TEXAS' WINTER WONDERLAND — Scottie (left) and Don Seymour were out bright and early shoveling snow from their sidewalk in Amarillo, Tex. Southern Texas experienced precipitation of a different nature as continuing heavy rains brought new flood threats to that area today. Some 1,800 have already been evacuated from that region.

YACHT DEMOLISHED — Three persons were seriously injured as a terrific explosion ripped the 78-foot, $85,000 luxury yacht Gosling in San Pedro, Calif. Sunday. Police said the blast apparently was touched off in a butane gas tank in the vessel's galley.

BLAST AFTERMATH—The rubble of a Madison, Wis. building stands as mute evidence to the destructiveness of an explosion and fire which took two lives and caused a half-million dollars in property damage Sunday. Mechanical failure causing excessive gas pressure was blamed for the explosion.

PLANNING RETIREMENT — Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, the Army's missile chief, plans to retire from the Army because "I can contribute more to national defense" outside than in. Gavin poses here at his Ft. Myer post home with a model of the Army's intermediate range missile, the Jupiter. The book (lower left) titled "Retirement," was a gift and has no connection with his own plans, he said.

Pot-O-Gold Holds $1,600; a Winner Will End Contest

This is the week of waiting for Pot-O-Gold contestants. No new puzzle will be published until after entries for last week's contest are checked for winners. If no one has sent in a perfect solution, or one with only one or two errors, then a new puzzle will be printed in next week's paper.

If a winner is found, he will take home the $1,600 dollars in the pot, and that will be the end of the Pot-O-Gold contest. In these last few weeks, puzzles are run only every two weeks to avoid having a large number of puzzles in the mail after a winner is found.

If winners are found, they will be announced in Friday's paper. And remember, you still have until Tuesday midnight to postmark your entry for last week. This may be your last chance, so don't fail to take advantage of it.

Gas Blasts Rip Madison, Wis.

Kill 2, Turn City Block Into Raging Inferno; Damage at Half-Million

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Natural gas explosions erupted from underground lines yesterday and set off fires that destroyed most of a city block near Capitol Square.

Simultaneous explosions blew the front out of an auto body shop and caused minor damage at Traux Field, an Air Force base on the city's East Side.

A middle-aged couple were killed when their house blew up.

William Rossiter of the state fire marshal's office said failure of a regulator valve sent gas under high pressure into lines equipped for low-pressure loads. Explosions occurred where gas seeped through weak points.

Jagged cracks were ripped in pavement in the Bassett Street area and flames shot upward. Firemen kept the flames contained within a square block. It took 15 hours to bring them under control.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

William McGrath, 63, a grocery employe, died in a hospital several hours after an explosion destroyed his home. His wife, 45, who was in a second-floor bedroom, was killed.

McGrath said his wife had asked him to investigate a smoky smell coming from the basement

Nation's Forces, Strategy Behind in Missile Age

Civilian Study Group Calls for 3 Billion Hike in Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — A civilian study group says the nation's strategy and military forces are out of step with the tempo of the missile age and need big changes and billions more in money.

Defense spending should be increased about three billion dollars each year for the next several years, said a special 21-man panel of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund.

"It appears that the United States is rapidly losing its lead over the U.S.S.R. in the military race," the panel said in a report.

"For perhaps the next two years, we still possess a superiority in strategic striking power and any Soviet attack on us would meet a crushing reply.

"But our position a year or two hence depends on decisions which must be taken immediately. Unless present trends are reversed, the world balance of power will shift in favor of the Soviet bloc."

PANEL REPORTS

Summing up findings in a study which began in 1956, the panel concluded among other things that:

1. Strategy "lags behind developments in technology" and "the United States is rapidly losing its lead in the race of military technology." The lag in missiles and space machines "reflects our national complacency."

2. Strategy, as evolved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is "a patchwork of compromise" among the rival armed forces. The Joint Chief of Staff "functions too often as a committee of partisan adversaries engaged in advancing service strategic plans and compromising service differences."

CHAIRMAN NOT REFEREE

The panel said the JCS chairman "should be in a position to shape strategic planning," with the other members merely advising him. It added the secretary of defense now is compelled to devote much of his time to acting as a referee in service disputes.

3. Combined commands should be created, in which land, sea and air units would come under

Texans Frolic in Heavy Snow

AP Facsimile

LAUGH'S ON POLICE — Students at Texas Tech in Lubbock enjoyed the heavy snowfall which hit in their area Sunday. In idle moments they blocked campus roads by rolling huge snowballs onto them. While policemen in the scout car shown above chased some of the culprits, others deflated the tires and made immobilization complete by blocking the car with more giant snowballs. As if things weren't bad enough for the officers, they were also pelted by snowballs while pursuing the students.

Rains Dwindle in South, Along Gulf Coast Area

20 Inches of Snow Hold 500 Motorists; Floods Ravage Corpus Christi

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) — Skies cleared over West Texas and the rains dwindled in South Texas today, brightening prospects for the snowbound and flooded residents of the Lone Star State.

The Weather Bureau said the entire northwest quarter of the state had sunny skies at mid-morning and although there would be no quick warmup to melt the heavy snows, "continuing improvement is indicated."

Light rains fell along the coast where some 1,600 persons have evacuated their inundated homes, but the low-pressure system which brought the deluge has moved into the Gulf and eastward and the rains are expected to end by tonight.

Some 500 motorists were stranded in West Texas by the snows which measured up to 20 inches, and residents of the lower Rio Grande Valley and the lower Texas coast near Corpus Christi were forced to flee their homes after rains unofficially measured up to 11 inches.

Practically all schools in the Corpus Christi area were closed today after streets and highways were damaged by the flooding and washing. High winds tore down utility lines, signs and trees and smashed windows. Preliminary damage was estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

Edinburg Mayor Herman Balzer said National Guard and Red Cross vehicles helped take evacuees to temporary shelter in the Farm and Home Administration show barn. Flood workers shipped 800 cots and blankets to Edinburg from Harlingen, Tex.

The Texas Department of Public Safety, at Austin said 500 other persons were evacuated at Bishop, Tex., and another 500 at Robstown, both near Corpus Christi, because of inundated homes.

Ziem Orders Probe of Sullenberger Case

A full investigation into charges against Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger, ousted Pontiac General Hospital heart surgeon, was ordered today by Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem and the attorney general's office.

The investigation will probe allegations by Hospital Director Carl I. Flath that six of Dr. Sullenberger's patients died because of violations of professional medical standards.

Ziem said that the case had been discussed by Atty. Gen. Paul Adams and his deputy, Joseph Sullivan, with Maurice M. Moule, assistant attorney general representing the State Board of Registration in Medicine.

"Mr. Moule telephoned me this morning, stating that their investigator has been assigned to probe the allegations fully," Ziem said.

Ziem said he would assign a member of his staff to work in cooperation with the investigator for the state registration board. Ray M. Sweet. The county's investigator has not yet been named, Ziem said.

NO OFFICIAL COMPLAINT

Ziem emphasized that so far no official complaint has been made to his office or to the state board by the hospital or any other agency.

"We have stepped into this case because of its importance," he said.

Ziem said that the decision to make a full investigation came after a study of allegations by Flath that Dr. Sullenberger had committed 25 violations of professional standards at the hospital in the past 18 months.

The state's investigation was also okayed by Dr. Elmer Schnorr, chairman of the state registration board, Ziem added.

The charges were made in answer to Dr. Sullenberger's $250,000 damage suit that followed his suspension from the hospital Nov. 13.

Dr. Sullenberger has denied all of Flath's charges.

★ ★ ★

Meantime, a second legislative proposal has developed as a sidelight to the controversy.

★ ★ ★

Ziem said today that the Legislature should study the feasibility of requiring mandatory X-rays of all patients who have undergone chest or abdominal operations

WILL WRITE TO SOLONS

Ziem said he would make his suggestion in writing to Oakland County's state senator and six representatives, who were preparing

Hoffa's Retrial to Start Today

Government Renewing Wiretap Case Against Teamster Chief

DETROIT (INS) — Teamsters President-elect James R. Hoffa was to start his retrial today on a charge of wiretap conspiracy which gets under way in the Federal District Court at New York.

Hoffa's first trial ended last Dec. 20 in a hung jury with Earl T. McHardy, a sugar broker, of Yonkers, N.Y., the lone juror holding out for acquittal. McHardy said he felt the government failed to prove "beyond a reasonable doubt that a conspiracy existed."

On trial with the Teamsters boss are Owen Bert Brennan, president of Detroit Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, an electronics expert. They were accused of conspiring to tap telephones in the Teamsters headquarters in Detroit in 1953.

The government contended Hoffa wanted to eavesdrop on underlings during an investigation by the Senate Labor Rackets Committee.

U.S. Attorney Paul W. Williams said conviction could mean up to one year in prison and $10,000 fine.

Meanwhile, another Federal District Court in Washington was delayed today. This suit seeks to upset the election of 44-year-old Hoffa as president of the 1,500,000-member union.

Godfrey P. Schmidt, counsel for the group, estimated 30 more witnesses will be called in support of the suit. The group contends some delegates to the Teamsters' presidential convention held last October in Miami Beach were improperly chosen.

Hoffa has been enjoined from taking office until a decision is reached in the case.

Mothers Cross to Red China

Allowed to Visit Sons Held as Prisoners; First Since Korean War

HONG KONG (AP) — Three American mothers crossed apprehensively into Red China today to visit their imprisoned sons—almost three years after the Communists first invited them to come.

The three mothers are:

Mrs. Mary Downey, New Britain, Conn., mother of John Downey, 27. He is serving a life term. She is accompanied by her 25-year-old son William.

GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Mrs. Ruth Redmond, Yonkers, N. Y., mother of 38-year-old Hugh Redmond, whom she has not seen for 11 years. He also has been sentenced to life in prison.

Mrs. Philip Fecteau, Lynn, Mass., mother of Richard Fecteau, 30, sentenced to 20 years.

They are the first Americans to make a nonofficial visit to Red China with State Department sanction since the Korean War.

SEEKING INFORMATION

Another American, Los Angeles Atty. A. J. Wirin, crossed the small bridge into Red China shortly after the mothers. Traveling separately, he is seeking information to defend John Powell, former American editor of a Shanghai newspaper who is now charged with sedition. The judge told the government he would dismiss the case unless Wirin was allowed to gather information in Red China.

GREETED FORMALLY

The group was processed through Chinese customs in a speedy 20 minutes. They were greeted formally by Communist officers in full uniform and listened quietly while an immigration officer read a statement saying: "We are sorry you went to so much trouble. Your government wants to make two Chinas. This is not your fault."

Little Irish Lady, 106, Scolds Girls on Clothing

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mrs. Ellen Doyle, a spry, white-haired woman in nearby Norwood who is 106 years old today, has a complaint: modern women.

"They hardly wear any clothes," she said in her Irish brogue. "I see them parading by in those short pants and I tell them, 'You're a lovely girl. Now go put some clothes on.'"

Gavin's Revolt May Bring Shakeup in Military Rule

Gavin, chief of the Army's research and development program, told a reporter he is sticking by his announced intention to retire from the Army March 31. He will be 51 then, with 30 years service.

"I won't compromise my principles and I won't go along with the Pentagon system," he said.

Some members of Congress expressed concern at Gavin's move, and a Senate subcommittee planned to explore the matter promptly.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said Gavin's stand emphasizes what he called a need for Congress to consider overhauling the present military setup.

'MADE LITTLE HEADWAY'

Gavin said that "I haven't been able to get much done, the system being what it is." Without elaborating on this, he said he is "not doing any good" inside the Army "so I'll take a cut at it on the outside."

As a civilian, Gavin said, he would be freer to "recommend, to apply creative thinking to national defense."

Testifying before the Senate preparedness subcommittee last month, Gavin said the Joint Chiefs of Staff system should be abolished for its present purposes of planning over-all military programs. He suggested that it be replaced by a planning group not specifically representing the different armed services.

Gavin said at the time that he was not criticizing any past or present military or civilian leaders at the Pentagon. But he expressed dissatisfaction with the present system under which decisions are reached by compromise among the operating heads of the services.

State Legislators Set to Open Tough Session

LANSING (AP) — Michigan legislators kick off an election year session Wednesday confronted with a tax increase demand, a nearly bare state treasury and heavy pressure for more money for education.

Hard decisions lay ahead, especially in the tax and spending area.

Even before the first gavel dropped, Democratic Gov. Williams and Republican majority lawmakers were at loggerheads over Williams' proposal for doubling the state levy on stocks, bonds and other intagibles.

Because the 1958 meeting has the same cast as a year ago, legislative standing committees are ready to function and about the only organization work necessary was for house Democrats to select a minority leader, probably at a pre-session get together Tuesday night.

More Cold Weather Due Here Tomorrow

Don't let today's mild temperatures fool you. More wintery weather is due in the Pontiac area, the U. S. Weather Bureau reports.

Snow flurries are expected tonight and the mercury will drop to an expected low of 5 to 12 degrees.

Tomorrow's outlook is considerable cloudiness and colder, with snow flurries likely. The high will be 12-18. Wednesday will be mostly fair and cold.

The U. S. Weather Bureau's five-day forecast predicts temperatures will average 6 to 8 degrees below the normal low of 20.

Twenty-eight was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. the reading was 35.

Could Not Be Used From U.S.; No Overseas Bases

Wilson: 'Need for IRBM Not Seen'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said today the main effort to develop Intermediate Range Ballistic Missiles (IRBM) was delayed until 2½ years ago because "to begin with there was no recognized military need for the IRBM."

The shorter range missiles cannot be used from bases in the continental United States, and there was then no plan for sending them to bases overseas, Wilson said in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

Wilson, who stepped out of the Pentagon post last October, said work on the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) was started first in part because defense officials believed the shorter range IRBM would evolve naturally from the program.

Development work on the 1,500-mile range IRBM and the 5,000-mile range ICBM now are being carried on separately. Orders have been issued to produce both the Air Force's Thor IRBM and the Army's Jupiter. The Air Force has two ICBM projects, but they are believed behind the IRBMs in development.

Wilson said the missile program got going in earnest in the fall of 1953 or early 1954.

"We decided we ought to try both the Atlas and a second method—which we called the Titan—and I approved putting the Titan into the race," he said. "In a development sense it was behind the Atlas, but in many ways had some superior features . . . then the IRBM . . . got a push about 2½ years ago."

Wilson said the IRBM got its main start at that time, adding:

"To begin with there was no recognized military need for the IRBM, because we had made no plans with any allies to have any bases from which they could be launched. You can't launch them from the continental United States."

Senators Study Red Sub Threat

U.S. Nuclear Vessels to Be Discussed With Adm. Rickover

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said today the Senate Preparedness subcommittee is exploring thoroughly the potential threat of missile-firing nuclear submarines to the United States.

★ ★ ★

Johnson said the progress this country is making in nuclear submarine developments would be studied with Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover who developed the type the Navy now has in operation.

Rickover was called for testimony at a closed session today.

★ ★ ★

Previously the group was reported to have been told by Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, that the Russians have submarines which could fire missiles on American coastal cities.

★ ★ ★

Meantime, Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) called for a special Navy program, headed by an official with power to act, to speed this country's missile submarine program. He renewed his call for at least 100 such submarines a year.

★ ★ ★

Jackson, a member of the parent Armed Services Committee but not of the subcommittee, said in a statement that "sooner than most of us think," Russia will have "large numbers of nuclear submarines armed with 1,000-mile missiles."

Six Democrats Take State Offices

Mrs. Irene F. Murphy, of 444 Bonnie Briar, Birmingham, was one of six Democrats newly sworn into state elective offices Saturday in a ceremony in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Murphy, elected to the University of Michigan Board of Regents, said during a $5-a-plate victory luncheon that many thousands of American youths were "priced out" of education and became "squandered surplus" because of the American devotion to non-essentials.

★ ★ ★

Others sworn in were Donald M. Thurber, of Grosse Pointe, to the Board of Regents to succeed Paul L. Adams, who was appointed attorney general to succeed Thomas M. Kavanagh, elected to the State Supreme Court; Carl Brablec, of Roseville, to the Board of Regents; Jan B. Vanderploeg, of North Muskegon, and G. Donald Stevens of Grand Rapids to the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State University.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What is the hurricane future for the United States?

Hurricanes, which have moved northward in the last decade, are due for a return to the south, if the thoughts of the most famed meteorologists are to be obeyed by these female-name monsters.

The cycle or trend of the hurricane, to move farther and farther out of the accepted hurrican track in the south Atlantic Ocean, Caribbean Sea or Gulf, is said to be coming to an end.

The insurance companies aren't writing new policies on this theory, however, and the new trend may take several years to become apparent, if it is indeed the current trend.

Pre-Sputnik Mood Changes

Congress Senses Urgency

★ ★ ★

Things are a lot different than they were last Aug. 30 when Senate and House adjourned after chopping 3½ billion dollars from defense and foreign aid appropriations and passing the first civil rights legislation in about 80 years.

In the interim, Russia launched two earth satellites and the United States failed in its first launching attempt.

Rep. Wright (D-Tex) summed up the new mood this way: "There is an uneasiness to get on with the job, a sense of urgency.

"There has been a lot of talk about this being the American century. Is it? And to the extent that it is, what are we going to do about it?"

★ ★ ★

Any subordination of political jockeying under the stress of the times may wear off under later pressures as the November elections approach. All 435 House seats and 32 of the Senate's 96 seats are up for voters' choice this year.

Ziem, State Probing Dr. Sullenberger Case

today for the 1958 legislative session in Lansing.

"The danger is that sponges or other foreign bodies may be left inside the patient during the operation," Ziem said. "If these are not detected and removed after the operation, they apparently can cause death.

"Sponges, I understand, can be detected by X-rays because they are constructed with a special material in them for that purpose.

"But evidently there is no law now making post-operative X-rays mandatory. It is left up to the discretion of the surgeon.

"I think the public would be better served if X-rays were mandatory. Such a law would be a safeguard for the patient's health."

Another measure growing out of the controversy will be introduced in the Legislature this week by Rep. Leslie H. Hudson (D-Pontiac).

JOINT COMMITTEE

This resolution calls for a joint committee to study the possibility of a state law licensing hospitals and setting up uniform hospital rules and regulations throughout the state.

Hudson saw the present lack of uniform rules and regulations as a source of "trouble that could spring up at any hospital in the state."

Dr. Sullenberger meantime has been granted courtesy staff privileges at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

His association with the osteopathic hospital has been "highly satisfactory," according to the hospital's director, Harry Whitlow.

"There will be no criminal citing on my part or by the state until this investigation is completed. What we are investigating are only allegations in a civil suit, so far," Ziem said.

"The investigation will determine whether there is any evidence in connection with these allegations that a crime has been committed and the law violated.

"There has been no decision about the evidence yet," he said.

Theron A. Brown, superintendent of the Madison Gas and Electric Co., said his crewmen had checked out the last report of a suspected gas leak. He assured residents they had no need to worry about further explosions. More than 40 blocks were closed off as crewmen chopped up streets in search of possible leaks.

EVACUATE 200 PERSONS

More than 200 ice-covered firemen from Madison's eight companies battled the fires. Three companies extinguished the fire at the Hanson Auto Body Co., where one explosion and fire occurred, and then sped to the Bassett Street area where the McGrath home was located.

NEEDED NO LIGHTS

"I jumped out of bed and so help me, the flames were so bright you could read a newspaper in my dining room without a light on," he said.

"No matter where you looked there was fire," he said. "Flames were shooting 100 feet into the air and sparks and debris were carrying all the way over the next block."

Destroyed were a body shop; the Hyland-Hall Building occupied by heating contractors and an electric company; a drugstore, a grocery store; a three-story brick building containing university student rooms and apartments and upholstery and furniture firms; and two single family dwellings.

Ben-Gurion Forms Coalition Cabinet

JERUSALEM (INS) — The Israeli cabinet crisis ended today when Premier David Ben-Gurion completed formation of a new coalition regime on the same five-party basis.

Parties in the group are the same as formerly, Ben-Gurion's dominant Mapai, the leftist Ahdut Ayoda and Mapam, the progressives, and the orthodox Hapoel Hamizrahi.

The old coalition formed of the same parties resigned Dec. 31 in a crisis that began three weeks ago when the Ahdut Avoda leaders leaked the information that a high Israeli official was going to West Germany to negotiate for arms.

