The Pontiac Press Offers $1,000 Reward in Slaying

The Pontiac Press today offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killers of West Bloomfield Township trustee Edward E. DeConick Monday.

DeConick was killed and his sister, Kathleen, was wounded by three bandits and a woman who gained access to the DeConick home on a ruse late Monday night.

"This is a vicious crime, one that stirs the wrath of every member of the community," said Harold A. Fitzgerald, chairman of the board of The Press.

"Someone knows the responsible parties, and he must come forth and bring the culprits to justice."

"The identity of the person earning the reward will not be revealed, so no fear of reprisal will exist," Fitzgerald added.

Oakland County Probate Judges Eugene A. Moore, Donald E. Adams and Norman R. Barnard will decide the recipient of the reward. They agreed to serve in this capacity this morning.

DANCE PAVILION BURNS — South Haven's 50-year-old North Shore Pavilion, used as a dance pavilion and skating rink for many years, is shown burning early today. The pavilion, which was closed this season, was destroyed by the blaze. Residents of an adjacent apartment building were evacuated as a precautionary measure. The cause of the fire has not been determined, but arson is suspected. (See story, Page D-6).

No Suspects—Chief

By ED BLUNDEN

As a reward fund was being raised, West Bloomfield Township police are pressing the hunt for the killers of Edward E. DeConick, 63, a township board trustee.

DeConick was brutally slain and his sister, Kathleen DeConick, 73, shot in the head at their home Monday night by four intruders.

Miss DeConick is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today in fair condition. She required surgery on her right eye.

The pair was viciously beaten by the robbers and the fact that Miss DeConick survived and was able to tell of the crime surprised hospital officials, considering the woman's age.

She is under police guard at the hospital.

Police Chief Melvin Will labeled the crime "the most vicious" in his experience. He said information gathered by State Police crime lab technicians at the scene is being tabulated, and other clues are being pursued today.

However, there are no positive suspects, he said.

Officials at the Township Hall, 4460 Orchard Lake, said discussions have been held on raising a reward, both by office-holders and private citizens.

From Miss DeConick's description, police reconstructed the robbery-slaying:

● About 11 p.m., a woman knocked on the DeConicks' door and said her car was disabled and asked to use the phone.

★ ★ ★

● When the door was opened, three men, brandishing a shotgun and pistols, pushed their way in, beat the pair with a shotgun and tied them up.

● They ransacked the house and took with them a cash box and floor safe. Before leaving, they shot the pair, DeConick fatally. Miss DeConick was apparently left for dead.

● After the bandits left, she was able to free herself from her bonds and summon help from a nearby farm building housing laborers.

Police said Miss DeConick was not yet able to supply them with compete descriptions of the intruders. However she said the men were all Negroes in their 20s, ranging from short to above-medium height.

The woman was either white or a light-skinned Negro.

Police said "a large amount" of money and securities were taken, but family members denied the amount was anywhere near $50,000 as had been reported.

★ ★ ★

DeConick served as township justice of the peace from 1947 until he was elected trustee in 1953. He had served on the board of trustees since then.

Pontiac Breaks Sales Records

Pontiac Motor Division announced today that sales of Pontiacs, Tempests and Firebirds have set an all-time record of high sales for any one quarter. Records were also set for the month of June and the June 21-30 period.

John Z. DeLorean, a General Motors vice president and Pontiac's general manager, reported sales of 250,999 cars for the second quarter of 1967 which erases the old record of 231,589 cars sold in the same quarter of 1965.

DeLorean also pointed out that the 81,346 cars sold last month topped the 75,351 units sold in June last year by eight per cent.

Pontiac dealers sold 30,623 new cars during the June 21-30 period this year as compared to 26,506 cars sold last year.

"All of these new Pontiac sales records indicate that our dealers are presently selling cars at the rate of a million a year." DeLorean said.

Thursday Forecast Sunny and Warm

Here's good news.

The weatherman predicts sunny and warmer weather tomorrow with the high about 70 to 74. Fair and cool with a low near 60 is tonight's forecast.

For the next five days Pontiac area residents may look forward to sunshine and showers with the total rainfall measuring near one-half inch.

Temperatures for the period will be warmer tomorrow, then cooler Friday and continued cool into next week. The high will register three to five degrees below the normal high of 72 to 77, and normal low of 53 to 58.

Percentage chances of rain are: Today 10, tonight 5, tomorrow, not more than one eighth.

The low recording prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 53. At 2 p.m. the mercury had moved up to 65.

Holiday Toll Soars to 694

By the Associated Press

Traffic deaths soared to a record high for an Independence Day celebration during the long holiday weekend.

The total reached 694, far beyond the previous mark of 576 set during last year's three-day observance of the July 4.

The four-day weekend toll came close to the low end of the National Safety Council's advance estimate of 700 to 800, and exceeded the 539 tally made by the Associated Press during a nonholiday weekend of equal duration.

The nonholiday period was from 6 p.m. Friday June 16, to midnight Monday, June 20.

The holiday tabulation period began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Tuesday.

MEMORIAL DAY TOLL

During this year's Memorial Day holiday, also a four-day observance, 608 Americans lost their lives in traffic accidents. It was a record for that holiday.

"The large number of traffic fatalities over the Fourth of July weekend once again points up the urgent necessity for strong public support to gain speedy adoption by the states of badly needed traffic safety programs," commented the Safety Council's Executive Vice President John B. Lawler.

Such programs, he said, include improved law enforcement, better licensing practices and other steps.

Highway police went on extra shifts across the country as thousands of motorists took to the roads.

Mercenaries Land in Congo

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) — Two unidentified planes landed a group of foreign commandoes today at the airport of Kisangani in the northeast Congo, President Joseph D. Mobutu said.

The Congo radio had claimed last night that 200 Belgian mercenaries were ready to fly to the Congo and free Moise Tshombe if the ex-premier were extradited from Algiers, where he is being held.

Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, is about 775 miles northeast of Kinshasa. It is a former rebel stronghold.

In a radio address to the nation, Mobutu said foreign settlers had attacked Bukavu, near the Rwanda border 320 miles southeast of Kisangani.

★ ★ ★

The situation throughout the eastern Congo is tense, the Congo radio said.

PART OF A PLOT

Mobutu made no attempt to link the reported landings with Tshombe, but the official Algerian news agency implied that they were part of a plot to overthrow Mobutu and reinstate Tshombe, who faces death if he is handed over to the Congo by Algeria.

Tshombe was on a plane flying from Spanish territory last week that was hijacked and landed at Algiers. He has been held there while Algeria decides

GM Ready to Fight UAW on Guaranteed Income Bid

DETROIT (AP) — Five days before contract talks open, General Motors has served notice that it will fight guaranteed annual income, the pet demand of United Auto Workers chief Walter Reuther.

The giant of the nation's auto-makers produced yesterday a 12-page booklet detailing some income guarantees already given to UAW-represented GM workers.

The action was a public indication of what GM executives have made plain in private, where, with newsmen, they have scoffed at Reuther's "scheme to pay people for not working."

"We can't guarantee anybody's income until somebody can guarantee us a market," one said. "If a guy can draw his pay even if he isn't working, who would work? I wouldn't."

The development gave strength to fears that this year's auto-labor negotiations have as much strike potential as any previous sessions.

LABOR HISTORY

Reuther, claiming his 1.4 million-member UAW will make labor history this year, has warned he will sign no contract unless it contains GI, as the demand has been dubbed.

He contends a worker must know at the start of the year what his base pay will be for the next 12 months—and that the worker must draw this pay even if laid off during that period.

The red-haired labor boss has not revealed his GI plan in detail, but he has called it the major innovation in the UAW's "longest and most ambitious list of demands in history."

★ ★ ★

GM's booklet said workers' income guarantees already were substantial.

Detroiter Drowns in Cass Lake Bay

A Detroit man drowned yesterday in the Grundegut Bay area of Cass Lake, Waterford Township, while swimming from a boat.

Larry R. Josey, 21 failed to surface after diving from the boat during a water outing with friends, Oakland County sheriff's deputies were told.

Witnesses said Josey decided to take a swim while the boat was near the center of the bay about 3:50 p.m. When he didn't come up after diving, a friend attempted to save him, but was unable to see in the silty water, deputies said.

Sheriff's department divers, also hampered by poor visibility, recovered Josey's body, about 8:20 in some 30 feet of water.

Romney Eying N.H. Primary

MIRROR LAKE, N.H. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, speaking from the porch of a lake-front home, said today that if he decided to become a presidential candidate, "I will enter the New Hampshire primary, and if I do enter, I will enter to win.

Romney, looking comfortable in a green sports shirt and gray checked jacket, began a four-day working vacation in New Hampshire's lake country, during which he will meet with top Republican leader and with supporters of his possible presidential bid.

He said that he did not think a person would be necessarily finished by a loss in the New Hampshire primary, which is the first in the country.

Romney said that he felt he was an underdog in New Hampshire. He added that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon had "been here many times and is well known."

51 Members, $67,000

Club to Aid OU Growing

"Our Chancellor's Club at Oakland University is barely a year old," said Chairman L. C. Goad, "but we have 51 members and $67,000."

L. C. GOAD

Members give a thousand dollars a year for 10 years after which they become honorary life members. If the contribution becomes burdensome in the years ahead, the university steps aside with complete understanding. The bulk of the money goes to scholarships.

"All big universities have similar organizations," says Chairman Goad, "and with hundreds of thousands of alumni to draw upon, they are tremendously important.

"At Oakland University we have only a handful of graduates, and they haven't had a chance to win financial success. Hence, we are directly dependent upon residents who have prospered here. Through a definite part of our lusty and rapidly growing institution, they know they are playing a part personally."

Full details can be secured by a letter addressed to Chairman L. C. Goad at Oakland University.

106 Marines Killed in 4-Day Battle

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy Communist rocket and artillery fire pounded U.S. Marine outposts and sweeping forces today just below the demilitarized zone where ground fighting or gun duels have raged for four days.

* * *

The U.S. Command said 15 Leathernecks were killed and 51 wounded in eight enemy barrages in the past 24 hours. This brought the unofficial four-day casualty toll to 106 killed, 321 wounded and 6 missing.

* * *

The Marines have reported 168 North Vietnamese killed but believe the total enemy casualties are far higher.

Each North Vietnamese barrage was answered by the Marine guns, but the Red batteries were evidently well dug in at solidly prepared sites. Associated Press correspondent Steve Stibbens reported from the battle area that the forces of the 90th North Vietnamese Regiment, which had been fighting the Marines since Sunday, had pulled back at least temporarily.

CLUSTER OF BUNKERS

Pushing forward to recover the bodies of Marines killed in the big battle last Sunday, the Marines ran into a rabbit warren of abandoned, battered bunkers.

The fortifications two miles above the sandbagged Marine base at Con Thien indicated the Communists are again pushing down in force from the demilitarized zone from which they were cleared by a Marine invasion in May.

Sweeping forces protected by tanks, two of which were knocked out by gunfire, have now recovered most of the missing from the opening battle Sunday. The official toll now stands at 78 Marines killed, 176 wounded and 6 still missing in that fight, in which the Marines reported at least 148 North Vietnamese killed.

A Marine battalion pushed across 600 yards of the battlefield without opposition. It was honeycombed with tunnels and bunkers.

While the threat along the border zone overshadowed action elsewhere, there were skirmishes and small-scale battles throughout the country Tuesday. Despite this almost all American units took a few minutes off for Fourth of July observances.

Only 11 miles west of Saigon, American soldiers and South Vietnamese rangers hit a guerrilla band with a sudden helicopter assault. In the melee, a recoilless rifle shell exploded beside a descending helicopter and wounded eight U.S. soldiers. In all, 22 Viet Cong were killed, and the assault force had one man killed and 15 wounded.

South Vietnamese forces reported 19 Viet Cong killed in a clash near Tra Vinh, in the Meking Delta south of Saigon.

* * *

American pilots, after one day of bad weather, found fair skies over much of North Vietnam Tuesday and flew 115 missions, most of them against the rail, highway and waterway network around the heavily defended Haiphong-Hanoi area.

AIRFIELD HIT

Air Force pilots again cratered the MIG airfield at Kep northeast of Hanoi and reported destroying or damaging about 35 boxcars, most of them on the northeast rail line from Hanoi to Red China.

Danger Eases at Dixie Dam

Valves Are Opened to Lessen Pressure

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn. (AP) — A danger still exists at the water-damaged Laurel Hill Dam, but officials of the Tennessee Game and Fish Commission say it is less today.

Two valves were opened Tuesday, increasing to nearly 130 million gallons a day the water output through a sluice tunnel, and thus reducing water pressure which threatens to break the earthen dam.

* * *

The 24-inch valves, along with another valve which has been partially open since Friday, will lower the water to a safe level within two weeks, les haun, a commission engineer, predicted.

Bob Galloway, manager of the lake which is operated by the Game and Fish Commission, noticed increased seepage at the base of the 840-foot-long dam a week ago. Engineers began working Friday to lower pressure on the structure to prevent its collapse.

* * *

The lake has been closed to all activities. About 200 residents of three communities below the dam have been alerted to evacuate in event of a break. The lake held about three billion gallons of water.

"The status of the dam is still as it was last Wednesday," Haun said after the valves were opened. "But we feel a little safer as the water level lowers a bit at a time."

Woman Sets Fire to Self, Is 'Critical'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young woman drenched herself with gasoline Tuesday and set herself afire, police said.

She was listed in critical condition today in Los Angeles General Hospital with third-degree burns.

* * *

The woman was tentatively identified from a driver's license and library card as Nancy L. Moore, 24, Twin Falls, Idaho. The library card was from Portland, Ore.

Police quoted attendants at a self-service station northwest of downtown Los Angeles as saying they heard a scream and saw the woman ablaze inside a small cashier's booth on a center island of the service station.

A religious picture was found with the woman inside the small building, officers said.

Maple Parking Curbed 2 Hours Each Weekday

BIRMINGHAM — Parking along Maple in the central business district will be prohibited on the south side of the street for two hours each weekday for the next six weeks.

The parking ban, approved by the City Commission Monday night, becomes effective Monday between the hours of 4 and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The removal of parking during the rush period is intended to relieve congestion and allow for the easy circulation of traffic during construction of ring road projects.

Police Chief Darryl Bruestle said today that signs warning the motorists of the ban will be placed along Maple between Bates and Hunter immediately.

* * *

Initially the police department had recommended that parking be removed from both sides of the street between 4 and 6 p.m., but later decided the ban on one side would be sufficient.

HAD OPPOSED

The Birmingham - Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce had opposed the removal of parking on both the north and south sides of the street, contending the results would be disastrous to business.

A report on a 30-day test ban along the major thoroughfare last month was to be presented to the commission next Monday, but Bruestle said that it would be delayed at least a week.

All the information has been gathered, but the city's traffic consultant is out of town and won't have time to evaluate the data, according to Bruestle.

* * *

In an interim report to the commission, the chamber of commerce said that its own survey showed that all retail and service businesses on Maple experienced an "appreciable loss in dollar volume and store traffic during the trial period."

The chamber asked that if parking had to be removed, it be banned only from the north side between 5 and 6 p.m.

In another action, the commission gave tentative approval to the hiring of the architectural firm of O'Dell Hewlitt and Luckenbach to design a parking structure proposed for the city parking lot on Pierce between Merrill and Brown.

Livonia Trio Is Sentenced for Conspiracy

A Livonia man was sentenced to 2-2½ years in prison and his parents placed on two years probation for attempted conspiracy to commit murder.

Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts ordered the maximum sentence for Jules Sorna, 25, while placing the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sorna, on probation.

All three Sornas pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of attempted conspiracy on June 13 during their trial on conspiracy to commit murder.

The three were accused of planning to have a woman killed. The woman was a witness to an armed robbery of which Jules Sorna has since been found guilty.

He is waiting sentence on the holdup conviction.

Police were alerted to the scheme by Bert Davis of Detroit, who the Sornas tried to hire to kill Mrs. Virginia Gogates of Detroit.

Davis went to police after he had been approached in a Detroit bar by Sorna.

John Sorna also was ordered by Roberts to pay $200 court cost.

School Board in Waterford Will Organize

The Waterford Township Board of Education will hold its annual organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

To be elected for one-year terms are a president, a secretary, a treasurer and a chaplain. Officers can be reelected.

Current board president is Robert E. Field. He was elected in January following the resignation of Norman L. Cheal.

Tomorrow night also will mark the first official meeting for new board of education trustee Lewis S. Long, who was elected to a four-year term June 12. Long succeeds Mrs. Dorothy B. Barningham who did not run for reelection.

* * *

Incumbents Donald W. Porter and Michael G. Patterson also emerged victorious in the June 12 election, Porter gaining a second four-year term and Patterson a three-year seat.

In other business, the board is slated to open bids for the proposed new Crescent Lake Elementary School and for an interior remodeling project at Waterford Township High School.

W. Germans Protest 'Kidnaped' Koreans

BONN, Germany (UPI) — The West German government stepped into the case of 13 missing South Koreans yesterday and issued a sharp protest to the South Korean ambassador about Seoul secret service agents' activities in Germany.

* * *

The director of the Foreign Ministry's political section, Hermann Meyer-Lindenberg, summer South Korean Ambassador Gen. Duk Shin-choi to question him about the disappearances.

A ministry spokesman said Meyer - Lindenburg told Gen. Duk "The South Korean Secret service must cease its activities immediately." He also asked the South Korean dipolmat whether there was a connection between the activities of the secret service and the missing South Koreans.

German newspapers reported today that South Korean secret service agents were investigating Koreans in Germany in connection with a Communist North Korean spy ring recently uncovered in Seoul.

* * *

The disappearances came to light a week ago when the Liberal Students Union at Heidelberg University said a Korean student studying there had been kidnaped by South Korean secret servicemen.

U.N. Seeking to Save Face on Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diehard diplomats at the United Nations cast about today for a face-saving token resolution on the Middle East after rival demands for Israel's withdrawal from Arab soil failed to pass the General Assembly.

* * *

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan called an afternoon meeting to "finalize" the work of the emergency session that began June 17.

* * *

But some delegates expressed belief that if the assembly recessed for a few days, they could muster the needed two-third majority for a vaguely-worded draft expounding general principles and shunting the real issues back to the Security Council.

The 122-nations assembly defeated four resolutions yesterday calling on Israel to withdraw its troops from land occupied in Egypt, Syria and Jordan during the June war.

* * *

The assembly overwhelmingly approved a resolution calling on Israel to rescind its annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem and a Swedish proposal appealing for aid for Arab refugees and other victims of the Arab-Israeli war.

Highland Holdup Suspect Arrested

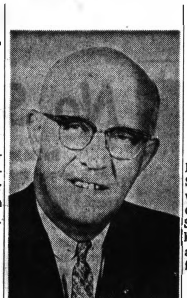

An unidentified man was arrested by Oakland County sheriff's deputies today, shortly after a Highland Township grocery store was robbed at gunpoint about 11:30 a.m.

* * *

Deputies said a man armed with what is believed to be a 22-caliber revolver robbed the Hickory Ridge Market, Hickory Ridge and Clyde, of an undetermined amount of cash and fled in a car.

* * *

The suspect, revealed to be a Highland Township man, was arrested on M59 between Milford Road and Duck Lake Road, deputies said.

MONROE M. OSMUN

School Board Elects Officers

Monroe M. Osmun has been returned as head of the Pontiac Board of Education along with two other incumbent officers.

Reelected as board officers with Osmun were Russell L. Brown, vice president, and Mrs. Elsie Mihalek, secretary. Vernon L. Schiller, schools business manager, remains as the board's treasurer.

Osmun, 65, who is beginning his 22nd year on the board, has been president five previous times. He is a well-known Pontiac clothing merchant.

Both Osmun and Brown were reelected to the school board last month.

Brown, 57, is starting his second four-year term on the board. He is a social studies and mathematics teacher at Bloomfield Hills Junior High School.

* * *

Mrs. Mihalek has been on the board for nine years. Her current term expires in 1970. She served as vice president in 1963 and 1964.

Osmun resides at 2094 Lakewind, West Bloomfield Township; Brown at 483 Lynch and Mrs. Mihalek, 1592 Vinewood.

S. Korean Soldier Killed, 12 Wounded

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean regulars killed a South Korean soldier and wounded 12 others south of the demilitarized zone today, but South Korean police reported killing a North Korean guerrilla and capturing another in a gunfight 150 miles south of Seoul.

* * *

In Pusan, riot police used teargas and clubs to repel 2,000 university students demonstrating against irregularities in the June 8 parliamentary elections. Two more national assemblymen resigned because of alleged irregularities in their districts.

In the fifth border incident since President Chung Hee Park's inauguration for a second term Saturday, North Korean regulars threw grenades and fired automatic weapons at close range into a guard post on the central front 1,000 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

The guard post returned the fire. It was not known if any of the Communists were hit.

17 DEATHS

Seven South Koreans and 10 North Koreans were killed and five South Koreans wounded in the other skirmishes Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The gunfight with the guerrillas occurred near Changsong as squads of police and soldiers were pursuing 15 North Koreans who had been reported in the area. They encountered a band of eight, but six escaped. The pursuit continued.

Six North Korean guerrillas have been reported captured and 75 killed in the past month, the highest total since the 1953 Korean armistice. Fifteen soldiers and policemen have been reported killed and seven wounded in antiguerrilla actions.

Student protests against the parliamentary elections subsided somewhat in Seoul with only three demonstrations of 300, 200 and 30 students occurring. Most universities in Seoul have started summer vacations early. Pusan University adopted the same tactic after the demonstration there today.

Both the assemblymen who resigned today, and another who resigned Tuesday were among eight assemblymen that Park had purged from his ruling Democratic Republican party for alleged voting irregularities in their districts.

Spending Cut Instead of Tax Hike Is Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman William Proxmire of the influential Senate - House Economic Committee today called on Congress to reduce federal spending rather than raise income taxes.

"If the government has to allocate more of the national resources to defense purposes, we should cut down on the government's other claims on resources," the Wisconsin Democrat said in a statement.

"Why should the government go on consuming more than ever when it asks the private sector to consume less?"

Proxmire's comment came as the Johnson Administration neared a decision on how much of an increase in personal and corporate income taxes it will ask of Congress, and what date to make the increase begin.

* * *

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Nicholas B. Katzenbach, undersecretary of state, plan to fly to Saigon this week on a mission that is expected to provide an answer to how many U.S. troops will be sent to Vietnam above previously planned and budgeted levels.

$5 BILLION INCREASE

Proxmire estimated sending 100,000 more troops than previously planned to Vietnam would send defense spending about $5 billion above the $22.4 billion currently budgeted for the war during the next 12 months.

Trapped Miner Eats Undershirt

MANILA (UPI) — A miner trapped five days below ground said today he satisfied his hunger by eating his dirty undershirt.

"It stuck in my throat and I had to wash it down with water," Francisco Rivera, 34, said.

The father of five was one of 21 miners rescued Monday after typhoon rains collapsed a gold and copper mine 150 miles north of Manila a week ago. Rescuers found six more alive today and reported hearing voices of others. Eight bodies have been found.

City to Weigh Extension of 2 Contracts

The extension of two contracts will be considered by the Pontiac City Commission tonight, one with the American Transit Corp., the other with the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

Kenneth Totten, manager of the bus line which operates the Pontiac Transit Corp., has requested the city renew the agreement for another year under the present terms.

The OEO is asking that the city extend the lease on the war on poverty office at 7 W. Lawrence for six more months.

In other business, the commission will receive a report on the $1.8 million bond issue which will finance the Galloway Creek Sewer and pumping station to be built on Opdyke.

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission recently approved the sale of the bonds.

OPENING OF BIDS

The opening of bids on the bond sale is scheduled for the Aug. 8 City Commission meeting, with construction bids on the project to be opened a day earlier.

* * *

Another report will be submitted to the commission regarding bids on the construction of a new emergency building at Pontiac General Hospital, and the remodeling of the hospital to bring it up to code.

Hearing on Land-Fill Due Tomorrow in Waterford

The decision whether to grant a permit to operate a land-fill off Maceday Lake Road will lie squarely with Waterford Township Planning Commission following a public hearing on the issue at 7:30 tomorrow night in Waterford Township High School.

Advocates and opponents of the proposed land-fill will be given the opportunity to present their cases at the hearing.

The nine-member commission could render a decision directly after the hearing or could defer action.

The issue was referred to the commission for final action after it was determined by township attorneys that the body should handle such matters as specified by the zoning ordinance.

* * *

The Township Board originally held a public hearing on that issue last Jan. 30, but failed to take action.

When it appeared that the new board would decide the matter at its May 2 meeting, attorneys ruled that the planning commission legally should conduct the public hearing and render a decision.

The Township Board, at that time, voted to go through proper channels to amend the zoning ordinance so that board members would have the final say on permit requests for sanitary land-fill operations.

However, amending an ordinance is time-consuming.

* * *

And land-fill applicants Donald Freeman and David Ward of the Waterford Processing and Reclaiming Co. requested and were granted a public hearing at the commission's May 23 meeting.

LAND-FILL SITE

Soviets Big Loser in Failure of U.N.

News Analysis

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union emerges as the obvious loser in the failure of the U.N. General Assembly to find a formula for dealing with the explosive situation left in the wake of the Arab-Israeli war.

There were other losers, including the Arabs and the United Nations itself. But as the initiator of the move for the emergency session, the Kremlin came out empty-handed.

* * *

If the session was intended as a propaganda project to divert attention from the Soviet setback in the Middle East, as some have said, it proved to be a boomerang.

To measure the extent of the Soviet setback, it is necessary to recall that the emergency assembly was convened because the Russians said the Security Council was unable to cope with the situation.

IMPLICATION

The implication was that the Soviet Union expected to get the assembly to do what the council refused to do: condemn Israel and call for unconditional withdrawal of Israeli troops from Arab territory.

The United States opposed the move, contending that the council had not exhausted all possibilities for action. The Russians looked even worse because they brought Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and the heads of a number of allied governments to New York to lend prestige to the session.

* * *

The assembly not only refused to condemn Israel; it refused to adopt any proposal calling for the withdrawal of Israeli forces.

If the Arabs felt the Russians had let them down by failing to send them military aid during the war with Israel, they must have felt similar frustration when Moscow proved unable to muster any action in the assembly.

NONALIGNED RESOLUTION

Long before the Soviet Union began soft-pedaling its demands for condemnation of Israel, the Arabs were lining up behind the nonaligned resolution which made no mention of condemnation.

In the end, both the Russians and the Arabs would have been happy to settle for a simple call for withdrawal of Israeli troops, but they were unable to get even that.

* * *

The United Nations suffered because the voting demonstrated that the emergence of the new Asian and African nations had created a split that could block effective action on the Middle East—a problem which had been handled successfully by the assembly in the past.

Thus the Middle East was added to the list of issues outside the range of effective U.N. action.

THANT CRITICIZED

The failure of the assembly was more disturbing since U.N. Secretary General U Thant already was under criticism for withdrawing the U.N. peacekeeping force from Egypt at President Gamal Abdel Nasser's demand.

Many diplomats said frankly that one of their main concerns in trying to find a compromise dealing with the Middle East was to avert a further blow to U.N. prestige. Efforts undoubtedly will continue to keep the United Nations in the picture.

* * *

Israel came through with flying colors although few delegates came to its defense during the 2½-week debate. Both the Security Council and the General Assembly refused to censure Israel or to demand withdrawal of Israeli forces.

The only resolution adopted by the assembly inimical to Israel was a Pakistani proposal declaring that the assembly did not accept as valid Israel's action to unify Jerusalem and calling on Israel to rescind the measures.

Circus Parade on Cool 4th Hit in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — It was the coldest Independence Day on record for Milwaukee with temperatures in the 50s, but crowds estimated by Gov. Warren P. Knowles at 800,000 turned out for the annual Fourth of July circus parade.

Refurbished circus wagons from the Circus World Museum at Baraboo, Wis., were the feature attraction in the parade, which consisted of 3,636 persons, 650 horses, 59 wild animals, more than 50 antique cars and 34 bands and drum and bugle corps. It covered a 3½-mile route in just under two hours.

* * *

Some musical units were from Connecticut, Mississippi, Pennsylvania and Louisiana.

On the reviewing stand was Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., an astronaut who attended school in Milwaukee. Gov. and Mrs. Knowles rode in a horse-drawn carriage.

Where The Real BIG BARGAINS Still Live

His Films Are Winners

Teen-Age Movie Producer a Real Star

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Music begins.

On the screen appears a freckled grinning face peering through the mouth of a yawning tiger.

Suddenly the screen turns into a kaleidescope of sparkling colored lights.

A title appears, "Dee Tour Downtown," followed again by our smiling friend who is now spinning wildly head over heels tossing letters he picks from the air.

★ ★ ★

Somehow, the letters manage to find their places, spelling out the movie credits and opening the award-winning production of young director John Kassner.

PRIZE WINNER

Fifteen-year-old John has been making films for about four years and, although he hasn't had any box-office smashes he recently won first prize in the 19th annual state movie contest sponsored by the Michigan Council of Amateur Movie Clubs.

Although he was the youngest person in the competition, John's unusual titles and surprise ending caught the judge's eye.

His precise editing and use of Petula Clark's song, "Downtown," weave an entertaining fantasy about a daydreaming boy who tries magic as a way to beat the traffic.

On his way down to 'where the neon lights are so pretty," the boy (played by an old Muskegon buddy) takes a "dee tour" and gets lost in someone's back yard, on top of a truck, between two gasoline pumps, and on a park swing before he finally reaches his destination.

STARTED CAREER EARLY

When he realizes where he is, he becomes so happy he kisses the buildings, swings on the lamp posts, dances down the sidewalk and is led away by an attendant of the Funny Farm Sanitarium.

As the son of an amateur photographer, John started his movie career early as the star in some of his father's productions.

One, a documentary of the YMCA summer camp program, is still used by that organization in its registration rallies.

★ ★ ★

Using an inexpensive camera he received for Christmas, John's first movies were of the gift opening at home. The film was a Christmas celebration for his father who missed the "first run" that year while in the hospital.

FIRST 'REAL MOVIE'

About five months later, John had finished his first "real movie."

"It was supposed to be a documentary of our school's annual track meet, but the camera ruined most of the film," John said, about to explain the creative process that followed.

Taking what was left, John added scenes of a barnstorming pilot from an old Abbott and Costello movie and some shots of a reptile-like monster emerging from the depths of somewhere to come up with the world's first "Trackless Track Meet."

★ ★ ★

"Every film I've done has really been experimental," John said, "I've tried different techniques with each one and have learned something new with every attempt."

AIDED BY CLASSMATES

Seven members of his English class at Walled Lake High School participated in one such experiment this past semester.

In this project, John attempted to set to film a nonsense poem he had written.

The verses, in turn, were set to music by a film pen pal from Illinois.

The result was a forboding sur-realistic illusion.

"There's a lot more work involved in making a film of this type. I spent over 50 hours on "Downtown" alone," he comments. "That's why there aren't very many amateur movie makers. I don't know of any others around here."

Cost of equipment and film is another factor keeping amateur film making an esoteric hobby.

His award-winning movie cost John only $30, but he was using a $500 camera and a $300 projector borrowed from his father.

The expenditure is easily made up, though.

"I appreciate an audience reaction's to my movies," he said, "Making movies wouldn't be half as much fun without an audience to show them to."

EYE OUT FOR ACTORS

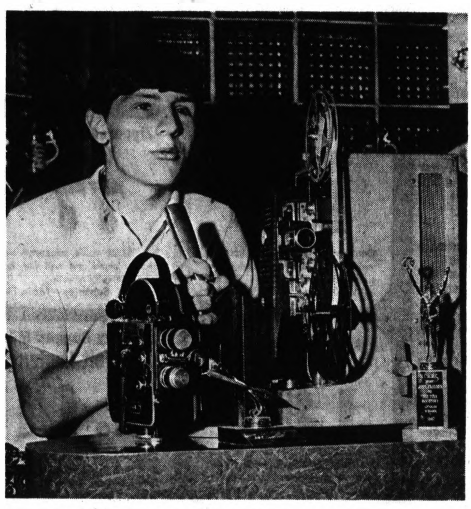

Immediate future plans for the young producer, director, film, editor, soundman and cameraman are to "just relax and have a good time this summer."

But he probably will still be looking for actors to star in his next production "Trigger Mortis—Frontier Mortician,"

It's a western about a cowboy named Arnie who loves a girl named Pie Alamode, who is almost kidnapped by an Indian ranch hand named Joe Silver, who is caught in the act and locked up in a casket by Mortis, the fastest undertaker in the West.

"It's supposed to be a satire," John added.

With a plot like that, he might win himself his own television series.

YOUNG MOVIE MAKER — Award winning producer John Kassner of West Bloomfield Township adds the voice track to one of his latest films. Although he is only 15, John is the winner of two trophies for first place in state amateur movie contests. The most recent award was won in competition in which he was the youngest person entered.

Pleasant Ridge Last Community Blocking the I-696 Freeway

PLEASANT RIDGE (UPI) — This small Oakland County community today remained the last major stumbling block to completion of the $180 million I-696 freeway through southeastern Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Despite mounting pressure, Mayor Theodore Barr yesterday promised a fight to keep the freeway from slicing through the city of 4,000, chopping off 10 per cent of its tax base.

State Highway Department spokesmen said delays in approving the I-696 route have already increased costs by $65 million over the original estimate of $115 million about four years ago.

Pleasant Ridge became the last major obstacle when officials in the Macomb County community of Roseville did an about-face Monday night and agreed to let the freeway run through its limits.

★ ★ ★

The Highway Department said Roseville's approval permits construction of the eastern section of the freeway but also makes it impossible to juggle the alignment of the western section.

OTHER COMMUNITIES

Three other Oakland County communities have objected to the freeway but are prepared to work out their differences in binding arbitration.

A bill pending in the State Senate Appropriations Committee would require cities to submit highway stalemates to binding arbitration. State law currently gives communities virtual veto power over any highways running through their limits.

Barr indicated Pleasant Ridge would "test the legality" of the bill if it becomes law.

★ ★ ★

"It's like being forced to buy tickets to a party you don't want to go to," he said. "Pleasant Ridge just can't afford it."

Wixom Chamber to Install Officers

Richard F. Mitchell, 48261 W. Pontiac Trail, will be installed as the new president of the Wixom Chamber of Commerce tomorrow at Marco's Restaurant in Novi.

Active in the chamber since his arrival in the Wixom area two years ago, Mitchell is the manager of Aunt Jemima's Kitchen, on the I-96 Expressway.

Other newly elected officers to be installed at next month's ceremonies are Mrs. Vern Spencer, secretary, and Virgil Caifn, treasurer.

Mrs. Spencer and her husband operate Spencer's Airport on Pontiac Trail. Caifn is a representative of the Walter Toebe Company.

3 on Probation for 'Live-In' Role

DETROIT (AP) — Two ministers and the wife of the former director of Cranbrook Institute of Science have been put on 18 months probation for their role in a "live-in" at a condemned city-owned home in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Recorder's Court Judge Joseph A. Gillis sentenced the three Monday after their conviction five months ago for criminal trespass.

They are: Rev. Charles Sacquety of St. David's Episcopal Church in Detroit; Dr. Robert Batchelder of the United Church of Christ in Highland Park; and Mrs. Robert Hatt.

The "live-in" last fall was part of the West Central Organization's protest against the city's urban renewal policy.

★ ★ ★

Twelve other ministers were convicted by a jury with the three. Judge Gillis said he would probably sentence the others July 11.

He said the three were sentenced now because they are all leaving the state.

Five Children Die

9 Drown in State Over Holiday

By The Associated Press

Nine persons, including five children aged 2 to 17, drowned in Michigan waters during the Fourth of July holiday weekend.

Craig Spencer, 8, of Battle Creek fell from a dock where he was fishing and drowned yesterday in Houghton Lake.

Larry Raymond Josey, 21, of Detroit, drowned yesterday in Cass Lake near Pontiac.

Harold E. Rogers, 67, of Mikado lost his life yesterday in Van Etton Creek near the Alcona County community.

Thomas Goodson, 63, of Pontiac drowned Monday night in Lake Angelus in Waterford Township near Pontiac. He apparently fell from the boat from which he was fishing, police said.

CHASED BALL

Suzanne M. Neuvion, 16, of Windsor, Ont., drowned Monday night in Half Moon Lake, Washtenaw County, when she chased a beach ball into deep water in front of the family's vacation cottage.

Ronld Olsen, 17, of Petoskey drowned Sunday night in Walloon Lake in Charlevoix County while trying to swim from a buoy to a raft.

A 2-year-old Leslie boy, Ronald Marquedant, wandered away from a cottage, fell off a dock and drowned in six inches of water Saturday in Big Trout Lake near the village of Trout Lake. A year earlier, two of the youth's relatives died in the same lake.

