Apollo 10 Lands Right on Target

ABOARD USS PRINCETON (AP) — Climaxing a voyage of discovery, the Apollo 10 moon explorers came safely home from the heavens today, blazing back through earth's atmosphere to a bull's-eye landing in the South Pacific within sight of the recovery ship Princeton.

America's newest space heroes ended man's greatest and most dangerous space adventure when their sturdy six-ton spaceship parachuted into gently rolling seas about three miles from the Princeton.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and

Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan landed at 11:52 p.m. (Pontiac time). The touchdown was about 400 miles east of Pago Pago, just at dawn in this part of the world.

As the craft descended, its tracking lights blinked in the semidarkness.

DRESS REHEARSAL

The pinpoint landing was a fitting climax to the near-flawless eight-day fight, a final dress rehearsal which cleared the way for two astronauts to walk on the moon in less than two months.

Television pictures, relayed through a communications satellite, enabled millions of Americans to share the triumphant return of the three astronauts. Viewers had a ringside seat as cameras focused on Apollo 10 floating down from space, dangling under three orange and white parachutes.

Helicopters spotted the astronauts several minutes before the splash-down and were hovering overhead within minutes.

Within minutes, Navy frogmen leaped from a helicopter. They attached a flotation collar and plugged in a telephone to talk with the astronauts.

Stafford, Young and Cernan traveled 76 hours outward to the moon, circled it 31 times in 61½ hours and raced home along a 54-hour corridor. The flight lasted eight days three minutes.

They logged about 700,000 miles and Stafford and Cernan made man's closest approach to another celestial body, riding a lunar landing vehicle to within 9.4 miles of the moon to scout a landing site for Apollo 11 in July. They rehearsed all phases of a landing mission except the actual touchdown.

To reach the Pacific, the astronauts survived man's fastest reentry through the atmosphere.

Apollo 10 slammed into the outer limits of the atmosphere 400,600 feet high at 24,694 miles an hour, was punished by forces nearly seven times the pull of gravity and was blistered by heat of more than 5,000 degrees. The crew traveled 64 m.p.h. faster than the Apollo 8 pilots on their return from the moon in December.

The craft's heat shield protected the crew from burning up and the temperature inside the cabin remained a comfortable 70 degrees.

Before hitting the atmosphere, Stafford, Young and Cernan jettisoned a service module attached to the command ship. The shedding of this equipment bag reduced Apollo 10's weight from 31,500 to about 12,000 pounds.

During the hottest, fastest part of reentry, radio communications from the speeding vehicle were blacked out for about three minutes.

Right after blackout ended, two recovery force planes and the Princeton reported radar contact with the spaceship.

Six Persons Are Killed in 4 Weekend Crashes

Two teen-age Waterford Township brothers were killed in a collision yesterday on the Saginaw-Genesee county line.

In addition, a 19-year-old housewife was killed in Orion Township yesterday, and two accidents within 30 minutes late Saturday in Waterford Township claimed three lives.

Killed in a crash at the M57-M13 intersection about 5:40 p.m. yesterday were Howard E. Mulanix Jr., 18, and Randy Mulanix, 14, sons of Mrs. Howard E. Mulanix of 1260 S. Cass Lake.

HOWARD RANDY

The boys reportedly were returning home from a weekend visit with a married sister, Mrs. Thomas Doyon of Remus, when their car apparently ran a blinking red light at the intersection and was struck broadside by another, according to State Police.

OTHER DRIVER HURT

Richard Ralston, 24, of Durand, driver of the other car, is reported in critical condition today in Flint Osteopathic Hospital.

Killed in the Orion Township collision, in the 2300 block of Lapeer Road, about 3:30 a.m. yesterday was Mrs. Lawrence Van Inwagen, 19, of 85 Crescent, Lake Orion.

Road Toll, Page A-4

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband which collided with a car driven by Philip L. Griffin, 25, of Detroit.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said Griffin's car was headed south in the northbound lane when the mishap occurred.

TWO IN HOSPITAL

The victim's husband, 18, is reported in fair condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Linda Coke, 23, of Ferndale, a passenger with Griffin, is reported in fair condition with surgery slated today in Pontiac General Hospital.

Griffin was treated at Pontiac General and released.

Killed about 11:15 p.m. Saturday when the motorcycle he was riding was struck by a car at Crescent Lake Road and M59 was Gerald G. Haggett, 22, of 10400 Clark, Springfield Township.

Township police said the accident occurred when a car driven by James E. Britt, 54, of 680 E. Columbia turned left from Crescent Lake Road and collided with the westbound motorcycle.

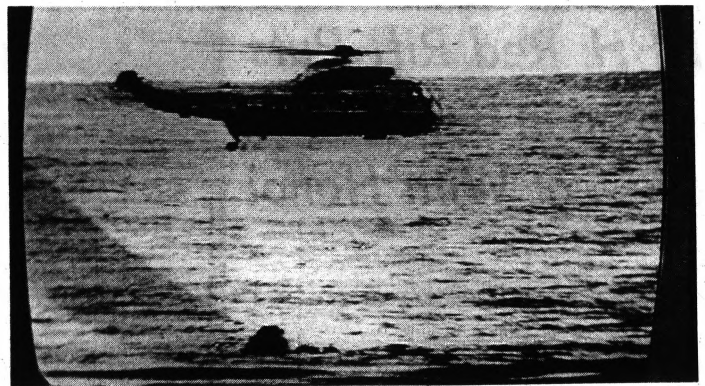

Investigation of the mishap is continuing, police said.

DOUBLE DEATH

Two Dearborn Heights residents were killed about 11:40 p.m. when their car apparently failed to stop at a flashing red light at Cass Lake Road and M59 and was hit by a truck, according to township police.

Dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital were Richard G. Snyder, 21, and Mary B. Judge, 20.

William L. Lane, 36, of 85 Bentley, Lapeer, driver of the truck, escaped serious injury, according to officers.

State Legislature Braces for Crucial, Lengthy Week

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature moved into high gear today and braced itself for a week of marathon sessions and heated debate on major, controversial issues.

Faced with a June 6 deadline for passage of bills in the chamber of origin, the Legislature has to consider:

• Some 15 appropriation bills to implement Gov. William G. Milliken's $1.51 billion recommended state budget.

• Measures to boost the interest rate ceiling on home mortgage loans to either 8½ or 9 per cent.

• A bill to raise the minimum wage next year to $1.40 an hour.

• Scores of lesser bills individual legislators consider important.

The Legislature also must deal with two stormy matters expected to be revived:

• The question of whether to give state funds to nonpublic schools.

• Whether abortion laws should be relaxed.

Both matters suffered earlier defeats in the House and Senate, respectively. Backers said they would try again.

Dirksen Predicts ABM Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — After weeks of selling, the Nixon administration now believes it has the commitments necessary for Senate approval of the Safeguard antimissile system.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview he is confident "the votes will be there" when the issue comes before the Senate, possibly next month.

Although Dirksen said he knows of two switches among Republicans who came out early against ABM but have had second thoughts, he declined to mention any names or to deal in numbers.

He declined also to name any of those who had switched from the uncommitted column to the administration side.

SIX VITAL VOTES

The administration's previous poll showed 44 senators committed to vote for Safeguard, but 46 committed against. That meant it needed six more votes, plus that of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who can vote only if there is a tie, if all senators answer a roll call.

But the Senate seldom marshals all of its members for such votes. Illness or prior commitments often keep some away. If a couple of GOP opponents found it convenient to be absent, the administration would regard that action as satisfactory.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana seemed to have some such situation in mind when he said in a weekend interview that if the administration puts on pressure, it could win by a margin of one to three votes.

Allies Mum on Plan

VC Cease-Fire to Honor Buddha

SAIGON (AP) — The National Liberation Front announced today that Vietcong forces will observe a 48-hour cease-fire, from 7 a.m. Saigon time Thursday to 7 a.m. May 31, to mark the anniversary of Buddha's birth.

The South Vietnamese government had announced May 8 that its troops would observe a 24-hour cease-fire, from 6 a.m. Friday to 6 a.m. Saturday, U.S. and other allied forces agreed to join in. Friday is to be celebrated as the 2,513th anniversary of Buddha's birthday.

The front's announcement was made on its clandestine radio monitored in Saigon.

There was no immediate comment from the Saigon government or from U.S. or other allied spokesmen.

The Vietcong broadcast did not say if North Vietnamese forces would also observe the cease-fire, but it was assumed they would. Neither the Vietcong nor Hanoi admits North Vietnamese troops are in South Vietnam.

The announcement said the cease-fire was decided upon by Nguyen Huu Tho, the front's "president," on a proposal by Thich Thien Hao, a Buddhist monk and member of the front's central committee, and Thich Don Hau, vice president of the Alliance for Democratic and Peace Forces.

STATE HOSPITAL VISITORS — State officials (from left) Gov. William Milliken, Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford Township, and Dr. William H. Anderson, director of the state department of mental health, tour Pontiac State Hospital this morning, led by Dr. Donald Martin (center front), hospital medical superintendent. Hospital authorities said the tour was arranged at the governor's request and provided an opportunity for him to view the condition of buildings at the facility.

WASHINGTON — The nation's leading federal judges, moving hastily to draft their own rules for off-the-bench behavior and possibly financial disclosure, have drawn a stern warning that they're too late.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said yesterday judges, as well as lawmakers and members of the executive branch, should be covered by the same laws.

He promised to support one that would require disclosing both outside payments and business connections.

Mansfield replied with a blunt "no" when asked if he would be willing to accept a code for self-policing by the judiciary itself.

"I think they are late, and we are late in facing up to this problem," he added.

Only a day before Mansfield spoke, Chief Justice Earl Warren called a special meeting of the Judicial Conference for June 10 to consider judges' nonjudicial activities and, possibly, financial disclosure rules.

Mansfield specifically rejected leaving the judges to police themselves. Even tightening up confirmation procedures in the Senate, then leaving the problems to a judicial council of some type doesn't go far enough, he said.

A financial disclosure law, he said, should apply to everyone in the federal government who makes more than $18,000 a year.

FACES CONFRONTATION

The Montana Democrat said he would be willing to insist on including judges even if it means a confrontation over separation of powers.

He said he would support a bill sponsored by Sens. Philip Hart, D-Mich., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., which will be extended to cover judges as well as other government employees.

The furor over judges' outside income and behavior arose when it was disclosed that Justice Abe Fortas had taken, then returned, a $20,000 fee from a foundation.

The main President Nixon chose to succeed Warren as chief justice, Warren E. Burger, has acknowledged accepting $7,500 from the Mayo Foundation.

MOHAMMED MAHJOUB

Sudan Has Bloodless Leftist Coup

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A leftist government was installed in Sudan yesterday after an apparently bloodless coup by a group of colonels.

The officers overthrew a civilian regime headed by President Ismail el Azhari and Premier Mohammed A. Mahjoub and vested supreme power in a National Revolutionary Council headed by Col. Jaafar el Numeiri, the army said in a broadcast.

The council banned public gatherings, closed all banks, suspended newspaper publication, annulled the 1964 provisional constitution, and dissolved the cabinet and the constitutional assembly. Airports were closed but reopened last night.

Numeiri, a former defense minister, was described by sources in Damascus as an extreme leftist. The sources said the new leaders would probably follow political and economic policies similar to those of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

LEADERS NAMED

The Sudanese radio said the revolutionary council had promoted Numeiri to major general, named him commander in chief of the armed forces and reappointed him defense minister in a new 10-man cabinet. The new premier is Babakar Awadallah, also regarded as left-leaning, who resigned as Sudan's chief justice in 1964.

Numeiri purged 14 top military officers from their posts. New commanders were named for the air force, the Khartoum garrison and all armored units. A new police chief was appointed.

Sudan's Radio Omdurman said: "The seizure of power went off without shedding a single drop of blood."

Only four ministers of Mahjoub's government managed to escape before troops arrived at their homes yesterday morning, the broadcast continued. The rest, apparently including Mahjoub and El Azhari, are under "preventive detention," the radio said.

The new premier told the nation his regime is determined to do away with "bickering political parties" and set Sudan "on the road to freedom and socialism."

ISMAIL EL AZHARI

HHH: Red Rift Puts Nixon in Better Spot to Deal With Hanoi

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey, who unsuccessful presidential campaign was entangled in the controversy over Johnson administration Vietnam policy, says President Nixon now is able to deal with Ho Chi Minh without the constant attention of Communist China and the Soviet Union.

And Humphrey said the bombing — which was one of the biggest issues of the controversy — may have been responsible more than anything else for keeping the North Vietnamese in the war.

The former vice president said in an interview that Red China and the Soviet Union are more concerned with each other — rather than Vietnam — since their border battles.

Humphrey voiced approval of the President's statement of Vietnam policy, but said Nixon "is going to be in trouble" over domestic problems "unless he reverses his field."

"I think President Nixon and his Administration have misjudged the urgency of the domestic crisis — I mean the danger of it," Humphrey termed the budget for domestic programs inadequate.

The pattern of violence on the campus, Humphrey said, "is only just a transfer of the pattern of violence from what was the ghetto violence a little while ago."

"Now that can be transferred back into the ghetto immediately and with grave dangers. I think Mr. Nixon's budget is inadequate. . . I think the sense of urgency is not there. I think he knows what the facts are, but I don't believe there is the feeling you have to move as rapidly as I believe we have."

In making his statement on Vietnam, Humphrey said, Nixon "actually said nothing new. But it was a new man that said it, and the timing was fortuitous" in that it came after the National Liberation Front issued its 10-point settlement plan indicating "some movement on their part."

Another important element, Humphrey said, is that neither the Russians nor the Chinese are as concerned about North Vietnam as they once were.

Humphrey also expressed belief the "North Vietnamese are tiring of this war as surely as I'm looking at you. Once we stopped the bombing they're asking themselves, 'What are we fighting about?'"

"As a matter of fact," he added, "the bombing maybe kept them more in the war than other things."

Fugitive Back in County Jail

A man sought for two years on a attempted murder charge was returned to the Oakland County Jail last night.

Sheriff Frank W. Irons and Detective Sgt. Charles Whitlock brought Roger B. Shaw, 25, of Huntington Woods back from Honolulu, to which he was deported from Australia.

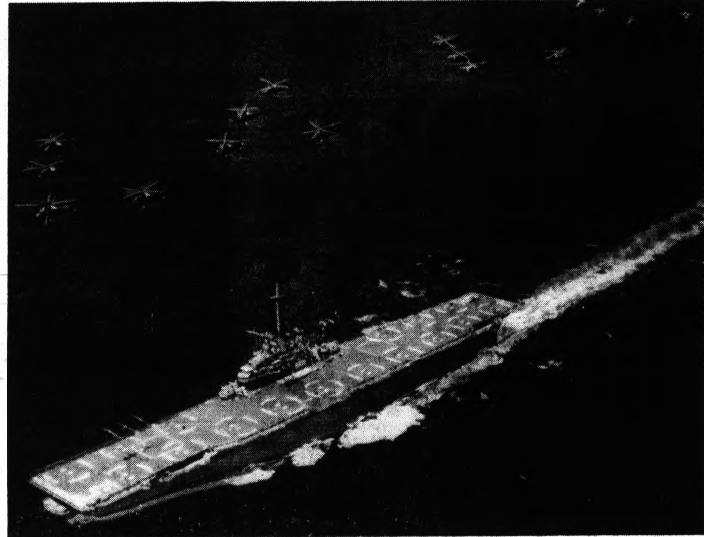

Shaw failed to appear for trial in October 1967 in the stabbing of his ex-girlfriend, Janice E. Leverenz, of Rochester. Miss Leverenz was stabbed with a 6-inch ceremonial dagger in a car in an Oakland University parking lot.

Shaw was discovered in Sydney, Australia, last month where he was arrested on a charge of vagrancy, the FBI said.

He was deported by Australian authorities after a federal fugitive warrant was issued. FBI agents arrested him when he got off a plane in Honolulu.

Whitlock said Shaw may be taken to Circuit Court today on a bench warrant for failing to appear at his trial.

He is held on $5,000 bond after being arranged before a U.S. commissioner in Honolulu.

GM Is Warning Truck Owners of Wheel Peril

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. is notifying thousands of owners of three-quarter ton GMC and Chevrolet trucks that overloading could cause their wheels to fail, particularly on those outfitted with camper or other heavy bodies.

But GM insists the danger is not the result of any defect, and is urging owners of trucks built from 1960 through 1965 to have wheels replaced at their own expense if their loads exceed rated capacity.

It reportedly was the first time in recent years an automaker has warned customers of a potential hazard without offering to pay for corrective servicing.

GM spokesmen said the number of three-quarter ton trucks involved hasn't been totaled yet, but the Detroit News reported that Washington sources estimated more than 150,000 are involved.

GM also warned owners on overinflation of tires on the 1960-65 trucks.

Different types of wheels are being used on later three-quarter ton trucks.

GM's having owners replace wheels riled persistent auto critic Ralph Nader, who told the Detroit News the action was "an outrageous display of corporate irresponsibility."

"I don't believe," Nader said, "that businessmen who operate these three-quarter ton trucks will tolerate being charged for GM's defects."

He predicted there will be a congressional investigation unless GM backs down. He now is a member of the National Motor Vehicle Safety Advisory Committee.

John C. Bates, director of GM's service section, said in a letter to owners that three-quarter ton trucks with over-the-cab campers or other heavy bodies and having 15x5.50, three-piece disc wheels should be equipped with new wheels of a heavier duty type.

Ray Back in Court, Asks for Full Trial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray went back into court today and asked a full trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. — a crime he pleaded guilty to 11 weeks ago.

Ray, constantly shifting in his seat behind his attorneys, heard a criminal court clerk testify that Ray gave no answer when his trial judge asked him whether he had been promised anything except a 99-year term in return for pleading guilty.

"There is no answer," said clerk J. A. Backwell as Ray attorney J. B. Stoner cross-examined him on court minutes and records the state had read into evidence at the new trial hearing.

Blackwell read the record of Ray's trial March 10, when the late Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle accepted the guilty plea. Battle questioned Ray at length at the time, pointing out repeatedly that guilty plea would waive his right to an appeal in the death of King.

Trial in Mason Starts 3rd Week

MASON, Mich. (AP) — The prosecution is expected to complete its presentation of witnesses this week in its attempt to prove that a suspended white policeman murdered a Negro youth during Detroit's 1967 racial riot.

On trial for first — degree murder is Ronald August, 31, accused in the slaying of 18-year-old Aubrey Pollard, one of three Negroes killed in the Algiers Motel shortly after midnight July 26, 1967.

The trial begins its third week today. An all-white jury has heard 23 prosecution witnesses.

August admits killing Pollard, but claims it was self-defense in a struggle over a shotgun.

Testimony has indicated that the motel guests were pushed up against a wall by raiding police and national guardsmen allegedly investigating sniper fire, and that, one by one, those against the wall were taken out of the line and into rooms where shots were fired.

The purpose of the "game," as one guardsman called it, was to make those in the hall believe they would all be killed if the raiders were not told where they could find the alleged sniper weapons.

EAGER TO TESTIFY

Stoner, a member of Ray's third team of lawyers, said he was prepared to put his client on the witness stand if developments at a criminal court hearing permitted.

A witness-stand appearance by the 41-year-old prisoner would have broadening possibilities. At the time of his guilty plea his then lawyer, Percy Foreman, expressed in court a personal conviction that there was no conspiracy in the April 1968 King assassination. Ray said "I don't agree," but did not elaborate.

Ray is asking a new deal in court on the grounds that his former attorneys did not provide him with adequate counsel and pressured him into a guilty plea.

He also contends the subsequent death of Judge W. Preston Battle, who accepted the plea, guarantees him a new trial. The presiding judge for today's hearing, Arthur Faquin, will decide whether the case should be reopened and whether to allow any testimony.

Ray asserted that Foreman, his second attorney, and a previous lawyer, Arthur J. Hanes, wanted him to circumvent a full-scale trial through a guilty plea so their royalties from books and motion pictures on his life would not be jeopardized.

School Bus Drivers End Brief Walkout

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — School bus operations in the Bloomfield Hills district returned to normal today after a wildcat strike by about half the district's 50 bus drivers last Friday.

The drivers had charged that many of the district's 60 buses need maintenance and were unsafe to drive.

They also contended they were doing double duty for the same wages since the cutback in the transportation department's operation about a year ago.

School officials said union representatives for the drivers had not spelled out specific grievances.

Union representatives and school administration officials were expected to meet this week to talk over difficulties.

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham Public School District will close out its annual series of spring concerts next week with performances scheduled at Evergreen and Meadow Lake schools.

At Evergreen, next Tuesday is an instrumental and vocal concert with Mrs. Sharon Smith, Mrs. Hylkema Eisenzopf and Miss Marcia Hylkema conducting.

At Meadow Lake June 4 is an instrumental and vocal concert with Mrs. Kathleen Sorran, Miss Hylkema and Mrs. Eisenzopf conducting. Both performances begin at 8 p.m.

A week free of traffic accidents and injuries is the goal of Birmingham Traffic Safety Week, June 2-8.

The week-long campaign to reduce accidents is sponsored by the Birmingham Traffic and Safety Board.

Truck Figures in Slayings Case

DETROIT (UPI) — Police have located a blue van-type truck possibly involved in one of five unsolved murders of young women in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the last two years.

Ann Arbor detectives are to travel here today to look over a blue Ford Econoline panel truck like one mentioned in connection with the killing of Maralyn Skelton, 16, Romulus, who became the fourth victim when her body was found March 25 near Ann Arbor.

Detroit Police stopped the truck Saturday night and are holding it at the police auto pound. Two young men in the truck said they had borrowed it from its owner and were released after being held overnight.

Police declined to specify how the truck might be involved in the case, although Ann Arbor Police Chief Walter Krass said last month, "We think the person who was driving it may be able to furnish some links as to the girl's whereabouts before she was killed."

Miss Skelton, who police say was a high school dropout and drug user, may have hitchhiked a ride in a similar truck, police said earlier this spring.

Laird Defends U. S. Tactics in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has spoken out in support of U.S. battlefield tactics in Vietnam, which Democratic critics say cause needless loss of American lives.

"It's always been our goal to keep the maximum pressure on the enemy consistent with the lowest possible casualties," Laird said Sunday, adding that U.S. commanders continue under instructions to carry out this policy.

Battlefield tactics have come under mounting criticism from Democratic leaders since the 10-day battle in which GIs drove North Vietnamese off Dong Ap Bia Mountain in 11 assaults that cost some 50 American lives.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called the battle "senseless and irresponsible" in a Senate speech last week and his stand was supported over the weekend by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Mansfield said Sunday the United States is jeopardizing progress in the Paris peace talks by escalating the war through expanded military pressure creating an "act-react syndrome."

"What we ought to do is not so much apply pressure in Vietnam as to instead apply pressure in Paris," the Montana senator said. "That is where peace is going to be made, not on the battlefield."

McGovern praised Kennedy Saturday for speaking out "in protest against a truly senseless slaughter," and added,

"The only way to end the war in Vietnam is to bring our troops home."

Kennedy followed McGovern to the podium by a $100-a-table fund-raising dinner by the New Democratic Coalition and spoke again of what he called the "cruelty and savagery of the past week."

"It would have been immoral," Kennedy said, to remain silent about what he called "an unjustified war, an immoral war."

