Reds Offer Plan to Disarm

Russia Asking 5-Power Parley on Global Peace

Proposes to Liquidate Atomic Bomb Stockpile, All Bases; Cut Troops

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today offered a sweeping disarmament plan, including destruction of all its H-bomb and A-bomb stockpiles if the Western Powers do the same.

Premier Bulganin proposed a new summit conference of the Big Four plus India "in view of the failure of the U. N. Disarmament Commission."

Bulganin, in new messages to President Eisenhower and the prime ministers of Britain, France Communist China and India, warned that the balance of power is so changed that "today the Soviet forces could take over the whole of Western Europe without the use of rocket or nuclear weapons."

Bulganin said the choice was between the Soviet disarmament plan "and a new world war more terrible than any we have ever known."

A key sentence in the new statement appeared to be a Soviet agreement to "establish strict international control to insure that these (disarmament) proposals are carried out."

Soviet refusal to accept Western inspection measures have been a major block in East-West disarmament agreement.

The Soviet Union appeared to give at least conditional acceptance of President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan—proposed at the previous Geneva summit conference—as a step toward reaching a disarmament agreement.

Eisenhower proposed at Geneva in July 1955 that the United States and Russia exchange blueprints of each other's military establishments and permit planes of both countries to make aerial inspections of such facilities.

Bulganin asked that the new "summit" conference include the Soviet Union, the United States, France, Britain and India. The Western Powers already have indicated they do not want such a conference at the present time, al-

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said: "All we have before us now is news reports. The text has not yet reached Washington. As soon as the complete text is received it will be carefully studied."

HERBERT HOOVER JR.

Red Volunteers 'Threat to U. N.'

Major Policy Speech by Herbert Hoover Jr. Also Warns Russia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS)—Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr. impressed upon the assembly in his major foreign policy address yesterday the fact that Communist "volunteers" in Egypt would be a "threat" to the U.N.'s police force.

Hoover did not explain what he meant by the "appropriate action" he said should be taken by the U.N. if "external forces" other than the international police force should be introduced into Egypt.

But his reaffirmation of President Eisenhower's statement Wednesday that the U.S. "would fully support such action" was regarded at U.N. headquarters as virtually a warning to Russia.

Just how serious Russia was about keeping its offer to send 50,000 volunteers to the Middle East was a matter of speculation.

In his speech, Hoover insisted that British, French and Israeli troops be withdrawn from Egypt in accordance with the assembly's resolution establishing and dispatching the multi-national police force to Egypt.

Hoover condemned the "shocking reports" that the barbarism of mass deportation is being inflicted on the Hungarian people.

He said the United States is ready and willing to deal with the plight of Hungary in emergency sessions of the U.N. assembly, where "next steps" should be considered.

Oil Fields Idle for Year

CHICAGO (INS)—A director of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey estimated today that the sabotaged oil fields of the Middle East may take a year to resume normal production.

Lake Orion Man Dies in Crash

James Murphy Killed When Car Rams Tree on Baldwin Road

James H. Murphy, 53, of 3721 Mill Lake Rd., Lake Orion, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital this morning after his car went off the highway and struck a tree in Orion Township.

Severe neck injuries were believed to have been the cause of death in the crash which occurred in front of 2796 Baldwin Rd. north of Waldron road.

According to deputies, there were no other occupants in the car which was traveling north towards Lake Orion. The tree was eight feet off the roadway.

* * *

The accident happened at approximately 8:30.

The majority of shops at Tel-Huron will adopt the later hours Dec. 6, Fred Niedelson, chairman of the Tel-Huron Merchants Assn. announced.

Both associations stressed that they do not dictate to the stores what their individual hours will be, but that most follow the established times.

No Saturday night openings are scheduled for November, the Retail Merchants Assn. announced.

Wage Contract Subject Today for Negotiators

Gulf and West Coasts See Sympathy Walkouts With More Due Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — A spreading dockworkers' strike hit more Atlantic and Gulf ports today and sparked "sympathy" walkouts on the West Coast.

At midnight last night longshoremen struck at Miami and Port Everglades, Fla. Others were due to walk out at Tampa later today.

More than 150 ships—a third of them in New York—were idled. Union officials called the strike "100 per cent effective."

Negotiators for the ILA and the New York Shipping Assn. agreed to sit down again today in an effort to settle their wage contract dispute. The association speaks for 170 shipping and stevedoring firms.

While contract talks continued, the shipping paralysis began to creep into West Coast ports. The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union tied up a dozen ships in support of the strike.

Seven ships were idle at Los Angeles, three at San Francisco, and one each at Coos Bay, Ore., and Longview, Wash.

And at Los Angeles, an offcial of the Pacific Maritime Assn. said the ILWU notified him it plans to shut down West Coast ports for 24 hours starting at 8 a.m. Monday.

In Washington government officials expressed fear the widespread waterfront dispute might further darken a world shipping crisis precipitated by the closing of the Suez Canal.

A well-informed official said the government had no thought "for the time being" of invoking the Taft-Hartly law and halting the strike by court injunction.

The union and the shippers are at odds on wage increases, length of contract, size of work gangs, weight of sling loads and a union demand for a guarantee of eight hours work a day.

The shippers offered a 38-cent package pay increase over a three-year period. That would have brought the basic wage to $2.80 an hour, with 32 cents of the increase in a direct pay boost.

Moon Eclipse Starts at 12:02 A. M.

Eyes on Sky Tonight

An eclipse of the moon is scheduled for 12:02 a. m. tonight, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel H. Losh.

Of the four eclipses scheduled for 1956, two of the sun and two of the moon, only this one will be visible in North America. It will be seen in Michigan.

Both the partial and total phases of the eclipse may be easily observed with the unaided eye. However, binoculars or a small telescope will add much to the view.

Said Professor Losh: "At exactly 12:02 a. m. on the night of Nov. 17-18, the moon's eastern edge will make the first contact with the earth's shadow. More than an hour later, at 1:08 a. m., it will be completely immersed and totality will begin. The eclipse will end at 3:32 a. m."

SEE EARTH'S SHADOW

Dr. Losh also announced that meteor showers are expected from Nov. 17 to 27. Although no unusual displays are predicted, more than the ordinary number of shooting stars are expected to be seen.

Dag Negotiates on Suez Truce

Confers With Egypt's Fawzi on U. N. Role in Policing Canal

CAIRO (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold pressed negotiations with Egyptian officials today on the role of the new international police force forming in the Suez Canal zone.

Egypt showed every indication of sticking to its announced determination not to let the U.N. force take over occupation of the canal. The government-backed newspaper Al Gumhurriya stressed again that conditions for permitting the U.N. troops into the country must insure "our sovereign rights."

Hammarskjold met with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi behind closed doors this morning. Whatever progress he made in securing Egyptian approval for his view of the U. N. force's mission was not disclosed. Informants would say only that the negotiations were "extremely delicate."

Al Gumhurriya called once more for immediate withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces. The semi-official paper said:

"Where do we stand? What are the functions of the international police force and what is likely to happen in the near future? Ceasefire but no withdrawal of invading forces."

Egypt protested indignantly today about a British-French plan to start clearing sunken ships from the canal. The project already has begun at the Mediterranean end of the canal now held by British-French forces, and the British and French told of tentative plans for clearing the end of Red Sea held by Egypt.

The U. N. force at Abu Suweir continued to grow while Hammarskjold and Nasser dickered about what they were to do.

Student May Seek New Place

School Board Wins Out in Romeo Haircut Fracas

Still wearing his controversial haircut after a court decision upheld a school edict against it, Robert Phernetton today began looking for another school to attend.

The 16-year-old Romeo youth lost a court battle yesterday when Macomb County Circuit Judge Alton H. Noe denied him a writ of mandamus compelling his readmitttance to Romeo High School.

"Respect for constituted authority is a lesson appropriately taught in the school room," Judge Noe said.

* * *

Robert, lone holdout among 45 boys ordered by their principal to trim long locks and remove sideburns, was suspended from 11th grade classes 11 days ago. He said after the decision:

"I'm not going to get a haircut. It would look like I'm quitting."

His mother, Mrs. Alice Phernetton, who took the case to court, backed up her son, saying, "We're not going to live under a dictatorship. We'll try to get Robert into another school."

WANTED ALL TO CONFORM

Their counsel, James E. Daner, said Principal Harold Barr and the Romeo School Board which upheld his edict were trying merely to make the masses conform.

* * *

School attorney, William Nunneley, denying Robert was ever expelled, said, "All the boy has to do is return to classes with a normal haircut.

"In the best judgment of the school, there is a connection between the way a boy wears his hair—and dresses—and his attitude and behavior, which affects his marks."

He said the boys with the haircuts had lower grades and poorer attendance records on the average.

Daner called this reasoning, "guilt by association."

* * *

Teenage girls and local school authorities jammed the Mt. Clemens courtroom during the day-long hearing.

The controversial coiffure is long on the sides, swirling in an upsweep. Robert claimed he had it trimmed after the school ruling. The school maintained it was not trimmed enough.

Say Value of Service Increased

Michigan Bell Wants to Raise Rates

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. yesterday filed a petition with the state Public Service Commission for an intra-state rate increase calling for a 5 per cent boost in company revenues.

* * *

Pontiac District Manager Ray H. Storm said the increase "is needed to cover two upward wage adjustments for company employes and other increased costs.

Storm said the firm is asking for the increase to reflect the growing value of the service in expanding communities. Existing rates are based on a telephone census of 1948, he added. Since that time, the number of phones in the Pontiac local calling area has increased from 45,943 to 78,240.

Under the proposed rate schedules sought, Pontiac Federal exchange monthly charges would increase 85 cents for a private line; 70 cents for a two party line; 55 cents for a four party line and 25 cents for a rural line.

Business service under the proposed rate hike would be increased $3.50 a month for a PBX trunk; $2.25 for a private line 75 cents for a two party line and 25 cents for a rural line.

Lesser increases are proposed for Clarkston, Commerce, Drayton Plains, Lake Orion, Oxford, Rochester and Walled Lake.

The proposed monthly increase for these ares would be 55 cents for a private line; 50 cents for a two party line 45 cents for a four party line and no increase for rural line.

ADJUSTMENTS EXPLAINED

Business phone monthly increases in these areas under the proposal would be $1.25 for a PBX trunk; 75 cents for a private line; 25 cents for a two party, line and no increase for a rural line.

Somewhat different increases would be made for the following areas: Big Lake and Walters Lake, Goodison, and Wixom.

Installation and move charges, extra directory listings, and mobile telephone services rates, unchanged for the past 10 years, are also higher, under the proposal.

"Our request would need to be substantially higher if we had not realized significant economies in operating the business," Storm said.

He added the company's return on investment had dropped from 6.40 per cent in 1955 to 5.98 per cent for the first nine months of 1956, and that the return would be depressed further this year by the recent $7,200,000 wage adjustment.

Marshall later regained consciousness at the hospital but has been unable to remember anything about the mishap, police said.

Bones Identified as Chicago Man

Rejected Suitor Dead in Michigan Woods With Bullet in Head

CHICAGO (AP)—Police said today they learned a Chicago grocer, whose skeleton was found in a Michigan woods, fled from the city last Dec. 7 after a young woman filed charges of assault and battery against him.

The skeleton, found near Iron Mountain, Mich., has been identified as that of Odess Dimopoulos, 31, Michigan autnorities said a pistol was clutched in the dead man's right hand and there was a bullet in the head.

* * *

Chicago police said Miss Marie Reinke, 20, then a telephone operator at a north side hotel, filed the charges against Dimopoulos Dec. 7, a few hours before he left the city. The woman accused Dimopoulos of beating her when she rejected his marriage proposal. The charges later were dropped.

Norma Ross, 25, a waitress, who said she and Dimopoulos were engaged for a time, told newsmen she spent five hours with Dimopoulos Dec. 7 and drove him to Hammond, Ind., where he boarded a bus for Detroit.

Miss Ross said Dimopoulos told her he had had an argument with Miss Reinke and appeared "very upset" about it.

She said she telephoned Miss Reinke and that the young woman agreed not to press the charges. She told this to Dimopoulos but he insisted on leaving the city nevertheless, Miss Ross said.

Miss Ross said Dimopoulos promised to write within a week and let her know where he was staying. She never heard from him, she said.

The Day in Birmingham

Groups Look to Zoning; Yule Shopping; Parties

BIRMINGHAM — In organization circles, Masons are looking for a zoning change to make way for a new temple, and businessmen are readying for the Christmas shopping season.

Community House and YMCA groups have special events planned as well.

The rezoning of property at Arlington road and Maple avenue comes before the city planning committee at its regular meeting on Thursday at the municipal building.

The request of Sept. 26 by Raymond Cecil for the Masonic Temple Assn. was referred by the city commission on October 1.

Protests to rezoning because of nearby residences have been submitted by residents in new homes there; W. J. Doonan, 269 Arlington and the Charles Sutherlands, 218 Arlington.

Nearby residents have been notified of the discussion of that and several other zoning considrations.

Plans underway for the holiday shopping season include a Dec. 3 men's night in most Birmingham shops, and then on Monday, Dec. 12 shops will begin staying open until 9 each night.

A Jack Frost ball planned by Newcomers for Dec. 1 was discussed when that club met at the Community House Thursday. The ball will be at the Park Shelton Hotel, and will include cocktails and dinner, and music by Jack Daly's trio.

Reservations, limited to 125 couples are being taken by Mrs. B. Clifford Mohney, 1774 Haynes St.

At the YMCA Monday, a dinner will honor leaders and volunteer workers of the "Y," with pins being awarded to member-recruiters.

Pythian Sisters Temple No. 94 will meet at the Community House at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

"The price of atomic power is too high for peacetime use," Walker Cisler told 125 members of AAUW this week at the Community House. "It's cheaper to convert coal," said the Detroit Edison executive.

He displayed a model of a power plant, explained the operation of the initial atomic power plant near Monroe and used many examples during his two-hour talk.

Lacks Evidence of Lawbreaking

Prosecutor Refuses to Serve Warrant in Fire Sale Incident

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor today said there was insufficient evidence of violation of state fire sale laws at a downtown furniture store.

Taylor refused to authorize a warrant against the Detroit owner of the Merchandise Surplus Furniture Store, 15 E. Pike St., saying:

"Although there admittedly was no permit for the sale, there's no evidence of an attempt to defraud the public."

Taylor said Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley asked for the warrant today on complaint of the city Chamber of Commerce.

The owner, Paul Friedberg, of 6668 Van Dyke Ave. was accused on three counts, Taylor said:

Holding the sale and advertising it without a state permit and selling furniture not in the store or ordered at the time of fire last month.

Taylor said a business associate, Harry Friedberg, admitted today the company had not requested a permit to allow sale at prices considerably lower than usual.

He maintained, Taylor added, the company could produce invoices showing no additional merchandise was introduced in the store for sale.

Home Building Rate Declines in 1956

The rate of new homes being built in Oakland County has declined 8.3 per cent this year, according to a survey conducted by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

The survey is based on the number of residential building permits issued during the first nine months of each year. There were 8,973 permits issued in 1955 as compared to 8,235 issued this year.

A number of reasons have been advanced as to the decrease in home buyers this year. The decrease, the survey points out, is a national one and is not confined to this region.

Generally, nationwide increases in the cost of construction along with higher interest on loans has led to a tightening up of the money market. More specifically to Oakland County, bans imposed on residential building has contributed to the decrease in the issuance of permits.

INADEQUATE DRAINAGE

The bans were imposed in areas where spring floods were bad and where water, sewer and drainage facilities were inadequate for the rapid new home development that was taking place.

Many Oakland County communities issued the ultimatum that no new homes were to be constructed until adequate facilities could be assured.

Communities in Oakland County which have issued 500 or more residential building permits during the first nine months of 1956 are: Royal Oak, 741; Waterford Township, 709; Bloomfield Township, 649; Southfield Township, 555, and Farmington Township, 551.

New High in Killings Recorded in Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — November — little more than half gone—already has set a bloody new high for deaths blamed on the fight by Cypriot underground groups against British rule

British officials report 28 persons killed on this Mediterranean island colony since midnight Oct. 31. That is three times higher than the toll in any preceding month in the 18-month campaign.

The British blame Eoka, the underground fighting arm of the Cypriot movement seeking to oust Britain and unite Cyprus with Greece.

High-ranking British authorities here believe the reason for the mounting violence this month may lie 6,000 miles away.

"They're shooting without discrimination now," said a government official who has been on the scene during the entire campaign. "They're simply firing at anything they consider British and a target. But I think there is more method here than madness."

10 Hunters Dead in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four hunters were dead of gunshot wounds and six of heart attacks today as Michigan's deer hunting season entered its third day amid snowy, blustery skies.

The latest gunshot death, reported Friday, was George Lloyd Krise, 34, a northern Newaygo county farmer. Krise' wife found him shot fatally through the chest on their farm just after sundown.

Mrs. Krise told state police she and her husband had been hunting and that she returned home first. She said she heard several shots, saw three cars full of deer hunters drive off the property and, investigating, found the body.

Three hunters died by bullets on opening day Thursday.

Thousands of hunters who drove to the Upper Peninsula's hunting sites were digging their way out of heavy snowstorms today. Side roads and hunting trails were blocked by more than a foot of snow and the weatherman predicted more snow flurries and continued cold. Some let-up in the cold was predicted for Sunday.

Meanwhile, hunting conditions were reported excellent with heavy snow and many hunters got an early start home with their buck.

Three hunters reported missing Thursday all turned up safe in the Upper Peninsula. Two holed up in a cabin in Houghton county and found their way out while the third, hunting alone, was found by a search party at a camp where he had wandered in the Porcupine Mountains near Ontonagon.

The season lasts 16 days. Last year 10 hunters died of gunshot wounds in the 16-day season.

New Traffic Edict in Effect Monday

The city has warned motorists that beginning Monday, Lawrence and Pike streets between Perry street and Cass avenue will be converted to one-way operation.

Lawrence will be changed one-way eastbound, while Pike will become one-way westbound.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the conversion was experimental, and the city welcomed comments from motorists, whether favorable or not.

The streets are being switched in order to relieve congestion of traffic along Saginaw street and on other downtown streets, Willman said.

Starts Next Week for Young, Old

City Recreation Program Scheduled in 15 Locations

The 1956-57 Pontiac Parks and Recreation winter Community Center Program will begin next week at 15 locations, it was announced by Leonard T. Buzz, recreational director.

The evening programs, which run through March 31, provide a variety of entertainment for boys and girls nine years through high school age. Adults are included in several programs, Buzz said.

The programs include gym activities, and game room entertainment such as table tennis, checkers, arts and crafts, and dances.

Added to this year's program will be an after-school series for elementary school children. These programs will operate two or three days a week at neighborhood locations, Buzz said.

* * *

"This will take care of the kids who are not able to participate in the night programs because of their age," he said. This program will begin around the first of the year, he added.

40,000 TOOK PART

Plans have been made to use the new Board of Education's eight multi-purpose rooms now under construction.

The adult program will be at the following locations: gym class at Jefferson Junior High Thursday nights; adult social night at Lakeside Homes Wednesday nights; and women's gym program at Owen School on Wednesday nights.

The city department works in cooperation with the PTA, the Board of Education and several community clubs in providing these programs.

Following is a list of the school locations and the days the programs are carried out there:

Bagley—Monday and Wednesday nights; Baldwin—Wednesday nights; Central—Wednesday afternoons; Crofoot—undetermined; Eastern Junior High—Friday nights and Saturday mornings; Emerson—Friday nights; Jefferson Junior High—Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights plus Saturday mornings; Lakeside Homes—Monday through Friday nights; Le-Baron—Monday and Wednesday nights and Wednesday afternoons; Lincoln Junior High—Thursday nights and Saturday mornings; McConnell — Monday and Wednesday nights; Owen — Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights; Pontiac High—Wednesday and Thursday nights plus Saturday mornings; Washington Junior High — Monday and Wednesday nights and Saturday mornings; Wever—Tuesday and Friday nights; and Wilson—Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Times of the different programs are available by calling the City Parks and Recreation Dept. in the City Hall.

Contract for Television Approved by Directors

Another 26-film contract for the television series of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, "This Is the Life," was approved by directors of the church body last week.

The board of directors assigned the sixth series to be produced by the synod to Family Films, Inc., of Hollywood, Calif. The firm

Detroit Show to Feature Cranbrook Weaver's Art

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Fabrics designed by Marianne Strengell go into a one-man display for the third time this year when the Detroit Artists' Market opens its exhibition on Friday.

Work by Miss Strengel, head of Cranbrook's weaving and textile design department in the Academy of Art, is in a traveling tour of Scandinavian countries, which she began in person during last summer. Last spring, a one-man show of her work was held at the Cranbrook academy's galleries.

A large rug in 15 brilliant colors is among leading items in the Artists' Market exhibition, and was woven especially for the show.

Also to be shown are upholstery fabrics such as she does for the automotive industry, woven and printed fabrics she used in interior decoration, and rug samples as she designed for the General Motors Technical Center

Six pieces woven on the Cranbrook power loom will be displayed, and other textile items.

Fund Drive Opens Nov. 29 for Muscular Distrophy

Pontiac's annual march to aid the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. of America is slated for 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 29, chairman of the local fund raisers, William J. Brown, 110 S. Tilden, said today.

Covering the suburban area will be a group of volunteer doorbell ringers under the direction of Mrs Carl D'Aquila, 1946 N. Hammond Lake Rd.