Ernest Price, 25, of Port Huron drowned saturday in an attempt to swim the Pine River near Port Huron.

A Detroit boy, Gerald Koziara, 11, drowned Monday night in the swimming pool of a branch of the Boys' Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit.

Selfridge Open House

A precision aerial demonstration team, the United States Air Force Thunderbirds, will perform Saturday before an anticipated crowd of over 100,000 persons celebrating the Golden Anniversary of Selfridge Air Force Base.

★ ★ ★

Their performance at 1:30 p.m. will be part of an open house at the base, slated for the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Also featured will be a display of old and new aircraft and missles, along with a military parade.

Head-On Car Crash Kills 2, Puts Holiday Toll at 30

By The Associated Press

A head-on auto crash killed two persons and injured five near Kalkaska, boosting Michigan's highway death toll to 30 for the Fourth of July holiday weekend.

The fatalities exceeded the 28 killed last year during a 78-hour Fourth of July span. The holiday period this year covered 102 hours.

Killed when the cars collided last night on M72 three miles east of Kalkaska were Arlo J. Groner, 71, of Kalkaska and Miss Adeline Gauthier, 20, of Cedar. Two of the five injured were hospitalized in nearby Traverse City.

Also killed were:

Ann L. Domatio, 14, of West Branch, when she was struck by a car yesterday while riding a bicycle on M30 five miles south of West Branch.

★ ★ ★

Torrin D. Scott, 3, of Stanwood, when he was run over by a car yesterday near his home.

EARLIER DEATHS

Lewis Brown, 39, of Detroit was killed Friday when he was hit by a car as he crossed a Detroit street.

★ ★ ★

Robert Criswell, a 24-year-old from East Rosedale, died Saturday when his car left M53 and rolled over in Sterling Township, Macomb County.

A 5-year-old Carrolton boy, Jeffery Brasseur, was killed Saturday when a truck smashed into the tricycle he was riding.

★ ★ ★

Paul Loisell, 14, and his 3-year-old brother, Robert, were fatally injured Saturday as the car driven by their father collided with another car on M53 five miles north of Mio.

A Leadville, Colo., man, David Kinney, 38, was killed Saturday when his car swerved off U.S. 82 in Iron County.

Walter J. Cenkala, 22, of Rogers City was killed when his car ran off a rural road and rolled over near Rogers City Saturday.

A three-car smashup near Benton Township, Berrien County, claimed the life of Robert Warren, 90, of Benton Harbor, Saturday. He was a passenger in one of the cars.

★ ★ ★

Betty J. Rydholm, 30, of Marquette was fatally injured when hit by a car as she crossed the street Saturday near her home.

Adolph Collins, 38, of Albion died Sunday on I-94 when hit by a car. The driver told police Collins was sprawled in the road when the car hit him.

★ ★ ★

Sylvia Hale, 72, of Muskegon died in a two-car collision in Muskegon Sunday.

A 14-year-old Six Lakes boy David Reed, was killed Sunday when he fell off his bicycle in Belvedere Township, Montcalm County.

A two-car, head-on collision Monday claimed the life of Charles L. Lake, 50, of North Branch on M21 near Yale.

Gary Cowell, 18, his brother, Michael, 17, and the driver, Steven Woollard, 20, all from Leonard, were killed Monday when their car, one of its tires apparently blown out, crashed into a tree near Dryden in Lapeer County.

★ ★ ★

Coleberry Hills Celebrates 4th

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Colberry Hills Subdivision held its annual old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration yesterday for the fourth year.

Feature of the event was the kids' parade with about 100 youngsters competing for prizes. Awards went to the most-patriotic, best-decorated bike, etc.

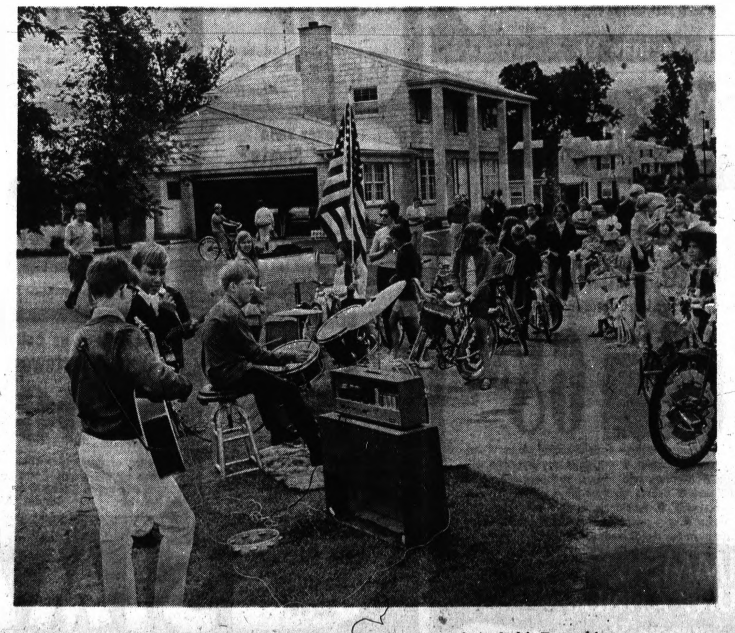

After the red-white and blue bedecked children paraded around the subdivision street the entire crowd gathered on a traffic circle island and held ceremonies.

The crowd was entertained by their own subdivision band, "The Deserted."

The group is in the 12-year-old category and features singer Mike Biehl, drummer Tom Greene and guitarists Pat Bowman and Jim Hafeli.

Mrs. Robert Weisenberger, chairman of the parade, calls the subdivision's civic group "a very active organization."

During the year they put on Halloween, Easter and Christmas parties for the children as well as adult parties.

Man Dies in Fall From Plant Roof

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A construction worker at the Ford Motor Co. plant here died this morning shortly after falling from the roof of the building.

Dead on arrival at Mount Clemens St. Joseph Hospital was Robert McCarty, 52, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Township police said McCarty was carrying construction material across the plant roof when he fell about 40 feet through a hole in the roof to a concrete floor. The accident happened at about 7 a.m.

McCarty had been employed by the American Roofing Co. of Detroit for about three days. The plant is located at the corner of 23 Mile Road and Mound.

Meadow Brook in Its Fourth Season

Meadow Brook Music Festival is off to its fourth season, following three that progressively surpassed the preceding one in attendance and appeal.

This summer's Festival offers an eight-week 32-concert program by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra highlighted by a galaxy of guest artists as compared with the first season's four-week 12-concert offering.

The orchestra, under direction of Sixten Ehrling, has from the inception of Meadow Brook thrilled thousands with the brilliance of its renditions.

As icing on the cake of this season's program schedule, the New York Pro Musica, directed by JOHN WHITE, gave special concerts last night and a week ago.

With an audience capacity of 8,000 (2,200 in the HOWARD C. BALDWIN Pavilion and 6,000 on the grassy slope contiguous), attendance at the concerts has climbed steadily. More than 10,000 turned out for last year's performance that featured VAN CLIBURN.

★ ★ ★

Significantly, the Festival carries its own financial weight, the cost of the programs (this season's is budgeted at $500,000) being met by ticket sales and support from private sources, without recourse to Oakland University funds or other sources of public money.

The Press again commends the administration of OU, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and those of the citizenry who have joined forces to provide the community with this annual cultural delight.

Rerun Slated for Waterford Landfill Hearing

Waterford Township residents are getting a rare opportunity: Two public hearings for the price of one.

At issue is a request for a license to operate a sanitary landfill near Maceday Lake. There was a marathon public hearing held January 30 before the Waterford Township Board. It was attended by more than 400 people.

Following that hearing, township officials, acting on legal advice, decided that under Waterford's present zoning ordinance, the decision to grant or reject this proposal lies in the hands of the Waterford Township Planning Commission — not the township board.

Thus, a replay of sorts of the January hearing is slated for 7:30 tomorrow night in the Waterford Township High School cafeteria, this time before the township planning commission.

The need for a waste disposal site was heightened when a dump on Cooley Lake Road serving township residents was closed early this year. That immediate need was eased somewhat in April with the approval of a contract whereby township residents can use the City of Pontiac's sanitary landfill on West Kennett Road on a fee basis.

Recently, we praised the fight residents of the Maceday Lake area are putting up to prevent possible future pollution of Maceday and Pontiac Lakes.

We recognize that adequate waste disposal is a problem facing Waterford and many other growing communities.

However, on the face of evidence produced at the first public hearing, there appears to be a strong chance that the location of a sanitary landfill near Maceday Lake could, over a period of years, result in pollution of Maceday Lake and possibly Pontiac Lake.

Should we take such a chance? We think not. Maceday is one of our finest fishing lakes. It is one of two Oakland County lakes which contain lake trout. Bass, rainbow trout and pike fishing are also good in Maceday, not to mention panfish. Should Pontiac Lake become polluted, we would lose one of our first rate fishing and recreational bodies of water.

This is a big chance to take.

In recent years, the county and its residents have taken big steps, at considerable expense, to preserve our lakes and assure adequate water levels. It would seem that approval of a sanitary landfill operation in this location would, in part, be contrary to current local and national efforts to preserve our water resources and maintain adequate lake levels.

Now that the township has obtained the services of the Pontiac landfill, it seems a good opportunity to take some time to search for a solution which will eliminate the risk of water pollution.

Question and Answer

Was the Washington Monument built by private funds or government expense.

CURIOUS

REPLY

It was started in 1848 and slowly built to 156 feet in 1854, when $300,000 had been raised by popular subscription. The work became controversial and contributions ended. It was finished when the Corps of Engineers resumed the work in 1880 at government expense.

David Lawrence Says:

Cuba Steps Up Aid to Guerrillas

WASHINGTON—The United States is confronted with the possibility of a half-dozen or more Vietnam-type conflicts. The Castro government of Cuba, has instigated a series of guerrilla wars designed to harass governments in Central and South America.

LAWRENCE

A comprehensive report, just issued by a subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, declares that Castro has expanded his list of target countries, and is holding on July 28 in Havana a conference of Communist parties in Latin America to plan more subversive and terrorist activities.

The report says, "there are guerrilla movements of significance" in Venezuela, Colombia, Guatemala and Bolivia. Details of these operations now are furnished by the House committee, based on investigation and public hearings.

Are some of the principal countries in the world going to cooperate with the United States in preventing Cuba from carrying out its plots?

★

The House committee makes these findings:

"Cuba is still receiving considerable assistance from our 'friends and allies.'

"The British are trading with Cuba and recently completed a credit guarantee for a large fertilizer plant.

"Other countries have granted credits to Cuba, including Spain, Japan, France, the Benelux countries, Morocco, the United Arab Republic, Italy and Canada. Canadian wheat, purchased by the Soviet Union and shipped to Cuba, amounted to 208 million dollars in 1965."

When a nation is virtually in a state of war with other governments, measures can be taken to "quarantine" the aggressor.

The Organization of American States (OAS) has already condemned Cuba for "aggression and intervention" and recommended suspension of diplomatic relations as well as trade and shipping. Only Mexico has not complied with the 1964 decision to cut off relations.

★

The OAS has also proclaimed the right of its members to engage in individual or collective self-defense.

The Soviet Union is on notice to keep missiles and other aggressive weapons out of Cuba, and the OAS has urged that "member countries take all necessary individual or collective measures . . . to assure this."

Although an agreement was reached in 1962 between President Kennedy and the Khrushchev regime to dismantle the missile bases set up in Cuba, it is not certain how many weapons remain.

The House committee declares that a large supply of arms is present in Cuba as well as about 5,000 Soviet nationals. A "military assistance group" of around 2,000 "helps in maintaining and operating the Soviet equipment turned over to Cuba."

★ ★ ★

It is clear that Soviet military aid has increased since September 1966. This, the committee says, could be "a Soviet replacement and resupply program for the equipment introduced in 1962." Cuba's air defense capability is being modernized.

Bob Considine Says:

Lindsay Scores at Parley With Demand for Funds

HONOLULU — John Lindsay of New York was the star of the recent annual conference of U.S. mayors held in the host town they all love best. His good looks, flair, the way he wore his leis and the fact that he brought the wife and kids along combined to win him the most press coverage and TV and radio time.

CONSIDINE

But what endeared him to his fellow mayors was his demand, roundly endorsed, that the federal government earmark $400 million over the next two years to fight crime and corruption in the cities of the nation.

Mayor James Clarkson of Southfield, Mich., noted that a poll of the mayors taken six years ago at the convention showed 50 per cent of them strongly opposed to federal aid. "Today, not one voice is raised against it," he observed.

Mayor Lindsay had another popular demand to make in connection with the first. He would have the federal government give the money directly to the cities, not filter it through the governors of the states.

★ ★ ★

"You could put in your eye what state governments know about police science," he said, and it appeared that the assembled hizzoners might carry him around the hall on their shoulders.

The most harried mayor present was the chairman, Cavanagh of Detroit. First off, he was more or less wounded during the benediction which opened the proceedings.

The Rev. Dr. Abraham Akaka swung a soaking wet Ti frond over the assembly and a sluice of water caught Jerry in the eye.

It supplied additional tears for Jerry's speech, which dealt bluntly with the tragedies of our towns — poverty, insufficient housing to take care of the masses moving into cities from the farmlands, crime, pollution, juvenile delinquency.

He wondered why, in face of this urgent crisis, the government was pursuing a colossally costly war in Vietnam, a space program, and spending millions storing surplus cotton.

Mayor Cavanagh's particular target was the supersonic airliner which will be largely paid for in its development stages by federal funds.

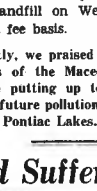

He questioned whether it was worth it because, as he put it, there are only four or five cities in the country whose location of air terminal facilities will be able to handle it.

The mayor would have had more to say but he had to hurry back to Detroit. His police were threatening to strike.

World Suffered a Beating in 21 Days

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — If the world was indeed created in seven days, it is awesome to contemplate how closely man came to destroying it during the 21 days of our vacation.

Ruth Montgomery

While we sunned ourselves beside the sea, scaled dimpled sand dunes, and strolled through pine forests absorbing the mysterious beauty of moss-draped cypress trees, a war was fought and lost in the Holy Land.

Lost, because all wars are lost in civilized society. Doubly lost, because once again greed and hatred had turned the land of David and Jesus and Mohammed into a bath of blood.

In the three weeks while our back was turned to the typewriter, American planes bombed Hanoi, and North Vietnamese slaughtered U.S. paratroopers.

Communist China detonated its first H-bomb as Red Guards clucked their raucous way through the land like a plague of locusts.

Something dangerously akin to a death rattle sounded in the throat of the United Nations, and the leaders of the world's two most powerful nations held a summit conference to foster "The Spirit of Hollybush."

Where so recently Jews had been forbidden to pass through the Mandelbaum Gate to pray at the Wailing Wall, they now possessed both through force of arms.

Israel swore never again to surrender old Jerusalem, but Britain and Russia backed Arab demands that it be returned post-haste to the kingdom of Jordan, and Uncle Sam sat on the fence wheedling, "Come let us reason together."

★ ★ ★

The world prayed for the emergence of a wise Solomon, who by threatening to cut the baby in half might discover the rightful mother. But where is such a leader today? And what should become of Jerusalem?

JOINT CUSTODY?

That city, sacred alike to Moslems, Christians and Jews, had been the most fought-over real estate in the world.

The site of the temple built by King Solomon where once rested the Ark of the Covenant; and where later the boy Jesus astounded the priests with his knowledge, is also holy grounds to Moslems, whose shrine marks the spot where Mohammed is said to have ascended into heaven on a white steed.

Is it too much to hope that all three faiths might one day share joint custody of this sacred spot?

★ ★ ★

Surely, however, there is someway to establish Jerusalem and nearby Bethlehem as open cities administered by an international tribunal of council of world faiths.

CUSTODIANSHIP

We would even dare to suggest that the entire Jordan River Valley from the site of Capernaum on the north shore of the Sea of Galilee to the Dead Sea, embracing the lovely spot where John is said to have baptized Christ, be placed under similar custodianship.

Israel would lose exclusive rights to the Sea of Galilee, and Jordan would give up its land west of the Jordan, it's true. But each state was artificially created such a short time ago and has lived with so much friction that a buffer zone between them could be a blessing.

This may not be the best possible solution, but certainly it is high time for men of good will to solve the age-old problem of the warring Holy Land.

Capitalists

The Richmond News Leader

The social science magazine, Transaction, reports on a study made by Barry M. Richman of UCLA's graduate school of business administration, of capitalists who work behind the bamboo curtain in Red China.

These capitalists number more than 300,000; the Red Chinese regime tolerates their presence because it needs their experience in management

★ ★ ★

All of them have been screened and found free from ties with Chiang Kai-shek. A typical "tame capitalist" described was a Mr. Wu.

Wu fled China to Hong Kong in 1958, but the Chinese Communists two years later induced him to return to manage his textile factory in Shanghai.

He now holds the top administrative position in the factory, although the state assumed joint ownership of the business in 1955.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Richman also says that the capitalists fill a role by providing a graphic example of bourgeois decadence so that the Chinese people can see what they're fighting.

For his services, Wu receives about $152 a month, as well as about $32,000 in annual interest payments on the $6.4 million he has invested in the factory.

He lives a typical bourgeois life: He resides in a large home, drives a Jaguar, and collects antiques. He banks much of his income, because modern China provides few material goods on which he can spend it.

★ ★ ★

Those Chinese confronted by the living example of the rewards of capitalism may be led to question the truth as interpreted by that great truth-teller, Mao.

They may conclude that if a capitalist can make more money than he can spend, and live well, too, perhaps the profit motive might be more than just a paper tiger.

Draft Deferments

The (Portland) Oregonian

The new draft law now in effect retains the principle of student deferments, but in a form significantly different from that of the expiring law.

Under the new provisions, a student enrolled for full-time study in a recognized institution will be entitled to deferment as a matter of law, on his request. The only requirement is that he not flunk out or be kicked out.

Hitherto, there has been no such clear-cut procedure in student deferments. Draft boards have generally granted deferments on request and on condition that the student maintain a certain position in his class.

The latter requirement has been the cause of much dissatisfaction among students and educators.

Some colleges and universities have stopped compiling class-rank lists, and others have protested the lists' use to determine whether a man will be called up or be permitted to finish his course of study.

★ ★ ★

Under the new law, an undergraduate student in good standing may be certain of his deferment until he leaves school or reaches the age of 24. When his deferment ends, he goes to the top of the eligible list.

Bobby Visits Navajos in Utah

BLANDING, Utah (AP)—After visiting a Navajo Indian reservation on Independence Day, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said private industries should be given tax incentives to develop such poverty-stricken areas.

Kennedy joined Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, and a group of celebrities in touring the reservation but many of the Navajos were away at traditional July 4th rodeos and powwows in Utah, New Mexico and Arizona.

* * *

The party visited the mud and tar paper hogans of those who were at home, chatted with Indians, toured schools and looked at antipoverty projects in the red rock country of southeastern Utah.

Kennedy said he is working on legislation for such a tax-incentive program.

He took six hours out of his northern Arizona vacation to fly 120 miles to Blanding with Moss. The vacationers who accompanied them included Mrs. Sargent Shriver, Kennedy's sister and wife of the director of the Office of Economic opportunity, and television star Andy Williams, who sang "Moon River" for a group of schoolchildren after they did a Navajo chant.

Kennedy said he was impressed with the federal programs in operation in the area and would like to see them expanded. Several Indians told him that education, employment and medical care should be expanded.

* * *

Kennedy was greeted by a large throng and the San Juan High School band at the Blanding airport. Then he toured two elementary schools to see Head Start and antipoverty programs in operation.

Some youngsters were held 1½ hours past their normal dismissal time so Kennedy could see the classes at work. School officials said it is normal to hold classes on holidays during the summer.

PRAISED SONG

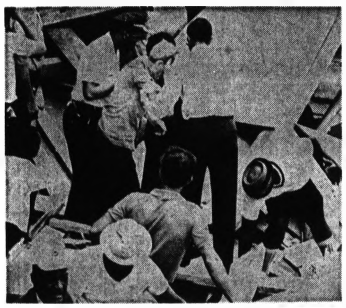

"That was good, very good," Kennedy said, clapping as a preschool class of Navajo youngsters finished singing a nursery rhyme song for him.

Later the group visited Navajos living in hogans and huts on government land on the outskirts of Blanding.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holliday, answering Kennedy's questions through an interpreter, told the senator their family of 10 must live on about $200 a month.

Kennedy walked into their tar-paper home before leaving. He also passed a modern home being built for and by Navajos in Blanding under a federal program.

PARADE SPECTATORS HURT — A man holds his head as he is led from debris after scaffolding being used as a vantage point by parade watchers collapsed in midtown Atlanta yesterday. Searchers continue to dig through the wreckage for other injured. Police said an estimated 200 persons were standing on the structure when it collapsed, but only about 20 or 30 were on the portion which gave way.

32 Are Injured in Atlanta When Scaffold Collapses

ATLANTA (UPI) — A construction scaffold straining under about 50 spectators at an Independence Day parade collapsed yesterday when children excitedly jumped up and down at the sight of a lion on a float. Thirty-two persons were injured.

Some of the injured were standing beneath the scaffold when it plunged eight feet to the pavement. No one was believed seriously hurt.

A policeman only minutes earlier had warned the spectators part of an estimated 250,000 who saw the "Salute To America" parade led by comedian Bob Hope, to get off the scaffold.

Around 200 other spectators scrambled off other scaffolds after the accident. The scaffolds had been erected in front of several buildings under construction in downtown Atlanta.

* * *

Ambulances had to thread their way through streets clogged with traffic and spectators to get to Grady Memorial Hospital with the injured, most of whom suffered lacerations and bruises.

LION FLOAT

Hope already had passed the spot just off Five Points, the city's business hub, and a float containing a lion was passing when the scaffold collapsed.

* * *

"Some kids started jumping up and down on it . . . and it caved in," said Harlee Carr, 18, one of the scaffold occupants who was not hurt.

Meredith Ends March, Hopes It Will End Fear

CANTON, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith characterizes his march through Mississippi as, "at best, the beginning of the end for fear and injustice."

The last steps of the 165-mile walk brought the 34-year-old civil rights figure to the courthouse square here on Independence Day.

Meredith said the completion of his 11-day march "does not signal a victory. It is a greater manifestation of the black world's historical, traditional and more fundamental defeat."

He said he had failed in one of his primary purposes because "the fear that permeates the life of the Negro in the United States has not been eliminated." But he said he exposed that fear.

NEGRO FEAR

"If Negroes no longer fear," he told about 40 Negroes who gathered as he spoke, "then the whites have only two choices: to kill them or let them be free."

No crowds greeted Meredith when he walked into Canton on Liberty Street. A handful of Negroes across the street from the square shook his hand when he reached the nearly deserted center of town. Along the way, small groups of whites in parking lots and service stations stared silently at the 16 marchers.

Meredith didn't comment directly on the small turnout. He said only that "These people do what they want to do. The Negro has been putting on a show for the white people for years. There ain't no more show."

He said his march proved Mississippi and its cities can "afford protection for any and all citizens, including Negroes."

Caro Fire Toll Now 6 Children as Boy, 7, Dies

CARO (AP)—The death toll from a house fire near Caro Sunday rose to six Tuesday.

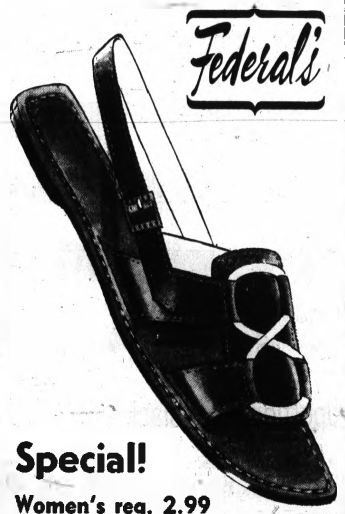

Arnold Jackson, 7, died of burns received in the fire, becoming the sixth child to die as a result of the blaze.

Five youngsters died in the fire as it destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spencer early Sunday.

Arnold's brother, Ronald, 9, and four of the Spencer couple's children died in the fire.

Four other youngsters burned by the fire remain hospitalized, their conditions ranging from fair to critical.

Resort Rampagers Surprise Parents

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (UPI) — Many of the parents who came to pick up their sons and daughters said simply, "we didn't know where the kids were."

* * *

They had been part of an estimated 5,000 youngsters ranging in age from 16 to 24 who came to this southern Wisconsin resort area for the long Fourth of July weekend and turned from beer-drinking participants in the age-old boy-girl game to destructive marauders.

At the neight of the rampage, thousands of youths were pushed out of Lake Geneva by a 5 p.m. curfew Monday — a curfew backed by shotgun-toting police and combat-ready National Guardsmen.

The youths formed car caravans and struck at three neighboring towns — Fontana, Williams Bay and Delavan—where windows and public facilities were smashed and police were stoned.

* * *

From Friday night when the first of the teen-agers arrived through the holiday itself, more than 500 had been arrested, most of them after the hit-run raids were staged on the neighboring towns.

MEASURES EYED

Gov. Warren Knowles called in the National Guard, which, with its bayonet-tipped rifles, was largely instrumental in returning law and order to the area.

Authorities facing much the same situation that officials in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., have faced each Easter for years, were in a quandary.

"I'm positive we're going to have to take more preventive measures," said Lake Geneva Mayor Emil Johnejack. But he said he had no idea of what the "measures" might be.

Weary National Guardsmen went home late yesterday. Spec. 4 Timothy Smith, 24, lives in Lake Geneva and said he was happy to spend his holiday weekend at home even if it meant straightening out his home town and helping "bring a better class of people back to our town."

* * *

The youths who drove into Lake Geneva were typified by an 18-year-old blonde from Elgin, Ill., who spoke to reporters just after getting out of the Walworth County Jail yesterday.

The girl, declining to give her name in order to keep her parents and friends in the dark, was among the nearly 200 arrested at a roadblock outside Lake Geneva Monday night.

"Since I was arrested for not doing anything and it cost only $100, I'll be back and I will do something next time," she said.

Sailor Soloing in Atlantic

HINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — Walter Elliott Jr., says that when his 30-foot ketch Atlantis survived a wild northeaster between Gloucester and Hingham in May he was convinced she "could take the worst that could be expected in the way of weather during a summer crossing of the Atlantic."

So Elliott, 39, a merchant sailor from Bath, Maine, set out alone Tuesday to sail 2,400 miles to Falmouth, England.

He said the trip will take 30 to 40 days and "I'll be safer out there in the open ocean that I am on Route 128," a heavily traveled circumferential highway at Boston.

Elliott is a former third mate in the merchant marine and an Army veteran of Korea.

Police Aided Across State by Computer

EAST LANSING (AP)—For a policeman hooked up to Michigan's new, computerized law enforcement information network, facts are just as close as his teletype machine.

If he's a member of one of the 67 police departments or 16 sheriff's departments now participating in the electronic system, he can type out his question and transmit it to a computer at East Lansing State Police headquarters.

* * *

The $2 million computer, in a matter of minutes, can tell him if he's run across one of the 8,000 stolen cars or the 7,000 revoked or suspended drivers' licenses the machine has been told about so far.

State Police say it is equipped to store and handle information about as many as 450,000 wanted persons.

NETWORK POINTS

The network also reaches 21 State Police posts and the secretary of state's driver licensing bureau in Lansing, for a total of 105 points.

Not all the terminals have been installed yet, reports Col. Fredrick Davids, State Police director, but the system is now "virtually operational."

* * *

"The computer network has been in a test environment for the past month," state police report. "From a practical standpoint the system will be on similar status for several months more."

Switch to Right Set for Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The date of Sept. 3, 1967, has been set for Swedish drivers to switch to right-hand-side-of-the-road driving, after four years of preparation.

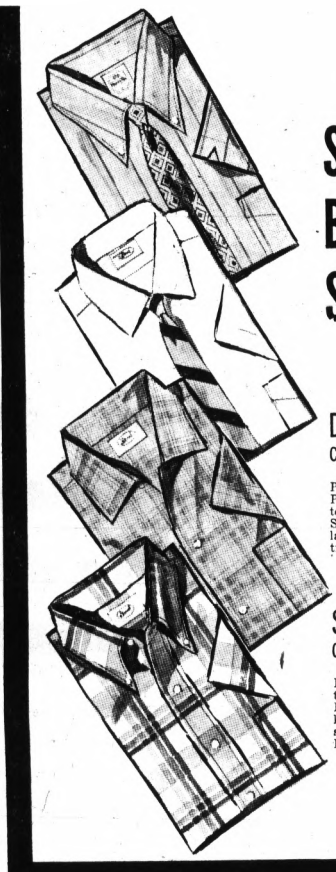

The left-side rule for vehicles was introduced in 1734 and made applicable to motorists in 1916.

Teach Child to Pay Attention

By Leslie J. Nasen, Ed. D.
UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

"Pay attention to the teacher!" is often the last word to a child on the first day of school.

Good advice! A child's ability to control his attention is a major factor in school success. But it takes weeks and months of training.

Children need attention control to learn to write, read and spell. Giving full attention and effort to each activity in turn should have become almost a habit in preschool days.

Somewhere between a child with a half-hearted, careless or "don't care" approach and a tense child striving for perfection is the relaxed, happy child who works to improve his skill whether it be eating, talking, picture drawing or catching a ball.

* * *

Parents have an opportunity to help a child develop the attitudes that eventually become useful habits of behavior.

SHOW INTREST

The first step is for the adult to show some interest in a child's activity. This stimulates and deepens the child's interest.

For example: a child attempting to build a tall pile of blocks will maintain his interest in repeated attempts if his successes are acknowledged and given hearty approval by members of the family.

As a child begins to draw with crayons, he may be given the picture of a square to copy—large ones at first and then smaller ones. Some discussion of the square may be necessary to draw his attention to the fact that the lines are straight, that they meet at the corners, that they are all the same length.

* * *

Through encouragement and suggestion the child not only increases his ability to keep his mind on his work but also learns to preceive more details in a figure.

INCREASE CONTROL

As he gets older and gains skills, the drawings can be made more complex. Eventually there should be several overlapping shapes in a single picture. His increased ability to control his attention must make possible the recognition of a single shape from a background of miscellaneous objects. While the child is being taught to describe shapes, colors, materials and other details he also gets practice in focusing his attention.

Along with control of attention he can develop the habits of persistence, continuing an activity to its completion, and not least of all, the habit of giving each new task that he attempts his best efforts.

Parents must be careful however, not to expect perfection, particularly at the beginning stages of any new endeavor.

* * *

A large pad of cheap paper can give the child the opportunity to try a drawing again and again. The primary emphasis of criticism must always be on the improvement taking place rather than on some ideal of perfection.

GAINS COURAGE

When a child's first clumsy attempts at a new type of drawing are neither discouraged nor laughtd at, he gains the courage to try new things.

In the process of getting started in school he will be placed in many new situations and be expected to master many new skills. He must be willing to try without fear of failure.

Firecracker Sets Fire to Squad Car

CHICAGO (AP) — Two policemen drove their smoking squad car to a fire station Tuesday night after the front seat was set aflame by a firecracker.

Patrolmen James Ralph and Nick Mostozzi had gone to the rear of a building to investigate a report that fireworks were being set off.

Lockout Legal

DETROIT (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board has ruled that the Detroit News acted within its legal rights in locking out its employes for three days in 1962 during a Teamsters Union strike at the Detroit Free Press.

Disaster Strikes Town—Three Times

RIPPERDAN, Calif. (AP) — Flags flew at half-staff over this sleepy San Joaquin Valley farm town on Independence Day after a weekend of disaster.

* * *

"Nothing's ever happened here before," said Art Anderson, a life-long resident in this town of just under 100 persons. "Then all hell broke loose."

First there was a robbery at Rose's Cafe. Next a flash fire wiped out half of Ripperdan. Then the fireman who saved the other half of town died in an automobile accident.

The fire began in Roy Sakiyama's barber shop Saturday and destroyed the general store, a gas station, saloon, warehouse and five homes. No one was injured.

* * *

The blaze was battled by Jack Cooper, 43, the only fireman for the State Division of Forestry at the Ripperdan fire station. On Monday, he was killed when his car overturned on Fresno-Friant road.

* * *

Said Anderson: "Lightning's struck this little town three times over the holiday weekend."

Murder Suspect Hearing Is Set

DETROIT (AP)—A hearing is set for Monday for Carlis H. Turner, 32, a Detroiter charged with second-degree murder in the beer-bottle stabbing of another man.

The charge stems from the death of 32-year-old Charles W. Rush of suburban Warren. Rush died last weekend after being stabbed in a fight in a bar.

Flier Lands on Median

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Brooks Calvin Odiorne was flying over Boca Raton Tuesday night when the engine in his small airplane stopped, and he could see only one relatively flat piece of ground that looked suitable for a landing strip.

So Odiorne, 22, of Opa-Locka put the plane down on the grassy median strip between the north and south lanes of busy U.S. 1 on the southern edge of Boca Raton.

The flier suffered a cut lip and a bloody nose but the plane was undamaged.

Odiorne, ferrying the craft to Kissemmee, said he would worry about removing the plane after Federal Aviation Agency investigators inspect it in an effort to learn why the engine failed.

A Garden Magazine Editor Who Doesn't Dig the Dirt

By BEA SWORDS

Somewhere there is a garden magazine editor who doesn't have a garden.

Her name is Hedy Glaettli and she is the managing editor of the Woman's National Magazine, published by the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Inc.

I asked her with amazement, you can well imagine, if not being an avid gardener bothered her new career.

She laugher, "No, no," she told me in a faintly accented voice, "We don't just have articles on gardening and flowers.

"We are interested in crafts — especially in New England. We have articles on conservation, water pollution and we do much work with scholarships."

Hedy is a former resident of Zurich, Switzerland. She studied advertising there and while still in school, she and a friend began their own ad agency.

Their success was so great it was almost a temptation not to come to America at all.

But Hedy felt that she wanted to see how things are done here — that perhaps there was something more to learn. Advertising was definitely her field.

Besides she is much too sensible to let success go to her head.

Most recently she worked for Campbell-Ewald Advertising Agency in Detroit and then again began a business of her own. This time she located in Birmingham with a printing and direct mail business.

★ ★ ★

One day a friend approached her with news of the editor's job on the Woman's National Magazine. She submitted a resume to the board of directors.

They accepted her.

She works from her apartment — and confidentially — it's kind of a one-woman-band thing.

She is responsible for selecting cover artists, making up the pages, getting them to the printers, editing the copy that comes to her and keeping track of the advertising.

CONTRIBUTORS

Every division of the WNF&GA has a writer who contributes to the quarterly publication and their stories have a vast range of subject matter.

The very crisp, attractive covers that have graced the issues she has been responsible for, give a clue to her orderly sense of doing things.

Her favorite sport is skiing — although she didn't make it once last year. Another love is horse back riding and this she does frequently.

★ ★ ★

The WNF&GA has selected a devoted editor. In her conversation, she often mentioned the goals of the organization in relation to the type of job she is doing for them.

I asked her if she had made any big changes as a new editor — "I change to please — or try to. And try to progress too, but you cannot shock people. Any change must be natural — and gradual."

I asked for a preview of the future — knowing already she would refuse.

She did. "Wait and see," she said wisely.

New York Fashion Decrees Are Vague About Hemlines

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — The question facing women during fall wardrobe buying is, whither the hemline? The answer, let the skirt lengths fall where they may.

New York designers in the main call for continuation of above-knee skirts in their new collections. Then a few of them test out the mid-calf length, vintage late 1940's. The testing of these "midi-skirts," as some designers dub them, seems as of now more in fun than in seriousness.

But one thing is certain; skirts cannot get any shorter and remain skirts.

UPS AND DOWNS

The ups and downs of the hemlines led off the fashion parade as the pace setters in the Seventh Avenue garment center of New York began their semi-annual showings for the nation's fashion reporters.

The women, with notepad and pencil, tape recorders and television cameras, are participating in the 49th "National Press Week," held each July and January by the New York Couture Group.

Couture Group will be followed by shows from another organization, The American Designers, to provide all told 10 days of highlights from all facets of fall and winter ready-to-wear.

In the short, short skirts category come such designers as the award-winning Geoffrey Beene, who places daytime lengths four and five inches above the knees.

Some of the Beene suits are jackets and pants combinations, the pants cut exactly like jamaica shorts.

Experimenting with the "midi-skirt" are such as another award-winning designer, Dominic of Talmack. Contrasting sharply with his above-knee lengths are the very long for both day and evening.

THE "NOTHING"

Poncho like capes, falling to about 10 inches from the floor are coupled with skinny little "nothing" dresses, often hemmed to above the knees.

Typical is a poncho with hood, done in reversible colors — purple on one side, gold on the other, worn over a gold and purple dress.

