Teamster Exec on Probation in Embezzlement

Pontiac Local Official Fined $1,500 in Case Involving Record Fraud

Floyd B. Harmon, 49, secretary-treasurer of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614, today was fined $1,500 and placed on probation on 24 counts of embezzlement and falsifying union records.

Federal Judge Talbot Smith imposed the fine and put Harmon on two years probation on the first count and two years probation on the remaining 23 counts.

The probationary periods will run concurrently.

Chief Assistant U.S. Attorney William Merrill said the sentence meant that Harmon wouldn't be able to hold a union office again under the Landrum-Griffin Labor Act.

Harmon of 2990 Barnes, Waterford Township, was convicted on 12 counts of embezzlement and 12 counts of falsifying union records in Detroit Federal Court May 8.

His attorney, George Woods, former U.S. attorney, said after hearing the sentence that he didn't know whether an appeal would be filed.

Merrill said Woods had 10 days in which to file an appeal with the 6th District Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Harmon had faced a possible maximum sentence of 77 years in jail and a fine of $240,000.

The teamster official had been charged with embezzling $2,085 from the union treasury by using gasoline credit cards to purchase supplies for his private, 32-foot cabin cruiser.

Smith, in passing sentence, said "union funds are not at the personal disposal of union officials no matter who they are."

Harmon had been free under a $10,000 bond.

Each of the 24 counts carried a maximum fine of $10,000. The embezzlement counts each carried a maximum jail sentence of five years and the falsification counts, one year each.

Hoover Urges Fairness in Dealing With Protests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has called on the nation's police officers to deal impartially and fairly with civil rights demonstrations.

Hoover, writing in the August issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, said, "There is no place in law enforcement for those who violate civil rights or those who condone such tactics."

Bipartisan Unit Going to Moscow

Rusk to See N-Treaty Signing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and a bipartisan delegation including five senators will leave Friday for Moscow to attend the formal signing of the nuclear test ban treaty.

The White House announced the plan today and named the senatorial delegates as Democrats J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and John O. Pastore of Rhode Island; and Republicans Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and George D. Aiken of Vermont.

The list omitted Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader from Illinois and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Both indicated they did not want to attend the Moscow signing and have left it open as to how they might vote on the atomic test ban treaty when it comes before the Senate for ratification.

A White House source told newsmen that neither Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, nor Dirksen had been invited because of a feeling that their presence was needed here in view of the Senate work load.

It appeared plain from other administration informants that Republican representation fell somewhat short of the level the administration had hoped for.

Kennedy would like to have Senate ratification soon and by as wide a margin as possible. A two-thirds Senate majority is needed.

The formal ceremony for signing the treaty, initialed last Thursday in Moscow by U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman, is expected to take place Monday. A definite date has not yet been set.

Secretary-General U Thant said at United Nations headquarters that he would be on hand in Moscow on Monday for the event.

Others in the 11-man U.S. delegation will include:

U.S. disarmament chief William C. Foster, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Glenn Seaborg, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, East-West affairs adviser Llewellyn Thompson and Arthur Dean, former U.S. disarmament negotiator who is now in private law practice in New York.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said it is not yet known just how long the delegates will remain at Moscow.

Rusk is expected to stay on for a few days of discussions with the Soviets on various items that could be the subject of further East-West agreement.

Driver Charged by County in Fatal Auto Accident

Eugene G. DiVita, 29, of Detroit, has been charged with negligent homicide in connection with the Monday afternoon automobile accident in which Raymann F. Zehnder Jr., 21, was killed.

Barry M. Grant, Oakland County assistant prosecutor, authorized a warrant against DiVita late yesterday afternoon.

Grant's decision followed interviews with DiVita and three witnesses to the accident which happened on Long Lake Road in Bloomfield Township.

Zehnder, of 6041 Golfview, Bloomfield Township, and Betti Meggs, 22, of 32 Murphy, were on a last-minute errand before their wedding at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Birmingham.

Miss Meggs, who was listed in good condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning, is being treated for facial cuts.

Bloomfield Township police said she told them her fiance swerved to avoid DiVita's car, which was blocking the eastbound lane of Long Lake Road.

Zehnder's car skidded 70 feet and traveled another 162 feet before crashing into two trees, police said.

DiVita said he had pulled onto the shoulder of the road near a private driveway to make a U-turn but was still on the shoulder when Zehnder's car came over a rise in the road, according to police.

Witnesses have supported Miss Meggs' version, according to the assistant prosecutor.

Service for Zehnder will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at Vasu-Lynch Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Burial will be in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

★ ★ ★

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Zehnder; a brother, Gary, and a sister, Kristin, both at home; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zehnder of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dorning of Detroit.

Russ Air Zone Will Be Ruled by E. Germany

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German Parliament assembled today to give the government "unrestricted sovereignty" over all air traffic over the Soviet zone.

Although the new law was not expected to affect Western traffic to Berlin now, it could be used to set the stage for interference with Berlin flights at some future date.

Passage was a certainty. The East German Parliament has never cast a dissenting vote.

★ ★ ★

The law, submitted to the People's Chamber (Volkskammer) for its second and final reading today, gives the government unrestricted sovereignty over all flights over East Germany and requires the registration of all aircraft.

Under its provisions, international flights can be made only with the permission of the government and foreign aircraft would have to land at designated airfields.

The law made no mention of the three 20-mile-wide air corridors set up by four-power agreements with the Russians for Western allied military and commercial flights to isolated West Berlin.

Ship Freed From Shoal

City Agrees to Subsidize Bus Service

The City Commission last night agreed to subsidize Pontiac Transit Corporation in an effort to retain bus service in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The city will pay the bus company $420 per month for the next 12 months.

Company officials requested the subsidy "in consideration of Pontiac Transit Corporation continuing operations in Pontiac."

Commissioners okayed a renewal of the annual contract agreement between the city and corporation by a 4-2 vote. Changes in the new contract were the addition of a subsidy and elimination of token fares.

★ ★ ★

Voting against the contract were Commissioners Charles H. Harmon and Loy L. Ledford. Commissioner Dick M. Kirby was absent.

Elimination of the token fare will mean that all adults will now pay a straight 25-cent fare, effective today.

Bolstered Units Seeking Red Suicide Squad

Ballistic Tests Show Captured Guns Used in Ambush of GIs

From Our News Wires

SEOUL, Korea — Spotlights tonight illuminated the banks of the Imjin River where reinforced U.S. Army patrols searched for North Korean Communists suicide squads.

Soldiers of the 1st Cavalry and 7th Infantry Division took some solace in the news that the lives of three dead buddies had been avenged. Two were killed in an ambush Monday and the third in a brushfire fight yesterday.

"Ballistic tests have proven conclusively that submachine guns taken from the two North Koreans killed yesterday afternoon are the same used in the Monday morning ambush attack," the U.N. command spokesman said.

Two North Korean soldiers mowed down by U.S. soldiers wielding M60 machine guns yesterday were part of the same suicide squad that penetrated South Korea at least six miles.

★ ★ ★

They were carrying U.S. currency and armed with Russian automatic weapons and hand grenades.

Brig. Gen. Charles Pershing Brown of McAlester, Okla., acting commander of the 1st Cavalry Division, was surprised at the discovery by ballistics experts that groove markings on the lead slugs fired by the captured Communist guns matched those taken from the bodies of the dead soldiers.

Brown had about decided that the infiltrator group which ambushed the jeep was one which had been fired on by a stake out squad south of the demilitarized zone just before the ambush, then escaped to the north.

SEARCHLIGHTS

Increased enemy activity along the 18½ mile front patrolled by the cavalry led Brown to order searchlights to brighten the area. He also ordered out heavier patrols and a power boat loaded with armed soldiers to look into coves along the river banks. Jeeps may no longer travel alone.

"There must be at least two vehicles in every detail and we've started riding shotgun throughout the area," Brown said.

Convict Ward on Two Counts

Is Still Unconscious After Drug Overdose

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Stephen Ward was convicted today of two charges of living on the immoral earnings of prostitutes.

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Stephen Ward lay unconscious in a hospital from an overdose of drugs today while an Old Bailey jury deliberated its verdict on the vice charges that if upheld, might send him to prison for 25 years.

★ ★ ★

Before the jury retired, there was a courtroom debate over whether Ward had tried to commit suicide. Although the fact that he left notes indicated premeditation, this had not been proved.

Justice Sir Archie Marshall, informed that Ward was hospitalized, ordered that the trial go on, remarking the absence "is the result of his action by his own hand."

Defense attorney James Burge objected.

"You have merely heard certain statements," he told the judge. "You have not heard any explanation of the circumstances and it would be wrong, therefore, to assume that it is due to his own default."

MISDEMEANOR

If the authorities decide Ward tried to take his own life, he could be charged with attempted suicide —a misdemeanor under British law.

If he should die, it would be up to a coroner's jury to decide whether it was suicide.

After 2½ hours, the jury filed back into the courtroom and said they required some guidance. The foreman handed Justice Marshall a written question.

Court officials said that if the jury convicted Ward, Justice Marshall would not sentence him until he was well enough to appear personally.

Want Fair Job Bill in Rights Package

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Civil rights leaders' have asked the House Judiciary Committee to add a fair employment practices bill to the administration's civil rights package.

Tuesday, they got the assurance of Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N. Y., that he'll go along with them. The votes to do it will be harder to come by.

The beginning of the play of strategy in the House marked the approaching end of the preliminaries in the civil rights battle. In the Senate signs of progress are hard to detect.

The Justice Department filed its largest voting registration suit to date today, urging a federal court to order the immediate registration of more than 2,000 Negroes in Birmingham, Ala.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Birmingham, demanded that local registration officials be ordered to stop discriminating against Negro applicants.

* * *

Birmingham is the largest city in which the department has sought through court action to secure equal voting rights for Negroes.

* * *

Today's was the 43rd voting suit filed, the eighth in Alabama.

In other racial developments:

● In Chicago, extra police kept watch today on an old all-white neighborhood on the South Side where hundreds of persons have demonstrated the past two nights against a new Negro family.

A crowd that swelled to 1,000 to 1,500 last night milled around a 30-year-old, red brick apartment building into which the Reginald Williams family moved.

At least 14 persons were arrested for disorderly conduct, although an estimated 30 persons were hauled off in paddy wagons. A man and a boy were injured, police said.

* * *

● In New Orleans a federal appellate judge says the "Crusading spirit" of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is causing "unorthodox procedures" in racial cases.

Judge Ben Cameron of Meridian, Miss., charged Tuesday that Chief Judge Elbert Tuttle has made up nearly the same judicial line-up on desegregation tribunals.

Cameron said the cases should have been heard on their merits by all nine judges of the court—instead of panels of three judges. Many of the three-judge panels were combinations of the same four judges, he added.

● In New York, a 10-member committee has been formed, with Mayor Robert F. Wagner's blessing, to investigate the construction trade jobs dispute that has led to the arrest of nearly 700 demonstrators this month.

* * *

In other developments in the city:

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People threatened to have children boycott city schools when they open Sept. 9 unless the board of education comes up with a plan and timetable for more school integration.

Further complicating matters is a threatened wage strike by teachers on that date.

* * *

● In Austin, Tex., waiter Booker T. Bonner ended his civil rights demonstration in Gov. Connally's office yesterday about 26 hours after it began.

The Austin Negro went home after a Connally aide gave him an appointment to see the governor Aug. 6.

● In Los Angeles, labor leader Walter Reuther says that unless the United States resolves its present racial crisis through the use of reason, the "hate peddlers" will take over and push the nation into a new civil war.

Hits West Gls as Speculators

BERLIN (AP) — East German Communist chief Walter Ulbricht accused Western military forces today of illegal speculation in East Berlin and indicated he might try to restrict their movements in the Communist sector of the city.

* * *

Ulbricht told the East German Parliament: "We cannot tolerate much longer that the members of the Western occupation forces, who on the basis of long obsolete occupation rights move freely in East Berlin, misuse this freedom of movement, to engage in speculative businesses."

* * *

Ulbricht in effect accused the Western forces of buying goods in East Berlin for East marks bought in West Berlin at a rate more favorable than the official exchange.

American, British and French soldiers can move freely between East and West Berlin, provided they are in uniform. They are not subject to search at the crossing point.

GM Appeals City Assessment

State to Rule on Tax Dispute

The State Tax Commission will reach a decision within two weeks on General Motors Corp. appeal for a $33.8-million reduction in its local assessed valuation on real and personal property.

At a hearing on the appeal yesterday at City Hall, Robert Eckhardt, commission chairman, said the commission will probably meet in Lansing Aug. 9 or 12 to rule on the appeal.

City and school tax bills have been held up pending a decision on the appeal. Final city and school district tax rates can't be set until the Pontiac tax base is established.

The final amount of Pontiac's tax base—or total assessed valuation—depends entirely on the tax commission's decision.

GM contends that the 1963 assessed value of its personal property in Pontiac is $32-million too high as set by City Assessor Edward C. Bloe.

* * *

The corporation also is asking a $1.8-million reduction in Bloe's assessed valuation of GM real estate holdings here.

At yesterday's hearing, the GM case was presented by Philip A. Hoffman, a staff assistant in GM's tax department, while Bloe and City Attorney William A. Ewart presented figures supporting the assessments as established.

TWO DOZEN ATTEND

The hearing was attended by about two dozen city, county and corporation officials.

Basically, the argument revolved around GM's method of reporting the value of its personal property and the city assessed value of machinery and equipment.

Hoffman argued that the city assessor determines value by taking a flat percentage of original cost without regard to age and not fully reflecting depreciation.

The corporation's position is that the state's method should be used. It is based on the cost of replacing machinery and equipment less depreciation according to age.

Bloe said that the city is not compelled to use state formulas.

He defended his method by arguing that the city had no way of verifying figures submitted each year to him by GM for tax purposes.

"We have nothing to substantiate their property value figures and, frankly, some of them don't make sense."

Hoffman asserted that all property values reported to Bloe were audited and verified.

Bloe countered that he was told by state tax officials a year ago that "there is $33 million in taxable property in Pontiac reported to the state by General Motors that we don't have in the corporation's statement to us.

"Furthermore, a county equalization committee study in the last few weeks showed about $558,000 in property submitted in General Motors' 1963 statement to the county that never was submitted to us."

gas cans, stuck a propeller on the mitted recent sale prices for local properties to support their respective positions as to the valuation placed on GM real estate in Pontiac.

Based on their comparisons, GM figured the average assessed value of industrial land at $1,500 per acre. Bloe set it at about $2,500 per acre this year.

Edwin C. Sage, director of the Oakland County Equalization Department, supported Bloe, stating that the County Equalization Committee felt the city's valuation of raw industrial land in Pontiac "is still on the low side, if anything."

Bloe's total assessed valuation on GM real estate in Pontiac was $4,624,100 this year. He set GM's personal property assessed valuation at $128.7 million.

The city has proposed a tax rate of $14.65 per $1,000 of assessed property value to finance this year's budget if there is no change in the tax base.

If the tax commission grants any or all of the GM appeal, a higher tax rate would be needed to make up for the loss of tax base.

Scientists Shamed by Schoolboy

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Albert Einstein proposed it, the scientists forgot it, but a Pasadena school boy remembered that energy equals mass times the speed of light squared.

The result: Developers of an ion engine for powering space craft are going back to their calculators to revise time tables for space travel.

Billy Warren, 10, a fifth-grader, stumped the scientists at a Boys Club lecture.

Ronald S. H. Toms of Electro-Optical Systems, Inc., had just finished a talk on "ion propulsion" when Billy asked:

"If we were to use ion propulsion to go to the stars, wouldn't we approach the speed of light and so, according to Dr. Einstein's theory, wouldn't the space craft mass increase? Then wouldn't the mass of the propellant increase and reduce the specific impulse?"

Admittedly surprised, Toms said the point was valid and "one we had not taken into consideration in our research studies."

'Concession . . . in a Sense'

Rails Adust Proposals on Work Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chief negotiator for the nation's railroads said today the carriers had made some adjustments in their proposals for settling the strike-threatening dispute over work rules.

The spokesman, J. E. Wolfe, told reporters that proposals advanced by the railroads in an exchange of suggestions between union and management contained "some adjustments in an effort to try to reach a settlement."

Asked if he considered the proposals a "concession," Wolfe replied, "in a sense."

* * *

But Wolfe stressed that the proposals consisted essentially of the recommendations made last spring by a presidential emergency board and translated into "collective bargaining terms."

Wolfe said he would amplify his remarks in an appearance tonight before the Senate Commerce Committee considering President Kennedy's request to turn the railroad case over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

* * *

A Labor Department official had reported earlier that union and management negotiators had exchanged new proposals on the key issue of the need for firemen on diesel trains.

* * *

But shortly before Wolfe spoke to reporters, an industry spokesman said there had been no progress so far in government efforts to settle the dispute.

This spokesman noted that the railroad negotiators had accepted recommendations by the White House group when they were first issued in mid-May.

* * *

Referring to Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz' renewal of mediation efforts under congressional pressure, he said: "There has been no progress so far in these negotiation attempts."

Test Confirms Youth's Story

Substantiates Visit of Murder Victim

A lie detector test given to a Birmingham youth, believed to have been one of the last persons to have seen Connie Crossland alive, confirmed statements he made to police earlier.

Detective Harry Maur said the test substantiated the boy's story that she had come to his house early on the morning before she was killed.

* * *

The youth, who police did not identify, said the 14-year-old girl came to his house and asked if she could spend the night. He said he turned her away because his parents were home.

* * *

He said she left with two young men in a white 1961 convertible.

Deputies already have checked on 50 owners of white 1961 Pontiac convertibles.

It has been learned that 326 white convertibles were shipped to dealers in the tristate area that year, with Michigan receiving 270.

* * *

Maur explained that the lie detector tests have been given to six persons who have come forward with information about Connie.

* * *

The girl was found strangled to death July 18 in Paint Creek in Orion Township.

* * *

"We have been giving the tests so we can double check stories and not be led in the wrong direction in our investigation," Maur said.

City Agrees to Subsidize Bus Company

the changes to offset losses during the past year.

They pointed to an operating loss of $8,274 in the 10-month period ending last April 30, compared to a $1,181 profit in the same period ending April 30, 1962.

For the period ending April 30 this year they said 733,068 persons rode buses in Pontiac and revenues totaled $164,090 against $172,964 in operating expenses.

For the 10 months ending April 30 last year, the bus company reported 741,565 patrons and some $167,571 in revenues against operating expenses of $166,390.

* * *

Company officials estimated the loss this year would top $8,000 under the former contract agreement, but the firm could realize a $1,000 profit if the commission agreed to a subsidy and elimination of tokens.

Comparative figures this year showed a steady drop in patronage since free parking on municipal parking lots was initiated Feb. 1.

Latecomer Flees, Cleaning Cleaners

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP) — Pauline Briscoe has learned that being sympathetic doesn't pay—in fact, it costs.

She had just locked the doors of the cleaning establishment where she works when a man appeared waving a cleaning ticket through the window and making desperate and pleading gestures.

Miss Briscoe opened the door, only to have the man threaten her with a gun and flee with $270.

3 Argentines Chug to D.C. in Model A

WASHINGTON (AP)—In front of the dazzling Capitol clattered a gay wreck of a car carrying three Argentines, a shaggy dog and a daring pledge: Buenos Aires to New York.

It was daring, considering the car and the roads in between. But now they're on the last lap after covering 14,000 miles in their 1927 Ford over land and sea.

They arrived in Washington on Monday, short of cash but with plenty of adventures to relate.

For instance: The night they drove —that's right, drove— the Ford up beside a U.S. landing craft in waters off Panama during the Cuban crisis.

* * *

The three—Manuel Fontes, 23, a law student, Juan Carlos Torres, 34, an electrical engineer, and Jose Vallverdu, 23, a mechanic—traveled the Pan American Highway until they reached the Darien Gap—a tangle of jungle near Columbia's northern border.

They removed the wheels, floated their Model A on 12 empty gas cans, stuck a propeller on the drive shaft—and sailed away at 5 miles an hour.

The 350-mile voyage to Colon, Panama, took 35 days. On the night of Oct. 23, the adventurers lost their way in the darkness and began blinking their car lights to attract attention.

Out of the darkness stabbed the searchlights of a U.S. Army landing craft, whose stunned crew watched as the yellowish car pulled alongside.

The three and their dog, Atacongo, spent the night aboard the boat. None of the crew spoke Spanish and none of the Argentines spoke English but they managed to explain their predicament and were fed.

With daylight, the travelers resumed their voyage to Panama, where they put the wheels back on and followed the Pan American Highway again. They entered the United States in Texas.

They hope to say hello to President Kennedy before pushing on to New York, then possibly to Detroit with the hope the Ford people will send them home—by jet.

Angry at Russ-West Romance, China Risks Asia War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Special Writer

There are ominous signs that the Red Chinese, angry and frustrated because of Premier Khrushchev's policies of peaceful coexistence, are hell-bent for reckless action in Asia. They may even be toying with the idea of risking renewed war in Korea.

★ ★ ★

The Red Chinese attitude, reflected in recent statements by Asian Communist leaders, appears to be a direct result of the Soviet-British-U.S. agreement to discontinue all nuclear tests except those underground.

The ambushing of U.S. soldiers in South Korea looked anything but accidental. The Red Chinese are making noises indicating they want to apply the heat once again in that area.

★ ★ ★

In Southeast Asia, Peking indicates an impatience to clean up the situation in Indochina and drive the West and its influence out of South Viet Nam and Laos. The war in Viet Nam may get before an armistice halted the Korean action 10 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Recently a high-ranking North Korean Communist toured Red China. On his return last week to Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, he said in a speech that "one half of our territory (meaning South Korea) is under the occupation of the U.S. imperialists and we have not yet completed the national liberation revolution."

★ ★ ★

"National liberation" is a Communist way of describing a war to advance communism. It is Red China's contention that Khrushchev's policy of easing tensions with the West hampers the "national liberation movement."

★ ★ ★

The North Korean leader called reunification of Korea—by which he meant Communist domination over the whole country—the "supreme national revolutionary task of 30 million Korean people." As is customary when Communists are preparing to act, he accused the United States of preparing for an aggression.

If the Red Chinese start something dangerous in Asia, they could put Khrushchev on an uncomfortable spot, demanding that he choose between his Chinese allies and the West.

Dad's Polygamy Aids Drama School Training

LONDON (UPI) — Joanna Ainin, the 22-year-old daughter of Paramount chief Nana Fosu Gyabour II of Ghana, has won a place in an exclusive London drama school, but is not worried about state fright.

"My father practices polygamy and with so many brothers and sisters, we have to compete to get any notice taken of us at all," she said yesterday.

Sentenced to Spanking

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Corporation Court Judge Connally Lockhart sentenced a 15-year-old traffic violator to a spanking yesterday, then watched approvingly as the boy's father administered the walloping in the courtroom.

Growing Family Adds Children Two by Two

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Tullock rapidly are expanding their family beyond the capacity of their three-room apartment.

Mrs. Tullock, 25, gave birth Monday to her third set of twins, her ninth and tenth children.

Allies Leading Reds in Ships to Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Allied ships sailing to Cuba outnumber Russian freighters in Cuban trade, according to Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla.

Rogers told the House yesterday that 44 allied ships went to Cuba in May compared to 38 Russian vessels.

Tentative June figures show 39 allied ships and 31 Russian, and incomplete July reports show 16 free world vessels and 14 Soviet freighters, he said.

INDIAN PRIME MINISTER NEHRU has warned his people to be ready for any eventuality, as if expecting that a Red Chinese build-up along India's borders may be the prelude to new warlike pressures.

KOREAN SUPPORT

Peking is getting all-out support from the North Korean Communists in the argument with Moscow about how world communism should advance. The Soviets seem to have lost all control over the North Koreans. This may be true, too, in smoldering Indochina.

Backed by the Chinese, North Korean Communist leaders are sounding as truculent as they did hotter.

Competition Keen in Romeo

Queens Vie for Peach Title

ROMEO — The competition is expected to be "hot" for the Romeo Peach Queen crown this year, judging by the entrants lined up for the Aug. 9 contest.

Each candidate is a "queen" in her own right — having already won a title in her own community.

Only one opening now remains to be filled before the contest date, said Mrs. Raymond Ritter, who has charge of entries.

She said 10 area beauties thus far have filed applications for the chance to reign over the 31st annual Peach Festival Labor Day weekend.

Vying for the honor will be Barbara Sue Goodwin of Roseville, Miss Metropolitan Beach; Jacqueline Bondar, Miss Roseville; Beverly Lambert, Miss Armada; Norma Geisler, Miss Oxford; and Jo Sutton, Miss Ortonville.

Others are Charlotte Braden, Miss Waterford; Judy Whipple, Miss Fraser; Dale Desy, Miss Utica; Audene Clark, Miss Romeo; and Pontiac's Junior Miss Susan Pill.

★ ★ ★

Traditionally, eleven girls compete for the crown so that an even number of 10 can form the queen's court.

The queen and two maids of honor will be picked in the contest to be staged at 8 p.m. at the Youth Center.

QUALITIES JUDGED

The girls will parade before a panel of out-of-town judges — first in street wear, then in formal attire. They will be rated on poise, personality, beauty, appearance and public speaking ability.

In the first segment, they will be interviewed informally by master of ceremonies Richard McLean, who emceed the earlier Miss Romeo contest.

Returning later in their formals, the contestants will answer several questions drafted by the judges, which will be the same for each girl.

★ ★ ★

While one is answering, "the others will be in a separate anteroom so they will not hear answers given by prior contestants.

All during the competition, the queen candidates' names will be kept secret. They will be identified solely by the names of peaches which will be on cards they will carry.

The queen, her two honor attendants and the other eight girls, who will form the court, will be guests in Romeo homes during the festival Aug. 30- Sept. 2.

★ ★ ★

All of them will take part in the three days of festivities, which will include formal coronation ceremonies, contests, baseball games and an art show.

Climax will be reached on Labor Day with the children's parade in the morning and gala floral parade in the afternoon.

AREA NEWS

PREPARE FOR JOURNEY — Three members of Auburn Heights Girl Scout Troop 217 pack their rolled clothes in a duffel bag for their camping trip to Washington, D.C. From left, Sharon Parrett, Mary Ann Lewis and Linda Bragen are among the 11 girls who started out in the same Brownie troop eight years ago and will soon be completing their scouting.

Girls to Wind Up Scouting With Washington D.C. Trip

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Nothing less than a trip to the nation's capital will climax the eight-year association of the girl scouts in Troop 217.

The 11 girls started out together as Brownies when most were in the 4th grade.

Now all are high school seniors, except Linda Bragen, a junior. Linda and her sister Sandra, another member, are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle E. Bragen, 3062 Auburn.

The Bragens and Mr. and Mrs. George Harshbarger, 360 Hillfield, Pontiac Township, will accompany the girls to Washington.

The women are the troop leaders.

Also looking forward to the trip is 10-year-old Ralph Harshbarger, who by this time "thinks he's a member." He was just a tot when his sister Dianne and mother got started in the troop.

The girls have been planning the trip for three years, earning money through dues, cookie and calendar sales and a peanut sale. They also received a donation from their sponsors, the Auburn Heights Lions Club.

TO VISIT SOLON

While staying at Camp Rockwood, the national Girl Scout camp at Bethesda, Md., the nine girls making the trip will tour the capital and visit Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County. They also plan to stop at Gettysburg.

Camping is not new to the girls. They have spent the night at Greenfield Village and have done both summer and winter camping at Camp Sherwood.

Besides the two families, members making the trip are: Charlotte Dancey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dancey, 3403 Nichols; Cindy Hebel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hebel, 620 Nichols; and Joyce Pyke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pyke of 350 Hillfield, Pontiac Township.

Others are: Mary Ann Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lewis, 3746 Auburn; Sharon Parrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parrett of 1147 Potomac, Avon Township; and Linda Teasdle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Teasdle, 296 Cherryland.

The two members unable to go because of conflicting vacations are Ruth Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Craig Jr., 266 Cherryland, and Kathy Wilkes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilkes, 410 Robert.

Solon Takes Firm Stand

Hits Options in Tax Reform

LANSING (AP) — Sen. John Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, has taken a firm position against including local option income taxes in statewide fiscal reform.

Fitzgerald, a leader of the so-called "moderates" in the state senate, said "the greatest hodge-podge the state has ever seen" would result if local option taxes were called for in a tax reform program.

The senator said such taxes would result in competition between counties, and migration of people and business away from counties where the tax was in effect.

