

Ziegler Discloses 10-Year Arterial Road Plan

Pontiac's Fisher Plant to Share in GM Expansion

New Equipment, Tools, Layout Scheduled Here

Nation - Wide Program Calls for 4,500,000 Square Feet Addition

General Motors' Fisher Body Division plant in Pontiac will be included in the new tooling and modernization phase of the $500,000,000 capital expenditure program announced by the corporation yesterday.

A division spokesman said plans call for new tools and equipment and revised layout at the local factory.

GM's Fisher Body Division, which has plants all over the country, will add more than 4,500,000 square feet to its present 21,000,000 square feet of facilities.

James E. Goodman, GM vice president and general manager of Fisher Body, announced the division's expansion and modernization program includes two new stamping plants.

Mansfield, Ohio, has been chosen as the site of one new plant. The other will be built at a site yet to be determined. Each plant will contain 1,776,000 square feet of floor space.

Goodman said another 970,000 square feet of new construction will be added to seven existing plants. The program also calls for extensive new tooling and modernization facilities.

TO CONVERT PLANT

Fisher Body's medium tank plant at Grand Blanc, which completes its defense contract in August, will be converted to a stamping plant. The plant now contains 1,200,000 square feet. It will be expanded by 384,000 square feet.

Fisher Body Plant No. 21 in Detroit will be converted to an assembly plant for special body lines. The plant formerly was devoted to process development activities now located in the Fisher Body facilities at the GM Technical Center.

Plants scheduled for new construction and modernization are located in Atlanta, Ga.; Baltimore, Md.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Norwood, Ohio; St. Louis, Mo.; Lansing and Grand Blanc.

Plants in Oakland, Calif.; Tarrytown, N. Y.; Pontiac and Detroit are included in the modernization program. Goodman said this is in addition to modernization programs already completed at the Fleetwood plant (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Cloudy Skies, Cool Weather Seen Here

Pontiac residents may look for continued cool weather and cloudy skies, according to late forecasts from the U.S. Weather Bureau. Temperatures will reach a low of 52-56 tonight, and tomorrow will go as high as 76 degrees. It'll be cool and cloudy Friday night, too, says the weatherman. The mercury mounted 20 points from before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac today, hitting 77 degrees at 2 p.m.

Newspaper Advertising Reaches Highest Peak

NEW YORK (P)—Newspaper advertising in May was the highest for any month on record with 260,380,913 lines, 11 per cent higher than May 1954, Media Records reported today on the basis of a 52-city survey.

Analysis of May newspaper linage in the 52 cities shows that records were set in the following categories:

Retail—Highest May on record, 137 million lines, 8.3 per cent over last year.

Department Stores—Highest May on record, 52 million lines, 8 per cent over a year ago.

General—Highest May on record, 37 million lines, 5.2 per cent over a year ago.

Automotive—Highest of any month on record, 18 million lines, 26.3 per cent over a year ago.

Total Display—Highest of any month on record, 195 million lines, 9.2 per cent over a year ago.

Classified—Highest of any month on record, 65 million lines, 16.6 per cent over a year ago.

Pontiac Traffic Survey Report Released Today

Will automobiles, the economic life-blood of Pontiac, eventually spell disaster to the city's downtown business section because of their ever-increasing numbers?

Will downtown streets become so clogged with vehicles that people will avoid the heart of town and take their business to outlying shopping centers?

The answer is yes, according to a 3-month traffic study just released by the city's new traffic engineer. The study solution lies in a series of changes in street, traffic signal and parking patterns, the survey indicates.

A complete report of the survey's findings and recommendations is on Page 19 of today's Pontiac Press.

Meanwhile, City Manager Walter K. Willman is preparing to put some of the recommendations into operation — on a trial basis — as soon as possible. A meeting of city officials is set for Monday to establish a priority list.

Moving and re-spacing of parking meters probably will be the first suggestion followed, Willman said. To follow may be establishment of one-way streets, timing of traffic signals and use of police officers at busy intersections during rush hours.

"Whatever changes come about will be made on a trial basis to get the reaction before we completely decide," he emphasized.

Carillon Tower to Honor Taft

Million Dollar Memorial to Ohio Senator Will Be at Capitol

WASHINGTON (P)—Plans to erect a million-dollar bell tower or carillon on the Capitol grounds as a memorial to the late Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio were announced today.

President Eisenhower and former President Hoover wrote Congress urging that the carillon be accepted as a gift and that its erection on the Capitol grounds be authorized.

Senate Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) introduced legislation to carry out this request. It would be the first such memorial erected on the grounds.

The tower, to be paid for by contributions raised by the Robert A. Taft Memorial Foundation, would be 100 feet high, 32 feet wide and 11 feet thick. It would have 25 bells, with provision for playing them manually or automatically.

The main shaft would be of pink Tennessee marble. A supporting platform and water basins would be of Minnesota granite.

The memorial was designed by Douglas W. Orr of New Haven, Conn., architect and a member of the U. S. Commission of Fine Arts. Hoover, chairman of the board of trustees of the Taft Foundation, said a site northwest of the Capitol across Constitution avenue, had been recommended for the carillon.

Taft died of cancer July 31, 1953.

DAVID P. DAWSON

Lake Orion Car Dealer Object of Search on Embezzlement Count

Lake Orion auto dealer David P. Dawson, sought more than two weeks on an embezzlement charge, gave himself up this morning at the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept.

Dawson, 31, who did not comment on his recent whereabouts, demanded examination when he was arraigned shortly before noon in Orion Township Justice Court. He was released on $7,500 bond by Justice Helmar G. Stanback who set examination for July 19.

He is charged with embezzling $25,962 from the Universal CIT Credit Corp. branch office here between Oct. 27, 1954 and May 18 of this year.

The credit firm charges that Dawson, owner of Dave Dawson Inc., a Ford dealership, sold 17 cars and trucks and a tractor without turning any funds over to them as stipulated in contracts between Ford dealers and CIT.

Under the contract, the dealer agrees to hold new cars in trust when they are delivered from the factory. When sold, the wholesale price of the cars is turned over to the credit firm.

In business at Lake Orion for the past three years, Dawson is the son of Stanley Dawson, former Detroit Chevrolet dealer.

He leases a 12-room, $75,000 home on an 8-acre estate at 3316 E. Drahter Rd., between Lake Orion and Oxford.

Dawson's firm was closed last week by civil authorities on a writ of attachment issued in Circuit Court on request of CIT officials.

Cheri Smith, 3, Killed Four Others Injured in New York

Cheri Smith, a 3-year-old Pontiac girl was killed and four other Pontiac people injured yesterday in a 2-car collision on Route 17, several miles west of Bath, N.Y. Kenneth Smith, 38, 822 Baldwin Ave., the girl's father, was reported in serious condition at Bath Memorial Hospital with a brain concussion and shock. His wife, Beatrice, 33, was in fair condition with multiple fractures of the jaw.

Two other passengers in the Smith car also were injured. Charles Gilbert, 16, was reported in serious condition with a fractured right forearm and a punctured leg. Kay Bentley, 14, suffered shock and was listed in good condition.

They were reported to have left Pontiac Saturday morning to attend the funeral of Smith's brother.

The driver of the second auto, Bernice Armstrong of Avoca, N.Y., was uninjured.

Staten County deputies said the collision occurred during a heavy rainstorm when the Armstrong vehicle, traveling east, skidded on a curve into the westbound lane, turning completely around.

Dinner Discussion?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (P)—The Memphis and Shelby County Medical Society today announced the subject for panel discussion at its dinner meeting next month: diseases of the stomach.

Peron Mops Up Revolutionaries, Rumor Bearers

Argentine Chief Plans 4th Address to People in National Crisis

BUENOS AIRES (P)—Backed by new pledges of military and political support, President Juan Peron pushed a dual campaign today against those who tried to overthrow him in last week's bloody revolt and persons spreading rumors of upsets still to come.

Emerging with his grip on Argentina intact, Peron arranged to deliver tonight his fourth broadcast to the nation since the revolt.

To counter one persistent rumor that Army Minister Franklin Lucero had supplanted Peron as Argentina's strong man, a government spokesman predicted last night that the President soon would end Lucero's special post-revolt powers as temporary chief of all armed services.

Gen. Lucero himself in a broadcast last night saluted Peron as "the President of the nation and commander in chief of all the armed forces." The general called on the troops to "obey loyalty and permanently the mandate of the sovereign people."

Statements pledging loyalty to Peron were issued yesterday by the six-million-member General Labor Confederation (CGT), the President's chief political bulwark, and by both the men's and women's Peronista parties.

FALSE REPORTS

The roundup of rumor mongers followed repeated statements by Lucero that numerous false reports were circulating and should be ignored.

Releases from the presidential press secretariat reported the President carrying on his duties normally.

Trabert, Brough Win Wimbledon Tennis Matches

WIMBLEDON, England (P)—Top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, ace of the United States Davis Cup team, gave Hugh Stewart of Los Angeles a tennis lesson and a 6-4, 6-3, 6-1 beating today in the 3rd round of the Wimbledon championships.

Blonde Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., seeking her 4th Wimbledon women's singles title, smashed her way into the 4th round by beating Britain's Janet Morgan 6-0, 6-0.

Health Insurance Rises

NEW YORK (P)—About two out of every three Americans—101,493,000 men, women and children—were covered by some form of voluntary health insurance at the last count, the health insurance council reported.

A later speaker, Nationalist China's Foreign Minister George Yeh, was almost certain to blast Molotov's demands that Red China be seated in the U.N. and that Formosa be handed over to the Peiping regime.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said of Molotov's speech:

The entire tone was conciliatory and the speech is certainly worthy of the West's attention.

Others said privately, however, they felt Molotov would have been much more effective if he had stuck to his peace bid and omitted any reference to controversial issues. They also felt he made a mistake in blaming the West for the cold war.

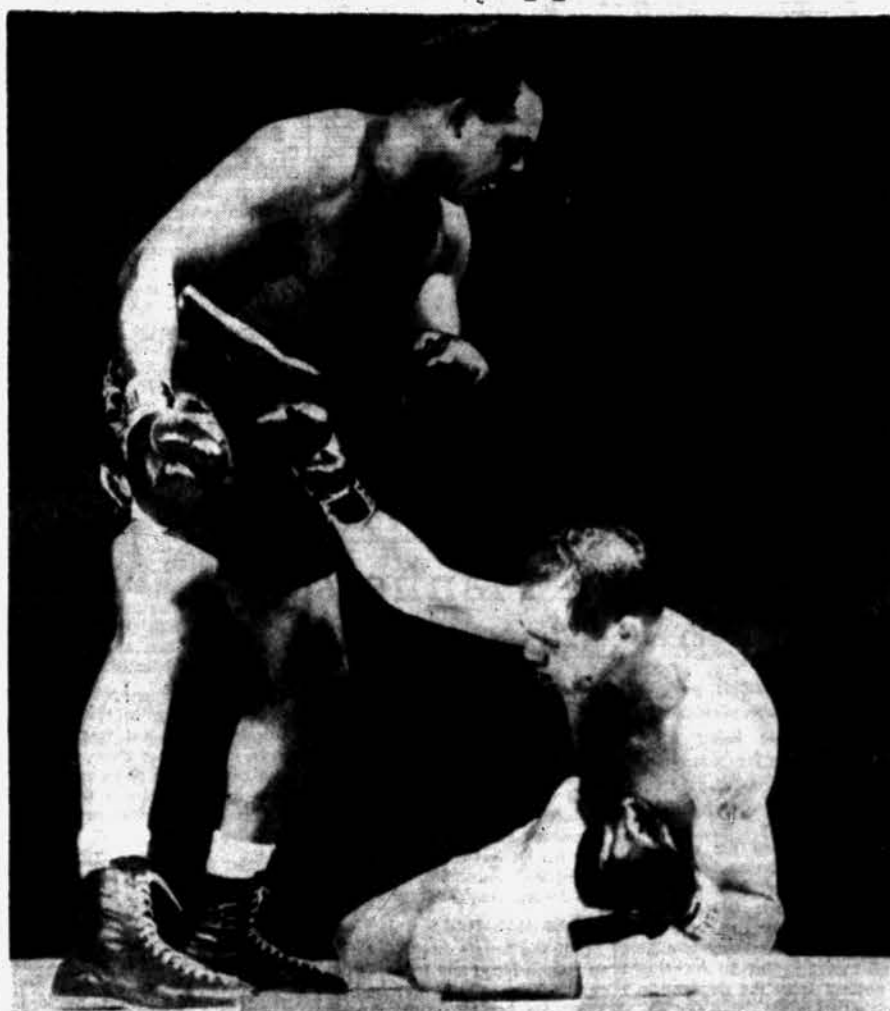

Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines said Molotov's speech was "the same old broken record." He said he thought Molotov had violated the rules of the anniversary session by raising controversial questions and criticizing other nations.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said:

"I will save my reactions to Mr. Molotov's speech for my own talk on Friday."

Molotov Speech May Backfire

Blow to Soviet Peace Drive Seen in Rehash of Cold War Issues

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Western diplomats said privately today that Russia's V. M. Molotov may have dealt an unintentional blow to his own peace offensive by raising anew all the major cold war issues.

Some small countries were plainly disappointed, but one Western diplomat expressed the belief that the U.N.'s anniversary meeting needed something like Molotov's speech yesterday to jolt it back to reality.

As the session opened its fourth day, there still was little public comment on the Soviet foreign minister's speech and his challenge to the West to make the next move in reducing world tensions.

French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay was second on today's list of speakers.

A later speaker, Nationalist China's Foreign Minister George Yeh, was almost certain to blast Molotov's demands that Red China be seated in the U.N. and that Formosa be handed over to the Peiping regime.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said of Molotov's speech:

The entire tone was conciliatory and the speech is certainly worthy of the West's attention.

Others said privately, however, they felt Molotov would have been much more effective if he had stuck to his peace bid and omitted any reference to controversial issues. They also felt he made a mistake in blaming the West for the cold war.

Bulganin - Nehru Want Surrender of Formosa

MOSCOW (P)—The Premiers of Russia and India came out jointly today for the surrender of Formosa to the Chinese Reds.

They also urged a U. N. seat for Communist China and a ban on atomic weapons.

The declaration was signed last night by India's Prime Minister Nehru and Soviet Premier Bulganin, and published this morning at the end of Nehru's 17-day visit to the Soviet Union.

The statement contained little that the two men or their governments had not said before. But it was the first time they had said it together.

Nehru and Bulganin called also for a "simultaneous and substantial reduction of convention armaments" with "effective international control." They cited the recent Soviet disarmament proposals as a "substantial contribution to peace."

The document was published less than three hours before Nehru boarded a plane for Warsaw to spend three days before pushing on to Belgrade, Vienna, Rome and London.

The crowds which lined the streets this morning to see Nehru off numbered far less than the estimated million which turned out for his arrival.

Nehru was accompanied to the airport by Bulganin, Soviet Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev, Deputy Premier Georgi Malenkov, Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov and other Soviet leaders.

Bidding the Indian leader farewell, Bulganin hailed the joint document as "a solid basis for further development between our two countries and as an example to the rest of the world of peaceful coexistence."

In Washington, the State Department said it would have no immediate comment.

State to Spend Over $1 Billion for Highways

Program Provides for 1,840 Miles of Pavement Construction

LANSING (P)—State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler today disclosed his plans for a 10-year, $1,213,000,000 arterial highway construction program.

The program, complete with priorities, provides for 1,440 miles of rural four-lane, divided limited-access highways at a cost of $613,000,000 and approximately 400 miles of similar construction in urban areas at approximately $600,000,000.

Ziegler said he would have 235 miles of first priority routes costing $77,000,000 under contract with construction started in most instances within the next nine months.

He said he would ask for bids on some of these jobs in July and the remainder in August and September.

A second list of priorities, covering 305 miles of new construction at a cost of $124,000,000 will be contracted for by the winter of 1956 at the latest, Ziegler said.

The third list of priorities covers 280 miles at a cost of $126,000,000, the fourth list 220 miles at a cost of $111,000,000 and the fifth list 400 miles at a cost of $175,000,000.

If the new federal aid program now before Congress develops adequately, Ziegler said, the state's construction program will expand to $250,000,000 a year within the next two years.

STATE SPENDING

The state is spending between $70,000,000 and $75,000,000 a year now.

While this arterial program is progressing, Ziegler said, the state will be spending $30,000,000 a year plus federal aid on state trunklines (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Pontiac GM Locals Vote Soon on Pact

Members of the three local General Motors UAW-CIO units will be among some 350,000 GM workers who will vote between now and June 29 on ratification of the three-year contract signed last week by the company and union.

Sunday, members of GMC Truck & Coach Division Local 594 and Fisher Body Division Local 358 will cast ballots on accepting the contract. At two meetings Tuesday, Pontiac Motor Division Local 633 members are scheduled to vote. Ratification by the rank and file members is all that remains before the contract goes into effect. If the agreement is ratified it will be retroactive to May 29.

Several Bills Signed

Governor Approves Ban on Charity Horse Races

LANSING (P)—Major bills signed into law by Gov. Williams today included those to:

1. Forbid horse race meets for charity.

2. Allow the Conservation Department to give clear titles to persons who have "squatted" on filled lake bottom lands held in trust by the state for all the people.

3. Establish a Board of State Canvassers composed of two Republicans and two Democrats.

The horse race bill, which takes effect Oct. 14, was designed to block a proposed sale of the Michigan Racing Association track at Livonia to two Texas millionaires, Clint Murchison and Sid Richardson. They proposed to devote the track to a charity, Boys, Inc.

The sale reportedly was dropped in the face of legislative hostility and opposition by church groups.

The land sale bill, also effective Oct. 14, will give 8,000 to 10,000 persons final title to land they pre-empted if they pay the state 30 per cent of the appraised value before improvement.

The Board of Canvassers' bill takes effect immediately. The two major political parties have five days in which to nominate three persons for each of their two positions and Williams has 10 days in which to make the final selections.

OTHER BILLS SIGNED

Make a technical correction in an act requiring railroads to maintain signal lights at switches.

Appropriate $7,227,500 from the state hospital construction bond issue for further mental hospital construction.

Permit the state public school employees retirement system to be integrated with federal social security.

Require dairy inspectors to identify themselves before entering private property and to maintain certain sanitary standards.

Standardize the location of traffic signals at intersections and forbid banners and decorations which interfere with clear view of traffic lights.

Require the state to make up the difference between what local units pay for the death or disability of peace officers and $5000.

Dentist Needs $7,701 to Start

Cost of Setting Up Practice Is Lower in Midwest

CHICAGO (UP)—It costs the average young dentist $7,701 to start a private practice, according to a survey reported in the Journal of the American Dental Association.

It was based on replies to questionnaires sent to all dentists who graduated during the period 1951 through 1954.

The association's bureau of economic research and statistics, which conducted the survey, said the $7,701 is "exclusive of finance charges."

It includes $5,870 for dental equipment, $530 for dental supplies, $270 to furnish a reception room, $308 for business equipment, $283 for wiring and plumbing, $303 for partitioning, $22 for air conditioning and $115 for other expenses.

The $7,701 is a mean figure for all the United States. But the Journal said there is some cost variation by regions. It cost nearly $9,000 to start a practice in the Far West, and only $6,886 to start a practice in the Midwest.

About 14 per cent of the dentists who answered the questionnaires said they bought established practices instead of setting up their own.

The Journal said the average price of an established dental practice was $4,634, although some practices sold for as little as $100 and others (8.5 per cent) cost more than $10,000.

House Group Probes Information Blackout

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman William L. Dawson (D-Ill.) said today the House Government Operations Committee will investigate accusations that government agencies are withholding and suppressing information.

Dawson said a special three-man subcommittee, headed by Rep. Moss (D-Calif.), will be set up to do the job.

Moss said subcommittee investigators already have contacted representatives of newspapers and other groups about "the availability of information from government sources." Public hearings are not expected at this session of Congress, however, he added.

Atomic Scientists Hint Latest Testing Device Most Powerful Made

CHICAGO (UP)—Members of the Atomic Scientists of Chicago say the United States may possess a new, cheaper and more powerful bomb than the one recently tested in Nevada.

The ASC, a group describing itself as an organization of scientists concerned with the impact of science on public affairs, released the statement yesterday.

"Scientists have suggested," it read, "that the hydrogen bomb detonated in the Pacific in March of 1954 was actually a new device—a hydrogen-uranium bomb yielding thousands of times the radioactivity produced by the atomic bombs tested in Nevada, or by simple hydrogen bombs."

A speech made at the University of Chicago June 3 by Dr. Willard F. Libby of the Atomic Energy Commission, the statement said, "was the first major speech to give sufficient information supporting this hypothesis."

The statement said Libby indicated that "ordinary, cheap uranium" was the major explosive content of the Pacific bomb and "the significance of this is held to be enormous."

"To physicists it means that Russia or any other country able to make ordinary atomic bombs can with little effort create super-weapons of the megaton (million tons) class," it added.

New Courthouse Brings Demand for Politeness

EDINBURG, Tex. (UP)—When Hidalgo County officials moved into a new $1,500,000 courthouse here, the judges of the four courts in the building signed an order designed to correct certain courtroom practices.

The order set these six rules:

1. Attorneys shall wear coats and ties.

2. Bailiffs, clerks and other officers of the court shall also wear coats and ties.

3. No smoking.

4. All persons in the courtroom shall rise when the judge enters on the opening and closing days of the session.

5. Attorneys shall stand while addressing the court.

6. Attorneys shall sit "appropriately and without placing their feet upon the counsel table or in the chair in which they assume to sit."

Italian Police Hold Gothamites

News Yorkers Arrested as Robbery Suspects in Chase Bank Stickup

ROME (UP)—Four New Yorkers plan to continue their tour of Europe after being held seven hours by Rome police yesterday in connection with a recent New York bank robbery. All a mistake, the cops said later.

Only one of the four, husky 28-year-old Joseph Michael Vitacco, of Brooklyn, was questioned about the holdup—of the Chase Manhattan Bank branch at Woodside, Queens, last April 6. The $305,243 in cash taken is a record for a U.S. bank holdup.

Vitacco said the police also ransacked their hotel room but found nothing suspicious. Otherwise, the Americans said, they played pinocle in the police station and "even bought the cops lunch."

The other three men gave their names as Peter J. Riordan, New York City; John Timothy O'Connell, Flushing, and Daniel William McGuire, New York City.

They were picked up after a nationwide alert issued at the request of Interpol, international crime detection agency. The alert called only for police to watch for them and a Montreal girl, Janette Forest, 27, and made no mention of any charges.

Ike Eloquently Pledges Peace Efforts at Geneva

In his United Nations anniversary speech at San Francisco, President EISENHOWER was at his eloquent best.

Not only did he laud the ideals which were written into the United Nations Charter, but in words no one could misinterpret he voiced again this country's answering support of U. N.

Then paying tribute to those who helped create the world organization, he lauded them for having "brought it through 10 tumultuous years, frequently discouraging, sometimes terrifying but often rewarding years."

The President's references to the forthcoming Four Power Geneva conference must have been especially reassuring to Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov. Pointing out that the munitions of peace aren't an armament race, but "justice, honesty, mutual understanding and respect for others," Mr. EISENHOWER added:

"So believing and so motivated, the United States will leave no stone unturned to work for peace. We shall reject no method, however novel, that holds out any hope, however faint, for a just and lasting peace."

It is good to live in a country like ours and know that when its leader pleads for dismantling "the terrible apparatus of fear" all the world listens with new hope.

Retailers Plan Campaign Against Summer Slump

One of the important pre-summer business stories describes the stepped up efforts being made by retail merchants to increase the season's sales volume.

The facts were collected by the American Newspaper-Publishers' bureau of advertising in a survey which covered 41 of the Nation's major markets.

Among those facts which impressed the bureau was the near unanimity of the retailers' determination to war upon what has been called "summer slump" psychology. Eighty-five per cent of the merchants queried expect sales gains and 93 per cent will increase or maintain their summer advertising budgets.

We think it highly significant and a great tribute to newspapers that 80 per cent of these merchants will put between 80 and 100 per cent of their advertising dollar into newspapers.

These members of the National Retail Dry Goods Association don't buy advertising with their eyes shut. They want results and they know how and where to get them.

That's why such an overwhelming percentage of their advertising goes to daily newspapers.

Air Travel Up 12 Per Cent

Data compiled by Air Transport Facts and Figures reveal that civil aviation here is continuing its steady growth.

Last year, for example, domestic and international airlines set all time high traffic records. They did this by carrying more than 35,000,000 passengers in excess of 20 billion passenger miles, a gain of 12 per cent over the previous year.

Domestic lines accounted for 71 per cent of the first class traffic over the country. Air coach services also gained impressively by carrying 32.7 per cent of the total traffic and 52.3 per cent of the international passenger miles.

Last year was marked by some successful pioneering in our air mail service, namely the carrying of three cent letter mail on a space available basis. Scheduled airlines participating in this program flew 9,600,000 ton miles of mail.

The cost to the Post Office Department was $1,830,000 and the revenue amounted to $29,500,000. Additional evidence of the experiment's success lies in the fact that hundreds of millions of letters reached their destination at an average of 11.5 hours earlier than by surface transport.

In our view the most remarkable feature of the entire report is the airlines safety record. Domestic lines got through the year with a fatality rate of .09 deaths per 100,000,000 passenger miles. International airlines had no fatalities in 1954.

These figures show that air travel indeed has approached absolute safety.

"The world will end July 1, 1955," says a L. A. seer. In the past the world has continued to exist through every deadline seers and prophets have set for its ending, and we believe it will adhere to this policy July 1. If it doesn't, we shall be terribly disappointed in it.

Yes, We Have Davy Only Crocketts in Pontiac Have a Son With That Name

Longevity: A condition brought about by keeping off the highways on weekends.

Pontiac numbers among its inhabitants a Davy Crockett, the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Crockett of 1131 Dover Road. Called by the nickname of "Davy" for many years, Mr. Crockett felt that it was a good plan to pass the real name along to his eldest child when he was born on Jan. 7, 1953. He's a healthy youngster, and it appears quite definite that he will grow into a man who also might become nationally famous, and perhaps the subject of a top song.

Crockett is a foreman at Pontiac Motors. They have one other child, Carla, aged one and one-half years. They are the only Crocketts in the new Pontiac city directory.

Double-Cross

Molotov Plays Grim Joke in Address Before U. N.

SAN FRANCISCO—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov must have been laughing up his sleeve as he played his grim joke on the United Nations Assembly here with a speech which, for deliberate disregard of what the Communists have been doing for the last ten years, has few parallels in brazenness and effrontery.

With an air of innocence that seems incredible, Molotov solemnly told the delegates that the military bases being constructed by the Western powers in Europe have "nothing to do with defense" and that this "can be deduced from the mere fact that they are to be found thousands of miles away from the countries constructing them."

Has Molotov never heard of the jet plane and the speed with which modern bombers travel nowadays? Does he really think anybody will believe his bland statement that, because the United States is helping to defend Western Europe it is thereby planning to "attack" Soviet Russia?

He speaks of military alliances being made in smaller countries in the Near and Middle East "against the will of their peoples" as if Soviet Russia ever really cared about the "will of the people" anywhere in its orbit.

MORE TENSION

Thus, the Soviet foreign minister considers NATO and all the other "military groupings" not to be defensive at all but to be of an "aggressive character"—which, he says, is "well known." In fact, he says that if the "propaganda for a new war" and the "armaments race" should be intensified and if the "building of military bases designed not for defense but to attack other countries" should continue, then "international tensions would increase still more."

All through his speech Molotov implies that the United States and its Allies would be the "attacker" in another war, and he plaintively cries out that the "people throughout the world do not want another war."

Molotov must have chuckled to himself often as he frequently used the phrase "peace-loving countries." Even the war in Korea, he says, was "terminated on the initiative of the peace-loving countries" and all that remains is to unite Korea. Presumably this would be done under a puppet government, which he thinks will establish "national unity in accordance with the will of the Korean people."

But Molotov has a convenient lack of memory. Only a year or so ago, he and the Chinese Reds at the Geneva Conference were, in public speeches, refusing to accept United Nations auspices as a means of unifying Korea through free elections. The Soviet leader knows that many of his listeners have short memories, too, and that words uttered today are often mistakenly given a meaning without the background of yesterday.

INDO-CHINA FIASCO

Molotov had the nerve to refer to the Indo-China fiasco at Geneva last year as a great success, because the settlement "conforms to the aspirations for national liberation of the peoples living in that part of the world." But he ignores the daily news dispatches from North Viet Nam, where Communism has imposed a new tyranny.

Even Yugoslavian relations with Soviet Russia came in for the sugar-coated treatment by Molotov, though here he found it necessary to denounce the "groundless inventions circulated in the West to distort the meaning and belittle the significance of the Belgrade talks and of their results."

Nothing is omitted in Molotov's review to make up a picture of peace-loving Communist partnership in Moscow and Peking. Glowing praise is given Nehru's visit to Moscow, and emphasis is placed on the Soviet plan to "normalize" relations with Germany and Japan.

The Soviet foreign minister even dares to say that "all the United Nations" have recognized the principle of the "enjoyment of human rights and fundamental

Voice of the People

Consider Beauty, Not Merely Sex Appeal, in Wilson Pictures, Says James Snyder

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer and the address of the writer if the writer is not in the area of the publication are required unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I have noticed several letters in the Voice of the People, such as Heartick in June 15, regarding the column by Earl Wilson.

This column could not have better advertising. I have been a reader of the Pontiac Press for over twenty years and had never noticed Earl Wilson's column until it was brought to my attention by these unfavorable comments.

I suppose there are hundreds of others like myself. I admit I was rather disappointed in not seeing anything I had not seen before or could not see by looking through a mail order catalogue, or in the vicinity of our bathing beaches.

I am sorry for people who, when looking at plants or flowers, can only think of the labor and expense of growing them and not the beauty of the blossoms, or who when looking at a lovely woman can only see sex appeal.

Look for the beauties in nature, Heartick, instead of the destruction those beauties might bring and you won't be so heartick.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Earth Will Be the 1st Planet to Send Rocket Ship Expedition to Outer Space

Don't let your children remain fearful about the bizarre "space ship" visitors who are depicted in comic books as ready to land on this earth and destroy us. Instead, use the positive technique outlined below. Our earth will launch the first space ships and I cite proudly for this statement.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-364: Dr. Harold J., aged 34, yesterday asked me to comment on the fearsome stories of space ships with fiendish invaders from distant planets.

"Dr. Crane, do you think we will be invaded soon by such space ships?" many people write to me.

"Is it true that space ships have already landed on this earth? And aren't flying saucers an established fact?"

"Will the people in space ships be monsters who devour us? And are they now hovering over this Earth, like a cat toying with a mouse, just waiting for the chance to pounce upon us?"

