Pontiac Gets White Valentine

Plenty of Heart in These Valentines

Children Send First Valentines to Adopted Classmate in Korea

Valentine's Day is the traditional time for "Hearts and Flowers," as the romantically inclined declare their sentiments toward the objects of their affections.

Consider then, a little seven-year-old Korean orphan, Kim Chun Ok, whose memories cannot go far enough back to recall her parents, lost in the blazing, bombed-out ruins of Seoul.

Little Kim has probably never heard of St. Valentine or the day to which he gave his name, but after today she will. For Kim is receiving 31 valentines—from the pupils in Mrs. Alfred Rothweiler's second grade at Webster School.

These 31 youngsters have a special interest in Kim, for in a sense, they are her "family." Each week the children bring dimes to school and this money, $120 a year, supports Kim in the Wha Sung Babies' Home, on the outskirts of Seoul.

A REWARDING EXPERIENCE
"Adopting" Kim has been a rewarding experience for the class. Not only has it given them a practical lesson in charity, but it has opened up their young minds to a whole world across the sea where youngsters like themselves are growing up under handicaps unknown in America.

The project began last September when Mrs. Rothweiler, who heard of a Detroit class which had adopted a Korean orphan, Mrs. Rothweiler wrote to the Christian Children's Fund, Inc., Richmond, Va., for information and thus was "introduced" to Kim Chun Ok.

She discussed the project at length with her class and, noting their eagerness, decided to go ahead. But first, she wanted approval of the children's parents.

So each child was assigned a project of explaining part of the program to the parents at a meeting. When the mothers and fathers heard from their own youngsters how the class would adopt the orphan, they gave wholehearted consent.

Last Christmas, the class received a pleasant surprise—a Christmas card from Kim. With it came a letter to Mrs. Rothweiler from Kim's teacher. It was written in Korean, but fortunately an English translation was attached. The letter told of the fine progress Kim was making at her school which is located "down the road" from the orphanage.

A letter arrived too, from the Christian Children's Fund with a picture of Kim and the brief story of her background.

BABY BURIED IN RUBBLE
Kim was discovered by a Korean social worker, a Miss Lee, right after a heavy bombing of Seoul. She was leading her own children to safety when she heard a baby crying. Looking about, she found the infant half buried in rubble.

Mrs. Lee cared for Kim during the dark days that followed and finally placed her in the orphanage which was founded with funds from American soldiers and from Christian missionaries.

Now happier days have come for Kim and probably one of the happiest is this St. Valentine's Day when her 31 friends from that strange-sounding place called "Pontiac" in America remember her with cards they have carefully made.

Police Find Victim in Rouge River to End Three-Day Search

DETROIT (U)— Harbor master police, working under flood lights, recovered the body of 12-year-old Geraldine Gatt from the icy Rouge River last night. Recovery of the body ended a three-day search.

The girl drowned Monday afternoon. Police said an 11-year-old playmate told them he pushed Geraldine into the river after an argument. He said he tried to pull her out but failed.

The boy was held overnight in a juvenile detention home and released to his parents.

Volunteers and skin divers had been searching for the girl's body since late Monday. Ice three to eight inches thick had been removed from 250 feet of the river's surface.

Geraldine and her companions had wandered out on the ice in a search for field mice.

Morning Traffic Crawls Through Four-Inch Fall

Snow, Rain Probable Tomorrow; Mercury to Hover in Low 30's

The weather man delivered his Valentine early last night, in the shape of the season's second heaviest snowfall.

A blanket of four inches forced the morning rush-hour traffic to a crawl throughout Pontiac and Oakland County. State and Pontiac police, and the sheriff's department, reported numerous non-injury accidents due to slippery conditions.

The outlook is for possibly a mixture of snow and rain tomorrow, with the temperature to hover around the 32 to 36-degree mark. Tonight's mercury reading is predicted to drop to around 16 degrees.

The city department of public works called out extra crews about 11:30 last night. The 30-man team, using 15 trucks, dumped approximately 75 tons of salt on city streets.

A spokesman for the county road commission reported "generally slippery roads throughout, but all passable." Two hundred tons of salt were spread by 30 spreaders, after 50 plows worked all night to clear highways.

Local Automobile Club of Michigan service stations reported a rash of calls for wrecker service. Many stalled motorists were forced to wait up to two hours for aid.

Cleared runways at Pontiac Municipal Airport permitted normal service.

State police posts throughout lower Michigan report hazardous driving conditions.

Skiers will welcome a prediction by the Weather Bureau that more snow is headed for upper Michigan. The low in Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 19 degrees. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 26 degrees.

USW's McDonald Leads in Election 2-1

PITTSBURGH (U)— President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers held a slightly better than 2-1 advantage over his millworker opponent today on the basis of unofficial election returns from 567 of some 2,700 USW locals in the United States and Canada.

Unofficial returns gave McDonald 112,933 votes to 49,024 for Donald C. Rarick, of nearby McKeesport, who has led a movement protesting a recent $2 monthly dues hike.

Remove Victim of Fire

GRIM TASK — Firemen remove one of the bodies of the 14 persons who died when fire raged through a 71-year-old rest home in Council Bluffs, Ia., yesterday. Thirteen persons died in the blaze and another succumbed to burns in a hospital.

13 Treated for Injuries After Flames Destroy Council Bluffs Building

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (U)— Fire that "all of a sudden" enveloped a three-story rest home killed 14 patients yesterday.

Thirteen other patients and employees needed hospital treatment, with one patient listed today as in critical condition.

Altogether 17 patients, 10 employees and three children of the home manager, Kenneth Patin, were carried from the blazing building, hobbled out on crutches, sped their wheelchairs onto the hilltop lawn of the 71-year-old structure or raced out on foot.

Many of the 13 found dead in the tangled mass of debris died in their beds. The 14th victim died in a hospital.

Firemen who answered the alarm within four or five minutes after it was sounded told in trembling voices of seeing one woman kneeling in prayer in her bed as flames swirled over her. Firemen could find no survivor who could immediately tell them what started the fire. Today fire officials dug through masses of debris in a search for the cause. The home—in which one person

Both Sides Optimistic

See Dock Strike Winding Up Soon

NEW YORK (U)— Optimistic statements by both sides have raised hopes for speedy settlement of the dock strike idling ports from Maine to Virginia.

Spokesmen for union and management emerged from bargaining sessions last night in a more cheerful mood.

"With any reasonable-ness on the part of the union we can reach a contract tomorrow," said Alexander Chopin, chairman of the New York Shipping Assn., the employers group.

The strike of some 45,000 dockers from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va., began Tuesday after an 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction cooling-off period expired.

The strike straitjacketed the New York waterfront, already beset by a tugboat strike now in its 14th day.

By late yesterday the dock walk-out had idled some 150 general cargo craft and some smaller passenger vessels.

The Cunard line diverted its giant liner Queen Elizabeth, originally due here tomorrow, to Halifax, Nova Scotia. Its 1,300 passengers will be brought to New York by train.

Before the strike, the IILA and the employers were in general agreement on a new contract. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Ike May Accept Dem Revision

Strong Support Seems Assured in Congress for Middle East Plan

WASHINGTON (U)— A Democratic revision of President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution had tentative administration approval today.

Though Senate action and further House consideration still are necessary, Eisenhower appeared assured of strong congressional backing for military and economic steps to resist Communist inroads there if necessary.

The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees sharply revised one key section of the resolution by a 15-13 party line vote.

After revising the resolution, the two committees approved it 20-8, and recommended its adoption by the Senate.

The House, making no major change in the resolution Eisenhower originally requested, already has passed it 335-61. Any Senate changes still would have to be considered by the House.

$300,000 Fire Hits Downtown Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (U)— Fire destroyed a four-story building in the Diamond Market section of the downtown business area last night.

Fire Chief Stephen Adley estimated damage at $300,000.

About 25 firemen were overcome by smoke. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Iowa State Health Commissioner Edmund C. Zimmerman said that following a Jan. 30 inspection he withheld renewal "pending certain corrections at the home."

But the Council Bluffs public service director said he and a Health Department inspector looked over the home last month and it met requirements for fire safety. He said an automatic fire detection system was recently installed.

Most of the victims were helpless invalids, most of them past 60 and some in their 80s and 90s.

Challenges GOP 'New Look'

Hart Lashes Out at Lindemer Vote

A swat at Michigan Republicans' "new look" was taken last night by Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart as keynoter of the Oakland County Democratic convention.

Hart challenged the voting record of Lawrence B. Lindemer, new Republican State Chairman, on fair employment practices legislation.

Saying the GOP's new look has "strange and disturbing angles," Hart maintained that Lindemer's vote in the House of Representatives in 1952 "killed" the FEPC bill.

"Although advertised now as a young liberal," Lindemer voted then with the 46-45 majority against the legislation, Hart charged.

Rep. Walter T. McMahon of Hazel Park bolstered a second charge Hart made about the same occasion. Hart said that 25 Republicans left the chamber "in disgust" as another Republican argued in favor of the bill.

McMahon recalled that Lindemer was among them. McMahon said he was present at the session and heard Lindemer later second a motion to return the bill to committee.

Saying Lindemer "seems to be waving a tarnished sword as he calls out to do battle" for what he calls "Eisenhower Republicanism," Hart said Lindemer should be asked if he is still opposed to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Businessman Wilson Spends 4 Years in Washington

(The accompanying article is reprinted from U.S. News & World Report, an independent weekly news magazine published at Washington. Copyright 1957 United States News Publishing Corporation.)

WASHINGTON — When Charles E. Wilson came to Washington four years ago to head the Defense Department, he was president of General Motors, the biggest corporation in the world.

Mr. Wilson had a salary that, with bonuses, was bringing him nearly $600,000 a year. He gave that up for a $22,500 annual stipend, to help President Eisenhower apply some business methods to running the Government.

In Washington, the first thing Mr. Wilson ran into was a demand that he sell his General Motors stock. He did so—for an estimated $2,450,000. Then he watched the stock increase in value until, even in today's somewhat depressed market, his holdings would have a value of $4,795,605, or some $2,345,000 more than he is believed to have received for them.

There were other difficulties. Mr. Wilson is a cheerful, friendly man who likes to speak his mind.

He did so, and it sometimes got him into trouble. Not long ago President Eisenhower publicly rebuked him for implying that the National Guard sheltered draft dodgers during the Korean war.

Mr. Wilson found that, in Washington, politics and its pitfalls are always present, must ever be kept in mind.

He learned, too, that business methods are not necessarily applicable to government—profit is not an objective.

As president of General Motors, Mr. Wilson was the boss. Orders were carried out quickly and meticulously. It didn't work that way in Washington. Here he found himself hemmed in by bosses, by people who must not be offended.

The Wilson ideas and projects could be overruled in several places, including the White House, the State Department and Congress. Orders sometimes got lost in the many echelons of the Pentagon and the military services, which presented a defense in depth against important changes.

Now, despite disappointments, Mr. Wilson remains the same unassuming man who took over in 1953, amiable, cheerful and confident.

SECRETARY WILSON
... A man who speaks his mind, but gets results.

More attention has gone to his occasional controversial statements than to his activities. Nevertheless, he has solid accomplishments behind him. His personal imprint is on the Defense Department and the defense establishment.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Military men say the Secretary has given the Defense Department a better organization, that he has contributed substantially to creating a line of command that is clear and to establishing objectives that are generally understood.

When Mr. Wilson took over, the Korean war was on. Money was no object. The important thing was time, getting production and deliveries from industry.

After the armistice, his job was to reduce production and still keep the national defenses adequate, a task that created endless arguments with Congress.

On account of the Korean war, Defense Department spending stood at 43.7 billion dollars for the fiscal year 1953. Mr. Wilson trimmed that to 40.3 billions in 1954 and 35.5 in 1955. Since

Quiz Planned on Speed Trap

Prosecutor to Question Waterford Officers on Drivers' Charges

Oakland County Prosecutor Fredrick C. Ziem plans a further meeting with Waterford Township police officers before rendering a conclusion about reports of a "speed trap" for motorists on Dixie Highway.

Ziem said today he intends personally to quiz officers concerning numerous complaints of police irregularities that lead, allegedly, to drivers being ticketed unfairly. No date has been set.

Officers were asked Monday, he said, by Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long about complaints made by 64 persons whose names were furnished by a Flint driver, Jack S. Masin, who claims he was wrongfully ticketed twice.

Masin said the complaints were forwarded to him as a result of his public denouncement of township tactics in Flint, where he manages a department store.

Ziem said the investigation was requested by Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh, to whom Masin first appealed. His office is trying to track down complaints that can be traced to individual officers, Ziem said.

Main charges include: Officers, up the actual speed of cars when ticketing violators; officers wearing civilian clothes ride in unmarked cars at night to fool drivers; and officers pounce on victims before they have had time to slow down for speed zones.

Police Chief Frank Van Atta, flatly denying the allegations, has stated the crackdown on speeders has saved lives and property and will continue.

Van Atta produced a file of letters from residents, some who admitted receiving tickets, saying they were in favor of the enforcement policy.

Officers Display Mixed Emotions Over Wives' Unit

Pontiac Police officers have mixed feelings about their wives organizing an auxiliary to the officers' association.

One member has a strong opinion, however, it was shown last night. One too many ballots turned up after the second vote on allowing the formation of the auxiliary.

The first secret ballot ended in a 17-17 deadlock. After the fraud found on the second ballot, it was decided to put the ballot box in the station and let the members drop their votes in later.

Some 38 wives of police officers met last week, elected officers, and decided to ask their husbands if they could back them up in work problems, social events and civic participation.

Also under discussion was campaign plans to inform voters about the April 1 charter amendment putting police officers under civil service, and throwing out the trial board.

An attorney is preparing an opinion for the association concerning the contention that if civil service is adopted, officers will have to live within the city limits.

Plans on Way for New Center

Blueprints to Be Handed to Salvation Army in Next Two Weeks

Architectural drawings for Pontiac's proposed Salvation Army Social Service Center at 118 W. Lawrence St., are being completed and should be ready in the next two weeks, according to Major Ernest Alder, assistant manager of the Detroit Social Service Center.

After plans are completed, advertising for bids will follow, the official said. "Then we'll have some sort of time table on the project," he added.

The firm of Leo J. Heenan, of Pontiac, has been hired as architect.

The Salvation Army bought the former two-story Whitfield, Walter & Dawson wholesale grocery warehouse for $180,000 last July. A $150,000 remodeling job will provide for an outlet store, garage and shops, and a dormitory to house some 75 to 100 men that seek rehabilitation.

Treasury Asks Permission

Interest Rate to Be Upped on New E and H Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury today asked Congress for authority to apply flexible interest rates on savings bonds and proposed at the same time to raise the rate from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent.

Identical bills were sent to the Senate and House which would give the Treasury the same flexibility to adjust the interest on savings bonds that it has on other securities.

Treasury officials said there will be no advantage, therefore, in holding off purchases of the savings bonds until the legislation is passed.

The baby bonds—Series E—will sell at the same price and carry the same maturity value. But the present 9 year and 8 months maturity will be shortened to 8 years and 11 months.

Redemption values in the early years will be increased substantially, however, to provide a better yield for bondholders who redeem the securities before maturity.

It held for three years, the new bonds will yield 3 per cent, the return received on the present E bonds, if cashed in three years, pay only 2 1/2 per cent.

The Treasury's announcement followed widespread criticism in Congress and elsewhere of the interest yield, in view of generally rising interest rates on other investments. Sales of E bonds have declined, and during most of last year redemptions exceeded sales.

The most common explanation has been that the public could find better paying investments.

Outgoing ships leave with empty holds, and cargo—often perishable—begins piling up on the piers. Forty-five outward bound boats have been caught in New York Harbor alone.

Cruise ships were expected to get away without too much trouble. The liner Brazil, bound for South American ports, was the only cruise vessel scheduled to depart today.

Only military cargo was being handled in the struck ports. Tankers have not been affected, since they are handled by men not connected with the I.L.A.

A New York port strike normally means a business loss of about a million dollars a day.

Postpone Board Meeting for Waterford Township

The regularly scheduled Waterford Township board meeting for Monday night has been postponed until the following Friday at 7:30 p.m., according to supervisor Lloyd Anderson.

The meeting was postponed because of the primary election, Monday.

As in all good things, there are certain restrictions. The students have to be:

1. Freshmen.
2. Brainy.

Prof. Don L. Demorest of the Department of Romance Languages calls it a "browsing" course. The name, by the way, is "arts survey 402."

There are 20 students in the course now, says Dr. Demorest, all of them among the cream of the academic crop. Invited to enroll after one quarter's work at Ohio State, the students are selected on the basis of high school records and ratings, university tests and first quarter grades.

Night school or correspondence courses are not considered as being full-time study. A scholarship is not considered in determining support.

The student is required to file his own return if he had $600 or more of gross income, even though you claim the exemption deduction.

If your son or daughter was 19 or older — and did not attend school during the year — but had $600 or more of gross income — you cannot claim an exemption.

Plant Decides It Must Banish 'Cobalt Kittens'

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — The Westinghouse cats must go.

This decision at the Westinghouse Corp. plant here is rooted in the feline proclivity for batting marbles about.

A radioactive ball of cobalt, marble-size, was found on the floor yesterday. It was surmised that one of the stray cats which prowled the plant had knocked the ball out of place and then chased it about. The cobalt balls are used for X-ray tests of castings.

Since radioactivity can thin the blood, it was decided to banish cats if possible from the 57-acre plant.

The county pound was called upon for help.

Hart Takes Swat at Lindemer Record

FEPC, even after its "excellent" record since 1955.

County Democrats passed resolutions supporting Gov. Williams for the Presidency in 1960 and giving Hart "strong support for whatever high office he may aspire to."

Endorsement was given to two area candidates, Mrs. Irene E. Murphy of Birmingham and William H. Harvie of Lathrup.

Mrs. Murphy, formerly a social welfare administrator in Detroit and a relief administrator in the Philippine Islands seven years, is running for University of Michigan regent.

Harvie, a Southfield Township road contractor, is a candidate for State Highway Commissioner. He was with the Wayne County Road Commission 10 years with the State Highway Department another 10 years.

Another candidate, Lynn M. Bartlett of Grosse Pointe, was endorsed for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

A delegation with 114 votes was selected to attend the state spring convention Feb. 23 in Grand Rapids where candidates for 10 offices and posts will be nominated.

Elected chairman of the delegation and of last night's convention was Thomas C. Holland, secretary of the county committee. Holland, of 38 Elizabeth St. is political action chairman and FEPC chairman of Baldwin Rubber Co., where he is a tester.

Holland called on Democrats "to finish the job we started last fall, I'm sure this county can become Democratic soon," he said.

Others who addressed the convention last night were McMahon, Rep. Leslie H. Hudson of Pontiac, former governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and county chairman Carlos D. Richardson.

Van Wagoner asked for support of another State Highway Commissioner candidate if Oakland County delegates decide, as the state convention progresses, to switch from Harvie.

He is T. C. Banahagel of Kalamazoo, who also served on the highway department during Van Wagoner's years as commissioner. Van Wagoner said, however, that Harvie is "a very good man for the job."

Harvie said that last night he also gained endorsement from Detroit's 16th Congressional District.

Turns Off Heating Gas — Burns Up Woman

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP) — Mrs. Darlene Jenness, 24, was arrested after the owner of a heating gas station said she made a mess of his station and office.

Shirley Avery, owner of a freight service which supplies heating gas here, said he turned off Mrs. Jenness' fuel supply for non-payment of bills.

Later she broke 10 windows at his station by hurling rocks through them, pulled off his glasses and stomped on them, beat him about the face with her fists, brushed everything off his desk, and then went outside and hurled rocks through the windows of his truck, he said.

She was arrested by the town marshal.

Your Income Tax

This is one of a series of articles prepared by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service to help you prepare your Income Tax Return.

FULL-TIME STUDENTS

Do you have a son or daughter that earned $600 or more during the taxable year? Did your son or daughter attend a recognized educational institution for at least 5 months during the year and engage in full-time study? If so, he or she is a student — regardless of age — and you may claim that child as a dependent — if you furnished more than one-half of their support. This would include board, room, clothing, books, etc.

Night school or correspondence courses are not considered as being full-time study. A scholarship is not considered in determining support.

Boys Identify Youth as Slayer

Pals of Victim Point to Royal Oak Teenager in Detroit Court

Companions of a 14-year-old Wayne boy bludgeoned to death Sept. 4, pointed out Tommie Rollins, 19, of Royal Oak Township, Wednesday as the youth who struck the fatal blow.

The identifications were made in Detroit's Recorder's Court by Donald Rondeau, 16, of Wayne, the victim's brother, and Terry Brand, 14, of Plymouth, an uncle.

They told Judge Gerald Groat and a jury of 13 women and one man that Rollins struck Gerald Rondeau from behind with a tire iron as the boy was walking away.

Rollins, Horace Collier, 18, and Odell Gray, 18, all of Royal Oak Township, are charged with first degree murder.

OFFERED RIDE

The three, and a juvenile companion, offered the boys a ride as they were standing at Woodward and Eight Mile road. When they refused, one of the occupants allegedly jumped out and struck Gerald.

Legislators Get Water Rate Bill

Passage Could Enable Detroit to Run Supply to Oakland County

Legislation to let Detroit water be pumped to Oakland County communities at rates "good for both consumer and distributor" was introduced in Lansing today by Rep. Leslie H. Hudson of Pontiac.

The bill is aimed directly at solving the water problem in Pontiac and surrounding communities, Hudson said, and would make a much-discussed plan financially feasible.

If passed, it would allow Detroit to charge prices more than double those paid by Detroit water-users, but at the same time less, Hudson said, than the total cost of water for area consumers.

Under present law, Hudson said, Detroit could only charge double the present price of 62 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. This double rate of $1.24 is not enough, he said, to make extension of mains to other communities profitable.

PRICE INDEFINITE

How much over $1.24 Detroit would have to charge, Hudson was unable to say. A figure often mentioned is $1.50. Hudson said the final figure would be negotiated on a basis of "reasonable-ness."

Detroit water would mean that expensive softening units no longer would be necessary, "and that's a tremendous saving," Hudson said.

The proposed $79 million Detroit project would have mains and pumping stations constructed at Detroit expense. Each community serviced, Hudson said, would build a connecting link to its city limits and bare the cost of city pumping stations and any other additions necessary to the local water system.

With the backing of Detroit and Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman, the bill, Hudson said, is almost certain of passing.

Nicaragua has found promising deposits of iron, copper, antimony, gypsum and marble.

The Day in Birmingham

Major Crime Trends Up Says Chief Ralph Moxley

BIRMINGHAM — Major crime trends were up-graded in the city last year, according to the annual report of Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley, submitted this week to City Manager Harold K. Schone.

With a 9.7 per cent increase in the overall picture, Moxley cited burglaries as the major jump, with an upswing of 19 per cent. Larcenies also showed an increase, while reported rape and robbery remained static at one.