★ ★ ★

Uniform statewide assessing procedures and a curb on rising property taxes, as well as passage of a state income tax, were fiscal reform points Fitzgerald supported in a speech Monday to the Lansing Exchange Club.

Gov. George Romney has reported that during a series of regional meetings on fiscal reform he conducted, many persons preferred income taxes on a local county option basis requiring voter support.

Said Fitzgerald, however, "The local option income tax would be just one more barrier to solving the state's financial problems."

Fitzgerald, who has expressed interest in running for the U.S. Senate seat now occupied by Philip Hart, D-Detroit, said he expected that the coming fiscal reform special session of the legislature would be "rough."

Explained the senator:

"Some legislators have unchanged views about an income tax-based fiscal reform plan, while others are willing to take a new look."

MARJORIE FAYE HILL

State Police to Hold Sale

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State Police are horning in on the market of the sad little girl who sells artificial flowers on the street corner.

Seven dozen artificial flowers are among the items to be sold in the annual state police auction at the East Lansing headquarters Aug. 23.

The engagement of Marjorie Faye Hill to Gilbert H. Rollins II is announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Mack of 11006 Nita, Utica. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Gilbert H. Rollins I of East Detroit and the late Mrs. Rollins. An Oct. 19 wedding is planned.

State Bee Colonies Down From '62 Count

LANSING (AP) — Michigan beekeepers have 103,000 colonies this summer, down from the 104,000 held a year ago, said the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

Colony losses during the winter-spring season were estimated at 28 per cent, the lowest since 1959.

Troy Borrowing Okayed—Late

Enough Funds Saved to Build Water Mains

TROY — The State Municipal finance Commission has approved Troy's request to borrow $77,000 for water mains, it was announced today.

But it's too late.

Troy applied for the funds on March 15, expecting the normal two-month wait for the commission's decision.

★ ★ ★

However now, 4½ months later the city has enough in city funds to handle the project without the state borrowings.

At last night's special meeting the commission awarded the contract for water work to the low bidder, Goldcheff Brothers Excavating Co., of Mt. Clemens, for $166,695.

Working on another water problem which confronts the city, Troy is presently considering a storm drain which would be built jointly with Sterling Township.

STORM RELIEF

The proposed project, which would give storm relief to central and eastern Troy as well as the township, will be considered by the commission at a meeting in the near future.

Presently City Manager David E. Firestone is preparing a resolution authorizing engineers to draw up preliminary plans for the project.

When completed the storm drain will feed water into the Red Run Drain. Tentative plans call for a ditch from 50 to 100 feet wide, and about 10 feet deep.

★ ★ ★

In other business last night the commission approved a new library ordinance, which establishes the library as a department of the city.

Dems Will Aid Districting Unit

Won't Pick Members Immediately, However

LANSING (AP) — Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency says his party is willing to help the legislative apportionment commission created under the new state constitution begin its work on an informal basis.

★ ★ ★

But Ferency added that the Democrats do not plan to name four members of the commission immediately, as Republicans have done.

The party chairman said Monday that the Democratic State Central Committee has authorized the selection of delegates to represent the party in informal apportionment discussions.

"We may prefer to send delegates to these discussions who will not ultimately be the people we disignate to serve on the commission," Ferency said.

SPECIFICATIONS

He explained that the new constitution specifies that no governmental officers or employes may serve on the commission and that commission members are ineligible for election to the legislature for two years after the commission finishes its work.

The Democrats want to pick present office-holders or potential legislative nominees, Ferency said.

His statements came after Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley urged both parties to select representatives for the commission so it could make an informal start on its task — to reapportion House and Senate seats prior to the fall 1964 election.

★ ★ ★

The Republican State Central Committee named former Gov. Wilber Brucker, of Grosse Pointe, William Hanna of Muskegon, Alfred LaPorte of Standish and Ralph Huhtala of Kingsford to the commission on April 28.

State Traffic Toll 933

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 933 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll at this date last year was 817.

Lapeer Youth Is Drowned

ELBA TOWNSHIP — Mouth-to-resuscitation failed to revive a 20-year-old Lapeer youth after his body was pulled from 20 feet of water in Nepessing Lake yesterday.

Richard Morris, of 223 S. Court, fell out of his 16-foot boat about 9:45 a.m., according to Lapeer County Sheriff's deputies.

Witnesses told police they saw Morris riding in his boat, and a minute later sighted the empty craft going in tight circles.

★ ★ ★

Three youths recovered the body and brought it to shore, where police vainly attempted to revive Morris.

WED 50 YEARS—Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Buchanan of 125 Walnut, Rochester, will celebrate their golden anniversary with an open house at Rochester's First Congregational Church Sunday. Hosts at the affair, which will be held from 2 to 5 p.m., are their daughter and son and families, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold (Jean) Palmateer and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Buchanan. The couple also has three grandsons. The family requests no gifts.

Lake Orion Ready to Act on Construction of Sewers

LAKE ORION — After months of tentative planning and study of the sewage problem here, the village council is preparing to take definite action on the establishment of a sewage system.

★ ★ ★

Village President Irvine J. Unger said yesterday that financial and engineering consultants, as well as a represenative from the County Department of Public Works, will be on hand at the Aug. 12 council session.

"At that time we will formulate the go-ahead plan," he said.

Unger predicted that the first phase of the plan, which will be studied at that conference, will call for construction of a treatment plant.

SEWER LINES

Also included in the initial work would be sewer lines on the east lake front and the developed village area east of the lake.

Section two of the proposed system, which covers the balance of developed area adjacent to the lake, would be completed "as soon as it can be arranged."

Anticipated cost of the project, as well as a means of financing it, also will be determined at the Aug. 12 session.

★ ★ ★

"I think we have to go before the voters," Unger said. "If they turn it down, the state will probably step in."

Lake Orion is working under pressure of the State Water Resources Commission. The village must submit completed construction plans and specifications to the state health commissioner by Dec. 1.

Oxford, Oxford Township, and Orion Township were all asked to consider the feasibility of a joint project, but decided against the plan.

★ ★ ★

However, residents of some Orion Township subdivisions have expressed interest in joining the village's system. Unger said this also would be considered at the study session.

The proposed sewage treatment plant is to be constructed in the village's southeast corner.

Tell Plans for Work on Highways

LANSING (AP) — Plans for several highway modernization and extension projects, to be put under contract in 1966 and 1967, have been announced by the State Highway Department.

A $3.3-million project will be put under contract during the last half of 1966 to modernize 22.5 miles of M43 between Hastings and Richland in Barry and Kalamazoo counties.

★ ★ ★

The department said this will enable trucks carrying maximum legal loads to use M43 over its entire distance between Lansing and Kalamazoo and the communities in between.

Bids also will be taken in 1966 on projects to modernize short sections of three state highways in the Thumb area.

These will include:

.5 miles of U.S. 25 from Port Austin to Huron City in Huron County; three miles of M90 from U.S. 25 at Lexington, west in Sanilac County; and five miles of M90 from M53 to Brown City in Lapeer County.

The U.S. 25 project will provide truckers with an all-season route over the entire scenic shoreline highway from Port Huron to Bay City.

Scheduled for contract in 1967 is an extension of M52 from the point where it now ends at Millville in southeastern Ingham County north to I-96 near Webberville.

To Set Plans on Port Berths

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh yesterday appointed a committee of city officials to prepare a plan for acquiring about 1,400 feet of Detroit River frontage for port development.

Cavanagh said the 1,400-foot strip would be developed initially as two holding berths for ships waiting to use the existing for-hire terminals.

"This would alleviate the present situation, where ships sometimes have to wait in midriver for an open berth at the terminals," Cavanagh said.

Criticizing N-Test Ban Is Difficult

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

The red-hot question about the test ban is not whether such an agreement is urgently desirable now but whether the Soviet Union can be bound to a test ban that would reasonably and properly protect U.S. interests.

* * *

The U.S. interest is the interest of the men, women and children of the United States to live their lives equally safe from nuclear holocaust and crippling fallout. Nobody could be against that.

It seems, however, that to question even gently whether the proposed test ban properly protects U.S. interests is a shady business.

To so question is like questioning the sanctity of motherhood, the worth of libraries, the merit of good works. To question instead of to cheer is almost to indorse sin. The questions are beginning to come, however, and some of them will have to be answered.

DONNYBROOK

The U.S. Senate is building up to the kind of donnybrook that accompanied the consideration nearly 45 years ago of the Treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations.

The treaty and the league were defeated.

This comparison does not, however, imply that the test ban will lose. Young President Kennedy is a master politician in contrast to Woodrow Wilson or almost anyone you might name.

* * *

The test ban will have Kennedy going for it as well as the people's prayerful hope that agreement may be had to end the nuclear arms race.

The people's prayerful hope will make it just so much more difficult for those who question the test ban to obtain popular consideration of legitimate related questions.

Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.) is a congressional Republican spokesman on test-ban policy. He has begun to ask some questions, one of them about the Soviet Union's good faith. The Soviets violated a test moratorium in September 1961, having prepared in secret for a series of in-the-air blasts.

On March 2, 1962, Kennedy announced that the United States would resume tests. But there had been no secret U.S. preparation. Therefore there was a substantial lag in the U.S. effort to catch up with the Soviets.

Hosmer's strategy has been to quote from Kennedy's March 2 statement:

"We know enough now about broken negotiations, secret preparations and the advantages gained from a long test series never to offer again an uninspected moratorium. Some may urge us to try it again, keeping our preparations to test in constant readiness.

* * *

"But in actual practice, particularly in a society of free choice, we cannot keep top-flight scientists concentrating on the preparation of an experiment which may or may not take place on an uncertain date in the future.

"Nor can large technical laboratories be kept fully alert on a standby basis waiting for some other nation to break an agreement. This is not merely difficult or inconvenient . . . we have explored this alternative thoroughly and found it impossible of execution."

The President was questioned at his Feb. 7 press conference and said:

"We will support an effective treaty which provides for effective inspection, but we cannot take less . . . It takes many months to prepare for tests in the atmosphere. The Soviet Union prepares in secret."

* * *

Hosmer has suggested an area for close scrutiny when the test treaty reaches the Senate. Many prayerful advocates of a test ban probably would want the Senate to explore that area thoroughly before giving its advice and consent.

Equipment Ordered for Airways Safety

DETROIT (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency has ordered new electronic equipment from the Burroughs Corp. which will be used in the development of a system to assure safety on the nation's airways, it was announced yesterday.

The equipment, designed and built by Burroughs under two contracts totaling $2.1 million, will give air traffic controllers greater command over the radar and airborne beacon information they want to see on their scopes.

It will also automatically filter out unwanted images.

The equipment will also relieve air traffic controllers of burdensome, routine duties and will free them to concentrate on specific aircraft activity in their areas.

Hoffa Excludes Teamster Union From NBC Suit

DETROIT (AP) — Temsters President James Hoffa's $2.5 million suit against the National Broadcasting Co. was amended in U.S. district court here yesterday to exclude the Teamsters Union itself as a complainant.

* * *

In the original suit, filed in 1960, Hoffa said he was slandered over NBC's Jack Paar Show in four appearances in 1956 by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, then counsel for the Senate committee investigating labor racketeering.

* * *

Kennedy and Paar were also named in the suit, but they were dismissed as defendants. Judge Theodore Levin ruled in 1960 that the court did not have jurisdiction over the two because the summonses were served outside Detroit.

Mother Nature Seems To Be Very Consistent

So, O.K. It's hot.

We "told you so."

★ ★ ★

When the winter of 1963 skidded across the horizon into oblivion, this greatest of all public prints came out with a definite and confident prediction:

We'd have a hot summer.

And we have.

★ ★ ★

This wasn't based on the number of nuts the squirrels had cached in the hollow trees. It wasn't predicated on the thickness of the walls of the homes of the eager beavers above the dam. Nor did old dobbin's coat influence the decision.

No, sir. We were mathematical.

★ ★ ★

Dame Nature is a very steady gal in the over-all picture. If it rains too hard in April and May, it's apt to ease off in the fall. If the winter's warm, the summer will be cool. At the end of 365 days, the Old Gal has dished out just about the same number of degrees of temperature and while there will be an occasional variation, the average 12 month period is usually within a degree or two of the same. This holds for precipitation and temperature.

★ ★ ★

At least that's our theory and we believe it's just as sound as the predictions based on the depth of the perch outside of Waukegon in December. And this last has been a prize winner for two decades.

Hence, following last winter's prolonged cold spells, it followed the summer should be a mite extra warm.

And it has been.

Quod Erat Demonstrandum.

Amazing What Money Can Uncover, Hmm . . .

It is always reassuring to know that our bureaucrats in Washington are on the job and looking after the weal of the common man.

Indicative thereof are three research grants recently approved by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare:

★ ★ ★

- $46,731 for a study of the "regulation of development of the mouse egg."
- $9,740 for a study of the "physiological adaptation of the Mexican free-tailed bat."
- $4,120 to promote a study of the "effects of frustration on a reflex response."

But as desirable as are these inquiries into matters of vital concern to the citizenry, we do hope that HEW will soon investigate a subject too long neglected.

It is the Number of Ant Hours Required in Assembling a Split-Level Ant Hill.

Immigration Proposal Sensible Compromise

One of the most sensible of President KENNEDY's proposals to Congress is reform of the Federal immigration laws.

★ ★ ★

The quota system instituted in 1924, based on the national census of 1920, has left much to be desired as an effective governor on the admission of aliens to the United States.

It provided no qualitative screening, and operated pretty much on the principle of keeping the Country populated with the same kind of people who are already here.

★ ★ ★

In calling for a new approach to immigration, the President sees the national interest better served by a selective process based on individual talent and ability, or upon need for particular skills. Priority would also be given to parents of American citizens.

Actually, the total number of immigrants would be only slightly increased over the present fixed quotas, and there are controls regulating the percentage of nationals from any one country.

★ ★ ★

In this latter respect, the proposed law is somewhat of a compromise, but over-all a much more realistic and productive concept of American assimilation of desirable elements of foreign nationalities.

After De Gaulle, What for France?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—French President Charles de Gaulle, in front of a splendid red silk curtain, talked to a news conference 80 minutes Monday and brushed off as if it were stupid one of the most important questions.

He was asked his ideas about a successor.

MARLOW

De Gaulle, 72, has another three years to go as president. When he took power five years ago, France, in political chaos since World War II, was teetering toward civil war. Politics were a nightmare.

After five years, he has failed to achieve lasting political reform or to provide for what comes after him. He once said: "After me, a mess."

Thus, while his whole career has been dedicated to the restoration of French grandeur and influence, he has done little to make sure France after him will have the stability necessary to endure.

For this reason, he gives the impression of a mystic trying to play a celestial slot machine.

RIGHT COMBINATION

For years he has pulled the lever, seeking the right combination to fit his dreams: a new Europe under French leadership, a firm new relationship with Germany, perhaps a new relationship with the Soviet Union and an undeniable place for himself in history. It has eluded him.

But he acts and talks, as he did Monday, as if it were only a matter of time until somehow, perhaps because it's de Gaulle wishing it so, he will give the lever a magic pull and hear that tinkling, tumbling sound that means a jackpot.

Three years ago in Washington, to Congress and newsmen, he made easing relations with the Soviet Union "paramount."

★ ★ ★

That was just three weeks before Premier Khrushchev broke up the summit conference in Paris with de Gaulle, President Dwight D. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

But last week Khrushchev finally agreed with the United States and Britain on a nuclear test ban in the atmosphere, outer space and under water. De Gaulle wanted no part of it. He said the world situation hasn't changed "one whit." He said France would not join.

Khrushchev last week talked of an East-West nonaggression pact. Maybe it's a pipe dream. But de Gaulle made it impossible by saying France wanted no part of that, either.

He said France treasures the Western alliance nations. But he's unhappy with NATO, the military organization which gives the alliance meaning.

He said France will go on making nuclear weapons, unless the United States and the Soviet Union destroy theirs. This is so far in the future it's invisible. So France has a good excuse, by de Gaulle's reasoning, to go on making weapons.

On June 25 President Kennedy pledged in Germany—certainly for the benefit of France—to risk the destruction of American cities in defense of Western Europe.

Two days later de Gaulle told what he thought of this through his information minister, Alain Peyrefitte, who warned Europe against trusting its security completely and indefinitely to the United States.

★ ★ ★

He said no one knows what Washington's policy will be 10 years from now, after Kennedy's presidency, and mentioned that American neutrality in 1914 and 1939 do not inspire confidence now.

By this same reasoning of de Gaulle, it would be impossible for the United States to trust France as an ally for in 10 years de Gaulle also probably will be gone and even he doesn't know what kind of France there will be then.

The Only One Without A Problem

David Lawrence Asks:

What About Bias by a Negro?

WASHINGTON — When the white man discriminates against th Negro, it becomes a matter of public controversy. But what shall be said when the most prominent Negro in the Congress of the United States boldly expresses his own form of discrimination against the white man?

LAWRENCE

The Rev. Adam Clayton Powell, who is the chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor in the House of Representatives, threatened the other day to bolt the Democratic party leadership of the House on the matter of priority of certain legislation. He said in his church on Sunday in a prepared address:

★ ★ ★

"No white man, any more, is going to tell me what I should do in the field of civil rights."

Does Mr. Powell distrust the judgment of the Democratic party leaders because they are white? He also declared that "white liberals" now must assume a secondary role to Negro leaders. Not long ago Rep. Powell also said to the press:

"We have the white man on the run now, let's keep him on the run!"

This type of thinking is not likely to decrease but to increase race consciousness.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who is often swayed by political expediencies, has produced in objective terms a clear-cut exposition of the whole question of the responsibilities of whites and Negroes in the current controversy.

He did this more than five weeks ago during a television discussion.

The stenographic transcript of those comments is well worth rereading and reproducing in the light of Rep. Powell's remarks. Since the attorney general had discussed the rights of Negroes, he was asked to define the responsibilities of the Negroes. Mr. Kennedy replied:

"I think that they have a responsibility not only to Negroes but to white people and to the United States. I think we can make great progress in this field. I think that the progress that is required and necessary will be made only if whites and Negroes join together to make that progress."

SPECIAL TREATMENT?

Mr. Kennedy was asked if he felt that the Negro now is entitled to special treatment because of past discrimination. The attorney general replied:

"I think he is entitled to special attention to try to remedy the sins of the past. I think we have to focus a good deal of attention — those of us in positions of responsibility and the individual citizen — on this problem. But I don't think that an individual should be hired just because he is a Negro.

★ ★ ★

"But, on the other hand, I think Negroes are not qualified to certain positions of skill because they have been discriminated against in the past. So I think we should make an extra effort to make sure that that problem has been remedied, that we do more for vocational training, that we do more for education, that we see that they then are entitled to the same privileges that the white person is entitled to."

Mr. Kennedy spoke some words of caution about "demonstrations" and said that Negroes "should obey the laws and should live up to law and order."

The attorney general at the time thought the Washington demonstration was somewhat "premature." But apparently the Negro leaders have not been swayed but have gone ahead with their own plans. Unable to control the situation from the outside, the strategy applied by officials here has been to advise white groups to participate.

South Africa Prosperity Up Despite Its Hated Policies

By HENRI JONKER

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—This white-ruled country stands out as one of Africa's paradoxes.

The hand of practically every other country in Africa is against it. It is detested because of its race segregation policies. It is under intensified threats of trade and other sanctions in the United Nations.

Yet economic prosperity, especially for the white minority, is snowballing.

Industry is working at capacity, and more and bigger investment projects are getting under way.

"As a matter of fact, we are becoming rich", a leading industrialist observed recently. He noted that South Africans save 30 per cent of their national income, compared with 14.7 per cent for the United States.

South Africa is one of the few countries in the world that has not benefitted from America's multibillion dollar foreign aid. It does not need direct outside financial help.

TREASURE HOUSE

It is, to a large extent, the world's treasure house, producing 70 per cent of the western world's gold. It has the highest production of gem diamonds, chrome ore and platinum, second highest of asbestos and antimony ore, third highest of managanese, vanadium ore and industrial diamonds.

In the first three months of 1963, fixed investment increased by 8 per cent over the corresponding figure for last year.

The value of gold production, $441 million in the first half of 1962, rose to $473 million in the first half of this year.

American, Canadian, British and German enterprise is combining with South African interests to establish one of the world's greatest open-pit copper mines. An estimated $100 million will be spent to bring it to the production stage.

Agricultural crops are good and exports of corn and sugar have risen steeply.

Despite much-increased imports not offset by extra exports, the country's foreign reserves remain high.

There is little danger that a shortage of foreign exchange would compel the government to restrain an upward movement of the economy.

The record inflow of white immigrants, currently about 2,500 per month, is relieving a shortage of skilled workers and has converted unemployment in the building industry into a building boom.

The immigrants also boost trade by the ready cash they bring with them.

A U.S.-South African venture has started production of automobile shock absorbers, a result of the government's insistence on increased local content in motor vehicles.

It has become easy to build homes. A couple can get loans on 10 per cent down and 40 years to repay. In some schemes, no down payment is required.

If the United States raises the dollar price of gold, several South African mines will be able to work ore deposits which it does not pay to touch now.

Voice of the People:

'U.S. Give-Away Habit May Cause Bankruptcy'

I received letters from our Senator Hart and Representative Bill Broomfield on the subject of foreign aid in reply to mine. I am sick and tired of this give-away habit and pray that congress comes to its senses before we reach national bankruptcy.

These people contend, from bitter personal experience, that the Communist cannot be trusted.

The Cancer News

Once we were a family of four. We had two fine boys and the usual assortment of bills, problems, love and happiness. I felt strongly, however, that there was one more child flitting around heaven just waiting to come to us.

Seven years of doctors, prayers, disappointments and two miscarriages went by before we finally gave away the clothes.

Then the miracle.

★ ★ ★

He was very special. This child awakened our family. He reopened our eyes and hearts to rich new depths of love and happiness.

His was a will and spirit so intense and vital I hoped the world could never tame it, for to us it was as refreshing and free as a cool breeze.

He loved roly-poly bugs, puppies, hot dogs, puzzles and, most of all, trains.

Then he became ill. We were told that he had leukemia — blood cancer — and was going to die. That afternoon my husband assembled the tricycle we had hidden away for Christmas, and together we watched him happily ride it for a short while before we left for the hospital.

After three weeks of needles, pain, transfusions and pills, we were able to bring him home. Then began the endless blood tests and the deadly game of trying to keep this child alive.

Looking into the bright, confident eyes of a beloved child with the certain knowledge we had, listening to the pain of treatments which could not cure, watching this beautiful creation of God's slowly die — this was unbearable. But he died for a whole year, and no help came.

When he cried, "Mama, help me!" I could not. As his body swelled, I gave him love instead of healing medicine. As he went blind, I told him stories to ease the pain. Through the last days, as parts of his body became forever cold, I covered them with blankets. As he hemorrhaged and was racked by convulsions, I said goodby for a while. After he was dead, I closed his eyes.

So we are four again. We know once again that there is a child in heaven who is part of us. But we were fortunate enough to know him.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday I noticed on the store counter the familiar container labeled "Give to Cancer." One dime lay on the bottom, and it somehow made the container seem more empty than if there had been none.

If this can help you know that your money can someday give to other children what we were unable to give to our little boy, then Mark's light may also shine on them.

Nutty?

The Odessa (Texas) American

He wants to run his own business.

He wants to select his own doctor.

He wants to make his own bargains.

He wants to select his own reading.

He wants to provide for his own old age.

He wants to select his own charities.

He wants to educate his children as he wishes.

He wants to select his own friends.

He wants to provide his own recreation.

He wants to compete freely in the market place.

He wants to take part in the competition of ideas.

He wants to be a man of good will.

★ ★ ★

What kind of nut is he? He's an American who understands and believes in the Declaration of Independence — that's what kind. Aren't you glad you are, too? And don't you wonder why so many of our fellow Americans are trying so hard to destroy the kind of life that has made us the aim and envy of every other people on earth?

★ ★ ★

The question is: What kind of nuts are they?

Recall Push Gets Retort in Detroit

By United Press International

Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen today said an announced recall petition against him "appeared to be the irresponsible action of unintelligent, false leaders who are hurting the Negro cause in the community."

The Detroit Council on Human Rights adopted a four-part civil rights plank, including setting up apparatus for a recall election, at its meeting Monday night.

The DCHR anticipated the action in protest of the July 5 shooting of Cynthia Scott, a Negro prostitute, by a Detroit policeman.

★ ★ ★

Olsen said the group was within its constitutional rights to seek a recall election.

"Michigan law provides for the recall of county officers. It can be initiated by petitions signed by qualified electors totaling not less than 25 per cent of the votes cast for all candidates for governor at the 1962 election.

"Since there were approximately 800,000 votes cast for all candidates, it would require at least 200,000 valid signatures to justify the calling of an election for recall. Judging by the proportion of good and bad signatures you find on petitions, this would mean about 250,000 signatures," he said.

★ ★ ★

The prosecutor, whose investigation ruled patrolman Theodore Spicher was innocent of criminal negligence in the shooting, said:

"If that many people want to sign recall petitions that is their privilege. However, knowing who the sponsors of this movement would be, this appears to be nothing but the irresponsible action of unintelligent, false leaders who are hurting the Negro cause in this community and are doing it more damage than years of cooperation will ever overcome."

ALMOST BUSTED — Jimmie Arrowood of Charlotte, N.C., almost finished a "California or Bust" bicycle trip in Birmingham, Ala., when the rear wheel fell apart. Consecutive Terms OK for Alabama Governors

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — The Alabama House by a 78-11 vote yesterday approved a bill to allow a governor to serve consecutive terms.

The measure was amended on the House floor to apply to Gov. George Wallace. Current law prohibits a governor from succeeding himself although he may seek the office again after a four-year wait.

Ecuador Approves Ban

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Ecuador looks upon the American-British-Soviet nuclear test ban agreement "with deep satisfaction," and intends to sign it, a Foreign Ministry statement said Tuesday.

Thought of N War Sobers Russians

MOSCOW (UPI) — "In case of atomic attack," says one Russian to another, "cover yourself with a white sheet and crawl slowly to the cemetery."

★ ★ ★

"Why slowly?" asked the friend.

"So as not to cause panic," answers the other.

★ ★ ★

This joke reflects the somber attitude which many Russians are taking towards thermonuclear war. And in recent weeks they have received strong warnings from Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the Soviet press as to what it may be like.

For a long time, the press avoided the subject. There were no pamphlets describing what to do. There was no fall-out shelter program as in the United States.

Khrushchev put it simply July 20 when he said: "Won't the living envy the dead?"

★ ★

He was referring to the wholesale pollution of the atmosphere which a thermonuclear war might cause.

The Sino-Soviet rift has deepened. Descriptions of the horrors have become more frequent.

They are particularly occasioned by the Chinese advocacy of violent means to overcome capitalism and imperialism.

RIDICULES IDEA

Speaking at a friendship meeting for visiting Hungarian leader Janos Kadar July 20, Khrushchev ridiculed the idea that a bright new society could be built "on the corpses of millions and millions of dead."

"By the calculations of experts, about one billion persons would be killed as a result of the very first blow, and the great cities of Europe, Asia and North America could be destroyed," he said.

The Communist newspaper Pravda a few days later said:

★ ★ ★

"The effects of a thermonuclear war would show on life's progeny, bringing death and disease and carrying with it a disformed growth of humanity."

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev played on a similar theme in his written message to an international women's conference here in June.

"The peoples realize more and more clearly that a new world war, should it break out, will be different from past wars.

★ ★ ★

"It will mean the loss of hundreds of millions of people, the destruction of the fruits of creative efforts of dozens of generations. It will inevitably reduce to ashes very much of what is generally referred to as civilization."

May Abolish Post of State Road Chief

LANSING (AP) — Abolition of the office of state highway commissioner by the end of the year is being considered by a legislative committee completing preparations for implementing Michigan's new constitution.

The joint house - senate committee — a subcommittee of a larger group — has been assigned the task of applying the new document to the executive department and administrative agencies.

If the legislature decides to abolish the office effective Dec. 31, it would put Highway Commissioner John Mackie out of his $17,500-a year job a full 18 months before the June 30, 1965 expiration of the term for which he was elected.

★ ★ ★

"Since the highway commissioner's office is created by statute, it can be abolished by statute," said Sen. Garry Brown, R-Schoolcraft, chairman of the subcommittee and onetime constitutional convention delegate.

