2 Projects Get City Go-Ahead

$10 Million in Housing OK'd

Construction of $10 million in new housing in the city of Pontiac was given final approval last night by the City Planning Commission.

A total of 615 units of various types are to be constructed by two major area developers, Arthur Langs and Les Taubman. The projects will provide housing that ranges from semi-luxury and medium income to low-cost apartments for the elderly.

The most unusual feature of the two proposals will be offered by Taubman, who plans to construct 254 town house-type units which will be factory prebuilt.

Taubman announced last night he expects within four months to have some apartments ready for rental. The $4-million project is on East University bordering the Grand Trunk Western tracks, west of Palmer.

OCCUPANCY NEXT DAY

The apartments will arrive at the site entirely built with rugs, paint and electrical and mechanical installations. "They could be ready for occupancy the next day," he said.

He will offer apartments with from one to four bedrooms with two baths in the larger ones. Taubman said his estimated construction costs are $10 per square foot, some $4 per square foot less than conventional construction.

"This enables the user to have luxury-type housing as to size and amenities at a medium-range price," he said. His firm, Pre-Built Homes of Detroit, plans about 1,000 units of this type in the Pontiac area, he said.

A $6-million project is planned by Langs, a Pontiac developer. His site on 16 acres northeast of Michigan and Tasmania will have two parts. One will be 198 apartments for the elderly. This structure will consist of two six-story buildings connected by a one-story recreation center.

Though built by Langs, the housing for the elderly is to be sold to the Pontiac

Laird Sees ABM Deterrent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the United States "cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities" but contended the modified antiballistic missile ABM system would "protect people by making sure a nuclear attack doesn't occur in the first place."

Opening the Nixon administration's fight for public and congressional approval of the controversial ABM project, Laird said the system is based on the theory "we must rely on our deterrents to make sure a nuclear attack doesn't start."

★ ★ ★

Laird rejected the contention by ABM opponents that the project is an escalation of the arms race.

★ ★ ★

He testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.

Laird made clear his program is aimed both at the possibility of a Communist Chinese missile attack in the 1970s and the growing offensive missile force of the Soviet Union.

"We cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities," Laird said. "We just don't have the know-how. We must rely on our nuclear deterrents to make sure a nuclear attack doesn't start in the first place."

Laird said that China cannot provide a strategic threat for some years but added that the Red Chinese are devoting "an astonishing portion" of their resources to long-range nuclear weapons.

"By the mid-1970s," he said, "China could pose a threat to our people and our property." And he contended the ABM system recommended by the President "is carefully designed to meet these threats adequately without overreacting."

'THICK' NETWORK?

Deputy Secretary David R. Packard, who followed Laird to the witness stand, said flatly the proposal rejects the idea of a later expansion into a "thick" network designed to protect American cities from Soviet attack.

Thus, Packard sought to counter in advance the argument of ABM critics that the Nixon plan could be the opening wedge for an expanded and vastly more expensive system.

★ ★ ★

In a change of plans the armed services committee opened the hearings today to television. Hearings tomorrow before the Senate Foreign Relations disarmament subcommittee on the missile system also will be televised.

The armed services committee is heavily weighted with backers of the revised ABM that President Nixon called for last Friday.

The disarmament subcommittee, however, is weighted the other way with its chairman, Tennessee Democrat Albert Gore, an outspoken opponent of any ABM.

★ ★ ★

The subcommittee also includes such Sentinel critics as Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the parent foreign relations committee; Democrat Frank Church of Idaho; and Republican John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

The Nixon administration's ABM is designed to protect the nation's deterrent missile and bomber force at an estimated cost of $6 billion to $7 billion.

The original ABM approved by the Johnson administration would have guarded 15 major cities at a cost of $5.5 billion.

U.S. Blasts Reds Over Offensive

PARIS (AP) — The United States charged today the Vietcong and North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam "is a calculated part of a plan to take over South Vietnam by force."

At the ninth session of the Paris peace talks, South Vietnam accused the other side of preparing a massive new attack on Saigon and said unless it is called off it will have an adverse impact on the negotiations.

★ ★ ★

The Vietcong's National Liberation Front defended the offensive as an answer to what it called "terrorist and sweep operations against the South Vietnamese people." It asserted President Nixon's warning of an "appropriate response" to the current offensive was a threat to escalate the war.

North Vietnam declared the United States and its allies had intensified the war, a charge rejected by the American delegation.

The meeting adjourned after four hours and the participants agreed to meet again next Thursday.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said that the Communist command planned its offensive long ago and made detailed and careful preparations which were in no way a response to U. S. acts.

★ ★ ★

"It is clear," he continued, "that the attacks which were launched on Feb. 22 were not undertaken as a response to any recent allied initiative. They were instead the long-heralded winter-spring campaign of 1969, a campaign of which your side warned in advance and of which it has boasted since."

Egyptian Airliner Crashes; 92 of 101 Aboard Killed

CAIRO (AP) — An Egyptian airliner returning from a Moslem pilgrimage to Saudi Arabia with 101 persons aboard crashed in flames at the airport in Aswan in upper Egypt today. Officials said 92 persons were killed.

The Ilyushin 18, delivered to United Arab Airlines two weeks ago, exploded and burst into flames after a wing hit the runway, officials reported. Wreckage was scattered 800 yards.

★ ★ ★

The plane carried a crew of seven.

Fourteen persons were taken alive from the wreckage but five of them died shortly after reaching a hospital.

33 WOMEN, 2 BABIES

Among the dead were 33 women and 2 babies. One of the survivors was a woman.

Pilgrims returning from Saudi Arabia are usually taken to Aswan for a two-day quarantine before being allowed to return to their homes in Egypt.

★ ★ ★

The airport at Aswan was shut down.

Kids Stand to Win or Lose, Says Tatroe

By MEL NEWMAN

"Only the kids stand to win or lose this election, but it's the adults who vote."

That, in a nutshell, is Dr. Don O. Tatroe's evaluation of Wednesday's school millage election in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Tatroe, the township's superintendent of schools, said he is cautiously optimistic about the chances for passage of the two-year 9-mills proposal.

"I can't afford to be otherwise. It means too much to the students," he explained.

CITES ACCREDITATION

Some of the things a favorable vote would mean according to Tatroe, are:

- Continued accreditation at Waterford Township and Waterford Kettering high schools.
- Accreditation for Waterford Mott High School by the time it graduates its first class next year.
- A return to full sessions for secondary school children.
- Continued full sessions for elementary school children.
- Better maintenance of the district's schools.
- Time to recruit the most capable teachers and the means to retain the better presently employed teachers.

Tatroe said he recognizes that many property owners will be hesitant to cast a "yes" vote for the proposal in view of an anticipated 24 per cent boost in taxes on the Dec. 31 bill.

'COSTS LESS THAN $50'

However, he pointed out that since the district plans to levy only 6.5 mills or less in the first year the cost of millage for 90 per cent of the township's taxpayers would be less than $50.

★ ★ ★

That figure is based on the formula .009 times the state equalized valuation for 9 mills and reducing the product in proportion to a 6.5-mill levy.

★ ★ ★

"That's less than a dollar a week to pay for the numerous advantages students would realize," he said.

Another factor which emphasizes the importance of additional millage to finance the district is the state aid to education formula.

WILL REDUCE AID

Because state aid is based on a school district's ability to raise funds and because this ability is measured by property taxation, the anticipated tax hike will reduce aid by $3 for every $4 in additional tax income.

Ralph Mapley Ends 32 Years As City Bus Driver

By ED BLUNDEN

Bus driver Ralph Mapley drove his last route yesterday, ending over 32 years of service in Pontiac and more than a million miles of driving.

Mapley, 67, of 4980 Cooley Lake, Waterford Township, has a quick smile, ready wit and obvious good nature that must have stood him in good stead in all those years of traffic jams.

★ ★ ★

In 1959 he was honored for 800,000 miles of safe driving. Since that time, he figures he's far surpassed the million-mile mark after starting in 1936.

★ ★ ★

Mapley, perhaps surprisingly, enjoyed the youngsters on his bus. He said he has a collection of more than 800 photographs given him by student riders.

NOT TOO DIFFERENT

He insists youths haven't been too different in the three generations he's been hauling.

★ ★ ★

"The kids do the same things we used to, only they talk about it more now," Maple said. Perhaps the key to Mapley's popularity with the younger set is his attitude. "If you treat people with respect, they treat you that way too," he said.

★ ★ ★

Mapley and his wife, Frances, plan to stay in Waterford. On tap for this summer is — you guessed it — a long driving trip in their camper to northeast Canada.

★ ★ ★

Active in Four Towns Methodist Church and youth groups, Mapley also enjoys hobbies of coin collecting and photography.

Chartered Plane Crashes; 15 Die

From Our News Wires

NEW ORLEANS — A privately owned plane bound for a British Honduras duck and jaguar hunt with 26 persons aboard crashed and burned today in thick fog at New Orleans International Airport. Fifteen persons died and 11 survived.

The survivors were taken to the New Orleans Ochsner Foundation Hospital.

★ ★ ★

The flight originated in Memphis, Tenn. The plane, owned by the Avion Corporation of Houston, Tex., had been chartered by the West Tennessee Sportsmen's Association.

C. L. Broadwell, 52, a survivor and an aluminum contractor from Memphis said all the survivors were in the rear of the plane. He said the plane caught fire on impact.

★ ★ ★

"We did all that could be done to get the others out," Broadwell said.

Showers Forecast; Sol to Stay Hidden

Old Sol will be under cover most of today and tomorrow, as clouds hovering over the Pontiac area bring a few showers.

Tonight is to be mostly cloudy and windy with a chance of rain and temperatures turning cooler, forecasters say. The expected low is 28 to 32.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow is to be partly cloudy and cooler, with a high of 44 to 48, according to the prediction. Fair and colder is the outlook for Saturday.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are 30 today, 50 tonight and 20 tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Thirty-three was the low reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 2 p.m. temperature was 52.

City Stadium Hailed

The construction of a new sports stadium in Pontiac would bring about a "significant economic impact on this community," the General Motors Pontiac Plant City Committee said today.

The committee is composed of 15 local GM officials organized to further community relations. It is headed by F. James McDonald, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

★ ★ ★

McDonald, a GM vice president, said a new sports facility as proposed for a site near M59 and I-75, would provide benefits throughout Oakland County.

"In addition to attracting new customers to the present businesses located in the area, it would provide the basis for many new and excellent business opportunities."

351 Americans Killed Last Week in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — The U. S. Command announced today that 351 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, pushing the total of U. S. battlefield dead to 10,112 in the 10 months since the Paris peace talks began and to 33,063 in more than eight years of war.

The American toll last week was 15 more than the previous week's total and raised the number of Americans killed in the first three weeks of the Vietcong's spring offensive to 1,140, only 240 less than the 1,380 U. S. troops reported killed during the eight weeks of 1969 prior to the offensive.

If the current casualty rate continues the total of American dead in the Vietnam war will exceed the Korean war toll of 33,629 by the end of this month. More Americans then will have been killed in Vietnam than in any other war in U. S. history except he Civil War and the two world wars.

The U. S. Command said 1,401 allied casualties, the Vietcong and North Americans were wounded last week, compared with 1,694 the week before.

SOUTH VIET CASUALTIES

South Vietnamese casualties were 325 killed and 1,156 wounded, up from 259 and 1,058 the previous week, the government said. Despite the mounting allied casualties, the Vietcong and North Vietnamese were paying a far heavier price for their offensive.

U. S. headquarters said 4,137 of the enemy were killed last week, bringing the total enemy dead to at least 119,100 since the Paris talks began last May and to at least 465-479 since the United States entered the war on Jan. 1, 1961.

The enemy toll for the first three weeks of the offensive is 15,099 dead according to allied figures.

As the enemy's offensive rolled into its 26th day with no end in sight, U. S. headquarters reported about 30 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns last night. For the second night, the chief target was Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and a major military base.

U. S. spokesmen said about 20 rounds of 100-pound rockets were fired at a number of American installations, including a Navy base, a Navy hospital, a Marine air base and a Seabee camp. Several Americans were reported wounded, but none killed.

Spokesmen said two of the rockets missed the Navy base and landed in a village, killing one Vietnamese civilian and wounding five others.

'Malignant' Tumor Found on Left Lung

Senate Vet Russell Has Cancer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said today doctors had found a tumor on his left lung. Russell added it is "fair to say" that the tumor is malignant.

Russell, 69-year-old former chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he will immediately begin cobalt treatment. He said he hopes to serve at least the remainder of his present term, which expires in 1972.

* * *

Russell had been in Walter Reed Army Hospital for three days. He returned to his office this morning. It had been reported the treatment was for lung congestion.

Russell had entered the hospital Monday for what was said to be a routine check of his chronic respiratory and lung trouble. The tumor was diagnosed by Xrays yesterday, the senator told reporters.

MAKES PLANS FOR TREATMENT

Walter Reed physicians after a long consultation made plans for regular cobalt treatment and strongly advised Russell to continue his Senate duties while awaiting the outcome of the radiation treatment.

Russell, for years one of the most powerful men in the Senate, ended his long term as chairman of the armed services committee in order to become chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee at the start of the present congressional session.

* * *

Russell's office said there had been no change in his plans to receive the annual James V. Forrestal award of the National Security Industrial Association tonight.

* * *

The Forrestal award is presented each year to the person considered to have applied most effectively the belief that a close industry-government partnership is essential to national defense.

DECIDE AGAINST SURGERY

It is named for the nation's first defense secretary, after World War II.

* * *

Russell told reporters Army physicians decided against surgery because of tissue damage from emphysema, a lung disease that has troubled Russell for many years.

* * *

Russell said he has suffered from lung and respiratory ailments for 10 or 12 years. In 1965 he had a serious bout with emphysema that touched off speculation that he would not seek another Senate term.

* * *

Russell called reporters to his office to say he had promised the people of Georgia in that year he would advise them immediately of any change occurred in his physical condition that might ultimately affect his ability to stay in office.

* * *

Apparently to fulfill his pledge to report directly to Georgians first, Russell first met with Atlanta newsmen working in Washington. His staff played a tape recording later for other newsmen.

Tatroe Cautiously Optimistic on Vote

"There simply isn't anywhere else to look for help," said Tatroe.

"For the sake of the students, I hope it works," Tatroe said.

Franklin Reopens at Wide Track

Franklin Road at Wide Track has been reopened to traffic after construction of a train signal at the Grand Trunk Western tracks, the city traffic engineering department has announced.

The street is open only to southbound traffic, however.

The street was closed for construction of a crossing signal on Feb. 10. The site had been the scene of several fatal accidents over the years.

The work was ordered by the Michigan Public Services Commission.

Federal-Mogul Ex-Chief Dies

H. Gray Muzzy, retired board chairman and president of Federal-Mogul Corp. in Southfield, died yesterday at his home in Birmingham, following a long illness. He was 74.

Service will be 11 a.m. tomorrow at Christ Church, Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills. A private burial service will follow in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

* * *

Muzzy, of 988 Gordon, was a native of Detroit. He graduated from the University of Michigan in 1917 and served in the Navy during World War I.

* * *

He was a director of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co. and a former trustee of Grace Hospital and the Cranbrook Foundation.

OTHER AFFILIATIONS

Other affiliations included the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, Orchard Lake Country Club, Yondotega Club and the Detroit Philatelic Club.

Surviving are his wife, Katherine G.; a daughter, Mrs. Edward H. Lerchen of Bloomfield Hills; a son, Richard W. of Perrysburg, Ohio; a brother, Robert W. of Bloomfield Hills; and eight grandchildren.

* * *

Tributes may be made to the Cranbrook Foundation, 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills.

Pair Arraigned in Charity Thefts

A Bloomfield Township couple, charged with stealing an old lampshade and a pair of broken ice skates from a Goodwill Industries collection shed, pleaded innocent to simple larceny yesterday before District Court Judge Carl F. Ingraham and demanded a jury trial.

Ernest Retzlaff, 51, a Wayne County health official, and his wife, Patricia, 46, of 6450 Lahser, said they had intended to return the items allegedly taken from the shed at a shopping center at Lahser and Maple Tuesday, according to their attorney, Robert J. Machus.

* * *

They were arrested at the center by State Police Detective Frank Prysby, who said he had put a marked pair of ice skates in the box prior to the alleged theft.

Machus said Mrs. Retzlaff had noticed the lampshade sitting on top of the box while the Retzlaffs were dropping off a number of items at the shed.

Thinking the pattern unusual, she decided to take the lampshade home and copy it, then return the shade, Machus said. At the same time, Retzlaff noticed the broken skates and decided to take them along and fix them, he added.

Prysby reportedly said he had placed the skates in the shed as part of an attempt to apprehend persons who have been looting the collection boxes in the northwest suburban area.

City OKs Housing Worth $10 Million

Housing Commission for its administration after construction, Langs announced.

In the adjoining phase, 163 units of one, two and three-bedroom, low-rise units will be constructed. These will be in the medium-price range.

Langs did not announce any date for beginning of construction.

The Planning Commission's action was to approve site plans of the two developers, a final official requirement. All zoning matters and adjustments to original presentations had been made with only further minor changes requested.

The planning commission's approval is the final step for the builders other than meeting engineering requirements in actual construction, it was pointed out.

Lawyer Changes Plea in Tax Case

DETROIT (UPI) — Milton R. Henry of Pontiac, one of the founders of a black nationalist government which is seeking five southern states as its base, yesterday entered a plea of nolo contendre on two charges of income tax evasion.

Henry, 49, also known as Brother Gaisi, first vice president of the Republic of New Africa, had been charged by the Internal Revenue Service with willful failure to file income tax returns for 1961 and 1962. He previously had entered a plea of innocent.

A plea of nolo contendre subjects Henry to the same punishment as a plea of guilty but does not admit to the charge.

Henry a practicing attorney with offices at 518 Orchard Lake had an income of more than $16,000 in 1961 and almost $19,000 in 1962, according to U.S. Atty. Robert Grace.

Henry now faces a possible sentence of up to one year in jail, a fine of $10,000 or both, together with the cost of prosecution for each of the two charges.

The Republic of New Africa was founded in Detroit in March 1968, with the group asking the U.S. government to cede five southern states and pay $200 billion in retribution for the years black people were kept in slavery.

Author to Talk at Dedication of New Library

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Richard L. Tobin, author, former newspaperman, and now associate publisher of the Saturday Review, will give the dedicatory address at the township's new public library Sunday at 3 p.m.

The program marks the formal dedication of the library, which was opened in February to users in Bloomfield Township, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and those in communities affiliated with the Wayne County Federated Library System.

* * *

Tobin joined the Saturday Review in 1960 following a newspaper career which started in Michigan on his father's paper in Niles and at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, where he was managing editor of the Michigan Daily.

* * *

He was with the New York Herald Tribune for more than 20 years where he was an assistant city editor, a contributor to the editorial page and a correspondent for the Tribune's broadcasting service.

ABC NEWS DIRECTOR

Tobin also briefly served as news director of the American Broadcasting Company and in 1956 and 1960 served as public relations director for the Republican presidential campaigns.

* * *

He has four published books — "Decisions of Destine" (1961), "The Center of the World" (1951), "Golden Opinions" (1948) and "Invasion Journal" (1944).

* * *

John Rumsey, chairman of the board of trustees, Bloomfield Township Public Library, will open the dedication ceremony. Township Supervisor Homer Case and H. G. Johnston, library director, also will participate in the program.

BIRMINGHAM — The Maple-Woodward office of the Birmingham-Bloomfield bank will display more than 100 exhibits of creative photography and commercial art March 22-31 in the building's lower lobby.

The exhibit will represent the work of commercial artists and photographers associated with The Graphic Art Guild of Detroit. Included will be 30 prize-winning exhibits.

Avon Planners OK Disputed Zone Bid

Pontiac Press Photo

Mrs. Arlene Rampson Questions Rezoning At A Crowded Avon Meeting

By TOM GRAY

AVON TOWNSHIP — The township planning commission approved one rezoning request from developer Sidney Weinberger last night but rejected a second as homeowners turned out in force to oppose both.

A count just before the close of a public hearing on the first request showed 114 residents present. All were opposed.

The commission, however, voted 6-2 to recommend that the Township Board approve the request, which asks rezoning of 43 acres south of Walton and west of Old Perch from R-1A single-family residential to R-1B single-family residential (smaller lot size).

The zoning change would permit a "planned neighborhood group" development. The planned neighborhood concept, a specific R-1B category, would allow lots as small as 12,000 square feet in the development (compared to 20,000 for R-1A), provided not less than four acres of property is set aside for green space or parks.

DIFFERENT DEPTH

Frank Webster, representing College Park Development Co. of Utica, the development company making the request, said the primary difference in lots in the proposed development would be in depth.

"All of the lots would meet R-1A width," he said, "but the depth would be somewhat less." Webster also indicated that the lots would not go as low as 12,000 square feet, but some would measure around 13,500.

The net effect of the rezoning, he added, would be to raise from 109 to 115 the number of lots which could be developed on the property.

Frank Lanesey, 210 Vreeland, president of the Springhill Subdivision Homeowners' Association, asked what guarantee residents have that the minimum lot size would not be used.

HAVE TO COME BACK

"We have to come back through this same commission again (with a site plan for the proposed development)," Webster responded.

However, Bret Bell, 1676 Oakstone, pointed out that the commission in considering the site plan could not hold the developer to a commitment on lot sizes greater than required by the zoning ordinance.

Other residents said the proposal was in violation of the township's master zoning plan, but Commissioner George Karras said the property was listed as unspecified single-family on the master plan.

The commission then voted to recommend approval of the request, with Chairman Maurice Willits and Commissioner George J. Ennis opposed.

STRIP OF OFFICES

The second request, involving property south of Walton between Rochdale and Rochester Knolls subdivisions, would permit offices in a 360-foot-deep strip along Walton.

Most of the strip, measuring about 9 acres, was rezoned to multiple dwellings two years ago at the request of the petitioner. A 1.1-acre parcel at the east end, however, is R-1B.

Also included in last night's request was a proposed expansion of the multiple area just south of the strip. The expansion would take the form of 100-foot-wide strips on the east, south and west sides of the multiple area, which has not yet been developed.

Most of the discussion on the proposal centered around two points: rezoning of the three 100-foot-wide strips of R-1B single-family property, originally planned as half of a double buffer of homes around the multiple area, and construction of two exit streets from the multiple area into Rochester Knolls.

Residents argued that the double buffer had been part of the commission's considerations in the original rezoning to multiple, and that instead of using exits from the multiples to Walton, traffic would flow west through Rochester Knolls to Crooks Road, creating a situation variously termed a "racetrack" and a "safety hazard."

They also expressed objections to the proposed office rezoning after learning from the commission that the O-1 office classification also permits restaurants (not drive-ins) and motels, under certain restrictions.

★ ★ ★

After hearing reports from Vilican-Leman and Associates of Southfield, township planning consultants, which commented unfavorably on the buffer reduction and Johnson and Anderson, engineering consultants, which recommended denial, the commission voted 5-3 to recommend denial to the township board.

Commissioners Floyd Cobb Jr., Jack Fetterly and Joseph M. Arthur Sr. dissented.

Shelby Mulls Hiring Planner

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The Township Board will decide next Tuesday whether to hire a planning consultant for purposes of developing a master plan for this township.

Township Supervisor Kirby Holmes said he is making budget revisions which will probably determine the financial feasibility of employing a planning consultant.

★ ★ ★

"Due to the passing of the state income tax legislation last year, the township had a surprising additional revenue of $36,000 this year. We had anticipated having only an additional $12,000," Holmes said.

He would not say whether these additional funds would be earmarked for a planning consultant. Some members of the township board have reportedly dissented on hiring a township planner.

$10,000 ANUUALLY

The supervisor said services for a planning consultant would cost about $10,000 annually on a three-year basis. The planner would be employed on a part-time basis but would be available to the board whenever his services would be needed.

"We will be making the necessary budget revisions according to law as the result of revenue increase. I will then present the revised budget to the board next week and they will decide on the feasibility of hiring the planner," Holmes said.

The township has a zoning ordinance which dictates the designated use of the land and plans future growth on "a day to day basis," Holmes said.

Development of a master plan through collaboration with the planner and the zoning and township boards would provide a design for the future.

"The master plan is an over-all conception of what the township officials want the community to look like several years from now," said Dennis Meagher, assistant director of the Macomb County Planning Association.

GM Alerts Schools in State of Possible Bus Brake Ills

LANSING (AP) — Michigan school districts are being individually notified by General Motors if they have buses with possible defective brakes.

Harold Wagner, supervisor of transportation for the State Education Department in Lansing, said he queried GM officials yesterday after the automotive giant announced it was recalling some 1.1 million cars, buses and trucks for brake defects.

"They advised me they found something which would represent some risk over a period of years," Wagner said, "but no immediate danger appears to exist.

"They advised that no action need to be taken by this office or local school districts until they are individually notified that vehicles need alterations."

NOTIFIED BY PHONE

Wagner said the notifications are being made by telephone.

Wagner said, meanwhile, that there were "many cases" of brake failures.

★ ★ ★

He could not recall that any resulted in serious accidents.

"We don't keep records, but we know there were a lot of them," Wagner said. "Similar failures occurred in buses supplied by other manufacturers.

POOR MAINTENANCE

"In some cases," he added, "brake failures in some of the older buses were due to poor maintenance."

Wagner and State Police, meanwhile, expect a State Police safety check of all public school buses will help cut the accident rate.

★ ★ ★

The complete check was reinstated by State Police last year after being dropped for seven years because of lack of funds. This year's annual check of all public school buses started in January and is nearly completed.

Parochial and private schools also are being checked for school bus defects, when they make the request.

Lt. Matt Hrebec, commanding officer of the State Police Selective Enforcement Division, said "We found quite a few bad brakes, although the brakes are just one of the some 60 items we check," he said. "In some cases, it was a matter of neglect."

Said Sgt. Donald Kalcatera of the State Police Safety and Traffic Division:

"On some buses we found that if you hit the emergency brake — it was dead."

Kalcatera said there were nine school bus fatalities and 552 injuries in 1967.

Figures for 1968 are not yet complete because of later returns from some counties.

Wager said: "I told GMC Truck & Coach we have had quite a number of buses go out of control. They have crashed into one another or have struck other obstacles — some in an attempt to stop," he said.

GM also was notified of a brake-related school bus accident in Lansing in July 1967.

ACCIDENT RECALLED

William McCurdy, transportation supervisor for Lansing Public Schools, recalled the accident vividly.

"It was a girl driver," McCurdy said "and the brakes just quit on her. The bus went out of control and she hit a stump. She was only slightly injured and luckily it happened in the morning before she had picked up any pupils."

McCurdy said of General Motors: "They swarmed in here like flies," and went over it with a fine tooth comb. They pulled all the buses off the road until they were fixed up."

3 Weeks After Announcement

Chevy Starts Recall Mailings

DETROIT (AP) — The first letters notifying more than three million Chevrolet owners that their cars or trucks may have defects go into the mail today, more than three weeks after General Motors announced it was recalling the vehicles.

Chevrolet Division said the letters would go out by certified mail at the rate of 100,000 a day until all the owners are told to take their vehicles to dealers for inspection or service.

★ ★ ★

At that rate it should take until the middle of May to inform all the owners.

At 36 cents a certified letter the postage alone will cost Chevy over $1 million.

LARGEST RECALL

The Chevrolet cars and trucks are part of the 4.9 million vehicles called in by GM on Feb. 26 in the largest recall campaign in auto industry history.

Chevrolet said the delay in getting out the letters was caused by shortage of a new part, the time required to put together a list of the owners to be notified and "just getting the massive paper work done."

★ ★ ★

The Chevrolet portion of the huge recall involves:

- Two million 1965-through 1968-model standard-size Chevrolets for service to the rear portion of the body to prevent exhaust fumes from entering the vehicles.
- 723,000 1968-and 1969-model cars and trucks equipped with the four-barrel, Quadra Jet Carburetor, in which a cam which might break is being replaced.
- 400,000 cars which may have both problems.

Chevrolet is the last of the GM divisions to get started in mailing its recall letters.

★ ★ ★

Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac are already mailing letters to tell nearly 1.4 million owners of 1968 and 1969 vehicles equipped with the Quadra Jet carburetor that they have the same problem as 1,123,000 Chevrolet owners.

To get the names of the owners of the 1965 and 1966 model Chevies, however, the division had to go to R. L. Polk & Co., the only firm in the country which keeps track of the motor vehicle registrations in all 50 states.

Mildred Donivan, manager of Polk's automotive special services department, says Polk had to run a computer search on the registrations of 68.8 million cars and 13.5 million trucks to come up with a basic list of owners of 2.3 million 1965 and 1966 Chevrolets.

A Chevy spokesman said the firm is still in the process of boiling that list down to the 800,000 affected by the recall. The recall notices on the 1965 and 1966 models will not start going out until Monday, he said.

A Pontiac spokesman said they hoped to have the last of their 367,000 letters mailed by this weekend to owners of cars equipped with the Quadra Jet carburetors.

For Walled Lake Road

Right-of-Way Negotiations OK'd

WALLED LAKE — The City Council has authorized negotiations to acquire a right-of-way for an industrial road from Decker Road west to Pontiac Drive in the city's industrial park area.

The new roadway will facilitate expansion of the industrial park, according to city officials.

Negotiations with 20 property owners for the 2,300 feet of needed right-of-way will begin immediately.

Negotiations are expected to take 60 days. Cost estimates are undetermined.

STARTING TIME

"Barring any unforseen delays, construction of the new road could begin sometime in the current calendar year," said City Clerk William Downey.

The board also authorized the purchase of 1,000 residential-type water meters at $48 each. Approximately 51,500 feet of the city's new water main system has been completed, Downey said. Completion is expected by May 1.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the board approved the expense of $60,000 for a recreational sky slide to be built in a neighborhood park area at Pontiac Trail and Commerce. The slide will be purchased from the Raymond C. Touhey Corp. of Royal Oak, and will be ready for use by local children this summer.

Birmingham Man Faces Tax Charge

A Birmingham man, William E. Kegel, has been indicted for allegedly attempting to evade income tax of $9,726 for the years 1962 through 1964, it was reported by Robert Grace, U.S. attorney for the eastern district of Michigan.

Grace said that after an investigation by the intelligence division of the Internal Revenue Service, Kegel of 487 Willits is charged with filing income tax returns for the three years, stating his taxable income was $7,645, while he knew his taxable income was $38,261.

According to Grace, Kegel has been employed by several firms in selling visual sales training programs, and had also been self-employed as a salesman, and as a writer, producing various booklets and brochures for two insurance companies.

Bloomfield Twp. Crashes Kill 2

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—A Pontiac man and a Plymouth resident died in separate automobile accidents here yesterday.

Dead are Charles E. Williams, 78, of 101 S. Paddock and Robert Hudson, 44, of Plymouth.

Last Year to Date 25

Police said Williams was killed when the auto he was driving south on Franklin collided with a car operated by Carolyn Birtsas, 34, of 43 Robertson, Clarkston, at the Square Lake Road intersection.

The accident occurred at about 12:50 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Officers said the Birtsas vehicle was westbound on Square Lake.

3-CAR COLLISION

Hudson died following a three-car collision on Telegraph near Humphrey at 9 p.m. last night.

He was a passenger in a vehicle operated by Jerry J. Kaye, 32, of Plymouth. The Kaye auto collided with an auto operated by Dennis W. Peterson, 16, of 220 S. Shirley, Pontiac, then veered into the path of a vehicle driven by Paul R. Gitschlag, 51, of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Police said the car driven by Peterson pulled onto Telegraph from Humphrey into the path of the Kaye auto and then stalled.

2 School Addition Plans Authorized

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of education has directed the Bloomfield Hills architectural firm of Tarapata, MacMahon and Paulsen Associates to proceed with the final working drawings for an addition to Doherty Elementary School.

Final cost estimates are yet to be determined. Completion is expected by February 1970.

★ ★ ★

The firm also was authorized to begin preliminary drawings for an addition to Green Elementary School. Funds for both projects were appropriated in a 1966 bond issue.

The board also authorized an expenditure of $16,073 for audio-visual equipment for the new Doherty School.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, saying she has lost 15 pounds during the long vigil by her husband's bedside, reports the former president "has some good days and some bad ones."

MRS. EISENHOWER

Mrs. Eisenhower said that last Saturday was a particularly bad day for her husband, hospitalized by repeated heart attacks since May.

"I didn't take my clothes off for 30 hours," she commented as she appeared at her second fashion show in two days yesterday in Washington.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital, in their last report on the former president about a week ago, said he was progressing well in his recovery from major intestinal surgery and later pneumonia.

Mrs. Eisenhower has spent most of the past 10 months in a hospital suite near her husband.

"How I wish we could be down on the farm," she said.

'Boy of Year' Honored at White House

Perry Joseph Ludy of Oxnard, Calif., has been named 1969 Boy of the Year by the Boys' Clubs of America.

Ludy, 17, received an award plaque and citation from President Nixon at a White House ceremony yesterday.

A winner of all-state honors in basketball and track, the youth also helped his mother bring up three sisters and a brother in a fatherless home and is in the top 5 per cent of his high school class. He said he hoped to study medicine.

25-Year-Old Tax Refund Check Still Good

The U.S. Treasury has assured Thomas Whittaker of St. Louis that a 25-year-old refund check he received by mail recently is still good.

The $11.25 check, which arrived in an envelope postmarked Jan. 15, 1944, carried a notation on the back saying "invalid if not cashed within one year."

* * *

Whittaker mailed the check back to the Treasury, which returned it yesterday with a note saying a 1957 law eliminated the time limitation on the validity of federal checks.

Whittaker says he still doesn't know why the check was so long in the mails.

Dr. Anthony J. Michal

Fate cut short the life of a distinguished professional man and a highly-respected longtime resident of Pontiac when Dr. ANTHONY J. MICHAL died suddenly at age 64.

A native of Detroit and a graduate of the University of Michigan College of Dentistry, Dr. MICHAL took up practice in Pontiac 35 years ago.

★ ★ ★

"Mike," as he was known to a host of friends and patients combined the exceptional quality of a topflight practitioner with a warm and outgoing personality. Devotion to his family and profession left little time for recreational pursuits, though he indulged a growing interest in travel and was an avid follower and keen analyst of many sports.

Those saddened by the untimely passing of "Dr. MIKE" will find consolation in the knowledge that he left an enviable record of personal accomplishment and service to his fellows.

Poison-Proof Your Home

Proclaimed by the President, National Poison Preventive Week is now in progress.

It's intent is to safeguard household members (particularly children) from the harmful or even lethal effects of overindulgence or misuse of drugs otherwise of recommended therapeutic value.

★ ★ ★

Children under 5 are the principal victims of accidental poisoning, according to the National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers. In 1967, the Clearinghouse reports, more than 72,000 children under 5 accidentally swallowed potentially harmful substances.

It is, therefore, most important that drugs, particularly those with poisonous properties, be kept locked up. Care, too, should be exercised in the arrangement of medicines in such places of storage. Internal medicines should be segregated from other household substances. Not only may there be similarities in the design and composition of containers, but the colors, consistences, even odors, may possibly be analogous.

★ ★ ★

Medicines prescribed for one individual under one set of circumstances should not be used for others. Also, medicines, over a period of time, may undergo changes in composition resulting in toxicity. When medicines are no longer to be used, flush the contents down the drain, and rinse the container before discarding it.

You owe it to yourself to act now on the slogan of National Poison Prevention Week to "Poison-Proof Your Home."

U. S. Firms Look Abroad

American companies doing business overseas are looking forward to a rapid rise in their international sales over the next few years—but the major gains will NOT come from exports but from production in the foreign lands themselves.

This is the finding of a survey conducted by the National Industrial Conference Board of 182 international executives, representing a cross-section of U.S. companies.

Why is business investing heavily in foreign production facilities?

Among the reasons given are fast-rising costs in the United States, nationalism and protectionism abroad that operate against American-made goods, and the feeling that local production is essential if sales are to be maximized.

Few executives predict actual declines in exports of their products made in this Country, though exports will account for a smaller percentage of their international business in the future. At the same time they expect no dramatic change in the level of their imports into the United States.

★ ★ ★

Because U.S. government restrictions limit direct investment overseas, most companies will be borrowing more and more money from local overseas sources to finance their expansion plans.

We leave it the Ph.D.s in economics to speculate about what the repercussions, desirable or undesirable, of this new trend may be. But it can only result in a strong bullish influence on the stock markets of the countries involved, and by creating new jobs and incomes, give a boost to standards of living.

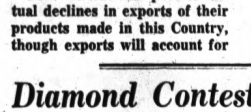
That, in the long run, will benefit everyone.

Diamond Contest Picks Up Steam

Well, The Press Annual Baseball Contest is off and running, if you don't mind a slightly mixed sports metaphor.

★ ★ ★

The contest which rewards the winner with a $500 U.S. Savings Bond has for many years "officially" opened the major leagues' diamond marathon. (We seem to have a lot of "metaphor" trouble today.) Incidentally, the distaff sex, those whose knowledge of the national pastime is presumably so sketchy that they think a pop fly is a paternal insect (Editor's note: Ouch!) seemingly have a lock on these contests. The gals win the majority of them with neatness and dispatch.



Take a good look at the rules below before committing your entry to the tender mercy of the contest judges. Only don't procrastinate. After completing it, get same moving Pressward pronto. As Confucius say, "He who dilatory submitting baseball contest entry already has two strikes on him."

How do you go about picking a winner? Ah, my friends, that is indeed a question. And if we had the answer we'd run Jeane Dixon right out of the clairvoyant business.

Some contestants, we understand, resort to Ouija boards, or crystal balls, searching diligently for four-leaf clovers (right now they're in rather short supply) or burning incense to the diamond gods in hope of a "message" from on high.

Others peruse daily the sports pages of The Press to get a line on how the swingers are swinging and who is most likely to swat his way to an early batting lead.

Wouldn't the venerable Abner Doubleday, generally considered the pappy of baseball, be enchanted with this competitive by-product of his creation?

CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone, and all members of families (except Press employes and close relatives), are eligible to enter contest. Entrants are limited, however, to one entry each.

2. To enter, submit name and batting average of the AMERICAN League player (and the club with which identified at time of entry) who you think will lead the league as shown by the Associated Press tabulation of batting averages appearing in sports section of the Saturday, April 19, edition of The Press—the closing date of the contest.

★ ★ ★

3. Entries should be written on postal cards or substitutes and addressed to The Pontiac Press Baseball Contest, P.O. Box 777, Pontiac, Michigan 48056. They may be mailed or deposited in The Press Huron Street drop box.

4. The entrant who correctly picks the leading batter (or comes closest) will receive the winner's award of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

5. The deadline for entries is Monday noon, April 7, and they must be received by The Press by that time. Entries received later, even though postmarked prior, will not be considered.

6. Decisions by Pontiac Press judges will be final on all questions related to the contest.

David Lawrence Says:

Crackdown on 'Riot Plotting' Set

WASHINGTON — The American people at last are going to see something done about the "law and order" problem which became a dominant issue in the last presidential campaign.

LAWRENCE

President Nixon now has authorized his attorney general to go ahead and prosecute any persons responsible for alleged conspiracies which may have resulted in disturbances on college campuses or the street "demonstrations" that have led to numerous riots across the country.