Boaters Are Warned on Great Lakes Cold

LANSING (UPI) — The Department of Natural Resources is urging boaters on the Great Lakes to stay within sight of other watercraft in case of accidents.

A study by the Department of the Navy shows exposure to the lakes' cold temperatures for a prolonged period of time without proper clothing can prove fatal, DNR officials said.

Expectant mothers who smoke are more likely to have small babies than nonsmokers.

State Weekend Traffic Claims 27 Lives

By The Associated Press
Six persons — including a Flint family of three and an Illinois woman and her daughter — were killed in two accidents in Michigan yesterday.

Their deaths were part of the most tragic weekend on Michigan highways this year as 27 persons died.

In two other accidents, three teenagers from Waterford Township were killed.

Roy E. Oaks Jr., 21, his 21-year-old wife, Carol Ann, and their 4-month-old son, Todd, of Flint, were killed when their car collided with a truck on M21 yesterday east of Owosso.

Sheriff's deputies said they were returning to Flint after visiting Mrs. Oaks' parents in Owosso.

5 Persons Drown in Weekend State Water Mishaps

By United Press International
At least five persons drowned in Michigan water accidents over the late spring weekend, one in a spectacular boat collision on Michigan Center Lake in Jackson County.

Jackson County sheriff's deputies said Michael Fillhart, Michigan Center, was killed and another passenger, Michael Azberry, 14, seriously injured Saturday when a 12-foot boat piloted by a local resident collided with a 17-foot inboard-outboard. The collision was still under investigation.

Jackson County authorities said the crash occurred near the lake's Carp Carnival, which was in progress at the time. The 17-foot boat, piloted by Water Balance, 46, Jackson, had three passengers aboard.

Arthur McGilvery, 39, Detroit, drowned yesterday afternoon while swimming in Kent Lake Kensington Park in Milford Township.

JEOP OVERTURNED
Elliott Melenda, 7, Westland, drowned Saturday when a jeep he was riding in overturned and rolled into a pond near Clear Lake Camp, Nester Township, Roscommon County.

Harry Wayne Johnson, 33, Lansing, drowned last night when a boat capsized in the Grand River at the Waverly Street Bridge, just outside of town. Police said others in the boat made it safely to shore.

Walter Thorn, 46, Royal Oak, drowned Saturday afternoon near Alpena when a boat capsized and spilled out its occupants.

Riverside, Ill., and her daughter, Leslie, 11, were killed yesterday night in a two-vehicle accident on I-94, about five miles west of Columbia in southwestern Lower Michigan.

The driver of the other car, Jerry Duane Cryer, 21, of Battle Creek, was killed.

Mrs. Loomis' husband, 52-year-old Wes Loomis, and her son, 13-year-old Kenneth, were taken to a Benton Harbor hospital.

Howard Mulanix Jr., 18, of 1260 S. Cass Lake, Waterford Township, and his 14-year-old brother, Randy, were killed when their car collided with another at an intersection at Saginaw County's Maple Grove Township yesterday.

ENDED AT MIDNIGHT
The Associated Press' weekend traffic fatality count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight yesterday.

The other victims:

William Baldwin, 26, Remus, who died Saturday when his car went out of control on M66 in Oceola County and rolled.

John J. Cody, 26, Mount Morris, who was killed in a two-car collision Saturday north of Flint.

CASS COUNTY CRACK-UP
Sheila Brady, 17, Cassopolis, who was killed Friday night when the car in which she was riding collided with a farm vehicle in Cass County.

Richard A. Westerby, 42, Akron, who was killed when his car went out of control on Akron Road and struck a tree early yesterday.

Allen Lansky, 22 months, who was struck by a car while walking on Greater Mack Avenue near his St. Clair Shores home Saturday.

Gerald Haggitt, 22, of 10460 Clark, Springfield Township, who was killed when the motorcycle he was driving was struck by a car in Waterford Township late Saturday.

WATERFORD GIRL
Constance Vanhewagen, 18, of 85 Crescent, Lake Orion, who died in a two-car crash on M24 in Orion Township early yesterday.

Richard G. Snyder, 21, Dearborn Heights, and Mary B. Judge, 20, Dearborn Heights, who died when the car Snyder was driving collided Saturday with a truck at an intersection in Waterford Township.

Robert L. Miller, 25, and Jerry L. Haight, 24, both of Lakeview, who died yesterday when the car Miller was driving left M91 north of Greenville, struck a utility pole and rolled several times.

Howard Lehr, 17, and David Thompson, 18, both passengers in a car which ran off a road in Monroe County Saturday and crashed.

William Watts, 72, Mount Morris, who driving one of two cars which collided Saturday in Sienna Township of Genesee County.

Glen Kamps, 30, Holland, who died Saturday in a two-car crash on M21 in Holland Township.

Barry Maitland, 19, and Hewlett Bean III, 20, both of New Buffalo, who died when their car left U.S. 23 in Livingston County and struck a bridge.

Firemen Talks Resume Today in Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Although the city has made what it termed its best and final offer, negotiations resumed today at Kalamazoo where striking firemen have been fired.

Explaining the city's willingness to talk today, City Manager James Caplinger said: "State labor law would make it an unfair labor practice not to do so."

Caplinger indicated, however, that the city would simply restate its proposal of last week: a 9 per cent pay hike; retroactively to March 22 instead of Jan. 1 as firemen have asked; insistence on compliance with a behavior code for city employees.

Almost 150 firemen were dismissed last week after failing to report for work as scheduled in three shifts. The first of the shifts was to report for work Monday and the others on Tuesday and Wednesday. Many of the firemen called in sick.

FIREMEN POLLED
The Kalamazoo Gazette, in informal talks with firemen manning picket lines in the city, learned:

- Many of the striking firemen would settle for the 9 per cent raise.
- The new pay would have to be retroactive to Jan. 1 although many firemen would compromise on the retroactivity issue.
- Many striking firemen would insist that Norman Williams, a fireman dismissed after a scuffle with a policeman at a fire last Monday night, be placed on suspension pending court decision. The firemen say suspension — not dismissal — in such cases is standard practice.

ran off U.S. 10 in Mason County and crashed.

Two men were killed Sunday night six miles west of Manton in Wexford County when their car careened off M24 and struck a parked car. The Wexford sheriff's office refused to identify one of the men, but said he was from Phoenix, Ariz. It had no address for the other man, who it said was Robert L. Eyard, 51.

Tot Dies, Brothers Hurt in Pennsylvania Crash

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — An 18-month old Michigan boy was killed and his two brothers were injured yesterday when their car skidded on the rain-slick Pennsylvania Turnpike about two miles west of the Perry Highway interchange and struck a row of guard rails.

State Police said the victim, Dean Stewart, Sterling Heights, Mich., was thrown from the car. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

The victim's brothers, David, 14, and Dwight, 8, were admitted to the hospital for observation.

Chevy Engineer Dept. Promotes 2

Appointment of Noel E. Stasel as chief special products engineer of the Chevrolet Engineering Department has been announced by Alex C. Mair, director of Chevrolet engineering.

Stasel of 3060 Valley Side, Farmington Township, was staff engineer of special vehicles. He will assume responsibility for special vehicles, military projects, end products, and product information.

Succeeding Stasel will be H. Bernard Ernst of 771 Fieldstone, Avon Township. Ernst joined Chevrolet in 1956 as a resident engineer at the Warren plant. He most recently had been chief product assurance engineer.

Telegraph Road Art Merchant

Dale Bennett is a hungry artist who wouldn't have it any other way. Bennett, 24, and eight artist friends have been in Michigan three months as street corner art merchants. They arrived lately from Dallas, Tex.

Mostly, the artists have been working the Telegraph Road strip, from Redford to Waterford.

No hawking is necessary. The sign really draws: "Oil Paintings — $7.95 and Up — Must Sell — Artist Hungry!"

"We're eating," Bennett said. He and his friends travel in a fleet of large cars. "Painting was just kind of a hobby a few years ago," Bennett explained. "I just kind of elaborated on it. I wouldn't have it any other way."

Door-to-Door Campaigners Promote School Millage Vote in Huron Valley

Some 400 door-to-door campaigners are attempting to sell a 6-mill tax increase for the Huron Valley Schools to district residents this week.

The millage election, for a renewal of 15 mills (plus the additional 6 mills, is June 9. Last March 26, district residents defeated a similar millage proposal by 165 votes out of 3,499 cast.

Also defeated were proposals for two mills for expanded operations and a $10.5-million bond issue for a new secondary school. These two proposals are not on the June ballot.

NEIGHBOR TO NEIGHBOR — Sheri McFall (left), 3, shows Kathy Falzon, 6, what they will miss if the upcoming Huron Valley School district millage vote fails. Her mother, Mrs. Roger McFall (left of 755 Bonta, Milford, explains the need for the 15-mill renewal and six-mill increase to Mrs. Raymond Falzon of 7418 Biscayne, White Lake Township. Mrs. McFall is one of some 400 concerned residents beginning a door-to-door campaign today across the school district to sell the millage proposed on the June 9 ballot.

The campaigners will be pointing out increased enrollment and inflationary cost of living as major reasons why the millage should be approved this time.

An increased enrollment of about 1,200 students in the school system is expected within the next three years.

The schools also are expected to have more junior high and senior high students than primary students in the coming years. Secondary education is more expensive because the textbooks are more comprehensive and the labs need costly equipment and expendable materials.

Dr. Theodore E. Hagadone, superintendent of schools, has said if the millage fails the school board will be faced with the task of operating the school district with only $3 million when $4.8 million is needed.

Defeat would mean a major reduction in the teaching staff (possibly up to 50 teachers) and about one hour less in the classroom for every student, he said.

The millage request is a minimum package designed to maintain the present educational programs and eliminate the school deficit, according to Hagadone.

Divers Search Lake for Body

MILFORD TOWNSHIP — Diving recovery operations were under way today to recover the body of a man reportedly drowned yesterday in Kent Lake, Kensington Metropolitan Park.

Arthur MacGilvery, 39, of Detroit disappeared while swimming, according to Chief Ranger Robert Skellenger.

MacGilvery had been boating with three friends when he decided to go swimming with another man. The boat apparently drifted away while the men were in the water, and MacGilvery didn't make it back, Skellenger said.

CHICAGO (AP) — Antidraft protesters broke into a Selective Service office, poured paint and tar on records, then carried the documents outside and threw them on a bonfire.

Eighteen persons were arrested in the disturbance Sunday, including two priests and a man who first identified himself as a seminarian and then as a priest.

Chicago police charged them with arson, burglary and criminal damage to property.

Firemen summoned to the blaze said the group was singing and dancing around the fire. The federal government placed no charges pending an FBI investigation.

Col. John Seigle, assistant chief of the field division of the Illinois Selective Service System, said most of the records of Chicago's largest draft board were destroyed. Seigle said duplicates are available.

A statement signed by 15 of those arrested said the burning of draft records was an "act of creative destruction by white citizens who confront the twin evils of American militarism and racism." The board has drafting authority over a large Negro area of the South Side.

Police said the group was able to enter the office Sunday because one of the men, John Nicholas Riddell, 27, a seminarian in the building last week, was the same fellow as the draft board.

Milwaukee authorities identified Father Riddell as a community activist who lives at St. Boniface Roman Catholic Church. He told police he rented the office to sell religious reading material.

Also arrested was the Rev. Joseph E. Mulligan, 27, an instructor at Ballmarine School of Theology in North Aurora, Ill.

Police said John T. Pietra, 33, of Chicago, also said he was the first to first identify himself as a seminarian student.

Draft Office Workers Sort Through Debris

DETROIT (UPI) — Travel trailers, campers and boats being towed will crowd Michigan highways this Memorial Day weekend for one of the most congested highway holidays ever, predicts the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Some 2.7 million vehicles will travel about 600 million miles between 6 p.m. Thursday and midnight Sunday.

That's not a record figure, however, since last year's holiday was 102 hours long and motorists traveled about 700 million miles.

Yet, the number of vehicles pulling trailers could be 25 per cent greater than last year at this time," an auto club spokesman said of the approaching 78-hour weekend.

Recreation vehicle production figures have not only jumped 25 per cent, but Michigan's travel coach license plate sales for 1968 are up 18 per cent from 1967.

The 1968 license plate sales figure for trailer and recreation vehicles is expected to jump at least 15 per cent over last year.

Every seventh car or truck on the road this weekend is expected to be hauling a trailer.

It Seems to Me...

Burger Appointment Sign of 'Court' Philosophy Shift

Appointment of WARREN E. BURGER as Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court has been hailed far and wide. Most commentators regard it as a constructive step.

Chief Justice EARL WARREN retires next month and no previous Chief Justice has left the bench with less regret. This is unfortunate. Anyone who has labored long hours in a high place merits a definite feeling of loss when he departs but the United States will accept this particular severance with honest relief.

curately reflect the feeling of justice that permeates the average breast in America.

Justices BRENNAN and DOUGLAS are approaching retirement and with ABE FORTAS already gone, it is possible that our top judicial body will be immeasurably strengthened. RICHARD NIXON could find himself naming a majority in his first term of office. Few Chief Executives have experienced this opportunity.

The New York News, largest circulation in the United States, said editorially: "As beauteous a spectacle as we can imagine would be a parade of Chief Justice Warren and Justices Brennan, Douglas and Fortas leaving the big bench, enabling President Nixon to fill four vacancies with top grade citizens."

The Nation looks ahead with new hope and a greater confidence.

Perhaps only attorneys are qualified to pass valid judgment, but the public in general has found Warren apparently on the side of the lawbreaker so often that they have lost faith in the Washington bench.

Warren E. Burger constitutes a fine move toward a stronger court and one that will more ac-

Personal Attack . . .

Is Legislator ROBERT HUBER really as vindictive as he appears in this Chancellor VARNER matter? HUBER attacked VARNER severely for not taking some definite action when a student disrobed in a classroom.

It was a University matter and before anything was done at all, the student left the Country and never returned. Oakland University considered the incident closed and so did the majority of the public. But Huber seemed to feel the miscreant should be severely punished in Calcutta—or wherever he is in India.

All citizens want campus riots and indecency quelled. This action meets with universal appeal, but personal attacks on Chancellor VARNER defy justice and paint a sorry picture of the Senator.

Stadium Location . . .

Michigan's domed stadium still whirls about with no actual home. The three best locations are here in Oakland County but the squawks from prejudiced Detroiters abound. Voluble and vocal citizens to the south exploit two vastly inferior locations within the confines of their sacred city.

Downtown Detroit would constitute the most dismal stadium site in all athletic history. Its only virtue lies in the fact it might revive the sagging, flagging interests of a decadent commercial area that wants to be bailed out. Should the whole State of Michigan pay this private bill?

Downtown is the worst possible location for people in general. It's the dismal end of a hodge-podge entrance and exit. It borders on an impossible river. Thus one-half of the entrances are blanketed forever and circumscribed by water. Those remaining are overcrowded, poky and impossible. Some Detroiters doggedly adhere to this ludicrous spot, willy-nilly.

The other Detroit location would be the Fair Grounds which seems to be slowly fading from the picture—and should.

Oakland County's three spots are vastly superior any way you study the matter. All three rise far above mediocrity and the taint of dubious locations. All are vastly superior to the misfits in Detroit. The land is definitely more economical and the locations are sensible and accessible.

Further, the impartial committee named to study the matter preferred one of the Oakland County spots almost unanimously. At the moment, the domed stadium is doomed by contention and bickering.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook* of your peripatetic reporter:

Former President LYNDON JOHNSON has gone in for serious calisthenics and works out under a trainer. Friends say he looks the best he has in years. . . . Overheard: "Don't make the mistake of starting to cut your grass this year. Once you do, it'll need mower and mower and mower."

Lawyers for the late Senator ROBERT KENNEDY are advising campaign creditors only one million has been raised to pay a three million dollar deficit and that's the end. How about some of that $300 million the KENNEDYS are worth?

Personal nomination for one of the attractive girls in the area: Ann Olsen

Overheard: "Bare feet in the school room used to be a sign of spring. Today it's bare mid-ribs in the supermarket" It was 42 years ago this month that Charles Lindberg flew the Atlantic solo. It took 33 hours, and now they do it in seven. Johnny Longden, Majestic Prince's trainer, made another two million enemies with his silly announcement the great star wouldn't run in the Belmont Stakes. The owner righted the wrong and Longden dropped another two miles in the estimation of newsmen—and others.

'I Think I Detect A New Note Of Cooperation!'

David Lawrence Says:

Code for Judges May Be Near

WASHINGTON — All the Judges on the bench — not merely on the Supreme Court of the United States — will soon have to make up their minds what regular salaries or fees from outside activities are proper for them to receive.

LAWRENCE

Members of Congress will also be confronted with the same problem.

Chief Justice Earl Warren has initiated a meeting of the United States Judicial Conference — the 25-judge policy-making arm of the federal judiciary — to recommend a possible code of ethics and financial reporting rules for all federal judges.

This is not a new undertaking, as the conference standing committees of 11 members has for years set forth principles of judicial conduct. But it is apparent that some of the definitions in the rules hitherto made are not too explicit and may have been too broadly interpreted.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana says that he anticipates that before Judge Warren E. Burger becomes Chief Justice, he will discontinue acceptance of a fee of $2,000 Burger has been receiving annually for three years as a trustee of the Mayo Foundation in Rochester, Minn.

RAISES QUESTION

This raises a question as to whether a person who becomes a judge should be permitted to participate in any matters of a civic nature in his state or community even when such connections have, in fact, nothing to do with any court cases. It is possible that a "conflict of interest" may emerge whenever a judge receives a regular salary or fees from an organization involved in controversial issues or "cause" movements.

The judicial conference is expected to make its report on June 10 and is likely to favor a complete detachment by anyone on the bench.

When the rules of ethics applicable to judges have been determined, there will be a lot of questions asked also about the income received by members of Congress, too, from sources other than their salaries.

If they have funds which have been accumulated before they entered public life, these will naturally have been invested.

It may be that rules will be adopted declaring that no member of Congress should vote on any measure which could affect, directly or indirectly, stocks or bonds or other investments which he or his family may possess. Lack of disclosure often generates suspicion.

Bob Considine Says:

Assemblers of Apollo 11 Have to 'Come Clean'

CAPE KENNEDY — Cleanliness is rated ahead of godliness in the space business.

CONSIDINE

The lunar module in which astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin land on the moon in July will be the cleanest object in space.

It was assembled at Grumman's Long Island plant in a "clean room" by technicians so bacteria-conscious they wore gloves, booties and gauze masks.

They were not permitted to grow beards or smoke within half an hour before starting work on the incredible spacecraft. No sufferers from dandruff were allowed to go near the craft.

The passion for cleanliness was explained today by an official of one of the Cape's several "clean rooms."

ELECTRIC SHOESHINE

Before we entered the brightly lighted 50-by-50 realm of spotlessness we were given an electric shoe shine, had to walk over a grille like the kind once used at amusement parks to blow girls' dresses upward (an industry-rendered obsolete by the mini-skirt) and then we entered a small outer room and were hit from all directions by high winds. Then into the "clean room."

"People are the dirtiest things who enter this place," the custodian said cheerfully. "This room is not at its cleanest just now," he added with a sudden frown we found discouraging. "But it's cleaner, freer of bacteria, than almost any hospital operating room in the world. 'We're naturally very careful about the crews who work on the space vehicles. They are sent here before being fitted to their boosters. No gum-chewing, for example. Particles pop out of chewed gum. For 30 minutes after a man has had a cigarette his lungs still emit particles. 'When there's a vehicle in here, we change the air 100 times an hour. We've got to be sure the 'bird' is clean."

Why? "Two reasons," he said. "Anything that touches the moon or another planet must not carry there any earth bacteria which may be new to that place. We and the Russians agree on that, I might add. Why introduce earth bugs to other places in space?"

"The second reason is that a clean machine functions better than a dirty one so we want to give the 'bird' every chance to fulfill its mission."

FBI Strength

The San Diego Union

J. Edgar Hoover, observing his 45th anniversary today as the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is the embodiment of law and order in the United States of America.

Guided by a singular dedication and clarity of purpose, Mr. Hoover has become an institution of the federal government, a living tradition.

It is awesome to consider that his span of service to his country dates back to Calvin Coolidge and includes the tenure of eight presidents.

Mr. Hoover set strict professional guidelines for the FBI from the beginning, May 10, 1924. He insisted that "only persons qualified through education would make up the investigative staff; that all employees were to be above reproach in character and reputation."

Under his close guidance, the FBI developed a worldwide reputation for

State's Roadside Beauty Is Ruined by Dumping

Our once beautiful roads are being cluttered with debris and have become dumping grounds for junk appliances, furniture and trash by those who don't seem to care. Continuing this practice will make our beautiful State a trash heap beyond correction.

Providing free dumping grounds might be the answer. However, just for a start, drive on these roads and see for yourself: Sleeth, Waldon, Maybee, N. Squirrel, Butler and Featherstone.

Big headlines in a Detroit paper state "stadium in Southfield appears near." What happened to Pontiac? Nothing is said about Pontiac's chances. I guess politics has more to say about things like this than the public.

Question and Answer

A friend of mine ordered "Master Detective" for me as a Christmas present. Jan. 29th I received a card saying it had been ordered for me. My friend received her cancelled check, but I still have no magazine. What can be done?

MRS. CHARLES RIBBLE
UNION LAKE

REPLY

The subscription department for Master Detective says it usually takes 10-12 weeks to process a new subscription, but you certainly should have had it by now. They promised to see what caused the delay and correct any mistake that has been made. In the meantime, they're sending you a current copy to keep you interested until things are straightened out.

Question and Answer

Whom do we see next when the Pontiac Township Supervisor says he doesn't have time to see that people remove old junk cars, washing machines, etc., from their yards, which are making a nice neighborhood look run down? We'd like some action now before it gets worse.

OAKNOLL-KNOLLWOOD RESIDENT

REPLY

Supervisor Wahl is just as distressed by the situation as you, but says the Township has only three full-time employees. While they work on zoning enforcement as much as they can, other business often has priority. We suggest you and other interested citizens make your feelings known at Township Board meetings, which are held the second and fourth Mondays of each month. If enough of you show interest, perhaps the Board would find the means to take action.

U. S. Navy

Davenport (Ia.) Times-Democrat

A warning in Congress that an aging U.S. naval fleet and a lackluster shipbuilding program have permitted the Soviet Union to cut into U.S. superiority on the high seas has an ominous ring.

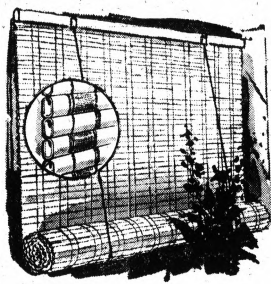

It is too reminiscent of the naval disaster which the Russians themselves suffered more than a half-century ago.

In a manner which set the pattern for the assault on Pearl Harbor, the Japanese Fleet commanded by Vice Adm. Heihachiro Togo attacked without warning the Russian ships in Manchuria's Port Arthur, Feb. 8, 1904. Two days later Japan declared war.

Most of the Russian Pacific fleet was bottled up in Port

Postal Workers Among Top Lobbying Spenders

MRS. LEO HARTWIG

Fete Is Held for Retiring City Teacher

An Eastern Junior High School teacher who has devoted more than four decades to schoolchildren was honored at a reception yesterday afternoon at the Pontiac Teachers Credit Union, 100 Auburn.

