Train-Crash Fire, Fumes Wrack Indiana Town

AP Wirephoto

FIERY DERAILMENT — Chemical explosions and fires were set off in several cars of a derailed Pennsylvania Railroad freight train near Dunreith, Ind., last night, forcing evacuation of the eastern Indiana community of 236. Special chemical fire-fighting equipment was used to put out the blazes that burned through the night.

From Our News Wires

DUNREITH, Ind. — Fire triggered by the collision of two freight trains and fed by gasoline, crude oil and ammonia, today burned out of control. The 236 residents of Dunreith already had been forced to flee their homes in near zero-degree cold.

Dangers of additional explosions and deadly chemical fumes left firemen helpless against the holocaust which apparently had burned nearly half of the town.

Three firemen and a policeman suffered minor injuries.

Officials ordered firefighters and police out of the town when there was danger that two 12,000-gallon ammonia tanks would rupture in an atmosphere already heavy with flammable and toxic chemicals.

A new danger arose when cattle were found dead along a creek just south of Dunreith. Authorities said they feared the creek, which runs south through the town, might be carrying a deadly cyanide from one of the wrecked train cars.

Special foam equipment sent from Wrght-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio, was held back by authorities. They feared the foam might bring an adverse reaction with leaking chemicals.

Meanwhile, chemical warfare specialists from Wright-Patterson and Ft. Benjamin Harrison at Indianapolis checked to see what could be used to out the fires.

★ ★ ★

The Butterfield Canning Co. plant and a service station were destroyed by flames, which also spread to several houses. Some were empty migrant worker dwellings, officials said.

SPECTACULAR COLLISION

The collision of eastbound and westbound Pennsylvania Railroad trains last night set off the blaze and explosions. It was spectacular but caused no loss of life.

W. R. Sheets of Zionsville, brakeman of the westbound train, said he believed a rail broke under the 75th car of the 98-car train. Flames broke out almost immediately, he said.

Despite heat from the burning wreckage, crewmen were able to separate the front portion of the westbound train and move it out of town.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said until the fire was put out, there was no way of getting humans through the toxic smoke to ascertain damage.

Observers on the scene said that when the wind shifted slightly four badly damaged houses could be seen.

Patrols of state police sent north from Dunreith to alert rural families of the smoke and chemical danger drifting their way found empty houses. Antilooter patrols were established. At least one state trooper was overcome by the fumes.

Traffic was rerouted from busy U.S. 40 which parallels the Pennsylvania main line through Dunreith.

SEEN 40 MILES AWAY

The explosion and ball of flame that erupted at the height of the holocaust lighted a milewide area "like daylight" and could be seen or felt as far as Indianapolis, 40 miles to the west.

Brain Hemorrhage Kills Donor

3rd Heart Swap Successful

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Christian N. Barnard and a team of surgeons performed another successful heart transplant today, replacing the damaged heart of a 58-year-old Cape Town dentist with that of a man who collapsed and died from a brain hemorrhage.

★ ★ ★

Groote Schuur Hospital announced the transplant took more than five hours and termed it successful. They said the patient's condition was satisfactory.

Barnard performed the world's first human heart transplant Dec. 3 on Louis Washkansky, 53, who lived 18 days with the new heart before dying of pneumonia.

The hospital said Dr. Philip Blaiberg, a man "desperately ill" with a damaged heart, received the heart of Clive Haupt, 24, who collapsed on a nearby beach and died in the hospital.

★ ★ ★

Haupt was a mulatto — a man of mixed race — but this apparently posed no problems for Barnard in racially segregated South Africa. Finding a donor for Blaiberg was difficult because of his rare B-positive blood type.

5-HOUR OPERATION

The hospital said the operation began at 11 a.m. and was completed about 4 p.m. The historic transplant in which Washkansky received the healthy heart of a 25-year-old woman who died in a traffic accident also took five hours.

Blaiberg has been waiting three weeks for the operation and did not reconsider when Washkansky died.

Haupt was on Fish Hoek Beach yesterday with his wife of three months when he collapsed with a brain hemorrhage. When he was taken to a hospital and his blood typed, Groote Schuur Hospital was notified.

★ ★ ★

Barnard's surgical team spent several hours studying the transplant possibilities before proceeding.

SECOND TRANSPLANT

A few days after Washkansky's historic transplant, a team of surgeons in Brooklyn, N. Y., made the second heart transplant. Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz used the heart of a dead infant to replace that of a dying infant, but the baby lived just 6½ hours.

Blaiberg is married and has a daughter, Jill, 19, who is in Israel. In Haifa, she went into seclusion on learning her father was undergoing history's third human heart transplant.

Blaiberg suffered his first coronary 14 years ago but his wife, Eileen, said his heart "completely gave out" about nine months ago.

★ ★ ★

Deterioration of Blaiberg's condition in the last few days was understood to have sped the return of Barnard from a tour of the United States.

WHITE-NEGRO

Barnard said during his tour in the United States that his team had transplanted kidneys between white "Europeans" and "Bantus," or Negroid South African natives; and that they had done this for a number of years.

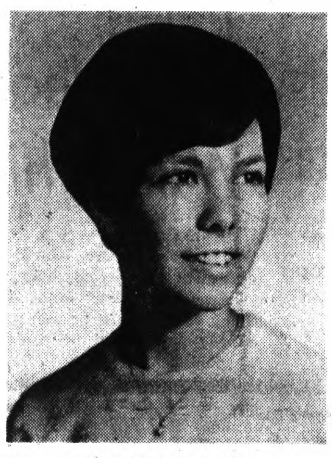
★ ★ ★

Among cases he cited were a Bantu kidney given a European man and a kidney from a European given a Bantu child. He said such transplants presented no biological problem. He did not get into the politics of the matter.

★ ★ ★

After Washkansky died, Barnard had visited Blaiberg and asked whether he still wanted a transplant. "He said he was quite confident it would work one day," Barnard reported.

Pontiac Man Held in Hit-Run



SHERRY ANN KNIGHT
Hit-and-Run Victim

GARY GILLESPIE
Suspect Is Held

A Pontiac man was arrested yesterday on charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an injury accident in the hit-and-run death of a Highland Township girl early in the day.

Arrested was Gary Gillespie, 22, of 350 Third, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

He was taken into custody about 4 p.m. by Deputy Frederick Fleming, who spotted the suspect in his car, which answered a police description, at North Telegraph and Walton.

Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives, said the description was developed from physical evidence found at the scene of the mishap, in which 17-year-old Sherry Ann Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lane E. Knight of 203 S. Center, was killed.

She and her escort, Alan Lengeman, 17, were run down from behind about 2:45 a.m. while walking on the shoulder of Milford Road near Highland in Highland Township.

BOY IN FAIR CONDITION

Lengeman, son of Mrs. Janet H. Lengeman of 3727 Gulfwood, is reported in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital

Deputies said the couple was apparently walking to the Knight home from Lengeman's stalled car when they were struck.

A motorist found Miss Knight and Lengeman lying in the road. The passerby told investigators he was pursuing a car which had bumped his vehicle shortly before the fatal accident.

★ ★ ★

Deputies said they believe the same car was involved in both incidents.

★ ★ ★

The car in which Gillespie was arrested had damage in the right front area, including the headlight, fender and windshield, according to Hazen.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Road Toll Is a Low 363

By the Associated Press

The New Year holiday weekend death toll was below advance estimates and a National Safety Council spokesman today gave credit for the improvement to bad weather and good driving.

★ ★ ★

The total reached 363 in a count that began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight yesterday. The safety council predicted earlier that 460 to 540 persons would die in traffic accidents over the 78-hour period.

"There is nothing immutable about the death rate," a spokesman said. "We don't have to just accept it."

"The major reason we believe is that the behavior of drivers must have changed," the spokesman said. "How it changed, we don't know."

★ ★ ★

"Weather certainly was a consideration, too," he said. Record-breaking cold and heavy snow in some sections apparently kept some persons at home.

During the final hours of the weekend a car-truck crash in Chicago claimed four lives and injured five others.

Earlier, three persons were killed and eight injured when a station wagon carrying members of a Dallas, Tex., family and another auto collided northeast of El Dorado, Kan.

The death total was below that of a nonholiday period of equal length.

★ ★ ★

For a comparison, The Associated Press counted traffic deaths for the period from 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 15, to midnight Monday, Dec. 18. There were 484 deaths.

The traffic death toll during the last three-day New Year holiday was 469.

The highest toll for any New Year period was 564, compiled during a three-day celebration at the start of 1966.

Light Snow, Cold Forecast for Area

The weather outlook for the Pontiac area for the next few days is cold with occasional snow or snow flurries.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts light snow or flurries through tonight with a low of eight to 15.

Partly cloudy with a chance of snow flurries is tomorrow's prediction. Fair and quite cold is Thursday's forecast.

Morning winds southerly at eight to 16 miles per hour will become northerly tonight.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 50, tonight 70, tomorrow 40.

The low recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 9 above. The mercury had moved up to 19 by 2 p.m.

Deadline Today in Baby Contest

Deadline for the first-baby-of-the-year contest is 5 p.m. today. The first baby born in 1968 will receive a multitude of gifts.

★ ★ ★

Any baby born to married parents living north of 14 Mile Road in Oakland County after midnight Dec. 31 is eligible.

Entries must be made through the family doctor. They should be sent to the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, Riker Building.

The doctor's statement must include the exact time and date of birth, sex, weight, name of baby and the name and address of parents.

★ ★ ★

Gifts include a $25 savings bond, a $25 savings account, two cases of Carnation Milk, three pair of baby shoes, a diamond baby ring, a sweater, a bonnet, booties, and a silver cup.

BABY SCALES

Other gifts are baby scales, a baby blanket, a high chair, $5 gift certificate, $10 gift certificate, new tire, free car wash and polish, three dinners for two at area restaurants, slippers for mother, a ham, two cleaning certificates, two floral arrangements, and five gallons of milk.

GOP Strategists Propose Drive for Control of Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The odds are heavily against it, but there's a possibility Republicans could win control of the Senate in the 1968 elections.

Some party strategists argue this should become a priority GOP goal.

The Republicans need 15 additional seats to gain a Senate majority for the first time since 1954.

A GOP victory of that magnitude is improbable. But one Republican professional contends the party could do it by putting some of its biggest names into Senate races next year.

★ ★ ★

For example, this party offieial said, the GOP would have to persuade such men as former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton to run for the Senate. Scranton has said he will not seek public office again. Washington - based Republicans believe he could capture the Senate seat now held by Democrat Joseph S. Clark.

POTENT CANDIDATE

In Ohio, the official said, Gov. James A. Rhodes would be a potent candidate for the Senate seat of Democrat Frank J. Lausche.

Oregon's Gov. Tom McCall could seek the post held by Sen. Wayne Morse, another Democrat, the official said, even though that might cost the GOP control of a state house.

Social Security Series

Starting today, The Pontiac Press is presenting a 15-part illustrated series explaining the wide - ranging changes in the Social Security program.

The series is written by Bruce Biossat, the Newspaper Enterprise Association's Washington correspondent, who has been following the progress of the legislation through Congress.

Part 1, on Page B-4, explains the size and scope of the program.

Yemeni Attacking

SAN'A, Yemen (AP) — Eight thousand Yemeni Republican troops, backed by the Yemeni air force, were reported today to have struck at Royalist forces entrenched 40 miles southwest of San'a along the road to Yemen's second largest city, Tai'zz.

N. Viet Reported Willing to Talk if Bombing Halts

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says the administration is carefully evaluating reports that North Vietnam might enter into peace discussions if the United States were unconditionally to stop bombing that country.

Johnson said yesterday at the LBJ Ranch that he was familiar with newspaper reports quoting North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh to that effect.

Hanoi Radio broadcast a statement yesterday saying North Vietnam "will talk" when the United States has "unconditionally stopped its bombing and all other acts of war" against the North.

"We are evaluating them," Johnson said of the reports.

★ ★ ★

Johnson spent considerable time talking about his program to curtail the U. S. dollar drain in 1968.

FOCUS ON BUDGET

The President focused his attention today on budget work and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He had until midnight tonight to sign the new Social Security law that would boost benefits and Social Security taxes.

On the passenger list today of the Washington-LBJ Ranch jet plane shuttle were the names of HEW Secretary John Gardner, Budget Director Charles Schultze and presidential assistant Douglass Cater.

The Social Security measure will mean bigger benefit checks beginning in March for 24 million persons. The minimum retirement pay will go from $44 to $55 a month, the maximum from $142 to $160.50.

Cease-Fire 'Bloodiest Ever' in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. officials today called the allies' New Year cease-fire "the bloodiest of all" Vietnam war truce attempts after a Vietcong force of 2,500 men broke the stand-down and smashed into an American outpost, killing 23 infantrymen and wounding 153.

The guerrillas' 9th Division, augmented by North Vietnamese replacements, lost 348 men in its attack on the base camp near Black Virgin Mountain, about 62 miles northwest of Saigon and eight miles from the Cambodian border, U.S. officers said.

★ ★ ★

The Communist thrust, spokesmen said, gave the allies second thoughts about a 48-hour truce that has been accepted in principle for Tet, the Lunar New Year Jan. 30.

The regimental-sized Red attack force was pursued into the jungles of War Zone C. A half-dozen lesser engagements flared in the nearby jungles of Tay Ninh Province during the night.

BOMBING RESUMES

While American headquarters tried to assemble an accurate picture of the collapse of the cease-fire from field reports, U.S. warplanes resumed their bombing of North Vietnam with the end of the allied 36-hour truce at 6 a.m. Saigon time today.

Hanoi, meanwhile, accused the United States of raiding many "populated areas" during the truce. It did not elaborate on what constituted "raids", saying only that U.S. aircraft had "repeatedly intruded into the airspace" of several provinces. American headquarters acknowledged that it had reconnaissance planes in the air over the North, but said no attacks were launched.

On the basis of incomplete communiques, the truce-breaking ground-fighting, as vicious as that of normal operations, cost the allies 72 killed and 337 wounded—27 Americans and 45 South Vietnamese soldiers killed and 205 Americans and 132 South Vietnamese wounded.

This compared with 14 Americans and five South Vietnamese killed and 27 U.S. troops and seven South Vietnamese wounded during the 48-hour 1967 New Year's truce. The 1968 figures involved 168 shooting incidents, 10 fewer than last year.

COMMUNIST DEAD

Communist dead over the current cease-fire were put at 546.

Calculations were complicated because the Vietcong's announced three-day truce ended at 1 a.m., five hours before the allied stand-down.

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials said the fierce raid on the U.S. 25th Infantry Division camp in the jungles just above the old Michelin rubber plantation town of Dau Tieng came one hour and 20 minutes before the Red truce expired.

It began with a hail of Red mortars and Russian-model rockets and was quickly followed by Communist troopers streaming out of the jungle with submachine guns blazing.

Officers on the scene said the Red troopers were from the veteran 271st and 272nd Regiments —both units of the 9th Division which hit nearby Loc Ninh last October. At that time U.S. commanders claimed the units were eliminated as fighting forces.

The U.S. base camp was manned by parts of a battalion of the U.S. 25th Division plus three batteries of 105mm howitzers—a defending force of perhaps 500 men.

Within minutes of the initial Red assault, however, U.S. flareships were overhead to light the battlefield and slash the Red jump-off points with quick-firing miniguns. Fighter bomber pilots were scrambled from Bien Hoa Air base near Saigon and 28 jets successively raked the attacking Vietcong battalions.

★ ★ ★

High-flying B52 bombers also were called in to strike near the border at a suspected infiltration route about 10 miles above the battlefield.

★ ★ ★

While the Tay Ninh battle was by far the most spectacular during the truce period, other violations were reported up and down South Vietnam. They ranged from Red infanty assaults to the abduction of a Montagnard official in the central highlands.

REMOVING FALLEN COMRADES — Leathernecks from the 5th U.S. Marines carry bodies of fallen comrades to waiting evacuation helicopters through ankle-deep mud of a rice paddy near Hoi An, about 25 miles south of Da Nang. The Marines came under heavy Vietcong fire when they landed in the area by helicopter. Both sides took heavy casualties.

No Pursuit OK --Cambodian

Sihanouk Denial Still Seems Not Complete

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk said Monday that he was not giving U.S. forces permission, even tacitly, to enter Cambodia in pursuit of Communist forces. But he still seemed to leave the door ajar.

In a statement, the prince referred to what he had said last week, indicating that he would not immediately oppose U.S. "hot pursuit" if it was in sparsely inhabited areas of Cambodia.

The new statement said, "I will never let any foreigner occupy the least square meter of our territory without doing everything possible, and even impossible, to drive him out of our Cambodia.

"But in case of partial occupation of our territory, we must first use protests and political and diplomatic means to make the adversary withdraw. It is only after exhausting these peaceful means that we would go to war."

RADIO INTERVIEW

In a radio interview carried Monday by the French radio station Europe No. 1, Sihanouk said his government "would only protest against both sides" if U. S. and Vietcong forces were to clash in uninhabited regions of Cambodia from across the South Vietnamese frontier.

"We would not risk the lives of our troops in a fight which would be limited to Vietnamese infiltrated in Cambodia without our knowledge and Americans who would come to pull them out," he said in the interview.

★ ★ ★

But, he said, any deep U.S. penetration in Cambodia could lead to a "general conflict" and he would ask Red China, North Korea and Cuba to send volunteers "in case the military pressure became intolerable."

Proposal Is Revised on Boat, Trailer Storage

BIRMINGHAM — A revised amendment to the city code dealing with storage of house trailers, boats and boat trailers will be considered at the City Commission meeting tonight at 8.

Previously submitted to the commission Nov. 20, the proposal has been reworked to include provisions for exceptions.

As presently worded, the amendment would not affect parking and storage of vehicles which have not changed ownership after its passage, or which were stored prior to passage.

Also excepted from the amendment would be owners physically unable to comply with the ordinance due to size of lot, building location, or other factors.

The exceptions were made in lieu of establishment of an appeals procedure, which had been suggested by the commission.

NOT IN FRONT

Under the proposed ordinance, trailers and boats may not be stored at the front of a residential zone district, and may not be stored beside a house between the front and back of a district for more than 30 days.

The commission will also consider interim parking provisions during the construction of the new parking structure at Merrill and Pierce.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning has suggested notifying parkers with flyers attached to windshields during the week before closing the Lot 1, and encouraging parking in the Lot 5 structure on North Woodward and Lot 4 at Brownell and Forest.

Kenning also proposed changing the 12-hour limit on 25 meters in Lot 7, at Merrill and Henrietta, to two hours.

If these measures are not sufficient, Kenning said, parking restrictions on Pierce, Henrietta, Chester and Frank could be removed as needed.

GARDNER ACKLEY

LBJ Names Top Aide as Envoy to Italy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named Gardner Ackley—the administration's top economist and a man Johnson calls one of his "most trusted and closest friends"—to be the next U.S. ambassador to Italy.

The surprise New Year's Day nomination was made at a news conference at the LBJ Ranch in Texas during which the President also announced stringent government controls over private overseas investments and other measures aimed at slashing the U.S. balance of payments deficit by $3 billion this year.

The shaping of these actions are matters in which Ackley, as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers has been deeply involved.

The President cited Ackley's long interest in Italy—a country in which the 52-year-old economist once studied as a Fulbright scholar—as his reason for tapping him for the post.

30-YEAR VETERAN

In Rome, Ackley will replace Ambassador G. Frederick Reinhardt, a 30-year Foreign Service veteran, who has been ill recently.

Although Johnson did not name a candidate to succeed Ackley in the $30,000-a-year chairmanship, Washington speculation placed the name of Arthur M. Okun high on the list of possibilities.

Okun was named to the three-man council to fill the vacancy created when Ackley was promoted to the chairmanship in November, 1964.

President Kennedy appointed Ackley a council member in 1962. At the time he was chairman of the University of Michigan's economics department and director of the Social Science Research Council.

Ambassador Reinhardt, 56, has held his current post for the past six years and has been considered overdue for reassignment. Before his arrival in Italy he served succesively as U.S. ambassador to Vietnam and the United Arab Republic.

Fire Destroys Pontiac Home

A fire at a Pontiac home early this morning did an estimated $10,000 damage and took firemen nearly three hours to extinguish.

The blaze at 215 Ferry broke out sometime before 4 a.m., when a night watchman several blocks away saw flames breaking through the roof of the one-story frame dwelling and called the fire department, fire officials said.

Fire Marshal Charles Metz said damage to the building, owned by Reedie Anthony of 304 Rapid and occupied by Willie Pinker, was total.

Pinker was not at home at the time of the fire, officials said.

It was not possible to determine the value of contents destroyed, he said.

Four vehicles, under the command of Assistant Chief Lee Nye responded to the alarm and were at the scene until about 7 a.m.

Metz, who said his office will continue its investigation of the fire today, tentatively blamed the blaze on an oil-fired space heater.

Last Month of Year Was Wet and Chilly

Pontiac area residents received a variety of weather conditions in December including a white Christmas.

There were a few snow flurries during the month with one-half inch on Dec. 24. On Christmas Day, the weatherman dropped three inches of fresh snow.

Snow shovels had a workout again on Dec. 31 when another two inches of snow arrived bringing the total accumulation for the month to six inches.

Sixteen inches of snow and 1.30 inches of rain were recorded last December.

There were nine sunny and two partly sunny days during the month. Six days were sunny and partly sunny a year ago.

Much of the month was dark and dreary. Heavy rains fell on Oakland County in the early hours of Dec. 21 causing flooding conditions, and mud on dirt and gravel roads. An estimated one inch of rain fell during the day.

TORNADO WATCH

A tornado watch was issued the night of Dec. 21 but no twister was sighted.

The rain changed to snow flurries as winter arrived Dec. 22 with temperatures falling 40 degrees to a bone-chilling 17.

Rain or drizzle with fog and a little sleet ruled for 13 days. Total rainfall was 2.90 inches. Last year's recording was 1.30 inches.

Normal precipitation for December is 2.60 inches.

★ ★ ★

Ten inches of light snow is equal to one inch of rain.

Temperatures were mild during most of the month. The mercury rose to 60 on Dec. 21 then plunged to five below zero in the early hours of Dec. 31.

LBJ Takes Aim on Dollar Drain

Imposes Controls on Investments Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's declared war on the widening gap in the balance of payments would press every American into the defense of the dollar—if Congress goes along.

President Johnson pegged higher taxes as the keystone of a New Year's program he described as "firm and decisive." It incorporates the first mandatory controls in history on American investment abroad and an appeal to Americans to travel only in this hemisphere if possible.

★ ★ ★

The investment controls were imposed under existing law.

Government officials held out possibility of further restrictions such as a tax on Americans going overseas or limits on the amount of money they may take with them. Officials said this must be worked out with Congress.

'DAMAGING TO NATION'

Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the Treasury, said Americans should realize that travel abroad is damaging to the country.

The entire program is designed to slash the dollar drain by $13 billion. It includes an effort to cut government spending abroad by $500 million this year and an expansion of exports to increase the trade surplus by at least that much.

★ ★ ★

In outlining the program Monday at a Johnson City, Tex., news conference, the President revealed the dollar drain this year would reach $3.5 billion to $4 billion—highest in seven years.

Johnson also listed higher Vietnam war costs, more U.S. spending on foreign travel, bigger investments abroad and a smaller gain than expected in the trade surplus.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary reaction to the plan from Congress seemed cheery with Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., of the Senate-House Economic Committee, calling it "exactly the kind of decisive and comprehensive action the situation called for."

Woodward Due for Road Repairs

The State Highway Department has assigned a survey to gather data for the resurfacing and repair of 1.7 miles of Woodward from South Boulevard in Pontiac to Square Lake Road in Bloomfield Township.

The survey is expected to be completed in April. No date has been set for taking bids on the project.

U.S. Heads for War With China---Morse

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Monday night the United States is headed for a war with Red China which cannot be won with either conventional or nuclear weapons.

"We can knock out her bases and destroy her cities and kill millions of people. But if she comes into the war, she comes in with her horrors on the ground, and we'll have to meet her on the ground with American troops," Morse said.

Morse, an outspoken foe of President Johnson's Vietnam policies commented in a taped interview on the "Lou Gordon Hot Seat," syndicated by Kaiser Broadcasting and originating in Detroit on WKBD-TV. Morse was reported resting at home Monday night after being stricken with influenza in Washington last week.

America cannot control the world militarily, he said. He said if war with China did come, that America would have three million troops in China within three years.

Morse said, "No president has the right to send a single American boy to his death on a battleground in the war that is undeclared." He added:

"I am shocked at how we can walk out on all our moral ideals in connection with the way we're prosecuting the war. We'd better win it, because, don't forget that only defeated nations are tried, and if we should lose it the verdict of the world would make the Nuremburg trials insignificant."

Morse accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of feeding the American public "nonsense." Asked if he felt Rusk should resign, Morse replied: "He should have been fired three years ago."

Morse said U.S. Sen. Robert Kennedy, D - N.Y., is making "a mistake in judgment" in not condemning publicly the Johnson administration's foreign policy. If Kennedy were to seek the Democratic presidential nomination, Morse said, "I think he'd have a 50-50 chance, still, to take that nomination — if it's on the foreign policy issue."

S. Viets Bar Bureau Chief for Newsweek

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government has refused to renew the visa of Newsweek magazine's Saigon bureau chief, Everett Martin, and told him to leave the country within seven days.

The South Vietnamese government has been at odds with Martin for months because of Newsweek articles critical of the South Vietnamese army.

It would be the first expulsion of an American newsman from South Vietnam since 1962, when the late President Ngo Din Diem expelled James Robinson of the National Broadcasting Co. and Francois Sully of Newsweek.

Martin can appeal the decision to the minister of the interior, whose ministry declined to renew the visa.

Martin, who has been in Vietnam for nearly two years, reentered South Vietnam last Nov. 28 after a short vacation. He came back without a visa, a normal practice for Americans returning from a short stay out of the country, and applied for a reentry visa.

100 Take Dip in Cold Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than 100 persons joined the Olympic Club's 75th annual New Year's Day swim in the Pacific.

Air and water temperatures registered the same—42 degrees.

"It's cold," said Scott Butler. "I've never missed one," said Otto Wallfisch, 81, who made his first plunge in 1905 and was enjoying No. 63.

'Dodd Shied From VP Bid'

NEW YORK (AP) — James P. Boyd, former assistant of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., says in a magazine article that Dodd told him during the 1964 Democratic National Convention that he would "have run a mile" from the party's nomination for vice president.

Boyd says in an article in the Jan. 13 issue of the Saturday Evening Post that Dodd made the remark after President Johnson had selected Hubert H. Humphrey as his running mate. The senator had been reported under consideration for second spot on the ticket.

★ ★ ★

Boyd, whose allegations of misconduct by Dodd led eventually to censure of Dodd by the Senate on June 23, 1967, quotes the senator, a former FBI agent, as saying at 1964 Democratic convention time:

"There are only two jobs that I would leave the Senate for, FBI director and the head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and I may very well wind up in one place or the other."

Ford Announces Price Increases in 1968 Models

DETROIT (UPI) — The Ford Motor Co. announced price increases of $23 to $32 per car today, similar to those announced last week by the other U.S. auto makers.

All four auto companies said prices were increased to cover shoulder harnesses, which became standard equipment for front seats of cars built after Jan. 1.

Ford said suggested retail prices of Ford, Falcon, Fairlane, Mustang and Thunderbird cars increased $23.18; prices of Mercury, Montego and Cougar cars, $23; and prices of Lincoln Continental, $32.40.

General Motors Corp. and American Motors Corp. led off the price announcements Thursday. GM said its car prices would increase by $23, $26 and $32, with the bigger increases for more expensive cars. American Motors announced an increase of $23 per car. Friday, Chrysler said its prices would go up by $25 per car.

OU Fees Cut for Part-Timers

For some 700 Oakland University part-time students who began registration today for winter semester, the new year started out on a pleasant note.

They found that course fees had been reduced.

Oakland University followed Michigan State University's lead in putting a new part-time fee schedule into effect until next fall.

MSU trustees, who also govern OU, reduced MSU undergraduate resident part-time fees for this winter, spring and summer terms by $17 for seven to nine credits over two weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

The trustees, however, had Oakland University officials wondering whether OU would also reduce its fees since they did not specifically call for a new schedule at Oakland.

NEW SCHEDULE

OU Business Director Robert W. Swanson came up with a new Oakland schedule just Friday. Here is the new schedule for Michigan resident undergraduates and graduates.

- 7 to 9 credits—$165 per semester for undergraduates, compared to $180 fall semester, and $175 for graduates, $5 less than last semester.
- 5 to 6 credits—$141 for undergraduates and graduates, $39 less than last semester.
- 3 to 4 credits—$102 for both undergraduates and graduates, the same as fall semester.
- 1 to 2 credits—$49 for undergrads, compared to $102 last semester, and $49 for grads, unchanged.

Nonresident undergraduate and graduate fees are unchanged, according to Swanson.

Michigan State now charges a total of $297 for those taking seven to nine credits during a September-through-spring school year while OU charges $330.

★ ★ ★

Swanson explained that the two schools fees do not compare exactly because they have different course multiples. Most MSU courses are in multiples of three—3, 6, 9, 12 credits—while OU has multiples of four.

Next fall MSU and OU will return to essentially this past fall's schedule with provisions for reductions based on ability to pay.

Then, seven to nine credits at OU would cost a maximum of about $174 with reductions on family income to a minimum of about $123, Swanson said.

Adult Classes Offered in Waterford

Some 90 courses, ranging in length from six to 10 weeks, are being offered during the winter term by the Department of Community School Services of the Waterford Township School District.

The classes will begin the week of Jan. 15, according to Donald Youmans, assistant superintendent of community school services.

Registration for the classes will take place from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. next Monday through Thursday in the library at Waterford Township High School, 1415 Crescent Lake.

Registration for limited classes and Bishop sewing must be completed in person.

★ ★ ★

For all other classes, participants can register in person or by mail.

MAILING ADDRESS

Checks or money orders should be mailed to Waterford Community Schools, 3835 W. Walton, Drayton Plains, Mich. 48020.

The classes are open to residents of the Waterford Township School District and the surrounding area.

Several new courses have been added for the winter term, Youmans noted.

★ ★ ★

Included is an adult crafts class in which the instructor is prepared to work with any individual on any craft project of the student's choice.

ANOTHER NEW COURSE

This could include copper tooling or enameling, metal spinning, archery equipment through lamination, wood carving and plastic forming.

Another new course is an art class for mothers and their preschool children.

This class, according to Youmans, is an opportunity for the mother and child to express themselves with various art media, including finger painting, chalk, charcoal and water colors.

★ ★ ★

Still another new course in the art field is decoupage, an art form which rapidly is becoming very popular.

CUT AND PASTE

Various prints or designs are cut and pasted to purses, picture, plaques, lamps, furniture or any other personal or household item.

No art talent is needed for this approach to new decorative pieces in the home, Youmans emphasized.

Two new classes have been added in furniture refinishing.

★ ★ ★

They are chair caning, the art of reseating chairs with cane, reed or rush in any of the traditional methods; and furniture upholstering.

SPEED READING

Speed reading is another of the new classes. It is designed to help the student increase his reading rate and, at the same time, retain or improve his comprehension of the material.

"Bishop sewing is still our single most popular program," said Youmans, who informed that 36 separate classes will be offered during the winter term.

Besides the continuation of the Bishop II through VI classes, eight beginning courses and specialty classes in double knits, shifts, slacks and advanced fittings are being offered.

★ ★ ★

"Our Bishop staff of 16 teachers is one of the largest and best trained in the country," said Youmans.

"About 150 women will begin their Bishop training this term and most of them will remain in Bishop until they have learned to tailor their own two-piece suit in Bishop VI," Youmans said.

Commenting on the entire program, Youmans said:

"As more and more people realize the opportunities offered in their schools, our program continues to grow. From a small beginning four years ago, we have approached the point where it is no longer unique for someone to participate in these classes."

2 New Polls Assess Nixon, Rockefeller

NEW YORK (UPI) — One poll of Republican party leaders shows former Vice President Richard M. Nixon most likely to get the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, but a separate poll shows Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York would be the stronger candidate against President Johnson.

A poll by Newsweek Magazine showed Nixon has a commanding lead among potential delegates to the Republican National Convention next August in Miami. The magazine said that if the convention were held today, Nixon would get 561 votes, only 106 short of the 667 needed for the nomination.

The other poll, by the New York Times, indicated party leaders and observers in the 50 states with 378 electoral votes, compared with 100 for Johnson and 60 for former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, who is campaigning as a third party candidate.