★ ★ ★

Some manufacturers call the mid-calf hemlines the "Zhivago influence," named for the novel and motion picture about Russia during the revolution. To go with it — high fur collars, fur cuffs, and side fastenings.

The Couture Group's "trend time" round up shows these other fashions on the fall scene:

● The armour-plate look, marked in both dresses and costumes by rows of nailheads even on the softest of crepes, metallic sequins, nailhead trims on sleeves and necklines or around the waist.

● Belts make the biggest silhouette news. After several seasons of the "no waistline" shapes, belts come in all widths, either self fabric or of leathers.

Belt placement ranges from the empire, high under the bustline, to natural waistline to hip hugging. Some belts mark only the back half of the garment.

● Use of industrial, or the outside, zippers not only in sports and other durable apparel but in the most elegant of evening clothes. These zippers are meant to show.

● The overwhelming revival of the shirtwaist. Shirts are of chiffon or satin with demure high necks and french cuffs.

● Culottes and pants still are very much in the running. You'll see tuxedo culottes, with formal velvet coats, colorful weskits, and many pants in above-knee versions.

Garter 'Snappy' Prom Souvenir

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When our 16-year-old daughter went to the school prom, she had to have a fancy garter to wear that night so she could give it to her escort as a souvenir afterward!

ABBY

We suggested she give him a ribbon from her hair, or a flower from her corsage as we have always considered garters as a part of underwear.

Maybe the next move will be for the boy to ask his date for her girdle or bra.

What is happening to our young people anyway?

LACKAWANNA MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Giving one's escort her garter for a souvenir is not new, and really not very wicked. Don't worry about the other.

Were a young man to ask for a girdle or a bra, he'll probably wind up with a snappy comeback.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Last year we put in a swimming pool and we told all our neighbors they could come to swim any time.

Most of them have, on occasion, but they have all had the good sense to phone first.

Our problem is a young mother. She came every morning bringing her two small children and their lunches. They stayed all day. Not once did she phone to ask if we were having guests, etc. When we were not home she'd come anyway and use our kitchen and bathroom. (Our housekeeper told us.)

Then the rainy season set in and we didn't see her for four months.

Today, the first nice day, she's back! And from her conversation she plans to spend the summer around our pool again.

I suppose we should have said something to her long ago. But we didn't. Now what do we do?

POOL PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: Say something now! If you object to her coming without phoning first, say so. If you'd rather she didn't use your pool when you weren't home, let her know it. The same goes for your "facilities."

Since you made no ground rules when you invited all your neighbors to swim "any time," you're lucky she's your only problem.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Lots of people read your column, Abby, so maybe if you put this in the paper they will see it and learn something.

Some people think it is a big joke to say, "He can't even get elected DOG CATCHER." Like dog catcher is the worst job in the world.

Well, my father is a dog catcher, and he wasn't elected. He had to pass some very hard tests from the Civil Service commission.

I hope lots of people will see this and quit laughing at dog catchers. Thank you.

HURON at TELEGRAPH

King Henry's Music Is Good Pastime

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

"Music for King Henry VIII," including several compositions by that colorful monarch, was the subject of last night's concert by the New York Pro Musica at Meadow Brook.

Again under the direction of John White, the music was remarkable for its great versatility within the confines of the limited instrumental and vocal range of that day.

It was, as the quixotic Henry VIII put it, in the opening number, "Pastime with Good Company" and the evening proceeded, sometimes on a lusty note, and sometimes with a deep religiosity which was quite contemporary in feeling.

Outstanding in the opening group of three vocal numbers was "Quid Petis o Filii," by Pygott, in which there was a tender, gentle projection of tone and excellent solo and duet section by the high-voiced counter tenor and baritone singers.

* * *

In the second group, sung in Latin without accompaniment, the music, of a religious nature, featured the famous composer, Thomas Tallis.

* * *

His "O Salutaris Hostia" (O Saving Victim opening wide the gate of heaven, give us Thy strength and aid) was a high-light of the concert. It had a strong emotional appeal and was sung with perfection and an ethereal quality.

DIFFICULT MUSIC

The instrumentalists had an opportunity to display their technique and versatility. This music is difficult to play, since the wind instruments, especially the krummhorns, depend on the amount of breath blown into them for their pitch.

Although the orchestra had not been developed by the 16th century, "combos" of available instruments played complicated and intricately woven music.

* * *

Shelly Gruskin's solo on the Renaissance flute in "Pavane" was beautifully done.

"La Mi Re" was played on the tiny portative organ by Edward Smith, and consisted of an inventive melody in the right hand played against three fixed notes, constantly repeated, in the left.

* * *

Perhaps the gayest instrumental number was a Gaillard in which the singers also played instruments, and which sounded like an elfin calliope playing a dance.

MOST IMPRESSIVE

The most impressive singing of the evening occurred in Fayrfax's "Missa Tecum Principium". The "Agnus Dei" was magnificently sung.

The final group of secular songs contained madrigals and ballads by William Cornyshe, and was a charming conclusion to an enlightening and inspired evening.

D. R. Ruddicks Exchange Vows in Rochester

Recent vows and reception for JoAnn Elizabeth Frost and David Roger Ruddick took place in Rochester's First Congregational Church.

Their parents are the Edmond J. Frosts of Kalhaven Road, Avon Township, and Mr. Ellsworth Ruddick of Holland and the late Mrs. Ruddick.

SILK LINEN

Silk linen was selected by the bride for her Empire waisted gown. She wore a pearl tiara with an illusion veil.

* * *

Her flowers were Stephanotis and Phalaenopsis orchid.

Debra Cox was her cousin's maid of honor with bridesmaids, Mary Cox and Nancy Hawkins.

Members of the Oakland Writers' Workshop will gather for a meeting Thursday at 1 p.m. in the YWCA.

December vows are planned by Barbara Kay Wheeler and Spec. 4 Donald W. Nichols. Parents are Mrs. Ruth C. Wheeler of Bennett Street, Charlie L. Wheeler of Douglas Street and the William S. Nicholses of Sylvan Lake. She is a graduate of Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing.

White Organza Worn

Lowell R. Conners Wed

Wed Saturday evening in Calvary Baptist Church were Sylvia Marie Galloway and Lowell Robert Conner.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Galloway of Sedum Glen Street wore white organza over taffeta with a fitted bodice of re-embroidered lace.

Petals of Alencon lace and twists of pearls and crystal held her bouffant illusion veil.

She carried Stephanotis with pale pink rosebuds.

* * *

Joyce Ann Galloway was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Joan Flewwelling of Flint, Brenda Galloway of Flushing and Karen Brisbois of Pontiac.

Best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Conner of Oxford was his brother Bill. Groomsman was Lee Shaw of Oxford.

Dave Galloway, brother of the bride, and Bruce Galloway of Flushing, a nephew of the groom and cousin of the bride, were ushers.

* * *

Following a reception in the church parlor, the couple left for Northern Michigan.

MRS. CONNER

Thursday Meeting

Members of the Fashion Your Figure Club of Pontiac will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Adah Shelly Library.

Mobile Kitchen for U.S. Troops

Every new device available to speed meal preparation for combat troops has been incorporated in a mobile kitchen recently designed for the U.S. Army.

It will use electric energy diffusion, thermally-processed or freeze-dried foods, and micro-wave ovens. Only one facility in this new kitchen will have a look familiar to homemakers — a sink to hold sudsy water for washing cooking utensils.

Springfield Ohio Is Setting for Hanson-McKaig Rite

Thomas Edward Hanson III of Orchard Lake and his bride, the former Linda Ruth McKaig exchanged recent vows in Springfield, Ohio's Covenant Presbyterian Church.

Lynn Schwanger of Toledo, Ohio was honor maid with bridesmaid, Roberta Gibson of Cleveland.

* * *

On the esquire side were best man Donald Parrish of Ann Arbor and ushers, Raymond Nix and David Wissink.

The new Mrs. Hanson chose a A-line gown of white linen featuring Venetian lace. Her headpiece held a tiered veil of tulle and she carried a nosegay of white rosebuds.

* * *

Parents of the couple are the F. Burton McKaigs of Springfield and Mrs. Thomas Edward Hanson of Venice, Fla. and the late Mr. Hanson.

Safety Rules to Follow for Summer Fun

By JUNE ELERT
Part II

Drowning is another leading death cause with children.

In this state of abundant waters, it is particularly important that all children learn to swim. But even that is not the whole answer.

* * *

Good swimmers drown too because they use poor judgment or take chances. Small children should never be left unsupervised near a body of water.

YOUR JOB

Lieut. Donald Kratt of the Sheriff's Department (in charge of the Marine Enforcement Program) is emphatic in his complaint against mothers who depend on other people to watch their children for them.

He says, "Don't send your kids to somebody else's property to swim, and expect the other person to watch them for you.

"And don't take your children, under the age of 16, to State parks or public beaches and leave them there for the day, while you go off on some business of your own.

* * *

"Where there is often only one lifeguard for thousands of people, he needs your help."

The use of floater-type safety belts or vests or other life-preserving equipment or toys should not cause mothers to relax their watchfulness. Tots can drown floating face-down on the surface of the water.

None should swim alone or if overtired or in stormy weather. Cramps can occur at any time but are more likely to occur after a heavy meal.

* * *

Does Dad look forward to taking the family for a spin on the lake after a long, hot day?

The law requires that a coast-guard approved type of life belt or vest be carried in the vessel for each person aboard, but it is up to you to see that they are worn.

An additional vest must be carried in any boat with a skier in tow. It is recommended that no one ski without a ski vest.

BEWARE

Sunshine is great as I said before. But staying out in the sun too long can affect the body mechanism and cause collapse. Too much sun can cause skin cancers, a common ailment of farmers and sailors.

Tan looks healthy but can be deceiving. Sun thickens skin and causes premature wrinkles.

Sunburn can be very painful and, in rare instances, fatal, if burn is severe over a large part of the body. Oils are recommended by Dr. Berman to keep the skin lubricated.

Moderation, he says, is the key to healthful enjoyment of one of the best of nature's benefits.

Mothers are advised not to allow backyard, unfiltered, above-ground type swimming and wading pools to become like "dirty bathtubs." Many simple products, such as chlorine tablets, are available for purifying this water.

When preparing to cut your grass, clear the kids and the dog out of the way as well as the sticks and stones or other debris which may lie hidden in the long green stuff.

Don't let any member of your family be numbered among the over 80,000 persons injured annually in power mower accidents.

Animal bites are frequent in summer. Children should be cautioned not to approach strange animals. If an animal looks sick, leave it alone and call the local dog warden.

Thanks to the licensing laws for domestic pets, rabies is found mainly in wild life. Squirrels can carry rabies. Bats, skunks and foxes are typical carriers of this disease of mammals.

* * *

Bites of these animals are considered rabid until proven otherwise. Bats are known to harbor the rabies virus.

It is, strangely enough, unusual for mice and rats to carry the disease, and the wild rat is more likely to have come in contact with rabies than is the so-called household rat that feeds in garbage.

Turtles and frogs do not carry the virus.

If you plan to vacation at cottage, lakeshore or country cabin, find out where the local doctor or nearest hospital is located and know how to get there quickly should an emergency arise.

Summer dietary habits should be adjusted to avoid heavy meals in very hot weather.

* * *

Maintain a balanced diet, but don't worry about eating too many hot dogs or hamburgers in quick-to-fix meals. They contain adequate protein and are perfectly healthful.

Dr. Berman suggests that more frequent small meals, rather than the traditional three squares per day would contribute to hot-weather comfort

Be on the lookout for food spoilage. And flies!

Don't leave foods out for long periods but cover and return to refrigerated storage as quickly as possible. All foods spoil more quickly under warm conditions.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

So many of you have written to tell me how delighted you were about my suggestion of using narrow lace at the hem of your dresses instead of seam tape. It does give a custom touch to your garment and costs very little more than ordinary hem tape.

If you desire a colored lace and can't find the color you need, place a small amount of cold water dye in a glass jar, mix thoroughly and dip the white lace into the tint. If you need a deeper shade, just add more of the dye. It's so simple to do and can actually be used for any type of trim.

Dear Eunice Farmer,
When machine stitching facings to collars, which side should be face up on the machine? Mrs. W. A. B.

Dear Mrs. W. A. B.:

I always advise my students not to try to attach the facing and the collar in one operation. First, pin the collar on your garment, be sure it is even, and then stitch it to the garment from the collar side.

Next, pin the facing on top of the collar, right sides together, and stitch from the wrong side of your garment where you will be able to use the first stitching as your guide to this second stitching. It may take a few minutes longer this way, but you will be sure it is accurate every time.

Don't forget to clip the neckline to the stitching line. This is just as important when there is a collar as without. This will release the neckline for a smoother look.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Douglas Lappin of Logan, Kan., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following suggestions.

I've always disliked pleated skirts because of the ironing problem, never knowing how deep the pleats should be. Now, when I make a skirt, and after the final pressing, I turn it to the wrong side and with a laundry marking pen, I place a small mark at each pleat on the hemline. The marks remain after washing, and by pressing the pleats lightly on the wrong side, I am sure they will be in the correct position for the final pressing.

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I must sew because I cannot get a good fit when I buy clothes. However, I'm having trouble with my skirts. I have a large waist but very small flat hips and the skirts always have a bulge below the darts no matter how much I taper them. Is there a solution to this? Mrs. B. M. S.

Dear Mrs. B. M. S.:

Darts are the real answer to most figure problems. They can be made larger or smaller depending on the individual's need. The deeper the dart, the more shaped the area will become. Try to remember this point when adjusting your own fitting.

In your case, you need more room for your waist and since your hips are very flat, you need less shaping in the darts. I would recommend making the darts no deeper than ¼ inch wide at the waistline. This will give you the extra width you will need at the waist, and because the darts are so small, you won't have a bulge at the end of them. It is usually better to make two small darts, rather than one large one at the back of your skirts.

Efficiency Tip for Tidying Trip

You can make the daily chore of straightening up the house easier by borrowing Sis's doll buggy to haul the things that are to be returned to their proper places.

If you push the buggy from room to room, it makes it possible to straighten things in order in just one round trip.

Spruce Up Basement

Spruce up your basement even if you don't want to convert it to a recreation room. Paint the walls and floor and keep the corners and windows clear of cobwebs. This makes a more pleasant area in which to do your laundry and ironing.

The only wine museum in the United States, this beautiful wood and stone building situated one mile north of Hammondsport, N.Y. on the Bully Hill Road is surrounded by vineyards over 80 years old. The museum overlooking Lake Keuka, in the midst of one of the world's great vineyard regions, is now owned by Walter S. Taylor, assistant managing director of Great Western, and has been granted a charter under the New York State Education Department. The museum contains a large historical collection of area winemaking and brandy production, and vineyard equipment. Tours are conducted commencing July 3 through Nov. 1, Mondays thru Saturdays, 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3:30 p.m., excluding legal holidays.

Case No. C-570

Alcohol Is an Escape

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-570: Harry J., aged 36, is a salesman.

"Dr. Crane," his attractive wife began, "Harry is a very talented man and I love him.

DR. CRANE

"But I am afraid we are heading for a divorce unless he can learn to face up to his problems.

"Instead of doing that, he always tries to run away by means of the whisky bottle!

"In the last 10 years, he has lost six excellent positions just due to his being drunk.

"For he will set the world on fire and be top man on the sales force for maybe a year.

"Then he suddenly goes on a binge and ends up actually in the gutter. So what can I do to help save him?"

TEST OF FIGHTERS

Alcohol is a common escape device of people who are afraid.

It is typical even in movie plots and television dramas for a man to order a drink of whisky when he is in a jam.

If his wife leaves him or his child dies or he violates the trust of his employer or gets into any other serious difficulty, the usual adult is likely to want to get drunk.

That is an evidence of regression to a childish state where the "baby" enjoys an irresponsible existence and didn't need to look after itself.

During infancy, a baby cries when uncomfortable and mamma soon shows up with a bottle, which she sticks in its mouth.

Fearful adults, facing failure or disgrace or any other cause of deep humiliation and social pain, thus want to regress to their diaper stage and have a bottle in their mouth.

Since mamma is no longer nursemaiding them, they reach for the whisky flask.

It would obviously be far more healthful if they grabbed a bottle of milk.

But milk doesn't deaden the senses and anesthetize the conscience to produce temporary forgetfulness.

Alcohol is an anesthetic, though less complete and slower to act than ether.

So alcohol becomes the refuge of men who flee instead of fight!

It is regarded by us psychiatrists as similar to the fire escape from a burning building.

The inmates of a burning building would not need the fire escape if the fire itself were quickly quenched.

* * *

And alcohol, since it is not a natural pleasant taste, is not desired for its flavor but for its anesthetic effect.

Many star salesmen burn up a tremendous amount of energy and finally hit a point of low physical energy.

They are somewhat like the manic-depressive who is riding the crest of the wave one day and in the trough the next.

* * *

During this depressed level, they may dread sexual impotence and fear to face their wife, so they start drinking to camouflage their problem and divert her attention.

Many drunkards, especially after the age of 40, are sexually terrified!

Introduced as guests by Lucy Veler, were Mrs. Frank Anderson, Mrs. Clifford Todd, Mrs. Harold James, Linda Holznagle, Mrs. Raymond Hoffman, Mrs. Philip Sauer, Pat Searle and Elcanor Haney.

Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking

Dr. J. Wayne McFarland of South Lancaster, Massachusetts, has offered a five day plan to help people who want to quit smoking.

He holds that hot or cold showers or baths can reduce the nervous tension which often accompanies the first days of giving up tobacco.

The baths also serve to keep the ex-smoker busy at a time when it is advantageous for him to be occupied.

New York Honeymoon for Robert L. Adamses

A honeymoon in New York City followed the wedding Friday evening of Susan Lynn Berden and Robert L. Adams.

The rite in Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church was followed by a reception in the Elks Temple.

PEAU SATIN

The new Mrs. Adams chose a sheath of peau satin with embroidered Alencon lace bodice and bell sleeves. Her matching chapel train flowed from the Empire waist.

A laurel wreath entwined with seed pearls secured her elbow length illusion veil.

She carried carnations and ivy centered with yellow sweetheart roses.

* * *

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bonnie Berden of Ledgestone Road and Clement E. Berden of Silverbirch Street.

MRS. ADAMS

The bridegroom's parents are the Paul S. Adams' of Elmwood Avenue.

Karen Koon of Flint was maid of honor for her cousin with attendants Pamela Scruggs, Patricia Short, Karen Gracey, and flower girl Lauri Gee.

* * *

Best man duties were performed by Charles Mann. Ushers were Robert Going, Steve Allen and Thomas Berden. Craig Gee was ring bearer.

The couple will make their home in Davisburg.

Moyers Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Moyer, of North Palm Beach Florida are visiting friends in Bloomfield Hills. Mr. Moyer was formerly the head of Fisher Body Plant here. After a couple of weeks here they will travel to Canada for a brief stay before returning to Florida.

Before retiring to Florida several years ago they made their home in Bloomfield Hills.

GLENWOOD PLAZA CORNER NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

Red Underground Is Major Spy Threat in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation has so thoroughly infiltrated the American Communist party that comedians are cracking jokes like this:

"If the FBI agents stopped paying their dues, the Communist party would be bankrupt."

A cartoon depicts the leader of an American Communist cell opening a secret meeting this way: "Comrades and agents of the FBI."

Over the years, the Communist party that operates above the surface in America never has been much of a factor in our destiny.

In size it never came close to the membership, for instance, of the Italian party which has 1.3 million. Nor has the U.S. party ever been highly regarded by the masters of world communism.

Nobody was more surprised than the U.S. Communists when Stalin signed a treaty with Hitler. Uncle Joe never told his American nephews anything.

* * *

The Central Intelligence Agency, contrary to widespread belief, has nothing to do with catching Russian spies in the U.S. It works abroad. It is the duty and function of the FBI to find out who the Soviet spies are in this country and take effective action against them.

This is easy so far as the persons who publicly asknowledge their communism are concerned. Where it gets tough is when you run into the "Red underground."

Only the most trusted and dedicated Communists are admitted to the underground. This is the way it works, according to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in a study of communism called "Masters of Deceit."

"To enter the undeground usually means simply disappearing, quickly, abruptly and without warning. These departures are carefully planned. Above-ground comrades will handle any personal matters such as storing furniture.

"Sometimes departures have been so rapid that hot meals have been left on the table. Once underground, the member is made ready for assignment; that is, being made into another person. As a general rule this involves the securing of a new name, date and place of birth and even changing physical appearance," by diets, surgery and other means.

FALSE IDENTITY

"The member must be supplied with fake identification papers, Social Security cards, drivers' licenses, library cards, bank deposit books. He should acquaint himself with his adopted place of birth, know something about its newspapers, streets and stores. Does it have a baseball team?"

So equipped, the Soviet spy sets about his business and usually an FBI agent goes about his own business right behind him.

It is hard, tiring work for the FBI man. It can go on for months.

But there is even a more formidable enemy than the underground for the FBI. There is some satisfaction in arresting and convicting an American citizen who spies for Russia because he can be tried and and sent to jail, or even executed.

* * *

But it is frustrating for the FBI agents when they catch a spy hiding behind diplomatic immunity.

EXPULSION

About all they can do is expose him to the U.S. State Department, which then declares him persona non grata and expels him.

It is a fixed policy of Moscow to fill its embassies and consulates in the free world with spies. Sometimes the spy will act as a chauffeur, but actually will outrank the Red ambassador in the Moscow hierarchy.

* * *

Between 1950 and 1960 alone, there were 11 such Russians expelled from the Russian embassy in Washington or the United Nations.

Outdoors Program for Children, Adults

The Drayton Plains Nature Center has launched a summer program geared to teach children and adults about the outdoors and man's place in it. No enrollment fee is required.

The program is available to residents of southeastern Michigan. The nature center is located at 2125 Denby, near Dixie Highway and Hatchery in Waterford Township.

Featured are two-hour nature hikes beginning at 9 a.m. daily. Participants will walk trails throughout the 140-acre facility, exploring the relationship of plants and animals, the succession of plants and many other phases of ecology.

Offered afternoons are half-hour tours for tree, wild flower, plant and rock identification plus aquatic studies. Folklore of wild herbs and survival foods also will be studied.

Directing summer activities at the nature center is Herley B. Moore, a sixth grade teacher in the Clarkston School District.

FOREST SERVICE

Moore holds a bachelor's degree in agriculture science, has completed graduate conservation courses at Michigan State University and has had one-year experience in the United States Forest Service.

Art classes from 10 to 11 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays will be conducted by Mrs. Dee Lommerson, a former art teacher.

Instruction in taxidermy and fly-tying will be provided by James Shea, acting director at the nature center. A program on snakes is slated for 10 a.m. Saturday.

Among the volunteer teachers at the nature center this summer are Emerson White and Mrs. Mary McGinley of Waterford - Kettering High School, Mrs. Emerson White and Arthur Lake of Waterford Township High School and Mrs. Nancy Chung of Schoolcraft School.

The center is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

The museum now houses about 100 birds, animals and reptiles plus an aquarium of water species. An attendant is on hand to explain feeding habits, life cycles and answer questions.

The nature center is supported by donations and memberships, ranging from the 50-cent student fee to the $20,000 benefactor category.

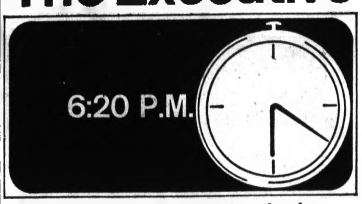

MEMBERSHIPS

Family memberships of $10 a year, coupled with $15 business memberships, are expected to make up the bulk of contributions.

These contributions allow free admission to the several children who visit the facility daily, according to nature center officials.

Funds are needed urgently to keep pace with mounting operational expenses which amount to about $250 a week.

The Executive

A brand new commuter train from Grand Trunk.

INSTALLMENT No. 21

CHAPTER 21

IT WAS stupefying news, but Edmond Vosiers' tone convinced me he was telling the truth. In that case, now had Paul been removed from the pension unseen? Then I understood how. In the hall closet on the top floor was the ladder to the roof. One could travel over a few rooftops and come down by way of a fire escape into the alley alongside Papa Tissou's butcher shop.

"Monsieur Vosiers," I said grimly, "I think the police are going to arrive here very soon. You and I have only a little time left in which to reach an understanding."

"I fail to comprehend."

"Then listen closely." I said, and in very few words gave him a summary of the day's bloody events.

At the end of the account he looked at me skeptically. "And you mean our little Paul is the only one who can confirm this extraordinary alibi?"

"There's also Madame Cesira. The murderer was the man who delivered Paul to her. She could certainly testify to that."

"Could she?" Vosiers shook his head slowly. "And what if I tell you that the child was driven up to her door all alone in a cab, and in a state of hysteria, too. Believe me, she'd gladly see you guillotined for that."

No matter how I looked at it, I had been driven into a corner where there was only one way out. One desperate move to make that would either win or lose everything for me.

"All right," I said to Vosiers, "we still have to reach our understanding. I suppose you came here from your office to close the house and then join the family at the Chateau Laennac?"

"Yes."

"I'm going with you."

Vosiers stared at me in disbelief. "And make the chateau your refuge? But tomorrow the papers will be full of you!"

"Let me worry about that. Where is the chateau?"

"Near Dijon."

"Then I'll be there in time to talk to Madame de Villemont tonight. I must see her. Once she gives instructions to have Paul brought back here to appear with me before the police —"

"You take too much for granted," Vosiers cut in nastily. "What if no one wants to become involved in your problems?"

"I'm not the only one the papers will be full of. Think how delighted they'll be to discover that the daughter-in-law of the sainted General Sebastien de Villemont, no less, is up to her lovely neck in murder. You're wrong about her, monsieur. She is Hubert Morillon's mistress, not mine, and when I tell the police how she and Morillon arranged the murder of her husband in Algeria—"

"You're mad!" gasped Vosiers.

"Then you'd be wise to humor me, monsieur."

"Look," said Vosiers, "I'll give you money and the run of the house. Then, when you think it's safe to slip away—"

"No, you'll drive me to Chateau Laennac and make sure the police don't get their hands on me. If they do, I'll have Morillon's name and the name of everyone in the family in headlines the next day."

The way I said it must have convinced him that my patience was fast running out.

"I suppose the sooner we leave, the better," he said sourly.

"It is. But I can't travel looking like this. You can keep me company while I clean up."

I had been through Anne's rooms on my first trip upstairs but not in my quarters. Now when I followed Vosiers into my bedroom, making sure he was always within arm's reach, I couldn't at first believe what I saw. Everything I owned had vanished. Books, typewriter, clothing, folders of manuscripts —everything. I pulled out drawers, peered into bathroom cabinets. Nothing was where it had been only a few hours before.

"What are you looking for?" demanded Vosiers.

"All my things. Where are they?"

He shrugged. "I have no idea. I thought you had them removed."

"I didn't. But whoever did left me without a clean shirt and jacket. I'm afraid you'll have to help out with your wardrobe."

Hand on his collar, I steered him to his apartment. There I stripped off my befouled clothing and scrubbed down in the bathroom. One of Vosiers' shirts fitted me well enough, but I couldn't get my shoulders into any of his jackets. I finally settled for a cashmere sweater which made me look as if I were set for an afternoon of tennis.

We went down the stairway of the rotunda, Vosiers leading the way.

It was not to the cellar he led me, but to the gun room. I had never been in it before. Now I saw that it was a small room handsomely paneled in oak, with a variety of rifles and shotguns mounted on the wall and with a glass case in one corner displaying a collection of antique pistols. In the middle of the room was a large workbench with rows of shallow drawers in it. It must have been in one of those drawers, I thought, that Anne had found cartridges for Colonel de Villemont' gun.

But there was nothing out of the ordinary about the room, nothing to give one pause. Then Vosiers slowly and unwillingly rolled the glass case away from its corner, and I saw something very much out of the ordinary. He leaned his weight against the wall there, and a panel of it silently swung outward.

It was a low-ceilinged room but immense in size and as full of working equipment as a flourishing machine shop. I recognized the machinery. I had spent too much time in armorers' wagons on the battlefront in Korea not, to. This was the apparatus for the repair and maintenance of weapons, and while the size and shape of the metal packing cases on the floor might suggest they were meant to store gardening tools, I knew that they contained something far more deadly than rakes and hoes.

I was indifferent to politics; my reading of the daily paper was perfunctory; I had always tried to steer clear of discussions about governments and the riots and rebellions endlessly stewing against them. But I had lived in Paris through the Algerian crisis, had seen with my own eyes the terroristic tactics of the outlawed OAS—l'Organisation de l'Armee Secrete—as it made its fanatic, bloody last-ditch stand against the official decision to give Algeria its independence. Now as I looked around this room which was so beautifully equipped to assemble plastiques and repair machine guns, I thought of the high-toned family of colons inhabiting the luxurious apartments above it and of their friend Morillon; and all the intrigue I had been blind to since the day I first came to the mansion was illuminated as brilliantly as this room itself.

"Monsieur," I said to Vosiers, "you were right. I have been a fool. But now that I'm so much wiser, what do you, as a member of the OAS, suggest we do about it?"

Davis makes an attempt to reach Anne.

Finns, Swedes in 2 Towns Shun Border

TORNIO, Finland (UPI) — Traditional Scandinavian cooperation has become downright chummy between this community and neighboring Hapanranda just across the Swedish frontier.

The natives of the two towns, which lie at the head of the Gulf of Bothnia 48 miles below the Arctic Circle, have set up what amounts to a thriving free trade area. The usual customs regulations are cheerfully ignored and for practical purposes the border hardly exists at all.

Finnmarks can be spent freely in Haparanda and Swedish crowns in Tornio without the usual bother of visiting a money exchange.

Though the Finnish language is seldom heard outside its native country because of its exceptional difficulty, it is widely spoken among Haparanda's Swedish residents.

* * * *

RED DEFECTORS

It also has made the two towns the gateway to asylum for occasional Communist defectors — usually sailors who have jumped ship in Helsinki and are seeking refuge in Sweden.

The frontier is marked by a bridge that links one of the Tornio River delta islands on which the town of Tornio is built with the Swedish mainland.

When I crossed it recently with two Finnish friends, we did not have to check out with the Finnish authorities. And Swedish customs waved us through without checking my passport or my friends' identity cards.

In fact, about the only indication I had that we'd entered another country was a traffic island that switched vehicles to the left side of the road. Even that will disappear later this year when Sweden changes to right-hand driving to conform with the rest of Europe.

There are approximately 13,000 persons in this border area, about equally divided between Tornio and Haparanda. And it is clear that close cooperation is paying off on both sides of the frontier.

In Haparanda the Domus department store—large and plush enough to be at home in the more cosmopolitan surroundings of Helsinki or Stockholm — owes much of its success to Finnish customers.

Some items are real bargains for Finns. Coffee, for instance, costs about one half as much at Domus as it does half-a-mile away across the border.

Crazy Quilt of Liquor Laws Could Drive You to Drink

CHICAGO (AP) — A fellow who goes out to get a drink in a strange town is apt to get confused—and maybe not a drink.

The reason, an Associated Press survey shows, is that the United States is covered by a crazy quilt of liquor laws.

Take, for example, Texas. Texas laws are pretty complex, based on local option, even by precincts.

For instance: Part of Dallas sells beer over the bar and liquor in package stores, while in other parts of Dallas you can't buy anything to drink. Some counties or parts of counties can sell beer at the bar, but no package stores are allowed, and some have package stores but no beer bars.

'STANDING RULES'

You can't drink standing up in a club, hotel cocktail lounge, restaurant or beer parlor in Maine. But the statutes do permit taverns for men only, in which everyone must drink standing up at a bar.

Indiana's Legislature decided this year to allow a licensed woman bartender to work on the serving side of the bar, a function that had been restricted to a female owner or wife of an owner. But an unescorted woman is not permitted to sit on the drinking side of the bar.

* * *

Liquor frequently has been on the minds of state lawmakers since repeal, in 1933, put an end to national prohibition of the manufacture and sale of such spirits. Mississippi adopted a local-option liquor law last year, becoming the last state to shift from dry to wet.

Thus aridity has been ended on a nationwide or statewide scale. But there still are many dry pockets.

KENTUCKY DIVIDED

Look, for instance, at Kentucky, a state long identified with bourbon. Of its 120 counties, 86 are completely dry, 26 are wet, and eight are divided, i.e., wet cities in dry counties.

Down there dry means no sales of alcoholic beverages are allowed. But in many places around the country the thirsty man can get beer but no stronger stuff across the bar.

* * *

In Georgia, only six counties of 159, including Fulton, with Atlanta, actually have legalized the sale of liquor by the drink.

Only eight of Tennessee's 95 counties have legalized liquor to the extent of allowing it to be sold at package stores.

1962 STUDY

A study made in 1962 by the Distilled Spirits Institute showed: 15 states had some liquorless counties and, for the United States as a whole, 749 counties forbade liquor and 2,329 did not.

The switching from dry to wet or vice versa is done in local-option elections. They vary in scope from a residential neighborhood and a precinct to town, township and county. And nine states make no provision for them at all.

Regulations in that sphere, like those in the others, are a potpourri.

Bottled liquor is sold in state-owned stores in 16 states and in private stores in the others. Sales are limited to package goods only in North Carolina, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma, South Carolina and Tennessee.

ELECTION DAYS

The closest the states come to uniformity is on election days, when liquor purveyors shut up shop, at least during polling hours, in all but five states.

* * *

The Legislature in North Carolina, which bars liquor by the drink, approved legislation this year to legalize the old custom of "brownbagging." Thus, a man can buy a bottle in a state-controlled store in any one of the 68 wet counties and take it to a restaurant, where he can buy the complementary ice and mix. This sort of thing is out, however, in 32 dry counties. He also can brown-bag it in Utah, another state that won't allow purchase by the drink.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE

Texas is another brown-bag state. At a late count, about 115 of the 254 counties were totally dry. In the wet oases store-bought liquor can be conveyed in a paper sack to a restaurant or night club. Public bars sell only beer and light wine. Private clubs began handling mixed drinks in recent years. Tourists can become instant members in some of them.

* * *

Gov. John B. Connally of Texas recommended the sale of mixed drinks, but the bill was shunted aside in the Legislature.

It's Easy to Remember

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Charles M. Williams of Ashville, N.C. has a very easy Social Security number to remember. It's 123-45-6789.

This year West Virginia made the first major change in its liquor laws in a generation. Under the new provisions, private clubs are licensed by the state to serve liquor to dues-paying members and guests. The statute is broad enough to permit hotels to set aside space for such clubs.

* * *

A new law in Colorado, enacted with an eye on tourists and conventioneers, enables hotels and restaurants to buy an extra $200 license which permits them to sell liquor until midnight on Sunday. Other bars must close at 8 p.m.

* * *

The Wyoming Legislature gave permission to bars to stay open from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Sundays.

A perennial bill to permit limited Sunday sales in Maine went down to defeat. But the Vermont Liquor Control Board decided to allow the sale of drinks on Sunday afternoon and evening. Previously, such service was permitted only with meals.

New York State's legal toleration of drinking by customers as young as 18 has caused considerable friction with its neighbors, especially New Jersey and Connecticut. Law-enforcement officials in the latter states contend their kids get into traffic accidents on the way home.

Discovery Made in State

Relics May Date to 900 B. C.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—An amateur archaeologist scuffing through a plowed field at Midland may have made the largest find ever of objects traceable to Indians of the Red Ochre Culture.)

By HUGH DILLON
Midland Daily News Writer

MIDLAND (AP)— Donald Tanner went out looking for arrowheads, but instead he made an archaeological discovery that may date back to 900 B.C.

As he was scuffing through a farm field near the Tittabawassee River in Midland recently, he came upon three "turkey tails"—flint objects similar to spearheads. Turkey tails were used only for burial offerings.

* * *

Tanner found the tails in a plow furrow, and reasoned that if there were more buried below the surface he might be on the trail of an Indian burial site.

The next day Tanner contacted the farmer who owned the property for permission to dig.

Because his son was an amateur archaeologist, the farmer realized the importance of Tanner's find and gave him permission to stake out any area necessary.

STAKES OUT AREA

Tanner staked out an area and carefully dug and sifted the earth. When the soil turned from yellow sand to black dirt, Tanner knew he was approaching the beginning of a pit. He knew it wasn't a burial site because there were no traces of red ochre, an iron ore residue sprinkled over burial sites by prehistoric Indians of the area. Because so little is known about them, these Indians are referred to as the Red Ochre Culture.

Tanner began excavating with a trowel, found paint brushes and even toothpicks. Carefully removing the earth, he eventually came upon a cache of 20 turkey tails. Further digging uncovered seven more.

* * *

There have been nine such discoveries in Michigan over the years, but Tanner's is believed to be the largest single find to date. Five of the nine Michigan finds were made within a quarter-mile of the Tittabawassee River.

Caches also have been discovered in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee, New York and Ontario.