Traffic Deaths Kept to Low 7

State Off to Impressive Start in Effort to Cut Highway Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death toll from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday was seven.

Seven was the lowest weekend total during 1957. It came on the first weekend in June, the last weekend of the year and the last weekend in November.

Coming directly after the New Year's holiday when only one highway fatality was recorded, the weekend total marked an impressive start to the state's renewed campaign to cut traffic deaths.

Deaths this weekend included:

Melvin Wilcox, 13, was killed Sunday when hit by a car while sledding near his home south of Fowlerville.

★ ★ ★

Robert McComb, 54, Dearborn, was killed Sunday in a three-car accident in Dearborn.

Vernon J. Smith, 37, and Delton Farmer, 34, both of Flint, were killed Sunday in a car-train collision near Flint.

Clair Downey, 46, Coleman, was injured fatally Sunday when his car skidded in Greendale Township and plunged into the Chippewa River.

John Fisher, 21, St. Charles, was killed Saturday when the car in which he was riding skidded near Saginaw and hit a tree.

Alside Dufour, 65, Detroit, died Friday night when struck by a car while crossing a Detroit street.

Flood waters in southern Texas inched upward in the low-lying east section of Edinburg because rain fell faster than it could drain off a large, comparatively flat section.

The neighboring communities of McCallen and the Pharr-San Juan - Alamo area were threatened by the floods.

Other water-logged areas included Derby, southwest of San Antonio, which received 4 inches of rain, and the section near the Mexican border which was drenched by 6 to 8 inches.

Hundreds of cars and trucks were stranded at Pecos, Alpine, Marfa, Odessa and other points near the Plainview area because of the heavy snowfall. Snow up to 9 inches in far west Texas forced closing of highways. Motels and hotels were jammed by motorists.

The snow and rain were triggered by a mass of cold air moving into Texas from the West.

HIGHWAYS BLOCKED

In New Mexico, snows up to 14 inches in depth blocked highways in the mountain areas and the eastern part of the state. Datil, N. M., on U. S. 60, reported 14 inches of snow while 10 inches fell on U. S. 70 between Mescalero and Roswell and 6 inches at Tucumcari.

★ ★ ★

Swinging into the Gulf of Mexico, the cold air mass touched off high winds and rough seas. A Coast Guard cutter stood by off Arkansas Pass after the 110-foot converted sub chaser, the Argo, radioed it was being buffeted by 60-knot winds and 20-foot seas.

At Galveston, Tex., a disabled tugboat was towed to safety after high seas threatened to smash it on the beach.

The Day in Birmingham

Amendment Will Outline Rules for Leaving Parking

BIRMINGHAM — In view of the number of traffic accidents caused by drivers leaving parking places without proper caution, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley is requesting an amendment to the city ordinance covering this phase of driving.

★ ★ ★

Moxley said the ordinance adequately covers the responsibility of drivers entering a street from an alley or driveway. It does not, however, cover the leaving of either angle or parallel parking spaces.

The amendment will be presented to city commissioners tonight for approval. It will clearly outline the responsibility of a driver moving his vehicle into the stream of traffic, Moxley said.

"There have been too many property damage accidents due to the carelessness of drivers moving into traffic," Moxley said.

"We cannot expect the driver of the moving auto to predict whether the driver in the car at the curb is parking or pulling out," he said.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners also will receive a complaint from 16 residents of Smith street concerning the condition of one house on that street.

They claim the house has been unoccupied since September. An uncompleted basement makes it hazardous to children who play around the premises, the letter of complaint states.

Birmingham Woman's Club will meet at Baldwin Public Library for a dessert luncheon and program at 1 p.m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Forbes Hascall, chairman, said Mrs. Lois Russell, interior decorator, will speak on "World of Ideas for the Home." Color slides will be shown from the Consumer Relations Department of Celanese Corporation of America, illustrating how ideas from all over the world influence design, texture and fabric in the home.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Bennet Root, Mrs. Edward Clark, Mrs. William Scherer, Mrs. J. Powell Granfham and Mrs. Wilbur Johnstone are in charge of refreshments.

Installation of officers for Pythian Sisters Temple 94 is scheduled for tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Community House. Mrs. Forrest Mayer will be acting grand chief, Mrs. Theodore Kelly, associate grand chief, and Mrs. Joe Davison, manager. Mrs. Edwin Weaver will have charge of the social hour.

Melvin E. Kingsbury

Requiem Mass will be sung Tuesday at 10 a.m. in St. Hugo of the Hills Church, Bloomfield Hills, for Melvin Edward Kingsbury, 50, of 4500 Beach, Troy. He died Saturday in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

The Rosary will be recited at 8:45 this evening at Price Funeral Home, Troy.

Mr. Kingsbury was owner of Mel Kingsbury & Co., mortgage brokers, of 15665 McNichols, Detroit. He founded the firm 27 years ago.

He was a member of the board of directors of the Detroit and Northern Savings and Loan Association. He also was a member of the Hunt and Grunt Club and the Harmony Club.

★ ★ ★

Thomas J. Smith

Service for Thomas J. Smith, 83, of 910 Lakeside Dr., Birmingham, who died yesterday in Pontiac, will be held at 20:30 tomorrow morning at the Holy Name Church, Birmingham. The Rosary will be recited at 7:30 this evening at Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

Hillary's Team Returns to Base Via Navy Plane

WELLINGTON, N. C. (INS) — Sir Edmund Hillary and three companions who trekked to the South Pole in an 81-day battle with nature returned to their starting base today in several hours.

The New Zealanders landed in thick fog at McMurdo Base aboard two U.S. Navy Neptune planes after a 1,200-mile flight from the bottom of the world.

The Mt. Everest conqueror was accompanied by engineers Murray Ellis and Jim Bates, both 31, and photographer Derek Wright, 29.

A score of men, mostly from the American base at McMurdo Sound, welcomed the New Zealand expedition on its arrival. The party then took a Weasel vehicle to New Zealand's nearby Scott Base after praising American hospitality at the pole.

U.S. Strategy, Forces Lag in Missile Age

a single commander with the composition of the combined force patterned to the mission it would perform.

No longer would the chiefs of staff of the services direct military operations of their services. The departments of the Army, Navy and Air Force would become agencies for recruiting and training men and procuring and distributing equipment and supplies.

Even more startling to the observers of military tradition was the group's proposal that all officers above one-star rank cease to be identified with an individual service, becoming officers "of the armed forces of the United States."

This nongovernmental assessment of what's wrong with defense, issued last night in a 15,000-word report, became available to the public while the White House kept secret the report of its own presidentially picked Gaither committee.

The 21-man panel, headed by Nelson A. Rockefeller, included scientists, former diplomats, former defense officials and military officers, industrialists, atomic experts, educators, publishers and a labor union representative.

2 Stores Going Up at Center in Drayton

Two new stores are being added to the million-dollar Drayton Plains shopping center on Dixie Highway north of Williams Lake road in Waterford Township.

Now under construction are a Keesge store and a two-story Federal department store, with more units to be added later.

The two new stores will face north, forming an L to the overall unit. Opening date has been set for the middle of June, according to building officials.

Already located on the 20-acre shopping center, is a Wrigley supermarket and a Cunningham's drug store, with parking space in the front for more than 500 automobiles.

U.S., India Will Aid Nepal to Build Roads

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States, India and Nepal agreed today to cooperate on an ambitious road-building program. The work is to begin soon.

The United States will put up $4,950,000 for the first three years of the five-year program. India will supply $1,875,000 in rupees and Nepal will ante up the equivalent of $570,000.

★ ★ ★

New roads will run southward from the mountainous interior of Nepal to the border railheads of the Indian railroad system. Some east-west roads will link interior towns with Katmandu.

American officials estimate the roads and vehicles will cut transportation costs 10 times.

Celebrates His 76th Birthday Today

Rayburn Most Powerful Democrat

WASHINGTON (INS)—The most powerful Democrat in America and the second man in line of presidential succession celebrates his 76th birthday today.

And tomorrow, he will pound the gavel in the House of Representatives and open the second session of the 85th Congress.

He is Sam Rayburn of Bonham, Tex., a short, rugged, seemingly indestructible man who has served as House speaker longer than any man in the nation's history.

This distinction is not lost on Rayburn. He demands respect and gets it from all who know him. Only a few call him by his first name. To nearly everyone, he's "Mr. Speaker."

Most septuagenarians ignore birthdays. But not Rayburn. He still celebrates them. Tonight, he will be at a party given in his honor by close friends that will be attended by several hundred persons. It's one of social Washington's glittering affairs.

* * *

Tomorrow he will be all business again. When he raps the House to order Rayburn will be starting his 46th year in Congress and his 15th term as speaker.

A stickler for rules, Rayburn runs the House and party affairs according to the book, inspiring young members with House traditions and always willing to listen to their problems.

The sobriquet "Mr. Democrat" used to describe Rayburn is a meaningful one. When it comes to party matters, none is more ardent or loyal in leading a fight than Sam Rayburn.

STRONG ALLY

But in foreign policy or in periods of national distress, no president—be he Democrat or Republican—will find a stronger ally or supporter than the speaker.

One of President Eisenhower's first requests to Congress upon entering the White House in 1953 was for a congressional declaration of support for drawing a line in Formosa to warn Red China away.

The resolution whipped through the House and Senate in hours, primarily because of Sam Rayburn. He was for it, and other members, young and old, were willing to accept his judgment—a judgment tempered by the experience of being speaker during two wars.

This has qualified him well, in the view of many intimates, for the post of presidency to which he would succeed if a sudden disaster should come to both the President and Vice President.

Of Rayburn's 76 years, 32 of them have been devoted to public service. He spent six years in the Texas legislature before coming to Congress and was speaker of the Texas House for two years.

His present position is the culmination of a boyhood ambition. When just a tad, he set his goal to be speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives and was elected by his fellow Democrats on Sept. 16, 1940, following the death of Speaker William Bankhead.

Barber Lends Out-of-World Touch

Gets Sputnik Haircut

BELLIFLOWER, Calif. (INS) — 18-year-old Bob Venuti's head shines today with the baldness of Yul Brynner's pate except, and this is the crux of the whole thing, for an out-of-this-world touch.

He and the barber who fixed him up that way called it the Sputnik haircut.

The unworldly hair-do came into being yesterday when Venuti went to Jim Ausman's barber shop and asked for a "Yul Brynner."

"Why not try something different?" Ausman suggested.

So Ausman, his creativeness challenged, went to work.

★ ★ ★

His head was shaved clean except for four tufts projecting north, south, east and west from his head.

"No charge," Ausman said. "All in the interest of science."

Lion Sexes Segregated

TOKYO (AP)—Japan has too many lions and is doing something about it. There are 92 in public zoos. Private zoos and circuses have 20 or 30 more, in a country that considers 100 lions the absolute maximum because feeding costs $1.66 to $2.77 per head daily. So male and female lions are living separately now.

Use of eye glasses increased tremendously after the invention of printing by Gutenberg around 1450.

Junior Editors Quiz on BOYS

QUESTION: Why do boys' voices change?

Answer: While young, boys often have high, clear voices and like the youngster pictured here, sing in choirs. As a lad grows older and becomes a man, his voice deepens, although girls' voices remain high and sweet.

What happens is that a boy's larynx, or voice box, has grown larger while the girl's has not. In a man, the voice box frequently is so large it can be seen. It bulges out in his throat and is called his "adam's apple."

The size of the voice box is important because it governs the length of the vocal cords that stretch across it. Breath passing across those cords vibrate them and produce vocal sounds. The longer the vocal cords, the lower the sounds.

Drink that delicious cocktail and that's it! Down comes your horrible craving for food, down comes caloric intake, and off comes your overweight!

You burn off those ugly pounds, you oxidize those pounds away. . . . You rid your body of those crippling, health destroying, figure-marring bulges of fatty tissue!

You'll gasp in amazement, stare at yourself in disbelief as day after day after day you get slimmer, trimmer, more attractive! . . . As day after day you come closer and closer to the safe, normal weight you should be!

NO PILLS, NO DIETS

Imagine! You don't take a single pill, capsule or tablet! You don't follow a plan, you don't go on a starvation diet, you don't strain your heart with brutal exercise. You don't pour money down the drain on so called slenderizing massages!

You lead a sane, normal life. You sleep, work, play just like any of your thin friends. You eat foods you want to eat. You don't wrestle with your power, and all the while ugly pounds melt away quickly and pleasantly, the safe scientific Du-Dol way!

HOW IT WORKS

Perhaps this all sounds too wonderful to be true! Perhaps you are wondering how Du-Dol can perform these "miracles" when other products that promised so much failed. That's a logical question. Here's the logical answer.

Du-Dol has little or nothing in common with other products you may have tried. Du-Dol contains, for the very first time ever, a fabulous Doctor-proved, Doctor-prescribed reducing drug in liquid form! After having been tried, tested and used by countless Doctors throughout the nation, this powerful drug has been approved safe for use without prescription by the Food and Drug Administration.

Secondly, and just as important, is this big difference. Other products depend on one of three basic reducing principles. They fill your stomach with bulk material OR they try to fool your taste-buds into thinking you aren't hungry, OR they contain a drug which works to lessen your desire to overeat.

Only Du-Dol combines all three of these medically accepted reducing principles into one great new, entirely different reducing product . . . a product that works three ways at once to help melt your fat away more surely and more easily than anything you ever tried in your life.

In other words, when you take Du-Dol you get this powerful government-approved safe drug and you get appetite-satisfying concentrates to help ward off that overpowering urge to overeat, and you get hunger-satisfying bulk in the form of delicious liquids of your own choice!

PROVED BY DOCTORS

No wonder that when Doctors tested amazing new Du-Dol on overweight persons—many of whom had great difficulty in losing weight with ordinary reducing methods—they were amazed to find that in virtually every case, substantial losses were noted!

Patients lost pound after pound of ugly fat quickly, safely, and above all, pleasantly! And most important, they lost that weight without being told to diet . . . without being told what or what not to eat! . . . without depriving themselves of all the foods they loved!

In short, they lived like normal human beings! While they ate three delicious meals a day, they were losing weight! While they were enjoying mouth-watering chops, steaks, juicy roasts, vegetables, desserts and all the rest, off came ugly pounds, down came figure-marring inches from waist, hips, thighs, everywhere!

With less work, less effort, less discomfort than they ever imagined possible, they drank their fat away! . . . Drank off pounds that had made them miserable for years!

WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

After all the products you've tried . . . after all the suffering you've done . . . after all the tortures you've subjected yourself to for year after weary year, and now it's all over!

In your lifetime, the miracle you secretly prayed for actually happened! This brand new reducing concept . . . this fabulous new method, so safe, so easy, so astonishingly effective, is here at last! And it's yours to try . . . yours to prove to your own satisfaction, without one penny's risk or obligation!

Think of what this can mean to you! Can you imagine the glorious feeling when you live like other people live, eat what they eat, do what they do without worrying, without feeling guilty, without feeling afraid? That's what Du-Dol's help can do for you!

Perhaps you have tried other products in good faith and been disappointed. Perhaps you have even gone so far as to promise yourself that you would never try another reducing product again! But stop and think a moment. . . .

You've tried so often in the past, haven't you? Wouldn't it be foolish to quit now, just a few steps short of your goal! Wouldn't it be silly to give up now when the product you've waited for is finally here? Why not try Du-Dol? If not for your sake, for the sake of those you love, Try Du-Dol.

TRY AT OUR RISK

Send for it now while you are still thinking about it. Or better still, come in and pick it up yourself. Then try Du-Dol in your own home at our risk! If Du-Dol isn't every bit as wonderful as we say it is, don't keep it! Return the unused portion and we'll send you an immediate refund without asking you a single question!

You risk nothing, and at least you have the satisfaction of trying what we sincerely believe to be the finest reducing product on the face of this earth!

But please don't put it off. Supplies are limited! Stop in for Du-Dol, or fill out the order blank below and mail at once. You'll be so happy you did!

YOU MUST READ THIS

Do you remember the story of the boy who cried "help, wolf" just to attract attention? When a real wolf finally approached, the boy's friends ignored his cries for help because he had fooled them so often. They refused to believe him when it really counted!

Don't be like that boy's friends. Don't miss out on this fabulously effective reducing method just because you may have been fooled by other reducing products.

You see, DU-DOL really is different. It really does work . . . really does help you reduce more safely, more quickly, more easily, because it is a more effective product than other reducers now being sold.

If you really want to reduce, try DU-DOL. Spend the few moments it takes to fill out and mail this order blank. If you aren't delighted in every way, we will be happy to refund your purchase price immediately and without question. You have nothing to lose but a few seconds of your time.

MAKES EVERY OTHER REDUCING PRODUCT OLD-FASHIONED

DU-DOL is, in our opinion, the only reducing product on the market today to keep pace with the fantastic progress being made in other drug fields. For example, just as the drugs we relied upon yesterday are being out dated by the newer, better drugs of today, so do we believe that DU-DOL, because of its greater Doctor-proved efficiency in pleasant to take liquid form, makes other products now being sold, old fashioned.

What better proof is there than the fact that the very pills now being hailed as the last word in reducing aren't really doing the job you hoped they would? Perhaps that is because you are one of the many thousands of persons for whom pills and tablets just won't work. Surely that is reason enough to try this new reducing concept . . . a liquid reducer. Why not send for DU-DOL now? If you aren't delighted in every way, you get money back, so of course you really have nothing to lose.

DU-DOL IS GUARANTEED SAFE, GUARANTEED HARMLESS!

DU-DOL is a scientific formulation of safe, tested ingredients proved in Doctor-supervised clinical tests to be absolutely non-injurious. It has no unpleasant or dangerous side-effects . . . may be taken with complete confidence by any normally healthy person.

DON'T DELAY! SUPPLIES LIMITED!

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

Try DU-DOL in your own home for 7 days entirely at our risk. Weigh yourself before you start. Weigh yourself after. If you don't lose as much weight as you want to lose, if you don't look better and feel better, and above all, if you don't find DU-DOL so much more pleasant to take than any reducer you have ever tried in your life, don't keep it! Return the unused portion at once for your money back immediately, no questions asked. You must be completely satisfied in every way, or you pay nothing.

Khrushchev Is Leading but Suslov Is Gaining

Perhaps lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place, but it keeps on striking.

★ ★ ★

Ever since the Russian czars were given the old fashioned heave-ho, the leader of the movement has been seated on a keg of powder with a fuse in plain sight, often smoldering. Each successive leader has had his personal Brutus.

★ ★ ★

At the moment KHRUSHCHEV is riding the crest of the wave, but the opposition is rearing an inquiring head and watching him speculatively. MIKHAIL SUSLOV is winning friends and influencing people at a rate that the boss man can't discount.

★ ★ ★

Of course, if Khrushchev decides he is sufficiently dangerous to rate liquidation, that action can be taken—up to a certain point. When the time comes that this step would antagonize too many VIP's, then Khrushchev must pause and cogitate. He can't afford to alienate too many of the wrong group.

★ ★ ★

It's like Russian roulette.

But it's the system the Russians want and they must play their own rules. Remember that one: MIKHAIL SUSLOV. He may continue to march upward, or he may suddenly disappear. Both happen — in Russia.

Automobile Death Rate Decreases During 1957

Cheer up.

We're improving.

In the first 11 months of 1957, there were only 34,880 automobile accidents in which death played a part, as against 35,770 through November the year before.

Another heartening factor lies in the fact that the deaths per one million miles driven had dropped to 5.7 for 1957 which constitutes the lowest point in the last 11 years.

Pontiac is especially interested for we have a big stake in the progress and acceptance of automobiles. The number of accidents must be held to the lowest possible point for our own good. We can't afford to have our products associated with death.

All of the extra efforts that have been made in 1957 must have borne fruit. The number of fatalities is still entirely too high, but the trend is downward.

Glory be.

ICC Rules Against "Hot Cargo" Clause

The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) has done the public a service in ruling that common carrier truck lines cannot refuse to transport "hot cargo."

This term refers to goods which somewhere along the line has been handled by a non-union company or by a company having a dispute with the Teamsters Union. The "hot cargo" clause has been used as a club to compel a company to settle a dispute with its workers.

A previous ruling by the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) declared that this clause in contracts with labor unions was in violation of the Taft-Hartley ban on secondary boycotts and is therefore invalid.