* * *

"Right now," Brown accounts, "we have about 50 volunteers who will canvass Pontiac homes the night of the 29th. We need 200 more and 500 if we could get them."

"Area and district chairmen to organize neighborhood drives are also needed," he said. Brown has asked volunteers to contact him.

Funds collected to aid those afflicted with the muscle disease will go to some 150 research projects seeking the cause and cure of the malady.

One fourth of the local funds collected will go to the Detroit Memorial Hospital which has a clinic for those suffering from muscular dystrophy.

The disease Brown says, is a progressive muscle disease that gradually weakens the voluntary muscles. It so weakens its victims that within a few years they are first confined to wheelchairs, then eventually to their beds. Children rarely live beyond their early teens.

The association says the disease itself is not fatal, but it so weakens its victims that a minor ailment like a cold may be fatal.

* * *

The fund raising locally is relatively new, Brown says. It was organized in 1950. The first MDAA marchers were the city mailmen. The next year the firemen took over. Last year there was no march locally, just letters mailed out, he added.

Mrs. D'Aquila said of her suburban MDAA campaign that neighborhood residents would conduct the march during the entire week of Nov. 29.

$3 Million Finance Problem

Disposal Plant Plan Shaping

Plan's for the city's new sewage disposal plant and the revamping of the present plant, are slowly working into shape, City Manager Walter K. Willman reported.

The big question being studied by city commissioners is how to finance the three-fold project, which Willman estimated will cost more than $3 million.

The answer to this question will depend heavily on the outcome of the discussion of the 1957 city capital improvement program which usually comes up around January.

In March of this year, the City Commission approved an agreement with a Toledo engineering firm to begin studies to expand the city's sewage disposal system.

The larger portion of the cost will be $2,637,000. This will be for construction of the new plant on a 37-acre city-owned plot at Opdyke road and Auburn avenue.

Adjustments at the present plant at East Boulevard and Featherstone will run about $183,000, according to Willman.

This renovation will result in the city having one large disposal plant instead of two separate plants, the city official emphasized.

PIPELINE NEEDED

Tying in these two units will be a large pipeline which is estimated at $200,000. Willman said negotiations were being carried on to secure land for this purpose.

The firm of Jones, Henry and Williams has recommended in their financial studies of the project, that the city raise their present service charge and call for a general obligation bond issue to finance the job.

* * *

Willman stressed that no decisions have been reached as yet.

If a vote of the people is necessary, he said, it most likely will be held in April 1957.

"Considering that we had reached the maximum capacity of our present system, and that new areas couldn't be developed without a new plant, we started this project," the manager stated.

Capacity of the plant was boosted to 15 million gallons per day by a $800,000 expansion program completed in 1953. It was financed by a $700,000 revenue bond issue.

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

Chapter 20

Steve started for the recording machine when he heard his own voice issue from it. I headed him off, pushed him down on the love seat.

"Oh, no, you don't!" I said. "We'll leave it on."

"Connie, listen . . ."

"Yes, listen!" I put my hand over his mouth. "I want to hear every word of this!"

Anita: . . . just one more drink, shall we?

Steve: No I don't think so.

Anita: What's your rush?

I said, "Oh, no, don't let me stand in your way!"

"Connie!"

"Quiet!"

* * *

Anita: . . . must be very lovely. What's she like, Steve?

I said bitterly, "And you promised me you'd cut down on your smoking."

Steve: . . . charming apartment, real cozy.

Anita: So glad you like it. But it can be very lonely.

Steve: I don't believe it. A girl like you.

Anita: I'm being quite serious. In my job I meet dozens of men, but so seldom do I meet anyone . . . well, I'm so pleased you decided to come to the Crescent School.

Steve: (Bantering) Gee, I hope I make the team!

Anita: There's one team you've already made, darling . . . (a pause) There . . . that's nicer, isn't it?

I shouted, "What's going on here? What happened? What's nicer?"

"She put a pillow behind my back."

"Quiet!"

But the tape had run out. I watched the machine automatically click to a stop. I turned back to my husband. I pinioned him with my eyes. He cringed back into the love seat.

"Steve," I said, "I'm not going to ask you what happened."

"No," I said calmly, "I won't ask you. Although Anita was thoroughly unscrupulous, immoral . . . amoral, really, she was obviously fascinating, irresistible. So I don't blame you, Steve . . ."

* * *

"Listen!" he shouted. "Anita twisted her ankle dancing with me. It was my fault. I took her home, helped her up the stairs."

I held up my hand. "May I continue? Thank you. And in all fairness to Anita, I don't blame her. Although you have a certain inherent weakness in your character, you have a certain animal attractiveness and a rather sneaky charm that appeals to a certain class of women . . ."

"Connie, listen . . ."

"So Anita probably saw that she might combine some genuine pleasure with her business. In this case rather small business . . . due to your lack of courage in asking your boss for a raise.

"However, there is one thing I must know if we are to hope that we can ever again be relatively happy. Would you have paid Anita any blackmail, however insignificant?"

"She didn't have anything to blackmail me with!"

I held up my hand. "I withdraw that question. I see that an honest answer to it would incriminate you. But, Steve, you must make me one promise."

"Yes?" he groaned.

"In the future, as you get into situations like this from time to time, promise me that you won't pay blackmail. Come to me, confess everything . . . and we'll save a great deal of money. Now, if you please, the next tape."

* * *

The next of Anita's guest recording artists was a man in his cups. He was squiffed, blotto, highly intoxicated.

Anita: Come on, Stubby, let's talk . . . let's have a nice little talk.

Stubby: Don't wanna talk, don't wanna have a nice little talk. Just wanna go to sleep.

Anita: Remember what you were saying at dinner, Stubby? About how you . . .

Stubby: Dinner? We have dinner? Where'd we have dinner?

Anita: At Margiotti's, you remember.

Stubby: That's right, Margiotti's. I got reservations at Margiotti's. Hardest place in town to get reservations . . . But I got them, didn't I? Even tonight, I got them.

Anita: You were telling me about Walter. You hated Walter, didn't you, Stubby?

Stubby: Who says so? Who says I hated Walter?

Anita: You said so. You told me how Walter used to bother you, how you hated him for it. But he doesn't bother you anymore, does he?

Anita: That's right. That was a good thing you did, Stubby.

Anita: You mean you didn't kill Walter?

Stubby: Whoever said I did, who said it?

Anita: You did, Stubby, at Margiotti's.

Stubby: No, I wouldn't say a thing like that.

Anita: You practically said it, Stubby. You were with him the night he died, you said it wasn't an accident.

Stubby: Don't remember. Don't wanna talk about it. Just wanna go to sleep.

Anita: Sit up, Stubby; Come on, sit up!

Stubby: Stubby's tired . . . very tired.

Anita: Listen, Stubby, let's you and me have a drink. That'll wake you up. There's some lovely Scotch in the kitchen.

Stubby: Too late for, another drink.

Anita: We'll make it a nightcap, shall we?

Stubby: Too late for a nightcap . . . must be morning. What time is it? Can't see my watch . . . What time is it?

Anita: It's not even twelve-thirty . . . the evening's young yet.

* * *

Stubby: Not for Stubby, it's not young. That's cause I'm drunk.

Anita: No, you're not.

Stubby: Sure I am. Very, very drunk. Tonight's the night to get drunk. Everybody should get drunk tonight. Why aren't you drunk? It's your duty.

Anita: Stubby, wake up! Please, Stubby.

Stubby: Tired, so tired.

Stubby: Don't like Scotch . . . I'm a Bourbon baby.

Anita: Here's to us, Stubby . . . bottom's up. There now you can talk to me, can't you? Walter didn't fall out that window, did he?

Stubby: Who cares about Walter?

Anita: You did the world a favor, think of it that way.

Stubby: Sure, that's me . . . I do the world favors. But did the world ever do any thing for me? Since I was a little kid at my mother's knee? Nah. You can have the world. It's off my list.

Anita: You should get a medal for giving Walter that little push.

Stubby: What good's a medal? Or do you mean a gold medal?

Anita: That took a lot of courage.

Stubby: Yeah, that's what I got, huh? Courage . . . that's a polite word, not like guts. Tell me it again, baby.

Anita: You've got all the courage there is, Stubby. Did you kill Walter?

Stubby: Somebody had to kill him. Should a guy like that live?

Anita: How did you manage it, Stubby? Just how drunk was Walter? As drunk as you are now?

Stubby Drunker . . . the dope was even drunker . . . sittin' on a window sill like that . . . a sittin' duck.

Anita: So you could make it look like an accident, huh? That was smart Stubby . . . last August, and the police still think it was an accident.

Stubby: Never thought any different. Oh, I'm smart, all right. I'm tired, too . . . I'm tired.

Anita: Wait, Stubby, don't fold up now.

Stubby: I'm so tired I should get a gold medal for it.

Anita: Wait, Stubby . . . oh damn you, Stubby.

Anita: Hello? Well, thanks . . . and the same to you. Who is it? Oh, just a second.

The recording ended; that was all, that was the end of the last tape. Steve turned off the recorder. He turned to me; we just looked at each other for a moment or two. Then Steve was shaking his head, more in sorrow than in wonder.

"The human race," he said, "can be very, very good or very, very bad. That last bit there . . . What a charming couple, Anita and Stubby. That was a nice night's work for Anita."

"Stubby committed a murder . . . and Anita was blackmailing him for it. He's the one who killed her, Steve, he must have!"

East Germany Ups Pensions

40 Per Cent Boost Decreed in New Law to Placate Masses

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany boosted pensions 40 per cent today in an apparent effort to please the restless population.

The boost was decreed in a law passed by the Communist - run Parliament, and resulted from promises made by Communist party boss Walter Ulbricht during the height of the Hungarian rebellion.

* * *

Ulbricht made a nationwide broadcast in which he appealed for loyalty to his regime and pledged that living standards would be raised.

Ulbricht's theme was echoed today by Premier Ootto Grotewohl in a parliamentary speech, also broadcast. Grotewohl asked support for what he called his government's "peace policies." In return he promised more efforts to improve living conditions.

The government has been promising that food rationing will end next year, and Grotewohl told his listeners the government will try to insure that this does not result in price boosts for basic foods.

The new pension law means that the aged, the sick and the widowed will have 30 East marks added to their basic monthly pension of 75 marks. At the official East German exchange rate, this would mean a total monthly pension the equivalent of $47, but at the rate offered on the free money market, it would be only $6.

Cab Driver Told: 'Around U. S.' —at $40 Per Day

EAST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—How would you like to get into a taxicab and blandly order, "Once around the United Statesg"

That, if effect, is what an elderly woman did here. She's going to pay a flat rate of $40 a day plus the driver's expenses as she goes to Florida, Denver, and other points.

The woman's name was withheld by the cab company. She had ordered "a careful driver who's respectful to a passenger" and one who wouldn't have to leave a wife and children. Charles Kamp of East Orange got the assignment. His wife is dead and his children are married.

Aid Fellow Student

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Proceeds of a jam session arranged by fellow students at Central Michigan College will go to aid Vincent Puzar, Midland junior whose two children died in a fire that destroyed his home recently. His wife also was severely burned. The jam session featuring Charlie Ventura's band was held last night.

Scientist Studies Biological Mystery

EAST LANSING (AP)—A Michigan State University scientist says a lowly fungus with a unique way of utilizing the sun's energy may unlock secrets of life itself.

Dr. Edward C. Cantine, Professor of Botany and Plant Pathology, says the fungus "opens up new vistas, for certain aspects of its behavior are not quite animal or plant but apparently in between the two."

He called the plant's development "the greatest puzzle confronting biology today—a complete mystery."

Cantino, aided by grants from the National Science Foundation and the Federal Government, has been studying the fungus for eight years.

The fungus does not contain the green pigment associated with photosynthesis, the method by which plants utilize the sun's rays for growth.

Dr. Cantino said the fungus is the only non-green plant he knows which multiplies faster in the light than in the dark.

Ingham County sheriffs' officers listed the dead as Robert Risner and Frank Wallen, both of whom lived on rural route 3, Stockbridge.

Sheriff's officers said the impact was so great that a dog riding in the car was killed and the front fender of the car was pushed against the back fender.

Cement Forms Orion Church

Fund Drive Finances Classrooms; Completion Nearing

LAKE ORION — Nearing completion, a structure of cement block will nearly double the size of the Community Bible Church of Lake Orion.

It will house six classrooms, a kitchen and a nursery, with a wide, central corridor.

George Crouch has been the chairman of the project.

The group has stretched an investment of about $10,000 to over double that amount.

Floors which will later be covered with tile are being poured this week.

The building fund was raised by the church in offerings and has been used on a pay-as-you-go basis according to the minister, The Rev. Marie Rundell.

Allege Voting Frauds in Macomb County

MT. CLEMENS (AP) — Subpeonas were served by state police in Warren Township following an order by Macomb County Circuit Court yesterday for a one-man grand jury.

The subpoenas were issued by one-man grand juror Timothy C. Quinn, circuit Judge of Lapeer and Tuscola counties.

Assistant Attorney General Eugene Krasicky, assigned to head the investigation, said they were served to witnesses who have knowledge of alleged election irregularities in the township.

Judge Quinn said the grand jury order limits the inquiry to Warren Township and St. Clair Shores, but added that if further investigation is needed, the order can be amended to include other areas in the county.

Judge Quinn said he would start taking testimony Nov. 2 and run 10 hours a day, five days a week.

The complaints of election irregularities came from various homeowner groups.

The women met recently at Mrs. Frank Renshaw's Baldwin road home and elected the staff, with Mrs. Otto Rexin of Farmington as chairman.

Mrs. Rexin told of the new project of collecting old eye glasses for needy abroad. Mrs. Grace Parker gave out addresses where members are mailing old magazines.

Members are investigating what share of the school taxes are being paid by farmers. Mrs. Mallory Stickney of Clarkston urged the effort, along with working for a revision of rules governing holding of office on the county board by retired farmers belonging to the Bureau for 15 to 20 years.

Future meetings will be the second Tuesday of each month at the Clarkston Community Building with various groups taking turns as hostess units. The Clarkston group was assigned the December meeting.

Foresee Need for 47 Avon Schools

Township Gaining on Problem

One of the biggest problems faced by Rochester and its surrounding area as a result of current rapid growth lies in the schools.

Rochester's public schools are part of a consolidated district which is made up of 14 former school districts. The first five were consolidated in 1949, the balance in 1953.

This district covers approximately 60 square miles around Rochester, from South boulevard to Predmore road on either side of Rochester road. It maintains a fleet of 23 buses.

Population growth in this big area is reflected directly in the school enrollment. In October, 1950, total enrollment was 1,690. This October it was 3,504, more than doubled, according to Supt. Donald C. Baldwin.

The district maintains a staff of 140 teachers, nine administrators, 20 custodians, 11 secretarial positions, 25 cafeteria employes and 25 bus drivers. The current budget for operation is $1,150,000.

* * *

School buildings include eight elementary, serving kindergarten through the sixth grade; one junior high and one senior high school. A building program authorized by the voters in February, 1954, is now being completed. Its cost totals $2,950,000 and includes additions to the Hamlin and Goodison Schools, a new North Hill elementary school plus an addition; new high school, new bus garage, additional sites for elementary schools, equipment and site development.

DONALD C. BALDWIN

CREDITS RESIDENTS

"The people of our area deserve great credit for the way they have faced up to our big school problem," he said. "They seem to be aware of it, and of the fact that our greatest period of growth apparently still lies ahead of us.

* * *

"Our regional planning commission makes it possible for the school board to secure any property needed for school sites before new subdivisions are approved. Our new Rochester Community School Study Council is still working on its basic organization and soon will name committees to study curriculum, teacher welfare, finances and buildings.

* * *

"In addition to approving funds for our new buildings, the people have voted an extra five mills for operation. This makes a total school tax of $23 a thousand on the equalized valuation. Our increasing population means that we will be faced with the need to expand our facilities continually, as rapidly as our community can afford to do so. However, we hope that we will be able to borrow and still avoid increasing our present tax rate."

* * *

Supt. Baldwin pointed out that the community is beginning to see the fruits of its building program, especially in the beautiful new senior high school at Walton boulevard and Livernois road. An open house is being planned for this building sometime in December, when the remainder of the equipment should be installed. Dedication will not occur until the gymnasium addition is completed next year.

Work on the new gymnasium and a four-room addition to the high school now is under way. An eight-room addition to the North Hill Elementary School also is being completed.

A new Christian Hills Elementary School is being planned for a site just north of Crooks road and east of Adams. This will be a seven-room, plus multi-purpose room building which will help to relieve crowding in some buildings in the village.

One phase of the building program of which Supt. Baldwin has been particularly pleased has been the low rate of interest the district has had to pay for its bonds. The first issue pays only 2.02 per cent and the remainder 2.92 per cent.

The school district's equalized valuation totals $39,490,000, which figures out to about $10,000 back of each child, about the county average, or slightly under. The district has $2,700,000 in bonds outstanding.

That much of Rochester's growth is still to come is shown by the area planning commission's forecasts. It foresees a need for five high schools and 42 elementary schools in Avon Township in the next ten years. Supt. Baldwin foresees an increase of 100 per cent in school enrollment in the district by 1970 and possibly by 1965.

At present industry pays about one-fourth of the taxes. Other surveys have indicated that 2" per cent of the people in the Rochester area work in Detroit, while 50 per cent more work outside of Rochester.

Idento-Tag Time Again!

Every fall, with the regularity of leaves falling from the trees, comes the annual Veteran's Automobile Key Chain Idento-Tag fund drive.

The following information is reproduced from the latest report received from The National Better Business Bureau:

"During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1954 (latest on which figures are available), the Idento-Tag campaign office received $4,762,833.19 from its Idento-Tag appeal. The net proceeds of the Veterans' organization were $1,069,411.82, or 22.4% of the total collected.

Also reported is the following, which comes as a shock to many: "Funds are reportedly used to pay salaries of service officers; no direct financial aid is given to veterans or their families."

The Post Office department has ruled that their "appeal" is just another case of unordered merchandise and that as such the recipient is not obligated to pay for it.

Guatemala Reports on Benefits of U.S. Aid

To the Government of Guatemala goes the distinction of being the first to report on how much benefit it obtained from $40,000,000 in aid from the United States.

Since 1954 aid was extended to Guatemala after its successful ouster of its Communist-dominated government. A few days ago Guatemala's President Castillo Armas decided the American people should be told how the money received from Washington has helped.

★ ★ ★

To that end he chose Jorge Arenales, his former minister of economy and a close adviser, to visit the United States. Arenales was instructed to report to the American people in addresses in five cities, on what their assistance has done for Guatemala. That government also has circulated pamphlets in this country telling of the economic development of Guatemala.

★ ★ ★

As pointed out in the pamphlet, the new Liberation Government of President Castillo Armas found the Guatemalan public administration and finances demoralized. The national economy was gravely weakened by the policies of the Communist-dominated Arbenz regime and the unrest it had provoked.

"The Government with substantial technical and financial assistance from the U. S.," says the pamphlet, "undertook an emergency works program, including one major road construction project — the Pacific Slope Highway."

Also undertaken were a number of lesser road improvements, completion of the Roosevelt Hospital in Guatemala City, construction of 878 units of low cost housing and 391 schoolrooms. Other projects included four hospitals, 15 health centers, 123 miscellaneous buildings and water or sewer for 74 localities.

These emergency efforts substantially eased the economic situation and provided a good introduction to the longer range program outlined by the Armas regime. Of this program President Armas has said "we have put into operation a carefully studied, well rounded program which we hope will open the doors to a better life for Guatemalans."

If other countries made such gracious acknowledgement to our people and if the money were as well used, foreign economic aid would have much stronger support in this country.

Aid for Hungarians

Earth's free peoples have reacted as could be expected to the savage brutality of Russia's answer to the Hungarian people's demand for freedom and their own kind of government.

The United Nations, with U. S. representatives playing a prominent part, has given voice to the conscience of mankind. So far the Russians have blocked the UN effort to send investigators to Hungary but they have permitted some Red Cross supply convoys to enter that country.

American reaction to the situation has been swift and vigorous. President Eisenhower has offered the victims of Russian savagery $20,000,000 worth of foodstuffs and relief supplies. He also has ordered the Refugee Relief Administration to make provision for admission to the U. S. of 5,000 of the estimated 20,000 Hungarians who have fled their homeland.

Other nations are responding similarly. The free world is rallying around these stricken Hungarians in the only way that it can at this time. This aid, of course, can only ease their plight a little.

Everyone will hope that our Immigration Department will cut red tape to a minimum to facilitate the entry of these refugees.

Women and Voting

Of the millions of American women who voted November 6, many no doubt will be surprised to learn that there are 11 countries which still deny the franchise to their sex.

This point was brought out in a memorandum on the political status of women by U. N. Secretary General Hammarskjold. Not only is it a reminder to feminine voters of their heritage but of the debt they owe to those women who waged the long fight for equal suffrage.

Countries still refusing to enfranchise women are Switzerland, Liechtenstein, San Marino, Afghanistan, Cambodia, Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Laos, Libya and Paraguay. Last year Egypt admitted women to vote but still bars them from public office. In Haiti and Monaco women can vote only in local elections. But in 1958 Haiti plans to allow them the full ballot.

Among leaders in the long fight for equal suffrage in this country were Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B. Anthony and Lucretia Mott. They played prominent parts in the first Woman Suffrage Convention at Seneca Falls, N. Y. in 1848.

Actually it is only 36 years since the 19th Amendment to our Constitution giving women the ballot, became operative. In that period generations have come to voting age without realizing they are exercising a relatively new privilege.

