcher John Schwartz banged out three hits for the Merchants and Floyd Mattoon made a like number for the losers.

The Michigan Bell girls held a 5-1 lead over Gingellville when their game was halted by showers in the 2nd inning.

Mrs. Looney Sets Pace

After a week's idleness, because of last week's rains, members of the Silver Lake Gold club's women's league returned to action yesterday. Low gross of 51 was turned in by Mrs. Elbert Looney. Mrs. William R. Merritt had low net of 38, and Mrs. Phil Dorman won the blind hole (No. 5) a par-3, with a 5.

Roberts Snaps Braves' Streak; Yanks Hold Lead With KC Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who else but Robin Roberts would be the pitcher to bring Milwaukee out of the clouds?

The big righthander, practically carrying the Philadelphia Phillies all by himself for six years, may no longer be the best in the National League, but "he's among 'em."

Robin proved it again last night, winning his third straight after a four-game losing streak by hanging up the Braves 4-2 on a five-hitter and snipping their winning streak at 11 games. The loss also trimmed Milwaukee's first-place lead to 1½ games.

How good a job did Robin do? Well he's the first pitcher to go the distance against Milwaukee in 14 games. And Fred Haney, who hadn't lost since taking over as Milwaukee manager 11 days ago, thought so much of the performance he walked out to the mound and shook Roberts' hand after the final out.

• • •

In the American League, first-place New York retained its 1½-game lead with an 8-4 decision over Kansas City while runner-up Chicago made it nine in a row with Jack Harshman's three-hitter beating Boston 4-1. Third-place Cleveland ran its streak to seven games, the Tribe's best winning string since 1954, in a comeback 4-3 victory over Baltimore. Rain halted Washington at Detroit at 2-all tie in the fifth inning.

• • •

Roberts, squaring his record at 8-8, gave up a first-inning hit, then retired 17 in a row before the Braves rallied to tie it 2-all in the seventh. The Phils, reclaiming sixth place from the Cubs, came right back with two in the eighth off loser Ray Crone.

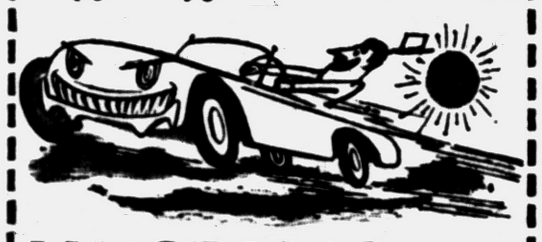

• • •

Yogi Berra, Billy Martin and Joe Collins homered for the Yankees as Whitey Ford, trailing 3-1 after two innings, stuck on to win his ninth. Mickey Mantle had one hit in five trips against loser Tom Gormaa and Jack Crimian—and was 1-for-3 vs. the Lou Boudreau shift.

Mayfly Time Best for Trout Fishing

By JACK PATTERSON

A weekend of experimenting did nothing to shake a long held belief that the Adams is about as good all-round brook trout fly as one might ask for. Although brook trout aren't particularly selective as a rule, there are times when they get a bit choosy and those are the moments when the Adams does the business. Perhaps it's because this fly resembles the mosquito—an insect with which the fish—and the June angler—are quite familiar.

PATTERSON

* * *

Big Mayfly hatches are occurring two or three times a week in the north country. Major haches of "duns", the sub-imago form of Mayflies, and consequent fall of "spinners", the imago form which has molted and returned to the stream to mate and die—often the same day of hatching—traditionally offer the season's best trout fishing. While various clans of Mayflies hatch throughout the spring and summer, now is the time of greatest activity.

For some reason or other Michigan's big Mayfly hatches and fall are commonly mis-labeled "caddis hatches." Now the caddis fly is a very respectable fly, noctural in habit, mothlike in shape, most commonly gray and prone to gather around lights by the hundreds.

As a matter of fact, the first wet fly was probably tied to represent the female caddis, which returns to the stream and swims under water to deposit her eggs.

* * *

The larva from which the caddis fly springs is unusual in that it builds itself a sub-aquean home of bits of twigs, grains of sand and whatnot, which it patiently glues together and transports around with it. Altogether quite a remarkable worm. But it ain't no Mayfly and Mayflies are responsible for the best in trout fishing.