The Federal government has the right, under a law passed in 1967, to punish any conspirators.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell frankly states that the campus disorders have gone beyond the pale of student demonstrations.

In a television interview over the Columbia Broadcasting System on Tuesday night, he said:

"There are active militants who are entering upon a conspiracy . . . There seems to be no doubt, as any one can read in the newspapers, that there have been lines of communication between some of the parties involved and some of the foreign governments. This has, of course, been established in the press, and I think they are accurate . . .

'NOT STUDENTS'

"These people are primarily not students. They're militant activists who appear on college campuses. They are not students as such. . . .

"We have an obligation under the existing statutes to investigate the commission of crime, and that is what we are doing in these instances . . . and to the extent and when it's appropriate, we certainly will use all of the resources of the Bureau of Investigation and this department to bring these people to justice . . .

"When a party such as we are talking about — these militant, radical activists — cross a state line with the intention of creating a riot, and the riot is created under a conspiracy, that is a commission of a federal crime."

The statue provides that anyone crossing state lines with intent to incite, organize, promote, encourage, participate in, or carry on a riot may be prosecuted and sent to jail for 5 years, or fined up to $10,000 or both.

RELUCTANT TO ACT

Local governments have been reluctant to take action in connection with campus rebellions and have waited for authorities in the colleges to bring in the police.

But with the steps now taken by the federal government, it is probable that law-enforcement agencies or states and cities will be encouraged to move into the situation on their own initiative and begin making arrests on a wider scale than heretofore.

It seems certain that there at least will be exposure of the various activists who have managed to stir up or intensify disturbances in various colleges.

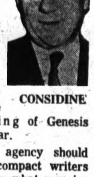
Bob Considine Says:

Writers Should Go Along on Future Space Flights

NEW YORK—Frank Borman and his Apollo 8 crew took poetry into space. They broke the barrier of technological gobbledegook that had constituted most of the spooky dialogue from Out There to Down Here. They told us how beautiful is this tumultuous world on which we live. They gave us the finest reading of Genesis we'll ever hear.



CONSIDINE

The space agency should train small compact writers to go along on what remains of the Apollo Project. Their gifted descriptions from On High might quicken the pulse and penetrate the hearts of millions of earthlings who tend to lose interest in the necessary but stupefying dialogue of space.

★ ★ ★

The hide of the heat shield that keeps the astronauts from being burned to cinders on reentry deserves a more picturesque name than "ablating material."

Surely we can find something better than "anaocustic zone" to describe the awesome silence of space, where the distance between the rarefied air molecules is greater than the wave length of sound, and sound waves can no longer be propagated.

'CISLUNAR SPACE'

Ever realize how often your eyes have gazed over that quarter of a million miles called "cislunar space"? You should be quite familiar with it. It's the space between you and the moon.

In space talk, an "exerciser" isn't a mechanical hobbyhorse or a tummy-shaker. It's a machine that simulates the strains and vibrations to which a missile is subjected, and is used to test for structural integrity. An "extension skirt" doesn't mean the end of the mini. It's an "adapter used to connect elements of the spacecraft."

In space, Gimbal doesn't have to worry about Macy. Gimbal means, mysteriously enough, "mechanical frame containing two mutually axes of rotation (bearing and/or shafts)." Right?

★ ★ ★

And don't mistake Heaviside-Kennelly Layer-Region for a Wall Street brokerage firm. It's that region of the ionosphere that enables your radio to work; it bounces a broadcasting station's beams back to earth.

Don't order LOX in space. It's oxygen gas supercooled to 270 degrees below zero. Or, if you do, ask for a hot bagel. "Second of Arc" isn't Joan's sister. It's a measure of an angle 1/60th of a minute," as any fool should know.

'City Tax Arrangement Benefits Senior Citizens'

A letter in this column March 14 made an interesting point in regard to the regressive nature of ad valorem taxes of senior citizens.

★ ★ ★

The City of Pontiac, by reducing the property tax by three mills when the income tax became effective, has created a tax shelter for senior citizens on pensions in that pensions are not subject to the income tax and citizens over age 65 receive an additional income tax exemption.

Writer Has Dream About High School Site

I have a dream that the super high school will be built in the fresh air of the hospital grounds, where half of the building materials will not be stolen as it goes up. I have a dream of no demonstrations every time some lazy child is made to observe the rules, no beatings of good teachers, no stabbings, rapes, demands, pressure, violence—just education. I have a dream of no police patroling the halls of a high school built where the crazy people are already locked up.

Opposes State Aid for Parochial Schools

A bill is being introduced for State aid to parochial schools and I feel that no State aid should be given. I believe none of the taxpayers of Michigan should have to bear the burden of paying for education of any particular group. The cost of special education should be borne by the parents of the children attending these educational centers and/or by the denomination sponsoring them. The State of Michigan can barely support its public school systems. I hope that the people of Michigan and the Legislators in Lansing consider carefully any law to give aid to parochial schools thereby tearing down the wall separating church and state.

Citizens Rally to Improve Hospital

By DICK SAUNDERS

I know some people who are really thankful for the warm weather we've had this week.

They're patients in some of the more medieval wards at Pontiac State Hospital.

While housewives struggle with storm windows prying them loose to let in a little of the balmy springlike air, these patients can sit back in their rooms and enjoy it without lifting a latch.

SAUNDERS

They're in a 90-year-old section which houses about 200 rooms. The structure is inadequately heated and the draft from cracked window casings in the rooms is something to behold. You couldn't hold a candle to it.

★ ★ ★

Heat outlets are in the halls, not the rooms. Thus, during winter weather, walking from a hall into a room is like going from the frying pan into the freezer.

It doesn't appear the state will be doing much to solve this unbelievable situation in the near future.

But the whole picture is not bleak.

While our State Legislature sleeps (Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford Township excepted), local citizenry has responded to the emergency with a series of paint-ins.

★ ★ ★

First it was the Boylan Paint Slingers, directed by Mrs. James Boylan of 5961 Rowley, Waterford Township. This crew of volunteers held a paint-up, fix-up session at the hospital several weeks ago.

There have been two more paint-ins since then and more are taking place this week. The latest crew is Bunker's Paint Slingers, under the direction of Mrs. Ronald Bunker of 189 W. Brooklyn, with an able assist from Mrs. Robert Kidwell of 4139 Meigs, Waterford Township.

They had a dozen volunteers wielding brushes at the hospital today and Saturday will be husband and wife day with 17 volunteers working a morning session and another 18 scheduled for duty in the afternoon.

At the same time, hospital maintenance employes have begun a stepped-up effort to caulk the leaky window casings.

The hospital's community relations department under Ted Panaretos is now planning to mail articles and editorials depicting the need for new facilities to some 2,400 employes and volunteers plus families of many patients urging them to write their legislators requesting positive budget action in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

In view of the lack of legislative concern to date, I wonder if anyone in Lansing will listen.

They should. The cry for help is coming from the most important people on earth—the public.

Kelley Will Probe Mackinac Bridge Authority

LANSING (AP) —Gov. William Milliken has asked Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley to review what he termed "alleged irregularities" in operations under control of the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

Milliken said he wanted Kelley "to review certain complaints which have come to my attention."

★ ★ ★

The governor made his first mention of the action in a Wednesday news conference, saying his staff was investigating what he termed "allegations."

He later elaborated somewhat on the matter.

'NOT A REFLECTION'

"This action should not be construed as a reflection on the integrity of any members of the Mackinac Bridge Authority," Milliken said. "The complaints appear to involve civil rather than criminal matters."

"We're ready," said the chairman of the authority when he learned of the probe.

Former U.S. Sen. Prentiss M. Brown, authority chairman, reached at St. Ignace, said he "can't think of anything" that might be included in the allegations.

Lawrence Rubin, long-time authority secretary-manager, was unavailable for comment.

ON ANNUAL LEAVE

Rubin's secretary said he was taking part of his annual leave time at a ski resort in Colorado and would return to his office Monday.

Brown also said he tried to reach Rubin "to find out if he knew anything about what is being referred to" but also discovered he was in Colorado.

★

"We were investigated pretty thoroughly about a year ago by a committee appointed by Gov. George Romney, but it came up with nothing substantive," Brown said.

He said the probers included a certified public accountant.

NONPAYING JOB

"Nobody gets any money out of this, you know," Brown said of his nonpaid job as authority chairman.

Brown added that he mails a check twice a year to pay for his own bridge crossings.

★ ★ ★

The terms of the authority of Brown and former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner both expired last June, but both are still serving. Both are Democrats.

Milliken indicated at his new conference that the vacancies would be filled by April 1.

WOULDN'T SPECULATE

Van Wagoner, who served as governor in 1941 and 1942 after eight years as state highway commissioner, would not speculate about the appointments.

"That's up to the governor," he said.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know anything about it," he said of the investigation. "As far as I know everything is in good shape."

State Treasurer Allison Green, who serves as an ex-officio member of the bridge authority, said he was not aware of the investigation.

MORE CASH ASKED

Green said Rubin had asked for an increase from $15,000 to $89,000 in the budget for bridge publicity but it was "knocked back" to $35,000.

A proposal by Rubin for $140,000 for two new toll stations also was rejected by the commission and the governor's office, Green said.

Rubin receives $23,448 a year as authority secretary-manager for the $100-million bridge.

Brown said there had been some criticism of operation of a shuttle bus across the bridge from St. Ignace to Mackinaw City and return.

QUESTION OF ECONOMICS

"But that was a question of economics," he said. "Whether we should do it for the fares involved. Since the rate for automobiles was cut Jan. 1 from $3.75 to $1.50, business (on the bus) has fallen off to nearly nothing."

Brown said there had been "some hollering about no legislative passes."

★ ★ ★

Since former Gov. G. Mennen Williams made the first crossing of the new bridge and was required to pay, there are no more passes, he said.

This includes legislators and state employes, Brown said.

Peru Seizes 2 U.S. Boats

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru seized two more U.S. tuna boats but released them Wednesday night after their captains paid $25,000 in fines.

The incident could complicate the negotiations John Irwin, a special representative of President Nixon, is beginning with the Peruvian government over the expropriation of U.S. oil properties.

Irwin, who arrived last week, declined to comment on the seizure of the two ships from San Diego, Calif., the Cape Anne and the San Juan, 23 miles off the north coast of this Andean nation.

★ ★ ★

A Peruvian torpedo boat took the two U.S. ships in tow. Peru claims a 200-mile territorial fishing limit while the United States and most other nations recognize a 12-mile limit.

★ ★ ★

For the San Juan, whose captain had to pay a $17,000 fine, it was the second encounter with Peruvian naval power. Last Feb. 14, when a gunboat seized another U.S. ship, the San Juan was fired on.

Churches No Place for Protests---Emrich

DETROIT (AP) — The Episcopal bishop of Michigan issued a strongly worded statement Wednesday against the use of churches as forums for war protests and aimed a verbal reprimand at the rector of a Detroit church recently used for a protest.

* * *

The Rev. Bob Morrison and 40 supporters last week gathered at St. Joseph's Episcopal church, all claiming to be Tom Sincavitch, an alleged Army deserter wanted by the FBI.

* * *

"While I respect the consciences and integrity of the rector, wardens and vestry of St. Joseph's, and appreciate their conscientious objection to the Vietnam war, their method and means were mistaken," said the Right Rev. Richard Emrich.

The bishop's comments were written in a letter marked "to be read by the clergy to the people."

OUT OF BOUNDS

"It is out of bounds to ridicule government, to seek to make it a laughingstock, to plan a confrontation whose aim is to make the majesty of the law amusing," Emrich wrote.

* * *

"I heartily condemn the whole procedure," he added.

The bishop also noted St. Joseph's financial straits and said:

"The diocese has aided St. Joseph's for several years. The diocese has been loyal to St. Joseph's; but loyalty, of course, is a principle that works both ways."

* * *

Emrich said he had received letters from Episcopalians in other congregations who were "understandably disturbed by what they have seen and read and are considering canceling pledges to the local parishes and diocese."

Fire Fighters Run Down Blaze

GLOUCESTER, Va. (AP) — J. J. O'Connor, chief of the Gloucester volunteer fire department, and fireman Fred Sterlin were standing in front of the fire house Wednesday when a truck passed with a tarpaulin blazing in the back.

* * *

O'Connor jumped into his pickup truck and chased the other vehicle. By the time he flagged it down, Sterling and other firemen arrived with a pumper to extinguish the blaze.

Major Crime Rate in Detroit Up 12.2 Pct.

DETROIT (AP)—Major crime in Detroit increased 12.2 per cent in the first two months of this year, with robberies leading the way with a 45.8 per cent increase over the figure for the same period last year.

"During the first two months of the year," said Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen in reporting the increases, "we didn't have our three best patrolmen working for us. "They are Patrolmen Snow, Rain an Cold."

* * *

Only rapes decreased during the period, dropping by a rate of 6.9 per cent.

Homicides in the city last month averaged one a day, rapes two per day and burglaries were committed at the rate of over 100 per day.

* * *

Murders remained at the same level during the first two months this year as the same period last year—56 homicides. Rapes declined from 144 to 134.

Robberies were up from 1,685 to 2,457; assaults from 1,132 to 1,217; burglaries from 5,585 to 155; and auto thefts from 2,497 155, and auto thefts from 2,497 to 3,229.

New Ottawa Arts Center to Open May 31

OTTAWA (AP) — To help give Canada's stodgy capital the cultural glitter of other major world cities, the federal government put up $46 million for a National Arts Center. It opens May 31.

Located in Confederation Square in the heart of the city, the center has three performing halls—a 2,300-seat opera house, an 800-seat theater and a small studio theater.

★ ★ ★

It will be home to a French-speaking repertory company, the country's first outside Quebec, plus an orchestra and an opera company. It will host the Stratford Festival Shakespeare company and other visiting English-language groups and ballet troupes from Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg.

Hamilton Southam, a 52-year-old diplomat who was Canada's first ambassador to Poland, got the idea for the center when he returned to Ottawa and found it lacking. In 1963 he convinced former Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson the center should be built, and after organizing the project he was named its first director-general in 1967.

DEFICIT IN PROSPECT

With construction costing more than twice the original estimate and an annual operating deficit in prospect, Southam had his hands full this winter answering barbed questions in Parliament about what the citizens were going to get for their tax dollars.

Southam said he believes the center will attract many people who have always wanted to visit the capital and make their stay more meaningful. He also thinks it will improve the quality of government.

★ ★ ★

"If we can make Ottawa a good place to live," Southam said, "the federal government is going to find it easier to attract intelligent receptive people and the quality of civil service will improve."

Southam hopes the French-speaking theater group will overcome French-speaking Canadians' impression that "Ottawa is just a small, provincial Ontario town.

Sex Hormone Is Synthesized

How It Develops in Vegetable Unknown

NEW YORK (UPI) — You may be surprised to know that at least one vegetable is reproductively governed by a sex hormone, just as people and animals are. At any rate, the American Chemical Society thought you would be, in revealing that this vegetable sex hormone has been man-made in the laboratory.

Scientists won't be surprised. Because sex is practically universal in life, whether it is animal or vegetable, the scientific assumption has been that vegetables also produce the steroid sex hormones with which to activate and govern reproductive activities.

This first known vegetable hormone is a powerful one. Even one one-thousandth of a gram of it distilled in some 63,000 quarters of water remains potent against its vegetable target.

Now that it has been synthesized, it will be available in large amounts for experiments to find out what it does (if anything) in other vegetables and animals.

MUTUAL ATTRACTIVENESS

In mammals, sex hormones are elaborated and secreted into the bloodstream by the endocrine glands and account for the mutual attractiveness of males and females for one another while at the same time regulating consequential processes.

Vegetable life lacks such glands, and how it elaborates sex hormones still is not known. Indeed, there was some doubt it did until Drs. Trevor C. McMorris and Alma W. Barksdale of the New York Botanical Garden isolated one several years ago.

They got it from the female of the common pound fungus whose only name is its scientific one, Achlya Bisexualis. Its life role is a lowly one; it breaks down organic matter.

State Senate Ups Usury Limit

LANSING (AP) — Borrowers may have to pay more for home mortgage or certain business loans under terms of a bill passed 28-6 Wednesday by the State Senate.

The measure, which faces almost certain amendment in the House, would boost the interest rate ceiling on home mortgage, unincorporated business and individual commercial loans from 7 to 9 per cent.

* * *

An amendment tacked on just before the final vote provides that the ceiling rate revert to 7 per cent on Jan. 1, 1922.

"It would go back to seven unless the Legislature, based on current business conditions at that time, would change it again," explained Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, sponsor of the measure.

CALLED NECESSARY

Bursley had argued that the ceiling hike was necessary or "you're going to have a drastic drop in building." He cited the 7¼ per cent interest banks now charge some customers because of a recent ruling by the Federal Reserve Board in raising the prime interest rate.

Banks could not afford to lend money if the interest rate ceiling remained at 7 per cent, proponents suggested.

* * *

Opponents charged the measure would "gouge the little man" and termed even an 8 per cent ceiling "outrageous."

Senators put off action on a measure that prompted Sen. Michael O'Brien, D-Detroit, one of several sponsors, to say:

"If I were chief executive, I would like to have (officials) contact me at least once a month to tell me whether or not a town is burning down."

SECURITY COUNCIL

The measure would create a "State Internal Security Council," including the governor, lieutenant governor, State Police director, head of the State Department of Military Affairs and the attorney general.

They would be mandated to meet "at least monthly" to receive reports and information from police relative to crime and social unrest throughout the state, to analyze "crime patterns" and to make recommendations concerning the problems.

* * *

Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield Township, chief sponsor, cited "certain problems that have arisen in the last year or two" and said some "require the utmost surveillance."

He did not elaborate.

Kuhn added, however, that testimony from law enforcement officials revealed they were not in constant direct contact with the governor. "There is contact," he said, "but just with the executive office—with a legal aid or somebody else."

gal aide or somebody else."

"We don't have to tell the governor he has to meet with any-R-Battle Creek. "That's his preone," aid Sen. Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek. "That's his prerogative now."

Senate Minority Leader Sand Levin, D-Berkley, termed the Levin, D-Berkley, termed the proposal "unnecessary and insulting to the governor."

* * *

Annual motor vehicle inspection would be compulsory under terms of a bill introduced by Sen. James Fleming, R-Jackson. Designated service stations would inspect steering mechanism, lights, tired, brakes, glassing and other such equipment and issue inspection certificates at a cost of $2.25 per vehicles.

The inspection program would go into effect Jan. 1, 1970.

Fleming also introduced a resolution specifying that gasoline tax money be used only by the State Highway Department.

Gov. William Milliken stirred criticism recently by proposing that $1.6 million be diverted from the State Highway Department to the State Police for road patrols.

Opponents called his suggestion "a raid" on highway funds.

Fleming said his proposal would not stave off Milliken's suggested funding, but "It would prevent it in future years."

The House, meanwhile, moved several bills to position for final action. Those bills would:

- Amend state divorce laws to include provision for divorce "when it appears to the court that both parties have been guilty of conduct which constitutes grounds for a divorce . . ."
- Remove law enforcement authority from mayors of fourth-class cities unless such cities specify otherwise by charter.
- Allow second-class district courts to meet in the county seat, with approval of boards of supervisors.
- Allow any peace officer to impound a vehicle owned by a convicted person, who would be responsible for damage during impoundment.
- Allow judges to decide if criminal sentences should be consecutive or concurrent.
- Amend state election laws to require county clerks to make available to "the press and other interested persons" the results of the unofficial tabulations of all elections.
- Amend the liquor control act to require cities, villages or townships to allow or prohibit the sale of liquor by the glass within one year of a referendum 7decision by voters.
- Standardize provisions of the vehicle code requiring motorists to stop behind school buses taking on or discharging passengers.

Dem Hails Post for Figure in State Dept. Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of Otto F. Otepka's Senate allies in his five-year battle with the State Department predicts speedy confirmation of the former security officer's appointment to the Subversive Activities Control Board.

"Justice has finally triumphed," said Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland Wednesday after President Nixon nominated Otepka to the SACB.

* * *

Eastland, whose committee will consider Otepka's nomination for the $36,000-a-year post, predicted prompt Senate approval and said it should "clear the air once and for all in the Otepka case."

Eastland's comments were typical of senators who backed Otepka in his fight against State Department charges of unauthorized disclosure of classified documents to Senate investigators.

And senators who tried two years ago to abolish the SACB as a do-nothing agency indicated they would not oppose Otepka's confirmation even though they might continue efforts to cut the board's funds.

The board, which owes its existence largely to support from Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, has had its mandate to say who is a Communist nearly demolished by the Supreme Court.

* * *

Ironically, Otepka reportedly owes his appointment largely to Dirksen although the minority leader denies it.

When word of the appointment began to circulate recently, however, Dirksen said it might be the best way to end the controversy.

DISMISSED IN 1963

Otepka, who was the State Department's chief security evaluator, was dismissed in November 1963, after superiors accused him of supplying documents and information to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee without authorization.

* * *

Shortly before his dismissal, all of the senators on the subcommittee joined in a letter to former Secretary of State Dean Rusk expressing their confidence in Otepka's integrity and ability.

* * *

"A government employe who comes before a Senate committee and testifies truthfully should not thereafter be penalized or disciplined in any way for doing so," they wrote Rusk.

In December 1967, after reviewing the case, Rusk changed the dismissal verdict to demotion, transfer and reprimand.

About 450 patients a year receive kidney transplants, it is estimated.

Romney Says HUD's a Mess

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Housing Secretary George Romney thinks his department was in worse shape when he assumed command this year than American Motors was when he became its president.

Romney also told a Senate housing subcommittee yesterday that his Housing and Urban Development Department faces more complex problems than the Defense Department or the space program.

* * *

He said the nation can produce "not more than 175,000" publicly subsidized low-cost housing units this year, far below the goal of 225,000 set in former President Lyndon B. Johnson's final budget.

* * *

The subcommittee called Romney as the lead-off witness in its inquiry into lumber prices which have almost doubled since mid-1967.

Sirhan Now Inattentive at Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A change has come in the courtroom behavior of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan as his mind is probed, poked and dissected day after day before the jury trying him for the murder of Robert F. Kennedy.

Once attentive, he now barely glances at the witnesses. Once easily aroused to fury by any suggestion that he is mentally ill, Sirhan now sits quietly—almost dreamily—as psychologists say he is sick and getting sicker.

* * *

There was one such occasion Wednesday as Dr. Roderick Richardson described him variously as:

Paranoid, bitter, rebellious, wordy, power-oriented, dependent, moralistic, vulnerable, frail, unpredictable, legalistic, critical, suspicious, unreasonable, aggressive and socially inadequate.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Sirhan busied himself reading a small stack of cards and telegrams sent him for his 25th birthday.

To observers who have been in court with Sirhan for more than 10 weeks of trial, it is obvious that he dislikes being portrayed as mentally ill, but his attorneys say he now realizes that it might save his life.

* * *

If the jury can be persuaded that Sirhan was mentally incapable of meaningfully premeditating the killing, it could return a lesser verdict than first-degree murder, which calls for life imprisonment or the gas chamber.

British Troops Broil in Sun as They Occupy Tiny Rebel Isle

ANGUILLA (AP) — British troops broiled under the Caribbean sun today as they went through the motions of military occupation. The Anguillans remained quiet following the bloodless invasion of their tiny island.

"Doesn't this sun ever go down?" complained a sunburned paratrooper manning a highway checkpoint.

* * *

The 35-square-mile island has few trees, and many of the young men flown out from cold, gloomy Britain were badly sunburned a few hours after their dawn landing Wednesday. Temperatures were in the upper 80s.

* * *

The 6,000 Anguillans offered no armed resistance to the occupation by 135 British paratroopers and marines, and there was only one major emotional outburst. When acting President Ronald Webster called on British officers at their command headquarters Wednesday, a crowd of about 300 of his people hoisted him to their shoulders, shouted their support and sang the Anguillan freedom song to the tune of the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

MEETING TODAY

Webster went to the schoolhouse headquarters to arrange a meeting with the occupiers, which he said would be held today. However, he said he would hold no formal negotiations until the British troops are withdrawn.

Webster also protested the invasion in a note to London Wednesday night.

* * *

Anthony Lee, an official from London installed by the invasion force as commissioner for the island, said the British occupation might last several years. But the paratroops and marines are expected to depart soon, leaving a detachment of London police to keep the Union Jack flying.

* * *

The British government has assured the Anguillans they will not be forced back into federation with the island of St. Kitts. They seceded from the federation May 31, 1967, complaining that the federation's prime minister, Robert L. Bradshaw, treated them as stepchildren.

'BREATHING SPACE'

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart told the British House of Commons the occupation would give all concerned a breathing space to determine where their real interests lie.

He made clear that the government feared Anguilla's secession, if it succeeded, would inspire other islands to break away from other British-sponsored federations, leaving Britain to take care of the rebels when they couldn't support themselves.

For the most part, Anguilla's 6,000 Negro inhabitants stood about in small groups and watched impassively as the white invaders set up roadblocks and posted guards at such strategic points as the island's partially paved airstrip.

* * *

No arrests were reported, but a white American, Jack Holcomb, was put on a chartered plane by British soldiers and flown to St. Thomas, in the U.S. Virgin Islands. Holcomb, a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., real estate developer, had been advising Webster.

The British had said U.S. underworld figures were reported getting control of the island, possibly to make it a haven for gamblers. Webster said that was absurd.

SHOW IDENTIFICATION

As the invasion force went about its work in a businesslike manner, the Anguillans were ordered to stop at each major intersection and show identification.

'Youth Also to Blame for Generation Gap'

SWARTHMORE, Pa. (AP) — The dean of women at Swarthmore College says the generation gap isn't just a case of adults not talking to or understanding young people—it's often the other way around.

Barbara Pearson Lange said the widening generation gap is one of the reasons she's quitting her post at the suburban Philadelphia school after seven years as dean.

When young people say "don't talk to anyone over 30," the 58-year-old dean said, "then people over 50 really haven't a chance to be effective with them."

"There is no difficulty in students coming to talk to me when they have a protest to make. The difficulty is to get them to listen to me and my point of view," she said in an interview by Deborah Ovedoff in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

PLAYING A RULE

"The technique I have used and I can recommend it to parents—is to listen very carefully and then to use the question method; ask them what they would do if they were me. In other words, get them to play a role," the dean said.

Dean Lange, sister of columnist Drew Pearson, said despite the widening gap, she felt she still understood young people.

* * *

"Once my youngest daughter was out of college," about two years ago, she said, "I felt I no longer had my finger on the pulse of what youth needed or wanted. But that does not mean I feel out of step with today's college students."

Dean Lange, who has six grandchildren, said she has often had to serve as a mediator trying to help parents understand their daughters' points of view.

* * *

"I am not sure that young people think we have a great deal of wisdom because we have lived longer and experienced more. They want the freedom to make their own mistakes and then they want you to help them out."

Trooper Exam Is Reinstated

LANSING (AP)— Civil service and State Police have decided to go back to requiring passage of a written examination before accepting recruits for State Police school.

"We're back to where we were before," said Lt. Col. Melvin Kaufman. "They have to pass a written test before entering recruit school.

* * *

"We thought we were losing some men who couldn't pass the written examination," Kaufman said. "We found out those who can pass the examination are more likely to pass the academic standards of the school."

Kaufman emphasized there was no lowering of recruit standards during the test period which started early last fall.

'NOT LOWERED'

"Standards were not lowered one iota in the recruit school," he said. "They never have been."

A main objective of dropping the written civil service test was to attract more recruits from minority groups. State Police now have two Negro troopers, two Negro recruits scheduled to graduate next week and one Negro cadet.

Kaufman said State Police are continuing a drive to attract troopers from Negro and other minority groups.

"We want all the qualified people we can get from minority groups," he said.

Top Aussie Answers Scandal Charges

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The Australian House of Representatives voted today not to investigate scandal charges involving Prime Minister John Gorton and actress-singer Liza Minelli.

One of the charges was that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency paid $15,000 for an article about Gorton which Miss Minelli had written and then sold it to African, European and American publications.

Defending himself in the House, the 57-year-old Gorton said he had been the subject of a scurrilous whispering campaign.

"I am glad it has now been brought into the open," he declared.

'PACK OF LIES'

Gorton said he was satisfied with his own conduct and that Miss Minelli, the 22-year-old daughter of singer Judy Garland, had said the whole thing was "a pack of lies."

An opposition member, Albert James, told the House that an Australian gossip sheet called Things I Hear had reported that Miss Minelli, who visited the country last year, had written the article for the British magazine Private Eye in which she "recounted what she claims were her experiences with the leading Australian political figure."

* * *

James said the article allegedly dealt with incidents at a Sydney nightclub, in Bali during a visit by Gorton to Indonesia and in Canberra last Christmas.

The gossip sheet, which is published by Sydney journalist Frank Browne, said Private Eye sold the world rights of the article to the CIA.

PARTY LINE VOTE

James called for an investigation by the Parliamentary Privileges Committee.

The vote against the investigation was 75 to 34 and followed party lines, with one member of the Labor opposition voting with the government.

* * *

Labor opposition leader Edward G. Whitlam said Gorton had not given a complete denial of the allegations.

"There is a suggestion that the Central Intelligence Agency bought up the rights to a story by Miss Minelli and the only inference could be that this could be used to blackmail the prime minister.

MUST BE REPUDIATED

"If this is true, it would obviously affect not only the prime minister and the government but also Australia. If it is not true, it ought to be repudiated immediately and completely," Whitlam said.

Gorton, who begins a visit to the United States and Canada March 29 and meets April 1-2 with President Nixon, said: "The kind of approach made by Mr. James can do nothing but good to me and nothing but harm to him.

* * *

"I have a belief in the Australian people and part of this belief is that this kind of political activity will not go down well with them."

The prime minister was supported by the Labor party leader in the Senate, Lionel Murphy, who told the upper house: "I accept without reservation the prime minister's statement that his conduct has been entirely proper."

State President Primary Sought

DETROIT (UPI) — A group of Michigan Democrats have organized a petition drive for a presidential primary election in the state, it was announced yesterday.

State Sen. Roger E. Craig, D-Dearborn, chairman of the group, told a news conference about the attempt to substitute a presidential primary for the current method of choosing a candidate entirely within the convention system.

* * *

"The present system in Michigan does not give voters a direct voice in choosing their parties' presidential nominees," Craig said. "The people have only an indirect say through precinct delegates, who are elected two years before the national convention.

"If the problems that disrupted the electoral process a year ago on local, state and national levels are to be resolved, and if the people are to pick the president, we must have an open presidential preference primary," he said.

If the current rate of population increase continues, world population will be doubled in 38 years over the present.

Prof. Humphrey's Not Upset About Return to Academic Life

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Prof. Hubert H. Humphrey sits in his brand new office with its view of the snowy Macalester College campus and sometimes ponders that but for a half a million votes his office would have a view of the Washington Monument.

Now the office in Macalester's Old Main is full of the late afternoon twilight. The shelves on the wall are still empty. The attractive woman who was Humphrey's secretary a quarter century ago is his secretary again.

★ ★ ★

"I must say," Humphrey acknowledges, "there are times when I think about what we should have done and could have done in different states. But I don't dwell on it too long because it just ruins you. Really, it can make you terribly morose and very upset."

Although there may be moments of sadness over what might have been, Humphrey appears neither morose nor upset.

'NOT THE ULTIMATE'

He admits to students, however, that "My presence on this campus was not something I fashioned in my life as the ultimate. . . I had no plans to occupy this chair (the Hubert H. Humphrey chair in Political Science and International Relations). I had plans to occupy another chair, at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue."

★ ★ ★

The students, many of whom were strong partisans of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, enjoy the irony and laugh with him.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey will spend three days a week, twice a month, teaching at Macalester and at the University of Minnesota (when the spring quarter begins Monday. His salary for this will be $30,000. He also receives about $20,000 retirement pay for his years in the Senate. And as chairman of the Board of Consultants for the Encyclopedia Britannica he receives a salary said to be "in the range" of his academic pay.

★ ★ ★

He also is chairman of the board of the Woodrow Wilson Institute at Princeton, a member of the board of Brandeis University, and, as titular head of the Democratic party, faces a heavy calendar of speechmaking.

NEWLY DECORATED

His offices at Macalester are on the second floor of Old Main, a red brick building that dates from 1884. The floors creak underfoot. But the Humphrey suite has been newly decorated with the modern look of a dentist's office—off-white walls, contemporary vinyl furniture, wall-to-wall carpeting and cellular modern art that puzzles Humphrey and his visitors.

The break with the past is far from absolute. The five-room suite has individual offices for John Stewart and Norman Sherman, both aides of long standing. Stewart, a speech writer, has been given a place on the Macalester faculty. Sherman, Humphrey's former press secretary, is helping him prepare a book. Humphrey's chief political assistant, William Connell, has a position with Britannica.

Humphrey's last academic job before he was taken over by politics was at Macalester. It was between the time he ran unsuccessfully and then successfully for mayor of Minneapolis.

Then he was 33, still skinny, and taught a course in American local government. In 1944 he conducted the longest class session in the school's history, on the strengths and dangers of fascism in America. It began at 4 in the afternoon. When it ended five hours and 40 minutes later, Humphrey told his students: "Get into politics."

MEETS MILITANTS

On the second morning of his return to the campus, Humphrey faced another long meeting, a question and answer session with some of the more militant of Macalester's students. A similar affair—a "give Humphrey hell" session, according to one school official—was scheduled after lunch.

★ ★ ★

Someone had brought in sandwiches in white paper bags. Humphrey, possibly recalling the thousands of stale campaign sandwiches, peered distastefully at ham, cheese and lettuce.

★ ★ ★

"Is this really necessary?" he asked an aide.

Arrangements were quickly made to eat at a restaurant a few blocks away. A Secret Service agent ran to get the car.

SOUP, SANDWICH

At the restaurant, with its quiet dark-paneled, tea-room atmosphere Humphrey ordered from the menu: soup and a chicken salad sandwich.

Twice his meal was interrupted. Two middle-aged women introduced themselves "We're very proud of you," one told him.

★ ★ ★

During the morning grilling he had been hit with many of the same issues he had heard from the young during the campaign: His praise of Mayor Richard J. Daley's handling of the Chicago convention rioting; his linking arms with Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox; the failure, as some of them saw it, of the poverty program. . .

★ ★ ★

A standing-room-only crowd of more than 400 students awaited him in a science lecture auditorium. Humphrey, in a brown suit, leaned back against the laboratory table as one young man accused him of having been evasive on Vietnam. Humphrey responded, as he had innumerable times, that "as vice president I am a member of a team. . . This is not evasiveness, this is a fact of life. . . If you asked if I agreed with everything that happened, the answer is no."

BULL SESSIONS

He told the students he was going to tell them some of the problems of the office of vice president and that he and Mrs. Humphrey would have some of them over for bull sessions when there would be no one else "piping in."

While Humphrey talks, Mrs. Humphrey directs workmen trying to get their house in shape. A few blocks from Old Main, it is a large stucco house recently willed to the college. The Humphreys also have their lakeside home at Waverly, an hour's drive away, and have retained their apartment in Washington.

★ ★ ★

When a half dozen students dropped in on Humphrey at his office, he told them he wanted the students to give him some ideas on what they are interested in learning about and that he wants to bring in guest lecturers from among the people he knew in government.

He suggested the students might want to go into detail on passage of the 1964 Civil Rights Act which had everything to be found in a legislative battle.

ABOUT McCARTHY

He was asked about Sen. McCarthy, his fellow Minnesotan and opponent for the presidential nomination.

"To put it as delicately and politely as I can, I think if he had come out for me a little earlier it would have helped."

McCarthy has said he will not seek reelection as his party's candidate for the Senate in two years.

Very few people seem to doubt that Humphrey will run for it, and that his tenure as a professor may be a short one.

Rusk Is Picketed by Coeds Where He Once Taught

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Peaceful picketing by coeds greeted former Secretary of State Dean Rusk at Mills College Wednesday.

Rusk, a history and government professor and faculty dean at the girls college in the 1930s, smiled and glanced at the picklets but declined to accept leaflets offered by the girls.

★ ★ ★

Pickets carried signs reading, "Children are for Loving, Not Burning" and, "War is Good Business, Invest Your Son."

Rusk appeared at an informal question-and-answer meeting attended by students and faculty. Newsmen were not admitted.

Left-Wing Terrorist Group Keeps Uruguay Police on Edge

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — A small black car pulled up at night outside the home of Capt. Raul Manzino, the Uruguayan army's top expert in explosives.

Two men quickly piled six small wooden crates on the sidewalk, tacked a red "Danger" sign and a note on the top case, and hurriedly drove off.

Inside the crates was 60 pounds of gelignite, used in quarrying stone. The note, signed with a "T" inside a five-pointed star, told Manzino:

"This material has gone bad and is dangerous to handle. We decided to destroy it. We know of your technical ability and feel there is no one better qualified than you to do the job. Since you will have to handle these crates in the end anyway, we decided to save you the bother of transportation."

STRUCK AGAIN

The Tupamaros had struck again.

They are members of a left-wing terrorist organization called the National Liberation Movement that is out to make trouble in Uruguay, an economically ailing nation of 2.6 million.

★ ★ ★

The Tupamaros have kept police on edge since two years ago when they began stepping up their activities. They have shot it out with police at least twice, bombed radio stations and the offices of U.S.-owned companies in Montevideo, and stolen more than 350 pounds of explosives from stone quarries. At times they have infiltrated peaceful street demonstrations to provoke charges of police brutality.

They were suspected in a $160,000 robbery at a casino. One of their biggest operations was the kidnaping of a close adviser to President Jorge Pacheco Areco. They held Dr. Ulises Pereira Reverbel five days last August, then released him unharmed.

NAMED FOR CHIEFTAIN

The name Tupamaro derives from Tupac Amaru II, an Inca Indian chieftain put to death in Peru two centuries ago for leading an abortive rebellion against the Spanish empire. Communist literature in Latin America often uses the name to symbolize imperialist oppression.

What little Tupamaro literature police have managed to seize describes the movement vaguely as a Marxist-Leninist organization that sneers at the Moscow brand of communism as "too soft."

★ ★ ★

It expresses admiration for Ho Chi Minh, Mao Tse-tung and the late Ernesto (Che) Guevara.

The Tupamaros do not get along with Uruguay's Communist party, a Moscow-oriented organization that operates legally and got 6 per cent of the vote in the last election.

'PART OF STRATEGY'

The magazine Punto Final, published in Chile, describes the movement "as part of an overall continental strategy to create many Vietnams in Latin America."

This Cuban-oriented publication quotes an unnamed Tupamaro speculating on the possibility of provoking U.S. intervention in this way: "Imagine the city of Montevideo occupied by foreign troops, with the consequent aggravation of national pride, a bothered population; while opposing them is an armed revolution group with good bases within the city."

★ ★ ★

The Tupamaros are in contact with groups in Argentina, Brazil and Chile, and probably Venezuela. Bank robberies that one Brazilian group recently carried out in Sao Paulo to finance urban guerrilla operations were identical in pattern to those carried out by the Tupamaros in Uruguay.

Intelligence experts believe the movement is from 500-to 1,000-strong—with 50 or 60 men and women forming a central hard core—and still in the formative stage.

RECRUITING PERIOD

Communist guerrilla handbooks call that stage "the propaganda and recruiting period." One aim is to make a strong underground presence felt.