The ICC's clear and reasonable ruling means that truck lines now will have to accept any cargo or be put out of business by cancellation of operating permits. It emphasizes the fact that common carriers have an obligation to the public, "an almost absolute one," and must transport the freight of anyone willing to pay the established rates.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of Labor Mitchell says that a bill outlawing these clauses will be submitted to Congress next year. There seems to be every reason for passing it.

Oakland County state parks and other recreational areas broke all attendance records in 1957. The total runs well over five millions.

The county's leader was the Kent Lake park of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, visited by over one and one-half millions, this being the largest attendance of any inland recreational area in Michigan. Director of the Parkways Authority says that better highway facilities between there and Detroit should boost that figure to over three millions in 1958. Kent Park Superintendent,

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

High on the Hog — and the Agenda

David Lawrence Says:

Federal Education Aid No Cure-All

WASHINGTON — Money isn't the cure for everything—in educating scientists or in developing "Sputniks," either. Money cannot buy judgment where there is stupidity and shortsightedness. Money by itself cannot undo the wrongs done in recent decades by the so-called "modernists" who have largely been responsible for the wrecking of the traditional system of education in America.

LAWRENCE

Nor can the Eisenhower administration, by proclaiming that its newly announced program of one billion dollars for scholarships is only "temporary," assure that the policy will not mean permanent control of education in America by the Federal government.

Maybe the Federal government should control the educational system of the country, and maybe the states and cities have indeed blundered beyond repair, but there is no proof of it.

The customary way before embarking on such a revolutionary change in policy on a fundamental question is for Congress or the state legislatures to make a thorough investigation, fix the blame, and point out the courses that should be followed.

For in a memorandum issued at the White House a few days ago by the secretary of health, education and welfare, it is stated that "one out of five students in the upper fourth of their class drops out of high school before graduation." The official document further says:

"Many intellectually able young people drop out of school chiefly because of lack of desire or incentive for education, or lack of money to pay for it."

No one has come forth to explain why these students who could afford to go on with their education didn't have the incentive to do so. Who is to blame? Were they given the proper counseling?

Why, for instance, as the official memorandum reveals, does it happen that "only one out of three high school graduates has had a year of chemistry, only one out of four has taken a year of physics, and only one out of three has had more than one year of algebra?" And why is there a shortage of good teachers?

These are not questions that can be answered just by spending more billions for scholarships. Why should it be necessary for the Federal government to spend big sums of money "to encourage the states and local school systems to provide more and better teaching of science and mathematics?"

Many feel that the "Sputnik" episode is causing politicians to go overboard for science, while neglecting the fundamentals of a good education.

What is needed, of course, is a system which is devoted to attaining for the youth of America a well-rounded education and which recognizes early enough the aptitudes of every individual student and steers such a student into the field in which he or she can serve best.

The state and city universities in America have considerable funds and the charitable foundations and private philanthropy can supplement these. If there is need for a Federal "emergency" fund, it has not yet been clearly demonstrated.

Once a program which is hailed as "temporary" is set up, it is likely to become permanent and the Federal government may be saddled with the principal responsibility for supporting education in America, although this has always been a state or city or county problem.

What is most important at this time is to get rid of the deeply rooted ideas that have been retarding the basic system of education in this country on the mistaken theory that "progressive education," as it is sometimes called, can ignore the fundamentals at either the grammar-school or high-school level.

Education in recent years has become a highly controversial subject—and what is necessary now is more facts about it and less of a tendency to assume that the appropriation of billions of dollars by the Federal government will cure everything.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Let's Get Straight Facts on Chronic Joint Trouble

From what readers report from Arizona, Saskatchewan, Michigan, New Hampshire and Florida I gather that—

DR. BRADY

1. Chronic joint disability is "diagnosed" as arthritis in most instances.

2. Failure of the standard remedies to stay the progress of the degeneration is attributed to the cold, damp weather — everywhere but Florida and Arizona, where there are so many lame visitors from Saskatchewan, Michigan and New Hampshire that the doctors don't take time to explain anything and their customers don't really want to know anything.

3. Because they have been "through the clinic," many of these poor souls seem content to drift along insidiously going from bad to worse as they eat aspirin and other pain-killers and give little or no thought to their nutritional condition.

A Connecticut reader says:

"My ailment was diagnosed as arthritis and for many years treated for that."

(The medical merchants are kind about that. They go right on treating victims for "arthritis" year after year, as long as the poor souls care to pay.)

"Within the last three years, I have learned that my trouble is rheumatiz as described in your booklet. Since I have followed your regimen for correcting malnutrition in my hands, knees, elbows, etc. have been so much less painful and my general health has improved a great deal. My condition, I find seems to be better or worse according to my faithfulness to the regimen."

Now, then, ladies and gentlemen, my assistants will go through every aisle of the auditorium peddling my book, but if you can't fight your way through the mob to get one, don't worry. Just send me 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of the booklet Chronic Joint Disability and the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz.

Rheumatiz is the name I give physical degeneration of joint tissues, which, I think, is the usual cause of joint disability that develops insidiously in the course of the year or more while the victim tools around with "treatment for arthritis."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Children Should Be Taught How to Behave in Movies'

Recently I took three boys to a local movie theater. I told them to make up their minds what refreshments they would want before choosing their seats. It was a fine picture, but I was unable to have one minute of enjoyment from it.

★ ★ ★

Children were allowed to run up and down the incline and steps, and they caused so much disturbance that I'm sure I wasn't the only one who was miserable. If parents feel they should let their children go alone to our theaters, they at least should lecture them on decent behavior, or an adult should go with them.

It isn't fair to blame the management or ushers. It would be impossible to handle the situation by themselves.

Students Complain of Limited Parking

Why has parking along Huron and State streets been changed to no parking zones? Is it because the teachers have their parking places reserved and don't care about the students? It has been said they are trying to discourage students from driving to school, but some students are forced to drive as there are no school buses near their homes. Today we had to park four blocks from school. Can't something be done?

Policy Group to Decide Fate of Gaither Report

WASHINGTON (INS) — A bipartisan policy group within the house armed services committee will meet behind closed doors this week to decide whether to demand White House release of the controversial Gaither report, or to subpoena Chairman H. Rowan Gaither.

★ ★ ★

A sweeping investigation of our entire military posture will be launched by the full committee beginning Friday with Defense Secretary Neil McElroy to be called as the first witness.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) and Republican whip Leslie C. Arends, Ill., will head the five-man policy group at its secret meeting shortly before the full committee convenes.

Arends said he has high expectations that his committee will conduct a "completely objective" hearing, because "no one in our group is running for president and we never have any politics in our investigations."

HEAR EVERY VIEWPOINT

He said the committee will hear every viewpoint during the lengthy probe of our missiles and satellites programs, and will make a "painstaking search for all the facts."

Arends said that next to our military posture, he considers the new budget the most important single piece of legislation facing the new Congress which convenes tomorrow.

"We've got to give the Pentagon what is necessary," he explained, "but there's no use dumping money in its lap that can't be spent wisely. Our Democratic colleagues still seem to think that the way to cure anything is to spend and spend."

★ ★ ★

The Republican whip expressed hope that the Senate will follow the House lead by passing a postal rate increase to stem the deficit, and will vote some type of scholarship fund to produce more scientists.

Of all the legislation facing the new Congress, Arends predicted, foreign aid will have the roughest sledding. He said Congress is in a mood to take a "mighty hard look" at the President's expected request for increased foreign aid, in view of our need to increase defense spending.

"Dr. Crane, I have a problem and it is most serious," she began.

"It's my father. He acts as if he has no use for my mother. And he humiliates us so we are ashamed to be seen in public.

DR. CRANE

"For he runs around with other women! And that's not a false rumor. For I have actually seen him.

"And when I had my Tri-Hi-Y Club at our house the last time, he tried to put his arm around some of the girls and kiss them.

"It's disgusting, and I don't know what to do about it. Is he losing his mind?"

PONCE DE LEON COMPLEX

Donna's father is so panicky that he has lost perspective.

And this male panic often strikes men past the age of 40 who become alarmed at the fact that they are becoming platonic mates.

It isn't Donna who should be so concerned with this problem as her mother, for a wife can remedy the situation rather quickly.

Not only do wives often go into a neurotic state after the age of 40 when they grow afraid their physical charm will wane at the menopause, but husbands likewise are driven almost berserk by dread that their masculine vigor is a thing of the past.

Such men may then try to date other women, hoping that the novelty and illicitness of such affairs will be a tonic to their wounded sex ego and thus resurrect some of the ardor they used to feel maybe 25 years earlier.

★ ★ ★

SINS OF OMISSION

Donna's mother is obviously guilty of a major sin of omission in her marital behavior or she would never have permitted her husband to get into this terrified state.

Impotence is largely a thing of the mind. As such, it can attack males of any age as soon as they grow fearful of their erotic vigor.

As soon as they become victims of a sexual inferiority complex, then they may sprout all the symptoms of the middle aged husband, even though they may be only 25 instead of 50.

Some of these symptoms involve heavy drinking of whisky, as well as gambling, reckless driving and a tendency to stay out late every night.

For such a husband usually wants to hide his defect from his wife. If he comes home drunk, he figures this fact will divert her attention so she will not wonder why he makes no attempt to kiss her or show amative interest.

But other victims will grow caustic and criticize the wife for every minor flaw. They may also project their sarcastic remarks upon their innocent children.

If the wife is unaware of the cause of such behavior and continues as a relatively frigid or uncooperative mate, then such a panicky husband may decide:

"Maybe it's my wife's fault. Perhaps a more cooperative partner would make my pulse pound again and restore my former ardor."

When a husband reaches this dangerous frame of mind, he may then try to date other and usually younger females.

He may even try to "paw" the girl friends of his own daughter, as Donna describes, for he is almost berserk and hence lacks normal perspective.

★ ★ ★

So send for my booklet "How to Prevent Impotence," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

You wives owe it to your children to maintain a happy home, so stop your sins of omission.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Hal Boyle Says:

Better Life Lies Ahead for U.S. in 1975

That life will be better if we can just hold out until 1975. A poll of 50 top U.S. business leaders predicted that by then the work week will be down to 35 hours, and average family income will be $7,500, compared to $5,500 last year.

That 39 per cent of persons over 45 complain of one form or other of back trouble.

That more than 100,000 kinds of sea shells have been identified.

That in 1800 it took nine men on a farm to produce the food for themselves and one other person. But today one farmer raises enough for himself and 17 others.

That a psychiatrist says there are only a million normal people in the United States. (Wonder who the other 999,999 are?)

That an old-timer is someone who remembers when the first letters a child learned were ABC. Today they're TV.

That there are 182,573 street lamps in New York City, proving that this is one town where you can lean on something besides relatives.

That Frank Pipal, an Omaha, Neb., consulting forester, found a poison ivy vine more than 50 feet tall with a trunk more than five inches thick. P.S. It is not for sale.

That insects from behind the Iron Curtain are fighting to save American timber. Some 1,600 specimens of Aphidoletes Thomsoni were imported from Czechoslovakia to attack woolly aphids that infest silver fir trees in Oregon and Washington.

That American hunters fire almost three times as many shotgun shells at the lowly cottontail rabbit as they do at duck and geese. And — shades of Davy Corckett — it takes 15 shots for the average Nimrod to bag one duck.

Marine Barbuti Faces Court-Martial

Sailor Charges Beatings

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—An 18-year-old American sailor today accused a Marine guard of beating him up for saying a prayer in the brig at Sasebo naval base.

Sgt. Robert J. Barbuti of Schenectady, N. Y., the accused guard, pleaded innocent before a general court-martial to 29 counts of cruelty and maltreatment toward prisoners.

Eight Marine guards at the brig were convicted previously and six were acquitted on similar charges.

"Sgt. Barbuti was always hitting me," Fireman Carlos E. Vota of Amarillo, ex., testified. Vota spent seven days in the brig after his conviction for insubordination to a petty officer.

He told the eight-man court: "They (Sgt. Barbuti and other brig wardens) made me hold a ruler with hands stretched out. I was so weakened by previous beatings that I closed my eyes and started praying.

★ ★ ★

"Sgt. Barbuti called me a religious s.o.b. and struck me with his fist in the stomach. . . . I almost passed out."

While Barbuti, a heavy-set, brown-haired Marine of 23, sat impassively, Vota frequently pointed at him while describing beatings he said Barbuti gave him.

Asked by the prosecution whether he suffered ill effects, the sailor said, "I had bruises and bumps on my stomach and chest. . . . I went to the hospital."

★ ★ ★

Vota said when he came out of the hospital, Barbuti asked him, "are you feeling any better?" Then he "struck me in the stomach. . . . It almost knocked me out. I went blank and dizzy."

"No, sir," Vota replied.

Economic Integration Is Being Prepared in Western Europe

PARIS (AP)—Top-level diplomats from six West European nations today sat down for two day's of hard work to set up the machinery for economic integration.

Following a series of private talks the foreign ministers of France, Belgium, West Germany, Luxembourg and Italy met at the French Foreign Office. Secretary of State Van Der Beugel represented the Netherlands.

The ministers must name a capital for their new organization and choose the personnel to get it started.

★ ★ ★

The six-nation treaties setting up the common market and an atomic pool for peaceful purposes went into effect Jan. 1 in the next 15 years they are scheduled to weld the six nations into an economic bloc of more than 170 million people, with trade among the six nations to be free of tariff and with tariff on imports from outside the area to be unified.

★ ★ ★

The naming of a new capital is likely to be the most difficult task. The Alsatian city of Strasbourg is the French choice and the Belgians are backing Brussels. Luxembourg, Turin and Naples have also been mentioned.

Cadillac

It Says "Greatness"... in Any Language!

Wherever highways exist and motor cars are known, the name "Cadillac" signifies but one thing—the leader in its field.

For the motor car that has borne that distinguished name for the past fifty-five years has been so well designed and so soundly crafted that it has become a universal synonym for everything good and fine and desirable in a manufactured product.

And never have these virtues been more evident than they are in the Cadillac car for 1958.

A brief journey at the wheel provides irrefutable proof of the magnificent strides forward that have been made in Cadillac performance and in Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And a study of the facts about Cadillac economy indicates a soundness of investment beyond anything in Cadillac's past.

Have you as yet inspected and driven a 1958 Cadillac? If you haven't, then you should make arrangements to do so very soon.

Whatever your favorite among Cadillac's wide selection of models, which includes the distinguished Eldorado Brougham, you will find it a rare masterpiece in everything a Cadillac can be.

Intangible Tax Hike to Hit Deposits

LANSING (AP)—A state banking executive says bank depositors may face a tax liability heretofore absorbed by banks if Gov. Williams' intangible property tax increase proposal is approved.

Ralph L. Sickle, executive manager of the Michigan Bankers Assn., said Saturday the state's 400 banks have been absorbing as an operational expense the current tax rate of three million dollars a year on bank deposits.

He said experts estimate the governor's plan of increasing the intangible tax rates to bring in another 21 million dollars in state revenue would lift the tax on deposits to 15 million dollars a year.

"I don't think the banks can absorb that extra 12 million dollars," Stickle said. "Many may have to charge back the tax against depositors. Then I don't know what would happen. If people decided to take their money out of banks, perhaps put it in tax exempt municipal bonds, there could be repercussions on Michigan's entire financial structure."

The present Michigan tax on bank deposits is four cents on $100. Williams' plan would bring it to 20 cents on $100.

Williams yesterday denied that he had made a decision on the exact rates he will recommend.

"All I have said is that I will propose an increase in the intangibles tax in line with information developed in a study made for the legislative tax study committee," the governor said.

Referring to the possibility that any increase might be passed on to bank customers, Williams stated:

"On a $300 checking account, for example, the Ohio rate of 20 cents per hundred dollars — which we have not yet decided to recommend—would result in an added cost of 48 cents a year."

Potter Sees Lifting of U.S. Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich), predicting a "heftier budget" in the interests of security, says the next Congress may lift the 275 billion dollar debt ceiling "temporarily."

★ ★ ★

Potter makes the prediction and raises the possibility of a higher ceiling in a newsletter to constituents. Earlier he had expressed hope that it would not be necessary either to raise the debt ceiling or to increase taxes. He still says new taxes are "unlikely."

In the letter to the taxpayers back home, Potter writes as follows:

"Congress will think and talk principally in terms of national security and will approve a heftier budget, perhaps in the neighborhood of 74 billion dollars, to permit expanded missile and research work.

★ ★ ★

"To finance this, the debt ceiling may be lifted temporarily, but new taxes are unlikely."

All Wet, Inside, Outside

McALLEN, Tex. (AP) — If residents of the rain-soaked lower Rio Grande Valley want to get some tips on preparations for a flood, they can go to a movie. Currently showing at a McAllen Theater is "Noah's Ark."

About 11 million motorists each year buy and install new fan belts in their cars.

Flying Professor Has Near Escape

LANSING (INS) — A Michigan State University assistant professor and his passenger narrowly escaped drowning in Lansing Lake yesterday in a freak airplane landing.

Prof. C. Blair MacLean Jr., 38, attempted to land his single-engine Piper Vagabond on the frozen surface of Lake Lansing but the ice gave way. Nosing over, the plane was saved from going through the ice by its wings.

MacLean and his passenger, Helen Bilianow, 27, were reported unhurt and managed to inch their way out of the overturned aircraft and cross the ice to safety. The accident occurred about 100 yards off shore.

Residents along the lakeside helped place planks under MacLean's aircraft so it would not break completely through the two-inch thick ice and sink in the 15-foot deep water.

Doorbell Warns Woman of Fire in Cellar of Home

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—When the doorbell rang Mrs. Pau Summers got up and answered. But the doorstep was empty and the darkened street offered no clue to her early-morning caller.

★ ★ ★

Then she smelled smoke and discovered a small fire in the cellar of her home in suburban Westmere.

★ ★ ★

The blaze had burned the insulation from the doorbell wire, which ran along the sub-flooring in the cellar.

Carl Sandburg, at 80, Plans 3 More Books

By OLGA CURTIS

"It's nobody's business how I feel being 80," he growled.

★ ★ ★

"And it's not a good way to start your story—you start with how I feel being 80 and nobody'll know if I write geography or arithmetic.

"Besides, you caught me with a mouthful of fried oysters."

There was a short silence on the long distance wire to Flat Rock, N. C., while the famous poet, Lincoln biographer and two-time Pulitzer Prize winner chewed down his oysters.

★ ★ ★

Then his rumbling baritone came on again:

"Don't ask me if I'm quitting. I'm going to have a hard time in the next 10 or 15 years putting out three more books I've written. I'm only half done on the sequel to my first autobiography ("The Young Strangers") and I shall be working all the rest of this year on it.

FULL PROGRAM

"Got a lot of other things to do, too. Have to go to Ohio State this week to give a program, and then to the University of Illinois the 14th for a program for an exhibition they call the Carl Sandburg room. They're giving me a testimonial dinner the next night."

Sandburg chuckled and added: "Testimonial dinners are all right but I'm getting tired of carrots."

After the testimonial carrots, the poet will go to Chicago to receive the Phi Beta Kappa medal of distinguished service.

"It's the first time they're giving it to a fellow who didn't have a B.A. degree," Sandburg noted. "My wife's a Phi Beta Kappa but she had to work for it."

The white-haired poet, who's also working on "150 or maybe 200 new poems," doesn't mind strumming his guitar and reading his verse at universities. But not on TV.

Sandburg, who blasted television's "insanity, asininity and silliness" in a speech last year, hasn't changed his mind.

RAPS COMMERCIALS

"Half the commercials on TV are an insult to human intelligence," he said.

★ ★ ★

"I love people a little more than ever," he explained. "I always loved good people a little more than bad people. But I've learned a lot of people called bad are really good people."

Sandburg paused for a minute and then laughed:

"Tell you what, girl. If you or anybody else wants to find out if I've mellowed, get a copy of my complete poems."

★ ★ ★

"That book has 816 poems in it. It costs seven and a half dollars, but if you read it, it'll tell you everything I have to say—at less than a cent a poem."

Fashions for Spring 1958 Are Keyed to Rocket Age

Hemline prettiness is in the fashion focus in the spring and summer 1958 collections of prominent New York designers.

