Chrysler Local Officials Called to UAW Parley

Enforcement of Union No-Strike Policy Set for Discussion

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union leadership called a meeting today of local union officials from Chrysler plants in the Detroit area to discuss enforcement of the union's no-strike policy.

The union completed a full week of operating without contracts at Chrysler, General Motors and Ford. Its 500,000 members at the big three are under orders to stay on the job and not provoke strikes.

But trouble flared yesterday at Chrysler's Plymouth body and assembly plants here. The company shut down operations at both plants, idling a total of 5,400 workers on two shifts.

The company said two men who had been union stewards under the old contract set off a work stoppage after they were laid off for refusing work at assigned jobs.

This resulted in a shutdown, the company said, idling 1,500 workers in the body plant and 1,200 in the assembly plant.

A similar situation developed at the start of the second shift, the company said. The company statement said: "Because several trim department employees at the Plymouth Detroit body plant refused to start work on the second shift it was impossible for the company to continue normal operations." The dispute followed Chrysler's decision to put into effect new rules restricting the amount of time chief stewards and shop committee members can take from their jobs to handle grievances of UAW members.

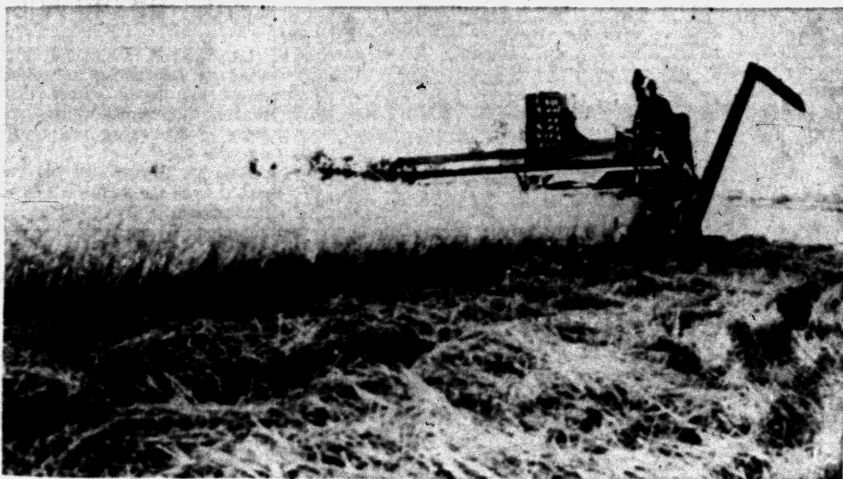

Chrysler said it "has established a reasonable procedure for handling grievances and for union representation consistent with the industry pattern during the period when it does not have a contract with the UAW."

The union charged the company was attempting to provoke strikes by disciplining minor union officials in the plants. The company denied this.

New contract negotiations, which now have to start over from scratch, are in recess until Monday at all big three companies.

The companies said their original proposal to extend for two years the wage formula of the 1955 contracts automatically expired when the contracts ran out at GM May 29 and at Ford and Chrysler June 1. The fruitless negotiations first got under way at GM March 29.

Golden Grain Flows in Oklahoma

BUMPER HARVEST — Harvest of a bumper wheat crop in Northwest Oklahoma started this week, so early it surprised farmers themselves.

WHEAT DUMPED IN STREET — An estimated 250,000 bushels of wheat block a downtown street at Synder, Okla., as Oklahoma's bumper wheat crop is harvested. Elevators, bulging at seams, could take no more and golden grain was piled up in streets to await shipment. Crop may be best in 10 years with some fields yielding 80 bushels to the acre. Hot, dry weather pushed harvest ahead of schedule.

Slate Hearing on Proposed Plan Thursday

State Hopes to Start Work on This Section Early in 1960

The proposed route of the northern portion of the $60 million north-south Oakland Expressway was disclosed today by State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

Mackie also announced that a public hearing on the route will be held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at Lincoln Junior High School.

The section, 25 miles in length, will run from Pontiac north to the Oakland-Genesee county line. It will be a relocation of U.S. 10.

It will connect eventually with another section running from Pontiac south to Detroit where it will join the Walter P. Chrysler Expressway which will run to the Detroit River. The Pontiac north section is scheduled to be under contract in 1960, Mackie said.

