By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Oakland County Republicans are going to play a game of watching the Democrats go by when it comes to primary race for Pontiac's seat in the State Legislature.

The Republicans have their candidate in Mrs. Paul (Hope) Gorman, unopposed Pontiac housewife who is making her first bid for a political office.

Who will face Mrs. Gorman on the November ballot is the question facing the six Democrats who are seeking the nomination.

They are:

(1) Mitchell L. Bacow, Pontiac attorney and unsuccessful candidate for municipal judge in 1954.

(2) Linwood L. Flack Jr., former president of the Pontiac National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and presently a metal finisher at General Motors Truck & Coach.

(3) Harold A. Grant, president of Fisher Body Local 596, UAW, for five years and unsuccessful candidate for the District 2 post two years ago.

(4) Arthur J. Law, three-times mayor of Pontiac and 12 years a city commissioner, presently a grocery store operator.

(5) L. D. McLauchlin, Pontiac Motor Division worker since 1935 and city leader in Boy Scout and recreation programs.

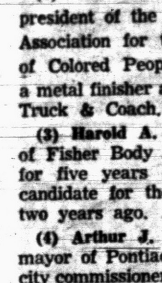

(6) Robert P. Scott, former secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Federation of Labor and presently legislative agent for state barbers.

Noticeably missing from the Democratic lineup is incumbent Leslie H. Hudson, who held Oakland County's largest, population-wise, district seat in the House of Representatives for four years.

Hudson is a candidate this year for the county's 18th District seat in Congress.

Democratic candidate Bacow, 42, of 34 Cherokee Rd. chaired a committee of the Oakland County Bar Association to try and create a jury commission several years ago. Bacow is also an avid amateur radio operator.

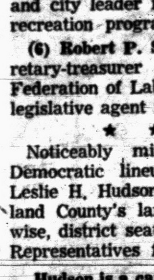

BACOW

He is presently president of the Pontiac chapter of B'nai B'rith, and past commander of Amvets Post 16 here.

Flack is not a newcomer to Democratic circles in the county. He has served twice as vice chairman at state conventions for county delegates. The 35-year-old 1955 president of the NAACP here has been a precinct delegate for 10 years.

FLACK

The father of four sons, Flack resides at 392 Ditmar Ave.

Grant missed by more than 1,600 votes for the Democratic nomination in 1956. He did not seek reelection as president of the Fisher local this year in order that he could devote full time to the campaign.

GRANT

The 41-year-old factory worker has been an employe of the Fisher plant here since 1936. He lives at 481 N. East Blvd.

Since 1948 Law has maintained his own grocery located at 200 Earlmoor Blvd. Four years later he tried but failed as a Democratic candidate for Congress.

LAW

The 52-year-old father of four makes his home at 27 Miami Rd. From 1942 until 1954 Law represented District 4 on the City Commission.

McLauchlin, 40, of 715 Melrose St., too is making his first try for a political office. The 1936 graduate of Pontiac High School was for four years an officer of a local PTA.

McLAUCHLIN

He is presently a member of the City Council PTA on juvenile protection.

Scott, 51, of 31 Bloomfield Ter., has made the headlines lately for his suspension from the International Barbers Union, AFL-CIO. He was once vice president of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614, an association, he says, which has caused his suspension from the barbers union.

SCOTT

The resident of Pontiac for 44 years carried a long affiliation with unions and state committees and commissions. He is married and the father of a daughter.

The Republican hopeful for the District 2 job is past president of the City Federation of Women's Club, Mrs. Gorman of 144 N. Genesee Ave., has been active in United Fund work, promotion of the Pontiac Symphony, PTA organizations, and the Girl Scouts.

MRS. GORMAN

She has clinched a spot on the November ballot. The Democrats now must select her opponent among the six candidates Aug. 5.

Car Runs Amok; Man 90, 5 Others Hurt Slightly

Ninety-year-old Arthur J. Middleton of 183 Greene St. got more than he bargained for yesterday, when he asked for a ride home from church.

Sitting in the front seat of a car outside the First Methodist Church at S. Saginaw and Judson Streets, Middleton was asked to move over to let another passenger in.

As he slid over, he nudged the gear shift, and the car took off. A non-driver, Middleton tried to stop this startling development by putting his foot down — on the brake.

Yup. He hit the gas pedal. He smashed into one passing car, sending it careening into a parked car.

Continuing north on Saginaw Middleton's accelerating auto squeaked between two other cars, and side-swiped a parked taxi, picked up speed, and caromed into another parked car and kept going.

The runaway rammed its final victim twice, once in the rear, and then in the front as it flipped around to a stop. Middleton was hospitalized and five others suffered minor injuries.

Body of Youth Found in Lake

18-Year-Old Visiting His Uncle in Waterford Drowned Sunday

Waterford Township Police and Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies today ended a search begun last night in Maceday Lake by finding the body of an 18-year-old Kentucky youth.

Shelby D. Grissom, who was here from Kentucky visiting his uncle, Harry J. Pedigo, of 7722 Austere St., Waterford Township, drowned while swimming in the lake last night.

Police said the youth had been swimming with two friends Sally Ann Morgan, 15, and her sister, Susan, 13, both of 3913 Nelsey Rd., Waterford Township.

The three had decided to swim to a raft about 50 yards off the west shore. The girls said Grissom went down in about 35 feet of water only about 10 feet from the raft.

They told police they tried to hold him up but the youth was too much for them. The Independence Township Fire Department stood by with portable floodlights aiding eight sheriff's department divers until 2 a.m.

Soviet Premier Willing to Meet in Europe

Accepts Suggestion by DeGaulle, Should U. S. Feel New York Risky

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev agreed today to hold a summit conference in Geneva or "any other city" in Europe if the United States fears security would be a problem in New York.

The State Department said in Washington last Thursday that "as a responsible government, we will be able to assure his (Khrushchev's) safety."

Khrushchev made his offer in letters to the big three, formally accepting the suggestion of French Premier Charles de Gaulle that Europe would be a better place for the top level talks.

"The Soviet government agrees to meet in Geneva, Paris, Vienna or any other city acceptable to all participants," Khrushchev said.

He specifically suggested Moscow as a site and said "The Soviet government would guarantee full security for the delegations and the necessary conditions for fruitful work."

Khrushchev's reply to the latest round of western messages was handed over tonight by Deputy Foreign Minister Vasilev Kuznetsov to the American, British and French ambassadors here. The text was released immediately to newsmen.

In it Khrushchev said:

"In view of the extraordinary position of tension in the Middle East, we still consider that is is necessary immediately to call a conference of heads of government of the U.S.S.R., U. S., Britain, Frande and India, with the participtaion of the secretary general of the U. N.

"As regards the place of holding the conference, we have called attention to the suggestion of the head of the government of France, Mr. De Gaulle, who in his message of July 26 said that he prefers that the meeting be held in Europe.

"The Soviet government even earlier pronounced in favor of holding the meeting in Europe and supports the proposal of Mr. De Gaulle.

Balloonists Tell of Space Travel

AP Wirephoto

ROSE 82,000 FEET — Navy Cmdr. Malcolm Ross (left) and M. Lee Lewis tell a news conference in Minneapolis about their balloon flight to 82,000 feet which lasted 34¼ hours, man's longest journey into the stratosphere. They said they considered parachuting after the balloon release mechanism failed once. They landed yesterday in North Dakota.

Navy Space Explorers Back From a Record Balloon Trip

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)— Space explorers Malcolm Ross and M. Lee Lewis survived a 2,000-foot bounce when they came back to earth yesterday from a record-breaking balloon flight.

The 34½-hour trip was man's longest flight into the straosphere. The balloonists reached 82,000 feet.

The fliers had their toughest decision after a release mechanism failed to detach the massive balloon from the gondola as they were landing.

The 17-story gas bag banged the round aluminum capsule onto a pasture in east central North Dakota, then carried Ross and Lewis aloft again when a firing device failed to release the gondola.

Ross, a Navy commander, suffered a slight cut about his left eye, but he and Lewis began figuring how to get on the ground and stay there.

"Parachuting out of the gondola was one of the alternatives we discussed," Ross said. "But we're balloon men, not parachute men."

They tried the descent again, and this time were able to release the balloon. The gondola was dragged about six feet over the hilly pasture, then tipped over on its side.

Ross and Lewis climbed out of the oxygen-rich capsule and lit their first cigarettes in nearly a day and a half.

Working constantly on some 50 experiments, Ross and Lewis enjoyed a comfort never before accorded to high-altitude fliers. They never had to wear oxygen masks.

Their gondola was pressurized with the same air pressure they breathed before the balloon soared out of a deep open pit iron mine early Saturday.

It was the first time an airship, propelled or free flying, was equipped with a "full atmosphere," the Navy said. During much of the flight, they moved about without their space helmets.

They ate candy bars and sandwiches, drank water and slept only about an hour during the flight.

They carried a small television camera aloft and sent America's first stratosphere TV pictures back to the ground.

Their flight was designed primarily as a test for an ascension this November when an astronomer will seek new knowledge about the makeup of Mars' atmosphere.

Department of Agriculture scientists now will begin a study of some 10,000 insects carried along in the gondola.

The bugs were placed aboard for cosmic ray studies on lower forms of life, a preliminary step in determining what hazards man may encounter in future space flights.

Expect Rain Today, Sunshine Tomorrow

The U.S. Weather Bureau said today's expected thundershowers will end tonight and it will become mostly cloudy. The low tonight will be around 60 degrees.

Tomorrow will be mostly sunny and not quite so humid, with a high of 82. Tomorrow night is expected to be mostly cloudy with little temperature change and a low about 60.

The outlook for Wednesday is partly cloudy and warm, with scattered thundershowers likely. The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 72. The reading at 2 p.m was 83.

Authorities Seize Fortune in Dope

$340 Thousand Worth of Marijuana Taken From 3 Near Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit authorities yesterday arrested three local men riding in a car containing $340,000 worth of marijuana in one-pound bags.

Held for investigation of smuggling were Leandro Anaya, 29, Marcelino Tovar, 43, and Gabriel Mirelez, 28.

They were nabbed by agents from the Detroit Narcotics Bureau, State Police and the United States Customs who patrolled four main highways leading into Detroit for 36 hours.

Detective Inspector Russell J. McCarty said the vigil began after his bureau learned that a huge dope shipment was due in Detroit during the weekend. He said 23 agents in seven unmarked cars patrolled U.S. 12, U.S. 112 and the Willow Run Expressway.

The inspector said the only information on the men was that they were in a black four-door sedan with Texas license plates.

The auto was spotted at noon yesterday about two miles outside Detroit. According to McCarty, enough marijuana was found in the car to make more than 679,000 cigarettes.

"These men are merely couriers," he said. "They work for a ring or a big boss, probably in Mexico."

Dulles Clarifies Western Stand in Middle East

British Prime Minister Says Security Alliance Will Continue

From Our News Wires

LONDON (AP)—John Foster Dulles assured the Baghdad Pact nations today the United States would act, even at great risk, to safeguard their independence and integrity against any threats.

The American secretary of state, in the role of observer, was addressing the fifth session of the Baghdad Pact Council which opened in Lancaster House with one member missing—Iraq.

Dulles' statement was made during a survey of the Middle East scene, in the course of which he set forth the significance of the American military landings in Lebanon.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan pleged today that the Baghdad Pact alliance ringing Russia's southern frontier would continue as "a means of collective security."

"We intend to maintain the aims of our alliance and to consider how to do this in the light of our present situation," Macmillan said in a speech opening the fifth session of the pact's council.

By "present situation" he referred apparently to the recent revolution in Iraq, an original member of the alliance. The new Iraqi government has not yet left the pact, but is expected to do so.

Authoritative sources said Dulles also informed the pact members that the United States eventually will have to recognize the revolutionary regime in Iraq.

Macmillan met in the opening public session with the prime ministers of Turkey, Iran and Pakistan.

"Our purpose," Macmillan said, "is to reaffirm the intentions expressed in that instrument (the Baghdad Pact) as a means for our collective security.

Macmillan noted "we meet today under the shadow of the re-

Makes Getaway With Upwards of $60,000; Road Blocks Up

FLINT (AP)—A lone gunman with a long-barrelled revolver robbed a branch of Genessee Merchants Bank and Trust Co. of upwards of $60,000 today.

There were only three persons—all of them employes — in the branch when the bandit walked in.

The man, described as between 35 and 40 years old, was masked by a blue handkerchief. He wore beige pants and a tan shirt.

State Police set up road blockades throughout the area and extending as far south as Detroit, north to Bay City and West to Lansing.

The bank is at a shopping plaza near U.S. 10 and the new U.S. 23 bypass.

Police and sheriff's deputies throughout Oakland County were alerted to set up a system of roadblocks for the second time in 48 hours.

All county law enforcement authorities were alerted at noon to be on the lookout or a stolen light blue 1952 Ford with its right side slightly damaged, and the grill missing, with license KH5440.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A U.S. Marine killed yesterday was accidentally shot by one of his own buddies while on an unauthorized visit to a small village, a Marine spokesman said today. It had been reported he was killed by a rebel sniper.

The Marine, a private first class who was not identified, was killed by a single bullet through the head around noon yesterday. He was in front of his company position south of the Beirut International Airport. His body was brought back from an olive grove by other Marines.

Founder of 'Flying Tigers' Had Just Received 3rd Star

Lt. Gen. Chennault Dies of Cancer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Lt. Gen. Claire Chennault, the Louisiana farm boy who became commander of the famed Flying Tigers of World War II, is dead. He was 67.

A massive arterial hemorrhage ended the ailing general's fight with lung cancer yesterday at Ochsner Foundation Hospital. His wife, Chinese-born Anna Chan Chennault, was at his side at the end.

Death came nine days after President Eisenhower signed an emergency bill giving Chennault his third star.

The body lies in state here today with a service scheduled this evening. Tomorrow, a military plane will fly the body to Washington where it will lie in state until burial the next day in Arlington National Cemetery.

Chennault's old comrade of the Chinese war against Japan, Mme. Chaing Kai-shek, said she was shocked to hear of the general's death.

'FRIEND OF CHINESE'

Mme. Chiang, who made a special trip here July 11 for a dramatic reunion, said in Washington: "He was a great friend of the Chinese people and the cause we stand for."

The Japanese had enough respect for him to name him their No. 1 "war criminal," one ahead of President Roosevelt.

A deaf ear and his outspoken support of Gen. Billy Mitchell forced the then Capt. Chennault to retire from the Army Air Corps in April 1937.

The next month he was in China at the request of Mme. Chiang to inspect the Chinese air force. He stayed on to instruct pilots and supervise the makeshift maintenance of the outmoded Chinese aircraft.

In 1941, Chennault formed the

Seeking Vote on Goldfine

House Probers Likely to Recommend Citation of Boston Tycoon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Influence - Investigating Subcommittee members planned to press today for a vote on recommending citation of Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine for contempt of Congress. If the vote is taken it is virtually certain to favor contempt action.

Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) called a closed subcommittee meeting this afternoon to discuss a "code of ethics" bill aimed at halting alleged abuses uncovered in investigating the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

The meeting was the first since the subcommittee halted its sensation-packed hearings into charges that Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams influenced the Federal Trade Commission and Securities & Exchange Commission on Goldfine's behalf while receiving thousands of dollars worth of hotel visits and plush gifts from the textile manufacturer.

Harris declined to say whether the long-expected vote on a contempt citation for Goldfine would be held. However several subcommittee members — "anxious" to vote—made clear they planned to discuss it. Harris and several other members — including some Republicans — have made it clear they think Goldfine is guilty of contempt.

At the same time the House Armed Services Special Investigations Subcommittee summoned more witnesses to its closed-door inquiry into whether Adams attempted to pressure the Pentagon into refunding $41,284 of a penalty on a wartime cloth contract.

The case involves a 1957 refund to defunct Raylaine Worsteds, Inc., of Mauchester, N. H. The White House has called Adams' role in the case "routine."

NEW KINGSLEY — Opening Wednesday to the public is the sumptuous new Kingsley Inn built at a cost of $750,000. Located just south of the old location on Woodward and Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Hills, the new structure has a capacity of more than 800 persons. Theodore Rogvoy, of Detroit, designed the contemporary building and J. A. Fredman Co., of Pontiac, built it.

Rocket 'Goof' Charged to AF

Senate Group Blasts Duplication of Testing Facilities, Idleness

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate committee, criticizing the Air Force for financing private rocket test facilities, said today the service has shown "a growing lack of energy" in space activities.

The criticism was included in a section of the Senate Appropriations Committee's report on a bill to provide $40,032,000,000 of new defense funds, including more than 18 billions for the Air Force. The Senate starts debate on the measure today.

The committee increased the amount of money for all services in recommending $1,245,841,000 more than President Eisenhower asked and $1,623,250,000 more than the House voted.

But in a section critical of Air Force space activities, it said that service has "allowed duplicate testing facilities to be built by private contracts, while permitting government-owned facilities to remain idle."

The report was prepared by a subcommittee headed by Sen. Dennis N. Chavez (D-NM). Both Chavez and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) have been protesting that Holloman Air Development Center in their state has not been fully utilized by the Defense Department.

The report said this is "the most important instrumented range in the world . . . where facilities either exist or are under construction, which can test any missile or rocket."

Despite this, it said the Defense Department "allowed rocket and missile contractors to build their own duplicate test stands at government expense and let the government facilities idle or rust."

Army Officer Probed on 'Discipline'

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP)—A veteran sergeant was under quarters arrest today pending an investigation of disciplinary measures he allegedly ordered for a group of green Army trainees.

Thirty-one soldiers, including two who were hospitalized, suffered second and third degree burns on their hands while doing push-ups Saturday on hot asphalt.

Capt. Arlie Metheny, Ft. Chaffee public information officer, said the record of Sgt. Roy C. Cobb, 29, Atlanta, Ga., showed that he had been in no serious trouble before. Cobb has four years of active duty with the Army and three of inactive time.

Cobb ordered the push-ups for the men because they moved after the sergeant had called them to attention, Metheny said.

Wet Weather Sticks to Center of Nation

By The Associated Press

Wet weather stuck to the nation's midsection today, making it muggy in many spots, but the real swelter belt was in the sizzling West.

Readings at the 100-degree and higher mark were recorded yesterday from Bakersfield, Calif., to Portland, Ore. In the California and Arizona desert areas, temperatures reached 110 and 115 degrees.

At Eugene, Ore., a high of 103 was recorded, topping the 100 mark set July 27, 1951.

Thundershowers of varying intensities existed from the central and southern Plains eastward through the Great Lakes and the lower Ohio and mid-Mississippi valleys.

A tornado destroyed a gymnasium at Hollister, Okla., and gusty winds of up to 60 m.p.h. lashed western central Illinois and Missouri.

New Kingsley Inn Set for Opening Wednesday

NICK TAKAS

A magnificent new Kingsley Inn will formally open to the public Wednesday on a location just 500 feet south of its former site, Woodward at Long Lake road, Bloomfield Hills.

Built at a cost of $750,000, the new inn represents the fulfillment of a lifelong dream of the owner, Nicholas Takas, who has operated the Kingsley for 22 years.

In low contemporary design of stone and wood, the new Kingsley represents the creation of Detroit architect Theodore Rogvoy working with Takas.

J. A. Fredman Co., of Pontiac, built the structure and Gay Yankee, of Birmingham did the interior designs.

Inside, the Kingsley is divided into eight rooms. These are: The Crown Room, The Empire Room, Grill Room, The Picadilly, The Hills Room, The Village Pub, The Cotillion Room, and The Hunt Room.

Each of these is designed to create a mood of a by-gone facet of life in America and England or of modern suburban living.

Surrounding the Inn is a large paved parking lot which can handle up to 350 cars.

