Soviets Reject Compromise on U.N. Finances

Fear for Whites in Congo Areas

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Fears mounted today for the safety of 500 to 1,000 whites still in rebel-held areas of the Congo. Belgian paratroopers who dropped from U.S. planes to rescue 1,700 were withdrawn yesterday.

Refugees said the Peking-backed rebels were intent on killing all whites to vent their anger over the paratroop action in Stanleyville and Paulis last week.

The confirmed death toll of white hostages stood at 85, including three American missionaries. Many were slaughtered only minutes before the Belgians arrived.

At least 500 and possibly as many as 1,000 whites are still in rebel areas. A group of several hundred is at Bunia in the north. Many missionaries and plantation managers are scattered singly in isolated communities.

Diplomatic sources in Leopoldville said the Belgian troops were supposed to make one more air drop but it was called off.

The sources could not say why. However, the Belgian government had said at the outset it did not expect the operation to last longer than about three days.

One of the rebels' victims, American medical missionary Paul Carlson, has been buried beside the church he served in the Congo, his friends reported.

ATTEND FUNERAL

About 300 whites and 1,000 Congolese attended the funeral Saturday at the Church of Christ in Karawa village, in Loubangui Province. His widow and two children were present. They are to leave for the United States within a few days.

Belgium rejected a Soviet charge of aggression as a "propaganda maneuver." Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said the paratroopers' withdrawal was evidence that Belgium had no desire to reconquer its former Congo territory.

The 600 troops who took part in the drops were to receive a royal welcome in Brussels Tuesday. One paratrooper died in combat and several were injured.

★ ★ ★

Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe arrived in Paris and said he planned to see President Charles de Gaulle of France Tuesday. Diplomats in Leopoldville said he planned to ask for French technical assistance. He was expected to go to New York Thursday to attend the U.N. General Assembly.

Tshombe rejected a resolution by the Congo committee of the Organization of African Unity calling for an immediate end to foreign military intervention in the Congo.

"There is not a country in Africa that does not have foreign officers," said Tshombe. "We are an independent country, and this question should not interest outsiders."

He also accused the Arab

Plane Crashes in Stanleyville

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A chartered Belgian DC4 crashed on the runway of Stanleyville airport last night, killing the crew and all but seven of the refugees it was bringing to safety, reports to Leopoldville said.

A message reaching Leopoldville this morning said the plane "got fire on taking off." It was not clear whether this meant that the plane had been hit by rebel riflemen who still infest the region around the airport at Stanleyville.

An employe of the charter company, Belgian International Air Services, said the DC4 had a crew of three Belgians. There were conflicting reports that the plane was carrying between 30 and 40 passengers.

An investigating team was flying to Stanleyville this morning.

Most of the plane's passengers were reported to be Congolese refugees from the former rebel capital. One of the injured survivors was reported to be Belgian Col. V. Liiegeois, a commander of the Congolese government's antirebel drive.

In the last few days, several planes have been unable to land in Stanleyville because of rebel ground fire.

★ ★ ★

Belgians who returned from Stanleyville last night said the region between the airport and the center of the city about two miles way was heavily infiltrated by rebel snipers.

HIS BIRTHDAY — Sir Winston Churchill, veteran British statesman, looks out the window of his London home today. He acknowledged well-wishers at his gate on the occasion of his 90th birthday.

In Good Health

Churchill Is 90 Today

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill climbed out of bed on his 90th birthday today, creaky of limb but sound of health.

"He's very well," said Sir Winston's doctor and long personal friend, Lord Moran, "and I can tell you something else—he still enjoys his daily cigar."

Lord Moran, who was 81 earlier this month, could have added that Britain's wartime leader still enjoys his daily brandy.

★ ★ ★

Sir Winston began his birthday celebration by leaving his bed shortly before noon. Assisted by a male nurse — for he is very feeble — he dressed slowly and went downstairs at his London home in Hyde Park Gate to be greeted by his secretaries, servants and plainclothes detectives.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, Lady Churchill, 79, Sir Winston's Darling Clementine, greeted him with a birthday kiss and the light breakfast which her husband always enjoys with the newspapers.

MANY MESSAGES

After receiving the good wishes of his staff, Sir Winston faced the messages and gifts that poured in from all over the world. A message from Queen Elizabeth II, sent with a bouquet, was given to him first.

There were thousands more including messages from President Johnson and ex-Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman.

Britain's Post Office Department estimated Sir Winston would receive a minimum of 60,000 greetings before the end of the day.

★ ★ ★

DELIVERED IT

"We delivered it to his house," said a postman, "for whoever else in the world could it be meant for?"

★ ★ ★

A heavy cake with the words "Happy Birthday" in white lettering offset by gold satin ribbon, was wheeled into the Churchill residence this morning.

★ ★ ★

"What's Sir Winston doing?" a secretary said in response to a question from one of the reporters outside his home. "Why he's trying to spend the day quietly — looking forward to this evening."

★ ★ ★

That meant a birthday dinner with members of the family.

Dead are Gilbert E. Schoonover, 66, of 2759 Gerald, Avon Township, and Reed D. Quick, 20, of 3301 Auburn, Auburn Heights.

Listed in poor condition at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital is Billy R. Dragoo, 21, of Bend, Ore., a passenger in the Quick vehicle.

Sheriff's deputies said the collision occurred in the eastbound lane of Auburn near St. Clair, at about 12:15 a.m.

Witnesses, who were in a car following the westbound Quick vehicle, said a rear tire blew out, causing the car to cross over the center lane into the path of Schoonover's car.

Hospital officials reported that Quick was killed instantly and Schoonover died about 90 minutes later.

HEAVY SNOW — An overnight snowfall measuring up to 16 inches deep blanketed a narrow strip of land along the western coast of Michigan today, leaving traffic tied up in many areas. A wrecker prepares to free a semitruck at Stevensville in Berrien County where at least 20 trucks stalled along I-94.

Won't Go Slow as Suggested in U Thant Plan

Decision Announced After Talk Between Rusk and Gromyko

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union today rejected a compromise formula put forward by Secretary General U Thant in the hope of avoiding a U.S.-Soviet confrontation on U.N. financing.

Word of the Soviet decision came shortly after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko met Secretary of State Dean Rusk for a luncheon discussion of this and other problems before the U. N. Assembly opening tomorrow.

Thant proposed to the four big powers last week that they agree to postpone all important matters until after the first of the year so that there would be no occasion to question the voting rights of the Soviet Union.

The United States and others contend that the Russians cannot vote because of their back debts.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet delegation issued a statement this morning saying:

"In connection with reports published in the American press to the effect that important matters on the agenda of the U.N. General Assembly should be postponed for a long period or indefinitely, the Soviet delegation deems it necessary to state that it categorically opposes such views.

USUAL MANNER

"The Soviet delegation believes that the General Assembly should start and continue its work in accordance with normal procedures and that all important matters should be deliberated in the usual manner."

Shortly before the Rusk-Gromyko luncheon session at Rusk's hotel suite, U.N. Secretary General U Thant met separately with the American secretary of state and the Soviet ambassador to the U.N., Nikolai T. Fedorenko.

Thant urged agreement to his plan, which would avoid forcing the critical financial issue at the U.N. General Assembly's opening tomorrow by letting the assembly proceed with routine matters while backstage negotiations tackle the money question.

★ ★ ★

Then the foreign minister of the United Arab Republic, Mahmoud Riad, called on Rusk to KIDNAPED BY ESCAPEES—Sgt. Eugene Christensen (right), a Flint police detective and his son, Neil, 14, ended up in Detroit today after being kidnaped by six convicts near Grayling yesterday. The escapees captured the pair who were hunting and took their station wagon after fleeing from Southern Michigan Prison Camp. The two were released in Detroit without being harmed.

Hoover Said on Way Out as FBI Chief

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine said today that President Johnson has decided to replace J. Edgar Hoover as chief of the FBI.

★ ★ ★

George E. Reedy, presidential press secretary, said: "The President never heard of such a plan and never heard of such an idea."

A spokesman said there would be no comment from the FBI.

The magazine said Hoover "has become a figure of controversy — not merely to long-time leftish critics but among old admirers who wonder whether he has forgotten the motto on his desk."

★ ★ ★

The motto, inscribed on a small brass plaque: "Two feet on the ground are worth one in the mouth."

PRESS CONFERENCE

Hoover held one of his rare news conferences Nov. 18, in which he told women reporters that civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is "the most notorious liar in the country."

He also denounced the Warren Commission for its criticism of the FBI's role in the events preceding President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

Newsweek said:

"One such disenchanted fan of Hoover's is Lyndon B. Johnson who had decided by last week that he must find a new chief of the FBI. It was a tough decision.

"Even tougher perhaps is the task of finding a worthy replacement . . . someone as irreproachable as a respected judge, preferably a federal judge. The search is on."

The magazine noted that Johnson signed an executive order last May in which, in "the public interest," he waived the compulsory retirement that would take effect on Hoover's 70th birthday next Jan. 1.

The President also had assured the FBI boss he could stay in his job "as long as I am in the White House."

But Newsweek also observed that Johnson, in a news conference last week, "seemed to damn the FBI director with faint praise."

The President said of Hoover at that time, "He has been diligent and rather effective, and I would hope that in the months ahead we would have further evidence of the outstanding capacity of his people, and that this would not degenerate into a battle of personalities."

Five Escapees Sought in State

GRAYLING (AP)—Authorities in Detroit and Saginaw were searching today for five of the six escaped convicts who kidnaped a Flint police detective and his 14-year-old son last night.

Detective Sgt. Eugene Christensen, 42, and his son, Neil, were released unharmed this morning after riding as hostages in their own station wagon 200 miles from Grayling to Detroit.

Christensen told Detroit police that two of the men left the car in Saginaw.

A third was captured in Detroit, where the other three were thought to be at large.

★ ★ ★

Police said they thought all the men were on foot, unarmed, and dressed in the garb of Jackson State Prison's Camp Lehman near here, from which they walked away yesterday.

SHOTGUN BLAST

Detroit police said one of the men may have been wounded today by a shotgun blast fired as he eluded a trap set for him at the home of a woman acquaintance on the city's near west side.

Christensen said four of the escapees broke into their trailer at the Hartwick Pines State Park near Grayling.

He and his son had been deer hunting in the area.

★ ★ ★

Police said the men did not take either of Christensen's two rifles when they abandoned his station wagon.

Neil said just before he and his father were released, one of the fugitives told him:

"Boy, let this be a lesson to you. Be sure to go straight."

One of the escapees, Leonard A Rosel, 35, of Dearborn, was recaptured less than hour after the hostages were released.

Rosel, who Christensen said drove the car, was serving a sentence for breaking and entering.

Authorities identified the others as : Samuel E. Peeler, 21, Flint, convicted of breaking and entering; Michale Panko, 23, Saginaw, breaking and entering; Willy Burkess, 22, Detroit, larceny; La French Hopson, 24, Grand Rapids, assault and robbery; and Felix Peliter, 24, Grand Rapids, breaking and entering.

Mariner Gets on Beam of Guiding Star

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Spacecraft Mariner 4 finally found its guiding star today, and scientists said it was using it to speed on toward an appointment with Mars.

★ ★ ★

Officials at Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena said that the second radio command sent to the craft today resulted in its finding Canopus — the bright orbit needs to hold it on course through a 7½-month, 325-million mile voyage.

A first command sent at 1:13 a.m. made the craft lock on an object which data later revealed was not Canopus, scientists reported.

The second command was sent at 2:57 a.m., starting the craft rolling over in space, scanning the heavens for Canopus. Three minutes later it locked on a star.

Scientists said the data it then radioed back was analyzed, proving it locked on Canopus and not some other star.

TWO SENSORS

They said two sensors are carried on the craft. When one of them is locked on Canopus, the other should be pointed toward earth.

They said information received from the earth sensor indicated that it was indeed pointing toward earth.

At the time Mariner locked on Canopus it was 359,850 miles from earth and was traveling at 7,400 miles an hour, scientists said.

The first try early yesterday failed.

Twice in the first day's search it fixed on stars it thought were Canopus. Each time it had hitched itself onto the wrong star.

Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, where Mariner was developed, said some such hit-and-miss searching was expected.

Mariner needs the fix to keep it flying through space without tumbling into positions where its radio equipment won't function properly.

Passed Secrets to Soviets

Spying on U.S. Easy for Jailed Swede

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Russians were tipped off in advance when President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent the Marines to Lebanon in 1958, largely through the efforts of a Swedish spy.

The spy, retired Swedish Air Force Col. Stig E. C. Wennerstroem, apparently gleaned the information from a high U.S. Air Force officer with whom he was friendly.

This was disclosed yesterday when the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee made public portions of hitherto secret testimony by Wennerstroem.

Wennerstroem, 57, was sentenced in Sweden last June to life imprisonment after it was discovered he had spied for the Soviet Union since 1948 — even against his own country.

Much of the testimony, taken by the Swedish Federal Police Agency, was censored.

But the 168 pages of it translated for the Senate subcommittee showed that he had remarkably little difficulty in obtaining U.S. secrets during his five-year service in Washington as Swedish air attache (from April 1952, to May 1957) and later when he returned to Sweden.

CLOSE FRIEND

In the case of the Lebanon landing, Wennerstroem said one of his close friends was "the chief of American air forces in Germany." He said he and his wife spent Christmas with the American officer's family at Wiesbaden, West Germany, but the visit was interrupted when the U.S. general had to make a hurried visit to Turkey.

Wennerstroem said he informed Moscow of the trip and discovered that the visit was for the purpose of reconnoitering airfields for American paratroopers.

The spy told the Swedish police that spying in the United States was so easy he once slipped U.S. secrets to a Russian agent at a meeting in the Pentagon.

* * *

His method of checking a rumored "surprise" U.S. action for Moscow was just as easy: He simply drove to the Pentagon to find out if the generals were engaged in any kind of "hectic activity." They were doing business as usual, so he informed Moscow that no surprise was in the offing.

SYMPATHIES CHANGE

Wennerstroem had collaborated with the Nazis for a short time early in World War II, and had considered himself for a time to be an agent for U.S. intelligence. But his sympathies changed.

"My sympathies for the efforts of the one side and the other shifted so that after a certain time I considered myself instead as firmly engaged in the Soviet intelligence system and as an undercover (Russian) agent in the American," he said.

"The occasion for the shift in sympathies was that it became quite clear in my mind that the Soviet intelligence service was purely defensively oriented, while the American one was offensively oriented," he said.

* * *

Wennerstroem testified that his assignment in the United States consisted principally of reporting to Moscow technical development of U. S. aircraft, rockets, robots, bombsights, radar, cameras and "the electronic microinstruments."

BIG ROCKETS

The Russians, he said, had decided in 1949 and 1950 to "stake everything" on development of enormous rockets that could bring the United States within rocket range.

To do this they had to delay other military developments.

Wennerstroem was to keep them up to date on U.S. progress in this field "so that by means of espionage they could get hold of what they were not capable of inventing and discovering themselves in the Soviet Union."

He had little trouble doing so, he said.

* * *

"The possibilities of obtaining publications in this special field which was of interest to me were almost fantastic," he testified.

BIGGEST SUCCESSES

As Swedish air attache he was able to visit U.S. military installations all over the country, but he found his biggest successes at U.S. industrial plants where he represented himself as a potential buyer for Sweden.

He also was getting an average of about $750 a month from the Soviets in addition to his regular $1,500-per-month salary from Sweden and found it easy to bribe contacts.

2 Defectors Linked With Soviet Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two European-born U.S. soldiers who defected to the Soviet Union more than four years ago were disclosed today to have had prior connections with the Soviet secret police.

The two, both World War II displaced persons, were stationed in West Germany with U.S. Army units when they crossed over to the Russians separately in the summer of 1960. Their defection and identities were disclosed then, but not their prior connection with the Soviet secret police.

* * *

One was Vladimir Sloboda, a native of the Ukraine, who is now 37. The other was Joseph Dutkanicz, a native of Poland who died a year ago today at the age of 37.

Their defection was mentioned two months ago in the Warren Commission's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

DEFECTION PROCEDURES

In discussing Soviet defection procedures — Lee Harvey Oswald, Kennedy's assassin, defected to the Soviet Union after leaving the U.S. Marine Corps —the commission report quoted the Central Intelligence Agency:

"Two defectors from U.S. Army intelligence units in West Germany appeared to have been given citizenship immediately, but both had prior KGB (Russian secret police) connections and fled as a result of Army security checks."

The CIA did not identify the two defectors in the Warren report.

The Associated Press asked the Army for their names and records. Now, two months later, the Army — after consulting with the CIA — reports the defectors referred to by the CIA and the two who crossed over in the summer of 1960 are the same.

CIA RELUCTANT

There were indications the CIA was reluctant to elaborate on the Warren Commission reference.

Sloboda has made broadcasts denouncing the United States and has also written articles for the Soviet press which follow the Soviet propaganda line," the Army said. He now lives in Lvov, a former Polish city now part of the Soviet Union.

* * *

Dutkanicz worked in a television factory before he died in Lvov, the Army said.

After their defection, the Russians quoted Sloboda and Dutkanicz as saying they acted partly out of revulsion against U2 plane flights over the Soviet Union. This was shortly after Francis Gary Powers was shot down over the Soviet Union while on a U2 flight.

NO DETAILS

The Army supplied no details on how, where or when the two men had had connections with the Soviet secret police.

Its summary, furnished to the Associated Press, said Sloboda was born in Podkamien in the Ukraine and during World War II was sent to Germany as a forced laborer. After the war, he spent time in a displaced persons camp in Germany, emigrated to England, and then returned to Germany where he enlisted in the U.S. Army in 1953.

* * *

After basic training in the United States, Sloboda was assigned in August 1958 to an Army military intelligence group in Europe. Two years later he defected.

The Army summary said Dutkanicz was a native of Gorlice Bartne in Poland, entered the United States in December 1946 and was inducted into the Army in February 1951.

NEARLY 6 YEARS

After nearly six years of service in the United States, Dutkanicz was sent to Germany in 1957. Although the CIA spoke of both defectors as having served with intelligence units, the Army summary said Dutkanicz belonged to a signal battallion at Darmstadt before defecting in July 1960.

State Toll on Roads 26 for Holiday

By The Associated Press

A former Army football team captain and an elderly Upper Peninsula couple were among the 26 persons who died in Michigan traffic accidents over the Thanksgiving holiday period.

The Associated Press tabulation of fatalities began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday.

* * *

Although the state counted 23 victims, state police said Michigan went for 18 hours and 10 minutes, from early Saturday until shortly after noon Sunday, without recording a traffic fatality.

VICTIM LIST

The victims included:

Capt. Joseph G. Caldwell, 27, of Miami, Fla., captain of the 1958 Army team, died Sunday of injuries suffered Friday in a two-car collision in Lansing.

Capt. Caldwell and his wife, Genevieve, 26, had been visiting friends in Michigan. Caldwell, a West Point graduate who was on active duty, had been studying at the University of Illinois.

Max Raddke, 70, and his wife, Ada, 66, of Sault Ste. Marie, were killed Sunday when their car collided head-on with another auto on snow-slick M28 about 10 miles east of Newberry in the Upper Peninsula.

O. B. Zimmerson, 22, of Holland; Alfanso Luna, 22, of Grand Haven, and Jerry Ross Wood, 26, of East Saugatuck, were killed Sunday when their car failed to negotiate a sharp curve on a rural road 10 miles south of Holland and struck a tree.

WOMAN KILLED

Dorothy L. Furman, 31, of Mount Pleasant, was killed Sunday when her car ran off North Mission Road near Mount Pleasant and struck a tree.

Richard Lee Tumey, 26, of Michigan Center, was killed Saturday when his wrecker truck went out of control and overturned on I-94 near the Stevensville interchange, south of St. Joseph.

Mrs. Katherine Massie, 21, of Detroit, died late Sunday when an auto driven by her husband, David, 25, was involved in a two-car head-on crash in Warren.

Roseville Man Killed

ROSEVILLE (AP) — Raul Sepulveda, 22, of Roseville, was killed today when, police said, his auto struck two trees, a fence and a brick house.

Viet Premier Asks Support

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)— Premier Tran Van Huong appealed last night for public support after paratroopers crushed another Buddhist demonstration against his month-old government.

Huong in a broadcast called on the people to help put down street demonstrations which he said was inspired by the Communists.

He said his government would not permit Communist troublemakers to operate in Saigon.

* * *

Brig. Gen. Pham Van Dong, Saigon's military governor, charged in a communique that the Viet Cong definitely had been involved yesterday in the funeral procession for a Buddhist youth that turned into an antigovernment demonstration. Police arrested 89 persons and said one of them had Viet Cong connections.

The Buddhist hierarchy, who have vowed to bring down Huong's government, charged that the government's show of force amounted to "direct provocation against unified Buddhism."

About 1,500 armed paratroopers clashed with about 2,000 demonstrators who had gathered for the funeral procession of the Buddhist youth. The Buddhists claimed the youth, Le Van Ngoc, 15, was shot by troops who broke up an earlier antigovernment demonstration.

* * *

Fighting broke out after the demonstrators protested the seizure of a truck in the procession. The army said it carried knives, clubs and grenades. The vehicle's occupants were arrested.

REFUSED ORDERS

After the demonstrators refused to heed orders to disperse, the paratroopers arrived, swinging rifle butts. They fired two shots into the air, startling horses drawing the hearse.