★

Brown explained to the committee that since the new constitution establishes a four-member bipartisan state highway commission to administer the highway department, the question remains of when the transfer of authority should take place.

If the new commission is to take over after the constitution goes into effect next Jan. 1, the legislature must either abolish Mackie's job or else strip him of his powers and duties, Brown said.

Stripped of his powers, Mackie would then remain in office and draw his salary, but he would have no authority over the highway department.

★ ★ ★

Failure of the legislature to act one way or the other before the end of the year would give Mackie constitutional authority to continue to exercise his full powers and duties, it was pointed out.

Gen. P. J. Hurley, Former Envoy, Dies

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Retired Gen. Patrick Jay Hurley, wartime ambassador to China and the last living member of the Hoover cabinet, is dead of a suspected heart attack at the age of 80.

* * *

The tall, gregarious Hurley, born on the Choctaw Nation before Oklahoma became a state, died in his sleep Tuesday night at his elegant hillside home overlooking the New Mexico capital.

The man who rose from an Army private in 1902 to major general in 1943, was best known recently as ambassador to China and the man who carried his fight for a U.S. Senate seat to the Senate floor in 1954 before losing a roll call vote.

New Leader in Korea No Stranger to Trouble

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Hamilton H. Howze, who takes command today in Korea, is a ramrod paratrooper who is no stranger to that tinderbox—or to trouble.

Two years ago, Howze, 54, headed the military assistance group advising South Korea's army.

Since then, things have moved swiftly for Howze, who fought in World War II in North Africa and Italy.

He joined the development command at Continental Army Command headquarters. Then he took over the Strategic Army Command and XVIII Airborne Corps at Ft. Bragg, at the same time heading the Army Mobility Board.

When the racial crisis broke out over integration at the University of Mississippi, Howze was sent to Oxford to command federal troops.

The lean, square-jawed officer reportedly was picked personally by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara for the Korean job in which he replaces retiring Gen. Guy S. Meloy.

Howze is taking on three jobs: commander of the 8th Army, all of U.S. forces—Army, Air Force and Navy—in Korea, and of all U.N. forces—American, South Korean and token Turkish and Thai forces which have remained there since the Korean War.

LIKE A GENERAL

Howze looks and acts like a general—and should. He was born at West Point. His father was Maj. Gen. Robert L. Howze, and his brother is retired Maj. Gen. Robert L. Howze Jr.

HOWZE

The Korean headquarters of the 1st Cavalry Division is Camp Howze, named after the new commander's father, who once served in the 1st Cavalry.

* * *

Howze speaks in a voice of authority. Those who served under him remember that when he issues an order, it is obeyed with dispatch. They also say that if he seems demanding, it is because he wants action, fast and to the point.

But his friends deny some descriptions of Howze as a "swashbuckling" general, patterned to the mold of the late Gen. George S. Patton. He is too carefully deliberate to fit that description, they insist.

* * *

He plays tennis, squash and golf.

Howze is qualified for flying single and multi-engined aircraft. Although high-ranking Army generals don't get much opportunity to fly, Howze still keeps his pilot's rating.

Married in 1936, he and his wife have two sons, Guy R. and William G. He calls El Paso, Tex., his official home.

Board to Eye School Building

Will Review Progress in Waterford Twp.

Waterford Township Board of Education members tomorrow night will review progress to date on the school system's proposed building program.

Preliminary architectural plans on new school buildings and additions have been completed and work on applications for the first of two bond issues is in progress.

Voters approved a $6.25-million bond issue proposal last June 10 for construction of new schools and additions over a five-year period.

* * *

Applications for a $4.25-million bond issue will be filed with the Municipal Finance Commission and Department of Public Instruction when completed.

This bond issue will finance the building program. A subsequent $2-million bond issue mainly will finance furnishings in the new facilities.

In other business, the board will consider new teaching contracts and a requested leave of absence.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Asked:

Does Hemorrhage Cause Memory Loss?

Q—I am a 63-year-old housewife. I have had trouble with my memory ever since a severe hemorrhage several years ago. Could this have damaged my brain?

* * *

A—No one has a perfect memory at any age. Loss of memory is a very hard thing to measure. I do not think it likely that the hemorrhage referred to is a cause of your difficulty, but some loss of memory does accompany advancing age. This is due to the slow hardening of the arteries that supply the brain.

BRANDSTADT

This is a form of brain damage that happens to all of us. It is typical of the elderly to remember vividly things that happened in their childhood but to forget what they had for breakfast.

Forgetfulness may be aggravated by fatigue, illness, or worry. The only drug that appears to help the memory is ribonucleic acid, and the use of this drug is still considered experimental.

Q—My husband has been suffering from boils. Could he get osteomyelitis from them?

* * *

A—Boils and osteomyelitis are both caused by staphylococci. But it would be unusual for osteomyelitis to occur as a result of boils.

In osteomyelitis, the germs have to reach the bone. They may do this when a deep abscess penetrates as far inward as the bone, or when a broken bone is exposed through the skin.

* * *

The germs may also be carried to the bone in the blood. This is not likely to result from a boil, because the boil is a relatively superficial lesion in which the infection is well walled off from the surrounding healthy tissue.

Q—Why aren't doctors required to do the Pap test in all physical examinations of women?

* * *

A—The so-called Pap test is a very valuable test for the early detection of uterine cancer. Many doctors do use it routinely, and many more should do so.

However, it would not be desirable to pass a law requiring such a test, because the mere presence of the law could not guarantee the quality of this test. This requires careful training of skilled technicians.

Furthermore, a better test may come along and supplant the Pap test, in which case it would be dropped. If it were required by law, it might take years to get the law repealed. Your doctor should always be free to determine what measures to take in caring for his patients.

Q—I had four cysts removed from my right lower eyelid in five years. Now I am getting another one. What makes them keep coming back?

A—Some people get two or three such cysts at once. The cause is unknown, but the tendency to recur is well recognized. If, when the cyst is removed, the cyst wall is scraped thoroughly with a curette the chance of a recurrence in the same location is decreased.

Serene Livingston County Grows, Changes

Still Rural But Growing, Livingston County Is Oakland's Partner In The New 19th Congressional District

By JIM DYGERT

Picture a serene rural county surrounded on all sides by burgeoning metropolitan areas beginning to overflow.

New people with new attitudes are coming in. Powerful forces of change are at hand. The first signs of political and economic upheaval have already appeared.

Such is Livingston County, which will become Oakland County's partner in the new 19th Congressional district when the State Legislature's redistricting bill takes effect Sept. 6.

NO PROBLEMS

It seemed only yesterday that Livingston felt complacently removed from the growth problems of its neighbors — Oakland County on the east, Detroit to the southeast, Lansing on the west, Flint to the north and Ann Arbor to the south.

Actually, the growth had been creeping up. Population rose steadily from 26,725 in 1950 to 38,233 in 1960. Now it's expanding faster and beginning to make its effects felt.

* * *

Most of the newcomers have come from the Detroit area into Hamburg and Green Oak townships in the county's southeast corner, bringing with them a political energy that engineered the county's first striking change in years — a face-lifting and resurgence of the Democratic party.

"Democrats here have a new militancy," says Charles R. Ward, chairman of the county Republican organization that has been comfortably in power for as long as anyone can remember.

"Our party is very vigorous," says Democratic County Chairman Ed Rettinger, Hamburg Township clerk who last year took over the party helm from colorful Martin J. Lavan, a sandy-haired Irishman of legendary swashbuckling prowess as a criminal lawyer.

TIED TO LABOR

Rettinger, a patternmaker employed in Southfield, represents the modern breed of liberal Democrats, many of whom have close ties with the labor movement.

In the many years under Lavan, most party members were conservative farmers whose fathers and grandfathers were Democrats.

* * *

Party leaders have begun meeting with Oakland County Democrats on party reorganization problems raised by the new districting, something Republicans in the two counties have yet to do.

* * *

Democrats still have a long way to go in Livingston, however. Gov. George Romney won 64 per cent of the county's votes and carried all 16 townships for the GOP last fall.

Experts figure the county will be safe for the GOP for a while.

Republicans, meanwhile, have another problem — an old-meets-new internal conflict of their own.

Ward, a retired Detroit financier with a small farm, became county chairman last year by defeating incumbent Paul (Pete) Baldwin, a 40-year-old Howell druggist aligned with GOP "moderates" who took control of the State Senate from "old guard" conservatives.

Ward, a conservative, feels that Livingston's prevailing outlook matches his. Many county Republicans voted against the new state constitution April 1.

But Baldwin, despite his defeat, is convinced the trend is toward a more liberal Republicanism cognizant of modern problems.

State Rep. Thomas G. Sharpe, though allied with conservatives when he became a Con-Con delegate in 1961 and a freshman legislator last fall, has showed signs of "moderating" a little.

* * *

"I'm not a liberal Republican," Sharpe says, and he still finds it "hard to vote for an income tax." But, he adds, "I know we need tax reform."

Livingston Republicans face still another adjustment — loss of what little political power the county enjoyed.

BALANCE OF POWER

In the county's old Congressional district with Ingham and Genesee counties, the GOP had at Ann Arbor and the Detroit area Republicans and Flint area Democrats offset each other, leaving Livingston with the balance of vote power in a congressional election.

Not so in the new 19th, where Livingston will have less than an eighth of the 346,000 district population and the Oakland area, though Democratic Pontiac and Waterford Township, is already 60 per cent Republican in its voting habits.

* * *

"We're the tail end of every combination," says Democrat Lavan. "Did you ever see the tail wag the dog?"

Livingston shares its state House district with more populous Shiawassee County and its senate district with Ingham. Sharpe was the first Livingston man to win a House seat in 14 years. No state senator or Congressman came from the county within anyone's memory.

* * *

But the growing population may some day change that, too, just as it's already beginning to alter the county's economy.

Farming is still the leading income producer, to the tune of $10 million a year. But farms are getting bigger and fewer.

Planners such as Hans H. Haugard, a Michigan State University extension agent who works closely with the county planning commission, want what all growing areas seek—new industry. "Our tax base is too low," Haugard says.

Most new residents still work outside the county, creating residential "bedroom communities" with typically low tax assessments. Less than half the county's 12,000 labor force work in the county, including 1,900 in agriculture. Unemployment is high besides.

Howell, the county seat, is developing an 18-acre industrial park, but this is only a start. It's hoped the I-96 freeway will help.

Haugard is trying to drum up support for a huge industrial research complex near Brighton, the county's only other city, to serve as a stellar attraction. It would be centrally located to MSU, the University of Michigan and the Detroit

Waterford Sees Rise in Students

The number of school age youngsters in Waterford Township has increased by 729 in a year's time, according to a recently completed school census.

A slight decrease was registered, however, in the number of preschool age youngsters in the school system.

In 1962 the census showed 16,013 school age children (5-19) and 6,774 in the preschool category, age four and under.

* * *

This year the census revealed a total of 16,742 youngsters of school age and 6,626 preschoolers.

Enrollment in the school system is estimated at 14,950 for the 1963-64 school year compared to 14,192 during the school year that ended in June.

Students in parochial and other private schools make up the difference between the expected public school enrollment and the school district census total.

* * *

Despite the expected enrollment rise, present public school facilities are termed adequate by school officials for the coming year.

A five-year school building program approved June 10 at the polls will be launched soon to provide added facilities beginning with the 1964-65 school year.

School officials anticipate continuing higher enrollments in coming years, particularly in the secondary schools.

* * *

The elementary school enrollment may begin to level off in five years as indicated by a decrease this year in the number of children under one year of age.

* * *

In 1962 there were 1,259 youngsters in this age bracket recorded by the census. The figure dropped to 1,106 in the 1963 census.

Pontiac City Affairs

OK Lots for Hospital Parking

The City Commission last night okayed purchasing 12 lots for $127,537.30 for an employes parking lot at Pontiac General Hospital.

Action came after City Attorney William A. Ewart reported that options had been obtained on all 12 parcels south of the hospital's present public parking lot between Johnson and Seminole.

The proposed lot is to have about 200 spaces.

Cost of buying the land, clearing and paving it is estimated at $170,000. It will be paid from the hospital's depreciation fund over a two-year period.

* * *

Commissioners also authorized the city to advertise for bids on construction of a community recreation center on the old water works site on Walnut south of Wessen.

Bids will be opened at City Hall Aug. 27 at 2 p.m.

ESTIMATED COST

Estimated cost of the center is $337,728, half of which will come from federal aid under the public works acceleration program.

Bids on the second temporary loan note issue to finance continued operations in the R44 urban renewal project were given to commissioners by City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

The preliminary tabulation showed Community National Bank submitted the lowest of six bids, offering to buy the $1.45 million in notes at a 1.8 per cent annual interest rate.

The bank's bid was .12 per cent lower than the second lowest bid. The notes will expire in one year.

Bids have been sent to urban renewal officials in Chicago for approval before the commission awards sale of the notes.

Also approved was a resolution calling for an addition to Hangar No. 3 at Pontiac Municipal Airport, proposed for the city's 1964 airport improvement program.

The total estimated cost is $57,355.54, of which the city's share is $14,338.89. An identical amount would be paid by state funds and some $28,677.77 in federal aid would make up the difference.

The hangar expansion hinges now on federal and state approval of the proposed project.

A petition requesting sidewalk reconstruction on a portion of East Wilson, signed by 28.18 per cent of the affected property owners, was accepted for consideration.

* * *

Mayor Pro-tem Winford E. Bottom was appointed as Pontiac's official representative at the Annual Michigan Municipal League Meeting Sept. 5-7 at Mackinac Island.

Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. was named alternate representative at the meeting.

SEWER ESTIMATES

Cost estimates were presented for a proposed sanitary sewer project and four curb and gutter projects. Public hearings on the city's intention to proceed with the curb projects were scheduled for the Aug. 20 meeting.

The sewer is to run from Tallahassee to West Boulevard on the northeast side of Oakland. It's cost was set at $21,406, to be paid entirely by Lloyd Motor Sales, the only firm in that area to benefit from the sewer.

Locations of the curb and gutter jobs and cost estimates are as follows.

Columbia, Joslyn to west line of Lot 21, Assessor's Plat 102. Assessed cost, $21,318; city share, $10,688.15; sewer stubs, $1,397; total cost, $33,403.15.

Monticello, Orlando to Inglewood. Assessed cost, $2,787.50; city share, $1,-763.88; total cost, $4,521.43.

Sarasota, Oakland to Tallahassee. Assessed cost, $8,066.80; city share, $16,-228.17; sewer stubs, $648; total cost, $25,053.97.

Tallahassee, Sarasota to Inglewood. Assessed cost, $2,855.70; city share, $1,491.23; sewer stubs, $376; total cost, $5,023.93.

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

With the number of travelers hitting a peak, many in unfamiliar territory, area natives are being accosted with increasing frequency and asked directions of various kinds.

* * *

But rumors reaching HAM (Heldenbrand Academy of Misguidance) indicate an alarming increase in the number of wayfarers being given simple, accurate and concise answers.

This is at variance with time-honored practice, and HAM is devoting every resource to keeping it from spreading.

We have, for instance, a well-documented report of Traveler X stopping Citizen Y in Village Z and asking directions to Point A.

HELDENBRAND

* * *

It is to be everlastingly regretted that Y, hardly breaking stride, replied: "Ahead one block to light — turn right for 9.7 miles."

Zounds! Things have come to a pretty pass when this sort of thing can happen in broad daylight. The identity of Y has been determined, and a copy of the HAM manual sent him with the correct answer marked on page 34:

". . . Well, let's see. If I were you, I'd go to the fourth light, starting three back, and take a right — although the black top's pretty bad in places. Maybe, though, you'd better go on to the edge of town and look for 218— no, I guess it's 281.

"Turn right and keep on four-five miles to where the road forks. Don't take the left — that goes on to No Junction . . . although you could double back from there to where you're going. What you want to do is take the right fork — that way you won't have no trouble."

Or, let's look at the case history (File No. 12-Fi416) of an itinerant we'll call Herman Zilch — because that's his name. He stopped a passerby and asked if he knew where one Harry Carey could be found.

* * *

Passerby violated all protocol by answering: "Yep. His office is at end of block over Pillus Capsule's drug store."

Tsk-tsk-tsk. Pretty discouraging, isn't it? Let's turn to pg. 97, par. 3 of the manual:

* * *

"When questioned about identity and whereabout of local resident, always answer with another question, e. g.:

"'(a) Would that be the Carey who married one of the McStew sisters?'

"'(b) Is he the one who lost an arm in the Spanish American War?'

"'(c) Didn't he run for sheriff, back a few years?'

"At this point, subject will likely become so confused — with doubt forming as to whether he in truth seeks Harry Carey, or Carey Harry — that he will break off contact and seek information elsewhere."

* * *

These are but two examples of the many serious breaches in prescribed mode of issuing directions which HAM is laboring to reform.

City Amends Parking Lot Bumper Law

The city took steps last night to keep its off-street parking lots in line with a city ordinance regulating parking lots.

Until now, the bumper blocks in many municipal lots have violated the local law.

The law prescribes steel poles for bumper blocks. The city uses concrete blocks on many lots.

The oversight was recently discovered and an amendment allowing concrete bumper blocks was introduced at last night's City Commission meeting.

* * *

In addition to putting city lots on the right side of the law, it will enable private lots to use the less expensive concrete bumper blocks.

U.S. Eating Habits Questioned by Europeans

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — Europeans, often puzzled by American tribal customs but usually too courteous to question them, have launched an investigation into U. S. eating habits.

Why, the question is, do Americans first cut their food into small pieces, then put down the knife and eat with the fork in the right hand?

In Europe it is considered elegant to keep the fork in the left hand. The knife is retained in the right and cutting continues throughout the course.

* * *

The investigation started in the correspondence columns of the London Times. An inquiring Londoner named Ronald Barker wrote:

* * *

"While visiting the United States recently I asked numerous Americans if they knew the origin of the American habit of switching the fork to the right hand to lift cut food to the mouth.

* * *

"Guesses included the suggestion that this shift was introduced to slow down the rate of eating and thus improve the digestion, that it was desirable to leave the left hand free to grab the frontier rifle, and that most of the people on the Mayflower were lefthanded anyway.

"Someone even suggested that the whole of Europe used to use the fork in the right hand, and that it is only the Americans who have remained faithful to this ancient elegance.

"Does anyone know the true beginning?"

Today the answers started arriving.

From Harold Braham in Paris came this letter:

"I suggest that the answer is that this is the simplest way to eat.

* * *

"Although not an American I often adopt the practice at buffet suppers and other barbarous occasions when one has to eat with the plate on one's knees."

H. Puller-Strecker of London had a more elaborate theory.

"To me," he wrote, "the characteristic thing about the American way of eating is not which hand holds the fork which holds the knife — neither, since it is put down after cutting up the meat.

"Knives being the dearer tool, this may date from the pioneer days when presumably the family's only knife was passed down the table in order of seniority."

S. P. Walker of Oxford thought the custom had an origin similar to that of the handshake.

"I have been told," he said, "that Americans put their knives down so that strangers at the same table can clearly see that no one can attack them unexpectedly, and that they in turn can be seen to harbor no ill intentions."

British 'Queens' Draw Fines for Smoking Up Port

NEW YORK (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary have been fined $100 each for smoking in the port.

The Cunard Liners were charged with violating city air pollution laws. Both were fourth offenders, it was noted by Criminal Court Judge Herman Weinkranz.

The judge commented as he levied the fines: "We can't discriminate between queens."

* * *

Muriel Bell, attorney representing the Cunard Line, entered a guilty plea and said the liners smoke so much because of their advanced age. The line is attempting to cure the problem, the lawyer added.

Admiral Asks Pact Rejection

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Retired Adm. Arthur W. Radford yesterday criticized the test ban agreement and urged the Senate not to ratify it.

* * *

The former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said the halt of nuclear tests in the atmosphere would stop this country's development of an antimissile missile which he said the Soviet Union already has.

* * *

Speaking at a lunch meeting of the county Republican associates, Radford said the Soviets never agree to a treaty unless they can'break it or unless the treaty is to their advantage.

* * *

Radford said President Kennedy is not seeking advice on important matters in which the military view should be considered.

* * *

He added that he is disappointed with the President's decision not to reappoint Adm. George Anderson as chief of naval operations.

Set to Pick Doctor Argentine President

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Presidential electors vote in provincial capitals today with a country doctor, Arturo Illia, slated to be their choice for Argentina's 29th president.

The final tally is not expected until Thursday, but Illia, 62, has more than enough pledges to win.

* * *

The moderate leftist awaited the results at his home in Cruz del Eje, 460 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, where he has mixed politics with prescriptions for 25 years.

His administration is expected to be anti-Communist, although he promised in his campaign to cancel foreign oil development contracts. U.S. firms hold most of these contracts.

'NOT ANTI-YANKEE'

"We are not anti-Yankee," Illia said during the campaign. "We only want to be respected as a sovereign government and have things done in broad daylight."

He contended the foreign oil contracts benefited some officials and merchants rather than the country as a whole.

Illia won 26 per cent of the vote in the July 7 election to lead the nine-man field. He picked up additional electoral college pledges in post-election negotiations.

Argentina's military, in control behind President Jose Maria Guido's caretaker government, gave its approval to the July 7 results and cleared the way for an end to 16 months of political turmoil.

Ex-President Arturo Frondizi, ousted March 29, 1962, was expected to be freed from house arrest. The military deposed Frondizi after he allowed followers of exiled dictator Juan D. Peron to run in provincial and local elections and they came out ahead.

The military barred followers of the ex-dictator from the presidential election. Peron called for a blank vote, but only 16 per cent of the eligible voters cast blank ballots. Another 16 per cent stayed away from the polls.

Churches Urge Acceptance of N-Ban Treaty

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prompt ratification of the nuclear test ban agreement was urged yesterday by the National Council of Churches.

The 40-million member council said in a telegram to Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee:

". . . Ratification is important for security, political, economic and moral reasons.

"We are calling our people to pray to Almighty God in thanksgiving for the achievement of the draft treaty with the promise of benefits for the world and future generations and in petitions for further steps toward peaceful development among God's human family."

Copies of the wire, signed by Council President J. Irwin Miller, were sent to President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and W. Averell Harriman, test ban negotiator.

Trial Board Member Leaves Pontiac Post

The City Commission last night accepted the resignation of Daniel Mattingly from the Police Trial Board.

Mattingly, formerly of 631 Benson, resigned because he has moved to a residence outside the city. Trial board members are required to be Pontiac residents.

He was appointed to the board to fill a vacancy in November 1959 and reappointed in 1961. A successor will be named at a later meeting to serve the remainder of his term which expires in 1966.

Buddhists Deride Words of American Ambassador

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Buddhist leaders publicly admonished U.S. Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting Jr. today.

Buddhist criticism of Nolting was aimed at a statement attributed to the ambassador printed two days ago in the local English language newspaper.

Nolting was quoted as saying the trouble "with this damn thing, if I may speak frankly, is that everybody focuses on a tiny aspect of it.

"I myself, I say this frankly after almost 2½ years, have never seen any evidence of religious persecution."

The Buddhist statement said, in part:

"It is necessary to have lived in central Viet Nam, especially in the provinces of Quang Ngai, Phu Yen and Binh Dinh for the past five years, and to participate in the life of Buddhists to note the frequent cases of persecution, exercised under cover of legality."

Informally, a Buddhist spokesman described Nolting's statement as the ambassador's "parting gift" to President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic.

Nolting could not be reached for comment.

Nolting is scheduled to leave Saigon within several weeks, and will be succeeded by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.

Critics of the Diem regime, including Buddhist leaders, have charged Nolting has been too close to the Saigon government and has discounted all criticism.

City Won't Try for Tax Notes

Drain Finance Method Shelved Temporarily

The city will not apply for tax anticipation notes to finance Clinton River Drain construction at this time.

The alternate method of financing the project was considered but has been shelved, at least temporarily, City Manager Robert A. Stierer reported at last night's City Commission meeting.

Stierer's report came after consultation with State Highway Department officials and bonding attorneys.

"We won't go into tax anticipation notes now since we find it will still be possible to pave and utilize a major portion of the perimeter road," said Stierer.

CONCERNED

City officials had been concerned over a stall in drain construction jeopardizing construction of the perimeter road.

The Oakland County Drain Commission is unable to sell bonds to finance the river project because of a drainage suit filed in Detroit Federal Court by a group of Macomb County citizens.

The suit challenging Michigan drain laws was dismissed but the plaintiffs have until Sept. 8 to file an appeal.

STILL CAN BEGIN

"We still can begin construction of the drain this fall if no appeal is filed by Sept. 8," Stierer said.

A culvert must be built under the perimeter road at East Huron before that section can be paved.

Highway department officials said contractors would begin paving about Aug. 15 and skip the section from Pike to Mt. Clemens.

Contractors can pave that section later this fall if necessary, officials said. They estimated that paving would be complete from South Saginaw around to Cass and West Huron, with or without the culvert, by Nov. 1.

On Public Works Program

Dem Blasts Broomfield Stand

Oakland County Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin said today he will urge his party's leaders to start "a vigorous campaign to convince Congressman William S. Broomfield to change his position" on the federal accelerated public works program.

★ ★ ★

Levin said Republican Broomfield's opposition to more funds is "untenable and unconscionable in view of the long list of outstanding applications from Oakland County."

Broomfield voted against a $450-million appropriation for the program in April. The House approved the funds, overturning its appropriations committee's refusal to do so.

Broomfield said he voted as he did because "a meaningful tax cut" is impossible without a drop in spending.

★ ★ ★

Levin claimed that pending applications for federal matching funds under the program from the county and a number of county communities involved more than $10 million.

"Broomfield prides himself on mail surveys to determine public sentiment, but in this critical matter of public concern, he votes against the needs of suburban areas," Levin said.

SEVERAL BILLS

Levin said several bills are now before the House Public Works Committee to extend the authorization beyond the original $900 million. The Democrats' persuasion campaign would be directed at Broomfield's vote on these.

Most of the projects for which county communities have applied for funds involve sewer and water lines. One is a Waterford Township water supply system.

Among the county's requests is one for $323,000 to start a Children's Village for housing and diagnostic treatment of Juvenile Court wards.

County officials have a number of other projects on the planning board which depend on more money becoming available in the program.

Levin referred to $161 million in new public improvements which "could get under way" in the county with federal aid He said they would provide some 17,000 jobs for one year.

Levin also criticized County Board of Supervisors Chairman Delos Hamlin for a statement that, "We can't support the program, but if the money is available we're going to fight hard to get our share."

★ ★ ★

"This is an inconsistent position," Levin said.

★ ★ ★

"Broomfield and Hamlin should be squarely behind this program, which could greatly benefit Oakland County."

New Insect Bomb Kills Fast...

KEEPS KILLING INSECTS 3 TIMES LONGER THAN OLD-FASHIONED SPRAYS!

Kills flies and mosquitoes fast, then keeps killing 3 times longer than old-fashioned sprays.

Scientific tests of insecticides at a major laboratory tell a surprising story: Of the leading sprays tested, many lose their power to kill soon after they are used! But with the discovery of Black Flag Insect Bomb, you keep killing flying insects after old-fashioned sprays are no longer in the air. In test after test, Black Flag kept its killing action three times longer than the old-fashioned sprays.

The reason: Old-fashioned sprays actually "fade away" minutes after you use them. No wonder bugs come back to bother you!

But one spray of Black Flag Insect Bomb kills fast, then keeps killing flies and mosquitoes three times longer. Yet you cannot see Black Flag at work. It's invisible! Only the bugs know it's there.

So why use old-fashioned sprays at home? Their killing action can fade away in minutes! Bugs come back to attack you. Instead, use Black Flag Insect Bomb in the convenient green-and-white push-button can. Scientific tests proved Black Flag kills fast, then keeps killing three times longer than old-fashioned sprays.

For longer lasting action against flying insects, get new

Creativity Expressed at Cranbrook Theater School

Outside study groups such as this make play rehearsals a pleasure. Reading their lines for the upcoming production of "The Collegiate" are (from left) Joyce Harlan, Birmingham, director of the play; George Seedorff, 14, Union Lake; and Judie Gordon, 16, James K Boulevard.

The serenity of rippling brooks, fountains and acres of wooded land form the backdrop for a most unique series of productions — the Cranbrook Summer Theatre.

The theatre-school was organized 22 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wonnberger who still operate it. It was created to encourage the youngster with a serious interest in the performing arts and has seen three generations of students.