New Look Isn't Copy of the 20's

Latest Creations Highlight Unique Styling Trends

Spring fashion collections are being shown this week in New York. Experts tell us that we can watch for:

Fashion changes sweeping in with the rush of events . . . With eyes and minds conditioned by science-fiction-come-true, American women have almost outraced the designers in their desire for a drastically different look to reflect today's dramatically different outlook.

Reassurance that the fashion "revolution" is only evolution-with-a-booster, a skipped beat in the normal style cycle of loose-fitting slimness which has been moving in since 1955 . . . 1958 clothes are loose but smoothly streamlined capsules for the body, rounded out slightly, in the middle, and tapered at the hem, always close at the hipline.

Call it the sack, the chemise, the shift or the space silhouette, but DON'T call it a 1920s revival. This one is strictly 1958, with hidden construction as intricate in its way as the mechanism of a rocket (and, let's face it, such psychology now propels our fashions.)

SILHOUETTE VARIETY

You'll be seeing . . .

Silhouette variety to ensure the affinity of at least one to every figure type . . .Gathered back yokes, wide stiffened revers, full sleeves, schoolgirl collars or high cowl necklines give width at the top, minimize hips . . . Semi-belts or sashes fastened loosely at the front or back give sleekness in the center.

"Split level" front or back sections fake a two-piece look and break the line becomingly . . . Hemline flares and tiers are kind to not-so-slim legs . . . A more pronounced variation, as chic as the straight and narrow dress, is the blouse-topped silhouette.

Watch for . . .

This loose silhouette in suits, and both slim and very loose lines for coats . . . The three-quarter coat remains important in spring fashion, particularly in "loud" patterned fabrics of spongy, loose textures . . .Suit skirts are either slim and straight, or full and pleated and many have leather belts.

The scene will include . . .

A subtle but definite widening of the shoulders either in a straight line or an arch . . . There is padding in some collections, a deep, deep armhole and dramatically wide, stand-away collars in others . . . Evening dresses often have floating scarves attached at the outer shoulder points.

★ ★ ★

In the spotlight will be tall-making effects: Panels, pleats, vertical streaks of wide, white or black grosgrain piping, elongated lapels, low-buttoning jackets and coats . . . Tall turbans and stove-pipe toques, upswept hair.

Paradoxically, watch for lower heels to make you less tall in reality, give a young easy stance and smooth swift pace to the new clothes. Low-heeled evening shoes are shown by most designers.

MYSTERY ADDED

Expect . . .

A subtle, exciting shift in what the fashion psychologists call the "erogenous zone" of fashion, a fancy term for sex appeal . . . Free, unrestrained body contours, veiled but never hidden, add mystery to the torso where stark revelation and the "big buildup" ruled before . . .

Short skirts and hipline emphasis put the focus on that nearly forgotten glamour attribute, legs . . . Some designers visibly flatten the hipline with tighter girdles, but none advocates a continuation of the raised and pointed bosom or pinched waist.

★ ★ ★

The whirl of full skirts for evening and summer, but these to be set low on a long, unfitted bodice or a hip yoke.

Vying for top honors will be . . .

Firm fabrics, interfacings, or linings to prevent any similarity to the limp hang of the flapper styles of the 20s. Spring fabrics are enriched in color and luster, making the basic simplicity of the silhouette into a thing of luxury. Silk reigns in day as well as evening fabrics . . . Downy, thick silk tweeds in dresses, suits and costumes. New, highly lustrous silk suitings are flat and fine-woven as menswear worsteds.

★ ★ ★

Wild silk, crusty as tree bark, is favored for coats, suits and sports clothes. Woolens are liberally mixed with silk to lighten their hand and give them sheen. Bright-colored looped mohair, fluffy and light as a feather, used in suits and full coats . . . Many two-dimensional textures in raised patterns combining thick and thin threads or color against a black ground . . . Woven cravat silks with noticeably raised or indented patterns.

A favored evening fabric is point d'esprit (dotted net) . . . Bold checks and giant plaids, massed flower patterns and twin fabrics all important.

INTENSE COLORS

You'll see . . .

Colors which circle the spectrum with added intensity . . . Vibrant or creamy yellows, blazing or sweet orange, vivid blues and electric violet, the brightest green this side of a shamrock, firecracker red, flame, and magenta and neon pinks light up both day and night fashion.

Pure white, brightened navy and black-and-white are stressed. Strong emphasis on vivid monotone or all-print costumes, with hat and shoes to match.

★ ★ ★

Poster touches in trimming, such as wide white or black pipings, single super-colossal buttons, crazy pockets.

Smart women will wear big bows on suits and dresses for spring 1958.

★ ★ ★

Marilyn O'Brien, who was a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson K. Hunter and daughter, Kathy, of West Iroquois road, has returned to her home at Flint. Marilyn's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis O'Brien of Flint.

★ ★ ★

Upon his return by plane to duty at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, he was accompanied by Mrs. Horton and their baby daughter.

★ ★ ★

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Verne Bosley of Crest-haven street, Mrs. Maxine Monroe of Waterford and Howard Cross of Telegraph road.

★ ★ ★

Announcing the birth of a daughter, Carole Ann, Dec. 30 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Peterson (nee Marie Thompson) of Going street. Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson of Going street are the maternal grandparents.

Shorter skirts are a definite spring 1958 trend noted in New York designer collections. They will be seen in most fashions this spring.

PAULA L. JONES

At a dinner party given Saturday evening at Dearborn Inn for members of the families and close friends, the engagement of Paula Louise Jones to Frank H. Duffy was announced. The bride-elect is the daughter of the James M. Joneses of Bloomfield Hills, and her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving A. Duffy of Birmingham. Miss Jones is a senior in nursing at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital, Detroit, and Mr. Duffy is a senior in the Engineering School, University of Michigan. A mid-August wedding is planned.

California Goes Back to Flappers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California Fashion Creators are harking back to the flapper ear of 1928 in styles displayed at their spring market show.

The 150 designers exhibited their creations to more than 1,000 buyers from throughout the nation at the show's opening Sunday. The event continues through Wednesday.

SLIM AND TRIM

The hiplines are slim and trim and the hemlines are up a bit.

Let Baby Splash

Don a terrycloth beach robe when bathing baby. You'll protect yourself from baby's splashing. Then toss robe into your automatic clothes dryer afterwards to be quickly dried, fluffed and freshened.

MARILYN VERNON

Silhouette Streamlined, With Accent on the Hips

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS)—The silhouette of 1958 is going to be loose, streamlined and hip-outlining.

Whatever you call it—sack, shift or chemise — the dress with the unfitted middle is in, practically forcing a change of wardrobe for every woman who has been wearing tight-waisted, natural - belted dresses.

CAPSULE FOR BODY

★ ★ ★

In its regular "watch-for" roundup of style news to fashion editors attending the semi-annual Press Week dress showings, the group also forecast:

Loose suits with slim or pleated skirts.

Three-quarter coats: Both slim and very full.

Wider shoulders: Achieved with padding or deep-cut armholes.

★ ★ ★

Lower heels: Shoes are being cut down for both day and evening.

Full skirts for evening: But set low on hip yokes or unfitted bodices.

The dress group emphasized the importance that legs will have in the new '58 silhouette. Skirts are definitely shorter and hiplines flatter.

★ ★ ★

But bosoms are being ignored for the first time in several years. Dress tops are adding yokes, full sleeves, high necklines and other details for width at the top of the figure and a smooth line dropping to the hip.

You Can Be Lovelier, Peppier in Eight Weeks

Join Self-Improvement Marathon--TODAY

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

1958! We again have another shining new year, another 12 months, AND MORE IMPORTANT another TODAY!

Evidently, philosophers and all those who pause to evaluate life long have been impressed with the importance of TODAY. William Marsden wrote, "Tomorrow never yet, on any human being, rose or set," and Horace said, "Live today, tomorrow is not."

Have you been thinking, "Tomorrow I will begin my diet to lose these extra pounds which make me look and feel older?" "Tomorrow I will begin my exercises in order to battle flabbiness, to streamline my figure and to add to my sense of well being." "Tomorrow I will not rush and fret, I will do some of the things I want to do, but I don't have time today."

TOMORROW is a mirage. TODAY is real. It is vibrating in your hands with all of its potentialities for vibrant living, for laughter, for service, for beauty! Life is made up of todays. These are all we ever have and all we need. If you don't do it today, you never will.

And so today (not tomorrow or the next day or the next) is when you should join my Self-Improvement Marathon. Each year at this time I offer my readers eight weeks of direction in self-improvement; eight weeks in which you can create a new you.

If you wish to lose inches in certain measurements, the Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon is for you.

Eight weeks is time enough to lose 20 pounds, to improve your posture and your complexion, to redistribute your weight more attractively, to lose many small disabilities, to capture new energy, and therefore to get a younger, more rewarding viewpoint.

JOIN EACH YEAR

Many women make Marathon a regular part of their lives. Each year they join this self-improvement effort. They have plenty of company!

★ ★ ★

For some it may be a question of counting calories, for others a wish to lose inches in certain measurements, for many more an effort to banish chronic fatigue which puts the dampers on daily living.

A French proverb says, "Forty is the age of youth; 50 is the youth of age."

Yet many women of 40 and 50 are so age-conscious that it damages their personalities and happiness dramatically. The persistent ever-present thought that one is deteriorating rather than improving, becoming less attractive rather than more so, has a tremendous effect on health as well as appearance.

Such a dreary attitude influences our entire bodily setup, from our heartbeat and respiration to our glands and digestion. It even dictates the posture and mannerisms of many women.

★ ★ ★

I believe that you can literally think yourself into premature aging or prolong the youthful portion of your life almost magically if you will not think in terms of years. Without realizing it, you may have adopted the outlook and postures and mannerisms of older age because you think you are expected to "act your age."

A SAD SITUATION

Individuals are as different as fingerprints. To settle down into ruts of boredom, simply because many women of your age do so, is sad indeed. It is especially sad in view of the new information about nutrition, weight control, the effects of exercise, and psychosomatic medicine.

A woman is old at any age if she thinks of herself as old and she is young at any age if she has a youthful, uninhibited spirit and viewpoint. Most women are greatly affected by their appearance. Nothing can make such a change in their viewpoint or add such zest to life as physical self-improvement.

So, if you have been taking yourself for granted, you have been doing yourself an injustice. As most of my readers know, I offer my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon each year at this time.

Some may wish to improve their complexion or posture. Whatever your problem may be, in eight weeks of regular effort you can make a big dent in it.

★ ★ ★

So, why not join the gang? My Marathon booklet gives you a weight and height chart, corrective exercises for the most usual figure faults and suggestions about skin care.

If you would like to join Marathon, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Frozen Cake Topped With Raspberries

Mrs. Johnson Uses Loaf Angel Food, Adds Ice Cream

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Now that the holidays are behind us, we can settle down to normal winter activities. That includes plenty of club meetings and informal parties. When these are "dessert luncheons," the hostess is sometimes at a loss to serve something new and different.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Theodore Johnson likes to make a Raspberry-Angel Food cake. The mother of five very active children, Mrs. Johnson is an avid collector of antiques. She keeps busy in St. Hugo's Altar Guild and in St. Joseph Hospital Auxiliary.

RASPBERRY ANGEL FOOD CAKE
By Mrs. Theodore Johnson

1 long bar angel food cake.
3 packages frozen raspberries.
1 quart ice cream.
3 egg whites.
1 cup sugar.

Put raspberries in bowl to thaw a little. Cut cake in three layers crosswise. Place one layer in each of three ice cube trays. Cover with a layer of ice cream. Smooth the top with a knife.

Beat egg whites stiff, and sugar slowly and beat until mixed. Fold in slightly thawed raspberries. Pour one-third of this mixture over each of the trays of ice cream and cake.

Freeze at least 2-3 hours; overnight is not too long. Take out of freezer about one hour before serving. Slice and garnish with whipped cream and raspberries. Serves 12-15.

Definitely not for the bean pole neck and shoulders, but for the voluptuous bosom and well-padded shoulders is the wide U-shaped decollete.

Among the spectaculars in resort wear and spring cocktail dresses, is the very deep and very wide neckline, seen only in dresses that have defined waistlines and full skirts. For the pleasingly plump, it is reminiscent of 18th Century type.

Gals Set Trend for Car Styles

DETROIT (INS) — Women are responsible for a good many of the features of your brand new car.

That's the opinion of Hal W. Pilkey, chief stylist for an automotive firm. He said:

★ ★ ★

This, in Pilkey's opinion, is responsible for the "power assists," the more subtle coloring and the swept-wing fins seen on the '58 cars. He also predicted that these trends will be carried still farther in the 1959 models now being tooled, and extended even to the 1960 and '61 styles.

"We are not going to change a winning head," he said, hinting as to what we can expect from auto manufacturers.

★ ★ ★

"There is an intangible element of security which a woman must get simply from the size and structure of a car to make her feel at ease behind the wheel. We certainly don't want to destroy that security feeling," he added.

Dear Abby . . . .

They Can't Read Minds So They Have to Inquire

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown woman and I think I know how to shop, but the clerks lately are driving me out of their stores. The minute I step into a store, the clerks pounce on me and ask if they can help me.

ABBY

I don't even get a chance to go to the department I want. How does a shopper know what she wants to buy if she isn't even given a chance to look around?

With all eyes on you, you feel so embarrassed. What happened to the good old salespeople who let you examine the merchandise and buy with pleasure?

ANNOYED SHOPPER

DEAR ANNOYED: Salespeople are not mindreaders. They merely want to HELP you find what you want. Don't get upset when they approach you. Tell them what you had in mind, and then shop with their assistance.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What would you conclude from a Christmas card on which was written the following message: "To my secretary (her first name) for duties performed ABOVE and BEYOND the call of duty," and signed with his first name only.

Stapled to the message was a check for $100. He is married and she is not. Thank you.

MISS B (CO-WORKER)

DEAR MISS B: I would conclude that someone is very curious about something that is not her business.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my father. I am 19 years old and sometimes I invite my boy friend over just to sit and talk and spend the evening at my house.

My folks have sense enough to leave us alone, but my father goes to sleep and he snores so loud we can hear him downstairs. This is very embarrassing. My mother also snores and when the two of them are snoring together it isn't even funny. What should I do?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Some girls don't know when they are well off. At least you can tell when they are sleeping!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I work the night shift and my husband works the day shift. We don't live fancy but have nine kids to support and they are all in school and need shoes, books and things like that.

When I get home from work I know my husband must get home just a little ahead of me because I feel his car and it's still hot. He is supposed to be sleeping, but must be out chasing around.

There has been some talk about my husband and some woman who's working where he works. Should I try to catch them or what?

ON THE NIGHT SHIFT

DEAR ON: Your husband and his car should both cool off. Let him know you are wise and give him a chance to speak his piece. P.S.: Get on the same shift and let your husband live a little—with YOU, that is!

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Bored Wife Warns Girls About Stay-at-Home Men

Tells Them to Get Rid of Such Beaus Before Love Enters the Picture

By RUTH MILLETT

She is in her early 20's and married to a stick-in-the-mud who never wants to go anywhere or do anything.

She says she loves her husband but is lonely and bored just staying at home taking care of their small child, with never any fun or gaiety to look forward to.

I'm printing her letter in the hope that it will keep younger readers from going steady with young men who don't want to take them to parties, dances, or join in some outdoor sport, such as tennis, swimming, skating, golf, etc.

Her letter says: "I am a young woman in my early 20s. When I was 16 I started dating a boy who never wanted to join the crowd, no matter what the crowd was doing.

"After three years of courtship we were married. I love my husband—but he still isn't interested in having any kind of social life.

"Not only did I miss, when I was dating, going dancing, skating, bowling, and all the other things teenagers enjoy doing—but I am still missing out on having fun.

"My advice to any girl who is dating a young man whose only idea of entertainment is sitting at her home evening after evening, or going to a movie is, 'Drop the young man before you find yourself in love with him, and find somebody who is more fun to be with.'

"Young girls often don't realize how they are handicapping themselves when they tie themselves to an inactive, disinterested boy. A lot of divorces comes from a couple's not having any fun together as a couple.

★ ★ ★

"A girl can tell before marriage whether or not a young man is a stick-in-the-mud. The trouble is, before marriage she may not realize how much it is going to matter to her happiness."

Tell Doctor the Reason for Change

You May Ask Him to Send Records to New Physician

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am moving to a suburb on the outskirts of this town. I am very happy with my present doctor but am thinking of changing to someone nearer who could come to my house more quickly in an emergency.

"Would it be ethical for me to explain the situation to my present doctor and ask for my children's medical records so that my new doctor would have complete information on file?"

Answer: It is more or less expected, therefore ethical, that you explain to your present doctor why you feel it necessary to make a change, and either ask him for the name of a pediatrician in your new neighborhood or at least for his opinion of the person you have more or less chosen. Having done this you may then ask if he would be kind enough to send the children's records to the new doctor.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I've been asked to serve as a proxy godparent at the christening of a friend's baby. The real godmother is at present a continent away. Please tell me just what my duties are about (1) giving the baby a present and (2) responsibilities of godparent."

Answer: (1) You may give a gift but only if you would anyhow and not because of serving at the baptism. (2) None except the immediate one of being present at the services, holding the baby and making the responses in the name of the real godmother.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We are letting a friend use our club for several weeks. Are we responsible in any way for his bills?"

Answer: A guest is supposed to arrange to take care of any charges he runs up upon leaving. Of course if he doesn't, then it is your definite responsibility to see that the bill is paid.

'Junior' Gains Offical Status; Takes on Fire Inspector Duties

Dad might soon find himself repairing a frayed lamp cord and Mom told to unplug the iron when not using it, at the insistence of "Junior."

Not that "Junior" is attempting to take over the house, but because he has taken the oath of the Pontiac Junior Fire Inspectors "to do my best to help save life, and protect property from loss due to fire."

"Ninety per cent of home fires are caused by human carelessness," declared Pontiac Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz, who along with his assistant, Allen J. Tunny, has started a Pontiac Junior Fire Marshals program.

PRIMARY GOAL SET

"The primary goal of the program is to get the principal of fire safety into homes," Metz said.

The program, when it reaches its maximum strength, will include 1,500 sixth graders from all Pontiac public schools and from St. Frederick and St. Michael parochial schools.

"At that age," Metz said, "the kids, both girls and boys, are capable of understanding our official manual and are at the point where they can begin to understand the importance of fire safety."

SPONSORS LISTED

The sponsors of this new program, which originated in Boston seven years ago, are The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Motor Division, General Motors Truck & Coach Division, Board of Education, and the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Pontiac is only the second Michigan city to adopt this type of program, Metz said. Flint was the first.

MADE JUNIOR INSPECTORS

The rest of the children, if they successfully pass a three-point training program, are made Junior Inspectors. They receive badges produced by the GMC Truck & Coach Division.

The program begins when the children take a message to their parents. This explains the purpose and asks for their cooperation.

"Number one duty for the kids is to clip out of a newspaper for two weeks all stories pertaining to fire losses," Metz said. "This will show them just how many lives and the amount of property lost each year due to fire."

ROOKIE GOES TO WORK

Then the "rookie" inspector is given a 42-page manual to study. In it is a pictorial description of fire prevention.

The second step is for the student to pass a written exam based on this manual. The home room teacher gives this test.

It's the third step where Mom and Dad might find their children pointing out certain fire hazards in the home. They must inspect their home and fill out a blank declaring that these hazards, if they exist, have been corrected.

"Then they are eligible to get their badge," the marshal explained.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM

"These kids are wildly enthusiastic about this," he said. "And I think it will show a substantial decrease in the number of home fires."

Thrasher 'Just Township Gravedigger'

After nearly a quarter of a century as sexton for Waterford Township, Louie Thrasher, 55, still retains the sense of humor for which he is noted.

★ ★ ★

Despite his offical title, Superintendent of Cemetery Parks and Boulevards, Thrasher still views himself as just the "township grave digger."

A resident of Waterford township for some 40 years, he has held his position for 23 years through a succession of Republican and Democratic administrations.

★ ★ ★

"It just doesn't pay to get buried in politics," he says.

Gravedigging, despite common belief, requires a bit of skill and Thrasher learned his trade from his father, Dean, who was township sexton and justice of the peace at the same time.

He recalls his father saying many times, "I marry 'em and I bury 'em."

USED HAND MOWERS

The father and son team would "patch-mow" graves in the old days with hand mowers, shears, sickles and scythes.