The paratroopers beat some 50 mourners off the hearse, including the father of the dead youth, shoved the boy's family into the vehicle and escorted them to the cemetery.

Some of the demonstrators were bloodied but none was seriously injured. Young girls beat and clawed the soldiers, but the mob was swiftly dispersed after the paratroopers marched off with the hearse.

Traffic Kills a Record 550

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents on the nation's streets and highways killed a record 550 persons during the four-day Thanksgiving holiday.

The figure topped last year's Thanksgiving mark of 543 deaths which had been the record since annual counts for the holiday began in 1958.

Driving on most of the country's roads and highways was endangered as rain and snow pelted the northern half of the continent yesterday.

Hazardous driving warnings were issued for many states by the Weather Bureau.

The pace of fatal accidents increased somewhat in the waning hours of the holiday, as weary motorists hurried to return to their homes.

The death toll was boosted by many multiple death accidents, including one in which eight persons were killed Thanksgiving Day in South Carolina.

states of Africa with wanting "to perpetuate a state of anarchy in the Congo from which they can profit."

Communist China staged a massive anti-American demonstration by 700,000 in Peking yesterday, pledging support for the Congolese rebels, the New China News Agency reported. Party chairman Mao Tze-tung and Premier Chou En-lai attended.

BURN LIBRARY

In Cairo, where students burned the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library on Thanksgiving Day, the government imposed a news blackout on its apology to the United States.

Whereabouts of the rebel leader, Christophe Gbenye, and his lieutenants were unknown. The Middle East News Agency reported in Cairo Saturday that they had entered the south Sudan, north of the Congo. Sudanese officials denied this.

Rebel troops reentered Paulis as soon as the Belgians left. They also continued to harass Congolese troops guarding Stanleyville Airport.

Cabby Tells Role in Ex-Convict's Capture

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A Madison cabdriver explained Sunday his part in the capture of a Detroit ex-convict who has been on the FBI's list of Ten Most Wanted Men since his escape from a Detroit courtroom last July 27.

Held by Wisconsin authorities pending extradition to Michigan is Raymond Lawrence Wyngaard, 27. Arrested with Wyngaard Saturday was Judy Ann Bockius, 21, of Detroit, his platinum blonde girlfriend.

* * *

The cabdriver, Dick Green, 28, picked up the couple after Miss Bockius arrived in Madison by train from Chicago early Saturday.

"When the blonde started for my car, I knew I was it," said Greene, explained how the FBI set the trap in cooperation with several cabdrivers working around the railroad depot.

"He (Wyngaard) asked me to take him to a cafe, but I knew it was closed," said Green. "In a coded message to my office I told them where I was going."

Green said FBI agents in unmarked cars followed his cab.

* * *

"We pulled up to the cafe and before I knew it they were dragging him out of the car," Green said.

Wyngaard, who told agents he had been in Madison about three days under the name of Fred Rodgers, was unarmed and offered no resistance. Agents said Wyngaard shaved off his mustache, altered his hairline and had taken classes in a vocational school while a fugitive.

FEDERAL WARRANT

Charged in a federal warrant with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for armed robbery in Detroit, Wyngaard was held in lieu of $15,000 bond set Saturday by U.S. Commissioner John R. Adams in Madison. He is expected to be extradited to Michigan for trial on the armed robbery charge.

Miss Bockius, held under $1,500 bond pending formal arraignment later this week, is charged in a federal warrant with harboring a fugitive.

* * *

Agents said they found a 32-caliber pistol which, they said, Wyngaard admitted was stolen last July 25 from a Detroit gun shop, and later used in the wounding of a Detroit policeman.

* * *

Wyngaard and Carl Pritchard 32, of Dearborn fled as they were being taken to Detroit Recorder's Court for arraignment last July. They later robbed a supermarket and led police on a two-day chase through Detroit's northwest suburbs. Pritchard surrendered July 27.

* * *

Authorities said Wyngaard has served four prison terms totaling 8½ years in Michigan and Wisconsin for burglary and armed robbery.

Birmingham Area News

Commission to Explore Issue of Renewal Aid

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission tonight will be asked to find out if the southwest portion of the city could qualify for federal conservation funds.

The planning board has recommended this be one of the avenues explored for aid in improving the area bounded by Lincoln, Grant, 14 Mile and Woodward.

The neighborhood has been described the "most seriously obsolete" in the city by planning consultants at Vilican-Leman and Associates, Southfield.

Report of the firm was made last month along with suggestions on improving the area. Planners have stressed the conservation theme.

City Planning Director William Brownfield noted that, while conservation is part of urban renewal, it has nothing to do with slum clearance.

PRELIMINARY STUDY

The planning board has recommended that the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency be contacted for preliminary investigation of the problem.

A field representative of the agency could determine whether the area would qualify under provisions of the Federal Housing Act of 1954.

"This would not be an application," Brownfield said. "It would only be done to see if there are enough problems in the area to warrant the federal government's spending money here."

TO SPEAK

The representative also would speak to city officials to make certain they understood ramifications of the program, Brownfield said.

If the city did qualify and if it were approved, it could receive 75 per cent of the cost of a conservation program from the federal government, Brownfield said.

Such a program would be aimed at rehabilitating and preserving existing buildings before they had to be removed.

* * *

A conservation undertaking here would be relatively small and inexpensive, according to the planning director.

The final program would require a detailed study of each of the some 500 homes in the area, he said.

Soviets Reject U Thant Plan

express his concern over the prospective showdown.

Mahmoud told newsmen after seeing Rusk that the United Arab Republic sees the financial fight as an important political issue. And while the United Nations "needs the money to be effective," he said, it could be weakened without collecting funds if "certain powers are deprived of their vote."

The U.A.R. envoy was expressing views similar to many of the smaller, neutralist nations at the United Nations on the prospect of applying the U.N. Charter's Article 19 at the start of the assembly's fall session tomorrow.

Under article 19 the Soviets stand to lose their vote in the General Assembly because they have fallen more than two years behind in their dues.

* * *

That is because the Kremlin has refused to pay more than $52 million for U. N. peacekeeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

The United States says Article 19 must be lived up to for the sake of the world organization's financial and constitutional integrity.

However, Rusk was reported ready to agree to Thant's plan, provided Gromyko does likewise, in order to get the Russians into discussions on financing future peacekeeping operations.

U. S. diplomats guessed that Gromyko, in his first appearance here since the new regime took over in Moscow, would agree to financial discussions rather than force a showdown at the opening of the General Assembly's 1964 session tomorrow.

But suspense remained high for even with a "yes" from Gromyko, the precarious gentleman's agreement proposed by Secretary General U Thant could collapse because of objections by other U. S. members.

Immediately at issue is application of the U.N. Charter's Article 19, which says any member more than two years behind in its dues shall have no vote in the General Assembly.

Will Include Tax Data in County Bill

Information on Pontiac's income tax will be offered city residents with their 1964 county tax bill, slated for mailing next week.

A two-page letter, drafted by the City Commission, offers an explanation of how the tax would apply and cites some of the needs for added revenue.

City officials plan to mail out 16,000 letters to "over half" of Pontiac's resident homeowners.

The county tax bill, which is to be mailed Dec. 8 and 9, is due 30 days after it's rendered or Jan. 20.

The county general fund receives $6.55 per $1,000 of the total bill, compared to $6.40 last year. The 62-cent per $1,000 levy for special education remains the same, while the Clinton River bond levy dropped to 46 cents from 61 cents.

RUNS $9.01

This year's total bill runs $9.01 per $1,000 of assessed value as equalized, as compared to $7.75 in 1963. Most of the difference comes from the new $1.24 per $1,000 rate for the county community college.

Charles Burton, credited with making the first baby carriage in New York City in 1848, later opened a factory in England to manufacture them.

Questions Answered on Proposed Multilateral Nuclear Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new set of initials — MLF — is kicking up a controversy in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

* * *

MLF stands for multilateral force. It is a new concept in the handling of nuclear weapons, developed and pushed by the United States. Essentially, it is a way of permitting the United States' allies partial participation in the control of the nuclear deterrent.

* * *

To help understand what the fight is all about, here are some basic questions and answers about MLF:

Q. What is MLF?

A. It is a proposal for a separate force of surface ships, such as freighters, to be equipped with Polaris missiles with nuclear tips. The crews would be an international mixture from the participating nations. There would be 25 ships. A destroyer, the USS Ricketts, has been manned by a mixed crew recently to demonstrate how this can be done.

WHO CONTROLS

Q. Who would control them?

A. There would be an MLF commander, separate from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization command, which would retain its own forces. But in time of war, MLF would be an arm of NATO. Control of the weapons would be multinational, rather than in the hands of any one country. The United States alone could not decide to use them. Neither could any other one country.

* * *

Q. Why was this idea developed?

A. Many of the allies have long wanted greater participation in the nuclear deterrent that is supposed to keep the Communists in check. The United States has always been against proliferation, or spread to many countries, of nuclear weapons. U.S. policymakers also figure that a major country like Germany, if it fails to get a share in atomic control, will build an independent nuclear force of its own. The MLF was designed to satisfy both requirements — nonproliferation and sharing by allies.

SAME EFFECT

Q. Doesn't this amount to proliferation anyway?

A. American officials from Secretary of State Dean Rusk on down insist that it is not proliferation and in fact is actually a positive step against the spread of nuclear weapons. Critics say the opposite — that it would put more fingers on the nuclear trigger.

* * *

Q. Who wants this?

A. The United States and the West Germans, primarily. Others include Italy, Greece, Turkey, the Netherlands and Great Britain.

Q. Who is against it?

A. France, which has developed its own nuclear weapons and wants less European dependence on the United States is strongly against it. Britain's new Labor government which wants to give up England's past atomic rule, is cold to it.

SITTING DUCKS

Q. Wouldn't these 25 surface ships be sitting ducks for the enemy? After all, the Russians have shown their bombers can find U.S. aircraft carriers with pinpoint accuracy in the middle of a vast ocean.

* * *

A. The MLF ships, while painted and numbered like warships, would look like merchant freighters except at very close range, although no attempt would be made to disguise them. They would be "lost" amid other shipping in millions of square miles of the Atlantic and Mediterranean. They would be speedy and could outrun ordinary vessels. At the same time they could operate in shallow coastal waters where submarines could not follow. Attacking planes would have to approach over the NATO land mass where they could be detected and intercepted.

Q. Why not use submarines, like the American Polaris subs?

A. Too expensive. Part of the MLF idea is to form a nuclear club for our allies with "dues" low enough for them to pay.

Q. How would MLF be financed?

A. That is still to be worked out. Presumably all participants would contribute, with the United States and West Germany probably bearing a larger share.

Q. How would MLF be implemented by the United States?

A. It would be in the form of a treaty that would require ratification by the U.S. Senate.

Q. What's the next step?

A. Talks among the interested powers have been going on for more than a year. The pace may be stepped up in coming months. However, influential voices in the Senate are calling for a slowdown so there can be full discussion and full understanding by the Senate and the American people before any commitments are made.

PENTAGON STAND

Q. How does the Pentagon stand on MLF?

A. Spokesmen say that the Joint Chiefs of Staff and other military planners believe the concept is workable and would be a valuable addition to the West's forces.

Q. Whose idea was this?

A. No one person's. It stems back to the Eisenhower administration. The idea was first publicly proposed by the then secretary of state, Christian A. Herter, at the NATO meeting in December 1960.

Jews Protest German Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orthodox Jews have protested the decision of the West German government not to extend the statute of limitations on new cases against Nazi war criminals.

The protest was lodged Sunday at the final session of the 66th biennial convention of the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations.

* * *

The 20-year statute of limitations takes effect in May. Nazi criminals flushed out of hiding and indicted before then will be subject to prosecution. Those who turn up later would escape punishment.

The Orthodox Jews said they are "appalled at the unwillingness of the German people and their present government to take the necessary steps to assure that all such war criminals will be brought to the bar of justice."

They Got Huffy Over Hoofs

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies yesterday escorted a Humane Society worker from the Carolina walking horse show when she angered about 100 horse owners at an "inspection."

Mrs. Pearl Twyne of Arlington, Va., said she suspected that acids had been used on the horses' feet to make them step higher during the exhibition.

Horse owners crowded around Mrs. Twyne, who represents the Virginia Federation of Humane Societies and The North Carolina Humane Society.

"Let's get her out of here," one of them shouted.

Deputy W. E. Watkins and other officers escorted her from the stables.

* * *

"I don't know what would have happened if officers had not been at the scene," Watkins said.

HORSEMEN WERE TIRED

One horse owner said the horsemen were tired of "being run over by this old lady."

Mrs. Twyne said the action only confirmed her suspicions that the animals had been doctored for the show.

Hunter Recalls Brush With Death While Lost

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — When 33-year-old Robert W. Fisher began making his bed a week ago tonight, he "began to refer to it as a 'death bed.' "

The bed was of boughs. It was made on snow 20-plus inches deep. The temperature was somewhere below 15 degrees. It was Fisher's third night, lost in Upper Michigan's Houghton County woods.

★ ★ ★

Fisher vanished from seven hunting companions a little after 9 a.m. on Friday, Nov. 20, when he set out to track a single, elusive deer which had chanced by their camp outside the tiny village of Donken.

Following what sounded to him like the drone of an engine Monday, Fisher stumbled into a lumber camp outside Toivola. He had been missing more than 72 hours in near-blizzard weather.

TRACKS DISAPPEAR

Shortly after he set out Friday morning, Fisher, a hunter for 14 years, found a north wind blowing his tracks away almost before he stepped out of them.

By his own estimate when he lost the deer, Fisher was about five miles from his camp. He sat down on a log to check his supplies — a skinning knife, six shells in his gun, a pack of matches, a compass and a watch.

When he heard what he thought were definite signals, a methodical firing of one or two volleys, Fisher returned the signal, but heard no answering fire.

"By 5 o'clock (Friday) the woods became very quiet and I thought they had given up hope for me," he recalled.

DARKNESS FELL

As darkness began falling, Fisher gathered up boughs and built a fire. He drank from a nearby stream and ate newly fallen snow.

★ ★ ★

Trudging through streams, gullies and ravines Saturday, Fisher soaked through his three pairs of socks and set his precious matches. Also, he fired the fifth of his six shells.

★ ★ ★

His last shell went to answer what he thought a gunfire signal, but which sheriff's deputies suspect was another hunter's shot in the far distance.

Again he made a bed of boughs "in eerie, terrible, lonely quietness."

THINK BACKWARD

Lying awake, looking up at the sky, Fisher remembers:

"I thought of little incidents: Did I snap too briskly at the grocery man? Could I have treated the television repairman a little more kindly?

★ ★ ★

"But mostly, I thought of what I had left only a week before — my wife, Bonnie, the children, my mother and dad and my brothers.

★ ★ ★

"I think I realized then, to the very fullest, how short life really is, and how the smallest incidents collectively can look large in your reliving them."

Sunday's fruitless tramping ended with Fisher's preparing what "for the first time I began to refer to . . . as 'a death bed.' "

★ ★ ★

"It was so strangely quiet at daybreak Monday that I thought, 'Oh, my God, everyone's given up and gone home. It's Monday and they've all had to go back to work.' "

★ ★ ★

It was about two hours later that Fisher heard the drone of what sounded to him like an engine. At about 10:40 that morning, unshaven, exhausted and with frostbitten feet, he stumbled into a lumber camp.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Increased Athletics Interest Requires Better Facilities

Various states are studying new stadia as an ever-increasing interest in athletics continues to sweep the Nation. Pennsylvania just authorized $25 million for this purpose. Even Chicago, where Soldier Field seats 120,000, is considering a new sports arena because of the woeful deficiencies of this quaint and antiquated structure. The new one would hold fewer spectators but fill other more pressing demands.

★ ★ ★

How about Michigan?

When the Olympic games were proposed for Detroit, a stadium was definitely in the offing but we were euchred out of the 1968 international contests and plans were temporarily shelved.

Now talk springs anew.

Tiger Stadium is hardly commensurate with the needs of 1965 and ensuing years. First, it's unfortunately placed in the light of current Detroit development. This applies to the location, the neighborhood, the parking and the size. It loses on every count.

Comfortable parking in any volume is nonexistent and the neighborhood hardly constitutes an enviable environment. Further, it's unhappily located with reference to the homes of the Michigan people it serves; and the approaches and exits are miserable.

A new structure could not be considered until working agreements were in force with the Tigers and the Lions. If these two settled upon reasonably long term contracts, a Stadium Authority could evaluate income and possible bond retirement, unless the place was actually erected by the State with all future income accruing to Lansing.

Detroit's annual Goodfellows game could be staged there, the Army-Navy football game, and the Big Ten might hold a championship track meet occasionally. The Olympics are a possibility for final U.S. tryouts plus the Pan-American track meet, the biannual tussle with Russia, A.A.U. championships and other similar events.

★ ★ ★

The Fair Grounds location was adjudged ideal when the Olympic games were under discussion and it still looms as the most likely spot. The spacious enclosure can handle untold thousands of cars. Further, traffic can reach this fine focal point on big, broad highways and limited access throughways. Spectators at all events would be served expeditiously. People from Oakland and Macomb Counties, Flint, Lansing, Saginaw, Bay City, Ann Arbor and many, many other cities would find attendance possible on reasonable time schedules, in addition to the home city.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the legislature and the Governor should consider a study committee to investigate the possibilities and come up with recommendations. As it stands now, the Fair Grounds are empty, desolate and idle about 95% of the year.

Should they be "put to work?"

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's own able Representative, Arthur Law, is interested in the general picture and is evaluating the plan and sounding out some of his colleagues in the Legislature.

Wait and See . . .

In his first speech since election President JOHNSON said:

"I do not consider the election a mandate to embark on any reckless, dangerous, novel or unique course."

These are brave words.

But now comes the test.

★ ★ ★

His pronouncements defy many elements of his own party which have entirely different ideas and thirst for the establishment of each dereliction that the President listed. The gimme-gimme gang, the deficit finance flunkies and the insidious imps of inflation are already fastening their claws in the Presidential coattails.

Soon we'll have the showdown.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Overheard: Irate coach to college president: "Well, what kind of a football team did you expect? You pay your science professors more than you do me." . . . . . The movie gate has leaped a quarter of a billion dollars upward in 1964. The flickers are staging a right royal comeback. . . . . A poll before election disclosed that 88% of the people want prayer back in the schools. . . . . Heartiest congratulations to WINSTON CHURCHILL on his 90th birthday today. . . . . Some 80% of MSU's students are from Michigan, 17% from the other 49 states and 3% from outside the country. . . . . The biggest single day for admissions to the U. of M. hospital is December 26th.

JANET

Trusted scouts advise me Janet Rickman deserves mention as one of the area's very attractive girls. . . . . Juarez, Mexico, is the divorce capital of Hollywood's ratpack world. You arrive Saturday, catch the bull fight Sunday, drop into court Monday and in 15 minutes you "have it." Fees run as high as $10,000 if you're famous and itchy. . . . . Russia plans a $300 million campaign for her motels to attract tourists along the 4,000 miles of new highways. . . . . Hal Newhouser and Al Kaline figure Gates Brown may hit .320 next year.

★ ★ ★

Overheard: "She has a slight impediment in her speech. Every now and then she has to pause to breathe." . . . . . ABC's TV has staged a tremendous comeback against NBC and CBS. . . . . Experts say every time you see a rat, there are 50 more in the neighborhood. Currently, their favorite hangouts are sewers. There's a new poison on the market that kills rats—and nothing else. (Don't you learn the most amazing things here?) . . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—area newsstands' fine response on the drive to eliminate filthy magazines; the J's—the pornography just mentioned.

"I Can Steer Just As Well From Over Here!"

David Lawrence Says:

Unions Want Payoff for Support

WASHINGTON — Union labor is about to demand a reward for its political support.

It paid out millions of dollars during the recent campaign to elect a majority in the forthcoming session of Congress. It now wants the elected members to deliver.

LAWRENCE

The new demand is that the existing labor law be amended so as to bring about compulsory unionization throughout the United States.

With all the talk about equal rights for citizens and "equal opportunity" in employment, it is significant that within a few weeks after a presidential and congressional election, the labor unions announce as their "No. 1 priority" the repeal of Section 14B of the National Labor Relations Act passed by Congress in 1947.

Under this provision, a number of states have hitherto adopted laws forbidding any worker from being forced to become a member of a labor organization and being threatened with the loss of his job if he doesn't join.

★ ★ ★

Significant, too, is the announcement by the labor organizations that they think they now have enough votes in Congress to get repeal of this section of the law. A top spokesman of the AFL-CIO says:

"We have done some nose counting and we feel we have a reasonable chance to repeal Section 14B in this Congress. We know pretty well where we stand on this issue."

The compromise in the 1947 act — which permits the states to determine whether or not they will accept compulsory unionization — provides that unless a state takes action, the federal law applies.

Under this discretionary provision, at least 20 states have formally declared that the right of a person to decide for himself whether or not he will join any organization or group is an individual liberty that should not be taken away from any citizen.

★ ★ ★

These states have enacted what are often called "right to work" laws. Such statutes have been denounced as antiunion.

CLOSED SHOP

Originally, under the Wagner Act, many unions required what was called a "closed shop." This meant that no employer could hire anybody who was not a member of the union.

