Thorpes Returned to State Custody

Voters to Fill School Board Posts Monday

Most of Oakland County's school districts will hold elections Monday to select school board members. In two of the larger districts, Pontiac and Waterford, two seats are to be filled.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., and paper ballots will be used. In Pontiac there are four candidates seeking four-year terms, while in Waterford, there are eight running for three-year terms.

Pontiac District

Experience versus new blood is the choice before Pontiac School District voters as a pair of long-time board members square off against two newcomers to the educational scene in Monday's election.

Louis H. Schimmel, of 509 W. Iroquois Rd., board president and 20-year member, and Robert B. Oliver, 278 W. Iroquois Rd., 16-year member, are seeking re-election to four year terms on the seven man board. Opposing the incumbents will be William H. Anderson and Lloyd R. Ludy.

Schimmel, a bond and municipal finance expert, has held a great number of posts in state and county government where his financial and governmental knowledge has proved of value. He is currently heading a state-wide committee to seek reform of the school finance problem on a state-level.

Oliver, an automobile dealer, is active in civic affairs. His interests include the Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scouts, YMCA and Civil Defense.

Anderson, of 919 Spence St., is a partner in a local non-ferrous foundry and machine firm. He has been active in the Masonic order and related organizations.

Ludy works as a production control expediter in Rochester and is a member of his township's zoning board. The youngest of the four candidates (39), he is a veteran of World War II.

The victors Monday will be elected to the board at a time when major construction projects are planned, especially the new $3.5 million high school.

During the next four years in which they will serve, the school system expects to spend millions of dollars in constructing four new elementary schools, another junior high, additions to two existing junior highs, and additions to a number of elementaries.

Waterford District

Waterford School District voters will choose two board of education members from a field of eight Monday.

★ ★ ★

The eight constitute the largest number of candidates since the consolidation of the Waterford District five years ago. Waterford has a five man board and members serve for three years.

Only one incumbent is seeking reelection and that is the president of the board, Mrs. Donald E. Adams, of 2711 Walton Blvd.

Mrs. Adams has been a board member for three years and has been active in local community affairs, serving as justice of the peace and as a member of the township board.

Other candidates are Jerome K. Barry Jr. of 2247 Kohler Ave, an assistant prosecuting attorney; Lester Carson, of 4135 Grayton Rd., Detroit Edison Co. employe and member of the township recreation board; Mrs. Melvin E. Inglehart, of 1312 Hospital Rd., housewife.

★ ★ ★

Also in the race are: Williard V. Johnson, of 474 Shoreview Dr., officer of the Pontiac Community National Bank; Richard D. Kuhn, of 2295 Lake Angelus Rd., graduate attorney and owner of an auto-wash business; Frank R. Rudlaff, of 3615 Brookdale Rd., GMC Truck and Coach employe in business management; and Charles W. Walters, 6020 Southward St., yard foreman of Grand Trunk Railroad in Pontiac.

VOTING PLACES

The following places will be used for voting in the district's five precincts:

★ ★ ★

Precinct 1, Drayton Plains School; Precinct 2, Donelson School; Precinct 3, Waterford Center School; Precinct 4, Waterford Village School; Precinct 5, Pontiac Lake School.

Resolution Asks U. S. Not to Give GI to Japanese

House Move, If Adopted Would Not Be Binding on Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Haley (D-Fla) has introduced a resolution urging the administration to reconsider its decision to allow Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard to be tried by Japanese authorities.

The resolution, if adopted, would not be binding. It would represent only an expression of House sentiment in the case of the 21-year-old Ottawa, Ill. soldier accused in the death of a Japanese woman.

The case has aroused considerable controversy in Congress and elsewhere.

Meanwhile, townspeople in Ottawa were raising a fund in the GI's behalf, and a citizens' committee arranged to fly here Monday to protest formally the government decision to allow the soldier to be tried by the Japa-

Expect Cool Weather for Tonight, Sunday

The weather man has reported that a rather chilly weekend is in the offing. Tonight will be cool with a low near 50 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Cooler weather will prevail again tomorrow, with the mercury expected to reach only 66 to 70.

The outlook for Monday is mostly cloudy and warmer with scattered thundershowers.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 45. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 67.

Ready for Commencement Exercises Today

Granddaughters Among Graduates

C. E. Wilson Is Kingswood Speaker

Secretary of Defense, Charles Erwin Wilson, is delivering the commencement address at Kingswood School Cranbrook, this afternoon.

Secretary Wilson could easily say "no" to a commencement address request from Harvard or the University of California.

There are only 53 seniors graduating at Kingswood, compared with several thousand in the nation's big universities, but two of the Kingswood girls are very influential in the life of the Secretary of Defense.

Each has a tremendous drag.

If you're Secretary of Defense, you can side step the president of a great American university, but you can't duck Ann and Jean when you're their grandpappy.

After looking at the pair even casually, no male in his right mind would want to side step them, anyway. They're two beautiful young women and no one but a grandfather ever should be permitted to claim them both at once. The Secretary of Defense is just as proud of them as they are of him — and now you have the ultimate and maximum in pride and affection.

Both of these girls are splendid students and stand well up in the senior class.

Ann Wilson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson of Long Lake Road (and the GMC Truck and Coach Division). Jean Hargreaves' mother is Jean Wilson Hargreaves. Jean's father is a partner in the Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet agency in Pontiac and Royal Oak.

Of course, the distinguished looking figure in the center is the internationally known Secretary of Defense who resigned the presidency of General Motors to accept the post in President Dwight D. Eisenhower's cabinet. But today—shucks, he's just "Gramps." And confidentially, that means a whale of a lot more than the title of "Mister Secretary."

When Ann learned her distinguished forebear was going to deliver the address, she said, "I have one request to make, Grandpa."

"I'll listen," said the Secretary of Defense.

"Please don't tell us 'You Stand on the Threshold of Life'."

"Corny?" queried her grandfather.

"Very," said Annie.

"I suppose you'd all listen intently if I told you how to handle a man," suggested the Secretary.

Macomb Couple to Be Arraigned for Embezzling

Prosecutor Brings Pair Back From Texas to End Long Search

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—After a 15-month police hunt of Canada, Mexico and the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thorpe were back in Michigan today to face charges in the embezzlement of some $80,000 in state auto license fees.

Their return under police custody last night from Corpus Christi, Texas, climaxed a flight that began in March of 1956.

The Thorpes were scheduled to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Francis Castelucci on charges of conspiracy to embezzle.

Macomb County Prosecutor Cecil A. Byers who brought the fugitives back from Texas quoted the couple as saying they would plead guilty. He said they seemed almost eager to "get it over with."

They are accused of taking the money from a secretary of state branch office Mrs. Thorpe managed in St. Clair Shores. They were arrested in Corpus Christi Tuesday.

WILLOW RUN

The couple landed at Willow Run airport in the custody of Byers and Michigan State Police.

After 29 other passengers had been ushered down the steps from the big four-motored plane and directed to the airport terminal, Thorpe stepped to the plane door. He was followed by his wife, Anne.

They walked briskly down the steps and were greeted by their son, Frank, 24, and daughter, Mrs. Norma Rappa, 23.

Police took the Thorpes to the Macomb County jail where they were to be held pending arraignment.

City Man Dies After Accident

Automobile Left Road, Plunged Down Incline 300 Feet Into Ravine

The victim, Joseph Alfred Gere, 57, of 2381 Mt. Clemens St., a Pontiac Mill Works employe, missed an "S" shaped curve, crashed through a wire fence, plunged down an incline 300 feet into a ravine, and struck a tree, according to Oakland County Sheriff reports.

According to Boeberitz, Gere made no effort to slow down or avoid leaving the road. He was admitted to the hospital at 10:10 a.m. and died at 11:05.

Pontiac Men on 3-Day Lake Cruise

Link Union Official, Girl

Will Quiz Bakers' Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators said today Bakers Union President James G. Cross will get a chance to answer under oath testimony linking his name with that of a convicted prostitute.

The woman, brunette Mrs. Kay Lower, 26, of Los Angeles, was identified by Los Angeles police as a convicted prostitute.

She pleaded the Fifth Amendment yesterday in refusing to tell the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee whether Cross beat her for giving another man a diamond ring, or whether Cross funnelled union funds to her from Washington through his Los Angeles aides.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), the committee chairman, said Cross "will have the opportunity to comment" as a witness after the hearings resume next Thursday.

Mrs. Lower, sporting a bloodshot left eye, refused even to tell the committee whether she knows Cross. But she did say "I imagine so" when asked whether she had received union funds from Cross, a married man.

Albert Barclay, ousted office manager of Bakers Local No. 37 in Los Angeles, gave testimony about a union fund to hire "goons." He also said the international union sent $75 a week to the local for "Mr. Cross' girl friend so to speak, Mrs. Elsie Kay Lower."

John D. Nelson, who runs Local 37 as a trustee for Cross, had some sharp exchanges with the committee as to whether union funds went to Mrs. Lower and whether union "goons" had, as Barclay alleged, beaten up a 14-year-old boy named Newsom during the picketing of a Los Angeles bakery.

Under persistent questioning, Nelson testified that perhaps $900 to $1,100 of $1,500 recorded in the local's books as going for "organization" purposes was paid to Mrs. Lower. He said this was in payment for her work at digging up names of about 50 possible recruits for union membership at the Van De Kamp bakery in Los Angeles.

Ike Attacks Democrats, Raps Knuckles of GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has combined a slashing attack on the Democrats with knuckle-rapping criticism of some Republican leaders. It may put a new strain on his relations with Congress.

In some of the sharpest phrasing he has used, Eisenhower yesterday labeled the Democrats as "easy spending, paternalistic, business-baiting inflationists." He said they are "hopelessly split" as a party.

Speaking at the windup of a two-day Republican conference, he indirectly attributed to the Democrats "government by crony," advocacy of a "rubber dollar," and support for deficit spending.

In language slightly less tart, Eisenhower said his party's leaders in Congress must lay aside their "personal preference" and

It'll Cost $3.25 for Car and Occupants

Set Mackinac Bridge Toll

ST. IGNACE (AP) — A flat rate of $3.25 for a passenger car and all its occupants has been set for the new Straits of Mackinac Bridge. Truck tolls will be determined by axles.

In setting the tolls, the Mackinac Bridge Authority, said yesterday the rates will prevail when the bridge opens, but are not necessarily permanent.

Prentiss M. Brown, Authority chairman, said "The Authority would have preferred a flat $3 per car rate for ease of collection. Our object is to serve enough traffic to reduce all rates as soon as possible."

The 100-million dollar bridge crosses the five-mile wide straits between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City.

Current ferry tolls are $2.75 for a car plus 25 cents for each occupant. The Bridge Authority said its analysis of ferry tolls indicates the average price per passenger car, including occupants, is $3.40.

Under bridge tolls some trucks will pay more than they did on the ferry and some will pay less. The ferry charge is based on length.

Woman Claims Sclerosis Clue

Russian-Born Scientist Believes She's Found the Causing Germ

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Multiple Sclerosis Society says it is pleased by the publication of findings by a Russian-born woman scientist who says she has found the germ that causes multiple sclerosis.

Miss Rose Ichelson, gray-haired researcher at St. Luke's and Children's Hospital here, announced yesterday she has successfully isolated a live micro-organism which she has "100 per cent reason to believe" is the culprit behind multiple sclerosis or "MS."

Without a known cure, MS afflicts an estimated 300,000 persons in this country — most of them in the 30-45 age bracket, although some children also have been stricken.

Miss Ichelson said she also had developed a skin test to ascertain whether a patient is a victim of MS.

Multiple sclerosis strikes at the nerves, attacking the nerve fiber covering known as the myelin and leaving scars called sclerotic patches which "short circuit" the nerve system at that point.

This causes such outward symptoms as trembling, paralysis, impaired vision, speech defects and generalized crippling. The recurrent nature of the disease, also called progressive sclerosis, leaves the victim completely helpless.

Two Juveniles Arrested

Two Thursday night break-in cases were cleared by the Pontiac Police yesterday after two juveniles were apprehended.

One youth was arrested about 5 a.m. yesterday by Officer Robert F. Rowland after he was observed inside Edlers Drive-In Restaurant, 565 S. Saginaw St. The second break-in, involved $12 in change stolen from four vending machines other juvenile involved in the warehouse, 50 Osmun St.

Detective Sgt. Raymond Meggitt, Sgt. Henry Hoyt and Detective James F. Bale apprehended an of the Sears Roebuck and Co. Warehouse break-in.

They were turned over to juvenile court authorities.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

How do the clouds sometimes telegraph the arrival of a warm front? Why are they easier to predict than the arrival of cold fronts?

A warm front arrives over your head before you are usually aware of it. That is because the leading edge of a warm front slants forward at the top. Usually this slant is considerable, extending over a distance of hundreds of miles.

Therefore, when cirrus clouds appear far up in the sky, after a clear day, it may well mean that a warm front is approaching. These ice clouds very often are the first sign in the sky that a warm front is on its way.

★ ★ ★

In twelve to twenty-four hours after sighting the first telltale sign of the oncoming warm front, you will probably experience rain. Certainly, the clouds will steadily lower and in twenty-four hours will be cumulus rain clouds.

When you see a halo around the moon, or the familiar mackeral sky, then, or thin ice clouds far above, it may well be the first sign of a warm front.

REMODELING PROJECT — Adding a modern touch to Lawrence street these days is this new front for the Abstract and Title Guaranty Co. at 18 W. Lawrence St. Presently being completed is a $80,000 remodeling job both inside and outside the building. Work began last November. The company took over the former offices in the building of realtors Floyd Kent and Leslie Tripp. The company now occupies the basement, first, and second floors. Ninety-six employes are working in the modernized interior, completely air conditioned. The exterior front is enamel on stainless steel. Aluminum windows also were added.

Says She Killed Her 3 Children

Detroit Woman Phones Police; 2 Bodies Found in Bathtub

DETROIT (AP)—Three small children were found dead today shortly after their distraught mother telephoned police that she had killed them.

Inside the gas-filled house officers found the bodies of Jimmy, 4, and Deborah, 1½, in a bathtub partially filled with water. The other child, 6-months-old Diane, lay in her crib in a bedroom.

Police said two of the children apparently had drowned and one died of suffociation. They said the children might have been dead for several hours.

Neighbors told officers that the mother was a registered nurse at the Metropolitan Hospital but had been off the last two days. They said they saw no indication of trouble at the home.

Officers who answered the call said gas jets on a kitchen stove and the basement water heater were open. They said the mother may have attempted to take her own life after calling police.

Asst. Prosecutor Ronald J. Prebenda said Mrs. Wheeldon told him she had been planning to kill the children for a long time because "there was no future for them."

She said she divorced her husband, George, two years ago and married James Clark, a truck driver, who was father of Debbie and Diane. Then, she told the prosecutor, she learned only Thursday that the marriage was invalid because Clark was already married and had not been divorced.

Attending a two-week seminar for women's editors starting Monday at the American Press Institute, Columbia University, in New York will be Judith L. Clemence, women's editor of The Pontiac Press. Newspapers in 17 states, the District of Columbia, Canada and Hawaii will be represented by the 30 members chosen for the seminar.

The Day in Birmingham

6 Vie for Spot on Board; $6.8 Million Loan Sought

BIRMINGHAM—With a "no-contest" slate for the Bloomfield Hills district election Monday, area interest centers on Birmingham, where six candidates vie for one vacancy on the Board of Education.

Heading the list with the endorsement of Board President Ernest Seaholm, whose retirement has created the opening, is Bennett A. Root.

Birmingham voters also are being asked to authorize a $6,800,000 dollar loan to finance a new junior-senior high school; a new elementary school; a new service building; the remodeling of the old Baldwin school and the construction of proper, below-surface drainage facilities at the present senior high school.

Incumbents seeking reelection in Bloomfield Hills are Merrill O. Bates, third term, and Douglas L. Jocelyn, second term.

Swimming instruction will be available at two of Birmingham's school pools, June 24 to Aug. 2, the Recreation Board said this week. Registration is not necessary for either day or night instruction.

Instead of age limits, beginning swimmers must be 40 inches tall, from chin to floor. Swimmers 17 and under will be asked to pay 35 cents, with a 75 cent fee for the older swimmers.

Taxpayers in the Hickory Grove School district will go to the polls Monday to decide whether or not that independent district will become a part of the Bloomfield Hills system.

Hills officials have already expressed their willingness to adopt the merger, and state approval has been given.

Birmingham City Commissioners are joining members of the Baldwin Library Board in a resolution honoring Harry Allen for his untiring service to the latter organization.

Allen, last president of the village, and first mayor of the city, has been a member of the library board for 13 years.

Consulate Holds Students' Visas

2 South Carolina Youths Went Into Red Hungary for 'Adventure'

VIENNA, Austria, (AP)—The U. S. consulate today took away the passports of two South Carolina college students back from an excursion into Communist Hungary.

Mike A. Gilbert of Walterboro and Warren William Hair, of north Augusta, S. C. were released by Hungarian police last midnight and returned to Austria after having been jailed incommunicado since May 26.

They are staying in a Vienna lodging arranged for them by the consulate until the State Department decides whether they should be allowed to continue their hitchhiking tour of Europe or ordered to return home.

Consular officials were especially annoyed by a statement "We might do it again."

Austrian police this morning discharged the youths to American custody.

They probably will have to remain here three or four days until the State Department decides what to do about them.

Ike Attacks Dems, Raps GOP Knuckles assume their "special responsibility" to fight for his legislative program — including his $71,800,000,000 spending budget.

In what was described by many of his listeners as "a fighting speech," Eisenhower seemed to be laying the groundwork for carrying the battle to the Democrats in next year's contest for control of Congress. The President was applauded 24 times.

He gave plain notice he thinks his party's prospects in 1958 and in the 1960 presidential election will depend on the extent to which it embraces "modern Republicanism." He said the 1956 platform had charted his program.

There were few among the 1,600 party officials, members of Congress and well - wishers who doubted Eisenhower was aiming a shaft at Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California and Sen. Bridges (R-NH) when he said:

"Republican leaders, whether in Congress, in the executive branch, (or) in the party organization have a special responsibility for carrying out these (platform) pledges. None of us can allow his personal preference as to detail to blind him to the need of loyally supporting out party's platform."

Confirm Adone Zoli as Italian Premier

ROME (INS)—Adone Zoli was confirmed early today as premier of Italy.

The Chamber of Deputies gave him a vote of confidence 305 to 255. The Senate voted in favor of the Zoli government 132 to 93 last Wednesday.

Zoli is the 18th post-World War II premier of Italy.

From the National Safety Council

★ ★ ★

BRIGHT LIGHTS

Smith, a traffic engineer, pointed out that the Uniform Vehicle Code recommends that an auto's bright lights be capable of illuminating an object 350 feet away.

But at 60 miles an hour, a passenger car's stopping distance is 366 feet.

"I'm sure that cars with properly adjusted sealed-beam units meet the requirement of being able to spot an object 350 feet away," Smith said. "And most modern-day cars have sealed-beam headlights. But they are not always adjusted, the lenses or windshield may be dirty.

SELDOM SEE

"A car's lower beam won't meet the requirement. With the low beam, you seldom can see more than 100 feet ahead, especially when the glare of an oncoming car's lights hits you."

★ ★ ★

Statistics indicate that, nationally, chances of a motor-vehicle fatality at night are three times as great as during the day.

Motorists—whose ability to see at night may be lessened by strong daylight — were warned by the Council not to rely on "'blind faith" in driving at night.

Bomber Loses Rudder in Flight

Pilot 'Lands' 2 Hours on Clouds for Practice, Then Comes in Safely

With 27 men aboard the 5 million dollar aircraft, the pilot, Capt. Albert D. McKinnon of Brewer, Maine, steering only with his elevators and by varying speeds of his 10 engines, spent two hours making practice approaches at clouds, then made a "beautiful landing" here yesterday.

McKinnon said that while flying over the Stockton area he heard the rudder section of the tail assembly tear off during a turn.

McKinnon said he could not see that the rudder was missing but felt the rudder controls go limp.

Police Officers Hold Annual Ball Tonight

The dance will be held at the CAI Hall, 5640 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township and begins at 9 p.m. The public is invited to attend the semi-formal event.

Proceeds from the dance will be placed in the association's funds for the sponsorship of their teenage city softball team. Christmas baskets for needy families, the officer's widow and flower funds, and various other charities, according to Herbert C. Cooley, president of the association.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Foreign Aid Bill Clears Hurdle

Senate Unit Approves Legislation After Cuts of $200 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's foreign aid bill has cleared its first hurdle, slimmer by more than 200 million dollars.

By a 12-3 vote, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved the bill yesterday after cutting $227,300,000 of the presidential request of $3,864,410,000 for military and economic aid to free world nations in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The measure, now carrying authority for $3,637,110,000, faces rougher going next week on the Senate floor.

The committee - approved version gives the President authority to continue foreign aid beyond a year, and it also gives him flexibility in other ways.

★ ★ ★

Only two Democrats — Morse of Oregon and Long of Louisiana—and one Republican, Langer of North Dakota, supported Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) when he offered an amendment to cut the over-all authority in the bill by about 800 million dollars. Langer voted by proxy from his sickbed.

In addition to the $3,637,110,000 in new spending authority, the committee also authorized reappropriation of 500 million dollars for military assistance from funds left over from the current fiscal year.

And it authorized a two billion dollar, three year program for making loans for economic development abroad — providing for a 500 million dollar appropriation for the year starting July 1, plus authority to borrow 750 million from the treasury in each of the two succeeding years.

It also approved a two-year program for military assistance and enable the State and Defense Departments to plan aid that far head.