POSITIVE THINKING

That type of negative thinking is wrong, so banish it at once by telling your children the following facts.

Orson Welles set off a hysterical stampede with his clever radio dramatization of "Invaders from Mars," which shows how easily fear and negative thinking can demoralize even civilized America.

Counteract such folly by reminding your children and grandchildren that when space ships are launched, this planet Earth will be the first to do so.

The proof for that statement is based on the fact we have reached the pinnacle of ethical evolution with the Bethlehem story. No improvements on Christ have even been suggested in the ensuing 1,900 years.

TEST OF CIVILIZATION

Ethical advancement is the best test of civilization. And our ethics have also stimulated colleges, hospitals, etc., where research has now produced the atom bomb, the H-bomb and many other things.

NEW OUTFIT ?

that would never have been developed except for the tremendous stress by churches on higher education.

Remember, few colleges had ever developed on continents even on earth until the Christian era and most of our 1,800 American colleges and universities have been founded by churches!

Our missionaries also have founded the leading colleges in China, India, Africa, etc., so without our high ethical evolution, we'd lack colleges and hence the great scientific discoveries of the present day.

Thus, other inhabited planets revolving around distant stars, will not be likely to have colleges since they undoubtedly do not have our high ethical development.

LACK KNOW-HOW

So they don't have the know-how to build rockets and space ships.

If they were far ahead of earth, they'd have invaded us long ago.

Thus far there is no authentic case of any flying saucer or space ship ever having come within the sphere of earth's orbit!

So when space ships are finally launched, we will be the first to do such inter-planetary pioneering.

And when our earthmen land on distant planets, the people there will not have lobster claws for hands or the one-eye of Cyclops, for five fingers are demonstrably a more efficient type of appendage than a two-fingered claw. And two eyes surpass one-eyed vision.

GOD EFFICIENT

God is the essence of efficiency, as our scientific laws keep re-affirming with each new discovery.

The inhabitants of those distant planets will probably look like us and take their cue from us earthmen.

If we treat them with friendliness and love, they will respond thing for such occasions: they have been in business for years. I wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing for whoever is in charge of such things if they would split this business.

I know of three stations that could handle emergencies near them. Perhaps a life of your loved one may be saved by calling the nearest wrecker.

One Who Gets Around

Iron-Man Holiday Driver Risks Life With Fatigue

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN (For Hal Boyle)

CHICAGO (U)—This is the time of year the amateur Iron-Man type driver loads his family into the car and grimly whizzes off toward some far distant vacation spot.

Will he settle for 400, 500 or even 600 miles a day?

Not this character. He's a time-tested, 700-plus-miles-a-day demon who voraciously gobbles up those tedious distances.

He carts along fruit, sandwiches and a jug full of coffee for the family. The normal road break for lunch is not for the likes of him. He's going places on a tight driving schedule that runs from sun-up to sun-down.

Will he get there in one piece? Mr. Iron-Man simply oozes self-confidence on this point. After all, he's a top-notch driver, he hasn't consumed any intoxicating liquor and hard driving doesn't make him feel sleepy or tired.

DIMMER VIEWPOINT

But safety experts and scientists who have studied the insidious effects of fatigue take a dimmer view of his chances.

If he doesn't doze off momentarily or run headlong into an emergency that calls for a hair-trigger decision and response, the experts concede he'll probably make it all right.

But whether he knows it or not, the long grind of steady driving will slow down his reaction machinery and drop his vision and hearing ability below par.

Knowledge of these slow-down effects is based on actual field and laboratory tests of the primary functions mostly closely related to hours of driving.

One such study was made by the U.S. Public Health Service. Scientists tested truck drivers before and after a long stint at the wheel and after sleeping and resting.

REACTIONS TESTED

Drivers were given intricate manual tasks and then timed with a stop-watch. They also were tested for simple reaction time, reaction-coordination time, and manual steadiness.

In one of these tests, the men grasped an object shaped like a pencil and, as rapidly as possible, alternately tapped two small brass plates separated by a block of wood. In another, they had to jab a pointed object through a series of different sized small holes, without touching the sides.

In each of the tests, the men who had not driven since sleeping made the best showing. Only 9 per cent of this group failed to measure up to a predetermined level of driving efficiency.

Of the group which had driven seven hours or less, 27 per cent failed to reach the efficiency level. But 42 per cent failed in the group which had driven 12 or more hours.

Studies conducted for the U.S. Navy by Dr. Arthur H. Steinhaus, professor of physiology and dean of George Williams College, Chicago, show that fatigue considerably reduces the ability to see, especially in dim light.

HIS FIRST MISTAKE

Getting back to Mr. Iron-Man, the National Safety Council says his first mistake was in not setting a daily goal of 400 miles, with an absolute limit of 500 miles.

Dr. Steinhaus believes another serious mistake is to drive through the lunch hour. The simple exercise of leaving and re-entering the car causes the heart to pump a much greater volume of fatigue-easing blood to the brain.

All investigators agree abstinence from alcohol is a must on such trips. Numerous independent studies all show the reaction-slowing effects from as little as 2 ounces of whisky.

The Safety Council offers these fatigue-fighting tips:

1. Set a modest goal for a day's drive, starting and stopping early.

2. Stop whenever you feel drowsy or muscle strain. Drink water, walk around, breathe deeply.

3. Break the monotony of uninteresting stretches by singing, playing word games, license plate games or listening to the car radio.

4. Keep your car well ventilated. Commenting on accidents caused by fatigue, Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, said:

"The miracle of wonder drugs has overshadowed the oldest and one of the best remedies for mankind's ill-rest. So why not make your vacation a time of rest and relaxation, instead of an annual competition to see who can drive the farthest and fastest?"

Simple Precautions Avoid Contracting Typhoid Fever

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

It would date me if I were to talk about the possibility of getting typhoid fever by drinking polluted well water or spring water on vacation in the country. Indeed there is little after-vacation typhoid fever nowadays to buy feed for the doctor's horse or fuel for his furnace.

Practice must be dull in the autumn. Not only are municipal water supplies kept chlorinated so that tap water is perfectly safe to drink everywhere, but a considerable portion of the population is immunized against typhoid, paratyphoid alpha and paratyphoid beta.

When it comes to the question of slaking thirst with a drink of water from an isolated spring, well, brook, pond, lake or attractive pool, play it safe: Shake up a quart of the water with four or five drops of mild tincture of iodine—the same iodine universally employed as first aid disinfectant of minor wounds—and let stand for half an hour, when it will be safe to drink.

Of course water, milk or any other liquid may be disinfected by boiling for one minute.

Although tap water everywhere is safe to drink, a person traveling, touring, visiting or spending vacation in the country should regard all milk with suspicion. Especially milk kept or served in open container such as pitcher, jar, bottle with broken seal or drinking glass.

CITES DANGER

Horse About in Hearse
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—A fad with Harvard students is to use old hearses as hot-rods. Undergraduates pick up the hearses for a song at used car lots. A woman recently complained to police that two students had fitted out a hearse with a mattress and parked for the night in front of her house.

Eat Way Across Land.
KENT, Ohio (UP)—Tiny hitchhikers eat their way cross-country at the expense of beautiful trees. Davey tree experts report that leaf-devouring caterpillars, beetles and moths are covering a lot of ground even before they grow wings. They are frequently picked up and carried for miles by cars, buses, trains, even by strong breezes.

What, No White Coat?
SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—A puzzled policeman couldn't see what was wrong when an unidentified woman telephoned to complain that a neighbor was calling his cat every half hour. "He doesn't have a cat," the woman explained. United States soybean exports in 1954 reached an all-time high of 43,219,000 bushels.

Real Yankee Traders
OLD TOWN, Me. (UP)—When two-thirds of the 30,000 persons living in nearby Bangor were evacuated to Old Town during the recent civil defense drill their hosts were ready. Old Town stores were holding "dollar day." South Carolina holds first place as a producer of finished cotton woven goods.

Illinois Starts Fight for Purge Litter Bugs

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP) — Illinois is conducting a campaign against "litterbugs" who leave trash in state parks.

Conservation Director Glen D. Palmer said it is a movement to "prevent litter from soiling the natural beauty of our landscape and actually endangering the health and safety of the people."

Terrence S. Martin, custodian at Starved Rock State Park, reported he keeps three men busy four hours every week day just picking up bottles, tin cans and papers. Two more men operate a truck hauling away litter.

The lieutenant-governor of Ontario takes precedence over those of other Canadian provinces in respect to federal ceremonies and occasions.

Boy Shoots Up Town

GLASGOW, Mont. (UP) — A four-year-old boy shot up the town with a .22 caliber rifle. The shots went unnoticed until a passerby saw a bullet hole in the plate glass door of a store. A check showed that two other bullets had struck the stone on the building near the door. Police found that the boy had been alone in a car parked across the street. He told them that he had no trouble firing the gun.

At certain times of the season, parasites are quite common in fish.

... Sealed and Delivered

BOON ISLAND, N. H. (UP) — Coast Guardsmen on this tiny coastal island were given some ammunition and an order for a 90-pound seal for Prof. Clark Stevens of the University of New Hampshire. Soon afterward, they turned in a seal of the requested size — and all the ammunition. They said a two-by-four plank and a little chasir was all that was necessary.

'Motion Sickness' Blights Many Vacations

BY PHYLLIS HATTELLE
NEW YORK (INS)—Back in the days loosely referred to as good and old, families packed themselves off on merry motor car vacations to see the world and the Burma Shave signs, and there was no nonsense about "motion sickness."

Any kid inclined to get queasy was given a dose of baking soda, followed by a gentle warning to shut up. If he failed to respond, he was simply dropped off at the home of the nearest relative or friend, to sulk and recover.

Today, with families traveling by airplane, ship, bus, train and infinitely faster car, however, it can't be dismissed so lightly. There is a negligible number of families who would drop a motion-sick child from a plane, for example, no matter how sympathetic they are to the child's distress.

To point out causes, preventives and antidotes for such problems, a large number of doctors and scientists are gathering in New York City today for the first "International Symposium on Health and Travel."

One of the top experts is Dr. Herman I. Chinn, of the U.S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field, Tex. In 1950, he received the Sir Henry Wellcome Medal and award for his report on "Motion Sickness in the Military Service," and since the war has done clinical research into the civilian phases of it.

STRONG CONCLUSIONS

He comes to some strong conclusions about travel. Like:

Up to 80 per cent of children are likely to be susceptible to motion sickness—slightly more in cars than in planes or ships. Infants are excluded from this number, because they spend most of their time in a supine position, which is known to protect against illness.

Tests made by Dr. Chinn show that tendencies to be sickened by motion drop sharply with increasing age. In the 17-to-19-year-old bracket, for instance, only 25.1 per cent are affected, and in the over-30-year category, the tendency exists in just 9.7 per cent of persons.

More than twice as many women as men become airsick. The exact reason is unknown but "it seems probable," Dr. Chinn says, that it's because women have less exposure to motion than men have.

This leads to the "previous experience" factor. As one gains experience in any form of travel, his tendency to become sick decreases.

Tests show that 25 per cent of passengers have a tendency to sickness if there are rough seas on their first ocean crossing. Under the same motion conditions, only 16 per cent of experienced ocean-crossers would become ill.

WEIGHT IS FACTOR

There is a "slight tendency" for a person to become more sensitive to travel sickness as his weight increases. Surveys show the lowest illness-percentage is in persons weighing around 125 pounds (14.3 per cent), and the highest in those who weigh between 150 and 174 (23.8 per cent).

Race and color have no bearing whatever on motion sickness.

Dr. Chinn, aware that 25,000,000 persons will take flying trips this year, warns that "the greatest incidence of airsickness occurs in the left-hand window seats—because the pilot sits in the left seat and banks and turns are usually made in that direction."

He adds that one is less likely to be ill in a four-engine plane than a two-engine plane, because there is generally less turbulence. And most airsickness occurs during the daylight hours, because at night there are usually lower wind currents, less visual excitation and, what's more, a lot of potentially sick people are too busy sleeping to become nauseated.

STAVE OFF ILLNESS

Two good ways to combat motion's ill effects are: (1) watch your pre-travel diet carefully, eating foods which are high in carbohydrates, and (2) get your doctor to prescribe one of the "select handful of new drugs" which have achieved true prevention in many tests, some of them tending off sensitivity for as long as 24 hours with one dose.

But, of course, the surest way of all to travel comfortably this summer is to be a male, over 30, slender, with previous flying experience, seated on the right-hand side of a four-engine plane on a nighttime flight. You accomplish all this, and you should have no trouble at all.

Just Looking Around

COVINGTON, Ky. (UP)—Squads of police who answered a burglar alarm at a jewelry store found two 10-year-old boys peering through a hole in the ceiling. The boys, who had climbed over rooftops, gained entrance through a skylight and were breaking a hole in the ceiling when police arrived, told officers, "we were going into the store to see what we could find."

About one-quarter of all New York residents over 21 are foreign born. By contrast in North and South Carolina, only six-tenths of one per cent of the people are foreign-born.

The legs of the grebe are placed far back on its body.

Perfect Voting Record by Nonagenarian

STITZER, Wis. (UP) — Henry Schoppener, 92, claims a perfect voting record since he cast his first ballot for Republican presidential candidate James G. Blaine 70 years ago.

The retired general storekeeper said he well remembers the campaign because he ruined a perfectly good overcoat while taking part in a torch parade rally for Blaine, who was defeated by Grover Cleveland.

He said he never failed to exercise his franchise privilege and "raised my family the same way."

Drunk Driver 'Loses' Wife, Judge Finds Her

CHICAGO (UP) — Thomas J. Smith tearfully admitted in court that he had been driving while intoxicated because "I just lost my wife yesterday."

Judge Joseph Butler checked his story and told Smith "Your wife is perfectly alive and in the process of filing a separate maintenance suit against you right now."

"That's what I meant," Smith replied.

Chicago Opens Clinic for Disturbed Children

CHICAGO (UP) — The University of Chicago has opened a $60,000 clinic for the psychiatric treatment of emotionally disturbed children. Dr. John F. Kenward, director of the new clinic, said the present facilities include two children's playrooms built with one-way glass observation screens and intercom systems, to assist doctors in diagnosis by watching the children play.

Long-range plans for the clinic, he said, involve both the treatment of disturbed children and the medical training of pediatric psychiatrists and psychiatric social workers.

Policewomen Organize

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — Minnesota's distaff police officers have organized themselves into the Minnesota Association of Policewomen. The organization aims to improve working conditions and standards for policewomen, inform smaller communities of the need for policewomen in dealing with juvenile delinquency and other matters, increase educational facilities for policewomen and exchange ideas with policewomen nationally.

OKs Aid to India and Yugoslavia

But House Committee Lops $139 Million Off Other Programs

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower's proposal to continue aid to Yugoslavia and India headed for a House fight today after winning a close decision in the Foreign Affairs Committee.

The committee approved funds for both countries without change but lopped $139,200,000 from other programs, approving a foreign aid budget for next year of $3,285,800,000.

Then the group approved the program 20-4 and started it toward House action, probably next week. The Senate already has authorized $3,425,000,000, about what Eisenhower requested, for the year beginning July 1.

In the only major reduction, the committee slashed 145 million dollars from military aid for U.S. allies, without specifying any area for the cut. This brought the new military total to $1,133,000,000. The rest of the program is economic help of various kinds.

A bookkeeping reduction of $16,200,000 was offset by the committee's recommendation that another 22 million dollars in economic aid be given to Spain. This brought net reductions to $139,200,000.

By votes announced only as close, the group defeated a series of amendments to reduce or apply conditions to aid for Yugoslavia and India. Marshall Tito's Communist government is earmarked for 40 1/2 million dollars in economic help, plus unspecified military assistance; India is down for $5 million in economic and Point Four aid.

Rebirth of Religion Seen in East Europe

LYNWOOD, Calif. (U)—A resurgence of spiritual activity in Eastern European countries is contributing to Russia's "new look" in political policy, a Seventh-Day Adventist leader believes.

W. R. Beach, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the General Conference of Seventy-Day Adventists, told the Adventists' 53rd annual camp meeting last night that "we must not underestimate the spiritual factors in Russia's new policies toward those with whom she sits at the council table."

Beach, who served for 28 years as president of the Southern European Division of the church, told the meeting:

"God's mighty power is changing hearts and lives in Russia and Eastern European countries the same as it is in our own country."

Chemical Dust Arouses Fears of Townspeople

MARCUS HOOK, Pa. (U)—A chemical dust which coated the streets of this southeastern Pennsylvania town so it looked like a snow city in June has stirred a verbal battle between residents and officials of the Sun Oil Co.

A spokesman for Sun, which opened a new gasoline-making plant here earlier this month, said "a dust was thrown into the air" from a catalyst used in the manufacturing process. But he denied rumors that it was dangerous or unhealthy.

He said "certain unexpected things" occur when a new plant opens but the difficulties are getting straightened out.

The wife of a Marcus Hook councilman, Mrs. Lena Palmer, said she's "frightened because I'm afraid it might be ruining our health."

Other residents say they found pieces of silver in their home badly tarnished and declared their bathtubs, when wet, had turned a deep rusty color.

AUTOMATIC FLOWER VENDOR—Buying flowers is an easy matter in Hamburg, West Germany, as the choice is visible under glass in a coin-operated automatic flower vendor.

Old Planetarium Owned by Lee Now at College

LEXINGTON, Va. (UP)—A planetarium bought by Gen. Robert E. Lee stands almost forgotten in the attic of the physics building at Washington and Lee University.

The room-size mechanical scale model was the latest thing for the study of astronomy when Lee, then president of the university, bought it in 1868. Today it is a museum piece, superseded by projection-type planetariums.

"Today's planetariums can only show how these various bodies appear in the sky," Dickey said.

The planetarium inventor, a Professor Barlow, made only three or four of the complicated instruments. The only other one known still to exist is at the University of Mississippi.

House Recommends Public Housing Plan

WASHINGTON (U)—The House Banking Committee voted yesterday to recommend a low-rent public housing program of the size President Eisenhower has asked—35,000 units in each of the next two years.

That is the rate currently authorized. In the Senate, however, the Democratic leadership pushed through a bill to authorize 135,000 new units in each of the next four years.

Still Can Smell Still, Still They Burn Onions

TULSA, Okla. (U)—Bill Wolverton, Alcohol Tax Unit officer, reported "onions by the peck" were being burned out of a hot plate in an attempt to hide the fumes from a still raided on the North Side.

"They can use onions, polecats, disinfectants or anything else, but we can still tell the smell of a still," he remarked.

Cinema Couple Parting

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Actress Vivian Blaine and her husband Manny Frank, her business agent, are separating. They called it a trial separation and said yesterday that there are no plans for divorce.

They were married in Los Angeles Jan. 10, 1945.

Medalists Get Raise

WASHINGTON (U)—The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill to give each of the 395 living Medal of Honor winners $100 a month for life. They now get $10 a month after age 65.

U.S. Chessmen to Match Wits With Russians

NEW YORK (U)—Four U. S. chess players are en route to Moscow for a rematch with the Russian world champions.

Last year the Soviet Union team won easily from the Americans in this country.

Israel Horowitz, one of the 24-man American team, said yesterday before boarding an airliner:

"We expect to do better than last year because we have practiced, we are sharper and we know more about the tactics of the opposition."

Leaving with Horowitz were Samuel Reshevsky, top U. S. chess player, and Arthur Bisguier and Lawrence Evans, who rank second and third. Horowitz ranks No. 6.

The rest of the team is scheduled to leave today.

A Name Is a Name

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—Basel John Papahronis, 27, has petitioned District Court to change his name because it's too confusing. What does he want it changed to? William John Papahronis. "Everyone has been calling me 'Bill' for years," he explained.

JUST CHECKING—Sixteen-year-old John Staib, center, has his own car, but he also has a complaint. The Lockhaven, Pa., youth says police stop him about three times a week to make sure he's old enough to drive. Roy Mayers, left, and Pete Witmeyer service the car, which John bought with earnings from a part-time job.

Car Sale Net—62c per

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—The Police Department netted exactly 62 cents per car for 34 unclaimed automobiles sold at auction. The cars brought higher prices but most of the money went for storage fees.

Baby Is Abandoned at Boarding Home

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U)—On June 12, a man identifying himself as Mr. Bowman telephoned Mrs. Ellen Faford's boarding home and asked if he could leave his son Larry for five days. He explained he and his wife needed time to find an apartment.

Shortly thereafter, Bowman and a young woman appeared, handed Mrs. Faford the money for five days' care and left a boy about 10 months old.

The couple hasn't returned. Mrs. Faford has handed Larry over to Children's Center in hopes it can trace the parents.

Unwittingly Buys Street; Now He's Stuck With It

SALT LAKE CITY (U)—Brigham Krause bought a piece of property at a tax delinquency sale. Now he finds he owns a street.

Yesterday he asked the Salt Lake County Commission what he should do with it. The commission didn't know. The problem was turned over to the county attorney's office. They don't know how the street got sold either.

Bickering Pair Visits Police to Quell Quarrel

IRONTON, Ohio (UP)—A mid-decided couple walked into the police station here at 3 a. m. with an unusual request.

"Officer, we're married and just returning home from a party," the man said. "We're in the middle of a family fuss. Would you mind if we stayed here a few minutes so we won't get into real trouble?"

Desk Officer, Homer Fugett was delighted to have company. He gave the couple cigarettes and comfortable chairs.

For 30 minutes not a word was said, the silence broken only by the chatter of the police radio.

"George, honey, I'm all right now," the woman finally said. "Let's go home."

"Sure, Baby, let's go," the man said. Glancing at the officer, he added:

"Thanks a lot. We're rolling along now. Everything is okay."

Veal Again Top Meat Buy in Food Stores This Week

In keeping with the season shoppers will find foods to match their pocketbooks in ample supplies of meats and homegrown produce.

Shoppers interested in economy as well as good eating will find good buys in veal again this week. For fancy roasts, leg, rump and sirloin are wise choices for as little as 50 cents per pound, while the shoulder roast costs even less. Some retailers remove the knuckle bone from shoulder roasts, giving the shopper more for his money. Very adequate supplies keep veal prices low at this season.

Blade chuck roasts will run competition with the other meats on the shopper's list, for again this week it's priced at about 40 cents a pound. The blade cut, one of the most tender and best flavored cuts of beef, is about 10 cents a pound less than other chuck cuts such as the English cut or round arm pot roast. Beef well marbled with streaks of fat throughout firm red lean, assures the shopper of the best in flavor and tenderness. Some stores are emphasizing steaks for summer—especially for outdoor eating.

Although this is the season when pork prices rise gradually, many cuts are selling for 20 to 30¢ lower than they were a year ago. Though prices are slightly increased since last week, there are numerous wise selections at the counter. Among these, is the rib-end loin roast. Boston butt at about the same price will make good roasts or steaks.

GOOD STEAK

Barbecue lean, economical steak. Many stores are featuring bacon at low cost for this time of year. For pre-holiday buying, shoppers may choose picnic shoulders, smoked, fresh or canned ham.

In the poultry department, the small 5 to 8 pound Bellville turkey is one of the best choices for roasting. Prices are about the same as last week. Chicken will wear a moderate price tag this week. Stewers are about 6 to 10 cents less per pound than fryers. The best fryers have thin, smooth skins and flexible breast bones, and weigh from 2½ to 3 pounds. Preferred broilers are 2½ pounds or under.

The lamb market is steady with prices the same. A slight drop may occur by the end of the week. Shoulder roasts will meet with favor if shoppers are economy minded.

Whitefish will be one of the favorites this week, however all fresh water varieties are reasonable in price. Abundant supplies of frozen haddock, halibut, ocean perch and cod; and canned tuna are also very reasonable.

EGGS BEST BUY

Large size grade A eggs represent the best buy compared to other sizes of the same grade. The upward price trend continues. Topping the vegetable list is homegrown, new green cabbage. For about 3 to 5 cents a pound it represents one of the best buys in food value. Rich in Vitamin C, if eaten raw, it can be substituted for fresh citrus which is becoming more scarce.

Bibb lettuce is one homegrown product that goes begging at the counter today simply because few shoppers recognize it or have tasted its delicately different flavor. This small 6 to 8 ounce deep green head of lettuce is selling for as little as 5 cents a head this week, compared to the average prices of 70 to 80 cents a pound before the homegrown arrived.

Abundant supplies of corn from the South and West are here for roasting or corn-on-the-cob. Prices are right for most shoppers.

Green beans are plentiful, and quality is excellent at about 15 to 17 cents a pound.

POTATOES DOWN

Due to increasing supplies, long-white potatoes have dropped around a cent a pound since last week.

Unfavorable California weather has affected the quality of shipped-in head lettuce, tending to raise prices.

Demand for deep red hot house tomatoes has kept costs high compared to those grown outdoors.

Varying supply and quality of Michigan strawberries is causing price fluctuations. Bright uniformly red berries with fresh green stems are tops in flavor.

Best ways to water garden, lawn

Unless you know the correct ways to water lawns, flowers and shrubs you can waste a lot of water. And, not get the results you want. In a timely feature, "Do you know the best ways to water?" July Better Homes & Gardens shows you how to put every drop to good use. It tells you how to avoid run-off and evaporation, how to use watering accessories properly, how to get your lawn and garden safely through a long, hot summer. Get July Better Homes & Gardens today, wherever magazines are sold.

Bing cherry prices are expected to decline slightly as supplies increase.

High quality in watermelons continues, but prices advanced this week. Since it is near the end of the season, Texas cantaloupes are high. Costs are expected to be lower after a good supply starts from California within two weeks.

Good pineapple and bananas are scarce.

There are many sales in canned foods before the new canning seasons start. Canned corn and green beans are in especially heavy supply. Many stores are featuring frozen concentrates of lemonade.

In heavy supply are cabbage, leaf lettuce, mustard greens, green onions, turnip greens, spinach.

In plentiful supply are green beans, beets, collard greens, corn, cucumbers, honey, red radishes.

In moderate supply are avocados, cantaloupe, cauliflower, carrots, celery, endive, escarole, grapefruit, lemons, head lettuce, limes, dry onions, oranges, peppers, pineapple, potatoes, romaine, strawberries, squash, tomatoes, turnips, watermelon.

In light supply are apples, apricots, asparagus, blueberries, broccoli, cherries, eggplant, honeydews, Bibb lettuce, mangoes, mushrooms, okra, peas, plums, sweet potatoes.

Last survivor of the Minutemen who fought at the battle of Lexington in 1775 was Jonathan Harrington, who died in 1853, at the age of 95.

Jimmy Stewart Facing Tough Role Playing Lindbergh

LONDON (INS)—Jimmy Stewart soon will tackle one of the toughest acting assignments of his movie career—the dramatic story of Lindbergh's trailblazing trans-Atlantic flight.

One man, alone with his thoughts in the cramped cockpit of a tiny airplane, is the acting challenge Stewart will face in August when he steps into the role of the youthful Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh.

In London, where he is finishing up "The Man Who Knew Too Much," for Paramount, Jimmy said that the picture will be centered around the famed flight itself.

It will begin the night before Lindbergh's take-off from Roosevelt field, Long Island, and end with his landing at Le Bourget airport in Paris.

"There's only one way it can be done," Jimmy said, gloomily. "Flashbacks—and I hate flashbacks."

There will be flashback glimpses, he explained, of Lindbergh's early barnstorming days and of the events which led up to the first non-stop solo flight across the Atlantic from the new world to the old.

But the real story, Jimmy feels, is in the tiny cockpit of the "Spirit of St. Louis" and right now he's searching for a way to keep it there despite the flashbacks.

"You know how it's usually done," he said unhappily. "The screen goes kind of blurry and dreamy, or you see pages blowing off a calendar. I want the audience to stay in that airplane."

The problem hasn't been solved yet, but Jimmy seems to think well-handled music might supply the answer.

NOTHING SPECTACULAR

Lindbergh's flight went almost entirely according to plan, and this poses an additional problem for the movie-makers. There were no engine fires, no near-crashes, few startling emergencies.

"He did run into that thunder-head," Jimmy said, "and the plane started icing up badly. Then, of course, there was his desperate battle to keep from falling asleep."

Nature and circumstances have shaped Jimmy Stewart, perfectly for the role of Charles A. Lindbergh. He shares not only the famous flier's gangling build and unassuming nature, but also his encompassing love for planes.

He told of landing a damaged Liberator during the war and added, "It's the only time I ever hurt an airplane." When a man uses the word "hurt," as if his airplane were a living thing, he loves flying.

Jimmy approached the making of "Strategic Air Command" with a determination that the air sequences would be believable and he is approaching the Lindbergh picture in the same way.

Here, at least, the solo nature of the part will be a help. "In a lot of pictures," he said, "You get a long shot of the airplane and you hear the engines. Then you get a close-up shot and the engines are louder. Then you get a shot inside the airplane and you've got the engines quieted down so you can hear the actors talking.

"That just isn't right. It destroys the whole illusion of flight. This time," Jimmy added with satisfaction, "There won't be any conversations in the airplane."

TALKED WITH LINDY

He has talked over the film with Lindbergh in a general way, but Jimmy doesn't want to turn himself into a mere caricature of the famed flier and he doesn't plan many future conferences.

"I will want to talk to him about his mannerisms in an airplane; how he handles the throttle and the controls, how he fastens his safety belt and so on.

"But there are thousands of feet of newsreel film of the flight. When I get back to the states I'm just going to shut myself in a projection room and run it all through."

The "Spirit of St. Louis" will be reconstructed for the film, which is to be released through Warner Bros.

The first location work will be done at Le Bourget airport.

Some shots will be taken over the sea, where Lindbergh skimmed the waves to check his position by shouting at astonished fishermen. But Roosevelt field has changed considerably since 1927 and the take-off scenes probably will be shot on a reconstruction of the airport near Hollywood.

Compulsory Work Law Repealed by Town

WHEATLAND, Wyo. (AP)—Men can breathe a little easier now. Wheatland's compulsory work law has been repealed.

The old law, passed during World War I, required every able bodied man to work at some job or perform labor on the town's streets. Violators were subject to $100 fine.

Facts on Noses Are Sniffed Out

Two Doctors Compile Data on Organ Which Never Stops Growing

NEW YORK (UP)—You may be startled by the following information into comparing what you see by staring into the mirror now with pictures of yourself taken years ago. The nose is the only organ of the human body that keeps right on growing throughout life.

Furthermore, the switchboard for your nose inside your brain, which is called the rhinencephalon, is the only part of the human central nervous system that is continuing to develop.

This might mean that the nose has a future of dramatic and fascinating possibilities.

Two Denver nose doctors, Ivan W. Philpott and James Chessen, wrote about the wonders of the human nose and how physicians just take it for granted and what a pity that is because the shape and size of the nose has made or unmade many a man and a woman.

