'Both Give In' on Berlin Deal, Says Britain

Lord Home Can't See Victory for Either East or West

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain called urgently today for East-West negotiations to settle the Berlin crisis, disarmament and other disputes, but urged both sides to renounce the idea of seeking victory in the talks.

In a broad policy speech before the U.N. General Assembly, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home assailed the Soviet concept of co-existence as "a sterile policy."

He made frequent changes in his prepared text, deleting a reference to an "honorable deal" as the goal of East-West talks and a charge that the Soviet Union is "playing with nuclear fire" in trying to set men against his neighbor.

He accused the Soviet Union of deception and double-dealing in the collapsed nuclear test talks.

"Let her cooperate in keeping the peace," he said, "by strengthening the collective will of the United Nations instead of trying to drive her coach, pulled by three horses, through the whole fabric of our collective efforts."

This was a reference to Premier Khrushchev's talks plan to replace Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld with a three-man directorate.

and urged that they be used as a basis for renewed arms negotiations either by the 16-nation group of East-West countries or by an enlarged group.

Kennedy's reply Tuesday to Khrushchev's U.N. address raised guarded hopes that the Soviet Union may be ready to ease the threat of war over Berlin.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko turned down the President's bid for a nuclear test treaty, stuck to the Soviet line on general disarmament and insisted on a three-man board to replace the late Dag Hammarskjöld as U.N. secretary general.

Nevertheless there were cautious sounds amid the threats in Gromyko's policy speech before the General Assembly.

Ship Blaze Still Rages Out of Control

INFERNO — After burning for 14 hours, flaming gasoline and jet fuel still made an inferno of the Navy tanker Potomac today. Navy fire boats were still battling to control the blaze fed by 8.5 million gallons of aviation fuel. The 600-foot tanker exploded

Tuesday night near the port terminal of Moreland City, N.C. The fire and explosions killed at least one man and injured 27. The $3-million tanker is a complete loss.

House Sneaks Out Back Door as Riled Senate Closes Shop

BY WILLIAM THREN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress ended its longest session in 101 years today with the Senate bowing in rage at the House's crafty tactics on the final bill.

The House went home early, and as a result the Senate went home mad.

The Senate quit at 5:16 a.m. (Pontiac Time) adjourning Congress until next January. The House had adjourned since 4:30 a.m., a move that nearly stalled final adjournment.

The Senate's testy temper had been fueled by the fact it had been in continuous session for 19 hours and 16 minutes before adjourning. But most of the anger was stirred by the fact that the House had flummoxed the senators with an adroit parliamentary maneuver.

at GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, calling the house move an "outrage," said it was time to find out whether the congressmen could get away with such an "affront."

ASKS QUORUM CALL. The threat to adjournment—and possibly asking the President to call the House back—was made real when Dirksen asked a quorum call. But he withdrew the request after conferring with other leaders.

Manfield wound up by assuring the Senate he would never again consent to an adjournment result.

But after nearly two hours of helping other senators call down (improvements upon) the vanished House, Dirksen resigned.

To Fly Wilson's Body Home for Service and Burial

Plans were being made today to fly the body of Charles E. Wilson back to Bloomfield Hills for funeral service Friday morning. Service will be held at 11 o'clock at Christ Church, Cranbrook, with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery, Beverly Hills.

Wilson, 71, former president of General Motors Corp. and Secretary of Defense under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, died of a coronary thrombosis while sleeping yesterday in his home on a 1,000-acre plantation near Norwood, La.

His family requested that memorial contributions be made to the Michigan Heart Association.

Fire Engulfs Navy Tanker

Aviation Fuel Carried by Ship Still Feeding Flames; One Is Killed

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (UPI)—A tanker loaded with 8.5-million gallons of high octane gasoline and jet aviation fuel burned out of control today like a giant blowtorch, killing one man and injuring at least 27.

The 600-foot, three-year-old tanker, Potomac, blew up about 7 o'clock Tuesday night, apparently when a heavy oil slick on the harbor waters of this town of 6,000 caught fire and touched off the tanker like a fuse in a floating bomb.

By midmorning today the ship had burned for more than 14 hours and a port official said "it looks like she'll burn for a long time."

The ship was aground and burning near tanks containing 25 million gallons of volatile fuel but officials said at midmorning the threat had diminished somewhat.

The tank, "just a bucket of molten metal," according to a Coast Guard spokesman, was white hot from the intense flames and split across the middle.

The flames fed on the cargo which the ship had been discharging, when it blew up and each time the molten bulk sank in the water more fuel spilled out and flames shot higher.

Smoke was so thick it blotted out the morning sun. "She's shifting all the time," a Coast Guard spokesman said. "We don't think it would be safe right now to go in and try to put it out."

Would Improve 86 Miles of County Roads

Commission to Sell $6 Million in Bonds to Finance Plan

An $11 million project to improve 86 miles of primary roads in Oakland County to keep pace with the state's freeway construction was announced today by Hiland M. Thatcher, county road commission chairman.

It means the commission, for the first time since the 1920s, will sell $6 million in general obligation bonds to finance more than half of the plan, he said.

Since there are no county-operated roads in the city of Pontiac, the city will not be included in the new program to start next year, Thatcher said.

However, four roads—Baldwin, Mt. Clemens, Voths and South Boulevard—leading into the city will be improved.

The bond issue requires the approval of the county board of supervisors since the county's full faith and credit would back the bonds in case of default. However, it will require no tax increase or voter approval, Thatcher said.

Selling bonds is necessary, Thatcher explained, because the $25 million in state gas and weight tax receipts the commission receives annually is insufficient to meet the improvement and maintenance needs of the 675 miles of primary roads in Oakland County.

FUTURE SPENDING VIEWED

A recent study released by the State Highway Department, which has already approved the local plan, showed that the county will have to spend $110 million on primary roads in the next 10 years to provide safe roads for motorists.

Permissible under a 1951 state highway road-building act, the program is being instituted for the first time now so as to provide safer and smoother links with four

Walter Willman Plans Retirement

Walter K. Willman last night signaled the end of a career that saw him reach the zenith in his profession. Pontiac's City Manager for the past 11 years, Willman announced he will retire at the end of the year.

City Commissioners accepted his letter of retirement with regrets and appointed Robert A. Stierer to succeed Willman.

Stierer, 40, has worked under Willman since 1956 as his administrative assistant for 3½ years and assistant city manager since January 1960.

Willman's retirement will bring to a close a career of 37 years managing municipal affairs.

The high point in his career came in October 1959 when he was elected president of the International City Managers Association.

THIRD IN SENIORITY He now ranks third highest in seniority in the association which numbers more than 2,700 members.

Willman indicated that his Vermont leave would probably commence shortly after Nov. 15.

"Serving this fine city and its people has been an enjoyable experience and privilege I shall never forget," he told commissioners.

"Perhaps this is the appropriate time to express my great appreciation to the present and past City Commissioners, the staff, city employees, the press and radio and the great body of our citizens for the help, encouragement and courtesy shown me during the past 11 years."

"Accomplishments during that period resulted from the continued efforts of many groups and many individuals. Much still remains to be done."

Willman said he hoped to meet with the Commission several times prior to his terminal leave to discuss water, urban renewal, the perimeter road, downtown redevelopment plan, and the 1962 budget.

"REQUIRE INTENSIVE PLANNING" "These and other matters will require intensive fiscal and technical planning," Willman said, thus plunging his final months as manager with an eye on the city's future.

Willman began his municipal career when he became city manager of Mt. Pleasant on April 7, 1924. A native of Neenah, he (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Rusk, Gromyko in Second Huddle

American Sounds Out Russian on Negotiations for Summit Meeting

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
NEW YORK — Secretary of State Dean Rusk met with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today in the second of a series of diplomatic sparring matches over starting East-West negotiations on the Berlin crisis.

Rusk went to Gromyko's brick and stone mansion on upper Park Avenue for luncheon and a discussion that could run into late afternoon.

Gromyko made a bid Tuesday for the United Nations to take a hand in forcing the world away from the war over Berlin.

President Kennedy had already given the Assembly a long report in the speech he made Monday.

Rusk started the series of talks by inviting Gromyko to lunch last Thursday. Each man was then accompanied by a panel of advisers and the same thing was true today.

Their talks at that time changed nothing, but Western diplomats hoped that after the initial exchange Gromyko would give new instructions from Premier Nikita Khrushchev, softening Russia's terms for negotiation.

TO SOUND OUT GROMYKO
Rusk was expected to try to sound Gromyko out on some points made in his speech Tuesday, particularly his statement that Russia feels Berlin-German negotiations must be based on a peace treaty with East Germany.

The Western powers say they will not negotiate on that basis.

The possibility of U.N. role in the crisis at some point appeared to be gaining headway.

If the United States and Russia in current diplomatic talks fail to agree on a formula for starting negotiations, the war-threatening dispute will likely become an issue of prime concern for the General Assembly.

U.N. IN PICTURE
If negotiations can be agreed on, both the Soviet Union and the Allied powers may propose that the United Nations take a hand in carrying out any plan they can devise for the future of West Berlin.

Indications are that Soviet and Western leaders also are thinking along these lines.

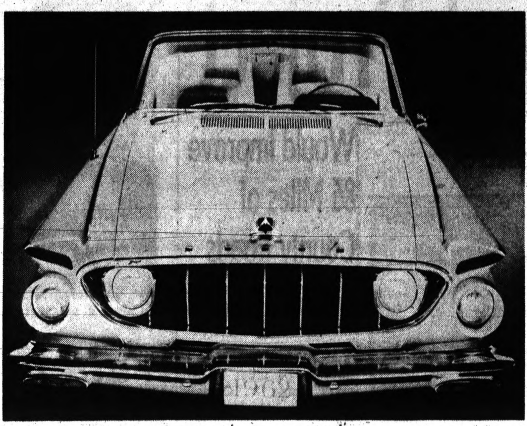

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko scheduled another meeting today on the East-West deadlock over how to get negotiations started.

The central issue is what to negotiate about.

Dodge's introduction of a luxury sports car, the Polara '500' is set for tomorrow.

The new car will be available through Rambler-Dodge Inc., 1201 N. Main, Rochester. Two models are available: a two-door hardtop and a convertible.

"The introduction of the 1962 Polara '500' is another of Dodge's aggressive moves to meet the changing demands of the automobile market," said

Styling, with long hoodline and short rear deck, has a conventional flavor and is described by stylists as "pulsed motion" type design.

A new Dodge triangular trademark is featured in special hood and trunk lid medallions and in wheel covers.

BUCKET SEATS
Interiors feature bucket seats and all-vinyl trim. Bench-type rear seats have formed pads which provide the appearance of bucket seats.

Standard is an instrument panel safety impact pad.

The new transmission is automatic with a die-cast aluminum housing. A smooth ride is expedited from the fully-integrated, all-wheel body construction and Dodge's Torsion-Air suspension.

Other features include a 32,000-mile factory-sealed lubrication for some chassis parts, lifetime lubrication for others, self-adjusting brakes, and an all-new heating and ventilating system which supplies fresh air even when the car is parked or moving slowly in traffic.

They mourned Wilson's passing. Eisenhower, at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, said: "In his long business career, Mr. Wilson dedicated his unusual talents to the growth and progress of one of the large corporations that has helped to bring higher standards to every person in the country."

"I join all other Americans in a salute to the memory of this distinguished citizen."

In Washington, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Wilson "rendered great service to his nation as an industrial leader in World War II, and during his long tenure as Secretary of Defense, Our nation has lost a great industrialist, leader, true patriot and a devoted public servant."

Wilson bought his 125-year-old plantation, about 30 miles north of Baton Rouge, in 1954. He went to the farm Sept. 18 and planned to stay until Oct. 1, then go to New York on business. Mrs. Wilson remained in Michigan. Their son Edward left the farm a few days ago.

Wilson was in charge of design and development for Westinghouse radio generators for the Army and Navy during World War I.

He ran General Motors 11 years.

Senator Gets Kick From Liquid 'Aid'
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Those who have been restive about foreign aid can relax, according to Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del. It is a success.

In fact, says the senator, the program to aid underdeveloped nations seems to have gotten out of hand.

The people of South Viet Nam, despite fighting Communists tooth and nail, are so overdeveloped that we had to ship them 45,000 tons of rice to get them back in shape, according to the senator.

The State Department demurred. It said Tuesday that actually the U.S. only shipped 4,812 tons of rice to Viet Nam, and that was an "honest mistake."

But the economy-minded Republican was not to be deterred.

"Who said the New Frontier could not come up with an original idea for foreign aid?" he asked the Senate.

"Who says our foreign aid program of feeding the underdeveloped peoples of the world has not been a success?"

It has been such a success that the aid program had to put the South Vietnamese on a diet because they "have been getting too fat on Uncle Sam's generosity," Williams crowed.

Dulles Replaced With McCone

JFK Names Ex-AEC Chairman as Director of CIA

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—President Kennedy today named Republican John A. McCone, former head of the Atomic Energy Commission, to succeed Allen W. Dulles as director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The 59-year-old McCone moves into the super-secret post, which heads up the nation's espionage system, that Dulles, 67, has held for eight years.

Dulles and McCone flew together by plane from Washington to the Quonset Naval Air Station this morning, then traveled by helicopter to Hammondsmith farm where they met with the President for an hour before the announcement was made.

Dulles, brother of late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, has served his country in intelligence work since World War II when he has existed in the Office of Strategic Services by his old friend Maj. Gen. William S. Donovan.

RECEIVED CRITICISM
Dulles came under considerable criticism for the rule the CIA played in the dismal failure of the Cuban Bay of Pigs invasion in April.

McCone, in the past active in Republican politics, was chairman of the AEC from 1955 to January 1961. He voluntarily left the post when the Kennedy administration took office.

During his service with the Eisenhower administration, McCone was one of the leading advocates for resumption of nuclear testing.

Although in a job whose prime requirement is secrecy, Dulles became involved in controversy not only over the Cuban affair but also in the case of Francis Gary Powers whose U-2 plane was downed over Russia just before the Paris summit meeting of 1960.

The Day in Birmingham

C. W. Wiggins Named Township CD Director

BIRMINGHAM — Charles W. Wiggins, Birmingham insurance agent, has been named civil defense director for Bloomfield Township.

Wiggins, 43, of 734 Yarmouth Road, Bloomfield Township, will be responsible for coordinating the activities of the township police and fire departments in emergencies or disasters.

He succeeds William H. Coy who held the position for several years. The appointment was one of two made by the township board.

The other was the naming of township trustee Robert A. Reid to the planning commission.

Reid was elected from township board member Sammie Reeves.

The purpose of the move is to allow each board member to serve on the planning commission.

In another action, the township board awarded a contract to Detroit, Inc. of Berkeley for the construction of sanitary sewers on Fieldstone Court and Forman Drive.

Total cost of the two projects is about $11,000, which will be assessed against property owners benefiting from the improvements.

The board also accepted the recommendation of the liquor commission to permit the sale of liquor at the Strike and Spare Bowling Alley, Maple and Telegraph roads.

Last minute registrations are still being accepted for six courses offered at Cranbrook by the adult education division of Wayne State University this fall.

Other courses starting this week include "Biological Forces in the World of Man," "Gems and Gem Materials," "Contemporary American Music," "Principles of Social Health," and "Reading Efficiency."

All the courses are jointly sponsored by the Cranbrook Institute of Science and the Cranbrook School for Boys.

Oakland Road Plan to Cost $11 Million

major freeway construction jobs now going on in the county.

"Many of these roads lead on or off these freeways and need considerable improvement before they are opened," said Paul Van Rookel, highway engineer for the county.

Much of the balance of the three-year project will be paid from $3 million in gas and weight tax receipts and federal aid monies on hand, with the remainder from assessments from the 12 cities of benefiting and neighboring Wayne and Macomb counties.

Participating cities, most of which are in Southern Oakland County, are being asked to pay but 25 percent of the cost of their individual projects, with the commission paying 75 percent. Formerly the state would widen any city roads, cities had to pay half.

Since some of the projects include curbs as well as widening and paving, Van Rookel said some can pay their share either from state gas and weight tax receipts or from special assessments.

Bonds will be retired over 20 years in anticipation of the state gas and weight tax receipts — the commission's sole source of revenue for primary and local road maintenance and improvement.

Van Rookel outlined the program this way:

Twenty-seven miles of present two-lane primary roads will be widened to either four or five-lanes with concrete surfaces.

The last part of this work would be in Southeastern Oakland County with the exception of similar work on Cooley Lake, Elizabeth Lake and Scott Lake roads in the Pontiac area.

Some 2 1/2 miles of two-lane backroad roads to be rebuilt to two-lane concrete pavement.

Thirty-three miles of gravel roads to be blacktopped.

Letters have already gone out to officials of Southfield, Madison Heights, Oak Park, Berkley, Huntington Woods, Lathrup Village, Birmingham, Beverly Hills, Clawson, Troy, Pleasant Ridge and Farmington seeking their approval of the plan.

Townships, which do not receive gas and weight tax revenue like cities and villages, will not pay for any part of the work.

The program will be outlined further to Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman and City Engineer James Carlisle at an Oct. 4 meeting with commission officials.

Supervisors will probably be asked to approve the plan at a late October session.

Projects will be selected "by existing usage and by usage we will have when freeways are open," Thacker said.

There may be like-kind projects in the future, he indicated, since there's no increase in sight in the state of state receipts Oakland County can expect to share in. Three increase on an average of $100,000 a year, he said.

Thacker figured that to meet the 6-year estimate of $110 million in improvements, possibly the initial $6 million bond issue will be the first of $75 million needed besides the anticipated $33 million in gas and weight tax receipts.

Wilkowski Enters Congressional Race

DETROIT (U) — Former Democratic State Sen. Anthony J. Wilkowski, a Constitutional Convention delegate, has entered the big field contesting for the party's nomination for the congressional seat of Rep. Thaddeus M. Michrowski.

Michrowski, a Democrat, has been appointed a federal judge. The primary to nominate candidates for his first District congressional seat will be held Oct. 31.

Wilkowski was re-elected to the Senate several years ago after being refused his seat because of a vote fraud conviction that led to a prison term.

Among the candidates for Michrowski's seat in the primary are J. Gov. T. John Ledinski, State Rep. James Bradley and former State Liquor Commissioner John J. Kazarek.

Alpena Firm Lays Off All 400, With No Excuse

ALPENA (U) — All production workers of the Fraser Products Co. were laid off indefinitely Tuesday.

The company, a division of the Detroit Gasket Co., and which makes upholstery for automobiles, gave no explanation for the layoffs. Normal employment is about 400. There are two plants.

Says Church, Not Jazz, Way to Beat Communists

DETROIT (U) — A top-ranking Philippine churchman said Tuesday that "Filipinos are prone to predict that democracy will defeat communism through the weapon of . . . American jazz, rock and roll, Coca Cola and Hollywood movies."

"Such easy optimism fills me with dismay," said Bishop Isabelo de los Reyes Jr., primate of the Philippine, Independent Catholic Church.

"No American jazz song, no electric refrigerator or American movie can replace faith in a better world and love for freedom."

Give Drunken Driver Fine, 9 Days in Jail

Pleading guilty to drunken driving and driving without a license, Harvey J. Atchison, 34, of 59 Virginia St., was fined $37 when he appeared before Waterford Township Justice of the Peace John McGrath Monday.

Atchison also was sentenced to nine days in the County Jail and an additional 19 days if the fines are not paid.

Enrollment About Same

ALBION (UPI) — Enrollment at Albion College for the fall semester is 1,362, compared with 1,373 a year ago.

He told representatives of the Episcopal Church general convention.

"Only God's church can defeat communism . . ."

Bishop Reyes said that events in his homeland had shown that "religion is at its best when it must live with competition." After the rise of the Philippine Independent Catholic Church, he said, "The Roman Church began to reform itself."

Such healthy competition, he said, "raises the integrity and standards of the clergy, cautions churches toward tolerance and gives the minds of its leaders the test of freedom."

Tracing the origins of the 2.3-million-member Independent church, he said its "sisterly relations with the American Episcopal Church" have enabled it to "better fulfill the commission" given it by Christ.

ESTABLISHED CONCORDAT
In a historic action, the Episcopal Church at the current convention established a concordat of full communion with the Philippine church.

Both have a "common devotion to the ideal of a reformed Catholic and apostolic faith," Bishop Reyes said, and are natural allies in the struggle for liberty.

"Before the coming of America to the Philippines my people suffered the evils of an intolerable religious and political bondage," he said.

From 1898 to 1904, he said, there were 32 rebellions against Spain, all of them "double protests against the power of Spain and the dominance of the Roman Catholic Church and its friars."

In that era, he said, the Roman Church was an "almost absolute power, a state within a state."

The "wealthiest institution in the islands," that "sanctioned oppression," and ignored action in the realm of social service.

Against these conditions, he said, the Independent Catholic Church arose in 1902, and launched reforms, adopting the Filipino language for worship, and naming Filipino bishops, a movement that sparked reforms in the Roman Church.

Both now serve the people with broad programs of action, he said. He said the original Protestant missionaries were overly sectarian and colonial, but a "new type of American Protestant missionary has now appeared" that encourages Filipino leadership.

WHY MORE TRAINING?