* * *

Many fishermen think that something special is called for in the way of a fly when fishing a Mayfly hatch. Many weird "exact imitations" have been contrived of various materials and generally proved worthless.

Actually, most traditional fly patterns are tied to represent Mayflies of one sort or another. For example, the other evening below Five Channels Dam we ran into a huge fall of June drake spinners. A north wind kept them from returning to the stream, but that's beside the point.

* * *

What is to the point is that the June drake, a very common Mayfly at this time of the year, is, in the spinner form, the living model for that classic fly the light Cahill. And so it goes throughout most of the traditional dry fly patterns.

* * *

Actually, in matching any given hatch, or fall of spinners, something generally resembling the natural in size and color (light or dark) usually is plenty good enough. Fish are anything but selective when gorging on Mayflies. Something to remember: the later hatching Mayflies from July on tend to be lighter in color, with the well known yellow drake as an example.

SHARES LEAD—These Oakland County fishermen are going to make a hot race of the bass division of The Pontiac Press "big fish derby." On June 16, opening day of the season, Varese Bisogni of Sylvan Village creeled a 5-pound-4-ouncer to take the early lead. It didn't hold it alone for long. Then came William Bergemann, 471 Riverview, Drayton Plains, with the fish he displays above. It is an unusual bass for this area, a "redeye" smallmouth that was an almost exact replica of Bisogni's largemouth entry. They share the contest lead. Dee Inman, 33 Utica road, Pontiac, was fishing with Bergemann, on Woodruff Lake, off M59. It was their only fish, and Bergemann's biggest bass.

Gives Anglers Rough Battle

The biggest bass he ever caught gave not only the lucky angler, but his fishing pal, a really rough time the other night, on Loon Lake.

Paul Lehigh, 4437 Seeden, Drayton Plains and Edward Johnson, of Ypsilanti, were fishing from a boat, when a largemouth bass hit Lehigh's nightcrawler rig. A 10-minute scrap ensued with the bass making it rough for the fishermen. The pair finally combined (with net and rod) to get the fish in the boat.

It was a 21-inch-long specimen, six inches deep, from back to belly. It weighed 4½ pounds.

Orioles Take Over in Boys' Club Play

In yesterday's Federal Savings Midget baseball League action at Boy's Club, Orioles moved into top spot by a 4-0 win over Tigers, and Indians took the Senators by a 7-5 decision.

Gray Green hurled a two-hitter for the win and added a double and two singles to help his cause. Steve Sheffer got both Tiger hits.

After trailing by 5-0 count, the Senators tied it up with a 5-run, 4-hit rally. But Indians got two runs in the extra frame. Dave Tinkis fanned 13 in a losing effort.

In other games, first of the week White Sox beat Red Sox 7-5 and Athletics took a 8-4 win from Yankees, with a 7-run 1st inning blast.

Solunar Tables

Schedule of solunar tables, prepared by John Alden Knight, especially for this area, is designed to aid in finding the best times for fishing, when good sport may be expected. Major periods run from one to one and a half hours, while minor periods are of lesser duration.

Hungry Walleye Puts Up Fight on Light Tackle

A hungry—or angry—walleyed pike gave Jessie Keel, 2880 North St. Clair, Pontiac, a busy five minutes the other night.

Fishing on Cass Lake, Keel and his wife were using surface plugs with light tackle, when Jessie hooked the big walleye, which began to "jump all over the place," according to Keel.

"That's the first walleye I ever saw in Cass Lake," said Keel, "I didn't know they grew so big." His fish was 21½ inches long and weighed a little more than 3½ pounds.

OVERSIZE BASS—Frank Machado, New Bedford Mass. school teacher, weighs in a 63-pound striped bass he caught in the Cape Cod Canal at Buzzards Bay, Mass. It is believed to be one of the biggest stripers ever taken in the canal. It took a half hour to land the fish in the canal tide rips.

Battles Striper Half Hour

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. (INS)—The largest striped bass ever taken from Cape Cod Canada — a 63-pound, four-ounce beauty, was the prize of Frank Machado of New Bedford.