Their piece was published in the Rocky Mountain Medical Journal which seemed to end it. But since then it has been quoted in other journals, it has attained the dignity of reprint in "Current Medical Digest," and you can hear it quoted in many medical conversations.

It combined humor and information. An example of the former was a reminder of Drs. Philpott and Chessen to their fellow nose specialists that probably "the Good Lord" didn't design "the nasal septum to be a landing field for eager sub-mucous surgeons."

On the other hand, it seemed to have been designed to give everyone two noses in the outward form of one. The septum is the dividing barrier. Not only does it support the protruding organ. It helps to establish the cycle of pressure and relaxation which is the "respiratory cycle" that permits us to breathe.

A very high percentage of people with a "sick nose," actually want a nose operation, whether they know it or not, because the nose means so much to human beings that they'd do almost anything to have a good looking one.

Cautioning fellow surgeons who might get trapped into a nose operation without good surgical reason, Philpott and Chessen went on to urge re-study of the standard operation to improve the breathing function of the nose. They said the operation "has never been revised, reviewed or understood" and "it is held in ill repute by the laity and medical alike."

This is because "nose doctors for generations have been studying nasal structures and anatomy in minute details and have struggled almost as hard to avoid learning anything about function and the physiology of the nose."

Salk Says Proper Polio Vaccination Causes No Cases Through Association

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk said yesterday that children "properly vaccinated" against polio do not transmit the disease to others.

He declared that contraction of polio through association with children who already have received Salk immunity injections "is so highly improbable as hardly to merit consideration."

The question of "association cases" arose as Dr. Salk, developer of the vaccine, appeared in company with 14 other of the nation's foremost polio authorities before a House Commerce subcommittee.

"It is clear that children who receive properly prepared vaccine do not transmit disease to adults, because they do not have the disease," Salk told the congressmen.

Then under further questioning by Rep. Hayworth (D-Mich) who said authorities of one New Jersey community ordered vaccinated children to keep away from school as potential carriers of polio, Dr. Salk declared there was no evidence to support association contraction.

"Not if the children receive properly prepared vaccine," he said.

But Dr. Salk conceded "there seems to be an association" between contraction of polio by others who have come in contact with children receiving improperly made vaccine.

Public Health Service statistics on polio incidence have shown a considerable number of cases among persons associating with others who have received vaccine.

Earlier in the hearing the question was raised whether the Salk vaccine as now manufactured some other physicians among 15 outstanding researchers in the field of virus medicine who were before the subcommittee.

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn) arranged the session with the idea, he said, of "creating a renewed and well-informed confidence in the program."

The discussion developed that some residual protein from monkey kidney material remains in the vaccine under present manufacturing processes. The polio virus needed for the vaccine is grown in monkey kidney tissue.

John A. Barr's Success Story

'Don't Watch Clock,' Says New Chairman

(Copyright, 1953, by International News Service)

"You don't watch the clock on a job like this."

So says John A. Barr, the new hard-working chairman of the board and president of the $900 million mercantile firm of Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago, which has a chain of 568 stores around the country.

Barr, at the comparatively young age of 46, now fills the shoes of 81-year-old Sewell Avery, who stepped down after the memorable Montgomery Ward proxy fight last April. Avery turned over the reins to Barr, his "right hand man," after he defeated Louis E. Wolfson in the latter's dramatic battle for control of the company.

He is a slender, athletically built 6-footer who dresses and talks conservatively. He smokes an occasional cigarette and thinks a moment or two before answering questions.

He is a one-time country boy, who learned self reliance while on the farm. He is tackling his new job with characteristic drive and determination.

"I have just one simple objective: the growth and progress of Montgomery Ward," said Barr. "Everything can be measured against that."

"We are interested in operating success in the interest of our stockholders, employees and customers."

Barr, who came up the hard way, attributes a degree of his success to his country upbringing. He knows what it is like to work long and hard. He was born Sept. 10, 1908 on a 220-acre farm near Akron, Ind., about 100 miles north of Indianapolis.

His father, the late Earl Barr, was a farmer and also bought and sold livestock. Barr grew up on the farm and attended a one-room rural school to which he sometimes walked several miles. He was a good student and skipped several grades, earning "double promotion."

"Speaking of hard work," Barr said, "did you ever work in a pickle field, picking pickles? I used to get up at dawn and work until sunset. The eight-hour day was not for me. In those days—and it isn't now."

Barr talked about "the element of self reliance" that he and other farm boys were lucky enough to get. He described it as something city boys have difficulty in appreciating.

"You are more on your own on the farm," he explained. "You learn to rely on yourself, not only in doing your chores but in choosing the form of your entertainment."

HAD NO TV

"We had no TV, no radio in those days. In the block where I live now there must be 50 kids. When I was a boy on the farm the nearest child was a mile away. "On the farm you are alone a great deal. You do all kinds of jobs, and think for yourself. Nothing you do is specialized."

Upon graduation from Akron High School, young Barr was awarded a scholarship to De Pauw University at Greencastle, Ind.

"While at De Pauw," he re-

Paper Pressman to Be Missionary

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UPI)—The duties of a newspaper pressman and a preacher are far apart, but a young man here does both. Bernard Mitchell, 23, a native of Concord, N. H., works with the presses of the Schenectady Union-Star and is also completing his training for mission service.

Mitchell already has a license to preach, but must complete another year of training before he is ordained.

His job at the Union-Star provides a living for the young New Hampshire man and his wife while he continues his training.

Mitchell serves as assistant pastor of Bethel Pentecostal Tabernacle in nearby Guilford. He hopes to serve in a foreign field after he is ordained.

called, "I waited on a table in a boarding house for two years."

He transferred to Indiana University where he studied law while working his way through college as a student librarian and in other jobs. He was graduated with honors in 1930.

After graduation he practiced law in Gary, Ind., for three years and then—in March 1933—joined Montgomery Ward as an attorney. Two years later he returned to Gary where he was made a law partner in the firm of Wildermuth, Force & Barr. In 1938 he returned to Ward's legal staff and was named assistant secretary in 1940. He was elected as a member of the board of directors in 1940.

WON OVER F.D.R.

Barr had an important role in the preparation of the U. S. District Court cases which declared null and void President Roosevelt's seizure of Wards in 1943 during a labor dispute.

For many years at Wards, Barr was in charge of labor relations during which time he made a reputation as a negotiator.

He became vice president and secretary of the company in 1949 and continued in that capacity until he succeeded Avery as chairman of the board on May 9, 1953. He also succeeded Edmund A. Kridex, who resigned as president the same day.

Barr has always respected

Avery with whom he worked closely for many years. But associates of the new chairman-president are quick to point out that "Barr is not a 'yes man'—he never hesitated in speaking his own mind."

Barr is happily married. He was married to the former Louise Stentz of Gary, Ind., in 1933. They have four children—Robert, 19, a sophomore at Grinnell College; George, 16, a student at New Trier Junior High; Richard, 13, who is finishing eighth grade at Wilmette (Ill.) Junior High; and Barbara Ann "Candy," 6, who has just finished first grade.

Barr's hobby could be described as work. However, when he finds time his other hobbies are golfing and growing roses in the garden of his home.

Chicago Bishop Defines Modern Day Culture

CHICAGO (INS)—What is the definition of a culture? According to Chicago Methodist Bishop Charles W. Brashares, "If Mother does a thing, that is an example. If father, mother and children do it, that is an environment. If the family television, radio and people in general do it, that constitutes a culture."

No part of the ocean is known to be lifeless.

Experts Rank Man Between Monkey, Sloth

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Man was put in his place today, above the monkeys from the lesser Antilles but below the sloth of the West Indies.

For the Smithsonian Institution has catalogued all of us North American mammals. By counting every variety, it has found 3,622 known forms of mammals on this continent.

The list was made up by Gerritt S. Miller Jr., former curator of mammals for the U. S. National Museum, and Dr.

Remington Kellogg, the museum's director.

They found that, numerically, the rodents win in a breeze, with around 2,000 different forms. There are about 400 kinds of carnivores—cats, dogs and other beasts of prey.

BATS AND WHALES

Bats? Nearly 300 species and varieties. Whales? Fifty kinds in North American waters.

Miller and Kellogg found only four varieties of mankind among the 3,622 forms of mammals. And the way we're described scientifically doesn't make even these four sound very impressive.

"Homo Sapiens Sapiens. Type locality Upsala, Sweden. Range now almost cosmopolitan. (That's the Caucasian, of course)."

"Homo Sapiens Afer. Type locality, Africa. Introduced and widely established in North America. (Negro)."

INDIAN

"Homo Sapiens Americanus. Type locality, eastern North America. Range, North, Central and South America. (Indian).

"Homo Sapiens Asiaticus. Type locality, Asia. Now widely established in North America. (Oriental)."

Well, fairly clear, except for this: How come Homo Sapiens winds up from Upsala, Sweden?

Neither Miller nor Kellogg was available, but Dr. David Johnson, a mammals expert for the Smithsonian, was glad to help.

CARL VON LINNE

He explained that the first classification job was done 1758 by the great Swedish botanist, Carl von Linne, better known by the Latin form of his name, Linnaeus.

Linnaeus, a Homo Sapiens Sapiens himself, was teaching at the University of Upsala, and so described the local product.

"The same goes," Johnson said, "for the common rabbit and the common rat."

All right. But how come man rates below the sloth?

Johnson said this doesn't mean a thing. He explained that after you run the branch of each family down to the last twig, you have to come back to another branch.

The list placed families of mammals on a scale based generally on the timing of their emergence.

And this is the way it worked out, in the sedate prose of the Smithsonian:

"On a zoological basis man is placed between Cercopithecus Mona Mona, a monkey confined to the lesser Antilles in the new world, and the sloth acratocnus odontogonus, whose remains are found in West Indies caves."

Least you feel too badly about this, a final mammalian thought from Johnson.

"We get a whole family to ourselves," he said of mankind. "That's pretty good."

Thors' Long Career in Education Near End

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Thirteen thousand, two hundred and sixty-six high school diplomas signed in the firm hand of John Thors Jr., tell a graphic life story of a man who this year climaxes a distinguished career in Pontiac public education.

Retiring from his post behind the principal's desk in Pontiac High School at the end of the summer months, he asks neither eulogy nor glorification for his quarter-century of service.

"A man who has done his job needs no praise. The opportunity to serve is compensation enough."

This is a sample of the philosophy of this direct, forthright man whose only evidence of 65 years is the statistical record.

Another important part of his philosophy hangs in three simply framed American documents on the school office wall. They, too, tell the story of the man behind the desk. Side by side are the American Creed, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address and the 10 Articles of the Bill of Rights.

John Thors took over the principalship of Pontiac High School in 1930 after five years as assistant principal. Prior to that he had been an instructor in the Pontiac Junior College for a period of nine years.

Trained to be a geologist, his interests in rocks waned, he relates, "when I met a girl and she was the finest thing that ever happened to me."

Ethyl Travis of Pontiac became Mrs. John Thors Jr. in 1920. They have one daughter, Mrs. Walter R. Els of Bloomfield Hills.

Principal Thors was born in Bessemer—the Upper Peninsula mining region of Michigan—attended the University of Michigan and was associated with the Cheboygan schools for some time.

During World War I he served as director of the Hoover Relief Commission for the Baltics.

NO OTHER CAREER

Would he choose education again if he had an opportunity to select another career? "Absolutely," he replies.

"My father and mother told me many times that everyone has a mission in this life which should involve service to his fellow man. What better way is there to contribute to posterity than by working with young people?"

Quered on the prevalent idea that boys and girls today are not as well educated as a few decades ago and do not have the grounding in the "3-R" skills, a smile framed the warm blue eyes.

"I recall that each generation since time immemorial has made the same charge," he observes. "Actually," continues this man who has worked with boys and girls for 40 years "youngsters today are the same as their fathers and mothers before them. However, today there is more opportunity to develop. On the whole I would say they are just as intelligent, just as well trained as their predecessors—perhaps, even a little better."

Declaring that this new generation can do no worse job with the world than the present one, John Thors said that it is certainly a maze of problems which have been bequeathed to them to solve.

NOT DISTURBED

He says he is not too disturbed about the hue and cry raised over juvenile delinquency.

"I am much more concerned over adult delinquency. Elim-nate this, and we won't have to worry about the kids. The best lesson in life is still taught by example."

Under the guidance of Thors, a fine education program has been developed at Pontiac High School emphasizing academic and college preparatory training as well as a top-notch vocational department.

He is the originator and founder of a series of self-perpetuating scholarships at the University of Michigan, Michigan State College, Eastern Michigan College at Ypsilanti, Albion College and Wayne University for the graduates of Pontiac High School.

Started in 1944, an initial investment of $8,000 was sent to each institution of higher learning to be reinvested with the proceeds to be added to the original fund. The recipients of these scholarships are picked by the college from a list of applicants sent annually from the Pontiac High School. The first school in Michigan to establish a continuous scholarship program. The Pontiac plan will grant four years of aid to a student, provided the scholastic marks have been maintained.

John Thors resolutely believes that there should be a higher "premium on brains." Irrespective of family finances, he states, a boy or girl who has the brains, the intelligence and the willingness to work, deserves assistance.

He proposes that, if necessary, government should "subsidize brains." This complex world calls for good thinkers. It should be our business to seek them and give them a chance to develop for the good of the entire country.

RANGE OF INTERESTS

John Thors' interests range from the finest of classical music to 18 holes on the golf course.

"Now I am satisfied with 18 holes. I used to be quite enthusiastic about the second round, but I'm willing to stop at one-half of the 36 now."

He likes, too, to fish, read and smoke the blackest cigars.

Living in a community, he has always believed, presupposes an interest in civic affairs of the town. He has been active in service organizations and church work and plans to continue these affiliations.

What are his plans when he hands out his last diploma following the close of summer school in August?

"They haven't jelled. I've been part of schools so long it will take a little while to find just the right niche."

QUARTER-CENTURY PRINCIPAL — John Thors Jr., will retire as Pontiac High School principal at the end of August after a 25-year stint in that position. Recognized as one of Michigan's outstanding educators and school administrators, he founded the self-perpetuating scholarship plan for worthy Pontiac High School graduates which is now functioning at five state institutions of higher learning.

LATEST PERSONAL PLANES — Want your family to become airborne? The light plane with plastic wings in the top picture will soon go on the market in Italy for about $1,300. Shown in Naples, the small craft weighs just over 500 pounds, reaches 90 m.p.h. and can land in a space less than 150 feet long.

Clarkston 'Author' Gets Early Start; Produces First Book at Age of Eight

Ronald Horton is a writer. There is nothing unusual about this except that Ronnie is only eight years old.

Relatives of the youth called the Pontiac Press yesterday to inquire whether there was a special school where Ronnie might learn more about writing.

"You see," explained his grandmother, Mrs. Floyd Dobson, of Clarkston, "Ronnie has written a book."

Inquiry brought out the fact that Ronnie had written the book, which is about butterflies and horses, for the benefit of other children.

As he explained to his grandma, "I want to write for the children like Laureen (his sister who is three) so that they can understand about these things."

To ascertain the quality of his work, Ronnie and his mother, Mrs. Melvin Horton, of Clarkston, were asked to bring the book to the Press.

The book, very neatly typewritten by the boy himself, proved to be a short and rather factual one, with crayon-colored illustrations at the bottom of each page.

In one instance, the young author had even taken the trouble to catch a real butterfly and affix it to a page along with a drawing of one which had alighted on a flower.

Ronnie, who will be a third grade student next year at Andersonville School, likes spelling best and gets 'A' in that subject.

This is the first book the boy has ever written, but he intends to continue his chosen career. The next story he writes, he says, will be all about birds.

A bright lad in many other ways too, Ronnie is a regular "idea man," according to his mother and grandma.

He likes to make things. He fashions model houses of wood and also makes bird houses. And the boy has built two dog houses.

One time, his folks had a flower garden right out in front of the house, but dogs often cut through the garden, crushing the delicate flowers.

So Ronnie had an idea. He told his dad to form a sort of elevated flower box of stones, filling the inside with dirt. Thus the problem of protecting the flowers was solved.

The slight, brown-haired youth, for all his studiousness, is just like all the boys when it comes to play. He, like others, has succumbed to the current Davy Crockett craze, and has all the attire including coon-skin cap — lacking only Davy Crockett shoes.

Lately, Ronnie has been interested in reading books leaning toward the scientific.

And the youth presently has one wish. He recently said to his mother: "Someday soon, I'd like to go to a big library, where I can just look at all the books."

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

A report detailing what steps must be taken to prevent Pontiac from becoming a traffic-strangled ghost town has just been released by T. M. Vanderstempel, city traffic engineer.

The report, result of a three-month study of vehicle and pedestrian movement in the downtown area, lists four basic and a number of lesser recommendations. The four:

1. Lengthen the green-amber-red traffic light cycle on Saginaw street between Auburn and Lafayette to provide a more steady flow of traffic.
2. Delay pedestrian signals for 10 seconds after vehicular traffic receives the green light so cars can complete right or left turns, thus avoiding stagnation in the lane of traffic behind the turning car.
3. Eliminate parking or standing along the curb 50 feet back from the intersection to make turning easier.
4. Lengthen parking spaces at meters to 23 feet, making it easier to park and lessening delay to traffic behind.

Other recommendations:

1. Three one-way streets.
2. "Cloverleaf" movements to avoid left-turns at narrow intersections.
3. "Face-to-face" left-turn lanes at wider intersections.
4. New streets.

Test Questions Cause Confusion

Gotham Students Flunk Regent's History Exam; Teachers Critical

NEW YORK (INS)—Know what the purpose of the Embargo Act of 1807 resembled? Or what delayed the ratification of the Articles of Confederation?

Neither did a large number of New York state high school students who recently failed the regents examination in American History. Even the teachers were critical of the exam.

The increase in deficient grades on the exam was so high that New York City Superintendent of Schools William Jansen is considering an administrative ruling to authorize academic diplomas for seniors who failed the test.

Normally, to qualify for the academic diploma, students must pass the history, English and world background regents and tests in their electives.

At one New York City School the so-called normal 15 per cent rate of failure jumped to about 27 per cent. Other schools have not computed statistics.

The answers to the two questions above:

The Embargo Act and the neutrality legislation of the 1930's were similar in purpose: cession of western lands by the states held up adoption of the Articles of Confederation.

Addresses Vermont Crowd of 25,000

Ike Urged to Run for Second Term

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP)—President Eisenhower travels into New Hampshire today after laughing off a jovial plea—with a serious undertone—that he seek a second term. It was in New Hampshire's 1952 presidential primary that he got an early boost toward the White House.

Eisenhower, on a tour of northern New England, arranged to fly to Concord, N.H., this afternoon for an address from the steps of the State Capitol.

He arrived in Rutland from Washington yesterday. At the fairgrounds he told a crowd estimated by police at 25,000 that America always will extend "the olive branch" of peace "to all who will take it in honesty and integrity." But he stressed that the United States also intends to remain strong.

JUMP FOR JOY — Wearing the full gear of a paratrooper, this civilian jumper moves out of a fast-moving Hastings plane to "hit the silk" over Frensham Commons near London. He is one of the Londoners who become parachutists and "jump for joy" on weekends. During the week they are bankers, lawyers, clerks, policemen, doctors, plumbers and what-have-you. When Saturday comes, they change into the rough khaki and red beret of the parachute regiment and special air services. On Monday morning they are back in the city on their various jobs with a scratched face or a bruise here and there as the only traces of their exciting "hobby."

Transmission Plant Closed by Walkout

DETROIT (AP)—A wildcat strike of 50 tool sharpeners closed the Detroit Transmission Plant of General Motors Corp. at nearby Wilk. Run today, idling 3,500 employees on the day shift.

The walkout came less than 48 hours after the last of a wave of work stoppages at GM plants around the country was ended.

Picket lines were posted at plant gates last night and continued to ring entrances as day shift workers arrived this morning. Other workers refused to cross the picket lines. About 1,800 were idle on the midnight shift. The plant employs 8,800 in all.

31,147 persons crossed in the 6 a.m.-6 p.m. period tabulated.

Heaviest-traveled intersection by autos is Saginaw-Huron, where 23,349 vehicles passed in the 12-hour period surveyed.

In explaining the recommendations, Vanderstempel's report states that during rush hours vehicles are unnecessarily delayed by the short cycles of traffic signals which do not allow the vehicles to clear the intersections.

Traffic in the lane next to cars parked along the curb, is often delayed three or four minutes because vehicles desiring to make a right turn are often prevented from doing so by pedestrians, the report relates.

2,050-CAR CAPACITY
A capacity of 2,050 cars per hour "is considered tolerable," the report states. Peak-hour load on the two streets now is 2,573. Eliminating parking entirely would increase capacity to 4,020 per hour, according to statistics.

Busiest downtown corner, pedestrian-wise, is at Saginaw and Lawrence Sts., surveys show. There,

By banning parking 50 feet back from the corner, cars wishing to turn right may do so in the lane next to the curb, thus allowing through traffic to continue in the second-from-the-curb lane.

Parking spaces currently range from 18 to 23 feet, the report says, "and were originally laid out when the length of an automobile was considerably less than what it is today."

PARKING LOT NEEDED

Lengthening spaces to 23 feet and eliminating parking 50 feet from the corners would eliminate 52 meters, the report states. To make up the loss, it recommends construction of another municipal parking lot for at least 100 cars.

One-way operations are recommended for Mt. Clemens street between Saginaw and Mill (eastbound). Huron between Mill and Douglas (also eastbound) and Mill street from Huron to Lawrence (southbound).

Also advocated is abolishment of left-turns off Saginaw into Warren street, which "will benefit the smooth, rapid flow of traffic northbound along Saginaw."

SUGGESTS 'CLOVERLEAF'

"Cloverleaf" turns (three right-turns to replace a single left-turn) are suggested for southbound and northbound traffic on Perry at Huron, southbound on Perry at Mt. Clemens, and eastbound on Huron at Perry.

Where streets are wide enough, Vanderstempel urges a common left-turn lane along the center line. (The plan is used on several Detroit streets.)

Possible new thoroughfares listed are an extension of Mill through to the intersection of Perry and Milbourne. "Another possibility for through traffic may be created along Parke and Seneca from Auburn to Perry," the report states.

A new traffic signal is recommended at Mill and Huron.

A new intersection is strongly urged at Saginaw and Auburn-Orchard Lakes. But for the time being, Vanderstempel recommends a new system of traffic signals at the jog.

"Ultimate solution of this complex and dangerous traffic problem will be continuance of Orchard Lake straight east across Saginaw, curving southeast into Auburn."

TRAFFIC SLOWED

While not listing specific locations or action, the report states, "The flow of traffic in tributary streets is in many cases unnecessarily slowed down because of right-turn prohibitions into major thoroughfares."

Use of policemen between 5 and 6 p.m. is recommended on Saginaw at Huron, Pike and Lawrence. The report notes:

"In Pontiac, the drivers of vehicles obey traffic signals but only a very limited number of pedestrians feel compelled to do so. The pedestrian, however, will obey the officer's traffic whistle."

Art Symbolizes Big Four Talks

Abstract Work Shows Faceless Chiefs of State Against Fire Backdrop

NEW YORK (INS)—A huge, imaginative painting of the "Big Four" leaders in conference was unveiled in New York with the four chief characters portrayed in faceless anonymity.

The abstract canvass, by American artist Wilma Prezzi, was presented by the International Fine Arts Council of New York, just a month before the scheduled Big Four meeting in Geneva.

Samuel Oliphant, director of the council, explained that the four leaders shown around a table, against a background of fire, furious action and a variety of grotesque figures, were deliberately made in "a little mass form" because Miss Prezzi started her painting three years ago.

She could not know at that time, Oliphant said, who the Big Four leaders might be when the painting was completed.

In the background, among other things, Mercury is seen making notations of the Army's doings while various symbols of the East, Near East and West, expressing human suffering in various terms, are caught in the flames of war.

Birds Pick on Tabby

FORT DODGE, Iowa (UP)—Dive bombing bluejays pick on her cat, a woman told the police. She says the jays started out on squirrels but now have turned on her pet tabby.

TEACHER LOSING—Teachers' salaries are a problem at all scholastic levels, as shown by chart being studied by Northwestern University's President J. Roscoe Miller, left, and Kenneth F. Burgess, president of the Chicago University's board of trustees. According to the chart, salaries of college faculty members have gone down 5 per cent since 1940, while those of other professional groups have increased.

Museum Sets Up Anesthesia Exhibit

CHICAGO (UP)—Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry has a new permanent exhibit on "The Conquest of Pain."

The exhibit depicts the progress made in anesthesia, which has opened the way to surgical operations which would have been impossible only a few years ago. The exhibit's purpose is threefold:

1. To explain the nature of pain, and to show that it is not something to be feared but that it is nature's way of indicating danger to the body.

2. To show that surgery today is no longer a fearful experience for the patient.

3. To demonstrate that the modern anesthetic plays a major part in today's spectacular operating room accomplishments.

Takes Census of Illinois Ducks From Airplane

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—The problem of census-taking can be complicated.

Counting people is job enough, but when you try to count the bills of all the ducks in Illinois, the problem is indeed tough.

Frank C. Bellrose of the Illinois Natural History Survey here is the man who counts ducks. He does it by taking to the air himself.

In cooperation with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Bellrose operates a few hundred feet aloft over the Illinois and Mississippi River valleys, and estimates the density of the waterfowl on the water below.

Aerial photographs on which birds have been counted and their density determined help in arriving at accurate estimates.

Call for 'Sheriff' Scares Off Gunman

LORAIN, Ohio (UP)—Joseph Bakos tried a new trick and it put a would-be holdup man to flight.

A baby-faced gunman walked into Bakos' store, handed him a paper sack and a note that read:

"Put all the money in this bag. Keep your mouth shut and you won't get hurt. There is a gun pointed at you."

"There is a sheriff in the back room visiting my brother," he said. Then he shouted to his wife, "Get the sheriff."

There was no sheriff in the back room but the holdup man didn't wait to find out.

That's for the Birds

ORANGE, Conn. (UP)—Arrested for speeding on the busy Boston Post Road, Nicholas Scarra told the officer he was in a hurry to get to Bridgeport to "take a canary to a sick friend."

Camera to Give History Lessons in Washington

WASHINGTON (UP)—Educational television shows to teach fifth graders history will be tried here beginning in September.

The experiment, designed to make the subject exciting, is being financed by a $110,850 grant from the Old Dominion Fund, a foundation established by Paul Mellon of Middleburg, Va. Eighteen programs are planned to be shown fifth grades once a week in September.

A variety of production methods will be tried to find out which is most interesting and educational for students at that level.

The story of Christopher Columbus, for example, while well known to every fifth grader, will have a new interest factor injected into it by the method of presentation. A narrator impersonating Columbus will read from the log of the discoverer's first voyages across the Atlantic and animated drawings will illustrate his fleet of ships and crews.

The American people use more than 100 billion pounds of milk during a year.

Polio Shots Not Needed

ALBUQUERQUE (UP)—During the anti-polio vaccine shots an Albuquerque mother notified school officials her child didn't need any. "We have polio insurance," she wrote.

Agree on Raise in Federal Pay

Senate - House Group OKs 7.5 Per Cent Hike for Million Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conferees agreed yesterday on a bill raising salaries of 1,073,262 federal employees 7½ per cent retroactive to March 1.

The Senate conferees obtained only a few minor increases in the raises voted by the House. The Senate originally had passed a 10 per cent pay increase measure; the House on Monday voted for 7½ per cent.

Some of the conferees said they had been advised President Eisenhower would accept no more than 7½ per cent.

The increases, which will total about 328 million dollars annually, apply to 983,057 classified civil service employees and about 90,205 related workers.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) had said earlier the Senate conferees would fight to give the rank-and-file federal employees an 8 per cent pay raise. The half million postal workers already have been given a raise averaging 8 per cent.

No Menace to Molotov, but Pup's Unwelcome

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alert guards spotted a man with a bulge under his coat entering the auditorium as Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov addressed the U. N. meeting yesterday.

Policemen rushed him out, searched and found a tiny puppy snuggled under his arm.

The man had a ticket—they're mighty scarce. He couldn't bear to lock the puppy alone in his car, so brought it along.

The guards enforced the no-dogs rule. Along went the owner.

Quemoy Commander Notes Buildup by Reds

TAIPEI (AP)—The commander of Chinese Nationalist forces on Quemoy said today the Chinese Reds were stepping up their preparations for an attack on the offshore islands.

Gen. Liu Yu-chang was quoted by the official Central News Agency as predicting that the Reds would launch a large scale invasion.

HAIR-RAISING—The wind was blowing in San Francisco and was impetuous enough to whip President Eisenhower's hair into approximation of an Indian topknot. He seems somewhat startled by it all.

The Salmon River country in Idaho was so wild and impassable that the Lewis and Clark expedition was unable to penetrate it.

Veterinarians Veto Health Plan for Pets

400 veterinarians voted disapproval yesterday of a proposed medical insurance plan for pets. They denounced it as "socialized medicine."

The vote followed a six-page committee report to the California State Veterinary Medical Assn. on a Southern California proposal for a pet health plan.

The plan contemplated premium payments of $25 to $30 a year by pet owners, construction of a $350,000 animal hospital in San Fernando Valley in Southern California, and siphoning business to the central hospital by leasing the businesses of affiliated veterinarians who would be placed on salary.

Highway Sign Road Hog

QUINCY, Wash. (AP)—Members of the Chamber of Commerce worked hard to put up a sign at the Burke junction pointing the way to Quincy. Then they learned they had put the sign in the middle of a proposed state highway which already had been staked out.

Current population of Canada is more than 15 million.

KRESGE'S for the MOST of the BEST for the LEAST

Maybe Harry Should Help Ike Choose the Latest

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Any time now, President Eisenhower is likely to turn up in a new sports coat, grass green in color, and with brass buttons.

Furthermore, he appears to be drifting away from his devotion to In addition to the sports coat, he has ordered five new suits, all of them three-button and single breasted.

These sartorial notes come to us today courtesy "The Daily News Record," a publication devoted to the men's wear industry.

It reports that the new clothes have been put on special order to William P. Goldman & Bros., one of the nation's larger clothing manufacturers.

The sports coat is the real mystery in the order. For Eisenhower sent in the cloth from which it is to be made. Since no one at the White House, understandably, will answer personal questions about the President's wardrobe, it's anyone's guess as to what caused this grass green, brass button trend.

The News Record's guess is as good as any, that he wants it "apparently for wear on the golf course. One thing for sure, it shouldn't alienate the Irish vote."

If you're wondering why we're moseying around a clothing shop, it's all because of Harry Beane, a St. Petersburg, Fla., resident who became disturbed over Eisenhower's new blue straw hat.