COME FROM INDIANA

Scientific analysis has determined that the flint of all these turkey tails comes from what is now Harrison County, Indiana.

Tanner, president of the local chapter of the Michigan Archaeological Society, has been interested in nature study and archaeology since he was a boy, but he has been making it a serious study only three years.

"To make a find like this," Tanner says, "sort of makes you feel that from now on you can only go downhill. I doubt if I'll ever be able to top this."

Tanner would not part with his find for "any amount of money," he says, but he will make his collection of turkey tails available to universities or scientists for study.

Eventually he hopes to add them to an archaeological display at the proposed Midland Center for the Arts.

Students to Tap Undeveloped Patents

By Science Service

WASHINGTON—The U.S. has two great untapped sources of wealth, says Prof. Arthur A. Ezra: a vast number of undeveloped patents, and a large squad of eager graduate engineering students.

Dr. Ezra of the mechanical engineering department, University of Denver, expects to turn his students loose on some promising patented ideas and see whether they can't be developed.

One of the first may be an outlandish vehicle he designed while working for Martin-Marietta Corp., which was granted patent No. 3,327,801 this week.

Aimed at travel on the moon surface, the Ezra vehicle has a cabin suspended within a number of huge metal hoops. The hoops form a sphere that can roll in any direction, and the cabin is pivoted inside so that it stays upright no matter which way the vehicle is moving.

Power is supplied by a small rocket or jet engine that can be aimed to steer the craft. The cabin support pivots have a braking system to slow or stop it.

COST QUESTIONS

Dr. Ezra says he'll have his students look into questions of cost, marketing and financing to see whether patent ideas studied are practical.

PALESTINE—THE LAND OF ISRAEL?

By Rev. Robert H. Shelton, Pastor First Baptist Church of Pontiac

This is the first of a series of messages that will be printed in the Pontiac Press in the next few weeks. These messages have been given at the Morning Worship service of the First Baptist Church.

PALESTINE — THE LAND OF ISRAEL?

The events of the past few weeks in the Middle East have caused students of the Bible to sit up and take notice as perhaps no generation has done since the time of Christ. I grant you, there have been in days past, those who have spoken of the end of this age and have gone so far as to set dates. Such preaching is folly. But, though no man knows the day nor the hour, we are instructed in God's Word concerning certain conditions that will exist as we approach the end of this age. There is a difference, then, between setting a date and observing a season. Jesus said:

"Now learn a parable of the fig tree; When his branch is yet tender and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is night: So likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know that it is near, even at the doors." (Matthew 24:32, 33)

It is my goal in these messages to present some of these "things" that will come to pass. We will consider such truths as the return of Christ for the church, the coming world ruler, the Battle of Armageddon, the earthly reign of Christ and other vital truths that should be of interest to every reader.

BACKGROUND OF MIDDLE EAST CONFLICT

Today I would like for us to get a better glimpse of the background of the problem existing in the Middle East.

In Genesis, chapter 21, beginning at verse 1, we find these words: "And the Lord visited Sarah as He had said, and the Lord did unto Sarah as He had spoken. For Sarah conceived, and bare Abraham a son in his old age, at the set time of which God had spoken to him. And Abraham called the name of his son that was born unto him, whom Sarah bare to him, Isaac . . . And the child grew, and was weaned: and Abraham made a great feast the same day that Isaac was weaned. And Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, which she had born unto Abraham, mocking. Wherefore she said unto Abraham, Cast out this bondwoman and her son: for the son of this bondwoman shall not be heir with my son, even with Isaac. And the thing was very grievous in Abraham's sight because of his son. (That is, because of Ishmael) And God said unto Abraham, Let it not be grievous in thy sight because of the lad, and because of thy bondwoman; in all that Sarah hath said unto thee, hearken unto her voice; for in Isaac shall thy seed be called. And also of the son of the bondwoman will I make a nation, because he is thy seed."

I would like us to divide our study today into two divisions. The first one we can simply call "Abraham's Problem;" the second is "God's Solution."

ABRAHAM'S PROBLEM

The problem is pictured for us in verses 9 and 10 of Genesis 21, "Sarah saw the son of Hagar, the Egyptian . . . mocking. Wherefore she said unto Abraham, Cast out this bondwoman and her son: for the son of this bondwoman shall not be heir with my son, even with Isaac."

To get the proper setting of the feud between Sarah and Hagar, let's turn back to Genesis, chapter 12, beginning at verse 1: "Now the Lord had said unto Abram, (this was his name before God changed it to Abraham.) Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will show thee: And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing. And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed." Here is the Abrahamic Covenant. It is repeated time and time again in the Old Testament. We find, however, a problem follows this announcement. It is presented in chapter 16, where we read, "Sarai, Abram's wife bare him no children." This was a concern not only to Sarai but also to Abram because Abram was given a covenant by God, and obviously before this covenant could be carried out Abraham had to have a son.

BIRTH OF ISHMAEL

At this point Abram and Sarai decided they would initiate their own plan. Sarai felt she could become a mother of one of Abram's children by proxy. This was not uncommon in the East in these days. So we find this plan developing as we go on in verse 1. "Sarai had a handmaid, an Egyptian, whose name was Hagar. And Sarai said unto Abram, Behold now, the Lord hath restrained me from bearing: I pray thee, go in unto my maid; it may be that I may obtain children by her. And Abram hearkened to the voice of Sarai. And Sarai Abram's wife took Hagar her maid the Egyptian . . . and gave her to her husband Abram to be his wife. And he went in unto Hagar and she conceived: and when she saw that she had conceived, her mistress was despised in her eyes." Apparently the honor was too great for Hagar. As soon as she found she was with child by her master, immediately she despised her mistress. Of course, this put a different light on the whole situation. In verse 5, "Sarai said unto Abram, My wrong be upon thee: I have given my maid into thy bosom; and when she saw that she had conceived, I was despised in her eyes; now the Lord judge between me and thee."

I should say in passing, this pitiful situation was initiated by the flesh. God had already made known his plan. So often, the difficulties we get ourselves into are of our own making. Abram then had to make it clear that his love was still toward Sarai and not Hagar, so in verse 6: "Abram said unto Sarai, Behold, thy maid is in thy hand; do to her as it pleaseth thee. And when Sarai dealt hardly with her, she fled from her face. And the angel of the Lord found her by a fountain of water in the wilderness, by the fountain in the way to Shur." Apparently Hagar decided she would return to Egypt. "The way to Shur" would indicate that. In verse 8, "the angel said, Hagar, Sarai's maid, whence camest thou? and whither wilt thou go? And she said, I flee from the face of my mistress Sarai. And the angel of the Lord said unto her, I will multiply thy seed exceedingly, that it shall not be numbered for multitude. And the angel of the Lord said unto her, Behold, thou art with child, and shalt bear a son, and shalt call his name Ishmael; because the Lord hath heard thy affliction."

ISHMAEL, FATHER OF ARAB WORLD

Here we find the announcement of a great race of people, mothered by Hagar the Egyptian and fathered by Abraham. We know them today as Arabs. There is little wonder that Egypt would like to be the undisputed head of the Arab nations, for Ishmael's mother was an Egyptian. In Genesis 21 we find that Ishmael's wife was also an Egyptian. So Ishmael's children could be called the seed of Abraham but the stronger influence was from Egypt.

BIRTH OF ISAAC

Now we come to chapter 17, beginning at verse 15: "And God said unto Abraham, As for Sarai thy wife, thou shalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah shall be her name. And I will bless her, and give thee a son also of her: yea, I will bless her, and she shall be a mother of nations; kings of people shall be of her. Then Abraham fell upon his face, and laughed, and said in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred years old? and shall Sarah, that is ninety years old, bear? And Abraham said unto God, O that Ishmael might live before thee!" In other words, "God, I'm content now that Ishmael might be the one through whom this covenant will be fulfilled. I have my son. He is Ishmael." But God had something to say in verse 19: "Sarah thy wife shall bear thee a son indeed; and thou shalt call his name Isaac: and I will establish my covenant with him for an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him. And as for Ishmael, I have heard thee: Behold, I have blessed him, and will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly; twelve princes shall he beget, and I will make him a great nation. But my covenant will I establish with Isaac, which Sarah shall bear unto thee at this set time in the next year."

Now don't misunderstand what I am going to say during the next few months. God loves the whole world, but there are times when He has something special to say to special people. Does God love Ishmael and his seed? He certainly does and He makes that very plain in verse 20: "As for Ishmael, I have heard thee: Behold, I have blessed him, and will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly." You see, God had plans for the seed of Ishmael, a great and wonderful people. Those of our nation who have lived among these people, and many of my own acquaintances who are serving in Arab lands, have grown very fond of these chosen people.

But having said that, I must be honest with you in dealing with the Word of God. In verse 21 God makes it very plain, "My covenant will I establish with Isaac, which Sarah shall bear unto thee." What was this covenant? We discovered it earlier in chapter 12, verses 2 and 3. It was confirmed later to Isaac himself in chapter 26, verse 4: "I will make thy seed to multiply as the stars of heaven, and will give unto thy seed all these countries; and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed."

Do you know a nation on the face of the earth today that has not been blessed by the seed of Isaac? God said that this is what would happen and it has happened. It's a covenant, the Abrahamic Covenant, that was to come through his son Isaac, and that covenant certainly has been confirmed. It has been fulfilled as all of God's Word surely is fulfilled. Paul speaks of it in Hebrews 11: "Through faith also Sara herself received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful who had promises. Therefore, sprang there even of one, and him as good as dead, as many as the stars of the sky in multitude, and as the sand which is by the seashore innumerable." It takes more than a Hitler to destroy these chosen people of God. As a matter of fact, they will never be destroyed. One of the great miracles of this day is that Israel is still Israel, that there still is a nation of people devoted to one another. It's a miracle. We're seeing it unfolding in front of our very eyes.

Well, you ask, where's the problem? We looked at it in chapter 21, verses 9 through 11. When Isaac was born and weaned Abraham made a great feast, the same day, and during that feast, Sarah noticed Ishmael, the son of Hagar, mocking her son. "Therefore she said to Abraham, Cast out this bondwoman and her son; for the son of this bondwoman shall not be heir with my son, even with Isaac."

Here was the first Arab-Israeli conflict —not fought on desert sands with planes and tanks, but fought in Abraham's tent with female tongues. You see, they were concerned. They were afraid their sons would not get what they deserved. And so the conflict began.

GOD'S SOLUTION

So much for the problem. Now I would like us to hurry on to the solution, and its given to us in the very next verse: "And God said unto Abraham . . ." You know, if we would only let God speak there wouldn't be any problems. "God said . . . " Did you know God has something to say concerning every problem in the world? He has something to say about your problem. There's not a thing that will cross your path of life but what God spoken and presented the solution. God said unto Abraham, "Let it not be grievous in thy sight because of Ishmael, and because of thy bondwoman; in all that Sarah hath said unto thee, hearken unto her voice; for in Isaac shall thy seed be called."

Now this question: "Are we to understand that Israel is to have the land that was given to Abraham in Genesis, chapter 12, in every generation of human history?" Certainly not! As a matter of fact, there were some times when God himself drove His own people out of the land He gave them. When God gave them a command and they didn't obey it, many times He would allow an enemy power to take possession of the very land that He had given to them. Often these people disobeyed the God who loved them and led them, so God for a time would deprive them of their land.

Let's return for a moment to Genesis, chapter 11, verses 31 and 32: "Terah took Abram his son, and Lot the son of Haran and Abram's wife, and they went forth with them from Ur of the Chaldees, to go into the land of Canaan; and they came unto Haran, and dwelt there." They settled down in North Mesopotania; they were content to live in Haran; they never did get into Canaan. I agree with the Scofield note here—these were wasted years in Haran. It was God's design that Terah take his family, including Abraham and march into Canaan, but they didn't go. As a matter of fact, in verse 32 we read: "The days of Terah were two hundred and five years; and Terah died in Haran." Get that! He died in Haran. Terah never did get into the promised land. So in chapter 12, verse 1: "The Lord then said unto Abram, Now get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will show thee." In other words, "Abram, your father didn't obey me. He didn't get into Canaan. He died in Haran. I don't want you to die there. You get yourself out of that country. Get into the land that I'm giving to you.' So in the next verses of Genesis, chapter 12, we have what's commonly referred to as the Abrahamic Covenant, a covenant that's definitely associated with a certain portion of territory that God promised Abraham and his seed. In verse 7: "The Lord appeared unto Abram, and said, Unto thy seed will I give this land: and there builded he an altar unto the Lord, who appeared unto him."

Well, famine came and Abram took his wife and went to Egypt. Then in Genesis 13 he left Egypt and came back to Canaan. Then his grandson Jacob left Canaan and went back to Egypt and Israel stayed there for about 400 years. Then under the leadership of Moses they left Egypt and journeyed back to Canaan. They came and they went, back and forth, to and from this land that God had given to them.

After their return from Egyptian bondage (about 1450 B.C.) they lived in the Promised Land nearly 800 years. This was the time of the Judges and the Kings. You remember it was after Solomon's reign that internal friction divided God's chosen people. Solomon's son Rehoboam became the ruler of the southern kingdom of Judah. A young man by the name of Jeroboam became the ruler of the northern kingdom, which we refer to as Israel. So now you have two kingdoms. They are all the seed of Isaac, the children of Jacob—10 tribes in the north, 2 tribes in the south. 19 kings served in the north, 20 kings served in the south. The northern kingdom lasted until 721 B.C. when Shalmaneser led them away into Syrian captivity. The southern Kingdom lasted until 583 B.C. when Nebuchadnezzar led Judah away into Babylonian captivity.

Now we find Israel in Syrian captivity and Judah in Babylonian captivity. Then in 536 B.C. Ezra led a remnant back into the Holy Land to rebuild the temple in Jerusalem. Some time after that Nehemiah led another remnant back and they restored the walls of the Holy City. This brings us to the close of the Old Testament era about 430 B.C.

Now please get this: About 4000 years have passed since God spoke to Abraham and made His covenant with him, but most of that time Israel has not been in her land under her own rule. We could divide these past 4000 years into three divisions.

Israel in her land ruling herself.

Israel in her land ruled by others.

Israel not in her land.

Today Israel is back in her own land ruling her own affairs for the first time in nearly 2600 years. At this very moment Israel is looking for a great world leader who will assure her presence in her "Promised Land."

This leader, I believe, is soon to make his appearance. According to Bible prophecy he will be raised up out of one of the ten nations now existing in the territory of the old Roman Empire. This world leader will present himself to Israel as their long looked for Messiah and for a time they will believe his lie.

Next Tuesday, the second in this series of messages will appear, entitled, "The Coming World Ruler". We invite you to attend the services of the First Baptist Church each Sunday. Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Morning Worship 10:45 a.m. and the evening Service 7 p.m.

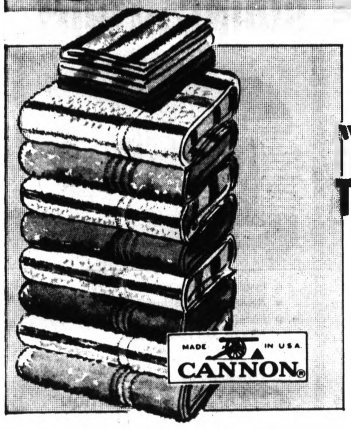

The Morning Messages Are Broadcast Each Sunday Morning at 11:00 Over Station CKLW.

Students Give Hand to Mentally Ill

By HELEN FRUCHTMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — "They're ordinary people with problems. I couldn't wait for a new day to see their progress."

* * *

"Before I was just considering teaching, but now I have decide to teach disturbed children."

"I truthfully feel that I know myself better, have more control over myself and am more perceptive."

These comments came from different high school students who had volunteered in a "careers" program sponsored by various mental health associations throughout the country. Students work summers in some cities, during the school year or both in others.

Aside from the gratification of giving service, the program offers an unusual training opportunity. The students become actual apprentices to various hospital professionals, observing and assisting them in their work with patients.

EDUCATIONAL EXPERIENCE

One may work with the staff psychologist, another with a social worker, another with a recreation worker, or any other member of the professional team. In addition, they are given an extraordinary educational experience in orientation sessions and special weekly sessions conducted by a staff psychiatrist or clinical psychologist.

"Their work in the wards, their encounters with patients and their feelings about their experiences provide the discussion material. They always have strong emotional and intellectual responses, and these must be explored," Patricia Ewalt, of the Massachusetts Mental Health Careers Program, reported.

Some students have some fear about the experience but these are usually dispelled by the rewarding responses of the patients and the realization that their problems are not too different from those seen outside the hospital. Most of them indicate that their understanding of people in general, as well as of the mentally ill, increased after the program.

* * *

One said, "I feel that I have become more tolerant. I have a friend who is extremely boisterous and juvenile at times. Last year I avoided her . . . but now I am more aware of the reasons for her actions."

60,000 VACANCIES

The careers program was initiated by the National Association for Mental Health to help meet the need for mental health professionals. More than 60,000 positions need to be filled to meet the demand for services.

The students' enthusiastic responses and mounting interest indicate that this approach may help fill the gap. A goodly number throughout the country are pursuing professions in mental health as a result of this introduction.

A typical comment is: "I had no idea what I wanted to be. After the program, I decided to become a social worker."

* * *

Whether the students continue in the field or not, the experience is usually salutary, Mrs. Richard Whiting director of the Evansville, Ind., MHA program, remarked. "Young people have marvelous energy. This is one way for the teen-ager to channel that energy into a very worthwhile venture."

Driver Killed in Stock Car

HARTFORD (AP) — With a crowd of 2,000 watching, a late model stock car flipped Monday night at the Hartford Motor Speedway, killing the driver.

Thomas Pate, 27, of Paw Paw was killed when his car overturned and another vehicle rammed into the wreckage.

The other driver escaped injury, Police Chief Jim E. Smith said.

N. Viets Determine DMZ Battle Terms

SAIGON (AP) — The mountains, rolling hills and flatlands just below the demilitarized zone, the border with North Vietnam, have become Vietnam's bloodiest battle ground.

* * *

About 1,000 Marines have been killed and about 7,000 wounded this year in ambushes, pitched battles, artillery barrages and rocket and mortar attacks. This is roughly two-thirds of the 12,000 combat infantrymen in the 75,000-man 3rd Marine Amphibious Force, but many of the wounded were treated in the field without leaving their units or were out of action a few days or a few weeks.

Because of politics, terrain and the nature of guerrilla war, the Leathernecks are fighting with severe tactical disadvantages that may get worse as the war goes on.

* * *

In theory the Marines are on the border to prevent massive infiltration into South Vietnam by large North Vietnamese regular units. They have not been able to do this to any degree and have repeatedly been forced into battle at a time and place picked by the enemy.

The fighting this week around Con Thien is a good example.

BOXLIKE PATTERN

The Marine outpost there is one of four in a boxlike pattern that has been nicknamed Leatherneck Square.

Lookouts from Con Thien Sunday spotted a moderate-sized force of North Vietnamese moving south from the border zone. Two companies were sent after them. The force the Marines spotted was bait for a massive ambush. One Marine company was hit, cut into three segments and virtually wiped out. The second company took high casualties.

* * *

In all 58 Americans were killed, 170 were wounded, and 27 were missing, apparently dead and their bodies left on the battlefield.

The 27 were bait for another trap. It was not until Tuesday that the Leathernecks could get close to the bodies. Then the North Vietnamese struck hard again, knocking out two tanks, killing 11 Marines and wounding 17.

DEAD COMRADES

The Marines had to pull back again. Wednesday they finally got their dead comrades back.

This time there was no fighting. The North Vietnamese had pulled back to their deep bunkers in the demilitarized zone to plan their next move.

* * *

Nearly everything seems to favor the enemy along the demilitarized zone. Since the area is just over the border, he has a short and solid supply line. The Marines are at the furthermost end of theirs.

The North Vietnamese have artillery buried and carefully camouflaged north of the border. U.S. planes have not been able to silence it. American B52s have not been used in the immediate area for months because of the danger from Soviet-made surface to air missiles.

RED ADVANTAGE

When the Marines launch sweeps, the enemy fades until he feels the Americans have maneuvered into terrain that gives the Communists the advantage. If the Reds don't want to risk an infantry attack, they call in their artillery.

The land around Con Thien is open and fairly flat. There is no place to hide from the big shells, rockets and mortar rounds.

* * *

An offensive could be launched to silence the artillery. Israel did this in its Syrian campaign. But the artillery is north of the border, and the political implications of an American invasion of North Vietnam have ruled against such a move.

So the Marines hide, like World War I infantrymen, in their deep bunkers and await orders for new sweeps. The northern corners of Leatherneck Square, Con Thien and the big Marine base at Dong Ha, are subject to savage attacks regularly.

* * *

Despite their bunkers, the Leathernecks take serious casualties in their sandbag and earth positions.

Con Thien and Dong Ha are precisely marked on maps. The North Vietnamese positions continually shift in and above the demilitarized zone.

* * *

American artillery and jet bombers are a serious disadvantage because of this, since it requires virtually a direct hit to smash a well-built bunker. Where an entire regiment may be today, tomorrow there will only be empty bunkers, trenches and tunnels.

Argentina Rejects Bolivia on Troops to Fight Rebels

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI)—Argentina has rejected a Bolivian request for Argentine troops to help quell a guerrilla movement in southeastern Bolivia, a reliable source revealed last night.

The informant said Argentina also refused to close its border with Bolivia, as the Bolivian government had reportedly requested, but did promise to increase vigilance along the frontier.

Press reports last week said Argentina sent a trainload of arms and ammunition for use of the Bolivian army. The Argentine government of President Juan Carlos Ongania denied this. It said the train referred to carried only foodstuffs and medicines.

The Bolivian regime of President Rene Barrientos so far has been unsuccessful in stemming the reportedly Cuban-inspired and trained guerrillas.

The guerrillas, eluding Bolivian troops in rugged, jungle-covered mountains, have won the support of members of the powerful tin miners' union.

No substantial guerrilla threat has been reported in Argentina. But a government spokesman said stern measures to suppress communism were under consideration.

Utah Whites Fight Africans

Ethiopians Boycott Peace Corps Classes

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Ethiopian language instructors said today that University of Utah officials have agreed to guarantee their safety while in Salt Lake City, after a tavern riot early Sunday in which several were beaten.

The Africans, who charged the 10-minute brawl was racially inspired, Sunday boycotted classes preparing 120 Peace Corps teachers for assignments in their country.

* * *

Assessa Mehretu, speaking for 27 Ethiopians, said the instructors had voted to resume teaching. There were no classes Monday or Tuesday.

Some 100 whites and Negroes classed in a downtown night spot before a police riot squad broke up the fight with nightsticks and dogs.

WHITE INSTIGATORS

Mehretu said whites started striking Ethiopians and some Peace Corps students after calling them "niggers" and objecting to their dancing with white female Peace Corps students. He and 14 other instructors were involved.

He said the university and the Peace Corps promised the instigators would be "brought to justice," as demanded by the Ethiopians.

* * *

The university also promised the teachers insurance on their lives while living in Utah and a public apology from the city.

Mehretu said the teachers also would:

- Explain to the Peace Corps "what happened to us since our arrival in Salt Lake City."
- Inform the Peace Corps "of our feelings as to the suitability of Utah in general and Salt Lake City in particular as a future Peace Corps center."
- Send copies of those two letters with a third to Ethiopian embassies, student groups and news media condemning the tavern attack.

* * *

Mehretu said one policeman clubbed a Peace Corps student. "The police meant to get us out of there and not stop the incident."

BLACK AND WHITE — "What is she?" A 5-year-old girl asked her mother when Eleanor Curry, Negro mother of eight children, became a teacher's aide in an all-white school in San Mateo, Calif. Eight months later, another 5-year-old told Mrs. Curry, "I still haven't figured out what you are, but you're nice." She is shown in a classroom facing the "polite and curious" white youngsters.

Negro at All-White School

What Is She? Children Learn

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Eleanor Curry, a Negro, spent the 1966-67 school year as a teacher's aide in an all-white San Mateo elementary school on the San Francisco Peninsula. Here is her story as told in the district publication, Intercom.)

By ELEANOR CURRY

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Only a few days after I reported for duty last October, a 5-year-old described me to her mother. "There's somebody at school who dresses like our teacher and talks like her, but she's very, very dark. What is she?"

I don't know how her mother responded, but the next day the youngster ran up to me smiling and said, "Come stand by me. I'll help you say the Pledge of Allegiance so you can learn about our country."

* * *

It was a somewhat shattering introduction to an experience that has turned out to be rewarding and revealing to me, and I hope meaningful and constructive to the children who at first regarded me as something from a museum.

As a Negro, as the mother of eight children, and as a citizen deeply concerned about education in our community, I had hoped that I could make a contribution to the school district as a teacher's aide.

SUPERVISED PLAY

Some days I mixed paints, read a story or helped with a puppet show, depending upon the needs of the teachers and children in two kindergarten classes to which I was assigned. During the lunch hour I organized games and supervised the play of older children.

But probably my most important function was providing the "sneak attention" so many children need. The teacher cannot interrupt the normal classroom schedule for this purpose.

* * *

But as I relieved the teachers of numerous chores and routine duties, I noticed the restless, shy and lonely youngsters who seem to need an extra amount of encouragement or individual attention. During recess or at the first opportunity, I tried to fill in these gaps with a special compliment, a word, a smile or assistance.

* * *

At first the children were polite and curious about me—too polite, I thought later, when they looked away if I happened to catch their eye.

HONESTLY CURIOUS

Then the questions started coming. Rarely were they insulting or malicious; more often they were hesitant, tentative and honestly curious.

* * *

Since I was learning, too, how best to adapt my skills to the needs of each teacher and individual child, I could appreciate the children's needs to learn more about me.

* * *

The first week a 5-year-old asked me, "Were you ever a baby?" I nodded.

"Were you ever a little girl?" I nodded again.

The youngster looked relieved and shouted, "Boy, am I glad!"

NOT ALWAYS DIRTY

There were others who found it hard to believe that my hands were not always dirty, and I really was brown all over. Some decided that I had to be from Africa.

One day, during the lunch hour, a 9-year-old boy concluded that I was "Aunt Jemima." As I threw a ball back to him, I called him "Bob Hope." He retorted quickly, "My name's not Bob Hope." "And mine is not Aunt Jemima," I told him. After that we became good friends.

* * *

Soon I stopped wondering whether the children would accept me as they would any of the other 80 teacher aides in the district. I tried to act as natural as possible.

* * *

Whenever a question arose about my origin or background, I tried to talk privately with the child, helping him to grow out of attitudes about which he seemed uncertain and sometimes fearful.

BASIC DIFFERENCES

But I did keep wondering whether there were real, basic differences between these children and my own. Even after eight months, when the children and I felt quite relaxed and confident with each other, a 5-year-old said to me, "I still haven't figured out what you are, but you're nice."

Pacific Isle Climaxes Aviatrix's Flight

HONOLULU (UPI)—For Ann Pellegreno, the 30-year-old Michigan woman who is attempting to retrace the flight of Amelia Earhart 30 years ago, the high point of an exotic globe-circling journey was a fleeting visit to a remote Pacific island.

The island is Howland, a tiny U.S. - owned speck of land somewhere near Canton Island. Miss Pellegreno claims Amelia Earhart crashed near Howland in June of 1937.

"Howland is just a tiny speck of land in a big blue ocean," Miss Pellegreno said. "We were following the same sunline she did, and if we hadn't zigzagged, we would have missed it, too."

Miss Pellegreno landed her twin-engine and twin-tailed Lockheed Electra — an exact replica of Miss Earhart's plane — exactly on schedule yesterday after noon in Honolulu. She has completed all but about 2,000 miles of her 27,000 mile odyssey which began at Oakland, Calif., June 8.

* * *

The former Saline schoolteacher was accompanied on her flight by Lee Koepke, of Ypsilanti, the owner of the plane; William Polhamus, a navigator from Ann Arbor, and William Payne, an Air Force colonel who went along as co-pilot.

CHEERFUL AND RESTED

The sandy-haired aviatrix looked cheerful and rested after her 14-hour, 20-minute flight from Canton Island south of Honolulu.

She said she talked to several people who are "sending me things" which might help clear up the Earhart mystery.

She declined to elaborate on the nature of the information she obtained.

No landing was attempted on Howland, Miss Pellegreno said, because the rough runway prepared during the war had disappeared.

NEA Favors More Politics

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Teachers represented by the National Education Association favor more political action by the group, an unofficial poll of delegates to the NEA's annual convention showed today.

The poll, being conducted by the Michigan Education Association at the convention, showed the teachers favor backing of political candidates at the local, state and national levels.

* * *

The straw vote on whether local education groups should back candidates with endorsements and financial support showed 522 teachers in favor and 292 against the proposal. On the state level, the vote was 499-311, and on the national level, 433-377.

MANDARIN ORANGE SHERBET

Ice Creams, Sherbets

Best When Homemade

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When you really want to impress your guests, serve them homemade ice cream. It's the most fun if you let them help make it. With today's electric freezers, it's really no work at all.

Of course, you can make ice cream or sherbet in your refrigerator any time.

Try some of these new recipes in the near future.

Canned Mandarin oranges make a fruity, flavorful sherbet. It's colorful looking and cool.

CREAMY MANDARIN ORANGE SHERBET

2 11-ounce cans Japanese Mandarin oranges
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¾ cup water
¾ cup sugar
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Turn temperature control of refrigerator or freezer to coldest setting. Soften gelatin in ¾ cup water in measuring cup. Place cup in pan of boiling water and heat until gelatin is dissolved.

Meanwhile, drain juice from one of the cans of Mandarin oranges and reserve. Put orange segments from one can through food mill or in blender to make puree.

Drain juice from second can of oranges, reserve segments. Combine juice from both cans with orange puree. Add sugar and melted gelatin, stir until sugar is dissolved.

Stir orange mixture into milk. Add lemon juice, stirring. (It may curdle.) Place in ice cube tray and freeze until frozen one inch in from edge.

Turn partly frozen orange mixture into large mixing bowl and beat until smooth.

Combine whipped cream and freeze again until one inch in from edge. Return mixture into bowl and beat smooth.

Fold in reserved orange sections and return to freezer until firm. Makes 1½ quarts.

Ices and sherbets, say the experts, are intended to be refreshing rather than enriching; they are not imitation ice creams.

Avocados will tint this buttermilk ice a lovely green. What could look more refreshing?

VICTORIAN AVOCADO BUTTERMILK ICE

2 fully ripe avocados
2 cups buttermilk
½ cup sugar
¼ cup each: honey, light corn syrup, lemon juice

Prepare Avocado Puree as follows: Halve avocados lengthwise, twisting gently to separate halves. Whack a sharp knife directly into seeds and twist to life out.

* * *

Peel avocados; then force through sieve and mix with remaining ingredients, or blend all together in electric blender.

Pour into pan or refrigerator trays. Freeze until mushy; then beat smooth and freeze again until firm. Let ice mellow at room temperature ½ hour before serving. Makes about one quart.

There are still some fresh strawberries available. A pint and a half of them can be made into a frozen dessert with an elusive flavor. Bet no one will guess it comes from lemon flavored ice tea mix.

STRAWBERRY TEA PARFAIT

1½ pint boxes fresh strawberries
12 marshmallows
2 envelopes (2 oz. each) lemon flavored iced tea mix
2 cups heavy cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Measure 2 cups strawberries. Slice and sweeten remaining berries to use as garnish; refrigerate.

In medium saucepan, combine 2 cups berries, marshmallows, and lemon flavored iced tea mix. Simmer 10 minutes over low heat, stirring frequently. Remove from heat. Press mixture through a sieve; cool.

In large bowl, whip cream until it begins to thicken; add confectioners' sugar and whip until stiff. Blend in strawberry puree. Pour into 2 ice cube trays.

* * *

Freeze about 1 hour or until partially frozen; stir thoroughly. Freeze another hour; stir thoroughly again. Freeze until firm. Spoon frozen strawberry cream into parfait glasses; top with sliced berries. Makes about 8 parfaits.

One of today's convenience foods — non-dairy creamer — can replace regular cream in homemade ice cream. Crushed peppermint stick candy sweetens and flavors this delightful dessert.

If you want plain vanilla ice cream, substitute one cup of sugar for the candy.

PEPPERMINT ICE CREAM (Calorie-Trimmed)

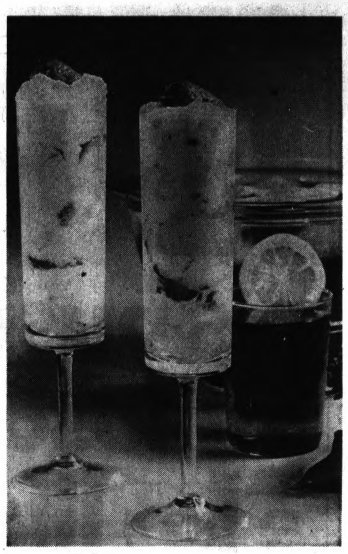

1½ cups non-dairy creamer
½ pound peppermint stick candy
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, well beaten
3 cups boiling water
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Crush candy.

In top of double boiler, combine creamer, flour and salt. Blend in eggs and boiling water. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens (about 10 minutes). Remove from heat; add vanilla and cool. Stir in crushed candy.

* * *

Freeze in electric ice cream freezer, using 8 parts ice to 1 part salt (machine runs about ½ hour). To ripen, use equal parts ice and salt or store in freezer. Makes 1 quart.

Double Decker Is Tasty Winner

"The Ace of Clubs," a tasty combination of cream cheese, crushed pineapple, Canadian bacon and turkey on whole wheat bread, today has been named one of the 20 best Sandwiches of 1967.

The unusual sandwich was created by Gordon Snyder, Manager, Kuennings Restaurant, Columbus, Ohio. This is the fourth straight year that Snyder has placed in the top 20, in the annual National Sandwich Idea Contest.

He now competes with 19 other winners — first for a trip to New York City and $500 in cash —and finally for the crown of Sandwich Monarch of 1967.

If he is named Sandwich King, Snyder will receive a second $500 and an all-expense vacation for two any place in the world.

Twenty years ago, Snyder joined Kuennings Restaurant, first working at the sandwich counter. Today he is manager of the firm's downtown operation.

The Ace of Clubs

18 slices whole wheat bread
4 oz. cream cheese, softened
1½ cups drained, crushed pineapple
24 slices Canadian bacon, grilled
1½ cups orange-cranberry relish
18 slices (1 oz. each) cooked turkey breast

Spread cream cheese on bread. Cover each of 6 bread slices with ¼ cup pineapple and 4 slices Canadian bacon. Add second layer of bread, spread side up.

Cover each with ¾ cup orange-cranberry relish and 3 turkey slices. Top with remaining bread. Makes 6 sandwiches.

ACE OF CLUBS — No one will trump this when it appears on the bridge table after a spirited game. One of the 20 best sandwiches of 1967, this one combines turkey, Canadian bacon, cream cheese, pineapple and cranberry relish.

VICTORIAN AVOCADO-BUTTERMILK ICE

Cook a Shrimp Dinner in One Big Skillet

With all due respect to modern appliances — and marvels they certainly are — women have been working miracles for years, right on top of their stoves, in capacious pots and kettles.

You may not have one of those in your kitchen, but you undoubtedly have a heavy covered skillet or Dutch oven, and that's all you need to make a simply great dish, the Mexican Shrimp Pot, from a Shrimp Association of the Americas recipe.

By using the convenience foods listed, the whole process takes only about half an hour, which should be speedy enough for anyone's timetable.

Mexican Shrimp Pot

1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen, or 1 (8 oz. or 10 oz.) package peeled and deveined shrimp
½ cup olive or salad oil
2 tablespoons chopped onion
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup converted rice
1¾ cups water
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon black pepper
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup tomato sauce
1 10-ounce package frozen succotash, partly thawed
1 10-ounce package frozen baby okra, partly thawed
½ cup frozen green beans, partly thawed

Clean shrimp, set aside. In a large deep skillet, heat oil. Add onion, green pepper, garlic and rice. Cook, stirring constantly, until rice is lightly browned. Add water, seasonings and vegetables. Toss gently. Cover and cook over low heat 15 minutes.

Uncover, arrange shrimp on surface. Cover and cook 10 minutes longer or until rice is tender and plump and shrimp are pink and no longer look transparent.

Serve from skillet or turn into casserole. Makes 6 servings.

Pears, Cabbage a Salad Twosome

A pleasant, nutritious combination is pears with cabbage.

Slaw and Fresh Pear Salad

½ tablespoon each sugar and salad oil
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
¼ teaspoon (generous) salt
⅛ teaspoon celery seed
2 cups firmly packed fine knifeshredded green cabbage
Salad Greens
2 fresh pears, peeled and halved and cored

In a medium bowl stir together and sugar, oil, vinegar, salt and celery seed; mix in the cabbage. Arrange on salad greens and top slaw with pears. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings

Ham 'n' Eggs Layered With Shredded Lettuce

That traditional duo, ham and eggs, becomes a trio with finely shredded western iceberg lettuce for "Lettuce-Crisp Ham 'n' Eggs."