Assassination Target

Tough Commie

Kadar Trying to Restore Peace in Hungary

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Janos Kadar, the Hungarian who is trying to restore peace in his homeland under Moscow guidance, is a tough Communist.

He is a ripe target for assassination. His whereabouts is not even certain. If he is in Budapest, he is in the Parliament building which is ringed with Soviet tank crews.

This homegrown Hungarian Red is 44 years old, has dark, thinning hair, a cleft chin, and a built-in hatred of other Communists who preceded him in the Soviet policy that littered the Budapest streets with a carpet of dead and wounded.

His bitterness toward old "comrades" in the party does not make Kadar a mellow person. Available accounts show that he is a firm supporter, puppet that he is, of the Soviet slaughter of his countrymen.

Here is a man who suffered years of imprisonment by his comrades in the party and who now hopes he can drop a net over all Hungarians.

NAGY'S PROMISE

In the first part of the agony that is Hungary a professor-type premier, Imre Nagy, had a chance of restoring order because he promised to negotiate the withdrawal of Soviet troops.

In the United Nations the Soviet delegate in a vague answer to pressing queries said that negotiations were proceeding.

Then a reinforced Soviet tank team —an estimated 200,000 troops in all —deposed Nagy and installed Kadar.

Simultaneously, the Russians began the slaughter of Hungarian freedom fighters, including women and children.

The biggest, bloodiest double-cross in history, say those who were on the scene.

A STRONG MAN

But he has not been able to restore peace even with Soviet bayonets.

He is a desperate man because of the general strike imposed by Hungarians who do not even have guns to oppose him and all that he stands for in Moscow's shadow.

Kadar has made concessions, including a vague promise of free elections. Thus far, the majority of the Hungarian population does not believe him, or Moscow.

Royalty's Patron Saint Was Queen

BY DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The patron saint of queens is St. Elizabeth of Hungary, herself a queen. The number of royal ladies who come under her protection has so greatly diminished since Elizabeth's time (13th century) one wonders what a patron saint will do when his category becomes extinct.

Perhaps if monarchs through the ages had always been as dedicated as Elizabpeth to the welfare of their subjects, there would be more of them on thrones today. Her benefactions to her people were so great they sometimes brought criticism upon her. Once in a time of famine she gave away so much food the royal household itself was in danger of starvation. There were periods when she fed as many as 900 people daily at the castle gate.

Elizabeth was concerned, too, about the sick. She founded two hospitals, in which she often tended the patients herself, making their beds and feeding them with her own hands. She was particularly drawn to those whose condition was so repulsive no one else could bear to look after them. It is because of her devotion to extreme cases of illness that many hospitals today are named St. Elizabeth's.

The story of Elizabeth's love and marriage is a story of childhood romance, one of the most beautiful in history or literature. Betrothed to Ludwig, son of the King of Thuringia, when she was four and Ludwig was 11, she was brought at once to her future husband's home, where the two grew up together. Instead of the brother-sister attitude that might have been expected to develop in such a relationship, these two were sweethearts from the time they met. As soon as Ludwig reached the age of 21 they were married.

The marriage lasted, however, only six years. Ludwig, like nearly all kings and noblemen in those times, went on one of the Crusades to liberate Palestine from the Mohammedans but never reached the Holy Land. One of the plagues so common in medieval Europe struck him down en route. When Elizabeth heard of Ludwig's death, she made provision for their three children and then, on Good Friday, 1228, took the vows of the Order of St. Francis.

WORLDWIDE BIBLE READING

Back in the days of World War II a marine on Guadalcanal wrote to his parents in the U. S. suggesting they join him every day in reading a chapter of the New Testament. The parents readily agreed, a list was made for the daily readings, and the family custom began.

There the matter might have rested forever but for the mother telling this simple story to the Philadelphia office of the American Bible Society. The alert society saw in the incident an idea that would link not just one family but millions around the world in the unity the Holy Spirit gives when people read the Scriptures together.

And so, under the sponsorship of the society, began an annual period of Worldwide Bible Reading from Thanksgiving Day until Christmas. Now in its 13th year, Worldwide Bible Reading is observed in 40 countries besides the United States.

JEWISH DIETARY LAWS

Many Gentiles are curious but uninformed about Jewish laws concerning what may and may not be eaten. The book of Leviticus lays down three main rules:

1. Certain meats, such as that of pigs and horses, and certain sea foods, such as shrimp, lobster, crab and oysters are forbidden.
2. Meats must be slaughtered according to ritual and must conform to specific health standards.
3. Meat and dairy products must not be eaten together. Approved foods are called "kosher," which means "clean." Forbidden foods are "treyfah"—"unfit."

No restrictions are placed on fruit and vegetables, except that the fruit must not come from a tree less than three years old.

Obviously, some of these regulations arose out of such purely practical considerations as the avoidance of food-poisoning—pork deteriorated rapidly in the semi-tropical Palestine climate—and conservation—a fruit tree needed at least three years to develop.

But there is much more to it than that. Moral values are involved, too. The slaughter of animals must be painless and compassionate. It is done, therefore, by a specially trained man, properly certified as to his piety and learning. Meat killed for sport is not acceptable.

And religious values are involved. The self-discipline of the diet is a powerful one. If a man can learn self-control in the matter of resisting temptation in this basic area of his life, that control will be likely to extend to other more subtle areas.

Voice of the People

Says Middle East Trouble Started by Arab Countries

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

What's all this pussy-footing about Israeli aggression in Egypt? Let's get the facts straight.

Many of the people who live in Israel have suffered tragically through most of their lives and are hoping to find some peace of mind in this new land. From the very beginning Egypt and other Arab countries have vowed to destroy Israel. Israel repeatedly has asked for peace talks but Egypt has rejected them. Frequent attacks have been made upon the Israeli people. Colonel Nasser has written a book, similar to Hitler's "Mein Kampf" in which he clearly outlines his plan to destroy Israel.

The Israeli people have not been permitted to use the Suez Canal, contrary to international agreements. This constitutues a threat to their very existence. A serious worldwide boycott has been pushed by the Arab countries. More recently Egypt, Jordan and Syria joined in a military alliance expressly aimed at destroying Israel. The Arab countries frequently point to the large number of their refugees, conveniently failing to mention the fact that they started the war which created this problem.

Unless we straighten out this would-be "Hitler," we may never survive another opportunity.

Britain Makes Big Switch in Explanation of Invasion

LONDON (AP)—Britain has made a massive switch in its official line justifying the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The original explanation — that London and Paris wanted to separate the warring Israeli and Egyptian forces and safeguard the Suez Canal for shipping—has been pushed aside by events.

Now, in one of those behind-the-scene changes beginning with Cabinet ministers and trickling down the official hierarchy, the new pitch has emerged: the British and French only just nipped a huge Communist military buildup in the Middle East.

It is a behind-the-news story that is now clarifying. To bring it off, the British warmed over some facts that just about every informed person has known for months.

The old explanation wasn't holding up. As the British - French action in the canal zone continued, Egypt bottled up the canal with wrecks, which meant one major objective had been missed.

Also a groundswell of criticism hit Prime Minister Eden's government, from Britain and abroad, for its decision to attack Egypt.

Eden and his colleagues decided to shoot all their political ammunition to justify their action.

Peter Thorneycroft, president of the Board of Trade, was chosen to fire the first big oratorical gun. He said last Thursday in a debate in the House of Commons:

"Russia's plans now are shown to have included a takeover of the Middle East, using Nasser as her instrument.

"Our intervention disclosed that Egypt had been armed to the teeth by Russia. The truth was now apparent. We intervened to stop the war and perhaps, in the nick of time, before the Egyptian air force organized by Russia ran amok in the Middle East."

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd touched on a similar theme two days later in a nationwide broadcast.

Sunday it was topped off in typical British style. A man in a pinstriped suit sat in a British government office methodically telephoning key newsmen in London.

"We're having a conference at 5," he told each correspondent. "Quite an important story."

The newsmen assembled at an assigned hour in a big office in Whitehall and got the news, plus a gimmick.

The news: a report claiming to show in minute detail the extent of recent Soviet military penetration in the Middle East.

The gimmick: "You can't quote us."

The "official sources" said the Soviet bloc had sent 150 million pounds—420 million dollars—worth of military equipment to Egypt during the past year.

The lot included 50 jet bombers, at least 100 MIG jet fighters, and about 300 medium and heavy tanks.

Thorneycroft's statement in Commons implied that British and French forces in Egypt had just uncovered this information. But other officials said privately the facts had been reported many weeks before.

Informed Western diplomats said the United States already knew all the details. Much of the information had been published unofficially.

The only new thing was the number of Russian tanks involved —the impression had been there were only 200.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Diet Secret of Vigor for Young, Old

Please send me in the stamped, self - addressed envelope inclosed your pamphlet "Young Folks and Old Folks. I am 93 years old and want to help myself and my 24 grandchildren. (Mrs. J. D.)

Answer — One of my bowling cronies, aged 86, and my mother, who was 93, kept on their toes for years, supplementing their everyday diet as I advised in the pamphlet. Mother slipped away at 93, but my crony—who has nearly all of his teeth, seems as young and vigorous as he was when I first knew him 23 years ago.

Much help from your advice. We eat plain wheat cracked in our kitchen mill, every morning for breakfast. I use it ground to flour to make bread. My husband hates to go away from home because he misses the wheat for breakfast. (Mrs. D. McK.)

Answer—He'd better be careful. If it gets noised around, the powers that be . . .

I hear frequently of "colds" caused by riding in an air-conditioned train or working in an air-conditioned office . . .

Answer—It is just as dangerous in an air-conditioned place as it is anywhere else to approach within five feet a blithering idiot who is coming down with or has what he calls a "cold." Unless you're sure you know more about it than an ordinary doctor does you may learn something to the advantage of your happiness by studying Little Lesson 5, "Call it CRI," for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope. CRI (pronounced kree) is a term coined from the initial letters of the cumbersome term Common Respiratory Infection.

Enclosed please find stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cent minus glue, paste, plaster, gum, tire-tape, etc., for your booklet dealing with the use of digitalis . . . (T. M.)

Answer—The booklet CVD deals with heart and artery troubles.

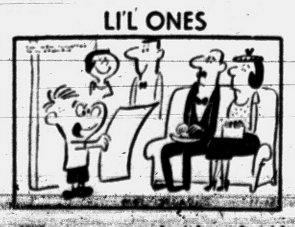

We have two young soaks—boys 6 and 10 wet the bed. . . . (B. W.)

Answer — We had one in our family—but I became dry about that age. Send stamped, self addressed envelope for pamphlet on "The Bed Wetting Habit."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

LI'L ONES

"Since you were last here I said the following cute things."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Offers Vocational Guidance

Don wants to know the difference between a psychologist and a psychiatrist. And he desires some advice on vocational guidance. So scrapbook this case.. Or mail it to teenagers who are puzzled about picking their life work. Use the "Vocational Guidance" booklet named below with your church or high school youth.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-321: Don H., aged 17, is active in church work but puzzled concerning his future.

"Dr. Crane, I want to do something worthwhile in life," he began, "but I'm not sure just what it should be.

★ ★ ★

"How much training does it take to be a psychologist? Or a psychiatrist? Is there much of a field for such specialists?

"And what about teaching? Would you advise me to become a clergyman? I like dealing with people.

"Maybe I should become a medical missionary. What do you think?"

VOCATIONAL FACTS

Go on to college, even if you don't know what career you wish to pick for your life work.

It makes little difference, anyway, for the first two years, since you take almost the same courses those first two years, regardless of whether you plan to become a business leader, clergyman or physician.

Each year of college broadens your outlook and whets your wits. In actual cash terms, it will bring you $25,000 more during your next 50 years of work.

For the college graduate earns an average of $103,000 more than does the high school graduate.

★ ★ ★

And the high school graduate earns an average of $49,000 more than does the fellow who quit school with only a grammar school diploma!

A psychiatrist is simply an M.D. who specializes in nervous and mental ailments after he graduates from medical school.

What most laymen don't realize is the fact that all physicians in medical college take the same courses. There is no specialization until after graduation.

JOBS ARE PLENTIFUL

A university teacher of psychology usuallly has at least an

M.A. degree and generally a Ph.D.

Colleges are literally pleading for teachers in all departments and so are the public schools.

The teacher shortage is growing constantly more critical. Most large city school systems have openings for psychologists to test children who are behavior problems.

College enrollments are expected to double by 1970, and we don't know where we'll get enough teachers!

The average college professor's salary nowadays is $5,000. The average grammar and high school teacher's salary in our Chicago public schools is now $5,500.

And teachers get two months vacation in summer, plus 10 days or more at Christmas, plus a spring vacation of a week, and a few extra days at Easter, Thanksgiving, etc.

BECOME CLERGYMEN

But if you wish to select what I deem the most influential position in America nowadays, become a clergyman.

He inspires the leaders of the entire area, for in his congregation you will find the leading physicians, dentists, attorneys, engineers, school officials, bankers, business leaders, farmers, housewives and youth of the area.

He is a glorified teacher who contacts the toddlers and teenagers as well as oldsters past 90. He thus has an unrivalled opportunity to change human lives, and to improve world conditions.

★ ★ ★

Since Uncle Sam is now holding aloft the torch of idealism for all nations, American pulpits are the most important posts in the land, far exceeding hospitals, banks and science laboratories.

★ ★ ★

Send for my "Vocational Guidance Booklet," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. Use it in church and high school classes to help steer you wisely.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Little Known, but Bradford Leaves His Mark in Book

Harvest Home Sundays Scheduled Nov. 18-25

Harvest Home Sundays will be observed this week and next in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Everyone attending the sevices is asked to bring canned goods for the United Presbyterian Mt. Pleasant Home for the Aged in Monroe, Ohio.

Last year the "canned food offering" totaled more than six hundred cans.

At the evening service the Pioneer Girls and Brigade Boys will be honored for the achievements which they have made in their clubs in the past year.

The purpose of Pioneer Girls as a part of our community program in the church is to win girls to Christ and then to see them grow in Him and go forth to serve as Christian teachers, nurses, housewives, missionaries to foreign lands, or whatever He leads.

Confident Living

Pilgrim Head's Ideas Remain as Heritage

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Probably the least known of all our great American heroes is a man named William Bradford. We have no idea of how he looked — there is no picture of him in existence. We do not know how heavy he was or how tall. And the color of his hair or of his eyes is long since forgotten.

• • •

But we do know the color of his mind, for he left a book behind, his famous "History of Plimoth Plantation," the source of all we know about the Plymouth Colony and the Pilgrim Fathers who founded it.

DR. PEALE

Bradford came to New England on the Mayflower and was soon after chosen leader of the Pilgrims. He was governor of the colony for most of his life; he was reelected thirty times. And it was he who, in 1621, proclaimed our first Thanksgiving Day.

His book paints a wonderful word picture of Bradford standing in the parched fields in the midst of a great drought, his sturdy arms lifted to heaven, praying for rain. "In answer to my prayer," he wrote, "there fell a gentle sweet shower which refreshed our land and gave us a crop."

That was the spirit of faith which marked all the other great Americans who followed Bradford. As Bradford said: "I prayed to God and He heard our prayers and He still will hear our prayers." One hundred and fifty years later, George Washington echoed Bradford when, asked how the Revolution would come out, he replied, "The event is in the hands of God."

• • •

And Benjamin Franklin, speaking to his fellow members of the Congress when the Constitution was being framed, remarked, "If a sparrow cannot fall from heaven to earth without His notice, is it probable that an empire can rise without His aid?" The sense of God's hand in the framing of our national destiny has been and remains strong among Americans of all faiths.

That is why Thanksgiving is more than a feast, it is an occasion for religious rededication. And I hope that, between now and the time you sit down for your Thanksgiving dinner, you will turn to your Bible and read the eighth chapter of Deuteronomy, which speaks of the richness and beauty of a God-given land and then counsels, "When thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land which he hath given thee." Simple, direct and honest words these — and what a truth they contain!

There is a simple technique of being thankful. It is best described by a French monk, Brother Lawrence, who lived at the same time as William Bradford and also left behind a book which has become famous, "The Practice of the Presence of God." In it, he wrote: "He requires no great matters of us: a little remembrance of Him from time to time, a little adoration; sometimes to pray for His grace, sometimes to offer Him your sufferings, and sometimes to return Him thanks for the favors He has given you, and still gives you in the midst of your troubles, and to console yourself with Him the oftenest you can.

• • •

"Lift up your heart to Him, sometimes even at your meals and when you are in company; the least little remembrance will always be acceptable to Him. You need not cry very loud; He is nearer to us than we are aware of . . . Every one is capable of such familiar conversation with God, some more, some less; He knows what we can do. Let us begin. . . ."

Wheaton Ceremony Honors Graham

WHEATON, Ill. (INS)—Evangelist Billy Graham was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of letters recently by Wheaton College which claims him as one of its "bravest sons."

Graham, in accepting the degree, told the students that Wheaton is "the West Point of Christian Education." He declared that Wheaton's influence is more essential now than ever before because America is in the most critical period of its history.

Throughout the day, Graham and his wife, Ruth, renewed acquaintances with former schoolmates. The Graham's graduated together in 1943.

Donations Show Our Gernerosity

Americans Gave More to Churches in 1955 Than Ever Before

Contributions totaling $1,842,592,260—an overall increase of 11 per cent above the previous year — have been reported for 1955 by 48 Protestant and 2 Eastern Orthodox church bodies.

The 1955 figure, representing the giving of more than 48,800,000 church members, is a per capita increase of eight per cent—from $49.96 in 1954 to a new all-time high of $53.94.

The new figures were announced in New York by the Rev. T. K. Thompson, executive director of the Department of Stewardship and Benevolence of the National Council of Churches. The survey was compiled by the department in cooperation with the Council's Bureau of Research and Survey.

Thompson said they represent significant gains in giving in all major areas of church life.

A breakdown of the totals shows Americans last year gave $1,484,490,642 for congregational expenses—an increase of 11.8 per cent at a per capita rate of $43.46.

Benevolences, including contributions to both home and foreign missions also hit a new high—up 7.9 per cent for a total of $358,101,618—or a per capita rate of $10.51.

Twenty-one of the church bodies recorded reported 33.4 per cent of their congregational expenses went into new building programs, for a total of $281,385,636. A year earlier 18 bodies reported expenditures for new buildings at $213,547,055—or 31.4 per cent of total congregational expenses.

Highest per member giving for all purposes was recorded by the Seventh Day Adventists with $194.12. The Free Methodist Church followed closely with $193.45. Nine other denominations also recorded total annual giving of over $100 per member. They are: Wesleyan Methodist, $183.70; Evangelical Free Church, $155.34; Evangelical Mission Covenant Church, $138.96; Brethren in Christ, $130.58; Church of the Nazarene, $125.59; Orthodox Presbyterian, $118.80; Friends, Ohio Yearly Meeting, $116.77; Conference of Evangelical Mennonites, $116.18; and Church of God, Anderson, Ind., $109.00.

Church of God Plans Building Fund Rally

A special program will be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the Church of God, 132 Wessen street.

Mrs. Ida Keene, assistant state missionary of Detroit, will be in charge of the discussion "Ambassadors for God."

Choirs from Flint, Detroit and Pontiac will render special music.

Outstanding speakers taking part in the discussion will be Mrs. Effie Randle, state missionary; Mrs. Lettie Wrighten, Mrs. L. G. Glenn, Mrs. Ester Kidd and Elder William Keith Lane, all of Detroit; Mrs. Mary H. Woods of Pontiac and Mrs. Frank Smith of Flint.

Elder Major J. Watkins, pastor, states this will be a special building fund rally.

Christ Disciples Study Joining 2-Church Merger

The possibility that a third major denomination may join in the proposed merger of the Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church, was indicated last week.

Delegates of the two uniting bodies, meeting in session in Cleveland, "received with great rejoicing" an overture from the International Convention of Disciples of Christ expressing interest in joining with the merged body. They immediately adopted a resolution asking the disciples to send a fraternal delegate to the uniting convention, scheduled next June in Cleveland.

If the 1,900,000 member Disciples denomination joins the merger, the as the United Church of Christ, would have a membership of more than 4,000,000 and rank fourth among Protestant communions.

Church Women Study Bible

Thelma James to Lead Discussion at Woman's Auxiliary Meeting

Following the weekly Tuesday luncheon of the Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church Cranbrook, a study group is meeting at 2 p.m.

Thelma James will lead the discussion on "The Life and Language of the Old Testament," by Mary Ellen Chase. Miss James has conducted a Bible Class at St. Paul's Cathedral and been a professor of Liberal Arts at Wayne University for many years. The study class will continue through Dec. 4.

A new and permanent workshop is being started Tuesday. This group will coordinate the auxiliary's interests in St. Peter's Home for Boys, Holiday House, William's House, Mariner's Inn and Camp Chickaganee.

At 10:45 a.m. on Nov. 20, 27 and Dec. 4, Mrs. Eliot W. Higgins, director of religious education at Christ Church, will lead a study group on "God's Younger Ones."

The Marquis Club which includes all 11th and 12th graders meets on Sunday evenings from 6:30 to 8 p.m. The program and discussion are determined by individual and group interest. It is centered on teenage concerns such as vocational decisions, dating, school-social problems.

Teenage Drinking Seen as Chief Cause of Crime

Braisted said that the majority of cases handled by his office involved teenage offenders and that almost in every instance intoxicating liquors played a part in the crimes they committed.