The Newsweek survey of delegates put Rockefeller in second place behind Nixon with 363 potential delegate votes. Gov. Ronald Reagan of California had 201 and Gov. George Romney of Michigan, the only declared GOP candidate, had 89.

★ ★ ★

There were 114 undecided votes among governors, state chairman and leading spokesmen polled in all 50 states.

★ ★ ★

The Times said its survey showed that in a two-man race Nixon would edge Johnson by "a relatively narrow margin," 271 electoral votes to 267.

But with Wallace in the race, Johnson would get 301 votes to 210 for Nixon and 27 for Wallace. The newspaper said Wallace was the "chief imponderable" in assessing next November's election.

Both publications said their surveys were based on current conditions and on how potential delegates feel now. Neither made any attempt to consider possible shifts in issues during the seven months remaining before the national conventions.

'Splash Day' Gets a Cool Reception

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A crowd of some 400 gathered on Padre Island Monday for the 14th annual "splash day" observance, which is supposed to demonstrate for all to see that the climate is mild in the Corpus Christi area.

Nine young ladies in bathing suits shivered their way through a beauty pageant. Then Mayor Jack Blackmon led a dozen swimmers for a dip in the surf in 53-degree weather.

★ ★ ★

The dip was a quick one, and the swimmers had blue lips and chattering teeth as they headed for the dressing rooms.

During World War I, Russia once had a peak strength of 54 cavalry divisions, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

May Aid Try to Outlaw It

Farmers Wary of Nonreturnable Bottle

LANSING (AP) — The tractor rumbles over a broken bottle, gashing one 600-pound tire. It may be out of commission for a week as the owner puts up $250 for a new tire.

That same bottle could cost a marketer hundreds of dollars in produce or be dangerous to children, adults or farm livestock.

For these reasons, the Michigan Farm Bureau is considering joining a state senator in efforts to outlaw the nonreturnable bottle in Michigan.

"We really have a problem with bottles along the highway next to farm fields," says Dale Sherwin, legislative counsel for the Farm Bureau. "We must get people concerned."

★ ★ ★

Behind Sherwin's statements are facts like these:

- A 2-to-3-inch gash in a tractor tire costs a farmer some $50 and at least one day to repair. Replacement of the huge tire could total $250 and waste a week of precious time while repairs are completed.
- One food processor recently returned 10 carloads of dry edible beans to a Michigan marketing exchange because of glass found in the produce. "Companies use an electric eye to sort out bad beans," Sherwin explains, "but they have no magnetism to pull out glass."
- Another processer found nearly all of a glass beverage bottle in a carload of wheat, tried to reconstruct the bottle but missed a couple of pieces and returned the entire carload—from 2,000 to 3,500 bushels.
- An estimated 1 to 2 per cent of the state's $100-plus million bean and wheat crops were lost in 1967 because of broken glass.

Sherwin says the Farm Bureau has been working for some time—to no avail—to have the nonreturnable bottle banned in Michigan and now will ask district organizations to consider supporting the petition drive announced last week by Sen. Roger E. Craig, D-Dearborn.

Craig wants to collect 200,000 signatures asking for a vote in the 1968 general election on a proposal to outlaw nonreturnable bottles.

★ ★ ★

The senator plans to introduce legislation to this effect in the State Senate shortly after the 1968 regular session convenes Jan. 10.

Board to Name New Supervisor

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — A new supervisor, replacing Buell E. Starr who resigned recently due to illness, will be appointed by the Township Board at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Davisburg Town Hall.

★ ★ ★

Starr was appointed to the position last April to fill the unexpired term of retiring veteran Supervisor John L. Carey, 77.

Starr was retired works manager of Pontiac Motor Division, a former township trustee and president of the Holly School Board.

The retiring supervisor lives at 12610 E. Holly.

★ ★ ★

2 Parks Offer Winter Sports in Abundance

A variety of winter sports are available at Stoney Creek Metropolitan Park in Washington Township and Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford.

Kensington offers tobogganing, skating, sledding, ice fishing, hiking, and picture taking.

Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority spokesmen report catches of bluegills and crappies are taken by the hundreds of fishermen who fish on Kent Lake.

Skating is provided on the same lake in front of the boat rental building from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. The building has a heated lounge with a fireplace, restrooms, and food service through vending machines. It is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday and from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday.

★ ★ ★

Five toboggan tracks and a separate area for sledding are open daily from 8 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. weather conditions permitting.

FACILITIES

At Stoney Creek Metropolitan Park, there is ice fishing, ice skating, sledding and hiking. Panfish, bass and pike inhabit Stoney Creek Lake, but it is not open to fishermen north of 28 Mile Road.

Because the lake has been lowered six feet for shoreline construction of a new launching ramp and grading of Eastwood Beach, a future swimming site, the area regularly used for ice skating will not be open.

It is expected that ice skating will be available at the new boat launching area in the southwest section of the park, depending upon lake level and weather conditions.

★ ★ ★

Three sledding areas are provided. These are Oakgrove and West branch picnic areas and on the high hills near the park office.

Legislators to Get Prod From County

State legislators from Oakland County will be urged to back a bill banning use of nonreturnable bottles in Michigan.

The move was adopted as a policy by a joint meeting of the County Road Commission and the board of supervisors' road committee.

Their resolution urges the supervisors' legislative committee to contact the legislators with the proposal and a meeting is to be arranged sometime this week.

The move follows one by State Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, who announced last week he will try to collect 200,000 signatures to place the issue on the ballot.

County officials agreed with Craig's contention that the no-deposit bottles are expensive to pick up. Unlike a can, the bottles don't rust away, but persist as litter along highways.

State Weekend Road Toll Hits 27

Twenty-seven people lost their lives on Michigan roads during the New Year's holiday period, including nine who were killed in three triple fatal accidents and four more who were killed in double fatalities.

The Associated Press count started 6 p.m. Friday and ended last midnight.

Last year's New Year's toll was 26.

Ten of the fatalities occurred after the start of the New Year. Last year's toll amounted to 2,075, more than 200 fewer than the 1966 total of 2,296 killed on the state's highways.

Huron Valley Pares $11,000 off School Cost

Some $11,000 has been shaved off general construction contracts for the proposed third elementary school in the Huron Valley School District.

The board recently approved deletions amounting to $3,293 from the general contract and $3,600 from the electrical contract, bringing the total price to $1,116,111.

The pared costs are still $26,000 above the original estimate, according to school board officials.

The school, to be ready for use in January 1969, is to be built in Milford's Atlantic Subdivision between Atlantic and Noble Streets.

Board members discussed sharing to the extent of $3,500 the cost of putting a water main down Hill Street to serve the school. Remainder of the cost would be absorbed by the village.

JUNIOR HIGH PLANS

Schematic drawings for renovation and addition to the existing Highland Junior High School were approved. The drawings were presented by Richard Prince, Kalamazoo architect.

A bid by administrators for recognition of their Huron Valley Administrators Association for purposes of bargaining was tabled until the Jan. 22 meeting.

Raises for auxiliary supervisor personnel amounting to as much as $400 a year and fringe benefits were approved.

Probe of New Year's Party Melee Reveals a Third Stabbing Victim

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Police investigation of a fight at a New Year's Eve party here has revealed a third stabbing victim who remains unknown.

★ ★ ★

Since the melee at about 3:30 a.m. New Year's Day, township police have questioned some 15 witnesses and are continuing their investigation today.

Still in serious condition at Botsford Hospital is Randall Ryan, 19, of 21355 Farmington, Farmington, with stab wounds in the back and a possible collapsed lung.

His brother, Thomas, 21, of the same address, was treated and released for stab wounds in the back and the back of his head.

★ ★ ★

Another man at the party at 6551 Drake was reportedly beaten and also remains unidentified, said township police. This victim was injured when he supposedly tried to dance with another man's wife, said police. But the police are not sure what started the fight which ended in the stabbings.

ATTACKED BY 7

The Ryan brothers, home on leave from the Army, were attacked by seven men in the parking lot after they arrived at the party at the Drake Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Barr, according to police.

Thomas reportedly went into the house for a few minutes, and when he came out he saw five men beating Randall, police said.

The unknown stabbing victim was also in the parking lot and holding his face, said police.

★ ★ ★

Township patrolmen Richard Lamphier and Thomas Burke were summoned to the scene at 3:35 a.m. New Year's Day by a telephone call from Mrs. Thomas Ryan.

TROUBLE EXPECTED

Lamphier said that the police had expected trouble at the party and that witnesses reported several small fights before the stabbing.

There was evidence of a large fight both inside and outside the home when the police arrived, said Lamphier. He estimated that about 60 persons between the ages of 19 and 29 were at the party.

Most of the guests were from Farmington and Walled Lake, Lamphier added.

★ ★ ★

Guests questioned said they saw the seven assailants leave the scene in one car before the police arrived. The seven had a knife and possibly two shotguns, said witnesses.

POLICE ASSIST

Assisting township police at the scene were police from Novi, Bloomfield Township and Walled Lake and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The home is behind a meeting place for an assembly of churches of which Barr is caretaker.

Troy Commission Expected to Set Date for Tax Vote

TROY — The City Commission tonight is expected to get a definite date for the vote on a half-mill tax increase.

The increase, expected to provide about $70,000 of revenue, will be used for a new library at the civic center.

Previously, the commission established a tentative date of Feb. 19 for the vote, provided a city primary is scheduled for the same day.

However, another millage election — for schools — has been proposed, and the commission will consider at its 7:30 meeting tonight the possibility of holding both elections the same day, with or without a primary.

★ ★ ★

Supporters of both millages have suffered setbacks in recent months. The library tax hike was defeated April 3; and voters twice rejected an increase for schools, on June 12 and Sept. 11.

Cases Against Four Dismissed

Judge Cites 'Illegal Status of Grand Juror'

Gambling charges against four persons arrested in police raids ordered by the Pratt grand jury more than a year ago have been dismissed.

Novi Justice of the Peace Emery Jacques dismissed the charges on the basis that Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt did not have the authority as a grand juror when he ordered the raids in November 1966.

The cases were dismissed Thursday against Roy L. Clark, his wife, Anna L., and George H. Clark, all of Hazel Park, and Donna L. Coultis of Detroit.

The dismissal came after a motion to quash both the warrant and order for arrest was made by their attorney, Richard Chosid of Ferndale.

★ ★ ★

"According to a recent ruling by the Michigan Court of Appeals, Judge Pratt had no power to sign an order for conducting the raid and making the arrests," Chosid said. "When the circuit judges got together and signed an order making Judge Pratt the grand juror for a second term, they were violating a state statute and their actions were unconstitutional."

Hold Board Meetings 'Above Board'

Eighteen month ago, the Sturgis Journal ran an editorial critical of the practice of holding closed meetings by boards of citizens entrusted with conduct of public institutions. It pointed particularly to the "closed door" policy of the board of a local hospital.

Shortly after, an audit disclosed an apparent shortage in the institution's funds and discovery that records of the board's meetings for more than a year were missing.

Regardless of the fact that the hospital administration explains the "shortage" as confusion due to a revision of bookkeeping procedures and contends that the missing records were of little importance since information concerning the proceedings covered was obtainable otherwise, the case provides a stern object lesson on how not to conduct public business.

For the protection of the citizenry and as well as those serving on supervisory bodies of public enterprises, all official board meetings should be open to the public and the records thereof methodically preserved.

★ ★ ★

That way, the interests of both public and directors are protected, and the latter absolved from possible criticism for past actions privately initiated.

'Professional Welfarism' Claim Is Refuted

What's happening to the "second generation of welfare recipients"?

Are "welfare children" growing up to be "welfare adults"?

Not in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina.

(Mecklenburg's county seat is Charlotte, the state's biggest city with its population of more than 200,000. The area is heavily industrialized.)

The Mecklenburg County Welfare Department has completed a study of 100 families receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) in January, 1955.

★ ★ ★

What has happened to the 456 children in those families?

- Only 1.9 per cent of those children who are now adults are on public relief as "second generation" welfare dependents.
- 44 per cent have graduated from high school, and 17 per cent of these have gone on to college.
- Half of those who have reached maturity are married and living with their spouses.
- 71 per cent are now able-bodied adults in the labor market, and only 10 per cent are unemployed.
- 7 per cent are professional workers (mostly teachers or nurses).

★ ★ ★

- 9.7 per cent are clerical workers.
- 1.9 per cent are officials, managers or proprietors of businesses.

This record is all the more encouraging in view of the family backgrounds of the children.

- 33 of the families were on welfare because the father had deserted the family.
- 25 families involved unwed mothers.
- 19 had disabled fathers.
- 16 had deceased fathers.
- 7 had fathers in jail.

Perhaps Mecklenburg County isn't a typical case and doesn't accurately reflect the national welfare picture.

★ ★ ★

But it does indicate that in one county, at least, it has paid to treat human beings as human beings and to have had faith that welfare children will grow up to prefer independence and responsibility to living on the dole.

Functionaries Fumble Spending Savings Sum

When financial hotshots of the U.S. Government were questioned by a congressional committee recently, it developed they could be off as much as $8 billion in their estimates of how much the administration is actually cutting the Federal budget in the big hassle over taxes and economy.

This has to be definitely comforting to those of us who have sweat it out for hours trying to track down a 36-cent discrepancy in balancing our bankbook. And we felt pretty silly that we had goofed.

★ ★ ★

But, of course, we were dealing with our own money.

LBJ, Washington Similarities Cited

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — President Johnson likes to be compared with Abraham Lincoln, but in this winter of his discontent he might take even kindlier to comparison with another famous predecessor, George Washington.

Ruth Montgomery

Except for Lincoln, who topped both of them by two inches, LBJ and Washington have been our tallest presidents, at six feet two inches; and both married attractive women of means whose money helped them live comfortably on acreage that had belonged to their relatives.

Both were school dropouts who at their mother's insistence eventually returned to school, and like Lyndon Johnson, George Washington possessed a violent temper which he had trouble keeping under control.

Although nowadays we are prone to think of Washington as a father-figure who was unanimously revered by a grateful electorate, he was sometimes beset with hecklers as LBJ is today.

★ ★ ★

Clark Kinnaird, in his beautifully illustrated new book, "George Washington," recounts these facts about the father of our country and says that when he arrived in New York to take his inaugural oath, he was bitterly lampooned by critics.

CARICATURE

"A crude caricature was circulated, showing him mounted on an ass, held up by his Negro body-servant, Billy Lee." The jackass was led by Colonel David Humphreys (not Hubert Humphrey) who was shown chanting hosannahs, while, a hovering devil declared, "The glorious time has come at last when David shall conduct an ass."

This is somewhat reminiscent of today's rash of jokes about LBJ walking on the water.

While President, GW attended a stage play and was roundly applauded, but some members of the audience demonstrated their displeasure "by getting up noisily and leaving the theater." A preview, perhaps, of the reception accorded LBJ and his cabinet before audiences on college campuses?

Johnson has entertained a larger cross-section of Americans at more parties than any predecessor during a four-year span, but his popularity rating continues to resemble a falling barometer; and Kinnaird writes of the first president: "The Washington levees were open on occasion in a Republican manner, but did not necessarily improve the President's popularity."

It is doubtful whether even LBJ has had a less favorable press than that of the Philadelphia Aurora, owned by Benjamin Franklin's grandson, which editorialized: "If ever a nation was debauched by a man, the American nation has been debauched by Washington."

During Johnson's administration, Americans took their first walk in outer space. President Washington witnessed the beginning of airborne transport in America, when Jean Pierre Blanchard sailed off from Germantown in a hydrogen-inflated balloon which crossed the Delaware.

Alas, neither was a world-first. Russians took the first space walk, and the famed 18th century aeronaut had earlier crossed the English Channel by balloon from his native France.

★ ★ ★

Our second national election was coming up in 1792, and when GW announced plans the previous year for a tour of the Southern states, critics interpreted this as a political maneuver to run for reelection, much as LBJ's critics are charging today.

But there the similarity must sadly end. Not only did Washington run again — he was elected unanimously.

Stamps Used To Take The Licking!

David Lawrence Says:

LBJ Background Is All Politics

WASHINGTON — Lots of things have been said or written about Lyndon Johnson and the kind of president he is, and undoubtedly public opinion will be affected to some extent in the election year 1968 by the "image" of the chief executive which has been portrayed by the press and by TV commentators in the last five years.

LAWRENCE

There is one thing, however, about Mr. Johnson's course in the White House which has not been presented objectively to the public.

He must be appraised in relation to the background of his career prior to becoming vice president. He is the first man in this century to reach the White House after having spent 24 years in Congress—12 consecutive years in the House of Representatives and 12 more in the United States Senate.

During six of those latter years, he was the majority leader of the Senate and dealt constantly on legislative matters with a president from the opposite political party.

Unquestionably this unique experience had an influence in shaping Mr. Johnson's tactics when, as president of the United States, he himself was confronted with deep divisions in both parties.

★ ★ ★

Rarely has a president prior to Mr. Johnson been elected previously to a leadership position by his party in Congress.

POLITICAL STRATEGY

Mr. Johnson's political strategy in the presidency is very much like that which legislative leaders in Congress have from time to time found it expedient to practice in trying to reconcile differences of opinion not only inside but outside their party.

The customary method is to endeavor to compromise or find some common denominator on which there can be agreement. Highly controversial sections of proposed laws are left for favorable action at a later time.

Lyndon Johnson's tenure in the presidency has often been marked by his attempts to follow a "consensus" — an effort to do what the people generally would like at the moment rather than what may prove best for the country in the long run.

★ ★ ★

The politician is more inclined to think of public opinion in the few months ahead as election day approaches either for Congress or the presidency.

Mr. Johnson is often referred to as a master politician, but craftiness is not easy to abolish when dealing with 535 politicians in Congress who have the power to pass the laws and furnish the funds that a president needs in order to perform his duties.

Lyndon Johnson is the natural product of a congressional environment.

Bob Considine Says:

My Crystal Ball Sees Johnson Winning in '68

NEW YORK — Here are my exclusive predictions for 1968:

President Johnson will make some dramatic announcement regarding the war in Vietnam not long before the national conventions and win the nomination so overwhelmingly that there will be no effort by party elders to talk him into dumping Hubert Humphrey for Bobby Kennedy, idol of American youth.

CONSIDINE

The Republicans will decide that 1972 looks like a better year to shoot their full broadside, and so will give Richard Nixon the nomination as 1) a reward for all the spadework he did in the 1966 congressional and gubernatorial races, and 2) in the hope that he will do as well as he did when he ran against Jack Kennedy.

Dick will ask Charles Percy to be his running mate. Former President Eisenhower will campaign for him quite industriously; former Sen. Barry Goldwater and Bill Miller will not — in order to help him.

Both Govs. Rockefeller and Romney will support the ticket this time, for a change. Gov. Ronald Reagan will make some impressive speeches. But their work will be in vain because George Wallace of Alabama will be in the race in the strange role of fighting against LBJ by attracting Southern Republican votes to his cause instead of Nixon's.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, after a loud splash or two in the primaries, will slide from view after a paper-hat demonstration at the Democratic convention.

A PROBABLE LOSS

Harold Stassen will lose, it is believed.

A form of truce having settled over Vietnam, men will be marching home at the time of the conventions. Some of the heavy war costs will be funnelled into domestic programs. Rats will desert sinking tenements by the millions.

Racial strife will cool as the sham of the professional black power activists becomes more apparent to the Negro population, and as better trained and more intelligently selected policemen, National Guardsmen and state troopers are sent against snipers, arsonists and looters.

Arthur Ashe will become the first Negro male to win at Wimbledon, and Rap Brown will call him an Uncle Tom for shaking hands with the queen.

Charles de Gaulle will have a change of heart, allow Britain to enter the Common Market, and then ascend from Mt. Blanc.

In Washington:

Dilemmas Dismay Americans

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—As they did in 1967, the American people in 1968 are likely to draw a very mixed portrait of themselves.

BIOSSAT

There will be more affluence than ever, more people moving about doing things their parents never could afford or find the time to do, more youngsters in school and among them more bright ones, more people with an abiding sense that social justice and peace ought to prevail in this nation and world.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, there will be more "social" violence related to issues like race and war, more rationalizations of such violence and of disrespect for law as "democracy at work," incredibly more crime in street and home, more frustration and more feeling of being engulfed by the impersonal bigness of the modern "establishment," more bureaucratic bungling by both government and business, less really effective and constructive countereffort despite noisier and noisier protest, more anguished cries for great leadership to take us out of it all.

★ ★ ★

Historians, gazing in future years at what may seem an impressionistic American self-portrait, with good and bad standing side by side like dots of pure color, could do worse than name the picture the Age of Disillusion.

The disillusion is real. It does not grip all Americans. Far from it. But it affects them all.

The nation's seeming inability to escape war is a crucial part of it. We are in our fourth major war in half a century, and the third for those whose lives go back only to 1940. Nearly half the years since that date, we have been involved somewhere in heavy armed conflict.

Looking at the scarred and bloodied record, men here and elsewhere can have only diminished confidence in their capacity, indeed in the capacity of humanity generally, to settle their differences rationally — without resort to force.

There was a time when Americans could find comfort in turning their eyes from the almost unbroken panorama of foreign battlefields to the secure, undamaged marvels of their own industrial society—symbolized in soaring buildings, burgeoning suburbs, a flood of shiny products.

★ ★ ★

That time has gone. For four summers running, racial strife has torn apart the great cities which were the supposed monuments of American achievement at home. Today the cities hover on the brink of unmanageable chaos — nearly destitute financially, terrified by rampant crime, choked with human and vehicular traffic, blanketed by pollution. They are the seeding places of potential revolt.

In his newspaper and on his television set, the American daily learns of his country's troubled involvement abroad. When he steps outside his house, he walks into the very thick of its troubles at home.

Disillusion is compounded by the promises of politics.

Beginning with the sweeping New Deal assaults upon the Great Depression of the 1930s, this nation became conditioned to the idea that it could legislate solutions to even its most critical problems.

★ ★ ★

Because the dramatic attacks changed a despairing country's mood for the better, surprisingly little attention was paid at the time to the fundamental fact that the problem of massive unemployment was not solved by New Deal proposals but by our participation in World War II.

The romantic attachment to "packaged solutions" which developed in that era has persisted for decades. Probably the notion always was an illusion. But its existence has made the plunge into disillusion steeper and more shattering for many who want problems waved away with a wand and are stunned at the gathering force of racial struggle, ungovernable urbanization, crime and the population explosion.

Swamped by troubles, many Americans are seriously downcast at the dawning reality that quick, glittering answers hold no hope. And they are badly torn over what, in their saddened awareness, they can do about it.

I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon if I can. I seek opportunity, not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the State look after me.

★ ★ ★

I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail or succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence, the thrill of fulfillment to the state calm of Utopia.

I will not trade freedom for beneficence, nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself; to enjoy the benefits of my creation and to face the world boldly and say, "This I have done."

I agree that people who don't have kids in school should not have to pay school taxes. I don't have a lot of money and it would help not to have to pay those taxes.

Taxpayer Confused by Increase in Taxes

In April I was told at the Waterford Township Hall that my property valuation would be increased. This increase would lower the state equalization factor. This in turn would lower the tax rate. I'm confused. My taxes increased over 10 per cent. It would be a good time to have the 7½ mill tax vote again. Maybe some of the 2,000 who voted for it may change their mind.

Resident Is Concerned About City Streets

In the past two or three years we have had some bad snowstorms. Since the City can't afford to plow City streets or residential sections, what's going to happen this winter when your mailman, garbage truck and milkman can't get through?

Question and Answer

Does one have to pay State income tax on a longevity check, starting Oct. 1, 1966, up to Oct. 1, 1967?

WONDERING

REPLY

The Michigan Department of Revenue tells us it is subject to a 2.6 per cent tax if you received it after Oct. 1, 1967. If it were received before that date, it would not be subject to the new income tax.

Legalize Vows In a Simple Civil Ceremony

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been divorced three years and now intend to remarry my husband. We were married in the Catholic church so we are still considered married. But by civil law we are not. Where do we stand, and what is the right procedure?

Since we were married by the church we do not wish to get remarried in church until our 25th anniversary, which will be in two years. Is it terrible to consider being married after being divorced? — Mrs. S.M.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. M.: Since the church considers you still married, there is no reason to go through the religious ceremony again. You must, of course, have another civil ceremony. Do that quietly and privately, and then on your 25th anniversary, have a religious ceremony renewing your marriage vows.

★ ★ ★

There is nothing terrible about remarrying a husband of some 20 years. On the contrary, the terrible thing is that you spent three years in separation. Make up the wasted time as fast as you can.

LEFT OUT

Dear Mrs. Post: Through my sister-in-law and brother we met a married couple who are very dear friends of theirs. We had been entertained by them and recently had them to dinner with their children. My brother and sister-in-law are deeply hurt that we did not include them, too. Are we in the wrong? — Bertha Black.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Black: Your brother and sister-in-law are being hyper-sensitive. They should be pleased that you liked their friends well enough to want to know them better.

UNIFORMS

Dear Mrs. Post: Our daughter's formal prom is coming up shortly and some of the girls' escorts are now in the service. Would it be proper for the boys to wear their service uniforms, or is a tuxedo definitely required? — Edna S.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. S.: Those boys who are proud of their military service and wish to wear their uniforms may do so. No costume is more handsome and eye-catching than a military man's dress uniform, and I'm sure the boys' dates won't fail to notice it!

BROTHER

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister-in-law is getting married next month. My father-in-law must walk with a cane. He feels this will hamper the bride in walking down the aisle.

He has asked my husband, who is the oldest in the family, to take his place. Please tell us what the correct procedure would be?—Mrs. M. M.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. M.: In this case, it would be perfectly proper for your husband to escort his sister down the aisle. Your father-in-law could either follow your mother-in-law and her escorting usher, or join her in the front pew from a side entrance.

If the marriage cermony includes the question "Who gives this woman. . .?" your father-in-law should say from the pew, "I do."

As a Lady in Pink volunteer at Pontiac General Hospital, Mrs. William C. Webster of Sylvan Lake frequently spends a few hours at home cutting out patterns for recuperating patients to assemble. Mrs. Webster works with the diversional therapy group.

Today's Woman

Not Too Busy to Be a Volunteer

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

If Mrs. William C. Webster (Betty) of Sylvan Lake seems like a perpetual motion machine, it's not surprising.

The mother of eight boys and one girl, she spends regular hours each week at Pontiac General Hospital as a Lady in Pink volunteer.

★ ★ ★

Betty Webster found her job at the hospital, where she has been working since the latter part of the summer, through the Oakland County Volunteer Bureau.

As a member of the diversional therapy group, you'll find she makes the rounds to patients once a week, equipped with a cart full of ready-to-assemble crafts for those recuperating.

"You might say this is MY kind of therapy," says Mrs. Webster.

"It's the most self-satisfying kind of job I know. If I'm doing something for someone else, then I'm really getting something out of it."

BONUS SIDE

Aside from the personal pleasure of helping others, she feels the people one works with as a volunteer make the job twice as rewarding.

"These women (Pink Ladies) donate more than their time; they donate their hearts," she said.

In essence, she says, a Lady in Pink, whether she visits, works at nursing stations, or takes crafts around to patients, is saving time and leg work for the nurses.

"If we weren't so short of help, we could go around almost every day," she added.

Although the Pink Ladies make the rounds to all age groups, Mrs. Webster admits a preference for the older set, starting with the teen-ager.

AVOIDS SMALL FRY

"I stay away from pediatrics because I have my own at home," she chuckled, "or at least the semblance of a junior boys' club."

★ ★ ★

When you consider the fact that she has eight boys from kindergarten age to college, the idea of starting a boys' club doesn't sound so impossible. Her only daughter is married. The Webster home is a popular haven for all the boys' friends.

"You get to know just about all there is to sports, around this household, particularly hockey," she said, "as we have two junior league players here."

"You can be sure that raising eight boys keeps me pretty busy," she smiled.

As a matter of fact, she went on to explain, if you're not careful, you can drown yourself in your family, never allowing time for anything or anyone else.

★ ★ ★

But one of the best examples can be taught outside the home, she continued, by simply doing something for others.

"After all, what better way is there to teach your children than by showing them that you follow what you preach?"

Readers Tell Abby Their Thoughts on Ballet Lessons for Sons, Boys

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A woman signed "TEDDY'S MOTHER" expressed some doubts and fears because her son wanted to take ballet lessons.

ABBY

Why? I have four sons. The youngest takes ballet, but his three older brothers favor sports. (I make sure the sports-minded boys don't ridicule their brother because of his interest in dancing.)

As for ballet being for sissies, I'd like to see a sissy lift a 130-pound ballerina with one hand and hold her over his head. And all those strenuous leaps, turns and jumps take muscle-control, coordination and strength the finest athlete would envy.

Ballet does more for a boy's body than football. Seeing my son dance is a much prettier sight than seeing him carried off a football field on a stretcher, bleeding, with a smashed jaw and a broken leg. Thank you.

MOTHER OF FOUR

DEAR ABBY: I was outraged when I read the letter in your column from the mother who was afraid that her son wouldn't be "all man" just because he expressed a desire to take ballet dancing. That mother seemed ashamed because her son didn't choose to follow in the footsteps of his father who was a "five handicap" in golf.

That mother should realize how much masculinity and discipline goes into becoming a professional ballet dancer. He must be as fit as an Olympic champion and possess the grace and rhythm of an artist. I think that any boy who is fortunate enough to show signs of talent in the dance should be encouraged in it —and not made to feel guilty or lacking in manhood.

DEAR ABBY: This is for TEDDY'S MOTHER: Let your son take ballet. The heck with the he-man junk. There is nothing wrong with a boy taking ballet lessons. In fact, originally ballet was danced only by men.

BALLET FAN

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A friendly tip to "TEDDY'S MOTHER:" If you are concerned about your son's masculinity, it might help if you quit calling him "TEDDY," and start calling him "TED."

FRED'S (NOT "FREDDY'S") MOTHER

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: So TEDDY'S father will "die" if his son studies ballet? Well, I'd rather have a clean-cut hard-working ballet dancer for a son than a bearded, pot-smoking, unwashed protesting high school drop-out.

SEEN SOME

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Pelase tell TEDDY'S mother, who feared she'd never have any grandchildren because her only son wanted to take ballet, that she needn't worry.

I've worked with many male ballet dancers who could produce more grandchildren than that woman could handle.

MELBA

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that before my son became a Golden Gloves boxing champion he was advised to take ballet lessons to improve his footwork? He took them, too. And when he was kidded about it, he laughed harder than anybody because he knew that he was as much a man as the manliest.

CHAMP'S MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "SUNK," who told her husband that after 18 years of marriage, his lovemaking did nothing for her, and she'd been putting on an act all along. Then she wrote, "It wasn't exactly the truth. I only said it to hurt him."

I am willing to bet it WAS the truth. Or very close to it. The husband's reaction was typical. Instead of being genuinely sorry to learn that his wife had been getting no sexual satisfaction from their marriage, and seeking ways to correct it, what did he do? He punished her by being cool, distant, and silent.

★ ★ ★

Why can't a man realize that this is a legitimate complaint — a cry of a faithful wife who wants her marriage to last? Frigidity is the result of the Victorian era, when no "decent" woman was supposed to enjoy sex. Only men were allowed to have sexual appetites, and women were around for the purpose of satisfying them. Now we know that the physical needs of women are the same as men, and they are equally entitled to fulfillment.

★ ★ ★

A husband who really loves his wife will move heaven and earth to find out why his lovemaking does nothing for her. There are doctors to consult and books to read to correct the problem. Married couples who keep such secrets from each other grow apart and become strangers.

★ ★ ★

Can you guess, Dear Abby, how many women are in the same boat with "SUNK" but go on in silence, "pretending" because they hesitate to rock the boat of security?

MARRIED AND SATISFIED

★ ★ ★

DEAR MARRIED: I have yet to see statistics that I would accept, knowing that people are more apt to lie about their personal sex lives than tell the truth. But judging from my mail, I would say there are more women in "SUNK'S" boat than in yours.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. B. S. (R.N.): I am well aware that every doctor has treated women who imagine that he is taking more than a professional interest in them. It's usually only wishful thinking. Such women should take a man along when they go to the doctor's office. To protect the doctor!

Unique Wood Designs, Crafts Are to Be Featured at Exhibit

A major design exhibition entitled "Living With Wood" will be open for public viewing in the Galleries of the Cranbrook Academy of Art beginning next Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Prepared and sponsored by the Swedish Institute for Cultural Relations, the show surveys the effect that Sweden's abundant forests have had on her architecture, design and crafts.

