City Can Be Proud of '65 Accomplishments—Taylor

A host of challenges were encountered in making progress last year, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. declared last night in his annual "state of the city" message.

"Pontiac can be proud of its accomplishments in 1965," the mayor said.

Using a comprehensive map, Taylor illustrated his half-hour address before the City Commission.

In detailing 1965 progress and prospects for 1966, he said the key problem last year, which undermined the city's other problems, was in the area of financing general operations.

"The 10-mill charter limitation has created great difficulty in raising sufficient revenues for the proper operation of our city," he said.

Taylor said the income tax, defeated in a vote last March 18, was sought as a possible source of added revenue to provide the needed improvements.

Among the needed improvements are:

- Grade separations for the railroad tracks on Johnson and Huron.
- Water pollution problems requiring separated storm and sanitary sewer systems.
- A lack of sufficient police and fire manpower.
- Strengthening of park maintenance and recreation programs.
- Longer library hours.

The mayor credited the high-level economy for keeping the city budget in the black in 1965, although the operating budget was still austere.

For example, pension benefits for city employes will cost the general fund about $61,000 more this year than in 1965.

One of the highlights of the past year was implementation of a wage study compiled by the Michigan Municipal League. Total cost of the new wages is estimated at $290,000 in 1966.

"The commission chose the most liberal of the three alternatives for implementation of the new pay plan," said Taylor.

After citing specific repaving projects around the city, the mayor pointed that the new M59 freeway got under way during the past year.

DIRECT CONNECTION

He said Pontiac's central business district would be directly connected with the I-75 expressway when M59 was completed sometime this fall.

Another highway improvement launched in 1965 was the widening of Square Lake Road into a four-lane, divided highway, said Taylor.

Early 1966 will see the construction of two pedestrian overpasses in the city: one over West Huron in front of Webster School and the other over East Wide Track at Whittemore.

★ ★ ★

Other overpasses are in the planning stage for construction this year, the mayor said.

BEAUTIFICATION

He also said that 1965 saw the start of the city's beautification program with the planting of more than 800 trees and shrubs.

Two downtown parking lots were redesigned and resurfaced last year. A third parking lot improvement was making the city lot on Huron, between Mill and East Wide Track, an all-day parking area.

Under development and redevelopment, Taylor cited the construction of trunk water mains on Joslyn, Giddings and Walton in 1965 at a total cost of about $300,000.

★ ★ ★

Taylor labeled this the first concrete step toward developing the northeast section of the city.

OTHER AREA

Other water mains include one on Voorheis, Telegraph to James K, on several streets in the north end, and on streets on the east side of the city.

Sanitary sewer construction last year, according to Taylor, included several areas, such as on Walton, Cortwright, Joslyn and Bloomfield.

Tagged as the second concrete step toward opening the northeast section of the city for development, Taylor said plans were made last year for the con-

Waterford Home Fire Kills 4 Children

GUTTED HOME — Four children were killed as fire raged through this Waterford Township home at 3980 Arcadia Park early today. The victims were Katheryn Brown, 15, and her sisters, Nancy, 12, and Julia, 7, and a brother, Donald, 9. Another brother, Larry, 14, escaped.

5th Youngster Leaps to Safety off Porch Roof

Oil Space Heater, Smoke Pipe Hookup Are Blamed in Blaze

Four of the five children of a 37-year-old Waterford Township mother died early this morning as flames left their green, two-story frame home at 3980 Arcadia Park, a charred hull.

Killed in the fire were three daughters and a son of Mrs. Barbara Brown: Katheryn, 15; Nancy, 12; Donald, 9; and Julia, 7.

A fifth child, Larry, 14, reached safety by running across the porch roof and jumping to the ground, according to a neighbor.

★ ★ ★

Township police said Mrs. Brown, a divorcee, was working at Pontiac State Hospital when the alarm was turned in at 4:17.

Fire Chief Lewis (Bud) Goff indicated it was only a matter of three or four minutes before fire fighters from Station No. 3 arrived on the scene.

SPACE HEATER

Goff attributed the fire to a downstairs oil space heater and an inefficient smoke pipe hookup, leading from the small heater to the chimney.

Four trucks were called to quench the blaze, reported by neighbors Louise Stavros, 3994 Arcadia Park, and Mrs. Arthur Cadwell, 3962 Arcadia Park.

Although the dwelling still stands, it was regarded as a total loss by Goff.

★ ★ ★

Firemen, reportedly, had the fire under reasonable control in 10 or 15 minutes when they were able to enter the dwelling to remove the bodies.

SPACE HEATER

Goff and Mrs. Cadwell, who along with her husband attempted to rescue the victims, recalled that Mrs. Brown had had previous trouble with the heater.

The heater apparently leaked last spring, saturating the floor and wall in the living room with oil. Mrs. Brown reportedly was considering purchasing a new heater.

Mrs. Brown was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for shock and Larry for burns received in the fire.

★ ★ ★

The three younger children were pupils at William Austin Burt Elementary School, 581 S. Winding. Nancy was a sixth grader, while Donald and Julie were in third and second grade, respectively.

Larry, clad in only a pair of shorts, summoned the Cadwells, next door neighbors, after battling flames and escaping with only a burned arm.

"He was hysterical," said Mrs. Cadwell, whose husband—a onetime fire fighter himself—attempted to save the children.

★ ★ ★

Cadwell kicked in the kitchen door and tried to enter the dwelling on his hands and knees, but the heat was too intense.

Baker Indicted on Tax Evasion, Other Charges

Ex-Nevada Official Accused of Perjury During Testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former Senate Aide Robert G. (Bobby) Baker was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of tax evasion, conspiracy and other offenses.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Deb. Katzenbach said the nine-count indictment, charged that Baker understated his income by $54,558.91 for 1961 and 1962.

Baker also was accused of evading $23,090.97 in federal income taxes for those two years, the Justice Department said.

The grand jury also indicted Clifford Jones, former lieutenant governor of Nevada, on charges that he committed perjury during testimony before it last March 17.

★ ★ ★

The grand jury charged Baker, former secretary to the Senate Democrats, with conversion or felonious theft of $67,000 from two California savings & loan executives.

ANOTHER COUNT

Another count charged that $33,000 allegedly received by fraud from a third California savings and loan executive was transported by Baker across state lines in violation of federal law.

Baker, 37, resigned as Senate Democratic secretary on Oct. 7, 1963 and is now an attorney in the nation's capital.

Some of the offenses allegedly occurred while he held the Senate office, but others were alleged as late as December 1964, in the indictment.

★ ★ ★

Baker, if convicted, would be liable to a maximum penalty of five years in prison and $10,000 fines on each of four tax counts; 10 years and $10,000 on a fraud count; three years and $5,000 on the false return count and five years and $10,000 on a conspiracy charge.

U.N. Peace Aid Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States called on all the organs of the United Nations and all the countries in the world today to help get the war in Viet Nam to the peace table.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg made the bid in a letter to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for distribution to the other 116 U. N. members as a Security Council document.

The letter said President Johnson in the last two weeks had sent messages and personal representatives to Thant, Pope Paul VI and various government leaders "in pursuit of peace" and "in this connection, our bombing of North Viet Nam has not been resumed since the Christmas truce."

★ ★ ★

Goldberg, who himself visited the Pope and some others, said that he had informed Thant of the efforts before leaving on his trip on Christmas Eve.

In the absence of the secretary-general, who is on vacation, Goldberg handed the communication to Undersecretary Jose Rolz-Bennett.

Goldberg told the secretary-general that the United States had made the following points in its contacts with key governments:

—That the United States is prepared for discussions or negotiations without any prior conditions whatsoever or on the basis of the Geneva agreements of 1954 and 1962.

★ ★ ★

—That "a reciprocal reduction of hostilities could be envisaged and that a cease-fire might be the first order of business in any discussion or negotiation.

PREPARED TO WITHDRAW

—That the United States remains prepared to withdraw its forces from South Viet Nam "as soon as South Viet Nam is in a position to determine its own future without external interference."

★ ★ ★

—That the United States desires no continuing military presence or bases in Viet Nam

—That the future political structure in South Viet Nam should be determined by the South Vietnamese people themselves through democratic processes.

★ ★ ★

—And that the question of reunification of the two Viet Nams should be decided by the free decision of their two peoples.

Neighbor's So Near, Yet Can't Help

"It's awful to be so close and not be able to do anything."

★ ★ ★

That's how Mrs. Arthur Cadwell of 3962 Arcadia Park, Waterford Township, described a tragic fire which claimed the lives of four children next door.

Victims of the blaze were 9-year-old Donald Brown and his three sisters Nancy, 12; Katheryn, 15, and Julia, 7.

An older brother, Larry, 14, approached the Cadwells for help after escaping the burning home.

★ ★ ★

"The poor kid was hysterical," said Mrs. Cadwell. "He said he couldn't get back in the house."

LEADING BROTHER

Larry reportedly was leading Donald to safety from an upstairs bedroom when they became separated by smoke and heat.

"I don't think the girls ever woke up," said Mrs. Cadwell.

According to Mrs. Cadwell, Katheryn took care of another neighbor's children last night and declined an offer to stay there overnight.

★ ★ ★

ALMOST INSEPARABLE

"Nancy stayed here almost every Saturday night so they could go to church together," remarked Mrs. Cadwell. "They were almost inseparable," she said as an added thought.

"Robin tried to go up the hill (which separates the two homes) during the fire, but I caught her and made her go back inside," informed Mrs. Cadwell.

Mrs. Cadwell disclosed that one of her cats usually wakes her up to be let outdoors at 3 a. m. every day.

★ ★ ★

"This is one time she didn't wake me up."

'65 Pontiac Sales Hit All-Time High

Pontiac sales in the 1965 calendar year set an all-time record, it was announced today by John Z. DeLorean, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

A total of 827,522 units were sold in the year, a 20 per cent increase over 1964. Another 10 per cent increase was forecast for 1966.

Pontiac officials are hopeful of selling 900,000 cars this year.

Despite a strike, 1964's sale of 693,716 units had been the record. The old record was 12 per cent ahead of 1963.

Although figures are still incomplete for the entire calendar year, Pontiac Motor Division's market penetration rose from 8.6 per cent in 1964 to 9.14 per cent last year for the first 10 months.

DECEMBER SALES

DeLorean said that 69,875 Pontiacs and Tempests were sold in December.

This figure was topped only by the 75,468 sales in the same period a year ago when the division was producing at an accelerated rate to catch up with the demand of the earlier strike.

(Pontiac plants were shut for 32 days during the nationwide strike against General Motors.)

In the last 10 days of 1965 a total of 22,027 cars were sold. This was under the record 10-day period in 1964 of 26,084.

The past calendar year saw the division sell 514,853 Pontiacs and 312,669 Tempests.

This compares with 449,808 Pontiacs and 243,908 Tempests sold in 1964.

Division officials noted that the 312,669 Tempests sold last year topped considerably the total Pontiac sales in 1958 of 235,872 units.

In addition, nearly enough big Pontiacs were sold last year to equal the total sales in 1955 of 546,000 units. For nearly eight years 1955 stood as the auto industry's top year.

Winter to Make a Comeback

Ol' Man Winter will return from his vacation tomorrow accompanied by falling temperatures and carrying the threat of snow flurries for Friday.

The weatherman reports little change expected in temperature tonight, the low near 24 to 32.

Skies will become overcast with temperatures expected to start falling late tomorrow with predicted highs in the low 40s.

Today's southwesterly winds 10 to 20 miles per hour should diminish to 6 to 12 tonight.

★ ★ ★

A frosty 23 was the low reading prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 2 p.m. the mercury had jumped to 42.

Union Rejects Lindsay Plea

'Won't Work Transit Lines Without Pact'

NEW YORK (AP) — Union negotiators promptly rejected Mayor John V. Lindsay's plea today for resumption of subway and bus service while contract negotiations continue.

Lindsay entered the strike talks on the fifth day of a transportation paralysis which started the day he took office.

The rejection of his plan came from the second line of union negotiators, now handling the bargaining for the nine officers of two striking unions who were jailed for calling the strike.

Still another court session was scheduled for the afternoon concerning the possibility of levying fines against the officers and the unions.

Emerging from a session with Lindsay, the mayor's first intervention since being sworn in, a union spokesman said: "No contract, no work."

WENT TO NEGOTIATIONS

Lindsay had said that if his presence were needed at the talks, the parties would have to come to City Hall. Instead, at the call of his three-man mediation panel, he went to the negotiations at the Americana Hotel.

By the time Lindsay arrived at the site of negotiations the morning work rush had begun to abate.

Light Is Sought for Fatal Corner

Petitions for a traffic light at the Commerce Township intersection where two young sisters were killed earlier this week were presented this morning to Township Supervisor Thomas Tiley.

Bearing about 700 signatures, the petitions asked for traffic signals at Carroll Lake and Commerce Roads and Wise and Carroll Lake Road.

Two sisters, Mary A. Wilson, 14, and Lynette, 13, both of 280 Wise, Commerce Township, were killed at the latter intersection when a car collided with a school bus and then skidded into four students waiting for another bus.

An 11-member citizens group met at the site of the fatal accident and then proceeded to the Township Hall to meet with Tiley.

★ ★ ★

Leaders of the group were Louis Shatrau, 145 Wise, who lives on the northeast corner of the intersection, and William Post, 267 Annapolis, also Commerce Township.

ALSO ATTENDING

Also attending the meeting were Rep. Clifford H. Smart, R-Walled Lake, and Rolland Langerman, assistant superintendent of the Walled Lake Consolidated School District.

"We need action and we need it now," Shatrau told Tiley.

The supervisor said he was scheduled to meet this afternoon with the Oakland County Road Commission to talk over the whole problem.

★ ★ ★

Tiley said a traffic light itself might be more hindrance than help.

'TOO CLOSE'

He said the stop signs for Wise were too close to the intersection. The signs should be moved back, he said.

In addition, the supervisor thought warning signs should be erected to warn motorists of the stop.

Tiley said a red blinker should also be installed at the Wise-Carroll Lake Road intersection.

★ ★ ★

He said the cost for a traffic signal would be about $1,200.

REASONABLE CHANCE

Tiley indicated the township had a reasonable chance of securing a light for Commerce and Carroll Lake Roads.

Speaking of the cost, Shatrau said it cost about the same thing to "bury your kids."

The other spokesman for the citizens group, Post said they wanted the light within a month.

Said Tiley, "It's not entirely the condition of the road. It's the darn fool drivers."

ROADBLOCKS MENTIONED

Post said that if the county didn't do something, the people would. He indicated roadblocks could be set up each day until after the school buses had gone by.

"If the county doesn't like it that's the county's problem," said Post.

Rep. Smart said that in his judgment the site of the fatal accident was not the worst corner in the township.

He cited the corner near Walled Lake High School on South Commerce as a trouble spot, and also South Commerce and Glengary.

'BE REASONABLE'

Urging a reasonable approach, Smart said, "I don't think this is any time to start panicking and trying to find someone to put the finger on."

★ ★ ★

Death Auto Is Inspected for Defects

The wrecked car that killed two young sisters Monday was undergoing a thorough inspection today to determine if any mechanical defects may have been responsible for causing the accident.

The examination of the new car was authorized late yesterday by Asst. Prosecutor Timothy E. Dinan, in charge of the investigation.

The car is at the central garage in the county's service center. A crew of county mechanics was conducting the inspection.

Driven by Mrs. Kenneth Ostin, 24, of 335 Main, Milford, the auto collided with a school bus and then careened into a group of four children.

The accident occurred at Carroll Lake and Wise in Commerce Township.

★ ★ ★

Fatally injured were Mary A. Wilson, 14, and her sister, Lynette, 13, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wilson, of 280 Wise, Commerce Township.

FAIR CONDITION

Mrs. Ostin is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dinan said that he expected o order a warrant charging Mrs. Ostin with negligence, but wanted the car to be inspected first "to be positive that no mechanical failure was involved."

struction this year of the important Galloway Creek trunk sanitary sewer.

★ ★ ★

The new trunk sewer will serve over 1,900 acres.

NEW COST

Taylor pointed out that the sewer, which is to be constructed through an agreement with the Oakland County Department of Public Works, has a new total cost of $567,000.

The city stands to save $295,000 by letting the county put in the sewer rather than for the city to proceed alone, he said. Sewage revenues will pay for the sewer.

Construction got under way in late 1965 for the second leg of rechanneling the Clinton River within the city.

★ ★ ★

Still another major sewer project is in the planning stage, according to Taylor. This is a trunk sewer down Opdyke to serve the projected osteopathic college at Auburn and Opdyke.

'TREMENDOUS RESPONSE'

On the college, Taylor said 1965 saw the end of the community drive to purchase the college site. He said $416,000 was raised in a "tremendous response" by the public.

The first office building has gone up.

Storm drains are other facilities put in place in 1965 in various locations around the city, said the mayor. Other major drains — the Hamlin and Murphy drains—are in the planning stages.

Taylor claimed a banner year in 1965 for the city's street-lighting program. Almost every section of the city became better lighted with the installation of 489 new lights.

"Last year your City Commission averted a major problem which would have developed over the next few years, by purchasing and annexing 235 acres north of the city to be used for a sanitary land-fill operation," claimed Taylor.

Taylor added that the site has been approved by the State Health Department and should serve the city for 20 years.

Last year also saw the city take on responsibility for development of a 25-acre industrial park on a site north of South Boulevard, the mayor said.

★ ★ ★

The city received a gift of $110,000 worth of equity from the Greater Pontiac Development Corp. to take over the park project.

FINANCING

Resale of the land is to finance development costs of the project.

Another important event in 1965 was the relocation of a scrap yard operation from the core of the city, according to the mayor.

The scrap yard firm is to move onto a site near the city's new sanitary landfill along Collier.

Commenting on downtown redevelopment, Taylor said:

"We have been meeting with developers and believe that we are rapidly approaching a time when we will be able to announce firm, concrete plans for a development that will rejuvenate the central business district."

CONSIDERING PURCHASE

Taylor's message also noted the city's current consideration of an offer to purchase the property and service building owned by Consumers Power Co. on Wessen.

Up-to-date facilities would be provided for several city departments now in scattered locations.

Major strides were taken in 1965 in meeting the housing needs of low, medium and high-income families, claimed Taylor.

★ ★ ★

He said over 1,300 multiple dwelling units were either under construction or in the planning stages in 1965.

Also in the area of housing, the mayor noted that 65 low-income units were constructed last year.

★ ★ ★

Two systematic code enforcement programs were inaugurated as part of the city's intensified campaign to rid Pontiac of substandard housing.

Taylor said the case load is large, but substandard structures came down last year at the rate of more than one per week.

rear window in an attempt to bring Katheryn to safety.

"It was just too intense," she said sadly.

Katheryn was sleeping in a downstairs bedroom, while the other children were in two upstairs bedrooms.

★ ★ ★

According to reports of police and neighbors, which somewhat conflicted, the two boys woke up first and Larry lost Donald in the smoke while trying to lead him to safety.

★ ★ ★

Police said that the boys woke up the two younger girls, but apparently couldn't reach Katheryn, a sophomore at Waterford Township High School.

The home, which the Browns rented, is owned by Mrs. Dinah Charlebois of 17391 Quincy, Detroit.

The blaze gives the township four fire fatalities for the year, two more than all of 1965 when only two persons lost their lives.

It was the first multiple loss of life by fire in the township since July 14, 1963 when three children perished in a fire at 1825 Manse.

The victims of the 1963 blaze were Tammy Kittle, Laura Mishenko and Patricia Mishenko. Their mother is Harriett Kittle.

Hike Accepted in Steel Price

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration today accepted a $2.75 a ton increase in structural steel prices as noninflationary.

★ ★ ★

Two major companies that had raised prices by almost twice that amount promptly rolled back.

President Johnson immediately expressed gratification at apparent settlement of the steel price crisis.

U. S. Steel, giant of the industry, was architect of the apparent compromise raise. It announced that it would boost prices on structural steel $2.75 a ton.

★ ★ ★

REVISED PRICE

Within hours, Bethlehem and Inland Steel announced they would revise their $5-a-ton hikes that brought threats of strong administration retaliation.

★ ★ ★

Bethlehem, which started the increases with the $5 hike Friday, announced shortly after noon that it was rescinding the boosts and would adjust them after a study of the U. S. Steel action.

Inland also announced it would revise prices to be competitive.

Complaints About Taxis May Bring Law Revision

BIRMINGHAM — Complaints about the operation of taxicab companies in the city may result in revising the city ordinance controlling the firms.

★ ★ ★

The City Commission this week, after receiving a report from the taxicab board, directed the city attorney to draft amendments to the ordinance for its consideration.

The board has recommended that the ordinance be changed so violations can be processed through municipal court and the company or owners be subject to fines.

Presently, the board has the power to suspend or revoke the cab company's license. It was noted that if this was done "the already inadequate service" would be further hampered.

★ ★ ★

It was the opinion of the board that the revised ordinance should make it mandatory for taxicab companies to advise their passengers at the time they accept calls for trips outside the city of the rates that will be charged if they are any different from the rates charged in Birmingham.

CLEAR CHARGE

In addition, the rate card should show clearly what rates will be charged and under what conditions they will be used, the board said.

The most frequent complaint received, according to the board, is of poor service and occasional failure of a cab to respond after having accepted a call.

The ordinance should require that the taxicab respond to a call within a reasonable length of time, the board said. It suggested a waiting time of 15 minutes.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Dr. Walter P. Nickell, naturalist at Cranbrook Institute of Science and recipient of the recent Detroit Audubon Society citation, will deliver his next illustrated lecture in the institute's science museum Jan. 19.

Titled "Wings Over the Gulf," the lecture is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Guest tickets will be available at the door.

★ ★ ★

The lecture is a summary of what is known about northern migrant birds which twice a year, spring and fall, fly to their nesting grounds in the north and return to winter quarters in the tropics across the Gulf of Mexico.

In an effort to ease the more clogged evening travel rush, the city recommended that businesses in lower Manhattan voluntarily stagger work hours.

PEAK SPREAD

"By spreading the peak over a longer period it relieves the pressure," Barnes said. "We'll be able to cope with it."

The bargaining talks were thrown into a turmoil yesterday by the jailing and collapse of union leader Michael J. Quill.

He and eight other officers of two striking unions were arrested on the order of a judge who found them in contempt for ignoring a court order forbidding the strike.

Two hours after entering jail, Quill, 60, collapsed.

Restaurant Hit by Grease Fire

Sudden combustion of grease in a deep fryer is blamed for a fire which partially gutted the kitchen and interior of the Red Barn Restaurant at 445 Elizabeth Lake yesterday.

Assistant Fire Chief Charles Marion directed two engines and a ladder truck in fighting the blaze, extinguished in just over an hour after the alarm was received at 3:38 p.m.

Damages, according to Fire Marshal Charles Metz, were "at least" $10,000. No injuries were reported.

Metz said a faulty thermostat on the deep fryer permitted the grease to overheat and then ignite.

LBJ to Ask More Funds for Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson plans to ask Congress next week for an extra appropriation of almost $13 billion to cover the costs of the Viet Nam war, sources report.

The money would be for the fiscal year ending next June 30, but only about $5 billion of the total is slated for actual expenditure by then.

★ ★ ★

The $5 billion would be spent to replace military stocks.

One source said the remainder of the funds is being sought "in case we need it in Viet Nam—that's the best way of putting it."

He said it was a matter of prudence rather than planning for an extended military operation.

★ ★ ★

Added to the $1.7 billion voted by Congress last August and $700 million approved in May, the new appropriation would bring the total for increased action in Viet Nam to $14 billion plus.

BOMBING LULL

Reports of the request for extra money came as the lull in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets headed into its 13th day — a lull that Sen. Richard B. Russell says may be extended for two more weeks.

Russell, Georgia Democrat who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, questioned both the tactics of the bombing suspension and its chances for bringing about meaningful negotiations with the Communists.

"I certainly would not like to be the first naval pilot to fly over those SAM (missile) sites after the delays," he said in an interview.

★ ★ ★

In Honolulu, Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine Corps commandant, said the lull is giving the Communists time to catch their breath.

Greene said "during the standdown, the people there (in North Viet Nam) can make the most of it in repairs, replacements and rehabilitation."

Flush Cong From Hill Hideouts

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Korean Marines and Vietnamese paratroopers have flushed a large Viet Cong force out of hideouts in hundreds of caves and tunnels in the coastal hills near Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon.

Six Skyraider fighter-bombers caught one fleeing guerrilla band in the open as "Operation Jefferson" drew to a close, and the pilots claimed that 60 of the black-clad insurgents were killed.

★ ★ ★

In five days of fighting, the Koreans and Vietnamese claimed 278 Viet Cong killed at a cost of light casualties to themselves. The Communists launched a counterattack Tuesday night, but evidently decided to flee today, leaving a major guerrilla base area in Phu Yen Province to the allied force, spokesmen said.

The Viet Cong broke off contact at midday. Operation Jefferson relied heavily on artillery and air support, and the Koreans used nonlethal tear gas to drive some of the Communists from their hideouts.

HELICOPTER LOST

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, airmobile, Division lost one of its huge flying helicopter cranes in a crash near Mang Yang Pass, in the central highland 275 miles northeast of Saigon. All aboard were killed. The $6-million craft normally carries a three-man crew, but military spokesmen did not know immediately how many persons were aboard or the cause of the crash.

As the fighting raged in the south, the director of the U.S. Agency for International Development, David Bell, announced that American commodity assistance to South Viet Nam would be doubled in 1966 to $400 million in foodstuffs. The United States has been forced to ship rice to the war-ravaged country, which normally is a rice exporter.

Bell, on an inspection tour, said financial assistance for such other imports as fertilizer and construction material would be increased considerably but probably would not double the 1965 total of $130 million.

U.S. Marines ranging out of their big base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, scrapped with the Communists for the first time in days of fruitless patroling. The Viet Cong threw up mortar fire, wounding eight Leathernecks, including four officers and a master sergeant, in a valley 18 miles southwest of Da Nang.

EYES OF WAR — Two small Vietnamese children gaze at an American paratrooper holding an M79 grenade launcher as they cling to their mothers who huddle against a canal bank for protection from Viet Cong sniper fire. The picture was made New Year's day as the 173rd Airborne Brigade made a sweep in Bao Trai area, about 20 miles west of Saigon, to round up Cong suspects. The sweep was a multibattalion operation by Vietnamese, Australian and American units.

Expect JFK's Sister, Lawford to Get Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Friends of Peter Lawford and his wife Pat, sister of the late president John F. Kennedy, expect them to be divorced early next month.

Reports of an impending divorce multiplied yesterday when Mrs. Lawford and one of her children remained in Sun Valley, Idaho, while the rest of the Kennedy family, including the late president's widow Jackie and her children, departed the ski resort.

New Tip Given in Triple Killing

Police Act on Clue by Benton Twp. Woman

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — A Benton Township woman's report Tuesday sent police into action anew in the investigation of a triple slaying which has defied solution since the victims were discovered April 4.

Investigators returned to the township site where an adult human skull was found last April 23. They were accompanied by a woman who told police she had seen a man throw a package into a field a few days after the victims were discovered at the edge of an orchard some 10 miles southeast of Benton Harbor.

★ ★ ★

When asked why she had waited so long to make her report, the woman was quoted by Benton Township Police Sgt. Jack Drach as saying she "didn't think it was important at the time."

Victims of the slaying were Mrs. Olin Boyer, 60; Mrs. Mary Esther Jones Wolfe, 37, and 7-year-old Diane Carter, all of the same general area in Benton Township. Mrs. Wolfe had been decapitated. Police believed that all were victims of a sex slayer who apparently was linked to the death of Delores Young, 19, whose nude body was discovered Feb. 16 in the ruins of a fire-destroyed house in Benton Harbor.

★ ★ ★

Rewards total $7,520 for information leading to the capture and conviction of the slayer. Investigators have checked out more than 1,000 tips and leads without a firm clue to the identity of the killer.

Primary Set in Holly; Citizens Party Back

HOLLY — The reappearance of the Citizens party in local politics and the necessity for a primary election highlighted filing of nominating petitions here Monday.

★ ★ ★

The Feb. 21 primary balloting will narrow to two the number of candidates seeking the office of village president and cut to four the list of those vying for Village Council seats in the March 14 election.

The Union party, which has been unopposed in local politics for more than five years, has two candidates for the presidency—Councilman John VanDeusen and Worth Hitchcock, 711 S. Broad.

Seeking the Citizens party nomination for that office are Keith Dryer, 128 Park, and Dennis Clark, 905 Emma.

Union party candidates for the two 2-year council terms are incumbent Leo Oberheim, incumbent John Ramm, Cleveland Ridley of 806 Richard and Peter Beltemacchi of 201 Park.

COMPETING FOR SEATS

Competing for the Citizens party nominations for those council seats are Bruce Dryer, 103 First; John MacKenzie, 115 Park; and Harry Luzi, 731 Hartner.

Jeanne Smith, 509 Hartner, on the Citizens party slate, will run for the one-year treasurer's term.

Completing the list of Union party candidates are incumbent Clerk Betty Oliver, incumbent Treasurer Hulda Anderson, incumbent Assessor Grant Hulet and incumbent appointee Councilman James Greig, all of whom are seeking one-year terms.

★ ★ ★

No Citizens party members filed to run for clerk, assessor or the one-year council term.

News of the Area

16 Seek Nine Village Offices in Romeo's Primary on Feb. 21

ROMEO—Sixteen candidates will contend for nine village office posts in the Feb. 21 primary election.

Only one incumbent, Thomas Raymond, is not seeking re-election to his council position. He has been on the council for one term.