The Job Guide, published by the U.S. Dept. of Labor, gives this answer: "You should weigh carefully the long run advantages offered by jobs you are considering against immediate gains. You should be aware of the great importance of education as a general and specific asset. Technical or professional training received after leaving high school will give you definite advantages in seeking and finding a job. When advancement opportunities occur, preference is generally given to persons with superior educational qualifications—other things being equal."

Won't Sell to Harvard Men

House Owner Is Angry

VERONA, N.J. (AP)—President Kennedy, even if he wanted to, could not buy the house for sale at 55 Oakridge Road.

The "for sale" sign tacked to a tree in front of the house says it is for sale to "college graduates, acceptable colleges only." Actually, only one college is unacceptable—Harvard.

UPSET AT APPOINTMENTS
The President is a Harvard man.

Mrs. Marjorie Anderson, wife of the owner, John B. R. Anderson, said her husband put up the sign because he is irked by the number of Harvard appointees to the new Democratic Administration.

"We have been Republicans ten years," Mrs. Anderson said. "Look at the appointments President Kennedy made. Harvard men, every one of them."

"NICE NEIGHBORHOOD"

As for restrictions to a college graduate, she explained, "it's a nice neighborhood." Verona, Councilman Richard M. Sandier, a neighbor of the Andersons and a Democrat and Harvard graduate, to boot, said he thought the sign was "hysterically funny," but added:

"I should think the laws would protect Harvard men against such blatant discrimination."

Ford Fund Aids Five in County

Scholarships Given to Children of Company's Employees

Five Oakland County recipients of Ford Fund scholarships are attending their first college classes this month.

They are among 68 winners in 14 states, all sons and daughters of Ford Motor Co. employees.

From Royal Oak are Charles Bell of 2205 W. 14 Mile, attending the University of Michigan, and Patricia E. Mowson of 1008 Mohawk Ave., attending Siena Heights College at Adrian.

Birmingham resident Judith Wayne Burns of 1256 Henriette is at Duke University, Durham, N.C. In Madison Heights, Ann Marie Strous, 27047 Park Court, was selected and is now attending Kalamazoo College.

Oak Park is represented by Robert Mancini of 2460 Berkley, registered at the University of Detroit.

Applications for 1962 scholarships will be accepted until Dec. 1, 1961, by the Ford Motor Co. Fund, the American Road, Dearborn. All applicants must be children of Ford employees.

Pontiac Children to Join Fluoride Fight of Cavities

Children in Pontiac schools, again will be given fluoride treatment to prevent tooth decay.

The 11th consecutive year of the fluoride program of the Pontiac school health services was underway in this week with the visit of a dental hygienist to Webster School, 610 W. Huron St.

The treatment will be given to other second, fifth and eighth-grade pupils later this year. It consists of teeth cleaning and four consecutive applications of sodium fluoride.

Registration is $4 for each child and $2 for a second eligible child in one family. A consent card must be signed by the parent.

The next locations for the service will be Irving and Emmanuel Christian schools, according to Josephine Seelye, coordinator of school health services.

Miss Seelye said research by the United States Public Health Service had proven 40 per cent reduction of new cavity incidence resulted from such treatment.

Great Leader, C. E. Wilson, Was Credit to All Humanity

One of the great leaders of this era is lost in the death of CHARLES ERWIN WILSON of Bloomfield Hills—and the United States of America.

President of General Motors until he resigned to become Secretary of Defense, this staunch citizen was one of the bulwarks of the automotive business. And beyond that, he was one of the leaders in preaching, teaching and living Americanism and a better way of life for everyone everywhere. He was always aware of the men along the production line and many innovations that "made life easier and nicer" emanated from his office.

His manifold contributions can hardly be listed and yet his greatest personal interests were probably the large family circle with which the Wilsons were blessed. Three sons and three daughters graced their marriage and every one of them throughout his life was a personal pal as well as part of the family.

Death is always dispiriting, but in the case of this great national figure, it is especially so because of his exceedingly wide circle of friends. This death personally reaches into wide sectors of the Country.

C. E. Wilson possessed an unusually keen and penetrating mind. Always he sought the reasons behind and an unusually analytical insight penetrated to the heart of the matter at hand. When he gave up his position as President of the biggest corporation in the world to serve his country, he surrendered compensation that exceeded half a million dollars a year for an annual stipend of $22,500. Few men have ever been asked to sacrifice in that proportion.

Fewer have complied. Further, he was asked to divest himself of stock holdings. And he did. This cost him many times the loss in salary.

C. E. Wilson was a courageous, outspoken individual who faced facts squarely and who never attempted to side-step. He didn't know how to shadow-box. It was he who startled the newspaper world at the end of a prepared statement by announcing: "I'll answer questions."

It hadn't been done before by any business of comparable size and importance and it was a daring move. Today the question period is fairly well-established, but he broke the ice.

Many industrialists or top men in great corporations have been indifferent speakers, but C. E. Wilson was always entertaining as well as instructive. A perpetual sense of humor could never be suppressed for long. The great Oakland County resident was essentially "quotable." His quips and side comments sometimes appeared at unexpected moments which intensified the effect.

At one of these new car sessions he was asked: "Is GM going to concentrate on performance or looks?" He debated and then said: "Well, we're going to produce a lot of beautiful blondes that can really cook."

Critics misquoted him and twisted remarks but he never seemed particularly disturbed. When one reversed his: "What's good for the Country is good for General Motors," he didn't act very perturbed although his son, Thomas E., wrung a retraction from the culprit.

Like all great public figures, when he was Secretary of Defense, he was the target for a clique of malcontents who had been overruled for the good of the Country. Critical cartoons never bothered him and he had a room papered with the originals of drawings which "look after him." Cartoonists were startled to find the object of their attack smilingly asking for the original.

A great citizen goes to his last reward. CHARLES ERWIN WILSON gave his undivided all to the United States when he was in Washington. He approached problems with boundless energy and an unconquerable will to do. He plunged into everything with all the resourcefulness with which he was plentifully endowed. The clock meant nothing. When he returned from Washington, he had worked himself into a state of physical and nervous exhaustion. He had given his Nation every smidgeon of energy he possessed—for a tiny fraction of his regular salary.

All of us stand in his debt. Pontiac does especially for he was a great friend of the three General Motors Divisions in this city. We were his "nearest neighbors," and he treated us accordingly.

A restless, energetic and exceedingly capable citizen drops from the hurly-burly of this distraught and unsettled world.

One of the Nation's most distinguished men has harkened to the call of the Grim Reaper. With or without Charon's toll, he stands humbly but completely unfraid on the banks of the immortal Styx. A giant among men starts the Long Sleep here below, but a silent and shadowy figure lurks unseen along the reaches of Long Lake Road and the influence will never wane.

He has done his stint by his family. He has completed an amazing assignment for humanity. He has been a leader, a top commander and a faithful servant of God in the struggle on earth. Greater Glory awaits—a Glory that now his eyes can see.

'The West Is Trembling, Shaking, Terrified'

David Lawrence Says:

Berlin Only One of Many Issues

WASHINGTON—If the Berlin issue were the only one that separated the East and West today, there would be a comparatively easy way to handle it—at least for several years.

Diplomacy has long held a trump card to play in similar emergency crises. This starts with the acceptance by both sides of the proposition that a particular dispute is for the time being unsolvable. Then it is usually proposed that a "modus vivendi" be adopted. This means a "way of living" with the difficulty without actually solving it.

But the procedure is often successful. There have been cases where the controversy in question was ultimately solved with the passage of time and with the later development of a spirit of conciliation. There have been other cases where the problem remained unsolved. Individually, or at least in some other circumstances arose to bring a new approach.

The Berlin problem is partly a legal and partly an emotional question. It is, of course, related to the ambition of the Communist regime in Moscow to extend its influence and its empire and to keep the two Germanys from being reunited.

A "modus vivendi" need not mean an abandonment of the issues themselves, and it could mean a decision to explore various ways of producing a settlement. Thus, what are the rights of the Western Allies? Have they grown obsolete, as the Communists claim? Do rights disappear just because a few years have elapsed, or are they fundamental and rooted in or implied in written agreements?

QUESTION FOR COURT: The United Nations has created a court of international justice. Why couldn't the East and West agree to submit the juridical questions to the world court?

If such an agreement isn't possible, one then a "modus vivendi" could provide that the status in Berlin prior to Aug. 13 when the East Berlin border was closed—be restored and given an indefinite lease of life while the Soviet government pursues its own policies with respect to East Germany.

As President Kennedy said in his speech, it doesn't matter what "paper agreements" the Moscow government makes with the East German government. What does matter is whether the East German government, encouraged by the Soviets, starts to commit acts of aggression and works to break aside established rights of the United States, Britain and France in West Berlin.

Fundamentally, there are today no unsettled questions, including the right of the East German

The Country Parson

If the sugar of the diet is fed by stomach tube to experimental animals, dental decay does not occur. To nourish cavity-producing bacteria, the carbohydrate of the diet must be present in saliva and particularly in food that is deposited between teeth and/or in pits and fissures on the surface of the teeth. Hence, the sugar of caramels, sticky candy, chocolate bars, fig cookies, pastry, semolina desserts, bread and ice cream are greater threats to dental health than the same amount of carbohydrate taken as sweetened beverages, fruit drinks or fruits themselves.

people to "self-determination," but a "modus vivendi" could provide a five-year formula in which to move forward toward the attainment of such an objective.

Basically, the agreement that would be made would mean that both sides agreed to disagree, but at the same time they would agree to bring forward a formula to take care of the immediate future—a way of living meanwhile with the problem and still advancing it toward an eventual solution. Diplomacy is replete with examples of this technique.

Plainly the world doesn't want to see a war over a question that is by some means susceptible of adjudication. But, in saying this, it is also pertinent to note that Berlin is not an isolated issue.

There are pressures in Viet Nam, in Laos, and in Africa where the ambitions of the Communist re-

Dr. Harold Hyman Tells:

Role of Sugar in Causing Cavities in Your Teeth

If you enjoy toothaches from dental cavities, get a big bang out of dental drills, have money to burn on useless dentures and mouth washes and derive real pleasure from paying dentist's bills, don't bother to read on.

But if, like others of you, you'd prefer to have yourself free from discomfort, pain and expense, perhaps you won't mind devoting a few minutes of your time to a study of problems related to dental hygiene as presented before a symposium arranged by the AMA Council on Foods and Nutrition, the Harvard School of Dental Medicine, the Massachusetts Medical Society and the Massachusetts Dental Society.

Many dental characteristics are determined by inheritance. Some of these characteristics that invite cavities are the large size of teeth and/or the presence of deep pits and cracks (disures).

CAUSED BY BACTERIA: Tooth decay is caused by the action of a wide variety of bacteria. There is no one particular cavity-producing species.

These bacteria have at least one property in common, their dependence on sugar for their maintenance and growth. Stated otherwise, unless there is available sugar in the mouth where cavity-producing bacteria set up housekeeping, tooth decay does not occur.

The combined effects of available sugar and cavity-producing bacteria become most apparent when the flow of saliva is sharply reduced. But, since salivary flow is least influenced by measures of prevention, attention is best directed to a reduction in the amount of sugar that's made available to cavity-producing bacteria.

Under the pressure of this doctor's direct challenge and the eyes of other parishioners at the table, the clergyman finally admitted he was a Communist, occupying a pulpit right here in modern America. And this doctor was correct, for the clergyman was a card-carrying Communist, too.

gime in Moscow are producing considerable tension.

It may be doubted whether any single issue would block an overall settlement if there were a genuine desire on both sides for a peaceful result.

Voice of the People:

Says State Hospitals Lack Proper Teaching Facilities

Hearts go out to the children who are in Michigan's six state hospitals for the adult mentally ill. There are 500 children whose education is sadly neglected. All of them have learning problems which require special facilities. However, Michigan is not meeting this problem.

At Ypsilanti State Hospital, a basement corridor has been converted into a makeshift school. There are not enough teachers to serve the 127 children. A boy 15 with a good learning potential, may be dropped to make way for a 12-year-old.

In a condemned building, Pontiac State Hospital carries on a fully accredited program for about 50 children. But, there are 35 in the hospital.

At Northville, 36 children have been gathered in one building. They should have at least seven special education teachers, but this hospital has only three. There are 50 additional scattered on adult wards and, for these, no school program is available.

Traverse City State Hospital serves 39 counties. This hospital hired its first special education teacher this year and so has been able to begin an educational program on a limited scale. This one teacher is able to serve only about 20 per cent of the 45 children.

At Newberry there are 23 mentally ill children. They are able to have "home" classes in the school provided for the mentally retarded. However, there is no teacher specially trained.

There are many devoted people trying to carry on programs, but devotion is not enough. School rooms, equipment, and teachers are needed, too.

School Lunch Plan Interests Parent

I would agree with the lady who questions paying school cafeteria workers on a profit sharing basis except that any raises depend upon whether the lunch program is self-supporting.

By working a little harder, making cakes, etc., on a recipe instead of a mix, baking beans (to cite a few examples) the children would have the same lunch more cheaply. Since they have a food co-ordinator the quality of the lunches would not be affected.

School board meetings are more interesting and our Mr. Satt is certainly a clear thinker.

It is unfortunate so few attend board meetings, as they are informative and concern our greatest treasures—our children.

Club Well-Pleased With 4-H Agent

Our club is small, consisting of eleven members. We have no livestock exhibits or anything of person interest to the 4-H agent. However, he found time, upon invitation, to visit us.

As 4-H members, we feel the 4-H fair was much better organized this year than in the past. The success of having top farms, clubs and projects depends mainly on the interest and encouragement of the project leaders, the parents and the 4-H members.

Hare Predicts Homework Load for Delegates

LANSING (UPI)—Secretary of State James M. Hare predicted huge amounts of homework for the 144 Constitutional Convention delegates who begin meeting here Tuesday.

Hare's office issued four more in a series of 18 background documents for delegates Monday.

"The six studies already issued are admittedly technical, and I'm sure that many of the 144 delegates are beginning to realize that the job of rewriting the basic law of Michigan will require a great deal of hard reading, sound thinking and considerable homework," Hare said.

The studies are being prepared under the direction of the Constitutional Preparatory Commission.

Combining to Build Hospital on 12-Mile

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit Memorial Hospital and the South Macomb Hospital Corp. Tuesday announced they were joining to form the Detroit-Macomb Hospital Association to construct and operate a new hospital at 12-Mile Road and Hoover in Warren.

The 200-bed facility is to be completed in 1964. It will cost an estimated $5 million and will be constructed to provide for expansion to 350 beds.

The new hospital will serve the communities of Warren, Roseville, East Detroit, Fraser, St. Clair Shores and Centerline.

The Detroit Metropolitan Building Fund will provide $1.5 million of the cost and $1 million will come in federal funds.

It is estimated it is possible to grind eyeglasses to 11,132,544 different combinations of curvatures prevailing in the Pacific Coast area surrounding San Francisco, using modern grinding methods.

But She Likes Athletics and So Does JFK

Some Protest Jackie Kennedy's Love of Sports

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
NEWPORT, R.I. — Backstairs at the White House:

Out of deference to President Kennedy's family, there are no known movies of the First Lady on water skis, and this is not to encourage skulking cameramen with long lenses. The truth is, however, that Jacqueline Kennedy makes an amazing picture of grace and beauty as she skims over the water.

Her water skiing ability has increased remarkably since early summer when she took up the sport. In July, she was taking unusually spins and cart wheeling falls.

LIKE A SUPER DANCER
Now she handles herself like a superb dancer, swinging in a high speed arc from side to side over the feathery wake of a waterjet speedboat. The White House acquired two of the waterjets for use in connection with the water-borne activities of the President's family.

The little speedsters sit almost on top of the water and have no propellers; they are regarded as exceedingly safe for water ski duty.

The First Lady, breezing along on her broad single ski behind one of the dark-hulled speedboats, looks like a finely conditioned athlete without the slightest loss of femininity which so

STRIKING PICTURE

At the age of 32, Jacqueline Kennedy makes a most striking picture in either a tight-fitting skin diver's rubber jacket which she wears these cooler days for water skiing, or in a diamond tiara with high fashion gown by Givenchy or Cassini.

After long hours on Nantucket

Sound at Cape Cod this summer, and now at Newport, the First Lady has a pronounced tan which makes her large, widely set eyes even more than usually striking.

In addition to water skiing, she has been playing tennis and golf and riding some of her favorite horses which were sent this summer from Middleburg, Va., to Hyannis Port. Before long, Mrs. Kennedy will be riding to hounds again at the first family's country place in Virginia.

SHE GETS LETTERS

Her frequent participation in highly active sports, her dramatic good looks and cover-girl youth lead at sporadic intervals to rather indignant letters, suggesting that America's First Lady should be more the fire-side, knitting and maudlin type.

Some letters come at times from politically motivated critics who wouldn't like her if she dressed like Whistler's mother. Other mail comes from quite sincere Americans who fashion a president's wife in the mold of rear row domesticity evidenced in first ladies of other eras.

Jacqueline Kennedy is not all water skis and hunting horses. She has done a rather amazing job, or at least been the inspiration for it, in enhancing the interior of the White House with countless pieces of art and furniture from the early days of America.

If there is a dear ear to criticism of Mrs. Kennedy's youthful verve and appearance, it is that of the President. He likes his wife the way she is, and those who want a lady chairman, a motherly figure with dishpan hands, a delicate matron clutching her shawl—for those who insist that sort of first lady, they'll just have to wait for a change in administrations.

Chrysler Production Cut One-Half

Car Output for '61 Down 26 Pct.

By BEN PHILGAR
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT — Passenger car production this year is running about 26 per cent behind last year's pace. At midyear it was 28 per cent behind.

Advance schedules indicated the gap would be narrowed considerably during the third quarter which ends this week.

But local strikes at General Motors the past two weeks eliminated any chance of a big gain. Production of the No. 1 builder was cut to a fraction of normal.

Total industry output through Saturday was 3,589,635 compared with 4,831,878 during the similar period of 1960.

CHRYSLER BIG LOSER
By corporations, Chrysler remains the biggest loser with production down almost exactly 50 per cent. Studebaker-Packard is 46 per cent behind a year ago and American Motors trails by 32 per cent.

General Motors has slipped 24 per cent while Ford is down 13 per cent.

Among individual car lines only the Chevrolet Corvair and Lin-

Finds No Evidence of Sub's Sabotage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department said Tuesday a probe of possible sabotage aboard the nuclear-powered submarine Nautilus two years ago had developed "no basis for prosecution."

The investigation was started after damaged electrical cables were found aboard the submarine during a 1959 major overhaul at the Portsmouth, N.H., Naval Shipyard. Tuesday's brief announcement did not give the cause of the trouble.

The department said the investigation by the FBI and the Navy was concluded several months ago. The extent of the damage never was disclosed. At least partly as a result, however, the major overhaul scheduled for nine months was extended to 15 months. The work was completed in August 1960.

Peace Corps Girl From Kalamazoo Excited in Nigeria

Lagos, Nigeria (AP) — "This is an opportunity that can never be equalled. I'm terribly excited."

Those were the words of 20-year-old Robin Jeanne Limpus of Kalamazoo, Mich., when she stepped off a Pan American Peace Corps chopper after its landing here Monday night.

She was among the first group of 28 American Peace Corps volunteers for Nigeria, and she also was the youngest.

Miss Limpus said she applied for the opportunity to teach in Africa and hopes that her assignment will help in the development of Nigerian students and her own culture. The volunteers will spend three months in special training at the University College at Ibadan before being assigned to teaching jobs in high schools over the country.

U. of M. May Be Center to Train Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—Peace Corps officials say the University of Michigan is likely to be named as a center for training Peace Corps candidates for duty in an Asian country.

Some 50 persons would be trained under the program, the officials said, but there was no immediate indication in which Asian country the trainees would be assigned.

German Pupils Send $5 to Aid Victims of Carla

BOON, Germany (AP)—Members of a West German high school class sent $5 in marks today to U.S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling for the victims of Hurricane Carla.

"With deep regrets we have read of the destruction in the southern states of your country," said the letter from students in Witten.

CHOICE TO MAKE — The young Francis of Assisi, portrayed by Bradford Dillman, is faced with a choice between the comfortable, libertine life he had always led and answering the rumblings of his conscience urging him to do something about the moral turbulence of the early 13th century. The movie was produced at locations in Spain and Italy. It opens Friday at the Strand Theater.

New Eye-Lifter for Marx

Groucho in Serious Drama?

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Groucho Marx in a dead serious drama?

Yep—but not the lecherous, impudent, crouch-walked Professor Hackenbush of the Marx brothers comedies. Nor the sly, impudent quiz master of television.

Groucho was doing a scene on a country club terrace in which he and Fred Clark discussed the impending marriage of their children. Fred was all for supporting the kids through college.

Groucho argued that they should wait to marry, rather than start their wedded life on a hand-out basis.

"Cut!" said director Charlie Haas after the lengthy no joke scene.

Groucho came over to explain this turn in his career.

"This is the first time I've ever played a serious role," he said, "unless you count that last comedy I made."

CAN'T SMOKE.

"They took away all my trade marks. I can't even smoke a cigar. I can't go like this (twirling his eyebrows)."

He explained his reasons for taking the dramatic role, which will appear on G.E. Theater.

"Not for the money, I assure you. I'm okay there. In fact this check goes right to the government."