By briefly heating in a casserole layers of lettuce and cooked ham and eggs, all delicately seasoned with dill weed and Parmesan cheese, you have a noteworthy main dish for a weekend brunch or supper.

Lettuce-Crisp Ham 'n' Eggs

1 head western iceberg lettuce
½ teaspoon dill weed
8 eggs
⅔ cup milk
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups cubed cooked ham
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Core, rinse and drain lettuce; chill in disposable plastic bag.

Cut head lengthwise into halves, place cut-sides down on board and shred, then chop enough to yield 5 cups. Place half of chopped lettuce in 1½-quart casserole. Sprinkle with ¼ teaspoon dill weed.

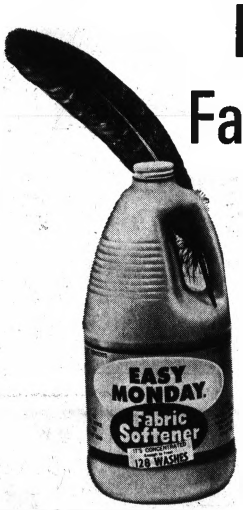

Beat eggs with milk, salt and pepper. Melt butter in skillet; add ham and heat. Stir in egg mixture. Cook, stirring, until eggs are set.

Place half of egg mixture on lettuce in casserole. Add remaining lettuce and dill weed, then remaining egg mixture. Sprinkle with cheese; broil 2 to 3 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Soviet Film Festival Assures Controversy

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet answer to the glamor of world film festivals, a spectacle that puts puritanism, politics and propaganda ahead of pulchritude, playboys and parties, is on this week.

Moscow's fifth International Film Festival July 5-20 again promises political fireworks. Prize awards in the past have pitted Soviet jurors, seeking to honor Soviet films with top awards, against foreign jurors demanding recognition for artistic achievements from abroad.

* * *

In 1963 the infighting got so rough that Western jurors threatened to quit. Only a Soviet back-down, reportedly authorized by then Premier Nikita Khrushchev, calmed the storm.

Moves to honor controversial films from the West have confronted deadly serious Soviet officials with key dilemmas.

DAMPENS PRESTIGE

Refusal to honor such films hurts efforts to present a liberal image abroad and dampens the prestige of the Moscow festival. But the Soviets also fear that honoring such films adds pressure for relaxation of controls on the arts here, permitting production of critical films.

They want the prestige of an international film festival award bestowed on productions of the only Soviet-approved art school, "socialist realism."

The American film "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" will be shown outside the competition to an invitation-only audience of Soviet film workers. The public won't see it.

The Soviets always invite scores of the world's stars to attend but few appear, partly because the scheduled showing of their films is worked out only at the last minute.

This time only Leslie Caron and French actor Robert Hossein, both jury members, are listed as sure to attend.

Among Americans, George Hamilton, Warren Beatty, Shirley MacLaine, Shirley Temple and Jack Palance are tentatively listed as coming.

* * *

Russian-born composer Dmitri Tiomkin—"High Noon"—is on the 15-member jury. It has a majority of eight Communist representatives, with a Russian chairman.

Sandy Dennis, star of the American entry in the competition, "Up the Down Staircase," is due to appear. Former presidential aide Jack Valenti, now president of the Motion Picture Association of America, heads the American delegation.

Two American directors, both involved in jury battles in past Moscow festivals, are expected to attend, Fred Zinnemann and Stanley Kramer.

Zinnemann's film, "A Man for All Seasons," will be shown as the British entry.

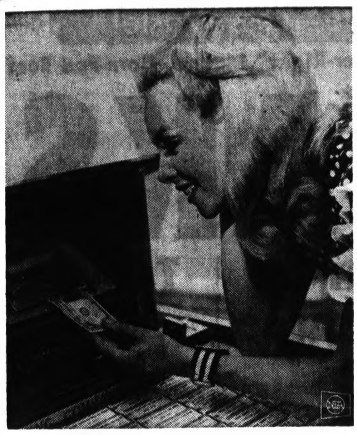

At the last festival in 1965 Zinnemann led opposition to awarding the grand prize to the Soviet film, "War and Peace."

Officially, opponents said the film did not deserve the prize because only the first two of its four parts were shown. Western and some Soviet critics questioned the quality of the film.

IDEOLOGICALLY UNSOUND

The top prize was split between "War and Peace" and the Hungarian entry, "29 Hours," which the Russians had called ideologically unsound.

Kramer was involved in a bigger furor in 1963 when most jury members agreed the best film was Federico Fellini's controversial "8½." The Soviets backed a lackluster Soviet film, "Meet Baluyev." The issue was reportedly referred to Khrushchev who agreed to let the award go to "8½."

PAY HIKE FOR JUKEBOX — The coin shortage might have had something to do with the development of this jukebox, the first to accept dollar bills from music lovers. But it means buying tunes in volume — the jukebox doesn't make change.

New LA Art Museum Gaining Popularity

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles County Museum of Art in a little more than two years has become the second most visited repository of art in the United States—surpassed only by the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Because the museum is yet a toddler, the permanent collection is not fully developed, but the structure itself is a major attraction to the thousands of persons who stroll through the galleries daily.

The three buildings which comprise the museum appear to be floating on an ornamental pool but they are actually placed on a terrace which encircles a sprawling plaza — and beneath this terrace level, the service area is common to all buildings.

largest building, is four stories and houses the permanent collection which surrounds a four-story atrium.

* * *

The Lytton Building houses the galleries for changing exhibitions and conservation area. Special exhibitions change frequently and many art objects in this building are loaned by private individuals or obtained through an exchange program with other museums.

The Bing Center houses the auditorium, a cafeteria, the member's lounge and a children's museum which conducts several classes.

Before 1964, the museum was housed in the Los Angeles County Museum of History and Science in Exposition Park. Founding trustees realized the need for an independent museum of art and private funds were raised.

When the present structure was completed, it was made a gift to the people of Los Angeles.

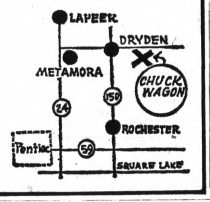

The museum has not yet achieved the tradition that its older counterparts enjoy. However, the galleries house objects of art from prehistory in various forms.

Fires Started in Negro Area

More Violence in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Several fires were started by fire bombs early today in another recurrence of violence in the predominantly Negro Avondale area of Cincinnati, police reported.

Negroes rioted Monday night in Avondale and nearby Evanston areas but relative quiet had been reported restored until midnight Tuesday. Rioting also occurred there three weeks ago.

* * *

Most of the fires early today were put out quickly. At least 11 arrests were made in connection with the disturbances, police said.

At 3 a.m., police said the trouble spots were again quiet.

EIGHT CHARGED

Eight persons face trial on charges of disorderly conduct as the result of Monday night's outbreak.

* * *

Beefed-up patrols cruised the streets of the two districts about three to four miles northeast of downtown Cincinnati Tuesday night.

The Cincinnati Sash & Door Co. plant at the northern edge of Avondale was destroyed by a fire whose origin remained unknown. Fire Chief Bert Luganmani estimated damage at $1 million.

43 FIRE ALARMS

Firemen said there were 43 fire alarms—18 of them false—Monday night and early Tuesday. Firemen were stoned at some fire scenes.

The Ohio National Guard had to be called out to help police quell racial disturbances June 12-15 that resulted in more than 350 arrests and $2.5 million in damages.

A 10-story building erected for a Chicago insurance company in 1880 is regarded as the first American skyscraper.

FANCY BROKEN LEG — Prince Philip points as he asks 19-year-old Marni Turner of Peterborough, Ont., how she broke her leg. She appeared aboard the royal yacht Britannia at Kingston, Ont., yesterday. Miss Turner, winner of one of the Prince's awards for physical fitness, explained her leg was broken when a diver hit it during a swimming session. She told him her hobby was interior decorating, and the prince pointed to her leg and said "You certainly got a good start on the exterior."

'Russian Dropout in Better Shape'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Russian high school dropout is in better shape than his American counterpart because he will have no trouble finding work, says an American who recently taught in the Soviet Union.

"When a student no longer is interested in going to school there are opportunities to train him for a trade," Myrtle McCallin of Swarthmore, Pa., head of the School Affiliation Service of the American Friends Service Committee, said in an interview.

The committee, a Quaker group, sponsored the trip of Miss McCallin, a former teacher, and two American teachers of Russian—Thomas Forsythe of Roosevelt University in Chicago and Joseph Glus of Baltimore, Md., county schools.

The visit, from April 16 to June 20, was the second half of an exchange that began last fall when three Soviet teachers of English toured schools between Boston and Philadelphia.

Miss McCallin said that since the Soviet Union has no unemployment problem, the dropout there can find some type of job.

"If he doesn't learn a trade he can always get an unskilled job," she said.

* * *

Schools in both the United States and the Soviet Union are experimenting with new teaching techniques, such as the new math, Miss McCallin said.

"The problems we share are those of finding the balance between teaching of fact and teaching of concepts," she said. "We also face the common problem of how to help the slow learner feel he is of equal value as a person."

Like the United States, the Soviet Union has a neighborhood school system in large cities, Miss McCallin said.

Opening lead—♣ Q

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

The name "book" play has been given to the large number of standard plays that come up again and again. In the old days only a few experts knew the book plays.

JACOBY

Today, it seems, almost everybody has learned most of them. Of course, all book plays haven't appeared in books. Some have appeared only in bridge columns.

South knew all the book plays. He looked over dummy and saw that he might lose two diamonds, one spade and one heart.

He also noted that there was a book play available to him to force a heart lead from an opponent if spades broke 2-1. He decided to try the book play.

He went up with dummy's king of clubs and led a low diamond. East ducked and South won the trick with his king. His game was safe but he wanted an overtrick.

He led a second diamond which West won. West led another club. South won with his ace and threw East in lead with the king.

South had developed the book end play. If East led a diamond or club South would get a ruff and discard. If East led a low heart, West's queen would be gobbled up by dummy's king and South would be able to finesse against East's jack.

Unfortunately for South, East had been reading books also. He led his jack of hearts. South could have made his overtrick by rising with his ace and finessing against West's queen but South could not see that queen.

He thought awhile, then he thought some more. Finally he let the heart ride around to dummy on the theory that East had led the jack from queen-jack. It was a good theory but a losing one for South's overtrick.

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South

1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Dble
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ Z ♥ A Q 10 6 ♦ K J 9 5 ♣ A Q J 4

What do you do now?

A—Bid four hearts. Your partner may not make this but the chances are that he will. You don't get anywhere sitting around, waiting for sure things.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding one spade West passes. Your partner bids one spade. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

For Thursday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Apply individual touch. Strive for the unique. You aid security through original methods. Give attention to home, family, property. New contacts today could prove profitable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Emphasis on ideas, short journeys, factual information. You are able to get ideas on paper. Especially good for reporting, imparting information. Get across point of view.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Don't evade financial issues. Face facts as they exist. TAURUS individual is able to provide sound insight. Bring forth facts previously obscured.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Moon in your sign strengthens confidence, coincides with cycle of aggressiveness. State your case. Make contacts. Take initiative. Trust hunch. Follow through on beliefs.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Strive for proper understanding of evidence at hand. Tendency exists for confusion. Others introduce trivia. You must evaluate, decide. Take hard look at your own emotions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Pleasant social times indicated. Accent on friends, hopes, desires. Gift or surprise party could highlight day. Good for dining out, attending special event.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Spotlight on career, personal ambitions. You may find it difficult to specify exact desires. Key is to continue search. Avoid being discouraged. Persistent effort pays off.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Study today provides valuable information. Check source material. Emphasize patience, responsibility. Be perceptive. Keep communication lines open. Prime for writing, advertising.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Better for finishing than for beginning a project. Emphasis on investment, money belonging to others. You are asked for opinion, advice. Be frank. Sugar-coating causes damage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Deal with legal questions. Be sure of actions. Know where you stand—and why. New step proves to be correct one. Hanging onto past could be mistake. Act accordingly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Basic services emphasized. Highlight moderation. Show appreciation for aid received from associates, co-workers. One who helps you also requires aid.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Activity indicated in connection with children, hobbies, creative efforts. Stress versatility. Highlight sense of humor. Pleasure results if you avoid being obstinate.

★ ★ ★

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are loyal to family, protective toward loved ones. Musical and artistic talent shown. And currently you are due to successfully complete important project.

Farm Mishap Claims Two

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—A tractor and conveyor hit a 5,000-volt power line near Mount Pleasant, electrocuting a farmer and his 15-year-old son Tuesday.

State Police said Bruce Hubbel, 57, and his son, Michael, had hooked their tractor onto a bale conveyor near a neighbor's barn.

They moved about 50 feet, struck the line, and Hubbel was killed. The boy died trying to help his father.

Woman Injured in Jump From Fire

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A 25-year-old woman was in fair condition in a Kalamazoo hospital today with injuries suffered when she jumped from her smoke-filled apartment.

Firemen said Audrey Davis of Kalamazoo leaped from the third floor of an apartment building to escape smoke from a mattress fire on the building's second floor.

The fire caused $1,000 damage. Firemen said the blaze started from a cigarette.

4 Win Awards

DETROIT (AP)—Four Wayne State University students majoring in journalism have received scholastic awards. John Gagnon and Lawrence Paladino of Detroit will share the David J. Wilkie Scholarship for 1967-68. Arlene Chrzeski of Hamtramck and Sylvia Hutchinson of Detroit have been awarded the Malcolm W. Bingay Memorial Medal, given annually to outstanding journalism graduates.

Beer-Cheese Sauce Tops Egg Dish

It doesn't take much to turn eggs into one of the prettiest dishes you've ever brought forth. And eggs are so versatile, they can be cooked by any method that exists, short of putting them on a stick to barbecue.

They also take beautifully to different seasonings—and that's often the tip-off to turning a plentiful food into a gourmet delight.

Take, for example, the indescribable difference that a cup of beer makes when used in the sauce for this deviled egg and noodle casserole. It seems to upgrade all the bland tastes into a perfectly melded combination with a distinct character of its own.

The alcohol, of course, dissipates in the cooking, leaving only the flavor nuances behind.

Deviled Egg and Noodle Casserole

6 hard cooked eggs
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Mayonnaise
Salt
Tabasco
4½ cups cooked fine noodles
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1 cup milk
1 cup beer
1 cup (4 ounces) grated sharp cheddar cheese

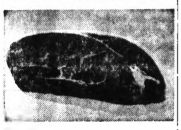

Cut eggs in halves lengthwise. Remove yolks and mash. Stir in mustard and enough mayonnaise to bind mixture. Season to taste with salt and Tabasco.

Refill egg whites with yolk mixture. Place cooked noodles in a greased, shallow casserole. Arrange deviled eggs on top.

Melt butter and stir in flour. Gradually stir in milk and beer. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until sauce bubbles and thickens. Season to taste with salt and Tabasco.

Pour sauce over eggs and noodles; sprinkle cheese over top. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees) for 20 to 25 minutes or until top of casserole is brown. Yield: 6 servings.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef boneless sirloin steak.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. It comes from the section known as sirloin which is right next to the loin on one side and the rump on the other. Sirloin steaks have a wide variety in their muscles as well as in the shapes of bones if it's a bone-in sirloin. The smaller muscle to the right top of this steak, for example, is known as the "cap."

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By broiling or panbroiling. Broiling is used for thick steaks while panbroiling is suggested for the thinner ones. To broil, place steak on broiler rack and insert pan so the top surface of an inch-thick steak is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. A steak two inches thick should be placed 3 to 5 inches from the heat. An inch-thick steak requires 15 to 20 minutes total cooking time for rare and 20 to 25 minutes for medium. A 2 inch steak requires 30 to 35 minutes for rare and 40 to 45 minutes for medium.

Avocado Is New in Western Salad

Western waldorf salad dresses up the traditional apple salad by adding avocados, shredded iceberg lettuce, raisins and cheese and omitting the usual chopped nuts and celery.

Core, rinse and drain 1 head of lettuce. Halve lettuce and shred enough of it to measure 4 cups. Halve and core 1 apple and cut into julienne strips. Halve, seed and skin 1 avocado.

With cut sides down, cube avocado and sprinkle with lemon juice, tossing gently to coast cubes. In salad bowl, combine ½ cup of mayonnaise with 2 tablespoons of lemon juice and salt to taste.

Add lettuce, apple, avocado, 1 cup of coarsely grated cheddar cheese and ¼ cup of dark seedless raisins. Toss gently. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Sweet Sour Sauce Gives a Polynesian Touch

Polynesian style cooking is in! People living on Pacific Islands from Hawaii to New Zealand, like to "cook easy." They roast their favorite meat, pork, over an open fire basting it while it's cooking with a spicy sweet and sour sauce, then eat it with quantities of fruits.

Folks on the U.S.A. mainland like the exotic sweet-sour pork and fruit dishes of the Pacific Islands.

Glazed Smoked Pork Chops, Polynesian Style will be a cook-out favorite when tried. The chops are charcoal broiled and basted with a honey-soy sauce then served with mammoth size chunks of fruits.

Smoked pork chops look like regular ones except they're pretty and pink, about the color of ham. Some markets sell only bone-in chops, others have only boned ones. Both are great for broiling or frying and cook quickly, too.

When cut 1 to 1¼ inches thick the chops charcoal broil in 30 to 35 minutes, if ½ to ¾ inch thick they broil in 20 to 25 minutes.

Try glazed smoked pork chops Polynesian style, or prepare them in scores of ways where the delicate "ham-like" flavor will be enjoyed, you'll like them.

POLYNESIAN STYLE CHOPS

⅓ cup honey
½ cup lime or lemon juice
¼ cup light corn syrup or 2 tablespoons sugar
1½ tablespoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon grated lime or lemon rind, optional
⅛ teaspoon salt
6 thick (1 to 1¼ inch) smoked pork chops*
2 large oranges, peeled and sliced
½ medium sized cantaloupe, peeled and seeds removed, cut into chunks
½ medium sized honeydew melon, peeled and seeds removed, cut into chunks.

Combine first 6 ingredients in saucepan; mix and heat. Thread chops onto double pronged kabob skewers. If double pronged skewers are unavailable broil chops in greased hinged rack or directly on greased grill.

Broil on charcoal or gas grill about 5 inches above low heat until well browned on first side, about 15 minutes. Turn and cook until well done, 12 to 15 minutes. Brush chops with sauce frequently during broiling.

Thread fruit onto double pronged or single kabob skewers. Brush with glaze and warm, but not brown, on grill, 3 to 5 minutes. Yield: 6 portions. For hearty eaters better allow 2 chops per person.

*If smoked pork chops are not available fresh pork loin or rib chops may be substituted.

Lemon, Coconut to Season Pear Pie

Layer four cups sliced fresh winter pears with 1 cup flaked coconut in pastry shell. Drizzle pears with 1 tablespoon lemon juice and sprinkle with mixture of ¼ cup flour and ½ cup brown sugar.

Dot with butter and cover with criss-cross pastry top. Bake at 425 degrees for 45 minutes.

Spicy Shortcakes Are Different

Dessert is to dinner what the epilogue is to a play, and it is a wise hostess who plans the perfect dessert to end a meal.

What better epilogue than Strawberry Shortcake? A tender, flaky shortcake topped with juicy, jewel-toned strawberries and whipped cream is definitely hard to beat — unless it's a better shortcake! Sugar Roll Shortcake is just that.

Of course, it's made with all-purpose biscuit mix. The addition of cream, cinnamon, nutmeg and nuts makes for the most tender, flavorful shortcake you can imagine, and it's a delightful combination with the strawberries and whipped cream.

Sugar Roll Shortcake is an epilogue you will want to repeat again and again.

Sugar Roll Shortcake

2 cups all-purpose biscuit mix
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ cup light cream
2 tablespoons soft butter
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons chopped nuts
½ cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
2 cups halved fresh strawberries, sweetened

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Lightly grease baking sheet. Mix all-purpose biscuit mix, 2 tablespoons sugar and the light cream with fork to soft dough. Beat 20 strokes.

On lightly floured cloth-covered board knead eight to 10 times. Roll into 12x8-inch rectangle. Spread with butter. Mix 2 tablespoons sugar, the cinnamon, nutmeg and nuts; sprinkle over butter.

Beginning at narrow side, roll up as for jelly roll. Pinch edges to seal. Cut roll into 6 slices.

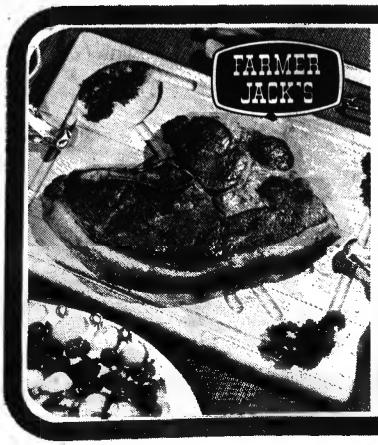

* * *

Place slices cut side down on prepared baking sheet; with sugared fingers flatten each to 1 inch thick. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until nicely browned.

Beat whipping cream and confectioners' sugar until stiff. Top warm rolls with strawberries and whipped cream. 6 servings.

SUGAR ROLL SHORTCAKE — Here's strawberry shortcake that's a bit different. It's biscuit dough, to be sure, but there's sugar and spice to make everything nice. The biscuits are rolled jelly-roll style. Have it often during the fresh berry season.

Win, Still Drop Back

Bengals 'Surge' to Third

CLEVELAND (AP)—Detroit's third-place standing in the American League doesn't faze the pennant hopes of Tigers Manager Mayo Smith. He says "the rough stretch may be behind us."

"Our pitching has been better, and tonight our hitting came around," Smith said after the Tigers trounced Cleveland 6-1 Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

Despite the victory, the Tigers dropped into third-place because Minnesota played a doubleheader and won both games over New York, 8-3 and 7-6.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers, Twins and Boston had been deadlocked for second place, but the Red Sox fell before California 4-3 while league-leading Chicago was beating Baltimore 4-0. The Tigers stayed 3½ games out of first place. Minnesota is three games behind.

"I've pitched much better ball," Earl Wilson said after he held the Indians to two hits in the victory.

The Tigers displayed their own version of Fourth of July fireworks by scoring five runs in the first inning. The big blows were Bill Freehan's two-run homer and Norm Cash's bases-loaded single.

★ ★ ★

"I was staggering in the early part of the game," Wilson said. "That double play saved me."

BASES LOADED

He was talking about the second inning when Indians filled the bases on two walks and an error with one out. Gus Gil grounded into a double play to end the threat.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers now have won five of seven games with Al Kaline sidelined and Willie Horton available only for pinch hitting.

"I won't say they're not missed because they are," Smith said. "Sometimes, though, the others put out a little extra to compensate. That may be what is happening."

Leon Wagner's lead-off home run in the fourth inning was the first hit off Wilson.

Then the 31-year-old right-hander retired 14 batters in order before Chuck Hinton hit a pinch single with two out in the eighth.

★ ★ ★

Detroit filled the bases on two singles and a walk with none out in the first. Cash then rapped Steve Hargan's first pitch for a single, driving in two runs and advancing a runner to third. Jim Northrup's sacrifice fly produced another run before Freehan smashed his 12th homer of the season and scored behind Cash.

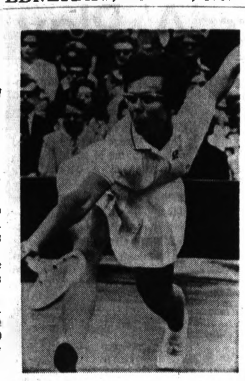

Dick McAuliffe homered for the Tigers with the bases empty in the eighth.

Wilson struck out nine and walked two in winning his ninth game in 16 decisions.

Wagner said he didn't realize that his homer was the first hit off Wilson.

"It was the only fast ball he gave me all night," he said. "Everything else was a breaking pitch."

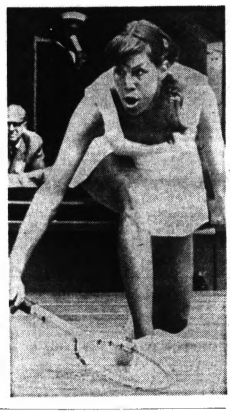

The Tigers, who beat the Indians 2-1 Monday night, will try to sweep the series tonight, with Johnny Podres 2-0 as the starter. He will be opposed by John O'Donoghue 4-1.

TENNIS SEMIFINALISTS — Defending champion Mrs. Billie Jean King (top photo) of Long Beach, Calif., is shown defeating Great Britain's Virginia Wade, 7-5, 6-2, yesterday in the Wimbledon quarter-finals. Rosemary Casals (above) of San Francisco bounced up to oust Australia's Judy Tegart, 7-5, 6-4. The third American to reach the round of four was Kathy Harter (below) of Seal Beach, Calif., who upset Lesley Turner of Australia, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2.

Kathy Harter Blossoms for U.S. at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Kathy Harter, a pig-tailed American girl with a socking forehand drive, goes into the semifinals of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships Thursday and says "I owe it all to Pancho Gonzales."

Miss Harter, 20, defeated sixth-seeded Lesley Turner of Australia 7-5, 1-6, 6-2 Tuesday for the semifinal spot in her second try at Wimbledon. It was the only real upset of the quarter-final matches.

★ ★ ★

"After last year's Wimbledon I decided to stay in Europe to try and improve my game," said the girl from Seal Beach, Calif.

"I based myself in the south of France and got some great coaching from Pancho Gonzales. I owe the improvement in my tennis all to him."

Gonzales, a professional for many years, is considered perhaps the best player the game has ever produced.

Miss Harter had something to build on during her year in Europe. In the 1966 Wimbledon tournament she reached the fourth round before being eliminated by Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., America's No. 2 player. Miss Richey herself went out in the fourth round this year.

FACES CHAMPION

Now Kathy meets Billie Jean Moffitt King of Long Beach, Calif., the reigning champion, in Thursday's semifinals.

Kathy was realistic about her chances against Billie Jean. "I've never taken a set off her in my life," she said.

Mrs. King, of Long Beach, Calif., overcame Britain's Virginia Wade, 7-5, 6-2, and Rosemary Casals, 18, of San Francisco defeated Judy Tegart of Australia 7-5, 6-4.

The American loser was Mary Ann Eisel, of St. Louis, who went out 2-6, 6-4, 5-7 in a tremendous battle with Mrs. Ann Jones, the British No. 1 player.

Wilhelm Bungert, the tennis star with the ice-cold nerves, had a tough semi-finals date on the center court today in his bid to become Germany's first Wimbledon champion.

He faced Roger Taylor, the tough British left-hander—the man he defeated in a Davis Cup clash last year.

Cubs Lose Chance; Mets Top Marichal

By The Associated Press

Brother turned on brother and Juan Marichal was beaten by his cousins, but the Chicago Cubs' family fireworks fizzled when they blew a chance to turn their backs on the rest of their National League relatives.

The Cubs, baseball's Cinderella team of 1967 after finishing last in 1966, needed only one victory Tuesday to stand alone in first place. Instead they lost a day-night doubleheader to Atlanta 8-3 and 4-2.

★ ★ ★

Even when Joe Niekro lost to brother Phil—the first time in major league history brothers started on the mound against each other — in the opener, the Cubs still had a chance as St. Louis dropped its single game to Cincinnati 1-0.

But the second game defeat dropped the Cubs out of a tie for first and left them a half game behind the Cardinals at the Fourth of July milestone, from which 58 per cent of the league leaders on that date have gone on to win the pennant.

Marichael also got his comeuppance as the New York Mets outslugged San Francisco 8-7 and beat the Giant ace for the first time in their history after losing to him 19 times.

Elsewhere in the league, Pittsburgh outlasted Los Angeles 9-7 and Philadelphia swept a pair from Houston 9-0 and 4-3 in 11 innings.

The Cubs managed just four hits off Phil Niekro's knuckleball while his younger brother left after Mack Jones' first of three homers for the day and Rico Carty's first of two had broken a 2-2 tie in the third.

Phil, 27, and rookie Joe, 22, agreed the meeting was rougher on their father, Phil Sr., than it was on them.

"He made his first plane trip to see us pitch," Phil said, "and it was pretty hard on him."

"I never dreamed I'd have two boys in the big leagues," said Phil Sr., who flew in from Lansing, Ohio. "When Joe made it, I knew this would happen sometime. It's too bad it didn't happen a couple of years from now. It would have given Joe more of a chance to get over the shakes.

Carty hit a two-run homer in the nightcap and Jones a solo shot, to complete the disappointing day for the Cubs.

Rookie Gary Nolan, 7-2, slammed the door on the Cardinals with a three-hitter, outdueling Larry Jaster. Deron Johnson drove in the run with one out in the ninth inning as the Reds ended a four-game losing streak.

The Mets hammered Marichal for 14 hits, the last a two-run single by Ron Swoboda in the sixth for an 8-3 lead.

Yankees Obtain Steve Barber

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The New York Yankees, searching for starting pitching help, have taken on Steve Barber and his history of arm trouble.

The Yankees obtained Barber, 28, from the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night for a sum of money they announced was over the $20,000 waiver price and two players to be named later — one a major leaguer and the other from the minors.

"Obviously, we think Barber can help us, or we wouldn't have dealt for him," Yankee Manager Ralph Houk commented. "We know about his history, and we think he's got a lot of pitching left in him."

Takes College Post

Avon Mentor Quits

The college campus has lured another Oakland County high school mentor.

Veteran Avondale coach John Thompson, 41, of Warren has resigned his position with the Auburn Heights school to join the staff of Wisconsin State University at Superior.

Thompson will become head baseball and freshman basketball mentor as well as work in the athletic publicity department when not busy with his duties as an assistant professor of health and physical education at the 3,000 student college.

His 10-year career at Avondale included stints as assistant football, junior varsity basketball and head baseball coaches. On the diamond, his three Yellow Jacket teams compiled a 16-27 record that included three invitations to the annual Pontiac High School Baseball Tournament.

Thompson taught journalism, world, history and physical education at Avondale. He is a graduate of St. Patrick's High School in Wyandotte.

He attended Mississippi College and has an MA degree in physical education from the University of Michigan. He and his wife Mary have three children: Chris, 10; Amy, 5; and John Jr., six months.

At least two other area coaches, Walled Lake's Dave Smith and Royal Oak Kimball's Herb Deromedi, this year have taken collegiate coaching jobs; while Birmingham Groves' Jim Gilster is returning to school for additional studies.

No replacement has been named for Thompson at Avondale.

Billy Casper Readies Defense of His Title at Speedway Course

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Billy Casper, winner of the Canadian Open in a playoff, will defend the championship of the $100,000 Speedway Open Golf Tournament starting Thursday.

Casper is a two-time winner of the Speedway Open, having won the first time in 1962. Other former winners in the event include Bruce Crampton, Dow Finsterwald and Doug Ford, the latter twice champion here.

The field also includes Julius Boros, Frank Beard, Tommy Aaron, Jackie Cupit, Gene Littler and Chi Chi Rodriguez.

The tournament will be preceded by a practice session and a PGA clinic Tuesday and a pro-amateur shoot Wednesday.

Willie Mays Is Added to NL All-Star Team

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Wondrous Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, who failed to earn a starting berth in this year's All-Star game for the first time since 1956, was added to the National League squad along with eight other players today.

★ ★ ★

Mays, who has a lifetime All-Star average of .379, started in 14 games from 1957 through 1966. He finished fourth in this year's balloting for outfielders behind Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente, Atlanta's Hank Aaron and Lou Brock of St. Louis.

Pankey Close to Perfect

No-Hitter Highlights 'A' Play

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's Class A baseball players had a big Fourth of July with season high points set in all three games Tuesday at Jaycee Park.

Booth Homes' Rick Pankey made the biggest impression with a no-hit gem against Oakland University — coming within one batter of perfect game.

Pankey (3-0) allowed only a one-out second-inning walk in a 2-0 victory.

The win kept the home builders a half game behind loop-leading M. G. Collision who needed nine innings to down winless U. A. W. 653, 3-0, as Walt Miller set a season high of 20 strikeouts in pitching a one-hitter.

The third game was the season's longest. Lake Orion's Cardinals nipped Talbott Lumber, 3-2, in 11 innings.

Pankey tripled and doubled at the plate, scoring the only run he needed on Dan Fife's first-inning sacrifice fly.

The slender right-hander posted five strikeouts in retiring the final 17 hitters in order. The league's only other no-hitter this season was an abbreviated five-inning performance by C. I. O.'s Rich Goldsworthy.

Left-hander Miller (3-1) of M. G. whiffed the first five hitters he faced and 13 of the first 17 against U. A. W. He retired 11 straight batters in the latter stages of the game.

Chuck Kirken's two-run double broke the scoreless tie in the ninth. Kirken also had two singles in the game as did teammate Jerry Harkey. Ivan Mattines had the losers' only safety.

Lake Orion (5-7) climbed within a game of sixth place as Rick Eriksen eluded the catcher's tag on a close play at the plate in the last of the eleventh.

Earlier Eriksen drove in the Cardinals' first run and scored the tying marker on Erik Eriksen's seventh-inning single. Jim Hörner, who saved Lake Orion's upset win over Cranbrook Sunday, came back to blank Talbott over the final six innings.

Buckpasser Has Family Success to Maintain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Like father, like son — and a little bit like mother, too.

Buckpasser, following the family tradition, overcame a 133-pound impost and a determined challenge by Ring Twice Tuesday to capture the $109,800 Suburban Handicap at Aqueduct with a blistering stretch drive.

Ogden Phipps' wonder colt, whose dam, Busanda, won the Suburban in 1951, moved toward the feat accomplished by his sire, Tom Fool, who in 1953, captured all three legs of the New York Handicap Triple Crown.

Buckpasser, who gained the first leg on Memorial Day with a victory in the Metropolitan, now needs only to win the Brooklyn Handicap, July 22, to equal Tom Fool's sweep and win his 17th consecutive dirt track race.

New League Opens With Runaway Win

The Pontiac Boys' Club opened its First Federal Savings' baseball program Tuesday with the Phillies shackling the Pirates, 14-3.

Jeff Dalton blasted a home run and held the Pirates to one hit. Catcher Wes Powell homered twice to drive in five runs; Derrick Peoples' three-run homer was the only hit for the losers.

The program's annual field day of individual events featured the pace-setting efforts of Mark White in the junior division and George Langton among the older boys.

Holds 5-Shot Lead

LISBON (UPI) — French golfers, led by Bligitt Varnagot's 75, amassed a 228 point total Tuesday to take a five shot lead over England in the first round of the European Ladies Team Championships at the Penina Golf Course.

West Team Improving Grid Work

ATLANTIC (AP) — "We were a lot better today," West Coach Bob Devaney of Nebraska said after sending his team through a two-hour practice session Tuesday in preparation for Saturday night's Coaches All-America football game.

* * *

Devaney, unhappy after Monday's lackluster drill, said, "We really seemed to know what we were doing. Our defense was pretty well coordinated and our quarterbacks were throwing a lot better, although we're still not completing too many passes."

The East squad had one man leave the field early in the practice when Tennessee's All-America linebacker, Paul Naumoff, pulled a back muscle.

East head Coach Tom Cahill, of Army, did not seem to be too concerned over the injury. Cahill said the injury was minor and that Naumoff should be able to go at full speed in 24 hours.

Over 38,000 persons saw the game last year, the first time it was played in Atlanta's new $18 million stadium. Previously, the game had been played in Buffalo, N. Y.

Yank Bowlers Try to Rally

MALMOE, Sweden (UPI) — The favored United States bowling team will attempt to battle back from a surprising 11th place finish in Tuesday's opening round when it goes into the second round today in the World Bowling Championships.

Switzerland was the first round leader with 2,891 points, followed by Finland and Italy. The Americans piled up a 2,725 point total.

California Sloop Leads

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kiloa II, a 73-foot sloop out of Newport Harbor, Calif. took the early lead Tuesday in the trans-Pacific Ocean yacht race from Los Angeles to Hawaii. Audacious, a 73-foot yawl, was second as the field of 71 craft rounded the west end of Catalina Island.

Tight Hurling Shows Way in Class D

The winners were stingy with the losers yesterday as six city junior baseball games were played in the Class D and E recreation leagues.

* * *

A one-hitter by Bruce Carlson of Waterford and four two-hit mound jobs featured the victories.

Carlson stopped West Bloomfield, 4-0, as the Fire Fighters moved into third place in "D." Randy Hinds hurled Rochester into second place by beating Cranbrook, 4-1, on two hits.

Arnold Drugs tied Cranbrook for fourth by blanking the Fraternal Order of Police, 2-0, on Rich Vine's two-hitter.