Many former students are now teaching at the school.

Twenty-five students comprised the first school session. Since then the enrollment has grown to approximately 100 students. Staff instructors and student aides number about 26.

* * *

Students are encouraged to express their talent and creativity throughout the program. A philosophy of active participation by all and a stress on independence further strengthen their opportunity to learn and practice.

* * *

There is no prompting in any of the productions; neither are there scripts during the daily rehearsals. Students are trained to improvise, to use their skill and imagination in order to meet any situation which might arise.

* * *

Students at Cranbrook are grouped by age into three categories; junior, third grade to 11 years old; intermediate, 12-13 years of age; and senior, 14 years and over.

Working scholarships are available to graduating high school boys and also to those attending high school. Eighteen are presently on this plan which allows a youth to help out in the theatre in return for his classes and other theatre activities.

* * *

Normal routine in the life of a Cranbrook student starts in the morning with classes in pantomime, speech and dancing for the younger groups, and voice, diction, stage make-up, stagecraft and direction lessons for the more advanced groups.

* * *

Also included in the early hours are daily rehearsals for the students' weekly plays and for their final productions. Afternoons are spent swimming.

* * *

Among this season's productions are two currently in rehearsal: "The Little Dog That Laughed," to be presented Aug. 2 and 3; and "The Collegiate," with original lyrics and score by Carl Wonnberger, scheduled for Aug. 6 and 7.

* * *

"The Sleeping Beauty" was presented last week, and "The Mousetrap" a drama by Agatha Christie, was given yesterday, with the final performance scheduled for this evening.

* * *

All plays are given in The Greek Theatre in Bloomfield Hills. Performances are set for 8:15 p.m., and tickets are available either at Grinnell's or at the Theatre.

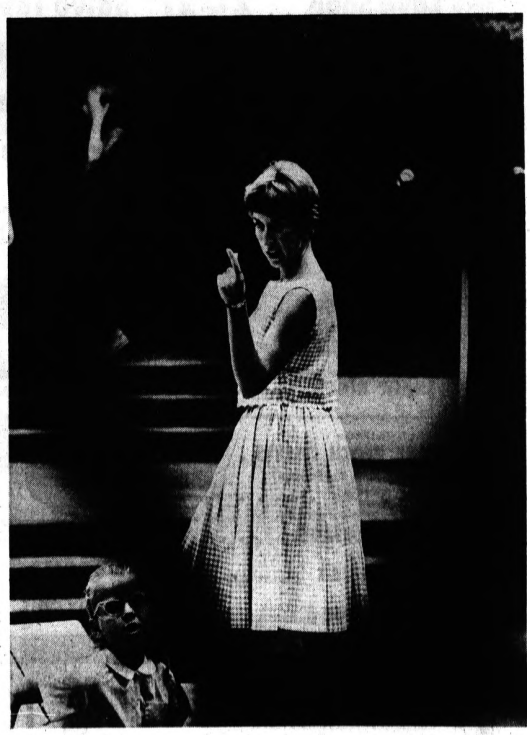

Solitude on the steps of the Greek Theater. This youngster, all alone in the giant auditorium, is perhaps going over her lines and maybe just waiting to be called.

WOMEN'S SECTION

The serenity of this wooded area provides a perfect atmosphere for relaxed study. Here, Christian Dodrill (left), 16-year-old from Bloomfield Hills, and Gregory Willihnganz, 17, of Rochester, go over their lines for production of "The Little Dog That Laughed."

Dance director Bonnie Walker of Mount Clemens takes her group on a trial run. This unusual shot was made through a lattice-type wall just outside the Greek Theater.

A rippling brook amid giant trees and greenery makes for a cool and refreshing summer scene. Taking a brief break from study are (from left) Nancy Wolfe, 20, Detroit; Jean Harlan, 12, Birmingham; Sue Merson, 13, Detroit; and Prudy Vogt, 12, Birmingham.

Cranbrook's Greek Amphitheater is the perfect setting for this scene, also from "The Collegiate." Rehearsing for the Aug. 6 and 7 performances are (from left) Robert Chapel, 18, Detroit; Judie Lane, 16, Chicago, Ill.; and Marie Exner, 16, Westwood, Birmingham. Judie is currently staying with the Wonnbergers at the Cranbrook School.

'I'm Trapped in Marriage'

Woman Plans to Pack

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I married on the rebound and it didn't work out. Now I find that I have fallen in love with another man, and I see no reason why I should spend the rest of my life trapped in a loveless marriage.

ABBY

We have no children. The other man has never been married. Should I just pack and leave? Or should I tell my husband what I have in mind?

He suspects nothing. When he finds me gone I suppose it will hurt him, but I think, in the long run, it would be kinder.

What do you think? Don't try to talk me into staying with my husband. My mind is made up.

LEAVING FOR LOVE

* * *

DEAR LEAVING: Aren't you mistaking "cowardice" for kindness? Don't just "pack and leave." Tell your husband what your intentions are.

DEAR ABBY: My parents are on this health food kick. Can you imagine anything more depressing than going to the refrigerator and seeing nothing but yogurt, honey, sugarless jells and dietetic soft drinks?

There is nothing in the house but wheat germ, soy bread and skim milk. I know it's supposed to be "healthy," but I can't seem to develop a taste for this kind of food. Can you help me?

SICK OF HEALTH FOOD

* * *

DEAR SICK: Perhaps if you understood more about health food, and why it has become so popular, you'd develop a "taste" for it. Ask your parents to give you a little "food" for thought.

DEAR ABBY: I love my husband and would do anything in the world for him, but oh, Abby — his mother! She is 63, intelligent and in excellent health, but she doesn't know what to do with herself.

* * *

She calls me every day to "go shopping" with her. Now I wouldn't mind "shopping" with her if she would only buy something.

We have spent hours shopping for dresses, hats, shoes, and furniture, and she has never bought a thing. When the clerks see us coming they run and hide in the back room. It's very humiliating.

I can't refuse to go shopping with her, but it is such a ridiculous waste of time, I am disgusted. She is wearing me out. What should I do?

WORN OUT

DEAR WORN: Instead of helping her kill time, show her how to use time constructively. The Red Cross, her own church auxiliary and countless worthwhile volunteer groups need women with her energy. And she needs them even more.

DEAR ABBY: To "Young Mother" re the stolen grape, I wish I knew your name so I could be sure you never brought your child to my house.

Once a child, who thought a small object would never be missed, visited me and it cost me $150. Children don't know values.

If you let them take one grape from a grocery store, pretty soon they graduate to candy bars, magazines, and so on. Remember that when the police arrive, Mother.

MRS. W. W. S.

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Can Reader Drop In on Strangers?

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I intend to go to the West Coast for my vacation. A close friend has relatives living not too far from where I will be staying and has asked me to look them up.

She said they are very friendly and will be glad to show me around. I hesitate to do this and feel it would not be proper for me to thrust myself on perfect strangers. May I please have your opinion?

* * *

A: You are right. Correctly, your friend should write to her relatives and tell them when you will be in their city and where you will be staying and if it is convenient for them to do so, she would appreciate their getting in touch with you during your stay there.

Then if they can, they will look you up when you arrive.

Q: How may a girl suggest to a boy visitor that it is time for him to leave when the hour grows late?

* * *

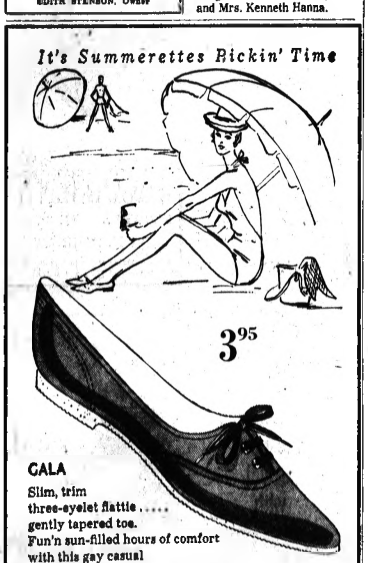

A: In this day of candor it should be easy enough for a girl to glance at her watch or at a clock and exclaim, "Oh Bill! Do you know what time it is? It's after (whatever the time)."

The chances are that he'll answer, "But that's not late!" To which she can say, "It may not be late for you, but it's very late according to my Dad."

Q: When a husband and wife attend a church wedding together, how are they properly seated? Should they walk up the aisle together by the usher, or does the wife take the usher's arm and her husband follow behind them?

A: The wife takes the usher's arm and her husband follows them.

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Clothes of the Bridal Party." Bleaching Technique for Freckles

The right amount of freckles in the right places can be most attractive. If you get the other kind, and most of us do sooner or later, try this bleaching technique.

Mix hydrogen peroxide and good quality witch hazel in equal parts and apply liberally and frequently to the unwanted freckles.

Soak cotton pads in the solution and press them against the skin.

Polly's Pointers

Offers Cleaning Tips

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—For a cleaner, more healthful summer, include the following in the car trunk along with a first aid kit: a jar of cream shampoo, several old bath towels and two half-gallon plastic bottles filled with water.

After a picnic offer a dab of shampoo to each child for his hands, then rinse and dry. The thrifty could put little bits of soap in one jar and add water to make a jar of soapy water—MRS. R.A.T.

* * *

DEAR POLLY—Since the top zipper of my baby's diaper bag is hard to get hold of, I use a decorated diaper pin as a zipper puller.

Besides looking cute, it is handy if you break or lose a diaper pin when away from home.

To hang a very young baby's rattles and other toys from the crib rails, I use shower curtain hooks.—MRS. J.B.

* * *

DEAR POLLY—To prevent the spool of thread from dropping while you are sewing, take a common hairpin and bend the two ends in toward each other.

Insert the ends of the pin in the ends of your blouse.

The spool will turn as the thread is used. There is no tangling of thread or slipping of the spool onto the floor.—MRS. S.F.

* * *

DEAR POLLY—When I wash my mattress covers, I starch them stiffly. Very little dust penetrates through to the mattress and what little may collect is easily wiped or vacuumed off.—MRS. B.J.S.

* * *

DEAR POLLY—I have some tips for the girls who will be giving bridal showers for their friends.

Have a relative or friend sit close to the guest of honor as she opens each gift. This person can write on the back of each enclosure card what the gift is.

Then if the cards are mixed while the gifts are viewed there will be no confusion. Also many people give lingerie, linen and kitchen showers.

Why not do something different and try a brush shower? The possibilities are endless. Clothes brushes, vegetable brushes, toothbrushes, bath brushes, etc.

Or, you might give a stationery shower. This could include pocket secretaries, memo pads, appointment pads and books, address books, calling cards, and monogrammed stationery.—MRS. C.W.W.

* * *

DEAR POLLY—Attach a paper towel rack, with towels, to one end of an outdoor table. This is very handy for keeping barbecue items and grills clean.—MRS. D.M.W.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your ideas in Polly's Pointers.

Good Idea to Hold Onto Financial Records

By MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley:

I read your column with great interest. Would you advise me, please, how long (legally) I should keep rent, phone, electric, etc., receipts? Also, I sold my home in Connecticut in 1948 for cash. Is it necessary to keep all those old records and deeds? I'd like to clear out all unnecessary things — all paid up mortgages and paid up loan records, income tax receipts, withholdings, and records I have had since 1952. Do I have to keep all these year after year?

Mrs. D.H.

Old Orchard Beach, Me.

MARY FEELEY

Dear Mrs. H.:

You sound pretty well snowed under. But proceed with caution. It's a good idea to keep monthly statements, receipts, etc., for at least four years. This is playing it safe, but could save you trouble.

* * *

Cancelled checks and receipts supporting tax deductions, along with copies of your income tax returns and other relevant papers and documents that belong with each year's returns, should be kept for five years. So says the Internal Revenue Service, admitting that this, too, is keeping on the safe side.

Capital assets records should be kept indefinitely. These include records and deed on the home you sold, as well as paid up mortgage and loan records.

* * *

Dear Miss Feeley

Our teen-age daughters, 15 and 16, want to take some of their savings out of the bank and buy an electric sewing machine. They are full of enthusiasm about the idea of making children's costumes, doll clothes and furniture, and have already got some customers lined up. They plan to take orders for Christmas, too. Both girls seem to have some talent for design and sewing. What started them off on this project is the fact that they made costumes for a couple of little children in the neighborhood and the mothers were delighted to pay the moderate cost.

* * *

The only trouble is, my husband and I are wondering if it's advisable to let the girls spend their savings at this time. We have always been strict about this, trying to teach them that savings should earn interest and should not be withdrawn except for a real need. But this seems to be a "restless" summer for both girls, and I feel they really need some direction for their energies now that school is out. However, the family budget won't allow for a sewing machine and materials without dipping into their savings.

I would appreciate your opinion on this.

Mrs. L.S., Westchester

Dear Mrs. S.

I'm inclined to consider the sewing machine an investment. One of the greatest wastes in our society today is the waste of teen-age energy and ability, when school closes and there's no outlet provided for all this enthusiasm and drive. Restlessness coupled with idleness is a costly business, especially from a psychological angle.

It's quite possible your girls will even earn a little money — though don't expect them to show a profit on such a substantial investment. I would suggest they buy a second-hand machine, if possible, to cut initial costs. The nearer they can come to matching costs with earnings, the more satisfied and encouraged they will be. You can expect this experience to enrich them in many ways — girls who grow up knowing how to sew make far better managers of home and family!

* * *

By all means, encourage them to continue their savings. I don't think you need feel you're forsaking your principles by making this one exception.

* * *

(You can write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. She will answer in her column letters of widest interest.)

Scooter Folds Suitcase Size

A portable and lightweight (49 lbs.) aluminum alloy scooter folds up to make a package about the size of a small suitcase.

Created by Emilio Pucci, this stretch pants and circle print overblouse outfit with a shimmering surrah silk look is available locally. Pants about $10.98. Overblouse about $5.98.

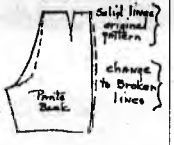

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: My shorts seem to fit me when I am standing up, but whenever I am sitting down, they seem to pull down from the waistband at the center back. Is there any correction for this?

Mrs. A. C. C.

* * *

Dear Mrs. A.C.C.: This question has been asked me many, many, times and I think I can help you solve this problem rather easily. The seam at the center back of the shorts is too slanted, rather than having a deep curve which is needed to fit you.

On your next pair, try cutting the back seam as illustrated, (don't forget to add extra at the side seams when making this adjustment).

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

When cutting slacks, shorts, or skirts, I extend the left front seam allowance one inch. By doing this. It is not necessary to add binding to the seam in order to have enough room for a nice lapped slide fastener.

Lis Walker, Orlando, Fla., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

Dear Eunice: How do you fringe the ends of a tie scarf that has been cut on the bias?

Mrs. F. G.

* * *

Dear Mrs. F. G.: Sorry, this can't be done. In order to fringe anything, it must be cut on the true cross-grain or lengthwise grain at the ends.

This would also apply to a scarf that is cut straight, but has an angle at the ends.

You will have to fringe a straight piece of fabric and insert it in a seam at the lower ends of a tie, just the way you would insert lace.

Dear Eunice: The fitter at the store discouraged me from having my Italian knit dress refitted at the shoulder and underarm seams because the fabric would ravel or lose shape if cut. Can this be true?"

Mrsh. E. H. D.

* * *

Dear Mrs. E. H. D.: I think perhaps she is referring to a hand knit, rather than a machine knit. These alterations do take a bit more skill to do, but can be done very successfully. It would be a good idea to place tape under any seam that might stretch.

Use a slightly longer machine stitch than you usually use, and pull the garment slightly as you stitch to prevent seams being too taut which would cause your stitches to break.

Usually the cut seams are finished with an overcasting stitch which can be done by hand if you don't have this attachment on your machine.

Dear Eunice: If the shoulder line is not too wide, but my garment is too big at the underarm seam, how can I change this and also change the armhole so it will fit the sleeve?

Mrs. G. M.

* * *

Dear Mrs. G. M.: I am inclined to think the easiest adjustment for you would be to buy a pattern one size smaller and add your additional width to the shoulders, both front and back.

However, it is possible to take in the side seams at the underarm.

The sleeves would be taken in the same amount at the underarm seam and they would then fit your armhole perfectly.

HELPFUL HINT

Mrs. Richard Miller says: When tiny tots outgrow those little straight hanging dresses, remove the sleeves, (if too small) and shorten slightly and you will have some darling little smock tops to slip over shorts or slacks.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY

Hand picking: This differs from saddle stitching because it is made with a very tiny stitch and each stitch is a back stitch. It can also be decorative however, it is usually used for slide fasteners, outer edges of collars and fronts of coats and suits.

Will Award Club Gifts of $50,000

A $50,000 awards program honoring women's clubs for outstanding work in aid to education will be continued in the 1963-1964 season for its second year, according to the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Shell Oil Company, co-sponsors.

* * *

Mrs. Dxeter Otis Arnold, president of the GFWC, said that the clubs that won the 1963 awards—and the many others that were considered — enabled communities throughout the United States to improve schools, provide scholarships, aid in training teachers, and support education in other ways.

"The nation's future is in its schools right now," she said, and we are continuing these awards to encourage all our member clubs to continue their efforts in helping education."

* * *

Two awards of $500 each are made in each state. One goes to the club with the best education program in a community of 10,000 or more; the other to the club with the best program in a rural area or community of less than 10,000.

* * *

The cash awards, provided by Shell, are used by winning clubs to make their education programs even better.

* * *

Michigan's winning clubs in 1963 were Iron Mountain-Kingsford Women's Club, Iron Mountain, and the Tuesday Study Club of Wyandotte.

Any federated women's club is eligible for the GFWC-Shell Oil Company Education award. Judging is done state by state. Judges are the state education chairman and two prominent educators.

Say Two French Travelers

'U.S. Food Is Terrible'

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — Two young French women who have drip-dried their way through an 18-weeks, 15,000 mile auto tour of the United States concluded that:

● The hamburger is an American classic but doesn't deserve to be, the way it's cooked. "Except in major cities, your food is terrible."

● There's a big difference in motorists in the East and West. "They're wilder in the West."

● Women, especially plump women, should not travel in bermuda shorts or slacks.

● The hospitality and friendliness of the U.S.A. are unbounded.

* * *

● American men are less flirtatious than the French.

● American tourists should appreciate American sites.

* * *

The two are Princess Pauline Murat, 31, Paris-born, and Floriane Brossette, 33, of Lyons. Miss Murat, a small brunette, is the granddaughter of the Marquis de Chasseloup - Laubat, one of France's first race drivers, and is a descendant of Joachim Murat, King of Naples, who was the Emperor Naoplean's brother-in-law.

* * *

She has logged more than 50,000 driving miles through Europe, Asia and Afriea, and says she is the first woman to have driven from Paris to Moscow. That trip was in 1958 after the route through Czechoslovakia and Poland had opened.

* * *

Miss Brossette, a blue-eyed blonde, is a former Red Cross ambulance driver and has toured Europe and Africa by sports car. The two shared the driving on the 33-state tour.

The trip was partly for pleasure, partly pure business. They made movies for a documentary on U.S. sights and people.

The princess made lecture appearances before women'd groups to talk of the changing role of the French woman and will now write her impressions of America for a French magazine, Realites.

And the 15,000-mile trip was a test one for the Renault car.

* * *

The two kept a budget. In an interview, the princess said their average motel bill per night was $7 to $9; meals ran $14 to $15 each day for both; their other expeditures were for fuel, film, souvenirs, a few gifts and now and then a wardrobe replacement as wash-and-wear wore.

The Americans may have the image of the French woman always in a bikini, but that, said the princess, is strictly for the international set lolling on the Riviera.

"And a French woman wouldn't think of traveling in bermudas or slacks.

* * *

"We were shocked at all the women . . .and the men that matter . . traveling in bermudas. Even elderly women with big backsides—like so," said the princess. She drew an unflattering picture in the air.

* * *

The two agreed that to French appetites—spoiled by French cuisine—the hamburger is abominable.

"In big cities, the food was excellent," said Miss Murat. "But along the road, it was hamburger, hamburger, hamburger. Always cooked the same. . too much grease. I never took so many Alka Seltzers in my life."

* * *

The two said driving was easier in the United States than in Europe because motorists are "safer and more law-abiding" and the roads are well - marked. Easier that is, except for the freeways of Los Angeles.

"Seventy miles an hour bumper to bumper," said Miss Brossette, "Whew!"

* * *

In France, the two said, if a couple of girls travel alone they are the subject of whistles and offers of company from the men. Only one such incident occurred in the whole U.S. trip, they said.

Confused Bus Patrons

VANCOUVER (AP) — "If it's loose, they'll lose it," says Alice Harber, chief clerk at the city buses' lost property office.

* * *

Alice, in her 20th year thre, gets the goods.

* * *

Unbrellas are her biggest item in this wet West Coast city. The record was set with 800 in a single month.

Bathing suits are leaders in the summer.

* * *

"People are so forgetful," says Alice, "that it's quite common for them to come in, claim an article, sign for it, then walk out and leave it on the counter. One woman got her umbrella and left her purse."

* * *

Among other items over the years were a dead cat, a skull, a few sticks of dynamite and some negotiable securities worth $27,000.

One lady telephoned and said she lost her brassiere.

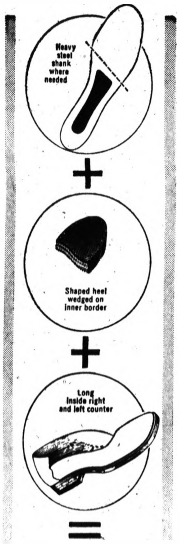

"What bus line?" asked Alice.

"Size 42," the woman replied.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It seems to me that adaptability, or the talent to adapt to changing circumstances, is not only one of the most rewarding characteristics a person could have but one which is essential to survival.

* * *

This can make the difference between happiness and despair, between success and failure, between prolonged youthfulness and premature aging. Usually the person who can adapt with grace to new circumstances is interested in new experiences and concentrates on the good elements rather than the bad in any situation.

I must warn you, though, that this will get you into some difficult and humorous situations. Not long ago when I was in New York, I invited a friend of mine to have dinner with me. She accepted but said, "Come down to my apartment and we will go from there."

I did. A log fire was burning and we talked and talked. The weather was very bad outside and so my friend said, "Why don't we eat here? I can fix a salad and I have lots of chicken wings."

I thought she was joking and she noticed my startled expression and said, "Oh, you don't like chicken wings? They have the most delicate flavor of all the chicken." I stalled with "Oh, no, I like them" but my stomach was churning under my girdle.

My friend is a very perceptive person. She took one look at me and said, "Haven't you ever eaten a chicken wing?" I had to admit "No."

* * *

She immediately insisted that we go out for dinner but I insisted that I would like to try the wings. All the time I kept telling myself, "Now, Jo, you must be brave. Brace yourself because you will have to eat at least two or three to be polite."

* * *

The only part of a chicken I ever had before was white meat or a drumstick.

* * *

This shows that adaptability pays because the wings were delicious. However they were prepared in a special way so that the bones were so crisp you ate them too. I have since learned that this is quite a gourmet item.

Freeman Visits Poland

WARSAW (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, the highest ranking American to visit Poland in four years, arrived by plane from Moscow today for a 70-hour visit.

Democrat Wins Congress Seat

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Fred B. Rooney, 37-year-old Democrat, has been elected to fill the unexpired term of his political tutor, the late Rep. Francis E. Walter, in a special election in Pennsylvania's 15th Congressional District.

VINDICATION

Rooney said his victory Tuesday over Republican Robert G. Bartlett, 31-year-old personnel executive at Bethlehem Steel Co., was "a decisive vindication of President Kennedy, whose policies were under attack" in the campaign, and a repudiation of Republican Gov. William W. Scranton.

In the unofficial tally, Rooney received 46,697 votes to Bartlett's 42,174.

This represented more than 60 per cent of the district's voters. It surprised most political observers, who had predicted a small turn-out because of the mid-summer election date.

It was the third special election in the nation this year.

Rooney will serve out the year and a half remaining in Walter's term. Walter, a 30-year veteran of Congress and chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, died of leukemia May 30.

World's Fair Will Have U. S. 'People Counter'

NEW YORK (AP)—A "people counter" to be exhibited at the 1964-65 New York World's Fair by an insurance company, will show the estimated population of the United States at a given moment.

The counter, known as a demograph, uses electronics and figures supplied by the Census Bureau to compute the population.

Those Hollywood Images Are Confusing

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — If you have seen John Wayne on screen, then you know the real John Wayne. Duke is wall-to-wall man at home and on film.

But most people don't know the real Bing Crosby. If you have seen the Old Groaner trading quips with Bob Hope, you've pegged him as an extrovert. Wrong. Bing is one of the most shy men alive.

That's why he spends most of his time fishing in the primitive wilds of Idaho or off the coast of Baja California.

Hope is Hope. So is Red Skelton, who, if anything, is funnier offstage than on. Once Red drove me off the lot at CBS Television City. Instead of waving to the guard at the gate, Red called him over.

"Officer," whispered Red, "I'm the warden and this man is a trusty. I'll vouch for him."

Jack Benny, one of the funniest comedians alive when on, is just the opposite off. He's a laugher, usually at anything George Burns says.

"I say 'Hello' to Jack and he rolls on the floor. If I could have had an audience of Jack Bennys, I could have been a bigger star than Gracie," Burns said.

A star's public image has a peculiar effect on box office. Most famous example is the Liz Taylor-Eddie Fisher-Debbie Reynolds triangle of a few years ago.

Liz' public image is that of the femme fatale. Her movie price went up to a million dollars after the headlines broke. Debbie, the all-American girl, moved easily into the image of the all-American wronged wife, with Eddie the boy crooner miscast as the all-American philanderer. Now, he's doing better because he got public sympathy as the wronged party in the "Cleopatra" shenanigans.

Some public images are so phony that press agents shudder every time a new magazine article appears. For instance, there's the so-called humanitarian who won't make a charity appearance unless he gets a cut of the take.

There is the rugged actor who has done many a he-man role. His make-up man recalls the day he was scheduled to report for induction in World War II.

"He didn't go until the military police came and carried him out feet first. I knew because I was there and saw it."

Angry Bees Hospitalize 3, Kill Horse

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—It all started when a horse knocked over a hive.

Bees swarmed out and stung the horse, which promptly kicked over two more hives. More bees came out fighting.

* * *

A horseman, Duane V. Ogle, was thrown to the ground and kicked in the head, but escaped serious injury.

Ely Swearingen, 63, a commercial beekeeper, came running out to help and was stung 50 times. His wife suffered more than 75 stings. Their daughter, Roberta, 18, was stung more than 100 times.

All were reported recovering in a hospital. A horse they own died of stings. Ogle's horse is recovering.

It might have been even more serious, but firemen and police came out and helped drive off the bees.

To Return Polish Plane Used in Freedom Ride

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The United States will return the training plane in which a Polish air force major and his family defected to the West July 10, it was learned Tuesday.

* * *

An informed source said Polish officials have been told they could pick up the plane in West Berlin, where Maj. Richard Obacz landed with his wife and two sons after a low-level flight out of Poland and across Communist East Germany.

The Deepening Crisis

Churches Battle Stigma of Hypocrisy in Race Relations

Editor's Note—Despite official pronouncements in favor of integration, racial bars persist widely at the church door in America. But a new militancy on the issue is apparent this turbulent summer as individual churches face the problem. Third in a special series of articles by The Associated Press on racial crisis.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The picture in the Sunday School lesson showed a group of babies in a clinic, two of them Negroes. Another picture showed three children at play, one a Negro.

★ ★ ★

The story discussion said:

"God loves white children, yellow children, brown children. Dorothy's hands are very pale. Her hair is golden. Ben's hands are brown. His eyes are black. Do you think God loves Dorothy better because her hands are white?

"No, indeed not — it would be sad indeed if we all looked alike."

Most American religious bodies in their official pronouncements and educational materials, have long stressed the equal worth of all human beings, whatever their color — that all were created by God and precious to Him.

'MOST SEGREGATED'

At the same time, however, the churches have often been described as the most racially segregated major institutions in the nation's life.

"The shame of Sunday morning," goes an oft-used phrase of self-reproach in church circles. And another: "The most segregated hour of the week is at 11 a.m. on Sunday."

Since church congregations harbor intimate personal relationships among whole families — adults, youths and children — it has been maintained that once Negro and white mingle fully there, racial barriers will collapse elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

In that sense, the local church becomes a testing ground — a point of decision — for the whole community pattern.