Of the 16 candidates, two are running on the Democratic ticket. The rest are Republicans.

Petitions for the office of president were filed by incumbent Byron E. Nichols who is completing his first term, and Marvin Sieweke, 213 Hollister, a former trustee who lost in the 1965 election.

★ ★ ★

Running for the position of clerk will be incumbent Norman L. Engle who is seeking his third term, and Joseph Mellen, 254 E. St. Clair.

ONLY CANDIDATE

Incumbent Elaine Hosner is the only candidate for the treasurer's post. It will be her ninth term.

Incumbent Fred Ebeling is being challenged by George Simcina, 310 Fairgrove, for the assessor's post. Ebeling is seeking his third term. Simcina is running on the Democratic ticket.

Seven candidates are vying for the three expiring council terms. They include incumbents Martin Durham who is seeking his second term, and James Burke who is also running for his second term, this time as a Democrat. He was elected last year as a Republican write-in candidate.

★ ★ ★

Others who filed for the posts are John Kegler, 455 N. Bailey, who was trustee several years ago; Edward Battani, 109 Cook; Kenneth Smith, 268 W. St. Clair; Wayne Black, 240 Tillson, former president who lost in the 1964 election; and Hugh Gates, 312 Benjamin.

★ ★ ★

Seeking the two library trustee posts are incumbents Joseph Rymill, and Theodore Raymond.

The general election will be held March 14.

One Candidate Withdraws From Lake Orion Slate

LAKE ORION — The field of candidates for nomination in the Feb. 21 primary here has been reduced to 21 by the withdrawal of Mrs. Charles Robbins, 622 Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Friends had filed a petition for her as a candidate for trustee on the Citizens ticket.

She said the press of family affairs and her activities in behalf of the Pontiac League of Women Voters make it impossible for her to properly serve the office if she were elected.

Mrs. Robbins serves on three committees of the League and is also vice president of the Lake Orion Homeowners Association.

★ ★ ★

Unless others withdraw, there will be 21 candidates for seven offices in the village, including all seven incumbents.

★ ★ ★

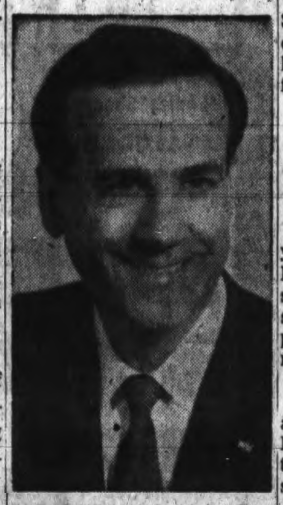
Registration deadline for the primary and March 14 election is Jan. 24.

Union Lake School to Hold Open House

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — An open house will be held at the Union Lake Elementary School at 8 p.m. Monday.

★ ★ ★

Walled Lake Schools Supt. George Garver will attend the programs to answer parents' questions.



BAPTIST SPEAKER — Evangelist Joe Morony will start a two-week series of services at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Troy Baptist Church, 3193 Rochester, one block north of Big Beaver. Weekday services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Shelby Subdivision Discussion Stalled

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A discussion on the proposed Lake Arrowhead Subdivision at 25 Mile and Jewell was postponed by the township board last night until its attorney can be present.

The developers of the subdivision were at the meeting to discuss future plans, but discussion was postponed until the next regular meeting.

The developers recently started leveling the land, on a court order, and planning for the subdivision.

In 1957 a subdivision and manmade lake were proposed for the area but residents contended that gravel was being taken out of the section with no signs of any building.

The township issued a stop order and the developers took it to court.

Only 6 File for 7 Leonard Council Posts

LEONARD — The necessity for a primary election prior to the March 14 general election was eliminated Monday when only six incumbent candidates filed nominating petitions for seven expiring village terms.

Councilman Donald Strong was the only incumbent not filing for reelection. According to Village Clerk Clara Scheall, Strong has missed the last three consecutive meetings and has been automatically removed from the council.

Mrs. Scheall said that if there are no write-in votes for the vacant position, a member will have to be appointed by the council.

Seeking reelection for two 2-year council posts are Kenneth Pease, who is completing his second term and David Ferguson, appointed last year to replace Calvin Scheall who was made marshal.

★ ★ ★

Other incumbent candidates are Lawson Sheik, president; Mrs. Scheall; Mrs. Mary Vore, treasurer; and Dwight Patterson, assessor.

★ ★ ★

All are members of the Citizens party.

Medical Missionary Will Speak in Troy

TROY — Dr. Robert White, a medical missionary, will speak at a special program at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church of Troy.

Dr. White is in charge of a 100-bed hospital at Wembo Nyama Mission in the Congo.

MODERN DESIGN—Gerald J. Patalidis, ecclesiastical artist whose studios are in West Bloomfield Township, examines one of the three faceted stained glass window groupings he designed for the Milford Presbyterian Church. The windows, depicting the Holy Trinity in brilliant colors, will be the focal point of the new chapel at the church, now engaged in a $240,000 building program, expected to be completed next month.

Symbolism on Faceted Glass

Church Windows Combine New, Old

MILFORD — An ancient idea has been encompassed by a modern art form in the stained glass windows recently installed in the new chapel of the Milford Presbyterian Church.

The idea is the symbolic portrayal of the three persons of God.

Designer Gerard J. Patalidis of West Bloomfield Township used for his work faceted stained glass, which he said is not yet seen much in Michigan churches.

European artists have been using the glass for only a quarter of a century, not long as eccelesiastical art trends go.

Faceted glass, cut from one-inch thick slabs, is cast in sheets of epoxy resin and aggregate.

The glass is characterized by intentional surface irregularities which complement the lines of the design.

Patalidis said the thickness of the glass creates a richness of color unequaled by conventional stained glass.

The windows here were executed by Conrad Schmitt Studios, Inc., of Milwaukee, Wis.

★ ★

The firm worked from sketches and a full-size mock-up prepared by Patalidis in his studios at 2383 Orchard Lake, West Bloomfield Township.

IN 3 GROUPS

The windows are arranged in three groups, each consisting of three narrow panels.

The left-hand grouping represents God the Father in the Old Testament symbol of a star. Also depicted in these panels are God's gifts to man.

In the center of the wall are the panels representing God the Son in a cross atop a twining vine.

★ ★ ★

Central figure in the right-hand window is a dove, which embraces the other figures as the symbol of God the Holy Spirit.

★ ★ ★

Patalidis, who came to this country from France nine years ago, operates the Patalidis Studios with his wife Judy, a commercial interior designer.

Troy Renewal Plan Dropped

Commission Votes to Discontinue Program

TROY—The City Commission has voted to discontinue consideration of an urban renewal project in the Stumpf Beech Grove area.

City Manager Paul York said yesterday the commissioners felt that before getting into such a program, a survey should be made to determine what problems might be encountered.

He said it would have to be determined how many residents would have trouble relocating. He said disposing of the 40-acre parcel might also be a problem.

York said there was a question as to whether the area actually qualified for urban renewal. He said that at least 50 per cent of the homes have to be declared substandard in order to initiate an urban renewal program.

★ ★ ★

Presently zoned residential, plans were to redevelop the area and rezone it industrial.

INDUSTRIAL AREA

It is located next to an industrial area north of Maple, east of Rochester Road and west of Stephenson.

In other action Monday night, the commission denied the application for renewal of an amusement license for Hanson's Picnic Park on Rochester Road, south of Wattles.

The applicants were put on notice that they may appeal to the city clerk and ask for a hearing.

★ ★ ★

When the license came up for renewal last month, several persons living near the area protested to the commission. They said there was too much noise coming from the park.

Epiphany Service Set at Church in Rochester

ROCHESTER — A Festival of Lights service, celebrating the Feast of the Epiphany, will be held at St. Philip's Episcopal Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Rabbi Ernst J. Conrad of Temple Beth Jacob, Pontiac will be guest speaker.

Statewide Project

New Plan to Aid Retarded

COLDWATER (AP)—The two men going to work at Coldwater Brass Co. didn't seem different from the other workers swirling about them— but they are.

They, and hundreds of persons like them, are the focus of a statewide effort to discover how to return the mentally retarded to society.

★ ★ ★

Bill and John — the names are pseudonymns — were the first persons under a new program to leave an institution for the mentally retarded and to live and work in a community in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The project, financed by a one-year, $480,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Labor, is nicknamed TOP. Initials stand for Training, Opportunity and Placement Program for the Retarded.

TO PLACE 2,500

Vincent Farrell, TOP director, says plans call for placing 2,500 mentally retarded persons back into communities in Michigan within a few years.

The retarded would be returned to community life from state institutions at Coldwater, Mount Pleasant, Fort Custer and Lapeer.

★ ★ ★

"We don't think the retarded are a problem to the community," Farrell said. "A great many of them will be completely independent. A portion will be partially independent."

Arthur French, president of Coldwater Brass where John and Bill work, says:

EXCELLENT JOB

"It's fantastic. These two fellows are doing an excellent job."

Bill, 27, is a husky 5 feet-8, and has the strength for shaking sand out of molds in the foundry. He also runs a machine.

★ ★ ★

His job, French said, "requires coordination and common sense."

Bill's IQ falls in the range of 50 to 85, considered the "educable group."

★ ★ ★

"He stepped right in and his production was equal to the other fellows," French said.

John, 21, a shipping clerk, is blond and lean and "very pleasant, very neat and extremely well liked."

French said the program is "a two-way street. We're in a labor market where labor is extremely difficult to get. When the state program came along we took advantage of it."

Bill earns $1.65 an hour. John makes $1.50. Both have received raises.

The two pay $110 a month for board and room at private Coldwater homes. Both have bank accounts.

A third person under the project here is a 21-year-old woman.

★ ★ ★

She also boards at a private residence, paying $100 a month. She is "doing adequately" in her job at Shaw Shoe Co.

Six other employed retarded persons, aged 18 to 41, return at night to Coldwater State Home and Training School.

Living facilities are not available but community leaders think they have solved this problem.

The group has acquired a lease to a large old house for use as a "transitional home."

Robert Milliman, 36, director of TOP in Coldwater, said the house is strictly under community sponsorship.

DIRKSEN IS 70 — Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., blows out a birthday candle held by his wife, Louella, at their DeBary, Fla. home. Yesterday was his 70th birthday. He was swamped with greetings, overflowing the large basket in front of the Dirksens. There was no elaborate celebrating by the Senate's minority leader.

Rockefeller Outlines Legislative Program

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller pledged today to hold the tax line, fight harder against crime and press for better ways of meeting "the state's fair share of ever-increasing school costs."

In an election-year message to the opening of New York's 1966 legislative session, Rockefeller urged an all-out assault on narcotics addiction, which he called "a prime cause of crime." He suggested drastic penalties for dope-peddlers and compulsory treatment for addicts.

The Republican governor delivered his eighth annual "state of the state" message to a joint meeting of the Senate and Assembly, for the 189th legislative session. Political control of the houses is split — for the first time in 30 years — between Republicans in the Senate and Democrats in the Assembly.

Rockefeller, who has his legislative critics in both parties, reminded them at the outset of his address that he traveled extensively throughout the state in recent weeks to sound out public opinion on state affairs.

His message was drafted with broad strokes and gave few specifics. Definitive proposals will be in the new state budget, due Jan. 18, and in a series of special messages.

The budget will call for increased spending of more than $400 million, sending the 1966-67 total to $4 billion.

★ ★ ★

While giving no financial details, the governor said the boosts "can and will be met within the existing revenue structure."

The state sales tax, which took effect Aug. 1, and an expanding economy are expected to close the gap between other revenues this year and next year.

The areas in which the governor promised to recommend improvements, covered virtually the entire range of state government.

He promised to come up with specific recommendations for improving existing programs for meeting "the state's fair share of ever-increasing school costs, with emphasis on educational quality and opportunity for all."

★ ★ ★

It appeared that the aid would be aimed at problem areas, such as eliminating racial imbalance.

The governor also told the lawmakers he would recommend an increase in the salaries of state employes "so to continue to attract and hold dedicated and qualified employes."

China Trade Cut Mars Castro Triumph

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

For Fidel Castro, the moment that should have been one of triumph had turned somber indeed.

NEWSOM

It was the seventh anniversary of his rise to power and the eve of the "Tricontinental Congress" which had been in the planning since 1961 and which was designed to draw Latin America into the circle of the Communist-supported Afro-Asian solidarity movement.

In the presence of an estimated 500 delgeates to the congress, Castro reviewed a 30-minute display of Cuba's strength and then let the blow fall.

Red China had reneged on five-year trade pact, cutting by more than half the rice supplies on which the Cuban people depended for their sharply rationed diet.

In 1966, Red China would supply Cuba with only 135,000 tons of rice as opposed to the 285,000 tons of 1965.

For the Cuban people, it was especially bitter news.

Under rationing, each Cuban has been allowed six pounds of rice per month or about 60 per cent of normal consumption in pre-Castro times.

Now it would be cut still further, for Castro said the country had no money with which to seek supplies elsewhere.

The people, he said, would have to find substitutes.

In the growing bitterness of the Chinese-Soviet feud, Castro steadfastly has tried to walk a middle course.

But the struggle for leadership of world communism has small room for neutrals, and, whatever the published reasons of the Red Chinese, a better explanation seemed clear.

So long as Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Castro's onetime economic minister, remained in power to advocate violent revolution everywhere in Latin America, the Red Chinese had an ally.

But Guevara is gone, no one knows where.

When Castro's personal friend, President Ben Bella of Algeria, fell to a coup engineered by Honari Boumediene, Castro denounced the new regime as a product of "treason."

He further added that such action could mean falling "into the most repulsive political opportunism."

The latter widely was regarded as a dennunciation of Communist China's quick recognition of the Boumedienne regime and allegiance to the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

A growing coolness toward independence-minded Romania also was looked upon as Castro's recognition of his dependence upon the Soviet Union to support his increasingly leaky economy.

The Soviets earlier had demonstrated their displeasure with Castro's middle-minded attitude toward the Red Chinese by delaying their own trade agreement with him. Soviet aid to Cuba is estimated at around $300 million per year.

One Man Knocks Out a City of 8 Million

Regardless of the duration of the transit strike that has thrown Greater New York with its 8 million population into chaos and turmoil, the instigator of it has not only dealt the community a massive economic blow but has rendered a disservice to the cause of organized labor that could cost it dearly.

In disregarding a state law prohibiting strikes by public employes, defying an injunction against the strike issued by a New York court and publicly insulting both the bench and the new mayor of New York, the president of the 36,000 transit workers, 60-year-old MICHAEL QUILL, has clearly shown his unfitness for the job he holds and the power he wields.

★ ★ ★

For 30 years, Quill has been a law unto himself in New York City's vast complex of interrelated public services, and periodically has brought the City to the brink of collapse as he pushed his demands for contract renewal terms.

With comparable base pay for his union members now the highest in the land, QUILL had slugged the New York Transit Authority with a package of demands that included an unrealistic reduction of the work week to four eight-hour days, wage hikes and other benefits. All told, the cost to the City's transportation system, now wallowing in the red, would be $216 million over a two-year period.

★ ★ ★

QUILL, arbitrary and intransigent in negotiations, seemed to relish the national exposure given his dictatorial posture and complete disregard for the public welfare.

There is no place in America democracy for the one-man power flaunted by the likes of Mike Quill — be it in government, industry or labor. President Johnson and the Congress about to convene will be well advised to address themselves to measures that will once and for all bring under control the egomaniacal power that a few leaders of Big Labor have arrogated to themselves.

Polio Though Dormant Still Potential Killer

DR. ALBERT SABIN, whose oral vaccine helped to plummet polio from 30,000 cases in 1955 to less than 100 in the first 11 months of 1965, warns that we may not have heard the last of the disease.

"We are building up a pool of unprotected children who will soon be able to re-establish the chain of transmission of the disease," he says.

★ ★ ★

The chairman of the American Medical Association's Committee on Environment and Public Health concurs.

"Data available to the committee," says Dr. James H. Sterner, "shows that there now exist areas in which the level of immunity is so low that the possibility of an epidemic is a very real one."

The reason is easy to diagnose. It is simply that the medical profession and the public alike have become complacent about the once-dreaded scourge now that it has reached the vanishing point.

★ ★ ★

It happened before, in the case of venereal disease. At the end of World War I, antibiotics and intensive campaigns had all but knocked out VD.

Then, on the point of victory, came complacency and the fight against VD was virtually dropped. Today the disease is back in force and ranks as one of the Nation's major public health problems.

★ ★ ★

So far, fortunately, there has been no similar resurgence of polio. Whether or not there will be one is the responsibility not only of doctors and public health officials. It is the joint responsibility of those parents who have not taken the trouble to see that their children have received the simple, permanent and inexpensive defense against polio that men like Dr. SABIN devoted their talents and toils to discovering.

THE Federal Reserve Bank is undoubtedly mistaken in stating the average American is now carrying about $200 in cash on his person. The average American couldn't stand the heat from that much money burning his pockets.

"THE national Capitol was poorly planned and rather unsubstantially constructed in the first place," says an architect. Sounds as if it might have been a federal project.

LBJ's Efforts Seem in Vain

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—Even if President Johnson succeeds in his spectacular efforts to get Vietnamese peace talks started—and there is no sign he will—prospects for any meaningful settlement are dim.

MARLOW

His efforts, if unsuccessful, at least will do much to mute criticism here and abroad about his administration's willingness to seek a peaceful settlement and halt the killing.

But it is hard to see how there could be any final agreement between the United States and the North Vietnamese Communists without one side or the other backing down and admitting defeat, even without saying so.

Last April Johnson said he was willing to have "unconditional discussions" with the Reds but he also said he intended to keep this country's "promise" to the South Vietnamese to preserve their independence.

He said, in explaining that the "appetite of aggression is never satisfied," that "we will not withdraw either openly or under the cloak of meaningless agreement."

He added that "peace demands an independent Viet Nam."

MUST WITHDRAW

But the Communist answer to that was: "The United States must withdraw its forces from South Viet Nam and let the people of both Viet Nams settle their internal affairs themselves."

President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam has just repeated that position in the midst of Johnson's efforts of the past few days to get the Communists to a conference table.

If there should be agreement by the Communists now to discuss peace—or just to discuss ways to discuss peace — there might be a halt of some kind in the shooting for the time being.

★ ★ ★

But the anguished question is how could either side agree to a final settlement—in view of what each side has said its terms were—without retreating from the very conditions it said were necessary for peace?

FUTURE IS DOUBTFUL

If peace demands an independent South Viet Nam, as Johnson said, only a dreamer could imagine South Viet Nam remaining independent very long once American troops were withdrawn.

The Communists wouldn't have to invade from the north. Their arm, the Viet Cong, would still be in South Viet Nam, either undercover or in the open, ready to grab the South Viet Nam government when they could.

The two sides have put themselves into such a box with their opposite statements and conditions that any real agreement looks distant, if not impossible.

'Carry On! We're Right Behind You!'

David Lawrence Says:

Union Power Should Be Curbed

WASHINGTON — The whole country has been given a dramatic example of how an autocracy in control of 33,000 workers can paralyze the transportation system of the second largest city in the world.

LAWRENCE

The issue is not personal — it isn't just an eccentric or demagogic personality like that of Michael Quill which deserves criticism but the subservient attitude of the members of his labor union who are ordered to go on strike and fail to take into account the possible consequences of their action.

This is the problem that the United States is plagued with today as strike after strike is called which arbitrarily causes the loss of many millions of dollars a day to innocent bystanders.

Congress has been negligent in dealing with union autocracies as well as union monopolies.

★ ★ ★

Many an industry has its costs fixed by extremists like Quill. There is no mechanism which insures fairness or a conciliatory process which takes into account all the equities in a dispute.

EXTREMISTS IGNORED

Congress in recent years has ignored the destructive influence of the extremists in labor-union leadership. The labor unions themselves have gone deeply into politics and have collected millions of dollars to help elect members of Congress — primarily the candidates of the Democratic party.

This is a form of bribery that has gone unrebuked in America, though sooner or later the corrupt influence of campaign contributions must inevitably be recognized as against the public interest.

Congress has the power to regulate labor-management relations. During the last 18 years virtually no important amendments to existing laws have been enacted to cut down the abuses in the conduct of labor relations.

★ ★ ★

Indeed, the National Labor Relations Board, which is supposed to be a quasi-judicial body, has become an instrument of politics. Its one-sided rulings have begun to astonish lawyers who have watched the week-by-week decisions that have tolerated the unions' misuse of the collective-bargaining power.

CAN LIMIT RIGHT

What may Congress do? It can limit the right of union leaders to call a strike unless the issues have been made clear to all concerned, and until, in cases of deadlock, an opportunity has been given for disinterested tribunals or boards to evaluate the arguments and tell the union members the true situation so they will not be misled by irresponsible leaders.

★ ★ ★

Congress claims the right to regulate interstate commerce, and certainly labor unions today are engaged in an interstate process. Almost all products or services are an integral part of a national system of interstate commerce and communication.

★ ★ ★

Congress thus has full responsibility for preventing costly strikes.

Bob Considine Says:

Annual Epidemic Called Banquet Circuit Is Begun

NEW YORK — Gen. Spike Eckert, the new baseball commissioner, has accepted 15 banquet and luncheon dates for January.

CONSIDINE

Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, Mickey Mantle, Whitey Ford, the All-Americas and Muhammed Ali — bless his nutty soul—could eat out (free) five times a night, if they'd consent to accept a plaque.

This is the period of an annual epidemic called the Banquet Circuit. It sets in shortly after Christmas, reaches ghastly proportions during January, and elements of it linger until the soggy thaws of spring.

The dinners are built around events which are beginning to collect the dust of time, and often honor athletes whose lustre has been tarnished by the onrush of later heroes or regional bully-boys.

★ ★ ★

This is particularly true in college football. The guy who made the AP's All-America as the Dirtiest Linebacker of the Year. (he finished only third on the UPI) may have turned out to be as bashful as a 19th century bride in the big televised Wassail Bowl Game. But his name is already engraved on the coveted Bela Lugosi Trophy and somebody's got to present it to him — while the rolling drums try to drown out the boos from the drunks at Table 403.

STILL HEAR HASSLES

At baseball banquets you can still hear guys, red-faced and angry, arguing over the respective merits of Bill Dickey and Mickey Cochrane.

At the boxing dinners, well, they aren't constitutional unless there's a wrangle over what would have happened in a fight between Dempsey and Louis.

Extraordinary talent and loving care goes into the lyrics and music of the show of the annual New York baseball writers, classed as the Gridiron Dinner of the many baseball bacchanals.

★ ★ ★

But often its pearls have been cast before acres of porcine guys arguing about Elmira's chances next season now that they've picked up Zeke Bonura to instruct the first baseman.

FLIGHT DECK

The most distinguished board shows up at the annual Washington (D. C.) Touchdown Club banquet. The committee counts it an off year when the head table—an auxiliary flight deck for the USS Enterprise — does not number a quorum of the Supreme Court, the Senate, House, and the local Vic Tanny's.

★ ★ ★

Everybody makes a speech. The dignitaries' speeches are in the form of trophy-presentation remarks. The recipient inevitably responds, "I owe it all to my great coach, Biff Bang." Biff comes on then and says a few thousand words.

★ ★ ★

As for the grub at the typical sports banquet . . . well, enough is enough. We will delicately close the curtains. There are things we don't speak of in this fine newspaper.

'Politicians Should Take Sons to Viet Nam'

So we are cowards—those of us, many with veteran sons we love, who oppose the war in Viet Nam. If some of our politicians, namely, Gov. Romney who has two sons 18 and 23; Billie Farnum who has a son on State payroll at a considerable salary; President Johnson who has a potential son-in-law who looks healthy; and many others interested in protecting their way of life, would take these boys with them when they made a trip to Viet Nam and leave them there, I'm sure if they have as much fight as their fathers have talk, the war would soon be over. It's far easier to be brave for others than it is for oneself.

Discusses Statistics on Drinking in U. S.

I was amazed to read where Dr. Marvin Block, chairman of the committee on alcoholism, says that in many U.S. suburbs 85 per cent of the children are drinking at the age of 14 and that 75 per cent drink with the permission of the parents.

★ ★ ★

Is it any wonder we have so much juvenile delinquency, that there are already 8 million known alcoholics in this country and another 8 million on the way, that over half the deaths on the highways are due to drinking and over half the divorces are attributed to drinking?

★ ★ ★

In the light of these staggering statistics, how can anyone agree that it is all right to take even one drink, when human nature always calls for another regardless of the consequences? A nation is only as strong as its home life and if this social decay continues God help this nation.

I'm sure this one soldier doing the kicking does not represent all the rest.

Sabotage of a City

The Chicago Tribune

The arrogance of Michael J. Quill, president of the Transport Workers union — has reduced the city of New York to paralysis. Quill has torn up an injunction forbidding a strike shutting down the subway and bus system in the nation's largest city. His 35,000 followers in the union have brought public transportation to a standstill.

★ ★ ★

The union has been gouging the taxpayers with ever-increasing wage demands. It was like taking candy from a baby, for the wage costs were hidden in a tax-subsidized fare set at the unrealistic level of 15 cents. This year, Quill outdid himself with proposals for a 30 per cent wage increase which would saddle the city with added costs estimated by the New York Transit authority at as much as 680 million dollars.

★ ★ ★

These would have meant a rise in fares from 15 to 47 cents. In addition, Quill demanded that the work week be reduced to four days and 32 hours. Vacations were to be extended to six weeks, three additional holidays were sought, and retirement with half-pay after 25 years of service.

Such demands, if granted, would be the last straw for a city that is already bankrupt in fact, if not by admission. All that the new mayor, John V. Lindsay, could do was advise 7 million New Yorkers to stay home.

★ ★ ★

The strike is illegal, in defiance of a court order. Quill has referred insultingly to Lindsay as "a juvenile, a pipsqueak." He has rebelled against the public welfare and has pushed around millions of citizens.

★ ★ ★

Quill can be jailed, and has been. The dues assessments of his union can be seized and applied against damages and loss of revenue. The Conlon-Wadlin law forbidding strikes by public employes can be invoked against all union officials and all transport workers. Congress must act. The strike comes on top of strikes which have deprived New York of newspapers for months at a time and have tied up shipping on the waterfront. President Johnson has been seeking to weaken the Taft-Hartley labor-management law by repealing the "right to work" clause (14b) which permits states to enact laws that workers need not become the prey of compulsory unionism.

★ ★ ★

The transit strike demonstrates the need for strengthening, not weakening, Taft-Hartley, and the President should stop playing politics long enough to invoke the 80-day emergency provision which would compel the union to stop the strike for that period. Congress should toughen up Taft-Hartley to end the threat of intolerable strikes against the public.

We should settle these disputes around the conference table. Instead, a union dictator is allowed to shout defiance to the city government and to tie up the whole city.

2 Captured N. Viet Officers Say Many in North Blame Hanoi for U.S. Bombings

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Two North Vietnamese army officers captured in Laos claimed today that many North Vietnamese blame the Hanoi government for U.S. bombing of their country.

"The people are angry in their hearts with their leaders," said Cadet Officer Pham Dinh Thao, 30, in an interview, "but they are too frightened to oppose them."

★ ★ ★

Pham said the North Vietnamese people know America is bombing their country because their government is sending men and supplies to the "big war" in South Viet Nam. He said his people are not interested in fighting in the south.

"The American bombings have caused too much damage and taken too many lives," Pham said through an interpreter. "The people of North Viet Nam want the bombing to end. They want peace. Everyone has had enough."

NONMILITARY TARGETS

Pham's commanding officer, Le Huy Linh, 37, also said "many" North Vietnamese blamed their government for the bombing. Both he and Pham said American bombs had fallen on many nonmilitary targets and killed many civilians.

Le said 102 bombs fell last September on his village, in the southern province of Vinh, and killed 22 civilians.

★ ★ ★

Pham, also from Vinh Province, said U.S. planes bombed the leper hospital in the Quynh Luu district of Vinh, killed 80 persons and wounded 100.

Le said U.S. pilots often mistake peasants working in fields for troops on patrol. He said most military installations are now hidden away in "the forests and the mountains."

AUGUST BOMBINGS

Le said, however, that American bombing in August and early September destroyed "a lot" of military installations.

Both men said the bombing has caused severe food shortages in North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

They said food cannot be transported from one area to another because all major bridges and railways have been smashed.

People in Vinh, said Pham, now can eat fish only once every three months. They can have a one-pound ration of meat only on special occasions.

SWEET POTATOES

People have started eating sweet potatoes to supplement their traditional rice staple, he said.

Le said the army is well fed. He said villagers are made to work as coolies and carry food on bamboo poles at night to army camps.

Le claimed the U.S. bomb attacks are not affecting military forces in North Viet Nam.

"The ones who suffer are the people," he said. "The soldiers never go out during the day. They just stay in their trenches."

SPECIAL BATTALION

The two North Vietnamese were captured by Laotian army forces Dec. 22 after a battle near the Mekong River town of Thakhek. Le said they were sent in a special North Vietnamese battalion to Laos late in September to help protect the Ho Chi Minh Trail, the jungle network of trails and roads over which supplies and troops move from North Viet Nam through Laos to South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Le said his battalion was sent into Laos because intelligence information indicated that the United States was preparing to send troops into Laos to block the trail.

U.S. Deaths in Viet Nam War Up Nearly 1,000 Pct. in 1965

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. battle deaths in the Viet Nam war shot up by nearly 1,000 per cent last year over 1964, Defense Department figures showed today.

A total of 1,365 American servicemen died in combat with the Communists in 1965. The year before, the U.S. death toll in combat totaled only 146 men.