In "E" action, Felice Market benefitted from Tom Ashbaugh's two-hit work, topping the Moose, 4-0; and Roger Holland held Rochester to two hits as the Pontiac Hawks won their first game, 8-1.

* * *

Jim Reynolds' triple sparked the House of Barbers to a 5-3 win over the Auburn Heights Boys' Club Sportsmen.

Eastern Runner Wins Long Race

ST. CLAIR SHORES (UPI) — Eastern Michigan University trackster Dick Reamer won the St. Clair Shores Track Club Independence Day 10-mile run with a 55:15 timing.

* * *

Finishing second in the field of 38 was St. Clair Shores runner John Bennett with 55:40.

Old Glory Falls to 5th

SEATTLE (AP) — Old Glory was flying high almost everywhere except at the suburban Longacres race track on the Fourth of July. Hunch bettors made Old Glory the favorite in the Independence Day Handicap, but he finished fifth to the winner, Steel Blade.

Minnesota Moves Into Second Place

Pitcher's Staying Power Helps White Sox Stay Alive in Race

By the Associated Press

Tommy John's staying power has helped the Chicago White Sox cheat the undertaker again.

But Minnesota's rampaging Twins won't let the American League leaders catch their breath.

* * *

John pitched a two-hitter and singled home Chicago's first run in 31 innings Tuesday, leading the White Sox to a 4-0 victory over Baltimore. The slim lefthander's full-route performance was the first for the Sox in their last seven games.

Minnesota's Tony Oliva, meanwhile, drove two more coffin nails into the New York Yankees, stroking the key hits in an 8-3, 7-6 doubleheader sweep that carried the Twins into second place, three games behind Chicago.

The double setback dropped the eighth place Yankees eight games under .500. After last July 4 they were seven under the break-even mark and headed for the cellar.

STREAK CHECKED

Elsewhere, Detroit whipped Cleveland 6-1 behind Earl Wilson's two-hitter, California checked Boston's four-game winning streak 4-3 and Kansas City blanked Washington 4-0 after losing the doubleheader opener 4-3.

John, 7-5, stymied the Orioles except for a leadoff triple by Luis Aparicio in the fourth inning and a sixth inning single by the Baltimore shortstop. He struck out six and did not walk a batter.

"His going the route couldn't come at a more opportune time," said Manager Eddie Stanky. "Our bullpen is exhausted and needs rest, especially with the four-game weekend with Minnesota coming up." The Sox collide with the Twins, who have won seven in a row, at Chicago over the weekend.

* * *

Tommie Agee lashed three singles, drove in two runs and scored one to lead the White Sox' attack against loser Pete Richert.

OLIVA STARS

Oliva, sound again after a series of injuries and ailments, lifted Minnesota past the Yankees in their nightcap with a run-scoring single in the ninth. Earlier in the game he had tripled a run home and singled.

In the opener, he belted a bases-empty homer, drove in another run with a sacrifice fly and also had a single. While extending his hitting streak to five games, Oliva's 5-for-9 day lifted his batting mark to .250.

* * *

Lost in the Twins' sweep were a pair of first-game homers by Mickey Mantle that sent the Yankee slugger past Mel Ott into the fifth spot on the all-time list with 512.

* * *

Tom Satriano's two-run single capped a three-run burst in the second inning as the Angels built a 4-1 lead, then held off the Red Sox. Reliever Minnie Rojas survived a two-run ninth to preserve rookie Rick Clark's fourth straight victory.

* * *

Frank Howard's 20th homer, a three-run wallop in the fifth, powered Washington past the A's in their opener but Jim Nash blanked the Senators on six hits in the nightcap. The split enabled each club to snap a four-game losing streak.

The American consumer is now spending only 18.2 per cent of his dollar for food and drinks, as compared to about 24 per cent at the end of World War II.

Yarborough Wins

Fords Sweep Firecracker 400

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)— Second place is the key to victory at Daytona, says Cale Yarborough, so long as you're not sitting there when the checkered flag drops.

This was Yarborough's strategy Tuesday as he slipped by Ford Teammate Dick Hutcherson to win the Daytona Firecracker 400 by what track officials called "a split fraction of a second."

* * *

Yarborough, in the second major victory of his driving career, led a pack of four factory Fords across the finish line to a sweep of the ninth annual event. His average speed was 143.583 miles per hour.

Hutcherson of Camden, S.C., was second; Darel Dieringer, Charlotte, N.C., was third and David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., was fourth.

Yarborough utilized what race drivers call the "slingshot" effect to bolt past Hutcherson on the last lap of the race, which had resumed after 4½ hour delay due to rain.

"I knew when I got the 10-lap signal I couldn't win by staying out front," said Yarborough, of Charlotte, N.C. "It's this track. You don't win out front so I let Hutch get by — hoping it wasn't Dieringer."

Yarborough hid in Hutcherson's slipstream until he was ready to make his break. Then, like a slingshot, he zipped around and flashed to victory.

Yarborough, 28, who has been stock car driving since the age of 15, called it the most competitive race he had ever won. His other major victory was in the Atlanta 500 this season.

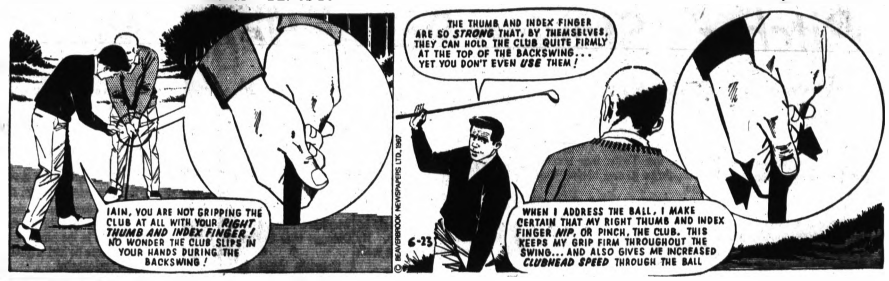

* * *

Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C., grabbed the lead at the start under sunny skies. But he lasted just 19 laps before retiring with a broken torsion bar on his 1967 Dodge.

That was the beginning of trouble for the big names in the race, among them Richard Petty, who had the third best qualifying speed of 178.979.

Home Season Ending for Detroit Cougars

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Cougars stage their last home stand tonight, leaving behind them a few Michigan soccer fans, some bruised officials' feelings and speculation about the future of pro soccer in Michigan.

The Cougars, imported to Detroit from Glentoran of Belfast, Ireland, for the 1967 season, meet the Cleveland Stokers at University of Detroit Stadium. The Cleveland team actually is Stoke City of England. The U.S. teams borrowed foreign squads for this season, planning to recruit their own teams for 1968.

* * *

After tonight's game, the Cougars travel to Toronto to close out their seven-week, 12-game United Soccer Association season.

Controversy has surrounded the Cougars, and most of the other American soccer teams, ever since they first trod American sports turfs.

Teams have engaged in classic rhubarbs and sometimes paid more attention to kicking each other than kicking the ball.

OFFICIALS BLAMED

In many cases, officiating was blamed for fights. Cougars player-coach John Colrain repeatedly has called the officiating terrible. Three weeks ago, Colrain sidelined himself because he said he couldn't trust American officials to call the game properly.

* * *

Each team in the circuit is now recruiting players on a permanent basis starting in 1968.

The Cougars said Tuesday they have signed two more players for the 1968 United Soccer Association season.

* * *

Germany's Gunther Kaminke and England's Brian Snowdon signed contracts for undisclosed terms, Manager Len Julians announced.

Kaminke, 21, is an inside forward. Snowdon is a center half.

Orioles Sign Star's Relative

HARRISVILLE (AP)— Those who remember the feats of the late baseball star Hazen "Ki-Ki" Cuyler may look forward today to another Cuyler baseball great.

* * *

The star's grandson, Harold "Butch" Cuyler, 24, has signed a contract to play with the Baltimore Orioles' farm club at Bluefield, W. Va.

* * *

Young Cuyler recently graduated from Western Michigan University. His grandfather starred as an outfielder with the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Washington's Potomac Boat Club was second and the New York Athletic club placed third.

AL Attendance Up for Holiday

Angels, Bosox Lure Largest Turnout

By the Associated Press

Bolstered by a separate admission day-night doubleheader at Minnesota and a near-capacity turnout at Anaheim, American League attendance for Tuesday's holiday schedule showed a whopping increase over the July 4 figure last year.

* * *

Seven American League games, including the day-night twin bill between the New York Yankees and Twins, drew a total of 135,577 paying fans, compared to 73,916 for seven games last July 4.

* * *

The top crowd of the holiday was 39,673 at Anaheim, where the California Angels edged Boston 4-3. The Yankees and Twins drew 23,571 for their day game and 25,342 under the lights.

NATIONAL TOTALS

Another day-night doubleheader, between the Chicago Cubs and Atlanta Braves at Atlanta, attracted crowds of 16,353 and 28,119, respectively, helping the National League total 119,348 admissions for seven contests.

* * *

Although the NL figure was down from last year's 130,922 total, the major league figure of 254,925 topped the 1966 July 4 total by more than 50,000.

* * *

The smallest attendance in either league was 8,514 at the Detroit-Cleveland game in Ohio, won 6-1 by the Tigers.

Soccer Game Protest Upheld

NEW YORK (AP) — A protest by the Washington Whips of the United Soccer Association of a game played with the Los Angeles Wolves was upheld today by league commissioner Dick Walsh.

* * *

The clubs played to a 1-1 tie in Washington last June 20, but Los Angeles violated the league's substitution rule by sending a third substitute into the game with about 13 minutes remaining. League rules permit only one substitute goalkeeper and two other substitutes during a game.

* * *

Walsh said that if the game has any bearing on the league title race in either division it would be replayed in Washington sometime next week.

MONEY BACK ON CAR INSURANCE
FROM THE EXCHANGE AT AAA

People all over Michigan are talking about MONEY BACK on Exchange car insurance—and leading the way with Triple-A!

Beginning July 1, 1967, a 10% premium refund will be paid to Exchange-insured Auto Club members as their car insurance policies expire.*

This premium refund, which can return $9,000,000 in the next 12 months to more than half-a-million Michigan drivers, will be continued in the future for as long as the Exchange's favorable underwriting conditions will permit.

In addition, a $1,000,000 rate reduction on Uninsured Motorist and many Comprehensive coverages will go into effect on policies issued July 1, 1967 and after.

This projected $10,000,000 saving over a 12-month period is in keeping with the Exchange's traditional policy of providing Auto Club members with the best possible insurance protection and service at the lowest possible cost.

You, too, can lead the way. Join today!

*Premium refund of 10% (current rate) applies only to voluntary policyholders of Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange.

Hunting, Fishing Law Changes Being Made

One of the longest slates of conservation legislation ever put together by Michigan lawmakers is taking shape in the State Legislature.

At least 27 bills, embracing most of the Conservation Department's 1967 legislative program, have been passed by both houses.

* * *

Some have been signed into law, and a number await Governor George Romney's signature. In a few cases, differences between House and Senate versions remain to be resolved.

An attempt to hike the annual parks admission fee was defeated.

As of July 1, the scorecard on major legislative action reads like this:

HOUSE BILL 2005 — Makes several changes in the basic game laws including: 1) In addition to fines and costs, violators must reimburse the state for value of game birds and animals illegally taken, at rates of $200-$300 for elk, $100-$200 for deer and bear, $5-$10 for small game and waterfowl. The money is to go into Game and Fish Protection Fund.

2) Permits use of muzzle-loading rifles to hunt deer in southern Michigan and bans use of .22 caliber rimfire rifles in that part of the state.

3) Allows certain disabled persons to hunt small game from standing vehicles. 4) Bans use of artificial lights to "shine" game unless any weapons are locked in the car trunk or stored in a closed compartment of a station wagon or truck.

5) Makes it illegal for a driver of a vehicle using an artificial light to fail to stop on signal of officer. Awaits Governor's signature.

FISHING LICENSES

HOUSE BILL 2772 — Revamp fishing license fee structure by: 1) Raising the basic resident fishing license from $2 to $3 for anglers under 65. 2) Establishing a separate $2 resident license for trout and salmon fishing, and replacing the present $2 trout stamp.

3) Extending the fishing license requirement to the Great Lakes. 4) Increasing the annual non-resident fishing license from $5 to $6. 5) Establishing a special $3 non-resident license for trout and salmon.

6) Adding new seven-day licenses for all fish priced at $3 for residents and $5 for non-residents.

7) Introducing a one-day, $1 license for both residents and non-residents to fish for trout and salmon in the Great Lakes. Awaits Governor's signature.

HOUSE BILL 2717 — This so-called "omnibus" bill makes several changes in the hunting laws, including: 1) Renewal of Commission authority to allow elk hunting. 2) Deer regulations must be submitted to the Joint Committee on Legislative Rules each year, whether or not Legislature is in session.

3) Deer archery season in southern Michigan extended to December 31, except closed during gun season. 4) Changes deer season opening date (House version sets November 15 opener; Senate prescribes third Saturday in November — in conference).

* * *

5) Permits setting of antlerless deer seasons on basis of traffic hazards. 6) Unlawful to possess live skunks taken in Michigan. 7) Prohibits taking of cub bears (Senate version only), and broadens Conservation Commission's authority to set bear seasons in Upper Peninsula. 8) Clarifies law by making it illegal to kill more than one elk, one deer, or one bear during any calendar year.

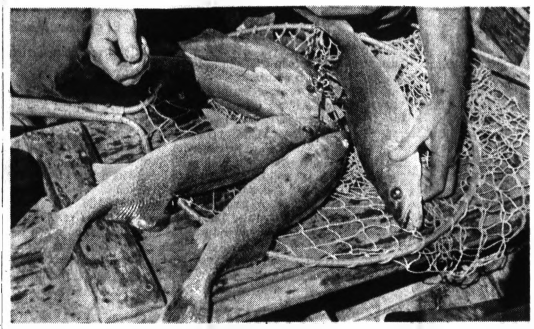

9) Allows raccoon trapping only during muskrat trapping season. 10) Mink may be hunted and trapped only during muskrat season. 11) Permits non-residents to hunt raccoons.

12) Raises fee for duplicate deer license from 50 cents to $1. Passed by both houses, but differences yet to be resolved.

HOUSE BILL 2408 — Makes a number of changes in fishing laws. Among them: 1) Prohibits sale of any fish caught without a commercial license. 2) Opens bass season on Memorial Day instead of June 1. 3) All species of trout would have same size and creel limits. 4) Places size and creel limits on all trout caught in Great Lakes.

5) Allows brook trout to be caught during special extended seasons, along with rainbow and browns. 6) Permits designation of lakes where pike under 20 inches can be legally taken if desirable as a management measure. Passed by both houses, but differences yet to be resolved.

HOUSE BILL 2160 — Allows Michigan residents in military service to obtain free deer and small game licenses while on furlough. Signed into law.

NICE STRING—A netful of fine eating is shown in this picture. These walleyes were caught off Drummond Island in upper Lake Huron. This area has become one of the walleye hot spots in the state over the years. Fish up to eight pounds are being taken.

Chinook Salmon Added to Michigan's Sport Fish

Michigan's recently introduced chinook salmon aren't keeper size yet and probably won't make much angling news for a couple of years, but they have gained official status as this state's newest sport fish.

The newcomers, hoped to produce trophy catches at upwards of 15 pounds in two-three years, joined the state's growing sportfishing lineup last week when the Conservation Commission placed them under hook and line regulations already covering trout and coho salmon.

The commission's action immediately put chinook on the catch list in the Great Lakes. It's extremely unlikely that these fish, planted at three inches in May, have reached the minimum size limit of 12 inches in these big waters where the season on them runs through November 30.

However, judging from how coho grew in the Great Lakes last year, some chinook might well become legal catches before November's end.

The daily possession limit for chinook in the Great Lakes and inland lakes is included under the trout and coho salmon quota: five fish, not exceeding 10 pounds plus one fish.

* * *

Those young chinook will still not be mature enough to make upstream spawning runs this fall. However, for the record, the Commission set the season on them from August 1 through September 10 in all inland waters in specially designated waters already open to action on coho salmon, rainbow and brown trout.

* * *

The minimum chinook size limit for these waters matches the one for trout and coho. In rivers and streams, the existing trout and coho limit of 10 fish or 10 pounds plus one fish was extended to cover chinook.

Black Fly Bite Causes Death of Vacationer

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (UPI) — Canadian authorities Tuesday said the bite of a black fly brought on the heart attack death of a vacationer from Michigan.

* * *

An autopsy showed the fly bite that Arthur W. Fateley, 52, Dearborn, received Saturday caused an infection in the larynx that brought on the fatal heart attack Monday.

Fateley, a Ford Motor Co. employe, complained about the bite minutes before he collapsed in a cabin on Buck Lake, authorities said.

* * *

He had been vacationing in the northern Ontario woods with his wife and two friends only a few days when he was stricken.

Parasites to Blame

Swimmer's Itch Breaking Out

Swimmer's itch, bane of summer bathers, is breaking out again in a number of Lower Michigan waters, particularly in the southwestern part of the state.

Michael Newton, aquatic biologist for the Conservation Department's Water Resources Division, reports his unit recently received 20-30 complaints of swimmers itch, most of which came from the Kalamazoo and Paw Paw areas.

Also reporting this week that the problem is picking up in that part of the state was Louis Gray, the department's law supervisor for the Plainwell District.

* * *

Causing all the discomfort for swimmers are tiny parasites, called "cercariae," which are carried by certain kinds of snails. Snails generally shed these parasites in greatest numbers during hot spells and when they do, the little troublemakers seek waterfowl to plant their eggs.

However, the real "rub" results when the small organisms come into contact with swimmers and burrow into their skin leaving tiny red spots which swell, itch and fester. Unless quick measures are taken, discomfort usually lasts about a week.

Best defense against swimmer's itch is to stay out of waters where it is reported or suspected, advises Newton, a member of the Water Resources Division's three-man team of beach treatment specialists.

* * *

If you're not sure about the threat of swimmer's itch in waters where you've been swimming, take a good shower afterwards and scrub yourself thoroughly, says Newton. If you're already peppered with red spots, apply a drying lotion such as calamine to relieve the itching sensation.

COMPLAINTS FILED

Michigan residents suspecting the swimmer's itch problem in their lakes may file complaints through the Water Resources division to seek help.

The division follows up these complaints by sending its beach treatment specialists to problem lakes where water samples are taken in an effort to find whether there are snails present that are carrying cercariae.

* * *

If these specialists find snails with the itch-causing parasites, they will give lakeland owners technical advice on applying a chemical, usually copper sulphate, which combats swimmer's itch.

* * *

Because of a lack of legal authority, the division itself cannot buy chemicals or treat lakes for swimmer's itch.

Conservation Clubs Elect New Officers

MANISTEE (AP) — Dr. John H. Kitchel of Grand Haven has been elected president of the 65,000 member Michigan Conservation Clubs.

He defeated Dr. Fred Brown of Midland and Lester Newbold of Harrison at the clubs' annual meeting Saturday.

* * *

Larry DeBow of Battle Creek, Louis Michalski of Detroit and Jack Sisson of Escanaba were elected vice presidents. Gordon Hornsby Jr. of Grand Rapids defeated incumbent treasurer Weldon Payne of Detroit.

Salut Ste. Marie was selected as the site for the 1968 convention.

Hit Streaks Shortening?

CHICAGO — (NEA) — Long hitting streaks, many experts feel, may be a thing of the past because of the trend toward multiple pitching change during a game in recent years.

Evidence in support is: The longest streak of consecutive games with a hit during the 1966 season was 28, by Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs.

Santo's skein was the longest since Ken Boyer, then of the Cards, hit 29 in a row in 1959.

Bass Fishing Good on County Waters

Bass fishing continues good on Oakland County waters, but the take of panfish has started to taper off.

During the long, holiday weekend, several good catches of black bass were made at Lakeville, Orion and Valley lakes. The Rappala was a top producer.

* * *

Big bluegills have started moving off the spawning areas to deeper water and the smaller ones have taken over the shallows. Plenty of three 4-5 inchers are being caught.

The angler who knows where—and how—to fish deep with crickets will be successful on the larger bluegills. Woodhull Lake has been yielding some nice perch. So have Union and Maceday.

There have been no challengers to the current leaders in The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby.

Topping the black bass division is a 7-pound, 2-ounce largemouth. An 8-pound walleye leads the pike class. Anglers entering the heaviest fish in each class will receive $50 savings bonds.

The deadline is Sept. 5. All residents of Oakland County are eligible and the fish must be caught in county waters. Entries must be brought to The Press sports department between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday for weighing.

BIG CATCH

David Dodd, 6, of 431 Delcourt Lake Orion, battled a 16-inch bass into submission Sunday afternoon at Bunny Run Lake near his home.

Dave Burtch, 4177 Morgan, landed a 5-pounder the same day while fishing Woodhull.

The caddis hatch on northern trout is just about over. Fair hatches resulted in good catches above Mio on the Au Sable early last week, but the expected "big" night never came.

A few drakes also are appearing on the river.

Camping 'Hot Line' Ready for Action

The Department of Conservation has set up "hot lines" through its Roscommon Field Office and Detroit Information Office to keep recreationists posted on where they have the best chances to find camping space at state parks in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Under this new service, campers may call Roscommon (Area Code 517) 275-5135 at their own expense daily between 9:30 and 10 a.m. and from 4:30 to 5 p.m. to learn which of the region's parks have campsite vacancies.

The same up-to-date information is available Tuesday through Friday by dialing the department's Detroit Information Office: 868-1640.

Boating Week Is Under Way

Governor George Romney has proclaimed this week as National Safe Boating Week in Michigan and is urging users of the state's waterways to "learn and observe boating safety practices and emergency procedures."

With half a million watercraft plying the state's lakes and streams, Gov. Romney stresses: "The more boats in use, the greater the potential hazard . . . we must pay increased attention to the basic principles of boating safety."

Gainers Top Losers

Stock Mart Rallies Vigorously

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied vigorously early Wednesday afternoon as Wall Streeters returned to their desks, many of them after a four-day weekend.

Gainers outnumbered losers by more than 2 to 1 as prices rose on a broad front, blue chips as well as the more volatile glamor issues.

After a couple of weeks of decline, the market began to show some signs of life in Monday's very slow semi-holiday session when volume dipped to the lowest this year, six million shares.

The market's advance was helped by normal seasonal influences, analysts said, including the overwhelming tendency of the market to advance in July and August for the past 66 years — the so-called traditional Summer rally.

The rise was also spurred by improving business news, including the continued rise in auto sales and the May gain in new factory orders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.8 at 325.0 with industrials up 2.8, rails up 1.3 and utilities up .4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6.76 at 866.45.

The Dow industrial still had a long way to go before reaching its May 8 peak of 909.63 when Middle East war fears and rising interest rates accompanied a sharp pullback in stock prices.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Scurry Rainbow Oil and LTV Electronics rose more than a point each. Gains of about a point were made by Vernitron and Technical Measurement. Goldfield was active and up a fraction.

ROMNEY PORTRAIT — Mrs. George Romney and artist Henry C. Shea of Berkley study his portrait of the governor, which, holds the place of honor during the Summer Art Festival which starts tomorrow at the Pontiac Mall. The governor's wife said the portrait expressed all of those qualities she associates and admires in her husband.

At Mall Art Festival

Romney Portrait Is Displayed

A portrait of Gov. Romney will have the place of honor at the Summer Art Festival which starts tomorrow at the Pontiac Mall. The show runs through July 15.

* * *

The painting, by Henry C. Shea of Berkley, was done without sittings. Shea said he followed the governor, on a tour of speaking engagements to observe him in different poses and attitudes. The governor never knew he was being observed for the purpose of the protrait, according to Shea.

The portrait is only one of many by local and metropolitan Detroit area artists which will be on display at the Mall every day from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. The show is produced by Betty Baldwin of Livonia, director of the "Artists Showplace."

Shea said that his painting was inspired by his admiration for the governor.

* * *

He explained: "It became a challenge to paint the governor without his knowledge. I found he was a moving target. I think it is helpful to observe the various personal mannerisms that come to the surface when the subject is not conscious that he is being watched.

Shea has studied and exhibited his paintings throughout Europe. He is presently an art teacher in Detroit.

Pontiac Boy Hurt as Bike Collides With Automobile

A 13-year-old Pontiac boy was injured last night when his bicycle and a car collided on North Telegraph nea Premont in Waterford Township.

* * *

Listed in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital is James A. Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Baldwin of 179 Augusta.

* * *

Township police said John S. Ross, 34, of Warren was the driver of the car. According to a witness, Ross was not at fault.

The accident happened about 10:30 p.m., police said.

Goes to Panama

DETROIT (AP)—Col. Edward C. Bruce, Detroit district engineer of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, will leave for a new assignment in the Panama Canal Zone later this month, the corps has announced.

Holdup Foiled by Attendant

An armed robbery attempt at a Waterford Township service station, MGM Service, 3290 W. Huron early today was thwarted by an attendant's quick action.

The attendant, Joe Meadows of 4381 Baywood, Waterford Township, told police a blond man wearing hornrimmed glasses and clad in a tan jacket flashed a revolver at him and demanded all the money in the cash register shortly before 1 a.m.

* * *

Meadows told police he "ducked" behind the counter and ran out a door with the cash register key as the bandit drew his gun.

He said the intruder walked over to the cash register, looked around for a minute then ran out a door.

Arabs Can't Expect Military Aid---Soviet

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's top leader indicated today that the Arabs still can expect no Soviet military action to aid them against Israel.

* * *

Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev defended Soviet policy in the Middle East after informed sources reported division within the Kremlin high command over how far to go in support of the Arabs.

* * *

Brezhnev told a Kremlin reception for military academy graduates that "looking back, we can say with certainty today that our actions were correct in the crucial days of the Middle East crisis."

The Soviet Union, he continued, "firmly and resolutely supports the Arab states and is rendering them all-round assistance." But he appeared to limit this assistance by saying President Nikolai V. Podgorny's recent talks in Egypt, Syria and Iraq "will undoubtedly facilitate the coordination of joint action in the political struggle in defense of the rights and interests of the U.A.R., Syria and other Arab countries."

REFERENCE TO WEAPONS

By assistance, Brezhnev presumably also referred to the weapons which the Soviets reportedly have shipped to Egypt and Syria since their defeat by Israel. But his defense of the lack of Soviet military action in support of the Arabs during the war indicated that Moscow's aid will continue to be in the form of materiel and in the political sphere.

Brezhnev charged that Israel was guilty of aggression and said "the aggressors are behaving like the worst of bandits."

* * *

"In their atrocities against the Arab population," he said, "they, it seems, want to copy the crimes of the Hitler invaders."

Brezhnev denied that the Middle East conflict was "a result of national strife alone between Israel and the Arab countries." It is, he said, "a struggle between the forces of imperialism and the forces of national independence, democracy and social progress"—represented by the Soviet Union's Arab friends.

TURNS TO VIETNAM

It was Brezhnev's first speech made public since the Middle East war.

* * *

Turning to Vietnam, he said "the United States will have to admit the lack of prospects for its venture in Vietnam and get out of there."

"For several years now," Brezhnev said, the United States has been "conducting a bandit war in Vietnam. But the aggressor is not closer but farther from its aim."

* * *

He told the young officers that the Soviet armed forces are adequately equipped. "Questions of our motherland's defense are given priority in all our work," he said.

There has been competition within the strained Soviet economy between demands of the armed forces and civilian production. Some earlier hints and Brezhnev's remarks seemed to indicate that military production now has the highest priority.

In the past 25 years, the trucking industry's accident rate has dropped from 47.1 per million miles, or 2½ times better than the accident rate of passenger car drivers' accident rate.

9 Nations Open Far East Talks

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Delegates from nine Far Eastern nations today opened the second annual ministerial meeting of the Asian and Pacific Council. It is expected to concentrate on the war in Vietnam and Red China's H-bomb test.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand was elected chairman of the three-day session attended by delegates from Thailand, the Philippines, Malaysia, South Vietnam, Japan, Nationalist China, South Korea, New Zealand and Australia.

* * *

Pravda, the newspaper of the Soviet Communist party, charged that the council is a military and political bloc endangering peace and security in the Pacific. It said six of the member states are involved in the "dirty American war against the Vietnamese people."

In opening speeches, Japan, Thailand and Malaysia stressed that ASPAC should not become solely an anti-Communist alliance.

COUNCIL'S OBJECTIVE

Japanese Foreign Minister Takeo Miki said it must be made clear that the council's over-all objective is to bolster relationships of Far Eastern nations.

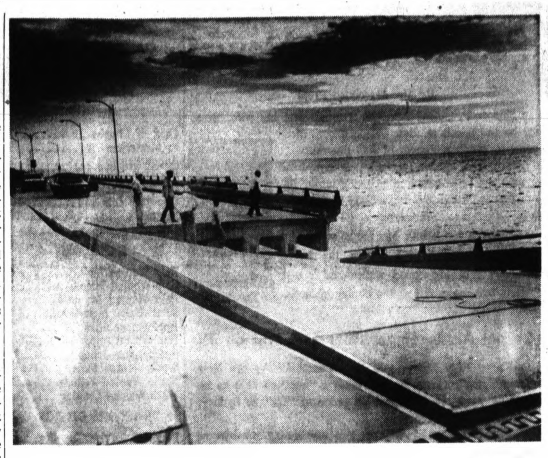

Arson Suspected in Destruction of School's Lumber

State fire authorities were called to check the possibility of arson in a fire at Adelphian Academy in Holly Township early this morning in which four trucks loaded with redwood were destroyed.

* * *

The fire broke out about 2 a.m. and was fought by the township fire department.

The redwood was a shipment to be used in school projects.

BARGING IN — A 56-foot section of the Lake Pontchartrain Causeway droops precariously over the water, following a ramming by a barge early yesterday. Authorities said the causeway—longest span in the world —will be closed at least one week. The causeway is the major link of New Orleans with northern points. No one was injured in the accident.

New Devices to Fight Air Pollution

Wash Jobs for City Air

The time-tested method of cleaning anything soiled by scrubbing it is being applied to the air-pollution problem, according to some exhibits at the 60th annual Air Pollution Control Conference in Cleveland recently. Several of the devices swirl harmful fumes containing chemicals and dusts from industry and automobiles through liquids for a quick wash job.

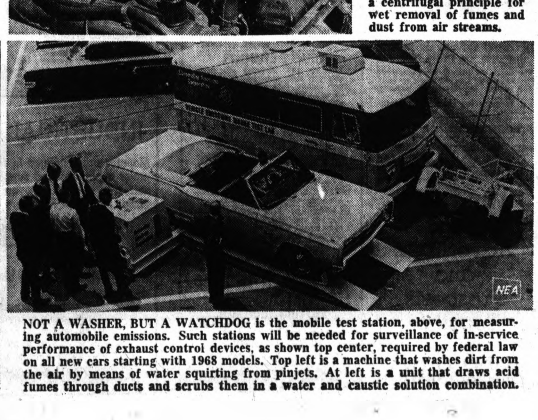

THIS SCRUBBER works on a centrifugal principle for wet removal of fumes and dust from air streams.

NOT A WASHER, BUT A WATCHDOG is the mobile test station, above, for measuring automobile emissions. Such stations will be needed for surveillance of in-service performance of exhaust control devices, as shown top center, required by federal law on all new cars starting with 1968 models. Top left is a machine that washes dirt from the air by means of water squirting from pinjets. At left is a unit that draws acid fumes through ducts and scrubs them in a water and caustic solution combination.

All 53 in Girls' Band Collapse in Wyandotte

WYANDOTTE (AP) — All 53 members of a girls' marching band from neighboring Riverview collapsed at a Fourth of July performance last night in Wyandotte.

Food poisoning, fatigue and hysteria were blamed.

Doctors said most of the girls, aged 12 to 17, suffered from hysteria, brought on by seeing others within their group collapse because of food poisoning. At least eight were treated for exhaustion.

The girls are members of the Praesidium Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of Riverview. Their Wyandotte performance in competition with three other bands at Roosevelt High School was their third in a series of parades that started at 9 a.m.

Hugh Sloan, manager of the Riverview band, said the group was on the field about 9 p.m. when one of the girls fell, followed by several others.

"Then," he said, "they started going down like flies."

A Lincoln Park hospital treated eight for food poisoning and 30 for hysteria. Ailments of eight sent to a Trenton hospital were treated for exhaustion, and another seven sent to a Wyandotte hospital were treated for one of the three ailments.

All were sent home after treatment.

Sloan said the girls had lunch of salad and roast beef and baked beans about 2 p.m. at Seits Junior High School in Riverview and had hot dogs and pop at Roosevelt High shortly after arrival about 8:30 p.m.

Former President Harry S. Truman and his wife, Bess, sat on the porch of their Independence, Mo., home to watch a Fourth of July parade.

After the parade yesterday a crowd of more than 1,500 gathered at the Truman Library to mark the 10th anniversary of its opening.

TRUMAN

Although his health has not allowed him to leave home in recent months, the former president sent his "good wishes and warm regards" to the crowd at the library grounds.

Defiant Aussie Singer Plans LSD Trip on TV

Singer Billy Thorpe will face prosecution by the New South Wales government if he takes a "trip" on LSD as he said he would on his television program "Go" in Sydney, Australia.

"The minister of child welfare and acting minister of health, Arthur D. Bridges, said today, "The government will not hesitate to prosecute to the fullest extent Thorpe or anyone else who breaks the law by taking drugs."

Thorpe said he would defy the threat and take a "trip" within two weeks.

"I don't condone it one minute but it is only right someone should take the test."

Thorpe told a panel on his program he would take LSD under medical supervision and write his experiences for a magazine and describe them on the program.

Bicycles Replace Car for 880 Miles of Trip

"It started out as a kind of brainstorm," says Joyce Lindquist of the bicycle trip she and her children made from Orangeville, Calif., to Beatrice, Neb.

"We drive back to Nebraska every year to see grandma, and it is always a nonstop trip. We wanted to go some way that we could see more of the country and we did," said Mrs. Lindquist.

She and her children, Dennis, 8, Pamela, 9, and Debra, 11, and Linda Lobdell, 11, rode 880 of the 1,400 miles after training for the trip a year.

Linda's mother, Shirley Lobdell, drove a van which carried the group's camping equipment and food.

They said they would stay in Beatrice about two weeks before heading back to California—by car.

Teen Painting Whiz Brushes Way to Victory

John Sharkey is a 14-year-old fence-painting whiz.

The youngster from Bay St. Louis, Miss., brushed his way to the winner's circle yesterday in the national Tom Sawyer Day fence painting contest in Hannibal, Mo. For his speed, neatness and original costume, he received a $100 U.S. Savings Bond and a trophy to be deposited at the Mississippi capitol.

Glenn "Skip" Haywood, 11, of Madison, Wis., placed second and Mark Teachout, 13, Grand Rapids, Mich., was third. The contest is part of a four-day observance in Mark Twain's hometown.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 20 of Act No. 40 of the Public Acts of 1956, as amended, a petition was filed with the County Drain Commissioner of Oakland County, Michigan, petitioning for the following project, to wit:

Location, establishment and construction of an Intra-county drain to be located substantially as follows:

Beginning at the Clinton River at a point approximately 200 feet southwesterly of the intersection of Herndon Avenue and Clinton River Drive, thence northerly approximately 500 feet to the intersection of Voorhees Road and Orchard Lake Avenue, thence northerly along Orchard Lake to Chippewa Road, thence northerly along Chippewa Road to Menominee Road, thence easterly along Menominee Road to Iroquois Road, thence northeasterly along Iroquois Road to Cherokee Road, the point of terminus, all in the City of Pontiac, Oakland County, Michigan.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that the Drainage Board for said project has considered the said petition and has made a tentative determination that said petition is sufficient and that the said project is practical; has given the name "BREWER DRAIN" as the name of said Drain and the name "BREWER DRAINAGE DISTRICT" as the name of the drainage district therefor; and has made a tentative determination that the following public corporations should be assessed for the cost of said project, to wit:

State of Michigan — On account of drainage to state highways.
County of Oakland — On account of drainage to county highways.
City of Pontiac

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that the said Drainage Board will meet on the 27th day of July, 1967, at 10:15 o'clock a.m., Eastern Daylight Time, in the office of the Oakland County Drain Commissioner, 550 South Telegraph Road, in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, for the purpose of hearing any objections to said project, to the petition therefor, and to the matter of assessing the cost thereof to the public corporations above named. At said hearing any public corporation to be assessed or any taxpayer thereof, will be entitled to be heard.

This notice is given by order of the said Drainage Board for the Brewer Drain.

DANIEL W. BARRY,
Chairman of the Drainage Board for the Brewer Drain
Oakland County Drain Commissioner
July 5 and 12, 1967

Fire Kills Artist

DETROIT (AP)—An 80-year-old amateur artist, trapped in his second floor apartment, died Tuesday in a fire that apparently started in a closet where he stored his painting equipment. Oliver McKellson died in the blaze. Police said McKellson's companion, Lester Garrett, 42, leaped from a window to escape the blaze. He was hospitalized in serious condition with severe burns.

