Crew Told to Destroy Ship's Secrets Before Capture

WASHINGTON (AP)—The commander of the pirated U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo ordered top secret codes and electronic gear destroyed as North Koreans boarded his ship Monday night, sources said today.

★ ★ ★

The disclosure came as a four-ship Navy task force including the carrier Enterprise cruised toward North Korea and the United States applied diplomatic leverage in a bid to recover its captured vessel and her 83 men.

The Pentagon knows the elaborate destruct procedures — designed to prevent critical information from falling into enemy hands — were initiated, sources disclosed.

It was not determined whether all the classified gear was burned or dumped overboard as the ship's plan called for.

There were reports the Pueblo's four wounded men were injured by the explosives but sources said, "We really don't know what happened" to them.

★ ★ ★

North Korea, in a monitored broadcast, claimed killing and wounding some of the Pueblo's crewmen.

Sources here said American authorities know that the North Koreans fired on the Pueblo when approaching or boarding the ship.

The White House called North Korea's capture of the lightly armed vessel "a very serious situation." The State Department viewed it "with utmost gravity."

President Johnson was to preside today at what was described as a regular meeting of the National Security Council. The ship incident was likely to be the No. 1 topic.

In Panmunjom, Korea, where the Korean War truce was negotiated, the United Nations Command strongly protested the seizure and demanded immediate return of the ship. The command also demanded a North Korean apology.

But the head of the North Korean delegation there, Maj. Gen. Park Choong-kook, claimed the Pueblo violated North Korean territorial waters off Wonsan and was trying to "come closer to the land to perpetrate intolerable provocative acts" when North Korean navy vessels "returned fire."

Romney Budgets War on Crime, City Woes

LANSING (AP) — Pledging to seek no new taxes, Gov. George Romney today asked the Legislature to approve a $1.3-billion budget for fiscal 1968-69, calling for a double-barreled attack on crime and urban problems.

The $1.3-billion general fund budget, combined with restricted funds and general fund special purpose money, would add up to a total operating budget of $2.73 billion for the next fiscal year.

Romney's proposed general fund budget — highest ever sought by a Michigan governor — included requests to double the State Civil Rights Commission appropriation and set aside an additional $5.5 million toward maintenance of law and order.

The commission appropriation would be boosted from the current $1.4 million to $2.8 million. The law and order money would include a 23 per cent hike in the State Police budget from current appropriations of $23.7 million.

Romney's request compares with anticipated general fund spending of $1.146 billion in the current fiscal year. He had sought a budget of $1.15 billion for this year.

TWO BOND ISSUES

Backed by anticipated revenue from the state's new income tax, the Republican governor and presidential hopeful also called for two general obligation bond issues, totaling $435 million.

One, totaling $335 million, would go for purification of the state's lakes, streams and rivers. Another, totaling $100 million, would be used for park acquisition, recreation and fisheries improvement.

Both will appear as separate questions on the November 1968 ballot if the Legislature approves separate bills authorizing the questions be put to the voters.

★ ★ ★

Romney, only major announced candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, planned to fly to Philadelphia later today to tape a television show and then return to the campaign trail in New Hampshire — site of the nation's first primary.

Related Stories, Pages D-8, F-3

The total proposed budget was $1.33 billion. Anticipated revenues for the new budget year — bolstered by the state income tax approved last year — were estimated at slightly more than $1.33 billion.

State Budget Director Glenn Allen said the state will end the current fiscal year with a general fund surplus of $24.2 million. This, he said, with an anticipated $3 million surplus in fiscal 1968-69, would leave the state with a $27.2 million surplus June 30, 1969.

Local Fair-Housing Law Receives Preliminary OK

By BOB WISLER

After nearly four hours of a public hearing last night, city commissioners gave preliminary approval to an open-housing ordinance for Pontiac, the vote was 4-3.

The favorable vote came on the first reading of the ordinance. Second reading, which would give final approval to the ordinance, is scheduled for next Tuesday.

If the commissioners repeat their votes at the next reading the ordinance would become effective 10 days after its publication in The Pontiac Press.

Voting in favor of the ordinance last night were Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson and District 7 Commissioner James. H. Marshall.

★ ★ ★

Opposed were District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan and District 6 Commissioner Wesley J. Wood.

Related Story, Page D-2

ATTENDED BY 200

Nearly 50 persons spoke on the issue. The meeting, attended by about 200 persons, was extremely orderly, a fact commented on by several commissioners.