"After battling that bass for 30 minutes, I feel like an accordion," grinned Machado, who teaches accordion playing for a vocation.

The history-making striper was 53½ inches in length and had a girth of 29 inches.

Traverse City Park Ready for Visitors

LANSING (AP)—State park visitors in Western Michigan can count on a stop at Traverse City State Park any time throughout the summer, the state conservation department said today.

Previously, it was reported that the park would have to close at times because of highway construction work on U.S. 31.

Browns Sign 3 Rookies

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns today announced the signing of three college stars to trial 1956 football contracts.

The players, Billy Kinard of Mississippi, Larry Ross of Denver, and Jack Hecker of Bowling Green, all were high draft choices at last winter's drawing. They bring to 12 the number of players from the 1956 draft list who have been signed for trials.

UP Deer, Grouse Show Increase

Survey Reveals Fifty Per Cent for Birds; Double for Deer

Evidence is increasing that numbers of deer and ruffed grouse in the Upper Peninsula are higher than a year ago.

State conservation department has reported that a mail carrier survey indicated that the population of ruffed grouse had gone up about 50 per cent, and that the deer population had doubled.

However, since visibility is a factor in the carrier surveys and was improved this spring by retarded growth of foliage, the increases might not be as large as they appeared, the department said.

State Offers Free Book on Michigan Foxes

LANSING — "The Red Foxes of Michigan," a new 48-page conservation department publication is off the press and available free to the public.

The book is the result of a Pittman-Robertson project that has been under way for the last several years and was written by David A. Arnold, now Escanaba district game supervisor. The illustrations are by Oscar Warbach, game division biologist and cartoonist.

Ike Chestnut After Revenge in TV Bout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Featherweight Ike Chestnut goes after a bit of recognition and revenge tonight when he squares off against Carmelo Costa in a 10-round fight at Capitol Arena.

Chestnut, 25-year-old Harlem scrapper, currently is unranked in the featherweight division. Costa, a slick combination puncher from Brooklyn, is rated No. 4 among contenders for Sandy Saddler's title.

Floyd Patterson, the heavyweight challenger, is scheduled to referee one of the preliminaries to the main event which will receive the usual Wednesday night television and radio coverage (ABC) at 9 p.m. EST.

Reluctant Bronzeback Puts Up Tough Battle

A reluctant largemouth bass, hooked in Pontiac Lake, Sunday, didn't want to leave its home waters. The 4-pounder gave Bob Ogelby, 368 North Paddock, Pontiac, a tough battle before being landed. It was 20 inches long, was taken on a "chub minnow".

"That fish," Ogelby reported, "just didn't want to quit. It came in three times, but each time took the line out again with a rush."

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Plants, even better than people, seem to know which end is up and which is down. University of Michigan botanists are going to find out why.

With a unique acid solution, they are trying to probe the secret mechanism that tells a plant to send its shoots upward and its roots downward.

Probably you haven't thought about it, but what causes the roots from a seed to burrow into the ground while the shoot bends upward in search of light.

As part of a $100,000 Ford Motor Co. research grant, botanists have found that using an acid solution they can make shoots and roots go straight ahead in whatever direction the seed is "aimed."

They can also check the tendency of the shoot to climb straight up and make it come from the soil at an angle and continue to grow that way.

New Drills May Ease Session With Dentist

* * *

Prof. Henry M. Tanner, who teaches at a Naval dental school, says the new drills turn at a speed of 150,000 to 200,000 revolutions per minute. Standard speed is 6,000 r.p.m.

The professor explained that the drills make the patient "feel as if his teeth are being lightly rubbed or brushed instead of drilled."

He said the super speeds take the vibrations out of drilling and eliminate the "grinding" sounds.

He told the Michigan State Dental Association the new-type drills should be in dentists offices "within the next few years."

* * *

"Basic techniques are not changed," Dr. Tanner said, "but the superspeed drills must be water cooled. The high r.p.m. is obtained either by a series of belts and pulleys or by means of an air turbine. The cutting is done by the same drills used at lower speeds."