Mrs. Leo (Neva) Hartwig of 781 Snell, Rochester was the guest of honor at the surprise reception, sponsored by the school PTA, staff and students.

She has taught at Eastern since 1945 and is retiring next month.

She has a bachelor of arts degree from Michigan State Normal College (Eastern Michigan University) and a master's degree from University of Michigan.

Mrs. Hartwig started teaching in 1922 in Oxford, and has taught in Macomb County, EMU and Hickory Grove Elementary School in Bloomfield Hills.

She is a long-time member of the Michigan Education Association and the Pontiac Education Association.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postal employee groups were among big spenders for lobbying during the first three months of 1969.

Their financial statements, along with those of others required to report under the lobbying laws, have been published in the Congressional Record.

About 20 of the hundreds of individuals and organizations reported spent in excess of $10,000 on "legislative interests" during the three months. The amounts included office rental costs, payrolls and other operating expenses not itemized in the Record.

Many of those who filed did not list any spending but reported substantial income during the period.

The National Association of Letter Carriers reported expenditures of $44,136. The National Association of Postal Supervisors said it spent $15,642. The United Federation of Postal Clerks listed $40,002. Largest expenditure was $48,356 reported by the National Housing Conference.

Postal employees are interested in a forthcoming automatic pay raise which some claim is inadequate. They also are concerned with proposals to reorganize the Post Office Department.

About 12 million television viewers in the United States receive their programs via a community antenna or cable system.

Study of Child Defects Urged

LANSING (AP) — Noting that the U.S. Army rejects about one-third of the prospective soldiers because of physical problems, a Republican state senator has asked for a special committee study of the "causes and effects of physical abnormalities in Michigan school children."

Sen. Oscar Bouwma of Muskegon said Army statistics show that about 10 per cent of those men rejected by the Army for physical reasons were unaware of their abnormalities.

"When the abnormalities were explained to the rejects," he said, "Most were anxious to have corrective work done and 41 per cent of them did receive care."

"It was determined that .90 per cent of the abnormalities could have been corrected prior to rejection if they had been discovered earlier," Bouwma said.

His resolution urging the Senate study committee suggests that "methods and procedures be outlined for early detection and possible curing of such physical abnormalities."

Med Annual Has Study in Anatomy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 1969 yearbook of Jefferson Medical School is apt to become a collector's item — there's a centerfold color picture of a nude girl in it.

The auburn-haired girl is wearing a white nurse's cap and a small pearl pendant, but nothing else. She's lying on a blue rug, reading a medical text.

Jan T. Raynak of Greensburg, Pa., the yearbook manager, said the picture was included in only about 300 of the yearbook's 1,200 copies, but it is available for insertion in all of them.

He declined to identify the young woman, in her 20s. He said she is not a nurse and has no connection with Jefferson.

"The reason we decided to put the nude in the yearbook," said Raynak, "was to get it more widely distributed." He added, "We've already sold twice as many yearbooks to students."

3 Ships, 10 Aircraft in Apollo Recovery Force

ABOARD USS PRINCETON (AP) — Seven Navy helicopters, three Navy ships and five Air Force rescue planes formed the splashdown reception committee for Apollo 10.

This helicopter carrier and the communications ship USS Arlington were stationed in the target area. The destroyers USS Carpenter was positioned about 500 miles down range of the primary landing site just in case.

Between them, the ships and aircraft carried millions of dollars worth of communications and electronic tracking equipment. The surface and aerial forces had made practice pickups of make-believe astronauts and a dummy command module in weather conditions rougher than predicted today while waiting for the real thing to come parachuting down.

WEATHER FORECAST:

Lt. Thomas S. Nelson of Long

Beach, Calif., the Princeton's weatherman, forecast scattered clouds, an easterly wind of about 10 miles an hour and seas of four to five feet. Topping off a 260-pound wheel came home cake for the moon mission men was one of the final touches completed Sunday.

In the cake's icing, Snoopy, the famed Peanuts pooch, is sitting on top of his doghouse, his scarf flapping behind him.

"Here's the world famous astronaut circling the moon in his lunar module," he thinks. LUCY SCOLDS. Meanwhile, far below on earth, Lucy is reprimanding Charlie Brown. "Good grief, Charlie Brown. You mean you left that dog up there all alone around the moon without his supper dish?"

shows a sugar icing Saturn 5 rocket blasting off toward a green-cheese moon. The right side shows the command module heading for the South Pacific toward a swarm of helicopters and a creeping recovery ship. The left side of the cake ship.

Spacemen Solve Shaving

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 10 astronauts shaved in space for the first time Sunday. No American astronaut had tried it before.

"We were getting where we could barely stand ourselves there for awhile," Eugene A. Cernan said as his teammates' beardless chins appeared on color television from space.

The space agency had spent thousands of dollars trying unsuccessfully to develop a power razor.

Experts had said the shorn bristles would float around in the weightlessness of space. No razor ever made it off the ground.

Then a fellow astronaut bought a safety razor in a drug store and gave it to the Apollo 10 men.

So Cernan, Thomas P. Stafford and John W. Young shaved the regular way and had no problems.

"After spending a lot of money on mechanical shavers—which always manage to leave the whiskers flying around the atmosphere—somebody finally came up with the idea of using a razor and brushless shaving cream," Young reported with deadpan seriousness.

"You rub it on and it keeps the whiskers when you shave it off," Young continued. "Put it in a towel and dispose of it and you end up clean shaven."

GOP, Dem Donor Units Are Renamed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans and Democrats in a bit of clubsmanship have renamed their major fundraising groups to reflect the change in the White House.

Contributors of $1,000 to the Republican cause are now entitled to membership in a group called RN Associates. The RN stands for Richard Nixon, of course, the GOP's new man in the White House.

On the Democratic side, gone is the President's Club for $1,000 donors which flourished during Lyndon Johnson's days in office. This club's successor is the National Democratic Sponsor's Club.

Republican spokesmen say RN Associations—it replaces the out-of-power Republican Associates—is worth little in benefits to members, perhaps an RN lapel pin, an occasional meeting, or an invitation to a White House party.

Republican spokesmen decline to give the number of members in their new club. The GOP has yet to decide whether to grant membership to 2,700 donors who attended a fund-raising benefit last May 2 at $1,000 a plate.

Another Republican group called the Booster's Club has a membership of at least 1,000 members and is being expanded. This organization was originally created by the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee to raise funds for GOP challengers running against Democratic incumbents.

Mansfield Faults Congress for Part of Military Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield said he believes the controversy over the mounting congressional claims of wasteful military spending—brought a change of attitude.

“I think that the Congress has been at fault for allowing things to get out of hand,” Mansfield said Sunday.

But unlike congressional critics who are pressing for investigation of military contract practices and legislation to control them, Mansfield said he believes the controversy over the antimissile system already has brought a change of attitude.

And he said the blame cannot be laid simply to growth of a military-industrial combine.

“I think this combine,” he said, “which is not just military industrial but includes labor, the academic area, and the political field—including people like myself who want projects for their states—are all at fault and are all to blame because we haven't had the guts to stand up to this growth like topsy.”

Wherever the blame lies, Mansfield said, he questions the type of military contracts that have been let, the money spent, the money wasted, “and the first two weeks in June. A fact that until last year all the Defense Department had to do was to ask and they would receive.”

“There are clear signs that the federal government is spending too much money on military programs,” Proxmire said. “Huge cost overruns, waste and inefficiency have become the hallmarks of military procurement.”

A bill to provide automatic congressional review of cost overruns and late delivery by government contractors has been introduced by Rep. James F. Hastings, R-N.Y., to curb what he calls “extravagant expenditures by the military.”

The investigations would be conducted by Congress' watchdog, the General Accounting Office, and the results routinely turned over to appropriate committee.

Hastings, Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., and others list such examples of extra costs or canceled contracts as:

- The CSA military cargo plane, being produced by Lockheed Aircraft Corp., “which is now going to cost the taxpayers an additional $2 billion,” Hastings said.
- The Cheyenne helicopter, whose contract was scrapped during negotiations which would have added $200 million to its estimated $875 million total cost.

- The Snark missile, cancelled after an expenditure of $667 million.
- The Navajo missile, scrapped after a cost of $679 million.
- “The Skybolt missile, scrapped,” said Hastings, “when it couldn't hit the target but not before costing $440 million.”

'Pot' Found in New Bethel Pastor's Bags

DETROIT (AP) — The Rev. C.L. Franklin, pastor of the New Bethel Baptist Church, was to appear at Detroit Police Headquarters today for questioning in connection with alleged possession of marijuana.

Franklin, father of popular singer Aretha Franklin, and his chauffeur were taken into custody Saturday.

Police said the marijuana was found in four pieces of luggage Franklin and the chauffeur, Ralph Williams, 38, picked up at Metropolitan Airport Sunday. A 38-caliber revolver found in a bedroom also was confiscated.

Detective George Gihbard of the State Police Intelligence Section said he received a call from an airline office at the airport saying they had found marijuana believed to be Franklin's New Bethel Baptist Church, was to appear at Detroit Police Headquarters today for questioning in connection with alleged possession of marijuana.

WENT TO AIRPORT

Gihbard said he called Lt. Warner Stringfellow of the Detroit police narcotics bureau and the two went to the airport to watch the luggage. After the luggage was claimed by Franklin, the pair followed the pastor to Franklin's Detroit home.

They returned later in the afternoon and arrested the men. A 38-caliber revolver found in a bedroom also was confiscated.

Franklin said his luggage was not at the airport where he re-promised to appear for questioning turned to Detroit from Dallas today.

Friday. He also said he did not know how the marijuana got into his luggage.

“Where it came from, or who and another wounded in a shoot-out it there, or who held my gun for 24 hours I don't know,” Franklin said.

Both Franklin and Williams were released Saturday on a

Franklin said he “wondered” if there was any connection between the arrest and the shootings. “Someone wants to disgrace me,” he said.

Excellent Performance

Symphony Ends Season

BY BERNICE ROSENTHAL

Overture to "Merry Wives of Windsor" ... Nicolai
Pavanne ... Faure
Excerpts from "New World" Symphony ... Dvorak
Violin Concerto in D ... Brahms

Gordon Staples was the guest artist with the Pontiac Symphony yesterday afternoon at Pontiac Northern High School Auditorium. With this concert, the orchestra, under the direction of Felix Resnick, closed its 15th season in a blaze of glory, musically speaking.

Mr. Staples, the concert master of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, is a polished violinist, a soloist with rich lush tones and a sense of the dramatic. He has a broad, sweeping style so necessary for the interpretation of the Brahms Concerto which he played with the magnitude and dimension which the work demands.

The music is difficult to play and even more difficult to interpret. But Mr. Staples has the maturity, the attention to every minute detail, the assurance and the technical background to carry it off with ease and dignity.

It was an impressive performance, touched with majesty and that magic spark which casts a spell of wonderment and pleasure.

Nicola's "The Merry Wives of Windsor" Overture opened the program on a light familiar note. A slight ragged quality in the upper strings soon disappeared and the overture proceeded gallily to its headlong, happy conclusion.

The first and fourth movements of Dvorak's Symphony "To the New World" presented the orchestra in full force. The symphony had a fresh viewpoint, a strong sound, a feeling of fullness and depth, with especially fine projection by brass and woodwind sections.

Yet there was none of the heaviness nor overplaying that this symphony sometimes engenders. Mr. Resnick wove a magic spell of musical color, and the right blend of bravado, gaiety and nostalgia which is part and parcel of this familiar work.

Yet the beauty which most touched the heart of the audience was Gabriel Faure's mystical "Pavanne," a small gem of single melodic line, so gently

Couple's Love Blind to Hardships Involved

MUSKOGON (UPI) — The love of Marshall Hauchin, Louisville, Ky., for Aubrey Weinert, Muskogon, was truly blind.

Miss Weinert, 26, was married Saturday to Hauchin, 24, at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Muskogon.

Four months ago, Miss Weinert fell and fractured her knee cap in Rochester, Mich. Hauchin, who was nearby, heard her cries and picked her up.

"I guess we fell in love then and there," Hauchin said. Hauchin and Miss Weinert were in Rochester to undergo training at the Leader Dog School for the Blind. Both have been sightless for two years.

Little Boys Love to Talk; Teach Son Good Lesson

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who tells his wife everything that happens on a trip away from home? You see, Albert travels and is away from home about two weeks out of every month.

He is always telling me about how he and some other guys get mixed up with strip-teasers and belly dancers, and they close the club and go to those girls' places and drink until morning. But Albert never does anything. It's always the other guys. He claims he gets rooked into situations like this.

I am wondering if he is telling me the whole truth. How come if my Albert is so innocent, things like this keep happening to him? But on the other hand, if he were guilty, why should he mention it?

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: You don't say how old your Albert is, but he has a lot of growing up to do. Little boys like to talk. Your husband has a big mouth and probably an imagination which is bigger. He could also be trying to make you jealous, so you'll appreciate him more. When he starts on another one of his Arabian Nights tales, tune him out and change the subject.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to "Bewildered Grandma," who says her husband at 69 is still looking at bosomy women.

I am only 17, but I know this much about men. They look at women until they die.

My father is 50 and he's still looking. My brother, who is 25, is happily married, but he is looking, too. I have a boyfriend who is nearly 20, and he also looks.

So, Grandma, don't worry. The only way you'll stop "Grandpa" from looking is to poke his eyes out.

CINDY

DEAR CINDY: I wouldn't recommend it. He who isn't able to "look" resorts to Braille.

DEAR ABBY: Tell that "BEWILDERED GRANDMA" whose husband likes to look at the cute, young girls that she is lucky.

Selecting Your Own Winning Style Is the Name of the Fashion Game

By JEANNE NELSON

Traditionally, Memorial Day weekend is the official kick-off for summer leisure and sporting activities. And, whether you jet off to Indianapolis for the "500" or stay around town for the local events, the password is dress for the occasion.

Those lucky enough to be attending the "big race" and all the social flurry that goes along with it will want to concentrate on packables requiring little care. The knits, of course, are perfect for this. Be sure it's a costume that will do double duty.

perhaps a matching sweater or contrasting bolero.

It's back to the more formal wear on the next evening when the victory dinner takes place in Murat Temple. And of course, sandwiched in-between will be the many cocktail parties and luncheons. So be prepared with a versatile wardrobe for all these events.

HOMEFRONT

On the homefront, there will be horse racing and the trotters at Hazel Race Track and Wolverine Raceway. If you plan to spend much time in the clubhouse, be sure your choice of clothes befits the conservative elegance found here.

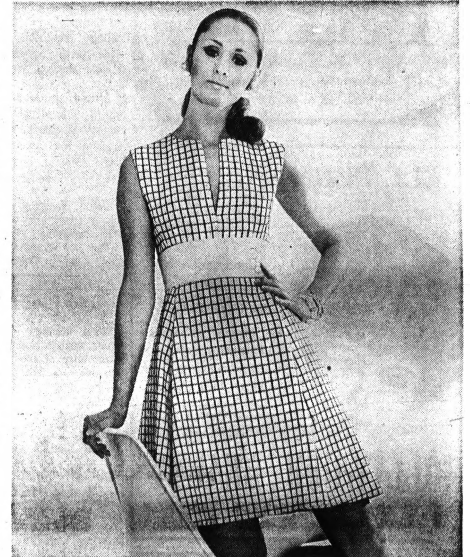

Those really lucky gals who find themselves crewing aboard a sailboat will be on the right tack with matching or mixed outfits that repel water. The selections are unlimited with Old Glory red, white and blue leading the way.

Those attending private yacht club races as spectators and perhaps staying on for cocktails and dinner will find the most comfortable attire a simple cotton or linen dress. Many of the clubs still don't allow pants ensembles in the dining room.

Family campers have it the easiest with little thoughts of "how do I look?" Still, it's a scarce woman indeed that doesn't care at all about her appearance.

So, if it's off to the north woods with the family over this holiday weekend, you can still do it in style with slacks, shorts and tops that can be interchanged with each other. Then, if the clockstov goes out, you'll always be presentable for a meal in the local restaurant.

A reception at the Metropolitan Club feted newlyweds, the Larry D. Wilmots (nee Janet K. Pfeuffer) Saturday.

The daughter of Henry Pfeuffer of Southfield and Mrs. E. R. Gross of Merelus Street and the son of the Vernon Wilmots of Loon Lake Shores Drive were married that evening in Central United Methodist Church, Highland.

ORGANZA GOWN

Bridesmaids were Janis Wilmot, Terry French, Mrs. Ronald Tarlton and Mrs. Patrick Shelton with Lisa Pfeuffer as flower girl.

Gary Wilmot was best man with James Pfeuffer, Richard Howard, Ronald Tarlton and Bruce Sigal as ushers. Keith Wilmot was ring bearer.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Florida.

Policeman Aims to Shoot Best of the Teen Scene

By JEANNE NELSON

Joe Kerr is not an ordinary cop. And, one of the things that put him in the extraordinary class is his interest in kids. Both on and off the job, Joe is the kind of man who always has a minute to listen to youthful protests and dreams.

His own son, Mike, now a first lieutenant with the United States Army in Vietnam, is just one of many boys who have learned the secret of coping in the wilderness from Joe.

From the time Mike was just a youngster, his father has taken him, along with lots of other boys whose parents were "too busy," up into the north country to learn the fine art of hunting. And straight a aim wasn't the only thing they learned.

RESPONSIBILITY FIRST
Long before a boy got to shoot, he was taught the responsibility and safety of handling a gun. In addition, the boys were taught bow and arrow shooting and fishing.

Somewhere, sandwiched in-between all the instruction in skills, Joe managed to convey some of his philosophies on life to the young men too.

Taking picture on these expeditions was just routine.

NEW ANGLE
Now, there's a new project for Joe. He has taken on the complete filming of the Candy Striper's training at Pontiac General Hospital. Joe has spent most of the free time he's had during the past few months shooting pictures of the girls from initial interviews to final slides, all neatly cataloged, line capping ceremonies.

Mrs. Dorothy Wood of PGH's Motorway Drive.

Volunteer department says, "Of this new bunch, he says 'I should bring them some slide program will be think showing what these young taken to area schools helping to girls do and the time they deserve recognition.'"

It's Always Better Not to Be Bitter

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

Many years ago I had a teacher who tacked mottoes and proverbs on the classroom wall. She changed most of them periodically, but one slogan hung forever above the blackboard. Big black letters said, "Don't be bitter. Work to make things better." I admit we made fun of her and do not doubt that she knew it.

However, reading it so many times must have burned it into my brain because I no longer merely remember it—I believe in it. The Christophers have a slogan that puts it this way: It is better to light one candle than to curse the darkness.

That is the suggestion I have for the student who wrote and asked me, "Why is it that our school is the same as when my parents attended? They pretend that it is integrated but it is not. I do not believe in segregation and neither do the other kids I know."

"Don't be bitter" is about all I can say to the woman from Kentucky who told me she was invited by a "couple's" Sunday School class to be their teacher. Later, after a church board meeting, she was told she was not qualified to hold the post. Why? Without a blush, they gave her the reason for their decision: "There are men in the class and a woman should not be teaching men."

"I can suggest to the teen-ager who was removed from her post as teacher of a Sunday School class of third grade boys. She was told she was sacrilegious. Why? Because she had the good sense to tell the boys that in her opinion Jesus, if he were walking the earth today, would use things such as airplanes and rockets in parables. She explained that sheep and grain were familiar symbols of Biblical times.

And then, I have on my desk a letter—the stationery is that of the school system in a large southwestern community. The woman to whom it is addressed she does read it in order to send it to me. The letter says, "I am a teacher who tacked mottoes and proverbs on the classroom wall. She changed most of them periodically, but one slogan hung forever above the blackboard. Big black letters said, 'Don't be bitter. Work to make things better.' I admit we made fun of her and do not doubt that she knew it."

This restriction has been removed, but because of excellent tenure in the system... The last sentence destined it to my How's That Again? file. It says, "Do you wish us to retain your application?"

Still Some Bargains for Careful Shoppers

By MARY FEELEY
Management
Consultant in Money

Well, there they go again — food prices in the markets are edging a little bit higher still you? — an indictment that's While economists in the U.S. hard to take without fighting Dept. of Agriculture estimate back that the price rise in 1969 will probably average only one percent or two per cent above 1968 prices, the family food shopper is going to realize sooner or later that's not such a small per cent after all.

The reason being, that at the end of 1968, food prices averaged some four per cent above a year earlier. So even a little price rise, when it comes on top of another, can hardly go unnoticed.

One consolation, however, for the family that does most of its dining at home: restaurant food prices, as separate from market shopping, are expected to increase about five per cent this year over a year ago.

Also, to console the home food shopper, there are still food bargains to be had in the retail stores if you comparison-shop — and if you're willing to be adventurous and broadened the base of your accustomed cooking and eating habits.

Judging from the mail any day in the week, the family food shopper is not only eternally concerned with fitting her particular grocery bill into her particular budget. She wants to know how she stacks up with the neighbors when it comes to stretching a dollar.

AVERAGE

Mrs. H.W.T., in the Southwest asks:

"Could you tell me the average amount of money a housewife spends today, per week, on food for a family of five — three girls 8, 15, and 17? I'm interested to know how those 'other wives' I hear about are managing. I'm no gourmet cook, but we eat basic, nourishing food."

An average shopping pattern — which varies to some degree, of course, in different areas — would range from about $45-$49 per week for a family of that size and those ages. That price bracket reflects moderate expenditures for moderate menus, with the figures a bit higher than estimates last recorded by the food statisticians.

It always requires a certain amount of time to gather and tabulate such statistics, and in the interim, prices don't stand still.

Mrs. G.M., of LaSalle, Ill., also wants some ammunition she can use if called on the carpet for so-called extravagance. "How much of a weekly take pay of $173 should go for food, with two teen-agers and a younger boy?"

DINNERTIME

Here, again, national averages show a range — from 1 per cent to 40 per cent of the take-home pay. And here, again, pinpointing your own particular figure depends on many variables: size and ages and sexes in the family, with other fixed commitments must come out of income, general health and size of appetites, and food prejudices. And neither last not least, how important is dinnertime to your family?

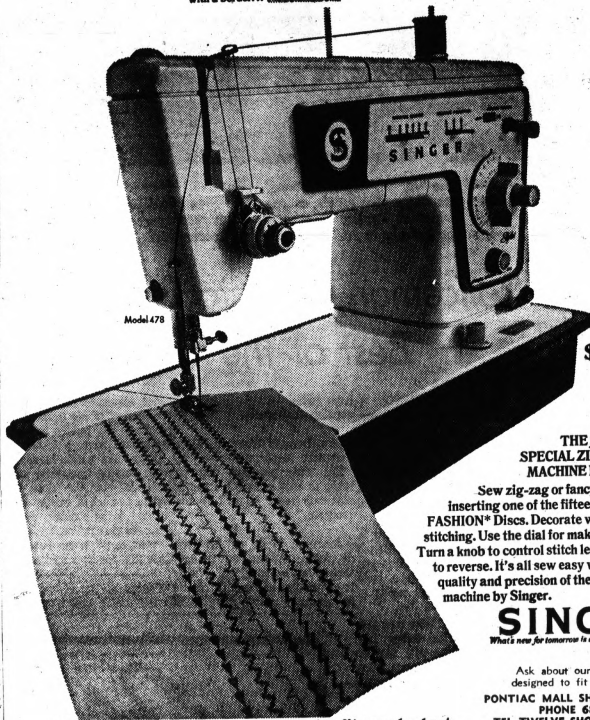

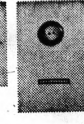

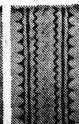

In some households, it's acknowledged to be the main source of entertainment. So, actually, any argument over food bills should start with "How much more do we want a certain standard of dining than we want other things we might buy instead?"