LANES 24 FEET WIDE — The highway will consist of two 24-foot-wide lanes, divided. A 300-foot right-of-way will be necessary to accommodate the road, he said.

The Highway Department also plans to build a section of road that would pick up the end of the Oakland Highway and carry it on into Flint. Hearing on this Genesee section will be held later this month, Mackie disclosed.

The long-range plan will have the expressway run from Detroit all the way to the Straits of Mackinaw, he added.

This northern section will have the following route: Beginning at the junction of M24, just northeast of Pontiac, the route runs northwesterly across Joslyn and Baldwin roads, then northwest to a connection with M15, north of Clarkston.

Continuing northwest, the route cuts across existing U.S. 10, then runs north, approximately one mile west of and parallel to it, ending at the Oakland-Genesee county line.

BRIDGES LISTED

Bridges have been proposed along the route at Walton road, M24, Giddings road, Joslyn road, Baldwin road, Clintonville road, Waldon road, Sashabaw road, Clarkston road, M15 (Ortonville road), Holcomb road, existing U.S. 10, Davisburg road, existing M87 (Holly road), Grange Hall road, Lahring road, Belford road, and at the county line.

Interchanges would be located at M24, Joslyn road, Baldwin road, Sashabaw road, M15, existing U.S. 10, existing M87, Grange Hall road, and at the county line.

The public hearing Thursday will give interested persons a chance to ask questions about the route of the northern section, its economic effects and condemnation construction schedules. Conducting the hearings will be Joseph E. Wilbur, hearings engineer, and Duane Russell, public hearings representative.

State Threatens to Move In County Warned on Drains

LANSING (UPI) — The state today served notice on southeastern Oakland County communities that they had better solve their drainage problems or the state will move in.

Representatives of the county, the Twelve Towns Drain and the southeastern Oakland County communities met with Attorney General Paul Adams, State Health Commissioner Albert E. Heustis and other state officials yesterday to discuss the problem.

Heustis told the local representatives the state had "serious apprehensions" over the health problems caused by flooding of basements and overflow of sewers and drains in the area.

"Lack of adequate facilities for sewage treatment results in frequent, almost daily, discharges of untreated sewage into Red Run and then into the Clinton River," he said. "The situation is intolerable."

PERMITS STOPPED

He said the health department has stopped issuing permits for expansion of sewers in the area because of the condition but even so, "present hazards continue undiminished."

"Our concern, our obligation in fact, is to do every single thing we can to bring about a correction of this condition at the very earliest moment," he said. "Time, truly, is of the essence."

"We propose, acting under the counsel of the attorney general, to proceed forthwith to meet that responsibility."

Adams said he had suggested that Heustis send a blanket order to all communities, acting as a single unit of government, to begin construction of sewers to alleviate the problem.

Daniel W. Barry, Oakland County drain commissioner, said he had been working with the communities involved and felt the communities were close to reaching a solution of their own to the problem.

He asked the state to allow him two more weeks to reach a solution.

Claude Stephens, Detroit attorney who is working for the Twelve Towns Drain organization, explained progress was being held up by inability to market bonds for planned expansions of the drainage system. Stephens said Troy and Southfield, the two communities which first contested the authority, were "almost ready" to appeal the case to the Supreme Court and this off any immediate action in an effort to clear the way for construction of new facilities. Adams said his office would hold out the problems themselves."

BULLETIN

As of press time no explanation of the explosion had been given from any source.

Rumors included that of a plane crash, a jet breaking the sound barrier, a home explosion on Joslyn road, and a Fisher Body plant blast.

Pontiac Police found no trouble at Fisher Body, could find no home that had exploded, no missing plane was reported, and a check with Selfridge Air Force Base disclosed that no jets were airborne this morning.

Gen. De Gaulle Sets Referendum Date

PARIS (UPI) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle and his Cabinet today set Oct. 5 as the date for a nationwide referendum on a new constitution to end the "impotence of the public authorities."

De Gaulle consulted urgently with his ministers amid reports that the rebellious military-civilian juntas thought crushed in Algeria might try to spread their influence to metropolitan France.

Members of the revolutionary "Committees of Public Safety" which swept De Gaulle to power agreed publicly in Algeria to heed his orders to stop agitating.

But there was strong evidence De Gaulle left considerable bitterness in Algeria.