7 From Ortonville Injured in Smashup

Seven Ortonville residents suffered minor injuries requiring hospital treatment in a two-car collision on Perryville road, Groveland Township, late last night, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department reported today. All were released after treatment.

Lyle Hotchkiss, 19, one of the drivers, was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for possible head and neck injuries. The others were all members of the Glenn W. Spencer family.

Mrs. Spencer had lacerations of both knees. Her sons, Melvin, 10, Jack, 8, George, 5, Elmer, 3, and a daughter, Katy Lou, also received lacerations. The father, 35, who was driving, was not hurt.

Investigating deputies from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department reported both drivers said the other car had crossed the center line into the wrong lane of traffic.

Radar to Spot Tornadoes in Southern Michigan

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich) said today that Southern Michigan will get a radar device to detect tornadoes and facilitate earlier warnings.

He said it will be operating at Detroit-Wayne Major Airport before Sept. 1 and will have a range extending to Lake Michigan and as far north as Traverse City.

Use of Fertilizer Doubles Since 1938

ROME (AP) — World use of fertilizers has more than doubled since 1938.

Highest consumption per acre in the world is in New Zealand. The Netherlands, Hawaii, Belgium and Japan, rank next in order.

The fertilizer statistics were published in the current bulletin of agricultural economics and statistics of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization.

World consumption jumped from 8,400,000 metric tons in 1938 to 17,900,000 tons in the 12 months ending June 30, 1955. U. S. consumption increased from 1,311,000 to 5,469,000 tons.

Among aircrafts, Douglas and North American Aviation gained around a point while United Aircraft rose nearly 2 points and Boeing was up a fraction.

* * *

Dow Chemical advanced close to 2 points and Union Carbide over a point. Allied Chemical, Air Reduction, Du Pont and American Cyanamid improved fractionally.

New Plane Data

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An aircraft plant report says planes today are vastly different from those in World War II. A World War II fighter required about 7,000 parts. A modern jet needs 25,000. A tolerance of 1-32 of an inch could pass for some parts in a second world war craft, where the modern fighter has to have 1-500 of an inch. And just a scuff on a wing is enough to cause reduction of 20 miles an hour in speed—a loss that can be fatal to a pilot when he's dog fighting for his life.

One 10th of U.S. crops are lost to insects.

TALE COULD HAVE ANOTHER ENDING — Tamba, four-year-old chimp, plays favorite game, pulling Simba's tail. Eight-month-old lion puts up with it at World Jungle Compound, Thousand Oaks, Cal., but may go on offensive any day.

Slide Rule Device Keeps Meetings in Proper Order

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Nobody fouls up parliamentary procedure in a meeting when Mrs. Marjorie Duncan is around.

Mrs. Duncan has invented a device she calls a "Slide-A-Rule" designed to guide the average club "don'ts" of parliamentary procedure.

Designed in accordance with Roberts Rules of Order, the device 27 lists motions most frequently used at meetings.

By setting an indicator to the motion wanted, the information revealed at a center window in the slide case tells how to properly state the motion, its rank and function.

Another window on the reverse side automatically indicates whether the speaker may be interrupted by such a motion; whether it requires a second; whether it may be debated or amended; whether a majority or two-thirds vote is required; and whether the vote may be reconsidered.

May Cost of Living Rate Matches All-Time Record

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Labor Department reported yesterday that the cost of living rose sharply last month to match the all-time high set in October, 1953.

Food prices produced the biggest part of the increase. Other groups of goods and services held steady or advanced.

At the same time, the weekly take-home pay of factory production workers declined 46 cents as a result of the shorter work week in May.

Bridger Name a Byword but He Signed With an 'X'

Mrs. Winders admitted she had been worried about the subject of her latest juvenile book, "Jim Bridger: Mountain Boy."

Bridger, as most Boy Scouts know, was a famous fur trader, scout, explorer and guide during the 1880s. But what seldom is stressed is that he could not write his own name, and could not read the signs that identified the places he discovered.

* * *

But today, his name is a familiar one in the West, which his explorations helped open for a settlement. There is Fort Bridger, Bridger's Mountain, Bridger's Creek, Bridger's Pass and Bridger National Park.