Yarborough Wins in Texas

Dem Liberal's Victory Offset by Gov. Daniel's Conservative Majority

DALLAS (AP) — Liberal U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough decisively won renomination in Texas' Democratic primary Saturday but Gov. Price Daniel's conservative forces appeared to have retained control of the party organization and the Texas delegation to the 1960 national convention.

In a clear-cut liberal versus conservative contest, Yarborough, seeking his first full six-year term, outdistanced William A. Blakley, Dallas multimillionaire who once served four months in the Senate under an interim appointment.

Virtually complete returns last night gave Yarborough 701,985 votes, Blakley 497,219.

Daniel, who won a thumping clear-cut majority for the gubernatorial nomination, had urged a strong turnout of conservatives at precinct conventions to retain control of the state organization, which has been sought by the liberal organization, the Democrats of Texas.

Daniel's backers claimed that conservatives have nailed down 2,588 of the 4,788 delegates to the state convention Sept. 9 in San Antonio. Control of the state organization this year takes on added importance because it will determine the Texas delegation to the 1960 Democratic National Convention.

Daniel polled 741,219 votes to win the Democratic gubernatorial nomination — tantamount to election in Texas. Former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel received 222,727 votes, State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez 222,249, and Joe Irwin, retired insurance man, 32,220.

Ike Asks to Up Debt Limit

Seeks Congress' OK of $8 Billion Increase for $288 Billion Total

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress for an eight-billion-dollar temporary increase in the national debt limit. It would raise the ceiling to 288 billion.

Eisenhower also requested that the permanent statutory debt limit be raised 10 billion dollars to 285 billion.

The President made his request in identical letters to Vice President Nixon, the Senate's presiding officer; and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex). He said the Treasury Department and the Budget Bureau have advised him that contemplated revenues and spending for the current fiscal year make it necessary to request a debt ceiling increase.

"Accordingly," Eisenhower said "the administration is at this time asking the Congress to increase the regular statutory debt limit to 285 billion dollars and also to provide an additional temporary increase of three billion dollars to run through June 30, 1960."

The present temporary ceiling of 280 billion dollars is authorized through next June.

25 State Deaths Set 1958 Record

By United Press International

A 1958 record 25 persons died on Michigan's lakes and highways during the weekend with 12 of the deaths coming in water accidents —another record.

The toll surpassed by 2 the previous regular weekend high of 11 traffic, 9 drowning and 3 fire victims who died June 27-29. It was only 5 short of the 30 persons who met violent, accidental death during the long three-day Fourth of July holiday.

All but the last two highway victims died in single fatality mishaps.

Sue Greene, 18, and Mrs. Joanne Frye, 31, both of Grand Rapids, were killed late Sunday night in a two-car accident on U.S. 131 two miles north of Morley.

Mrs. Helen Darnell, 40, of Garden City, whose death was not included in the Michigan totals, was killed in a similar crash on Indiana Highway 67.

Eight of the 12 drowning victims also died in single fatality accidents.

The late weekend highway fatalities were:

Judith L. Schwartz, 17, Belleville—killed late Sunday in a two-car collision in western Wayne County.

Amma Tomlinson, 71, Detroit—died late Sunday of injuries received when she was hit by a car Friday night.

'Adjourn Congress Before Summit Talk'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) said today it might be a good thing if Congress wound up its session before the start of a United Nations summit conference on the Midle East.

Congress is moving into a stretch drive with some members talking of an Aug. 9 adjournment and others saying it's possible within a week after that. Aug. 11 has been mentioned as a possible starting date if President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Khrushchev and other heads of state meet in New York.

"I think President Eisenhower probably would feel freer to act if Congress were not in session and, as it were, looking over his shoulder at a summit conference," Mansfield said in an interview.

"I would assume the President would keep in close touch with the congressional leaders if we are not in session. In any event he can carry on negotiations with the knowledge he has the united support of the country behind him."

Eisenhower's Middle East policies have come under fire in the Senate and more of this running debate can be expected as long as Congress is in session.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), for instance, has told the Senate he will document for it his charge that Eisenhower's decision to send troops to Lebanon was taken "in clear violation of the Constitution."

Mansfield and Senators J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) and Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn), among others, have criticized what they called Eisenhower's reluctant attitude toward meeting Soviet Premier Khrushchev at the summit.

Police at Kalamazoo Release Five Juveniles Arrested With Him

KALAMAZOO (AP)—A man identified by Kalamazoo police as Lynford Neal, 33, of Fennville, was being held today for investigation in the death beating of Ervin Schoenaker, 45, of Pullman.

Five juveniles who were taken into custody with Neal were released after questioning.

Neal and the juveniles were taken into custody today by Kalamazoo County Deputy Sheriff William Swim who said he found the group sitting in Schoenaker's car which was parked on a Kalamazoo street.

The group was turned over to Kalamazoo city police who said they were satisfied the juveniles were not connected with Schoenaker's death. They said they planned to hold Neal for further questioning.

Officers said Neal told them he rented the car from Schoenaker in a bar at Grand Junction Saturday night. Schoenaker's body was found dumped near a deserted road 15 miles west of Allegan yesterday.

They said Neal told them he drove the car to Eaton Rapids after renting it and picked up the juveniles yesterday while returning to Fennville.

Explorer IV on Five-Year Space Trip

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The world's newest satellite is off to a spectacular start on a five-year journey through space.

Scientists keeping a critical eye on Explorer IV announced that the heaviest and most vital of the three U.S. moons in orbit performed smoothly during its first 36 hours.

The launching by the amazingly reliable Jupiter-C rocket last Saturday was so successful, in fact, that Explorer IV probably will be the most durable Army satellite yet.

Officials at first expressed concern that the latest Army venture might be short lived.

As it looped through an elliptical orbit every 110 minutes, the satellite beeped out loud and clear signals on an intense field of radiation 600 miles in outer space.

Latest estimates placed Explorer IV as close to earth as 163 miles and as high as 1,373 miles as it swings around the globe an average of 13 times a day.

The orbital path, a new one for U.S. satellites, carries Explorer IV over the more densely populated areas of the northern latitudes. It already has circled twice over the heart of the Soviet Union.

cent tragic events in Iraq." He added "we have all suffered a great loss in the violent deaths of His Majesty King Faisal and of our other staunch friends and allies."

When Macmillan finished speaking, the meeting went into closed session, which was expected to last all day.

Dulles reportedly has informed the Baghdad Pact nations the United States would be ready to join Russia in an arms embargo to the turbulent Middle East.

He also was reported to have said the United States will have to recognize the revolutionary regime in Iraq.

The Day in Birmingham

To Urge Same Tax Rate for Twelve Town Drain

BIRMINGHAM — City Assessor Clark Hagstrom tonight will recommend to the Birmingham City Commission that it continue the present 1.25 millage tax rate for 1958 Twelve Town Drain assessments. This will amount to $79,358.85 in tax money, he said.

Since Birmingham made its first payment in 1953, millage has gone up from .25 to the current rate, he said. Presently the city has $200,000 in its Twelve Town Drain Fund.

Hagstrom said it now appears that a 2.25 to 2.50 millage rate will be required in the future to cover each year's payment based on a 30-year bond issue.

A hearing will be held on a special assessment role for the Randall street surfacing in the Quarton Lake subdivision.

City Engineer Grover Serenbetz will present a list of more than 350 sections of needed sidewalk repairs, the majority of which are on city-owned properties.

Private property owners will have 20 days from the date of notification to replace or repair sidewalks themselves.

A fire yesterday morning caused an estimated $4,000 in damages at the home of Charles Houartos, 780 Wagner St., Bloomfield Township.

The Township Volunteer Fire Department, which battled the blaze for two hours, said the fire was caused by a pan of grease which ignited on the kitchen stove and spread to the walls.

Sodium fluoride teeth treatments were given to 1,700 fifth and sixth grade pupils in Birmingham Public Schools during the past school year, according to Mrs. Eunice Van Dyke who administered the treatments. This is more than 70 per cent of the total enrollment in the two grades, she said.

Another 272 children in the second and fifth grades of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs and Holy Name parochial schools also received treatments.

Charles Kass, president of the Baldwin Public Library Board, said today that expansion plans at the library in Birmingham are at a temporary standstill pending study by architects and consultants.

Ralph Ulveling, consultant, and his assistant Charles M. Mohrhardt presented three preliminary sketches, which are being studied by Smith, Tarapata and MacMahon, Inc., Birmingham architectural firm.

Kass said the Library Board expects approval of working plans shortly, and then will begin seeking construction bids.

Lt. Gen. Chennault Dies of Lung Cancer

American Volunteer Group, later known as the Flying Tigers.

With shark's teeth painted on the snouts of their outmoded P40 fighters, this outnumbered band of volunteers officially downed 286 Japanese planes in six months. They were generally credited with 300 more kills.

Flying Tiger losses: Eight pilots killed in action.

TOOK COMMAND

After the United States entered the war, Chennault took command of the 14th Air Force in China as a brigadier general. He was promoted to major general in 1943.

After the war, he remained in China, founding Civil Air Transport, a privately owned airline now operating out of Taipei.

Chennault remained with the Nationalist Chinese during their retreat on the mainland and mass exodus to Formosa. He returned to the United States for the last time in February to undergo extensive treatment for lung cancer.

Chennault, however, would never admit his illness was serious. And despite its seriousness, he was convinced he would make the reunion of the Flying Tigers and 14th Air Force Aug. 7-9 in San Francisco.

Chennault is survived by his second wife Anna and their two daughters, Anna Claire, 10, and Cynthia Louise, 8.

Car Accident Kills Royal Oak Woman

Mrs. Anna McLaughlin, 75, of Royal Oak, was killed Saturday when the car in which she was riding smashed into a utility pole.

Mrs. McLaughlin, of 3806 Kent St., was riding in a car driven by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Amanda McLaughlin, of 24670 Kipling St., Oak Park, according to Huntington Woods Police.

Oakland Highway Toll in '58 49

With them were the daughter-in-law's two children, Patricia 4, and Maureen, 13 months. Police said Mrs. Amanda McLaughlin took her eyes off the road for a few moments while fixing Patricia's hair.

The car shot across Coolidge street for a block and struck a utility pole near Talbot Street, in Huntington Woods. Mrs. McLaughlin was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital.

Man Can 'Fly' 'Copters Like Kites Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you see a man with a helicopter on a leash don't question your sanity.

The Defense Department announced last night the development of a tether or leash which enables a man on the ground to lead a hovering helicopter around as if it were a kite.

The purpose is to permit precise hovering operations where the helicopter pilot can't see the ground directly below.

The Sikorsky Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corp. developed the 50-foot-long tether device for such purposes as enabling helicopters to place utility poles in pre-dug holes or to land in restricted or congested spots such as heli-platforms or ships at sea.

Chemical Process Recovers Gallium

MIDLAND — By using a new process developed by a Midland chemical company, gallium, the widely scattered but minutely deposited metal which melts at a low 29.7 degrees centigrade, can be recovered from ore.

The subdivided ore is treated with hydrogen chloride or hydrogen bromide at high temperatures.

While still undeveloped commercially, gallium has possible uses in electronics and as a replacement for mercury as an amalgamating agent.

Air Force Announces Substitute for Oil

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force announced today the development of a possible substitute for lubricating oil that can hold up under both nuclear radiation and a wide range of temperature.

The Air Force described the new fluids as a major advance and said in a statement they have possible use as lubricants, reactor coolants or hydraulic fluids.

The new fluids are polyphenyl ethers, composed of benzene and oxygen. The Air Force said they remain liquid and retain lubrication characteristics at temperatures ranging from 20 to 800 degrees Fahrenheit.

They also were described as being two to five times more stable under nuclear radiation than existing organic lubricants.

Prince Has Good Marks in Classes

LONDON (AP) — The new Prince of Wales, 9-year-old Prince Charles, is top of his class in geography. And his French is coming on well, too.

He cheered up his ailing mother, Queen Elizabeth II, by bringing home this bright report card to Buckingham Palace over the weekend. The Queen is covering from a sharp attack of sinusitis.

Charles, who is at Cheam School 40 miles west of London, heard his mother's recorded television announcement Saturday that she was naming him Prince of Wales. A few hours later the term examination results were posted on the school notice board.

At the head of the geography list it read: "Prince Charles."

The young heir to the throne isn't so good at arithmetic.

"I don't think he would make an accountant," a school spokesman said. "But a thorough knowledge of foreign countries and languages will stand him in good stead for the future.

"He was very pleased with the examination results."

One strange language he hasn't started to learn yet is Welsh.

Thousands of people living in the remoter part of Wales, the mountainous southwest corner of Britain, still speak the ancient language. They will expect their prince to have a smattering of it.

Only One Champagne

LONDON (AP)—No matter how much sparkle a Spanish wine may have, it isn't champagne by British law. Champagne has to come from that certain part of France. Prosecutor Geoffrey Lawrence told a London court the Costa Brava Wine Co. was guilty of mislabelling a product offered as champagne.

Premier of Italy Coming to U. S.

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME (AP)—The little big man of Italian politics—now making his first journey to Washington—has a stout heart and a shaky government.

Amintore Fanfani, 50, premier and foreign minister, has been invited to tell President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles tomorrow and Wednesday what Italy thinks of the Middle East crisis.

Fanfani already has told his own Parliament.

"We stand 100 per cent with NATO and the West," he declared while Italy's Communist party, biggest outside the Iron Curtain, howled protests.

"We concur with the American action in Lebanon," he told his Chamber of Deputies.

"The United States has first place among our friends," the stubby, balding Christian Democrat party leader shouted defiantly at the Left.

It was a showdown. And Fanfani's Christian Democrat-Social Democrat coalition government won its vote of confidence in the Chamber by a razor-thin three-vote majority.

The government is the strongest that the Christian Democrats could patch together. But it could fall on any major issue.

Fanfani was called to the premiership July 2 after May national elections left his party the strongest in Italy, but short of a majority.

He had a try as premier before, in 1954. His one-party government collapsed after 22 days.

Fanfani, only a little over five feet, has been the political boss of the powerful Christian Democrat party here since the latter days of the late Premier Alcide de Gasperi.

Boy, 7, Found Safe After 6-Hour Search

PORT HURON (AP)—Some 500 police and volunteers hunted through woods and swamps for about six hours yesterday for a 7-year-old boy who wandered away from a family picnic.

The boy, Richard Sheldon of Melvin in Sanilac County, turned up at a Sanilac County Beach about 10 miles from the site of the picnic. Richard, who was unharmed, told police he became lost while walking along the Lake Huron shoreline and wandered on aimlessly in hopes of finding his way back to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Sheldon.

The picnic was held at Lakeport state park about 12 miles north of here.

There are 1,890 miles of railway trackage in Wyoming.

World Waits Upon His Words and Wonders

Khrushchev Climbed From Obscurity to Kremlin

By United Press International

It's a long, long road from the poor little thatched roof village of Kalinovka, near Kursk in the Ukraine, to the throne room of the Kremlin and the center of the world stage.

But, as Nikita Khrushchev, boss of all the Russias and the satellites beyond, regards the eminence and power he has achieved — the one-time barefoot boy who tended the few pigs, goats and cows of his coal miner father—he shows no signs of fatigue.

WORLD WAITS

Once again, the world waits upon his word and wonders: Peace or War?

Thousands of words have been written about this chunky, short (five foot, five) physically strong man who walked the tricky, murderous road to the top in Soviet Russia. Much of what has been written has been contradictory—as contradictory as the man himself.

When first he came to power in gradual stages after the death of Stalin in 1953, many astute observers of the Russian scene regarded him as a buffoon, a talky, boastful, tactless and mediocre figure who was not long for the helm.

But what the world overlooked at first was the Khrushchev toughness, the ability to profit from error so he rarely made the same mistake twice, and the fierce, competitive shrewdness that had carried him successfully through the jungle of Russian communist politics while other, seemingly stronger men, fell.

NATURAL ENDURANCE

Biographers of Khrushchev credit much of his staying power to the natural peasant endurance that came to him by birth. At 64—he was born in April, 1894—he gives off an aura of strength and sureness that some interviewers have described as frightening, particularly when he is angry. He can also, as many Kremlin party goers have learned, be disarmingly charming.

What sort of man is Khrushchev really? The answers are not clear. Most studies of the man dwell on his outward contradictions, then go into his past to explain him.

As a world figure, Khrushchev's history is relatively short. Until the early 1950s his name was associated vaguely in the world outside Russia with administrative mistakes in Russia's agricultural program, and efforts to put down unrest in the Ukraine.

When Stalin died in March, 1953, western attention centered on the names of Premier Georgi Malenkov, Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Lavrenti Beria. They seemed the ruling triumvirate. But nine days after Stalin's death Malenkov stepped down from his top post in the Communist Party and Khrushchev stepped up as first secretary of the all-powerful Central Committee.

It was not until the following September, however, that the world learned of the power shift, but from that time Khrushchev's emergence has been unmistakable as he climbed to, or took, ever greater power, and the once fearsome names dropped off one by one—Beria executed, Malenkov unseated and downgraded, Molotov exiled.

Khrushchev, though little known elsewhere, actually rose to high posts under Stalin earlier than Malenkov and former Premier Nikolai Bulganin, though he was a junior in the hierarchy to Molotov. He was 23 at the time of the Bolshevik Revolution but it was not until 1918, a year later, that he joined the Bolsheviks and fought in the civil war.

Even then, he appears not to have made up his mind to remain active in the party, for he returned to the Ukraine, went back to coal mining and started at night school, in technical subjects. His boyhood schooling had been practically nil. As he learned, Khrushchev's ambition apparently began to take hold. The party needed young, dedicated members, and he started taking party posts, finally getting to Moscow as a student at the Stalin Industrial Academy.

In the capital, the vigorous young peasant attracted political attention and in the early 1930s rose to party boss in the Moscow province. He was in Moscow during the bloody Stalin purges, but on the right list. In 1938 he made it to the Politburo, as a non-voting member.

That same year Khrushchev's career got its biggest boost when he was sent to the Ukraine and given a post that made him, in effect, Stalin's top deputy. It's been said Stalin personally picked Khrushchev for the job of erasing Ukrainian resistance to regimentation, and he did the job thoroughly. Some 3,000 party officials, it has been recorded, were eliminated in the Khrushchev cleanup—sent to slave labor camps, or worse.

After the war Khrushchev helped restore the Ukraine to "order," a job he did well enough to be summoned back to Moscow in 1949 and placed on the Central Committee Secretariat. Two years later he advocated a tough, new farm policy involving resettlement and reconstitution of the collectives.

The program was not considered a success and more recently the Khrushchev tack on agriculture has been a softer one, granting the farmers a greater slice of their earnings, and more voice in their activities.

Then, in the post-Stalin era, came the maneuverings that landed Khrushchev in the seat of the mighty—the famous 20th Communist Party Conference and denunciation of Stalin, the packing of the Central Committee with his supporters, and the gradual elimination of Molotov and other major rivals.

Weather May Be Bad but Farmers Benefiting

Well, boys and girls, pause and cogitate on this for a moment.

We think the 1958 weather has been strictly below par. You believe that it has been too cold, that it has rained too much and that we haven't had as many sunny days as usual.

You may be right, BUT . . .

Weather conditions in 1958 have resulted in the "growingest" seasons of all time. Think that over. Since statistics were recorded, the three record breaking years were 1956, 1957 and 1948. And now 1958 promises to knock them all for a loop.

AND, here's another surprise that will jolt you back on your heels. This year we have the SMALLEST total plantings since these statistics have been kept over the last 40 years. If Mother Nature runs smoothly from now to fall, she will produce the greatest agricultural yield of all time with the smallest number of acres engaged in production.