General Warns Women in Tokyo About Clothing

TOKYO (AP)—"Slacks poorly fitted to figures and figures poorly fitted to slacks are combinations that lend little grace to any public occasion or building."

That pronouncement on feminine attire was contained in a warm weather note today from a U. S. Army commander to "women of the American military community in Tokyo."

It warned wives and daughters of military personnel that shorts, pedal pushers and halters "are inappropriate for street wear and for wear in military installations."

A letter from Maj. Gen. H. J. Carns, 1st Cavalry Division commander, was delivered to the homes of Tokyo service personnel.

"The ease and comfort afforded by abbreviated clothing are well appreciated,' the letter said. "However, women are reminded that such articles as shorts, pedal pushers, halters and the like are designed for wear at times and places reserved for ease, comfort or recreation."

Vacation Schools Set at 2 Imlay Churches

IMLAY CITY — St. Paul's Lutheran Church and the First Congregational Church will hold Vacation Bible School from June 10-14 and June 17-21, in the morning only.

The Christian Reformed Church will hold its Vacation Bible School the last two weeks in June beginning Monday, June 17. Harriet Terpstra, Grand Rapids, will be in charge.

Billy Graham to Appear on TV for Second Time

NEW YORK (INS) — Billy Graham will take his evangelical message to the country on network television tonight for the second time.

The American Broadcasting Company will air his sermon, delivered at a Madison Square Garden rally, from 7 to 8 p.m. local time.

A "crusade train" was due to arrive in New York's Pennsylvania Station from Ohio this morning under the direction of the Rev. Rex Humbard, to attend tonight's rally.

Asks Wheat Farmers to File for Allotment

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for grain for any of the years 1955, 1956 and 1957, may apply for a 1958 wheat acreage allotment, according to William F. Porritt, Chairman of the Oakland County Agricultural Committee.

To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for grain for any of those years, the farmer must apply in writing to his county ASC committee by July 1, 1957.

If the wheat acreage on a farm is not in excess of 15 acres, officials say it is not necessary to have an allotment for marketing of wheat. However, if price support is desired, an allotment must be established and the harvested acres cannot exceed the allotment.

Four Persons Injured on Telegraph Road

A Birmingham woman, her mother, and a Melvindale man were injured in a two-car collision Friday at Lone Pine and Telegraph roads.

Mrs. Joal Sisman, 23, of 1045 Suffield Rd., received head cuts and a concussion, but is listed in "satisfactory condition," at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Her mother, Mrs. Julia Hess, 51, was treated for head and leg cuts, and a mild concussion. She was not hospitalized.

David R. Dunlap, 51, of 2527 Corvin St., Melvindale, who was driving the other car has a fractured jaw and cuts about the mouth.

Wins French Golf Title by Beating U.S. Officer

CHANTILLY, France (AP)—Henri de Lamaze of France won the French amateur golf championship for the eighth time and fourth year in succession today by defeating Col. Ken Smith of the U.S. Air Force, 7-6.

Rep. Frank Thompson (D-NJ) said yesterday the "ultimate responsibility" for the decision rests with President Eisenhower. Rep. Bow (R-Ohio) contends someone below cabinet rank made the decision.

BE ADULT

In Louisville, Ky., last night, Sen. Morton (R - Ky) said he thinks Japan should be allowed to try Girard. Americans, he added, must get over their "adolescense" and "be adult" about the case.

But Rep. Miller (R-Neb) said "it is important that we extend to the American boys the protection of the flag and the Constitution when serving in these foreign countries."

At Camp Whittington, Japan, Girard denied that he enticed the women scrap collector—Mrs. Naka Sakai, 46—onto a firing range before shooting a blank rifle cartridge from a grenade launcher. Girard said the shooting last Jan. 30 was accidental.

The soldier's brother, Louis Girard, spoke to William by telephone from Ottawa yesterday and told him: "You are a national hero in the eyes of the American people." Louis also urged William to deny Japanese jurisdiction in the case and to fire his Japanese lawyer, Itsuro Hayashi.

Today, the soldier announced he had dismissed Hayashi.

A statement was issued in Washington by one of Girard's volunteer lawyers — Dayton M. Harrington of Washington—saying he and four other attorneys had agreed "to join forces in presenting the petition for a writ of habeas corpus and also to independently pursue other channels."

Premier Nuri Said Resigns in Iraq

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Premier Nuri Said resigned today. Informed sources said he did so to be able to reshuffle and strengthen his Cabinet.

Political circles said the 69-year-old premier wants to bring new and stronger elements into the Cabinet. King Faisal asked him to stay on until the new Cabinet is formed, perhaps tomorrow.

Nuri Said, in power since August 1954; has reshuffled his cabinet twice. He has a majority of 120 in the House of Deputies, but faces a small opposition edge in the Senate.

Bookstore Owner Dies After Beating; Robbed

DETROIT (AP) — An elderly bookstore owner who was beaten and robbed in his shop died of his injuries yesterday.

Police said the victim, Joseph F. Cherry, 66, apparently had lain unconscious more than 24 hours before he was found. A large cash register had been smashed in the rear of the shop. It was not known how much money was missing.

Pontiac Woman Hurt as Car Skids, Overturns

Jeanette A. Cannon, 24, of 892 Melrose Ave., told sheriffs deputies her car skidded off Giddings road just north of Taylor Rd. in Pontiac Township and overturned. She suffered a broken pelvis.

Hal March Is Father of a New Baby Boy

NEW YORK (AP)—TV quizmaster Hal March is the father of a 5-pound 13 - ounce boy. The baby was born yesterday to March and his wife, the former Candy Toxton.

March is master of ceremonies of CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Question." Mrs. March is a former model and actress.

Orion Woman Injured

Adeline Michalski, 40, of 35 N. Broadway St., Lake Orion, received minor injuries Friday morning in an accident on M-24 at Elizabeth street in Lake Orion. According to Oakland County Sheriff reports her car was struck from behind by a car driven by Donald S. Walton, 18, of 2601 Berg Rd., Birmingham, while stopped to make a turn. She suffered leg bruises and shock.

Higher Budget Okayed

SOUTH LYON—City Council here has accepted the proposed budget of $59,838.96, for the fiscal year July 1, 1957 to June 30, 1958. This is a $7,549.46 increase over last year's figure.

Set Examination in Dump Killing

City Man Arraigned for Second-Degree Murder in Stabbing

Elmer F. Martin, a 33-year-old Pontiac laborer, demanded examination yesterday on a second-degree murder charge involving the fatal stabbing of a West Bloomfield Township man, Joseph Compeau, 27.

Martin, of 264 N. Saginaw St. was arraigned before Waterford Township Justice Donald E. Adams, who scheduled the examination for 1:30 p.m. June 13 in the township hall.

Martin was returned to Oakland County Jail in lieu of posting $10,000 bond.

CHARGE DELAYED

A formal charge had been held up, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said, until discovery Thursday of the alleged death weapon, which Martin reportedly said he had thrown away at the dump after admittedly stabbing Compeau in self-defense.

Martin claimed Compeau had struck at him with a section of lead pipe, police said. The victim died soon after he had been driven by a bystander to Pontiac General Hospital.

The quarrel, Martin reportedly said, arose while he, Compeau, and a third man, Ollie Byrd, 37, of 2584 Eleven Mile road, Southfield Township, were searching the dump for scrap.

It concerned a trivial incident that had involved the two men last summer, Martin was quoted as saying.

Byrd, who had been held with the accused man since Saturday night, was released by police yesterday.

Byrd's son, Bill, drove Compeau to the hospital. The son was questioned by police but was not held during the investigation.

Airlines Pilot Reports Snow Above Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Capt. Joe Amarkan, flying a National Airlines plane at 18,000 feet over Miami yesterday, radioed there were "heavy snow flurries" and a temperature of 19 degrees.

Not a snowflake or a shiver from the upper regions made a dent in the ground situation, where sea-level Miamians endured muggy 83-degree weather.

Cost Cheap—Only $280 for Two Weeks

Britishers Can Have Ball in New York

NEW YORK (INS) — Look London, you can so have a "ball" in New York (or any American town, for that matter) on $280.

Now that Britain has eased the dollar barrier and announced that Britons may take $280 each out of the country for a trip to the United States, instead of only $102, the rush is on from would-be tourists.

DISCOURAGE TRIPS

But at home there seems a move to discourage Britishers from the idea of a trip to America with only $280. For instance the London Daily Mail told its readers:

"In New York there is rampant inflation and the cost of living goes higher each week. You can't have much of a ball on $280."

NOT THAT BAD

Well, now London, it just isn't that bad. Sure Broadway can bust your budget if you insist on going to the plushest night clubs, and there isn't a place in New York—or Chicago, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Boston or Washington—where you can't blow $280 in one night if you must throw your money around.

But over here we think that most Britishers—like us — have modest conservative tastes and would rather see the real America, not just the night life.

With the help of Dan Kahn, a Long Island Press reporter bursting with local pride, let's show Mr. and Mrs. Average Briton how to have a two-week ball in New York on their combined $560.

BUDGET FOR 2

Here's a two-week New York budget for two that would cost $500 and leave $60 for odds and ends and mementoes:

Two weeks at a good suburban hotel at $9 a day—$126.00; daily breakfast $3.50; lunch $3.00; dinner $6.00—$161.

Staten Island ferry ride through New York harbor—20 cents; trip to the Statue of Liberty—40 cents. Trip to Jones Beach and tickets for the summer show "Showboat," $10.00.

BUS TOUR

Bus tour of the city, seeing the Empire State Building and other sights; tickets for the Radio City Music Hall, tour of U. N.—total $6.60. Outdoor concert—$2.00; small night club—$15.00 (excluding dinner).

Boat trip up the Hudson River —$5.00; tour of New York Stock Exchange—free; ball game — $2.50 (bleacher seats); zoological and botanical gardens—free; museums and art galleries—free.

"My Fair Lady" — $15.00 (but write for tickets well in advance); another Broadway show—$12.00.

All day tour of Long Island historical points, including car rental, meals and one suburban night club —$30.

Hansom cab ride around Central Park —$5.00; trip to Coney Island —$1.20; tour of Greenwich Village — $10.00; dinner, cocktails, dancing—15.00; Hayden Planetarium—$1.30; off Broadway shows — $12.00; Rockefeller Center tour—$3.00. Billy Graham at Madison Square Garden—free.

Cites Principles for Daily Living

C. E. Wilson Addresses Kingswood Graduates

"After I agreed to be your speaker, I received a message from one of my granddaughters saying, 'Tell Grandpa please not to remind us that we are standing on the threshold of life.'

"At one time I thought I would take as my subject 'How To Get Along With Men,' figuring that all of you perhaps with varying degrees of enthusiasm would be interested in such a subject.

"The constitution of our country gives us the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.' The pursuit of happiness is really a sound and normal objective, if you understand the fundamentals upon which happiness must be based. It is certainly a great deal more than just having fun. My father and mother taught me:

(1) That a good education is highly desirable and worth striving for.

(2) That work is a normal part of life and in no sense something to be avoided.

(3) That it is worthwhile to make a little extra effort to understand and get along with people.

"Formal education alone will not assure success. Our oldest son, Tom, graduated from Dartmouth. The last year he was in college his mother took a taxicab from White River Junction to Hanover, and discovered the driver was a Dartmouth graduate of some twenty-five years before.

She was considerably upset over the incident as apparently she had had a feeling that when we got the boy through college a highly successful future would be assured. When Tom returned home I teased him a bit about his college.

"Shortly afterward we met Mr. Eddy, a member of the Bloomfield Hunt Club, who invited us over to his farm to see a new colt. His groom pranced the colt around the barnyard. Several days later Tom said,

" 'Mr. Eddy's groom knows you.' I said, 'I don't seem to remember him.' With a grin Tom replied, 'He went to school with you at Carnegie Tech.'

"The education of individuals falls into three broad classifications. First, is the education of young people regarding their rights, duties and responsibilities in the home and to others, an understanding of the qualifications of a good citizen and a good member of society. I believe that schools and colleges should continue to emphasize the basic importance of good citizenship.

"Second, is education to acquire specialized knowledge and skill. Anyone who is ambitious to be highly successful in his work must be willing to learn more and more about his specialty.

"Third, is adult education, or the process of broadening and increasing the useful or interesting knowledge that an individual may acquire that will allow him to grow in usefulness and increase his pleasure and satisfaction in living.

DESIGN FOR LIVING

I would like to give you six principles for daily living:

"(1) Cultivate self-control and develop will-power and determination, so that you do the things you want to do rather than be controlled by your immediate environment and sudden impulses. If you have not learned to control your own activities, rather than let circumstances dictate to you, you can hardly expect to be placed in charge of the activities of others.

"(2) Develop a tolerance of other people. Learn to use the same measuring stick on your own activities that you apply in appraising others. We are so dependent on one another, this is particularly important.

"(3) Develop a proper respect for the truth so you will use the approach of reason rather than the dogmatic or superstitious approach. Take the rational rather than the emotional approach and have a full realization that the truth will ultimately prevail.

"(4) Keep promises and commitments. Modern business and most of our social relations are based on confidence. People are judged not only by what they do but by what they do as compared to what they have promised or stated they could or would do.

"It is almost as bad to make promises that you have little or no chance of being able to keep as it is to make promises that you do not intend to keep.

"(5) Be willing to work, and realize that work is a part of life and more than just a means to an end. Make a social contribution in proportion to the social reward you expect.

You should not expect your government or anyone else to look after you individually. You can only have freedom and independence when you are qualified to look after yourself.

The social contribution that each of us can make depends on his education, knowledge, experience, skill and willingness to work and cooperate with others.

"(6) Look on life as a great adventure. Realize the importance of maintaining your morale, of making the best of things, of pushing ahead with the adventure of life in spite of upset plans and temporary disappointments.

"Dr. C. F. Kettering tells a story about the head of a medical school who, on addressing his graduating class, said, 'I have told you young men all I know about medicine and the profession. I hope you will all be highly successful. There is one thing that I think I should tell you. At least half of what I have taught you is not so, but I do not know which half it is.'

"I do not feel the same way about the six principles of human behavior that I have just discussed. I am sure that they will all apply just as effectively to your generation as they have to mine."

Telephone Co. Plans Addition at Drayton

A building permit was issued by Waterford Township to the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. for the construction of a $67,276 addition to the firm's building on the west side of Sashabaw road, near Dixie Highway.

The addition will be cement block construction with birch and wood siding, and cover 2,898 square feet of floor space.

The company plans to use the added space storing central office equipment.

Stamped slogans on mail are nothing new. Benjamin Franklin, a deputy postmaster general for the American Colonies, franked his envelopes with "Free B. Franklin." After the War for Independence started, he patriotically switched the words to read "B. Free Franklin." The expression "frank," however, did not start with Ben Franklin. It comes from the Old French franc, meaning free.

A Few Hair-Raising Facts

Today Elmer Learns About Hairedity

BY ELMER WHEELER

That was my own doc's advice. "As for you," he snapped, "you've enough minerals and vitamins cached away in that pot belly and your double chins to nourish six men."

I told him o.k. — no need for more sarcasm. That since I was not losing my hair from lack of minerals and vitamins, then what was the next step to take?

Was it heredity? And how come a guy just entering college often loses his hair before he makes the football team? How come? Inheritance?

He then told me people have no control over their heredity. "You can't pick out your parents," he said.

He told me that if pa and grandpa had no hair, that the chances of you having none are good, although no positive guarantee could be given. He told me that this didn't always work out, but research indicated it might.

NOT INHERITANCE

I told him my grandpa had a real Daniel Boone head of hair at his death, that my pa also had lots at 72.

"Then you aren't inheriting it," he said, "unless back farther in your life there was a string of bald boys and the strain is catching up to you."

"Then mine may be due to some neglect, need, or ailment?" I asked.

That was some hope.

"Quit diagnosing yourself," he suggested. "Remember a guy who diagnoses his own ailment has a fool for a doctor."

He went on.

He told me many interesting things, such as: the scalps of redheads had about 90,000 hairs, brunettes about 100,000, and blondes 140,000.

That hair grows about half an inch a month and is only alive a short distance beyond the bulb or papilla where it starts from.

That contrary to popular belief, the cutting of the hair does not have any effect on its rapid growth, such as when you cut the lawn.

He told me that deep in the scalp is a bulb like a tiny growth called the papilla. Surrounding the upper part of this bulb or papilla are cells which multiply and form hair.

As the cells continue to multiply and the hair grows, it literally pushes itself out of the skin through a shaft or tunnel in the skin called the follicle.

On the way up the hair passes a lubricating sac known as the sebaceous gland and comes bursting out into the world with a natural sheen.

That is, he advised me, if there are no disorders of the sebaceous gland. "And thus we come to something that may stop your hair from falling."

I tried to pin him down but he stood up and said my five bucks was up for the day, and to come back later on. That I had enough information for the time being.

If I'd come back again he'd go into such curable causes of falling hair as a disturbed sebaceous gland, emotions, disorders of the system and just plain "worry."

I had a more pressing problem. What should I do with the bottle of glue?

NEXT: Elmer Learns About Genes and Bald Spots.

No One Loses in Lottery of British Government

Some 23,000 Britishers have just divided a pot of gold totaling $2,800,000. The drawings were made this past weekend.

★ ★ ★

The lottery bonds were sold at a flat price and will be redeemed when due for precisely the amount paid. Hence the Britishers who failed to win a prize have lost no money. They did forfeit interest in lieu of a chance at the grand drawing. The government supervised the deal and guaranteed there were no "rake-offs," and no "expenses."

★ ★ ★

Just in passing, did you ever hear of a lottery in which each and every contestant got all of his money back? That sets some sort of an international record.

★ ★ ★

Something like this has been suggested for the United States, but the idea has always been promptly thumbed down. The British Empire also stood against this form of public fund-raising for 130 years but finally decided to give it a whirl. Up to the moment, there seem to have been no adverse results.

Moral?

Draw your own.

You Can Drive Far and See Much Less

The season is just opening when the countryside in the Pontiac area is at its most resplendent and eye appealing harmonious best.

No other section of our state offers such a diversity of beautiful landscapes.

In a few miles of quietly safe driving you can enjoy vistas as restful and worthwhile as anything you can find in a road burning and hazardous trip of several hours.

And in getting to them you are made aware of the great home building development of this area, which alone will be a memory preserving part of the drive.

These homes may be pushing nature back in one respect, but they also are pride builders to everybody who values a community for the good homes and good people in it.

Go in most any direction from Pontiac and you'll find even more than you expected in your hunt for what is really worth seeing and mingling with.

South of us are the well kept homes of the Bloomfield Hills, with landscaping that we'll stack against anything in our entire nation.

East of us are the Avon Hills and the magnificent setting of Rochester among them.

Driving northwest from that village, the Orion Road generally overlooks the beautiful valley carved out by Paint Creek through its rapid descent through untold centuries.

Or directly north from Rochester the road of the same name brings you to the Lakeville community with plenty to excite your admiration.

Almost directly north, out Perry Street, you travel our county's latest four lane divided pavement over Bald Mountain to Lake Orion with its almost countless islands.

To the southwest, west and northwest of Pontiac you feast upon a large part of Oakland County's 423 lakes, which make straight roads quite impossible over a good part of our county.

But the winding roads around those lakes make you glad they were there to give headaches to the road builders, for that's what glorifies the landscape, and gives you continual wonderment if that next turn can produce anything to excel what you've already seen—and it usually does.

★ ★ ★

The great Dixie Highway skirts Waterford Hill, the Holly-Ortonville Road goes over Enders Hill, that flagpole in the Ortonville state park seems the top of the county, and over Highland way a drive into the former Edsel Ford estate, now owned by you as a taxpayer and operated for you by the Michigan Conservation Commission, will give you some good mountain climbing—on a paved road.

★ ★ ★

Speaking of roads, while most of our outdoor attractions can be reached on excellent pavements, to see nature at its best you'd better drive down some of the side roads.

But, perhaps, like that old time saying, we are so close to the forest that we cannot see the trees, we home folks do not seem to appreciate what our own area has to offer.

"At Twentynine Palms, Calif., a convention of those who believe in flying saucers was attended by about 7,000 persons."—Press report. One wonders what the attendance would be at a convention of those who believe the moon is made of green cheese.

The People's Business

Industry Taxes

Dems Hunt for Answer to Republican Charges

By ROGER LANE

LANSING — Gov. Williams' advisers acknowledge they have a tough problem to lick in politically neutralizing the Republican cry that high taxes are chasing industry out of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Paul Weber, the governor's press secretary, said it's a problem of getting the facts across to the people. But this is a painstaking task that will require time.

★ ★ ★

"There isn't any rabbit to pull out of the hat," he said.

As Weber sees it, much of the problem is epitomized in these words from a speech Williams made Wednesday to the Detroit Rotary Club.

PARKAS FOR ESKIMOS

"A company may be making fur parkas for the Eskimo trade," Williams said, "but if it moves to Alaska to be nearer its market, somebody is sure to claim that it was driven away by Michigan taxes."

★ ★ ★

Such a claim, often repeated with or without justice, is going to penetrate the public consciousness, and make thousands and thousands of "little guys" apprehensive about their bread and butter.

Paradoxically, the Republican rebellion in Washington against President Eisenhower's budget recommendations apparently helped create an "economy" mood that has worked against the Democratic governor.

Also, ironically, whatever taxes are doing the "chasing" out of Michigan are the handiwork of somebody other than Williams.

★ ★ ★

With Republican domination in both legislative branches, it is axiomatic that a Williams tax bill is doomed in committee.

ACTIVITIES LEVY

Although the fact seems to get lost in the fine print, it nevertheless is true that the Michigan tax most offensive to business, the business activities tax, was one of the very few bills ever enacted during the Williams tenure without his signature.