The book about the man who first mapped the Rocky Mountain region and who discovered the Great Salt Lake is one of several Mrs. Winders has written for the Childhood of Famous Americans series, widely used as supplementary school books.

Some teachers use these books to interest children in learning to read, and the author figured some youngsters might use Bridger as an example how to succeed without formal education!

* * *

She might have left out the point of Bridger's educational shortcomings, but since the book is based on facts, Mrs. Winders said she felt it necessary to include an incident in which her hero was asked to sign a contract.

He drew his "X" as did many men and women in his less school-blessed era.

But Mrs. Winders recalled that Jim Bridger made sure his daughter, Virginia, received the schooling he never had. She noted:

"I went to Omaha during my research and saw a prayer book belonging to Virginia Bridger in a museum. Over and over she had written: 'Virginia Bridger, Virginia Bridger, Virginia Bridger'."

Queen Elizabeth II Victim of Practical Joker's Stunt

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II was the victim of a practical joker yesterday as she reviewed 300 holders of the Victoria Cross, Britain's highest military decoration.

She met the holders of the award, many bowed with age and some in wheel chairs, at a ceremony in Hyde Park. But one man in a chair, with whom she chatted, wasn't a Victoria Cross holder at all.

He was Thomas Meagher, a car park attendant at an Uxbridge theater. He was chuckling about his escapade today, while high brass at the War Office, which arranged the pageantry, fumed.

Meagher, 64-year-old veteran, showed up at the park wearing what looked like a Victoria Cross ribbon. A policeman noticed that he limped. He hustled Meagher into a wheel chair. In a moment the Queen was at his side. She asked whether he was going to a dinner for Cross holders, and she seemed concerned when he said he didn't feel up to it.

* * *

Several of the authentic Victoria Cross holders present were suspicious, but no one felt like breaking ranks to make a scene in the presence of the Queen.

"I enjoyed the day very much, especially meeting the Queen," Meagher said. "It was a lark, and I thought it would be a good laugh which many of my old army chums would appreciate."

Army Contracts Ready for Area

Potter Says 13 Million in Awards Will Arrive for Detroit, South Bend

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said today that 13 million dollars worth of new army contracts are being prepared for award to firms in Michigan and South Bend, Ind.

* * *

The contracts for medium and heavy special-body trucks have been approved by the Army and are expected to be signed by General Motors Corp., Chrysler Corp., International Harvester Co. and Willys Motors Inc., by the end of the week, Potter said.

"It was understood production could begin at once," he added, saying they would be a "shot in the arm for Michigan's sagging automobile employment picture."

Potter said he learned of the contracts when he conferred at the Pentagon yesterday with Secretary of the Army Brucker and Asst. Secretary Frank H. Higgins.

Higgins, he said, told him the contracts had been approved in these amounts: General Motors $8,200,000, Chrysler $3,700,000, International Harvester $163,000 and Willys Motors $3,500,000.

The International Harvester work will be divided between South Bend, Ind., and Detroit while a substantial part of the Willys Motors contract also will be carried out in Detroit, the senator said.

A Potter aide added that the GM and Chrysler contracts all are for work in Michigan plants.

Good Reason? And It Proved to Be Very True

* * *

When vacationing recently in Florida, says Long, he knockedon the door of a home in Coral Gables and introduced himself to the occupant.

"Yours was the only dissenting proxy we received at our annual election," Long said. "And we wondered what you felt we were doing wrong."

* * *

The stockholder answered sheepishly:

"I really didn't have any reason. I just thought it might be a good idea to cast a negative vote to keep management on its toes."

Claims Economy Record in Cross-Country Drive

NEW YORK (INS) — A transcontinental stock car economy record was claimed by American Motors Corp. yesterday after a Nash Rambler traveled from Los Angeles to New York for less than a penny a mile.

AMC said the six-passenger Rambler traversed the nation on less than five tanks of gas.

Nascar officials said the car averaged 32.09 miles per gallon while using 92.27 gallons of gas.

Disclose Major Oil Find

NEW YORK (INS) — Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. reports the completion of what appears to be a major wildcat discovery in the Gulf of Mexico, 40 miles offshore from Louisiana. It is outside the area in dispute between the Federal government and Louisiana.