Churches have long been rallying points for prointegration activity in many instances, and some Southern ministers have been roughed up for their parts in it.

On the other hand, the churches themselves in their local compositions have remained predominantly one-color units, even though the number of integrated parishes has been increasing rapidly of late.

LUMP IN THROAT

This is the lump in the throat of the churches — the acknowledged gap between their official pleas, and their on-the-spot conditions.

With the racial crisis flaming and with Negroes demanding equality with new vehemence and immediacy, church strategy generally has undergone an extraordinary change in the last few months.

It has switched from talk, to action.

★ ★ ★

"It amounts to a new posture toward methodology," says the Rev. Dr. Alfred S. Kramer, a sociologist - clergyman consultant to the Racial and Cultural Relations Department of the National Council of Churches.

"After years of repentance and appeals for racial reconciliation, the churches have now begun a course of social intervention at the first level."

This means official backing for direct action challenging segregation on the local scene.

INVOLVEMENT

As expressed by the national council, which includes 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 40 million members, the method calls for personal "involvement in every phase of the struggle for justice including negotiations and demonstration."

A new interdenominational "Commission on Religion and Race" was formed in June, to implement the task.

Steps were under way to form local arms in communities in all regions to check congregational practices, to support and join in demonstrations, to press for civil rights legislation, and to organize "corps of prison chaplains" to discourage police mistreatment of demonstrators.

"There's a job to be done in every city and every village in America," said the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, vice chairman of the commission, and chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Blake and Bishop Daniel Corrigan of the Episcopal Church were arrested July 4 in a Baltimore integration demonstration.

The new punch in the church stand has showed up in many ways. The United Church of Christ (a merger including Congregationalists) at its general synod in Denver this summer shaped a potent financial weapon.

It moved to make loans for new church construction contingent on nondiscrimination in building work, and on a commitment to an interracial policy by congregational leaders.

United Presbyterians have adopted a similar policy. The denomination this spring appropriated a half-million dollars to support direct-action programs for integration. The Disciples of Christ also made a special allocation for this purpose.

Roman Catholicism was a forerunner in integration action. In 1947, Joseph Cardinal Ritter, of St. Louis, desegregated parochial schools there, despite lay resistance. Catholic Bishop Vincent S. Waters did the same in the diocese of Raleigh, N. C., in 1963, ahead of the court decision.

He got shoved about in the process, but stuck to his rule. "Segregation is a product of darkness and the time has come to end it," he said.

Much of the reinforced church activity was geared for an interfaith approach.

That aspect got its big push last January at the historic and unprecedented "National Conference on Religion and Race" in Chicago, the first time leading Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic bodies had joined in tackling the problem.

★ ★ ★

"Racism is our most serious domestic evil," the conference declared. "We must eradicate it with all diligence and speed."

Permanent machinery was set up for continuing interfaith operations, with a local network organized in Atlanta, Detroit, New Orleans, Miami, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, San Antonio, Little Rock, San Francisco and elsewhere.

Among the nation's Negroes, about 10 million belong to separate all-Negro Protestant denominations — Baptist and Methodist. About 500,000 are Roman Catholics and another 500,000 belong to predominantly white Protestant bodies, although they are chiefly in one-color congregations.

★ ★ ★

At the national level, in most denominations, and in interdenominational bodies, Negroes have considerable representation.

But the pattern rarely is reflected on the local scene — in the overwhelming white suburban congregations, and in de facto segregated city neighborhoods, North and South.

"Some of the white pastors have been heroic, but the church as a community, allegedly a 'community of grace' has been woefully lacking in relevance and vitality," says Protestant theologian Reinhold Niebuhr.

TRADITIONALLY

In its formal and official preachments, however, the church traditionally has pleaded for interracial brotherhood.

★ ★ ★

In 1946, nearly a decade before the Supreme Court decision, the Federal Council of Churches, an interdenominational precursor of the national council, declared that "segregation is a denial of our Christian faith."

A famed Southern Baptist evangelist, Billy Graham, set an early example in his crusades, here and abroad. "We will not hold a segregated meeting anywhere in the world," he announced.

After the Supreme Court decision, every major denomination, including the strongest church body in the South, the Southern Baptist Convention, endorsed the desegregation order.

★ ★ ★

In many cases, groups of Southern pastors, in the midst of racial tension, have issued manifestos calling for equal treatment of the Negro. Some pastors have lost their posts as a result.

A survey in 1958 showed four out of five Southern Protestant pastors favored integration, whether saying so publicly or not. Others, however, strongly support segregation.

Among those Southern preachers who support segregation some maintain that the idea of interracial mixing is Communist-inspired. Some also argue that the Bible teaches segregation.

'RACE DISTINCT'

"God created the races distinct from one another," declared a Southern fundamentalist froup.

"He scattered the races over the face of the earth at a time when they attempted to integrate —Genesis 11."

The passage cited tells the story of the Tower of Babel, generally understood as a portrayal of man's arrogant tendency to try to make himself equal to God.

Segregationists often cite the so-called "curse of Ham" in Genesis 9 as God's decree for separation of black men. It tells of Noah awakening from a drunken sleep and cursing his younger son, Ham, and his Canaanite descendants, who were a Semitic tribe.

★ ★ ★

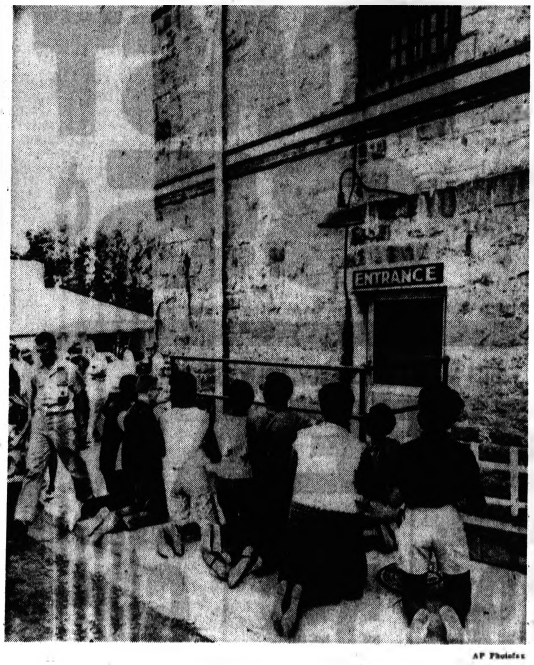

On the other hand, prointegrationist ministers cite many Biblical passages in support of all men's equality before God, such as acts 17:26, saying God "made of the blood all nations," and Galatians 3:28, saying men are "all one in Christ Jesus," without divisions of race or status.

In any case, the racial bars have persisted widely at the church door.

Are local pastors addressing themselves to the issue?

An official of the Southern Baptist Convention told me: "As a rule, I don't think they are. Some are beginning to speak plainly and forthrightly. Unfortunately, we're late, just awfully late."

Next: The political effects.

AP Photofax

KNEEL IN PROTEST — Church services have often provided the initial impulse in Negro demands for racial justice and integration. Often leading the Negro movement are clergymen, who inspire sit - in or kneel - in demonstrations. Here a group of demonstrators kneel outside Cambridge, Md., jail to protest imprisonment of fellow demonstrators.

Ford Brothers Give to Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co. board of directors, and two brothers contributed $15,500 to Democrats in the 1962 congressional campaign, Congressional Quarterly says.

Henry Ford gave $3,000 to the Democratic National Committee and Benson Ford and William C. Ford each gave $2,500, according to a CQ survey of political contributions and expenditures filed with the House clerk.

★ ★ ★

The survey showed each brother also contributed $2,500 to the citizens for Kennedy-Johnson.

Henry and Benson Ford also gave $500 each to the Republican campaign of Alvin M. Bentley for congressman-at-large in Michigan, CQ said.

★ ★ ★

Their mother, Mrs. Edsel B. Ford, gave $1,000 to the National Republican Committee, which financed congressional campaigns in all states, the newspaper reference organization said.

The report said 52 persons in Michigan gave $500 or more to Republican causes in 1962, with Bentley's $35,913 contributions the largest. Relatives of Bentley gave $8,000, CQ said.

Finally Rains, Give Thanks

JAVA, Va. (AP)—The Shockoe Baptist Church in this drought-stricken southern Virginia community agreed to hold a special prayer meeting for rain Tuesday.

Monday night more than three inches of rain fell on tobacco and hay fields.

The prayer meeting was changed to a thanksgiving service and the church was filled.

Illinois High School Sinking Into Mine

ZEIGLER, Ill. (AP) — A high school building on top of an abandoned mine is sinking too much to hold classes in it. A slim hope that Zeigler - Royalton Consolidated High Schol would sit still long enough for student use has definitely faded away, officials decided Tuesday.

Classes might have been held in the fall had the settling stopped for 30 days.

The building shows no sign of its distress. But officials said there is a danger to students from falling plaster.

Green Goober Bill Only Action by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress spends a lot of time on peanut legislation that isn't so frankly labeled, Rep. D. R. Matthews, D-Fla., says.

Triumphant, but just a bit sensitive, Matthews had this report for the legislative wits who have been proclaiming his boiled peanut bill as the major accomplishment Congress has chalked up in almost seven months of session.

President Kennedy last Thursday signed the bill extending for two years the exemption from acreage controls of peanuts grown for boiling.

Not too many people eat boiled peanuts and even fewer farmers grow the nuts for boiling. But Matthews has been seeing to it, since 1957, that their product is not confused — and controlled — with the commoner edible roasted variety.

GREEN GOOBER

The boiled goober—actually a green or immature peanut cooked in that fashion—is regarded as a vegetable and a delicacy in parts of the South. Only about 3,000 acres in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and Mississippi are devoted to the specialty crop.

This year, Matthews had to fight for the extension bill. For the first time, it got a full-dress debate and some unflattering things were said—for exemple, one member said he had offered boiled peanuts to the notoriously finnicky pigeons on the capitol grounds and the birds had turned away.

Rep. Charles S. Joelson, D-N.J., said he hoped the House would act on the bill and then "get down to business, lest the symbol of the 88th Congress be one lonely, solitary boiled peanut."

"To be perfectly frank," Matthews said today, " I had mixed emotions, but I didn't want to offend anybody, so I didn't point out that Congress spends a lot of time on things that affect fewer people than my peanut bill. I mean these bills that just help one person at a time—for the relief of John Doe, and so on."

Start Studying

Get 'Good' Teacher by Beginning Now

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Whether you have "good" teachers and enjoy your classes in the coming school year depends upon you as well as upon the teacher. It may even depend upon what you do before school opens.

DR. NASON

Just to illustrate, two young women, at tending the same state college, gave me their appraisals of instructor Smith and the course he taught. I scarcely could believe they were talking about the same person or the same course!

May asserted Mr. Smith wandered and said little in his lectures the first two weeks. His assignments were not clear, his examinations and manner of grading unfair. His tests were not based on either the textbook or his lectures. All in all, he was a poor teacher and his course boring.

* * *

June said: Mr. Smith is a wonderful instructor. He laid out the course carefully in the first week so that pupils knew exactly what was expected. His lectures were well organized and his examination questions well chosen. The whole semester was a pleasant experience."

How could two students in the same classroom have such different opinions? Obviously it was the same teacher and the same presentation they were discussing. The difference had to be in the young ladies themselves.

June had looked forward during the month of August to the classes she would take in the fall. She built up a background for each course. She studied the introduction and first chapter of the text, and mastered the new vocabulary.

Then from the start of a course she took an active interest. She centered her thoughts on what the instructor was saying.

THE DIFFERENCE

May gave no advance thought to the course. And therein lay the difference!

Mr. Smith, as every good teacher does, had thought out his first lectures carefully. He presented the over-all ideas of the course and discussed the examinations, outside reading and required reports.

June understood all that he said. With her preparation for listening it was a pleasant experience.

No wonder May "missed the boat." It was a new course. The ideas were new and the words were new. She had gotten out of the habit of listening.

Her thoughts were crowded with other things. Instead of guiding her own thoughts she waited for the instructor to "catch" her interest. He didn't. But it was not his fault.

Whether or not they have the actual textbooks to be used, high school and college students can prepare themselves this month.

* * *

In some cases it is an advantage to do background reading from books other than the text. It gives the student a broader background for listening. In addition, this procedure starts the habit of reading ahead of classwork.

I have discussed study procedures with top ranking high school and college students, law students and mathematics students; in fact, students in most fields. In almost every case they followed the practice of reading ahead.

Opening lead—♠6

By OSWALD JACOBY

Al Sobel, Chief Tournament Director of the American Contract Bridge League, does not play bridge often, but when he does he makes things happen.

He sat North and decided to raise his partner's two heart opening to three whereupon his partner went into Blackwood orbit and wound up at seven hearts.

JACOBY

His partner won the spade lead and promptly led the ace and king of diamonds in order to ruff a third diamond and try the trump finesse.

East played the nine and queen of diamonds so South ruffed the third diamond with the queen of hearts. When East could not overruff, South led a trump to her ace and dropped West's singleton king.

Was anything wrong with her play? Yes, there was, according to Al.

He points out that after East dropped the queen of diamonds, South should have played the ace of hearts in order to pick up a singleton king in either hand.

Another expert asked Al, "Suppose East held three diamonds plus the king and one heart and had dropped the queen of diamonds in order to coax South into laying down the ace of trumps?"

Al replied, "Not this East! That play is for experts only and not for many of them."

QUESTION: How does an electron microscope work?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: At the upper left, Charlie looks down through a regular microscope. Light (1) reflected from a mirror (2) is passing through the specimen he wants to look at (3) and by means of lenses (4) a greatly enlarged image of the specimen is coming into Charlie's eye.

But a regular microscope cannot magnify more than 2,500 times, because of the way light rays work: their waves are too long to keep magnifying things beyond a certain point.

Scientists needed to look more closely into the tiny world of cells and minute objects. It was found that streams of the extremely small electric particles called electrons could be directed like light, and had shorter wave lengths than light.

Substituting these streams for light beams, scientists found they would magnify up to 25,000 times and by taking photographs increase this to 100,000 times. In the electron microscope, the electron stream comes down from the top, through a vacuum—a tube with the air pumped out.

Lenses are not glass but openings surrounded with magnetic fields which bend the electron stream to make a large image.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Bend the end of a bit of wire around a good sized nail so that a loop is formed. Now dip in water and lift it out with a water film covering the loop. Hold over newsprint and the letters will look larger, because the curved water film has bent the light rays.

New Weather Chief Likes Public Gibes

DR. ROBERT M. WHITE

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "It sounds corney," said Dr. Robert M. White, new chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau, "but people do hold a warm spot in their hearts for the weatherman.

"Most of the kidding is good natured and the amount of it is an indication of the important place the weatherman has in this country. Besides, in this country, humor is an indication of affection."

★ ★ ★

White, 40, will succeed Francis W. Reichelderfer, head of the Weather Bureau since 1938. Reichelderfer, 68, is retiring.

President Kennedy named White to the $20,000 a year post Monday. He was one of 16 men deemed qualified for the job by the National Academy of Science.

White, president of Travelers Research Center Inc., a nonprofit agency whose work includes weather studies, said "I have been exposed to most of the kinds of things the Weather Bureau has responsibility for."

"My goal," he said, "is to help provide as many added dependable and useful meteorological services as possible through extensive application of new developments in meteorology."

★ ★ ★

White noted the number of devices making the forecaster's task easier, including weather satellites, radar, and meteorological rockets.

"There is no question that these developments and others will produce a revolution in our understanding of the atmosphere," he said. "The margin of error in forecasting will be reduced, but not eliminated completely."

★ ★ ★

White, a native of Boston, holds a master's degree and a doctorate, both in meteorology, from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

White who will direct almost 6,000 employes, called the bureau's services "vital to the protection of life and property."

Married and the father of two children, Richard, 5, and Edwina 3, White relaxes by reading.

Break O' Day CORN 39¢ Doz.

Remember, years ago . . . the heavenly fragrance of Corn-On-The-Cob—bubbling in an iron pot atop the old wood stove. THAT was corn on the cob. What made it taste so good? . . . Perhaps it was granny's smile as she served the steaming platter of luscious, golden ears . . . perhaps, perhaps . . . But one thing is sure. The real reason for the marvelous taste was the fact that this corn was fresh.

Today the Top Crop's In at Wrigley's . . .

The corn that rivals the best your memory can produce . . . Wrigley's own Break-O-Day corn . . . serve it tonight . . . and relive a precious part of yesterday.

Melon Recipes Are Unusual

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

That beautiful, fragrant melon you had for breakfast owes its name to Cantalupo castle in the province of Ancona, Italy. The seeds are said to have come originally from Armenia.

When you choose a melon, look for one with pronounced netting. Don't press the end to see if it's ripe! But look at the end where it joined the stem to see if it is neatly depressed and smooth.

Smell the melon. Shake it and if you can hear the seeds rattle, it is probably ripe.

Most melons are best served only slightly chilled. When they are ice-cold, their full fragrance and flavor is masked.

Be sure to cover left-over melon in the refrigerator. If you don't, you may find other foods picking up the taste of the melon.

★ ★ ★

Serve cantaloupe as a dessert with ice cream and raspberries—Cantaloupe Melba. Most refreshing.

Cantaloupe Melba

1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries
1 cantaloupe
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Thaw raspberries; press through a fine-mesh strainer that seeds will not go through. In a small saucepan bring the strained raspberry syrup to a boil; simmer, stirring constantly, until just thickened—about 5 minutes; there should be about ½ cup. Chill.

Cut cantaloupe in half crosswise and remove seeds; slice 2 rings from center of each cantaloupe half and remove rind. (Remaining cantaloupe will be nice pared, diced and used in a fruit cup.)

Place a scoop of ice cream in the center of each ring; spoon over the raspberry sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Serve cantaloupe as main course salad.

Cantaloupe Julienne Salad

1 cantaloupe
½ lb. boiled ham
2 cups cooked chicken
1 large tomato
1 head romaine or other lettuce
½ cup Italian dressing

Cut rind from cantaloupe. Cut melon lengthwise into halves, remove seeds. Place cut sides down on board; cut crosswise into thin slices.

Cut ham and chicken into thin strips. Cut tomato into wedges. Dice lettuce into large bowl; toss with green pepper.

MELON SURPRISE

Arrange "clusters" of cantaloupe, ham, chicken and tomato over lettuce. Drizzle with dressing. Makes 6-8 servings.

★ ★ ★

Then just for a change, buy a honeydew melon and prepare Melon Surprise.

When served, each guest gets a wedge of cool, delicately flavored honeydew, plus a layer of tangy cottage cheese and gelatin salad.

Melon Surprise

1 large, ripe honeydew melon
1 cup (8 to 9-oz. can) crushed pineapple
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Water
1 3-ounce package lime-flavored gelatin
1½ cups cottage cheese
1 cup fresh strawberries (halved, if large)

Peel melon, slice about 1½ inches off top and set aside; scoop out seeds. Cut a thin slice off bottom so melon can stand upright. Refrigerate while preparing gelatin.

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup; add lemon juice and enough water to give 1 cup. Heat liquid to boiling and pour over gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Chill until jelly-like in consistency. Fold in pineapple, cottage cheese and strawberries. Drain melon, if necessary (juice can be stirred into gelatin mixture).

Turn gelatin into melon and remainder into salad molds, which have been rinsed in cold water (number will depend on size of melon). Replace top of melon and chill, along with molds until firm.

For garnish, blend 1 3-oz. package cream cheese with 1 tablespoon milk until smooth. Pipe through a pastry tube, or use a spoon to garnish melon. Serve on salad greens surrounded by individual salads and assorted fresh fruits.

Officials Deplore Skimpy Pies but Lack a Solution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials of the food and drug administration (FDA) are inclined to agree with Sen. Philip Hart, R-Mich., about the lack of cherries in frozen cherry pies.

But they don't know what to do about it.

Hart contended recently that pictures on the packages of the frozen pastry showing luscious wedges of pie crammed with cherries were a snare and delusion.

The senator said the pies more often than not contained far less cherries than the pictures would lead the purchaser to believe and even those floated in watery juice.

Hart, whose home state produces more cherries than can be sold, was indignant. He asked the FDA to investigate.

The first word from Malcolm R. Stephens, chief of the FDA enforcement bureau, supported Hart's complaint.

"We think some of the pictures are not truly representative," Stephens told United Press International recently.

His inspectors reported the pies generally contain 40-60 cherries, although pictures on the packages indicate many more. The pie with the most, he said, contained 100 cherries, but had no vignette on its wrapping.

HOW MANY?

"We believe that if we try to get into the mis-branding issue, we automatically will be faced with the question of how many cherries should there be in a cherry pie," Stephens said.

The FDA has been accused, on comparable issues, of "recipe-making," Stephens said.

"We don't believe we're guilty, but we try to be mindful of that danger," he said.

Thomas Bellis of FDA's food standards division suggested weight of the fruit might be the best standard for assuring the proper proportion of cherries.

"The red sour pitted cherries from Sen. Hart's state are fairly uniform in size," he said. "But this would be a national standard, and one based on a specified number of cherries might not be as good a guarantee of fruit as weight would be."

Cheese Ball Crowns Fresh Fruit Platter

Take advantage of the fresh fruit season for hot summer days and serve a tiered fruit salad topped with a zippy cheese ball for your next luncheon. With a convenient product like ascorbic acid mixture, you can get all the fuss and mess over by preparing the fruit the very first thing in the morning. The cheese ball may also be made ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator ready to serve with a variety of crackers.

Tiered Fruit Salad Platter

Use a combination of fresh fruit such as peaches, pears, bananas, melon balls, apples and berries in season. Lettuce, watercress, chicory or any other favorite will add the green touch. Serve it with a cream dressing.

Early in the morning: Prepare the fruit. Treat those that turn brown on standing—peaches, pears, bananas and apples with ascorbic acid mixture so they will retain their bright natural color. For each 2 cups fruit dissolve 1 teaspoon ascorbic acid mixture in about 2 tablespoons water. Peel fruit then cut it directly into the solution, tossing to coat each slice. Cover and store in refrigerator. Make the cheese ball.

Before the guests arrive: Arrange the greens, fruit and cheese ball on a serving platter.

Cheese Ball

Combine 8-oz. cream cheese, 4-oz. blue cheese, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish and 1 teaspoon garlic salt and blend well. Form into a ball; wrap in waxed paper and place in the refrigerator. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Mild Molasses Flavor Fine for Dessert Sauce

Mellow unsulphured molasses goes into a superb dessert sauce. To make Taffy Nut Sauce, melt ⅓ cup butter in a saucepan, add ⅓ cup each of sugar and unsulphured molasses. Bring to a rolling boil, reduce heat, and boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat, cool. Stir in ⅓ cup evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, and ½ cup pecans. Spoon over ice cream, cake or pudding.

ARTISTRY IN FOOD—Fresh fruit salad with a gay colors in combination with a peppy Cheese Ball makes an appetizing luncheon—and it's low in calories.

South Viet Nam Declares War on Sin

By ROBERT C. MILLER

SAIGON (UPI) — The government of South Viet Nam is waging simultaneous wars against Communist guerrillas and sin. The latter battle appears to be a lost cause.

President Ngo Dinh Diem's reform government has outlawed dancing, banned the singing of more than a hundred sentimental songs, and decried handholding by boys and girls.

But the enforcement is about as successful as the prohibition of liquor during the "roaring '20s" in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Despite the government's crackdown on immorality, street walkers ply their trade on tree-lined avenues and the B-girls soliciting drinks in the saloons are plentiful.

American-type bars were practically unknown until recently in Viet Nam. The drinking was the sidewalk cafe type, or wine-with dinner variety. Today the neon lights advertise the "Lovely Bar," "Las Vegas Bar" "Osaka," "Blue Angel" "Blue Moon" the "S a n Francisco" etc.

GIRLS COMPETE

Since dancing has been forbidden, the girls work behind the bars, and loudly compete for the patronage of the thirsty. Not only does the girl serve his drink, but insists on one for herself — always tea at brandy prices — and keeps the customer amused with games, conversation and implied propositions.

The idea is that the more you spend in the bar, the better chance you have of seeing the young lady home—and vice versa. Sometimes it works; most often it doesn't.

One Vietnamese authority insists the dancing ban had forced many girls into prostitution.

"The dance hall girl in Asia is like the Geisha in Japan," he explained. "There's nothing dishonorable about it, and it was a livelihood for hundreds of girls. Some took lovers; some didn't. Now to have become prostitutes."

UAN NARCOTICS

Nor has there been any great curtailment of narcotics usage. Opium smoking was never seriously forbidden by the French, and it'd just as easy to obtain a pipe today as ever.

The Americans are being blamed for the loosened morals in Viet Nam.

"We didn't have this problem when the French were here," complained one Vietnamese official.

"There are now nearly 80,000 of you Americans here, and you've turned them loose."

Least concerned of all are the Vietnamese girls. They have found the Americans a great education. They are learning English, and, more important, they are learning to count in dollars and cents — particularly dollars.

Movie Unions Reject More Jobs for Negroes

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two Hollywood unions have rejected demands for greater employment of Negroes on grounds that it would be "featherbedding."

Officials of scenic artists Local 816 said yesterday that meeting the Negro demands would be "immoral if not illegal," and would amount to sanctioning featherbedding."

Bilingual Bombay was split into two states—Gujarat for the Gujarati-speaking people and Maharastra for Marathi adherents.

CHILDREN PICKET — Negro children sit in a road leading to a construction site in Brooklyn, blocking the truck behind them. Ranging in age from 2 to 13, the children were part of a demonstration protesting alleged bias in hiring of construction workers. Police lifted the children from the road, but did not arrest them.

States Restrict Sunday Sales

By The Associated Press

Several states tightened restraints on Sunday retail business this year, increasing restrictions on such large stores as discount houses and adding to the crazy-quilt pattern of so-called "blue laws."

★ ★ ★

The changes apparently reflect growth of the huge discount outlets — the most frequent target of these laws — and effects of a 1961 U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding several Sunday closing statutes.

A survey by The Associated Press showed legislatures in at least 18 states considered Sunday closing bills. In most cases they were aimed at restricting, rather than easing, commercial activity.

Lawmakers in Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas provide a variety of exemptions such as the "mom and pop" stores. All face court tests to determine whether they are constitutional.

BILL VETOED

A closing bill approved by Minnesota's legislature was vetoed by Gov. Karl Rolvaag.

West Virginia increased penalties to provide fines of up to $1,000 and jail terms of up to six months for a third conviction in two years.

★ ★ ★

Arizona, California, Oregon, Wyoming and Nevada no longer have specific Sunday closing laws. They simply prescribe one day of rest out of seven, leaving the choice to the retailer.

Oregon lawmakers killed a bill to close retail establishments on Sundays.

A Missouri closing law, snagged in court action almost from the start, was upheld July 19 in circuit court in St. Louis. It was challenged by a group of discount department stores.

"The law," Judge George E. Schaaf held, "is a valid exercise of the state's authority, wherein an effort is made through legislation to set one day apart from all others as a day of rest, repose recreation and tranquility."

A group of grocers has challenged a Kansas law which went into effect July 7 and is aimed at keeping most businesses closed on Sundays.

One section exempts stores that sell farm machinery parts, making it possible for farmers to repair breakdowns during the harvest season. There is speculation that all stores wanting to do business on Sundays could get around the law by adding a line of farm equipment parts.

★ ★ ★

In Nebraska, a statute which goes into effect Oct. 19 prohibits the sale of about 65 designated commodities on Sunday, including groceries, clothing and toys. It exempts businesses operated by not more than two full-time persons under a so-called "mom and pop" store exemption.

New York has been added to the list of states providing an option to permit persons who close their businesses on Saturday in observance of their religion to remain open on Sunday.

JEWS CAMPAIGN

Orthodox Jewish groups long had campaigned for this law. While limited to New York City, the legislation was a major departure from the state's historic Sunday laws.

Rhode Island made it possible for nurseries and greenhouses to sell plants and seeds on Sunday. New Hampshire's legislature has passed a bill permitting stores with fewer than four employes on duty sell "necessities" on Sunday. Texas lawmakers approved bowling on Sunday.

A Sunday closing bill rejected in South Dakota would have banned operation of stores on Sunday that were located within a one-mile radius of any city. Other far-reaching Sunday closing proposals were turned down in Iowa, Florida, Utah and Colorado.

Exemption by commodity was abandoned in Maine.