★ ★ ★

The bill, which became Public Act 150 of the 1953 Legislature, bore the name of Sen. Lewis G. Christman, a Republican, then a House member from Ann Arbor.

Observe Pentecost, or Whitsunday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday is called the feast of Pentecost by all Christians except Episcopalians—they call it Whitsunday. It is always the seventh Sunday after Easter.

★ ★ ★

Jesus had told His followers after He left them He would send the Holy Ghost to them. This promise was fulfilled on the Jewish feast of Pentecost, which the disciples were observing at the time. St. Luke (Acts, chapter 2, verses 2 and 3) tells there was a sound "as of a rushing mighty wind" and tongues of flame hung over the heads of the startled Christians.

★ ★ ★

In their wild new enthusiasm they rushed to the Temple and began to proclaim their new faith to the crowds there. According to the Bible story, they were able to speak in languages utterly foreign to them and thus miraculously to communicate with people who would not normally have understood them.

★ ★ ★

Some scholars have seen in this "speaking with tongues" the resolution of the confusion that began centuries earlier when the men who were building the tower of Babel (Genesis, chapter 11) were suddenly unable to understand one another's speech. Man in his own pride cannot reach his fellow man—man filled with the Holy Spirit of God speaks clearly to all.

BEGINNING OF CHURCH

As the disciples, particularly St. Peter, spoke, 3,000 converts requested baptism and at that moment the Christian Church began its spread across the world. For this reason Pentecost is often called the birthday of the Church.

★ ★ ★

The name Whitsunday is a corruption of "White Sunday." In the early Church the newly baptized members wore white robes from Easter until Pentecost. This festival was the climax of the seven-week period and was known as "Dominica in albis"—Sunday in white.

IRELAND'S THIRD PATRON SAINT

Everyone knows St. Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland, and many people know he shares that position with St. Bridget. But hardly anyone realizes Ireland has three patron saints. The third is St. Columba (or Columcille) whose memory is honored tomorrow.

And a very great man he was—every bit as gifted and impressive as St. Patrick, with his tremendous stature, his booming voice that could be heard a mile off, and his depth of piety and learning.

Columba was an Irishman born and bred, which Patrick was not. He was born in Donegal in 521, about 60 years after Patrick had died. His family, on both sides, was of royal blood. This is not to disparage St. Patrick, but rather to say it is strange he should so greatly have overshadowed as important an Irishman as Columba.

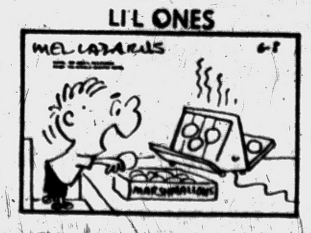

Columba, a priest at 24, spent 15 years traveling up and down Ireland organizing churches, schools and monasteries just as his famous predecessor had done. Then, suddenly, with 12 companions—all relatives of his—he exiled himself from his beloved country and went to the rocky island of Iona, off the coast of Scotland, where he set up a monastic community. He landed on Iona on the eve of the festival of Pentecost.

The reason for this self-imposed exile is not really known, but there is a persistent legend about it. The story is that Columba had a feeling of guilt over his part in starting a battle in which 3,000 men were killed and, to settle his conscience, he resolved to go to another country and win at least 3,000 new souls for Christ. The accuracy of the legend cannot be vertified, but there is no doubt that Columba greatly exceeded his goal of 3,000 converts.

There are many stories of how the robin got his red breast, but one of the loveliest comes from the lore connected with St. Columba. "Have you a song, redbreast?" the good man said to a robin which had alighted on his window sill, and the robin sang to him of how on the day of the Crucifixion he had been in his nest near the Cross of Calvary.

The Lord looked at him with eyes so full of pain and sorrow that the robin flew to Him and pulled out the thorns piercing His forehead. In this act of mercy the bird's breast was covered with the Precious Blood, and that is how the robin got his red breast.

Hocus-Pocus Outshines Honesty

In this era of medical and pharmaceutical hocus-pocus, your fair and honest simplicity is refreshing." (H. A.)

DR. BRADY

Answer — Thank you, but hocus-pocus is more popular than fair and honest simplicity.

"A chronic sinusitis, which had not responded to any kind of treatment—I had over a period of 10 years, has been greatly benefited since I began following high calcium diet and supplementing it with calcium and vitamin D as recommended in your booklet. I am very grateful." (L. E.)

Answer—I suppose you mean Volumette V of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, Call it CRI, about acute and chronic respiratory troubles. For a copy, send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope. School teachers, send just stamped envelope bearing your School address.

"Taking B-Nutron has done me so much good that I don't want to stop, but being away at work all day it is not easy to take a dose three times a day . . ." (Mrs. M. A.)

Answer—I'd take the day's ration of any vitamin and-or mineral preparation in one "dose," instead of bothering with two or three "doses" daily. It is food, not medicine.

"Natural childbirth is a wonderful experience! I never felt better or happier in my life than I did when I had my third child this way. I am looking forward to my fourth child this summer. Inclosed find 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet, 'Preparing for Maternity.'" (Mrs. W. L.)

Answer—That's what they all say. As yet, no one has reported unfavorably on her experience in natural childbirth.

"Please tell me what is the significance of blood in the urine I am 34. Also I crave salt—just pour it on everything I eat . . ." (Mrs. T. W.)

Answer—The sensible course is to consult your physician without delay.

Answer—A common habit. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet The Bed-Wetting Habit. Above all, don't censure, scold or humiliate the youngster.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Can You Pass Apron String Test?

Newlyweds and college students, please take the "apron string" test below! Do you flee homeward on the majority of week ends? You don't build "emotional insurance" always running home to mama. Parents, don't encourage this juvenile habit in your grown children.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-306: Hank T., aged 38, has now been married almost a year.

CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I certainly am glad you pushed me into marrying Nancy," he said with a grin. "It was the best thing I have ever done in my whole life. But we now have another problem.

"We tried to bolster up my mother's emotions by coming home to dinner every week or by taking her out for a meal or having her visit us.

"But she wants us to spend every week end with her, and I believe that is wrong. For Nancy and I are very active in our neighborhood church.

"They have even elected me teacher of our Bible Class, while Nancy still sings in the choir.

"It would disrupt our religious and social life if we went over to see Mother every Sunday, don't you think?"

APRON-STRINGERS

Yes, and will you young married couples please take note. Quit being apron-stringers.

If you can't stay away from mama on Sundays, then you are still emotionally immature.

Even if you go home two week ends out of every month, you are apron-stringers.

For you are supposed to set up your own home and social and religious life when you marry.

Even on your first Sunday during the honeymoon, go to church together and never break this excellent rule, for it is admirable insurance against both divorce as well as delinquency in your future children.

Oh, I'll concede that one Sunday per month might be O. K., at least during your first few months of marriage.

★ ★ ★

But you should quickly start building up "emotional insurance" for your own happy home and that demands that you learn to spend your week ends in your own home and your own church.

COLLEGE TRAGEDIES

We see thousands of similar college tragedies every semester where students run home to mama almost every week end.

The college kids thus miss the social and even athletic events on the school calendar, for these are usually scheduled on Friday night and Saturday.

Moreover, the students who run home don't get acquainted with their associates in campus religious organizations and the social life of the local churches.

These college youth who must run home to mama are obviously not well prepared for happy marriages.

They haven't built up emotional insurance. And their parents are indirectly doing them harm by encouraging such weekly flights back to the home nest.

For one of the first and best dividends of college, consists of learning to stand on your own feet and fend for yourself not just on week days but on Sunday, too.

So make it a rule to cut the apron strings. Devote a majority of your week ends to your own home or college community.

Start growing up into a mature, well adjusted adult. Don't become an old bachelor or spinster or mollycoddled married person who still must flit back to mama every week end.

Grow up: Integrate your week end behavior with the constructive work of your neighborhood church. Become a stable citizen, instead of a floater.

When you get married transfer your church membership to your new community at once.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Parents Write in Praise of Multipurpose Rooms

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I would like to voice appreciation for the new multipurpose room at LeBaron School. It's all we had ever hoped it might be. It means a community center, can be used for youth activities and it contains a beautiful, light, airy cafeteria which seems like a dream come true. Some may feel it is a needless expense, but not those who have worked under previous conditions. With family activities being stressed so much today, it couldn't have come at a better time.

Margaret M. Miller

760 Third Ave.

I disagree that multipurpose buildings are non-essential. Besides use for physical education, music and band classes, recreation, dramatic classes and lunch rooms, they can be used in the evening for youth organizations, family hobby groups, teenage sports and recreation and summer recreation programs so important for city children. They will be available for adult education, amateur theater groups, neighborhood clubs, etc. They could and should become the cultural centers of communities they serve. Any nation that puts road building ahead of school building and spends more for cigarettes and alcoholic beverages than for education may someday find it possesses more horse power than brain power. It's false economy to reduce school and community facilities to a minimum. We pay in increased crime and delinquency.

Mrs. Kenneth Lyons

411 First St.

Having a child in grade school and one still to enter, I'm most interested in replacing old portable shacks by multipurpose rooms. It's encouraging to note the many improvements, and we can expect more parental interest in school activities now that we have a decent room in which to present programs. Everyone is interested in economy, but there's nothing more important than the best educational facilities for our children. Those responsible deserve much credit.

F. H. Everett

I wonder if people opposed to multipurpose rooms know for what purpose they're used. They have many uses. At McCarroll we have had to use halls for PTA meetings, school entertainments, gymnasium, lunches and any other activity other than classes. We've never had the opportunity of seeing our children present a program because we had no room. If our children are to have the well rounded education so necessary for them to cope with today's problems, we must give them the necessary facilities. Children, teachers and parents have worked under totally unnecessary difficulties too many years. I think I speak for the majority of parents when I say the multipurpose room is an absolute requisite of any school. We are most grateful and happy with ours.

Mrs. Grover Remley
Past PTA President

76 Oliver St.

My children attend a school where a multipurpose room is nearing completion and I'd like to thank anyone who had any part in it. Many of our activities had to be at another school because of lack of space. Our children had to eat in corridors. If our PTA attendance is at all large, parents must be seated in the corridors. Parents as well as children and staff are looking forward to using the new room in the fall.

Tells of Klingler's Stress on Water

I read the editorial in Thursday's Press on water with great interest. A few years ago Harry Klingler offered the Rotary Club some general advice on civic procedure in the years ahead. One of the things he stressed most was water. He said Los Angeles went four or five hundred miles into the mountains to get water and New York goes two or three hundred miles into the Catskills for the same reason. (And in spite of this, in 1956 New York City was dangerously low several weeks.)

He pointed out we were only about 60 miles from the finest and greatest fresh water in the world, the Great Lakes. He said Pontiac city needed a continuous and safe water supply and the planning should start immediately.

Books Related to Scriptures to Be Published

Announcement that the Revised Standard Version of the Apocrypha, authorized by the National Council of Churches, will be published in September raises the question in many minds of what it is exactly. Dr. Luther A. Weigle explains that it comprises 15 books and portions of books which appear in the Latin Vulgate but are not included in the Hebrew Bible.

"With the exception of one," Dr. Weigle said, "these books appear in the Septuagint, a Greek version of the Old Testament. In Luther's translation they appear between the Old and New Testament with the title: 'Books which are not held equal to the sacred Scriptures and nevertheless are useful and good to read.'"

As chairman of the Standard Bible Committee of the National Council, Dr. Weigle headed the group of scholars which translated the Apocrypha and the RSV Bible, which was published five years ago. He is dean emeritus of Yale University Divinity School.

This latest project involved four years of work by outstanding authorities including Dr. Millar Burrows of Yale; Dr. J. Carter Swaim, director of the National Council's Department of the English Bible; Dr. Henry J. Cadbury of Harvard and five other distinguished Biblical scholars.

Confident Living

Following God's Laws Can Help You Find Both

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Isn't it strange how we take the blessing of health and happiness for granted? Have you ever thought what it would mean if you were deprived of them?

DR. PEALE

In my own Marble Collegiate Church pulpit in New York one Sunday, I suddenly began to feel strange. I went alternately hot and cold. I became tense, dizzy, numb. Things seemed to whirl around me.

Only by exerting the greatest effort of prayer and self-control was I able to continue with the service.

I had never experienced anything quite like this before, having been blessed with good health all my life. Naturally, I began to analyze myself, to diagnose my problem. And all of a sudden, a shocking thought came to me. Suppose this were the last time I would ever preach from the pulpit?

Right then, I decided there was one thing I wanted more than anything else. And I wanted it so much, I would have paid anything for it. I wanted assurance that I could keep on with my work. In that moment I had an indescribable longing for the certainty of good health, for a continuation of my joy in life.

I am glad for that moment of self-revelation. My difficulty turned out to be nothing more than a slight virus attack and it passed. But that experience made me realize how important it is to teach the relationship between good, sound health and good, sound religion.

The other day a friend of mine who had just turned fifty was trying to recall a name and couldn't. "I guess you just have to expect," he said, "that when you reach your fifties, you can't remember things any more."

But it doesn't have to be that way at all. The notion that we have to slump is false. We are children of God and if we keep in contact with His creative power, we can have health, happiness and mental alertness.

Some time ago, in a hotel lobby, a man I had known for a good many years pushed the swinging door with such vigor that he nearly knocked me off my feet. "Brother," I said, "you're certainly bursting with energy!"

"I feel good," he told me. As we stood talking together, I was amazed, for I had remembered him as a man filled with aches and pains, apathetic, dull, always half sick, though actually there never seemed anything seriously wrong with him. Now he appeared transformed and filled with vigor. I asked him for an explanation.

"Why," he answered, "I just decided to cooperate with the laws of God. I had always known them; now I apply them."

I thought this amazingly wise. It is a fact that we can live with health and happiness by cooperating with the laws of God, that is, by not hating or fearing, and by having real convictions and an attitude of trust. Of course, this is not easy.

However, it is possible for every one of my readers. We can discipline our minds to think God's healthy thoughts, and healthy thinking goes far toward healthy living. People who have developed these thought patterns have made contact with an actual re-creative life force.

Keep filling your mind with faith, trust and love, and you will channel into yourself that which re-creates, reproduces and revitalizes health and happiness within you. That is a great secret of health and happiness, and it is available to all.

Woman Missionary to Go Among Savage Indians

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — An American woman missionary said this week she will try to carry Christianity to the deadly Auca Indian tribe which slaughtered her brother and four others in the Ecuadorian jungle.

★ ★ ★

Rachel Saint, a native of Huntingdon Valley, Pa., said she is learning to speak and write the Auca dialect so she can face the jungle killers with a Bible written in their own language.

SLAIN BY TRIBE

Nate Saint, a Wycliffe Fellowship missionary, was slain in January 1956 after landing his plane in the Auca-inhabited jungle. Saint and the others were on a mission to bring learning to the Indians.

At the time of the killings, Rachel was doing missionary work in Peru. She left there and flew to Ecuador, where she discovered the only member of the Aucas — a young woman — ever to escape the tribe.

"I found her working for a plantation owner near the town of Napo," Miss Saint explained. "It seems she ran away because members of the tribe killed her father and brother."

ON TV SHOW

Because of her unusual work, Miss Saint was flown from Ecuador to Hollywood to be the subject of Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" television show.

Also there was another convert, "Tariri," former warrior chief of a Peruvian tribe noted for its collection of shrunken craniums.

LIVED WITH HIM

The 43-year-old Miss Saint said she previously had worked with Tariri and had lived with him, his wife and child in the Peruvian wilds.

"All he wants now," the missionary said, "is peace with God and a new home where he and his people can live in safety from warring tribes who would molest them."

Tariri, head of the Shapra tribe, was wearing a belt made of human hair — locks of men he said he had killed before being converted to Christianity.

★ ★ ★

Before returning to the jungle, Miss Saint and her companions will make a brief lecture tour of the United States. They also are scheduled to appear with evangelist Billy Graham in New York.

Past Grand Master Elmer R. Wallace of Detroit will speak and remarks will be made by District Deputy Grand Lecturer Jesse Odom of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The Male Chorus of the Antioch Baptist Church, Flint, will present selections and the pastor, the Rev. L. W. Pryor, will preach. Rev. Richard H. Dixon Jr. is pastor of Trinity Baptist.

REV. Wm H. COLLYCOTT

Methodists to Hear Rev. W. H. Collycott

The Rev. William H. Collycott, 86, of Rochester will preach at the 10 a.m. service Sunday in Oakland Park Methodist Church in the absence of the Rev. James W. Deeg who is attenting the annual Detroit Conference of Methodism in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

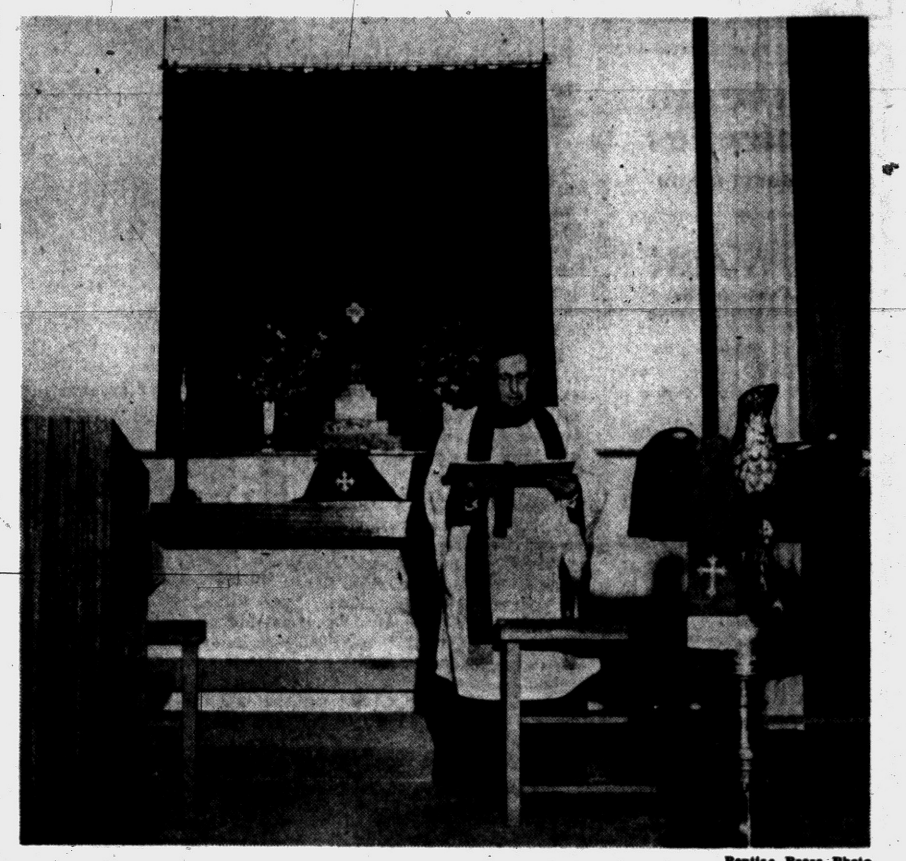

His sermon topic will be "The Power of Witnessing."

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Mr. Collycott is the retired pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church in Rochester but continues to baptise, preach and officiate at weddings.

He stated he has married more than 1,600 couples, baptized around 1,800 persons and preached more than 4600 sermons.

ST. ANDREW'S DEDICATION SUNDAY—The Rev. Waldo R. Hunt stands in the sanctuary of his new Episcopal Church on Hatchery road, which will be dedicated at 4 p. m. Sunday. Several dignitaries are expected to participate in the ceremonies for the new structure.

Dedicate Church Sunday

The first-phase unit of the St. Andrew Episcopal church on Hatchery road in Waterford Township will be dedicated at 4 p.m. Sunday, according to the Rev. Waldo R. Hunt, rector.

★ ★ ★

Ground was broken for the new church May 21, 1956, and construction began almost immediately. The four-acre site is in a scenic wooded area just west of Crescent Lake road.

The building will accommodate approximately 200 people, and eventually will be used by the parish for recreation and educational purposes.

There are nine class rooms in the lower level of the building, and five of these can be made into one large educational assembly room.

★ ★ ★

A new type white chipped marble roof covers the building, which has a cedar tongue and grooved base. The roof has been guaranteed to last forever, by a Detroit Bonding company, Rev. Hunt said.

★ ★ ★

DEAN TO OFFICIATE

The Very Rev. William C. Norvell, dean of Oakland Episcopal Convocation, will officiate at the dedication ceremonies, and the Rev. C. George Widdifield, rector of All Saints Parish of Pontiac, will preach the sermon.

There are 235 family members of the new church, which is a parochial mission of All Saints Episcopal Church of Pontiac.

Building chairman was R. Lloyd Walker; building fund chairman is J. D. Boardman assisted by Ian R. Stevensen, and Clayton S. Tibbals.

With the completion of this first unit, members are now looking forward to the next phase — building the auditorium, on the west side of the present structure. This will accomodate some 350 parishioners the Rev. Mr. Hunt said.

Registration Day Sunday

Sunday will be Registration Day at the Newman A. M. E. Church. Dr. Fred R. Tiffany will preach at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning and special music will be furnished by the Young Women's Chorus, the Senior and Children's Choirs.

June Graduates to Be Honored

Pastor and Delegates to Report Highlights of Baptist Convention

A special service of recognition will be conducted at the 11 o'clock worship service tomorrow morning at Bethany Baptist Church.

Twenty-seven members of the church who are graduating from high school will be guests of honor and will join in the processional with the Senior Choir.

During the service, Dr. Joseph I. Chapman, pastor, will present each graduate with a Bible. Fenton Hamilton, chairman of the Board of Christian Education, will bring greetings of the church to the group.