Total water use in Oakland County increased from 17 million gallons per day in 1940 to 32 million in 1950 and to an estimated 70 million gallons per day in 1955 as shown in data available to the Oakland County Planning Commission.

6-Month Study of Mars to Start

Planet Will Swing Close to Earth; Plan World Photo Observation

WASHINGTON — Astronomers studying the face of Mars hope to solve many of the mysteries of the only other planet in the heavens that shows signs of life.

* * *

Dr. E. C. Slipher, world-renowned authority on Mars, will be in Bloemfontein, South Africa on the second "Mars Expedition" in three years, sponsored by the National Geographic Society and Lowell Observatory of Flagstaff, Ariz.

From at least 20 other points around the world, observatories will carry on a co-ordinated photographic patrol in the coming months. They will keep watch on the earth's neighboring planet as it swings across the sky in its closest approach since 1941.

On Sept. 10, Mars and Earth will reach "opposition," lining up with the sun. Only about 35,300,000 miles apart — little more than a third the distance of the sun from Earth—they will be virtually as close as they ever come.

* * *

The nearest possible approach is 33,900,000 miles, but that will not occur until the year 278,254 A.D.

STRAIGHT UP

* * *

In 1954, from the same location, the first National Geographic Society-Lowell Observatory Mars Expedition made 20,000 photographs of the red planet as it passed just under 40,000,000 miles away.

The continuing scrutiny of the face of Mars, with modern equipment and new techniques, may reveal answers to many of its secrets: Its changing atmosphere, often shrouded in a mysterious "blue envelope;" the blue-green markings that grow and shrink against brick-red desert regions of the planet's surface; its exact diameter.

Precise measurement of the diameter of Mars, showing astrophysicists whether the nearly dead world has an iron core like earth's, could alter theories of the birth of all planets.

* * *

By making telescopic photographs in three different colors—blue, red and yellow—Dr. Slipher will look for new clues to the strange bluish haze that shrouds Mars at all but rare times of "blue clearing," generally observed during oppositions.

Says Planets May Support Beings With Super-brains

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS) — Astronomers believe that intelligent beings live on thousands of planets throughout the universe.

And though there isn't a chance in a million that any of them look like earthly human beings, some of them may be more intelligent than we are.

• • •

1. There are billions of billions of stars. The number is at least 1 followed by 20 zeros, or 100,000,000,000,000,000,000. Each is is a potential source of light and warmth for any planets that accompany it.

2. Life possibly does not exist around more than one star in 1,000.

3. Conditions like those on the earth should be found at least 100 million times in the known universe.

4. "Man is one of more than a million kinds of creatures on the earth. There can be a lot of life without man. In fact, there was abundant life for a billion years before man appeared on the earth." There is "no reason to believe" that it is impossible for life elsewhere to be as intelligent as man "or more intelligent."

5. "When physics, chemistry and climate are right on a planet, life is an inevitable step in biochemical evolution."

• • •

"There are 800,000 kinds of insects, alone, on the earth. There are so many kinds of animal life that there is hardly a chance statistically that any of the creatures on other planets look like us, or even like any of the mammals."

The possibility that some weird-looking creatures may be more intelligent that we — and maybe wondering whether any life exists on that little planet "earth" off on the edge of things — does not floor this mild-mannered scientist.

• • •

At the same time, he sees little likelihood of high forms of life anywhere else in our solar system.

Most scientists believe that low forms of vegetable life, such as lichens, account for the seasonal color changes on Mars.

There is a bare chance that some life may be hidden in the mystery beneath the clouds of Venus, Shapley said. The other planets are either too hot or too cold.

• • •

Prefers Smaller Towns

NEW YORK —Older people generally prefer to retire to smaller communities rather than the larger cities. Exceptions, however, are Los Angeles, San Diego, Seattle, Dallas, Houston, Memphis, Atlanta, Miami and Jacksonville, according to new studies by the 20th Century Fund.

Burglars Get Thirsty

PATERSON, N. J. (AP) — Burglars apparently worked up a thirst when they robbed the Dover Club. They stole several packages of ice cream and cigarettes and turned on the beer taps behind a bar. When the burglary was discovered several hours later, 3½ kegs of beer had either flowed down the drain or quenched the thirst of the robbers.