Ammonia Useful; Safety Requires Care in Handling

Ammonia (household), is a mild solution of water and pure ammonia (an alkaline gas composed of nitrogen and hydrogen). The solution may vary in concentration from 5 percent to 10 percent and may be either clear or cloudy. While cloudy ammonia contains a small amount of soap or detergent and tends to be sudsier, either type may be used as a laundry additive.

Since ammonia "cuts" grease and has a slight bleaching action when added to the wash load, it helps loosen deeply embedded stains and oily soil. Applied directly, it is also frequently recommended in the treatment of stains such as perspiration, blood, and mercuriochrome. Being extremely alkaline, it should be thoroughly rinsed away.

In the interest of promoting household safety, one rule should always be followed when using ammonia: "Never mix it with chlorine bleach." This mixture results in the formation of irritating fumes. Used as recommended, however, ammonia is an excellent laundry aid. Be sure to keep ammonia out of the hands of children.

Adventurer Sets Sail in Papyrus Boat

SAFI, Morocco (AP) — "She is really riding well," Thor Heyerdahl reported as he set out for America Sunday in his papyrus boat.

His 15-ton craft made of interlocking reeds and looking like a bright yellow basket with a wine-red sail, dropped a tow line 12 miles from the North African coast and headed west-southwest for the deep-running Canary Islands current.

"She is doing better than I expected," Heyerdahl shouted to a sailboat on which his wife, Yvonne, was a passenger. "She is steering perfectly."

With six companions, Heyerdahl began a voyage he hopes will prove a theory for historians in the same way that his voyage across the Pacific 22 years ago on the raft Kon-Tiki proved that people who settled the Polynesian islands could have sailed to Peru.

EGYPTIAN CULTURE

On this journey, Heyerdahl hopes to demonstrate that a boatload of ancient Egyptians could have taken their culture to the New World 5,000 years ago and influenced the pre-Columbian civilization of the Indians of Mexico and Peru.

Heyerdahl hopes to reach the Yucatan peninsula of Mexico in three or four months.

Many papyrus experts and archeologists doubt the vessel, named the Ra after the Egyptian sun god, will be able to hold up that long. They expect it to become waterlogged and disintegrate.

But the skipper, gray-haired and sharp-eyed at 54, said just before departure: "The boat will float. The problem is how long it will take us to learn to navigate."

LIFE RAFT ABOARD

If the Ra sinks, there is a life raft aboard.

The rudderless vessel's steering system, two 30-foot long oars, had never been used by modern men. Heyerdahl said several days of aimless drifting.

After two days of postponements, the Ra was towed away from her moorings by 16 oarsmen. She listed to starboard, but Heyerdahl said she had been loaded that way to compensate for prevailing winds.

The boat rode high and easily in swells of about three feet. Heyerdahl stood on the steering platform behind the small cabin.

FLAGS FLYING

The sail was emblazoned with an orange sunburst. Flying from the 20-foot mast were a United Nations flag and a flag for each nation represented in the seven-man crew.

Besides Heyerdahl, a Norwegian, they are: Norman Baker, 40, the navigator, from New Rochelle, N.Y.; Yuri Cenkevitch, 40, a Soviet physician and psychologist; George Sourial, 28, an Egyptian diver; Abdoulaye Djibrine, 34, of Chad, a papyrus expert; Carlo Mauri, 39, an Italian explorer and photographer; and Santiago Genoves, 45, an anthropologist from Mexico.

A last-minute addition to the crew was Safi, a five-month-old monkey who slumped on a chain at the stern. The monkey is named for the ancient Phoenician port from which the Ra sailed.

Space is scarce on the boat, which is about 55 feet long and 15 feet wide. But Heyerdahl was determined to keep the boat faithful to the drawing found in an Egyptian pyramid that provided the model.

FOR ENTERTAINMENT

The Ra is equipped with radio and a few modern navigation devices. For entertainment, the American brought along a harmonica and the Russian brought books by Hemingway and Tolstoy. The Chadian brought pictures of his three wives.

Trying to duplicate conditions the Egyptians might have sailed under, the crew has a ton of water, dates, nuts, dried meat and honey stored in earthenware jars to supplement a basic diet of fresh fish. There also is a coop of chickens.

Heyerdahl got the idea for the voyage in 1952 when he saw a picture of a reed boat on Inca pottery in Peru. It was similar to the boats of the ancient Egyptians.

He noted other similarities between the two cultures—worship of sister married, and similar hier-of the sun, step pyramids, caste oglyphs and surgical instruments in which brother and ments.

GIs in Two Viet Offenses

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced two new American offensives in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces and said they were aimed at "capturing or destroying enemy forces, material and installations."

The two new drives have accounted for 142 North Vietnamese soldiers killed since they began, one 18 days ago, the other 11 days ago, U.S. headquarters said. U.S. casualties were put at 28 killed and 134 wounded.

The command said announcements of the operations were withheld for security reasons.

One of the offensives, Operation Lamar Plain, was launched May 16 by hundreds of paratroopers from the U.S. 101st Airborne Division in jungled foothills 45 miles south of Da Nang. It is aimed at taking pressure off the important provincial capital of Tam Ky, around which there has been heavy fighting in recent weeks. The U.S. Command said 113 North Vietnamese and 26 paratroopers have been killed, and 102 paratroopers wounded.

MARINES CHECK AREA

In the second drive, about 1,000 U.S. Marines from the 3rd Division are checking an area north-northeast of the abandoned combat base of Khe Sanh about 18 miles east of the Lam-tam border and 10 miles below the Demilitarized Zone.

Dubbed Operation Herkimer Mountain, it has produced few significant results since it was launched May 9. The U.S. Command reported 29 North Vietnamese killed and said U.S. casualties have been two killed and 32 wounded.

The U.S. Command also reported 26 enemy rocket and mortar attacks Sunday night but said only 10 caused casualties or damage and these were light. The Command also reported two more American helicopters shot down, with seven Americans wounded. This raised to 2,678 the number of American helicopters reported lost in the war.

Allied sources reported today that casualties in the war last week included about 300 Americans, 413 South Vietnamese and 4,000 of the enemy, according to preliminary reports.

CASUALTY STATISTICS

The U.S. command in Saigon announced that more than 40 of the enemy were killed for every allied soldier during a 24-hour period of the weekend. But battlefield reports gave a ratio Saturday and Sunday of 23 to one, with 436 Vietnamese and North Vietnamese, 12 Americans and six South Vietnamese killed. Another 100 Americans and 16 South Vietnamese were wounded.

The kill ratio for the casualties reported for last week was nearly 6 enemy to 1 allied soldier. This was somewhat less minerals.

Water hardness is caused by mineral chemicals dissolved from underground rocks, mostly calcium from soft limestone.

'Born Free' Cats Dangerous, She Feels

Mother of Lion-Mauled Boy Gives Her Side of Story

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Mrs. Peter Jenkins last week told her family's side of the story about George Adamson's lions.

"Ever since people heard that George Adamson had to get rid of his three lions they have been writing asking why I don't teach my children not to torment animals," Mrs. Jenkins said.

Her husband is a park warden. Last March 9 one of Adamson's lions, Boy, climbed into the Jenkins car and severely bit 3-year-old Mark Jenkins as he sat between his parents. Adamson, a retired game warden who has lived near the lions for five years, has been ordered by the directors of Kenya's national parks to drive them away and make them fear human beings.

Mrs. Jenkins feels that the three lions, trained for the movie "Born Free" to get into vehicles and be free of any fear of humans, are dangerous.

SITTING ON TOP

Recalling the evening Boy attacked, she said:

"We were driving through the park on the way back from a long trip. We saw Adamson's Land Rover and my husband stopped to leave some mail with George's assistant, John Baxendale.

"Boy was sitting on top of the Land Rover. There was no indication he would attack. Mark was next to me and the baby was on my lap as Boy got up and stretched. My husband got back in our Toyota.

"Within a split second Boy leapt off the Land Rover and dived into our front seat for Mark. His head, shoulders and forelegs were inside, across Peter's lap, and his teeth were in Mark's arm.

'INCREDIBLY QUICK'

"I pushed the baby against the far door with my elbow and held Mark still with my hands around his waist to steady him so the lion wouldn't do any more harm.

"Peter hit the lion with his fist and started the vehicle, forcing the lion to let go as his hind feet had been on the ground.

"It sounds as though it took an hour but it was all incredibly quick..."

Adamson, who rescued the lions from going to zoos after the filming of "Born Free," said the order to banish them was heartbreaking.

"Anybody who has owned a dog might easily understand that to have to start kicking it around is not easy," he commented.

Peter Whitehead, who helped Adamson train lions for "Born

Free" and who has worked with wild animals in Africa for 18 years, says Boy acted with the instinct of any cat—the same instinct which prompts house cats to bring squealing field mice and half-dead birds home.

Whitehead says he and Adamson worked together to keep Boy, Girl and Ugus from being sent to zoos. But now that Boy has attacked someone, he feels that all three lions should either be shipped to Ethiopia, which has agreed to take them, or placed in one of the new lion parks in England or the United States.

What happened could happen again, he says, adding that both he and Mark's father are opposed to shooting the lions because what happened "was not their fault;" they acted by instinct.

Mark spent five weeks in the hospital, and had to have his torn arm opened three times because of infection. He has recovered physically, but his mother says it has affected him emotionally.

For longer than Mark can remember he has visited Adamson's camp and seen Boy, Girl and Ugus. He sobbed "Why? Why? Why?" after the attack and still cannot understand why Boy bit him.

Saints Alive(?)—Vatican Creates Unholy Mess

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Without doubt, it was one of the biggest mix-ups in recent Catholic history.

First, the saints went marching out — and then some of them were back in again. Catholics around the world were confused, some were angry and protests descended on the Vatican.

The confusion arose from Pope Paul VI's reform of the church calendar, announced May 9 and effective next Jan. 1.

The Pope, following a 1964 recommendation of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, reduced the number of saints who must be mentioned at Mass to 58 a year, not counting Mary, St. Joseph, the angels and the apostles.

33 HISTORICALLY DUBIOUS

In the process, he deleted from the calendar 33 historically dubious saints, including the universally popular Christopher, the patron saint of travelers. Others such as St. Nicholas, the 4th century bishop turned by tradition into Santa Claus, and St. Valentine were downgraded.

A storm of protest from Catholic devotees of individual saints arose. The Vatican came up with a series of clarifications and it finally became apparent that motorists can still pray to St. Christopher. St. Nick still lives and lovers can continue to think of St. Valentine.

Who was to blame for the confusion?

The Vatican, and many parish priests in their Sunday sermons, put the responsibility on the press. Newsmen in turn blame the Vatican for an inadequate and misleading presentation.

PRESS CONFERENCE

The Pope's reform was announced at a Vatican press conference by the Rev. Pierre Journel of Paris.

But he failed to provide a list of all saints involved, and referred newsmen to a newly published edition of the revised calendar.

The Vatican bookshop ran out of copies in no time. Reporters who managed to get one found themselves going through 177 pages of texts and notes — in Latin — to try to figure things out.

There was confusion over which saints were deleted from the calendar and which were merely made optional for special worship.

MANY STILL SAINTS

The Vatican failed to explain immediately that all persons involved remain saints unless and until they are removed from the Roman Martyrology, a list of martyrs and other saints containing more than 5,000 individual or group entries.

In fact, the Vatican did not describe any of the saints as nonexistent. The most it said was that there was no firm proof some of them existed, and facts attributed to them sounded like legend.

They have been suppressed from the general calendar because the Christian people can be invited to official prayer only in the certainty of truth," Journel said at the press conference.

The furor over Christopher, Nicholas, Valentine and other popular saints obscured the basic intention behind the Pope's reform — to shift emphasis from saints generally to the primary event of the Christian faith, the death and resurrection of Christ.

MINDS DIVERTED

The Pope said, "In the course of time, the multiplication of (Saint's) feats . . . (has) often driven the faithful to particular devotions, in such a way that their minds have been somewhat diverted from the fundamental mysteries of our redemption."

To remedy that, the Pope placed more emphasis in the church's public worship on the Easter season and on Sundays, and reduced the number of saints who must be mentioned at Mass.

Here Is Status of Top Issues Facing Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Status of major legislation:

TAXES — President Nixon asks repeal of 7 per cent business investment tax credit, coupled with six-month extension to Jan. 1 of 10 per cent tax surcharge, with reduction then to 5 per cent and repeal June 30, 1970. House Ways and Means Committee has finished hearings.

ABM — Nixon has proposed antiballistic missile system to protect offensive missile sites. Hearings under way in House and Senate.

PAY — Congress raised pay of president from $100,000 to $200,000 a year, plus expenses. Allowed to go into effect March 1 a 41 per cent pay boost for its members, from $30,000 to $42,000 a year. Federal judges, Cabinet members and top executive branch officials also got big increases. Separate bill to raise speaker and vice president from $45,000 to $62,500, plus $10,000 expenses, and House and Senate leaders to $55,000, passed House, but rejected by Senate.

RIOTING — House Education subcommittee holding hearings on college riots and federal aid to students involved. House Internal Security Committee investigating "revolutionary violence" in cities and on campus with hearings planned later. Senate special investigating committee has opened hearings.

CRIME — Nixon has asked extended wiretapping authority to get at corruption of local officials by gamblers. Proposed making it federal crime for gamblers to pay off local police.

SMOKING — House hearings completed on further regulating cigarette advertising and possibly banning broadcast cigarette commercials.

ELECTORAL — Nixon proposed change in method of electing president to avert possible deadlocks. House Judiciary committee approved direct election of president by popular vote. Senate: Judiciary subcommittee completed hearings.

POLLUTION — Administration endorsed House-passed bill to tighten federal regulations on oil drilling and require well and vessel operators to pay cost of cleanup in oil leaks. Senate: Public works subcommittee hearings continuing.

POVERTY — Administration has asked one-year extension of antipoverty program with Job Corps and Head Start to be shifted to Labor Department and Health, Education and Welfare, respectively. House: Education and labor subcommittee hearings under way. Senate: Hearing under way.

HUNGER — Nixon proposed expanded antihunger program to cost $2.5 billion by fiscal 1971. Senate Agriculture subcommittee holding hearings on food stamp program. House takes up appropriation bill today that would give 100 per cent funding to existing antihunger programs.

SPENDING — House has voted to impose a $192.9-billion ceiling on amount administration may spend during fiscal year starting July 1.

NUCLEAR — Senate affirmed nuclear nonproliferation treaty. Nuclear powers who sign will agree not to give weapons to others; nonnuclear signatories will agree not to build them.

DRAFT — Nixon has asked Congress to replace draft with lottery like system.

Signed Into Law

DEBT — Nixon proposed redefining national debt so as not to include money government borrows from Social Security fund, and to raise borrowing authority by $17 billion. Congress passed bill limiting increase to $12 billion.

help you

Pop right off to Sound, Safe Sleep

WITHOUT NARCOTIC SLEEPING PILLS

New York, N.Y. (Special) ... A New York chemist has perfected a remarkable "Asper-Sleep" formula which unites in one small tablet 3 safe aids to sound, refreshing sleep. No other sleeping tablets offer so much comfort ... yet are not habit-forming.

Never before has there been such a combination to help you solve the problem of sleeplessness—to bring restful, natural-like slumber ... without additive drugs. No prescription is needed—just ask for "Asper-Sleep Tablets". For 100% safe sleep take as directed.

The reason you can fall asleep so fast and sleep like a log is that each Asper-Sleep tablet contains these 3 ingredients:

(1) An anticholinergic which doctors have proved as effective as the usual dose of phenobarbital ... yet Asper-Sleep is mild and safe.

(2) A sedative with gentle tranquilizing aid to invite mental calm.

(3) Last but not least, Asper-Sleep contains analgesic, pain-relieving aspirin. This curbs the discomforts of headaches, colds, aches, and other conditions for which aspirin is famous ... including the minor aches and pains of arthritis and rheumatism.

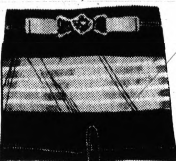

So get your sleep tonight without the depressing after-effects of narcotic drugs. Asper-Sleep contains no habit-forming, no narcotics. You pop off to sleep and wake up "bright-eyed and bushy-tailed", not dull or dozy. During the night you are relaxed, yet responsive to emergencies.

Money back guarantee: We have no doubt that Asper-Sleep is the best answer to sleeplessness, the best way, the safe way to curb insomnia and give you a good night's rest ... we just want to prove it to you! Unless Asper-Sleep brings you better, faster, more natural sleep than any sleeping tablet you have ever taken ... bring back the partly-used bottle and have all your money refunded. Rep. Smeekens Exemplifies Aroused Conservatives

LANSING (P) — Conservative members of the Michigan Legislature appear to be taking an increasing role in the affairs of state.

A great tendency by conservatives to make themselves felt has been noted ever since the resignation of former Gov. George Romney.

"It is not a reactionary conservatism or an obstructionist conservatism," said Rep. John Smeekens, R-Sherwood. "It is an enlightened conservatism."

Several factors have been cited for conservatism's gains:

- The rapidly rising state budget.
- Campus unrest.
- The attitude of Gov. William G. Milliken.

Smeekens—once dubbed the "Goldwater from Coldwater"—has been identified with the movement ever since he was sworn into office this spring to fill a vacancy created by the death of Rep. Frederic J. Marshall.

Smeekens served in the Senate from 1956 to 1964 and was its president for four years before being defeated. His defeat was due in part to Romney, who campaigned against Smeekens even though both were members of the same party.

"He opposed me primarily because of an honest difference of opinion," Smeekens said. "I opposed vigorously the enactment of an income tax."

In Smeekens' view, the conservative movement consists of "Jeffersonian Democrats and Lincolnian Republicans" who have banded together for mutual advantage.

HEAVY CLUB

Romney as governor wielded a heavy club over legislators and didn't hesitate to use it to achieve passage of his proposals.

However, Milliken appears to be less dogmatic toward House and Senate members. But he has warned his proposed state budget is "sacrosanct" and further spending will not be tolerated because it could force the state into deficit financing.

Only on the controversial matter of state aid to private and parochial schools has Milliken relented, saying that any proposal for parochial aid must be accompanied by a bill to raise the additional revenues.

To the conservative element, this toe-the-line stance is a long, overdue position.

"PRUDENT GOVERNMENT" "I think there is more and more of a demand for fiscal responsibility, for sane and sound and prudent government," said Smeekens. "And truly the taxpayers are concerned with an ever-accelerating and increasing tax budget."

When he served in the Senate, Smeekens noted, the state budget climbed about $30 million a year.

During his absence over the past four years, he added, state spending has been growing at the rate of $266 million a year.

Smeekens said that "enlightened conservatism" does not mean opposition to every proposal to increase state spending.

"SOME ARE GOOD" "There are some programs we can't afford not to enact," he said.

And of the more than 3,000 bills introduced in the house this year, he said, "Some are very good."

However, he said, priorities should be established to enact those measures over a period of time as funds become available—a position that echoes remarks by Milliken.

Another area prompting the conservative alliance, he noted, has been campus unrest.

TOUGHER STANCE

Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, has stalled House action on other matters over disturbances on the Ferris State College campus.

O'Brien wants a tougher stance taken by college administrators, charging leniency with disruptive students compounds the problem.

It is similar to an attitude taken by Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy.

"When the dissent begins to deprive others of their rights, then you see as a people we have to step in," Smeekens said.

Huber is distributing a letter entitled: "Senator Robert J. Huber Speaks Out." It details concern over campus problems, the increasing use of four-letter words, the "revolution" in some parts of society and alleged corruption by politicians in high offices.

Some view this as a step to build a statewide political base for possible higher ambitions, such as the governor's office or U. S. Senate.

This increasing involvement by the conservative element in the Legislature appears to Smeekens to be a sign that more members are beginning to make known "what they have felt for years and haven't expressed."

Junior Editors Quiz on COBRAS

QUESTION: Why do cobras dance when music is being played?

ANSWER: We are fortunate, in America, to have no cobras slithering in and out of our gardens, the way they often do in India and other parts of Asia.

True, we have poisonous copperheads, rattlers, and moccasins, but they generally keep to themselves in wild places. Furthermore, their poison is not so deadly as the cobra's, which acts rapidly on the nervous system of a person who is bitten.

The cobra rears up its body before striking, which acts as a warning of danger.

Cobras are nervous and highstrung, a fact which is back of the trick performed by many Indian jugglers. They will spill a cobra out of a basket, let it rear angrily up, and then, squatting down before it, begin to play strange sounds on a little pipe. Instead of striking, the nervous cobra "dances," that is, sways from side to side, the way the man is doing.

The snake is not being charmed. It is simply trying to aim itself before striking. The man, in motion himself, never lets the snake get set to strike, so it never does strike. The result is the audience credits the man with magical powers.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Year-book if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

“I feel very safe and secure in our Maverick, little as it is. It really holds the road. My husband bought it for me as a shopping car, but every morning, he says, well I guess I'll take the Maverick to work today.”

Mrs. Kenneth Miller, North Babylon, N.Y.

“I wanted a car and foreign cars are hard to fix. So my brother said Maverick was coming, and I waited. It's a great car to learn to drive with. You can park it and drive it so easily. I really love it.”

Miss Susan Sara, Bronxville, New York

“We bought the Maverick as a second car when a tree fell on our import. Maverick handles better and feels solid and safe on the road. When I hit a bump in the other car it was like going over a mountain. Maverick really flattens them out and I'm getting 25 miles to the gallon.”

Mr. Jack Green, Computer Specialist, White Plains, New York

“Everybody keeps coming to look at it. The other night three cars stopped. We thought we had company. Everyone in our neighborhood says for the price it's unbelievable. It looks like it cost much more.”

Mrs. Robert J. Slutz, Deer Park, New York

GOP Leaders Are Taking Sides in NY Mayor Primary

NEW YORK — The state's top Republican officeholders already are choosing sides in case Mayor John V. Lindsay loses the mayoral nomination in the GOP primary June 17.

The two U.S. senators are backing Lindsay all the way, but Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is not.

Lindsay, plagued by a white backlash and a history of unhappy labor relations, faces a primary fight against a comparative unknown, state Sen. John J. Marchi of Staten Island.

Political observers say Marchi's chances are good among the city's 600,000 Republicans. One newspaper even rates Lindsay a "solid underdog."

JAVITS' BACKING

Sen. Jacob K. Javits flew here from Washington Friday, summoned newsmen to his midtown offices, and declared he would support Lindsay in the November general election even if he lost the Republican nomination. A primary loss would be embarrassing to Lindsay, but he still would appear on the November ballot because he has been nominated on the Liberal party ticket. Marchi, likewise, is guaranteed a spot as the Conservative party candidate.