Information Minister Andre Malraux announced the decision reached by De Gaulle and his Cabinet at a two-hour meeting, the first full-dress session since he took over as premier last week.

Malraux said De Gaulle also planned to hold municipal elections in Algeria within a month. He said the Cabinet also put the formal seal of approval on De Gaulle's decision to retain responsibility for Algerian affairs.

De Gaulle returned last night from a three-day triumphant tour of Algeria where he proclaimed the equality of its residents—Moslem and French alike.

He promised that Algeria would

Senate Passes $3.7 Billion Bill

Ike's Foreign Aid Plan Scores Victory by Top Heavy Vote Last Night

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate approved a $3,713,000,000 authorization bill last night to give President Eisenhower's foreign aid program a preliminary victory.

The top-heavy vote, as the clock neared midnight, was 51 to 17. A few moments later the Senate sent the bill to a Senate-House conference committee which must reconcile it with a somewhat smaller measure approved by the House.

On final passage, 26 Republicans joined 25 Democrats in voting for the bill. Opposing it were eight Republicans and nine Democrats.

As approved, the Senate bill was $3,942,000,000 requested by President Eisenhower and a little more than 100 million dollars larger than the House-passed version.

With that range to work in, the conference committee should bring forth a compromise which stays close to the President's blueprint.

But the pay-off round in the annual battle over the foreign aid program is still ahead. The Senate and House-passed bills authorize spending. In separate legislation later the Senate and House must provide money to finance the individual programs.

Thieves Clean Out House Even to Pictures on Wall

Farmington Township Police and State Police detectives are looking for thieves who appear to be furnishing their own homes. It was reported today.

Detectives reported that a model home in Kendallwood Subdivision, Farmington Township, had been burglarized of approximately $1,600 worth of furniture.

The home, located on Bonnet Hill road, reportedly had each of its three bedrooms completely cleaned out. The thieves even took all the pictures and fixtures from the walls, and draperies from windows, police said.

The furniture was owned by a Detroit firm, Farris Brothers Furniture, 4303 14th St. About a month ago a similar burglary took place when every room in a Twin Valley Subdivision home in Farmington was completely cleaned out, said police.

State Official Ends Career Due to Age

LANSING (AP)—Vernon J. Brown, a veteran Republican State official, ended his active career Friday because "infirmities which dog the steps of the aging are catching up with me."

The retiring commissioner had served in the Legislature and as Lieutenant Governor and State Auditor General before he was appointed by Williams in June, 1954.

He said dimming eyesight and impaired hearing were making it difficult to discharge his duties.

Williams thanked him for "manifold and devoted service" to the State.

Deny Knowing of Wire Tapping

Two Women Testify in Trial of Teamster President Hoffa

NEW YORK (AP)—Two women witnesses at the wiretap conspiracy trial of Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa testified yesterday they did not know whether any phones had been tapped at the union's Detroit headquarters in 1953.

Both also related in Federal District Court that they never gave anyone permission to listen in on union telephone conversations in the building as they had no such authority. And, in any event, no one asked such permission, they added.

The witnesses were Miss Bernice L. Burridge and Mrs. Judy Wall. Miss Burridge is office manager of Teamster Local 337 in Detroit. Mrs. Wall now is with the Michigan Conference of Teamsters but in 1953 was employed by the Retail Clerks Union, which had offices in the teamster building.

On trial with Hoffa are Owen B. Brennan, president of Teamster Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, a professional wiretapper. The government claims they were involved in a 1953 plan to tap phones so union officials could keep tabs on other union personnel.

Brennan's counsel, Jacob Rosenblum, concluded reading in court today Brennan's testimony before a Federal grand jury to the effect that Spindel was hired to clear teamster phone lines of any taps which might have been placed there, and to prevent future tapping.

At the conclusion of the court session, the trial was adjourned until Monday.

take part in the referendum on a new constitution, which would give the executive more powers and end the political game of "musical chairs" which has thrown France into crisis after crisis.

The announcement of municipal elections for Algeria in a month came as somewhat of a surprise. It was believed designed as a preparatory step toward the referendum and possibly toward electing and all-Algeria assembly as well as Algerian deputies to the French National Assembly.