Walt Disney's True Life Adventures

Dads to Get Their Day

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentine fathers will have their day, at last. Plans are under way to celebrate June 17 as "Dia del Padre"—Father's Day. Unlike the United States, which celebrate both Mother's Day and Father's Day, Argentina in the past has observed only Mother's Day.

Little Civic Spirit

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — A controversy exists over whether men should be arrested and fined for not wearing beards in observance of the 250th anniversary celebration. William Gould, who is against compulsory growing of beards, suggests a police car should follow the 250th celebration "Kangaroo Kourt" on its rounds to pick up nonbearded citizens. He wants it to answer calls for help from citizens who don't want to be molested.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF STAFF Seargeant, Harry McGinnis who passed away June 27, 1950.
Six long years have passed since that sad day,
Since you, dear son were called away,
God called you to his haven or rest
And beautiful garden of happiness,
We pray Lord, when our work here on earth is through
We will meet again beyond the blue.
When separation will be no more and we can dwell together
Sadly missed by his Mother & Father, Wife & Sons.

IN MEMORY OF OUR SON AND brother, Norman Marshall Roder, who died 1 yr. ago June 28th, 1955.
On a bright and sunny afternoon in the late month of June, God took you by the hand, and led you to his land. Darkness fell for us on that sunny afternoon as we laid your body down in the dark and empty ground. But the sun will shine again, and peace will be thine. When we meet and greet again in his forever land.

Reinforcements Sent to Quell S. African Riot

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police reinforcements rushed early today to Newclare, a native African settlement west of Johannesburg, to quell a demonstration which threatened to become violent.

• • •

Groups of Africans shortly after midnight staged a protest against a government proposal to issue identity books to native African women.

• • •

One of the groups, a band of about 500 men, marched through the streets carrying clubs and iron bars. They threatened a party of white railway workers on their way to work.

That's Nice to Hear

FLINT (AP)—Flint's nine city commissioners have given up a September trip to the meeting of the Michigan Municipal League in Grand Rapids so children here will not have to pay an extra 5 cents to swim in the city's four public pools. The commission turned over $1,350 set aside to finance the Grand Rapids trip when advised a deficit in park funds would make it necessary to hike the swimming pool fare from 5 to 10 cents.

Program Offers Nothing Brilliant

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—The new Steve Allen Show, arriving in the wake of the dull NBC Comedy Hours—two years of flailing about strangely in a vapid, hysterical TV emptiness — was a pretty good show.

• • •

Not brilliant, but delightfully fresh nor at all unusual, using no soaring imagination not hitherto suspected as available to the NBC bright boys. Just pretty good.

It is the show aimed hopefully at "knocking off Sullivan," or at least nudging Sullivan sufficiently from his recent top ratings to drop him out of the top 10, as Bishop Sheen once quietly shaved the edge of Milton Berle's seemingly impregnable TV position.

Inasmuch as its aim is at Sullivan, Allen used a little of Sullivan's stubbornly evasive tactics which enable him to proclaim in advance the presence of famous "names," only to have them show up in program plugs for their own projects.

• • •

HAND IN WALLET

• • •

"Plug" guests out of the way—we can't be sure Kim Novak was a pure "plug" guest because she also acted, to a reduced degree, in a sketch with Steve—the show had a touch of professionalism the Comedy Hour has been lacking in recent seasons.

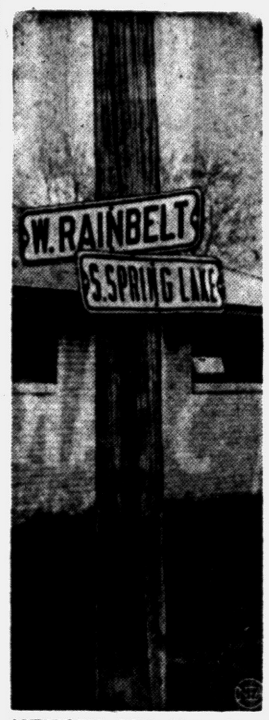

Early in the show, Allen introduced Sammy Davis Jr., and stepped nimbly out of the way.