This was modified in the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947 to permit the "union shop." This provides that the employer may hire whomever he pleases, but that within 30 or 60 days after the worker has been on the job, the employe must either join the union or be dismissed.

The principal argument advanced for the "union shop" is that, since the law establishes the right of the majority of the employes to choose a union to act as bargaining agent in relation to wages and working conditions, all the workers should contribute toward the expense.

Many workers have agreed to pay their share of such expenses, but not to become members in a labor organization, and such an arrangement is permitted in what is called an "agency shop."

But today Congress is being asked to repeal existing restrictions and bring about a system of nationwide coercion whereby the individual must join a union in order to keep his job.

Capital Letter:

Top 'Rooster' Is Picky About Who Gets Perch

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — President-watchers, like bird-watchers, are as fascinated by the bright plumage swooping and fluttering through the air as by the eventual banding.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

Consequently they are intrigued by the colorful manner in which President Johnson releases a covey of birds, letting each test his wings in turbulent political weather, before selecting his quarry.

Because the Kennedy administration succeeded an opposition party in power, it had so many choice jobs to fill that there was little time for the full sport of the game.

Its usual procedure was to release only one bird, and let him fly solo for a day or two. If he was not shot down by the opposition, he was it.

★ ★ ★

In strictly political practice, this involves leaking the name of a potential nominee to a favored newspaper columnist, who trial-balloons it in behalf of the administration.

FEWER POSITIONS

President Johnson, with fewer top positions to fill, is demonstrating a unique flair for talent-hunting that is worthy of a Teddy Roosevelt safari.

The attorney generalship, vacant since Bobby Kennedy flew the Cabinet coop last summer to try his political wings in the Senate, has recently taken on some of the sporting flavor of a preconvention vice president-watching.

Peering into the dazzling political sun, an absorbed nation watches while such celebrated lawyers as Abe Fortas, Clark Clifford, Thomas Dodd, Leon Jaworsky and acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach soar in and out of speculative orbit.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson gives the illusion of being the only one who isn't looking, but he's the head ornithologist who will ultimately do the banding.

★ ★ ★

Civil Service Commission Chairman John Macy has been tapped by the President to separate the fliers from the waddlers, and thanks to the recent landslide there are few Democratic lame ducks to worry about.

The President, himself, will have the final say in the continuing talent-hunt, but a charming lady whom he calls "Bird" also has a bevy of prospects ready among the female of the species.

Calls Current Literature Unhealthy Sign of Times

The flood of salacious literature is an unhealthy sign of the times. A prominent sociologist has described the United States as "sex-saturated, sex-obsessed and sex-sick." We have sex and toothpaste, sex and household cleaners, sex and storm windows, etc.

★ ★ ★

The "literates" have their "sophisticated" pornographic magazine, enjoying a respectable position but in fact coming under the general heading of "pornographic literature." The total emphasis is on flesh, with no value given to the dignity and spirit of man.

Life is more than "having a ball." Let's reevaluate!

We don't agree with opinions expressed by some readers. Many people have good intentions about outlawing smut but too little is being done too late. The bigger issue you make out of this, the more people are going to buy it for curiosity's sake. Forbidden fruit is always more attractive.

'Has School District Solved Problem?'

I am curious about the progress that has been made concerning the transportation problem for special education children in West Bloomfield Township.

Not Impressed

The Green Bay Press-Gazette

We would be more impressed with moon shot endeavors of the government if that government showed more ability in the elementary business of routing the mails expeditiously and reliably.

Sub Visit Opposed

The Japan Times

The demonstrations by leftist elements against the visit of the American nuclear submarine Seadragon appear to be animated by a desire to make political propaganda against the Government. The Japan Socialist Party, the Japan Communist Party, the General Council of Japan Trade Unions (Sohyo) and the Zengakuren student groups are mainly responsible.

★ ★ ★

The Japan Socialist Party has put forward the view that the nuclear-powered submarines could be equipped with nuclear weapons and their calls here would pave the way toward future visits by Polaris submarines actually equipped with nuclear missiles. Sohyo declared it opposed the visit of nuclear-powered submarines for reasons of "safety" and the fear that such submarines in Japanese waters would place Japan "under U.S. nuclear strategy," whatever that is supposed to mean.

★ ★ ★

Radioactivity tests at the ports of Yokosuka and Sasebo are being made before, and will be made again after, the visits of the American submarines. It is pointed out that nuclear-powered submarines of the Nautilus type have called at other ports in the world without causing either damage or danger.

Once again we see the difficulty of attempting to distinquish between nuclear armaments and so-called conventional ones. Nothing can be more certain than that nuclear power has come to stay, and that being so, it is hard to believe that it can be excluded from the realm of armaments.

★ ★ ★

The current political situation would seem to warrant some overhauling of American defenses in these waters in view of the Communist menace which some believe is increasing in this area. It is not an easy decision to take. Vice Admiral John T. Hayward said that Polaris missiles in the Pacific meant that Soviet Russia would step up antisubmarine measures.

★ ★ ★

The whole question of armaments and defense arrangements, whether in the Pacific area or elsewhere, bristles with difficulties. It certainly cannot be solved by street demonstrations inspired by pro-leftist leaders. It is apparent that a large proportion of the demonstrators at Sasebo were sent there from other parts of the country by leftist organizations, and it is quite clear that the movement against the Seadragon's visit was in the main animated by political motives and not from any genuine scientific doubts about the safety of the port area.

No Tax Increase!

The Holland Evening Sentinel

There was a time when taxpayers would find a tax reduction as the only reason for celebration. In this era of rapidly rising taxes however, Governor Romney's announcement that he will not ask for new or higher taxes is cause for great rejoicing. The present tax structure is adequate to finance Michigan government even though the next few years will see many millions added to expenditures. The reason for this is that high business activity and spending are resulting in huge increases in tax income, especially from sales taxes.

★

The Governor's announcement was especially welcome to those who thought that he might treat his landslide victory as a mandate to implement his own tax policy which includes the addition of a state income tax. If Romney is seeking solidarity among his constituency he will continue to soft pedal his demands for a state income tax because it is this demand which has so often been the cause of bitter divisiveness in Michigan politics. He would earn the heartfelt appreciation of millions of voters if he would now go on record as favoring a rigid program of living within the income produced by the present tax structure.

Canada in Process of Soul-Searching to Find Own Identity

(EDITOR'S NOTE — What is Canada? That is a question troubling the northern neighbor of the United States. In the search for an answer, Canadians are going through new soul-searching. The following first of five stories sets out the various crisis which Canada is experiencing.)

By MAX HARRELSON

OTTAWA (AP) — When you journey across Canada today, you find a country engrossed in self-examination. Its 19 million people are divided and disturbed over the future.

You find bitterness, name-calling, threats and sometimes violence. There are debates, seminars, editorials, floods of letters to newspapers and private discussions everywhere.

* * *

What is Canada? they ask. What does French-Canada want? Should Canada revise its constitution to give the provinces more authority? Should the traditional ties with the British crown be loosened, or broken?

Some of these problems are new. Others have worried Canadians, irritated them, and perplexed them over the years.

PROXIMITY TO U.S.

One, obviously, is Canada's proximity to the United States — a giant ten times as big in population, closely tied to Canada as an ally, deeply involved in the ownership of the country's industry and exporting U.S. culture in massive quantities to compete with Canada's own brand.

Canadians have a fierce national pride and they are trying hard to create distinctive national image. Many have genuine fears that both their independence and their national personality may be snuffed out by what is intended as a friendly hug.

* * *

There are others who look across the border with envy at the higher wages paid by U.S. industry and at the lower cost of luxury items, such as automobiles, refrigerators and television sets.

A major complaint heard these days is that the Americans don't understand Canada and that they take Canada for granted. In the words of one critic, ignorance of Canada in the United States is 99.44 per cent pure.

NEVER BETTER

Generally, however, Canadian-American relations have never been better. There has been a substantial improvement in the climate since the bitter anti-American attacks launched by former Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker in the 1962 political campaign. This improvement already had become apparent during the 1963 campaign.

Within Canada there are grave political divisions, caused by the bicultural nature of the country. As one analyst said, French-Canada has finally emerged into the 20th century and is demanding a new and enlarged role in government.

* * *

The separatist movement in Quebec, while not extensive, has resulted in an English backlash in some parts of Canada. This has been reflected to some extent in the parliamentary battle over a proposed new maple leaf flag to replace the red ensign of the British Merchant Marine, now used as Canada's flag.

But the flag issue and the question of Canada's relationship to the British crown are not simply disagreements between British and French Canadians.

WHY THE DEBT?

A writer, Frank Kelley, living in Edmonton, Alberta, wrote recently in Maclean's magazine:

"I think it's time someone asked the Anglophiles what it is, exactly, that Canada owes England and what, exactly, England did for us that should justify our allegiance to her flag."

A Quebec member of Parliament, Auguste Choquette, predicted that Canada will become a republic within 15 or 20 years.

"The monarchy has fallen into disuse in all countries," he said, "and if Canada can no longer invite the queen without provoking an uproar, it will come to this solution."

SHIFT OF POWER

This hardly seems likely, but there does appear to be a good chance that there will be a shift of power from the federal government in Ottawa to the 10 provincial governments.

One of the complicating factors in the political scene is the fact that the federal government is trying to resolve the country's constitutional crisis without a clear-cut majority in Parliament.

* * *

This is one of the reasons Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson is likely to call for a new national election next spring — after only two years in office. He and his advisers feel that conditions are right for a big Liberal victory, despite the dangers of holding an election while emotions are so inflamed.

For one thing, Canada is in the midst of a tremendous economic boom. New buildings are going up everywhere, new industries are opening, retail buying is setting records and unemployment is at the lowest level since 1956.

IMPORTANT THING

Douglas Fisher of the New Democrat party sees the next five to 10 years as a make-or-break period for Canada.

He said the country has reached the stage where it must have a showdown, regardless of how divisive it might be.

"It might be good to get questions out in the open," he said. "It's time we had a real torture period. It's inevitable."

In the midst of all the heat and thunder, some Canadians are able to see the lighter side.

AUTHENTIC TERMS

Peter Desbarats of the Montreal Star speculates on what will hold the public attention after the flag debate. "Don't forget," he said in a recent column, "we've still got the queen on all our money."

"Is there room for three maple leaves on a dime?" he asks. "Can one put a Union Jack in the corner of a quarter? Will there be a countercampaign to abandon American terminology and invent authentic Canadian terms? Instead of cents, nickels and dimes will we have leaves, beavers and geese? Dollards instead of dollars? Will the Ukrainians demand three-sided coins to reflect multicultural Canadians?"

Many Exiles From Cuba Are Also Refugees From Communists in China

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Many persons in Miami's exile colony of 100,000 might be called double refugees — first from China, then Cuba.

★ ★ ★

More than a thousand Chinese who fled to Cuba after Communists took over China 15 years ago packed up and moved a second time with the advent of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Red regime, says Ramon G. Chiong.

Chiong, 63, president of Cuba's Chinese colony for 12 years, came here with Chinese Embassy personnel in 1960 when Nationalist China and Communist Cuba severed relations.

TAKEN OVER

Chiong, whose Havana supermarket was taken over by the Castro regime, says more than 2,000 Chinese have left Cuba since 1959. There were 30,000 Chinese there, he says.

Those remaining in Cuba, Chiong says, sometimes run into difficulties that he attributed partly to a new Chinese Communist colony.

"Many Chinese — more than 30 — are in prisons in Cuba," he said in an interview. "Usually there is no charge, but they are known to be anti-Communists. Ninety-five per cent of the old Chinese colony in Cuba is anti-Communist. Besides those in prison, others have been sent to concentration camps.

"Many others must report to the Communist Chinese Embassy every week to be brainwashed. The idea is to try to make Communists out of them."

MAINTAINS CONTACT

Chiong said these reports came from Chinese in Cuba with whom he maintains contact.

"They would be happy if Castro would expel them from the country, for that would mean freedom," he continued. "There is no freedom in Cuba. And now there is no transportation out of Cuba."

CHINA TECHNICIANS

Chiong estimated the number of technicians from Red China in Cuba at between 700 and 800.

Some 800 Chinese refugees from Cuba have come to the United States, others have scattered to Latin America, Hong Kong, Spain and elsewhere, Chiong said. Some have made it to Formosa.

★ ★ ★

Chiong, here with his wife and two sons, had left his Canton home for Cuba in 1917. "We are going back to Cuba if the Communists fall there," he said.

Wife Goes on Trial in Dentist's Death

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — A dentist's wife goes on trial for murder today with the prosecution demanding she became the sixth woman in California history to get the death penalty.

Lucille Miller, 34, is accused of slaying her dentist husband Jordan, 39, last Oct. 8 by drugging him, then leaving him to be burned alive in their car three miles from their home.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Miller said the car caught fire after running off the road. She said she was unable to rescue her husband from the auto.

Area Farmers to Elect Men for Committee

Farmers in Oakland County will go to the polls Dec. 10 to pick community representatives on the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee (ASC).

The elected farmer-committeemen will serve for the next year as local administrators of national farm-action programs.

AREA NEWS

Robert Long, ASC county chairman, said, "These ASC committeemen have broad important program responsibilities, which makes it all the more urgent that representative farmers be elected to the job."

He urged all qualified voters to be sure to cast their ballots.

Each year, the chairman explained, such qualified voters—farmers who are taking part or eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs the committee administers — elect a community committee from their own number.

The chairman, vice chairman and regular member of this committee also serve respectively as delegate, alternate delegate and second alternate delegate to a county convention where the ASC county committee is elected.

UNDER PROGRAM

Programs administered by the committeemen include the Agriculture Conservation Program, acreage allotments, commodity loans, the feed grain program, voluntary wheat program, the National Wool Program and farm storage facility loans.

Other duties are assigned to the committees by the Secretary of Agriculture as the need arises.

In Oakland County eligible voters will cast ballots Dec. 10 for community committeemen at the following locations:

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP HALL — 8 p.m. — for Waterford, Pontiac, Avon, West Bloomfield, Bloomfield, Farmington and Southfield townships and Troy.

LYON TOWNSHIP HALL — 8 p.m. — Lyon and Novi townships.

Regional Director William S. Singley of the U.S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions pointed this out in issuing a reminder on the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Singley said that the law permits boys and girls 16 and 17 years old to work in any job except those which have been declared hazardous by the secretary of labor.

Even 14- and 15-year-olds may work in a variety of occupations in retail or food service establishments and in offices, with certain restrictions on their hours of work.

★ ★ ★

During weeks when school is in session, they may work no more than three hours a day or 18 hours a week, and only between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

During vacation weeks they may work as many as 8 hours a day and 40 a week.

Farmington Co-op Plan to Aid Hospital Trainees

FARMINGTON — The new cooperative training program sponsored by the Farmington school system soon will be producing scholarships for post-graduate hospital training.

The new Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Township, which plans to hire some 55 to 60 high school students on the co-op program, has proposed establishment of the scholarships.

Hospital staff members are to be released from their regular duties for the amount of time necessary to instruct the students. As in other extra educational programs in the district, the trainers will be paid by the school board.

The hospital will continue to pay the trainers their regular salaries and include in their duties the assignment of teaching the co-op students.

★ ★ ★

So the hospital has proposed that the salaries paid by the board of education be payable to the hospital but retained by the board until the end of the school year.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The money would be incorporated into a scholarship fund at the hospital.

The scholarships would be made available to Farmington graduates who enroll in formal courses such as nursing, dietary training and medical records training at Botsford General Hospital.

High school students participating in the co-op program carry a full academic load and work a minimum of 15 hours a week for a 38-week period.

★ ★ ★

Receiving a full course credit for their work, they are graded by their employers and are paid at the standard rate for part-time beginners.

Avondale Sets Gym Program

Plan Specific Classes for Elementary Pupils

The present informal physical education program in Avondale School District's elementary schools will soon give way to a carefully planned program.

Asst. Supt. Charles Johnson has announced that planning for a revised physical education program at the grade level is now under way.

He is being assisted by Joseph Shanabrook of the senior high school athletic department and Richard Bye, athletic director of the high school.

All Avondale elementary schools now have new multipurpose gymnasiums which will provide adequate space for the new program.

★ ★ ★

Shanabrook has been meeting with elementary teachers and principals to discuss a planned program.

PROGRAM GUIDE

A specific program guide for elementary children is in the works and will be put into effect in the near future.

Johnson also announced that curriculum study groups are working on certain other subjects on the secondary and elementary levels.

The elementary level study group is investigating reading, spelling, modern mathematics, TV teaching and field trip manual.

★ ★ ★

A second group is working on the junior and senior high school curriculum with attention focused on social studies, industrial arts, home economics and biology.

Former Japan Premier to Leave Cancer Center

TOKYO (UPI)—Former Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda is scheduled to leave Japan's national cancer center Dec. 5. Doctors said a tumor in his throat has "disappeared."

Ikeda's illness forced him to resign the premiership in October.

Oranges were introduced to America in 1493 by Christopher Columbus.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Neuritis May Be Caused by Poisoning

Q — Just what is neuritis? What causes it and what can be done for it?

★ ★ ★

A — Neuritis is a nerve inflammation that may be caused by lead, arsenic and other forms of poisoning.

BRANDSTADT

It may also be caused by various infections including diphtheria, leprosy, German measles, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and typhoid.

★ ★ ★

Some drugs have been known to cause it. If a motor nerve is involved, the chief symptom is weakness or paralysis.

If a sensory nerve is involved you would have pain or numbness. Your doctor must first determine the cause. That will determine what treatment is needed.

Q — My doctor says I have Morton's toe. Is it common? Will an operation help?

★ ★ ★

A—Morton's toe is the name given to a sharp pain in the third or fourth toe which is seen chiefly in women. It is caused by wearing high-heeled shoes that are too tight.

Early in the course of the disease you can get relief from the sudden severe pain by removing your shoe and working the muscles and joints of your foot.

★ ★ ★

At this stage the disease can be prevented from developing by switching to flat well-fitted shoes. An anterior arch support may also help but, when the condition becomes chronic, a small benign nerve tumor develops. At this stage the only relief is by surgical removal of the tumor. The operation is fairly simple.

Q—My doctor says I have a P.A.T. heart condition. He is giving me Vistaril and quinidine. What is this disease and what do these drugs do?

A — P.A.T. is short for paroxysmal auricular tachycardia, a condition characterized by attacks of fast heart action (between 150 and 250 beats a minute).

★ ★ ★

Vistaril is a brand of hydroxyzine pamoate, an antihistaminic especially recommended for persons with tachycardia, and quinidine has a direct slowing action on the heart. When taken under strict medical supervision there should be few, if any, side effects.

Q—What would cause small blisterlike bumps to form from time to time on my eyelids? They seem to contain a small amount of pus.

★ ★ ★

A—Small cysts of the eyelids are fairly common. They may contain pus or thick mucus. They are due to obstruction of the outlet of sweat glands or mucus glands and may irritate the cornea. They can usually be punctured or scraped off easily, after which drops should be placed in the eye.

Warren Killer Leaves $8,000

WARREN (AP) — An 81-year-old pioneer Warren resident was found beaten to death in his home Saturday, but his attacker overlooked $8,000 hidden in a closet under a pile of rugs.

Coroner B. J. Kogut said the victim, William Rewoldt, had been dead about 24 hours. The body was discovered by Rewoldt's son, Herman, 46, who lives next door.

★ ★ ★

Police said the house had been ransacked, but could not determine if anything was missing. The money was found in a cash box, said Inspector Gordon Tullock of Warren police. He theorized the murder weapon to be a pipe or some other blunt instrument.

Rewoldt originally settled on a farm in Warren Township, a Macomb County community northeast of Detroit. The since-subdivided farm now includes a large section of the City of Warren.

Gowns Will Be All Lengths for Frolic

A brocaded theater suit in shades of vivid orange sets off the brunette good looks of Mrs. Glenn Sanford, Hickory Grove Road. The silk overblouse is orange. Her shoes are gold.

An olive green and gold brocade short gown with tulip skirt is the choice of Mrs. John Benson, Berkshire Road. With it she will wear gold shoes and gloves.

High Fever Frolic chairman, Mrs. Edward F. Dalton, Francesca Drive, is gowned in black-on-black souffle crepe with boat neckline and pencil slim skirt. The dress buttons down the back in an asymmetrical line.

High Fever Frolic Plans in Final Stage

The Women's Auxiliary to the Pontiac General Hospital is making final plans this week for the first High Fever Frolic.

This dance to be held Friday from 9 p.m. at the Elks Temple is taking the place of the High Fever Follies, presented to Pontiac audiences for 10 years.

Playing for the dancers will be Carl Edson's Big Band Sound. Other entertainment will be presented. Breakfast will follow the dance.

Proceeds from the dance, says Mrs. Edward Dalton, chairman, will be used to buy hospital equipment.

The dance is open to the public and dress is optional. Some of the women active in the auxiliary have already decided what they will wear. Their choices run from formal ball gowns to theater suits.

Mrs. Louis Scarlotti, St. Jude Street, relaxes in a misty blue silk organdy dress over flowered taffeta. She chooses silver brocade shoes.

Mrs. Charles Eilender, Wenonah Drive intends to wear a short royal blue and black matelesse gown for the dance Friday night. She is chairman of the hospital gift shop volunteers.