Auto thefts dropped 39 per cent, Moxley reported.

Although there was a crime increase during the year, cases cleared by arrest increased from 71 to 140 over the previous year.

The juvenile report showed a brighter picture, with an 11 per cent reduction from the 181 juvenile arrests in 1955.

Malicious destruction of property, liquor law violations and carrying concealed weapons were the only three classifications showing 1956 increases, Moxley reported.

He said the one retirement and seven resignations in the department were counterbalanced by the hiring of nine new men.

The one additional man was assigned to parking control to handle increased parking areas which have brought about more restricted parking on streets.

Five Troy youths have been arrested following a street fight in Birmingham Tuesday night in which 16-year-old Herbert Kannel suffered a broken leg and multiple cuts and bruises. Kannel, 1172 E. Kannel and two friends Richard Juiliani, 17, of 1842 Witherby, Troy and David Frahm, 17, of 3480 Westchester, Bloomfield Township when he was attacked.

Two of the youths are being held in Oakland County Jail for investigation of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Two others are being questioned at the Birmingham Jail while the fifth youth has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

50 Lawmakers Flunk Car Inspection Test

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Maryland legislators ran their automobiles through an inspection line today to test the effectiveness of a bill to require such inspections annually in Maryland.

All 50 who participated flunked. So did a bunch of other people who decided to test their autos just for the laughs.

Joseph G. G. Robinson, chairman of the Safety Committee of the Baltimore Junior Chamber of Commerce, said of 18 cars tested in the special project, only eight passed.

Jackson Felon Back in Cell

Jail Fugitive Tips Hand by Fleeing Police in East

CROMWELL, Conn. (AP) — Lawrence J. Purcey Jr., 26-year-old fugitive from a Michigan prison, was sentenced to 120 days in Middlesex County jail last night on charges stemming from an auto accident.

Police said that it was after Purcey fled twice from the custody of police investigating the accident that they learned:

1. He had escaped from the state prison of southern Michigan at Jackson last July while serving a 7½ to 20-year term for armed robbery.

2. He had come East in August and by October was married to a 44-year-old widow who owned a rooming house and who never knew he was an escaped convict.

MOVED AWAY

3. He sold the house and he and his wife, mother of a 25-year-old son, had planned to move away.

In town court tonight Purcey was sentenced to 60 days for evading responsibility (fleeing from the scene of the accident when police arrived) and 60 days for drunken driving.

Suspended sentences were ordered on charges of reckless driving and resisting arrest.

State police said that when they caught Purcey after he fled the first time, they took him to the barracks to be booked. But he jumped out a window and fled to Wethersfield, where he had been living with his wife.

State Police said they are awaiting word from Michigan authorities on extradition matters.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Purcey told police today she has started legal action to have the marriage annulled.

EYE-SAVER — A Chicago firm has patented this "lemon shield" which, they say, will save you many a sting from the acid juice squirting into your eye instead of into your tea cup. Also, the lemon slice won't slip out of your fingers. The shield is a three-inch square sheet of clear cellophane. Two opposite corners are sealed together, forming a triangular sling into which a wedge of lemon can be inserted.

Vinson Defends Army's Horses

Says Condemned Steeds Reflect Glorious Days of Cavalry

WASHINGTON (INS)—Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.), who once gave the Navy a big assist, has come to the rescue of the Army's funeral horses.

The Army has condemned them to be sold June 1 on the ground they are no longer needed to pull the artillery caissons at military funerals.

The Army says the 17 fine horses—16 matched grays and one black — are excess to the Army's needs and must go. It's cheaper, announced the Army, to use a motor hearse.

But Vinson, who is chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, snorted at this. "It may be cheaper," he told a newsmen, "but I question whether it's better. For years there have been horse-drawn funerals. It's been a fine army tradition, a link with a glorious past when the cavalry was once our finest and most dashing branch of military service."

MORE IMPORTANT
"There are," Vinson declared, "some things that are more important than saving a few dollars."

The Georgia legislator said he would write the Pentagon a letter urging the Army not to sell its horses.

This is not the first time Vinson has intervened to protect what he regards as the best interests of the military establishment.

During the depression-ridden 1930s, when the keynote in government was economy, Vinson came to the rescue of the Navy. As chairman of the old house naval affairs committee, he co-sponsored the Vinson-Trammell Bill which spurred Navy shipbuilding in the years preceding the outbreak of World War II.

The Army, in announcing it planned to dispose of its funeral horses, estimated it would reduce the cost of funerals at Arlington National Cemetery from $71,083 a year to $9,350.

Most Farm Families Carry Life Insurance

ANN ARBOR (INS) — A recent study by the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan has disclosed that more than three out of every four farm families in the United States are covered by life insurance.

The survey, sponsored by the Institute of Life Insurance, showed that among rural families, 77 per cent of the men own life insurance. More than half the women and children in rural families also have some form of life insurance.

Most rural families purchased their policies from life insurance companies, while the balance secured their coverage through servicemen's policies, fraternal or assessment insurance.

GOP Chairman Alcorn Has Difficult Job Ahead

The new chairman of the Republican National Committee, H. MEADE ALCORN JR. says that his number one job is to elect a Republican Congress next year.

He takes over a going concern with one great asset—President EISENHOWER now at the height of his popularity. The liability in the GOP organization lies in the fact it did not keep pace with the President's success at the polls.

A Republican President was re-elected for the first time in 56 years. But in 1953 there were 221 Republican Representatives and this year 201. There are 47 Republican Senators, one less than four years ago. In 1953 there were 29 Republican Governors, now there are 19.

This decline was in every section of the country except the South. Since 1953, the GOP has increased its Dixie delegation in the House from 9 to 10 members and gained a second Kentucky seat. Its first Southern governorship may come this year in Virginia.

Mr. ALCORN, who as assistant to LEONARD HALL arranged the National Convention in San Francisco, is charged with making the Republican party into an instrument dedicated to the liberal EISENHOWER philosophy of government. In this effort he will have the support of such men as Governor MCKELDIN of Maryland who says that "we have got to follow the policies of Mr. EISENHOWER or we are going to be defeated."

An influential group of conservative Republicans from the West and Middle West, many of them in Congress, feel differently. They fear that the President's choice of Mr. ALCORN means that they are to be the targets of a purge campaign. Rep. CLARE HOFFMAN of Michigan says "the conservative wing has been liquidated and is about to be buried."

Between these two groups the new national chairman will have to move with caution. He must work next year for all Republican nominees. Not to do so would increase the risk of another Democratic controlled Congress.

Regulation of Airways Needed for Safe Flying

Recent air crashes, both civilian and military, have caused much consternation in recent weeks. Paramount in everyone's mind is just what steps are being taken to prevent collisions in the air.

A ready answer to this question came recently from Brig. Gen. JOSEPH D. CALDARA, Air Force flight safety research director, who said, "the day when you can see and be seen is past for the jet pilot. Some device is necessary to warn him of planes approaching on a collision course."

Amplifying on these remarks, Gen. Caldara explained that the Air Force has started a program to develop devices which would warn pilots of impending mid-air crashes.

CALDARA further said he believes there are manufacturers now who could develop such devices. The Air Force has already signed a contract with some to study the problem.

The fact that the crashes have occurred is sufficient evidence that something must be done. The Air Force is well aware of this and the proper steps are being taken.

No longer are the air routes or airways listed as among the wide open spaces. On the contrary, with the advancement of both civilian and military aircraft we must regulate air travel.

Recent Air Force figures show that 1,150 United States military aircraft are airborne each minute of every day. This figure represents more planes than the entire domestic and foreign commercial air lines have put together.

With this in mind, the job of policing the airways is of utmost importance and should receive immediate attention. The airways, like our highways, must be regulated and come under joint government control by both civilian and military operators.

There was buried a man who had been an unprincipled, dissolute and despicable character. One of few things that can be said to his credit is that he never did write a singing commercial.

Last word: What most women always have: the rest never get to it.

A great many of our residents still are interested in early Oakland County history. Acting as a clearing house for those massive 1877 books of that nature, MAT has had a joyous surprise. The number of replies from people who wish to buy them greatly exceeds the number from people who desire to sell them. These parties are being put in touch with each other by letters from us. The time limit for sending such requests to MAT now has expired.

David Lawrence Says:

Persistence Winning Mideast Peace

WASHINGTON — Patience and the persistent force of reason are playing a winning role in the effort to bring peace to the Middle East.

The changing headlines — from threats of "sanctions" against Israel to a proposed formula for achieving justice for the tiny republic — must seem, for example, to the average reader to be a sort of zigzag, but actually they reflect the steady pressure of American leadership exerted in an objective and disinterested manner.

Thus, from the very beginning of the controversy over the blocking of Israeli ships by Egypt from the use of either the Suez Canal or the Gulf of Aqaba — especially since the latter route affords the only outlet for Israel to the Indian Ocean — the Department of State has recognized the principle of freedom of navigation in international waters. That same principle is still upheld by the United States and will be insisted upon in the future.

But it is one thing to take a stand on a principle and another thing to obtain acceptance of its many collateral obligations by parties to a dispute in which emotions are at fever pitch.

What has been happening in the last several days is a significant illustration of the delicate art of diplomacy, which rightly seeks to postpone a crisis by the continuous introduction of new alternatives.

SIMPLE RESOLUTION

First it was believed that a simple resolution by the United Nations calling on Israel to withdraw her troops from Egypt's territory in the vicinity of the Gulf of Aqaba would be sufficient. But it turned out that Israel would not accept such a request without getting in advance certain guarantees or assurances of freedom of navigation. Actually, Egypt has never renounced her view that she is at war with Israel.

Since the United Nations wasn't able to furnish assurances against a renewed attack by Egypt, it was thought by many observers that only one move was left — to demand Israel's withdrawal of troops and to impose "sanctions" of an economic or financial nature if she didn't obey.

But the State Department here expressed its view privately that "sanctions" wouldn't settle anything, and the secretary-general of the United Nations said the same thing in an official report. To impose "sanctions," he felt, would only enlarge the area of bitterness.

What next? The United States came up with a bold suggestion. It would announce its adherence to the principle of freedom of navigation and lend its support to secure the observance of that principle. But how? By military force? The answer came that it would be sufficient for all practical purposes merely to set forth the principle publicly and America's backing of it.

MANY OBSTACLES

The way of the peacemaker is beset with many obstacles, and it takes a long time to negotiate an agreement when there has been such emotionalism displayed by the disputants and their sympathizers. It is, however, apparent already that neither side wants more bloodshed and that the voice of reason is gradually being heeded.

Some of the leading men inside the Egyptian and Israeli governments have been educated in universities in the west, and their minds are acutely responsive to the force of world opinion. This presents a real hope in the present situation.

Dr. William Brady Says:

You'll Feel No More Pain Beneath Old Monadnock

Yesterday was a violet letter day—you know, the other end of the spectrum, or the rainbow, if you didn't waste any school time on physics. A high-school classmate named Roy G. Benson became Roy G. Biv in physics class, the aid to memory was the first of many.

Later in anatomy my On Old Monadnock's Peaked Tops and Some Sweet Ladys helped us to keep the cranial nerves and the wrist bones in order.

I had passed the preceding 24 hours doing penance for my sins. Heartache or soul-sickness kept me awake all night, made me unable to eat next day, and for once, even the bowling green failed me. I developed a rare complaint — headache and felt wretched downstairs.

Nevertheless circumstances compelled me to attend a shindig that evening. Some 200 men were present. For an hour or two before dinner — well, you know how it is.

As one drink follows another the sound effects, at first moderate enough, gradually increase in volume and intensity until, notwithstanding the sound-absorbing ceiling, until I could see jaws wagging but couldn't hear a word (having monaural hearing). After a painful half hour — and it is physically painful — I had to get out and stay out until the moderate drinkers or nondrinkers began to take their places at table.

DIN SUBSIDIES

When the dinner finally got underway and the din subsided, I enjoyed the best eating I have ever known at such an affair — an A-1 roast beef dinner and not a blob or squirt of mashed potato to turn a . . . no, sir, it was baked potato, the shell of which, rarely a little of the inside stuff, I like almost as much as crisp shoestring, hashed brown, or almost anything except ugh . . .

By the time we reached the main course, things were so quiet I could hear what people were saying several places away and clear across the table. And I suddenly noticed my headache was gone.

I was thankful for the relief aspirin gave me when I had bursts. I imagine I'd indulge in the stuff frequently if I suffered much pain from rheumatiz, neuralgia, or lumbago. But it is a dangerous practice indulging in aspirin or other pain-killers for minor aches and pains.

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests. Unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I have noticed items in The Press of late concerning the fact that Oakland County is fast becoming overly large and unwieldy and also that there is agitation to move the county seat to the Royal Oak vicinity.

I believe that the logical solution would be to divide the county into two political subdivisions, making a North Oakland County and a South Oakland County, the latter to consist of the present two southern tiers of township, the other to take in the three northern tiers. The southern part is strictly Detroit suburban or bedroom territory, their economy and problems being tied to that of Detroit, while the northern territory is self-supporting, having no relationship to that town, their problems being of an entirely different nature.

In this way the southern section could build their own facilities when and where they see fit, while the present county quarters here in Pontiac would serve this area for quite a few years, making any further expansion unnecessary.

This plan has merit and should be given consideration and should be pushed by civic organizations in the northern part, for if put into effect, it would eliminate the possibility of our being saddled with an enormous debt for new buildings which are not needed by us.

Tells Miss Paul 'Stay to the End'

I think a lot of people should hang their heads in shame for not writing in this column sooner about Loretta Paul's finer points and the competent work she has done that has made their visit to General Hospital enjoyable.

People must remember that all cannot be pleased all the time. Seeing that General is a city hospital, no one is excluded for treatment. This brings about difficult problems with which other hospitals do not have to cope. It must be a rather nerve-racking job to direct Pontiac General, considering various associations the officers and directors must converse with and please.

It seems to me Miss Paul is quite suited for her present standing and for judgment in business matters, and she is as qualified as Pontiac could expect from any other source. She also has a fine dignity.

I sincerely hope she proves this fact to the understanding public that has always found her very pleasing. I would like to hear a good version of why certain people would like to see her lose her position. I would wager they could not pin down enough accusations without living with a guilty conscience and a shamed face. I say, "Miss Paul, stay to the end."

'Where Is Money From UF Going?'

Where does all our money go that is given to the United Fund? Just who is supposed to benefit?

When a working man and his family apply for help from the United Fund, when one of their children has a seemingly incurable ailment and they ask for help in purchasing the necessary expensive drugs to try to save a life, instead of receiving a helping hand, all they get is a run-around and then are told, "Maybe the county welfare department will help." But now it is too late.

If that's the case, why not just give the money to the welfare department to start with? Thanks, anyway, former UF donors.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Offers Benefit of Own Experience

For 20 years I have tried to bolster the spirits of you newspaper readers who crave solace and comfort, as well as specific arguments for meeting various problems in life. Then you come back to my support in a gracious manner. So scrapbook these installments in order to use them on others who suffer grief.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case U-304: When George IV was killed, many of you readers wrote us, saying:

"Dr. Crane, you have bolstered our spirits when we have been grief-stricken.

In your column you have offered us comfort and have helped show us that God looks after all of his children here on earth.

"So we are writing now to convey our sympathy in your time of sorrow. May God sustain you and give you the courage to continue."

Mrs. Crane and I plus Philip, Judy, Danny and David, very much appreciated your evidences of sympathy.

For death causes all of us to shed tears of regret at parting with our loved ones. Even Jesus wept at the tomb of Lazarus.

And Jesus also seemed loathe to leave his human friends, for at the Garden of Gethsemane Christ wrestled with his destiny, and prayed, saying:

"O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless not as I will but as thou wilt."

So if Christ grieved to say goodbye to earthly friends, it is no disgrace for us to shed tears when loved ones graduate into the next classroom of God's Cosmic School System.

"But why should a child or a virile youth be taken?" we often ask when a talented young person is snatched away from us.

George IV was an outstanding type of manhood. He was friendly and not given to a sharp tongue or irritation and anger. He would have made a wonderful teacher or clergyman, for children flocked around him and he was far more patient than I have ever been.

He was a big, handsome athlete, having won letters in football and track. He was heavyweight boxing champ of his company at Pensacola. He was a talented artist and cartoonist, and had made many drawings for my college textbook, as well as my newspaper quiz feature entitled "Test Your Horse Sense."

While a student at DePauw University, he had pinch hit for his roommate and delivered germans in a little Indiana town when his roommate was ill.

He was a devotee of good English and always carried a dictionary with him for checking on words.

When he'd encounter a new term, he'd list it in his notebook and then insert it one month ahead, so when that later date arrived, he'd see the word on the calendar page and thus test his memory to see if he recalled its meaning.

During the three months prior to his jet crash, he had been prodding some of his friends who were cooperating on that new Christmas story and song, entitled, "Sandy Sleightfoot."

Mrs. Crane and I had worked with him on many revision of that unusual little Christmas tale, and he was bubbling over with enthusiasm to get it launched.

So why should God snatch such a talented youth from this earthly classroom? Many of you parents who have lost babies and toddlers and teen-agers and young married folks, have asked the same question.

It naturally kept recurring in the minds of Mrs. Crane and myself, as well as our four remaining children.

With the world so much in need of an outstanding young Christian youth, a tither and talented to the nth degree, why should he die prematurely?

Well, I'll try to answer that question tomorrow, so please read my solution, since it may prove a solace to millions of other parents.

Psychological and spiritual problems are universal and we are all akin especially at a time of grief, so I am explaining our reactions in order that all of you may obtain comfort in such times of desolation.

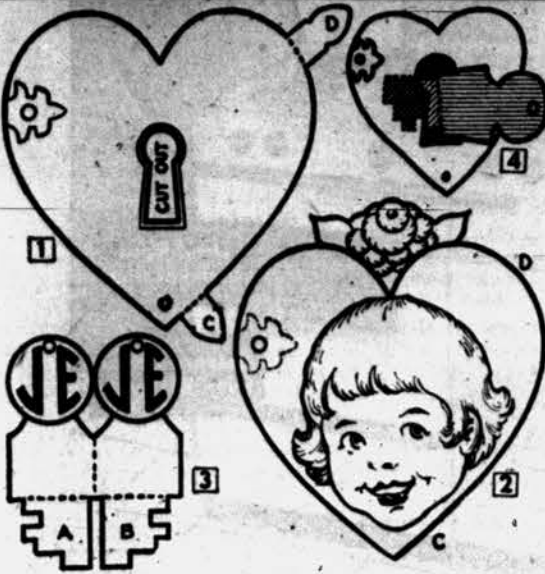

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 30c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORSThe Key to Your Heart

Here's a new kind of valentine — a heart with a key.

Paste this picture on stiff color paper and color the two hearts (1) and (2) brightly. Make the key (3) and the hinge and clasps on (1) a golden yellow. The upper heart (1) will be the outside heart. The lower heart (2) will be the inside heart.

Cut out the hearts and the key. Cut out the keyhole in the center of the upper heart. Fasten the two hearts together through the holes in the hinge with a paper fastener.

Fold the halves of the key together on the dotted line running down the middle. Paste them together on the inside as far as the dotted line running across it. Sections "A" and "B" can then be folded on the dotted lines.

Spread the hearts apart and insert the key in the keyhole as far as the dotted lines across. Spread sections "A" and "B" on the inside of the hearts, as indicated by the sketch (4). The key will stand straight out from the lock and remain in place.

Fold the clasp tabs "C" and "D" over the bottom heart. That locks the heart. To unlock it, open the clasp tabs and pull out the key.

Senate to Wield Ax on MSU Blue Prints

LANSING (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee, launching a drive to reduce Gov. Williams' spending proposals, has teed off on Michigan State University.

Committee members, at their initial hearing Tuesday, seemed to look askance on some relative fringe items in the $29,380,000 budgeted by MSU for purposes other than capital outlay in 1937-38.

Before it is through, the committee will work over spending blue prints—as revised by the Governor—of all state agencies, large and small, preparatory to starting them through the legislative machinery.

President John A. Hannah of MSU appeared before the committee in a general justification of the University's financial plan, and was due to return today to explain the principal parts of it.

Hears Sentence, Then Marries Girl He Shot

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Jasper Evans stood in Superior Court to receive a three to seven year sentence for shooting his girl friend nearly to death — and a few minutes later he married her.

The wedding took place yesterday in the probation officer's quarters adjoining the court before an assemblage of deputy sheriffs, court clerks and other courthouse employees.

State's Attorney Abraham S. Ullman said he couldn't object to the marriage if the bride, Miss Francine Hicks, was willing to forgive Evans "to the extent of marrying him."

Evans kissed his bride after the marriage and left immediately for State Prison. He will be eligible for parole in 24 months.

Fat, Besides Being Unflattering, Is Also Menace to Good Health

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the fourth in a six-part series about a new concept in weight control—re-education of eating habits instead of tricky diets. Gaynor Maddox, outstanding authority on nutrition, is aided in the following account by Dr. Norman Jolliffe, New York City's nutrition director and author of the best-seller "Reduce and Stay Reduced."

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEW YORK (NEA) — Too much fat on the body can be dangerous — especially if you hope to live a long time, according to Dr. Norman Jolliffe, forthright and controversial director of nutrition in New York City's Department of Health.

"Any sound reducing diet should get less than 30 per cent of its calories from fat. Nevertheless, our per capita consumption of fat in the United States is now over 41 per cent of our total calories," he stated.

That high fat consumption may very well explain why obesity has become a national problem and why our deaths from heart afflictions are so disproportionately high, he added.

Jolliffe, a fellow of the American College of Physicians, associate professor of nutrition at Columbia University and formerly on the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council, is one of an increasing number of leading American scientists who believe obesity and overconsumption of fats constitute our No. 1 health problem.

They do not necessarily recommend a low fat diet, but they positively do recommend a diet not too high in fat.

In order of increasing importance, Jolliffe listed his compelling reasons for recommending a diet not too high in fat.

1. Butter, margarine, cooking fats and table spreads in general use are so high in calories that careless use of them can lead to a pound of extra weight in a short time.

2. Fat calories from these foods are mostly "empty" calories. They do not supply their share of essential nutrients. Butter makes only a very minor contribution in vitamin A, margarine in A and D. Cooking fats and table spreads are devoid of these nutrients, all of which can be much better obtained in other foods. When a person eats large amounts of these "empty" calories, he becomes either obese or gets insufficient amounts of amino-acids, vitamins and minerals to constitute a balanced, adequate diet.

3. His most compelling reason: No prudent person can ignore the evidence that high fat diets are associated with a high prevalence of atherosclerosis—the cause of coronary thrombosis.

In the United States, which has the highest fat consumption in the world, more men between the ages of 45 and 65 are afflicted with coronary thrombosis than in any other country in the world.

"Certainly, the high fat diet now used by most Americans must be changed to one of 30 per cent or less of total calories from fat if the national waistline and life span is to be improved.