The sharp rise in battle deaths roughly kept pace with the increase in U.S. forces in Viet Nam and with the deeper involvement of the United States in the ground and air fighting.

At the end of 1965, there were 181,392 American servicemen stationed in the country compared with only 23,000 at the end of 1964 when the United States still was carrying on mainly an advisory effort.

★ ★ ★

The Army bore the brunt of the U.S. battle deaths in 1965—898 soldiers fell. The Marine Corps lost 335 men in action, the Navy 72 and the Air Force 60.

GREATER NUMBER

The Army has by far the greater number of fighting men in Viet Nam of any of the services — 111,245 out of the more than 181,000.

The Marine Corps ranks second in strength with 38,458 men, the Air Force has 22,008, the Navy 9,430 and the Coast Guard 250.

Since Jan. 1, 1961, a total of 1,620 Americans have been killed by Communist action.

★ ★ ★

Incomplete statistics on wounded indicate that more than 7,500 men have suffered injuries in contact with the Communist enemy over the past five years.

AMERICANS WOUNDED

Again, the largest portion of these wounded occurred in 1965—at least 5,969.

In 1964, there were 1,038 wounded — about one-sixth of the 1965 toll.

The current list of missing carries 149 names and 25 other Americans are classed as prisoners of the Communists.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the battle deaths a total of 458 American servicemen have died in Viet Nam since 1961 from causes other than hostile action. The 1965 share of this total came to 354.

Wail of Woe Proves a Comfort for GI

By TOM TIEDE

AN KHE, Viet Nam—(NEA)—It is night. It is raining. It is 6,000 miles from home. It is three or four days without hot chow.

★ ★ ★

It is also a time for a soldier to complain about the whole miserable thing. And it is a time to listen.

"Boy," one fellow says, "I smell like a dog."

"What'd ya say?" another asked.

"I said I ain't had a shower in three weeks."

★ ★ ★

"That's nothing."

"Oh?"

"I haven't even brushed my teeth in that long."

QUIT MOANING

"Aw, quit yer moanin'."

"All I said was I smelled like a dog."

"You don't have to advertise."

"Yeah, we all got noses, kid."

★ ★ ★

Next to his rifle and his mess kit, the wail of woe is a GI's best friend.

★ ★ ★

It can't cool him when he's hot, turn canteen water to beer or ease the ache in his boots, but it comforts and it is the only alternative to saying nothing at all.

"Ya know what really gets me?"

"What?"

"It gets me we gotta do everything in this war."

"Yeah."

CHOW TIME — This paratrooper treats himself to a hot piece of good old American pumpkin pie, a tasty delight — and a rarity — in Viet Nam battle zones.

"Two weeks ago we're fighting Viet Cong. Last week we're on the picket line. And now this week we're out in the boondocks again."

"Diggin' and piggin'."

"I haven't had a hot meal in a week."

"Ain't nobody else doing any fighting here?"

"Yeah, the enemy."

No lights are allowed in the combat tent and the faceless voices mumble on from behind glowing cigarettes.

It is humid, muddy and dreary. It is the third month of war for these people.

"I saw a guy in Saigon last week in jungle fatigues."

"So?"

"So he was a hospital clerk."

"And?"

WEAR REGULARS

"How come a clerk can get jungle fatigues but the First Calvary who is in the jungle has got to wear the regulars?"

"First Division ain't even got jungle boots yet."

"Those guys in Saigon ... they're Viet Cons."

★ ★ ★

"Jeeze."

"He even had the damned things starched."

TOLD HOW

The men have been pulled from the farm, the gas station and the business office.

They have been told when to eat, where to sleep and how to kill.

The mind becomes disciplined but not the spirit. It continues happily to rebel.

★ ★ ★

"I got the solution."

"What?"

"Vote for me for president."

"You?"

"My platform would be 'Equal rights for the dogface'."

"Or how about, 'A war on C rations'?"

"Or maybe, 'All the way for a pass each day.'"

★ ★ ★

"Ask not what the soldier can do for you, but what you can do for the soldier."

'WE'S RIGHT'

"In your heart you know we's right."

They laugh and sigh and the language is terrible.

They whine about the mail service, groan about the PX, mutter about the lack of ice and women. They lament the heat, the filth, the insects.

"Hey, can it!" someone grumbles. I'm trying to sleep."

"Get him, will ya!"

"Yeah."

"Some guys are always griping."

Group to Visit Ann Arbor Site

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special committee from the National Academy of Sciences will visit Ann Arbor, Mich., Friday to inspect a site proposed for a $348 million atom-smasher, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said yesterday.

The four-man committee, headed by Dr. Emmanuel Piore, has been delegated to recommend six sites from among 85 proposals, Hart said.

The Atomic Energy Commission will make the ultimate recommendation on where the huge machine would be built, when and if it is authorized by Congress.

An aide in Hart's office said the information on the visit of the inspection team to Ann Arbor came from the AEC and no mention was made of it going to the other proposed site in Michigan, near Battle Creek.

The inspection team, the aide said, wants to find out more about the geology at the Ann Arbor site.

The AEC announced last fall that the original 126 applications involving 200 proposed sites has been cut to 85 applications with about 140 proposed sites.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

3,000 Miles to Reward

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A $5 reward to the finder of a sealed bottle dropped 21 months ago into the Atlantic Ocean by an American soldier has been claimed by a Frenchman.

★ ★ ★

William J. Powers of suburban Kenmore says he dropped the bottle into the ocean March 2, 1964, from a ship 800 miles out of the New York harbor. He was then an Army officer returning from overseas.

★ ★ ★

In the bottle was a note containing the $5 offer and Powers' address.

★ ★ ★

Powers says he received a letter last month from Gilbert Camon of Biscarrosse, France, who found the bottle about 3,000 miles from where it had been dropped.

RECESS TALK — John D. Swenson (right) of Bossier City, La., confers with attorneys yesterday during a recess in the reopened House Un-American Activities Committee hearings on the Ku Klux Klan. Swenson testified he had long ago burned any records he had so they wouldn't fall into the hands of the enemy—"the Communists." Swenson declined to say whether he was a Klansman.

General's Jet Hit Treetops

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — An Air Force general bringing a jet plane in for an instrument landing in dark, rainy weather apparently plowed through half a mile of treetops northwest of here before plunging to his death in Puget Sound.

Maj. Gen. I. L. Branch, 53, commander of the Edwards Air Force Base Flight Test Center in California, vanished from radarscopes only a few miles from his destination Sunday. He was flying to Seattle on Air Force business.

★ ★ ★

The wreckage of the general's plane, his Air Force blue tunic with his name inside it and some aeronautical charts were found Tuesday. The wreckage was scattered along a half-mile swath leading from a timbered ridge to the beach at Point Jefferson, across the sound about five miles from here. The charts were on the beach and the uniform jacket was in the water.

Coast Guard craft remained in the area overnight in a continuing search for the general's body. Search officials held no hope that he survived the crash.

Bogalusa Klansmen May Be Called Next

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities is expected to call Ku Klux Klan members from Bogalusa, La., as witnesses today.

A number of Bogalusa residents under committee subpoena sat in the front rows Tuesday awaiting their turn as the committee, reopening its Klan hearings, centered on a north Louisiana Klan group. Bogalusa, near the Mississippi border, has been described as a center of Klan activity and racial violence.

★ ★ ★

Judging from Tuesday's testimony, the committee again is seeking to link the Klan with violence and to portray its leaders as profiting financially from Klan activities. It pursued a similar line at earlier hearings last October.

The committee heard testimony Tuesday about six-man "wrecking crews" to be set up in each local Klan with their identities kept secret even from their fellow Klansmen. The subject of castration also was brought up.

But the testimony came from the committee's chief investigator, Donald T. Appell, not from Louisiana Klan witnesses.

★ ★ ★

The witnesses called, identified as leaders of the original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, operating in northern Louisiana, invoked the Fifth Amendment and declined to testify, following the pattern of Eastern seaboard Klan leaders during the committee's hearings last fall.

★ ★ ★

Murray H. Martin of Winnsboro, La., identified as a high official of this Klan group, was on the stand refusing to answer all questions when castration was brought up.

Appell said it was discussed at a Klan meeting in Montgomery, Ala., May 22, 1965.

★ ★ ★

He asked if it was "reported by any leaders that they would not engage in castration, but if it was necessary to liquidate someone to prove the Klan was not kidding, this would be done?" Martin wouldn't answer.

AF Flies In Machines for Peru Project

PANAMA (AP) — The U.S. Air Force has flown more than a million pounds of heavy road-building equipment across the 16,000-foot Andes for a Peruvian project to open up thousands of square miles of undeveloped fertile land.

★ ★ ★

The 317th Troop Carrier Wing from Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio, flew 38 sorties ending Monday from the coastal town of Chiclayo to the isolated villages of Tarapoto and Bellavista, the Air Force said.

★ ★ ★

The unit's C130 Hercules transports were on temporary duty in Panama when the Peruvian air force asked for help in transporting the tractors, bulldozers and road graders.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Col. H.V. Hopkins, commander of the 317th Wing, said even if his men "didn't know the 'big picture' of what this means to people on the east side of the Andes, we would understand from the number of people and cheers greeting us on every landing and from the way the men of the community turned out to help unload the cargo."

President Fernando Belaunde-Terry called personally on Christmas Day to show his appreciation, Hopkins said.

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Venetian cat lovers are on guard against two British women they were told planned to destroy sick stray felines and sterilize others to reduce the cat population in the city of canals.

Miss Mabel Hawkins and Helena Sanders arrived Tuesday but insisted they came only to study the situation and offer advice on how to control the cat population.

"Tales about our planning to kill any cats are an utter distortion," Mrs. Sanders said.

She said she and many friends have had summer vacations in Venice ruined "by the sight of scrawny, filthy, dying cats, many of them drowned in the canals in the midst of general indifference."

The city put 20 agents from the Italian Association for Animal Protection on their trail.

LYON, France (AP) — The fire in the butane gas refinery 20 miles south of Lyon was brought under control today, more than 24 hours after it started, and officials reported 13 persons dead and one missing.

★ ★ ★

Officials said first checks showed that a valve on a storage tank stuck, releasing a cloud of gas which spread to a road, and a passing car apparently provided the spark which fired the gas. The flames set off a chain of explosions in five storage tanks containing some 10,000 metric tons of gas.

At least seven of the dead were firemen who answered the first alarm and were caught in succeeding blats.

Metropolitan Dilemma—3

Experts Offer Various Answers for Curing City Ills

(EDITOR'S NOTE — In the last of three articles on the problems of the big cities, a national conference of experts swaps some proposals for curing the metropolitan ills.)

By MARGARET BELLOWS
United Press International

"For the first time in history, America has the resources to create cities that reflect man's highest aspirations — cities worthy of ourselves and the human spirit."

The words were those of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. The occasion was a conference in Washington of America's experts on urban affairs.

They were trying to come to grips with one of the nation's most vital problems: the future of our cities.

The topic of the symposium was "The Troubled Environment." It was sponsored by Action Council for Better Cities.

★ ★ ★

They agreed on the problems: not enough money, slums, inadequate schools, people trapped in poverty — resulting in crime, delinquency and despair.

MANY TRAPPED

People trapped in discrimination — with resulting tensions, riots, human waste.

They agreed on the goal, summarized as "a great society in which society lives greatly."

How to reach it?

Suggestions ranged from building new, scientifically planned cities to house America's 3 million new people a year, to eliminating poverty by the application of a "reverse" income tax.

'HAMSTRUNG'

Hamstrung by their own "city limits," throttled by a mishmash of overlapping governments, most metropolitan center cores are unable to finance, let alone enforce, solutions to such regional blights as smog, water pollution, jammed streets and bankrupt mass transit systems.

Unscrambling the mess of overlapping governments (there are 18,000 separate taxing authorities jamming our 212 metropolitan areas) might well be done by "big business' brains, suggested Hedley Donovan, head of Time, Inc.

"Let 'big business' try to organize supermetropolitan authorities to tackle regional problems," he advised.

★ ★ ★

"The American businessmen has shown a real mastery at creating corporate organisms that are huge, complex, efficient; that can operate over great distances and cope with a tremendous range of problems, combine many centers of autonomy with one center of ultimate responsibility."

BIG BUSINESS

Added Dr. Leslie Carbert of the planning office of California: "Tap the technological ability of big business by contracting studies to show ways a business systems approach could be applied to smog, pollution, transportation, crime."

Dr. Norton Long of Brandeis University, who summed up the symposium, noted that housing, education, jobs and income are linked together in a vicious circle.

"America's job is to break that circle so we do not wall a fifth of our people in a culture of poverty, inferior status and crippled existence," he said.

★ ★ ★

Christopher Jencks of the Institute for Policy Studies would break that circle with the school systems.

PUSH QUALITY

"Increase the quality of education in the slums. America spends about half as much educating the children of the poor as the children of the rich.

"To offset the miseducation which takes place in a slum home and neighborhood, we must spend twice as much in our slums as in our suburbs, start children's schooling earlier, provide a better quality of training."

He suggests tuition grants to slum children; urges universities, industries, parent groups to sponsor experimental schools where disadvantaged children can mingle and learn with other children.

Harold Gores, president of the Educational Facilities Laboratory, urged "educational parks," large city-center schools where schooling is tailored to each child's ability rather than his age, where the schools serve adults at night for educational and civic purposes, providing a rallying point for neighborhood organization.

PRESCHOOLS

Lyle Spencer, president of Science Research Associates, advocated more preschools for children of the poor; industry-sponsored training for dropouts; "industrial" scholarships where workers spend half time at work, half in school; "hands on" training where young people can be trained in as little as three months for industrial jobs.

Poverty and slums breed more poverty and more slums, crime, and physically and emotionally sick people. They drive those who can afford it out into the suburbs, taking small businesses and industries with them.

The cities lose civic brainpower, tax money, jobs; get more slums, crime, unemployment and unemployables.

"Why not break up this cycle by giving housing subsidies to the poor? This would increase the market for middle-income housing, break up slum ghettos and permit the clearance or rehabilitation of slum housing," says Herbert J. Gans, Columbia University sociologist.

Richard A. Cloward of the Columbia School of Social Work would remove poverty. "Break the self-generating poverty cycle by a negative income tax, direct payments to the aged, underemployed, women heads of families."

Walter E. Hoadley, noting that increased taxes decrease the incentive of slumlords to improve their property, suggested government subsidies and tax incentives to encourage private enterprise to rehabilitate slum buildings, build new and better ones.

Pointing out that the Negro average family income is only slightly more than half that of white families, and that unemployment is more than double — causing broken homes, child dependency, unemployed and out-of-school youth — Whitney Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, went straight to the point.

★ ★ ★

"Business and industry must practice 'reverse discrimination' in hiring Negroes. Discrimination and poor education have long victimized the Negro.

"Business has a real stake, in terms of lost taxes and lost revenues, in the effects of continued ghettoization and segregation upon the central city."

The backs of many toads are covered with poisonous glands that can cause pain and even death to, animals that try to eat them.

Room settings shown at the current furniture show at Chicago's Merchandise Mart include one for the young American bachelor who has his own one-room apartment. Starting point for this one by Marcia Lansky, NSID, is the Duo-Bed, a regular size bed with full mattress that doubles as an attractive couch by day. The olive green suede-like nylon quilted cover neatly covers the bedding while pillows store in the back rest. A walnut finished desk is a permanent part of the unit. Colors are a sophisticated olive and marine blue.

Nervy Neighbor

She's Gone Bit Too Far

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my neighbor asked if she could hang a few sheets on my clothesline. I said all right.

Then she started hanging all sorts of colored garments, rugs, blankets, etc., on my line. She will not put up a clothesline in HER yard because she doesn't want it cluttered.

ABBY

Occasionally, I didn't mind, but now it has become an everyday occurrence. I don't want to take down my line because I need it for my own use. She's added two lines of her own to my pole so now she feels that she can use HER lines any time. I am very much upset over this.

It's caused many family arguments because my husband will not tell them it's annoying. We don't want hard feelings. Please tell me how to discourage this practice?

HAVE HAD IT

DEAR HAVE HAD IT: Remind your neighbor that she asked permission to hang a "few sheets" on your line, and you think she's gone a bit too far.

Face it. You are really upset with yourself for lacking the backbone to set your neighbor straight. Don't blame your husband for refusing to run interference for you. That's not HIS line!

Clubwomen Schedule Events

. A Coffee will be held for members of the Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs at 10 a.m. Friday. The event is scheduled for the Oak Park Women's Club, Oak Park Community Center.

Mrs. George Woodward will report on "Fine Arts and Cultural Heritage." Mrs. Hans Schjolin's report will be on "Communications."

Another will be Mrs. Lee Hill on "Legislation."

"Arthritis: Advances in Treatment" will be the discussion preceding the luncheon at noon.

★ ★ ★ ★

Later in the day, Mrs. Edith Porter, artist, will speak on "Techniques."

U. of Minn. Women

Mrs. R. M. McKercher of Royal Oak will open her home for a salad luncheon at 12:15 p.m. Friday for the University of Minnesota Women's Club.

Assisting hostesses will include Mrs. Howard Green, Mrs. Grady Graves, Mrs. Helgeson and Mrs. Merl Baker.

★ ★ ★

A toy workshop will follow the luncheon with Mrs. Robert Kenning in charge. Toys will be made for children in Detroit hospitals.

Alpha Gamma Delta

A program on "Food Facts and Fallacies" will be given by Mrs. Carol Kurth.

The home economist for the Cooperative Extension Service of Oakland County will speak before members of the Detroit North Suburban Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Carl Bleil of Birmingham will open her home for the meeting.

Group Honors Mrs. Peterson

Mrs. Kenneth Peterson of Crestview Avenue, chosen "Volunteer of the Week" by the United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit, was honored at a luncheon Tuesday. The affair was at the Oakland County Children's Village.

Mother of seven children, Mrs. Peterson has been a regular volunteer at the children's village shelter care cottages for the past seven years.

She was presented a Community Services Pin by Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard.

Spring Steps Into Straps

The spring story is a strap story told here in five ways. Left, for high tea, a kitten of an ankle strap that twines playfully about the foot and bares all but the black patent white collared toe by Newton Elkin.

Next, the dashing fleet foot done in creamy white chocolate with a softly rounded toe and three important straps.

★ ★ ★

In the center, looking as though its angular straps had been painted on, an ingenious late day shoe in raven's wing patent on a slender medium heel.

Fourth, a clever blend of the sheen of patent with the matte of natural linen, set on a low curvy heel.

Finally for lunch in town a square throated vamp, open at the sides with a natural linen back punctured with a pair of instep straps.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM

Cunningham-Lott Vows Repeated

A reception in the Holiday Inn of Pontiac followed the recent marriage of Mary Elizabeth Lott to Philip Carter Cunningham in the Episcopal Church of the Advent.

Their parents are the Milan H. Lotts of Edgewood Park Court, Commerce Township, and the James E. Cunninghams of Pontiac Trail, West Bloomfield Township.

BLUE GOWN

White Chantilly lace in rose point pattern over pale blue de soie fashioned the bride's street-length gown for the afternoon rite performed by Rev. John Wigle.

She wore a lace-edged mantilla-type illusion veil and carried white orchids, ivy and Stephanotis.

Bridal attendants were Carol Gilchrist, and Betty Lindegren of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Thomas E. Delaney of Detroit was best man and Thomas Aitken seated the guests.

The bride will resume junior year studies at Kalamazoo College. Her husband is a senior at Western Michigan University.

CAI Offers Classes Set Next Week

Registration is being conducted this week for three classes scheduled to begin next week at the CAI building.

Rug hooking classes will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Tuesdays for an eight-week period, according to Mrs. Carol Wolfe, acting CAI director.

Mrs. Lillian Longair will direct the course. The fee is $7.

KNITTING

Knitting classes will be held over a 10-week period with beginners meeting at 1:30 p.m. Mondays and more advanced at 7 p.m. the same day.

Directing the course, which calls for a $7 fee, will be Mrs. Lena Meier.

Mrs. Wolfe will be in charge of the ladies' exercise class from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays for a 10-week period. The fee is $6.

★ ★ ★

Fees must be paid at registration, according to Mrs. Wolfe. She added that registrations will be accepted at the CAI office by telephone.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

As a freshman in a small college, I have found last year's wool skirts with the two pleats in front and back are quite passe. On the other hand, the A-line skirts with the double top-stitched seams are very "big."

Without much trouble, the pleats in last year's skirts may be sewn up, the excess cut off and then top stitched on each side of the seam line. This gives a brand-new look to a not-so-brand-new skirt!

Pat Neuman, Grand Rapids, Mich., is being sent a Tailor Trix pressing board for this skirt-salvaging suggestion.

Dear Eunice:

I would like to do some plain smocking on curtains and the pattern tells me that these transfer dots are "readily available," and still I have searched and searched at every available place and can't find any in our area.

Also, why do some children's smocking patterns only have blue dots? Many times I can't use the blue because the marks won't show up on dark fabrics? It's most discouraging to get excited about a project and then to be unable to follow through!

Mrs. B. G.

Dear Mrs. B. G.:

These are answers I can't give you and we will have to call on our readers to help out. I have checked into this and find that the pattern companies aren't offering much in the way of smocking patterns, except where they are used on a specific dress.

If any of you readers know where these transfer patterns may be obtained, please write to me at Sew Simple.

★ ★ ★

Dear Eunice:

I have some of the new stay-pressed trousers for my sons. When I tried to shorten them, I couldn't press out the original crease. Can you help?

Mrs. B. E.

Dear Mrs. B. E.:

This new process is called "oven cured." The creases have been pressed in with a special new process. It is impossible to remove the creases.

To shorten them, cut the trousers just below the edge of the cuffs, take off the extra length, take in the trouser leg seams so that the cut edge is the same size as the cut edge of the cuff, re-sew the cuff to the trousers. This information was given to me by an exclusive men's store alteration department.

HOW'S YOUR THREAD?

I have received hundreds of letters from readers about the quality of your thread and what makes it break. Some say it's the thread, others the needle, and still others claim it is the sewing machine. Drop everything for a minute, and send me your opinion. Since thread is advertised to be of better quality than ever before, I am eager to take an impressive number of letters to the thread companies with your comments, good and bad. It also will help if you mention the brand name of the thread.

Very Young May Have Feared III

By Science Service

CHICAGO — Although cancer of the breast in young persons under the age of 20 is considered a medical curiosity, doctors are warned to have any unusual masses in the breasts of either boys or girls examined under the microscope.

★ ★ ★

Two young girls, aged 14 and 17, have been added to the nine cases already reported in medical literature. Both girls died, one within nine months, the other in less than five years after surgery.

Drs. Myron B. Close and Nicholas G. Maximov of Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital, Santa Rosa, Calif., reported the cases in Archives of Surgery and reviewed some of the previous cases.

SIX-YEAR OLD

A six-year-old boy with breast cancer had an operation and was found to have a spreading cancer in the lymph nodes of the arm. He was living ten months after the operation, however, with no sign of further metastasis.

★ ★ ★

Two New York cases were those of a child three years old, and another, aged 15. The 15-year-old girl was unique in that she had had the cancer for 10 years and survived with no more treatment than local surgery.

★ ★ ★

A family tendency to the disease apparently has resulted in its development at such early ages, but further study is needed to explain all the cases.

The Santa Rosa surgeons warn that a breast mass in a child should not be left for observation over a period of time, despite the rarity of breast cancer in this age group.

Pamphlet Talks of Menopause

It has been estimated that there are over 35½ million women in the United States today either experiencing or past the menopause. With this in mind, the Wilson Research Foundation has brought out a 15-page pamphlet, "Feminine . . . For Life."

★ ★ ★

The pamphlet discusses the prevention of menopause problems and describes a simple test of sex hormone levels that can be administered by the family physician to adult women of any age.

★ ★ ★

Tell Expectant Parents About New Classes

Expectant Parent classes again are being offered in Oakland County beginning Jan. 10.

Taught by public health nurses, the series of eight classes are sponsored by the Oakland County Medical Society, the Oakland County Department of Health and various adult education departments.

★ ★ ★

To provide ample opportunity for discussion, attendance is limited to a maximum of 26 people. Classes are from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

VISUAL AIDS

Films and other audio-visual aids will be used to highlight various topics, and a conducted hospital tour is arranged during each series.

Subjects covered include: mental health of the family unit, growth and development of the baby prior to and immediately after birth, labor and delivery and care and feeding of the infant.

The classes are taught locally at the Oakland County Department of Health, North Telegraph Road, with others offered in Royal Oak and Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Claim Attitudes Form Early

Certain general attitudes of an individual throughout his entire life may well have their origins in the first four days of his existence, say two University of California Medical School doctors who have been studying this "critical" period in an infant's life.

RESEARCH

Pediatrician Arthur H. Parmalee and psychiatrist Justin Call feel their continuing research already has indicated that such things as our attitudes of trust or mistrust, our optimistic outlooks as opposed to pesimistic ones, and even our capacity for being principled or unprincipled are determined in the first four days of life.

★ ★ ★

Included in their research are the mother-infant relationship and infant reactions, both natural and acquired.

The gradual buildup of a person's sense of reality and his capacity for future learning also may be founded upon what happens in those early days.

America's largest herd of wild buffalo -- some 1,200 — roams South Dakota's Custer State Park.

The Robert L. Dalbys of East Lehigh Street announce the engagement of their daughter Terre Kay to Thomas Russell Ritchie, son of Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Ritchie of Highland. Her fiance attended Grand Rapids Baptist Bible College.

The engagement of Diane Elaine Ray to Robert Bruce Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wallace of Woodbury Avenue, Commerce Township, is announced by her parents, the Fred R. Rays also of Woodbury Avenue.

Duchess of Windsor Pattern

The great success of the Duchess of Windsor's fashion designs is due to her super fine taste. When ordering for herself, she just naturally edits a lot of buckles and bows off the clothes.

At the same time she appreciates with a gay young zest a new line or shape. The Duchess of Windsor thinks this new low flare does the most for the most women.

This slender one piece dress may be made with or without sleeves. Bias satin trimly trims the neck, makes the bow and either trims the armhole or the bottom of the sleeve. The back buttons down to a deep inverted box pleat. The beautiful diagonal seam from there goes down and around to the bow. It is carefully matched at the side seams.

★ ★ ★

Make it of a sheer wool, raw silk, shantung, faille or satin. Later in linen and cotton. Next fall make it in velvet or brocade. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

The Cat's Meow

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. J. F. Sargent heard her pet cat, Scamper, screeching as she was doing her weekly washing. After stopping her automatic washing machine, she found Scamper, who had gone through a wash, three rinses and part of a spin dry —along with a soggy rug. Other than swollen eyes from the effects of the detergent, the cat was unharmed.

Calling All 'Lost Zetas' to Meeting

Mrs. Paul E. Sleeper of Birmingham, publicity chairman for Zeta Phi Eta, has announced that the "call is out for any lost members" of the group, oldest national professional speech fraternity for women.

A meeting of the newly formed Michigan alumni organization is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 11 in the Birmingham home of Nancy Savage on Shirley Drive.

FOR BLIND

Area Zetas plan to begin work on a tape recording program for the blind, approved by the Library of Congress.

Books recorded become part of the permanent collection loaned to blind people throughout the country by the library.

Zeta Phi Eta is the first and only national organization to provide volunteer readers for the library's newly established taping program.

★ ★ ★

The general public also may participate in the program. Fraternity members and others interested may obtain further details by contacting Miss Savage.

Be Sure Child Has Protection From Measles

EVANSTON, Ill. — All children who have not had measles should be immunized against the disease.

This is the recommendation of the American Academy of Pediatrics which points out that if this were done the vexing childhood disease could be eliminated by 1970.

In New York City, Project Knockout Measles is now under way in an effort to head off the high incidence, which usually begins in January.

According to Dr. John R. Philip, Acting Commissioner of New York's Department of Health, "measles can be a serious disease leading to complications such as encephalitis which can cause death or be followed by permanent brain damage.

"Now that we have effective measles vaccines," says the physician, "we can do the same thing to measles that we did to polio — that is, knock it out."

Easy on Enamel

(AP) — Be careful to not drop iron pots or pans in the sink. Also, never open cans or chop ice in it, for either of these things can badly damage the sink's enamel.

'A Star Is Born'

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The sign "It's a Boy" in big letters on the marquee of the Brown Port theater recently wasn't the name of the movie playing there. It was Manager Bernard Sherman's way of informing the neighborhood that his daughter, Mrs. Allen Kohl, had given birth to a baby boy.

City Lawyer's Funeral Today

Irving Blank, Pontiac attorney, died Monday in Pontiac General Hospital. He was 46.

Service was to be this morning at the Ira Kaufman Chapel, 18325 W. Nine Mile, Southfield, with burial in Machpelah Cemetery.

Blank of 15410 Northgate, Oak Park, opened his office in Pontiac in 1940. He was a graduate of the University of Chicago and the University of Michigan Law School.

Active in Boy Scout work, he was a former neighborhood Boy Scout commissioner of Oak Park.

★ ★ ★

Surviving are his wife, Harriet; four sons, Gerald, Daniel and Martin Blank and Jared Schultz; his mother, Mrs. Tillie Blank of Chicago; and a brother, Howard of Oak Park.

Youth Is Hurt in I-75 Crash

A 20-year-old Waterford Township youth is listed in satisfactory condition after his car went out of control on I-75 last night, careened off a guard rail and came to rest against a sign.

Richard A. King Jr. of 2886 Lansdowne was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with head injuries.

★ ★ ★

King told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies he fell asleep at the wheel of the car.