There will also be a Dedication of Children at the morning service and Dr. Chapman will speak on "Looking unto Jesus," the theme of the recent American Baptist Convention in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Forrest Brown, Mrs. Grace Steeves and Maynard Johnson will also report highlights of the convention.

Following the service, the seniors will be guests of the church at a coffee hour, and stand in the receiving line with Dr. Chapman to be greeted by the congregation.

Malayan Cleric Watches History in the Making

"We have had a sense of seeing history in the making in recent weeks, as the Singapore Government has received from the British Government in London "Merdeka' or independence," reports the Rev. Craig S. Wilder, of Los Angeles, Cal., missionary of the Methodist Church in Singapore, Malaya.

Singapore will remain with the British Commonwealth and matters having to do with external defense will continue to be the responsibility of the British. "But," he adds, "by and large all other areas in the life of this island will be determined by local leadership."

★ ★ ★

"I think it is a significant indication of the power of the Christian minority in this Asian country that out of the five members of the 'Independence Mission' that went to London to negotiate the terms of agreement, three were Christian, and two of these were Methodists," says Rev. Wilder.

★ ★ ★

"The chief minister, Lim Yew Hock, is a Methodist layman; Lim Choon Mong is a Christian and a teacher in the Methodist Anglo-Chinese School for Boys; and the minister for education, Chew Swee Kee is a Methodist and a member of the official board of Wesley Church."

TO BE DEDICATED SUNDAY—The new First Free Methodist Church located at 501 Mt. Clemens St. will be formally dedicated at 3 p. m. Sunday by Bishop J. Paul Taylor of Greenville, Ill. The building of red brick with white trim was designed and constructed by John E. Roth & Sons of Birmingham. The interior of the sanctuary is of exposed slag blocks, laminated arches and red cedar ceiling. The seating capacity of the sanctuary is approximately 400, with an overflow room accommodating 170 persons. The basement provides 19 classrooms and four large assembly rooms for Sunday School. It is entirely fireproof.

First Free Methodist to Be Dedicated

Open House is being held at the new First Free Methodist Church, 501 Mt. Clemens St. from 4 to 7 p.m. today. The Rev. Lyal H. Howison, pastor, said members of the church will conduct tours through the building and the public has been invited.

Bishop J. Paul Taylor of Greenville, Ill. will formally dedicate the church at 3 p.m. Sunday with the following trustees presenting the building: Keith Pratt, G. R. Moran, Alexander Bigger Sr., Floyd Hawkins, Dick Sutton, Charles Hayward, Floyd Matton, Henry Riemenschneider and Carroll Roth.

Mayor William W. Donaldson, and the Rev. Kenneth Hutchinson, of the Pontiac Pastor's Association, will bring greetings.

Others participating in the service will be Mrs. Sally Riemenschneider, organist, former pastors, Rev. A. W. Pickard, Rev. S. R. Whims and Rev. B. W. Case, and G. R. Moran soloist.

The Rev. Mr. Howison will present the finances.

Speaking Sunday morning will be the Rev. H. C. Artz, of East Peoria, Ill., a former pastor, and in the evening another former minister, the Rev. C. B. Collver of the Port Huron District, will preach.

BUILT OF BRICK

First Free Methodist Church is of contemporary design with red brick exterior and white trim.

The pink mist walls of the 50 by 90 foot sanctuary blend softly with the limed oak pulpit and pews. The entire sanctuary floor is carpeted in deep rose. The windows are of cathedral glass in a light rose tone.

A corridor extends the entire width of the building and provides entrance from both the street and parking lot. Back of the corridor is the overflow room with seating for 170, the nursery, church office, senior high classroom and pastor's study.

Decorating of the basement and upstairs, except the sanctuary, was done by members of the congregation as well as the installation of the floor tile and carpeting.

Sixty-nine officers and teachers constitute the Sunday School staff. The five adult classes meet in the auditorium and overflow room.

In the early seventies of the last century, when Pontiac was a city of about eight to ten thousand inhabitants, William Boswell, a photographer, attended the annual conference session in St. Johns.

He assured the conference that Pontiac needed a revival and told of the needs of the town.

The Rev. Edward Matthews came to Pontiac on his own responsibility. The annual county fair was in progress and the Rev. Mr. Matthews climbed a dry goods box and began to preach. He spoke each day until the fair closed.

He was persuaded to start a church first in Amy, now Auburn Heights. About 1881-1882, he started the Free Methodist movement in Pontiac.

GROUP ORGANIZES

In 1906, the nucleus of the present class was organized in the home of Lee Cole on Mechanic street. Among the charter members besides Mr. Cole were Alice Cole, Kittie Cole, Edith Cole, Lois Myers, Edgar Walker, Jessie Walker, Herbert Barber, Ethel Barber, Phoebe Johnson and Mrs. Wade.

The group rented a hall on the third floor of one of the business blocks on North Saginaw street and worshipped there until 1909.

When the Rev. W. S. Mulholland came as pastor, another hall was rented over the former location of the Backenstose Book Store on north Saginaw.

In 1910, the Rev. V. E. Rensberry and his bride came to the Pontiac and Amy circuit and under his leadership the society built the former church home on Lafayette street.

There were those who prophesied that the church would never draw a congregation down in 'that swamp.'

The membership of both the Sunday School and Congregation grew, the church was enlarged and in 1954 plans began for the building of a new church.

On the last Sunday of January 1957, the congregation moved into the present church which was built under the leadership of the present pastor, the Rev. Lyal H. Howison.

Detroit Religious Leaders Ask Racial Cooperation

DETROIT (UP) — "The denial of the right to home ownership to any reputable citizen because of race or creed represents a basic violation of the religious spirit as well as of fundamental Democratic principles," Detroit church leaders declared yesterday in an appeal for fairness and neighborliness.

The joint appeal was made by Rabbi Morris Adler, acting president of the Jewish Community Council; the Rev. Robert F. Allen, director of social action for the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit, and Bishop Richard S. Emrich of the Episcopal Church. Bishop Emrich represents the Detroit Council of Churches.

The religious leaders said the statement was made "because racial tensions have recently sharpened in Detroit." They referred specifically to an incident which occurred in February when some members of a neighborhood association demonstrated against a Negro who moved into the area.

The statement criticized so-called improvement associations which permit or encourage "racial incidents."

Rabbi Adler said the statement was directed mainly at two types of Detroit residents — those who are indifferent to the problem and those who think it can be solved by violence.

★ ★ ★

During the summer, the statement will be read from every Protestant, Catholic and Jewish pulpit, the religious leaders said.

Churches Study Life of Indians

Protestants Plan to Aid People on Reservations With New Program

A new survey is under way that will provide the first over-all picture of what American Protestant churches are doing for Indian Americans, the National Council of Churches reveals.

Announcing a new three-part program of Indian aid, Dr. I. George Nace declared that their social disorganization on the reservation and inability to cope with the complexities of urban life make such a program imperative. Dr. Nace is executive secretary of the Division of Home Missions which, through its Committee on Indian Work, works closely with the denominations and local church councils concerned with Indian welfare.

Under the proposed plan, denominational work would continue as before, he said. However, each group would be invited to provide resources for a new interdenominational approach to the Indian problems of illiteracy, poverty and family breakdown.

An education and action plan to revitalize church-sponsored programs on reservations is also called for in the new plan, Dr. Nace pointed out. Church groups are also being asked to ask Congress to secure constructive legislation to deal with the intolerable conditions under which so many Indian Americans are living today.

Recently representatives of church groups and other interested agencies testified at a Senate hearing in Washington in support of a resolution which would provide a Federal "Point Four" program for Indians. Added support for the resolution is being given by United Church Women, a National Council of Churches department that represents 10,000,000 Protestant women.

Over 1 Billion Pounds of Food Sent Overseas

NEW YORK (UP) — Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish relief agencies distributed more than 1,140,000,000 pounds of U. S. surplus foods free to the needy abroad during nine months ended last March 31.

This was disclosed in an announcement by the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, including some 40 agencies. It said the shipments of foods — cheese, powdered milk, beans, corn, rice, wheat, flour and cornmeal — had a total value of $99,895,942.

Lutheran Membership Total Nearly 71 Million

GENEVA, Switzerland (UP) — The world's count of Lutherans increased a million in the past year, bring the total to nearly 71 million. The figure represents about 33 per cent of all protestantism.

Farm Missions Attract More

Many Young People Interested in Teaching Soil Techniques

A lifetime career teaching people in underdeveloped countries how to increase the yield of their farms, conserve soil and make the most of their natural resources is attracting more Christian young people than ever before, a foreign missions leader declared last week.

"More than 300 have contacted us during the past year," Dr. I. W. Moomaw told delegates to the 27th annual meeting of Agricultural Missions, Inc., of which he is executive secretary.

"This Christian Point IV program," he said, "has caught the imagination of American agricultural students who want to know what further training they need." Dr. Moomaw said such training is offered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture Extension Service and in specialized courses at the University of Arkansas and Cornell.

Declaring that there are now 240 full-time people serving denominational missions abroad, Dr. Moomaw said that during the past year more than 1,000 missionaries, church leaders and government officials have attended work conferences to lay out agricultural improvement programs. Altogether 25 such conferences were held in the Middle East, Far East, Latin American countries and Africa, he said.

REV. DONALD C. ANDREWS

Appointed to Church by Mission Board

Rev. Donald C. Andrews is the new pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, being organized in Waterford Township. He was recently appointed by the Board of American Missions to get the new church started in this area.

★ ★ ★

He has announced that beginning Sunday, Bible school for all ages, including adults, will be held at 9:30 a.m. at the Jayno Adams School, on Clintonville road.

Rev. Mr. Andrews came here from Linesville, Pa., where he was pastor of the United Presbyterian Church. He is a graduate of Muskingum College, in Ohio, and Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary.

During the war, he served for four years in the United States Navy. Rev. and Mrs. Andrews reside with their three children at 3636 Clintonville Rd.

MABEL ELLEN LUCAS

President Named for Mother Church

Miss Mabel Ellen Lucas of Brookline, Mass. has been named president of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Active in various capacities in the Christian Science movement, she is a native of Idaho and grew up in Spokane, Wash. Her appointment was announced by The Christian Science Board of Directors at the annual meeting. The term of office is one year.

Miss Lucas succeeds Clifford A. Woodward of Cambridge, Mass. She has served as Second Reader of a branch church and has been a member of the Bible Lesson Committee which prepares the Lesson - Sermons used by all Christian Science churches for the Sunday services.

Lutherans Buy Hotel

A three - and - a - half acre hotel property at Carlsbad, Calif., with a private ocean beach has been acquired by Lutheran Services, Inc., of San Diego for use as a residence club for the aged. The purchase price was $450,000. The hotel buildings are being altered to accommodate a maximum of 108 residents.

Business Contributes

Through contributions of American business in cooperation with the Advertising Council, Religion in American Life chairman, Joseph H. McConnell reports that last year the attention of Americans was focused on the contribution of religion to national, community and personal life in a multi-million dollar advertising campaign. "Messages of religious faith and inspiration were seen and heard by virtually every American," he said, "in the press, magazines, and TV, on radio and through millions of car cards and other materials."

Air for Rabbis Sought

NEW YORK (UP) — "Are we killing our rabbis?"

That's the question raised in an issue of American Judaism, official publication of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. It says mounting clerical duties tax the health of rabbis, and urges steps to give them assistance in handling synagogue responsibilities.

African Missionary to Show Color Movie

Children's Day to Be Observed

Pastors, Choir, Director in Charge of Chapel Service at Hospital

The Nursery, Kindergarten and Primary departments of the Sunday School at First Presbyterian Church will present special numbers on the Children's Day program at 9:30 Sunday morning.

Royce Everett will sing "The Lord Is My Shepherd" at this service.

At 11 a.m., Dr. William H. Marbach will preach on "We Believe in the Holy Spirit." Mrs. Michael Siano will sing "Spirit of God" and "Remember Now Thy Creator" will be sung by Royce Everett.

Dr. Marbach and members of the choir with their director, Lyndon Salthiel, will be in charge of the Chapel Service in Pontiac State Hospital at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The two pastors and several elders of the church will attend the meeting of the Synod of Michigan Tuesday in Alma.

The women's groups will meet on Friday as follows: Mrs. R. C. Callow will entertain the April-May Group; Mrs. J. C. Covert, the February - December Group; Mrs. Cora Bailey of Rochester, the September-October Group; the Cobb sisters will be hostesses at their summer cottage, and the June Group will meet at Rotunda Inn.

St. Andrew's Church to Hear Rev. Pelham

St. Andrew's will begin the summer schedule of services tomorrow with a celebration of Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and the Festival service at 10 a.m. Sunday School will meet at the 10 o'clock service.

Preaching at the morning service will be the Rev. Joseph A. Pelham, assistant rector of Mariner's Episcopal Church, Detroit. His topic will be "Filled with the Spirit."

The Negro minister grew up in Flint, was graduated from the University of Michigan and the Theological Seminary at Cambridge, Mass. At seminary, he won the Adams Preaching Award, the highest honor given to any student.

Mariner's Episcopal Church located near the City - County building in the new civic center, is the center of all Diocesan social work. It runs the St. Peter's Home for Boys, administers the Refugee Resettlement work, supplies chaplaincy services for the U.S. Public Health Hospital, Grosse Pointe and provides care for transient men.

Dr. John H. Hall Installs Methodist Men Officers

At the recent "Ladies Night" meeting of the Methodist Men of Central Methodist Church, the following officers and directors were installed by Dr. John H. Hall, associate pastor. Merle Smith, president; Don Tryon, 1st vice president and Ray Mudge, second vice president.

Others were Robert Bentley, third vice president; William Taylor, asst. membership chairman; Robert Byrnes, treasurer; David Bradley, secretary; Burton Wheeler, asst. secretary; Robert Miller, music; Warren Rice, project; and John B. Wilson, publicity.

Methodist School Praised by Bolivian Government

The American Institute, a 50-year-old Methodist school in Las Paz, Bolivia's capital city, has received official recognition and praise twice recently from the Bolivian Government.

The Government has awarded to the school the order of the Condor of the Andes, the highest decoration given by the country. It is given to Bolivian or foreign persons or agencies for outstanding service to Bolivia.

Among those at the ceremony were the personal representative of President Herman Siles Zuazo, the under secretary of state and the wife of the secretary of states.

The citation, which accompanied the award, read in part: "The American Institute of La Paz, since the beginning of its educational labor in 1907, has marked new trails for Bolivian education, introducing methods which not only produce better learning but also form character on the basis of high principles of Christian morality.

"From this school have emerged generations of graduates, the great majority of whom have given and today give great service to the nation, many of its alumni today occupying the highest positions in the organizations determining the destiny of the country."

Verbal tribute to the American Institute was paid by both the Bolivian embassador to the United States, Dr. Victor-Andrade, and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of the President, president of Johns Hopkins University and a special U. S. envoy to South America in 1953. The occasion for the praise was a Conference of Inter-American Schools Service in Washington.

Bible Stories Play Big Role in Tennessee

Bible stories formed an integral part of the recreational program in the city's twenty-one playgrounds last summer for the fourth straight year in Knoxville, Tenn.

Mrs. W. B. Hembree, council president, and Mrs. John H. Dougherty, chairman of its social relations committee, report that more than 5,000 children listened to the Bible program. Some 300 persons volunteered as story tellers.

Although the stories are aimed specifically at the 6-to-12 age group, many teenagers were attracted to the sessions.

The story-tellers reported that on many occasions they would look up and see larger boys standing at the edge of the group, listening with fascination to the stories. Many of them were dressed for baseball, carried bats and mitts, and had obviously deserted their games to come and listen.

Philippine Islands Active in Missions

SEATTLE (AP) — A Philippine Islands churchman says his country still is a ripe field for mission work. But it also sends out workers of its own.

Missionaries of the United Church of Christ of the Philippines go to Thailand, Indonesia, Okinawa and Hawaii, says the Rev. James F. McKinley, dean of the College of Theology at Silliman University, Dumaguete City, P. I.

"The missionaries are particularly successful with those who believe in the concept of Asia for the Asians," Dr. McKinley commented.

The United Church in the Philippines is a union of Congregationalists, Presbyterians, United Brethrens, Disciples of Christ and Philippine Methodists.

Dr. McKinley reported in a recent church conference at Seattle.

Monthly Singspiration Slated for Army Citadel

The Oakland Youth Fellowship will hold its monthly "Singspiration" in the form of a talent night program, at 9:15 p.m. Sunday in the Salvation Army Citadel, 29 W. Lawrence St.

Young people's groups of the Pontiac area churches have been asked to send representatives to participate in the program. According to Glyn Stone, everyone is welcome.

Awarded Ph.D. Degree

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy was conferred on Mrs. Theodore O. Wedel, national president of United Church Women, on May 13 by the Graduate Council of George Washington University, Washington, D. C. Mrs. Wedel's thesis was "A Study of Measurement in Group Dynamics Laboratories."

Foster Parents Honored at Dinner

Caught by The Pontiac Press photographer as they were entering the dining room were Mrs. Walter P. Reuther of Rochester, Mrs. Harry Henderson of Franklin and Mrs. Barney Habel of Cherokee road.

Wife Objects to Dividing Dinner Bill

She and Husband Helped to Pay for Others' Meals

By EMILY POST

A wife writes: "My husband and I went to the theater with six other friends. After the theater they suggested going someplace to eat. My husband and I had had a big dinner and weren't hungry so we ordered coffee and a piece of cake. The others ordered a good deal to eat.

"When the check came, one of the men suggested the easiest way would be to divide the check four ways instead of figuring out what each man owed. My husband didn't like to disagree so he let it go and paid his quarter of it, which was out of proportion for the little we had.

"Don't you think this was very unfair? Would it have been proper for my husband to say someing about it and just pay for what we had?"

Answer: It was unfair to you, but there was nothing your husband could have done other than what he did.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it customary for the bride to have the bridegroom's wedding ring engraved, and if so, what is included in the engraving?"

Answer: It may be marked with whatever sentiment the bride chooses. Usually, however, if the bridegroom is to have a ring, it is marked "M.A.S. to J.H.B." and the date.

Delta Phi Chorus to Appear Tonight

The Delta Phi Chorus, one of the most unusual male choruses in the country today, will appear this evening at the Isaac Crary Junior High School under the sponsorship of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Members of the chorus are chosen from among the 1,400 returned missionaries of the Church who are now attending Brigham Young University in Utah.

Children's Aid Directors Sponsor Annual Gathering

Dean Charles Brink of Wayne State Discusses Importance of Family

The board of the Oakland County Branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society held its annual family dinner at Hotel Waldron honoring foster parents of the society.

Those honored were parents who have opened their doors to children less fortunate than their own. Some of the "parents" have no children of their own, so they give love and understanding to children deprived of real security through divorce, death or abandonment.

One woman, Miss Annie King, has guided and cared for children in her home for the past 23 years. Oriel Endelman, executive secretary of the society, revealed that the group of foster parents combined has given over 200 years of care to children.

Master of ceremonies was Dr. Richard R. Galpin, a member of the board. He pointed out that foster parents are the backbone of the organization and praised them for their untiring work.

Mrs. R. W. Steere Jr., president, said that the purpose of the society is to "get families together and keep families together."

Speaker Charles Brink, dean of the School of Social Work at Wayne State University, stressed the importance of families remaining together if at all possible.

"We must preserve the idea that parents are responsible for their children," he said, and he noted that to remove children too quickly breaks the solidarity upon which family life is based.

"The children who come to you are children who have not had love, affection and security," Brink reminded the foster parents, "and they are suffering from this lack." He further reminded the group that they must give a double dosage of love to repair the emotional damage done.

State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, a member of the board of directors, pointed out that none of the youngsters boarded in the foster homes has been brought before the court on any offense, proving, he said, that these foster parents have given the kind of love and security needed.

★ ★ ★

SPECIAL GUESTS

Special guests introduced included Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson of Rochester, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller, Mrs. Donald Getts, Robert H. Barstow, director of the Michigan Children's Aid Society; Judge Arthur E. Moore and Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Henry S. Booth, Dr. Campbell Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lowman.

★ ★ ★

Arranging the event were Mrs. Barney Habel, Mrs. Walter P. Reuther, Mrs. Harry Henderson and Mrs. Ralph Mills. Certificates of appreciation were extended by Miss Endelman to 69 foster parents.

Sen. Lodge gave the invocation and Mrs. Bert E. Norton gave the benediction.

Mrs. Harland French (left) of Oxford is a foster parent who was honored by the society. With her is Mrs. Stanley Kipp of Doris road, a foster parent for 11 years. Mrs. French has served as a foster mother seven years.

Mr. Mort

Full-Skirted Halter Dress Promises Cool Summer

On either side of the front pieces are three stitched pleats which are flanked with gathers on the skirt. The halter is shaped to rest comfortably on the neck and has two wide lapels that extend to the shoulder line.

A step-in dress that is easy to make even for beginners, it consists of only nine pieces all precisely perforated for accurate matching and sized with exclusive designer measurements.

Linen, pique, chambray, gingham or novelty cottons are especially pretty, but silk, shantung or novelty rayons give it a dressier mood. From this chart select the one size best for you.

7	32½	22½	33½	15¾
9	33½	23½	34½	16
11	34½	24½	35½	16¼
13	36	26	37	16½
15	37½	27½	38½	16⅝

Address American Designer Patterns, Box 535, G.O.P. Dept. P-6, New York 1, N. Y. Classic Pattern Booklet 12 and current Pattern Booklet 13-X are available for 50 cents each.

Mr. Mort label available for 25 cents extra with pattern order. If paid by check, add 4 cents.

Summer Points on Shoe Trends for Men, Women

PITTSBURGH (INS) — Pointed toes and higher, thinner heels are the trend in women's shoes for summer.