"A sizable fraction of those calories should come from marine and unprocessed vegetable sources (not butter, margarine, etc., the so-called 'hard' fats, but from the liquid, unprocessed fats such as oils from soybeans, corn, peanuts and olives)."

He advised further the restriction of fat milk consumption, such as whole milk, condensed and evaporated, to use in coffee and on cereal.

"Don't think you are committing an unpardonable nutritional sin by cutting down on milk," he added. "No single food is absolutely necessary.

"Many more people are living in good health who haven't tasted milk since childhood than there are those who regularly use two glasses of it daily," he explained.

In his office, proofs of the second and revised edition of his best-selling guide to the overweight, "Reduce and Stay Reduced," covered his desk. He is a man of action, in his early fifties, slender, amiably pugnacious and enjoys his family and social life.

But he cautions the social drinker, particularly if he is overweight. "Let's face it. Hard liquor—whisky, gin, brandy, rum—averages about 100 calories to the ounce. The usual drink therefore adds about 150 calories to your daily total. That's about the same number contained in more than two slices of bread," he pointed out.

"Now this is what happens to the man or woman who likes a few drinks before dinner. Either he cuts down on food he would have eaten otherwise, thereby keeping his calorie intake as it should be.

"But this cutting down on food may result in an inadequate intake of essential nutrients and cause a deficiency disease. Or on the other hand, the alcohol may stimulate his appetite and increase his consumption of food calories, thereby adding to his obesity."

ADVICE TO USE

Before I left his busy office, he put his best advice to the overweight into capsule form:

Never, but never, eat beyond satiety. Never, but never, go back to your old eating habits. Never, but never, go back to a high fat diet.

He stood up briskly, took two pages from the forthcoming edition of his book and thrust them into my hand. "Here are two diet patterns, one for men, 1,500 calories, the other for women, 1,200 calories.

"On them, they will take off weight and stay well. If the woman is unusually large, tell her to use the man's diet.

"If the man is small, he should use the woman's diet. In any case, say my greeting for 1937 is this — enjoy it in good health."

Award Girl $30,000 for Damage to Vision

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A District Court jury yesterday awarded a 16-year-old school girl $30,000 damages for an eye injury caused last year by a flying blackboard eraser in a classroom.

The girl, Patricia Ann Burge, a music student, had sought $48,500 from six boys who she said had been tossing the erasers while the teacher was out of the room. A doctor testified the girl lost 80 per cent of the vision in the right eye which cannot be corrected with glasses.

Fear Records Lost in Blaze

Books Thought Burned in Spectacular Fire at Detroit Firm

DETROIT (AP)—Officials of the Coon-Devisser Co. said today they feared valuable records were lost in the spectacular blaze that virtually destroyed the distributing firm yesterday.

Three persons were injured and five buildings damaged in the half a million dollar fire.

Twenty-two pieces of equipment and 125 firemen were called to quell the blaze.

Dense smoke, billowing high into the sky, attracted thousands of spectators.

The building is located on Detroit's near west side, not far from the entrance to the Ambassador Bridge.

The company is a distributor of plumbing supplies, heating and ventilating equipment. The 40-year-old frame and brick building houses offices and warehouses. Three companies have facilities in the building.

Fire Chief E. J. Blohm who estimated damage said the fire broke out in a storage balcony about 60 feet from the building entrance. The fire fed on cardboard boxes containing paper-wrapped insulation material, he said.

More than 30 employees, including 15 women, fled the building.

The fire struck minutes after the Coon-Devisser books had been audited. W. R. Hutton, executive vice president, said he feared most of the company's records had been destroyed.

Letters Shower Tot Doomed by Leukemia

DETROIT (AP)—Today is "Roger Valentine Day" in suburban Dearborn.

The 2½-year-old boy is dying of leukemia, a blood disease.

His father James Valentine, a postman, said he used to write letters to the boy, who lives to receive mail.

A Detroit newspaper, telling of the child's condition, printed the parents' wish that Roger could be showered with letters.

On hand are some 10,000 cards and letters wishing Roger a "happy St. Valentine's Day."

Warns Britain of Red A-Rocket

Sandys Tells Commons Defense Must Retaliate Against Weapon

LONDON (AP) — The British government says the Soviet Union is developing a nuclear-headed rocket that can climb more than 100 miles into space at speeds of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

To prevent possible attack by such weapons, Defense Minister Duncan Sandys told the House of Commons, Britain must be prepared to meet it with devastating retaliation.

After hearing Sandys' report, the House voted 302-243 in support of the month-old Macmillan government's defense policies. The vote followed party lines. An opposition Laborite motion, to censure the government charged waste and mismanagement in defense.

Sandys said he is confident a defense can be provided against weapons of the type he described, but added "it would be absurd to pretend" such defense measures could be evolved quickly.

Sandys emphasized the importance of continued cooperation with the United States in the weapons field.

He was taken to Newport Hospital, where Dr. Charles Serbst reported his condition as critical. Dr. Serbst said the attack was "severe."

The hospital said there was no change today from his condition last night.

Budenz turned away from communism several years ago and has delivered many lectures on its evils.

Army Plans Solar Furnace to Harness Sun's Energy at Northland Monday

NATICK, MASS. (INS)—Army scientists are fashioning a harness for the fantastic energy generated by the sun.

They are building an elaborate solar furnace at Natick to capture some of this energy that falls on the earth.

The furnace, which operates on the principle of the magnifying glass, concentrates the sun's energy to produce temperatures as high as those achieved by material exposed to nuclear weapons explosions.

The Natick furnace will be used by the Quartermaster Research and Development Command to test clothing and equipment which might protect soldiers against the tremendous heat of atomic warfare.

The solar furnace, now under construction, will be completed this summer. The installation is about 125 feet long and uses simple optical principles to achieve the concentration of the sun's rays.

The direct rays of the sun are reflected from a flat mirror, or "Heliostat," which has an area of about 1,400 square feet. The reflected rays are focused by an array of 180 concentrating mirrors onto a test chamber with cooled shutters. Samples to be tested will be placed within the chamber and exposed to "pulses" of the high intensity of thermal radiation.

An automatic positioning system drives the Heliostat and keeps it at the correct angle with the sun. The directly reflected rays always illuminate the concentrator, regardless of the time of day or year.

"The facility will permit the Quartermaster Corps to test material in the laboratory for protecting the individual soldier against thermal effects of weapons," a spokesman at the development center said.

"Reliance upon atomic field trials will be necessary only for final evaluation. Use of the solar furnace is expected to reduce considerably the time and cost of development of items."

The mechanical frameworks, foundations and drive mechanisms of the furnace are being built for the Quartermaster Corps by a Cohasset, Mass., firm. Optical parts and other components of the furnace are being designed at the command in Natick.

Smash Two-Man Ring Smuggling Operation

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—The U. S. Border Patrol said the arrest of two men and seizure of a twin-engine airplane had broken up a two-way aerial smuggling operation across the border.

Charles S. Hudson, a Taft, Calif., pilot, and Manuel Martinez, Mexico City, were charged with smuggling aliens into the United States and contraband into Mexico.

The Border Patrol said the Ground Observer Corps and Navy radar units helped it intercept the flights.

Security for You

Job or Remarriage Can Affect Eligibility

It was just another ordinary day in 1955 for the manager of the Waukegan, Ill., Social Security office until the lady visitor leaned over and whispered in his ear: "I've got a confession to make."

Then, in hushed tones, she unfolded her story.

She and her three children had been getting Social Security checks since the early '40's following the death of her husband.

But, she'd neglected to report that she had gone back to work in September, 1944, and had remarried in April, 1946.

Before the office manager could tell her that she should have asked to have the checks reduced when she went back to work or, at least, when she remarried, she ended her story and said she'd see him tomorrow.

The next day she was back, a brown paper bag in her hand. In the bag were 119 checks which she'd carefully saved since September, 1944.

By the time the office manager had finished tabulating the checks, he had assured the lady that no drastic measures would be taken to penalize her. She left smiling and relieved without explaining why she saved the checks.

Despite the happy ending, the story has a serious moral:

You have a legal obligation to tell your Social Security office of any changes in your status which may affect any payments you're getting. If you don't do so, you may not only have to pay back all the money you wrongfully collected, but you may have to pay a penalty. In extreme cases, you may have to go to court, be fined or, perhaps, sent to jail.

One change in your status which frequently affects your right to Social Security payments: Marriage.

For example: Suppose you've been getting payments as a 64-year-old widow and you remarry. If your payments are based on your dead husband's Social Security record, your remarriage automatically makes you ineligible to continue to get the payments. Thus, you're required to tell your Social Security office that you've remarried.

Going back to work also may affect your right to Social Security payments. In general, if you earn more than $1,220 a year you're not eligible to all the monthly payments for that year and you should get in touch with your Social Security office if you reach that limit. Also, if someone in your family dies who's been receiving Security payments, the Social Security people should be told so that the payments can be stopped.

If you start receiving disability payments after July 1 from the Social Security Administration and, later, your disability is relieved, you are required to let the Social Security people know.

For children receiving payments due to the work record of a parent, the time to tell the Social Security office is when they reach 18 or marry, whichever comes first. The office must also be told if a child getting payments starts earning more than $1,200 a year.

One good rule: If you're in doubt about your eligibility to payments, let the Social Security office know about your doubts.

(You may write Ray Henry in care of this newspaper, about your own Social Security or retirement problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.)

NASCAR trials. Owner of the Hilda Dress Shops, Lavell holds several auto racing records. "Taboo," the French poodle at the left, is Lavell's mascot during speed trials.

Expert Speed Trial Driver Is Also Top Dress Designer

Fred Lavell, 39, took delivery of the 345-horsepower car from A. E. Kimberly, DeSoto chief engineer, after a final check-out on the famous Chelsea high-speed oval.

Lavell, who lives at 26301 Captain's Lane in Franklin, operates the Hilda's Dress Shops, located at 861 W. Huron St., in Pontiac; and 207 S. Woodward Ave., in Birmingham. Others are located at Northland and in Detroit.

The DeSoto Adventurer has been entered by Lavell in "flying mile all classes," the "two-way flying mile" and the "acceleration run for American passenger cars."

He is also planning to race his own hybrid experimental Allard with a modified De Soto engine in the "high speed record run for experimental cars." He believes he will surpass the existing record of 132 miles per hour with this car.

The Eighth Annual NASCAR International Speed and Safety Trials began Feb. 3 at Daytona Beach, Fla., and will continue through Sunday.

This man, with gasoline in his

Rush for Plates Near: Deadline 2 Weeks Away

Less than two weeks remain to purchase 1937 license plates. William M. Brewer, manager of the Pontiac branch of the Secretary of State's office, warned today.

Police officials say that vehicles bearing 1936 plates on March 1 will be ticketed and fined $1.

Brewer said only 22,000 out of 60,000 plates at the Pontiac office have been purchased to date. "Sales are still a little slow, but we're gaining," he said.

This Saturday the office, located at 53 N. Parke St., will remain open until around 3 p.m. The following Saturday it will remain open until 5. It is open weekdays from 9 until 5.

Brewer warned motorists not to forget their vehicle titles, and to have their applications made out at home to facilitate faster service. Application blanks are available at the office.

As a sportsman, he designs automobiles for the thrill of driving fast. "Actually," Lavell admits, "I'm a little of everything—designer, engineer and mechanic."

"I believe the championships at NASCAR will be decided by three important factors: The machine, the crew and the temperament of the driver."

Lavell should know. He has only been racing sports cars for six years, and two years ago he captured the Bonneville Flats (Utah) National speed trophy, racing 147.27 miles per hour.

On his drawing board in his dress shop, resting next to his latest dress creation, is a design for a dream car to be completed within five years in which Lavell plans to shatter all world land speed records. "This car," Lavell reveals, "will literally fly on the ground."

A Californian (Los Angeles and Beverly Hills resident), Lavell moved to Michigan in 1932 because "I wanted to be near the excitement of the automobile industry."

Lavell has a four-man pit crew at Daytona. In its spare time, the crew is also in the dress business, renovating the interiors of the shops, which Lavell designed himself.

Proposed Pontiac High School Is Case in Point

Is Conventional School Design Cheaper Than Modern? The Facts Refute Belief

BY PETE LOCHBILER

Dr. Otto C. Hutziger is a man who knows well that the taxpayer prefers common sense when it comes to school building costs.

As assistant superintendent of Pontiac schools in charge of building and business, Hutziger admits difficulty persuading people the common sense view is sometimes an impractical one.

The case in point, he says, is the city's proposed $4,500,000 high school.

The design tentatively approved by the Board of Education calls for a low, rambling structure with an unusual central cluster of classrooms.

"People want to know why a conventional, two or three-story building wouldn't be cheaper," Hutziger commented.

"Common sense says it would be," he agreed. "But I studied the plans and calculations carefully and am convinced the modern style building will not be more expensive. In fact, it might very well cost less in the long run. But it's hard to persuade people this is true."

The question keeps popping up,

Hutziger said, whenever conversation turns to the new school. Construction is planned to begin this spring in order for the first section to be ready for 800 northeast side pupils by the fall, 1938 semester.

This means, Hutziger said, that taxpayers want the question of cost settled in their minds right now.

Most of the controversy, he said, centers around the one-story classroom clusters, nicknamed by some as "doughnuts."

The clusters are square, each with an open court in the center. They are connected by inner corridors. There are about six classrooms in each "doughnut" and all have supplemental lighting through skylights.

People question the economy of this design, Hutziger explained. It would seem common sense, he said, that more walls, foundations and roofs would have to be built in such a spread-out scheme.

KEY IN STATE LAWS

Probably the cost would be greater, he agreed, if it were not for certain cost-saving features. State laws governing school construction are the key, he said.

As designed, for instance, classroom walls need not be as high as required by law in conventional buildings.

"We will get natural light through the skylights so that less light will be required through high windows," Hutziger said.

As a result, wall height can be cut in the Pontiac classrooms from the standard 12 feet to nine feet, reducing the total cubage of each room by 25 per cent, Hutziger said.

"That means a huge saving in construction costs," he pointed out, adding: "In years to come it will mean less glass to clean, less wall space to paint and less room to heat. All of these will add up into maintenance savings."

Again, because there are no second or third floors, there will be no stairwells, an elimination that saves a surprisingly big amount of space and money. Hutziger figures roughly $26,000.

Because of the one-story construction, walls need not be as thick or heavy — another big saving, he said.

Another criticism is aimed at the complex network of corridors. "People point out there is usually only one long inner corridor in a conventional building," Hutziger said.

But he explained that the proposed school's corridors will be narrower, in addition to being lower. "In fact," he said, "the architect says they will require less total enclosed space than in a two-story building of equal size. It was one of the first questions I asked and I am satisfied with the answer," Hutziger said.

He hastened to add that the reduced corridor space is allowed by law because halls in the academic area will be less crowded, with more than the usual number of fire exits.

These savings in construction more than offset, Hutziger said, any additional expenses involved in other features of the design.

He pointed out that the controversial part of the building occupies less than one-third the total space.

"I think we've gained many educational advantages in the academic section, as it's designed, without running into any extra costs," Hutziger stated.

DR. OTTO HUTZIGER

May Hike Fees in State Schools

Senate Views Plan to Force College Students to Bear Cost Burden

LANSING (AP)—The handwriting was on the wall in the legislature today for a 20 to 30 per cent increase in tuition fees at state supported higher education institutions.

And after the idea was publicly broached yesterday at a Senate Appropriations Committee hearing, John A. Hannah, Michigan State University president, indicated he would not resist pressure for a reasonable increase.

Ever since the session started Jan. 9, and even before, there has been talk in the legislature that the time was ripe for requiring students to pay a bigger share of their education costs.

Technically, however, the legislature lacks the authority to raise fees at MSU or the University of Michigan, both operated by separate constitutional bodies.

COULD BE FORCED

But as a practical matter, a fee boost in all likelihood could be forced by slicing deeply enough into the institution's requests for operating appropriations.

At a hearing on the MSU budget request, Sens. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), committee chairman, and Robert E. Faulkner (R-Coloma) asked Hannah's reaction on a fee boost.

Porter asked in terms of a 20 per cent hike. Faulkner mentioned 30.

Corn Tongs Inspire $1,000 Idea

Some unique "corn tongs" used to measure empty spaces are saving GMC Truck and Coach Division an estimated $6,000 annually.

They are also earning their inventor, Wallace H. Doeblar, 33, of Utica, a $1,000 U. S. Savings Bond.

Events leading to these results started two years ago when Doeblar

WALLACE DOEBLAR — Makes 'corny' suggestion headed an 18-man crew taking inventory of the hardware (nuts, bolts, screws, etc.) used in building GMC trucks and coaches.

As supervisor of one of several inventory teams, Doeblar had the responsibility of checking the number of nuts, bolts and screws in more than 300 containers.

The job was not easy. To get an accurate count, inventory takers had to dump the contents of each storage pan onto scales so that the quantity of items could be computed from their weight.

Doeblar was content to carry out his assignment in the accepted method. But when the job was done, he got to thinking over ways to improve the system.

It was a month after the inventory that Doeblar got his inspiration. It happened at the breakfast table.

"I was drinking a cup of coffee," Doeblar said, "when I happened to glance at a pair of corn tongs sticking out of a drawer. You know the kind I mean, those things you use to fish ears of corn out of hot water."

"Well, they reminded me of calipers. And I thought why not use calipers, with special cubic-inch calibrations, to measure the empty space in storage bins and translate this into the volume taken up by the hardware items."

At work that day Doeblar doodled on sheet after sheet of paper. He worked out a rough calibration for his "brain-child" and even fashioned a make-shift caliper out of cardboard.

He showed it to his supervisors in the materials handling department and they gave him the green light. He next made a caliper out of scrap aluminum.

"It was plenty rough," he remembers, "but the important thing was, it worked. From there, my makeshift device was improved and refined."

Last year the calipers were used by GMC for the first time. The result: An estimated savings of $6,000 in labor and material. Turning his suggestion into the GMC Employee Suggestion Plan Committee, Doeblar recently was notified that he had won a $1,000 U. S. Savings Bond.

To top off his good luck, Doeblar also was given a promotion. He now serves as a junior material handling specialist.

Claims American Championship Chippewa County Has 100 Islands Within Area

By JOHN MATHESON

Sault Evening News

SAULT STE. MARIE (U. S.)—Chippewa County, located on the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula, can stake a claim on having one of the largest numbers of islands of any American county.

Maps and charts of the county, which extends from Lake Superior to Lake Huron, show close to 100 named islands within the boundaries of the county. In addition, there are numerous other tiny islets not considered large enough to warrant naming.

A major portion of Sault Ste. Marie, the county seat, is surrounded by water of a man-made power canal which uses the difference of water levels between Lake Superior and Lake Huron to generate hydroelectric power. That same water level difference required construction of the St. Mary's Falls Canal and its four sets of locks, and their construction resulted in creation of man-made islands within the city limits. These give Sault Ste. Marie a total of 16 within its city limits.

Most of Chippewa County's islands, totaling 97 outside Sault Ste. Marie, are located near the mouth of the St. Mary's River. This is the stream connecting Lakes Superior and Huron.

Two of the islands are large enough to warrant designation as separate townships, Sugar and Drummond. A third large island in the river, Neebish, is attached to Soo township for governmental purposes, although it is about 12 miles from the major portion of the township.

UNUSUAL HIGHWAY PROBLEM
These three major land masses pose an unusual problem in county government, in that three ferry systems and six docks are needed to transport residents and visitors back and forth. County supervisors complain that this special problem deserves special consideration in highway funds, and are working toward that end.

Most of the county's islands are scattered around Drummond Island, the easternmost part of the county. One count turned up 61 named islands around Drummond, with 11 more in the vicinity of the village of Detour on the eastern tip of the Upper Peninsula.

Naming of some of the islands must have been left in the hands of persons with senses of humor.

"Bow" and "Arrow" are adjacent; the larger "James" is near the smaller "Jim" island.

Lake charts reveal a number of picturesque names for the islands. Among them are Bald, Grape, Peck, Fire, Wreck, Sam, Gravel, Saddlebag, Crab, Frying Pan, Big Trout, Little Trout, Cherry, Lime, Garden, Picnic, Gull, Pipe, Pipe Island, Twin, Pine, Steamboat, Twin, Duck, Hen, and Chicken Islands. Others are Advance, Gem, Hog, Moon, and Two Tree.

The supply of names must have been depleted near the Sault, however, and four islands within the city limits are known simply as No. 1, No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4.

Waterford List Omitted 3 Men

Daly, Huffman, Karp
Seeking Justice Post;
McCrary for Constable

Three Waterford Township Democratic candidate's names were not included on a list received by The Press for publication concerning the primary election to be held Monday.

Patrick K. Daly, 28, of 1148 Lynsue Ave., is one of three candidates seeking the single justice of the peace nomination. He is presently working at the Mercury Division of the Ford Motor Company, at Dearborn and has had one year study at Wayne University.

Jay Huffman, 43, of 3192 Seebaldt Dr., is another justice candidate.

Seymour Karp, 43, of 6129 Highland Rd., owns and operates an airplane ferry service. He has a college degree in aeronautical engineering and is secretary of the Waterford Township Lions' Club. Jesse McCrary, 30, of 6539 Maceday Dr. is one of three candidates seeking nomination as constable. He is married, has two children and finished his high school education in the service. He is employed as plant protection man at Pontiac Motor Company.

There will be a write-in for the fourth Democratic candidate for Waterford Township constable nomination.

France-Algeria Fight Before U.N. Board

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U. S.)

The U. N. General Assembly today turns to its Political Committee's watered down recommendations for French-Algerian talks aimed at ending bloodshed in the rebellious North African territory.

There was little likelihood that resolutions adopted by the committee yesterday would get the two-thirds vote needed for Assembly approval. And the French, who regard Algeria as part of metropolitan France and hence none of U.N.'s business, have served notice they will ignore any U. N. recommendations.

The 80-nation committee rejected Asian-African demands that France grant the Algerians the right to determine their own future status. Then it approved 37-

27 a resolution declaring that the Algerian situation "may be normalized by the joint efforts of France and the Algerian people to find an equitable solution in conformity with the principles of the charter of the United Nations."

New Zealand has four principal cities in area and population. They are Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch and Dunedin in that order.

Auto Accident Victims Can Suffer Latent Pain

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — A panel of surgeons today recommended that persons injured in automobile accidents be examined for possible hidden "whiplash injuries" — those caused by a sudden snapping back of the head. The surgeons said these often occur when a car is struck from the rear.

The panel said in statements prepared for delivery that whiplash injuries are common because many collisions involve cars standing still. The discussion took place at the end of the Mid-Atlantic Regional Meeting of the U. S. Section, International College of Surgeons.

Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire of Chicago, executive director of the International College of Surgeons and former White House physician to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said a whiplash injury may have such little effect at the time it occurs that the injured person gives it no attention.