Perhaps we've had an extra supply of cyclones, hurricanes, floods and what have you. Perhaps it has rained out your favorite picnics and canceled your lawn parties with a rain storm threatening every minute. Perhaps the days you wanted bright and sunny were all overcast. But the fact still remains that 1958—so far—is a wonderful time for farm production. The Federal Farm Support Program can easily soar to a record figure. And remember, next to national defense this is one of our most costly items, anyway.

Who says the weather's bad?

Who?

Of course, there's still one big "if." IF Mother Nature shuffles the deck and comes up with bad growing conditions, these prospects can fade away completely.

House Acts to Restrict Switchblade Knives

Swift action on the part of the House of Representatives shows members are aware of our growing juvenile delinquency problems. Recently by unanimous vote they passed a bill outlawing switchblade knives in interstate commerce.

The bill was sponsored and introduced by Congressman WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD (R-Oakland County). Clubs and police organizations in Oakland County had asked for the bill to help curb youthful stabbings.

The bill is now pending before the United States Senate. According to Broomfield early action by the Senate is expected. He said, "I expect the Senate to make a decision on the matter before it adjourns for the year."

Passage of this bill by both Houses would be another safeguard to help control our growing youthful crime rate.

Now Cape Canaveral Shoots for the Moon

All indications seem to confirm what everyone in east central Florida takes for granted—that Cape Canaveral is indeed the "gateway" to the moon.

At this writing the Air Force is still looking for "Wickie" the mouse, propelled in the nose cone of the Thor-Able rocket some 6,000 miles through space. Success is in sight and everyone is chafing at the bit for the first try at the moon.

The real problem by most indications from Canaveral is not scientific but "political," in the sense of service rivalry.

Last March the Pentagon seemed to lean toward the Army getting the first shot at the moon. In June things switched around a bit and Lieut. Gen. SAMUEL E. ANDERSON of the Air Force said it would try lunar probes in August, September and October.

This brought word from the Pentagon that there was no final decision on which branch would go first—or when. For outsiders the inter service squabble is so much bunk. The key question is, of course, simply "when?"

The astonishingly unanimous guess is:

Next month.

SOME Americans seem to think that Russians cut their teeth on slide-rules.

Living near the shore of Loon Lake,

Herman Oglesby

of Drayton Plains wondered why is it so called, until the other night, when he heard the call of a loon. He summoned his neighbors and they also listened to the weird and eerie cry, which is considered to be the real voice of the wilderness, sounding quite like a wolf. Old residents in the vicinity say this bird once was quite common around the lake, but none has been heard in recent years.

A note in a feminine hand, and with a Pontiac postmark, signed by says: "Your column frequently speaks of your list of the 10 top women in Oakland County. Here's a dare for you to name them in print." That's a real challenge, and I'll not accept it until just before I start on a long journey—the one from which I'll not return.

Just over the line in our neighboring Genesee County, near Linden, is being financed in a rather unique manner. Its proposed golf course is surrounded by 127 half-acre building lots which are being sold to members for erection of homes. The entire proceeds go into the club's development fund.

Spring Meadows Country Club,

While excavating for a basement near Holly, found a petrified log under the ground.

Some idea of changing values in Pontiac real estate can be gained from the fact that three lots at the corner of West Huron St. and Johnson Ave. were sold in 1903 for $133. They were bought then for the start of what now is Pontiac General Hospital.

Facetiously inquiring on the phone as to where vicunas grow,

"Nobody Here But Us Arabs!"

David Lawrence Says:

'Summit' Leads to Brink of War

WASHINGTON — What are the chances of a big war? "Summit" conferences in the past have been primarily held to satisfy a wishful public opinion. but usually national positions have so hardened on vital issues that by the time such conferences are held it's too late to avert war.

LAWRENCE

Based on history's record, this correspondent believes that the chances of World War III breaking out suddenly are about fifty-fifty.

Almost every "summit" conference held in this century has been an ominous precursor of war. While the "summit" conference was being held at Geneva in 1955, Soviet Russia was secretly laying the foundation for the present war threat in the Middle East by making an arms deal with Nasser. Just 12 months after that "summit" conference he grabbed Suez, and the British and French landed troops to try to restore the canal to its owners.

It is amazing how widely the impression prevails before a war that there will be no war. This writer remembers how convinced he was from reading the press of 1913 and 1914 that there would not be any world war. He recalls, too, how many competent observers returning from Europe in the summer of 1939 were saying there wouldn't be any World War II.

Today there are hopes in Moscow that public opinion in France and Britain will succumb to "neutralist" doctrine. It does look as if the British Labor Party, which is reported from so many quarters in Britain as certain to win the next election, wants to go "neutralist."

It is the friction in the Middle East today—with the Soviet Union openly furnishing arms and money to the Egypt-Syrian Republic—which is laying the foundation for World War III.

The United Nations itself is as powerless to prevent war now as was the League of Nations in the 1930's. For the decision rests, after all, with the major powers—and the leaders of the Soviet Union are convinced that, since France and Britain are weak and pacifistic, the United States will not dare to fight.

The world may be witnessing another one of those gross miscalculations which "summit" conferences in the past have tended to encourage. For such meetings usually are built on fear by one side or the other and on the impetus of pacifism, which is supposed to be politically popular.

The war to expect is not a nuclear war, but what has been called a "conventional war." The build-up for it bears a startling resemblance to what happened before World War I, before World War II and before the Korean War.

Is there an answer? Courageous John Foster Dulles has given one again and again, as he says, in effect: "Don't let the enemy miscalculate. Make your position clear, that you will fight if it becomes necessary." (Copyright 1958)

Dr. William Brady Says:

Let's Share the Health by Donating Needed Blood

Transfusion of blood after operation is a life-saving device in hospitals everywhere. It is often used not only to save life but to speed the recovery of the patient, to hasten the healing process or, as a surgeon tells me, "to forestall possible infections that come more easily in the depleted state."

DR. BRADY

Because of the increasing use of transfusion, the blood bank of many hospitals are hard put at times to keep the necessary supply of blood on hand for emergency use.

Any healthy adult can donate a pint of blood at intervals of not less than six weeks, or half a pint at more frequent times, throughout the year — not only without any loss of health or vigor but, as numerous donors have declared, with actual benefit to health.

In the event that I should need transfusion, I do hope the blood comes from a donor whose health the doctors guarantee or from a hospital blood bank or the Red Cross. I'd hate to have blood from a commercial source — an agency or blood bank that buys and sell blood.

In view of the great need for transfusion and the importance of having a supply of blood available for emergencies, is it too much to ask of healthy adults, particularly young men, that they share their health with less fortunate ones? The way to do this is simply to report at reasonable intervals to the blood-collecting station of the Red Cross or the blood bank in the nearest hospital to give your bit.

TAKE GANG ALONG

Better yet, when you first visit the blood bank, ask about bringing your whole class, group, society, club or gang along to make a worthwhile contribution.

One woman has donated a gallon of blood in a year, and her two daughters (college students) have donated 4 and 6 pints respectively and they are determined to surpass mother's performance in the next year.

There's something about people who make such contributions of blood — something that commands respect and admiration.

It is character.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

"Doctor tells me not to take calcium as it only causes more deposits in the joints. Have neuritis, bursitis and arthritis all over my body." (N. C. W.)

Answer — The notion of "calcium deposits" in the joints or anywhere else in the body is for the birds. However, if you are under the care of the doctor, you should do as the doctor says.

"Appreciate your column very much, especially that it is a HEALTH column rather than a description of operation and diseases such as . . . Your articles never make one morbid . . . Your pamphlet on how to live after 40." (Mrs. R. G.)

'America's Great! Don't Let Recession Blind You'

I'm a little sick of reading Russian communism referred to as a party that "takes from the rich and gives to the poor." During these tough times there are always those who grab at any straw they think will help them, and when that type of person reads such a description of a different government, he thinks that's the deal for him. He won't study the true facts before accepting such a belief.

Communism in its truest form does advocate equal portions to all, but unfortunately humanism and selfishness of the human race makes this Utopian dream impossible. Because of this, the only way communism can work is through brute, inhuman force, such as Russia uses in sending millions of her own people to death and many more to prisons and mines, so the leaders can continue to hold the masses in line.

I thank God for America and my good fortune of being born here. Although this government is far from perfect, it certainly comes closer to it than any other. Don't let this short period of bad times blind us to the many good years. Where else could you have so much for such a small effort?

I wonder how such a person would feel if his daughter had been refused in the same way. People should try lending a hand in such cases.

Expect Only 1 in 5 to Cast Ballot in State Primary

By The Associated Press

Only one in five Michigan voters is expected to cast a ballot in Michigan's lackluster primary election Aug. 5.

The campaign has been enlivened by Democratic charges and Republican denials that the GOP plans a "raid" in an effort to pile up votes for William Johnson of Ironwood, first Democratic primary opponent in 10 years for Gov. Williams.

But election officials estimate that fewer than 600,000 ballots will be cast for statewide contests, compared with 932,000 in 1956 when Republicans had a hot race for the governorship nomination.

This year there is no primary opposition for either Paul Bagwell, GOP candidate for governor, or U.S. Senator Charles E. Potter.

A splinter Democratic group has put up the slate headed by Johnson, a radio station owner, for governor. Homer Martin, former United Auto Workers Union president, is opposing Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

A young Republican told a party rally that the GOP needs a positive approach for a November election victory. That advice came from State Rep. George Sallade of Ann Arbor.

Potter said Republicans "must avoid the pitfall of too many criticisms and instead put forth programs that will warrant the support of the Michigan electorate."

He said the main effort should be in developing a strong precinct organization in every county.

Sallade also expressed hope that Republicans would support a constitutional Convention as proposed on the Nov. 4 ballot. He said action is needed to bring about what he terms a badly needed overhaul of state and county governments.

See How Much Energy You Burn

Wives, you should scrapbook this column for it will give you some wonderful ammunition! It helps heart patients and other sick folks learn how to hoard their energy. Pushing a lawn mower is thus almost as heavy a task as chopping down trees! See the actual figures below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Y-373: Henry D., aged 52, suffered a mild heart attack a few months ago.

"Dr. Crane, Henry now wants to start playing golf again," his wife informed me.

DR. CRANE

"How long should a heart attack patient be at rest after such an event?

"And does he get as well as ever if you give him time? Henry is a golf addict, so I figure golf would be light exercise.

"Maybe I should let him follow President Eisenhower's example of getting relaxation on the golf links."

GOLF VS. BOWLING

Dr. Edward E. Gordon wrote a very practical article on the various amounts of energy we consume at different tasks.

This appeared in the December 15, 1957, issue of Modern Medicine, and upsets some of our former notions regarding golf, as well as women's household chores.

For example, golf consumes more energy per minute than does the job of laying bricks!

And a housewife, standing at her ironing board where she is ironing clothes, burns up more calories per minute than does the bricklayer as the latter lays bricks!

Before I give you all the answers, you might quiz the rest of your family with the following questions:

Which consumes more calories per minute—bowling or riding a horse?

Taking a shower bath or playing the piano?

Dancing or pushing the old-fashioned lawn mower?

Pushing a wheelbarrow containing a 100-pound load versus sawing boards as a carpenter does?

Chopping down trees or skiing on the snow?

Driving an automobile or typing rapidly?

And is it more exhausting for a patient to use a bedpan or employ a bedside commode?

MEDICAL FACTS

Actually, the use of the commode is less fatiguing than the bedpan!

And here is a list of various tasks with the calories per minute that are consumed thereat:

Tasks	Cal./Min.
Lying in bed	1.0
Seated, reading	1.2
Seated, knitting	1.5
Typing, rapidly	1.8
Getting dressed	2.3
Playing piano	2.5
Driving auto	2.8
Walking (2½ m.p.h.)	3.6
Making beds	3.9
Laying bricks	4.0
Taking shower bath	4.2
Ironing clothes	4.2
Bowling	4.4
Pushing wheelbarrow	5.0

Playing golf	5.0
Dancing	5.5
Sawing boards	6.8
Mowing lawn	7.7
Riding trotting horse	8.0
Chopping trees	8.0
Skiing	9.9
Shoveling coal	10.2

From the above figures you will see that playing golf is not as light a form of exercise as most people imagine, and a woman's household chores exact a lot of energy. Waiting on a sick child thus takes 4.7 calories per minute, which is more than bricklaying or bowling.

Washing windows levies a toll of 3.7 calories. Washing clothes by hand consumes 4.4 and hanging them on the line runs it to 4.5, both of which are thus heavier jobs than laying bricks. See tomorrow's follow-up.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Presenting 'Moon Map' for All

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rand McNally and Co., which has mapped practically every spot on earth, today presented a "moon map" for the man in the street.

The map, based on photographs to assure accuracy, shows the moon as only astronomers and scientists have seen it up to now.

It pinpoints such exotic spots as the Seas of Serenity and the Bay of Billows, along with all of the moon's other Important craters, mountains, oceans and valleys.

And if the U.S. Army or the Air Force should fire a rocket at the moon and successfully hit the target, the point of impact would be easily traced on the new map.

The map provides enough to whet the appetite of most star-gazers and moon-lovers.

A galaxy of seas, basins and valleys adorn the map, which is split into two quarter views comprising 59 per cent of the moon's surface visible from the earth.

The largest sea is the Ocean of Storms (Oceanus Procellarum) while one of the smallest appears to be the Sea of Vapours (Mare Vaporum).

Other points of interest include the Sea of Rains, the Bay of Billows, the Sea of Clouds, the Sea of Nectar, the Sea of Fertility, the Sea of Crises, the Seas of Serenity and Tranquility, the Sea of Cold, and the Lake of the Dead.

Thousands of craters pock-mark the face of the moon, the largest being Clavius, about 146 miles wide and 20,000 feet deep. Other craters shown include Copernicus, Tycho, Birt, Ptolemaeus, Eratosthenes, Macrobius and Endymion.

Although the moon has been carefully studied since the time of Galileo and the invention of the telescope, it wasn't until 1850 that the first photographs of the moon were taken.

The new map is based on photographs taken by the Lick Observatory at the University of California. Enlargement of physical features, which ring the map, were made from photographs taken by the Mount Wilson and Palomar Observatories.

Because the moon requires the same time to circle the earth as it does to make one full turn on its axis, it always turns the same face toward the earth and the reverse side is not visible. But slight wobbles in the moon's motions account for 59 per cent visibility from the earth, which the new map covers.

Mysteries of the moon are still numerous. New facts will continue to be uncovered.

But for young lovers, nothing else is needed other than that the moon be big, bright and yellow.

Lavender Stamp Will Aid in Getting Mail Out of Red

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. letter-writers will soon be getting used to a lavender stamp bearing the likeness of Abraham Lincoln — and costing four cents.

The Post Office Department expects no trouble changing over to the higher-priced stamps that will be required starting Aug. 1, when postal rates go up to four cents for letters, three cents for postal cards and seven cents for airmail.

The Department has already stepped up production of the "Lincoln" stamps to meet what is certain to be a tremendous demand.

The new seven-cent air mail stamp, replacing the present six-center, will feature the silhouette of a jet airliner. This new blue-and-white stamp will have its first-day sale in Philadelphia July 31 at the annual convention of the American Airmail society.

Officials said 8,500,000,000 three-cent stamps were printed in fiscal 1957. They expect to repeat the same production figure for the four-cent stamp.

Production of three-cent stamps will be sharply curtailed, dropping to about 3,500,000,000 a year — the same as the two-cent stamp output last year. The three-cent stamp now will be used on postal cards.

Future commemorative stamps will be issued at the new four-cent rate. The first was the Simon Bolivar "Champion of Liberty stamp which went on sale in Washington, D. C., July 24.

Of course, it will be perfectly all right to use the old stamps you have on hand when the rates go up. You can just put a one-cent stamp on a first class letter along with a three-cent stamp. Similarly, one of the old six-cent airmail stamps plus a one-center will do just as well for an airmail letter on Aug. 1 as will one of the new seven-cent airmail stamps.

Drugs More Dispersed

INDIANAPOLIS — The filling of prescriptions is more widely distributed among the nation's pharmacies than ever before. Fifteen years ago one fifth of the country's pharmacies filled three fourths of the prescriptions. Today nearly three fourths of them fill two thirds of the prescriptions. An estimated 1,100,000 are filled daily.

Atomic Fallout Been Increased?

'Dirtier Bombs' Hinges on Point of View, Says Secretary of Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McElroy says that whether the Pentagon is making its atomic bombs dirtier hinges on the point of view.

McElroy told Congress that bombs have been withdrawn from stockpile and modified so they can be exploded at ground level. This in turn would make their fallout dirtier in the immediate area although he said the total fallout would remain the same.

But he said the purpose of the change to a surface blast is to insure destruction of such heavy targets as missile launching sites, pillboxes and submarine launching pens.

"Whether a bomb which has been modified to provide an optional surface burst is dirtier or not depends on the point of view," McElroy said in a letter to the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. The letter was made public last night.

A bitter debate over the issue was triggered three months ago when Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (NM), senior Senate Democrat on the committee, charged bombs had been taken out of the nation's nuclear arsenal and made dirtier by inserting something. Lewis Strauss, then chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, flatly denied this.

A bomb's dirtiness is measured by the amount of radioactive fallout it produces. Scientists agree that large amounts of fallout over a long period of time could endanger future generations.

While allowng for differing points of view, McElroy indicated the effects of local fallout and fallout from low altitude are not a great deal different. He said there was fallout from low-altitude bursts before the bombs were changed.

But Straits Bridge Not Paying for Itself

Business Profits by 'Mighty Mac'

By JOE HAAS

"MIGHTY MAC" — The problem that has been uppermost with the residents of the two communities at opposite ends of this great bridge for untold years has been settled within a few months after its completion, namely, how will it affect us?

Both St. Ignace and Mackinaw City feared that a bridge might bring. They had visions of going the way of the boom towns of the lumber days, and becoming mere ghosts of what they were when it was necessary for everybody crossing the Straits to tarry a while in each.

HAAS

This fear was accented when the St. Ignace terminus of the bridge was placed a mile away from the downtown area and the Mackinaw City terminus a few blocks away from its downtown section. It then seemed that its millions of patrons would scratch these two communities entirely off their schedule.

But both are finding that among the usual and now greatly increased commuters between our two great peninsulas are many who realize that the conception of the bridge which you get by merely passing over it gives you but little idea of its structural magnitude and magnificence. You must get a side view.

A survey among the business interests in both towns shows that this is the largest resort season they ever have enjoyed. This is particularly true in Mackinaw City whose mercantile area was outside the area traveled by the people going to and from the ferries.

Most of the motels in Mackinaw City are on the route incidental to the ferries, and away from the bridge route. Without exception, they say the bridge has improved their business.

What they claim is the largest concentration of motels within five miles on any single highway in the world is that along the pavement that leads to Sault Ste. Marie from St. Ignace. There are many dozens of them, and they offer accommodations for over 3,000 guests.

Fortunately for them, the bridge traffic feeds into that highway, and business with them is maintaining its standard of former years, some of them asserting it is the best they've ever had.

Regardless of reports to the contrary, it is evident to those in its charge that "Mighty Mac" will not pay its way at the $3.25 rate for autos, and the present schedule for other vehicles. It is hardly doing it now, at the time when it is the stellar attraction on the agenda of more than it will ever be in future years.

Secretary Rogan of the Mackinac Bridge Authority says that a car must cross it every 90 seconds in order to pay the interest on the bonds, provide for its operation and upkeep and other costs. While that rate of cars going over it is greatly exceeded at some hours, the average is falling far short.

The $3.25 rate is little more than the former car and passengers rate on the ferries, not considering the fact that it is done in less than one-tenth of that average time, when waits were included, and without the many other inconveniences.