Mrs. Don E. Redmond, Fortress Street, will dance in a short black crepe gown with satin midriff insert and an off-the-shoulder neckline.

Mrs. Edwin L. McNamara, Union Lake, models an emerald green taffeta strapless formal with draped skirt and floating back panel. The panel is lined in lighter green. Her shoes are emerald.

Mrs. Peter Hoogerhyde, Chippewa Road, uses her gray fox stole as trim on her cranberry crepe Empire gown. The dress has a floating back panel.

Confronts Paperboy

Dog Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a paperboy who has a terrible problem with dogs and I think I know why.

In all the books on how to train pets, people are advised to hit them with a rolled-up newspaper.

Dogs are smart and they know where the paper comes from. So guess who gets bitten?

ABBY

★ ★ ★

The customer a'ways says the dog is nice and never bites anybody, so he can't understand why the dog only bites the paperboy.

All the paperboys I know have the same trouble so I wish you would please answer this. Thank you.

BOB F.

DEAR BOB: Your theory may be correct, and could be helpful to those who are presently training pets.

★ ★ ★

But it won't save the paperboys from dogs that have already learned to hate the sight of a newspaper and consequently the one who delivers it.

★ ★ ★

Ask the owners of unfriendly dogs please to keep them tied up while you deliver the newspaper.

★ ★ ★

They'll appreciate it. The laws concerning vicious pets have "teeth" in them.

Plato's Ideas to Be Discussed

Waterford Great Books group will discuss Plato's "Symposium" Tuesday, 8 p.m. at the CAI building.

It's unwise to hang a damp coat in your coat closet. The dampness will spread and leave a musty odor. And the wet coat won't dry unless air is circulating around it.

Wearing gloves can become an art. If you can afford three pair of kid gloves, do buy the basic — black, bone and white, brown in fourth place. One pair of kid gloves will outwear three pair of cotton and they are always so proper and have the expensive well-groomed look. Many, many years ago, the gloved hand, when extended, was a form of genuine welcome. A lovely kid-gloved hand has a feeling of grand welcome. It marks of good taste.

Old Ornaments Can Reflect Bright Holiday

Here's how to remove years of dust and make your Christmas ornaments pretty and bright as new.

You'll need a box of facial tissues and a shallow pan of hot water.

★ ★ ★

Hold the dusty ornament over the steaming water, and immediately buff lightly and rapidly with a tissue.

Ornaments will shine like new, without danger of water damage.

★ ★ ★

After the holidays, dust each ornament and wrap it in tissue or a paper napkin.

Next year the ornaments will be shiny-bright and ready for the tree. The soft paper wrapping will absorb shock and prevent breakage.

Complexion Beauty

The secret of beautifying the complexion is said to lie in the saturation of the skin with a new type of tropical moist oil. The skin takes on an immediate healthy bloom as the tiny lines and blemishes are gently smoothed away. This saturation treatment with the moist oil of olay is recommended by beauty care consultants, who advise its daily use as a powder base to give the complexion day-long beauty. Your druggist will help you to obtain a little for your personal needs.

Barry Beat Himself—HST

Blames Speeches for Republican's Defeat

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman said yesterday that Barry Goldwater "beat himself with those terrible speeches about foreign and domestic policy."

★ ★ ★

Truman said the Republican party will have to go through a lot of soul - searching to rebuild after being on the downhill side of the 1964 election landslide.

The 80-year-old former chief executive was in Topeka to help dedicate a bank. The bang's president, Mrs. Georgia Neese Gray, was treasurer of the United States during Truman's administration.

Truman was greeted by a crowd of about 1,000 persons who turned out in 25-degree temperatures. He spoke briefly to the crowd, lingering about 10 minutes in the subfreezing temperatures before going inside for a news conference.

★ ★ ★

"I'm in favor of the two-party system but I don't want one party to get too strong . . . you can guess which party I mean," Truman said during a news conference.

RECOVERING

He said he had almost recovered from injuries he received in a fall at his home last month. Truman broke two ribs and received a cut above his eye when he slipped in the bathroom at his Independence, Mo., home.

Asked if recent presidents have more power, Truman said "there is exactly the same power in the presidency now as there was when George Washington held the office."

The United States has had only a half-dozen great presidents, Truman said, "and only two or three lazy ones."

And Writes Tight Story

Jumps at Mention of Tension

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON — We are having here this week an all-day conference on the subject "living with executive tensions."

WEST

I say "we" because I plan to participate as much as I can. I may not be an executive, but I have got a handsome matched set of ingrained tensions.

If you will give me a handicap of 20 on the diastolic blood pressure gauge, I'll match my tensions against the president of General Motors, U.S. Steel or any other corporation, Dollar-for-dollar and pound-for-pound, you won't find many executives any tenser than I.

In preparation for the conference, I have been looking over a booklet that was enclosed with the program. It bears the imprint of the Society for Advancement of Management, a cosponsor of the meeting, but I strongly suspect it was written by the other cosponsore, American Airlines.

The reason I suspect that is because the booklet includes a section which asserts that first class air travel "is one of the important ways that the businessman can help relieve the constant pressures of his job."

It explains that an executive who is forced by company policy to fly in the more economical coach seat "has a smaller measure of control over his tensions."

A TINY PLUG

Could it be that one of the cosponsors is trying to sneak a teany little old commercial into the proceedings?

The booklet also includes a bit of antitension advice from a 100-year-old man who was asked the secret of his long life. He explained that "when I work, I work easy. When I sit, I sit loose. When I worry, I sleep."

I couldn't help but compare that with the response I got when I put a similar question to my father on the occasion of his 80th birthday.

"Tell me, little daddy," I said, "how come you have lived so long?"

"How the hell do I know," he replied. "If I knew the answer to that, I would bottle the stuff and make a fortune."

I really can't blame my tensions on my father, however. The booklet pinpoints my trouble in a list of tension sources, one of them being:

"A job that doesn't fit. If a man is overqualified for a position, it's almost as tough on him as if he is bewildered by his duties."

★ ★ ★

That's me, all right. Overqualified. I really should be president of this company. And probably would be if I weren't bewildered so much of the time.

CHEERFUL NOTE

Anyway, the booklet does strike one cheerful note. It says that "some tensions are good."

"In fact, we need some tensions to stay alive," it says. "A jellyfish is completely relaxed but in no shape to dodge a speeding car."

Very true. On the other hand, a jelly-fish might point out that auto traffic on the ocean bottom is not exceedingly heavy.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

(Advertisement)

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Fear Missing Boat Captured by China

HONG KONG (AP) — A British Navy motorboat with an officer and eight sailors aboard was reported missing today in waters near Communist China. Officials feared the Chinese had captured it.

★ ★ ★

The group from the British aircraft carrier Bulwark was on a camping expedition to a nearby island. A helicopter, two small planes and a police launch were searching for the 32-foot boat.

The spokesman said no inquiries had been made to Peking.

Pullout by Moderate Rights Groups Ruptures United Front in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The united civil rights front in Mississippi has been ruptured.

The Council of Federated Organizations is no longer backed by its two biggest, richest, more moderate members.

★ ★ ★

Now counted out of COFO are the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people and the Rev. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the NAACP and SCLC were not available for comment.

MORE IMPATIENT

Remaining in COFO are the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and the Congress of Racial Equality.

SNCC and CORE, in the main, are made up of younger, more passionate, more impatient members. There have been several open policy conflicts involving these and the more cautious NAACP.

★ ★ ★

COFO altered after the rupture, shutting down its Jackson headquarters for a week, but reopened on a curtailed basis a few days ago.

David Dennis, assistant program director for COFO's Mississippi Project, called a news conference Sunday to deny reports that COFO will soon fade away.

COMPLETELY FALSE

"Absolutely and completely false," said Dennis.

The denial came after a New Orleans newspaper, the Times-Picayune, said COFO had fallen upon lean days financially and also had attracted "a group of radical, Marxist-leaning kids whom local Negro leaders will no longer tolerate."

★ ★ ★

Dennis said he expects more volunteers to join the movement next summer than during COFO's hectic summer program this year.

The Times-Picayune said the FBI had found that two of every seven volunteers who came into the project had references to the FBI's subversive list and some were well-known figures in the Communist party.

NOT AWARE

Dennis said he was "not aware of any people in COFO now who have a Communist background.

"We have had to send some people home, and some people were not allowed to come down because they could not adhere to our policies," he added.

Dennis said he knew of no one who had been shaken out of COFO because of questionable loyalty to the United States.

"I think if anyone comes down to help people to vote, and risks their life for this cause, they are loyal Americans," he said.

Hunter Morey, office manager at COFO headquarters here, said the shutdown was due to reorganization.

There are about 150 student volunteers now in Mississippi, said Dennis, along with some 200 staff workers paid by SNCC and CORE.

Robbers Stick Needles in Eye of Victim, 74

HAMTRAMCK (AP) — Two men who robbed 74-year-old Edward Choof of $2,000 at his home Saturday night stuck needles in his right eye in forcing him to give up the money, he told police.

Doctors at St. Francis Hospital said Choof may lose the sight in the eye.

But It's Not Over the Hump Yet

Alliance for Progress Is Beginning to Show Results

By JACK BRANNAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Alliance for Progress is three things:

● It is an idea, conceived in Latin America and given birth through the late President John F. Kennedy.

● It is a weapon, designed to show the continent its destiny rests on the principles of democratic freedom, not Castro-style communism.

● But primarily it is a cooperative economic and social development program, backed by the United States and calling for the Latin Americans to do the work.

First proposed by Kennedy in a speech on March 13, 1961, and created the following August at Punta del Este, Uruguay, the alliance began with a burst of enthusiasm. Then it sputtered.

It quickly became ensnared in governmental red tape. It was overly dependent on United States money. It was criticized from all sides.

★ ★ ★

"Alianza, si; progreso, no," said the skeptics.

★ ★ ★

The alliance almost died with Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas. He was, and is, its guiding spirit.

NEW LIFE

President Johnson tried to breath new life into the alliance. He reassured Latin Americans that Kennedy's ideals were his own ideals.

He promised to double U.S. efforts in the alliance and called on the Latin Americans to do the same.

He pulled Ambassador Thomas C. Mann from the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City and gave him three diplomatic hats — U.S. coordinator for the alliance, assistant secretary for inter-American affairs, and personal adviser to the President.

★ ★ ★

Johnson and Mann both encouraged the creation last March of an eight-man, multilateral Alliance coordinating committee. It is known by its spanish initials of CIAP.

MORE ACTION

"The time calls for more action, not more words," Johnson said in a speech last May 11 to ambassadors from the 19 participating Latin American nations.

The Latin Americans were skeptical, but they tried.

Then suddenly, the alliance began to show progress. During 1964, its goals began to move from the planning sheets to reality in the cities, the rural areas and in the governments themselves.

★ ★ ★

The CIAP said this month that 1964 was the best year ever, that chances for success as the alliance began its fourth year were "hopeful." Johnson and Mann heartily agreed.

NEW UNITY

"The year has been marked by a new unity of purpose in making the alliance not just a statement of goals but a reality," said Mann in a report to the President.

Mann, an admitted pragmatist, had figures to back up his statements. Among the physical accomplishments during the first three years of the alliance, he noted:

Construction of 222,600 houses, 23,400 classrooms, 1,056 water systems, and 544 mobile health units and hospitals; distribution of 6.8 million school books; provision of regular meals for 20.7 million people.

★ ★ ★

Three years ago, tax laws were ridiculed in Latin America and evasion was a national sport. This year, 12 governments reported substantially increased tax revenue after strengthening their laws and their collection and enforcement systems.

AGRARIAN REFORM

Eleven countries have launched agarian reform programs, calling for land redistribution, improved marketing, transportation facilities and credit, and a closer look at scientific farming.

Other nations are following their example.

This does not mean the alliance is over the hump and assured of success. Nor does it mean that all the Latin American countries have emerged from the economic and social jungle. Far from it.

★ ★ ★

Argentina, Brazil and Chile, three of the most influential countries of Latin America, face staggering short-term debts that either must be paid or refinanced next year. Political unrest stirs in Argentina, Bolivia, Colombia, Haiti and Panama. Inflation continues to plague many countries.

But the feeling is stronger than ever that the alliance goals Kennedy envisioned in 1961 — "To satisfy the basic needs of the American people for homes, work and land, health and schools" — will be attained.

Such progress does not come cheaply. Under the charter of Punta del Este, the alliance was formed as a 10-year program that would cost a total of $100 billion.

The Latin American nations were to provide 80 per cent of the financing, most of the work and all of the reform.

★ ★ ★

The United States promised to furnish $10 billion and any needed technical assistance.

OTHER $10 BILLION

The other $10 billion was to come from both U.S. and other free world private investment and from the international lending agencies.

The first three years of the Alliance have followed the schedule. A total of $28.9 billion has been spent. The Latin American governments furnished $23 billion, or 79 per cent. The U.S. government supplied $3.4 billion.

Approximately 85 per cent of it is in repayable loans and the remainder in grants. Private enterprise furnished almost $800 million. International lending agencies provided $1.7 billion.

★ ★ ★

Even more spending is scheduled for next year. The governments told the CIAP last month they will need $3.1 billion in external financing alone in 1965 to accomplish their goals planned for the year. The CIAP is confident they will find the money.

STILL WARN

Most officials connected with the allionce still warn against expecting too much too soon. In the words of Carlos Sanz de Santamaria of Colombia, chairman of the CIAP:

"The alliance is a promise made by the Latin American governments to their own people. The promise will not be fulfilled overnight. But now that progress is being made, we need patience as well as enthusiasm

Gold-Plated Spade Set for Start on JFK Center

Trojans Top Irish, Lose Bowl Bid

Victory Celebration Turns Sour for Southern California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California's Trojans closed the books on the 1964 football season Monday, both jubilant and sad.

Upsetting Notre Dame left them ecstatic—for three hours. Then they learned about losing the Rose Bowl bid.

★ ★ ★

In a game that goes down as one of the greatest in the long series with the Irish, the Trojans won out 20-17 Saturday in a spell-binding finish before 83,840 fans in Memorial Coliseum.

Notre Dame led 17-0 at the half and seemed headed for its 10th straight victory, its first perfect season in 15 years and possibly the national championship.

WINNING ATTACK

But hopes crumbled as Southern Cal mounted a winning attack with two minutes, 10 seconds remaining. A 40-yard thrust ended with the winning touchdown pass of 15 yards from Craig Fertig to Rod Sherman with only one minute, 33 seconds left.

Notre Dame journeyed the weary miles home Monday, still hoping they might hang on to the No. 1 spot and the national title when the Associated Press final poll is announced.

★ ★ ★

The Trojans were a wild outfit for a full hour in the dressing room after the game.

But two hours after the contest came the jolting news. The Athletic Association of Western Universities' directors had voted to send Oregon State to the big bowl game New Year's Day.

Oregon State finished its season the week before with an 8-2 over-all record, Southern Cal with 7-3, after both had tied for the conference title.

"It's one of the rankest injustices ever perpetrated in the field of inter-collegiate athletics," said an angry Jess Hill, USC athletic director.

'WORST OF ALL'

Fertig expressed the bitterness of his teammates with these words:

"This is the worst of all. We all thought that if we beat Notre Dame we'd go to the Rose Bowl. I can't understand how the conference directors could have voted the way they did."

Mayor Sam Yorty got into the act. He said Los Angeles will extend every courtesy to Oregon State, but argued that USC was the logical choice for the Rose Bowl.

"USC beat the nation's No. 1 team decisively," Yorty said. "It is incredible that they won't represent the West Coast in the Rose Bowl."

As far as the national title is concerned, Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian declared, "In my mind Notre Dame is still No. 1 and I'm mighty proud of my team."

Parseghian, who took over at Notre Dame this year, and rebuilt an outfit that had won only two games in 1963, has contended all along that the Notre Dame schedule was much tougher than that of Alabama, the No. 2 rated team as of last week.

Parseghian's point was that Alabama played mostly Southeastern opponents, while the Irish defeated Navy and Pitt of the East, the Big Ten's Wisconsin, Purdue, Michigan State and Iowa, and in the West UCLA and Stanford.

Notre Dame patrons recalled that the Irish won the national title on two occasions before, after losing the final game of the season. The first was to Southern Cal in 1938, the second to Great Lakes in the wartime season of 1943.

Quick Signings End Lions' Frustration

U. of Detroit Drops Football

DETROIT (AP) — The University of Detroit, where football has been a loser on the field and at the cash register, said today it is dropping the sport.

Over the past three seasons the football Titans have won six games, lost 21 and tied one. The school won three of its 10 games this year.

★ ★ ★

The Very Rev. Laurence V. Britt, S.J., president of the school, said the football program this year lost "well in excess of $65,000."

★ ★ ★

He said the University "does not currently have and does not foresee any prospects of its having the substantial funds that would be required to continue subsidizing football at even its present level."

★ ★ ★

Fr. Britt said average attendance at U-D football games had dropped from 12,989 in 1958 to 11,290 this year.

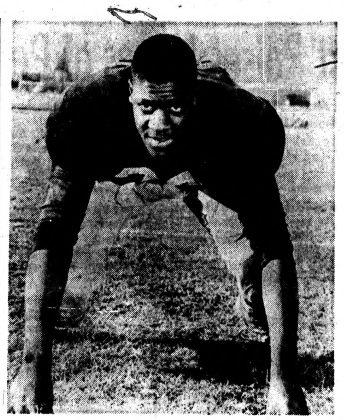
TOO COSTLY

He said the administration did not feel justified "in gambling substantial funds on a program that has become increasingly costly and whose total success would seem to depend on having only winning teams playing only top level opponents, preferably on days when the weather was fair."

In the years since 1896 when football first was put on the program at the U. of D., the Titans won 305 games, lost 200 and tied 25.

This season's team had a poor 3-7 mark and there had been talk that coach John Idzik would lose his job. Idzik's teams have won six, lost 21 and tied one in the three years he has been coaching.

Over the years, the Titans have turned out many outstanding football players. They include Lloyd Brazil, Ted Marchibroda, Larry Vargo, Jerry Gross and Andy Farkas, to name just a few.



SIGNS WITH LIONS — A man in demand, Jerry Rush of Michigan State, signed a contract with the Detroit Lions Saturday. The former Pontiac Central star tackle was drafted No. 1 by the Boston Patriots of the American Football League and on the second round of the National Football League. Rush, an All-Big 10 selection this season, stands 6-3, and weighs 245 pounds.

PCH Graduate Second Choice in NFL Draft

Indiana's Nowatzke, Joins Jerry Rush in Detroit Fold

The signing of Indiana fullback Tom Nowatzke and Michigan State tackle Jerry Rush yesterday ended a couple of years of frustration for the Detroit Lions in the annual National Football League draft.

★ ★ ★

Rush, the No. 2 choice, is former Pontiac Central star. He signed for a reported $20,000 a year and a $15,000 bonus. Nowatzke, the first pick, received $5,000 more in bonus than Rush, but the same yearly pact.

The 6-3, 245-pound Rush was named to the All-Big Ten offensive team this fall.

★ ★ ★

While at PCH he took a back seat to teammate Charley Brown who later played for MSU.

He didn't hit his stride in high school until his senior year. Rush was noted for being tough on defense and for having good movement for a big man.

BIG BIDDER

Detroit, a big money bidder under owner William Clay Ford grabbed Nowatzke, an All-America, from under the noses of the Boston Patriots.

★ ★ ★

Nowatzke was a top draft choice of bothe the National Football League's Lions and the Patriots of the rival American Football League.

★ ★ ★

The Lions, who have fared ill in past years in pro football's market place, beat the Patriots to the punch with the aid of a reportedly fat purse.

Russ Thomas, head of Lion personnel, said that figures for Rush and Nowatzke were too high. He declined to disclose the terms, however.

In any event, owner Ford, head coach George Wilson and Thomas said they were pleased with the weekend operations.

Lion draftees — yet to be signed — also included Tommy Myers, Northwestern quarterback, and Fred Biletnikoff, an end and back from Florida State.

Wings, Leafs Play to 1-1 Tie

Detroit Stays in First Place

Floyd Smith Scores for Motor City Unit

DETROIT (AP) —The leadership of the National Hockey League race is sure to remain in the hands of the surprising Detroit Red Wings for at least a little longer, thanks to Floyd Smith.

Getting one goal past their own former netminder Terry Sawchuk was just enough for the Red Wings to tie the Toronto Maple Leafs 1-1 Sunday night and preserve their one-point lead over the runner-up Leafs.

★ ★ ★

Olympia Stadium's largest crowd of the season, 14,508, saw the battle.

Sawchuk, beaten only twice in 12 games this year, was brilliant against his former teammates but Smith's goal at 8:37 of the first period for Detroit kept Terry and the Leafs in hand.

★ ★ ★

The Leafs, who tied the score on George Armstrong's goal in the second period, would have taken the league lead had they won.

The Red Wings and Leafs are now idle until they meet Boston and Montreal, respectively, Thursday night.

1,300th POINT

Gordie Howe, assisting Smith on the latter's goal, picked up the 1,300th point of his NHL career.

In other action Sunday night Boston beat Chicago 4-3 for the third straight time and Montreal climbed into third place over New York by trimming the Rangers 5-2. Montreal trails Detroit by two points.

Smith beat Sawchuk in climaxing a duel between the Toronto goalie and a power play drive by the Red Wings.