"It is only when the symptoms occur at a later date that the patient comes to the orthopedist or neurosurgeon for assistance," he said, adding that such injuries often involve the nerves in the unprotected back of the neck.

Listed symptoms include pain of a neuralgic type over a large part of the neck or headaches, often with some degree of concussion.

If the force of the strike is at an angle, Dr. McIntire said, a severe rotation of the neck will cause other symptoms, including muscular spasms, dizziness, nausea and inability to see properly.

"Very often symptoms do not arise, in cases where there have been no fractures, for a period of many years," he added. "Early treatment is important and that

Goats Prevent Fires?

ESCONDIDO, Calif. — The Chamber of Commerce proposed to San Diego County's supervisors that goats be herded to eat fire-breaks in hill and mountain areas where brush and forest fires sometimes cause heavy damage. The chamber said the goats would pay for their keep with milk, meat and manure.

Probers Quiz Seaton on Oil

Senators Ask Secretary of Interior U.S. Stand on Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Seaton was called before Senate investigators today for an explanation of the government's position on recent oil and gasoline price increases.

Members of a Joint Senate Antimonopoly and Public Lands subcommittee also said they want "facts and figures" from Seaton on oil shipments to Europe under the emergency program put into effect after the closing of the Suez Canal last fall.

Seaton's department supervises the program, under which anti-trust laws have been relaxed to let 15 major oil companies coordinate their efforts to supply Europe's needs.

The House Commerce Committee is also conducting a probe of the oil lift and the gas-oil price increases.

Representatives of independent petroleum producers have testified that a crude oil price increase was inevitable because of rising production costs, regardless of the Suez crisis.

The price increase posted by Humble was 35 cents a barrel, but witnesses have told the Senate subcommittee the average increase has been about 25 cents a barrel. Retail fuel oil and gasoline prices have been boosted a cent a gallon.

President Sends Bid to Adenauer for Visit to U.S.

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Eisenhower has invited West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to visit the United States, a government spokesman announced today.

Dates have not been fixed, but the 81-year-old Chancellor will go to Washington in the second half of May.

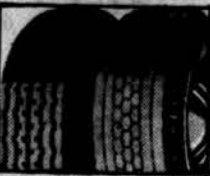

President Theodore Heuss is making a visit to the United States March 6. Adenauer's biggest political opponent, Socialist leader Erich Ollenhauer, is now touring the United States.

This will be Adenauer's third visit. He was last in Washington last June.

Now he wants direct talks over the trends of world politics, particularly in the Soviet satellite countries and on the questions of disarmament, European security and German reunification.

Bob Considine Says:

Hilton Will Run Greek Restaurant

NEW YORK (INS) — Conrad Hilton is going to open a Greek restaurant. It will be at the corner of Queen Sophia and King Constantine Blvd., in Athens. They've needed a place there for a long time, many Greeks agree.

The restaurant, of course, will be only one of several in Hilton's proposed Athens Hilton, the newest announced member of a hotel chain that one day expects to encircle the earth between normal plane hops. This one will be built in cooperation with Apostolos Pezas, Greek financier and shipowner, and the Greek government.

Hilton told me the other day that he still has high hopes that the Nile Hilton will be completed. It was perhaps half done when Nasser blew his top.

Also in the building stage are the Havana Hilton, the Acapulco Hilton, and Berlin Hilton. Communists in Rome have retarded the beginning of the Hilton hotel there, but Thailand and Baghdad will soon be started, and perhaps one in Sydney.

Hilton has his hands and mind full. At the formal opening of the Istanbul Hilton he met and shook hands with every employee of that fabled place, every guest and guests of guests. One face in the blur of faces seemed to pique his interest.

SOME ANSWERS:

"What do you do around here?" Hilton asked the little man, shaking his hand.

The man looked at Hilton rather bleakly and said, levelly, "Built it."

Tell Junior to lay off the spinach and tackle those eggs. Modern chemistry, farmer needs, and so forth are on his side.

Big butter and egg man was telling us today that per capita consumption of eggs has dropped alarmingly despite an overall increase in production. New Yorkers, he said with a shudder, eat only half an egg per person per day.

The national consumption is 167,000,000 eggs a day, but it should be more from a nutritional standpoint, the man said.

This is unprovoked invasion of drama critic John McClain's beach but an Irish source—the Bulletin of External Affairs—gives us a view of a somewhat harder theater than the Broadway of 1957.

It was the opening at Dublin's Abbey Theater, just 50 years ago

this week, of John Millington Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World."

It wasn't what the critics did to the play, it was what the patrons did to the chairs. The morning after it opened a Dublin paper reported:

"Remarkable scenes were witnessed last evening at the Abbey Theater. The performance had not proceeded for more than 10 minutes when it was obvious that the house was not disposed to a favorable reception of the piece."

"The first act was given amidst a scene of great disorder and before its close Mr. W. C. Fay came to the footlights and announced that anyone who did not like it would be well advised to leave the building. A crash of disorder was the response and the lusty singing of 'The West's Asleep.'"

"The police were summoned." Seems that they, in turn, were thrown out when they objected to a line in the play that called them Peelers — after Sir Robert Peel.

Later in the week, 500 cops were needed to preserve a measure of order when the weak-willed boy who believes he has killed his father boasts, "I just riz the loy and let fall the edge of it on the ridge of his skull and he went down at my feet like an empty sack."

"For the first week," said a contemporary, "Nobody except the players heard anything." W. B. Yeats, director of the theater, held nightly debates on the merits and flaws of the play. The Abbey, he stormed, "would fight for freedom of expression." And thus it was born.

Shepilov Russian Symbol

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Even physically, Dmitri Trofimovich Shepilov is a symbol of the "New" Russia that has emerged in the four years since the death of Joseph Stalin.

The Soviet foreign minister is more than six feet tall, which almost automatically would have excluded him from Stalin's confidence. Only five-five himself, the late premier instinctively distrusted anyone taller than he.

For his part, Shepilov may not have thought much of Stalin either, having escaped one of the dictator's purges as recently as 1948, and he reportedly was the author of the speech in which Nikita Khrushchev officially "downgraded" Stalin last year.

CLIMBS WITH KRUSHCHEV

The 51-year-old Shepilov's climb in the Soviet hierarchy — to the point where it was he who presented the Kremlin's counter-proposal for President Eisenhower's Middle East Doctrine yesterday — is directly tied up to the rise of Communist Party Boss Khrushchev.

They worked closely in the Ukraine during World War II, and in 1955, when Shepilov was editor-in-chief of "Pravda," he helped Khrushchev to the top of the heap in Moscow by "downgrading" Premier Georgi Malenkov.

Last summer, Shepilov got his reward, appointment as successor to foreign minister V. M. Molotov, "the old Bolshevik."

This switch just about completed the changeover from Stalin's rule and Stalin's heavy-handed method of running Soviet affairs. But no one better represented the difference between old and new regimes than the husky, handsome Shepilov.

He has said "Nyet" as often as his predecessors — but has seemed almost reasonable in his arguments. He is as dedicated a Communist as any of Stalin's henchmen — but at least he smiles occasionally. He is tough — but he relaxes.

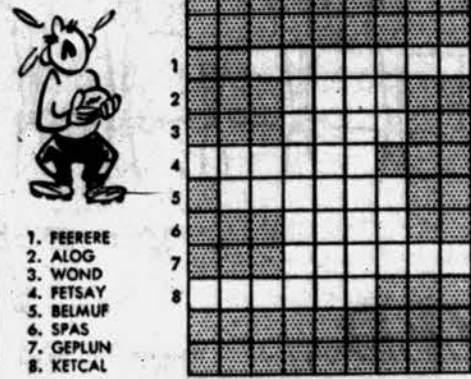

Under Shepilov, Soviet foreign policy has remained as basically aggressive as ever. Yet, Shepilov has managed to avoid the bitter personal recriminations that characterized Russia's relations with the west before his arrival on the international scene.

Last summer, after casting his first veto in the U.N., Shepilov bowed and warmly shook hands with each of the delegates whose will he had just thwarted.

A Businessman's 4 Years in Washington

then, it has been on the rise, because of higher prices and the changeover to more intricate and expensive weapons. For the next fiscal year, ending June 30, 1958, the estimate is 38 billion dollars.

PAYROLLS REDUCED

Meanwhile, military personnel has been reduced from 3.6 million to 2.8. Civilian employees have been cut from 1.5 million to 1.2.

In Mr. Wilson's own office there were 2,100 grade employees when he took over; 1,431 now.

Under no previous administration, it is said at the Pentagon, have "fringe benefits" for servicemen — housing, medical care and the like — been so widely increased. Much of this is attributed to Mr. Wilson's push.

Industrialists say that the old argument between the department and industry over "lead time" — the interval between awarding contracts and actual production — has been greatly eased. Mr. Wilson's understanding and experience have made contracts more realistic with regard to production capabilities, time and rate of deliveries.

One overriding problem remains unsolved. Military men say that any real unification of the services remains as far away as ever. Mr. Wilson, backed by the President, has, however, been firm in assigning roles and missions to the services.

BUSY SECRETARY

Making such decisions and reductions, it is said at the Pentagon, is no way to win a popularity contest. The secretary has stepped on many toes, knocked numerous heads together. Yet there are few who dislike Charlie Wilson.

Many Washingtonians, in fact, consider his candor one of the most refreshing things to hit the town in years.

Mr. Wilson is a tremendously busy man. Now 66, he has worked hard all his life. Long hours do not faze him. Associates say he is as fresh late in the evening as first thing in the morning. One of his requirements when choosing a subordinate is that a man "must not think he's sick when he sweats."

The Secretary feels he has been able to attract an able group of men to the Department, although, he said, about all he could offer them was "ulcers."

In General Motors, men come up from the ranks to take executive positions. In the Defense Department, Mr. Wilson has had to go out and recruit them. He thinks the group has worked together smoothly, with a minimum of fussing.

Mr. Wilson is described by associates as a man with an easy fund of good humor and good will, tolerant and patient in his relations with subordinates. Of necessity, he must parcel out his time. Yet there have been almost no complaints from civilian officials or higher-ranking military men that he is inaccessible.

A FAST START

Mr. Wilson grew up in rural Ohio. Both his parents were school teachers. He was 14 before he saw his first automobile and found he could run almost as fast as it did. Anything mechanical attracted him. He was a brilliant student. He had high school behind him at 16 and Carnegie Tech at 19.

The Secretary emerged with a degree in electrical engineering, went to work as an engineer apprentice for Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

There he showed a special aptitude for designing and manufacturing the electrical appliances that company was making for automobiles.

This led him ultimately into General Motors, and by stages up the ladder to the presidency of that huge organization.

He became president in 1941. In the job, he supervised the manufacture of 12 billion dollars' worth of war machines for the Government. Late in 1952, Mr. Eisenhower tabbed Mr. Wilson as the man to take over the Defense Department.

The first of the series of statements that have attracted so much attention came early. Regarding the disposition of his General Motors holdings, he told a Senate committee that "what is good for the country is good for General Motors, and vice versa."

Because of the "vice versa," a phrase he since has avoided, Mr. Wilson was widely quoted as saying that "what is good for General Motors is good for the country."

Soon after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles announced that U.S. policy was hinged on the power of instant retaliation with weapons of this nation's own choosing, Mr. Wilson criticized people who were "brandishing the atomic bomb."

Perhaps most famous of all was his statement late in the 1954 congressional campaign in Detroit, where unemployment had risen.

"I have a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change catches them," he said. "But I've always liked bird dogs better than kennel dogs. You know, one who'll get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

Labor jumped on that one. So did many Democrats. Some Republican candidates disassociated themselves from the remark. Mr. Wilson apologized. An important Republican Senate seat was lost in Michigan.

A few weeks ago, there was a furor over Assistant Secretary of Defense Robert T. Ross. It developed that a clothing firm of which his wife was president had been doing business with the Army. Mr. Wilson had this to say:

"If the facts are right, as I understand them to be, there is no reason for criticism whatsoever."

"I think it's had enough to make a man sell everything he owns, but if he has to divorce his wife, too, that's going pretty far."

Then came the remark about the National Guard. And a little later, Mr. Wilson referred offhandedly to the White House establishment as a "dunghill." The phrase got big headlines.

Mr. Wilson's aptitude for controversial phrasing has, of course, made him many critics. There are those who defend him, too, and say the Secretary in some cases said things that needed saying and that no one else had the courage to say. In any event, Mr. Wilson has an unusual ability to focus attention on an issue with a colloquialism, a phrase or a simplification.

FUTURE JUDGMENT

Mr. Wilson's regime has been one in which many new weapons reached maturity. The B32 has been developed, the B47 is in mass delivery. There now are guided missiles and atomic submarines. Most of these things are the product of the planning of his predecessors. Military men say any real judgment of Mr. Wilson's accomplishments cannot be made for four or five years, when it will become apparent how well he has planned for the future.

Meanwhile, Mr. Wilson and his friends feel that, despite frustrations and difficulties, this "big businessman" in Government has made an abundant contribution to the defense of this country.

U.S. Acts to Head Off Red Inroads in Africa

WASHINGTON (INS) — Alarmed by stepped up Communist penetration in Africa, the State department is quietly strengthening all of its diplomatic missions in the dark continent and will open four new consulates there before June 30.

The department will also, if Congress approves requested funds, set up a separate bureau of African affairs to be headed by an assistant secretary.

Bill Proposes Cool Off Period

Aims to Meet Problem of Broken Homes; Aid in Juvenile Delinquency

LANSING UP—A proposal for a 60-day "cooling-off" period in divorce cases has been filed in the Legislature with bi-partisan sponsorship.

Rep. Harold M. Ryan (D-DeToit) said the bill was an attempt to meet the problem of broken homes.

Indirectly, he said, it would strike at juvenile delinquency, and at rising governmental costs through cutting down on the Department Child Aid rolls and institutional populations.

Ryan and Sen. Lynn O. Francis (R-Michigan) submitted the bill. Under the measure, no complaint could be filed for divorce on separate maintenance until 60 days after notice is served by process of summons or otherwise.

During the cooling off period, the judge could set in motion judicial efforts to bring about a reconciliation between the prospective litigants.

Ryan said that 54,000 marriages were performed in Michigan last year, and about 18,000 divorces were granted. Over 9,000 of the divorce cases involved an estimated 27,000 minor children.

The Ryan-Francis bill provides that where children were involved no testimony could be taken until six months after filing of the complaint, or about eight months after proceedings were instituted.

FBI Shrinks by One 10 Most Wanted List

WASHINGTON (INS) — Robert L. Green, placed on the FBI's "10 Most Wanted" list only two days ago, was captured yesterday in St. Paul, Minn.

The FBI said Green, a 27-year-old escapee from Utah State Prison, was armed but offered no resistance when agents approached him in a St. Paul bus depot.

Descriptive data and a photograph of Green published in a Minneapolis newspaper led two readers to identify him, the FBI said.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, said Green had lived in California, was married and resided at several Minneapolis addresses under the name of Floyd Samuel Baker since his escape from prison 2½ years ago.

He had been serving a 1-to-20-year sentence for burglary and 5-year-to-life sentence for armed robbery, the FBI said.

Junk-Wagon Nag No Slouch at Rodeo Tactics

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit Eugene Williams thinks the horse he rented from a livery stable to draw his junk wagon must have been bought "from a rodeo."

Williams, 40, was traveling down a Detroit street yesterday when the horse became frightened and dashed away.

The driver fell off the wagon when it swerved over a curb but the horse barreled on and side-swiped a police car.

Patrolman Francis Abram, one of the scout car officers, finally got the horse back under control.

The African move is completely separate from the Middle East crisis, where Communist infiltration has already injected Egypt and the rest of the Arab world into a bubbling cauldron which endangers world peace.

The situation in black Africa, although less advertised, poses an equally dire potential crisis for western civilization.

CONSULATES

The U.S. shortly will open four new consulates at Abijan, French Ivory Coast; Yaounde, French Cameroons; Kampala, British Protectorate of Uganda; and Mogadishio, Somalia trust territory formerly belonging to pre-war Italy.

Our recently established missions in Tunisia and Morocco are being heavily reinforced, and a "general strengthening" is occurring in all of our African diplomatic establishments.

To emphasize the impending danger, Vice President Richard M. Nixon will make a precedent-shattering trip to Ghana, the former British gold coast colony which is achieving independence March 6. As President Eisenhower was quick to point out at last week's press conference, the high-level visit is far more than "merely ceremonial."

The real purpose, propaganda-wise, is to spread good will for America in a crucial area of the world, and to "gather impressions" — as Ike put it — for the benefit of this country in its cold war battle against Communism.

Although the President has not yet taken formal action, he is expected to raise our mission at Ghana from a legation to an embassy, with full ambassadorial accreditation.

This goodwill move on added significance in light of the fact that on the entire continent of Africa, the U.S. has only six missions with ambassadorial rank. These are located in Libya, the Union of South Africa, Ethiopia, Liberia, Tunisia and Morocco.

Besides those, we have 11 consuls-generals and 12 consulate establishments in Africa, all of which are now in the process of reinforcement.

The United States Information Service, while currently more concerned with the Middle East, is also hopeful of stepping up its activities in Africa if Congress grants its request for a 27 million dollar budget increase.

Food Important as Film to Drive-In Theaters

BOSTON — New England has more than 200 drive-in theaters, representing an investment of some $15,000,000. Well over half the income of the typical drive-in theater is derived from the sale of refreshments, and these have graduated in some places from snacks to nearly full-course meals.

Hot dogs and coffee are still the sales leaders, but the demand for specialties is growing so fast that a good pizza sauce is nearly as important to some patrons as a theater is derived from the sale of good movie.

Prosecutor Ziem Set as Speaker for Exchange

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem will be guest speaker at an Exchange Club luncheon Friday at the Waldron Hotel as part of the club's participation in the National Crime Prevention Week, Feb. 10-16.

The week, sponsored by the National Exchange Club, was officially proclaimed locally by Mayor William W. Donaldson.

A six-point program aimed at reducing the daily crime rate was offered by John Mosler, executive vice president of the Mosler Safe Co.

Mosler, a leading protection expert, said that police are outnumbered four to one by law breakers. He urges merchants, one of crime's largest class of victims, to observe the following steps:

1. Leave stores lighted overnight.
2. Never hide cash in unsafe drawers or cabinets.
3. Keep a money safe in a prominent spot.
4. Make sure all doors and windows are securely locked at night.
5. Never take receipts to the bank at a regularly scheduled time, always vary the route.

Moonshiner No Match for Persistent Helicopter

MIAMI, Fla. — In prohibition days the Coast Guard chased rum-runners. A Coast Guard officer ran a moonshiner ragged with a helicopter when he spied the man fleeing through a field, a sheriff's posse in pursuit.

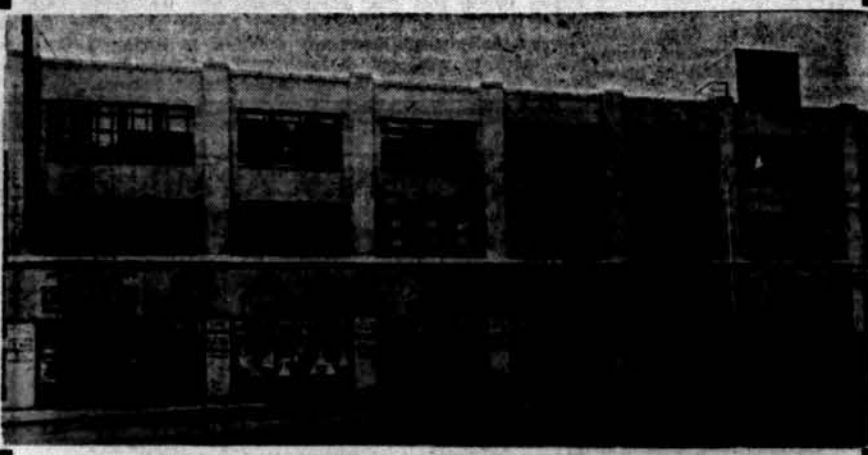

Cmdr. Norman Horton spotted smoke from a still. Wherever the fleeing moonshiner turned, Horton lowered the whirly-bird into his path. Each time, the fugitive veered off in another direction.

The sheriff's office reported that when its men reached the field, the moonshiner was lying on his back exhausted and offered no resistance to arrest.

VISITING INDONESIANS — Government administrators from Indonesia watch Ruth Harboldt process accounts in the alimony department of the Oakland County Friend of the Court's office. The visitors are completing a three-week study of Oakland County's government as part of a State Dept. International Cooperation program. From left, are R. Soorjohartono Soeharto, M. N. Mansjur, Sukiyat and Abdoerachman. The latter two do not use first names.

4 Indonesians Observe County Administration

By HAROLD COHEN

The America we have found is entirely different from the America we had imagined, four Indonesians said yesterday while touring county government in Pontiac.

The four are administrators studying American government at Wayne State University under the State Department's International Cooperation Administration program, in cooperation with the Indonesian government.

In addition to their year's study at Wayne, they are getting field experience by observing the operation of city, county, state and federal administrations.

The visitors are headed by Abdoerachman, who does not use a given name or initials. He is a regent and governs a large area made up of several districts. Others in the group are Sukiyat, who also uses only a single name, personnel officer for the ministry of home affairs, and R. Soorjohartono Soeharto and M. N. Mansjur, district officers.

The four have been studying Oakland County for three weeks under the supervision of John Witherup, county personnel director.

They also have taken side trips to West Bloomfield Township and Rochester.

Asked their impression of American government as compared with theirs, they all agreed that the division of powers astonished them most.

TOO MANY TAXES

"Taxes, taxes, taxes," said Abdoerachman, "Americans pay city taxes, county taxes, state taxes and federal taxes. We wouldn't dare to try anything like that among our people. They would be hopelessly confused."

"In Indonesia, we have just one tax to pay, and that is enough for our simple people."

Most Indonesians, the group agreed, have a very poor impression of Americans due largely to Hollywood movies. "Even the most remote village has a movie house," they said, "and their idea of Americans is unfavorable because the films make you seem bad or without culture. Even the educated who have read books on America, have that opinion."

The four added that they were surprised to find how serious

Americans were, and how interested in government and world affairs.

The personnel officer, Sukiyat, interjected that he, personally, felt that there was a great deal of discrimination against Negroes in government here, despite the civil service regulations against this. However, the others added they had met several Negro attorneys and doctors, so they felt there was some opportunity for Negroes to advance in the U. S.

Indonesia, the visitors pointed out, is organized along European lines governmentally, and has largely continued the Dutch forms established before the country achieved independence.

ALL OFFICIALS APPOINTED

The central government appoints all local officials and judges with the exception of the village head, or mayor as we would call him.

This village head is charged with collecting taxes for the central government and acting as a spokesman for the villagers in dealings with higher officials.

It's Right of Way, Way That's Right That's Puzzling

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Julius A. Glass, 49, thinks you can fight City Hall.

Only his quarrel is not with City Hall—but with the state of Texas, which has earmarked his house and lot as part of a freeway right-of-way.