It consists of 35 free-standing photo-murals mounted on curved wood panels and about 170 objects of daily use such as furniture, craft items, household utensils and toys.

★ ★ ★

The pieces represent every kind of woodworking in current use in Sweden: Lapp birch items originating above the Arctic Circle; industrially produced furniture by famous designers like Carl Malmsten and Bruno Mathsson and sculptural experiments in wood.

DESIGN, DETAIL

The photographic panels, concentrating on architectural design and detail, complement the objects by showing them in use both in the painted timber cottages of earlier days and in modern wood architecture.

★ ★ ★

The collection is on a nationwide tour circulated by the Smithsonian Institution.

An invitational preview and reception will be held Sunday from 5-7 p.m., sponsored jointly by the Women's Committee for the Cranbrook Academy of Art and the Detroit Swedish Council.

★ ★ ★

Chairman for the affair is Mrs. Charles E. Letts Jr. Assisting her are Mrs. John Quay, Mrs. Robert S. Swanson, Mrs. Robert Raisch and Mrs. Robert Sandoe.

Committee members from the Council are Mesdames: Ata Berker, LeRoy W. Dahlberg, Edward Johansson and Gunnar Karlstrom, all of Birmingham or Bloomfield Hills.

Also representing this group are Mrs. Marvin R. Anderson of Grosse Pointe and Mrs. John B. Olson of Detroit.

The buffet table decor will be in the Swedish national colors, yellow and blue.

Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries are open Tuesdays through Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m., except major holidays. There is an admission.

Play in Rehearsal Has New Faces

With the addition of four new members to the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Book Theatre, casting is now completed for the American professional premiere Jan. 19 of "And People All Around." The provocative, new civil rights play by George Sklar is in its second week of rehearsals at Meadow Brook. Codirectors are John Broome and George Guidall.

★ ★ ★

Three of the new faces are seasoned professional actors, and one is an 18-year old Oakland University coed who will be making her theatrical debut in the production. Three are Negroes.

★ ★ ★

Beverly Atkinson and Frank Wilson each will perform two roles in the show. Both are in the six-member Chorus, which functions much as does the chorus in classical Greek drama.

★ ★ ★

In addition, Miss Atkinson will play the wife of a civil rights organizer and Wilson will portray a convict.

★ ★ ★

A total of 29 roles will be played by 15 actors in the highly cinematic play.

FILMS

Miss Atkinson comes to Meadow Brook direct from co-starring in the not yet released motion picture "Between Us," shot on location in Madrid, Spain.

★ ★ ★

She is known to American audiences for her appearances in the films "A Man Called Adam" and "The Pawnbroker," for her appearances on several television series, and for numerous off-Broadway stage roles.

★ ★ ★

Wilson, who understudied for Godfrey Cambridge in "How To Be A Jewish Mother" on Broadway, appeared in the motion pictures "Love of Ivy," "The Incident" and "A Man Called Adam" and has appeared on the television series "N.Y.P.D." and "Hawk."

★ ★ ★

He has appeared in a variety of roles off-Broadway, and played the lead in "Othello" with the Tempo Players in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

Philadelphian Henry Thomas joins the Fernald Company to play Dorrance R. Medford, Supreme Wizard of the White Redeemers in the Sklar drama.

★ ★ ★

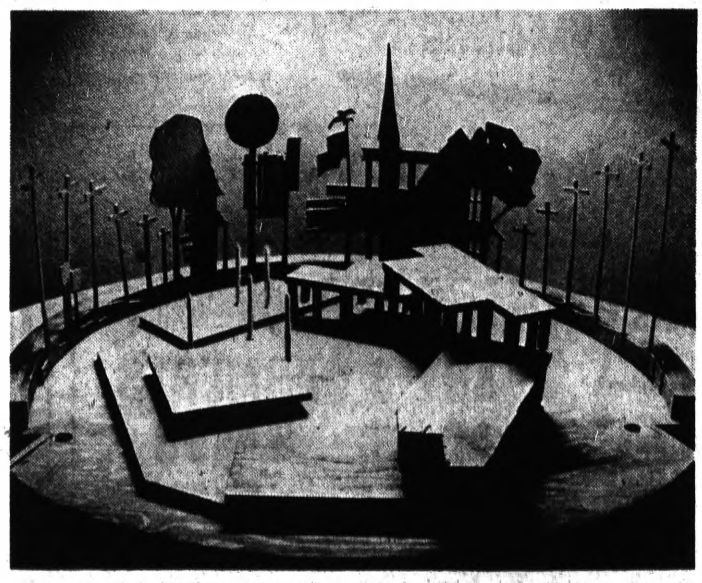
A playwright by avocation, Thomas has taught acting, worked in television production, written advertising, and worked as an artist. He comes to Meadow Brook from the Hartford (Conn.) Stage Co., where he has acted for the past three seasons.

LOCAL ACTRESS

Making her acting debut as a member of the Chorus in "And People All Around" will be Patricia Carson, of Pontiac, a freshman at Oakland University.

★ ★ ★

Meadow Brook Theatre is currently presenting the Victorian slapstick farce "Charley's Aunt," which continues through Jan. 14.



A model of the cinematic setting under construction for the American professional premiere of "And People All Around" at the Meadow Brook Theatre. The various platforms on the central revolve, and the revolve itself, represent various interior and exterior locations during the fast-moving production. The 33-foot by 28-foot set makes one complete revolution during the course of the production. It is moved by the chorus without interrupting the flow of action.

"Living with Wood", an exhibition of contemporary and traditional design in Sweden, will open in Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries Jan. 9 and remain up through Feb. 4. The exhibition shows the many ways wood influences daily life in Sweden from their buildings to their furniture, tools and utensils, toys and games, musical instruments and sporting equipment.

Carpeting Cuts Effects of Noise

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Carpeting in the kitchen is more than a status symbol. It can also be a nerve saver, Texas A&M reports. Carpeting soaks up kitchen noises that come with everyday work and automation. Noises are softened and nervous tension is eased.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. I am too short, and I hate it. I am barely five feet tall. Is there any exercise or any food that will make me taller?

A. There is no special food that will add to height. This is an inherited characteristic. However, exercises which stretch the spine and improve posture can help. If your posture is not what it should be, corrective measures can add an inch or two.

Straighten your spine all the way and lift your rib cage. Do not allow your head to protrude forward or your chin to dip into your neck. Lift your chin until it is parallel to the floor. Do you add an inch to your height when you do this?

Q. Will you please give me a good facial exercise? If you were going to choose just one which is good generally for facial contour, what would it be?

A. This one. Apply cream to the face. Open the jaws halfway. Pull the lips back from the teeth as far as you can, corners of the mouth up. Now purse the lips. Continue pulling the lips away from the teeth and pursing the lips.

Q. I am 17 years old, five feet three and weigh 116 pounds. My bust measures 32 inches and my waist 24 inches and hips 34 inches. My friends tell me that I would have a nice figure if my bust were larger. Is this true? I have become very self-conscious about my small bust. I am small boned.

A. Do not be self-conscious any more! You are allowed a difference of two inches between the bust and the hips although the ideal has been to have the hip and bust measurement the same.

In recent years the bust measurements may be even larger. However not all women can achieve the ideal because of bony structure and the size of muscles.

If you would like to increase your bust measurement, you can do so by building up the chest muscles.

Q. I am very much involved in social activities and am continually embarrassed by underarm perspiration. This is ruining my clothes and my personality. What can I do? I use a deodorant.

A. Use shields in your dresses, suits and blouses (when you can.) This will protect your clothes. Also, I wonder if you are using a product which is an anti-perspirant as well as a deodorant.

A deodorant simply takes care of the odor of perspiration. It does not slow the flow. Nervousness can cause excessive perspiration. Check this angle.

MRS. T. S. THRASHER

Vows, Gala for Thrashers

A reception in the church parlors honored newlyweds, the Thomas Stewart Thrashers (Cathy Ann Wilson), following Saturday vows in First Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

Their parents are Mrs. Catherine Carpenter of Chamberlain Street, Albert Wilson of Miami, Fla., and the senior Edwin Thrashers of East Boulevard North.

Venise lace accented the bride's nylon gown fashioned in Empire style with detachable train. Her headpiece was petal shaped with seed pearls and crystals, she carried miniature white carnations surrounding a white orchid.

Juanita Law was maid of honor with bridesmaids, Peggy Carpenter, the bride's sister, and Susan Kitson of Detroit.

The bridegroom's brother, Edwin, stood as best man with ushers, Alex Brown, Donald Stone, Paul Jeffrey and Michael Madison.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Maryland.

Show Vitamin C Non-Effective in Cold Therapy

NEW YORK (UPI) — One new scientific report holds that large doses of vitamin C will not prevent or shorten the course of the common cold. People who have been getting adequate intake of the vitamin are not benefitted by additional doses.

The report comes from "Nutrition Reviews", a monthly publication of the non-profit Nutrition Foundation that supports research and education in food fields.

★ ★ ★

It reports that a series of tests with volunteers revealed that contrary to common belief, massive doses of C will not stop a cold, reduce its severity or alter the length of time it takes to run its course.

Woman Receives Man of the Year Tobacco Award

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — When Mrs. June Mele, who has been manager of the Smoke Shop in a local store for 30 years, was named "Man of the Year" recently by the tobacco industry, the traditional award of a pair of cuff links wasn't appropriate.

Instead, the Retail Tobacco Dealers of America, at their annual convention, presented their only female member with a gold bracelet.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mele studied tobacco blending at Indiana University and now mixes special blends for 350 regular customers, each catalogued in her mind along with his tobacco formula preference.

Reading Habits Are Formulated in Early Years

LOUISVILLE, KY. (AP)—A child's most important habit—a love of reading and books—is formulated by the time he is 2 years old, believes Mrs. Lesley Frost Ballantine, daughter of the late poet, Robert Frost.

★ ★ ★

Speaking before a local woman's club, Mrs. Ballantine suggested that parents should read aloud to their children from the time they are tiny tots, and should continue reading sessions as a family activity.

★ ★ ★

The New York City resident recalled that some of her fondest memories as a child are of evenings by the fire in her native New Hampshire, listening as her parents read aloud.

Taffeta, Lace Highlight Saturday Bridal Ensemble

A floor length gown of white lace taffeta was chosen by Saturday bride, the former Bonnie Irene Davis, as she repeated vows with Sp. 4 Michael M. King, USA, son of the Melville Kings of Lakeview Drive, Independence Township.

SHOULDER VEIL

Completing her ensemble was a crown of matching fabric that held a shoulder illusion veil. She carried a cascade of red roses and white carnations.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wes Schaar was her sister's matron of honor. They are the daughters of the Alburn Davises of Churchill Road, Pontiac Township.

★ ★ ★

Bridesmaids were Suzane Byers and Janet King. Leta King and Walter Dixon were flower girl and ring bearer.

★ ★ ★

Larry Evon stood as best man with ushers Thomas Byers and Jerry King.

★ ★ ★

Following vows in the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church, the couple was feted at a reception in Auburn Heights Boys' Club before leaving on a northern honeymoon.

MRS. MICHAEL M. KING

Twin Sister Is His Date

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP) — In order to pick dates for a school dance, students at the all-male St. Benedict's College here decided to use computers to select partners from among the girls at nearby Mount St. Scholastica, an all-women's college.

Both the boys and the girls filled out cards which were "matched" as to likes and dislikes by the computer.

Mike Flaton, a 19-year-old St. Louis youth, was surprised when his date, picked as one having similar interests, showed up for the dance. It was his twin sister, Sue Flaton.

Social Security—1

Revisions Expand System Benefits, Coverage

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of a series analyzing the changes currently being made in the Social Security and Medicare regulations.)

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Publications

WASHINGTON — The mammoth "social benefit" enterprise called Social Security has grown from slender beginnings in 1937 to a level where, in 1968, it expects to pay out $25.2 billion to some 23.8 million Americans.

Nearly one in eight draw monthly benefits. The outlay will rise and go to more and more people as the years pass.

In late 1967, Congress enacted into law revisions of the 31-year-old system which will provide for largest total benefit increases to the elderly and others in the system's history.

The total will shoot up a record $2.9 billion in 1968, and then rise in 1969 to a point $3.6 billion above where the outgo would have been under the prior law.

★ ★ ★

The average increase in benefits is in the range of 13 per cent, but a worker around 50 who can expect to contribute many more years of taxes to the system can look ahead to benefit increases up to 21.8 per cent, and a worker 25 to 27 may ultimately get benefits 30 per cent higher.

BASIC PROTECTION

Later articles in this series will discuss in some detail the changes made in basic Social Security protection — benefits covering retirement, survivors and disability.

The new law also modified Social Security's important Medicare offshot to enlarge and improve hospital insurance protection, and make it easier for those who elect to buy the supplemental (doctor bill) insurance to handle their doctor bills.

These matters also will be more fully treated farther on in the series.

★ ★ ★

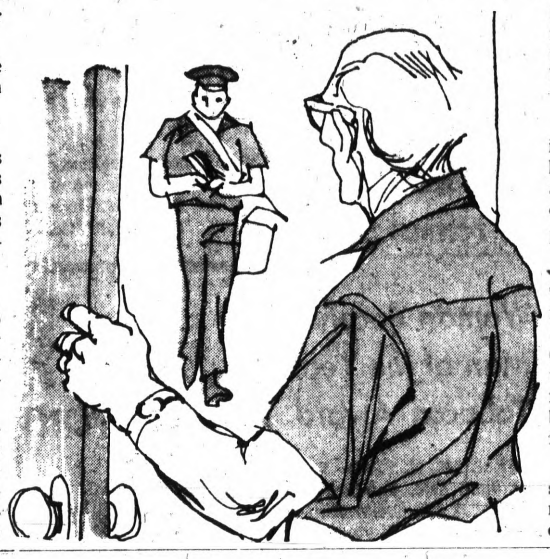
The Social Security system has a lot of critics today, as it has always had. The most common are those who argue that it is not a very good insurance program.

PROGRAM BLEND

(Actually it has been from the outset a blend of an insurance plan with citizen tax contributions and a straight assistance program.)

Because Social Security payments lift many Americans above poverty levels and we are in an era of "poverty fighting," the system is being attacked nowadays on a new count — not doing enough to combat poverty.

Government specialists estimate, nevertheless, that the 1967 Social Security benefit increases may take another million people above the poverty level. Had the U.S. Senate's more liberal provisions gained the day, the figure might have been two million.



★ ★ ★

Even without the changes, it it is figured that Social Security keeps more than 5.6 million aged poor folk out of real poverty.

MAJOR INCOME

Of the nearly one in every eight Americans who draw monthly Social Security benefits, just short of 17 million are 65 and over. About half of these people have no other regular income, and for most by far, their benefits are their major income source.

But since younger retirees, survivors and disabled persons represent 7 million of the total of beneficiaries, and many children are included, the program has "youth aspects" often overlooked but deserving fuller examination in later articles.

As recent as 1950, only about a fourth of the Americans 65 and over were protected under Social Security. Today 85 per cent are so covered, and other federal programs bring the percentage to 90. Coverage, obviously, is not far short of universal.

★ ★ ★

Of course none of this is the gift of providence. It has to be paid for — by you, the Social Security taxpayer; by your employer in matching payments; and by the government. Higher benefits are going to cost more, so taxes are going to rise. And that is another story still to be told here.

King's Speech in Greek Press

ATHENS (AP) — King Constantine's New Year's message to the Greek nation was published today for the first time in the Greek press. It was not broadcast over the state-controlled radio.

All afternoon newspapers carried the brief message in full on orders from the censor. The king said in the statement: "We hope we will be among you soon."

★ ★ ★

No morning papers published today but it was expected they would carry the king's message Wednesday.

The Greek royal family fled the country Dec. 14 after an unsuccessful attempt to oust the ruling junta. They have been living in exile in Rome since. The government said they can return any time they want.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the National Broadcasting Institute said the royal message might be broadcast later today.

Mayor From Hat

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The six Portsmouth City councilmen were deadlocked 3-3 Monday night between Merte Odle and another member when they tried to pick a mayor at an organizational meeting. Then they decided to put all six councilmen's names in a hat. Odle, mayor the last two years, won.

NAACP Feels Job-Bias Victory Has Bleak Side

NEW YORK (AP) — An agreement reached in Columbus, Ohio, guaranteeing 140 jobs for Negroes on Ohio State University construction projects looks like a clear-cut victory for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

But to the NAACP staff members who negotiated it, the pact symbolizes the end of once-bright hopes that federal and state governments would vigorously enforce antidiscrimination statutes and shows that pressure must be applied unrelentingly against unions and builders.

★ ★ ★

"It's an indication of the failure of voluntary compliance," said Herbert Hill, national labor director for the NAACP.

"There is a federal executive order issued by President Johnson forbidding discrimination in all federally financed construction. The U.S. Division of Contract Compliance is a dead letter. They have never enforced this. They depend instead on voluntary compliance."

FUNDS HELP UP

In Washington, the head of the division, Owen Kiley, replied that federal funds for the Ohio State projects had been held up since last May.

That was when U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary ruled in a suit brought by the NAACP that government funds may not be used on projects where there is racial discrimination in hiring.

The judge also held that the state had primary responsibility for requiring that such work forces be integrated, and it was under his order that agreement was reached last Thursday, more than six months later.

Until last month, according to Dr. David McConnell, a university biochemist who headed the NAACP negotiating team as labor chairman of the Columbus branch, the university had made no attempt to implement the decision.

McConnell, who is white, said negotiations were arranged only after he gained admittance to a Washington meeting of Health Education and Welfare Department officials last Dec. 1 by threatening "to hold a press conference in the hall if they didn't admit me."

At that meeting, he said, "We got some of the primitive facts established. Namely, we held HEW as well as the state of Ohio responsible. Then HEW told the university they wouldn't let $6 million in matching funds go unless they settled their peace with the NAACP.

★ ★ ★

"It was really a squeeze play between the federal government and the NAACP, and the federal government ran scared because it's an election year. We threatened to name them in a suit before the same court on the same issue covering the entire state of Ohio."

Director Kiley of the HEW's Division of Contract Compliance confirmed the meeting with McConnell, but said that when the NAACP representative asked to be admitted, he was invited to attend and fully express his views. And, said Kiley, the decision to withhold federal funds for the Ohio State projects was made last May, not at the December meeting.

'FINALLY JELLED'

In Columbus, the university's equal employment opportunity officer, Stephen Lance, disputed McConnell's allegation that the school hadn't tried to implement the court order.

"I would object to the words 'no attempt' and would say that the attempts being made finally jelled after that (Washington) meeting," Lance said. He said university officials began negotiating with contractors immediately after the court decision "to get their commitments to hire minority workers."

★ ★ ★

To Hill the Ohio State agreement means more pressure, not less, on government-financed construction projects. He named Newark, N.J., and San Francisco-Oakland as the next two major targets. Both areas, he said, plan huge construction programs and have "volatile Negro ghetto areas with very high rates of Negro unemployment."

"We have exhausted all reasonable efforts to discuss these matters with the building trades unions," said Hill. "Therefore there is no choice but to move to cut off public funds. . .

★ ★ ★

"Exactly one year ago, after four years of picketing and mass demonstrations against the building trades of northern New Jersey, the five Iron Workers locals signed an agreement with the New Jersey Civil Rights Commission.

"Now, exactly one year later, not a single Negro has been admitted."

William Jennings Bryan, in 1896, at the age of 36, was the youngest candidate ever nominated for the U.S. presidency.

Chinese Plot Said Smashed

Saigon Counterfeiters, Fake U. S. Bills Seized

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese national police said today they had arrested several Chinese counterfeiters and seized $250,000 in fake U.S. $5 bills, thereby foiling what they called a Red Chinese attempt to destroy the economies of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

Police said the counterfeiters were Red Chinese spies who planned to trade the U.S. bills on the black market to buy equipment to counterfeit the currencies of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Police reported they closed in on the counterfeiters last Thursday in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon, and seized a printing press, paper and ink and complete and incomplete $5 bills. The counterfeiters' printing plates also were seized, they said.

Several persons, including some who tried to escape, were arrested, officials added, but police declined to disclose their names, saying the investigation was continuing. A police statement said, "In the present case, there undoubtedly will be death sentences given to the Chinese counterfeiters."

Police said they had been investigating for five months "an important clandestine economic and financial organization led directly by Communist authorities on the Chinese mainland, whose purpose was to counterfeit various monies in order to subvert the economies of many countries in Southeast Asia, and especially the economy of South Vietnam"

They said the counterfeit U.S. bills were to be put into the black market by a Chinese named "Dailthe Gioi"—the great world—who would get South Vietnamese piasters in return to "buy needed modern machines for printing counterfeit bills to subvert the monetary base of the countries the Communist Chinese want to invade in the near future."

The Communists "planned to immediately destroy the Republic of (South) Vietnam's economy by printing and throwing into the market about 30 billion piasters"—$200 million, police said.

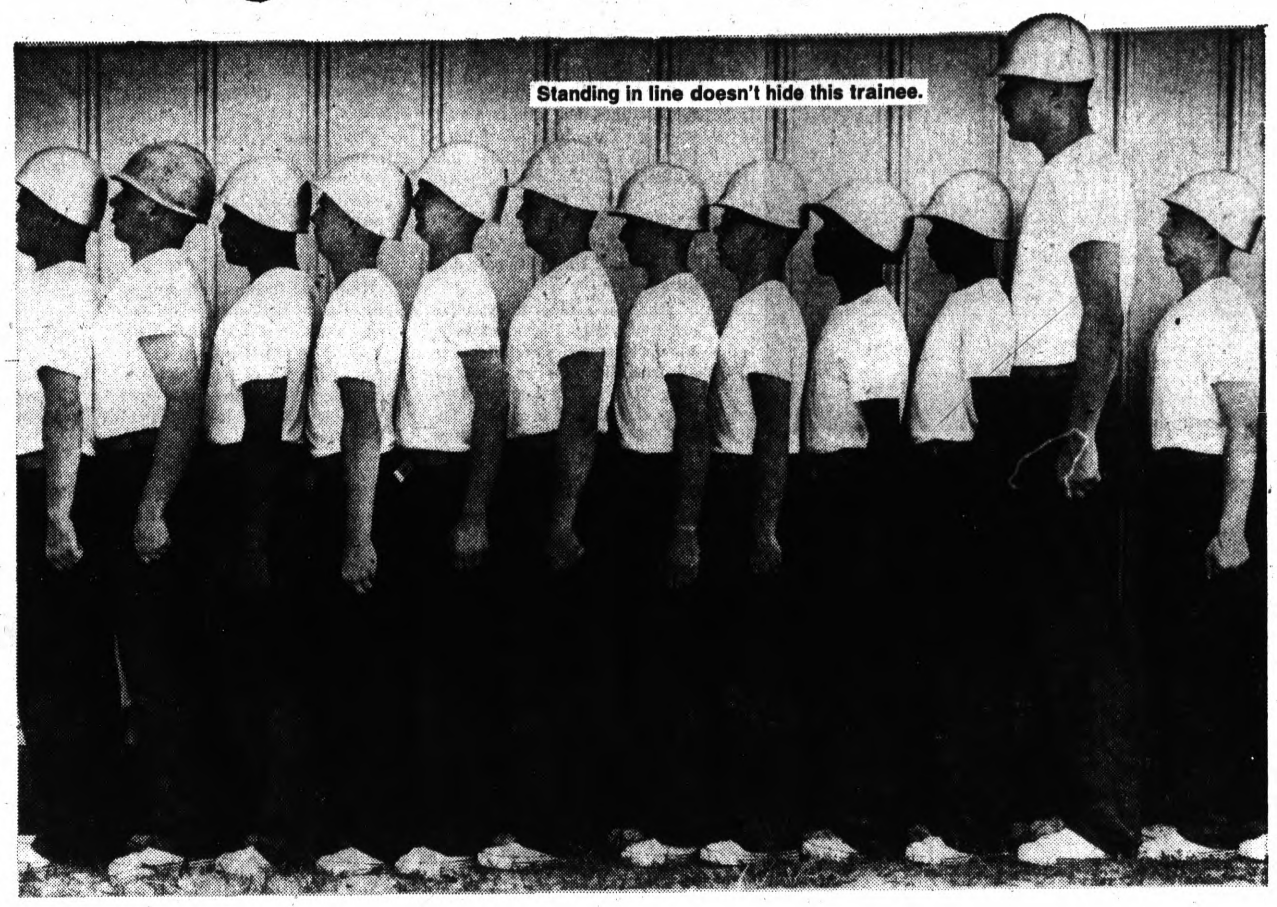
Training with the M-14, with which he shot 219 of a possible 250 to qualify as sharpshooter, Stevens receives advice from a determined drill instructor.



Standing in line doesn't hide this trainee.

Since he was 18 years old and a graduate of San Ramon High School in Danville, California, Jack W. Stevens wanted to join the Marine Corps.

As the years slipped by, he majored in retailing at Diablo Valley College, Concord, Calif., continuing his basketball and baseball activities to keep in shape. He married a nearby Sacramento girl, moved to McKeesport, Pennsylvania and kept up his attempts to become a Marine.

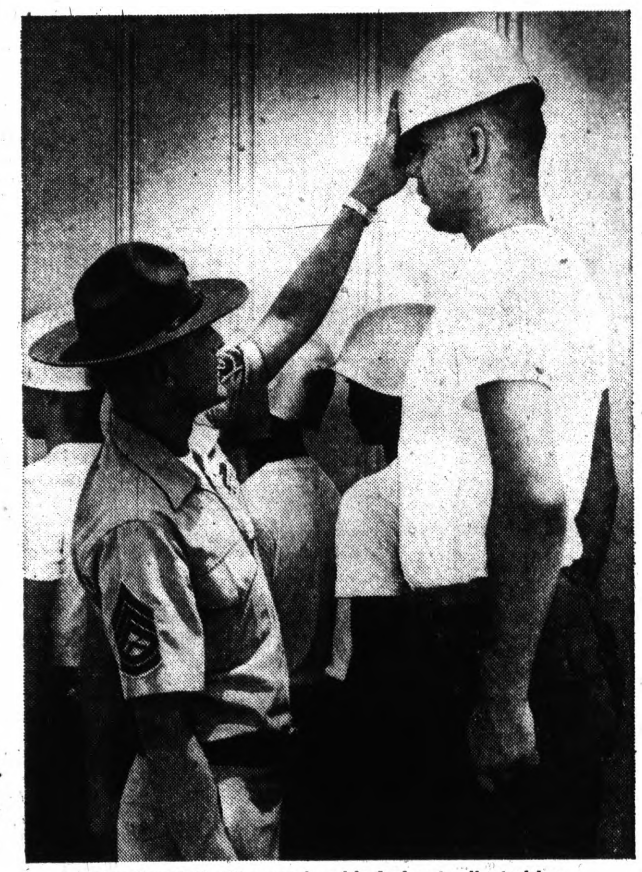
His problem, as taken to State Supreme Court Justice Samuel Weiss, in Pittsburgh, for advice, was his 6-foot, 11½-inch frame, too big for military requirements.

Judge Weiss, with the cooperation of Pittsburgh's U.S. Representative, James G. Fulton (R-Penn.), reviewed the case thoroughly. One month later, in June, 1967, by Congressional action , the 252-pound, 25-year-old giant was assigned to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, S.C., the biggest and one of the oldest recruits.

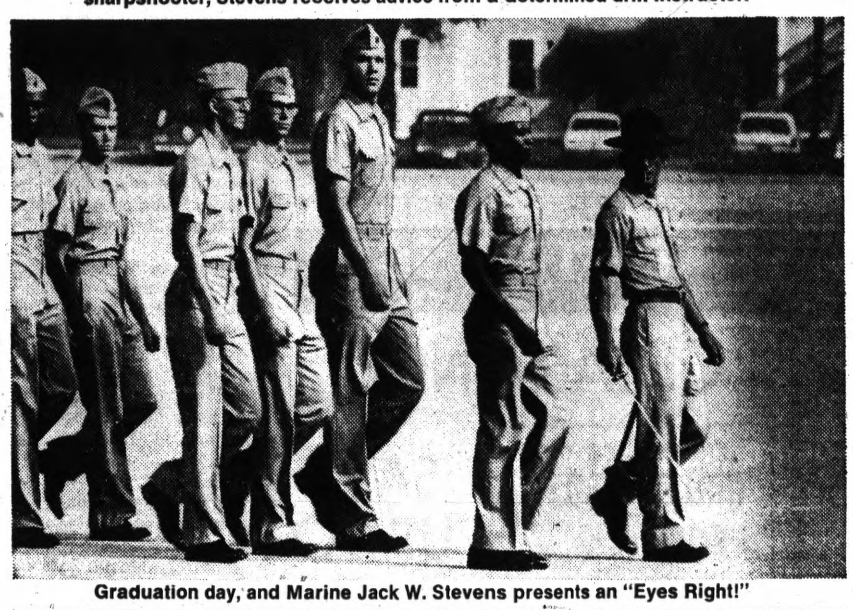
He encountered problems immediately. His long stride had to be adjusted to the 30-inch step required in close-order drill, his large frame had to adapt itself to the small, but normal, bunk at the barracks and his uniforms had to be cut to his size.

The drill instructors, at the same time, were making their own adjustments to the big trainee. Convenient boxes or crates for close-up direction, an upturned head for plainer things.

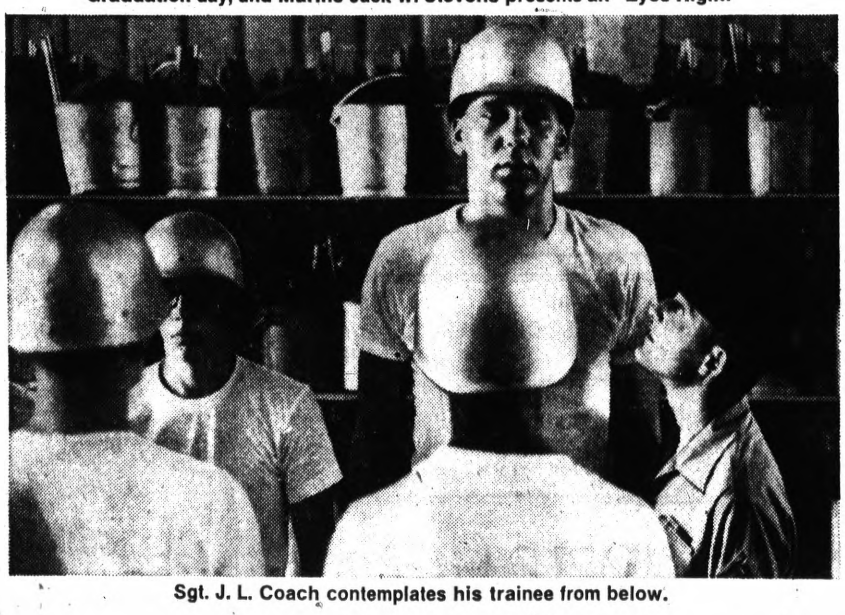
When graduation day arrived two months later, Stevens was standing tall in more ways than one. Now assigned to Basic Infantry Training at Camp Lejune, N.C., he will later go to the Naval Air Station, Memphis, Tenn., for aviation training, a beginning finally for what he hopes will be a 20-year career as a United States Marine.



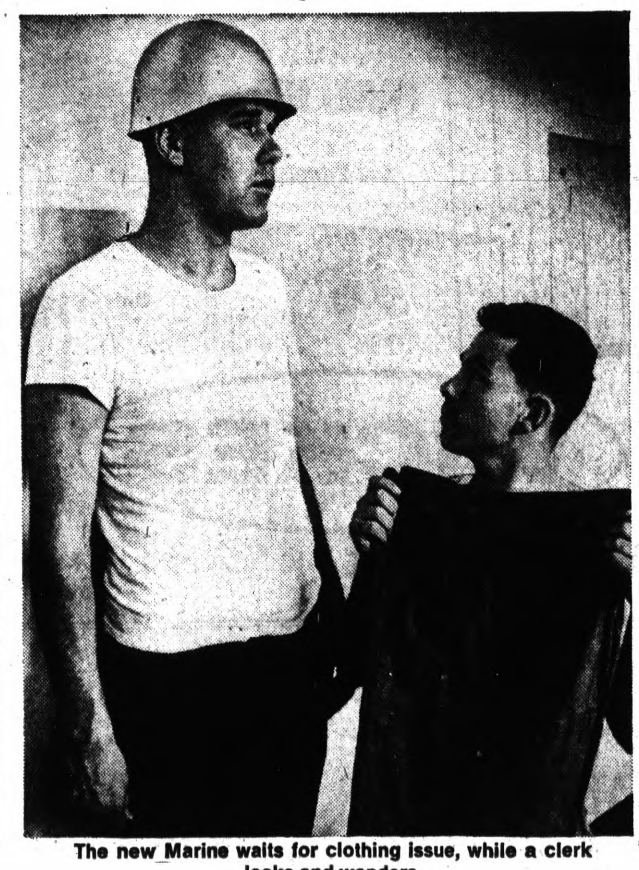
Standing tall, Stevens has his helmet adjusted by one of his drill instructors, Sgt. J. L. Coach.