Commissioners heard a variety of arguments for and against the open-housing law, but the majority of those speaking were unequivocally in favor of the ordinance. A majority of those speaking for were white.

Little tension built up during the meeting, in marked contrast to previous meetings at which open housing was discussed.

★ ★ ★

The final vote on the first reading came after commissioners turned down an amendment — suggested by Dugan —that the ordinance be put to a vote of the electorate before adoption by the commission.

SAME VOTE

The vote defeating the amendment was the same as the vote approving the ordinance.

Commissioners against the ordinance spoke of the loss of rights in dealing with property, of apparent disapproval by the majority of city residents, of lack of a need for such a law and of the possibility of a split in the community over the issue.

Those in favor spoke for the need for the legislation to guarantee the right of all citizens to be able to have freedom of choice in housing.

Commissioner Fowler, the only Negro commissioner, called it the most important piece of legislation to ever come before the commission.

'FIGHT FOR FREEDOM'

Declaring he had spent his life "fighting for freedom," Fowler said, "I would like my children and grandchildren to be treated like human beings and move about as they see fit."

Marshall, who said he will offer an amendment next week excluding some housing from the ordinance, said, "I can't see why we should hold any group of people into a district."

He said that as persons — Negro and white — earn more and become better educated they are going to want to move into better neighborhoods.

Turnout for Turnovers High at Cooking School

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Another full house at The Pontiac Press cooking school last night ended the first half of the week's program. There was a smaller attendance at the afternoon session, due perhaps to the morning snow.

A bright note of color and glamour was injected in the middle of the cooking demonstrations.

Alvin's of Pontiac put on a half-hour show of spring clothes, including one bikini. It could have been the most unusual place the models had ever performed — in the midst of all that kitchen equipment.

A young homemaker, Mrs. Barry Schram, 86 Charles Lane, won the Roper Gas Range given by Consumers Power Co. at the close of last night's session.

Other grand prize winners yesterday were Mrs. E. I. Cline, 161 College, Avon Township, a White sewing machine from Household Appliance Co., and Mrs. Carl M. Vallad, 755 Alberta, a gas water heater, also from Consumers Power Co.

The final session of this ninth annual cooking school will be tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Doors at the east end of Pontiac Central High School open at 6:30 p.m.

Those without tickets may be admitted just before the program begins. All have equal opportunity to win the prizes.

Chance of Flurries, Warmer for Area

There's a chance of a few brief snow flurries or light snow showers tomorrow with temperatures due to be a little warmer.

★ ★ ★

Today's sunny skies will increase in cloudiness by tonight. The low is expected to be from 6 to 12 above.

Morning variable winds will become south to southeast at five to 15 miles per hour tonight.

Intermittent light snow is expected throughout the state tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 20, tonight and Thursday 50.

A frigid four above zero was the low in downtown Pontiac this morning. The temperature recording at 2 p.m. was 23.

Pontiac Div. Sales Top Period in 1967

Retail sales of 20,000 Pontiacs, Tempests and Firebirds were reported during the middle 10 days of January, it was announced today by Thomas L. King, general sales manager for Pontiac Motor Division.

King said this compares to 19,002 new cars sold in the same period last year.

Marine Combat Base Shelled

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners escalated the battle of Khe Sanh late today with a heavy shelling of the U.S. Marine regimental combat base in the critical northwest corner of South Vietnam.

It was their first attack with big guns on the base, on a red clay bluff three miles north of the town of Khe Sanh.

A Marine spokesman in Da Nang said 150 shells of tube artillery ranging up to Russian-made guns of 152mm—about six inches in diameter—and rockets and mortar fire rained on the base in a 30-minute barrage. There was no immediate word of casualties or damage.

North Vietnam was reported to have sent 10,000 more troops into South Vietnam's embattled northern provinces.

★ ★ ★

A senior U.S. officer in Saigon quoted a defector as saying their goal is to wipe out American forces there to pave the way for negotiations.

The U.S. source said a lieutenant who defected from the new division told allied interrogators one Communist objective was to launch an offensive against South Vietnam's two northern-most provinces which would "destroy American forces."

"A victory would be followed by negotiations," the defector said.

PROTEST BY U. N.

The lieutenant who defected was quoted as saying that the Communist battle plan against the northern frontier is considered so crucial that it is under the direction of the North Vietnamese Defense Ministry headed by Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the architect of the Communist victory over the French at Dien Bien Phu.

Cong Frees 2 U.S. POWs

SAIGON (AP)—U. S. officials announced today that the Vietcong had released two American servicemen who had been taken prisoner in South Vietnam.