Going in together on the Toronto net were Smith, Howe and Norm Ullman.

★ ★ ★

Howe shot from the point and Sawchuk blocked it, then also blocked Smith's whack at his net. But Smith sent the rebound past Terry for his sixth goal of the year.

Armstrong connected for Toronto at 17:12 of the second period, poking in Eddie Shack's rebound.

Allen, Oliva Named Top Rookie Players

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

BOSTON (UPI) — Richie Allen of the Philadelphia Phillies, National League rookie of 1964, tried once to quit baseball.

★ ★ ★

The 22-year-old third baseman won the rookie title handily by capturing 18 of 20 first place ballots among the Baseball Writers' Association annual voting, the results of which were disclosed here.

Minnesota outfielder Tony Oliver was voted American League rookie of the year by an even greater margin.

Outfielders Jim Hart of San Francisco and Rico Carty of Milwaukee garnered the other two first place votes.

A "big bonus" baby, Allen appropriately was born and raised in Wampum, Pa.

Allen played in every Phillie game, leading the club in runs, hits, total bases, doubles and triples and is considered primarily responsible for getting Philadelphia into the National League's tight pennant race.

★ ★ ★

An outfielder, Oliva rolled up 19 of 20 first place votes. Wally Bunker, a Baltimore Orioles' pitcher, collected the other ballot.

TOP HITTER

Oliva, who led the American League with a .323 average the past season, is eligible for military service but his present status is "still up in the air."

Oliva edged Most Valuable Player Brooks Robinson of Baltimore by six points in the final listing of batting averages.

Having finished only his fourth year in organized baseball, Oliva also led the American League in scoring with 109 runs, total bases at 374, doubles at 43 and base hits at 217.

Oliva's given name is Pedro. He adopted his brother's first name when he used Tony's passport to enter this country three years ago.

He will be a guest of President Lyndon B. Johnson tomorrow at a luncheon honoring all 1964 United States Olympic gold medalists.

In announcing the luncheon, the President said he wished "to personally express to them the happiness of a proud and grateful nation."

Patriots' Star After 2 Grid Marks

By The Associated Press

Hawk-nosed Gino Cappelletti is pointing toward two American Football League records, making a strong bid for Most Valuable Player honors with his versatile talents and keeping the Boston Patriots in the Eastern Division title race.

Cappelletti, who triggered Boston's drive to overtake front-running Buffalo in the Eastern race, produced 10 points with two field goals Sunday and caught six passes for 88 yards as the Patriots won their fourth straight by whipping Houston 34-17.

★ ★ ★

Cappelletti's season-long efforts have given him a league-leading 142 points and 24 field goals. He is within five points of the AFL scoring record he established in 1961 and within three field goals of the mark set by Denver's Gene Mingo in 1962.

CLOSE TO BILLS

His latest efforts, combined with three touchdown passes by Babe Parilli, brought the Patriots record to 9-2-1 and kept them right behind the Bills, who won Thanksgiving Day for a 10-1 record. The Patriots have two games left, including one against Buffalo, while the Bills have three remaining.

In other games Sunday, Dalnard Paulson intercepted two passes and triggered the New York Jets to a 27-14 victory over Kansas City and Oakland and Denver played to a 20-20 tie.

The Oilers led 10-7 on Ode Burrell's 93-yard kickoff return and a George Blanda field goal before Parilli unwound his pitching arm. He fired a 26-yard touchdown pass to Larry Garron, Cappelletti kicked a field goal, and Parilli hit for two more — 80 yards to Art Graham and 20 to Jim Colclough.

Phillies Pick Up Punch by Getting Dick Stuart

HOUSTON (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies, getting more punch for their offense at the risk of getting punchier on defense, have acquired first baseman Dick Stuart from the Boston Red Sox for pitcher Dennis Bennett.

★ ★ ★

The Phils and Red Sox pulled the first inter-league trade of the year Sunday on the opening day of the winter baseball meetings. It was the only significant event in a day otherwise cluttered with rumors. Among them:

The Chicago White Sox offered outfielder Floyd Robinson and infielder Don Buford to the Minnesota Twins for outfielder Harmon Killebrew. The Twins said no.

—The Houston Colts were interested in Kansas City first baseman Jim Gentile and might be willing to give up pitcher Dick Farrell to get him.

—The Phillies, short on left-handed pitching and long on first basemen (they have five, counting Stuart), might do business with the Los Angeles Angels, who have an exceedingly expendable left-hander named Bo Belinsky.

—The Baltimore Orioles need a center fielder and would like to get Minnesota's Jimmie Hall, perhaps for infielder Jerry Adair and another player.

—The Twins might give the Cleveland Indians a left-handed pitcher for right-hander Ralph Terry, the ex-Yankee who had his best season under Johnny Sain, a pitching coach now with Minnesota.

In other action Sunday:

—The Milwaukee Braves acquired right-handed relief pitcher Dan Osinski from the Los Angeles Angels. This completed a recent transaction in which Angels got pitcher Ron Piche from the Braves. Osinksi was 3-3 last season.

The hospital said Caldwell died of head injuries. He suffered a fractured skull and head lacerations.

Defense Sharp in Browns' Win

By The Associated Press

Cleveland's scrambling defense has tied Jimmy Brown in the scoring column and has moved the Browns to within one game of playing Baltimore for the National Football League championship.

The defense scored three touchdowns in the first half Sunday, triggering Cleveland to a 38-24 victory over Philadelphia. A Cleveland triumph or a tie against St. Louis next Sunday would give the Browns their first Eastern Conference Crown since 1957.

Brown, the league's leading rusher, needed one touchdown to tie Don Hutson's NFL career record of 105 but failed to get it. That left him with eight for the season, the same number the defense now has tallied.

The Browns barely had finished their warmups when they had their first touchdown.

Philadelphia's Tim Brown bobbled the opening kickoff on his 14-yard line, and the ball bounced back into the end zone where Roger Shoals fell on it 18 seconds after the start of the game.

★ ★ ★

In the second quarter rookie Sid Williams burst through the Eagle line and blocked Sam Baker's punt at the two. He then fell on the ball in the end zone for Cleveland's second touchdown.

Within 33 seconds, Cleveland scored again as Jim Houston grabbed a King Hill pass and raced 42 yards for a touchdown.

In other games, St. Louis nipped Pittsburgh 21-20, Baltimore defeated San Francisco 14-3, Green Bay walloped Dallas 45-21, Minnesota whipped Los Angeles 34-13 and Washington dumped New York 36-21.

Cleveland's offensive unit didn't get the ball inside the Eagles' 20 until the second half. Then, Frank Ryan threw touchdown passes of 24 and 13 yards to Johnny Brewer. Philadelphia's Norm Snead also tossed two scoring aerials.

STREAK ENDS

St. Louis, trailing 20-7 in the fourth quarter, halted a 13-game losing streak in Pittsburgh, winning its first game there since 1948.

Pat Fischer climaxed the Cardinals' comeback by racing 49 yards with John Henry Johnson's fumble late in the period. Jim Bakken kicked the winning extra point. Shortly before, Charley Johnson hit Jackie Smith with a 42-yard scoring pass.

★ ★ ★

Baltimore, which clinched the western title last week, won its 11th straight game, and Lenny Moore tallied a touchdown in his 15th consecutive contest. Moore smashed across from the two after Lou Michaels had recovered John Brodie's fumble on the previous play.

Keg Champs Keep Titles in Invitational Tournament

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim St. John, a 34-year-old former Navy career man from Santa Clara, Calif., and Marion Ladewig, a 50-year-old grandmother from Grand Rapids, Mich., took different routes to the title room in Sunday's eighth annual $52,000 World's Invitational Bowling Tournament.

★ ★ ★

The two defending champions collected a major share of the purse with St. John, who left the Navy in 1957 to start bowling after nine years as a radioman, getting $7,500, while Mrs. Ladewig, who seems to be getting better with age, took home $4,000 for her third consecutive title and fifth in the eight-year history of the event.

St. John, who also led the qualifying although he was seeded into the finals, went on a scoring rampage on the first day of the finals. He shot his second 300 game in as many years and also rolled a four-game record of 1,035. He was never threatened as he finished more than 17 points ahead of Bob Strampe of Detroit. In third was Dave Soutar of Detroit, who had the meet's other 300 game.

FINAL SURGE

The women's division was a far different story with Marion taking the lead in the final day.

Mrs. Ladewig won three of three games from Jean Havlish of St. Paul Sunday afternoon to take the lead for the first time and then won two of her games from Bobbie Shaler of Chicago in the final position round to nail down first place. Miss Shaler finished second, just as she had in the 1963 All-Star to Marion, while Norma Lake of Dallas, a 34-year-old former fashion model, who led the qualifying, took down third place honors.

West's Scoring Helps LA Pad League Lead

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers, using the formidable formula of a big burst and Jerry West, have pulled out to their biggest lead of the National Basketball Association season, three full games over the rest of the pack in the Western Division.

West dropped in 14 of his 30 points in a 39-point Los Angeles burst in the third period Sunday that staked the Lakers to an easy 126-110 triumph over Baltimore.

That decision, along with the Philadelphia 76ers' 97-94 victory over St. Louis, dropped the Hawks three games off the pace. Cincinnati romped over New York 105-95 in the only other game played.

U. S. Star Ousted in Tennis Finale

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australia's Margaret Smith, lone-time tennis tormentor of Billy Jean Moffitt, defeated the limping American 6-4, 6-3 in the final of the New South Wales Singles Championship Sunday.

Miss Moffitt slowed noticeably toward the end of the match witnessed by 3,000 at White City. She said later she had pulled a muscle in her left leg during the doubles final the previous day.

In the men's finals, Australian Davis Cupper Fred Stolle defeated Wimbledon champion Roy Emerson 4-6, 6-3, 11-9, 6-8, 6-3, repeating another five set conquest of the same opponent recently in the Queensland championships.

Wall Sets New Mark in Taking Mexican Crown

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., shot a sizzling three-under-par 69 Sunday and won the Mexican National Open Golf Tournament with a record 276.

Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo shot a par 72 for a 281 total and second place. Third went to Don January of Dallas, who shot a one-over-par 73 for a 282 total.

Wall's performance topped the tourney record of 279 set by Al Balding of Canada in winning last year's tournament. Balding wound up well back in the pack this year.

Fans' Support Raises Hopes of Pontiac Cagers

"I thought the fans were very enthusiastic!"

This comment heard after Saturday night's first North American Basketball League game at Pontiac Northern High School accurately seemed to sum up the situation.

An estimated 1,400 fans encouraged the Pontiac Nationals to a 109-106 victory over the Chicago Bombers, and buoyed the hopes of pro basketball supporters in the eastern half of the state.

The contest was the first NABL game played east of Grand Rapids. The response was awaited by league and team officials.

The turnout, while the smallest of the still young season around the circuit, nonetheless gave hope that the style of play will be accepted by fans on this side of the state.

Former Adrian College standout Henry Hughes led the Nationals to their slim victory and a jump past the visitors into third place in the standings.

The other Saturday league game saw Grand Rapids defeat improving Muskegon, 116-108. The Nationals will visit Grand Rapids this Saturday and can take second with a triumph.

★ ★ ★

The lively play of Hughes caught the crowd's fancy, along with the alert playmaking and driving of guard Manny Jackson and the long-range shooting of Willie Merriweather.

BEST GAME

The 6-3, high-jumping Hughes canned 31 points and 16 rebounds in his best performance of the campaign. His 28-foot jump shot in the second quarter was Pontiac's only three-point field goal of the night.

Jackson, a 6-2 guard from Illinois, led all players with five assists, was strong on defense and added 17 points to the winners' total.

Ex-Purdue All-American Willie Merriweather hit for 22 points. He hit on 10 of 22 field goal attempts while Hughes scored on 12 of 19 from the floor.

Both took back seats to Chicago's Porter Merriweather, a cousin of the Pontiac star. The slender backliner was good on 14 of 28 attempts and this included five from 25 feet or better.

His three-point gunning became particularly devastating in the closing minutes as Chicago trimmed a nine-point lead by the home forces to one point.

The visiting Merriweather hit three and teammate Marv Torrence on from beyond the tape as the losers' final four field goals all counted three-points each.

★ ★ ★

The last one followed a clutch field goal by Willie Merriweather and cut the Nationals' lead to 107-106. The slender Pontiac player then canned two free throws to ice the verdict.

HIGH-PRANCING COLT — Baltimore Colt fullback Tony Lorick (33) makes spirited leap over fallen San Francisco lineman during first quarter run yesterady. Teammate Dan Sullivan (71) provides blocking behind runner while home team's Mike Lind (38) and Bob Poole (82) are in pursuit. Colts won, 14-3.

Williams Shot

Bullet KO's Contender

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Boxer Cleveland Williams lay in a hospital today critically wounded by a bullet, his hopes for a crack at the heavyweight title in January shattered.

★ ★ ★

The Big Cat, as he was known in the fight world, underwent nearly six hours of surgery Sunday morning for the removal of a .357 magnum bullet fired into his lower abdomen by a state highway patrolman.

★ ★ ★

Williams, the world's No. 2 heavyweight challenger, was shot by Patrolman Dale E. Witten, 36, who said Williams struck him and tried to flee after the fighter was arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

CHARGES FILED

Officers later filed charges of driving while intoxicated and aggravated assault on a peace officer against Williams.

Hugh Benbow, Williams manager and co-owner of his contract, said the injury would cost at least $1 million in lost earnings.

And Benbow, who described Witten's account of the incident as inconsistent with Williams' reputation of being friendly with all police officers, said he would demand a full investigation.

"Sure, Williams has an occasional drink or beer, but nothing more," Benbow said. "We are going to fight this thing and demand a complete investigation."

Viking Squad Third in Wrestling Opener

Walled Lake's Vikings opened the 1964-65 wrestling campaign Saturday at Ann Arbor, finishing third in a quadrangular meet.

Ann Arbor came out on top with 77 points, followed by Owosso (71), Walled Lake (49) and Trenton (42).

The Vikings lone individual winner was John Hellner, who picked up the 133-pound title.

Happy Army 11 Collects Rewards

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Barry Nickerson missed his chance Saturday. For the asking he could have owned West Point.

Nickerson, the 19-year-old sophomore from Miami, Fla., did what every Cadet dreams of accomplishing.

He scored the winning points in an Army-Navy football game.

And after the 11-8 Army victory was a matter of history, the big brass from Academy Superintendent James Lampert on down, dished out rewards.

Christmas leave starts 3½ days early, announced Lampert as the Cadet team, some rushing dripping wet from the shower to hear the boss speak, cheered in the dressing room.

Then, all punishment tours on the books as of last Saturday, were suspended. Everyone starts with a clean slate come Monday. This was Nickerson's big chance, but all he could think of was:

"I knew it was good the second my foot hit the ball."

Kicking the first winning field goal in an Army-Navy game in 30 years was all the reward the 200-pound end wanted. Slade Cutter, in 1934 at Franklin Field here, kicked a field goal out of the rain to give Navy a 3-0 victory.

The score was tied 8-8 with 9:30 to go in the final period when Nickerson, who had missed an earlier conversion attempt, banged home a 20-yard field goal. Navy never caught up.

Nickerson said he was down because of the muffed conversion, and line coach Bill Rowe told him, "Don't worry, Barry, you're going to kick a field goal and win the game."

"As my old basketball coach used to say," Dietzel told newsmen, "this is the bread and butter game."

Dietzel has been talking bravely in recent weeks about his long term contract and security at the Point. But he can read history. And West Point coaches who don't beat Navy don't last, long term or no long term contract.

The Army victory ended a string of five straight Navy successes, and prevented the Middies from evening the 65-year-old series. Army boosted its lead to 31 victories against 29 defeats. There have been five ties. It was Dietzel's first classic win after two defeats.

Assembly Opens Tuesday

Red Chinese Cloud Over U.N.

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The specter of Red China bulks big over the U.N. General Assembly opening Tuesday.

Communist China's new role as a nuclear power, the question of its right to China's seat in the assembly and to the Security Council veto, its threat of domination in Southeast Asia, its infiltration in Europe, Africa, the Middle East and Latin America — all these things will color the debates of the 115 nations almost from the opening through 15 weeks until the scheduled end March 5.

* * *

Nationalist China, with strong U.S. support, has managed to hold the China seat despite a mounting demand for Red China representation over the years.

Condemned for the part it played against U.N. forces in the Korean War, Red China has been thrust back year after year with the slogan that it must not be allowed to shoot its way into the United Nations.

ARMS CONTROL

This year it has a nuclear weapon, the device it exploded early this fall, and its supporters are saying no universal disarmament program can be effective unless the Chinese Communists are represented in the U.N. debates on disarmament and in the U.N.-sponsored Disarmament Committee of 18.

This argument has been added to the previous contention that a nation of 650 million or more — one-quarter of the world's population — must be heard in U.N. discussions.

* * *

Secretary-General U Thant has used those arguments. Britain has voted for Red China's seating. France this year recognized the Peking government and is expected to swing strongly in favor of a move by seven nations to make the seating question a major issue for debate in the full assembly.

Cambodia, Indonesia, Mali, Congo Brazzaville, Mali, Guinea and Albania are sparking the new drive to seat the Communists.

STILI CONFIDENT

The United States still voices confidence it can head off the drive, but U.N. diplomats feel this may be the last year the Chinese Reds can be stopped.

The assembly opens Tuesday with its present complement of 112 members on the customary note of silent prayer or meditation for one minute.

Sometime during the opening session it is expected a point of order will be raised to insure speedy admission of Malwai (formerly Nyasaland), Malta and Zambia (Formerly Northern Rhodesia) into membership, raising the membership total to 115.

Federal Rolls Show Civilian Job Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) —Federal civilian employment increased 8,954 in October to a total of 2,470,330, the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures reported today.

The largest increases during the month were in the Post Office Department, with a jump of 8,820, and the Commerce Department, with 1,685, the committee said.

The biggest decreases were in the Army, which cut its civilian payroll 1,733, and the Interior Department, with a 907 drop.

Battle Against Skepticism Conquered by New Science

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of five dispatches on extra-sensory perception by the national reporter of United Press International who recently made an extensive study of this intriguing new science which many refer to as a "sixth sense.")

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press International

One day Hubert Pearce, a divinity student at Duke University, defied odds of 298,023,223,876,953,125 to 1 and won.

A pile of 25 cards was placed face down on a table, and Pearce correctly identified every one of them and in the precise order in which they had been shuffled and stacked.

*

Skeptics who think those odds are ridiculously high are invited to try for themselves. But they had better be prepared to give up their jobs and devote the rest of their lives to guessing cards, doubtless they will die frustrated because they were unable to achieve in a lifetime what Pearce did in one flashing, inspired moment.

Pearce himself was never able to do it again, although for some time he scored beyond the law of averages.

But it was a day of triumph for Dr. J. B. Rhine of Duke and his long research into extrasensory perception.

* * *

That is a scientific term which we unscientific persons translate when we say somebody has a "sixth sense."

FIVE SENSES

All normal persons have five senses. We can speak, touch things, hear, taste and smell. But some persons — roughly about one out of every five of us — can perform feats that cannot be explained in terms of the conventional five senses. Like Pearce, they have extrasensory perception.

Some of their bewildering feats will be described later, but first warning signs must be hoisted.

Extrasensory perception is a comparatively new science and does not pretend to offer the answer to such questions, for instance, as whether there is proof of life after death.

* * *

We will be dealing with scientists who are not afraid to say "I don't know" when they cannot explain a phenomenon that develops during their experiments.

PART COMPANY

Here and now, we part company with fake mediums and vaudeville mind readers.

Few, if any, of the mind readers you see in the theater are using extrasensory perception as the lady sits blindfolded on the stage and her assistant moves through the audience asking her to identify objects.

They do it with a word code ("Madam, describe this object" means a wallet whereas "Describe this object, madam" means a bracelet). With intensive practice they can develop a technique that enables madam to read the numerals on your dollar bill.

* * *

Fake mediums who impose cruelly upon believers in the religion of spiritualism operate in dark rooms to a mumbo-jumbo ritual.

EVERY SAFEGUARD

Rhine's experiments with extrasensory perception are performed in sun-splashed rooms where every possible safeguard has been set up against fraud and collusion.

Extrasensory perception has climbed a rough road against skepticism.

For years most psychologists looked at Rhine with the sour expression of a doctor listening to a carnival spieler peddling patent medicine.

* * *

An eminent British scientist commented "I don't believe it now, and even if it turns out to be true I won't believe it."

INSULTING QUESTIONS

Rhine was subjected to insulting questions and virtually called a liar when he read a paper on extrasensory perception at a scientific convention in the early years of his experiments.

Today the study of extrasensory perception is accepted as a science almost everywhere in the world. It even has penetrated the Iron Curtain, and significant research has been done in Leningrad and Prague.

But some skepticism remains. Largely it is based on the contention that Pearce should have been able to identify 25 cards every hour on the hour. If the human mind can perform miraculous feats, it should be able to do it on schedule and on demand.

* * *

That criticism is impossible to answer because neither Rhine nor Pearce knows why there was success against odds so high as to be almost prohibitive.

Right now Rhine is pressing forward with a series of trial and error experiments in a patient search for the answer.

* * *

Critics want all-or-nothing results, yes-or-no answers.

For instance, one aspect of extrasensory perception is called precognition — the ability to project the mind into the future and make correct predictions.