Joseph Harris, executive secretary-treasurer of the group, said buyers' demand indicates men's two-tone summer shoes in brown and white and black and white are coming back with a bang this year.

He said men's ventilated shoes and loafer types with lightweight soles also are popular models.

Try These Routines After Tough Day

Exercise Routs Nervous Fatique

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Often when we need exercise most we feel less like it. The fatigue most of us experience comes from nervous tensions rather than physical labor. Much of it is abetted by lack of physical exercise.

Practically any exercise you take will be beneficial if it is not too strenuous for you. You will feel refreshed and relaxed to an amazing degree once you push yourself on to self-exertion. However, there are some exercises which are especially fine after a tough day.

This exercise is especially fine after a tough day: Lower your head back slowly. Slowly raise it. Continue. Now make circles with your head, moving first in one direction and then the other.

1. Kneel on all fours. Push up with the middle of your back like you have seen cats do. Now collapse the back, sinking downward in the middle of the back. Continue.

2. Stand tall. Make large circles with your arms, reaching high over your head. Do the exercise slowly, feeling the stretch.

★ ★ ★

3. Sit on the floor with your legs straight. Lean back on your hands. Lower your head back slowly; slowly raise it. Continue lowering and raising the head. Now make circles with your head, moving first in one direction and then in the other.

★ ★ ★

Here comes another part of this exercise: You are in the same position. Raise your hips from the floor so that your body weight is supported by your heels and hands. Lower head. You should have a straight line from your head to your feet. Return hips to the floor.

4. Sit or stand. Make circles with your shoulders, circling backward. After a while circle forward. Do not circle with your arms but actually with your shoulders. Arms should hang limply at sides.

If you would like my exercises for the arms send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 11. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Minute-a-Day Study Develops Skill

By ANNE HEYWOOD

This is especially true, I think, of mothers and homemakers—although they have no exclusive on it.

My mail is full of letters from people who mean to learn to type, to take up painting or to study French.

But letters from people who still find the time, even though they are busy, are few and far between.

Anna is oe of them. I've felt good all day after reading the letter she wrote me.

HER FIRST JOB

In her late 40s, and the mother of three grown children, Anna just got her first job!

"I'm a bookkeeper - clerk in a big office," she writes, "and I'm so excited about it.

"The children don't really need me now, so I have time to work. The pay is good, the girls in the office are such fun and I like being out among people.

"Everybody wonders how I managed the time to learn the skill. I'd like to tell you about it.

"Twenty years ago, when my youngest was in the bassinet, I decided to prepare myself for the later years.

★ ★ ★

"I remembered how sad and lonely my mother was after we left home, and I didn't want it to happen to me. So I decided to study something—anything—for at least a minute a day.

JUST ONE MINUTE

"I knew if I said I'd study an hour, a half-hour or even 15 minutes a day, it would be frustrating. With small children, I knew I couldn't be sure I'd have time and I'd end up dropping the whole thing. But anybody has a minute!

★ ★ ★

"I selected bookkeeping because I found a good, inexpensive book on it.

"Actually, of course, there were a few days when I did get a whole half-hour in; but, in the beginning, it was more often a minute.

"As the years went by, and the kids went to school, I could sometimes even manage an hour.

"The important thing was that I felt I was doing something.

"And now, am I glad! Through the years I learned a lot. I get a big kick out of being a skilled worker today!"

Bookkeeping may not be it, but do select one thing to study a little every day. You may never need to use it—or want to—but if you do, you'll have it.

If bookkeeping interests you, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you a list of good books in the field.

Wife Abandons Freedom to Take Position in Office

Homemaker Leads Independent Life Compared to Career Woman

By RUTH MILLETT

She thinks housekeeping is such a dull existence that she has taken a job as a stenographer in a large office.

Rain or shine she leaves her home at 8 every morning but Sunday in order to be at her desk by 8:30.

She gets a coffee break at 10 and scurries downstairs to eat lunch at 12. All the rest of the time she sits at a desk typing letter after letter and filling out one long form after another.

Her job isn't more routine than most jobs that bored housewives can go out and get. It's about par for the course.

HER OWN BOSS

A housewife is a free and independent operator all day long. If she doesn't feel like washing on Monday she can put it off until Tuesday.

If she feels especially ambitious on Wednesday she can pitch in and do such a thorough cleaning job that she can skim through her housework for the next few days.

If she wants to join a neighborhood coffee break she can. If she wants to get busy cutting out a dress she can hurry up her chores and get at her sewing.

If it is a beautiful day she can interrupt her housework to wander out in the yard to look at her flowers or trim a few shrubs.

Even while her hands are busy doing routine jobs, her mind can roam free and clear, mentally redoing the living room, planning her wardrobe, mulling over a problem.

No two days are ever alike, especially if she has even one preschooler still at home. All day long she is her own boss, running her own home the way she chooses to run it.

★ ★ ★

How can any woman think she is escaping routine when she trades full-time homemaking for an office job? Isn't she actually running away from freedom to hop on a treadmill?

Small hands will find these soft toys perfect for daytime playing and bedtime cuddling! Make Danny Duck and Tessie Turtle from gay scraps of fabrics or anything the workbasket yields.

Send 25c in coins, your name, address and the Pattern Number to Anne Cabot, The Pontiac Press, 372 W. Quincy Street, Chicago 6, Illinois.

Drapery can achieve almost any effect desired. Side drape can cut width, hemline drapery will make the too-tall silhouette appear shorter and neckline drapery will flatter the face and leave the long uncluttered skirtline for a taller look.

Hollywood Headlines

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In a rare moment of reflection, Anna Magnani held forth on such matters as TV ("I hate it"), Hollywood film making ("too fast"), and Tennessee Williams ("I love that man.")

★ ★ ★

"I've had lots of offers to do TV. I can't make love to a mircophone. At least on the stage or in films you can work up emotion in a scene. In TV, it is impossible to put emotion on that tiny screen."

★ ★ ★

How does she like working in Hollywood films?

"I like the people, but the work is too fast. You can't manufacture emotion in a hurry."

Would she like to live here?

"No. There is not enough excitement. New York, perhaps. But I could never stay away from Rome. Rome is beautiful. At night it is like a beautiful woman who has fallen asleep."

Will she return here?

"Yes, I will come back next year to do 'Orpheus Descending.' It is a beautiful part which Tennessee Williams wrote for me. I love that man. He is perhaps my best friend."

What about American men?

"I don't know anything about American men because I haven't met enough of them. If you ask me about American actors, I can tell you: They are very, very nice."

Building Program Set by Electric Company

DETROIT (AP) — General Electric Appliance Co. today expressed its "confidence in the continuance of the economic growth of Michigan" by announcing a 3½ million dollar construction program in three cities.

T. C. Diggles, Michigan branch manager for GEA, said the thtee projects, covering a floor area of 240,000 square feet, will be built in Detroit, Grand Rapids and Flint.

On June 22, 1921, the Wright Aeronautical Corp. was the first aviation company to have its stock traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Security for You

Disability Payments Range Up to $108

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

The monthly Social Security disability payments may range from $30 to $108.50.

If you're eligible to get them, the exact amount will probably depend on the earnings on which you paid Social Security tax between Jan. 1, 1951, and the time you were disabled.

Here's a five - step method which you can use to get a rough idea of your payments if you're disabled from now on:

1. Get together a record of the yearly earnings on which you paid Social Security tax between Jan. 1, 1951, and the time you were disabled. Remember, the maximum earnings on which you could have paid the tax is $3,600 for the years 1951 through 1954 and $4,200 after that. Those are the maximums provided by the Social Security law.

FOR EXAMPLE

(For example: Suppose you had the maximum taxable earnings for Social Security purposes from Jan. 1, 1951, until Jan. 1, 1957, when you were severely disabled. Your earnings record would look like this: 1951 — $3,600; 1952 — $3,600; 1953—$3,600; 1954 — $3,600; 1955—$4,200; 1956—4,200.)

2. Cross off of this record up to five years in which your earnings were lowest, but have at least two years to figure your payments on.

(Using the example above, you should cross off the four years in which you had earnings of $3,600 and leave the two years—1955 and 1956—in which you had earnings of $4,200.)

3. Add the total of your earnings for the years which remained after you crossed off your years of low earnings.

(Since your earnings in the example for the years of 1955 and 1956 were $4,200 each, the total for the two is $8,400.)

4. Divide this total earnings figure by the number of months in the years you used to get the total.

(Since the total months in the years 1955 and 1956 is 24, divide $8400 by 24. This gives you an average monthly wage of $350.)

5. Figure out your monthly payments by taking 55 per cent of the first $110 of your average monthly wage and adding it to 20 per cent of the remaining amount of your average monthly wage.

(Still using the example: Since your average monthly wage was $350, take 55 per cent of the first $110—that's $60.50—and add it to 20 per cent of $240—that's $48. Your monthly payments figure out to be 108.50. Incidentally, that's the highest monthly payment anyone can get.)

By substituting your own actual earnings for those in the example, you should be able to come up with an estimate of your own monthly disability payments.

If you don't know what your actual earnings have been, you can get a record by writing to the Social Security Administration, Candler Building, Baltimore, Md.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

D-J Average to Be 1,000?

New Library Dedicated

SHRUB OAK, N. Y. (AP)—A new $500,000 library has been dedicated at Loyola Seminary, operated here by the Jesuit order of the Roman Catholic Church.

The three-story library, with a capacity of 150,000 books was built from funds given by Mrs. Mary D. Reiss, widow of Jacob Reiss, industrialist. It bears her name.

Sandburg Scores TV Commercials

The 79-year-old author, poet and lecturer, speaking before the 66th annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs this week asked:

"What are these (commercials) doing to the youth of America?"

He said television "should be like freedom of the press." In a newspaper, he said, you can read the news and skip the advertisements. But in television you have "got to sit there and take it."

Illustrating what he called the effect television has on American youth, Sandburg told the story of the three-year-old daughter of a friend.

The little girl was trying to stall off inevitable punishment for wrong-doing. She looked at her mother and said:

"What makes you so irresistible? Why are you so talented and beautiful?"

★ ★ ★

U.S. Savings Bonds Will Take New Form

Beginning in October the U. S. Treasury Department will issue Series E Savings Bonds in punch-card form, saving printing costs estimated at $500,000.

The punch-card bonds will resemble closely the present paper-type bonds and will have the same printed matter as now on both sides. The size will be reduced slightly.

Present paper-type E bond forms will be used until stocks are depleted, probably by the end of September.

According to Delmar V. Cote, Michigan director for the Treasury's U. S. Savings Bonds Division, the punch-card bonds will make possible the use of electronic data processing machines for certain savings bonds procedures in the Bureau of the Public Debt. Financial institutions and others issuing bonds purchased through the payroll savings plan also will be able to effect economies.

Innocent Dog Caged in Identity Mixup

DETROIT (INS) — A perfectly innocent boxer dog is in the Detroit pound today because of a mixup over pooch identities

John Warhus, 10, and his brother, Richard, 9, were bitten by a boxer at a school playground Wednesday.

Their father, police Patrolman Chester Warhus, was told Dr. J. Allen gray owned the guilty dog so he went to the physician's home and asked that the animal be placed under 10-day rabies observation.

Gray refused and was ordered to appear in city ordinance court yesterday.

The doctor told Judge John D. Watts he would surrender his dog if John could identify the animal.

The involved parties went to Gray's house only to find two almost identical boxer dogs in the yard. John couldn't tell them apart.

However, Judge Watts, when informed of the trouble, ordered both animals locked up.

Gray protested in vain that he couldn't surrender someone else's dog. He admitted he had borrowed one of the animals from a friend.

Here Are Some Jokes Como's Turned Down

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I wondered just who it is that keeps Perry Como sweet—and always the nice guy—so I asked Goodman Ace, his head writer.

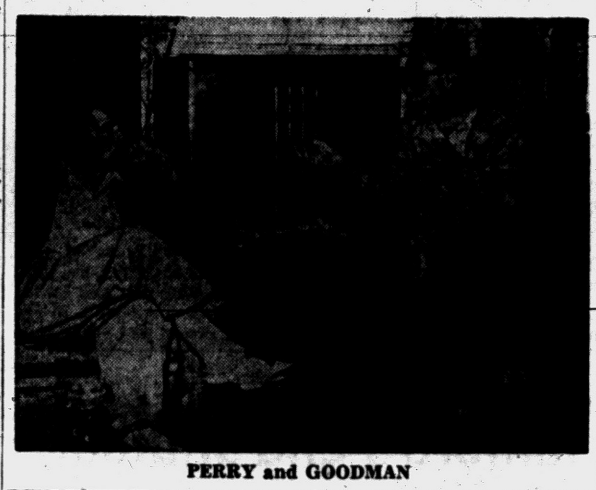

"It's not me," insisted Goodie. "I'm the villain and the heel who gives him jokes he won't do. I guess the guy who keeps him nice is Perry Como. Incidentally, Perry never says he's a nice guy. The public says it."

Perry was very cautious when Bishop Sheen was on at Christmas, too. The Bishop was to say at the Christmas tree, "I wonder if I could exchange this gift you gave me? You see——it's a tie!"

Then Perry was to tell the Bishop he had to do a commercial. "You know what a commercial is, don't you, Your Excellency?" he was to ask.

PERRY and GOODMAN

Perry scissored those products whipped up by one of the greatest joke-writing outfits in the TV business. Perry also has nixed cannibal jokes—evidently because it reminds him of missionaries . . . not because he's afraid of offending cannibals.

"Perry was to say, "I'll take you out afterward and buy you an ice cream cone." And Brenda was to answer: "No, thanks, Perry. I break out."

"He didn't want to do it," Goodie said. "I made a little "cause celebre" out of it. I kept crabbing till he did it. The thing is, Perry would rather sacrifice a laugh than violate good taste."

For an Easter fashion show, they wrote a line: "That dress looks familiar—I think I saw Milton Berle wear it on his television program."

"Milton might not like it," Perry objected.

"Not only will he like it—but he'll send you $50!" maintained Ace.

Como doesn't think he should make any jokes, personally, about his famous "relaxed attitude." On one program, however, Gene Autry said, "I usually do my show on film—this is the first time we've been on live." Perry answered, "That's the nicest thing anybody ever said about us!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Eddie Bracken likes his job as quizmaster on TV's "Masquerade Party": "On a TV panel show you don't have to worry about your pants being pressed." . . . That's earl, brother.

LADIES PGA LEADER — Wiffi Smith putts and sinks a six footer on the ninth hole of Churchhill Valley Country Club at Pittsburgh, yesterday. Wiffi shot a 71 and leads in the Ladies PGA Golf tournatment by four strokes, at the end of 36 holes of play.

5 County Golfers Advance in Publinx

By BILL CORNWELL

Five Oakland County golfers, including three from Pontiac, were still alive today as the Michigan Publinx Golf Association's annual state tournament went into its 2nd day of match play at Saginaw's Rolling Green Golf Club.

One of them was certain to be eliminated today, however, since Iceberg and Robertson were paired this morning in an all-Pontiac battle.

Lady Luck turned against six other county players. Pontiac's Charley Barker, Ed Guisseppe of Birmingham, Jack Aldred of Ferndale and Don Nelson, Bud Bayer and Ron Mueller of Royal Oak were all sidelined Friday.

Seeking to repeat as state publinx champion, the 31-year-old sharpshooter fired sub-par golf to oust two foes in convincing fashion. He was one under par in downing Frank Frisinger of Ann Arbor, 3-2, then went two under regulation while scoring a whopping 7-5 victory over Detroit's Doug Woody.

Mike was scheduled to play 18-year-old Chuck Mitchell this morning. Mitchell, captain of the Saginaw High golf team, shelved Guisseppe and Saginaw's Jerry Hutchinson.

Roy defeated Aldred in 19 holes 1-up, and Melrose Hills of Jackson, 2-1. Robertson beat Emmett McCormick of Detroit, 3-2, and Dallas Space of Ann Arbor, 2-up.

Brooks had the honor of ousting Bob Nodus of Crystal, the Michigan State golfer who took medalist honors in Thursday's 36-hole qualifiers. Brooks shot even par to edge Nodus, 1-up, and earn the right to meet Saginaw's John Horn today.

Pertain qualified to duel Saginaw's Karl Mueller by scoring lopsided wins over two Detroiters. He eliminated Don Ray, 7-6, and George Greenhalgh, 6-5.

Ron Mueller bowed to Detroit's Bill Adams, 5-3; Bayer was sidelined by the troublesome Schmidt, 5-4, and Nelson lost to Stan Sabat of Detroit, 3-2.

Jim Selzer, former Flint Northern golf coach who won the state publinx title two years ago, was Friday's No. 1 casualty.

Other scheduled matches this morning were Jim Briegal of Ann Arbor against Schmidt, Fred King of Dearborn against Art Teixera of Gaylord, Ty Caplin of East Lansing vs. Vince Tata of Detroit, and John Lock of Dearborn vs. John McLaughlin of Ithaca.

The 16-man field will be reduced to four at the end of today's match play rounds. Semifinals and the championship final, both slated for 18 holes, are scheduled Sunday.

Other Friday's Results:

Fred King, Dearborn, def. Veiko Jikola, Royal Oak, 2 and 1, and Bill Montgomery, Trenton, 4 and 3.

Art Texeria, Detroit, def. Walt Heldligh, Detroit, 2 and 1, and Jim Howell, Detroit, 5 and 4.

Karl Mueller, Saginaw, def. John Stout, Pontiac, 4 and 3, and Bill Schwope, Detroit, 3 and 2.

Jim Peartain, Detroit, def. Don Ray, Detroit, 7 and 6 and George Greenhalgh, Detroit, 6 and 5.

Bob Brooks, Detroit, def. Francis Pinkham, Detroit, 4 and 2 and Bob Nodus, East Lansing, 1-up.

Vic Tata, Dearborn, def. Harry Lindberg, Detroit, 1-up, and George Sidlow, Saginaw, 1-up.

Dick Robertson, Pontiac, def. Emmett McCormick, Detroit, 3 and 2, and Dallas Spence, Ann Arbor, 2-up.

Sanford's 2nd Shutout; Sox Lose, Retain Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The story goes that Jack Sanford had to threaten a club official with a poke in the nose to stick with the Philadelphia Phillies this spring. It seems incredible—now that the fast-balling righthander is 7-1 and tops the National League with an .875 percentage.

* * *

In early April, however, it almost figured that Sanford might have to put the slug on somebody to ever make the majors.

An incredible yarn? Sanford made it virtually preposterous last night. He three-hit the Chicago Cubs, striking out 13 for a 1-0 victory — his second consecutive shutout. It hoisted the third-place Phillies within a half-game of first place Cincinnati.

The skidding Redlegs lost their sixth in the last 10 games, beaten 6-3 by second-place Brooklyn and the three-hit pitching of Roger Craig.

In the American League, Chicago's White Sox stayed five games out front, despite a 3-2, 11-inning defeat by Baltimore, as second place New York was spilled 6-3 at Detroit. The Tigers moved into third place as Cleveland lost its fifth in a row, 11-7 to Washington.

* * *

Tito Francona's single brought home the run that beat Jack Harshman. George Zuverink won his fifth in relief as the White Sox blew two chances with base-running mistakes while out-hitting the Orioles 12-8.

Four runs in the eighth broke a 7-7 tie for the Senators as the Tribe lost five in a row for the first time since September, 1953.

* * *

Hal Smith was 4-for-4, with a home run and two doubles, and Gus Zernial and Milt Graff each drove in two runs for the A's, who beat Willard Nixon with a four-run second inning. Wally Burnette won it.

Fullmer Beats Tiger on Points

* * *

Fullmer, who only a month ago lost his title to Sugar Ray Robinson in the same ring, retreated through most of the 10 rounds of the nationally televised match and came on strong in the final rounds to win the bout.

Jones, who weighed 157, was disgusted with Fullmer's plans and said in his dressing room "I told him to start fighting."

Three Amateurs Share Lead at Sunnehanna

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Two University of Houston students and a golfing doctor from Arizona shared a one-stroke lead today as 38 of the nation's top amateurs went into the second and third rounds of the fifth annual Sunnehanna Invitational Golf Tournament.

* * *

Phil Rogers and Jim Hiskey, teen-agers from Houston, and Dr. Ed Updegraf fired 2-under-par 68s yesterday in the first round of the 72-hole medal play tourney. Par for the 6,972-yard Sunnehanna layout is 35-35—70.

* * *

Rogers' 34-34 round featured a hole-in-one on the 185-yard 10th hole. The national junior champ used a six-iron to get the second ace of his young career. Updegraf also had 34-34 while Hiskey carded 36-32.

Eight strokes off the pace was defending champ Gene Dahlbender of Atlanta with 40-35—75.

Fromm's 243-11 Toss of Javelin Sets Pace in NAIA Prelims

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — John Fromm of Pacific Lutheran College at Parkland, Wash., flipped the javelin 243 feet, 11 inches last night to lead the record-smashing preliminary round of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletic track and field meet.

Bobby Morrow, Olympic sprint champion from Abilene Christian College in Texas, breezed to heat victories in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, and his coasting victory of 21.3 seconds in the 220-yard was good for a new meet mark.

In the 100 he won by a yard over Ollan Cassell of East Tennessee State, who is expected to push the Texan in the finals tonight. Morrow's time was :09.7. Cassell ran his heat in :09.6.

Elias Gilbert of Winston Salem College in North Carolina set meet records in the 120-yard high hurdles (13.8 seconds) and the 220-yard lows (23.4 seconds).

Wiffi Smith Tops PGA by 4 Strokes

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Wiffi Smith, a freckle-faced redhead who can't be bothered with discussing golf shots, carried a four-stroke lead into the third round of the Ladies PGA championship today and left all hands wondering whether it will turn out to be a runaway or a great golf tournament.