The accident took place about 8 p.m. near the intersection of I-75 and M24 in Pontiac Township.

Good Safety Idea: Quit Driving the Car

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — The Isabella County Safety Council has named Dr. Floyd Armstrong the county's safe driver of the month — because he isn't driving anymore.

Dr. Armstrong, 87, turned in his driver's license recently, saying he is too old to drive.

ANNOUNCES DECISION — Actor Ronald Reagan is flanked by his wife, actress Nancy Davis, as he announces at Los Angeles yesterday that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of California. It will be his first try for office.

Intraparty Bitterness Mounts

Reagan Adds a New Style to Politics

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan's decision to run for the Republican nomination for governor provided California with a new style of politics today and touched off more bitterness in a heated Republican primary campaign.

A half-hour film, shown on 16 television stations, introduced Reagan to the voters Tuesday night — a sharp contrast to the rallies, dinners and news conferences candidates have traditionally used to tell the people they will run.

★ ★ ★

The viewers saw him standing in a relaxed manner in a comfortably furnished den — it was a studio set — talking calmly of state affairs. Gone were the placards and brands of past years.

He conceded he was a political novice, aspiring to be chief executive of the nation's most populous state.

"I am not a politician in the sense of ever having held public office, but I think I can lay claims to being a citizen politician," he said.

Backers of Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, expected to seek a third term, issued a 12-page statement criticizing Reagan's announcement. Its message: "Reagan is simply wrong."

★ ★ ★

Two announced candidates for the Republican governorship nomination were quick to criticize.

Former Assemblyman Laughlin E. Waters said the announcement will give the party a chance to decide whether it chooses "to attempt again positions which were overwhelmingly rejected nationally and in California during the last election or whether it will return to the moderate and winning position.'

CHIDES REAGAN

George Christopher, former mayor of San Francisco, said Brown "would decisively beat Ronald Reagan." He chided Reagan for his acting background and said the people will prefer someone of "proven ability."

Reagan avoided mentioning his Republican opponents in the televised talk and at a news conference with some 100 reporters.

★ ★ ★

But Republicans who label themselves as moderates are lining up behind Christopher and Waters. These, generally, are those who supported New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's losing effort against Barry Goldwater in the 1964 California presidential primary. They say Reagan is too conservative.

★ ★ ★

Reagan, a cochairman of California Citizens for Goldwater-Miller two years ago, said he would seek the support of every element of the party in California.

'NO CRITICISM'

"In this primary I will campaign against the opposition administration in Sacramento," he told the reception. "I will have no word of criticism for any Republican."

Victory in the primary, and later in the general election, would not only give Reagan the $44,100-a-year governor's job, but vault him into national political prominence.

★ ★ ★

Immediately, however, he is being replaced in California as host of the "Death Valley Days" television series because the sponsors fear demands from his opponents for equal time. He will appear in other states while substitutes will be seen in California.

Florida's Democratic national committeewoman, Mrs. Robert W. Baker, said Democrats should still be given equal time.

Two Truckers Die in Crashes

By The Associated Press

Two truck drivers were killed today in separate collisions about 30 miles apart on I-94 in southwest Lower Michigan.

★ ★ ★

One driver, whose name was withheld by police pending notification of next of kin, was fatally burned when he was trapped in the cab of his truck. Officers said the accident apparently occurred when one truck tried to pass the other about one-half mile east of Coloma.

★ ★ ★

A four-truck smashup near New Buffalo claimed the life of Dale D. Enders, 46, of Kalamazoo shortly after midnight. Officers said Enders' truck apparently ran into the rear of another, pushing it into the path of two other vehicles. Another man, reportedly sleeping in the cab of one of the trucks, was injured, officers said.

Man Hospitalized by Head-On Crash

Thomas E. Holland, 25, of 256 S. Anderson, injured early today in a head-on collision, is reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital.

Holland suffered fractured ribs and facial lacerations when his car collided about 2 a.m. with one driven by Addie M. Taylor of 56 Gillespie.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac police said Holland's car crossed the center line of Osmun Street near Harvey, clipped the right front of the other vehicle and then struck a utility pole.

Methodists Are Asked for More School Funds

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Methodist Church Board of Education says Methodists are giving more money for higher education but that rising costs make increased church support essential.

★ ★ ★

The report says current support is inadequate "in this day of unprecedented demands and rising costs" even though Methodists give more money to education than to any other effort. The report said church members gave more than $18.3 million to education.

Rules Judge

Zoning of Parcel Invalid

The multiple dwelling zoning classification of a parcel of property on the fringe of downtown Pontiac was ruled invalid yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge Frederick C. Ziem, in a written opinion, said that the present zoning of the southwest corner of West Huron and Williams was unreasonable.

The owners of the property, Earl Kneale and his wife, Marilyn, of Port Austin, sued the city of Pontiac and Building Inspector Carl Alt after their request to rezone the property commercial was denied by the City Commission.

Coplaintiffs in the action were real estate men Fred Dean and Harry Nicholie, who have an option to purchase the property.

★ ★ ★

The commercial zoning is sought to allow a gas station to be constructed.

The ruling won't automatically change the present zoning. Only the City Commission can approve a zoning change.

OUTLIVED ITS UTILITY

"The court finds that the property has outlived its utility and value for R-3 (multiple dwelling) purposes," Ziem said.

Appriasers had testified that under the present zoning the property is worth about $9,000, but under a commercial classification its value would be increased to approximately $60,000.

$70 Robbed From Man, 72

A 72-year-old man told Pontiac police he was robbed of $70 in cash and his wallet last night by an assailant who jumped in his car in front of a tavern.

James A. Young, 3196 Midvale, Avon Township, said the man, described as a Negro wearing a brown turban, ordered him to "drive around" and then told him to stop in front of 314 Ferry.

★ ★ ★

There, Young said, the man grabbed him around the neck, took his wallet and money and fled on foot.

County's Road Commission Reelects Chief

Oakland County Road Commission Chairman Robert O. Felt was reelected to a second one-year term yesterday at the organiaztional meeting of the three-member road commission.

★ ★ ★

Felt has been a road commissioner for 18 years and prior to that was a member of the board of supervisors representing West Bloomfield Township for 12 years.

★ ★ ★

Frazer W. Stamen, vice chairmen, also retained his position for another year.

The third member of the commission is Sol D. Lomerson.

Revolver Reported Stolen From Home

Trilby Kessel, 57, of 613 E. Kennett reported to Pontiac police yesterday the theft of a 32-caliber revolver after a break-in at his home.

Kessel said he returned from work about 11:30 p.m. Monday to find the rear door of the house forced open.

The pistol was mising from a drawer in a gun cabinet. Kessel said several rifles and shotguns in the cabinet were untouched.

Family Deaths a Mystery

MURCIA, Spain (AP)—Four children in one family have died mysteriously in one month. The eight survivors have been taken to a hospital for examination.

The trail of death in the Martinez del Aguila family started Dec. 4 when 9-month-old Maria died.

★ ★ ★

Mariano, 2, died Dec. 9; Fuensanta, 4, died five days later; and Andres, 5, died yesterday.

The family was taken to the hospital after the first three children died but was allowed home for Christmas when doctors could find no disease.

By JACOBY & SON

The Jacobys discuss the book by Bob Nail and Bob Stucker of Houston entitled "Revolution in Bidding."

JACOBY

Oswald: "Have you ever seen anything like the number of new ideas in bidding that the two Bobs have produced?"

Jim: "No, I haven't! I don't think that we are ever going to be ready for most of them but there are a couple that concern themselves with preemptive bids that merit a lot of study."

Oswald: "I rather think that we will adopt something like their minor suit preempts for our own use. It seems silly to try to disturb your opponents with a minor-suit bid of three and a hopeless hand, but they suggest that the three-club and three-diamond bids be used to show a nearly solid suit, 10 to 14 high-card points and six to seven-and-a-half playing tricks."

Jim: "Today's hand illustrates this bid at its best. North has a minimum three-club bid under the Nail-Stucker system. South is interested in a no-trump game if he can find his partner with a spade stopper and responds three diamonds.

North shows his spade control and South goes to three no-trump. There is no problem in the play. He simply runs off his nine top tricks."

Oswald: "Is it possible to reach three no-trump if North passes at the start? Possibly, but highly unlikely. It is also possible for East and West to get into the bidding if South opens in third seat and they can save nicely at four spades, down one, if they choose to do so."

♥♣CARD Sense♠♦

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South

♠AKJ1098 ♥AK32 ♦K5 ♣2
What do you do?

A—Bid three hearts. You are going to get to four spades at least.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid three hearts and your partner jumps to four spades. What do you do now?

Big Mac Revenue, Traffic 2nd Highest

ST. IGNACE (AP) — The Mackinac Bridge Authority reported Tuesday that vehicle traffic and revenue totals for 1965 were the second highest since the bridge opened in 1958.

A total of 1,328,641 vehicles crossed the bridge last year compared with 1,251,643 in 1964 and 1,390,390 in the record year of 1958.

★ ★ ★

Revenue last year totaled $5,824,090 compared with $5,462,263, in 1964. The year's revenue represented a 6.6 per cent increase over 1964.

State Group to Discuss School District Mergers

LANSING (AP)—A state committee plans to meet Thursday and Friday to consider plans for school district mergers that would eliminate districts which do not offer all 12 grades.

The committee must approve the plans before they are submitted to local voters, who still have the power to turn down the proposed mergers and leave the districts as they are.

Suit Dismissed in Edison Case

$3½ Million Sought by Former Employe

A $3½-million damage suit brought against the Detroit Edison Co. by a former employe in 1961 was dismissed yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge James S. Thorburn ruled that there was no cause for action after hearing the opening statements by the complainant's attorney.

Joseph A. Ambrose of Royal Oak, an engineer, was seeking the damages in connection with being fired by the company in October 1958.

The case is expected to go to the Michigan Court of Appeals, according to Circuit court officials.

★ ★ ★

Ambrose initiated the suit in Oakland County after a similar action was dismissed in Wayne County Circuit Court and the ruling upheld by the Michigan State Supreme Court.

FILED AGAIN

He was then allowed to file suit in Oakland County when he added names to the list of defendants and claimed they had conspired against him.

Named in the suit were Walker Cisler, board chairman of the utility company, and 10 other employes and trustees.

Ambrose claimed he was discharged because of false and malicious statements, and that as a result he suffered physical and mental distress.

★ ★ ★

He said that his eyesight was damaged as well as his sense of balance, for a long period of time.

First European country to grant women the right to vote was Finland, in 1906.

HOMER CASE

Pick Leaders of 2 County Committees

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, yesterday appointed new chairmen to two committees of the board of supervisors.

★ ★ ★

Named chairman of the special committee to study law enforcement problems in the county was John S. Slavens, supervisor from Pleasant Ridge.

Homer Case, supervisor was named chairman of the home rule study committee.

The two chairmanship vacancies were created by the resignation of John B. Osgood, supervisor from Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

Osgood, who was chairman of both committees, resigned from the board of supervisors in November prior to his appointment as the part-time member of the County Board of Auditors.

Budget Not Yet Presented

Temporary Fund of $1.3 Million Is Allotted

A temporary appropriation of $1.3 million was approved last night by the City Commission to cover initial city operating expenses for the new year.

The temporary appropriation was approved in lieu of the 1966 budget, which has not yet been presented to the commission.

The formal 1966 budget, which should have been presented to the commission a month before the end of the fiscal year Dec. 31, is expected to be presented next Tuesday.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren last night asked for a total of $1,334,368 to operate the various departments for the six-week period Jan. 1 to Feb. 12.

★ ★ ★

The new budget would be adopted before Feb. 12.

GENERAL FUND

A majority of the temporary appropriation, $880,370, is for general fund expenditures, while the water supply system will receive $253,660, sanitation and waste disposal, $69,552, and sewage treatment, $73,365.

Warren emphasized that monies expended under the temporary appropriations were part of the 1966 budget.

In other business last night, a contract for work in connection with the proposed construction of the Galloway Creek Trunk sewer was assigned to the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

★ ★ ★

The contract, which is between the city and Jones, Henry & Williams, consulting engineers, is for the preparation of detailed construction plans for the sewer project.

MAY PROCEED

Assigning the contract to the county DPW, according to City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling, will permit the engineering firm to proceed with the sewer plans.

Current plans call for the county to act as the city's agent in construction of the trunk sewer, which previously had been planned as a city project.

The trunk sewer now is a link in the Clinton Oakland Interceptor system planned by the county.

★ ★ ★

The commission rejected an offer of a house at 9-11 Exchange from the All Saints Episcopal Church, 171 W. Pike.

BUILDING CONDEMNED

The dilapidated two-family duplex is owned by the church. The building has been condemned as unfit and unsafe by the city.

To tear down the structure is expensive. The church offered it to the city. Last night the commission said no to the offer.

City Manager Warren reported that the city has one bid from a wrecking contractor for $1,650.

City Affairs

Warren also reported that it was remote that the city would need the parcel of land for future street extension or expansion in the area.

BORROWING LIMIT

The commission set the borrowing limit for the city's R20 urban renewal project at $7.6 million in accordance with the new loan and grant contract with the federal government.

The commission okayed an offer for a 25-foot strip of land at the rear of property fronting on Woodward between South Boulevard and the south city limits.

The land, furnished by General Motors Truck & Coach Employees Federal Credit Union, is being dedicated to the city as a right-of-way for utility services.

★ ★ ★

The commission approved the vacating of an alley north of and parallel to Montcalm, from the alley located west of and parallel to Baldwin to a point 800 feet west.

ASK REZONING

Two requests from Pontiac State Bank were referred to the City Planning Commission. The bank seeks rezoning for a branch office on two lots on the east side of Joslyn, between Madison and LeBaron.

In connection with the same construction, the bank is asking for the vacating of an alley which runs parallel to Joslyn between the same two streets.

A rezoning request from Pontiac Business Machines Co. for two lots on the southeast corner of Baldwin and Poplar was also referred to the city planners.

Dirksen Signals 2-Party Effort to Cut 'Great Society' Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen signaled a coalition effort today to cut back "Great Society" program funds in President Johnson's new budget.

The White House predicts the budget will total $110 billion to $115 billion.

★ ★ ★

Dirksen said in a telephone interview that Congress is faced with three possible courses in meeting the mounting costs of the conflict in Viet Nam.

"We can either lay the Great Society program on the shelf, we can cut it way back or we can go ahead and vote all of the money the previous session authorized for them," he said. "We've got a war on our hands and I think some of these domestic programs can be scaled down."

FORD CALLS

Similarly, House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford called for a reduction in domestic spending. He said that otherwise the kind of budget Johnson is proposing "means he is financing both guns and butter which will inevitably lead to a tax increase or to runaway inflation."

To accomplish budget cuts, the Republicans would need Democratic support to succeed and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., often a spokesman for party conservatives, indicated some will be forthcoming.

★ ★ ★

McClellan, a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, voiced the opinion that Congress "may have undertaken going too far, too fast with too little" in approving so many of Johnson's domestic programs last year.

★ ★ ★

He said the White House prediction on the budget total "reinforces my view that we are going to have to retrench and hold down new programs until the budget is under better control."

WAR FUNDS

On the heels of the budget prediction, sources report Johnson will ask Congress for a supplemental appropriation of almost $13 billion to cover war costs.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, predicted there will be a slowdown in "the frenzy of lawmaking that produced the credit-card Congress last year."

"I think that all of us will take a second look at many of the bills passed the last time around with one eye watching out for economies which will help finance the Viet Nam conflict," he said.

In another interview, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said it is generally accepted that too much legislation was passed too hastily last year and many avoidable problems were created unnecessarily.

NEW SESSION

Looking ahead to the new session opening Monday, House Democratic leader Carl Albert outlined a legislative program that dimmed any hopes of his colleagues for an early adjournment.

Albert said in an interview he saw little chance for adjournment before Aug. 15 if Congress is to deal with all the problems likely to face it.

Many members had hoped for adjournment early in July so they could spend several uninterrupted months campaigning for reelection. All 435 House seats will be at stake in the November voting.

Albert listed as major issues that could prolong the session: labor legislation, financing new and existing domestic programs, the war in Viet Nam and perhaps new civil rights programs.

Shastri-Khan Private Meeting May Determine Any Progress in Kashmir Conference

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan met for an hour today in a private session which officials of both countries had said might determine whether the Tashkent summit conference yields significant results.

There was no immediate indication of what transpired at the meeting. But Foreign Minister Swaran Singh and Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan of India met this afternoon with Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto of Pakistan for detailed discussion of issues Ayub and Shastri could take up later, an Indian spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, the host for the conference which opened Tuesday, was reported urging both sides to push their 18-year-old dispute over Kashmir — the chief cause of trouble between the two nations — into the background.

Kosygin met with Shastri for nearly two hours Tuesday night and again for an hour this morning. It was reported both sessions revolved around the Kashmir issue and the apparent deadlock it has caused in the conference.

KOSYGIN INTERVENED

Indian sources said Kosygin also intervened personally to persuade Shastri and Ayub not to embarrass him by bickering over Kashmir in their public speeches at the opening of the conference. Both leaders forcibly restated their positions on the Himalayan state but spoke in relatively moderate language.

Now that they have entered the India-Pakistan dispute as mediators, the Soviet leaders want to obtain agreement on at least some of the issues dividing the two South Asian neighbors. Kosygin clearly is out to solve things if he can, rather than being just an amiable host providing a new forum for old arguments. Both the Indians and Pakistanis appear to believe Kosygin will wring concessions from the other side.

★ ★ ★

Shastri's public stance at the conference is that India and Pakistan must sign a no-war pact to establish a peaceful atmosphere in which minor problems can be solved.

MAIN ISSUE

He has indicated these could include normalization of diplomatic relations, increased trade, and a cessation of propaganda attacks now flowing from both countries.

Ayub contends the Kashmir quarrel is the main issue between India and Pakistan differences and must be solved first, before any no-war agreement.

Aides of both men stated the impasse to newsmen in blunter terms.

★ ★ ★

Foreign Secretary C.S. Jha of India said his nation's sovereignty — its ownership — over Kashmir is not negotiable.

Pakistani Information Minister Altaf Gauhar said his country's relationship with India "will be constructed, or it will collapse, on the plank of Kashmir."

FBI Finds Suspect in Jail for Driving

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The FBI says a Sacramento cook jailed in Auburn, Calif., Monday on a drunken driving charge is on its 10 most wanted list.

The FBI said Lawrence J. Higgins, 52, was wanted in connection with a $774 armed robbery Feb. 15, 1965, of the Crocker Citizens National Bank of Covina, Calif.

★ ★ ★

He was to be arraigned on a federal bank robbery charge today.

Potatoes Can Be Interesting

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

After last year's short supplies and higher prices for potatoes, it is good to know that they are both plentiful and less expensive now. They are included on the USDA's list of plentiful foods for January.

Potatoes in themselves are not fattening and do provide a good source of vitamin C. The 100 calories in a medium potato are no more than in a large apple or orange. It's what you add that piles on the calories.

The best way to cook potatoes is with the skins on. If you must peel them, do it with a vegetable parer and be miserly. Don't soak them in water for any length of time before cooking.

The USDA recommends that potatoes be kept in a cool, dark, dry and well-ventilated place. Exposure to electric light for an extended period may give the skin a green tinge (safe, but unwanted.) If they sprout, potatoes are still good.

Incidentally, potatoes dug in the fall keep better than those you get later in the year.

If you're tired of baked, mashed, fried or boiled potatoes, it's time to try something like Olive Cheese Potato Bake.

Because a smooth, rich cheese sauce dresses this dish, it is best served with any meat, fish or seafood not prepared with a sauce of its own.

OLIVE CHEESE POTATO BAKE

OLIVE CHEESE POTATO BAKE

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2½ cups milk
2 cups finely chopped pasteurized process cheese
6 cups sliced or cubed cooked potatoes (4-5 potatoes)
1 cup sliced stuffed olives

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan; stir in flour, salt, and pepper. Add milk, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth and thickened. Add cheese; stir until melted.

Arrange a layer each of potatoes, olives and cheese sauce in a shallow 2-quart baking dish, using one half of the potatoes, olives, and sauce. Repeat. Place in a moderate oven (350 degrees) to heat, about 25 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

When you get home late, you'll appreciate a recipe like the following one.

LORY'S POTATOES

6 potatoes
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
chopped chives
chopped parsley

Pare and cut potatoes in six or eight wedge-shaped pieces. Boil until cooked, but not mushy. Drain well. Cover pan and shake over heat a few moments to dry potatoes.

Heat butter in small saucepan to a golden brown. Place potatoes in serving dish and cover with browned butter. Sprinkle with chives and parsley. Makes six servings.

For a potato souffle you may use instant mashed potatoes.

POTATO SOUFFLE

Instant mashed potatoes for 4 servings
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon MSG
½ teaspoon salt
6 eggs, separated

Make instant mashed potatoes according to package directions. Add onion, MSG and salt. Beat egg yolks with fork; reserve. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Stir egg yolks rapidly into potato mixture. Fold in egg whites.

Turn into 2-quart casserole and bake in a 375-degree oven 35 minutes. Serve at once. Yield: 6 servings.

Potato Cheese Souffle: Follow directions for Potato Souffle, but stir 1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese into mashed potatoes when they are removed from heat. Increase casserole size to 2½-quart and bake in 375-degree oven 35 to 40 minutes.

Catsup Is Key

When the kids bring home a gang for lunch, simply heat canned pork and beans, adding hickory flavored catsup, chopped frankfurters and shredded cheese. Hollow out hot dog buns, toast and butter; then fill with pork and bean mixture.

Ever add a little sherry to the gravy to be served with meatballs?

Add Instant Potato for Tender Rolls

For Double - Quick Potato Rolls, using a package of hot roll mix, follow the directions on the box, adding 2 tablespoons melted butter and ½ cup made-up instant mashed potato just before stirring in the flour mixture. Let rise. Shape as desired.

For Old-Fashioned Pan Rolls, shape dough, after rising, into balls about ⅓ the size desired when baked. Place close together in buttered pans; brush with butter. Let rise until nearly doubled in size. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 20 to 30 minutes. Brush with butter. Serve hot.

The power used by an electric toaster to toast one slice of bread would operate the (Accutron) clock on the control panel of Gemini 5 for 250 years.

Matter of Choice

To bake biscuits with soft, creamy-white sides, place the cut-pieces of dough close together in pan or on baking sheet; for biscuits with crisper, lightly browned sides, place at least ½ to ¾-inch apart.

Canned drained sweet cherries are good added to a molded salad made with any red-color flavored gelatin.

Dressed-Up Baked Beans Get Garnish of Tasty Bacon Curls

Bacon Curls only look complicated to make. The real trick is to cook the bacon until it is done, but not crisp. The bacon strips are thus pliable enough so they will wrap easily around the tines of a fork.

The compliments on your cleverness are ample reward for the few extra minutes required to curl the bacon.

★ ★ ★

Bacon curls bring goodness to more meals than breakfast. Take supper for example. The flavor provided by crumbled cooked bacon mingles with baked beans heating in a casserole. Additional slices of bacon are reserved for topping to show off the newly acquired skill of bacon curling.

Your guests will go for bacon curls anchored with a wooden pick and served as hot appetizers. Most of the work can be done ahead of time. The bacon is partially cooked in a skillet and then rolled and anchored with a wooden pick.

Just before serving time, the curls are transferred to a rack in a baking sheet or broiler pan. A few minutes in a 400-degree oven heats the bacon and finishes cooking it. The appetizers are hot and ready to serve.

Bacon Baked Beans

1 pound sliced bacon
2 cans (1 pound each) baked beans
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
⅛ teaspoon paprika

Cook half the bacon according to package directions. Drain on absorbent paper. Crumble bacon and combine with remaining ingredients in a 1½ quart casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes.

While beans are baking, panfry remaining bacon until done but not crisp. As each bacon slice is removed from the skillet, roll around the tines of a fork to form bacon curls.

Arrange bacon curls on top of baked beans just before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Cook Sauce Over Water

This ice cream sauce has excellent texture and consistency.

Bittersweet Chocolate Sauce

2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
¼ cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons butter

Into the top of a double boiler, turn the chocolate, confectioners sugar, cream and butter. Cook over simmering water, stirring occasionally, until smooth and thick — about 10 minutes. Serve at once. Makes about ¾ cup.

Try Hot Lettuce

Not hot western iceberg lettuce! Of course! Just rinse lettuce and tear into pieces; heat in a kettle, turning occasionally, until hot and crunchy-soft. Serve at once with a mildly tart mustard sauce. A good partner for pork.

Ever add mushrooms to creamed spinach? You can use canned mushrooms or sauteed sliced fresh ones.

BACON BAKED BEANS — Cheese and crumbles of bacon are mixed with canned baked beans before they're heated. For a garnish prepare more bacon — this time curled. You'll be considered soooo clever.

Senator Assails Insurance Chief

DETROIT (AP) — Chairman Bernard F. O'Brien of the Senate Insurance Committee says Insurance Commissioner Allen L. Mayerson may be trying to start an "advance backfire" against possible public hearing disclosures.

Firing back at Mayerson's earlier criticism, Sen. O'Brien, D-Detroit, charged Tuesday the commissioner may have been seeking to undermine today's scheduled committee hearing.

★ ★ ★

O'Brien spoke at a news conference he called in the wake of Mayerson's charges at Lansing.

Mayerson, who resigns Thursday as the state's insurance boss, called O'Brien a "clown" and said the senator could "wreck" the state's Insurance Department.

RETURNING TO U-M

The commissioner is quitting to return to his former teaching post at the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

O'Brien's Senate committee was due to begin a hearing here today on the commission and Michigan's insurance laws.

Terming Mayerson's statements "vitriolic and unwarranted," O'Brien said:

"I wonder if his bosses were so worried about what may be disclosed at this hearing that they should have him start an advance backfire.

ENOUGH REASON

"That's enough reason for him to attempt to undermine my actions. We may get too close to some things inside the insurance commission.

O'Brien did not elaborate on what he meant by Mayerson's "bosses." Mayerson was appointed by Gov. George Romney.

★ ★ ★

Peter Bill Sr., aide to O'Brien and Senate committee investigator, was defended by O'Brien against charges by Mayerson.

O'Brien said Bill came to his committee job on a recommendation from President Johnson. He said he heard no objections to Bill in the months of his employ until Mayerson's.

Bill, present at the news conference, termed Mayerson's statements "half-truths."

HIM AND THEM—Him, President Johnson's pet beagle, sits beside the basket with his five offspring on the south lawn of the White House yesterday as the puppies make their Washington debut. The pups, all females, were born Oct. 21 to a Texas beagle named Brigette. The only male in the litter of six was given to Dr. R. Benton Smith, the Austin, Tex., veterinarian who owns Brigette.

Hong Kong Mum on Report

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong government declined to comment today on a U.S. State Department report that the bulk of the ships carrying traffic to and from North Viet Nam are coastal freighters registered in Hong Kong.

★ ★ ★

However, sources close to the government pointed out that the Hong government exercises no control over the destination of ships leaving Hong Kong harbor.

★ ★ ★

These sources said that Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port and the only port reportedly being used by Hong Kong ships, is not classified as an enemy port and neither are Communist Chinese ports.

GI Thanks State for Yule Gift

Letter to Hare Praises Public Actions, Aid

LANSING (UPI) — A Michigan paratrooper serving in Viet Nam has sent a letter of thanks and praise to the people of Michigan for a special Christmas package.

He is Pfc. Robert J. Bausack, 23, Flint, who was one of thousands of Michigan servicemen to receive a package from home through the "Christmas in Viet Nam" project launched by Gov. Romney.

In his letter, sent to Secretary of State James M. Hare, and dated Nov. 29 at Bein Hoa, Viet Nam, Bausack said:

"Dear people of Michigan:

I am writing to thank all of you for the package that you sent me, also to praise the people of Michigan for their actions and support. These packages were great morale builders, even though the morale over here is high to begin with, a boost helps once in a while to keep it high. I also want you to know that when I sat down to open the package some of my buddies looked on with admiration. I sat there for awhile and just looked at it and no one prompted me to open it and I knew they were thinking what I was; in that package are the thoughts and best wishes of all the people of Michigan. It made me proud to be from Michigan and proud to be serving a country with such a big heart.

Sincerely,
Robert J. Bausack"

★ ★ ★

In a postscript, Bausack asked that the newspaper print the letter.

ONE OF 8 CHILDREN

Bausack is one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Arthur Bausack. Another son, Raymond Arthur Bausack, 21, is serving with the Marine Corps in Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The elder Bausack is a machine operator for AC Sparkplug in Flint.

JCs to Pick Up Yule Trees in Waterford Twp.

The Waterford Township Jaycees announced today they will pick up residents' Christmas trees Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Four trucks will be used to complete the project, according to Roy Linn, chairman, who emphasized that trees should be at the curb.

Pickup by area includes: South of Pontiac Lake Road, Friday and Saturday; north of Pontiac Lake Road, Sunday.

Linn said that the trees will be placed in a pile on the northwest corner of Crescent Lake Road and M59 and burned at 7 p.m. Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Residents also may bring their trees to the burning site.

Construction Deaths in State Down in 1965

LANSING (AP) — Michigan construction fatalities were down 31 per cent last year from 1964 despite an increase in employment, reports the State Construction Safety Commission.

There were 39 known fatalities in 1965 compared to 57 in 1964. The figures do not include deaths in vehicle accidents away from the construction site or heart attacks.

Dedicated Inebriate

STROUD, England (UPI) — Ludovic Koklys, 57, has been fined $14 on his 44th conviction on charges of being drunk.