There is strong laboratory evidence that this happens, but you can put aside the idea that extrasensory perception can make it possible for you to know what General Motors stock will be selling for a year from today.

* * *

What the critics want, and right now, is for Rhine to spread the entire future on a screen before their eyes.

SCIENTIFIC STANDPOINT

From a scientific standpoint this is roughly equivalent to a demand on the Wright brothers to build and operate a space capsule the day after their airplane soared off a North Carolina sand dune.

Another aspect of extrasensory perception is called retrocognition — the possibility that the mind can penetrate the past.

This inflames the imagination of historians and archeologists who want Rhine to get on with it quickly so they can march through Persia with Alexander the Great, have a last few words with Socrates as he drinks the poison imposed upon him by an ungrateful nation, and occupy a ringside seat as Achilles and Hector do battle at the walls of Troy.

* * *

Before such things can even be considered, the science of extrasensory perception must slowly grow to adulthood and be able to take giant strides. Right now it is a baby trying to learn to crawl.

Kansas has the most tornadoes—1,041 in 43 years. Texas is next with 959, followed by Oklahoma, Iowa, Nebraska, Arkansas and Missouri.

Child Anxious for Approval

Fear May Be Cause of School Failures

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.

Fear of failure can cause failure.

What a child fears seldom is obvious to an adult. Too often we think of fear as applying to fear of bodily harm, ridicule or punishment.

DR. NASON

Little Bud was failing in the fourth grade because of fear. On the surface his fear was unfounded completely. He had loving parents and was being genteelly reared. They were ready to cooperate with both time and money — a good, solid, middle-class American family.

Bud's teacher, although preoccupied with 37 youngsters, certainly held no threat of punishment for mistakes made in reading or arithmetic.

Bud's classmates elected him to represent them on the Student Council; on the playground he was sought after as a member of the team. Yet, with all this going in his favor, Bud was still failing in reading, writing and arithmetic; in fact, the failure had lasted so long that Bud "refused" to try.

What Bud needed was an opportunity to fail without the fear of disappointing his parents and his teachers.

The standards he had set for himself were actually his own and not those of either his parents or his teachers. For example, in writing he carefully "drew" each letter, with acceptable results.

WRITING PROCESS

His attention to the writing process under this circumstance was so complete that he frequently had to look back in the middle of a word to see what the next letter was. The result looked satisfactory, and his actual difficulty went unnoticed by his teacher and his parents.

Bud needed to start on a program of training his hands to write with more facility, even though at first his handwriting would show a definite setback in appearance. He was very willing to remedy his shortcoming only after he was convinced that the ultimate result would please his teacher and his parents, and that his immediate failure to produce acceptable handwriting would not bring disappointment to them.

His disability in reading was approached in the same manner. A teacher from another school took on the task of working privately with Bud. She let him practice reading in a situation where he could stumble on words without fear of exposure to others of his failure.

In an atmosphere where his fear of failure to perform perfectly had been removed, Bud made rapid progress.

When once they understood the source of Bud's block, both his parents and the teacher helped him realize that they did not expect him to be perfect — that small failures along the way are a part of everyone's life.

By OSWALD JACOBY

The final match of the World Bridge Olympiad between Italy and the United States was a humdinger with Italy finally winning. This hand from the match is among the 300 shown in the official handbook published by the American Contract Bridge League.

JACOBY

Italy took a foor International Match Point lead on board one. The next three boards were halved, but on board five a very unusual bid by Sam Stayman led to a nine IMP swing for the U.S. team which it took the lead.

Sam sat West and after Vic Mitchell had opened one diamond and South had doubled Sam elected to bid one heart with his collection of nothing.

Vic raised to three hearts—a contract that Sam would probably have made if allowed to play it, but the Italian South was not going to be shut out. He went to three spades.

North raised to four spades and Sam continued his tremendous action by doubling.

Then he opened the jack of diamonds. Vic cashed the ace and king and continued with the nine. South discarded a losing heart and still had to lose one trump and one club to be down two.

At the other table, Bobby Jordan who held the South cards for the United States simply overcalled with one spade and was allowed to play the hand there. There was slightly different defense, so he just made his contact, but his plus 80 added to plus 300 at the other table was worth nine IMPs.

You, South, hold: ♠ 3 ♥ A Q 10 5 ♦ A K 7 6 ♣ K Q J 4

What do you do now?

A—Bid five no-trump. Obviously there is something fishy about the spade opening. You are interested in seven.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner bids six hearts to show two kings. What do you do now?

New Mass Gets Mixed Reception

By The Associated Press

"I never knew until today the meaning of prayers I've been using ever since I was a little girl," said a St. Paul, Minn., woman after witnessing the use of English in a Roman Catholic Mass.

A middle-aged San Francisco woman, after going through the same experience, commented wryly: "This new Mass is like doing Shakespeare in modern English."

* * *

These were typical of the differing viewpoints expressed by some of the nation's 45 million Roman Catholics after attending masses Sunday in which English was used for the first time instead of Latin in about half the service.

* * *

A cross-country spot check brought mostly favorable reaction.

PEOPLE'S RESPONSES

Most of the English is prescribed for use in the people's responses to the chanting of the priests in the 17,500 parish churches spanning America.

The reforms were authorized by the Vatican's Ecumenical Council last Dec. 4.

* * *

"It's a terrific social act," said the Rev. Luke O'Connell of St. Anthony's Shrine, Boston. "The people are now able to see . . . what was hidden before."

The St. Paul woman, Helen Conrad, found the new Mass "very meaningful."

PREFERRED LATIN

The San Francisco woman, who declined to give her name, preferred the full Latin usage, saying, "I'm a converted Catholic and we feel strongly about the old things."

* * *

The changes — including in many churches the optional practice of having the priest face his congregation instead of having his back to them — marked in large measure the end of an era that began 400 years ago. It was then that the Council of Trent established basic norms for the Latin Mass that became outdated Sunday.

They didn't believe him. They should have.

The 15-year-old, his identity withheld by police, piled blankets from his bunk against a wooden cell door Saturday and applied a match.

The fire caused an estimated $15,000 to $20,000 damage to the Elk County Jail.

* * *

The youth and three other inmates were rescued. The boy was taken to the psychiatric ward of Elk County Hospital for Observation. The others were transferred to the Clearfield County Jail.

* * *

Blue Cross Disqualifies 5 Hospitals

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Hospital Service (Blue Cross) has disqualified five hospitals from participation in its prepaid plan.

Blue Cross said one important consideration was lack of adequate supervision of laboratories.

Boy Goes Fishing; Ends Up Hunting

MERKEL, Tex. (AP) — Not every one can go fishing and come home with a bird — but 11-year-old Charlie Ledbetter did just that.

He arrived at the West Texas Tank in time to see the fish departing in the bill of a long-legged gray bird, probably a blue heron.

The bird took off, trailing 50 to 75 feet of nylon fishing line. Since Charlie had borrowed the line without dad's permission, he began to trail also.

Darkness halted his search, but he found the bird the next day anchored to a bush with the fishing line entwined about it. He carried home his catch.

Storm on Italy Coast Puts Ship on Rocks

GENOA, Italy (AP) — Storms accompanied by lashing rain along the western coast of Italy left the 1,764-ton Italian freighter Maria Cosulich a derelict on the rocks off Genoa today.

The vessel's 20 crewmen were rescued by tugs last night from an artificial shoal between Genoa and the island of Elba. The Maria Cosulich was shoved against the barrier by heavy seas at the height of the storm.

LBJ Urged to Stand Firm by Detroiter

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson has been urged by Detroiter James Evangelista of the Catholic Laymen's League to take a "firm stand against Communism on all fronts" in view of atrocities in the Congo.

Evangelista said in a telegram to the President on the weekend that the atrocities were perpetrated by "Communism.

"Only those skilled in the act of self-deception or harboring sympathies for the Soviets will fail to attach direct responsibility for these unspeakable crimes where it most properly belongs — on the international criminals in the Kremlin and their allies in Peiping," Evangelista said.

Evangelista and the Catholic Laymen's League attracted attention earlier this year in a challenge of the position of the Detroit Roman Catholic Archdiocese in the controversy over open occupancy.

Treasury Official Quits for Private Business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Undersecretary of the Treasury Robert V. Roosa has resigned to return to private business.

★ ★

President Johnson announced the resignation during his news conference Saturday. He said Roosa "had agreed to stay on three years when he came to Washington and because of the situation in our government following the loss of President Kennedy, we asked him to stay on. He agreed to help us through this year."

FIRST PATIENT — Sheryl Freyer, 4, holds her doll, "Susie," after being the first patient to be registered in a new hospital in Livingston, N.J. With her is Registered Nurse B. Santos. Sheryl was among the 51 patients transferred from the century-old St. Barnabas Hospital in Newark in a convoy of ambulances to the new $14-million building.

Hollywood Set Has Funereal Hush

Slow Shooting Plagues 'Morituri' Filming

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The atmosphere of the set made the film seem aptly titled "Morituri," Latin for "we who are about to die."

THOMAS

Stage (at 20th Century-Fox) had that funereal hush that either indicates the director is a quiet, meticulous worker or the picture is in trouble. The latter seemed evident by the presence of a clot of production minds, headed by Producer Aaron Rosenberg, conferring gravely near one of the sets.

Speed seemed to be the problem with "Morituri," or rather, the lack of it.

★ ★ ★

If the set had problems, they seemed of little moment to co-star Yul Brynner. His dressing room had a sign over the door reading "Casino de Brynner," and he was seated with the back of his shiny head to the outside, playing poker with a trio of co-workers.

Near the stage entrance, leading lady Janet Margolin was sipping coffee from a paper cup and lamenting her lot.

TWO SCENES

"I started on the picture in September, and so far I've had two scenes," she remarked.

At the far end of Stage 8 was the long dressing-room trailer belonging to Marlon Brando. He was closeted within until an assistant raced to the various dressing rooms to notify the principals that a scene would be made shortly.

★ ★ ★

Brando emerged. He wore a tweed suit with an SS insignia. He plays a German who has been induced by the British to forestall the scuttling of a rubber-laden freighter captained by Brynner, an anti-Nazi but duty-minded German.

"How goes the picture?" I asked Brando unhesitatingly. He grimaced. "It's like pushing a prune pit with my nose from here to Cucamonga," he replied, "and here I find myself in Azusa."

FINISHED DATE

The finish date of the film keeps getting pushed back, he said. Now it's supposed to end Dec. 15, but Brando acknowledged he had no hopes of getting out of the trenches by Christmas.

★ ★ ★

Why the lengthy shooting? It appears to stem from the methods of Bernhard Wicki, noted German director who is making his first Hollywood film. He is methodical and painstaking in a manner which economy-minded studios no longer enjoy.

★ ★ ★

"But it isn't all his fault," said Brando. "We started without a finished script."

That recalls another Rosenberg-Brando venture titled "Mutiny on the Bounty," and the actor winced in remembrance. Never again, he vowed. All his future films will not commence before he has a completed script in his hand.

★ ★ ★

"Of course if this picture is good — and disinterested friends of mine say it will be — all the grief will be forgotten," said he. "Then everyone's home free. But when a picture is bad, all you can do is stick a lampshade on your head and stand real still and hope nobody notices you."

New 'Party Girl' Evidence Is Hinted in Baker Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — GOP members of the Senate Rules Committee dropped hints today of new evidence which could expand the Bobby Baker investigation when it opens again tomorrow.

There were indications that the new evidence involved the alleged use of "party girls" by government and industry officials in Washington — an angle the committee refused to explore in its previous investigation last July.

The committee's chief counsel, Lennox P. McLendon, admitted there was new material at hand.

He said it would have to be "carefully scrutinized" before the committee resumes its study of how Baker managed to parlay his $19,600-a-year salary as Senate Democratic secretary into a paper fortune estimated at about $2 million.

About 20 witnesses were scheduled to be called at the Rules Committee hearings, which investigators hoped to conclude by the end of the week.

ACCUSED MIDDLEMAN

The hearings were to center on a GOP charge that Baker acted as a middleman in handling $25,000 in political payoffs arising from construction of the $19-million District of Columbia stadium.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., first made the charge in a Senate speech last Sept. 1. Sen. Barry M. Goldwater used it repeatedly in his campaign attacks on "immorality" in the Johnson administration.

Williams contended that builder Matthew H. McCloskey, former ambassador to Ireland and contractor on the stadium job, overpaid $35,000 on a performance bond for the contract.

The Delaware Republican said Baker funneled $25,000 of the "kickback" to the Democratic campaign chest in cash, and the remaining $10,000 was distributed to others for services rendered.

A key figure in the alleged deal was Don B. Reynolds, a suburban Washington insurance agent who wrote the bond and later handed over the excess in cash to Baker.

Reynolds has never publicly testified about the issue. Williams said he based his charges on evidence supplied him by Reynolds. The insurance man was expected to be among the first witnesses to be called.

Williams has displayed a photostatic copy of a $109,206 McCloskey check payable to Reynolds for the bond. But so far, there have not been any records shown that Baker received any of the funds.

★ ★ ★

McLendon said that witnesses would include Reynolds, McCloskey, former House District Committee Clerk William McLeod, and Baker.

McLeod has conceded that he received a $1,500 payment from Reynolds for aid on the stadium authorization bill when it was pending in Congress.

Wirtz Will Meet With Railroads, 3 Unions Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz meets today with the railroads and three shop craft unions in talks aimed at averting a strike that could stop 90 per cent of the nation's rail traffic.

★ ★ ★

Unions involved in the talks are the International Association of Machinists, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and the Sheet Metal Workers International Association, all AFL-CIO.

★ ★ ★

A strike was called for last Monday but was postponed pending outcome of the mediation effort. The talks are centered on wage increases and improved holiday and vacation provisions.

About 70 man-hours of labor are required to produce a ton of tin plate.

FBI Says Crime Up 13 Pct. for 9 Months of 1964

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime in the United States increased 13 per cent in the first nine months of 1964 compared to the first nine months of last year, the FBI said today.

★ ★ ★

The increase ranged from 20 per cent in the South to 12 per cent in the North Central states. The Northeastern states reported a 14 per cent increase and the Western states 13 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Suburbs continued to register a sharp rise, with an increase of 20 per cent. The largest American cities showed a 6 per cent climb, cities with fewer than 10,000 inhabitants 22 per cent and rural areas 8 per cent.

AMA Holds Confab on Medicare

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP) — The American Medical Association meets today to try to cope with an old enemy, Medicare, and an old fear, possible federal entry into the doctor-patient relationship.

Three resolutions are reported pending before the AMA's legislative body, the House of Delegates, suggesting compromises in the problem of providing medical care for those who have difficulty paying for it.

★ ★ ★

The resolutions, being offered by delegations from Michigan, California and the District of Columbia, probably will be debated behind closed doors in committee sessions.

The meeting comes against a backdrop of observations that Medicare in some form has its best chance of passing the U.S. Congress this year.

PUSH EXPECTED

The Johnson administration is expected to push it. The attitude of the U.S. Senate has changed gradually in the past several years to a balance of strength favoring it.

The House of Representatives, changed by the November election, is still untested on the issue.

★ ★ ★

If the Medicare bill — to provide medical insurance for the elderly through Social Security — passes, it will mean the loss of a long fight for the AMA.

Officially, the AMA stand has been this:

"Personal medical care is primarily the responsibility of the individual. When he is unable to provide this care for himself, the responsibility should properly pass to his family, the community, the county, the state, and only when all these fail, to the federal government, and then only in conjunction with the other levels of government in the above order.

LOCAL LEVEL

"The determination of medical needs should be made by the physician and the determination of eligibility should be made at the local level with local administration and control. The principle of freedom of choice should be preserved."

World News Roundup

24 Trampled to Death

JALAPA, Mexico (AP) — A crowd of 5,000 stampeded while leaving a political rally in a stadium Sunday, killing 24 persons and injuring 33 others.

★ ★ ★

The crowd had gathered for a tribute to Gov. Fernando Lopez Arias of Veracruz State. A speaker invited the villagers and farmhands to escort the governor to his residence and take part in a dance festival there.

★ ★ ★

The crowd surged forward in excitement and jammed up at the gates, a woman stumbled at the main exit, others tripped over her and the crowd panicked.

"It was like a giant wave," one witness said. "People just kept on falling down and those coming behind were forced to trample them mercilessly."

★ ★ ★

LAMIA, Greece (AP) — A World War II land mine exploded at a bridge dedication Sunday, killing 13 persons and injuring 54 others.

★ ★ ★

Police said the mine, buried in the earth, probably was set off by the weight of thousands of people moving about the site of the new Georgopatomon Bridge, destroyed by British and Greek forces in 1942 to cut German supply lines. The new bridge was not damaged.

BRASILIA (AP) — By a vote of 192-140, Brazil's Chamber of Deputies has endorsed the federal government's military takeover in Goias State to stamp out an alleged Communist conspiracy.

★ ★ ★

President Humberto Castello Branco on Thursday imposed federal rule for two months in the interior state that surrounds the federal district of Brasilia. Gov. Mauro Borges was removed from office and more than 200 persons were arrested.

MANILA (AP) — Forty-nine people reportedly drowned and 47 were missing in the sinking of a motor launch in the Sulu Archipelago a month ago.

★ ★ ★

The Philippine News Service in a belated dispatch Sunday night said the Sitti Blukiya sank off Siasi Island Oct. 25. Sixty people were reportedly rescued.

Girl Leaps Into Ocean to Avoid Cuba Return

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban girl jumped from a Havana-bound cargo ship into the Atlantic Sunday "because I would have chosen death rather than return to Cuba." She was picked up almost immediately by the Coast Guard.

★ ★ ★

Frail, blonde Ana Olga Capestany, 19, said, "It was a spur-of-the-moment decision." She said she saw a Coast Guard cutter and decided to jump while help was nearby.

Explosion Hits Negroes' Home

Four in Family Escape Injury in Dixie Blast

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — An explosion ripped through the carport of an expensive Negro home early today, badly damaging it and two Cadillac automobiles. Four persons sleeping inside the house were not injured.

Police Chief E. P. Brown said the blast "had the appearance of dynamite." The area was virtually sealed off and officers waited until daylight to continue an investigation.

Brown said the home was that of Charles Spears, a manufacturing agent for several firms. Spears, his wife, and two children were inside the house.

Besides damaging the carport built partly beneath the home, the blast shattered windows in the red brick and wood home and in a nearby residence.

★ ★ ★

Spears had no known connections with civil rights movements, and Brown said no definite racial motive was found in the explosion in his initial investigation.

NEGRO SECTION

The house is at the end of a narrow Negro section that runs through white neighborhoods.

Homes owned by whites are located behind the Spears' residence and to one side of it. It is located within two blocks of the campus of Alabama State College, a Negro college.

Authorities said the house was expensive, more so than some of the residences owned by whites in the area.

★ ★ ★

Small groups of Negroes gathered in the area shortly after the blast which came a few minutes after midnight. Officers sent them home and set up police patrols in the area.

NEWSMEN BARRED

Newsmen were not allowed in the area, and traffic was ordered to keep moving on nearby streets.

★ ★ ★

It was the first such bombing in Montgomery since 1956 when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was here conducting a bus boycott that led to desegregation of city buses and pushed him to the forefront in the civil rights movement.

Rolls Over; ---and Over

MARSHALL (AP) — Authorities say lightning never strikes twice in the same place, but William J. Lance, 23, of rural Albion does.

Calhoun County Sheriff's deputies said last Nov. 13, Lance ran his car off Partello Road near Marshall. The car struck a telephone pole and rolled over. Deputies said they ticketed Lance for reckless driving.

★ ★ ★

Deputies said it happened all over again Saturday. This time, they said, Lance was driving his brother's car. He was again cited for reckless driving.

De Gaulle, U. S. Envoy Hold 'Routine Visit'

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle received U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen today for what U.S. sources described as a "routine contact."

U.S. sources said there was no special reason for Bohlen's visit although he is leaving Thursday for the United States on private business.

Pals 'Gore' Film Bigwig in Stag Dinner Tribute

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The big stag party that the Hollywood mob gave here for film tycoon Harold J. Mirisch goes down in the books as another one of our strange folk habits wherein a guy gets ribbed mercilessly because he's a huge success.

WILSON

If taxes don't get successful guys, their friends will.

Chief Executioner Milton Berle, "honored" Mirisch as Motion Picture Pioneer of the Year —but scoffed at the idea.

"A pioneer is supposed to be someone who leads," Berle said: "This guy couldn't find New Jersey if he was in the Holland Tunnel."

Edward G. Robinson in a taped speech said that Mirisch produced "adult pictures," adding that "I once asked him what adult meant and he said, 'That's anybody who's got a buck and a half.'"

Since it was a big stag dinner at the Americana (Carol Channing being the only woman allowed in even briefly), it was surprising to hear Samuel Goldwyn address the crowd as:

★ ★ ★

"Ladies and gentlemen and brother Friars . . ."

"Sam, this is not the Friars—it's the Lamb!" spoke up Berle. (Of course it was neither.)

"Poor Milton," sighed Goldwyn later, "I made a joke and he didn't get it."

Senator Pierre Salinger played the piano and Berle said, "If you'd learned to dance, too, you'd still be senator." Berle also suggested that Salinger play "California, Here I Come," and Salinger, with a real swifty, retorted, "Better make that 'Carry Me Back to Ole Virginy.'"