★ ★ ★

A "uniform day of rest" measure which would have tightened Oklahoma's Sunday closing law was killed in a close vote.

Indiana's lawmakers turned down a bill aimed at further defining "necessary Sunday selling" as covered in "blue laws" on the books since 1905.

Lions Have 'Best' Opening Camp Drills

Wisner Game Saturday to Test Rookies

Intra-Squad Contest in Pontiac to Start at 8:00 P. M.

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

This is one time when Detroit Lions' head coach George Wilson had best be a better prognosticator than a coach.

★ ★ ★

Very often in the past, words carrying too much optimism have backfired. (Bob Schefffing can vouch for this. He said the Tigers' spring camp the past March was the best in his three years.)

"The first two days of practice have been the best opening day sessions since we've been at Cranbrook," said Wilson.

There were some reservations added to the statement however. "Of course, there are a lot of problems to be ironed out and a few question marks to be answered," he added.

★ ★ ★

The Lions started heavy contact drills this morning, the climax of which will take place Saturday night when the blue squad and white squad of offensive and defensive units tangle in the big intra-squad scrimmage at Wisner Stadium.

EVERYONE TO PLAY

"Everyone will play Saturday," said Wilson, "we won't be making any serious cuts until after the scrimmage."

To get everyone into the game, 38 veterans and 17 rookies, there will be little time for time outs.

Wilson will take the role of neutral observer as Aldo Forte and Scooter McLean handle the offensive unit and Les Bingaman and Don Doll maneuver the defenses.

★ ★ ★

Both units will have positions to be given strong tests. The vacant defensive tackle spot once belonging to pro football's best lineman, Alex Karras, will have Floyd Peters, Lucien Reeberg and Mike Bundra as top competitors.

Changes in the offensive line will see Danny LaRose vying for a spot at guard. He handled the offensive tackle spot last year.

Back at his flanker back position after sitting out the last nine games of 1962 with a knee injury will be Terry Barr who was headed for his greatest season when injured in the 5th game against Los Angeles.

In the first five games, Barr was leading all pass receivers in the league with 25 pass receptions. He had to undergo knee surgery after the Green Bay game Thanksgiving Day. This was when he went into the game on the kickoff against the Packers and on the first play he reinjured the knee, thus calling for the operation.

★ ★ ★

"The leg feels great," said Barr in training camp, "and I'd like to be in there on every play I can Saturday night at Wisner to give it a good workout."

There are still four veterans who have not signed their 1963 contracts. Dick LeBeau and Dick Lane came to terms, leaving Joe Schmidt, Sam Williams, John Gordy and Gail Cogdill unsigned.

The Saturday night game at Wisner will start at 8:00 p.m. Pre-game activities will include passing for accuracy, punting for distance, field goal kicking and sprints.

★ ★ ★

Each event will carry a monetary prize award.

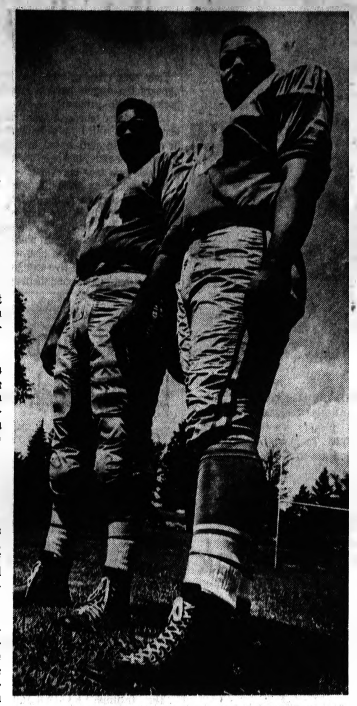

Tickets are available at 18 locations in Pontiac, downtown, Telegraph, Huron and The Mall. Prices are $1.00 and $1.50.

Sponsored by the Community National Bank and the Pontiac Jaycees, part of the proceeds will go toward a scholarship fund to Oakland University.

Remaining proceeds go toward the Jaycee youth activities fund.

GIANTS IN CAMP—When the Detroit Lions play their full dress intra-squad game Saturday night at Wisner Stadium, area fans will see two of the biggest men in pro football side by side at defensive tackles. Rookie Lucien Reeberg who stands 6-feet-6 and weighs 320 pounds and veteran Roger Brown at 6-feet-5 and 317 pounds will keep Lion offensive backs on the move.

Happier U.S. Team Eyes 2 Track Marks

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)— At least two world records could be in danger today and Thursday as the United States track and field team meets a German squad in the third stop on its four-stop European tour.

The Americans, their spirits much improved after last week's smashing victory over Poland, expect to win 16 or 17 of the 21 events and are aiming for world marks in both the 400 meters and the 1,600-meter relay.

★ ★ ★

Henry Carr of Arizona State, who ran 200 meters in the squeaker over Russia and the rout of Poland, was moved up to the 400 by coach Payton Jordan as the result of his 44.8 seconds clocking during the relay against the Russians. His Arizona State teammate, Ulis Williams, will pass up the 400 to anchor a 1,600 relay quartet that also includes Rex Cawley, Lester Milburn and Carr.

The world record for the 400 is 44.7 while the 1,600 meter relay mark is 3:02.2, set by the U.S. team in the Rome Olympics in 1960.

WOMEN LOSE

The competition here the next two days involves the men's squad only. The U.S. women competed against their West German counterparts at Brunswick Tuesday night and took their third straight lopsided defeat, 71-45, while winning only three of the 11 events.

The only American winners were Edith McGuire of Tennessee State, with 11.8 seconds in the 100 meters; Willye White of Chicago, with 20 feet, 9¼ inches in the broad jump, and Elizabeth Montgomery of Cleveland, with 5-7¼ in the high jump.

Star of the German team was Jutta Heine, who was second in the 100, won the 200 in 24.1 seconds, and ran the anchor leg on the winning 400-meter relay team that was clocked in 45.9.

Marlene Klein won the shot put with 51-5, Kriemhild Hausman the discus with 167-¾, Anneliese Gerhard the javelin with 174-3, Helga Henning the 400 in 54.6, Erika Fisch the 80-meter hurdles in 10.8, and Anita Woerner the 800 in 2:09.2.

Mrs. Wright Putts Well in Golf Loop

Mrs. Maxwell Wright won low putt honors with a 14 and tied with a 36 for first flight low net honors with Mrs. Elbert Looney in the Women's Silver Lake Golf League yesterday.

In the second flight, Mrs. William DeBeaubien and Mrs. Max Richardson tied with a 38, and third flight winner was Mrs. Don Barton with a 37.

Tigers Still Struggle Against Oriole Hurlers

BALTIMORE (AP) — After tonight's game with the Baltimore Orioles, the Detroit Tigers will not return to Memorial Stadium until the last three games of the season — and Charlie Dressen's boys couldn't be happier.

Milt Pappas allowed just four hits last night as the Orioles did all their scoring in the first six innings and clobbered the Tigers 9-0.

In the first two games of the series, the Tigers have picked up exactly six hits and one unearned run.

They only got one man past second base in last night's game as Pappas picked up his second straight shutout and fourth of the season. His record is 10-5.

Hank Aguirre was the Detroit starter, but he lasted only until the third inning.

Brooks Robinson blasted a two-run homer in the second inning to start the Baltimore rout.

The Orioles picked up two more runs in the third to send Aguirre to an early shower and his tenth loss in 19 decisions. Bob Anderson put out the fire in the third, but before he departed the Orioles picked up 11 more hits and five runs.

BIG INNING

Their big inning was the fifth when they put together five hits for three runs.

The Tigers had two opportunities to spoil Pappas' shutout.

Don Wert's single and a walk to Billy Bruton put two men on with only one out in the third. Dick McAuliffe's infield out advanced the runners, but Al Kaline struck out to end the threat.

Anderson and Bruton singled with two down in the fifth, but McAuliffe grounded back to Pappas for the final out.

Al Smith paced the Orioles' 18-hit attack with four hits, while Robinson and Joe Gaines each added three. Robinson batted in four runs.

The Orioles, who won only two games in 18 meetings with the Tigers last year, has now taken 9 of the 11 contests between the two clubs this season.

HOW 'BOUT THAT !—Ed Wright of 2056 Rosedale beams happily while showing Milford's Adrian Campbell (right) his telegram from Arnold Palmer. The telegram advises the young caddy that he'll tour Orchard Lake Country Club's 18-hole course next Tuesday as Palmer's aide. Campbell received a similar wire from Gary Player who'll oppose Palmer in a special exhibition match to help Camp Oakland for boys.

Get News From Palmer, Player

Two Area Caddies Excited by Wires

Two area caddies received the biggest thrills of their young years via telegrams yesterday.

Ed Wright of Pontiac and Adrian Campbell of Milford were informed by wires from Arnold Palmer and Gary Player that they had been chosen to caddie for the famous golf pros in the big exhibition match next Tuesday, August 6th at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Palmer's wire to Wright was: "I was happy to hear that you have been selected to be my caddy when I play against Gary Player next week."

Player wired Campbell: "I was just notified that you will be my caddy next in the match with Arnie and I look forward to meeting you then."

★ ★ ★

The telegrams came as a surprise to both boys. Neither knew of his selection by Orchard Lake caddymaster Mel Mzhickteno.

Mzhickteno said they were chosen for their excellence in performance and attendance.

EXCITED

Receiving personal telegrams as such was a new experience for both boys.

Wright was excited by the news and by the telegram which brought it. "I couldn't imagine what it was," he said, "often people think telegrams mean bad news, but this sure was great news."

Campbell was as excited. "I'll save this telegram as a souvenir. It sure is great."

Neither Palmer or Player has played in the area or in Michigan since the National Open at Oakland Hills in 1961.

★ ★ ★

Monday, Palmer made golf history in money earnings when he won the Western Open in a playoff with Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros and brought his earnings for 1963 to $96,000.

Palmer started a series of charity matches yesterday. Next Tuesday's match with Player will start at 2:00 p.m. and proceeds raised will help to build a new boy's home at Camp Oakland in Oxford.

Tickets are on sale for $10 at most area golf courses, at First Federal of Detroit and by calling Camp Oakland in Oxford or Orchard Lake.

Palmer's $98,995 Tops PGA Tournament Pros

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer has won a record $96,995 in 7 golf tournaments this year and young Jack Nicklaus is not far behind with $79,590 in prize money.

Third on the list of top ten money winners released by the Professional Golfers' Association is Julius Boros with $69,096. Fourth is Tony Lema with $62,513 and fifth is Gary Player with $48,775.

Keaggy Leads in National

Waterford's Dave Keaggy Jr. shot his way into the first round lead of the National Archery Association Championship Tournament at Los Angeles yesterday with a score of 492.

The 16-year-old Waterford Kettering student, who recently placed third in the world tournament in Helsinki, Finland, had a 10-point lead over second place Dudley Harris of Austin, Texas.

National women's archery champion Nancy Vonderheide of Cincinnati made her start in the 79th annual tournament a winning one yesterday.

After one-half the international round, Miss Vonderheide had scored 503 points. In second place was Grace Amborski of Toledo, Ohio, 485-497.

Slugfest, Gem Mark Playoffs in Waterford

City Softball Games Hard Fought Despite Lack of Importance

Waterford Township's softball playoffs began with a bang last night.

The bats were quiet in the Class B opener as Ed Miller twirled a no-hit 2-0 gem for Lakeland Pharmacy against West Side Lanes.

But in Class C, the war clubs were quite noisy. There were 31 hits as Haskins Chevrolet topped Huron Bowl, 20-14.

Miller walked three men during his no-hitter, but his teammates played errorless ball, however, behind him. A fifth-inning double by Bob Thatcher led to the only run he needed.

Haskins poured across 11 runs in the final two innings to overcome Huron Bowl's 12-9 lead. Otis McCusker pounded out three hits and accounted for seven runs in the winning attack.

CITY GAMES

There were only exhibition games, but they played to the hilt in the city Class A softball league last night.

Two games went nine innings and were decided by one run, a player argued too vociferously and cost his team a forfeit loss, and the city champions continued in fine form to highlight the action.

Howe's Lanes defeated Martin Associates, 2-1, on a ninth-inning single by Ken Young; and Al Hayward smacked a two-out solo home run for a 6-5 Arro Realty win over Monicatti Chrysler-Plymouth in the other overtime contest.

City king Harvey's Colonial House bowled over 300 Bowl, 8-2, on a 15-hit attack; and the other contest was a 7-0 forfeit win for Elks 810 over Town & Country.

Elks led 10-1 when an irate T&C player was ejected and the losers had no one to replace him.

Tonight's contests are in the Class B and C leagues. G&M Construction will risk its fading fourth place hopes in the "B" loop when it plays Motorcar Transport at 8:30 p.m. on the Beaudette Park field.

★ ★ ★

At 7 p.m. Berry Door and Local 853 have a big clash in the "C" circuit. At the same time on the Northside Park diamond, Buettner's Cleaners will play Pontiac Millwork in a Class C contest.

Tonight in township action, A&W Root Beer will meet Dinky's Hideaway at 7 p.m. and Rockcote Paint will play Dixie Bar at 8:30 p.m. in a Class C twinbill on the Drayton Plains park.

A birdie on 17 helped Mrs. Thompson, but a double-bogey on 18 prevented Mrs. Hume from forcing a tie.

Memories of Past All-Stars

Who Will Standout?

CHICAGO (AP)—When the All-Stars and Green Bay Packers meet in football's midsummer classic Friday night, one or more of the collegians will have their names inscribed in a growing book of memories.

Year after year since the game was inaugurated in 1934, youngsters from college use the game as a stepping stone to greatness in the professional ranks.

Every member of this year's 50-man squad will go to a pro camp, 40 to the National Football League and 10 to the American League. Some will fail to make the pros, some will become journeymen players and a few will achieve the distinction of playing for a championship team and will return to face future All-Star teams in Soldier Field.

It's anybody's guess who the stars of the All-Stars will be Friday night. But looking back, there are some names which never will be forgotten.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

It was back in 1937 when the All-Stars defeated Green Bay 6-0. A young man named Sammy Baugh threw a 22-yard pass to Gaynell Tinsley who dashed the remaining 25 yards for the game's only score.

The following year Cecil Isbell and Johnny Kovatch combined on a 39-yard touchdown pass to get the All-Stars rolling towards a 28-16 triumph over Washington.

* * *

Two years later, Isbell returned as a member of the Green Bay Packers. He threw three touchdown passes, two to Don Hutson, and guided the Packers to a 45-28 victory.

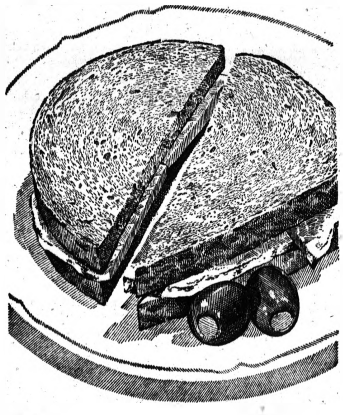

It was in 1943 when Otto Graham, present coach of the All-Stars had his moment of glory. Graham intercepted one of Baugh's passes and ran 97 yards for a touchdown in a game which saw the All-Stars dump Washington 27-7.

REALLY STARS

And who can forget the great All-Star victories in 1946 and 1947 with Los Angeles first and then the Chicago Bears losing by 16-0 scores. Elroy Hirsch ran 68 yards for a touchdown against the Rams and then took a 38-yard pass from Graham for another touchdown. The following year Buddy Young and Charley Trippi ran the Bears dizzy before a record crowd of 105,840.

Remember Charley (Choo Choo) Justice from North Carolina? In 1950 Justice and a little quarterback named Eddie Lebaron helped kayo Philadelphia 17-7.

Hungry?

...this calls for Budweiser.

Mets Pulled Back From Brink

By The Associated Press

The New York Mets, who hold a first mortgage on the brink of disaster, marched back from the precipice today behind Tracy Stallard after ending their 22-game losing streak on the road.

Stallard, who's been to the brink twice and fallen over, kept the Mets from setting an all-time record for consecutive losses away from home by spinning a four-hitter that beat Los Angeles 5-1 Tuesday night and trimmed the Dodgers' National League lead to 3½ games over San Francisco.

* * *

The second-place Giants closed the gap as Willie Mays and Willie McCovey supplied the firepower for a 5-0 victory over Philadelphia. It was the ninth straight triumph for the surging San Franciscans, 10 games behind Los Angeles 10 days ago.

But the spotlight was clearly on Stallard, the man who served up Roger Maris' 61st homer and was on the mound when the Mets set a modern record for road losses by dropping their 20th straight away from the Polo Grounds.

LAST WIN, TOO

The 25-year-old right-hander, the winning pitcher when the Mets last won on the road June 15, may never have been sharper. He allowed the Dodgers to get only two runners beyond second base in sending the front-runners down to their seventh defeat in 10 games.

The victory left the Mets tied in the record book with the Pittsburgh team of 1890 at 22 road losses. The mark had remained unchallenged for 73 years, coincidentally the age of Mets' Manager Casey Stengel, who celebrated his birthday before the game.

* * *

Third-place St. Louis closed to within four games of the Dodgers by beating Cincinnati 7-5 as Ernie Broglio, just demoted to the bullpen, checked the Reds on one run in 6 1-3 innings of relief work. Milwaukee bombed the Chicago Cubs 9-2 and Pittsburgh walloped Houston 8-1.

Mays slammed two doubles and a single and McCovey hit his 31st homer, a three-run shot, to back up the shutout pitching of Billy O'Dell. O'Dell, nicked for 11 Phillie hits, posted his first victory since June 22 while boosting his record to 11-6.

PAR OR BETTER

By JULIUS BOROS

Left Arm Straight With Club

If the toe of the club is sticking up, you are standing too far from the ball. If the heel is up, the toe drooping you're too close.

Sole the club so the bottom rests on the ground. The bottom line must be level.

Feet in position, weight properly set, knees flexed you find you're bent slightly forward at the waist, just how much depending on your physical stature.

Make sure your back is practically straight!

ADDRESS

The arms should hang straight down from the shoulders as you address the ball.

The extension of your left arm should form a straight line with the club.

Work on attaining the proper stance until it becomes automatic with you. Grip first, stance second, and you're on your way to shooting par.

These two fundamentals will start you off correctly so that you will shift your weight properly and thus develop a smooth and rhythmic swing.

* * *

Footwork is as important in golf as it is in any other sport. Footwork can control your body so you can bring the club into contact with the ball at the exact time to strike it squarely for maximum distance.

Golf isn't a game of putting your best foot forward.

It's a case of jumping in with both feet!

BASE—Sole the club so the bottom rests level on the ground.

Angels Not Too High, But They're Flying

They aren't flying high, but it appears the Angels have at least gotten off the ground.

Los Angeles' surprise team of last year, a third-place finisher in only its second season in the American League, has been a surprise this year too—in reverse.

After sputtering around through April, May and June, the Angels went into a dive at the start of July and as late as five days ago were hovering in eighth place. But they've gone on an upswing since with a string of five straight victories that has carried them up to sixth—the highest they've been in a month.

The Angels' latest victory came Tuesday night at Cleveland when they frittered away a four-run lead, then won 6-4 with two runs in the 10th inning. That skipped them ahead of the Indians in the standings.

Meanwhile, the New York Yankees kept their eight-game hold on the league lead by beating Kansas City 6-2 with a four-run flurry in the eighth inning. Chicago's second-place White Sox trimmed Washington 5-1.

Baltimore unloaded an 18-hit barrage and Milt Pappas pitched a four-hitter as the Orioles blasted Detroit 9-0. And Vic Wertz's pinch single sparked a five-run sixth inning that carried Minnesota over Boston 6-3.

DECISIVE HIT

Ken Hunt singled in the Angels' decisive run in the 10th inning after a double by Felix Torres and an intentional pass to Leon Wagner. Wagner came in with an added run on a Cleveland error.

Joe Koppe's two-run homer in the second started the Angels toward their 4-0 lead, but the Indians scored once in the sixth and caught up in the eighth with three runs. Each side used four pitchers, with Jack Spring, 3-0, the winner and Ted Abernathy losing.

John Blanchard, just back in the line-up after being sidelined for five days with bronchitis, pushed the Yankees ahead 3-2 in the eighth with a line single off Moe Drabowsky. Clete Boyer later drove in two more with a hit, and another crossed on a wild pitch by John Wyatt.

Jim Bouton won his 14th with a seven-hitter, getting the most trouble from the Athletics' hot-hitting shortstop, Wayne Causey. He smacked a homer and two doubles, giving him 13 hits in his last 25 at bats.

Dave DeBusschere was within one out of his first complete game and first shutout in the majors when the Senators scored—and chased him—in the ninth with singles by Chuck Cottier and Jim King and an error. Jim Brosnan got the final out.

Jim Lemon's three-run homer and Mike Hershberger's two-run single were the big White Sox hits off Washington's Don Rudolph.

Brooks Robinson and Al Smith led Baltimore's barrage against Hank Aguirre and Bob Anderson. Robinson banged a homer and two singles, knocking in four runs, while Smith had four hits.

The Red Sox ran up a 3-0 lead in three innings against Jim Kaat, but Jim Perry and winner Bill Dailey stopped them the rest of the way while the Twins came back.

In Minnesota's big five-run six, Wertz' pinch single drove across the first two, making it 3-3. Then Jack Lamabe's wild pitch let in the go-ahead run, and Don Mincher singled in two more.

Boston starter Bob Turley was the loser.

M. G. Collision has one consolation after its 5-4 loss to the Oxford Merchants last night; it won't have to face the magain.

Oxford made it two wins and a tie against M. G. with the victory yesterday in the city Class A baseball race.

The triumph killed all chances for the losers to grab a spot in the city league playoffs. It was only the second win in 15 games for Oxford.

The winners were held to four hits, but tallied three big second inning runs without the aid of a safety. Three base on balls and a two-run error figured in the uprising.

The decisive tally was driven in by winning pitcher Mike Dodge on a fourth-inning triple.

The Collision squad had the tying and winning runs on base against the Merchants with one out in the last inning but Dodge retired the last two batters on a strikeout and ground ball, leaving the bases loaded.

One of the biggest regular season contests looms tonight when Cranbrook will tangle with the Clippers in a battle for first place. A victory for the former will insure it of at least a tie for the top spot during the regular season.

He's Tough on Links

Rochester golfers beware!

Dr. William J. Early, the new superintendent of Rochester schools, is a tough customer on the links.

He proved this earlier in the week by firing a hole-in-one at Highland Hills. Dr. Early aced the 165-yard 12th hole with a seven iron shot.

This helped him to a 78 for the 18 holes. It was the first ace this season at the course.

EARLY

Known as an ardent sportsman, Dr. Early is reported to be playing golf three times a week this summer.

Golfers in the Rochester area will have to wait before they can issue any challenges for head-to-head combat on local courses.

Dr. Early won't move to Rochester from his home in Fenton until the middle of August.

Stewart MacDonald of Warren wasted little time scoring an ace at Sylvan Glen.

Playing in the Dodge Truck Engineering League, MacDonald first teed up on the 163-yard 10th hole. He hit the ball with a three iron and it rolled in the cup for a hole-in-one.

It was the first ace of the year at Sylvan Glen.

Liberal Restrictions for Ohio Fishermen

By DON VOGEL

"Except as otherwise provided there is no closed season, no length, bag or possession limits."

The above statement is found under the "Liberalized Fishing" section of the Ohio Fishing Law Digest. For the rod fishermen there is little restriction.

I found out a few things about inland Ohio fishing while spending a few days in the Buckeye state last week. First of all, not all fishing is restricted to Lake Erie as many suspect. Second, Ohio has more potential musky and walleye fishing than Michigan.

How can this be true when Ohio is almost a desert compared with Michigan and its thousands of inland lakes?.

The majority of lakes in Ohio are man-made. And the Wildlife Division of the Department of Natural Resources and the parks division are still busy blocking streams to form lakes for fishing and swimming.

All lakes get a quick dose of bluegills, crappies, perch and largemouth bass. Then in go the muskies, usually followed by a stocking of walleyes. A few catfish are added for spice.

If the lake is deep enough, rainbows are added. Brush piles and other fish habitat is formed before the flooding takes place. On Findlay Lake, south of Lorain, and in several other lakes, brush piles are marked with buoys.

Down in the Buckeye state, float and trot lines are legal on many lakes and reservoirs. Hand lines can have up to 10 hooks each. There's no mention of the limit for rods. The only regulation is that not more than two handlines or two rods or a combination of either equaling two can be used.

SIZE OF HOUGHTON LAKE

There are regulations covering the taking of frogs, turtles and minnows, similar to Michigan's, but the only real restrictions on hook and line fishing govern Pymatuning Lake.

This large body of water, about the size of Houghton Lake, but not as round, is split by the Ohio-Pennsylvania border, 65 miles east of Cleveland.

The daily limits are 10 walleyes, two muskies and 10 black bass. There is no limit as to size.

In the remainder of the state, and Lake Erie, the sky is the limit.

I spent five hours on Punderson Lake, east of Cleveland. This lake covers 101 acres and is shaped like Cemetery Lake near Clarkston.

It contains muskies, wallayes, largemouth bass, crappies, bluegills, perch, catfish, bullheads, rainbows and brown trout.

The rainbows were the big attraction, according to the woman running the boat livery.

"Trout fishing is something new for people in Ohio," she said. "That's the main reason they come to this lake."

She allowed as how a few walleyes were being taken, but said the "muskies are on the small side. The largest has been a 10-pounder, with many of the others around five."

A blackboard at the livery listed 168 rainbows and three browns taken since the first of the year.

I asked if many people fished for rainbows at night—the best time on Oakland County lakes and all lakes east of the Mississippi for that matter.

FEW FISH AT NIGHT

"Oh, no," she answered with a surprised look." Hardly anyone fishes here at night." The same reply came from livery operators on other lakes containing trout which I checked.

Pymatuning is supposed to be the top walleye lake in Ohio and is fast becoming noted for its muskie fishing. I took one look and fled for the hills of Pennsylvania.

The water was brown colored and there was a definite oder that is difficult to describe but unpleasant as far as I was concerned (no doubt influenced by a dead calm day and 90-degree temperatures).

There is one thing about Ohio lakes that Michigan fishermen would like to see in this state. No motors are allowed on many of the lakes and there is a horsepower restriction on the larger bodies of water.

Even on giant Pymatuning, there is a six horsepower limit.

I planned to do some trout fishing in Pennsylvania, but the mountain streams were all dried up and the larger rivers so low and brackish-looking I passed it up.

I'll take Michigan fishing any day.

SOME SARDINE — The fish weren't big enough in California so Isabel Guthrie of Avalon went to Australia where she hooked this 425-pound grouper off Hayman Island.

Recreational Land Problem Is Predicted

A growing population in the metropolitan area that includes Oakland County will require by 1980 nearly twice the amount of land presently set aside for outdoor recreational purposes.

This is the project made by the Detroit Area Regional Planning Commission in its latest report.

★ ★ ★

The regional planners foresee a need for 90,000 acres of recreational land by 1980, when the population of Southeastern Michigan is expected to near nine million people.

According to the planners, only 48,000 acres in the area presently are owned by various governmental agencies for recreational park purposes.

The additional 42,000 acres that will be needed should include 40,000 more front feet of public beaches, 1,700 more acres for picnickers, and 35 more regulation 18-hole golf courses of 120 acres each, say the planners.

Presently there are 22,000 front feet of beaches, 1,900 acres of picnic land, and 94 regulation-size golf courses in the metropolitan area, they said.

★ ★ ★

Many state-owned recreation areas in Oakland County were forced to close their gates before noon July Fourth when they were unable to accommodate more than an estimated 100,000 people. Thousands more were turned away.

Antlerless Deer Question Before Commission

Game Division Seeks Approval for '63 Season

Southern Area Eyed as Future Trouble Spot Because of Herd Size

With field surveys pointing to another good-sized herd, the Conservation Department is proposing a harvest of 60,000 surplus antlerless deer in Northern Michigan during the state's 1963 firearm season.

Its recommendations will come up for action during the Conservation Commission's Aug. 9 meeting at Cadillac.

As proposed by the department, this fall's take of antlerless deer would total about 17,000 in the Upper Peninsula and 43,000 in the northern Lower Peninsula.

These figures closely correspond to last year's buck kill in both regions, averaging about one deer per square mile above the Straits and from three to four deer per square mile in the northern Lower Peninsula for special areas.