'Should Be Interesting'

Chaplin Film Puzzles Brando

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "It should be an interesting experience," said Marlon Brando, an expression of doubt appearing on his classic features.

THOMAS

The actor was speaking of his next film venture, "The Countess from Hong Kong." It promises to be one of the most noteworthy of recent movies, inasmuch as he will costar with Sophia Loren and both will be directed by Charlie Chaplin.

★ ★ ★

The odd combination of talents has caused wonderment in the film world, and the feeling is shared by Brando.

Has the script been written?

"Well, yes," said Brando hesitantly. "That is, he sent me one. But then he sent a message later telling me to disregard the previous script as he was writing an entirely new one."

Why is Brando doing the film?

"Because Chaplin asked me," he explained. "When a man of his stature in the industry writes a script for you, you can hardly refuse. Why he should think of me for a comedy, I haven't the faintest idea. But he said I was the only one who could play it."

Brando added with a grin: "I and Sean Connery, I guess. I understand Chaplain also had Connery on the hook, in case I didn't come through."

The deal for "The Countess from Hong Kong" resulted from the labors of Jay Kanter, longtime Brando agent and friend. Now a top executive of MCA, parent of Universal Pictures, Kanter recently assumed control of the company's European filming. He sounded out Chaplin, who disclosed he had been writing a new comedy for two years.

Kanter arranged a summit meeting between Brando and Chaplin in London.

It was the first time Brando had met the comedy master, and they apparently got along well. Brando has met his costar, Miss Loren, only briefly at a long-ago Hollywood event.

The actor seemed a bit mystified by the whole project. I asked if he could briefly summarize the plot.

"No," he replied.

"I play an American, a man from an aristocratic family, well-dressed but wan, tired — not jaded, but archly bemused by the world at large. He is married and is trying for an important government post, an ambassadorship. No, maybe it's secretary of state.

"The appointment comes through, but he gets himself involved with a woman, a white Russian. She stows away in his cabin on an ocean liner, and he spends most of the time trying to keep her hidden."

Tourists Leave Swiss Resort Hit by Avalanche

ZERMATT, Switzerland (AP) — Hundreds of tourists poured out of this ski resort by train today after being isolated by an avalanche for 36 hours.

The avalanche crashed down on Zermatt's railway station early Tuesday. The railway and road which provide the only public access to the resort were closed by the authorities, who feared further snowslides.

★ ★ ★

A temporary station was set up about 800 yards down the line today and five trains brought the stranded tourists down the valley. About 6,000 winter sports visitors were in the resort when the avalanche struck.

Persons needing to leave urgently were evacuated Tuesday by helicopter.

TIME FLASHES BY — Kathy Burns of General Electric holds 35 years of photo flashbulb progress: the tiny AG-3B and a giant ancester, largest flashbulb ever made. Ten billion flashbulbs have been produced since 1930.

Camera Angles

GE Made 1st Flashbulbs

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Today's photo fans casually accept the ease and convenience of shooting with tiny flashbulbs with every type of camera.

It's worth noting, as 1965 becomes history and a new year starts, that the first flashbulb was introduced in the United States 35 years ago by General Electric and that the 10 billionth flashbulb popped off one of their production lines about the time you read this.

Actually, that 10 billionth lamp was a member of a quartet since it was in a four-shot flashcube, the newest device containing four tiny, all glass flashbulbs.

"Bottled sunshine" wasn't always that easy or convenient to use. Before 1930, flash pictures were set off by a triggered spark which ignited a pan of explosive magnesium powder held high overhead by photographers whose motto was: "Live dangerously!"

This was always followed by a roomful of acrid smoke and, occasionally, by a three-alarm fire when the exposure guess was too generous.

TRADEMARK

The first flashbulbs of 35 years ago, about the size of a modern 150-watt household of professional and newspaper photographers.

Compared with flash powder, they were quiet, safe, effective, uniform in light output and usable in rain or high wind, anytime in any place.

In the years that followed, they became more powerful, much smaller, even safer and far less expensive.

Amateur photographers started getting into the flash picture after 1939 when midget flashbulbs with a bayonet-type base were introduced.

SNAPPED QUICKLY

These snapped quickly in and out of flash units as compared with those with a screw-on base.

The next big step in miniaturization and convenience came in 1953 with the peanut-size M2 flashbulb with its push-in base — no need to position or turn.

And with each improvement came smaller and easier-to-use flash units or cameras with built-in synchronized flash units.

Each package of flashbulbs contains a table of flash-exposure guide numbers. They take into account: the light output of the lamp, the shutter speed, the type of film being used and the flash reflector.

After determining the guide number by what he is using, a camera fan can set the lens opening for proper exposure by dividing the guide number by the distance of the subject.

Example: With a guide number of 80 and a subject 10 feet away, the lens opening should be set to f-80.

It's a good idea for photo fans to standardize on one type of film in color and black-and-white and on one type of flashbulbs.

Then they can compute a simple table for the combination of film-and-flashbulb for a close-up distance of five or six feet, for a full-length at eight or 10 feet and a group shot at 15 feet.

TAPED TO REFLECTOR

This table can be taped to the back of the reflector for quick reference on all flash pictures.

To maintain good flash performance, some attention must be given to flash equipment.

★ ★ ★

They should be checked periodically and replaced before a trip or some important event is to be photographed. Keeping a spare set of fresh batteries handy is always a good safeguard.

CHECK FLASH CONTACTS

Flash contacts should also be checked, cleaned and tightened periodically. If you drop a bulb and crack the glass, don't take a chance and fire it.

It may explode. And don't burn your fingers handling a hot bulb. Use the lamp ejector gadget.

★ ★ ★

To avoid a flash bounce-back, make sure you don't fire directly into a mirror, glass or shiny surface. Change your position so that the reflecting surface is at an oblique angle, not head-on.

Showdown Looms Between Dominican Rebels, Government

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A showdown loomed today between the Dominican rebel movement and the provisional government over the nation's military chiefs.

There were indications, however, that Santo Domingo might remain quiet until after celebration of the Feast of the Magi Thursday, traditional end of the Christmas season.

★ ★ ★

What happens after that depends on how student, labor and professional ranks react to an attack on the government by two important political figures — former President Juan Bosch, head of the Dominican Revolutionary party, and Hector Aristy, one of the closest advisers of the leader of the April rebellion, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno.

The two censured provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy for not taking a firmer stand against the military leaders in his report Monday on the Dec. 19 battle between former rebel fighters and regular army troops in Santiago. A dozen men were killed.

ASK DISMISSAL

The faction represented by Aristy and Bosch has been clamoring for the dismissal of the military chiefs since the April revolution. They accuse the military leaders of wantonly bombing the city during the revolt and of instigating the Santiago incident. The military has rejected the charges.

In his radio-television broadcast Monday, Garcia-Godoy said his government was in no position to decide who was responsible for the outbreak in Santiago. He implied there was guilt on both sides.

★ ★ ★

He announced that an "important number" of rebel and army officers would be sent abroad on study and diplomatic missions. Authoritative sources said 30 officers ranging in rank up to colonel were involved.

Garcia-Godoy said Monday they would leave within a few hours. But they had not left last night, and there were reports that he was considering including some higher ranking men.

REMARKS PRAISED

Officials of the Organization of American States and some diplomats praised the president's remarks as moderate and statesmanlike. Rebel followers saw it as a repudiation of their demand for dismissal of the military high command.

Aristy at a news conference exhorted workers, students and the professional class to peaceful "demonstrations" against the government, the Dominican euphemism for strikes.

Bosch said in a communique that Garcia-Godoy's statement gave "unlimited authorization for the republic to fall into anarchy since without legitimate authorities to impose law and order, each person will be forced to defend himself with whatever means at his disposal."

U. S. Fires Kill 12,000 in 1965

Property Damage Is Put at $1.7 Billion

BOSTON (AP) — Fire killed some 12,000 persons in the United States and destroyed property estimated at more than $1.7 billion during 1965, the National Fire Protection Association said today.

The death toll was up about 100 over 1964 and close to the record of 12,100 in 1954.

The property damage estimate of $1.76 billion was more than $100 million higher than in 1964. It approached the all-time high of $1.788 billion set in 1963.

The association also cited a "significant increase" in fires set deliberately, but gave no figures.

HOME FIRES

Deaths in home fires reached some 6,500 persons in 1965, including 2,100 children. There were 6,550 such deaths in 1964.

Property damage last year included some $1.5 billion in damage to buildings and contents. This accounted for about $93.5 million of the $100 million increase over last year.

★ ★ ★

Other fires — including aircraft, ship, motor vehicle and forest fires—cost about $306 million.

The worst U.S. fire tragedy in 1965, the association said, was in an underground missile silo near Searcy, Ark., on Aug. 9. Fifty-three workmen were trapped. A hydraulic line ruptured during welding and oil ignited.

The biggest property loss came on Jan. 5 near Freeport, Fla., when fire started in electronic equipment in a nearly completed space tracking station, causing more than $15 million damage.

Water Rates Boosted

SOUTH HAVEN (AP)—A 25 per cent across-the-board increase in water rates has been voted by City Council. It increases the standby charge for residential use to $30 from the present rate of $24.

How to Save on Taxes—3

List All but Expressly Exempt Income

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third of a 14-part series, "Cut Your Own Taxes," by tax expert Ray De Crane, designed to help readers save money on their income tax returns.)

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Unless it is expressly exempt by law, all income you receive is taxable and as such must be reported on your income tax return. Some income is fully exempt; some is exempt in part.

Here are examples of taxable income:

Salary, wages, tips, bonuses, interest, net rents, hobby income, royalties, alimony (taxable to wife, deductible by husband), business and professional net income, gambling winnings (deduct losses only to the extent of winnings), directors fees, jury duty fees, dividends (subject to $100 exclusion), supplementary unemployment benefits, severance pay.

Here are examples of nontaxable income:

Accident and health insurance proceeds, casualty insurance proceeds, gifts, bequests, inheritances, railroad retirement act pensions, rental allowances of clergymen, scholarship and fellowship grants, social security payments, unemployment compensation, veterans' benefits, workmen's compensation, subsistence, uniform and quarters allowances for armed forces personnel, military mustering out pay.

★ ★ ★

Theer are special rulings in almost every circumstance which can make part of a payment taxable or nontaxable. For example, the widow who receives death benefit payments from her husband's employer may exclude up to $5,000 of the death benefit from income. The remainder if any is taxable.

INTEREST RECEIVED

Note that interest received is taxable, but interest received on bonds issued by a municipality, state or political subdivision thereof is specifically exempt from tax.

That would include bonds issued by a port authority, toll road commission and state industrial development bonds. Also interest received on life insurance paid by reason of death of a spouse is excludable up to $1,000 annually.

Interest received on U.S. government Series E. bonds is taxable but the owner has the option of reporting the annual interest or of waiting until the bond is redeemed.

At that time the amount is the difference between the purchase price and the redemption price; for example, the $6.25 which has been earned on a $25 bond which was purchased for $18.75.

All interest received on a savings account, regardless of how small, should be reported. Even though it may be listed as a dividend, the amount received for deposits in a credit union or a savings and loan association is treated as interest.

The dividends received on life insurance policies generally are not taxable. They are regarded as a partial return of your own money which has been paid in premiums.

However, if the dividends are permitted to remain on deposit with the insurance company the amount earned on them is treated as taxable interest.

★ ★ ★

Note that alimony paid in accordance with a court order is taxable to the wife and deductible by the husband. Child support payments made under the court order, however, are neither taxable nor deductible.

If such payments constitute the chief support of the child, the divorced husband lists the child as a dependent on his return. In this way an $1,800 yearly support payment may entitle the father to a single dependency credit worth $600 on his return.

(Next: Employe's business expense.)

'Detroit Needs Double Funds for Quality Schools'

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit would have to double its school budget over the next 10 years in order to provide "quality education" equal to that of best suburban schools, a Board of Education report said Tuesday.

A board "blueprint for quality education" said the total cost of improvements over the 10 years would be $1,704,000,000, or $107 million annually. The present budget is $170 million.

Most expensive of the listed items would be reduction of average class size from 32 to 25 and smaller classes for handicapped children This would require 6,200 more teachers. Detroit now has 10,000 teachers for its 295,000 public school pupils.

Jobless Rate Down

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An average unemployment rate of 2.35 per cent for 1965, the best mark since the Grand Rapids branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission began keeping records, was reported Tuesday for the Greater Grand Rapids labor market which includes Kent and Ottawa counties.

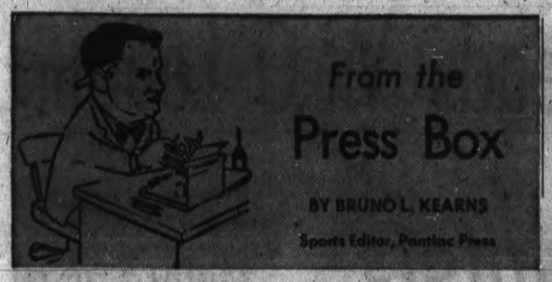
Mikemen, St. Fred Remain Tied for MCL Lead



Port Huron has what Pontiac needs and there are numerous sports and civic minded businessmen around the city who feel the "climate is perfect" to get the ball rolling for the sports and recreation center, which has been often talked about.

As noted in the story on this page from our friend Ed Senyczko of the Port Huron Times Herald, his city near the lake with a population less than half of Pontiac's, and with a city-urban area one-fifth in size, is blessed with an arena-auditorium which is a tribute to the city and its activities' program.

Just recently, as noted in his story, Port Huron opened a second arena, strictly for junior hockey to complement the $1,300,000 McMorran Sports Arena.

In Port Huron, the arena is used for numerous events, with hockey as biggest city-sponsored recreation program.

We asked at least 30 leading names in business, sports and civic activities their opinions for the need of such a facility in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Not one negative reply was received.

"Such an asset would be the greatest thing for the city," was the consensus reply.

"The needs, the climate and economic conditions and the interest of the people are perfect," said Hud Powers, long-time active in civic, business and sports affairs of the city.

Ralph Norvell, businessman who was active when the civic auditorium plans were discussed 10 years ago, said, "This would be the most tremendous thing for the city. I firmly believe, life is briskly returning for Pontiac and a sports center as such in the beautiful civic area would be the best injection."

NEIGHBORLY RETURN

"The conditions are perfect. Give the people something they can use for sports, recreation and social activities, a place they can enjoy after their tough work schedules and we will bring back the good neighbor feeling which has been disappearing here as in many cities," said Phil Sauer, former mayor and local businessman.

With the closing of the Pontiac Armory to the public, the last site available for staging minor small-capacity events, there are no existing facilities left for large public gatherings and events.

★ ★ ★

The sports and activities center in the minds of the many proponents would be a miniature Rockefeller Plaza, with all-purpose year-long facilities, indoor and outdoor, lined with trees, parking, picnic area, with activities available from shuffleboard to table tennis and from hockey, basketball to horseshoes.

The structure would house everything from banquets to a city hall of fame room.

The names of many Pontiac area sports and civic figures could be enshrined in a corner of such a center.

"It stimulates the imagination with excitement to envision such a center," agreed Powers, Norvell, Sauer and Min Osmun, Bob Oliver, Mutt Morse, Ken Cumberworth, Paul Parks, Robert Sauer, John Abel, Joe Bonfiglio, and many, many others asked to comment.

★ ★ ★

Powers scoffed at the negative idea that Pontiac's closeness to Detroit makes Detroit's facilities easily available.

"This is a self-sustaining autonomous city which has 40,000 production workers, 30,000 school children and a payroll of over $500 million with a desperate need for such a facility. Very few people are keen on driving 25 miles and through downtown Detroit for spectator activities," Powers commented.

We would venture to say the affirmatives on Powers' side would number a 1,000 to one.

FOUR GAMES AT ONCE — The Port Huron McMorran Sports Arena ice surface has been marked off in such a manner that four Mites Division hockey games are being played at same time. The heavy demand for ice time makes it necessary to employ this method of playing games. A second arena was recently opened to handle the Port Huron hockey program.

Hockey Program 2nd in State

Arena Is Life of Port Huron

By ED SENYCZKO
Sports Editor,
Port Huron Times Herald

PORT HURON — What a small group of youngsters started on a vacant lot in 1955 has become practically a new way of life for this Blue Water Area community of 35,000.

From late October through April boys from ages six through 21, under the direction of the Port Huron Minor Hockey Association, participate in a city-wide hockey program which has no equal.

★ ★ ★

From that 1955 beginning where a group of 11 boys began learning the game of hockey on a flooded, frozen lot, the Minor Hockey Association program has grown to where today it is the second largest organized amateur hockey program in the state. Only Detroit has more boys playing hockey.

There are 900 boys playing hockey in two arenas, both gifts to the City of Port Huron from the Henry McMorran Memorial Foundation.

The McMorran Sports Arena, a lavish building, equipped with the latest type of ice plant, was built in 1962 for $1,300,000. Another Junior Arena, costing $709,000 was completed in October.

"We had to have the two arenas," Howard C. Radford, manager of the arena - auditorium complex, said, "because of the demand for ice time."

★ ★ ★

The PHMHA is planning to spend over $17,000 for ice time during this season. "And that's not quite enough time for the youngsters," William H. Brahany Jr., president of the association said.

Nothing, not even Little League Baseball took hit this community with the intensity of interest as minor hockey has.

It's not an uncommon sight to see a six-year-old boy, with his equipment draped over his hockey stick, which he carries over his shoulder, trudge to the arena for practice or a game at 6 a.m. Saturday morning.

"We try to give each of the divisions one hour of practice time and an hour for playing games," Brahany explained.

DIFFERENT AGES

The different age groups are: Mites (6 to 8), Squirts (8 to 10), Pee Wees (10 to 12), Bantams (12 to 14), Midgets (14 to 15) and Juveniles (16 to 17).

There is a Senior Men's Amateur league for boys who have "graduated" from the minor association; and a Slo - Puck League for 'oldsters' who want to keep skating and playing hockey at a slowed down pace.

A girls league has also been organized and the four-team circuit has games one night a week.

All teams in the minor hockey program are sponsored and uniformed. Association officers and coaches serve without pay and the association itself is a nonprofit organization.

The association's operational funds are raised through player registration fees, sponsors' fees, program advertising, minor hockey night program and yearbook sales.

★ ★ ★

The more experienced players in each of the divisions are selected to play in tournaments in Canada. In 1961 Port Huron Pee Wee, Bantam and Juvenile teams won Michigan Amateur Hockey Association Lower Peninsula tournament titles.

Port Huron Catholic High played in the International High School Hockey League last year, finished second to Ann Arbor High in regular season play, and won the playoff title.

★ ★ ★

Such enthusiasm abounds in this Lake Huron community, which has as its neighbor to the east Sarnia, Ont., that Silver Stick Hockey Tournament, started in Ottawa, Ont., has been movde permanently to Port Huron and each year teams from Canada and Michigan compete in a Pee Wee, Bantam and Bantam division tournament which, some say, one day will rival the Little League World series.

A team, representing Port Huron in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior C Shamrock League, is composed of graduates of the minor hockey association, and is currently tied for the league lead, playing against six teams from Canada.

GET FRANCHISE

When the McMorran Sports Arena was completed in 1962, John F. Wismer, co-owner of radio station WHLS, purchased a franchise in the International Hockey League, and in three years the team, Port Huron Flags, climbed from fifth place to third place and last year won regular season championship.

★ ★ ★

This year, the team, playing in the smallest community in the league, has the most season ticket holders. The team has been playing before an average of 2,300 fans per game, including 1,000 season ticketholders.

Interest in hockey is so great that prep coaches are hard put to keep athletes interested in playing basketball. In several instances boys who could very easily play varsity basketball have elected to play hockey instead.

Hockey is supposed to be the national sport of Canada, but in Port Huron it's even a bigger attraction.

Pros Now Talking Terms With Alabama QB Sloan

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan, virtually ignored in the professional football leagues' big-money drafts, now has at least three clubs clamoring for his services.

A record-shattering performance as he led the Crimson Tide to a 39-28 victory over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl — and the national championship, put Sloan in the position of being able to demand a husky bonus.

The 6-foot, 185-pound senior from Cleveland, Tenn., was selected in the 12th round of the National Football League draft by the new Atlanta Falcons. But the American Football League clubs completely ignored him.

However, that is all changed now. And Sloan, who said 'his boyhood ambition was to be a policeman, is listening to offers from the Falcons and at least two AFL teams that apparently would assure his security for many years.

SENIOR BOWL

Sloan is in Mobile for the Senior Bowl game, but he has yet to work out with the South squad due to severely bruised ribs suffered in the New Year's night game.

"The ribs are still sore," Sloan said Tuesday. "I just don't know whether I will play or not."

A steady drizzle has kept Sloan and the other All-Stars indoors during their spare time since coming to Mobile. That makes it easier for Sloan to answer the numerous phone calls he receives from all over the country wishing him well and tryng to entice him to sign a pro contract.

"I won't make any decision until after the Senior Bowl," Sloan said concerning his pro plans. "I'm in no hurry."

Atlanta announced Monday that Alabama teammate Tommy Tolleson had come to terms with the NFL team.

"I think that's just great," said Sloan. He inquired as to the unrevealed terms of Tolleson's contract, but gave no indication whether the signing of Tolleson (who was one of his favorite targets at Alabama) would influence his decision.

Karate Club Is Organized

A Korean Karate Club has been organized and has set up offices at 5 South Saginaw next to the Eagle Theatre.

Meetings are held each Monday and Thursday at 8:00 p.m. and all those interested in the sport of "Moo Duk Kwan Tang Soo Do" are welcome to attend.

Clubs also located in Royal Oak and Detroit and members of one club are permitted to use the facilities of the other clubs on other meeting nights.

Double Figure Scorers Too Much for Armada

Armada could not cope with four double-figure shooters from Marysville and consequently lost a 78-48 decision.

It was 43-25 at halftime after a 16-16 first period. Jay Weymouth led Marysville with 17 while Dave Shaw had 15 for the losers.

RO Shrine Edges St. Ambrose Five

Royal Oak Shrine held off a St. Ambrose last period rally to gain a 66-64 victory last night, paced by Rick Chudy's 21 points.

Shrine held a 31-24 halftime lead and never fell behind as Ambrose made its final bucket as the gun sounded.

Bob Turner helped Chudy with 13 while Gary Nowak led St. Ambrose with 20.

Russian Speed Skate Champion Stabbing Victim

MOSCOW (AP) — Inga Voronina, the women's world speed skating champion, has died a "tragic death," Tass reported today.

★ ★ ★

The Tass Sports Department gave this answer when asked about a report that the 29-year-old Soviet skating star had been found stabbed to death in her apartment.

A sports editor confirmed that the death occurred Tuesday but refused to give any other details.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Voronina, of Moscow, won the women's world speed skating championship in 1957, 1958, 1962 and 1965. She was married to a skater, Gennady Voronina.

Pro Golf Tour Starts Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The professional golfing wars start anew today for 1966 with a pro-amateur prelude to the $70,000 Los Angeles Open.

This is the 40th annual Los Angeles fixture which kicks off the tournament winter campaign each year, and with several notable exceptions, the nation's leading shotmakers are on hand.

★ ★ ★

Today's exercise carries an additional $5,000 loot to be split by the pros.

Prominent in the picture is Paul Harney, the surprise winner of the last two tournaments here, and the challenging names of Bill Casper, Jr., Arnold Palmer, Tony Lema and other name stars.

ONE VICTORY

Palmer has registered but one tournament triumph in the past 18 months. It came in the 1965 Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas.

Missing from the tournament, however, are Gary Player of South Africa, the 1965 U.S. Open champion, and the fearsome Jack Nicklaus, last year's leading money winner who makes a point of skipping this event each winter.

IMPROVEMENT FORMULA — Alex Billesdon (left) and Mrs. William Mullen receive the most-improved golfer awards at Orchard Lake Country Club from club pro Tommy Shannon. Billesdon said his improvement formula is very simple, "Play every day rain or shine."

OLCC Golfer Learns Practice to Improve

Alex Billesdon of Lathrup Village, a member of Orchard Lake Country Club, is an accomplished tennis player and has often enjoyed the courts at OLCC.

Just a few months ago, in August, he decided to take up golf. In his first 18 hole round he fired a 126 and before he finished his short season in October he was down to 89.

As result, Billesdon received the club's most-improved golfer award.

Among the women members, Mrs. William Mullen of Orchard Lake, a twice-weekly player, received the award from head pro Tommy Shannon.

★ ★ ★

In accepting the award from Shannon, Billesdon said, "From August first, I played golf six days a week, rain or shine, and if anyone didn't improve at this rate, then they should quit."

He plays lefthanded.

Skating Meet for Canada

SASKATOON (AP) — The North American Olympic style speed skating champiinships will be here Feb. 12-13, the first time the event has been skated in Canada.

Eugene Hearn of Saskatoon, a national coach with the Canadian Amateur Speed Skating Association and publicity chairman of the meet, said a 400-meter track here meets all Olympic specifications.

Saskatoon was awarded the championships over a bid from Flint, Mich.

WMU Coach Resigns Post

Boven to Yield Cage Reigns After Season

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Don Boven, head basketball coach at Western Michigan University, resigned Tuesday effective at the end of the current season, one day before the Broncos start their Mid-America Conference season.

Boven, who compiled a 68-98 record in eight seasons with WMU, asked to be reassigned within the physical education department at the school.

★ ★ ★

Athletic Director Mike Gary said Boven did not resign because of pressure but wrote a lengthy letter of resignation last week asking to be shifted.

The Broncos, who open their league season at home tonight against Ohio University, have won two of their five pre-season games including a triumph over Michigan State.

★ ★ ★

Boven never has had a .500 season as head coach of the Broncos and the team's performance under him has been filled with stunning upsets followed by gigantic letdowns.

After beating the Spartans, Western Michigan dropped a decision to Central Michigan, not rated on a par with Mid-America Conference schools.

Monbouquette Signs Contract With Bengals

DETROIT (AP) — Pitcher Bill Monbouquette, formerly of the Boston Red Sox, signed his contract with the Detroit Tigers today.

The Tigers, who acquired Monbouquette from the Red Sox in a three-player deal after the end of the American League season last year, did not disclose the terms for the veteran right-hander.

★ ★ ★

Detroit also announced the signing of veteran second baseman Jerry Lumpe, infielder Dick Tracewski and outfielder Jim Northrup, bringing to 11 the number of players now under contract for 1966.

Monbouquette, mainstay of the Boston pitching staff, was acquired by Detroit in exchange for outfielder George Thomas and infield George Smith.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers figure on 29-year-old Monbouquette as a regular starter. He has a 96-91 lifetime record in the American League.

Rams Rally for 61-51 Triumph at St. Rose; St. Augustine Upset

Pontiac's St. Frederick and St. Michael remained tied for first place in the Macomb Catholic League Tuesday night following wins, while idle Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes' position improved.

St. Mike trimmed New Baltimore St. Mary at Kennedy JHS, 77-48, while St. Fred's basketball team visited Detroit St Rose and won, 61-51.

Marine City Holy Cross surprised host Richmond St. Augustine, 70-57, dropping the latter from its third - place tie with Waterford OLL.

In the Northwest Parochial Division of the Catholic League, Orchard Lake St. Mary was idle and fell from a share of first place to third place as Highland Park St. Benedict and Royal Oak St. Mary were victorious.

St. Ben ripped Detroit St. Rita, 77-44, and RO St. Mary dumped Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, 85-68.

TOP GAME

Mike Thornberry, who plays his best against New Baltimore St. Mary, led St. Michael's win. He scored 17 points while filling in for an ailing starter. Senior Mike Buller added 10 for his best effort. The visitors' Don Hartner netted 25.

Thornberry scored 19 (his career high) in the season opening win at New Baltimore.

St. Fred's 36-21 halftime lead evaporated at St. Rose as the home team fought back to a 45-all tie. Then Tom Wright, Mike Novotney and Mark Brasch — who all finished with 11 points — each scored a field goal as the Rams pulled away in the final period.

Tony Orlando's 25 points for St. Rose led all scorers. The top St. Fred scorer was Tony Bellesario with 14. The Rams are 7-1 over-all and St. Mike is 6-1.

Insurance Quintet Posts City Win

Only one game was played on a light Tuesday night men's recreation basketball schedule and that saw Coulacos Insurance whip the All-Stars, 58-35, at Madison Junior High School.

The opening game of the city International League twin bill was a forfeit win for Autobahn Motors over the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital team.

Clarence Beers hit 12 points and Bud Hayward 11 in the win which was the opening game of the I-L campaign. The losers were paced by Marshall Bishop's 14 and Ed DeRoeck's 13.

Tonight, Waterford Township has a class A triple-header at Pierce JHS, and the Pontiac American and National leagues have twin bills at Pontiac Northern HS and Lincoln JHS, all tipping off at 7 p.m.

Thursday's township Class C triple-header will be at Kettering HS and not Crary JHS as reported in yesterday's Press.

Inter-Lakes Quintets Await Loop Debuts

A lot could be known about the Inter-Lakes basketball race after Friday night's opening games.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Northern's struggling defending champion Huskies will visit Walled Lake which has fallen apart after winning an overtime season - opening game against Plymouth.

Farmington, the team that could be the real darkhorse in the race, will travel to Waterford whose coach Bob Taylor has hopes the Skippers will begin to approach their potential.

PNH has won only once in five starts this season but the Northern quintet has a history of growing healthy against I-L competition, as reflected by their five championship trophies in six years.

★ ★ ★

Coach Dick Hall has an inexperienced starting unit that has been learning by trying unsuccessfully to play around its mistakes. However, the Huskies have displayed talent and could mold themselves into a team shortly.