De Gaulle has appointed Gen. Raoul Salan, commander-in-chief of the 400,000-man French force in Algeria, as his delegate-general, responsible only to the premier. Salan will be aided by an "important civilian administrator" yet to be named.

Malraux said De Gaulle will give a report to the nation on his Algerian visit next week. He also said nationwide celebrations will be organized for June 18—the 18th anniversary of De Gaulle's World War II rallying cry: "France has lost a battle. She has not lost the war."

Reflections REFLECTION EDITORIAL GRADUATION

With the cap and gown boys and girls will receive diplomas for hard work well done. They face a future the same as we did, see obstacles ahead, have no doubt they will resolve them, and they will. We will gladly pass on to them our frustrations, our defeats and our victories, give them the reins of authority, tell them to assume the captaincy of their world; they accept without hesitation.

From cap and gown they quickly change to work clothes, take up their new duties and begin to round out a better life for themselves and for us. Their approach is new, direct; they know why they are going and what they will do when they arrive; they have no slightest doubt of their arrival—and strange as it may seem, we share their optimism.

Boys and Girls we congratulate you. You've passed the first phase of life; now comes the most interesting—the application of what you have so laboriously discovered, in books.

Take 'Em Sitting

Hippiness Recedes With Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Many modern women keep a short reducing diet on hand so that they can follow it the minute they find they have gained a few pounds. They never wait longer than five extra pounds before beginning.

Many of these same women keep a few exercises in their minds. These are exercises which are especially effective in slimming the areas most likely to accumulate fat, namely, the waist, abdomen and hips. There are dozens for each figure fault but some are much more efficient than others.

The hip exercise I am giving you today is one of the latter. As a matter of fact, one of my friends uses it periodically when she notices a tendency toward that middle-aged spread.

Try It! Sit cross-legged on the floor. Now put your right foot flat on the floor in front of your left knee. Pull your left leg back (from knee to toe). Raise your Married today were Josephine Lois Stilwell and Walter R. Bennett. The bride is the daughter of Verne R. Stilwell and the late Mrs. Stilwell of Grand Rapids. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bennett.

MRS. WALTER R. BENNETT

Josephine Stilwell Wed to Walter R. Bennett

White carnations and white stock banked the altar of the Church of the Redeemer, Detroit, for the wedding this afternoon of Josephine Lois Stilwell and Walter R. Bennett. The Rev. Reginald Howden officiated before 175 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Verne R. Stilwell and the late Mrs. Stilwell of Grand Rapids and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bennett.

IN ORGANZA GOWN

The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white silk organza over seafoam green silk. The bodice was accented with white embroidery.

She wore a small pink hat with a pink veil decorated with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and carried a corsage of cascading white carnations centered with two pink and white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Carl F. Bartlett, niece of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a street-length gown of white silk organza over pink silk with a pink lace bodice. An off-the-face pink flower hat and a cascade of Nile green carnations completed her costume.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

'Non-Writers' Write to Request Favors

"I never write letters" explained the woman who hadn't bothered to write a thank you note for a favor done her.

She did, however, manage to write the letter requesting the favor. That's the way with most people who claim they never write letters.

Another which firms legs and tends to banish fat: Sit on the floor with your legs resting on the floor in front of you, knees stiff. Lean back comfortably on your hands. Bend the right leg up close to the abdomen. Return leg to floor.

As your right leg returns to the floor bend your left leg. In other words, as one leg bends the other straightens. Do this briskly.

Exercise is the magic which can reduce in inches without diet unless you are overweight.

If you would like to have exercises which I have found to be effective for hip-slimming, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

65— Lucky for You?

Lots of people are figuring that age 65 will be lucky for them. No more regular duties, time to relax, travel and do a hundred other things. And with enough money to do them. How? First, they have Social Security. Second, they have an easy, sensible plan of saving over the years. This way they need not forfeit their Social Security after 65 by having to work. Life of Virginia has a modern plan to make 65 lucky for you. The cost is less than you would guess. Let me tell you about it.

Andrews-Crane Nuptials Spoken in Church Rite

MRS. RAYMOND E. ANDREWS

Saint Benedict's Catholic Church was the setting for the wedding this morning of Mary Elizabeth Crane and Raymond Edward Andrews. The Rev. John J. Hoar performed the ceremony in the presence of 150 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Crane of Cooley street. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hugo E. Andrews of Wolfe street.