"If a person provided an endowment fund for grave servicing after burial, we took care of it," he recalls. "But if they didn't, it was up to their family or nature to look after the grave."

Today, the mechanistic age has invaded even the serene precincts of the cemetery. Equipped with large and small power mowers and electric trimmers, Thrasher and his crew of three keep the grounds immaculate, especially around the headstones.

DIGGING STILL BY HAND

But one thing hasn't changed, Thrasher declares, and that is grave digging.

★ ★ ★

It is still a hand operation.

"If we let big, heavy digging equipment into a cemetery," he explains, "it just tears up the landscape and makes more work than ever."

Thrasher's hobby is checking dates on old headstones. He has discovered that the oldest recognizable grave in the township is dated 1814. It is located in the Four Towns Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

The cemeteries have to be cleaned up, grass trimmed, and fences mended in preparation for the holiday visitors.

Thrasher has duties other than carrying for cemeteries. He looks after 19 different township areas, including parks, water towers, pumping stations, parking lots and the Township hall.

★ ★ ★

But above all, the cemeteries are his interest, and Thrasher has provided himself and his family with an important asset — a family burial plot in the Drayton Plains Cemetery.

Carl Sandburg Marks Birthday

Lincoln Biographer and Poet, 80, Comments on Life and Death

FLAT ROCK, N. C. (AP)—Lincoln biographer and poet Carl Sandburg today observed his 80th birthday at his farm home here amid not-too-serious thoughts on the nature of life and death.

★ ★ ★

"Age is all relative," he told a newsman last week rgarding his approaching anniversary. "I've got a younger heart than most of the poets. Three-fourths of the poets we have nowadays were born old."

★ ★ ★

He predicted waggishly that he will live to be 88 years old, maybe 99. "It's inevitable, it's inexorable, it's written in the book of fate," he said, "that I die at an age divisible by 11." He pointed out that two of his great-grandfathers and one of his grandfathers died at ages divisible by 11.

★ ★ ★

The white-haired author, who has produced more than 1,000 poems and several books, said it seems to him very curious that people inquire about his wellbeing only when another birthday is coming.

★ ★ ★

"They don't give a damn about your health on the Fourth of July," he observed.

Currently, said Sandburg, he is rereading the Lincoln-Douglas debates, which took place 100 years ago, and writing a foreword for a book by Harry Golden of Charlotte, editor of the Carolina Israelite.

★ ★ ★

Early this month he will be given a testimonial dinner at the University of Illinois, where a "Sandburg Room" has been established at the university library, and on Jan. 20 will receive a gold medal award from a Phi Beta Kappa group in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

'Hi, Government,' Quips Four-Year-Old

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—"Hi, government," said the four-year-old visitor as he shook hands with Gov. Knight.

★ ★ ★

The occasion was the annual open house at the governor's mansion yesterday, and the boy was one of some 7,000 members who waited in line on a damp, chilly afternoon to greet Gov. and Mrs. Goodwin Knight.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Court Clerk Heads Host of Activities

Handles Over $1 Million in '57

Under the deceiving title Clerk of the Court, Leo McDonald, of 37 Omar St., handles funds which in 1957 amounted to well over $1 million.

McDonald, twice a grandfather, busily supervises a host of court activities aided by a staff of six women.

Though he will earn but $6,695 this year, last year alone $1,077,775 in personal receivership checks, plus $116,999 in fines, court fees and probation costs passed through his office.

McDonald, a native of Cortland, N. Y., settled in Pontiac in 1919 where his brother-in-law was a foreman for American Forge and Socket Co.

TOOK TWO JOBS

He also had a tie with the city through his brother now deceased, who was a body finisher for the old Murphy Buggy Works, ancestor of Oakland Motor Car Co. which later became Pontiac Motor Division.

McDonald worked for American Forge and Fisher Body before his appointment as court clerk in charge of the civil division of the then justice of the peace courts 32 years ago.

With the resignation of the criminal division clerk in 1948, McDonald took over both jobs. His background included two and a half years of accounting training.

In 1953 he saw the justice courts give way to a municipal court which brought increasing business to the clerk.

★ ★ ★

With the post-World War II boom on population and employment, a phase of court activity that had not amounted to much suddenly began to expand.

Persons who had overextended themselves financially, largely through consumer credit, began to go into voluntary receiverships to pay their debts.

"It works this way," McDonald explained. "If you owe more than you can pay, you can come to the court and make an agreement under which we collect your paycheck, give you 60 per cent to live on and divide the remaining 40 per cent among your creditors."

"Since 1950," he continued, "the number of such receiverships has increased more than 1,000 per cent. We have 525 cases active now."

The total of paychecks assigned to the court last year was $1,077,775, he disclosed. The court's fees on these amounted to $19,385.

In addition, the clerk said, he has seen a 40 per cent boost in civil cases brought before the two municipal judges and a one-third jump in criminal cases.

★ ★ ★

These increases are largely due to the growth of population in Pontiac, McDonald said.

In 1957, the court took in $39,780 from 13,247 civil cases and $52,117 from 1,495 criminal cases (city ordinance violations) in fines and fees, he stated.

In addition the court also arraigned and examined 564 persons charged with state law violations. Many of these are bound over to circuit court for trial.

TICKETS MAJOR ITEM

Another major item was the 3,873 traffic tickets brought to trial.

Leo McDonald, the man who handles these large amounts, is dedicated to his job. Enjoying the work and anxious to maintain top court efficiency, he recently toured other courts with Judge Cecil B. McCallum. He proudly reports, "We are as well or better organized than any other court we saw."

"Speedy trial is assured everyone, as we are well caught up. The only delay we have nowadays is when an attorney asks for one because of other business."

"I think my job is one of the best there is—much more interesting than in circuit court where it all gets cut and dried," McDonald said.

Held in Fatal Stabbing After Hotel Argument

COVERT (AP) — A South Haven man was held today for questioning in the fatal stabbing yesterday of Clarence S. Ransom, 52, owner of the Star Hotel here.

State Police arrested Willie Partee, 28, after he told them the stabbing climaxed an argument in which Ransom had attempted to eject Partee's brother Jerry from the hotel's bar.

Retailers Show Business Doubt

Dry Goods Convention Speaker Sees Quick Recovery, Sales Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—A note of uncertainty about the outlook for business in the first half of 1958 marks the opening today of the National Retail Dry Goods Assn. convention. But one of the principal speakers foresees quick recovery followed by expanding sales.

"I should like to reiterate my conviction that the present rolling business adjustment, manifested in part by a moderate decline in store sales, will probably run its course in 1958, and should be followed during the next 10 years by an irregular expansion in store sales comparable to that of the past 10," Carter said in a prepared address.

More than 5,000 retail executives, representing 2,300 stores, were here for the four-day convention. A 52-man delegation from Canada also was registered.

G. Gordon Dakins, executive vice president of the NRDGA, said registration for the sessions, and the sale of exhibit space, was the highest in years. He attributed this in part to "uncertainty of business conditions."

Montgomery Clerks Strike in Some Stores

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clerks in a number of Montgomery Ward & Co. retail stores went out on strike today across the nation.

The Retail Clerks International Assn. said possibly a dozen stores were struck this morning and the number would be increased gradually as the walkout progressed. The union would not give a list of affected stores immediately.

The dispute is over negotiation of a new contract, with wage rates, hours and the union shop the key issues.

While only a few of Montgomery Ward stores were struck, a union spokesman here said all company stores are being subjected to "informational picketing."

Federal Aid for Schools Deemed Essential Now

By W. JOYNES MacFARLAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—World War I gave impetus 41 years ago to establishment of the federal-state vocational education system to improve the nation's military, industrial and economic preparedness.

Now Russian scientific achievements are giving impetus to a basic four-year federal aid to education program aimed at eliminating scholastic weaknesses, with emphasis on science and mathematics. The new four-year plan was outlined by Eisenhower administration officials last week.

FOUR YEAR PLAN

A major difference between the Smith-Hughes Act of 1917—which has resulted in a successful nationwide vocational education system—and the currently proposed program is that the earlier plan was long-range in concept from the beginning. The present proposal is basically a plan for only four years.

BILLION DOLLAR TOTAL

★ ★ ★

A major part of the new program would give the states more than 100 billion dollars a year, to be matched dollar-for-dollar by the states or local communities, to improve teaching of science and math. Administration spokesmen say this would be operated under a plan similar to the vocational system.

VARIED PURPOSES

The states and communities could use the federal aid, matched with funds beyond those already being devoted to such purposes, to provide additional science and match teachers or rise the pay of such teachers, or to purchase materials and equipment.

DISCUSS STATES RIGHTS

The question of states rights is a factor in discussion of the administration's new program, which would take priority over the previously proposed school construction bill. Administration spokesmen say the measure will stimulate state action.

TO STIMULATE ACTION

Secretary of Welfare Folsom said in a memorandum to Eisenhower that the emergency education program had been developed "to help stimulate the state, local and private action necessary to meet the critical security needs." He added:

★ ★ ★

"As these national needs are more fully met through increased state, local and private action, federal support would no longer be needed. The program will therefore contain specific provision for its termination at the end of the fourth year, except for certain scholarship and fellowship activities which must be phased out gradually."

NEW LOOK NEEDED

Folsom has also said Russia's progress in education and in science demands a new look at the world of today in the interest of America's security.

Tin Cans Collect Funds for Collie, the 'Town Bum'

BARSTOW, Calif. (AP)—Tin cans in three stores are collecting funds to pay the hospital bill of the town bum—a black and white collie—who was run over by a hit-run driver.

★ ★ ★

The dog, Boots, has lived for years in the streets and alleys of Barstow's business district. Someone always buys his license and sees that he gets his rabies shots. He calls regularly at the back doors of restaurants for his meals.

★ ★ ★

Now the townspeople are rallying around to bail Boots out of an animal hospital, where he is recovering from two broken legs. The doctors say he'll be ready to resume his pandhandling ways in a few days.

DuPont Grants $33,000 to 5 Michigan Colleges

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The DuPont Co. has awarded $33,000 in grants to five Michigan colleges and universities.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan institutions were among 135 which received a total of $1,150,000 in grants as part of the firm's program of aid to education.

★ ★ ★

Michigan schools included Calvin College, Grand Rapids, $4,000; Hope College, Holland, $4,000; Kalamazoo College, $4,000; Michigan State University, about $3,500; and the University of Michigan, $17,500.

Humphrey Says Ike Rejected Adlai's Idea

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said last night that Adlai Stevenson did not attend the recent NATO Paris conference because the Eisenhower administration flatly rejected his proposals.

★ ★ ★

He told a Democratic dinner meeting that Stevenson's effort to contribute ideas to Republican foreign policy were rejected by the "intellectual arthritis of the State Department."

★ ★ ★

Stevenson, twice the unsuccessful Democratic nominee for president, accepted an invitation to serve as a State Department consultant during the drafting of NATO conference plans.

★ ★ ★

He declined to attend the conference, however, on grounds he would be without authority and thus might be placed in the position of supporting policies with which he disagreed. He said he agreed with most administration policies for revitalizing NATO but acknowledged there were "differences between us."

★ ★ ★

Considine Assesses America's National Strength

(Rarely in American history have warnings so dire been voiced about the peril to this country. Expert testimony about Russia's mounting military might, and U.S. weaknesses, has come in recent weeks from respected military, political and scientific leaders. It has been given before a key Senate committee, in interviews, in the reports of public commissions. Just how strong is Russia? Where do we lag behind? What are the areas of greatest danger to the U.S.? In the series of articles that starts today Bob Considine assesses the answers to these questions.)

By BOB CONSIDINE
International News Service

There was group opinion in the U.S. shortly before Pearl Harbor that the Navy could "sink the Jap fleet in an afternoon, and that might not be a bad idea."

There remains a similarly cheerful, stubborn group of Americans, including officials, who have adopted a comparable posture in the face of plain implications of Russia's new standing in the world. This underrating of a potential enemy, who possesses in a single H-bomb from its arsenal the destructive force of all the bombs dropped in World War II, persists in the face of the fact that Russia has served several blunt warnings.

Two of these warnings, the Sputniks, have been circling the earth many times daily at 18,000 miles an hour.

On land, the Red Army is the world's largest and, by all intelligence reports, equipped with the most modern means of conventional and nuclear weapons.

In diplomacy, the Kremlin recently solidified its command of the far-flung Communist nations, and exercised sufficient pressure on U.S. allies to make them react coldly to offers of missile aid within NATO.

Yet there are respected Americans who have contended, in the case of the symbolic Sputniks, that they are "baubles" (Charles E. Wilson), or "pieces of iron" (Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme commander, allied forces in Europe), or "just propaganda" (countless references).

Their followers, determined to regard all things Russian as unworkable and overly publicized, take vast comfort in the President's toast to Queen Elizabeth II to the effect that it would be "nonsensical" to suppose that western science and technology cannot best the Soviet Union's efforts.

They still attribute Russian gains in all fields, including education, somehow, to the achievements of "captured German scientists." They say, in effect, "the Russians aren't close to us in steel, housing, agriculture, consumer goods, cars . . ." And they are right in many particulars.

But where these people err, in the concerned opinion of the unhonored prophets dealth with here, is that they have an alarming ignorance of or indifference to the scope of the Soviet menace and, worse, little appetite to read and comprehend the presented evidence.

The grave question that confronts the U.S. and the free world in general is "Will they give us time?"

If the Russians strike now, and it must be assumed that they could with stunning force despite defense systems and the retaliatory power of SAC, the American survivors could not assert they were insufficiently warned. Here are a bare few of the stupefying statements which, often ignored, have come in recent weeks from competent sworn witnesses before Sen. Johnson's Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee and from other authorities:

"In my opinion the situation is such that the next two years will be perhaps the most crucial in this country's history. From the standpoint of national defense, we have about two years to save ourselves from destruction." —Senate Armed Services Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga)

"What has been the shield and defense of this country—polar wastelands to the north, our oceans—make us vulnerable and easy to approach. The Russians do not have to be sophisticated technically to have severe advantages in an exchange of nuclear weapons." —Dr. I. I. Rabi, Columbia University physicist, Adviser to the Atomic Energy Commission.

RUSSIANS MORE EFFECTIVE

"The U.S. started late in developing the ballistic missile. The Russians are well ahead because they kept up their research after the war. The Russians have been much more effective in all fields of technology, militarily, since the war . . . ten years from now the best scientists in the world will be fund in Russia." —Dr. Edward Teller, father of the H-bomb.

But by far the most dramatic warning of all is the beep, not the beef.

The Sputniks whirl around the world as a startingly constant reminder that America's days as a first class power are numbered unless it can radically alter or eliminate certain revered ways of life. Gargantuan effort and colossal expense could be involved.

If the Russians have in mind an attack on the U.S. before it can match Soviet progress and production in long, medium and short range missiles they have made the historic blunder of telegraphing a punch.

GRIM CONFIRMATION

The U.S.S.R.'s Sputniks are grim confirmation of earlier crowing that Russia's space conquerors of all degrees had combined to perfect a miraculously well-controlled ICBM. The rockets that lifted Sputnik I about 500 miles in the air, and dog-bearing Sputnik II to twice that height, had to perform (at 18,000 m.p.h.) with a variance of less than one per cent in aiming direction, or the experiments would have failed.

Where we failed to get a grapefruit-sized Sputnik more than three feet off the ground, in the humiliating Vanguard test, the Russians were able to put in orbit in Sputnik II an object the same weight and much the same size and shape of a Volkswagen.

Former Air Secretary Dan Kimball and others who spoke at the recent meeting of the American Rocket Society agreed that the U.S. fell behind the Russians in missiles largely because of fluctuating policies of the present and past administration, and the advanced epidemic state of bureaucracy that has developed in the Defence Department's policy-making organization. It was originally planned for 100 men. It has grown to 5,000. The volume of paperwork alone involved in even simple directives is imposing and exhausting.

Inter-service rivalries and shortage of scientists and engineers had little or no bearing on U.S. retrogression, the American Rocket Society was told. It was a case, rather, of improper and inefficient use of the talent on hand, plus, as Kimball said, "the on again off again" policies.

TO TELL TRUTH

Much study is going into the business of telling the American public the precise truth about the threats to its security. The President was pictured by Washington correspondents as wanting the still-unpublished Gaither Report on preparedness withheld for a time because he feared that its impact, if dropped en toto on the public, might create panic and cause chaotic and slipshod counter-programs at a time when only level-headed, long-range planning apparently will suffice.

The Suez canal is about 100 miles in length. It was opened in 1869.

Wants Sand in Skies to Guard Against ICBM

TORONTO (AP)—The best defense against the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile, says retired Air Vice Marshal J. L. Plant, would be a curtain of sand across the sky.

"The missile will burn itself out by friction as it flies through the sand," he told a news conference. "The problem is getting the sand into the sky."

Russia Approves Macmillan Pact

West Germany, Italy Appear Interested in East-West Agreement

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union today led off favorable European reaction to Prime Minister Macmillan's proposal for an East-West nonagression pact. West Germany and Italy appeared the most interested and no government rejected it outright.

Moscow radio pointed out that the idea was really a Russian one and said Macmillan had been pressured into backing it by "the aspirations of his people."

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, noted with approval that "the British government intends to continue to seek an agreement with the Russians."

One commonwealth leader, Prime Minister John Diefenbaker of Canada, said an East-West nonagression pact "could add greatly to the prospects for peace," although it probably would not add much to the peace pledges involved in the United Nations.

The general impression was that favorable response in Europe and NATO countries would counteract the unfavorable U.S. reaction.

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Adenauer said he had a good impression of Macmillan's proposals.

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer celebrated his 82nd birthday yesterday with five hours of handshaking. The West German government chief received congratulations at a reception from a host of foreign and West German government officials and many private citizens.

THE STORY SO FAR: A blind in a train passing hers snaps up and respectable Mrs. McGillicuddy, on a prosaic trip to visit her friend Miss Marple, fluttery old lady with a shrewd brain and a gift for solving crimes, sees a man strangling a woman. When she tells the conductor he puts it down to her imagination. Only Miss Marple believes her. They report to the police who advise next day that no body had been found and no hospital administered treatment to a woman such as described. Miss Marple asks Mrs. McGillicuddy to go with her to London and return by the train she traveled on the other day, but no train drew level with them. Miss Marple obtains a large scale map of the particular area.

INSTALLMENT IV

"Dear Aunt Jane. Now what are you up to? I've got the information you wanted. There are only two trains that can possibly apply —the 4:33 and the 5 o'clock. The former is a slow train and stops at Haling Broadway, Barwell Heath, Brackhampton and then stations to Market Basing. The 5 o'clock is the Welsh express for Cardiff, Newport and Swansea. The former might be overtaken somewhere by the 4:45, although it is due in Brackhampton five minutes earlier and the latter passes the 4:54 just before Brackhampton.

* * *

In all this do I smell some village scandal of a fruity character? Did you, returning from a shopping spree in town by the 4:54, observe in a passing train the Mayor's wife being embraced by the Sanitary Inspector? But why does it matter which train it was? A weekend at Porthcawl, perhaps? Thank you for the pull-over. Just what I wanted.

How's the garden? Not very active this time of year, I should imagine.

David."

Miss Marple smiled a little, then considered the information thus presented to her. Mrs. McGillicuddy had said definitely that the carriage had not been a corridor one. Therefore—not the Swansea express. The 4:33 was indicated.

Also some more traveling seemed unavoidable. Miss Marple sighed, but made her plans.

GOES TO LONDON

She went up to London as before on the 12:15, but this time returned not by the 4:54 but by the 4:33 as far as Brackhampton. The journey was uneventful, but she registered certain details. The train was not crowded—4:33 was before the evening rush hour. Of the 1st class carriages only one had an occupant—a very old gentleman reading the New Statesman.

* * *

Miss Marple traveled in an empty compartment and at the two stops, Haling Broadway and Barwell Heath leaned out of the window to observe passengers entering and leaving the train. A small number of third class passengers got in at Haling Broadway. At Barwell Heath several third class passengers got out. Nobody entered or left in a first class carriage except the old gentleman carrying his New Statesman.

As the train neared Brackhampton, sweeping around a curve of line, Miss Marple rose to her feet and stood experimentally with her back to the window over which she had drawn down the blind.