Graduation day, and Marine Jack W. Stevens presents an "Eyes Right!"



Sgt. J. L. Coach contemplates his trainee from below.



The new Marine waits for clothing issue, while a clerk looks and wonders.

The canteen seems mighty small to the big trainee.

1968 Economic Outlook as Viewed by Prominent Businessmen!

Jim LaVergne
Owner & Manager

LaVergne's Hair Fashions

In attending Hair Shows and Seminars in the past few months, I have noticed that the trend is now toward the more exciting, curlier look, and permanent waving. Also, there is a great demand for services on wigs and hairpieces which has opened up a whole new field in the beauty industry. So, with the automobile contracts settled, I believe 1968 will be a most rewarding year for people working in custom services and sales.

"Sales on existing homes in the greater Pontiac area should increase right from the start of 1968 and carry on through the year. The home mortgage situation remains bright for the coming year. The great demand for homes will make the building business boom, thereby creating more existing homes from people trading up. The population explosion alone demands that real estate to be good for several years to come.

Ted McCullough, Jr.

Elbert Whitaker, Jr.
President

Karen's Carpet

Karen's optimistic prediction for the overall economy in 1967 was no exageration. Although our area experienced the worst riots in our country's history and the threat of auto strikes prevailed, the economy and Karen's Carpets were able to make this the most prosperous year in history.

We can now only predict for 1968 an even more productive year. The recent auto settlements should stabilize the economy and credit should become looser enabling everyone to enjoy a prosperous 1968.

Elbert Whitaker, Jr.

Norman Pattison
President

Connolly's Jewelers

We are most optimistic and enthusiastic about 1968 and the future of Pontiac. The positive action we have taken in buying and remodeling the building on the Northwest corner of Saginaw and Huron is proof of our optimism. My attitude is also reflected in the expansion of Connolly's Jewelers, a new and larger location with the most modern and up-to-date facilities to best serve the Pontiac area. Watch the Pontiac Press for our announcement advertisement January 5 which will tell of even further expansion of Connolly's National Building in Downtown Pontiac.

Norman Pattison

Bill Riggs
Manager

Goodyear Service Store

With the coming of 1968, we at Goodyear are most optimistic toward continued growth and progress. Our faith in Downtown Pontiac has been highly rewarding in 1967. We have enjoyed a year of unmatched progress and this measure of past accomplishments shines with the promise of a future filled with continuing successes.

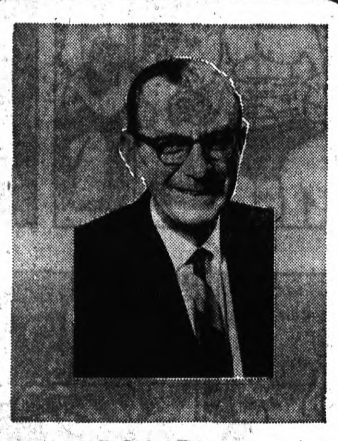
Bill Riggs

Victor L. DeMino
President

Fidler's Foods, Inc.

With the settlement of major labor contracts throughout our country, the economic situation will grow and become more sound than ever before. Michigan, with the basic strength of the automobile industry, will remain a leader in this growth. Significantly, as specialists in the field of food distribution, we at Fidler's Foods, Inc. predict this country will continue to remain the world's best fed with the greatest assortment and the finest quality of food available anywhere in the world.

Victor L. DeMino

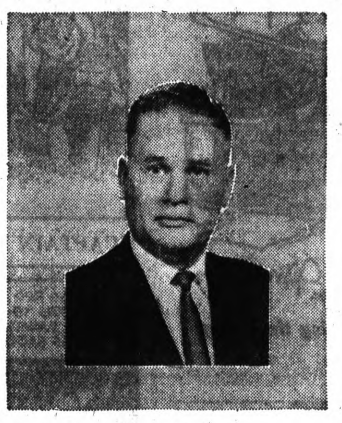


Calvin Ritter
Owner

Ritters Farm Markets

The 1968 prices on staple food items will be slightly higher due to the rising cost of food processing. However, the prices on fresh fruits and produce are expected to remain the same. The determining factor here is supply and demand. I feel prices will hold close to those of 1967 due to agriculture's contribution of automated machinery. In short, we're expecting a good year in 1968.

Calvin Ritter



Ray O'Neil
President

O'Neil Realty Company

We welcome 1968 with great expectations. We believe it is certain that building costs for new construction will increase substantially due to the increased cost of land, labor and materials and to expect a reversal of this trend is wishful thinking. Interest rates are high, but financing is available for good mortgages. We canot help but be optimistic about 1968 and are going ahead with 28 new homes now under construction, and anticipate another 100 to be completed by early spring. We expect 1968 to be greater.

Ray O'Neil

Leon Blanchura
Builder

Beauty-Rite Homes, Inc.

Our plans for 1968 include a 24 building—8 unit apartment complex being sold to small investors plus 50 new homes in the Huntoon Lake area. Ours, as well as our customers happiness with the Gold Medallion concept of all electric living, which fills today's apartment dweller and home owners requirements for uniform heating-humidity control as well as summer coolness has led us to design the above unit around this modern concept of all electric living. All electric living is the new, low cost modern way.

Leon Blanchura

Auggie Kampsen
President

Kampsen Building and Realty Co.

"It seems to me, that anyone planning on buying a used home, building a new home or making a real estate investment in the near future, should not hesitate to act now, for we, in this general area, certainly are in the path of progress and with the gradual loosening of mortgage credit, the population increase, the expansion of major industries, and the forces of inflation, Real Estate values and construction costs, will reach new highs in the coming years."

A. G. Kampsen

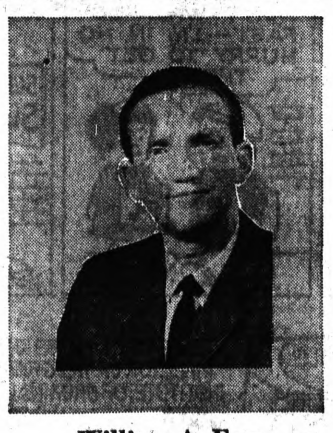
Tom Bateman
President

Bateman Realty Company

We anticipate an even more fantastic year in 1968 than we had in 1967 when we opened two new offices — one in Union Lake and one in the Oxford-Orion area.

Our expansion plans call for at least two more offices and we would be most displeased if we didn't have at least a 25% gain in business in 1968.

Tom Bateman

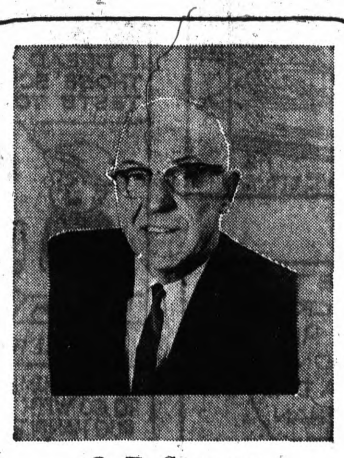


William A. Fox
Associate

Fox Dry Cleaners

William A. Fox, partner with brother Kenneth R. Fox, are certain that along with continuous industrial expansion the significant growth of new households and subdivisions within our area are a criteria for even more prosperity in 1968. "More than just an optimistic opinion on our parts, all published statistics tend to confirm our predictions for a great new year in 1968."

William A. Fox

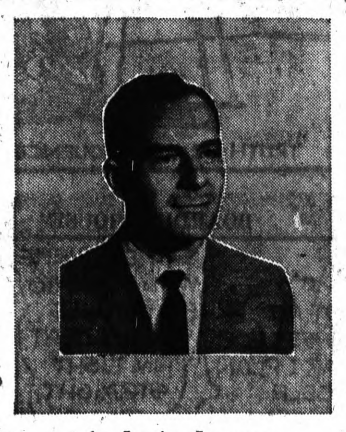


O. D. Spencer
Owner-Manager

Spencer Floor Covering

Unless unforeseen circumstances arise, the coming year of 1968 should prove basically sound economy wise. The trend over the past few years has been definitely on the upgrade and should level off somewhat in the future. The future of the business world in general rests with the younger generation. I would like to see every young man and woman take advantage of the many opportunities offered them in 1968.

O. D. Spencer



Andy Anderson
Owner

Anderson Sales & Service

1968 looks like another fine year for the motorcycle industry. Increased public acceptance of cycles, coupled with a greater amount of leisure time enjoyed by most people, contribute to the growing number of the "young at heart." With the bright prospects for another fine year at our local GM plants, we expect unparalleled prosperity for the Pontiac Area.

Our greatest wish is for an end to the war in Viet Nam so our many friends can return home and help us enjoy this year.

Andy Anderson

Aaron D. Baughey
Owner

William Miller, Realty

"A Great '68" is a certainty upon examination of markets and trends. Considering that over 50% of the population are under 25 years of age, the approximate 10% increase enjoyed in new building starts during 1967 over 1966 will be even greater for 1968. The 2 car family is being replaced with the 2 home family. More than 2 million families maintain some kind of 2nd home and about 150,000 2nd homes are sold annually. This figure is expected to reach 200,000 a year by 1970. Our immediate area is better, considerably than the national scope and with the recent signing of the unprecedented auto company contracts, we will realize price increases, increase of interest rates and an increase in business. Especially in the always stable real estate field.

Opening lead—♦ 2

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

The most sensational defensive play of 1967 was made by Ira Rubin in an International Match Point tourney for the Spingold Cup. The bidding is just about as interesting as the defense.

JACOBY

The three heart bid by Phil Feldesman who sat West was one of those preemptive jump overcalls designed to jam the opponents' bidding.

Ira's jump to five hearts was a continuation of the jamming process, whereupon South decided to do a little jamming of his own and jumped to six spades. He didn't know if he would be able to make it. He rather hoped that East and West would be stampeded into a seven heart save.

Unfortunately for North and South, Phil and Ira use a convention we have named the undouble. It applies in this situation. With no defense at all Phil would double six spades.

With the king of diamonds as potential defense he chose to pass. Thus, when it came to Ira he was pretty sure that he could set six spades, but he couldn't double. His double also would be showing no defense.

★ ★ ★

Phil opened the deuce of diamonds. Ira won with the ace while South dropped the jack. Then Ira proceeded to think for five minutes. At the end of that time he led back the three of clubs!

This gave South a chance for a five minute huddle of his own. He had given up all hope when the diamond was opened. Now he might bring home the impossible contract.

He let the club ride around to dummy's jack, drew one trump and led a club back to his ace. Phil trumped and cashed the king of diamonds for a two trick set.

We are not going to commit ourselves as to whether we would have made Ira's lead. He had reconstructed South's hand exactly and gained 100 points, but somehow or other we might have taken life easy and returned the diamond.

Q—The bidding has been:

You, South, hold:
♠ 2 ♥ J 4 ♦ K 10 9 5 4 3 ♣ 7 5 4 3
What do you do?

A—Bid two diamonds. It is worth while to try to find a better spot.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing, East bids two hearts. What do you do now?

She Ends Job on Cuba Freedom Flights

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An attractive French-born U.S. citizen who flew to Cuba twice a day for four months but never saw more than the airport at Veradero has ended her nerve-racking job. Beatrice del Perugia was a stewardess on National Airlines flight 901 — the freedom flight that carries 90 Cuban exiles on each trip from Veradero to Miami International Airport.

* * *

The flights have brought about 10,000 Cubans here since they began with two hops each weekday. The flights have been suspended this week until Wednesday because of the anniversary celebration in Cuba of the formation of Fidel Castro's government nine years ago today.

Miss del Perugia got the assignment because she speaks four languages. She was a student of Russian and government at the University of Miami. She said she plans to marry in June and hopes to use her speech skills to become a translator.

In a letter to her successor, Miss del Perugia advised that the short hop is no milk run.

'LIKE ZOMBIES'

"For 45 minutes you are in a full cabin of 90 terrified people; they sit numb, like zombies," she wrote. "They're frightened of flying, of leaving their homeland permanently, of the new life which awaits them in a foreign country with an unfamiliar tongue.

"Some are still frightened of the possibility of not coming at all, and all have irrevocably left families behind. You can watch their fright gradually melt and change to elation."

CECIL DAY-LEWIS

Court Poet Needs Reason for a Rhyme

LONDON (AP) — Cecil Day-Lewis, Britain's new poet laureate, puts news events into verse and writes subtle mystery books under another name. He has said his nomination as court poet would not guarantee he'd write court poetry.

* * *

"I wouldn't be able to write court poetry," the 63-year-old laureate once said. "I'm not disloyal to the royal family, but I couldn't write that sort of thing. You can only write things that move one."

* * *

Things that have moved Day-Lewis have been Sir Francis Chichester's round-the-world solo sail, the landslide disaster at the Welsh ivllage of Aberfan and last vear's wreck of the oil tanker Torrey Canyon. The poem about the ill-fated tanker was set to music.

* * *

Sources report Day-Lewis still intends to dodge topics that don't move him, although his post requires him to write on state occasions.

MASEFIELD'S SUCCESSOR

Prime Minister Harold Wilson named Dav-Lewis Monday to fill the post left vacant bv the death last May of John Masefield at the age of 91. Wilson named Day-Lewis over Robert Graves—whom Dav-Lewis called "the best poet in the country"—and over John Betjeman, William Plomer and Edmund Blunden.

* * *

If Day-Lewis never pens a line of court verse, however, he will be in good company. Robert Bridges, Masefield's predecessor, never wrote any state-occasion verse.

* * *

Other celebrated English poets who have held the post were William Wordsworth, Robert Southey and Alfred Tennyson. The job dates to the 17th century and pays $168 a year plus a $64.80 grant in place of the cask of sherry originally given to laureates.

* * *

Day-Lewis is probably best known as Nicholas Blake, mystery writer. His detective stories are intellectual thrillers more than blood-and-thunder epics. They include titles such as "Minutes of Murder" and "The Buried Day."

TO PAY A BILL

Day-Lewis started writing mysteries years ago to pay a $240 bill to patch a leaky roof. The Blake mysteries sold so well that he was able to retire as a schoolmaster and, living on mystery earnings, turn to his first love: Poetry.

* * *

The new poet laureate said his main influences were Robert Frost, Thomas Hardy, W.H. Auden, and W.B. Yeats. Critics place them in the same poetic school with Auden and Stephen Spender.

* * *

Not all the Day-Lewis poetry has been critically acclaimed. Of his latest collection of poems, the London Times literary supplement wrote: "The poems are mostly placebos and plastic blooms."

* * *

One poem, linking a Michelangelo madonna to Mrs. John F. Kennedy, was called "positively embarrassing," while an elegy for Sir Winston Churchill was termed "the worst poem of the year."

World Settles Down to '68 Problems

By The Associated Press

Brushing aside the bright confetti and streamers of New Year's celebrations, the world again tackles its besetting problems and renews its quest for the elusive grail of peace.

On the advent of 1968, statesmen, church leaders and ordinary men around the world spoke of the urgent need for peace. But few, if any, seemed sure it would come in the 12 months ahead.

★ ★ ★

Pope Paul VI in Vatican City led Roman Catholics in prayers for peace. At the same time he warned that "new terrible obstacles," especially in Vietnam, arise to complicate that question.

"The world," he said, "feels a great temptation to relegate peace among other utopias as a great idea, worthy of being included among the finest energies motivating history but fated always to remain fallacious."

NO PREDICTION

At the LBJ Ranch in Texas President Johnson spoke of his hope "that we can make advances toward peace" but said he could not predict peace for the new year. In an exchange of New Year greetings, the President and Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato pledged to work for peace in 1968.

From Hanoi came a radio broadcast for Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh that experts said might possibly represent an easing of North Vietnamese terms for peace talks. The U.S. State Department said the statement was under study.

★ ★ ★

In the South, a Vietcong guerrilla attack killed 26 American infantrymen and wounded 111 about 50 miles northeast of Saigon. A U.S. spokesman said the attack before the end of the cease-fire made that lull the "bloodiest of all" such truce attempts during the war.

President Johnson also announced at his New Year's Day news conference five new actions in the battle to reduce a mounting gap in the U.S. balance of payments.

TOURISM EXPENDITURES

Among them, he appealed to Americans to see the Americas first—and second—and save $500 million in tourism expenditures by limiting their travel to the Western Hemisphere for two years.

Most Americans, however, were less concerned Monday with the future of the U.S. balance of payments than the fate of their favorite football team.

It was a day of record cold, snow and freezing rain around the country, a good day for staying indoors, catching college gridiron heroes on television and eating snacks instead of sit-down dinners.

From the leisure of a living room chair, the Cotton Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Rose Bowl and Orange Bowl could be enjoyed from early afternoon into the evening.

The games were preceded by the traditional pageants and parades including the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena, Calif., where more than 270,000 persons jammed each mile of the 5.5-mile parade route.

As the holiday weekend came to a close the National Safety Council credited both the bad weather and good driving for a death toll below advance estimates.

★ ★ ★

The total reached 355 in the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday. Earlier the council had predicted that 460 to 540 persons would die in traffic accidents.

A new snowstorm belted the northern Rockies and freezing rain caused hazardous driving conditions in parts of Arkansas Louisiana and Mississippi.

Below - zero temperatures throughout most of the Midwest may have kept some drivers at home. The cold weather was spreading eastward.

It was below zero in Clarksburg, Mass. The wind was blowing and snow falling but six Berkshire County residents carried out a plan to camp out overnight to greet the new year.

Their celebration included hot dogs and champagne. The six, who had camped out together last summer, set up their tents, portable gas stoves and portable record players in Clarksburg State Park.

"It was kind of chilly, but we enjoyed it," said Mrs. James McClelland Monday. "We'd been planning it for a long time and so we did it."

Pilot Buzzes, Shoots at Homes

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP) — Police are looking for a pilot who they say buzzed two blocks in a residential area and fired three shots at houses. Nobody was hit.

Residents reported hearing three shots Monday and seeing a yellow light plane. Officers said two roofs were hit, apparently by 38-caliber bullets.

The party, complete with noisemakers, paper hats, candelabra, food, drink and tape-recorded music, was held by eight commuters who sit together throughout the year on the 35-minute trip from Bainbridge Island.

Greeks Ban Americans on 'Atlantis'

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP) — Americans who helped discover an ancient island city they think may be part of the legendary lost continent of Atlantis are banned from further excavation there, the leader of the American group says.

Members of a Greek-American expedition reported last July that the city, found under volcanic ash on the island of Thera in the Aegean Sea southeast of Greece, may have been the inspiration for the Atlantis legend in the writings of the philosopher Plato.

Dr. James W. Mavor Jr. of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute said Monday Greek authorities issued the ban shortly after he publicized the findings. He said the ban was not disclosed earlier because the American group "had been trying to smooth it over."

He said "a trivial incident" that involved "personality and professional jealousy" apparently led to the ban, although the nationalistic spirit of the new military regime in Greece also may have played a part.

Mavor said accounts of the findings "emphasized the Americans and neglected" Prof. Spyridon Marinatos of the University of Athens, director of the Greek Archeologist Service, who supervised the excavating.

Mavor said this apparently angered Marinatos, who "summarily cut off our future participation in the excavation."

Greek archeologists later refused an American foundation's offer and technical and substantial financial assistance, he said. He declined to name the foundation.

TOUCHDOWN AHEAD — All-America halfback, O. J. Simpson (32) of Southern California threads his way through the Indiana defense (left) and dives into the end zone (right) for six points against the Hoosiers in the Rose Bowl yesterday. Simpson scored twice in sparking the Trojans' 14-3 victory.

'O. J.' Rose Bowl Nightmare for Indiana Hoosiers, 14-3

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Southern California's O. J. Simpson achieved his dream of playing in the Rose Bowl and turned it into a nightmare for the Hoosiers of Indiana.

The All-America halfback scored both touchdowns as the Trojans captured the 54th annual classic 14-3 and cemented their hold on the national collegiate football championship.

Simpson gained 128 yards net in 25 carries as the speedy workhorse of the Trojan attack.

"Southern California, with Simpson, is the national champion," declared Coach John Pont of Indiana. "You could give Simpson to some of the other teams we played and then they'd be the best."

O. J. turns his athletic talents to the running track on Friday night in an indoor meet in his San Francisco hometown but declared he plans to return to football and won't try for the U.S. Olympic team.

"He'll get better," was the pronouncement from USC Coach John McKay, who termed himself well pleased with his club's performance against the Big Ten representatives.

Southern California scored on their first series of plays, driving 84 yards in 13 plays as Simpson gained 38 in six carries, including the final two.

A fumble cost USC another first-half touchdown as Dan Scott lost the ball in the end zone. In the third period, Simpson gained 28 yards in four carries on a 45-yard touchdown advance. He burst the final eight as Ron Yary and Dennis Borne opened the hole for him.

Indiana's only points came on a 27 yard second-quarter field goal by Dave Kornowa.

McKay revealed the strategy for keeping Indiana from keying too much on Simpson, the 200-pound junior who runs the 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds.

"We started passing on first down to get the linebackers out of there and give the ball to Scott more than usual," the coach said. Scott contributed 85 yards in 18 carries as Simpson would swing wide as a decoy.

The Trojan coach also termed the defensive effort one of the best for this season as the winners contained quarterback Harry Gonso and halfback John Eisenbarger much of the afternoon.

MISS CHANCES

Pont added, "We feel bad that we missed a couple of scoring opportunities and spent most of the rest of the game in bad field position. You just don't drive 75 or 80 yards for a touchdown against a team like Southern Cal."

★ ★ ★

Indiana had its forward wall stunting, but Simpson declared, "Our linemen picked those stunts right up."

McKay explained a frequency of penalties and apparent mistakes when he pointed out the club was minus five regulars including the two starting guards —one out on a knee injury and the other ineligible.

"I thought our team played real well and I was tickled with the 14-3 score," the coach assserted. "But I knew as I walked off the field that most people wouldn't be."

Simpson also was tickled. He said before the 1967 season started that his dream was to play in the Rose Bowl. On this New Year's Day, his family was among the 102,946 who watched him win honors as the game's outstanding performer.

'Bama Falls to Texas A&M

Pupil Turns Tables on Teacher

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "The big plays won for us again," said Coach Gene Stallings of Texas A&M as he reviewed his team's 20-16 triumph over Alabama in the Cotton Bowl Monday.

Yes, big plays and Alabama mistakes —the kind of mistakes that led Paul "Bear" Bryant, coach of Alabama, to contend long ago that the defense can outscore the offense.

★ ★ ★

Trouble was that the pupil was beating the teacher with his own philosophy —Alabama was making the mistakes and the Aggie defense was cashing in on them.

Bryant, who coached Stallings at Texas A&M, then took the young man with him to Alabama as his assistant, lamented over his team's mistakes, but not too long.

Rather, he spent his time telling Stallings how proud he was that he could bring Texas A&M out of a four-game losing streak to the Southwest Conference championship, then victory in the Cotton Bowl to run his winning string to seven.

Bryant came across the field and carried Stallings around like a football team often does a winning coach. Stallings couldn't help himself — the Bear outweighs him by about 75 pounds.

"He sure is strong isn't he?" mused Stallings when Bryant finally let him down.

Alabama lost two fumbles, had three passes intercepted and got short kicking to set up Aggie scores.

The Aggies, on the other hand were outgained both on the ground and in the air but offset that by using the breaks.

It was a familiar pattern — the Aggies played like that in the glittering stretch drive that became the greatest comeback in Southwest Conference history.

Noting that the Aggies had intercepted 27 passes and recovered a dozen fumbles, Bryant said before the Cotton Bowl game that the main thing he feared was the A&M defense. His trepidation was justified.

There were many angles to the "family squabble" that broke out on the Cotton Bowl's soggy turf — it was called that because of the striking resemblance of the two teams, the almost father-son relationship of the two coaches and the fact that Stallings had recruited some players for Bryant at Alabama.

★ ★ ★

But Stallings, when he came to Texas A&M as head coach, brought Curley Hallman of Northport, Ala., which is near Tuscaloosa, the home of the University of Alabama.

Hallman intercepted two Alabama passes, one of them stopping the last effort of the Crimson Tide. The other set the Aggies up for a score but they couldn't take advantage of it.

Aggie quarterback Edd Hargett, named outstanding back of the game, passed for two touchdowns and his third down throw for 10 yards kept the third Aggie drive moving. However, the big man of this surge was Wendell Housley, who carried for 33 yards in two runs to get the winning touchdown.

Ken Stabler, the southpaw passing star of Alabama, didn't throw for any touchdowns but he kept the Aggies in a stew throughout with his dangerous flinging of the pigskin.

He ran for both Alabama touchdowns. But he had three passes intercepted and that contributed mightily to the Aggie cause.

Alabama scored first, driving 80 yards with Stabler making the last three.

A&M tied it up late in the first period after Tommy Maxwell intercepted a Stabler pass. Hargett pitched to Larry Stegent for 13 yards and the score.

REGAINED LEAD

Alabama took the lead opening the second period when Steve David kicked a 36-yard field goal.

The Aggies, however, went ahead 13-10; with only 21 seconds left in the half as Hargett passed seven yards to Maxwell.

A&M clinched the victory midway of the third period with a two-yard drive set up by a short Davis kick. It was Housley who crashed the Alabama line like a truck to get the touchdown that gave the Aggies a victory.

★ ★ ★

It squared things for a loss the other time they had appeared in the Cotton Bowl. That was 1942. Alabama won 29-21 then.

Alabama came back to drive 83 yards for a touchdown, made on Stabler's seven-yard run.

BEGINNING OF END — LSU's Glenn Smith (26) dives into the end zone for a two yard touchdown, the first after Wyoming took a 13-0 lead in the Sugar Bowl. Linebacker Jim House (46) tries to stop the TD, but LSU overcame the deficit and defeated the Cowboys, 20-13.

Beating Unbeatens Is Habit for LSU's Sugar Champions

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mowing down undefeated teams in bowl games is nothing new for Louisiana State's football team and its burly head coach, Charlie McClendon.

But no one expected an unheralded substitute halfback named Smith to be the star this time.

The Tigers' 20-13 comeback victory over unbeaten, untied Wyoming in Monday's Sugar Bowl made it the third time in six years that LSU has snapped winning streaks of their opponents in postseason classics.

★ ★ ★

LSU's triumph may have established McClendon as the prime candidate for the athletic director's post at his school. The LSU board of supervisors is slated to name a new athletic director early this year.

GIVES NEW LIFE

Hero of the Tiger victory on the soggy Sugar Bowl turf was sophomore second-string halfback Glenn Smith, who came off the bench late in the third period to breathe new life into LSU's faltering offense.

"Anybody could have done it," said Smith, who ran for 74 yards and caught a key pass for 39 yards. "I was just lucky it happened to be me." The 185-pound, 5-foot-11-, New Orleans native was voted the game's outstanding player.

Tennessee Victimized, 26-24

Oklahoma Wins Orange Bowl Squeaker

MIAMI (AP) — Oklahoma's quick-striking Sooners, a team built out of adversity, could claim the nation's No. 2 college football ranking today after a wild and dramatic 26-24 victory over Tennessee in the Orange Bowl.

But 34-year-old Coach Chuck Fairbanks, who took the helm at Oklahoma when Jim Mackenzie died suddenly during spring practice, was claiming nothing except heavenly protection.

★ ★ ★

"The Good Lord was looking after us," said Fairbanks, dripping wet after being dunked into a shower in the tumultuous dressing room of the Sooners.

Quarterback Bob Warmack stunned second-ranked Tennessee with a brilliant running and passing performance that moved No. 3 Oklahoma into a 19-0 halftime lead.

But the Big Eight champions had to hang on grimly against the resurging Volunteers in the second half. They got to Warmack for two interceptions that narrowed the margin to 19-14 in just two minutes, 10 seconds of the third period.

And the game was in doubt until Tennessee's soccer-style field goal kicker, Karl Kremser, narrowly missed from 43 yards out with 14 seconds left.

Running and passing for 188 yards, Warmack scored a touchdown on a seven-yard run, threw 20 yards to Eddie Hinton for another, and led a 74-yard drive ending with a one-yard scoring lunge by Steve Owens.

"That first half was my greatest of the season," Warmack said, "but that

UCLA, Houston 1-2 in Cage Poll

By the Associated Press

The old year tournaments and the new year Associated Press poll brought a revamping of college basketball's Top Ten and its unbeaten today except at the top where, year out, year in, UCLA and Houston remain 1-2.

The overpowering Bruins, 8-0, collected 36 first place votes and 369 points and the Cougars, 13-0, got the other No. 1 vote and 320 points as they strengthened their clique at the top with tournament victories.

★ ★ ★

The voting is done by sports writers and sportscasters throughout the country on a basis of 10 points for first place, nine for second, etc.

UCLA won its own Los Angeles Classic for the sixth straight time Saturday after routs over Minnesota, St. Louis and Wyoming for 42 consecutive triumphs. The Bruins topped Wyoming 104-75 in the title game. Houston, less impressive, bounced Bradley, Marqutte and then edged North Texas State 45-43 for the Rainbow Classic title in Honolulu.

Few changes are expected until the two powerhouses collide in Houston's Astrodome Jan. 20.

BOUNCED ABOUT

But behind them, the teams are bouncing about like a basketball as three new teams entered the Top Ten, all unbeaten, and three of last week's ranking clubs dropped from the undefeated list.

The newcomers are Oklahoma City, 8-0, ranked eighth after winning its own All-College Tournament by beating Brigham Young 91-88 Saturday; St. Bonaventure, 9-0, ranked ninth after whipping Baldwin-Wallace 81-69, and New Mexico, 10-0, which won its own Lobo Invitational Friday for the 10th spot.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through games of Sunday, Dec. 31, and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. UCLA (36)	8-0	369
2. Houston (1)	13-0	320
3. North Carolina	7-1	266
4. Vanderbilt	9-1	219
5. Kentucky	7-1	199
6. Tennessee	6-1	125
7. Utah	10-1	111
8. Oklahoma City	8-0	98
9. St. Bonaventure	9-0	49
10. New Mexico	10-0	30

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Army, Boston College, California, Cincinnati, Columbia, Cornell, Davidson, Drake, Duke, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, LSU, Louisville, Loyola of Chicago, Nebraska, New Mexico State, Ohio State, Princeton, Purdue, St. John's, Temple, Texas A&M, Toledo, Tulsa, Washington State, Western Kentucky.

Catholic Five Back in Action

City Parochial Quint Carries Streak

It's a new year, and for the Titans of Pontiac Catholic, there's new hope, hope that the trend they started in the old year will carry over into this one.

The Titans have won their last three games in a row and they'll try to make it four straight in Northwest Parochial League play when they entertain St. Francis de Sales tonight at Madison Junior High.

Other games on the Northwest schedule find St. Rita at Royal Oak St. Mary and Waterford Our Lady at Ferndale St. James.

Every game is important now for the Titans, who are still much in the running for honors in the league race.

★ ★ ★

Although they own a modest 3-2 mark in league competition, the Titans have improved since suffering those losses and they have enough games remaining to catch the pacesetters.

LEADER IDLE

Orchard Lake St. Mary, leading the league with a 5-0 record, is idle tonight and returns to action Friday at home with St. Rita providing the opposition. Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows (3-2) is also idle this evening and journeys to WOLL for a game Friday.

★ ★ ★

The Lakers of WOLL, after a 2-0 start, have now dropped four in a row, and they'll be meeting in St. James a squad that owns a three-game losing streak.

There are only a handful of games on the schedule this evening. All teams will return to action Friday.

Senior Bowl Squads After First Payday

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The two 27-man Senior Bowl squads get down to business today, literally, as they begin serious preparation for their first football payday.

The two squads, the best college football had to offer this year, meet Saturday — North against South—and when they're through the winners take home $1,000 each and the losers $750.

★ ★ ★

It's mostly fun, but an extra $250 perhaps makes it a little more serious than some all-star games.

The North squad worked out in a cold rain Monday while the South stayed indoors. The squads both practice at Mobile high schools.