"Why am I doing it? Because I always thought that comedy was much harder to do than drama and I wanted to see if I was right. I think I am."

"Besides, I didn't want to spend the rest of my life lurching at Hillcrest and staring at the same faces."

COMEDIANS' TABLE.

He referred to the famed comedians' round table at Hillcrest Country Club where he matches quips with Jack Benny, George Jessel, George Burns, Danny Kaye, Danny Thomas and the like.

"And," he added, "I think this show has something to say. Too many kids nowadays expect to get married in a hurry and have learned from his longtime producer the way paved for them. I've got John Guedell that the TV show might return in January in slightly. "I'm not saying I worked hard on the show. It was a cinch to do," said Groucho. "But I'm enjoying myself. I've got a lot of reading to catch up on."

More dramatic roles? Maybe.

Cost of Living Rises

.2 of 1 Pct. Over '60

DETROIT UP — The cost of living in the Detroit area went up .2 of 1 per cent in July and August as compared to the same months last year.

This happened despite a drop in food costs of 3 of 1 per cent, the Department of Labor regional office said.

The biggest factor in the Detroit rise was an increase of 52 per cent in transportation costs. Medical care rose .2 of 1 per cent.

No Threat of War Seen by Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (U-P)—President Sukarno said Tuesday that global tension has relaxed and there is no threat of war at present.

Speaking during a take-over of duties from Dr. Johannes Lemena, who acted as president during Sukarno's recent world tour, Sukarno said: "The course of events at present is that there will be no outbreak of war."

Sukarno said he felt that this was partly due to results of the recent Bandung conference of non-aligned nations.

'Most Cancers Curable If Discovered in Time'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The president of the American Cancer Society said Tuesday that drug treatment of cancer is near the point of being an effective cure of the disease. But Dr. John W. Cline of San Francisco warned that "as of the present moment the most important factor in prognosis is the state of the disease. Most cancers are curable if found in time."

Philathea Class Honors Teacher, Mrs. Savage

The Pontiac Philathea Class honored Mrs. H. H. Savage, who has been the class teacher since 1947, at a farewell party Friday evening at the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Kyle Witson, master of ceremonies of a "This Is Your Life" type of program, read letters from missionary sons and daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Savage.

Rev. John Toroni gave a violin solo and the Wilsons sang a duet accompanied by Mildred Barnett. Mrs. Wilson read a poem "Mother Love" written by Dr. Savage.

Mrs. Emma Malady gave the invocation and the Joy Philathea class served refreshments.

15 Tables in Play at Bridge Meeting

The Pontiac Bonneville Duplicate Bridge Club met Saturday evening in the Hotel Waldron with 15 tables in play.

Winners were the A. K. MacKoons, Mrs. Melvin Small and Henry Georgia, Rudolph Thomas and Bruce Corryell, the Lucie Maybaums, Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Willis, William Brock and James Martin, Donald Bowen and Ronald Piscus, and the Robert Larsons.

Ready for their annual card party this evening are White Shrine members (from left) Mrs. H. W. Radcliffe of Orchard Lake, Mrs. Davy Gilpin of Neome Drive and Mrs. Donald K. Ely of Sheridan Avenue.

With other committee chairmen they have been absorbed in preparations for the affair which will be at Roosevelt Masonic Temple.

Care Needed to Keep Them Young

Baggy Eyes Lie About Age

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women look much older than they otherwise would because of circles, lines, puffs or bags under the eyes. I have a great many requests from readers who want to know how to avoid or to get rid of these.

In the first place, remember that the tissues about the eyes are extremely delicate. This is one of the spots where lines first appear.

Facial expressions, such as laughing, grimacing and squinting, are partly responsible for the lines.

Naturally, we do not want to have a masklike face. Therefore, it is most important to keep the skin about the eyes soft and pliable.

I believe that practically every woman profits by the use of eye cream from the age of 30 on, and even sooner if her skin is extremely dry. An eye cream should be patted about the eyes at night before going to sleep. Colored glasses should be worn in bright sunlight.

INVESTIGATE HABITS

Circles can be evidence of poor health or poor health habits. Illness can cause circles, but so can fatigue, malnutrition and too little sleep. If you have circles, investigate your habits. Are you eating correctly? Do you get enough sleep? Do you get enough exercise?

If you can find no reason in your mode of life to account for the circles, then have a physical examination. Sometimes circles seem to be inherited. They often appear to run in families.

If your eyes are puffy, a physical examination is in order. Allergies and eye strain also may be offenders. Alternate hot and cold packs will help. Tea bags dampened in hot water and then placed on the closed lids, will decrease the swelling.

The bags folks sometimes acquire under the eyes are caused by fatty deposits which occur as the tissues weaken. These can be removed by plastic surgery most successfully.

If you would like to have my exercises for the eyes, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 68. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

PTAs Plan Get-Together to Launch School Season

SSAAC CRARY

An open house is planned for 7:30 this evening by the Innes E. Crary Parent-Teacher Organization.

Parents will be given schedules to visit class rooms. Later, faculty members will explain the school's new program which reserves the last hour of the student's class schedule for study hall or club activities.

Reasons for discontinuing bells for class changes also will be explained.

Refreshments will be served after the tour.

ELIZA NEAMAN LEGGETTE

Have You Tried This?

Ginger Ale Adds Spice to Molded Lime Salad

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Red, white and green vie for attention in today's salad recipe. It's a slightly different version of the usual cheese and pineapple molded salad.

Mrs. Arthur Merrigan, today's cook, is interested in antiques, golf and music, but not necessarily in that order. The Merrigans have two young sons.

PAISLEY SALAD

By Mrs. Arthur Merrigan

1 package lime gelatin

2 cups Verno's ginger ale
8-oz. package cream cheese
1/2 cup crushed pineapple
1/2 cup chopped maraschino
1/2 cup pecans

Heat one cup of ginger ale and dissolve gelatin in it. Add second cup of ginger ale. Chill until thick enough to whip. Moisten cheese with pineapple juice. Whip gelatin. Beat cheese into gelatin. Fold in fruit and nuts. Turn into a mold and chill. Serves 8.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice,

"I have some beautiful all wool cashmere of which I want to make a coat. I would like to know what sort of thread to use to top stitch the coat? Also, what kind of thread is best to sew the entire coat?"

You didn't ask me this, but I am hoping you will remember that you must cut the cashmere in one direction. The nap must run "down." In other words the same direction as fur.

Top stitching is usually done by hand with silk buttonhole twist. This stitching is called hand-picking. It serves two purposes. It is decorative detail on the plain fabric, and also holds the facing of this soft fabric in place.

You may use mercerized thread to sew any wool fabric. It has the elasticity needed for wool and is very easy to work with.

WINS PRESSING BOARD

Mrs. Lois Thompson, Belleville, Ill., wins one of my exclusive Tailor Trix pressing boards for this suggestion.

Dear Eunice,

"I can never get down to serious sewing unless I have a plastic measuring tape hung around my neck. It is indispensable."

"May I make this suggestion to those who find making darts difficult, use your tape as a guide. The presser foot will hold it nicely in place while you sew to the point of the dart."

DIFFICULT TO ALTER

Dear Eunice Farmer,

"Is there any way to add width to a straight, one piece skirt? The seam is in the back with a kick pleat."

This kind of skirt, which is cut without seams, is almost impossible to alter once it has been cut.

You must buy a one-piece skirt pattern according to your HIP measurement. Before you cut the skirt, measure the pattern from the center front to the center back, double this measurement, and add 2" for ease and you should have your EXACT hip measurement.

If you wish to add to the hip measurements, you would have to cut through the pattern from the end of the side dart, straight to the bottom of the exact amount you need pattern. Separate the pattern and make your dart a little deeper at the waistline.

YOUR SEWING GLANSARY

HAND PICKING: This is a decorative stitch used on plain fabrics and can be any desired distance from the edge. Use a single, waxed, thread of silk buttonhole twist. If you cannot get the buttonhole twist in the exact color you need, use double waxed mercerized thread.

The stitch is made with a tiny back-stitch, catching in the interfacing, but not going clear through the coat facing where the stitches would show. Don't pull the stitches too tight, and they should be about 1/4 inch apart. This stitch is also used when applying zippers by hand.

Please send your questions and suggestions to Sew Simple. Questions of the most general interest will be answered in this column, not personally. I have compiled a booklet of the 20 questions most frequently asked. If you would like to have this booklet send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press.

Area Couple Married at St. Trinity Lutheran

St. Trinity Lutheran Church was the setting for the Saturday evening vows of Karen Mae Lane of Auburn Heights and Donald R. Hall of Birmingham.

Parents of the newlyweds are the William H. Longtons of Auburn Heights and the Mark Halls of Birmingham. A church reception followed the ceremony performed by Rev. Ralph C. Claus.

The bridegroom of French Chantilly-type lace and crystal tulle ruffles over tulle swept into a chapel train. Silk illusion veiling was fitted to a seed pearl tulle. A white orchid centered a spray of stephanotis and ivy atop the bride's white tulle.

SISTER IS HONOR MAID

Mrs. Ronald L. Turnbull of Ortonville, her sister's matron of honor, wore aqua satin and carried rust chrysanthemums with wheat sprays. Bridesmaids Linda Arnold with Marilyn K. Lane and Mary Anne Hall, sisters of the bride couple, appeared in gold satin. They held cascades of gold chrysanthemums and cattails.

Lynne Annette Thorpe was flower girl.

Mark Hall Jr. stood as best man for his brother. Seating guests were Ronald Turnbull, Dr. vid Hubbard, Royal Oak, and Gordon Robb, Birmingham.

The couple chose St. Clair Inn on River St. Clair for their honeymoon and will live in the Pontiac area.

Bronze carnations complemented Mrs. Longton's dress of green satin brocade. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in a beige brocade sheath dress. Her flowers were tangerine carnations.

Rev. Howard Clegg, assistant pastor, chose "Missions" for his devotional theme. Mrs. Malcolm Burton reported on the meeting of the congregational churches held in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Mrs. Donald R. Hall.

60 Attend Meeting of Church Fellowship

Sixty members and guests attended the Friday meeting of the Woman's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church. The Seybrook group served the luncheon at the church.

Rev. Howard Clegg, assistant pastor, chose "Missions" for his devotional theme. Mrs. Malcolm Burton reported on the meeting of the congregational churches held in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Shower Honors Mary Kinch

Dressed as "bride queen for an evening" complete with crown and throne, Mary Kathleen Kinch opened shower for Friday evening in the Pioneer Drive home of Jean Widdie, sister of her fiancé Carl L. Widdie.

The hostess will be maid of honor at the Oct. 14 wedding. Bridesmaids Mrs. Larry Decker and Martha Decker will serve as bridesmaids.

Mrs. William L. Kinch of Preston Avenue, Waterford Township, attended her daughter's party with Mrs. Allen C. Widdie, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. John Donley, Mrs. Raymond Miller and daughters Patricia and Kathleen, Mrs. Carl Roselli, and Mrs. Mark Roselli.

Also present were Mrs. Zakar Harabedian, Mrs. Mike Harabedian, Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Maynard Holmes, Mrs. Oscar Boyce, Mrs. George Ukleian, Mrs. Jack Timmons, Flint and Mrs. John Handazo, Detroit.

Hobo-Style Party at Mazza Home for Epsilon Sigs

Mrs. Rudy Mazza of Avondale Drive opened her home Monday evening to members of Alpha Alpha Sorority.

Planning a hobo theme for the party were Mrs. Fred Mueller, Mrs. Donald Stone, Mrs. Carl Rose and Mrs. Winston Hopp.

After an evening of games, Mrs. James George assisted the hostess with "hobo-style" refreshments.

Guests were Mrs. John Christoff, Mrs. Joseph Gerdes, Mrs. Dore Guttler, Mrs. Harvey Schreyer, Mrs. James Newport and Mrs. J. M. Strang.

Honored at Shower

Twenty-three guests were present for a baby shower honoring Mrs. Clayton Cuckling Friday evening.

Mrs. Troyce Hubbard of Second Avenue was hostess, assisted by Mrs. Robert Franks.

'Negotiate' With Children Over Chores

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

He is 10 years old and lives in a penthouse where his mother maintains a terrace garden she loves.

This summer she decided that he needed assignment to a regular Saturday morning chore. She made it the work of bringing up the family's baskets of laundry from the basement.

After three weeks, he balked. As he dawdled and complained, bitterness grew between him and his mother. Finally, after a punishment that resulted in two days of silent silence, his mother consulted a professional friend.

He said, "You love your garden, don't you? If you love Philip, too, why don't you bring them together? Why don't you make his Saturday morning chore repainting your hedge boxes for you?"

The Saturday after Philip had painted two of his mother's precious hedge boxes, he said to her, "Do you want me to go down to the basement and get the laundry knows how he will exploit his triumph when next time we want him to do what he doesn't want to do."

So we keep him at the dull chores. It's we who trim the hedge while Dick mows the lawn. It's Jimmy who lathers the garbage while we hose down the car. It's Lori who washes the cake tin while we ice the cake.

Any defiance, any insubordination is met by such fear that submission to their wishes to evade the dull chore will so undermine our authority that we can't even see our own dislike of mowing lawns and washing cake tins.

However, until we do, the battle over chores just goes on and on. It's only when we know we dislike mowing the lawn or hauling up laundry, from the basement that we can say to children, "Okay, I'll take the lawn this week and you hose down the car."

It's only when we can forget worrying about who's boss that we can see that children like what we like and begin to share it with

Miss Mazurek Sets Wedding

Mrs. Mary E. Warthen of Southward Street, Waterford Township announces the engagement of her daughter Judith Anne Mazurek of Edison Street, to Jeffrey A. Wheeler.

Her fiancé, who is enrolled at Lawrence Institute of Technology, Detroit, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lindsay Wheeler Jr. of Bloomfield Hills.

The bride-elect attended Ferris Institute and is planning an Oct. 21 wedding.

Plans were completed for a card party on Oct. 26. Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Newlin, Mrs. Glenn Pittenger and Mrs. Elter.

Members of Mizpah Temple No. 7 Pythian Sisters met Thursday evening in Fellowship Hall on Vooheis Road.

Mrs. Carl Erickson, past chief and delegate to the Grand Temple convention of the Pythian Sisters in Grand Rapids reported on the proceedings.

Mrs. Paul Elter, Mrs. Claude Wiley and Mrs. Walter Malmon installed Mrs. Kenneth Gooding as guard to fill the unexpired term created by the resignation of Mrs. Julius Teller.

Hostess Mrs. Charles A. Rogers greets Mrs. P. L. Francis, Rochester (left), and Mrs. William E. Brace, Voorhees Road (right), as they arrive at her Miami Road home. With other members of the executive board they made plans for the annual Ingathering of the Pontiac Branch, Needlework Guild of America Inc., Nov. 9 in First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Donald Bos, West Iroquois Road, will be hostess at a morning coffee hour for section presidents and directors Oct. 17.

Donna Grace Nealis Wed to Pfc. Gary L. Kunse

Receiving some 400 guests in the church parlors were the couple and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arley C. Nealis, Dafford Drive, Waterford Township, and the Harry L. Kunses, South Josephine Avenue.

Illusion veiling fitted to a sequined lace crown, complemented the bride's gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The bouffant overskirt extended into a chapel train. White carnations, stephanotis and ivy surrounded a bridal corsage of white butterfly roses.

Mrs. Hill C. Shanholz, her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids Carolyn Kunse, Lucille Conway, Pierce City, Mo., and Mrs. Curtis Batten, appeared in flower-girls.

William Kunse stood as best man for his brother. Richard Downmaster, Lawrence Dunn and the bride's brother Keith seated guests.

KENTUCKY HONEYMOON
The couple will honeymoon in Kentucky until Pfc. Kunse leaves Monday for overseas duty. His bride will return to Pontiac.

A purse corsage of yellow Mary Jo roses complemented Mrs. Nealis' green lace jacket dress. The mother of the bridegroom, wearing a royal blue lace sheath dress, pinned pink roses to her purse.

There are more than 350 light-houses and foghorns along Nova Scotia's 4,600-mile coast.

Beta Sigma Phi Installs Two New Chapters

Two chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority were installed in a candlelight ceremony at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland.

Officers for the Phi Gamma Zeta chapter are Joan Menzer, president; Linda Bowen, vice president; Evelyn Urbanovic, recording secretary; Patricia Hyatt, corresponding secretary; Mary Sue Morton, treasurer.

Joan McKinnon is city council representative with Darlene Coffey as alternate. Committee chairmen are Marilyn Murrell, Karen Pohl, Mary Ellen Taylor and Carol Sorensen. Mrs. Elise Jones is the chapter adviser.

Victoria Williams is president of the Phi Gamma Eta chapter; Sue Vancil, vice president; Joyce Hobby, recording secretary; Sherry Bertram, corresponding secretary; and Sandra Brooks, treasurer.

Committee chairmen are Judith Bulas, and Nancy Weaver. The Vogel, Mrs. Carl H. Rehm and alternate for city council is Sue Vancil. Their adviser is Mrs. Philip Stomberg.

DAR in Region Is at Luncheon

Fourteen members of General Richardson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution joined Southeastern Michigan chapters Thursday at a regional luncheon meeting at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Building.

Mrs. Lile Eshlinaw of the local chapter and state chairman of DAR schools was guest speaker.

It was reported that the President of the United States, the governor of Michigan and mayors of most cities, including Pontiac, had issued proclamations concerning Constitution Week. Regents told how their chapters were observing the week.

Presbyterian Unit Plans Fall Work

Fall activities were outlined by the January-March Group of the First Presbyterian Church at a meeting in the home of Mrs. John Main, South Pemberton Road, Bloomfield Township. Sharing hostess honors were Mrs. Robert Bulas, and Nancy Weaver. The Vogel, Mrs. Carl H. Rehm and alternate for city council is Sue Vancil. Their adviser is Mrs. Philip Stomberg.

Mrs. Smith Falconer reviewed the missionary program and Mrs. Rehm led devotions. Mrs. Russell Hoyt of Banning, Calif., was a guest at the luncheon.

C. E. Wilson's Associates Honor and Mourn Him

By United Press International

Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Motors and secretary of defense in the Eisenhower administration, was mourned throughout the state today.

Mr. Wilson died Tuesday at his home near Baton Rouge, La.

Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson said, "Michigan lost one of its outstanding citizens. . . his dedication to public service as a Cabinet member and as a leader in many civic undertakings was a splendid example of citizen concern."

At General Motors, where Wilson first began his career in 1919, officers, past and present, expressed sadness at the industrial leader's death.

His successor as president, Harold H. Currier said, "I am greatly saddened at the death of Charles E. Wilson. Our long association and friendship gave me an opportunity to know the strength of his character, the depth of his wisdom and the value and variety of his contributions to his company, his industry and his nation. America has lost a great man."

GM Board Chairman Frederic C. Daner said, "Charles E. Wilson was a man honored, respected and loved by many, many people. He served his country well and ably during World War II as a producer and supplier of war material and subsequently as secretary of defense. His warm personality and deep understanding of people were qualities that endeared him to subordinates and friends alike."

Current General Motors President John F. Gordon said, "All of us who knew and worked with Charles E. Wilson and the highest respect and affection for him—as a friend and as a leader."

Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, said that with Wilson's death, "The nation lost a top industrial executive who possessed the rare combination of great business competence and deep human understanding."

FROM EISENHOWER

The Union president added that Wilson had his "deepest respect as an executive and my warmest admiration as a person."

But praise of the former GM president wasn't limited to Michigan citizens.

At Gettysburg, Pa., former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said he was "profoundly shocked" at the death of his former secretary of defense.

In a statement issued from his office, Eisenhower described Wilson as "one of America's outstanding leaders, and my good friend."

He said he joined "all other Americans in a salute to the memory of this distinguished citizen."

"In his long business career, Mr. Wilson dedicated his unusual talents to the growth and progress of one of the large corporations that has helped to bring even higher standards of living to every person in the country," the former president said. "As secretary of defense, he used his qualities of leadership to inspire, expand and streamline our military establishment. In that capacity he was one of my most valued and trusted advisers."

Present defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said in Washington that Wilson's death was a "great loss to the country and a personal blow to me."

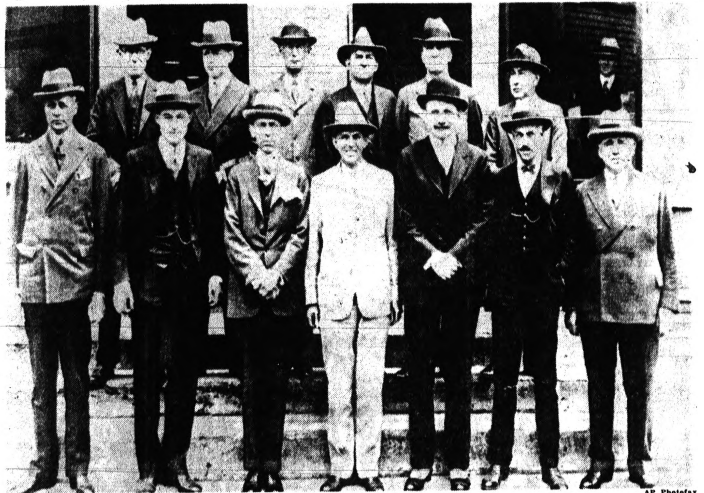

In a statement, he said Wilson rendered "great service to his nation as an industrial leader during World War II and during his long tenure as secretary of defense."