Any-deer hunting is recommended for 46 areas—10 in the Upper Peninsula and 36 in the northern Lower Peninsula—where whitetails are faced with a continuing shortage of winter food or are causing crop damage.

Some 155,000 special permits need to be issued to reach the department's recommended antlerless harvest.

Buck kill should closely parallel last year's mark in Northern Michigan if hunting conditions are favorable. Department game men look for a take of 16,000-17,000 bucks in the Upper Peninsula and upwards of 40,000 antlered whitetails in the northern Lower.

Hunters in the southern Lower Peninsula are expected to bring home 6,000-7,000 bucks to shatter their record of 5,400 set last season.

Although Southern Michigan's population explosion of deer poses a major problem for management in the not-too-distant future, the commission will not be asked to consider an anterless season in the region for this fall.

Adoption of Skunks Against State Law

With many people writing in for papers to "adopt" skunks as their pets, the Conservation Department points out that it is unlawful to possess these live animals when they have been taken from the wild in Michigan.

Chief reason for this restriction is to safeguard would-be owners from rabies; skunks are the most common carriers of this disease among Michigan's wildlife members.

The state's ban on possessing wild skunks is also designed to protect these striped "woods kittys" from well-meaning people who would "de-scent" the young before making pets of them.

If turned loose when they had become mischievous adults — as often happens — these animals would be without their main means of defense.

Angler Makes Date for 1970

Top Fishing During Eclipse

By BOB VOGES
Associated Press Outdoor Writer

GAYLORD—I've got an urgent fishing date with a certain lake in Otsego County in 1970.

I'd also like to hit it again in the year 2017 — but might not be around to make that trip.

The years aren't picked through just whim — they are the dates when the next two eclipses of the sun will be visible in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The reason — I enjoyed some of the best fishing of the summer on that Otsego County lake during the recent eclipse.

The lake contains some good northern pike but fishermen just weren't getting them during the heat of mid-July.

On July 20, I brought in three good pike during the few hours just before, during and after the eclipse of the sun.

They were taken on live frogs, fished deep by trolling on a six pound test line with a wire leader. The same method, same place, used another half dozen times before and after that one spurt of luck, netted only one good pike.

PRESENTS CASE

John Alden Knight, in his book "The Modern Angler," presents the case for the Solunar theory that could account for it.

His claim is that the moon and the sun create inland tides as well as ocean tides and cause the fish to feed the best at certain times of the day, all other conditions being equal.

The best fishing, he contends, comes when the solunar high and low tides correspond to the early morning and late evening feeding periods. Most insect hatches also take place during these periods, he also believes.

The book cites one trout fisherman as declaring that the best fly fishing for brown trout he ever experienced came during an eclipse of the sun on Aug. 31, 1932. Bass fishermen gave similar reports for the day.

Knight's Solunar Tables have become popular and some fishermen swear by them, concentrating their fishing activity during the times of the maximum and minimum tidal pull of the sun and the moon.

★ ★ ★

Others say the idea is just another fishermen's old wive's tale.

A. B. Cook, head of the fish division of the State Conservation Department, said the department has made some study of the theory but has come to no overall conclusions.

Justin Leonard, deputy director in charge of research, said an effort was made to check creel reports and compare them with the solunar tables when the theory was first advocated but that there was no conclusive matchup.

The department hasn't attempted to seriously come to grips with the theory, he said.

I've still got that fishing date in mind for 1970. And it would be interesting to know if any other anglers experienced unusually good luck on that eclipse day of Saturday, July 20.

★ ★ ★

Knight said a fishing friend concluded of his solunar theory:

"The whole idea's crazy and I don't believe a word of it—but the darn thing works."

Local Swimmers Ninth

The Pontiac Swim Club scored 46 points to finish ninth in last weekend's Water Wonderland swim meet at the Brennan Pool in Detroit.

Coach Ed Dauw's swimmers showed better depth in this year's meet that attracted some 32 swim clubs from several midwestern states.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's top scorer was Sue Smith who totaled almost half of her team's points. The young lady won the 100 meter backstroke and the 100 meter freestyle in the 13-14 age group.

Miss Smith also placed third in the 200 meter backstroke and third in the 200 meter freestyle in the open age group.

The local swimmers other first place came in the 11-12 age group 50 meter freestyle where Steve Yedlin won in a time of 31.0 seconds

Other Pontiac swimmers placing in the meet were, Hugh Wilder (4th in the 100 meter backstroke), John Mason (6th in the 100 meter backstroke, 13-14 age group), Bruce Featherstone (7th in the 50 meter butterfly, 10 and under) and Lorraine King (3rn in the 100 meter freestyle and 6th in the 100 meter backstroke).

Pontiac also placed two relay teams. Featherstone teamthed with Joe McMillan, Jeff Klann and Steve Yedlin to place fifth in the 200 meter medley relay.

The 13-14 age group 200 meter medley relay team of Barry Whately, Steve Yedlin, Frank Yedlin and John Mason finished sixth.

Haywards Have New Hill Star

Roger Hayward, Auburn Heights Boys' Club Class D pitcher, isn't the only hurler in the Pontiac Hayward family who can pitch no-hit games.

Roger's younger brother, Don, turned in a no-hit gem as the Pontiac Firefighters downed the Three Sisters Rockets, 3-0, in the first round of the Class F American League playoffs yesterday.

The other contest in 'F' American League tourney saw the defending city and state champion Falcons upset by Auburn Heights Boys' Club, 1-0.

Steve Burnell's bloop single in the sixth inning scored the winning run for the Heights. Dugan Pife turned in a sparkling performance on the mound for the winners, he fanned 15 while giving up just three hits.

Ernie Lewis was the big hero for Webb Fuel's Class F team. His double in the seventh inning scored the winning run as Webb defeated the Pontiac Boys' Club, 2-1, in National League playoff action.

Lakeland A.C. came up with three big runs in the top of the seventh to edge Pontiac Boys' Club, 7-6, in a Class E National League playoff contest.

Andy Stove's two-run double was the big blow for Lakeland, Jerry Murphy went the distance for the victory.

WATERFORD RESULTS

Dale Manning, pitcher for Lakeland Pharmacy in the Waterford Township Class D league, decided to take things into his own hands last night.

Manning's Lakeland team took the field against the league leading Optimist Lakers with only eight men. But Manning had no fear of the top team, he proved his courage by hurling a one-hit, 4-2 victory over the Lakers.

The Lakeland hurler fanned 15 batters, including 11 of the last 12 outs.

In Class E, Joe Durson pitched Pontiac Transmission to a 7-4 win over the Royals. In Widget play, the Blue Star Falcons routed Waterford's Eagles, 30-1.

The Waterford Wildcats and the Waterford Center Rebels recorded easy victories in Class F. The Wildcats downed French's Herring, 11-3, and the Rebels took a 17-8 contest from the Lake Oakland Panthers.

In Heavy Trading

Market's Summer Rally Slows

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advance slowed somewhat in active trading early this afternoon.

The market opened vigorously with 1.2 million shares changing hands in the first hour as the advancing went into its fourth session.

Brokers said the action could be described as the traditional summer rally even though it may be short - lived. Some called it a technical rebound from a temporarily oversold condition. Price rises were attributed in some cases to short covering.

Steels, rubbers, utilities, rails and airlines advanced.

Profit-taking nibbled at good gains registered yesterday. Polaroid, which advanced 13¾ yesterday, had its gain for today pared from 3¾ to 1⅝. Xerox was off about 6 points. U.S. Smelting dropped more than a point.

* * *

A gain of 3¾ by Du Pont helped keep the averages ahead.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon advanced 1.0 to 268.5 with industrials up 1.8, rails up .6 and utilities up .3.

U.S. Steel, which yesterday reported the best second quarter earnings since 1960, managed a gain of only a minor fraction. Other steels also advanced fractionally.

Chrysler, a victim of profit taking, lost better than a point. General Motors and Ford were fractionally higher.

Eastern and National Airlines continued to be actively traded on the prospect that Northeast Airlines will lose its Florida routes. National was up better than a point and Eastern almost a point.

* * *

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was moderately active. Gains were made by Gulf & Western, Mead Johnson, Radiation Inc., Rayette and Syntex. Losers included Circuit Foil, Gulf American Land, Stelma and Aerosol.

Corporate and government bonds were mixed.

Chevy to Add a New Series

Confirms Speculation at Annual Preview

DETROIT (UPI) — Chevrolet Division of General Motors Corp. today confirmed it will add a new series of cars in 1964.

* * *

The confirmation came obliquely with the invitations to the annual news preview of the Chevrolet line.

The invitation pictures a nurse holding an X ray under the caption "Our backbone has been stretched." Printed on the X ray was:

1964
CheVrolet
CorVair
. . .V. . .
CheVy II
CorVette

And to automotive insiders the . . .V. . . could only be the Chevelle — Chevrolet's entry into the middle-sized car market. The Chevelle will be built on 115-inch wheelbase, the same size as Ford's Fairlane.

The entry of the Chevelle to the line gives Chevrolet, which is pacing the industry in sales during the 1963 record year, saturation of all size cars.

STAGGERS LINE

Starting with the Corvair, Chevrolet staggers its line with the Chevy II and standard-sized Chevrolet. The division also offers the sporty Corvette. The . . .V. . . will fill the slot between the Chevy II and standard model.

UPI reported the advent of the Chevelle early this summer, and said that only two models of the Chevy II line would be carried over in 1964.

Semon E. Knudsen, GM vice president and general manager of Chevrolet Division, later admitted the Chevy II line might not be as extensive in '64 as it was in 1963. But he said there would be more than two models offered.

* * *

There have been several names mentioned in automotive circles for the new model. One was the Chevaire — which also could fit the bill.

Most Prices Drop on Board of Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Selling pressure was moderate but fairly general in the grain futures market today and prices were mostly lower on the day.

* * *

Losses in soybeans ran to about two cents a bushel during the first several minutes and the grains eased small fractions after a little scattered support at the opening.

* * *

Brokers said favorable crop news again was a bearish influence in corn and soybeans and that speculators were cautious about more than moderate commitments on the long side of trade elsewhere.

To Seek Solon With Summons

Claim Powell Tries to Defraud Creditor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Process servers will be seeking Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y. starting Sunday with a summons requiring him to show cause why he should not be charged with a misdemeanor for allegedly attempting to defraud a creditor.

★ ★ ★

The creditor is Mrs. Esther James, a Harlem widow who won a $211,200 libel judgment against Powell after he called her a "bag woman" (graft collector) for the police department. Mrs. James has been unable to collect from the Harlem legislator.

Yesterday, in Manhattan Criminal Court, she obtained a summons, signed by Judge Simon Silver, requiring Powell to show why he should not be charged with defrauding or hindering creditors by diverting his income, a violation of the penal code.

Silver said the summons could be served anytime after 1 p.m. this Sunday, with the aid of police, if necessary.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. James' action concerned an article entitled "The Duties and Responsibilities of a Congressman," reported to have been purchased by Esquire Magazine for $1,000 for publication in the September issue.

Mrs. James' attorney said the magazine sent the check for $1,000 to Powell's literary agent, who, after deducting a 10 per cent commission, sent the balance of the payment to Powell's wife.

This was done at Powell's instructions, according to the court papers.

Mrs. James said this constituted a diversion of funds that could have been used to defray the libel judgment.

★ ★ ★

If convicted of the misdemeanor charge, Powell could be sentenced to one year in jail, a $500 fine, or both.

Tests Earth Surroundings

Study Space Shot Data

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Scientists are studying data radioed from a payload which raced 8,000 miles into space to study the ionosphere.

The probe, hurled upward by a Blue Scout rocket, relayed nearly four hours of excellent signals before burning up as planned during atmospheric reentry above the Indian ocean yesterday.

The Air Force experiment was one of several being conducted at various U.S. launching bases to chart the ionosphere, layers of globe-circling electrical particles which affect communications on earth.

The studies could lead to better communications between points on earth and between ground stations and orbiting spacecraft, especially in determining the most effective radio frequencies.

David Belts Goliath in Road Fight

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — A highway in this city was the scene Monday of a David and Goliath saga.

Police said a small foreign car was cut off by a tractor-trailer. The driver was forced to hit the brakes to avoid a collision.

When the truck stopped for a traffic light, the driver of the automobile pulled up in front of the truck, got out, and with a tire wrench smashed the rear view mirror of the larger vehicle.

"As long as you don't use it, you don't need it," he said, and drove off.

The truck driver said he would not sign a complaint.

Go Ahead-- Drink Some Sea Water

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Your sea water been tasting different lately?

That's because of a new technique known as 'thin-film vapor compression" developed by Westinghouse Research Laboratories to make fresh water from the sea.

The process, which eventually could reduce the cost of sea water conversion below the $1-per-thousand-gallon mark, is an improvement on established methods. It desalts ocean water by changing it to a vapor and condensing it back again to a liquid, leaving salt and other impurities behind.

The basic principle of salt water conversion was well known to scientists. Westinghouse-built evaporator plants already have installed a capacity of more than six million gallons of converted sea water daily.

Mayor Landry Orders Engineering Dept. Split

Mayor Robert A. Landry last night ordered city administrators to take immediate steps to split the city inspection and engineering departments into two separate units.

★ ★ ★

Landry told City Attorney William A. Ewart to prepare a resolution to that effect for action next Tuesday.

The request came after Landry objected strenuously to an administrative survey of the engineering department being initiated "without authorization of this commission."

The survey is being conducted by an administrative intern who is paid from the engineering department budget, City Manager Robert A. Stierer explained.

NORMAL PROCEDURE

He said it was being conducted "as a normal departmental procedure designed to better identify responsibilities of various engineering sections and improve over-all efficiency."

"Who authorized this survey?" Landry asked.

"I did," Stierer replied, explaining that such surveys were normally administrative functions not requiring commission authorization.

ASKED STUDY

Commissioner William H. Taylor added, "I believe we asked for a study and report on this informally before acting on realignment of the departments."

★ ★ ★

The separation of inspection from engineering had been under study at the commission's request.

Stierer concluded that "I think it best to see results of this report before taking formal action."

Landry replied, "You don't have any authority to take a survey without commission approval. You're taking a survey that you want, not one the commission wants."

Landry's position was supported by Commissioner Winford E. Bottom.

Young Farmer Needs Plenty to Start Career

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—A young farmer needs 10 times as much money to start a farm today as he would have required before the war, says an agricultural economist.

Prof. H. C. Driver told the closing session of Conference Week at the University of Manitoba that $50,000 is the "minimum capital outlay needed today to begin a farm unit.

"It has become next to impossible for aspiring farm operators to gain control of this amount of capital without some assistance from parents. The farm business is often called upon to support two families until the parents retire."

★ ★ ★

For young career farmers, Prof. Driver recommended government aid to increase their knowledge of technical and management aspects of agriculture.

The idea would be to enable them to keep up with the rapidly changing agricultural technology and prevent them from becoming submarginal farmers.

Peaches, Not Melons

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Sign on a produce counter in a local supermarket points out: "Girls are for squeezing — not melons."

Ocean Floor Yields Great Ore Stores

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Off the coast of South West Africa a company is taking diamonds from the oceans' floors.

A pilot plant operation is extracting more than 30,000 tons of commercial grade iron ore a month around the sea depts around Japan.

Claims have been staked for gold mining rights in the seaward sands of Norton Sound, overrun in the gold rush of '98. Alaska, where beaches were '98.

The U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries is experimenting with use of electrical fields for herding fish into commercial fishermen's nets.

★ ★ ★

Aerospace, official publication of the Aerospace Industries Association, said these are some of the ventures undertaken by government, aerospace and commercial enterprises in exploration of the world ocean.

The magazine said the aerospace industry will play a leading role on the watery new frontier.

The environments of space and the ocean both require pressurized vehicles, are highly destructive of materials and pose unique navigation and communications difficulties, the magazine said, adding that there is hardly an aerospace company that does not have its anti-submarine warfare, space, or ocean operations division or department.

★ ★ ★

The magazine said the seas not only offer a solution to the world's mounting food problem and provide resources of raw materials but also have military potential.

★ ★ ★

The United States appropriated $2 billion for anti-submarine purposes for the current fiscal year to be spent for ships, planes, submarines, ocean-floor listening stations, sonar, magnetic detection gear, rocket-boosted torpedoes and nuclear depth bombs.

Restaurateur Supplies Power of Deduction

A new service offered by a Long Island restaurant makes it easy to prove to the Internal Revenue Service that the dinner expense is deductible.

★ ★ ★

The restaurant is providing a tape recording for diners who talk business during the meal. All or part of such conversations can be recorded, with the customer shutting off the recorder at will.

Youths Evade Red Shots, Flee to West Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — Eastern border guards today fired 30 shots at two youths who scampered safely over the Berlin wall to the American sector.

The refugees, 22 and 23 years old, escaped at the corner of Jerusalem and Zimmer Strasse 300 yards from the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie where two border guards fled to freedom yesterday.

The youths climbed the 9-foot high barrier one hour before dawn. The wall at that point is 7 feet high, topped by 2 feet of barbed wire.

★ ★ ★

Eastern machine pistol shots missed the youths but they cut their hands on the barbed wire atop the wall, Western police reported.

Optimism Rules Family

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gardner are trying to decide who'll get to wield the gavel at home. Gardner was installed as president of the Delwood Optimist Club at the same time his wife took office as president of the Delwood Opti-Mrs. Club.

Cuban Exiles Hit at Slackers

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Organization of a new anti-Castro movement that would punish "slackers" was announced today by Cuban exiles.

The group is headed by Dr. Carlos Marquez Sterling, who helped frame Cuba's last constitution and who was an unsuccessful candidate for president in 1958.

It is called Free Cuba Patriotic Movement, a confederation of "Marti clubs"—named for independence hero Jose Marti — formed in exile centers. Thirty-five clubs have been established, with the biggest concentrations in Miami and New York City.

A proclamation of the movement declares all Cubans over 16 of both sexes are obligated to serve in some capacity in the "liberation war."

Only those exiles who contribute to the war will be given back property taken away by the Castro government, the movement ruled.

This apparently was aimed at some wealthy exiles not participating in anti-Castro activities or donating funds for them.

Senate Passes Bill to Control Stock Sales

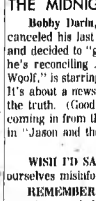

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed and sent to the House yesterday legislation to impose stricter federal controls over stock trading in the over-the-counter market.

The measure, approved by voice vote, would extend present financial disclosure provisions and put stiffer controls over brokers, dealers, and other employes engaged in selling or trading over-the-counter issues.

'Cleo Papers' Slammed by Actor James Garner

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Movie and TV star James Garner has spoken out in anger against Press Agents Jack Brodsky and Nat Weiss for telling everything intimate they can remember about Liz Taylor and Richard Burton in a new book, "The Cleopatra Papers."

WILSON

"They had positions of responsibility with 20th Century-Fox when they were assigned to 'Cleopatra,'" Garner said fiercely. "They had no right to write this book.

"And it's not that I'm defending the actors. I'm in fact, very, very sick of Liz and Burton and Sybil and Whoever Else it is. But Brodsky and Weiss have made me realize that if a press agent leaves me, he may write anything he wants to about me. I don't mind because I've got nothing to hide."

Old Pals, New Opponents

Irony Blankets TFX Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

There is more than a little irony in the Senate Investigations subcommittee's long-running scrutiny of the TFX fighter plane contract.

For President Kennedy and his brother, Bob, it is like having an alma mater heap scorn and embarrassment upon its own alumni association. The subcommittee has many alumni in the administration.

The President and attorney general are the most famous of the subcommittee's old grads. But now their administration is being challenged day after day by subcommitteemen on the Pentagon's decision to award the TFX contract to the General Dynamics Corp. instead of Boeing.

In that same subcommittee's hearing rooms, the attorney general came to his greatest prior prominence as chief counsel in the investigations of the Teamsters Union and a variety of other matters.

Robert Kennedy's right-hand man on the Senate group was former FBI agent Carmine Bellino, now a special consultant to the President and a troubleshooter for the Budget Bureau.

James McShane, now chief U.S. marshal, was one of Robert Kennedy's staff investigators in the Teamsters inquiry.

So were Walter Sheridan and Joseph Dolan, now Justice Department aides — and Pierre Salinger, the President's press secretary.

* * *

P. Kenneth O'Donnell, the President's appointments secretary, was on the subcommittee staff. And there are others, including some of the secretaries these officials shifted with them from the legislative to executive sides of government.

But there still is another irony. A prime mover in the investigation is Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in whose home state Boeing's headquarters are located.

Jackson was Kennedy's hand-picked Democratic national chairman during the 1960 election campaign — but now he is helping investigate the administration he fought to put into office.

* * *

The investigation has provoked bitter exchanges between some senators and civilian leaders in the Pentagon, who have been portrayed as overruling military advice in alloting the contract.

President Kennedy has backed Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara against criticism of the Chief Executive's former colleagues in the Senate.

But there has not been any noticeable bitterness on the part of the White House, even though Kennedy obviously isn't happy to have his administration criticized.

So Police Step In

Trio Looks Phon(e)y

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Police spotted three men huddled around a telephone pole yesterday.

Ever on the alert for possible saboteurs damaging equipment of the struck General Telephone Co., officers converged on the scene.

A cable had been cut. Officers clapped handcuffs on the men and started to take them to headquarters.

* * *

The three hastily explained they were businessmen whose phones had been put out of order by the damage and they had hoped they could repair the cable and get their phones working again. Police released them.

The Electrical Workers Union has been on strike against the telephone company since July 11.

Rambler Produces Half Million Cars

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. has posted its best automotive year ever during the 1963 model run.

AMC President Roy Abernathy said yesterday the company produced a total of 501,374 cars during the year, the first 500,000 year in company history.

* * *

Rambler shut down its plants last Friday for vacations, inventory and model changeover. Abernathy said the production total included domestic plants, Canadian output and foreign assemblies.

Theft Victim Loses Hair

DEARBORN (AP) — Lee Sprague lost more than his share of hair because of a burglary Monday night.

While Sprague, 39, of Lansing, spent the night in a Dearborn hotel, someone pried open a vent on his station wagon outside and stole nine custom-made toupees valued at $2,500.

Sprague, a state distributor for Heck Hairpieces, Inc., of Dearborn, discovered the loss yesterday.

Detroit Council Hears 2 Plans for Home Sales

DETROIT (AP) — An antidiscrimination housing ordinance and a homeowners rights ordinance were introduced formally at the Detroit City Council's meeting yesterday.

The first would prohibit discrimination in the sale of rental of property because of race or religion. No date was set for action on the proposal.

The second would guarantee owners the rights to sell or rent their property as they see fit. It was presented with petitions bearing 44,000 signatures by the Greater Detroit Homeowners Council.

* * *

The measure must be approved by the council by Aug. 22 or submitted to a popular vote at the next regular election, which would be in 1964.

Hospital Fund Honors Doctor

A memorial fund to purchase carillon chimes at the patients' chapel has been established at Pontiac State Hospital in honor of the late Dr. Walter H. Obenauf, medical superintendent.

The carillon memorial fund has been set up for donations from patients, employees, volunteers and the community, a hospital spokesman said.

Dr. Obenauf often talked of the "melodious bells" and the tranquil effect they might have on the mentally ill patients.

S. Korea Orders Action

Junta Chiefs Ask Vigilance in Truce Zone

'Punitive Measures' Are Not Defined by Seoul Strong Man

From Our News Wires

SEOUL — Gen. Park Chung Lee, strong man of South Korea's military junta, ordered his forces today to take "proper" punitive measures" against Communist border raiders.

Junta spokesman Lee Huh Rak said Park issued the order to Defense Minister Kim Sung Eun and Foreign Minister Kim Yong Shik after conferring with U. S. Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr.

★ ★ ★

"Park emphasized that vigilance against North Korean Communists must be more thorough, and that proper punitive measures must be taken against such barbarous acts (attacks on U.S. troops south of the truce zone)," Lee said.

He gave no details of proposed "punitive measures."

Earliers the defense minister had said South Korea's 600,000-man army was alerted to forestall any attempt "to renew the war in Korea." He said the Communist attacks appeared to be part of a plan to increase tension.

It was announced the Communist guns which killed two U.S. soldiers and wounded a third Monday just south of the demilitarized zone were the same weapons carried by North Korean soldiers killed yesterday.

Ballistics tests proved it conclusively, Col. George Creel, a U.N. Command spokesman, said.

U.S. soldiers "exchanged fire with the enemy" early today for the third consecutive day just south of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Korea/ Brig. Gen. Charles Pershing Brown announced.

Brown, acting commander of the 1st Cavalry Division, gave this account: "Stake outs north of the Imjim River but south of the demilitarized zone observed movements in their sectors and there were exchanges of fire. No one was wounded or killed on our side and there were no definite results from the contact."

Kim Sung Eun made his statements after three clashes between American soldiers and North Korean raiders this week left three Americans, four North Koreans and one South Korean dead.

U. S. forces here also have been ordered on a full combat alert for the first time since the Cuban crisis last October.

Driver Charged by County in Fatal Auto Accident

Eugene G. DiVita, 29, of Detroit, has been charged with negligent homicide in connection with the Monday afternoon automobile accident in which Raymann F. Zehnder Jr., 21, was killed.

Barry M. Grant, Oakland County assistant prosecutor, authorized a warrant against DiVita late yesterday afternoon.

Grant's decision followed interviews with DiVita and three witnesses to the accident which happened on Long Lake Road in Bloomfield Township.

Zehnder, of 6041 Golfview, and Betti Meggs, 22, of 32 Murphy, were on a last-minute errand before their wedding at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Birmingham.

Miss Meggs, who was listed in good condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning, is being treated for facial cuts.

Bloomfield Township police said she told them her fiance swerved to avoid DiVita's car, which was blocking the eastbound lane of Long Lake Road.

Zehnder's car skidded 70 feet and traveled another 162 feet before crashing into two trees, police said.

DiVita said he had pulled onto the shoulder of the road near a private driveway to make a U-turn but was still on the shoulder when Zehnder's car came over a rise in the road, according to police.

Witnesses have supported Miss Meggs' version, according to the assistant prosecutor.

Service for Zehnder will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at Vasu-Lynch Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Burial will be in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Zehnder; a brother, Gary, and a sister, Kristin, both at home; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zehnder of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dorning of Detroit.

TOKYO (AP) — Red China officially rejected today the nuclear test ban agreement in an attack on the Soviet government indicating Peking may be near a formal break with Moscow.

★ ★ ★

A government statement distributed by the official New China News Agency said the Peking regime would not adhere to the pact initialed in Moscow last week because the agreement's main purpose was to bar Red China from obtaining nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

The statement described the partial test ban pact as a "dirty fraud" and said it was designed "to prevent all the threatened peace-loving countries, including China, from increasing their defense capability."

STRONG LANGUAGE

There is no record of a similar public criticism by the Peking government of the Soviet government. The language was the kind usually employed by a government which contemplates some serious step in relation to the other.

★ ★ ★

The Red Chinese and Russians have in the past few years used endless words to criticize each other. But until today they have done so only on the Communist party level.

$420 Per Month

Pontiac Will Subsidize Buses

The City Commission last night agreed to subsidize Pontiac Transit Coporation in an effort to retain bus service in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The city will pay the bus company $420 per month for the next 12 months.

Company officials requested the subsidy "in consideration of Pontiac Transit Corporation continuing operations in Pontiac."

Commissioners okayed a renewal of the annual contract agreement between the city and corporation by a 4-2 vote. Changes in the new contract were the addition of a subsidy and elimination of token fares.

★ ★ ★

Voting for renewal were Mayor Robert A. Landry and Commissioners Winford E. Bottom, William H. Taylor Jr. and Milton R. Henry.

Voting against the contract were Commissioners Charles H. Harmon and Loy L. Ledford. Commissioner Dick M. Kirby was absent.

Elimination of the token fare will mean that all adults will now pay a straight 25-cent fare, effective today.

REQUESTED CHANGE

Corporation officials requested the changes to offset losses during the past year.

They pointed to an operating loss of $8,274 in the 10-month period ending last April 30, compared to a $1,181 profit in the same period ending April 30, 1962.

For the period ending April 30 this year they said 733,088 persons rode buses in Pontiac and revenues totaled $164,600 against $172,964 in operating expenses.

For the 10 months ending April 30 last year, the bus company reported 741,565 patrons and some $167,571 in revenues against operating expenses of $166,390.