Bible Has Place on New Stamp

Featured for 2nd Time in U. S. on Postal Issue Honoring Labor

For the second time in its history, the United States has pictured the Bible on a postage stamp.

The giant mosaic mural, 51 feet high and 17 feet wide, is by artist Lumen M. Winter. It depicts a worker with pick, hammer and hoe over his shoulder, with an arm about his wife. She is seated and is reading to their young son from what the artist describes as "The Book of Life."

BOOK IS BIBLE

A spokesman for George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said: "To us the 'Book of Life' can mean nothing other than the Bible.

"We take it to be a Bible, and I think anyone who looks at the mural would see it as a symbol that the Bible is the one sure and certain guide we have in life."

The stamp carries the slogan "Labor is Life by Thomas Carlyle, as does the mural, and will also bear the inscription "Labor Day."

According to Franklin M. Bruns, curator of the official United States government collection of postage stamps at the Smithsonian Institution, the only previous American stamp to picture the Bible was the commemorative one issued in 1939 to mark the 150th anniversary of George Washington's inauguration as first President on April 30, 1789.

Catholic Cardinals Praise President

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Roman Catholic Cardinal says President Eisenhower has taken "a fine stand in working through the United Nations and in standing on principle" in dealing with current world crises.

Edward Cardinal Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, gave this appraisal to newsmen yesterday after he had visited Eisenhower at the White House. He said he was speaking for himself.

Cardinal Mooney was accompanied by Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, and James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles. The fourth American cardinal, Archbishop Samuel Stritch of Chicago, also had been invited by Eisenhower. But he already had left for home.

The cardinals were in the capital to attend the annual Convocation of the Catholic Bishops of the United States.

Churches Pray for Peace, Rush Relief to Hungary

Protestants across the nation joined Sunday in special prayers for "peace with justice and freedom" in face of the international crisis in the Middle East and Eastern Europe.

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches, issued the call for special intercession to the ministers and people of the 144,000 Protestant and Orthodox churches of the organization's 30 constituent members.

Simultaneously it was announced by Church World Service, the Council's international refugee relief agency, that it has made available $10,000 for food, medicine and other relief supplies to Hungarian crisis victims, for distribution by the World Council of Churches and the International Red Cross. The latter agency is the only one able to operate at present within the Hungarian borders.

It said similar ways to provide aid to the war-stricken peoples of Israel and Egypt are also being explored. Church World Service had announced earlier that all its executives in the Middle East will remain at their posts as long as possible.

MEDICINE SENT

Additional supplies for Hungarian refugees were rushed by air from New York; they include a special shipment of 1,000,000 vitamin pills, 10,000 penicillin capsules, and crates of surgical sutures. A heavy shipment of clothing is also en route by sea.

Meanwhile the World Council of Churches announced it is working closely with Hilfswerk, the Hungarian Protestant interchurch aid agency, to provide aid to victims of the Hungarian revolt who have escaped across the border into Austria.

Reports received at World Council Headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, said Hilfswerk officials have been stationed at the Austrian-Hungarian border since the outbreak of the revolution to provide food, clothing and medical aid to refugees.

Plan Designed for All Faiths

People Across World to Join in Daily Study From Nov. 22 to Dec. 25

More than 15,000,000 Americans and millions in 40 countries are expected to join this year in reading identical passages of the Bible each day between Thanksgiving Day and Christmas, it was announced by the American Bible Society, sponsor of Worldwide Bible Reading.

The program, now in its 13th year, began during World War II when a lonely Marine on Guadalcanal asked his family to read the same Bible passage with him each day as a means of tying the family together spiritually.

Theme for this year's reading, "The Bible Speaks Today," was selected by representatives of over 50 denominations. The society does not suggest any particular version of the Bible to be used and no note nor comment appears on the reading lists.

The reading lists are published on bookmarks which are distributed without charge by the society. Requests for bookmarks may be addressed to American Bible Society, 450 Park Ave., New York 22, N. Y.

IKE IS CHAIRMAN

President Eisenhower is honorary chairman of Worldwide Bible Reading, and former presidents Hoover and Truman are among the sponsors. In a message to the society, President Eisenhower says:

"The Bible is endorsed by the ages. Our civilization is built upon its words.

"In no other book is there such a collection of inspired wisdom, reality and hope. It describes the condition of man and the promise of man with such power that, through many eras and generations, it has made the mighty humble and has strengthened the weak.

"We are grateful to your great voluntary society for distributing the Bible over the past 140 years without comment or interpretation throughout the breadth of our land and across the seven seas. You have written The Word upon the doorposts of the world.

* * *

"I am glad to receive again your list of suggested passages to read from my Bible from Thanksgiving to Christmas."

BIBLE SUNDAY SET

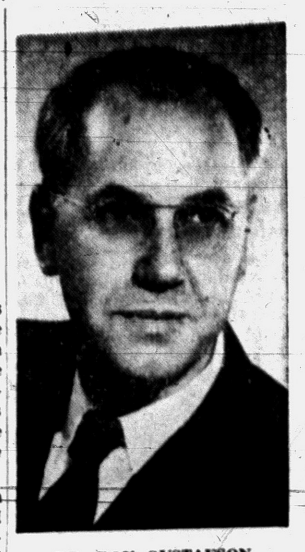

A highlight of the observance is Universal Bible Sunday which falls this year on Dec. 9 and is observed in tens of thousands of churches.

Bookmarks are produced in English and many other languages. This year, for the fifth time, the society also will publish the daily readings in Braille for sightless people.

Beginning with Thanksgiving and continuing through November the suggested reading list includes: Deuteronomy 5:1-21; Psalms 19:1-14; Psalms 27:1-14; Psalms 46:1-11; Psalms 103:1-22; Psalms 121:1-3 and 130:1-8; Psalms 145:1-21; Proverbs 3:1-20 and Isaiah 40:1-11 and 28-31.

The list for December is as follows: Isaiah 55:1-13; Luke 6:20-49; John 1:1-28; John 1:29-51; John 3:1-36; John 4:1-38; John 15:1-27 and John 17:1-26.

Readings continue with Luke 8:1-21; Acts 17:16-34; Romans 8:1-39; Romans 12:1-21; 1 Corinthians 13:1-13; Philippians 4:1-23; Hebrews 11:1-40; Luke 10:23-42; Luke 11:1-17; Luke 12:22-34; Luke 15:1-10; Luke 1:1-23; Luke 1:24-39; Luke 1:39-56; Luke 1:57-80 and on Christmas Luke 2:1-20.

Alcohol Big Factor in Seattle Arrests

In Seattle the Washington Times reports that 70 per cent of all arrests in Seattle involve alcohol, that statistics show it takes at least five hours of an officer's time for the arrest and the sentencing of a drunk.

The city established an alcohol rehabilitating project in 1947 which has succeeded in completely rehabilitating about 15 out of every 100 patients entered. There are some 16,000 alcoholics in Seattle, the paper reports, and nearly 52,000 in the State of Washington.

There are about 370 million Moslems in the world today.

Country Church Plans New Parish Buildings

St. Mary's of the Hills was started as a parochial mission of All Saints Episcopal Church of Pontiac under the missionary zeal of the Rev. Ivol I. Curtis, the former rector, nearly five years ago.

The first class was presented for confirmation by the Rev. Mr. Curtis in 1952.

At that time the tiny church, which is located near Lake Orion in a beautifully wooded setting, had just a handful of people.

building. This little nucleus, a handful of people wanting a church, now looks forward to results of their efforts.

Plans call for the enlargement of the present building on the two and one-half acres of the former Scripps estate, for a parish house and for the building of a new parish adjacent to the present building.

The Rev. William C. Hamm, rector of the parish, came to the little church in the hills which in previous years had been used as a schoolhouse.

He worked along with the early organizers, helped those who had no church of their own to find peace in the quiet restfulness of the church and its surroundings.

Soon strong groups were organized such as St. Mary's Guild, comprised of Oxford and Lake Orion people, and the Lake Angelus Guild with members from Lake Angelus and northern Pontiac.

These women became very active workers for the church and held their first lawn festival three years ago. This summer over 300 attended the festival.

As the mission grew by leaps and bounds, it was able in February, 1956, to become a full-fledged parish under the Diocese of Michigan, with a total membership of 250 people.

There are 220 communicants and 115 families in the parish. George Hodges is senior warden; Arthur Dodge, junior warden; Dr. Daniel McGeen, secretary and George Titus is treasurer.

The Rev. Mr. Hamm, who was graduated from Yale University Divinity School in 1931, was ordained in Hartford, Conn., April 25, 1934.

He served as assistant rector at Christ Church Cranbrook and was rector of St. Joseph Episcopal Church, Detroit, for 10 years.

He is chairman of the Oakland County Chapter of the American Red Cross and is a member of the Masonic lodge, DAC and Clergy Rangler Club.

Local Group to Hear Beth El Executive

Irving I. Katz, executive secretary of Temple Beh El of Detroit, will address the Men's Club of Temple Beth Jacob at a 6:30 dinner meeting Tuesday at the Waldron Hotel.

* * *

His subject will be "Jews on the Michigan Scene with Special Reference to Pontiac."

Mr. Katz was graduated from Spencerian Business College and Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio. He also attended law school at Western Reserve.

In 1941, he founded and was the first president of the National Association of Temple Secretaries. He is now serving as honorary president.

Dr. Irving E. Gordon is chairman of the dinner and program.

Thanksgiving, Sermon Topics

The Thanksgiving theme will be observed in both morning worship services in the First Presbyterian Church tomorrow.

The Rev. Edward D. Auchard will preach at 9:30 on "Thy Will Be Done" and "Much to Be Thankful For" will be the subject of the sermon at 11 o'clock by Dr. William H. Marbach.

Recently elected officers of the Pioneer Society include Bob Newman, moderator; Sue Wood, vice moderator; Carol Nicholie, clerk and Ruth Hoffman, treasurer.

The Rev. Galen E. Hershey will install the young people to office at 5:30 Sunday evening.

About 24 young people from the Tuxis Society will attend the Senior High Westminster Fellowship Rally at the Royal Oak Presbyterian Church Sunday from 4 to 8 p. m.

The theme of the Rally is "Are You Ignorant?" The object is to educate young people concerning the life and work of the Presbyterian Church.

The Board of Trustees recently announced the gift of a stained glass window above the east balcony. It was given by Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Mowbray in memory of their daughter, Mrs. Charles MacDonald. Installation is expected in about a year.

Religion's Role in Public Schools Seminar Subject

EAST LANSING—The place of religion in the public schools will be considered by a seminar at the Conference on Religious Opportunities in Week-Day Education at Michigan State University, Nov. 26-27. The Michigan Council of Churches is sponsoring the conference.

* * *

Milton Hagelberg, coordinator fo the MSU activities in the church-related field, reports the seminar will consider (1) the opportunities for moral and ethical teaching in the school, (2) the relation of the present subjects to the basic doctrines of religion, and (3) ways of making available to teachers information and courses on basic Judea-Christian content to help them in teaching.

* * *

Major seminar speaker will be Rev. Thomas J. Van Loon, director of church and public school relations, board of education, Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn.

The United States Treasury will receive more than $100,000,000 this year for grazing and timber rights in national forests.

Alcohol Costly in North Dakota, Statistics Prove

Fifty per cent of the divorces granted in North Dakota each year are caused by alcoholism, according to figures just released by the North Dakota State Alcoholism Commission.

Commissioner Bernard Larson adds that the annual divorce rate is a minimum estimate. Because of alcoholism-caused divorces, Larson said about 744 children each year in the state are deprived of normal homes.

Commissioner Larson further noted that while North Dakota collected $4,000,000 in liquor taxes last year, it cost the state $3,035,000 just for the treatment and maintenance of alcoholics through public welfare assistance, medical, hospital and institutional care.

Eastern Orthodox Conference Held

In an historic first official conference, 30 representatives of six Eastern Orthodox Church dioceses met last week near New York to plan the expansion of their Christian Education programs.

They agreed to begin strengthening their Sunday School work by setting up advisory cooperative committees on curriculum, publications and information and to sponsor annually a conference on Christian education of the Eastern Orthodox Churches.

They also laid plans for publications of a common Christian education manual to be prepared in 1957. Previously, their Christian education activities have been largely independent of one another.

Ask Christian Dramas Be Played in Churches

Ever since early advance copies of Great Christian Plays, published by the Seabury Press on November 15, were seen by ministers and religious laymen throughout the country, the publishers have been receiving word that a new idea has taken hold: Why not put on dramatic presentations as part of the church service?

The idea is, of course, not entirely new, but the appearance of this volume of five medieval religious plays with accompanying directors' notes has given many groups the idea that they can and should use inspirational dramatic material within the body of the church service itself as an excellent means of illustrating visually the great Christian themes.

The plays, five classical medieval dramas that have survived the ages because of their vigorous artistic qualities, have been "translated" into modern English.

They are mature, reverent, and powerful for adults and children alike, bringing to them a deeper appreciation of the Christian religion and its application to daily life.

It appears that many church, school, and women's amateur theater groups will be using the book this year for their Christmas presentations.

They find that the directors' notes, which give specific instructions on how to plan the plays, how to use the orginal musical scores which accompany the pieces, how to cast, rehearse, how to make the costumes (19 sketches show simple, effective costumes), and how to cut the plays for shorter performances, are invaluable to them as amateurs.

NO SCENERY NEEDED

With Great Christian Plays they can be sure to produce creditable performances, without the need of scenery or special lighting, very inexpensively and effectively.

* * *

The plays are:

The Brome Abraham and Isaac, translated by John Gassner, a 14th-century masterpiece; the York Resurrection, translated by Robert A. Johnston, two plays of the 13th-15th century; the Digby Conversion of St. Paul, translated by Robert A. Johnston, an old miracle play; To Tentanz (the Dance of Death), edited by Martin F. Schloss, translated by Margaret Trinklein, an old German morality play never before available in an American edition; Everyman, translated by Robert A. Johnston, the famous of all English morality plays.

Hawaiians Took Bible to Heart

Yearned for Version of Scriptures in Their Own Language

When the Hawaiian New Testament arrived in Honolulu in 1835 Queen Kaahumanu seized a copy, kissed it tenderly, lifted it high in the air, and exclaimed "Maikai (good)!"

Not many years before she had heard her late husband, Kamehameha the Great, question whalers from England and America about the white man's God; but "None could tell him."

Now the king was dead. Idolatry and other heathenish customs had been abolished.

Soon came American missionaries with God's Book, telling of a new religion and seeking permission to land on Hawaiian shores.

In April 1820 the first missionaries found some 300,000 affable Polynesians without a written language or religion, yet responsive and willing to learn.

The missionary teachers began to decipher the Hawaiian tongue slowly, word by word, phrase by phrase. The natives became fascinated with the written Word and accepted educational instruction "with the docility of a child."

As they heard the story of Jesus and His Disciples they yearned for Scriptures in their own language. Missionaries labored feverishly, and by 1829 the four Gospels were printed in the Hawaiian language.

Island Pastor to Preach

The Rev. G. S. Mundo, a missionary from the Hawaiian Islands, will hold revival services at the Light of the World Church, 280 Harrison street. Beginning Sunday, the meetings will continue for two weeks. The Rev. Mr. Mundo will preach in both Spanish and English.

Rev. Hart to Speak

The Rev. Paul T. Hart of the First Methodist Church will speak at the annual service of Thanksgiving of the Pontiac Pastor's Association at 10 a.m. Thursday, in the First Congregational Church. The worship program will be announced in Wednesday's Pontiac Press.

Newsman Tells Monks of Newest Sinai Conflict

By SERGE FLIEGERS

MOUNT SINAI, Israeli-Occupied Egypt (INS) — This correspondent took the news of the latest Sinai war to the foot of Mt. Sinai, biblical site of Moses' receipt of the Ten Commandments from God.

"The Israelis have defeated Egyptian forces in the desert, but they have offered to withdraw and let the United Nations take over," I told Brother Gregory, one of 11 inhabitants of the Greek Orthodox monastery.

* * *

"The United Nations — what's that?" asked Brother Gregory.

Brother Gergory, a stooped gray-bearded man, and the other monks today guard some of the earliest known Biblical scriptures in southern Sinai and live in virtual isolation from the world in a monastery whose origins go back 1,429 years to the early Christian age.

The Monks, who timidly asked for news of the world, had learned of World War II after several years' delay, and the 1948 Aarb-Israeli war.

They had never heard of President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, or Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, but vaguely remembered former British prime minister Sir Winston Churchill.

The monastery structure retains medieval characteristics with crennellated walls, four fortified towers against desert raiders, and the whole nestled among the endless rolling sandhills that culminate in the Mountain of Moses.

I came upon the monastery along the Darb El Hadj, the pilgrims' way, one of the roads to Mecca.

For many years pilgrims have been taking other roads and Sinai has been by-passed by the tides of time.

There is no electricity, no radio and naturally no newspapers.

Population Zooming All Around Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Metropolitan area is expanding rapidly in all directions but Detroit itself isn't keeping up with the growth.

The latest population estimates released by the Detroit Metropolitan area regional planning commission says the three-county metropolitan area grew by 50.9 per cent during the 1950-56 period while the city's growth was only 3.3.

Total population in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties was listed at 3,760,000 — an increase of 653,803 persons.

Macomb county led the growth percentage-wise with an increase og 185,999 persons, a gain of 47 per cent. It now has a population of 582,000.

Oakland has Oak Park, the city with the biggest population gain. Oak Park's population has jumped 465.8 per cent from 5,267 to 29,800.

Worker Devotes His Spare Time to Sharing Faith

When his day's work is done, a man usually seeks rest and relaxation. But in the hearts of many a Bible distributor of the American Bible Society there is other work to be done in spare time.

In the words of Marvin Cheil, distributor for the American Bible Society and machinist for General Mills, Inc., in Minneapolis, Minn., we find the motivation clearly spoken:

"I have found that being a distributor gives me a wonderful opportunity to witness for Christ. By selling a Bible, by giving Portions of Scripture to people, I am placing into their hands the living Word which has the power to transform lives. In every contact that I make, two needs are met—their need for the Word of God and my need to share my faith with them."

Blind Evangelist Slated to Speak at St. James

The Rev. Russell Siggers, blind evangelist of Detroit, will preach at 8 p. m. Sunday in the St. James Missionary Baptist Church, 345 Bagley street.

His subject will be "Labor in Job's Covenant." He has chosen for his text: The Lord watch between thee and me when we are absent one from another. The Rev. V. L. Lewis is the pastor.

Bishops Hold a Convention

Episcopalian Clergy Contemplates Idea of Missionary District

POCONO MANOR, Pa. (AP) — The Episcopal House of Bishops is expected to consider the creation of a new missionary district of Central America.

* * *

The house of bishops began its week-long session here, with the diocese of Bethlehem, Pa., as host.

Among their first actions the bishops voted to accept as an honorary member the Most Rev. Leon Grochowski, Scranton, Pa., Prime Bishop of the Polish National Catholic Church of America. The Polish Church entered communion with the Episcopal Church in 1947.

As the meetings began, 113 of the 189 members of the House of Bishops answered roll call. Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill is presiding.

After his acceptance, Bishop Grochowski declared:

"This intercommunion is a real blessing, especially for our Church because we are actually just at the beginning of a movement whose chief aim is to break the shackles of spiritual slavery and return to that same kind of church which was given by Our Lord to His disciples."

WHO is a Christian?

Who can rightly be called a Christian?
Religious organizations would vary in answering this question, but the only authoritative answer comes from the Word of God, the Bible. In recording the history of the early Church, the Bible says that "the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." (Acts 11:26)
Christians are disciples—followers—of Jesus Christ. When Jesus traveled the dusty roads of Judea and Galilee, His disciples literally followed Him from town to town. They believed His words and kept His teachings.
After the death and resurrection of the Lord, His followers spread throughout the Mediterranean world and elsewhere telling the good news of salvation through Jesus Christ. They made it their purpose to win others to their faith in the Saviour, so that they too could know the blessing of having their sins forgiven. They urged others to repent of their sins and turn to Christ. "Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out." (Acts 3: 19)
It was not long until these followers—all who demonstrated their faith in the risen Christ—became known as "Christians." Today the term "Christian" is sometimes used erroneously to apply to non-Hebrews, or to people of "good moral standing."
To use the term correctly, "Christians" are followers of Jesus Christ—those who have confessed Him as the Lord of their lives—those who have accepted Him as their own personal Saviour. It is through Christ — through Christ alone—that a person may become a "Christian." There is no other way. "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." (Acts 4: 12)

Bible Words for Today

PROVERBS 3: 5, 6 — "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and do not rely on your own insight. In all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make straight your paths." (RSV)

* * *

A wise man, centuries ago, was anxious that his son would make a real success of his life and in order for him to avoid the pitfalls which would endanger him — gave this bit of valuable counsel. This passage could well be labeled — "The Road-Map for Christian Living."

If we heed these directions; not relying on our own insights alone; trusting the Lord with all our hearts; acknowledging the Lord in all we do and say each day; we will be sure to arrive safely at our destination, because the road will be made straight.

This age needs a road map for daily living. In God's Word, we have the master-plan and if we heed the Holy Spirit and obey the words of the wise man — we will have no regrets or fears — for we shall arrive home safely at eventide.

Killer whales, among the fiercest of all sea creatures, actually are dolphins. They hunt in packs, swallowing small seals and porpoises whole. Although these bloodthirsty marauders grow to only 30 feet, they will attack and kill large whales.