EARL'S PEARLS: Comic Al Bernie visited the huge new Verrazano span across N.Y. harbor and reports: "A lot of bridge has gone over that water."

Junior Editors Quiz on MONEY

QUESTION: What is the difference between a silver certificate and a Federal Reserve note?

ANSWER: Not all bills of a certain denomination are actually alike. Look at the two simplified drawings of $1 bills in our picture. Not only is the design different but the top one is labelled "silver certificate" and the one below "Federal Reserve note."

There is no difference in value; the main difference is in the way the bills are backed by the government. The silver certificate represents an equal value in actual silver which will be given to the bearer by the U. S. Treasury.

All the $2 bills now being issued are silver certificates. After 1945 and until November 1963, all $1 bills were backed by silver. When the Treasury needs extra silver for coins, it can replace $1 and $2 silver certificates by Federal Reserve notes, which is why we have $1 Federal Reserve notes in circulation now.

This last kind of bill is secured by notes, bonds, securities and gold certificates in the Federal Reserve banks and these are of wide circulation.

Another kind of bill in circulation is the United States note, backed by the Treasury and the credit of the government. It is a limited issue and so is not often seen. Other types of paper money, such as gold certificates, are no longer being issued.

FOR YOU TO DO: Tear out this article. See if someone in your family has a note marked United States note (with a red seal). When you get one, draw the design in the place we have left blank (3). This will help you learn more about our currency.

GI 106th Victim of Meningitis?

FORT ORD, Calif. (UPI) — A two-month suspension of recruit basic training went into effect at Fort Ord yesterday in an effort to combat the spread of spinal meningitis.

At the same time, however, the Army announced that another possible victim of the paralytic disease was under treatment at the post hospital. He would be the 106th such case this year at Fort Ord, where 15 of the victims died.

An Army spokesman said Pvt. Gerry W. Youngren, 18l of Stanwood, Wash., was hospitalized Friday with an "upper respiratory illness."

He said partial tests indicated yesterday that Youngren may be suffering from meningitis, but that the young soldier's condition was listed as good.

Polio Victim Dies

DECATUR (AP)—A partially paralyzed polio victim suffocated in an early Sunday fire at his parents' home four miles northwest of this Van Buren County community.

The body of Thomas Kluch, about 20, was found on a bedroom floor. The Kluch home is in Hamilton Township.

Fear for Whites in Congo Areas

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Fears mounted today for the safety of 500 to 1,000 whites still in rebel-held areas of the Congo. Belgian paratroopers who dropped from U.S. planes to rescue 1,700 were withdrawn yesterday.

Refugees said the Peking-backed rebels were intent on killing all whites to vent their anger over the paratroop action in Stanleyville and Paulis last week.

The confirmed death toll of white hostages stood at 85, including three American missionaries. Many were slaughtered only minutes before the Belgians arrived.

At least 500 and possibly as many as 1,000 whites are still in rebel areas. A group of several hundred is at Bunia in the north. Many missionaries and plantation managers are scattered singly in isolated communities.

Diplomatic sources in Leopoldville said the Belgian troops were supposed to make one more air drop but it was called off. The sources could not say why. However, the Belgian government had said at the outset it did not expect the operation to last longer than about three days.

★ ★ ★

ATTEND FUNERAL

About 300 whites and 1,000 Congolese attended the funeral Saturday at the Church of Christ in Karawa village, in Loubangui Province. His widow and two children were present. They are to leave for the United States within a few days.

Belgium rejected a Soviet charge of aggression as a "propaganda maneuver." Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said the paratroopers' withdrawal was evidence that Belgium had no desire to reconquer its former Congo territory.

The 600 troops who took part in the drops were to receive a royal welcome in Brussels Tuesday. One paratrooper died in combat and several were injured.

★ ★ ★

Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe arrived in Paris and said he planned to see President Charles de Gaulle of France Tuesday. Diplomats in Leopoldville said he planned to ask for French technical assistance. He was expected to go to New York

Craft Hitches Wagon to Star

Mariner 4 Locked on Right Course to Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Spacecraft Mariner 4 finally found its guiding star today, and scientists said it was using it to speed on toward an appointment with Mars.

★ ★ ★

Officials at Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena said that the second radio command sent to the craft today resulted in its finding Canopus — the bright orb it needs to hold it on course through a 7½-month, 325-million mile voyage.

A first command sent at 1:13 a.m. made the craft lock on an object which data later revealed was not Canopus, scientists reported.

The second command was sent at 2:57 a.m., starting the craft rolling over in space, scanning the heavens for Canopus. Three minutes later it locked on a star.

★ ★ ★

Scientists said the data it then radioed back was analyzed, proving it locked on Canopus and not some other star.

TWO SENSORS

They said two sensors are carried on the craft. When one of them is locked on Canopus, the other should be pointed toward earth.

They said information received from the earth sensor indicated that it was indeed pointing toward earth.

At the time Mariner locked on Canopus it was 359,850 miles from earth and was traveling at 7,400 miles an hour, scientists said.

★ ★ ★

The first try early yesterday failed.

FIXED ON STARS

Twice in the first day's search it fixed on stars it thought were Canopus. Each time it had hitched itself onto the wrong star.

Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, where Mariner was developed, said some such hit-and-miss searching was expected.

Mariner needs the fix to keep it flying through space without tumbling into positions where its radio equipment won't function properly.

★ ★ ★

It also needs the fix on Canopus for a crucial midcourse maneuver.

Plane Crashes in Stanleyville

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A chartered Belgian DC4 crashed on the runway of Stanleyville airport last night, killing the crew and all but seven of the refugees it was bringing to safety, reports to Leopoldville said.

A message reaching Leopoldville this morning said the plane "got fire on taking off." It was not clear whether this meant that the plane had been hit by rebel riflemen who still infest the region around the airport at Stanleyville.

An employe of the charter company, Belgian International Air Services, said the DC4 had a crew of three Belgians. There were conflicting reports that the plane was carrying between 30 and 40 passengers.

An investigating team was flying to Stanleyville this morning.

Most of the plane's passengers were reported to be Congolese refugees from the former rebel capital. One of the injured survivors was reported to be Belgian Col. V. Liegeois, a commander of the Congolese government's antirebel drive.

In the last few days, several planes have been unable to land in Stanleyville because of rebel ground fire.

★ ★ ★

Belgians who returned from Stanleyville last night said the region between the airport and the center of the city about two miles way was heavily infiltrated by rebel snipers.

After Demonstration

Asks Viet Public Support

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Tran Van Huong appealed last night for public support after paratroopers crushed another Buddhist demonstration against his month-old government.

Huong in a broadcast called on the people to help put down street demonstrations, which he said were inspired by the Communists.

He said his government would not permit Communist troublemakers to operate in Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Brig. Gen. Pham Van Dong, Saigon's military governor, charged in a communique that the Viet Cong definitely had been involved yesterday in the funeral procession for a Buddhist youth that turned into an antigovernment demonstration. Police arrested 89 persons and said one of them had Viet Cong connections.

The Buddhist hierarchy, who have vowed to bring down Huong's government, charged that the government's show of force amounted to "direct provocation against unified Buddhism."

About 1,500 armed paratroopers clashed with about 2,000 demonstrators who had gathered for the funeral procession of the Buddhist youth. The Buddhists claimed the youth, Le Van Ngoc, 15, was shot by troops who broke up an earlier antigovernment demonstration.

★ ★ ★

Fighting broke out after the demonstrators protested the seizure of a truck in the procession. The army said it carried knives, clubs and grenades. The vehicle's occupants were arrested.

REFUSED ORDERS

After the demonstrators refused to heed orders to disperse, the paratroopers arrived, swinging rifle butts. They fired two shots into the air, startling horses drawing the hearse.

The paratroopers beat some 50 mourners off the hearse, including the father of the dead youth, shoved the boy's family into the vehicle and escorted them to the cemetery.

Some of the demonstrators were bloodied but none was seriously injured. Young girls beat and clawed the soldiers, but the mob was swiftly dispersed after the paratroopers marched off with the hearse.

Hoover Said on Way Out as FBI Chief

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine said today that President Johnson has decided to replace J. Edgar Hoover as chief of the FBI.

★ ★ ★

George E. Reedy, presidential press secretary, said: "The President never heard of such a plan and never heard of such an idea."

A spokesmand said there would be no comment from the FBI.

The magazine said Hoover "has become a figure of controversy — not merely to long-time leftish critics but among old admirers who wonder whether he has forgotten the motto on his desk."

★ ★ ★

The motto, inscribed on a small brass plaque: "Two feet on the ground are worth one in the mouth."

PRESS CONFERENCE

Hoover held one of his rare news conferences Nov. 18, in which he told women reporters that civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is "the most notorious liar in the country."

He also denounced the Warren Commission for its criticism of the FBI's role in the events preceding President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

Newsweek said:

"One such disenchanted fan of Hoover's is Lyndon B. Johnson who had decided by last week that he must find a new chief of the FBI. It was a tough decision. . . .

★ ★ ★

"Even tougher perhaps is the task of finding a worthy replacement . . . someone as irreproachable as a respected judge, preferably a federal judge. The search is on."

EXECUTIVE ORDER

The magazine noted that Johnson signed an executive order last May in which, in "the public interest," he waived the compulsory retirement that would take effect on Hoover's 70th birthday next Jan. 1.

Holiday Traffic Fatal for 535

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's holiday death toll climbed quickly over the 500 mark in the final hours of the four-day Thanksgiving weekend and neared last year's record total of 543 deaths.

Driving on most of the country's roads and highways was endangered as rain and snow pelted the northern half of the continent yesterday.

Hazardous driving warnings were issued for many states by the Weather Bureau.

The pace of fatal accidents increased somewhat in the waning hours of the holiday, as weary motorists hurried to return to their homes.

The death toll was boosted by many multiple death accidents, including one in which eight persons were killed Thanksgiving Day in South Carolina.

The traffic death total since 6 p.m. local time Wednesday was 535. The 102-hour holiday ended at midnight yesterday.

Traffic deaths were reported at a quick pace Thanksgiving Day but the death rate appeared to be running about normal on Friday and Saturday. The surge of reported deaths picked up again early yesterday evening.

The National Safety Council statistics show the average daily traffic death total was 126 in the first nine months of 1964.

The council keeps records of the number of deaths on certain weekend holidays, but does not do so for the Thanksgiving weekend because, it says, the holiday period does not involve much extra driving.

For a comparative purpose, the Associated Press surveyed the number of deaths for a non-holiday weekend of 102 hours, Nov. 11 to Nov 15. A total of 468 traffic fatalities were reported.

2 Die, 1 Injured in Auto Crash

Two Oakland County men died yesterday morning in a head-on collision on Auburn road in Avon Township.

Dead are Gilbert R. Schoonover, 36, of 2759 Gerald, Avon Township, and Reed D. Quick, 20, of 3301 Auburn, Auburn Heights.

Listed in poor condition at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital is Billy R. Dragoo, 21, of Bend, Ore., a passenger in the Quick vehicle.

Sheriff's deputies said the collision occurred in the eastbound lane of Auburn near St. Clair, at about 12:15 a.m.

Witnesses, who were in a car following the westbound Quick vehicle, said a rear tire blew out, causing the car to cross over the center lane into the path of Schoonover's car.

WITNESSES

Witnesses told deputies that Quick's car was traveling between 45 and 50 miles per hour when the blowout occurred.

Deputies reported there were no skid marks found for either vehicle.

Hospital officials reported that Quick was killed instantly and Schoonover died about 90 minutes later.

In Good Health

Churchill Is 90 Today

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill climbed out of bed on his 90th birthday today, creaky of limb but sound of health.

"He's very well," said Sir Winston's doctor and long personal friend, Lord Moran, "and I can tell you something else — he still enjoys his daily cigar."

Lord Moran, who was 81 earlier this month, could have added that Britain's wartime leader still enjoys his daily brandy.

Sir Winston began his birthday celebration by leaving his bed shortly before noon. Assisted by a male nurse — for he is very feeble — he dressed slowly and went downstairs at his London home in Hyde Park Gate to be greeted by his secretaries, servants and plainclothes detectives.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, Lady Churchill, 79, Sir Winston's darling Clementine, greeted him with a birthday kiss and the light breakfast which her husband always enjoys with the newspapers.

MANY MESSAGES

After receiving the good wishes of his staff, Sir Winston faced the messages and gifts that poured in from all over the world. A message from Queen Elizabeth II, sent with a bouquet, was given to him first.

There were thousands more including messages from President Johnson and ex-Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman.

Britain's Post Office Department estimated Sir Winston would receive a minimum of 60,000 greetings before the end of the day.

★ ★ ★

Not all bore formal addresses. On the outside of one envelope was a painting of two human fingers — making the V for Victory sign beneath a small black hat.

DELIVERED IT

"We delivered it to his house," said a postman, "for whoever else in the world could it be meant for?"

A heavy cake with the words "Happy Birthday" in white lettering offset by gold satin ribbon, was wheeled into the Churchill residence this morning.

"What's Sir Winston doing?" a secretary said in response to a question from one of the reporters outside his home. "Why he's trying to spend the day quietly — looking forward to this evening."

That meant a birthday dinner with members of the family.

Rusk Confers With Gromyko in Crisis Talk

Luncheon Date May Be Turning Point in Finance Negotiations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had a luncheon date today which might — or might not — be the turning point in the crisis over financing the United Nations.

U.S. Diplomats guessed that Gromyko, in his first appearance here since the new regime took over in Moscow, would agree to financial discussions rather than force a showdown at the opening of the General Assembly's 1964 session tomorrow.

But suspense remained high for even with a "yes" from Gromyko, the precarious gentleman's agreement proposed by Secretary General U Thant could collapse because of objections by other U. S. members.

Immediately at issue is application of the U.N. Charter's Article 19, which says any member more than two years behind in its dues shall have no vote in the General Assembly.

★ ★ ★

Because the Russians have refused to pay for U.N. peacekeeping costs, they have now fallen more than two years in arrears. The United States says the United Nations will lose its basic constitutional and financial integrity if the rule is not applied.

THANT PROPOSAL

Thant proposed that the assembly, until its Christmas recess, confine itself to matters on which there is unanimous agreement. Thus there would be no roll-call votes on which the Soviet vote could be challenged.

5 Escapees Hunted in Michigan

GRAYLING (AP) — Authorities in Detroit and Saginaw were searching today for five of the six escaped convicts who kidnaped a Flint police detective and his 14-year-old son last night.

Detective Sgt. Eugene Christensen, 42, and his son, Neil, were released unharmed this morning after riding as hostages in their own station wagon 200 miles from Grayling to Detroit.

Christensen told Detroit police that two of the men left the car in Saginaw.

A third was captured in Detroit, where the other three were thought to be at large.

★ ★ ★

Police said they thought all the men were on foot, unarmed, and dressed in the garb of Jackson State Prison's Camp Lehman near here, from which they walked away yesterday.

SHOTGUN BLAST

Detroit police said one of the men may have been wounded today by a shotgun blast fired as he eluded a trap set for him at the home of a woman acquaintance on the city's near west side.

Christensen said four of the escapees broke into their trailer at the Hartwick Pines State Park near Grayling.

He and his son had been deer hunting in the area.

Police said the men did not take either of Christensen's two

Passed Secrets to Soviets

Spying on U.S. Easy for Jailed Swede

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Russians were tipped off in advance when President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent the Marines to Lebanon in 1958, largely through the efforts of a Swedish spy.

The spy, retired Swedish Air Force Col. Stig E. C. Wennerstroem, apparently gleaned the information from a high U.S. Air Force officer with whom he was friendly.

This was disclosed yesterday when the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee made public portions of hitherto secret testimony by Wennerstroem.

Wennerstroem, 57, was sentenced in Sweden last June to life imprisonment after it was discovered he had spied for the Soviet Union since 1948 — even against his own country.

Much of the testimony, taken by the Swedish Federal Police Agency, was censored.

But the 166 pages of it translated for the Senate subcommittee showed that he had remarkably little difficulty in obtaining U.S. secrets during his five-year service in Washington as Swedish air attache (from April 1952, to May 1957) and later when he returned to Sweden.

CLOSE FRIEND

In the case of the Lebanon landing, Wennerstroem said one of his close friends was "the chief of American air forces in Germany." He said he and his wife spent Christmas with the American officer's family at Wiesbaden, West Germany, but the visit was interrupted when the U.S. general had to make a hurried visit to Turkey.

Wennerstroem said he informed Moscow of the trip and discovered that the visit was for the purpose of reconnoitering airfields for American paratroopers.

The spy told the Swedish police that spying in the United States was so easy he once slipped U.S. secrets to a Russian agent at a meeting in the Pentagon.

★ ★ ★

His method of checking a rumored "surprise" U.S. action for Moscow was just as easy: He simply drove to the Pentagon to find out if the generals were engaged in any kind of "hectic activity." They were doing business as usual, so he informed Moscow that no surprise was in the offing.

SYMPATHIES CHANGE

Wennerstroem had collaborated with the Nazis for a short time early in World War II, and had considered himself for a time to be an agent for U.S. intelligence. But his sympathies changed.

"My sympathies for the efforts of the one side and the other shifted so that after a certain time I considered myself instead as firmly engaged in the Soviet intelligence system and as an undercover (Russian) agent in the American," he said.

"The occasion for the shift in sympathies was that it became quite clear in my mind that the Soviet intelligence service was purely defensively oriented, while the American one was offensively oriented," he said.

★ ★ ★

Wennerstroem testified that his assignment in the United States consisted principally of reporting to Moscow technical development of U. S. aircraft, rockets, robots, bombsights, radar, cameras and "the electronic microinstruments."

BIG ROCKETS

The Russians, he said, had decided in 1949 and 1950 to "stake everything" on development of enormous rockets that could bring the United States within rocket range.

To do this they had to delay other military developments.

Wennerstroem was to keep them up to date on U.S. progress in this field "so that by means of espionage they could get hold of what they were not capable of inventing and discovering themselves in the Soviet Union."

He had little trouble doing so, he said.

★ ★ ★

"The possibilities of obtaining publications in this special field which was of interest to me were almost fantastic," he testified.

BIGGEST SUCCESSES

As Swedish air attache he was able to visit U.S. military installations all over the country, but he found his biggest successes at U.S. industrial plants where he represented himself as a potential buyer for Sweden.

He also was getting an average of about $750 a month from the Soviets in addition to his regular $1,500-per-month salary from Sweden and found it easy to bribe contacts.

2 Defectors Linked With Soviet Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two European-born U.S. soldiers who defected to the Soviet Union more than four years ago were disclosed today to have had prior connections with the Soviet secret police.

The two, both World War II displaced persons, were stationed in West Germany with U.S. Army units when they crossed over to the Russians separately in the summer of 1960. Their defection and identities were disclosed then, but not their prior connection with the Soviet secret police.

★ ★ ★

One was Vladimir Sloboda, a native of the Ukraine, who is now 37. The other was Joseph Dutkanicz, a native of Poland who died a year ago today at the age of 37.

Their defection was mentioned two months ago in the Warren Commission's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

DEFECTION PROCEDURES

In discussing Soviet defection procedures — Lee Harvey Oswald, Kennedy's assassin, defected to the Soviet Union after leaving the U.S. Marine Corps — the commission report quoted the Central Intelligence Agency:

"Two defectors from U.S. Army intelligence units in West Germany appeared to have been given citizenship immediately, but both had prior KGB (Russian secret police) connections and fled as a result of Army security checks."

The CIA did not identify the two defectors in the Warren report.

The Associated Press asked the Army for their names and records. Now, two months later, the Army — after consulting with the CIA — reports the defectors referred to by the CIA and the two who crossed over in the summer of 1960 are the same.

CIA RELUCTANT

There were indications the CIA was reluctant to elaborate on the Warren Commission reference.

Sloboda has made broadcasts denouncing the United States and "has also written articles for the Soviet press which follow the Soviet propaganda line," the Army said. He now lives in Lvov, a former Polish city now part of the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

Dutkanicz worked in a television factory before he died in Lvov, the Army said.

After their defection, the Russians quoted Sloboda and Dutkanicz as saying they acted partly out of revulsion against U2 plane flights over the Soviet Union. This was shortly after Francis Gary Powers was shot down over the Soviet Union while on a U2 flight.

NO DETAILS

The Army supplied no details on how, where or when the two men had had connections with the Soviet secret police.

Its summary, furnished to the Associated Press, said Sloboda was born in Podkamien in the Ukraine and during World War II was sent to Germany as a forced laborer. After the war, he spent time in a displaced persons camp in Germany, emigrated to England, and then returned to Germany where he enlisted in the U.S. Army in 1953.

★ ★ ★

After basic training in the United States, Sloboda was assigned in August 1958 to an Army military intelligence group in Europe. Two years later he defected.

The Army summary said Dutkanicz was a native of Gorlice Bartne in Poland, entered the United States in December 1946 and was inducted into the Army in February 1957.

NEARLY 6 YEARS

After nearly six years of service in the United States, Dutkanicz was sent to Germany in 1957. Although the CIA spoke of both defectors as having served with intelligence units, the Army summary said Dutkanicz belonged to a signal battalion at Darmstadt before defecting in July 1960.