Fifty of the 54 players invited to the Senior Bowl have played in other postseason games, many in other all-star games, others with their teams in various bowls. They represent 43 schools.

★ ★ ★

But for every player practicing, there's likely to be at least one person watching. Last year, for example, more than 60 professional scouts showed up to take a look at potential pro players.

The interest is obvious. More than 200 former Senior Bowl squad members were active in professional football this year and 30 of the 54 players from last year's Senior Bowl teams made pro teams their rookie year.

Titans Playing Host to Indiana in Non-Loop Tilt

Wolverines on Road; Big Ten Roughed Up in Holiday Activity

By the Associated Press

Indiana and Michigan attempt to regain some lost conference prestige tonight before the Big Ten turns to the opening round of its basketball campaign Saturday.

Indiana will be at Detroit and Michigan invades Houston in a final pair of preconference warmups. All ten teams will be in action Saturday with Iowa at Northwestern, Michigan at Wisconsin, Michigan State at Illinois, Minnesota at Indiana and Purdue at Ohio State.

★ ★ ★

The hectic holiday schedule saw Big Ten teams lose 17 of 26 games with lowly Illinois coming out with the best record in a Chicago Stadium round robin.

The Illini defeated Georgia Tech 65-54 and then socked Texas-El Paso 68-50 in a field which also included Loyola of Chicago, a 76-70 loser to the Texas team.

THIRD PLACE

Iowa defeated St. Louis 80-77 to finish third in the tough Los Angeles Classic while most of the other Big Ten teams had to settle for lesser finishes in their respective tournaments.

During December, Big Ten teams carved a 48-39 mark against non-conference foes.

★ ★ ★

Indiana and Michigan will try to add to that mark tonight, and if the Hoosiers manage to defeat Detroit, they'll go into the conference campaign with the best record against outside foes.

Indiana and Ohio State both have 6-2 marks followed by Wisconsin at 6-3. Northwestern, Purdue and Iowa all managed to stay above .500 with 5-4 records while Michigan and Michigan State split with 4-4 records.

★ ★ ★

Even with its fine showing at the Stadium, Illinois is only 4-5 on the season followed by Minnesota with a 3-7 record.

COWBOY ROMPS — University of Wyoming's Jim Kiick (21) speeds around Louisiana State's Tommy Youngblood (88) on his way to a touchdown in the first half of their Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans yesterday. Also in on the chase is David Jones (35). LSU came from behind to win, 20-13.

Wyoming Coach Lloyd Eaton, trying for his first victory in a major bowl game, agreed that Smith was the key man — but he attributed LSU's victory to team depth more than anything else.

"They could substitute freely at each position," he said. "We tired in the fourth quarter."

Wyoming built up a 13-0 halftime margin behind a rugged defense, the passing of quarterback Paul Toscano and the place kicking of Jerry DePoyster. LSU made only one first-half first down.

But then LSU again turned into its role of spoiler — just as it had snapped a 22-game winning streak by Arkansas in the 1966 Cotton Bowl and topped unbeaten Texas in the 1963 Cotton Bowl.

Smith's slashing off-tackle runs and the second-half passing of Nelson Stokley, LSU's often-injured quarterback, sent Wyoming's 14-game winning streak down the drain.

Smith scored once on a one-yard plunge and Stokley fired touchdown passes of eight and 14 yards to end Tommy Morel — the last coming with 4:22 left in the game, broke a 13-13 tie.

The proud Cowboys almost pulled it out in the last minute. A 54-yard Toscano to George Anderson pass set up Wyoming in scoring position but LSU dropped flanker Gene Huey on the five as he grabbed a Toscano pass at the end of the game.

"We never lost our poise," McClendon said. "Our people came up with the clutch plays to beat a great team, and it wasn't an accident."

THIN BENCH

Besides lack of bench strength, Eaton also blamed second-half mistakes for the loss. LSU intercepted four passes and recovered a fumble. One of the pass interceptions — by linebacker Benny Griffein — set up the winning touchdown.

"Wyoming has fine football players," McClendon said. "The LSU coaches know this, but the fans may not have realized it. Now they do."

Standing out for the Cowboys were Toscano, who completed 14 of 23 passes for 239 yards; halfback Jim Kiick, who scored the only Cowboy touchdown on a one-yard run and led rushers with 75 yards in 19 carries, and All-American DePoyster.

DePoyster booted field goals from 24 and 49 yards and set a Sugar Bowl record with his punting, averaging 49 yards on four kicks.

second half had to be the poorest."

MONSTER BACK

Tennessee's roving monster man, Jimmy Glover, picked off a flat pass from Warmack and raced 36 yards to score. Two minutes later, Jim Weatherford snatched another Warmack heave and returned it from the 31 to the Oklahoma 17. Tailback Charley Fulton scored from the five and it was a new ball game.

A 26-yard field goal by Kremser, son of a refugee from Communist Germany, narrowed that margin to two points, 19-17.

Then Oklahoma's Bob Stephenson intercepted a pass by quarterback Dewey Warren of Tennessee and raced 25 yards for the decisive touchdown. Warren scored from the three with 4:05 left.

A fourth-down gamble ordered by Fairbanks in Oklahoma territory with only inches to go failed and Tennessee moved down to the Sooner 26, where Kremer made his desperate try as a record crowd of 77,993 roared its excitement, to the bitter end.

"I almost blew it," Fairbanks said. "I thought it was the right think to do. It wasn't."

★ ★ ★

"Football is a game of emotions, with ups and downs," said Tennessee's disappointed coach, Doug Dickey. "In the first half, we just weren't ready to play and they simply out-executed us."

"But I'm proud of the way my boys came back. It was a helluva ball game with a great Oklahome team comparable to the best of the Southeastern Conference."

GRID PROTECTORS — Edd Hargett, Texas A & M quarterback, gets good blocking from teammate Carl Gough, who takes Alabama defensive end Sat Moss out of action to give Hargett time to set up a passing play in their Cotton Bowl game yesterday. Mike Ford (81) headed for Hargett, but another Aggie lineman kept him at bay. A & M surprised the Alabama squad, 20-16.

Alabama Spread Didn't Fool Aggies

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M Coach Gene Stallings, who learned his football from Paul Bryant, said Monday he didn't expect the "Bear" to dust off the old spread formation in A&M's 20-16 victory over Alabama in the Cotton Bowl.

But he said his team was ready for the surprise.

"I sure didn't expect Coach Bryant to use the spread formation on me, but to be on the safe side we practiced against it this week," Stallings said.

★ ★ ★

The end of the game saw Alabama's headmaster carrying the opposing coach, Stallings, down the field. Bryant gave Stallings a hug and a pat and ran off.

Stallings turned around and grinned and said, "He's a good strong scamp, isn't he?"

In the tunnel going to the dressing rooms, Bryant was asked why he had resorted to the spread in the last period.

"Well," Bryant said, "We were trying to win the game and figured that was the best way.

QUICK EXIT

Later, Bryant visited the A&M dressing room, which quieted when he walked in. Bryant went from player to player shaking hands. Then he started for the door and said: "Let me out of here, I've seen all the Aggies I want to see!"

The dressing room broke out in shouts and cheers.

Stallings said he never dreamed that while he was playing for Bryant that he some day would beat the old master.

"I was too busy fighting for my life," he said.

Quarterback Edd Hargett, who directed the Aggie attack, said Alabama "was a great ball club. Real quick."

Hargett grabbed safety Curley Hallman an Alabama native who intercepted two passes, and shouted, "This is the guy Alabama didn't want."

Hallman replied, "I don't want to go back now."

All-American linebacker Billy Hobbs said, "I've never played in a game in which two teams had as much respect for each other. Quarterback Kenny Stabler was the best faker I've ever seen.

★ ★ ★

"We just wanted this one real bad for the coach. We were ready for that spread."

Stallings said he was so happy with the victory that "I'm not even going to grade the films. I may look at them later, though."

Orange Bowl Foes Dividing Rich Pot

MIAMI (AP) — The universities of Tennessee and Oklahoma will each receive close to $285,000 for the Orange Bowl game, according to Earnie Seiler, executive vice-president of the Orange Bowl Committee.

The payoff will be far in excess of the record $259,824.21 each given to Florida and Georgia Tech last year. When Oklahoma and Tennessee met in the Orange Bowl in 1939 and the decision went the other way, with Tennessee winning 17-0, the teams each got $25,000.

Under the contracts, the schools divide 75 per cent of the game receipts, television and program money.

In 34 years, not counting the 1968 edition, the Orange Bowl Committee has paid teams $7,559,211.19.

Delay Trials for Selecting Biathlon '6'

UPSON, Wis. (AP) — Three days of tryouts to pick a six-man U.S. Olympic biathlon team started Monday after a one-day delay because of lack of snow.

The biathlon, an old European event combining cross-country skiing and rifle shooting, became part of the Winter Olympics in 1950.

★ ★ ★

The top finishers Monday were: Bill Spencer, Salt Lake City, Utah, 36:15; John Ehrensbeck, Old Forge, N.Y., 37:24; John Isokangas, New York, N.Y., 37:42; Myron Gallagher, Flint, Mich., 37:46; Johanthon Chaffee, Lyme, N.H., 38:18, and Ralph Wakley, Salt Lake City, 38:42.

Twenty Americans are trying for the team and four Canadians have joined in the Trials.

Monday's tryouts were held on a 7.5-kilometer course, shooting at five targets at 150 meters. Each man had eight rounds of ammunition to hit the five targets.

Purses Higher for Auto Races

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—If anyone ever asks you the question "what makes Johnny run," or "why auto racing," the stock answer could be a simple word —"money."

Year end reports have been released by the nation's two major sanctioning bodies for professional drivers, the United States Auto Club and the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

★ ★ ★

They show these two organizations distributed $5,394,620 for 1,171 races during 1967, an increase of $500,679 in purse money over the previous year. Of the total, USAC sponsored 134 events with purses totaling $2,273,516. NASCAR sanctioned 1,027 events for Grand National, modified, sportsmen and drag cars with purses totaling $3,121,104.20.

Well over half of USAC's total —$1,536,965 — was paid in its exotic championship (Indianapolis cars) division, where 21 events were run. NASCAR paid $1,225,549 to its elite Grand National drivers, or an average of $25,011.22 for 49 races.

BIG JUMP

NASCAR prize money showed an increase of $198,013 over 1966, while USAC paid out $302,666 more. USAC drivers distributed $108,330 in championship point fund money at the end of the season, NASCAR $179,667.

USAC crowned A. J. Foyt as the champion in its big car division, Don White as winner of the stock car division, Mel Kenyon in midgets and Greg Weld in sprints.

In NASCAR, Richard Petty won the Grand National stock title, Pete Hamilton the sportsman championship, Carl Berghman the modified title, and Scott Cain the West Coast late model crown.

NASCAR has issued a tentative schedule of 46 Grand National events for 1968, with purse money set at a minimum of $1,409,500. The schedule gets under way with the Motor Trend 500 at Riverside, Calif., Jan. 21.

The 1968 season also will include at least 10 races with prize money in excess of $100,000 for NASCAR's new grand touring division for small sports sedans. More events will be added. The tentative schedule includes 250 milers at Charlotte, Darlington, Daytona Beach and Atlanta, with 150 milers at Rockingham and Bristol.

LONGER SLATE

USAC has extended its championship circuit schedule for 1968 to include 24 events and purse money in excess of $2 million. In addition, USAC will run 14 events for late model stocks, 15 for midgets and 32 for sprint cars. Total prize money should top $3 million.

The biggest purse in NASCAR will be paid at Daytona Beach for the 500 mile Grand National Feb. 25. Closed-circuit TV money will boost the payout to better than $200,000. The purse for the World 600 at Charlotte in June should top $150,000 for the first time. Charlotte also will pay more than $100,000 for its October 500, and Darlington has set a purse in excess of $100,000 for its Southern 500 on Labor Day.

DROPPING SIX POINTS — Indiana end Hal Gage (81) drops a bullet-like pass just inside the end zone that would have given the Hoosiers six points in their game against Southern Cal in the Rose Bowl yesterday. All-America linebacker Adrian Young isn't close enough to halt the pass. Tossing the pass was sophomore quarterback Harry Gonso.

Seot to Get '68 Started on Right Foot

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Jim Clark of Scotland has won a leg on the 1968 world driving championship and has a cherished record in his pocket.

Clark, driving a powerful Lotus Ford, won the South African Grand Prix Monday, first championship race of the 1968 Formula One series. And it was his 25th career victory in a Grand Prix, breaking his tie with Juan Manuel Fangio, the retired Argentine great, and putting him alone as the biggest winner of all time.

★ ★ ★

Clark took the lead in the second of the 80 laps around the Kyalami circuit and held it the rest of the way. He finished the 204 miles in one hour, 53 minutes, 56 seconds for an average speed of 107.42 miles per hour.

Graham Hill, Clark's British teammate on the Lotus Ford team, was second. He was followed in order by Joachen Rindt of Australia in a Repco Brabham, Chris Amon of New Zealand in a Ferrari, Dennis Hulme of New Zealand in a McLaren BRM and Jean-Pierre Beltoise of France in a Matra-Cosworth.

Only 10 of the starting field of 23 cars finished the race in the broiling, 93-degree temperature. A crowd of about 80,000 was on hand.

Flyer Hospitalized for Cheek Injury

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ed Van Impe, star defenseman for the Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League, entered Lankenau Hospital Monday for treatment of an injury suffered in a game last Thursday against Detroit.

A team spokesman said that Van Impe suffered a fractured left cheekbone in the game when he was struck by a puck. The swelling has worsened so that hospitalization was required, the spokesman said.

Doctors said they would operate on Vam Impe Wednesday. He is expected to be out of action for at least 10 days.

The Flyers said that a player would be recalled from their farm club, the Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League, before the game here with Boston on Thursday.

In the only other NBA game, the St. Louis Hawks overwhelmed the Seattle SuperSonics 115-94 on the West Coast.

Dallas beat New Jersey 122-104 in the only American Basketball Association game scheduled.

AFL Champs Await Packers

Raiders Lay Super Bowl Plans

By the Associated Press

The Oakland Raiders went to work on their Super Bowl preparations today but the emotionally-drained Green Bay Packers took another day off to regain their composure after their dramatic triumph over Dallas.

"I really couldn't celebrate New Year's," Packer tackle Ron Kostelnik said. "I was completely drained."

★ ★ ★

The Packers gained the National Football League championship for the third straight year Saturday with a breathless 21-17 victory over Dallas in -13 degree weather at Green Bay. Bart Starr struggling one yard for the winning touchdown with just 13 seconds remaining.

Oakland, playing at home, overwhelmed Houston 40-7 for the Raiders' first American Football League title. They'll play the Packers in the Super Bowl in Miami, Fla., Jan. 14.

RATED BEST

"The Packers are rated as the best," said Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who passed for two touchdowns and ran for another in the rout of Houston.

"And we hope, if we can beat them, that people will consider us the best.

"I feel we certainly can score on Green Bay. There's no doubt about that. The whole thing is a matter of execution and it goes both ways."

★ ★ ★

"If we get the execution, we can beat them," said running back Hewritt Dixon, who ripped Houston's defenses for 144 yards, including a 69-yard touchdown run.

"We've got a good chance against the Packers," said center Jim Otto. "We know how to play, we're younger than the Packers and we can hit with the best of them."

The Packers were much more subdued in their comments about their rivals.

"They're a good football team," said Zeke Bratkowski, the veteran backup man to Starr. "They've won 11 games in a row."

OPTION PASS

Their game against Houston was a laughter, the Raiders running up a 30-0 edge and coasting in. Lamonica hit on touchdown passes of 18 and 12 yards, the first after a fake field goal attempt, George Blanda kicked field goals of 37, 40, 42 and 36 yards, while Dixon and Pete Banaszak—116 yards—provided the ground game.

Green Bay built up a 14-0 lead on two Starr touchdown passes before Dallas rallied for 17 points, the go-ahead touchdown coming in the fourth quarter on a 50-yard option pass from Dan Reeves to Lance Rentzel.

"We just went to sleep on that one," Packer Coach Vince Lombardi said.

But Starr, who had been dumped eight times for 76 yards lost by the fierce Dallas rush, wasn't through. Playing against time, he took the Packers 78 yards in the winning drive, bulling the last yard himself behind the blocking of Jerry Kramer.

"What they did in the last two minutes—that's what the Packers are all about," Lombardi said.

Available for all to know now is the secret of Pontiac Northern's success in high school wrestling circles.

The secret? "We work," says coach Bill Willson with a slight chuckle, not implying that others do not, just that his kids have toiled long and hard to achieve their position among wrestling teams in the state.

Willson guided the team to the state title last year, and during the first few weeks of this campaign, they have been ranked among the top three teams in the state in a weekly rating guide. After winning the Oakland County tournament Friday for the second straight time — and fourth overall — the team is likely to occupy the No. 1 spot this week.

Wrestling has improved greatly—at high school level — in the past few years and Willson was talking about that improvement yesterday.

There's no substitute for hard work and Willson gives his team plenty of that. "We practice from 3:30 until 6 five days a week and 9 to 12 on Saturday, so we spend about 15 hours a week in practice.

EARLY TRAINING

"But much of the improvement has come at the junior high level. The kids have to be exposed to wrestling in junior high. By the time we get a wrestler, he knows what it's all about.

Another thing, Willson says, is that coaching and the kids are better.

And while success has come often for PNH and Willson — he was named Wrestling Coach of the Year last year in Michigan—he's no slave-driver.

"We tell a kid what we expect of him and what he can expect of us, but then we let him determine his own weight and where he'll wrestle.

★ ★ ★

"Oh, we hint or suggest a change sometimes, but the kids are smart. They come to the conclusion of where they belong.

MOVING DOWN

"For instance, Ken Corr (he won 180 pound title Friday in the county tournament) weighed 185 at the end of football season. After working out several weeks he got down to 170 and was wrestling in the 180-pound class.

★ ★ ★

"After awhile, he knew he lost a lot of weight and was too light to be a 180-pounder, so he told us and Al Morris (the team's 165-pounder) that he was moving down to the 165-pound class.

"Morris said okay, so he's moving down to the 154-pound division where he's better."

The Oakland County tournament held Thursday and Friday at Oakland University drew 32 teams. There were a few teams that have just undertaken a wrestling program. "After they have worked a couple of years with their wrestling programs, the wrestling tournament should really be something."

★ ★ ★

Last year, three champions at the county tournament went on to take state championships. Willson feels that this year's title crop will be well represented when the state battles open.

The task of making the tournament run smoothly for the 32 teams and 384 wrestlers fell to Chuck Skinner, coach at Hazel Park, who served as tourney director.

Another gentleman who always keeps activities moving smoothly is Oakland University's tireless athletic director, Hollie Lepley.

'Old Man' After Olympics Spot

O'Brien Seeking Fifth Trip to Games

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — At the "old" age of 36, Parry O'Brien will be aiming at a record fifth Olympics when he competes in the 5th annual San Francisco Examiner-All American Games Friday.

★ ★ ★

O'Brien is a four-time Olympic shot putter. He captured titles in the 1952 and 1956 games, placed second in 1960 and fourth in 1964. He pioneered the turn-around technique of shot putting which is in universal use today.

★ ★ ★

The Southern California weightman was first to smash the 60-foot barrier back in 1954 when he tossed the 16-pound ball 60 feet 5. He claims more 60-foot heaves than any other contestant in history despite the fact his 64 feet 7½ best is a far cry from the 71 feet 5½ world mark claimed by Randy Matson.

★ ★ ★

Another top competitor will be Otis Burrell now completing his studies at Nevada but who will represent the Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach in the high jump. He has won the last three AAU outdoor high jump titles and a 1967 NCAA gold medal. His best jump was 7 feet 2¼ in an indoors meet.

★ ★ ★

Another all-star member of the meet cast, Lee Evans, the San Jose State Junior, is entered in the 440 yard run. He holds a piece of three world records in the 800 meters, 880 yards and 1600 meter relays and claims the second fastest 400 meter relay split of 44.2. He is a two-time AAU outdoor champion.

Hat Trick Brings Triumph, Record for Dayton Six

Three players scored the three-goal hat trick as the Dayton Gems set a team scoring record in routing the Toledo Blades 15 - 1 in International Hockey League play in Dayton Sunday night.

★ ★ ★

In the other IHL games, Port Huron swept past Des Moines 5 - 2 and Fort Wayne dumped Muskegon 4-2.

★ ★ ★

Barry Merrell led the Dayton attack with four goals. Cliff Bristow and Garry MacMillan also came through with three goals each.

The Port Huron Flags led 4-0 going into the third period in beating Des Moines in Port Huron.

BOBBLE HALTS TROJANS — Southern California fullback Dan Scott (top 38), with a touchdown in sight, heads through a hole in the Indiana line but fumbles (center) as two Hoosiers jolt him. The ball rolls loose in the end zone (bottom) and Indiana halfback Nate Cunningham (22) covered the ball for a touchback to halt the USC scoring threat. Making the initial stop on Scott was tackle Doug Crusan (78). USC won, 14-3.

Packer QB More Daring

Starr: Don't Like to Gamble

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Every human being has his own personal hang-up and Bart Starr is no exception.

Some guys like Sugar Ray Robinson, for example, will walk up 20 flights of steps rather than get in an elevator. They don't like elevators. Other guys would rather ride three days on a train than a half hour on an airplane.

They don't like airplanes. And some guys, believe it or not, simply don't like to gamble.

Bart Starr happens to be one of them.

★ ★ ★

"If there is a noticeable shortcoming in my makeup as a quarterback," says Green Bay's field general, "it probably is my lack of desire to gamble. In recent years, however, I think I've become much more daring."

That's Starr's story. He's a superb quarterback but when it comes right down to gambling he's an arch conservative alongside a Johnny Unitas, a Fran Tarkenton of a Don Meredith.

Maybe he is that way because he is so much a product of Vince Lombardi, under whom he has blossomed into one of professional football's finest performers.

Lombardi will gamble now and then but not often enough for everybody to get up and make room when he wants to sit in for a hand. He believes primarily in straight football and that more than anything else is what he has based his coaching on since coming to Green Bay nine years ago.

What brings the whole thing up is the gamble Starr took with 13 seconds remaining in 13 below zero weather Sunday.

He was the one who gambled, not Lombardi. Had he lost, he and the rest of the Packers would have watched the Super Bowl game on TV. But he won and so did the Packers, 21-17.

THREE FAILURES

Starr had sent his big gun, Donny Anderson, into the unyielding Dallas line three straight times for those last two precious yards but the ball still was 15 inches short of the goal line following Anderson's third try and the Packers still trailed 17-14.

Twice during this time Starr had conferred with Lombardi on the sidelines but good as Lombardi is, he couldn't carry the ball over himself.

Now there were only 13 seconds left. Time for one more play, that's all. For the Packers, the whole season boiled down to this one final play. It was now entirely up to Bart Starr, the guy who doesn't like to gamble.

His first impluse was to call a "31 wedge." That's one of the Packers' standard plays in which Starr would hand off either to Anderson or Chuck Mercein.

But at the last instant Bart Starr had an inspiration. He would gamble and keep the ball himself. It was as it should be. If he failed to make those 15 inches, he would have to shoulder all the blame. And if he did make it, well, then, Happy New Year!

Bart Starr made it with a few inches to spare and he should invite big, jovial Jerry Kramer to his house for a steak dinner sometime because it was Kramer's brilliantly executed block of on charging Jethro Pugh which made the whole thing possible.

Gains Outnumber Losses

Stock Market Posts Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced early this afternoon as trading got under way for 1968.

The market was able to weather weakness in international airlines, some of the plane makers, gold mining stocks and selected drugs as it moved ahead on balance.

Gains outnumbered losses by better than 7 to 5 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .41 at 904.70.

Softness in some of the 30 blue chips represented in the average wiped out an early gain and effected the small net loss which was contrary to the general drift of the market.

Airlines which specialize in international tourist flights were shaken down badly by President Johnson's proposals for limiting American tourism abroad.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 323.4 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .8 and utilities up .7.

President Johnson's declared war on the widening gap in the balance of payments — and his determination to defend the U.S. gold supply — brought selling to gold mining shares. Homestake and Dome Mines lost 2 or more.

A LOFTY PURPOSE—At Mesa College in Grand Junction, Colo., they're doing something about the shortage of stilt-walking peach tree pruners. There's a course in the art now, and students like John Butler (front) and Max Cruz will get instruction for two weeks, work as trainees, then prune on their own.

Bitter Cold Numbs Midwest and East

By The Associated Press

Freezing rain, drizzle, snow or sleet slicked highways from the northern Rockies to Dixie today as the piercing cold that numbed the Midwest spread through the East.

★ ★ ★

Another blast of frigid air moved down into the north-central states. Subzero readings were widespread.

★ ★ ★

Hazardous driving warnings were in effect for an 11-state area from Wyoming to North Carolina.

New England ushered in the new year with bitter cold temperatures. Readings dropped to 20 below zero in parts of northern New England and to zero to 5 below in southern sections. A New Year's Eve snowstorm covered the region with an average of 4 inches of snow.

UPSTATE N.Y.

It was cold and clear in upstate New York. Early morning temperatures generally were well below zero. It was 28 below in Massena in the St. Lawrence Valley.

★ ★ ★

The middle and western sections of Tennessee and the Cumberland Plateau area of eastern Tennessee had rough driving conditions with an accumulated snowfall on top of frozen rain. Several counties and cities in the area—mostly in middle Tennessee—closed schools today and some industrial plants also shut down. Driving conditions throughout most of the state were treacherous.

★ ★ ★

Friendship International Airport near Baltimore, Md. had an early morning reading of 5 degrees. In Baltimore it was 16 degrees.

Biting cold weather settled over Minnesota and the Dakotas and overnight temperatures were expected to drop to —35 in the northern regions of North Dakota and Minnesota. The Weather Bureau said daytime highs probably would not edge above the zero mark in most of the region. There was a light snow cover in the area, but no travel problems were reported.

RASH OF FIRES

The usual rash of fires in the Dakotas and Minnesota broke out as the temperatures dropped into the minus 30s.

There were gusty winds in the eastern plains of New Mexico and a few snowfalls in the northern part of the state and showers in the south.

★ ★ ★

Temperatures dropped below freezing in most parts of Oregon during the night and near zero in the eastern section.

★ ★ ★

While the Arctic air masses numbed the Midwest, the East and the northern tier of states, the far Southwest and the Florida peninsula escaped the raw, wintery weather. In those sections it generally was fair and mild.

★ ★ ★

Early morning temperatures ranged from 28 below zero in Massens, N.Y., to 71 degrees in Key West, Fla.

★ ★ ★

Other reports: New York 11 clear, Boston 3 clear, Philadelphia 13 clear, Washington, D.C., 11 clear, Atlanta 39 rain, Miami 66 clear, Detroit 10 cloudy, Chicago 16 cloudy, St. Paul-Minneapolis —3 partly cloudy, St. Louis 19 cloudy, Kansas City 21 freezing drizzle, Dallas 42 cloudy, Denver 10 clear, Phoenix 37 clear, Los Angeles 56 cloudy, San Francisco 43 cloudy, Seattle 37 clear, Anchorage 31 cloudy, Honolulu 73 cloudy

Maine Couple Opens First-Aid Station for Birds

CAPE ELIZABETH, Maine (AP) — A Cape Elizabeth couple opened a first-aid station for oil-soaked seabirds at their home, but fear subzero temperatures will kill hundreds of weakened waterfowl along Maine's southern coast.

Helpless birds, oil-soaked and starving, have been reported along 40 miles of coastline from Portland to Cape Neddick. Officials have been unable to find the source of the oil.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jordan said Monday they have saved about 60 of the birds. Others, she said, were succumbing to cold, starvation and oil poisoning.

★ ★ ★

Volunteers and game wardens have been bringing the birds to the Jordan home since Friday. The Jordans raise wild birds as a hobby and are among the few Maine residents with the federal permits required to handle the birds.

Carpets Burned

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A million dollars worth of carpeting was destroyed Monday in a warehouse fire that investigators suspect was set by someone who ransacked files and desks before the blaze.

Robert Salame, co-owner of the Boston Rug Co., said about one million yards of carpeting was a total loss, most of it by water damage.

All fees or charges, if any, of said Bank or Trust Company shall be paid by such purchaser.

Said Notes will be special obligations of the Local Public Agency and will be secured by a requisition agreement between the Local Public Agency and the United States of America under the terms of which agreement the United States of America agrees to lend the Local Public Agency prior to the maturity of said Notes an amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest of all said Notes and agrees to cause so much of the proceeds of such loan as shall be sufficient to pay the principal of and interest upon any of said Notes to be deposited at the respective Bank or Trust Company at which said Notes are payable for the benefit of the holder or holders thereof. Under the proceedings authorizing said Notes, the proceeds of such loan payment will be irrevocably pledged first to the payment, at maturity, of the principal of and interest on said Notes.

The validity of the Notes and said requisition agreement shall be subject to approval by attorneys designated by the purchaser in the Proposal. Complete certified transcripts of proceedings, including organization transcript as required, evidencing the validity of the Notes and of said requisition agreement will be furnished such attorneys at least 5 days prior to the date of the Notes. The fees or charges of the attorneys shall be paid by the purchaser.

All proposals for the purchase of any of said Notes shall be submitted in a form approved by the Local Public Agency and shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Local Public Agency, which should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Preliminary Loan Notes." Copies of such form of proposal may be obtained from the Local Public Agency at the address indicated above. Proposals may be submitted subject to completion pursuant to telegraphic instructions or proposals may be submitted in their entirety by telegram. Telegraphic instructions or proposals must be received by the Local Public Agency at or before the time above specified for the opening of proposals. A telegraphic proposal should identify and be made pursuant to the Notice of Sale, identify the Notes, and specify the principal amount, interest rate, premium, denominations, name of said attorneys, and place of payment of the Notes covered by the proposal. In view of certain statutory and policy limitations, no award of the Notes will be made at an interest rate per annum which is not less than four and one-eighth per centum (4⅛%).

Proposals may be for all or any part of the Notes, and separate proposals will be required for each part of said Notes for which a separate interest rate is bid. The interest rate specified for each part of said Notes shall be a multiple of one-hundredth (1/100) of one per cent (1%). Said Notes will be awarded at the lowest interest rate or rates offered in the proposals, without reference to premium; provided, however, that, as among proposals specifying the same lowest interest rate, award will be made on the basis of the highest premium per dollar principal amount of Notes specified in such proposals. No bid for less than $50,000 principal amount of said Notes or for less than par and accrued interest (which interest shall be computed on a 360-day basis) will be entertained, and the Local Public Agency reserves the right to award to any bidder all or any part of the Notes which such bidder offers to purchase in his proposal or proposals on the basis of such proposal; provided, that if less than $50,000 principal amount of Notes is to be awarded to any bidder, such bidder will be relieved of the obligation to purchase such Notes upon written notice to the Local Public Agency within two days after notification of such proposed award. If only a part of the Notes bid for in a proposal are awarded by the Local Public Agency, the premium, if any, offered in such proposal shall be prorated, and said Notes will be issued in denominations in the order of the lowest denominations specified in such proposal; provided that one Note may be issued in a smaller denomination than is otherwise specified. The further right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.

Section 102(g) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1452), provides as follows: "Obligations, including interest thereon, issued by local public agencies for projects assisted pursuant to this title, and income derived by such agencies from such projects, shall be exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States." In the event that prior to the delivery of any of the Notes to the successful bidder therefor the income received by private holders from obligations of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law hereafter enacted, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase said Notes.

Defense Dept. Cites Success of Bias Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 150,000 housing units previously closed to Negro servicemen across the nation have been opened in the past six months, says the Pentagon.

★ ★ ★

The Defense Department said its program mixing persuasion with muscle in the form of sanctions achieved an increase since July of better than 24 per cent —from 646,700 to 802,200—in the number of apartment and trailer units now open on "an equal opportunity basis."

★ ★ ★

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara inaugurated a program last July in which landlords barring Negro service personnel were asked by the government to change that policy.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, McNamara said the Pentagon would place off-limits to all servicemen—except those already occupying such units—apartments and trailer courts refusing to let in Negro servicemen.

★ ★ ★

Thus far the sanctions have been applied in five areas—four in Maryland suburbs of Washington and one in a three-mile radius of the Pentagon, in Arlington County, Va., within a mile of the nation's capital.

3 on Plane Unhurt in Mississippi Crash

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — A chartered plane landing to pick up the University of Georgia basketball team crashed and burned Monday night while the team watched.