A spokesman identified the two released captives as Marine Cpl. Jose Agosto Santos and Army Pfc. Luis Ortiz-Rivera.

The spokesman said Agosto Santos had been held by the Vietcong since May 14, 1967, and Ortiz-Rivera had been a captive since Dec. 21, 1966.

The spokesman said both men were released yesterday near Tam Ky, on the coast 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

He said they were taken to a hospital of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division for treatment and will be evacuated shortly to the United States.

NO DETAILS

The spokesman said he did not have the ages or home towns of the two men, nor could he give any details concerning the circumstances of their release.

It was the first known release of America prisoners since three U.S. servicemen were released by the Vietcong through Cambodia last November.

The Vietcong announced last week it had released 14 South Vietnamese officers on Jan. 8 in honor of the seventh anniversary of its political arm, the National Liberation Front.

Wallace Backer Sees City Vote

By ED BLUNDEN

"It's going on the ballot," said the man wearing the "Wallace" tie.

He attended last night's City Commission meeting at which a hearing on a proposed open housing ordinance for Pontiac was held.

The man, Larry Bumblough, charged the meeting was "loaded" with supporters of open housing.

He told a reporter his group had 18 members present and that they opposed the ordinance as well as supporting George Wallace, former governor of Alabama, for president of the U.S.

★ ★ ★

Bumblough said he did not live in Pontiac, but did business in the city. He said he is from Detroit and regional director of the Wallace for President drive, which includes Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

PREDICTED FAILURE

He predicted the ordinance would not stand up in a vote of the people.

"I believe everyone should have the right to sell to anyone they want to and that people have an obligation to their neighbors to protect their property," he said.

★ ★ ★

Bumblough invited anyone who wished to help oppose the ordinance to come to the Wallace Headquarters building at 544 E. Beverly.

Congress Mixed in Ship Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry demands for immediate retaliation mixed with calls for caution marked congressional reaction to North Korea's seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

A major question being asked at the Capitol Tuesday was why the ship had no protection.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., called the incident "an insult to our flag. It is a serious setback in our intelligence forces and it is an act that we should not tolerate."

He sent a telegram to President Johnson urging that the North Koreans be told the Pueblo would be retaken by force if she is not returned within a specified time.

SIMILAR NOTE

A similar note was sounded by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. He said the North Koreans should be told that if they don't release the Pueblo and her crew within 24 hours, "our naval forces will be instructed to seize all vessels of North Korean registry wherever they may be found on the high seas."

But the two senators were the exception to the general reaction that the United States should move slowly and through diplomatic channels before taking any retaliatory action.

As Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., a Foreign Relations Committeeman, put it: "This is a provocative incident but we have war worries enough on our hands without looking for another one."

★ ★ ★

BIGGEST QUESTION

Although any formal congressional investigation is likely to await further details about the incident, the biggest question in the minds of Congress members appeared to be: Why didn't the Pueblo have protection in an area where U.S. military power is great?

★ ★ ★

Some said they felt the Communists were carrying out a propaganda exercise in an attempt to belittle American military strength. They thought the vessel might be released, along with her 83-member crew, after the Communists had exhausted all possible efforts to humiliate the United States.

★ ★ ★

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he asked the Pentagon for details on why the ship, "did not undertake to defend itself in the two or three hours of the incident or call for air support."

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon said later the Pueblo didn't call for help until she was being boarded by North Korean sailors.

The ship, equipped with two machine guns, reported she had not used any weapons before becoming the first American naval vessel captured at sea since the Civil war. Some crew members reportedly were wounded.

Russell said if North Korea was trying to divert U.S. forces from Vietnam it wouldn't work.

"We are rather lightly spread all over the world but we are in a position to fulfill any commitments we have in Korea and maintain our position in North Vietnam," he said.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said intelligence-gathering activities of the type in which the Pueblo was engaged "certainly expose us to incidents of this kind."

SHIP'S MISSION

The mission of such a ship is to listen in on radio messages and to detect radar positions.

Fulbright called the incident serious "if, as reported, the ship was on the high seas."

Reflecting doubt whether American destroyers were actually attacked in the 1964 Tonkin Gulf incident—which spurred U.S. military escalation in Vietnam—Fulbright said he was not willing to accept everything the Pentagon says as being "exactly according to the facts."

Commission Postpones Hearings on Rezonings

BIRMINGHAM—The City Commission has postponed to April 29 two public hearings on properties in the Ann Street area.