MASSIVE PROTEST — Some 700,000 demonstrated in Peking yesterday against "U.S. and Belgian armed aggression against the Congo," according to the official New China News Agency. Sign in the foreground reads, "U.S. Imperialism, Get Out of Africa!"

State Toll on Roads 26 for Holiday

By The Associated Press

A former Army football team captain and an elderly Upper Peninsula couple were among the 26 persons who died in Michigan traffic accidents over the Thanksgiving holiday period.

The Associated Press tabulation of fatalities began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Although the state counted 23 victims, state police said Michigan went for 18 hours and 10 minutes, from early Saturday until shortly after noon Sunday, without recording a traffic fatality.

VICTIM LIST

The victims included:

Capt. Joseph G. Caldwell, 27, of Miami, Fla., captain of the 1958 Army team, died Sunday of injuries suffered Friday in a two-car collision in Lansing.

Capt. Caldwell and his wife, Genevieve, 26, had been visiting friends in Michigan. Caldwell, a West Point graduate who was on active duty, had been studying at the University of Illinois.

Max Radtke, 70, and his wife, Ada, 66, of Sault Ste. Marie, were killed Sunday when their car collided head-on with another auto on snow-slick M28 about 10 miles east of Newberry in the Upper Peninsula.

O. B. Zimmerson, 22, of Holland; Alfanso Luna, 22, of Grand Haven, and Jerry Ross Wood, 26, of East Saugatuck, were killed Sunday when their car failed to negotiate a sharp curve on a rural road 10 miles south of Holland and struck a tree.

WOMAN KILLED

Dorothy L. Furman, 31, of Mount Pleasant, was killed Sunday when her car ran off North Mission Road near Mount Pleasant and struck a tree.

Richard Lee Tumey, 26, of Michigan Center, was killed Saturday when his wrecker truck went out of control and overturned on I-94 near the Stevensville interchange, south of St. Joseph.

Mrs. Katherine Massie, 21, of Detroit, died late Sunday when an auto driven by her husband, David, 25, was involved in a two-car head-on crash in Warren.

Roseville Man Killed

ROSEVILLE (AP) — Raul Sepulveda, 22, of Roseville, was killed today when police said, his auto struck two trees, a fence and a brick house.

Peking Protest in Second Day

TOKYO (AP) — Massive demonstrations protesting U.S. and Belgian intervention in the Congo continued today for the second day in Peking.

Peking's New China News Agency said hundreds of thousands of Chinese — many from neighboring cities — converged on the capital city for parades and a rally in the Square of Heavenly Peace.

"Roars of 'Down with U.S. imperialism!' 'Firm support to the Congolese people's just, patriotic struggle!' thundered all over the city," the agency said in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo.

Sunday, 700,000 persons, including officials of foreign governments, attended a rally in the square and heard Communist Chinese Chairman Mao Tze-tung denounce the United States and Belgium.

DEMONSTRATION

Describing Monday's demonstration, the agency said:

"The demonstrators, carrying Red banners and cartoons, shook their clenched fists and shouted slogans condemning the U.S.-Belgian imperialists. Huge slogans denouncing the U.S.-Belgian imperialists and supporting the Congolese people have been erected on the streets and hung from tall buildings along the main thoroughfare."

Peking's Ta Kung Pao published an editorial reiterating Mao's support for the Congolese and describing the United States as "the common enemy of the people of the world."

★ ★ ★

"In word and in deed, President Johnson has provided the people of the Congo, Africa and the world with a good lesson by negative example, enabling them to see more clearly that U.S. imperialism is ferocious but cowardly," the paper said.

RESOLUTION

Tshombe rejected a resolution by the Congo committee of the Organization of African Unity calling for an immediate end to foreign military intervention in the Congo.

"There is not a country in Africa that does not have foreign officers," said Tshombe. "We are an independent country, and this question should not interest outsiders."

He also accused the Arab states of Africa with wanting "to perpetuate a state of anarchy in the Congo from which they can profit."

Communist China staged a massive anti-American demonstration by 700,000 in Peking yesterday, pledging support for the Congolese rebels, the New China News Agency reported. Party chairman Mao Tze-tung and Premier Chou En-lai attended.

BURN LIBRARY

In Cairo, where students burned the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library on Thanksgiving Day, the government imposed a news blackout on its apology to the United States.

Whereabouts of the rebel leader, Christophe Gbenye, and his lieutenants were unknown. The Middle East News Agency reported in Cairo Saturday that they had entered the south Sudan, north of the Congo. Sudanese officials denied this.

'GO STRAIGHT'

Neil said just before he and his father were released, one of the fugitives told him:

"Boy, let this be a lesson to you. Be sure to go straight."

One of the escapees, Leonard A Rosel, 35, of Dearborn, was recaptured less than hour after the hostages were released.

★ ★ ★

Rosel, who Christensen said drove the car, was serving a sentence for breaking and entering.

Authorities identified the others as: Samuel E. Peeler, 21, Flint, convicted of breaking and entering; Michale Panko, 23, Saginaw, breaking and entering; Willy Burkess, 22, Detroit, larceny; La French Hopson, 24, Grand Rapids, assault and robbery; and Felix Peliter, 24, Grand Rapids, breaking and entering.

Cabby Tells Role in Ex-Convict's Capture

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A Madison cabdriver explained Sunday his part in the capture of a Detroit ex-convict who has been on the FBI's list of Ten Most Wanted Men since his escape from a Detroit courtroom last July 27.

Held by Wisconsin authorities pending extradition to Michigan is Raymond Lawrence Wyngaard, 27. Arrested with Wyngaard Saturday was Judy Ann Bockius, 21, of Detroit, his platinum blonde girlfriend.

★ ★ ★

The cabdriver, Don Green, 28, picked up the couple after Miss Bockius arrived in Madison by train from Chicago early Saturday.

"When the blonde started for my car, I knew I was it," said Greene, explained how the FBI set the trap in cooperation with several cabdrivers working around the railroad depot.

"He (Wyngaard) asked me to take him to a cafe, but I knew it was closed," said Green. "In a coded message to my office I told them where I was going."

Green said FBI agents in unmarked cars followed his cab.

★ ★ ★

"We pulled up to the cafe and before I knew it they were dragging him out of the car," Green said.

Wyngaard, who told agents he had been in Madison about three days under the name of Fred Rodgers, was unarmed and offered no resistance. Agents said Wyngaard shaved off his mustache, altered his hairline and had taken classes in a vocational school while a fugitive.

FEDERAL WARRANT

Charged in a federal warrant with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for armed robbery in Detroit, Wyngaard was held in lieu of $15,000 bond set Saturday by U.S. Commissioner John R. Adams in Madison. He is expected to be extradited to Michigan for trial on the armed robbery charge.

Miss Bockius, held under $1,500 bond pending formal arraignment later this week, is charged in a federal warrant with harboring a fugitive.

★ ★ ★

Agents said they found a 32-caliber pistol which, they said, Wyngaard admitted was stolen last July 25 from a Detroit gun shop, and later used in the wounding of a Detroit policeman.

★ ★ ★

Wyngaard and Carl Pritchard 32, of Dearborn fled as they were being taken to Detroit Recorder's Court for arraignment last July. They later robbed a supermarket and led police on a two-day chase through Detroit's northwest suburbs. Pritchard surrendered July 27.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said Wyngaard has served four prison terms totaling 8½ years in Michigan and Wisconsin for burglary and armed robbery.

Birmingham Area News

Commission to Explore Issue of Renewal Aid

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission tonight will be asked to find out if the southwest portion of the city could qualify for federal conservation funds.

The planning board has recommended this be one of the avenues explored for aid in improving the area bounded by Lincoln, Grant, 14 Mile and Woodward.

The neighborhood has been described the "most seriously obsolete" in the city by planning consultants at Vilican-Leman and Associates, Southfield.

Report of the firm was made last month along with suggestions on improving the area. Planners have stressed the conservation theme.

★ ★ ★

City Planning Director William Brownfield noted that, while conservation is part of urban renewal, it has nothing to do with slum clearance.

PRELIMINARY STUDY

The planning board has recommended that the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency be contacted for preliminary investigation of the problem.

A field representative of the agency could determine whether the area would qualify under provisions of the Federal Housing Act of 1954.

"This would not be an application," Brownfield said. "It would only be done to see if there are enough problems in the area to warrant the federal government's spending money here."

TO SPEAK

The representative also would speak to city officials to make certain they understood ramifications of the program; Brownfield said.

If the city did qualify and if it were approved, it could receive 75 per cent of the cost of a conservation program from the federal government, Brownfield said.

Such a program would be aimed at rehabilitating and preserving existing buildings before they had to be removed.

★ ★ ★

A conservation undertaking here would be relatively small and inexpensive, according to the planning director.

The final program would require a detailed study of each of the some 500 homes in the area, he said.

Key Meeting on U.N. Fund

Meanwhile, negotiations could be held in an effort to resolve the financial deadlock.

Diplomatic sources said France might scuttle the deal. France falls more than two years behind in her dues next year because she has refused to pay her share of the Congo peace-keeping operation.

There was speculation that she would try to force the issue now so that the first fight would come over the Soviet delinquency rather than hers.

★ ★ ★

Sources said Albania also might object because of her close alliance with Red China; Peking seems only too happy to make trouble for both the Soviet Union and the United States.

UNDERLINED STRESS

Rusk and chief U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson underlined the U.S. stress on the money issue last night as Rusk arrived from Washington.

Rusk said the United Nations now faces "constitutional questions which go to the very heart of the organization." Stevenson termed the forthcoming session "critical."

Gromyko said upon his arrival at Kennedy Airport that the Soviets want "to defend peace, to defend the rights of the peoples of independent development, and to defend the U.N. itself."

★ ★ ★

Rusk invited Gromyko to his hotel suite for an extended "working luncheon" with top aides from both nations. Various East-West topics were up for discussion, but U.N. financing was No. 1.

MORNING MEETINGS

Rusk scheduled separate morning meetings with Thant and the foreign ministers of Egypt, Canada and Kenya as he swung into a two-week round of appointments with foreign leaders attending the U.N. opening.

He planned to return to Washington late in the day for the White House session tomorrow on Viet Nam.

Will Include Tax Data in County Bill

Information on Pontiac's income tax will be offered city residents with their 1964 county tax bill, slated for mailing next week.

A two-page letter, drafted by the City Commission, offers an explanation of how the tax would apply and cites some of the needs for added revenue.

City officials plan to mail out 16,000 letters to "over half" of Pontiac's resident homeowners.

The county tax bill, which is to be mailed Dec. 8 and 9, is due 30 days after it's rendered or Jan. 20.

The county general fund receives $6.55 per $1,000 of the total bill, compared to $6.40 last year. The 62-cent per $1,000 levy for special education remains the same, while the Clinton River bond levy dropped to 46 cents from 61 cents.

RUNS $9.01

This year's total bill runs $9.01 per $1,000 of assessed value as equalized, as compared to $7.75 in 1963. Most of the difference comes from the new $1.24 per $1,000 rate for the county community college.

"I Can Steer Just As Well From Over Here!"

It Seems to Me . . . .

Increased Athletics Interest Requires Better Facilities

Various states are studying new stadia as an ever-increasing interest in athletics continues to sweep the Nation. Pennsylvania just authorized $25 million for this purpose. Even Chicago, where Soldier Field seats 120,000, is considering a new sports arena because of the woeful deficiencies of this quaint and antiquated structure. The new one would hold fewer spectators but fill other more pressing demands.

★ ★ ★

How about Michigan?

When the Olympic games were proposed for Detroit, a stadium was definitely in the offing but we were euchred out of the 1968 international contests and plans were temporarily shelved.

Now talk springs anew.

Tiger Stadium is hardly commensurate with the needs of 1965 and ensuing years. First, it's unfortunately placed in the light of current Detroit development. This applies to the location, the neighborhood, the parking and the size. It loses on every count.

Comfortable parking in any volume is nonexistent and the neighborhood hardly constitutes an enviable environment. Further, it's unhappily located with reference to the homes of the Michigan people it serves; and the approaches and exits are miserable.

A new structure could not be considered until working agreements were in force with the Tigers and the Lions. If these two settled upon reasonably long term contracts, a Stadium Authority could evaluate income and possible bond retirement, unless the place was actually erected by the State with all future income accruing to Lansing.

Detroit's annual Goodfellows game could be staged there, the Army-Navy football game, and the Big Ten might hold a championship track meet occasionally. The Olympics are a possibility for final U.S. tryouts plus the Pan-American track meet, the biannual tussle with Russia, A.A.U. championships and other similar events.

★ ★ ★

The Fair Grounds location was adjudged ideal when the Olympic games were under discussion and it still looms as the most likely spot. The spacious enclosure can handle untold thousands of cars. Further, traffic can reach this fine focal point on big, broad highways and limited access throughways. Spectators at all events would be served expeditiously. People from Oakland and Macomb Counties, Flint, Lansing, Saginaw, Bay City, Ann Arbor and many, many other cities would find attendance possible on reasonable time schedules, in addition to the home city.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the legislature and the Governor should consider a study committee to investigate the possibilities and come up with recommendations. As it stands now, the Fair Grounds are empty, desolate and idle about 95% of the year.

Should they be "put to work?"

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's own able Representative, Arthur Law, is interested in the general picture and is evaluating the plan and sounding out some of his colleagues in the Legislature.

Wait and See . . .

In his first speech since election, President JOHNSON said:

"I do not consider the election a mandate to embark on any reckless, dangerous, novel or unique course."

These are brave words.

But now comes the test.

★ ★ ★

His pronouncements defy many elements of his own party which have entirely different ideas and thirst for the establishment of each dereliction that the President listed. The gimme-gimme gang, the deficit finance flunkies and the insidious imps of inflation are already fastening their claws in the Presidential coattails.

Soon we'll have the showdown.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Overheard: Irate coach to college president: "Well, what kind of a football team did you expect? You pay your science professors more than you do me." . . . . . David Lawrence Says:

Unions Want Payoff for Support

WASHINGTON — Union labor is about to demand a reward for its political support.

It paid out millions of dollars during the recent campaign to elect a majority in the forthcoming session of Congress. It now wants the elected members to deliver.

LAWRENCE

The new demand is that the existing labor law be amended so as to bring about compulsory unionization throughout the United States.

With all the talk about "equal rights for citizens and "equal opportunity" in employment, it is significant that within a few weeks after a presidential and congressional election, the labor unions announce as their "No. 1 priority" the repeal of Section 14B of the National Labor Relations Act passed by Congress in 1947.

Under this provision, a number of states have hitherto adopted laws forbidding any worker from being forced to become a member of a labor organization and being threatened with the loss of his job if he doesn't join.

★ ★ ★

Significant, too, is the announcement by the labor organizations that they think they now have enough votes in Congress to get repeal of this section of the law. A top spokesman of the AFL-CIO says:

"We have done some nose counting and we feel we have a reasonable chance to repeal Section 14B in this Congress. We know pretty well where we stand on this issue."

The compromise in the 1947 act — which permits the states to determine whether or not they will accept compulsory unionization — provides that unless a state takes action, the federal law applies.

Under this discretionary provision, at least 20 states have formally declared that the right of a person to decide for himself whether or not he will join any organization or group is an individual liberty that should not be taken away from any citizen.

★ ★ ★

These states have enacted what are often called "right to work" laws. Such statutes have been denounced as antiunion.

CLOSED SHOP

Originally, under the Wagner Act, many unions required what was called a "closed shop." This meant that no employer could hire anybody who was not a member of the union.

This was modified in the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947 to permit the "union shop." This provides that the employer may hire whomever he pleases, but that within 30 or 60 days after the worker has been on the job, the employe must either join the union or be dismissed.

The principal argument advanced for the "union shop" is that, since the law establishes the right of the majority of the employes to choose a union to act as bargaining agent in relation to wages and working conditions, all the workers should contribute toward the expense.

Many workers have agreed to pay their share of such expenses, but not to become members in a labor organization, and such an arrangement is permitted in what is called an "agency shop."

But today Congress is being asked to repeal existing restrictions and bring about a system of nationwide coercion whereby the individual must join a union in order to keep his job.

Top 'Rooster' Is Picky About Who Gets Perch

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — President-watchers, like bird-watchers, are as fascinated by the bright plumage swooping and fluttering through the air as by the eventual banding.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

Consequently they are intrigued by the colorful manner in which President Johnson releases a covey of birds, letting each test his wings in turbulent political weather, before selecting his quarry.

Because the Kennedy administration succeeded an opposition party in power, it had so many choice jobs to fill that there was little time for the full sport of the game.

Its usual procedure was to release only one bird, and let him fly solo for a day or two. If he was not shot down by the opposition, he was it.

★ ★ ★

In strictly political practice, this involves leaking the name of a potential nominee to a favored newspaper columnist, who trial-balloons it in behalf of the administration.

FEWER POSITIONS

President Johnson, with fewer top positions to fill, is demonstrating a unique flair for talent-hunting that is worthy of a Teddy Roosevelt safari.

The attorney generalship, vacant since Bobby Kennedy flew the Cabinet coop last summer to try his political wings in the Senate, has recently taken on some of the sporting flavor of a preconvention vice president-watching.

Peering into the dazzling political sun, an absorbed nation watches while such celebrated lawyers as Abe Fortas, Clark Clifford, Thomas Dodd, Leon Jaworsky and acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach soar in and out of speculative orbit.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson gives the illusion of being the only one who isn't looking, but he's the head ornithologist who will ultimately do the banding.

★ ★ ★

Civil Service Commission Chairman John Macy has been tapped by the President to separate the fliers from the waddlers, and thanks to the recent landslide there are few Democratic lame ducks to worry about.

The President, himself, will have the final say in the continuing talent-hunt, but a charming lady whom he calls "Bird" also has a bevy of prospects ready among the female of the species.

Sub Visit Opposed

The Japan Times

The demonstrations by leftist elements against the visit of the American nuclear submarine Seadragon appear to be animated by a desire to make political propaganda against the Government. The Japan Socialist Party, the Japan Communist Party, the General Council of Japan Trade Unions (Sohyo) and the Zengakuren student groups are mainly responsible.

★ ★ ★

The Japan Socialist Party has put forward the view that the nuclear-powered submarines could be equipped with nuclear weapons and their calls here would pave the way toward future visits by Polaris submarines actually equipped with nuclear missiles. Sohyo declared it opposed the visit of nuclear-powered submarines for reasons of "safety" and the fear that such submarines in Japanese waters would place Japan "under U.S. nuclear strategy," whatever that is supposed to mean.

★ ★ ★

Radioactivity tests at the ports of Yokosuka and Sasebo are being made before, and will be made again after, the visits of the American submarines. It is pointed out that nuclear-powered submarines of the Nautilus type have called at other ports in the world without causing either damage or danger.

Once again we see the difficulty of attempting to distinguish between nuclear armaments and so-called conventional ones. Nothing can be more certain than that nuclear power has come to stay, and that being so, it is hard to believe that it can be excluded from the realm of armaments.

★ ★ ★

The current political situation would seem to warrant some overhauling of American defenses in these waters in view of the Communist menace which some believe is increasing in this area. It is not an easy decision to take. Vice Admiral John T. Hayward said that Polaris missiles in the Pacific meant that Soviet Russia would step up antisubmarine measures.

The whole question of armaments and defense arrangements, whether in the Pacific area or elsewhere, bristles with difficulties. It certainly cannot be solved by street demonstrations inspired by pro-leftist leaders. It is apparent that a large proportion of the demonstrators at Sasebo were sent there from other parts of the country by leftist organizations, and it is quite clear that the movement against the Seadragon's visit was in the main animated by political motives and not from any genuine scientific doubts about the safety of the port area.

There was a time when taxpayers would find a tax reduction as the only reason for celebration. In this era of rapidly rising taxes however, Governor Romney's announcement that he will not ask for new or higher taxes is cause for great rejoicing. The present tax structure is adequate to finance Michigan government even though the next few years will see many millions added to expenditures. The reason for this is that high business activity and spending are resulting in huge increases in tax income, especially from sales taxes.

The Governor's announcement was especially welcome to those who thought that he might treat his landslide victory as a mandate to implement his own tax policy which includes the addition of a state income tax. If Romney is seeking solidarity among his constituency he will continue to soft pedal his demands for a state income tax because it is this demand which has so often been the cause of bitter divisiveness in Michigan politics. He would earn the heartfelt appreciation of millions of voters if he would now go on record as favoring a rigid program of living within the income produced by the present tax structure.

2nd Straight Year in State

Job Benefit Rate Level Dips

LANSING (AP)—A decrease in the average rate level of Michigan Workmen's Compensation for the second straight year was announced today by State Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayerson.

★ ★ ★

A reduction of 2.2 per cent, approved by the State Insurance Department, will apply to all new compensation insurance policies starting Dec. 1, and to all existing polices when they are renewed.

In 1963, Mayerson said, the average rate level dropped 4.4 per cent.

★ ★ ★

As in 1963, he said, the rate level reduction results from the state's booming economy.

PAYROLLS

Industrial and business payrolls, which are the measure of loss exposure against which workmen's compensation rates are charged, have continued to increase. This larger rate base has produced insurance premiums which, have equaled or exceeded what was needed to meet the losses in the, majority of employment.

Higher rates were necessary, howver, for some industries which had greater than average loss increases.

Workmen's compensation insurance now is providing more than $50 million a year in payments to Michigan workers for injuries and occupational illness. This larger rate base
