Lost Voice Is Restored

HE CAN TALK NOW—Until a short time ago no sound came from the mouth of little Rudy Sterpa, 20 months old, even though he was crying for all he was worth. A growth blocked his larynx and at age 2 months a silver tube was inserted so he could breathe. A month ago he was hospitalized with a severe cold. On a recent visit to the hospital his parents were greeted by the lad pointing to his throat and crying "See!" The tube was gone. The growth had mysteriously disappeared. Above he is catching up on his talking with his mother.

Broomfield's Water Bill Holds Hope for Oakland

Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) today held out hope of state help for the Pontiac area's problems of shrinking water supplies and growing lake pollution.

Rep. Broomfield introduced a bill into Michigan's Legislature Tuesday asking for $77,500 for a Michigan Water Resources Commission survey of water supply and sewage disposal possibilities in "critical" areas.

And if the bill is passed, Broomfield says he'll suggest the commission offer help to Pontiac and nearby communities first.

"Some of the state's most critical water supply and sewage problems lie in and near Pontiac," he said. "People who depend on wells for water are watching them go down alarmingly fast. Lakes around Pontiac are getting more polluted every year."

Vietminh Rebels Line Up Forces

1,500 Approach Closer to Capital of Laos With Assault Due Soon

SAIGON, Indochina (U)—Fifteen hundred Vietminh rebels were reported 6 to 12 miles from Luang Prabang today but the French said they were only lining up supplies for the bulk of the Communist-led forces threatening the royal capital of Laos.

The French maintained most of the 12,000 rebels who invaded the Indochinese kingdom of Laos last week still were 50 miles north of Luang Prabang, resting up in the valley around Nam Bac.

Military observers believed the invaders, after covering 120 miles through mountainous jungle, had stopped to recuperate and replenish their supplies. There was speculation any assault on Luang Prabang might not come before early next week.

Both in Saigon and Hanoi, the two major French command centers, the belief flourished that the Vietminh might not even attack the hometown of Laos' aged King Sisavang Vong. The rebels last spring marched up almost to the royal doorstep, then withdrew without trying an assault.

But the French conceded that even if the Vietminh did not follow through on their current threat, they already had forced the French-Laotian forces to withdraw from the northern part of the kingdom and had immobilized several battalions in Luang Prabang.

Youth Admits Part in Beating of Aged Widow

Boy, 16, Was a Lookout as Two Men Attempted to Steal $500,000

DETROIT (AP)—A 16-year-old boy today admitted to police he acted as a lookout for two men who severely beat an elderly woman recluse in an unsuccessful attempt to get her fortune estimated at $500,000.

Police said the boy was able to give only a vague description of the two men involved in the beating last week of 86-year-old Mrs. Carrie Wherritt.

The boy, police said, was taken into custody Saturday, the day after Mrs. Wherritt was found lying in her bedroom.

The boy under arrest had been sought since December after William Goodwin of Detroit confessed the strong-arm murder of four persons and named the youth as a lookout.

Police said the boy readily confessed working with Goodwin. Under further questioning, the boy volunteered information on the Wherritt case.

Detectives said the boy identified one of the men sought in the beating as Willie John, 22.

Two other men were under police interrogation today in the attempted burglary of Mrs. Wherritt's modest residence.

Police identified the men as Eddie Beard, 24, and Anderson Shannon, 17, both of Detroit. The two were arrested as they fled from the scene of an attempted breaking and entering.

Mrs. Wherritt's fortune came as a complete surprise to her relatives.

Relatives and neighbors thought the woman to be without great financial resources.

The fortune, in cash and securities, was found in a safe in the woman's bedroom.

Mrs. Wherritt, discovered by a neighbor, was taken to Receiving Hospital. She was reported in critical condition.

A nephew of the elderly woman said he thought the fortune was built up through the efforts of a son now dead.

Elmer Schramm, of Dayton, Ohio, said the dead son, Russell, had been "an astute businessman" and had "made a lot of money."