★ ★ ★

The adjournment, at the request of City Planner William Brownfield, will allow additional information regarding potential worth of Woodward frontage in the area to be compiled.

The hearings, previously scheduled for Feb. 7, are to be on vacation of an alley between Landon and Lincoln, and rezoning of property west of Ann to parking.

The commission then gave the final go-ahead for an economic analysis of the Woodward frontage.

★ ★ ★

The "cash-flow" analysis, recommended by the planning board, will consider uses such as multiple family dwellings, office buildings and commercial development for the property, and estimate its value in each case.

'GENERAL' STUDY

Brownfield said the study, a "very general" one, would be finished within three weeks. He requested the rescheduling of the hearings to permit complete recommendations to be made to the commission.

In other recent business, the commission has approved plans of the city parks and recreation board to expand the "casual recreation" program.

★ ★ ★

In recommending the expansion, Board Chairman Lou Sharkoff noted that a report from the casual recreation committee had stated that of all participation in city-sponsored recreation programs last year, one-half was in casual recreation.

Republicans Hit LBJ on War, Home Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Republicans charge that gradualism and vacillation by President Johnson have prolonged the Vietnam war.

On the home front, the GOP says administration policies have failed to combat mounting crime and inflation.

Related Story, Page A-8

In their answer to President Johnson's State of the Union message, the Republicans called for "military success" in the war based on "effective utilization" of U.S. air and sea power.

And Republicans criticized "complacency, disunity and protest here at home" while warning the nation is losing the strategic superiority they claimed was built under Republican leadership during the 1950s.

★ ★ ★

The GOP spokesmen also renewed calls for reductions in federal spending and a transfer of programs from the national government to states and localities.

17 CONGRESSMEN

The Republican reply, featuring nine House members and eight senators, was carried live last night on the CBS radio-television networks.

Republican governors, numbering 26 of the nation's 50, were not included in the presentation which was introduced by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and had Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., as master of ceremonies.

An audience of Republican congressmen and senators in the auditorium of a Senate office building clapped enthusiastically before and after each speech, interrupting more than 50 times with applause.

★ ★ ★

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has given firm backing to President Johnson's Vietnam policies in previous years, was absent because of illness. Sen. John G. Tower carried the GOP banner on the war issue.

'POLICY OF GRADUALISM'

The Texas Republican accused the Johnson administration of following what he termed "a self-defeating policy of gradualism" which he said "caused us to pull our punches; it prolonged the fighting; it cost American lives unnecessarily.

"This war could be over today if the Johnson Administration had acted with determination instead of with vacillation," he added.

Tower said Republicans stand for "military success in Vietnam that will enable the Vienamese to rebuild a free nation," for "effective utilization of America's vast air and sea superiority" and for "quarantine of the enemy's supply lines so that he can no longer fight."

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., charged: "This administration has developed a strange new doctrine — that Soviet strategic equality is better than American supremacy."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Charlotte T. Reid, R-Ill., one of whose two sons left for Vietnam last week, said she believes that "not only all parents, but all thinking Americans, are as deeply distressed as I am by complacency, disunity and protest here at home."

Light Radiation in B52 Crash

Four Hydrogen Bombs Not Yet Recovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force survey team near Thule, Greenland, reports discovering burn marks, blast fragments and a "negligible amount of radioactivity" where a B52 bomber carrying four hydrogen bombs burned and crashed.

★ ★ ★

The plane crashed Sunday on thick ice covering North Star Bay near Thule Air Force Base, and the bombs have not been recovered.

★ ★ ★

The Americans on the survey team, their Eskimo dogsled drivers and a Danish guide were exposed to a "limited amount of low-level radioactivity" during their two-hour inspection of the site Monday, the Pentagon said in a statement issued early today.

★ ★ ★

FLAMING FUEL

Radiation at the site was "light, fixed and closely confined" and occurred in an area roughly duplicating burn marks, apparently caused by flaming fuel from the stricken bomber, the Air Force team reported.

★ ★ ★

The flame-scorched area and small fragments of the plane found there indicate the B52 may have exploded on impact with the seven-foot-thick ice covering the bay, the team reported.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon said it was not determined whether the plane or any part of it burned into or through the ice and sank in about 800 feet of water.

None of the parts located, the Pentagon said, "were identified as nuclear weapons or parts of nuclear weapons."

★ ★ ★

It said the apparent fuel-burn area extends south from the impact point and covers an area about 50 by 500 yards. The radiation was found southwest of the impact point in an area 75 by 600 yards.