The Tupamaros do this by means of small, bold raids mostly to get money and weapons, but also to try to make the police look silly and undermine the image of Uruguay's constituted authorities.

★ ★ ★

Such raids also serve to train new recruits—many of them from among university students, bank clerks, utility workers and, occasionally, disgruntled farmhands.

Chief Inspector Alejandro Otero, head of Uruguayan police intelligence, singles out an Argentine of Irish descent named Jose Baxter as one of the original founders of the movement. He says Baxter visited Cuba, Red China and North Vietnam before coming to Uruguay with a few followers.

He joined Raul Sendic, a Socialist party leader who had organized impoverished sugar cane workers.

★ ★ ★

Baxter twice closely escaped falling into a police net and left the country. One of his men, Jose Luis Neil Tacchi, was caught and is serving time. Sendic is on the wanted list.

The Chilean magazine indicats the Tupamaros are in no hurry to escalate their activities. It quotes a member as saying of Uruguay: "The country is broke and a capitalist development plan to increase production of exportable goods, if that can be applied, will give only meager results after several years.

★ ★ ★

"That means we have several years before us. . ."

STEPPED UP

The United States has stepped up an unpublicized aid program to help Uruguayan authorities cope both with Tupamaros and street riots.

★ ★ ★

Despite that, Uruguay's police remain an underpaid and under-equipped force. For example, Otero is married, has two children and, after 15 years on the force, earns $78 a month. That is less than some office boys make.

★ ★ ★

So Otero moonlights by officiating at international soccer matches—at $200 a game.

NICKNAMED THE "TIN GOOSE," FORD'S TRI-MOTOR PLANES PROVED THE FEASIBILITY OF ALL METAL, MULTI-ENGINE AIRCRAFT AND USHERED IN THE AGE OF SAFE, DEPENDABLE AIRLINE PASSENGER SERVICE.

THE TIN GOOSE

DESIGNED BY WILLIAM STOUT, THE TIN GOOSE EVOLVED FROM EARLIER STOUT AIRCRAFT PLANS AFTER MANY REVISIONS AND MODIFICATIONS. THE FIRST TIN GOOSE FLEW IN NOVEMBER, 1925. FURTHER ALTERATIONS WERE NEEDED, BUT A FIRE DESTROYED THE PLANE IN IT'S HANGAR. THEN THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY BUILT A NEW PLANT, EQUIPPED WITH THE MODERN TOOLS NEEDED TO PRODUCE MULTI-ENGINE AIRCRAFT. IN JUNE, 1926 THE FIRST FORD TRI-MOTOR WAS FLOWN. MORE MODIFICATIONS WERE MADE, BUT THE BASIC DESIGN DIDN'T CHANGE, AND FORD TRI-MOTORS BECAME THE NUMBER ONE AIRCRAFT ON AMERICA'S FLEDGLING AIRLINES.

IN JANUARY 1933 THE LAST FORD TRI-MOTOR WAS PRODUCED OVER 190 WERE MADE IN DEARBORN, MICHIGAN. THE DEPRESSION AND COSTLY NEW DESIGN CHANGES BROUGHT AN END TO FORD'S AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY. BUT THE TIN GOOSE WAS TOO TOUGH TO FADE; OVER HALF-A-DOZEN TRI-MOTORS ARE STILL FLYING. AND, AN UP-DATED VERSION OF STOUT'S DESIGN IS BEING BUILT AGAIN, IN CALIFORNIA.

But 'Rebecca' Author Won't Be Moving Far

Writer Leaving Place She Immortalized

PAR, England, (AP) — Daphne du Maurier is leaving her old graystone mansion Menabilly, the house she immortalized in "Rebecca."

"It is rather like death to have to leave a place that has been home for me and my family for a quarter of a century," the 61-year-old novelist says.

★ ★ ★

Cromwell's troops gutted the house during England's civil war in the 1600s and bricked up a cavalier in one of its buttresses. It was rebuilt during the reign of Queen Anne in the early 1700s and now it stands amid wild cherry and rhododendrons with a milky sea mist creeping up to it from Cornwall's southern coast.

Miss Du Maurier vowed that she would one day live in the house after seeing it at dawn when still a girl.

RENTED IT

"I finally rented it in 1943, five years after writing 'Rebecca,' but the landlord never wanted to sell it and now his second cousin wants to move in," she said.

She will not move far away. Her next home, Kilmarth, looks out over Cornwall cliffs to the sea.

★ ★ ★

She is now engaged in the task of gathering together all the family treasures to move there.

"I have the mementos of three families, really—my own, those of my children and my husband's," she said.

DIED IN 1965

Her husband, Lt. Gen. Sir Frederick Browning, died in 1965. During World War II he commanded airborne forces and was chief of staff to Lord Mountbatten when he was supreme Allied commander in Southeast Asia.

Since he died, Miss Du Maurier has lived alone at Menabilly—"but my three children and all my grandchildren come and visit me often."

★ ★ ★

She has just finished a novel called "The House on the Strand" which features her new home, Kilmarth. "The foundations of the house were laid in 1327 and this really set my imagination working," she said.

What about women writers today?

"Perhaps it may sound like sour grapes in a woman of my age but I do get bored with all this sleeping around they seem to write about all the time," she said. "I think there are far more interesting things in the world."

Ankara Chief Talks Turkey About His Nation's Troubles

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — "Turkey may not yet be ready for the Old Sick Man of Europe label again," one Western diplomat said wryly, "but he could be about to knock at the clinic door."

Suleyman Demirel, the energetic pro-Western prime minister, acknowledges that Turkey has its troubles, but he is cautiously optimistic about his country's future.

* * *

"I'm not saying everything is wonderful," he said, "but we have done some valuable things."

Activists from left and right already have fought it out in several Turkish cities this year. A battle in Istanbul's Taksim Square Feb. 16 claimed two killed and scores injured.

MORE CLASHES SEEN

With elections set for October, more clashes between the bitter factions are expected.

* * *

Since the 1960 army revolution that ousted the late Prime Minister Adnan Menderes and his corruption-tainted regime, Turkey has been tasting more of the fruits of democracy, such as freedom of the press and speech and the right to strike.

* * *

While the Communist party is outlawed, the tiny but vociferous Marxist-oriented Turkish Labor party and others more extreme have become increasingly active.

Their main theme is anti-American, anti-NATO and against the U.S. 6th Fleet. Even some middle-of-the-roaders like the theme. The leftist explosion has also stirred rumblings from Turkey's extreme right, supported by the religious Moslem peasantry. One peasant-based splinter party has formed anti-Communist youth commando squads which have met head-on with leftist students.

ON THE SPOT

This has put Demirel on the spot. As Menderes' spiritual heirs, his Justice party came to power in 1965 with overwhelming conservative support. If he clamps down on the strident left he will be accused of being autocratic or worse. If he hits out at the right his own supporters will complain.

His administration has introduced legislation that already has started a nationwide furor.

* * *

The bill stipulates punishment for Fascists, Communists, anarchists and those wishing to establish a theocracy. It provides prison terms for journalists who make "antidemocratic" propaganda and for workers and others staging sit-ins.

* * *

The leftists claim the bill is aimed at them and not the right. One critic, a professor of constitutional law, charges the bill would set up a police state.

'LAW BADLY NEEDED'

Asked about the proposal, Demirel said courts will prevent it from going into effect if it proves unconstitutional But he added the law was badly needed "for the security of the state."

* * *

Demirel blames the leftist outcry on a small group of people, and adds: "No one has the right to divide the people. . . to divide the national unity."

* * *

Parliamentary debate on the bill is certain to stir more press and student criticism. An overreaction by the government against these two segments of society could lead to disaster. Five years after he took office, Menderes imposed harsh measures to regulate the press. This was the first step down a path that led to student violence and the subsequent army take-over five years later.

* * *

The army has been content to remain on the sidelines during the Demirel regime. It would take considerable violence or repression before it intervened in civilian rule, qualified Western observers predict.

ECONOMY BLEAK

The economic picture is bleak. Foreign reserves, about $18 million, are the lowest in history, covering less than a month's imports.

Economists say Turkey must restrain imports while pushing export earnings, something easier said than done. Most imports are earmarked for capital equipment, and any restriction of these slows industrial growth.

* * *

The over-all cost of living is rising about 4 to 5 per cent annually, not bad for a developing country. But in Istanbul, the largest city and a center of leftist sentiment, it is rising above 11 per cent.

* * *

Some economists believe the lira will either be devalued or a multiple rate instituted—but after the fall elections. Demirel says no.

U.S. AID PLUNGES

In the last two decades Turkey received $5 billion in U.S. economc and military aid. Last year economic aid dropped from $134 million to $60 million. It's expected to plunge to about $40 million next fiscal year. Figures on current military aid are secret. If aid fails to "meet our expectations, yes, definitely, we can have trouble," Demirel says.

However, the economy has its plus points, the 43-year-old prime minister points out, proudly unrolling facts and figures from memory.

* * *

The announced growth rate has averaged about 7.6 per cent in the past three years, although opposition critics claim it is less. Turkey is into its second five-year development plan, with a number of ambitious projects in the works, such as the intercontinental bridge across the Bosporus Strait.

Tourist revenue hit $25 million, and foreign earnings from Turkish workers abroad were $106 million last year. In the last five years, bank deposits rose from about $1 billion to $2.3 billion.

"That shows the confidence of the people in the government," Demirel says.

Cardin fashions plastic wear for men. A group of Pierre Cardin's "Plastic Boy" models run down a Paris street as the famous French couturier unveils his plastic fashions for men inspired by space-men's wearing apparel.

Designer's Line Throws a Curve

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Cardin is a dressmaker who also makes men's clothes and sometimes it looks like he gets mixed up.

For example: at Cardin's 1969-1970 fashion show for men, the lead-off piece in the collection was a jumper.

The model sported a plaid sleeveless jumper over a white turtleneck sweater.

The skirt fell just below the model's hips. Black vinyl boots — just like the secretaries wear — covered his legs up to the skirt hem.

DIFFERENT BALL GAME

Not exactly the thing for the ball park. But it got a lot of applause, especially from a New York buyer who said over and over, "How darling!"

Then there were fur coats and more shiny black and red vinyl boots that the dressmaker said were "gaining in popularity."

Cardin also had a batch of vinyl rain-coats with zippers running a little bit off center. And boots.

The rest by comparison was pretty straight. Bright plaid suits with pinched in waists and long double vents and a lot of turtleneck sweaters and fluffy silk handkerchiefs.

* * *

As the dressmaker said about his trade: "Here is creation in a pure state, without influence from the past, whose limits would be a sign of decadence."

Actress Teaches and Lectures on Speech and Conversation

A theatrical career that reached its zenith with a supporting soprano role in the original Broadway production of "The King and I," has taken a new twist.

Dorothy Sarnoff (no relation to David) has abondoned the musical stage, yet is using the basic techniques learned for that art in a second career, as lecturer and teacher in speech and the conversational art.

* * *

In her appearance Wednesday at Rochester Town Hall, Miss Sarnoff employed her imitative talent in an amusing rundown of the 10 major vocal sins (ascribed principally to women).

Naming nasality as the chief female irritant, she gave almost equal time to the shriller, whisperer, monotone, pause-and-stutter, "you know" sprinkler, etc.

Miss Sarnoff asserts that bad speech habits can be eliminated through correct breathing and use of the vocal equipment.

She operates a school in New York City teaching classes of executives and others anxious to improve their social or business relationships.

TALK, NOT WAR

"Don't just talk — say something," summed up her points to those who seek success as conversationalists. "Our future will be settled by war or through talk," she said. "Let's have it by talk."

In private life, Mrs. Milton H. Raymond is a graduate of Cornell University with a BA degree in public speaking and languages. She is completing a book on "speech cosmetics" as she calls it, which will be published soon by Doubleday.

To her audience in the Hills Theatre, she imparted this advice on stair-climbing: "take the upward climb in one long, controlled, exhalation of breath." This is guaranteed to eliminate the panting, weak-kneed exhaustion of the post-40s.

* * *

In the question-and-answer session following lunch at the Rochester Elks' Lodge, Miss Sarnoff confided that her husband, an advertising man turn stockbroker, speaks "puah New Yawk-ese."

Gift Sent Now Is Better Than Nothing at All

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a very dear high school friend that I have not seen since three years ago. Due to ill health I was unable to attend her wedding out of town. I asked for her address and said I had a gift — still more sickness came and my gift was never sent. She now has a child of her own, and even though I still have her address, I am ashamed and embarrassed to send her gift even at this late date. Could you please tell me how to go about this, and what to say? — Mrs. J. R.

* * *

Dear Mrs. R.: There is an old Colombian saying which tells us, "The worst thing is to do nothing." The answer to your question is really very easy. Buy your friend a wedding present and send it to her with a letter that shows the same appreciation of her as shows in your question. Don't dwell on what you didn't do. Concentrate instead on making what you are doing now as friendly and as welcome as possible.

TABLECLOTH

Dear Mrs. Post: Our dining area is part of our living room. Is it all right to keep a tablecloth on when not using the table for dining? — Mrs. Donald

* * *

Dear Mrs. Donald: Put your tablecloth on the table before each meal if you wish, but remove it afterwards so that your living room regains its own character and no longer looks like a dining room.

His Mother-in-Law Trouble Stems From Lots of Love

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've got mother-in-law trouble — but not the kind you usually hear about.

I am 33 and my mother-in-law is 45, and a real swinging divorcee. She's the kissy type, always kissing me hello and good-by, even when I'm only going into the next room.

If I sit down, Maureen (that's her name) is on my lap in two seconds. She's always wanting me to dance with her, and when she cuddles up, her instincts are anything but maternal.

My wife doesn't even notice, and thinks it's great that her mother likes me so much. Abby, it's gotten so I dread being left alone with Maureen. How can I chill her without making an issue of it?

A SON-IN-LAW

DEAR SON-IN-LAW: First start calling her "Mother" instead of Maureen. Then tell her you don't feel like dancing, and she's too heavy to hold on your lap. If she's still in your hair, you must be doing something wrong. I've yet to meet a 33-year-old man who couldn't run faster than his mother-in-law.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have never told my troubles to anyone before, but I think it would help me to unburden myself. I have been married for 42 years and have three wonderful married children. This is my complaint: My hubby has retired and he stays home all the time now.

He is forever changing everything around in my household, and I am going crazy trying to find things. If I say anything to him about it, well, Abby, you never heard such foul language. Then he will get angry at me and won't speak to me for days. I don't mind that, but he slams doors and pulls out drawers until I think I will lose my mind.

I am a nervous wreck. I have always looked forward to growing old gracefully, not being frightened to death by a raving maniac. What can I do?

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Your husband sounds like a sick man. Tell your story to one of your three wonderful married children and ask them to help you get their father to a doctor for a check up. It's not unusual for a retired man to make his presence felt around the house, but your man is overdoing it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for "WEAK TUMMY" who gets "sick" to her stomach at the thought of eating at a relative's house where the dishes are washed in the same sink the baby is bathed.

I am 13, and I still remember taking baths in the kitchen sink. It was great fun! I want to add that my mother is probably the cleanest woman alive.

ANDREE

* * *

DEAR ABBY: When our twins arrived, shortly after World War II, the only place we could find to rent was a three-room apartment with a shower — no tub. Luckily we had a double sink in the kitchen, and that's where I bathed the babies for a year. (I fastened one on the drainboard by her diaper while I bathed the other one.)

STILL HEALTHY

* * *

DEAR ABBY: One of your readers finally got around to my pet peeve. Non-drivers.

Ever since I got my driver's license when I turned 16, I have been hounded by these pests who bum rides. It costs a lot of money to own and maintain a dependable automobile, but these free-loaders never think of putting in a gallon of gas, paying a toll charge, or putting a coin in a parking meter.

If they had to pay their friends for door-to-door service like they pay a taxi driver, they'd appreciate it more. Half the time they slam your door and don't even say, "Thank you."

I think people who don't drive and don't want to pay for transportation should stay home.

DISGUSTED

* * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Friday's Concert Highlights Choir in Sacred Music

The Winston-Salem State College Choir will appear in concert Friday at 8 p.m. at Central United Methodist Church on Highland Road. James A. Dillard will conduct the program of sacred music.

Tickets may be obtained through James Foster of 250 South Johnson Street, at the church office or at the door.

The all-Negro college choir is on its annual spring tour. Its appearance here is sponsored by the worship committee of Central United Methodist Church.

* * *

The Birmingham Musicale String Ensemble, under the direction of Rev. Charles Sacquety, will present a program for organ, trumpet and soprano soloist at St. Paul's Cathedral on Woodward Avenue Sunday at 4 p.m.

Elwin Davies, organist, Robert Auld, trumpet and Mrs. Robert F. Killeen are the performers.

Film Demonstration Part of Art Program

Local artist Julia E. Rogers will present a program at the Pontiac Creative Arts Center tonight on "Hyplar Sculpture and Mache."

This will include a film in which California artists Richard A. Byrnes and Elisabeth Sayko will demonstrate their techniques in both mache and acrylic polymer materials.

A staff member of the arts center, Mrs. Rogers taught life drawing at Cranbrook, has exhibited in many Pontiac Society of Artists' shows and has won awards in other shows. She has taught arts and crafts at PCAC.

Admission is free. The program begins at 7:30 p.m.

Aim on College Campus Is Suicide Prevention

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — On some campuses students run "panic centers" during examination periods.

For worried students, there are refreshments, games or consultation.

Suicide prevention is one aim. About 1,000 college youths out of 2.6 million kill themselves annually. Authorities estimate an additional 9,000 try and about 90,000 threaten.

ENCOURAGED TO LOOK

Dr. Edwin Shneidman figures students should be encouraged to look at suicide prevention as they do fire prevention. He is chief of the Center for Studies of Suicide Prevention at the National Institute of Mental Health NIMH.

In detecting suicidal tendencies, according to the expert, "the word is 'change' — if a boyfriend, girlfriend or roommate displays a change in behavior or attitude, you ought to take a second look."

* * *

He spoke at a student suicide conference, sponsored by the National Student Association.

One conferee, Dr. Richard H. Seiden, said his study of suicides at the University of California found these marks of students who killed themselves:

DOUBTED ADEQUACY

Better-than-average, doubted their own adequacy, were dissatisfied with grades, and despondent over their general academic aptitude.

They get uptight by setting "Olympian" standards, often impossible to meet.

His studies showed students most likely to commit suicide are in fields that require deep sensitivity — say literature and language. At Berkeley, English majors led the suicide list.

Some suicides are what authorities call the social isolate. Such was the student not missed until his body was found in his room more than two weeks after he killed himself.

* * *

There were no friends to check up on him.

At the University of Texas in Austin students who feel they need help call the Emotional Crisis Center. During 22 months the center received 13,000 calls for help, intervened in 15 suicide attempts.

Southern Colorado State College has a program called "help anonymous." At the University of Southern Florida in Tampa a dormitory satellite mental health unit helps despondent students.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

How good a listener are you? If you really listen to others, you are a rare blessing and are probably cherished by all who know you. You listen not only with your ears but with your mind and heart.

Your ears hear the words of others, your mind holds onto them, and your heart interprets them, and your heart interprets perception.

The average person sits on the edge of his mental chair, waiting to grab the conversation almost before the other person's last word has faded from his vocal chords. He knows vaguely what you have said but is much more interested in what he is going to say. It is enough to jar the speaker's vocal chords and to discourage him from ever trying again to add his bit to the conversation.

There are two kinds of nonlisteners. First is the one I have just described. Then there is the one who really doesn't want to say anything, but who nevertheless is not listening. She or he is even worse than the one who hears a little of what you are saying but wants to talk.

This latter type does not hear anything you say. She or he is wool-gathering. (May I stop this "he or she" business? I am not partial to either sex. We are all guilty at times.)

STORY TELLER

Anyway it seems to me that even the veteran story teller, or the most fascinating conversationist, might be somewhat dismayed when looking into the eyes of these two types of nonlisteners. The first has an avid eager gleam in his eyes, just waiting to pounce. The second has a vague, far-away, nonfocusing (at least not on you) look.

We miss a lot when we do not really listen. We pass by the opportunity to compliment others with our undivided attention. We miss much ourselves because everyone has something worthwhile to contribute. We miss a great deal of interesting information and many new facts, lost of inspiration, human interest, and humor.

WONDERFUL LISTENING

There are many wonderful things to listen to beside people. There is the sound of a gentle rain on the roof, of waves beating on the beach and the soothing song of a bubbling brook. There is the whisper of a breeze through the trees, whether they are pine, palm or oak, and the roar of a lake when ice becomes too deep for its comfort.

★ ★ ★

There is the furious noise of a hurricane and there are the small sounds the many little creatures make on a still evening or in the early morning. There is the song of the bird and the endless chorus of nature all about us. If we listen, we can even hear the complete and utter silence which follows a heavy snow.

We miss a lot if we do not listen!

It's Perversity of Life That Deals the Blows

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — "What fates impose, that men must needs abide; it boots not to resist both wind and tide."

These are the lofty words of Shakespeare and I'm sure he didn't have any idea of applying them, ever, to matters that go on in the everyday lives of us.

What vagaries of fate, for instance, assure that if you wash the windows of the house, it will rain within hours? Or wash the car? A downpour.

I find if I'm going to have my hair done, it is raining by the time I come out of the beauty salon. Leave the umbrella at home, although the weatherman has cautioned of possible showers, and the weatherman will be right. Carry the umbrella and the sun shines brightly all day.

NO WOOD

Run out of firewood temporarily and you get a blizzard. We did in New York recently — 15 inches and more of snow on a Sunday when a cozy fire in the living room would have made easier facing the impossible city the next day.

Get in a new supply of firewood and the thaw sets in. Take the fur coat for some much needed repairs, and it runs cold again.

★ ★ ★

Decide not to replenish some food staple that hasn't been moving well and the whole family suddenly gets a craving for it — usually after the market has closed.

Drop a slice of buttered bread and it lands butter-side down.

Drop any small object — button, spool of thread, coin — and it rolls instantly under the dresser instead of coming to rest within easy reach. The power of inanimate objects!

YOU CAN'T WIN

What caprice causes a favorite dress you'd planned to wear for a special occasion be at the cleaners still? Or, the hem to fall out of a dress just as you're into it, already late for work?

Sometimes I think only sinister elves occupy my closet.

I presume these forces of fate are at work, too, when a bus pulls out just as I arrive at the bus stop; that make catching taxis easy for other people on rainy days while I stand, dripping and ignored; that turns a special meal prepared to perfection "for practice" when served the family and is pure catastrophe when served to company.

Lady Sleuths Track Lost Cargo

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A new breed of sleuths is playing a big role in the air freight business for the Flying Tiger Line (FTL).

FTL, the world's largest all-cargo line, has been hiring bright young ladies as "detectives" to track down shipments which become lost.

★ ★ ★

Bill Nichols, the airline's customer service supervisor, tells the story of a particularly puzzling case solved by Terry Horton, one of the new "customers representatives."

A shipment of five yellow and black cobras arrived from its overseas origin with only four of the snakes in the wire crate. "We fine-combed the warehouse, but couldn't find the fifth," he recalls.

Miss Horton played a hunch. She called the local acadamy of sciences and asked a question.

"Sure," the scientist answered. "If cobras get hungry enough they may turn cannibal."

POOR PACKAGING

The airline advised the sender the cobra shipment was improperly packed. Each one should have been in a separate cage.

Lorraine Eagle, working at the Detroit office, says she used to "climb aboard the plane myself" to look for misplaced packages. Her toughest problem was to locate a couple of 15-foot aluminum tubes that were supposed to go to Scotland.

After teletype messages around the world, and searches through many warehouses, the pipes were found aboard a plane where they had been flying around because everyone thought they were part of the aircraft instead of cargo.

Bus Driving Their Trade

MOORESVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Driving a school bus for 25 hours a week comes naturally to Mrs. Maurice Smith, since she comes from a family that has pursued that occupation for many years.

Her grandfather, Vance Keller, hauled children to school in a horse-drawn wagon and later operated one of the first motor buses for Mooresville schools.

★ ★ ★

Her father, Lee Copeland, also drove school buses, as did her mother, brother and an uncle. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul Smith, is now also a driver for the area system.

'Home Insecurity to Blame for Rebelliousness of Youth

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The inadequacies of the home cannot be compensated for in the classroom.

So says Dr. William Kottmeyer, superintendent of St. Louis public schools.

★ ★ ★

"Many of our youngsters are rebellious because they do not have the security and control of a stable home," Kottmeyer said, in an open letter to parents.

"The influence of the churches on young people seems to be growing weaker. Society appears to expect the schools alone to bear the responsibility of preparing children to live securely in tomorrow's uncertain world."

★ ★ ★

Kottmeyer went on, "Parents have always overestimated the effect the schools have on the training and education of children. From birth through high school a youngster with perfect school attendance spends about thirteen per cent of his waking hours in school."

"If the teachers have only that much time to teach, does it not seem reasonable that they be given a chance to do so?" he asked.

Kottmeyer said, "When the objectives and purposes of the home are different from those of school, there will be little learning done in the school."

"The teachers need your help and support with your children to a greater degree than they ever have before," he said.

★ ★ ★

"If you are giving it fully, your children have a good chance to become honorable and respected citizens."

"If you are not," Kottmeyer said, "the schools will rarely achieve that goal unaided."

The Greeks Had a Word for It---Madness!

What is believed to be the youngest group of travelers on a sponsored tour is today in Athens, Greece, champing at the bit to visit places with such exotic names (but to them familiar) as Glyfada, Daphni, Nafpaktos, Trikala, Thermopilai and Heraklion.

This is a group of 13 sixth graders at Brookside School Cranbrook and two eighth graders from Kingswood. Each has had a year of Greek under tutelage of Mrs. Susan Rice, tour conductor.

DEN MOTHERS

Completing the travelers as "den-mothers" are Mrs. Richard A. LaFever, mother of two of the contingent and a third grade teacher at Midvale School, and Mrs. Harvey Thomson, long-time friend of Mrs. Rice and a children's librarian in Cleveland.

Mrs. Rice has been considering taking a group to Greece for several years and finally got up the courage to tackle it — "I've never taken a group any place before".

Did she encounter any difficulties in making plans?

"Difficulties?" she literally paled. "I tried seven different travel agencies. Each turned me down because they had never before handled a group this young. I got mad and planned the entire itinerary and did all the bookings myself.

"Then it came to getting travelers' checks. I talked to at least three people and finally one lady said 'well, I don't know, but we have a man who's been here for 28 years and if doesn't know no one does'.

"So I got that man and his response was that he'd never heard of such a young group but if they could sign their names it was all right with him."

* * *

How have the parents reacted?

"Just fine, very enthusiastic and helpful. But I did enjoy one in particular who informed me that next spring she was going to get the biggest house she could find, have me stay with all the kids and she and her husband were going to Greece."

The group enplaned Wednesday and arrived in Athens today. The sight-seeing there included the House of Parliament, the Parthenon and the Temple of Posseidon, to Nauplia, Olympia, Delphi, Kalambaka and back to Athens. This will be followed by a seven-day cruise of the Greek islands, sprinkled with stops at Heraklion, Rhodes, Ephessos, Istanbul, Delos and Mykonos, the Capri of the Aegean.

* * *

Back to Athens and they fly home, arriving the day before school resumes following spring vacation.

Mrs. Rice hopes to make this a semi-annual junket but —. She takes a deep breath and:

"But I'll have to make that decision after we return."

Special Care for Lank Hair

If your hair is droopy and limp and loses is set almost immediately, it probably lacks body. Here are some ways to combat the "droopies:"

Wind rollers smoothly and firmly and fasten them properly; try using a slightly smaller size roller; use a setting lotion made for hard-to-hold hair; use just enough hair spray to hold your hair without dampening it.

Polly's Pointers

Solves Cat Problem

DEAR POLLY — When our first baby was born, we had two cats. They posed a problem. I did not want the cats in baby's room but still needed to have the door open so I could hear her, especially at night, and so I could just peek in to see if she was all right.

We hit on the idea of a type of screen door. My husband made a frame of narrow strips of wood and attached screening to it, then put on a screen door hook. No more worries about the cats getting into baby's room. — MRS. J. H.

POLLY'S PROBLEMS

DEAR POLLY — My son in the Navy has so much trouble to keep iron rust off his white uniforms. These must be kept spotless. Does someone know of a sure iron rust-remover? There are many boys on ships at sea who would like this help. — HAZEL

DEAR POLLY — Waxed paper and foil tubes make good storage tubes for large pictures or important papers or documents that you do not want to fold or crease. Just roll the item, slip inside the tube, label the outside with crayon and store in a drawer.

Corners stay neat and straight and each open end could be covered with tape for extra protection. — VELMA

* * *

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. E. F. M. wanted to know where to store extra table leaves. I want to tell her that I made two braces or racks of one-inch-wide aluminum strips. These are just wide enough to hold the extra leaves. They are shaped to fit around the width of each leaf and fastened to the underside of the table, one for each end of a leaf. I slip my boards in these braces, where they are handy and cannot be seen.

* * *

(Polly's note — To do this, the table would have to have an "apron" around the edges or the stored leaves could be seen. Exercise great care installing so the screws or nails do not come through to the top.) — MRS. M. M. G.

Woodshop Class Has One Femme

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Ann Ahlquist, a sophomore at Jacksonville High School, is the only girl taking the woodshop class, along with electronics and drafting, but that doesn't deter her from her goal of becoming a shop teacher.

* * *

She has been building things for years, one of her first construction jobs being a clubhouse she built when she was in the fifth grade. When she becomes a shop teacher herself, she said, she would like to see a lot of girls in the class.

Ex-Priest Sets Wedding Date

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The wedding of Msgr. Giovanni Musante, a member of the papal household who quit the priesthood, and his fiancee, Giovanna Carlevaro, will take place next Tuesday in a little village near Rome.

Vatican sources reporting this today said Msgr. Musante and his finacee, a 38-year-old widow, signed the documents for the wedding Monday.

The sources said that the wedding would be held at the parish church of Santa Maria at Rupe of Castel Sant' Elia, a village about 20 miles north of Rome.

Computer Seen to Be Household Appliance

EAST LANSING — The computer is destined to become one of the most helpful household appliances of the future, according to Farm Magainze's home editor for electricity.

Speaking today at Farmers' Week '69 on the Michigan State University campus, Marcia Powell told homemakers that the computer will free them of time-consuming chores so they can spend more time enriching their lives and the lives of their families.

★ ★ ★

"Computers will be just another tool for future homemakers," she said.

Included in Miss Powell's predictions of what the future home might be like, were plans of household appliance designers and manufacturers.

"(The future) home will become a visual and tactile 'experience' in a way that it never has been before," she said. "What appears to be abstract will actually be functional; fulfilling sensual and psychological needs."

She revealed that at least one designer envisions a futuristic home of molded plastic. It would be opaque from the outside, translucent or transparent from the inside, and would permit unlimited access to outdoor light.

MOLDED UNITS

"A house could be three living units clustered around a common terrace," she explained. "There would be no rooms, as such. Instead areas could be defined by units molded from computer components. The family could have more privacy merely by moving the units."

Food preparation will also be systematized in the space age kitchen. Packaged and condensed foods will be ordered from a central supply area once a week. By using a home television screen and panel selector to order, a homemaker will be able to have her order filled immediately.

Since all utensils will be disposable, dishwashers will be eliminated.

While such a home is still relatively far in the future, Miss Powell related some more immediate possibilities:

● Island units containing kitchen basics such as cooking top and refrigerator that are accessible from both sides. All appliances, including freezer, oven and broiler units would be off the floor at the most convenient height for the individual, attached to bold columns.

● A cubic kitchen containing "mini-modular" appliances that would allow the same freedom of arrangement as in today's kitchens. Wall units could drop down when needed, then fold away when not in use.

● An overhead freezer, refrigerator and oven front with two-way mirrors that become see-through doors when a switch is flicked.

● A thermoelectric refrigerator to keep foods chilled until time to cook. A switch could turn the same appliance into an oven.

★ ★ ★

● Decorative panels that would slide down from the ceiling to hide appliances and work areas from the rest of the kitchen.

Other developments are possible in space age homes, Miss Powell noted:

● Elevator closets that rise to the attic. By pressing a button, last season's wardrobe would be automatically self-stored and cleaned for next use.

● Dry cleaning and laundry equipment in the bedroom and bath areas. An electronic clothing conditioner would clean and deordorize. Chemically and electronically turn itself off.

● Entrance ways may contain sonic cleaners to remove dust from garments and vibrating floor grills will remove dirt from shoes. Self-cleaning floors will have valves to suck in and dispose of dirt.

"It all sounds a bit like science fiction, but products in use right now sounded like that just a few years ago," Miss Powell reminded. Microwave cooking and electronic ovens are already in operation in some homes. Foods first developed in the space program are in the corner supermarket — dehydrated vitamin C beverages, freeze-dried instant coffee and dehydrated breakfast that becomes a meal with the addition of milk.

★ ★ ★

"Many people fear loss of identity with increased use of computers," Miss Powell said. "However, properly used, computers can add new dimensions to our lives. The computer extends man's learning and understanding. Unlike so many other machines that help man solve problems with his muscles, the computer helps man solve problems with his mind.

How Much Tooth Surface Is Attractive?

BY DR. HOWARD E. KESSLER

Women often ask dentists various questions about lip line appearance or beauty, and many are sent to this column.

KESSLER

When constructing and placing an upper denture, how much tooth surface should be showing below the upper lip line? To what extent should the denture material support the upper lip?

What is considered to be an attractive tooth-surface-lip-line relationship? These are some of the questions many modern women ask.

Before discussing these, I must emphasize that we can only speak in generalities because individual conditions always dictate as to what or how much can be done. Often the particular shape and structure of a woman's head and face will not permit the teeth to be set just as she would like to have them.

During the last century, it seemed to be proper for women to show as little mouth and tooth structure as possible. With the wide use of lipstick during our times, however, women's mouths seem now to be more prominent than ever before.

When lipstick was first used in this country, it was to merely color the lips. Now it is often used to paint on an almost-entire new mouth on the woman's face.

OLDER

A tight, turned-in lip nowadays is considered very unattractive. It makes a woman look much older.

Upper dentures which no longer fit and are permitted to settle excessively often let the lip turn under so much that the woman has difficulty putting on her lipstick. New dentures usually correct this bitten-in lip and restore its proper support.

When you look at pictures of professional models, you will notice that they usually show a good deal of tooth surface through their "lip break".

In general, girls should show more exposed tooth surface than men because their upper lip tends to be a little shorter. A lip break composed of a slightly pouting upper lip and a little droop of the lower lip showing considerable tooth structure is considered very attractive today. A classical example of this type of mouth beauty was the late Marilyn Monroe.

One young actress appearing in a recent hit motion picture has a lip break which shows almost her entire front tooth surface.

If this were about 40 years ago, she would have been referred to as "all teeth".

Aim to Cut Refrigerator Deaths

CHICAGO — Members of the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers have launched a consumer education program aimed at curtailing child death by entrapment in abandoned or stored refrigerators and freezers by distributing an entrapment prevention booklet in each new refrigerator and freezer.

Radio and television public service announcements, newspaper releases, and an educational program for elementary schools will also be used in the many-faceted program along with the cooperation of appliance distributors and dealers, government and private agencies, and utility and extension home economists in bringing the safety message to the public, according to AHAM.

* * *

The booklet, entitled "Your Child Trusts You. . . ." stresses not only the role of the concerned parent but also that of any adult who is discarding or storing a refrigerator or freezer.

Four simple methods of making safe a refrigerator or freezer that is to be stored and used again are described and illustrated, as well as the procedure to follow when discarding refrigeration equipment.

The booklet also emphasizes the parent's obligation to explain to the child the danger inherent in playing in or around an abandoned refrigerator or freezer.

COOPERATIVE

The program was developed by AHAM's Refrigerator-Freezer Executive Board, whose member representatives manufacture over 95 per cent of all domestic refrigerators and freezers. In approving the program, the manufacturers unanimously agreed to begin distributing the booklet with refrigerators and freezers manufacturerd after March 1, 1969.

* * *

AHAM consulted several governmental agencies in designing the program aimed at reducing the number of deaths, estimted at 20 to 30 per year by the U.S. Public Health Service, according to Peter Prussing, chairman of the executive board. The cooperation of private and governmental organizations and agencies will be important factors in the success of the program, he said. Entrapment prevention booklets are free upon request from AHAM, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60606.

Bride Wears Lace Gown

Antioch Baptist Church was the setting Saturday for vows uniting Gloria Monroe and Thurman Randolph in marriage.

★ ★ ★

For the evening ceremony, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace with long sleeves and matching detachable Watteau train. A bouffant French illusion veil completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Walter Noel and Johnny Bush were honor attendants for the couple who were feted at a reception in the YWCA.

★ ★ ★

Bridesmaids were Marvin Francis, Linda McIlwin, Ruby Noel and Loudora Randolph.

Melvin and Prince Randolph and Walter Noel Jr. ushered.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Essie Monroe of Raeburn Street and Mrs. Gussie M. Randolph of O'Riley Court and the late Mr. Randolph.

Right Makeup for Type of Skin

Choosing the right kind of make-up for your type of skin is easy if you follow some basic guidelines. For oily skin, a medicated liquid foundation, oil-absorbing pressed powder and brush-on cheek color are best.

★ ★ ★

Dry skin stays silky with moisturized cream or cake to light-textured matter foundation to light-textured matte foundation, with a translucent loose powder for shiny noses and cheeks.

★ ★ ★

Their children are Mrs. Bogner, William and Ralph Goff, Mrs. Otto Peschel, and Mrs. Leon Johnson. There are eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Color, Pattern, Width, Tie News

NEW YORK (AP) — Back in the days when women preened and men merely paid, ties were something a man got for Christmas, hung in the closet and routinely rotated — brown tie with brown suit, blue tie with blue suit, gray tie with gray suit.

Today, when men's fashions are often more amusing and more newsworthy than women's clothes, ties are carefully selected and even more carefully coordinated to new, brighter wardrobes.

Retail tie sales last year topped $500 million and Myron Ackerman, president of the Men's Tie Foundation Inc., predicts this year will be even better.

★ ★ ★

A survey taken by the foundation among retailers showed beyond a doubt that narrow, drab ties are a thing of the past. Some stores don't even stock them any more.

Sales of dark ties accounted for 38 per cent of all revenue in 1966, 33 per cent in 1967 and only 6½ per cent in 1968.

BRIGHTER OUTLOOK

In contrast, sales of medium-med neckwear went from 47 per cent in 1966 to a whopping 76 per cent in 1968. Bright ties took up 17½ per cent of the sales last year, contrasted with only 10 per cent in 1966.

Not only color, but pattern has changed drastically from the day when you could automatically tell what school a man went to by the tie he wore.

Stripes are still popular — they accounted for 70 per cent of sales in 1968 — but only when they zip across 3½ inch ties in light, bright shades of blue, green, brown and maroon.

All-over patterns, particularly geometric designs, have jumped in popularity. Circles, squares, triangles and diamonds in black and white, purple and green, orange and gray are available from designer tie manufacturers like John Weitz, Lanvin and Christian Dior.

Weitz has some of the wildest ties of all — including a new collection that features neckwear with an all over pattern of dollar signs, percentage signs or cent signs. They're available in color combinations like orange and green or maroon and yellow.