The son drowned while duck hunting in Mitchell's Bay, Ont., in 1929.

Schramm said Mrs. Wherritt also possessed a good business sense.

All Aboard for Adventure

'Spur Line,' Railroad Comic Starts in Press on Monday

If you like railroads, plus adventure, you will want to be aboard when the railroad comic strip "Spur Line" makes the first of its daily runs in the Pontiac Press Monday.

Spur Line is a unique little railroad that operates between Skullberg and Boomerville Junction. On that line anything can happen, and usually does.

Take the twin Boot brothers, High and Low, for instance. They can't stand that "smoke-eatin' tin monster" keeping their milk producing goats awake all night and are determined to wreck the train. They'll do it, too, with dynamite or goat grease on the rails, or some way.

You'll want to meet the hero, Engineer Casey Pike. He's kind of naive, except when driving his little engine, Hiball, down the rails. Casey can get into more trouble than his friends wish. The gal in Casey's life is cute Gandy Dancer, only Casey doesn't realize it as he's too concerned with his engine.

Remember the date. Spur Line starts Monday, Feb. 15.

Ike Sees Folly in Saying All Dems Treason-Tinged

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he thinks it is untrue, politically unwise and foolish to say that all Democrats are tinged with treason or amount to security risks.

As for Democratic pleas that he halt charges of treason by Republican leaders, Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference that is no way a President could stop this except among his own branch of government.

Thoughtfully and slowly, the President then said he doubts that any great display of partisanship by his executive staff is particularly appropriate at this particular time.

Mr. Eisenhower called no specific names. Nor would he entertain any discussion of specific individuals particularly Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who have been attacking the last two Democratic administrations.

After the President's brief discussion on his distaste for ex-acting whether it was accurate to construe his remarks "as meaning that you could counsel the officials of the executive branch of government not to indulge in extreme partisanship."

This, the President said, was correct.

In recent days McCarthy, and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, among other Republicans, have heaped new attacks on the Democrats. GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall also has been sharply critical of the opposition party.

Odin H. Johnson Fills Vacancy on City Bench

Five Candidates File for Two Court Posts in Spring Election

Odin H. Johnson, 49, of 486 W. Iroquois Rd., was named by Pontiac City Commission last night to fill the vacant Pontiac Municipal Court judgeship.

A local attorney, Johnson will serve the unexpired term of the late Judge Charles P. Webster, running to July 4.

The court has been functioning with one judge since Webster's death more than two months ago.

Johnson, a candidate for election to the post, will compete with four other men in the March 1 primary for the two places on the city court bench.

Court candidates, in addition to Johnson, who filed before the Tuesday deadline, are:

G. Edson Hallock, 30 Cadillac Ave.

Cecil McCallum, 73 Dwight Ave.

Mitchell L. Bacow, 34 Cherokee Rd.

Maurice E. Finnegan, 173 N. Johnson Ave., incumbent judge.

As four candidates will appear on the general election ballot in April (for two posts) one of five will be eliminated in the primary. The candidates run on a non-partisan ballot.

Commissioners last night made both nominations and appointments by secret ballot.

Commissioner J. H. Patrick Glynn did not vote, saying: "Because I have always been of the opinion we should defer the appointment until after the election on April 5. That is less than two months away and we have already delayed this matter for more than that period of time."

Glynn and Commissioner Harold W. Dudley said they didn't think appointment of a candidate for election to the post was fair to other candidates.

"We still have no degree of certainty that will lead us to believe the court cannot continue to function until the election without undue hardship to the public," Glynn stated. "This is nothing personal for or against any candidate," he added, "but is the position I've always maintained."

One vote was cast for David E. Utley who had offered his service as judge until the election, although not a candidate for the position. Commissioner Paul H. Kern has said he favored Utley's proposal.

Senator to Talk at GOP Banquet

Carlson to Urge Support for Ike's Programs at County Affair Tonight

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas will urge support of President Eisenhower's programs and the 83rd Congress when he addresses members tonight at the annual Lincoln Day banquet.