* * *

One player who figures it still is a contest is Patty Berg, another redhead who has been a golf pro since Wiffi was a child.

Patty, 39, and still one of the top performers on the women's professional tour, figures that women's golf only needs a dozen or so more top flight players to become as big a gate attraction as the men's tournaments.

"There are a lot of good golfers and if we can get the prize money up a little, they'll be joining the pro tour" Patty said after posting a second round score of 72 for a 36-hole total of 145.

* * *

Prize money in the LPGA tournament is $7,500, the same amount that is posted for the Women's Open championship. That isn't a big figure compared to the prizes the male pros play for.

Off the first two rounds, Miss Smith figures to have the top money almost wrapped up. She had rounds of 68, a course record, and 71 for a 139 total. None of her rivals could score consistently.

Wiffi put the crusher on Louise Suggs, her strongest challenger, on the finishing holes of yesterday's second round at the Churchill Valley course. Louise posted a 36-hole score of 143.

Another stroke back at 144 were defending champion Marlene Bauer Hagge, who had a second round of 75 after an opening 69, and sturdy Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis. Miss Berg and Alice Bauer, Marlene's sister, still were within stroking distance of the lead with 145 totals.

* * *

Today's third round also marked the National Golf Day score for Mrs. Kathy Cornelius, who will defend her U.S. Women's Open championship at Winged Foot later this month.

Wiffi Smith	68-71—139
Louise Suggs	69-74—143
Marlene Bauer Hagge	69-75—144
Joyce Ziske	73-71—144

Richards Gives Chisox Good Chance to Win AL

CHICAGO (AP)—Baltimore Manager Paul Richards watched his Orioles whip the league-leading Chicago White Sox, 3-2, in 11 innings last night and then gave his former team a good chance to win the American League pennant.

* * *

"They can do it," said Richards, "if Jim Landis and Bubba Phillips give them the needed help. I'm not selling the New York Yankees short, but if these kids come through the White Sox have a chance."

The Orioles, largely responsible for Chicago's five-game lead because of Baltimore's three victories over the Yankees last weekend, couldn't cut the White Sox lead as the Yankees dropped a 6-3 decision to Detroit.

"Phillips and Landis have looked good to me," said Richards, "but they have to come through because you know what guys like (Nellie) Fox, Minnie Minoso and (Sherm) Lollar are going to do. The Sox had those players last year and still finished third.

* * *

"I'd have to give the Sox an edge in pitching over the Yankees but I can't discount that Yankee muscle. And remember, New York also has speed."

Richards, who piloted the amazing "go-go" Sox of 1951 into a 4½-game lead in June only to see the team collapse and finish fourth said the 1957 White Sox won't do the same thing.

Moore Gets NBA Ultimatum

DETROIT (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. says Archie Moore must defend his light heavyweight crown in a United States bout by July 7 or relinquish the title.

The ultimatum by NBA president Floyd Stevens was the latest in repeated "put it on the line or get out" orders to the ancient vagabond. But this time the NBA says its means business.

It notified Moore yesterday that he is suspended and that if he doesn't get into a U.S. fight within the month his title will be declared vacant and given to the winner of a series of elimination bouts.

The latest decree stems from Moore's failure to meet Tony Anthony of New York in a Detroit fight scheduled for last night.

Moore, in Germany on a European tour, threatened to sue the NBA for one million dollars "for attempting to deprive me of my right to make a livelihood."

"Let him sue," replied Stevens. The NBA president said Moore agreed to fight the winner of the Anthony - Churck Spieser bout held here last April. Anthony knocked out Spieser in the 3rd round of the fight.

He was in Detroit last night, available for the title fight which promoters had given up on some time ago, but primarily to wind up his training for a bout next Friday with Yvon Durelle.

Stevens said Moore told him May 4 that he would fight Anthony here if he was guaranteed $100,000.

"We're concerned with a reasonable defense of the title and Moore's promise to fight the winner of the Anthony - Spieser fight," Stevens said. "We're not interested in the money."

The NBA president said that Anthony's manager, Ernie Braca, reported a Los Angeles promoter was willing to guarantee Moore $100,000 for the defense of his title against Anthony. Stevens said, however, that there was nothing definite about the offer.

Moore denied he had agreed to fight Anthony. "There was no contract and no money involved," he said.

* * *

Stevens said Moore's suspension was automatic because he failed to show for last night's bout.

He said if Moore doesn't defend his crown within a month, the NBA would stage a series of elimination bouts leading to the title.

City Leagues Plan Heavy Card Sunday

City League baseball and softball teams will see a lot of action here Sunday. Seven games, all rescheduled contests except one, are slated on Pontiac diamonds.

In Class A baseball tomorrow, Thomas Die & Stamping meets the Pontiac Jets in the regularly scheduled contest at 1:30 p.m. Griff's Grill battles Shaw's Jewelers at 3:30 in a make-up game. Both tilts are slated at Wisner Field.

On the softball front, Birmingham plays Elks No. 810 at 7 p.m. and Deni's Corner faces Dostal Foundry at 8:30 in games at Beaudette Park. Over at North Side, Oxbow Pavillion takes part in both ends of a twin bill, meeting CIO Local 653 at 7 o'clock and Louie's Tavern at 8:30.

Gingellville and Commerce Theater will clash Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in a girls' league game, also on the North Side diamond.

Big Test Set for Barbizon

The champion 2-year-old colt of 1956, now the last hope of Calumet Farms for next Saturday's Belmont Stakes, goes today in the $35,000-added Leonard Richard Stakes at Delaware Park. His showing in the mile and one eighth race is expected to determine whether trainer Jimmy Jones will enter him in the Belmont.

* * *

The Leonard Richard is one of the top races on a Saturday turf program studded with rich handicaps. There is the $50,000-added Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont, the $50,000-added Argonaut Handicap at Hollywood Park, the $50,000-added Chicagoan at Washington Park and the $10,000 Plymouth Rock Handicap at Suffolk Downs.

Robinson Honorary Doctor of Laws Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's "Dr. Robinson" now.

Jackie Robinson, the first Negro to play big league baseball, received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree yesterday from Howard University. The former Brooklyn great is now a personnel executive.

Oldtimers Play Today

The Pontiac Oldtimers will play the London, Ontario, Oldtimers here today at Wisner Field in an International Oldtimers League baseball contest. Starting time is 2 p.m. This will be the 1st game of the season for the local Oldtimers, who were rained out in their scheduled opener last Saturday night at Toledo, Ohio.

Frog Season Approaching

LANSING (AP) — Frog legs and those of Betty Grable both are highly admired, but for different reasons.

The actress' legs are renowned for their symmetry and form; frog legs, properly prepared, provide one of the tastiest meals a gourmet ever had.

Now that June is here, frog hunters in Michigan are hauling out equipment for the year's first venture to swamps and ponds in search of the croaking bullfrog and some of his smaller cousins.

More than that, it's a sport that requires no license in Michigan, and the limitations are few. The major ban is against spearing of frogs by artificial light.

From the season opening June 15, it's legal to take frogs up to November, although the biggest harvest naturally takes place in June and July when the new crop is plentiful.

* * *

There's no limit on the number of frogs that can be taken, and it's not at all unusual to bag 25 or 30 in a hunting trip to a pond well populated with frogs.

Champs in Detroit Sept. 22nd

Lions Add Giants

DETROIT — Professional football's top attraction, the World Champion New York Giants, will meet the Detroit Lions in a preseason game in Briggs Stadium on Sunday afternoon, September 22, General Manager Nick Kerbawy announced today.

It marks the first time that the Lions have played two regularly scheduled pre-season games at home. The game will be the final tune-up for both teams before the start of the regular National Football League schedule on September 29.

"The appearance of the World Champion New York Giants will be the only 1957 meeting between the two teams," commented Kerbawy, "and coming as it does just a week before the opening of league play, it will give Lion fans a chance to judge for themselves how the 1957 Lions stack up against pro football's top team."

* * *

Kickoff for the game will be at 1:05 p.m., a half-hour earlier than the Lions' regular starting times for NFL games.

* * *

Giant Coach Jim Lee Howell will have much the same team that won its first NFL title in nineteen years with a sparkling 47-7 decision over the Chicago Bears last December. Such stars as quarterback Charlie Conerly, halfback Frank Gifford, Kyle Rote, fullback Mel Triplett, halfback Alex Webster are key veterans who spark the Giants' attack. One of the top rookies in the champions' camp will be Michigan State's Dennis Mendyck.

The local pre-season meeting will be the first between the two teams since the 1955 campaign. The Lions downed the Giants, 27-17, in pre-season play but dropped the season's finale, 24-19, to the New Yorkers.

In regular season and championship play against the Giants through the years the Lions boast a record of eight victories, four losses and a tie, including the Lions' first championship victory in 1935, 26-7.

The Giant-Lion game completes the 1957 pre-season schedule.

The entire pre-season and regular season schedule is as follows:

PRE-SEASON

Sun. Aug. 14—Browns at Detroit.
Fri. Aug. 23—Eagles at Toledo.
Sat. Aug. 31—Redskins at Birmingham, Ala.
Sun. Sept. 8—Steelers at Buffalo.

Sun. Nov. 3—49ers at San Francisco.
Sun. Nov. 10—Eagles at Philadelphia.
Sun. Nov. 17—49ers at Detroit.
Sun. Nov. 24—Bears at Detroit.
Thurs. No. 28—Packers at Detroit.
Sun. Dec. 8—Brown at Detroit.
Sun. Dec. 15—Bears at Chicago.

Report Sawchuk Is Back

MONTREAL (AP) — Sports columnist Dink Carroll of Montreal in his column last night said the long-projected trade between Detroit and Boston of the National Hockey League was "completed here on Thursday and formal announcement of the details will be made simultaneously in Boston and Detroit early next week."

* * *

Detroit "wound up with Terry Sawchuk after all" but identity of two players going to Boston in exchange for the all-star goalie, who quit in mid-season on grounds of ill health, isn't known yet.

"Our guess is that the Bruins got (Dutch) Reibel or (Johnny) Bucyk, plus some youngster in the Red Wings' farm system," wrote Carroll. Both are forwards.

It has been generally anticipated that Detroit would get Sawchuk and trade goalie Glen Hall to Chicago in a three-team shuffle, along with all-star winger Ted Lindsay. Managers Jack Adams of Detroit and Lynn Patrick of Boston conferred here this week at the NHL meeting.

LONG HAUL—Rejected by two major league clubs and nine years in the minors, Billy Klaus finally made it with the Red Sox. His shortstopping is backed by timely hitting.

Giant Carp Carnival Set for Sunday on Lake Erie

ALL OUTDOORS, Mich. (INS)—The Carp Carnival—largest event of its kind in the world—will be held Sunday at the Pointe Mouillee marshes on the shores of Lake Erie.

* * *

More than 3,000 bowfishermen are expected to be on hand trying for the $2,500 in prizes. The archer who bags the largest carp takes home a fancy boat, motor and trailer valued at nearly $1,600.

* * *

Sponsored by Ken Sieloff's Sports Mart and Mort Neff's Michigan Outdoors, the Carp Carnival drew more than 2,000 bowfishermen last year. A monster 30 pound carp took last year's top prize.

Other outdoor news this weekend includes a fair-to-good fishing report for weekend anglers in Southern Michigan.

* * *

Trout streams are in good condition, according to the conservation department, and anglers should enjoy top sport.

* * *

Walleye fishing has been excellent this past week in Lake St. Clair. Follow the sandbar about a quarter of a mile off shore from nine Mile to Huron Point.

Perch are running good in the Detroit River below Tawas Island. The docks of Wyandotte are also hot.

* * *

Saginaw Bay has been rather poor for perch, but there has been a little catfish action in the cut-ins.

* * *

Skipping around the state: the Traverse City area reports fast trouting in Middle, big Manistee and Bear Creeks in Manistee County—also good in Pine, Poplar and Slage Creeks in Wexford County . . . Lakes Cadillac and Mitchell in Cadillac have good walleye fishing—Gladwin area is enjoying top blue gill fishing.

Pitching, Bolling's Safety, Beat Yanks

Probably not, but Detroit manager Jack Tighe tossed it out just for kicks during a post-game conversation after the Tigers subdued the New Yorkers 6-3 last night for their 4th win in five starts against the defending world champions.

"If our boys get keyed up more for the Yankees than for any of the other clubs," said Tighe, "I haven't noticed it."

Yankee manager Casey Stengel disagreed.

"Those guys look like world beaters every time we see 'em," said the grizzled skipper who has guided the Yankees to seven American League pennants in eight years. "Maybe they don't look so hot sometimes against those other teams, but they sure knock heck out of us."

Yogi Berra, the New York catcher who probably will miss the Detroit series except for pinch hitting duty because of a broken nose, added: "Even when the Tigers had pretty bad teams they always gave us trouble."

The victory, achieved before baseball's biggest crowd of the season—43,474 paid—was thrill-packed from start to finish.

Tigers didn't have an over-supply of base hits, but they had 'em when they counted most. The pitching, with Jim Bunning turning in seven spectacular innings and Frank Lary mopping up in the last two, couldn't have been more effective in the tight spots.

Bunning struck out 10 batters—getting Elston Howard three times and Hank Bauer, Gil McDougald and Bill Skowron twice each—allowed just five hits including Mickey Mantle's 14th home run and picked up victory number five. The slender righthander is unbeaten as a starter and has an overall record of 5-1. Lary, although he was in minor difficulty in the 9th inning, gave a good account of himself in one of his rare relief appearances.

Harvey Kuenn broke out of a batting slump with three singles, but it was a two-out, bases-loaded safety in the 7th inning and Frank Bolling and it scored the first two runs of a four-run rally that wiped out a 2-2 Yankee lead.

Don (Perfect Game) Larsen, who had given up just four hits in the first six innings, put the first two runners on base before being lifted in the 7th and absorbed the defeat. J. W. Porter, who cracked his first major league home run for the first Detroit score in the 2nd, opened with a walk.

After Kuenn twice failed to sacrifice, he lined a single to center and Stengel brought in Bob Grim. The ace Yankee reliefer almost got Larsen off the hook, too, retiring Frank House on a sacrifice, giving hitter Jack Dittmer an intentional walk to load the bases and striking out another pinch batter, Earl Torgeson.

That's when Bolling sent his well-placed safety into the outfield. It scored two runs and sent Dittmer to third. Charlie Maxwell caromed a single off first baseman Skowron's glove to bring Dittmer home and send Bolling to third.

Tigers' 3rd straight victory broke the Yankee victory string at four.

Today's mound opponents were to be Paul Foytack (6-6) for Detroit and Ralph Terry (1-0) for the Yanks. Terry, a rookie up from Denver, hasn't allowed a run in 16 1-3 innings.

The two teams will wind up the series with single games Sunday and Monday.

OUT AT HOME — Detroit Tigers' leftfielder Charlie Maxwell is out at home plate in the 7th inning of last night's game with the New York Yankees as he tried to score when teammate Ray Boone hit a double. Elston Howard, Yanks catcher, made the out. Howard was replacing Yogi Berra on the sick list with an injury. Tigers won, 6-3.

Six Golf Tourneys at Municipal Links

Six golf tournaments will be held at City Municipal Golf Course this summer, the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has announced.

Five of these tournaments are the same ones that have been sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department in past years. The 6th tourney is conducted by the UAW-CIO.

The recreation-sponsored campaign gets under way Saturday, June 15, with the men's 18-hole best ball event for two-man teams. Deadline for entries is Thursday, June 13, at 6 p.m. Tee-off time is 12 noon.

Next tourney on the city agenda is the mixed two-ball foursome test Saturday, July 13. The 18-hole event begins at 12 noon and the entry deadline is Thursday, July 11, at 6 o'clock.

Women's medal play, an 18-hole test to decide the city champion, is scheduled Saturday, July 20. Once again the tee-off time is 12 noon and deadline for entries has been set for Thursday, July 18, at 6 p.m.

Men's 18-hole qualifying rounds for the medal play championship are slated Saturday, Aug 3, and are open to all residents of Oakland County. Previous city champions and the five best shotmakers in the 1956 finals are excused from the trials.

Qualifying rounds may be played on the assigned date between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. The low 20 scores are eligible for the city finals.

The final event is the men's annual battle for the city championship, a 36-hole medal play tournament scheduled Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 10-11. Former champs, the best five in the '56 finals and this year's 20 top qualifiers are eligible for the title rounds. Eighteen holes will be played each day.

Trophies, golf balls and other merchandise are awarded as prizes in each event by the Parks and Recreation Department. Nominal entry fees will be charged for each tourney entered.

The UAW-CIO's annual Region 1-B golf tournament, conducted in cooperation with the recreation department, is slated Saturday, July 27, starting at 9 a.m.

Golf Leaders Suspend Ward for One Year

Amateur Champ Found Guilty of Violating Expense Rules

CHICAGO (AP) — National Amateur champion Harvie Ward, found guilty of violating "rules of amateur status," was sidelined for a year by the U. S. Golf Assn. yesterday and will be unable to defend his title at Brookline, Mass., in September.

The penalty extends through May 6, 1958, but Ward immediately applied for re-instatement as an amateur and will compete in the U.S. Open at Toledo, Ohio, next week.

Joseph Dey, USGA executive director, said Ward had accepted unauthorized expenses for participating in tournaments dating from the British Amateur in May 1952 through the Colonial Open at Fort Worth, Tex., last month.

Ward, saddled by the announcement, said he actually hadn't planned an extensive schedule. "I planned to play a limited schedule," said Ward and "was looking forward to the Masters, the U.S. Open and naturally the National Amateur."

Ward added:

"They made the decision. I feel badly about it. It hurt.

"I didn't feel I had done anything wrong and still think I didn't do anything wrong. But that's their decision. They made it. I have no malice towards the USGA That's their job, I guess — to police boys like me."

Dey said the San Franciscan was found guilty of accepting expenses "incident to participation in golf competitions in such a manner as to infringe the rules during a period beginning May 1952 and ending May 6, 1957."

★ ★ ★

Cranes, Clarkston Among Area Baseball Champions

By CHUCK ABAIR

The only contest remaining will settle the Eastern Michigan League race. An upset of Ferndale by Hazel Park would give Mt. Clemens the crown. A Ferndale win will result in a deadlock for the top slot and would move Birmingham into a 3rd place tie with the Parkers.

Cranbrook lost it final Interstate contest after being unbeaten but still took the title. St. Mary won out in a close three-team battle with Orchard Lake St. Mary and St. Rita by winning all eight Suburban Catholic games.

Clarkston finished strong to become the 1st northern champion in the now divided Wayne-Oakland League. Clarenceville dominated the north and had the best overall record of 9-1.

The Inter-Lakes League race was a two-team battle with Berkley's 9-1 record bettering Southfield. Roseville had to whip strong contender Madison in the final tilt to win its 5th Oakland B flag in six years. Imlay City matched perfect records by St

Rainfall Far Exceeds April Total

May Showers? We Had Them!

By MARGARET BROWN

Whoever penned the phrase, "April showers bring May flowers" probably never suspected that one May weekend's precipitation would best by nearly two inches the rainfall recorded for the entire month of April.

Temperatures fluctuated sharply early in the month, leaving residents wondering whether summer cottons or winter woolies were the order of the day. On May 1 the mercury registered 81 at noon but had dipped 36 degrees to a chilly 45 by midnight, dropping even lower to 39 before 8 a.m. on May 2.

During the early morning on Friday, May 3, the mercury was grounded firmly on the 32 degree line (the month's lowest temperature), and predictions for scattered frost and freezing temperatures had been issued. After the frosty weekend, the weather man boosted morale by predicting a warming trend. Reports from the U. S. Weather Bureau stated that slight damage had been done to the sweet cherry crop in Traverse City.

SHOWER SIEGE

With warmer temperatures came a long siege of showers. From May 9 through May 16 the weather man's dismal "occasional showers and thunderstorms" predictions frustrated golf enthusiasts and picnic planners.

A severe thunderstorm on May 14 brought warnings from the U. S. Weather Bureau that a few isolated tornadoes were expected. The first alert was to last from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. on May 14, but was lifted as the weather cleared at 7:10 p.m. At 10 p.m., however, another alert was issued and did not end until 2 a.m. on May 15.

Beginning May 16 temperatures were falling again. The U. S. Weather Bureau reported that cold air from Canada was responsible for the chill.

On May 18, just when the local gentry had stored away rain gear and bumbershoots, the rains came again. Two and one-half inches fell on the city from 6 p.m. Friday, May 17 until 8 a.m. Monday morning. April's total rainfall was 1.70 inches.

The weather was warmer with overcast skies the remainder of the month. Possible showers were included in each daily forecast from May 25 through May 31, but fortunately few of the dreary outlooks failed to materialize.

The weather for May summed up statistically: Precipitation, 3.67; average monthly high, 65; and average monthly low, 46. Mean temperature for the month was 55.5.

Your Neighbor's House

Lake Cottage Now Permanent Home

background for LIVING

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When the Charles Lippincotts sold their Clarkston home a couple of years ago, they didn't go far to find a new place to live. They already had a summer cottage on Deer Lake, just west of the village limits. Since they liked the location, they decided to make the cottage into a permanent home.

Few changes were necessary, outside of refinishing the interior. The former garage became a utility room and a new three-car garage was built on. The porch on the lake side of the house was enclosed to make a family room.

The Lippincotts have two sons, both away from home. The elder one is in the Air Force, but stationed at the Soo; his younger brother is in college up north. Both get home for vacations.

Brown cedar shakes on the outside of the house make it fit well into its wooded setting. Trim is turquoise. A white marble walk leads up to the front porch which is floored in the same marble.