Yes, she decided, the impetus of the sudden curving of the line and the slackening of speed did throw one off one's balance back against the window and the blind might, in consequences, very easily fly up. She peered out into the night. It was lighter than it had been when Mrs. McGillicuddy had made the same journey—only just dark, but there was little to see. For observation she must make a daylight journey.

TAKES EARLY TRAIN

On the next day she went up by the early morning train, purchased four linen pillow cases (tut-tutting at the price!) so as to combine investigation with the provision of household necessities, and returned by a train leaving Paddington at 12:15. Again she was alone in a first class carriage. "This taxation," thought Miss Marple, "that's what it is. No one can afford to travel first class except business men in the rush hours. I suppose because they can charge it to expenses."

Lucy Eyelesbarrow was unbelievably competent in every conceivable way.

About a quarter of an hour before the train was due at Brackhampton, Miss Marple got out the map with which Leonard had supplied her and began to observe the countryside.

She had studied the map very carefully beforehand, and after noting the name of a station they passed through, she was soon able to identify where she was just as the train began to slacken for a curve. It was a very considerable curve indeed. Miss Marple, her nose glued to the window, studied the ground beneath her (the train was running on a fairly high embankment) with close attention. She divided her attention between the country outside and her map until the train finally ran into Brackhampton.

That night she wrote and posted a letter addressed to Miss Florence Hill, 4 Madison Road, Brackhampton . . . On the following morning, going to the County library, she studied a Brackhampton Directory and Gazeteer, and a County history.

Nothing so far had contradicted the very faint and sketchy idea that had come to her. What she had imagained was possible. She would go no further than that.

But the next step involved action—a good deal of action—the kind of action for which she, herself, was physically unfit. If her theory were to be definitely proved or disproved, she must at this point have help from some other person. The question was—who? Miss Marple reviewed various names and possibilities rejecting them all with a vexed shake of the head. The intelligent people on whose intelligence she could rely, were all far too busy. Not only had they all got jobs of varying importance, their leisure hours were usually opportioned long beforehand. The unintelligent who had time on their hands, were simply, Miss Marple decided, no good.

She pondered in growing vexation and perplexity.

Then suddenly her forehead cleared. She ejaculated aloud a name.

"Of course!" said Miss Marple. "Lucy Eyelesbarrow!"

The name of Lucy Eyelesbarrow had already made itself felt in certain circles.

Lucy Eyelesbarrow was 32. She had taken a First in Mathematics at Oxford, was acknowledged to have a brilliant mind and was confidently expected to take up a distinguished Academic career.

COMMON SENSE

But Lucy Eyelesbarrow, in addition to scholarly brilliance, had a core of good sound common sense. She could not fail to observe that a life of Academic distinction was singularly ill rewarded. She had no desire whatever to teach and she took pleasure in contacts with minds less brilliant than her own. In short, she had a taste for people, all sorts of people—and not the same people the whole time. She also, quite frankly, liked money. To gain money one must exploit shortage.

Lucy Eyelesbarrow hit at once upon a very serious shortage—the shortage of any kind of skilled domestic labor. To the amazement of her friends and fellow scholars, Lucy Eyelesbarrow entered the field of domestic labor.

Her success was immediate and assured. By now, after a lapse of some years, she was known all over the British Isles. It was quite customary for wives to say joyfully to husbands, "It will be all right. I can go with you to the States. I've got Lucy Eyelesbarrow!" The point of Lucy Eyelesbarrow was that once she came into a house, all worry anxiety and hard work went out of it. Lucy Eyelesbarrow did everything, saw to everything, arranged everything. She was unbelievably competent in every conceivable sphere.

She looked after elderly parents, accepted the care of young children, nursed the sickly, cooked divinely, got on well with any old crusted servants there might happen to be (there usually weren't) was tactful with impossible people, soothed habitual drunkards, was wonderful with dogs. Best of all she never minded what she did. She scrubbed the kitchen floor, dug in the garden, cleaned up dog messes, and carried coals!

One of her rules was never to accept an engagement for any long length of time. A fortnight was her usual period—a month at most under exceptional circumstances. For that fortnight you had to pay the earth! But, during that fortnight, your life was heaven. You could relax completely, go abroad, stay at home, do as you pleased, secure that all was going well on the home front in Lucy Eyelesbarrow's capable hands.

Naturally the demand for her services was enormous. She could have booked herself up if she chose for about thre years ahead.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain, Stops Itching as it Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

ON THE COURT — Whether on the basketball court or on hockey ice, no one can say Detroit teams aren't fighters. Slater Martin (22) of the St. Louis Hawks is held back by coach Alex Hannum in a fight which broke out with Sweetwater Clifton (back to camera) of the Pistons. Jack Coleman of St. Louis tries to pull back Clifton in their game in St. Louis yesterday, which Detroit lost, 95-93.

ON THE ICE — A few blows were exchanged when Dick Duff (17) of Toronto and Forbes Kennedy of the Red Wings crashed each other last night at the Detroit Olympia. The fight took place in the first period of the game which the Wings won, 3-2.

Brawl Features Sunday Loss at St. Louis

Pistons Split Weekend Pair

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Detroit Pistons may not be winning many games under their new coach but nobody can say they're not fighting.

Their spirit erupted into a near brawl in the third quarter before they dropped a 95-93 decision to the first-place St. Louis Hawks yesterday.

In other Sunday games, Cincinnati edged New York 101-100. Syracuse won its 2nd straight of the weekend beating Philadelphia 111-96 and Boston retained a 5½ game Eastern Division lead by tripping Minneapolis 113-100.

The fight at St. Louis started in a scramble between Detroit's George Yardley and the Hawks' Jack McMahon. Both benches emptied as players streamed out to throw punches.

★ ★ ★

When order was restored with police help, referee Mendy Rudolph ejected Charley Share of St. Louis and Joe Holup of Detroit.

The Hawks held a 54-40 lead at the halftime and staved off a determined Detroit rally in the last two periods to save the victory.

Rocha, who took over after Charley Eckman's resignation last month, said after the Saturday game that he had seen nothing but "100 per cent effort" from the Pistons since he became their coach.

"It's hard for a losing basketball team to keep from getting a losers' complex," said the lanky Rocha, "but this team has got nothing of the sort."

The Pistons are in third place in the four-team western division of the National Basketball Assn. They have won 13 and lost 21.

Court fighters Holup and Share and some of the other players who joined in the brawl are facing possible punishment today by NBA president Maurice Podoloff.

Hawk Bob Petit, playing with a heavy cast protecting a fractured bone in one hand, paced the scorers with 26 points. Yardley, the loop scoring ace, was held to 11. St. Louis tops the Western Division by nine games.

Maurice Stokes tallied 20 of his 27 points in the last half to spark Cincinnati with Clyde Lovelette adding 25. Ray Felix hooped 23 in defeat.

★ ★ ★

Detroit Sextet Shows New Life in 3-2 Victory

Squad Hustles Even in 2-1 Loss Saturday to Montreal

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings made Sid Abel's home debut as their coach a successful one last night by staging one of their most spirited performances of the season.

They beat down one challenge after another and edged the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2, taking over sole possession of fourth place in the National Hockey League in the process.

Three players who worked alongside Abel during his Detroit playing days — Johnny Wilson, Red Kelly and Gordie Howe — scored the goals. Wilson's first period goal was his first before the home folks and there were 10,026 of them on hand for Abel's opening night.

Showing new life and new hustle, the Red Wings had one of their best shooting nights, sending 40 shots at Toronto goalie Ed Chadwick and holding the Leafs to 23. One of the Detroit goals, a second-period sneak goal by Kelly, came when the Red Wings were shorthanded because of a penalty. The first Toronto goal came when the Detroiters were two men short.

"These fellows have hustled 100 per cent the last two nights," said Abel, speaking of the 2-1 loss in Montreal on Saturday night and then last night's triumph. "You can't ask for more than that."

The contest was action-packed and featured a first period fight between Dick Duff of the Leafs and Detroit's Forbes Kennedy. They tangled in front of the Toronto bench and were perfectly willing to continue it for quite some time after officials got them separated. Each drew a major penalty.

Two Detroit defensemen, Al Arbour and Marcel Pronovost, went off for hooking and holding midway through the first period. Twenty-seven seconds after the second infraction Brian Cullen scored for the Leafs when he deflected George Armstrong's blast from the point.

Kelly put the Wings ahead at the 13:09 mark of the second period. With the Wings shorthanded because of Kennedy's interference penalty, Kelly and Howe rushed the Leaf nets but Barry Cullen got the puck in the scramble around the nets. Kelly took it away from him at the corner and flicked it past Chadwick.

Four minutes later Tod Sloan scored for Toronto after a wild scramble in Detroit ice. Less than two minutes later Howe got the tie-breaker.

★ ★ ★

Norm Ullman worked the puck loose from a jam-up near the Leaf goal and Howe slapped in a 15-foot backhander that Chadwick never saw.

Howe came out of the contest with sore ribs and a Charley horse in each leg. Previously he had an injured wrist.

The bigger label is justified in the fact that for years this biggest of all skeet shoots had attracted expert shotgunners from many countries . . . like the fine team sent to OCSC in 1955 from Puerto Rico, whose leader won the high-overall crown.

Lions' Coaches Considered for Card Grid Post

CHICAGO (INS)—Buster Ramsey and Red Cochran, assistant Detroit Lion football coaches, reportedly today had the inside track for landing the head coaching job with the Chicago Cardinals.

Plan 21 Night Games on Tiger Home Slate

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers will play 21 night games at Briggs Stadium in the 1958 season —the same number as last season.

The Tigers also have announced a new ticket policy and a uniform starting time for their 77 home games in 1958.

Afternoon games will start at 1:15 p.m. and all night games will start at 8:15 p.m.

Doubleheaders are scheduled for Memorial Day, May 30, with Chicago; Sunday May 25, Washington; Sunday Sept. 14, Boston.

In addition to the four night games with the Yankees the Tigers will meet Cleveland twice. All other clubs will play the usual three night games at Briggs Stadium.

Detroit, for the first time, is making reserved seats available on a season basis. Season reserved seats are pegged at $148.

Ticket prices remain at $3.00 for box seats, $2.00 for reserved seats, $1.25 for general admission and 75 cents for bleachers.

Texas Leaguers Try to Solve Dallas Problem

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas League will meet Thursday and try to solve the Dallas problem and a host of other headaches.

Dallas turned its franchise back to the Texas League last week because it was denied permission to try for a berth in a league of higher classification.

A club must be placed here before the season starts or it will become open territory. That probably would result in what the former Dallas owners — the Burnett interests — want, a league of higher classification moving in.

Warner Lewis, who was general manager of the Dallas club, applied to the Triple A American Assn. for membership Saturday.

'Ray-less' Pontiac Central in Action Here

Chiefs Play Ford 5 Tuesday

By BILL CORNWELL

Pontiac Central's Harrison Munson will face the greatest challenge of his high school basketball career Tuesday night.

Munson, who has seen considerable cage action for the Chiefs but rarely as a starter, will have a big pair of shoes to fill, both literally and figuratively.

The 6-foot-3 junior will get the starting call at center tomorrow evening when the Chiefs tangle with Dearborn Edsel Ford in the Pontiac Central gymnasium.

He will be replacing giant Hudson Ray, Pontiac's 6-foot-6 all-state candidate who was dropped from the squad by coach Art Van Ryzin last week for disciplinary reasons.

Suffice it to say, Munson's task will not be an easy one, but Van Ryzin will have a chance to study his work against non-league competition before the Chiefs renew defense of their Saginaw Valley Conference title here Friday with Bay City.

If Munson falters, 6-foot-5 Roosevelt Alexander is waiting in the wings to take his place.

Forwards Dick Whitmer and Jim Skinner and guards Jerry Williams and Charley Barge will join Munson to round out Central's starting lineup for the 8 o'clock tipoff.

This will be Pontiac's 3rd meeting with Edsel Ford and the Thunderbirds, coached by Bill Kilpatrick, are still looking for their 1st victory over the Chiefs.

The Ford quintet, a member of the Huron-Rouge Conference, opened its league campaign last Friday with a 55-49 triumph over Lincoln Park to share 1st place with Dearborn High.

Kilpatrick's cagers have an overall record of 3-2. Prior to the Lincoln Park win they defeated Ecorse 47-43 and Taylor Center 57-45, while losing to Ann Arbor 65-47 and Melvindale 46-40.

Forward Gary Joachim is the Thunderbirds' only returning starter this season. Joachim was the team's 5th best scorer during the 1956-57 slate.

The Thunderbirds have capable reserves, including 6-4 Bob Young, 6-2 Don Camen and a pair of transfer students, Bob Rankin from Detroit Western and Dave Walters from Milwaukee, Wis.

Pontiac will be gunning for its 3rd victory in four starts. The Chiefs own decisions over Detroit Catholic Central and Saginaw Arthur Hill and a loss to Flint Central, their last game before the holidays.

MOVES UP — Harrison Munson, 6-foot-3 junior, will start at center in place of the suspended Hudson Ray for Pontiac Central tomorrow night when the Chiefs meet Dearborn Edsel Ford at 8 o'clock in the Pontiac Central gymnasium.

Two Teams Unbeaten in Hockey Tourney

Auburn Heights Boys Club and the Walled Lake Wings came through unscathed in opening rounds of the annual Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department Junior Hockey Tournament held Saturday and Sunday at the North Side ice skating rink.

Goalie Larry Burch turned in a shutout yesterday as Walled Lake blanked Dean's Hardware, 3-0. Chuck Narek scored two goals, one the margin of victory in sudden death overtime, as Auburn defeated the Sport Shop, 3-2.

In Saturday's games, Kenny Kendall scored twice to lead the Sport Shop to a 4-1 triumph over the White Lake Flyers and Dean's gained a forfeit decision from Rogers Triggers.

Unique Record for N.Y. Goalie

Paille Victim of Two Losses as Result of Hot, Cold Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Marcel Paille is the most talked-about player in the National Hockey League today but the 27-year-old New York Rangers' goal tender would prefer that he wasn't the subject of conversation.

★ ★ ★

There are no comparative performances in the record books but here's what happened to Paille in two weekend games:

With the Rangers leading 4-1 in a nationally televised game Saturday against Boston, Marcel saw the puck fly past him six times in the last 7½ minutes for a 7-4 Bruin victory.

Then Sunday he checked the league-leading Montreal Canadiens for the first 11 minutes and two seconds. But within the next seven minutes and 55 seconds, the Canadiens whipped the puck into the net four times.

★ ★ ★

Paille shut them out the remainder of the way but the Rangers could do nothing against Jacques Plante and Montreal won 4-0 to increase their lead over the New Yorkers to 16 points.

Tech Skaters Lose Twice

North Dakota took a 3-2 decision Saturday night after routing Tech 9-1 Friday night. Joe Poole scored a pair of goals in leading North Dakota to the Saturday win.

GOOD TRY — It was a good try by Ron Sobie of the New York Knickerbockers as he tries to get around Don Meineke of the Cincinnati Royals, but he missed the shot. In the background hardly noticeable with the white jersey is Guy Sparrow of the Knicks. The Royals won, 101-100.

GOOD YEAR FOR JIM BUNNING

Bunning Happy With '57

Looking at Tiger Stars During the Off-Season

(First in a series of articles about Detroit Tiger baseball players, their off-season activities and their outlook for the 1958 season.)

DETROIT (AP) — "The year 1957 was good to me, I hated to see it end," said Jim Bunning.

Interviewed from his Kentucky home, the ace of the Detroit Tiger pitching staff called the year just over "the best of my life."

It found Bunning coming on in surprising fashion as one of the big leagues' most effective hurlers, got him a salary increase and a good off-season job with a Cincinnati insurance firm.

Bunning passed up winter ball for the first time in three years.

"I'll tell you in April if the layoff hurt me," said the tall right-hander.

★ ★ ★

"I'll weigh about 190 to 195 when spring training starts" said Bunning, who scaled only 180 when the 1957 season closed. "I've been working out at the Xavier fieldhouse and taking some exercises."

"We had a wonderful Christmas and then on New Year's eve we had a family gathering—we all had so much to be thankful for over the past year. For myself, I hated to see the year come to an end. Everything seemed to break just right for us . . . it was the best of my life."

Bunning steers clear of any prediction about 1958.

"Everyone knows a guy has to be lucky to win 20 games. I hope I have some luck next season. I know our club has strengthened itself in a lot of ways."

Athletic Heads Jam Philly for NCAA Sessions

Coaching Positions Big Item as 2,000 Gather for Convention

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The rumor machines stirred up a lot of froth today as college football coaches and athletic directors, nearly 2,000 strong, jammed into Philadelphia for the main portions of their annual conventions.

Hotel lobby conversation was concerned mainly with what football coaches may land the choicest jobs available—those at Texas A&M and Stanford.

A half dozen or so other head coaching positions are open, but they aren't considered as desirable.

The names heard most often are those of Cactus Jack Curtice, the colorful Utah coach, who recently led the West team to a surprise victory in the Shrine East-West game at San Francisco, and Jim Myers, young Iowa State coach.

Myers, who has been at Iowa State for one season and was considered for the Arkansas job before Frank Broyles went there, was reported to have made an undercover visit to the A&M campus before flying to the meeting here today.

Both Myers and Dr. Chris Groneman, chairman of the A&M athletic council, also expected here later today, refused to comment on the report.

Curtice, according to other reports, could have his choice of either A&M or Stanford. He has been very cagey about admitting anything but is said to have told friends he isn't interested in just a head coaching job. He also is athletic director at Utah and wants to be top man wherever he goes.

★ ★ ★

Texas A&M offers such a dual role but Curtice, a Texan, just says they have heard all his jokes down there so he can't go back.

Another version is that Navy's Eddie Erdelatz was willing to talk to Texas A&M people but negotiations for an interview got fouled up. Other names mentioned as possibilities include Minnesota's Murray Warmath, Andy Pilney of Tulane and former Harvard Coach Lloyd Jordan.

Carroll Widdoes, who recently quit coaching at Ohio University to become full time athletic director, is looking over the field here but says he has no idea who the man will be to succeed him.

to business yesterday when the rules committee of the American Football Coaches Assn. drew up five recommendations to be presented to the national rules committee later this week. Most important was a liberalized substitution rule which would permit a player to return to the game once in each quarter whether or not he had started that period.

Meanwhile, NCAA officers continued their series of important committee meetings preliminary to the start of the convention sessions.

One report circulating in the crowded hotel lobbies was that the U. S. Naval Academy might be involved when the NCAA Committee on Infranctions reports to the NCAA Council today. It has been ruled that Navy and the other service academies did not violate NCAA regulations as now written in connection with their preparatory education and tutoring programs.

St. Fred, Holly Have Key Games

Prep Action Resumes

By CHUCK ABAIR

St. Frederick's 1st appearance of 1958 and a full slate of Wayne-Oakland League games feature a 21-game schedule as prep hoop action resumes for several area schools tomorrow night. Many others are idle until Friday.

The St. Fred home contest against undefeated Royal Oak St. Mary could be the big game of the 1st heavy program of the new year. The winner will be in a good position to go a long way in the Suburban Catholic League race.

Highlighting the W-O card will be Holly's invasion of Brighton as the unbeaten Broncos get their 1st real test. Clarkston, currently sharing the lead with Holly, hosts Clarenceville, Bloomfield Hills plays at Northville and Milford travels to West Bloomfield in other loop tussles.

Two other games are slated in the SCL besides the local tilt. Ferndale St. James will be guest of St. Benedict and St. Rita is at home against St. Clement in the pair.

Other league play is planned for Southern Thumb contingents. The schedule has Dryden at Capac, Brown City at Memphis and New Haven at Armada while 1st-place Almont goes outside the loop to meet South Central power Imlay City.

Two other non-league games packing considerable area interest will be at Lake Orion where the Dragons host Romeo and at Rochester where the Falcons entertain Davison.

The steady scoring of Tom Derocher and Nick Nickerson has made St. Fred a strong threat for loop honors despite an opening defeat by Orchard Lake in overtime.

Gene Wright's Rams have won two in a row since and could move up in the standings by handing St. Mary its 1st setback in three starts. They are now in a three-way tie for 3rd behind St. Benedict and Royal Oak.

Holly has breezed along through four opponents as Oakland County's best offensive team but could get some wind knocked out of its sails at Brighton. The Bears upset Northville and whipped Bloomfield Hills after dropping their opener at Clarkston.