The affair is scheduled to get underway at 6:30 at Northwood Inn, Berkeley.

A tea, given by the Oakland County Federation of Republican Women from 2 to 4 p. m. at Hotel Waldron will precede the dinner.

Also during the day, members will elect officers for the coming year. The new officials will be announced during the dinner.

Toastmaster for the affair will be Mayor Howard K. Kelley of Royal Oak, according to Raymond J. Addis, club president.

Sen. Carlson, a lifelong resident of Kansas, was elected to Congress in 1934. He served six terms in the House, two terms as Kansas governor, and then was elected to the U. S. Senate.

He is a member of the Hoover Committee on Reorganization of the Executive Branch of Government.

Rep. Bramblett to Fight Verdict

Lawyers Promise Battle to Overtake Conviction in Payroll 'Kickbacks'

WASHINGTON (U)—Lawyers for Rep. Bramblett (R-Calif.) promised a legal fight today all the way to the Supreme Court, if necessary, to try to overturn his conviction on charges of falsifying his congressional office payroll in a salary "kickback" scheme.

Bramblett had nothing to say after a federal court jury brought in its verdict against him yesterday, but his attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, told newsmen: "This conviction won't stand."

The jury deliberated about an hour and 40 minutes before convicting Bramblett on several payroll charges.

After each juror verified the verdict at Williams' request, the defense lawyer asked U. S. District Judge Walter M. Bastian to allow Bramblett to remain free under $2,500 bail. The judge agreed.

Next Williams asked the judge to set aside the verdict, but the judge told him to put this in writing along with his other motions, including one for a new trial.

Bramblett will not be sentenced until all motions have been disposed of. Each of the seven counts on which he was convicted carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a fine of $10,000 but the maximum is rarely imposed.

Eager Enlistee Enjoying Five-Day Army Furlough

A 19-year-old Pontiac soldier, so determined to serve his country that he enlisted at 14, is home today after service in Korea.

Sgt. Robert G. Almas, of 28 S. Midland Dr., is spending a five day furlough with his wife, Ellen and infant daughter, Gwendolyn.

His first attempt to enter the service came when he was a student at Eastern Junior High School here. After six months in uniform, he was returned home when his mother, Mrs. Robert Almas, discovered his whereabouts and requested his release.

In September, 1951, Almas enlisted—this time legally—and took basic training at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

A three-month tour in tank mechanics school in Japan preceded his service with an armored outfit in Korea. In all he spent 13 months in the Far East, returning to the U. S. last May.

Since his return, Sgt. Almas has been undergoing combat training as a member of a tank battalion in North Carolina.

He is scheduled to leave Thursday for California where he will undergo armored training and maneuvers. His family will remain here until he returns to his home unit, the 82nd Airborne Div. at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Asked whether he would make a career of the service he tried so hard to enter, Almas said that he was undecided.

Primary Ballot Needed March 1 in 6 Precincts

Voters Must Pare List to 14 to Fill 7 Posts in April Election

Twenty-nine men have filed nominating petitions for Pontiac City Commission posts and qualified to run in the March 1 primary election.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans said the total was an all-time high for commission candidates. Yesterday was the deadline for submitting petitions.

All seven of the commission posts are to be filled in April for two year terms.

Two present commissioners, Paul A. Kern, in District 3, and Harold W. Dudley, in District 2, are not candidates for re-election. Other incumbents are seeking re-election.

Primary elections will be necessary March 1 in six of the seven districts. In District 1, where only two candidates filed, the candidates automatically qualify for the general ballot in April.

City commission candidates run without party affiliation, and the two are nominated from each district for the general election. Commission candidates are:

District 1
Dr. Roy V. Cooley, 441 Bartlet, physician and incumbent.

Reuben LoPatin, 336 Dick St., photographer.

District 2
Harcourt S. Patterson, 88 Oriole Rd., attorney.

Philip E. Rowston, 24 Utica Rd., attorney.

District 3
Manley E. Young, 196 Cherokee Rd., manufacturer.