Most of the walls in the house are covered with wood. "And I just love wallpaper," sighs Mrs. Lippincott. She admits that the wood makes housekeeping easy.

Although the Lippincotts did all the planning of their house, they hired workmen for the actual building. Mrs. Lippincott did the outside painting. Until a serious fall grounded him, her husband took care of all the handyman jobs.

Boxed beams in the same cherry that panels the walls decorate the ceiling in the living room. Scenic floor length draperies—to satisfy Mrs. Lippincott's love of design—cover the windows. The carpeting is beige in a textured pattern.

Once a porch, the family room is now the most popular spot in the house. On these walls the Lippincotts used redwood paneling. The boards run diagonally on two walls, giving a change of line. The tweed carpeting is aqua, brown and tan.

"FAT JOLLY MAN"

Out here the fireplace is even larger than the one in the living room. Mrs. Lippincott said they wanted it to look as much like a fat jolly man as possible. Constructed of pink brick, it makes about a ninety-degree turn around the corner.

On either side of the fire opening there are built-in cupboards with redwood doors. On the hearth an old English copper scuttle is used to collect ashes. More of the antiques Mrs. Lippincott has collected are on the mantel. Mantel and the low hearth are both slab rock.

Two arm chairs are aqua, one a plaid, the other plain. There are three small leather sofas, two green, one brown. The coffee table is topped with tiles.

BIRD PANEL SHADE

The picture window, of course, frames a view of the lake and of the wooded yard. No curtains mar this view. But a long roller shade can be pulled down to keep out the early morning sun. This shade is made of material depicting birds in panels, across the width.

Mrs. Lippincott managed to get a little wallpaper in the dining room. Around the one window the wall is covered with rose and white paper that matches the draperies. The rest of the walls have wainscotting of cedar with the rose wallpaper above. The ceiling is also cedar.

ANTIQUE DISHES

Mrs. Lippincott loves antique dishes and has an extensive collection most of them blue and white. She uses them all, thus getting double pleasure from possessing them.

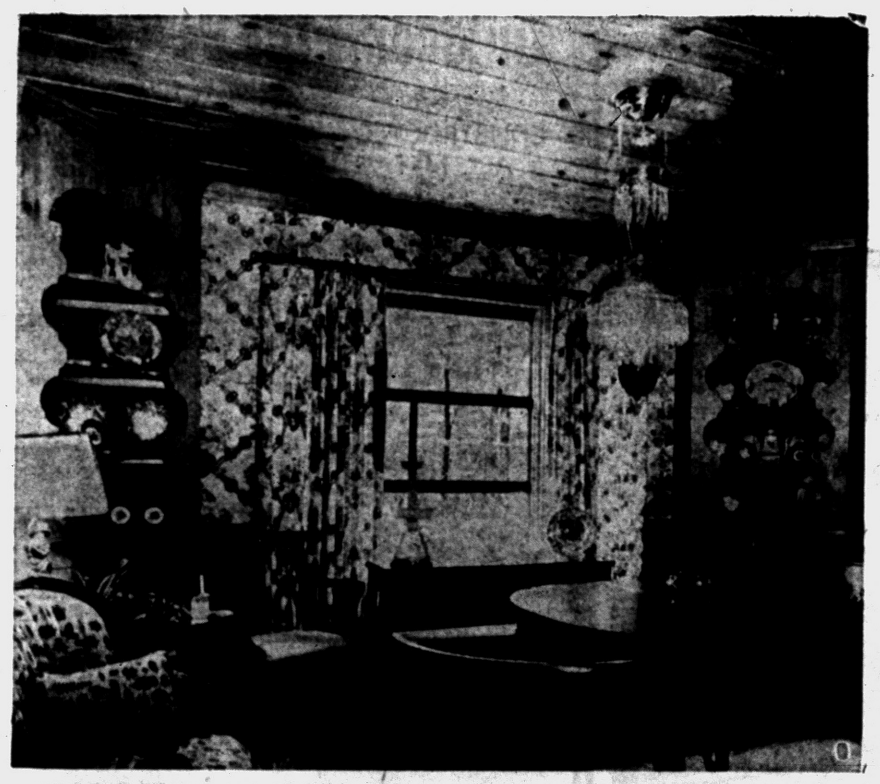

Other furniture in this room comprises an antique love seat that belonged in Mr. Lippincott's family. On one wall there is a handsome cherry buffet, on another a cherry server; both have brass handles.

Near the utility room there is a minute pine paneled work and storage room. The top of one cupboard has a built-in cutting

ON DEER LAKE — This low brown house with turquoise trim sits atop a hill on the shore of Deer Lake. An abundance of trees and flowers adds to the charm of the setting. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lippincott and their two sons have lived here for nearly three years. The house was once a summer cottage. The window at the left is in the utility room, formerly the garage. A new three-car attached garage is on the right (out of the picture).

THE CHARM OF ANTIQUES — In the dining room Mrs. Lippincott displays her antique dishes in open corner cupboards. The ceiling and wainscoting are cedar, with wallpaper on the rest of the walls and around the window. Drapery fabric matches the paper. On the left can be seen part of the antique love seat that belonged to Mr. Lippincott's family. The hanging lamp has a cranberry glass shade with crystal pendants.

CHERRY LIVING ROOM — Walls and ceiling of the living room are paneled in cherry. Some sap wood has been used which gives the walls a pleasing variation of color. The furniture is overstuffed, colorful and comfortable. On one wall there are antique prints. Opposite the sofa is a rounded pink brick fireplace. The draperies in this room are scenic floor length ones.

ROUNDED FIREPLACE — Made to look like a fat jolly man, the pink brick fireplace in the family room has storage cupboards on either side. On two walls the redwood paneling is fastened diagonally. The carpeting is aqua, brown and tan tweed. Informal furniture is covered in matching colors. Mrs. Lippincott studies some of the antiques on the slab rock mantel. This room, once a porch, has a large picture window overlooking the lake.

KING SIZE BED — In the master bedroom the king size bed is covered with a pale beige spread, trimmed and monogrammed in blue. The flowered curtains under their pine valances make the walls take on a pink hue at night. Walls are also pine. The two upholstered chairs in the room are blue.

Use Soap—Don't Scrape

When painting, keep this little trick in mind: smear window panes with a paste of soap or detergent suds before painting woodwork or outside areas around the windows. Then when you're through, the paint splatters will wash off the glass along with the suds. No laborious scraping necessary.

PINK AND BLUE KITCHEN — Cupboards are blue and counter tops and splash boards are pink in the Charles Lippincotts' kitchen. The walls and ceiling are birch. Note the sink in the middle of the room. This provides for traffic all around it, but Mrs. Lippincott says company always gangs up in one corner. The breakfast table is set in the window corner where a view of woods and the lake is best.

Furniture is maple, except for an old slant-top pine desk. For each boy there is a barrel-shaped easy chair covered in tiny blue plaid material.

FRAMED FANS

Light for the hall which leads to all the bedrooms comes from a louvered opening into the living room. On the walls there are two massive picture frames. Each one contains old fans mounted on a marbelized background and framed in red velvet.

The guest room has southern pine walls and ceiling finished in a peach shade. Furniture is mahogany. Bedspreads are coral and curtains are flowered.

In the bathroom the floor is marbleized blue and cream linoleum. Fixtures are blue. Tile is maroon. Walls are knotty pine. In connection with the bathroom there is a small dressing room. Built-in shelves and a cupboard with louvered doors give storage space. An antique mirror is mounted on one wall. Opposite it is a small upholstered chair.

The Lippincotts' bedroom also has southern pine walls and ceiling, finished in a pale gold tone. The carpet is rose beige.

Don't Separate Plumbing

Plan back-to-back plumbing to save as much as 40 per cent on the plumbing material and labor bill. Install the complete water supply and drainage system before partitions are in place.

New Products Will Mend and Waterproof

AMES, Ia. (INS) — Two new products have been developed for the home handyman. One is an all-purpose mending cement and the other is a rubber protective coating.

June Brown, extension home furnishings specialist at Iowa State College, said the cement product has been used by professional cabinet makers and sheo leather goods manufacturers for a long time.

For the first time the product is available for home use. Miss Brown said it will hold together any combination of rubber, leather, wood, cork, glass, metal, plaster, paper, concrete, ceramics, celluloid and plastics except for vinyl.

The protective coating will stick to almost any clean surface and isn't damaged by sunlight, weather, oils or grease. Miss Brown said it can be used as a protector for metal window frames, outdoor furniture, garbage cans, gutters and drainpipes.

It can waterproof porches, roofs and children's wading pools. The liquid is available in jet black, light gray, orange, medium red and aluminum and can be applied with brush, roller or spray.

Miss Brown said a single application of the liquid "gives a protective film equal in thickness to between six and 10 coats of ordinary paint."

The two new products are available under several brand names but the word to look for on the cans is "neoprene," the basic ingredient.

Use 'Finish' Booklet for Family Amusement

An interesting booklet called "Courting Coolness," giving ideas on combating summer heat, if offered by the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, 1500 Rhode Island Avenue, N.W., Washington 5, D.C. A postcard request for "Courting Coolness" will bring it to your mailbox, free. It will help you to plan now to bring a cool, summery atmosphere to your home in a most economical and easy to accomplish way.

Booklet on Plumbing

"What You Should Know About Plumbing" is the title of an informative booklet available from the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Illinois. Price of the booklet is 10 cents.

Varnish Protects Wood

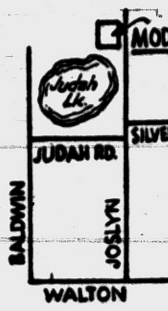

Varnish enriches the natural beauty of your floors and woodwork and will bring out the distinctive grain of fine wood furniture. It dries to a clear hard film of luxurious gleam, which resists scratching and marring from spilled beverages.

Use an aerosol container or spray gun to apply enamel or varnish to wicker furniture for a smoother protective coat. Spray method eliminates blobs in wicker intersections.

Automatic Paint Selector

"Colorbot," offered by the Martin-Senour Paint Co., Chicago, enables a paint buyer to select any color he wants, insert a card of that color into an automated reader and have his selection mixed and ready to take home in a few seconds. The firm says this dispensing unit allows paint dealers to meet any decorating need promptly.

More and more home buyers are looking for two-family houses. Principal reason is the economy of living in one half and renting out the other.

Disinfect Well With Chlorine

It's as easy as it is necessary, the National Water Well Association points out, following the drilling of a new well or repairs to an existing well.

Chlorine is one of the most powerful disinfectants known. It takes surprisingly little — two cups of ordinary five per cent laundry bleach—to make a four-inch, 100-foot deep well safe, the association explains. It is better to use too much than too little chlorine, to make certain that one treatment does the job. The entire water system—well, pump, piping and storage tank—should be included in the disinfecting process.

Here are the steps to follow, as outlined by the National Water Well Association:

1. Add chlorine solution to well.
2. Run a hose from an outside faucet into the well, then start the pump (this pulls the disinfecting solution into the storage tank).
3. Open all faucet outlets, drawing solution into lines.
4. Shut off the pump, close faucets, cover the well and let the solution remain in the system overnight.
5. Open faucets and start the pump again in the morning, permitting water to run until the chlorine odor disappears.
6. Operate the system a few days. Then send sample of water for tasting to the nearest state health department bacteriological laboratory.

Monthly Installment Buying Will Grow

The Federal Reserve Board has predicted that installment buying will continue to grow for the next decade, but will increase more slowly than it has since World War II.

Practical Builder magazine, reporting on the board's study of consumer credit, says installment debt increased in the nation during 1955 by more than five and a half billion dollars.

Remember Ladder Care

Wooden ladders should be protected with occasional applications of a clear varnish or penetrating sealer to keep them in good condition. Never use opaque paints, however, since these may hide splits or other dangerous defects.

Tiles Personalize Table

Do you have prized drawings of your children, the old homestead, riding horses, the family's vacation boat? Why not have them permanently preserved on ceramic tiles which can then surface a durable, attractive side table? Check with your local art studio on how it's done. They'll be beautiful forever. And you can make the table top yourself!

Extra Rod Over Tub Takes Care of Drips

An extra shower curtain rod over the center of the bathtub provides a convenient place for the housewife to hand hand-laundry, raincoats and other drippy items to dry, suggests the National Association of Plumbing Contractors. Wet garments drip in the tub instead of on the floor, and the shower curtain conceals the laundry if company drops in.

This "wife-saving" suggestion from NAPC also lets the men in the family shave without having to fight their way through a jungle of lingerie.

The new "expandable" shower curtain rod has rubber feet on each end to prevent marring wall surfaces and can be installed easily with pliers or a small wrench. The rod is available from local plumbing contractors and costs about four dollars.

Good Idea for Any Town

A civic group in New York City is offering a free paint job as a prize to the landloard who wins the competition for the best spruced-up premises in a thirty-block area on the West Side. An added incentive is a chance to win free window boxes with flowers. Everybody in the block, however, has to do some cleaning up because the prizes will be awarded only if the whole block has improved in appearance.

Outside Hot Water Great Convenience

If you've just discovered the joys of an outdoor hot water connection with mixing faucet, you're probably wondering how you ever got along without this inexpensive home improvement before you had your plumber install it.

As each season rolls around, you'll find more reason to enthuse as you note that hot water reduces the time and labor involved in once-despised seasonal chores, sa the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. For example, you'll be able to clean garden furniture, the patio floor and window screens in record time by hosing them down with hot water.

GAMA suggests adjusting the temperature of your automatic gas water heater to 130 degrees for these and similar clean-up jobs, all year round.

NEWS VIEWS

You can talk all you want to about the Gold Rush of '49 or a stampede of Texas steers . . . but they look pretty like small potatoes compared to the annual stampede of young Americans exploding out of the nation's classrooms. Next to Christmas, the last day of school is about the biggest number on the calendar. And it covers a wider territory than atomic fall-out on a windy day. Not only do the kids slip their leashes . . . but school teachers all over the country can look forward to spending a few weeks when they don't feel like Clyde Beatty trying to handle a wild animal act.

Of course, to parents summer vacation is something else again . . . but everybody can't be lucky. And parents can always look forward to the last day of vacation.

One of our tired neighbors is working on a new gardening mixture. When you spread it on your garden, nothing grows . . . so you can just lie back and relax.

Our best wishes and congratulations to the many June brides and grooms in the Pontiac area . . . and a reminder, too, that we can be lots of help to newlyweds . . . and we do means LOTS! Our listings include some choice lots in choice locations.

Practical—Decorative

A room divider should serve both a practical and decorative function. Its primary purpose is to separate one room area from another for the sake, usually, of increased privacy. But the room divider should also serve some further purpose such as shelving for books, pottery or curios. And, too, it should be decoratively attractive.

One novel idea is to surface the divider with colorful ceramic mosaics in a pattern of your own choosing. Because of the wide range of sizes, shapes and colors you can create almost any desired effects with mosaics.

Air Conditioner Goal

Watch Wells During Rains

LANSING — Persons who obtain their drinking and cooking water from private wells should be especially careful about contamination during the spring rainy season, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

Contamination at this time of year usually is related to surface flooding or to a rise in the ground water level. Either condition can prevent septic tanks from draining properly and may cause sewage-laden water from the tanks to flow over the ground surface and into water wells.

Defects in well construction and location often become apparent during the spring rainy season even though they may not appear during the rest of the year. The state health department added that wells constructed and located according to health department recommendations run very little if any risk of being contaminated in the spring or at any other time.

A well that has been flooded by or submerged under any kind of water should be considered contaminated until laboratory tests show an absence of contamination, the health department said.

1—After the source of contamination has been eliminated and any defects in the well's construction and location have been corrected, pump out the well until the water is clear and clean.

2—Either boil the clear water for two minutes or disinfect by adding three drops of liquid laundry bleach to each gallon of water. Mix the bleach in thoroughly and let stand for 30 minutes before using.

Laboratory tests can be arranged by contacting the local city, county or district health department. In the 12 Michigan counties not served by local health departments, tests can be secured without charge by writing to the Michigan Department of Health, Lansing 4.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—Will insulation in the floors above a crawl space make the floors warmer? If so, how can I get it to stay in place?

A—Thick mineral wool batts or blankets installed between the floor joists will keep cold out of the floors. The batts or blankets can be held in place by lengths of "chicken wire" stapled along the joists.

Q—Our home, which was built about 15 years ago, has a nearly flat roof. Now the roof is weathered and needs replacing. Is there any material we can use that is more colorful than the original dull black roof and will give good service?

A—If the roof slopes at least two inches in each horizontal foot, asphalt shingles can be applied by a method developed especially for low-slope roofs. The asphalt shingles are available in practically every color imaginable and will give long-lasting weather protection as well as exterior color. Incidentally houses built low to the ground appear taller and larger if the roof is covered in a light color.

Follow Remodeling Rules

Planning to remodel? The experts offer several bits of advice: First, keep in mind that good modernization improves rather than completely changes the basic character of exterior and interior; second, use quality and durable materials such as ceramic tile, glass and steel; third, for any remodeling job involving design, installation of major equipment, or alterations to existing walls and foundations, use an architect, plan the changes thoroughly, hire a contractor and put it in writing. And remember, he who hurries can be lost as well as he who hesitates.

CHARM OF THE PAST — One of the new model homes in Thornwood subdivision, on Adams road at Wendover, is furnished by Wiggs. This family room is planned for both lounging and dining. Ethan Allen nutmeg maple furniture is used. For eating or playing games there is a single pedestal table with hard rock maple top and small size captain's chairs. The bookcase has compartments hidden by louvered doors. At the right is a reclining lounge chair. Hi-fi music comes from the old fashioned phonograph near the windows.

Fence and Trellis Care

For the finish coats on a fence, it's wise to use regular exterior house paint in a color that harmonizes with the color scheme of your house. This same type paint can be used for trellises and arbors, too, although you may wish to use trim-and-trellis paint, made especially for the purpose.

Tricks Aid Job of Paint Mixing

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — A fresh can of paint presents a real problem to the do-it-yourself painter because it needs a thorough mixing before it is applied to the walls.

There are tricks to simplify the process and aid in giving you professional results.

Most homeowners doing their own painting are inclined to stir the paint with a wooden paddle, but the results are not generally happy—the paint slops over the side and streaks remain to darken the paint in certain spots on the walls.

Instead, drain the top liquid from a newly opened can of paint into another container—a clean coffee can or any can with smooth sides. Then, stir the remainder to a smooth paste with the wooden paddle or any similar instrument, and slowly re-add the liquid to the contents in the paste can.

And a word of caution—to eliminate the need for rematching, mix enough paint at the start to complete the job and have it available, in tightly covered cans, when you need it.

WIDE VERSION PLAN — Note the open living area of this plan. The absence of ceiling breaks brings the living room, dining room and kitchen together into a single living area. Bedrooms are concentrated in one wing. Behind the dining room and garage there is both a porch and an outdoor eating terrace.

NARROW LOT VERSION — On a narrow lot the house takes only 46 feet of space. In this version the bedroom wing faces the street and the entrance is on the side. In either version there's a three-foot overhang protecting the windows.

WIDE LOT VERSION — On a wide lot the front of the house faces the street with an overall frontage of 71 feet. The exterior is a blend of vertical redwood siding and stone veneer. A stone planter box enhances the view from the living room windows.

Alternate House With Side Drive

SIDE ENTRANCE — In the narrow lot version the side entrance near the garage will please the busy homemaker who can tote groceries from the car right into the kitchen. There are sliding doors in the dining room and an outside basement entrance at one side. The house may have a full basement or just crawl space.

MODERN STYLE — The stone fireplace in the living room is a modern stone one. It is part of the wall that shuts off the living room from the vestibule.

House Puts Best Front Forward on Any Lot

A house laid out to fit equally well on either a wide or a narrow lot has been selected as design HW-55 in The House of The Week series. Whichever way it faces, it puts on a good front.

For a wide lot—

The length of the house faces the street, with an overall frontage of 71 feet, including a two-car garage.

For a narrow lot—

The bedroom wing faces the street, with an overall spread of 46 feet, again including the two-car garage.

Entering the center hall, the living room, dining room, kitchen area is to the right; the three-bedroom wing and the spacious, divided bath to the left. This permits the division of activities so desirable for family living.

Architect Elmer Gylleck's open planning is immediately evident here. The living room, 20 feet long and 12 feet, 6 inches wide, looks much larger than it actually is. That's because the absence of ceiling breaks brings the living room, dining room and kitchen together into a single living area.

Note, too, that the stairway to the basement is open to the living room, with only a picturesque wood railing separating them. The stairway can, of course, be enclosed if desired.

There is one entrance to the dining room from the porch in back of the garage and another from the terrace—if the "wide frontage" plan is used. If the alternate plan, with a side drive, is chosen, there are still two entrances to the dining room . . . one from the terrace, the other from the right side of the house.

The door from the master bedroom to the bath gives access to it even if the powder room is being used at the same time; there is a sliding door between the two sections. With this arrangement, the bathroom also can be entered from the hall.

The location of the chimney makes it possible to add a second fireplace in the basement if desired. There is an outside metal-covered stairway to the basement, so that stores can be carried up and down without being brought into the house.

Design HW-55 has a distinctive and homelike exterior appearance. In general, it is built of vertical redwood siding on wood stud construction. The front has stone veneer, stone planting areas and a stone chimney—all in buff to blend with the redwood.

The hip roof has a 3½ to 12 inch pitch and is covered with dark brown, low-pitched asphalt shingles. A 3-foot overhang protects the windows from the rain and bright sun.

Statistics

There are 1,275 square feet of living area in Design HW-55 whether its long or short side is facing the street.