Police Pay Hike

LINCOLN PARK (AP) — Lincoln Park policemen are to receive a $500 across-the-board pay boost, raisng a policeman's salary after one year to $8,000 as a result of the city's ratifying a sole bargaining contract with the Lincoln Park Police Officers Association Monday.

Indians Strike

CALCUTTA (AP) — About 180,000 workers at factories all over eastern India's West Bengal State observed a one-day strike Tuesday. The strikers, protesting retrenchments, layoffs and closing of factories, also staged a massive rally in central Calcutta's parade ground.

Dies in Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Perry A. Fellows, former Detroit City engineer and one-time manager of the City Airport, has died in Nairobi, Kenya, where he lived in retirement.

Singer Is Sued Over Forest Fire

OAK VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — The Federal government has filed a $125,000 suit against western singer Johnny Cash, charging he inadvertently started a 500-acre fire in Los Padres National Forest in 1965.

* * *

The suit charges that Cash was driving a camper truck with a defective exhaust when the vehicle backfired and touched off a grass fire in the Sespe area north of the Ventura County community of Fillmore.

The blaze, on June 27, 1965, was controlled by 450 fire fighters aided by aircraft dropping chemicals.

Also named in the suit were Donald G. and Reba Ann Hancock, of Oak View, who owned the camper Cash was driving.

* * *

The suit seeks to recover the costs of fighting the fire and payment for damage to a destroyed watershed.

Boilermaker Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Some 600 Detroit area boilermakers returned to work today after a six-day strike. Local 169, Boilermakers Union, and the building trades firm reached agreement on a new contract Monday, but neither side would disclose details of the contract.

Illinois Prof Sees Growth of Small, Localized Papers

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The metropolitan newspaper of the future may become more a news magazine than a media of record, a University of Illinois professor said.

Prof. Gene Graham, speaking before a faculty forum, said smaller, localized papers were beginning to serve people on an "intimate interest level" better than large city dailies.

* * *

He said the trend in American life away from "giantism" has begun to affect the role of newspapers.

"We have just passed through a trend to giantism, to nationalization of thought and more than a degree of conformism for which the mass media are in a great measure responsible," he said.

Teachers Learn on Ocean Floor

MIAMI (AP) — Dade County oceanography teachers, seeking to broaden their knowledge, are being sent directly to the source of their material — the ocean floor.

Donning masks and snorkels, the teachers are taking special underwater courses in oceanography.

NY Sleuths Investigate Carriage Drivers' Rates

NEW YORK (AP)—City sleuths who dressed like camera-toting tourists say some drivers of horse-drawn carriages charged up to four times the legal rate for a ride around Central Park.

License Commissioner Joel L. Tyler revoked the licenses Tuesday of seven drivers and suspended another driver for 45 days, after receiving the report of his investigators.

* * *

The investigation was touched off last month by the complaints of young couples who said they were overcharged when they went for evening rides in the park after their graduation proms.

The legal fare is $5 for the first half hour and $2 for each subsequent half hour.

'LOUSY TIPPERS'

"Even the five bucks is too much for some of the tourists," one driver commented. "They're lousy tippers anyway. The best riders come late at night—the couples in evening clothes."

Aromatic Traps Will Be Set to Catch Japanese Beetles

LANSING (AP) — Sniff, sniff, sniff . . . like that smell, little beetle?

Come a little closer, right into the yellow plastic cone — you're trapped.

The aroma drawing the Japanese beetle into the cone, then into a can from which he has a hard time escaping, is part of the plot hatched by the U.S. and Michigan departments of agriculture.

Their aim is to control, if not eliminate altogether, the Japanese beetles in the state.

* * *

This week and next, the business of bagging beetles begins in specified areas of Michigan where the unwelcome Japanese insects are most likely to turn up.

Some 20,000 of the aromatic oil-cone-and-can traps are being set. They'll stay out through the end of August or the beginning of September.

A HITCHHIKER

"The Japanese beetle is a hitchhiker," explains John Dreves, assistant chief of the Plant Industry Division of the Michigan Agriculture Department.

"He most often comes into an area on products like tomatoes or in soil or even on automobiles. He's most likely to be found in places where there is a lot of commerce."

Dreves says that, although similar traps have been used since 1932, this beetle-trapping season marks only the second year the agriculture departments have set as many as 20,000.

* * *

"We're the most trapped state around," he says, "because even though we are not in a quarantine area, northern Indiana and eastern Ohio are under quarantine, and we want to guard this site."

FEDERAL INSPECTION

The quarantine calls for treatments or federal inspection, or both, of commodities which may transport the beetle. That includes numerous quantities of plants and the soil they grow in.

Why get rid of the Japanese beetle?

He feeds on more than 200 varieties of useful plants, and Japanese beetle grubbies (larvae) feed underground to damage lawns and other crops. Experts estimate the beetles cause $10 million in crop damage each year in the United States.

* * *

Thus, to help cut down damage, which Dreves says is low in Michigan, traps are set and "beetle collectors" check each cone-and-can contraption once every two or three weeks.

SOIL INSECTICIDE

If there is a beetle in the can, the land within a 150-foot radius of the trap is treated with a soil insecticide to kill all beetle larvae.

"The insecticide lasts from four to five years," Dreves says.

The bettle patrol program is paid for on a matching basis by the agriculture departments. Even insecticide spraying after a beetle is found costs the property owner nothing, Dreves said.

* * *

Traps will go up by the end of next week in: Chikaming Township in Berrien County; the communities of Dowagiac, Cassopolis, Marcellus, Vandalia, Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Bay City, Ypsilanti; Riga Township in Lenawee County; southern townships of Monroe County.

* * *

Also, Detroit and the suburbs of Royal Oak, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Madison Heights, Pleasant Ridge, Clawson, Highland Park and Hamtramck, and the cities of Northville, Plymouth, Romulus, Belleville, Waltz and New Boston also Wayne County.

More Reel Violence Cuts Real Violence, Says Villain

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The Italian westerns are bloodier than the Hollywood westerns . . . and Lee Van Cleef, a westerner from Somerville, N.J., who became a star in the westerns made around Rome, claims that if American westerns had more blood, we'd have less violence on the N.Y. streets and in Central Park.

"In the Italian westerns you see the body roll right up to the camera and you see the bullet hole and you feel sorry for the guy who dies even though he's the heavy . . .

"If you had that in American westerns, you might prevent some of the bloodshed here because the kids would see what violence really is. They don't have violence in the streets in Rome. Why, I'm afraid to walk the streets in New York."

WILSON

Six-foot-two, scowly, evilly mustachioed, sideburned and almost bald, Van Cleef teamed with Clint Eastwood in the boomingly successful new film, "For a Few Dollars More," playing a bounty-hunter . . . all because Italian director Sergio Leone liked his face when he saw it in Hollywood.

"He told my wife that when he saw me, he knew that was the face he wanted.

"Which was a put-down for me. What have I got to do with my face? An actor likes to think he's an actor because of his talent, not because of his face!"

Art Gallery Owner Stages 'Flood-In'

VANCOUVER, B.C. — Douglas Christmas sealed the ground floor of his Vancouver gallery with plastic and flooded it Tuesday with half a foot of cold water.

Color slides and movies were projected on the walls and bounced off the surface of the water while guests who paid $1 each jumped up and down, splashed each other and kicked balloons around.

Christmas claimed the flood-in created "total environment," suggesting Vancouver and its scenic marine surroundings.

Junior Editors Quiz on LICORICE

QUESTION: Where does licorice come from?

* * *

ANSWER: Although licorice can be spelled in the two ways shown in the drawing, many people pronounce the word "lik-o-rish."

It is most familiar to us in the form of the rubbery black candy the children are chewing on in our picture. As this suggests, some go for it, others dislike it heartily.

Licorice is obtained from a plant belonging to the pea family (upper right) which grows in southern Europe, Asia and parts of Louisiana and California.

The long root of this plant is the part from which the sweet-tasting licorice juice may be extracted. The roots are often mashed and boiled over an open fire. The liquid is evaporated into a solid form, often rolled into sticks.

Not all the licorice flavoring goes into candy; it is used to conceal the disagreeable taste of drugs in certain medicines as well as to flavor tobacco and some kinds of soft drinks.

Firm Blends Old and New

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The Research and Design Institute, a nonprofit, independent organization which seeks forward-looking ideas in design to keep pace with a changing world, practices what it preaches in its new offices here.

A blend of old things and new thinking, use of space is based on actual work-flow data. Offices have no walls, and use 19th century furniture and equipment found abandoned in the former Brown & Sharpe plant which is its headquarters.

Orange and lemon trees borrowed from a local park add to the unusual decor.

Shots Easier With Balloons?

SANTA FE (AP) — A shot in the arm might not be so painful if there is a balloon in the other hand, the State Health Department figures.

So it is ordering 50,000 balloons to promote its vaccination program, to be used in conjunction with an immunization coloring book also being prepared.

Dean Appointed

National Road Toll Sets Holiday Mark

By the Associated Press

Traffic accidents during the long holiday weekend have claimed more lives than any previous Independence Day period.

The record toll, however, did not reach the proportions first predicted by the National Safety Council.

At the final hour of the four-day holiday, 678 persons had been reported killed on the nation's streets and highways. The previous record, 576 deaths, was set during a three-day weekend last year.

The safety council originally had predicted a toll of 700 to 800 deaths.

★ ★ ★

Highway police went on extra shifts across the country as hundreds of thousands of traveling Americans jammed the roads.

PRESSURE UPS DEATHS

The added traffic pressure, compared to a normal four-day period, increased the deaths, the council said. An Associated Press survey of a four-day nonholiday period, June 16-20, recorded 630 deaths on the highways.

During this year's Memorial Day holiday, also a 102-hour span, 608 persons died, a record for that holiday.

Howard Pyle, safety council president, said that last year an average of 6.6 persons were killed each hour in traffic accidents. The hourly figure from reports for this July 4 period was 6.54.

The states with the highest counts include Texas, California, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Virginia.

Early in the period six Illinois teenagers died in a head-on collision near Grand Ridge, Ill.

Another head-on crash near Bradford, Pa., early yesterday killed four persons, including a father and two of his sons.

★ ★ ★

Six persons died Monday near Emporia, Va., when their car skidded out of control on Interstate 95. Police said a tire blowout may have caused the accident.

UPWARD SWING

Five persons died near Flagstaff, Ariz., Monday in the collision of a truck and a car on U.S. 66.

This year's Independence Day record continues an upward swing of traffic deaths that have set records for most recent holiday periods.

The record death count for any four-day holiday was set last Thanksgiving when 748 persons were killed.

★ ★ ★

Since the start of the Independence day at 6 p.m. Friday, boating accidents killed 46 persons, and 175 persons drowned.

Reward Raised in Slaying

The Pontiac Press today offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those involved in the slaying of West Bloomfield Township trustee Edward E. DeConick Monday night.

By ED BLUNDEN

West Bloomfield township officials today were raising a reward in the robbery-slaying of Edward E. DeConick, 63, of 5847 W. Maple, a township board trustee.

★ ★ ★

DeConick was brutally slain and his sister, Kathleen DeConick, 73, shot in the head at their home Monday night by four intruders.

Miss DeConick is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today in fair condition. She required surgery on her right eye.

The pair was viciously beaten by the robbers and the fact that Miss DeConick survived and was able to tell of the crime surprised hospital officials, considering the woman's age.

She is under police guard at the hospital.

Police Chief Melvin Will labeled the crime "the most vicious" in his experience. He said information gathered by State Police crime lab technicians at the scene is being tabulated, and other clues are being pursued today.

However, there are no positive suspects, he said.

Officials at the Township Hall, 4460 Orchard Lake, said discussions have been held on raising a reward, both by office-holders and private citizens.

Township officials said anyone wishing to contribute reward money should call the township police.

From Miss DeConick's description, police reconstructed the robbery-slaying:

- About 11 p.m., a woman knocked on the DeConicks' door and said her car was disabled and asked to use the phone.

★ ★ ★

- When the door was opened, three men, brandishing 2 shotguns and pistols, pushed their way in, beat the pair with a shotgun and tied them up.
- They ransacked the house and took with them a cash box and floor safe. Before leaving, they shot the pair, DeConick fatally. Miss DeConick was apparently left for dead.

After the bandits left, she was able to free herself from her bonds and summon help from a nearby farm building housing laborers.

Police said "a large amount" of money and securities were taken, but family members denied the amount was anywhere near $50,000 as had been reported.

★ ★ ★

DeConick served as township justice of the peace from 1947 until he was elected trustee in 1953. He had served on the board of trustees since then.

Detroiter Drowns in Cass Lake Bay

A Detroit man drowned yesterday in the Grundegut Bay area of Cass Lake, Waterford Township, while swimming from a boat.

Larry R. Josey, 21 failed to surface after diving from the boat during a water outing with friends, Oakland County sheriff's deputies were told.

Witnesses said Josey decided to take a swim while the boat was near the center of the bay about 3:50 p.m. When he didn't come up after diving, a friend attempted to save him, but was unable to see in the silty water, deputies said.

Sheriff's department divers, also hampered by poor visibility, recovered Josey's body about 8:20 in some 30 feet of water.

Romney in N.H. for 4-Day Visit, Political Talks

MIRROR LAKE, N.H. (AP)—Michigan Gov. George W. Romney has arrived at the summer estate of a friend for a four-day visit and political talks with New England Republicans.

★ ★ ★

Romney, who arrived last night by plane, made plans for an early morning round of golf with his host, J. Willard Mariott, a Washington, D. C., restaurant operator.

At a stop in Boston en route, the Michigan governor told newsmen he had not decided whether to enter the New Hampshire primary — the nation's first —but that if he did, he did not want Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe as an opponent.

With Volpe at his side as he commented, Romney said, "I've indicated I would rather not have him enter in New Hampshire. That's a decision for Gov. Volpe to make."

51 Members, $67,000

Club to Aid OU Growing

"Our Chancellor's Club at Oakland University is barely a year old," said Chairman L. C. Goad, "but we have 51 members and $67,000."

L. C. GOAD

Members give a thousand dollars a year for 10 years after which they become honorary life members. If the contribution becomes burdensome in the years ahead, the university steps aside with complete understanding. The bulk of the money goes to scholarships.

"All big universities have similar organizations," says Chairman Goad, "and with hundreds of thousands of alumni to draw upon, they are tremendously important.

"At Oakland University we have only a handful of graduates, and they haven't had a chance to win financial success. Hence, we are directly dependent upon residents who have prospered here. Through a definite part of our lusty and rapidly growing institution, they know they are playing a part personally."

Full details can be secured by a letter addressed to Chairman L. C. Goad at Oakland University.

GM Ready to Fight UAW on Guaranteed Income Bid

DETROIT (AP) — Five days before contract talks open, General Motors has served notice that it will fight guaranteed annual income, the pet demand of United Auto Workers chief Walter Reuther.

The giant of the nation's auto-makers produced yesterday a 12-page booklet detailing some income guarantees already given to UAW-represented GM workers.

The action was a public indication of what GM executives have made plain in private, where, with newsmen, they have scoffed at Reuther's "scheme to pay people for not working."

"We can't guarantee anybody's income until somebody can guarantee us a market," one said. "If a guy can draw his pay even if he isn't working, who would work? I wouldn't."

The development gave strength to fears that this year's auto-labor negotiations have as much strike potential as any previous sessions.

LABOR HISTORY

Reuther, claiming his 1.4 million-member UAW will make labor history this year, has warned he will sign no contract unless it contains GI, as the demand has been dubbed.

He contends a worker must know at the start of the year what his base pay will be for the next 12 months-and that the worker must draw this pay even if laid off during that period.

The red-haired labor boss has not revealed his GI plan in detail, but he has called it the major innovation in the UAW's "longest and most ambitious list of demands in history."

★ ★ ★

GM's booklet said workers' income guarantees already were substantial. Then it added:

THERE'S A LIMIT

"We all realize that there is a limit to how much money can and should be paid in wages for time not worked.

"If a person were to be paid nearly as much while unemployed as while working, an important part of the incentive to work would be destroyed.

"It would not be fair to the majority of employes-those who are working-to be paid little more than those who are not working."

★ ★ ★

The UAW had no immediate comment.

While details of the GI plan are lacking, it is known that this demand is one already marked as a "strike issue" by top men at the Big Three auto-makers-GM, Ford and Chrysler.

This means the company leaders would prefer, at least at this stage, to fight a strike rather than yield to the union's demand.

Contract talks on a new three-year contract open Monday. The existing pact expires Sept. 6.

Thursday Forecast Sunny and Warm

Here's good news.

The weatherman predicts sunny and warmer weather tomorrow with the high about 70 to 74. Fair and cool with a low near 60-is tonight's forecast.

For the next five days Pontiac area residents may look forward to sunshine and showers with the total rainfall measuring near one-half inch.

Percentage chances of rain are: Today 10, tonight 5, tomorrow, not more than one eighth.

The low recording prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 53. At 1 p.m. the mercury had moved up to 65.

U.N. Out to Save Face on Mideast

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan called an afternoon meeting to "finalize" the work of the emergency session that began June 17.

But some delegates expressed belief that if the assembly recessed for a few days, they could muster the needed two-thirds majority for a vaguely worded draft expounding general principles and shunting the real issues back to the Security Council.

The 122-nation assembly defeated four resolutions yesterday calling on Israel to withdraw its troops from land occupied in Egypt, Syria and Jordan during the June war.

The assembly overwhelmingly approved a resolution calling on Israel to rescind its annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem and a Swedish proposal appealing for aid for Arab refugees and other victims of the Arab-Israeli war.

Pontiac Breaks Sales Records

Pontiac Motor Division announced today that sales of Pontiacs, Tempests and Firebirds have set an all-time record of high sales for any one quarter. Records were also set for the month of June and the June 21-30 period.

John Z. DeLorean, a Generl Motors vice president and Pontiac's general manager, reported sales of 250,999 cars for the second quarter of 1967 which erases the old record of 231,599 cars sold in the same quarter of 1965.

DeLorean also pointed out that the 81,046 cars sold last month topped the 75,351 units sold in June last year by eight per cent.

Pontiac dealers sold 30,623 new cars during he June 21-30 period this year as compared to 28,506 cars sold last year.

★ ★ ★

"All of these new Pontiac sales records indicate that our dealers are presently selling cars at the rate of a million a year." DeLorean said.

New Latin Canal May Be N-Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. engineers are considering underground nuclear explosions with a force of up to 10-million tons of TNT to blast out a new sea-level canal across Central America, it was learned yesterday.

An Atomic Energy Commission source said that would be 50 times bigger than any underground atomic explosion yet tested by the United States.

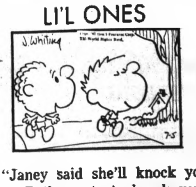

The AEC source said Army engineer specialists, making preliminary studies, believe the largest single excavation explosion might range up to 10-million tons, or 10 megatons.

The smallest might be the equivalent of 200,000 tons of TNT—about the size of the largest below-ground test in Nevada.

★ ★ ★

Attention was focused on the canal question anew last week when it was announced that the United States and Panama concluded agreement on new treaties dealing with the possible building of a new sea-level canal and operation of the present Panama Canal.

106 Marines Killed in 4-Day Battle

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy Communist rocket and artillery fire pounded U.S. Marine outposts and sweeping forces today just below the demilitarized zone where ground fighting or gun duels have raged for four days.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Command said 15 Leathernecks were killed and 51 wounded in eight enemy barrages in the past 24 hours. This brought the unofficial four-day casualty toll to 106 killed, 321 wounded and 6 missing.

★ ★ ★

The Marines have reported 168 North Vietnamese killed but believe the total enemy casualties are far higher.

Each North Vietnamese barrage was answered by the Marine guns, but the Red batteries were evidently well dug in at solidly prepared sites. Associated Press correspondent Steve Stibbens reported from the battle area that the forces of the 90th North Vietnamese Regiment, which had been fighting the Marines since Sunday, had pulled back at least temporarily.

CLUSTER OF BUNKERS

Pushing forward to recover the bodies of Marines killed in the big battle last Sunday, the Marines ran into a rabbit warren of abandoned, battered bunkers.

The fortifications two miles above the sandbagged Marine base at Con Thien indicated the Communists are again pushing down in force from the demilitarized zone from which they were cleared by a Marine invasion in May.

Sweeping forces protected by tanks, two of which were knocked out by gunfire, have now recovered most of the missing from the opening battle Sunday. The official toll now stands at 78 Marines killed, 170 wounded and 6 still missing in that fight, in which the Marines reported at least 148 North Vietnamese killed.

A Marine battalion pushed across 600 yards of the battlefield without opposition. It was honeycombed with tunnels and bunkers.

While the threat along the border zone overshadowed action elsewhere, there were skirmishes and small-scale battles throughout the country Tuesday. Despite this almost all American units took a few minutes off for Fourth of July observances.

Only 11 miles west of Saigon, American soldiers and South Vietnamese rangers hit a guerrilla band with a sudden helicopter assault. In the melee, a recoilless rifle shell exploded beside a descending helicopter and wounded eight U.S. soldiers. In all, 22 Viet Cong were killed, and the assault force had one man killed and 15 wounded.

South Vietnamese forces reported 19 Viet Cong killed in a clash near Tra Vinh, in the Meking Delta south of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

American pilots, after one day of bad weather, found fair skies over much of North Vietnam Tuesday and flew 115 missions, most of them against the rail, highway and waterway network around the heavily defended Haiphong-Hanoi area.

AIRFIELD HIT

Air Force pilots again cratered the MIG airfield at Kep northeast of Hanoi and reported destroying or damaging about 35 boxcars, most of them on the northeast rail line from Hanoi to Red China.

Danger Eases at Dixie Dam

Valves Are Opened to Lessen Pressure

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn. (AP) — A danger still exists at the water-damaged Laurel Hill Dam, but officials of the Tennessee Game and Fish Commission say it is less today.

Two valves were opened Tuesday, increasing to nearly 130 million gallons a day the water output through a sluice tunnel, and thus reducing water pressure which threatens to break the earthen dam.

★ ★ ★

The 24-inch valves, along with another valve which has been partially open since Friday, will lower the water to a safe level within two weeks, les haun, a commission engineer, predicted.

Bob Galloway, manager of the lake which is operated by the Game and Fish Commission, noticed increased seepage at the base of the 840-foot-long dam a week ago. Engineers began working Friday to lower pressure on the structure to prevent its collapse.

★ ★ ★

The lake has been closed to all activities. About 200 residents of three communities below the dam have been alerted to evacuate in event of a break. The lake held about three billion gallons of water.

"The status of the dam is still as it was last Wednesday," Haun said after the valves were opened. "But we feel a little safer as the water level lowers a bit at a time."

Maple Parking Curbed 2 Hours Each Weekday

BIRMINGHAM — Parking along Maple in the central business district will be prohibited on the south side of the street for two hours each weekday for the next six weeks.

The parking ban, approved by the City Commission Monday night, becomes effective Monday between the hours of 4 and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The removal of parking during the rush period is intended to relieve congestion and allow for the easy circulation of traffic during construction of ring road projects.

Police Chief Darryl Bruestle said today that signs warning the motorists of the ban will be placed along Maple between Bates and Hunter immediately.

★ ★ ★

Initially the police department had recommended that parking be removed from both sides of the street between 4 and 6 p.m., but later decided the ban on one side would be sufficient.

HAD OPPOSED

The Birmingham - Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce had opposed the removal of parking on both the north and south sides of the street, contending the results would be disastrous to business.

A report on a 30-day test ban along the major thoroughfare last month was to be presented to the commission next Monday, but Bruestle said that it would be delayed at least a week.

All the information has been gathered, but the city's traffic consultant is out of town and won't have time to evaluate the data, according to Bruestle.

★ ★ ★

In an interim report to the commission, the chamber of commerce said that its own survey showed that all retail and service businesses on Maple experienced an "appreciable loss in dollar volume and store traffic during the trial period."

The chamber asked that if parking had to be removed, it be banned only from the north side between 5 and 6 p.m.

In another action, the commission gave tentative approval to the hiring of the architectural firm of O'Dell Hewlitt and Luckenbach to design a parking structure proposed for the city parking lot on Pierce between Merrill and Brown.

W. Germans Protest 'Kidnaped' Koreans

BONN, Germany (UPD — The West German government stepped into the case of 13 missing South Koreans yesterday and issued a sharp protest to the South Korean ambassador about Seoul secret service agents' activities in Germany.

★ ★ ★

The director of the Foreign Ministry's political section, Hermann Meyer-Lindenberg, summer South Korean Ambassador Gen. Duk Shin-choi to question him about the disappearances.

A ministry spokesman said Meyer-Lindenburg told Gen. Duk "The South Korean Secret service must cease its activities immediately." He also asked the South Korean dipolmat whether there was a connection between the activities of the secret service and the missing South Koreans.

German newspapers reported today that South Korean secret service agents were investigating Koreans in Germany in connection with a Communist North Korean spy ring recently uncovered in Seoul.

★ ★ ★

The disappearances came to light a week ago when the Liberal Students Union at Heidelberg University said a Korean student studying there had been kidnaped by South Korean secret servicemen.

MISSING KOREANS

Over the wekend, the number of missing South Koreans in Germany increased and by yesterday it had reached 13. Among the Koreans who have disappeared were a physicist and his family, a children's doctor, a nurse and seven students.

★ ★ ★

The doctor, Suk Il-lee, was visited by three South Korean Embassy officials shortly before his disappearance June 20. His wife later received a letter saying he had to travel for a while.

★ ★ ★

The nurse, who was not identified, was last seen by her colleagues entering a restaurant in Offenbach with two South Korean Embassy officials. She later wrote to her friends in Germany she returned to Korea of her own free will. But the friends said she left all her clothes and belongings in Germany and had taken no luggage with her.

British Can't Confirm Arab Execution of 6

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Defense Ministry said today it has heard nothing to confirm a report that six British soldiers were executed by Arab nationalists in Aden last week after being tried as "war criminals."

★ ★ ★

The ministry said British troops had been involved in no serious incidents in Aden since 18 Britons were killed and 22 wounded in an Arab police mutiny June 20.

★ ★ ★

Newspapers in Cairo carried front-page stories today reporting the execution of the six soldiers in the Crater district which the nationalists seized last week. British troops retook the area Monday.

★ ★ ★

Egypt's Middle East News Agency said the report was brought to the Yemen town of Ta'izz by travelers who had witnessed the trial of the soldiers. According to the agency, the arrivals said the six Britons had "attempted to infiltrate" Crater.

★ ★ ★

"They were sentenced to death as war criminals and immediately executed," the report said. "The trial was witnessed by many people of the Arab south who packed the court."

MONROE M. OSMUN

School Board Elects Officers

Monroe M. Osmun has been returned as head of the Pontiac Board of Education along with two other incumbent officers.

Reelected as board officers with Osmun were Russell L. Brown, vice president, and Mrs. Elsie Mihalek, secretary. Vernon L. Schiller, schools business manager, remains as the board's treasurer.

Osmun, 65, who is beginning his 22nd year on the board, has been president five previous times. He is a well-known Pontiac clothing merchant.

Both Osmun and Brown were reelected to the school board last month.

Brown, 57, is starting his second four-year term on the board. He is a social studies and mathematics teacher at Bloomfield Hills Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mihalek has been on the board for nine years. Her current term expires in 1970. She served as vice president in 1963 and 1964.

Osmun resides at 2094 Lakewind, West Bloomfield Township; Brown at 483 Lynch and Mrs. Mihalek, 1592 Vinewood.

S. Korean Soldier Killed, 12 Wounded

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean regulars killed a South Korean soldier and wounded 12 others south of the demilitarized zone today, but South Korean police reported killing a North Korean guerrilla and capturing another in a gunfight 150 miles south of Seoul.

★ ★ ★

In Pusan, riot police used tear gas and clubs to repel 2,000 university students demonstrating against irregularities in the June 8 parliamentary elections. Two more national assemblymen resigned because of alleged irregularities in their districts.

In the fifth border incident since President Chung Hee Park's inauguration for a second term Saturday, North Korean regulars threw grenades and fired automatic weapons at close range into a guard post on the central front 1,000 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

The guard post returned the fire. It was not known if any of the Communists were hit.

17 DEATHS

Seven South Koreans and 10 North Koreans were killed and five South Koreans wounded in the other skirmishes Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The gunfight with the guerrillas occurred near Changsong as squads of police and soldiers were pursuing 15 North Koreans who had been reported in the area. They encountered a band of eight, but six escaped. The pursuit continued.

★ ★ ★

Six North Korean guerrillas have been reported captured and 75 killed in the past month, the highest total since the 1953 Korean armistice. Fifteen soldiers and policemen have been reported killed and seven wounded in antiguerrilla actions.

★ ★ ★

Student protests against the parliamentary elections subsided somewhat in Seoul with only three demonstrations of 300, 200 and 30 students occurring. Most universities in Seoul have started summer vacations early. Pusan University adopted the same tactic after the demonstration there today.

★ ★ ★

Both the assemblymen who resigned today, and another who resigned Tuesday were among eight assemblymen that Park had purged from his ruling Democratic Republican party for alleged voting irregularities in their districts.

Spending Cut Instead of Tax Hike Is Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman William Proxmire of the influential Senate-House Economic Committee today called on Congress to reduce federal spending rather than raise income taxes.

"If the government has to allocate more of the national resources to defense purposes, we should cut down on the government's other claims on resources," the Wisconsin Democrat said in a statement.

"Why should the government go on consuming more than ever when it asks the private sector to consume less?"

Proxmire's comment came as the Johnson Administration neared a decision on how much of an increase in personal and corporate income taxes it will ask of Congress, and what date to make the increase begin.

★ ★ ★

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, undersecretary of state, plan to fly to Saigon this week on a mission that is expected to provide an answer to how many U.S. troops will be sent to Vietnam above previously planned and budgeted level.s

$5 BILLION INCREASE

Proxmire estimated sending 100,000 more troops than previously planned to Vietnam would send defense spending about $5 billion above the $22.4 billion currently budgeted for the war during the next 12 months.

Italians Deny Strafing Report

GENOA, Italy (AP) — The owners of the Italian freighter Agostino Bertani said today they had received a radio message from the ship's captain which made no mention of being hit during a U.S. attack on Haiphong last Thursday.

East Germany's official news agency, ADN, reported Friday that U.S. planes strafed four foreign ships, including the Bertaini, in the harbor of North Vietnam's chief port.

Mercenaries Dropped Into Congo Cities

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) — Congolese radio said today foreign mercenaries had been dropped into the cities of Kisangani, formerly called Stanleyville, and Bukavu. It told the nation to stand by for a special address by President Joseph D. Mobutu.

The radio said the situation in the eastern part of the Congo was very tense.

The broadcast did not give any immediate indication whether the parachute drops were tied in with former Premier Moise Tshombe, who is under arrest in Algeria. The Congo is seeking his extradition to face a death penalty here as a traitor and plotter against Mobutu's regime.

"The dark forces of imperialism have set off their Machiavellian plan against the Congo," the broadcast said.

The radio said the situation was quiet in Kinshasa, the capital formerly called Leopoldville.

NANCY MOORE

Woman Sets Fire to Self, Is 'Critical'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young woman drenched herself with gasoline Tuesday and set herself afire, police said.

She was listed in critical condition today in Los Angeles General Hospital with third-degree burns.

★ ★ ★

The woman was tentatively identified from a driver's license and library card as Nancy L. Moore, 24, Twin Falls, Idaho. The library card was from Portland, Ore.

Police quoted attendants at a self-service station northwest of downtown Los Angeles as saying they heard a scream and saw the woman ablaze inside a small cashier's booth on a center island of the service station.

A religious picture was found with the woman inside the small building, officers said.

New Mexico Rebel Gives Up

CANJILON, N.M. (UPI) — Baltazar Martinez, allegedly the most dangerous of the band of rebels who attacked the Tierra Amarilla Courthouse a month ago, surrendered to police without incident at his mother's home late yesterday.

Martinez, 23, was taken into custody after his mother negotiated his surrender with an off-duty Albuquerque policeman on a fishing trip. She said she did not want to see her son harmed.

Martinez, who at one time had dyamite strapped to his chest and was described as "the most dangerous in the bunch" by State Poice Chief Joseph Black, was not armed. He offered no resistance when Albuquerque Detective Fred Gallegos met him in the home of his mother, Mrs. Auerilla Martinez.

Gallegos said Mrs. Martinez had contacted him about the possibility of the surrender, and he discussed the matter with Black.

School Board in Waterford Will Organize

The Waterford Township Board of Education will hold its annual organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

To be elected for one-year terms are a president, a secretary, a treasurer and a chaplain. Officers can be reelected.

Current board president is Robert E. Field. He was elected in January following the resignation of Norman L. Cheal.

Tomorrow night also will mark the first official meeting for new board of education trustee Lewis S. Long, who was elected to a four-year term June 12. Long succeeds Mrs. Dorothy B. Barningham who did not run for reelection.

★ ★ ★

Incumbents Donald W. Porter and Michael G. Patterson also emerged victorious in the June 12 election, Porter gaining a second four-year term and Patterson a three-year seat.

In other business, the board is slated to open bids for the proposed new Crescent Lake Elementary School and for an interior remodeling project at Waterford Township High School.

City to Weigh Extension of 2 Contracts

The extension of two contracts will be considered by the Pontiac City Commission tonight, one with the American Transit Corp., the other with the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

Kenneth Totten, manager of the bus line which operates the Pontiac Transit Corp., has requested the city renew the agreement for another year under the present terms.

The OEO is asking that the city extend the lease on the war on poverty office at 7 W. Lawrence for six more months.

In other business, the commission will receive a report on the $1.8 million bond issue which will finance the Galloway Creek Sewer and pumping station to be built on Opdyke.

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission recently approved the sale of the bonds.

Hearing on Land-Fill Due Tomorrow in Waterford

The decision whether to grant a permit to operate a land-fill off Maceday Lake Road will lie squarely with Waterford Township Planning Commission following a public hearing on the issue at 7:30 tomorrow night in Waterford Township High School.

Advocates and opponents of the proposed land-fill will be given the opportunity to present their cases at the hearing.

The nine-member commission could render a decision directly after the hearing or could defer action.

The issue was referred to the commission for final action after it was determined by township attorneys that the body should handle such matters as specified by the zoning ordinance.

★ ★ ★

The Township Board originally held a public hearing on that issue last Jan. 30, but failed to take action.

When it appeared that the new board would decide the matter at its May 2 meeting, attorneys ruled that the planning commission legally should conduct the public hearing and render a decision.

The Township Board, at that time, voted to go through proper channels to amend the zoning ordinance so that board members would have the final say on permit requests for sanitary land-fill operations.

However, amending an ordinance is time-consuming.

★ ★ ★

And land-fill applicants Donal Freeman and David Ward of the Waterford Processing and Reclaiming Co. requested and were granted a public hearing at the commission's May 23 meeting.

LAND-FILL SITE

The proposed land-fill is located on a 50-acre site near Ward's Gravel Pit. The entrance is about one-half mile north of the Maceday Lake Road-Williams Lake Road intersection.

Meadow Brook in Its Fourth Season

Meadow Brook Music Festival is off to its fourth season, following three that progressively surpassed the preceding one in attendance and appeal.

This summer's Festival offers an eight-week 32-concert program by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra highlighted by a galaxy of guest artists as compared with the first season's four-week 12-concert offering.

The orchestra, under direction of Sixten Ehrling, has from the inception of Meadow Brook thrilled thousands with the brilliance of its renditions.

As icing on the cake of this season's program schedule, the New York Pro Musica, directed by JOHN WHITE, gave special concerts last night and a week ago.

With an audience capacity of 8,000 (2,200 in the HOWARD C. BALDWIN Pavilion and 6,000 on the grassy slope contiguous), attendance at the concerts has climbed steadily. More than 10,000 turned out for last year's opening performance that featured VAN CLIBURN.

★ ★ ★

Significantly, the Festival carries its own financial weight, the cost of the programs (this season's is budgeted at $500,000) being met by ticket sales and support from private sources, without recourse to Oakland University funds or other sources of public money.

The Press again commends the administration of OU, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and those of the citizenry who have joined forces to provide the community with this annual cultural delight.

Rerun Slated for Waterford Landfill Hearing

Waterford Township residents are getting a rare opportunity: Two public hearings for the price of one.

At issue is a request for a license to operate a sanitary landfill near Maceday Lake. There was a marathon public hearing held January 30 before the Waterford Township Board. It was attended by more than 400 people.

Following that hearing, township officials, acting on legal advice, decided that under Waterford's present zoning ordinance, the decision to grant or reject this proposal lies in the hands of the Waterford Township Planning Commission — not the township board.