'Deep South' Influence Appears

John Carter's white silk organza porcelain blue flower bouquets, has a full gown, scalloped and embroidered with skirt and a strapless knife-pleated bodice.

The short-skirted dinner dress above has a vining of bluebells on silk twill. Designed by Harou, it has a delicate applique of blossoms which frames the decolletage. The colors are blue or red on white.

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

LOS ANGELES—Designers have been going abroad for years for inspiration, but it looks like they've returned right home where deep in the South the southern belle reigns.

All the billowy, frothy chiffon and silk organza that every woman dreams of is used here in party dresses and ball gowns.

The tendency here for all evening wear is toward longer lengths, either ankle-length or floor length. In most ankle length sheaths, the skirt is draped and cutaway.

BACK INTEREST

Huge bustle-back bows of contrasting fabric adorn most of the ball gowns, but the most beautiful one we saw had a huge pouf skirt gathered with a wide band at the hem. The entire bodice was accented with sparkles.

* * *

* * *

Next in sight—a tour of the Padre vineyards. Also we will be guests of the Men's Apparel Guild and Boy's Apparel Guild. We'll know then what the best dressed man will be wearing for spring and summer.

Candy Sale Will Begin on Monday

Camp Fire Girls Hope to Complete Paying for Site

Old Man Winter won't scare the hundreds of Camp Fire Girls who plan to be selling candy Monday. If the sale is a success, there will be a mortgage-burning celebration for their 120-acre campsite at Gulick Lake near Clarkston.

The Camp Fire Girls have been selling candy annually since 1951 to pay for their own camp. In 1952, the present site was purchased on a 10-year contract. The girls have proven their interest and efficiency by almost completely paying off the mortgage in four years' time.

The candy sales teach the girls good business, simple bookkeeping and the art of meeting the public through selling.

By returning her profits promptly or by turning in her remaining candy soon so it can be sold, the Camp Fire Girl earns two business craft beads. Also, a rebate is given her group treasury for each can of candy sold.

One Camp Fire Girl group flag and one Blue Bird group flag are to be given groups selling the most on a percentage basis.

Three individual awards will be given the top Camp Fire salesgirls, who will have the familiar cans of peanut crunch as well as a new line of individually wrapped chocolates.

Three awards also will be given to Blue Birds. Girls who attain their quota will receive a day camp certificate. The culmination of the sale will be a theater party for the salesgirls on Dec. 29.

President's Widow Has New Look

Mrs. Wilson Gets Permanent Wave for First Time

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the World War 1 president, still the handsome, elegantly turned-out grand dame in her 80s, still actively interested in the important affairs of the day, admits she's just got her first permanent.

* * *

She submitted to the hair-primping process rather reluctantly, in preparing to attend, as guest of honor, the 10th annual dinner of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, where a centennial tribute was paid to her late husband.

Attending the meeting were more than 300 architects, historians, garden club leaders, directors of historic house museums and other representatives of groups which founded the non-profit organization.

Not all the trust's sessions were taken up with speech-making and the reading of reports.

* * *

The group was entertained at tea by Undersecretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Randolph Burgess, and one day all got aboard buses to go to Fredericksburg, Va., where they visited Kenmore, the home of James Monroe; the Mary Washington House, and Monroe's law office where they sampled the former president's favorite beverage— whiskey sours.

HOUSE FOR SALE

Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) and his young wife, the beautiful former "Jackie" Bouvier, have put their historic country house in nearby McLean, Va., up for sale or lease and will move back to town when they return to the capital in January.

* * *

Mrs. Kennedy says that her husband is out of town so much and works such late hours on Capitol Hill when he is here, that much as they love the country life and the historic surroundings, she thinks it more sensible to find a place in town.

Some Washington hostesses are beginning to put their invitations, in connection with the "R.S.V.P.," to make it easier and quicker for folks to accept or decline a bid to a brunch, a dinner, or the more informal shindigs.

Protocol still demands a written reply to an official or a white-tie affair, however.

Helga artfully drapes Bianchini's imported finest French lawn in an exclusive abstract print. Roses nestle in a low petal neckline. The bodice dips low over the hips to give emphasis to the tiny waistline.

Mothers Entertained by Camp Fire Group

Otyokwa, Camp Fire Girls of Wever School entertained their mothers at a tea in the Wever School Library. The purpose of the tea was to explain the group's memory book to the mothers and to acquaint them with the Camp Fire program.

Guests were Mrs. Lester Stanley, Mrs. William Hill, Mrs. Andaw Golob, Mrs. Woodrow Whittington, Mrs. Dolan Sontag, Mrs. James Brown, Mrs. Melvin Norbert, Mrs. Vernis Whitehead and Mrs. Edward Weinman.

Friendship Group Plans Yule Event

* * *

* * *

Cohostesses for the Christmas party are Mrs. C. J. Cavalier, Mrs. James Cavalier, Mrs. Charles Cookley and Mrs. John Denihan. At the meeting Mrs. William Morgan was elected to the office of secretary-treasurer.

Useful Leftovers Cover a Hassock

Garden Clubs Entertain Guests

A clarion for world peace was sounded Thursday when four young people of the International Farm Youth Exchange program—IFYE—spoke at Cranbrook Museum of Art.

* * *

They were guest speakers at the International Tea sponsored by the 66 Michigan branches of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

Ray Borton of East Lansing had spent four months in The Netherlands in 1952; Maxine Harrison of Mount Clemens lived on four farms in Sweden last year; Shirley Cubitt of Sandusky was with several families in England and Wales in 1955; and Peter Hooyman of The Netherlands is rounding out six months of farm life in Michigan.

All four emphasized the ease of understanding other peoples by living with them. As Maxine quipped, "There are so many similiarities, you can't tell the differences."

* * *

Representing their husbands who could not attend were Mrs. George Everson of Denmark and Mrs. Ferdinand Freidenberg of Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Kruse of Germany were also present.

The International theme was carried out even in the costuming of the girls assisting with the serving of refreshments. They wore authentic clothing from China, Japan, India, Spain, Cuba and Hawaii—two of the latter wore grass skirts!

* * *

Twenty five arrangements placed in the dining room highlighted the familiar feeling Americans have for countries abroad. There were Oriental and tropical arrangements besides Mexican, Chinese, Scotch, English, African and Hawaiian.

Bus Tourist Resents Tip for Driver

Won't Add Dollar to Fund Collected Among Riders

By EMILY POST

"I have just recently returned from a bus tour. It was a four-day trip and the first one of this kind I had ever taken. On our way home, one of the men in the group came around to each passenger and asked for one dollar to give to the bus driver.

"I was very much surprised at this and saw no reason why he should be given a tip. He was very courteous and pleasant, but was only doing his job for which I am sure he is well paid.

"I refused to give anything as I thought this was going a little too far. The person taking up the collection seemed rather put out with me and I am sure he thought me a terrible 'cheapskate.' Is such a tip customary, and was I wrong not to contribute?"

Answer: I am sorry to have to say that as the others were all contributing you should have also.

"Dear Mrs. Post: What is the correct way to eat fairly thick stalks of asparagus? At a dinner recently, one of the guests shocked everyone present by taking up the stalks in his fingers as though they were celery. Wasn't this wrong?"

Answer: When served as a vegetable with the meat course, the stalks are properly cut into inch-size lengths and eaten as any other vegetable.

When asparagus is served as a separate course, either hot or cold, and the stalks are whole, the soft part should be eaten with a fork. If not covered with sauce, the ends may then be picked up in the fingers.

Exercise Can Strengthen Arches

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Our feet fall heir to many conditions which may cause us discomfort. Sometimes these can be very painful. Even tired feet can make us weary just as eye strain can.

* * *

Weak arches give many people trouble. Sometimes a person is born with these but often originally strong arches are sabotaged because of overweight, incorrectly fitted shoes or an occupation which keeps you on your feet most of the day. These are the main offenders.

You may be able to avoid the penalties of weak arches if you take special arch exercises, use more care in the selection of your shoes, lose overweight, and rest with your feet up whenever possible. If the condition is severe you should see a podiatrist or chiropodist.

Sit on the floor with your legs resting on the floor in front of you, knees stiff. Lean back on your hands. Point both toes HARD. Hold for a few moments and relax. Continue.

* * *

Bunions make many folks miserable. This is an inflammation of the sac around the join of the big toe. You should see a podiatrist since this requires skilled care. Shoes which are too short or too pointed will cause bunions.

ANOTHER AILMENT

Perspiring feet are another source of discomfort. Diseased sweat glands, illness, nervousness or emotional tensions may be the reason. This can be most annoying since excessive perspiration irritates the skin and may cause tenderness.

* * *

If you have this trouble you should bathe your feet twice a day. You will find cool foot baths helpful. If you add a tablespoon of alum to the foot bath it will discourage perspiration.

Always dust the feet with powder before putting on your stockings or socks. Of course it is important to try to remedy, or control, the factors which cause this unhappy state.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 14 which gives exercises for the arches, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Big Horned Owl Loses Its Life Stealing Chicken

After losing a number of chickens from his flock during the last week or so, Charles Brown, 11801 Scott road, Davisburg, set a trap for the marauder. It worked, and a big horned owl, said to be a rarity in these parts was caught.

The brown and white barred bird had a wingspread of more than five feet, and its claws, when evtended covered five inches. It is one of the largest members of the owl family. It's easy to recognize because of the horn-like appearance of stiff feathers on the head.

U. of C. Budget High

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A 1957-58 budget totaling nearly 108 million dollars was submitted to the University of California board of regents yesterday by Robert Gordon Sproul, university president.

THANKSGIVING

Nature provides a time to plant and a time to harvest; man plants and he harvests — Thanksgiving is a celebration of that harvest.

To participate in the deepest meaning of Thansgiving one has family and friends around him, where laughter and good will abound, where communion of spirit touches each as a finger of love. Gratitude for peace, for leadership, freedom, and all the "little things" that have made life pleasant are part of the festival of Thanksgiving.

M. E. SIPLE

For 300 years Thanksgiving has been the one occasion when man gives thanks to Him for his harvest. Celebrate November 22nd as your personal Thanksgiving.

DINING ROOM — The dining room is open into the living room, yet is separate. In the rear a door leads to the back yard. Birch Heywood-Wakefield furniture is in proportion to the size of the room. The rug is gray. Mrs. Hanna takes care of one of her numerous plants.

Your Neighbor's House

Louis Hannas Choose Hilltop Homes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

There's a brand new subdivision rising rapidly on one of the higher points of Waterford Township. Houses in Hilltop Homes subdivision are being built on curving streets that follow the contour of the land on the west side of Pleasant Lake.

Williams Lake Road connects Cooley Lake and Elizabeth Lake roads out here. It is interesting to note that the ridge on which this road is built is the dividing line for the county's rivers.

East of this ridge all water flows into the Clinton. West of this ridge water flows into the Huron. It is picturesque countryside.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hanna were impressed by the beauty of the subdivision when they came from Battle Creek to buy a home in the Pontiac area. Louis Hanna works in Detroit and his wife has a part-time job in the Walled Lake area.

Nearby Pleasant Lake appealed to the Hanna boys—18-year-old Bryce, a freshman at MSU, 14-year-old Louis Jr. and 11-year-old Craig. There is a beach lot for the subdivision and plenty of wide-open spaces for the boys to explore.

The house the Hannas chose is on the street nearest the lake. All the houses are built so that the lower ones do not interfere with the views of the ones on higher ground. The Hannas continued to live in Battle Creek while their home was being finished.

One of the few tri-level homes in this section, the Hannas' house is gray brick with masonite panels painted aqua. To us this use of masonite for exterior construction is a new feature in homes.

In the living room the fireplace at one end is set into a five-foot gray brick wall. A narrow frame of birch sets it off from the green walls of the rest of the room. The hearth is slate. Two stone shelves break the brick front.

Floors on this level are all corktone vinyl tile. A gray rug covers most of the living room floor. Bright cotton draperies are hung at the corner windows.

All the furniture is Heywood-Wakefield birch. There's a desk in one corner, scattered tables and an armchair. The curtain material has been used to cover the cushions of this chair.

In this house full of males there are no spindly chairs, no delicate pieces of furniture. The rusty red leather lounge chair is sturdy and masculine looking. The comfortable sofa is covered in dark green, a practical color as well as an attractive one. There is one armless chair covered in red denim.

The window in the dining room looks out on a small back yard and up the gently sloping hill. The Hannas' lot is about 90x140 feet. Curtains like those in the living room are in this room too.

MASONITE AND BRICK TRI-LEVEL — The lower half of the Louis Hanna house in Hilltop Homes subdivision is made of gray brick. The upper portion is masonite painted aqua. Trim is white. The upper windows at the left are in the bedrooms, the lower ones in the workroom and large basement play room. The Hannas moved into their new home in July; they are former Battle Creek residents.

BRICK FRAMED FIREPLACE — Gray brick like that used on the exterior of the Hanna house is used to frame the fireplace and make a contrasting panel on the wall. The walls are painted green. Corner windows give a clear view of Pleasant Lake. Bright cotton draperies are pulled far back at each end. Mr. Hanna's lounge chair near the fireplace is a rusty red leather.

YELLOW KITCHEN — Clear yellow walls and cupboards make the kitchen a happy place in which to work. The floor is corktone vinyl tile. Counter tops are red. At the end of this work unit there is a pass-through to the dining room. At the left of the cupboards a door opens to the back yard.

Repainting Bicycle? Here Are the Rules

To repaint a bicycle, use sandpaper and steel wool or a wire brush to remove all traces of rust and scaling paint. Smooth out edges where the paint may have chipped or peeled. Next, wash with a cloth dampened with mineral spirits or turpentine. Be sure to remove all oil and grease.

When bare metal calls for a primer, use iron oxide or the Zinc-dust type and smooth it. Then a coat of colorful and durable exterior enamel will give your bike a new look and protect it against the weather.

vides adequate dining space without crowding the small room. High backed Windsor chairs are in keeping with the size of the area. A server against one wall has hinged ends that give almost double the space of the top.

Between the dining room and the kitchen there is a pass-through counter. On the dining room side of the upper cupboard the surface is peg board, painted green to match the rest of the walls.

Sunny yellow walls make the kitchen and breakfast room a cheerful place. Cupboards are also yellow, while counter tops are red. Only a short ruffled curtain trims the window over the double sink. Cafe curtains cover the window near the table.

Two of the birch Windsor chairs are used at the breakfast table. All accessories like the stool and a tray cart are red to match the counter tops.

The bedrooms are in the upper level. Craig's room is the smallest. He has a maple double bed and a desk where he can work on the telephone system he is setting up. Curtains here are dark green, walls are rose beige.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanna's room is partly filled with an air-conditioning system that hasn't yet been installed. Their walls are light salmon; curtains are sheer pink.

Bryce and the younger Louis share the largest room. Their walls are beige, the curtains red with a white sailing print. They have a large sliding door closet.

The bathroom is rose and gray with a built-in vanity. There is also a lavatory on the lower level. In the upstairs hall Mrs. Hanna has an adequate-size linen closet.

Instead of a garage the Hanna's chose to have an extra room in the basement. All the boys like to tinker and build things and need space. They have a small workshop already, but the larger room gives them more scope for their projects.

This large basement room can be made into a one-room apartment if grandparents should ever need it. Heat, electric outlets and water are already installed down here, as well as a grade door to the outside. All that would be needed would be walls and floor covering.

James Dyer of Royal Oak developed the lots for Hilltop Homes. Leo Wischman of Franklin did the building.

Foreign Designer Passes Ideas On to America

NEW YORK (INS)—American women have the privilege of choosing their furniture from the four corners of the world—including Australia.

Krimper's designs, which depend not only on the beauty of the wood used (all carefully selected) but on fine workmanship rarely found in so-called mass-produced pieces.

The long low table, so popular in America as a "coffee table," is used in Australia for many things and often as a low library table with books, knick-knacks and plants.

In Market for Home?

Don't look for a return of no-down-payment home buying, says Practical Builder magazine. A Housing and Home Finance Agency proposal to restore the no-down-payment rule was turned down on the grounds that it wouldn't help the current market, the publication reports.

Open Windows Slightly to Banish Moisture

Excessive moisture and humidity wich frequently bedevil tightly built houses during winter and cause expensive damage to the structure can often be banished in a very simple manner. When the glass in windows or mirrors is "dewy" with moisture, open windows slightly on opposite sides of the house. A one-inch opening at the top of the wondow will do the trick.

As it takes only a few moments to effect the air change, the amount of heat lost will be negligible. The amount of destructive water vapor that can be removed in a very short time, however, is sizeable.

Fine furniture finishes cost only a few cents more but add years of life in service.

Dim the Lights and Save Steps With New Gadget

Well you can do just that by turning the dial on a new lamp control gadget that can rest on the table by your armchair. It comes either in gold or chrome finish and resembles a clock.

The armchair light control also is helpful in the nursery when you want a quiet light for Junior, or in the dining room when you'd like a pale, romantic glow rather than a bright overhead glare.

The new light control can save many a step for the tired housewife when she's trying to relax in the evening, reading the newspaper or watching TV. All she has to do is turn the dial up to brighten the light for reading and turn it down for dimming.

The lamp control (called Luxtrol) can be plugged into any convenient outlet and one or two lamps can be connected to the gadget just so the bulbs do not exceed 125 watts.

Drill Pilot Hole

Don't forget that, while you can drive screws into the face of plywood with no danger of splitting the wood, screws driven into the edges will not hold as well as in solid wood; be sure to drill a pilot hole and use the smallest-diameter screw that will do the job.

Even Modern Home Needs Laundry Tubs

Even in homes equipped with automatic laundry equipment, homemakers are finding that a set of laundry tubs are necessary for much of the washing process.

These tubs are used for rinsing, boiling and as spare tanks to hold wash water for washing machines equipped with "suds-saving" revices. Such machines use the same soapy wash water for several loads of laundry, saving hot water and soap.

Standing Room for Card Tables

NEW YORK — The folding card table, hitherto a homefurnishings "skeleton" to be hidden away in the closet after the game, today stands proudly on its own four legs as a decorative asset.

In "family rooms" — more and more employed as second living rooms — as well as in the dining foyer or in the living room itself, newer designed card tables are considered indispensable for both adjunct table space and eye appeal.

• • •

With built-in features to assist the ingenuity of the homemaker, many of these pieces belong in the "jack-of-all-trades" class for serving the expanded needs of modern family life. Some, for instance, are equipped with "flip-flop" tops, which double their surface capacity so as to seat eight for comfortable dining.

Others tilt into a type of decorative screen when not employed for cards or dining. Another, with fold-over top, can halve its surface to become a hall console table.

One, a "handkerchief" end table, exposes a handsome tooled leather surface for cards or other games when its four triangular flaps are opened out.

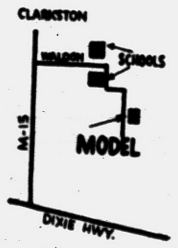

MORE DURABLE

Happily replacing the often shoddily made plastic covers of their fold-away predecessors, the new card tables, as befits permanent-standing pieces, are topped with marble, wood with acid and liquor-proof finishes, formica, micarta or sturdy cork. Non-folding legs, too, have been appropriately prettied in brass, wood, rattan or wrought iron.

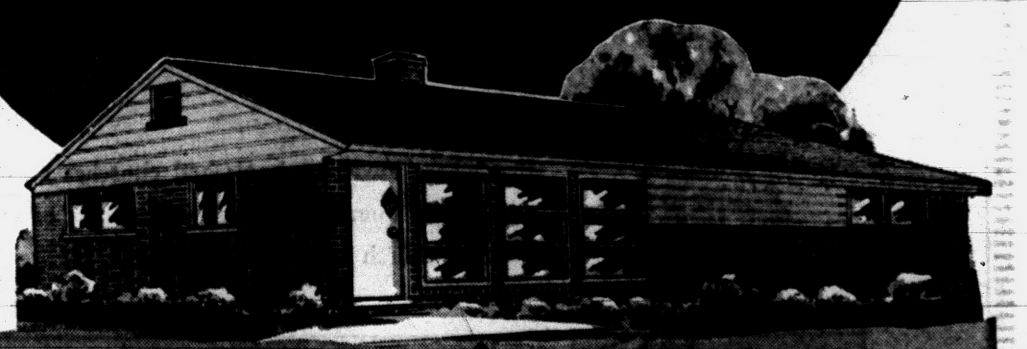

With space so often at a premium, one table artfully does a quick-change act from cocktails to cards and vice versa. Round shaped to conserve floor space, the surface adjusts up or down easily on a telescoping shaft to comfortable or conventional heights for game or cocktail use.

One-fourth of all the persons accidentally killed are listed as farmers.

Big House Can Be Suited to Small or Large Family

A big house for a small family, yet flexibly planned to meet the needs of even a five-bedroom family—perhaps eight or ten persons—is shown in Design HW-25 for The House of The Week.

* * *

This is basically a two-bedroom house with a study that is convertible for third bedroom use. Two additional bedrooms and an extra bathroom can be finished upstairs, when and if required.

A double living room is a novel feature of this plan. Here the family room has grown up, taking its place as part of the home rather than an adjunct of the kitchen.

In the form of an outer living room, this place for more informal relaxation becomes an attractive link between house and garden. Window walls facing a 35-foot garden patio merge the outdoors with the indoors. A long planting box serves as a room divider and continues the garden atmosphere indoors.

PLENTY OF SPACE

Spaciousness distinguishes this plan. Each of the main floor bedrooms is 20 feet long and each has its private bathroom, private dressing room and large walk-in closet.