An Associated Press Wirephoto showed Eisenhower beaming from beneath it. Beane saw it, and wrote in to inquire:

"Why can't the public be supplied with more details when such a historical event as the President getting a hat takes place?"

"Did Ike go downtown, enter a hat store, paw over 40 hats and then decide he wanted the blue job? Was the Mrs. along? Did she pick out the hat? What shade of blue is it? Is it Eleanor blue? Was the hat sent to Ike by some manufacturer? How did they know his size?"

"Did Ike win—or lose—a golf match that might account for his wearing such a topper? Did some legislator, or diplomat, or visitor to the White House forget the chapeau, and Ike decided he might as well wear it?"

"Come on, fellows, let us in on these things. I'm worried to death."

But what with the White House reticence, and the fact that the hat people apparently have not recovered from their inauguration day frenzy over Ike's Homburg, it looks as if we'll have to settle for this haberdashery substitute:

The fond thought of the President in a green coat with brass buttons—and the anxious hope he won't wear it with the straw blue hat.

Surgery Used to Grow Legs

Limb Becomes Longer After Operation on Polio Victim

TORONTO (U)—Surgery which restores the power of growth to legs paralyzed by polio was described here today by Dr. Joseph M. Jones of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., in a paper prepared for a joint meeting of the British and Canadian medical associations.

Briefly, the surgery involves the connecting of certain arteries and veins in the paralyzed limbs, he said.

"After experimenting on puppies with this method, we successfully operated on 14 children who had shortened legs for one cause or another."

"Although it is still too early to allow final results we can say that no child to date has suffered any serious heart damage from such procedures."

The surgery also has been used to slow abnormal leg growth, Dr. Jones said, but the method is not recommended for stimulating or decreasing arm growth.

"On the basis of our work so far it would appear that surgery should be undertaken before the patient has reached 12 years of age," Jones said. After that age bone growth was likely to be too mature.

He told of a case where a 10-month-old child contracted paralytic polio and lost the use of the left leg. At the age of six years the leg was 1 1/2 inches shorter than the right leg.

After surgery, however, growth in the paralyzed leg resumed. Seven months later the difference was one inch, and three years later one half inch.

Woman Faces Trial on Influence Charge

WASHINGTON (U)—Mrs. Lucille Miller, of Bethel, Vt., has been released from a mental hospital here to stand trial on an indictment charging that she attempted to influence young men against the draft.

Her release yesterday from St. Elizabeth's Hospital followed a court order handed down by a federal judge in Vermont Monday.

Mrs. Miller was seized May 3 after U.S. marshals used tear gas to get her from her Vermont home. Her husband Manuel had stood off the marshals for 12 hours with a rifle in an effort to prevent her commitment to the hospital.

Army Readies Nuclear Device for Soil Tests

CINCINNATI (U)—Army engineers are developing a nuclear soil meter which will help builders of highways, dams and airfields measure the density of soil and its moisture content.

These indicate to a builder the strength of the soil so that he can determine the weight of foundations or the amount of tonnage the soil can take. This information is needed in estimating construction costs.

Frank Mellinger, director of the Ohio River Division Laboratories of the United States Corps of Engineers, said that with the meter, builders will be able to save more than two-thirds of the cost spent on soil testing under present methods. And the testing will be done quicker.

Radium at the end of a tube drilled into the ground sends out gamma rays. A Geiger counter tells how many rays are bouncing back from the soil.

This gives the scientists the key to the density and moisture.

Mellinger believes the first commercially produced models may be ready next fall.

Cuspidors Still Important in California Culture

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (U)—"Painless" Nell Brown, 44-year-old tattoo artist, ran afoul of the law because she didn't have spittoons in her studio.

Nell, a much sought-after artist in this Navy town, always had plenty of nice white enameled spittoons on the premises, but San Diego police pointed out that they were not cuspidors and the municipal code specifies cuspidors.

Nell was arrested but released on $25 bail shortly after—presumably to shop for cuspidors.

Kalamazoo Police Hunt Kidnap-Killing Car

KALAMAZOO—The orange or yellow Cadillac, latest clue in the kidnap-killing of Jeanne Singleton, is being run down by state police today.

The car was reported seen on May 23, the day the eight-year-old disappeared, on a lonely road leading to the pines area where her body was found. It was also reported in nearby Plainwell on June 14 after a molesting attempt on a little girl.

About 50 per cent of the American people have some type of medical and hospital insurance.

Urban Traffic Congestion Must Be Solved by Cities

CHICAGO (U)—A public transportation executive has declared efforts of cities to adjust their central business districts to the private automobile "have proved futile."

"Even after the expenditure of billions of dollars traffic congestion downtown is worse instead of better," Donald C. Hyde of Cleveland said.

Hyde, president of the American Transit Assn., and general manager of the Cleveland Transit System, spoke at a seminar for newspaper and magazine writers on public transportation.

It is ironic, he told the writers, that the private automobile—"the most prominent evidence of our mass production proclivities"—is becoming so serious a problem that it threatens to undermine the urban civilization which created it.

"Many elements of city life," he continued, "are coming around to the realization that what downtown needs is a reversal of the trend of the past—a concentration on the movement of people rather than vehicles."

Hyde declared "what transit needs most is precisely what downtown needs most—more people to promote more commerce, he added:

"To get them transit service must be sped up. To speed up its service transit needs the help of the city. The help it needs most—sensible downtown driving and parking policies—would simultaneously be a big help to the city in alleviating traffic congestion."

"Priority for the transit vehicle would reserve today's trend toward ever greater congestion and win back transit riders. More riders mean more people and fewer automobiles downtown."

The seminar running through Friday, was sponsored by the Public Administration Clearing House, a nonprofit corporation established to facilitate the interchange of information, ideas and experience in the field of public administration.

Refugee Schoolgirl Wins Patriot Award

CHICAGO (U)—America means a lot to 17-year-old Zia Urbanas. As a little girl she saw her father executed by the Communists in Lithuania.

It changed her from a happy child to a bitter one.

She and her mother came to the United States in 1950, and life has been better.

Now a student at Jones Commercial High School, Zita said she will apply for American citizenship "the minute it is legally possible."

"Here I have the freedom I have always dreamed about," she wrote in an essay.

Her story won for her a plaque from the second district American Legion Auxiliary.

Glacier ice covers about 5,800,000 square miles of the land area of the world, 98 per cent of this total being located in Antarctica and Greenland.

Army Hangs On to Tokyo Hotel

Japanese Ask U.S. to Give Up Billets in Downtown Area

TOKYO (U)—Of the sore spots in anti-American feeling in Japan centers on Tokyo's fancy Dai Ichi Hotel, still being used as a U.S. officers' billet.

The Japanese owners have sent a representative to Washington to ask the Defense Department to give up the hotel.

But an Army spokesman in Tokyo said the United States will hold onto the property until the Japanese government provides another place to house the 600 field grade officers living in the Dai Ichi.

The Dai Ichi, one of the most modern hotels in Tokyo, is located in the heart of the popular Shibashi entertainment and shopping area, only a few steps from the Ginza bright lights.

Dai Ichi owners want to reclaim the hotel in time for the summer tourist season but a U.S. Army spokesman said the chances are very slim.

Japanese charge U.S. military forces have been too slow to move out of the hotel and several other downtown buildings they took over during the Allied occupation.

But Army officials told United Press that poor Japanese planning caused the delays. Under the U.S.-Japanese mutual defense treaty, Japan is required to furnish new facilities for buildings surrendered by American military units, but the Japanese have not provided enough new quarters to allow the Americans to move out of the downtown area, the Army said.

Jap Turtle Omen Nets Near Record Fish Catch

ODAWARA, Japan (U)—The omen of the turtle paid off yesterday. A giant, 170-pound turtle waddled out of the sea at Odawara.

Rejoicing fishermen fed him sake (rice wine) and poked him back to sea. Then they recorded a near-record catch of sardines and mackerel.

Turtles are traditional signs of good luck to Japanese fishermen.

Racket Boss Found Stuffed in Car Trunk

EAST ST. LOUIS, II. (U)—Police found the body of J. Fred Koenig, convicted black marketeer and one-time St. Louis politician, stuffed in the trunk of his new Cadillac yesterday.

He apparently had been slain elsewhere and then jammed into the trunk.

Koenig's slaying followed by little more than a month the May 17 shooting here in which the cars of Birney T. (Chick) Hovey Jr. and Kenneth Mueller were riddled with bullets. Mueller was wounded in this shooting.

Hovey and Mueller, friends of Koenig, 48, were former associates of Frank (Buster) Wortman, an ex-convict and reputed boss of the rackets in the area.

There are five times more men who are alcoholics than women. A typical victim is 35 to 45 years old, a skilled worker, is married, owns his own home and has two or three children.

Furor Disrupts U.N. as Nunez Attacks Russians

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Cuba's Ambassador Emilio Nunez Portuondo was gavelled down and called to order amid a furor at the United Nations 10th anniversary session yesterday when he launched a bitter attack on Russia and its actions.

U. N. General Assembly President Eelco Van Kleffens, presiding at the San Francisco meeting, hammered the gavel down and halted Portuondo, ruling that "no attacks on individual states should be made here" and that "this is not the place for any debate."

The Philippines' Carlos P. Romulo thereupon jumped to his feet, came forward and vigorously protested the chairman's ruling, demanding that Portuondo be permitted to speak as he wished.

The Cuban ambassador said that the Soviet Union has not been behaving as Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had described Russia's conduct in a speech just before the Cuban diplomat mounted the rostrum.

Illinois Official Okays Anti-Spouse Testimony

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP)—The Illinois attorney general disputes the old belief that marriage always bars a person from testifying in court against his or her spouse.

Atty. Gen. Latham Castle handed down an official opinion saying this belief isn't true, at least not in Illinois.

Castle said the rule does apply to confidential communications during the marriage relation—but not to communications and occurrences that took place prior to marriage.

TELLING TIME—1

Measuring By Candle

Do you know how to tell time? It is important for people to know the correct time—especially children who must get to school promptly.

Before clocks and watches were invented, men and women measured time and days by the stars, the sun and the moon.

One of the earliest ways was to set a ring of big stones so that the shadows told how far the sun had moved across the sky each day. Later men used candles for such measurement. They figured out how many candles would be needed to count up and divide the period from one sunrise to the next.

Alfred the Great, the Saxon king, is believed to have worked out such a system. Sometimes the candles were striped or sanded so that each section measured a half hour.

In this picture, a Saxon in a castle prepares the time candles. As you can see some have burned down. He has a candle snuffer in his hand.

You can use crayons to color the picture if you wish.

Normal Cab Ride Averages 3 Miles, Costs 75 Cents

DETROIT (UP)—About a billion and a half persons use taxicabs each year, the Automobile Manufacturers' Association estimates.

The AMA said the average ride is about three miles, with the average cost from 50 cents to $1. Taxis now travel 4,800,000,000 miles a year, more than double the 1951 total.

They travel more miles than all city buses, street cars, trolley coaches and rapid transit units combined and also outnumber these other vehicles.

People trying to get cabs on rainy nights might be skeptical, but there now are 100,000 or more cabs in operation in the country.

New York has the most, about 12,000. Washington has the second largest number with its 9,500. The only other cities with more than 2,000 are Chicago and Philadelphia.

New Orleans, though only 16th in population, is fifth in the taxi tally with 1,600.

Holds Court at Jail After Rowdy Weekend

COLUMBIA, S.C. (U)—City Magistrate Bryan H. Lumpkin thought 13 defendants too many to transport to the courtroom, so he held court at the jail.

Nine men and four women were in jail after a rowdy weekend party. Sentences ranged from $25 or 30 days to $200 or 60 days.

Gravel Pops Like Corn

INDIANAPOLIS (U)—Popcorn gravel delayed the paving of a section of the northern Indiana east-west toll road. The gravel contained particles with a shell surrounding a hard center. Moisture seeping through the shell caused the particles to explode like popcorn.

The construction firm had to get its gravel from another company.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Timothy Rourke, 34, Detroit, was shot by a police officer, Jack Bristow, who was trying to arrest him. Rourke was shot in the back and died. The police officer was shot in the arm and is recovering. The story is a true one.

MICHAEL SHAYNE grimaced sourly and growled, "All right, Bright - eyes. That was fast thinking when you grabbed the phone in front of Will, though not really necessary. We're not hiding anything. Not much, anyhow," he amplified with a glance at Lucy.

"An old boy-friend of Lucy's," Shayne explained to Rourke with a shrug. "He never strangled her, and she refuses to believe he'd go that far with any other woman."

Timothy Rourke dropped onto the divan beside her and covered one hand with his. "Don't pay too much attention to Mike. He's sore and jealous, but when it comes to a showdown he'll be riding out in front of you like a knight on a white charger."

Lucy smiled miserably at him. "I've got him in a horrible mess, Tim. You see, Jack did come here to hide from the police, and I didn't tell Michael. I was afraid. . . ."

"Let me do the talking, Angel," Shayne cut in sharply. "Don't go off half-cocked on any of this. Lucy hadn't seen Bristow for years until he busted in on her a couple of hours ago with a slug hole in his stomach and needing help. She didn't know it was murder, but she did refuse to cover up for him, and tried to call me."

JERKED PHONE

Shayne broke off to gesture at the telephone. "He jerked the cord loose when she tried to phone me, then locked himself in her bedroom. I showed up just then. Shayne went on, improvising swiftly, "and before she could tell me about it, this Sergeant Loftus and his goon squad came charging in and got me sore. So I kicked them out without knowing Bristow had been here, and I admit I felt like a fool when Lucy told me a minute later that he was here. I broke down the door. Shayne went on swiftly, "but it was too late anyhow. He'd got out the window and down the fire escape in the meantime. They were already onto him being in this building and I saw no reason to drag Lucy into it by telling her part when it was too late to do any good. That's all there is to it."

ROURKE's black eyes were fever-bright. "But you did make that call in to give his name and description?"

"Sure," Shayne conceded readily. "It was too late to do anything else by that time. If the fool hadn't dropped the slip of paper with Lucy's name, she'd never have come into it. And by the time we knew about it, it was too late to start telling Will Gentry the truth."

Lucy avoided meeting Shayne's eyes because she didn't dare let him see the gratitude shining in hers.

"How badly was Bristow hurt, Lucy?" Rourke asked after a moment.

"I honestly don't know. It was his side right here," She indicated the spot beneath her ribs with a forefinger. "It wasn't bleeding much outwardly and he seemed pretty good. He claimed a dead man had shot him," she added with a shudder. "I don't know what to think now. Is there any real evidence that he killed the girl on 18th Street?"

NO EVIDENCE

Rourke shook his head slowly. "Nothing definite, I guess. They don't know much of anything yet. The girl in an adjoining room found Trixie's body. Gladys Smith, she'd signed the register," he added, "but the other girls call her Trixie. She's new in Miami. Looks about 16. About Bistow. The only thing tying him to it thus far is the taxi driver who picked him up a block away at the right time and brought him here. That, and the paper with your address on the floor."

U. S. Picks Team to Visit Soviet Farming Districts

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP) — Eleven farmers or agricultural experts have been chosen to represent the United States on a tour of farm districts in Russia.

They will be part of an exchange program under which a Russian group also will visit this country to observe farm methods.

The idea springs from an editorial in the Des Moines Register suggesting that Russian farmers should get a first-hand look at Iowa's famed method of raising corn and hogs.

It was enthusiastically endorsed by the Kremlin, and Soviet chief Nikita Khrushchev has been plugging it ever since.

One of the Americans selected for the trip, according to Rep. Talle (R-Ia.), is Loren K. Soth, editor of Register's editorial page.

The American group will number 12, but only 11 have been selected so far. Talle said. He told a reporter that 6 of the 12 are Iowans.

The Agriculture Department has made no formal announcement of the composition of the U.S. delegation.

The group will visit Russia between July 15 and August 15. The Russian farm delegation will visit this country afterward, primarily to visit Iowa.

Talle said he understood the 12th member of the American group will be selected shortly.

Shayne tossed off his cognac and got up to stride up and down the floor. "Will Gentry," he argued, "said there wasn't any blood in the room. No gun. Hardy looks like he was shot by the girl in self-defense."

"Let's quit telling fairy stories and get down to the truth. What did happen here tonight?" Rourke asked.

LUCY straightened up with a gasp of alarm, but Shayne continued his pacing without breaking stride and declared flatly, "That's all of it, Tim. Don't blame Lucy too much. She thought the guy was still there in the bedroom, of course, when the cops came . . . and the cop at her door didn't give her a chance to tell him anything. In fact," Shayne went on with a twisted smile, "I sort of took the play away from her."

"Wait a little minute," said Timothy Rourke wearily. "This is me. Remember? Not the cops. I don't mind covering up for you two nice people, but I'm waiting to hear you say which one bumped the guy."

It was Michael Shayne who reacted this time instead of Lucy who didn't catch the full import of the reporter's words. "What guy, Tim? What are you talking about?"

"The guy under Lucy's bed," said Rourke. "Jack Bristow at a guess, from the quick look I grabbed."

Plane-Ferrying Pilots Meet Adventure and Intrigue as They Skim Across Sky

BURBANK, Calif. (P) — Ferry pilot Jack Ford, 37, knows the wild blue yonder like a bus driver knows his route — except that Ford's routes are as changeable as the skies he flies.

He runs the world's biggest aircraft ferrying service. He and his crews have flown 18 million miles, through North Atlantic storms, through intrigue and gunfire, in and out of a thousand airports.

His crews have been called soldiers of fortune and accused of being war criminals. But Ford insists the pilots and crewmen of Fleetway, Inc., are just hard-working businessmen helping him prove a point:

"There's only one good way of delivering airplanes — by air."

Fleetway has delivered 5,000 planes. "There's only one place we haven't been," says Ford, "behind the Iron Curtain."

It's just as well. One of Ford's pilots learned after they made a delivery of B25s to Formosa that the Chinese Reds had condemned the Fleetway crews to death, in absentia, as "war criminals."

Today's sleek, new transports and executive planes are far different from the war surplus hulks Ford and his pretty wife, Mary, now 33, flew when they opened Fleetway in 1946.

Ford profited when buyers suddenly realized that surplus craft set out to rust and oxidize after World War II were valuable properties.

Two of his men even hand-reconditioned a B25 a North Dakota farmer had been using for a chicken coop. It later sold for $10,000.

"We still deliver a few old clunkers," said Ford, "but we've been getting more and more new plane contracts."

frogged from field to field around the subarctic rim of the North Atlantic between Canada and Scotland.

The little plane, one of few one-engine jobs ferried across the ocean, made the trip in 68 hours. "It could have taken weeks by boat," Ford said. "A plane has to be coated with preservatives, crated, and reassembled — and there's a good chance that it might get damaged being loaded or unloaded."

Fleetway pilots have made 1,200 North Atlantic crossings. Ford considers it the worst stretch of flying in the world. It was on this route, twice in 1952, that the company lost crews.

Two men died trying a landing in bad weather at Goose Bay, Labrador. Two others disappeared in one of aviation's unsolved mysteries.

Jerry Kurtz, 28, and Francis J.

McLaughlin, 30, crash-landed a light transport south of Goose Bay. They removed emergency gear from the plane, camped several days — and were never seen again.

Searchers later found the plane and camp sites. "The Mounties found footprints that showed where they fell in with a large group of men," says Ford. "They may have been murdered by Indians or trappers."

Runkle pointed out that the need for increased use of electricity on the farm is emphasized by the fact that only 30,000,000 additional acres of land, at the most, can be cultivated through reclamation and irrigation projects in the next 20 years.

"From the standpoint of the individual farmer, productivity and electrification . . . mean less manpower and more earning power — at less cost," Runkle concluded.

More Electrification of Farms Needed

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP) — A General Electric Co. official claims that without more electrification farmers will need 100,000,000 new acres of crop land to feed the anticipated 1975 national population of 210,000,000.

Karl H. Runkle, manager of industry sales for GE, said that the 100,000,000 acres would be equivalent to all crop land now cultivated in the states of Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio.

Runkle pointed out that the need for increased use of electricity on the farm is emphasized by the fact that only 30,000,000 additional acres of land, at the most, can be cultivated through reclamation and irrigation projects in the next 20 years.

"From the standpoint of the individual farmer, productivity and electrification . . . mean less manpower and more earning power — at less cost," Runkle concluded.

THE BERRYS

Telephone Student to Receive Diploma

COLUMBUS, Ind. (UP)—A crippled girl will receive her high school diploma here this year after four years of education by telephone.

Audrey Crawford, 21, who has been crippled since birth and spends most of her time in a wheelchair, "went" to class via an intercom telephone system.

It enabled her to listen to class discussions and, by flipping a switch, to participate in them.

Her mother did the leg work, carrying test papers back and forth between school and home and even collecting Audrey's report cards.

Audrey ranks 17th scholastically in a class of 300 and hopes to do part-time secretarial work upon graduation.

U.S. Claims Atom Test Information Will Prove Health Threat Scare False

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The United States wants all countries to give the U.N. information on atomic tests so the world can see they are not a threat to human health if properly safeguarded.

If everyone agrees to this proposal, it would mean that the Soviet Union and Britain, the only other powers known to have conducted atomic tests, would turn in data on radiation and fall-out.

Veteran observers at the U.N. speculated that even with the new Soviet policy of openness and cooperation Moscow is not yet likely to submit any important data on nuclear tests.

Results of the fall-out from nuclear tests over the Marshall Islands and in Nevada are known but nothing has been published by the Russians on their nuclear tests.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., permanent U.S. delegate to the U.N.,

started this latest move in the complicated atomic picture last night by issuing a statement. U.S. sources emphasized the statement had no relation to the U.N. 10th anniversary celebration in progress in San Francisco and no bearing on the Big Four conference next month in Geneva.

They said that after consultations with other governments, the United States had decided the time had come for such data to be submitted. It could not be put into effect until after the U.N. Assembly has taken action, if it does, at the next session beginning Sept. 20 in New York.

"Although the best scientific information known to us shows that properly safeguarded nuclear testing, in contrast with nuclear warfare, is not a threat to human health, there has been concern in several parts of the world over the problem of radiation from atomic tests and of its effect upon human health and safety," Lodge said.

Apparently he was referring to the incident of some radioactive material falling on a Japanese ship in the Pacific Ocean and on the forced removal of some Marshall Islands people from their homes after a nuclear test. Also, India's Prime Minister Nehru still has on the U.N. table a proposal that everyone stop nuclear tests pending agreement among the nations on a system of atomic control.

Lodge said there is a large body of scientific data in existence relating to this question and "we in the United States are making intensive studies of it."

"These studies must and will continue," Lodge said. "But the data which already exist and which will become available in the future both in the United States and in other countries have not been collated."

"We therefore propose that these data from all countries should be assembled so that all nations can be satisfied that humanity is not endangered by these tests."

Lost Lincoln Plaque Turns Up in Closet

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP)—A bronze plaque of Abraham Lincoln which was "lost" 21 years ago has turned up in the Illinois Capitol—in Gov. William G. Stratton's closet.

The plaque was cast at the order of late Gov. Henry Horner for the Illinois building at the 1933 Chicago World's Fair. It was sent back here in 1934 and hadn't been seen until Stratton found it.

The plaque is 22 by 33 inches, and bears a profile of Lincoln and a 110-word quotation on his views on labor and property. It has been installed on the wall at the entrance to the state historical library here.

Dates for Professor

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UP)—Abdul Amir Wahab, a Southern Illinois University student from Bagdad, Iraq, has his own version of "an apple for the teacher." Just before final grades for the winter term were due, he presented one of his professors with luscious dates from his homeland.

Government estimates indicate it costs $13,000 to $55,000 per classroom to build new public schools, depending on location.

Move Gold Dredge

HELENA, Mont. (UP)—The first of the modern floating gold dredges to be erected in the Helena mining area has been transferred to placer workings in the Boise, Idaho, Basin. It required fifteen 20-ton trucks to haul the dismantled 300-ton giant. There still is one gold dredge in the Helena area. It is on a creek 15 miles south of Montana's capital city.

Doctor Travels on Camelback

Saginaw Medic Tells of Tour of Duty With U.S.
Mission in Iran

SAGINAW (AP) — Medicine by camelback is only one link in the world-spanning career of a Saginaw Army officer.

He is Lt. Col. Herbert C. Wallace, visiting relatives here after an 18-month tour of duty with the U.S. Military Mission in Iran.

In his post as medical adviser to the imperial Iranian gendarmes, Col. Wallace often found himself aboard a camel's hump to negotiate Iran's mountainous terrain on inspection tours.

Reporting on his experiences, the colonel said:

"Preventive medicine and sanitation are new concepts to the Middle East. They're difficult to establish because their doctors would rather treat diseases than spend time preventing them."

Iranian Army discipline is much more strict than the American—"The officer is supreme. He can cuff men around almost at will."

The GI in Iran gets many more holidays than his American counterpart—"at least 26 holidays a year, as well as the 40-day fasting period in the spring when little is accomplished."

BUY WAY OUT

"Anyone can buy his way out of his two years compulsory military service for a few hundred 'rials' (the basic Iranian monetary unit.)"

The 32-year-old Wallace has seen service in two wars. He served 44 months with the 32nd (Red Arrow) Division during World War II. He won a Bronze Star, Purple Heart and Combat Medals for his part in the island-hopping campaign in the Pacific.

He served in Korea for 10 months on combat duty, then was transferred to a hospital staff in Japan.

During his recent tour in the Middle East, he took time for side trips to Germany, Greece, Turkey, North Africa, Egypt and Pakistan. Col. Wallace's next post will be as commander of the Eighth Field Hospital at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Supreme Court Demands Liquor Increase Reasons

GROSSE POINTE WOODS—Officials of Grosse Pointe Woods have been ordered before the State Supreme Court on July 19 to show cause why additional liquor licenses should not be allowed in the city.

The State Liquor Control Commission has refused to issue further licenses on the recommendation of the city although recent survey would allow issuance of four additional licenses.

Begin Laying of First Ocean Phone Cable

CLARENVILLE, Newfoundland (INS)—Formal ceremonies yesterday marked the start of work in laying the world's first trans-oceanic telephone cable.

Local officials and representatives of the British Communications Service and the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. attended the ceremony.

A bottle of water from Heart's Content, where the first trans-oceanic cable was landed in 1866, was broken over the new cable.

Just a Good Beating

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—"I talk too much anyway and I guess this time I had it coming to me," a woman told Butte Police Chief B. J. Riley as she declined to sign a complaint against her husband, Chief Riley said the woman had been beaten by her husband and it required 18 stitches to close cuts around her mouth. Riley said the couple left the station together on "friendly terms" after the husband spent the night in jail.

St. Jean Feast Set Tomorrow

Canadians Will Mark Acadian Ouster Also in Gala Observance

QUEBEC (UP)—Tomorrow is the feast day of St. Jean Baptiste, patron saint of Canadians who speak French.

This year's celebration is taking special note of the 200th anniversary of the expulsion of Acadians from the Maritime Provinces. An "Evangeline" chosen at a big folk dance here will be Quebec's representative at celebrations in August in Canada's Maritime Provinces.

Tonight, to mark the eve of the feast day, traditional bonfires will be lit in districts throughout and surrounding Quebec, taking a cue from the giant "Feu de St. Jean" on the Plains of Abraham atop Quebec city's Cape Diamond.

Mass will be sung at Quebec Basilica early tomorrow, then more than 2,000 persons will take part in the annual parade featuring allegorical floats. A fireworks display at dusk winds up the day.

A highlight of parades held in scores of communities is a float bearing a young boy—representing St. Jean Baptiste—with a live lamb cuddled in his arms.

In Montreal some 800,000 persons are expected to line the parade route. About 60,000 onlookers usually turn out in Quebec.

Provincial and municipal government offices as well as many stores and businesses will close for the day.

Trenton Awaits Recount on Government Change

TRENTON—Swearing in ceremonies for six councilmen and a president were held Monday night even though their election can be nullified by a recount scheduled for Friday.

Last week Trenton residents voted 1,081 to 1,077 to change the form of government to home rule but a recount has been requested.

Globes for Israel Printed in Hebrew

CHICAGO (UP)—A Chicago manufacturing firm announced it has turned out the first terrestrial globes ever made using Hebrew text.

An order from the Israeli government called for 13,000 units, including both eight-inch political globes and 10-inch physical models.

L. I. Replogle, president of the firm, said the models show about 1,500 place names. To insure accuracy, his firm's cartographers worked closely with a printer and a scholar in Tel Aviv.

The globes, the firm said, will be used primarily by Israeli school-children.

Sparta Police Dragging Lake for Missing Girl

SPARTA—State police and sheriff's deputies are dragging Olin Lake, 15 miles northwest of Grand Rapids, for the body of Shirley May, 13, who is believed to have drowned Tuesday night.

She had gone swimming with three other girls but when the three came out of the water, Miss May was missing.

AEC Nominee Being Quizzed

Congressmen Ask Facts on Denver Attorney Named by Ike

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said today a hearing will be held on President Eisenhower's latest appointment to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) as soon as the nominee replies to a series of questions.

The nomination of Allen Whitfield, Des Moines attorney, to be an AEC member has been pending for more than three months. It was sent to the Senate March 15.

Anderson, chairman of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, said in an interview that investigators have been busy in the meantime.

He said "hundreds of pages of material" had been accumulated by the investigators on a matter involving Whitfield which was called to the committee's attention and on which it wanted light before asking him to appear.

This matter, the Senator said, concerns the Valley Bank and Trust Co. of Des Moines. Whitfield was a trustee of the estate of a principal owner of the bank's stock and the matter involves the sale of this stock, Anderson said, without giving details.

The committee chairman said he had been advised that Whitfield wanted an opportunity to clear up issues in the matter.

Fort Worth Publisher in Critical Condition

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—Amon G. Carter, 75, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, was reported in a critical condition today at his home. He has been in ill health for some time.

Carter suffered two heart attacks in February, 1953. He has been confined to his home since returning late in April from New York where he attended the annual meeting of the Associated Press and American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

Inca Civilization Origin Located in Southern Peru

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—A team of University of California archaeologists has traced the origins of the ancient civilization of the Incas to the mountains of southern Peru.

The expedition's leader, John H. Rowe, associate professor of anthropology, said his party found sites west and south of Cuzco Peru, which "carry us back nearly to the beginnings of farming and settled village life in the area."

Rowe said discoveries in the area established the difference between Peruvian and Bolivian varieties of Tiahuanaco culture, the grand-daddy of the Inca civilization.

By tracing the distribution of the two varieties Rowe said his group had determined that it was the Peruvian and not the Bolivian style that was the direct ancestor of Inca art.

The discovery has special significance, Rowe said, because Tiahuanaco culture has been the "soil" from which all later Indian art in the Andes sprang.