District 4

Superintendent Describes Needs to House Growing High School Population

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—A 20-room addition to the present high school and a new junior high east of Woodward were outlined last night by Supt. of Schools Dr. Dwight B. Ireland as necessities to adequately house a growing secondary school population.

To parents and interested citizens attending the third special school board meeting to study growth predictions by school officials, he explained methods of fitting growing junior and senior high classes into present buildings next year.

Ireland has stated that due to increases in the assessed valuation of property, a state required $225,000 reserve has been set up on the 1949 bond issue based on a 6.5 mill levy, and $400,000 is available to pay the last two years of the issue early.

This would save $38,000 in interest.

A probable reduction of three mills from the 11 being levied could be made or, by not reducing Additional Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills social news on page 27.

The levy a $2,000,000 bond issue for new buildings, without additional millage, would be possible.

School officials favor housing the 470-student ninth grade class at the high school next fall, rather than split it up into junior high sections.

This will mean either an overlapping double session for the 1,800 high school students, with ninth and tenth graders attending from 12 to 4 p.m. and 11th and 12th graders from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., or changing the length of the class periods from 55 to 45 minutes.

The officials favored the staggered schedule and maintaining the longer instruction period.

Dr. Maurice Garabrant, organist of Christ Church Cranbrook, will present a selection of impromptu numbers at tonight's 8 o'clock meeting of the Hammond Organ Society, held at Grinnell Bros. on E. Maple.

Regular meeting of the Franklin Cemetery Auxiliary will be held at Franklin Community Hall tomorrow. A potluck luncheon will start the Valentine party at 1 p.m. There will also be a bake sale.

The city commission this week instructed City Attorney Forbes Hascall to negotiate with owners of property abutting the proposed west side fire station at Chestfield and Maple for settlement of damages regarding property values.

Robert Doyle, public information officer for the local Civil Air Patrol squadron, has issued a call for more officers to assist or instruct in the cadet program, which is held at 7 p.m. each Thursday at the Birmingham High School.

Doyle said men with military experience, or with a particular hobby such as meteorology or photography, are especially needed. Those interested may contact Doyle at his home on Arlington in Royal Oak, or at one of the Thursday meetings.

A film entitled "They, Too, Need Christ," will be shown at tonight's mid-week meeting of the First Baptist Church. Supper will be served at 7 with devotion at 7:45, followed by the program at 8.

Birmingham Telephone Secretarial Service and Oakland County Doctors Message exchange have announced the opening of their new offices at 610 N. Woodward avenue. Manager of the new office is G. S. Fremody.

Boy Scout Troop B-5 was instructed in a preparedness program at this week's meeting for this weekend's overnight camp-out at Kensington Park, Arrowhead Lodge. New Scoutmaster Dan Akers and six father-committee members headed by Keith Alcorn are in charge of the program for the jaunt.

Italian-American Club Starts Building Drive

The Italian-American Club of Pontiac has started a drive among its 60 members to raise enough funds to erect a hall at M59 and Pontiac Lake Rd., Waterford Township, according to Paul Felice, treasurer.

The club completed purchase of the 10-acre lot this week for $10,000. Felice said the group will begin selling stocks to finance the new building.

Louis Spadafora, president, said the purchase was made possible through the efforts and activities of the women's auxiliary.

Russia's Lena river drains an area of approximately one million square miles.

Measles Show Rise in County

185 Cases Outside City; Chicken Pox, Scarlet Fever Also Increase

More Oakland County people came down with chicken pox, measles and scarlet fever last week than the week before.

Oakland County Health Department's weekly report, released by Dr. John D. Monroe, listed 185 new cases of measles last week, compared with the preceding week's 141 cases.

The report listed 73 cases of chicken pox, as against 61 the previous week, and 14 new cases of scarlet fever, twice the preceding week's 7 cases.