When it comes to width, the fashion is just about: the wider the better.

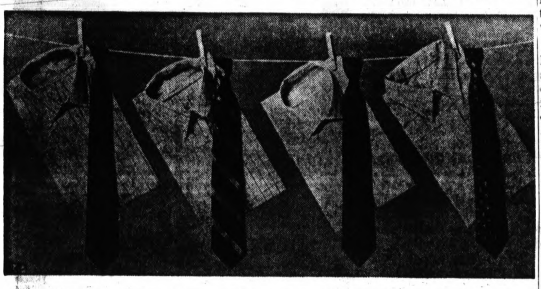
WIDER TOO

In 1966, ties of 2½ inches and less accounted for 81 per cent of sales. The same size ties took only 20 per cent of the business in 1968. The three-inch tie increased from seven per cent of sales in 1966 to 28 per cent in 1968 and the five-inch tie, virtually non-existent in 1966, took five per cent of the business last year.

Silk and polyester remained the two most popular tie fabrics, while acetate and rayon declined sharply.

Who's buying all these ties?

Both men and women. In fact, the women are buying more and more. In 1968 they bought 48 per cent of all ties sold — and those ties aren't just hanging in the closet any more.



Who's square?—No one who sports the squares, circles, triangles and diamonds—part of the over-all geometric designs currently leading the tie parade.

Bamboo Provides Motif for New Designs

Bamboo has no peer. It would be hard to find a design from as simple as bamboo which has so many diversified applications.

In furniture it can be used structurally as legs and posts or as a molding, applied for its decorative value. It can be delicate in scale or robust. It can have a dark finish or light. Or it can be just about any color.

The bamboo motif is also expressed in endless graphical ways. It is printed on paper and fabric, in small scale and bold. It is featured on everything from napkins to draperies. It is the subject of rug designs and wall hangings. Accessories and even silverware are distinguished by its unique and readily recognized shape.

Bamboo is also making its mark in the fashion world, as a printed fabric motif, and in jewelry, buttons and even tie-clasps for men.

Bamboo has great visual appeal and very few people can resist it. Yet most cannot explain the attraction with a simple answer. It is many things. It has warmth and decorativeness. tI pleases the eye. It is restful. As the eye passes along a post or rail enriched with bamboo turnings it tends to pause at the punctuation of the turning.

BAMBOO THROUGH THE CENTURIES

Another unique bamboo boast is the respect it has received over the centuries, across the continents. It's not surprising that it was first used for furniture in the Orient or that it soon found its way into the Western World. Nor is it surprising that it was applied to a range of styles in Italy, France and England, in one form or another, since the 17th century.

The current revival of bamboo is unique in itself. Although some of its use in furniture harkens to its former association with English styles, most of it is very individual and geared to modern living habits.

* * *

As handsome from the back as from the front, the decorative occasional chair shown is exceptionally comfortable as well — pulled up to a sofa to form a conversation group, as a desk chair or to make a luxurious foursome around a card table.

* * *

Hand-carved from solid mahogany, the antiqued honey-brown of the improted frame stands out richly against its upholstery of black antique taffeta — a fabric with the sleek look of horsehair, but softer and silkier to the hand.

No matter from what angle one views this chair—fore, aft, port or starboard—its frame, carved with bamboo motifs, strongly outlines the graceful horseshoe curves and emphasizes the exceptional beauty of its classic lines. Designs by Globe Furniture Company.

Lecturer's Remarks at Issue

Japan Calls Back Visitor to U.S.

TOKYO (UPI) — The visit to the United States of Gen. Minoru Genda, one of the men who planned and executed the attack on Pearl Harbor, has triggered a raging controversy in Japan.

Genda, 65, is a member of Japan's upper house and former chief of its air self-defense forces. The arguments center around what he has been saying during his lecture tour in the United States.

* * *

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's Liberal Democratic Party, produced angrily by the opposition parties, told Genda to come home.

Sato has promised Japanese lawmakers he will "sternly reprimand" Genda for telling an American audience that Japan might have used an atom bomb during World War II if it had had one.

OKINAWA N-BASES

Another thing that upset the Japanese opposition parties is that Genda had the temerity to state that he believes U.S. nuclear weapons on Okinawa are necessary for the maintenance of peace in the Far East.

This infuriated Japanese leftists, who want the United States to return Okinawa to Japan without nuclear weapons.

* * *

Sato told Diet members Genda's remark concerning the atom bomb was "extremely improper" but he said his fellow party member was speaking personally and not for the party or the government.

Shigeho Tanaka, the leader of the ruling party in the upper house, telephoned Genda, who still is in the United States. Genda told Tanaka he was sorry his personal views had embarrassed the government but added that they had been well-received in the United States.

HAWAII OCCUPATION?

There was one report that Genda told an American audience that Japan should have occupied Hawaii as an assault base during World War II. This was denied last Thursday by his American travel aide, J. W. Hurgronje of the U.S. Naval Institute, the organization that invited Genda to the United States for a 21-day lecture tour.

* * *

Hurgronje also said Genda was returning to Japan because his party "needs his presence to participate in the defense debate." His original schedule called for him to return Saturday.

* * *

The visit got off to an ominous start when several U.S. congressmen complained that the United States should not "honor" the man who masterminded the Pearl Harbor attack. Genda said before leaving Tokyo that he was unperturbed by the criticism.

* * *

Another statement attributed to Genda that was unpopular in Japan was that Japan should permit the United States to deploy nuclear weapons on the mainland in order to eliminate Okinawa's feeling that it is bearing a disproportionate burden in the defense of Japan.

How to buy a bedroom set

1. Be sure tops are solid core, not hollow. Listen for a solid sound when you tap. Sides must be wood, not masonite.
2. Check to see that legs are bolted on or are an integral part of the furniture. Legs that are merely screwed on permit case to shake when drawers are closed.
3. Open drawers and see that they are dovetailed front and rear. This means the wood is interlaced like fingers clasped. Drawers must have a center guide for smooth operation.
4. See that there is a dustproof shield between each drawer to keep contents dust-free and fresh.
5. Good mirrors are plate glass and, when mounted on dresser, must be held by steel supports.
6. If the set you choose does not have every item listed here, don't buy it!

Biafra Young Face 'Life-and-Death' Judgment

UMUELAGWA, Biafra, (AP) — The children come here nude, sitting or lying in the back of a truck, a piece of adhesive with their name taped on their forehead.

They are bewildered and ill, some with eyes that are drained of blood, some with stomachs swollen round as bowling balls.

* * *

Thirty or 40 of these children are brought each week to this way station on the road to a rehabilitation center in Libreville, Gabon.

Although only some are aware of it, this is the best of times for the children—they are getting out. It is the worst of times for the doctor who went within five miles of the Nigerian-Biafran war front last week and picked out those who will leave. He knows that many of the children he decided to leave behind will be dead the next time he comes through.

HARSH EXPERIENCE

There are Red Cross and Biafran doctors who have made the selection for weeks. But the French Red Cross physician who took the last group was doing the job for the first time. He has not quite gotten over it.

"It's not exactly being Dr. Mengele, the one who decided who would live and die at Auschwitz," said Dr. Jean Lharidon. "But there is room only for so many, and you look at them and you must think: Can this one survive a truck and plane trip? Is another in good enough condition to stay behind so that there will be a place for one who is slightly less well, but not dangerously fragile?

"It is not like ordinary treatment when you do your best. It is a responsibility that was not really meant for a man."

NO EMOTION

When the 48-year-old doctor went to the village of Umuoguamuzu, he was afraid there would be wrenching scenes with the children and their mothers.

But there was no emotion, just 100 children standing in three rows, some with their heads drooping from weakness. One child needed an immediate transfusion. Another's heart hammered at 200 beats a minute and was near collapse. Both were taken along for hospitalization rather than evacuation. Others whose condition was more serious could not be transported.

* * *

"So, you feel a terrible responsibility," said Lharidon. "You do your job, you can't waver. You must take a decision. I suppose after a while you feel bureaucratic about it and that's that. But it wasn't that way for me."

Lharidon, a man with a square face and a gray crew cut that gives him a tough, impatient look, sometimes speaks more angrily and more personally than his colleagues.

"How choosing those children affected me," he said. "There is only way I know how to fight it is to look for more work, to shout for more wards, more doctors. All this doesn't necessarily make you a popular man."

New School Drug Course Uses Multimedia Style

By United Press International

Suddenly you're a school superintendent confronted with evidence that the use of drugs is spreading in your junior and senior high schools. What are you going to do?

Have the police warn of the legal consequences?

* * *

Call in docotrs to tell horror stories of the ravages of drugs on mind and body?

Ask teachers and parents to moralize about drugs?

THREATS DON'T WORK

Chances are any of these approaches will turn off the students you are trying to keep from turning on. Threats of sermons rarely reach today's teen-agers.

As awareness of the magnitude of the drug problem grows, school officials in tree-lined suburbia as well as urban districts realize the dilemma they face. There is no proven effective way to communicate about drugs.

* * *

But there is a new approach that may hold promise. It uses the gaming and simulation technique that has had stunning success in motivating previously unteachable students to make decisions about drugs without threats or sermons.

Lockheed Missiles and Space Co. has developed a 15-hour course called "Drug Decision" that puts teen-agers in the role of crisis managers. In dazzling multimedia sound and color, they see, in effect, a drug disaster threatening their own community.

The student is given the facts he needs to know about the physiological and psychological effects of a variety of drugs, the nature of narcotics traffic and the probable results of the options open to him. The information does not come in lecture form. It is presented by actors and animation in multimedia motion pictures and slides projected similtaneously on three screens.

"We specifically are avoiding the emotional or 'preachy' approach to the narcotics problem," said Dr. Rudolph C. Flothow, Lockheed's manager of educational systems in Sunnyvale, Calif. "Research has convinced us such an approach may alienate students more than it informs them."

Actor Garners Plaudits for Political Parody

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK — In a broadway season studded with superactors, a newcomer is now earning cheers with some hi-fi mimicry.

He is Jay (for James) Garner, but don't mix him up with the hero of TV's "Maverick" and sundry cinemas. Each is 40, but Jay hails from Tennessee, the other from Oklahoma.

* * *

Since arriving at the Cort with the Theater Atlanta company in "Red, White and Maddox," a devastating political lampoon, Garner's availability for other assignments has been assiduously investigated by three major agencies.

* * *

"I'd like to stay; I make no bones about it," he expresses his change in attitude since last here 20 years ago as a six-month wonderkid who won a radio acting contest and $2,000.

'REPERTORY GREAT'

"I feel that in the last three years I've grown more as a performer than in all the preceding period. That's the great thing about repertory across the country today—you get to play all kinds of roles."

In recognition of the rave reviews accorded Garner, producer Edward Padula elevated his name to star rank above the play title shortly after the production opened.

In the satire at the Cort, Garner does a vocal and visual impersonation of Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox with a mixture of deadly detail and sympathetic understanding.

* * *

"I met him, strangely as things turned out, on my first day at a radio reporting job," he says, "and I thought then, 'This is a strange little man who has great charm.'"

Garner's first phonetic plagiarism took place only a year ago, when he enacted former President Johnson in Barbara Garson's lurid parody of classic orama and current events, "MacBird!"

46 SELLOUTS

The Theater Atlanta production clicked off 46 sellout performances in repertory display and made Garner a cinch choice when director Jay Broad planned the current caper.

"I've never had a voice lesson in my life," says Garner, "but voice people have all said that I have an excellent ear for picking up speech patterns and being able to reproduce them on a moment's notice."

* * *

The actor did a few modest acrobatics with his larynx while immersed from 1950 to 1966 in assorted assignments on radio and TV stations in Chattanooga and Atlanta.

"I guess the die was cast for me when I entered college," Garner says of his entertainment world career. School was the University of Tennessee at Knoxville where he helped support himself for two years by giving dance lessons.

UNCLE IN VAUDEVILLE

"I had a great uncle who was in vaudeville back in the days of blackface minstrel. He told my family it was a pretty good life, and my family had seen him when he was rolling in money, and they also would see him from time to time when he didn't have a penny.

"All they could remember were those bad times. I remember my mother and stepfather saying to me, 'No, no, don't go into show business because all we can remember is your Uncle Billy.'"

At the university, Garner got involved in theatricals and took a year to tour with Robert Porterfield's Barter theater troup out of Abingdon, Va.

He was hardly back at academic studies when that radio-acting contest turned up. He was summoned to New York to be part of the CBS Playhouse company.

ATTENTION DIES

"There are a million contests," Garner looks back, "and there are a million contest winners. For a while I rode the crest of that wave, but attention like that has a way of dying out mighty fast."

Home in Tennessee, he went with WDEF in Chattanooga, remaining for 10 years with another time out, hopefully, to finish college.

"I had to drop out literally because I was in rehearsal for seven different shows at the same time," he reviews a hectic interlude of stage activities with four community groups.

"I never did get my degree, and I doubt I'll ever go back."

By 1963, bachelor Garner moved down to Atlanta and landed with WGST.

DABBLED IN THEATER

After becoming established as program head of WGST, he did a bit of dabbling with the amateur theater enterprise that evolved into the professional theater Atlanta.

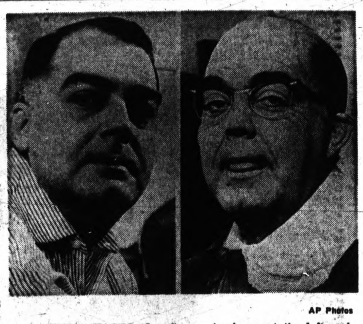
When the decision was made in 1966 to make the big shift, Garner left the airlanes to be the new venture's stage manager.

"I managed four shows, and got back into acting as a four-day replacement in 'Caesar and Cleopatra.'"

His biggest chance, in "MacBird!" also resulted from a midrehearsal decision to replace the LBJ actor.

HIGHER PITCH

The Maddox impersonation is more of a technical challenge because Garner must speak an octave and a half higher than his normal baritone. He has been seeing a doctor every day since tackling the part.



AP Photos

ACTOR'S FACES—Jay Garner is shown at the left and then as he is made up (right) for his role as Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia in "Red, White, and Maddox." This is not his first political parody. He appeared earlier as LBJ in "MacBird!"

Tibetans Resigned to Life as Refugees

NEW DELHI (AP) — Ten years ago this month the 24-year-old Living Buddha of Tibet, disguised in the garb of a poor monk, fled his country on horseback under cover of a sandstorm.

After a two-week, 300-mile trek across rugged terrain during which Chinese Communist aircraft vainly sought out his caravan, the Dalai Lama arrived safely in India and declared, "Wherever I am the Tibetan people will recognize me as the government of Tibet."

* * *

Today, despite their publicly voiced hopes, the Dalai Lama and his 80,000 refugee followers know they will not be returning to Tibet in the foreseable future.

They are settling down in India and neighboring Himalayan kingdoms of Bhutan, Sikkim and Nepal.

3 NEW SETTLEMENTS

Five new settlements of 3,000 each have taken root in the Indian states of Mysore, Madhya Pradesh and Orissa where the Tibetans are occupied in agriculture and in producing handicrafts.

About 500 fresh refugees made it past tightened Chinese frontier patrols last year. They tell how the theocratic Tibetan social order is being overturned by a government that considers the Dalai Lama anything but sovereign.

* * *

The Dalai Lama's "temporary headquarters" are in the northwestern Indian city of Dharamsala. In the mountain-ringed city 250 miles north of here the god-king and his people observed earlier this month the 10th anniversary of the uprising of Lhasa, Tibet's capital, against the closing grip of the Chinese army.

The rebellion was doomed from the beginning: the Chinese had 300,000 soldiers in Tibet, a country of two million.

INVADED IN 1960

The Chinese had invaded Tibet in October 1950, reasserting the sway China usually had over "the roof of the world" when its government in Peking was strong.

Mao Tse-tung promised to allow Tibet a certain amount of autonomy and said he would not interfere with the Dalai Lama's privileges or the country's feudal social order.

* * *

As it became apparent the Chinese had made only paper guarantees, the highly religious Tibetans rose in revolt. Their resistance reached its climax in March 1959—forcing the Dalai Lama to choose between imprisonment or flight.

Even after his departure armed resistance continued. More than 70,000 Tibetans are estimated to have been killed in clashes in the last decade—and many more "class enemies" liquidated or deported to labor camps.

GUERRILLA RAIDS

Even today, in sections of northern and western Tibet, guerrillas raid Chinese outposts and convoys. These holdouts "are living like wild beasts," said the Dalai Lama's representative here, T. Ningee.

From the mountains of northern Nepal, which abuts on Tibet's underbelly, Tibetan Khamba tribesmen periodically swoop down on Chinese military convoys, seize booty and return to Nepal.

* * *

All these raids amount to little more than a nuisance to the Chinese, whose military control of Tibet is undisputed.

LISTENING POST — Mrs. Shirley Muscoe (left), an EIP intern at Emerson School, and Mrs. Marilyn Boumkel, intern consultant, assist Mrs. Muscoe's second graders at the listening post, a reading helper. 32 Teacher Interns Are Working in Area

By MARY SUNDSTROM

Pontiac schools this year are participating in Michigan State University's Elementary Intern Program (EIP), in which elementary education majors at MSU take over a classroom during their senior year.

The Pontiac center, actually located in Donelson School, Waterford Township, is one of 11 teacher-training centers in operation around the state.

★ ★ ★

This year there are 32 students working from the Pontiac center. Fifteen are seniors, with four teaching in Pontiac schools and the others in schools in Waterford Township, Clarkston, Rochester, Bloomfield Hills and West Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

The 17 juniors take courses on the MSU campus during the summer and fall terms, spending the winter and spring sessions studying out of the EIP center. They take the teaching methods block of courses, do their student teaching and take other elementary education courses at the center.

TEACH OWN CLASS

During their senior year, the EIP students take courses on the MSU campus during the summer session and spend the rest of the year teaching their own class.

They receive credit for their work, and also take a five-credit MSU extension course at Oakland University at night.

★ ★ ★

Most of the students already have earned about 95 per cent of the required credits to graduate by the time they reach their internship, according to Dr. Edwin Andrews, director of the Pontiac EIP Center.

The interns receive a stipend of two-thirds of a beginning teacher's salary in their district during the year. Through an agreement with the school district, the program receives a beginning teacher's salary for each intern.

PAY FOR CONSULTANTS

After paying the interns their stipends, the remainder of the money is used to pay intern consultants, who work with the students in the program at a ratio of about seven interns to one consultant.

Mrs. Marilyn Boumkel, a master teacher now on leave of absence from the Pontiac School Distirct, works as a consultant with the four interns in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The intern consultant's duties consist of assisting the interns when necessary, observing their classes periodically, offering suggestions and making demonstrations to the classes.

The consultants and interns meet with Andrews at his office at Will Rogers Elementary School for periodic seminars, to discuss bulletin board ideas, lesson plans, and their common problems.

HANDLING APPLICATIONS

Andrews is presently processing applications from sophomores in community colleges, Michigan State, and other universities for the Pontiac program.

He said he anticipates a substantial growth factor in the Pontiac EIP participation. He is particularly urging many from the Pontiac area to join the program.

★ ★ ★

"There are many advantages to this program, including the stipend. This has encouraged many, who at one time left their credits while still living at home and also receiving the stipend," Andrews said.

★ ★ ★

He said that another advantage of the program is that it is not all theory, but a considerable amount of practical experience.

FULL USE

The interns also may make full use of the MSU facilities and materials for their classroom use.

Andrews, who goes to the Michigan State campus once a week to meet with directors from other centers, picks up all materials requistioned by his interns.

★ ★ ★

Students who have been admitted to the upper division of the MSU College of Education are eligible for admission to EIP. Students also should complete an application for the program prior to that time.

★ ★ ★

Applications may be picked up at Will Rogers School; or the Undergraduate Student Affairs Office, 134 Erickson Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

DIRECTS CLASS — Frank Soriano, another intern in the Elementary Intern Program, has his own class of fifth graders at Emerson School while earning credits toward a bachelor's degree from Michigan State University.

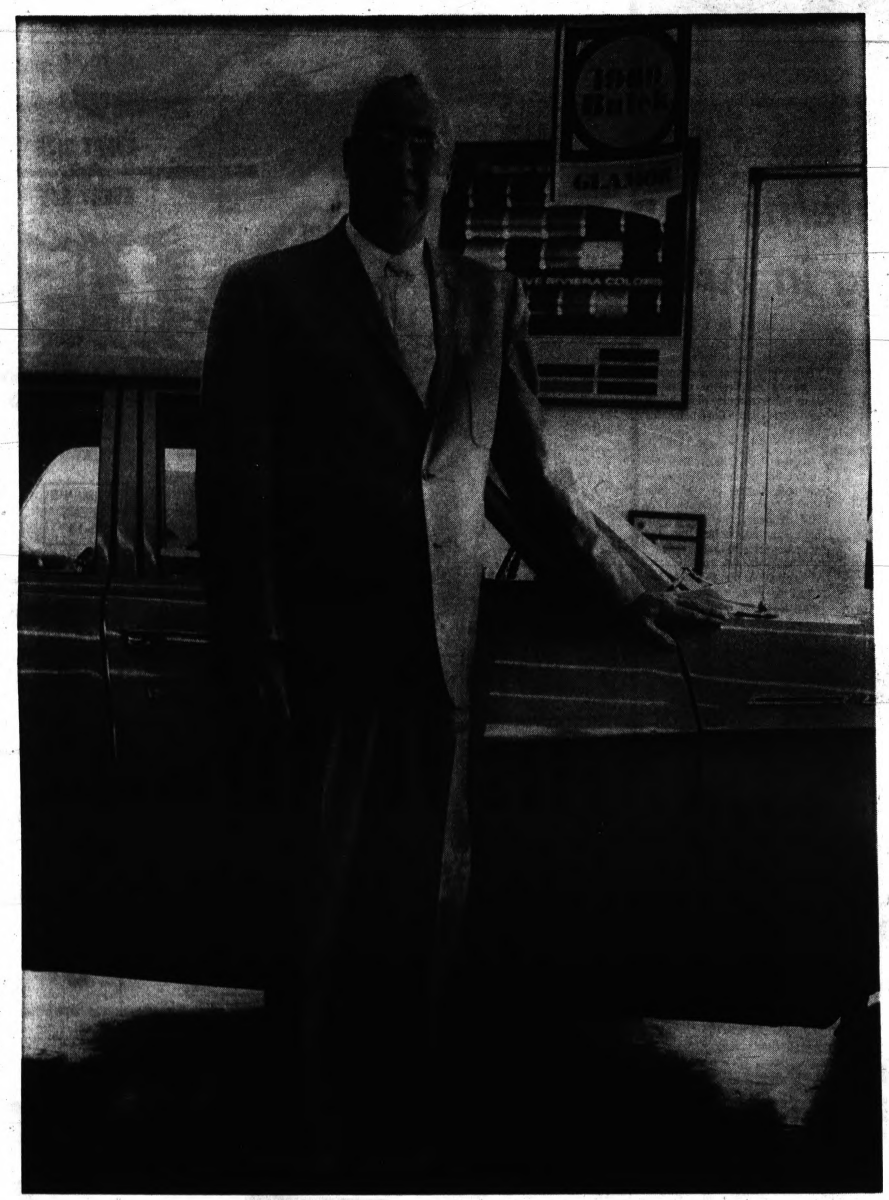
"MY PONTIAC PRESS ROUTE GAVE ME A HEAD START"



Glen Wilson, Buick-Olds Dealer In Fenton, Michigan

Mr. Glenn D. Wilson recalls his start in the business world 45 years ago as a Pontiac Press newspaperboy in the area of North Saginaw, Whittemore and Park Street. He delivered the route for seven years. His profit per customer was 4c per week and he saved $850.00 which saw him through his first two years at Albion College.

After graduation Mr. Wilson worked for Buick Division of General Motors. He held responsible positions as Retail Store Manager, Zone Manager, Director of Merchandising and Director of Fleet Sales. He purchased the agency in Fenton and is currently planning to build a new and larger showroom.

Mr. Wilson points out his experience as a Pontiac Press Newspaperboy taught him many lessons that have helped him to be successful in business. As most important he named, responsibility to those he serves, the importance of timing and the importance of pleasing the customer. It also taught him to handle money, buying at wholesale and selling at retail, the difference being profit. He learned bookkeeping and credit management, for even then, not everyone paid promptly.

Laotian Peasants Are Weary of Civil War That Plagues Land

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotian peasantry seems bone-tired of civil war which has washed across the countryside, consuming sons and fathers, since shortly after the end of World War II.

Many, perhaps most, would settle for peace at almost any price. They understand but dimly the international struggle between East and West which has focused here in the form of Asian mutants of democracy and communism.

★ ★ ★

The United States and the Soviet Union are working toward an accommodation between the Communist Pathet Lao and the government of neutralists and rightists. U.S. sources concede that if the accommodation jells, it may be more in the interests of world peace than of the Laotians themselves.

★ ★ ★

Key politicians say any arrangement to end the civil war that would pit the Communists and the fragmented center and right against each other at the polls — any time soon, perhaps for years — would almost inevitably mean a Communist takeover.

REPEATED WARNINGS

Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma repeatedly has warned that only a party of national union, forged of the divergent center and right factions, can prevent political disaster. Antagonisms, some reaching back centuries, fragment the non-Communists along regional, racial, family and political lines. The Communists have succeeded in bridging some of these gaps on their side through a tough political dicipline unheard of in Laos before.

Some who realize that the time for meeting the Communists at the ballot box may not be far off have tried to create the framework for a disciplined political organization. They want to prevent an electoral debacle such as occurred in 1958 in the last free elections in Laos contested by the left. Of 21 seats at stake, nine were won by the Communist Neo Lao Hak Xat party and four by the radical leftist Peace party. Four went to then-Premier Phoui Sananikone's party and the rest were scattered among other feuding factions.

Justice Minister Inpeng Suryadhay is trying to form a National Patriotic People's party, a political blanket he hopes can be spread from the moderate left to the powerful far right.

★ ★ ★

"You have to have some kind of arms to go into political battle," Inpeng said. "We have none now."

It will be about two years before his proposed party, backed by Souvanna, will be ready to meet the Communists at the polls, he added.

His view of the time needed is shared by Thao Sopsaisana, a rightist and deputy leader of the National Assembly and advocate of a front movement that would preserve the identity of the individual parties. Some Western diplomats believe Thao's plan has a better chance of adoption, but a weaker chance than Inpeng's of winning a ballot box victory.

"I can assure you we are not anywhere near ready for an election now," Thao said in an interview. "We must organize so the power comes upward from the people and not from the top. We have tried that before and always failed."

★

There is no indication that the right, especially, would settle for such a scheme. Powerful family groups have ruled Laos for centuries from the top and are not expected to change soon, even at the cost of disunity, say diplomats whose job it is to keep in close touch with the political groups.

One of the things that overshadows attempts to build an effective opposition to the Communists is Souvanna Phouma's determination to retire from the political scene. At 67, Souvanna says he is tired, and especially tired of politics. In recent years he has alternately been spurned and plotted against by the United States, abandoned in crisis by the Soviet Union, seen his own neutralist ranks splinter, felt the wrath of the far right which once imprisoned and threatened to execute him, and always has been threatened by the Communists.

"It's been a rather full political career," a U.S. diplomat quips.

★ ★ ★

There is no one else on the scene who is widely known, was a member of the anti-French nationalist movement, commands a respect that crosses family, regional and party lines.

Even the right wing fears Souvanna's retirement. "He simply must stay on in at least titular capacity, for the national interest. There is no other," said Thao.

Students Fight for Cut-Rate Airline Fare

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In something of a turnabout, student protesters are urging one government agency to maintain the status quo. In this case, it's special, cut-rate airline fares for young people.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) is being flooded with up to 500 letters a day from angry students attacking a recommendation by a CAB hearing examiner that the reduced fares for people from 12 to 22 be dropped because they discriminate against older folks.

★ ★ ★

The board says it will review examiner Arthur S. Present's action, but the students are not easily soothed.

Wrote one girl from Detroit:

"I have gone to California six times in the last seven months. If the youth fare is discontinued, I will be lucky to go twice."

MAKES POSITION PLAIN

Another girl, who signed herself "an Average American College Kid," made it plain where she stood: "I take it the man who submitted this foolish idea does not have any daughters away from home. But, of course, you men are all so rich you could buy your daughters their own planes."

★ ★ ★

Under the youth fare system, the major airlines offer two cut-rate ticket plans to students up to 22. Under one, he gets a 50 per cent discount, but is placed on a standby list and can get a seat only if the plane is not sold out. Under plan 2, he can buy a reserved seat at one-third discount.

★ ★ ★

This has proved a boon to students, and parents alike, who see it as a way to cut expenses.

A Swarthmore College girl tried feminine wiles on the CAB. "Please let me fly," she wrote. "I'll love you more next year when I am out of college and can afford the full price."

PESSIMIST WRITES

Then there was the pessimist who wrote: "Students don't have a lot going for them, but the youth fare is better than nothing."

★ ★ ★

An obvious fun-lover from Wisconsin wanted to know how he was expected to get to Florida between school terms.

★ ★ ★

Others were more serious.

One even threatened the life of President Nixon unless he did something. Another threatened to hijack a plane. Both letters were turned over to the Justice Department.

★ ★ ★

The board, which will hold hearings this month on the matter, does not like its villain role. Officials point out that the case actually stems from a suit filed by the Transcontinental Bus System after the board allowed the fares to stand. The courts ordered the CAB to review the case.

★ ★ ★

To add to the CAB's problems, Congress is taking up the controversy.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., plans to introduce a bill that would circumvent the CAB by legally allowing the airlines to offer half-fare tickets to youths. And in the House, 30 members signed a resolution urging that the reduced fares be kept.

Bolger at 65 Is Back on Broadway

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Ray Bolger, limber-limbed dancer extraordinaire, is 65 this year and he celebrates with a return to the Broadway stage. He has teamed with director Agnes de Mille, who did the choreography in "Oklahoma!" for a show called "Come Summer.")

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK — Ray Bolger, that forever ambling whiz of show biz, is taking a nonchalent glide into the over-65 bracket by coming back to Broadway.

"That age — it's just funny to me," he observes. "In our business it isn't any particular age at all. It's up to the individual."

* * *

There are two parts to his upbeat formula: Staying fit—"weight-wise, I'm very sharp at 160"—and speaking out. If he talks about the march of time, native New England shrewdness advises, others are less apt to.

"I put it into my nightclub act at the Waldorf," he grins, "and when the reviews came out, the psychology worked. All were about youthful, limber Ray Bolger."

'COMPLEX CHALLENGE'

Right now, his dance-comic-vocal skills are being switched from the "great joy" of solo performance to the "complex challenge" of starring in a large musical.

The show, "Come Summer," which opened Tuesday at the Lunt-Fontanne Theater, has Bolger as a footloose Yankee peddler back in the early 19th century when mechinization was revolutionizing industry.

* * *

Will Holt, adapting the story from a novel by the late Esther Forbes, "Rainbow on the Road," got in touch with Bolger about a year ago. The liquid-limbed entertainer was just about completing convalescence from the "one really bad burn" of his career, a musical "All American" that flopped in 1962. It happened to be his 13th Broadway stint.

"I shied away for quite a spell from everything that was sent me."

STAR RESPONSIBILITIES

He takes the responsibilities of stardom seriously.

"You've got to do everything in your power to make it a success, and you must contribute a lot more than just your appearance. You have a duty to participate with the creators, to exchange ideas. At least you should participate with the creators, to exchange ideas. At least you should have a basic philosophy.

* * *

"I told the kids in the show when rehearsals began: 'Remember, I'm the star. It says so out front on the marquee.' (He laughs.) But backstage we're all workers together."

The director of "Come Summer" is Agnes de Mille, who reformed musical comedy with choreography in "Oklahoma!" This is their first workout together and he's listened carefully.

"Miss De Mille didn't want me to do more than two dances of the type I'm known for"

NOT ALL DANCING

"I didn't start out as a dancer, and then when I was doing five shows a day during the big movie-house days, it just wouldn't have been possible to do all the dancing that people think I did.

* * *

"What I'd do was a little dancing, then a comedy routine. Then I might sing, and finally come back to dancing." Controlled conservation of energy, that's what.

* * *

It wasn't until "On Your Toes" in 1936 that Bolger, already a star, ever took a professional lesson at the ballet bar. His whole career came about from haphazard start and developed with a kind of accidental felicity and casual fitness. He kept meeting people at the right time.

Bolger ended studies at Dorchester, Mass., high school when he was 16 — "We didn't have any money, that's all" he says of his widower father and himself — and got a job in the First National Bank of Boston. He also took himself to O'Brien's School of Ballroom Dancing.

EARLY GOODNIGHT

"All I could do was the waltz," he reminisces, "and when you can only do one dance at that age, it's an early good night to your date."

While learning the two-step, Bolger met his first lucky contact, Salvatore Ciccarelli — "he became a successful truck farmer later" — who showed Ray a simple buck-and-wing, then took him to meet Denny Healy, an ex-hoofer turned watchman.

* * *

Bolger's next break was running into Denia Rusakoff in the hallway between Rusakoff's ballet school and the ballroom seminary.

"I told him I was an accountant, so he offered to give me lessons if I'd keep his books."

LOST JOB

By then the future star was a clerk-at-large in the New England Mutual Life Insurance offices, an association that ended abruptly when a manager decided that an employe who practiced Terpsichore during errands hardly fit the firm image.

Bolger knew he'd never be happy in an office, did a weekend vaudeville turn to launch professionally at Taunton, Mass., and by 1921 was hired on as second comic with the Bob Ott Musical Comedy Repertoire company.

* * *

En route the eager fledgling picked up some impromptu guidance on how to project his voice — "that was before there were any microphones" — from one of the last survivors of the florid style of emoting.

Bolger got to Broadway in 1925 and hasn't had much time since to loll between stage, films, nightclubs and TV assignments.

BIGGEST ROLES

Perhaps the two biggest events of his professional life were the musical "On Your Toes" — "we created something there with the 'Slaughter on Tenth Avenue' ballet" — and the film "The Wizard of Oz."

"Those annual playbacks on television are a very important factor in my ability to reach young audiences today as well as the middle-aged. It's a kind of mortality to have something that will go on after I'm gone."

BEST FEET FORWARD—Ray Bolger, who at 65 is back on the Broadway stage, rehearses with Cathryn Damon and David Cryer who appear with him in the new musical comedy.

AP Photos

MUSICAL REUNION—Ray Bolger and Margaret Hamilton, both of "Wizard of Oz" fame, are reunited in a new musical, "Come Summer", which opened on Broadway Tuesday. Bolger was the straw man in "Oz," and Miss Hamilton was the witch.

Quads' Mother Has New Twins

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — Mrs. Dandy Jimarin, an Aborigine who gave birth last April 7 to quadruplet girls, had twin girls today in a Darwin hospital.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Jimarin now have 12 children—the twins, three surviving quads and seven others ranging in age up to 15 years. One of the quads died eight weeks after birth.

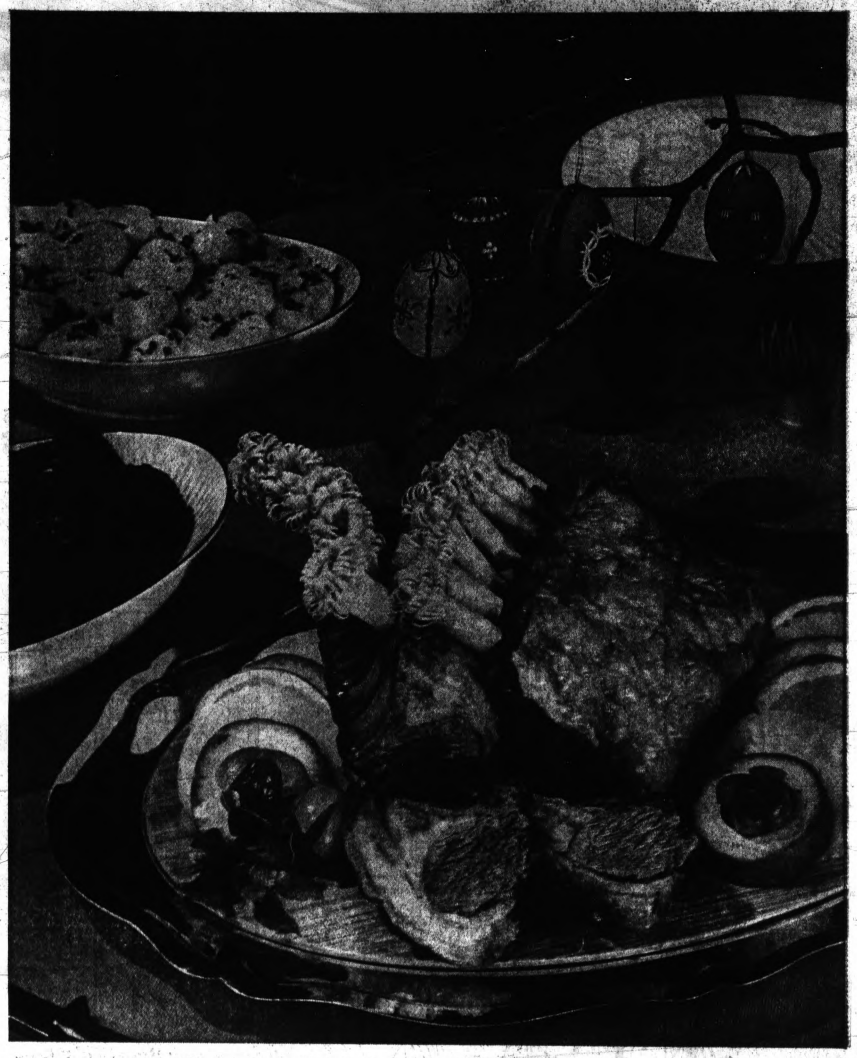
Rib Roasts of Lamb Give an Easter Feast

One of the most time-honored traditions puts lamb on the table for Easter. It was the favored meat for both the Jewish Passover and Christian Easter. In early times lamb was available only in the spring, but modern homemakers are more fortunate as it can be served year 'round!

Then, too, lamb is lucky, according to the early English. It was considered a sign of good fortune to look out of a window and see a lamb first on Easter morning. Still another English tradition has it that the joy of both Easter and spring was expressed by the saying, "the sun danced all day," or "the lambs played."

Whatever the custom, lamb provides a truly elegant roast for Easter. The meat is tender in texture and has a delicate flavor. For menu versatility, two lamb rib roasts give all the ease of serving favorite chops in addition to providing the appearance only a superb roast can for a festive occasion.



Lamb rib roasts, wearing frills, come in splendor to the Easter table. They're banked with a hot fruit garnish of avocado, orange and pineapple slices, kumquat-cherry flowers.

Lamb Rib Roasts — Hot Fruit Garnish

2 lamb rib roasts, 2 or 3 pounds each Salt and pepper, if desired

Garnish

1 avocado
1 orange
4 to 6 slices canned pineapple, drained
3 kumquats
2 maraschino cherries

Remove "fell" (thin, paper-like covering) from lamb rib roasts if retailer has not already done so. Season with salt and pepper. Place roasts, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb reaches center of thickest part. Make certain the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a moderate oven (375° F.) to medium or well done (170°F. to 180°F.), depending upon the degree of doneness desired. In some areas it is preferred less well done or below 170°F. Total roasting time will range from 1 1/2 to 2 hours or 35 to 45 minutes per pound. Let roast rest while garnish heats. To serve, carve between the bones, allowing 2 chops per serving.