Clarkston is 5-0 and should keep rolling at home. Clarenceville has lost two straight since beating Milford. Bloomfield Hills and Milford are still looking for that initial victory. Each has four losses.

The Romeo Bulldogs are hoping to hand newly married coach Bub Brotebeck a wedding gift by upsetting high-powered Orion. Romeo won two and lost three during December while Orion was 2-1.

Bartzen Winner in Dixie Tourney

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Top-seeded Bernard Bartzen of Dallas whipped Tony Vincent of Miami 6-0, 12-10, 6-1 yesterday to win the men's singles championship in the Dixie tennis tournament.

★ ★ ★

He then teamed with Sid Schwartz of New York to defeat Armando Vieira of Brazil and Reynaldo Garrido of Cuba, 6-4, 6-1, for the doubles title.

★ ★ ★

To Replace Richards

Chicago Cards Seek Coach

The Cardinals had a 4-7-1 record in 1955 when Richards took over from Joe Stydahar and then won seven of 12 games in 1956 and were tabbed likely title contenders for the 1957 campaign. However, the team fell apart after an opening 20-10 triumph over San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after Richards' resignation, Charley Trippi also called it quits as an assistant coach. Trippi, former Georgia and Cardinal star, had been rumored a possible successor if Richards decided to resign.

★ ★ ★

Walter Wolfner, managing director of the Cardinals who was in Miami Beach, Fla., said in a statement released here that he regretted Richards' decision.

Wolverines Seek 2nd Big Ten Win

ANN ARBOR, (AP) — University of Michigan basketball squad goes after its second Big Ten victory of the season tonight against Wisconsin.

Hawkeyes fell apart when their top scorer, Dave Gunther, fouled out with six minutes left. Previously Michigan resorted to set shots from the outside to snarl Iowa's defense. The Wolverines broke the game wide open by driving in for shots under the Iowa led 36-32 at half time as the Wolverines were slow to jell. Lee hit for five straight points shortly after the intermission to put Michigan ahead 43-40. Burton scored 21 points in the game.

25 Small College Games Tonight

Vacation Over for Cagers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A schedule of 25 games involving MIAA and Mid-American Conference members as well as state independents starts tonight (Monday) with Wayne State scheduled to play Central Michigan at Mt. Pleasant.

In Saturday night games, Albion pushed its MIAA record to 3-2 with a 76-66 victory over Hillsdale. Guard Virgil Hall collected 15 field goals to pace the Albion attack.

In a Mid-American Conference game at Kalamazoo, Marshall (W.Va.) took the lead with four minutes gone and pulled away steadily to hand Western Michigan an 86-69 loss. The victory pushed Marshall to a 6-3 record while Western Michigan is 3-6. Hal Greer scored 26 points for Marshall.

Brewer's 207 Leads at LA as Final Scramble Begins

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The men have been separated from the boys in the $35,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Brewer, who plays out of Cincinnati, climaxed a brilliant third round yesterday by dropping a 15-foot putt on the 18th hole as the sun cast long, deep shadows across the green lined with a good portion of the gallery crowd of some 20,000 fans.

A loud roar exploded when the ball plunked home, giving the husky young pro a brilliant 67 for the afternoon and 207 for 54 holes. His total was one stroke better than Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, who also turned in a 67.

E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, second round leader by two strokes, turned in a smooth par 71 over the 7,100-yard Rancho course and remained in striking distance with a 209 total.

Tied at 210 were Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., with a 68 yesterday and 22-year-old Tommy Jacobs of nearby Whittier with a 70.

Brewer, who wasn't yet born when the veteran Harrison began his professional career, has won about every amateur laurel in Kentucky. In 1949 he was the national junior champion. The lanky lad won pro honors in the pro-celebrity match preceding last year's L. A. Open, but is relatively unknown in professional play.

★ ★ ★

Stranahan, 35, a top amateur for years, has yet to win an open tournament as a pro. He put together a strong round yesterday, and but for a shot that went astray and landed in the crowd, would have tied Brewer for the lead.

The 47-year-old Harrison seemed to play a somewhat cautious game with his irons. And on the greens he failed to hole putts that would have meant birdies.

"And you got to get those birdies," said the wise Arkansas golfer.

'Y' Swimmers Lose at Lansing

The Pontiac YMCA's prep and junior swimming teams were dunked by Lansing's "Y" tankers Saturday in a dual meet at the Benny Davis Memorial Pool in Lansing. It was Pontiac's opening competition of the season.

Pontiac had four winners in the prep division while bowing, 37-36. Chuck Ries won the diving competition, Tom McKinnon took the 20-yard backstroke and the two relay teams triumphed.

Pontiac also had four winners in the junior division while dropping a 47-24 decision. Victors were Bill Borum in the 100-yard freestyle, Bob Butler in the 40-yard backstroke, Bruce Norvell in the 40-yard breaststroke and the 160-yard medley relay squad composed of Butler, Norvell, Borum and Shermire.

SUCCESS STORY — One of the best coaching records in southeastern Michigan prep circles is that of a modest, but extremely effective swimming mentor at Birmingham High. A history and economics teacher, Jay Myers (above) has set up, with his swimmers, a record of 85 dual wins against 15 losses, for a 9-year mark of .850 per cent. His teams have won 9 straight Eastern Michigan League dual and league championships. Tuesday the Maples shoot for their 8th straight dual meet win of the current season, against RO Kimball at Birmingham.

Irish Voted 'Comeback' Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Notre Dame, a team that won only two of 10 games in 1956 but rebounded to halt mighty Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak and post a 7-3 record for 1957, was voted the comeback team of the year today.

The annual year-end poll of the Associated Press gave coach Terry Brennan's Fighting Irish an overwhelming total of 105 first place ballots as Notre Dame beat out the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League.

In the nationwide balloting, 211 sportswriters and sportscasters cast ballots, and the 105 first for Notre Dame helped roll up a total of 423 points. A first place vote counted three points, with two for second, and one for third. Cleveland had 23 first and 131 points.

The Browns, who won only five and lost seven games in 1956 after six straight Eastern Division titles and three world championships, won their Conference crown this fall with a 9-2-1 record. In succeeding the world champion New York Giants, the Browns whipped the New York club twice and had clinched the title as early as Dec. 8.

Little southpaw Bobby Shantz, plagued with a bad arm and assorted injuries in recent years, received 11 first place votes and 99 points to take third place over Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox slugger who led the American League in hitting. Williams received 14 first, but only 81 points.

Shantz, who won 11 games and lost 5 for the New York Yankees after he was obtained from the Kansas City athletics, had the best earned run average in the American League, with 2.45.

Other teams and individuals sharing in the points were the St. Louis Cardinals, 66; Sugar Ray Robinson, 40; U. of Texas football team and Milwaukee Braves, each 31; Hank Sauer, 26; Roy Sievers, 18; San Francisco 49ers, 12; Notre Dame coach Terry Brennan, Stan Musial, Don Hoak, Baltimore Colts, and Auburn football team, each 11 and the Ohio State football team, 10.

Notre Dame's 1956 record was the worst since the Irish began football in 1887. The Irish managed to defeat only Indiana and North Carolina. The team, which had been voted the national championship eight times—the last in 1949—usually was among the top 10 of the land each season until 1956.

In contrast, Notre Dame in 1957 defeated Purdue, Indiana, Army and Pittsburgh before dropping two in a row to Navy and Michigan State.

Then the Irish did it on Nov. 16 at Norman, Okla. The Sooners, national champions in 1951, 1955 and 1956, were an 18-point favorite to defeat Notre Dame. In 1956 Oklahoma drubbed the Irish 40-0.

In the closing minutes, Notre Dame smashed 80 yards for the only touchdown of the game, Dick Lynch skirting his own right end for the final three. Monty Stickles, who beat Army with a field goal, converted and Notre Dame won 7-0. It was the first time Oklahoma had failed to score in 123 games, another national record smashed.

Iowa then defeated Notre Dame 21-13 the following week, but the Irish wound up the season by routing Southern California 40-12 and Southern Methodist 53-21. The finale was the biggest score rolled up by a Notre Dame team since its 1947 team whipped Tulane 59-6.

Spartans Work on Rebounding

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State, the nation's No. 8 ranked squad, went back to rebound work today after a disastrous Big Ten conference basketball opener with the Ohio State Buckeyes.

Sparked by Larry Huston, Ohio State, a doormat in pre-conference play, stopped the Spartans cold Saturday night at Columbus, Ohio, 70-56.

Ohio State picked off 45 rebounds to 38 for MSU. The Buckeye offense rolled to a 12-0 lead in the first four minutes of play, and jumped to a 41-22 halftime lead.

Buckeyes made good on 27 of 68 field goal attempts to Michigan State's 19 in 70.

Spartans Optimist Stars

Jewitt caught 12 passes—one of them for a touchdown—as a College All-Star team crushed the Tucson Cowboy professional team 56-28 in the bowl game.

Dave Kaiser, also of Michigan State, booted a 35-yard field goal for the All-Stars.

Pinch-Hitter Signed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers have signed first baseman Norm Larker, 27, who hit .323 for St. Paul of the American Assn. last season.

With the first base position sewed up by Gil Hodges, the Dodgers are counting on Larker as a pinch hitter. He is the 13th Dodger to sign.

Rote Sparks Hawaiian Win

HONOLULU (AP) — The Hawaii All-Stars, fortified with pros, took a 33-0 lead over their collegiate counterparts in the first quarter of the Hula Bowl game yesterday and won 53-34.

The five-touchdown passing of quarterback Tobin Rote of the Detroit Lions and the line-plunging of Joe Perry of the San Francisco 49ers proved too much for the All-America studded College All-Stars.

The 49er back caught an 8½-yard TD pass from Rote and ground out three more six-pointers on line plunges of 1, ⅓ and 7 yards.

The collegians finally came out of their doldrums in the third period after trailing 40-7.

Heisman Trophy winner John Crow of Texas A&M, who hung up the lone collegiate tally of the second quarter on an eight-yard run added two more in the third on a 12-yard drive and a 2½-yard plunge.

Michigan State's Walt Kowalczyk added TDs in the third and fourth stanzas on short plunges of one foot and one yard.

The pro-military combination representing Hawaii scored only twice in the second half—on Rote passes to cousin Kyle Rote of the New York Giants and to R. C. Owens of the 49ers.

Rote's other two TD passes went to Elroy Hirsch of the Los Angeles Rams.

Rote's passing earned him the Mayor Neal S. Blaisdell Cup as the outstanding back for the Hawaii eleven.

Sparkling Coaching Job

Myers Develops Fine Swim Teams

By H. GUY MOATS

Just 10 years ago a former prep and college diver got to thinking that Birmingham High School, then a Class B institution, should have a swimming team to go along with good football, basketball and track squads.

So Jay Myers, history and economics teacher, conferred with the Maples' athletic director, veteran Frank Whitney. Upshot of the confab was that Myers was named the Maples' first swimming coach. He's been at it ever since — the first and only Birmingham aquatic mentor.

★ ★ ★

How did the job turn out?

The modest Myers has developed a love for swimming competition among Maple youngsters. It has paid off in a remarkably successful manner.

During the nine years Maples have been swimming in the Eastern Michigan League, they have won nine straight league and league dual meet championships. They have set up a brilliant .850 winning average, with 85 dual victories against 15 losses (to date).

Birmingham has lost only three dual meets to league schools, won 60 in the 9-year period. Only three schools have beaten the Maples twice. These include Pontiac, Ypsilanti and Plymouth.

Birmingham's first meet, in 1948, was with Hazel Park, one month after starting practice. Maples finished 2nd that year in EML competition, behind Mt. Clemens. Myers had 20 boys on that first squad.

In the meantime Myers' pupils showed high ability, 15 of them winning places on the prep "All-America". In 1952 Maples (still in Class B) missed a state title to East Grand Rapids by one point. A 5th place in the state meet in Class A (in 1957) was the best, so far.

★ ★ ★

"If Tom Bechtel is OK, and Pete Sintz and Dave Smith develop as we expect them to, along with some others, we hope to do better at the state meet this year," says Myers.

"I marvel at how the performances of our swimmers can continue to improve so much, year after year because several years ago I thought they were doing incredible times," Jay observed.

Fire Damage, Deaths Up in '57

Blazes at Varnish and Furniture Companies Boost City Totals

Two serious fires late in the year boosted the 1957 damage and fatality count for the Pontiac Fire Department above totals for 1956.

The year-end department report showed damages to buildings and contents last year by fire were $364,350 compared with $140,300 for 1956.

The fire at the Pontiac Varnish Co. plant, Nov. 18, cost two lives, as compared with just a single fatality the year before. This blaze and the one at the Orchard Furniture and Appliance Co., 164 Orchard Lake Ave., were the major ones during the year.

During the past year firemen answered 1,624 alarms, compared with 1,425 in 1956. Of these, 354 were fires in buildings, 213 grass and brush, 14 rubbish, 2 in dumps, 82 miscellaneous, seven in house trailers and 89 in motor vehicles.

In all, 761 runs were to fires, as compared with 735 in 1956. There were also 492 rescue and emergency runs and 201 false alarms.

The false alarm total was of particular concern to Chief John Schroeder, who noted that only 113 had been turned in during 1956.

Other items on the reports showed 19 injuries by fire in 1957, the same as in 1956. The department also made 3,413 inspections for fire hazards, up over the 2,756 made the previous year.

Hollywood Headlines

Likes Role as Valentino in 20th's 'Blood and Sand'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Tanned almost to the point of looking like a native, Bob Evans is back from a holiday in Acapulco. He told me at Chasen's a few nights ago that he hoped he would get the Rudolph Valentino role in "Blood and Sand," Ibanez' famous novel. This was the picture that also brought Nita Naldi to fame and is owned by 20th Century-Fox.

"Will you make it for Darryl Zanuck?" I asked Bob.

He said, "No, I would make it for 20th, but I am under contract to Zanuck."

The girls in our party flipped over Evans and thought he was the best looking thing they'd ever seen.

Don't think Jerry Wald isn't having a tough time to get Papa Hemingway to part with the rights to "Across the River and Into the Trees." Hemingway feels he has a grievance against motion pictures. He only received $16,000 for "A Farewell to Arms," and $15,000 for "The Sun Also Rises," which Howard Hawks bought and then sold to 20th Century-Fox for $100,000. Moreover, he doesn't like what's being done with some of his books.

However, if Hemingway does sell "Across the River and Into the Trees," it will go to 20th Century-Fox for a Jerry Wald production. And if Jerry gets it, it will star Clark Gable, who has always been interested in this story.

Kim Novak slipped quietly into town Friday morning and went directly to her apartment. None of her boy friends met her at the train nor did she want to give any interviews.

She's due at Columbia tomorrow morning for wardrobe tests on "Bell, Book and Candle," which she is making with James Stewart. I am told Jack Lemmon isn't particularly pleased at having third billing in this since in "Ptttt," the first picture he made with Kim he was the star playing opposite Judy Holliday.

Handsome, unattached Antonio Munoz, Spanish banker, who came here with New York's rich bachelor Frank Ryan for the Tex Feldman dinner dance, is meeting all our glamor beauties.

He escorted May Britt to the party — Frank was Dorothy Malone's date. Today Munoz met Joan Weldon and Erin O'Brien at luncheon at the Warner studio where he was Richard Gully's guest.

California State Attorney "Pat" Brown, candidate on the Democratic ticket for governor, had dinner with William O'Connor, Nat Dumont, and a group of other businessmen at Chasen's.

They stopped at our table, at which there were five Republicans. Bill O'Connor also greeted Ann Miller, who was having dinner with Cobina Wright and her daughter, Cobina Jr.

Aldo Ray, who never could stand plain old milk, has gone on a cocoanut milk diet in Panama where he's working "In The Naked And The Dead."

Writer Charles Peck, currently working with Frank Loesser on a musical, was quietly married in Las Vegas last week to Mara McAffee, sister of auto racer Jack McAffee.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Grains Lower, Dealings Light

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures were mostly lower in light, mixed dealings on the board of trade today.

March wheat was up nearly a cent a bushel at the outset of trading on fair commission house demand, but the upturn attracted profit-taking and prices fell back to around previous levels.

The deferred contracts were off fractionally on continued outlook for a large crop this year.

Corn dipped fractionally on scattered selling by commission houses and cash interests. Industrial and export interests bought the nearby March deliveries. Corn receipts at Chicago today were 395 cars compared with 255 a week ago.

Rye futures followed the pattern of wheat. Soybeans were mostly higher at the start, influenced by higher opening prices for vegetable oils, but early gains were erased as selling increased.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ⅛ to 1 cent lower, March $2.21⅞; corn ⅜ to ⅞ lower, March $1.16⅛; oats ¼ to ½ lower, March 64⅞; rye ¼ to 1⅛ lower, March $1.30⅞; soybeans ¼ to ¾ lower; January, $2.24 and lard was unchanged to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, January $11.57.

Land Developer May Be Sued

Waterford Expected to Launch Action Against Gardner Tonight

Legal action against Mervin Gardner, developer of the Loraine Manor Subdivision, Waterford Township, will probably be started when the Township Board meets at 7:30 tonight.

According to Clerk James Seeterlin, Gardner has ignored repeated statements sent to him since December 1956 by the township regarding a bill for $620 for operation of the sewer treatment plant in his subdivision.

Other action at tonight's meeting will be the replacement or reappointment of four members to the township zoning board. Eight names have been presented for recommendation.

Residents in the Leggett Elementary School area have requested a traffic signal light be installed on Pontiac Lake road near the school, and this also will be considered by board members, Seeterlin said.

Other action scheduled is the authorization of insurance on Lake Angelus - Golfview and Highland Estates pumping stations.

Fans of Presley Protesting Hard to Draft Board

Letters and calls have poured in—protesting both the induction order and the subsequent 60-day postponement given the rock 'n' roll singer.

Says Board Chairman Milton Bowers Sr.: "With all due respect to Elvis, who's a nice boy, we've drafted people who are far more important than he is. After all, when you take him out of the entertainment business what have you got left? A truck driver.

"I talk Elvis Presley more than I sleep. A crackpot called me out of bed last night and complained that we didn't put Beethoven in the Army.

"Considering that Beethoven was not an American and has been dead for some time, I suppose he felt we were discriminating against rock 'n' roll music."

Market Stages General Rise

Leading issues rose from fractions to a point or more as the market staged a general advance.

The administration's buildup in missile spending and prospects that when Congress convenes this week it will demand even greater spending on defense to meet Russian competition boosted the aircrafts and heavy industrial issues.

General Dynamics rose 1¾ at 63½ on 7,000 shares; Boeing ⅞ at 40¾ on 4,000; U. S. Steel ⅝ at 54 on 2,500; and Bethlehem ¼ at 38⅜ on 5,000.

Gains of about a point were scored by Youngstown Sheet, Douglas Aircraft, Chance Vought Radio Corp., Du Pont and Union Carbide. International Business Machines rose 3 at 309½.

There were a few fractional losers among rubbers, farm implements and other issues. Rails were up small fractions generally.

Iowa Mother Slain in Pastor's Study

ROCK RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Mrs. Carol Hoskins, 22, of Rock Rapids, who had taken her baby to church to be baptized yesterday, was slain in the pastor's study.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff Fred Tonne said a car was stolen here a few hours after the shooting and that roadblocks have been set up in the vicinity of this northwest Iowa community.

The Rev. Paul Freeman, pastor of the Congregational Church here, said Mrs. Hoskins arrived at the church with her 2-month-old baby about 2 p.m. and her husband arrived about 2:40 p.m.

Launch Search for Lost Vessel

Believe Family of Four Is Aboard; Two Other Boats Also Missing

MIAMI, Fla. (INS) — The Coast Guard today launched an extensive search off the East Florida coast for a missing 45-foot yawl carrying five New York State residents.

In addition, the Miami Coast Guard office reported, two 55-foot commercial fishing boats bound from Miami to Key West also were overdue.

The sailing boat "Revonoc" has been overdue since Saturday night on a trip from Key West to Miami. The Coast Guard said the vessel belongs to Harvie Conover, of Mamaroneck, N.Y. Conover, his wife, a son and daughter and operator William Fluglеman, of Scarsdale, N.Y., were believed aboard the missing craft.