The health department's complete report, covering the whole county except for Pontiac, reads as follows:

Equipment Donated to Burned-Out School

BAY PORT (UP) — Pupils at the burned-out Bay Port School got a helping hand today from neighboring communities which donated spare desks, chairs and other classroom supplies. Supt. Ellis Van Deventer said the donations would be used when classes resume Monday at four temporary locations. Pupils will answer the bell at the Bay Port gymnasium, a public hall and two churches. The gym was all that withstood the fire.

Communities donating equipment included Pigeon, Cass City, Se-bawaing, Caseville, Owendale, Elkton, Port Hope and the Quarry School.

Longer State Terms Again to Be on Ballot

LANSING (INS) — Republicans today rallied behind a proposed constitutional amendment providing four-year terms for state and county officers.

The measure was killed last year by a GOP majority but revived this session. If approved by voters in November, the new, longer terms would start the following Jan. 1.

Standard Buggy of Amish Gets Modern Touches

WALNUT CREEK, O. (UP) — The Amish buggy still looks the same black and boxlike—but its new "extras" have put it into the luxury class.

The auto-like touches were added here recently when buggy-maker Roman P. Schrock turned out his latest model. It's a custom-made job for a Plain City resident, and boasts a wood-carved dashboard with two glove compartments and a cluster of chromium knobs to operate the lights.

It also has a celluloid windshield that can be opened during fair weather, chromium headlights, tail

Once a month a big Hastings Transport aircraft of the Royal Air Force flies from Aldergrove, Northern Ireland, to Gibraltar, to perform service duty for the Coastal Command. On these flights fodder is airlifted for the prize animal.

The cow is owned by Flag Officer, Gibraltar, Rear Admiral J. A. Mickelwait. Before Admiral Mickelwait bought the cow fresh milk on The Rock was unheard of. The Admiral found a sailor who could milk and donate all the produc-

MRS. BRUCE R. ANDRESS

Margaret Morse Gowned in Satin, Tulle and Lace

The Rev. Walter J. Teeuwissen Jr. performed the ceremony Saturday evening at Community United Presbyterian Church where Pvt. Bruce Raymond Andress claimed Margaret Marie Morse as his bride.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Morse of Drayton Plains, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Andress of St. Clair street.

For the 8 o'clock service, Margaret wore a gown of white satin and nylon tulle with a Chantilly lace overskirt. A sweetheart neckline and long sleeves highlighted the bodice. She wore a strand of pearls at her throat and carried a bouquet of white carnations, white gardenias and red rosebuds with streamers. A Juliet cap of lace held her veil.

Mrs. Ivan Wischman, the bridegroom's sister, was matron of honor in a floor-length gown of shrimp taffeta and net with a lace jacket. Her flowers were white carnations in a colonial bouquet with shrimp-colored streamers.

Della Mae Wolfe and the bride's sister, Ethelene Morse, were bridesmaids wearing powder blue net over taffeta with matching stoles and carrying identical bouquets of pink carnations.

Mr. Weichman was best man, and ushers included Larry Saragat of Birmingham and Robert Thorne Jr. of Rochester.

Mrs. Morse wore a beige dress with a corsage of cavalier roses. Mrs. Andress wore a navy dress and pink roses.

After a reception in the church parlors, the bride changed to a dark blue traveling costume for the wedding trip.

Mrs. Clark Morgan accompanied soloist Helen Davis on the organ.

Don't Just Whine About Tragedies

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"The most important thing in the world," a wise woman told me once, "is to know how to make your unhappiness pay off."

I think of that remark frequently, when I see how some women do just that, while others let a past tragedy ruin their lives forever.

The R. sisters are examples of what I mean.

Mr. and Mrs. R. were unhappily married, and they let their two daughters know it, with a vengeance. They fought all the time.

The father was a hot-tempered, high-handed tyrant who ordered the mother around like a slave. The mother surrounded herself with an atmosphere of martyrdom, under which she used sly tactics to get back at her husband. The two R. girls were upset most of the time, and the household was miserable.

When Joan R. was twenty, she married, fast, to get out of the house.

She had always been on her mother's side, and thought all women were persecuted angels and all men were fiends. She made her poor husband's life miserable.