Garnish: Cut avocado in half crosswise, remove seed and peel. Cut into crosswise slices 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick. Cut unpeeled orange crosswise into slices 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick. Cut kumquats in quarter sections to within 1/2 inch from blossom end to form flowers. Place halved maraschino cherries in center of each. Place fruit in shallow pan and heat in a slow oven (325°F.), 5 to 10 minutes. Arrange slices of avocado, orange and pineapple alternately on platter around lamb roast with kumquat flowers at end of each row of fruit.

Serve a Regal Roast - Leg of Lamb

Roasted to rosy brown, leg of lamb offers elegant dining. It's garnished with scalloped fruit cups: the orange holding currant jelly; the lemon, mint and lime, apple.

Festive dinners call for impressive roasts. Not only does the hostess like their dramatic appearance on her table, but she also likes their ease of preparation.

Leg of lamb joins this parade of roasts because of its tender, delicate flavor, with American lamb as the best example. Its size ranges from five to seven pounds which means it can serve a small dinner party very well.

Guest Dinner Menu

Roast Leg of Lamb
Citrus Fruit Cups with Jelly
Noodle Basket — Creamed Potatoes, Peas and Mushrooms
Pineapple-Apricot Salad
Crescent Rolls Honey Butter
Coconut Layer Cake
Coffee Tea

Two styles are usually available in leg of lamb. If the hostess wants the lamb to wear a "frill," she selects a French style. This means simply that the shank bone is exposed so it can wear a paper frill. The other style, American, has a somewhat square appearance because a part of the shank (leg bone) is removed.

Roast Leg of Lamb

5 to 7-pound leg of lamb Salt and pepper

Do not have the fell removed from the leg of lamb. Place fell side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part of the leg, being sure the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) until the meat thermometer registers 175°F. for medium-done; 180°F. for well-done lamb. Allow 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 hours for roasting.

To garnish, make cups from an orange, lemon and lime, removing the pulp and scalloping the cut edges. Fill orange cup with current jelly, lemon cup with mint jelly and lime cup with apple or grape jelly. Group beside roast leg of lamb on serving platter. Garnish with parsley or watercress.

To carve, remove two or three thin slices from the thin side of roast to form base, then carve perpendicular slices to leg bone on the meaty or fell side. Release slices by cutting under them, following the leg bone.

Noodle Basket

1 can (5 1/2 ounces) chow mein noodles
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons water

Lightly beat together egg whites and water. Add noodles and mix thoroughly until all liquid is absorbed. Press noodles into a well greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 18 to 20 minutes. Using a spatula to loosen, remove noodle basket from casserole immediately. Invert on rack and let cool. Serve with hot, creamed new potatoes and peas with mushrooms which may be of the frozen variety, if desired.

Ocean May Provide, but Not in Near Future

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Those who look to the oceans as the great provider of man's minerals and fuels will have to wait a long time. The image of the ocean as a replacement for today's vanishing land resources is unrealistic.

An accurate appraisal of the ocean would be as an important source of minerals and fuels and as a supplement to the natural resources of the land—in the far future.

* * *

The ocean does have tremendous natural resource potential; and even though the government has allocated only $516 million for all marine sciences in its budget for this year, tapping the oceans will someday assume national and worldwide importance.

* * *

Although the economic potential is great, no one can say just when ocean exploitation will come into its own. At present, only 6 per cent, or $1.3 billion, of U.S. mineral and fuel production is offshore. Though the figure is rising, most of it represents oil and gas.

FEW DECADES

For quite a while to come — certainly for the next few decades — the list of needed materials that will be obtained from the ocean in any appreciable quantities is quite small.

This fact was pointed out in a recent report by Economic Associates Inc. to the National Council on Marine Resources and Engineering Development, the agency charged with developing national policy in oceanography.

* * *

The report confines itself to an evaluation of the continental shelf and slope, the immediate underwater area around the United States, including Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

* * *

The report indicates that after petroleum, gas, sulfur and, oddly enough, sand and gravel, there is very little to be gotten economically from the sea at present.

OFFSHORE PRODUCTION

As for petroleum, the estimated offshore crude oil reserves economically recoverable are close to 80 billion barrels with perhaps 140 billion more in the Bering Sea.

* * *

Presently offshore oil supplies contribute 321 million barrels annually, or about 10 per cent of domestic production. For natural gas, the known estimated reserve is 478 trillion cubic feet, yearly production now being 18 trillion cubic feet.

Birmingham Man Put on Auditor Unit

George Fulkerson, a Birmingham attorney and former Democratic candidate for Congress against William Broomfield, was named today as the third man on the 3-man Oakland County Board of Auditors.

Fulkerson, who serves as a member of the Detroit Water Board and who at one time was also a candidate for prosecuting attorney, has the backing of both the Democratic and Republican caucuses.

* * *

His selection was made official at a committee on committees meeting of the board of supervisors yesterday. He will replace John B. Osgood, who resigned to accept a Royal Oak district judgeship.

Also at the meeting, Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, withdrew from nomination for membership on the parks and recreation commission. O'Brien said he withdrew because of a heavy work load on other board committees.

* * *

Frank Richardson, R-Waterford Township, received Democratic backing for the nomination.

DENNIS WOOSTER

Letter-Winner Teen of Week in Waterford

Letters earned both in the classroom (mostly A's and B's) and on the athletic field are the story of this week's Waterford Township teen of the week.

Dennis Wooster, a senior at Waterford Kettering High School, has established a B-plus average in his studies while compiling an impressive record in athletics.

* * *

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Wooster of 2750 Silverhill, Dennis has earned four varsity letters in baseball and three in football — he was an all-league center this season and participated in basketball and wrestling in the 10th and 11th grades.

In addition, he has thus far maintained a perfect attendance record, a feat which has probably made it easier for him to keep up with a long list of extracurricular activities.

* * *

Among these are student council, varsity club, senior class board and student attitude committee, which seeks to improve school spirit.

Dennis is looking to a college career at either Western Michigan University or Eastern Michigan University.

Surviving are his wife, Irene; a daughter, Linda J.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Putnam of Pontiac; four brothers, including Michael and William, both of Pontiac; and a sister, Cheri of Pontiac.

Clean-Water Fund Plan Is Endorsed

The legislative committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday supported, in a split vote, bills pending in the legislature on the distribution of $335 million to combat water pollution.

The funds were approved by voters in a statewide election last November.

* * *

Two of the five committee members opposed the bills, even in a proposed amended form, saying that the money would provide little benefit for developed areas of the county. The opposition came from Mary Bawden, R-Birmingham, and Lee Walker, D-Madison Heights.

Appearing before the committee were R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, and two representatives from the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, who favored the two bills.

FOR SMALL COMMUNITIES

Alexander asked for an amendment in the bill allotting $50 million to small communities. He asked that sewer laterals as well as interceptors become eligible for grants.

The bill was viewed as being of particular help for communities such as Lake Orion, Oxford and Clarkston.

* * *

It provides that sewer projects totaling more than 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of the affected community be eligible for benefits.

Alexander said he could see the bills channeling some $35 million into the county, particularly in connection with development of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor. He said the funds alloted to Detroit could keep sewer rates lower for Oakland County users as well.

LITTLE BENEFIT

Mrs. Bawden and Walker contended that most of the money will be paid by developed areas, but that residents of such communities will benefit little.

small communites." Mrs. "We have worse pollution problems than many of the Bawden noted.

FBI Man Foils Skyjack Try in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A gunman who had ordered a flight to Cuba was disarmed and arrested aboard an airliner by an FBI agent among the passengers when the plane landed here to refuel.

As the agent, John Reed struggled with the would-be hijacker, the man's 22-caliber pistol went off, but the bullet richocheted off the floor without hitting anybody.

The FBI identified the gunman as Douglas Alton Dickey, 27, and said documents in his possession showed he was born in Casa Grande, Ariz. He was held on a federal charge of air piracy, which carries a maximum penalty of death.

Robert E. Rightmyer, agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, said Dickey boarded the plane, Delta Airlines Flight 918, Wednesday night at Dallas.

Rightmyer said the man produced his pistol and took over the plane about five minutes before it was scheduled to land at New Orleans.

Mishaps, Injuries on City Roads Up

Motorists in Pontiac are getting into more accidents and receiving more injuries for the first two months of this year than the same period in 1968, police statistics show.

* * *

Three persons have been killed and 376 injured in 938 accidents this year, compared to three deaths and 342 injuries in 873 accidents last year.

* * *

Accidents last month, 347, were down from the same month in 1968, 373.

Avon-Rochester Dem Unit to Meet

The executive board of the Avon-Rochester Democratic Club will meet at 8 tonight at the home of club Chairman Peter Vernia, 2763 Tallahassee, Avon Township.

* * *

Club officers, city and township Democratic precinct delegates and committee chairmen are included on the board.

Mansfield Hits Nixon Efforts on Viet Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, who has tried to restrain critics of President Nixon's war policies, now says the administration's "gloomy report" on Vietnam points up the need for increased presidential efforts to end the fighting.

Mansfield said in an interview that testimony yesterday by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird before a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Committee implied the administration is "planning for two more years of war."

* * *

"If that is so," the Democratic leader said, "it calls for greater, more concentrated and more private efforts at Paris to bring this war to an end."

Muted as Mansfield's criticism was it marked the first departure from his stand announced when Nixon took office of not attacking the President on Vietnam in order to allow him time to formulate his own policies.

Two Are Arraigned in Orion Robbery

Two men arrested in connection with the armed robbery of a Orion Township gas station attendant yesterday are being held in Oakland County Jail on bond of $2,500 each.

* * *

Gary H. Bailey, 27, of 745 W. Glass, Brandon Township, and George E. Finner, 26, of 2½ Mill, Oxford, were arraigned yesterday before Rochester District Judge Robert Shipper, who set a court examination for Monday.

The attendant, Larry G. Roberts, of the Clark station, 799 S. Lapeer, was beaten by assailants before they stole cash from the register.

The National Zoo, now one of the most popular attractions in Washington, D.C., survives and thrives despite former congressional criticism. In 1892 a representative denounced an appropriation for the zoo by saying: "I do not believe the American People . . . ought to be taxed to afford shelter and erect homes for snakes, raccoons, opossums, bears and all the creeping and slimy things of the earth."

Nine-Railroad Merger Urged by ICC Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing examiner recommended today approval of the $6.4 billion merger of the Norfolk & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio rail systems.

The giant merger, which will include nine railroads, would stretch from Maine to North Carolina and from the Tidewater Area of Virginia to Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri.

* * *

The 194-page recommendation, by examiner Edward L. Boisseree, must now be approved by the 11-member commission.

If adopted, the consolidation would form a 27,000-mile rail complex that would operate in 21 states and Ontario, Canada.

* * *

Boisseree recommended the new system take over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and its subsidiaries, now controlled by C&O, and assume indirect control of the Boston & Maine Corp. and the Reading Co.

God's Work a Full-Time Job for Motel Operator

By CATHERINE MARSHALL
Author of "Christy" and "A Man Called Peter."
Boynton Beach, Florida

Every time I hear someone complain that he has "no time" for God, I think about our friend Ellie Armstrong. Ellie is in full-time religious work—running a motel.

Mrs. Marshall

It's a small but neat motel on U.S. Route 6 in the rolling hills of western Pennsylvania. Ellie was behind the desk when my husband, Len, and I stopped there one night recently. She's in her early 30s, and the eyes framed by the dark hair are very blue. It's the eyes which invite you to linger and chat awhile after you've signed the register.

* * *

The place, she said, had been named Port Motel—after the nearby town of Port Allegahny—long before she borrowed the money to buy it three years ago. "But isn't it the very name you would choose if you were starting a motel new?" she asked. "A name Jesus used about Himself!"

"He did?"

'I AM THE DOOR'

"Of course! 'I am the door: (the portal) if any man enter in, he shall be saved . . . and have life . . . and have it more abundantly.' Isn't that the point, with everyone we meet, to lead them to that door? And a motel—well, it means a chance to meet new people all the time!"

The blue eyes returned our startled looks with surprise of their own. "That's why I wanted a motel, you know," she said, as though wondering why else one would be in business. "To meet people who might not have heard about Him."

* * *

Like, for example, the unsuspecting drug salesman who had stopped for a good night's sleep a few months back. As he registered at the desk, Ellie noticed a growth on his left eye, almost forcing the lid shut.

"You don't have to have that growth on your eye," she told him.

'DON'T BELIEVE IN GOD'

The salesman stared at her. "What do you mean?"

"I mean Jesus can take it off. He doesn't want you to have it. He'll take it from you."

"Look, lady, I don't believe in magic. I don't even believe in God."

* * *

"But," she said gently, "that doesn't stop Him from believing in you." And with that Ellie showed him to Room Three, which she knows secretly as "the miracle room for unbelievers."

"The miracle room?" I broke in.

SPECIAL ROOMS

Well, Ellie said, in a way all the rooms were miracle rooms. Each of the 14 motel units had been dedicated to God for a specific purpose: a room for healing, a special room for honeymooners, one for alcoholics, another for the mending of broken relationships, the conviction room, the happiness room, and so on.

No outward sign set the rooms apart, she said, just a ceremony held on April 20, 1965, when she had formally offered the motel to God. Ministers and friends came to take part in the service. First came a dedication prayer, then the group walked from room to room claiming each for its specially named purpose.

* * *

"We don't know what God is going to do with the different people who stay," Ellie continued. "We just asked Him to be present in each room, to meet each guest"

As in the case of the salesman. That night some members of Ellie's church were meeting for prayer in her living room. She invited the salesman to join them, but he declined. And so they prayed for him in his absence.

EYES NORMAL

A few days later he was back. Even before he got to the desk Ellie could see that both eyes were perfectly normal—no growth.

"Shook me up," he blurted out. "I was driving down the road that morning when I happened to look in the rear-view mirror, and that thing was gone! Simply wasn't there! Lady, I told you I don't believe in God, but maybe, if you introduced me . . ."

* * *

If the salesman was surprised, Ellie was not. Answered prayer is a common experience here. In fact, keeping the motel open at all requires daily answer. To cut down expenses Ellie, her sister and her mother not only do all the maid work but also the painting, repairs and upkeep.

Even so there are many debts, for in order to purchase the motel Ellie had to borrow not only the mortgage money but the down payment as well.

LISTENS TO GRIEF

Ellie meets so many lonely people, crushed by problems or isolated in prisons of self, and she is often up half the night hearing their grief.

Indeed, the night we were there she sat up until 2, talking and praying with a young couple who had just left their baby in a home for the retarded.

* * *

But there Ellie was, next morning, bright and early, a stack of clean towels in one hand, a can of scouring powder in the other.

"Isn't it too bad," I said, "that someone else can't do these routine jobs, when God has given you so much work to do for Him!"

'BEST TIME'

"For Him?" Ellie looked puzzled. "Oh, but this is the best time I spend with Him. This is when I go into each room and thank Him for His presence there."

As she sweeps, she said, she asks God to sweep away also the fears, angers or doubts that have been left behind. Washing windows, she prays that His light may shine into the room.

* * *

Stop doing God's work to wash and sweep and clean? Ellie can't. For as she sees it, floors and beds and motel windows are as much His as church pews and stained glass. In fact, there is no work that cannot be done for Him.

Union Giving Up Luxury Health Spa

ELSINORE, Calif. (AP) — A laundry workers' union in Los Angeles is abandoning its 10-year-old health resort, saying fewer than 10 per cent of its 6,000 members, mostly low-income Negroes and Mexican-Americans, used it.

An industrial relations study showed that, to many workers, the idea of a luxurious lake-side resort seemed culturally alien. The study also showed that the members don't like to think of themselves as laundry workers and, thus, weren't anxious to mix socially with their fellow workers.

* * *

Spokesmen for the laundry owners said free dental care may be provided the workers instead of the spa 70 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

Sky Diver Jumping Despite Loss of Leg

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — When Bradford J. Gagne skydives into the Gulf of California for a little scuba fishing this month, he will have to keep his right leg directly behind him. Otherwise, he says, he will go into a flat, dizzying spin.

Gagne lost his left leg above the knee and 90 per cent of the muscle in his right leg when he stepped on a land mine during the Tet offensive in Vietnam last year. He is an outpatient at Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver.

★ ★ ★

Gagne, 22, discovered and remedied the "flat spin" problem last September when he jumped from 4,700 feet and landed, as prearranged, in Cherry Creek Reservoir east of Denver.

It was his 189th jump, his only once since suffering the injury. As Gagne put it, "duck season sort of shut me down." The reservoir is the only large body of water in the immediate area and it was closed for duck season just after his jump. Now the Lake is covered with ice.

RACED MOTORCYCLES

"I figured that a water jump would be the safest way to keep from reinjuring my 'good' leg," he explained. He does not wear the artificial leg when he jumps.

Before entering the Army, he was a part-time professional motorcycle racer and drove in the national championships at Daytona. He also raced go-carts and boats.

★ ★ ★

When he returns from his monthlong trip to Mexico, he plans to complete at least 31 more jumps so he can get his expert license and qualify for instructing.

In the fall he hopes to enter college to pursue a degree in architectural engineering.

PARACHUTING PATIENT—Vietnam veteran Bradford Gagne, 22, was a sky diver before he went off to Vietnam. While in action, he stepped on a Vietcong land mine and blew off his left leg above the knee and suffered permanent muscle and nerve damage to his right leg. While an outpatient at Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver, Gagne has returned to sky diving. Recently, he made his 189th jump (right) in the Cherry Creek Reservoir east of Denver.

Deadly Dash for Arab Terrorists

JERUSALEM (UPI) — There is a spring event that is not listed in any track and field competition. Israelis call it "the 700-meter dash."

The runners, they say, are Arab guerrillas and the swiftest of them may survive. Some pay with their lives for being slow.

The "track" is the 700-meter stretch from the dense undergrowth along the Jordan River in the Valley of Bet Shean, where guerrillas have been harrassing Israeli kibbutzim, or farming settlements, to the next patch of cover.

The guerrillas know they have only a limited time to plant mines or take potshots before Israelis detect them using tactics so successful they claim 95 per cent of all attempts to cross the Jordan by guerrillas end in death, capture or retreat.

PLANES READY

As guerrillas break cover, Israeli planes, aware of their position, swoop in to strafe them. That's where the race is to the swift — and only to the swift.

Although the guerrilla campaign against Israel as far as correspondents here can see, is not a major threat to the country, there is growing anger at the attacks.

★ ★ ★

One source said the farmers at such kibbutzim as Gesher and Ashdod Yacob had urged Defense Minister Moshe Dayan to push back the present Jordan frontier. This was not feasible, he said, emphasizing "but we must do something about it."

Dayan and the chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Chairm Bar-Lev, have also warned that Arab tactics are irking Israel.

DANGER ELSEWHERE

The source said the latest information to reach Israel about the guerrilla campaign indicates it may be more of a danger to the regimes of King Hussein of Jordan and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt than to this coutry.

In Jordan, he said, guerrillas — he constantly referred to them as "terrorists" — openly flout an agreement not to appear uniformed and armed in the streets of Amman. He said Hussein has brought two more brigades of loyal bedouins into the capital, one of which is stationed not far from the royal palace.

★ ★ ★

In Egypt, he said, the pressure by guerrillas, added to the impatience of younger officers and the younger generation, may force Nasser into more extreme measures than he might otherwise take.

"We don't believe their main aim is Israel. If it had been they would have surely done something by now," the source said.

★ ★ ★

"One must keep the terrorist campaign in perspective," he said. "We lost proportionately more people in the Arab troubles of 1929, 1933, 1936 and 1939 than we are doing now."

San Francisco's Chinatown, home of 25,000 Chinese Americans, is the largest Chinese settlement outside the Orient.

Junior Colleges Proliferating

United Press International

Junior Colleges are America's educational phenomena of the 1960s.

For the past eight years, the two-year junior colleges, sometimes called community colleges, have been coming into being at the rate of nearly one a week. Sixty new ones opened last fall, bringing the nation's total to 960.

About two million students will be enrolled in two-year colleges by the end of 1969 — with the annual growth rate of 15 per cent likely to increase in the years ahead.

The junior college, a uniquely American concept that began in this century and came into full flower only in this decade, has become so significant to the nation's higher education picture that a full one-third of those going beyond high school are taking the junior college route.

COMMUTING DISTANCE

Every state has at least one community college, and some, notably California and Florida, are building them within commuting distance of virtually every citizen.

Explaining the phenomenal proliferation of the junior college, Dr. Edmund J. Gleaser Jr., executive secretary of the American Association of Junior Colleges, said:

"Its low cost to students, proximity to those it was designed to serve, flexible admission arrangements, strong counseling services and varied educational program seemed to suit the needs and the times."

* * *

Basically, the junior college offers educational opportunity on three tracks.

● The degree-seeker: This program is designed for students who intend to finish four years of college. They can complete the freshman and homes at relatively low cost, sophomore years near their homes at relatively low cost, then transfer to a four-year, degree - granting college or university for the final two years.

* * *

● The semiprofessional: These programs offer technical training or occupational-oriented courses for those who seek education beyond the high school but do not contemplate completion of conventional college degree programs.

● Adult education: Evening programs enroll as many as twice the number in day programs, most of them working men and women who are upgrading themselves for pursuing better jobs, pursuing degrees or just expanding their educational horizons.

'Interest Rates Will Stay High'

BARRICADE IN PLACE—The Nixon compound of five home sits behind this 15-foot-high hedge (background) that was recently planted along Bay Lane on Key Biscayne, Fla. President Nixon uses the homes as his Florida White House. A secret Service agent mans the blockade at Bay Lane 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Security Tight in Florida for Neighbors of Nixon

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — There's been a distinct absence of door-to-door peddlers at John Hardy's house since President Nixon moved in across the street.

Since the Florida White House was established on the coconut palm-shrouded street, Bay Lane has been off limits for everybody but residents and their visitors.

* * *

Secret Service agents man a blockage at the head of the road 24 hours a day and make certain nobody wanders in. Residents must show their identification each time they pass.

* * *

"It can be annoying to be stopped when you're in a hurry," says Hardy, "but the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages.

"For instance," added Hardy, a British steamship agent, "It's fascinating to watch the President come and go. There are no itinerant salesmen and the security here is great."

Bay Lane is on Key Biscayne, an island on Biscayne Bay about four miles from downtown Miami. Like many other upperclass residential areas, its had its share of burglaries. But not any more, with the security men on hand.

* * *

The President owns four homes and leases another on the Bay Side of the block-long, dead-end road. His complex is well hidden behind a 15-foot-high hedge.

Nixon's not much of a yardman, says Hardy. Whenever he's outside, he usually walks on the beach or wades in the surf.

Peter Pan Lives, and Hospital Thrives

By THOMAS A. REEDY

LONDON (AP) — Forty years ago a dapper little man with a moustache and a great sense of shyness turned down an invitation to join a children's hospital committee because he said he didn't like committees.

Instead, he said, he would do the hospital "one small favor" and give it the copyright to something he had written about children.

★ ★ ★

It's one of the most romantic debts in man's history.

The hospital is the Great Ormond Street for Sick Children in London.

The donor: Sir James Matthew Barrie, Scottish-born journalist who died in 1937.

The gift: The rights to "Peter Pan."

'SMALL GIFT'

Great Ormond Street is in fact called the Peter Pan Hospital by more than most.

Ever since that "small gift" in 1929 the money has been rolling in from the children's fantasy of the little boy who never grew up, could fly and teach others to do so with his fairy dust, could fight pirates and Indians and could command audiences to shout, "We believe in fairies!"

The marvelous tale has been translated into 14 languages.

The story of Peter and Wendy and the Darling family with the dog Nana have been performed on stage, screen, ice ballet, and in about every conceivable form known to man.

It has been estimated that 36 million people around the globe see, hear or read about Peter Pan every year.

PROFITS SECRET

How much has it meant to Great Ormond Street?

"We are not allowed to say under the terms of Sir James Barrie's will," said the governor, Gordon Piller, who administers the bequests among other multiple duties.

Some facts have eked out, however.

★ ★ ★

As late as 1965, one report estimated that royalties had poured something like $2 million into the hospital.

The steady flow created the million-dollar Barrie wing, X-ray and dental wards and the Peter Pan Ward.

Today Great Ormond Street houses 9,000 inpatients annually, treats 75,000 in the outpatient department, and has links with the Philadelphia Children's Hospital and the big equivalent in Kampala, Uganda.

FROSTING ON CAKE

This is a far cry from 1852 when it started with 10 beds in an era when London registered 50,000 deaths in one year and 23,000 of those were children under 10 years of age.

Barrie didn't do all this, of course. He was, though, the frosting on the cake at a time when the hospital had already become a mighty citadel of hope and care for the small fry.

★ ★ ★

Recently British court decisions have reaffirmed that the hospital holds the copyright until 1987. That is just 50 years after Barrie's death.

Hospital authorities say this means the institution is now able to "sell" rights for any new film production.

NEW PRODUCTION

This has been done. A new $5-million production of Peter Pan on film is planned to start in September. It will be done by Hollywood's Universal Studios.

"We have sold it to Universal for $150,000 plus a percentage of the royalties," Piller said.

★ ★ ★

The star of the film will be Mia Farrow, the umpteenth in a long series of Peter Pans going all the way back to 1904 when the play was first produced. Mel Ferrer, divorced husband of actress Audrey Hepburn, will direct it.

Ferrer says the new attempt still will have Peter Pan flying in the air but it will involve some techniques in height never before attempted.

'ASTONISHING TRICKS'

Said Ferrer: "We won't break away from the traditional story. But our version will be fresh and contemporary. Peter Pan will fly in a way never seen before. We've some astonishing tricks up our sleeves."

Who was Peter Pan?

In fact he was five youngsters, children of Llewellyn Davies, and only one of them was named Peter.

★ ★ ★

Barrie met them and in Kensington Park Gardens, off Hyde Park, and invented the tale. When he moved to Black Lake Cottage in Surrey, where he did most of his writing, he continued the tales, inventing the Indians and the pirates and finally polishing the end product.

The story—even like Great Ormond Street Hospital—is rather like Topsy. It just growed.

RUBBED TOGETHER

Barrie once said about the Davies children and how they got to be Peter Pan: "I made Peter by rubbing the five of you violently together."

How Wendy got into the act came from little Margaret Henley who told Sir James once: "I am your little friendy," as they met in Kensington Gardens.

She couldn't really pronounce it and said "your little fwendy." Wendy evolved.

★ ★ ★

There where Barrie sat on a park bench stands the famed Peter Pan statue in bronze, and children disport around it in any kind of decent weather every day.

It is again a monument for Barrie's desire for anonymity. He commissioned Sir George Frampton to make it and put it up in 1912 when Peter Pan had become an accepted tale. But his orders were: No publicity. No admission as to who did it.

WHY A GIRL?

Why Peter Pan always is played by a girl is much more difficult to answer. No one seems to know except that in its early days only petite girls were equipped to be the "eternal boy" who refused to grow up.

The list is a mile long. It includes Zena Dare, Fay Compton, Gladys Cooper (now 80 and still going strong), Elsa Lanchester (widow of Charles Laughton), Anna Neagle (still acting on the London stage), Margaret Lockwood and her daughter Julia, Sarah Churchill (daughter of Sir Winston) and, in later years, Jean Arthur and Mary Martin.

★ ★ ★

Captain Hook, a prize role, has been done by Laughton, Boris Karloff and even Stanley Holloway, who as the Cockney father of Liza Doolittle enlivened "My Fair Lady."

AGELESS 'PAN' IS 65—A statue of Peter Pan stands in Kensington Gardens where Sir James Barrie used to sit on a park bench and meet the five children who gave him the idea for the character of Peter. Royalties from the fairy tale, which was first produced as a play in 1904, support a London children's hospital — a substantial feat for a figure of the imagination.

Lower Hemline Deadline Set

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — County Clerk R. B. James told the 200 women in his department they have until April 1 to lower hemlines to the vicinity of their knees.

"Serious business cannot be conducted in miniskirts," James said Wednesday.

'Adult Distrust Is Reflected by Students'

NEW YORK (AP) — Anthropologist Margaret Mead says students distrust those in power because those in power district themselves and each other.

★ ★ ★

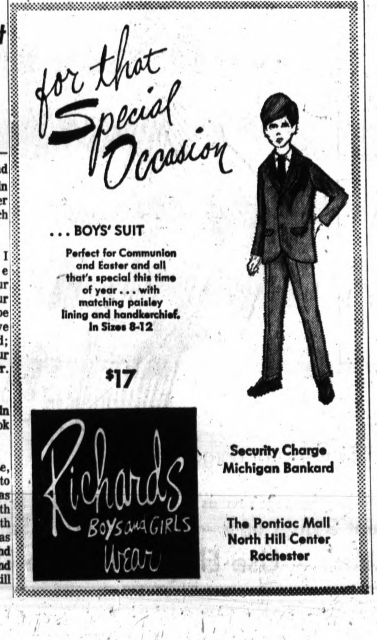
"What has happened, I believe, is that we have displaced onto the young our own sense of malaise, our distrust of our ability to cope with the deep changes we have brought about in the world; and the young are acting on our communication to them," Dr. Mead said.

★ ★ ★

Her views were expressed in the current issue of Redbook Magazine.

★ ★ ★

"The danger is," she wrote, "that as long as we continue to distrust ourselves, as long as we continue to respond with alarm instead of conceding with honesty that our world is not as we would wish it to be, our and their distrust can only grow and spread to include new and still younger groups."



Army Acts on Lagging Officers

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON—As a result of criticism leveled at the National Guard in last year's big-city riots, Army Guard and Reserve officers are going to have to get in their military schooling earlier to qualify for promotion.

BAULCH

And the Army says it will take a closer look at the performance of each officer, and will force into early retirement those who don't measure up.

At least those are the announced intentions of a program approved by Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor to be phased into effect over the next three years. It affects 82,000 officers in the Reserves and 33,000 in the National Guard.

The overhaul grew out of criticism by the Kerner Commission on Civil Disorders, questioning the caliber and competence of many Guard officers called up to help quell the civil disturbances last year.

A board headed by Brig. Gen. James Hollingsworth made more than 100 recommendations.

SPECIAL EFFORT

Another important proposal adopted is to serve notice that the Army will make a special effort to watch officers not assigned to units — and who thus have less supervision — and weed out those who drag their feet in meeting training objectives.

Guard officers who haven't measured up by the time they reach the minimum 20 years service to qualify for retired pay will not be kept on to build up to the normal maximum service—28 years allowed lieutenant colonels or 30 years for colonels.

* * *

Federal recognition boards — which is what Guard promotion boards are called since the states basically control their own National Guard units—will be realigned to give the active Army more of a say on who qualifies, especially in picking general officers.

An effort will be made to centralize these boards, as has been done for Reserve officer promotions.

CENTRALIZATION

In the future, second lieutenants will have to complete their basic course to get the gold bar turned to silver, whereas now there is no special education requirement.

The Army also is planning to ask that Congress permit speedup of promotion for those who finish their basic course early by requiring only 18 months in grade, instead of the present 24 months. However, all second lieutenants will be required to complete their basic course within 30 months after they are commissioned.

* * *

To get promoted from first lieutenant to captain you'll have to complete one-fourth of your branch advanced course, whereas now only completion of the basic course is needed.

To rise from captain to major you'll have to complete the whole advanced basic course, whereas only half of the course is required now.

DRASTIC CHANGE

There will be a drastic change in the rules for promotion from major to lieutenant colonel.

At present completion of branch advanced course is all that is necessary. In the future you'll have to get through half of the command and general staff course and manage to complete the study within three years after promotion to have a record satisfactory enough to keep active.

* * *

Criteria for promotion to general also are being toughened, made more precise and, according to the Army more equitable.

Efforts will be made to recruit into the Guard ROTC graduates who have completed their two years active duty. State operated Office Candidate School instruction will be increased by 50 hours to 300. And ways will be sought for active Army instructors to double up for both Guard and Reserve units to overcome the instructor shortage caused by the Vietnam war.

Rumbles in the VA

A St. Louis reader asked my comments on a letter to the editor from American Legion officials in Missouri saying "planners" in Washington are trying to absorb the Veterans Administration hospital and pension systems into the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The letter writer urged veterans to join a veteran's organization to help fight this and prevent abolishment of the VA.

* * *

The Legion officials overstate the threat a bit, as there is no indication of anybody trying to abolish the VA or to shift the pension system elsewhere.

But in recent years there have been serious moves to shift GI education benefits, especially the vocational rehabilitation program, to the Office of Education. And when the Vietnam war brought an upswing in GI home loans there was a move to shift that program to FHA.

* * *

All these efforts were squelched by loud protests from the congressional watchdog of veterans' benefits, Chairman Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, who got potent help from the various veterans organizations.

* * *

So far as I can find, none of the plans to shift VA functions is still alive. But such plans keep rising phoenixlike from their ashes, especially in time of war when so many public officials have their own view of how veterans should best be helped.

Police Locker Entry Is Ruled Illegal

BOSTON (AP) — A man's cotics agent in a locker Small home is his castle. So is the hired at the Harvard Square locker he hires in a subway station and neither may be entered without a warrant, U.S. Judge Frank J. Murray ruled Wednesday.

* * *

The ruling was in the case of Richard L. Small, 19, of Somerville, charged with possession of marijuana, seized by a U.S. narsubway station.

* * *

Judge Murray, granting a motion to suppress evidence of the seizure, said, "The locker may be viewed as an area . . . like a home . . . where a person is constitutionally protected and where he has a reasonable expectation of privacy."

Crime Is Vital to 22 'Families'

Genealogy of Mafia Traced for Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Mr. Attorney General, will you have your staff prepare a chart showing the growth of these families?"

The request from Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., had nothing to do with the population explosion.

★ ★ ★

He was asking Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to trace the growth of organized crime in the United States. It is estimated organized crime's net take from gambling is $7 billion a year, its drug yield $350 million and the same from loansharking.

McClellan spoke as though organized crime were synonymous with certain families in the United States.

MITCHELL KNEW

The senator took for granted the justice official would know what he meant.

Mitchell did.

He had just traced for McClellan's Senate judiciary subcommittee on criminal laws the composition of 22 "families" of La Cosa Nostra.

★ ★ ★

Most major American cities, Mitchell explained, have at least one family. New York has five.

Each has a patriarch, who heads the family dynasty and gives it his name. New York has its Gambino clan, Chicago its Giancana, Philadelphia its Bruno, Buffalo its Maggaddino, Detroit its Zerilli.

OTHER FAMILIES

Other cities with a family, according to McClellan, include Milwaukee; San Jose, Calif.; Dallas; Kansas City, Mo.; Pueblo, Colo.; Newark, N.J.; San Francisco; Pittsburgh; Los Angeles; New Orleans; Providence, R.I.; Cleveland; and Tampa, Fla.

Each family has a helper to keep the patriarch informed and to relay orders to the remainder of the clan, according to Mitchell. At the same level of stature is an elder member, partially retired, known as a consigliere, whose judgment is valued. Then come the camporegime or buggers between the hierarchy and the soldati and button men who actually operate the enterprises.

Finally, according to Mitchell, there are the "enforcers" — whose chores are obvious — and the "corruptors" whose devious activities include contacts with public officials.

The Cosa Nostra families have loyalty, not based on kinship, but written in blood. McClellan called to the attention of the committee that Chicago alone had 1,000 gangland killings in the past half-century.

McClellan wanted to know from Mitchell whether in all these years of war against crime, one Cosa Nostra family had been destroyed or its growth arrested.

The attorney general's answer was "no." He said he believed, however, that recent drives against the Cosa Nostra had put some dents in its families in New England, Chicago, Buffalo and Detroit.

Castle Yours for Repairs in Hungary

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Castles in Spain are said to be in short supply, but a romantic castle in Hungary is yours for the taking.

"Our village will give it to anyone who wants it," one of the community fathers of Baina told the newspaper Magyar Nemzet.

★ ★ ★

The castle was built in classicistic style by the famous Hungarian architect Jozsef Hild for Count Moric Sandor, a legendary Hungarian equestrian.

Sandor married the daughter of the Duke of Metternich, and the last owner of the castle was the Princess Clementine von Metternich who died in 1945.

After the war, the noble landmark was used as a tractor repair station.

Now it sits empty and badly damaged and Bajna has no money for repairs.

Only catch to the gift is that whoever takes over the castle must arrange for its restoration. Estimated cost: 7 to 8 forints (about $300,000).

Mobile Clinics to Hunt Hidden Killer Diseases Developing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A nationwide plan to screen millions of workers for hidden killer diseases — using mobile clinics on factory parking lots — is under development by the City of Hope Medical Center.

The program, called "Preventicare," is based on negotiations under way with labor and management to include in new contracts approximately one cent an hour for annual health checkups that would cost up to $150 in a physician's office.

★ ★ ★

Norman L. Sobol, director of the project, says this clause has been incorporated in one union contract so far and will be part of proposals for several others up for renewal this year.

The first contract to include Preventicare, he says, was signed recently between the International Association of Machinists Local 315 and the Air Reduction Co's welding division at Union, N.J. It covers 500 workers.

DISCUSSIONS UNDER WAY

Sobol said discussions now under way with firms he cannot yet name would cover more than 200,000 workers, and he expects the total eventually to be in the millions.

"If adopted on a large scale," he said in an interview, "Preventicare would significantly lower the nation's annual medical bill and at the same time enhance health care."

★ ★ ★

Several unions and companies have experimented with multiphased broad scope health screening—designed to prevent disease through early detection — as a way of reducing absenteeism and lowering the cost of health care packages.

"But these efforts have not been generally successful," Sobol says. "It has been difficult to persuade the worker to go to a clinic for this procedure — frequently on his own time — even if the cost is minimal.

TO THE WORKER

"Preventicare differs in that it brings the clinic to the worker. In just 80 minutes off the job he can get the same screening he would get if he spent several hours driving across town and sitting in a clinic waiting room.

"Our studies indicate 90 per cent participation can be expected under our program, which will employ numerous motivational methods such as education of the worker to the benefits of screening."

★ ★ ★

Sobol figures the screening program in the early stages, with only a few thousand people involved, will cost about $35 per worker, or 1.75 cents per hour over a year. With hundreds of thousands covered, he says, the cost should drop to $20, or one cent an hour.

★ ★ ★

For this the worker will get a checkup including some 23 tests for major diseases such as cancer, emphysema, diabetes and heart-and-artery ailments.

LEARN TOO LATE

"A surprising number of adults have diseases which they do not learn about until too late," he said. "When 1,000 people are examined, 20 to 24 will have diabetes, about 90 will have high blood pressure, 25 will have emphysema, eight to 13 will have cancer, 180 to 250 will have heart, vein or artery disease.

"On the average for working populations, one of two will have a significant abnormality requiring medical attention.

★ ★ ★

"These are figures for diseases people did not know they had. If the ailments are caught soon enough, many can live longer, more useful lives."

★ ★ ★

The City of Hope's trailer clinics will be equipped to take electrocardiograms, chest X-rays, pulse and blood pressure, Papinicolaou smears for cancer of the cervix, plus tests of eyes, ears, lungs, throat, blood and urine.