Hart to Address Judges
PETOSKEY (UP)—Lt. Gov. Philip Hart will be principal speaker Friday at the convention of the Michigan State Justices of the Peace Assn. The convention runs from Thursday through Saturday.

STRATO-STREAK V-8

This Picture's Worth 10,000 Words!

LOOKING AT this picture, would anybody need tell you that Pontiac is beautiful, for instance?

You can see that it is! How else could you interpret that scintillating grille—with the gleaming twin silver streaks flowing out from the Panoramic windshield?

Does anybody need tell you, as you look at this picture, that here is a quality car? Your instincts would tell you that such beauty and distinction could result only from the finest design and most skilled craftsmanship.

Does anybody need tell you that this car is a great performer? If you haven't heard, just listen, for the air is full of it: "I drove it to my week-end place in less time than I've ever made it during fifteen years!" ... "It's the quickest, easiest-handling car I ever drove!" ... "I just couldn't believe the speedometer!"

Does anybody need tell you about Pontiac's reputation? Since General Motors sired this wonderful car, it has been known as one of the toughest, most dependable in the automotive industry. Nobody ever questions Pontiac's goodness and reliability. One look at the name and you're aware of its fame.

Does anybody need tell you why this big, smart style-setter is one of the most wanted cars in America? Why Pontiac sales climb each month to another record-breaking high?

Yes—this beautiful picture of this beautiful car is easily worth ten thousand words.

But even so, it can't tell the whole Pontiac story.

Looking at that picture, would you ever believe, for instance, that this great beauty fits with ease into anybody's new-car plans? Well, that's a fact, nevertheless.

And, of course, the picture can't tell you what Pontiac's success has done for trade-in allowances. That's a happy fact you'll have to get firsthand.

Take another look at the picture above—and then take off for our showroom. You'll find the end of the rainbow, for sure!

An Overwhelming Vote Gives Ike Free Hand at Big Four Conclave

WASHINGTON (U)—The Senate buried under a 74-4 vote yesterday an effort by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to force Big Four discussion of Russia's satellite states.

Sen. Barkley (D-Ky.) said today, "That settles it—the President does not need our advice" in forthcoming negotiations with the Prime Ministers of England, France and Russia at Geneva in July.

McCarthy, his political support in the Senate obviously at a low ebb, told newsmen rejection of his resolution was "a great mistake."

He promised to go right on talking about "getting some concessions" from the Russians at the summit conference. But he indicated no move for any further Senate test.

His resolution had the combined opposition of the Eisenhower administration and of Senate leaders of both parties.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), bitterly attacked by McCarthy in the stormy debate, said he viewed yesterday's action as "a further confirmation of the vote to condemn Sen. McCarthy last December."

Despite attempts by McCarthy to withdraw or amend his resolution, and a last-minute effort by Jenner to substitute a mild version for it, Democrats forced a roll call on the original proposal.

It would have asked President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles to obtain a preconference commitment from the Russians that they would discuss the status of their satellite states. Lacking such a pledge, the resolution would have put the Senate on record as opposing the conference.

In a session that at times veered toward the rowdy, McCarthy clashed bitterly with some who had been his political friends as well as with Democratic critics.

When Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) undertook to question him, McCarthy several times told him to "There are some of us here who 'be quiet while I answer your question.'" have the courage to be with you when you are right but in this instance you are wrong," Capehart fired back.

The theme of those who opposed the McCarthy resolution was—as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee expressed it—that its passage would "have the effect of expressing a lack of confidence in the President at a critical juncture in world history."

Spanish 'Davy Crockett' Has Hero Buried at Nine

TUCSON, Ariz. (INS)—One of the most popular songs nowadays among the Spanish-speaking population around Tucson, is "Pancho Lopez," a comic parody on "Davy Crockett."

Lolo Guerrero, who recorded "Pancho Lopez" in Spanish, tells in the song about little Pancho, who learned to speak English when he was only 2, was smoking and drinking by the age of 4, and was off to join the revolution when he was only 5 years old.

The song says the boy was married when he was 7 and became a father at 8. The sad ending reports that little Pancho died when only 9.

The song tookoff makes the point that people should not live so fast.

Flint Residents Urge Delay in Park Transfer

LANSING (U)—Two Flint residents appealed to the State Supreme Court today to prevent their city commission from giving away Kearsley Park for an armory site.

Clara Younglas and Elsie Van Hiff asked the court to stay completion of the deal until they can file an appeal from a Genesee County Circuit Court dismissal of their injunction suit.

A 20-day stay granted in the lower court expires June 28. The Supreme Court was asked to hear the request for the additional stay on that date.

Mason Memorial Chapel Location Under Study

LANSING (U)—Conservation Department officials will meet next week with executors of the George Mason estate to select a site for a $25,000 chapel donated by the late manufacturer.

Mason, former president of the Nash-Kelvinator Corp., died late last year and left much of his property to the public.

Mason's will specified that the chapel should be somewhere along the south branch of the Au Sable River.

Included in his will was a 1,450 acre package of land along the river northeast of Roscommon.

Michigan Jaycee Float Wins 1st Prize in Atlanta

ATLANTA (U)—Michigan's entry won first place in its category in the parade at the national convention of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The Michigan float, with its men dressed as sparkplugs to represent a Jaycee "sparkplug project," was awarded the trophy in the category based on a Jaycee project.

Social Security Payments Goto 7,976 in County

In Oakland County at the end of last year 7,976 retired workers were receiving $553,034 in monthly social security payments, according to figures released by Rex A. C. Atwood, local district manager for the social security administration.

Dependents of aged workers and survivors of those who died were receiving $378,524 a month.

Italian President Talks With Politicians About a Successor for Scelba

ROME (U)—President Giovanni Gronchi began his search today for a premier to replace Mario Scelba, Italy's fourth government chief in the last two years.

The pugnacious little anti-Communist quit yesterday after 15 months in office, a victim of revolt within his own Christian Democratic party. Following parliamentary custom, the President asked Scelba and his Cabinet to stay on until a successor is found.

Gronchi scheduled a series of conferences on the crisis with leading political figures, starting with ex-President Enrico de Nicola. Next to be received was Giuseppe Pella, leader of the rebellious right wing of the Christian Democrats and one of the chief architects of Scelba's downfall.

The next Premier almost certainly will come from the Christian Democrats—the largest single faction in the Chamber of Deputies—despite the differences between right and left wings and the personal feuds that have strained party unity.

He could be any one of several leading political figures, Pella, ex-Premier Amintore Fanfani and Budget Minister Ezio Vanoni were most frequently mentioned.

'Mystery Fish' Causes Uproar in Chicago Home

CHICAGO (INS)—A "mystery fish" has a Chicago family in an uproar.

The fish, caught by five-year-old Anthony Czapek, is about five inches long, has the head of a catfish, the dorsal fins of a gar, and the tail of a trout.

Tony's mother, Mrs. Florence Czapek, was so intrigued with her son's catch that she put it in the deep freeze for examination by experts. This drew a howl from Tony's sister, Barbara, who said: "I sure hope someone takes it away soon. It may be a mystery, but it sure smells."

Direct Enlistments Opened by Division

Headquarters, Michigan U. S. Army Recruiting Service has announced that direct enlistments are now opened for the 3rd Armored Division presently located at Fort Knox, Ky.

The 3rd is scheduled to go to Europe this fall under the Army's new unit rotation plan termed "Operation Gyroscope."

This means that "Michigan volunteers" can join the army and be assured of staying with friends. It means more stabilized assignments.

Men who enlist in the 3rd Armored Division under "Operation Gyroscope" can be assured of serving their tour of duty in Germany.

For information without obligation, contact M. Sgt. R. Barnault, 33½ West Huron Street, Pontiac or call Pontiac, FE 4-5342.

Formosan Behind Bars for Posing as Woman

TAIPEI, Formosa (U)—For pretending he was a woman who had two young, beautiful nieces who were seeking husbands, Liao Chichuan was sentenced to two years' imprisonment today.

Liao, a native Formosan, inserted a lonely hearts advertisement in two leading newspapers. In four days he received 2,167 replies.

What aroused the police was that Liao required—and in many cases received—traveling expenses for the imaginary nieces.

Summer Play Plan Readied for Romeo

Children Up to 15 Invited to Start Program Monday

ROMEO — A summer recreation program for children up to 15 years of age is scheduled to begin next Monday.

Sponsored by the Romeo village council, the program will offer a supervised play period in the morning, handicrafts and dramatics in the afternoon, and softball for boys in the early evening.

Equipment including a sand box, swings, slides, badminton, volleyball and croquet sets, is already in use on the play area, located across from the Free Methodist Church on East Lafayette street.

The facilities are available to children between the hours of 9:30-11:30 a.m. every weekday morning.

According to the present plan of recreation director C. A. Van Horn, handicrafts will be offered in a room at the North Grade School, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

Dramatics, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Webber, will be available one of these three afternoons.

The softball program for boys beginning at 5 p.m. at the Memorial Stadium, is also being planned. As soon as teams are organized and practices begin, the boys will welcome challenges from neighboring communities.

Plan Ice Cream Social

SEYMOUR LAKE — A homemade ice cream social is planned for Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Seymour Lake Community House by the Seymour Lake Extension Club. Homemade pies and cakes also will be served.

Marion Walker, George Sundquist Wed at Imlay City

IMLAY CITY — Marion L. Walker and George M. Sundquist were married in an evening ceremony Saturday at the First Congregational Church.

Marion is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Walker of Imlay City. George is the son of Mrs. Charles Sundquist of Negaunee.

The bride was dressed in a gown of white nylon net, with a lace bolero. Her headpiece was of white flowers, and she carried a white Bible centered with an orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Marion Zavitz. Walter Walker was the best man, and Arthur Swales and Allan Swales served as ushers.

A reception at the Legion Hall, Lapeer, followed the ceremony. After a trip through Upper Michigan and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Sundquist will make their home at 808 Blacks Corners Rd.

The Norwegian Red Cross was chartered in 1865.

Springsteen-Wolfe Vows Read in Goodrich Church

GOODRICH — Christ Lutheran Church was the scene of the Saturday evening wedding of Janette Elaine Wolfe and Dale F. Springsteen.

A ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace with a fitted bodice with a nylon tulle yoke and long pointed sleeves was worn by the bride.

Her fingertip veil was held by a Queens crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade of white carnations and pink rose buds.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wolfe of Ortonville are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Springsteen of Grand Blanc.

Mrs. Gerald Weiss of Clyde, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, with Joyce Springsteen, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Earl DeGeorgis of Flint as bridesmaids, and Norma Kay Wolfe, sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid.

Al Miller, David Miller, Earl DeGeorgis, all of Flint, acted as guests, and Kenneth Gethicker of Grand Blanc was best man.

MR. and MRS. R. M. COOLEY

Betty Goodman Married in Saturday Church Rites

CLARKSTON — Richard Merritt Cooley claimed Betty Louise Goodman as his bride Saturday in an 8 p.m. service at the First Baptist Church in Pontiac.

For the rites the bride wore a floor-length white embroidered organza gown, over hoops, with a Peter Pan collar. Her veil was of illusion lace, and she carried feathered carnations and orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. William Goodman of Greenville, S. C. are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Merritt S. Cooley, of 6031 Middle Lake Rd.

Sister of the bride Sarah Goodman was the maid of honor, and was assisted by another sister, Carolyn, and Yvonne Sterling, cousin of the bridegroom.

Brother of the bridegroom Robert Cooley was best man, and leading guests down the aisle were Jerry Watson and Henry Morely. The couple are traveling through Canada, and will return to live in Clarkston until their new house is completed.

Best dressed car of the year

The Bel Air Sport Coupe. You'll find your favorite model among Chevrolet's complete line of Fisher Body beauties.

Chevrolet...The only low-priced car with beautiful Body by Fisher

It's like a famous designer's label on a lady's favorite party dress.

It's like sterling on silver, 14 carat on gold, or like those little silk threads in an honest-to-gosh dollar bill that no counterfeiter can ever quite copy.

It's the Fisher coach—world-famous emblem of Body by Fisher. You'll see it on the sill of a Motoramic Chevrolet when you open the door. You'll see it on some of America's most popular high-priced cars, too. But that's all. Not on any other low-priced car.

The other cars in Chevrolet's field just don't have that clean, uncluttered design, the fresh look that comes from beauty that's built in—not bolted on! In fact, there are very few cars that do have it—no matter what they cost.

And the other low-priced cars, of course, don't offer any of these advantages of Fisher Body. Not that strong, solid Fisher Unisteel construction. Not those fine quality fabrics and materials. Not the High-Level ventilation system that provides cleaner, fresher air—or such considerate touches as separate little cranks for the ventilanes.

You can choose your own new Chevrolet with Body by Fisher from 190 different combinations of models and colors. That's like having it custom built just for you—without the custom-built price! Come on in and get all the good news on the model you like best.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD F. WIMBROW

Gerald Wimbrow Takes Barbara Lane as Bride

COMMERCE — Wedding vows have been exchanged by Barbara A. Lane and Gerald F. Wimbrow.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dee Boyd of Costa Mesa, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wimbrow of 530 Huron St., are the parents of the bridegroom.

A white satin gown covered with lace was worn by the bride. It had a princess-style neckline, and the veil was held by a crown of pearls.

Darlene Marie Brown was the maid of honor, and George Michaels the best man.

A reception was held in the Detroit home of friends, with 30 guests present.

The couple will live in Pontiac.

Animal Rescue League Members to Sell Pencils

With the donations going toward construction of an animal shelter in Pontiac, 20 members of the Michigan Animal Rescue League will sell pencils Friday and Saturday in the downtown area.

From 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, and all day Saturday, pencil solicitors will canvass the streets, office buildings and markets in the city, according to Mrs. Martin Davis, League secretary.

"The animal shelter will serve as a central location for placing animals from both the city and the county under one roof. It is hoped the pencil campaign is a success, as the city needs such an animal shelter," Mrs. Davis said.

Members of the Animal Rescue League plan to sell 2,000 pencils during their two-day drive.

The land site for the 100-animal shelter is located at East boulevard and Featherstone road, and was recently purchased from the city.

Only one employee of the League is salaried. The other 600 members are volunteer workers.

Need for the shelter has increased in the last six months, as the present office at 297 Oakland Ave. receives about 25 daily phone calls, concerning care and placement of animals, she said.

The organization carries on a county-wide program, returning lost pets to owners and finding homes for stray dogs and cats.

They also investigate reports of cruelty and neglect, as well as other matters involving animals.

Mink Farmer Suing Air Force for Losses

BAY CITY — Whether a low-flying Air Force plane frightened mother minks on a northern Michigan mink farm, causing them to devour their young, is the issue of a $27,000 suit in Federal Court here.

Linwood Atkinson, a Hillman mink farmer, charges the plane skimmed over his farm May 13, 1952. He said the mother minks, as is their nature when frightened, devoured their kittens — 300 of them.

Atkins placed their total value at $27,000.

The pilots, Capt. Edward W. Doering and Lt. William J. Albrecht, were attached to Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma at the time. They were on a radio flight check across Michigan.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Williams H. Lambert said the two fliers are being returned from overseas assignments as government witnesses in the trial, scheduled to open Monday before Judge Frank A. Picard. Doering is stationed in Europe and Albrecht in Alaska.

JESSIE LEE CARPENTER

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Carpenter of Ortonville have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jessie Lee, to William Williams, of Flint. An Aug. 27 wedding is planned.

VFW Fair at Keego to Open Tomorrow

Mayor Loveland to Snip Ribbon

3-Day Affair Includes Hobby Show, Displays by Local Merchants

KEEGO HARBOR — Mayor Jack Loveland will officially open the VFW Fair and Hobby show tomorrow, in a ribbon-cutting ceremony at the heart of the Lakes Post hall.

Assisting him in beginning the festivities for the three day event at 9:30 a.m. will be Police Chief Calvin Baxter and Fire Chief Ben Moshier.

Merchants from the area will have displays, and entertainment will be available in rides, and cake-walks. There will be numerous booths selling a variety of articles, as well as many hobby displays.

The top floor of the hall has been reserved for the hobby fair, according to general chairman Mrs. Morris Chakroff.

Breakfasts will be served daily from 9-11:30 a.m., and there will also be a refreshment stand on the location.

This is the first fair by the VFW Post since its hall burned several years ago.

Drayton Church Sates Last of Youth Programs

DRAYTON PLAINS — The youth department of Silvercrest Baptist Church, Dixie Highway at Rosemary St., has been conducting weekly programs, with the different units competing to present the best service.

The Christian Life Committee has charge of the final program, to be held at 6:15 p.m. Sunday at the church.

Rye will grow on soil too poor for wheat, and it will also withstand conditions of drought and severe heat.

Robert Hollways Touring in East on Wedding Trip

MRS. ROBERT A. HOLLWAY

LAPEER — Traveling in the East after their Saturday evening wedding at the Monroe Street Methodist Church are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Hollway (nee Carol Chown).

Parents Mr. and Mrs. Gerald B. Chown, of 66 Fair St., were among the 250 guests witnessing the rites. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Warrick Hollway of Pontiac.

The bride was clad in a rose-point lace bodice over satin gown, with a nylon tulle skirt that veiled a lace trimmed underkirt. The scooped neck was ringed with applied lace, and her veil was held in place with a pearl-trimmed, scalloped pill-box headpiece.

Bethany Ann Nagy was the maid of honor, and Kay Milliken and Mrs. Kenneth Nichols were bridesmaids. Kyle Allen Coulter was ring-bearer.

Allen McLeod was best man, and ushers taking part were John Mauren, Walter Bristol, Patrick McCarty and Richard Beardsley.

A reception was held in the church parlor immediately after the ceremony. The couple will live in Algonac after returning from their tour.

Ed Forsyth Auctioneer Old-Fashioned Dies at 85

MILFORD — Ed Forsyth, an old-time auctioneer well known in west Oakland County, died June 13 in Seattle, Wash., at the age of 85.

Mr. Forsyth's ashes have been sent for burial beside his wife in Rose Center Cemetery. A former resident of Rose Center, Milford and Clyde, he was a member of the IOOF, Clinton Valley No. 10. He leaves one son in New York State.

Benson Has Plan if Controls Fail

Farmers Are Scheduled to Cast Votes Saturday on Wheat Restrictions

WASHINGTON (INS) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has revealed he will have some legislation "suggestions" to make to Congress if wheat farmers vote down production controls in Saturday's national referendum.

Benson stressed the fact that an incentive program should be set up to pay higher price supports to farmers who grow "quality" wheat and lower supports to those who produce wheat in large quantities without regard to quality.

He said, however, the department has authority to establish such an operation and indicated it may be in the offing.

The secretary did not specify what suggestions he will make to Congress on the wheat program, although in answer to a query, he noted that "further consideration" should be given 2-price and multiple-price systems for wheat.

Indications thus far have been that the vote on wheat controls will be extremely close this year. The secretary has set the support level at 76 per cent of parity for those farmers who plant within a national marketing quota of 852 million bushels, which would represent the yield from 55 million acres.

Many reports from the wheat belt suggest that controls may be turned down, although the National Farmers Union—which is strongest in the great plains states where the major share of American wheat is produced—is urging farmers to accept quotas and allotments.

M&C Professor Wins Dairy Research Award

EAST LANSING — Clifford W. Duncan, professor of agricultural chemistry at Michigan State College, was awarded the $1,000 gold medal Borden Award at the American Dairy Science Association program at MSC last night.

He is the 19th person to receive the award and the fifth MSC man.

A similar award for dairy manufacturing research was presented to Frank V. Kosikowsky, professor of dairy industry at Cornell University.

REBELS IN PLANE OVER GOVERNMENT HOUSE — Rebels in plane fly over Casa Rosada, Government House, in Buenos Aires during brief uprising against government of President Juan Peron. Smoke rises from part of the building after bombing. Revolt broke out a few hours after announcement from the Vatican that Peron and several of his followers were excommunicated from the Catholic Church.

2 Gray Sailors Succeed in Saving a Third Gray

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—W. R. Gray became ill at Ocracoke, N. C. Radfoman Arthur D. Gray took a message reporting it at Coast Guard headquarters here. He handed it to the duty officer, Chief Boatswain Cyrus Gray.

A few minutes later a helicopter headed for isolated Ocracoke — piloted by Lt. Comdr. W. C. Gray. The Grays are not related.

3 Million in Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — Minnesota's 1955 population is estimated at 3,138,872 by the state registrar of vital statistics, Dr. A. J. Chesley. The 1950 federal census placed the state's population at 2,982,483.

Dog Following Dad's Footsteps

Son of Daisy, Pooch in Dagwood Series, Has Own Roles

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — The father-son tradition of foot-print following is being carried out by an energetic, enthusiastic young male at Warners. Only this is really a case of following in father's pawprints. The dog's name is Daisy, Jr. His father, the 19-year-old retired pooch long associated with the Dagwood-Blondie movie series, is now out of all film work.

Father had it a lot rougher than Junior in fighting his way upstairs as a film star. For one thing, he was rescued from a pound for $3 as his time was running out. His son, however, was born with a silver bowl near his mouth, in a manner of speaking.

Junior was packed off to Hollywood's best training school for movie dogs. At 10 months he appeared in his first film, "It's a Joke, Son," and, more recently in a "Boston Blackie" TV series.

Junior, closely resembles his illustrious father and is a mixture of breeds which probably include several terrier types and at least one cocker spaniel.

Right now he's busy stealing scenes from Jack Palance and Shelley Winters in "Jagged Edge." He portrays a mutt who attaches himself to Palance after his three previous owners met violent deaths.

Co-players speak highly of Junior.

"It's amazing how he follows director Stuart Heisler's instructions on the first take," Miss Winters said. "Sometimes I think he's trying to show up us human actors."

His owner, Rennie Renfro, said the dog is happiest when working. Junior, evidently isn't exactly leading a dog's life.

Big Family Poses Housing Problem Throughout U.S.

CHICAGO (UP) — Local housing authorities across the country are faced with the problem of finding rooms for today's larger families.

The National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials said a study shows that the need for larger dwellings is growing in both public and private housing markets.

The association said a check of local housing authorities disclosed that an increasing number of them are adding to their store of four and five-bedroom units.

At Gary, Ind., 20 per cent of the 490 public housing units are four-bedroom affairs. In Daytona, Beach, Fla., 19 per cent are in four and five-bedroom units.

Sixteen per cent of the 150 units in Everett, Wash., have four bedrooms. Dallas, Tex., has 15 per cent in four-bedroom dwellings.

Demands State for India Sect

Schoolmaster Attempts to Gain Autonomy for Sikh Warriors

NEW DELHI (U-P)—A fiery schoolmaster is determined to create an autonomous state for Sikhs — the "sons" of India. He is causing some anxious moments for government officials.

The six million Sikhs, a warrior sect within the Hindu religion, are concentrated in Punjab state but are a minority there. Some of the more extreme Sikh nationalists want a new state, with a Sikh majority, carved out of the Punjab and neighboring states.

The Sikh demands carry potential dynamite in an India where religious tensions sometimes explode into bloody rioting. The Sikh nationalist agitation last year resulted in riots in Amritsar and Ludhiana. This spring Punjab officials banned the shouting of slogans in organized processions.

The ban was a signal for the Sikh extremist organization, the Shiromani Akali Dal, to launch a "morcha" — literally, an agitation. It started with Sikhs first going to their temples, then walking into the streets shouting slogans in open defiance of the government ban. The "morcha" still is going strong although thousands of Sikhs have been arrested, including the Akali Dal leader, Master Tara Singh.

His title of "master" derives from his former schoolmaster career. His flowing white beard matches his white robes and white turban. He does not hesitate to talk in terms of revolution, bloodshed and "direct action" to achieve his objective.

The word "Singh," meaning lion, is part of every Sikh's name. It designates him as a fearless warrior. The Sikh was established in 1675, partly as a reform movement within Hinduism, partly as a militant brotherhood aimed at the Moslem Moghul invaders of India.

Orthodox Sikhs do not cut their hair or beards, for they refuse to let a knife touch their skin — unless it happens in battle. Turbans cover their long hair. Their religion requires each to carry a dagger.

The services Sunday mark the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Sunday School.

This program will include: "Fantasy in 'A' Minor," Bach; "The Musical Clock," Haydn; "Prelude in 'D'," Cierambault; "The Fountain," Fletcher; "The Music Box," Lladow; "Psalm Ninetien," Marcello; "The Filers," d'Andreau and "Regandon in 'A'" by Canpra.

To Question Ex-Red on Bridges Testimony

SAN FRANCISCO (U-P)—Ex-Communist John Schomaker was called for cross-examination today on his testimony that he persuaded Harry Bridges to sign into the Communist party in 1933. Schomaker testified at the government's civil suit seeking cancellation of Bridges' U. S. citizenship, contending he got it in 1945 by lying about Communist party connections.

Schomaker, a 6-foot-10, said he is unemployed except for occasional work with the Immigration Department on the Bridges case. He has held jobs as hodcarrier, mental hospital attendant and Communist party worker and organizer.

Rutgers Prof Freed of Auto Death Count

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (U-P)—Dr. Norman F. Childers, a Rutgers University professor, whose car struck a young mother and dragged her four miles, was free today on death-by-auto charges. A Middlesex County jury found the 45-year-old professor, who lives in Milltown, innocent in connection with the death of Mrs. Grace S. Frank, 23, of New Brunswick.

Childers, who also is a Milltown councilman, testified he was unaware his car hit Mrs. Frank, and that he didn't realize her body was being dragged until a motorist stopped him. Childers was with his secretary at Rutgers, Miss Helen Januszewski of Sayreville, in the car. Police testified at the trial that neither Childers nor his secretary was intoxicated.

Beet Sugar Story a Sweet One

DEEP-ROOTED SUGAR BEETS—This picture shows the tremendously long roots of the sugar beets. They grow from two to six feet in length. The builders of the Pyramids used sugar beets as food, and the Romans took them into Gaul.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Six thousand farms in Michigan's most fertile farming area are devoted to growing a product that gives us the sweet things of life—sugar. Half of the dollar gross sales of sugar, pulp and molasses goes back to the farmers who raise the "raw material," the sugar beets.

More than any other industry in the state the sugar industry is truly a Michigan one. The growing, the processing, as well as the total sales and consumption, are confined within the boundaries of the state.

In the past, hundreds and hundreds of migrant farm workers came to the Saginaw Valley region to help with the sugar beet crop. Now the process is almost 100 per cent mechanical. The seed is sown by machine, several rows at a time. Later, down-the-row mechanical thinners remove excess plants. In the crisp days of fall another machine takes over the job of harvesting. Hand labor has been eliminated.

Russia, where once sugar beets grew wild, is still the world's greatest producer of these deep-rooted vegetables. By the middle of the eighteenth Century a Prussian chemist and physicist had extracted sugar from beets and demonstrated that it was identical chemically with cane sugar. Over a hundred years later the beet sugar industry began in America.

Just before the turn of the Nineteenth Century sugar beet factories made their appearance in Michigan. Today, the largest refinery east of the Rockies is located in Bay County.

From the first week in October through the middle of November a constant stream of huge trucks move from the beet farms to the factories. Thanks to modern methods of storing and ventilating, these factories can store large numbers of beets for long periods of time.

No part of the sugar beet is wasted. The beet tops rate as high quality cattle feed. The tops from one ton of sugar beets is equal in food value to 140 pounds of shelled corn.

Less than two minutes after machines have unloaded a truckload of beets at a factory, they have been washed clean and impurities removed. Scales capable of handling a thousand pounds of beets at one time weigh them and drop them into slicers. Here the beets are rapidly cut into V-shaped pieces about the size of shoestring potatoes. These are called cosettes.

The cosettes are placed in large tanks and treated with hot water to soak the sugar from them. What remains after the sugar has been exhausted is dried and packed for more cattle food. Like the beet tops it is highly nutritious.

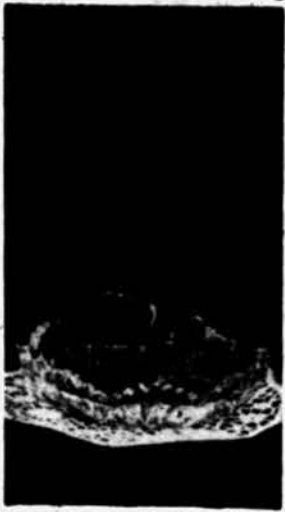

The sugar-laden juice then goes through a number of highly technical processes—heating, filtering, being treated with chemicals, evaporating and spinning. The resulting sugar crystals are washed and dried to a granular state.

Cane sugar goes through a raw sugar state before being refined.

Beet sugar goes through the complete cycle before it leaves the original factory and comes out as white, granulated sugar.

TABLE SUGAR—Ready to be used in beverages, on cereal or on fruit, sugar in the sugar bowl is a necessary part of the table setting.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE—Dieters beware! Chocolate fudge is one of the pleasant foods that everyone enjoys. Beet sugar adds to its goodness.

STRAWBERRY JAM—One of the better things of life that can be made with beet sugar. There is absolutely no difference in jams made with beet and cane sugars.

Michigan sugar comes in granulated and in powdered forms. Manufacturers also produce a number of sugars used by canners and food processors of soft drinks, ice cream and jelly. Beet molasses is sold to yeast manufacturers and pharmaceutical houses.

Many of you readers will remember the controversy that once raged over the use of beet sugar for canning and jam and jelly making. Some older cookbooks actually specified cane sugar in their recipes. Now we know that sucrose (the chemical name for sugar) is sucrose whether it comes from the cane, the beet, or from any of the some 360,000 different species of green plants. Processors concentrate on the cane and the beet because sugar in greatest quantities is obtained.

It might be said that life depends on sugar, reducing diets to the contrary. It has been called the foundation of all life—the substance upon which our lives and our civilization rests.

All plants are made from sugar, except for their mineral parts. Sugar is the sun's energy trapped and stored in the leaves. There isn't a single food that isn't developed ultimately from sugar. Man and animals are utterly dependent upon it.

We people of Michigan are fortunate. Blessed with a temperate climate, fine soils and technical know-how, we are able to grow and process much of the food we eat.

Were it not for government restrictions on the quantity of sugar produced in this country, Michigan could be turning out many times its average of 185 million pounds a year.

HAWAIIAN HAM SALAD—Dairy sour cream and cheese slices add tangy goodness and pleasant nutrition to summertime salad plates. Mound the salad in a curled lettuce leaf, garnish with olives and radish roses. Add sliced cheese and tomatoes. What more could one want for luncheon or supper?

Sour Cream Glorifies Salad

taste buds at the very first bite, when you next make a salad. It imparts a pleasant tanginess to plain mixed salad greens or meat salads.

For an excellent taste experience make this easily prepared Hawaiian Ham Salad. Here the goodness of dairy sour cream adds zing to a pleasing combination of ground ham, pineapple and dry mustard.