★ ★ ★

Company officials estimated the loss this year would top $6,000 under the former contract agreement, but the firm could realize a $1,900 profit if the commission agreed to a subsidy and elimination of tokens.

★ ★ ★

Comparative figures this year showed a steady drop in patronage since free parking on municipal parking lots was initiated Feb. 1.

Dr. Ward Tries Suicide; Jury Weighs His Fate

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

LONDON—Dr. Stephen Ward, central figure in Britain's sex scandal, tried to kill himself with drugs today and was rushed to a hospital in serious condition, but his trial on morals charges went on without him.

The jury in the Old Bailey Court retired to consider its verdict on lurid vice charges against Ward while the defendant lay unconscious in a hospital.

Court officials said, however, that Justice Sir Archie Marshall would not sentence Ward, if he were convicted, until he is well enough to be present.

Christine Keeler, 21, alleged by the prosecution to be the star attraction in a circus of prostitutes run by Ward, was stunned.

Hospital authorities indicated that Ward is expected to recover.

Prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones said Ward's solicitor was told it will be impossible for the defendant to be present in court before next week at the earliest.

The presiding judge, Sir Archie Marshall, resumed his summing up of the evidence and his instructions to the jury after canceling Ward's bail and instructing the police to "take the normal steps to ensure greater security" of Ward.

Defense lawyer James Burge told the judge he accepted the court's decision to go ahead with the trial.

Ward, 50, an osteopath and artist, was found unconscious this morning by a friend, Noel Howard Jones, in whose flat he had spent the night.

A resident of the building said he understood Ward had left "lots and lots of notes."

A source close to Ward said that among the notes was one to Julia Gulliver, 22, his constant companion in recent weeks; one to Barry O'Brien, a newspaper reporter who testified in his defense at the trial, and one to his lawyers.

Final Action Set on Foreign Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee was expected to complete action today on a foreign aid bill cutting President Kennedy's request by $428 million and imposing new restrictions on use of the funds.

★ ★ ★

The new total provided by the bill is slightly under $4.1 billion.

★ ★ ★

Administration forces claimed they won at least a partial victory by holding down reductions sought in the aid authorization. But they had to accept some new strings on how the funds could be spent.

★ ★ ★

Military aid for U.S. allies abroad took the largest cut, a $180-million reduction from the $1.4 billion which the White House requested.

The committee scheduled a vote today on an amendment by Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich. (Oakland County) which would require specific prior congressional authorization for all future U.S. foreign aid projects costing more than $100 million.

Name Rusk, Solons

To See N-Ban Signing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and a bipartisan delegation including five senators will leave Friday for Moscow to attend the formal signing of the nuclear test ban treaty.

The White House announced the plan today and named the senatorial delegates as Democrats J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and John O. Pastore of Rhode Island; and Republicans Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and George D. Aiken of Vermont.

The list omitted Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader from Illinois and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Both indicated they did not want to attend the Moscow signing and have left it open as to how they might vote on the atomic test ban treaty when it comes before the Senate for ratification.

A White House source told newsmen that neither Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, nor Dirksen had been invited because of a feeling that their presence was needed here in view of the Senate work load.

It appeared plain from other administration informants that Republican representation fell somewhat short of the level the administration had hoped for.

Kennedy would like to have Senate ratification soon and by as wide a margin as possible. A two-thirds Senate majority is needed.

The formal ceremony for signing the treaty, initialed last Thursday in Moscow by U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman, is expected to take place Monday. A definite date has not yet been set.

Secretary-General U Thant said at United Nations headquarters that he would be on hand in Moscow on Monday for the event.

Others in the 11-man U.S. delegation will include:

U.S. disarmament chief William C. Foster, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Glenn Seaborg, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Steven-

Want Fair Job Bill in Rights Package

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Civil rights leaders have asked the House Judiciary Committee to add a fair employment practices bill to the administration's civil rights package.

Tuesday, they got the assurance of Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N. Y., that he'll go along with them. The votes to do it will be harder to come by.

The beginning of the play of strategy in the House marked the approaching end of the preliminaries in the civil rights battle. In the Senate signs of progress are hard to detect.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., suggested night hearings in order to speed things up.

In the House Celler hopes to wind up hearings this week, with the exception of testimony by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

* * *

A fair employment practices bill that would ban racial discrimination in employment has been approved by the House Education and Labor Committee but has no chance of getting by the House Rules Committee to the floor.

With little Republican support and only lukewarm backing from the administration, the bill has little chance of passage as a separate measure.

In other racial developments

● In Chicago, extra police kept watch today on an old all-white neighborhood on the South Side where hundreds of persons have demonstrated the past two nights against a new Negro family.

A crowd that swelled to 1,000 to 1,500 last night milled around a 30-year-old, red brick apartment building into which the Reginald Williams family moved.

At least 14 persons were arrested for disorderly conduct, although an estimated 30 persons were hauled off in paddy wagons. A man and a boy were injured, police said.

* * *

● In New Orleans a federal appellate judge says the "Crusading spirit" of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is causing "unorthodox procedures" in racial cases.

Judge Ben Cameron of Meridian, Miss., charged Tuesday that Chief Judge Elbert Tuttle has made up nearly the same judicial line-up on desegregation tribunals.

Cameron said the cases should have been heard on their merits by all nine judges of the court—instead of panels of three judges. Many of the three-judge panels were combinations of the same four judges, he added.

* * *

● In New York, a 10-member committee has been formed, with Mayor Robert F. Wagner's blessing, to investigate the construction trade jobs dispute that has led to the arrest of nearly 700 demonstrators this month.

In other developments in the city:

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People threatened to have children boycott city schools when they open Sept. 9 unless the board of education comes up with a plan and timetable for more school integration.

Further complicating matters is a threatened wage strike by teachers on that date.

● In Austin, Tex., waiter Booker T. Bonner ended his civil rights demonstration in Gov. Connally's office yesterday about 26 hours after it began.

The Austin Negro went home after a Connally aide gave him an appointment to see the governor Aug. 6.

● In Los Angeles labor leader Walter Reuther says that unless the United States resolves its present racial crisis through the use of reason, the "hate peddlers" will take over and push the nation into a new civil war.

Hits West Gls as Speculators

BERLIN (AP) — East German Communist chief Walter Ulbricht accused Western military forces today of illegal speculation in East Berlin and indicated he might try to restrict their movements in the Communist sector of the city.

* * *

Ulbricht told the East German Parliament: "We cannot tolerate much longer that the members of the Western occupation forces, who on the basis of long obsolete occupation rights move freely in East Berlin, misuse this freedom of movement, to engage in speculative businesses."

* * *

Ulbricht in effect accused the Western forces of buying goods in East Berlin for East marks bought in West Berlin at a rate more favorable than the official exchange.

American, British and French soldiers can move freely between East and West Berlin, provided they are in uniform. They are not subject to search at the crossing point.

GM Appeals City Assessment

State to Rule on Tax Dispute

The State Tax Commission will reach a decision within two weeks on General Motors Corp. appeal for a $33.8-million reduction in its local assessed valuation on real and personal property.

At a hearing on the appeal yesterday at City Hall, Robert Eckhardt, commission chairman said the commission will probably meet in Lansing Aug. 9 or 12 to rule on the appeal.

City and school tax bills have been held up pending a decision on the appeal. Final city and school district tax rates can't be set until the Pontiac tax base is established.

The final amount of Pontiac's tax base—or total assessed valuation—depends entirely on the tax commission's decision.

GM contends that the 1963 assessed value of its personal property in Pontiac is $32-million too high as set by City Assessor Edward C. Bloe.

* * *

The corporation also is asking a $1.8-million reduction in Bloe's assessed valuation of GM real estate holdings here.

At yesterday's hearing, the GM case was presented by Philip A. Hoffman, a staff assistant in GM's tax department, while Bloe and City Attorney William A. Ewart presented figures supporting the assessments as established.

TWO DOZEN ATTEND

The hearing was attended by about two dozen city, county and corporation officials.

Basically, the argument revolved around GM's method of reporting the value of its personal property and the city assessed value of machinery and equipment.

Hoffman argued that the city assessor determines value by taking a flat percentage of original cost without regard to age and not fully reflecting depreciation.

The corporation's position is that the state's method should be used. It is based on the cost of replacing machinery and equipment less depreciation according to age.

Bloe said that the city is not compelled to use state formulas.

He defended his method by arguing that the city had no way of verifying figures submitted each year to him by GM for tax purposes.

"We have nothing to substantiate their property value figures and, frankly, some of them don't make sense."

Hoffman asserted that all property values reported to Bloe were audited and verified.

Bloe countered that he was told by state tax officials a year ago that "there is $33 million in taxable property in Pontiac reported to the state by General Motors that we don't have in the corporation's statement to us.

"Furthermore, a county equalization committee study in the last few weeks showed about $558,000 in property submitted in General Motors' 1963 statement to the county that never was submitted to us."

Both Hofman and Bloe submitted recent sale prices for local properties to support their respective positions as to the valuation placed on GM real estate in Pontiac.

Based on their comparisons, GM figured the average assessed value of industrial land at $1,500 per acre. Bloe set it at about $2,500 per acre this year.

Edwin C. Sage, director of the Oakland County Equalization Department, supported Bloe, stating that the County Equalization Committee felt the city's valuation of raw industrial land in Pontiac "is still on the low side, if anything."

Bloe's total assessed valuation on GM real estate in Pontiac was $4,624,100 this year. He set GM's personal property assessed valuation at $128.7 million.

The city has proposed a tax rate of $14.85 per $1,000 of assessed property value to finance this year's budget if there is no change in the tax base.

If the tax commission grants any or all of the GM appeal, a higher tax rate would be needed to make up for the loss of tax base.

Scientists Shamed by Schoolboy

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Albert Einstein proposed it, the scientists forgot it, but a Pasadena school boy remembered that energy equals mass times the speed of light squared.

The result: Developers of an ion engine for powering space craft are going back to their calculators to revise time tables for space travel.

Billy Warren, 10, a fifth-grader, stumped the scientists at a Boys Club lecture.

* * *

Ronald S. H. Toms of Electro-Optical Systems, Inc., had just finished a talk on "ion propulsion" when Billy asked:

"If we were to use ion propulsion to go to the stars, wouldn't we approach the speed of light and so, according to Dr. Einstein's theory, wouldn't the space craft mass increase? Then wouldn't the mass of the propellant increase and reduce the specific impulse?"

Admittedly surprised, Toms said the point was valid and "one we had not taken into consideration in our research studies."

Hoover Urges Fairness in Dealing With Protests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has called on the nation's police officers to deal impartially and fairly with civil rights demonstrations.

CHANGES

The House committee, headed by Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., approved major changes which would:

* * *

● Cut off all economic and military aid to the Indonesian regime of President Sukarno unless Kennedy makes a formal finding that such aid is vital to U.S. interests.

● Prohibit any further arms aid to African nations beyond what is needed for "reasonable" internal security requirements unless the president declares an exception is necessary.

● Warn Cuba in advance that it would have no U.S. sugar quota or aid of Premier Fidel Castro is overthrown and any new government fails to return at least 50 per cent of American-owned property seized by Castro's regime.

● Prohibit the use of any U.S. voluntary contributions to the United Nations from being used to reduce the U.N. debts of Communist Cuba.

In the past, such funds have been used to cancel out part of the money owed by Cuba and other nations as their share of the U.N. peacekeeping costs in the Congo and Gaza Strip.

* * *

The aid cuts also included a $100-million reduction in the $300-million emergency foreign aid or contingence fund which Kennedy sought.

Rusk is expected to stay on for a few days of discussions with the Soviets on various items that could be the subject of further East-West agreement.

Russ Air Zone Will Be Ruled by E. Germany

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German Parliament assembled today to give the government "unrestricted sovereignty" over all air traffic over the Soviet Zone.

Although the new law was not expected to affect Western traffic to Berlin now, it could be used to set the stage for interference with Berlin flights at some future date.

Passage was a certainty. The East German Parliament has never cast a dissenting vote.

* * *

The law, submitted to the People's Chamber (Volkskammer) for its second and final reading today, gives the government unrestricted sovereignty over all flights over East Germany and requires the registration of all aircraft.

Under its provisions, international flights can be made only with the permission of the government and foreign aircraft would have to land at designated airfields.

The law made no mention of the three 20-mile-wide air corridors set up by four-power agreements with the Russians for Western allied military and commercial flights to isolated West Berlin.

3 Argentines Chug to D.C. Via Model T

By ARY MOLEON

WASHINGTON (AP)—In front of the dazzling Capitol clattered a gay wreck of a car carrying three Argentines, a shaggy dog and a daring pledge: Buenos Aires to New York.

It was daring, considering the car and the roads in between. But now they're on the last lap after covering 14,000 miles in their 1927 Ford over land and sea.

They arrived in Washington on Monday, short of cash but with plenty of adventures to relate.

For instance: The night they drove —that's right, drove— the Ford up beside a U.S. landing craft in waters off Panama during the Cuban crisis.

The three—Manuel Fontes, 23, a law student, Juan Carlos Torres, 34, an electrical engineer, and Jose Vallverdu, 23, a mechanic—traveled the Pan American Highway until they reached the Darien Gap—a tangle of jungle near Columbia's northern border.

They removed the wheels, floated their Model T on 12 empty gas cans, stuck a propeller on the) drive shaft—and sailed away at 5 miles an hour.

The 350-mile voyage to Colon, Panama, took 35 days. On the night of Oct. 23, the adventurers lost their way in the darkness and began blinking their car lights to attract attention.

Out of the darkness stabbed the searchlights of a U.S. Army landing craft, whose stunned crew watched as the yellowish car pulled alongside.

The three and their dog, Atacongo, spent the night aboard the boat. None of the crew spoke Spanish and none of the Argentines spoke English but they managed to explain their predicament and were fed.

With daylight, the travelers resumed their voyage to Panama, where they put the wheels back on and followed the Pan American Highway again. They entered the United States in Texas.

They hope to say hello to President Kennedy before pushing on to New York, then possibly to Detroit with the hope the Ford people will send them home—by jet.

Serene Livingston County Grows, Changes

Still Rural But Growing, Livingston County Is Oakland's Partner In The New 19th Congressional District

By JIM DYGERT

Picture a serene rural county surrounded on all sides by burgeoning metropolitan areas beginning to overflow.

New people with new attitudes are coming in. Powerful forces of change are at hand. The first signs of political and economic upheaval have already appeared.

Such is Livingston County, which will become Oakland County's partner in the new 19th Congressional district when the State Legislature's redistricting bill takes effect Sept. 6.

NO PROBLEMS

It seemed only yesterday that Livingston felt complacently removed from the growth problems of its neighbors — Oakland County on the east, Detroit to the southeast, Lansing on the west, Flint to the north and Ann Arbor to the south.

Actually, the growth had been creeping up. Population rose steadily from 26,725 in 1950 to 35,233 in 1960. Now it's expanding faster and beginning to make its effects felt.

★ ★ ★

Most of the newcomers have come from the Detroit area into Hamburg and Green Oak townships in the county's southeast corner, bringing with them a political energy that engineered the county's first striking change in years — a face-lifting and resurgence of the Democratic party.

"Democrats here have a new militancy," says Charles R. Ward, chairman of the county Republican organization that has been comfortably in power for as long as anyone can remember.

"Our party is very vigorous," says Democratic County Chairman Ed Rettinger, Hamburg Township clerk who last year took over the party helm from colorful Martin J. Lavan, a sandy-haired Irishman of legendary swashbuckling prowess as a criminal lawyer.

TIED TO LABOR

Rettinger, a patternmaker employed in Southfield, represents the modern breed of liberal Democrats, many of whom have close ties with the labor movement.

In the many years under Lavan, most party members were conservative farmers whose fathers and grandfathers were Democrats.

★ ★ ★

Party leaders have begun meeting with Oakland County Democrats on party reorganization problems raised by the new districting, something Republicans in the two counties have yet to do.

★ ★ ★

Democrats still have a long way to go in Livingston, however. Gov. George Romney won 64 per cent of the county's votes and carried all 16 townships for the GOP last fall.

Experts figure the county will be safe for the GOP for a while.

Republicans, meanwhile have another problem — an old-meets-new internal conflict of their own.

Ward, a retired Detroit financier with a small farm, became county chairman last year by defeating incumbent Paul (Pete) Baldwin, a 40-year-old Howell druggist aligned with GOP "moderates" who took control of the State Senate from "old guard" conservatives.

Ward, a conservative, feels that Livingston's prevailing outlook matches his. Many county Republicans voted against the new state constitution April 1.

But Baldwin, despite his defeat, is convinced the trend is toward a more liberal Republicanism cognizant of modern problems.

State Rep. Thomas G. Sharpe, though allied with conservatives when he became a Con-Con delegate in 1961 and a freshman legislator last fall, has showed signs of "moderating" a little.

★

"I'm not a liberal Republican," Sharpe says, and he still finds it "hard to vote for an income tax." But, he adds, "I know we need tax reform."

Livingston Republicans face still another adjustment — loss of what little political power the county enjoyed.

BALANCE OF POWER

In the county's old Congressional district with Ingham and Genesee counties, the GOP had some political leverage. Lansing area Republicans and Flint area Democrats offset each other, leaving Livingston with the balance of vote power in a congressional election.

So in the new 19th, where Livingston will have less than an eighth of the 346,000 district population and the Oakland area, though including Democratic Pontiac and Waterford Township, is already 60 per cent Republican in its voting habits.

★ ★ ★

"We're the tail end of every combination," says Democrat Lavan. "Did you ever see the tail wag the dog?"

Livingston shares its state House district with more populous Shiawassee County and its senate district with Ingham. Sharpe was the first Livingston man to win a House seat in 14 years. No state senator or Congressman came from the county within anyone's memory.

★ ★ ★

But the growing population may some day change that, too, just as it's already beginning to alter the county's economy.

Farming is still the leading income producer, to the tune of $10 million a year. But farms are getting bigger and fewer.

Planners such as Hans H. Haugard, a Michigan State University extension agent who works closely with the county planning commission, want what all growing areas seek—new industry. "Our tax base is too low," Haugard says.

Most new residents still work outside the county, creating residenial "bedroom communities" with typically low tax assessments. Less than half the county's 12,000 labor force work in the county, including 1,000 in agriculture. Unemployment is high besides.

Howell, the county seat, is developing an 18-acre industrial park, but this is only a start. It's hoped the I-96 freeway will help.

Haugard is trying to drum up support for a huge industrial research complex near Brighton, the county's only other city, to serve as a stellar attraction. It would be centrally located to MSU, the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and the Detroit area, he points out.

Waterford Sees Rise in Students

The number of school age youngsters in Waterford Township has increased by 729 in a year's time, according to a recently completed school census.

A slight decrease was registered, however, in the number of preschool age youngsters in the school system.

In 1962 the census showed 16,013 school age children (5-19) and 6,774 in the preschool category, age four and under.

★ ★ ★

This year the census revealed a total of 16,742 youngsters of school age and 6,626 preschoolers.

Enrollment in the school system is estimated at 14,850 for the 1963-64 school year compared to 14,192 during the 1963-64 school year compared to 14,192 during the school year that ended in June.

Students in parochial and other private schools make up the difference between the expected public school enrollment and the school district census total.

★ ★ ★

Despite the expected enrollment rise, present public school facilities are termed adequate by school officials for the coming year.

A five-year school building program approved June 10 at the polls will be launched soon to provide added facilities beginning with the 1964-65 school year.

School officials anticipate continuing higher enrollments in coming years, particularly in the secondary schools.

★ ★ ★

The elementary school enrollment may begin to level off in five years as indicated by a decrease this year in the number of children under one year of age.

In 1962 there were 1,259 youngsters in this age bracket recorded by the census. The figure dropped to 1,106 in the 1963 census.

OK Lots for Hospital Parking

The City Commission last night okayed purchasing 12 lots for $127,537.50 for an employes parking lot at Pontiac General Hospital.

Action came after City Attorney William A. Ewart reported that options had been obtained on all 12 parcels south of the hospital's present public parking lot between Johnson and Seminole.

The proposed lot is to have about 200 spaces.

Cost of buying the land, clearing and paving it is estimated at $170,000. It will be paid from the hospital's depreciation fund over a two-year period.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners also authorized the city to advertise for bids on construction of a community recreation center on the old water works site on Walnut south of Wessen.

Bids will be opened at City Hall Aug. 27 at 2 p.m.

ESTIMATED COST

Estimated cost of the center is $337,728, half of which will come from federal aid under the public works acceleration program.

Bids on the second temporary loan note issue to finance continued operations in the R44 urban renewal project were given to commissioners by City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

The preliminary tabulation showed Community National Bank submitted the lowest of six bids, offering to buy the $1.45 million in notes at a 1.5 per cent annual interest rate.

The bank's bid was .12 per cent lower than the second lowest bid. The notes will expire in one year.

Bids have been sent to urban renewal officials in Chicago for approval before the commission awards sale of the notes.

Also approved was a resolution calling for an addition to Hangar No. 3 at Pontiac Municipal Airport, proposed for the city's 1964 airport improvement program.

The total estimated cost is $57,355.54, of which the city's share is $14,238.89. An identical amount would be paid by state funds and some $28,677.77 in federal aid would make up the difference.

The hangar expansion hinges now on federal and state approval of the proposed project.

A petition requesting sidewalk reconstruction on a portion of East Wilson, signed by 28.18 per cent of the affected property owners, was accepted for consideration.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Pro-tem Winford E. Bottom was appointed as Pontiac's official representative at the Annual Michigan Municipal League Meeting Sept. 5-7 at Mackinac Island.

Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. was named alternate representative at the meeting.

SEWER ESTIMATES

Cost estimates were presented for a proposed sanitary sewer project and four curb and gutter projects. Public hearings on the city's intention to proceed with the curb projects were scheduled for the Aug. 20 meeting.

The sewer is to run from Tallahassee to West Boulevard on the northeast side of Oakland. It's cost was set at $21,498, to be paid entirely by Lloyd Motor Sales, the only firm in that area to benefit from the sewer.

Locations of the curb and gutter jobs and cost estimates are as follows.

Columbia, Joslyn to West line of Lot 21, Assessor's Plat 102: Assessed cost, $21,318; city share, $10,646.15; sewer stubs, $1,397; total cost, $33,403.15.

Monticello, Orlando to Inglewood: Assessed cost, $7,767.50; city share, $1,783.85; total cost, $4,531.45.

Sarasota, Oakland, to Tallahassee: Assessed cost, $6,068.50; city share, $16,329.13; sewer stubs, $845; total cost, $25,063.63.

Tallahassee, Sarasota to Inglewood: Assessed cost, $7,955.70; city share, $11,491.23; sewer stubs, $898; total cost, $8,623.83.

By HOWARD HILDENBRAND

With the number of travelers hitting a peak, many in unfamiliar territory, area natives are being accosted with increasing frequency and asked directions of various kinds.

★ ★ ★

But rumors reaching HAM (Heidenbrand Academy of Misguidance) indicate an alarming increase in the number of wayfarers being given simple, accurate and concise answers.

This is at variance with time-honored practice, and HAM is devoting every resource to keeping it from spreading.

Hildenbrand

We have, for instance, a well-documented report of Traveler X stopping Citizen Y in Village Z and asking directions to Point A.

★ ★ ★

It is to be everlastingly regretted that Y, hardly breaking stride, replied: "Ahead one block to light — turn right for 9.7 miles."

Zounds! Things have come to a pretty pass when this sort of thing can happen in broad daylight. The identity of Y has been determined, and a copy of the HAM manual sent him with the correct answer marked on page 34:

". . . Well, let's see. If I were you, I'd go to the fourth light, starting three back, and take a right — although the black top's pretty bad in places. Maybe, though, you'd better go on to the edge of town and look for #18— no, I guess it's 281.

"Turn right and keep on four-five miles to where the road forks. Don't take the left — that goes on to No Junction . . . although you could double back from there to where you're going. What you want to do is take the right fork — that way you won't have no trouble."

Or, let's look at the case history (File No. 12-F1416) of an itinerant we'll call Herman Zilch — because that's his name. He stopped a passerby and asked if he knew where one Harry Carey could be found.

★ ★ ★

Passerby violated all protocol by answering: "Yep. His office is at end of block over Pillus Capsule's drug store."

Tsk-tsk-tsk. Pretty discouraging, isn't it? Let's turn to pg. 97, par. 3 of the manual:

★ ★ ★

"When questioned about identity and whereabout of local resident, always answer with another question, e. g.:

"(a) Would that be the Carey who married one of the McStew sisters?'

"(b) Is he the one who lost an arm in the Spanish American War?'

"(c) Didn't he run for sheriff, back a few years?'

"At this point, subject will likely become so confused — with doubt forming as to whether he in truth seeks Harry Carey, or Carey Harry — that he will break off, contact and seek information elsewhere."

★ ★ ★

These are but two examples of the many serious breaches in prescribed mode of issuing directions which HAM is laboring to reform.

City Amends Parking Lot Bumper Law

The city took steps last night to keep its off-street parking lots in line with a city ordinance regulating parking lots.

Until now, the bumper blocks in many municipal lots have violated the local law.

The law prescribes steel poles for bumper blocks. The city uses concrete blocks on many lots.

The oversight was recently discovered and an amendment allowing concrete bumper blocks was introduced at last night's City Commission meeting.

★ ★ ★

In addition to putting city lots on the right side of the law, it will enable private lots to use the less expensive concrete bumper blocks.

Admiral Asks Pact Rejection

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Retired Adm. Arthur W. Radford yesterday criticized the test ban agreement and urged the Senate not to ratify it.

★ ★ ★

The former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said the halt of nuclear tests in the atmosphere would stop this country's development of an antimissile missile which he said the Soviet Union already has.

★ ★ ★

Speaking at a lunch meeting of the county Republican associates, Rarford said the Soviets never agree to a treaty unless they can break it or unless the treaty is to their advantage.

★ ★ ★

Radford said President Kennedy is not seeking advice on important matters in which the military view should be considered.

★ ★ ★

He added that he is disappointed with the President's decision not to reappoint Adm. George Anderson as chief of naval operations.

Set to Pick Doctor Argentine President

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Presidential electors vote in provincial capitals today with a country doctor, Arturo Illia, slated to be their choice for Argentina's 29th president.

The final tally is not expected until Thursday, but Illia, 62, has more than enough pledges to win.

★ ★ ★

The moderate leftist awaited the results at his home in Cruz del Eje, 460 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, where he has mixed politics with prescriptions for 25 years.

His administration is expected to be anti-Communist, although he promised in his campaign to cancel foreign oil development contracts. U.S. firms hold most of these contracts.

'NOT ANTI-YANKEE'

"We are not anti-Yankee," Illia said during the campaign. "We only want to be respected as a sovereign government and have things done in broad daylight."

He contended the foreign oil contracts benefited some officials and merchants rather than the country as a whole.

Illia won 26 per cent of the vote in the July 7 election to lead the nine-man field. He picked up additional electoral college pledges in post-election negotiations.

Argentina's military, in control behind President Jose Maria Guido's caretaker government, gave its approval to the July 7 results and cleared the way for an end to 16 months of political turmoil.

Ex-President Arturo Frondizi, ousted March 29, 1962, was expected to be freed from house arrest. The military deposed Frondizi after he allowed followers of exiled dictator Juan D. Peron to run in provincial and local elections and they came out ahead.

The military barred followers of the ex-dictator from the presidential election. Peron called for a blank vote, but only 16 per cent of the eligible voters cast blank ballots. Another 16 per cent stayed away from the polls.

Churches Urge Acceptance of N-Ban Treaty

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prompt ratification of the nuclear test ban agreement was urged yesterday by the National Council of Churches.

The 40-million member council said in a telegram to Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee:

". . . Ratification is important for security, political, economic and moral reasons.

"We are calling our people to pray to Almighty God in thanksgiving for the achievement of the draft treaty with the promise of benefits for the world and future generations and in petitions for further steps toward peaceful development among God's human family."

Copies of the wire, signed by Council President J. Irwin Miller, were sent to President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and W. Averell Harriman, test ban negotiator.

Trial Board Member Leaves Pontiac Post

The City Commission last night accepted the resignation of Daniel Mattingly from the Police Trial Board.

Mattingly, formerly of 631 Benson, resigned because he has moved to a residence outside the city. Trial board members are required to be Pontiac residents.

He was appointed to the board to fill a vacancy in November 1959 and reappointed in 1961. A successor will be named at a later meeting to serve the remainder of his term which expires in 1966.