HUGE MEDICAL CENTER

The City of Hope, founded in 1913 as a refuge for victims of tuberculosis, has since become a huge medical center specializing in catastrophic diseases and research. With an operating budget of $14 million annually, its staff of 800 handles some 2,600 inpatients and an outpatient load of 40,000 visits a year. Care in the nonsectarian, donation-supported hospital is free, but patients must be referred by physicians.

★ ★ ★

"We have a history of dealing with labor unions," Sobol says, "dating back to our early days. Many of our first tuberculosis patients came here from sweatshops in the East and other places where working conditions were bad — conditions which the unions fought to improve. Since the 1940s, the major thrust for improved health programs has come from union-management relationships."

Sobol says multiphased screening, made possible by the use of computers to speed up detailed analyses, has been approved by the American Medical Association "and helps solve the growing shortage of doctors by allowing greater use of paramedical help such as nurses and technicians. Preventicare screening is always under the supervision of doctors, and results go to the personal physician for diagnosis and treatment."

The first targets of Preventicare are industrial groups, but Sobol says "City of Hope policy would favor extending it later to unstructured groups such as you find in slums if some way can be found to finance it. Here the early detection of disease is invaluable in reducing public health care costs.

LAYING GROUNDWORK

In the meantime, he says, "Preventicare is laying the groundwork for a breakthrough in medical care for millions of Americans, without waiting for government action."

ABM Decision Viewed Abroad

Japanese Skeptical; British Are Hopeful

LONDON (AP) — Two British newspapers said President Nixon still has some bargaining cards left for nuclear disarmament talks with the Soviet Union despite his decision to go ahead with an antimissile system.

But a Japanese writer predicted the arms race would be renewed and both the Soviet Union and the United States would have difficulties in getting nonnuclear nations to sign the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

These views turned up in a survey this week of foreign comment about American affairs.

The Times of London said the decision to go ahead with two missile sites "gives those who are working in the ABM system some hardware with which to work on the operational problems, but it leaves all options open in future dealings with Russia.

OWN ASSESSMENT

"But the Russians are unlikely to make their decision on American plans," the Times continued. "Their decision will depend much more on their assessment of the threat to them of Chinese nuclear attack and the capacity of their own ABM system, on which they have been marking time for some years, to reduce it."

London's Sunday Telegraph said it didn't think Nixon's decisions would provoke the Russians into expanding their antimissile system.

★ ★ ★

"Too often and too long has the West supposed that sweet reason and turning the other cheek are the most effective ways of dealing with the Kremlin," the Telegraph said. "The Russians have precious little respect for earnest 'do-gooders' and none at all for weaklings."

★ ★ ★

The Japanese newspaper Asahi said the decision paves the way for the Soviet Union and the United States "to enlarge their lead over China and France, two lesser nuclear powers, with the development of an ABM system."

★ ★ ★

"It seems inevitable," Asahi continued, "that the U.S. ABM decision will set off a renewed nuclear arms race with the Soviet Union and both Washington and Moscow will be less than persuasive in having nonnuclear countries accede to the non proliferation pact."

Another Japanese editorial praised the Apollo 9 for its study of the earth's natural resources.

Applications for Band Are Being Taken

Registrations are being accepted for the new Oakland Community Band, according to Roland Sharrette, Oakland Community College assistant director for cultural affairs.

Students and members of the community are urged to participate in the band.

★ ★ ★

Rehearsals will be conducted from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday evenings at Troy High School, 3179 Livernois.

Registration fees are $15, or $10 for OCC or high school students for a 15-week session. As an additional service, OCC will provide a new instrument for use at a $3 service charge.

★ ★ ★

The band will be directed by Harold Arnoldi, music department head and director of bands at Detroit Cass Technical High School.

For registration or information, contact the OCC Community Services Division, 2480 Opdyke, Bloomfield Hills, 48013.

Graduate Courses to Total 34 at OU

The Michigan State University Graduate Center at Oakland University will offer 34 courses spring term.

They will be offered in the fields of art, English, history, education, home economics, math, biological science, geography and sociology.

★ ★ ★

Registration for the term will be March 26 and 27 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., in 364 S. Foundation Hall, Oakland University. The first classes begin March 31.

Work of Art Put to Work

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Twenty environmental sculptures, in the form of 100-pound cast concrete stones, were discovered missing last week at the University of Oklahoma. Campus police began investigating the apparent theft.

Wednesday, two volunteer workers at a Norman day nursery admitted they were the culprits. They said they had thought the stones were debris from the university art foundry, and they had taken them to the nursery for the children to play on.

★ ★ ★

Art instructor John Lewandowski, who created the sculptures, had no comment.

Laugh-In to Air Joke of Boy, 12

BROOKVILLE, Pa. (AP) — David Brosius, 12, received a release form from NBC this week asking for permission to use a joke he sent to "Laugh-In."

David, a sixth grader, signed the release but included a request in the return letter. It said, "If you use my joke on your show, will you please use it on the last half because my dad watches another program during the first half."

Safeguarding Teens Against Narcotics—9

Parents Need Outside Help if Youngster Is Hooked

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the ninth in a series by a prize-winning science writer who provides parents with background on the narcotics and drugs and suggests ways for them to help guard their children against its ill effects).

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

If youngsters do become "hooked" or dependent upon mind-influencing drugs, what then?

By that time, authorities advise, the problem is usually beyond the parents' ability to handle it alone.

* * *

"Some kind of expert counseling is called for," says Dr. Kenneth Keniston of Yale University. It could be a family friend, a school counselor, a minister, a physician, not necessarily a psychologist or psychiatrist.

"Don't regard it as a sign of moral corruption, but rather as something being wrong in their lives," he adds.

OFFER THEM HELP

Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth of Harvard suggests telling them that "you will not condone what they are doing, but that you will help them all you can, and stand by them."

A college counselor adds: In interviews with college youths using drugs in a self-destructive way, "it was impressive how often drugs had been 'used' to parents, teachers and others that the individual desperately needed help."

* * *

The young tend to copy the ideas, values, beliefs — and also prejudices — of parents, and so parents should set good examples to follow.

* * *

John Finlator, associate director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, remarks: "It's difficult for adults to answer the young person who says, 'I don't know why people get excited when I use drugs — my old man's been hung up on martinis for years.'"

THEY MIRROR ELDERS

"Kids tend to tell the truth and mirror what we don't want to see in ourselves," says Dr. Morris E. Chafetz, Harvard Medical School psychiatrist. "We want to separate pot and alcohol, but we are of the generation that abuses so many drugs."

* * *

The way parents behave and talk can seem hypocritical at times to youngsters, who may then look upon mind-influencing drugs as a way of escaping hypocrisy.

Many adults have "made their peace" with alcohol and tobacco and tranquilizing drugs, but give a flat No to any experimentation with marijuana or fail to give cogent reasons for youths not to try it, points out a psychiatrist. This seems unreasonable to many young people.

Parents are not likely to make big points with their children if they simply say, "Wait until you've been through what I've been through in life — then you'll understand." That, says one physician, isn't going to be a very impressive argument if it seems to the youngsters that the parents' lives, jobs or marriages are somewhat miserable.

HEALTHY START

"Give kids a healthy pattern to follow, and start it early," a psychiatrist suggests. "When and if it ever comes to a real debate over whether a child has a right to do something, it is usually too late."

* * *

In the long run, says Dr. Keniston, "those of us who are critical of student drug abuse must demonstrate to our students that there are better and more lasting ways to experience the fullness, the depth, the variety and the richness of life than that of ingesting psychoactive chemicals."

* * *

Last presidential election year, with many young people actively campaigning for candidates of their choice, raised the question whether interest in national campaigns or other issues might replace pots and pills, suggests Dr. Donald B. Louria of New York City.

The point, he says, is that "If you want to cure the drug problem, the name of the game is commitment" to something else.

ACTIONS SPROUTING

Actions to spread education about drugs are sprouting across the country.

"The drug abuse problem concerns all of us; it is national in scope," says Finlator. "But it is not a national problem so much as it is a local problem, in the community, in the school and in the home. Here is the place where education has to be done.

* * *

"It would be best," he adds, "if our schools developed programs teaching respect for drugs in general, or in particular. But if a high school, for example, suddenly puts on a program on drug abuse only, youngsters will laugh at it. The idea of respect for drugs should be developed in courses or classes in general health education."

The new Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs represents a merger last year of the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, which Finlator headed, and the Federal Bureau of Narcotics headed by Henry Giordano. John E. Ingersoll is the director.

LITERATURE OFFERED

Both of the formerly separate bureaus have distributed millions of copies of pamphlets and literature on various aspects of drug use and abuse, and the new bureau continues to do so.

It lists a variety of motion pictures that are available for public showing.

"Today's youth demands accurate, factual, unprejudiced information, and when given such information honestly and directly, in my opinion they respond sensibly," says Dr. Keniston and others.

In many communities, there are increasing efforts to spread information about dangerous drugs. The pattern varies broadly.

In some places, parents organize special school courses, or one-day assemblies. Elsewhere, school personnel take the initiative.

Community organizations and service clubs sponsor other efforts. At least one community group also seeks "to bring pressure on local government, civic organizations, school boards, police departments and the like to act in solving the problem."

Numerous colleges and universities are initiating special educational programs about mind-influencing drugs, and other drugs.

"To be effective, a preventive educational effort must be carefully tailored to specific population groups, and must be based on the best educational and scientific footing," says Dr. Stanley Yolles, director of the National Institute of Mental Health.

A Junior Editors Quiz About INCLINED PLANE

QUESTION: How does an inclined plane work?

* * *

ANSWER: Inclined planes are classed as one of six simple machines, the others being the lever, the wheel and axle, the pulley, the wedge and the screw.

A machine is a mechanical device which can do work. It can not create energy, nor turn out more work than the energy put into it, but it can transmit energy so that the original force can operate more easily.

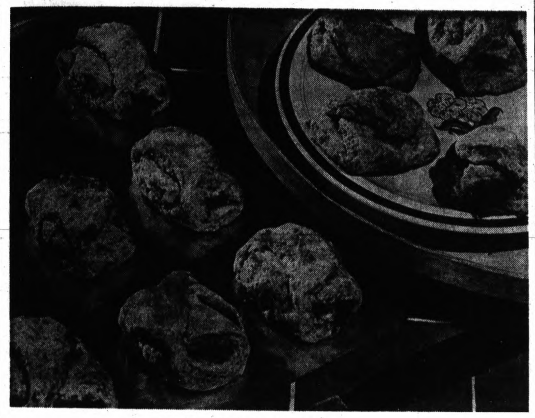
For example, you might find it very hard to lift a boulder up off the ground. But if you slipped a crowbar under it, resting on a small rock, you could tip up the boulder by pressing down the bar. This is the principle of the lever.

In much the same way, the men in our picture find they can't lift the heavy box directly up to the truck. But with a heavy plank to serve as an inclined plane and some rollers to reduce the friction, they find it very easy.

Actually, they have put out the same effort as if they had lifted the box directly up. But the plank had made the distance go much longer. This has changed the great effort needed for the short distance to a lot of little efforts over the long distance. Since these small efforts were easy to make, the men slide the heavy box up very easily.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

RAISIN MONKEY ROLLS



POCKET BISCUITS

Homemade Biscuits Always Popular

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

Special requests from readers of this page are always welcome. The subject of rolls and biscuits came up at a recent meeting and some of the women were surprised to know you can make your own biscuit mix.

* * *

This is similar to biscuit mix you buy and for mothers of large families, it is a lifesaver.

BASIC BAKING BLEND

16 cups sifted flour
10 tablespoons baking powder
2 tablespoons salt
3 cups nonfat dry milk
3 cups lard or shortening

Mix dry ingredients together in large mixing bowl. Cut in lard or shortening until well blended and mixture resembles coarse meal. Store baking blend in a tightly covered container in a cool, dry place. Use within one month. Makes about 20 cups.

* * *

This is an excellent preparation to take on a camping trip. Use the blend for a variety of baked products.

* * *

Biscuits: Mix 2 cups of Blend with ⅓ to ½ cup water. Roll or pat dough and cut into 2-inch size biscuits. Bake on ungreased pan at 450 degrees for 12-15 minutes. Makes 12 biscuits.

Muffins: Mix 1 cup Blend with 1-3 cup water and 1 egg, beaten. Pour into 6 greased muffin pans. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 minutes.

* * *

Dumplings or Cobbler: Mix 1 cup Blend with ½ cup water. Drop into hot liquid (such as beef stew for dumplings, or hot water-sugar-dried fruit combination for cobblers). Cook 10 minutes uncovered and 10 minutes covered. Makes 4-6 dumplings.

* * *

Pancakes: Mix 1 cup Blend with ½ cup water and 1 egg. Makes about 6 pancakes.

Make Layers of Sugary Dough

Serving this fragrant raisin quick bread is amazingly easy—just pull off a diamond puff! Why it's called monkey bread no one knows but it is a coffee time favorite dating back to early European days.

This modern version is conveniently made with biscuit mix and California seedless raisins. For this, the raisins are best chopped so try the slick new blender method of freeze chopping.

After cutting the dough into diamonds arrange in two layers in a tube pan. A sprinkle of sugar and cinnamon on top adds a sweet crusty finish. This unusual raisin bread is sure to be a conversation piece for coffee klatches or the bridge club.

RAISIN MONKEY BREAD

3¼ cups biscuit mix
Sugar
1 egg
Milk
1 cup coarsely chopped seedless raisins
¼ cup melted butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine biscuit mix with ⅓ cup sugar. Beat egg lightly in measuring cup. Add milk to make 1 cup. Stir into biscuit mix to make soft dough. Blend in raisins.

* * *

Turn out onto floured board. Roll to 8x8-inch diamond. Then cut into 16 (2x2 inch) diamonds. Dip each into butter, than in remaining ½ cup sugar mixed with cinnamon.

ARRANGE

Arrange 8 raisin diamons in in bottom of well greased 9-inch spring form pan with tube in center. Arrange remaining diamonds in second layer alternating points with those in first layer.

Pour remaining butter over top. Sprinkle with remaining cinnamon-sugar.

Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about 30 to 35 minutes, until browned. Let stand about 5 minutes, then turn out carefully. Place top side up on serving plate or in basket. Makes 1 (9-inch) ring.

TO FREEZE CHOP RAISINS

Freeze raisins until solid. Put ½ cup frozen raisins in blender and whirl at high speed 1 or 2 seconds. Remove from blender at once. Repeat until all raisins are used. To chop one cup raisins in blender put ½ teaspoon salad oil in blender first before adding the raisins.

Marmalade Is Hidden in Quick Bran Biscuits

If good biscuits are truly the sign of a good cook, then this recipe for Pocket Biscuits can well be the making of your reputation as a cook supreme. For here is a biscuit recipe that's quick and easy to do with results that are quite remarkable.

Made with bran cereal, these are filled with marmalade before baking. The biscuits come from the oven tender, fragrant and flavorful. You'll find them a most welcome addition to breakfast, lunch or dinner menu.

POCKET BISCUITS

½ cup ready-to-eat bran
½ cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ Teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
⅓ cup orange marmalade

Combine bran and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt.

Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add bran mixture and stir until combined. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few times.

* * *

Roll dough out to ¼ inch in thickness. Cut into ovals 2 inches long and 1 inch wide. Cut a slit in one end of oval. Put a teaspoonful of marmalade in middle of each oval; bring uncut end of dough through slit.

Place on greased baking sheet. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) about 10 minutes. Yield: about 1½ dozen biscuits.

Water in Last

When a recipe calls for baking custards in a water bath, put the custard cups in a deep baking pan and pour water that has just boiled into the pan so that it reaches about one inch from the top of the cups. Otherwise the water may boil over when the pan is placed in the oven.

Asparagus Soup Has Beef, Cheese

Forget to "plan ahead"? . . . no one would ever guess, when you serve this satisfying and delicious soup.

Last-Minute Soup

½ cup shredded dried beef
1 can (12 oz.) sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 can cream of asparagus soup
½ cup milk
1½ cups* cooked asparagus cuts and tips
¼ cup shredded cheddar cheese

Rinse beef in hot water, drain. Brown mushrooms, onion and beef in butter until tender. Add condensed soup, milk, and asparagus. Top with cheese and heat (do not boil), until cheese melts. Serves 4.

Know Which Flour Is Best for Recipe You Are Using

Most of the many brands of flour in our market are blends of hard and soft wheat flours, commonly referred to as all-purpose flours.

All-purpose flours that feel very gritty have a high proportion of hard wheat, and are ideal for yeast breads. Flour that feels soft to the touch (much like face powder) has wheat, and is better suited to cakes and pastries.

Either type makes good quick breads, though amount of liquid may need to be varied.

When you make cakes from recipes written for cake flour, if you substitute all-purpose flour, reduce amount of flour by 2 tablespoons per cup.

Instantized flours are all purpose flours treated to cause them to dissolve instantly in water. They are ideal for sauces and gravies, but do not always make as good baked products as regular flours. To substitute instantized flour in recipes written for regular, reduce flour by 2 tablespoons per cup.

No-sift flours are sold by most companies. These flours, like any other flour, pack down in shipping. To use no-sift flour in a recipe calling for sifted flour, either sift flour for measuring, or remove 2 tablespoons for each cup of flour measured without sifting.

* * *

Self-rising flour is all-purpose flour with leavening agents and salt added and thoroughly mixed. To use self-rising flour in recipes written for regular flour and sweet milk, omit the baking powder and salt called for in the recipe. Though self-rising flour may be used in sour-milk recipes with addition of soda, the end product may have a more obvious leavening agent flavor than is desired.

Banana Muffins Are Welcome in Any Menu

Banana bread has long been popular. So should tender little muffins made with bananas.

BANANA OATMEAL MUFFINS

1 cup sifted flour
⅓ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
⅔ cup rolled oats, quick-cooking or regular
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup finely chopped nutmeats
1 egg
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons salad (not olive) oil
½ cup well mashed banana

Into a medium-size bowl sift together the flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt; stir in oats and nuts.

In a small bowl beat egg slightly; add milk and beat to combine; stir in oil and banana; add to dry ingredients; stir only until they are moistened. Fill greased medium-sized muffin cups ⅔ full.

Bake in preheated 425-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 15 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 12.

VEGETABLE TEMPTERS — Theres' no need for wintertime vegetable dishes to be dull. Add some excitement to your menus by serving one of the deliciously different vegetable dishes shown here. Cauliflower, peas, broccoli and beans take a turn in the oven with a rich cream sauce and zesty seasonings for company.

Triple-Decker Burger Served Open-Faced

It's probably unnecessary to remind anyone that hamburgers must always be served with pickles.

But members of Pickle Packers International, Inc. feel if there's one unfortunate, uninformed soul in the country who hasn't heard the word, it's their bounden duty to help that one person discover how much better a hamburger is with a bit of pickle.

Try a Square Meal 'Burger for instance: it's just what its name implies, made with toast, cheese, a square hamburger, and on top of all that, a big helping of pickle-spiced cole slaw.

SQUARE MEAL 'BURGERS

1½ cups shredded cabbage
½ cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
⅓ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1½ pounds ground beef chuck
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon onion salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 slices Muenster cheese
6 slices sandwich bread, toasted

Combine cabbage, pickles, mayonnaise and mustard; mix well and set aside. Mix together chuck, salt, onion salt and pepper; shape into 6 squares (the shape and size of bread slices).

* * *

Broil or pan fry meat squares to desired doneness. Place 1 slice cheese on each slice toast; broil 1 or 2 minutes or until cheese melts.

Top each with square 'burger and ⅓ cup of pickle slaw. Garnish with a slice of pickle, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

SQUARE MEAL BURGERS — One of these square hamburgers with all its trimmings will be a full meal for the moderately hungry person. Of course, for others with bigger appetites, it's about right for a meal-between-meals.

Powdered Creamer Makes Wonderful Sauces

An exciting innovation in recipes is the use of the rich-tasting powdered creamer. Many good cooks have discovered it to be a convenient, economical and low-calorie replacement for perishable fresh cream in cookery.

CAULIFLOWER AND PEAS EN CASSEROLE

1 medium cauliflower, separated into flowerets
1 10-ounce package frozen peas
4 tablespoons butter
¾ cup finely chopped onion
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup powdered creamer
1½ cups boiling chicken broth
¼ cup fine fresh bread crumbs

In medium saucepan, cook cauliflowerets in boiling salted water to cover. Simmer, covered, 10 to 15 minutes or until just tender. Drain. Cook frozen peas as directed on package. Drain.

SAUCE

In large saucepan, melt 3 tablespoons of the butter over low heat until frothy. Add chopped onion; saute until golden and tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper.

Add powdered creamer, then boiling chicken broth all at once, beating with wire whip to blend. Increase heat to moderately high; cook and stir until sauce comes to the boil and thickens. Remove from heat.

Add the cooked cauliflower and peas. Pour into a shallow 2-quart casserole. Melt the remaining 1 tablespoon of butter; toss with bread crumbs and sprinkle over vegetables in casserole.

* * *

Bake 45 to 50 minutes in 375 degree oven or until bubbly and heated through. Makes 6 servings.

BAKED BROCCOLI RING

1 bunch fresh broccoli (about 2 pounds)
¼ cup butter
¼ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
½ cup powdered creamer
1 cup boiling chicken broth
3 eggs, well beaten
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup chopped parsley

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Trim broccoli; chop stems and flowerets into fine pieces. (This should make about 4 cups.) Cook in small amount of boiling water 10 minutes, or until just tender. Drain.

Melt butter in skillet; add chopped onion and saute until golden and tender. Blend in flour and seasoned salt. Add powdered creamer, the boiling chicken broth all at once, beating with wire whip to blend. Increase heat to moderately high; cook and stir until sauce comes to the boil and thickens.

Blend a small amount of the hot sauce into the well beaten eggs; return to mixture in saucepan and continue to cook 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Blend in chopped, cooked broccoli, mayonnaise and parsley.

Spoon into a well-greased, 5-cup ring mold. Set mold in pan of hot water; bake 35 to 40 minutes, or until a knife inserted comes out clean. Let stand 1 or 2 minutes before unmolding onto serving dish.

* * *

Fill center with whole baby carrots. Makes 6 servings.

LIMA BEANS AU GRATIN

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup powdered creamer
1 cup boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 10-ounce packages frozen lima beans, cooked and drained (4 cups beans)
½ cup grated Cheddar cheese
½ cup fine fresh bread crumbs
1 tablespoon melted butter

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. In saucepan, melt butter over low heat until frothy; add chopped onion and saute until golden and tender. Blend in flour; add powdered creamer, then boiling water all at once, beating with wire whip to blend. Increase heat to moderate; cook stirring constantly, until sauce comes to the boil and is thickened.

Remove from heat; blend in salt, pepper and mustard. Place cooked lima beans in a 1-quart casserole. Spoon sauce over beans; sprinkle with cheese. Combine crumbs and butter; toss over cheese.

Bake about 25 minutes, or until top is golden and sauce is bubbly. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Team Plentiful Foods

Two March plentifuls team up in a number of treats that are sure to satisfy "sweet tooths" of young and old alike.

PRUNE CANOES

Combine 1 cup peanut butter, 1 cup chopped peanuts and ¾ cup miniature marshmallows. Mix until thoroughly blended. Fill center of 30 pitted prunes with mixture. Roll in granulated sugar. Makes 30.

PRUNE-PEANUT CLUSTERS

Melt a 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces over hot water. All 1 cup finely chopped prunes and ½ cup chopped peanuts. Mix well. Drop by teaspoonful on waxed paper. Let harden. Makes 18 to 20 clusters.

PEANUT BUTTER-PRUNE SAUCE

Mix 2 cups each sugar and dark corn syrup with 1 cup water and a dash of salt. Simmer 10 minutes, and cool. Add slowly to 1 cup peanut butter and stir until well mixed. Stir in 1 cup chopped pitted prunes. Serve on ice cream, pudding or baked custard.

TURKEY ALLA ROMANO—Combine wonderful Italian flavors with American speed of preparation. Serve Turkey Alla Romano—turkey roast sliced, dipped in oregano-flavored flour, browned quickly and served with a quick sauce of cheese soup mixed with pizza flavored catsup.

Italian Touch Given to Turkey

The little Italian ladies of the 16th century were not thrown in the least when their men returned from that strange land (America) with equally strange birds (turkeys).

★ ★ ★

"Why," said the lovely signoras, "we will cook them like we do our peacocks" and they were so successful that even today turkeys can be found in many Italian markets.

★ ★ ★

In return, Italy has contributed her wonderful pastas, cheeses and spices to our cuisine. This recipe, Turkey Alla Romano, has an Italian flavor combined with American speed.

CONVENIENCE FOOD

The turkey is an easily cooked two and a half pound boneless turkey roast. Slices, ½-inch thick, are rolled in oregano, onion and seasoned flour, dipped in melted butter and browned in hot fat. They are served with a tasty and unusual sauce made of cheddar cheese soup and pizza flavored catsup.

★ ★ ★

With it, have green noodles with butter and don't forget to pass extra cheese sauce. Raw carrot sticks in ripe olive rings served on the plate lend texture and color contrast.

★ ★ ★

Those Italian ladies did us a fine turn when they sent their seasonings, herbs and cheeses. How in the world could we do without them?

TURKEY ALLA ROMANO

1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon oregano, crushed
⅛ teaspoon onion powder
4 slices (½ inch) cooked boneless turkey roast
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Oil for frying
1 can (11 oz.) condensed cheddar cheese soup
¼ cup milk
¼ cup pizza flavored catsup

Combine flour, oregano and onion powder. Roll turkey slices in flour mixture. Dip in melted butter. Heat oil in frying pan to 400 degrees. Fry slices 1-2 minutes on each side or until lightly browned.

Serve with sauce made by combining cheese soup, milk and catsup in small saucepan. Heat to boiling. Yield: 2 servings.

Note: (1) Turkey may also be deep fat fried at 400 degrees for 2-3 minutes. (2) Sufficient sauce to serve with mashed potatoes or rice.

LUSTROUS BLUEBERRY PIE — You assemble this pie in three parts. The baked crust has nuts in the dough. Pour in canned blueberry pie filling. Top with meringue you've browned on a cookie sheet.

Modern Blueberry Pie Full of Special Touches

"Pretty is as pretty does" is an old saying with modern applications in this pie. A golden pastry shell, flecked with nuts . . . a sparkling pie filling, spooned fruity and juicy right from the can . . . a light and airy top, concocted of a fluffy frosting mix . . . these are the pretty as well as the practical parts of Lustrous Blueberry Pie.

★ ★ ★

Store leftover pie, if there is any, by covering and refrigerating it. Take the pie out of the refrigerator 20 minutes or so before serving time, and it will be at its best the second time around.

LUSTROUS BLUEBERRY PIE

Pastry

1 cup sifted regular all-purpose flour
1 cup ground mixed salted nuts (except peanuts)
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
About 3 tablespoons cold water

Topping

1 package fluffy white frosting mix
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel

Filling

1 No. 2 can (2 cups) blueberry pie filling
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Combine flour, nuts and salt. cut in shortening. Add water, a little at a time, and toss lightly with fork until all of dry pastry mixture is evenly moistened. Shape into a ball; wrap in waxed paper and allow to stand 15 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Roll pastry 1 inch larger than inverted 8-inch pie pan and fit into pan. Turn under extra pastry and press into upright rim; crimp decoratively. Bake at 425 degrees about 12 minutes or until golden brown. Cool.

MERINGUE

Mix frosting mix according to package directions. Fold in lemon peel. On buttered cookie sheet, draw a circle, using round cake pan as guide. Mound frosting high inside circle; swirl with back of teaspoon. Bake at 325 degrees about 14 minutes or until lightly brown.

★ ★ ★

Just before serving, fill baked shell with blueberry filling, spiced with cinnamon. Slip topping onto filling. Makes 8 servings.

West Bloomfield Five in State Semifinals

ENCOUNTERS INTERFERENCE—West Bloomfield's Curt Britton (55) led the Lakers to a 48-42 rebounding edge over Bay City All Saints in their state quarter-finals showdown last night, and he managed to snare one of his 16 retrieves here despite an obvious foul by the Cougars' Jim Schell (44). Steve Westjohn is the Laker looking up at the battle.

Lakers Spurt in Fourth to Oust Bay City Five

By JERE CRAIG

Which way to East Lansing?

It's been 29 years since a West Bloomfield High School (nee Keego Harbor Roosevelt) basketball power earned a berth in the state Class B semifinals but the 1968-69 Lakers squirmed their way there Wednesday night with a pulsating 62-60 quarter-finals conquest of Bay City All Saints at Grand Blanc HS.

Coach Art Paddy of the 22-time victorious Lakers sent an advance scouting party to Lansing this morning to get the West Bloomfield commitment of 1200 tickets.

But there might have been a secondary mission of reconnoitering the route to the Michigan State University campus where WBHS will tangle with Kalamazoo Hackett at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

The coach himself hasn't taken a squad this far previously and none of the current team members were even born when Roosevelt battled all the way to the finals in 1940.

The noted showman Al Jolson was famous for his "you ain't seen nuttin' yet" routine, but West Bloomfield last night gave a fourth-quarter show that would rival any of the great Jolson offerings.

The Lakers rallied from a 10-point disadvantage with eight minutes to go, taking the lead for the first and only time in the final minute of play and then withstanding a late "tying" shot by All Saints.

Bay City's 5-foot-9 backcourt whiz Dick Heintskill drove into the lane and looped in a one-handed basket as time ran out.

However, official timer Ed Burke advised officials Pete Fornari and Jim Robinson that the shot left Heintskill's hand after the buzzer sounded and the basket was disallowed.

IN CONTROL

For three periods the 3,000 fans at Grand Blanc watched Bay City All Saints (19-4) and its mini-marvel Heintskill put down all of the Lakers' sputtering efforts to make the game close.

All Saints jumped into an 8-0 lead at the beginning before Steve Westjohn finally dropped in a long jumper for the Lakers.

The once-beaten WBHS cagers missed their first five shots, weren't getting to the backboards and were beating themselves with mistakes. They had 6 of their 19 turnovers for the game in the first quarter.

The Cougars also made 9 of 12 foul shots in the period and were able to open an 11-point gap at 19-8. A 5-for-11 effort from the field also figured in their holding a 19-12 edge at the buzzer.

Both teams showed the effects of the pressure by going 3½ minutes without a point as the second quarter commenced. The Lakers finally snapped the dry spell.

They even spurted near the end of the half to cut their deficit to 25-22, but All Saints netted the final six points and went to the locker room with a 31-22 bulge.

★ ★ ★

Each made less than 33 per cent of its field goal tries in the opening half. West Bloomfield gained a 26-18 advantage on the backboards but dissipated it with 11 turnovers compared to four for Bay City five who also made 13 of 20 free throw tries.

All Saints tossed in two quick third-quarter buckets and assumed its biggest advantage with a 35-22 lead. The Lakers came back with the next five tallies.

The spread then stayed from 8 to 11 as the Bay City squad managed a slight rebounding edge to offset their slumping shooting. Entering the final session the difference was 47-37.

Paddy sent the Lakers into a full-court press although Dave Karlson and John Crowder were both out of the game with five personals.

The diminutive Heintskill, who led all scorers with a hard-earned 28 points, took over the shooting for the Cougars. He hit all four of their last-quarter baskets and took 8 of their final 10 shots.

Karlson and Crowder both departed on fouls trying to halt his slippery moves, and he later claimed Laker subs Casey

Seconds Tick Away for Bay City Quintet

"I was sure the basket was after the buzzer," a much-relieved coach Art Paddy of victorious West Bloomfield affirmed after last night's nerve-draining quarter-finals victory over Bay City All Saints at jammed Grand Blanc High School.

"I didn't hear the buzzer but the way the kid dribbled around he had to use up more than three seconds before that last shot. I thought they'd go for the long shot."

Bay City's All-State 5-foot-9 senior guard Dick Heintskill left everyone in confusion by taking an inbounds pass near midcourt, feinting toward the right sideline, diving into the lane and after a slight hesitation, slipping an underhand layup past the cautious but close defensive effort of the Lakers' Mickey Elwood.

ONE OF 11—Steve Westjohn hauls in one of the 11 rebounds he had in last night's quarter-final victory over Bay City All-Saints. Dick Heintskill of the Saints watches the board work.

BIG UPROAR

The shot dropped through with the uproar drowning out the final buzzer. Did it or didn't it count?

Referee Jim Robinson of Swartz Creek and umpire Pete Fornari of Flint both moved quickly to the scorer's bench to check with the official timer, Ed Burke of Grand Blanc. After what seemed to be an interminable conference, the basket was ruled out.

Paddy was asked what were his thoughts at the moment?

"What can you think?" was his rhetorical reply.

TURNING POINT

Later the veteran coach cited the full court press for turning the tide in the Lakers' favor.

"They were just too careful earlier," he commented. "(Casey) Hamill was the only one who was driving. They got to thinking about Lansing and didn't want to make any mistakes.

"When we went into the press this got them moving," Paddy said. "I told them at the half I didn't mind losing if we played our game, but they were too deliberate."

The dramatic victory didn't leave the winners with their heads in the clouds. After a joyous celebration in the middle of the court with their followers, the Lakers' locker room rejoicing was tempered by their happy but reserved coach.

"I told them we were lucky that we played a game like that and still won," reported Paddy. "They were happy on the bus coming home but they didn't overdo it."

CHECKING REPORT

Paddy, in fact, although making his first trip to East Lansing with a basketball team, didn't meet with his scout (assistant coach Adrian Dutcher) from the Kalamazoo Hackett-Holland Christian game until today. Hackett prevailed, 81-72 in overtime.

West Bloomfield (22-1) will meet the Kalamazoo quintet (19-5) at 2 p.m. tomorrow on the Jenison Fieldhouse court at Michigan State University.

River Rouge (23-2) — who outclassed Holt (18-4) last night, 74-38 — will clash with Menominee (18-2), a 77-71 winner over Oscoda (19-3), in the 3:30 p.m. Class B semifinal.

Tickets for the Lakers-Kalamazoo game are $1 and are on sale at the school along with token tickets ($1.50) for Saturday's 11:30 a.m. championship game which may be redeemed if the West Bloomfield forces advance to the title tilt.

Tigers' Freehan Sidelined With Broken Nose

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—"I was just trying to get in some extra work and this was the payoff."

Detroit Tiger catcher Bill Freehan wore another protective type of mask today and wasn't too happy over the added burden, which guards a broken nose.

The Tigers weren't too happy either, at losing their fourth straight exhibition game, a 4-3 affair with the Cincinnati Reds.

Freehan was taking extra batting practice Wednesday before the Tigers left for the game at Tampa, when he was struck by a Jim Northrup pitch in the batting cage.

BALL STRIKES

"I thought I was finished hitting and had dropped my sights when the ball struck," Freehan said. "I was just going to the mound and throw a few myself."

Freehan, the indispensable receiver of the World Champion Tigers, will be sidelined two weeks. Officials expect him back in time for the regular season.

Meanwhile, he is fitted with a huge protective mask that covers the entire middle of his face.

He must wear it until Monday to insure the bone setting properly. An orthopedist set the bones and put a metal splint on the nose for support.

Wings Stay in 5th With 4-4 Standoff

By the Associated Press

It's a goal-by-goal uphill battle for the Detroit Red Wings in their struggle to overtake Toronto for the fourth and final Stanley Cup playoff spot in the National Hockey League's East Division.

The Red Wings rallied for two third period goals Wednesday night to tie the Oakland Seals 4-4 in a contest on the West Coast, to remain two points behind Toronto, who tied St. Louis 1-1.

In other NHL games, Montreal downed Chicago 5-2, Boston edged Pittsburgh 3-2, and New York defeated Minnesota 4-2.

Detroit, which has five regular season games remaining including two against Toronto, plays at Los Angeles tonight.

The Red Wings had come from behind twice to stay in the game.

Oakland's Bill Hicke scored twice but the Detroit production line of Frank Mahovlich, Alex Delvecchio and Gordie Howe was the total Red Wing attack.

Hicke put the Seals ahead on a power play at 13:55 of the first period.

MOVE AHEAD

The Red Wings moved ahead 2-1 in the second on a shorthanded goal by Dean Prentice and Mahovlich's 45th score of the season.

Oakland came back to take the lead again on consecutive goals by Hicke, Brian Perry, and Carol Vadnais.

★ ★ ★

General Manager Sid Abel of the Wings, subbing for Coach Bill Gadsby, switched goaltenders in the third period, inserting Terry Sawchuk for Roy Edwards.

Sawchuk blanked the Seals in the final 20 minutes while Howe scored his 41st goal of the season and Bruce MacGregor got the tying score on a power play at 15:27.

Boston edged Pittsburgh with Bobby Orr becoming their latest record man but they remained three points back of Montreal in the East race because the Canadiens ripped Chicago. Boston has six games left to play and Montreal five.

Orr scored his 20th goal of the season, matching the record for defensemen set by Detroit's Flash Hollett in 1944. It was the game-winner for the Bruins and pushed Orr's record total of points for the season to 62.

Orr also assisted on Phil Esposito's 45th goal—the 119th point of the season for the record-breaking Bruin center.

The Bruins have scored 279 goals—15 more than the old NHL record for a team. But they still trail the Canadiens.

Jacques Lemaire scored twice for Montreal and Rogatien Vachon kicked out 42 Chicago shots as the Black Hawks sank deeper in the East Division cellar.

★ ★ ★

The Canadiens shut out Bobby Hull, who was seeking to score a record-equalling 54th goal. Bobby Rousseau, Ralph Backstrom and Dick Duff scored the other Canadiens' goals while Stan Mikita and Pit Martin clicked for Chicago.

Jean Ratelle assisted on all four New York goals and Rod Gilbert had a goal and three assists as the Rangers tripped Minnesota and opened a fivepoint bulge over Toronto in the battle for third place in the East. The fifth-place North Stars, hoping to qualify for the West playoffs, remained two points back of idle Philadelphia.

Gilbert, Jim Neilson, Vic Hadfield and Dave Balon where the Ranger scorers while Bill Collins and J. P. Parise countered for Minnesota.

Gary Babourin's 24th goal of the season, scored while he was in mid-air, gave St. Louis its tie with Toronto. Sabourin lunged over a player and beat goalie Bruce Gamble with less than nine minutes remaining, balancing an early goal by Ron Ellis of the Maple Leafs.

O. J. Eying Minor League

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The president of the Orlando Panthers says O.J. Simpson has offered to play for his Continental Football League team for $400,000, and the Panthers think that's a fair price to pay Orange Juice to promote the Sunshine state's favorite beverage.

"O.J. and his agent approached Jim Dunn, the Continental League commissioner, two weeks ago and offered to play for $400,000 if O.J.'s negotiations with the Buffalo Bills fell through," said Elmer Cook, Panthers president.

"We went to the Florida Citrus commission and asked them to put up the money, since it was a natural promotional bit to go along with their slogan— Drink O.J.," Cook explained.

The Citrus Commission seemed quite warm to the proposal, Cook said, figuring that a specimen of manhood like the ex-Southern California running back would do as much to up the sale of orange juice as all the vitamin-C plugs put together.

At present, Simpson is committed to contract negotiations with the Bills of the American Football League, and cannot legally play for any other AFL or National Football League team if he fails to reach a contract with the Bills.