Easy-to-fix Hawaiian Ham Salad can be made in advance and assembled on salad plates at serving time. Crisp lettuce, extra long natural Swiss and American cheese slices and red ripe tomato slices add to good eating and well-rounded nutrition.

Complete the menu with prepared biscuits which can be baked in about 10 minutes and tall glasses of cold milk.

Hawaiian Ham Salad
2 cups (about 1 pound) ground cooked smoked ham
4 slices, ground or finely minced
1/2 cup light sour cream
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 cup drained, canned crushed pineapple

Combine all ingredients; mix until well blended. Cover. Chill about one hour. Press one-fourth of the mixture in a buttered custard cup to shape. Unmold onto lettuce cup. Arrange slices of natural Swiss and American cheese, quarters of hard-cooked egg and tomato slices around each ham mold. If desired, garnish with radish rose, olives and watercress.

Yams Starred in Cheese Cake

"Easy meals" is a slogan home-bakers are anxious to adopt during the summer months. Regardless of season, the family always looks for dessert to top off lunch and dinner.

The warm weather is a good time to serve refreshing refrigerator treats. One special favorite is something different in the way of cheese cakes. . . . Louisiana Yams Cheese Cake.

Canned yams from Louisiana are an excellent ingredient in many desserts timely for the summer.

Yam Cheese Cake
1/2 cup Graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cream cheese, softened
No. 2 can yams, drained and mashed
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine crumbs and butter or margarine; mix well. Reserve one-fourth cup for topping. Press remaining crumbs over bottom of 8-inch spring form pan.

Soften gelatin in water. Blend egg yolks, one-half cup sugar, salt and milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add cheese and yams and beat until well blended.

Chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add remaining one-fourth cup sugar, beating constantly, until stiff and glossy. Fold egg whites and cream into yam mixture.

Turn into crumb-lined pan and top with reserved crumbs. Chill until firm.

Garnish Meat Dishes With Colorful Fruits
Did you ever think of garnishing meat dishes with fresh fruit? Lemon-dipped banana slices, orange and grapefruit sections are year 'round possibilities.

Right now fresh berries are plentiful and a cluster of them on a juicy cold roast pork platter adds color and flavor accent. You might even try arranging chilled apricot balls on a serving dish with a meat salad.

For those platters of ready-to-serve entrées, so popular in warm weather, chunks of fresh pineapple, apricots and red cherries are additional eye appeal.

First Buttermilk Was Discovered by Asian Tribes

Buttermilk is an excellent cooking ingredient as well as a refreshing, delightful beverage. It gives extra lightness to cakes, pancakes and other baked goods.

The story goes that buttermilk was first made quite by accident ages ago on the plains of Central Asia.

Tribes of warriors carried their milk in goatskin bottles. As they roved the plains, heat soured the milk and the galloping of their horses churned it. Tribesmen and women alike came to relish this first crude form of buttermilk.

Today, buttermilk is made from skim or whole milk. The addition of bacteria cultures ferments the milk, and the lactic acid produced by the action of the bacteria sours the milk. Churning then breaks up the curd.

Except for fat which is absent when skim milk is used in preparation, buttermilk contains all of the body-building materials found in milk.

Top Meat Muffins With Funny Faces

Here's a lunch menu which will tempt your children's appetites as well as your own: "Funny-Face" Meat Muffins, molded berry salad, green beans, bread, butter or margarine, sugar cookies and milk.

Your children will be delighted with the meat muffins. They are made with ground beef, prepared the way you usually do for meat loaf.

The ground beef mixture is packed in the muffin tins so that each is two-thirds full. They are baked in a slow oven (300) for 30 minutes.

When the meat muffins are served, slices of stuffed olives are arranged on each to form "funny faces."

Milk Should Be Kept Refrigerated, Covered
Milk always should be kept cold and covered.
To best preserve its flavor and food value, it should be stored in the coldest section of the refrigerator.
In order to retain its full content of riboflavin, milk should be protected from strong light.
Uncovered milk picks up the flavor of other foods. A partially emptied bottle should be resealed immediately and returned to the refrigerator.

Oleo Industry Marks 5 Years of Tax Freedom

On July 1, margarine celebrates an anniversary. It is the fifth anniversary of the repeal of federal taxes on margarine.

Until five years ago, a tax of 10 cents a pound had to be paid for every pound of yellow margarine. Mrs. Homemaker bought, if she bought white, or uncolored margarine, the tax was one-fourth cent per pound.

The repeal of the tax has meant savings of hundreds of thousands of dollars for American families. It has also meant that in many states yellow margarine went on sale for the first time.

Today only two states, Wisconsin and Minnesota, do not allow grocers to sell yellow margarine. Moreover, any consumer who buys yellow margarine elsewhere and brings it into the state must pay a special tax.

In only five years we have come to take yellow margarine for granted. Today's brides enjoy the convenience, economy and food value of margarine without the bother of coloring it as their mothers did.

How much women appreciate the fact that they can now buy tax-free yellow margarine is shown by the increasing amounts of it they have bought.

In 1950, the margarine industry produced 937 million pounds of this nutritious spread. In 1954, it produced 1,364 million pounds, and the amount continues to increase.

Store Nuts in Freezer

Summer heat can't affect the freshness of nuts, when you keep them safely stored in your freezer. And here's another tip. When the recipe calls for chopped nuts, break or chop them right from the freezer. They're nice and crisp and break much more easily.

Pack chops may be rubbed with a cut clove of garlic before browning and breading.

QUICK SALT STICKS — You've often wondered how those crisp, thin salt sticks that go so well with salad were made. Here's an easy recipe for them, one using soda for leavening. Rice cereal makes a crunchy outside coating.

Jiffy Salt Sticks Unusually Crisp

"Quick" is the right word for these Salt Sticks. They bake in just 15 minutes. They're crispier than conventional salt sticks, too, thanks to the oven-popped Rice cereal.

Each stick is rolled in a cereal-salt-caraway seed mixture prior to baking. (For a slight flavor difference, try poppy seeds.)

Quick Salt Sticks

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1-3 cup shortening
1 cup vinegar
1 cup milk

1 cup oven-popped rice cereal
1 teaspoon salt
1-3 teaspoons caraway or poppy seeds
Sift together flour, soda and salt; cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Add vinegar and milk, stirring only until combined.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few times. Divide into 16 equal parts. Roll each ball on board with palms of hands until it becomes a cylinder about 6 inches long. Brush with milk.

Crush rice cereal mix in salt and caraway seeds. Roll each stick in cereal mixture. Place on greased baking sheets. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) about 15 minutes.

Yield: 16 sticks, 6 inches long.

Pickle Green Beans

Save the liquid from sweet pickles with which to make another relish. Drain a can of green beans and pour the pickle liquid over the drained beans. Add some thin onion rings and refrigerate overnight. These pickled beans taste delicious with ham sandwiches.

Cube Tomato Aspic, Serve on Greens

Tomato Aspic With Crisp Greens
1/2 cup grated process American cheese
One 3-ounce package cream cheese
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-16 teaspoon pepper
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
One 3-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms
1/2 cup tomato juice
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
1/4 cup heavy cream (whipped)
Salad greens

Have cheeses at room temperature and blend with mayonnaise; mix in the salt and pepper.

Soften gelatin in liquid from mushrooms and stir to dissolve in tomato juice over low heat. Add cheese mixture to hot tomato juice mixture and mix well.

Chill until about the consistency of egg white. Pour into bowl and beat with rotary beater until fluffy, taking care not to overbeat.

Mix in mushrooms, celery, green pepper and onion. Fold in whipped cream.

Pour into shallow dish (about 10 by 6 by 2 inches) and chill until firm — about two hours. Cut into cubes and serve with salad greens. Makes six servings.

Hints to Homemakers

Mashed potatoes or cooked egg noodles both make good accompaniments to Swiss steak.

New taste sensation: Sprinkle lamb chops with a suspicion of ground mace before broiling.

Good Breakfast Prevents Blues in Mid-Morning

So here are five reasons for a good breakfast, which — we hope — will convince you of our case in advance and help you avoid the care, pain and useless regret that follow a hasty cup of coffee, period.

1. The small extra effort involved in cooking a bigger breakfast pays enormous dividends. Recent tests reveal that a good solid first meal helps maintain a sunny disposition. This in turn helps to make working easier, and relationships pleasanter, no matter what your age or work — from reading, writing and "rhythmic to riveting!"

2. At the University of Iowa, it has been proven that students' scholarship improved when a regular breakfast was eaten. If your job requires mental alertness — and what job doesn't! — a good breakfast is a must. It is indeed "food for thought."

3. Breakfast is the meal that adds the least weight of any meal in the day. It raises the blood sugar level and provides much-needed nourishment after a long fast — and at the same time, avoids unwanted extra pounds because it is eaten just as the day's activities begin, and calories are used up faster than at any other time.

4. Breakfast is the least expensive meal of the day. Proteins are eaten in the form of bacon and eggs, which are low cost, or cereal, which is even lower. So make the most of them!

Lime Butter Gives New Tang to Food

This Lime Butter is to be served with broiled steak, fish or cooked vegetables. Try it with asparagus, cabbage, carrots or green beans — gives a new surprise angle to an old dish. Sparks the appetite.

Lime Butter

1/4 cup butter
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 tablespoons lime juice dash of cayenne
Cream butter, add parsley, lime juice and cayenne. Mix well, serve.

This can be varied by browning the butter over low heat. Then add other ingredients. Serve hot, pouring over meat, fish or vegetables.

HOT GERMAN BEANS AND CORN—This home-style dinner assures you of really good eating and with a tangy bowl of Hot German Beans and Corn easy cooking. Fix a platter of juicy chops and... sure to perk up any appetite.

Pork Steaks Are Braised in Orange Juice

A good pork buy these days is pork shoulder steaks. Pork steaks are just as easily prepared as pork chops and are somewhat less expensive. Braise the steaks just as you would pork chops.

Orange Pork Steaks
4 pork shoulder steaks
Salt, pepper
1 cup orange juice
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon thyme
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
Trim fat from edge of pork steaks and fry out in a large, heavy skillet. Remove pieces. Flour steaks and brown in the fat. Season with salt and pepper. Combine orange juice and water and pour one-half cup of liquid over and around the steaks. Sprinkle with thyme and onion.
Cover skillet tightly and cook slowly for 45 minutes or until the meat is tender. As the liquid cooks away, add more diluted orange juice. Four servings.

Other suitable braising liquids for pork shoulder steaks or pork chops include barbecue sauce, sour cream, tomato juice and bouillon.
For a change, pork steaks sometimes are breaded. Before browning them, dip them in beaten egg, then cracker crumbs or dried bread crumbs seasoned with sage, seasoning salt or any favorite herb. Add a little water, cover the skillet and cook as usual.

This Idea's a Honey

Blend 3 tablespoons of honey with a couple of tablespoons of sifted confectioners' sugar and a tablespoon of butter or margarine. Drizzle this mixture over hot biscuits when they come from the oven. Looks good, tastes good!

Bean and Corn Accent Supper

All cold meals are wearisome, even though the weather is torrid. Treat the family to a complete hot meal occasionally during the summer months.
It gives a satisfying sense of well-being, and is more appreciated because it's a change from the usual summer fare.

Here's just that kind of menu... and one that won't overheat the kitchen, either. Fix a platter of juicy chops, and serve with buttered canned hominy along-side.

The accent of the meal is a bowl of Hot German Beans and Corn with its welcome sweet-tart flavor. Rolls and a salad complete the dinner, and an easy dessert is a chilled fruit compote topped with ice cream or sherbet.

Hot German Beans and Corn
2 slices bacon
1 small onion
1 can (16-ounce) cut green beans
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
1 can (12-ounce) whole kernel corn
Salt and pepper
Cut bacon in pieces and brown lightly with chopped onion. Add liquid drained from beans and cook down to about one-third cup. Stir in sugar and vinegar; add beans and corn; season to taste with salt and pepper. Heat through and serve. Five to six servings.

Buttermilk Known as Digestive Helper

Buttermilk is especially easy to digest because the milk casein has been broken up. For this reason, as well as for the cleansing, toning effect of lactic acid, it is often prescribed for persons with digestive ills.

There are various interesting beverages that can be concocted with buttermilk as the basic ingredient. For instance, for a healthful buttermilk cocktail, mix together equal parts of buttermilk and tomato juice. Chill before serving.

Delicious cake frostings, salad dressings and sauces can be made with buttermilk. It is also excellent in main dishes and desserts.

Strict Health Statutes Cover Dairy Industry

There are rigid health regulations covering the dairy industry from the farms where milk is produced to the point where the dairy products are sold—at the doorstep, in the store, or at the restaurant. These rules guarantee the public the best milk and milk products in the world.

The dairy farmer conducts his own and supports industry-wide research to make further improvements in dairy products—from the production of milk on the farm to the processing and packaging and methods of distributing milk and dairy foods to consumers.

A dairy cow will drink 12 to 15 gallons of water a day.

Vary Tomato Sauce

Tomato sauce is such a basic dressing for so many everyday foods, perhaps you'd like to vary it by simply mixing together 1 can tomato soup, 1 can (2 1/2 ounces) deviled ham, one-quarter cup minced black olives. Add just the right dash of glamor to plain fare!

When you mix several kinds of cheese for a spread, be sure to refrigerate the mixture overnight so the flavors will blend.

HAM BOAT — Ham Boat's a comin'; there's a party in sight. No one will ever guess that leftover ham made you use this recipe. A long loaf of French bread is stuffed with a tasty, herb-spiced ham mixture. It's adaptable to outdoor cooking, too.

Bring On the Gang

Heat a can of pork and beans in tomato sauce—the 1-pound size. Meanwhile split and broil frankfurters and frankfurter rolls. Butter the cut surfaces of the rolls and spread with a good prepared mustard. Now ladle the hot beans into the rolls, top with the hot frankfurters and call the gang!

Turkey has 800 miles of Black Sea coast.

Guests Will Sail Into Ham Boat

The next time you find the remains of a ham roast heavy on your hands, grind it up and try a little foreign intrigue. Ham Boat, or meat-stuffed bread, is a succulent dish borrowed from the Mexicans—so delicious that no one will question its humble origins.

Equally good hot or cold, it also makes an excellent mainstay for picnic fare. Just wrap it in aluminum foil and cook it over coals.

Serve with baked tomatoes or potatoes. And if ham just doesn't happen to be your leftover problem, the recipe can easily be adapted to use any kind of ground cooked meat.

Ham Boat

- 1 small onion, grated
- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
- 1 pound ham, ground
- 2 tablespoons minced green pepper
- 2 sprigs parsley, chopped
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon sage
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme
- Dash of chili pepper
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 loaf loaf French bread

Brown onion in margarine or butter. Blend in ham, green pepper, parsley seasonings and milk. Cut off one end of loaf of bread; scoop out the inside and add half to the ham mixture, mixing well. Pack mixture into the bread shell; attach the end of the loaf of bread with a skewer. Place on a baking sheet and bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) for 15 minutes.

Cantaloupe Time Means Greater Eating Pleasure

The cantaloupe season is here! Those luscious vine-ripened melons from the sun-drenched garden areas of California and Arizona are in your market, ready for the seasonal high in eating pleasure that the summer melon season brings.

Cantaloupes have many sterling qualities. They are high nutritious, containing many vitamins and minerals. They are very low in calories, easing any worries about excess weight.

They combine easily with other foods, such as ice cream, to provide many different taste sensations. And they are a bigger bargain than ever before, since research by the Western Growers Association has produced a cantaloupe with more meat and less seed cavity.

You should memorize these points to look for in selecting properly matured melons for your daily menus. They are:

A slightly sunken, well-calloused, smooth scar at the stem end. This signifies the melon has been picked at "full slip" when it comes off the vine with only a slight pressure.

Netting that is well-raised, coarse, dry and grayish in color.

with a background that is light in color.

The distinctive full-bodied cantaloupe aroma.

A slight softness at the stem end, although this pointer is not infallible since previous customers may have used too much pressure in their test and bruised the melon.

Cantaloupes are a wonderful treat for breakfast, lunch or dinner. Your family will welcome them often.

Team Spaghetti, Corned Beef

With the accent these days on entertaining that's carefree and casual, smart hostesses look for dishes that are easy and economical to make and serve.

For summer party fare that's sure to please both family and friends there's nothing to beat a simple main-course dish combining macaroni and corned meat. Time-saving and tops in taste appeal, these versatile foods are custom made for warm-weather menus.

Summer Spaghetti And Corned Beef Platter

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounce spaghetti
1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
Salt and pepper to taste
1 12-ounce can corned beef, sliced
1/2 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Combine spaghetti, sour cream, horseradish and salt and pepper; mix well. Arrange spaghetti mixture and corned beef on oven-proof platter. Sprinkle spaghetti with cheese.

Broil 3-4 inches from source of heat three-five minutes, or until cheese is browned. Serves four.

Hang Molds in Kitchen

Planning to buy some molds for jellied salads for desserts? Choose some with rings so when the molds are not in use they can double as decoration for kitchen walls.

APPLESAUCE CUSTARD CAKE — All the women will want your recipe when you serve this beautiful dessert. The filling includes applesauce and sweetened condensed milk, with lemon juice added for tanginess. Golden meringue is the topping.

Applesauce Custard Cake Brightens Party Menus

As welcome as the flowers in May is this Applesauce Custard Cake. Party fare it is indeed, as good to eat as it is pretty to look at.

In the making, a luscious applesauce custard filling is baked inside a crunchy rolled oats crust. The crust in turn is spiced just right with cinnamon and nutmeg. So good that even the most calorie-conscious among us couldn't resist a second piece.

Applesauce Custard Cake is just the recipe for you if you're a party to plan. Serve it as the triumphant finale to your most elegant dinner menu.

It's rich brown crust, luscious filling and golden meringue will do you proud... and bring the ladies back to plead for the recipe.

APPLESAUCE CUSTARD CAKE

Crust
2 cups rolled oats (quick or old fashioned uncooked)
1/2 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
3 egg yolks

Filling

1 can (1 1/2 cups) sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1 No. 30 can (12 cups) applesauce
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
3 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons sugar

Combine rolled oats, flour, brown sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg in a bowl. Mix in melted butter until crumbly. Press mixture firmly onto sides and bottom of a deep 9-inch round cake pan (2 1/2 inches deep and with a removable bottom) or spring-form pan.

Beat egg yolks in a bowl and add sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, lemon rind, applesauce and nutmeg. Mix well; pour into rolled oats crust. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 to 50 minutes. Cool.

For the meringue, beat the egg whites and salt until frothy. Add sugar very gradually about a tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition. Continue beating until mixture stands in lustrous peaks.

Swirl meringue around the outer edge of cake to form a ring and place a dab in the center. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Cool about one-half hour, then carefully remove from pan. Serve warm or chilled.

Keep Vegetables Fresh by Cooking in Butter

There's garden freshness in vegetables when you cook them in a small amount of butter or margarine in a tightly covered skillet.

Slice carrots, for instance, in thin rounds and cook by this method; just before serving sprinkle with chopped scallions, using both the root end and the green tops.

Keep Food Insulated

If you are planning to use a freezer locker, remember that all food taken to it must be wrapped in newspapers or put in an insulated container to help keep it cold on its way to the locker.

Creole Chops Cooked in Skillet Quickly, Easily

These skillet pork chops are quick and easy to prepare for a summer supper.

Skillet Pork Chops Creole
4 pork chops (rib or loin or shoulder cut 1/2-inch thick)
Salt, pepper
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon water

Trim excess fat from chops. Melt a small piece of the fat in a 10-inch skillet enough to give a good coat of fat over the bottom. Have skillet very hot; add chops and brown thoroughly on both sides, hold chops with fork to brown edges. Pour off fat from skillet.

Cover skillet tightly and cook slowly until meat is cooked through; if skillet does not have tight cover it may be necessary to add a couple of tablespoons of water.

This will take about 20 minutes; cut a slit near bone to be sure chops are done. Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper; remove chops and keep warm.

Add stewed tomatoes (including liquid) to skillet with drippings in it. Stir cornstarch and 1 tablespoon water together until smooth; add to tomatoes and stir constantly over moderate heat; try not to break up tomatoes.

Pour sauce around chops. Makes four servings.

Refreshing Iced Coffee Developed by French

We can thank the French for iced coffee. More than 125 years ago, French colonial soldiers stationed at Mazargan, Algeria, found that drinking coffee syrup mixed with cold water made the desert heat more endurable.

The soldiers carried the vogue back to Paris, where it is to this day called "Cafe Mazargan," with the added fillip of ice in tall, frosty glasses.

Do-It-Yourself Chicken Salad Supper Includes Varied Vegetables and Fruits

In keeping with the do-it-yourself spirit of the times, it is fun for each person in a family or party group to choose just the special fruits or vegetables he likes best to go with the meal's main attraction.

Actually this is easy if something that practically everyone likes—such as a fine chicken salad—is used as the starting point. Put a mound of it in the center of a platter or chop plate. Then fill in the picture with small mounds of several vegetables and/or fruits, so that each person may serve himself exactly to his liking.

ALMOST ANYTHING GOES!

So many cooked or raw vegetables and many fresh and some cooked fruits just naturally team with chicken salad. Usually, just drawing on what is in the refrigerator or on the emergency shelf, it will be easy to choose at least three or four of each to intrigue the self server.

For instance, your salad centerpiece might be trimmed with any of these: Tomatoes, green peas, asparagus, cucumber, green pepper, carrots or radishes.

For nice accompanying fruits consider: Sliced avocados, pineapple chunks, spiced crabapples, white grapes, sliced oranges or bananas.

And for other pass-arounds you might have cranberry jelly, a

Pineapple Cooler Spells Refreshment

Here's a pleasant, refreshing cool drink.

Pineapple Cooler
2 cans (1 pint and 3 fluid ounces each) pineapple juice
1 bottle (12 ounces) carbonated water
Maraschino cherries
Mint sprigs

Chill pineapple juice and carbonated water. Divide pineapple juice among tall glasses; add ice cubes. Fill with carbonated water. Stir gently.

Garnish with cherries and mint. Makes six servings.

Baste fish steaks with your favorite barbecue sauce when you broil them. Savory fare!

plate of cheese and crackers, some crisp pickle slices and a small dish of chopped or ground nuts for sprinkling on the salad. If you choose sandwiches (instead of the crackers) make small simple ones of thin bread put together with relish sandwich spread.

Chicken Salad

1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/4 cup (2 ounces) cream cheese
3 tablespoons milk
1/2 cup finely diced celery
Dash of tabasco sauce
2 to 4 cups cooked chicken, diced
1/2 cup small stuffed olives, halved
Salt and pepper
Salad greens

Blend real mayonnaise and cream cheese thoroughly. Add milk and stir until smooth and creamy. Add tabasco sauce and celery. Let stand in refrigerator while preparing chicken and olives. Toss these with mayonnaise mixture and season to taste. Chill and mound on salad greens. This will serve six generously.

TIPS FOR PARTY

This "chicken salad plus" idea adjusts wonderfully to a larger picture when you want to serve a most attractive buffet for 18 or 20.

Simply make three times the quantity of chicken salad and use all or nearly all the suggested accompanying fruits and vegetables. Arrange the vegetables in a semicircle around one side of a circular tray and the fruits in the same fashion around the other.

One hostess who painted this party picture had an old tote tray about 30 inches in diameter. Its floral decor was wearing off. Its black background a bit depressing.

She covered it first with one coat of hard white enamel, the kind used on outdoor metal furniture. The scalloped edges she covered with a washable gold paint. Everyone admired the white and gold background of her picture-salad and, naturally, no one had ever seen another like it!

New Plastic Food Wrap Provides Airtight Seal

Pontiac Press Food Editor
You'll find a new skin on some of the meat, poultry and cheese you buy nowadays. This skin is a wonderful plastic material that keeps flavor and juices in and air out. It's called Cryovac.

Air is the number one enemy of all refrigerated or frozen meats, poultry and cheese. It dries out the food, robbing it of its flavor and in some cases turning the food moldy or rancid.

Developed for storing frozen meats and bread in the Maginot line, this saran plastic wrap came to America from France. The name comes from the Greek, "kryos" for cold and the Latin "vaccus" for empty.

Cryovac has the peculiar characteristic of shrinking when it is dipped in water heated to 200 degrees. This means that it clings to the product inside like the second skin we mentioned in the beginning of this article.

A chicken, for instance, is slipped into a loose fitting Cryovac bag. The air is sucked out mechanically and the bag is sealed with a metal clip. It is then dipped into the hot water for just a minute. When it emerges, the plastic bag follows every contour of the poultry. It is absolutely airtight.

The first nationally distributed product to be packaged in Cryovac was frozen turkey in 1947. Liking the results, packers went on to experiment with other foods. Corned beef has returned to popularity.

Before the advent of the leak proof package, corned beef taken from the brine lost its bright red color. Now it looks good, keeps well and carries easily.

Meat and poultry may be cooked

Cheese Sparks Vegetable Bake

If you like to collect meatless main dish recipes that are really unusual, here's one for you to try. It's a medley of vegetables... glamorized with broiled mushrooms and pepped up with sharp cheese.

Cucumber - Cheese Casserole

1 1/2 cups milk
1/4 cup quick-cooking rice cereal
1 quart dried cucumber, unpeeled
1/2 cup finely diced green pepper
1/2 cup finely diced celery
1/2 cup finely diced onion
3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms
8 ounces sharp process American cheese
2 tablespoons melted butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-16 teaspoon pepper

Scald milk in top of double boiler over boiling water. Add rice cereal and stir until smooth. Cover and allow to cook for 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, cook cucumber, green pepper, celery and onion in tightly closed saucepan until just tender, about 10 minutes, using broth from mushrooms for liquid. Drain broth from cooked vegetables into cooked rice; there should be about one-fourth cup.

Stir in cheese, which has been cut into half-inch cubes. Add butter, salt and pepper.

Place vegetables and mushrooms in lightly oiled baking dish, about 10 x 6 inches, and top with cooked rice. Mix together lightly. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, until golden brown, about 25 to 30 minutes. Serve immediately. Yield: Four to six servings.

Hints to Homemakers

Cream one-half cup butter or margarine. Gradually beat in one-third cup of apple juice. Wonderful over pancakes or waffles!

Doing any train traveling? When you have a meal in the diner, a tip of 15 to 20 per cent of the bill will be right.

Dice cooked beets and mix with cream-style cottage cheese; mound on salad greens and serve with crisp crackers.

Arrange Salad Makings, Give Guests Free Choice

An opportunity of choice is usually enjoyable to folks when it comes to food. There is something stimulating in making a personal selection, and when it comes to salads, this is especially true.

Not only is this arrangement glamorous, but its simplicity and ease of preparation makes it a popular salad. A combination of fresh fruit, fresh salad vegetables, Swiss and American cheese and luncheon meat cornucopias filled with chive cottage cheese, can be most attractively arranged on a large tray or platter.

With the salad makings, have available at least two kinds of salad dressing, such as French, fruit, and a bowl of mayonnaise to which thick sour cream or whipped cream has been added. This will give variety that will please every taste.

With this salad course serve hard crusty rolls or crackers with butter. Serving this kind of salad will give you the satisfaction also that not only will those partaking enjoy their own salad choice, but they will be getting the fine food nutrients of cheese—calcium, protein and vitamins—with the fresh succulent fruits and vegetables.

Salad Tray

On an oblong or large oval tray or plate arrange the following: Left side—sliced tomatoes, cucumber sliced lengthwise in sticks, carrot curls, green pepper rings, radishes and small green onion.

Right side—pineapple slices, halved peaches, whole pitted apricots, whole strawberries, cherries. Center—sliced cold meat rolled around chive-cottage cheese to form cornucopias, one-half-inch-thick sticks of American cheddar cheese, sliced Swiss cheese.

Have available French, mayonnaise-cream and fruit salad dressings.

How to Eat Artichoke

Know how to eat an artichoke? Pull off a leaf, dip in the accompanying sauce and eat the tender end of the leaf. Go on enjoying the leaves in this way until they are all stripped off. (Pile the leaves at the side of your plate.) Cut away the choke and eat the succulent heart, dipping pieces of it in the sauce. Use browned butter or Hollandaise sauce for the dip.

Let French Chef Do Your Cooking

Compliment a cook on her spaghetti. And she's likely to answer, "Oh, there's nothing to it. The cooking was all done by a French chef."

No, she's not speaking with tongue in cheek. Today's wisest homemakers serve wonderful spaghetti from cans... the kind created by a troop of French chefs.

Two newcomers to this line are blossoming on local grocer's shelves this week. Spaghetti with Meatballs and Spaghetti Sauce with Mushrooms. That's pretty perfect timing for you who cook: coming along just when summer days of lazy living begin.

In Spaghetti With Meatballs, you get a dinner brimming with lip-smacking goodness. Tender beefy meatballs and spaghetti reach the peak of flavor in the tomato sauce, lusciously seasoned by garlic and spice, "and everything nice."

The can size is 15½ ounces; with about 1½ cups of spaghetti and sauce, plus the four meatballs. All of that for less than 15 cents per serving.

"INSTANT DINNER"

Feature this "instant dinner" at parties all summer. Happily it goes along for picnics and travelers' meals. Just into the skillet and ready it is. Of course, you'll get a kick out of seeing what special ways you can fix it—with ripe olives or herbs added, and such.

Spaghetti Sauce With Mushrooms glows with lively flavor. Big nuggets of mushrooms merge delightfully with tomatoes, plus such beloved seasonings as celery, onion, and garlic.

After you've enjoyed it over the traditional spaghetti, see what it

Try Coffee Ice Cubes

Many hostesses make coffee regular strength, and use coffee ice cubes. Cream and sugar may be used with iced coffee as preferred.

does for buttered noodles, pizza, fluffy rice, or scrambled eggs. The can is 10½-ounce size; hold 1½ cups sauce.

BUFFET CONTINENTAL

Petite Pizzas
Spaghetti and Meatballs, Pepper Style
Green Salad, French Dressing
Swedish Rye Bread
Riviera Fruit Basket (Grapes, Melon, Walnuts)
Dutch "Tea Biscuits" Cookies
Coffee (French Style)

You're all set for the pizzas and spaghetti with these canned products at hand.

Petite Pizzas

4 English muffins
1 can 11½ cup spaghetti sauce with mushrooms
Oregano
4 ounces sharp process cheese

Slice muffins into three slices and toast to form base for pizza. Or cut each slice in half... to make 24 smaller pizzas. Spread each muffin with spaghetti sauce; sprinkle as desired with oregano. Cut cheese into thin squares (about 1 inch; place on top sauce.

Toast pizzas under broiler until cheese is melted and lightly browned. Makes 12 or 24 small pizzas.