GM Worker-Stockholders in City Share $4.3 Million

Securities and cash totaling $4,338,000 have been credited to 2,924 salaried employes of General Motors' three divisions in Pontiac as a result of their participation in the 1962 class of the company's savings-stock purchase program.

★ ★ ★

In making the announcement, GM Chairman James Roche said the amount is equivalent to $2.66 for every dollar saved by all participating employes.

A total of $122.8 million has been distributed this week to the more than 72,400 employes belonging to the program, according to Roche.

This is the eighth distribution since the inception of the program in 1955. Since then, employes have saved about $806 million.

★ ★ ★

This sum, together with the GM contribution, has been used to purchase $403 million in government bonds and 15.2 million shares of General Motors common stock.

ELIGIBILITY

GM employes having one year or more of continuous employment are eligible to participate in the program on a voluntary basis, with savings permitted up to 10 per cent of their salary.

Under the program, GM contributes $1 for each $2 of employe savings. One half of the employe savings is invested in government bonds and one-half in GM common stock.

The corporation contributions and all dividends are invested entirely in GM stock.

★ ★ ★

The following is a breakdown on the number of the benefitting employes at each of the three divisions in Pontiac and the amounts distributed locally:

★ ★ ★

- Pontiac Motor Division, 1,489 employes, $2,326,886.
- General Motors Corp. Truck & Coach Division, 1,249, $1,719,591.

Fisher Body Plant, 186 employes, $291,028.

Tonkin Probe Decision Due

Fulbright Committee to Study Staff Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee was expected to decide today whether to order a full-scale investigation into the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin incident.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., called a meeting of the committee to discuss a secret 20-page staff study of the North Vietnamese torpedo attack on American destroyers which led to the U.S. decision to bomb North Vietnam.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Iowa, ranking Republican on the committee, said he had seen the staff study and it produced little information that was not already available.

"There is nothing in it to justify an investigation," he said. But Hickenlooper was withholding a final judgment until today's meeting.

Fulbright ordered the study of the Gulf of Tonkin incident last year after a former Navy officer wrote the committee expressing doubts the attack ever occurred.

Former Lt. (J.G.) John W. White of New Haven, Conn., claimed the chief sonarman of one of the two American destroyers involved in the engagement told him he saaw no sign of enemy torpedoes, as the Pentagon reported at the time.

Fulbright felt the allegations were worth looking into, at least casually, and ordered the staff to obtain ship's logs and Pentagon reports on the incident. The chairman also met privately with White earlier this month in his office.

The staff so far has relied entirely on voluntary information, such as White's, and has sought out no witnesses.

Astro-Scientists Might Leave Space Program

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A number of the nation's 16 scientist astronauts are unhappy with the space program, and some may quit in the near future, a highly placed source said yesterday.

The scientists' discontent springs from two sore points, the source said:

- They feel the 75 per cent of their time devoted to training in the arts of space flight has not left enough time for laboratory research and studies, causing them to fall behind former colleagues outside the space program.

- Cuts in the space budget have postponed or canceled America's science-oriented space flights. These flights were the ones which attracted the scientists to the astronaut corps in the first place.

"It's a rather widespread thing among the experimenter types, who feel they've been let down — been led down the primrose path," the source said.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has a total of 55 astronauts, 39 of them pilots rather than scientists. None has flown in space since 1966, and the next manned space flight is not expected until late this summer.

★ ★ ★

DOCTORAL DEGREES

All the scientist-spacemen hold doctoral degrees in subjects ranging from medicine to physics and astronomy. Two groups have been picked — six men in 1965 and 11 others last August. One member of the first group dropped out of the space program just after he was named.

"With the heavy science flights vanishing or being pushed into the future," the source said, "There is unhappiness. I know at least a half dozen scientists who share this."

In the next fiscal year, informed sources say, the space budget could drop to $4 billion or below.

A geneticist has speculated that it might be possible for humans to perpetuate themselves indefinitely by artificially growing offspring with the same set of genes and to cure disease and change their own characteristics by introduction of new genes into their bodies.

Avon Parents Sue Hospital

The parents of a 13-year-old Avon Township girl yesterday sued St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for $60,000, charging that an employe molested their daughter while she was a patient a year ago.

In the suit filed in Oakland County Circuit Court, the couple charged that an off-duty male employe took indecent liberties with their daughter on Jan. 27, 1967. He is no longer employed by the hospital.

The alleged incident was investigated at the time by Pontiac police, but, according to Sgt. Mary Caronis, the parents decided they didn't want to prosecute.