★ ★ ★

The three crew members aboard escaped without injury but the plane, a twin-engine Martin 404 owned by Southern Airways, was destroyed. There were no passengers in the craft.

★ ★ ★

"The boys that saw it said it looked like it landed on the front gear (wheels) and nosed into the runway," Georgia head coach Ken Rosemond said.

Birthday Shared

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Three-year-old Shannon Stark of Kalamazoo won't have any trouble remembering her new baby brother's birthday. It's the same as hers—New Year's Day. The boy, named John Patrick, arrived one hour and 17 minutes after the start of the new year. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Stark of Kalamazoo.

Wilson Reports Army Food Is Not What It Used to Be

By EARL WILSON

SAIGON, Vietnam—In World War II, it was reported that a very good meal happened to reach the soldiers one day, whereupon all the enlisted men asked what could have possibly happened.

The answer came back loud and strong: "Somebody shot the cook."

WILSON

Here in Vietnam now there has been a great reversal of the traditional inedibility of Army cooking. At Da Nang the other day I asked an officer why he wasn't eating, when I was feasting on the shrimp and baked beans and ham and potato salad at a buffet lunch.

"To tell the truth," he blushed, "I'm dieting.

"Sounds funny, I suppose, in Vietnam," he said, "but I have to watch my weight."

★ ★ ★

Up stepped a fellow journalist, Buck Lanier, of Long Beach, Calif., to make the pronouncement:

"This is the best-fed war in history."

Since war rations have never been gourmet quality, that may not be saying much. Yet, just to find fellows not griping about the chow appears to be precedent-setting. The helicoptering, the improved agriculture, the fact that here and there a chef is doing the cooking instead of an auto mechanic, may have resulted in the "unbelievably good" meals.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Pearl Bailey'll be named Entertainer of the Year by Cue magazine . . . Cary Grant flew to Miami Beach, spent New Year's Eve at the new Hilton Plaza . . . Walter Matthau'll get 300Gs for two weeks' work in "Candy" . . . David Merrick's talking to Columbia Pictures about a Broadway musical version of "Casino Royale"; it would star Ursula Andress.

Pretty soon cafe openings will be covered by fashion writers. Buddy Greco, premiering at the Royal Box, describes his costume as "a Mao Tse-tung jacket with flare back, white wool with white satin facings." (His singing's notable, too). And at the St. Regis—where former TV spieler Julia Meade debuted as a singer—her conductor Dick Leonard wore a turtleneck in the elegant Maisonette . . . 20th Century-Fox is rushing a sequel of "Valley of the Dolls," which is racking up big grosses.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Did you hear (asks Bob Orben) about the girl who wore a miniskirt out in the rain—and it shrank something wonderful?

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It pays to watch your calories. Even a million dollar figure can be ruined by inflation.—Shelby Friedman.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Marriages may be made in heaven, but man is responsible for the maintenance work."

EARL'S PEARLS: Pat Cooper says his parents have a happy marriage: "When my father takes out the garbage, my mother goes with him. That's love!"

Allan Sherman discarded the horn-rimmed glasses he's worn for years: "I wanted a new image, so people would no longer refer to me as 'the fat little guy with the glasses.' So now they say, 'the fat little guy wtih the contact lenses.'" That's earl, brother.

A Look at TV

Icy Grid Tilt Ridiculous

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Random thoughts after a New Year weekend of football watching on television:

All that fancy talk about how scientific professional football has become was turned into a farce when the Green Bay-Dallas championship game was played on a below-zero, icy Wisconsin field on which the performances looked like slapstick comedy.

For such a popular, multi-million-dollar sport to put such effort into self-development, refinement of strategy and a round - the - year promotion — and then to allow the championship game to be played under disgraceful conditions for a showdown — is embarrassing for fans, athletes and owners.

It looked like an ice ballet for elephants.

★ ★ ★

The argument that hometown fans should have the right to see their players in person in a championship contest is a weak one.

SINCE WHEN

Since when has pro football, which has been so completely dominated by television and its audience, suddenly become so concerned about anything but its own betterment?

The fact is that National Football League games are blacked out in home towns anyway, and more residents of an area have a chance to see them — via television — if they are played away, ideally in a neutral city which generally has favorable weather.

The constant pounding of commercials during pro and college games is enough to sour one on the whole atmosphere of the contests themselves.

I turned off several of the bowl games Monday for a while because the tastelessness of some of the commercials was just too much.

★ ★ ★

Nothing, perhaps, is as offensive as the deodorant ad about fellows who take the stuff with them and are moronically reprimanded about leaving their families "defenseless."

Birthday Gift 10 Years Late

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Christine Ehman's gift for her sixth birthday is arriving 10 years late.

A secretary for Judge Samuel Strauss of Allegheny Court found an envelope addressed to Christine in a law book while researching a point of law.

★ ★ ★

The envelope, with a birthday card and $1 enclosed, apparently was inadvertently used as a bookmark.

Strauss added a two-cent stamp to the three-cent stamp on the envelope and mailed it to Christine, who is now 16.

2 Doctors Face Fine for Refusing to Help Police

NORTH SCITUATE, R.I. (AP) — A North Scituate couple, both physicians, have been charged under a little-known state law for refusing to aid state police in treatment of a woman who suffered a fatal heart attack on New Year's Eve.

★ ★ ★

State police said they telephoned Dr. James K. C. Wang, and his wife, Dr. Sui-yen Wang, at their home Sunday night after Mrs. Bessie Lindinfeld, 51, of Foster, was brought unconscious by her husband into the state police barracks at North Cituate.

★ ★ ★

The Wangs refused to come, state police said. Mrs. Lindinfeld died 15 minutes later.

★ ★ ★

A state law authorizes "town sergeants and constables" to "command all necessary aid and assistance" in execution of their duties. The penalty is a fine of up to $20.

Undercover Police Officer Traps Florida Drug Ring

HIALEAH, Fla. (AP) — A detective who set up housekeeping with two policewomen and posed as a junkie for three months survived three mistakes to help seize 600 pounds of marijuana and spring a trap on seven men charged with delivering the drug.

Tony Martin, 26, said he assumed the name of a West Coast narcotics pusher who had died. The officer rented a home, pretending the policewomen were his family.

GAINED CONFIDENCE

With the assistance of Sgt. Charles Murphy, 56, Martin worked into the confidence of those offering illegal drugs for sale.

★ ★ ★

The 600 pounds received for a promised $51,000—never delivered—was worth over $500,000 for resale, according to Police Chief David I. Maynard.

Martin was successful even though he once called Murphy "Sgt. Murphy" in the presence of two pushers, even though an acquaintance greeted him by name before others and even though his picture ran on the front page of a local newspaper during the undercover job.

LONG CHANCES

"We took some real long chances, but we had a lot of luck and it ended up the right way," he said.

"We started off with the little man, buying a matchbox (of marijuana), then moved up to the man with a pound," said Murphy.

★ ★ ★

Sunday a panel truck backed up to the rented home with 600 of 1,000 pounds Martin ordered and police closed in. Four men in the truck were seized and three men in a car that followed the truck were captured after a running gunfight. All were charged with possessing and transporting marijuana.

Murphy said the rest of the shipment probably was en route from Mexico.

Police identified the truck driver as Fernando Ernesto Lopez, 32, who said he was from Tampa, Fla. The others on the truck were identified as Hugo dos Santos, 28, who gave the address of a Miami Beach hotel, and Aleodoro Rodriguez Carrado, 45, and Damaso Garcia, 34, both of New York City.

The three men in the automobile were identified as Nestor Gonzalez, 33, and Ramon Betancourt, both of North Miami, and Luis Agustin Montalvo, 56, of New York.

Premier Quits in Cambodia

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Cambodia's Premier Son Sann and his interim cabinet resigned Monday after the National Assembly voted their term had expired, Radio Thailand reported.

★ ★ ★

Radio Thailand's monitoring service said Son Sann and his cabinet originally had been given three months to rule the country after their take-over from the previous administration.

★ ★ ★

However, after the deadline, Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, intervened and refused to approve the resignation, saying no one was ready to take over the premiership.

Parade Spectators Improvise on Seats

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Some of the hundreds of thousands who watched the Tournament of Roses parade paid up to $8 for a grandstand seat. Others improvised.

★ ★ ★

Among the do-it-yourself seating: Dining room chairs, bar stools, ladders, sawhorses, a church pew.

★ ★ ★

One man provided his family with box seats—four folding chairs under a huge cardboard carton.

Aralac, an artificial cloth, is made from the casein in skim milk. It is used as a substitute for wool and has almost the same warmth and softness.

Train-Crash Fires, Fumes Wrack Town

From Our News Wires

DUNREITH, Ind. — Fire triggered by the collision of two freight trains and fed by gasoline, crude oil and ammonia, today burned out of control. The 236 residents of Dunreith already had been forced to flee their homes in near zero-degree cold.

Dangers of additional explosions and deadly chemical fumes left firemen helpless against the holocaust which apparently had burned nearly half of the town.

Three firemen and a policeman suffered minor injuries.

Officials ordered firefighters and police out of the town when there was danger that two 12,000-gallon ammonia tanks would rupture in an atmosphere already heavy with flammable and toxic chemicals.

★ ★ ★

The Butterfield Canning Co. plant and a service station were destroyed by flames, which also spread to several houses. Some were empty migrant worker dwellings, officials said.

SPECTACULAR COLLISION

The collision of eastbound and westbound Pennsylvania Railroad trains last night set off the blaze and explosions. It was spectacular but caused no loss of life.

W. R. Sheets of Zionsville, brakeman of the westbound train, said he believed a rail broke under the 75th car of the 98-car train. Flames broke out almost immediately, he said.

Despite heat from the burning wreckage, crewmen were able to separate the front portion of the westbound train and move it out of town.

★ ★ ★

Officials awaited the arrival today of Air Force foam trucks designed to combat chemical and petroleum fires, and gas masks.

Authorities said until the fire was put out, there was no way of getting humans through the toxic smoke to ascertain damage.

Observers on the scene said that when the wind shifted slightly four badly damaged houses could be seen.

Patrols of state police sent north from Dunreith to alert rural families of the smoke and chemical danger drifting their way found empty houses. Antilooter patrols were established. At least one state trooper was overcome by the fumes.

Traffic was rerouted from busy U.S. 40 which parallels the Pennsylvania main line through Dunreith.

SEEN 40 MILES AWAY

The explosion and ball of flame that erupted at the height of the holocaust lighted a milewide area "like daylight" and could be seen or felt as far as Indianapolis, 40 miles to the west.

State police Sgt. James Klieman said there were several railroad tank cars loaded with chemicals that were in danger of exploding at any time. He said one car carried extremely lethal acetone cyananhydrin.

FIERY DERAILMENT — Chemical explosions and fires were set off in several cars of a derailed Pennsylvania Railroad freight train near Dunreith, Ind., last night, forcing evacuation of the eastern Indiana community of 236. Special chemical fire-fighting equipment was used to put out the blazes that burned through the night.

City Man Arrested in Hit-Run Death

A Pontiac man was arrested yesterday on charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an injury accident in the hit-and-run death of a Highland Township girl early in the day.

Arrested was Gary Gillespie, 22, of 350 Third, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

He was taken into custody about 4 p.m. by Deputy Frederick Fleming, who spotted the suspect in his car, which answered a police description, at North Telegraph and Walton.

Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives, said the description was developed from physical evidence found at the scene of the mishap, in which 17-year-old Sherry Ann Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lane E. Knight of 203 S. Center, was killed.

She and her escort, Alan Lengeman, 17, were run down from behind about 2:45 a.m. while walking on the shoulder of Milford Road near Highland in Highland Township.

BOY IN FAIR CONDITION

Lengeman, son of Mrs. Janet H. Lengeman of 3727 Gulfwood, is reported in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital

Deputies said the couple was apparently walking to the Knight home from Lengeman's stalled car when they were struck.

A motorist found Miss Knight and Lengeman lying in the road. The passerby told investigators he was pursuing a car which had bumped his vehicle shortly before the fatal accident.

★ ★ ★

Deputies said they believe the same car was involved in both incidents.

The car in which Gillespie was arrested had damage in the right front area, including the headlight, fender and windshield, according to Hazen.

Deputies said Gillespie probably will be arraigned in Waterford Township Jusice Court today.

Social Security Series

Starting today, The Pontiac Press is presenting a 15-part illustrated series explaining the wide - ranging changes in the Social Security program.

The series is written by Bruce Biossat, the Newspaper Enterprise Association's Washington correspondent, who has been following the progress of the legislation through Congress.

Part 1, on Page B-4, explains the size and scope of the program.

U.S. Traffic Toll Is a Low 355

By the Associated Press

The New Year holiday weekend death toll was below advance estimates and a National Safety Council spokesman today gave credit for the improvement to bad weather and good driving.

★ ★ ★

The total reached 355 in a count that began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight yesterday. The safety council predicted earlier that 460 to 540 persons would die in traffic accidents over the 78-hour period.

"There is nothing immutable about the death rate," a spokesman said. "We don't have to just accept it."

"The major reason we believe is that the behavior of drivers must have changed," the spokesman said. "How it changed, we don't know."

★ ★ ★

"Weather certainly was a consideration, too," he said. Record-breaking cold and heavy snow in some sections apparently kept some persons at home.

During the final hours of the weekend a car-truck crash in Chicago claimed four lives and injured five others.

Earlier, three persons were killed and eight injured when a station wagon carrying members of a Dallas, Tex., family and another auto collided northeast of El Dorado, Kan.

The death total was below that of a nonholiday period of equal length.

★ ★ ★

For a comparison, The Associated Press counted traffic deaths for the period from 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 15, to midnight Monday, Dec. 18. There were 484 deaths.

The traffic death toll during the last three-day New Year holiday was 469.

The highest toll for any New Year period was 564, compiled during a three-day celebration at the start of 1966.

Yemeni Attacking

SAN'A, Yemen (AP) — Eight thousand Yemeni Republican troops, backed by the Yemeni air force, were reported today to have struck at Royalist forces entrenched 40 miles southwest of San'a along the road to Yemen's second largest city, Tai'zz.

Brain Hemorrhage Kills Donor

3rd Heart Swap Successful

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Christian N. Barnard and a team of surgeons performed another successful heart transplant today, replacing the damaged heart of a 58-year-old Cape Town dentist with that of a man who collapsed and died from a brain hemorrhage.

★ ★ ★

Groote Schuur Hospital announced the transplant took more than five hours and termed it successful. They said the patient's condition was satisfactory.

Barnard performed the world's first human heart transplant Dec. 3 on Louis Washkansky, 53, who lived 18 days with the new heart before dying of pneumonia.

The hospital said Dr. Philip Blaiberg, a man "desperately ill" with a damaged heart, received the heart of Clive Haupt, 24, who collapsed on a nearby beach and died in the hospital.

Haupt was a mulatto — a man of mixed race — but this apparently posed no problems for Barnard in racially segregated South Africa. Finding a donor for Blaiberg was difficult because of his rare B-positive blood type.

5-HOUR OPERATION

The hospital said the operation began at 11 a.m. and was completed about 4 p.m. The historic transplant in which Washkansky received the healthy heart of a 25-year-old woman who died in a traffic accident also took five hours.

Blaiberg has been waiting three weeks for the operation and did not reconsider when Washkansky died.

Haupt was on Fish Hoek Beach yesterday with his wife of three months when he collapsed with a brain hemorrhage. When he was taken to a hospital and his blood typed, Groote Schuur Hospital was notified.

★ ★ ★

Barnard's surgical team spent several hours studying the transplant possibilities before proceeding.

SECOND TRANSPLANT

A few days after Washkansky's historic transplant, a team of surgeons in Brooklyn, N. Y., made the second heart transplant, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz used the heart of a dead infant to replace that of a dying infant, but the baby lived just 6½ hours.

Blaiberg is married and has a daughter, Jill, 19, who is in Israel. In Haifa, she went into seclusion on learning her father was undergoing history's third human heart transplant.

Blaiberg suffered his first coronary 14 years ago but his wife, Eileen, said his heart "completely gave out" about nine months ago.

★ ★ ★

Deterioration of Blaiberg's condition in the last few days was understood to have sped the return of Barnard from a tour of the United States.

WHITE-NEGRO

Barnard said during his tour in the United States that his team had transplanted kidneys between white "Europeans" and "Bantus," or Negroid South African natives; and that they had done this for a number of years.

★ ★ ★

Among cases he cited were a Bantu kidney given a European man and a kidney from a European given a Bantu child. He said such transplants presented no biological problem. He did not get into the politics of the matter.

★ ★ ★

After Washkansky died, Barnard had visited Blaiberg and asked whether he still wanted a transplant. "He said he was quite confident it would work one day," Barnard reported.

Deadline Today in Baby Contest

Deadline for the first-baby-of-the-year contest is 5 p.m. today. The first baby born in 1968 will receive a multitude of gifts.

★ ★ ★

Any baby born to married parents living north of 14 Mile Road in Oakland County after midnight Dec. 31 is eligible.

Entries must be made through the family doctor. They should be sent to the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, Riker Building.

The doctor's statement must include the exact time and date of birth, sex, weight, name of baby and the name and address of parents.

★ ★ ★

Gifts include a $25 savings bond, a $25 savings account, two cases of Carnation Milk, three pair of baby shoes, a diamond baby ring, a sweater, a bonnet, booties, and a silver cup.

BABY SCALES

Other gifts are baby scales, a baby blanket, a high chair, $5 gift certificate, $10 gift certificate, new tire, free car wash and polish, three dinners for two at area restaurants, slippers for mother, a ham, two cleaning certificates, two floral arrangements, and five gallons of milk.

GOP Strategists Propose Drive for Control of Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The odds are heavily against it, but there's a possibility Republicans could win control of the Senate in the 1968 elections.

Some party strategists argue this should become a priority GOP goal.

The Republicans need 15 additional seats to gain a Senate majority for the first time since 1954. But most forecasters expect them to capture far fewer than 15 new seats.

The National Committee for an Effective Congress, a liberal-minded, nonpartisan group, considers a GOP gain of six seats to be "a prudent estimate at this time."

★ ★ ★

But one GOP official contends the Republicans could take control if the party's top figures in contested states would become Senate candidates.

THE MATHEMATICS

Here are the mathematics of the situation:

- The terms of 34 senators expire next year. Twenty-three of them are Democrats, 11 Republicans.
- There are now 64 Democratic senators, 36 Republicans.

★ ★ ★

- Forty-one Democratic senators and 25 Republicans are serving terms which extend beyond the current 90th Congress.

This means the Democrats would need to capture only 10 of the seats contested in 1968 to hold clear control, while Republicans would have to perform the politically awesome task of winning 26.

A GOP victory of that magnitude is improbable. But one Republican professional contends the party could do it by putting some of its biggest names into Senate races next year.

For example, this party official said, the GOP would have to persuade such men as former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton to run for the Senate. Scranton has said he will not seek public office again. Washington - based Republicans believe he could capture the Senate seat now held by Democrat Joseph S. Clark.

★ ★ ★

OPPOSE MORSE

Oregon's Gov. Tom McCall could seek the post held by Sen. Wayne Morse, another Democrat, the official said, even though that might cost the GOP control of a state house.

N. Viet Reported Willing to Talk if Bombing Halts

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says the administration is carefully evaluating reports that North Vietnam might enter into peace discussions if the United States were unconditionally to stop bombing that country.

Johnson said yesterday at the LBJ Ranch that he was familiar with newspaper reports quoting North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh to that effect.

Hanoi Radio broadcast a statement yesterday saying North Vietnam "will talk" when the United States has "unconditionally stopped its bombing and all other acts of war" against the North.

"We are evaluating them," Johnson said of the reports.

★ ★ ★

Johnson spent considerable time talking about his program to curtail the U. S. dollar drain in 1968.

FOCUS ON BUDGET

The President focused his attention today on budget work and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He had until midnight tonight to sign the new Social Security law that would boost benefits and Social Security taxes.

On the passenger list today of the Washington-LBJ Ranch jet plane shuttle were the names of HEW Cecretary John Gardner, Budget Director Charles Schultze and presidential assistant Douglass Cater.

The Social Security measure will mean bigger benefit checks beginning in March for 24 million persons. The minimum retirement pay will go from $44 to $55 a month, the maximum from $142 to $160.50.

Cease-Fire Bloodiest Ever' in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. officials today called the allies' New Year cease-fire "the bloodiest of all" Vietnam war truce attempts after a Vietcong force of 2,500 men broke the stand-down and smashed into an American outpost, killing 23 infantrymen and wounding 153.

The guerrillas' 9th Division, augmented by North Vietnamese replacements, lost 348 men in its attack on the base camp near Black Virgin Mountain, about 62 miles northwest of Saigon and eight miles from the Cambodian border, U.S. officers said.

★ ★ ★

The Communist thrust, spokesmen said, gave the allies second thoughts about a 48-hour truce that has been accepted in principle for Tet, the Lunar New Year Jan. 30.

The regimental-sized Red attack force was pursued into the jungles of War Zone C. A half-dozen lesser engagements flared in the nearby jungles of Tay Ninh Province during the night.

BOMBING RESUMES

While American headquarters tried to assemble an accurate picture of the collapse of the cease-fire from field reports, U.S. warplanes resumed their bombing of North Vietnam with the end of the allied 36-hour truce at 6 a.m. Saigon time today.

Hanoi, meanwhile, accused the United States of raiding many "populated areas" during the truce. It did not elaborate on what constituted "raids", saying only that U.S. aircraft had "repeatedly intruded into the airspace" of several provinces. American headquarters acknowledged that it had reconnaissance planes in the air over the North, but said no attacks were launched.

★ ★ ★

On the basis of incomplete communiques, the truce-breaking ground-fighting, as vicious as that of normal operations, cost the allies 72 killed and 337 wounded—27 Americans and 45 South Vietnamese soldiers killed and 205 Americans and 132 South Vietnamese wounded.

This compared with 14 Americans and five South Vietnamese killed and 27 U.S. troops and seven South Vietnamese wounded during the 48-hour 1967 New Year's truce. The 1968 figures involved 168 shooting incidents, 10 fewer than last year.

COMMUNIST DEAD

Communist dead over the current cease-fire were put at 546.

Calculations were complicated because the Vietcong's announced three-day truce ended at 1 a.m., five hours before the allied stand-down.

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials said the fierce raid on the U.S. 25th Infantry Division camp in the jungles just above the old Michelin rubber plantation town of Dau Tieng came one hour and 20 minutes before the Red truce expired.

It began with a hail of Red mortars and Russian-model rockets and was quickly followed by Communist troopers streaming out of the jungle with submachine guns blazing.

Officers on the scene said the Red troopers were from the veteran 271st and 272nd Regiments —both units of the 9th Division which hit nearby Loc Ninh last October. At that time U.S. commanders claimed the units were eliminated as fighting forces.

The U.S. base camp was manned by parts of a battalion of the U.S. 25th Division plus three batteries of 105mm howitzers—a defending force of perhaps 500 men.

Within minutes of the initial Red assault, however, U.S. flareships were overhead to light the battlefield and slash the Red jump-off points with quick-firing miniguns. Fighter bomber pilots were scrambled from Bien Hoa Air base near Saigon and 28 jets successively raked the attacking Vietcong battalions.

★ ★ ★

High-flying B52 bombers also were called in to strike near the border at a suspected infiltration route about 10 miles above the battlefield.

★ ★ ★

While the Tay Ninh battle was by far the most spectacular during the truce period, other violations were reported up and down South Vietnam. They ranged from Red infanty assaults to the abduction of a Montagnard official in the central highlands.

REMOVING FALLEN COMRADES — Leathernecks from the 5th U.S. Marines carry bodies of fallen comrades to waiting evacuation helicopters through ankle-deep mud of a rice paddy near Hoi An, about 25 miles south of Da Nang. The Marines came under heavy Vietcong fire when they landed in the area by helicopter. Both sides took heavy casualties.

No Pursuit OK --Cambodian

Sihanouk Denial Still Seems Not Complete

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk said Monday that he was not giving U.S. forces permission, even tacitly, to enter Cambodia in pursuit of Communist forces. But he still seemed to leave the door ajar.

In a statement, the prince referred to what he had said last week, indicating that he would not immediately oppose U.S. "hot pursuit" if it was in sparsely inhabited areas of Cambodia.

★ ★ ★

The new statement said, "I will never let any foreigner occupy the least square meter of our territory without doing everything possible, and even impossible, to drive him out of our Cambodia."

"But in case of partial occupation of our territory, we must first use protests and political and diplomatic means to make the adversary withdraw. It is only after exhausting these peaceful means that we would go to war."

RADIO INTERVIEW

In a radio interview carried Monday by the French radio station Europe No. 1, Sihanouk said his government "would only protest against both sides" if U. S. and Vietcong forces were to clash in uninhabited regions of Cambodia from across the South Vietnamese frontier.

"We would not risk the lives of our troops in a fight which would be limited to Vietnamese infiltrated in Cambodia without our knowledge and Americans who would come to pull them out," he said in the interview.

★ ★ ★

But, he said, any deep U.S. penetration in Cambodia could lead to a "general conflict" and he would ask Red China, North Korea and Cuba to send volunteers "in case the military pressure became intolerable."

Proposal Is Revised on Boat, Trailer Storage

BIRMINGHAM — A revised amendment to the city code dealing with storage of house trailers, boats and boat trailers will be considered at the City Commission meeting tonight at 8.

Previously submitted to the commission Nov. 20, the proposal has been reworked to include provisions for exceptions.

As presently worded, the amendment would not affect parking and storage of vehicles which have not changed ownership after its passage, or which were stored prior to passage.

Also excepted from the amendment would be owners physically unable to comply with the ordinance due to size of lot, building location, or other factors.

★ ★ ★

The exceptions were made in lieu of establishment of an appeals procedure, which had been suggested by the commission.

NOT IN FRONT

Under the proposed ordinance, trailers and boats may not be stored at the front of a residential zone district, and may not be stored beside a house between the front and back of a district for more than 30 days.

The commission will also consider interim parking provisions during the construction of the new parking structure at Merrill and Pierce.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning has suggested notifying parkers with flyers attached to windshields during the week before closing the Lot 1, and encouraging parking in the Lot 5 structure on North Woodward and Lot 4 at Brownell and Forest.

★ ★ ★

Kenning also proposed changing the 12-hour limit on 25 meters in Lot 7, at Merrill and Henrietta, to two hours.

If these measures are not sufficient, Kenning said, parking restrictions on Pierce, Henrietta, Chester and Frank could be removed as needed.

GARDNER ACKLEY

LBJ Names Top Aide as Envoy to Italy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named Gardner Ackley—the administration's top economist and a man Johnson calls one of his "most trusted and closest friends"—to be the next U.S. ambassador to Italy.

The surprise New Year's Day nomination was made at a news conference at the LBJ Ranch in Texas during which the President also announced stringent government controls over private overseas investments and other measures aimed at slashing the U.S. balance of payments deficit by $3 billion this year.

The shaping of these actions are matters in which Ackley, as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers has been deeply involved.

The President cited Ackley's long interest in Italy—a country in which the 52-year-old economist once studied as a Fulbright scholar—as his reason for tapping him for the post.

30-YEAR VETERAN

In Rome, Ackley will replace Ambassador G. Frederick Reinhardt, a 30-year Foreign Service veteran, who has been ill recently.

Although Johnson did not name a candidate to succeed Ackley in the $30,000-a-year chairmanship, Washington speculation placed the name of Arthur M. Okun high on the list of possibilities.

Okun was named to the three-man council to fill the vacancy created when Ackley was promoted to the chairmanship in November, 1964.

President Kennedy appointed Ackley a council member in 1962. At the time he was chairman of the University of Michigan's economics department and director of the Social Science Research Council.

Ambassador Reinhardt, 56, has held his current post for the past six years and has been considered overdue for reassignment. Before his arrival in Italy he served succesively as U.S. ambassador to Vietnam and the United Arab Republic.

Fire Destroys Pontiac Home

A fire at a Pontiac home early this morning did an estimated $10,000 damage and took firemen nearly three hours to extinguish.

The blaze at 215 Ferry broke out sometime before 4 a.m., when a night watchman several blocks away saw flames breaking through the roof of the one-story frame dwelling and called the fire department, fire officials said.

Fire Marshal Charles Metz said damage to the building, whose occupants were out of town on vacation, was total.

It was not possible to determine the value of contents destroyed, he said.

★ ★ ★

Four vehicles, under the command of Assistant Chief Lee Nye responded to the alarm and were at the scene until about 7 a.m.

Metz, who said his office will continue its investigation of the fire today, tentatively blamed the blaze on an oil-fired space heater.

Last Month of Year Was Wet and Chilly

Pontiac area residents received a variety of weather conditions in December including a white Christmas.

There were a few snow flurries during the month with one-half inch of Dec. 24. On Christmas Day, the weatherman dropped three inches of fresh snow.

Snow shovels had a workout again on Dec. 31 when another two inches of snow arrived bringing the total accumulation for the month to six inches.

Sixteen inches of snow and 1.30 inches of rain were recorded last December.

There were nine sunny and two partly sunny days during the month. Six days were sunny and partly sunny a year ago.

Much of the month was dark and dreary. Heavy rains fell on Oakland County in the early hours of Dec. 21 causing flooding conditions, and mud on dirt and gravel roads. An estimated one inch of rain fell during the day.

TORNADO WATCH

A tornado watch was issued the night of Dec. 21 but no twister was sighted.

The rain changed to snow flurries as winter arrived Dec. 22 with temperatures falling 40 degrees to a bone-chilling 17.

Rain or drizzle with fog and a little sleet ruled for 13 days. Total rainfall was 2.90 inches. Last year's recording was 1.30 inches.

Normal precipitation for December is 2.60 inches.

★ ★ ★

Ten inches of light snow is equal to one inch of rain.

Temperatures were mild during most of the month. The mercury rose to 60 on Dec. 21 then plunged to five below zero in the early hours of Dec. 31.

LBJ Takes Aim on Dollar Drain

Imposes Controls on Investments Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's declared war on the widening gap in the balance of payments would press every American into the defense of the dollar if Congress goes along.

President Johnson pegged higher taxes as the keystone of a New Year's program he described as "firm and decisive." It incorporates the first mandatory controls in history on American investment abroad and an appeal to Americans to travel only in this hemisphere if possible.

★ ★ ★

The investment controls were imposed under existing law.

Government officials held out possibility of further restrictions such as a tax on Americans going overseas or limits on the amount of money they may take with them. Officials said this must be worked out with Congress.

'DAMAGING TO NATION'

Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the Treasury, said Americans should realize that travel abroad is damaging to the country.

The entire program is designed to slash the dollar drain by $13 billion. It includes an effort to cut government spending abroad by $500 million this year and an expansion of exports to increase the trade surplus by at least that much.

★ ★ ★

In outlining the program Monday at a Johnson City, Tex., news conference, the President revealed the dollar drain this year would reach $3.5 billion to $4 billion—highest in seven years.

Johnson also listed higher Vietnam war costs, more U.S. spending on foreign travel, bigger investments abroad and a smaller gain than expected in the trade surplus.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary reaction to the plan from Congress seemed cheery with Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., of the Senate-House Economic Committee, calling it "exactly the kind of decisive and comprehensive action the situation called for."

Woodward Due for Road Repairs

The State Highway Department has assigned a survey to gather data for the resurfacing and repair of 1.7 miles of Woodward from South Boulevard in Pontiac to Square Lake Road in Bloomfield Township.

The survey is expected to be completed in April. No date has been set for taking bids on the project.

U.S. Heads for War With China---Morse

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Monday night the United States is headed for a war with Red China which cannot be won with either conventional or nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

"We can knock out her bases and destroy her cities and kill millions of people. But if she comes into the war, she comes in with her horrors on the ground, and we'll have to meet her on the ground with American troops," Morse said.

Morse, an outspoken foe of President Johnson's Vietnam policies commented in a taped interview on the "Lou Gordon Hot Seat," syndicated by Kaiser Broadcasting and originating in Detroit on WKBD-TV. Morse was reported resting at home Monday night after being stricken with influenza in Washington last week.

America cannot control the world militarily, he said. He said if war with China did come, that America would have three million troops in China within three years.

Morse said, "No president has the right to send a single American boy to his death on a battleground in the war that is undeclared." He added:

"I am shocked at how we can walk out on all our moral ideals in connection with the way we're prosecuting the war. We'd better win it, because, don't forget that only defeated nations are tried, and if we should lose it the verdict of the world would make the Nuremburg trials insignificant."