Spaghetti & Meatballs, Pepper Style

½ cup green pepper strips (about 1 medium pepper)
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can 12 cup spaghetti with meatballs in tomato sauce

Cook pepper in butter over low heat until tender. Pour in the spaghetti and meatballs. Heat, stirring often. This equals two servings. Multiply recipe by four to serve at buffet party for eight.

Hints to Homemakers

Scrambled eggs fold in canned shrimp and make a color treat with the yellow eggs and coral shrimp.

Ever try adding finely cut figs and shredded moist coconut when you are preparing an Indian pudding? Good!

Want to glaze your pie crust? Brush with slightly beaten egg white before baking and sprinkle with sugar.

Steaks and chops for broiling should be cut at least an inch thick.

Marinate Asparagus

Marinate asparagus (fresh-cooked or canned), after you have drained it, in a tangy French dressing. Serve on salad greens and garnish with riced hard-cooked eggs. To

"rice" the eggs, force them through a small, fine strainer with a teaspoon.

About 4.7 per cent of the earth's crust is iron.

Cool Off With Coffee

Americans ice their coffee for summertime meals, socials, or coffee breaks. Perfectionists make it double strength to avoid dilution, and pour it hot over ice, while others brew their coffee as usual, and allow it to cool before serving.

Thrift and Flavor Combine in Pork Shoulder Roast

You can be proud to serve a succulent pork shoulder roast for any guest dinner. It's tender and juicy—what's more, with pork supplies continuing plentiful, a pork shoulder roast (Boston butt) is one of the most economical meats you could choose for entertaining guests.

Fresh Pork Shoulder Roast

To cook a fresh pork shoulder roast, place it fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Allow 45 to 50 minutes per pound cooking time in a moderate oven (325 degrees).

If you use a meat thermometer, cook the roast until the thermometer reaches an internal temperature of 185. Add no water and do not cover.

Pork Seasonings

Consider one of these interesting seasoning variations in cooking a pork roast, either a shoulder or a loin roast:

1. Rub the meat with salt, pepper and a little ginger or sage before roasting.

2. About half an hour before the roast is done, pour over it a mixture of undiluted frozen orange juice sweetened with a little brown sugar.

3. Rub the meat with a mixture of 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon of paprika and 1 tablespoon dry mustard.

There are many interesting vegetable combinations to serve with roast pork.

Here are a few favorites: Parslaid potatoes with buttered peas, honey-glazed sweet potatoes with green string beans, baked squash, with Harvard beets, buttered rice with diced carrots, and canned or frozen corn-on-the-cob with broccoli.

Keep Extra Ice Cubes Stored in the Freezer

Now that hot weather has arrived, here's a handy tip for freezer owners:

Make extra ice cubes in advance, pop into a plastic freezer bag, and store in the freezer. Then rest easy when unexpected crowds arrive at the house for a summertime refresher.

Cheese Snack Teams With Tomato Cocktail

Want a quick snack to serve with a tomato juice cocktail? Mix equal parts of butter or margarine and finely grated Romano cheese; the cheese is now available in wedge-shaped portions in most food markets and can be grated at home.

Spread the mixture on slices of bread, sprinkle with paprika and toast in a hot oven or under the broiler; cut each slice of bread into three long strips and serve at once.

Add celery leaves, a couple of parsley sprigs, diced green pepper and grated carrot to tomato juice. Refrigerate overnight. Strain and serve as a good cocktail.

Don't Overcook Fish

Dot fish steaks with butter, margarine or bacon fat; broil close to heat and quickly, turning once, until they are opaque through and flake. Don't overcook the fish or it will be dry.

Detroit Horse Show Gets Under Way at Open Hunt

Susan E. Flint of Birmingham does some practicing before appearing in the 38th annual Detroit Horse Show being held at Bloomfield Open Hunt. During the four-day show, which began today and will last through Sunday, Miss Flint will be riding "Amber Fox" in several classes. These include horsemanship (for riders 14 to 18 years); ASPCA horsemanship event; horsemanship over fences; hunter hacks class, and the Michigan hunts.

Following a session on the practice course, Jocelyn Scofield (left) of Pleasant Ridge stops to chat with Susan E. Flint of Birmingham. Jocelyn will ride "My Own Tommy" with Susan riding "Amber Fox." The girls are discussing the classes they will enter in the Detroit Horse Show being held today through Sunday. Miss Scofield, who has been riding seven years, will enter the same classes as Miss Flint, plus the opening class Saturday morning which is the American Horse Shows Association medal class-hunting seat.

Helpful Hubby Eases Humdrum

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"My husband and I both go to work," a young woman writes, "and we have figured out a wonderful system."

"Our friends often compliment us on our system, so I thought your readers might be interested in it."

PLANS AHEAD

"My husband teaches in the high school. I work partly because we really need the money and partly because I love to have an outside job."

"We have three children; the youngest is six years old."

"I have a very good secretarial job, which I had before I was married."

"When I left to get married, I told my boss that in the years ahead I might want another job and to please keep me in mind."

"He said he would—probably because, if I say so myself, I had been a good worker."

"However, I believe in laying the groundwork in advance, just in case!"

CALLED HER BOSS

"After little Jimmie started school," she goes on, "I contacted my old boss."

"He was delighted to have me back and was willing to make a slight concession—I work from ten to six, instead of nine to five."

"It helps him to have somebody handle last-minute dictation and it helps me tremendously."

"My husband's hours are eight to three and the children are in school during that time. So here's how we work it:

"In the morning, we all get up at six-thirty. I see that the children are dressed and ready and I cook breakfast."

"By a quarter to eight, my husband and the children are all ready and breakfasted and he drives them to school."

"Then I do the breakfast dishes; prepare the things for dinner, which can be done in advance; make the beds and straighten up the house; leave at nine-thirty to get to work at ten."

EVENINGS TOGETHER

"In the afternoons, my husband keeps an eye on the kids, from three o'clock on, and does the last minute things for dinner."

"He gets quite a kick out of cooking, provided the dirty work has been done in advance! The children set the table. When I get home, at six-thirty, dinner is on the table."

"After dinner, I get the kids ready for bed while my husband does the dishes."

"The system works like a dream. We both have plenty of time with the children and our evenings together are lots of fun."

"This would not work for all couples, of course, but the general idea of sharing and letting the children help is, I think, a good one."

Otherwise, You'll Be Tired and Cranky

Replace Body Salt During Hot Spells

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

AP Newsfeatures

It's not the heat, it's the humidity.

How many times every summer we hear this old gripe. Of course it's true, too. It is the humidity that makes hot weather so uncomfortable.

The children are hot and cranky. Mother is damp and irritable, and Dad comes home wilted down and exhausted.

In hot weather we all perspire. The hotter the weather the more sweat pours out of our skin. The sweat evaporates and the process of evaporation cools the body.

This is nature's way of keeping the body temperature constant even when the weather is very hot.

However, when the humidity is high the air is already so full of moisture that the sweat evaporates slowly. Your skin stays damp and you feel uncomfortable because your body isn't cooled by the evaporation of the sweat.

BODY GROWS DRY

The hotter it is, the more you sweat. The sweating means you are losing water through your skin. Your body becomes dry, on the inside and you have the urge to drink.

But sweat isn't just plain water. Sweat contains a lot of salt.

In hot weather the tired cranky feeling is due to the loss of salt from your body. If the humidity is high, you feel wet and sticky as well as irritable.

If the climate is dry, you're not sticky and wet with perspiration, but you get tired and listless just the same.

If you take extra salt, you will feel better. Just ordinary table salt will do. A teaspoonful of common salt three times a day with a full glass of water will restore to your body both the fluid and salt you lose in perspiration.

PILLS TASTE BETTER

It's a bit hard to swallow plain salt. It doesn't taste very good. The salt tablets on the market are made to taste better than plain salt.

Also most of the salt tablets contain a mixture of salts more nearly like the body salts you lose in sweat.

How many salt tablets you need depends upon how hot it is.

If you take salt tablets yourself and give them to your children during very hot weather, you'll find you get through the very hot spells with much better family dispositions.

2nd Round for Juniors to Be Friday

The second round of Junior Olympic Equestrian Team competition will get under way Friday morning for 12 teams from Michigan and northern Ohio who will compete in the Junior Prix de Nations event at the Detroit Horse Show.

The young riders — boys and girls under 21—take their horses over modified Olympic courses, competing at five horse shows each summer. The Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, Bloomfield Hills, is the second show in which the teams compete.

The Detroit Horse Show — largest outdoor horse show in the nation—opened this morning and continues through Sunday night.

More than 320 entries have been received from all parts of the United States for competition in the 82 classes, three of which are devoted to Junior Olympic Equestrian Team League competition.

Four of the seven teams in Class A are closely bunched, while three of the five teams in Class B are in the lead now that the first trial has been held.

LEAD CLASS A

The Grosse Pointe Racals — Sharon Kaschak, Sue Scherer, Suzanne Wallace and Catherine Heimbecker lead the Class A teams. Their closest competitors are the Bloomfield Fairlans—Lou Wilson, Kitten James, Patti Bugas and Jani Bugas.

The Junior Olympic Equestrian Team League is now in its fourth year and has become a training ground for future Olympic riders.

One of the riders who competed during the first two years has won a berth on the United States Equestrian Team. He is Frank Duffy of Birmingham.

Sports-Minded California Unveils Newest in Sun-Loving Bathing Suits

Double Rite Solemnized in St. Michael

A double wedding ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Francis Orlick in St. Michael Church. Shirley Ann Sauls became the bride of Willard Morse Jr. and Shirley Ann Morse became the bride of Douglas Lintz.

Miss Sauls is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Collin Sauls of Keego Harbor and Douglas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lintz of Utica. Willard and his sister, Shirley, are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Morse of Doremus road.

A gown of white pylon net over satin was worn by Miss Morse for the Saturday rite. It was fashioned with square neckline and short puffed sleeves. She wore a corsage of white carnations and red rosebuds.

Mrs. Deloris Harrum attended Miss Morse wearing a white and blue print dress with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

SEATING GUESTS

Douglas asked William Findley of Lake Orion to attend him as best man, and seating guests for the double ceremony were Herbert Gay of Pontiac and Laurence Kauffman of Keego Harbor.

Miss Sauls wore a long-waisted white dress fashioned with scalloped V neckline and short sleeves. Her corsage was composed of white carnations and red rosebuds.

Mrs. Gloria Findley of Lake Orion wore a light blue print dress with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage for her duties as Miss Sauls' matron of honor. James Trimm of Keego Harbor attended his brother, Willard, as best man.

The two couples greeted the wedding guests at a reception held at the Hood road home of Mrs. Herbert Gay.

Mrs. Sauls wore a navy ensemble, and a blue crepe dress with gray accessories was the choice of Mrs. Morse. Mrs. Lintz wore a pink crepe dress with white accessories. Each mother wore a corsage of white carnations.

TO LIVE IN UTICA

When the new Mrs. Lintz left on a wedding trip to northern Michigan she was wearing a charcoal gray suit with white accessories. The couple will reside in Utica.

Northern Michigan was also the destination of the Morses. When the new Mrs. Morse left on the wedding trip with her husband she was wearing a pink suit with white accessories. They will reside at Neptune Beach, Fla., where he is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

Nellie Koster, R. N., administrator of Oaklawn Hospital, Marshall, was the featured speaker.

Mrs. Merrick Conroy, toastmistress, introduced the outgoing president, Mrs. Bethel McAuley, who spoke and presented the new president, Mrs. Allen Dennis.

Other officers include Mrs. Warren Wilson, first vice president; Mrs. Grace Rajah, second vice president; Beatrice Keller, corresponding secretary; Beulah Eisenberger, recording secretary; and Marjorie Dodes, treasurer.

Delma Stricklin accompanied the group for singing. Mrs. William Feske is adviser of the association.

Birthday Party Held by Past Presidents

Mrs. L. R. Arnold had as her cohostess Mrs. Frank Polasek when Zone Eight Past Presidents Club of MOMS of America, Inc., met at the Auburn Heights Fire Hall.

The 18 members and two guests present held a birthday party honoring Mrs. L. R. Naugle. Plans were discussed for a money-making project, with Mrs. Joe T. Marshall as chairman.

Good handbag choices for summer are the lightweight, natural straw or the black bag in cotton or linen. Both come nearest to being the handbag to go with all daytime clothes.

Theater Enrolls Students

With registration for the summer term well under way, Will-O-Way Playhouse Apprentice Theater has announced there are still openings in several of its classes. There are several openings in classes for children and a few in classes for adults.

This is the first term since the opening of the playhouse in 1940 that children have been accepted during the summer. This summer there will be classes in age groups from 7 to 9 years old, 9 to 11 years old, 11 to 13 years old, 13 to 16 years old, as well as adult classes.

There will be two 1-hour sessions for each class for seven weeks, which will begin Tuesday and will run through Aug. 9. Classes will be held mornings, afternoons and evenings on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Since Mrs. Celia Merrill Turner, director, realizes that family vacations or illness may interfere with class attendance during this time of summer, she has arranged for the students affected to make up any classes they miss just as is done during the winter term.

This permits the student to keep up with his class and take part in the final public performance that is given at the end of each term.

OUTDOORS CLASSES

Classes will be held out-of-doors on the grounds surrounding the playhouse as often as weather permits. The Apprentice Theater has its own classrooms, one of which is dubbed the Pig Pen. The Pig Pen is a complete small theater with its own stage and facilities complete enough to give performances to limited audiences.

All students are eligible to be cast in parts in the playhouse's summer and winter season of professional plays. They are chosen for these parts, as the opportunities occur, on the basis of merit and ability.

Many apprentices have earned more than the cost of their tuition in a surprisingly short time after being given parts in the summer shows.

In addition to a thorough background in theater, students gain a great deal of poise and confidence, through appearing before their classmates and the public.

Many of their parents and teachers have told of students' improvement in regular schoolwork after training at Will-O-Way's Apprentice Theater because of gaining more poise, confidence and ability to express themselves.

Every effort is made to give a great deal of individual attention to each student. Classes are kept to a limit of 10 for this reason. Where necessary, additional work in remedial speech is given.

Registration for the summer term can be made until the beginning of classes Tuesday by calling Celia Merrill Turner at the playhouse.

Get Things Done, Have Fun in Summertime

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
I wouldn't blame you a bit if you hibernated completely for the whole first week after school. Those exams and all the excitement of the end of the year are a big strain.

A girl gets herself all wound up over it. And it takes several days to unwind.

So, go ahead and sleep late in the mornings. Take a lazy siesta after lunch. Linger over your bath. Do everything you have to do in slow motion.

But put a time limit on this oysterlike existence. It can get to be a habit. And the whole summer will get away from you while you're in seclusion.

GO INTO ACTION

At the end of that first rest-up week, get into summer motion. All that time you've been lolling around, you could have been checking up on things that could be done, things that should be done. So begin to put them in action the second week.

Round up some of the girls with whom you've spent every possible minute during the school

Patricia Layland to Become Bride

BIRMINGHAM—Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Layland of Glenhurst drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to Donald McLean of Crown Point, Ind. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. McLean, also of Crown Point.

The couple attends the University of Indiana where Patty is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority and Don is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

They are planning an August wedding.

Keep Cleanser on Ice

Look forward to clean up time this summer by storing your cleansing cream and skin freshener in the refrigerator. This gives them the bracing, chilled temperature to make your skin tingle and cool as you cleanse it.

year. Just so you'll develop a summer habit of getting together.

If some of the girls you like best live inconveniently on the other side of town, invite them over to spend the whole day, or to come for dinner and spend the night.

Take turns barging around to one another's houses.

Then vary the deal by taking your lunch with you and eating out in the woods, or the park, or at the beach—anywhere but home.

And cast a cold, fishy eye at that bedroom of yours. If you're sick to death of counting the daisies among the roses among the butterflies on your wallpaper, now's the time to cover 'em up with a coat of paint. Freshening up the woodwork might not hurt, either.

And maybe your curtains and bedspread could take a new lease on life. Altogether new (you make them) or just pretend new with a package of dye (you dye them).

Move all the furniture around one more time. Really give your room the face-lifting business.

TREAT YOURSELF, TOO

And now that you have time you can treat yourself to a little of the same.

There's time to massage your scalp and brush your hair. Time to take care of your fingernails and toenails. Time to limber up your muscles with lots of outdoor exercise.

And you can exercise your brain, too, even though it's on vacation.

All of those books to read that aren't required reading? The museums, art galleries and libraries to browse in at your leisure.

Lots of casual entertaining of the boys. Start the ball rolling right away, so the boys won't drift off too far.

Keep them coming around with wiener roasts, picnics, swimming

MARILYN STACK

Sara Lee Hawkins Wed

A gown of nylon tulle and French Rose Pointe lace was worn by Sara Lee Hawkins for her marriage to Clifton Dale McCordie at First Methodist Church.

The tulle skirt swept into a chapel-length train and the lace bodice was fashioned with long tapered sleeves and a stand-up V collar.

She carried a Testament and arrangement of white roses and pink French carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Hawkins of Poplar street and Clifton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. McCordie, also of Poplar street.

The Rev. Paul R. Havens performed the 7 o'clock ceremony Friday evening.

WEARS NILE GREEN

Mrs. Paul F. Hawkins, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina-length gown of Nile green nylon and silk.

$118,500 Offered for Judge, Wife

But Florida Authorities No Nearer Solution of Strange Disappearance

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (U.P.)—Rewards reached $118,500 today but authorities apparently were no nearer a solution of the Chillingworth mystery than they were when the prominent circuit judge and his wife disappeared nine days ago.

The Vanguard Club, a Negro organization, added $500 to the reward money yesterday after the Broward County Bar Assn. put up $5,000. The state Cabinet previously put up $50,000 and the family $25,000. The remainder came from organizations and individuals. So far as could be determined, it was the largest sum ever offered for two missing persons.

Authorities still lean on the theory that the couple may have been kidnapped. They base this opinion on the finding of two partly used rolls of adhesive tape and believe it may have been used to bind and gag Judge C. E. Chillingworth, 58, and his wife Marjorie, 57.

The couple vanished from their beachfront home at nearby Manalapan June 15.

New Super Sabre Lost

TOKYO (U.P.)—The U.S. Far East Air Force today lost one of its three new F100 Super Sabres—exactly a week after the announced arrival of the jet crashed after a takeoff from Yokota air base west of Tokyo. The pilot bailed out and received only minor injuries. He was not identified.

Wife of Minister Has Difficult Role

KITCHENER, Ont., June 23 (U.P.)—A writer of religious novels says pastors' wives should try to be attractive—but not too attractive. Miss Grace Irwin observed in a talk here:

"It is suspected that some Christians may resent an attractive minister's wife."

A minister's wife must be the most adaptable person in the world. She must be ready to change her role according to the size of her husband's congregation.

talent for organization, but she must repress it for the sake of women in the congregation who may be jealous.

A minister's wife and family can never come first. "He is God's man, under God's authority, not the wife's."

"A sympathetic ear and verbal discretion—hard for any woman—are far more blessed than more showy talents."

Church Union Cited as Most Important

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U.P.)—The merger of two Protestant denominations has been hailed by leaders of both churches as one of the most important unions of Protestant sects in the country's history.

The merger of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian Church was announced here yesterday after a three-day meeting of both groups. The two churches have a combined membership of more than two million.

The union—which had been discussed since 1942—will be effective June 25, 1957, church leaders said. The new combined church will be called the United Church of Christ. Church officials estimated the new church would be ranked eighth or ninth in size among Protestant sects.

Evangelical and Reformed Church membership numbers 761,325 and has 2,735 churches in the United States. The Congregationalists have 1,283,754 members and 5,573 churches. All figures are for 1954 as listed by the Year Book of American Churches.

The merger will be accomplished in several steps. Studies and discussions will be held this year and next on the basis of major and interpretations. Church members from each sect will exchange visits.

Also, during 1956-57, the constitution for the new church will be drafted.

Europe Army Chief Visits Red General

BERLIN (U.P.)—The U. S. Army today disclosed that its European commander, Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, has paid a call on the Soviet commander of troops in Germany, Gen. Alexander A. Grechko.

The announcement said the "courtesy call" took place Tuesday at Grechko's headquarters outside East Berlin.

It was McAuliffe's first contact with the Russian commander since taking over the job of European commander last February. Grechko paid courtesy calls on the American, British and French commanders in West Germany in June 1954.

French Shipyard Strike Ends Following Violence

ST. NAZAIRE, France (U.P.)—Strikers at Penhoet, France's biggest shipyard, resumed work today after a two-day strike which culminated yesterday in a brief battle with police.

The decision to go back was taken during a mass meeting. Their delegates continued negotiations with management representatives of the men's demands for a 30 per cent pay increase.

New Classroom Slated by Conservation School

LANSING (U.P.)—A new classroom will be constructed this year at the Conservation Department's Higgins Lake Training School, the department said today.

Plans also call for remodeling the present classroom. The work is necessary to accommodate expanding enrollment at the school, the department said.

Moore's KO of Olson Clinches Shot at Marciano

NEW YORK (AP)—Archie Moore's explosive punches today had accomplished what all his oratory couldn't—earned him a shot at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight crown.

The 35-year-old light heavyweight champion wrote "success" to his long campaign for a crack at the undefeated Brockton Blaster with three punches. A jaw, right, right and left to the jaw, demolished middleweight king Bobo Olson in 1:19 of the third round at the steaming Polo Grounds last night and set aging Archie on the path to a September title scrap.

SEEN HUBBY LOSE—Mrs. Bobo Olson watches in horror, as husband, the middleweight champion, is knocked out by Archie Moore in the 3rd round of last night's light-heavyweight title fight in New York. The Olson family and friends viewed the bout on television in the Olson home at Hillsborough, Calif.

Mrs. Bobo Olson Calls on Hubby to Get Up

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP)—"Bobo, get up!" That's what Mrs. Dolores Olson pleaded as she saw—via television—her man flattened by Archie Moore in the third round at New York last night.

Mrs. Olson and the four Olson children were joined by a roomful of relatives, friends and neighbors in the Olson's new home in this San Francisco suburb.

"I thought Bobo would get up and at the same time I thought the referee was counting too fast," she said.

"I'm not going to cry but I sure wish the children hadn't seen their daddy on the canvas."

Middleweight champion Olson didn't get up and was counted out at 1:19 of that third round. Light heavyweight king Archie Moore successfully defended his title.

Sports Briefs

Detroit Lions, Western Conference champions of the National Football League, will open training July 25 at Ypsilanti, 35 miles from Detroit.

Allen L. Geiberger of Santa Barbara, Calif., will be one of the favorites in the USGA junior amateur golf championship to be held at West Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 3-6. He was runnerup last year.

Don Stoness, Jack Simmons and Leo Sanford have played 48 straight National Football League games since joining the Chicago Cardinals four years ago.

Champs Deep in Talent

Adams Hints Red Wings May Not Be Finished With Trading of Players

DETROIT (UP)—Manager Jack Adams, who already has traded away half of the members of his National Hockey League and Stanley Cup champion Detroit Red Wings during the past month, said today he's on the lookout for further trades.

"We've got a lot of depth after the trades with the Chicago Black Hawks and the Boston Bruins," Adams said. "And we've got some good young players coming up from Edmonton. So we can afford to trade several players for one good player because we can carry only 18 men on the roster."

He said the Red Wings corrected their main weakness in the multiple-player swaps with Chicago and Boston by picking

"I guess that's it, the end of my long campaign," said Moore. "They can't duck me now, Marciano is a great fighter. But any man I can hit, I can lick—and there's not a man I can't hit. That goes for Marciano. I think I can beat him and knock him out."

There's still a little dickering to do before a Marciano-Moore fight is signed and sealed but promoter Jim Norris left no doubt as to what's coming next.

"It's got to be those two," said the president of the International Boxing Club, "it will draw three-quarters of a million dollars. I'll sit down and talk to Al Weil (Marciano's Manager) and Charley Johnston (Moore's manager) in the next few days."

Nation's Top Track Stars in AAU Meeting

Wes Santee, Whitfield, Sowell, Spurrier Make 880 Field Sparkling

BOULDER, Colo. (INS)—Top track and field stars in the nation are running through their paces today in preparation for the 67th annual national AAU meet at Boulder tomorrow.

The two-day meet at Colorado University's Folsom Field is being billed as the "1956 Olympic try-outs" with a good many of Uncle Sam's prime candidates in the international games displaying their wares.

The lineup of stars includes five world record holders and at least eight Olympic champs from 1952. They are: Horace Ashenfelter, 2,000-meter steeplechase; Slim Innes, discus; Parry O'Brien, shotput; Lindy Remigino, 100 meters; Bob Richards, pole vault; Andy Stanfield, 200 meters; Mal Whitfield, 800 meters; and Cy Young, javelin.

Both U.S. and world marks are in danger of toppling before the onslaught of collegiate and amateur talent.

The most exciting events are expected to be the high jump, 80-yard run, shotput, mile, 100-yard dash and javelin.

Hottest competition appears likely in the 880, with Mal Whitfield, Lon Spurrier, Wes Santee, Tom Courtney and Arnie Sowell participating.

Whitfield currently holds the world's record of 1:48.6 for the event, but Spurrier has posted a time of 1:47.5 which is yet to receive official sanction. Both Santee and Sowell have negotiated the distance in 1:49.1 this year.

Santee, of course, will be aiming once again to break the elusive four-minute mile. He will be pushed by Bob Seaman of UCLA and Billy Tidwell of Emporia State, Kan., in his bid to become the first American to break the four-minute mark.

And Ernie Skelton of USC will be seeking to add a quarter inch needed to break the seven-foot mark in the high jump. He posted a leap of 6 feet 11 1/2 inches at the NCAA meet in Los Angeles last week.

Jim Golliday of Northwestern will be on hand to burn up the cinders in the 100-yard dash.

Tigers Sign Catcher

BOSTON (AP)—The Detroit Tigers have announced the signing of Wendell Antoine, Negro catcher from New Orleans, Antoine, who batted .410 for Grambling (La.) College last spring, will go to Idaho Falls of the Pioneer League on option from August.

Walker Exits Quickly

Five Sports Pages in Today's Pontiac Press

Marciano, who watched the fight on television in Brockton, said "There's no question that arrangements will be made for me to defend my crown against Moore in September."

Rocky said the details were Weil's responsibility and the canny manager quickly went into action to get the most for his fighter.

"We haven't made any decision yet," said Weil. "I got to sit down and talk to Jim Norris and talk terms and sites. We gotta do a little talking first."

Then Weil let his guard down for a moment.

"With those two punchers in there," he said, "it'll be murder. Think it'll draw a million?"

While Moore was looking ahead to the "climax fight of his career," crestfallen Bobo, beaten for the first time in over three years, moved back into his own division.

The first real hard blow of the fight started the blow-out middleweight king on the way out. It was a jarring right to the jaw. That shook Bobo from head to heels.

He turned sideways and tried desperately to get to his feet. But his brain was numbed and his legs wouldn't respond as Referee Ruby Goldstein tolled the full count.

HE CAME TO FIGHT—Ignoring referee Ruby Goldstein's count, beaten Bobo Olson struggles to regain his feet and continue his ring battle with Archie Moore in this sequence camera record of the end of last night's light-heavyweight title battle in New York's Polo Grounds. Olson, who landed on his back when he was knocked down, turns over as the referee takes up the count after ushering Moore to a neutral corner. He rolls over on his back again and then, at the count of 10, starts to rise. The referee, with his arms upraised to signal the knock-out, moves over to keep Olson from reaching Moore.

Tigers' 4th Place Is in Peril

BOSTON (AP)—The pre-season experts who said the Detroit Tigers were going to have to fight the Boston Red Sox for a first division berth in the American League this year were looking mighty good today.

The red hot Red Sox had climbed within one game of the 4th place Tigers on the strength of 13 victories in 15 outings, the last two triumphs coming against the Tigers.

Yesterday the Bengals took their lumps to the tune of a 12-7 thumping, never recovering from a six-run onslaught in the first inning.

Detroit still will be in 4th when it leaves town tonight after the series' final game, but the margin could be cut to one percentage point by a Boston sweep.

Lions Will Renew Efforts to Get Dublinski, Mains

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Lions said today they will renew efforts to regain two players who jumped the Lions.

The Lions said they would seek a court trial in Canada this September to prevent the players from playing with the Toronto Argonauts, with whom they have signed, or any other team in the Canadian League.

Tom Dublinski, understudy for regular quarterback Bobby Layne, and Cal Mains, a first-string lineman, jumped to Toronto this winter. Canadian Judge Dalton C. Wells refused last week to grant the Lions a temporary injunction which would have barred the two gridders from playing with the Argonauts.

However, the Lions said today that a study of Judge Wells' decision revealed that he hesitated to

Hermanski Is Salesman

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Gene Hermanski, former outfielder with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates, now sells heavy construction equipment in Providence. He played with Oakland in the Pacific Coast League in 1954.

Boisvert and forwards Real Chevrefils, Ed Sanford and Norman Corcoran.

Under present plans, Chevrefils and Toppanzini are the only forwards acquired in the trades who will see regular duty.

Adams said Chevrefils will be used at left wing on a line with Alex Delvecchio and Bill Dineen while Toppanzini will join left wing John Bascyk and center Norman Ulfman, newcomers who are being moved up from Edmonton, on Detroit's third line.

"We don't know yet what we'll do with the others, except that Boisvert and McCormack will be sent to Edmonton and Sanford will be our No. 1 utility forward," Adams said.

Lady Golfers in Western Test

SUGGS, BERG STANDOUTS in Field of 69 Links Stars at Madison

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—A field of 69 women golfers, including all but one of the nation's top 20 professionals, teed off today for the 26th annual Women's Western Open golf championship, a $5,000 event slated for medal play for the first time in its history.

The standout favorites were Louise Suggs, Atlanta, Ga., the leading money winner in women's golf this year, and Patty Berg, Chicago, ranked second in earnings to Miss Suggs.

Each has won the tournament four times in the past, sharing that honor with Mrs. Babe Dickerson Zaharias, another pro, who will miss this event due to a back injury.

FAMOUS DOUBLE—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore grins as he holds up his right hand in the dressing room after last night's knockout victory over Bobo Olson. "I set him up with a double right," Archie explained. "That's the punch I'm famous for, you know." A left hook finished the job at 1:19 of the 3rd round.

Including Marciano

Moore Is Confident Fists Can Beat Anyone

NEW YORK (AP)—Archie Moore, a ring warrior of 38 whose racy mustache and goatee gave him the appearance of a Mississippi River gambler, propped himself on the edge of a dressing room table and proudly examined the tools of his trade.

"With either of these fists," he said matter-of-factly with no ring of boastfulness, "I can knock out any man alive. That includes Rocky Marciano."