The action has discouraged potential buyers, Glass says. And no money is now available to pay him for the property because highway engineers figure it will be 1965 before it is needed. The state originally planned to acquire it by 1962.

But Glass isn't admitting defeat. Unless the state comes through with a solution by Saturday, he says he will deed the property to 1,000 individual and charitable organizations throughout the country.

The resulting legal snafu will cost the state of Texas between one and three million dollars, Glass figures.

He said a doctor has advised him to move to Colorado for his health's sake, but the state "freeze" on his property has prevented him from disposing of it.

Adriatic Riviera —Heart of Italy

Enjoy Sunny Beaches, Cozy Pensions; Hotels
at Moderate Cost

ROME — The Adriatic coast has lost its austere look. Though still off-beat in contrast to elegant Portofino and gaudy Capri, the Adriatic Riviera ranks high on tourist popularity polls for 1957. Its boosters are the Italians themselves and travelers who have seen the show-places, Rome, Florence, Venice, and want to know the heart of Italy.

This sun-basking strip, stretching from Ravenna down the back of the Italian boot to Ancona, has made a miraculous comeback since the war. Cozy pensions dot the hills above the sea, and resort hotels, blown sky high by the bombs, are open for business. Bright cabanas and rooco villas burgeon along the sands. Highways, now smooth as table tops, and new electric trains connect the coast with all parts of Italy.

TOUR COSTS $5

What's more, a new tour called the Artistic Ribbon has been designed to put these Adriatic resorts back on the map. Deluxe buses run by CIAT will carry tourists from Bologna to Ravenna via Rimini and San Marino this summer. The fare and guided tour for the 150-mile journey is exactly $5.

One of the most scenic routes to Adriatic from Rome leads north to Florence through the green hills of Tuscany. Luxury motor coaches cover the 145 miles in a day for $6.40 one-way. After arriving in Florence, tourists can linger a few days to take in the legacy of the Renaissance along the Arno, or continue directly north to Bologna. Bus fare for the half-day jaunt on to Bologna is $3.20.

Rate Down; Bill Grows

OMAHA — The average cost of electricity to farmers has gone down nearly 50 cents per 100 kilowatt hours since 1947-52, but the average monthly electric bill paid by farmers has increased by more than $3 in the same period.

Tender Sentiments Fill Feminine Hearts With Joy

Sweet Valentines Are Coming Back

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — It is a great pleasure to report, this lovely mellow Valentine's Day, that the men of America seem to be coming back to hand.

They are not all-out affectionate yet (there is still a great deal of attention being given the sweet tooth, instead of the sweet talk), but there's a marked improvement in the card department.

Last year, this columnist lamented that there was a trend toward too little "be my sweet-heart" and too much "drop dead, dearie" sentiment in Valentines.

Out of some eight cards which filtered through the mail censors into this office in '36, at least six were of a nature to make a woman laugh. But not pleasantly.

This year, by happy contrast, the cards are 100 per cent lacy and soulful. Since we are no more lovable this year than last, it must be interpreted as a trend back to the golden days when love was all, on Feb. 14th; anyway, and Charles Addams had not yet made his influence felt upon mankind.

FEING CHEATED

It's about time. Women were being cheated out of their special 24-hour opportunity to pad the ego and blot the morale.

Though widely touted as a diversionary holiday for both sexes, Valentine's Day is actually as full-round female as a remark like "exactly why do you love me, baby?"

You can send a man a Valentine, of course, but it's wasted. If it has a heart on it, if it does not flatter and bludge in-sult him, he is either mildly or strongly embarrassed — depending upon just who you happen to be.

If you are his daughter, and aged somewhere under 5, he may show your Valentine to his secretary. But if you are anything else in his life, mother, wife, sister or friend, he will hide your sentiment under a bushel of what-nots in his wastebasket, wondering where the devil you got the impression his love could be bought with such an idiotic and commercial message.

For women, no matter how brisk and efficiently they behave on the 364 other days of the year, a Valentine is another symbol entirely. It is the written, recorded, documented proof that they are loved — or in demand, depending on the age and status of the lady.

A Valentine is a poor girl's marriage contract, a gauge of her allure, a criterion of social success, a sentimental throwback to the day when that first lad gave her that first kiss and said for the first time those exquisite, habit-forming words, "I love you." A woman gets attached to words like that. They are not at all like liver or olives, an acquired taste.

From the time she first hears them she enjoys them immensely; and much of her earthly effort, from then on, is devoted to luring a member, or members, of the opposite sex into repeating them.

This is why Valentine's Day — in a good, sticky year — makes most women happy. Look about you today. Observe the smug faces and know the lucky ones. There is great comfort in realizing that sweet sentiment, generally, is again on the up-grade, but there is still a fallacy which clings to the minds of many men on this day of the good saint. It's still felt, in some male circles, that Valentine's Day was conceived primarily for the young, pretty and mushy. Nothing could be further from charity. The older a woman grows, the more I-love-you's she can use. Remember: A man who whistles at a beautiful babe is a boor, but a man who whistles at a gray-haired matron is greatly appreciated.

Will Provides Home for Aged

Plainwell Banker Puts $200,000 Into Trust for Institution

ALLEGAN (AP) — The will of a Plainwell banker may provide for a home for the aged in Allegan County through income from a proposed "senior citizens fund."

Probate Judge Harold F. Weston said Tuesday the will of the late Franklin J. Scott provides that a fund of more than $200,000 be placed in trust for such an institution.

Scott, who died last October, left bequests to more than 27 beneficiaries besides leaving his community property and one-third of his estate to his wife, who died three months later. Her will has not yet been probated.

Beneficiaries in Scott's will include the Plainwell library, Crispe Hospital, Allegan County heart and cancer funds and several Plainwell churches.

The will stipulates that the remainder of the estate—estimated at more than $200,000—be set aside in trust for Plainwell or Allegan County, whichever takes the first steps toward establishing the senior citizens fund.

Judge Weston, studying a similar fund in Kalamazoo, said he expects a self-perpetuating trust fund to be established as soon as he determines what type of organization can qualify for the grant.

Army to Test Atomic Warfare in Field Games

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will test its new atomic warfare concepts in a field exercise starting next month involving more than 20,000 troops in the Louisiana maneuver area.

Headquarters and staff units from two Army corps and five divisions will participate in Exercise King Cole. The Army said the operation is designed to train commanders and staff personnel under assumed conditions of "extensive" atomic, electronic and chemical, biological, radiological warfare.

The exercises will start March 27 and continue through April 16. Participating troops and staff will be drawn from the 3rd Corps, Ft. Hood, Tex.; the 18th Airborne Corps, Ft. Bragg, N.C.; and the 1st Armored, 1st Infantry, 34th Infantry, the 82nd and 101st Airborne divisions.

Draft Road Proposal for April 1 Ballot at Commerce

Resolution Is OK'd by Board

Commerce Business Men Meeting Weekly to Aid Community

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A proposal calling for improvement of roads in Commerce Township is now being drawn up by a Detroit attorney and will be on the April 1 ballot.

The Commerce Township Board did not receive the proposal from its hired attorney in time for discussion at its regular monthly meeting held last night in the Township Hall.

The board has already approved a resolution to place the issue before the voters. Exact wording and details of the proposal will not be known until the board receives complete legal advice.

The proposal, if approved, will involve a tax increase.

A proposed program for road improvement is the end result of a considerable amount of research work conducted by the Commerce Township Road Study Committee, headed by Ewald E. Schaffer.

The newly organized Commerce Commercial Committee, comprised of businessmen in the Commerce area, will meet at 1 p.m. each Thursday here at the main fire station.

The committee received permission last night from the Commerce Township Board to hold its weekly meetings in the main fire hall. Representatives of the committee made their request at the board's monthly meeting held in the township hall.

Dr. Andrew H. Berry, who was instrumental in organizing the Commerce businessmen, revealed that the committee's main purpose is to promote community spirit.

Other functions of the committee will be to solve common problems and to promote consolidated advertising in newspapers. Each Thursday meeting will consist of a luncheon and business discussion.

Members are asked to refrain from bringing the regular "sack lunch" as they will be preparing their own meal, during the lesson.

Co-hostess, is Mrs. Mural Fleming.

The group has slated its next meeting for March 10, to be held in the Community Center Building.

Judge Offers Aids to Better Procedure

Police department heads from all over the county listened to Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams' "constructive criticism" yesterday rather than the words of praise usually offered by a guest speaker before an influential group.

Adams spoke at the second meeting of the Oakland County Law Enforcement Association.

He suggested to the police chiefs that their officers prepare more complete and accurate reports, with as many details as possible, to avoid snags in the court procedure of a criminal case. He also advised that "clean arrests," made right at the scene of the misdemeanor, are imperative.

"Incidents have arisen where persons have been convicted in both probate and circuit courts and then have been able to take their case to a court of appeals because of negligence in these two matters," said Adams. "An accurate report and a clean arrest will prevent this sort of thing."

Adams also encouraged the po-

Five firemen were injured fighting the blaze that gutted the Coon-Deviser Co. and caused minor damage to four other structures. Twenty-two firefighters fled the two-story brick building only minutes before the roof collapsed. Thirty-five employees were evacuated from the structure.

Man Gets 10 Days for Reckless Driving

A Detroit man, Sylvester Willie Williams, 47, was committed for 10 days to the Oakland County Jail today for reckless driving after he was involved in an auto accident in which two persons were injured.

Gladys M. Parks, 29, of 266 Oakmont, Auburn Heights, was in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital where she is being treated for facial lacerations and a fractured bone in her left foot.

She was a passenger in an auto driven by her husband, George Earl Parks, 34, who was treated and released for mouth lacerations.

Williams pleaded innocent today before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum but was found guilty and ordered to pay $35 and three days in jail or 10 days.

Officer James F. Fritz, who witnessed the accident at Auburn avenue and Paddock street about 1 p.m. Wednesday, said Williams made an improper left turn and failed to yield the right of way to oncoming traffic.

Army Hangs Two Soldiers

Die at Ft. Leavenworth for 2 Separate Slayings Four Years Ago

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—The Army hanged two soldiers early today for separate slayings almost four years ago in Germany and North Carolina.

They were Winfred D. Moore, Virginia Beach, Va., and Thomas J. Edwards, Ardmore, Okla. They went to their deaths calmly without any last words. They wore regulation olive drab uniforms without insignia.

The executions were carried out at the Army's disciplinary barracks at Ft. Leavenworth. A general court-martial at Ft. Bragg, N. C., sentenced Moore to death after convicting him of slaying Charles Pettit, a cab driver, on June 30, 1953. Pettit was slain in the course of a robbery at the military post.

Moore's wife Patricia lives at Columbus, Ga. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Moore of Virginia Beach.

Edwards was convicted of the slaying of a German girl at Kitzingen, Germany, in March 1953. His wife, a daughter, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Edwards, live at Ardmore.

Dietrich Displays Fabulous Gown, Presley Gyration

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Marlene Dietrich's opening night of a three weeks' engagement at the Sands Hotel was, as the press agents say, supercolossal — really "the most."

She wore a gown last night that her dressmaker says was fashioned with 227,000 hand-sewn diamond beads, required a million hand stitches and was six months in the making. She wore a huge white coat made from down of the breasts of 200 swans (count 'em).

The coat trailed 12 feet from the top of the collar to the end of the train and was eight feet at its widest point.

Marlene started off with a rock 'n' roll number, gyrating in the Elvis Presley manner. Later, in her dressing room, she confessed she is a fan of Presley. "He's my idol; I think he's the greatest," she said in a serious tone. Her show included some of the songs that made her famous, "See What the Boys in the Back Room Will Have," "Toot, Toot, Tootsie"—13 altogether.

Hollywood Headlines Don Murray Sponsoring European Refugee Haven

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Folks who saw Don Murray as the rip-roaring cowboy in "Bus Stop" might be surprised to learn he is a serious young man with a purpose.

That purpose is to better the lives of thousands still in European refugee camps, and he devotes much of his nonacting time to it.

Don recently returned from Italy to play the dope addict in "A Hatful of Rain." While over there, he spoke to high Italian government officials about establishing a community in southern Italy where refugees could be integrated into civilian life.

"Our idea is to buy some land that would provide a living for the refugees," he explained. "This would give them a chance to produce agricultural products and also create some light industry. I think it would be best not to have strictly a refugee colony but to integrate them with the present residents of the area."

"The Italian officials were enthusiastic about the plan and offered their wholehearted cooperation."

The project will cost money, but he and his actress wife Hope Lange are prepared to meet the expense.

"It's not as costly as you might think," he said. "Not when you consider that the people connected with something like this largely donate their services or work for a minimum."

"I don't mind what it will cost. It means doing what I want to do. Everybody uses his money for what he thinks is important. Some people like to buy a lot of junk—or what I consider junk. I'd rather put my money into something like this."

Don is handsome, young and a fast-rising star. He was reared in a show business family and came up the hard way on Broadway.

How did he happen to get interested in refugee problems?

A serious fellow of pacifist leanings, he declined military training. As a conscientious objector, he was assigned to refugee camps in Europe. He served near Naples, Italy, in 1954 and 1955, remaining a half-year after his service was over.

He learned then the need for finding useful occupations for refugees and integrating them into society.

Congress Can—and Should Be as Cow—Cotton

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is like a cow, Sen. Cotton (R-NH) said today. But the cow's digestive machinery, he hinted, sometimes works better.

Seeking in his weekly news letter to give his constituents a word picture of the task before the 85th Congress, Cotton came up with this "homely but apt illustration":

"As a boy," he wrote, "I was amazed and impressed by a lecture on the internal mechanism of the dairy cow."

"Thereafter I regarded bossy with a new respect as a complex machine—a milk factory on legs."

"She has four stomachs—one true stomach, three for storage. In one day she can cram 150 pounds of wet grass into her compartments. Then she retires to a shady place, regurgitates it in small amounts, chews it thoughtfully and thoroughly, and digests it in her 'true stomach.'"

Now the comparison:

"During the first days of the congressional session," Cotton said, "a vast amount of fodder is crammed down its gullet. During the weeks and months that follow it brings it up bit by bit to chew and digest."

"Six messages have come down from the White House and three more are on their way. The special Middle East message and the State of the Union message have laid down broad questions of policy."

"The budget message, in addition to appropriations which will require months to go over, contains nearly 100 specific legislative recommendations."

"The economic report calls for 37 new laws."

"The messages on immigration, school construction, small business, Taft-Hartley revisions, and veterans benefits will prove complicated and bristling with points of controversy."

"The mind balks when confronted by this mass of material. We can only deal with it in parts. It can't be digested as a whole."

Those installed by the Detroit unit were: Jim Hodo, 1st Lt.; Isaac Babcock, 2nd Lt.; John McCoy, chaplain; and Mildred Walker, clerk.

Stassen to Quit? Rumor Current

To Seek Governorship of Pennsylvania; Hopes for Political Comeback

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that Harold E. Stassen will leave his White House disarmament post early next year to campaign for the governorship of Pennsylvania.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper added that friends of Stassen said yesterday that the former governor of Minnesota and former president of the University of Pennsylvania has told President Eisenhower of his plan to resign.

The friends were quoted as adding that the President agreed that Stassen should continue with his disarmament negotiations in the United Nations for the rest of this year.

The Pennsylvania gubernatorial election will be in November next year.

Rumors that Stassen, a Republican, would run for governor of Pennsylvania have been heard in Washington frequently. A Stassen aide said there last night that there was nothing to confirm the Times story, and he knew of no announcement coming from Stassen, who was out of Washington and unavailable for comment.

The general feeling in Washington is that Stassen's "dump Nixon" campaign last year "all but destroyed his influence within the Republican party."

For that reason, plus the fact that Pennsylvania is not Stassen's native state, many political observers in Pennsylvania scoff at his chances of getting the Republican gubernatorial nomination. He has retained his legal residence in Pennsylvania.

Nevertheless, Stassen has decided to try for a comeback next year when he will be 50, in the belief that he cannot possibly retain any influence in the GOP unless he succeeds in building political strength in one of the powerful states.

All Saints Cooks Utilize Freezer

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Eight energetic women are making preparations to serve 1,000 customers luncheon, tea and snacks next week. The occasion is the fifth annual Antique Show at All Saints Church Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Ever so often we like to write about women who specialize in serving large quantity meals. This year we have chosen the members of Guild Eleven who are responsible for the kitchen end of the show. Mrs. Vernon Abbott is chairman of the committee.

Last week some of the cooks got together in the church kitchen

(which, incidentally has been most efficiently remodeled since last year's Antique Show) to make the Orange Bread always served on the fruit salad plate.

There is a thirty-pound freezer that will keep the bread perfectly. You may like to try the recipe which makes a delicious tea bread.

ORANGE-DATE BREAD

2 tablespoons butter, melted
1/2 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1/2 cup finely cut dates
1 cup sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans

Mushroom Burgers Sure to Satisfy

Delicious way to dress up hamburgers.

Hamburgers with Mushroom Sauce
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium sized onion (finely diced)
1/2 pound mushrooms (caps and stems finely diced)
1/2 tablespoon flour
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon soy sauce, pepper
1/4 pound ground chuck beef

Melt butter in a medium-size skillet with a wide bottom, over moderately low heat. Add finely diced onion; cook slowly until golden-brown, stirring often—5 to 10 minutes.

Add mushrooms and cook and stir several minutes; cover saucepan and cook very slowly about 10 minutes. (Use asbestos pad over heat unit if it can not be turned very low.)

Stir in flour thoroughly; add milk all at once. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened and bubbly. Add soy sauce and pepper to taste. Cover and keep hot over very low heat.

Form 4 large fairly thick patties from the meat; sprinkle with salt. Cook patties by preferred method, making sure they are well-browned on outside. Serve hot with mushroom sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Change Salad Routine

A delightful change in the usual salad routine will please both you and the family. Make stuffed pears this easy way. Blend 1 can (5 ounces) chicken spread, 1/2 cup softened cream cheese (3 ounces), 1/3 cup chopped walnuts, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Stuff 8 canned pear halves (drained) with chicken mixture. Put 2 halves together for each salad; chill. Serve on crisp salad greens. Makes 4 servings.

Broil frozen steaks and chops about four inches from the source of heat.

Treat to Warm Outdoor Crowd

One of the nicest things about outdoor activity during these crisp days is coming back to the warmth of indoors—and a tasty treat.

Just such a treat is this Cinnamon Coffee Cake, moist and flavorful, and crisply topped with a sweet-spicy layer of corn flakes mixed with melted butter, sugar and cinnamon.

The topping is sprinkled over the batter just before baking, so it's all ready for serving the minute it's popped out of the oven.

Cinnamon Coffee Cake

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
1/2 cup milk

1 cup corn flakes
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Blend butter, sugar and egg yolks. Stir in sifted dry ingredients.

Add milk, stirring only until combined. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into batter. Spread in greased round cake pan, 9 inches in diameter.

Crush corn flakes slightly; combine with remaining ingredients. Sprinkle evenly over batter.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 45 minutes. Yield: 8 servings.

Want your yeast rolls to have a velvety creamy-white crumb? Use milk in their making.

CINNAMON COFFEE CAKE—Make your next quick coffee cake a crunchy one with corn flakes. The cereal is mixed with sugar, cinnamon and butter and is sprinkled over the top of the batter just before baking. Serve this when the youngsters come in from skating or sliding or just plain sliding down hill.

Boil Brazil Nuts Before Shelling

Nowadays most varieties of nuts—including Brazil—may be bought already shelled in food chains and specialty stores. If you shell Brazil nuts at home there are a couple of methods that help the job along. You may already know this one, but here's a reminder.

Cover unshelled nuts with cold water; bring to a boil; boil 3 to 5 minutes. Drain and cover with cold water for 1 minute, then drain and crack. (Most modern nut crackers are more efficient than the old-fashioned kind.)

are that little of the nutmeat will cling to the shell.

A pound of nuts in the shell will give about 1 1/2 cups of nutmeats.

Tempting, Economical Are Lamb Thrifties

Economy-minded homemakers will find Lamb Thrifties a hearty addition to budget menus. Simply combine 1 pound ground lamb, 1 cup grated raw carrots, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper and 2 teaspoons grated onion. Shape into patties. Put on broiler so that the top of the meat is 2 or 3 inches from the heat. Broil 8 to 10 minutes on each side. 6 servings.

Allow one to two medium-sized potatoes per person when you are preparing French fries.

ADVANCE PREPARATIONS—It took hours of grating, chopping, squeezing and mixing to make twenty-four loaves of Orange Bread for the Antique Show at All Saints Church next week. Now the bread is frozen and ready for serving.

Use Tangerines for Tasty Snack, in Salad, Relish

Tangerines are sweet and juicy and give youngsters a chance to do things for themselves since they peel so easily and neatly. Like their sister citrus fruits, tangerines are an excellent source of vitamin C which helps us keep fit.

Although tangerines are most popular in fruit bowls for snacks, they fit into menu plans in many nice ways. Here are two suggestions for serving the fruit at mealtime.

Florida Tangerine Salad
Peel Florida tangerines, keeping fruit whole; remove membrane. Place on salad greens. Partially separate tangerine sections at top; place a spoonful of Tangerine-Cranberry Relish in center of each.

Tangerine-Cranberry Relish
3 Florida tangerines, quartered and seeded
2 cups fresh cranberries
2 cups sugar

Put tangerine quarters with peel and cranberries through food chopper. Add sugar to mixture. Chill in refrigerator several hours. Yield: 1 quart.

Note: This relish will keep well in refrigerator several weeks.

Garnish Fish Fillets for Extra Eye-Appeal

Garnish those fish fillets and they'll look really appetizing. Any of the following make fine edible garnishes: pickled beets, carrot curls, fluted slices of cucumbers, hard-cooked egg cut attractively in thin slices or into quarters or eights, sprigs of water cress, rings of green pepper, bread-and-butter pickles or gherkins.

Making cream gravy for fried chicken? Add a dash of ginger and one of allspice for interesting flavor. But use a very light hand with the spice.

Choice of Meat Is Good at Bargain Prices Now

The romance of St. Valentine is February tradition. The romance of family happiness is related to another tradition, too—that of the meals planned and prepared each week. A check of local markets reveals a wide variety of values in meat; a wide range of fresh, frozen, and canned foods to fill the market basket.

MEATS—Choices can run riot in the meat department. The less popular cuts of both beef and pork are still the budget buys says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent. But if the family wants steak, it is much lower in price than it will be when weather is warmer. Some extra steaks for the freezer is a good idea for future "bro-l-outs."

There is still some range fed beef in the market. A broiling-type steaks from this beef is as much as 15 to 20 cents less than that of steak from grain-fed beef. These broil nicely, but are too lean to have the full beef flavor of grain-fed beef.

The largest crop in history sums the turkey story of last year. Shoppers still benefit from this as evidenced by "specials" on both small and large size turkeys this week. If turkey fits the menu plans or vacant freezer space, this may be a wise selection.