"They felt it wasn't healthy for their daughter to prosecute," according to the policewoman.

★ ★ ★

In asking for damages, the parents contend that the hospital failed to provide safe quarters and survellience of the pediatrics ward where the girl was a patient.

They say that the emotional shock suffered by their daughter requires special medical care.

Avon Youth Sentenced for Injuring Teen

An Avon Township youth was sentenced yesterday to 4 to 20 years in the state prison at Jackson for kidnaping and feloniously assaulting a Rochester teen-ager nearly a year ago.

The prison term was ordered for John L. Kildow, 19, of 3181 Grant by Oakland County Circuit Judge William R. Beasely.

Kildow was found guilty by a jury last month of causing John Kinzie, 17, of 601 Quarter to lose his left eye.

The incident occurred Feb. 13, 1967, after Kildow and Darrell J. Cote, 20, of 575 Briarvale, Avon Township, gave a ride to the hitchhiking Kinzie.

WAITING TRIAL

The driver of the car, Cote is waiting trial on a kidnaping charge only. He has waived a jury trial.

Kildow was convicted after he admitted that he had smashed a beer bottle over Kinzie's head. The broken glass slashed Kinzie's eye.

Kinzie told the jury that he was struck by Kildow when he grabbed the wheel in an attempt to force the car off the road.

He said they were talking about killing him, and "I had nothing to lose."

He finally escaped by diving through an open window when the car slowed down for a traffic signal.

Kildow said that he and Cote were only "joking" and that he struck Kinzie to protect himself from being injured if the car went out of control.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Snow flurries are forecast tonight in the north Atlantic coastal states and in eastern Montana. Showers are expected in the Pacific Northwest, while it will be colder in the East and milder in the Midwest.

Great Britain Deplores Act by N. Koreans

LONDON (AP) — The British government today officially deplored North Korea's seizure of the U.S. ship Pueblo and expressed conviction the vessel was in international waters when she was boarded.

Officials also said Britain still regards as valid its commitment to help defend South Korea against unprovoked aggression.

★ ★ ★

In the first public reaction in the Soviet Union, the news agency Tass accused the United States of a provocation. It made no mention of a State Department statement that the United States had asked the Soviet Union to relay an appeal to North Korea to release the Pueblo.

Britain's reaction was voiced by a Foreign Office spokesman who said he was speaking on the authority of Foreign Secretary George Brown.

DETAILS REVEALED

"We deplore the seizure of the vessel, which was in international waters," the spokesman said.

Officials said the U.S. government had made available full details of the position of the Pueblo at the time of interception.

Local Housing Law Gets Preliminary OK

Negroes should not be stifled in this general movement, he said.

Taylor, who cast the last vote, spoke of the city's continuing efforts to improve racial conditions and said, "We've got to move and we've got to forget these prejudices.

"I'm going to stay on the side of what I believe in. I think it is right. I think we will be proven right."

Probably the most emotionally stirring speech came from Commissioner Hudson, who received the loudest applause.

★ ★ ★

'RESPONSIBILITY OF CONGRESS'

He said open housing legislation shouldn't be necessary at the local or state level and called it a responsibility of the Congress to pass laws so that "all states treat everyone with respect."

Hudson acknowledged that the ordinance, if passed, would assuredly be challenged by petitions for a referendum vote, and would likely be defeated by a referendum vote.

But, this "doesn't mean the majority is right," he said.

He advised those backing an open-housing law "to take heart. . . Eventually we will win because we are right in asking for an open-occupancy ordinance for the City of Pontiac."

LITTLE SIGNIFICANCE

Irwin said the open housing law would have little significance in changing housing patterns.

He said the ordinance would force people to take a stand and develop "lines of antagonism" creating a split in the community.

"What are we going to gain? Are we gaining understanding?"

★ ★ ★

'DEFINITELY AGAINST IT'

"I am definitely against any legislation which would withdraw or restrict an individual's right to sell or lease his property."

Dugan, roundly criticized Hudson for speaking against the amendment which would put the ordinance to a popular vote.

Irwin also said it was incomprehensible that anyone would be against the popular vote. "You are forcing them to go out and get 1,200 signatures" for a referendum election, he said.

★ ★ ★

Hudson said it "would be plain cowardice" to vacate the commission's leadership role and turn over the responsibility to the voters.

'PRESSURE GROUP'

Dugan said passage of the ordinance woud be giving in to "a pressure group."

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Wood called it "a political issue." He said the ordinance isn't needed and claimed that the citizens of his district and of the city don't want it.