I have inside information that we may expect a raise to $5.00 for a passenger car, and a corresponding upward charge for trucks, trailers, buses and other vehicles. It is felt that with a great majority of our passenger car owners this will be quite acceptable.

What the bridge has done for real estate values for 100 miles or more in every direction from it is truly marvelous. Experienced real estate dealers assert that frontage on any of its main feeding highways has gone up from $5 to $50 a foot, with a corresponding increase on side roads, according to their location.

In the first few months of its use it now appears that "Mighty Mac" is bringing the nation's tourist business to Michigan. The best count of out-state auto license plates I've made in this area in any former year showed cars from 22 states. This time the tally is 31 different states — with our neighboring Province of Ontario topping all of the 31, except Michigan.

Four Families in Area Bid Exchange Students Adieu

By ELEANOR DUCKWITZ
Walled Lake Correspondent

WALLED LAKE — Four homes in the Walled Lake School District seem strangely empty these days and the occupants truly believe the French proverb that parting is to die a little. For each of these homes lost a foster daughter or son when they bade farewell Thursday to the exchange students who had been a part of their families since last October.

The students had plunged into their studies and numerous activities of the Walled Lake High School. Many also had become active in local church and young peoples' groups. They talked before civic and community organizations and acquired the appearance and manners of American teenagers.

Now they are on their way to their homelands to explain the American way of life to their families and friends.

They were among a group of 63 who came to Michigan under the sponsorship of the Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Chapter of the Michigan Council of Churches' "Youth for Understanding" program.

Tucked in their luggage as they left, which in most cases doubled since their arrival, were numerous items to illustrate their talks. There were yearbooks, school and community newspapers, programs from baccalaureate and commencement ceremonies, dance souvenirs and post cards and snapshots of places they visited. Ivy League clothes and small gifts for their families.

Since school closed, all have been on the move seeing the country. Elizabeth Clarke of Marden, Kent, England, accompanied her hosts, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Duckwitz of Westacres and their daughter, Dodie, to Niagara Falls, New York City, Philadelphia and Washington. They completed the family vacation by spending a week on the Old Mission Peninsula near Traverse City. From there they travelled to points of interest, including the Straits of Mackinac Bridge and the Soo Locks. After their return Elizabeth spent a few days in Muskegon, visiting Jane Austin who had spent last summer at her home as an exchange student.

The longest trip was experienced by Ina Lenuweit of Marne, Germany. On a month's tour with Mr. and Mrs. John Emmert, also of Westacres, their daughter Peggy, and son John, Ina saw the South Dakota Badlands, Yellowstone, the Grand Tetons, Salt Lake, Zion and Grand Canyon, most of the West Coast and the Colorado Rockies. Earlier in the year she had accompanied Mr. Emmert and Peggy, who had been her guest last summer in Germany, to New York City.

The Ralston Calverts and their son Jack, took Mario Giorcelli of Italy to Washington, New York and Niagara Falls. They, too, visited many of this nation's historical shrines and included a swim in the Atlantic in their trip. Mario, who is from Milan, was co-sponsored as an exchange student by the Walled Lake Rotary Club of which Mr. Calvert, whose home is on Watuga drive, Milford, is a member.

The fourth member of the group, Gabrielle Hinzmann of Munich, Germany, had two sets of foster parents to bid goodbye. Upon her arrival last fall, she stayed with the Bernard Nelsons at Reed Lake. Later she moved to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thibideau on Pontiac Trail in Walled Lake.

Mary Thibideau, who was graduated with Gabrielle, is already in Europe as a member of the Michigan Chorale sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches.

Another daughter, Martha, accompanied Gabrielle on a quick trip to Niagara Falls. Later the whole family toured lower Michigan, visited the Soo and Tahquamenon Falls and spent a week at a cabin in Canada.

Last Wednesday the students were guests of the Northville Rotary Club at a dinner and farewell party at the First Presbyterian Church. More than 225 were present for the affair.

Dr. Ferdinand Friedensburg, German Consul in Detroit, was one of the speakers. Others included Rotarian Eugene F. Olsen, governor of Rotary District 640; Mrs. Ingeborg Knoth, former exchange student from Germany who now lives in Michigan; Mrs. Ragnar Arneson of the Ann Arbor Council of Churches who introduced the departing students who in turn presented their Michigan families; and Douglas R. Lorenz, Philip R. Ogilvie and Fred Kolbe of the Northville Rotary Club.

Many of the students spent the night as guests of Northville Rotarians and their families. Shortly after noon Thursday they met at the church to board a bus which took them to the Michigan Central Station in Detroit where other members of their group joined them for the trip to Montreal and the voyage home on the ship Seven Seas. The English contingent will debark at Southampton on Aug. 2 and the others at Bremerhaven, Germany, on Aug. 4.

Road Cave-In Mystifies Police

Seek Cause of Collapse of 100-Foot Section of Halstead at Farmington

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Officials in Farmington Township were trying to determine today the cause of the collapse yesterday of a 100-foot section of Halstead road, just north of Grand River.

Township police in a cruising police car discovered a 10-foot hole in the road about 2 p.m. and blocked off the gravel road from 11 Mile road to Grand River until the Oakland County Road Commission could set up a barricade.

No damage was reported by motorists, Township Police Chief Irving Yates said. The road carries relatively heavy traffic on weekends, he said.

Yates believed the collapse may have been caused by heavy trucks hauling dirt. The road's foundation appeared to have been good, he said.

Skid Row-Type Crow Residing in Waterford

By REBA HEINTZEMAN

This is a story about a cigarette-loving crow, who drinks Scotch and soda and steals everything he can get his beak into. He is Cassidy the crow, reprobate pet of the Charles Langs family of 3631 Dorothy Lane, Waterford Township.

Because of his lowly, skid row habits, Cassidy is well known to Maceday Lake residents living along Dorothy Lane, but the Langs family wouldn't part with their amusing bird for anything.

Each of the Lang's five children, Anne, 21, Sue 18, Lesley 13, James 11, and 8-year-old Tommie, have a special tale to tell about Cassidy. They tell how he used to take his morning bath near the water sprinkler—until one day he got too close and the spinner "knocked him for a loop." He now uses the family beach.

And when the neighbor's choice variety of grapes are ripe for plucking — that's just what Cassidy does. He flies over to the vines, plucks one grape carefully off the bunch, and flies back home and deposits it in a big dish on the picnic table.

This pilfering goes on until the entire dish is heaping full. Then Cassidy sits down to take a nap, the family says.

One of his worst habits, according to Lesley, is to snip each tiny tomato off the vines as soon as it is formed, not only on the Lang's plants but from those of the entire neighborhood.

Another of Cassidy's pesky habits is picking the tops off bright colored flowers. The neighbors put up with all this because they say they can't help loving him, too.

Cassidy is never cooped up, the Langs say. He flies around outdoors, "as free as any bird" can be. Only once a day does he demand entrance to the Langs house, and that is just before breakfast.

When the back door is opened, he walks in like a gentleman. He would never think of flying in, Mrs. Langs said.

When the Langs' two cats get too near, Cassidy drops his right wing down and stalks up to them—making a hissing sound. The cats are scared to death of him, she said.

During the cocktail hour in late afternoon Cassidy is right in the middle of everything on the Langs boathouse deck, the minute he hears the tinkling of ice in the glasses. And he makes it known he prefers Scotch to gin when he settles down on someone's arm to mooch a sip.

Cassidy's latest escapade almost upset the entire Waterford Township Police Department.

The police answered a call in the Lang's neighborhood regarding a suspected prowler. Officers David Putnum and Merly Finkle arrived at the scene, and each went in the opposite direction around an old deserted lake house.

Putnam thought he heard someone following him, but when he checked, there wasn't a person in sight.

A policeman's senses and nerves are particularly alert when he is looking for a prowler. So when old Cassidy jumped up on Putnam's shoulder and blasted a loud "caw" in his ear, the sensitive policeman went straight up four feet in the air, according to Finkle, who arrived in time to witness the proceedings.

After Putnam had recovered, the crow settled down on the policeman's arm and jabbered in crow language that "he was only fooling." And that's the truth, says Putnam.

CASSIDY THE CROW—Even the bird world has its reprobates. Cassidy, pet crow of the Charles Langs family in Waterford Township, bears this out. He smokes, drinks and steals, but the family loves him just the same.

Gets Big Reward for Turning In Large Diamond

JAGERSFONTEIN, S. Africa—For his honesty in turning in a huge diamond he found while working in South Africa's mines at Jagersfontein, a Basuto native boy, Thobi Rampeng, has been given a reward of $2,100.

He dreams of owning a herd of cattle. Thobi spotted a pure blue-white stone weighing 350 carats.

While his reward seemed fabulous—the previous high reward for "pick ups" was $420—the diamond he found may realize, after cutting and polishing, around $840 a carat, or a total of $280,000.

Hitherto, other Basuto boys working underground in the mines have picked up tiny stones, but none like this blue monster.

Sometimes smuggling attempts are made, but legends about boys, acting under their chiefs' orders, having a hoard outside the mine are discounted by the mine owners.

New Rule Slows Down Drivers on 'Autobahns'

BERLIN — Although in general there are no speed limits on Germany's "autobahns," many a driver's style has been cramped by a new regulation requiring traffic on the superhighways in towns to move no faster than 31 m.p.h.

Passenger cars pulling trailers must not exceed 50 m.p.h. on any German highway.

Hart Sifts Protests on Sodium 'Fallout'

LANSING (AP)—A citizens committee today had a promise from Lt. Gov. Philip Hart that he would look into their protests on sodium tests by an atomic power group.

The downriver Detroit communities of Trenton and Riverview were showered July 11 with non-radioactive sodium particles following an explosion at the test site.

Hart said the proper state agencies would check into legal and safety aspects of the experiments being carried on by Atomic Power Reactor Development Corp.

He said he also would ask for an account from the corporation, which has said the tests were in connection with its Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant now under construction near Monroe.

Hurt as Scooter Flips; Boy Tried to Save Dog

A stray dog sent James W. Bolan, 15, of 33 Cross St., to the hospital yesterday.

Bolan was riding his motorscooter on Cross near Foster when the dog ran in front of it. He applied the brakes but hit the animal, turning over.

Bolan was treated at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital for bruises of the right arm and hip.

Semirigid Plastic Film Can Enclose Porches

ATTLEBORO, Mass. — A semirigid plastic film that can be used to build year-round sunhouses or to enclose porches or patios has been marketed by an Attleboro concern.

The firm says its product will transmit nearly 100 per cent of the sun's heat. It is made in rolls 36 and 42 inches wide.

As Soon as Fire Department Moves Out

City Plans to Sell Commercial Site

The city of Pontiac may eventually dispose of its valuable property on E. Pike street between Perry and Mill streets as a commercial site.

This is the main plan under consideration for the land at present, City Manager Walter K. Willman said.

"Bounded by three streets in a downtown location, the property should make a very attractive site for a large commercial enterprise," Willman pointed out.

Any change in the present status of the land may be several years away, he indicated. He believed it would be more profitable for the city to dispose of the property intact, instead of in small parcels.

This means that the city probably will hold onto the land until such time as the fire department's headquarters is moved from the old main fire hall at the northeast corner of Perry and Pike.

Present planning calls for construction of a new fire hall sometime after completion of a new main library in 1961.

Meanwhile, Willman said, the old police headquarters north of the existing fire hall on Perry street is being used as a warehouse. Police vacated the building last fall to move into the new Public Safety Building.

Heavy Weather Delays Blimp

Navy Craft Bound for North Pole Turns Back in Low Visibility

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Heavy fog and low ceiling caused an Arctic - bound Navy blimp to head for the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst, N.J. today.

The blimp will refuel there and depart for Churchill, Man., the first leg of its 4,600-mile flight, as soon as the weather improves.

The blimp ZPG-2, had left South Weymouth in a heavy fog last night.

The blimp hung over Long Island Sound for several hours hoping the fog would lift, when it didn't the decision to go to Lakehurst was made.

Takeoff of the 343-foot blimp was delayed last night for 90 minutes by heavy fog.

Its destination is the ice island known as T-3, this country's floating weather station in the Arctic Ocean.

The flight is expected to take 12 days by way of Churchill, Man., and Resolute on Cornwallis Island, Northwest Territory.

On board are a crew of 14 and scientists of the International Geophysical Year. Scientists who will conduct tests on the expedition are led by Capt. Harold B. Van Gorder, commanding officer of the Naval Development Unit at the naval air station at South Weymouth.

Capt. Van Gorder, a resident of Canandaigua, N.Y., told newsmen the main advantage of a blimp is its ability to travel at low altitudes at low speeds. He said that in rescue work it can virtually hover over a designated spot.

Hugh Mulligan of The Associated Press will be the only newsman aboard when the blimp goes to the arctic. He planned to fly by Navy plane from here to Churchill, and go aboard the blimp there.

Falconry, like archery, goes far back into antiquity. Chinese appear to have practiced the sport some 2,000 years ago. Ancient sculptures and written accounts suggest that hawking was popular in Egypt, Persia, Greece and Rome. In medieval Europe it was a favorite pastime of the nobility.

St. Mary's in the Hills Holds 6th Country Fair

The sixth annual Country Fair of St. Mary's in the Hills Episcopal Church was held Saturday at the church on Joslyn road near Lake Orion. Presiding at the baked goods table at the affair were (left to right) Mrs. Roy W. Johnson, Mrs. Alton Deutser and Mrs. Kelso Taeger. They were photographed as they displayed a few of the many mouth-watering delicacies featured at the booth.

Even Christmas tree decorations were found at St. Mary's Saturday fair. Mrs. G. Dean Spitler and Mrs. Lysle Basinger posed before a colorful Christmas tree at their display table. The fair also featured an antique collection, games and amusements, and a hot dog and cold drink stand.

Throwing rings, at one of the amusement stands was a favorite activity of many young people at the fair. Jean Leach volunteered to assist at the booth, while Chris Skillman tried his skill at tossing.

Request OK on Invitation

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning to marry a man who was married before. My husband-to-be received many wedding presents from his close friends and relatives at the time of his first marriage which he still has. His first wife took none of the wedding presents with her.

"We would like to invite these same friends and relatives to our wedding, but my fiance does not want to place them in the position of having to send a second wedding present. Will you please tell me how we can make this fact known to them?"

Answer: You can write on the invitation you send to each of these persons who have given presents to your fiance, "No presents please!"

"Dear Mrs. Post: My mother and father will soon be celebrating their golden wedding anniversary and we, their children, would like to give a party in honor of the occasion. Will you please tell me how the invitation could be worded, informally?"

Answer:

Sally, Irene and John Brown hope you will come to a party on Saturday evening, August twenty-third at eight o'clock to celebrate their parents Golden Wedding Anniversary

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and have a problem regarding my wedding invitations. My mother recently has remarried and not many people know her new name or even that she has remarried. How can I word my invitations so that people will know who is meant? Also, do I include my new stepfather's name on the invitations?"

Answer: Yes, because Mr. and Mrs. John Jones will indicate your mother's remarriage and the phrase "her daughter Mary Brooks" makes it plain that she was formerly Mrs. Brooks. Any other wording would lead to endless confusion.

Radio-TV Woman's Domain

Job opportunities for women in radio and television are increasing. So says a veteran woman broadcaster.

"This is an emotional type business," she says, "and women's emotions make them better able to interpret public needs. Besides, women are practical in their approach to advertising—and there's a top advertising sales job for a woman at nearly every station."

The broadcaster thinks there soon may be more programs on home design, decorating and family living.

"One woman on the staff of every station who concentrates on this field can perform a real service," she says.

She also suggests that radio stations could use women commentators on public affairs.

Girls who'd like to wind up as commentators should start as secretaries, she advises. And she believes girls aiming for radio and TV careers should have college backgrounds.

Dear Abby . . . .

Army Discipline for Boy?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: We live in a four-family flat and have never had any trouble with our neighbors.

ABBY

A retired Army man and his wife live in this building, and they don't like children. Our 8-year-old son has a tricycle and a wagon which he sometimes leaves in the driveway in front of the garage. This retired Army man told him several times to keep his toys away from the garage entrance, but you know how little boys are. He sometimes forgets.

"Well, last night this old grouch went right ahead and deliberately ran over the tricycle and wagon and smashed them to bits. My husband said it served our boy right and will teach him a lesson. I say the man should be hauled into court and made to pay for the damage. Who is right?

JIMMY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: This is a pretty cruel way to teach an 8-year-old boy a lesson. The expense of taking the man to court could easily cost more than the wagon and tricycle so I wouldn't recommend it (especially if your husband agrees with the "defendant.") You'd be ahead to skip it.

"DEAR ABBY: I trained dogs for years before I had any children of my own. When the kiddies came along, I trained them the same way I trained our dogs. I'd roll up a newspaper and swat them a good one with it across the behind. It never did the kids any harm and they grew up to know who was boss."

DOG AND CHILD TRAINER

DEAR TRAINER: Anyone who trains his children like he trained his dogs is (in my opinion) barking up the wrong tree.

"DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon and my mother and her nervous cough is my problem. She always starts to coughing when there should be complete silence. I can't tell my own mother she can't come to my wedding, but I just know she is going to spoil my wedding with that cough of hers. I am getting very upset about this and want to know how I can solve my problem."

BRIDE TO BE

DEAR BRIDE: You certainly can't ask your mother to stay home. Suggest that she get something from her doctor perhaps quiet her nerves, but don't for heaven's sake, make an issue of it.

"DEAR ABBY: My landlady is very sweet but she has one annoying fault. Every time I put out my garbage she goes through it and picks out different items which I consider useless. I see them in her house when I visit her. She is elderly and we are related. Have you any suggestions?"

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Why hurt her feelings? If the articles are useless to you and she enjoys them, forget it.

"DEAR ABBY: A little advice to WORN-OUT, the father-to-be who couldn't understand why his wife didn't go off in a corner and have her baby like a dog or cat and keep her suffering to herself: Take a burlap sack and tie it around your stomach. Keep filling it every month with five more pounds of sand and go right on and do the cooking, scrub the floors, chauffeur the kids, do the shopping, carry out the garbage and do the laundry. Don't put the load down for the full nine months. THEN, you selfish goon, you will know what your wife is yelling about."

EXPECTANT MOTHER

CONFIDENTIAL TO DAVE AT THE WHOLESALE HOUSE: There are no pickets in straitjackets. Slow down!

CONFIDENTIAL TO ED AT THE "LAB": The girl on the hill isn't on the level. Lose her.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Designer Shuns Sack for Fall

PARIS (AP) — Patou's new young designer, Roland Karl, this morning made what looked like a timid attempt to bring back the normal waistline to female fashions.

Karl, who is 24 and German-born, fired off the opening gun in the Paris fall and winter showings. Unlike his friend and fellow fashion prize winner, Yves Saint-Laurent at Dior, young Karl is not revolutionary.

His big idea, a silhouette with flared skirt and nearly fitted waist, is almost a princess outline. But, perhaps because the young newcomer lacked the courage of his convictions, the waist is still what designers like to call "supple," in other words, still slightly slack.

There's no news yet in hemlines. They are just below the knee, lengthened by that fraction that is always expected for winter wear.

Karl describes his line as resembling the letter K, for Karl but aside from the flared skirt which might be the bottom half, the likeness is even more obscure than these alphabetical creations usually are.

Backbone of the Patou collection by Karl are flared dresses with little short jackets cut to give the illusion of a cummerbund or broad belt at the waist. Other false belt effects show up on coats and dresses. In general, Karl puts the waistline in inverted parentheses rather than cinching it up tightly.

But he turns his back firmly on the ballooning fullness of last season, and there's nothing in his show that could really be accused of being a sack.