When the going was rough financially, she refused to help out.

"Men get all the breaks," she said, "and he can just take the burden himself."

When her husband finally deserted her — for good cause — she went, whining, into a job, where all she has done ever since is to complain that men's wages for the same work are higher than women's, and so forth.

Elizabeth R., on the other hand, saw why her father behaved as he did.

She saw that he felt victimized by a woman who had married him just for financial security.

So she decided, at twenty, to get a job and be self-supporting. Then, she thought, she could marry for love, and not for her mother's reason.

She did get a good job, and even though she was paid less than her masculine colleagues, she realized that it was not because men are nastier critics, but because society is not yet used to women workers; that they really haven't been on the scene too long, and that certain inequalities are a natural part of the growth process.

Now, at twenty-seven, she's happily married to a man she chose for love, not for support.

The moral is that, while we cannot choose the things that happen to us, we can invariably choose our reaction to them, and what we permit them to do to our lives.

Basements Ornerly Sometimes

If and When They Leak, Try Pump or Venturi Tube

By HUBBARD COBB

We once heard of a man who neatly solved the problem of a leaky basement by trying to convert it into a swimming pool.

The minute he started welcoming a good steady flow of water through the walls and floor, the flow of water ceased and the basement has been dry ever since. This goes to show just how cussed water can be at times.

If your basement has a tendency to flood after heavy rains one excellent remedy is to install a sump pump in a pit set into the floor.

When the pit fills with water, it will start the pump which removes the water from the basement.

Very often the grading around the house is such that a drain line can be run from the basement to allow water to flow outside.

Drains of this type should be run to a dry well or storm sewer and should be screened at the opening to prevent rodents using it as an entry way into the house.

A rather unique method of draining a basement is to use something called a venturi tube which is connected to a length of hose attached to one of the house faucets.

Running off this fitting is a second length of hose that is run to the basement and another line runs out of the house.

Turn on the faucet and the flow of water from the house through the venturi pulls out the water in the basement. Plumbers and plumbing supply houses sell venturi tubes for this purpose.

As a last resort of flooded basements, build a masonry block wall around the fixtures you wish to protect such as the furnace.

See that the masonry work is good and tight and coat it with a masonry waterproofing paint.

You'll be a "model" traveler with this but tamper-proof lock and brass studs that new hatbox in bright red patent. They call prevent it from tipping over when the case is the "Fifth Avenue" and it boasts a tiny, is resting beside you.

Refuse Bids to Meals, if on Diet

But When Hostess Insists, Take Food and Pretend

By EMILY POST

A reader tells me: "My diet is of such a nature that very often when I am invited out to lunch, or dinner, I am unable to eat anything the hostess serves."

"When this happens, shall I refuse every dish that is proffered to me and sit with an empty plate, or should I take a little food on my plate and leave it untouched?"

I think it is best when you are invited out to lunch or dinner to refuse and say that you would like to come in later as your diet makes going out to meals impossible.

Of course, if the hostess wants you to come anyway, then you would put a little food on your plate and make believe to eat it.

Dear Mrs. Post: We have a problem confronting us regarding the forthcoming marriage of our daughter and would appreciate your help. A definite date has been set for the wedding and preparations have been made for a reception at home immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's paternal grandmother who has been ailing for some time has suddenly taken a bad turn and is not expected to live very long.

If the inevitable should happen after the invitations have been mailed, what would be the proper procedure to follow in this situation?

Answer: Your wedding ceremony would take place as planned, but the general reception invitations should be recalled and a very small gathering of families and a few most intimate friends invited to the house.

Don't Let Details Becloud Actual Issue

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

We had an eclipse of the moon recently—won't have another for years—and lots of people were cheated out of seeing the big view.

They folded up their telescopes and went home when some nasty old clouds hid the goings on. They didn't wait to see the clouds blow away.

Lots of you cheat yourselves out of seeing and understanding the big point in a problem by looking only at the details that cloud the issue. The big view is all fogged up.