"It is time we all understood that this Conservative party effort is all about," Javits said in a statement. "They want party control more than they want to win City Hall in November."

"Just as they have dictated candidates to some local legislative districts in the city, they want to dictate the choice of statewide Republican candidates next year. It is an effort to take over by infiltration," he said.

The day before, Sen. Charles E. Goodell said he would back Lindsay all the way.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who periodically denies recurrent reports that he and Lindsay are feuding, has remained aloof from the local struggle. He reiterated Wednesday that he would support the winner of the primary, be it Lindsay or Marchi.

Lindsay won in 1965 with Republican-Liberal backing. His over-decentralization of schools, public administration has been marred the mayor was identified with the "outsiders." He told a transit strike, a garbage union control of schools.

SOME DISAFFECTION

The result has been disaffection among conservative Republicans and union leaders.

On the Democratic side, the list of mayoral hopefuls dwindled to five Friday. John W. Seder, a political unknown who entered the race to promote federal take-over of welfare costs, would support Herman Badillo, Moller, who is running on a pledge to make the city the 51st Havana Refuge for Cleaver?

HAVANA (AP) — Eldridge Cleaver, a Black Panther leader sought by California authorities as a parole violator, is reported to have been in Havana since last November.

A spokesman for the Cuban foreign ministry said Sunday: "Officially, we know nothing of this." Other sources said Cleaver had arrived in Havana six months ago. But a spokesman for the Black Panthers in San Francisco denied Cleaver is in Cuba.

Cleaver, author of "Soul on Ice," was sent to prison for 13 years in 1958 after conviction on charges of assault with intent to kill and assault with a deadly weapon. He was paroled in 1966, but the parole was revoked last year.

Cleaver was to have surrendered to California authorities last Nov. 27 but failed to appear.

Bicyclist Deaths in 1968 Sifted

EAST LANSING (AP) — State Police report children under the age 15 accounted for 24 of the 42 bicycling deaths in Michigan last year.

The death toll compared with 47 the previous year. Police said there were 2,330 persons injured in 2,588 collisions between bicycles and motor vehicles last year.

Motel Will Need Room at the Top

The new motel being built by Charles Langes on South Woodward — set to open in August may not be the biggest, but it's big — six stories, 158 rooms. It may not be the plushiest, but it will be plenty plush.

But it may have the longest name of any known motel — The Sheraton Pontiac-Bloomfield Motor Inn.

Like Topsy, the name just grew.

Early in its construction it was known as the Sheraton Motor Inn. Langes, apparently wanting to add a little class, decided to add the name Bloomfield (this property is very close to Bloomfield Township, but inside the Pontiac city limits).

Apparently city officials got wind of this and, because the city had done much to cooperate with Langes in his many building ventures, pushed for Pontiac in the name.

Langes acquiesced and his advance literature carries the title entirely across the page.

Mental Health Workshop Set

Staff members of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) will attend a workshop on mental health conducted by area authorities on the subject Wednesday morning.

The workshop is aimed at providing more comprehensive mental health care, particularly for the poor.

The OCCEO staff will be briefed to make them more aware of the wide-ranging programs available to OCCEO clients. The group will also tour Pontiac State Hospital.

The workshop is a project of the Michigan Society for Mental Health, Oakland County chapter.

Providing information to the OCCEO staff will be Dr. Donald Martin, director of Pontiac State Hospital; Dr. Lino Romero, director of the Oakland County Mental Health Services; Robert Janes, director of family care of the county mental health society; and John L. Stacy, director for the metropolitan Detroit area of the society.

State Facilities Brace for Holiday Tourist Crush

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's 72 state parks and recreation areas are getting ready for the rush of tourists during the Memorial Day weekend.

Improvements in the parks include 160 new campsites and the lineup of electrical service to 185 more units. Michigan now has 13,865 state campsites, 11,170 of them with electricity.

Annual park permits are still $3 for residents and $5 for nonresidents. Daily fees remain $1 for residents and $2 for nonresidents.

The Department of Natural Resources is hoping the visitor total will break the 1968 record of 389,000 camping families.

So far, they are running 14 per cent ahead of last year. These areas have already attracted some 1.5 million day visitors.

Doctor O.K.'s This Hemorrhoid Treatment For N.J. Couple's Son

Treatment Shrinks Piles,
Relieves Pain In Most Cases

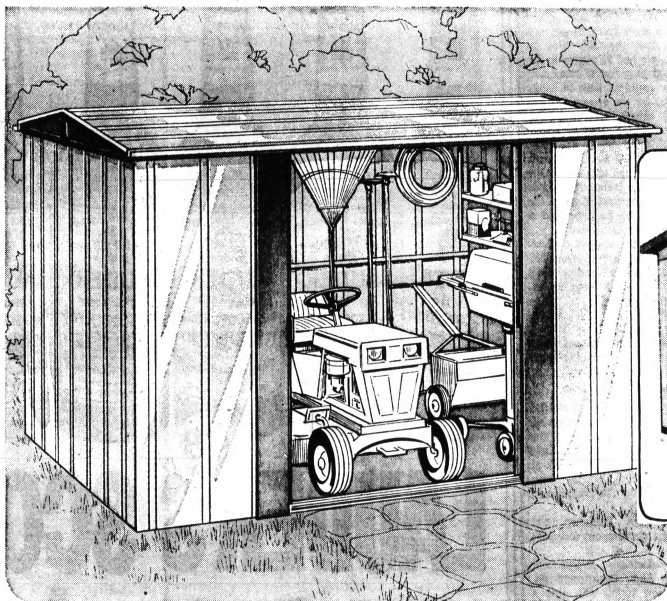

Wharton, N.J. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jeffers report: "Our son suffered from hemorrhoids. Lacked the doctor about Preparation H and he gave us the O.K. Our son is now fine, thanks to Preparation H."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

Pearl Harbor Retake Is Costlier Version Than 1941 Original

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The original version cost the Japanese an estimated $900,000, out of pocket. But when a film company re-staged the bombing of Pearl Harbor, the bill came to $8 million.

The $8 million figure comes from 20th Century Fox, which says its researchers found it in Japanese Admiralty records: the cost of 29 lost planes, fuel, bombs and torpedoes.

The $8 million is the tab for the Hawaiian location of "Tora! Tora! Tora!" the company's recreation of the cataclysmic events of December 1941. With filming in Japan, Washington and Hollywood, the cost is expected to exceed $20 million.

Director Richard Fleischer, returning from the Hawaiian scenes, seemed like a boy who had just enjoyed an enormous plaything.

SPECTACLE EXPERT

"We re-created a full-scale war," said the expert in special effects ("20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," "The Vikings," "Fantastic Voyage").

"We used real airplanes, real ships and real hangars," he said. "One of our last scenes was the blowing up of a hangar at Barber's Point near Pearl Harbor. The Navy was getting rid of the hangar, and they let us do whatever we wanted with it, as long as we cleaned up the mess afterward."

"So we loaded a Japanese Zero with explosives and suspended it on a cable from a 310-foot crane. The Zero rode down the cable and into the hangar, which was also filled with explosives. The whole front of the hangar blew out, and we caught all the action with five cameras. There are no retakes on a scene like that."

The Hawaiian location of "Tora! Tora! Tora!" required logistics nearly as complicated as for a war. American airplanes of pre-World War II vintage were acquired all over the world—the Japanese planes had to be converted from other models, since no real ones could be found. The company rented five old destroyers from the Navy but had to create its own copy of the USS Arizona at a cost of $1.5 million.

HARBOR CHANGING

Fortunately, the principal targets of the Japanese raid remain little changed. "But it's lucky we made the picture this year," said Fleischer. "The government is starting to make a lot of changes at Pearl Harbor, and next year it won't look the same."

When you discover Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, you enter a new world of underarm comfort and freedom. It keeps you drier than any anti-wetness agent ever put in an aerosol spray can! By anybody's skin, if you perspire heavily you will find that it gives positive protection—keeps underarms absolutely dry for thousands who could never find that protection before. If you perspire moderately, Mitchum Anti-Perspirant will give you a new sense of fastidiousness. Its positive protection does not grow less with use, but builds up. After the first four days of use, most women find that they need use Mitchum Anti-Perspirant only every third or fourth day regardless of bathing.

So whether you perspire heavily or moderately, doesn't it make sense to move up to the luxurious dryness of Mitchum Anti-Perspirant. With this positive protection you get complete gentleness to normal skin complete safety to clothing. And full deodorant effectiveness, too. Liquid or Cream, 90-day supply if used daily, $1.00. Available at your favorite drug or toiletry counter.

Mitchum ANTI-PERSPIRANT

The director remarked that his biggest problem was timing. "There were so many elements involved in each scene that we were lucky to get one shot a day," he said. "For instance, we had 28 planes in the sky, and they had to maneuver so they could be seen in every camera. On the ground we had special effects men providing fire and smoke, and a sudden shift of wind would send the smoke right into the cameras so we'd photograph nothing. Or the sun would go behind the clouds and ruin the scene. We had the planes circling an hour and a half before getting a shot."

Despite such hazards and occasional bad weather, Fleischer finished the location nine days early. Two pilots were killed, one while ferrying a plane across the United States, another in a practice dive in Hawaii. Seven sailors were burned when a wind shift caught an explosion aboard the battleship replica.

PENTAGON OPPOSITION

A Defense Department official has said there was Pentagon opposition last year to use of the carrier Yorktown for the movie while the United States was at war in Vietnam, but the Navy went ahead for the promotional value.

What does Fleischer say about the government attitude?

"The Defense Department and the State Department approved the script, with just a few minor suggestions," he said. "We were allowed the use of airfields and bases, but we paid for everything. We received no free personnel, and the off-duty personnel we did use were paid regular extra wages. The government did supply liaison people and technical advisers. We wanted to avoid the criticism of other war pictures that received a lot of free troops and equipment from the government."

Words Can't Quite Describe McLain

Tigers Power Star Moundman to 10-0 Win

DETROIT (AP) — "Workhorse" isn't an appropriate word to use for Denny McLain.

"Pitching machine" isn't quite right either.

But some combination of the two, plus the important human element, can be applied to the talented Detroit Tiger hurler.

McLain pitched a two-hitter for his seven innings Sunday, despite just two days rest, and got powerful backing from his teammates as the Tigers overwhelmed California, 10-0.

Don Wert knocked in four runs with a single and a home run. Willie Horton blasted a two-run homer and Dick McAuliffe added a solo four-bagger as Detroit collected 12 hits to send the Angels reeling to their 10th straight loss.

"I never ask a guy to play with two days rest, but Denny came to me and wanted to pitch," said Tiger Manager Mayo Smith. "Besides, he's having a tooth extracted Monday and that would have made it worse when he pitches Tuesday."

"Pitchers like McLain need a lot of work."

And work he has. McLain's seven innings gave him 100 for the season, most of any pitcher in the majors. The win was his seventh against four losses and made the pace he set last year in stirring the baseball world with his 31 victories. He won No. 7 on May 25 last season.

McLain was replaced by John Hiller at the top of the eighth, but Smith said the 25-year-old righthander was not tired. "John needs the work," Smith explained, adding that Hiller may start a game soon.

PRODUCTIVE

Detroit had its most productive inning of the year when six runs poured across in the fourth inning, four of them earned off California starter and loser Rudy May, 1-6.

Willie Horton's two-run homer started the damage. Wert singled in a run after Bill Freehan was hit by a pitch and Jim Northrup singled. Mickey Stanley sent another home on a base-loaded infield single, then two more scored when reliever Eddie Fisher dropped Tom Satriano's throw while covering first on McAuliffe's grounder.

One run scored on his error and the second came when he inadvertently threw to second base trying to nab Stanley.

Detroit's last run came on McAuliffe's leadoff homer in the sixth.

The Tigers have a day off today to travel before opening a nine-game west coast trip Tuesday night against Oakland. Mickey Lolich, 6-1, is the scheduled Detroit pitcher, while Chuck Dobson, 3-4, is the Athletics probable starter.

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Ranger Bob Foster, who proves his punching firepower with every outing, is piling up money for short duty as the world's light heavyweight champion, but he wants a crack at boxing's big dough — the heavyweight title.

Foster collected $50,000 for his work in stopping rugged but out-classed Andy Kendall of Portland, Ore., in 1:15 of the fourth round of their title fight Saturday in this western Massachusetts town.

'Indy' 500 Lineup Set

Drivers Command Spotlight

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The emphasis is back on the drivers for this year's Indianapolis 500, with A. J. Foyt driving from the pole position for a record fourth victory in the Memorial Day race.

The turbine car, which came close to winning the last two years, and part of the 500's international flavor disappeared Sunday as the starting field of 33 cars was completed.

This year's only turbine entry qualified at 156.440 miles per hour, four m.p.h. slower than any other car, and it was only a matter of time until it was bumped from the field.

Foyt won the pole with a speed of 170.568 m.p.h.

NUMBERS SHRINK

The number of foreign drivers in this year's race shrank to two when the builder and designer of the Lotus cars, Colin Chapman of Britain, withdrew the last of the Lotuses, driven by Jochen Rindt of Austria and 1966 Indy winner Graham Hill of Britain. They made no qualifying attempts.

"It's tragic, I think," said Hill. "Lotus put so much time into these cars."

Denis Hulme of New Zealand and Jack Brabham of Australia are the only foreign drivers in the race.

Chapman said the Lotuses were withdrawn because of concern over the safety of their wheel hubs.

Foyt, surprised at winning the pole Saturday despite trouble in his car's exhaust system, said, "With a little Lady Luck we're in good shape."

He was joined in the front row by two-time pole sitter Mario Andretti and defending champion Bobby Unser. Andretti, from Nazareth, Pa., qualified in 169.851 m.p.h. and Unser, the Albuquerque, N.M., driver, who won from the third spot last year, and a 169.683.

The second row drivers, who posted speeds of 168 m.p.h. are led by Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., a highly regarded Indy rookie with an Ivy League and sports car background.

Veterans Gordon Johncock of Hastings,

Mich., and Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., took the fifth and sixth spots.

McCluskey is driving one of the three cars entered by owner-driver Foyt. George Snider of Bakersfield, Calif., put the other car in the 15th starting spot to give the team a 3-for-3 record.

In Contrast, STP magnate Andy Granatelli of Chicago, got only three of his 11 entries in. The Lotuses were among the STP Cars.

Andretti, Granatelli's main hope, demolished another Lotus last week when a hub broke off and switched to an older car with a Brawner Hawk chassis and turbo-charged Ford engine.

Foyt, whose car also is turbo-Ford powered, looked forward to the Friday race with the observation that "Mario will fight you till the end. He's worse than me."

Mexicans Shock Aussies in Tennis Competition

SYDNEY (AP) — First official reaction to Australia's 3-2 defeat by Mexico in the Davis Cup came from team selector Cliff Sproule.

In a brief statement, he said: "This is a shock to the Australian tennis world."

"It means that for the first time in 32 years Australia will be out of the challenge round."

"In some ways, it is not surprising because of the drain over the years to the professionals of Australia's best amateurs."

Rafael Osuna made his dream come true.

Refusing to give in to fatigue, he held off Australian ace Bill Bowrey 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 10-8 in the deciding fifth match Sunday as Mexico sidetracked the Aussies 3-2 in the North American Zone elimination series.

It was Mexico's first victory over the powerful Australians in 12 tries since 1924, a victory that Osuna said "had always been my dream."

Defending champion United States, after ending Australia's four-year reign last year, is assured of one of the spots in the Challenge Round for amateur tennis' top prize.

SINCE 1937

The last time the Aussies had failed to make the final was in 1937. Since then, they had captured the Cup 16 times — no matches were held during six years of World War II.

The tireless Osuna, who beat Ray Ruffels in the first singles match Friday and teamed with Vicente Zarazua in a marathon 68-game doubles triumph Saturday, won the first set Sunday with relative ease, breaking Bowrey in the fifth and seventh games.

After dropping the second set, the iron man of the Mexican team broke Bowrey in the 14th game of the third and then jumped to a 4-1 lead in the final with a masterful touch that offset Bowrey's booming service and strong shots.

Osuna held service in the ninth game to close out the match, and the partisan fans at the Chapultepec court carried him off on their shoulders.

OTHER ZONES

In Group A of the European Zone elimination matches, Britain completed a 5-0 sweep over Ireland, South Africa advanced to the quarter-finals on a forfeit by Poland, and Czechoslovakia thrashed Monaco 5-0.

In B group play, Spain ousted Yugoslavia, Romania crushed Israel and Italy trounced Austria, all by 5-0 scores, and Russia eliminated Canada 4-1.

Benvenuti Meets Tiger in Nontitle Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Nino Benvenuti, the world middle-weight champion, was rated a 2-1 favorite to whip 39-year-old Dick Tiger of Bialia in a nontitle 10-round fight tonight that could earn the winner a shot at Bob Foster's light heavyweight title.

'Redlegs' May Hits 2 Homers to Whip Expos

CINCINNATI (AP)—Lee May exploded two home runs for the second straight day Sunday, leading the streaking Cincinnati Reds past slumping Montreal, 7-

May rapped his first homer in the third inning—a three-run blast that snapped a 1-1 deadlock and sent the Reds to their fifth straight victory.

The first baseman hit his 12th homer of the year to lead off the eighth inning.

Pontiac Driver

Breaks Record

Pontiac's Joy Fair lowered the track record at Flat Rock Saturday and came away with a pursuit and feature triumphs for the evening. Foy was clocked in 13:31 seconds for the quarter-mile track which wiped out the old mark of 13:35.

On the Toledo track last night, Fair, driving an

and feature races.

Yancey Overcomes Tourney Pressure

ATLANTA (AP) — Bert Yancey, who suffered a nervous breakdown at the academy, rammed home a 10-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole of the final round to tie Australia's Bruce Devlin.

He doesn't have to worry much about paying his bills, either.

Yancey never wavered Sunday in the pressure-packed finish of the Atlanta Classic Golf Tournament, sinking three clutch putts that gave him a $23,000 paycheck.

The former West Point cadet,

Miss Wright Works Extra for Golf Win

PROSPECT, Ky. — Picked up by winning the Bluegrass Invitational Golf Tournament isn't much compared to the $23,000 she has won the past 11 years.

But the victory, her first in nine starts this year, should indicate to the other women back on her game and is a definite threat in the upcoming tournaments.

Miss Wright nipped Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., in a sudden death playoff in the Ladies' Professional Golf Association event Sunday when she rolled in a three-foot putt for a par on the first extra hole.

The two women were deadlocked at even par 216 after 54 holes of play.

Wolverines, MSU Tie for Fifth in Baseball

By The Associated Press Wisconsin which posted a 7-2 Michigan and Michigan State record.

closed their baseball seasons Saturday with satisfying victories and ended up tied for fifth place in the Big Ten standings. Michigan State split a doubleheader with Minnesota, which clinched the conference title the day before. The Spartans won the first game 5-2 thanks to a third inning surge. During MSU's big inning Rich Miller slapped a two-run homer.

In the second game Minnesota, which advances to the Region 4 NCAA baseball playoffs, blanked the Spartans 9-0. The Gophers won the title with a 15-3 conference season with an 8-8 mark, identical to Michigan which beat Iowa twice Saturday. The Spartans and Wolverines shared fifth place with

Pontiac Country Club Edges Oxford Hills

Mike Murphy's 78 and Mike Wiegand's 81 helped Pontiac Country Club to a 14-8 victory over Oxford Hills yesterday in Michigan Publix team play.

Bill Taylor's 77 spurred Holly Greens past Bald Mountain, 13½ to 8½ in another Red Vision match while Waterford Hills and Hickory 11111 managed only three hits, two of them by Sanchez, an unearned run and had 12 batters go down on strikes.

The Clippers, the defending City Class A champions, whiffed six in a row while retiring 11 straight and keeping the Clippers' bat muffed most of the night.

In the last inning, Sanchez Miller fanned six of the first nine batters he faced, and later whiffed six in a row while retiring 11 straight and keeping the Clippers' bat muffed most of the night.

JUNIOR JUMBLE

By HENRI ARNOLD and BOB LEE

These funny-looking nonsense words are actually REAL words, but their letters have been mixed up by someone. You must put their letters back in the right order so that they make ordinary words that you can find in the dictionary. WRITE THE LETTERS OF EACH WORD UNDER EACH NONSENSE WORD—BUT ONLY ONE LETTER TO EACH SQUARE.

Now you are ready to find the FUNNY ANSWER to this puzzle. The picture above will give you a hint. Study it carefully. Then take the letters that appear in the circles and play around with them. You will find that you can put them in order so that they form the answer you are looking for.

by the First Ward Community Center.

There, Saginaw's disadvantaged can find everything from a day care center to a boxing coach, a piano teacher to a job counselor. It's a place where thinking is reshaped and the pride of accomplishment is first learned.

"What we try to do is instill a sense of pride," says Mrs. J. Credella Harris, the center's program director, "pride not tears, who teach special classes, only in our blackness but in our surroundings. We tell our people this is their center, that they can make whatever they want from it."

RUN BY EX-COP

The center is run by Ruben Daniels, a tall ex-cop who took over the executive director's job in 1965 after 18 years on the Saginaw Police Department. In hard-core unemployed have the four years he has been placed into good-paying jobs in Saginaw industry. This, the director says, is one of the center's biggest contributions to the community.

MIDDLE-CLASS LEVEL

"These are not just hard-core unemployed," he says. "They were hard, hard-core. They were ex-convicts, dope addicts, job skippers. Guys who grew up in a home without a father or a father who was drunk all week and never went to work."

Daniels sees supervisory problems in industry as prime reasons for the lack of employe re-

"They have to stop thinking on a middle-class level. They have to realize there's a lower level that takes a little more understanding," he says.

Recent statistics show the center's orientation program graduates to have an 87 per cent re-employment rate, much better than and recreation facilities.

Jim: "How about another week of articles on squeeze plays?"

Oswald: "The play is common enough. Sometimes you play deliberately for a squeeze. On other occasions you stumble into one. The main thing to bear in mind is that any time you can take all but one of the remaining tricks and have long cards in two suits, a squeeze may develop."

Jim: "The average player should remember the squeeze is always possible and that nothing is lost by playing for one."

College Students Not Such Bad Eggs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite the clucking of their elders, the bulk of the country's college students are not beyond redemption after all, according to the results of a national survey.

The poll conducted by Roper Research Associates for Standard Oil of New Jersey indicates that promiscuous sex, marijuana and LSD were deplored by the majority of the 1,000 college seniors and 500 freshmen — and 673 alumni of the class of 1964 — from 96 colleges and universities surveyed.

The results of the poll, released Friday, also showed that the vast majority adhered to traditional religious beliefs and do not consider the Vietnam war immoral. Two-thirds of them deny the "generation gap," reporting that they were in general agreement with their parents.

All those questioned were males, and special questionnaire forms were used to encourage frankness. Roper did not indicate why sophomores and juniors were not included in the poll.

Standard Oil commissioned the survey in the belief that the popular impression of habits and attitudes of today's youth was erroneous.

'Grandeur' Lacking in French Election

PARIS (AP) — Simplicity and calm are keynotes of the campaign leading toward Sunday's election of a French president. The idea of French "grandeur," often espoused by Charles de Gaulle, has been pushed into the background. All seven candidates for the job of succeeding De Gaulle are catching the new mood.