Because old layers are being culled, stewers are becoming a thrifty poultry choice. Fryers are higher due to smaller supplies.

Boston butt, rib-end roast, and picnic remain the "meat for your money values" in pork.

FISH—The smelt season is here, the ideal time to enjoy this sweet fleshed fish. Ten to eleven dressed smelt usually make a pound and will serve two or three people according to the size of their appetites.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES—Valentine colors can work into the menu magically when cherries, rhubarb, frozen strawberries, or bright shiny apples are used.

Michigan grows about 85% of the nation's hothouse rhubarb, and most markets now have small amounts. Select about 2 pounds for a pie or 5 one-half cups of sauce.

A recent check by one of the marketing agents shows that the family gets more cherry pie for the pennies spent, when the pie is made at home. For a six-inch pie, use a No. 303 can (2 cups) of red tart cherries. Two 303 cans will make a generous 9 inch pie. Large stocks of frozen strawberries and adequate supplies of Michigan apples are colorful choices which are favorably priced.

Many fresh vegetables are at the peak of their winter time season. Carrots, tomatoes, green peppers and lettuce bring many vitamins and minerals from sunny winter gardens.

Potatoes hold their rightful spot on the market list. Their thrift and the easy way they fit with other vegetables are just two reasons for their popularity. Cooked with their jackets on, they keep the minerals that are usually lost when potatoes are peeled.

EGGS & DAIRY—Here is a cue to a way to buy more of the steaks in the market. Save on some meals by serving more eggs and cheese. Large size Grade A eggs are in season and plentiful. Prices are about the same as last week.

A three-ounce serving of cheese will provide about the same protein value that 4 ounces of meat does. Compare prices of a serving of cheese with most servings of meat.

CHERRY PIE

Filling
4 cups cherries (drained)—this would be 2 cans No. 303 red tart cherries
1/4 cup cherry juice
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/4 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
Artificial coloring

Pastry
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup lard
2-4 tablespoons milk
Combine cherries, sugar and salt. Heat over medium heat. Add corn starch mixed in cherry juice and cook until thickened. Add almond, lemon juice and butter. Mix. Cool.

Pour into pastry-lined pie plate. Dot with butter. Add lattice-top crust. Bake at 425 degrees for 30-40 minutes.

Oranges Bring Zest to Salad

Here's a wonderfully refreshing, appetite-provoking and nutritious salad. Adding the chilled zesty greens gives a tangy note.

The meaty, luscious interior of whole fresh navel oranges is chock full of flavor perfection. There's not a seed in the entire crop of this wonderful fruit, and this makes the navel orange easy to prepare. The tangy Bleu Cheese Lemon Dressing is an incitement.

Serve this attractive salad in a shapely salad bowl, accompanied by the dressing garnished with chopped parsley.

An appropriate accompaniment would be hearty meat sandwiches and salty corn chips.

Western Sun Country Salad

1 clove garlic
1 small head lettuce
1 small bunch endive, romaine or chard
2 cups orange pieces, cut bite-size
1/4 cup salt
1/4 cup Bleu Cheese Lemon Dressing
1/4 cup stuffed olives coarsely ground

Rub large salad bowl with cut clove garlic. Tear greens into bite-size pieces and place in bowl. Add orange chunks and salt. Toss lightly with enough Bleu Cheese Lemon Dressing to moisten.

Sprinkle with coarsely ground pepper. Garnish with stuffed olives. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Bleu Cheese Lemon Dressing

1/4 pound bleu cheese
1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup sour cream
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate

Mash cheese with fork, or mix with electric mixer; blend in oil, beating until smooth. Stir in grated lemon peel, lemon juice, sour cream, minced garlic, salt and monosodium glutamate, mixing well.

SUN COUNTRY SALAD — Bite-size orange pieces dress up a tossed green salad. The tangy dressing has lemon and bleu cheese flavors. Wonderful idea to serve with sandwiches.

Oven Dish Blends Apple, Beans, Bacon

An appetizing and nourishing casserole that's also easy on the budget is made with spicy fresh apples, kidney beans and bacon bits.

Preheat oven to moderate (350 degrees). Peel, core and cut three apples into thin slices to make 1 1/2 cups. Drain two No. 2 cans red kidney beans and measure 4 cups. Reserve 2 tablespoons liquid.

In a lightly greased 1 1/2 qt. casserole, arrange alternate layers of beans and sliced apples. Top with 4 slices bacon cut in 2-inch pieces. Sprinkle with 1 1/4 teaspoons salt and 1/4 cup brown sugar. Add bean liquid.

Cover and bake in moderate (350 degree) oven 30 minutes. Uncover and bake 30 minutes longer. Serves six.

Bake Fillets, Oysters

Put serving-size fillets of any non-fat fish, such as sole, cod, perch, in a flat unbuttered casserole. Pour over this one can of frozen oyster stew and sprinkle generously with paprika. Bake 15-20 minutes. Dot with parsley and serve.

Saucy Way to Serve That Leftover Fish

Nice way to use leftover fish fillets.

Saucy Creamed Fish
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup fish stock

1 1/4 cups flaked cooked fish fillets (such as flounder or lemon sole)
Salt, pepper
2 to 3 hard-cooked eggs
Melted butter
Melt butter over low heat in 1-quart saucepan; stir in flour and curry powder; remove from heat. Gradually add milk, then fish stock, stirring until smooth after each addition. Return to low heat. Cook and stir constantly until thickened and bubbly. Stir in fish, salt and pepper to taste. (Take care in reheating not to stir too much to keep fish in bite-size pieces.)

Top with hard-cooked eggs (sliced or quartered) and minced parsley. Serve over cooked rice with chutney as an accompaniment. Makes 4 servings.

SNOWY WHITE and SANITARY

It is easy to make towels, napkins and bed linens sanitary as well as snowy-white, spotless—when you use Roman Bleach. This triple-action bleach sanitizes as it whitens and removes stains; and you get these benefits without any extra work. Just try Roman Bleach—you'll like it best.

To Store Ice Cream:

When you return an opened carton of ice cream to the freezer, give it an overwrap of transparent plastic wrap. If you wish you may even put a small sheet of wrapping directly over the ice cream. These two precautions before storing will keep the smooth quality of the ice cream and will prevent crystallization and loss of texture. Ice cream should not be stored in the freezer for longer than one month.

GOLDEN CRUST BANANAS — Bananas "but-ton on overcoats" to bake as a winter vegetable. Cornflakes are used to wrap the golden fruit

Chip Beef, Rice Is Rich, Filling

A new favorite will be added to the family list with this simple-to-make casserole. It can be prepared in advance, refrigerated until ready to cook and serve.

It is rich and filling, yet economical. Serve with the following menu, and a balanced meal is achieved suitable even for calorie counters. (They might substitute grapefruit for dessert if the Watch Birds are watching.)

Chipped Beef 'n' Rice Casserole
Green Peas Tossed Green Salad
Brown Bread Cherry Cobbler
Chipped Beef's Rice Casserole
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
2 cups grated cheddar cheese
1/2 pound dried beef
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
2 cups cooked rice
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon paprika

Melt butter in saucepan; stir in flour and pepper. Add milk all at once, stirring constantly until smooth. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Add cheese and stir until melted.

Shred dried beef. Fold into sauce together with olives and rice. Pour into greased 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with oregano and paprika. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes, or until thoroughly heated and lightly browned. Yields six 1/2-cup servings.

Sugar and Spice Makes Cookies Specially Nice!

Family-style cookies for the clan!

Sugar and Spice Cookies

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 spoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup mild light molasses

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and allspice. Cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Beat in molasses well. Add dry ingredients; stir well. Stir in about two-thirds of the chopped walnuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet about 2 inches apart. Sprinkle tops with remaining chopped walnuts.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until baked through and lightly browned—about 12 minutes. Remove from pan at once with wide spatula to wire rack to cool. Makes 4 to 5 dozen. Store in tightly covered container.

Slice Before Freezing

Here's a tip for freezing leftover meats such as roasts or turkeys. Slice them before freezing and wrap in heavy duty foil such as the new quilted type. Then you may separate just as many slices as you need for a meal, snack or sandwich without having to thaw the entire batch.

Roll Nutritious Bananas in Golden Corn Flakes

Crispy corn flake "overcoats" wrap bananas to bake as a wonderful winter vegetable. Baked bananas go with so many foods—with ham and other meats—with poultry—with vegetable plates.

The all yellow, or slightly green tipped banana is at just the right stage of ripeness for cooking. It will stay firm and it has a less-sweet flavor suitable for combining with the main course.

Bananas are a nutritional asset, too, in winter meals, with their abundant supply of vitamins and essential minerals and their high food energy.

Discover how delicious cooked bananas are with this quick and easy recipe.

Slowly Simmer Pork, Vegetable

Pork skillet—using diced pork shoulder meat and vegetables—is a thrifty and succulent dish to set before family or friends.

As its name suggests, pork skillet may be cooked on top of the range or popped into a moderate oven for thorough cooking. The savory combination is an excellent choice for chafing dish service from the buffet board.

Spoon the pork and vegetable combination over fresh-cooked noodles or spaghetti if you like. Add a jellyed waldorf salad for flavor and texture contrast.

Pork Skillet

2 pounds lean pork shoulder
2 tablespoons melted fat
1 medium onion, sliced
1 No. 203 can tomatoes
1 cup dried green pepper
1 cup dried celery
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 1/2 teaspoons salt

Cut pork into 1-inch cubes and brown in melted fat in a heavy skillet. Pour off excess fat, if you wish. Add onions, tomatoes, green sauce and salt. Cover and cook slowly 1 1/2 hours. Six servings.

Buttered Brazil Nuts Enhance Snap-Beans

When you want to dress up buttered snap beans to serve with poultry or meat, you'll find they're delightful sprinkled with browned-in-butter Brazil nuts.

After you've cooked the beans—fresh or frozen, and cut in thin strips—drain them in a colander and keep them warm. Then into the saucepan in which the beans were cooked, brown some sliced nuts in butter or margarine and pour over the beans. You can add a little lemon juice after the nuts are browned, if you like.

Pour off drippings before adding a glaze to a baked ham.

Carrots for Color, Beauty

Because the carrot is so demure, cream sauce and spiked with gratified, and so pretty and tasty, served plain, we sometimes tend to forget its high potential as a glamour dish. The imaginative cook will treat the delicious nutritious carrot with the respect it deserves by making it star of such gourmet-type creations as carrots in cream sauce, in which whole fresh carrots are dredged in thick fashion. In the Hebrides, off the coast of Scotland, young women distributed carrots as munching treats at dances. In Germany, a substitute for coffee was made from carrots chopped into small pieces and browned.

The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association suggests these modern ways in which the attractive, healthful carrot can add interest to your winter menu.

Fresh Carrots in Cream Sauce
15 small whole carrots
1-inch boiling water in saucepan
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup carrot water and milk
1 egg yolk, beaten
2 tablespoons grated sharp American cheese

Wash and scrape carrots. Place in saucepan with boiling water and 1/2 teaspoon of the salt. Cover and cook until tender. Drain, reserving carrot water.

Melt butter or margarine. Blend in flour. Stir in cream, carrot water and milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 3 minutes. Stir in beaten egg yolk. Add cheese, remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt, pepper and lemon juice. Stir until cheese is melted.

Serve over cooked carrots. Garnish with fresh parsley. Yield: 6 servings.

Fresh Carrots with Bacon
3 cups sliced fresh carrots
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
2 slices crisp bacon, crumbled
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Saute carrots in butter or margarine until tender. Add salt, black pepper, crumbled bacon and parsley. Toss lightly. Serve at once. Yield: 4 servings.

FRESH CREAMED CARROTS—Whole fresh carrots dredged in thick cream and spiked with grated cheese and black pepper make a glamour presentation for this nutritious and economical vegetable.

Food Industry Keeps Changing

Pontiac Press Home Editor
It's about time for a "this 'n' that" article again. We collect the information in a folder until there is enough to make an article worthwhile.

There's a new mix on the market, one that makes an apple-topped cake. Included in the package is an envelope of cake mix, a tiny can of apple slices and an envelope of topping mix. Watch for this item in your favorite store.

Have you noticed some of the caps on bottles and jars nowadays? They are easy-to-open twist-off caps. Catsup is one of the first foods to have this type of closure. Not only is it simple to remove, but it insures a vacuum seal when it is on. One brand of jelly we notice also has this kind of cap.

We thought just about everything has been done to baked beans that could be done. Now there is a new kind of baked beans with a smoky, woody flavor. They are suggestive of beans baked out of doors. Bacon and tomato sauce, plus other ingredients, of course, make these beans just a bit different.

We think we have mentioned this item before, but it bears repeating. You can buy refrigerated biscuits made with sweet milk as well as those made with buttermilk. They are a nice staple to keep in the refrigerator because they lend themselves to so many ways of dressing up.

Our teenager makes miniature pizza pies with them, adding cheese, meat and the rest of the fixin's before baking. They can be made into doughnuts too. Cut the centers out with a thumb or small cutter and fry in deep fat.

Here is a recipe for a quick and easy sweet roll, using the same biscuits.

Upside-Down Apricot Buns
1 package sweetmilk biscuits
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter, melted
10 cooked apricot halves, drained

Combine butter and brown sugar. Divide into 10 muffin cups. Place one apricot half (cut side up) in each muffin cup. Place 1 biscuit over apricot in each muffin cup.

Bake at 425 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes. Turn upside down immediately; let cool for 1 minute before removing from pan. Makes 10.

Tasty Meat Pie Topping
Concoct a colorful and tasty meat pie topping by adding 2 tablespoons minced pimiento or parsley to crumbled, homogenized pie crust sticks. Add liquid and blend.

Creamy No-Cook Fudge Made the Modern Way

Home-made candy was an integral part of American life a few decades ago. Pulling taffy, popping corn, or making fudge was the basis of much social activity. The Lever Test Kitchens have shown with these new candy recipes that we can enjoy old-fashioned taste treats using modern streamlined preparation methods.

Two standard candy-making precepts are that all measurements must be exact, and high quality ingredients must be used.

Several of the recipes are variations of a "no-cook" fudge. The basic recipe is called "1-2-3 Fudge," and it's just that easy to make. One, two, three and you have a creamy smooth fudge with a delicious chocolate flavor.

There's no actual cooking operation and no long beating as in standard fudge. It's so quick and

Arm Roast of Beef Is Economical Buy

The season for high quality beef is here, reports the Consumer Marketing Information Service. This is an excellent time to discover new cuts and new uses for many beef cuts.

The arm roast is a good place to start. At the meat counter this roast is easily identified by the round bone. While it is generally priced higher than the blade chuck roasts, the arm chuck roast proves as economical because it has a high proportion of lean. The arm roast will make three servings per pound while the blade chuck will serve two from each pound.

A four- to five-pound arm roast is a thrifty buy. From the round end of the roast, cut off a boneless piece of meat to cube for beef stew. From the center, cut a small one-meal pot roast. The remaining piece can be split into two attractive Swiss steaks.

Dilute Canned Soups With Evaporated Milk

Quick and delicious soups are made by blending a tall can of evaporated milk with a can of condensed tomato, mushroom, green pea, celery or asparagus soup. Heat according to directions on the can and serve.

It's a wonderful way to round out lunches at school—two children can share a thermos jug full or you can keep some for your own lunch, as this makes three to four servings.

Drained crushed pineapple heated with butter is unbeatable as a topping for crisp, golden waffles or leftover cake.

Use Tulip Tart for Salad, Meat Filling or Dessert

It's tulip time! No, not really, but tulip tarts will make you think so. These delightful, flaky little pastries resemble beautiful delicate tulips and are just perfect filled with curried shrimp, creamed chicken, or an ice creamy dessert. Whether an afternoon bridge dessert or a shower luncheon, you'll find these little tarts just right.

But the biggest surprise of all waits in the pastry. Tiny chunks of chopped salted peanuts combine with the other ingredients for crisp nut-flavored petal-shaped tarts.

These simple-to-make pastries can be baked ahead and held until ready to use. Then, just fill with your favorite salad, dessert or meat filling and you'll have the "girls" talking for months!

These petal tarts are so easy. Just roll out and cut into circles. Overlap three rounds to line each muffin cup, bake, cool, and you're through.

The filling used in the picture is tasty curried shrimp. The excitingly different spice blend of curry combines with the shrimp and tarts to bring the intriguing flavor and aroma of the Orient to your dining table.

Tulip Tarts
2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup salted peanuts (finely chopped)
1/2 cup shortening (add 2 tbsp. if using hydrogenated)
1/4 cup water

Mix flour, salt, and peanuts. Cut in shortening. Sprinkle with water; mix with fork. Round into ball. Roll half at a time 1/4" thick. Cut into eighteen 2 1/2" circles. Prick with fork. Overlap 3 circles to line each muffin cup. Moisten and press edges to seal. Bake 8 to 10 min. at 475 degrees. Fill with cream filling or ice cream. Makes 12 to 14.

Curried Shrimp Filling
1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
2 cups milk
1 tsp. curry powder
1 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
2 cups cooked shrimp (2 7-oz. cans)
1 green pepper, chopped fine

Melt butter over low heat in heavy saucepan. Blend in flour, seasonings. Cook over low heat, stirring until mixture is smooth, bubbly. Remove from heat. Stir in milk, bring to boil, stirring constantly. Boil 1 min. Just before serving, blend in lemon juice and shrimp. Spoon into tarts.

Repeat this test every week... and put THAT MUCH CASH in your special hiding place at home. Youngsters Join in the Fun of St. Valentine's Day

Valentines Are Signs of Affection

Everyone Likes to Receive Cards on This Special Day

Valentine Day has a number of reasons for being, according to history books, but the most common and well-liked reason for Valentine Day is that it gives a person the opportunity to send a card or gift of well wishes and love to someone he cares for.

Youngsters have worked and slaved over paste pots, large sheets of red paper and dillies, at schools and in their rooms at home, making their cards for Mom and Dad. Others have used that last 10 cents of their allowance for a store Valentine.

Sweethearts and married couples exchange written Valentines as an expression of their love.

And those of you who received a comic Valentine from a loved one, don't despair. That person had to think of you to send even that. And it may hide a lot of emotion, difficult for many to express or even buy in printed form.

So remember...whatever a person's age or romantic status, everyone thrills to receive a card showing someone thought of her on this traditional day.

Dr. James Cheng Speaks Before Women's Group

Forty three members and guests of the Christian Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church gathered Tuesday evening at the church. Mrs. Joseph Morgan led a short worship service.

The Rev. D. D. McColl introduced Dr. James T. Cheng, director of the Oakland County Sanitarium. Dr. Cheng spoke on "The Christian Church behind the Iron Curtain." He told of some of his experiences as a doctor in China, and of many experiences of his friends who have escaped from Communist China.

The doctor told of many things for which China is indebted to Christian missionaries and voiced the hope that "Communism cannot last forever in China and that the patient good sense of the Chinese people will triumph in the end, as it has triumphed over foreign ideologies many times in the past."

with a special Valentine of his own for his wife. The Beckers reside on the State Hospital Grounds.

Shirley Jean Workman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgie Workman of Willard street, is shown as she sorted through her older sister's Valentines for her choice of the group. It looks as if she already has her selection clutched tightly in her hand.

Washington Wives Have Inauguration

Mrs. Williams of Delaware Directs Bipartisan Club

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Wives of congressmen had an inauguration of their own to launch the opening of the new Congressional Club year, but the fact that the new President is a Republican had nothing to do with party politics. It's a club rule that the office alternate between the two major parties.

Mrs. John J. Williams, wife of the Republican senator from Delaware, elected to the two-year term, succeeds a Democrat, Mrs. Omar Burleson, wife of the congressman from Texas.

Members of the new board are representative of both parties from all parts of the United States.

Mrs. Williams, a handsome and friendly woman, has been active in the club since 1947 when her husband, the wealthy owner of a grain and poultry business, was first elected to the Senate.

The Williamses met at a dance in their home town of Millsboro, Del., and were married in 1924. They live in a 12-room white clapboard house to which they commute by motor from Washington every few weeks while Congress is in session.

OTHER HOMES
In the capital they maintain an apartment at the Mayflower Hotel. They have a summer home at Rehoboth Beach, Del.

Their daughter, Blanche, is married to J. R. Baker Jr., of Millsboro, and has three little girls, Janet, 11, Lora, 8, and Holly, 5.

Mrs. Williams collects dolls and now has more than 200, mostly foreign ones picked up on travels.

Mrs. John J. Williams, wife of the Republican senator from Delaware, is the new president of the Congressional Club, made up of wives of Congress members.

in Europe and South and Central America.

Pat Nixon, wife of the vice president and head of the Senate Ladies' Club, recently gave her a doll she brought back from Korea.

As a senator's wife, Mrs. Williams has had to cut down some of her activities, but she still finds time to keep up the weekly column on her Washington activities she has been writing for eight years for the Wilmington Morning News.

Right now, the new club president is deep in program plans for the next two years, including the 1958 golden jubilee celebration of the club.

SPECIAL EVENTS
Among this year's special events will be a reception for President and Mrs. Eisenhower, a reception for the chief justice, a spring "brunch" for Mamie Eisenhower and a Founders' Day luncheon.

Other new officers of the club include the wife of Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah) and the wives of Reps. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.), Michael Feighan (D-Ohio), Walt Horan (R-Wash.), L. H. Fountain (D-NC), J. Arthur Younger (R-Calif.), Paul C. Jones (D-MO) and Clifford G. McIntire (R-Maine).

Dorcas Guild Marks 20 Years

The twentieth anniversary of the Dorcas Guild of Central Christian Church was celebrated Wednesday in Friendship Hall with a luncheon and program.

Tables were decorated in the Valentine motif and centered with large birthday cakes.

The invocation was given by the Rev. G. W. Gibson and devotions were presented by Mrs. Gibson. Mrs. J. H. Moon and Mrs. Roy Riley gave a skit depicting the history of the Dorcas Guild.

Mrs. Nora Willis, president, welcomed the guests and Mrs. Leonard Carter, Mrs. Maggie Bailey and Mrs. Florence Rich were hostesses. Members quilted and sewed cancer pads following the program.

Everybody Has Creative Talents

By ANNE HEYWOOD
Anything that can be done, can be done creatively. People forget that. They tend to think of poetry, art and literature as being "creative" and everything else as just ordinary.

But a creative artist can exist at any level and can work with any materials. It lies entirely within the person.

Moreover, any of us can decide to become creative, if we want to. It requires a change in point of view, not a change in environment or talents.

Sue is a case in point. Sue went to college and had a good time but didn't work any more than was absolutely necessary. Then she married and raised a family, all now married themselves.

Through the 15 years that I've known her, Sue has been complaining about her lack of creative ability.

She had no talent, she had no time, no opportunity. Finally, I got sick of listening to her and told her so.

END OF FRIENDSHIP

For a while, it looked like the end of our friendship. She disappeared and I saw nothing of her.