Magnify as You Make-Up

Do you realize that most of your friends and associates only see you in close-range "close-ups," asks a world-famed Hollywood beauty authority, and that every make-up mistake can easily be seen? As you converse, whether you are sitting or standing, you are usually about two feet away.

Therefore, avoid embarrassment or self-consciousness by knowing your make-up is flawless. The only way this is completely possible is through the use of a magnifying mirror, which makes it possible to see yourself better than your friends see you at close-range.

With your mirror's greater power, your eyebrow line and your lipline may be perfectly applied, your foundation and eye make-up become flawless, and your rouge and eyeshadow appear naturally beautiful.

Ann Skelley Feted

Ann Skelley, who will marry Richard Eldredge Aug. 2 at Central Methodist Church, was honored at a kitchen shower Thursday in the Woodland avenue home of Jo Osmun.

A rather large figure needs some fit rather than clothes completely loose. Easier line in suits but not too much fullness across the body.

Demi-fit has always been most flattering for half-size and larger women. Three-quarter box jackets over slim skirts are good and this season this is called the walking suit—sometimes with fur-trimmed collar, which is flattering.

Charming Personality Can Be Cultivated

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Our personality and our appearance are closely related. If we could evaluate figure and personality separately, of course charm and magnetism would be by far the more important prizes to have. However most women are affected by their figure and complexion and grooming. If they feel that these are not up to par this is likely to breed self-consciousness.

Today I am going to list a few personality pointers which have been gleaned from psychologists and from observation and from companionship with charming women I have known.

1. Correct any faults in appearance which can be corrected or improved (and this means most of them). Do this in order to banish any self-consciousness you may have. You cannot so easily forget yourself and concentrate on others if you are self-conscious, and forgetting oneself is one of the most important pointers.

2. Don't be a hectic or hurried person. You cannot possibly be charming if you are. Charm can be gay but it always has a certain calm and repose. Plan your life so that you do not "dash in" all breathless for your social or business engagements.

3. Do not tell others about their faults. Leave that to someone else.

4. Do not talk about your troubles to everyone you meet or are associated with — only to very few carefully chosen friends.

5. Look for the funny side of things. You can develop this art with practice if you will change your viewpoint from a dour one to a gay one.

6. Become well-informed through reading. This helps greatly with conversation.

7. Tell others the nice things you really feel about them or have heard about them. Do not hesitate because you think they may feel you are flattering them. They will know when it is sincere and love you for it.

All women want to be charming and most women try consciously to improve their personalities.

8. For heaven's sake, do not bring up highly controversial subjects or get caught in violent arguments. Such topics as religion and politics should be saved for hot times with tried and true friends. It's fun then.

9. Keep your good health at a high level. Vitality will give your personality and your eyes a sparkle which nothing else will.

10. Feel a zest for life. If you do not feel this way, find out why not. It may be a matter of health or of boredom. Take whatever steps are necessary to remedy either situation.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Eight Weeks to Popularity" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 70. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Sleep always has been thought of as the body's rest period and of course it is, but recent studies indicate that our nervous systems benefit most from our slumber. During World War II there was some interesting Canadian research along this line.

Volunteers went for 10 days and nights without any sleep. Upon examination at the end of this period it was found that there were no appreciable changes in the body. However, after two or three days there were definite changes in the mental processes. Concentration became impossible and memory failed. Later the subjects cracked up emotionally exhibiting persecution complexes and hallucinations or depression.

Our nerve cells are capable of renewing themselves but those in the brain seem to require more rest, probably because their job is complex. The nerve cells in the brain seem to be most susceptible to the damage which lack of adequate rest brings.

Naturally, if we should go without sleep long enough it would affect our health, if for no other reason than because of the impact of emotional turmoil on the body. I think it is interesting to know that the mind and personality are first affected since it calls our attention to the fact that we can sleep more than a few days without having it react unfavorably on our efficiency and dispositions.

So if you find yourself hard to live with or someone else cantankerous, consider that you or the other person are not getting enough sleep.

If you would like to have leaflet No. 34 "Stiut-Eye" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Grated Cucumber Adds Fresh Touch to Salad

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Just the smell of fresh cucumbers is a summery one. They are delicious in a molded salad.

ed salad. This recipe is a large one and would be good to use when you are entertaining a crowd.

Today's cook is Mrs. Roy Wilton. The mother of a grown daughter and a college-age son, she has long been active in the women's part of the Masonic order. She is a Past Matron of the Eastern Star and a Past Grand Officer of the state. Gardening is her hobby.

MOLDED CUCUMBER SALAD

By Mrs. Roy Wilton

2 packages lime gelatin
2½ cups boiling water
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cucumber
1 small onion
1 pound cottage cheese
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, add vinegar and salt and let cool. Grate or chop cucumber and onion fine. Add with cheese and mayonnaise to cooled gelatin. Mix well. Chill. Serves at least twelve.

Try Camouflage

Slender persons must be careful not to draw attention to their thinness. Wide, heavy bracelets are good for them since others tend to look at the bracelets rather than at a too thin or long arm.

When you are fly fishing and your leader won't sink, wash it with soap and it will stay down.

Child's Experience Prompts Apology

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Under the front porch Doug suddenly remembered the gingersnaps his mother kept for him on a shelf in the kitchen. He told his friend to hold up work on the hole they were digging.

Scrambling from under the porch, Doug ran into the house. In the kitchen his Aunt Lil was washing lettuce for the dinner she'd come to share.

She said, "What do you want? Oh—those cookies. Leave them alone. You know your mother doesn't want you eating between meals."

"She does so," Doug said. "Where is she? They're my cookies."

"She's gone to the store," his Aunt Lil said. And reaching over Doug's head to the shelf he was groping for, she seized the cookie box and placed it on a higher shelf. Then, giving him a little shove, she said, "Go on now, be a good boy and get out of here."

Rage exploded in Doug. He ran to the kitchen door and turned suddenly to yell at her, "You're an elephant? You're a great big fat rotten old elephant!"

CHILDHOOD HURT

Now Aunt Lil is overweight, and as a fat little girl she had been cruelly taunted with the name "elephant" by her older brothers. Doug's revival of it so hurt her that she decided she couldn't stay for dinner in a house which contained him. By the time her sister got home she was so indignant it took 15 minutes to soothe her into changing her mind.

When this had been done, Doug's mother called him upstairs to her room.

She did not say, "You must tell Aunt Lil you are sorry for being so rude to her." Instead of demanding that he express remorse for his offense, she set herself to helping him feel it.

She said, "Do you remember the day that boy called you a 'dumb little runt' when you asked to play ball with him and the other kids? I do. You were so ashamed that he thought you were a runt that you cried when you told me about it. Well, Aunt Lil is so ashamed that you think she's a fat elephant that she's been crying. I've tried to comfort her but of course I'm not the person who can really do it . . ."

Fifteen minutes later Doug knocked at his aunt's door with a little bouquet of dandelions.

Beautiful Bride All Day

To walk in beauty on her wedding day is the dream of every bride-to-be. And lovely she will be, if she avoids exhaustion, beauty's foremost enemy.

Wedding preparations can be hectic, but they don't have to be. The secret lies in starting long enough in advance so that all the necessary details can be accomplished in a leisurely manner. And plan your beauty ahead, too.

If you're going to get a permanent, have it done several weeks before the big event so that all the frizziness will have vanished. And don't wait until the night before your wedding to wash and set your hair. Have it done two days ahead so that it will be soft and natural looking.

KEEP IT SUBTLE

Makeup should be subtly applied on the day you walk down the aisle, for softness, not sophistication, is the keynote. And you must be certain, too, that your makeup will last through many hours.

Try using dry rouge. After you've applied it, set it with a dash of cold water on your cheeks. It will give it extra staying power.

Your face powder will stay on longer, too, if it is applied with a fluffy puff rather than a flat one.

Use eye makeup with a light touch, and if your brows and lashes are naturally dark, skip it altogether for this day.

Your lipstick should be true-color, and one famous beauty house offers a lipstick that is claimed to blend with every complexion and need little, if any, attention once applied.

To avoid sending your guests gaily off wearing your lipstick, try this method of applying it: Put on one coat, then blot. Apply another coat, wait two minutes, then blot again until no color appears on the tissue.

The fragrance for your wedding day should be delicate, but it, too, must last. There is a lovely new spray mist that is a blending of the essential oils of perfume with an aerosol medium. Spray it in the air and walk through the mist.

Add Fragrance to Accessories for Femininity

To gain maximum advantage from your precious perfumes and colognes, add their fragrance to your accessories.

Saturate cotton pads with the scent and place them in your hose, glove, scraf, and jewelry boxes.

Augment the elegant aura of the fragrance you are wearing by dabbing the scent along the inside band of your hat, and lightly touch it to the under side leaves of an artificial flower.

When traveling, spray cologne over tissue and, after it dries, wrap your loveliest ensembles in it.

Whisk fragrance over the lining of your purse, and your grooming will always be delightfully feminine.

Buy Back Beauty to Silence Critic

By RUTH MILLETT

"My husband keeps telling me that I'm getting old and ugly," writes a dejected wife. And then she asks, "What can a woman do when her husband talks like that to her?"

You can teach him better manners in a hurry—if you really want to.

Make an appointment at a good beauty salon. Tell them to take you in hand and hang the the expense so long as they can make you look younger and prettier.

Then go to a good dress shop and get yourself some new and becoming clothes. If you need to lose weight, go on a diet and sign up for a course at a reducing salon to help you along.

When the bills start coming in, your husband may blow his top. But let him yell. Nothing he can say about your extravagance will hurt nearly as much as that "You're getting old and ugly" routine.

When he has had his say, remind him that it was he, not you, who was dissatisfied with your appearance. Tell him that you intend to keep right on spending money on yourself until he thinks you look good.

If that doesn't make him change his insults into compliments, nothing will.

Just don't get cold feet about spending money when you start your self-improvement campaign. Any man who is unkind enough to tell his wife she is getting old and ugly ought to have to pay through the nose for his ego-shattering remarks.

Junior Wont Go to Bed? Find Out Why Not

Do you have trouble putting Junior to bed? It may encourage you to know that it's quite common for children, especially between the ages of two and four, to resist going to bed. Ask yourself why your child "seems to hate" to go to bed.

For one thing, he may not be sleepy. Children differ in the amount of sleep they need. Figure out how much sleep your child is getting every 24 hours; you may find that you're expecting him to sleep too much of the time.

CALM HIM DOWN

If your child plays hard or watches an exciting program on TV just before he goes to bed, he may have trouble settling down. Solve this by letting him take part in a quiet before-bedtime activity. Incidentally, Dad, roughhousing is fine, but it might be a good idea to follow it with a story just before it's time for bed.

An unusual amount of activity or noise in the house can also upset a child.

Or bedtime fussing may mean that he craves attention you haven't had time to give him during the day. If this is the case, some extra time and loving on your part should do the trick.

Do all you can to make bedtime a happy time; it will make it much easier for your child to accept the sandman.

Launderable fabrics bring new interest to children's rooms, and are practical, too.

'Educated Guessers' Study Power Needs

CHICAGO (UPI) — A team of "educated guessers" and an apparatus at Illinois Institute of Technology called a network analyzer are helping power companies determine their peak loads for years ahead.

The team, composed of ITT and power firm engineers, work together at intervals throughout the year providing predictions down to the last detail.

The "educated guessers" try to foresee the expected consumption of electricity for a given year in the future, set up an entire generating system in a diagram and feed the diagram into the analyzer for a check.

It sometimes takes as long as a day to set up the proposed system on the analyzer, which covers three walls of a 30-by-20-foot room. It may take an additional week to two weeks for the analyzer to determine whether the system is sound.

Balloon Stories Aiding in Religious Instruction

WILLARD, Ohio — Balloons designed for use in religious instruction have been developed by a Willard Company.

The balloons illustrate seven stories adapted from the Old Testament, including drawings and descriptions written for children of all faiths.

TOO MUCH TILT — City fathers in Pisa, Italy, have appealed to enigneers all over the world for help to keep the famed Leaning Tower of Pisa from toppling. The tower, pictured above in a rare night photo made in 1954, tilted another 1.5 millimeters during the last 12 months. This is one and a half times the annual rate of lean. Since it was erected, the 784-year-old white marble bell tower has developed a lean of 4 meters, 55 centimeters and 6 millimeters (less than five yards) away from the perpendicular. The problem is a big blob of soft clay on which one side of the base rests. Massive injections of concrete earlier this century apparently did not help.

Boosts Radar Range

MELBOURNE — Scientists at Melbourne University have developed a new radar device — a reflector target which, when attached to a high-altitude meteorological balloon, will reflect radar signals at double the normal distance. The device is said to permit tracking of the balloons for as long as 12 hours and up to 150 miles away.

Fossil Man Still Alive?

Soviet scientists have reported that primitive, Neanderthal-type men are still living in the deserts of central Mongolia. (See map.)

Quoating a Mongolian scientist, who called the creatures "almas," the Russians said they "very much resemble human beings, but their bodies are covered with a thin, reddish-black hair . . . They have powerful jaws and low foreheads." Neanderthal man lived in the time of the Old Stone Age. Picture at right is of figure in the Chicago Museum of Natural History. Last year the Russians reported the existence of "abominable snowmen" in the Himalayas, somewhat resembling the Mongolian "alma." A recent American expedition reported evidence of the snowmen, but no actual sighting.

Rain Sweeps 4 Into Sewer

Girl, 5, Dies as Quincy Gutters Flood, Carry Children Underground

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — A sudden thunderstorm that filled gutters to overflowing swept four children into a fetid, understreet sewer yesterday and carried one two blocks to her death in a Mississippi River slough.

The dead child was Julia Lee Shaffer, 5.

Julia Lee was playing with her sister Patty Ann, 10, and their two brothers Clarence, 9, and Dale 6, on the street near their home when the storm broke.

The rains filled the gutters almost immediately, carrying the children headlong through the open sewer aperture.

Police said the two boys were able to halt their headlong rush and climb out through a manhole opening. Their sisters were borne to refuse-filled Quincy Bay.

When Patty Ann emerged, Robert Myers of Quincy dived in and brought her to shore. She was hospitalized in a state of shock with cuts and bruises. Her condition was reported as good.

The body of Julia Lee was recovered a few minutes later.

Tranquilizer Helps Plants Resist Shock

AKRON, Ohio—A chemicl tranquilizer has been developed by an Akron rubber company, which says its product helps plants retain fruit-producing blossoms.

It is explained that plants, like humans, suffer from shock and stress caused by heat waves, cold snaps, drought, or too much rain.

Its chemical preparation, the company says, has been proved in field tests to boost lima-bean yield up to 90 per cent, increase the fruit on orange trees 33 per cent, double cherry output, and raise the yield of cotton plants 10 to 30 per cent.

Tiny Ice Cones Aid Grafting of Arteries

DURHAM, England — Researchers at the University of Durham have developed a method of using tiny cones of ice to facilitate grafting of arteries, in which a major problem is the prolonged interruption of the blood flow in ordinary surgical methods.

The ice trick cuts the blood stoppage to seconds. Special toothed rings are slipped over the ends of the arteries to be joined and the artery ends are slipped over a double-ended cone of ice. The pressure of the rings against the ice cone forces the artery ends to "cuff out" against each other tightly enough to allow the blood to flow as soon as the ice melts.

The surgeon, meanwhile, stitches the cuffs together and the rings snap apart for removal after the suturing is completed.

'Witnesses' Jam Stadium for Big Rally

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 180,000 Jehovah's Witnesses overflowed Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds yesterday to open an eight-day Divine Will International Assembly.

A light afternoon rain failed to dampen the Witnesses' spirits and was met by only a few umbrellas.

Negroes, whites and Asians mingled freely and heard Milton G. Henschel, convention chairman, emphasize that there is no "nationalistic or racial barrier."

"We are one," Henschel said. "Others may claim to be Christians but actions speak louder than words. Here we have true Christian love. We are genuine Christians and real disciples."

Officials have called this New York City's largest convention ever.

A spokesman for the Witnesses said 117,295 were at the Stadium and 62,996 at the Polo Grounds. Thousands were in streets nearby, many munching hot dogs while listening to the speeches over amplifiers.

Waterford Seeks New Fire Truck; Bidding Tonight

Waterford Township is about to replace one of its 17-year-old fire trucks, and bids will be opened for a newer vehicle at 8 p.m. tonight at the Waterford Township board meeting.

It is estimated that the 212-horsepower pumper truck will cost the township between $15,000 and $18,000, according to clerk James Seeterlin.

Two separate bids have been asked, along with a combined bid. One will be for the truck chassis and the other for the body and equipment.

Besides a 750-gallon per minute pumper, the truck will also have a portable lighting apparatus, a two-way radio installation, ladders, hose and siren. It will be able to attain a speed up to 65 miles an hour and will weigh approximately 23,000 pounds.

The new truck will replace the 1941 model now in use at station number 2. This truck will still be used as a spare, especially in the spring during the "grass-fire season," according to Fire Chief Edward Smith.

The new vehicle will bring the total pieces of Waterford Township firefighting equipment to six big trucks and one rescue car.

Boy, 8, Loses Leg After Shark Attack

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — A shark savagely attacked 8-year-old Douglas Lawton yesterday in shallows near Longboat Key where he was bathing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Lawton.

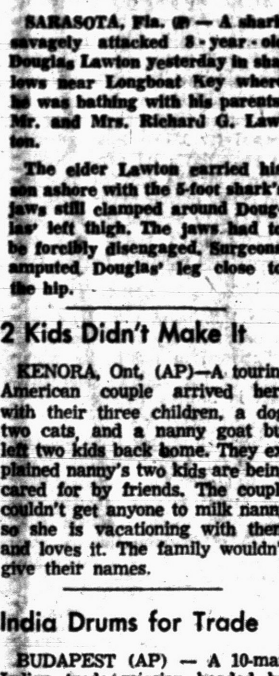

The elder Lawton carried his son ashore with the 5-foot shark's jaws still clamped around Douglas' left thigh. The jaws had to be forcibly disengaged. Surgeons amputed Douglas' leg close to the hip.

Westerners in Iraq Appear to Be Safe

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Westerners appear to be safe in Iraq now, and this ancient capital's large foreign colony reports no trouble at all since the July 14 revolution.

On that day three Americans, a German and a Briton were killed by mobs but the rioters were quickly brought under control by the new republican regime.

Most foreigners here seem convinced the army and the new government did not anticipate anti-Western violence during the uprising. The army's fault lay in letting the mobs get out of control.

Since July 14 the army has taken special precautions to protect foreigners.

Ghana Ready to Aid U. N. Police Force

NEW YORK (AP)—The African republic of Ghana, which is 16 months old, is willing to supply a third of its armed forces for a United Nations police force in Lebanon.

Ghana would contribute one of its three battalions—500 men—if the U. N. Security Council or General Assembly recommends a U. N. police force for the Middle East nation, Ghana's Prime Minister said last night.

Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, head of the African nation, said on an NBC-TV program that if no one else in the U. N. General Assembly proposes replacing U. S. troops with an international military force, Ghana will make the suggestion.

He neither approved nor disapproved of the U. S. troop movement to Lebanon.

News Analyst Not Optimistic

Fears Gab Fest at Summit Parley

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev could just as well stay home—for all the good they'll do — if they turn their summit meeting into a gab session on whostruck-John?

That's what they've been doing so far in their exchange of letters: they've clubbed each other over the head, each blaming the other side for stirring up the Middle East.

Khrushchev has written vaguely about "recommendations" and "solutions" at the summit meeting. Eisenhower, even more vague on what the meeting should do, so far hasn't even said he'd be there himself—though others say he will if there is a meeting.