Voters will give their preferences on the seven Sunday. If no one gets a majority, a runoff election between the two leaders will be held two weeks later. The leading candidates are Georges Pompidou, who served as De Gaulle's premier for six years and claims to be his political heir, and Alain Poher, a centrist. Poher, president of the Senate who moved into the interim presidency of the republic, was a leading opponent of the reforms defeated in the April 27 referendum. That defeat prompted De Gaulle to resign.

With France's Pompidou's election posters call him a man "with France, for all Frenchmen." Poher's billboards proclaim him a "president for all Frenchmen." Both of the posters are edged in a discreet blue. De Gaulle's electoral propaganda used to carry the blue and red colors of the French flag.

De Gaulle's imperious style of running the presidency is definitely out. The problem now is to adapt to new conditions the constitution De Gaulle tailored to his own towering personality. Pompidou, with a background of 25 years of association with De Gaulle, is treading a ticklish path. He cannot renounce De Gaulle's policies or his person, but he recognizes that things can never be the same.

ANOTHER MANNER "The results of the referendum represent a desire for change," Pompidou has said. "It is not a question of disowning, but to take note of a fact and to respect the popular will."

Poher has not a considerable success with his modesty, grandfatherly traits and calm demeanor. De Gaulle and his followers often warned of dire consequences if the regime was disrupted. But the country is going along at its usual pace, and Poher is given at least part of the credit.

Lonely Boas Available —for a Price

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — There it was in the classified ads: "Box Constrictor Stud Service."

Terry Ramberg, 29, a former schoolteacher, said it was no joke. He has a lonely male boar.

His newspaper ads got considerable response, but only one appeared to be a legitimate offer.

Ramberg set a stud fee of $10 plus pick of the litter.

he and later of Napoleon, France has been fearful of a strong executive. The presidents of the Third and Fourth Republics, stretching from 1871 to 1958, were supposed to handle ceremonial functions and sort out squabbles between Cabinets and Parliament, but they had to keep clearly above partisanship.

De Gaulle changed all that when he was called back to power in 1958. He insisted on a blank check, and no one wanted to argue with him at that stage because the nation was threatened with civil war.

PERSONAL POWER When he was attacked for his exercise of "personal power," De Gaulle said: "Whoever believed that Gen. de Gaulle, being called to the helm, should content himself with inaugurating chrysanthemums?"

The 16 presidents who preceded De Gaulle stayed discreetly in the background, for the most part. A few who tried to mix too actively in politics were forced to resign. The public and parliamentary will to keep things that way was shown clearly in 1919, when Georges Clemenceau was denied his desire for the presidency. Clemenceau had been a revered premier during the war, but few wanted his strong hand at the Elysee Palace.

De Gaulle is leaving a constitution and machinery for his successor to be the dominant influence in the country. But the power of the presidency seems certain to fade no matter who is elected.

He tried to ease the Paris traffic situation by taking a back route to the Arch of Triumph, rather than riding down the Champs-Elysees, for an official ceremony May 8. Traffic was still snarled in the area more than two hours later, but he escaped personal blame.

PARTY REFEREE In the early stages of his rumormongering over whether to seek the presidency, Poher seemed to favor a figurehead who would be only a referee among the parties. His followers persuaded him this smacked too much of the past.

In a statement of principles, Poher said the president must be the prime mover for the broad lines of policy. "It is not up to him to set a detailed program of government, but his election necessarily fixes the general direction which is based on popular aspirations and to which he must be faithful," Poher said.

Start Outdoor Cooking Season With Interesting Food

Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

Clean up the outdoor grill. Lay in a supply of paper plates and cups. Set up the picnic table if it has been stored in the garage all winter.

Friday, Memorial Day, officially opens the outdoor eating season. I hope someone tells the weatherman that. If it should rain, you can move a portable grill under cover of the garage door or onto a porch.

Ten to one, if you ask the children what they want to eat, you know the answer — hot dogs or hamburgers.

All right, give them hamburgers. But make it one Texas size burger that you cut into wedges to serve. For added interest, baste it with a flavorful apple mixture.

TEXAS APPLEBURGER

- 1 lb. 4 oz. can sliced apples
- 1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
- 1 1/2 lb. ground pork
- 2 cups toasted bread cubes
- 4 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 4 tablespoons finely chopped celery
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 4 tablespoons vinegar

- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Measure 1 cup sliced apples and set aside. Dice remaining chili powder. Mix lightly and place on double thickness of quid to beef, pork, bread cubes, onion, celery, salt, pepper and cover and place over hot coals. Let cook 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, mix remaining apple slices, sugar, vinegar, and seasonings. Simmer 5 minutes. Remove cover from meat and baste with apple mixture every 10 minutes for an additional 30 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Should you prefer to cater to more sophisticated tastes, plan to have shrimp and mushroom kebabs. The recipe calls for canned button mushrooms, but you may substitute fresh mushrooms caps. Rice is the perfect accompaniment for this main course.

Another method for lighting the fire is to use an electric starter. This takes from 15 to 20 minutes. Omit lighting fluid if an electric starter is used.

When the surface of the charcoal briquets is covered with gray ashes, spread the coals one-quarter to one-half inch apart. The briquets are then ready for cooking.

For safety's sake, be careful in the handling of coals and food on the grill. Use asbestos gloves, long handled cooking tools, and keep a water-filled sprinkler bottle handy. Also have good ventilation indoor or in confined areas when grilling.

Grilled Pork Chops—For 6 chops combine 1 cup pineapple juice, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup soy sauce and 1/4 teaspoon powdered ginger. Mix well. Broil the chops 5 minutes, turn and brush with sauce; again broil 5 minutes, brush with sauce. Turn oc-asionally on the grill and brush with sauce until chops are done. Allow 30 to 35 minutes for 1-inch chops and 45 minutes to 1 hour for 1 1/2-inch chops. Place 1-inch chops about 3 inches from heat, 1 1/2-inch chops about 5 inches.

With razor blade or sharp knife slash tops to make wide wedges. Brush with milk. Sprinkle with sesame seeds.

Let rise as above until doubled — 20 to 30 minutes. Bake in preheated 425-degree oven until well browned — 20 to 30 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool.

A refreshing, nutritious appetizer is Frosty Tomato Soup. Combine 1 can chilled condensed tomato soup, 1 can measure buttermilk, and a dash of hot pepper sauce. Pour into chilled soup bowls or cups.

Top each serving with a dollop of dairy sour cream and garnish with chopped chives. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Orange Toast is so simple and yet so lovely and crispy brown and bubbly that many California families serve it often. As a breakfast or brunch dish, as the easy dessert for any meal or as a pleasing sweet snack.

Combine applesauce and chocolate syrup. Soak gelatin in water for five minutes. Place gelatin mixture over low heat and stir until dissolved. Stir into applesauce mixture.

Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in egg whites and vanilla. Spoon into sherbet glasses. Chill until firm. Dust with nutmeg.

Garnish each serving with a halved marshmallow, if desired. Makes six servings.

Experts Offer Grill Tips

You can rate as a successful charcoal cook if you follow these few pointers by experts of the Barbecue Briquet Institute.

• Begin by setting up your grill in an area sheltered from wind, but properly ventilated. Line the bottom of the fire bowl with heavy duty aluminum foil.

• Make a fire of gravel or prepared material from one to three inches deep to permit the fire to "breathe," giving more heat from the coals.

• Start the fire far enough in advance so there is a good bed of coals when it is time to start cooking. The usual method, which taken about 45 minutes, is to stack charcoal briquets in a pyramid shape, soak lightly with charcoal lighting fluid, let stand one minute and light.

Another method for lighting the fire is to use an electric starter. This takes from 15 to 20 minutes. Omit lighting fluid if an electric starter is used.

When the surface of the charcoal briquets is covered with gray ashes, spread the coals one-quarter to one-half inch apart. The briquets are then ready for cooking.

Good Taste Is Part of Appeal

Low calorie fruits and syrups have helped bring dessert within the reach of every dieter today. Often desserts that look so high in calories actually belong in low-calorie brackets.

Here's one that looks rich, yet it's a blend of ingredients that produce only about 66 calories per serving. This Chocolate Apple Mousse relies on low-calorie canned applesauce combined with another low-calorie specialty, chocolate topping.

LOW-CALORIE CHOCOLATE APPLE MOUSSE

1 can (1 pound) low calorie applesauce

1 cup low-calorie chocolate topping

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin

1/4 cup water

3 egg whites, stiffly beaten

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

3 marshmallows, cut into halves

Combine applesauce and chocolate syrup. Soak gelatin in water for five minutes. Place gelatin mixture over low heat and stir until dissolved. Stir into applesauce mixture.

Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in egg whites and vanilla. Spoon into sherbet glasses. Chill until firm. Dust with nutmeg.

Bake Your Bread for Heroes

When you want to serve hero sandwiches to friends, bake your own bread — the Armenian way.

That means you'll make up a simple yeast dough, shape it into 4 rounds and give it a sesame-seed topping. When you're ready to make the sandwiches, each round can be cut in half crosswise and layered with the filling — cold meats, sliced cheese, lettuce, sliced tomatoes and whatever condiments you like.

For good munching, serve scallions (green onions) and radishes along with the heroes.

This Armenian-type bread, called Peda, is made the easy new way. The undissolved yeast is not softened in water — it goes into the dough "as is."

This recipe produces a soft spongy bread; don't expect it to be crisp.

PEDA (Armenian Bread)

5 to 6 cups unsifted flour

2 packages instant blended dry yeast

2 tablespoons sugar

2 teaspoons salt

2 tablespoons shortening

2 cups warm tap water (120 to 130 degrees)

Sesame seeds

In a large mixing bowl thoroughly stir together 2 cups of the flour, undissolved yeast, sugar, salt and shortening. Add water; at low speed of electric mixer and scraping bowl constantly, beat 3 more minutes.

Stir in enough of the remaining flour to form a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured surface; knead until smooth.

Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm draft free place until doubled — 45 to 60 minutes.

Punch down dough. Let rest 15 minutes. Divide dough into 4 parts; shape each into a ball.

Place balls well apart on greased cookie sheet. With knuckles flatten to 1/4-inch thickness.

With razor blade or sharp knife slash tops to make wide wedges. Brush with milk. Sprinkle with sesame seeds.

Let rise as above until doubled — 20 to 30 minutes. Bake in preheated 425-degree oven until well browned — 20 to 30 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool.

Passport Figures Show U. S. Tourists Are Flocking to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — An other boom in travel to Europe from passport officials represents, with an estimated 360,000 Americans to board transatlantic flights in June alone.

The June travel estimates on administration has not asked anyone to stay home.

RECORD APPLICATIONS

An all-time high of 13,308 passport applications in one day was set May 5. Officials believe they will have issued 711,000 passports when the April-June period is over—an increase of 24 per cent.

Travel abroad generally increased under the Johnson administration although some called off trips in response to presidential appeals to help stem the dollar drain. The six per cent.

A sampling of some 30,000 prime destinations for nine of passport applications shows 100. The Middle East and Asia each attracted five, while Africa beckoned to only one in a hundred.

GOING BY PLANE

The sample also showed:

- 99.4 per cent of those getting passports in January-March other 11 were traveling on government business.
- Only six-tenths of 1 per cent were going by ship.
- During the first 1969 quarter, 83 of every 100 travelers were going abroad for personal reasons or pleasure, three for business, two for educational purposes, and one for religious, health or scientific reasons. The other 11 were traveling on government business.
- Of each 100 travelers, 19 listed themselves as students, 17 as housewives and 32 as in an occupation categorized as an independent business or professional.
- France was the most popular single destination by country, with 28 per cent of the passport applicants during the first quarter planning to go there.

Tourist-Conscious Mexico Cracks Down on American Hippies

MAZATLAN, Mexico (UPI) — North American hippies who used to swarm over some Mexican resort towns and generally disrupt things aren't finding things so easy now.

Mexican consuls and tourist offices near the border are looking twice before issuing tourist cards allowing the holder to enter the interior of Mexico. If an applicant doesn't appear to be the kind of person Mexico would like a guest — no card.

Many places are taking steps to get rid of the hippies who got in before the crack down.

A very practical method was devised by Ernesto Polanco, youthful inspector general for police of the state of Sinaloa. His system is fast and effective. HEAD SHAVED

If a hippie is found sleeping on the beach (it's against the law), panhandling or breaching the peace, he is picked up, taken to jail, has his head shaved ("only for sanitary reasons") and deported.

Reason for Mexico's crackdown is practical. The hippies were driving away the tourists, one of Mexico's main sources of income.

Eighteen months ago businessmen in this seaside resort city of about 100,000 population shuddered as any holiday approached.

"I wished I could put steel bars across the place and close down until the holiday is over," said the manager of Cupa de Leche, a large cafe, nightclub and bar.

NEVER SPENDING

"These hippies used to walk down the sidewalks five abreast, knock everyone else off the walks, disrupt business and never spend any money. Other tourists wouldn't put up with them either, so, despite the crowds, the town lost money."

This is now a thing of the past, thanks to the cooperation between Mexican and United States authorities.

"Mr. Polanco has our full support," says United States Vice Consul Edward Wilkinson.

Hawaii's tourist growth rate was 20.7 per cent last year and is expected to grow even more this year with at least two new airlines to the mainland and islands to add to the present three carriers.

WAKE ME WHEN FIGHTING STARTS — Spec. 4 Roger Shankland of Pittman, Ohio, takes advantage of a lull in the fighting in Vietnam's A Shau Valley to get a little sleep. He had been up all night at his machine-gun post protecting the big runs in the rear that covered the advance of the 101st Airborne Division troops against the Vietcong.

House Panel: Jet Cost Jump Just Big Blunder

WASHINGTON (AP) — The E. Bennett, D-Fla., said as the consensus of the House Armed Services Committee is that of the CSA program. "I think we're missing the billion-dollar-plus cost in transport. The real problem, they say, is that the Air Force and the prime contractor, Lockheed Aircraft Corp., blundered badly in estimating costs.

"We can't drive companies out of business who help us in national emergencies," he said. "And we'll do just this if we let huge industrial complexes suffer and lose money needlessly of interest, no undue profits in all of this," Rep. Charles

D.S.C., said to halt the CSA program now would be like "cutting off our nose to spite our face."

The CSA flap developed when the Air Force conceded that cost estimates for the delivery of 129 aircraft over an eight-year period had grown from $3.1 billion in 1964 to $4.3 billion currently.

Some critics say the increase is not $1.2 billion but $2 billion if the cost for spare parts is included. The issue then became whether the Air Force attempted to cover up and perhaps whitewash the increases to protect itself and Lockheed.

"The question is candor and what Congress is being told," complained Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., a former fighter pilot who is the committee's leading critic of the CSA program.

The Air Force said Lockheed could only be held responsible for $382 million of the $1.2 billion cost increase. The rest was attributed to inflation and at the Air Force's own error in underestimating the cost of the larger-than-specified plane Lockheed proposed.

Pike contended the Air Force puffed up the inflation figure and conveniently forgot it had made allowances for the larger plane as early as 1965.

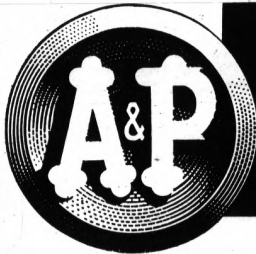

GROSS RATIONALIZATION
Lt. Gen. Durward C. Crow, Air Force comptroller, conceded the inflation estimate is a "gross rationalization of why the estimates were so far off."

Over-all, the Air Force said, it is getting a good aircraft at a reasonable price — despite the increases.

The big loser may be Lockheed, which the Air Force estimates will drop $285 million on the contract. Lockheed disputes this and says it will break even.

Lt. Gen. Thoms S. Jeffrey Jr. said it would be fruitless to renegotiate the contract or give it to someone else.

"We would never be able to get this kind of deal again," he said.

Brokers said there was a "lack of stimulus" to encourage investors and that many had grown less enthusiastic and taken to the sidelines to await new developments in the domestic economic and international scene.

RATE HIKE FEARED
They said there also was continuing concern among some investors that the prime rate might be increased again.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 4 at 337.9, with industrials off 2.

Speaking on a television program, the Michigan Republican Saturday said increasing competition of South Vietnamese troops would make possible U.S. withdrawals.

In response to a question, Ford said, "If there is not a settlement at Paris, sometime in 1969, increasing military completeness of South Vietnam would justify a downward readjustment of our manpower.

"I don't believe there will be a unilateral withdrawal of U.S. military men until we are able to give South Vietnam total responsibility," Ford said.

'BETTER TRAINING'
He said South Vietnamese troops are getting better training now and better equipment.

"As they become more competent," he noted, "they are in a better position to take over greater, and eventually full, responsibility for combat."

Ford said he felt the relationship between President Nixon and South Vietnam President Thieu is the best there has been between leaders of the two nations.

"I think this will have a profound effect on the enemy," he said.

Ford: Pullout to Start in '69

Points to Improvement of South Viet Troops

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — House Minority Leader Gerald Ford predicted at least some withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam in 1969.

Speaking on a television program, the Michigan Republican Saturday said increasing competition of South Vietnamese troops would make possible U.S. withdrawals.

In response to a question, Ford said, "If there is not a settlement at Paris, sometime in 1969, increasing military completeness of South Vietnam would justify a downward readjustment of our manpower.

"I don't believe there will be a unilateral withdrawal of U.S. military men until we are able to give South Vietnam total responsibility," Ford said.

Scholle Blasts Interest-Rate Ceiling Plan

LANSING (UPI) — A congressional plan to increase the interest rate ceiling on home loans in Michigan from 7 to 8 1/2 percent was denounced today by the state AFL-CIO.

Its president, August (Gus) Scholle, called the proposal a "scheme to rob the poor."

However, in the Legislature, support for the higher rate appeared to be growing. In the House, Republican leader Robert E. Waldron predicted passage of the bill.

Democratic Speaker William A. Ryan softened his earlier hesitancy over such legislation.

A dissident AFL-CIO affiliate, the Michigan State Building and Construction Trades Council, urged the Legislature to make the interest rate ceiling to hike the interest rate ceiling to make more loans will become available to buy new homes and put carpenters, masons and others to work.

'DISASTROUS'
But Scholle maintained a higher interest rate would be "disastrous" for low- and moderate-income families. He said the trades council should keep that in mind.

"Legislators who vote for this under the guise of protecting the well-being of the people are hypocrites and liars," the AFL-CIO chairman said. "This is nothing more than a scheme to rob the poor."

Scholle said he is so adamant in his opposition to pending legislation that should the Legislature increase the interest rate, the AFL-CIO will spearhead a statewide petition drive to revert the maximum to 7 percent and outlaw so-called penalty points.

Penalty points are a fee charged by a bank or savings and loan association for paying off a mortgage before its maturity. They are assessed against both buyers and sellers of mortgaged homes.

NO RESTRICTION
Presently, there is no restriction on the penalty point and some legislators contend financial institutions are going over the 7 percent usury limit by adding the charge onto the loan.

Two months ago the Senate passed a bill setting a nine percent interest rate ceiling on loans for three years. A House committee amended the measure to remove the ceiling altogether but this "open-end" plan was rejected on the House floor last week.

Qualified Computer Still Underemployed

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — When it appeared on the business scene in numbers a decade or more ago, the electronic computer was misunderstood and often was not relegated to menial jobs. A survey now shows the same is true today.

"Overqualified and underemployed" is the conclusion reached by Research Institute of America after analyzing replies from 2,500 companies of all sizes. It placed 90 per cent of all industrial computers in that category.

"You can't expect a guy right out of college to know all the possibilities of computer utilization," he said.

UTILIZATION ART
"Most machines are so fast that they can handle several jobs almost simultaneously," he explained. "But most managers haven't the scope to keep them fully employed. There is an art to utilization."

Despite this tendency to underestimate the computer's ability, the survey shows that companies have accepted the cerebral servant to a great extent. More than 60 per cent of respondents now use or plan within a year to use computers.

COULD HELP MORE
A sampling of opinion from electronic data processing (EDP) managers tended to confirm the suggestion that computers are getting better training now and better equipment.

"As they become more competent," he noted, "they are in a better position to take over greater, and eventually full, responsibility for combat."

Ford said he felt the relationship between President Nixon and South Vietnam President Thieu is the best there has been between leaders of the two nations.

puters could help business a lot more if they were more imaginatively used.

Said one manager: "Owning a computer is for some companies like an individual owning the Queen Elizabeth to transport him from his home in Hoboken, N.J., to his office in Manhattan."

The reason for not fully utilizing the machine, said another EDP manager, is that business is now buying swift, complicated second- and third-generation equipment but trying to run them with men who are only first- or second-generation managers.

"You can't expect a guy right out of college to know all the possibilities of computer utilization," he said.

a computer is in the minority," concluded the institute, a privately owned business advisory firm.

Not all those who use computers are owners or renters, however. Many companies send their work out to computer service facilities, much as a housewife sends out the wash, and receive back a package of processed data.

BETTER SERVICE
The institute said, companies using outside facilities indicated they were happier with results than those with "in-house" machines. Outside service facilities often have highly experienced personnel.

For those companies that are contemplating the purchase or rental of EDP machines, the veteran users offer this advice:

• Allow one or two years of planning and preparation before installing a computer.

• Hire the best people obtainable. Use a highly competent EDP man from the very beginning of planning.

• Involve all levels of management in decisions involving the purchase or rental. Their understanding and support is essential.

• Examine the economics of your project. Current systems and procedures might be adequate to handle the work load you have in mind.

Never forget, in other words, that it's people who run computers, not the other way around.

2 Rail Firms Feuding Over Title to Track

DETROIT (AP) — Officials and attorneys for two railroads and a steel company today considered the next step in a feud which began Sunday when work crews argued over who owned what rails.

The Toledo, Shore Line Railroad and Penn Central officials had no comment Sunday, after the two crews argued about a new spur line to the McLouth Steel plant in Trenton. Some shoving and pushing were reported.

The apparent misunderstanding arose when the Shore Line crew showed up on the Short Line to lay a new spur line into the McLouth Steel plant and tried to hook up to the Penn Central track with switches.

Even a bulldozer was moved in as the Shore Line said it was going to cut across some adjacent Penn Central tracks. The Shore Line crew reportedly believed it had the right of way.

Some tracks reportedly were torn up by the large machine. After four hours, the feud came to a standstill.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR
Q — I began teaching this year and am seriously trying to plan for my financial future. I have a $500 in savings and a $100 in stocks. I would like to know how to invest this money.

A — You have a good start. I would suggest you invest in a diversified fund. This will give you a mix of stocks and bonds, which is the best way to grow your money over the long term.

Another good option is to invest in a mutual fund. These funds are managed by professionals and offer a variety of investment choices. Look for one that has a good track record and low expenses.

Remember, investing is a long-term game. Don't expect quick riches. Focus on steady growth and diversification. This will help you reach your financial goals over time.

Good luck with your investing journey!

Wilson Gawks Around NY Looking at Buildings, People

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — There are thousands of places you can get a drink in New York late at night — but only one church that's open at midnight.

At least, in my constant sight-seeing and people-watching, I've been able to find only St. Thomas Church on 5th Ave. staying open till 12 and then it closes. After that, it's Dial-A-Prayer.