But last week a very interesting thing happened. Sue called and asked me over to her house.

I hardly recognized the place—it was like an enchanted bower. Sue had built shelves all around and had them filled with the most attractive and healthiest-looking house plants I have ever seen. Sue herself was glowing.

"I read an interesting book," she said, "which pointed out that spark. It said we should stop looking for it and just start doing something that interests us."

"I've always loved plants and had a green thumb, and meant to do something about it—when I had time. But I suddenly realized that I'd never have any more time than I have right now."

AWARE OF WORLD

"So I got started. And it has been such fun! It has made me happier and more aware of the world around me. I really feel like a creative type, believe it or not!"

And that, although Sue may not know it now, is only the beginning. Once we unleash the creative instinct within us, it goes to work in every area of our lives.

We get healthier, more popular, wealthier—better off in every way. It doesn't matter in what area our creative instinct lies—

By EMILY POST
A reader explains: "Four years ago close friends of ours asked my husband and me to be godparents for their child. We have remembered this child ever since at Christmas and birthdays with very nice presents.

"When our son was born we asked the wife of the couple to be his godmother. Our son was a year old recently and his godmother not even as much as sent him a card.

"I was very much put out over this in view of the fact that we have been very generous to their child. Under the circumstances, don't you think we would be entirely right to discontinue our present-giving to their child?"

Answer: I certainly do unless they are in very straitened circumstances and you are very well off.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it rude, or in bad taste, to leave plastic coverings on furniture, such as living room sofa and chairs, when entertaining guests—especially when they are expected and there would be time to remove them? This may seem a rather far-fetched point of etiquette, but it has caused much criticism and I would appreciate your opinion."

Answer: It is not rude to leave them on, but it shows indifference to the beauty of your home. I would say that keeping the plastic covers on the furniture is very much the same as keeping on a house apron when expecting guests.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When brick ice cream is in individual paper wrappers, is it proper to leave the wrapper on when serving it to the guests, or should it be removed before serving? At a recent dinner party the hostess left the paper wrappers on and I wondered if this was correct?"

Answer: Wrappers should be removed before serving ice cream.

San Francisco Pioneers in Low-Cost Project

Housing Planned for Senior Citizens

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — During World War II and the immediate postwar years it was persons with children who were most likely to encounter the "No Vacancy" sign on any housing that would fit their needs and their purse.

Now it is the aged, the persons seeking small but cheerful accommodations at a price to fit their pension-dictated budgets, who are experiencing the most trouble renting apartments.

A major break for these "senior citizens" has just occurred in San Francisco where the city's housing authority has given its go ahead to the $3,000,000 Yerba Buena Annex designed to provide the elderly with homes befitting their needs and their finances.

The low-rental project, which John W. Beard, executive director of the housing authority expects to have completed in two years, will be one of the first in the nation. He expects no trouble whatsoever in finding tenants since San Francisco Chamber of Commerce figures show that 1 in 10 in the city is over 65. The average rental will be about $42 a month with utilities and garbage disposal.

MORE FACILITIES

There will be these additional facilities: Elevator service, the complete elimination of stairs with ramps used instead; hand rails in the bathrooms; non-skid floors; electric cooking to minimize possibility of accidents, and a large senior recreation center, the first of its kind in the west.

"It might actually be the first of its kind in the nation," Beard said. "It will be run by the Park and Recreation Department of the city, will have rooms for reading and parlor games; space for mild outdoor activity; lecture rooms and space for hobbies. There will also be space for a doctor's office and for the Department of Public Health office.

"The entire project will have ample space and be housed in a separate building. In addition to the project, it will also serve other senior citizens in the surrounding community."

The housing development, which will cover a full city block, will have some 20 studio apartments but the majority will be one-bedroom size.

There will also be certain apartments set apart for families with young children, since a study of housing for older persons has shown that they like to have children in the neighborhood.

Older persons will be given preference for occupancy of the majority of the units, however.

"Where Quality Counts"

Count Calories or You Won't Lose

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN If they leave sugar out of their coffee and skip potatoes and bread.

The little sugar you use in your coffee doesn't make much difference in your figure.

Actually, unless you drink a lot of coffee, the little sugar you use doesn't make much difference, and a baked potato is splendid food and only has about 90 calories.

The only sure way to lose weight is to count your calories. The manner in which you divide them makes no difference in weight loss, but it does make a great difference in your comfort while losing.

The toast and coffee breakfast is apt to lead to fatigue and inefficiency. We hear more and more about this. Not only does the light breakfast make dieting more difficult, but you miss so many of the splendid health foods which you may not get in sufficient quantities in the other meals.

For instance, the egg is a wonderful food, giving you many essentials for best nutrition for only a few calories. One egg is about 75 calories and it contains vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, protein, calcium, phosphorus and iron.

Take Wool Togs on Trip to South

NEW YORK (NEA) — Wool, in many weights and weaves, goes to the tropics for a winter vacation just as readily as it stays at home for winter wear.

The girl who makes her first visit to the tropics without packing wool makes a sad mistake. Temperatures in the tropics are variable, and at night, particularly, a woolen coat is often welcome.

Even in daytime, in the shade, a sweater or jacket is an essential as sharp breezes sweep across from the sea.

Avoid Patching Spotty Makeup

If makeup tends to turn spotty or discolored it may be the result of a changing chemical balance of the skin. Don't try to "patch up" the affected area.

Rather remove all the makeup and start over. Before applying the new makeup, pat the face and throat with a mild astringent like a good quality witch hazel. If discoloration persists consult a dermatologist.

But Most Young People Dream About Attending College

Teenagers Shun Much Needed Technical Training

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

An overwhelming number of the nation's teenagers have their hearts set on a college education, but most of them seem oblivious to the crying need for technicians and engineers in this geophysical year which gives promise of ushering in an exciting age of speed and space.

President Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message, gave an indication of how fast we are approaching the space age when he mentioned that the United States was willing to enter into mutual agreements to "control the outer space missile and satellite development."

It was the first time that any presidential message was concerned with outer space.

The government and industry already are getting set for the future age of inter-planetary travel. During the geophysical year, from July 1, 1957, to Dec. 31, 1958, the United States plans to launch at least one earth-circling satellite.

To keep up with the need for trained technicians and electronics experts, industries every day flood the newspapers and other communications media with desperate pleas for help. Perhaps in no other area of our economy are inviting careers to plentiful and new prospects so few.

NOT ATTUNED

But for some reason or other, high school students in alarming numbers have not attained their educational plans to the coming space age.

They either fail to realize or refuse to believe that thousands of good paying jobs go begging for recruits each year in the electronics and engineering fields.

The nationwide dearth of engineers, technicians and practical scientists comes at a time when Russia is stepping up its industrial activities and embarking on a massive youth training program in an attempt to surpass the industrial and military position of the West.

Why is it that our young people have turned a deaf ear to the entreaties of industry and worried government officials?

Certainly the educational desire is not lacking. College is a major item in the dreams of almost all teenagers.

Our surveys of high school students in 50 cities and towns across the land shows that 7 out of 10 boys, and 6 out of 10 girls want, plan and expect to go to college. WON'T ALL GO

This doesn't mean that anywhere near this number will eventually wind up wearing freshmen beanies and lining up at campus bookstores.

If all teenagers who wanted to go to college had their wishes come true, the nation's campuses would be completely swamped.

As many high school graduates discovered to their dismay last June, most of the nation's campuses, big or small, are at or near the saturation point right now.

BPW Club Hears Talk by Leader

District Chairman Mrs. Leaf Speaks at Hotel Meeting

Mrs. Charles Leaf, chairman of District One, Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club, was guest at the Tuesday evening meeting of Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club held at Hotel Waldron.

Mrs. Leaf spoke briefly of the importance of membership participation in club activities and told of the redistricting of clubs in the state of Michigan.

Ellen Boyd, chairman of the orientation committee, assisted by Helen Mercer, Harriett Gates and Mrs. Eva Dyer, presented an orientation program for new members.

Miss Mercer spoke on the local club level, Miss Gates on the district and state level, and Mrs. Dyer on the regional, national and international level.

Moving pictures of recent state and regional conventions were shown by the speakers as they told of the various phases of the organization's activities.

Concluding the meeting, members participated in community singing led by Mrs. LaVon Ryden and Miss Mercer. Rosamond Haebertie accompanied at the piano.

Hostesses for the meeting were Vera Bassett, Mrs. Henry Beeher, Etta Wager, Mrs. Albert Leighton and Mrs. Fritz Stoddard.

This means that the potential freshman is finding it more and more difficult to get accepted into the school of his choice — and in some cases into any school.

And as the bumper crop of postwar babies approaches college age, the situation will continue to grow worse. Every spring there will be more and more applicants and the already hard-pressed colleges will find it increasingly difficult to keep pace.

Rising costs of education, shortage of classroom space and a continuing shortage of teaching personnel will further aggravate the problem.

But overcrowded conditions can't be blamed for all the punctured collegiate dreams of modern youth. Many aspirants come a cropper on their high school report cards. A recent survey of college admissions shows that 61.5 per cent of freshmen class applicants were turned down because of low grades.

MOSTLY LAZY

Were they stupid? No, mostly just lazy. The same survey revealed that of those rejected only 13 per cent lacked the intellectual ability needed to make good in college. They had the brains, perhaps, but not the will power.

Perhaps this accounts for the fact that out of the overwhelming number of high school students who want to go to college only 6 per cent of the boys and less than 1 per cent of the girls expressed an interest in pursuing a career as a technician.

It's ironic that the career offering the most opportunities and one so desperately needed for the continued growth of our economy drew the least interest ratio among our young people.

The statistics are almost as depressing in the engineering field, where college-trained men — and women too, particularly in the electronics lines — are urgently needed to create and build the props on which this jetage world leans.

Only 9 per cent of the boys and 2 per cent of the girls showed any enthusiasm for an engineering career.

But, you may ask, if so many want to go to college, what do they plan to study?

LIBERAL ARTS

The majority — 53 per cent of the boys and 73 per cent of the girls — hope to follow a general course of study in a diversified liberal arts curriculum. Their reasons for this choice are certainly not lacking merit.

"This is the only way to get a wide education in many fields," said an 18-year-old senior whose interest was in the humanities courses.

"A liberal education," added an aspirant coed, "is valuable the rest of one's life."

The traditional professions, like law and medicine, and the classical arts, like music, painting and literature, attracted their share of enthusiasts.

If youth has its way, the nation will not be long lacking in lawyers, doctors, composers and novelists. Specialized education in the arts and professions was the choice of 38 per cent of the boys and 25 per cent of the girls.

Again, their reasons were admirable. "I'm going to be a doctor," said a 15-year-old boy, "that has been my main interest since I was a kid."

Or from a young lady who definitely knows where she's going: "The college I've chosen has a wonderful music department. I plan to study singing and piano as my major, with composing as a minor. It will be hard work, but I love it."

NOT SO GLOOMY

Perhaps the picture is not as gloomy as the bare figures indicate. No doubt a number of engineers and other specialists will come from the ranks of liberal arts graduates who go on to specialization.

It is interesting to note that only a very small percentage of those not planning to go to college have any intention of getting additional training beyond high school.

This, of course, is another blow for industry. Many excellent technological jobs do not require college training but do call for additional school work after high school.

Only 10 per cent of the boys and 16 per cent of the girls not dreaming of college expressed an interest in further schooling after graduating from high school. And, among the girls, shorthand and secretarial training tended to swell the figures.

The white collar careers, though diminishing rapidly in popularity among the boys, still have a wide attraction for the girls.

There is no denying that the teenage desire for a college education is tied in with a yearning for security.

TWICE THE SALARY

"My main reason for wanting to go to college," said a startlingly frank young man, "is that when I graduate I expect to earn about twice the weekly salary I could get without the degree."

The monetary aspects of a college diploma, though perhaps not the loftiest educational motive, can hardly be disputed.

A recent survey attempted to translate the value of a college degree into cold cash and reached the conclusion that four years of college are worth well over $100,000 in terms of lifetime earning power for the graduate.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Someone might accuse Birmingham High School football coach Carl Lemle as being the best recruiter in the area and every grid season someone else might be inclined to believe this.

As it goes, when football time rolls around, Lemle seems to come up with a few new faces on the varsity that were nowhere in sight the year previously.

Two years ago, Carl thought he could have a pretty good ball club, but during the summer he was wailing about the lack of tackles, having a "big" 165 pounder as his lone returnee.

Before the first game of the 1955 season was played Lemle had more tackles than he knew what to do with except only to strengthen a few other positions.

One tackle regained eligibility and four others moved into the school district. It was just what the doctor ordered for an ailing coach. Maples walked away with the EML title, finished among the top five in the state and had their best season in history.

Last year a graduation-riddled team needed some help to even make a presentable showing. The Maples did not have a great year, but a few transfers helped the situation.

One of the EML coaches cracked afterward, "what's the matter, don't they know there are other towns in Michigan beside Birmingham."

MUSIC TO LEMLE'S EARS

Not too long ago, Dave Smith of Walled Lake was talking to Dave Freeman of Waterford and Lemle about getting some possible help for next year's football team from some transfer prospects.

"What's the name," Lemle said jokingly, "maybe I can talk them into moving to Birmingham."

Smith commented that the coach at East Lansing High had told him that a young lad by the name of Ed Estes would be moving into the Walled Lake school district. He was to be the starting quarterback for East Lansing, which last year finished ahead of Walled Lake as the top "B" team in the state.

The Estes family did move out of East Lansing, but take note, the happy coach is—Carl Lemle again.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

Jim Manilla has finally decided to quit coaching to devote his time to the athletic director duties for the two Royal Oak High Schools. Prentice Ryan will coach the new Kimball high, and Ivy Loftin, Manilla's assistant will be Dondero high's new coach.

Pontiac Table Net Team Meets Royal Oak Stars

Members of the Pontiac Table Tennis Association will warm up for the state championships to be held in Grand Rapids Feb. 23-24 with an all-star match against the Royal Oak stars tomorrow night at the Bethany Baptist gym.

An open house is planned for the public for the match with movies of the World Table Tennis Championships to be shown after the matches.

Following the all-star matches, awards will be presented to Carol Ryan and Ellen Tiffany by the president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Les Lanford in recognition of bringing the state title to Pontiac.

Tiffany took honors as state junior champ.

In their match with the Royal Oak stars, Miss Ryan will be the lone woman in the Pontiac lineup. Other members of the Pontiac all-star team are Sidney Barnfather, Perc Secord, James Reed and Howard Heckman.

For Royal Oak, Henry Andre, Doug Andre, Vern Osterland, Jack Taylor, and Bob House will comprise the team.

The match starts at 8 p.m. and the public is invited.

Cubans Grab Title in Caribbean League

HAVANA (U)—Cuba is the Caribbean pro baseball champion today, thanks to a ninth inning rally helped considerably by a summer-time member of the Cleveland Indians.

The Cubans scored three runs in the last of the ninth to defeat Venezuela 5-4 last night in the series' clincher, with the winning run trotting home from second base while the right fielder chased down a wild throw by Rudy Regalado, the Cleveland youngster who has been playing third base for Venezuela.

Regalado's costly mistake came after he fielded a tapper down the third base line by Washington's Jose Valdivielso.

Hartack Rides 5 More Today

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—Willie Hartack rides five more mounts today at Hialeah and if he doesn't widen his gap as leading rider of the meeting, it will be a real upset.

Little Willie—top jockey in the nation in 1956—has ridden four winners in each of the last two days. His total for the first 24 days of the Hialeah meet is 31 wins. He had six mounts yesterday. Hartack now has 11 more victories than his nearest rival, Steve Brooks.

FRIENDLY RELATIONS—National Football League commissioner Bert Bell, left, takes a friendly pose with Ralph Cooper of the Canadian Football League during their conference yesterday at which they discussed relations between the two leagues over player rights.

GRID TO GLOVES—Little America football star Nate Clark of Hillsdale College has now turned to boxing. He is in the Golden Gloves heavyweight class of the tourney this weekend at Grand Rapids.

Rifle Shot Puts Rider in Hospital

NEW ORLEANS (U)—George Glassner, 24-year-old Fair Grounds jockey from Louisville, Ky., remained in "very critical" condition today with a bullet wound of the stomach.

Police said Glassner was shot yesterday while he was trying to make his wife "stop fooling" with a deer rifle.

Sgt. Edward Larson said Mrs. Glassner told him she was handling the gun and it discharged as Glassner walked into the bedroom of their small apartment.

Authorities at Charity Hospital said Glassner suffered a severe injury to his liver from the blast which tore into his side. The bullet also pierced the abdomen and lodged near his back, physicians said.

Mrs. Glassner was treated for shock and hysteria.

Two Boys' Club Boxers in Action

Two novice division fighters representing Pontiac Boys' Club, will appear in tonight's Detroit Golden Gloves rounds at Hackett Field House, in Highland Park. Another, last remaining member of the BC contingent, will be on a TV bout Monday night.

Don Cole, 160-pounder, makes his start after a first-round bye, and Dick McDonald, who won a decision in his first bout, seeks another victory. Dave Blower gets his first test Monday. Opponents were not named this morning.

Smith Victim in 11th Round

Brown Holds Title on TKO

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U)—If Joe Brown really wants to be a "fighting champion," the woods are full of lightweights yapping at his heels.

One contender, Wallace (Bud) Smith was scratched permanently from the 135-pound sweepstakes after last night's dreary effort against Brown in his Miami Beach Auditorium rematch. Completely outclassed by his nimble opponent with the paint brush left, the sluggish ex-champ was sliced up and stopped, an 11th round technical knockout victim.

Things got so tough for Smith that his handler, Adolph Ritacco, begged Dr. Alexander Robbins of the Miami Beach City Commission to stop it. The doctor obliged by halting operations between the 10th and 11th. Under Miami Beach rules, it went as an 11th round TKO.

Kenny Lane, the southpaw from Muskegon, Mich., with the red hot winning streak, is the probable opponent for Brown in a spring match. Truman Gibson, executive secretary of the International Boxing Club which co-promoted the match with Chris Dundee, said "As far as we're concerned we'd like to make a Layne-Brown match real soon." The target date is Friday, May 24 and the probable site

Miami, possibly a ballpark fight.

The 4,129 fans who paid $23,081 to see the contest, are convinced Smith "has had it." They booed and clapped hands in rhythm at the lack of action.

Brown rocked Smith as early as the second, cut him around the right eye, practically closed his left and left him bleeding from nose and mouth when it was stopped. He seemed to come apart at the seams in the late stages.

Only one official gave Smith a round. That was Judge Stu Winston, who voted him the eighth. All three officials called the fourth even and two, Referee James Peersless and Judge Eddie Thal called the eighth even. The AP scored the seventh even and all the others for Brown.

Smith missed often, lacked fire and fought sluggishly. He claimed the ordeal of making the weight

Adams is unbeaten in five matches. The defeat was Michael's first in the round robin tournament and left him with a 4-1 mark.

In last night's matches, Jim Dowling of San Diego, Calif., defeated Joe Renihan of Grand Rapids 50-36, and Chet Krizek of Milwaukee beat John Martz of Buffalo, N.Y., 50-41.

Adams is unbeaten in five matches. The defeat was Michael's first in the round robin tournament and left him with a 4-1 mark.

Many experts believe that Walter Alston did a better job of managing Brooklyn in 1956 than he did in '55 even though the Dodgers did not clinch the Na-

Injuries to Roy Campanella and the drafting of Johnny Podres into military service made Alston's task much tougher.

Detroit Almost Certain to Get Pro Cage Team

Fort Wayne Officials Huddle With Group in Motor City

DETROIT (U)—Officials of the Fort Wayne Pistons huddled today (2 p.m. EST) with a Detroit group, and the millionaire owner of the club said the chances are "nine out of 10" that before night-fall the National Basketball Assn. franchise will be switched to Detroit for the 1957-58 season.

Owner Fred Zollner, looking forward to a rebirth of professional basketball in the Motor City, said only an unforeseen last minute slipup could keep the Western Division leaders from becoming the "Detroit Pistons."

"Professional basketball," he explained, "is going through the same growing pains that pro football went through. It's not so much that we're unhappy and unwanted in Fort Wayne. We're simply moving to the market."

The Pistons have been an NBA entry out of Fort Wayne since 1948, when the league was formed. They will play their home games at Olympia Stadium which accommodates about 12,000 for basketball. The Fort Wayne Arena holds about 10,000.

But attendance at Fort Wayne's home games this season has averaged only 3,800. The Pistons will be moving away from a city of 137,000 and into one of the nation's most enthusiastic sports center with a population of about 1,600,000.

"But it's just like moving across the street," said Zollner. "I believe a major sport must be located in an area of more than a million population. In Fort Wayne, we have the highest per capita attendance in the league. But it's not enough."

Asked if he had operated at a loss in the Hoosier City, Zollner replied: "I'd rather skip that. Let's say that we have been division champions for two years and now are leading the league and still we have 6,000 empty seats. What would happen if we were trailing?"

Zollner said today's meeting—which will include Otto W. Adams, Pistons' general manager, Bruce Norris and Nick Lodes of Olympia and lawyers for both parties—is "simply for the purpose of coming to an agreement."

It is known the Fort Wayne club wants a six-year lease at Olympia, home of the Detroit Red Wings hockey club. But Olympia officials have been reluctant to grant such an agreement.

Ten years ago the stadium had a direct tie-in with the short-lived Detroit Falcons of the old Basketball Assn. of America. That team finished last and lost $50,000 in one year of operation. That same year the Detroit Gems were in the now defunct National Basketball League and they too lasted only one season, losing their last 40 games and dropping about $30,000 at the gate.

Zollner insists he must have a long-term pact "both to show the people that we're here to stay and to secure a steady flow of fans."

Forte Hits 45 to Top Wilt Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Is there a statistician in the house?

If so, please report to college basketball's individual scoring department. On the double—and bring your decimal points with you!

Assignment: Determine how far one mathematical point can stretch in separating these front-runners for the national scoring title: Chet Forte of Columbia, Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and Grady Wallace of South Carolina. As of this reading, 27,000ths of one point cover the trio who have been exchanging the lead with bewildering rapidity.

Forte forged past Chamberlain last night with an eye-popping 45 points in Columbia's 93-75 Ivy League victory over Penn to bring his average to 30.17 points per game. Tomorrow night Wallace, the dark horse from Mare Creek, Ky., gets his chance to improve on a 29.90 mark when South Carolina hosts Virginia.

Saturday night, Forte and his lions visit Dartmouth, while Chamberlain takes his 29.93 average along as the Jayhawks invade Missouri. That should furnish a stimulating weekend for the digit delvers.