Thus, a replay of sorts of the January hearing is slated for 7:30 tomorrow night in the Waterford Township High School cafeteria, this time before the township planning commission.

The need for a waste disposal site was heightened when a dump on Cooley Lake Road serving township residents was closed early this year. That immediate need was eased somewhat in April with the approval of a contract whereby township residents can use the City of Pontiac's sanitary landfill on West Kennett Road on a fee basis.

Recently, we praised the fight residents of the Maceday Lake area are putting up to prevent possible future pollution of Maceday and Pontiac Lakes.

We recognize that adequate waste disposal is a problem facing Waterford and many other growing communities.

However, on the face of evidence produced at the first public hearing, there appears to be a strong chance that the location of a sanitary landfill near Maceday Lake could, over a period of years, result in pollution of Maceday Lake and possibly Pontiac Lake.

Should we take such a chance? We think not. Maceday is one of our finest fishing lakes. It is one of two Oakland County lakes which contain lake trout. Bass, rainbow trout and pike fishing are also good in Maceday, not to mention panfish. Should Pontiac Lake become polluted, we would lose one of our first rate fishing and recreational bodies of water.

This is a big chance to take.

In recent years, the county and its residents have taken big steps, at considerable expense, to preserve our lakes and assure adequate water levels. It would seem that approval of a sanitary landfill operation in this location would, in part, be contrary to current local and national efforts to preserve our water resources and maintain adequate lake levels.

Now that the township has obtained the services of the Pontiac landfill, it seems a good opportunity to take some time to search for a solution which will eliminate the risk of water pollution.

Question and Answer

Was the Washington Monument built by private funds or government expense.

CURIOUS

REPLY

It was started in 1848 and slowly built to 156 feet in 1854, when $300,000 had been raised by popular subscription. The work became controversial and contributions ended. It was finished when the Corps of Engineers resumed the work in 1880 at government expense.

David Lawrence Says:

Cuba Steps Up Aid to Guerrillas

WASHINGTON—The United States is confronted with the possibility of a half-dozen or more Vietnam-type conflicts. The Castro government of Cuba, has instigated a series of guerrilla wars designed to harass governments in Central and South America.

LAWRENCE

A comprehensive report, just issued by a subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, declares that Castro has expanded his list of target countries, and is holding on July 28 in Havana a conference of Communist parties in Latin America to plan more subversive and terrorist activities.

The report says, "there are guerrilla movements of significance" in Venezuela, Colombia, Guatemala and Bolivia. Details of these operations now are furnished by the House committee, based on investigation and public hearings.

Are some of the principal countries in the world going to cooperate with the United States in preventing Cuba from carrying out its plots?

★ ★ ★

The House committee makes these findings:

"Cuba is still receiving considerable assistance from our 'friends and allies.'

"The British are trading with Cuba and recently completed a credit guarantee for a large fertilizer plant.

"Other countries have granted credits to Cuba, including Spain, Japan, France, the Benelux countries, Morocco, the United Arab Republic, Italy and Canada. Canadian wheat, purchased by the Soviet Union and shipped to Cuba, amounted to 208 million dollars in 1965."

When a nation is virtually in a state of war with other governments, measures can be taken to "quarantine" the aggressor.

The Organization of American States (OAS) has already condemned Cuba for "aggression and intervention" and recommended suspension of diplomatic relations as well as trade and shipping. Only Mexico has not complied with the 1964 decision to cut off relations.

★ ★ ★

The OAS has also proclaimed the right of its members to engage in individual or collective self-defense.

The Soviet Union is on notice to keep missiles and other aggressive weapons out of Cuba, and the OAS has urged that "member countries take all necessary individual or collective measures . . . to assure this."

Although an agreement was reached in 1962 between President Kennedy and the Khrushchev regime to dismantle the missile bases set up in Cuba, it is not certain how many weapons remain.

The House committee declares that a large supply of arms is present in Cuba as well as about 5,000 Soviet nationals. A "military assistance group" of around 2,000 "helps in maintaining and operating the Soviet equipment turned over to Cuba."

★ ★ ★

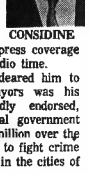

It is clear that Soviet military aid has increased since September 1966. This, the committee says, could be "a Soviet replacement and resupply program for the equipment introduced in 1962." Cuba's air defense capability is being modernized.

Bob Considine Says:

Lindsay Scores at Parley With Demand for Funds

HONOLULU — John Lindsay of New York was the star of the recent annual conference of U.S. mayors held in the host town they all love best. His good looks, flair, the way he wore his leis and the fact that he brought the wife and kids along combined to win him the most press coverage and TV and radio time.

CONSIDINE

But what endeared him to his fellow mayors was his demand, roundly endorsed, that the federal government earmark $400 million over the next two years to fight crime and corruption in the cities of the nation.

Mayor James Clarkson of Southfield, Mich., noted that a poll of the mayors taken six years ago at the convention showed 50 per cent of them strongly opposed to federal aid. "Today, not one voice is raised against it," he observed.

Mayor Lindsay had another popular demand to make in connection with the first. He would have the federal government give the money directly to the cities, not filter it through the governors of the states.

★ ★ ★

"You could put in your eye what state governments know about police science," he said, and it appeared that the assembled hizzoners might carry him around the hall on their shoulders.

The most harried mayor present was the chairman, Cavanagh of Detroit. First off, he was more or less wounded during the benediction which opened the proceedings.

The Rev. Dr. Abraham Akaka swung a soaking wet TI frond over the assembly and a smack of water caught Jerry in the eye.

It supplied additional tears for Jerry's speech, which dealt bluntly with the tragedies of our towns — poverty, insufficient housing to take care of the masses moving into cities from the farmlands, crime, pollution, juvenile delinquency.

He wondered why, in face of this urgent crisis, the government was pursuing a colossally costly war in Vietnam, a space program, and spending millions storing surplus cotton.

Mayor Cavanagh's particular target was the supersonic airliner which will be largely paid for in its development stages by federal funds.

He questioned whether it was worth it because, as he put it, there are only four or five cities in the country whose location of air terminal facilities will be able to handle it.

The mayor would have had more to say but he had to hurry back to Detroit. His police were threatening to strike.

World Suffered a Beating in 21 Days

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — If the world was indeed created in seven days, it is awesome to contemplate how closely man came to destroying it during the 21 days of our vacation.

Ruth Montgomery

While we sunned ourselves beside the sea, scaled dimpled sand dunes, and strolled through pine forests absorbing the mysterious beauty of moss-draped cypress trees, a war was fought and lost in the Holy Land.

Lost, because all wars are lost in civilized society. Doubly lost, because once again greed and hatred had turned the land of David and Jesus and Mohammed into a bath of blood.

In the three weeks while our back was turned to the typewriter, American planes bombed Hanoi, and North Vietnamese slaughtered U.S. paratroopers.

Communist China detonated its first H-bomb as Red Guards clucked their raucous way through the land like a plague of locusts.

Something dangerously akin to a death rattle sounded in the throat of the United Nations, and the leaders of the world's two most powerful nations held a summit conference to foster "The Spirit of Hollybush."

Where so recently Jews had been forbidden to pass through the Mandelbaum Gate to pray at the Wailing Wall, they now possessed both through force of arms.

Israel swore never again to surrender old Jerusalem, but Britain and Russia backed Arab demands that it be returned post-haste to the kingdom of Jordan, and Uncle Sam sat on the fence wheedling, "Come let us reason together."

★ ★ ★

The world prayed for the emergence of a wise Solomon, who by threatening to cut the baby in half might discover the rightful mother. But where is such a leader today? And what should become of Jerusalem?

JOINT CUSTODY?

That city, sacred alike to Moslems, Christians and Jews, had been the most fought-over real estate in the world.

The site of the temple built by King Solomon where once rested the Ark of the Covenant, and where later the boy Jesus astounded the priests with his knowledge, is also holy grounds to Moslems, whose shrine marks the spot where Mohammed is said to have ascended into heaven on a white steed.

Is it too much to hope that all three faiths might one day share joint custody of this sacred spot?

★ ★ ★

Surely, however, there is someway to establish Jerusalem and nearby Bethlehem as open cities administered by an international tribunal of council of world faiths.

CUSTODIANSHIP

We would even dare to suggest that the entire Jordan River Valley from the site of Capernaum on the north shore of the Sea of Galilee to the Dead Sea, embracing the lovely spot where John is said to have baptized Christ, be placed under similar custodianship.

Israel would lose exclusive rights to the Sea of Galilee, and Jordan would give up its land west of the Jordan, it's true. But each state was artificially created such a short time ago and has lived with so much friction that a buffer zone between them could be a blessing.

This may not be the best possible solution, but certainly it is high time for men of good will to solve the age-old problem of the warring Holy Land.

Capitalists

The Richmond News Leader

The social science magazine, Transaction, reports on a study made by Barry M. Richman of UCLA's graduate school of business administration, of capitalists who work behind the bamboo curtain in Red China.

These capitalists number more than 300,000; the Red Chinese regime tolerates their presence because it needs their experience in management

★ ★ ★

All of them have been screened and found free from ties with Chiang Kai-shek. A typical "tame capitalist" described was a Mr. Wu.

Wu fled China to Hong Kong in 1958, but the Chinese Communists two years later induced him to return to manage his textile factory in Shanghai.

He now holds the top administrative position in the factory, although the state assumed joint ownership of the business in 1956.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Richman also says that the capitalists fill a role by providing a graphic example of bourgeois decadence so that the Chinese people can see what they're fighting.

For his services, Wu receives about $152 a month, as well as about $32,000 in annual interest payments on the $6.4 million he has invested in the factory.

He lives a typical bourgeois life: He resides in a large home, drives a Jaguar, and collects antiques. He banks much of his income, because modern China provides few material goods on which he can spend it.

★ ★ ★

Those Chinese confronted by the living example of the rewards of capitalism may be led to question the truth as interpreted by that great truth-teller, Mao.

They may conclude that if a capitalist can make more money than he can spend, and live well, too, perhaps the profit motive might be more than just a paper tiger.

Draft Deferments

The (Portland) Oregonian

The new draft law now in effect retains the principle of student deferments, but in a form significantly different from that of the expiring law.

Under the new provisions, a student enrolled for full-time study in a recognized institution will be entitled to deferment as a matter of law, on his request. The only requirement is that he not flunk out or be kicked out.

Hitherto, there has been no such clear-cut procedure in student deferments. Draft boards have generally granted deferments on request and on condition that the student maintain a certain position in his class.

The latter requirement has been the cause of much dissatisfaction among students and educators.

Some colleges and universities have stopped compiling class-rank lists, and others have protested the lists' use to determine whether a man will be called up or be permitted to finish his course of study.

★ ★ ★

Under the new law, an undergraduate student in good standing may be certain of his deferment until he leaves school or reaches the age of 24. When his deferment ends, he goes to the top of the eligible list.

CHAPTER 21

IT WAS stupefying news, but Edmond Vosiers' tone convinced me he was telling the truth. In that case, how had Paul been removed from the pension unseen? Then I understood how. In the hall closet on the top floor was the ladder to the roof. One could travel over a few rooftops and come down by way of a fire escape into the alley alongside Papa Tissou's butcher shop.

"Monsieur Vosiers," I said grimly, "I think the police are going to arrive here very soon. You and I have only a little time left in which to reach an understanding."

"I fail to comprehend."

"Then listen closely," I said, and in very few words gave him a summary of the day's bloody events.

At the end of the account he looked at me skeptically. "And you mean our little Paul is the only one who can confirm this extraordinary alibi?"

"There's also Madame Cesira. The murderer was the man who delivered Paul to her. She could certainly testify to that."

"Could she?" Vosiers shook his head slowly. "And what if I tell you that the child was driven up to her door all alone in a cab, and in a state of hysteria, too. Believe me, she'd gladly see you guillotined for that."

No matter how I looked at it, I had been driven into a corner where there was only one way out. One desperate move to make that would either win or lose everything for me.

"All right," I said to Vosiers, "we still have to reach our understanding. I suppose you came here from your office to close the house and then join the family at the Chateau Laennac?"

"Yes."

"I'm going with you."

Vosiers stared at me in disbelief. "And make the chateau your refuge? But tomorrow the papers will be full of you!"

"Let me worry about that. Where is the chateau?"

"Near Dijon."

"Then I'll be there in time to talk to Madame de Villemont tonight. I must see her. Once she gives instructions to have Paul brought back here to appear with me before the police —"

"You take too much for granted," Vosiers cut in nastily. "What if no one wants to become involved in your problems?"

"I'm not the only one the papers will be full of. Think how delighted they'll be to discover that the daughter-in-law of the sainted General Sebastien de Villemont, no less, is up to her lovely neck in murder. You're wrong about her, monsieur. She is Hubert Morillon's mistress, not mine, and when I tell the police how she and Morillon arranged the murder of her husband in Algeria—"

"You're mad!" gasped Vosiers.

"Then you'd be wise to humor me, monsieur."

"Look," said Vosiers, "I'll give you money and the run of the house. Then, when you think it's safe to slip away—"

"No, you'll drive me to Chateau Laennac and make sure the police don't get their hands on me. If they do, I'll have Morillon's name and the name of everyone in the family in headlines the next day."

The way I said it must have convinced him that my patience was fast running out.

"I suppose the sooner we leave, the better," he said sourly.

"It is. But I can't travel looking like this. You can keep me company while I clean up."

I had been through Anne's rooms on my first trip upstairs but not in my quarters. Now when I followed Vosiers into my bedroom, making sure he was always within arm's reach, I couldn't at first believe what I saw. Everything I owned had vanished. Books, typewriter, clothing, folders of manuscripts —everything. I pulled out drawers, peered into bathroom cabinets. Nothing was where it had been only a few hours before.

"What are you looking for?" demanded Vosiers.

"All my things. Where are they?"

He shrugged. "I have no idea. I thought you had them removed."

"I didn't. But whoever did left me without a clean shirt and jacket. I'm afraid you'll have to help out with your wardrobe."

Hand on his collar, I steered him to his apartment. There I stripped off my befouled clothing and scrubbed down in the bathroom. One of Vosiers' shirts fitted me well enough, but I couldn't get my shoulders into any of his jackets. I finally settled for a cashmere sweater which made me look as if I were set for an afternoon of tennis.

We went down the stairway of the rotunda, Vosiers leading the way.

It was not to the cellar he led me, but to the gun room. I had never been in it before. Now I saw that it was a small room handsomely paneled in oak, with a variety of rifles and shotguns mounted on the wall and with a glass case in one corner displaying a collection of antique pistols. In the middle of the room was a large workbench with rows of shallow drawers in it. It must have been in one of those drawers, I thought, that Anne had found cartridges for Colonel de Villemont' gun.

But there was nothing out of the ordinary about the room, nothing to give one pause. Then Vosiers slowly and unwillingly rolled the glass case away from its corner, and I saw something very much out of the ordinary. He leaned his weight against the wall there, and a panel of it silently swung outward.

It was a low-ceilinged room but immense in size and as full of working equipment as a fire-fighting machine shop. I recognized the machinery. I had spent too much time in armorers' wagons on the battlefront in Korea not to. This was the apparatus for the repair and maintenance of weapons, and while the size and shape of the metal packing cases on the floor might suggest they were meant to store gardening tools, I knew that they contained something far more deadly than rakes and hoes.

I was indifferent to politics; my reading of the daily paper was perfunctory; I had always tried to steer clear of discussions about governments and the riots and rebellions endlessly stewing against them. But I had lived in Paris through the Algerian crisis, had seen with my own eyes the terroristic tactics of the outlawed OAS—l'Organisation de l'Armee Secrete—as it made its fanatic, bloody last-ditch stand against the official decision to give Algeria its independence. Now as I looked around this room which was so beautifully equipped to assemble plastiques and repair machine guns, I thought of the high-toned family of colons inhabiting the luxurious apartments above it and of their friend Morillon; and all the intrigue I had been blind to since the day I first came to the mansion was illuminated as brilliantly as this room itself.

"Monsieur," I said to Vosiers, "you were right. I have been a fool. But now that I'm so much wiser, what do you, as a member of the OAS, suggest we do about it?"

Davis makes an attempt to reach Anne.

Finns, Sweeds in 2 Towns Shun Border

TORNIO, Finland (UPI) — Traditional Scandinavian cooperation has become downright chummy between this community and neighboring Haparanda just across the Swedish frontier.

The natives of the two towns, which lie at the head of the Gulf of Bothnia 48 miles below the Arctic Circle, have set up what amounts to a thriving free trade area. The usual customs regulations are cheerfully ignored and for practical purposes the border hardly exists at all.

Finnmarks can be spent freely in Haparanda and Swedish crowns in Tornio without the usual bother of visiting a money exchange.

Though the Finnish language is seldom heard outside its native country because of its exceptional difficulty, it is widely spoken among Haparanda's Swedish residents.

* * *

The close cooperation has even produced a bilingual newspaper, Haparandanbladet (in Swedish) or Haaparannanlehti (in Finnish).

RED DEFECTORS

It also has made the two towns the gateway to asylum for occasional Communist defectors — usually sailors who have jumped ship in Helsinki and are seeking refuge in Sweden.

The frontier is marked by a bridge that links one of the Tornio River delta islands on which the town of Tornio is built with the Swedish mainland.

When I crossed it recently with two Finnish friends, we did not have to check out with the Finnish authorities. And Swedish customs waved us through without checking my passport or my friends' identity cards.

In fact, about the only indication I had that we'd entered another country was a traffic island that switched vehicles to the left side of the road. Even that will disappear later this year when Sweden changes to right-hand driving to conform with the rest of Europe.

There are approximately 13,000 persons in this border area, about equally divided between Tornio and Haparanda. And it is clear that close cooperation is paying off on both sides of the frontier.

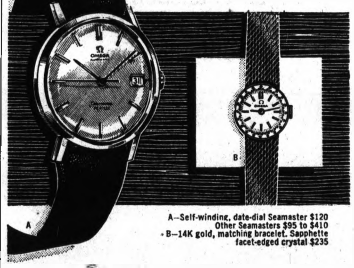

In Haparanda the Domus department store—large and plush enough to be at home in the more cosmopolitan surroundings of Helsinki or Stockholm — owes much of its success to Finnish customers.

Some items are real bargains for Finns. Coffee, for instance, costs about one half as much at Domus as it does half-a-mile away across the border.

Gains Double Losses

Active Stock Mart Advances

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced early Wednesday in active trading.

Several leading issues rebounded from recent selling, continuing a process which they underwent in the semiholiday session of Monday.

With Wall Streeters back from what was a four-day weekend for many, there was a note of vigor in the proceedings as gains outnumbered losses by better than 2 to 1.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average was up about 4 points.

Control Data and Polaroid gained about 3 points and IBM 2 while advances of a point or better were made by Rayette, Texaco, Eastern Air Lines and du Pont.

BOUNCED BACK

International Nickel bounced back a full 3 points after losing 2¼ on Monday.

McDonnell Douglas advanced more than a point, drawing encouragement from a supplementary contract award from the Navy amounting to some $123 million.

Boeing, off about 1½, continued weak on news that it is considering a call for redemption of a $129 million issues of convertible debentures. The stock fell 2¼ to 102 on Monday.

Opening blocks included:

General Development, off ⅛ at 11⅛ on 30,400 shares; Pan American World Airways, unchanged at 30½ on 9,000; General Foods, off ⅛ at 75½ on 8,800; U. S. Steel, off ¼ at 44¼ on 5,500; and Xerox, up 2 at 281½ on 4,500.

Yemen-Egypt Unity Hinted

Vice Premier Meets With Nasser in Cairo

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Talks in Cairo between Yemeni officials and President Gamal Abdel Nasser today strengthened speculation that the republican regime in Yemen is trying to bolster its position by uniting with Egypt.

Egypt's Middle East News Agency said Maj. Gen. Abdullah Gozalian, vice premier and No. 2 man in the republican regime, had delivered to Nasser a message from President Abdullah al Sallal.

* * *

Its contents were not revealed. But Gozalian was quoted as saying he and Nasser had discussed ways to increase cooperation between Egypt and the Red Sea republic's government, which is deadlocked in a civil war with royalist tribes. The tribes have supported Imam Mohammed el Badr since he was overthrown in 1962.

* * *

In an interview recently published here, Sallal said Egypt and Yemen were expected to adopt some form of unity soon. Although Egyptian troops are keeping the Republicans in power in the areas of Yemen that they hold, Cairo has been silent on the unity overtures.

TROOPS WITHDRAWN

In the wake of Egypt's defeat by Israel, however, Nasser is reported to have pulled thousands of his troops out of Yemen.

Observers here consider it unlikely that Nasser would agree to outright union with Yemen, which would be a liability to him. But they think some measures of unity may be agreed to in an attempt to offset the withdrawal of the Egyptian troops.

Arson Is Eyed in Two Fires in South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN (UPI) — Arson was suspected by authorities today in fires that destroyed a pavilion and damaged an apartment house and a resort on the Lake Michigan shore line.

One of the fires gutted the North Shore Pavilion and destroyed 110 stored lounge chairs and mats, causing damage estimated at more than $5,000 early today.

The pavilion, built in 1916 as a ballroom, and its contents were owned by Ben Teitel. He said he had no insurance.

The Lake Crest Towers Resort Apartment Motel, adjacent to the pavilion and also owned by Teitel, was scorched and damaged.

* * *

Two blocks away another fire broke out an hour later. That blaze was also declared suspicious. It damaged Mendleson's Resort where windows were cracked by the heat and smoke damage was incurred.

Attendant Foils Robbery Attempt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Stephen Morgan, a parking lot attendant, aided Los Angeles police to capture a pair wanted for the attempted robbery of a clothing store.

As two men jumped in a car on the lot one yelled: "Here come the cops." Morgan stood in the parking lot entrance and refused to budge until police arrived and arrested the two men.

Federal Regulation to Stir New Debate

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK—Federal regulation of industry is going to provide some of the hottest national controversies for many months to come and could lead even to a new look at the regulatory agencies themselves.

CUNNIFF

The chief subject will probably be cigarettes, but the implications will go much farther and include many industries. That much has been assured by two recent events.

* * *

First, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has proposed that radio and television stations balance cigarette commercials with public service announcements warning of the dangers of smoking.

Second, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has found the health-hazard warning sign on cigarette packages to be ineffective and has recommended to Congress that the message be made to sound more deadly by adding "may cause death from cancer and other diseases."

MERE RIPPLES

These two actions, though important, are merely like ripples that later could become waves. That, at least, is the immediate reaction of some businessmen in advertising, communications and tobacco who have felt the first shock waves.

First, they ask, if radio and television are to state the other side of the cigarette story—the one that features bedridden cancer patients instead of playful young men and women—who is to determine what is a "reasonable" number of announcements?

* * *

At stake in such a decision would be the rights and good health of Americans, the rights of broadcasters, the rights of cigarette manufacturers and the rights of the federal government.

The second decision, by the FTC, indicates that cigarettes do cause death by cancer and other diseases, a finding that the cigarette industry still does not concede as factual.

MORE WARNINGS?

This decision opens the possibility, critics say, that an endless assortment of products, some of which have not yet been invented, may be required to carry warnings that will dampen consumer enthusiasm.

Such problems as these cannot be worked out without fireworks, and so the sparks will fly in testimony and court cases before resolutions are achieved. But understandings and compromises have been achieved in numerous previous cases.

* * *

In previous years, other industries have sat in the regulatory spotlight, among them railroads before the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC), the stock market before the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), utilities under the Federal Power Commission (FPC) and corporate mergers probed by the Justice Department.

* * *

Americans cannot ignore the fact that these agencies were set up for the very purpose of keeping business practices within certain limits and that, legally and morally, they have an obligation to act in the public good.

FAILURE OF INDUSTRY

Many of their activities, in fact, follow what is deemed to be a failure of industry's self-regulation.

* * *

The stock market, for example, is supposedly a self-policing activity. But when it fails to act or cannot act to police its own activities, then the SEC enters the picture.

In the present hassle over cigarettes, the FTC indicated that the cigarette industry's own self-regulation had failed to deemphasize its dead aim on the youth market, a finding the industry may very well contest.

* * *

Inconsistencies and inequities are bound to occur if only because of the great range of regulatory activities. And because of this, there is some latent pressure for a reform of these agencies.

Young GOP Leader Says Nixon Is Okay

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is "just as acceptable" to young Republicans as is California Gov. Ronald Reagan, the newly elected president of the National Young Republican Federation said Tuesday.

Jack McDonald of Nashville told a Republican picnic here that Reagan, who was cheered when he spoke to the recent YRF convention in Omaha, does not have the backing of the federation that Barry Goldwater had four years ago.

* * *

"There is no total commitment to Reagan as there was to Goldwater," the 33-year-old financial consultant said. "To say that Reagan now has the same appeal as Goldwater is simply not true."

In rating the "acceptability" of Republicans mentioned as possible candidates for president in 1968, McDonald labeled Reagan more "acceptable" than Michigan Gov. George Romney, but said nomination of Romney "would present no problems to the Young Federation."

McDonald, regarded as a conservative, was elected by a wide margin at the Omaha convention.

* * *

He was committed to former Sen. Goldwater at the time he was elected a delegate to the 1964 convention which nominated Goldwater.

McDonald declined to state his choice for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, commenting: "It will make my job a lot easier if I don't disclose my personal choice."

News in Brief

Doris L. Harmon of 78 Pingree told Pontiac police someone entered her unlocked garage yesterday stole a power mower valued at some $100.

Donald Schroeder of 2314 Montroyal, Waterford Township, reported to township police yesterday the larceny of a stereo tape machine and six tapes, total value of $80, from his car parked in his driveway.

News Lockout Is Ruled Legal

NLRB Cites Court, Reverses Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board, citing the effect of a Supreme Court decision, reversed itself Tuesday and ruled that a 1962 lockout of employees by The Detroit News did not violate the Labor Relations Act.

The NLRB said the court decision wiped out any difference between an offensive and a defensive lockout.

* * *

The board, in 1964, had found the News guilty of unfair labor practices in locking out some of its employes when threatened by a strike of the Teamsters Union.

The board said the News had made an agreement with Detroit's other major newspaper, The ROMNEY PORTRAIT — Mrs. George Romney and artist Henry C. Shea of Berkley study his portrait of the governor, which holds the place of honor during the Summer Art Festival which starts tomorrow at the Pontiac Mall. The governor's wife said the portrait expressed all of those qualities she associates and admires in her husband.

At Mall Art Festival

Romney Portrait Is Displayed

A portrait of Gov. Romney will have the place of honor at the Summer Art Festival which starts tomorrow at the Pontiac Mall. The show runs through July 15.

* * *

The painting, by Henry C. Shea of Berkley, was done without sittings. Shea said he followed the governor, on a tour of speaking engagements to observe him in different poses and attitudes. The governor never knew he was being observed for the purpose of the protrait, according to Shea.

The portrait is only one of many by local and metropolitan Detroit area artists which will be on display at the Mall every day from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. The show is produced by Betty Baldwin of Livonia, director of the "Artists Showplace."

Shea said that his painting was inspired by his admiration for the governor.

* * *

He explained: "It became a challenge to paint the governor without his knowledge. I found he was a moving target. I think it is helpful to observe the various personal mannerisms that come to the surface when the subject is not conscious that he is being watched.

Shea has studied and exhibited his paintings throughout Europe. He is presently an art teacher in Detroit.

Pontiac Boy Hurt as Bike Collides With Automobile

A 13-year-old Pontiac boy was injured last night when his bicycle and a car collided on North Telegraph nea Premont in Waterford Township.

* * *

Listed in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital is James A. Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Baldwin of 179 Augusta.

* * *

Township police said John S. Ross, 34, of Warren was the driver of the car. According to a witness, Ross was not at fault.

The accident happened about 10:30 p.m., police said.

Goes to Panama

DETROIT (AP)—Col. Edward C. Bruce, Detroit district engineer of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, will leave for a new assignment in the Panama Canal Zone later this month, the corps has announced.

Holdup Foiled by Attendant

An armed robbery attempt at a Waterford Township service station, MGM Service, 3290 W. Huron early today was thwarted by an attendant's quick action.

The attendant, Joe Meadows of 4381 Baywood, Waterford Township, told police a blond man wearing hornrimmed glasses and clad in a tan jacket flashed a revolver at him and demanded all the money in the cash register shortly before 1 a.m.

* * *

Meadows told police he "ducked" behind the counter and ran out a door with the cash register key as the bandit drew his gun.

He said the intruder walked over to the cash register, looked around for a minute then ran out a door.

Arabs Can't Expect Military Aid---Soviet

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's top leader indicated today that the Arabs still can expect no Soviet military action to aid them against Israel.

* * *

Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev defended Soviet policy in the Middle East after informed sources reported division within the Kremlin high command over how far to go in support of the Arabs.

* * *

Brezhnev told a Kremlin reception for military academy graduates that "looking back, we can say with certainty today that our actions were correct in the crucial days of the Middle East crisis."

The Soviet Union, he continued, "firmly and resolutely supports the Arab states and is rendering them all-round assistance." But he appeared to limit this assistance by saying President Nikolai V. Podgorny's recent talks in Egypt, Syria and Iraq "will undoubtedly facilitate the coordination of joint action in the political struggle in defense of the rights and interests of the U.A.R., Syria and other Arab countries."

REFERENCE TO WEAPONS

By assistance, Brezhnev presumably also referred to the weapons which the Soviets reportedly have shipped to Egypt and Syria since their defeat by Israel. But his defense of the lack of Soviet military action in support of the Arabs during the war indicated that Moscow's aid will continue to be in the form of materiel and in the political sphere.

Brezhnev charged that Israel was guilty of aggression and said "the aggressors are behaving like the worst of bandits."

* * *

"In their atrocities against the Arab population," he said, "they, it seems, want to copy the crimes of the Hitler invaders."

Brezhnev denied that the Middle East conflict was "a result of national strife alone between Israel and the Arab countries." It is, he said, "a struggle between the forces of imperialism and the forces of national independence, democracy and social progress"—represented by the Soviet Union's Arab friends.

TURNS TO VIETNAM

It was Brezhnev's first speech made public since the Middle East war.

* * *

Turning to Vietnam, he said the United States will have to admit the lack of prospects for its venture in Vietnam and get out of there.

"For several years now," Brezhnev said, the United States has been "conducting a bandit war in Vietnam. But the aggressor is not closer but farther from its aim."

* * *

He told the young officers that the Soviet armed forces are adequately equipped. "Questions of our motherland's defense are given priority in all our work," he said.

There has been competition within the strained Soviet economy between demands of the armed forces and civilian production. Some earlier hint and Brezhnev's remark seemed to indicate that military production now has the highest priority.

In the past 25 years, the trucking industry's accident rate has dropped from 47.1 per million miles, or 2½ times better than the accident rate of passenger car drivers' accident rate.

9 Nations Open Far East Talks

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Delegates from nine Far Eastern nations today opened the second annual ministerial meeting of the Asian and Pacific Council. It is expected to concentrate on the war in Vietnam and Red China's H-bomb test.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand was elected chairman of the three-day session attended by delegates from Thailand, the Philippines, Malaysia, South Vietnam, Japan, Nationalist China, South Korea, New Zealand and Australia.

* * *

Pravda, the newspaper of the Soviet Communist party, charged that the council is a military and political bloc endangering peace and security in the Pacific. It said six of the member states are involved in the "dirty American war against the Vietnamese people."

In opening speeches, Japan, Thailand and Malaysia stressed that ASPAC should not become solely an anti-Communist alliance.

COUNCIL'S OBJECTIVE

Japanese Foreign Minister Takeo Miki said it must be made clear that the council's over-all objective is to bolster relationships of Far Eastern nations.

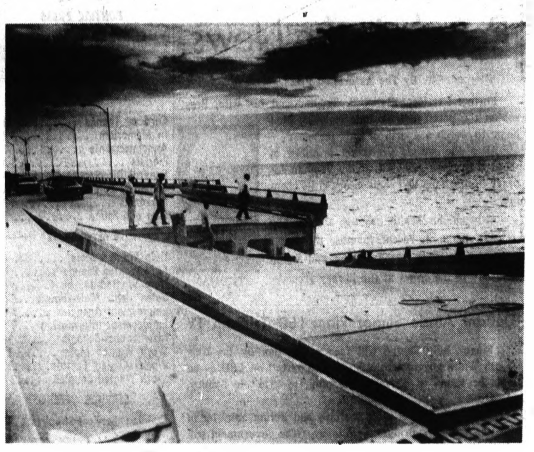

Arson Suspected in Destruction of School's Lumber

State fire authorities were called to check the possibility of arson in a fire at Adelphian Academy in Holly Township early this morning in which four trucks loaded with redwood were destroyed.

* * *

The fire broke out about 2 a.m. and was fought by the township fire department.

The redwood was a shipment to be used in school projects.

BARGING IN — A 56-foot section of the Lake Pontchartrain Causeway droops precariously over the water, following a ramming by a barge early yesterday. Authorities said the causeway—longest span in the world—will be closed at least one week. The causeway is the major link of New Orleans with northern points. No one was injured in the accident.

New Devices to Fight Air Pollution

Wash Jobs for City Air

The time-tested method of cleaning anything soiled by scrubbing it is being applied to the air-pollution problem, according to some exhibits at the 60th annual Air Pollution Control Conference in Cleveland recently. Several of the devices swirl harmful fumes containing chemicals and dusts from industry and automobiles through liquids for a quick wash job.

THIS SCRUBBER works on a centrifugal principle for wet removal of fumes and dust from air streams.

NOT A WASHER, BUT A WATCHDOG is the mobile test station, above, for measuring automobile emissions. Such stations will be needed for surveillance of in-service performance of exhaust control devices, as shown top center, required by federal law on all new cars starting with 1968 models. Top left is a machine that washes dirt from the air by means of water squirting from pinjets. At left is a unit that draws acid fumes through ducts and scrubs them in a water and caustic solution combination.

All 53 in Girls' Band Collapse in Wyandotte

WYANDOTTE (AP) — All 53 members of a girls' marching band from neighboring Riverview collapsed at a Fourth of July performance last night in Wyandotte.

Food poisoning, fatigue and hysteria were blamed.

Doctors said most of the girls, aged 12 to 17, suffered from hysteria, brought on by seeing others within their group collapse because of food poisoning. At least eight were treated for exhaustion.

The girls are members of the Praesidium Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of Riverview. Their Wyandotte performance in competition with three other bands at Roosevelt High School was their third in a series of parades that started at 9 a.m.

Hugh Sloan, manager of the Riverview band, said the group was on the field about 9 p.m. when one of the girls fell, followed by several others.

"Then," he said, "they started going down like flies."

A Lincoln Park hospital treated eight for food poisoning and 30 for hysteria. Ailments of eight sent to a Trenton hospital were treated for exhaustion, and another seven sent to a Wyandotte hospital were treated for one of the three ailments.

All were sent home after treatment.

Sloan said the girls had lunch of salad and roast beef and baked beans about 2 p.m. at Seits Junior High School in Riverview and had hot dogs and pop at Roosevelt High shortly after arrival about 8:30 p.m.

Junior Editors Quiz on— LICORICE

QUESTION: Where does licorice come from?

* * *

ANSWER: Although licorice can be spelled in the two ways shown in the drawing, many people pronounce the word "lik-o-rish."

It is most familiar to us in the form of the rubbery black candy the children are chewing on in our picture. As this suggests, some go for it, others dislike it heartily.

Licorice is obtained from a plant belonging to the pea family (upper right) which grows in southern Europe, Asia and parts of Louisiana and California.

The long root of this plant is the part from which the sweet-tasting licorice juice may be extracted. The roots are often mashed and boiled over an open fire. The liquid is evaporated into a solid form, often rolled into sticks.

Not all the licorice flavoring goes into candy; it is used to conceal the disagreeable taste of drugs in certain medicines as well as to flavor tobacco and some kinds of soft drinks.

Curator Tells True Treasures

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The Research and Design Institute, a nonprofit, independent organization which seeks forward-looking ideas in design to keep pace with a changing world, practices what it preaches in its new offices here.

A blend of old things and new thinking, use of space is based on actual work-flow data. Offices have no walls, and use 19th century furniture and equipment found abandoned in the former Brown & Sharpe plant which is its headquarters.

Orange and lemon trees borrowed from a local park add to the unusual decor.

Shots Easier With Balloons?

SANTA FE (AP) — A shot in the arm might not be so painful if there is a balloon in the other hand, the State Health Department figures.

So it is ordering 50,000 balloons to promote its vaccination program, to be used in conjunction with an immunization coloring book also being prepared.

Dean Appointed

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Henry Dzuiba, 49, has been appointed dean of the University of Detroit School of Dentistry, replacing Dr. Marvin E. Revsin, who is leaving to direct a project at the University of Saigon in Vietnam.