KEY INJURY

Walled Lake, meanwhile, lost a key player when senior Russ Streeter had knee surgery. The Vikings (1-6) have failed to make 20 per cent of the field goal tries since the opening win, and are playing without floor leadership.

Coach Ken Butler admits he is on the verge of promoting possibly two junior varsity players and going with an inexperienced lineup, similar to Hall's situation.

Farmington is the only I-L quintet with a winning record at the moment (4-3) and the Falcons — while not a tall team — may have enough shooting talent to offset their lack of rebounding.

★ ★ ★

Waterford's Taylor brought the Skippers through a rough December schedule with a 2-3 mark, has a fine scorer in Rick Ziem and isn't ready to concede to any loop foe.

The big question is have the Skippers come far enough in winning two of their last three starts to handle the visiting Falcons, arch-rival Kettering, and PNH in an eight-day period.

Time Figures in Races for Groves, Seaholm 5's

Time may be the enemy of Birmingham Groves but coach Lew Parry at Birmingham Seaholm is hoping it has enabled him to save what looms as a disastrous season.

Groves' 6-0 record is the best high school basketball mark in the county. The Falcons are averaging 71 points per game and have scored less than 70 only in their opener.

★ ★ ★

They, however, will enter Friday's home game with North Farmington lacking game action in three weeks. Their visitors also have been idle during that time, but the Raiders were a big early season disappointment and needed time to regroup.

A North Farmington win would provide it with a giant morale boost and put the Raiders back into Northwest Suburban AA contention.

Oak Park will visit Detroit Thurston and Wayne Glenn will go to coleader Livonia Franklin in other Friday action.

OTHER LOOP

Meanwhile, Parry at Seaholm has drilled the Maples during the holiday break hoping to end their winless string in the Southeastern Michigan Association race at two.

★ ★ ★

The Brimingham squad is 2-4 over-all and will entertain Royal Oak Kimball in one of three loop tilts Friday night.

Unbeaten Ferndale will travel to dangerous Hazel Park; and coleader Southfield, its only loss coming in a holiday tournament, will play host to Berkley, runner-up in the same tournament.

Both Kimball (3-3) and Seaholm haven't shown potent offenses; but with better defensive work, each could have a winning mark. The Knights are 1-1 in the SEMA and need a win to stay in the race.

Hazel Park has one of the top performers in the county in John Canine and poses a serious problem to Ferndale's current success string.

★ ★ ★

Emmanuel Christian of Pontiac will visit Country Day of Birmingham in the third start for each. The Lancers will be looking for their first win while Country Day is unbeaten.

Tom Lind, who shoots free throws like a shot putter, scored five of six free throws in the final minute to give Lutheran East a 53-51 victory over Oak Park last night.

Lutheran led 49-45 with 1:25 to play, and Oak Park netted three free throws on a technical and a 1-1 situation to make it 49-48.

Each time Oak Park moved within one, Lind dropped his free throws including the final two which made it 53-50.

Ed Holloman had 17 for Oak Park and Paul Schneider had 15 for Lutheran.

Lakers Defeat Milford, 86-60

Oxford, Ortonville Suffer Setbacks

West Bloomfield's Lakers took advantage of idleness on the part of Northville last night to move in front in the Wayne-Oakland League race.

The Lakers knocked off Milford, 86-60, to run their W-O mark to 4-0. Northville, idle last night, holds down second place with a 3-0 record.

Elsewhere on last night's schedule, Oxford (2-4) dropped a 62-42 decision to Flint St. Michael, Ortonville fell to Lake Fenton, 72-58, and North Branch raced to a 92-63 victory over Brown City.

West Bloomfield jumped out in front early in the contest and held a 42-31 lead at intermission. Milford never threatened in the second half.

Greg Hepinstall sparked the Lakers with 20 points while Don Hill tossed in 17 to pace Milford (1-4).

COLD NIGHT

Oxford shot only 17 per cent from the floor in falling behind 14-6 after one period and 31-17 at halftime. After three periods the margin was 56-25.

Roger Miller was the one double figure scorer for the Wildcats with 17, while Flint St. Mike had Steve Manville with 17 and Dennis Fuerstein and Lee Paavola with 14 each.

Numerous floor violations kept Ortonville off stride throughout the loss to Lake Fenton.

The winners held a 36-23 lead at halftime and were never in trouble in the closing half. The loss left Ortonville with a 3-2 record.

★ ★ ★

Wayne Brosseau collected 13 points and Barrie Hawley added 12 to spark Ortonville. Darrell Kane led all scorers with 18 for Lake Fenton.

Norm Edwards tossed in 21 points and teammate Mike Campbell added 20 for North Branch, (3-2) which broke open a tight game with 38 points in the fourth quarter.

Mark Bechtel paced the Brown City (0-5) attack with 21 markers.

LAKER IN CONTROL — West Bloomfield center Tim Moller (23) has a firm grip on basketball during last night's game with Milford. Teammate Bill Burt (21) screens out the visitors' John Griffin and Milford's Greg Soltysiak (51) maintains a close eye on the determined Moller. The host Lakers, also grabbed sole possession of first place in the Wayne-Oakland League race with an 86-60 conquest.

Two Ineligible Players Cloud Sun Bowl Tilt

Texas Western Pair Played in 13-12 Win Over TCU Eleven

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Two Texas Western football players were ineligible when they played in the New Year's Eve Sun Bowl game against Texas Christian, reports George McCarthy, Texas Western athletic director.

He said a decision whether or not to forfeit the game would be announced at a news conference today.

McCarthy said Tuesday night that end Bob Wallace and linebacker Fred Carr were eligible for season play but ineligible for the post-season El Paso Sun Bowl game won by Texas Western, 13-12.

"Wallce and Carr were ineligible for the Sun Bowl game, but the situation arose merely from an oversight," McCarthy said.

Texas Western Coach Bobby Dobbs refused to comment, saying: "I will have to know more about the situation before I can say anything."

NCAA CALLED

McCarthy said he would confer with NCAA officials but indicated previous rulings might mean Wallace and Carr would be ineligible for post-season play next year, but this year's game would not be forfeited.

The two players' ineligibility was first reported by Dick Smith, a sports writer for the Arizona Republic in Phoenix. Smith charged that Wallace and Carr did not meet NCAA junior college transfer requirements.

Both players were recruited last summer and saw plenty of action for the Texas Western Miners this season. They attended Phoenix Junior College before transferring to the El Paso school.

Smith reported that Texas Christian Athletic Director Abe Martin said, "I didn't bother to make an eligibility check on them before the game.

"I figured that if their players had played all season they would be eligible," Martin said.

NO COMMENT

Smith said the NCAA office in Kansas City, Mo., discussed the rules and Chuck Neinas, an NCAA representative, declined to comment further.

Smith outlined the rules governing transfers as: be a graduate of a junior college or have a minimum of 48 semester or 72 quarter hours of credits or a minimum of 24 semester or 36 quarter hours of acceptable transfer credit with a B average.

Phoenix Junior College officials were quoted by Smith as saying neither player would meet those eligibility requirements.

Bob Scheffing Tries Desk Job

NEW YORK (UPI) — So now it comes time for the big transition and while some men never are able to get used to a desk after spending most of their life on the field, Bob Scheffing is sure he can make the adjustment.

Scheffing, at 52, finds himself an executive for the first time as director of player development with the New York Mets.

★ ★ ★

The title is a little high sounding and what it really means is that Scheffing, who managed his first professional ball club when he was only 25 years old, now will serve as farm director of the Mets.

He likes his new job fine and although most people still look upon him as a prospective manager because of his previous experience with the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs, Scheffing didn't take his present job with the Mets with the idea in his mind that he might manage them some day.

VISITING BOSS

In town to meet hs new employers, Scheffing, who succeeds Eddie Stanky with the Mets, talked about some of the feelings a major league manager experiences from day to day.

"Managing is more rewarding than any other job I know of," he conceded. "I'm speaking from a personal standpoint now. It's also the most exasperating job in the world.

"The best thing about the job is you know exactly where you stand after every game. It's all down there in black and white in every newspaper. All you have to do is check the standings," he laughed.

"After a manager has a bad experience," he continued, "and by that I mean after he's let out, he gets disgusted with the job and tells himself he'd never go back to it. Then after you're out of it awhile, you begin to miss it."

★ ★ ★

Scheffing was let out by the Tigers in June of 1963 and he has had offers to manage since but declined them all.

There was no bitterness on either part when Detroit General Manager Jim Campbell notified Scheffing he was through back in 1963.

The parting came something like this:

"I'm sorry, Scheff, but we've got to make a change," said Campbell.

"That's your privilege," replied Scheffing.

The two men were good friends then and still are now.

Providence, Vanderbilt Win

Underdogs Find Games Too Long

By the Associated Press

College basketball games run 40 minutes and that's about 20 too many for Brown and Tulane.

Two lightly regarded teams, the Bruins and Green Wave had upsets on their minds Tuesday night. Brown had sixth- ranked Providence on the ropes and Tulane had No. 3 Vanderbilt in trouble at halftime although you'd never know it by the final scores.

The Friars whipped Brown 66-48 after trailing 28-27 at intermission. Vanderbilt came alive with a 14-0 string at the start of the second half that wiped out a 36-34 Tulane lead and started the Commodores to a 91-69 Southeastern Conference victory.

Brown's controlled offense and tenacious defense had Providence struggling. The visiting Bruins held highly touted Jim Walker without a field goal in the first half. But Providence, which had been averaging 86 points per game, scored nine straight opening the second half and broke away.

Walker, who scored 50 in the Friars' championship victory last week in New York's Holiday Festival, wound up with 15, hitting only five for 19 from the floor. Bill Blair led the Friars with 20.

★ ★ ★

Vanderbilt, playing at home, switched to a zone defense that threw Tulane off in the second half. The Commodores had four men in double figures with Clyde Lee's 22 high.

Lee didn't score his first field goal until 11 minutes were gone in the half and Tulane's 50 per cent field goal percentage for the first 20 minutes compared to Vandy's 36.7 got the Green Wave in front.

The victory ran Vanderbilt's record to 11-1. Tulane is 3-6.

Texas Tech broke a Southwest Conference record and North Dakota struck a blow for the small colleges in other games Tuesday.

The Red Raiders routed Baylor 115-77 at Lubbock in the league opener for both teams. Sophomore Bob Gloper led Tech with 26 points and 21 rebounds as five men hit double figures.

North Dakota, which had lost to majors Minnesota and Bradley for its only setbacks this season, downed DePaul 85-74. The Sioux, fifth-ranked in The Associated Press small college poll, got 30 points from 6-8 Phil Jackson and handed the visiting Blue Demons their second loss in 12 starts. Massachusetts Institute of Technology edged Harvard 86-84 for its first victory over the Crimson in 22 years. Alex Wilson had 34 points, four of them in last two minutes as MIT held off a late Harvard spurt. Keith Sadlacek led the losers with 26.

Detroit College Rolls

DETROIT (AP) — Howard Heard scored 33 points in Detroit College of Business' 109-96 basketball victory over Detroit Tech Tuesday night that squared the winners' season record at 4-4. It was Tech's sixth loss in 10 games.

PCH Rally Defeats Waterford Matmen

Pontiac Central's wrestling team came from behind last night to pin a 29-16 setback on Waterford's Skippers.

★ ★ ★

Trailing 16-10, the Chiefs captured the last four events—two of them by pins — in evening their season record at 2-2.

★ ★ ★

N. Z. Bryant (112), Ben Rodriguez (165) and Charles Mason (heavyweight) posted pins for the Chiefs. Reggie Childs (120) posted the lone pin for Waterford.

In another match, Kettering's Captains (1-3) ended a losing streak with a 27-17 victory over Davison.

Is Ice Fishing Slowly Dying Sport in State?

Is ice fishing in Michigan a slowly dying sport?

George Brosseau, district law supervisor at the Pontiac Lake Conservation office, reports that the average age of ice fishermen in this state has been going up.

"This indicates that young people are turning to activities other than ice fishing," he said. "In Minnesota, however, the average age is going down."

Brosseau, who spent the holidays in Minneapolis, also said that a special permit must be purchased for spearing through the ice in Minnesota.

Ice fishermen who can usually look forward to a good harvest of recently planted rainbows in area lakes are not going to find legal trout plentiful this winter.

The Conservation Department has shifted the emphasis from legal-sized to fingerling trout. It will be another year before these rainbows reach legal status.

The only exception last fall was Teeple Lake. Sub-legal rainbows, which should reach seven inches by April, were stoced after the lake was poisoned out.

There are plenty of carry over trout in area lakes. However, they will be more wary — and larger.

Maceday Lake was not restocked with rainbows. Splake, the cross between brook and lake trout, will be introduced to this lake next fall.

An additional 10,000 splake were released in Cass Lake.

A top priority project at the Holly recreation area will be the construction of a new headquarters building easily accessible to the public.

The long, bumpy ride down Buckell Lake Road to the antiquated Quonset huts keeps many people away from the present headquarters. Site of the new building will be along Dixie Highway.

A new sanitation building is on the drawing board for Pontiac Lake recreation area. So is a new district headquarters building.

Oakland County will be open to beaver trapping this spring. There are a couple of colonies of beavers operating in the northern confines of the county.

The public hearing in Flint on the antlerless deer controversy was a replica of the one held in Pontiac.

Hunters wanted an end to the shooting of does and fawns. Like the Pontiac sessions, those in attendance called for an end to weekend openers and split seasons.

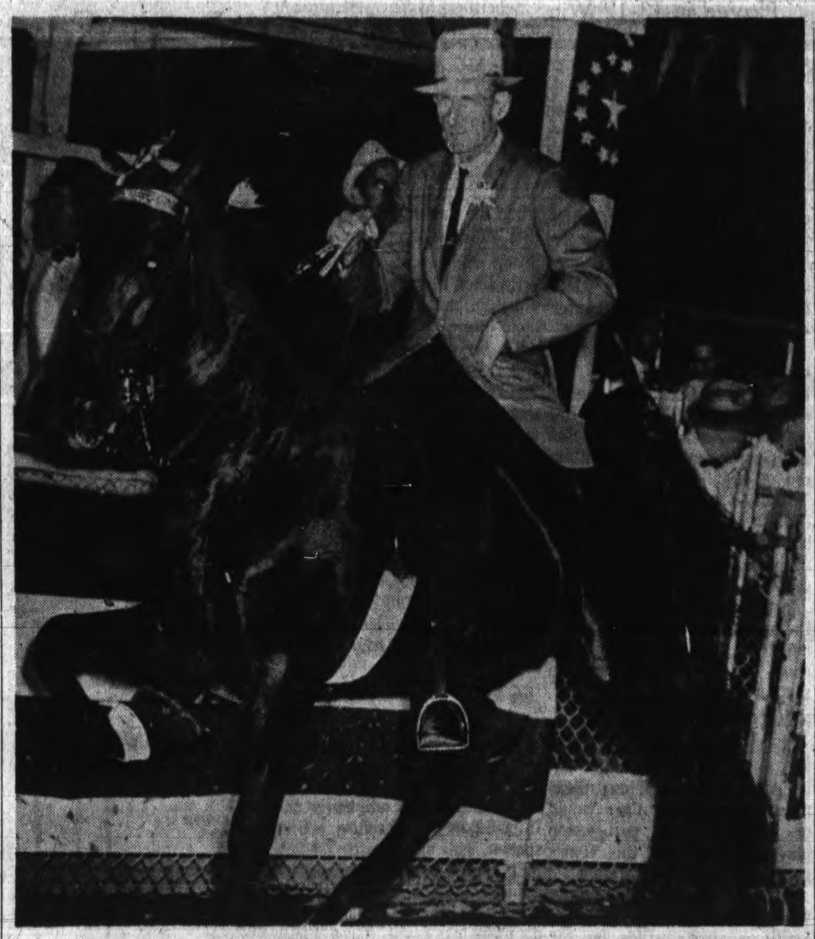
The Pontiac and Flint hearings were conducted by the Senate Conservation Committee.

The Conservation Department told its side of the story at a much quieter — and less publicized — Lansing hearing conducted by the House Conservation Committee.

More hearings are scheduled.

Rabbit hunters are grumbling. Those going out aren't seeing bunnies in usual numbers.

"We don't feel comfortable hunting rabbits without snow," they claim.



JUNIOR CHAMPION — Rambler's Son, ridden by trainer D. J. Rush of Clarkston, is the first Michigan bred walking horse to win the junior champion Tennessee class at the Chicago International Horse Show. Owned by Robert B. Chambers Sr., 27640 Spring Valley, Farmington, Rambler's Son took the title last fall and will go into the senior class this year. The horse is stabled at Chambers' Pine Hill Farms in Oxford Township.

Three County Lakes Added to Trout List

Three lakes have been added to the list of Oakland County waters open to taking rainbow trout during January and February.

Pine, Cooley and Horseshoe are open for rainbow fishing during the winter for the first time. Five other lakes—all single specie trout waters — are closed to fishing until the regular trout season opens in April.

They are Teeple, Little Algoe, Hartwig, Trout and Little (Upper) Trout.

Regulations which allow the taking of any kind of fish, any size, with no limits continue to apply to Kent and Judah lakes. The rules were made more liberal because both lakes are constantly threatened with winterkill.

The continued warm weather has wreaked such havoc with ice fishing that many anglers have indicated that they won't put shanties out this winter.

Spearing for pike started New Year's Day, but no area lakes were reported to be safe enough for shanties. A handful, however, had enough ice to lure anglers.

The fishing was poor.

MAKING ICE

The last few cold nights have allowed the smaller lakes to be covered with ice and if the trend holds, fishermen should be able to start getting out this weekend.

A lack of snow will make walking on the ice difficult. Fishermen moving across clear ice also has a tendency to make some fish spooky.

A 1966 fishing license is required. Anglers who plan to try for rainbows must have a trout stamp.

Following is the list of area waters open to taking rainbow and brown trout during January and February:

OAKLAND COUNTY

Alderman, East and West Bridge, Cedar Island, Cemetery, Chamberlain, Commerce, Cooley, Crescent, Crotchet, Deep, Deer, Dollar, Elizabeth, Graham, Green, Greens, Horseshoe, Lotus, Maceday, Mohawke, Orchard, Oxbow, Pine, Proud, Reed, Little Silver, Shoe, Schoolhouse, Stony, Square, Sugden, Union, Van Norman and Wormer lakes.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY

Appleton, Little Appelton, Chemung, Murray, Little Murray, Portage chain, Reed and Silver (Green Oak) lakes.

OTHERS

Davison (Lapeer County) and Hasler (Genesee County).

Deer Yarding Above Straits

With snow depths and temperatures about average for this time of the year, deer have begun to yard in some areas of the Baraga district and along the northern fringe of the Lake Superior watershed in the Upper Peninsula.

In other northern areas above the Straits, deer have moved into heavier cover but the animals are not "boxed in."

★ ★ ★

Roughly east of a line from Marquette to Crystall Falls and south of Highway M-28, deer are generally free to roam for food.

In the western end of the Upper Peninsula, snow depths measure about 1-1½ feet. Some places along Lake Superior have approximately one foot of snow.

The going remains relatively easy for whitetails in the northern Lower Peninsula where snow depths are only about four inches at the most.

Although colder weather in recent days appears to have pushed some of the region's deer into sheltered areas, the animals are not yet yarded.

Deer Policy Defense Is Being Prepared

LANSING (UPI) — Newly reappointed Michigan Conservation Director Ralph A. MacMullan says he is confident the department can defend its controversial antlerless deer hunting policy in the Legislature.

MacMullan said legislative proposals to curb the policy would be welcomed as an opportunity for the department to provide a factual case on antlerless deer hunting. With such information, he said, he doubted legislators would approve new restrictions.

"I am confident our management program is good and people will consider the problem on more rational grounds," MacMullan said.

★ ★ ★

The Conservation Department in recent weeks has been a target for complaints by hunters about the past deer season. An estimated 108,000 deer were killed during the two week seasons in the Upper and Lower peninsulas, a drop of 32,000 from 1964.

As a result of the complaints Sen Joe Mack, D-Ironwood, has proposed a three-year moratorium of antlerless shooting in the Upper Peninsula.

Sen. Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, said there undoubtedly will be legislation proposed to restrict taking of antlerless deer. Many hunters blame the antlerless shooting policy for the decline in the deer kill.

O'Brien's committee has held two public hearings on hunter complaints of a poor deer season and plans two more such meetings.

MacMullan received what appeared to be a vote of confidence Monday from the Conservation Commission at its reorganization meeting.

The five-man commission unanimously reappointed MacMullan. It was the first official action of the newly created commission under the new Executive Reorganization Act.

The commission also unanimously elected Robert C. McLaughlin of Detroit as its chairman. McLaughlin, 51, a vice president of McLouth Steel Corp., succeed E. M. Laitala of Hancock as chairman.

★ ★ ★

McLaughlin, appointed to the commission two years ago by Gov. George Romney, said the commission will probably become "more and more of a policy making body." He said the commission had a "great big job ahead of it" in 1966.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday's meeting also was the first for August (Gus) Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO Council, who recently was appointed by Romney to be the second Democrat on the commission.

More Federal-State Talks Scheduled

LANSING (AP) — Ralph MacMullan, state conservation director, says further federal-state conferences are planned this month to make clear who will control hunting and fishing on federal lands.

Some controversy arose after an opinion of the U.S. solicitor general contended the U.S. Department of the Interior has the constitutional right to regulate game and fish on certain federal lands to the extent of preempting the authority of the states.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall discussed the situation in December with state officials at a meeting of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners.

Udall said his department has no intention of taking over sole control of hunting and fishing on federal lands.

Warm-Up Field Trial

A warm-up field trial, sponsored by the National German Shorthaired Pointing Club of Michigan, will be Sunday at 9 a.m. on the Dixon Farm, 26691 27 Mile, near New Hayen. All pointing breeds can be entered.

Canine Training Demonstrations Set at 2 Sites

Dog Obedience demonstrations have been scheduled at wo sites by the Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club.

The first will be Jan. 17 at Bloomfield Hills High School. Waterford CAI building will be the location of the Jan. 19 program. Both demonstrations will start at 8 p.m.

Registrations for 10-week obedience training courses at both sites will be accepted after the demonstrations. Dogs must be at least six months old and have a health certificate to be enrolled in the courses.

Additional information is available from the Waterford recreation department and the Bloomfield Hills board of education.

Demonstrations at Avondale high school and Walled Lake will be announced at a later date.

OUR 50TH YEAR AAA MICHIGAN
It's Our Golden Anniversary

On June 28, 1916, nineteen men formed what was to become the Automobile Club of Michigan. The goals they set for the Club were:

"To promote and foster the healthy growth of the automobile industry; to secure the adoption and enforcement of reasonable and useful traffic ordinances and motor vehicle laws; to promote the establishment and construction of permanent highways for traffic; to interest automobile owners and drivers in the principles of 'Safety First' as applied to automobile traffic; to promote touring and to obtain and furnish touring information and the necessary sign-boarding of public highways; and to co-operate in any work which may tend to benefit the automobile driver, user, owner, manufacturer, and the automobile industry in general."

Your Club has worked hard for these goals and it has achieved many of them. One proof of this is that your Club has grown from its nineteen founders to more than 700,000 members.

You are invited to join in the Golden Anniversary Celebration by displaying the new 50th Anniversary Emblem on your car. Pick yours up today at any of the 57 Auto Club offices.

Ticker Falls Behind

Steel Price Hike Spurs Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels advanced vigorously early this afternoon, pacing a broad stock market advance toward new record highs. Trading was heavy.

The ticker tape ran as much as two minutes late in a wave of buying which followed news that the White House had found acceptable a price increase by U.S. Steel—a smaller one than announced previously by Bethlehem and Inland Steel.

★ ★ ★

Word that U.S. Steel's price hike for structurals was deemed within the economic "guideposts" seemed to reflect a harmony between government and industry in this latest price action and investors found it to their liking. Most steel stocks advanced a point or more, some advances stretching to about 3.

Buying mushroomed to other important sections of the stock list, Big Three motors catching on gradually and moving up to solid gains.

STRONG SHOWING

Chemicals, electrical equipments, electronics, aerospace issues, drugs and selected issues in many other groups made a strong showing.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon, taking off from yesterday's historic closing high, rose 2.3 to 361.8 with industrials up 4.1, rails up .9 and utilities up .5.

★ ★ ★

Prices advanced in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. O'Okiep Copper rose more than 3, Revco D.S. about 2½. Gains of a point or more were made by Syntex (new), Alan Wood Steel, Dennison and Flying Tiger. Burma Mines was a heavily traded fractional gainer. Texas Power & Light preferred sank about 1½. National Video lost a fraction.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Man Is Held in Negro Death

Alabama Shooting Spurs Angry March

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — Authorities held a "nice, quiet, old man" on a murder charge today in the shooting of a Negro civil rights worker whose 1,500 fellow students staged an angry march on city hall.

Officers released no word from Marvin Segrest, a white, 69-year-old service station attendant, on the slaying which brought state and FBI agents rushing to this predominantly Negro town on the fringe of Alabama's black (soil) belt.

Investigators said Samuel L. (Sammy) Younge Jr., 21, a political science major at Tuskegee Institute, apparently shot during an argument over use of a rest room at Tuskegee's only all-night service station.

Younge's body, sprawled at the entrance to an alley about 75 feet from the station, was found by a taxi driver about midnight yesterday. The youth was clutching a golf club, which district attorney Tom Young speculated may have been used as a weapon. Younge was killed by a .38 bullet in the temple.

★ ★ ★

When word of the slaying spread, 1,500 students at Tuskegee Institute, probably the nation's most famous Negro college, marched in a chilling rain to city hall and demanded to see Mayor Charles M. Keever.

Keever, serving his first term in the town where Negroes outnumber whites about three to one but have less registered voters, called the slaying "a tragic occurrence" and promised a full investigation.

He said he had summoned state and FBI agents to aid in the probe.

Segrest, described by one officer as "a nice, quiet, old man" from "a good family" in the nearby community of Shorter, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Samuel L. Younge Sr., father of the dead youth.

Police said Segrest was the night attendant at the station, located next to the bus depot on U.S. 80, the same highway on which Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit civil rights worker, was slain by nightriders last March 25 about 100 miles to the west.

COULD CREATE CRISIS—Richard Gott, 27, above, has opened a special election campaign to topple Britain's Labor government because of its support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam. He's seeking election to the House of Commons on Jan. 27 from the port city of Hull, England as a candidate of a group calling itself the Radical Alliance. Defeat for Labor would reduce its House of Commons majority to one vote. Its prestige would be so badly damaged that Prime Minister Wilson might have to resign.

Retired Exec Gives $1 Million to College

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A retired automobile executive and his wife, who met while attending Goshen Ind., College in the 1920s, have given the college a million dollars to build a new library.

Mr. and Mrs Harold C. Good of East Lansing made the donation to a fund-raising campaign started by the college last year for $3.5 milion in proposed expansion moves.

LONDON (AP) — American author Robert Ruark left an estate in Britain valued at $66,942, his will published in London disclosed today.

Ruark died in a London hospital last July 1. He was 49.

City Man to Be Charged in Co-Worker's Shooting

A Pontiac man accused of shooting a co-worker in the leg yesterday afternoon was to be arraigned today on a charge of felonious assault.

★ ★ ★

Bloomfield Township police said James Daugherty, 24, of 91 Wall fired three times with a shotgun at Richard Leverette, 30, of Detroit near the intersection of E. South Boulevard and Opdyke.

Leverette told police he was in his car at the intersection when Daugherty, in another automobile, motioned him over to the shoulder of the road.

When he got out of his car, Leverette said, Daugherty emerged from his vehicle and began firing the shotgun.

Leverette said the first shot went over his head, but that either the second or third struck him in the left leg.

WAS TREATED

He was treated for pellet wounds at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released.

Daugherty, apprehended at his home by Pontiac police about 6 p.m., some three hours after the shooting, is being held at the Oakland County Jail.

Leverette said he and Daugherty work in the same building at the GMC Truck & Coach Division plant at 660 E. South Blvd.

He said he knew of no reason for the shooting.

Appeals Court Acted on 1,630 Cases in '65

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's new Court of Appeals received 1,630 cases during its first year of existence, reports Chief Justice T. John Lesinski. He predicted the load would climb to 2,000 this year.

Despite the crush, Lesinski said, it appears the court "will be able to maintain steady progress without the buildup of a significant backlog of cases."

Deny Appeal of Draft Status for U-M Pair

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit draft board spokesman said today the board has denied appeals of reclassification by two University of Michigan students convicted in an anti-Viet Nam war demonstration in Ann Arbor.

Leon R. Jones, an attorney and member of Selective Service Board No. 93, said the appeals of David Smokler, 20, of Royal Oak, and Patrick Murphy, 19, of Ann Arbor, were denied last Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The two lost their student deferments after they were convicted of trespassing in a sit-in demonstration at the Ann Arbor draft board on Oct. 15. Both were reclassified 1-A. They appealed Dec. 9.

"As far as I know, they have been advised of the action," said Jones, adding that the youths have 10 days to appeal to the Selective Service appeals board.

AID OFFERED

The American Civil Liberties Union offered legal aid to the students after they were reclassified.

Michigan ACLU Director Ernest Mazey said he had not been informed of the denial of the appeals, but said there is "no question that we'll pursue the matter."

Franz Mesmer made the theory of hypnotism popular and it came to be called mesmerism in his honor.

Floods Drive Over 1,000 From Homes in California

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — More than 1,000 persons fled their homes in northwestern California lowlands as rivers crested, leaving some areas flooded today.