Both men have an opportunity to come up with solid, creative proposals for assuring Middle East peace and stability. There's no indication either will go to the meeting with such proposals ready.

Even if they do it won't be easy to get agreement. For example: if all the Arab states were linked together peacefully tomorrow, how could they then be kept from trying to destroy the Jewish state of Israel?

Most likely no solutions will come directly from the summit conference. Perhaps because of time and details involved, the most that can be expected in some general agreement on working for a solution.

Then the matter could be turned over to the big powers' foreign ministers to be hammered out. And then the chances for accomplishing exactly nothing look bright indeed.

That's what happened after the summit meeting three years ago. The generalized and high-sounding pronouncements of West and East at Geneva in 1955 evaporated when the foreign ministers later got together to work them out.

The Eisenhower-Khrushchev letters on this expected meeting have been highly self-conscious performances, with the whole world watching.

Khrushchev, handed a free chance to wrap himself in the role of peacemaker, called for a summit meeting and blamed the West for Mideast troubles. It was a wonderful propaganda chance. And he took it.

He put Eisenhower on the defensive. Much of the President's answering letter was taken up with explaining the American position and trying to dump the basic blame on the Soviet Union for what happened among the Arabs.

Once the two men get together the world is going to look for something more substantial than propaganda. So both will be under pressure to produce solutions instead of denunciations. This may not deter them.

But if one side balks at what looks like reasonable proposals from the other, everyone will be in a position to see who's stalling. Look out if there is only general, but no detailed, agreement.

With the summit meeting ended and the job of working out details later handed over to the foreign ministers, everything, as in the past, can be quietly strangled.

Colavito Wrecks Yanks Twice

By The Associated Press

Just when Casey Stengel was ready to retire to his ivory tower to dream World Series strategy, along came this fellow Rocky Colavito. When Colavito finished his Sunday workout, Casey's New York Yankees had lost a doubleheader to Cleveland.

Rocky started slowly. In the 7-2 first game he hit a two-run homer. But in the 7-2 second game with the score tied, the bases full and Bob Turley, the major's leading pitcher, on the mound, he smashed another homer.

Boston galloped back into the midst of things, only 14 game back, by hitting four homers during a 7-3 romp over Chicago. Washington's Cuban pitching pair of Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos downed Detroit twice, 4-3 and 6-1, and dropped the Tigers into seventh place 19½ games behind the leader. Roger Maris sent five runs across the plate as Kansas City turned on their Baltimore tormentors for an 11-6 victory.

The Yanks took a seven-game winning streak into Cleveland where they hadn't lost in seven previous starts. Cal McLish broke the string with an eight-hitter in the first game while Colavito and Billy Harrell hit home runs.

Jim "Mudcat" Grant was even better in the second game with a three-hitter. Hank Bauer's single with one out in the sixth was the first Yankee hit. The score was tied at 2-2 when Colavito hit his grand slam off Turley.

Jim Piersall, Don Buddin, Jack Jensen and Frank Malzone hit home runs in Boston's winning attack. Jensen's clout was his 29th high in the majors, knocking out Billy Pierce. Bud Byerly won in relief.

Chico Carrasquel and Joe Demaestri, hit home runs against Baltimore and Bob Nieman hit a pair for the losers. Ned Garver won with relief help from Murry Dickson. George Zuverink was the loser.

Last Place Not Far Off as Nats Win Two Games

Aguirre, Lary Blasted as Bengals Drop, 4-3, 6-1 Decisions

DETROIT (AP) — Quote from Bill Norman on July 23: "No club can be this bad!"

July 28—"Sez who?"

The Detroit Tiger manager may have unknowing slipped himself in as a candidate for making the understatement of the year when he said yesterday "we're in a rut."

The Tigers dropped a doubleheader to the last-place Washington Senators by scores of 4-3 and 6-1. They have been beaten in 11 of their last 13 games, are eight games under the .500 mark and hold only a 2½ game edge on the Senators.

Manager Cookie Lavagetto got sound pitching Sunday for the doubleheader sweep that gave the Nats the weekend series three games to one. Camilo Pascual, 23-year-old righthander, and fellow Cuban Pedro Ramos, who is only 22, bewildered the inept Detroit batters.

The Tigers got only nine hits in the two games and three of the five safeties off Ramos in the nightcap were the scratch variety. Only damaging blow was Bob Hazel's pinch home run that ruined Ramos' shutout in the eighth.

After taking three wallopings from the New York Yankees, the Tigers figured to get well against the tallend Senators. Instead they are 19½ games off the pace and one length behind sixth-place Cleveland, which took a double win from the Yankees.

"We're snakebit," said a downtrodden Norman, whose record as Tiger manager now is 22-23. "They made some fantastic plays against us."

Frank Lary and Hank Aguirre failed him in starting roles Sunday, Lary lasting six innings in the opener and Aguirre failing to survive two rounds in the nightcap. Though the pitching was bad, the performances of the Detroit batters would hardly inspire anyone to great mound feats.

Seven times in the first game Detroit batters struck out—five times on called strikes. Tito Francona twice took third strikes, once in the ninth inning when the tying run was doubled at second on the tailend of the strikeout. He acted similarly in a pinch hitting role in the second game.

A Royal Oak resident, Norm Zauchin, smacked his 11th home run and got the Senators off to a 2-0 lead early against Lary. Roy Sievers had four hits and Eddie Yost three, giving the Nats enough runs to ward off a ninth inning threat.

There was no sign of a Tiger threat in the finale. The Senators hopped on Aguirre for five runs in the second inning and that was the ball game.

FLAG AVENUE — Apropos of the title of the nation's top skeet-shooting event, the display of American flags along the entrance drive at OCSC, Waterford, might well be called "National Drive." Ex-prexy Bob White of OCSC is the figure at right. The wind-blown banners set a perfect pattern for the current NSSA championships (known this year as the World Championships). First of six straight days of shotgun action was under way today.

Jewelers Win Amateur Day Feature

A four-run rally in the 6th enabled Shaw's Jewelers to pull out a 7-5 victory over the Class A League All Stars in the feature game of the annual Amateur Day program staged Sunday at Wisner Field by the Pontiac Baseball Federation.

The Cranbrook Class D nine, B & B Sewer Cleaners (Midgets) and Little Braves (Widgets) were other victors on the four-game slate.

The All Stars took a 5-3 lead into the last of the 6th but Terry Thomas iced the decision when he homered following two walks. Hal Trott added an insurance marker when he singled and moved around the bases on a steal, an error and Ken Stanick's single.

Jim Berg's two-run double started the All Stars off in front in the 2nd. Shaw's tied it in the same frame only to have the losers add another in the 3rd. Shaw's matched that in the 4th but successive triples by Ben Robinson and Gene Cox, the latter's 2nd rbi, made it 4-3 after five.

Al Hayward opened the All Star 6th with a double and scored on an error and John Shanks' single but Shaw's wouldn't quit.

The Jewelers' 4th hurler Don Picman was the winner. Toney Lothery was the loser in relief.

Cranbrook also had to come from behind to edge Don Nicholie 3-2 in five innings. All three crossed in the final frame when John Plew and Tom Demrich laced singles along with two walks, two hit batters and an error. Plew has three of the winner's five safeties. Dan Kimmel and Daryl Lovell combined for the four Nicholie bingles.

B & B shutout Pontiac Boys' Club 4-0 in three innings as each team garnered two hits. Milford Hillie's 2nd inning single was a big blow for B & B.

The Little Braves scored their runs in the top of the first and held off Hudson Hornet rallies in each inning to win 3-2 in two innings.

Steve Renda opened the game with a single and Scott Galbraith walked. Then George Beebe belted a homer to decide the outcome before there were any outs. Winner Tom LaVerdue got all six outs on strikeouts but gave up seven walks forcing in one of the losers' runs. Mike Bloom batted in the other.

U. S. Holds Slight Lead in Russian Track Meet

MOSCOW (UPI) — A surprising showing by the supposedly weak American women gave the United States track and field team some hope today of beating the Russian team even under the scoring system the Russians are using.

The Soviets—much stronger in women's events than in men's—say points for the two divisions should be combined. Under that system, the United States held an unexpected 83-75 lead going into today's concluding program at huge Lenin Stadium.

The Americans say that points should be counted separately. Under that system, the U.S. men were leading, 61-45, in their events; the Russian women were leading 38-22, in their events.

The surprising U. S. lead after the first day was the result of two upset wins by American women—lanky Barbara Jones of Chicago, who took the 100 meter dash in 11.6 seconds and the women's 400-meter relay.

But Ed Temple, Tennessee State coach who directs the U. S. women, said he didn't see how "we can do better today." In contrast, Avril Korobkov, coach of the Russian women, said, "we will do better today."

That forecast indicated a nip-and-tuck race down the wire for the team title.

If so, the victory could hinge on the one dispute Sunday—the disqualification of Gordon McKenzie of New York in the 10,000 meter run. McKenzie slowed to a trot because he was far behind and officials ruled him out, costing the United States team one point.

The official said McKenzie was disqualified for "changing to a walk" but Eastment protested that he "never heard" of that being a foul before.

"We may need that point," said Eastment.

The final result also could hinge on the outcome of the spectacular decathlon duel between Rafer Johnston of Kingsburg, Calif., and Russia's Vassily Kuznetsov.

After the first five events yesterday, both men were running ahead of the pace Kuznetsov followed recently in setting a new world record of 8,013 points. Johnson was slightly ahead with 4,529 points to Kuznetsov's 4,420.

Western Michigan sprinter Ira Murchison of Chicago broke the tape for a first place in 100-meter dash with a time of 10.2 seconds. He also ran on the winning U.S. 400-meter relay team that covered the distance in 39.6 seconds.

Hayes Jones of Pontiac finished second in 110-meter high hurdles. He was clocked at 14 seconds, one tenth of a second off the winning pace.

In addition to the last five events of the decathlon, men's events today included the 200 meter dash, high jump, 400 meter hurdles, discus throw, 800 meter run, and 1,600 meter relay in which the United States was favored; the 1,500 meter run, 3000 meter steeplechase, 5,000 meter run, and hop-step-and-jump in which Russia was favored; and the javelin throw which was rated even.

Americans won seven of the 10 men's events contested yesterday and surprised by taking two of the five women's events.

Miss Suggs '73 Clinches Crown

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP)—Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., shot par 73 yesterday to win the first French Lick Women's Open golf tournament after trailing until the 70th hole of the 72-hole tournament.

Miss Suggs took an even 300 strokes for the four rounds, four over women's par for the hilly French Lick course, to win her fourth ladies Professional Golf Assn. tournament this year.

The $1,313 prize money yesterday gave her a total of $9,133, tops among the lady pros.

Marlene Bauer Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., was one stroke in front going into the 17th green of yesterday's last round, but batted away the advantage with five putts.

Miss Hagge wound up in third place with a 303 total, and Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay finished second with a 302.

Pine Lake Swimmers Edge Birmingham CC

Swimming among the Pine Lake Country Club's youngsters is "big business," and the squad coached by William (Bill) Lesche has won two and tied another meet so far this summer.

In Sunday's meet at Birmingham CC pool, Pine Lake won 116-103. Previously Pine Lake tied with Bloomfield Open Hunt Club squad at 108, and defeated Meadowbrook's Club team, 129-90. Orchard Lake will provide the competition Wednesday at Pine Lake.

SHOWS OFF TOP TROPHY — One of the important jobs performed by OCSC people in connection with the "world" skeet tourney at Waterford, in which real competition gets under way today, has been pre-registration of accommodations for many visitors. Mrs. Don Eakle, club office head who did this task, shows off the big sterling silver all-around championship trophy that goes to the top gun this weekend.

Miner Cliett Owns Brilliant Record

14-Year-Old Skeeter Champion of Champs

A 14-year-old youngster with a brilliant record as a big-time competitor in the exacting and tough skeet-shooting business, today begins defense of his National Skeet Association champion of champions crown, won in 1957.

Miner Cliett, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cliett, Childersburg, Ala. won his title in a field that included many state and other champions. He beat the best of them with 100 straight. He also won the junior high-over-all at Reno.

Miner is fresh from the recent Jacksonville, Florida Southeastern shoot where he hit 93x100 with the little 410, was 100 straight with the 20, 197x200 with the big 12-gauge. His efforts made him the Southeastern 410, and 28 champion, and runnerup in 20-gauge. He lost the 20 in a shootoff, and was edged one bird in the 12. He won the high-over-all by a 9-point margin, missed only 10 targets in 500 and overshot his nearest rival by 19.

Back in 1954, at the Nationals at Waterford, Miner was only 11, but he won the 20-gauge junior title.

The quiet southerner doesn't plan any full-time career with the shotguns. He prefers hunting (quail, doves and ducks) to skeet shooting, but goes in for the clay-bird events out of hunting seasons.

Miner is a 9th grader (this fall) in high school, plays saxophone in the school band, plans a college education after graduation. He has not decided where he will go to college, isn't certain of what he wants as a career, but it will not be as a professonal shotgunner.

Babe Ruth Crown to Detroit Team

The defending state champion Northwest Detroit Nationals gained the right to shoot for a repeat in this weekend's Michigan Babe Ruth playoffs by defeating the Birmingham Pioneers 6-5 in the district championship game at Southfield yesterday.

Birmingham held a 5-2 lead until the Detroiters tallied four times in the 6th on one hit. Birmingham loaded the bases in the 7th but failed to score.

Northwest reached the finals by blanking Walled Lake 5-0 after the Pioneers defeated the Birmingham Satellites 7-2 Saturday. Northwest outhit Walled Lake only 4 to 2. The Satellites blew a 2-0 lead.

Police Shooters Do OK in 2 Tests

Pontiac's police pistol shooters made two match trips last week, met some of the top marksmen of the state and returned home with a "split" and a two-win shutout.

The Pontiac gun swingers divided their match at Grand Rapids, losing the first round 1399-1343, but taking the finale 1395-1385. At Lansing the Pontiac team of Robert Verhine, Ted Villela, Harry Nye, Floyd Blackmon and Jim Lafnear fired 1366 to 1209 and 1380 to 1285, taking both ends of the test. John Bridgewater was the fifth man at Grand Rapids, but did not shoot at Lansing.

Hegan Sold, Lau Up Again

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Hegan is gone and Charlie Lau, the Romulus boy who has been up and down with the Detroit Tigers like a yo-yo, is up again.

The Tigers dealt Hegan to the Philadelphia Phillies of the National League yesterday. In return they got the $20,000 waiver price and a 26-year-old catcher by the name of John Turk.

Turk will report to the Tigers' Augusta club in the Sally league. He recently completed three years in the air force. An Ohio University graduate, Turk batted .357 at Salt Lake City three seasons ago.

Lau was hitting .280 with the Tigers' top farm club, the Charleston Senators in the American Association.

Hegan, who will be 38 next Sunday, hit only .192 in 45 games. He had 25 base hits and only seven runs batted in for 130 at-bats.

The Tigers said that Tom Yewcic was being called up from Birmingham to replace Lau at Charleston.

8 'Perfects' Mark NSSA's Opener

By H. GUY MOATS

National Skeet Association's first "World" championships got off to a resounding start Sunday, with a record round of firing in the pre-tourney event at Oakland County Sportsmen's club.

The largest field of shooters ever assembled for this "tuneup" test turned in eight "hundred straights," an unprecedented showing. All of the perfects came in the top class, AA, where several OCSC and Michigan shooters were listed.

The eight "straights" were fired by Class AA gunners. They are Ains Borsum, Baldwin, Mich.; Igor Pezas, Greenwch, Conn., shipowner; Robert R. Bogie, Loon Lake, N. Y.; W. F. Hagen, Northbrook, Ill.; Ed Mass, shooter; George Notte, Irvington, N.J.; R. L. Hockley, Baltimore, and C. W. Altman of Thomasville, Pa.

Among the top local area shooters in the event were NSSA prexy Chesley Crites of OCSC and Detroit, with 99x100; Howard Confer, Detroit, 98; Bob Thiefels of OCSC and Pontiac, 97; Mrs. Florence Schmidt, Ferndale, 98; Bill Ellis, Mt. Clemens, 94; Jim Ashmore, Ferndale (ex OCSC prexy) 97.

The "big noise" for the actual start of competition was set for today, with two events scheduled. The sub-small gauge, with marksmen and feminine experts using the little .410 over a 100 target route began at 9 a.m. Ed Calhoun of Salisbury, Md., who has held the title the last two years, is the defending open champion.

This afternoon's Champion of Champions event, usually held in midweek, holds the spotlight, largely because the defending champion is a 14-year-old from Alabama. Miner Cliett of Childersburg won the title over a strong field of state champions, and is back to defend the crown.

Small-gauge championship, with Pontiac's Bob Tiefels' the 28-gauge champion seeking another title opens Tuesday's shooting at 9 a.m. Eddie Brown, 13-year-old Birmingham star, will defend his sub-junior title in the afternoon event Tuesday.

One of the largest delegations from any sector, outside the Middle West, was that from Texas, that rolled in Saturday. The San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Corpus Christi and other parties included some of the NSSA's most prominent skeeters.

"I was surprised" said NSSA manager George White, "at the unusually large size of the Texas contingent." It included a number of defending champions headed by 76-year-old S. H. Gripp of Houston, several times senior champion.

Others were:

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alford Sr. of Dallas, for years among NSSA's leading competitors.

Kathy McGinn, ladies junior champion in 1957, and her dad, F. J. McGinn, of Houston.

Dr. Titus Harris, Titus Jr., and Edward of Galveston.

J. C. Roberts and son Liston, and Mrs. Roberts, Houston.

J. T. Curson, Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Garrett of Houston.

Joe H. Frost and son Joe Jr. San Antonio.

President of Texas Skeet Assn., NSSA director Morris L. Lichenstein Sr., and son, Morris Jr., Corpus Christi. Others from distant points, arriving Saturday, included Dr. and Mrs. Henry Rosenstein of Albuquerque, N.M.

A flying-skeet-shooting-family, riding their own plane was expected today. They are T.S. Scibienski, his wife Suzanne, and teen-age children, Helen and Stephen. All will shoot in this week's various events. Their home town is Corpus Christi.

2 Games Halted; Braves Regain Lead

Curfew Rule Hits NL Again

By The Associated Press

The good old Sunday curfew has done it again in the National League. Two games, stopped by the clock in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, will dangle on a limb of the law—unfinished until Sept. 9.

Milwaukee is ahead at the moment by one full game. You won't know until Sept. 9 whether the San Francisco Giants really are a half game or a game and a half behind. By that time, it may not matter.

When the clock hit 6:59 p.m. EDT Sunday baseball suddenly lost its legal standing in Pennsylvania. The umpires wired President Warren Giles to enter two more "suspended games" in the books. The only thing arrested was a potential winning rally by the Phillies.

Milwaukee moved out front by whipping the Chicago Cubs 4-1 with Henry Aaron driving in three runs and Carlton Willey winning his fourth since his recall from Wichita six weeks ago.

The Giants were knocked out of a first place tie by the Pirates. Bob Skinner's ninth inning home run tied the score and Dick Groat finally untied it with a sacrifice fly in the 14th for a 2-1 Pittsburgh decision.

The Pirates came from behind to tie the second at 3-3 when play was suspended with Pittsburgh batting in the eighth. Manager Billy Rigney of the Giants was ejected for stalling just before curfew fell.

Robin Roberts won his 199th game (10 this year) as the Phils squelched Los Angeles 7-4. Willie Jones hit two homers and Carl Sawatski one in that first game. The second game had degenerated into an exhibition of shoddy fielding with pitcher Bob Giallombardo making two wild throws and Charley Neal one just before curfew time. The Phils had rallied to go ahead 2-1 and they were still batting with two out in the sixth inning when play was suspended. The first game had been held up one hour and 44 minutes by rain.