IN GOWN OF LACE

A floor-length gown with a scoop neckline trimmed with pearls, and long taper sleeves was selected by the bride. The dress featured a bouffant skirt which ended in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk French illusion was secured by a pearl crown, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses centered with a white orchid.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Donald E. Usrey wore a yellow floor-length gown accented by Rochelle lace ruffles and a draped nylon chiffon bodice.

A half-crown held her nose veil, and her flowers formed a colonial bouquet of bronze roses and white carnations.

Bridesmaids Alice Braswell and Zella Shaw of Chicago, wore pale blue dresses styled like the honor matron's. Their colonial bouquets consisted of pink roses and white carnations.

ATTENDS BRIDEGROOM

Donald E. Usrey attended as best man. Ushers were Gerald W. Andrews, cousin of the bridegroom, and David Eldridge of Birmingham.

For an evening reception held at the Armvets Hall, Mrs. Crane wore a powder blue sheath dress with white and blue accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Andrews chose a satin steel blue sheath with matching accessories and wore an orchid corsage.

Prior to leaving on a trip to New York City the bride changed to a powder blue sheath dress with white accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside on Ramona terrace.

Avoid Nickname

If you know someone hates a nickname, don't call him by it. Some people seem to take delight in such attempts to be funny. But it's no way to win or keep friends.

Failing Student Angered, So He Earns $20,000

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — John Graves cut too many chemistry classes as a high school senior last year and couldn't graduate. It made him mad.
The 18-year-old went to work selling encyclopedias. In less than a year he's jumped to an assistant vice-president of the P. F. Collier & Son Corp.
His pay this year before taxes: $20,000.
"The whole thing was a matter of principle," Graves said.
His father, Dr. Allen W. Graves, dean of the school of religious education at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary here, said his boy "was a rather individualistic sort of person."
Here's the way young Graves achieved his modern-day Horatio Alger story:
After failing to graduate from high school, he began looking for a job. The encyclopedia company hired him. In six weeks he was a field manager with five other salesmen under him.
In six months Graves was made

Desegregated Pools Closed in Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Both swimming facilities the city of St. Petersburg had maintained for white persons have been closed.
The beach near Municipal Pier was closed Thursday after eight Negroes swam there. The Spa Pool in the same area was closed yesterday — for planned renovation, recreation director Jack Puryear said.
The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said the action was a denial of the constitutional rights of all citizens of the city.
The U. S. Supreme Court ruled a year ago that St. Petersburg must open the beach and pool to Negroes but not until Thursday did Negroes follow up the ruling.
City Manager Ross Windom said the beach will remain closed until the City Council decides what action to take.
The city maintains a beach and a pool for Negroes.

Accidentally Kills Boy, Commits Suicide in Jail

ATLANTA (AP) — A railroad employe committed suicide in jail last night shortly after the car he was driving struck and killed a 5-year-old boy playing on a sidewalk, police reported.
Officers said George W. Harley, 41, was found hanging in the cell two hours after he was jailed in $5,000 bond in the death of Thomas G. Aycock Jr.
Patrolman W. R. Stewart said the boy suffered massive head and body injuries when his car hit him while he was standing beside a mailbox on a sidewalk. The boy's 8-year-old sister, Faye, was nearby but escaped injury.

Corinne Has New Way to Stay 'Pretty Slander'

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Corinne Calvet established herself as different in my notebook when she stated that she loves sack dresses and reduces by self-hypnosis.
"I stay pretty slender," she assured me with apparent earnestness, "by lying down on the bed, and making my feet heavy, starting with the big toe. I give myself the order that when I'm going to eat, the food is not going into my bloodstream because I'm going to close those glands," she said.
"Oh come on, now!" I said. "You just quit eating for a few days."
"My diet is potatoes, butter and French pastry," insisted the shapely French beauty. "I lose weight simply by giving an order to my mind. I am a student of metaphysics and I can make my weight move from my hip to my calf if I want to by self-hypnosis."
"How much do you weigh?"
Corinne shrugged in the French manner. "I don't know. I reduce only when I get in a dress and find it's too tight."
Corinne, who's been on four "Climax" and "Studio One" TV shows recently while also performing in the swank saloons, arrived for our interview wearing a slinky-type sack dress which surprised me with its sex appeal.
"All my daytimes are sacks," she said. "I feel indecent now when a wear those low-cut, no-shoulder dresses. Of course, I have to wear them at night when I work."
"The sacks," she added, "give a mystery as to what's inside the sack. And the women," she argued, "can have some freedom. They don't have to wear bras and girdles. Women used to be all tired out by 5 o'clock because they'd been tied up all day. A woman's body was never meant to be all tied up like that!"
The sacks and the self-hypnosis are working wonders for Corinne and she's happier than anytime since she came to America.
"Because I'm a French chanteuse," she said. "Let's face it—I don't think I'll ever be hired by the Metropolitan Opera."