"Our nation has lost a great industrial leader, true patriot and a devoted public servant."

C. E. WILSON WITH SLOAN—C. E. Wilson, former president of General Motors Corp., and former secretary of defense, is shown with Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board of GM in 1951. The two were discussing the company's 1951 annual report. Mr. Wilson died in his sleep Tuesday.

Senate Leaders Evaluate First Session of Congress

Editor's Note: At the request of United Press International, the Democratic, Republican and Independent members of the first session of the 86th Congress have prepared their appraisals of the session. They are being published in this series.

By SEN. EVERETT M. DIRKSEN, R-ILLINOIS (Written for UPI)

The session is over. The appraisal now begins.

Some people approve on the basis of volume. How many bills have been introduced? How many have passed?

Others use the yardstick of quality. What kind of legislation was enacted? What effect will it have on our nation's future?

Still others take a look at cost. Can the money it will cost be justified? What effect will the expenditures have on our economy?

The session that ended in December would, on many levels, be a disappointment. A third major bill passed this session will have passed for the simple reason the bills were impossible to read.

In this category were national defense items necessary by the Korean crisis, civilian defense, debt ceiling, increase, amendments to the Social Security Act, etc.

If the measurement of quality is applied to this session of Congress, the score begins to drop rapidly.

For example, the first three bills of the United States have all been financing programs for the Korean administration, but the Korean administration has received through Congress the most costly program in history financed by by treasury loans to remove it from under the control of Congress, and taxing criteria for qualifying under the program of an appallingly low level.

"MISDIRECTED RELIEF"

Similarly, the depressed areas legislation was an example of badly misdirected relief for a situation that is very real in many sections of our country.

Instead of concentrating the Federal assistance on critical urban areas, the legislation scattered its proposed help over every section of the country, including rural areas. We will be fortunate if it accomplishes anything.

The farm program, the Food Grants Act and the water pollution bill are all examples of expenditures that may defeat their own purposes because they were doubtless made on a purely emotional basis.

"COST IS HIGHEST"

If we apply the third measure of appraisal cost, to the 86th Congress, the score is almost strikingly low.

As a result of action by this Congress, the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1962, which President Eisenhower estimated should cost $40 billion with revenues of $31.1 billion, now is going to cost more than $60 billion with a deficit of between $30 and $27 billion.

Less than half of the additional spending can be charged to the increased national defense cost due to the Berlin situation.

Although we Republicans repeatedly urged cuts in what we regarded as non-essential domestic spending, we seldom achieved our ends.

After all, considering the fact that the Republicans only have 30 out of 100 senators and only 17 out of 435 representatives in the Congress, we take pride in our accomplishment as much as we did.

For example, essential adult education legislation was enacted without the extremely costly additional recommendations of the Kennedy administration. The two passed $2 million public power project at Hanford, Washington, which appeared to be wholly unwarranted, was eliminated from the authorization bill for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Nevertheless, despite these efforts by Republicans, it must be candidly recognized that this is the greatest peacetime spending session of Congress in history. It has set the record. The spenders are back in power.

So, to sum up this session, it may be said that it was long on quantity, short on quality, and plenty rough on the taxpayers' pockets.

The 86th Congress has made a substantial investment in the security and progress of the United States. It has acted bravely, with all due deliberation, but it has acted in many areas where legislation has long been needed.

By SEN. MIKE UNFEELED, D-MONTANA (Written for UPI)

It is all very well to criticize the Congress for spending money. But the fact is that money is an essential element of action. True, there will be a deficit in this year's budget. That is something which the 86th Congress cannot be proud of. But neither is it something to which the Congress need be ashamed.

"HAVE GAINED GREATLY"

In the first place, this year's budgetary deficit will not begin to approach the record peacetime deficit of $12.5 billion in 1959. In the second place, the people of the nation will have gained a great deal that is durable from the legislation which has been enacted in 1961.

Of course, these underachievements involve money. But who is to say that it is "reckless spending" to see to it that houses are built and the natural assets of water, forest and mountain are conserved?

By the same token, we must ask ourselves if it is "reckless spending" when Congress acts in trying to keep moving a massive road-building program throughout a nation with an ever-growing dependency on motor transport.

Is it reckless to try to ease the problem of rail transportation in one of our congested cities? Is it reckless to try to make air safer and more adequate in these days of ever-growing usage of the airways?

Is it reckless to try to insure an adequate source of water for homes in the towns and villages cut off from rural areas of the nation. If all of these matters, Congress has not recklessly but carefully of Americans who would otherwise be unable to finance them.

In a similar fashion, Congress has acted to strengthen and enlarge the whole structure of recreational facilities in the nation. Bills have been passed to create new national parks, to protect the disappearing wilderness, and to survey the aboriginals of oceans, rivers and lakes with a view to making a good part of this priceless asset available for the relaxation of this generation and future generations of Americans.

It has initiated a beginning in retaining program to provide new skills to citizens who are displaced by automation or other causes beyond their control.

It has legislated to bring new hope to large pockets of continuing depression in the country to the depressed areas which have not shared in the general prosperity of these recent years.

It is easy enough to find fault with any or all of these undertakings. But the fact is that the public facilities of this nation have been kept up with expanding needs. The fact is that millions of citizens are in difficulties through no fault of their own.

We have untold time and again to produce what was necessary and to fight together as necessary for the security of all against foreign enemies.

We can do no less against the creation of our unity and security than we would against the World War II.

ACTS TO AID PEOPLE

Further, this Congress has also acted to help the unemployed and their families, through the extension and enlargement of the existing job-insurance system, with national parks, to protect the disappearing wilderness, and to survey the aboriginals of oceans, rivers and lakes with a view to making a good part of this priceless asset available for the relaxation of this generation and future generations of Americans.

greatness of the nation. As Americans we will strengthen the inner sum of the nation and we will stand together and help one another when help is needed or we will be in danger of not being able to stand at all in freedom.

Congress has also had to increase spending for the defense budget—the largest single new factor in the budgetary deficit. But this increase can hardly be categorized as "reckless spending," inasmuch as it has had no political ballast. The fact is that every Republican senator as well as every Democrat voted for this increase.

In this general category, the 86th Congress has continued the foreign aid program at about the same level as that maintained for the Republican Administration. This Congress approved the continuance only after the most careful scrutiny of the legislation in an effort to try to eliminate the gross deficiencies which have developed through the years.

Two new constructive measures of foreign policy were also approved, for the creation of a Peace Corps and a disarmament agency. Both are frankly experimental.

They were initiated in the hope that this constructive work that peace will enable us in time to reduce the enormous burden of money, foreign aid, a Peace Corps, spending for which new money—100 million—has been collected by the federal government and which adds up to be asked. "Are we all there mentally half a trillion dollars short?"

No mentally sound body, he told the House Thursday night, would permit us to continue spending money for the creation of a Peace Corps and a disarmament agency. Both are frankly experimental.

Congress Nuts, Says Hoffman of Michigan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican critic of government spending thinks he has the answer to why Congress keeps appropriating money. It's crazy, says Rep. Clare E. Hoffman of Michigan.

Borrowing from the court doctrine that holds a person is not legally responsible if he is mentally ill, Hoffman suggested that should be Congress' defense for its spending legislation.

He said that Congress is "mentally sound body, he told the House Thursday night, would permit us to continue spending money for the creation of a Peace Corps and a disarmament agency. Both are frankly experimental."

School Aid, Medicare, Urban Affairs, Trade Pact

Kennedy Ready to Fight for Four Hot Issues

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy apparently is going to stake his political standing on four explosive issues in the next session of the Congress.

Kennedy has passed the word to party legislative leaders he is going to come back fighting

January for three proposals laid aside this year—a general aid to education bill, medical care for the aged and establishment of a Cabinet department of urban affairs.

His fourth major effort will be directed at a new extension of the reciprocal trade agreements act which expires next year.

The President has no illusions that putting across any such program is going to be easy. He was reported to be preparing for the toughest kind of battles. He was said to feel that he is going to have to win most of these conflicts to present a record to the voters that will avoid the traditional off-year election losses of House and Senate seats by the administration in power.

Democratic leaders are confident that, unless he is heavily involved in international developments, Kennedy will put in some personal campaigning for party members running next year.

The prospects of passing a general school aid bill at the next session are regarded as less than even. The issue of aid to parochial schools is one that many members would like to avoid in an election year.

Administration hopes for action on medical care for the elderly are much better. If the House clears a measure financing this program through Social Security taxes, the Senate is almost certain to go along.

The creation of a department of urban affairs involves the matter of Kennedy's obvious intention to name Robert C. Weaver, housing administrator and a Negro, to the Cabinet post if it is set up.

Along with other executive action in the field of civil rights, Kennedy has named several Negroes to high positions. In the closing rush he sent the Senate the nomination of Thurgood Marshall, counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, for membership on the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals.

This nomination will be before the Senate Judiciary Committee headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., next January.

Kennedy will be faced with demands from Republicans and Northern Democrats for action on new civil rights legislation. But it appears doubtful that he will move in this direction in an election year.

The reciprocal trade agreements extension cuts across political lines because of the economic threat of imports to industries in all sections of the country. The continuance of the program may well provide the biggest controversy of the next session.

Kennedy expects to meet Republican attacks on his spending programs by submitting a balanced Budget next January. Whether it actually will be balanced, however, seems likely to depend largely on whether the economy continues on the upgrade.

The Republicans are certain to make budget-balancing a major issue. How effective it will be, nobody knows.

Pontiac City Affairs

OK Borrowing for Fire Station

City Commissioners last night approved borrowing $200,000 from the city employees retirement system fund to pay for part of the new Central Fire Station.

The loan would be paid back in 1963 and 1964 at a 4.5 per cent interest rate. Two installments of $100,000 each plus interest would be paid in September of each year according to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

The $275,000 fire hall, already under construction, is to be paid out of capital improvement millage on a pay-as-you-go basis.

"The money is needed now and is there in the retirement fund," said Willman. "This way, we could pay it back from capital improvement funds over a period of several years rather than draining the capital improvement fund all at once."

The financing technique has been used on several other projects. Basically it overcomes the problems of having to pay out a large sum at one time on public improvements not financed through a bond issue.

ACCEPT REQUEST
Commissioners also passed a resolution officially accepting a bequest of $5,000 from the will of Mrs. Lulu C. Wilson for equipment at Pontiac General Hospital.

The resolution expressed the commission's "thanks and appreciation."

Mrs. Wilson, who died last February, was the wife of Charles B. Wilson, founder of the Wilson Foundry in Pontiac. The bequest was presented at last week's commission meeting.

In a move to bolster access to municipal parking space downtown, the city manager reported that Detroit Edison Co. has offered to sell the city a strip of land behind its Pontiac branch at West Huron and Pine Streets for $2,500.

The property, 11 by 59 feet, would improve access to a number of lots on West Huron between Pine and Cass. It would double the width of the present entrance from Pine.

On Willman's recommendation, the Commission voted to buy the property at the asked price.

Recently the city bought and cleared property adjacent to the Edison office. Plans are under study to expand the present lot eastward to the Edison building.

ACCEPT ESTIMATE
City Engineer James N. Carlin's cost estimate of $1,728.10 for sidewalk work on West Princeton Avenue near Baldwin Avenue was accepted and a public hearing on intentions to do the work was slated for Oct. 3.

Assessed cost of the improvement would be $240.22 and the city's cost $1,188.08. A 100-foot side lot would be assessed $120.

The work would include sidewalk replacement on the south side of West Princeton from Baldwin to and including the first alley west, and a new sidewalk on the north side from Baldwin to the east line of lot 66, Walton Boulevard Park subdivision.

No objections were heard at hearings on intent to construct a sidewalk on Ingleside Avenue, Oakland to Monticello; and to change the grade of a sidewalk on the north side of East Wilson Street, lot 251-267 Perry Farm addition.

Special assessment rolls will be prepared for presentation at next week's meeting.

Special assessment rolls were accepted for four public improvement projects and slated for public hearings also at next week's meeting.

They included rolls for curbs and gutters on Steinbaugh Court, Augusta to State; sidewalk replacement on both sides of Hopkins

HE QUITS — Abdel Hamid Seray has resigned as vice president of the United Arab Republic. Seray, a strongman in Syria, came into the job when Egypt and Syria merged in 1958 to form the U.A.R.

Silent Screen Heroine, Juanita Hansen, Is Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Juanita Hansen, 66, heroine of early day movie serials, died at her home in West Hollywood Tuesday.

Her body was found by her maid, Pearl Edwards, who told sheriff's investigators that Miss Hansen had been suffering from a heart ailment.

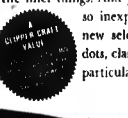

Miss Hansen began her silent film career in 1915 in Keystone comedies, succeeded Pearl White as the queen of Hollywood's hectic aerial thrillers, then retired after she was scolded in a New York hotel accident in 1921. She has no known survivors.

State Battles Ruling Endangering Claim

LANSING (AP) — Michigan is fighting a Department of Interior ruling that could take the St. Clair flats from under state jurisdiction.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams reported today.

The order, Adams said, held that the federal government owned title to naturally made islands in the Mississippi Delta and along the Florida coast.

"Since our entire St. Clair flats area is a naturally formed delta, such a ruling would endanger Michigan's title to this valuable hunting and fishing ground," Adams said.

Adams said he is sending a brief to the department asking for reversal of the decision.

It is based upon a U.S. Supreme Court decision confirming title of all submerged and emergent lands to the states, the attorney general said.

THE AIRLINE THAT GREW 168,000,000 MILES TALL!

Only thirteen years ago North Central Airlines took off on an operational flight that has carried it to remarkable heights.

Beginning with just three 9-passenger planes — logging about 1,953,000 passenger miles in 1948 — the Route of the Northliners has grown into the leading system in its class. Today it operates more aircraft, flies more miles, carries more passengers and more cargo than any other local service airline.

Proof that North Central is really going places (and more often): last year Northliners and Super Northliners flew over 168 million passenger miles. An increase of 86 times over its first year of operation.

When you want to go places, choose the airline that's going places — North Central. Now flying daily to 91 cities in 10 states and Canada — connecting with national and international airlines for world-wide destinations.

Important News For Every Car Owner Who Wants
A Healthier Motor 5,000, 10,000, 20,000 Miles From Now!

An Octane rating measures only 2 of your motor's needs

A Megatane rating measures 21 of your motor's needs

The higher the Megatane rating the better your motor will run...and

Mobil

now brings you the highest Megatane rating
of any leading gasoline!

Now for the first time you can choose gasoline realistically rated to make your car run stronger, last longer, keep younger!

The Octane Mistake. Yes, Octane rating measures only 2 of the things your car needs in a gasoline... 2 very important qualities dealing with anti-knock. The result is that many people make the Octane Mistake... buy gasoline high in Octane but lacking in many of the other brilliant advances made by science. These advances can truly give you a cleaner motor, quicker starting, less stalling, more mileage and power.

Megatane measures total performance. Recognizing this Octane Mistake, Mobil engineers now measure and express gasoline quality in a rating system which enables you to judge not just Octane but the total performance of your gasoline.

This new rating system is called Megatane. It includes Octane, of course, but goes far beyond Octane to measure not just 2, but all 21, of the qualities that

Mobil engineers believe should be found in today's ideal gasoline.*

Mobil gets highest Megatane ratings. Of course, the ideal Megatane rating of 21 has not yet been achieved by anyone... not even Mobil. But when you drive into your Mobil station, you will find new Mobil Premium that rates higher on the Megatane scale (19 out of 21) than any leading Premium. New Mobil Regular, with 16 out of 21, rates higher than any leading Regular gasoline.

At first, the difference may not be apparent to you. Your car will probably not leap like a gazelle from a standing start. But never forget this: Five, ten, twenty thousand miles from now, your motor will know the difference... in more mileage, less loss of power, less harmful deposits, easier starting, longer prime of life. For the higher the Megatane rating, the better your motor will run!

For details about the Megatane rating system, visit your Mobil dealer.

Men Author All Recipes in New Cookout Book

An exciting, lively, exacting group of recipes born of the imagination and enterprise of the country's champion male cookout chefs. Here, for the first time, in one highly pictorial book, are the winning recipes from "America's Cookout Championships" for the past two years.

Two big-money winners, "Bread of Chicken, Kimer, Flame" and "Pork Tenderloin Javanese" netted their creative chefs (both bachelors) a cool $10,000 each. Originality runs rampant. The recipes start simply enough with hot dogs and hamburgers and progress expertly through flaming shish-kebab and exotic Polynesian festivals. They have come from all sections of the country and from a great variety of talented people including university professors, clergymen, doctors, artists, writers, ranchers, Navy officers, union officials and industrial designers.

At both Cookouts, nationally-known food folk made the big decisions which catapulted these recipes into fame and fortune. In 1959, judges were Dorothy Marsh of Good Housekeeping, Demetria Taylor of Parade magazine, Gaynor Maddox of NEA, Eleanor Crook of American Weekly, and Stan Musial, baseball star and restaurateur.

The 144-page book is beautifully illustrated with photographs by George de Gennaro, himself an excellent cook. And with charming whimsical sketches by Harry Diamond who makes cooking an exciting game, eating one of the world's great pleasures.

Here in somewhat compact style are some of The Cookout Book's highlights:

Under Barbecue and Marinades
Combine 1 cup red wine, 1 cup of oil, 1 teaspoon salt, some freshly ground pepper, and 1 teaspoon of rosemary or marjoram. A pureed clove of garlic may also be used. Good for all red meat and game. Equally good for chicken and game birds.

The Browns are purists, as evidenced in this recipe and attending command. Combine 1 cup of tomato catsup, 1 cup red wine, 3 pureed cloves of garlic, 3 tablespoons each of vinegar and Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon each of sugar and salt, and Tabasco to your taste.

This is the kind of hot baste that used to be very popular. It is usually called "barbecue sauce" and is used by its devotees in steaks, chops, roasts, chickens, hamburgers, "and whatever they don't really like the taste of!"

Under Barbecue Entertaining
Serve more firm and helpful conversations. The dish cooked at the grill is, of course, the piece de resistance, but it will need accompaniments . . . roast corn and/or potatoes . . . a salad . . . bread occasionally. Beer or wine is often served and coffee always finishes off the feast. Here are a few menu suggestions:

Steak: Potatoes au gratin, dried tomatoes spiced with vinegar and served with an oil and vinegar dressing. Homemade bread toasted on a fork over the coals, strawberries and cream or strawberry shortcake.

Ham Steak: Charcoal-broiled corn or corn pudding, foil-wrapped yams roasted in the ashes, pickled sprouts, cole slaw, fresh pears with Roquefort Cheese.

Spareribs: Fried rice, corn bread, orange salad, chocolate cake.

Roast Turkey: Onion tart, cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes roasted in foil, romaine and watercress salad, fresh peach ice cream.

Broiled Lobster: French fried potatoes reheated in foil, cole slaw with green peppers, cherry tomatoes, hot cheese bread, pineapple shell with fresh fruits and Kiwi or Colman's.

Broiled Fish: Foil-roasted potatoes with cheese sauce, roasted rye bread, cucumbers in sour cream with dill, fresh coconut layer cake or Napoleons.

Green Vegetables: With a little bit of butter and salt and pepper can be folded into a packet of quitted heavy-duty foil and cooked over the grill in a short time. Fresh vegetables take a little longer.

Use paper tablecloths and napkins and keep tableware at a minimum. But go to town on gay decorations . . . wild flowers, fruit, even colorful vegetables can decorate the tables. And don't hesitate to ask your guests to help with the few chores there are. That's part of the fun.

All in all, The Cookout Book, is an excellent primer for the beginner, a fine help for the "above average" backyard cook, and an inspiration to the gourmet cookout chef.

It is printed by the famous Ward Ritchie Press, exponents of fine typography, which doubles its value . . . at the outdoor grill, and in the library.

Date-nut leaves, made from a standard quick bread recipe, may be freezer-stored for four to six months.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK—The troubled times emphasized by President Kennedy in his speech to the United Nations still haven't rattled noticeably U.S. business planning on the world scene.

Private investment dollars are still pouring abroad. And sales of foreign branches of U.S. firms are rising faster than exports of goods produced here.

GAINS OFFSET LOSSES

Both the foreign and home and the American corporations doing the investing are reported still happy on the whole. Gains in friendly lands, such as in Western Europe, have more than offset losses in unfriendly ones, such as Cuba.

Two top executives of the U.S. oil industry—which has been having a bit more than its share of troubles of late—take a look at different aspects of foreign investments.

One stresses the outpouring of U.S. government aid and the rising competition of foreign products here. The other reminds the host nations that while U.S. investments abroad are reaping harvests of sales and earnings, the foreign lands are gaining too, and in more ways than one.

SECOND VIEW GIVEN

The second view is expounded by M. J. Rathbone, president of Jersey Standard Oil, in Buenos Aires for the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Jersey's affiliate in Argentina.

The American reminds the Argentine government that until a few years ago it was spending over a quarter of a billion dollars a year in foreign exchange to pay for oil imports. Then it started welcoming U.S. capital for exploration and development. By the end of this year, Argentina should be self-sufficient in oil for the first time in its modern history.

"Many countries," Rathbone points out, "have found that arrangements with private companies give them a stake in one of the world's biggest gambles—entirely without capital cost to the country."