Both living rooms are 28 feet long and the combined length of outer living room and dining room is 40 feet.

This house covers 2,880 square feet without porch, patio, breezeway or two-car garage, all of which figure separately in building estimates. Finishing the upstairs bedrooms and bath adds 660 square feet of floor area.

The overall length of house, breezeway and garage is 122 feet. Land with wide frontage or a good size corner lot is called for.

* * *

Beautifully styled, this house presents a dignified, yet comfortably home-like facade. Brick veneer up to the eaves, shuttered windows, columned porch and roof lines broken into five separate planes give the front somewhat of the appearance of an old Colonial farmhouse that grew with additions through succeeding generations.

Still, economy of construction is envisioned in the architect's specifications. For example, asphalt shingles of 210-pound weight are suggested for the roof.

USE DRY WALLS

Dry walls are suggested indoors with half-inch gypsum wallboard for walls and ⅜-inch for ceilings. Double paneling with wallboard could be used for luxury construction, which might cost more than plaster but would retain the decorative advantages of dry walls.

Wood siding, shingle or shakes could be substituted for the brick veneer, if preferred, with some resultant reduction of the square footage.

Basementless construction also is a possible alternative. By building this house on a concrete slab or over a crawl space approximately $3,000 might be shaved from costs.

Comfortable and gracious living is envisioned throughout the plan. The entrance foyer serves as a center hall with living room at the right, kitchen at the left, guest closet and stairs to the second floor directly ahead. The living room fireplace, centered in the front wall, facilitates attractive furniture arrangement.

* * *

Basementless construction is an easy alternative with this plan. Space occupied by the cellar stairway can be used for a modern hearter or air conditioning room with a separate flue, or converted into an extra closet.

Enlargement of the tool shed behind the garage for added storage space would be a simple change during construction.

The kitchen is large — more than 14 by 16 feet — and has an adjoining dinette. The dining room has a door to the patio making outdoor dining easy in the summer.

There are three bathrooms on the main floor, one being off the study where it is convenient to kitchen and living room.

BREEZEWAY PLANNED

The study is planned with an outer door from the breezeway. This gives the room special privacy, suitable for use as a student's room, maid's room or playroom for children.

The breezeway provides covered passage from garage to kitchen. This is a thoughtful provision for bad weather. The breezeway also is especially adapted for enclosure with glass jalousies to make it a year-round porch. Both this area and the rear garden patio could be paved with varicolored flags or red quarry tile for permanence.

Wind protection and seclusion are given the rear patio by embracing it on three sides by the house. A Dutch dormer, concealed from view in front of the house provides a two-story rise above the patio, creates normal ceiling height for the upstairs rooms and gives those rooms wide garden views.

This is more than a dream house. It is a way of life.

Can't Stomach Cussin'

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The Canadian Sailor, official organ of the Seafarers' International Union, REPORTS: "At a meeti aboard the M. V. Coastal Creek, crew members passed unanimously a motion to have the two female cooks stop using profane language in front of crew members—especially when there is no justification for it."

Mobile Cabinets Save Work Space

Now coming into wider use in larger kitchens is the roll-around island unit, a special mobile cabinet produced by a number of wood kitchen manufacturers. Moving easily on casters, the unit is intended to provide supplementary storage and work-top space any place in the kitchen where it might be needed.

One of the roll-around styles on the market has a cutting slab on one-half of the top for dicing vegetables or cutting meat, while the other half has a marble top for rolling pastry. The top overhangs on one side so that when bar stools are pulled up close the unit serves as a snack bar.

The mobile cabinets are made of the same handsome and durable woods used in making regular kitchen cabinets.

Tea Cart Gets Boost

Remember the old-fashioned tea cart? Why not make a modern serving unit out of the old relic? Buffet suppers, drinks, hors d'oeurves, canapes or even tea—hot or cold—can be served from it with ease if it is resurfaced with a heat-proof, stain-proof and durable material such as ceramic tile.

Kitchens and bathrooms are the most expensive rooms in a house, according to the Society of Residential Appraisers. A 9 by 10 kitchen, fully equipped, costs about $1,750. A 7 by 8 bathroom costs $2,000.

Imaginative Dining Room Brings Garden Indoors

Al fresco dining has become a beloved way of living throughout America. Poeple love to eat outdoors and they wait eagerly for the warm summer months when they can leave the house to turn into the garden for dining.

* * *

Imagine then, the joys of being able to dine in a garden setting all year round! In the cool fragrance of greenery, the delight of bright flowers; with dining furniture and tableware suggestive of the romantic ease of garden dinners.

Well — it can be done. You can bring the outdoor garden right into your own dining room and have it throughout the year. And you can create a formal garden or homey "backyard" kind of garden—whatever your flights of fancy desire.

First, create the garden in the surroundings of the dining room. Wallpaper or wall murals depicting a garden scene in three dimensional perspective. Or a mosaic or brick wall immediately suggestive of a garden. And why not an actual fountain against the wall or in the center of the room with its delightful play and spray of water? Or a small lily pool in the floor? Or flagstone flooring? Or even a flower conservatory of dimensions appropriate for the room?

In other words, get away from the stereotyped treatment of the dining room. Get away from the traditional heaviness and somber formality. And what better change than to one of the serene, relaxed loveliness of a garden—most especially a garden that will bloom for you all through the year.

The next step of course is your dining room furniture and table settings. Instead of the customary single large table—have a group of small ones placed about the room which seat two or three and encourage greater intimacy and ease. If your wall mural is that of the formal French garden in the Versailles theme, use the elegance of brass or wrought iron designed in the baroque feeling.

For the precise, delicate formality of the Japanese garden, use bamboo. Or, if it's the old-fashioned backyard kind of garden—which can be so very charming—use the old-fashioned ice cream tables and chairs. These make an especially interesting conversational group.

Similarly, oyur dinner service and flatware are determined by the character of the garden you create. Earthenware for example, and pottery and heavily textured mats with the informal setting.

These are suggestions. The homemaker will add her own. What is required is not expense but imagination. The dining room has been kept too long to a rigid kind of decoration and atmosphere. Now you can change that atmosphere and since Al fresco dining has been a choice and treasured way of living—if you make it available to your family and friends 12 months of the year, you will be a 12 months favorite with them.

New Vogue in Fabrics— No Burns or Stains

That "institution look" is being erased from the nation's hotels and motels. New furniture, still made for the wear and tear of transient living, has been styled up with sophisticated designs and colorful fabrics.

Typical is the collection of living and bedroom pieces from the Troy Sunshade Company with all the comforts of home in sleek, dual-function dressers, soft-cushioned lounge chairs and settees.

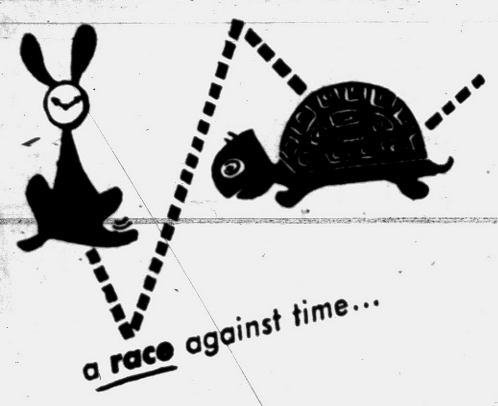

That "institutional look" is being New note: Cigarette burns are non-existent — the new materials "extinguish" cigarettes, and, as well, are stain resistant.

A friend of ours got himself a box at the Opera but he's in a dilemma. He can't decide whether to take a party of five friends, or just let Jackie Gleason sit in it. . . . An enterprisin' Florida grocer put up a sign sayin' "The eggs we sell tomorrow are still in the hens."—Earl Wilson.

Immunity to Rust Popularizes Wood

In areas where high humidity and salt air are problems, wood kitchen cabinets are dominant choices for trouble-free performance, a leading building expert reports.

The reason, he points out, is that salt air and humidity do no damage to wood kitchens because wood is immune to rusting or pitting. In addition, the wood is protected by modern factory finishes which penetrate the wood fibers for an effective seal, and by the use of moisture-resistant adhesives in the manufacturing processes.

* * *

Another physical characteristic of wood which makes it highly resistant to any damage by excessive moisture is its excellent thermal insulating quality. This makes wood less susceptible than other materials to the formation of moisture on the outside due to condensation.

An Easier Way to Dispose of Dust

There's no need to make a production out of emptying the vacuum cleaner. The process of dumping the dust-filled bag into a wastebasket or onto a newspaper, then carrying the mess out to the rubbish can is time-consuming and creates more work when dust spills onto the floor.

Save time and trouble by inverting the bag over a garbage can and dumping the contents directly into the can. Then replace the can's cover. This way, dust is prevented from being re-spread through the house and is kept from blowing over the backyard. Replacing the cover is important to prevent a breeze from drawing the dust out of the can.

Paint Own Cars

Watch Rows of Tufts

When you buy carpeting, remember that quality is cheaper in the long run. Best rule for judging quality is the closeness of the tufts and the number of rows of tufts.

Venetian Blinds Attractive; Scores of Uses Possible

With wintertime family activities getting under way, your biggest headache may well be what to do about storage and work areas. Neither Dad nor Junior simply the problem. The den bears evidence of zealous do-it-yourself projects with tools strewn about and papers stacked in a way that would warm the hearts of the Collier brothers. A peek at the playroom reveals a floor littered with school books and toys.

* * *

You can do something about space dividers. If you choose horizontal Venetian blinds as function as they should by using these trouble spots and make them colors wisely, theb lind will also provide a decorative mask for storage and work space.

Here are a few tips from the Venetian Blind Institute to get you started.

For the open toy shelves in the nursery or in Junior's playroom, try suspending a horizontal blind from the ceiling in front of the shelves. This will eliminate the eye-sore and still provide a touch of color.

You can use a similar approach for the man in the house. A horizontal blind can screen off Dad's cluttered work area from the laundry room or the spot where he relaxes a bit for a game of ping pong.

BLINDS FOR CLOSET

What about the troublesome storage closet? By hanging a blind inside the closet door you'll avoid embarrassment when visitors open the doors inquisitively. You can even remove the door itself, emphasizing the blind as a dramatic, decorative element. Use blinds inside the closet to screen heavy-duty shelves.

* * *

If you have a kitchenette opening to the living room, the horizontal blind can again be used as a divider, screening off the dining area from kitchen clutter. It will pay off in improving the over-all decor in addition to providing plenty of light, ventilation and an unobstructed view.

Blinds can eliminate other eyesores. If you have an old fashioned doorway with unsightly panes of glass, use the Venetian blind as a screen.

Indians Introduced New Blends in Fabric

The Navajos, Incas and even Cochise are making headlines in an entirely new realm of American history—the fabric industry. Though not made from the juices of berries, as were native "originals", a new upholstery collection made by Titus Blatter & Company has captured the lively and earthy colors used by the Indians. Introduced to blend with contemporary and ranch-type homefurnishings, many of the designs not only bear the colors and names related to our first Americans, but are woven with a new heavy worm yarn to give a similar likeness in texture to the hand-woven fabrics of the Indians.

Space Aplenty in Your Garage

Could you use an extra 1,600 cubic feet of space?

That's approximately the volume of your garage even if it accommodates only one car. Two-car garages average about twice this figure or roughly the size of a small barn.

When the car's away the children can play and be protected from rain or snow. With a handsome, easy-to-clean material like quarry tile on the floor, the garage can be a room for the adults to play as well. Quarry tile makes an ideal floor for dancing and requires no waxing.

The garage also offers wide possibilities as a work area. What better spot, for example, to rig clothes-drying facilities on a rainy day?

Garages also make the most convenient and inexpensive storage area for garden equipment, porch and lawn furniture, bicycles, baby carriages and general bulk storage.

Stop wasting the valuable space in your garage—minimum length is 20 feet and most garages are at least 10 feet wide—by considering these other likely uses:

1. Utility area for laundry equipment. This is especially appropriate if the garage adjoins the kitchen and has a waterproof ceramic tile floor. Laundry appliances can be arranged along the inside wall and use existing plumbing lines.
2. Workshop area. Most husbands have plenty of tools and repair equipment.
3. Terrace space for outdoor living in mild weather. Barbecue grills and other such accessories for gracious living can be tended, drinks mixed and consumed and gossip exchanged in the shade of the old garage.

Check Likely Spots for Moisture Invasion

Rescue your house from outside moisture by making sure that the enemy is unable to gain entrance at your home's most vulnerable spots. Check such danger spots as framework of windows and doors, bases of porch pillars, under-eave areas and downspouts.

If you find signs of peeling paint, it's a warning that moisture has launched an invasion. To prevent further damage, trace the source of the moisture. Then make certain the necessary repair work is done and apply a new protective coat of paint.

ROCKING HORSE — The chances are you know some little boy or girl who wants and needs a rocking horse for Christmas. If you do, then you'll be happy to know that you yourself can create this handsome little fellow. It's inexpensive and so easy you'll wonder why you ever thought good toys for children were costly. All you need are a few pieces of common one inch lumber. The chances are you have enough around your home and you don't even need to purchase the wood. Step-by-step directions are printed on each pattern, so clearly written that even a child can understand them. To obtain the full size rocking horse pattern No. 56, shown here, send 50 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, California. If you plan to make an extra horse for some needy little tot, will you tell us about it in your letter when you write for the pattern?

Gold Gives Good Effect on Walls

Be it a square, stripe or striated design in one or many colors of the rainbow, wall coverings are being lightly touched by a King Midas. By employing gold to give accent to wall covering patterns, firms are giving homemakers coordination with draperies, upholstery fabrics and even carpeting.

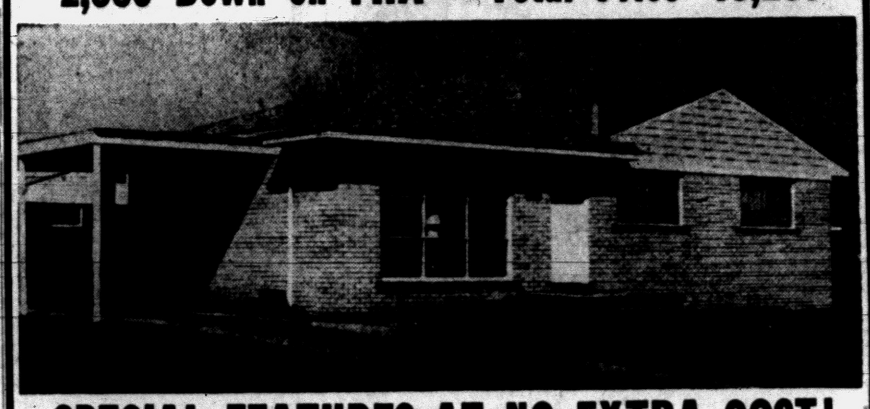

Not sidestepping durability for fashion, the new textured wall coverings are as "good as gold" as well.

Manufactured with materials destined to last a lifetime, they are almost indestructible—won't crack or chip with ordinary impact—and may be easily cleaned with soap and water.

The office of prime minister of Great Britain carried no pay until 1937. Before that the prime minister usually combined the job with some other appointment which provided a stipend.

Cites Advantage of Radiant Heat

Radiant panel heating is the most inconspicuous of all heating systems. Consisting of a series of pipe coils embedded in a floor slab or in the ceiling, the heating equipment is completely out of sight.

Hot water, controlled by a circulating pump, runs through the coils, warming the floor or ceiling to a moderate temperature and they, in turn, warm other surfaces.

Properly warmed room surfaces limit the radiant heat loss of the occupants to comfortable proportions. The loss of radiant heat by the body is correct for comfort with this type of a heating system, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Radiant panel heating has many advantages. Because it is completely hidden, there is no interference with furniture and draperies. At the same time, air temperatures in the room are agreeably low and drafts at a minimum.

There is no maintenance or cleaning problem insofar as the pipe coils are concerned. The only maintenance involved is in connection with the boiler and burner.

The pipe coils for a panel heating system may be laid in the concrete floor or in the ceiling of a house. When coils are installed in a slab, some sort of insulation must be placed underneath to insure dryness and prevent loss of heat to the ground.

OLD COLONIAL FARMHOUSE STYLE — Five separate roof planes mark this large house. On the exterior brick veneer up to the eaves and shuttered windows help the appearance of an old Colonial farmhouse.

DOUBLE LIVING ROOM — Divided by an indoor planting box, the living room is a double room. On one side of the wall is the living room, on the other is the family room. The planter box gives the room a garden touch.

OPTIONAL SECOND FLOOR — This plan shows what can be done with the second floor when the family grows large enough to warrant it. A Dutch dormer provides height for the upstairs rooms and views from their windows.

Need Special Finish

A wooden salad bowl calls for a finish that is clear as water and that is not affected by vinegar, alcohol, oil, fat, grease, hot or cold water, soap suds or household alkalis. Such special product finishes are developed by scientists of the chemical coatings and paint industry to meet specific requirements of the object to be coated.

SPACIOUS PLAN—Oversize rooms distinguish this flexible plan for two to five bedroom capacity. Both main bedrooms are 20 feet long and each has its own dressing room and private bath. The study could be a third bedroom if the second floor were unfinished.

Use Inside Enamels to Coat Child's Toys

Young children who are teething are likely to chew on anything they can get into their mouths, so be sure to use a type of coating for their toys and furniture that is non-injurious—even if eaten. Nearly all coatings intended for indoor use are harmless, even if swallowed in small quantities. So are the coatings applied by manufacturers to children's toys and furniture.

* * *

The same is not true of exterior coatings which are formulated to withstand the driving force of severe weather. Outdoor paints usually contain ingredients that definitely are not made to be eaten. For this reason, it's of the utmost importance that you avoid using exterior coatings on anything to be placed near teething children.

* * *

If you are at all in doubt about the type of paint to use, ask your paint dealer for advice. For toys and children's furniture, it's advisable to use a lead-free, interior gloss enamel. Where bare metal calls for a primer, use iron oxide or the zinc-dust type.

Gift for Handyman

An assortment of Masonite Tempered Presdwood panels makes a welcome and useful gift for the handyman of the house. He can use them in many ways for home fix-up and repair. Purchase short lengths at a lumber yard, wrap and give them. Dad will be mighty pleased.

Make Drab Walls Warm With Proper Color Taste

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Now that the clocks have been turned back again, and with the weather likely to be more unpredictable than ever, one thing is certain—you're going to spend more time indoors. To prepare yourself for this semi-hibernation, look around your house or apartment now to see how you can make it more comfortable, colorful and cheerful for wintertime living.

* * *

The simplest, quickest and cheapest way to glamorize your surroundings is to repaint the walls, woodwork and ceilings in exciting new colors. And, best of all, you can do-it-yourself because the actual application of beautiful new color—with brush or roller—has become increasingly easy, thanks to the paint manufacturers and their colorful easy-to-apply products.

First, round up your materials and tools, prepare the surfaces, and then begin with the ceiling. For this, you can use either a 4-inch brush or a roller, but your progress may be faster with a roller. Special long-handled rollers make it easy to reach many ceilings. But if your ceiling is too high for a long-handled roller, you'll need a platform to stand on. Two sturdy ladders and a wide plank will serve. Always place your plank so that it extends at least a foot beyond the step of the ladder. For safety, always make sure that the side spreaders of the ladder are completely open and locked in position.

For best results, paint the entire ceiling at one session. Work across the width, rather than the length, of the room. This way you can begin a second lap before the first one has completely dried. Don't paint a strip more than two feet wide—for the same reason.

WOODWORK COMES LAST

Soon as the ceiling is finished, begin on the walls. Start in the upper left-hand corner of a wall and work downward, again limiting the width of the painted strip to about two feet. When you use a roller you'll also need a brush to fill in areas close to the ceiling, next to corners and woodwork.

* * *

The coating of the woodwork comes last—after the walls are thoroughly dry, of course, if you're using a color different from that used on the walls. For the woodwork, a 2-inch brush will serve you efficiently. On the mullions that divide the window panes, you may want to use a small round or flat brush called a "sash tool".

Here are some pre-painting suggestions that will help you get ready for the fun: Cover the floor before you begin. Make sure all surfaces are clean, dry and in good repair. Fill all cracks in plaster or wood with spackling material, then sand smooth, and prime. Round up all the materials and tools you'll need.

For cleaning, you'll need cleaning rags, dusters—perhaps a detergent if finger prints must be removed. Remove all traces of wax from surfaces with paint thinner; otherwise adhesion of new paint will be affected. For crack-filling, you'll need spackling material, a puddy knife, or an old kitchen table knife, and sandpaper.

The sooner you start to paint, the sooner you'll be able to sit back and enjoy your colorful new home.

Save Bedside Table With Stainproof Top

Bedside shelves and tables come in for a lot of hard use. Cigarette burns, liquid or medicine stains and glass circles are some of the things that mar the surface of these convenient areas. A heat-proof and stain-proof material on these surfaces will save cleaning and refinishing. Beautiful durable ceramic tile is an ideal decorating and surfacing material for bedside shelves and tables.

Free Tips on Painting Children's Furniture

Every year at this time the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, 1500 Rhode Island Ave., N.W., Washington 5, D.C., publishes a free booklet called "Painting Toys and Children's Furniture."

* * *

Whether you're planning to paint toys and furniture for your own small fry or—out of the goodness of your heart—you're doing it for others, you need the information this booklet gives you. Write for it now. That will be your first step towards bringing happiness to the children who will benefit by your handiwork.