County Sets Clinic for Dog Shots, Tags

The first in a month-long series of clinics operated by the Oakland County Animal Welfare Division for the inoculation and licensing of dogs will be held Sunday in the Central Garage in the county service center.

For the first time in recent years, the clinics will have the services of private veterinarians working in cooperation with the division and the county department of health, according to Dr. F. Hugh Wilson, director of the animal welfare division.

Licenses purchased through the county cost $1 for male or spayed dogs and $2 for females until Feb. 29. After that date the fees are $5 and $7.50, respectively.

In addition to the license fee there is a $2 charge for the rabies vaccination.

The innoculation can also be obtained from a private veterinarian, said Wilson. The Veterinarian will then issue a certificate enabling the dog owner to purchase a license.

Certain communities issue their own dog license. In these municipalities, proof of current innoculation also is required before the license can be obtained.

The treasurer's office in the following communities issue their own licenses: Pontiac, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingahm, Rochester, Sylvan Lake, Troy, Waterford Township and Bloomfield Township.

The following schedule lists the dates and the locations of the county operated clinics in February. All will be open from 1 to 4 p.m.

Feb. 3 — Novi Township Hall, 25850 Novi, and the Holly Township Fire Hall; Feb. 4 — Milford Township Fire Hall and the Brandon-Ortonville; Fire Hall, Ortonville; Feb. 10 — Avon-Rochester Precinct Hall, 276 W. Auburn and the Wixom Municipal Building, 49045 Pontiac Trail.

Feb. 11 — Central County Garage, 1200 N. Telegraph; Feb. 17 — Oakland Township Hall, 4393 Collins, and the White Lake Township Hall, M59 and Porter Road; Feb. 24 — Farmington Township Fire Hall, 21420 Wheeler, and Groveland Township Hall, 4695 Grange Hall; and Feb. 25 — the Central County Garage.

FIRE DEBRIS — Administrators and teachers from Covington Junior High School in Bloomfield Township examine debris from a fire which broke out in a storage room at the school yesterday. The blaze, extinguished shortly after it was reported at 1:45 p.m., destroyed the school's football equipment. Fire Marshal Albert Landino said arson was a possibility in causing the fire. Classes were canceled today due to smoke remaining in the building.

Petitions for Incorporation of Oxford to Be Circulated

OXFORD — Petitions seeking the incorporation of the village plus about four square miles of township land were due to be circulated here starting tomorrow.

A report on incorporation to the Village Council last night resulted in a vote to begin circulation of petitions and also at the same time conduct a census of the involved area.

The census was deemed necessary to insure that the area now contains the population density required by the state for incorporation.

An information committee to handle questions connected with proposed incorporation was appointed by Mayor Pro Tem Homer Hight. It will consist of Manager Robert Smalley, Councilman Edward Bossardet, R. A. Ambrose and Clem Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

Once the petitions are signed they will be filed with the County Board of Supervisors for study and recommendation by its Boundaries Committee.

SALE OFFERED

In other business last night, Ralph Curtis, representing the Oxford Methodist Church, offered to sell the old parsonage on the southwest corner of Mill and East Burdick for use as a village parking lot. The church, he said, wishes to retain rights to the land for off-street parking.

The land lies in the over-all parking area designated in the village's urban renewal plans. Curtis said an outside appraisal would be obtained on the property.

Negotiations with the owners of the now unused Pontiac Hide factory on Lakeville Road were opened. The village has expressed an interest to buy.

★ ★ ★

Adoption by reference of the Building Officials Code of America was accomplished by the council and three ordinances for the control of noxious weeds, purchasing procedure and the use of public sewers were introduced.

FIRE REPORT

The yearly fire report showed 74 township fires and 25 village fires during the past year. Fifteen home and two trailers were involved in the township, and six homes in the village. There were 27 grass fires doused.

Total loss in the township was estimated at $35,765 and in the village at $915.

Workmen's compensation insurance contracts were awarded to the William King Agency on a low bid of $2,325. The insurance will cover 16 full-time employes.

Northwest Elementary Now Apollo

Huron Valley Board OKs Name Change

After an hour of discussion, Apollo Elementary School came into being in the Huron Valley School District.

★ ★ ★

The discussion at a recent Board of Education meeting was on changing the name of the new Northwest Elementary School on Milford Road north of M59.

The pupils of the 20-classroom elementary School, which opened Jan. 2 recently took a vote on their school's name. Appollo was their first choice.