Morse accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of feeding the American public "nonsense." Asked if he felt Rusk should resign, Morse replied: "He should have been fired three years ago."

Morse said U.S. Sen. Robert Kennedy, D - N.Y., is making "a mistake in judgment" in not condemning publicly the Johnson administration's foreign policy. If Kennedy were to seek the Democratic presidential nomination, Morse said, "I think he'd have a 50-50 chance, still, to take that nomination — if it's on the foreign policy issue."

S. Viets Bar Bureau Chief for Newsweek

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government has refused to renew the visa of Newsweek magazine's Saigon bureau chief, Everett Martin, and told him to leave the country within seven days.

The South Vietnamese government has been at odds with Martin for months because of Newsweek articles critical of the South Vietnamese army.

★ ★ ★

It would be the first expulsion of an American newsman from South Vietnam since 1962, when the late President Ngo Din Diem expelled James Robinson of the National Broadcasting Co. and Francois Sully of Newsweek.

Martin can appeal the decision to the minister of the interior, whose ministry declined to renew the visa.

Martin, who has been in Vietnam for nearly two years, reentered South Vietnam last Nov. 28 after a short vacation. He came back without a visa, a normal practice for Americans returning from a short stay out of the country, and applied for a reentry visa.

"I've never missed one," said Otto Wallfisch, 84, who made his first plunge in 1905 and was enjoying No. 63.

'Dodd Shied From VP Bid'

NEW YORK (AP) — James P. Boyd, former assistant of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., says in a magazine article that Dodd told him during the 1964 Democratic National Convention that he would "have run a mile" from the party's nomination for vice president.

Boyd says in an article in the Jan. 13 issue of the Saturday Evening Post that Dodd made the remark after President Johnson had selected Hubert H. Humphrey as his running mate. The senator had been reported under consideration for second spot on the ticket.

★ ★ ★

Boyd, whose allegations of misconduct by Dodd led eventually to censure of Dodd by the Senate on June 23, 1967, quotes the senator, a former FBI agent, as saying at 1964 Democratic convention time:

"There are only two jobs that I would leave the Senate for, FBI director and the head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and I may very well wind up in one place or the other."

Flat Tire May Have Led to Pistol Death

DETROIT (AP) — A flat tire may have triggered a chain of circumstances, which ended in the shooting death Sunday of Walter Jones, 39, Detroit police reported.

Jones reportedly was waiting at the apartment of a girlfriend Remell Jones, 52, who was supposed to get off work at 8 a.m.

★ ★ ★

She told police when she arrived home at 10 a.m. that Jones accused her of being with someone else. She said she had a flat tire.

Miss Jones told police that in the ensuing argument, she ran into a bathroom with a towel containing a pistol. He followed her. Police said one shot was fired, striking the man in the chest.

★ ★ ★

Police held Miss Jones for questioning. No charges were filed.

OU Fees Cut for Part-Timers

For some 700 Oakland University part-time students who began registration today for winter semester, the new year started out on a pleasant note.

They found that course fees had been reduced.

Oakland University followed Michigan State University's lead in putting a new part-time fee schedule into effect until next fall.

MSU trustees, who also govern OU, reduced MSU undergraduate resident part-time fees for this winter, spring and summer terms by up to $17 for seven to nine credits over two weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

The trustees, however, had Oakland University officials wondering whether OU would also reduce its fees since they did not specifically call for a new schedule at Oakland.

NEW SCHEDULE

OU Business Director Robert W. Swanson came up with a new Oakland schedule just Friday. Here is the new schedule for Michigan resident undergraduates and graduates.

- 7 to 9 credits—$165 per semester for undergraduates, compared to $180 fall semester, and $175 for graduates, $5 less than last semester.
- 5 to 6 credits—$141 for undergraduates and graduates, $39 less than last semester.
- 3 to 4 credits—$102 for both undergraduates and graduates the same as fall semester.
- 1 to 2 credits—$49 for undergrads, compared to $102 last semester, and $49 for grads, unchanged.

Nonresident undergraduate and graduate fees are unchanged, according to Swanson.

Michigan State now charges a total of $297 for those taking seven to nine credits during a September-through-spring school year while OU charges $330.

★ ★ ★

Swanson explained that the two schools fees do not compare exactly because they have different course multiples. Most MSU courses are in multiples of three—3, 6, 9, 12 credits—while OU has multiples of four.

Next fall MSU and OU will return to essentially this past fall's schedule with provisions for reductions based on ability to pay.

Then, seven to nine credits at OU would cost a maximum of about $174 with reductions on family income to a minimum of about $123.

Adult Classes Offered in Waterford

Some 90 courses, ranging in length from six to 10 weeks, are being offered during the winter term by the Department of Community School Services of the Waterford Township School District.

The classes will begin the week of Jan. 15, according to Donald Youmans, assistant superintendent of community school services.

Registration for the classes will take place from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. next Monday through Thursday in the library at Waterford Township High School, 1415 Crescent Lake.

Registration for limited classes and Bishop sewing must be completed in person.

★ ★ ★

For all other classes, participants can register in person or by mail.

MAILING ADDRESS

Checks or money orders should be mailed to Waterford Community Schools, 3835 W. Walton, Drayton Plains, Mich. 48020.

The classes are open to residents of the Waterford Township School District and the surrounding area.

Several new courses have been added for the winter term, Youmans noted.

★ ★ ★

Included is an adult crafts class in which the instructor is prepared to work with any individual on any craft project of the student's choice.

ANOTHER NEW COURSE

This could include copper tooling or enameling, metal spinning, archery equipment through lamination, wood carving and plastic forming.

Another new course is an art class for mothers and their preschool children.

This class, according to Youmans, is an opportunity for the mother and child to express themselves with various art media, including finger painting, chalk, charcoal and water colors.

★ ★ ★

Still another new course in the art field is decoupage, an art form which rapidly is becoming very popular.

CUT AND PASTE

Various prints or designs are cut and pasted to purses, picture, plaques, lamps, furniture or any other personal or household item.

No art talent is needed for this approach to new decorative pieces in the home, Youmans emphasized.

Two new classes have been added in furniture refinishing.

★ ★ ★

They are chair caning, the art of reseating chairs with cane, reed or rush in any of the traditional methods; and furniture upholstering.

SPEED READING

Speed reading is another of the new classes. It is designed to help the student increase his reading rate and, at the same time, retain or improve his comprehension of the material.

"Bishop sewing is still our single most popular program," said Youmans, who informed that 36 separate classes will be offered during the winter term.

Besides the continuation of the Bishop II through VI classes, eight beginning courses and specialty classes in double knits, shifts, slacks and advanced fittings are being offered.

★ ★ ★

"Our Bishop staff of 16 teachers is one of the largest and best trained in the country," said Youmans.

"About 150 women will begin their Bishop training this term and most of them will remain in Bishop until they have learned to tailor their own two-piece suit in Bishop VI," Youmans said.

Commenting on the entire program, Youmans said:

"As more and more people realize the opportunities offered in their schools, our program continues to grow. From a small beginning four years ago, we have approached the point where it is no longer unique for someone to participate in these classes."

2 New Polls Assess Nixon, Rockefeller

NEW YORK (UPI) — One poll of Republican party leaders shows former Vice President Richard M. Nixon most likely to get the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, but a separate poll shows Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York would be the stronger candidate against President Johnson.

A poll by Newsweek Magazine showed Nixon has a commanding lead among potential delegates to the Republican National Convention next August in Miami. The magazine said that if the convention were held today, Nixon would get 561 votes, only 106 short of the 667 needed for the nomination.

The other poll, by the New York Times, indicated party leaders and observers in the 50 states with 378 electoral votes, compared with 100 for Johnson and 60 for former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, who is campaigning as a third party candidate.

The Newsweek survey of delegates put Rockefeller in second place behind Nixon with 363 potential delegate votes. Gov. Ronald Reagan of California had 201 and Gov. George Romney of Michigan, the only declared GOP candidate, had 89.

★ ★ ★

There were 114 undecided votes among governors, state chairman and leading spokesmen polled in all 50 states.

★ ★ ★

The Times said its survey showed that in a two-man race Nixon would edge Johnson by "a relatively narrow margin," 271 electoral votes to 267.

But with Wallace in the race, Johnson would get 301 votes to 210 for Nixon and 27 for Wallace. The newspaper said Wallace was the "chief imponderable" in assessing next November's election.

Both publications said their surveys were based on current conditions and on how potential delegates feel now. Neither made any attempt to consider possible shifts in issues during the seven months remaining before the national conventions.

'Splash Day' Gets a Cool Reception

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A crowd of some 400 gathered on Padre Island Monday for the 14th annual "splash day" observance, which is supposed to demonstrate for all to see that the climate is mild in the Corpus Christi area.

Nine young ladies in bathing suits shivered their way through a beauty pageant. Then Mayor Jack Blackmon led a dozen swimmers for a dip in the surf in 53-degree weather.

★ ★ ★

The dip was a quick one, and the swimmers had blue lips and chattering teeth as they headed for the dressing rooms.

During World War I, Russia once had a peak strength of 54 cavalry divisions, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Cases Against Four Dismissed

Judge Cites 'Illegal Status of Grand Juror'

Gambling charges against four persons arrested in police raids ordered by the Pratt grand jury more than a year ago have been dismissed.

Novi Justice of the Peace Emery Jacques dismissed the charges on the basis that Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt did not have the authority as a grand juror when he ordered the raids in November 1966.

The cases were dismissed Thursday against Roy L. Clark, his wife, Anna L., and George H. Clark, all of Hazel Park, and Donna L. Coultis of Detroit.

The dismissal came after a motion to quash both the warrant and order for arrest was made by their attorney, Richard Chosid of Ferndale.

★ ★ ★

"According to a recent ruling by the Michigan Court of Appeals, Judge Pratt had no power to sign an order for conducting the raid and making the arrests," Chosid said. "When the circuit judges got together and signed an order making Judge Pratt the grand juror for a second term, they were violating a state statute and their actions were unconstitutional."

Carpeting Cuts Effects of Noise

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Carpeting in the kitchen is more than a status symbol. It can also be a nerve saver, Texas A&M reports. Carpeting soaks up kitchen noises that come with everyday work and automation. Noises are softened and nervous tension is eased.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. I am too short, and I hate it. I am barely five feet tall. Is there any exercise or any food that will make me taller?

A. There is no special food that will add to height. This is an inherited characteristic. However, exercises which stretch the spine and improve posture can help. If your posture is not what it should be, corrective measures can add an inch or two.

Straighten your spine all the way and lift your rib cage. Do not allow your head to protrude forward or your chin to dip into your neck. Lift your chin until it is parallel to the floor. Do you add an inch to your height when you do this?

★ ★ ★

Q. Will you please give me a good facial exercise? If you were going to choose just one which is good generally for facial contour, what would it be?

A. This one. Apply cream to the face. Open the jaws halfway. Pull the lips back from the teeth as far as you can, corners of the mouth up. Now purse the lips. Continue pulling the lips away from the teeth and pursing the lips.

Q. I am 17 years old, five feet three and weigh 116 pounds. My bust measures 32 inches and my waist 24 inches and hips 34 inches. My friends tell me that I would have a nice figure if my bust were larger. Is this true? I have become very self-conscious about my small bust. I am small boned.

A. Do not be self-conscious any more! You are allowed a difference of two inches between the bust and the hips although the ideal has been to have the hip and bust measurement the same.

In recent years the bust measurements may be even larger. However not all women can achieve the ideal because of bony structure and the size of muscles.

If you would like to increase your bust measurement, you can do so by building up the chest muscles.

Q. I am very much involved in social activities and am continually embarrassed by underarm perspiration. This is ruining my clothes and my personality. What can I do? I use a deodorant.

A. Use shields in your dresses, suits and blouses (when you can.) This will protect your clothes. Also, I wonder if you are using a product which is an anti-perspirant as well as a deodorant.

A deodorant simply takes care of the odor of perspiration. It does not slow the flow. Nervousness can cause excessive perspiration. Check this angle.

Show Vitamin C Non-Effective in Cold Therapy

NEW YORK (UPI) — One new scientific report holds that large doses of vitamin C will not prevent or shorten the course of the common cold. People who have been getting adequate intake of the vitamin are not benefitted by additional doses.

The report comes from "Nutrition Reviews", a monthly publication of the non-profit Nutrition Foundation that supports research and education in food fields.

★ ★ ★

It reports that a series of tests with volunteers revealed that contrary to common belief, massive doses of C will not stop a cold, reduce its severity or alter the length of time it takes to run its course.

Woman Receives Man of the Year Tobacco Award

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — When Mrs. June Mele, who has been manager of the Smoke Shop in a local store for 30 years, was named "Man of the Year" recently by the tobacco industry, the traditional award of a pair of cuff links wasn't appropriate.

Instead, the Retail Tobacco Dealers of America, at their annual convention, presented their only female member with a gold bracelet.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mele studied tobacco blending at Indiana University and now mixes special blends for 350 regular customers, each catalogued in her mind along with his tobacco formula preference.

Reading Habits Are Formulated in Early Years

LOUISVILLE, KY. (AP)—A child's most important habit—a love of reading and books—is formulated by the time he is 2 years old, believes Mrs. Lesley Frost Ballantine, daughter of the late poet, Robert Frost.

★ ★ ★

Speaking before a local woman's club, Mrs. Ballantine suggested that parents should read aloud to their children from the time they are tiny tots, and should continue reading sessions as a family activity.

★ ★ ★

The New York City resident recalled that some of her fondest memories as a child are of evenings by the fire in her native New Hampshire, listening as her parents read aloud.

Taffeta, Lace Highlight Saturday Bridal Ensemble

A floor length gown of white lace taffeta was chosen by Saturday bride, the former Bonnie Irene Davis, as she repeated vows with Sp. 4 Michael M. King, USA, son of the Melville Kings of Lakeview Drive, Independence Township.

SHOULDER VEIL

Completing her ensemble was a crown of matching fabric that held a shoulder illusion veil. She carried a cascade of red roses and white carnations.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wes Schaar was her sister's matron of honor. They are the daughters of the Alburn Davises of Churchill Raod, Pontiac Township.

★ ★ ★

Bridesmaids were Suzane Byers and Janet King. Leta King and Walter Dixon were flower girl and ring bearer.

★ ★ ★

Larry Evon stood as best man with ushers Thomas Byers and Jerry King.

★ ★ ★

Following vows in the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church, the couple was feted at a reception in Auburn Heights Boys' Club before leaving on a northern honeymoon.

Twin Sister Is His Date

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP) — In order to pick dates for a school dance, students at the all-male St. Benedict's College here decided to use computers to select partners from among the girls at nearby Mount St. Scholastica, an all-women's college.

Both the boys and the girls filled out cards which were "matched" as to likes and dislikes by the computer.

Mike Flaton, a 19-year-old St. Louis youth, was surprised when his date, picked as one having similar interests, showed up for the dance. It was his twin sister, Sue Flaton.

NAACP Feels Job-Bias Victory Has Bleak Side

NEW YORK (AP) — An agreement reached in Columbus, Ohio, guaranteeing 140 jobs for Negroes on Ohio State University construction projects looks like a clear-cut victory for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

But to the NAACP staff members who negotiated it, the pact symbolizes the end of once-bright hopes that federal and state governments would vigorously enforce antidiscrimination statutes and shows that pressure must be applied unrelentingly against unions and builders.

★ ★ ★

"It's an indication of the failure of voluntary compliance," said Herbert Hill, national labor director for the NAACP.

"There is a federal executive order issued by President Johnson forbidding discrimination in all federally financed construction. The U.S. Division of Contract Compliance is a dead letter. They have never enforced this. They depend instead on voluntary compliance."

FUNDS HELP UP

In Washington, the head of the division, Owen Kiley, replied that federal funds for the Ohio State projects had been held up since last May.

That was when U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary ruled in a suit brought by the NAACP that government funds may not be used on projects where there is racial discrimination in hiring.

The judge also held that the state had primary responsibility for requiring that such work forces be integrated, and it was under his order that agreement was reached last Thursday, more than six months later.

Until last month, according to Dr. David McConnell, a university biochemist who headed the NAACP negotiating team as labor chairman of the Columbus branch, the university had made no attempt to implement the decision.

McConnell, who is white, said negotiations were arranged only after he gained admittance to a Washington meeting of Health Education and Welfare Department officials last Dec. 1 by threatening "to hold a press conference in the hall if they didn't admit me."

At that meeting, he said, "We got some of the primitive facts established. Namely, we held HEW as well as the state of Ohio responsible. Then HEW told the university they wouldn't let $6 million in matching funds go unless they settled their peace with the NAACP.

★ ★ ★

"It was really a squeeze play between the federal government and the NAACP, and the federal government ran scared because it's an election year. We threatened to name them in a suit before the same court on the same issue covering the entire state of Ohio."

Director Kiley of the HEW's Division of Contract Compliance confirmed the meeting with McConnell, but said that when the NAACP representative asked to be admitted, he was invited to attend and fully express his views. And, said Kiley, the decision to withhold federal funds for the Ohio State projects was made last May, not at the December meeting.

'FINALLY JELLED'

In Columbus, the university's equal employment opportunity officer, Stephen Lance, disputed McConnell's allegation that the school hadn't tried to implement the court order.

"I would object to the words 'no attempt' and would say that the attempts being made finally jelled after that (Washington) meeting," Lance said. He said university officials began negotiating with contractors immediately after the court decision "to get their commitments to hire minority workers."

★ ★ ★

To Hill the Ohio State agreement means more pressure, not less, on government-financed construction projects. He named Newark, N.J., and San Francisco-Oakland as the next two major targets. Both areas, he said, plan huge construction programs and have "volatile Negro ghetto areas with very high rates of Negro unemployment."

"We have exhausted all reasonable efforts to discuss these matters with the building trades unions," said Hill. "Therefore there is no choice but to move to cut off public funds. . .

★ ★ ★

"Exactly one year ago, after four years of picketing and mass demonstrations against the building trades of northern New Jersey, the five Iron Workers locals signed an agreement with the New Jersey Civil Rights Commission.

"Now, exactly one year later, not a single Negro has been admitted."

William Jennings Bryan, in 1896, at the age of 36, was the youngest candidate ever nominated for the U.S. presidency.

Chinese Plot Said Smashed

Saigon Counterfeiters, Fake U. S. Bills Seized

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese national police said today they had arrested several Chinese counterfeiters and seized $250,000 in fake U.S. $5 bills, thereby foiling what they called a Red Chinese attempt to destroy the economies of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

Police said the counterfeiters were Red Chinese spies who planned to trade the U.S. bills on the black market to buy equipment to counterfeit the currencies of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Police reported they closed in on the counterfeiters last Thursday in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon, and seized a printing press, paper and ink and complete and incomplete $5 bills. The counterfeiters' printing plates also were seized, they said.

Several persons, including some who tried to escape, were arrested, officials added, but police declined to disclose their names, saying the investigation was continuing. A police statement said, "In the present case, there undoubtedly will be death sentences given to the Chinese counterfeiters."

Police said they had been investigating for five months "an important clandestine economic and financial organization led directly by Communist authorities on the Chinese mainland, whose purpose was to counterfeit various monies in order to subvert the economies of many countries in Southeast Asia, and especially the economy of South Vietnam"

They said the counterfeit U.S. bills were to be put into the black market by a Chinese named "Dailthe Gioi"—the great world—who would get South Vietnamese piasters in return to "buy needed modern machines for printing counterfeit bills to subvert the monetary base of the countries the Communist Chinese want to invade in the near future."

The Communists "planned to immediately destroy the Republic of (South) Vietnam's economy by printing and throwing into the market about 30 billion piasters"—$200 million, police said.

As 1968 Trading Begins

Stock Mart Continues Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to advance early today as trading began for 1968.

Taking off from a vigorous year-end rally, the market rose, with gains outnumbering losses about 2 to 1.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 1.79 at 906.90.

Some airlines were unsettled by President Johnson's proposals to curb tourist travel abroad.

MORE THAN POINT

World Airways, which specializes in charter flights, sank more than a point.

Pan American World Airways was delayed in opening.

Among the domestic carriers, United and Eastern Airlines rose fractionally while American dropped a fraction.

The President's declared war on the widening gap in the balance of payments upset the gold mining stocks on the big board. Homestake, the biggest U.S. gold producer, sank more than 2 points.

The weekend accumulation of business and economic news seemed more favorable than unfavorable, brokers said.

Train-Crash Fires, Fumes Wrack Town

From Our News Wires

DUNREITH, Ind. — Fire triggered by the collision of two freight trains and fed by gasoline, crude oil and ammonia, today burned out of control. The 236 residents of Dunreith already had been forced to flee their homes in near zero-degree cold.

Dangers of additional explosions and deadly chemical fumes left firemen helpless against the holocaust which apparently had burned nearly half of the town.

Three firemen and a policeman suffered minor injuries.

Officials ordered firefighters and police out of the town when there was danger that two 12,000-gallon ammonia tanks would rupture in an atmosphere already heavy with flammable and toxic chemicals.

★ ★ ★

The Butterfield Canning Co. plant and a service station were destroyed by flames, which also spread to several houses. Some were empty migrant worker dwellings, officials said.

SPECTACULAR COLLISION

The collision of eastbound and westbound Pennsylvania Railroad trains last night set off the blaze and explosions. It was spectacular but caused no loss of life.

W. R. Sheets of Zionsville, brakeman of the westbound train, said he believed a rail broke under the 75th car of the 98-car train. Flames broke out almost immediately, he said.

Despite heat from the burning wreckage, crewmen were able to separate the front portion of the westbound train and move it out of town.

★ ★ ★

Officials awaited the arrival today of Air Force foam trucks designed to combat chemical and petroleum fires, and gas masks.

Authorities said until the fire was put out, there was no way of getting humans through the toxic smoke to ascertain damage.

Observers on the scene said that when the wind shifted slightly four badly damaged houses could be seen.

Patrols of state police sent north from Dunreith to alert rural families of the smoke and chemical danger drifting their way found empty houses. Antilooter patrols were established. At least one state trooper was overcome by the fumes.

Traffic was rerouted from busy U.S. 40 which parallels the Pennsylvania main line through Dunreith.

SEEN 40 MILES AWAY

The explosion and ball of flame that erupted at the height of the holocaust lighted a milewide area "like daylight" and could be seen or felt as far as Indianapolis, 40 miles to the west.

State police Sgt. James Klieman said there were several railroad tank cars loaded with chemicals that were in danger of exploding at any time. He said one car carried extremely lethal acetone cyananhydrin.

FIERY DERAILMENT — Chemical explosions and fires were set off in several cars of a derailed Pennsylvania Railroad freight train near Dunreith, Ind., last night, forcing evacuation of the eastern Indiana community of 236. Special chemical fire-fighting equipment was used to put out the blazes that burned through the night.

City Man Arrested in Hit-Run Death

A Pontiac man was arrested yesterday on charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an injury accident in the hit-and-run death of a Highland Township girl early in the day.

Arrested was Gary Gillespie, 22, of 350 Third, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

He was taken into custody about 4 p.m. by Deputy Frederick Fleming, who spotted the suspect in his car, which answered a police description, at North Telegraph and Walton.

Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives, said the description was developed from physical evidence found at the scene of the mishap, in which 17-year-old Sherry Ann Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lane E. Knight of 203 S. Center, was killed.

She and her escort, Alan Lengeman, 17, were run down from behind about 2:45 a.m. while walking on the shoulder of Milford Road near Highland in Highland Township.

BOY IN FAIR CONDITION

Lengeman, son of Mrs. Janet H. Lengeman of 3727 Gulfwood, is reported in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital

Deputies said the couple was apparently walking to the Knight home from Lengeman's stalled car when they were struck.

A motorist found Miss Knight and Lengeman lying in the road. The passerby told investigators he was pursuing a car which had bumped his vehicle shortly before the fatal accident.

★ ★ ★

Deputies said they believe the same car was involved in both incidents.

The car in which Gillespie was arrested had damage in the right front area, including the headlight, fender and windshield, according to Hazen.

Deputies said Gillespie probably will be arraigned in Waterford Township Jusice Court today.

Social Security Series

Starting today, The Pontiac Press is presenting a 15-part illustrated series explaining the wide - ranging changes in the Social Security program.

The series is written by Bruce Biossat, the Newspaper Enterprise Association's Washington correspondent, who has been following the progress of the legislation through Congress.

Part 1, on Page B-4, explains the size and scope of the program.

U.S. Traffic Toll Is a Low 355

By the Associated Press

The New Year holiday weekend death toll was below advance estimates and a National Safety Council spokesman today gave credit for the improvement to bad weather and good driving.

★ ★ ★

The total reached 355 in a count that began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight yesterday. The safety council predicted earlier that 460 to 540 persons would die in traffic accidents over the 78-hour period.

"There is nothing immutable about the death rate," a spokesman said. "We don't have to just accept it."

"The major reason we believe is that the behavior of drivers must have changed," the spokesman said. "How it changed, we don't know."

★ ★ ★

"Weather certainly was a consideration, too," he said. Record-breaking cold and heavy snow in some sections apparently kept some persons at home.

During the final hours of the weekend a car-truck crash in Chicago claimed four lives and injured five others.

Earlier, three persons were killed and eight injured when a station wagon carrying members of a Dallas, Tex., family and another auto collided northeast of El Dorado, Kan.

The death total was below that of a nonholiday period of equal length.

★ ★ ★

For a comparison, The Associated Press counted traffic deaths for the period from 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 15, to midnight Monday, Dec. 18. There were 484 deaths.

The traffic death toll during the last three-day New Year holiday was 469.

The highest toll for any New Year period was 564, compiled during a three-day celebration at the start of 1966.

Yemeni Attacking

SAN'A, Yemen (AP) — Eight thousand Yemeni Republican troops, backed by the Yemeni air force, were reported today to have struck at Royalist forces entrenched 40 miles southwest of San'a along the road to Yemen's second largest city, Tai'zz.

Brain Hemorrhage Kills Donor

3rd Heart Swap Successful

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Christian N. Barnard and a team of surgeons performed another successful heart transplant today, replacing the damaged heart of a 58-year-old Cape Town dentist with that of a man who collapsed and died from a brain hemorrhage.

★ ★ ★

Groote Schuur Hospital announced the transplant took more than five hours and termed it successful. They said the patient's condition was satisfactory.

Barnard performed the world's first human heart transplant Dec. 3 on Louis Washkansky, 53, who lived 18 days with the new heart before dying of pneumonia.

The hospital said Dr. Philip Blaiberg, a man "desperately ill" with a damaged heart, received the heart of Clive Haupt, 24, who collapsed on a nearby beach and died in the hospital.

Haupt was a mulatto — a man of mixed race — but this apparently posed no problems for Barnard in racially segregated South Africa. Finding a donor for Blaiberg was difficult because of his rare B-positive blood type.

5-HOUR OPERATION

The hospital said the operation began at 11 a.m. and was completed about 4 p.m. The historic transplant in which Washkansky received the healthy heart of a 25-year-old woman who died in a traffic accident also took five hours.

Blaiberg has been waiting three weeks for the operation and did not reconsider when Washkansky died.

Haupt was on Fish Hoek Beach yesterday with his wife of three months when he collapsed with a brain hemorrhage. When he was taken to a hospital and his blood typed, Groote Schuur Hospital was notified.

★ ★ ★

Barnard's surgical team spent several hours studying the transplant possibilities before proceeding.

SECOND TRANSPLANT

A few days after Washkansky's historic transplant, a team of surgeons in Brooklyn, N. Y., made the second heart transplant. Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz used the heart of a dead infant to replace that of a dying infant, but the baby lived just 6½ hours.

Blaiberg is married and has a daughter, Jill, 19, who is in Israel. In Haifa, she went into seclusion on learning her father was undergoing history's third human heart transplant.

Blaiberg suffered his first coronary 14 years ago but his wife, Eileen, said his heart "completely gave out" about nine months ago.

★ ★ ★

Deterioration of Blaiberg's condition in the last few days was understood to have sped the return of Barnard from a tour of the United States.

WHITE-NEGRO

Barnard said during his tour in the United States that his team had transplanted kidneys between white "Europeans" and "Bantus," or Negroid South African natives; and that they had done this for a number of years.

★ ★ ★

Among cases he cited were a Bantu kidney given a European man and a kidney from a European given a Bantu child. He said such transplants presented no biological problem. He did not get into the politics of the matter.

★ ★ ★

After Washkansky died, Barnard had visited Blaiberg and asked whether he still wanted a transplant. "He said he was quite confident it would work one day," Barnard reported.

Deadline Today in Baby Contest

Deadline for the first-baby-of-the-year contest is 5 p.m. today. The first baby born in 1968 will receive a multitude of gifts.

★ ★ ★

Any baby born to married parents living north of 14 Mile Road in Oakland County after midnight Dec. 31 is eligible.

Entries must be made through the family doctor. They should be sent to the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, Riker Building.

The doctor's statement must include the exact time and date of birth, sex, weight, name of baby and the name and address of parents.

★ ★ ★

Gifts include a $25 savings bond, a $25 savings account, two cases of Carnation Milk, three pair of baby shoes, a diamond baby ring, a sweater, a bonnet, booties, and a silver cup.

BABY SCALES

Other gifts are baby scales, a baby blanket, a high chair, $5 gift certificate, $10 gift certificate, new tire, free car wash and polish, three dinners for two at area restaurants, slippers for mother, a ham, two cleaning certificates, two floral arrangements, and five gallons of milk.

GOP Strategists Propose Drive for Control of Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The odds are heavily against it, but there's a possibility Republicans could win control of the Senate in the 1968 elections.

Some party strategists argue this should become a priority GOP goal.

The Republicans need 15 additional seats to gain a Senate majority for the first time since 1954. But most forecasters expect them to capture far fewer than 15 new seats.

The National Committee for an Effective Congress, a liberal-minded, nonpartisan group, considers a GOP gain of six seats to be "a prudent estimate at this time."

★ ★ ★

But one GOP official contends the Republicans could take control if the party's top figures in contested states would become Senate candidates.

THE MATHEMATICS

Here are the mathematics of the situation:

- The terms of 34 senators expire next year. Twenty-three of them are Democrats, 11 Republicans.
- There are now 64 Democratic senators, 36 Republicans.

★ ★ ★

- Forty-one Democratic senators and 25 Republicans are serving terms which extend beyond the current 90th Congress.

This means the Democrats would need to capture only 10 of the seats contested in 1968 to hold clear control, while Republicans would have to perform the politically awesome task of winning 26.

A GOP victory of that magnitude is improbable. But one Republican professional contends the party could do it by putting some of its biggest names into Senate races next year.

For example, this party official said, the GOP would have to persuade such men as former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton to run for the Senate. Scranton has said he will not seek public office again. Washington - based Republicans believe he could capture the Senate seat now held by Democrat Joseph S. Clark.

★ ★ ★

OPPOSE MORSE

Oregon's Gov. Tom McCall could seek the post held by Sen. Wayne Morse, another Democrat, the official said, even though that might cost the GOP control of a state house.

N. Viet Reported Willing to Talk if Bombing Halts

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says the administration is carefully evaluating reports that North Vietnam might enter into peace discussions if the United States were unconditionally to stop bombing that country.

Johnson said yesterday at the LBJ Ranch that he was familiar with newspaper reports quoting North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh to that effect.

Hanoi Radio broadcast a statement yesterday saying North Vietnam "will talk" when the United States has "unconditionally stopped its bombing and all other acts of war" against the North.

"We are evaluating them," Johnson said of the reports.

★ ★ ★

Johnson spent considerable time talking about his program to curtail the U. S. dollar drain in 1968.

FOCUS ON BUDGET

The President focused his attention today on budget work and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He had until midnight tonight to sign the new Social Security law that would boost benefits and Social Security taxes.

On the passenger list today of the Washington-LBJ Ranch jet plane shuttle were the names of HEW Cecretary John Gardner, Budget Director Charles Schultze and presidential assistant Douglass Cater.

The Social Security measure will mean bigger benefit checks beginning in March for 24 million persons. The minimum retirement pay will go from $44 to $55 a month, the maximum from $142 to $160.50.

Cease-Fire Bloodiest Ever' in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. officials today called the allies' New Year cease-fire "the bloodiest of all" Vietnam war truce attempts after a Vietcong force of 2,500 men broke the stand-down and smashed into an American outpost, killing 23 infantrymen and wounding 153.

The guerrillas' 9th Division, augmented by North Vietnamese replacements, lost 348 men in its attack on the base camp near Black Virgin Mountain, about 62 miles northwest of Saigon and eight miles from the Cambodian border, U.S. officers said.