The sight-seeing, people-watching is more fascinating than ever here in the City of Noises this year. The streets you walk on seem to shake under you from the blasting for foundations for new skyscrapers.

There's a tremendous "BOOM!" in Times Sq. "That's the blasting where the Capitol Theater used to be," you decide.

Anytime a canyon there at the Americana Hotel corner, a dozen floors are up in a new office building at 810 7th Ave. Thirty more stories to go. And who's the familiar-looking girl in pants hurrying along. Go. And who's the familiar-looking girl in pants hurrying along. Go. And who's the familiar-looking girl in pants hurrying along. Go.

People-watching people have different favorite areas. I like 52d St. with its round-the-world flavor of restaurants all the way from Jilly's to the 4 Seasons. You can grille the globe in a few blocks.

Fifty-Seventh's not as queenly as beautiful 5th Ave. but it's more hurried, more exciting. The Parc Vendome on W. 5th has been nicknamed "Sardi's Uptown" because theatrical celebrities live in the complex.

You see Kaye Medford, Jack E. Leonard, Conrad Nagel, Harry Herschfield, Arthur Tracy, Anna Pennington, Lisa Kirk and Bob Wells, Ethel Smith and Ray Middleton.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Dustin Hoffman and his bride left on their honeymoon, along with his mgr., Walter Hyman . . . While the cast of "The Transgressors Rides Again" drank champagne at the premiere party, the star David Carradine sat alone in his dressing room, burning incense . . . Underground film actress Ultra Violet said at Dioretoire her sister'll try an acting career (under the name Infra Red).

A man wobbled into Jack Dempsey's restaurant and announced he could whip the ex-champ. Dempsey, unrecognized by the visitor, told the man something. "Why do you want to hurt Jack? He's 70 years old, and hasn't fought in 35 years. Why don't you leave the poor guy alone?" The man nodded, "You're right" — and wobbled out.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Joan Rivers thinks pants on women are vulgar and offensive: "And if I had the figure to wear them, I'd be happy to look vulgar and offensive."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "History is merely gossip that nobody is allowed to deny any more."

EARL'S PEARLS: A man said his teen-age daughter doesn't have to diet to lose weight: "She loses five pounds just by removing her make-up."

New York's air pollution doesn't bother his wife, a Broadway-kite flier: "She doesn't stop talking long enough to take a deep breath." That's Earl, brother.

'Ancestor' May Have Tempered Flu's Effect

LONDON (UPI) — The Western world braced itself for a perilous onslaught by Hong Kong or Mao Influenza last winter, but although many were felled in its sweep across the globe, fewer than expected died.

Some scientists now believe the reason is that Hong Kong virus was no stranger to mature bloodstreams. A similar strain probably paid a visit to the West somewhere around the turn of the century, and those who acquired it then still had immunity against its worst effects.

Influenza is most dangerous to the older segment of the population because respiratory troubles tend to overwork aging hearts. In the case of Hong Kong flu, many people in their late 60s and above were able to fight it off with minor damage, according to this theory.

Writing in the medical weekly, the Lancet, Dr. N. Masurel of University Hospital at Leiden in the Netherlands said that, before the disease reached his country, he took blood samples from nearly 1,000 people up to 97 years old.

In at least 80 per cent of those above the age of 68 he

"I suggest," Dr. Masurel concluded, "That a virus resembling the Hong Kong '68 strain was prevalent in man around the beginning of this century."

Commenting editorially on this article, the Lancet said "It now looks as though the history of influenza virus has repeated itself. The sequence of epidemic serotypes which has affected us in the past decade probably occurred at the turn of the century."

MAKE OVER PAGES Apollo 10 Makes Safe Splash-Down

Three American astronauts rode their Apollo 10 spacecraft to a safe splash-down in the Pacific Ocean at noon today.

The landing, 400 miles east of Pago Pago, American Samoa, marked the successful end of man's most daring voyage in the ocean of space and completion of U.S. missions preparatory to an attempt to land on the moon.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Racing toward a blazing finale to their pathfinder moon journey, the Apollo 10 astronauts today fired a brief engine burst to zero in on a landing target in the South Pacific.

"It's fantastic to come all the way back from the moon and have this kind of a midcourse burn," Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford said of the 6.6-second ignition.

He referred to the near perfect course he and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan had been on since they propelled themselves out of moon orbit Saturday.

The accuracy had been so great that two earlier midcourse corrections were canceled and the one today altered their landing spot only a few miles.

24,694 MILES PER HOUR

The firing sent the astronauts hurtling toward a narrow flight angle that would slam them into the earth's thickening atmosphere 400,000 feet above the Pacific at 24,694 miles per hour. Just nine miles later the craft dangles under three huge parachutes, dropping down at 22 m.p.h.

Splash down was set for 11:52 p.m. (Poniac time), 400 miles east of Pago Pago.

Purpose of the course corrections was to steer Apollo 10 close to the main recovery carrier, the USS Princeton. Without the maneuver, experts on the ground estimated the landing would be several miles from the ship.

The touchdown will climax an eight-day voyage of discovery that cleared the way for two Americans to walk on the moon in July.

Earlier, just five hours and 43,000 miles from splash-down, the astronauts beamed their final television show, transmitting a brilliant color picture of the earth looming larger by the minute.

Stafford, Young and Cernan did not expect to stay overnight on the recovery carrier as did earlier Apollo teams. After medical examination, shower and food, they planned to fly by helicopter to Samoa, where they would transfer to a jet transport for a trip to Ellington Air Force Base near Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center and a reunion with their families. A long delay in pickup could cause the flight to Samoa to be delayed to tomorrow.

Back in Houston, the astronauts will start an extensive 10-day debriefing period. The most interested listeners will be Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin and Michael Collins — the crew picked to fly the Apollo 11 moon landing mission in 55 days.

Armstrong and Aldrin, who will make the moon landing, want to hear more about Apollo 10's description of the landing target in the Sea of Tranquility, near the crater Moltke.

In addition, a 19-year-old housewife was killed in Orion Township yesterday, and two accidents within 30 minutes late Saturday in Waterford Township claimed three lives.

Killed in a crash at the M57-M13 intersection about 5:40 p.m. yesterday were Howard E. Mulanix Jr., 18, and Randy Mulanix, 14, sons of Mrs. Howard E. Mulanix of 1280 S. Cass Lake.

The boys reportedly were returning home from a weekend visit with a married sister, Mrs. Thomas Doyon of Remus, when their car apparently ran a blinking red light at the intersection and was struck broadside by another, according to State Police.

OTHER DRIVER HURT

Richard Ralston, 24, of Durand, driver of the other car is reported in critical condition today in Flint Osteopathic Hospital.

3:30 a.m. yesterday was Mrs. Lawrence Van Inwagen, 19, of 85 Crescent Lake, Lake Orion.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband which collided with a car driven by Phillip L. Griffin, 25, of Detroit.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said Griffin's car was headed south in the northbound lane when the mishap occurred.

TWO IN HOSPITAL

The victim's husband, 18, is reported in fair condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Linda Coke, 23, of Ferndale, a passenger with Griffin, is reported in fair condition with surgery slated today in Pontiac General Hospital.

Griffin was treated at Pontiac General and released.

Killed about 11:15 p.m. Saturday when the motorcycle he was riding was struck by a car at Crescent Lake Road and M59 was Gerald G. Hagitt, 22, of 10400 Clark, Springfield Township.

Township police said the accident occurred when a car driven by James E. Britt, 54, of 680 E. Columbia turned left from Crescent Lake Road and collided with the westbound motorcycle. Investigation of the mishap is continuing, police said.

DOUBLE DEATH

Two Dearborn Heights residents were killed about 11:40 p.m. when their car apparently failed to stop at a flashing red light at Cass Lake Road and M59 and was hit by a truck, according to township police.

Dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital were Richard G. Snyder, 24, and Mary B. Judge 20.

William L. Lane, 36, of 85 Bentley, Lapeer, driver of the truck, escaped serious injury, according to officers.

VC Cease-Fire to Honor Buddha

SAIGON (AP) — The National Liberation Front announced today that Vietnamese forces will observe a 48-hour cease-fire, from 7 a.m. Saigon time Thursday to 7 a.m. May 31, to mark the anniversary of Buddha's birth.

The South Vietnamese government had announced May 8 that its troops would observe a 24-hour cease-fire, from 6 a.m. Friday to 6 a.m. Saturday. U.S. and other allied forces agreed to join in. Friday is to be celebrated as the 2,513th anniversary of Buddha's birthday.

The front's announcement was made on its clandestine radio monitored in Saigon.

There was no immediate comment from the Saigon government or from U.S. or other allied spokesmen.

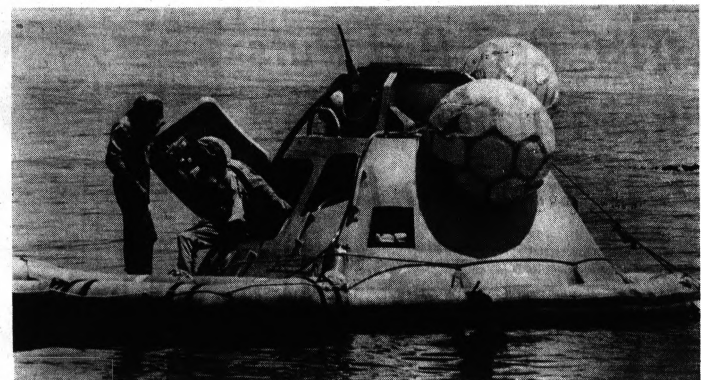

The Vietnam broadcast did not say if North Vietnamese forces would also observe the cease-fire, but it was assumed they would. Neither the Vietcong nor Hanoi admits North Vietnamese troops are in South Vietnam.

The announcement said the cease-fire was decided upon by Nguyen Huu Tho, the front's "president," on a proposal by Thich Thien Hao, a Buddhist monk and member of the front's central committee, and Thich Don Hau, vice president of the Alliance for Democratic and Peace Forces.

State Legislature Braces for Crucial, Lengthy Week

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature moved into high gear today and braced itself for a week of marathon sessions and heated debate on major, controversial issues.

Faced with a June 6 deadline for passage of bills in the chamber of origin, the Legislature has to consider:

- Some 15 appropriation bills to implement Gov. William G. Milliken's $1.51 billion recommended state budget.

- Measures to boost the interest rate ceiling on home mortgage loans to either 8½ or 9 per cent.

- A bill to raise the minimum wage next year to $1.40 an hour.

- Scores of lesser bills individual legislators consider important.

The Legislature also must deal with two stormy matters expected to be revived:

- The question of whether to give state funds to nonpublic schools.

- Whether abortion laws should be relaxed.

Both matters suffered earlier defeats in the House and Senate, respectively. Backers said they would try again.

Two conference committees have been urged to squeeze time out of the legislative schedule to reach a compromise on the state school aid bill and measures to allocate the $335-million water pollution bond funds.

Weatherman Steaking You to a Good Time

Planning a cookout? Tonight and tomorrow will be ideal, according to the weatherman's predictions which call for fair and pleasant weather tonight with lots of sunshine tomorrow.

Tonight's low is expected to fall in the 42-to-47-degree range with tomorrow's high in the mid-70s.

Take along your umbrella Wednesday as occasional showers and thunderstorms are forecast.

Probabilities of precipitation in per cent are near zero today and tonight and 10 tomorrow.

The Republican-controlled Senate held the proposed minimum wage line at $1.40 an hour in 1970 during preliminary debate last week.

Democratic efforts to raise the proposed minimum to $1.75 an hour failed, but the minority party vowed another attempt during final debate.

Senate proponents of abortion law reform were seeking up votes to order their bills in line for preliminary debate. One such move last week failed, but Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, sponsor of one reform bill, said he expected a second attempt to succeed.

His bill would authorize termination of pregnancy under conditions such as of rape or incest. A second bill, sponsored by Sen. John McCauley, D-Wyandotte, would legalize abortions performed in licensed hospitals by licensed doctors.

House action on the home-loan interest rate has been limited to rejecting a proposal to remove any legal maximum. The Senate approved a 1½ per cent increase from the current 7 per cent ceiling. The House appears likely to settle on 8½ per cent.

Parochialism was revived with introduction in the House of a substitute bill to allocate $100,000 in state aid to private schools this year, but backers say they "probably" will wait until this fall to try again.

Budget Reform Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., asked today for a new approach to administration and congressional budgeting practices. The new method would save $10 billion a year, he estimated.

Congress and administration officials, Proxmire said, should know why each project is necessary, what its objectives are, how much it will cost, and if there is any alternative to the plan.

His proposal is to adopt the control method called Planning-Programming-Budgeting System (PPBS).

Dirksen Predicts ABM Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — After weeks of selling, the Nixon administration now believes it has the commitments necessary for Senate approval of the Safeguard antimissile system.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview he is confident "the votes will be there" when the issue comes before the Senate, possibly next month.

Although Dirksen said he knows of two switches among Republicans who came out early against ABM but have had second thoughts, he declined to mention any names or to deal in numbers. He declined also to name any of those who had switched from the uncommitted column to the administration side.

SIX VITAL VOTES

The administration's previous poll showed 44 senators committed to vote for Safeguard, but 46 committed against. That meant it needed six more votes, plus that of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who can vote only if there is a tie, if all senators answer a roll call.

But the Senate seldom marshals all of its members for such votes. Illness or prior commitments often keep some away. If a couple of GOP opponents found it convenient to be absent, the administration would regard that action as satisfactory.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana seemed to have some such situation in mind when he said in a weekend interview that if the administration puts on pressure, it could win by a margin of one to three votes.

Federal Code of Ethics Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's leading federal judges, moving hastily to draft their own rules for off-the-bench behavior and possibly financial disclosure, have drawn a stern warning that they're too late.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said yesterday judges, as well as lawmakers and members of the executive branch, should be covered by the same laws.

He promised to support one that would require disclosing both outside payments and business connections.

Mansfield replied with a blunt "no" when asked if he would be willing to accept a code for self-policing by the judiciary itself.

"I think they are late, and we are late in facing up to this problem," he added. Only a day before Mansfield spoke, Chief Justice Earl Warren called a special meeting of the Judicial Conference for June 10 to consider judges' nonjudicial activities and, possibly, financial disclosure rules.

Mansfield specifically rejected leaving the judges to police themselves. Even tightening up confirmation procedures in the Senate, then leaving the problems to a judicial council of some type doesn't go far enough, he said.

A financial disclosure law, he said, should apply to everyone in the federal government who make more than $18,000 a year.

FACES CONFRONTATION

The Montana Democrat said he would be willing to insist on including judges even if it means a confrontation over separation of powers.

He said he would support a bill sponsored by Sens. Philip Hart, D-Mich., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., which will be extended to cover judges as well as other government employees.

The furor over judges' outside income and behavior arose when it was disclosed that Justice Abe Fortas had taken, then returned, a $20,000 fee from a foundation.

The man President Nixon chose to succeed Warren as chief justice, Warren E. Burger, has acknowledged accepting $7,500 from the Mayo Foundation.

Sudan Has Bloodless Leftist Coup

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A leftist government was installed in Sudan yesterday after an apparently bloodless coup by a group of colonels.

The officers overthrew a civilian regime headed by President Ismail el Azhari and Premier Mohammed A. Mahjoub and vested supreme power in a National Revolutionary Council headed by Col. Jaafar el Numeiri, the army said in a broadcast.

The council banned public gatherings, closed all banks, suspended newspaper publication, annulled the 1954 provisional constitution, and dissolved the cabinet and the constitutional assembly. Airports were closed but reopened last night.

Numeiri, a former defense minister, was described by sources in Damascus as an extreme leftist. The sources said the new leaders would probably follow political and economic policies similar to those of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

LEADERS NAMED

The Sudanese radio said the revolutionary council had promoted Numeiri to major general, named him commander in chief of the armed forces and reappointed him defense minister in a new 19-man cabinet. The new premier is Babakar Awadallah, also regarded as left-leaning, who resigned as Sudan's chief justice in 1964.

Numeiri purged 14 top military officers from their posts. New commanders were named for the air force, the Khartoum garrison and all armored units. A new police chief was appointed.

Sudan's Radio Omdurman said: "The seizure of power went off without shedding a single drop of blood."

Only four ministers of Mahjoub's government managed to escape before troops arrived at their homes yesterday morning, the broadcast continued. The rest, apparently including Mahjoub and El Azhari, are under "preventive detention," the radio said.

The new premier told the nation his regime is determined to do away with "bickering political parties" and set Sudan "on the road to freedom and socialism."

HHH: Red Rift Puts Nixon in Better Spot to Deal With Hanoi

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey, who unsuccessfully presidential campaign was entangled in the controversy over Johnson administration Vietnam policy, says President Nixon now is able to deal with Ho Chi Minh without the constant attention of Communist China and the Soviet Union.

And Humphrey said the bombing — which was one of the biggest issues of the controversy — may have been responsible more than anything else for keeping the North Vietnamese in the war.

The former vice president said in an interview that Red China and the Soviet Union are more concerned with each other — rather than Vietnam — since their border battles.

Humphrey voiced approval of the President's statement of Vietnam policy, but said Nixon "is going to be in trouble" over domestic problems "unless he reverses his field."

"I think President Nixon and his Administration have misjudged the urgency of the domestic crisis—I mean the danger of it," Humphrey termed the budget for domestic programs inadequate.

The pattern of violence on the campus, Humphrey said, "is only just a transfer of the pattern of violence from what was the ghetto violence a little while ago."

"Now that can be transferred back into the ghetto immediately and with grave dangers. And I think Mr. Nixon's budget is inadequate. I think the sense of urgency is not there. I think he knows what the facts are, but I don't believe they are the feeling you have to move as rapidly as I believe we have to."

In making his statement on Vietnam, Humphrey said, Nixon "actually said nothing new. But it was a new man that said it, and the timing was fortuitous" in that it came after the National Liberation Front issued its 10-point settlement plan indicating "some movement on their part."

Another important element, Humphrey said, is that neither the Russians nor the Chinese are as concerned about North Vietnam as they once were.

Humphrey also expressed belief the "North Vietnamese are tiring of this war as surely as I'm looking at you. Once we stopped the bombing they're asking themselves, 'What are we fighting about?'"

"As a matter of fact," he added, "the bombing maybe kept them more in the war than other things."

Fugitive Back in County Jail

A man sought for two years on a charge of attempted murder charge was returned to the Oakland County jail last night.

Sheriff Frank W. Irons and Detective Sgt. Charles Whitlock brought Roger B. Shaw, 25, of Huntington Woods back from Honolulu, to which he was deported from Australia.

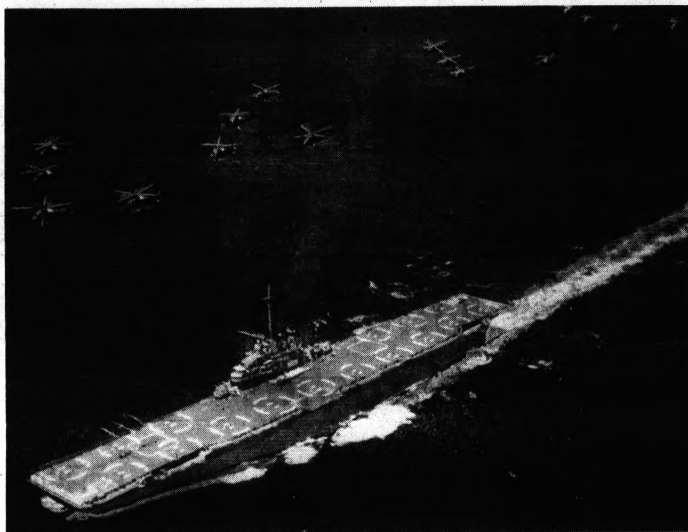

Shaw failed to appear for trial in October 1967 in the stabbing of his ex-girlfriend, Janice E. Leveranz, of Rochester. Miss Leveranz was stabbed with a 6-inch ceremonial dagger in a car in an Oakland University parking lot.

Shaw was discovered in Sydney, Australia, last month where he was arrested on a charge of vagrancy, the FBI said.

He was deported by Australian authorities after a federal fugitive warrant was issued. FBI agents arrested him when he got off a plane in Honolulu.

Whitlock said Shaw may be taken to Circuit Court today on a bench warrant for failing to appear at his trial.

He is held on $5,000 bond after being arraigned before a U.S. commissioner in Honolulu.

Yorty Foe Tops Poll; Vote Near

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thomas Bradley, the Negro councilman challenging Mayor Sam Yorty, dings to majority support in an independent poll released today—one day before the election for mayor.

The voter turnout in the nonpartisan race for chief executive of the nation's third most populous city is expected to reach one million.

In a Los Angeles Times' copyrighted survey, pollster Don Muchmore reported Bradley leading Yorty 53 to 36 per cent, with 11 per cent undecided.

The 17 per cent lead compares to a 16 per cent edge Bradley had in a Muchmore poll the first week in May. He surveyed 675 people in a poll completed Saturday.

The Field Poll, released Thursday, put Bradley ahead 43 per cent to 38 per cent with 19 per cent undecided. That survey showed Yorty trailing by 17 per cent two weeks earlier.

Yorty, stepping up the pace of his campaign, charged anew that Bradley is supported by black militants and anti-police elements. Bradley, a policeman 21 years, denies it.

Bradley has accused Yorty of running a corrupt administration in which five of his commissioners have been indicted on charges alleging misconduct in office. Yorty replied that the majority of the commissioners he appointed to administer many city facilities have done good jobs.

City Clerk Rex Layton predicted a record turnout tomorrow of between 70 and 75 per cent of the city's 1.27 million voters.

Spending Ceiling Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate leadership thinks a $192.5-billion spending ceiling will pass Congress even though it is opposed by the Nixon administration.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the ceiling is not the type he wants, but he assumes it will pass in the Senate.

Ray to Make Plea for Full Trial Today

By DOUG STONE

Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray makes his bid today for a full trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.—a crime he admitted with a guilty plea 11 weeks ago.

J. B. Stoner, a member of Ray's third team of lawyers, said he was prepared to put his client on the witness stand if developments at a criminal court hearing permitted.

Ray, serving 99 years in the Nashville state prison, was brought to Memphis Thursday and since has been held under heavy security precautions in the county jail.

Algiers Motel Trial 3rd Week

MASON, Mich. (AP) — The prosecution is expected to complete its presentation of witnesses this week in its attempt to prove that a suspended white policeman murdered a Negro youth during Detroit's 1967 racial riot.

On trial for first — degree murder is Ronald August 31, accused in the slaying of 19-year-old Aubrey Pollard, one of three Negroes killed in the Algiers Motel shortly after midnight July 26, 1967.

The trial begins its third week today. An all-white jury has heard 23 prosecution witnesses.

August admits killing Pollard, but claims it was self-defense in a struggle over a shotgun.

Testimony has indicated that the motel guests were pushed up against a wall by raiding police and national guardsmen allegedly investigating sniper fire, and that, one by one, those against the wall were taken out of the line and into rooms where shots were fired.

The purpose of the "game," as one guardsman called it, was to make those in the hall believe they would all be killed if the raiders were not told where they could find the alleged sniper weapons.

A witness-stand appearance by the 41-year-old prisoner would have interesting possibilities. At the time of his guilty plea his then lawyer, Percy Foreman, expressed in court a personal conviction that there was no conspiracy in the April 1968 King assassination. Ray said "I don't agree," but did not elaborate.