Terrace Will Settle Without Good Sub-Base
If you are planning a terrace or patio with a colorful surface such as ceramic and quarry tile, particular attention should be given to the sub-base for the concrete slab. A good sub-base will prevent settling of the slab and permit good drainage.
Expansion joints in the slab itself should be spaced every 20 to 40 feet, and should be used along both ends, curves and abutting walls. Proper construction of the sub-base and slab will mean lifetime beauty for the ceramic or quarry tile surface.

Outdoor Furniture May Demand Special Paint
Many householders with roomy garages or basements, re-paint porch and barbecue furniture during the wintry months, then are ready for the first warm, sunny days. If you are doing your painting now, and out-of-doors, choose a clear windless day. Make sure your enamel is free from lumps and that the solid and liquid substances are thoroughly merged before you begin.
Usually it is convenient to pour out some of your enamel into an empty coffee tin. It's so easy to dip your brush into such a wide-mouthed container. Before you begin to paint, assemble everything you will use: paint, brushes, coffee tin, stirring paddle, paint rag and paint brush cleaner. Then you are ready to go ahead.
Two things must have been meticulously attended to, however, before you reach that point, one is selection of your kind of paint, and your paint color. The other is the preparation of the surface to be coated.
When choosing paint, tell your dealer what your furniture is made of. There are special enamels for metal that should not be used on wood. Some are obtainable in spray cans, and are easy to put on. Some must be brushed on, in the usual way.
One well-known and long-established shop encourages, for outdoor furniture, the use of a flat paint in the desired color, then a coating of its "sister" enamel in the same shade. The result is beautiful to behold. This firm can produce 165 colors teamed in this way.
Another good thing to know is that while 24 hours are required for drying many enamels, there are brands which dry so fast that chairs can be sat upon a few hours after application.
Whether you are doing metal or wood - any surface in fact - the surface to be painted must be clean, smooth and free from rust or flaking paint. When working with iron or steel surfaces, steel wool is a great aid in removing rust. After the rust is completely eliminated, the bare spots should be given a coating of metal primer to protect against further destructive attacks of corrosion.
When working with wooden furniture, fill cracks and nail-holes with putty, then sand the surface level.
Give Dishwasher New Front Panel
Don't overlook the kitchen when adding a style note to your interior decor. Newest accessory that can change the look of your whole kitchen is a front panel recently introduced by a national firm for their 30-inch dishwasher. The panel can be chosen in brushed chrome, antique copper, dark or light wood finishes, or in the mix or match colors of pink, yellow, turquoise, brown or white to replace your old panel. Or, if you are just purchasing a dishwasher, you can choose the panel which will do the most for your room.
Whether it's a provincial look you're after or the sleekest modern, this newest accessory can add that touch that you need. The antique copper panel augments the copper pots and pans on your wall and the brushed chrome gives that pristine look of immaculacy that many modern housewives like to achieve.

Beauty of Wood Grain Kept by Proper Finish
Some very interesting effects can be obtained by varying the method of finishing wood paneling in your den, family or living room. For instance, the West Coast Lumbermen's Association says that you can easily preserve the wonderful warmth and beauty of Douglas fir or west coast hemlock paneling.
Apply a filler and let dry and then use either a clear varnish, a lacquer or a wax. The fine grain and texture of the wood is retained in all its loveliness.
Bring Out Wood Grain
Collectors of discarded rural items to decorate the home can bring out their former beauty. Water buckets, carriage seats or ox yokes, low benches and old chairs should be sanded and cleaned. A coat of shellac will highlight the grain of old wood.