Bright lights and sweat made the muscles of the light heavyweight champion of the world gleam like newly-shined copper. He breathed easily and smiled through an unmarked face. He was sitting pretty on top of the fistic world—and he knew it.

He had just smashed middleweight king Carl (Bobo) Olson into glassy-eyed stupor in 1:19 of the third round last night at the Polo Grounds and sent the pride of San Francisco winging homeward—dazed, disillusioned and speechless.

Now old man Moore, with his controversial ticker and uncontroversial punch, was banging again—only louder—at the door of Marciano's Heavyweight championship.

"Marciano's got to meet me some day," Archie continued coldly. "It might as well be now. He's running out of opponents. And when he does meet me, well—"

Moore cast a sidelong glance at his taped right hand—the one that started Olson down to his first defeat in 22 bouts—and then looked at his left—the one that finished the balding swarmer of Hawaiian birth.

Flashlight bulbs popped but the questions popped faster and Moore parried them deftly.

"Did you think you'd get him as quickly as you did?" someone asked.

"Now, I thought it might go eight or nine rounds," the champ answered. "But I knew Bobo was a smart guy. I thought he'd try to press me. Instead he started to run. I knew I'd have to catch him early."

Was Bobo a tough fighter? "He's a tough little guy, sure, tougher even than I thought. But he's just a good middleweight. He was out of his class."

The light heavy king was greeted in the dressing room by Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, who is dreaming of a near-million-dollar heavyweight gate in the fall.

"The Marciano-Moore fight is a natural," Norris said. "We want it."

Across the way, scores of newsmen waited 35 minutes outside Olson's dressing room for the customary post-mortem.

They were advised that Olson had been whisked secretly out of the ball park by Manager Sid Flaherty and sent home by air to San Francisco.

After all, what could Bobo say?

One-Run Games Dominate City League in Softball Action Wednesday Night

Three out of four softball games played in the city leagues Wednesday night were decided by only one run. In contrast, the one that wasn't was determined by a hefty 18 run margin.

Don Dubats punched a single to drive home Jack Avery, who had tripled, giving Louie's Tavern a 10-9 decision in 8 innings over Drive-In Cleaners at North Side Park.

Louie's lost its chance to win in the regulation time when Drive-In Cleaners scored 3 runs in the 7th to knot the count. Eight men batted during Drive-In's rally, getting 5 hits.

Louie's had apparently iced the contest in the 5th with a 6-run barrage on 2 hits, one a home run by Pat Carrey. Carrey also was the winning pitcher after assuming mound duties in the 8th inning.

North Side Service almost wept, but hung on to gain a 9-8 verdict over Mike's Used Cars in North Side's finale.

North Side led, 9-7, entering the last inning. Third sacker Harrison homered leading off to reduce the margin. Then a walk and an infield error put two more runners in scoring position before the side was retired.

At Beaudette Park, Giles Realty nosed out GMC, 5-4, in the 1st of 3

Lapchick Believes Colleges Will Adopt New Cage Rule

NEW YORK (UP)—College basketball inevitably will have to adopt the possession limit instituted last season by the pros, Joe Lapchick of the New York Knicks insists, because it ranks as one of the game's finest moves.

"It isn't merely great," the former Celtic immortal asserted. "It's absolutely sensational."

The collegians, he admits, however, will have to handle it a bit more cautiously.

"We have a 24-second rule," Lapchick explained. "That may not be enough time for the collegians to work the ball into position from which they can take a shot. My suggestion would be that they use a 30-second rule."

Lapchick's reasoning for the six extra seconds is simple.

"The collegians have to work against a zone defense, which we have outlawed," he theorized. "Then, too, you can't expect college players to have the finesse and timing as the pros with their greater experience."

The string-bean coach of the Knicks, who has seen the game almost from its peach-basket inception, is extremely high on the professional game of today.

"It isn't just because I'm just connected with pro basketball," he maintained, "but I honestly feel that we now have the most attractive game put before the public."

The major reason why the colleges do not jump in with both feet on the 24-second rule, Lapchick holds, is that the collegiate set-up is too far-flung.

Bad Shoulder Leaves Seixas' Cup Future Hazy

WIMBLEDON, England, June 23 (UP)—Lawn tennis fans at Wimbledon speculated today on whether Vic Seixas has played his last Davis Cup match for the United States.

The 31-year-old Philadelphia pulled a shoulder muscle in the French championships and the injury has had him in trouble ever since.

Seixas withdrew from a Brussels tournament because of the injury and later showed sub-standard form in a Wimbledon tuneup tournament at London's Queens Club. Yesterday he came up with more shoulder trouble and lost his men's singles match to Gil Shea of Los Angeles.

There is no greater fighter on the courts than Seixas. But the big question mark is now advanced about his capabilities to produce those amazing physical exertions that have played such a big part in his past successes.

After losing to Shea, Seixas and his wife, Dolly, were non-committal saying only "We hope the shoulder pulls around."

Seixas is paired with Tony Trabert of Cincinnati in the Wimbledon men's doubles championship and the Philadelphia will be anxious to prove that he's still in the top flight and ready for another Davis Cup round. The pair meet Britain's young team of Bobby Wines and Tony Pickard today in a second-rounder on the No. 1 court.

The Americans are top seeded in doubles. The men who pick the U.S. Davis Cup squad will be anxious to see Seixas hit top form once again and make their selection an automatic business.

Failure by Seixas would put the U.S. on the spot. The Australians, regarded as a certainty to challenge for the cup, have no team worries. Ken Rosewall, Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig are playing well and Harry Hopman, the Australian manager, is confident of regaining the cup at Forest Hills, N.Y., starting Aug. 26.

The U.S. has no ready-made successor to Seixas. Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., was the third player on the team in last year's Davis Cup competition. He was eliminated in the first round at Wimbledon by Sweden's Sven Davidson.

Meanwhile Trabert is showing the fans why he's the favorite for the men's singles title. Tony is playing at the top of his form and today goes on the center court for the first time in this 69th Wimbledon tourney.

He plays another American, big blond Hugh Stewart of Los Angeles, in the third round.

Defending NCAA Champ Eliminated in Golf Test

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—A new champion was assured as the National Collegiate golf tournament moved into the second and third rounds today.

Defending titlist Hillman Robbins of Memphis State went 20 holes before he was eliminated yesterday, along with medalist Johnny Pott of Louisiana State, in a first round notable for upsets.

Chuck Briggs of Seattle University, a 19-year-old sophomore from Denver, ousted Robbins 1 up on the 20th hole in a match interrupted for two hours by a rainstorm.

Pott was eliminated 2 up, by Bobby Goetz, Oklahoma A&M sophomore, from Arlington, Tex.

Underdogs won three matches yesterday.

John Gerring, Wake Forest, eliminated Louisiana State's Cecil Calhoun, last year's runner-up, 4 and 3. Melvin Deitch, North Carolina, defeated Floyd Addington of Southern Methodist, former National junior champ, who qualified with a six-under-par 138, 1 up; and Jack Parnell, Oklahoma A&M, ousted John Marshall, Iowa sophomore, whose 66 led the first 18-hole qualifying round Monday, also 1 up.

This morning's field of 32 will be narrowed to 16 for another 18-hole round in the afternoon.

The eight winners at the end of the day will meet in tomorrow morning's quarter-finals. Semifinals will be tomorrow afternoon, with the 36-hole final round Saturday.

Game Farm Hatches 72 Wild Turkeys

LANSING—Seventy-two wild turkeys hatched last week at the Conservation Department's game farm near Mason.

Another 200 eggs are now in incubators at the farm and are expected to start hatching in about a week.

Last year, the Department released 50 adult birds and 150 youngsters in Allegan state forest and some of the birds are still there. Game workers hope the colony establishes itself firmly in the forest.

The birds now at the game farm will be released later this year in specific wild areas of the lower peninsula as an extension of the experiment. The areas of release have not yet been announced.

Fisherman Lands Bass in 4-Foot Spillway

BLACKSTONE, Va. (UP)—Henry Boyd got a terrific strike on his bass popping bug and the leader broke where it joined the fly line. The bass weighed 9 pounds 6 ounces.

Boyd knows the weight because he caught the fish by a somewhat unusual method. The big fish leaped in an effort to shake the hook. But he didn't land in the pond. His leap took him into a four-foot spillway. Boyd also leaped into the spillway, caught the leader and landed the fish.

Top-Seeded Star Faces Quillian in NCAA Tennis

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UP)—Top seeded Sammy Giammalva faced fifth seeded Bill Quillian of Washington today in the quarter-finals of the National Collegiate tennis championships.

Giammalva had to extend himself somewhat yesterday in defeating Bill Demas of California. Giammalva dropped the first set 4-6 and came back 6-3, 6-2.

Quillian stopped Joaquin Reyes of Southern Cal 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Fred Haney Fined for Plate Hassle

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Fred Haney, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has been fined $50 for his part in a home plate argument in Monday night's game with the Braves.

A telegram from National League President Warren Giles said he fined Haney for "using abusive language and delaying the game." Haney argued with Umpire Augie Donatelli after a sixth inning scoring play by the Braves.

Position Swap Works Wonders for KC Pair

NEW YORK (UP)—A switch in infield positions seems to have worked wonders for Kansas City's Jim Finigan and has even helped teammate Hector Lopez combat a hitting slump.

Finigan, who traded positions with Lopez June 17, is 9 for 16 as a second baseman including three hits yesterday against the Yankees. He is enjoying a four game hitting streak which has increased his batting average from .282 to .301.

Since taking over Finigan's third base slot, Lopez has hit safely 4 times in 14 at bats.

Auburn Upsets Coach Nine on Santa Cruz Hit

Merchants Overcome a 5-1 Deficit to Win 8-7 in Class A Tilt

Gonzalo Santa Cruz' bases-full, 7th-inning single scored Jim Berg to give the Auburn Merchants an upset 8-7 win over GMC in a Class A city league baseball game Wednesday night at Winder Field.

It was a comeback victory for the Merchants. The Coaches had built up a 5-1 margin entering the 5th inning, only to see starting pitcher Herman Bishop driven from the mound during a 6-run, 6-hit outburst.

Reliever Jack Kratt was also knocked out of the box in the wild inning, which saw 11 Merchants take their turns at the plate. Dick Goldworthy, 3rd GMC hurler, finally retired the side.

GMC outlasted the Merchants, 14-11, one a two-run homer by Al Berkeley in the 6th stanza. Bruce Wilson hurled the route for Auburn.

Crusaders, Bulldogs Lead Methodist Loop

Three games have gone by the boards in the Pontiac Free Methodist Church softball league, co-sponsored by the Department of Intermediate Youth and the Young People's Missionary Society.

Crusaders and Bulldogs, both sporting 2-1 records, are tied for 1st place in the 4-team round-robin loop. Fightin' Farmers and Sluggers have 1-2 marks. Games are played every Thursday night at the GMC athletic field at 6 p.m.

Tonight's contests pit the Crusaders against the Bulldogs, in a struggle for 1st place, and the Fightin' Farmers against the Sluggers.

Bears Sign Schroeder

CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago Bears of the National Football League today signed a star pass receiving end, Gene Schroeder, for the 1955 season. Schroeder won his spurs as a Bear rookie in 1951. He returned to the club last fall after two years in the Navy.

Giants' Durocher Reported Headed for Cardinals

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Rumors that he would leave the New York Giants to manage the St. Louis Cardinals followed Leo Durocher to Minneapolis today where his team meets the Millers in an exhibition game.

"It just has to be no comment," Durocher said when asked if he had heard reports circulating in New York that he was going to leave the Giants.

"I've had thirty or forty calls from all over the country, and that's what I've told all of 'em. What's the use of trying to say anything else. One story would just start another one, so I'm just saying nothing."

The report was that Bill Rigney, ex-Giant infielder for eight years and manager of the Minneapolis club—a Giant farm—would move into Durocher's post at the Polo Grounds.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, is supposed to be in Minneapolis for tonight's exhibition game. In New York last night he said:

"There is absolutely nothing to the story. I have never mentioned Leo's name to any of the officials of the Cardinals except in the usual course of baseball chit-chat."

Rigney also said he was in the dark on the report. "I haven't heard a thing," said the 35-year-old Minneapolis pilot at Charleston, W. Va., where the Millers played a doubleheader last night.

The 1954 world champions defeated Cincinnati last night to snap a six game losing streak. With Pitcher Johnny Antonelli ineffective, Willie Mays in a slump, and Davey Williams nursing a bad back, the Giants are in fourth place, 16½ games back of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In the past Durocher has said repeatedly, "When I'm through with the Giants I'm through with baseball."

Old Timers Battle London 9 Saturday

Pontiac Old Timers will make their 3rd start of the season Saturday afternoon in a return baseball game with the London Old Timers at London.

Old Timers will try to re-enter the victory column after Sunday's 11-2 setback in Windsor at the hands of Billy Rogell's Old Timers of Detroit.

Manager Bud Leslie requests all players to meet at VFW building, South Saginaw, at 9 a.m. The team will stay overnight in London.

He admitted there probably would be some news out of Minneapolis during his visit, but strongly hinted it would deal with players.

It is expected the Giants will

Lowry 'Scratched' as Possible Foe for Chuck Davey

DETROIT (AP)—Promoter Julius Piazza said today he has scratched Pat Lowry as a possible opponent for Chuck Davey's first comeback fight this summer.

"The winner of the Pat Manzi-Alan Kennedy fight definitely will meet Davey," Piazza said following what he termed a poor performance by Lowry last night. Lowry, an ex-marine from Toledo, scored a unanimous 10-round decision over Bob Rossi of Cedar Rapids, Ia., at the Motor City Arena.

Although both judges and the referee gave Lowry all 10 rounds, Piazza said the fight "was one of the worst ever held at Motor City."

Piazza added that the Mann-Kennedy fight would come off within the next two or three weeks, with the winner meeting Davey in Saginaw either in late July or early August.

Michigan State's freshman football coach, Don L. Mason, won All-America honors at guard for the Spartans in 1949.

Northville Downs Set for Season Opener Friday

Northville Downs will open 35 nights of harness racing this Friday at 8:30 p.m. with an expected attendance of 10,000.

It will be the 12th year for Michigan's pioneer pari-mutuels harness track. The meet will continue through Aug. 6.

John Carlo, general manager, predicts the best season in the history of the suburban oval. Judging from the record number of applications, his early predictions for new standards on the track are quite probable.

He reports more than 1,000 applications for stall space have been received and the track had to turn down at least 100.

Northville won't be troubled with a strike by horsemen since an agreement was reached several weeks ago.

Harry Hatch, racing secretary for the Western Harness Association who succeeds Johnny Jenuine at Northville Downs, expects all the leading stables from Hazel Park to transfer to the Downs by the week's end.

In addition, several newcomers from Chicago, Ohio and New York have asked for stall space and will be on hand.

Wins on West Coast One Day, East Next

PELHAM MANOR, N.Y. (AP)—Horace Ashenfelter, the 32-year-old FBI agent, really gets around. The former Penn State track star from Glen Ridge, N.J., won a two-mile race in 8:49.6 at Compton, Calif. It was an American record.

The next day on a slow track and under windy conditions he won another two-mile race at the New York Athletic Club games. His time was 9:04.7.

Morley Mother Killed in Mecosta Accident

MORLEY 28 — Mrs. Iona Riggs, 39, of rural Morley, died yesterday when her car left a gravel road and hit two large trees three miles east of this Mecosta County village. Mrs. Riggs, driving alone, is survived by three children.

Lent is a fast of 40 days, not including Sundays.

TV's Maria Riva Ready to Succumb to Film Offers

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD 28 — Maria Riva, TV's most noted holdout against the movies, is now ready to succumb to the studio offers. The beautiful daughter of Marlene Dietrich is here for an appearance on CBS-TV's climax to-night. If she had her way, she'd stay.

This is a complete reversal for her. In the early days of TV, she became famous as one of the medium's most accomplished actresses. The movie offers naturally poured in. She turned them down. "I had several reasons," she says now. "I needed the experience that television could give me. My husband's work required him to be in New York, and I didn't believe in nurses bringing up our two sons."

Also, having been raised in Hollywood, I knew what a woman's life can be here. You're off to the studio at six in the morning and home at seven. You can't devote much attention to your family. I'm the kind who cooks all the meals. When I go away, I have to spend days cooking dishes for the freezer. My husband doesn't like anyone else's meals."

One of the big reasons for her switch is a change in the acting setup in TV.

"I saw this coming two years ago," she observed. "I said that the time would come when the TV stars—those actors who have made their names in TV alone—would be shoved into the background by the movie names."

"You see, we don't have a TV audience. We have a movie audience that is now watching television. People recognize movie names more readily. So if a producer has the choice between a movie actor and a TV performer, he will naturally choose the plus value of the movie name."

She cited that more and more film personalities are doing TV, drawn by the big salaries, the immensity of the audience and convinced that it is no longer degrading to do TV.

Pontiac Physician Attends Convention

(Special to the Press)
NEW YORK—Dr. Robert Baker, of Pontiac, was among 25,000 physicians who were registered at the 104th annual meeting of the American Medical Association which recently concluded a 5-day session in Atlantic City, N. J.

More than 350 technical exhibits and over 300 scientific papers were used to enable attending physicians an opportunity to pick up the latest wrinkles in medical knowledge.

Highlight of the meeting was a discussion of poliomyelitis control by Drs. Jonas E. Salk, Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele and Thomas Francis Jr.

Physicians unable to attend the meeting will be "filled in" by those who did attend—at local meetings.

British Swimming Group Rules Out False Teeth

BRAINTREE, England (U)—The Sub-Aqua Sporting Club took some of the bite out of its waters today with a new rule: Members may swim all they want to, but not while wearing false teeth.

A member almost swallowed his false teeth and had to be hauled from the water choking. He was taken to Baintree hospital where the teeth were extracted.

One nursing organization estimates that the United States needs 50,000 more nurses.

Barber Chair Interloper Puts Mr. Tycoon in Place

By EARL WILSON

OFF FOR ATHENS—Got time for a short-shortie that I picked up over here?

It's one of those true little tales of Hollywood and Broadway that my wife's always telling me I should write for prosperity.

A Hollywood celebrity spun me the story on our Istanbul Hilton trip, so . . .

Call the fellow "Mr. T"—for Tycoon. He got very rich in a legit business, having been helped a little by his wealthy father dying. He married a beautiful movie star who hated money like hon-bons.

"He's got a lot going for him," as they say.

Don't try to figure out his name. But if you are, well . . . one little hint. It was recent.

"I'm pretty important," he began thinking—and he was.

He got to telling headwaiters and clerks, "I'm Mr. T"—rather sharply—and before long he was yelling, "Do you know who I am?"

It worked. Pretty soon everybody did know who he was. They may not have cared, but they knew.

One day he busted into a Hollywood hotel-barber shop and hustled to the first chair. A short, squat, unimportant-looking, middle-aged fellow was in it.

"I'm ready!" he announced, glaring at his watch.

"Would you mind waiting 2 minutes?" apologized the barber.

"I'm not quite done with this gentleman."

"Yes, I would mind," snapped the Tycoon. "I had an appointment. Do you know who I am?"

"Oh, I know who you are," gulped the barber. "But . . ."

★ ★ ★ ★

"Mr. T" swung upon the obnoxious customer who had the effrontery to just sit there. "Get up!" he commanded. "If you don't . . . Do you know who I am?"

The little guy ripped the towel from his own neck, wiped off the lather, bounced out of the chair, and walked up and down, scowling, and then he left.

That night, when it was dark "Mr. T" just happened to find the little middle-aged guy out in the driveway desiring to chat.

"Get out of my way!" thundered the Tycoon. "Do you know who I am?"

"Do you know who I am?" replied the little man.

"Who cares?" screamed "Mr. T."

"I used to be with Al Capone," the little man said.

"Mr. T" will be in Europe several months. He suffered a little skiing accident in Switzerland.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Judy Garland may work at The Sands in Las Vegas this Christmas, if they'll build her a new stage . . . Are the Mickey Jekes expecting? . . . Marion Brando's newest interest is former N. Y. showgirl Toni Parker . . . The Mariners, dumped by Godfrey, just signed a three-year, $100,000 deal with a Vegas hotel.

Donna Reed will play Mrs. G. in "The Benny Goodman Story," with Steve Allen . . . Toby Gerard is one of the honeys entered in the Miss Tamarack Lodge beauty contest.

Buckingham Palace won't be air-conditioned, after all—the $850,000 tab is too beastly high . . . Sammy Davis Jr. bought a new home in Beverly Hills and is hunting an apartment here. Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowska's newest steady is Dick Cowell . . . Gloria de Haven's not talking much, saving her voice for her "Seventh Heaven" role.

Gettysburg Site Gets New Usage

Battlefield Lookout Post Offers Eisenhower Farm View to Gaping Tourists

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Tourists visiting this historic battle area are all excited about the Eisenhowers and their new farm, but the long-time residents take the presidential couple pretty much as a matter of course.

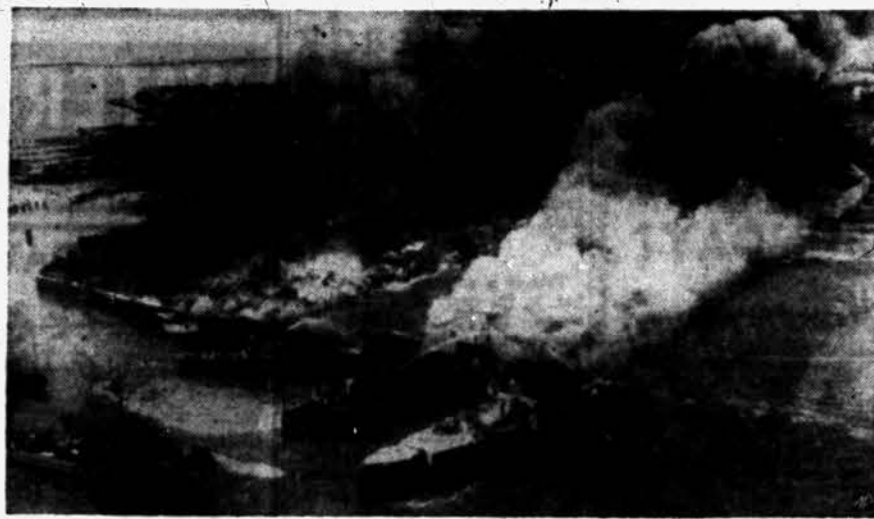

Tourists frequently ask battlefield guides and local citizens right off, "Where is Ike's farm?" The only thing they used to ask about was the battlefield.

"I hadn't thought much about it, but I guess business is picking up right along," one shopkeeper said. "It doesn't seem possible, but that farm may become more famous than our battlefield."

Everyone here is curious about the Eisenhowers, but they don't get to see them much.

Mr. Eisenhower's devotion to golf gives a few members of the community a glimpse of the President from time to time. But crowds are not permitted to gather at the local country club when he is there.

From the road passing the Eisenhower farm, the curious get only an end view of the barn. But

State Rosery Display

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—More than 10,000 roses were on display Wednesday at civic auditorium is the state's biggest rose show of the year. The sponsoring Grand Valley Rose Society has received entries from Muskegon, Kalamazoo, Benton Harbor, Detroit, Lansing and other Michigan rose-growing enthusiasts.

Drink Law Overruled After Voters OK'd It

ST. PAUL (UP)—Minnesota's first prohibition law was invalidated — because it had been approved by the people.

The State Historical Society, in a review of temperance fights, reported that the state's first prohibition law was voted by the legislature in 1852 and submitted to the people for a popular vote.

It was approved April 5, 1852, by a vote of 853 to 662.

A short time later two "bootleggers" were arrested for sale of liquor. They appealed their convictions and the law was declared unconstitutional.

The judge ruled that the power for making laws rested with the legislature and the governor and that the requirement for a popular referendum on the prohibition act invalidated it.

About one-fifth of the nation's salad ingredients come from the irrigated farmlands near Phoenix and Yuma.

Memphis Plans Fire-Fighting Items for U.S.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Two odd-looking fire-fighting devices dubbed cellarpipe and stream-master probably will be squelching major fires throughout the nation in a year or two.

The Memphis Fire Department, which pioneered the mobile deck gun, developed new devices and demonstrated them here to 1,500 of the nation's top fire-fighters.

The cellarpipe is a 6-foot long iron pipe especially designed for fighting basement fires. It is used by knocking a hole in the floor and lowering one end into the hole.

Four hoses are connected at the upper end, running to fog or straight stream nozzles in the bottom part. Double prongs on the bottom rest the device on the floor.

The stream-master operates like a giant stationary lawn sprayer. It permits firemen to aim the hose at close range, then walk away, leaving the stream unattended.

The stream-master holds hose that would take up to six men to control. With one type of nozzle, it discharges 800 gallons of water a minute; with another, up to 400 gallons a minute.

Landmark of Teamwork!

Lee Anderson (left) and Al Hansen personify the teamwork that goes on around L. C. Anderson, Inc.—teamwork by a large and skilled staff who have won fame for this organization as America's Greatest Smalltown Dealership.

A CHALLENGE TO THE BOOTLEGGERS

Not long ago we advertised that you, our 12,000 customers, have given the boot to the bootleggers—that because of the volume you give us, making possible the savings we give you, a bootlegger couldn't stand up to this sort of competition. It's a sort of teamwork in automobile buying and selling built up over the years. We wish, now, to reaffirm that advertisement. We are definitely headed for the biggest car selling year in our history. That means bargain prices for you. It means that we will meet any legitimate competition in the sale of our cars and make it tough for bootleggers, as well. And it is all to your advantage.

AN INVITATION TO YOU, OUR CUSTOMERS

Why not cash in on this advantage! With you as with us, it's the deal that counts—the money difference between your trade-in and the new car of your selection. Come in now! Choose your model, the color and the accessories. We'll have a deal for you on your used car trade-in that you could never get if you were to sell it yourself. That's the way we are fighting for new car business in this area. The only effective weapon at our command is the deal—the minimum dollar difference that your teamwork and our teamwork can achieve to move your old car to your advantage and put you into a sparkling new 1955.

NOW! FESTIVAL OF NEW CAR SUMMER BARGAINS...

The Summer Season has officially started. At L. C. Anderson, Inc., we are observing that Calendar Landmark with a Festival of New Car Summer Bargains. With new contracts settled, and labor peace assured in the automobile industry, every figure on the economic score board of America points today to a summer boom in business, manufacturing and retail trade. We are giving that economic swing an extra pick-up in this area by offering you very special Summer Deals in all our three lines of new cars—Chevrolet, Pontiac and Buick. Come to the Festival today and choose your new car. You'll find us mighty cooperative.

Dad Begs Czech Official to Let Child Enter U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO (U.S.A.)—A department store sales clerk who fled Europe in 1945 pleaded ardently by mail today with Czechoslovakia's foreign minister for a permit to let his motherless little daughter join him in the United States.

Philipp Heller, 39, of Sacramento, came to San Francisco in hope of winning diplomatic backing from United Nations bigwigs to fulfill his great wish.

He found people sympathetic, but "awfully busy" with U.N. conferences and festivities.

He didn't see the Czech foreign minister, Vaclav David.

But his letter tells the pathetic story in capsule form:

"Excellency—
"The United Nations is commemorating a great occasion—the 10th anniversary of the charter signing of the United Nations.

"My daughter is also 10 years old. But her mother, my first wife, died at Prague and my child was put in an orphanage. Now I am married to an American woman. After so many years I want my child with me and don't want her to grow up as an orphan.

"Aren't you of the opinion that it would be in the spirit of today's United Nations celebration if your government would grant my daughter, Vera Anita Hellerova (last known address: Praha-Liben, Chocholouskova Ulice 4) an exit permit, so that she could live with her father?"

Heller's address is 915 T St., Sacramento, Calif.

Accident Duplicated 2 Months After First

RIGBY, Idaho (U.S.A.)—Two months ago, Wayne Chivers, Jefferson County deputy, said a milk truck driven by T. A. Burt, of St. Anthony, Idaho, smashed into a bridge abutment near here after the driver apparently dozed at the wheel.

Just a few days ago the truck was replaced in service after being repaired.

Yesterday, Chivers said, it was the same story all over again—same truck, same driver, same bridge and even the same hour.

Burt escaped injury in both wrecks.

Career Cut Short?

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Maine. (U.P.)—Fred Luce wonders if his political career is over. He was defeated for re-election as town clerk recently after holding various town offices for 63 years. Luce will be 92 next birthday.

Washing in Fountain Leads to Jail Term

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Irving Raymond Lee rinsed one hand in the drinking fountain at First Precinct police station, and set off a chain of events which cost him $300 in fines and 30 days in jail.

A police officer offered washing facilities to Lee, who had cut his hand. Lee, police said, gave a rude reply. They took him to a hospital where he became unruly and refused treatment. He struck an officer. Then the judge had his say.

Guess Who Owned It

FITCHBURG, Mass. (UP)—Fireman Edmond Mayo heard someone cry "fire," so he grabbed an extinguisher and ran outside to the street. An automobile was blazing merrily. Yep, it was his.

Rusty Nail Punctures Free Steak Dinner

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—E. L. Clements was almost already to sit down to a free steak dinner. But one rusty nail punctured his hopes. Clements, safety chairman of the department of public works, has a standing promise from his chief of a steak dinner when he guides the department through an accident free month. He was doing fine, too, up to the last few days of the month.

A workman stepped on a rusty nail.

Result: One accident. No steak.

Hunt Satisfied Thief

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Police are looking for a burglar with a satisfied look. His loot: $8 from a tavern's juke box, some dried shrimp, cheese crackers, peanuts and eight bottles of beer.

Driver Lectures Judge About Traffic Laws

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Charles A. J. Maass appeared in court here charged with driving with a noisy muffler.

Maass proceeded to read a three-page treatise on traffic laws to the municipal judge and described the ordinance on mufflers as "ambiguous and uncertain." He told the judge he had "no alternative but to hold the ordinance void."

The judge, who frowns on noisy mufflers, gave Maass an "A" for effort but fined him $25. The fine was stayed 10 days to allow Maass to appeal.

Proportion of U.S. residents over 65 years of age has more than doubled since 1900, and amounts to almost 9 per cent of the total population.

Woodpecker Fells Limb on Top of New Car

ADRIAN (AP)—Arthur Kapnick's family suggested a shotgun remedy for the nuisance of a woodpecker that appeared each dawn and drummed away on a maple tree in the yard. Kapnick said "live and let live," but now he thinks maybe the family had the right idea.

Kapnick parked his new car under the maple. Down came a big dead limb, eight feet long and eight inches in diameter which did heavy damage to the car. And the spot where the limb was circled with hundreds of holes—the kind made by a woodpecker's beak.

A total eclipse of the sun can occur only when the moon is somewhere near its closest approach to the earth.