You have to sweep the smog away before you can see it.

Here's a girl who's putting all the emphasis on a detail. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: 'Bart and I have been dating for over a year and we want to get married—but our parents object. You see, Bart is six feet tall and I'm only five feet."

"Our parents suggested that we break up and go with other people, and we've tried it twice, only to come back together again. Now we know we're really in love."

"Is this difference in our sizes too big a problem to keep us from being happily married?"

If Bart were a foot taller and you were a foot shorter I'd still not consider the difference in your sizes a detail.

Why, even if Bart were four inches shorter than you I'd consider it relatively unimportant. Your dispositions and attitudes are what really count. Not your attitudes!

Brush that cloud off the landscape and find out why your parents object to your talk of getting married. Too young? No job? Haven't finished education yet?

Haven't gone with enough people to be really sure of your mind and your heart? Not really congenial? Your attraction is only physical?

Any of these objections alone or in combinations carry more water than the detail you've been harping on!

And here's a girl who's suffering out of all proportion to the cause of the hurt. And all because she read a chart! She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 16 and I weigh 130 pounds—I should weigh 123 since I'm only five feet, three inches. My doctor says I should stop worrying until I'm 71—but I can't stop eating and I'm gaining."

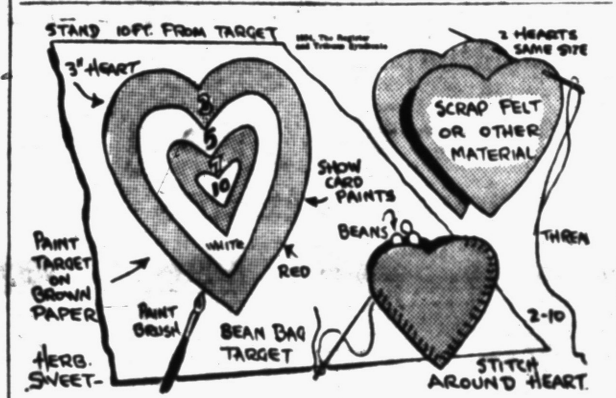

"I don't have much trouble getting and keeping boy friends. But my inferiority complex makes me feel ashamed when I go out with them."

"I feel that everybody's laughing at me. How can I overcome this?"

For seven pounds you should suffer so much! The 123 pounds is average, according to the chart maybe. But you're more than average luck with the boys!

They like to look at you exactly the way you are—they don't consider you a freak. So why would anyone else laugh at you? Why should you feel ashamed?

Curb your appetite when it tempts you to be greedy. Then forget those seven pounds and concentrate on neatness, attractive grooming, good humor and friendliness. That's what the boys like!

Tossing Hearts at Target Is Fun at Valentine Time

I hope that you will be having some friends in for a get-together during the days before Valentines.

Here is a game which is fun to make, which will keep guests busy for a while, and it is decorative, too.

This is a toss game and hearts are tossed at a paper heart target. You will need to have some wide paper or if this is impossible, use several narrow sections taped together.

You might be lucky enough to have part of an old sheet on hand. Draw four heart targets in the center, having one heart inside the other. Alternate the colors, starting with a red one on the outside.

Show card colors will be fine for coloring these. You can also number the hearts, 3, 5, 7, 10. I would suggest that the hearts have at least a three inch border.

The bean bags will be fun to make, too. They should be of red or white felt scraps. Cut two hearts and blanket stitch them around the edges, leaving a little hole at the top.

Pour the beans into this little hole, then finish the sewing. Let each player throw two bean bags and keep score. The one to reach 20 first is the winner. Give a chocolate heart to him or her!

March 15 Is Nearer Than You Think

Are You Still Muddled on Some Points? These Queries and Answers May Help

By RICHARD A. MULLEN
Article 14

We will finish this series with a few questions and answers which may clear up some confusion in your minds.

Q. I own stock in a corporation that declared a dividend on Dec. 10, 1953. I got the dividend check in January, 1954. Do I report the dividend in 1953?