Rain, snow and mud slides closed some major highways and rail routes into storm-lashed Northern California.

★ ★ ★

The Eel River, running into the Pacific Ocean about 200 miles north of San Francisco, reached flood level Tuesday but then rose only slightly as rains lightened.

Early today the Eel was reported getting lower upstream and remaining at the 23-foot flood level near its mouth.

STOPPED RISING

Other rivers that twist through the heavily wooded country either stopped rising or began to recede.

★ ★ ★

The Weather Bureau said an intense, new storm lurked off the coast, preparing to smash into delta regions still rebuilding from the disastrous Christmas 1964 floods.

★ ★ ★

But forecasters said duplication of that devastation could be avoided.

"There was no break between storms in 1964," said John Selmser, U.S. Weather Bureau forecaster. "One fell upon another. The breaks between the current storms provides time for the rivers to drop."

FROM HAWAII

Selmser also said the storms of 1964 came from the direction of Hawaii. He said they had a much greater warm air mass than these Alaska-born storms and a far greater moisture content.

In December 1964 and early 1965, rising rivers fed by continuous rains and melting snowpacks from the nearby mountains killed 23 and caused $1 billion damage in the delta area near Eureka.

★ ★ ★

This time, the forewarned bottomland residents moved calmly to higher land. Sheriff's posses helped evacuate threatened areas.

Some of the populated areas have names — Starvation Flats, Orick, Fernbridge, Hoopa, Ferndale, Miranda, Orleans. Many do not.

U.S. 101 INUNDATED

U.S. 101 was inundated at a number of places. Water and slides made about 60 miles of U.S. 101 unusable.

Snow closed Interstate 5 to Oregon for about 54 miles near the state line. Other roads were closed by water or slides or snow.

★ ★ ★

Nearer San Francisco, the Russian River resort area braced for waters to go as high as a predicted 13 feet above flood stage.

The Sonoma County Flood Control Center said this wouldn't cause any great difficulty, although a few minor roads were closed.

FEW HUNDRED

A few hundred persons in Oregon were evacuated because of floods that caused minor damage. Southbound auto travelers through Oregon were asked to delay coming into California.

The Southern Pacific Railroad canceled the Cascade passenger train from San Francisco to Portland. A snow slide wrecked a bridge approach south of Eugene, Ore.

A Western Pacific freight rammed into a mud slide in the Feather River Canyon near the small town of Tobin, Calif. The locomotive and one car were derailed. The California Zephyr passenger train was rerouted over Southern Pacific tracks.

Konrad Adenauer stood ramrod straight on his 90th birthday today and received a long line of political leaders and diplomats at a reception in Parliament in Bonn, West Germany.

ADENAUER

One of the well-wishers who spent the longest time with the former chancellor was the Soviet charge d'affaires, S. M. Kudriavtsev, whose government Adenauer perennially opposes. Their conversation could not be overheard.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard was among the last in the line, introduced according to a previously prepared list.

"You once said yourself that whenever two people agreed on everything all the time, they were worth nothing," Erhard told his predecessor. "So I guess we are both worth something."

Adenauer broke into a wide grin and nodded.

Chile Asks for Nazi Bormann's Fingerprints

A persistent rumor that Martin Bormann, Adolph Hitler's aide, is in Chile has led Santiago police to ask West Germany for a set of his fingerprints.

Emilio Oelckers, director general of investigations, said the prints would be compared with those of foreigners on file with Chilean police.

Published reports contend that Bormann fled to South America with the collapse of Nazi Germany at the end of World War II. He changed his facial features through plastic surgery, according to the reports.

Two Statesmen Sign Up for Medicare

Two elder statesmen are signing up for medicare — Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., and Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland.

Anderson, 70, a sponsor of the legislation, signed up yesterday in Albuquerque.

Tawes, the nation's oldest governor, who turns 72 in April, was induced to join when Social Security officials held a campaign to get people to sign up for the medical benefits. His name turned up during a payroll check of state employes.

Tawes and his wife will be enrolled tomorrow in a brief ceremony at the governor's offices in Annapolis.

Man Gets Jail Term for Burglary in Area

A Hazel Park man was sentenced yesterday to 2-10 years in the state prison at Jackson for burglarizing a Bloomfield Township gas station Sept. 29.

The prison term was ordered for James A. B. Bell, 22, by Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Bell pleaded guilty Dec. 14 to breaking and entering Joe's Standard Service at Maple and Inkster and stealing $25 in change, a transistor radio and eight blank checks.

Court Gets GOP Views on Districts

LANSING (AP)—Republican members of the Legislative Apportionment Commission are asking the Michigan Supreme Court to adopt their House and Senate districting plans or at least let them argue for their case in court.

★ ★ ★

Republicans filed a statement with the high court Tuesday, shortly after the secretary of state's office formally notified the court of the commission's failure to reach agreement on a districting plan before its New Year's Eve deadline.

★ ★ ★

The court was to meet for a regular opinion-issuing session today, but was not expected to act immediately in the case. Some of the justices will not have seen the commission records before their scheduled conference, said Court Clerk Donald Winters.

★ ★ ★

The court had ordered the eight-member bipartisan commission back to work as the result of a suit challenging the state's present Democratic-drafted legislative districts.

POPULATION VARIATIONS

The Republican statement said the proposed GOP plans fell well within the population variations approved by courts since the U. S. Supreme Court's 1964 "one man-one vote" decision.

★ ★ ★

If the court does not adopt their plans or listen to oral arguments, the Republicans asked it to consider two other alternatives:

—Submitting the plan to an impartial third party, a Circuit Court judge.

—Entering "such other order in exercise of its original jurisdiction as will provide for the people of Michigan fair and effective representation."

Oil Field Wildcatters Leave Ohio Booming

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) — The wildcatters have gone from Ohio's oil fields but they have pumped enough new life into the industry to double its yearly output, possibly for years to come.

The boom that began here almost three years ago set off new searches for oil across the state. It led to discoveries of natural gas reserves which oilmen term "exciting" and it perked up production of a higher grade petroleum which had trickled out of Ohio wells for years.

★ ★ ★

"The roughnecks are gone now, but the place will never be like it was before the boom," says Sheriff Bud A. Bratton. Statistics prove his point.

Before the "Morrow County boom," Ohio produced six to seven million barrels of oil a year, including 1.5 million barrels of the high quality "Penn grade."

15.8 MILLION BARRELS

In 1964, peak of the boom, state production reached 15.8 million barrels of oil. The 1965 production is estimated at 13 million barrels and Kirk Jordan, head of the Oil and Gas Association, says, "We believe we are near the leveling off point."

Most attention now is centered on natural gas discoveries. Guy Stitler, partner in a venture which recently tapped wells 75 to 100 miles east of here rated at 1.5 to 3 million cubic feet of gas a day, says "we haven't seen any better."

★ ★ ★

Kin-Ark Oil Co. said it struck a well capable of producing four million cubic feet of gas a day, in Huron County 100 miles north of here and west of the other gas area. "A lot of interest is being created," said production manager Sam George.

But booms like that which swept Morrow County, when speculators flocked in and drilling rigs sprouted almost overnight, aren't expected again.

EVERYTHING DOUBLED

"Just about everything doubled," says Sheriff Bratton, "tax revenues, automobile registrations, accidents, crimes, even deaths.

"But it is quieting down now and we have adjusted."

★ ★ ★

Since the boom, Ohio has adopted an oil and gas law designed to prevent another big splash like Morrow County but at the same time to promote orderly expansion of the industry. The law regulates drilling, requiring spacing of wells 10 acres apart to insure maximum recovery of the oil pool.

"A pool of oil in a sense is like a bottle of pop," says Donald L. Norling, head of the State Oil and Gas Division. "The more straws you put in it, the faster it goes."

Sales Representative
Qualified used car representive for aggressive, expanding Chevrolet dealership. Excellent fringe benefits including paid vacation. Please send resume to Pontiac Press Box 30.

SALESMEN
We're seeking two young men to train as professional salesmen. Men selected will be subjected to a concentrated sales program in the dealership and those who display a real aptitude toward selling will be sent to the General Motors Sales Training School.
Since a liberal pay plan which includes guaranteed salary, profit sharing, demonstrator furnished, gasoline furnished, life insurance, Blue Cross and paid vacation will be effective from the inception of training program, the qualifications are not simple.
We want ambitious, aggressive young men who understand that success is a product of hard work, honesty and integrity with a presentable appearance and friendly personality are absolute necessities. Some type of successful retail selling experience is desirable but not mandatory.
The dealership offering this opportunity is a Pontiac-Buick dealer with new facilities in Rochester, Michigan. Interested applicants should see Mr. Joe Galardi at Shelton Pontiac-Buick, 855 S. Rochester Rd., Rochester, Michigan.

Italy Starts Court Fight on Mafia

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI) — Italian justice today launched a massive legal crackdown on the Mafia aimed at exposing a globe-circling narcotics ring and punishing 21 of its alleged top Italo-American crime kingpins, including missing New York mobster Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonnano.

★ ★ ★

In the latest stage of an all-out war on the centuries-old "Black Hand" society, Judge Aldo Vigneri prepared today to turn over to Italian prosecutors 20 volumes of evidence he has emassed during his detailed investigation of the Mafia.

The 8,000 pages of testimony and documents were expected to expose years of conspiracy between the Sicilian-based crime society and some of the alleged archcriminals of American gangland.

Vigneri, who flew to the United States last month to question "Cosa Nostra" songbird Joe Valachi, said he will seek indictments against 21 alleged "Mafiosi" — including Giuseppe Genco Russo, reputed king of the Sicilian Mafia, and suspected "Cosa Nostra" boss Bonanno, who vanished in New York last summer before he was to testify before a U.S. Senate investigation of the American underworld.

★ ★ ★

The report of the Mafia-battling magistrate was also expected to document for the first time Sicilian police charges that the late Lucky Luciano, deported U.S. gangland chief, remained a key figure in the international drug racket until his death at Naples in 1962.

Water Quality Guides Urged

CHICAGO (AP)—Standards of water quality which one federal official described as "pioneering" were proposed Tuesday at a federal conference on Lake Michigan pollution.

The standards, which hopefully would guarantee the purity of Chicago's drinking water and the safety of its lakefront beaches, were proposed by federal, state and local government water officials and industrial representatives.

★ ★ ★

The occasion was the opening of a two-day conference aimed at ending pollution in the southern end of Lake Michigan.

Murray Stein, chief water pollution control enforcement officer for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, described the proposal as "a real pioneering effort which could affect the future of pollution control throughout the country." Stein is chairman of the conference.

The standards were proposed by eight-man technical committee headed by Francis W. Kittrell, chief sanitary engineer of the Robert A. Taft Sanitary Engineering Center in Cincinnati.

NEIGHBORING STATES

The committee represents the steel and oil industries, neighboring states, Chicago, the sanitary district, and the federal government.

Kittrell said the technical committee which drew up the anti-pollution standards "soon realized it would not be feasible to adopt a single set of criteria for all water uses."

★ ★ ★

The water plant intakes at Hammond, Whiting and East Chicago, Ind., are relatively close to the lakeshore and hence to sources of waste discharged into the lake, he said.

Other intakes for Chicago and Gary are more remote from waste sources and are out in the lake—in open water, Kittrell added.

HIGH QUALITY

"It obviously is not reasonable to expect to achieve the same high quality of water at the inshore intakes that it is possible to attain at the open water intakes," he said.

Hare, Prof Agree Fund Is Working

LANSING (UPI) — A Michigan State University professor and Secretary of State James M. Hare agree that the new uninsured motorists fund appears to be a success, at least for the time being.

Hare said yesterday that of 10,000 highway accidents in the last two weeks, only 10 per cent have involved uninsured motorists. This compares with a previous two-year average of 15 per cent, he said.

The tentative assumption, Hare said, is that new legislation has caused more motorists to take out liability insurance rather than pay a $35 fee. "This is precisely what we wanted," he added.

To further support the assumption, Hare said that thus far only 2 per cent of the 1966 auto license sales have been made to uninsured drivers. It had been estimated earlier that 15 per cent of Michigan drivers were without insurance.

Dr. Thomas L. Wenck, associate professor of accounting and financial administration at MSU, reported yesterday on a study that showed the uninsured motorists' fund will have a first year surplus.

Hare agreed that this will probably be true, but cautioned that it may result only because payments into the fund will lag behind outgoing payments due to delays caused by court action.

Gov. Romney supported legislation creating the fund on the condition that it be run on a break-even or better basis.

Wenck said the surplus will result from three legislative changes added late last year after predictions that the fund might go broke. These are:

- Increasing the uninsured motorists' fee from $25 to $35.
- Raising the deductible property damage claims minimum from $50 to $200.
- A reduction in claims because more insured motorists will be carrying uninsured motorist protection in their regular policies under a new state requirement.

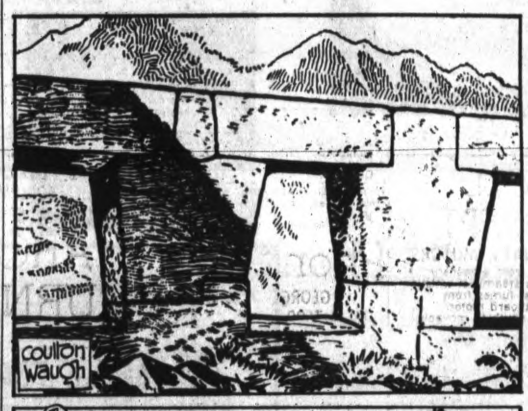
—Junior Editors Quiz on— INCAS



QUESTION: How did the ancient Aztecs and Incas build in stone without iron tools?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The Aztecs, in what is now Mexico, created some magnificent stonework, but that of the Incas of South America was perhaps more remarkable.

It is said than an Inca chieftain, Mayta Capac, found a forgotten city and was so inspired by its stonework that he determined to create something even finer.

The Incas cut and smoothed huge stones and fitted them together, without binding mortar, so exactly that in many cases a knife blade can not be inserted in the cracks.

Our illustration shows how the blocks were shaped so as to interlock and hold together. The Incas did not know about iron and steel, had no strong draught animals for power, had not invented the wheel. How, then had such wonderful work been accomplished?

The Incas had knives or picks of bronze or hard stone. Using these with water, it was possible to gradually chip a stone down (1). Smoothing and polishing could be done with the help of sand and water (2).

Stones could be moved by dragging, using ropes and great numbers of men (3). For lifting, stone crowbars or poles could pry a stone up.

With a wall of small stones built underneath, this was repeated back and forth on both ends of the stone. The Incas had primitive pulleys, which also must have helped (4).

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Poke a pole or crowbar under a stone (not too big a one). Then put a little rock under your pole near the stone. You will be surprised what force you will exert when you press the pole down, and you will begin to understand how the Incas moved big rocks.

Tina and Les Alter Date of Their Altar Appearance

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Tina Louise & Les Crane have moved their marriage date forward from June to March 20. (the anniversary of their first meeting). It'll probably be in San Francisco, Les' home town. Incidentally, Tina says Les may now do some producing, but that "Just when his ABC show was starting to build, they pulled the rug out from under him, and that's why ABC is the last network—it won't stand behind its talent."

WILSON

Her "Gilligan's Island" CBS show is now No. 1 in some ratings. Tina says "Les is continually creating" TV projects, but she doesn't mind him not having a nightly show: "This way I get more time to be with him."

The teenagers have a new idol — and they're plastering his picture above the Beatles. Their new hero is Mike Quill. (he got them out of school a day) . . . "Anyway," said a frugger at Ondine, "Mike Quill can't be all bad. He stopped crime in the subways." . . . and gave our town "Mike Fright."

Sophie Tucker gave a brunch ("on a Jewish luau," she called it) and showed me her new letterhead which says, "Sophie Tucker . . . Working at Home . . . Not Retired."

As she approaches her 78th birthday Jan. 13, Sophie's working with a tape-recorder on her life story—and would especially appreciate anecdotes from normal non-Show Business people who might have been affected or influenced by the enormous sums she's raised for charity. "Anything I have done in their lives for good I would like to have for my book," she says.

At Luchow's: Wm. Paley, CBS, and Gen. Sarnoff, NBC—so who's watching the networks? . . . Barbra Streisand was offered a fat fee (plus camera and tape recorder) to write a vacation diary in Europe; she said Nope—it's a vacation . . . Mary Martin's description of herself, Carol Channing and Ginger Rogers (who all play the "Hello, Dolly" role): The Dolly Sisters . . . Pop Crowd Will Hear New Sound at Italy Festival

SAN REMO, Italy (AP) — The yeh-yeh crowd of pop singers will find a competitor from another world in their midst at the 1966 San Remo Song Festival — golden-voiced opera tenor Giuseppe di Stefano.

★ ★ ★

Organizers of the annual contest announced Tuesday night that Di Stefano will present one of the 26 new songs, selected from 356 works by Italian tunesmiths, when he festival gets going Jan. 27-29 at this Riviera resort.

Among non-Italian stars expected are Pat Boone and Gene Pitney of the United States.

He Has Lots of Time to Fulfill Resolution

FOLSOM, Calif. (UPI) — The Folsom Observer, a newspaper at the state prison here, asked convicts about their New Year's resolutions and one replied:

"I resolve to take my case to every court in the country. And if this fails, I resolve to start all over again. Why not? I've got plenty of time."

LBJ Will Ask Viet Fund Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson plans to ask Congress next week for an extra appropriation of almost $13 billion to cover the costs of the Viet Nam war, sources report.

The money would be for the fiscal year ending next June 30, but only about $5 billion of the total is slated for actual expenditure by then.

The $5 billion would be spent to replace military stocks.

One source said the remainder of the funds is being sought "in case we need it in Viet Nam—that's the best way of putting it."

He said it was a matter of prudence rather than planning for an extended military operation.

★ ★ ★

Added to the $1.7 billion voted by Congress last August and $700 million approved in May, the new appropriation would bring the total for increased action in Viet Nam to $14 billion plus.

BOMBING LULL

Reports of the request for extra money came as the lull in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets headed into its 13th day — a lull that Sen. Richard B. Russell says may be extended for two more weeks.

Russell, Georgia Democrat who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, questioned both the tactics of the bombing suspension and its chances for bringing about meaningful negotiations with the Communists.

"I certainly would not like to be the first naval pilot to fly over those SAM (missile) sites after the delays," he said in an interview.

★ ★ ★

In Honolulu, Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine Corps commandant, said the lull is giving the Communists time to catch their breath.

Greene said "during the standdown, the people there (in North Viet Nam) can make the most of it in repairs, replacements and rehabilitation."

More U.S. ground forces will be needed in South Viet Nam if the current U.S. peace offensive fails, he added.

In another Honolulu interview, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said he would recommend resumption of bombing of North Viet Nam targets if it is decided the Hanoi regime is unwilling to go to the negotiating table.

As the bombing lull continued, Johnson's peace campaign appeared to have run into stone wall opposition from North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The President gave no sign of relaxing his worldwide drive.

ONE OBJECTIVE

One of his objectives may be to rally such strong, international support for peace negotiations that North Viet Nam will come under increasingly heavy

U. N. Will Get Peace Report

Members to Receive Statement From U. S.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States planned to give the United Nations a public report today on its worldwide moves for peace in Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, head of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, was to hand the statement to U.N. Undersecretary Jose Rolz-Bennett for relay to Secretary-General U Thant, vacationing in Trinidad-Tobago.

Goldberg scheduled a news conference immediately afterward.

The report was to be circulated to all 117 U.N. members.

★ ★ ★

Indications were that the report would provide the most detailed formal statement so far of the U. S. position on how to end the war in South Viet Nam and the first written explanation of the current U. S. pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam.

FIRM COMMITMENT

Goldberg announced in Washington yesterday that President Johnson had authorized him to file the report "to communicate to the nations of the world the President's firm commitment to the cause of peace and the initiative we are taking in that direction."

The ambassador reported to Johnson on the talks he had held since last Thursday with Pope Paul VI in Rome, with President Charles de Gaulle in Paris and with Prime Minister Harold Wilson in London.

He also gave Johnson a message from the Pope promising help in getting peace.

★ ★ ★

Goldberg has worked at the United Nations for peace in Viet Nam ever since he arrived at U.N. headquarters last July 28 to succeed the late Adlai E. Stevenson.

★ ★ ★

On that day, he gave Thant a letter from Johnson asking the secretary general for "helpful suggestions" for peace in Southeast Asia and reiterated Johnson's request that all the U.N. members work for peace.

Transit Strike Growing More Complex in NY

Commuter Railroad May Halt Service and Increase the Crisis

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of New Yorkers got an even earlier start for their jobs today in a bleary-eyed attempt to beat the traffic crush brought on by a transit strike that grows more complex each day.

The city recommended that businesses in lower Manhattan voluntarily set up staggered work hours to ease the evening rush, which has proved to be the biggest tie-up in the five-day-old strike of bus and subway workers.

Negotiators met again today after bargaining talks were thrown into turmoil yesterday by the arrest and collapse of union leader Michael J. Quill.

Adding another dimension to the crisis is the threat that a major commuter lifeline, the Long Island Rail Road, may be halted.

A predawn river of headlights flowed through Manhattan streets today as the motorized immigration reached its peak at an earlier hour.

TRAFFIC DELAYS

Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes said he was optimistic that traffic delays today will not be greater than yesterday—despite a heavier turnout of automobiles — because drivers got the earlier start.

"By spreading the peak over a longer period it relieves the pressure. We'll be able to cope with it," Barnes said.

The traffic department estimated at 6 a.m. that the number of cars headed for Manhattan was double the number of yesterday, which in turn had been twice that of Monday.

Barnes said apparently economic pressures were forcing people to return to work as the strike lengthens.

To relieve the homeward bound congestion, Barnes sug-

GUTTED HOME — Four children were killed as fire raged through this Waterford Township home at 3980 Arcadia early today. The victims were Katheryn Brown, 15 and her sisters, Nancy, 12, and Julia, 7, and a brother, Donald, 8. Another brother, Larry, 14 escaped.

Teen Escapes Early Morning Blaze at Home

Oil Space Heater, Smoke Pipe Hookup Reported as Cause

Four Waterford Township children perished today in an early morning fire which gutted their home at 3980 Arcadia Park.

A fifth child, 14-year-old Larry Brown, reached safety by running across the porch roof and jumping to the ground, according to a neighbor.

Killed in the blaze which raced through the green, two-story frame house were the children of Mrs. Barbara Brown: Nine-year-old Donald and his three sisters, Katheryn, 15; Nancy, 12, and Julia, 7.

Township police said Mrs. Brown, a divorcee, was working at Pontiac State Hospital when the alarm was turned in at 4:17.

Fire Chief Lewis (Bud) Goff indicated it was only a matter of three or four minutes before fire fighters from Station No. 3 arrived on the scene.

SPACE HEATER

Goff attributed the fire to a downstairs oil space heater and an inefficient smoke pipe hookup, leading from the small heater to the chimney.

Four trucks were used to quench the blaze, reported by neighbors Louise Stavros, 3994 Arcadia Park, and Mrs. Arthur Cadwell, 3962 Arcadia Park.

Although the dwelling still stands, it was regarded as a total loss by Goff.

★ ★ ★

Firemen, reportedly, had the fire under reasonable control in 10 or 15 minutes when they were able to enter the dwelling to remove the bodies.

SPACE HEATER

Goff and Mrs. Cadwell, who along with her husband attempted to rescue the victims, recalled that Mrs. Brown had had previous trouble with the heater.

The heater apparently leaked last spring, saturating the floor and wall in the living room with oil. Mrs. Brown reportedly was considering purchasing a new heater.

Mrs. Brown was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for shock and Larry for burns received in the fire.

The three younger children were pupils at William Austin Burt Elementary School, 581 S.

D. C. Transfer for Luci's Beau

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Patrick J. Nugent, engaged to marry President Johnson's daughter Luci Baines, will be transferred to Washington to complete his active military duty in the Air National Guard.

Nugent, 22, who announced his engagement to 18-year-old Luci on Christmas Eve at the LBJ Ranch, completes six weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., on Friday.

Then he will be placed on active duty for four months, stationed at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., just outside Washington.

News of the transfer was confirmed last night by Lt. Col. Jack C. King, air administrative assistant in the office of the Wisconsin adjutant general.

King said the transfer was "nothing out of the ordinary," and that Nugent, whose home is Waukegan, Ill., had requested it.

"We do this every day," King said. "I have half a dozen requests from others on my desk right now," he added.

'65 Pontiac Sales Hit All-Time High

Pontiac sales in the 1965 calendar year set an all-time record, it was announced today by John Z. DeLorean, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

A total of 827,522 units were sold in the year, a 20 per cent increase over 1964. Another 10 per cent increase was forecast for 1966.

Pontiac officials are hopeful of selling 900,000 cars this year.

Despite a strike, 1964's sale of 693,716 units had been the record. The old record was 12 per cent ahead of 1963.

★ ★ ★

Although figures are still incomplete for the entire calendar year, Pontiac Motor Division's market penetration rose from 8.6 per cent in 1964 to 9.14 per cent last year for the first 10 months.

DECEMBER SALES

DeLorean said that 69,875 Pontiacs and Tempests were sold in December.

This figure was topped only by the 75,468 sales in the same period a year ago when the division was producing at an accelerated rate to catch up with the demand of the earlier strike.

(Pontiac plants were shut for 32 days during the nationwide strike against General Motors.)

★ ★ ★

In the last 10 days of 1965 a total of 22,027 cars were sold. This was under the record 10-day period in 1964 of 26,084.

CALENDAR YEAR

The past calendar year saw the division sell 514,853 Pontiacs and 312,669 Tempests.

This compares with 449,808 Pontiacs and 243,908 Tempests sold in 1964.

Division officials noted that the 312,669 Tempests sold last year topped considerably the total Pontiac sales in 1958 of 235,872 units.

In addition, nearly enough big Pontiacs were sold last year to equal the total sales in 1955 of 546,000 units. For nearly eight years 1955 stood as the auto industry's top year.

Prices Boosted by U. S. Steel

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. joined the move to boost structural steel prices today by hiking its price $2.75 a ton and the White House immediately announced that the increase was acceptable.

Hope was expressed in Washington that the rest of the industry will follow the pattern of the nation's largest steel producer.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, said "The action of U.S. Steel is generally consistent with the price-wage guideposts" established by the council in an effort to discourage inflation.

Similar but larger price increases were posted previously by three other steelmakers, including second-ranked Bethlehem Steel Corp.

Ackley, talking to newsmen at a hastily convened session in the office of White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers, said he would "hope and expect" that Bethlehem and Inland Steel —two producers who announced $5 a ton increases for structural steel earlier — "would adjust accordingly to meet competition and thus well serve the national interest."

It's Official! Local Baby 1st of '66 in Area

A girl born three seconds after midnight Jan. 1 has been declared the winner in the Pontiac area first baby of the year contest.

The distinction went to Beverly Annette Berry, daughter of Fred and Elizabeth Berry, 804 St. Clair. It was their first child.

The baby was delivered by Dr. Paul P. Mitros at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

The baby and her parents will receive gifts from 25 local merchants and businessmen.

The contest was sponsored by The Pontiac Press in cooperation with the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Taylor: City Can Be Proud of '65 Gains

WILLIAM H. TAYLOR JR.

A host of challenges were encountered in making progress last year, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. declared last night in his annual "state of the city" message.

"Pontiac can be proud of its accomplishments in 1965," the mayor said.

Using a comprehensive map, Taylor illustrated his half-hour address before the City Commission.

In detailing 1965 progress and prospects for 1966, he said the key problem last year, which undermined the city's other problems, was in the area of financing general operations.

★ ★ ★

"The 10-mill charter limitation has created great difficulty in raising sufficient revenues for the proper operation of our city," he said.

POSSIBLE SOURCE

Taylor said the income tax, defeated in a vote last March 18, was sought as a possible source of added revenue to provide the needed improvements.

Among the needed improvements are:

- Grade separations for the railroad tracks on Johnson and Huron.

★ ★ ★

- Water pollution problems requiring separated storm and sanitary sewer systems.
- A lack of sufficient police and fire manpower.
- Strengthening of park maintenance and recreation programs.
- Longer library hours.

The mayor credited the high-level economy for keeping the city budget in the black in 1965, although the operating budget was still austere.

PENSION BENEFITS

For example, pension benefits for city employes will cost the general fund about $61,000 more this year than in 1965.

One of the highlights of the past year was implementation of a wage study compiled by the Michigan Municipal League at an estimated total cost in 1966 of $290,000.

"The commission chose the most liberal of the three alternatives for implementation of the new pay plan," said Taylor.

After citing specific repaving projects around the city, the mayor pointed that the new M59 freeway got under way during the past year.

DIRECT CONNECTION

He said Pontiac's central business district would be directly connected with the I-75 expressway when M59 was completed sometime this fall.

Another highway improvement launched in 1965 was the widening of Square Lake Road into a four-lane, divided highway, said Taylor.

Early 1966 will see the construction of two pedestrian

Light Is Sought for Fatal Corner

Petitions for a traffic light at the Commerce Township intersection where two young sisters were killed earlier this week were presented this morning to Township Supervisor Thomas Tiley.

Bearing about 700 signatures, the petitions asked for traffic signals at Carroll Lake and Commerce Roads and Wise and Carroll Lake Road.

Two sisters, Mary A. Wilson, 14, and Lynette, 13, both of 280 Wise, Commerce Township, were killed at the latter intersection when a car collided with a school bus and then skidded into four students waiting for another bus.

An 11-member citizens group met at the site of the fatal accident and then proceeded to the Township Hall to meet with Tiley.