The Coast Guard said surface vessels searched a wide area of the Florida east coast yesterday and two planes were dispatched today to widen the search, extending some 20 to 25 miles off the coast.

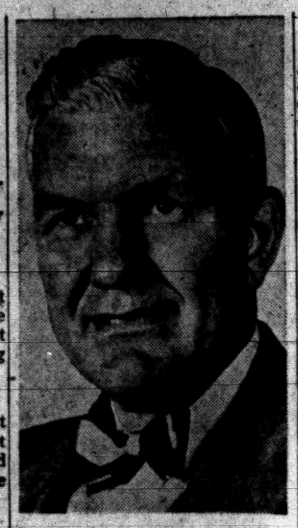

Meanwhile, the Coast Guard said it received a call from the Joe Thompson Seafood Co., of Key West, reporting the commercial vessels "Wave" and "Surf" have been overdue for several days.

Officials of the company said they received a radio message last Thursday from the "Surf" which said that the craft had developed engine trouble, was taking on water and drifting 30 miles south of Miami. It was believed to be in the company of the "Wave" at the time.

★ ★ ★

It was feared the vessels may have been caught up in the gale last Thursday or Friday which lashed South Florida in one of the worst mid-winter storms of the century.

Justices Ask for Repairs

LANSING (AP)—In strong but restrained language, Supreme Court Justices are asking state budget makers for money to spruce up their dingy legal workshop, a throwback to the gaslight era.

★ ★ ★

"Dirty paint and cracked plaster are not what the people of Michigan expect to see in their highest court," said Justice George Edwards today after taking a reporter on a tour of the court's quarters.

Edwards and his seven colleagues have asked the Legislature to approve a $17,374 outlay for new equipment and furnishings. They received $3,000 for the current year.

"This doesn't make a particularly good impression on the sovereign people of the state," said Edwards, pointing to the threadbare carpeting, laid in 1890.

He pointed to ornate velvet curtains, also badly worn, which he thought had been hung when the capitol was dedicated in 1879.

The antiquated filing system was described as a "pain in the neck."

"I imagine we're the only court in Michigan that has to fold its documents to get them into the filing drawers," Edwards remarked.

In a formal statement backing up his budget request, the couurt described the bulk of its equipment and furnishings as "antiquated in the extreme."

NOT BUSINESSLIKE

It said that "an approach to decent appearance" not to mention efficient and businesslike procedure," makes approval "imperative."

The high court asked $4,738 to replace carpeting in the court chamber and $1,100 in the reception hall.

Justices said the request would be withdraw if the Legislature goes ahead with a long discussed new supreme court building. Plans for the new building are ready but the legislature has never provided funds to start work.

Besides the carpeting, the court asked for money for bench chairs, electric typewriters, duplicating machines, new book shelving, desks, chairs, an electric water cooler and a hot food conveyor.

It requested an increase from $12,000 to $22,000 in its budget for contractual services, supplies and materials.

"I think we ought to have all the modern tools that are necessary to do an effective and expeditious job," Edwards said. "I see no virtue in cracked paint or 20-year-olld typewriters."

"I have heard visiting citizens express shock and dismay at the appearance of the court lobby and chambers. It seems to me not in keeping with the dignity which should surround the work of the state's highest court."

Police Seek Thieves Carrying Heavy Load

A cash register with eight dollars and barber tools also were taken, police said.

Westwood Must Vote

Village Charter Approved

WESTWOOD VILLAGE — The proposed charter for Westwood Village has been approved by Governor Williams with a few minor changes.

RESIDENTS TO DECIDE

Residents will go to the polls Feb. 3 to either accept or reject it.

Charter Commissioner Hugh G. Allerton Jr., said Saturday, however, that only about 900 of 4,500 potential voters have re-registered, making them eligible to vote on the charter.

Westwood Village, located in the northern portion of Southfield Township, voted to incorporate as a village, and the southern section of the township voted to incorporate as the City of Southfield.

ALL MUST RE-REGISTER

All residents in both communities must re-register to be eligible to vote in their respective charter elections, Southfield Township Clerk Fannie Adams said.

Seven Westwood village councilmen and a clerk will be elected Feb. 3. They'll take office only if the charter is approved, however.

So far eight persons have taken out nominating petitions, Allerton said. They are Theodore J. Sura, Ted Shurtleff, Marvin B. Cline Robert B. Reed, Chester Guilmet, Waldo H. Asbury, David M. Thompson and Allerton.

Gein's Sanity to Be Judged

Admitted Slayer, Grave Robber Faces Hearing in Wisconsin Today

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. (AP) — A sanity hearing in Circuit Court today will determine whether Edward Gein, 51, admitted slayer and grave robber, shall stand trial for first-degree murder.

Circuit Judge Herbert A. Bundo will determine whether the 51-year-old bachelor handyman will stand trial or will be returned to the Central State Hospital until he is found to be sane.

Gein is charged with the Nov. 16 mutilation slaying of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58-year-old Plainfield widow, whose body was found hanging in a shed at the rear of Gein's secluded farmhouse near Plainfield.

Gein also admitted slaying Mrs. Mary Hogan, 54, a Portage County tavern operator, in December 1954, and told of robbing the graves of several other women.

Investigators found heads and other portions of embalmed female bodies in Gein's two-story frame house. Checking Gein's story, authorities opened two graves in the Plainfield cemetery and found empty caskets in both.

Residents Worry as Hole in Yard Grows Steadily

WINCHESTER, Tenn. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Willis Reece are beginning to worry about the hole in their backyard.

★ ★ ★

It started out some time ago as a spot three feet wide and five feet deep. Now it's about seven feet wide at the surface and has reached a depth of 30 feet.

★ ★ ★

Prof. Frederick Whitesell of the University of the South at Sewanee said the hole is caused by a cave-in at the top of a subterranean cavern. He said there's no way to tell how big the hole will get. The Reece home is not in danger yet.

Keeping Clean Costly

PARIS (AP) — Keeping clean is going to cost more in France. Public shower baths—in a country where many houses and apartments have no bathrooms — are going to chage 35 francs, starting today and 50 francs (nearly 50 cents) from April 1 on. Soldiers, unemployed and certified paupers get reduced rates.

Utah has 19 national forests and two national parks.

Set Off Biggest Non-Atom Blast

Dynamite, Nitrate Used to Obtain Fill Material for Railroad Causeway

LITTLE VALLEY, Utah (AP) — Heavy earth-moving equipment began chewing today at the side of a cliff leveled by the biggest non-atomic explosion in history.

While teams of seismologists listened with delicate instruments, 2,138,000 pounds of dynamite and nitrate fertilizer were set off yesterday at 10 a.m. to get fill material for a causeway being built across Great Salt Lake.

Engineers figured the blast would loosen 3.6 million cubic yards of dirt and rock, which will be carried by big barges and dumped into the water as the foundation of the causeway.

★ ★ ★

The causeway will replace 12 miles of wooden trestle on the Southern Pacific Railway's Lucin cutoff across the lake. The 49-million-dollar job, being handled by Morrison-Knudsen Construction Co., is about half finished.

★ ★ ★

The seismologists, some located as far away as Elko, Nev., measured the time it took for the jar caused by the explosion to reach them, hoping to get information about the depth of the earth's crust.

Girl Found in Icebox, Search by 500 Ends

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—While 500 men searched for her, 3-year-old Mary Ellen Jackson huddled in an icebox into which, she told police, an elderly man placed her after giving her a ride in his car.

★ ★ ★

Although searchers had looked into the box three times Saturday night, the girl's father, Sam Jackson, found her there early Sunday. A barking dog attracted him to the box, which was kept in the Jackson's back yard for storing fish. The box had air vents and the child was in no danger of suffocating.

★ ★ ★

A doctor said the child had not been molested. Neighbors reported seeing two men loitering in the neighborhood Saturday. Mary Ellen was missing 12 hours.

Two Unions Agreed on Major Demands

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The United Automobile Workers (UAW) and the International Assn. of Machinists (IAM) have agreed on the major demands they will make on the west coast aircraft and missile industry in negotiations for new contracts.

The unions did not disclose what they will ask in the way of higher wages.

Roy Brown, general vice president of IAM, and Leonard Woodcock, vice president of UAW, issued a joint statement saying that the proposals will include union security and the union shop, severeance pay, an apprentice training program, and improved wage structure and health insurance.

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—No more can dog owners here say, "That wasn't my hound that dug up the Jones' flower bed. The mutt never leaves the yard."

The Idaho Humane Society chapter has obtained a camera for use in photographing dogs at large. The city has a new ordinance requiring dogs to be kept on the owners' property or pay a fine of up to $15.

★ ★ ★

The society says fines have been quietly paid when a master is confronted with a photo of Rover among the roses. If argument should arise, the dog, the master and the pictures go to court.

Priest Will Continue as Aircraft Executive

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An aircraft executive will be ordained today to the priesthood of the Episcopal Church but he will continue his business career.

Robert B. Watts, 56, of San Diego, vice president and general counsel for the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp., will be presented as a candidate for the priesthood by the Rev. Robert W. Wolterstorff, rector of St. James - by - the - Sea Episcopal Church of San Diego. Watts has served there as assistant since he was ordained a deacon last year.

Earl Wilson Makes 'Fearless Forecasts'

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

Ike'll stay in office . . . Dulles won't . . . California'll be in the World Series. . . . Bosoms'll be deemphasized to the extent that some girls'll have flattening operations . . . Margaret Truman'll decide to have another baby . . . CBS Boss Bill Paley will order a big shakeup because of the recent gains of ABC and NBC . . . Frank Costello'll live on, but a couple other prominent Racket Guys better stay out of barber sohps!

(Just to show you how clever I am in these fearless forecasts, last year I said, "Bing Crosby won't marry anybody.")

★ ★ ★

Carol Channing's spoof of Marlene ("Grandma") Dietrich will be the most talked-about cafe act . . . Playboys'll give their dolls Rolls-Royces instead of minks. (Gloria Swanson just got one for Christmas) . . . Calypso'll be forgotten entirely . . . Tina Louise'll be the most-photographed glamour doll . . . Havanna'll become the hemisphere hot spot with everybody going because everything goes.

TINA

Bill Cullen's "Price Is Right" will become the big quiz show but other programs'll sneakily reduce their prizes by giving products . . . Ferraris will be the sports car of the year . . . Ginger Rogers'll decide she should dance in her act in Las Vegas Vegas . . . Montecatini, Italy, will be the health resort of the year . . . Deb Norine Phipps of Palm Beach should be the new '58 beauty.

Jack Parr and Dody Goodman will part . . . Robert Preston'll win acting awards for "The Music Man" . . . London's "Fair Lady" opening will be a gigantic social affair . . . Perry Como'll start loafing and Jackie Gleason'll start working . . . Millionaire Paul D. Getty will go to the altar . . . Joanne Woodward and Tony Perkins will be acclaimed the best young performers.

Hal Block, the fresh new Saturday Evening Post contributor ("Hal Block's Inventions"), dropped in with some New Year's wishes: For Elvis Presley's rivals, "a new shake"; for TV comedians, "an old jokes' home"; for Jack Parr, a new kiddies' show called "Howdy Dody."

Just like to say also that I confidently predict that next year Christmas'll come on Dec. 25 and Thanksgiving'll fall on a Thursday.

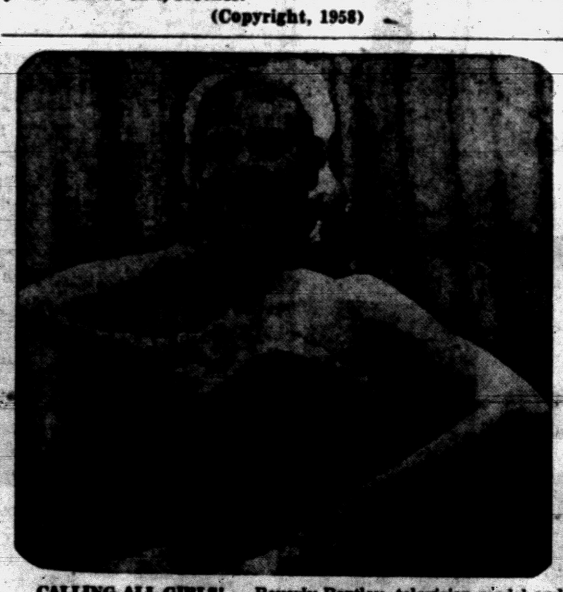

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . . .

Model Claims TV Lacks Girls With Good Voices

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — There is a shortage of pretty girls with nice diction and pleasant voices. So says a pretty girl with nice diction and a pleasant voice.

"We're more than just models," says Beverly, who is actually an actress primarily. Currently, she's understudying the female lead in Broadway's "Romanoff and Juliet," and has done a lot of acting.

"We do a lot of talking — and any time you have more than five lines on a TV show, you get into pretty good money. But whenever I go on vacation, they have trouble finding a substitute — so many good-looking girls don't know how to talk"

Her present schedule is a tough one. Her TV show is on five days a week and one evening. Her Broadway show — and she has to be at the theater for each performance — is on eight times during the week.

14 PERFORMANCES

So she has 14 performances to catch. In between are rehearsals, singing and dancing lessons and a pinch of social life.

"It doesn't help at all as far as getting me a theatrical job," she says. "But it gives me a comfortable living. Since I came to New York, six years ago, I've worked steadily and lived well.

"Before TV, and aspiring actress would have had to work as a salesgirl to get by. And salesgirls don't live this well.

FRANK GRUBER

Lists Reasons for Popularity

Believes That Viewers Are Influenced by Ike's Reading Tastes

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The authentic Western street at the Revue lot is a busy place. So busy, in fact, that they can squeeze three camera crews in different sections at the same time. And so busy that nowadays it's booked by the hour, not by the day. And it's mostly all TV filming.

★ ★ ★

This is the tip-off on the current Western trend on TV. According to Frank Gruber, one of the busiest Western writers, we've only seen the beginning. He says that by spring there'll be 50 Westerns on television.

"It's bound to happen," he says with a shrug. "After all, no Western has failed on TV, so it stands to reason there'll be more."

Why are Westerns so successful? Gruber has two reasons.

★ ★ ★

"I think they're due partly to President Eisenhower," he says. "Ike's said his favorite reading is Westerns, so they've become popular.

"And there's another reason. This is a time of international crisis. The people are nationalistic. So they turn to their own history —to the West."

WOMEN LIKE 'EM

★ ★ ★

"And there may be a third reason," he added. "Statistics prove that women like westerns more than men. Why? I think there's a connotation of sex to a Western.

"Women like them for the same reason they used to like to watch wrestling—to see big, burly men. He-men."

In his writing career, Gruber has turned out 350 short stories, 41 books, 54 movie scripts and, so far, "40 or 50" TV scripts.

He believes he's written more words than any other writer — most of them are Western words, although he has some mysteries to his credit.

★ ★ ★

Currently, he's listed as story consultant for "Wells Fargo," one of NBC-TV's Westerns. But he's more than that—he helped start the show, and owns a big piece of it.

'I HATE HORSES'

He believes, for example, that Zane Grey will be read 100 years from now—and that writers like Hemingway and Faulkner will then be forgotten.

But he doesn't have the same respect for TV Westerns. He admits that he never takes more than two days to grind out a TV script —and usually only one day. He says that the hero of a TV Western doesn't have to be an actor.

"All you need," he says, "is a personality. You can take any tall, handsome guy and make a Western star out of him. I can make a Western star out of him. I can make a Western star out of anybody."

1. The empire story — revolving around a vast cattle empire. A good example is "Duel in the Sun."

2. The Union Pacific story — building a railroad or a stage coach line or a telegraph line or the like.

★ ★ ★

3. The cavalry-and-Indians story —variations on Custer's last stand.

4. The outlaw story—a sympathetic treatment of Jesse James or similar outlaw characters. The only trouble is "you have to kill 'em in the end."

5. The revenge story—"This is my specialty," stories in which the hero tracks down the villain for revenge, often over many years and many miles.

6. The range story—involving the ordinary, working cowboy, spiced with rustlers and fights over water rights and so on. "Shane" was a ranch story.

7. The marshal story—the dedicated lawman, so popular now on TV with "Gunsmoke" and "Wyatt Earp."

TYPES OF WESTERN

Gruber draws a strong line between adult Westerns and juvenile Westerns. The latter are those that have heroes like Gene Autry, Roy Rogers and Wild Bill Hickok. They are, he says, for kids—and incidentally are not doing too well lately on TV. All the others he classifies as adult Westerns.

He says it is only in the juvenile Westerns that the anti-kissing taboo still holds. On all the others, he says, kissing and even such adult subjects as prostitution and narcotics addiction can be discussed —although not as candidly on TV as in books and movies.

There is one trick to writing a successful TV Western script, Gruber says. And that is to have some violence—usually a fight—within three minutes of the beginning, and also one at the end.

With that in mind, he says, writing a TV script is much easier than writing a short story.

"A lot of people sneer at westerns," he says. "They call them oaters and horse operas. I don't mind what they call them—not at these prices."

Bob Considine Says:

Ready to Urge—Send Nixon on Russian Visit

NEW YORK (INS) — Respected figures in the Eisenhower Administration, some of whom are now convinced that Secretary of State Dulles can be wrong, are prepared to urge the President to send Vice President Nixon on a visit to the Soviet Union.

They see in this a natural extension of Nixon's planned trip to Europe next summer, a trip which probably will be taken in the dashing 4-jet remodeled Boeing tanker which Gen. Curt LeMay used on his nonstop flight to Buenos Aires in October. The plane, which the Air Force offered to the President for speedier travel here and abroad, was turned down by the White House. Nixon will wind up with it, to his surprise.

Seems that an Air Force officer asked Nixon not long ago, when he had to fly some place on government business, if he'd like to go by jet. Nixon said, "Sure. I've never been in one, but it's faster, and I'm in a hurry." The answer set varied wheels in motion. The culmination will be the turnover to the Vice President of the kind of aircraft which U. S. airline passengers will begin traveling in late this year. It is in keeping with the Air Force practice of supplying top officials with the latest equipment.

MIGHT STILL LAUGHTER

Russia has had a comparable jet—the TU-104 — in commercial operation between Prague and Peiping, via Moscow, for a year and a half. Nixon's arrival in the powerful American counterpart might still some of the growing laughter behind the Iron Curtain, proponents of his trip feel.

NO COMMENT FROM NIXON

The Vice President would go to Moseow and meet the Kremlin officials if assigned, a close friend told this reporter tonight. There was no comment from Nixon himself. But the friend, when informed of this, insisted that the trip will come about because it will be a proper compromise between the position of those who agree with Dulles and those who urge an Eisenhower-Khrushchev confrontation.

Nixon would not go with any charter to make agreements with the Russian Communist party boss. If his champions in Washington have their way, he would go "without portfolio," meet the Kremlin leaders and see the sights in a semi-official way.

It might pave the way for a later meeting between Eisenhower and Khrushchev, or confirm the Dulles contention that such a meeting would be fruitless.

The biggest obstacle to a Nixon mission to Moscow will be Dulles himself, proponents of the idea feel. The antagonism of the Secretary of State would carry weight at the White House, too, they fear.

A renowned traveler, fresh back from a trip around the world, told the President just before the NATO meeting that Mr. Dulles was now almost universally regarded as the architect of what the Russians have convinced a lot of people is our warmongering.

"The most beneficial change you could make in your cabinet would be Secretary Dulles' replacement," he told the President. He added that even our friends overseas lampooned Mr. Dulles in cartoons and editorialized against him.

The President was angry. He said that Mr. Dulles is the greatest Secretary of State in American history and would remain in office as long as he, the President, does.

MORE PRESSING PROBLEM

A more pressing problem than Nixon's possible trip to Russia confronts the President tonight—the State of the Union address he must deliver Thursday (which, incidentally, is Nixon's 45th birthday). He will take into account the rash of criticism he received for playing straight man to Dulles in the NATO report.

Unless there is a last minute rewrite, it will deal largely with simple declarative sentences, will have a much more decisive approach, and will make news with what the President says about inter-service rivalries, bickerings and duplicate spending. The President is said to be burned up over the service tiffs and recently called in Secretary of Defense McElroy and delegated to him blank-check authority to clean up and clear up the squabbles—pronto—an authority which, incidentally, Charlie Wilson never really had.