Ray is asking a new deal in court on the grounds that his former attorneys did not provide him with adequate counsel and pressured him into a guilty plea.

FIRST JUDGE DIED

He also contends the subsequent death of Judge W. Preston Battle, who accepted the plea, guarantees him a new trial. The presiding judge for today's hearing, Arthur Faquin, will decide whether the case should be reopened and whether to allow any testimony.

Ray wrote Judge Battle two letters from prison asking for a new hearing. Battle died in late March without acting on the requests.

Ray asserted that Foreman, his second attorney, and a previous lawyer, Arthur J. Hanes, wanted him to circumvent a full-scale trial through a guilty plea so their royalties from books and motion pictures on his life would not be jeopardized.

School Bus Drivers End Brief Walkout

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — School bus operations in the Bloomfield Hills district returned to normal today after a wildcat strike by about half the district's 50 bus drivers last Friday.

The drivers had charged that many of the district's 60 buses need maintenance and were unsafe to drive.

They also contended they were doing double duty for the same wages since the cutback in the transportation department's operation about a year ago.

School officials said union representatives for the drivers had not settled out specific grievances.

Union representatives and school administration officials were expected to meet this week to talk over difficulties.

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham Public School District will close out its annual series of spring concerts next week with performances scheduled at Evergreen and Meadow Lake schools. At Evergreen, next Tuesday is an instrumental and vocal concert with Mrs. Sharon Smith, Mrs. Lurinda Eizenzopf and Miss Marcia Hylkema conducting.

At Meadow Lake June 4 is an instrumental and vocal concert with Mrs. Kathleen Sovran, Miss Hylkema and Mrs. Eizenzopf conducting.

A week free of traffic accidents and injuries is the goal of Birmingham Traffic Safety Week, June 2-8.

The week-long campaign to reduce accidents is sponsored by the Birmingham Traffic and Safety Board.

Truck Figures in Slayings Case

DETROIT (UPI) — Police have located a blue van-type truck possibly involved in one of five unsolved murders of young women in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the last two years.

Ann Arbor detectives are to travel here today to look over a blue Ford Econoline panel truck like one mentioned in connection with the killing of Maralyn Skelton, 16, Romulus, who became the fourth victim when her body was found March 25 near Ann Arbor.

Detroit Police stopped the truck Saturday night and are holding it at the police auto pound. Two young men in the truck said they had borrowed it from its owner and were released after being held overnight.

Police declined to specify how the truck might be involved in the case, although Ann Arbor Police Chief Walter Krasny said last month. "We think the person who was driving it may be able to furnish some links as to the girl's whereabouts before she was killed."

Miss Skelton, who police say was a high school dropout and drug user, may have hitchhiked a ride in a similar truck, police said earlier this spring.

Laird Defends U. S. Tactics in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has spoken out in support of U.S. battlefield tactics in Vietnam, which Democratic critics say cause needless loss of American lives.

"It's always been our goal to keep the maximum pressure on the enemy consistent with the lowest possible casualties," Laird said Sunday, adding that U.S. commanders continue under instructions to carry out this policy.

Battlefield tactics have come under mounting criticism from Democratic leaders since the 10-day battle in which GIs drove North Vietnamese off Dong Ap Bia Mountain in 11 assaults that cost some 50 American lives.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called the battle "senseless and irresponsible" in a Senate speech last week and his stand was supported over the weekend by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Mansfield said Sunday the United States is jeopardizing progress in the Paris peace talks by escalating the war through expanded military pressure creating an "act-react syndrome."

"What we ought to do is not so much apply pressure in Vietnam as to instead apply pressure in Paris," the Montana senator said. "That is where peace is going to be made, not on the battlefield."

McGovern praised Kennedy Saturday for speaking out "in protest against a truly senseless slaughter" and added,

"The only way to end the war in Vietnam is to bring our troops home."

Kennedy followed McGovern to the podium at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner by the New Democratic Coalition and spoke again of what he called the "cruelty and savagery of the past week."

"It would have been immoral," Kennedy said, to remain silent about what he called "an unjustified war, an immoral war."

Boaters Are Warned on Great Lakes Cold

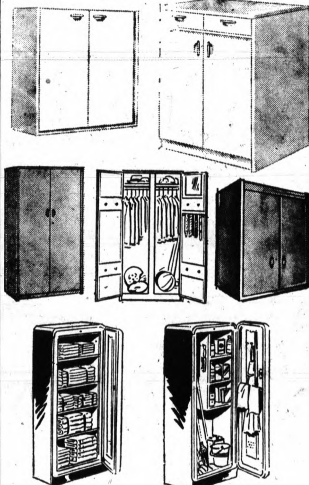

LANSING (UPI) — The Department of Natural Resources is urging boaters on the Great Lakes to stay within sight of other watercraft in case of accidents.

A study by the Department of the Navy shows exposure to the lakes' cold temperatures for a prolonged period of time without proper clothing can prove fatal, DNR officials said.

Expectant mothers who smoke are more likely to have small babies than nonsmokers.

3 Ships, 10 Aircraft in Apollo Recovery Force

ABOARD USS PRINCETON (AP) — Seven Navy helicopters, three Navy ships and three Air Force rescue planes formed the splashdown reception committee for Apollo 10.

This helicopter carrier and the communications ship USS Arlington were stationed in the target area. The destroyer USS Carpenter was positioned about 500 miles down range in the primary landing site just in case.

Between them, the ships and aircraft carried millions of dollars worth of communications and electronic tracking equipment.

The surface and aerial forces had made practice pickups of make-believe astronauts and a dummy command module in weather conditions rougher than predicted today while waiting for the real thing to come parachuting down.

WEATHER FORECAST:

Lt. Thomas S. Nelson of Long

Beach, Calif., the Princeton's weatherman, forecast scattered clouds, an easterly wind of about 10 miles an hour and seas of four to five feet.

Spacemen Solve Shaving

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 10 astronauts shaved in space for the first time Sunday. No American astronaut had shaved before.

"We were getting where we could barely stand ourselves there for awhile," Eugene A. Cernan said as his teammates' beardless chins appeared on color television from space.

The space agency had spent thousands of dollars trying unsuccessfully to develop a power razor.

Experts had said the shorn bristles would float around in the weightlessness of space. No razor ever made it off the ground.

Then a fellow astronaut bought a safety razor in a drug store and gave it to the Apollo 10 men.

So Cernan, Thomas P. Stafford and John W. Young shaved the regular way and had no problems.

"After spending a lot of money on mechanical shavers—which always manage to leave the whiskers flying around the atmosphere—somebody finally came up with the idea of using a razor and brushless shaving cream," Young reported with deadpan seriousness.

"You rub it on and it keeps the whiskers when you shave it off," Young continued. "Put it in a towel and dispose of it and you end up clean shaven."

plained about their itchy beards bothering them in space.

When they broke out the shaving equipment Sunday, Stafford only hinted at what they were doing, calling it "scientific experiment Sugar Hotel Alpha Victor Echo."

The first letters of the last five words spell "S-H-A-V-E."

GOP, Dem Donor Units Are Renamed

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 10 commander Thomas P. Stafford, while out of this world, recalled that he had been asked to suggest scripture readings for Sunday at his church. So he radioed his selections from 150,000 miles in space.

He asked mission control commentator Joe Engle, a fellow member of the Seabrook Methodist Church here, to pass the word and Engle complied.

"We're kinda out of town for church today," said Stafford. Then, after listing four passages from the Bible, Stafford said, "Just tell the congregation hello for me. I thought that those might be appropriate."

His selections included Psalm 8, which starts, "Oh Lord, our Lord, how excellent is Thy name in all the earth! Who has set Thy glory above the heavens."

The others, all referring to peace at some point, were Psalm 122, which reads in part, "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem: they shall prosper that love Thee;" Psalm 128, which concludes, "and peace upon Israel," and Isaiah 2:4, which ends, "And they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks: nations shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

Miss Pfeuffer Wed

A reception at the Metropolitan Club feted newlyweds, the Larry D. Wilmot (nee Janet K. Pfeuffer) Saturday.

The daughter of Henry Pfeuffer of Southfield and E. R. Gross of Mercurus Street and the son of the Vernon Wilmot of Loon Lake Shores Drive were married that evening in Central United Methodist Church, Highland.

ORGANZA GOWN

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

IT'S UNFAIR TO WOMEN! It should consume only about 1800 calories each day, and only 1600 between the ages of 55 and 75.

Instead of putting yourself through the frustrating round of losing and gaining poundage over the years, you would be wise to become aware of your changing needs at each new age and each new level of activity.

A few slight alterations in your pattern of eating will accommodate these changes.

For instance, eat dessert only once or twice a week rather than daily. If you enjoy a festive day of hearty eating, limit your calories the following day to make up the difference.

Learn to enjoy salad greens with one of the low calorie dressings on the market, or shake your own with tomato juice as a base.

You can cut your caloric intake less if you increase your physical activity. This exercise is easy to do; it will burn up some calories and at the same time improve your figure.

Lie on your back with your arms over your head resting on the floor and your legs straight. Raise your left leg and your right arm at the same time.

Touch the fingers of your per cent. Estimate from 55 to 65 right hand to your left toe if years of age than at the age of possible, or come as near as 25. Between the ages of 18 and 35 a woman weighing 128 leg to starting position. This pounds requires 2100 calories a time raise your right leg and day to maintain her weight, your left arm and touch. Keep while one of the same weight your arms and legs straight throughout this exercise.

Hold Pleat Press

When ironing or pressing pleats, snap a clothespin to the lower edge of the pleats until you are sure that the garment is dry. The pleats will then hang flat and will keep their shape longer.

Adventurer Sets Sail in Papyrus Boat

SATI, Morocco (AP) — "She is really riding well," Thor Heyerdahl reported as he set out for America Sunday in his papyrus boat.

His 15-ton craft made of interlocking reeds and looking like a bright yellow basket with a wine-red sail, dropped a tow line 12 miles from the North African coast and headed west-southwest for the deep-running Canary Islands current.

"She is doing better than I expected," Heyerdahl shouted to a sailboat on which his wife, Yvonne, was a passenger. "She is steering perfectly."

With six companions, Heyerdahl began a voyage he hopes will prove a theory for historians in the same way that his voyage across the Pacific 22 years ago on the raft Kon-Tiki proved that people who settled the Polynesian islands could have sailed to Peru.

EGYPTIAN CULTURE
On this journey, Heyerdahl hopes to demonstrate that a boatload of ancient Egyptians could have taken their culture to the New World 5,000 years ago and influenced the pre-Columbian civilization of the Indians of Mexico and Peru.

Heyerdahl hopes to reach the Yucatan peninsula of Mexico in three or four months.

Many papyrus experts and archeologists doubt the vessel, named the Ra after the Egyptian sun god, will be able to hold up that long. They expect it to become waterlogged and disintegrate.

But the skipper, gray-haired and sharp-eyed at 54, said just before departure: "The boat will float. The problem is how long it will take us to learn to navigate."

LIFE RAFT ABOARD
If the Ra sinks, there is a life raft aboard.

The rudderless vessel's steering system, two 30-foot long oars, had never been used by modern men. Heyerdahl said learning to use it might take several days of aimless drifting.

After two days of postponements, the Ra was towed away from her moorings by 16 oarsmen. She listed to starboard, but Heyerdahl said she had been loaded that way to compensate for prevailing winds.

The boat rode high and easily in swells of about three feet. Heyerdahl stood on the steering platform behind the small cabin.

FLAGS FLYING

The sail was emblazoned with an orange sunburst. Flying from the 20-foot mast were a United Nations flag and a flag for each nation represented in the seven-man crew.

Besides Heyerdahl, a Norwegian, they are: Norman Baker, 40, the navigator, from New Rochelle, N.Y.; Yuri Cenkevitch, 40, a Soviet physician and psychologist; George Sourial, 28, an Egyptian diver; Abdoulaye Djibrine, 34, of Chad, a papyrus expert; Carlo Mauri, 39, an Italian explorer and photographer, and Santiago Genoves, 45, an anthropologist from Mexico.

A last-minute addition to the crew was Safi, a five-month-old monkey who slumped on a chain at the stern. The monkey is named for the ancient Phoenician port from which the Ra sailed.

Space is scarce on the boat, which is about 55 feet long and 15 feet wide. But Heyerdahl was determined to keep the boat faithful to the drawing found in an Egyptian pyramid that provided the model.

FOR ENTERTAINMENT

The Ra is equipped with radio and a few modern navigation devices. For entertainment, the American brought along a harmonica and the Russian brought books by Hemingway and Tolstoy. The Chadian brought pictures of his three wives.

Trying to duplicate conditions the Egyptians might have sailed under, the crew has a ton of water, dates, nuts, dried meat and honey stored in earthenware jars to supplement a basic diet of fresh fish. There also is a coop of chickens.

Heyerdahl got the idea for the voyage in 1952 when he saw a picture of a reed boat on Inca pottery in Peru. It was similar to the boats of the ancient Egyptians.

He noted other similarities between the two cultures—worship of the sun, step pyramids, caste glyphs and surgical instruments in which brother and ments.

SAILING INTO THE PAST—Crew members of explorer Thor Heyerdahl's papyrus boat Ra wave as the 15-ton craft left Safi, Morocco, yesterday on a voyage 5,000 years into the past. Heyerdahl hopes to sail across the Atlantic to Mexico to show that Egyptians ventured to the Americas and contributed to the great early civilizations there.

Capture-or-Destroy Missions

GI in Two Viet Offenses

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced two new American offensives in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces and said they were aimed at "capturing or destroying enemy forces, material and installations."

The two new drives have accounted for 142 North Vietnamese soldiers killed since they began one 18 days ago, the other 11 days ago, U.S. headquarters said. U.S. casualties were put at 28 killed and 134 wounded.

The command said announcement of the operations were withheld for security reasons.

One of the offensives, Operation Lamar Plain, was launched May 16 by hundreds of paratroopers from the U.S. 101st Airborne Division in jungled foothills 45 miles south of Da Nang. It is aimed at taking pressure off the important provincial capital of Tam Ky, around which there has been heavy fighting in recent weeks. The U.S. Command said 113 North Vietnamese and 26 paratroopers have been killed, and 102 paratroopers wounded.

MARINES CHECK AREA

In the second drive, about 1,000 U.S. Marines from the 3rd Division are checking an area north-northeast of the abandoned combat base of Khe Sanh about 18 miles east of the Lao-tian border and 10 miles below the Demilitarized Zone.

Dubbed Operation Herkimer Mountain, it has produced few significant results since it was launched May 9. The U.S. Command reported 29 North Vietnamese killed and said U.S. casualties have been two killed and 32 wounded.

The U.S. Command also reported 26 enemy rocket and mortar attacks Sunday night but said only 10 caused casualties or damage and these were light. The Command also reported two more American helicopters shot down, with seven Americans wounded. This raised to 2,678 the number of American helicopters reported lost in the war.

Allied sources reported today that casualties in the war last week included about 300 Americans, 413 South Vietnamese and 4,000 of the enemy, according to preliminary reports.

CASUALTY STATISTICS

The U.S. command in Saigon announced that more than 40 of the enemy were killed for every allied soldier during a 24-hour period of the weekend. But battlefield reports gave a ratio Saturday and Sunday of 24 to one, with 436 Vietcong and North Vietnamese, 12 Americans and six South Vietnamese killed. Another 105 Americans and 16 South Vietnamese were wounded.

The kill ratio for the casualties reported for last week was nearly 6 enemy to 1 allied soldier. This was somewhat less than the ratio of 7 or 8 to 1 that has prevailed in recent weeks, but the figures made available today are incomplete and may be revised by the time the weekly summary is issued Thursday.

Casualties have soared since

May 11, when the Communist command stepped up its attacks across South Vietnam. The U.S. Command blames the higher casualties on increased enemy attacks.

Water hardness is caused by mineral chemicals dissolved from underground rocks, mostly calciums from soft limestone minerals.

When he can talk, he'll need a phone

A baby's first words may be spoken to a grandmother across town or across the country. They'll be the occasion for a happy telephone call.

But as he grows up, his demands for the future as well as your needs today must be met.

To meet today's growing needs in Pontiac, Michigan Bell will spend $6,880,000 this year for additional dial switching equipment, telephone cable, wiring, and connecting hardware in homes and businesses.

We are making this investment today to make sure there's a telephone tomorrow for the child who will someday be a man.

Part of your telephone's wonder is its price.

Passport Figures Show U. S. Tourists Are Flocking to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another boom in travel to Europe is on, the U. S. Passport Office says, with an estimated 300,000 Americans to board transatlantic flights in June alone.

A random sampling of passport applications shows that France is the single most popular destination.

The June travel estimate from passport officials represents an increase of 23 per cent compared with the travel flow to Europe a year ago.

Travel abroad generally increased under the Johnson administration although some called off trips in response to presidential appeals to help stem the dollar drain. The six per cent.

on administration has not asked anyone to stay home.

RECORD APPLICATIONS

An all-time high of 13,300 passport applications in one day was set May 5. Officials believe they will have issued 711,000 passports when the April-June period is over—an increase of 24 per cent.

A sampling of some 30,000 prime destinations for nine of 100. The Middle East and Australia each attracted five, while Africa beckoned to only one in a hundred.

GOING BY PLANE

The sample also showed:

- 99.4 per cent of those getting passports in January-March 1969 intended to leave by plane.
- Of every 100 travelers, 19 listed themselves as students, 17 as housewives and 32 as in an occupation categorized as an independent business or profession.
- During the first 1969 quarter, 83 of every 100 travelers were going abroad for personal reasons or pleasure, three for business, two for educational purposes, and one for religious, health or scientific reasons. The other 11 were traveling on government business.

Germany was second with 22 per cent and Ireland third with 21 per cent.

Kilauea volcano on the island of Hawaii erupted recently with fountains up to 75 feet in height. Records indicate that this particular volcano had not previously erupted in historical time.

DEATH-SCENE DEBRIS — Pennsylvania State Police inspect the wreckage of an automobile that ran off the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Carlisle early today, killing its two occupants when it crashed into a utility pole. The occupants of the car were New York City-area students returning from school in Arizona.

HEAVY THUNDERSTORMS
Locally severe and heavy thunderstorm activity developed yesterday across the south Atlantic and central Gulf states.

Bid to County Is on Agenda in Waterford
A request to the county, prospects for purchase of a new fire hose and a lot split are new business items on the agenda for the 7:30 p.m. meeting of the Waterford Township Board.

'Viet Tab Could Fun 6 Colleges'
Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., figures a billion dollars will pay for the war in Vietnam for less than two weeks but would support half a dozen small colleges indefinitely.

Mondale spoke yesterday at commencement exercises of St. Olaf college, a liberal arts school with an enrollment of about 1,500 in Northfield, Minn.

MONDALE
He said a billion dollars would be enough to operate St. Olaf, tuition free, for 125 years, and it used as an endowment would probably finance six colleges that size "forever."

Bernstein Gets Ovation in Vienna
Leonard Bernstein got a standing ovation from an audience of 2,000 for his conducting of Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" to mark the 100th anniversary of the Vienna State Opera.

Bernstein, retiring conductor of the New York Philharmonic, has made frequent guest appearances in Vienna.

Stennis Deplores Campus Violence
Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, says campus violence "blatantly violates the rights of those who desire to pursue their education free of harassment."

He told the graduating class of Mississippi College in Jackson that one of their problems upon leaving school would be a growing disregard and disrespect for law and order. The Senator added:

"You must help define the point at which the rights of one individual end and where the rights of another individual begin."

Mild Weather Is Prevailing Across Nation
By United Press International
Mild to warm weather was the rule in much of the nation today, although unseasonably chilly conditions prevailed from parts of the upper Midwest to northern New England.

Some widely scattered precipitation marred an otherwise clear weather pattern across the country.

Showers occurred along the north Pacific Coast and in the Northeast in association with cold fronts, while showers and locally heavy thunderstorms fell in the northern Great Plains area, the lower Mississippi Valley, the Texas Panhandle and the Carolinas.

In southeastern South Dakota last night, large hail pelted some areas, while smaller hail fell near Monroe, in north-central Louisiana, and in the Texas Panhandle north of Midland. In a six-hour period more than two inches of rain soaked Monroe.

NEW Y. Y. Bishop in Tune With Times

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Rev. Ned Cole was installed as the seventh bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Central New York Sunday to the tune of several guitars and a wash tub drum.

The instruments, along with bells, were used by a Cornell University group in playing a modern hymn during the ritual installation. Traditional music and instruments, prevailed during most of the ceremonies.

Bishop Cole noted that the music was a symbol of the "60s."

One-time Child Film Star Dies at 48 of Cancer

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. — Mitzi Green, a one-time child film star, is dead at 48 of cancer.

As a golden-haired child actress, she played opposite Jackie Coogan in "Tom Sawyer" and made her last childhood film, "Little Orphan Annie," in 1933.

Miss Green, the first child actor ever signed to a contract by Paramount Studios, was the daughter of Roscoe "Green Sam" Green, two noted vaudeville comedians.

The funeral is today. Survivors include her husband, producer Joseph Pevey, and four children.

In his statement Sunday, Desmond said the "union would be struck over any article of the new contract that is not carried out in September."

Desmond said prior to the strike that up to 7,000 teachers would have to be laid off and programs curtailed unless the state legislature raised the current $400 per pupil state aid level.

Teachers OK New Contract in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's public school teachers have voted 9,776 to 585 to accept a new contract which ends a two-day strike and makes them the highest paid teachers in major U.S. cities.

The agreement was worked out last week by the Chicago Teachers Union and the board of education in the office of Mayor Richard J. Daley.

"We are telling our teachers to go back to school Monday," John E. Desmond, CTU president, said Sunday in announcing the results of the voting.

The city's 523 elementary and high schools, with 600,000 pupils, were closed Thursday and Friday by the first teacher strike in history in Chicago's public schools. About 75 per cent of the 23,000 teachers stayed home.

Acceptance of the one-year contract was recommended by both Desmond and the union's governing House of Representatives.

The contract gives teachers a $100-a-month raise and provides fringe benefits and improved working conditions.

Starting teachers will receive $8,400 annually effective in September. Detroit ranks second in starting teachers' salaries with $7,500.

The contract also specifies there will be no layoffs for regularly assigned teachers or other staff members, a reduction of class sizes, no cutback in the 1969 summer school program, no decrease in educational programs, and full-time substitute teachers will be certified after three years of satisfactory teaching without having to pass any tests.

$150 SOUGHT

The teachers had sought a $150-a-month pay increase.

"This is the best contract we've had up to this date—one of the best in the country," Desmond said.

About 7,000 of the union's 19,000 members did not vote Sunday.

Desmond indicated that implementation of the contract would require approval of large increases in state aid to schools by the Illinois General Assembly.

MONEY FORTHCOMING

"I've had word from the governor (Richard B. Ogilvie) and the mayor. We know that the money needed will be forthcoming," Desmond said.

The cost of the agreement has been estimated at $66 million.

Schools Supt. James F. Redmond said earlier in the year the schools faced a $54-million deficit for the rest of the year if it continued all existing programs.

Redmond said prior to the strike that up to 7,000 teachers would have to be laid off and programs curtailed unless the state legislature raised the current $400 per pupil state aid level.