COMES OFF THE BENCH—One of the key players in West Bloomfield's come-from-behind 62-60 win over Bay City All Saints last night was junior guard Casey Hamill (13). He came off the bench to generate movement in the Lakers' offense with his drives to the basket. He hit 6 of 11 shots and scored 13 points. Chuck Glowick tries to block Hamill away from the basket late in the third quarter.

Mumford Next for Ypsilanti

JACKSON (AP) — The No. 1 Class A high school basketball team in Michigan pulled a rabbit out of the hat Wednesday night and as a result jumped clear to Lansing for the state tournament semifinals Friday.

Ypsilanti, rated No. 1 all season by the Associated Press, overcame a stern challenge from No. 2 ranked East Lansing to take a 78-73 victory.

The game was one of 16 quarterfinal games in classes A-D.

East Lansing led 22-16 at the end of the first quarter and the game was tied 39-39 at the half. East Lansing again pulled ahead by the end of the third quarter 54-53 but Ypsi outscored the Trojans 25-19 in the final stanza.

Substitute Charles Fuller came in for Ypsilanti in the second period when foul trouble plagued some of his teammates. He was hot from the start and sank 21 points for his team's high. East Lansing's Blake Ashdown was high man over-all with 22.

MUMFORD WINS

Detroit Mumford will be Ypsi's opponent Friday. Mumford downed Detroit Southwestern 51-43 in their quarterfinal match in Ferndale. Mumford led throughout the game and Marvin Taylor and Melvin Carr each hit for 13 points.

In the other Class A games, Detroit Northeastern crushed Mount Clemens 89-69 and Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills beat Flint Northwestern 65-53. The two winners meet each other in the semifinals. Northeastern's Frank Robinson pumped in 35 points to move his team's record to 17-2.

River Rouge, ranked all season as No. 1 in Class B by the AP, overwhelmed Holt 74-38. Bill Kilgore paced the winners with 20 points and 17 rebounds as River Rouge dominated play from the start and led 40-17 at the half.

Kalamazoo Hackett and Holland Christian were tied 71-71 at the end of regulation time but Amos Jones hit for six of his total 34 points in overtime to pace Hackett to an 81-72 overtime victory. Holland Christian, which led 41-28 at the half, got 24 points from Dan Brower.

Dave Hagland scored 33 points and Dewey Bellisle 24 as Menominee trimmed Oscoda 77-72. Maynard Crowley was tops for the losers with 23 while his brother Ed netted 21.

LEAD 'C' GAME

Houghton led most of its Class C game but Shepherd staged a comeback to move ahead by two in the fourth quarter before finally succumbing 50-46. Gary Langehad got 29 of Houghton's points.

In other Class C game Grosse Point St. Paul used a balanced scoring attack to beat Flint SM. Michael 68-58, despite St. Michael's 21 points each from Dan Blair and Terry Fagan.

★ ★ ★

Brooklyn Columbia Central led for three quarters but White Pigeon had a hot fourth quarter and won 53-46. White Pigeon outscored Columbia Central 18-6 in the last period.

Meanwhile, Saginaw St. Stephen's John Couture and Manistee Catholic's Dave Adamczak each flipped in 22 points but St. Stephen took a 74-68 win as it led all the way. Manistee Catholic was on a 20-game winning streak and ended the season with a 20-3 record.

Fourth-Period Rally Decisive

Lakers Earn Berth in Semifinals

Hamill and Wally Alix in the closing minutes of play.

While Heintskill sank three of his four charity tosses in the last session, his teammates missed 7 of 9 tries and this was the factor that finally gave West Bloomfield its necessary momentum.

The winners also began driving through the cautious, slower and perhaps tiring Cougars. Down 52-43, the Lakers roared back with 9 of the next 11 points sparked by Curtis Britton's scoring and rebounding.

Their deficit was 54-52 with 3:20 to go. All Saints unsuccessfully tried to protect its lead at the charity stripe.

CATCH UP

Finally, the resurgent West Bloomfield cagers knotted the score for the first time on Steve Westjohn's short shot with 1:20 to play.

★ ★ ★

Alix, who was still in the game at this moment, then came up with the night's biggest steal. He picked off a Cougar pass at midcourt and the winners roared toward the hoop.

The shot missed but Jim Bays picked off the crucial rebound and dropped in the go-ahead two-pointer as 55 seconds showed on the clock.

Soon afterward Alix left with his fifth foul, and while Paddy deliberated on his substitute, play resumed with Al Laskowski missing the crucial free throw.

West Bloomfield received perhaps its biggest break at this time. Britton was fouled fighting for a loose ball.

OVERSIGHT

The officials, who called a close game but did a strong job under adverse conditions, unfortunately hadn't noticed the departure of the fourth Laker on personal fouls and WBHS was playing with only four players for about 10 seconds.

However, the personal foul enabled the situation to be corrected quickly without harm to the winners. After a timeout, Britton calmly sank both foul shots with :37 showing.

Heintskill retaliated with Bay City's final two-pointer. As time was running out, the winners tossed the basketball out of bounds with six seconds remaining. Time out was called.

The Cougars maneuvered the ball to midcourt and called time, again, with three seconds remaining. Then came Heintskill's questionable drive and too-late bid to tie the game.

At Kalamazoo, Hackett rallied from a 13-point halftime deficit to tie Holland Christian at 71. The winners then buried Holland's hopes by a 10-1 spread in the overtime.

Big Amos Jones dropped in six of his 34 points in the extra session for Hackett's Irish.

Spartans Halt Cincinnati '9'

Rick Miller Homers for Michigan State

MIAMI (AP)—Michigan State and Miami each pounded Cincinnati pitchers in big innings Wednesday to win easy victories from the Bearcats in the Hurricane Baseball Tournament.

★ ★ ★

The Spartans scored eight times in the third inning of the clash with Cincinnati as they took a 10-5 decision. Rick Miller struck MSU's big blow with a three run homer, his third in two days of tournament action.

★ ★ ★

Miami's first eight batters reached base in the second game as the Hurricane's pounded Cincinnati for nine runs in the first frame. Joel Green, Larry Pyle and George Maduro all had two hits in the inning for Miami, on the way to their 11-6 win.

★ ★ ★

Miami leads the tournament with a 3-0 mark. Michigan State is 1-2, and Cincinnati is 0-2. Army joins the tournament field today.

Bill Freehan Hurt, Then Tigers Lose

Freehan's injury left the list of able-bodied catchers in the Detroit camp at two with a combined total of nine big league games in their background.

Rookie Joe Cernich and journeyman Hector Valle were all that was left to handle the catching chores after Freehan's freak injury put him on the sidelines with Jim Price.

Both men are expected to be ready physically for the opening game April 8 against Cleveland in Detroit, but they will be far behind in conditioning.

And if there should be any complications in the recovery of Freehan's nose or Price's pulled side muscles, then there will really be trouble.

Cernich was a .240 hitter at Montgomery last year, while Valle managed only .197 for Jacksonville. Chances of picking up a reliable catcher on the market at this time are rather remote, although the Tigers did get Price two years ago at just this time of year from Pittsburgh.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers lost to the Reds as three errors let in two unearned runs.

Mickey Lolich worked five fairly good innings, the longest stint by any Tiger so far. Darrell Cheney socked a Cincinnati homer off Pat Dobson.

Yankees Edge Atlanta

Angels' Rally Brings Win

HOLTVILLE, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels scored twice in the ninth inning to edge the San Diego Padres 6-5 in exhibition baseball Wednesday.

Vic Davalillo tripled to tie the score after a walk. Then Jarvis Tatum and Bill Voss were intentionally walked to load the bases by rookie right-hander Tom Dukes.

Jom Fregosi popped up, but Jay Johnstone walked to force in Davalillo with the winning run.

The Angels, meanwhile, cut 11 players—pitchers Jim Englehardt, Bob Foderero, Lloy Allen, Bill Bohlert, Ken Tatum and Steve Kealey; and catchers Randy Niles and Mike Nunn; infielders Winston Llenas, Hilario Rojas and Jim DeNeff.

OTHER GAMES

In other exhibition action Wednesday, the New York Yankees edged Atlanta 3-2, Boston bombed Houston 13-1, Los Angeles shut out St. Louis 3-0, the New York Mets shaded Philadelphia 5-4, Baltimore downed Pittsburgh 8-5, the Chicago Cubs dropped Cleveland 10-7, San Francisco defeated Seattle 9-4, the Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 5-1, Minnesota tripped Washington 6-4 and the Yankees' "B" team edged Montreal 5-4.

★ ★ ★

Catcher Frank Fernandez tagged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, sending the Yankees to their victory over Atlanta. It was the sixth loss in the last seven starts for he Braves.

Jim Lonborg pitched four hitless innings and singled two Boston runs across in a seven-run rally against Don Wilson as the Red Sox battered Houston. George Scott had a two-run double in Boston's big fourth inning.

Len Gabrielson's two-run triple was Los Angeles' big blow and the Dodgers got shutout pitching from Bill Singer and Claude Osteen to beat St. Louis. Curt Flood had two hits for the Cards.

Cleon Jones drove in four runs with a homer and a single against Philadelphia, leading the Mets to their fifth straight victory. Jones boosted his spring average to .433 and has three homers and 12 RBI in eight spring games. Deron Johnson had a three-run homer for the Phillies, his first hit of the spring.

GRAND SLAM

Brooks Robinson walloped a grand slam homer and Frank Robinson added a two-run shot as Baltimore beat Pittsburgh. Rookie outfielder Al Oliver had three hits include two triples for the Pirates.

The Cubs spotted Cleveland six runs in the first inning and then roared back to beat the Indians. Rich Nye worked six innings in relief, allowing one run and smashed a two-run homer to lead Chicago's comeback.

Gaylord Perry worked six innings in San Francisco's victory over Seattle, allowig three runs. Bob Ethridge drove in three runs for the Giants.

Dayton Clinches Hockey Crown as Blades Tie

By the Associated Press

Dayton was idle Wednesday, but still clinched its second International Hockey League championship in five seasons when second place Toledo was tied by Fort Wayne, 6-6.

★ ★ ★

It was the only IHL contest Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Fort Wayne grabbed a 4-0 lead but Toledo stormed back with six straight goals. Fort Wayne tied it on Reggie Primeau's counter with 16 seconds left to play. Bobby Baird netted four goals for Fort Wayne.

Tops in NFL

Add Air Title for Morrall

NEW YORK (AP) — Chalk up another honor today for Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts.

The much-travelled National Football League castoff was officially named the NFL's champion passer for 1968.

The 34-year-old quarterback, who was traded by the New York Giants to the Colts, thus achieved one feat never accomplished by Johnny Unitas.

Morrall took over for the arm-injured Unitas, who had been the NFL's All-Star quarterback and Most Valuable Player in 1967.

★ ★ ★

Morrall was first in touchdown passes (26), third in average yards gained (9.18), third in completion percentage (57.4) and ninth in lowest percentage of interceptions (5.4). He hit on 182 of 317 passes for 2,909 yards with 17 interceptions.

The standings are based on completions, touchdown passes, percentage of interceptions and average yards gained. To qualify a player must throw at least 140 passes. Don Meredith of Dallas was second followed by John Brodie, San Franisco; Bat Starr, the 1962, 1964, 1966 champion of the Green Bay Packers; Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants; Bill Nelsen of Cleveland; Bill Munson of Detroit; Sonny Jurgensen the 1967 champion of the Washington Redskins, and Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles.

Honor for Lew

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor, three-time All-American at UCLA, was named winner Wednesday of the Dr. James A. Naismith trophy, awarded by the Atlanta, Ga., Tipoff Club, as the outstanding college basketball player of the past season.

Broncos Start Baseball Tour

WMU Meeting Navy in Opener Sunday

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The Western Michigan University baseball team begins its season Sunday with a game against the Naval Academy in the Dolphin Classic at Jacksonville, Fla.

* * *

It will be the first of 11 games the Broncos will play during a week-long stay in Florida. They will also play four other teams in the Classic and then tangle with the University of Florida in two doubleheaders.

* * *

"We could be a good club," Head Coach Bill Chambers said, "but much depends on the start we get in Florida. We're going down there to find out something about our club."

* * *

Western Michigan had a 17-11-1 record last year, placing second in the Mid-American Conference.

LAKER LETS ONE FLY—Junior backliner Wally Alix (11), one of four substitutes who picked up the slack in the clutch for West Bloomfield's struggling Lakers Wednesday night, breaks clear for a jump shot during the second half against Bay City All Saints. Although not scoring any points in the game, Alix helped get the winners' attack moving and also made the key steal in the game. Jim Schell (44) of the Cougars and teammate Bob Purolewski aren't able to prevent the shot, while the Lakers' Don Johnston (43) reflects apprehension. West Bloomfield pulled out a two-point victory 62-60 after trailing until the final minute of play.

'N-not Nervous' Insists Coach

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Drake Coach Maury John, making the last minute preparations for tonight's encounter with awesome UCLA in the semifinals of the national collegiate basketball championships, made a slip of the tongue that must be indicative of something.

* * *

"We're loose and easy," he said, commenting about the team's attitude going into the game with the top-ranked Bruins. He nervously twisted a microphone cord and repeated:

* * *

"Loose and easy. We've played a lot of pressure games. And we've won 12 in a row. Yes, we've got a 12-game losing string going.

"Ahh, make that a 12-game winning string. Yes. Winning."

But Drake, ranked No. 11 with a 25-4 record, is a 13-point underdog to the mighty Bruins and Lew Alcindor, a team that has lost only two games in three years and is gunning for a record third consecutive national championship.

PURDUE HURTING

North Carolina, No. 4 with a 27-3 record, plays Purdue, No. 6 and 22-4 in the opener of the NCAA semifinal doubleheader at 7:40 p.m., EST.

The winners move into the title game at 4:15 p.m., EST, Saturday afternoon.

* * *

All games will be televised nationally by NBC-TV.

All four teams arrived Wednesday afternoon and each took a one-hour workout. UCLA and Drake both are at top physical condition, while both North Carolina and Purdue have injury problems.

* * *

Purdue will lack the services of 7-foot Chuck Bavis, their regular center, who had an operation for a shoulder separation earlier this week.

* * *

Coach Dean Smith of North Carolina said Dick Grubar, North Carolina's floor general "and the boy who's put us in the national tournament for three years," definitely is out with a knee injury.

City Quintet Moves Ahead in Rec Play

Conn's Clothes of Pontiac turned back Mount Clemens last night, 71-60, to advance to the regionals of the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association basketball tournament.

The regional is slated for Flint next week. Pairings and game times will be announced later.

* * *

Conn's built a 39-28 halftime lead and made it stand up through the second half. Fred Davis poured in 24 points to set the pace while Carl Arnold checked in with 18 and Lester Hardiman 16. Murdock Williams paced Mount Clemens with 22 points.

Draft Rights for Lew Go to Bucks of NBA

By the Associated Press

Lew who?

With or without Lew Alcindor, Wednesday was Milwaukee's day in the National Basketball Association.

In a special coin toss with Phoenix, the Bucks won the draft rights to UCLA's All-American 7-foot-1½ center. But Alcindor didn't score a point or grab a rebound as the Bucks downed the Suns 117-110 in a game between the NBA's Eastern and Western cellar-dwellers.

Elsewhere, New York prevented Baltimore from clinching the Eastern Division title 104-100, Philadelphia stayed in the running with a 136-115 triumph over Seattle, Boston virtually ended Chicago's playoff chances 104-92 and Cincinnati took Los Angeles 136-128 in overtime.

In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky walloped Denver 131-106, New Orleans crushed Minnesota 134-106, Houston beat Dallas 130-121 and Los Angeles beat Oakland 143-136.

"We lost," said Richard Block, president of the Phoenix Suns, after losing the Alcindor coin flip, and that about sums up the Suns' day.

* * *

Repeated rallies fell short in Phoenix' loss to Milwaukee on the court, despite Dick Van Arsdale's 32 points. Jon McGlocklin led the Bucks with 26 points.

New York prevented Baltimore from clinching its first regular season championship behind Willis Reed's 37 points. With three games left, the Bullets lead Philadelphia by 2½ games. The 76ers are 1½ games in front of the Knicks.

Reed scored 12 points in a 22-10 fourth-quarter burst that sent the Knicks ahead 103-93 after they trailed most of the game. Kevin Loughery paced the Bullets with 30. One Baltimore victory or one Philadelphia defeat will do it.

"We figure we have to win one game," said Baltimore Coach Gene Shue. "I'm proud of my team. I'm so pleased with my players it's unbelievable."

Hal Greer led Philadelphia past Seattle with 34 points. The 76ers jumped to a 10-2 lead and the SuperSonics never got closer than five points.

* * *

Philadelphia's Chet Walker and Seattle's Tom Meschery were ejected after a fight and police had to prevent them from resuming in a hallway leading to the dressing rooms.

Boston, leading by 75-71, exploded for 11 straight points in 2½ minutes and whipped Chicago. The loss means the Bulls can do no better than tie San Diego for the fourth and last playoff berth in the West. Bailey Howell sparked the Celtics with 27 points.

Spring Is Near

Skiing Heads Downhill

By The Associated Press

With the advent of spring-like warm weather and the thoughts of most young men turning lightly to love and baseball, a few hardy souls are still waxing their skis. It appears they'll need a lot of wax this weekend.

No new snow is reported anywhere in the state, but Upper Peninsula areas are still reporting good skiing in most areas.

Wolverines Eye Big Ten Title in Gymnastics

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Eight teams and 101 athletes battle in the Big Ten gymnastics championship Friday and Saturday at the University of Michigan.

Michigan, which swept through 12 dual meets and posted the highest point total (192.1) in the nation this season, rates as the favorite. Strongest challenges are expected to come from Iowa and Michigan State. Last year the three teams divided the title.

Defending Big Ten and two-time world champion trampolinist Dave Jacobs leads the Wolverines.

Entrants went through some required routines today.

Casper Has Eye on Masters

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Bill Casper is not exactly the conniving type but he admitted today he has designs on the Masters.

★ ★ ★

He hopes to sneak up on it.

"I keep trying to find the right formula for going into the tournament," the 1968 pro golfer of the year said. "One year I play a heavy schedule, the next year I lay off, then I pick a spot here and there.

"I'm still looking for the answer."

Casper, who has played only five rounds of golf in the last four weeks, is one of the star-studded field of 144 teeing off today in the first round of the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open.

The once feared big three—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—also are in the pack for the first time this year plus Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open titleholder, and the crowd of young turks threatening to take over the game.

For many of them, this is the stretch run toward the Masters, the season's first major championship coming up in April in Augusta, Ga.

None is looking toward the grand spectacle amidst the Georgia pines with greater anticipation than Casper, the 37-year-old Mormon with the world's most exotic allergies.

Bill has won two U.S. Opens. He is second only to Arnold Palmer in all-time money winnings. He led everybody last year with more than $211,000.

But he's never won the Masters, nor the British Open nor the PGA.

"I usually set goals for myself," the mild-mannered lay preacher from Chula Vista, Calif., said. "This year I have determined to win a major championship. I wouldn't mind winning a third U.S. Open.

Coach to Play in U.S.-Canada Game

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—John Mayasich, 35-year-old coach of the U.S. amateur ice hockey team, was ready to step in today and take his place in a vital world championship game against Canada.

★ ★ ★

Bob Paradise, a defenseman from Rochester, Minn., sprained his left wrist in a fall at practice Wednesday, and doctors gave him only a 50-50 chance of playing against Canada.

Mayasich, who was general manager of the Green Bay Bobcats in Wisconsin, is playing coach.

But in the United States' three tournament games thus far he has been fifth defenseman and has gone on to the ice for an occasional short spell.

Today's game was a crucial one for both teams. Canada, with only two points from three matches thus far, desperately needed to win to have any hope of finishing the tournament among the medals.

★ ★ ★

The Americans, in last place after three successive defeats, badly want to win or tie to boost their hopes of staying in the championships next year.

If they finish last of the six-team pool, they will drop to Group B — a humiliation never suffered by the United States since the world championships were started.

The U.S. squad got together for the first time a little more than a week ago.

★ ★ ★

Mayasich said: "The boys are all looking foward to playing the Canadians and hoping that they get off the mark at last.

★ ★ ★

"This accident to paradise was the worst luck we could have had, and it happened just when we were beginning to get together as a team."

Red Wing Star After 25

Two More Years to Play, Says Howe

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe, Detroit's superstar now in his 23rd season, is shooting for 25 years in the National Hockey League.

It looks like he might make it.

"I plan to try for 25, that is if I stay healthy. I have another year on my contract which takes me to the end of next season. Then I may try for one more."

The amazing Howe is having one of his best seasons ever. He has 40 goals and 54 assists—94 points, and has an excellent chance of topping the 100-point mark in Detroit's six remaining games.

* * *

The 41-year-old right wing says of his decision to go for two more seasons:

"I've always said that if I had two bad years in a row I'd quit. Well this one has been good. So even if I have a bad one next year, it would still give me the following season to prove myself."

WITHSTANDS PRESSURE

Howe does not let pressure get to him.

"They (the management) expect you to eat, sleep and live hockey. To me that's a good way to go crazy. I don't believe in it," said Howe.

Howe takes care of his body.

"That is a hockey player's equipment. You keep in shape and watch your weight. You eat the things you know you should."

* * *

Howe is still optimistic about the Red Wings' chances for making the East Division playoffs this year.

"We can still do it ourselves by winning our own games," he said. "We still have two games left with Toronto, home and home. They are four-pointers. We must win both of them"

Mr. Red Wing has been with his team since 1946. From 1949-50 through last season Howe has been among the top five scorers, with 1,480 points racked up during 19 seasons. His all-time total is 1,677 points.

NO COACHING?

Asked if he plans to coach after retiring from active play, Howe said, "I don't think so. I don't want to sound like I'm crying, but I've been in hockey a long time. Coaching I think is tougher than playing. My family is growing and I've missed it.

"In the summer I'm away on the tour for the department store chain I work for. I don't see my family for a month and the children all look as they've grown a foot.

"They go skiing and then come home and I hear them talk about it. I'm not a part of it. I'm missing this part of their lives. No, I think when I quit as a player I will just take it easy."

Of his left winger on the Red Wings, Frank Mahovlich, Howe says:

"Frank saktes for those holes. I've never seen a player who could skate for those holes better . . . Frank is fast."

According to Howe, Mahovlich is longer on strength than stamina.

* * *

Howe was asked if Mahovlich is tough to play with. He said:

"No, but you have to lead him pretty good with a pass. Maybe more than the average guy. Frank is a positional player. He goes up and down."

Speaking of Red Wing center Alex Delvecchio, Howe said: "Now you are talking about the key man on the line. Everybody must do his share, but being the center, Alex is the guy that makes things tick. He's a great center, eh?"

Howe says of the Red Wing defense:

"We have a much better defense this season. Bob Baun has been a standout for us since the first game. Paul Popeil has developed and so has Ron Harris."

BETTER CLUB

Howe thinks Coach Bill Gadsby, a former defenseman himself, has made the difference in the Red Wing defense "We've a better club."

Howe comments on Gadsby's coaching:

"All coaches get mad and chew players out. Bill is no different than the rest. He's a good coach. I like his practices better than Sid's (Sid Abel, general manager). He mixes things up. They are more interesting. There is nothing more deadly than doing the same things over and over again day after day. We have some real good practices with Bill."

Howe's philosophy on the game:

* * *

"Well pep talks don't win hockey games, expecially with older players. You start getting up for the game the day of the game. I still get nervous . . . I suppose I always will. But that disappears once the game starts. Then when the game is over you try to put it out of your mind. You don't take it home with you."

Kite Competition Set in Waterford

Kite flying contests for mom, dad and the kids are coming up on the Waterford Township Recreation Department schedule.

The contests are slated for 10 a.m. April 12 at the Waterford Kettering High School athletic fields. If rained out, officials said the event would be rescheduled for April 19.

Fast Pitch Group Meets

The South Oakland Fast Pitch Association will conduct an organization meeting at the Hazel Park Recreation Center, 620 Woodward Heights, Hazel Park, March 25, at 8:00 p.m. Further information is available at Hazel Park Parks and Recreation, 547-5535.

Local Links Open

Sylvan Glen Golf Club on Rochester Road is opening the season today. Head pro Vic Juhola said reduced rates would be in effect until the course is properly conditioned for play.

'70 Super Bowl in New Orleans

Miami Loses in Bid for Third Game

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The 1970 Super Bowl football game will be played in New Orleans after a two-year residence in Miami.

New Orleans won out in a spirited tussle with Miami for the Super Bowl game between the AFL and NFL champions Jan 11.

The vote, not announced, was not unanimous. But the majority prevailed for New Orleans in both leagues.

It's a one-shot deal for New Orleans, which was what the city advocated.

Opening lead—♠ Q

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

While bidding has improved tremendously in contract so that the good player of today bids better than the greatest experts of the late '20s and early '30s, there has been far less improvement in the play. The expert of those days would play almost as well as the expert of today and far better than the good player.

There have been many improvements in defense with different opening leads and new signals but the standard plays of the old days are still standard plays today.

★ ★ ★

One of the most unusual standard plays is the unnecessary finesse taken by declarer to give himself an extra entry to dummy. If it fails, declarer has lost both the entry to dummy and a trick.

The unnecessary finesse can be blocked by a second hand high play but it is rare indeed for a defender to recognize it and rise to the occasion.

★ ★ ★

South reached seven hearts after a typical 1930 bidding sequence. He started quickly by winning the spade lead in dummy and taking a successful trump finesse. Unfortunately, West showed out.

South needed two more entries to dummy if he wanted to make his grand slam. After long thought, he saw that the unnecessary finesse in diamonds would produce them and he led his six of diamonds.

★ ★ ⅞

Raymond Balfe, one of the great auction players and a good man at contract, huddled. He knew South had some problem and finally decided that it was the need for an extra entry to dummy.

Once that decision was made, Raymond played his queen of diamonds on South's six-spot and settled South's hash.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♥	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	4 ♥	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	5 ♥	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ A K 6 5 ♥ 3 2 ♦ 5 ♣ A K 10 9 6 4

What do you do now?

A—Pass. If your partner held the ace of diamonds he would have shown it.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding six hearts your partner has bid five diamonds. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Friday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Legal proposition may not be all you think; ask questions. If you investigate, you turn up valuable information. Don't take risks with possessions, money. Pleasant evening is indicated.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Activity that had been delayed gets off the ground. You see way clear. Money is coming your way. Doors previously closed are opened. Means you can make your own opportunities. Do so.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Keep close watch behind the scenes. Means don't accept surface values. Promises are bright. But some who make them are not equipped to deliver. Keep something in reserve. Be discreet.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Domestic area undergoes change. This is due mostly to activity connected with visitors, friends. You are called upon to make decision. Stick with what you know.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accent on accomplishment. Greater recognition indicated; push career. Hold off on journey. Finish present task. Leave no loose ends. Don't carry burden not rightfully your own.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Remain within financial bounds. Don't overextend yourself. A new contact proves exciting. Impress with sincerity, not extravagance. Simple approach is best one today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Take care in dealing with mate, partner. Best not to hurl charges. Try to understand circumstances. Otherwise you could be disturbing hornet's nest. Word to wise should be sufficient.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Changes due at place of employment. You could be personally involved. Accent on how you adjust to challenge. Key is to be versatile. Ride with the times. Don't oppose progress.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You receive great benefits from routine tasks. Day when you are appreciated. By applying yourself, you double benefits. Key is persistence, attention to details.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Life is spiced through variety today. Kaleidoscope of events occurs. Routine changes. Opportunity presents itself. Accent on willingness to take a chance on yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Avoid unnecessary trips. Greater satisfaction obtained close to home base. Stress on building solid structure. Means be sure of facts. You could be challenged later by one in authority.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Guard valuables. What you own could appear very attractive to others. Avoid carelessness. Tendency exists to romanticize persons, situations. Be sensitive without being foolish.

IF FRIDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have fine sense of humor. Acting ability could be pronounced. Shaky financial situation is but temporary. Beginning next month you rebound toward success.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Day features significant break from tradition.

'It's Foresight to Maintain Good Vision'

Cataract Patient Looks Back on Surgery

By JOE WING

NEW YORK (AP) — It was just five years ago this spring that I began to go blind. But there was something I could do about it, and I did.

As a result, I can see now as well as anybody my age has a right to expect—better perhaps than you do. In the doctor's office my vision is 20-20, although it's not that perfect under actual working conditions.

* * *

What brought this all about was of course that I developed cataracts in both eyes and had them removed. Neglected cataracts, as one of my grandmothers could have testified, may well result in total blindness.

When friends first heard about my affliction, they seemed as shocked as if the surgeon had pointed a scalpel at one of their own eyeballs. Their sympathy made me feel pretty important, and helped scare the daylights out of me.

HE PUT IT OFF

Of course nobody likes to have his eyes fooled with. And in spite of assurances from the opthamologists that such operations are nearly foolproof, I waited as long as I dared.

* * *

Really though, it was quite simple. They drugged me until I was practically unconscious, slit open my left cornea, lifted out the clouded lens, and sewed the eye back up again. There was little pain and, thanks to new techniques, no necessity for immobilizing me. After five weeks, I had been fitted with special glasses, was back on the job and paying off the doctor's bill.

In my right eye also, however, there was an incipient cataract. It didn't develop as quickly as those things sometimes do, but a year ago I had to have it excised. A cataract, incidentally, is not a growth but simply a clouding of the natural lens. The only way to treat it is to remove the lens.

It's encouraging how quickly friends become inured to your sufferings. This time their sympathy quotient was much lower and in fact my own qualms were fewer. The actual operation assayed about the same the second time around in boredom and hospitalization miseries.

WAYS TO SEE

People still keep on asking how I made out. Just fine, I tell them. I can see not merely in one but in 2½ ways.

With contact lenses and ordinary reading glasses, my vision is about as good as ever, though the contacts cause discomfort.

Without the contacts but wearing heavy, thick "cataract glasses," I have no more discomfort than anyone using spectacles, but my periphery vision is limited. As a result, I'm apt to bump into people on the street, and stumble upstairs, and find automobiles sneaking up on me.

* * *

If I discard both lenses and glasses, I can still see enough to get around a room or perhaps walk down the street (I've never tried it) but I cannot recognize anyone even two feet away.

So it's not all roses, and I recommend earnestly that you maintain good vision and, if possible, shun the operating table. But a cataract operation sure beats blindness.

U.S. Readies Huge Sea-Air Weather Look

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists in coming months will make a massive study in three dimensions to learn how the sea and air work together to generate the earth's weather.

The project, to be carried out in May, June and July, is aimed at improving weather forecasting. It is being undertaken by the United States in cooperation with the government of Barbados. As described by U.S. agencies today, it will be "the most intensive scientific investigation ever made over a large ocean area."

* * *

It is called Bomex for Barbados Oceanographic and Meteorological Experiment. It will cover 90,000 square miles of the Atlantic east of Barbados and a vertical air-sea "parcel" stretching down from an altitude of 100,000 feet to the ocean floor at a depth of 18,000 feet.

"The mechanism of sea-air interaction is almost unknown," the announcement of the project said, "Yet it is the primary process which drives the atmosphere's circulation and its weather systems.

* * *

"Unless this process is explored and understood, it will be impossible to extend weather prediction to more than a few days."

About 1,500 persons from seven U.S. agencies and 19 universities and seven industrial laboratories — in the United States, Canada and Barbados — have enlisted in Bomex.

Antiproclamation System in Congress Is Paper-Thin

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Reperesentatives declined this week to take the first step toward the creation of a "thin" antipresidential proclamation system (AAP).

WEST

Purpose of the system would be to provide partial protection against the annual bombardment of presidential proclamations designating various days, weeks months as national observances.

* * *

A bill blocked by the House Tuesday would have set up a commission on national observances and holidays to review proposal calling for such proclamations.

After due study and deliberation, the commission would then recommend whether the president should issue them.

* * *

Both supporters and opponents of the "thin" APP system agreed it would not offer a foolproof defense against all national observances.

Such observances as "National Farm-City Week," "National Forest Products Week," "Save Your Vision Week" and "National Safe Boating Week" would not be stopped by APP.

* * *

Supporters of the system contended, however, that APP would serve as a safeguard against such observances as "Frozen Potato Month," "Save the Pun Week," "Pickle-Hamburger Month" and "National Procrastination Week."

* * *

In order to penetrate APP, an observance would have to be of "natural significance" and devoid of fraternal, political, religious or commercial promotion.

TO PROTECT CONGRESS

Some critics of APP felt the system was designed primarily to protect Congress, rather than the American public.

In the 90th Congress, 502 bills calling for presidential proclamations were introduced. Of these, 17 reached the White House.

* * *

Under APP, these proposals would have been shifted to the commission, thus shielding Congress from the outrage of groups whose requests for proclamations were rejected.

I personally favor a "thick" APP system that would be effective even against "National Hispanic Heritage Week," "National Little League Baseball Week" and "National Maritime Day."

NONPROLIFERATION

Failing that, I would like to see President Nixon attempt to negotiate a proclamation nonproliferation treaty.

At present, there are between 30 and 40 organizations with presidentially proclaimed observances. The treaty would freeze the figure at that level.

* * *

This would entail persuading organizations that do not now have observances to renounce future sponsorships. If we can't abolish them, let's at least keep them from spreading.

Treatment Asked for Alcoholics

LANSING (AP) — Michigan would use a section of Muskegon's North Shore Hospital for treatment of alcoholics under terms of a bill introduced Wednesday by Sen. Oscar Bouwsma, R-Muskegon.

* * *

If the proposal is adopted and a contract negotiated "it would be of great benefit, not only to alcoholics themselves, but to the community as a whole," Bouwsma said.

Trading Is Active

Stock Mart Continues to Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to rally early this afternoon in active trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.97 points at 918.08. The Dow gained 4.73 points Wednesday.

* * *

Gains continued to hold a strong edge over losses.

Brokers said investors apparently were cheered by Wednesday's rally as well as by earlier reports that secret cease fire talks in the Vietnam War were under way.

"And the increase in short interest is a favorable development," one said. "It was a small increase, but it does indicate buying support is around to some extent."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.3 at 335.3, with industrials up 2.5, rails up 1.2, and utilities off .5.

* * *

Steels, apparently getting a boost from the gain in factory durable goods orders in February, generally were higher. U.S. Steel gained a point. Republic Steel was up ½.

Motors were higher, with Chrysler gaining a point to lead the group.

* * *

Rubber and electronics generally were higher. Aircrafts were mixed.

Of the 20 most-active stocks on the American Stock Exchange, 13 were higher, 5 lower, and 2 unchanged.

Oxford Twp. Girl, 3, Is Bitten by Dog, Hospitalized

An Oxford Township girl bitten on the head by a German shepherd dog yesterday is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Christine Kubisch, 3, of 410 Spezia required stitches at St. Joseph to close the wound on the back of her head and may require surgery, Oakland County sheriff's deputies say.

* * *

She was bitten while playing with the dog at the home of Gene Hampton, 465 Tanview.

Hampton, the owner of the dog, said the dog has been vaccinated and that he hasn't bitten anyone in the past.

Census Data Vital, Researcher Asserts

EAST LANSING (AP) — Proposed changes in the 1970 U.S. census could impede the work of many government agencies, particularly those dealing with housing and problems in the ghetto, says a Michigan State University researcher.

Dr. David Verway of the MSU Bureau of Business and Economic Research said the census questions dealing with housing and population already are strongly under attack in Congress.

* * *

Some proposed bills, he noted, would eliminate most of the questions in the household questionnaire, reduce the size of the sample of households which must complete the form or make response to most questions voluntary.

* * *

Arguments for changing the census, Verway said, contend:

- The subject matter covered is too broad.
- The legitimate interests of the U.S. government do not require much of the data collected.
- Many questions overstep the bounds of propriety.
- Answering them constitutes an invasion of privacy.
- Publication of these data is a windfall for private enterprise.

ALREADY DELETED

Verway said two items already deleted from the 1970 census relate to the condition of housing and the mother tongue of the householder.

Two questions new to this census pertain to the availability of a dishwasher and the ownership of a second home.

* * *

Those who oppose changes in the questions and the way the data is collected, Verway said, contend this would impede the work of many government agencies.

He said data on race, age, income, educational attainment, occupation and other employment characteristics is invaluable to city planners and to market researchers.

* * *

As an alternative to eliminating many questions or making response voluntary, Verway suggested that "the best safeguard against invasion of privacy is the reputation of the Census Bureau itself."

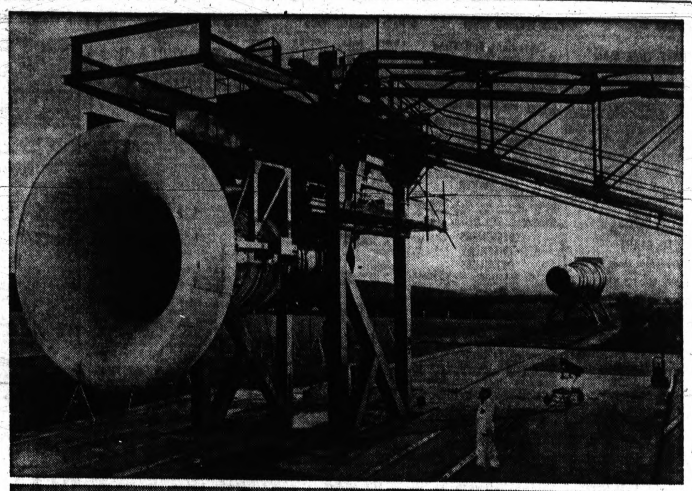
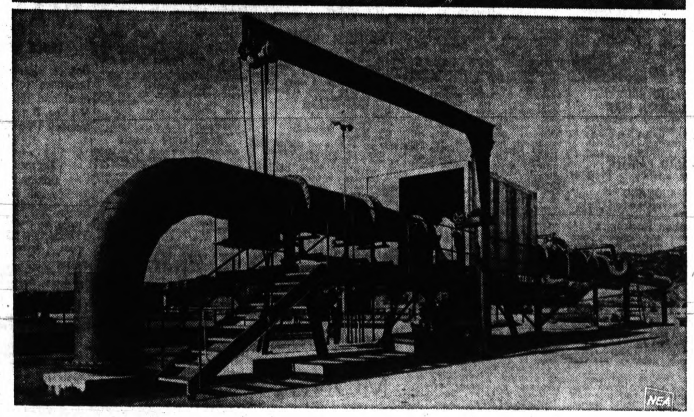
A passenger in Berg's car, Richard Witmaac, 19, also of Troy, was hospitalized in serious condition.





THE QUEST FOR QUIET — Efforts to reduce engine noise on jetliners of the 1970s continue on both sides of the Atlantic. A giant Rolls-Royce RB 211 engine (top) for Lockheed's 1011 TriStar is prepared for antinoise testing in a new open-air test bed in England. Lockheed's newly completed test facility (bottom) near Burbank, Calif., will be used for development of sound-absorbent materials to line engine intake and exhaust ducts. Air is blown through piping at 600 miles an hour to simulate jet noises.

Still No Leads in Area Slaying

Detectives Seeking Data From Witnesses

Oakland County detectives still have no solid leads in the slaying of a Lake Orion woman Sunday but are seeking key information from witnesses.

Detectives Fred Pender and Harry Jones of the Sheriff's Department want to speak to anyone who saw a man talking to a woman seated in a 1963 black Cadillac convertible in front of the Doctors' Clinic, 25 Lapeer.