A. No, since you received the check in 1954, the dividend is income for 1954.

Q. I do a lot of entertaining which is partly business and partly social. Can I deduct the expense from my business income?

A. You can deduct the business portion. This might take some estimating on your part. Keep in mind that your expense must be reasonable in relation to the type of business you are in.

Q. I do a lot of entertaining which is received $50. How much is taxable?

A. Only the interest. Since you paid $75 for it and got $90, the interest is $15.

Q. While swimming I lost my diamond ring worth $400. Can I deduct this as a casualty loss?

A. No. Losses due to mislaying or losing an article are not deductible.

Q. Under a divorce decree, I have been ordered to pay my ex-wife $100 a month, $75 of which is for the support of our child living with her. How much can I deduct as alimony?

A. Assuming you pay the $100 per month, you can only deduct $25 of it since the remainder is specifically designated for the support of your child.

Q. My wife, who died Aug. 15, 1953, would have been 65 on Sept. 1, 1953. Do I get an "over 65" exemption for her?

A. You would, though, if she reached 65 before she died.

Q. I am single and claim my mother, aged 90, as a dependent. May I claim an additional "over 65" exemption for her?

A. No. You get only one exemption for a dependent other than husband or wife regardless of how old he is.

Q. I earned $500 in 1953 and also received $250 from the Veterans Administration as a disability payment. Must I file a return?

A. No, your taxable income was less than $600 so you are not required to file. However, if any tax was withheld from the $550, file a return and the tax will be refunded to you.

Q. Does the district director of the Internal Revenue office charge for giving tax advice?

A. There is no charge. As is pointed out in the Primer, there are some special tax problems that can best be handled by a tax expert. If you have one of these problems and want free advice, go to your district director's office as soon as possible to avoid last minute crowds.

Q. I gave $100 to a needy friend during 1953. Can I deduct this as a contribution?

A. No. Contributions to individuals, no matter how needy, are not deductible.

Q. Part of my job, for which I am not reimbursed, is to entertain buyers when my boss is away. One dinner party cost $80 including $10 for entertainment tax. Can I deduct the $10 as a tax?

A. Federal entertainment tax is not deductible as a tax. However, if the party was necessary and ordinary in your business, you could deduct the entire $90 as an entertainment deduction in the miscellaneous schedule on page 3 of the return.

Q. My wife and I are living apart. May we file a joint return?

A. Yes, so long as you were not separated in 1953 by court order. Remember, both of you must sign the return and each is liable for the whole tax.

ANTI-RUST... In actual tests, New 5-D Premium was proved to protect the entire fuel system against rust... eliminates rust that forms in gas tanks and fouls fuel lines and delicate carburetor mechanisms. You have a better running car, a better protected engine.

ANTI-STALLING... New 5-D Premium eliminates annoying stalling caused when ice forms on carburetor throttle valve, jamming it shut and cutting off the fuel supply. With New 5-D Premium, THAT ICING CANNOT HAPPEN.

UPPER-CYLINDER LUBRICANT... unlike old-fashioned lubricants, the New 5-D Upper-Cylinder Lubricant contains an anti-oxidant that prevents the lubricant from oxidizing (carbon) on vital engine parts. New 5-D lubricates vital engine parts as it powers your car!

Cereal Grains Today's Demand

CHICAGO (AP)—An agriculture department report showing very heavy poundings of grains under the government loan stimulated demand for cereals on the board of trade today.

Wheat was particularly responsive to the figures on impoundings, the old crop month jumping around a cent before enough selling was uncovered to shave a part of the advance. Corn also was quite firm. Soybeans moved ahead early in sympathy with soybean meal but then lost most of their gains.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/2 cent higher, March $2.15, corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, March $1.37, oats 1/4 lower to 1/8 higher, March 78 1/2, rye unchanged to 1/4 higher, March $1.23 1/2, soybeans 1/4 lower to 1/8 higher, March $3.20 and lard unchanged two cents a hundred pounds dlo, March $18.75.