Cincinnati remained tied with Pittsburgh for fourth place by splitting two with St. Louis. After Larry Jackson pitched the Cards to a 4-3 victory in the opener, the Redlegs bombed Bob Mabe and his successors 10-1 in the second game, delayed by rain for one hour and 23 minutes.

Willey was in charge until the ninth when he loaded the bases with one out. McMahon came on to retire the side with one pitch as Sammy Taylor rapped into a double play. Dave Hillman was the loser.

The first game at Pittsburgh was a tight battle between Ronnie Kline and Al Worthington in the early stages. The lone Giant run was a homer by Ray Jablonski. Frank Thomas' two-run homer in the sixth inning of the second game helped the Pirates overcome an early Giant lead.

Roberts lasted all the way to take the first game in Philadelphia although clipped for 12 hits including a homer by Don Zimmer. Little Zimmer also homered in the second game.

Alex Kellner was Cincinnati's second game winner at St. Louis with the tail end of the Redlegs' batting order — Don Hoak, Roy McMillan and Kellner—driving in eight of the runs. Frank Robinson, whose ninth inning two-run homer almost upended Jackson in the opener, had a 5-for-8 day.

McIntire to Lead Curtis Cuppers

CHICAGO (AP)—The U. S. Curtis Cup team, bolstered by one of its star's victory in the women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament, is warmed up for its matches with Britain's best next week.

The team of six, selected from a group of eight, will not be named by the non-playing captain, Mrs. Charles Dennehy of Lake Forest, Ill., until Aug. 7.

But Mrs. Dennehey probably will find it difficult not to name Barbara McIntire of Jupiter, Fla., and Ann Quast of Everett, Wash.

Miss McIntire gave a splendid demonstration of pressure shooting in defeating Miss Quast 2 and 1 in 35 holes to take the women's Western crown Saturday.

Perc McConner and Len Mazur combined to pitch three-hit ball as Shaw's Jewelers nipped Charlie Justice and the Wilson's team 3-2 in nine innings in the feature of a softball exhibition doubleheader Saturday night at Beaudette Park.

Justice went all the way allowing seven hits. He scored one run after doubling for the game's only extra base hit. In a girls' game, the Pontiac All Stars blanked Center Line 6-0 on a two-hitter by Katy Boykins. The Stars later walloped Commerce 10-2 in a city league game at North Side.

Burke and Rosburg Bow in Three-Way Playoff

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fondling a new check for $2,800, Art Wall Jr. must be thinking sweet thoughts today of a druggist at Honesdale, Pa.

The check is Wall's prize for defeating Bob Rosburg and Jack Burke yesterday on the first hole of a spine-tingling sudden death playoff in the Eastern Open Golf tournament.

The druggist is George Lang, a long time friend of Art's father, who is a veteran member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

Lang once owned the antique wooden-shafted putter with which Wall yesterday sank an eight-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole at Mt. Pleasant golf course. He gave the club to Art for a Christmas present 13 years ago and Wall has been using it in his climb to the top rung of the golf's success ladder.

Algerian Rebel Attacks Kill 4

37 Others Are Injured in Terrorist Outbreaks Over Past Weekend

ALGIERS (AP) — Algerian nationalist rebels killed at least four persons and injured 37 in terrorist attacks over the weekend.

In Algiers, 19 persons were wounded in two grenade attacks, the largest weekend casualty roll since the city underground network was declared 80 per cent smashed by the paratroopers of Maj. Gen. Jacques Massu last fall.

Green - bereted Foreign Legion paratroopers again moved into the ancient native Casbah of Algiers, the stronghold of the rebel spirit in the city. Once again Legion machine-gun patrols began to penetrate the dark, winding and smelly streets of the heavily congested Moslem quarter.

Among the weekend's victims was Ali Akrous, pro-French mayor of the village of Boudjima in the rebel - infested Kabylie Mountains. He was cut down by two pistol bullets as he ventured outside his village, held by a French army battalion.

Near Maillot, on the Algiers-Constantine highway, a Foreign Legionnaire, his wife and child were killed in a machine-gun attack on their car. Another Legionnaire and another child were injured.

The French command said a total of 48 rebels was killed and 12 captured in weekend military operations. Nine rebels were reported to have deserted rebel ranks to join the French.

Rush Nurses in Germany to Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Seventeen harried Army nurses began setting up an evacuation hospital near the Beirut International Airport today—and at least one man in Germany is wondering what happened to his date.

Capt. Eleanor Koziol of Columbus, Neb., was just going off duty to meet her date when word came to move out. She didn't have time to tell him she was going.

The nurses arrived from Germany Saturday. Some had as much as three hours notice to pack. But some had as little as 30 minutes.

Lt. Margaret L. Jaskosko, Salem, Ore., said she was on night duty when ordered to report. She was told, "Abandon everything personal and leave your car with friends."

All the nurses arrived in dungarees.

Most brought nothing but toilet articles and uniforms. But Lt. Sharon Johnstone, Bangor, Maine, brought along a couple of cotton dresses.

The hospital is being set up in an olive grove. Plans call for a 200-bed outfit until a rest hospital unit can be assembled. It will contain 400 beds.

Gary Cooper Will Star in Sea-Going Mystery

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Bossman Sol Siegel wasn't giving with the big talk when he said he'd get only the biggest stars for MGM movies—he's landed one of the biggest, Gary Cooper.

In a bit of unusual casting, Gary will play the captain of a ship on "The Wreck of the Mary Deare." This takes Gary to sea instead of to the big outdoor plains saddling his horse and galloping off in western style. The mystery novel by Hammond Innes is about a captain who mysteriously stays with his ship even after the crew has abandoned. Julian Blaustein is the producer.

While Elizabeth Taylor is sunning in La Jolla with Arthur Loew, Jr. and spending some time with her brother who lives there, the offers for her to star in a motion picture pour in.

Elizabeth only owes MGM one more picture which is to be made within three years. She's free to make a picture at any other studio she chooses, and from the clamor to get her she's wanted by many producers.

If, and only if Mike Todd Jr. can get a decent script out of "Imperial Woman," the Pearl Buck story, will she appear in this movie. Mrs. Buck's heroine is a domineering Chinese empress who stops at nothing to gain what she wants, even to sacrificing her only son.

This would call for real acting since in the book the empress is strong rather than beautiful.

Jayne Mansfield and Mickey Hargitay, sailing home on the Queen Mary, received a long distance telephone call from Al Zugsmith just before they left London. Al wants Jaynie and her muscleman to co-star as Adam and Eve. Now don't laugh—he really wants them to play in his picture of that title.

Jayne, of course, is under contract to 20th Century-Fox, so if this film is made it will have to be produced on the 20th lot, or MGM will have to borrow Mrs. Hargitay. However, it won't be made until after her baby is born in December.

I was glad to see John Houseman at Conrad Hilton's cocktail buffet dinner for his board of directors. John, head of Hilton's foreign activities, leaves for Cairo very soon, where Hilton has partially built one of the most beautiful hotels in the Hilton chain. I was there two years ago. Despite trouble with Nasser, Hilton insists he's going to open his new hotel.

Another trouble spot of the world Baghdad, will be visited by Houseman because before the Middle East went wild Hilton had made plans to build a hotel there. John goes to Cuba before he takes off for the Middle East.

He knows Nasser and he is such a diplomat Uncle Sam should call him to the White House.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Princess Meg Enjoying View of Her Mountain

BANFF, Alta. (AP)—Princess Margaret tours this resort town in the Canadian Rockies today, within sight of a mountain thoughtfully named after her.

The 8,508-foot peak was dubbed Princess Margaret Mountain this weekend when the sister of Britain's Queen began a brief rest visit midway in hr month's tour of Canada.

The princess attended services at St. George's-in-the-Pines Anglican Church yesterday, then went horseback riding through the countryside around Lake Minnewanka. With her was a lady-in-waiting and mounted police guards.

Where Is Winter?

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — What happened to winter? That's the question in Argentina where winter officially is June 21-Sept. 21. But July temperatures have run mainly in the 70s, even into the 80s and low 90s.

Economic Climate in State Under Fire

LANSING (AP)—A top Republican spokesman took a few new licks today at the much-belabored theme of Michigan's economic climate.

Rep. George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland), House speaker, said Governor Williams is evading the issue.

"Last year, when anyone tried to discuss the consistent downward trend of the Michigan economy under the Williams' administration, he cried 'bogey-man'," Van Peursem said.

"This year he is trying to bypass the vital issue of Michigan's economic climate by shouting 'big lies'."

Van Peursem declared it is a fact that business has left Michigan, that the state has lost many industrial jobs and that the Michigan economy has been going downhill.

"The Governor might try telling the thousands of unemployed workers at the Kaiser - Frazer, Hudson, Packard, Hayes Manufacturing, Philco, Bundy Turbine, Daisy Air Rifle and many others that they're not really out of work," Van Peursem said.

"He might tell them that the companies they used to work for haven't really left the state for a friendlier political and economic climate—maybe they'll believe it.

"It was just a year ago," Van Peursem said, "that the Governor was plugging for 75 million dollars in new taxes through a corporation income tax piled on top of the business activities tax. This constant threat of more taxes proposed by the Governor holds back industrial development."

TODAY'S 2-MINUTE MYSTERY

By DONALD J. SOBOL

"Jane left the house at 3 o'clock yesterday for the doctor's office," said her father. "She never came home. Her valise is still upstairs in her room, fully packed."

"She had planned on a trip?" asked Haledjian.

"To Mexico. Jane's a fashion model. She was to take part in a big fashion show in Mexico City tomorrow. Her appointment with the doctor was for a vaccination."

"Did she keep it?"

"Well, I don't rightly know what doctor she went to, but she must have seen one."

"How can you be sure of that?"

"Charles Motley says so. I mean, he overheard Jane make a remark to that effect. Charlie lives next door, and about 5 o'clock as he was returning from work, he saw Jane and a man arguing near the bus stop on Weaver Street. The man gripped Jane's arm. She pulled away, protesting 'Don't, Ramon. I've just been vaccinated there. Stop it, you're hurting me!' "

"Didn't Charlie assist her?"

The father shifted uncomfortably. "Jane broke off her engagement with Charlie last month. I suppose

He saw Jane and a man arguing.

he was still brooding. He saw this man and Jane enter a car and drive off. He didn't think it important till he learned Jane had vanished. Now he won't forgive himself for not helping her."

"Can Charlie describe the man with Jane?"

"A slight man with a waxed moustache. Wore a dark gray overcoat that fitted too tight. Charlie thinks he's seen the fellow with Jane before."

Haledjian pursed his lips and reached for the telephone. "Inspector Winters will want to have a long, long talk with Mr. Charlie Motley!"

WHY DID HALEDJIAN DOUBT THE EX-FIANCE'S STORY?

Charlie Motley's slip was in stating that Jane had been hurt when the man gripped her vaccinated arm. A fashion model, who must often wear sleeveless creations, would never disfigure her arm with a vaccination mark. She would be vaccinated on the hip.

Too Many Miners Now

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungary has a rare surplus—coal miners. After the Hungarian revolt of 1956, when many coal miners just disappeared, the Hungarian regime boosted miners' wages for incentive. It worked. Hungary now has 96,000 coal miners, coal production has outrun its quota, and miners are being diverted to new jobs.

Parrot's Politics Fatal

TUCUMAN, Argentina (AP) — Juan Carlos Maruesini wants to prosecute his wife Delia Luisa for killing his parrot for the things the bird kept saying. She explained to police it was a day-long rendition of marching songs in praise of ex-dictator Juan Peron, and she's anti-Peron. Police are looking up penalties, if any, for parrotcide.

Generals 'Inspire Love' of Troops in Red China

HONG KONG (AP)—Generals in Communist China's army are working side by side with privates at the soldier's traditional duties of picking up stray cigarette butts and doing kitchen police.

"The enlisted men were surprised and some of them were a little afraid," said one Communist newspaper reporting the generals' appearance in work uniforms. "Soon, however, fear was changed to love, and fraternal feelings were established."

The press did not say how the generals felt about the program, which is part of Communist China's new "five things in person campaign—seeing, hearing, thinking, writing and ideological working."

Neighboring Shiekhdom Sends Iraq Well Wishes

KUWAIT (AP) — The Kuwait government wished the new regime in neighboring Iraq "every prosperity and progress" yesterday.

Kuwait does not have diplomatic representation with any state but this in effect amounts to official recognition by Kuwait of the new government in Baghdad. Britain handles foreign relations for the tiny, oil-rich sheikhdom on the Persian Gulf.

More Rabies in Wilds

WINNIPEG (AP) — Dog rabies in the United States has dropped 68 per cent in the last 10 years, a U.S. official told Canadian veterinarians. But, he added, rabies among wild animals has doubled. That was the recent report of Dr. E. S. Tierkel, director of rabies control for the U.S. Public Health Service.

Grain Prices Ease Slightly

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices were slightly easier today in early activity on the Board of Trade.

Dealers said the pressure appeared mainly to be hedge selling from heavy cash grain receipts. Chicago received 932 cars of wheat, the heaviest receipts for a single day this year.

All the arrivals were destined for commercial channels. More than 200 cars of corn also came in for the trade.

Wheat was ⅜ to ⅝ cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, September $1.85; corn ¼ lower to ¼ higher, September $1.28¾; oats ¼ to ½ lower, September 62½; rye ½ to ⅞ lower, September $1.26; soybeans ¼ to ⅞ higher, September $2.27⅝; lard 10 to 17 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $12.42.

Export business through the government subsidy plan was small. Only 63,000 bushels of corn were sold on subsidy bids of 19 to 20 cents a bushel. There were no rye bids and all oats bids were rejected.

Water Diversion Plan Opposed

Illinois Bid to Increase Lake Michigan Intake Seen as Seaway Risk

WASHINGTON (AP) — A deluge of opposition to Illinois' proposal to divert more Lake Michigan water came today from other Great Lakes states.

Testimony in oppositionn to a House-approved bill authorizing additional diversion was given a Senate public works subcommittee by, among others, Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, that state's two senators, as well as those from other states bordering the lakes.

Harriman, whose testimony was supplemented by that of chairman Robert Moses of the Power Authority of New York State, said congressional approval of the bill would endanger the entire St. Lawrence Seaway.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago defended the proposal. The additional diversion, he said, would give Chicago new and needed health safeguards.

Also, he said, it would do much to aid the vast deevelopments now underway or the improvement of the Illinois waterway connecting the lake to the Gulf of Mexico and the Cal-Sag Waterway.

Daley said that in the opinion of of the best authorities, increasing the diversion from 1,500 cubic feet a second to 2,500 feet as proposed, would cause no adverse effect to any other community, to any other states, any other country, or to any private interest.

Ex-Pontiac Pastor's Two Children Drown

Two young children of a former Pontiac minister drowned Saturday when a motorboat overturned on the Manistee River near Mesick.

Carol Butler, 7, and her brother, Lee, 5, children of Rev. and Mrs. Drell J. Butler, died when a 16-foot boat, with a 40-horsepower motor, flipped on the backwaters of a dam on the river. Police said the boat was being operated by a 14-year-old boy who was rescued along with another companion.

Rev. Butler has been pastor of the Church of God at Remus, a position he took 10 months ago after serving as associate minister at Pontiac's First Church of God, 52 S. East Blvd.

Slate Rezoning Issue Tonight in Waterford

Slated for Waterford Township Board action tonight will be consideration of rezoning of a lot in Acre Heights Subdivision on Cooley Lake Rd., from residential to commercial, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

The Oakland County. Zoning Board turned thumbs down on the zoning change because it considered the area "spot zoning." However, township board members made a personal check this week and found that almost all of the area is zoned commercial.

In other business members will open bids at 8 p.m. for a new fire department truck to replace a 1941 model now in use at station No. 2.

The board has been notified by the Michigan State Highway Department that No Parking signs are in the process of being installed on both sides of U.S. 10 in front of Our Lady of the Lakes Church.

Sydney, Australia, has a population of about two million or about one-fifth that of all of Australia.

Stocks Post Small Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed a small edge to the upside in heavy early trading today.

Leading issues were mainly up fractions. There was an assortment of losers.

The generally higher tone was apparent from the opening. A good number of sizable blocks were traded. The ticker tape was late for nine minutes in the first half hour, falling behind floor transactions by two minutes at worst.

The market was following through from Friday's session when stocks approached 12-month highs in the heaviest trading of the year.

Reports that a price increase for aluminum may be announced soon brought demand for aluminum issues, but these shares showed scant change.

Firestone gained more than a point. Fractional gains were made by Kaiser Aluminum, Union Carbide, General Electric and American Airlines.

Licavoli Sentenced 2½ Years in Prison

DETROIT (AP)—Pete Licavoli, prohibition-era hoodlum who now has extensive real estate holdings in Tucson, Ariz., today was sentenced to 2½ years in prison and fined $10,000 for income tax evasion.

U. S. District Judge Theodore M. Levin postponed the start of sentence to Sept. 29 to allow Licavoli time to settle his business affairs.

Licavoli was accused of failure to pay $14,875 in income tax for 1950. He maintains a home outside of Detroit.

Licavoli's attorney, in asking for a postponement of the start of sentence, said Licavoli had a 200-unit housing project in Tucson and needed time to protect the investment of potential purchasers and the jobs of 125 workmen.

They Sniff Inflation Ahead

Bulls Confident Turn in Business Is Here

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The bulls are sniffing inflation ahead and are confident that the turn in business is here. That is why last week they bid up stock prices almost to the record high of a year ago.

In doing this they are putting their own interpretation on the Middle East crisis and on the effects of a possible visit of Khrushchev to these shores.

Corporate earnings statements for the first half of the year also look different to the bulls than to the bears. In fact the bulls are ignoring the numerous bears, whose betting on a further shake out in the market is shown by a record volume of short selling, (making a sales contract now in belief the stock can be bought later at a lower price to fulfill the contract at a profit).

The bulls also think the inventory trend is turning—from drastic paring of stocks to inquiries and actual orders that herald a rebuilding of stocks in the near future—with the Middle East playing a large role.

The bulls hold that the Middle East crisis is to be a war of nerves instead of bullets. This would support many of the forces making for further inflation: increased spending for defense, larger federal deficits, a higher debt ceiling. In other words, the government will be pumping more money into the economy by deficit spending than it will be taking out by tax collections. Business usually reacts to this by a spurt of activity on its own.

Inflation has another built in booster. This is the automatic rise in some wage scales, and the prospects of pay hikes in other industries — prospects which increased world tension and inflation of the monetary system make all the stronger.

Corporate earnings reports can be interpreted differently, depending on whether you're a bull or a bear.

The bear sees that in general corporate earnings are well below those of this time last year. Prices of many stocks are many times their present earnings per share—a higher ratio than many market consellors think healthy, judging by past performances of this market.

The bull notes the sizable list of companies reporting their earnings in the last three months were much better than in the first three months of the year. He deduces that the recession hit bottom about the time of the spring equinox and that the mild rebound in late spring will gain bounce in the fall.

The bull siezes on signs that consumers are spending a bit more now than in the uncertain days of late winter, that increased defense spending is beginning to show, that industrial output rose in June and the factory work week lengthened.

To the cautious this adds up to an end of the recession—and not necessarily to a reason for a renewed bull market in stocks.

But the bull scents renewed inflation born of world tension and federal deficits. He expects business to react enthusiastically.

And that could be why you see bulls pushing The Associated Press average of 60 stocks to 183, just five points below its year ago level, just six points below the record high of July 12, 1957—and a spanking 32 points above its level at the start of this year.