★ ★ ★

Leaders of the group were Louis Shatrau, 145 Wise, who lives on the northeast corner of the intersection, and William Post, 267 Annapolis, also Commerce Township.

ALSO ATTENDING

Also attending the meeting were Rolland Langerman, assistant school superintendent of the Walled Lake Consolidated School District, and State Rep. Clifford H. Smart.

"We need action and we need it now," Shatrau told Tiley.

The supervisor said he was scheduled to meet this afternoon with the Oakland County Road Commission to talk over the whole problem.

★ ★ ★

Tiley said a traffic light itself might be more hindrance than help.

'TOO CLOSE'

He said the stop signs for Wise were too close to the intersection. The signs should be moved back, he said.

In addition, the supervisor thought warning signs should be erected to warn motorists of the stop.

Tiley said a red blinker should also be installed at the Wise-Carroll Lake Road intersection.

★ ★ ★

He said the cost for a traffic signal would be about $1,200.

REASONABLE CHANCE

Tiley indicated the township had a reasonable chance of securing a light for Commerce and Carroll Lake Roads.

Speaking of the cost, Shatrau said it cost about the same thing to "bury your kids."

The other spokesman for the citizens group, Post said they wanted the light within a month.

Said Tiley, "It's not entirely the conditions of the road. It's the darn fool drivers."

ROADBLOCKS MENTIONED

Post said that if the county didn't do something, the people would. He indicated roadblocks could be set up each day until after the school buses had gone by.

"If the county doesn't like it that's the county's problem," said Post.

Rep. Smart said that in his judgment the site of the fatal accident was not the worst corner in the township.

He cited the corner near Walled Lake High School on South Commerce as a trouble spot, and also South Commerce and Glengary.

'BE REASONABLE'

Urging a reasonable approach, Smart said, "I don't think this is any time to start panicking and trying to find someone to put the finger on."

★ ★ ★

Smart suggested, "Let's look at the whole thing and let's come up with some sensible recommendations."

Death Auto Is Inspected for Defects

The wrecked car that killed two young sisters Monday was undergoing a thorough inspection today to determine if any mechanical defects may have been responsible for causing the accident.

The examination of the new car was authorized late yesterday by Asst. Prosecutor Timothy E. Dinan, in charge of the investigation.

The car is at the central garage in the county's service center. A crew of county mechanics was conducting the inspection.

Driven by Mrs. Kenneth Ostin, 4, of 335 Main, Milford, the auto collided with a school bus and then careened into a group of four children.

The accident occurred at Carroll Lake and Wise in Commerce Township.

★ ★ ★

Fatally injured were Mary A. Wilson, 14, and her sister, Lynette, 13, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wilson, of 280 Wise, Commerce Township.

FAIR CONDITION

Mrs. Ostin is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dinan said that he expected to order a warrant charging Mrs. Ostin with negligence, but wanted the car to be inspected first "to be positive that no mechanical failure was involved."

overpasses in the city: one over West Huron in front of Webster School and the other over East Wide Track at Whittemore.

★ ★ ★

Other overpasses are in the planning stage for construction this year, the mayor said.

BEAUTIFICATION

He also said that 1965 saw the start of the city's beautification program with the planting of more than 800 trees and shrubs.

Two downtown parking lots were redesigned and resurfaced last year. A third parking lot improvement was making the city lot on Huron, between Mill and East Wide Track, an all-day parking area.

Under development and redevelopment, Taylor cited the construction of trunk water mains on Joslyn, Giddings and Walton in 1965 at a total cost of about $300,000.

★ ★ ★

Taylor labeled this the first concrete step toward developing the northeast section of the city.

OTHER AREA

Other water mains include one on Voorheis, Telegraph to James K, on several streets in the north end, and on streets on the east side of the city.

Sanitary sewer construction last year, according to Taylor, included several areas, such as on Walton, Cortwright, Joslyn and Bloomfield.

Tagged as the second concrete step toward opening the northeast section of the city for development, Taylor said plans were made last year for the construction this year of the important Galloway Creek trunk sanitary sewer.

★ ★ ★

The new trunk sewer will serve over 1,900 acres.

NEW COST

Taylor pointed out that the sewer, which is to be constructed through an agreement with the Oakland County Department of Public Works, has a new total cost of $567,000.

The city stands to save $295,000 by letting the county put in the sewer rather than for the city to proceed alone, he said. Sewage revenues will pay for the sewer.

Construction got under way in late 1965 for the second leg of rechanneling the Clinton River within the city.

★ ★ ★

Still another major sewer project is in the planning stage, according to Taylor. This is a trunk sewer down Opdyke to serve the projected osteopathic college at Auburn and Opdyke.

'TREMENDOUS RESPONSE'

On the college, Taylor said 1965 saw the end of the community drive to purchase the college site. He said $416,000 was raised in a "tremendous response" by the public.

The first office building has gone up.

Storm drains are other facilities put in place in 1965 in various locations around the city, said the mayor. Other major drains — the Hamlin and Murphy drains—are in the planning stages.

Taylor claimed a banner year in 1965 for the city's street-lighting program. Almost every section of the city became better lighted with the installation of 489 new lights.

"Last year your City Commission averted a major problem which would have developed over the next few years, by purchasing and annexing 235 acres north of the city to be used for a sanitary land-fill operation," claimed Taylor.

Taylor added that the site has been approved by the State Health Department and should serve the city for 20 years.

Last year also saw the city take on responsibility for development of a 25-acre industrial park on a site north of South Boulevard, the mayor said.

★ ★ ★

The city received a gift of $110,000 worth of equity from the Greater Pontiac Development Corp. to take over the park project.

FINANCING

Resale of the land is to finance development costs of the project.

Another important event in 1965 was the relocation of a scrap yard operation from the core of the city, according to the mayor.

The scrap yard firm is to move onto a site near the city's new sanitary landfill along Collier.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on downtown redevelopment, Taylor said:

"We have been meeting with developers and believe that we are rapidly approaching a time when we will be able to announce firm, concrete plans for a development that will rejuvenate the central business district."

CONSIDERING PURCHASE

Taylor's message also noted the city's current consideration of an offer to purchase the property and service building owned by Consumers Power Co. on Wessen.

Up-to-date facilities would be provided for several city departments now in scattered locations.

Major strides were taken in 1965 in meeting the housing needs of low, medium and high-income families, claimed Taylor.

★ ★ ★

He said over 1,300 multiple dwelling units were either under construction or in the planning stages in 1965.

Also in the area of housing, the mayor noted that 65 low-income units were constructed last year.

★ ★ ★

Two systematic code enforcement programs were inaugurated as part of the city's intensified campaign to rid Pontiac of substandard housing.

★ ★ ★

Taylor said the case load is large, but substandard structures came last year at the rate of more than one per week.

gested that lower Manhattan be divided into quarters.

In each quarter employers would be asked to let their workers off at a different time between 3 and 5 p.m.

Mayor John V. Lindsay puffed into City Hall this morning, knocking three minutes off yesterday's hiking time from his hotel. Then he went to the Hotel Americana for the first time to meet with mediators.

★ ★ ★

Lindsay said he believed the transit negotiations were "moving."

COURT ORDER

Trainmen of the Long Island Rail Road plan to argue today that a federal court order should be lifted, allowing them to stop train service into New York in support of striking bus and subway workers.

They contend that the thousands of Queens residents diverted from the subway to the railroad are endangering the safe operation of the line.

Quill remained at Bellevue Hospital, where his condition was reported as serious but not critical.

★ ★ ★

An electrocardiogram showed no definite sign of a heart attack, but a medical spokesman said the tests are still being studied.

HEART TROUBLE

Dr. Harry Zuckerman, who has treated Quill's previous heart trouble, said he is "suffering from total exhaustion. That's all we know at the moment."

★ ★ ★

The 60-year-old president of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union hurled his defiance at a court order that he get the buses and subways running again right up to the moment he collapsed in the civil jail. He and eight other union officials had been arrested shortly before for contempt.

Complaints About Taxis May Bring Law Revision

BIRMINGHAM — Complaints about the operation of taxicab companies in the city may result in revising the city ordinance controlling the firms.

★ ★ ★

The City Commission this week, after receiving a report from the taxicab board, directed the city attorney to draft amendments to the ordinance for its consideration.

The board has recommended that the ordinance be changed so violations can be processed through municipal court and the company or owners be subject to fines.

Presently, the board has the power to suspend or revoke the cab company's license. It was noted that if this was done "the already inadequate service" would be further hampered.

★ ★ ★

It was the opinion of the board that the revised ordinance should make it mandatory for taxicab companies to advise their passengers at the time they accept calls for trips outside the city of the rates that will be charged if they are any different from the rates charged in Birmingham.

CLEAR CHARGE

In addition, the rate card should show clearly what rates will be charged and under what conditions they will be used, the board said.

The most frequent complaint received, according to the board, is of poor service and occasional failure of a cab to respond after having accepted a call.

The ordinance should require that the taxicab respond to a call within a reasonable length of time, the board said. It suggested a waiting time of 15 minutes.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Dr. Walter P. Nickell, naturalist at Cranbrook Institute of Science and recipient of the recent Detroit Audubon Society citation, will deliver his next illustrated lecture in the institute's science museum Jan. 19.

★ ★ ★

The lecture is a summary of what is known about northern migrant birds which twice a year, spring and fall, fly to their nesting grounds in the north and return to winter quarters in the tropics across the Gulf of Mexico.

Restaurant Hit by Grease Fire

Sudden combustion of grease in a deep fryer is blamed for a fire which partially gutted the kitchen and interior of the Red Barn Restaurant at 445 Elizabeth Lake yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Assistant Fire Chief Charles Marion directed two engines and a ladder truck in fighting the blaze, extinguished in just over an hour after the alarm was received at 3:38 p.m.

Damages, according to Fire Marshal Charles Metz, were "at least" $10,000. No injuries were reported.

Metz said a faulty thermostat on the deep fryer permitted the grease to overheat and then ignite.

Four Children Killed in Fire

Winding. Nancy was a sixth grader, while Donald and Julie were in third and second grade, respectively.

Larry, clad in only a pair of shorts, summoned the Cadwells, next door neighbors, after battling flames and escaping with only a burned arm.

"He was hysterical," said Mrs. Cadwell, whose husband—a onetime fire fighter himself—attempted to save the children.

★ ★ ★

Cadwell kicked in the kitchen door and tried to enter the dwelling on his hands and knees, but the heat was too intense.

RUSHED TO WINDOW

After calling police and firemen, Mrs. Cadwell rushed to a rear window in an attempt to bring Katheryn to safety.

"It was just too intense," she said sadly.

Katheryn was sleeping in a downstairs bedroom, while the other children were in two upstairs bedrooms.

★ ★ ★

According to reports of police and neighbors, which somewhat conflicted, the two boys woke up first and Larry lost Donald in the smoke while trying to lead him to safety.

Police said that the boys woke up the two younger girls, but apparently couldn't reach Katheryn, a sophomore at Waterford Township High School.

Teen Hit Records Sell on Cuba Black Market

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana teen-agers swing to black market rock'n' roll records, says a 14-year-old airlift refugee.

Such music, frowned on by Cuba's Communist government, sometimes costs as much as $40 per album, the youth said. Records are smuggled into Cuba, he added. The boy declined use of his name.

Flush Cong From Hill Hideouts

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Korean Marines and Vietnamese paratroopers have flushed a large Viet Cong force out of hideouts in hundreds of caves and tunnels in the coastal hills near Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon.

Six Skyraider fighter-bombers caught one fleeing guerrilla band in the open as "Operation Jefferson" drew to a close, and the pilots claimed that 60 of the black-clad insurgents were killed.

★ ★ ★

In five days of fighting, the Koreans and Vietnamese claimed 278 Viet Cong killed at a cost of light casualties to themselves. The Communists launched a counterattack Tuesday night, but evidently decided to flee today, leaving a major guerrilla base area in Phu Yen Province to the allied force, spokesmen said.

The Viet Cong broke off contact at midday. Operation Jefferson relied heavily on artillery and air support, and the Koreans used nonlethal tear gas to drive some of the Communists from their hideouts.

HELICOPTER LOST

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, airmobile, Division lost one of its huge flying helicopter cranes in a crash near Mang Yang Pass, in the central highland 275 miles northeast of Saigon. All aboard were killed. The $6-million craft normally carries a three-man crew, but military spokesmen did not know immediately how many persons were aboard or the cause of the crash.

As the fighting raged in the south, the director of the U.S. Agency for International Development, David Bell, announced that American commodity assistance to South Viet Nam would be doubled in 1966 to $400 million in foodstuffs. The United States has been forced to ship rice to the war-ravaged country, which normally is a rice exporter.

Bell, on an inspection tour, said financial assistance for such other imports as fertilizer and construction material would be increased considerably but probably would not double the 1965 total of $130 million.

U.S. Marines ranging out of their big base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, scrapped with the Communists for the first time in days of fruitless patroling. The Viet Cong threw up mortar fire, wounding eight Leathernecks, including four officers and a master sergeant, in a valley 18 miles southwest of Da Nang.

RECESS TALK — John D. Swenson (right) of Bossier City, La., confers with attorneys yesterday during a recess in the reopened House Un-American Activities Committee hearings on the Ku Klux Klan. Swenson testified he had long ago burned any records he had so they wouldn't fall into the hands of the enemy—"the Communists." Swenson declined to say whether he was a Klansman.

World News Roundup

AF Flies In Machines for Peru Project

PANAMA (AP) — The U.S. Air Force has flown more than a million pounds of heavy road-building equipment across the 16,000-foot Andes for a Peruvian project to open up thousands of square miles of undeveloped fertile land.

★ ★ ★

The 317th Troop Carrier Wing from Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio, flew 38 sorties ending Monday from the coastal town of Chiclayo to the isolated villages of Tarapoto and Bellavista, the Air Force said.

★ ★ ★

The unit's C130 Hercules transports were on temporary duty in Panama when the Peruvian air force asked for help in transporting the tractors, bulldozers and road graders.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Col. H.V. Hopkins, commander of the 317th Wing, said even if his men "didn't know the 'big picture' of what this means to people on the east side of the Andes, we would understand from the number of people and cheers greeting us on every landing and from the way the men of the community turned out to help unload the cargo."

President Fernando Belaunde-Terry called personally on Christmas Day to show his appreciation, Hopkins said.

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Venetian cat lovers are on guard against two British women they were told planned to destroy sick stray felines and sterilize others to reduce the cat population in the city of canals.

Miss Mabel Hawkins and Helena Sanders arrived Tuesday but insisted they came only to study the situation and offer advice on how to control the cat population.

"Tales about our planning to kill any cats are an utter distortion," Mrs. Sanders said.

She said she and many friends have had summer vacations in Venice ruined "by the sight of scrawny, filthy, dying cats, many of them drowned in the canals in the midst of general indifference."

The city put 20 agents from the Italian Association for Animal Protection on their trail.

LYON, France (AP) — The fire in the butane gas refinery 20 miles south of Lyon was brought under control today, more than 24 hours after it started, and officials reported 13 persons dead and one missing.

★ ★ ★

Officials said first checks showed that a valve on a storage tank stuck, releasing a cloud of gas which spread to a road, and a passing car apparently provided the spark which fired the gas. The flames set off a chain of explosions in five storage tanks containing some 10,000 metric tons of gas.

At least seven of the dead were firemen who answered the first alarm and were caught in succeeding blats.

General's Jet Hit Treetops

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — An Air Force general bringing a jet plane in for an instrument landing in dark, rainy weather apparently plowed through half a mile of treetops northwest of here before plunging to his death in Puget Sound.

Maj. Gen. I. L. Branch, 53, commander of the Edwards Air Force Base Flight Test Center in California, vanished from radarscopes only a few miles from his destination Sunday. He was flying to Seattle on Air Force business.

★ ★ ★

The wreckage of the general's plane, his Air Force blue tunic with his name inside it and some aeronautical charts were found Tuesday. The wreckage was scattered along a half-mile swath leading from a timbered ridge to the beach at Point Jefferson, across the sound about five miles from here. The charts were on the beach and the uniform jacket was in the water.

Coast Guard craft remained in the area overnight in a continuing search for the general's body. Search officials held no hope that he survived the crash.

Bogalusa Klansmen May Be Called Next

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities is expected to call Ku Klux Klan members from Bogalusa, La., as witnesses today.

A number of Bogalusa residents under committee subpoena sat in the front rows Tuesday awaiting their turn as the committee, reopening its Klan hearings, centered on a north Louisiana Klan group. Bogalusa, near the Mississippi border, has been described as a center of Klan activity and racial violence.

★ ★ ★

Judging from Tuesday's testimony, the committee again is seeking to link the Klan with violence and to portray its leaders as profiting financially from Klan activities. It pursued a similar line at earlier hearings last October.

The committee heard testimony Tuesday about six-man "wrecking crews" to be set up in each local Klan with their identities kept secret even from their fellow Klansmen. The subject of castration also was brought up.

But the testimony came from the committee's chief investigator, Donald T. Appell, not from Louisiana Klan witnesses.

★ ★ ★

The witnesses called, identified as leaders of the original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, operating in northern Louisiana, invoked the Fifth Amendment and declined to testify, following the pattern of Eastern seaboard Klan leaders during the committee's hearings last fall.

★ ★ ★

Murray H. Martin of Winnsboro, La., identified as a high official of this Klan group, was on the stand refusing to answer all questions when castration was brought up.

Appell said it was discussed at a Klan meeting in Montgomery, Ala., May 22, 1965.

★ ★ ★

He asked if it was "reported by any leaders that they would not engage in castration, but if it was necessary to liquidate someone to prove the Klan was not kidding, this would be done?" Martin wouldn't answer.

Claim Attitudes Form Early

Certain general attitudes of an individual throughout his entire life may well have their origins in the first four days of his existence, say two University of California Medical School doctors who have been studying this "critical" period in an infant's life.

RESEARCH

Pediatrician Arthur H. Parmalee and psychiatrist Justin Call feel their continuing research already has indicated that such things as our attitudes of trust or mistrust, our optimistic outlooks as opposed to pesimistic ones, and even our capacity for being principled or unprincipled are determined in the first four days of life.

★ ★ ★

Included in their research are the mother-infant relationship and infant reactions, both natural and acquired.

The gradual buildup of a person's sense of reality and his capacity for future learning also may be founded upon what happens in those early days.

America's largest herd of wild buffalo — some 1,200 — roams South Dakota's Custer State Park.

Duchess of Windsor Pattern

The great success of the Duchess of Windsor's fashion designs is due to her super fine taste. When ordering for herself, she just naturally edits a lot of buckles and bows off the clothes.

At the same time she appreciates with a gay young zest a new line or shape. The Duchess of Windsor thinks this new low flare does the most for the most women.

This slender one piece dress may be made with or without sleeves. Bias satin trimly trims the neck, makes the bow and either trims the armhole or the bottom of the sleeve. The back buttons down to a deep inverted box pleat. The beautiful diagonal seam from there goes down and around to the bow. It is carefully matched at the side seams.

★ ★ ★

Make it of a sheer wool, raw silk, shantung, faille or satin. Later in linen and cotton. Next fall make it in velvet or brocade. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

The Cat's Meow

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. J. F. Sargent heard her pet cat, Scamper, screeching as she was doing her weekly washing. After stopping her automatic washing machine, she found Scamper, who had gone through a wash, three rinses and part of a spin dry —along with a soggy rug. Other than swollen eyes from the effects of the detergent, the cat was unharmed.

Calling All 'Lost Zetas' to Meeting

Mrs. Paul E. Sleeper of Birmingham, publicity chairman for Zeta Phi Eta, has announced that the "call is out for any lost members" of the group, oldest national professional speech fraternity for women.

A meeting of the newly formed Michigan alumni organization is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 11 in the Birmingham home of Nancy Savage on Shirley Drive.

FOR BLIND

Area Zetas plan to begin work on a tape recording program for the blind, approved by the Library of Congress.

Books recorded become part of the permanent collection loaned to blind people throughout the country by the library.

Zeta Phi Eta is the first and only national organization to provide volunteer readers for the library's newly established taping program.

★ ★ ★

The general public also may participate in the program. Fraternity members and others interested may obtain further details by contacting Miss Savage.

Be Sure Child Has Protection From Measles

EVANSTON, Ill. — All children who have not had measles should be immunized against the disease.

This is the recommendation of the American Academy of Pediatrics which points out that if this were done the vexing childhood disease could be eliminated by 1970.

In New York City, Project Knockout Measles is now under way in an effort to head off the high incidence, which usually begins in January.

According to Dr. John R. Philip, Acting Commissioner of New York's Department of Health, "measles can be a serious disease leading to complications such as encephalitis which can cause death or be followed by permanent brain damage.

"Now that we have effective measles vaccines," says the physician, "we can do the same thing to measles that we did to polio — that is, knock it out."

Easy on Enamel

Shastri-Kahn Private Meeting May Determine Any Progress in Kashmir Conference

MAKE OVER PAGES

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan met for an hour today in a private session which officials of both countries had said might determine whether the Tashkent summit conference yields significant results.

There was no immediate indication of what transpired at the meeting. But Foreign Minister Swaran Singh and Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan of India met this afternoon with Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto of Pakistan for detailed discussion of issues Ayub and Shastri could take up later, an Indian spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, the host for the conference which opened Tuesday, was reported urging both sides to push their 18-year-old dispute over Kashmir — the chief cause of trouble between the two nations — into the background.

Kosygin met with Shastri for nearly two hours Tuesday night and again for an hour this morning. It was reported both sessions revolved around the Kashmir issue and the apparent deadlock it has caused in the conference.

KOSYGIN INTERVENED

Indian sources said Kosygin also intervened personally to persuade Shastri and Ayub not to embarrass him by bickering over Kashmir in their public speeches at the opening of the conference. Both leaders forcibly restated their positions on the Himalayan state but spoke in relatively moderate language.

Now that they have entered the India-Pakistan dispute as mediators, the Soviet leaders want to obtain agreement on at least some of the issues dividing the two South Asian neighbors. Kosygin clearly is out to solve things if he can, rather than being just an amiable host providing a new forum for old arguments. Both the Indians and Pakistanis appear to believe Kosygin will wring concessions from the other side.

★ ★ ★

Shastri's public stance at the conference is that India and Pakistan must sign a no-war pact to establish a peaceful atmosphere in which minor problems can be solved.

MAIN ISSUE

He has indicated these could include normalization of diplomatic relations, increased trade, and a cessation of propaganda attacks now flowing from both countries.

Ayub contends the Kashmir quarrel is the main issue between India and Pakistan differences and must be solved first, before any no-war agreement.

Aides of both men stated the impasse to newsmen in blunter terms.

★ ★ ★

Foreign Secretary C.S. Jha of India said his nation's sovereignty — its ownership — over Kashmir is not negotiable.

Pakistani Information Minister Altaf Gauhar said his country's relationship with India "will be constructed, or it will collapse, on the plank of Kashmir."

FBI Finds Suspect in Jail for Driving

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The FBI says a Sacramento cook jailed in Auburn, Calif., Monday on a drunken driving charge is on its 10 most wanted list.

The FBI said Lawrence J. Higgins, 52, was wanted in connection with a $774 armed robbery Feb. 15, 1965, of the Crocker Citizens National Bank of Covina, Calif.

★ ★ ★

He was to be arraigned on a federal bank robbery charge today.

Two Ineligible Players Cloud Sun Bowl Tilt

Texas Western Pair Played in 13-12 Win Over TCU Eleven

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Two Texas Western football players were ineligible when they played in the New Year's Eve Sun Bowl game against Texas Christian, reports George McCarthy, Texas Western athletic director.

He said a decision whether or not to forfeit the game would be announced at a news conference today.

★ ★ ★

McCarthy said Tuesday night that end Bob Wallace and linebacker Fred Carr were eligible for season play but ineligible for the post-season El Paso Sun Bowl game won by Texas Western, 13-12.

"Wallce and Carr were ineligible for the Sun Bowl game, but the situation arose merely from an oversight," McCarthy said.

Texas Western Coach Bobby Dobbs refused to comment, saying: "I will have to know more about the situation before I can say anything."

NCAA CALLED

McCarthy said he would confer with NCAA officials but indicated previous rulings might mean Wallace and Carr would be ineligible for post-season play next year, but this year's game would not be forfeited.

The two players' ineligibility was first reported by Dick Smith, a sports writer for the Arizona Republic in Phoenix. Smith charged that Wallace and Carr did not meet NCAA junior college transfer requirements.

★ ★ ★

Both players were recruited last summer and saw plenty of action for the Texas Western Miners this season. They attended Phoenix Junior College before transferring to the El Paso school.

Smith reported that Texas Christian Athletic Director Abe Martin said, "I didn't bother to make an eligibility check on them before the game.

"I figured that if their players had played all season they would be eligible," Martin said.

NO COMMENT

Smith said the NCAA office in Kansas City, Mo., discussed the rules and Chuck Neinas, an NCAA representative, declined to comment further.

Smith outlined the rules governing transfers as: be a graduate of a junior college or have a minimum of 48 semester or 72 quarter hours of credits or a minimum of 24 semester or 36 quarter hours of acceptable transfer credit with a B average.

★ ★ ★

Phoenix Junior College officials were quoted by Smith as saying neither player would meet those eligibility requirements.

Bob Scheffing Tries Desk Job

NEW YORK (UPI) — So now it comes time for the big transition and while some men never are able to get used to a desk after spending most of their life on the field, Bob Scheffing is sure he can make the adjustment.

Scheffing, at 52, finds himself an executive for the first time as director of player development with the New York Mets.

★ ★ ★

The title is a little high sounding and what it really means is that Scheffing, who managed his first professional ball club when he was only 25 years old, now will serve as farm director of the Mets.

He likes his new job fine and although most people still look upon him as a prospective manager because of his previous experience with the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs, Scheffing didn't take his present job with the Mets with the idea in his mind that he might manage them some day.

VISITING BOSS

In town to meet hs new employers, Scheffing, who succeeds Eddie Stanky with the Mets, talked about some of the feelings a major league manager experiences from day to day.

"Managing is more rewarding than any other job I know of," he conceded. "I'm speaking from a personal standpoint now. It's also the most exasperating job in the world.

"The best thing about the job is you know exactly where you stand after every game. It's all down there in black and white in every newspaper. All you have to do is check the standings," he laughed.

"After a manager has a bad experience," he continued, "and by that I mean after he's let out, he gets disgusted with the job and tells himself he'd never go back to it. Then after you're out of it awhile, you begin to miss it."

★ ★ ★

Scheffing was let out by the Tigers in June of 1963 and he has had offers to manage since but declined them all.

There was no bitterness on either part when Detroit General Manager Jim Campbell notified Scheffing he was through back in 1963.

The parting came something like this:

"I'm sorry, Scheff, but we've got to make a change," said Campbell.

★ ★ ★

"That's your privilege," replied Scheffing.

The two men were good friends then and still are now.

New School Is Loser

Adlai Stevenson High School, of Livonia which will enter the Inter-Lakes Conference next season, has no varsity basketball team, but its sophomore quintet played the Walled Lake reserves and lost a 64-45 decision last night. Greg Fogle had 23 for the winners.

Underdogs Find Games Too Long

By the Associated Press

College basketball games run 40 minutes and that's about 20 too many for Brown and Tulane.

Two lightly regarded teams, the Bruins and Green Wave had upsets on their minds Tuesday night. Brown had sixth- ranked Providence on the ropes and Tulane had No. 3 Vanderbilt in trouble at halftime although you'd never know it by the final scores.

The Friars whipped Brown 66-48 after trailing 28-27 at intermission. Vanderbilt came alive with a 14-0 string at the start of the second half that wiped out a 36-34 Tulane lead and started the Commodores to a 91-69 Southeastern Conference victory.

★ ★ ★

Brown's controlled offense and tenacious defense had Providence struggling. The visiting Bruins held highly touted Jim Walker without a field goal in the first half. But Providence, which had been averaging 86 points per game, scored nine straight opening the second half and broke away.

Walker, who scored 50 in the Friars' championship victory last week in New York's Holiday Festival, wound up with 15, hitting only five for 19 from the floor. Bill Blair led the Friars with 20.

TULANE ZONED

Vanderbilt, playing at home, switched to a zone defense that threw Tulane off in the second half. The Commodores had four men in double figures with Clyde Lee's 22 high.

Lee didn't score his first field goal until 11 minutes were gone in the half and Tulane's 50 per cent field goal percentage for the first 20 minutes compared to Vandy's 36.7 got the Green Wave in front.

The victory ran Vanderbilt's record to 11-1. Tulane is 3-6.

Texas Tech broke a Southwest Conference record and North Dakota struck a blow for the small colleges in other games Tuesday.

The Red Raiders routed Baylor 115-77 at Lubbock in the league opener for both teams. Sophomore Bob Gloper led Tech with 26 points and 21 rebounds as five men hit double figures.

North Dakota, which had lost to majors Minnesota and Bradley for its only setbacks this season, downed DePaul 85-74. The Sioux, fifth-ranked in The Associated Press small college poll, got 30 points from 6-8 Phil Jackson and handed the visiting Blue Demons their second loss in 12 starts. Massachusetts Institute of Technology edged Harvard 86-84 for its first victory over the Crimson in 22 years. Alex Wilson had 34 points, four of them in last two minutes as MIT held off a late Harvard spurt. Keith Sadlacek led the losers with 26.

Slips From Oilers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dave McCormick, LSU tackle who reportedly signed with the Houston Oilers after the Cotton Bowl game Saturday, has signed with the San Francisco 49ers intead, an Oiler spokesman said Tuesday night.