While Forte was enjoying the best night of his college career, North Carolina, the nation's top-ranked team, belied dire predictions by whipping Wake Forest 72-69 for the Tar Heels' 20th consecutive victory. Bradley, ranked fifth in the weekly Associated Press poll, topped 20th-rated St. Louis 76-70 to tie Wichita for the Missouri Valley Conference lead. Louisville, No. 8 in the poll, trampled Marquette 99-79. Dartmouth clung to third place in the Ivy title race by overwhelming Brown 67-42; Furman fought to a 99-97 double overtime victory over Richmond in the Southern Conference, and Harvard set a Crimson single-game scoring record in routing Boston College 101-86.

But the night's limelight belonged to Forte, the 5-9 crew-cut who hopes to enter medical school after finishing at Columbia this year. Chet hit the magic number needed to pass Chamberlain—41—with 4:50 remaining. In breaking his own Columbia individual scoring record for the second time this season, the Hackensack, N.J., sharp-shooter used every trick in his book, including the two-hand set shot after a feint, a wrong-foot jump shot, and an unerring eye at the free-throw line. Forte hit 19 of 21 free throws in addition to 13 field goals in harrying the Penn defense.

The Tar Heels, who some thought might crack under late-season pressure in the Atlantic Coast Conference, confounded their doubters by stifling a Wake Forest rally that reduced an 11-point North Carolina lead to one point, 68-67, with little more than a minute left.

Longden Near 5,000 Mark

ARCADIA, Calif. (U)—Ageless Johnny Longden is only six winners shy of his immediate goal of 5,000, and he has six mounts today at Santa Anita.

The "Pumper" is to be honored by the Santa Anita management when he achieves the 5,000 mark. He will be the recipient of a giant trophy to be presented in special exercises between races the day after he becomes the first jockey to boot home 5,000 winners.

Longden dethroned England's Sir Gordon Richards Sept. 3, 1956 as the all-time riding champion, ble.

From the way Longden is riding now, that day isn't in the foreseeable future. He got away to a slow start this meeting, chiefly because Willie Molter's horses weren't winning their share of races, and Longden is committed to ride for Molter wherever possible.

FALCON MAINSTAYS—Two of the mainstays on Rochester High School's fast moving basketball team are Gordon Montrose (5) and Jim Van Nocker (24). The Falcons moved up to 7th place in state "B" ratings with a 12-2 record this week. Van Nocker has been out for several days with a sprained ankle. The Falcons are idle tomorrow.

Chiefs Play Home Final Friday

All the pressure that clouds itself around an extended winning streak has eased somewhat for Pontiac after Tuesday's loss to Highland Park, but the Chiefs can't afford to relax for Friday night's clash with scrappy Bay City Central.

It will be the last home game of the season for Pontiac, and the step is a big one leading to the Saginaw Valley Conference throne.

The Chiefs must win two of their three remaining games to capture the flag, assuming of course that Saginaw continues its winning ways over Arthur Hill and Flint Central.

Should Pontiac lose to either Bay City or Flint Northern then everything will hinge on the last game of the season when the Chiefs travel to Saginaw.

Bay City Central pressed the Chiefs right up to the last four seconds before losing a 57-54 decision earlier this season. Since that game six weeks ago, the Wolves went on a five game winning streak before losing last week to Saginaw in a rough game.

Saginaw, which has also been unbeaten since losing to Pontiac, held only a one point lead at halftime and just a five point lead until the last four minutes of play at Bay City.

The Chiefs will have to regain their shooting eyes after the scoring drought against Highland Park. One player who is destined to see more action is sophomore John Bandy, whose 10 points took scoring honors for the Chiefs.

Bandy appeared only for short moments in four previous games this year. His only other points were four free throws against Arthur Hill. Against Highland Park, Bandy hit on five of nine shots.

Hudson Ray and Dave Diehm were handcuffed to their lowest outputs of the season Tuesday and the overall rebounding fell far below par.

"It was a good time to get that game out of system," said Art Van Rysla, "and I think we can come back for our big league games."

Bay City comes into tomorrow's game right behind Saginaw as the best balanced scoring team in the league.

The Wolves have been hurt with injuries, but the team's leading pointmakers Don Kanicki and Harold Busch, have their shooting arms in good shape for the game. Kanicki, 6-3 center, has hit better than 14 points in each of the last six games since last facing the Chiefs. To go along with Kanicki and Busch, the Wolves have added 6-3 sophomore Bob Bishop to regular lineup for additional height, in the front line. Game time Friday night is 8:00.

Aragon Weeps at Trial Fighter Breaks Down During 'Fix' Hearing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Art Aragon broke down on the witness stand, sobbing into his handkerchief and tearfully told the prosecutor: "One of my good friends was killed in the ring."

The judge in the "Golden Boy" trial on fight fixing charges called a recess yesterday while Aragon regained his composure.

Aragon's emotional breakup occurred while Dep. Dist. Atty. William Ritz was hammering away on cross examination as Aragon steadily denied that he offered boxer Dick Goldstein $500 to take a dive in a fight scheduled for Dec. 18 in San Antonio, Tex., as Goldstein has charged.

The fight didn't come off because Aragon withdrew on the ground that he had developed a fever.

Aragon had testified that he did tell Goldstein to stay down, if he got knocked down, and "don't be a hero," explaining that "I don't like to hurt fighters."

"Do you think it proper to advise boxers to stay down if they are not knocked out?" Ritz asked. Aragon paused, began to cry and told Ritz about his friend, a boyhood chum from East Los Angeles, who died after being knocked out in 1947 in Cleveland by Sugar Ray Robinson, then welterweight champion.

Aragon's wife, Georgia, supported her husband's earlier testimony that he loaned Goldstein $174 for plane fare to San Antonio. She said she was present when Aragon signed the check.

The trial later was recessed until Friday when testimony is expected to be completed.

MIAA Race Locked in 3-Way Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The MIAA basketball race was locked in a three-way tie for first place today.

Victories for Hope and Kalamazoo Wednesday night coupled with a loss for Albion knotted the three schools at 7-3 in the league standings.

Hope defeated Calvin 89-62. Kalamazoo downed Alma 58-37 and Albion lost to Adrian 88-68.

Kalamazoo's victory came as Gary Morrison scored 18 points to set an individual Hornet lifetime scoring record of 1162 points. The defeat evened Alma at 5-5 in the league. Bob Postma led the Alma scoring with 19 points.

Hope had no trouble in posting its triumph over Calvin. The Dutchmen led 47-30 at halftime and never were threatened.

Hope's Paul Bene led the night's scoring with 22 points. Bill Morgan canned 21 for Calvin which dropped to 5-5 in the Conference standings.

Henry Hughes' 35 points paced the Adrian victory over Albion. The Buildogs took a 10-point lead in the first quarter of the game and never were headed.

The victory gave Adrian a 6-4 conference record.

George Viviamore led Albion's scoring with 26 points.

Lee Jones' 22-point performance helped Hillsdale pull out of a last place tie in the Conference with a 69-52 margin over Olivet.

Olivet remains in the league cellar with a 1-9 record. Hillsdale is 2-8.

Bob Whitcomb was high-point man for Olivet with 17.

Moreland Case Closed by ACC

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina State College, rebuffed by the Atlantic Coast Conference in its petitions for a rehearing of the "ackie Moreland basketball recruiting case, was seeking today to hold its own hearing in the matter.

It was disclosed yesterday that the ACC Faculty Committee has marked the case closed after reaffirming that State was guilty of offering Moreland a 5-year unrestricted scholarship and $80 for transportation to Raleigh.

7 Lary Boys to Have 'Day' in Hometown

Frank Lary of Tigers Leads Contingent in Family Honors

NORTHPORT, Ala. (AP)—Tomorrow is Lary Day in Northport. Three brothers, who among them pitched 50 victories for professional baseball teams in 1956 will share honors on the occasion.

Leading the athletic family's contingent is Frank Lary, top American league winner last year with 21 triumphs for the Detroit Tigers. Then comes a younger brother, Gene, who won 21 games for Mobile in the Southern Assn., and an older brother, Al, who had eight victories for Tulsa in the Texas League.

Gene was voted Rookie-of-the-Year and the Most Valuable Player in the Southern for his performance. Of the seven sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. (Mitt) Lary, only James wasn't an athlete. He stuck to music while Joe, Ed, Ray, Al, Frank and Gene were turning toward sports.

Al played football for the University of Alabama in 1948-50 and Ed played for them in 1949-51. Both starred at end.

Tomorrow's celebration will include a baseball game with a team made up mostly of Larys taking on a local group. There will also be a parade, presentations and a dance. The Larys also will furnish part of the music for the band.

Mayor Hiram (Diz) Darden in this suburb of Tuscaloosa will present a key (baseball bat) to father Lary, State American Legion Commander Lewis McCary of Tuscaloosa, will present a Legion junior league citation to the Larys for their contribution to that program.

Mitt Lary, logical choice as manager of the Lary baseball squad, refused to announce his starting pitcher, but hinted everyone might be in for a surprise. "I think I'll start," he said.

Texas Open Rated Tossup

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U) — A free-for-all in which, to quote the touring hotshots, "any one of 101" can win, was forecast today as a champion-filled field moved into the first round of the $20,000 Texas Open.

Fullmer Signs for 2 Battles

Says He'll Keep on Fighting as Long as He Enjoys It

DENVER (U) — "As long as I'm healthy, I enjoy it and I make money, I'll stay with it," says middleweight champion Gene Fullmer about his professional boxing career.

The Utah fighter enjoys it well enough to agree to two fights, both non-title, in Denver in a nine-day span.

He fights Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N. J., in the City Auditorium Arena Monday night and Charley Cotton of Toledo in Mammoth Gardens, Feb. 27.

Both Fullmer and Durando began their Denver training phase yesterday. Both think they fight the kind of fight the other likes, and that the crowd likes, too.

The champion said of Durando that "he's there to hit you if you hit him first. Or he's there to hit you if you don't."

As for the Jersey journeyman, he said Fullmer "likes to keep coming in and pressing, and so do I. That makes for a good fight."

The Denver fights will be the second and third for Fullmer since outpointing Sugar Ray Robinson for the championship Jan. 2. They will meet in a return match for the title at Chicago April 24.

Tigers Ink Porter; 8 Still Unsigned

DETROIT (U) — Catcher J. W. Porter has signed his 1957 contract, bringing to 34 the number of players to have reached agreement with the Detroit Tigers.

Only eight players, including pitcher Billy Hoelt, still are unsigned.

Porter got only two hits in 21 trips last season for a .095 average. He appeared in 14 games.

The system of having a new winner each week along the winter trail made the experts shy away from picking a favorite but if there was one it probably would be Mike Souchak, the man who first wrecked Brackenridge Park Course beyond hope of repair.

Big Mike, who shot a round of 60 and a PGA record of 237 for 72 holes in 1955—the last time the Texas Open was played at Brackenridge—didn't think he could approach that this time. But then, none of the other players thought it either. Because Brackenridge, while still not too tough, has been made much more difficult than in 1955.

It's 300 yards longer and its par 36-35-71 and 6,940 yards are considered a good test even by the fellows accustomed to taking the courses apart on the winter tour.

National Open champion Cary Middlecott and PGA and Masters king Jack Burke along with five of the six winners of tournaments along the winter tour gave the field real class. But none of the tuneup rounds warned of sensational scores as has been the case in the past. The best turned in yesterday, as all of the entries got in practice licks, was a 67 by Henry Williams of Reading, Pa., and Bob Keller of Royal Oak, Mich.

But most of the players were not trying for low scores; they didn't even keep cards.

Aces, Hawks Reach Biddy Playoff Final

Flying Aces and Hawks yesterday won their way to the finals of the Biddy Basketball Loop by victories over Globetrotters (55-20) and Royals (42-29) respectively. They collide Friday at 4:30 p.m. in Boys' Club gymnasium and the winner goes to the final playoffs, starting next week.

With Major Finley (25) and Jim Nelson (16) leading the way, Aces took a first-period 13-0 lead and rolled to a record (for the team) score. Dennis Oberry had 12 for losers.

Charley Nédoshian, Jim Johnson and Joe Doyon each has 12 for winners and Jimmy Bland 16 for losers.

MIAMI—Three race horses from the British-West Indies were flown to Miami and went to Hialeah for the winter competition.

LEARN THE RIGHT WAY — Coach Andy Seminick, former Major League catcher, acts as runner and gets the ball shoved into his ribs on a leaping tag by rookie Coker in the Philadelphia Phillies' pre-training school for rookies. Watching is Phil catcher Mack Burl.

Delany Meets Dwyer in Mile

NEW YORK (U) — Dan Ferris, the man who has watched them all go 'round and 'round the indoor saucers since the turn of the century, predicted today that a four-minute mile was "unlikely" Saturday night when Ron Delany and Fred Dwyer hook up in the New York Athletic Club Games, but that it was "possible" next week.

It should be remembered that, although the four-minute-mile club no longer is particularly exclusive it never has been indoors.

But there are few coaches around the country who don't think Delany could do it any time the spirit moved him. He already has hit 3:39 outdoors.

This is the first time this season Delany and Dwyer are hooking up. Dwyer is a determined fellow who wants to join the four-minute club before the spring is out. He also doesn't like to lose.

Khaled Top-Weighted for San Felipe 'Cap

ARCADIA, Calif. (U) — Racing secretary Jimmy Kilroe of Santa Anita has assigned Prince Khaled top weight of 128 pounds for Saturday's 20th running of the Felipe Handicap at a mile and one sixteenth.

This is the final tuneup for 3-year-olds, who aspire to the $100,000 added Santa Anita Derby, March 2.

'Kids' Defeat Merchants to Tie Griff's for Lead

The Calgon Kids moved into a first place tie with Griff's Grill in the see-saw National division race by nosing out the Pontiac Merchants, 46-44, in adult City League basketball action Wednesday night at Pontiac High.

Calgon fought off a 4th quarter rally to chalk up its 6th win in nine games. Roger Reynolds paced the Kids with 20 points while Bill Buck collected 15 for the Merchants.

Ted Wharry meshed 20 points to lead the Boys Club in a 67-49 American League triumph over Stadium Inn. Harrison and Nelson each made 10 for the losers.

In Class D. activity at Lincoln, Alex Heiser's 16 points featured Coca Cola's 30-23 verdict over the Northerns. Don Mountain tallied a dozen to head Central Christian's 36-16 rout of the Blackhawks and the Elks gained a 41-37 decision from the Blue Devils behind Sam Cole's 13 points.

Undated Shaw's Jewelers met Walled Lake Super Market at 7 o'clock and CIO Local 594 faces the winless Clarkson Merchants at 8:30 in adult American loop games tonight at the PHS gym.

Bell gets a $40,000 salary and recently was voted a $10,000 bonus by the NFL. Cooper gets nothing. However the Canadian commissioner took it philosophically when someone kidded him: about the salary difference as Cooper and Bell met here yesterday.

"We've rubbed shoulders quite a bit in five years," Cooper said smilingly. "I now get expenses. But maybe enough hasn't rubbed off yet."

Seeking Feather Shot

Keg Meet in 2nd Half

Some of the state's outstanding bowlers will vie for berths among the leaders as the Michigan Elks Bowling Tournament heads into the 2nd half of its eight weekend program here Saturday and Sunday.

Keglers from Grand Rapids, considered one of the major bowling centers in the state, are expected to be the biggest threats to the current front-runners, some of whom have led since the opening weeks of the event.

Royal Oak will also have a long list of entries competing with others coming from Bay City, Midland, Allegan and Cadillac. Host Lodge 810 will have two teams and several doubles and singles entries in action, all on Sunday.

A big reason for the anticipated threat of Grand Rapids is that two former team champions and several individual stars will be coming here from the Furniture City.

Kaminski's Market topped the five-man actual pinfall event in 1953 with a 2015 total, while Tarry House was handicap winner in '55 with 3054. Dickie's Service of Pontiac tops both divisions and has for three weeks with 2832 and 3201 respectively.

Comparative scores would indicate the service team's lead may be in jeopardy if Kaminski's can come anywhere near its previous big performance. But the visitors will be facing an ex-champion flux that has cut down several already.

Ed Danowski, who has been among the top 10 in Grand Rapids for the past 20 years, will be among the chief contenders to John Gavie's singles leads. He has bowled a dozen 700 series, with a high of 762, had a single high of 200, and once hit 1800 in match play series.

Other GR stars are Ed Duba, ex-ABC contender and city champion with a 200-plus average, Lucky Anderson and Joe Keating. Tom Wilson and Bill DeWitt head the Royal Oak group.

Gavie has dominated singles play since the 1st weekend when he hit 724 in handicap play and 691 for actual.

Doubles contestants will have to set a new record to overtake the Plymouth pair of Bill Fann and Vern Miller. They rolled 1374 two weekends ago in handicap. Detroit's E. Walker-K. Haviland are high in actual with 1217.

NCAA Hockey Meet in March

Michigan and Tech Are Contenders for Berths in Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS There is less than a month before the NCAA hockey championship tournament at Colorado Springs, March 14, 15 and 16.

As in the past nine seasons, the tournament will match the top two teams of the seven-member Western League against two eastern representatives. The latter are chosen by a coaches committee from those teams possessing the best records.

Four teams are in contention for the two Western League spots. Colorado College remains in first place despite two losses to North Dakota last weekend. North Dakota and Michigan Tech are expected to be serious threats to Colorado College in the final stretch. Michigan, almost eliminated from a chance at the top place, still aspires to second.

The remaining league teams, Minnesota, Denver and Michigan State, are mathematically out of the running.

MIAMI—The fingerprints of 6,891 persons engaged in horse racing were taken in 1956 as a general protective measure.

U. S. Invites 27 Nations to Join in Naval Review

WASHINGTON — The United States has invited 27 countries — not including Russia — to send warships to the first international naval review to be held in this country since 1907.

The review is scheduled for next June 12 at the same place where dreadnaughts and torpedo boats from seven nations assembled for a grand review 50 years ago, the huge anchorage area of Hampton Roads, Va.

This year aircraft carriers and missile cruisers — unheard of in those days — will be among the 50 U. S. Navy ships participating. A total of 80 is expected.

The occasion is the 35th anniversary of the first permanent English settlement in America, at Jamestown, Va.

The Pentagon said the State Department extended the invitations "on behalf of the Navy, the Virginia 350th Anniversary Commission, and the port communities of Hampton, Newport News, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Virginia Beach and Warwick."

The Pentagon announcement did not list the countries. However, an announcement last night by Ben Wahrman, executive director of the International Review Committee, carried the names of the invited nations.

Wahrman's announcement said the invited nations are:

Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Denmark, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, France, Western Germany, Britain, Greece, Haiti, Ireland, Italy, Mexico, Netherlands, Norway, Peru, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Turkey, Uruguay and Venezuela.

In the review, the warships will ride at anchor in two columns covering a distance of 14 miles, from Hampton Roads to Ft. Story.

Mules Can't Buck Rules; Army's Halters Halted

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP) — They go, said Sgt. 1. C. Lawrence, have made civilians of the Army's last pack mules.

Some of them took it a little stubbornly, but generally the non-military pastures seemed to look green.

The 136 mules making up the Army's last pack outfit were sold yesterday.

It was a sad parting. While a group of veteran Army mule-skinner looked on unhappily, the mules kicked up dust and some of them refused to a time to be herded into trucks for the ride to new homes in several Western states. There were 47 buyers, most of them ranchers.

They paid from $10 to $40 each. "I don't like to see the mules go," said Sgt. Lawrence.

Fifty of the youngest went to the National Park Service for use in Yosemite and Sequoia national parks in California. The U. S. Forest Service got 89 others for use in Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Wyoming and Montana.

There were a few other "special" requests for individual animals before the 136 sold yesterday were left.

Two mules singled out for praise at the retirement ceremony — Hambone and Trotter — were sold to the Pike's Peak or Bust Rodeo Assn. of Colorado Springs. Both were promised a "life of luxury in lush pastures."

In his 14-year Army career Hambone won many jumping contests. He and Trotter are to be used now in fund-raising charity programs for disabled veterans.

When scientists reported a higher incidence of lung cancer in smokers than in non-smokers, he said, tax money from cigarette sales took a downward turn.

Revenues probably went up with announcement last month that French scientists have isolated the elements in tobacco that cause cancer, he said.

Collections of the 3 cent per package state tax added up to about 35% million dollars during the 1955-56 fiscal year, Lock said. It's expected they'll total about 27 million this year.

"But before the cancer scare came along, they were going up at the rate of about a million dollars a year," he said.

Introduction of king sized cigarettes sent tax collections down and sales of filter tipped cigarettes sent them up again, Lock said.

Doubt Clouds Israel Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bitter Egyptian criticism cast grave doubt today on the success of the Dulles plan for persuading Israel to withdraw its forces from Egyptian territory.

The question now was whether Israel would accept the proposal without firm U. S. assurance that its interests in the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba would be backed up by more than words.

Israel postponed a decision, expected yesterday, to ask for further information on details it considered vague.

The plan which Secretary of State Dulles presented to Ambassador Abba Eban of Israel Monday offered a United States declaration in favor of navigating through the gulf and of United Nations security measures for the Gaza Strip if Israel would pull its troops out of both those areas.

Dulles' proposition was based in part on his belief, reportedly stated to Eban, that Egypt would go along with free access of all ships, including Israeli, to the gulf and that the U. N. could be expected to prevent future Egyptian attacks on Israel from the Gaza Strip.

"When we started to leave about dusk, Mr. Krise jumped from the bushes and pointed a shotgun at our car and ordered us to turn around and get off his property," Dye testified.

"Mr. King got out of the car and advanced toward Mr. Krise," Dye said. "He kept talking to him, telling him that we meant no harm."

"By that time Mr. King was right up close to Mr. Krise. He grabbed Mr. Krise's gun and I saw Mr. Krise hit him in the stomach."

"Then I ducked down to the bottom of the car, I didn't see anything more but I heard several shots."

"I raised up just as Mr. King let Mr. Krise down in the weeds. He was holding Mr. Krise's gun. Then Mr. King got into the car and started to drive away. He told us that we had not seen anything, heard anything and didn't know anything and to keep your mouths shut."

Julius Stafford, 60, an employee of the Detroit City Housing Commission, and a passenger in the King car with Dye, corroborated Dye's testimony.

Stafford added that the group was confronted by Krise who stood in the center of the road "with his gun in a firing position."

Stafford said after King got out of the car and advanced toward Krise, "he grabbed the shotgun barrel, pushed it aside and shot Krise."

Dye testified that the group cut the hunting trip short and headed for Detroit.

DISTRICT SIX — James Roberts, Royal Oak; Gordon Haupt, Earl Nash, Mrs. Wilmer Roberts, Mrs. Bernard DeLong, Mrs. Bruce Garbutt and Betty Jane Locke, all of Ferndale.

A tie between Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. DeLong in the sixth district will result in each having a half vote at board meetings, Taylor said.

Mrs. Stephen Podany, 58, of Detroit, a guest at the hotel, suffered a broken leg.

L. B. Mitchell, 66, a hotel steward, also suffered a broken leg and Stephen Berry, 36, the elevator operator, sustained hip and chest injuries.

The three were taken out of the elevator through a small opening between the floor and the top of the elevator door.