★ ★ ★

The Communist thrust, spokesmen said, gave the allies second thoughts about a 48-hour truce that has been accepted in principle for Tet, the Lunar New Year Jan. 30.

The regimental-sized Red attack force was pursued into the jungles of War Zone C. A half-dozen lesser engagements flared in the nearby jungles of Tay Ninh Province during the night.

BOMBING RESUMES

While American headquarters tried to assemble an accurate picture of the collapse of the cease-fire from field reports, U.S. warplanes resumed their bombing of North Vietnam with the end of the allied 36-hour truce at 6 a.m. Saigon time today.

Hanoi, meanwhile, accused the United States of raiding many "populated areas" during the truce. It did not elaborate on what constituted "raids", saying only that U.S. aircraft had "repeatedly intruded into the airspace" of several provinces. American headquarters acknowledged that it had reconnaissance planes in the air over the North, but said no attacks were launched.

★ ★ ★

On the basis of incomplete communiques, the truce-breaking ground-fighting, as vicious as that of normal operations, cost the allies 72 killed and 337 wounded—27 Americans and 45 South Vietnamese soldiers killed and 205 Americans and 132 South Vietnamese wounded.

This compared with 14 Americans and five South Vietnamese killed and 27 U.S. troops and seven South Vietnamese wounded during the 48-hour 1967 New Year's truce. The 1968 figures involved 168 shooting incidents, 10 fewer than last year.

COMMUNIST DEAD

Communist dead over the current cease-fire were put at 546.

Calculations were complicated because the Vietcong's announced three-day truce ended at 1 a.m., five hours before the allied stand-down.

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials said the fierce raid on the U.S. 25th Infantry Division camp in the jungles just above the old Michelin rubber plantation town of Dau Tieng came one hour and 20 minutes before the Red truce expired.

It began with a hail of Red mortars and Russian-model rockets and was quickly followed by Communist troopers streaming out of the jungle with submachine guns blazing.

Officers on the scene said the Red troopers were from the veteran 271st and 272nd Regiments —both units of the 9th Division which hit nearby Loc Ninh last October. At that time U.S. commanders claimed the units were eliminated as fighting forces.

The U.S. base camp was manned by parts of a battalion of the U.S. 25th Division plus three batteries of 105mm howitzers—a defending force of perhaps 500 men.

Within minutes of the initial Red assault, however, U.S. flareships were overhead to light the battlefield and slash the Red jump-off points with quick-firing miniguns. Fighter bomber pilots were scrambled from Bien Hoa Air base near Saigon and 28 jets successively raked the attacking Vietcong battalions.

★ ★ ★

High-flying B52 bombers also were called in to strike near the border at a suspected infiltration route about 10 miles above the battlefield.

★ ★ ★

While the Tay Ninh battle was by far the most spectacular during the truce period, other violations were reported up and down South Vietnam. They ranged from Red infanty assaults to the abduction of a Montagnard official in the central highlands.

REMOVING FALLEN COMRADES — Leathernecks from the 5th U.S. Marines carry bodies of fallen comrades to waiting evacuation helicopters through ankle-deep mud of a rice paddy near Hoi An, about 25 miles south of Da Nang. The Marines came under heavy Vietcong fire when they landed in the area by helicopter. Both sides took heavy casualties.

No Pursuit OK --Cambodian

Sihanouk Denial Still Seems Not Complete

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk said Monday that he was not giving U.S. forces permission, even tacitly, to enter Cambodia in pursuit of Communist forces. But he still seemed to leave the door ajar.

In a statement, the prince referred to what he had said last week, indicating that he would not immediately oppose U.S. "hot pursuit" if it was in sparsely inhabited areas of Cambodia.

★ ★ ★

The new statement said, "I will never let any foreigner occupy the least square meter of our territory without doing everything possible, and even impossible, to drive him out of our Cambodia."

"But in case of partial occupation of our territory, we must first use protests and political and diplomatic means to make the adversary withdraw. It is only after exhausting these peaceful means that we would go to war."

RADIO INTERVIEW

In a radio interview carried Monday by the French radio station Europe No. 1, Sihanouk said his government "would only protest against both sides" if U. S. and Vietcong forces were to clash in uninhabited regions of Cambodia from across the South Vietnamese frontier.

"We would not risk the lives of our troops in a fight which would be limited to Vietnamese infiltrated in Cambodia without our knowledge and Americans who would come to pull them out," he said in the interview.

★ ★ ★

But, he said, any deep U.S. penetration in Cambodia could lead to a "general conflict" and he would ask Red China, North Korea and Cuba to send volunteers "in case the military pressure became intolerable."

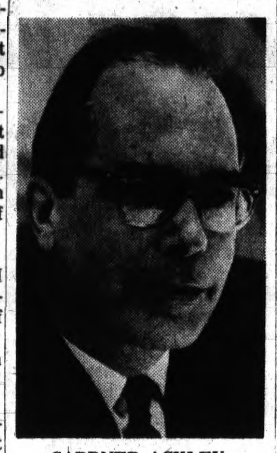
Proposal Is Revised on Boat, Trailer Storage

BIRMINGHAM — A revised amendment to the city code dealing with storage of house trailers, boats and boat trailers will be considered at the City Commission meeting tonight at 8.



GARDNER ACKLEY

Previously submitted to the commission Nov. 20, the proposal has been reworked to include provisions for exceptions.

As presently worded, the amendment would not affect parking and storage of vehicles which have not changed ownership after its passage, or which were stored prior to passage.

Also excepted from the amendment would be owners physically unable to comply with the ordinance due to size of lot, building location, or other factors.

★ ★ ★

The exception were made in lieu of establishment of an appeals procedure, which had been suggested by the commission.

NOT IN FRONT

Under the proposed ordinance, trailers and boats may not be stored at the front of a residential zone district, and may not be stored beside a house between the front and back of a district for more than 30 days.

The commission will also consider interim parking provisions during the construction of the new parking structure at Merrill and Pierce.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning has suggested notifying parkers with flyers attached to windshields during the week before closing the Lot 1, and encouraging parking in the Lot 5 structure on North Woodward and Lot 4 at Brownell and Forest.

★ ★ ★

Kenning also proposed changing the 12-hour limit on 25 meters in Lot 7, at Merrill and Henrietta, to two hours.

If these measures are not sufficient, Kenning said, parking restrictions on Pierce, Henrietta, Chester and Frank could be removed as needed.

LBJ Names Top Aide as Envoy to Italy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named Gardner Ackley—the administration's top economist and a man Johnson calls one of his "most trusted and closest friends"—to be the next U.S. ambassador to Italy.

The surprise New Year's Day nomination was made at a news conference at the LBJ Ranch in Texas during which the President also announced stringent government controls over private overseas investments and other measures aimed at slashing the U.S. balance of payments deficit by $3 billion this year.

The shaping of these actions are matters in which Ackley, as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers has been deeply involved.

The President cited Ackley's long interest in Italy—a country in which the 52-year-old economist once studied as a Fulbright scholar—as his reason for tapping him for the post.

30-YEAR VETERAN

In Rome, Ackley will replace Ambassador G. Frederick Reinhardt, a 30-year Foreign Service veteran, who has been ill recently.

Although Johnson did not name a candidate to succeed Ackley in the $30,000-a-year chairmanship, Washington speculation placed the name of Arthur M. Okun high on the list of possibilities.

Okun was named to the three-man council to fill the vacancy created when Ackley was promoted to the chairmanship in November, 1964.

President Kennedy appointed Ackley a council member in 1962. At the time he was chairman of the University of Michigan's economics department and director of the Social Science Research Council.

Ambassador Reinhardt, 56, has held his current post for the past six years and has been considered overdue for reassignment. Before his arrival in Italy he served succesively as U.S. ambassador to Vietnam and the United Arab Republic.

Last Month of Year Was Wet and Chilly

Pontiac area residents received a variety of weather conditions in December including a white Christmas.

There were a few snow flurries during the month with one-half inch of Dec. 24. On Christmas Day, the weatherman dropped three inches of fresh snow.

Snow shovels had a workout again on Dec. 31 when another two inches of snow arrived bringing the total accumulation for the month to six inches.

Sixteen inches of snow and 1.30 inches of rain were recorded last December.

There were nine sunny and two partly sunny days during the month. Six days were sunny and partly sunny a year ago.

Much of the month was dark and dreary. Heavy rains fell on Oakland County in the early hours of Dec. 21 causing flooding conditions, and mud on dirt and gravel roads. An estimated one inch of rain fell during the day.

TORNADO WATCH

A tornado watch was issued the night of Dec. 21 but no twister was sighted.

The rain changed to snow flurries as winter arrived Dec. 22 with temperatures falling 40 degrees to a bone-chilling 17.

Rain or drizzle with fog and a little sleet ruled for 13 days. Total rainfall was 2.90 inches. Last year's recording was 1.30 inches.

Normal precipitation for December is 2.60 inches.

★ ★ ★

Ten inches of light snow is equal to one inch of rain.

Temperatures were mild during most of the month. The mercury rose to 60 on Dec. 21 then plunged to five below zero in the early hours of Dec. 31.

LBJ Takes Aim on Dollar Drain

Imposes Controls on Investments Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's declared war on the widening gap in the balance of payments would press every American into the defense of the dollar—if Congress goes along.

President Johnson pegged higher taxes as the keystone of a New Year's program he described as "firm and decisive." It incorporates the first mandatory controls in history on American investment abroad and an appeal to Americans to travel only in this hemisphere if possible.

★ ★ ★

The investment controls were imposed under existing law.

Government officials held out possibility of further restrictions such as a tax on Americans going overseas or limits on the amount of money they may take with them. Officials said this must be worked out with Congress.

'DAMAGING TO NATION'

Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the Treasury, said Americans should realize that travel abroad is damaging to the country.

The entire program is designed to slash the dollar drain by $13 billion. It includes an effort to cut government spending abroad by $500 million this year and an expansion of exports to increase the trade surplus by at least that much.

★ ★ ★

In outlining the program Monday at a Johnson City, Tex., news conference, the President revealed the dollar drain this year would reach $3.5 billion to $4 billion—highest in seven years.

Johnson also listed higher Vietnam war costs, more U.S. spending on foreign travel, bigger investments abroad and a smaller gain than expected in the trade surplus.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary reaction to the plan from Congress seemed cheery with Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., of the Senate-House Economic Committee, calling it "exactly the kind of decisive and comprehensive action the situation called for."

U.S. Heads for War With China---Morse

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Monday night the United States is headed for a war with Red China which cannot be won with either conventional or nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

"We can knock out her bases and destroy her cities and kill millions of people. But if she comes into the war, she comes in with her horrors on the ground, and we'll have to meet her on the ground with American troops," Morse said.

Morse, an outspoken foe of President Johnson's Vietnam policies commented in a taped interview on the "Lou Gordon Hot Seat," syndicated by Kaiser Broadcasting and originating in Detroit on WKBD-TV. Morse was reported resting at home Monday night after being stricken with influenza in Washington last week.

America cannot control the world militarily, he said. He said if war with China did come, that America would have three million troops in China within three years.

Morse said, "No president has the right to send a single American boy to his death on a battleground in the war that is undeclared." He added:

"I am shocked at how we can walk out on all our moral ideals in connection with the way we're prosecuting the war. We'd better win it, because, don't forget that only defeated nations are tried, and if we should lose it the verdict of the world would make the Nuremburg trials insignificant."

Morse accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of feeding the American public "nonsense." Asked if he felt Rusk should resign, Morse replied: "He should have been fired three years ago."

Morse said U.S. Sen. Robert Kennedy, D - N.Y., is making "a mistake in judgment" in not condemning publicly the Johnson administration's foreign policy. If Kennedy were to seek the Democratic presidential nomination, Morse said, "I think he'd have a 50-50 chance, still, to take that nomination — if it's on the foreign policy issue."

S. Viets Bar Bureau Chief for Newsweek

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government has refused to renew the visa of Newsweek magazine's Saigon bureau chief, Everett Martin, and told him to leave the country within seven days.

The South Vietnamese government has been at odds with Martin for months because of Newsweek articles critical of the South Vietnamese army.

★ ★ ★

It would be the first expulsion of an American newsman from South Vietnam since 1962, when the late President Ngo Din Diem expelled James Robinson of the National Broadcasting Co. and Francois Sully of Newsweek.

Martin can appeal the decision to the minister of the interior, whose ministry declined to renew the visa.

Martin, who has been in Vietnam for nearly two years, reentered South Vietnam last Nov. 28 after a short vacation. He came back without a visa, a normal practice for Americans returning from a short stay out of the country, and applied for a reentry visa.

'Dodd Shied From VP Bid'

NEW YORK (AP) — James P. Boyd, former assistant of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., says in a magazine article that Dodd told him during the 1964 Democratic National Convention that he would "have run a mile" from the party's nomination for vice president.

Boyd says in an article in the Jan. 13 issue of the Saturday Evening Post that Dodd made the remark after President Johnson had selected Hubert H. Humphrey as his running mate. The senator had been reported under consideration for second spot on the ticket.

★ ★ ★

Boyd, whose allegations of misconduct by Dodd led eventually to censure of Dodd by the Senate on June 23, 1967, quotes the senator, a former FBI agent, as saying at 1964 Democratic convention time:

"There are only two jobs that I would leave the Senate for, FBI director and the head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and I may very well wind up in one place or the other."

Fire Destroys Pontiac Home

A fire at a Pontiac home early this morning did an estimated $10,000 damage and took firemen nearly three hours to extinguish.

The blaze at 215 Ferry broke out sometime before 4 a.m., when a night watchman several blocks away saw flames breaking through the roof of the one-story frame dwelling and called the fire department, fire officials said.

Fire Marshal Charles Metz said damage to the building, whose occupants were out of town on vacation, was total.

It was not possible to determine the value of contents destroyed, he said.

★ ★ ★

Four vehicles, under the command of Assistant Chief Lee Nye responded to the alarm and were at the scene until about 7 a.m.

Metz, who said his office will continue its investigation of the fire today, tentatively blamed the blaze on an oil-fired space heater.

Woodward Due for Road Repairs

The State Highway Department has assigned a survey to gather data for the resurfacing and repair of 1.7 miles of Woodward from South Boulevard in Pontiac to Square Lake Road in Bloomfield Township.

The survey is expected to be completed in April. No date has been set for taking bids on the project.

100 Take Dip in Cold Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than 100 persons joined the Olympic Club's 75th annual New Year's Day swim in the Pacific.

Air and water temperatures registered the same—42 degrees.

★ ★ ★

"It's cold," said Scott Butler.

"I've never missed one," said Otto Wallfisch, 84, who made his first plunge in 1905 and was enjoying No. 63.

Flat Tire May Have Led to Pistol Death

DETROIT (AP) — A flat tire may have triggered a chain of circumstances, which ended in the shooting death Sunday of Walter Jones, 39, Detroit police reported.

Jones reportedly was waiting at the apartment of a girlfriend Remell Jones, 52, who was supposed to get off work at 8 a.m.

★ ★ ★

She told police when she arrived home at 10 a.m. that Jones accused her of being with someone else. She said she had a flat tire.

Miss Jones told police that in the ensuing argument, she ran into a bathroom with a towel containing a pistol. He followed her. Police said one shot was fired, striking the man in the chest.

★ ★ ★

Police held Miss Jones for questioning. No charges were filed.

OU Fees Cut for Part-Timers

For some 700 Oakland University part-time students who began registration today for winter semester, the new year started out on a pleasant note.

They found that course fees had been reduced.

Oakland University followed Michigan State University's lead in putting a new part-time fee schedule into effect until next fall.

MSU trustees, who also govern OU, reduced MSU undergraduate resident part-time fees for this winter, spring and summer terms by up to $17 for seven to nine credits over two weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

The trustees, however, had Oakland University officials wondering whether OU would also reduce its fees since they did not specifically call for a new schedule at Oakland.

NEW SCHEDULE

OU Business Director Robert W. Swanson came up with a new Oakland schedule just Friday. Here is the new schedule for Michigan resident undergraduates and graduates.

- 7 to 9 credits—$165 per semester for undergraduates, compared to $180 fall semester, and $175 for graduates, $5 less than last semester.
- 5 to 6 credits—$141 for undergraduates and graduates, $39 less than last semester.
- 3 to 4 credits—$102 for both undergraduates and graduates the same as fall semester.
- 1 to 2 credits—$49 for undergrads, compared to $102 last semester, and $49 for grads, unchanged.

Nonresident undergraduate and graduate fees are unchanged, according to Swanson.

Michigan State now charges a total of $297 for those taking seven to nine credits during a September-through-spring school year while OU charges $330.

★ ★ ★

Swanson explained that the two schools fees do not compare exactly because they have different course multiples. Most MSU courses are in multiples of three—3, 6, 9, 12 credits—while OU has multiples of four.

Next fall MSU and OU will return to essentially this past fall's schedule with provisions for reductions based on ability to pay.

Then, seven to nine credits at OU would cost a maximum of about $174 with reductions on family income to a minimum of about $123.

Adult Classes Offered in Waterford

Some 90 courses, ranging in length from six to 10 weeks, are being offered during the winter term by the Department of Community School Services of the Waterford Township School District.

The classes will begin the week of Jan. 15, according to Donald Youmans, assistant superintendent of community school services.

Registration for the classes will take place from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. next Monday through Thursday in the library at Waterford Township High School, 1415 Crescent Lake.

Registration for limited classes and Bishop sewing must be completed in person.

★ ★ ★

For all other classes, participants can register in person or by mail.

MAILING ADDRESS

Checks or money orders should be mailed to Waterford Community Schools, 3835 W. Walton, Drayton Plains, Mich. 48020.

The classes are open to residents of the Waterford Township School District and the surrounding area.

Several new courses have been added for the winter term, Youmans noted.

★ ★ ★

Included is an adult crafts class in which the instructor is prepared to work with any individual on any craft project of the student's choice.

ANOTHER NEW COURSE

This could include copper tooling or enameling, metal spinning, archery equipment through lamination, wood carving and plastic forming.

Another new course is an art class for mothers and their preschool children.

This class, according to Youmans, is an opportunity for the mother and child to express themselves with various art media, including finger painting, chalk, charcoal and water colors.

★ ★ ★

Still another new course in the art field is decoupage, an art form which rapidly is becoming very popular.

CUT AND PASTE

Various prints or designs are cut and pasted to purses, picture, plaques, lamps, furniture or any other personal or household item.

No art talent is needed for this approach to new decorative pieces in the home, Youmans emphasized.

Two new classes have been added in furniture refinishing.

★ ★ ★

They are chair caning, the art of reseating chairs with cane, reed or rush in any of the traditional methods; and furniture upholstering.

SPEED READING

Speed reading is another of the new classes. It is designed to help the student increase his reading rate and, at the same time, retain or improve his comprehension of the material.

"Bishop sewing is still our single most popular program," said Youmans, who informed that 36 separate classes will be offered during the winter term.

Besides the continuation of the Bishop II through VI classes, eight beginning courses and specialty classes in double knits, shifts, slacks and advanced fittings are being offered.

★ ★ ★

"Our Bishop staff of 16 teachers is one of the largest and best trained in the country," said Youmans.

"About 150 women will begin their Bishop training this term and most of them will remain in Bishop until they have learned to tailor their own two-piece suit in Bishop VI," Youmans said.

Commenting on the entire program, Youmans said:

"As more and more people realize the opportunities offered in their schools, our program continues to grow. From a small beginning four years ago, we have approached the point where it is no longer unique for someone to participate in these classes."

2 New Polls Assess Nixon, Rockefeller

NEW YORK (UPI) — One poll of Republican party leaders shows former Vice President Richard M. Nixon most likely to get the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, but a separate poll shows Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York would be the stronger candidate against President Johnson.

A poll by Newsweek Magazine showed Nixon has a commanding lead among potential delegates to the Republican National Convention next August in Miami. The magazine said that if the convention were held today, Nixon would get 561 votes, only 106 short of the 667 needed for the nomination.

The other poll, by the New York Times, indicated party leaders and observers in the 50 states with 378 electoral votes, compared with 100 for Johnson and 60 for former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, who is campaigning as a third party candidate.

The Newsweek survey of delegates put Rockefeller in second place behind Nixon with 363 potential delegate votes. Gov. Ronald Reagan of California had 201 and Gov. George Romney of Michigan, the only declared GOP candidate, had 89.

★ ★ ★

There were 114 undecided votes among governors, state chairman and leading spokesmen polled in all 50 states.

★ ★ ★

The Times said its survey showed that in a two-man race Nixon would edge Johnson by "a relatively narrow margin," 271 electoral votes to 267.

But with Wallace in the race, Johnson would get 301 votes to 210 for Nixon and 27 for Wallace. The newspaper said Wallace was the "chief imponderable" in assessing next November's election.

Both publications said their surveys were based on current conditions and on how potential delegates feel now. Neither made any attempt to consider possible shifts in issues during the seven months remaining before the national conventions.

'Splash Day' Gets a Cool Reception

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A crowd of some 400 gathered on Padre Island Monday for the 14th annual "splash day" observance, which is supposed to demonstrate for all to see that the climate is mild in the Corpus Christi area.

Nine young ladies in bathing suits shivered their way through a beauty pageant. Then Mayor Jack Blackmon led a dozen swimmers for a dip in the surf in 53-degree weather.

★ ★ ★

The dip was a quick one, and the swimmers had blue lips and chattering teeth as they headed for the dressing rooms.

During World War I, Russia once had a peak strength of 54 cavalry divisions, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Cases Against Four Dismissed

Judge Cites 'Illegal Status of Grand Juror'

Gambling charges against four persons arrested in police raids ordered by the Pratt grand jury more than a year ago have been dismissed.

Novi Justice of the Peace Emery Jacques dismissed the charges on the basis that Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt did not have the authority as a grand juror when he ordered the raids in November 1966.

The cases were dismissed Thursday against Roy L. Clark, his wife, Anna L., and George H. Clark, all of Hazel Park, and Donna L. Coultis of Detroit.

The dismissal came after a motion to quash both the warrant and order for arrest was made by their attorney, Richard Chosid of Ferndale.

★ ★ ★

"According to a recent ruling by the Michigan Court of Appeals, Judge Pratt had no power to sign an order for conducting the raid and making the arrests," Chosid said. "When the circuit judges got together and signed an order making Judge Pratt the grand juror for a second term, they were violating a state statute and their actions were unconstitutional."

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. I am too short, and I hate it. I am barely five feet tall. Is there any exercise or any food that will make me taller?

A. There is no special food that will add to height. This is an inherited characteristic. However, exercises which stretch the spine and improve posture can help. If your posture is not what it should be, corrective measures can add an inch or two.

Straighten your spine all the way and lift your rib cage. Do not allow your head to protrude forward or your chin to dip into your neck. Lift your chin until it is parallel to the floor. Do you add an inch to your height when you do this?

★ ★ ★

Q. Will you please give me a good facial exercise? If you were going to choose just one which is good generally for facial contour, what would it be?

A. This one. Apply cream to the face. Open the jaws halfway. Pull the lips back from the teeth as far as you can, corners of the mouth up. Now purse the lips. Continue pulling the lips away from the teeth and pursing the lips.

Q. I am 17 years old, five feet three and weigh 116 pounds. My bust measures 32 inches and my waist 24 inches and hips 34 inches. My friends tell me that I would have a nice figure if my bust were larger. Is this true? I have become very self-conscious about my small bust. I am small boned.

A. Do not be self-conscious any more! You are allowed a difference of two inches between the bust and the hips although the ideal has been to have the hip and bust measurement the same.

In recent years the bust measurements may be even larger. However not all women can achieve the ideal because of bony structure and the size of muscles.

If you would like to increase your bust measurement, you can do so by building up the chest muscles.

Q. I am very much involved in social activities and am continually embarrassed by underarm perspiration. This is ruining my clothes and my personality. What can I do? I use a deodorant.

A. Use shields in your dresses, suits and blouses (when you can.) This will protect your clothes. Also, I wonder if you are using a product which is an anti-perspirant as well as a deodorant.

A deodorant simply takes care of the odor of perspiration. It does not slow the flow. Nervousness can cause excessive perspiration. Check this angle.

Show Vitamin C Non-Effective in Cold Therapy

NEW YORK (UPI) — One new scientific report holds that large doses of vitamin C will not prevent or shorten the course of the common cold. People who have been getting adequate intake of the vitamin are not benefitted by additional doses.

The report comes from "Nutrition Reviews", a monthly publication of the non-profit Nutrition Foundation that supports research and education in food fields.

★ ★ ★

It reports that a series of tests with volunteers revealed that contrary to common belief, massive doses of C will not stop a cold, reduce its severity or alter the length of time it takes to run its course.

Woman Receives Man of the Year Tobacco Award

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — When Mrs. June Mele, who has been manager of the Smoke Shop in a local store for 30 years, was named "Man of the Year" recently by the tobacco industry, the traditional award of a pair of cuff links wasn't appropriate.

Instead, the Retail Tobacco Dealers of America, at their annual convention, presented their only female member with a gold bracelet.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mele studied tobacco blending at Indiana University and now mixes special blends for 350 regular customers, each catalogued in her mind along with his tobacco formula preference.

Reading Habits Are Formulated in Early Years

LOUISVILLE, KY. (AP)—A child's most important habit—a love of reading and books—is formulated by the time he is 2 years old, believes Mrs. Lesley Frost Ballantine, daughter of the late poet, Robert Frost.

★ ★ ★

Speaking before a local woman's club, Mrs. Ballantine suggested that parents should read aloud to their children from the time they are tiny tots, and should continue reading sessions as a family activity.

★ ★ ★

The New York City resident recalled that some of her fondest memories as a child are of evenings by the fire in her native New Hampshire, listening as her parents read aloud.

Taffeta, Lace Highlight Saturday Bridal Ensemble

A floor length gown of white lace taffeta was chosen by Saturday bride, the former Bonnie Irene Davis, as she repeated vows with Sp. 4 Michael M. King, USA, son of the Melville Kings of Lakeview Drive, Independence Township.

SHOULDER VEIL

Completing her ensemble was a crown of matching fabric that held a shoulder illusion veil. She carried a cascade of red roses and white carnations.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wes Schaar was her sister's matron of honor. They are the daughters of the Alburn Davises of Churchill Raod, Pontiac Township.

★ ★ ★

Bridesmaids were Suzane Byers and Janet King. Leta King and Walter Dixon were flower girl and ring bearer.

★ ★ ★

Larry Evon stood as best man with ushers Thomas Byers and Jerry King.

★ ★ ★

Following vows in the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church, the couple was feted at a reception in Auburn Heights Boys' Club before leaving on a northern honeymoon.

Twin Sister Is His Date

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP) — In order to pick dates for a school dance, students at the all-male St. Benedict's College here decided to use computers to select partners from among the girls at nearby Mount St. Scholastica, an all-women's college.

Both the boys and the girls filled out cards which were "matched" as to likes and dislikes by the computer.

Mike Flaton, a 19-year-old St. Louis youth, was surprised when his date, picked as one having similar interests, showed up for the dance. It was his twin sister, Sue Flaton.

NAACP Feels Job-Bias Victory Has Bleak Side

NEW YORK (AP) — An agreement reached in Columbus, Ohio, guaranteeing 140 jobs for Negroes on Ohio State University construction projects looks like a clear-cut victory for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

But to the NAACP staff members who negotiated it, the pact symbolizes the end of once-bright hopes that federal and state governments would vigorously enforce antidiscrimination statutes and shows that pressure must be applied unrelentingly against unions and builders.

★ ★ ★

"It's an indication of the failure of voluntary compliance," said Herbert Hill, national labor director for the NAACP.

"There is a federal executive order issued by President Johnson forbidding discrimination in all federally financed construction. The U.S. Division of Contract Compliance is a dead letter. They have never enforced this. They depend instead on voluntary compliance."

FUNDS HELP UP

In Washington, the head of the division, Owen Kiley, replied that federal funds for the Ohio State projects had been held up since last May.

That was when U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary ruled in a suit brought by the NAACP that government funds may not be used on projects where there is racial discrimination in hiring.

The judge also held that the state had primary responsibility for requiring that such work forces be integrated, and it was under his order that agreement was reached last Thursday, more than six months later.

Until last month, according to Dr. David McConnell, a university biochemist who headed the NAACP negotiating team as labor chairman of the Columbus branch, the university had made no attempt to implement the decision.

McConnell, who is white, said negotiations were arranged only after he gained admittance to a Washington meeting of Health Education and Welfare Department officials last Dec. 1 by threatening "to hold a press conference in the hall if they didn't admit me."

At that meeting, he said, "We got some of the primitive facts established. Namely, we held HEW as well as the state of Ohio responsible. Then HEW told the university they wouldn't let $6 million in matching funds go unless they settled their peace with the NAACP.

★ ★ ★

"It was really a squeeze play between the federal government and the NAACP, and the federal government ran scared because it's an election year. We threatened to name them in a suit before the same court on the same issue covering the entire state of Ohio."

Director Kiley of the HEW's Division of Contract Compliance confirmed the meeting with McConnell, but said that when the NAACP representative asked to be admitted, he was invited to attend and fully express his views. And, said Kiley, the decision to withhold federal funds for the Ohio State projects was made last May, not at the December meeting.

'FINALLY JELLED'

In Columbus, the university's equal employment opportunity officer, Stephen Lance, disputed McConnell's allegation that the school hadn't tried to implement the court order.

"I would object to the words 'no attempt' and would say that the attempts being made finally jelled after that (Washington) meeting," Lance said. He said university officials began negotiating with contractors immediately after the court decision "to get their commitments to hire minority workers."

★ ★ ★

To Hill the Ohio State agreement means more pressure, not less, on government-financed construction projects. He named Newark, N.J., and San Francisco-Oakland as the next two major targets. Both areas, he said, plan huge construction programs and have "volatile Negro ghetto areas with very high rates of Negro unemployment."

"We have exhausted all reasonable efforts to discuss these matters with the building trades unions," said Hill. "Therefore there is no choice but to move to cut off public funds. . .

★ ★ ★

"Exactly one year ago, after four years of picketing and mass demonstrations against the building trades of northern New Jersey, the five Iron Workers locals signed an agreement with the New Jersey Civil Rights Commission.

"Now, exactly one year later, not a single Negro has been admitted."

William Jennings Bryan, in 1896, at the age of 36, was the youngest candidate ever nominated for the U.S. presidency.

Chinese Plot Said Smashed

Saigon Counterfeiters, Fake U. S. Bills Seized

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese national police said today they had arrested several Chinese counterfeiters and seized $250,000 in fake U.S. $5 bills, thereby foiling what they called a Red Chinese attempt to destroy the economies of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

Police said the counterfeiters were Red Chinese spies who planned to trade the U.S. bills on the black market to buy equipment to counterfeit the currencies of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Police reported they closed in on the counterfeiters last Thursday in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon, and seized a printing press, paper and ink and complete and incomplete $5 bills. The counterfeiters' printing plates also were seized, they said.

Several persons, including some who tried to escape, were arrested, officials added, but police declined to disclose their names, saying the investigation was continuing. A police statement said, "In the present case, there undoubtedly will be death sentences given to the Chinese counterfeiters."

Police said they had been investigating for five months "an important clandestine economic and financial organization led directly by Communist authorities on the Chinese mainland, whose purpose was to counterfeit various monies in order to subvert the economies of many countries in Southeast Asia, and especially the economy of South Vietnam"

They said the counterfeit U.S. bills were to be put into the black market by a Chinese named "Dailthe Gioi"—the great world—who would get South Vietnamese piasters in return to "buy needed modern machines for printing counterfeit bills to subvert the monetary base of the countries the Communist Chinese want to invade in the near future."

The Communists "planned to immediately destroy the Republic of (South) Vietnam's economy by printing and throwing into the market about 30 billion piasters"—$200 million, police said.

As 1968 Trading Begins

Stock Mart Continues Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to advance early today as trading began for 1968.

Taking off from a vigorous year-end rally, the market rose, with gains outnumbering losses about 2 to 1.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 1.79 at 906.90.

Some airlines were unsettled by President Johnson's proposals to curb tourist travel abroad.

MORE THAN POINT

World Airways, which specializes in charter flights, sank more than a point.

Pan American World Airways was delayed in opening.

Among the domestic carriers, United and Eastern Airlines rose fractionally while American dropped a fraction.

The President's declared war on the widening gap in the balance of payments upset the gold mining stocks on the big board. Homestake, the biggest U.S. gold producer, sank more than 2 points.

The weekend accumulation of business and economic news seemed more favorable than unfavorable, brokers said.