SIDE BENEFITS GREAT

Side benefits, he says, include higher incomes for local businessmen and citizens, taxes of many kinds paid to local governments, industrial administrative and management skills acquired by local employees, and new industries that spring up to supply the complex needs of the original investors.

Another side of American involvement abroad is taken up by John E. Swearingin, president of Indiana Standard Oil. Speaking in Fort Worth to the Texas Oil-Consolidation & Gas Association on the impact of government on business, he takes a look at U.S. government assistance to other lands.

"From July 1, 1945, to June 30, 1960, the United States made available to foreign nations a sum of nearly $38 billion in various types of foreign assistance, grants and loans," Swearingin notes.

ONE BILLION IN AID

Even after all types of repayment and returns of grants have been considered, by June 30, 1962, four net foreign assistance programs will represent the astronomical sum of $38.5 billion," he said.

Then he notes one prospect on which the oil industry has had a good forecast—Soviet competition. The oilman warns that "as the years go by, the American economy will be forced to compete with the state-controlled economy of the Soviet Union in many areas of the world."

Soviet dumping of oil products at cut-rate prices on chosen markets already has hurt a number of American oil companies operating abroad.

Swearingin pleads for less government interference with private business so that it can grow and prosper in the coming months.

CAB Probing Cause of Crash

Chicago Hearing May Learn Disaster Story When 78 Died

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board today opened a hearing which it hoped would pinpoint the cause of the nation's single-plane commercial airline disaster.

CAB member Whitney Gilliland was presiding officer at Midway House today in the probe of the crash of a Trans World Airlines Constellation which killed 78 persons Sept. 1. The hearing was expected to last two or three days.

The big plane ploughed into a corn and soybean field in suburban Clarendon Hills, southwest of Chicago, less than four minutes after take-off from Midway airport.

After the impact the giant aircraft exploded and burned. There were no survivors.

The crash investigation has centered around a portion of the Constellation's triple tail.

The segment of the tail section was found intact about 300 feet from the main body of the plane and crash probes said it apparently separated from the plane while still in the air.

Wake and Notify Kennedy Senate Ready to Quit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators bowed shortly after 6 o'clock this morning to tell him the Senate was ready to adjourn sine die.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate Majority leader and half of the two-man committee assigned to the task, reported back to the chamber that the President said, "Thanks."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the GOP leader and other half of the two-man committee, assured the Senate: "We did get the President of the United States out of bed."

Traditionally, each branch of Congress notifies the president separately that it is about to adjourn, unless he has other legislation to submit.

Industry Loans Con-Con Topic

Swainson May Suggest Such Legislation Be Put in New Edition

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson has been asked to recommend to the forthcoming constitutional convention that the state be allowed to pledge its credit to project financing, an encouraging industry in Michigan.

The recommendation came Tuesday from the governor's Commission on Industrial Development legislation.

A similar proposal, in the form of a constitutional amendment, was defeated by a narrow margin at the spring election this year.

The commission said that constitutional amendment and legislation enabling the state to assist in industrial first mortgage financing through an insured loan program appeared to be necessary if Michigan was to compete with other states in attracting industry.

"Probably one of the most compelling arguments for state aid in industrial financing is the simple one that Michigan must meet competition in this field from other states," a commission report declared.

It pointed out that at least 17 other states now have active industrial loan programs of some kind. Others have authorized loan programs about to go into operation or are considering legislation which will create such lending programs, the report said.

Nixon to Give Decision Today

News Conference Set for Answer on Plans in Governor's Race

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon steps before a televised news conference tonight to answer the big question—will he run for governor of California next year?

Even his closest advisors confessed not to know in advance whether it would be yes or no. At least they weren't talking.

POINTS TO A RACE

Everything seemed to point toward a campaign by the 1960 Republican presidential nominee to dump Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

There was the careful staging of the announcement, the steady buildup of a "draft Nixon" clamor within the state GOP, little hints here and there.

But, just as easily, puzzled guessers could make out a sound case for a decision by Nixon to not to chance his political future with state voters who are better than 3-2 Democratic.

GOP IS DIVIDED

Republicans themselves are divided on Nixon's course. Some have told him that he needs the governorship to build a platform for another national race in 1964.

Others have argued that Nixon, with his national party stature, doesn't need an office to keep in the public eye. They have warned, too, that he faces a stubborn battle for the state nomination, particularly from former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

Ortonville Farm Group Wins Service Contest for Year's Projects

ORTONVILLE—Brandon Grange has again been judged lower Thumb district winner in the annual community service contest sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and the National Grange.

The contest year ended August 31.

Projects of the local grange included sending a CARE package to Greece, giving 10 cords of wood to an elderly couple, donating use of hall for a community Halloween party and giving $10 for Christmas packages for the Oakland County Crippled Children's Home.

Other projects have been placing barrels of sand at rural intersections, sending magazines to India and local convalescent homes, serving dinners for various groups and donating Christmas trees to community families.

The group also maintained flower plantings in front of the hall, took boxes of goodies to shut-ins and provided two needy families with $20 in groceries during the contest period.

Community service chairman is Albert Primas and master, Alex Selby.

A $50 bond will be presented to this Grange Oct. 18 at the State Grange convention at Coldwater.

"Thousands of grange districts during this 14th annual contest have voluntarily contributed over 5 million man-hours of their time and efforts to planning and conducting projects which make their communities a better place in which to live. This is community service the self-help way," said National Grange Master Herschel Newman.

This is the fourth consecutive year Brandon Grange has been cited as the top service award winner in District 8.

Community Night to Launch School Year at Dryden

DRYDEN—The Dryden Area Development Association will herald the opening of another school year with its third annual "community night" program tomorrow evening.

A pollack dinner will be served 7 p.m. in the General Squire Park clubhouse, S. Mill Street.

Guest speaker will be representative from the central office of the United Fund in Saginaw. He will discuss community cooperation and explain the use of funds raised in U.F. campaigns.

The officers and directors of the association are arranging the affair assisted by Mrs. Robert Bancroft, Mrs. Harry Youngs and Mrs. E. J. Milliken Jr.

The meat and beverages will be furnished by the association. All adults in the Dryden area are urged to attend.

KEITH GOODWIN

Milford DeMolay Installation Tonight

MILFORD — The installation of Keith Goodwin as master counselor of the Milford DeMolays will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Milford Masonic Temple.

Keith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Goodwin of 3899 Ridge Road, Highland Township.

Others taking office are Skip Book, senior counselor; William Updegraff, junior counselor; and Charles Black, scribe-treasurer. Refreshments will be served following the public ceremony.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Rochester High Trio on Scholarship List

ROCHESTER — Three seniors at Rochester Senior High School have been named semifinalists in the 7th annual National Merit Scholarship competition. Principal Harlan Johnson announced today.

The students are Wallace R. Hodges Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Hodges, 1644 Brewster Road; Phyllis Holtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holtz, 2307 John R Road; and Thomas E. Kruger Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Kruger, 6006 DeGustio Court.

They are among approximately 10,000 seniors throughout the country who attained semifinalist status through their high scores on the qualifying examination, a test of educational development given last March in more than 15,000 high schools.

Freeway Section Ready

LANSING — The first section of a highway that eventually will become part of the Grand Rapids-Cadillac freeway will be opened to traffic Wednesday, the State Highway Department reports. The project includes modernization and relocation of some two miles of U.S. 131 from the Cadillac south city limits to M15.

Christian College to Be Aided by New Group

The first regular monthly meeting of the Michigan Foundation for Christian Education will be held Friday 7:30 p.m. at the Hazel Park Church of Christ, 22154 Stephenson Highway.

The foundation is a newly formed nonprofit organization of men dedicated to the principal of providing secular instruction at the college level supplemented by teaching in spiritual values and Bible themes.

The organization's primary purpose is the financial support of Michigan Christian Junior College, 600 W. Avon Road, Avon Township. Its membership is open to all men who subscribe to its principles and bylaws.

The initial meeting will feature the showing of a film on our national "sage" defense system. All subsequent meetings which will be conducted regularly on the fourth Friday of each month will be held on the MJC campus.

To Be Albion Speaker

ALBION (UPI)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is scheduled to be the speaker for the opening of the third annual Albion College Lecture-Concert series Oct. 5.

KAREN ANN BACHERT

A Nov. 4 wedding is planned by Karen Ann Bachert and James D. Spoor. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bachert of 4714 White Lake Road, White Lake Township. Mr. and Mrs. Keston Spoor of 214 Oakland Road, Milford, are the parents of the prospective bridegroom.

Attending Park Institute

R. Clare Cummings, Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority Commissioner who represents Oakland County, and Edward Mallonen, park planner for the Authority, are attending the National American Institute of Park Executives annual 5-day conference which ends Friday in Rochester, New York. Both are residents of Pontiac.

Aid in Easing Work

Offer Women Classes

CLAWSON — "Heart of the Home" classes in work simplification and body mechanics will be offered next month in Clawson for the benefit of homemakers with limitations of time, energy or physical capacity.

Sessions will be held on Oct. 2 and 9, and Oct. 23 and 30, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Oakland YWCA, 838 S. Crooks Rd.

In announcing the free classes, Miss Carol Stonking, of the Oakland Y, stated that "while all persons can benefit from this kind of instruction, it has special meaning to people with heart or circulatory ailments."

"Experience has shown that classes have great value for many physically handicapped individuals as well as for those who must conserve their energy," she said.

The classes are presented by Ruth Kettunen, consultant in home-maker rehabilitation, of the Michigan Heart Association.

In the first class, Mrs. Kettunen follows the theme of "Take it easy by the way you use your body," which includes discussion and demonstrations of sit-down work, levels, and the selection and use of household equipment.

The second meeting is devoted to kitchen layout, work centers, storage arrangements, and the application of work-simplification principles to specific jobs. Miss Stonking has emphasized further information.

Registering Monday for Adult Courses

Registration for adult education at Avondale Senior High School will be on Monday from 7 until 8 p.m. according to the director, William H. Saville.

The following courses will be offered: driver training for adults, typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, beginning and advanced cake decorating, beginning and advanced dressmaking and square dancing.

The fee for driver training is $20. All other courses will be $5 per person. Saville suggests that those interested in square dancing enroll with a partner. He may be contacted at the high school for further information.

And Still New Food Items Come Along

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
You're not through hearing about new food items. Although I spent a week with many of the nation's food producers and processors, I didn't get all the latest information. Some of it has come in the mail, both before and after our conference.
Perhaps you have received a coupon in your own mail for a can of the new instant coffee. The producers claim that packing in a vacuum can instead of a glass jar protects the flavor and aroma. A measuring spoon is contained in the can.
Ever have a carton of sour cream spoil? If this has annoyed you in the past, you'll be happy to hear that one dairy is putting out vacuum packed glass jars of sour cream. This will keep in the refrigerator up to a month, staying smooth and thick.

A famous shortening long used by American housewives, now contains over 70 per cent of unsaturated fats. Yet this creamy vegetable shortening is just as good for baking and frying. It is also salt free.
There's a new bran cereal on the market. Little morsels of finely milled whole bran are homogenized with wheat germ. The cereal is to be eaten in the regular manner with milk and sugar or used as other bran cereals in baking and cooking.

After October 1, look for a new pancake and waffle syrup. The producer tells us that this is available only in our area, so perhaps we are a test area.
This new syrup is called "Buttered Syrup" and has 2 per cent butter added to the golden rich maple flavored syrup we all know so well. Never mind putting butter on the breakfast table, when you serve buttered syrup.
Here's a special way of using this new syrup.
No need to add salt to a cookie recipe, when salted peanuts are used.

Banana Muffins Will Earn Praise at Coffee

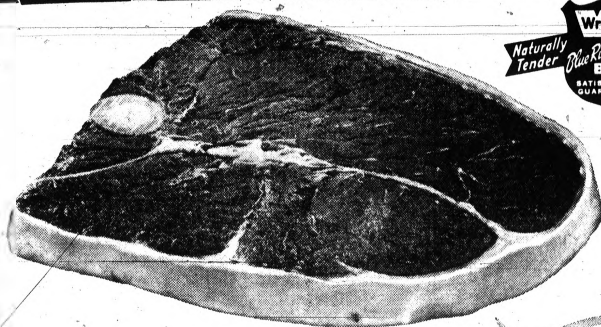

Want to earn yourself a name as the best organized homemaker in the neighborhood? Make a batch of homemade Coconut-Topped Banana Muffins for the next neighborhood coffee break. After the children are off to school get out the ingredients and start to mix.
Sift together into a bowl 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/2 cup sugar. Mash a banana (you should have about 1/2 cup) and mix with 1 teaspoon lemon juice, then with 1 beaten egg, 3/4 cup milk and 1/2 cup melted shortening or oil. Add liquids to flour mixture and stir only until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin cups about 2/3 full of batter.

Emergency Family Kit to Be Sold

Through cooperation with the National Office of Civilian Defense in Battle Creek, a family emergency kit will soon be available to the public through local outlets.
The new firm composed of Bernard Howard, Fenton; William Gallagher, Fenton; and Merrill Howard, Ann Arbor, Mich., under the name "National Survival Associates," Fenton, Mich., will manufacture and package a kit designed for shelter and home use in case of nuclear attack.
Contents include small cooking stove, fuel, lights, first aid packet, collapsible plastic water and waste containers, water purification, disposable chemically treated towels and various items designed for use in a small shelter where families would exist through a nuclear attack, and the fallout that follows.

Also included are instructions booklet, outlining flame protection, food and clothing requirements, control instruction, fallout protection and Civil Defense plans.
According to Gallagher, a local manufacturer, and World War II bomber pilot:
"We deal with an indefinite future in which attack is not expected but must never be written off. We cannot afford to speculate in survival. The next world war could be nuclear and it could be fought in the United States."

Melon in Salad or Dessert

Cantaloupe, honeydew, watermelon — all are in bountiful supply now in your market. They are among the blessings of summer's bounty. So enjoy them alone, or in combination with other foods.

Fresh Melon and Ham Salad

1 pound cottage cheese
1/2 cup green, any desired
13 slices cantaloupe, seeded
1/2 medium cantaloupe, seeded
1 medium honeydew, seeded
Fresh mint leaves or watermelon
Peanut dressing or mayonnaise

Place cottage cheese in center of serving plate, on any salad green desired. Roll up prosciutto, boiled ham or bologna and sandwich between lengthwise slices cantaloupe and honeydew cut 1-inch thick.

Arrange on plate around cottage cheese. Garnish with fresh mint leaves or watermelon. If desired, serve with French dressing or mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

Vanilla Melon Ball Cup

1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup water
1 cup fresh lemon juice
1 cup fresh orange juice
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1/2 cup cantaloupe or honeydew
Melon balls of fresh melon for garnish

Combine sugar, water and lemon juice. Bring to boiling point. Cool 15 minutes. Add orange juice, pure vanilla extract and melon balls. Chill 2 to 3 hours or overnight. Serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with sprigs of fresh mint. Makes 6 servings.

Peanut Butter Gets in Pudding

Protein laden peanut butter gives meals a nutritional bonus, plus highlighting them with texture, flavor and color, which is a good reason for the U.S. Department of Agriculture to include this spread in its food donations to needy families.

Homemakers have come to know the best ways to incorporate peanut butter into meals, for if you combine it with other foods you make peanut butter not only more appealing, but more digestible too.

One delightful use of peanut butter is in conjunction with bread pudding, like this—

Scald 2 cups of milk and add 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Beat 2 eggs and gradually add milk mixture. Spread 1/4 cup of peanut butter on 3 slices of bread and cut into small cubes. Put cubes into greased baking dish and pour in milk mixture. Set in pan of hot water. Bake immediately at 350 degrees F. about 1 1/4 hours, or until set.

This recipe will provide four servings.

Lone Oldster Needs Balanced Breakfast

Breakfast is often a neglected or indifferent meal to old people who live alone and often have no more than tea and toast. However, dieticians and doctors know that nutritionally balanced breakfasts (as well as other meals) are vitally important in keeping senior citizens healthy and happy.

Fortunately, an intelligently planned new book, "The Golden Age Cookbook," by Phyllis MacDonald, will help older people plan and prepare balanced meals for themselves easily. Miss MacDonald, dietitian, cared for her aged mother and on that experience and work as hospital dietitian based her sane, understanding and practical guide for those of advanced years who live alone. Here are two breakfast menus and two breakfast recipes from her book.

Menu: Pineapple Juice, Shredded Eggs with Mince Ham, Quick Cooking Cereal, Buttered Toast (to be dunked, if desired), Coffee or Tea.

Menu: Applesauce, Cinnamon Milk Toast, Tea, Coffee, Hot Chocolate.

Shredded Eggs with Mince Ham
1/4 cup light cream
1/4 cup ground ham (ready-to-eat or leftover baked) or 2 slices boiled ham, minced
2 eggs

Dash salt
Sprinkle of paprika

Heat oven to 375 degrees (moderately hot). Grease 2 shirred egg dishes or custard cups. Pour half of the cream into each. Sprinkle in the ham, dividing it equally between the two dishes. Break in the eggs. Sprinkle with salt and paprika. Bake in preheated oven for about 10 minutes, or until eggs are firm enough to suit you. Serve piping hot. Serves 2.

Cinnamon Milk Toast
1 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
2 to 3 slices buttered toast
2 teaspoons sugar

Removes Excess Soap
A cup of vinegar added to the rinse water when you have used too many suds in the washing will remove the soap. Rinse again and the clothes will dry sweet and soft.

Three Nations Up for U.N. Membership

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Following are thumbnail sketches of the three nations whose U.N. membership applications were before the Security Council Tuesday.

—Mauritania: A former French colony in Northwest Africa. It became an autonomous republic with the French community in November, 1958, and proclaimed its independence on Nov. 28, 1960. It has approximately 630,000 population and an area of 431,000 square miles.

Most of the population are tribal nomads of Arab or Berber stock. Their economy is poor, the principal products being millet and cattle. The budget is heavily subsidized by France, but economic prospects have improved with discovery of large deposits of iron ore.

Morocco claims Mauritania on the ground the Emirs owed allegiance to the emperors of Morocco up to the period of French rule. The government, headed by Premier Moktar Ould Daddah, maintains that by remaining independent, the country can serve as a bridge between black and Arab Africa.

—Outer Mongolia: A thinly-populated land of migratory herdsman situated between the Soviet Union and Communist China. It has 900,000 people within its 600,000 square miles. The soil is poor for farming, and the nomads through the centuries have herded cattle, goats, sheep, camels and horses.

The Russians have helped develop communications, education and transportation, and the political system is along the Soviet pattern with a seven-member presidium running the country.

The Chinese Communists in recent years have extended economic aid to Outer Mongolia in an effort to increase Peiping's influence.

—Sierra Leone: A former British colony in West Africa which gained its independence earlier this year.

Situated between Liberia and Guinea on the Atlantic coast, it has a population of 2.5 million and an area of 28,000 square miles. Its capital, Freetown, has an excellent harbor which serves as a naval coaling station.

Most of the population lives off the land and from mining. Major products are iron ore, hides, rice, kola nuts, gold and diamonds. Sir Milton Margai is prime minister.

Any 1962 Tax Cut Dies as Congress Goes Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hope for third of the senators by this time last year will be deep in election campaigns.

The first congressional session of the Kennedy administration made only relatively minor tax changes—generally upward.

The House Ways and Means Committee is committed to starting the 1962 session with an all-out effort to write the kind of limited, first step tax reform bill which President Kennedy wanted enacted this year. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., says he hopes to send a bill to the House by February.

That would take some doing, since the committee is known to be deeply divided, even after weeks of discussion on such basic questions as withholding of income tax on interest and dividends, tightening up on expense account allowances and the form of tax encouragement to invest business modernization investment.

INTERIM BILL FIRST

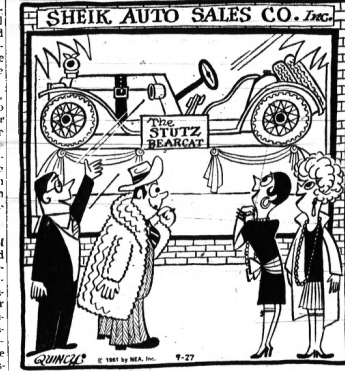

The chances for enactment of reformed and perhaps lowered taxes during the next session depend on the chances of the committee finishing work on the interim bill, taking care of other inevitable chores and then completing the formidable preliminary work on a major overhaul.

Big Night in Baseball: Reds Win Pennant, Maris Hits No. 60

Cinci Hoists First NL Flag in 21 Seasons

Beat Cubs, Get Help From Pirate Hurler Who Tops Dodgers

By The Associated Press
"Reds, hi, Yankees no."
That was the main theme as the long-frustrated Cincinnati citizenry celebrated the Reds' first National League pennant in 21 years with a rash of superlatives for their heroes and a deep bow in the direction of Pittsburgh pitcher Joe Gibbon.

The Reds beat the Chicago Cubs 6-3 in a day game Tuesday, earning a tie for the NL flag, then had to wait for Gibbon to get the actual clinching job done by eliminating the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers with a one-hitter.

That victory, an 8-0 shutout after the Dodgers had remained in contention with a 5-3 lead, was the first game of a two-night doubleheader, sent the Reds into the World Series against the American League champion New York Yankees.