It thereupon turned into a long segment which could have been subtitled "The Sammy Davis Show," for Sammy exploded in all sorts of directions at once, singing, dancing, playing drums and trumpet, imitating, jittering, pouring together all of his capabilities, which combine into an amazing impressive entertainer.

LONG BUT LIVELY

Matter of fact, we suspect Sammy may have remained on a little long, but his was a breezy, brisk and bright half hour, approximately, in which the stage was alive.

Allen used a little of his own "tonight" techniques, including emceeing from his desk, playing piano while irrelevant visual nonsense unfolded, and even reached back to past comedy sketches from his own midnightly telecasts.

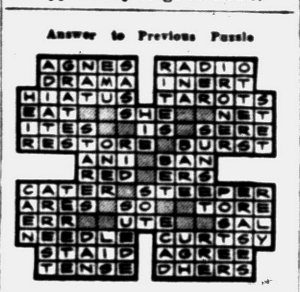

ANYTHING BUT—Turn for the better is all that can be expected when residents of Meade, Kan., reach this mis-named corner. Definitely no location on the nation's rain belt and without enough moisture to support the "Spring Lake" allegation, Meade has experienced a years-long drought. As one waggish citizen puts it, "churches are passing out rainchecks for baptisms because of lack of water."

Made It--the Long Way

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert LeMay fulfilled a long-time ambition while here for a convention. They attended a concert by the Philadelphia Orchestra. The LeMays—from Philadelphia—said they never could find the opportunity to go at home.

Want Phone Numbers in Russia? Age Please

By EARL WILSON

MOSCOW—Certainly we had caviar for breakfast. Doesn't everybody?

Our little "Rushin' Through Russia Family Style" expedition had just settled down to our Soviet breakfast when the waitress plodded up and said, "Eakry?" . . . "Caviar?"

"Caviar for breakfast?" groaned Slugger, who at 13 doesn't like caviar at ANY time.

So we had 30 or 40 bucks worth for openers—caviar being the one thing they've got plenty of to offer American tourists.

Our breakfast at the Hotel National—after flying over from Stockholm—was a big ball. I had a whole orange which would have cost $1 to $2 if we weren't on the tour getting four meals a day (the extra one being afternoon tea).

I then had hot tea in a glass, with cakes, all very good and quite filling—I suppose it should be when you consider that de luxe class tourists are paying $30 to $40 a day a person . . . "durned near capitalistic," as one American remarked.

There's quite a lot of drunkenness in Russia now—where isn't there?—which reminds me of a tale about Stalin at a dinner with Anthony Eden where the English military brass one by one found itself being taken unexpectedly pie-eyed.

"Do you have much trouble with your generals drinking?" Stalin asked Eden, who proudly said, "Oh, no."

"No?" exclaimed Stalin. "We do!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Sweden's Prince Bertil, once rumored engaged to Princess Margaret, loves a London divorcee, ex-showgirl Lillian Craig. But she won't let him wed her and sacrifice his title . . . Frank Parker describes his singing: "I used to be a boy soprano—and my voice never changed" . . . Ava Gardner's agents are negotiating for Nino's in West Hampton as a summer cottage . . . Pert Brigitte Bardot has a photo layout in Maurice Murray's new magazine, "The Dude."

Women and cars have much in common—paint may conceal the age, but the lines give it away.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "The reason Hollywood hasn't built a movie around the atom is that it hasn't been able to train an electron and a neutron to play a love scene."—Quote.

Jan Murray claims he saw a '57 car. It's so modern the dashboard doesn't have buttons, it has zippers. That's earl, brother.

3-Year-Old Treated After Poison Spray

A three-year-old Walled Lake boy required minor treatment at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital yesterday afternoon after accidentally swallowing some poisonous fluid while spraying it around his yard. He was released following the treatment.

Rory Dewey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dewey, of 1135 Asher Ct., was reported none the worse for his experience today.

Walled Lake police said the boy got hold of the can of fluid on his father's work bench in the garage and was spraying outside when he apparently got some in his mouth. The boy was taken to the hospital by a taxi after Mrs. Dewey smelled the fluid on his breath.