Oakland Police Net Snares Fugitive Jackson Desperado

Captured fugitive Robert D. Kelley, who led police in a manhunt from Jackson to Flint Saturday, failed to pierce a tight Oakland County police net designed to ensnare him late Saturday.

Kelley, 29, was taken into custody by troopers Maurice Larsen and Gary Powell of the Pontiac State Police Post.

The escapee had picked up a cab at the Holly Greyhound Bus Station. The cab driver, Ronald Tomlinson, 23, of 306 E. Union St., Fenton, said,

"I had an idea who he was after he'd been in the cab for a while. All I thought about was figuring up a way to get rid of him."

Tomlinson said that Kelley talked only about the weather during the 20 to 30 minute ride.

"At first he wanted to go to Pontiac, then he changed his mind and wanted the edge of Detroit," said Tomlinson.

Tomlinson said the only time he was really scared was when he saw police roadblock at M15 and U.S. 10.

SCARY MOMENT

"I was really getting scared when I saw the police wave us to a stop. I wondered what he'd do. When the trooper told me to get out of the cab, I was sure happy," he said with a smile.

Kelley said, at the Pontiac Post: "I knew I was all washed up when I saw all the police cars passing us in the other direction. I was tired of running anyway," he sighed.

Kelley was sent back to Flint where he is being held at the Flint City Jail.

This was the end of a widespread manhunt set off Friday when Kelley escaped from a prison farm near Jackson, kidnaped a Jackson woman, forced her at knifepoint to drive him to Dearborn, and then stole her car.

The search turned to Flint Saturday when the car was found abandoned three blocks from the home of Kelley's parents.

Kelley, who was serving 7½ to 15 years for the 1956 armed robbery of a Flint gas station, returned to the same station and robbed it of $45 after tying up the two attendants.

After the holdup Kelley forced his way at gunpoint the car of Chester Gibson, Sr., of Paynesville, Ohio, and on threat of killing Gibson's family ordered him to drive out of town.

At Holly, Kelley heeded Gibson's pleas to let him go and jumped from the car. The frightened family drove back to Flint before reporting the kidnaping to police.

Two local troopers, Charles Hendershot and Delmar Tervo, luckily escaped injury in a smashup involving their car as they hurried to set up a roadblock at M87 and U.S. 10 moments before Kelley's arrest.

Chrysler Denies Plans to Move

Refutes Statement by Ohio C. of C. Director to the Contrary

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. spokesmen have denied a report that the firm will move its Detroit plant to Findlay, Ohio.

Albert E. Redman, a director of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, had told a group of touring Michigan businessmen that "it's pretty certain the Chrysler plant in Detroit will move to Ohio because it cannot expand where it is."

Redman said the auto company recently purchased a 200-acre plot outside Findlay.

A Chrysler spokesman confirmed the purchase but said there are "no immediate plans" to build a plant on the site.

The Michigan group has been visiting Indiana and Ohio to learn how those states attract new industry.

Nerve or Bad Memory?

ST. CROIX BEACH, Wis. (UPI) — Service station attendant Ronald Anderson told authorities that a bandit who held him up two weeks ago either has a short memory or a collossal nerve. Anderson said the bandit returned during the weekend to buy gasoline.

U. S. Track Team Leads Russians by 13 Points Now

MOSCOW (UPI) — The United States won six of the first eight events on the concluding program of its two-day track and field meet against Russia's top athletes today. This gave the United States a 13-point lead in the overall team standings.

After 20 events, the United States had increased its lead to 113-100 in over-all scoring. In the men's competition, the Americans led 81-58. Russian women were ahead 42-43.

Earlene Brown, 220-pound Los Angeles housewife, scored the day's bigges surprise when she won the women's shot put. The event had been virtually conceded to Galina Zybina of Russia. Mrs. Brown hurled the shot 54 feet, 34 inches.

News in Brief

MacKay, Gibson Win Tennis Titles

HAVERFORD, Pa. (AP)—Barry MacKay rallied from seven match points to win the 59th annual Pennsylvania lawn tennis championship in a five-set marathon battle with fellow Davis Cup hopeful Alejandro Olmedo, 6-8, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 14-12.

MacKay, 22-year-old Dayton, Ohio, tennis star, broke through his rival from Peru in the 21st game of the fifth set with a smashing service return down the line for an advantage. He then forced the U.S. intercollegiate champion into a volleying error to grab command of the stirring match.

MacKay is among the entries in the Colorado State tourney which opened today.

Althea Gibson won the women's championship by whipping 18-year-old California girl Sally Moore 7-5, 2-6, 6-4.

Houston Will Seek Major League Club

HOUSTON (AP)—With wealthy men who claim to know Houston's big league baseball chances best, it's no longer "if" but "when."

Harris County property owners, say oil rich syndicate members, knocked out any possible "if" Saturday with a thumping majority favoring construction of a 20 million dollar sports palace, in a revenue bond election.

The Houston group concedes they'll have to let the majors at least finish out the season intact. But come October they'll be in there bidding, if not privately so on the side before that time.

Detroit Boat 4th in Coast Meet

TAHOE CITY, Calif. (AP)—The 2½-ton Maverick held the lead today for national hydroplane championship honors after winning the sixth Mile High Regatta on Lake Tahoe.

Far behind in second place was Miss Bardahl of Seattle with Czech driver Miro Slovak at the controls. Miss Bardahl was timed at 86.621 m.p.h. In third place was Thriftaway Too, driven by Byron Wygle of Seattle, 82.398. Gale V. Lee Schoenith of Detroit, was fourth, 80.771. Muvalong, Red Loomis of Monrovia, Calif., was fifth with no time reported, and sixth was Wildroot Charlie, driven by Bob Schroeder of Buffalo, N.Y. who dropped out with an oil leak.

2,500 in Archery Meet at Grayling

GRAYLING (AP) — Some 2,500 archers shot their arrows into the air today in hopes of landing trophies for marksmanship at the 13th annual National Field Archery Tournament.

The four-day meet has championships at stake in six divisions — men's, women's, intermediate boys and girls (from 13 to 15 years of age) and junior boys and girls (under 12).

The tournament site is Michigan's National Guard training grounds at Camp Grayling.

A special course was laid out in the shape of 10 giant four leaf clovers, with each leaf containing 14 targets. Archers must make the rounds of all 680 targets to complete the course.

Presents Argument for Elective Courses

CHATHAM, Mich. (AP) — Fewer, rather than more, students should take high school science and mathematics, says a Michigan Tech official.

Theodore Pearce, director of extension services for the Houghton school, said that teaching everyone math, physics and chemistry "would so water down these subjects that progress in classes would be geared to the slowest students."

He told the Upper Peninsula Assn. of Secondary Schools that only one fourth of the nation's high school students have a real aptitude for those courses.

To meet the shortage of scientists and engineers, Pearce said, only students with demonstrated aptitudes should take such classes.

Air Force Laments Death in Crash

Michigan's Jet Ace Killed

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe of Cassopolis, Mich., remained the perfect pilot to the end. Yet all his intelligence, training and courage could not defend his life against a single stroke of bad luck — the engine of his F104A fighter jet failed Saturday when he was too low to bail out.

The 30-year-old engineer-pilot, who had been picked to carry this nation's colors into space in the rocket ship X15 next year, took off from this Air Force test center on a routine "test support mission."

He was to observe a second plane going through tests and report the results to the ground. His silver jet blazed skyward but apparently had an engine failure minutes after takeoff. It spun to earth 10 miles from the base, exploded and burst into flames.

Investigators said Kincheloe executed a difficult ejection maneuver "perfectly" but the ejection occurred too low. They said seat ejection from an F104A is downward because of the supersonic jet's high tail assembly.

"Because of this, a pilot making a low altitude ejection must first flip the plane over on its back so that he will be ejected upward. Kincheloe executed this maneuver, which is difficult at low altitude, perfectly, but it still was too late for his parachute to blossom fully.

Memorial services will be held here at 2 p.m. tomorrow with burial at 2 p.m. Friday at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C.

Death of the veteran of 101 missions in Korea, where he became a "double ace" with 10 Communist planes to his credit and this country's 10th jet ace, was described by the Air Force as a "terrific blow" to its program to penetrate space in a manned rocket ship.

"You can't buy a man like that for a half million dollars," an officer said. "He had a personality and judgment which no amount of money can buy. Training is important, but individuality is invaluable."

Early next year Kincheloe was to have taken the X15, a North American experimental plane, across the threshold of space. The X15 is designed to fly 100 miles up at a speed of 4,000 miles an hour.

HE'S NOT ABDICATING — Ed Sullivan plans to hold on to his Sunday night TV slot despite growing competition on other channels. Sullivan says he's unworried and that all three major networks can attract sizable audiences that evening. He plans more attention-getting shows on a single theme.

He's Unworried Over Rivals

Great Stoneface Says There's Room for All on Sunday Nights

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Ed Sullivan has no intention of abdicating his Sunday night TV spot because of debonair comics, gunslinging cardsharps or anyone else.

That was the word from the great Stoneface as he lingered here to pick up some suntan and loot. Sullivan is playing four weeks at the Desert Inn for mucho moola, but his debut in a nightclub doesn't mean he'll give up the home screen for the night spots. No, indeed. He's looking forward to his second decade on TV with much relish.

There had been talk in the trade circles that something's gotta give on Sunday night. At one time, Sullivan had it all to himself.

Then NBC moved in with its multi-talented boy, Steve Allen, who sometimes gunned down the Sullivan CBS rating. But both of them took some lessons in fancy shooting when ABC moved in with the Maverick boys. Starting a half-hour before the variety shows, it took over dominance of Sunday night.

"I'm not worried," said Sullivan. "There are enough sets in the country now so that all three of us can attract a sizable audience and still do our job of selling. Probably more people watch television on Sunday than any other night. It's a good time for people to turn on the set—they're through with their churchgoing, the weekend is almost over and they want a little entertainment.

After all, he pointed out, the real test of a show's worth is not who gets the highest rating, but the cost-per-thousand. That's Madison Avenue talk for how much the show costs in relationship to the audience attracted. There have been on complaints about Ed's CPT, so he figures to hang on.

Not only hang on. He's going to be in there fighting. And he figures he's got the formula to best Allen and the Mavericks.

His gimmick: Attention-getting shows on a single theme.

He cited that three of his recent programs topped the opposition. They were the Sullivan travelogue to the Brussels Fair, his 10th anniversary combo of clips from previous shows and the Moiseyev dancers.

"I'm looking for more such ideas," he said. "They aren't easy to find, but I'll hunt them down."

Despite his new fondness for programs with a basic theme, he declared that he does not foresee the demise of the variety format.

"It's as good as ever," he said, "because it is so flexible."

What is Sulliavn like in a night club? Just about the same as on the home screen. He emcees the twice-nightly "shew" and brings on 10 fast acts.

Madison Avenue Boys No Match for Nevada

By EARL WILSON

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev.—There was a shootin' over to Reno the other day but the thing that strikes me about this country where men are men and women are blackjack dealers, is the imaginative roadside advertising.

WILSON

Madison Avenue, mecca of the ad geniuses, should look in on the Nevada and California talent.

Right here in the rough, rugged, Lucius Beebe country, there's a silversmith whose sign reads, "Silversmith, Artist, Writer, Bum."

If I ever need any silversmithing done, I'm going to hear his bid first.

And how can you resist a joint that advertises its "Suicide Table?"

This is not so named because of somebody's wife's cooking. It's a feature at a place called "the Sawdust Corner"—and so's you won't miss it, pardner, it's across the street from "the Bucket of Blood.' And so's you won't miss that, ask around for a grizzled old character called "Hard Rock." He'll direct you and let you take his picture, and he'll also let you buy him a couple of drinks.

"Salvadore Dilly" is the name of an artist I discovered at Lake Tahoe.

He was invented by the club to use in its ads. And have you heard of "The Upside Down House?" It's a miner's shack found turned over on its roof. Must have been quite a party they had.

California's "Painless Parker," the chain dentist, has always enchanted me, and there are other real jewels, such as "Duds for Dudes" in Ventura.

Perhaps the big sign outside Stockton gave us the worst scare.

"The Man of Distinction May Become the Man of Extinction—Don't Be Fooled by the Liquor Ads," it shouted.

I find them quite wonderful and cannot resent them as a defacement of beauty as many do. They contribute some humor and we need that, too.

Religious Phrases Lose Significance Says Editor

CHICAGO (AP)—A church paper editor tartly criticized today the traditional phrases of conviction such as "Jesus saves," "God is love" and "Jesus is coming."

The phrases are basically meaningful, said the Rev. Dr. Theodore A. Gill, "but they have turned vulgar through being said so often, so repetitiously, and so flatly."

Dr. Gill is a Presbyterian minister and editor of the nondenominational Christian Century magazine, and of the Pulpit, a journal for preachers. He is lecturing this week on "Christian Cliches" to 200 ministers at McCormick Theological Seminary's annual summer conference.

He advised his fellow clergy men, "Don't try too hard to be pure spirits — none was ever created."

Dr. Gill, 38, of Winnetka, Ill., holds theological degrees from Princeton University, Union Theological Seminary and the University of Zurich, Switzerland.

No Delays When Ike Gets a Flat

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Eisenhower's automobile gets a flat tire, Eisenhower doesn't wait for a tire change. He changes cars.

That's what happened yesterday as the President and Mrs. Eisenhower were returning to the White House from a weekend rest at their Gettysburg farm.

A flat tire on Eisenhower's big black limousine halted the 10-car presidential motorcade just south of Frederick, Md., briefly blocking traffic on busy U. S. Route 240.

Reporters and Secret Service agents swarmed out of other cars in the motorcade to see what had happened. Eisenhower and his wife calmly stepped out of his car, glanced at the flat rear tire and then climbed into a spare limousine.

In less than 90 seconds, the motorcade was off again, leaving the first car and a driver at the side of the road.

A minimum of 52 pounds of protein food per person each year is recommended by diet authorities. It is found chiefly in meat and dairy products.

Wife Thanks Officer for Husband's Arrest

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — County Attorney J. Howard Edmondson is accustomed to letters from irate citizens but he got the surprise of his life when he read a letter from the wife of a traffic offender.

The wife thanked officials for arresting her husband and noted it was the "cheapest insurance I have that my husband will return home safely." She added that every traffic ticket reminded her truck-driver husband "he has been flirting with death."

New Federal Building For Detroit Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation for a new federal building in Detroit is now before Congress. It was introduced yesterday by Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich).

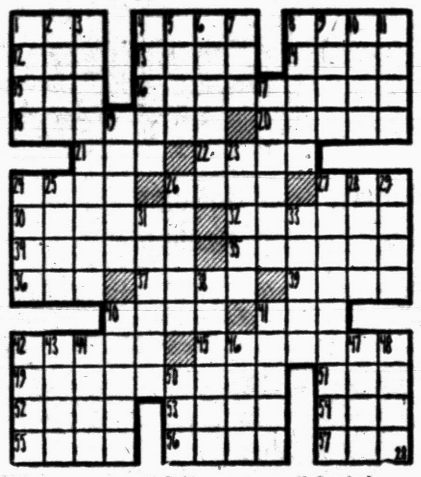

The bill would authorize money for acquisition of a site and preparation of plans. This would be done by the General Services Administration.

Potter suggested the building be constructed in Detroit's new Civic Center. He said a GSA survey has found an "unquestionable need" for it."

National Forest Fires Drop 42 Pct. in 1957

WASHINGTON — There were 42 per cent fewer fires in national forests in 1957 than in 1956, according to the United States Forest Service.

Fires numbered 7,200 compared with 12,454 in 1956. Man-caused forest fires dropped from 4,775 in 1956 to 3,274 last year, the lowest number since 1933, when there were only 3,081 such blazes.

Boy Makes History

LONDON — An 18-year-old British chemistry student, William H. Perkin, discovered the first synthetic dye in 1856, a major event in the history of chemistry.

Most Thespian Aspirants Get Wrong Idea

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — It's not hard to figure out why nearly 100 per cent of the otherwise normal thumb-sucking, people-punching kiddies of America want to grow up to be movie stars. Instead of, say, United States President.

They can read the papers, that's why. And having read, they want their names in lights, their feet in private swimming pools and their breakfast on trays.

Every time this column records an interview with a movie or television personality, it receives mail from under-18s wanting advice on how to crash the big-time. They describe themselves as talented, attractive (The coy, modest line is "good looking enough to get all the dates I want"), and waiting to be discovered.

All of them sound so normal!

Well, all we have to say to the millions of hopeful stars who are normal ham-loving types is: We've never seen a famous actor or actress yet who wasn't a rare and precious eccentric in one form or another.

To be youthful and well adjusted to life would seem to be the kiss of decease to thespian greatness. Better, indeed, to be frightened, neurotic, a mathematical idiot, a social wallflower, and a romantic nincompoop.

Sal Mineo — "Nobody told me I didn't have any talent, or I might have been unhappy. My father is an undertaker. I make more money, but he works steady."

Judy Holliday — "I tell ya — acting a new part is the equivalent of going voluntarily into hell. I hate everything I do. I throw up."

Henry Fonda — "It's painful, seeing yourself perform. I must have made 60 or more pictures, but I haven't seen more than 10 of them. I learned early in the business that I cringed at the sight of me."

John Drew Barrymore—"Acting is nonsense. I come from 10 generations of it. The Drews and Barrymores just happened to be actors because it was the easiest way they could make a living. I'm sure if any of the family was intelligent enough to sit down and analyze it, this 'tradition' would stop, and the Drews and Barrymores henceforth would be doctors and lawyers."

Anita Ekberg — "Difficult, my foot! I think everybody with common sense can be an actress."

Kirk Douglas — "You know, acting is a disease. It's the only career I know where nobody is ever forced to do what he's doing. Take a pharmacist: He probably became a pharmacist because his father was a pharmacist, or maybe his mother liked starched white coats."

Kim Novak — "The money I make bothers me. So I think of it this way — I am making the money for the pictures in the papers. The acting, I am doing for nothing."

David Ladd, the 11-year-old son of Alan Ladd, is now in movies. He sums up the strange eccentricities of actors everywhere: "I am a lousy actor," he says. "And I don't look good either."

3 Turkish Cypriots Die in New Violence

NICOSIA (AP)—Three Turkish Cypriots were killed and two were seriously injured as communal violence continued on Cyprus.

Two of the victims were found battered to death in the Paphos district and a third body was found in a nearby area. A woman was found lying seriously wounded beside the body of one man, believed to be her husband.

In Nicosia a 21-year-old Turkish Cypriot was shot and seriously injured.

A British soldier was cut by flying glass when gunmen opened fire and threw a gasoline bomb at a works department bus in Livadhia, near Larnaca.

Urges All Under 40 to Get Polio Shots

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Public Health Service, noting an upturn in polio cases, urges people under 40 who haven't had polio shots to get them at once.

Dr. Leroy E. Burney, U. S. surgeon general, said the week ended July 19 marked the first time this year the number of paralytic cases has exceeded those for the comparable week in 1957. The total for the week was 52, the highest for any week this year, and compared with 50 for the like week last year.

If this should prove to be a year of natural high incidence, he said, there might "be many cases among the 55 per cent of the population under 40 who are not fully vaccinated."

Honest Cabbie Rescues Woman in Distress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxi driver Melvin James let a woman passenger off at a downtown bank and drove off.

Some six blocks away he saw a large purse on the back seat, and hurried back to the bank. The woman wasn't there.

He looked into the purse. It contained $2,300 in cash.

James searched the nearby area and found the woman, standing bewildered in the middle of the sidewalk.

"She said the $2,300 belonged to her recreational club's funds," said James. "The loss had hit her hard. She didn't even know what kind of a cab she had been in."

Any reward?

"No. She was so flustered I guess she forgot."