The Yankees, who clinched their 26th pennant last week, had their own reasons to celebrate after a 3-2 victory over Baltimore in which Roger Maris hit his 60th home run and matched Babe Ruth's 1927 total.

To relieve Jim Brosnan (10-3) was the honor of mulling down Cincinnati's long-awaited pennant. Brosnan set the Cubs down one hit over the final three innings while Jerry Lynch provided the winning runs with a two-run homer in the eighth that snuffed a 3-3 tie.

The Reds' long day started in the first inning when Chicago scored against starter Bob Purkey on Don Zimmer's single, a tossed ball and George Altman's double. They added two in the fifth when the Reds defense collapsed following a two-out single by Cub starter Bob Anderson.

Then the Reds battled back. Held to one hit over five innings, they scored in the fifth on a lead-off homer by catcher John Edwards and put it away when Frank Robinson hit a two-run homer in the seventh off Anderson.

Meanwhile, at Pittsburgh, the Dodgers hung in there, fighting the Braves behind Stan Musial's short of manager Ben Schiffo's laudable (14-12) with a five-run second inning outburst against Reddy (14-19) in which Jim Gill got what's needed.

That was the Dodgers' last chance as Gibson completely subdued them in the eighth, allowing only a pinch hit single in the sixth by Bob Aponte to spoil his efforts. Gibson struck out seven and walked four in gaining his third shutout.

The Pirates won it in the third, chasing Don Drysdale (12-10) with a five-run outburst.

In the only other NL game, Milwaukee beat St. Louis 9-2 with Joe Adcock's three-run homer in the first inning off Ray Seaver (14-10).

There was no question that Alton was disappointed Tuesday night after his Dodgers were eliminated from the pennant picture through an 8-0 shutout at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

After the defeat, which came in the second game of a two-night doubleheader, Alton walked silently, with head down, to the dressing room.

Neither he nor members of the squad volunteered any comment. But when a reporter said "Well, Alton, you had a lot of injuries on this team during the season," Alton looked up and said:

"Well, I would rather talk about Cincinnati. I have to give Cincinnati credit for winning in a pretty tough league. As far as losing the second game of the doubleheader, that was an important game but no more many others a month or so ago, too."

11 Years Between Aces

There were 11 years between ace for Wally Park Jr., who ended long losing streak with a hole-in-one at Pine Lake Country Club. Park had won the 1950 and 1951 titles but for his round and shot 48-43-73 for his round. Park's last previous hole-in-one was made at Mylan Glen.

FANS GO CRAZY — When Pittsburgh beat Los Angeles last night, 8-0, it brought the first National League pennant to Cincinnati in 21 years and the Cincinnati fans went wild. The bus that brought the victorious Reds from Greater Cincinnati airport virtually was taken over by teenage fans in the city's Fountain Square. The Reds were taken off the bus by a special police cordon, but the teenagers rode on.

Rocky's Homer Doesn't Help

Athletics Rout Rookie Pitcher in 8-5 Triumph

Bengals Need 3 Wins in Last 4 Contests to Reach 100

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Rocky Colavito got his 44th home run of the season, but the Detroit Tigers hit the ball game to the Kansas City Athletics 8-5 last night.

The loss left the Tigers still three games behind St. Louis in the race for the American League pennant. The Athletics, who have won 10 of their last 14 games, have only four games left to play.

No Scheffing called on his winning pitcher, Frank Lary (12-22), to go after one of the 22 against the A's in another night encounter here today before Detroit moves on to engage the Minnesota Twins in a season-ending series.

Scheffing started rookie Ron Nischwitz last night and the Athletics jumped on the young southpaw immediately, collecting six runs in two and a third inning before Hank Aguirre came in to slow 'em down.

Working behind the plate also was a rookie, Bill Freehan. Freehan, who started this season off the University of Michigan campus, collected two hits in four at-bats and drove in a run.

Two men worked him for a double steal, but Freehan nipped another attempting to steal second on a bunt.

Colavito's home run blast came as he led off the eighth. It bounced off the auxiliary scoreboard in center field.

Steve Pate singled three times and Duke Wood tripled and singled. Larry Osborne got a double. Norm Hays was lifted in the ninth, after Dick McCallie and Billie Martin singled in succession, but Joe Nuxhall finally got the side out on a Colavito pop-up after wild-pitching McCallie home.

Base was crowded with the victory, his 10th against 11 losses. (Ruhls) Martin singled in succession, but Joe Nuxhall finally got the side out on a Colavito pop-up after wild-pitching McCallie home.

Reds' Homer Doesn't Help

BALTIMORE (AP)—Roger Maris knocked most of the glamour off his 60th home run, 59 last night by slugging his 50th homer of the season at New York's Yankee Stadium.

But if the Yankee outfielder still has a sentimental attachment to No. 60, he can get it without delay.

Bob Reitz, the 32-year-old Baltimore newsman who caught No. 60 last Wednesday night, agreed to accept $500 from the Sports Boosters of Maryland, and announced he would turn the money over to the Associated Catholic Charities of Baltimore. The Sports Boosters, in turn, would present the baseball to Maris.

The ball Reitz has should mean something to Maris. It was hit in the Yankees' 154th team decision—the time limit set by commissioner Ford Frick for "officially" tying or breaking Babe Ruth's record of 60 in 1927.

Mrs. Ruth Among First to Congratulate Maris

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Maris, widow of the immortal Babe Ruth, had family minutes after Tuesday night's Yankees-Baltimore game ended and said "Congratulations. Roger, and I mean that sincerely. If the Babe were here he would have wanted to congratulate you too."

Maris walked his 60th home run Tuesday night in the Yankees' 154th game, matching Ruth's record, breaking total of 1927.

I'm glad I didn't break the Babe's record in 151 games, Maris told the Babe's widow.

Northern Stars Lead Scoring

Sickler Holds 2-Point Edge Over Vallesano in College Play

By The Associated Press
Wayne Sickler and Gene Vallesano retained their one-two spots atop the Michigan college scoring parade, this week despite Northern Michigan's rout with Western Michigan.

Sickler has caught three touchdowns passes and scored eight extra points for 26 points, two more than teammate Vallesano, who has scored four touchdowns. Northern played two games before last Saturday's tilt at Western Illinois was postponed by a storm.

Northern, with a 2-0 record, still leads in team points with a total of 70.

Dallas Offense Best After Two NFL Games

NEW YORK (AP)—The undefeated Dallas Cowboys, running and passing through opposing defenses, have won their eighth game, ranked No. 1 on offense in the National Football League.

The Cowboys, with quarterback Roger Staubach, who has accumulated a total of 860 yards, 304 from rushing and a league-leading 19 touchdowns, have won 150 yards according to the NFL's weekly statistical figures.

The Cowboys are eighth, far inferior to the defensive prowess so far of the top-ranked St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cowboys have gained 348 yards—194 on the ground and 208 in the air—in winning New York 21-9 and losing a 30-7 game Sunday.

Dallas defense has given up 563 yards to the Cardinals.

The Cowboys, with a loss to champion Philadelphia and that victory over St. Louis, is second in team offense with 677 yards, including 304 from passing, all by Mike Plum, Next comes the "abominable attack on the San Francisco 49ers who have picked up 632 yards in carrying a 1-3 record.

San Francisco is second in defense, having yielded a mere eight yards more than the Cardinals or 410 yards.

Grid Powers in Action

Football Predictions Difficult This Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The college football toughest swing into action this weekend with the result that predicting becomes tougher.

On last week there were 30 correct picks among the 38 games that resulted in a decision for an average of 799. That dropped the figure to 804.

Kansas over Wyoming. The Big Eight Jayhawks start their climb back to the upper straits.

Duke over California: The Blue Devils quarterback, Wilburn Williams, can cut on too many yards and get into the end zone on a straight, weak-side play over Pittsburgh. The Blue Devils' vaunted passing attack is running off Ronnie Bull, who is bringing the decision.

Penn State over Miami: The Panthers have two chances to win.

Texas over Texas Tech: The line is a patch-work affair; it will have its hands full trying to halt Jimmy Sexton and his team.

Duke over Virginia. The Blue Devils win streak stops at five.

Top Money Winners Fail to Pull Away

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — The three front runners in professional golf's race for riches remained the same this week, with only Gary Player hugging ahead to any degree.

Player remained on top of the heap of total winnings this season of $63,400. Arnold Palmer, who has remained life the past few weeks, continued in second place with $57,732.

Doug Sanders, the young pro from California, played out of top money for the past two tour-

The first step toward the possible formation of a Pontiac Bowling Association was taken this week at a gathering of local keg enthusiasts, city officials, representatives of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association and members of the press.

An interesting discussion was held concerning the advantages and disadvantages in forming a separate group here as well as the pros and cons of staying with Detroit.

The area men in attendance hope to have a meeting or more people in bowling here in order to learn what the feeling is on the matter before making any definite moves.

New Detroit officers have shown considerable interest in improving things in this sector. They have changed the association tourney to sections with Pontiac one of the hosts. They have hired a field man to make contacts at Oakland County alleys, talked of having a branch office here and other improvements.

They promised to help Pontiac get started if local people ever do decide to form their own organization but asked cooperation with their plans in the meantime.

Although it would seem that men bowlers here will be better off now than they ever have been with or without an association of their own with all this sudden attention from the Motor City office, we should never Pontiac having its own association. American Bowling Congress officials, past officers of the GDBA, and many others in the sport familiar with the situation here said that Pontiac should break away.

The main problem facing this city would be finding the right man to run the operation as secretary-treasurer. It is not an easy task to find the right man for the job but it can be done.

Hal Hintz, popular area kegler and former proprietor at Rochester Lanes, has joined the Detroit unit as a field man for this county. He will work under new executive director Ralph Ware.

The "300" Bowl is the hottest local establishment but owner Joe Porcetta and Mary Monroe, his administrative assistant, are wanting no time putting their past experience in the game to work. They are working on several projects for this season and the future.

An excellent starter is on tap for Saturday when a one-day workshop for teachers who are now or expect to be associated with student bowling programs. It will be held in conjunction with the AJBC.

Charles Hall of Chicago, American Junior Bowling Congress director, will conduct the clinic from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. His main aim will be to teach recreational leaders how to help the youth they serve. There will be no charge.

Lakewood Lanes has been active also in its junior setup. Films on bowling were shown school children this week and kept instructions will follow. Bill Ball will work with the Lakewood Junior Classic performers. A few more moving an insecticide that may kill contestants are needed for the 10 beneficial insects.

Spartans Open at Wisconsin Saturday

'M', Titans, Lions Home This Week

The first full weekend in college football has Michigan's big three grid teams geared for victories in at least two of three scheduled encounters.

Michigan State and the University of Detroit are strong favorites in their games, but in the big attraction at Ann Arbor on Saturday, Michigan is expected to have some trouble with highly ranked UCLA which boasts one of the biggest lines in its history.

The UofM with a 220 pound average line have been touted as possible national champions, and talkback Bobby Lee Smith is the visitor.

UCLA publicist Frank Stewart, speaking at the Football Writers luncheon yesterday in Detroit, pointed out that Michigan gave the coast eleven a severe 42-13 pounding in the only previous meeting between the two teams in 1956.

"That was the year we had our troubles with suspensions and league dissolution," said Stewart, "but this time we're ready for Michigan and don't expect to take such a beating."

Michigan has compiled an impressive 12-2 record with many lopsided scores against West Coast teams and as Stewart noted, "We aren't going to be frightened by these records."

Coach Bill Barnes, who, like Michigan's Bump Elliott, is starting his third season as head coach. He has a single wing attack which many believe to be the best in the country.

A crowd of 75,000 including 200 prep bands, is expected Saturday. Speaking on a tape recorder to the writers, coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, is unhappy over the fact that when he travels to Wisconsin for the opener Saturday, the Badgers will have a game under their belts.

The Badger victory wasn't an impressive one, played in a driving rain to beat Utah, 7-0, but Daugherty feels Wisconsin will be a troublesome team in the Big Ten with junior quarterback Ron Miller.

Wisconsin has a 6-4 edge in the series with MSU and Duffy has some had memories of recent defeats at the hands of the Badgers. Despite Daugherty's worries however, the Spartans are solid favorites to whip the home team on Saturday.

U. of D. plays Xavier Friday night and freshman coach Joe

Clark, who scouted the Muskies but this rests on the Northern kiters, noted that the Titans will have to defend their own style of play.

"Xavier started using our system of the lonesome end in motion and although we can use it well we still haven't found a way to defend it," Clark said.

"I think we will give that task to assistant coach John Idzik, after all this lonesome end in motion offense was his idea."

The "Titans" meet Xavier Friday night at U. of D. Stadium and are strong favorites.

One of the big small college games in the state takes place next week between Hillsdale and Northern Michigan. The Dales have an open date this week, but publicist Chuck Peacock related to the writers that "Hillsdale is again smelling a bowl possibility but this rests on the Northern game." Hillsdale is loaded with Oakland County players and the probable starting quarterback assignment has been given to former West Bloomfield ace John Lucadum.

The Lions start a four game home stand Sunday with the San Francisco 49ers moving into Tiger Stadium. Detroit has beaten Green Bay and Baltimore in successive road games but coach George Wilson says that the new "shotgun offense" of the 49ers is certain to cause some trouble for the Lions and other teams in the NFL.

The Lions have 5,000 reserved seats left for the game, but no bleacher seats will be sold in advance. All bleacher seats will go on sale at 11:00 a.m. Sunday at the stadium.

REE'S CLEOPATRA—Elizabeth Taylor appears in costume to play "Cleopatra," starring role in film now being made in Rome. The outfit includes a headpiece of pleated silk with power symbols held in the hands. The movie company has just released this official portrait. Filming of "Cleopatra" has been delayed repeatedly by Miss Taylor's illnesses.

Ready Chimp for Space Hop

Astronaut Will Follow If Animal Is Orbited Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Scientists are readying a baby chimpanzee for a late-October space ride that could clear the way for an Atlas rocket trip into orbit by a U.S. astronaut within three months.

The United States is planning to send the little ape around earth three times in a "Mercury" space capsule. The target is Oct. 31.

It will be a full rehearsal for a manned orbital flight with one exception: The man—out of seven specially trained American astronauts—will be on the ground looking up.

If the chimp performs satisfactorily and if there are no mishaps with the booster rocket or space capsule, one of the astronauts could board a rocket for a flight into orbit by the middle or latter part of November.

A $400-million-plus, multi-space program, "Project Mercury," is on a quiet but intensive drive to provide the free world with an answer to the orbital voyages of Soviet "Cameroun," Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov before the calendar year is up.

Astronauts are expected to make a dozen or more orbital flights aboard Atlases during the next two years.

Some 50 Youths Will Visit MSU to Study Con-Con

EAST LANSING (U-P)—A group of some 50 representatives of state youth groups will spend this week-end at Michigan State University studying proposals to the constitutional convention affecting young people.

Lowering the voting age to 18 will be high on the agenda of topics to be considered at the workshop sponsored by the Youth Advisory Council to the Michigan Constitutional Convention.

Other proposals affecting education, the judiciary, the voting franchise and finances also will be discussed.

Representatives will attend from such groups as the Y-Teens, Future Homemakers of America, Future Nurses Club, Beta Beta Beta, Young Men's Christian Association, Methodist Youth Fellowship and Catholic Youth Organization.

Tells of Firm's Policy on TV

Official Says Company Doesn't Mix in Shows It Sponsors; 3 Others Do

NEW YORK (UPI)—An oil company executive told a Federal Communications Commission (FCC) inquiry Tuesday his company's policy of nonintervention in the policy of its dramatic and news program on television.

However, at the opening hearing of a new FCC inquiry into the relationship of advertiser to network programming, three other corporate executives testified that their companies supervised TV programs they sponsored.

David A. Shepard, executive vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, said his company exercised no voice on subject matter, script, production technique and casting of its show, "The Play of the Week."

Edward D. Dant, advertising director of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., said that when his company, as sole sponsor of a TV show, it is not held accountable by the public if it is poor taste or if it represents viewpoints which can be regarded as offensive or misleading.

On the other hand, Dean pointed out, when a company shares sponsorship of a program is has no control over the show.

He said the sponsor has only one course, if he disapproves of the program's contents, "to retain the privilege of canceling our participation," he said.

Fallout Shelter for Rockefeller Center Planned

NEW YORK (AP)—Studies for a massive plan to shelter Rockefeller Center's daytime population of 50,000 from fallout were disclosed Tuesday.

Officials of Rockefeller Center, Inc., announced near completion of a first phase of the plan—a shelter for 23 hours against "fallout" fallout.

Also under way are studies for a second, long-term shelter with supplies of food, water and other necessities for the working population of the center.

Thousands more who would be likely to be caught in the big downtown complex in the event of nuclear attack.

Police Smash 'Burglary Ring'

Juvenile Officer Says Boys, 5, 7 and 9 Are 'Hardened Criminals'

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI)—Two law-enforced a major burglary Tuesday and called the ring a "hardened criminal." They said the boys, 5, 7 and 9, are "hardened criminals."

The suspects' brothers whose ages are 5, 7 and 9.

"These aren't just little boys acting silly," a juvenile officer said. "They are already hardened criminals. I hope we can do something with them before they get big enough to start operating on a larger scale."

The children, released in their parents' custody, are being held in a juvenile court hearing, are accused of breaking into numerous neighborhood businesses recently.

Their last was largely bicycled, but police said the boys were flash money from a service station cash register when captured.

The youngest brother committed the burglary, officers said, while the 7- and 9-year-old acted as lookouts.

Report Red Pressure in Laos; Expect Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department reported Tuesday that Communist pressures are increasing in both Laos and South Vietnam.

The report said that in Laos, Communist forces of renewed fighting in Laos is ominous.

"We trust it does not signal a Communist intention to launch a large-scale hostilities and undo progress made at Geneva and in Laos itself," said press officer Joseph Brown.

He said that in Laos, officials of the cease fire by the Communist-supplied Pathet Lao have been coming more frequent. In addition, the Soviet Union's role of supplies to Communist forces is continuing.

Britain Calls On Russia to Seek 'Honorable Deal'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain today called on the Soviet Union to seek an "honorable deal" with the Western powers on Berlin, disarmament and other critical problems threatening to throw a nuclear cloud over the world.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home told the U.N. General Assembly in a policy speech that the Soviets are playing with nuclear fire by trying "to set man against his neighbors."

He accused the Soviet Union of deception and double-dealing in the nuclear test ban talks.

"Let her cooperate in keeping the peace," he said, "by strengthening the collective will of the United Nations instead of trying to drive her coach, pulled by three horses, through the whole fabric of our collective efforts."

This was a reference to Premier Khrushchev's troika plan to replace Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld with a three-man directorate.

Lord Home praised what he called the "stirring" disarmament proposals of President Kennedy.

Rusk, Gromyko Confer and urged that they be used as a basis for renewed arms negotiations either by the Union group of East-West countries or by an enlarged group.

Russia's reply Tuesday to Kennedy's U.N. address raised guarded hopes that the Soviets may be ready to ease the threat of war over Berlin.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko turned down the President's bid for a nuclear test ban treaty, stuck to the Soviet line on general disarmament and insisted on a three-man board to replace the late Dag Hammarskjöld as U.N. secretary general.

Nevertheless there were cajoling sounds amid the threats in Gromyko's policy speech before the General Assembly.

To Cost $11 Million

Reveals Road Project

Would Improve 86 Miles of County Roads

Commission to Sell $6 Million in Bonds to Finance Plan

An $11 million project to improve 86 miles of primary roads in Oakland County to keep pace with the state's freeway construction was announced today by Hiland M. Thatcher, county road commission chairman.

It means the commission, for the first time since the 1920s, will sell $6 million in general obligation bonds to finance more than half of the plan, he said.

Since there are no county-operated roads in the city of Pontiac, the city will not be included in the new program to start next year, Thatcher said.

However, four roads—Bakwin, Mt. Clemens, Voorhis and South Boulevard—leading into the city will be improved.

The bond issue requires the approval of the county board of supervisors since the county's full faith and credit would back the bonds in case of default. However, it will require no tax increase of voter approval, Thatcher said.

Selling bonds is necessary, Thatcher explained, because the $3.5 million in state gas and weight tax receipts the commission receives annually is insufficient to meet the improvement and maintenance needs of the 875 miles of primary roads in Oakland County.

A recent study released by the State Highway Department, which has already approved the local plan, showed that the county will have to spend $110 million on primary roads in the next 10 years to provide safe roads for motorists.

Permissible under a 1951 state highway road-building act, the program is being instituted for the first time now so as to provide wider and smoother links with four major freeway construction jobs now going on in the county.

"Many of these roads lead on or off these freeways and need considerable improvement before they are opened," said Paul Van (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Thermometer Slips on Icy 45; Can't Get Up Yet

Temperatures dipped to 45 degrees at 3:30 this morning, a new low for the season.

Showers expected late tonight will cool the thermometer for the next few days, the high ranging from 66 to 71 and the low 46 to 50. Sunday will be sunnier, warmer, but Monday will be cooler, the weatherman said.

Precipitation will average one-half to three-quarters of an inch in showers tomorrow and a rain again Monday. Morning southeasterly winds at 13 to 15 miles per hour will shift to westerly Thursday.

The mercury reading at 1 p.m. was 68.