Olivar Puzzled by Yale's Role of Favorite

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A lot of football experts have Yale football Coach Jordan Olivar mystified. They are picking his Elis to beat Princeton tomorrow in the Ivy League's biggest game of the season.

* * *

* * *

"It's hard to understand. Princeton hasn't lost a game. They beat Colgate, the only club that beat us. And they have been averaging almost 50 yards more on offense a game than we have."

Olivar figures this battle for the Ivy League lead should be a toss-up at best. If not that, he said, Yale should be a one touchdown underdog.

PMC Bowling League Gets First Triplicate

First triplicate of the season for the Pontiac Motor Division Plant Nine bowling league was rolled this week by Nick Contor of the Supervision team. Nick fired a 190 "trio" for a 527 series. Contor carries a 171 league average at Motor Inn Recreation drives.

Lions Seek Repeat Win Over Colts

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — There are no "ifs" or "buts" for the Detroit Lions in their game against the Baltimore Colts at Briggs Stadium Sunday, and another jammed house will be on hand to attest to this.

With the Western Division of the National Football League running in photo-finish form, having the Chicago Bears and the Lions tied with 6-1 records, every game for Detroit is a must.

* * *

Last week's 18-17 squeeker-loss to Washington snapped the Lions' six game winning streak to start the second half of the 12-game schedule.

The Bears have shown no indication of faltering after six straight victories, and the Chicagoans are favored to make the Los Angeles Rams their 7th victim in succession.

The defensive unit, which has been chiefly responsible for Detroit's success in the first half of the NFL race, will get a severe test from a pair of great runners in Lenny Moore and fullback Alan Ameche.

* * *

Both were bottled up effectively in the season opener at Baltimore which the Lions won 31-14, but since then both have gained considerable ground among the top gainers in the league.

Moore, with a 10.1 rushing average, now appears to be the likely successor to Ameche for "rookie of the year honors." The former Penn State player has scored five times on runs upwards of 50 yards this season.

With Detroit's own "rookie" candidate Hugh McIlhenny still sidelined because of the leg injury suffered against the 49ers two weeks ago, it will be Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, Gene Gedman and Jim Doran in the backfield with quarterback Bobby Layne.

There is a good possibility that big Leon Hart will be back at the slotback position. Hart played his best game in the backfield for the Lions against Frisco on the coast and it was late in that contest when he went out with a bad leg.

Quarterback George Shaw will be on the Baltimore sidelines with an injured knee and rookie John Unitas will get the signal-calling role.

The Colts have a 3-3 record thus far this year, having beaten the Bears (28-21) the Packers (28-21) and the Browns (20-7). Losses have been to Detroit, the Packers (38-33) and the Bears (58-27).

* * *

In looking at the scores it can be noted that Baltimore has not been held to less than three touchdowns in any single game, but again its defense was able to hold Cleveland to a minimum of one TD.

A crowd bettering 53,000 is expected for the game. A total of 112,000 people have watched the first two Lion home encounters.

Kickoff is set for 1:30 p.m.

No Shoo-ins for Top Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miami's Hurricanes, still banned from bowl participation by NCAA edict, thumped the Clemson Tigers, a probable Orange Bowl eleven, 21-0 last night to protect a No. 8 national ranking. But the rest of the top ten rated in the latest Associated Press poll faced the usual Saturday afternoon hurdle, and there wasn't a shoo-in among the lot.

The Tennessee Volunteers, No. 1 by a slim two points among more than 1,400 entertained twice-beaten Mississippi, the defending SEC champ and the top defensive team in the land.

* * *

Oklahoma, No. 2 by those same two points, had visitors from Missouri. The highly rated Sooners were out to get that No. 1 rating, but the Tigers knew victory meant a possible Orange Bowl bid.

Third-ranked Michigan State, a bowl ineligible like Oklahoma, was a juicy target for Minnesota, still in the running for the Rose Bowl and no gridiron patsy, especially in Minneapolis.

* * *

Georgia Tech, cut to No. 4 after a defeat by Tennessee, was up against visiting Alabama, a traditional foe and one looking for that big win to make a season.

* * *

Texas A&M, No. 5, figured to be rougher than ever after the NCAA handed it the same treatment as Miami and prevented the Aggies from going to the Cotton Bowl. But Rice, a Southwest Conference rival, provided the opposition and inter-league warfare in that country always calls for a pick 'em contest.

Other key games pitted Yale against Princeton in a toss-up that would decide the Ivy League title and Oregon State against Idaho in which State looked to wrap up a Rose Bowl spot.

Texas Christian met Texas in the Southwest and Southern Methodist faced Arkansas. Both TCU and SMU were Cotton Bowl possibilities.

* * *

South — Auburn vs. Georgia, Mississippi State vs. Louisiana State, Tulane vs. Vanderbilt, Duke vs. Wake Forest, Maryland vs. South Carolina, Xavier vs. Kentucky, Furman vs. West Virginia, George Washington vs. The Citadel, Mississippi Southern vs. Florida State.

Midwest—Wisconsin vs. Illinois, Purdue vs. Northwestern, Iowa State vs. Kansas State, Baylor vs. Nebraska, North Carolina vs. Notre Dame, Detroit vs. Oklahoma A&M, Texas Tech vs. Tulsa, Wichita vs. Dayton.

U. S. Hurdler Betters Own Record

By STERLING SLAPPEY

BENDIGO, Australia (AP) — Jack Davis, an eyelash second in the '52 Olympics; strengthened his position as a solid choice for a gold medal in the 1956 Games by bettering his own world record today in the 120-yard high hurdles at an international warm up meet.

The former University of Southern California ace was clocked in 13.3 seconds—a tenth of a second better than his previous best — over the grass course of the Bendigo showgrounds as U.S. Olympians also matched a world record and lowered a pair of Australian marks in winning eight of the 14 events.

* * *

Leamon King, the speedy University of California youngster, equaled the world record for the 100-yard dash in 9:3 seconds. Arnie Sowell of Pitt came through with a dazzling 1:49.3 half mile, fastest ever in Australia. And Parry O'Brien, the world record holder, reached 60 feet 8⅝ inches in the shot put, also an Aussie record.

A fresh wind, which disqualified King's clocking for record consideration, dropped away to almost a dead calm as the 120-yard hurdles got under way and meet officials said Davis' time definitely would be forwarded to the international body for acceptance.

* * *

Davis led an American sweep of the first four places in the event. He was followed by Lee Calhoun of Gary, Ind., and North Carolina College; Milt Campbell, of Plainfield, N.J., a decathlon entry, and Joel Shankle, of Durham, N.C., formerly of Duke.

The 25-year-old Davis, whose home is Glendale, Calif., happily told newsmen afterward that he is in the best shape of his life. He said three things are necessary for a world record—perfect shape, a perfect track and perfect competition.

In 1952 at Helsinki, Davis was awarded the silver medal in the 110-meter hurdles — although he was caught in the same 13.7 time as the winner, teammate Harrison Dillard. It was an olympic record.

The listed 120-yard hurdle world record is 13.5, set by Dick Attlesey of the United States. Davis, however, bettered that with a 13.4 earlier this year while running the 110-meter high hurdles—10 inches farther than the 120 highs.

* * *

Sowell coasted while lowering the Aussie standard of 1:50.4 set earlier this year by John Landy. With the 15,000 fans still excited over King's time in the 100, Sowell led all the way in defeating Norway's brilliant Audun Boysen.

Next Saturday

Coming -- All-County Team

It's coming your way. The official All-Oakland County football team for 1956 will be published in The Pontiac Press next Saturday, Nov. 24.

The top players in the county, along with the All-Class A, All-Class B, and All-Class C, as chosen by the coaches and writers will be made known.

Leading stars just outside the county area will also be given consideration, along with all the top scorers, final standings, the Coach-of-the-Year and two outstanding county coaches.

City Deer Hunter Bags 'Fast Buck'

It didn't take Vernon W. Jones, 4705 Halstead Rd., Pontiac, very long to fill his 1956 deer license, once he arrived at the hunting area near Amasa in the Upper Peninsula.

Just as he stopped his truck near Rollins Ranch he spotted an 8-point buck not more than 100 feet away. One shot downed the trophy which later was weighed-in at 180 pounds.

Jones is connected with the sales department of the GMC Truck division, Detroit.

Irving Benjamin, 3090 Hill road, also got his buck, Thursday, near Newberry, in the rain. It was a 6-pointer. Hunting alone, he got his prize with one shot.

Reason Sought for Fish Kill

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Conservation officials sought a reason today for the death of many fish, including rainbow trout, in the section of the Boardman river which runs through Traverse City.

Stanley Leviense, district fish supervisor of the Michigan Department of Conservation, said yesterday that scores of fish—some weighing more than eight pounds—were found along the river bank and the shore of Grand Traverse Bay.

Some of the rainbows bore tags indicating they were among fish planted in the river last summer.

Leviense suspected toxic chemicals. He took water samples for study by the Michigan Water Resources Commission. A similar fish kill took place in the lower Boardman about six years ago when a vat of acid was released into the river.

First It's Rain, Now Wind Slows Up Deer Hunters

By JACK PATTERSON

CURRAN — If Thursday was the day of the big rain, Friday was the windiest day on record. Out of the West, mostly, and it cut sharper than yesterday's razor blade. However the much wished-for snow was not sufficient in either quality or quantity to appreciably affect the hunting.

All this weather gossip is merely prologue to the fact that the writer didn't get a deer again today. As a matter of fact we're not too sharp on weasels, either.

We were pushing up through a cedar swamp in the morning when our progress was contested by a small but determined weasel in winter, or ermine pelage. Weasels are swift afoot and old, gray-haired outdoor writers slow on the draw, and after a spirited barrage, both sides withdrew without casualities.

For an area noted for its large deer herd, Alcona County is getting its hunters off to a very slow start. Just why this should be is not clear. The usual very high percentage of does is evident but overall numbers seem to be down.

The inevitable result of overpopulation, fewer deer, a result which the game division has been predicting, without arousing much interest on the part of club owners, may be beginning to shape up.

The above may be dismissed as a local problem. It indeed becomes a real problem as the season goes on. But the desirability of the basic, statewide idea of reducing the herd to the natural carrying capacity of the land, seems to this writer to be beyond argument.

Technical matters aside, and weather, the many thousands of hunters throughout the state are more interested in putting time in the field than theorizing about management problems. And they are having a wonderful time.

Oakland county, never outdone in any department, has its full quota in the woodlands. You'll find them everywhere. Clare Lund, George Farley, Bob Jerrard, Laurence Ryan, Ted Cook, Bob Shirley and David Willis are just a few of the Pontiac people.

Others include Leigh Gentges, Arnold Schott, Gerald O'Dean, Floyd Post, Fred Vollrath and Jean Kremer. A young lady by the name of Ann Parker of Lake Orion also posed a threat to the antler set.

We could go on at length but we'd have to mention what seems to be ninety per cent of the local population to do the job justice. We should note, however that Murrel Trout of Orchard Lake, Bill Harmon, Rochester and Dick Penman and Clarence Stockman of Pontiac are hunters that shouldn't be dismissed lightly.

Boyce Pins Hopes for PHS Tank Team on Sophomores

It's like Boyce says:

"When you've only one letterman back for the full year, from a good varsity squad of a year ago, you are faced with a real tough proposition. And that means, in our case here, that the team this winter will be largely a sophomore outfit. We have to start all over."

Chiefs' tank crew will have to be built around the lone varsity letterman, Dennis Simonson. Dennis is good at a number of events, a jack-of-all-trades swimmer who excels as an individual medley contender, free styler, or any one of several other events.

Boyce mentioned some of the sophs upon whom he will depend to come along. One was Jim Gibbs, 100-yard breast stroke. Good size, enthusiastic viewpoint make him look good, Des says. Others include John Lamotte, a diver, (Boyce thinks he may be a big help); Duke Cummins, free styler; Gideon Robarge, in the new orthodox breast stroke event and sprints; John Doerr, a promising free styler.

A couple new aids have accrued to the hard-pressed mentor. He has been given Don Porritt, ex-PHS man, as his assistant. A new diving board and fulcrum have been installed, replacing badly worn and outdated diving equipment.

Regarding Saginaw Valley opposition, Boyce is inclined to think Arthur Hill, despite the loss of a number of its top stars, will again be the leading title contender. "Gainey (AH coach) has lst some good men, but still has some left like Ernie Dewell, top 200-yard free styler," Boyce says.

Saginaw High, with a new coach, Al Cormier, may be a factor in the race, along with an expected strong Flint Northern team. Vikings will swim their first Valley team this winter, bringing the conference its first year of full-member competition.

Soviet, Polish Olympic Boxers Best Conditioned

MELBOURNE (AP) — Nat Fleischer, editor of The Ring, the American boxing journal, said today the Russian and Polish Olympic boxers are the best conditioned of seven teams he has seen here.

* * *

"Their coaches put them through a strenuous hour-and-a-half workout in which there is little boxing but plenty of fine coaching. Team members don't engage in sparring matches. Whatever boxing is attempted is done with the coaches and they are really good."

Warriors Gain Win Over Lakers, 123-97

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia Warriors, after losing three out of four at the start of the season, are beginning to move in high gear in defense of their National Basketball Assn. championship.

The Warriors walloped the Minneapolis Lakers, 123-97, in the only league game last night. The victory, sparked by Paul Arizin's 27 points, levelled the Philadelphia record at 4-4 and put the Warriors in a first place tie in the eastern division with the Boston Celtic who have won three of six.

Parochial School Wins Detroit Championship

DETROIT (AP)—Parochial League first division champion De La Salle shot back with 20 points in the second half last night to beat Metropolitan League champion Denby, 26-20, for the city football championship.

Denby, undefeated going into the game, was favored. Bill Henneghan scored twice for De La Salle, once on a 26-yard keeper play.

Bowl Battle in Big 10; "M"-MSU Both Favored

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa, Minnesota and Michigan meet Big Ten foes today with a single goal in mind—the right to represent the conference in the Rose Bowl.

Iowa's hawkeyes (4-1) can clinch the bowl bid and a share of the title by whipping Ohio State (4-0). But if the Hawks fail, then other possibilities will be open.

Minnesota (3-1-1) is host to Michigan State (4-1); Indiana (1-3) is at Michigan (3-2); Purdue (0-3-2) plans at Northwestern (1-3-1), and Wisconsin (0-4-1) is at Illinois (1-3-1) in a second division battle.

Minnesota can go to the Bowl by beating Michigan State and Wisconsin if Iowa loses to Ohio State.

* * *

Michigan can make the trip by beating Indiana and Ohio State but both Iowa and Minnesota must suffer another setback.

Iowa can lose to Ohio State and become the first team to lose two conferences games and still go to Pasadena if both Michigan and Minnesota lose another game. So the possibilities are many.

By winning the conference title outright, Ohio State will be the first team in the conference history to win three straight undisputed championships.

Minnesota also is an underdog to Michigan State's once-beaten-spartans. Michigan State, an eight-point favorite and with high hopes of sharing in the title, also is ineligible for the Rose Bowl.

Michigan is a 20-point favorite over Indiana. If the oddsmakers are right, with Michigan winning and Iowa and Minnesota losing, once again the Rose Bowl bid and the title will hinge on the outcome of next week's game between Ohio State and Michigan.

Gold Cup Still in Legal Scene

CHICAGO (AP)—Only one more legal hurdle remained today in "Miss Thriftway's" battle to uphold its victory in the 1956 Gold Cup race at Detroit.

The Inboard Racing Commission, a unit of the American Power Boat Assn. which calls itself the "supreme court of speedboat racing," voted 10-2 yesterday to support the Seattle entry's claim to the championship.

Now all that remains to be setted is a suit filed by Horace Dodge of Detroit, owner of one of the boats, to set aside "Miss Thriftway's victory.

"Miss Thriftway," owned by Willard Rhodes, crossed the finish line first in the Gold Cup Race on the Detroit River Sept. 1, but the Detroit race committee disqualified it on the grounds it hit a buoy.

The inboard racing commission later reversed the local committee's ruling. Detroit boat owners and drivers asked the commission to reopen the hearing.

The commission considered the request yesterday but decided against reopening the case.

Three Cities Bid for Louisville Club

OMAHA (AP)—Three cities were expected to bid today for the vacated Louisville baseball franchise in the American Assn. They are Des Moines, Salt Lake City and Winnipeg. Indications were Des Moines held the favored position.

The bids were to be put to league directors and President Ed Doherty at an afternoon meeting.

If Des Moines get the nod it will be the fourth city taken into the association from the Class A Western League in the past three years. The others are Denver and Omaha in 1955 and Wichita this year.

Clash for 43rd Time

Turkey Day Rivalry to End for BHS-RO

By BILL CORNWELL

When Charles Dickens penned his immortal novel, "A Tale of Two Cities," he never dreamed that some day it would have a double meaning.

The famous classic should remind people of some of the best in literature.

The "tale of two cities" will be resumed for the 43rd time next Thursday when Birmingham collides with the Acorns in their traditional Thanksgiving Day battle.

Royal Oak will be favored to win, but this is almost immaterial. Of greater importance is the fact that one of the state's oldest and most colorful rivalries may be played for the last time.

At stake on Turkey Day will be the Little Brown Jug, symbolic of gridiron supremacy between the two schools. The Jug, a battered but precious old piece of pottery, is retained each year by the winning team.

The Jug was introduced in 1924. Since then the two schools have met 31 times with Royal Oak winning 16 games, the Maples 10 and five ending in ties. The Acorns have held the prize for the past four years.

In the overall record dating back to 1913, Royal Oak has won 21 times compared to Birmingham's 14. There have been seven ties, four of them scoreless.

Next week's holiday clash has a sad note attached to it, however. It may be the last Maple-Acorn meeting.

With Royal Oak Kimball opening next year, it is expected that an intra-city Thanksgiving Day rivalry between the Acorns and the new school will be inaugurated.

Pressure is being exerted by alumni groups from both schools to continue the historic series. But the current feeling is that the series will not be renewed.

They'll play one more game for certain—Thanksgiving Day, 1956.

2nd Round in Golf Meet

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—A field trimmed to 25 entered the second round of the annual Southern Seniors Golf Tournament here today in hot pursuit of Arthur F. Lynch of Scarsdale, N.Y.

Lynch put together rounds of 36 and 35 for a 71, one under par for the No. 2 Pinehurst Country Club course, to lead the first round yesterday which also was the qualifying round.

Close behind Lynch were John W. Roberts of Columbus, Ohio, and Col. C. D. McAllister of Orlando, Fla., each with 73's. E. Doug Gunter of Richmond followed with 74.

Gunter fired a fat 43 over the front nine but came back in 31, the best nine holes of the day.

Play will alternate over the No. 2 and 3 courses with the final round set tomorrow.

The Southern senior women's division being played in conjunction with the men's tournament was led by Mrs. Dwight Carroll of Kingsport, Tenn. Mrs. Carroll, the defending champion, had rounds of 41-43—84, one stroke better than Mrs. Carl M. Reeves of Greensboro.

TIPS FROM BIG BROTHER—Willie DeWalt, former PHS All-Valley cager gives brother Henry (right) a few tips on ball handling during a recent workout of the chiefs at the school gymnasium. Henry is moving up to the varsity squad after a good season last winter, with the reserves. He is a fast floor man, good shot and may be of considerable help to Art Van Ryzin's club, in the coming basketball compaign.

Cage Drills Grab Prep Scene

WELCOME FOR BASKETBALL — New head coach at Walled Lake High, Bill Ullenbruch, welcomes a portion of the 73 candidates who turned out for the opening basketball call this week. The Vikings with four regulars returning may carry their winning ways from the football field to the court in the Inter-Lakes conference this year. Ullenbruch replaced Niles Freeland as cage coach after the 1955-56 season.

Winter is starting to move in and so is basketball as boys from all around the Oakland County area abandon the football field for another year and head for the hardwoods.

The king of cold weather sports is very much in evidence in gymnasiums throughout the area now that gridiron togs have been packed away.

Practice sessions have already begun at most schools and those that haven't joined the act will do so next week in preparation for the 1956-57 season.

The balance of the Maples' starting lineup will probably be gleaned from Tom Kelly, Tony Evangelista, Marshall Roe and Bob Peckheiser, all of whom saw limited action last year.

Replacing graduated stars like guard Ken Moser poses a big problem for Bob Watts at Southfield. There are only two returning regulars on the Jay roster, 6-3 center Leonard Lamb and 6-1 forward Jerry Londal.

The situation looks better at Lake Orion. Coach Hal Carlin will be bolstered by the return of Jim Drake and Nick Niera, last season's top scorers as sophomores, along with Ralph MacLachlan and Dave Golladay.

Madison has five regulars back in harness, led by Harold Perkins, but sharp-shooting Jim Siner has departed via graduation. The Troy Colts have two regulars back for duty, Sim Acton and Don Killewald.

Cranbrook's hopes for a winning season revolve around captain Chuck Grube, a guard, and forward Herb Stanton. Pete Ordway and Dave Cooper are promising newcomers.

St. Michael's chances will center on veterans Dan Dropps and Chuck Brown. The Shamrocks, who start drills Monday, will be fighting a height handicap this season since there is not a six-footer on the squad. Other probable regulars are Ken Halpin, Bob Mineweaser, Ken Rogers and Jim Fox.

Forward Pete Madelans is the lone returning starter at Orchard Lake St. Mary, but there is enough experienced material on hand to form a capable unit. Lettermen available are Art Goisdzinski, Stan Moniusczko, Larry Charkowski and Paul Franckowiak.