* * *

Mrs. Frances Ann Brown, 22, of 121 S. Slater was found in the car about 200 feet away from the clinic in an alley parking area beyond Front street near Lapeer at about 2:15 a.m. Sunday.

* * *

The detectives said Lake Orion Officer Earl Rinehardt and his partner believe they saw a man standing outside the car talking to the victim inside about 1:15 or 1:30 a.m.

SUSPECT CAR MOVED

Detectives suspect the car was then moved to a more secluded spot in the alley parking area where Rinehardt found the woman, strangled with an undergarment and almost completely nude, on the car's front seat.

The alley parking lot is near the Ver-Wood Bar, 54 S. Broadway, where Mrs. Brown was seen earlier in the evening, the detectives said.

* * *

Some 50 persons in the area, many from the bar, have been questioned by sheriff's detectives and Lake Orion police, Pender said.

Rinehardt discovered the body as he was checking an unoccupied car with its motor running next to the Cadillac, detectives said.

Mrs. Brown, who was about four months pregnant, is separated from her husband, according to the detectives.

Beef Dinner Set

The Whiting Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, Milford, will serve a beef dinner in the Masonic Temple, 438 N. Main, tomorrow from 4:30-7 p.m. A bazaar table will be included at the event.

DOT Is Likely to Put U.P. on Eastern Time

Michigan's Upper Peninsula can get ready to move back officially into the Eastern Standard Time Zone, if the U.S. Department of Transportation follows the wishes of the majority, as it has indicated it would.

Time long has been a matter for argument in the Upper Peninsula, and it likely is to continue as such—whatever the official decision.

A howl went up last year when the Department of Transportation decreed the entire Upper Peninsula fell within the Central Standard Time Zone. So, the department decided to take a vote—among the boards of supervisors in the 15 counties above the Straits of Mackinac.

It indicated the majority would rule in its final decision and that this would come before April 27.

MOST VOTES UNANIMOUS

Thirteen boards of supervisors voted for Eastern Standard Time, with those in Gogebic (Ironwood) favoring Central Standard, and Keweenaw not voting.

Most of the votes were unanimous, but Dickinson County supervisors split 12-3 and those in Menominee Countp 11-4.

* * *

Three counties, with the Department of Transportation looking the other way, so to speak, haven't paid any attention to the Central Time order anyway.

They are Chippewa, Luce and Mackinac at the eastern end of the peninsula, which stretches more than 300 miles from Sault St. Marie in the east to Ironwood in the west.

SOME DAYLIGHT

Before Congress adopted the Uniform Time Act, giving the Transportation Department authority to set zones and specifying all states—except those voting to exempt themselves—should be on Daylight Saving Time half the year, UP counties observed time pretty much as they pleased.

There were spots of Central and Eastern and even some Daylight.

* * *

Michigan's Legislature beat down an attempt to exempt the state from Daylight Saving Time and it prevailed last summer, but voters since have overturned the Legislature via referendum and exempted the state.

So, there'll be no Daylight Saving Time anywhere in Michigan this year—unless the Legislature somehow overturns the voters.

Clean-Water Funds Stalled in Committee

LANSING (AP) — "We're stalled deader than a doornail," said Rep. Raymond Smit, R-Ann Arbor.

Smit was talking about efforts to apportion the $335 million in bonds approved last fall by voters seeking cleaner streams and waters in Michigan. The money was to result in $1.2 billion in sewage treatment plants and facilities.

* * *

The stalemate is in the House Committee, which failed to act Committee which failed to act for the third week in a row on two bills setting guidelines.

One bill would provide $285 million for 210 new sewage treatment plants along with improvements at 125 existing plants. The other bill would provide $50 million to help finance sewers in smaller towns.

If action is not taken by May 15, the state will not be able to apply for state and federal funds. Much of the 1969 construction season could be lost as well.

"We're in trouble, deep trouble," Smit commented.

"I don't think this committee feels comfortable with these bills," said Tom Anderson, D-Southgate and committee co-chairman.

Anderson said proposed legislation will be hard to sell to the Legislature.

"Each one of those guys is going to ask 'What's in it for my district?' And we're going to have to tell them it's on the basis of need only.

"This is not a pork barrel bill," Anderson said.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of Walter Klekol, who passed away 2 years ago March 20, 1967.
Often alone, lonely heartaches,
Too many silent tears,
A beautiful memory of the one I loved so dearly,
Sadly missed by wife, Anna.

TED'S CORNER

In order to close a sale here are a few items that must be done. Bank appraisal must be made. A new credit report ordered. A pay off letter of the existing mortgage must be secured. Title work and a survey must be made in accordance by the board of directors of the lending institution must be handed down. All in time consuming but there is a long delay, it is usually because your realtor is working for your interests. Your realtor is as anxious to close as you are for he does not receive his commission until the closing. Waiting can be nerve racking at times, but it is for your own protection to do so.

Wilson Scores Fast Assist in Landing Sandy Film Job

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Those strange stories of girls getting a movie contract really do happen.

A few months ago a beautiful and shapely blonde named Sandy Roberts (from Knoxville, Chicago and Cleveland) walked into my office to see somebody who no longer works here.

WILSON

Well, she attracted attention anyway, and one chap with an eye for beauty and figure exclaimed to me, "There's a girl here as stunning as Raquel Welch." I gave up whatever arduous task I was at to take a look at her . . . then several looks.

Who would be interested in her? We thought of Marty Ransohoff, head of Filmway's in Hollywood, who had once brought along a girl named Sharon Tate.

It turned out Sandy had already been on his lot to do a personality film test—but he'd never seen her.

* * *

When he did, he agreed with our opinion—and Sandy will be signing a contract with Filmways . . . and she'll play the lead in "The Moonshine War" probably opposite Lee Marvin.

* * *

Sandy should fit into the film because her part Cherokee Indian grampa was a real moonshiner in Tennessee. (Practiced his art in Union County around Maynordville and was known as Cheek, Sandy tells us.

* * *

Sandy posed for a Playmate spread which hasn't run, and she hopes it won't now—till she gets famous.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Linda Eastman, the bride to Beatle Paul McCartney, will collect a $5 bet from J. Marks, author and designer, that she'd marry Paul, when she brings him here next month to meet her parents, the Lee V. Eastmans.

Linda, 27, who met McCartney at the San Francisco Cow Palace when she was an eager young follower of the group, says the dirty dog didn't remember it when she met him a few years later in London when she was a mature photographer.

* * *

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: With women becoming jockeys, let's be thankful horses don't have fenders.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: There isn't anything wrong with having nothing to say, as long as you don't insist on saying it. —Lester B. Dill.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: Advice to dieters: "If you bulge, don't indulge."

EARL'S PEARLS: Beware of the man who keeps reminding you he's on your side. So is appendicitis.

Joan Rivers speaks of the opportunities in this country: "I read of a man who came here and amassed a fortune, though he knew only three words of English—'Stick 'em up!'" . . . That's earl, brother.

Griffin Warns TV Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin has warned the television industry it will invite government controls unless it curbs violence and sex programming.

"I don't want to give the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) more power," the Michigan Republican added Wednesday, "and I don't want a law, but the industry is leaving us in a position where we have little choice."

* * *

Vincent T. Wasilewski, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, assured members of the Senate communications subcommittee they can expect "greater aggressiveness" by the industry and its code authority.

He also reiterated assurances given by network heads a week ago that the industry wants to cooperate with a study by the U.S. surgeon general of the effect of crime and violence on TV programs.

* * *

But Griffin said he got the impression the industry is not going to do anything until after the surgeon general's study is completed.

Star of 'Oliver' Gets TV Contract for Planned Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — British actor Jack Wild, 16, won court approval Wednesday of a television contract under which he will be paid $1,500 each for 17 segments of the proposed "H. R. Pufnstuf" series.

If the show is aired at night, the young actor will earn $5,000 per segment. There are four yearly options rising to a final year at $5,000 for daytime showing and $10,000 for night showing.

In addition, he will be paid $10,000 a year, for a minimum of 10 weeks work, under a film option.

Superior Court Judge William E. MacFaden approved the arrangement for Wild, who won an Academy Award nomination for his role in "Oliver!"

County Supplies New Pistols to Sheriff's Officers

Oakland County Sheriff's Department officers are sporting new top-grade pistols supplied by the county for the first time.

Some 128 men are now required to wear the 357-caliber magnums, described by Undersheriff Leo Hazen as a "good weapon." Its bullets can penetrate metal.

* * *

The new 2½-inch barrel pistols are superior to the traditional 38-caliber police pistols, accoding to Hazen. They can even shoot 38-caliber bullets.

Officers still have to supply their own handcuffs. Until about six years ago, they had to provide for their uniforms.

State Delivers Roadside Tables

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has started delivery of picnic tables to more than 1,500 roadside table sites and parks.

The department owns 4,627 picnic tables. All were sanded and repainted during the winter, the department said.

Military Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military contracts totaling $2.1 million have been awarded to Continental Aviation in Detroit and Marmac Industries in Marysville, Mich. Continental will test jet engines for the Air Force and Marmac will make helmet liners for the Marines.

A Look at TV

Andy Aims at the Young

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — Andy Williams' second special of the current NBC season contained an enormous amount of interesting music, handsome color effects and generally suggested to elderly viewers—anyone over 25—that the generation gap may be wider than suspected.

The hour was a concert taped before a young and very enthusiastic audience at the Los Angeles Music Center. Most of it was devoted to music in the contemporary beat and idiom—by Williams, by Jose Feliciano, by a young Scot called Donovan who looked like a figure in a Renaissance religious painting and chanting mournful tales.

* * *

The awkward periods were those stilted moments when the star and guests exchanged some carefully rehearsed banter between numbers.

* * *

The Smothers Brothers were around to engage in some of their familiar wrangling. At one point Tom Smothers was listing the ingredients he put in a vegetarian dish he called "pot roast".

STUFF FROM MEXICO

"I almost blew my mind over this marvelous stuff from Mexico," he said and a loud titter came from the audience. It turned into a laugh when he identified the stuff as "asparagrass." Double meanings, it seems, don't have to be risque.

The form and content of the hour was deliberate. Williams is creating a new image to appeal to the young audience since he will return to NBC next season with a weekly show in the early evening—the time devoted to young viewers.

* * *

The device apparently has been successful. NBC received a number of telephone calls early in the show from what a network representative said "sounded like disappointed mature viewers who complained that it wasn't like an Andy Williams show." Later, however, calls came from young people, calling it the best Andy Williams' show ever.

* * *

The Bob Hope Show, on NBC earlier, wound up its hour at about par—Hope was a winner. The program, however, had some sharp ups and downs.

* * *

The comedian's opening monologue was as bright and impudent as ever, but those nose jokes between Hope and Jimmy Durante are now a little long of tooth.

* * *

Hope had an engaging musical number in which he played a gunslinger and Nancy Sinatra played a frontier psychiatrist. But a sketch about outsize "waist-watchers" didn't come off very well.

A 90-minute documentary based on the life of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will be made for ABC broadcast next season. The film will mark the return to TV production for David Wolper who for the past two years has concentrated on theatrical motion pictures.

Beatle Lennon Marries Mistress

LONDON (AP) — Beatle John Lennon married his Japanese mistress, Yoko Ono, in a civil ceremony today in Gibraltar, the Beatles' office announced.

It was the second marriage for both and the second for the Beatles in eight days. Paul McCartney married an American divorcee, Linda Eastman, in London March 12.

Fast Fire Detection With Laser Beams

By Science Service

A British technique to detect fire by a laser beam gives earlier warnings than presently used systems. Since many industrial and commercial fires start at night, by the time a conventional fire-detecting device, which relies on temperature changes in the surrounding atmosphere, goes into operation the fire could be well under way.

* * *

The laser beam is sensitive enough to be deflected by slight changes in air temperature as well as by smoke, which absorbs and scatters light. All that is required is a photoelectric cell at the receiving end of the beam. Any prolonged interruption of the beam would cause the cell to actuate an alarm.

Jaycees' Safety Drive Praised

LANSING (AP) —Gov. William Milliken commended the Michigan Jaycees Wednesday for its "operation safe-drive," a yearlong traffic safety program.

"I strongly endorse attempts such as this program to impress on the people of Michigan the extreme importance of traffic safety," Milliken said. "This is excellent and can bring extremely significant results through lives saved and tragic injuries prevented."

2 Projects Get City Go-Ahead

$10 Million in Housing OK'd

Construction of $10 million in new housing in the city of Pontiac was given final approval last night by the City Planning Commission.

A total of 615 units of various types are to be constructed by two major area developers, Arthur Langs and Les Taubman. The projects will provide housing that ranges from semi-luxury and medium income to low-cost apartments for the elderly.

★ ★ ★

The most unusual feature of the two proposals will be offered by Taubman, who plans to construct 254 townhouse-type units which will be factory prebuilt.

Taubman announced last night he expects within four months to have some apartments ready for rental. The $4-million project is on East University bordering the Grand Trunk Western Tracks and west of Palmer.

OCCUPANCY NEXT DAY

The apartments will arrive at the site entirely built with rugs, paint and electrical and mechanical installations. "They could be ready for occupancy the next day," he said.

He will offer apartments with from one to four bedrooms with two baths in the larger ones. Taubman said his estimated construction costs are $10 per square foot, some $4 per square foot less than conventional construction.

"This enables the user to have luxury-type housing as to size and amenities at a medium-range price," he said. His firm, Pre-Built Homes of Detroit, plans about 1,000 units of this type in the Pontiac area, he said.

A $6-million project is planned by Langs, a Pontiac developer. His site on 16 acres northeast of Michigan and Tasmania will have two parts. One will be 198 apartments for the elderly. This structure will consist of two six-story buildings connected by a one-story recreation center.

Though built by Langs, the housing for the elderly is to be sold to the Pontiac

ABM Backers in Spotlight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate backers of a "modified" missile defense program opened a traditionally closed committee hearing today in an apparent effort to steal public attention from opponents.

Sen. John Stennis, chairman of the armed services committee, said the antiballistic missile (ABM) project should be "fully explained to the American people" at the hearing on defense funds.

★ ★ ★

The Mississippi Democrat's action in opening testimony by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird to the public came as opponents expected two days of having center stage all to themselves.

★ ★ ★

The opposition forces had planned a barrage of criticism from the Senate floor today in preparation for tomorrow's nationally televised appearance before the Senate disarmament subcommittee.

HEAVILY WEIGHTED

The armed services committee is heavily weighted with backers of the revised ABM that President Nixon called for last Friday.

The disarmament subcommittee, however, is weighted the other way with its chairman, Tennessee Democrat Albert Gore, an outspoken opponent of any ABM.

★ ★ ★

The subcommittee also includes such Sentinel critics as Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the parent foreign relations committee; Democrat Frank Church of Idaho; and Republican John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

After Laird presented a general defense budget rundown behind closed doors yesterday, Stennis said today's session was set aside to explore "the positive side" of the ABM.

ASKS FOR $800 MILLION

But Laird touched on the Sentinel in the closed session when asking for $800 million to get construction started on the first two sites and to procure 10 more.

Laird, in what was the administration's initial presentation of its ABM case on Capitol Hill, said the new system is needed because of the growning nuclear threat from Communist China.

★ ★ ★

The Nixon administration's ABM is designed to protect the nation's deterrent missile and bomber force at an estimated cost of $6 billion to $7 billion.

The original ABM approved by the Johnson administration would have guarded 15 major cities at a cost of $5.5 billion.

Laird Is Cutting Bomber Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Pentagon leadership has all but shot down the FB111 strategic bomber former defense chief Robert S. McNamara insisted would be a good replacement for aging B52s.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told Congress Wednesday he is cutting plans for the swing-wing jet to only four squadrons—a nominal 60 planes.

★ ★ ★

Three years ago McNamara was proposing 250 FB111s—variants of the controversial TFX design—contending it would be about as good, and less expensive, as another advance bomber the Air Force could develop to haul its nuclear bombs in the 1970s.

★ ★ ★

Laird made plain he was buying the four squadrons mainly to recover something from the vast funds spent on the program —"to salvage what we can of the work in process," as he put it.

'DIFFICULTIES' NOTED

Despite months of work, Laird said, the FB111 "is still experiencing development and production difficulties and the cost per aircraft continues to mount."

In an even more damaging comment on the McNamara theory, Laird asserted that "the FB111 will not meet the requirements for a true intercontinental bomber."

★ ★ ★

Pentagon officials said the 60 planes will cost $1.7 billion over-all, which includes heavy research and development expenses. McNamara originally estimated 250 models would cost $1.9 billion.

★ ★ ★

Laird said he would accelerate efforts to develop a completely new nuclear-equipped plane the Air Force calls the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft—AMSA.

★ ★ ★

Laird proposed spending $100 million to move toward full-scale engineering development for an AMSA in the next fiscal year.

The FB111 trimming was the latest setback to McNamara's program for having each of the services develop the planes they needed from one basic design.

Kids Stand to Win or Lose, Says Tatroe

By MEL NEWMAN

"Only the kids stand to win or lose this election, but it's the adults who vote."

That, in a nutshell, is Dr. Don O. Tatroe's evaluation of Wednesday's school millage election in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Tatroe, the township's superintendent of schools, said he is cautiously optimistic about the chances for passage of the two-year 9-mills proposal.

"I can't afford to be otherwise. It means too much to the students," he explained.

CITES ACCREDITATION

Some of the things a favorable vote would mean according to Tatroe, are:

- Continued accreditation at Waterford Township and Waterford Kettering high schools.
- Accreditation for Waterford Mott High School by the time it graduates its first class next year.
- A return to full sessions for secondary school children.
- Continued full sessions for elementary school children.
- Better maintainance of the district's schools.
- Time to recruit the most capable teachers and the means to retain the better presently employed teachers.

Tatroe said he recognizes that many property owners will be hesitant to cast a "yes" vote for the proposal in view of an anticipated 24 per cent boost in taxes on the Dec. 31 bill.

'COSTS LESS THAN $50'

However, he pointed out that since the district plans to levy only 6.5 mills or less in the first year the cost of millage for 90 per cent of the township's taxpayers would be less than $50.

★ ★ ★

That figure is based on the formula .009 times the state equalized valuation for 9 mills and reducing the product in proportion to a 6.5-mill levy.

★ ★ ★

"That's less than a dollar a week to pay for the numerous advantages students would realize," he said.

Another factor which emphasizes the importance of additional millage to finance the district is the state aid to education formula.

WILL REDUCE AID

Because state aid is based on a school district's ability to raise funds and because this ability is measured by property taxation, the anticipated tax hike will reduce aid by $3 for every $4 in additional tax income.

Egyptian Airliner Crashes; 92 of 101 Aboard Killed

CAIRO (AP) — An Egyptian airliner returning from a Moslem pilgrimage to Saudi Arabia with 101 persons aboard crashed in flames at the airport in Aswan in upper Egypt today. Officials said 92 persons were killed.

The Ilyushin 18, delivered to United Arab Airlines two weeks ago, exploded and burst into flames after a wing hit the runway, officials reported. Wreckage was scattered 800 yards.

★ ★ ★

The plane carried a crew of seven.

Fourteen persons were taken alive from the wreckage but five of them died shortly after reaching a hospital.

33 WOMEN, 2 BABIES

Among the dead were 33 women and 2 babies. One of the survivors was a woman.

Pilgrims returning from Saudi Arabia are usually taken to Aswan for a two-day quarantine before being allowed to return to their homes in Egypt.

★ ★ ★

The airport at Aswan was shut down.

Britain Cool to Treaty

GENEVA (AP) — Britain said today it agrees with U. S. reservations toward the Soviet draft of a treaty to ban the military use of the ocean floor.

The treaty, put before the 17-nation disarmament conference Tuesday, called for a ban on "military bases, structures, installations, fortifications and other objects of military nature" beyond the 12-mile territorial limit.

'War Games Success'

SEOUL (AP)—Exercise Focus Retina, billed as history's longest airborne assault operation, was termed by American officers "a big success."

The U. S.-South Korean war games ended today and 2,500 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division prepared to fly back to Ft. Bragg, N. C., tomorrow and Saturday.

24 in Plane Crash

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A chartered plane reportedly carrying 24 Tennessee sportsmen and crew crashed and burned while landing in heavy fog today at New Orleans International Airport.

Officials at Ochsner Foundation Hospital said 11 persons from the crash were taken there, none of them seriously injured. "A doctor said he counted 10 bodies in the plane," said Jay Charrier, a lineman for the General Aviation Corp. "Myself, I saw about three bodies."

Bus Driver Ends a Long Haul

Pontiac Press Photo

Ralph Mapley Ends 32 Years As City Bus Driver

By ED BLUNDEN

Bus driver Ralph Mapley drove his last route yesterday, ending over 32 years of service in Pontiac and more than a million miles of driving.

Mapley, 67, of 4980 Cooley Lake, Waterford Township, has a quick smile, ready wit and obvious good nature that must have stood him in good stead in all those years of traffic jams.

★ ★ ★

In 1959 he was honored for 800,000 miles of safe driving. Since that time, he figures he's far surpassed the million-mile mark after starting in 1936.

★ ★ ★

Mapley, perhaps surprisingly, enjoyed the youngsters on his bus. He said he has a collection of more than 800 photographs given him by student riders.

NOT TOO DIFFERENT

He insists youths haven't been too different in the three generations he's been hauling.

★ ★ ★

"The kids do the same things we used to, only they talk about it more now," Maple said. Perhaps the key to Mapley's popularity with the younger set is his attitude. "If you treat people with respect, they treat you that way too," he said.

★ ★ ★

Mapley and his wife, Frances, plan to stay in Waterford. On tap for this summer is — you guessed it — a long driving trip in their camper to northeast Canada.

★ ★ ★

Active in Four Towns Methodist Church and youth groups, Mapley also enjoys hobbies of coin collecting and photography.

By GM Committee

City Stadium Hailed

The construction of a new sports stadium in Pontiac would bring about a "significant economic impact on this community," the General Motors Pontiac Plant City Committee said today.

The committee is composed of 15 local GM officials organized to further community relations. It is headed by F. James McDonald, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

★ ★ ★

McDonald, a GM vice president, said a new sports facility as proposed for a site near M59 and I-75, would provide benefits throughout Oakland County.

"In addition to attracting new customers to the present businesses located in the area, it would provide the basis for many new and excellent business opportunities."

Showers Forecast; Sol to Stay Hidden

Old Sol will be under cover most of today and tomorrow, as clouds hovering over the Pontiac area bring a few showers.

Tonight is to be mostly cloudy and windy with a chance of rain and temperatures turning cooler, forecasters say. The expected low is 28 to 32.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow is to be partly cloudy and cooler, with a high of 44 to 48, according to the prediction. Fair and colder is the outlook for Saturday.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are 30 today, 50 tonight and 20 tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Thirty-three was the low reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 12:30 p.m. temperature was 50.

351 Americans Killed Last Week in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — The U. S. Command announced today that 351 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, pushing the total of U.S. battlefield dead to 10,112 in the 10 months since the Paris peace talks began and to 33,063 in more than eight years of war.

The American toll last week was 15 more than the previous week's total and raised the number of Americans killed in the first three weeks of the Vietcong's spring offensive to 1,140, only 240 less than the 1,380 U. S. troops reported killed during the eight weeks of 1969 prior to the offensive.

★ ★ ★

If the current casualty rate continues the total of American dead in the Vietnam war will exceed the Korean war toll of 33,629 by the end of this month. More Americans then will have been killed in Vietnam than in any other war in U. S. history except he Civil War and the two world wars.

The U. S. Command said 1,401 allied casualties, the Vietcong and North Americans were wounded last week, compared with 1,694 the week before.

SOUTH VIET CASUALTIES

South Vietnamese casualties were 325 killed and 1,156 wounded, up from 259 and 1,058 the previous week, the government said. Despite the mounting Vietnamese were paying a far heavier price for their offensive.

U. S. headquarters said 4,137 of the enemy were killed last week, bringing the total enemy dead to at least 119,100 since the Paris talks began last May and to at least 465-479 since the United States entered the war on Jan. 1, 1961.

The enemy toll for the first three weeks of the offensive is 15,099 dead according to allied figures.

As the enemy's offensive rolled into its 26th day with no end in sight, U. S. headquarters reported about 30 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns last night. For the second night, the chief target was Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and a major military base.

U. S. spokesmen said about 20 rounds of 100-pound rockets were fired at a number of American installations, including a Navy base, a Navy hospital, a Marine air base and a Seabee camp. Serveral Americans were reported wounded, but none killed.

Spokesmen said two of the rockets missed the Navy base and landed in a village, killing one Vietnamese civilian and wounding five others.

'Plan to Take S. Viet by Force'

U.S. Rips Reds Over Offensive

PARIS (AP) — The United States charged today the Vietcong and North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam "is a calculated part of a plan to take over South Vietnam by force."

At the ninth session of the Paris peace talks, South Vietnam accused the other side of preparing a massive new attack on Saigon and said unless it is called off it will have an adverse impact on the negotiations.

★ ★ ★

The Vietcong's National Liberation Front defended the offensive as an answer to what it called "terrorist and sweep operations against the South Vietnamese people." It asserted President Nixon's warning of an "appropriate response" to the current offensive was a threat to escalate the war.

North Vietnam declared the United States and its allies had intensified the war, a charge rejected by the American delegation.

The meeting adjourned after four hours and the participants agreed to meet again next Thursday.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said that the Communist command planned its offensive long ago and made detailed and careful preparations which were in no way a response to U. S. acts.

★ ★ ★

"It is clear," he continued, "that the attacks which were launched on Feb. 22 were not undertaken as a response to any recent allied initiative. They were instead the long-heralded winter-spring campaign of 1969, a campaign of which your side warned in advance and of which it has boasted since."

Lodge presented arguments purportedly supported by captured documents, to back this chrrge and told the other side the Americans had not escalated the war.

WARNS REDS

Addressing the North Vietnamese and the Vietcong's National Liberation Front, Ambassador Pham Dang Lam of South Vietnam said "many divisions of your soldiers are about to engage in a hopeless attack on Saigon."

"If that attack occurs," Lam declared, "it will surely be smashed and it will also cause heavy losses to your side and much mourning to the people. Therefore I call on your side not to proceed further on that costly adventure, in order to keep alive the prospects for these meetings."

★ ★ ★

North Vietnamese Ambassador Zuan Thuy accused the Americans of escalating the war including action in neighboring Laos. He said Melvin R. Laird, secretary of defense, had admitted the encroachment of U.S. troops into Laos and denied that Hanoi has any soldiers there. The Americans say there are at least 50,000 North Vietnam troops in Laos.

Mansfield Prods Nixon on Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, who has tried to restrain critics of President Nixon's war policies, now says the administration's "gloomy report" on Vietnam points up the need for increased presidential efforts to end the fighting.

Mansfield said in an interview that testimony yesterday by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird before a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Committee implied the administration is "planning for two more years of war."

★ ★ ★

"If that is so," the Democratic leader said, "it calls for greater, more concentrated and more private efforts at Paris to bring this war to an end."

Muted as Mansfield's criticism was it marked the first departure from his stand announced when Nixon took office of not attacking the President on Vietnam in order to allow him time to formulate his own policies.

TWO MORE YEARS?

Laird, whose second appearance before the committee today was in open session, said yesterday that military experts had told him an additional two years would be required before there could be satisfactory pacification of the Vietnamese countryside.

★ ★ ★

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the committee, said that if the over-all military forecasts are true, "we're there for a long, long time."

Joining Mansfield in expressing distress over the lack of progress toward a war settlement was Maryland's freshman Republican senator, Charles McMathias, who told a Baltimore audience last night that the new administration has been in office two months "and I feel that the time for hard decisions on Vietnam is fast approaching."

Pair Arraigned in Charity Thefts

A Bloomfield Township couple, charged with stealing an old lampshade and a pair of broken ice skates from a Goodwill Industries collection shed, pleaded innocent to simple larceny yesterday before District Court Judge Carl F. Ingraham and demanded a jury trial.

Ernest Retzlaff, 51, a Wayne County health official, and his wife, Patricia, 46, of 6450 Lahser, said they had intended to return the items allegedly taken from the shed at a shopping center at Lahser and Maple Tuesday, according to their attorney, Robert J. Machus.

★ ★ ★

They were arrested at the center by State Police Detective Frank Prysby, who said he had put a marked pair of ice skates in the box prior to the alleged theft.

Machus said Mrs. Retzlaff had noticed the lampshade sitting on top of the box while the Retzlaffs were dropping off a number of items at the shed.

Thinking the pattern unusual, she decided to take the lampshade home and copy it, then return the shade, Machus said. At the same time, Retzlaff noticed the broken skates and decided to take them along and fix them, he added.

Prysby reportedly said he had placed the skates in the shed as part of an attempt to apprehend persons who have been looting the collection boxes in the northwest suburban area.

Lawyer Changes Plea in Tax Case

DETROIT (UPI) — Milton R. Henry of Pontiac, one of the founders of a black nationalist government which is seeking five southern states as its base, yesterday entered a plea of nolo contendre on two charges of income tax evasion.

Henry, 49, also known as Brother Gaisi, first vice president of the Republic of New Africa, had been charged by the Internal Revenue Service with wilful failure to file income tax returns for 1961 and 1962. He previously had entered a plea of innocent.

A plea of nolo contendre subjects Henry to the same punishment as a plea of guilty but does not admit to the charge.

Henry a practicing attorney with offices at 518 Orchard Lake had an income of more than $16,000 in 1961 and almost $19,000 in 1962, according to U.S. Atty. Robert Grace.

Henry now faces a possible sentence of up to one year in jail, a fine of $10,000 or both, together with the cost of prosecution for each of the two charges.

The Republic of New Africa was founded in Detroit in March 1968, with the group asking the U.S. government to cede five southern states and pay $200 billion in retribution for the years black people were kept in slavery.

City OKs Housing Worth $10 Million

Housing Commission for its administration after construction, Langs announced.

In the adjoining phase, 163 units of one, two and three-bedroom, low-rise units will be constructed. These will be in the medium-price range.

Langs did not announce any date for beginning of construction.

The Planning Commission's action was to approve site plans of the two developers, a final official requirement. All zoning matters and adjustments to original presentations had been made with only further minor changes requested.

The planning commission's approval is the final step for the builders other than meeting engineering requirements in actual construction, it was pointed out.

Franklin Reopens at Wide Track

Franklin Road at Wide Track has been reopened to traffic after construction of a train signal at the Grand Trunk Western tracks, the city traffic engineering department has announced.

The street is open only to southbound traffic, however.

★ ★ ★

The street was closed for construction of a crossing signal on Feb. 10. The site had been the scene of several fatal accidents over the years.

The work was ordered by the Michigan Public Services Commission.

NEW FLYING SERVICE — Jerry Hawkins (left) vice president and sales manager, and Richard Harrison, vice president and general manager of Briefcase Inc., look forward to servicing Pontiac area businessmen and families with a new commuter flying service to downtown Chicago's Meigs Field beginning March 31.

To Downtown Chicago

Commuter Flights to Be Offered

Commuter airline service between Oakland-Pontiac Airport and Meigs Field in downtown Chicago will be started March 31 by Briefcase Inc.

The firm will continue its selective air charter service for executives in the area and the handling of light-weight clean packaged freight.

Scheduled commuter trips to Chicago, Monday through Friday will leave Pontiac at 8 a.m. and return at approximately 5:30 p.m. Flying time is about one hour and ten minutes, costing $28.90 one-way.

Advance reservations are being taken at the Briefcase office in the Oakland-Pontiac Airport terminal building.

★ ★ ★

Briefcase Inc. will use twin-engine all-weather aircraft, manned by commercial instrument-rated pilots, said Richard Harrison, vice president and general manager of the corporation.

He added plans are being made for an executive terminal, hangar and office and operations facility to be constructed at the Oakland-Pontiac Airport.

Birmingham Area

Author to Talk at Dedication of New Library

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Richard L. Tobin, author, former newspaperman, and now associate publisher of the Saturday Review, will give the dedicatory address at the township's new public library Sunday at 3 p.m.

The program marks the formal dedication of the library, which was opened in February to users in Bloomfield Township, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and those in communities affiliated with the Wayne County Federated Library System.

★ ★ ★

Tobin joined the Saturday Review in 1960 following a newspaper career which started in Michigan on his father's paper in Niles and at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, where he was managing editor of the Michigan Daily.

★ ★ ★

He was with the New York Herald Tribune for more than 20 years where he was an assistant city editor, a contributor to the editorial page and a correspondent for the Tribune's broadcasting service.

ABC NEWS DIRECTOR

Tobin also briefly served as news director of the American Broadcasting Company and in 1956 and 1960 served as public relations director for the Republican presidential campaigns.

★ ★ ★

He has four published books — "Decisions of Destine" (1961), "The Center of the World" (1951), "Golden Opinions" (1948) and "Invasion Journal" (1944).

★ ★ ★

John Rumsey, chairman of the board of trustees, Bloomfield Township Public Library, will open the dedication ceremony. Township Supervisor Homer Case and H. G. Johnston, library director, also will participate in the program.

BIRMINGHAM — The Maple-Woodward office of the Birmingham-Bloomfield bank will display more than 100 exhibits of creative photography and commercial art March 22-31 in the building's lower lobby.

The exhibit will represent the work of commercial artists and photographers associated with the The Graphics Art Guild of Detroit. Included will be 30 prize-winning exhibits.

DENNIS WOOSTER

Letter-Winner Teen of Week in Waterford

Letters earned both in the classroom (mostly A's and B's) and on the athletic field are the story of this week's Waterford Township teen of the week.

Dennis Wooster, a senior at Waterford Kettering High School, has established a B-plus average in his studies while compiling an impressive record in athletics.

* * *

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Wooster of 2750 Silverhill, Dennis has earned four varsity letters in baseball and three in football — he was an all-league center this season and participated in basketball and wrestling in the 10th and 11th grades.

In addition, he has thus far maintained a perfect attendance record, a feat which has probably made it easier for him to keep up with a long list of extracurricular activities.

* * *

Among these are student council, varsity club, senior class board and student attitude committee, which seeks to improve school spirit.

Dennis is looking to a college career at either Western Michigan University or Eastern Michigan University.

FBI Man Foils Skyjack Try in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A gunman who had ordered a flight to Cuba was disarmed and arrested aboard an airliner by an FBI agent among the passengers when the plane landed here to refuel.

As the agent, John Reed struggled with the would-be hijacker, the man's 22-caliber pistol went off, but the bullet richocheted off the floor without hitting anybody.

The FBI identified the gunman as Douglas Alton Dickey, 27, and said documents in his possession showed he was born in Casa Grande, Ariz. He was held on a federal charge of air piracy, which carries a maximum penalty of death.

Robert E. Rightmyer, agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, said Dickey boarded the plane, Delta Airlines Flight 918, Wednesday night at Dallas.

Rightmyer said the man produced his pistol and took over the plane about five minutes before it was scheduled to land at New Orleans.

Clean-Water Fund Plan Is Endorsed

The legislative committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday supported, in a split vote, bills pending in the legislature on the distribution of $335 million to combat water pollution.

The funds were approved by voters in a statewide election last November.

* * *

Two of the five committee members opposed the bills, even in a proposed amended form, saying that the money would provide little benefit for developed areas of the county. The opposition came from Mary Bawden, R-Birmingham, and Lee Walker, D-Madison Heights.

Appearing before the committee were R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, and two representatives from the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, who favored the two bills.

FOR SMALL COMMUNITIES

Alexander asked for an amendment in the bill allotting $50 million to small communities. He asked that sewer laterals as well as intereceptors become eligible for grants.

The bill was viewed as being of particular help for communities such as Lake Orion, Oxford and Clarkston.

* * *

It provides that sewer projects totaling more than 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of the affected community be eligible for benefits.

Alexander said he could see the bills channeling some $35 million into the county, particularly in connection with development of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor. He said the funds alloted to Detroit could keep sewer rates lower for Oakland County users as well.

LITTLE BENEFIT

Mrs. Bawden and Walker contended that most of the money will be paid by developed areas, but that residents of such communities will benefit little.

Gary H. Bailey, 27, of 745 W. Glass, Brandon Township, and George E. Finner, 26, of 2½ Mill, Orford, were arraigned yesterday before Rochester District Judge Robert Shipper, who set a court examination for Monday.

The attendant, Larry G. Roberts, of the Clark station, 799 S. Lapeer, was beaten by assailants before they stole cash from the register.

The National Zoo, now one of the most popular attractions in Washington, D.C., survives and thrives despite former congressional criticism. In 1892 a representative denounced an appropriation for the zoo by saying: "I do not believe the American People . . . ought to be taxed to afford shelter and erect homes for snakes, raccoons, opossums, bears and all the creeping and slimy things of the earth."

Nine-Railroad Merger Urged by ICC Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing examiner recommended today approval of the $6.4 billion merger of the Norfolk & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio rail systems.

The giant merger, which will include nine railroads, would stretch from Maine to North Carolina and from the Tidewater Area of Virginia to Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri.

* * *

The 194-page recommendation, by examiner Edward L. Boisseree, must now be approved by the 11-member commission.

If adopted, the consolidation would form a 27,000-mile rail complex that would operate in 21 states and Ontario, Canada.

* * *

Boisseree recommended the new system take over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and its subsidiaries, now controlled by C&O, and assume indirect control of the Boston & Maine Corp. and the Reading Co.

Stock Market Opens Firm

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened firm today in moderately active trading.

The ninth session of the Paris peace conference on Vietnam apparently was no more productive than previous meetings, but recent reports that the United States was holding secret talks elsewhere may provide some encouragement for investors.

★ ★ ★

Latest domestic news items have been most constructive, and these too could be a bolstering influence.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after the opening, the UPI stock market indicator showed a gain of 0.36 per cent on 323 issues on the tape. There were 168 advances and 69 declines.

MOTORS MOVE UP

Motors generally moved forward, but steels followed an irregular pattern. Chemicals worked higher and oils showed scattered strength.

General Motors picked up ⅛, while Chrysler gained ⅝. Ford eased ⅛.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Steel moved up ½. Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin gave up ⅛ and ¼, respectively.

Du Pont topped the chemicals with a gain of a point. Union Carbide rose ⅛, Eastman Kodak ¾.

In the oils, Cities Service added 1, with Texaco up ½ and Atlantic Richfield were unchanged.

IBM was impressive in its group, climbing a full point. RCA picked up ¼, with Litton and General Electric rising ⅝ and ⅞ respectively.

General Host spurted 1½. Penn Central gained 1¼ among the rails.

Levin Favors Detroit Stadium

LANSING (AP) Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin — whose suburban Detroit district includes a front runner in the fight over location of a proposed new athletic stadium — said today he favors a downtown Detroit site "if at all feasible.

"If we talk about revitalization of an urban center, we can't talk about pulling away a major institution," the Berkley Democrat told a news conference.

"The business community has said it has a vital stake in a healthy Detroit," Levin said. Owners of the Detroit Tigers and Lions should be encouraged to "carry out that creed" by locateing in the downtown area, he said.

Levin planned to introduce a resolution that would, if adopted, create a six-man legislative committee to study feasibility of locating a new stadium in the downtown area.

He also proposed that Gov. William Milliken name a committee to advise the legislative committee.

"We ought not to desert the Detroiters now for a site in Pontiac, Inkster Lake, Southfield or anywhere else."