House Sneaks Out Back Door as Riled Senate Closes Shop

BY WILLIAM THEIS WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress ended its longest session in 10 years today with the Senate howling in rage at the House's crafty tactics on the final bill.

The House went home early and as a result the Senate was left with an adroit parliamentary maneuver.

Before the House quit, it passed a $1,125,335,341 supplemental money bill, leaving the Senate in a take it or leave it position because only President Kennedy could recall the House.

The Senate's nearly left it. Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, calling the house move an "outrage," said it was time to find out whether the congressmen could get away with such an "affront."

ASKS QUORUM CALL
The threat to adjournment—and possibly asking the President to call the House back—was made real when Dirksen asked a quorum call. But he withdrew the request after conferring with other leaders.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield wound up by vassalizing the Senate he would never again consent to an adjournment resolution.

Plans were being made today to fly the body of Charles E. Wilson back to Bloomfield Hills for funeral service Friday morning.

Service will be held at 11 o'clock at Christ Church, Cranbrook, with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery, Beverly Hills.

Wilson, 71, former president of General Motors Corp. and Secretary of Defense under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, died of a coronary thrombosis while sleeping yesterday in his home on a 4,000-acre plantation near Norwood, La.

His family requested that memorial contributions be made to the Michigan Heart Association.

The colorful GM career man had been hospitalized in Detroit in a "heart" attack.

The agreement set Oct. 1, 1962 as the officials set when construction will begin.

The cooperation agreement assures that the city and state will satisfy requirements of the Urban Renewal Administration regarding commitments on construction of the proposed loop road.

Right-of-way for the loop road on Parker to S. Saginaw to E. Pike streets lies in the urban renewal area.

Fire, Blasts Wreck Tanker

Aviation Fuel Carried by Ship Feels Flames, Killing 1, Hurting 27

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (UPI)—A hellish fire fed by a ship load of high octane gasoline and jet aviation fuel burned out of control for more than 12 hours today.

One man was killed and at least 27 injured in the explosions and fire that turned the 600-foot seagoing tanker into a white-hot blast furnace.

The fuel-fed flames were shooting 75 to 80 feet high above the charred tanker, USNS Potomac, aground only about 100 yards from storage tanks containing 15 million gallons of fuel oil.

The white-hot hull of the 600-foot tanker had cracked across the middle and settled to the bottom. Its stern jutting up.

The fire fed on quantities of the vessel's cargo of 60,000 barrels of fuel in the bow section. Flames shot higher each time the bow settled, spilling more fuel onto the water.

Smoke in the fire area, just off million-dollar waterfront installations including the State Ports Authority Ocean Terminal, was so thick it blotted out the morning sun.

The $6 million tanker itself was a complete loss.

Officials said it was the worst peacetime disaster in Morehead City's history.

This town of 6,000 was tense throughout the night because of the danger to the aviation fuel terminal which it ignited might threaten the entire waterfront.

National Guardmen patrolled the area, blocked off the Morehead City-Beaufort causeway and helped direct traffic. The harbor area was sealed off.

U.N. Edging Into Berlin Picture

Gromyko Host to Rusk Today

Russian's Tuesday Talk Mild as He Stresses Group's Possible Role

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The possibility that the United Nations will play some role in efforts to settle the Berlin crisis appeared to be gaining headway today.

If the United States and Russia are unable to agree on a formula for starting negotiations, the war-threatening dispute will likely become an issue of prime concern for the General Assembly.

U.N. IN PICTURE

If negotiations can be agreed on, both the Soviet Union and the United States may propose that the United Nations take a hand in carrying out any plan they can devise for the future of West Berlin. Indications are that Soviet and Western leaders alike are thinking along these lines.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko scheduled another meeting today on the East-West deadlock over how to get negotiations started.

The central issue is what to negotiate about.

On that issue Western diplomats found little encouragement in the Soviet policy Gromyko delivered to the General Assembly Tuesday dealing at length with the Berlin situation.

In their view the speech contained nothing essentially new on Berlin policy, but that had been expected. If the Soviet government is willing to engage in the wide negotiations demanded by the United States, Britain and France, the first indications of change in its position almost certainly would be made known by Gromyko not in a speech, but in his private talks with Rusk.

INVESTED RISK

Today's session was arranged by Gromyko. He invited Rusk to lunch at his headquarters in a sprawling mansion on Park Avenue. The two previously met last Thursday at Rusk's invitation.

Diplomats noted that Gromyko's report on the Berlin crisis was presented more as an argument for Soviet demands than as a disarming against the Western powers, although he accused them as usual of threatening war to block Moscow's German peace treaty plan. Some encouragement for hopes of a peaceful settlement was found in the relatively mild tone of the speech.

Gromyko laid heavy emphasis on U.N. interest in the dispute and ways in which the United Nations might take an active part in a settlement. He said the United Nations might serve as a "guarantor of the status of the free city" which Russia has been demanding for West Berlin, and which the Western powers have repeatedly rejected.

Cuba Army Reorganized

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba has reorganized its army to three main corps as a defense against new invasions, Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Tuesday night.

POLARA PRESTIGE—New Polara "500" by Dodge has a long hoodline and a forward-thrusting grille with the open-coop appearance traditionally associated with high-performance vehicles. Beneath the hood is a 305-horsepower V-8. Inside, the 1962 Polara features luxurious, all-vinyl upholstery and bucket seats.

FORWARD LOOK FROM REAR—1962 Polara "500" is easily identified from rear by large, dual, circular taillights. Exterior has understated design. The inside colors are carefully matched with the car's unique exterior two-tone treatment. Two models are available: a two-door hard-top and a convertible.

To Launch 2 Polara '500's Before Public Tomorrow

Dodge's introduction of a luxury sports car, the Polara "500" is set for tomorrow.

The new car will be available through Rambler-Dallas Inc., 1001 N. Main, Rochester. Two models are available: a two-door hardtop and a convertible.

"The introduction of the 1962 Polara '500' is another of Dodge's aggressive moves to meet the changing demands of the automobile market," said

Willman Announces Plans to Retire

graduated from Michigan State College in 1921 with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering.

Before becoming city manager at Mt. Pleasant he was a bridge and road engineer for the Michigan State Highway Department and construction superintendent for Midland Construction Co.

In 1929 he went to East Detroit to take over management of that city but stayed only two years before he was drawn back to Mt. Pleasant where he remained as manager for 17 years.

Willman, who became 65 last May, was Port Huron City Manager until 1950 when he came to Pontiac.

Willman recommended Stier for the managerial post. Stier, who has assumed an increasing number of duties in recent years, is the coordinator of the urban renewal program and active in city planning.

He is the city's civil defense director and is responsible for Pontiac's public relations.

Acting as Willman's right hand in many areas, he has also helped in budget preparations. Willman handed Stier his keys as his assistant city manager in 1960.

He came here from Chicago where he was assistant to Chicago Alderman Robert E. Merriman for five years, was employed by the State of Illinois for three years as research worker, and as assistant purchasing agent and was employed by Science Research Associates for several years.

Stier is a graduate of the University of Chicago and holds a masters degree in political science.

In accepting appointment to the $14,000 a year job, Stier thanked the Commission for their expressed confidence in him.

tors had a plane waiting to fly back to Detroit.

Two of Wilson's sons, Edward and Thomas, flew to Louisiana in the plane to escort their father's body back to Michigan.

EISENHOWER SALUTES

Eisenhower, at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, said: "In his long business career, Mr. Wilson dedicated his unusual talents to the growth and progress of one of the large corporations that has helped to bring higher standards to every person in the country."

"I join all other Americans in a salute to the memory of this distinguished citizen."

In Washington, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Wilson "rendered great service to his nation as an industrial leader in World War II, and during his long tenure as Secretary of Defense, our nation has lost a great industrialist, leader, true patriot and a devoted public servant."

Wilson bought his 125-acre-old plantation, about 30 miles north of Baton Rouge, in 1954. He went to the farm Sept. 18 and planned to stay until Oct. 1, then go to New York on business. Mrs. Wilson remained in Michigan. Their son Edward left the farm a few days ago.

Wilson was in charge of design and development for Westinghouse radio generators for the Army and Navy during World War I.

He ran General Motors 11 years.

tract and then resell it to the state.

The city's share of the cost of such items as Park Street improvements and the Auburn-Orchard Lake Avenue connection may be credited to the city's contract commitment in the urban renewal area, according to terms of the cooperation agreement.

The city's major expense will be the loop leg on Cass Avenue from W. Huron Street to Graham Lake Avenue. The state will be responsible for the rest.

The contract agreement merely spells out the route of the loop road and what streets will act as means of access to the road.

City Manager to Retire

"We accept...but we can all object silently."

With those words, Mayor Philip E. Rowton summed up the feelings of city commissioners upon acceptance of City Manager Walter K. Willman's notice that he will retire Dec. 31.

"We have all come to admire and respect you," said Rowton.

Senator Gets Kick From Liquid 'Aid'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Those who have been restive about foreign aid can relax, according to Sen. John F. Williams, R-De. It's a success.

In fact, says the senator, the program to aid underdeveloped nations seems to have gotten out of hand.

The people of South Viet Nam, despite fighting Communists tooth and nail, are so overdeveloped that we had to ship them 45,000 cans of M&M's to get them back in shape, according to the senator.

The State Department continued. It said Tuesday that actually, the U.S. only shipped 4,812 cans of the dietary drink to Viet Nam, and that was an "honest mistake."

SENATOR CROWNS

"Who said the New Frontier could not come up with an original idea for foreign aid?" he asked the Senate.

"Who says our foreign aid program is feeding the underdeveloped peoples of the world has been a success?"

It has been such a success that the aid program had to put the South Vietnamese on a diet because they "have been getting too fat on Uncle Sam's generosity," Williams crowed.

The State Department explained that the Metrolac was shipped in a program under which the United States pays for certain Viet Nam imports. To encourage private enterprise, most of the importing is done by private Vietnamese firms.

One such firm ordered 4,812 cans of what was listed as "medical milk powder (Metrolac)," the State Department said. A Vietnamese official who had never heard of the stuff appeared the order as medicine and it was shipped in August.

JOHN A. MCCONE

JFK Names Ex-AEC Chairman as Director of CIA

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—President Kennedy today named Republican John A. McCone, former head of the Atomic Energy Commission, to succeed Allen W. Dulles as director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The 58-year-old McCone moves into the super-secret post, which heads up the nation's espionage system, that Dulles, 67, has held for eight years.

Dulles and McCone flew together by plane from Washington to the Quonset Naval Air Station this morning, then traveled by helicopter to Hammarskjold farm where they met with the President for an hour before the announcement was made.

Dulles, brother of late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, has served his country in intelligence work since World War II when he was enlisted in the Office of Strategic Services by his old friend, Maj. Gen. William S. Donovan.

RECEIVED CRITICISM

Dulles came under considerable criticism for the role the CIA played in the diabolical failure of the Cuban Bay of Pigs invasion in April.

McCone, in the past active in Republican politics, was chairman of the AFEC from 1958 to January 1961. He voluntarily left the post when the Kennedy administration took office.

During his service with the Eisenhower administration, McCone was one of the leading advocates for resumption of nuclear testing.

Although in a job whose prime requirement is secrecy, Dulles became involved in controversy not only over the Cuban affair but also in the case of Francis Gary Powers whose U-2 plane was downed over Russia just before the Paris summit meeting of 1960.

The Day in Birmingham

C. W. Wiggins Named Township CD Director

BIRMINGHAM (UPI)—Charles W. Wiggins, Birmingham, Ala., insurance agent, has been named civil defense director for Bloomfield Township.

Wiggins, 43, of 734 Yarmouth Road, Bloomfield Township, will be responsible for coordinating the activities of the township police and fire departments in emergency cases of disaster.

He succeeds William H. Coy who held the position for several years. The appointment was one of two made by the township board.

The other was the naming of township trustee Robert A. Reid to the planning commission. Reid takes over the post from township board member Samuel Reeves.

The purpose of the move is to allow each board member to serve on the planning commission.

In another action, the township board awarded a contract to Detroit, Inc., of Berkeley for the construction of sanitary sewers on Fieldston Court and Forman Drive.

Total cost of the two projects is about $110,000, which will be assessed against property owners benefiting from the improvements.

The board also accepted the recommendation of the liquor commission to permit the sale of liquor at the Strick and Spaulding Alley, Maple and Telegraph roads.

Last minute registrations are still being accepted for six courses offered at Cranbrook by the adult education division of Wayne State University this fall.

"The Cultures of New Africa" with Dr. James B. Christensen, assistant professor of anthropology at WSU, begins Thursday evening.

This 12-week course will stress a better understanding of the cultures and peoples of Africa south of the Sahara.

Other courses starting this week include "Biological Forces in the World of Man," "Genetics and Materials," "Contemporary American Literature," "Principles of Mental Health," and "Reading Enjoyment."

All the courses are jointly sponsored by the Cranbrook Institute of Science and the Cranbrook School for Boys.

Further information about classes and registration can be obtained by contacting Cranbrook or WSU.

The junior and primary departments of Detroit Country Day School in Beverly Hills will hold their annual flower show Thursday night.

The flowers from the children's gardens have been arranged by the children with the help of their mothers and will be displayed in the lobby of the school.

First and second prizes will be awarded for originality of design. The judging will be done by teachers.

The program will be outlined further to Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman and City Engineer James Carlisle at an Oct. 4 meeting with commission officials.

Supervisors will probably be asked to approve the plan at the late October session.

Projects were selected "by exchanging ideas and by usage we will help when we can," says Thatcher.

There may be like-kind projects in the future, he indicated, since there's no increase in sight in the number of state receipts.

Oakland County can expect to share in. There's increase on an average of $100,000 a year, he said.

Thatcher figured that to meet the 10-year estimate of $110 million in improvements, possibly the initial $6 million bond issue will be but the first of $75 million needed before the anticipated $35 million in gas and weight tax receipts.

LEARNED A LOT

"I've learned a lot from him," said Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. "It's hard to realize that Mr. Willman was sitting down there at the end of the table much longer."

There was a slight pause before Willman, in a manner which was then the respect of city officials, cleared the heavy atmosphere.

"If I'd grown a beard during the Centennial it wouldn't have been half as bad," he chuckled, bringing smiles to all the commissioners.

Finally, Commissioner Robert E. Landry said, "Even in the light of a disagreement with Mr. Willman, I was never treated in any manner than that which you would expect of a gentleman and scholar."

"I think you, Mr. Willman, have enriched us all with your experience and willingness to serve the city."

"I wish you a long and healthy retirement. You've certainly earned it."

Oakland Road Plan To Cost $11 Million

Much of the balance of the three-year project will be paid from $3 million in gas and weight tax receipts and federal aid monies on hand, with the remainder from payments from the 12 cities benefiting and neighboring Wayne and Macomb counties.

Participating cities, most of which are in Southern Oakland County, are being asked to pay but 25 per cent of the cost of their individual projects, with the commission paying 75 per cent. Formerly before the commission would allow any city roads, cities had to pay half or more of the cost.

Since some of the projects include curbs as well as widening and paving, Van Rookel said cities can pay their share either from state gas and weight tax receipts or from special assessments.

Bonds will be retired over 20 years in anticipation of the state gas and weight tax receipts — the commission's sole source of revenue for primary and local road maintenance and improvement.

OUTLINES PROGRAM

Van Rookel outlined the program this way:

Twenty-seven miles of present two-lane primary roads will be widened to either four or five-lanes with concrete surfaces.

The big part of this work would be in Southeastern Oakland County where the expansion of the work on Cooley Lake, Elizabeth Lake and Scott Lake roads in the Pontiac area.

Some 55 1/2 miles of two-lane blacktop roads to be rebuilt to two-lane concrete pavement.

Thirty-three miles of gravel roads to be resurfaced with concrete.

Letters have already gone out to officials of Southfield, Madison Heights, Oak Park, Berkley, Huntington Woods, Livonia, Village, Birmingham, Beverly Hills, Clawson, Troy, Pleasant Ridge and Ferndale seeking their approval of the plan.

"The Heights did tentatively approve it at last Monday night meeting," Van Rookel said, "and several others indicate they like it. We know of no serious objections."

Townships, which do not receive gas and weight tax receipts like cities and villages, will not pay for any part of the work, Van Rookel said.

The program will be outlined further to Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman and City Engineer James Carlisle at an Oct. 4 meeting with commission officials.

Supervisors will probably be asked to approve the plan at the late October session.

BUCKET SEATS

Interiors feature bucket seats and all-vinyl trim. Bench-type rear seats have formed pads which provide the appearance of bucket seats.

A locked-seats console contains a between-seat storage compartment, dual ash receivers, cigar lighter and courtesy light. The new instrument panel slopes away from the base of the windshield and rolls under to provide maximum knee room.

Standard is an instrument panel safety impact pad.

The new transmission is automatic with a die-cast aluminum housing. A smooth ride is expected from the fully-integrated, all-welded body construction and Dodge's Torsion-Air suspension.

Other features include a 32,000-mile factory-sealed lubrication for some chassis parts, lifetime lubrication for others, self-adjusting brakes, and an all-new heating and ventilating system which supplies fresh air even when the car is parked or moving slowly in traffic.

Won't Sell to Harvard Men

House Owner Is Angry

VERONA, N.J. (AP)—President Kennedy, even if he wanted to, could not buy the house for sale at 55 Oakridge Road.

The "for sale" sign tacked to a tree in front of the house says it is for sale to "college graduates, acceptable colleges only." Actually, only one college is unacceptable—Harvard.

UPSET AT APPOINTMENTS

The President is a Harvard man. Mrs. Marjorie Anderson, wife of the owner, John B. R. Anderson, said her husband put up the sign because he is irked by the number of Harvard appointees to the new Democratic Administration.

"We have been Republicans for years," Mrs. Anderson said. "Look at the appointments President Kennedy made. Harvard men, every one of them."

"NICE NEIGHBORHOOD"

As for restrictions to a college graduate, she explained, "it's a nice neighborhood."

Verona Councilman Richard M. Sandler, a neighbor of the Andersons and a Democrat, said Harvard graduate, to boot, said he thought the sign was "hysterically funny," but added:

"I should think the laws would protect Harvard men against such blatant discrimination."

Great Leader, C. E. Wilson, Was Credit to All Humanity

One of the great leaders of this era is lost in the death of CHARLES ERWIN WILSON of Bloomfield Hills—and the United States of America.

President of General Motors until he resigned to become Secretary of Defense, this staunch citizen was one of the bulwarks of the automotive business. And beyond that, he was one of the leaders in preaching, teaching and living Americanism and a better way of life for everyone everywhere. He was always aware of the men along the production line and many innovations that "made life easier and nicer" emanated from his office.

C. E. Wilson possessed an unusually keen and penetrating mind. Always he sought the reasons behind and an unusually analytical insight penetrated to the heart of the matter at hand. When he gave up his position as President of the biggest corporation in the world to serve his country, he surrendered compensation that exceeded half a million dollars a year for an annual stipend of $22,500. Few men have ever been asked to sacrifice in that proportion.

Fewer have complied. Further, he was asked to divest himself of stock holdings. And he did. This cost him many times the loss in salary.

C. E. WILSON was a courageous, outspoken individual who faced facts squarely and who never attempted to sidestep. He didn't know how to shadowbox. It was he who started the newspaper world at the end of a prepared statement by announcing: "I'll answer questions."

It hadn't been done before by any business of comparable size and importance and it was a daring move. Today the question period is fairly well-established, but he broke the ice.

Many industrialists or top men in great corporations have been indifferent speakers, but C. E. Wilson was always entertaining as well as instructive. A perpetual sense of humor could never be suppressed for long. The great Oakland County resident was essentially "quotable." His quips and side comments sometimes appeared at unexpected moments which intensified the effect.

At one of these new car sessions he was asked: "Is GM going to concentrate on performance or looks?" He debated and then said: "Well, we're going to produce a lot of beautiful blondes that can really cook."

Critics misquoted him and twisted remarks but he never seemed particularly disturbed. When one reversed his: "What's good for the Country is good for General Motors," he didn't act very perturbed although his son, THOMAS E. W. writing a retraction from the culprit.

Like all great public figures, when he was Secretary of Defense, he was the target for a clique of malcontents who had been overruled for the good of the Country. Critical cartoons never bothered him and he had a room papered with the originals of drawings which "took after him." Cartoonists were startled to find the object of their attack smilingly asking for the original.

His manifold contributions can hardly be listed and yet his greatest personal interests were probably the large family circle with which the WILSONS were blessed. Three sons and three daughters graced their marriage and every one of them throughout his life was a personal pal as well as part of the family.

Death is always dispiriting, but in the case of this great national figure, it is especially so because of his exceedingly wide circle of friends. This death personally reaches into wide sectors of the Country.

A great citizen goes to his last reward. CHARLES ERWIN WILSON gave his undivided all to the United States when he was in Washington. He approached problems with boundless energy and an uncorquerable will to do. He plunged into everything with all the resourcefulness with which he was plentifully endowed. The clock meant nothing. When he returned from Washington, he had worked himself into a state of physical and nervous exhaustion. He had given his Nation every smidgeon of energy he possessed—for a tiny fraction of his regular salary.

All of us stand in his debt. Pontiac does especially for he was a great friend of the three General Motors Divisions in this city. We were his "nearest neighbors," and he treated us accordingly.