Bloomfield Hills, which played basketball last season for the 1st time since 1947, has five lettermen available. The Barons, coached by Hal Trott, will rely heavily on Dave Drury, last year's leading scorer.

Six letter winners, led by point-making ace Larry Dorow, paint an optimistic picture at Imlay City. Bob Hutchings and Chuck Graves are Ortonville's returning kingpins.

The outlook is brighter at Romeo where six holdovers, led by John Fowler and Tom Williams, should make the Bulldogs an improved club.

Optimism has been dampened at Utica by the injury to Lou Haase. Haase, the only returning starter, was hurt in the final game of the football season and will be lost for six weeks.

Tables Turned on Shirley Fry in Net Match

Beaten by Miss Fry in the finals of the U.S. national championships at Forest Hills in September, the New York miss trounced the Wimbledon champion 10-8, 6-2 to win the New South Wales Women's singles tennis title.

It was a satisfying triumph for Miss Gibson who also had been beaten by Miss Fry in the finals of the Women's National Clay Court championships at Chicago last July.

Chiefs Top-Rated

'Watch Pontiac' Say SVC Coaches

BY H. GUY MOATS

Coaches of the tough Saginaw Valley Conference basketball circuit today put the finger squarely on Art Van Ryzin's Pontiac High School Chief cagers. A roundup of these mentors' opinions indicated they believe the pre-season balance of power could rest with Pontiac.

Van Ryzin, commenting on the "team to beat" tag, said today he was pleased with the compliment from his fellow coaches. "But" Art reminded, "while we're highly pleased by the top rating, you have to go out and win these things before gaining the position."

"We think we still will be a better club, or at least as good as last year's club which finished in a 3rd place tie with Arthur Hill (6-4). There are six lettermen back, including Larry Peet, long Hudson (Goose) Ray, Dave Diehm, Dave Simmons, Terry Zellhart and Dave Scriven, and we have some good boys up from the JV squad."

The Chiefs' mentor warned, however, that "this is one of those years where the conference could be pretty evenly matched." He pointed out that Saginaw (which finished last without a win (0-10) and Bay City (2-8) both will unquestionably be improved. Northern, last year's champion (9-1), lost all-stater Clarence Elliott, and three other regulars, but appears to have some excellent replacements. Flint Central, SVS runnerup (7-3) has three regulars back, but may not be as potent as the Trojans, for instance.

Larry Laeding, Saginaw mentor, is optimistic. "It's about time we had a contender after those lean years", Larry said, "We'll have some good height to go along with our seven lettermen, including Deb Blondin (2nd high SVC scorer)". Laeding has his entire starting five on hand again.

Most Valley squads have been working out for some time, but all have had to wait on the close of the grid season to swing into high gear. Many gridders are also cage regulars.

Loss of Willie DeWalt, Valley scoring leader and All-Valley star was the biggest single blow for Pontiac this year. But despite this loss, along with Rod Trpais, observers still feel the Chiefs will be the top hurdle for other SVC clubs.

Van Ryzin will have better height, for one thing, with Ray's 6-4, Roosevelt Alexander at 6-4½, newcomer Dick McLaughlin at 6-2 (195 pounds) who is turning out for the first time, and Ron Hart, a junior transfer from Grand Blanc.

Other bright prospects for the Chiefs include Henry DeWalt Willie's brother, fast and rugged; Charley Barge, Dick Whitmer, and Charley Johnson from the 1955-56 reserves. Whitmer was moved up during the tourney season, and proved a good point maker.

Most Valley clubs open their seasons Dec. 4.

Drawings Are Made for Olympic Cagers

MELBOURNE (AP) — Japan will meet America and Korea plays Nationalist China in the opening games of the Olympic basketball competition.

The 15 teams were split into four groups by lot today.

Winner of the elimination rounds go into the finals. Uruguay is reported to have an excellent basketball team but the Koreans are given only an outside chance of reaching the finals. Japan appears doomed since she is bracketed with the powerful American team.

Meeting on Cage League Set for Monday at YMCA

A formation meeting of the YMCA basketball league for the 1956-57 season will be held Monday night at 7:30 at the "Y," it was announced today by Physical Education Director Arthur Mann.

All interested team representatives are asked to attend this meeting to discuss plans for the coming season. The loop will be limited to seven teams.

YMCA members and non-members are eligible to compete as long as they do not participate in the city league. Non-member players will be required to pay $8 playing fees for the season.

Several groups have already expressed an interest in entering the league thus far, according to Mann who also revealed the "Y" would be one of the quintets taking part. All competing teams must have a minimum of eight players. Participants must be at least 18 years of age.

MSU Harriers Capture Crown

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State, with a meet record-breaking total of 21 points, captured its 5th Big Ten cross-country title in six years yesterday. Purdue had the former low of 26 points, set in 1943.

In cross-country the low total, based on places of a team's first five finishers, decides the winner.

Illinois was runnerup in team totals with 50 points. Indiana was third with 73. They were followed by Minnesota with 78 and Iowa with 10. Wisconson, Ohio State and Northwestern had individual entries only. Michigan and Purdue did not enter.

Carleton College Picked

CHICAGO (AP)—Carleton College was a unanimous choice today to win the Midwest Conference cross country meet at Washington Park.

185-Pounder Leads Press Deer Contest

Lucky hunter was Glen Woodward, 2453 St. Joseph's, Pontiac.

Woodward, an ardent hunter, but not a fisherman (he says) bagged his big buck Thursday near Hersey, Osceola county. Dressed weight was 185 pounds. Buck was an 8-pointer, shot at 75 yards with a 30-30 rifle bullet. He was hunting with his father, Lloyd and brother Jerry, of Hersey.

Another big deer was reported by Homer Thrower, 114 East New York, Pontiac, but it had not been weighed officially. Buck was a 6-pointer, downed near West Branch Thursday morning. With Thrower were his father, Thomas, Don Bayes and John Little, all of Pontiac. Homer was the only successful one.

Russians Say Olympic Pool Is Too Cold

MELBOURNE (AP) — Russian coach Vladimir Kitaev has complained that the temperature of the Olympic pool is too low and is affecting his swimmers.

He said the pool should be 2 to 3 degrees warmer.

British, French and American swimmers are satisfied with the pool. Its temperature ranges from 72 to 76 degrees Fahrenheit, as required.

Tanker Shortage

Mideast Canal Blockade May Boost Gas Prices

WASHINGTON (INS) — Government officials say American motorists may have to pay an extra cent a gallon for gasoline if the Suez Canal remains blocked.

Fuel oil prices would also climb, but experts say gas rationing is likely only if the U. S. declares war — a prospect now considered remote.

The officials explain there are plenty of "if's" in the situation but that until the Suez Canal is cleared and Mid-East pipelines are back in operation there will be a tight supply of oil tankers.

• • •

Since much of the oil used on the U. S. east coast is transported in tankers, a shortage of these ships would boost rates and the extra cost would eventually appear in the prices on filling station pumps.

Officials explained that Middle Eastern fields furnish only about four per cent of America's oil supply, but virtually all the oil used in Europe. Mid-East oil now must reach Europe by tanker around the southern tip of Africa — an extra 5,000 miles — vastly increasing the demand for these ships.

Supplemental oil sent from U. S. and Venezuelan fields will also tie up more tankers and reduce American domestic supplies.

The plan calls for cooperation by shipping companies and oil producers to free more tankers for the African route and to increase production in the New World.

• • •

Brownell said the plan had been submitted to the Justice Department for a ruling on its anti-trust features. He indicated in a report to Congress and to President Eisenhower that he approved the plan only after deciding its monopolistic features were outweighed by national defense interests.

Doctors Devise Liver Tests

New Method Helps Prevent Fatalities of Hemorrhaging

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration (VA) state two doctors at its Pittsburgh hospital have devised a test to help prevent fatal hemorrhages among victims of cirrhosis of the liver.

The test checks blood presure in the spleen to determine in advance the possiple danager of hemorrhage. It was developed by Drs. Francis G. Jackson and John L. Happel of the VA hospital staff and of the University of Pittsburgh Medical School.

The disease is marked by destruction of liver cells and an increase in scar tissue of the liver. It may be associated with heart conditions, inadequate diet in alcoholics and a number of other conditions.

The doctors explained that occasionally in a patient with cirrhosis of the liver the portal vein, which is the main entrance for the passage of blood to the liver, becomes blocked.

In the test devised by Jackson and Happel a hollow needle is inserted between the lower ribs on the left side of the body until it enters the pulp of the spleen, an organ that serves as a storehouse for blood.

The doctors said that because much of the blood that flows into the liver vein comes from the spleen any pressure caused by blood backing up from the blocked vein would be reflected in the needle in the spleen.

Jackson and Happel said that when evidence shows excessive pressure, a possible hemorrhage may be prevented by disconnecting the liver vein and connecting it with another vein to relieve the strain of obstructed blood on vessels in the stomach.

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Superior Judge Edmund Scott told psychiatrist Walter J. Grant: "Maybe you had better see a psychiatrist and get yourself straightened out. You are not handling your affairs properly." Grant had asked the judge to reduce support payments to his wife and daughter from $353 a month to $135. He said he made $1,800 a month but had equal expenses.

Old Gene's Son Dad's Image?

Not by a Black Cigar, Say Georgia Voters of Young 'Hummon'

ATLANTA, Nov. 17 (AP)—Deep in the heart of Georgia's "wool hat" country, folks like to think that young "Hummon" Talmadge is the spitting image of "Old Gene," right down to the jawful of tobacco and the big brass spittoon at his feet.

And Herman Eugene Talmadge, Georgia's newest U.S. senator and the only son of her late long-time governor, likes to oblige the comparison by affecting the red galluses, bushy forelock and long black cigars that have become a Talmadge trade-mark in Southern politics.

But Georgians have come to realize (and accept) that while the mold may be the same — rough hewn, trigger tongued, independent — the newer model Talmadge is shinier, more streamlined, geared for power and action.

Where "Old Gene" was irascible, moody, unbending and carried a grudge to his dying day, young Herman is calm, deliberate, pliable and apt to forget a grudge if it can mean more votes in a doubtful district.

And where the father boasted of "never carrying a county where the streetcars ran," the son is proud of his support in the big cities and his new-found influence with the younger generation of Georgia voters.

Like his father, young Gene twice elected governor of Georgia, states unequivocally that in Georgia Negroes and whites will never attend school together in his lifetime, but his approach is constitutional rather than contemptuous.

A square-jawed, hard worker, young Talmadge already has achieved two goals that eluded his father. He has won a seat in the U.S. Senate and he has replaced Sen. Walter George. "Old Gene" tried both and lost by an overwhelming margin.

* * *

Talmadge quickly showed in interviews after his election, that he had no intention of following the precepts of his internationalist-minded predecessor in the field of foreign affairs. George, long a leader in shaping the nation's foreign policy, was a staunch Senate advocate of increased foreign aid, the Marshall Plan and other forms of mutual assistance among nations.

Who Will Land on Top of Heap in Middle East Power Shuffle?

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The British-French invasion of Egypt is considered in U. S. official quarters to have produced results little short of disastrous. Whether the results prove to be a total disaster depends on the final outcome, which is not yet clear.

The operation apparently was designed to serve two major purposes and was based on at least one major assumption.

* * *

The purposes were (1) to regain physical control of the Suez Canal and (2) to undermine Egyptian President Nasser. The assumption was that the operation could be carried off without direct military intervention by the Soviet Union. Probably Britain and France also assumed that when the chips were down, they would have the political support or at least the passive approval of the United States.

* * *

The British and French have not gained physical control of the canal. Under threat of Soviet intervention with military force and under strong demands from the United Nations for a cease-fire, they had to halt their military operations within hours after the troops landed.

Nasser may not be stronger than he was before British and French warplanes began bombing his airfields and military installations, but there is no evidence that he is weaker. He rallied a tremendous segment of world opinion to his side. Even the U. S. government felt compelled to denounce the attack on Egypt by its closest allies.

* * *

The Western alliance was split over an issue of vital importance. Only the Soviet Union stands to profit.

The one positive gain which could come out of the Middle East crisis is the strengthening of the United Nations if it averts a much greater war and takes effective steps for permanent settlement of Middle Eastern problems. But whether it can do that remains to be seen.

By JACK SMITH

LONDON (AP) — The British-French invasion of Egypt will change the course of history, but only time can show just how. Some new factors on the scene have still to be evaluated. That is the general belief in London.

On the face of it, the Russians now look stronger in the Middle East. The Arab world has seen two Western nations, long distrusted by many Arabs, invade a leading Arab state. And Russia has pictured itself as the big brother whose threats brought the attack to a quick halt.

* * *

But most Arab leaders have an ingrained hatred of communism. Some have kept a wary eye on Gamal Abdel Nasser, the dynamic young Egyptian president who dreams of leading an Arab empire. Will these powerful men accept the British claim that the invasion uncovered a Red plot to win control of the Middle East with Nasser as a tool? As the closure of the Suez Canal and the destruction of oil pipelines eats into their revenues, will they look longingly for better trade and better relations with their traditional Western customers?

* * *

Nasser on the surface seems stronger. In Arab eyes, he stood up to Western invaders and their attack was called off. But he lost face by losing the Gaza Strip to Israel. If Arab leaders can be convinced that to further his own political ambitions he exposed the entire Middle East to the threat of Soviet domination, his prestige could wither and die.

Has the attack weakened British ties with the free world, including members of the British Commonwealth? Opinion in the United States and the Asian commonwealth members—India, Pakistan and Ceylon—reacted sharply against the assault. But British leaders hope the decision to attack soon will be accepted as fully justified. There have already been signs of some shift of American opinion.

* * *

In many quarters, however, doubts persist that Anthony Eden can survive long as prime minister. Even if his policies bear fruit, even if they lead to a general settlement in the Middle East and satisfactory arrangements for international control of the canal, Eden will still be seen as a man who took a grave and dangerous step without consulting his American allies or his friends in the commonwealth.

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—Leading French politicians and journalists believe Egypt's President Nasser stands in a slightly stronger position today than before the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The main reason, from a French point of view, is that the two Western allies failed to achieve their chief objective: to damage the prestige of the Egyptian President enough to cost him all influence in the Arab world and topple him from power at home.

* * *

This has been France's overriding purpose from the beginning. The French blame Nasser and his propaganda for most of their troubles in North Africa. The Suez operation was viewed as a shortcut to ending the two-year-old rebellion in Algeria.

* * *

But Nasser still is very much in power in Cairo, despite all that the allies and the Israelis threw at him. On the other hand he has suffered a crushing military reverse in the Sinai Peninsula, he no longer has exclusive control of the Suez Canal and he has been charged with being the spearhead for Soviet penetration into the Middle East.

Because of the presence of the U. N. police force in Egypt and the General Assembly resolutions early this month, the French feel there is now a greater chance that the canal eventually will be put under international control. They base this on the clause in the police force resolution providing that one function of this force will be to see that the canal is reopened and maintained for all nations on equal terms.

Nab Three Juveniles Trying to Steal Gas

Three Pontiac teenagers, who Sheriff's deputies say were caught trying to steal gasoline from a truck, were arrested early this morning behind an Orion Township firm.

All were released to their parents pending further action by county juvenile authorities.

The trio was apprehended by deputies despite an attempt to run away from the scene when the patrol car arrived. No entry was made in the building of the Thomas Tool & Die Co., 2170 E. Walton Blvd.

Deer Attacks Car

WADENA, Minn. (AP) — A large buck deer with a distaste for sports cars sent Joseph Christensen of Fargo, N. D., to the hospital for treatment. Christensen stopped his convertible when he saw the animal. The deer charged the car without warning in a flying leap, tearing the fabric top, smashing the windshield and bending a door post. The driver was treated for cuts and bruises.

State's Unemployed Problem Solved Soon

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan unemployment will fall to 140,000 by Dec. 15, a statistician reports.

James Jones, of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, said in a report to the governor's emergency production commission that steady improvement is shown in employment figures.

From Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, employment rose some 82,000, he said, 65,000 in Detroit alone. This brought unemployment to 171,000 for the period.

Harry Richert of the Detroit Board of Commerce said that 8.4 billion of the 12 billion dollars spent on defense contracts since June has gone into aircraft, electronics and guided missiles.

Admission Goes Up

DETROIT (AP)—It's going to cost more for adults to go to the 1957 Michigan State Fair than it did to enter the 1956 version. Children will still be admitted free. But those 15-years-old and over must pay 75 cents against 60 cents this year. The reason, officials said, was increased expenses and costs.

Ask Permission to Ban Tablets

Government Seizes ½ Million 'Cancer' Pills From Hoxsey Clinic

A U.S. District Court Jury yes-Malcolm Anderson said today he would ask Federal Judge John L. Miller "very soon" for a permissive order to destroy a half million pills seized in a government raid on on the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Portage, Pa.

A U.S. District Court July yesterday ruled that the government acted properly in seizing the pills. The verdict climaxed a six-week legal battle between the government and counsel for the Portage Clinic.

Anderson said the government initiated the civil suit because it wanted permission to destroy the pills on the brounds they were "misbranded" as effective in the treatment of cancer. He said the verdict had the effect of granting the permission the government sought.

Government attorneys also asked Judge Miller to issue an injunctioin to prevent the Portage Clinic from shipping or receiving similar pills in inter-state commerce.

From the outset of the trial, which began Oct. 8, the government hammered at its point that the pills have no value in treating internal cancers. It introduced expert medical witnesses to refute defense claims that many persons were "cured" by the Hoxsey method of treating cancers.

Defense attorneys sought return of the pills to the clinic and its medical director, Dr. Newton Allen. They introduced witnesses who told the jury they were helped by the Hoxsey method.

U.S. Food and Drug Administration agents confiscated the pills in the raid on March 25, 1955.

Gisele Has That Fever — She Wants Own Show

By EARL WILSON

Sweet-tempered and lovely though this lady fiddler from Canada may be, she's afflicted with the new national malady common to TV performers. Its major symptom is the simple utterance: "I'd like to have a show of my own."

Ninety-nine out of 100 performers you meet today have this illness. The 100th doesn't have it—he's worse off—he has a show of his own.

"So why do you want a show of your own?" I asked Gisele. "You want ulcers, rating worries, guest star problems, sponsor headaches?"

"Why do I want a show of my own?" She looked at me with some surprise. "Simply because everybody's screaming and yelling at me, 'Why don't you have a show of your own?'

"Somehow people get the idea that if you don't have a show of your own, you're in a rut."

GISELE

★ ★ ★

"Oh, I'm perfectly happy. It's the people that keep buggin' me. I guess I'm going to have to dive in."

So probably next season there'll be Gisele on her own. Of course, she can do it, what with her fiddling and her dramatic prowess as well as her singing.

Her manager once did persuade her to quit the fiddle. "One reason was that my fiddle was stolen out of a car and it seemed to me to be a sign," Gisele adds quite seriously.

But Jack Benny flipped over her fiddling a couple of years later in Las Vegas and asked her to go on a tour with him.

"He was enthusiastic about the skits and gags we could do together. I play just enough to keep ahead of him. He's pretty good. Of course he's no Isaac Stern or Jascha Heifetz."

Now when she appears with Perry Como or Ed Sullivan, it's pretty hard for her not to play at least a little fiddle. In her apartment amid dachshunds and tropical fish, she'll admit—looking quite a lot like Nanette Fabray—that she's a nervous wreck after almost every "Hit Parade" and tells herself she's going to quit.

"Sometimes you forget lyrics. But you have to keep singing. Once in 'That's Amore,' I had the pizza pie in the sky and the moon in the wine. Another time I had a scene with a horse. It was supposed to be very romantic but the horse was clobbering me with its head.

"So you ask me if I'm nervous when I sing in front of an audience. Say, I'm nervous if I sing in front of two people—I'm nervous if I sing in front of my two dogs. Funny, isn't it, that I got to have a show of my own? And when I'm so happy the way I am, too!"

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Air Force Gen. Twining will be the next head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff . . . Miriam Nelson, Gene Nelson's ex, busted up with her latest honey, CBS exec Jack Meyers . . . N.Y.C. cops and U. N. security police can't decide who's to handle crowds picketing the U. N. building . . . The Indian gov't invited Rossellini to make a film there.

With many Hilton execs meeting at the Waldorf, Lisa Kirk deletes kidding references to Conrad Hilton from her act there . . . Tina Louise and Julie Newmar ended their feud and now share the same "Li'l Abner" dressing room and the same boy friends.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The late Fred Allen said it about taxes: "These days you keep your nose to the grindstone and all you wind up with is a nose full of emery dust."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Shep Fields described a Broadway couple: "Their marriage was a combination of brains and beauty—and she has 'em both." That's earl, brother."

Oakland County Electronic Association

We Thought You'd Like to Know

The Oakland County Electronics Association, with the very able assistance of the Better Business Board of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, has been successful in keeping fraudulent TV service operations at a minimum in the Pontiac area. Our local association, in cooperation with other simular organizations, have formed a state-wide alliance to control fraudulent practices and better serve the people of Michigan. The operators cannot always be found guilty of illegal practices because the laws concerning such operations are very general. In the next session of our state legislature a bill will be introduced concerning state licensing of TV service dealers. We urge you to support this bill because of its many benefits to you, the consumer. We are sure that state licensing will assure you satisfactory service at reasonable prices and remove the threat of these "Trick Artists." This association was founded and is supported by reliable LOCAL businessmen. Give these firms your vote of confidence. When you need TV or Radio service, call your neighborhood OCEA member. You'll be glad you did.