Although planned with a full basement, it can be built on a concrete slab or over a crawl space. This would eliminate the outside entrance to the basement while the space taken up by the inside basement stairs could be utilized for a horizontal heating air-conditioning unit.

Episcopals Begin Drive for Mission in Africa

NEW YORK (AP)—The Episcopal Churchmen for South Africa, a laymen's group, has begun a fund-raising drive to aid the Angelican Church's missionary efforts among native Africans.

The group has started fund-raising parties and is encouraging others to give these "parties with a purpose" as the principal means of obtaining the needed monies.

TO CLEAN BARBECUES — A sturdy brush designed specifically for cleaning barbecue grills has crimped brass wire bristles and a steel scraper set solidly in a black handle molded of high-impact styrene plastic. Bristles are flared so they can reach into corners and around grill rods to do a thorough cleaning job (top photo). The most stubborn spots of charred food or grease left after a cook-out will yield to the heavy-duty steel scraper attached to the back of the brush. Molded in one piece, the brush back and handle have the strength to withstand rough use. Ridges in the handle provide a sure grip, and a rawhide thong makes it easy to hang up (bottom photo). Keeping the handle clean and free of slippery grease or oil is a simple matter of dipping in warm soapy water, or wiping with a damp cloth. From the tip of the scraper to the end of the handle the new grill brush measures eight and three quarter inches.

Prices More Than Double From 1941 to 1957

Generally, the ingredients to build almost anything from a mountain or seaside cottage to a metropolitan skyscraper bear a composite price tag 142 per cent higher than in prewar 1941. This is to say that today's $2.42 buys as much assembled sticks and stones as $1.00 bought 16 years ago. Putting it another way, the 1941 building dollar has a purchasing power of about 41 cents today. There is a variation from city to city, of course.

Avoiding the sensationalism of extremes, the 16 year range of cost increases is from 109 per cent at Pawtucket, R. I. to 180 per cent at San Francisco. On this basis it takes from $2.09 to $2.80 to buy as much construction today as $1.00 bouht in 1941, and the buying power of the prewar building dollar ranges from 36 to 48 cents, depending upon where in the United States the building is built.

Some Articles Painted Before They Are Shaped

Most of us assume that manufactured articles are paint-coated after they are made. The modern way, however, is to coat some of them before they take shape. Such items as lithographed containers, talc powder cans, beverage bottle caps, metal hardware and many other products are formed from flat sheets of tin plate.

★ ★ ★

These are first passed through a machine which coats them by roller — much as you apply paint to your living room wall. These sheets are baked in an oven, which converts the coating to a hard flexible film that withstands the mechanical ordeal of stamping, cutting, bending, crimping and other fabrication methods.

4 Boys Keep Money, Girl Gives Up Hers

BRIGHTON, Colo. (AP)—When District Judge Martin P. Miller ruled that four small boys were entitled to share the $2,190 they had found in a vacant lot, there was only one other claimant for any of the money.

This was a woman who told the court one of the boys had given her little daughter a $20 bill for a chocolate candy cigarette, but the sheriff later confiscated the money. She felt her little girl was entitled to it, but Judge Miller ruled otherwise.

DISPLAY YOUR FLAG

J. L. VOORHEES

June 14th is Flag Day. Some of the greatest moments in our history began with the devotion of men to their flag.

June 14th, President Wilson said: "From its birth until now our flag has witnessed a great history, has floated on high the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life worked out by a great people." We have stood in the shadow of our flag since Betsy Ross created it and which was first carried into the Battle of the Brandywine in September, 1777. It has carried our Arms to victory from tiny atolls in the Pacific to battle scarred ground in Europe. It has meant justice in court rooms, pride at border stations, and equal opportunity to all in our schools. It means Freedom to all of us.

M. E. SIPLE

Dismisses Jury in Murder Trial

Judge Sends Defendant Back to Oakland Jail to Await New Hearing

A first-degree murder trial ended yesterday when 12 Circuit Court jurors were unable to agree upon a verdict.

Visiting Circuit Judge Howard Carroll, of Mt. Clemens dismissed the jurors after one and one-half days of fruitless deliberation and ordered Robert Skinner, 54, of Detroit returned to Oakland County jail to stand a new trial.

Skinner, of 20012 Roselawn Ave., is accused in the fatal shooting April 20 of a Royal Oak Township man, Minor Montgomery, 45, of 10431 Farnwood St.

Skinner pleaded self - defense during trial, maintaining that Montgomery was going to stab him.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said Skinner will have to be held in jail without benefit of bond until a new trial can be ordered.

★ ★ ★

This will be in September, when the next regular jury session is scheduled, unless a special jury session is ordered before then, Ziem said.

Judge Murphy Dies, Won Fame in Probe

DETROIT (INS) — Funeral arrangements were being made today for retired Circuit Court Judge George B. Murphy, for many years Wayne County's most colorful and controversial jurist.

Judge Murphy died at 8:55 p.m. Friday in Detroit's Harper Hospital. He was 76.

The judge suffered his fourth cerebral hemorrhage last month, after being unable to hold court for six months before he reached compulsory retirement age.

He achieved prominence in 1945 as a one-man grand juror, investigating "ticket-fixing" charges in traffic court. There were no indictments but he issued a report urging sweeping changes in the court's procedures.

★ ★ ★

Judge Murphy then began a one-year grand jury probe into labor racketeering. Twenty-four indictments were made. They were all dismissed after lengthy examination.

★ ★ ★

He set off a political and emotional battle in 1947 when he was arrested for drunk driving. He was convicted in January 1948 and fined $100.

Harvey G. Beach to Be Ordained at Area Church

Harvey G. Beach, son of Mrs. Sophia Beach and the late Ora Beach Sr., of 4269 Walton Blvd., will be ordained to the ministry by a Commission of Detroit Presbytery at the Community United Presbyterian Church, Waterford Township, at 8 p.m. Monday.

Beach, a graduate of Clarkston High School, Sterling College in Kansas, and Pittsburgh - Xenia Seminary, has accepted a call to the United Presbyterian Church of Viola, Kan. He will assume his duties there about July 1.

Dr. H. D. McCalmont, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Detroit, will preside at the service. Preaching the sermon will be the local church's pastor, the Rev. W. J. Teeuwissen Jr.

The ordination prayer will be given by Dr. C. J. Sutton of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, the former pastor of the local church.

Executive Predicts Arrival of 3-D TV

LOS ANGELES (INS) — An electronics firm executive said today that three dimenstional television is only a few years away, "flat picture frame" TV is almost here, and color TV has arrived.

The nutshell summary was presented by Kip Anger of Chicago, national sales manager of Motorola, Inc., in a talk before the national sales executives meeting in Los Angeles.

Anger said the television industry has enjoyed the most phenomenal growth in the history of industry in the past years and added:

"Yet we have only scratched the surface, for we are on the threshold of even greater growth."

Is It Guaranteed?

By Whom? In Writing? Does It Mean Anything?

- A GUARANTEE is described as a warrant or surety of the performance of some duty or service. It provides security against non-fulfillment of a promise or contract.
- For his own protection a purchaser should not accept broad verbal assurances regarding merchandise or services. Honest business will readily back its guarantees in writing.
- Avoid misunderstandings by insisting upon clear and specific guarantees when offered. Then read and retain them. Remember, a guarantee is only as good as "the man behind it" whether a transaction be large or small.

Auto Makers Cancel Plans for Winter Show

Plans had been made to hold the second postwar national show in New York's Coliseum Jan. 4-12, but these were abandoned when it was found the dates conflicted with those chosen by the Chicago Automobile Trade Assn. for its annual presentation.

★ ★ ★

Announcing that no other suitable dates could be found when facilities would be available, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. said dates and facilities for a national show in New York in the fall of 1958 would be explored.

Deadline for Charter Passes

Southfield Turns to Petitions

By NANCE BELLEFLEUR
Press Correspondent

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP—Now that the deadline date for a new city charter has passed here, the spotlight is being turned on two petitions already filed in the Oakland County Clerk's office.

One, filed by a Southfield incorporation group, is to convert the southern three-quarters of Southfield into a new city.

The other, filed by the Greenfield-Beverly Hills Improvement Assn., is to incorporate East and West Beverly Hills and Berkshire Hills subdivisions in the northern section of Southfield into a home rule village to be called "Westwood Village."

Ted Shurtleff, chairman of the association, said this morning the Boundaries Committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors has called a meeting for June 24, when he expects a date will be set for elections on the petitions.

The new city of Southfield will cover an area of approximately 26½ square miles. The dividing line will be from Greenfield at 13 Mile road, west on 13 to Evergreen and then west to Inkster road, according to Fannie Adams, township clerk.

The Westwood Village will cover approximately four and a quarter square miles. Boundaries of the area will be from Greenfield to Evergreen, between 13 and 14 Mile roads, and from Evergreen to the eastern boundary of Bingham Farms Village, between 12½ and 14 Mile roads.

Residents of Southfield Township voted in June, 1955, to incorporate as a city. Since then two city charters have been turned down by voters, the last one by only 43 votes.

The law provides that a charter must be adopted within two years from the June 7, 1955 date. Thursday midnight was the deadline.

MR. AND MRS. HARRISON JOHNSON

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Two hundred friends and relatives were to help Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Johnson of Farmington celebrate their 50th anniversary today at Hickory Hill Golf Club. Johnson, retired farmer, mail carrier and wholesale gasoline dealer, at 72 plays golf, bowls and hunts. His wife Mary, 71, plays golf too. They have a daughter, June, of Farmington, and one grandson, Bruce, 17.

Students Help Longtons

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The students of Clarkston High School contributed a sum of money just under $500 to the Longton family as a memorium to Jean Longton, a member of this years graduating class who died while on the senior trip.

The money was accumulated through contributions from the 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th grade classes.

Funds also came from a benefit dance sponsored by the Student Council, Faculty, Custodian and Cafeteria personnel and the proceeds of a car wash put on by Jean's classmates, the seniors.

Royal Oak Man Gets $53,750 in Damages

A Royal Oak man has been awarded $53,750 damages for injuries suffered Nov. 1, 1954, when a runaway car knocked him down. Hohn Jinkner had asked $125,000. The settlement was approved by Circuit Judge Victor J. Baum in the suit against Mrs. Anne Frankenstein of Chicago.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Frankenstein had left her car to mail a letter. The car jumped a curb and struck Jinkner, who was loading a truck. Jinkner suffered a leg fracture and head injuries.

School Slates Annual Fair

Fund Raising Project to Be Held Sunday in Metamora

METAMORA — Sunday afternoon Kingsbury School will hold its second annual Kingsbury Fund Fair, sponsored by the Kingsbury School Parents Assn.

The Fair, with John Q. Nagel as chairman, will begin at noon with exhibitions, auctions, displays and a bazaar forming the main part of the fair.

A grand auction of such items as registered livestock, including a Black Angus steer, lambs, purebred puppies, clock radio, portable television set and 100 gallons of gasoline, all donated by friends of this private school, will be held, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

The white frame, green-shuttered schoolhouse was built in 1868 and takes its name from the farmer, Mr. Kingsbury, who donated the land upon which it stands, to the township. When the Higbies bought it, the building was remodeled and more rooms added. Today there are four classrooms and an activities room.

Booths at the fair will include Disneyland, homemade baked goods and candies, handicrafts, garden supplies and used books. For the children there will be pony rides and a fish pond.

The North Country Beagles Pack, under the supervision of Charles K. Backus, master of beagles, will be present. Also Bruce Coulter from Cranbrook School will be on hand to autograph his new book, "Wagon Over the Mountains."

JANET M. WALDO

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Waldo of Rochester announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Marie, to Theodore Lee Peacock. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Peacock of Alpena. No date has been set for the wedding.

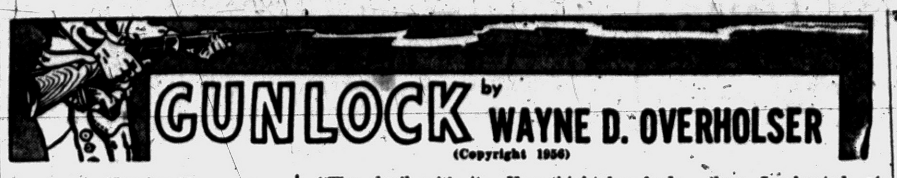

Summer Bible School to Begin on Monday

NORTH BRANCH — Using the theme, "Jesus Calls," the Daily Vacation Bible School at the Methodist Church will be conducted here June 10-14, from 1 to 3:30 p.m The Baptist school will be held Monday through June 24.

Bible School at the Pilgrim Holiness Church will begin Monday, continuing through June 14. Classes begin daily at 9 a.m. Transportation will be supplied. Mrs. Alex Wynn, with staff of assistants, will conduct the school.

Chapter 12

Curly King, Gene Dillingham and I were squatted in the brush among the boulders, with Easter Creek rolling along within ten feet of us, gathering momentum, it seemed, for the headlong rush it would make down the canyon. Daylight had thickened until we could see the curve at the end of the quarter-mile stretch of road below us.

Silence except for a jay that was squawking in the timber behind us. Then Dillingham said, "Will, I told you a while ago what Joe Pardee would have done about them colonists. Now I'll tell you what I'm going to do. You're aiming to throw a little lead and scare 'em, but you ain't aiming to drill nobody. That right?"

"That's right," I said.

"Won't work. I tell you there's only one way to do it. Hit 'em hard. Kill some of 'em and you've got 'em stopped. I'm going to ride along the east rim of the canyon. I'll wait till the first wagon is below me, then I'll roll a few rocks down on 'em. I'll smash that wagon up and bust the horses. Then I'll shoot the driver of the second wagon, and his horses will get boogered and get tangled up in their harness. By that time the rest of 'em will be backing down the grade as fast as they can roll, and they'll all get into a mess they'll never get out of."

Sure, it would work. If the pilgrims ever did get back to the river with their wagons, they'd have their bellies full and then some. I looked at him, his face shaded because his back was to the sun, but I could see his expression pretty well, the brutality that was there, the anticipation. I thought, This is what he's been waiting for all this time.

"No, Gene." I brought my rifle around so that it covered him. "Joe's dead. There's only one thing that counts with me. That's protecting the Box P. The easiest way to do that is to keep these pilgrims out of the valley. If it doesn't work, we'll fight later, when the first settler rolls his wagon onto Box P grass."

"But the valley —"

"The devil with it. You think Dodson will turn a hand to help us? He won't, and I don't intend to help him."

His face turned dark red. "Will, you can squat here as long as you want to, but I'm going to do just what I said I—"

"You trying to make me kill you?" I asked. "By God, I will, if you keep pushing me!"

He didn't move. Even with my rifle covering him, he didn't so much as blink. He just stared at me, as if trying to decide whether he had a chance if he jumped me.

Curly King was below us. He held up a hand in a silencing gesture. He said, "Listen."

Dillingham swung away from me. I relaxed, sensing that, for the moment as least, he was willing to let our personal differences stand. Then I heard the horses coming. An instant later half a dozen of them rounded the turn below us, John Mathers in the lead.

"I'll do the shooting," I said.

Outraged, Dillingham cursed me. "They'll run us down. You're yellow."

"If Gene makes a wrong move, Curly," I said, "plug him."

I brought my rifle to my shoulder and squeezed off three shots, the first one close enough to Mathers' head for him to hear it whisper as it went by, the second and third kicking up dust in the road in front of them. Mathers and his men were off the road in a fraction of a minute, seeking shelter in the scrub oak and brush that grew in a jungle-like mass between the road and the steep hill west of the creek.

As I lowered my Winchester, Dillingham said harshly: "You could have got all of 'em. Now they'll get us."

We waited about fifteen minutes, my imagination running wild as I considered the various maneuvers Mathers might try. Then he stepped out of the brush waving a white rag tied to the end of a stick.

I heard Dillingham cock his rifle. I said, "Ease your hammer down, Gene," and waited until he had; then I shouted at Mathers, "Come on!"

He walked up the middle of the road to us, shoulders back, head high. He showed guts, all right. If I hadn't been there, Gene Dillingham would have cut him down.

I didn't think Mathers would run a sandy on us, but there was no way to be sure. So we waited, with only our heads showing above the boulders, rifles covering Mathers. The first shot from his men would have brought quick death to him, and he was certainly smart enough to know it.

He stopped on the opposite side of the creek from us. He said: "I want to talk to you, Beeson. Your men can keep me under control, if you're worried."

That irritated me, but he was right. I was worried, and I had reason to be, three of us against his fifty. With Dillingham as wild as he was, and Curly as young as he was — I stood up, cuffing my hat back with my left hand, my right wrapped around the handle of my gun.

"You can cross the creek as well as I can," I said. "If I don't watch Dillingham, he'll kill you."

Mathers shrugged, plainly thinking I was lying, and waded the creek. He stopped on the other side of the boulder, his head tipped back. He said: "We're here like I told you we'd be, and you're here trying to kill me like you said you would. Both of us can't win, Beeson."

"I don't figure on you winning," I said. "Take your men back to the river and there will be no more trouble. We could have killed you a while ago, all of you."

His gaze shuttled to Dillingham and back to me. "I'm a little curious why you didn't, feeling the way you do about this."

"I don't want any killing if I can help it," I said. "Those shots were warnings. Now you know what will happen if you bring your wagons up the canyon."

Mathers shook his head. "I have Mrs. Pardee's word that we will not be molested. We were on our way to see her when you shot at us. Does she know you're here?"

"No. This is a man's job."

"Man's?" Mathers said scornfully. "You mean a fool's job. Beeson, listen to me. First, you can't hold us off. If we have to use force, we will. Fifty wagons mean fifty families, some with boys old enough to fight. Most of our men have had war experience. We would be hard to whip even if there were a hundred of you. If I am forced to go back and bring my men up here, I'll put some on each rim and others in the road, and we'll sweep the canyon clean. You'll die, every one of you, and no law officer will touch us because you have no authority or legal right on your side." He shook his head. "No, this is not a man's job you're trying to do, I say you're a fool because you're trying to walk in the steps of a man who was a maniacal killer."

★ ★ ★

Dillingham straightened, throwing out a big hand toward Mathers. "What are you waiting on, Will? Kill him!"

"Let him talk," I said.

"You may be honest, Beeson," said Mathers, "but you're not smart. So you'll stay here and die." He licked his lips, and his gaze lifted to the slope behind me. It occurred to me he didn't believe there were just three of us. Now he was wondering how many men were hidden among the boulders and scrub oak.

72 Seniors at Oxford to Graduate Thursday

OXFORD — Baccalaureate services for the 72 seniors of Oxford High School will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday in the high school auditorium.

The Rev. Robert Morris will be the speaker. Robert Lewis will play the processional and the high school chorus will furnish vocal music.

Honors Conference will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday when various awards and scholarships will be presented by different department heads and sponsoring organizations. The high school band will make its final appearance of the year. The valedictory and the salutatory by Connie Dahl and Gerald Rossman.

Dr. Paul D. Bagwill, professor of English at Michigan State University and former president of the International Junior Chamber of Commerce, will give the commencement address in that program which begins at 8:15 Thursday evening.

Park at Oxford Open Now Only for Residents

OXFORD — Nonresident visitors to the Oxford Township Park, at Stony Lake, last weekend found the area closed to them. For the first time in the park's history, township residents and their guests are the only ones permitted to use the property.

This ruling was made through a vote of the people this spring. At this same election a three-quarter mill was voted for park use.

The township board this week chose Gordon Seale of Thomas to manage the park this year. He is being deputised and given full authority to enforce the ruling. A park committee has been named to study possibilities for developing the 13-acre parcel.

MERLE PERKINS

The first Jessie E. Davenport Teacher Scholarship to be given annually to a Southfield High senior was awarded recently to Merle Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin D. Rockwell, 20906 Van Buren, Detroit. She plans to enter Eastern Michigan College in the fall. Southfield PTSA sponsors the award.

Horse Strolls to Death

TROY—An evening stroll proved fatal Thursday night to a Troy horse. The animal, owned by Arch Lau, of Milverton street, was killed about 9:30 p.m. as it strolled across Big Beaver road. Anthony F. Ryff of St. Clair Shores told police he tried to avoid hitting the horse, but was unable to do so. Although the impact threw his car into the ditch, he escaped without injury.

'Time on My Hands' Makes Detection Easy

DENVER (AP)—City detectives report this one:

A shoplifter slipped an alarm clock under his coat in a downtown store. Before he reached the door, the alarm went off and a store detective collared him.

Swans are peaceful birds; therefore live to 30 and 40 and sometimes 100 years old.

NOW IS THE TIME for Next Winter's Furnace Needs

Temperature can vary 10 degrees from one room to another. Only a properly installed heating system can turn out to be a wise and not so costly investment.

THE HURRICANE TESTED ROOF

What would you say of a roof that has come through several hurricanes without losing so much as one shingle? You'd say—at least—that here was a roof that had stood up to the toughest possible test.

Well, Barrett Everlox Shingles have come through some of the worst hurricanes in memory without damage. Their unique locking device really holds them down—they can't become loose or blow away.

Have you had your roof checked lately? Why not call on us for a free inspection—and no obligation, either. In case you do need a new roof, ask to see these Barrett Everlox Shingles.

ALL IN THE EAR

What you see in this girl's ear is Sonotone's new hearing aid — complete. IT'S WORN ENTIRELY IN THE EAR — no cord, no extra "button." Weighs only half an ounce.

ECONOMY and TV SERVICE
Economical TV Service does not mean getting the "cheapest" repair job from a friend who "tinkers" or a neighbor who would like to learn at the your expense on your receiver.
True economy is getting the most service for your money. Oakland Country Electronic Association members have the test equipment and training and the "know how" gained from years of experience to do a professional job on your TV and other electronic equipment. Don't settle for less. Call an O. C. E. A. member for quick, efficient service.