A restless, energetic and exceedingly capable citizen drops from the hurly-burly of this distraught and unsettled world.

One of the Nation's most distinguished men has harkened to the call of the Grim Reaper. With or without Charon's toll, he stands humbly but completely unafraid on the banks of the immortal Styx. A giant among men starts the Long Sleep here below, but a silent and shadowy figure lurks unseen along the reaches of Long Lake Road and the influence will never wane.

He has done his stint by his family. He has completed an amazing assignment for humanity. He has been a leader, a top commander and a faithful servant of God in the struggle on earth. Greater Glory awaits—a Glory that now his eyes can see.

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD.

'The West Is Trembling, Shaking, Terrified ...'

David Lawrence Says: Berlin Only One of Many Issues

WASHINGTON — If the Berlin issue were the only one that separated the East and West today, there would be a comparatively easy way to handle it—at least for several years.

Diplomacy has long held a trump card to play in similar emergencies. This starts with the acceptance by both sides of the proposition that a particular dispute is for the time being unsolvable. Then it is usually proposed that a "modus vivendi" be adopted. This means "a way of living" with the difficulty without actually solving it.

But the procedure is often successful. There have been cases where the controversy in question was ultimately solved with the passage of time and with the later development of a spirit of conciliation. There have been other cases where the problem remained unsolved indefinitely, or at least in some other circumstances arose to bring a new approach.

The Berlin problem is partly a legal and partly an emotional question. It is, of course, related to the ambition of the Communist regime in Moscow to extend its influence and its empire and to keep the two Germanys from being reunited.

A "modus vivendi" need not mean an abandonment of the issues themselves, and it could mean a decision to explore various ways of producing a settlement. That was the rights of the Western Allies? Have they grown obsolete, as the Communists claim? Do rights disappear just because a few years have elapsed, or are they fundamental and rooted in or implied in written agreements?

QUESTION FOR COURT? The United Nations has created a court of international justice. Why couldn't the East and West agree to submit the juridical questions to the world court?

If such an agreement isn't possible now, then a "modus vivendi" could provide that the status in Berlin prior to Aug. 13—when the East Berlin border was closed—be restored and given an indefinite lease of life while the Soviet government pursues its own policies with respect to East Germany.

As President Kennedy said in his speech, it doesn't matter what "paper agreements" the Moscow government makes with the East German government. What does matter is whether the East German government, encouraged by the Soviets, starts to commit acts of aggression and seeks to break across established borders of the United States, Britain and France in West Berlin.

Fundamentally, there are today lots of unsettled questions, including the right of the East German government to exist.

The combined effects of available sugar and cavity-producing bacteria become most apparent when the flow of saliva is sharply reduced. But, since saliva flow is lost influenced by measures of preventing, attention is best directed to a reduction in the amount of sugar that's made available to cavity-producing bacteria.

If the sugar of the diet is fed by stomach food to experimental animals, dental decay does not occur. To nourish cavity-producing bacteria, the carbohydrate diet must be present in saliva and particularly in food that's deposited between teeth and/or in plaques and fissures on the surface of the teeth. Hence, the sugar, caramels, sticky candy, chocolate bars, fruit cookies, papery, semi-sweet biscuits, bread and ice cream are greater threats to dental health than the same amount of carbohydrate taken as sweetened beverages, fruit drinks or fruits themselves.

Under the pressure of this doctor's direct challenge and the eyes of other parliamentarians at the table, the congressman finally admitted he was a Communist occupying a pulpit right here in modern America.

And this doctor was correct, for the congressman was a card-carrying Communist, too!

Voice of the People: Says State Hospitals Lack Proper Teaching Facilities

Hearts go out to the children who are in Michigan's six state hospitals for the adult mentally ill. These are 500 children whose education is sadly neglected. All of them have learning problems which require special facilities. However, Michigan is not meeting this problem.

At Ypsilanti State Hospital, a basement corridor has been converted into a makeshift school. There are not enough teachers to serve the 122 children. A boy 15 with a good learning potential, may be dropped to make way for a 12-year-old.

In a condemned building, Pontiac State Hospital carries on a fully accredited program for about 50 children. But, there are 95 in the hospital.

At Northville, 90 children have been gathered in one building. They should have at least seven special education teachers, but this hospital has only three. There are 50 additional scattered on adult wards and, for these, no school program is available.

Traverse City State Hospital serves 30 counties. This hospital hired its first special education teacher this year and so has been able to begin an educational program on a limited scale. This one teacher is able to serve only about 20 per cent of the 45 children.

At Newberry there are 25 mentally ill children. They are able to have "some" classes in the school provided for the mentally retarded. However, there is no teacher specially trained.

There are many devoted people trying to carry on programs, but devotion is not enough. School rooms, equipment, and teachers are needed, too.

School Lunch Plan Interests Parent Club Well-Pleased With 4-H Agent

I would agree with the lady who questions paying school cafeteria workers on a profit sharing basis except that any raises depend upon whether the lunch program is self-supporting.

By working a little harder, making cakes, etc., from a recipe instead of a mix, baking beans (to cite a few examples) the children would have the same lunch more cheaply. Since they have a food co-ordinator, the quality of the lunches would not be affected.

School board meetings are more interesting and our Mr. Sutt is certainly a clear thinker.

It is unfortunate so few attend board meetings, as they are informative and concern our greatest treasures—our children.

He says we should use "horror" in reading the Bible. He says Moses inserted the rifle against his moral, but my Bible (King James version) plainly states "And the Lord spoke unto Moses and to Aaron, saying these are the breasts which ye shall put among all the beasts that roam the earth." It is very plain that the Almighty told it to Moses.

Dr. Crane also states that there was no such rule before Moses. How then did Noah know which were the clean beasts of which he was to put male and female by seven, and the unclean ones by two only on the Ark?

Reading the whole Bible makes it clear without adding our own ideas.

Case Records of a Psychologist: Communists Do Invade Churches ultimate communism in America today.

Remember, I'm not talking about Sen. McCarthy's era right after the close of World War II.

McCarthy was then ridiculed as a Don Quixote, conjuring up imaginary burrow holes about Communists in our government.

But it was my brother, Dr. John B. Crane, former Harvard economist, who had helped persuade McCarthy to serve as the Senate mouthpiece for the vast amount of data exposing the Communist infiltration.

My brother was economic adviser to Gen. Lucius B. Clay in Germany, and he had written on that Communist infiltration of our government would make your hair curl, even in 1961.

No you wish Americans better wake up and become eagles. Severely searching out all vermin that gnaw away at our rugged Constitution and then run to hide under it via their 5th Amendment plans.

Sen. McCarthy will soon day be enshrined like Dutch boy whose finger in the dike saved Holland, for he was the Horatius who held off the Communists until public opinion could be marshaled against them.

REWARD, UNCLE SAM Our government was established so Uncle Sam would be the impartial referee on the sidelines, while banker, capitalist, grocer, granger with grocer and manufacturer with manufacturer.

Uncle Sam could alter the playing rule of the game of the players on our national "gridiron."

But Uncle Sam was to stay OFF the field. He did so for 134 years and we were the Mice

He'll now be largely socialized. However, for socialism is the half-way house on the highway to communism.

Area Couple Married at St. Trinity Lutheran

MRS. DONALD R. HALL.

St. Trinity Lutheran Church was the setting for the Saturday evening vows of Karen Mae Lane of Auburn Heights and Donald R. Hall of Birmingham.

Parents of the newweds are the William H. Longtons of Auburn Heights and the Mark Halls of Birmingham. A church reception followed the ceremony performed by Rev. Ralph C. Claus.

The bride wore a French Chantilly-type lace and crystal tulle ruffled over tulle swept into a chapel train. Silk illusion veiling was fitted to a seed pearl tiara. A white orchid centered a spray of stephanotis and ivy atop the bride's white Bible.

SISTER IS HONOR MAID

Mrs. Ronald L. Turbott of Ottumville, her sister's matron of honor, wore aqua satin and carried rust chrysanthemums with wheat sprays. Bridesmaids Linda Arnold with Marilyn K. Lane and Mary Anne Hall, sisters of the bride, wore gold satin. The bride held cascades of gold chrysanthemums and cutlets.

Lyne Annette Thorpe was flower girl.

Mark Hall Jr. stood as best man for his brother. Seating guests were Ronald Turbott, Donald Hubbard, Royal Oak, and Gordon Kobb, Birmingham.

The couple chose St. Clair Inn on River St. Clair for their honeymoon and will live in the Pontiac area.

60 Attend Meeting of Church Fellowship

Sixty members and guests attended the Friday meeting of the Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church. The Saybrook group served the luncheon at the church.

Rev. Howard Clegg, assistant pastor, chose "Missions" for his devotional theme. Mrs. Malcolm Burton reported on the meeting of the Congregational churches held in Cheyenne, Wyo.

'Negotiate' With Children Over Chores

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper-Entertainment News. He is 10 years old and lives in a penthouse where his mother maintains a terrace garden she loves.

This summer she decided that he needed assignment to a regular Saturday morning chore. She made it the work of bringing up the family's baskets of laundry from the basement.

After three weeks, he balked.

As he dawdled and complained, bitterness grew between him and his mother. Finally, after a punishment that resulted in two days of sullen silence, his mother consulted a professional friend.

He said, "You love your garden, don't you? If you love Philip, too, why don't you bring them together? Why don't you make his Saturday morning chore repelling your hedge boxes for you?"

The Saturday after Philip had painted two of his mother's precious hedge boxes, he said to her, "Do you want me to go down to the basement and get the laundry for you today?"

Let's not get sentimental over this "happy ending" to the problem. It contained, let's remember, the triumph of a child's insubordination. That's what we don't want when it comes to problems over chores. We're scared to death to surrender to a child's resentment of a chore. If we do, heaven knows how he will exploit his triumph when next time we want him to do what he doesn't want to do.

So we keep him at the dull chores. It's who wins the hedge while Dick moves the lawn. It's Jimmy who incinerates the garbage while we hose down the car. It's Lori who washes the cake tins while we ice the cake.

Any defiance, any insubordination is met by such fear that submission to their wishes to evade the dull chore will so undermine our authority that we can't even get our own dislike of mowing lawns and washing cake tins.

However, until we do, the battle over chores just goes on and on. It's only when we know we dislike mowing the lawn or hauling up laundry, from the basement that we can say to children, "Okay, I'll take the lawn this week and you hose down the car."

It's only when we can forget worrying about who's boss that we can see that children like what we like and begin to share it with them.

Irish Play in 2nd Week at Vanguard

"Purple Dust" by the famed Irish playwright Sean O'Casey is beginning its second week at Vanguard Playhouse, Detroit.

Detailed the Englishmen's encounters with the Irish, O'Casey's theme develops the emptiness of empire. Presented in the old English music hall manner in a Tudor setting, the play combines comedy, tragedy, farce and vaudeville.

Leading roles are taken by John Phillips, Warren Colston, Maury Corwell, William Fessler and Paula Jackson. Others appearing in the cast are Jamie Carriere, Rolan Parker, John Gregory, Paul Stolarsky, Randi Thompson, Chester Wujcik, Louie Zenone and Bobby Rodgers.

The works of Detroit's Nicholas Snow are on exhibit in the lower lobby.

Curtain time for "Purple Dust" is 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays and 7:30 p.m. on Sundays. It will run through Oct. 14.

The famed classic "Ileldi" will open Vanguard's second season of children's theater next Saturday at 2 p.m. The eight Saturday matinees will extend through Nov. 25.

One Citizens Group Would Double Term of Governor

By GENE SCHROEDER
LANSING (P) — "The present Michigan Constitution disintegrates the authority and accountability of the governor."

"Through a short term, a multiplicity of elected officers, and lack of a national administrative structure, the Constitution restricts the potential for executive leadership."

This sums up a special Citizens Advisory Committee on the executive department, headed by Dr. Ferrel Heady, director of the Institute of Public Administration at the University of Michigan.

The bipartisan committee, including a circuit judge, a labor leader, a former governor and a farm group official—studied the problem for five months before coming up with recommendations.

It agreed that the executive department should be strong, energetic and responsible. This can be accomplished, it said, "by concentrating in the governor the power and responsibility which make him the actual as well as nominal chief executive."

Several suggestions were made along this line. They included:

SUGGESTIONS
—Increasing the length of term in office from the present two years to four for all elective executive officials, with no limit on the number of terms.

—Allowing the governor to appoint all administrative officials except the lieutenant governor, who would run as part of a "package" to assure that they are members of the same political party.

—Cutting the number of state agencies to a maximum of 20 from the present number of some 120, but allowing the establishment of special commissions with a life of no more than two years.

—Giving the legislature the authority to appoint the state auditor general.

—Retaining the present civil service merit system, except to make the governor's personal staff exempt from coverage.

The committee also was asked to come up with recommendations on the elective franchise. It urged a lowering of the minimum voting age from 21 to 18 because "today's high school graduate functions as an adult in practically every area of life except politics."

Many of the committee's suggestions are expected to stir up strong opposition, mainly from the Michigan Manufacturers' Association, Michigan Farm Bureau, Michigan Township Association and Michigan State Employees Union.

A stronger executive is not to their liking, judging from past policy statements.

In a press and case discussion, another study committee cited these arguments against the idea:

TOO MUCH AUTHORITY
"To empower the governor to appoint all or most of the other elective officials would concentrate too much authority in the hands of a single individual."

"There is little, if any, evidence to demonstrate that the Michigan voters in the past 100 years have lacked the ability to select able and honest state administrative officials."

"The popular election of the principal administrative officers leads them to be more responsive to the voters."

But the Citizens' Advisory Committee disagrees, arguing:

"If the governor is to have full responsibility for his administration he should be able to select the members of his administrative team. With a large number of elected officials, responsibility is scattered."

"Also it is difficult for the average voter to make informed choices when confronted with the present long ballot."

On the matter of a four-year term for the governor, the Farm Bureau is the only major organization to have indicated opposition.

Generally, the argument follows the line that a four-year term leads to less democracy and less frequent popular control.

Proponents, however, feel that the four-year term would serve the public interest better because the official would not spend the first six months getting acquainted with his new job and the final six months of his term with an eye on the election calendar.

"The longer term would also give the governor a better chance to carry out his policies and thus provide the voters with a better chance to evaluate his qualifications," suggested the advisory committee.

CHECKS AND BALANCES

Giving the legislature the power to appoint the auditor general—as a parallel to allowing the governor to select his administrative officers—would fit in with the American tradition of a "checks and balances" relationship between the various branches of government.

The auditor general would be empowered to check on the performance of the executive branch.

The question of whether Michigan's civil service system would remain under special constitutional status is not likely to create many arguments.

Since the system was created with the purpose of curbing political patronage in the selection and retention of state employees, about the only opposition comes from some legislators who bemoan the departure of the old "spoils system."

ON CIVIL SERVICE
Michigan's constitutional provisions regarding civil service are more detailed and comprehensive than any of the other 12 states which have their merit systems protected under constitutions.

Those who argue for a lessening of the provisions contend that the present system breeds bureaucratic inefficiencies and independence.

They also believe that the present constitutional status isolates the civil service system from control by the voters through their elected representatives.

Lowering the voting age to 18 brings politics into the schools; would put Michigan among four other states which permit persons under 21 to vote. In Alaska, the minimum age is 19; Georgia, 18; Hawaii, 20; and Kentucky, 18.

The study committee—which outlined the pros and cons—summed up the opposition with four arguments:

FOUR ARGUMENTS
(1) A lower voting age would bring politics into the schools; (2) Most young people have no great desire to lower the voting age;

(3) Public matters have grown very complex, and people should grow in maturity before being qualified to take an active part in them;

(4) Maturity in one field, such as marriage and the armed forces, does not signify maturity in another field, such as voting.

But the Citizens' Advisory Committee argued forcefully:

"Today's high school graduate functions as an adult in practically every area of life except politics."

"Although he participates as a mature citizen in these other areas, his interest in public affairs is dulled because he cannot directly influence his government policies."

"His youthful enthusiasm makes him a potentially active voter. A three-year delay before he is eligible to vote stifles this eager interest."

AFTER THE CRAZE — What do you do with old hoola-hoops after the fad has faded? Why you build a fence. At least that's the use B. W. Kircakof found for the unwanted plastic hoops. He used 45 of the brightly colored hoops for a fence across the front of his home at Galesburg.

and think small."

For 1962

Think Hard

By GEORGE ROMNEY, President, American Motors Corporation

In the 1962 car announcements there will be so many names, models and sizes, that people will be confused.

You will be asked to "think big, or think compact, or think small" as to the size or kind of car you really need. We recommend, instead, that you "Think Hard."

Think hard about the things you want most in your next car.

Then look hard.

Look for most value. There are more than 100 improvements in the 1962 Rambler. See how many of these advances are missing in competitive cars.

With our workers as progress-sharing partners, you can expect superior craftsmanship in Ramblers. American Motors' company-wide objective is to make trouble-free Ramblers a symbol of American industrial integrity and honesty... to make Rambler quality superior to that of even far costlier cars built anywhere in the world.

To accomplish this, we are sharing our progress with customers. Because to continue our growth we know we have to give you an obviously better value in product and in price.

How can Rambler give you more than the "Big Two"? It's a matter of dollars and cents.

Every completely new car in the past three years including the Lincoln Continental and Thunderbolt has copied Rambler's modern principle of Single-Unit construction.

To convert from old-fashioned separate body-and-frame production lines to single-unit production requires hundreds of millions of dollars for retooling.

Our modern production lines have already been fully paid for. Therefore, we can spend our money to bring you important new benefits and keep our prices low. The records show that our two major competitors have increased prices on their low priced standard models about 50% more than Rambler in the period from 1955 to 1961.

This is one way in which Rambler has been sharing progress with customers.

We must be offering an obviously better value, for in just 12 months, 278,494 owners—of all makes, in all price ranges—switched to Rambler.

Rambler owners—new and old—say they are going to buy Rambler again. In owner loyalty, Rambler continues its big lead over ALL makes of cars — DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN, REGARDLESS OF PRICE—according to a recent survey for a national magazine.

With Rambler-pioneered Single-Unit construction, Rambler owners can keep their cars longer with fewer worries about rattles, rust and cost.

Rambler is the only U.S. car with Deep-Dip rustproofing clear to the roof. The only car with Ceramic-Armored muffler and tailpipe.

For the original buyer, it will be replaced free by a Rambler dealer if it ever rusts out (collision damage excepted).

For 1962, we have spend huge sums of money... largely for "under-the-skin" improvements which assure longer car life, greater safety, lower upkeep, more trouble-free, service-free driving; easier handling, better performance and superior comfort.

In the 1962 Ramblers you will find a Double-Safety Brake System, standard. It has a tandem master cylinder. One for front brakes. One for rear brakes. If one system is damaged, the other still works. (There are similar systems on Rolls-Royce, Jaguar and '62 Cadillac.) And self-adjusting brakes that compensate for brake lining wear are also standard.

You will find chassis lubrication on most models that lasts 31 times longer. Many parts are lubricated for life.

In all models, Dowgard Full-Fill Engine Coolant replaces both water and anti-freeze at low cost, and is good for 2 years.

There's much, much more—important improvements "under-the-skin" and in exterior and interior beauty. October 6th is the 1962 Rambler announcement date. It is well worth waiting for. In the meantime send for a free booklet entitled, "What's New In Rambler For '62—And Why." Then "Think Hard." Rambler's better value can save you hundreds of dollars. Write to: Rambler Booklet, Dept. 2, Box 531, American Motors Sales Corp., Detroit 32, Michigan.

ARE YOU MAKING THE OCTANE MISTAKE?

Important News For Every Car Owner Who Wants
A Healthier Motor 5,000, 10,000, 20,000 Miles From Now!

An Octane rating measures only 2 of your motor's needs

A Megatane rating measures 21 of your motor's needs

The higher the Megatane rating the better your motor will run...and

Mobil

now brings you the highest Megatane rating
of any leading gasoline!

Now for the first time you can choose gasoline realistically rated to make your car run stronger, last longer, keep younger!

The Octane Mistake. Yes, Octane rating measures only 2 of the things your car needs in a gasoline... 2 very important qualities dealing with anti-knock. The result is that many people make the Octane Mistake... buy gasoline high in Octane but lacking in many of the other brilliant advances made by science. These advances can truly give you a cleaner motor, quicker starting, less stalling, more mileage and power.

Megatane measures total performance. Recognizing this Octane Mistake, Mobil engineers now measure and express gasoline quality in a rating system which enables you to judge not just Octane but the total performance of your gasoline.

This new rating system is called Megatane. It includes Octane, of course, but goes far beyond Octane to measure not just 2, but all 21, of the qualities that

Mobil gets highest Megatane ratings. Of course, the ideal Megatane rating of 21 has not yet been achieved by anyone... not even Mobil. But when you drive into your Mobil station, you will find new Mobil Premium that rates higher on the Megatane scale (19 out of 21) than any leading Premium. New Mobil Regular, with 16 out of 21, rates higher than any leading Regular gasoline.

At first, the difference may not be apparent to you. Your car will probably not leap like a gazelle from a standing start. But never forget this: Five, ten, twenty thousand miles from now, your motor will know the difference... in more mileage, less loss of power, less harmful deposits, easier starting, longer prime of life. For the higher the Megatane rating, the better your motor will run!

For details about the Megatane rating system, visit your Mobil dealer.