Also at the board meeting, the board voted 5-2 to join the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. The district, to be represented on COG by Trustee Lyle B. Tyler, pays an annual membership fee of $480.

The no votes were cast by Board President Arthur Burklund and Treasurer Cloyd Feigley.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

The resignation of the district's director of instruction, William Force, was accepted by the board with six yes votes and one abstention.

Trustee Harry Porter refused to vote because "I like Bill so well and don't want to see him leave."

Force, who began employment with the district in July, 1966, is leaving to accept an assistant professor position in the College of Education at Central Michigan University. The resignation is effective Feb. 2, the beginning of the second semester at CMU.

★ ★ ★

Schools Supt. Truman Owens said that Force "made a tremendous contribution to the instructional program in the schools."

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The director of instruction initiated the student co-op program begun at the high school last Fall, the curriculum development program in the two junior highs, elementary physical education, library and art programs, the use of resource personnel from Oakland Schools, and the development of the education specifications for construction of several schools.

Force coordinated an administrative intern program and last summer's two-week workshop for Apollo teachers. He is also responsible for the district's participation in the Title III language arts program and Title I remedial reading and community schools program.

The board, in other action, approved two policies regarding mileage reimbursement for school employes:

- All mileage calculations will be figured from the employe's work station.

★ ★ ★

- Administrators required to attend board meetings will be paid mileage for the distance between their work station and the board meeting place.

The previous general policy which still holds is that school employes will be paid 10 cents per mile reimbursement if they use their own car on school business.

The board also approved the preliminary plans for some $798,000 in additions and renovation at Highland Junior High School.

Disaster Control Plan Okay — Delayed for Week in Troy

TROY — Final approval of this city's disaster control plan has been delayed for a week pending answers to a citizen's questions.

Roy Barrett, 6410 Herbmore, presented a list of questions to City Manager Paul York at the City Commission meeting. The list asked for details on the general proposal, designed to organize the city's resources in the event of natural disaster.

Specifically requested were details on the provisions made for supplying emergency electric power. Barrett also asked if the plan included provision for a central clearing house for victims and missing persons.

As it presently stands, the plan calls for the city's police department to take charge of notifying city officials and utility companies, and to be responsible for traffic and crowd control.

The department of public works would be responsible for barricading, removal of trees and obstacles from the city's streets, and repairing utilities.

CONTROL CENTER

A control center would be established to coordinate information and activities, estimate needs of the area affected, and inform the public.

In other business, the commission voted to join the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (COG).

The decision to become a member of the intergovernmental agency came after brief debate. The question had been previously tabled for a week.

★ ★ ★

A public hearing on the Glen-Moor sanitary sewer took place, and the special assessment roll for the $455,000 project was confirmed.

Avon Charter Unit Elects Chairman

AVON TOWNSHIP — Trustee William McCullough was elected chairman of the Avon Charter Commission at its first meeting last night.

Clerk Thelma Spencer was named secretary.

Meetings of the commission were set for 7:30 p.m. each Tuesday at the township hall.

The commission, elected during Avon's incorporation vote last week, has two years and three attempts in which to prepare a city charter acceptable by a vote of the residents.

Troy C. of C. Names 6 to Board of Directors

TROY—Members of the Troy Chamber of Commerce have filled six posts on the chamber's board of directors.

Elected to one-year terms on the board were Matt Lepore of the Prudential Insurance Co. and Robert Southerin of Beaver Precision Products, Inc.

★ ★ ★

Named to three-year terms were Richard Halpin of Halpin Bros. Printing, George Hodgson of Consumers Power Co., Cleve Masson of Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Richard O. Ruppel of Bor-o Tools.

County Unit, Planners Split on Orion Rezoning Bid

AN Oakland County committee has taken an opposite stand from the Orion Township Planning Commission.

The land concerned is 50 acres on the southwest corner of Indian Lake and M24, zoned residential. Rezoning for apartments is being asked.

The County Coordinating and Zoning Committee recommended the rezoning for approval. The township planners had voted "no."

The Orion Township Board of Trustees will have the final say on the matter.

★ ★ ★

Richard Beer, township planning chairman, appeared before the county group Dec. 28. He explained that the planners had voted to reject the request on the basis of objections by 60 home owners around Long Lake.

OVERCROWDING, MISUSE

The home owners feared overcrowding and misuse of the lake by apartment dwellers, he said. Another basis for denial was a railroad viaduct over Indian Lake Road.

It was claimed that the underpass was too small to permit increased traffic. However Philip Dondero, county planning commission adviser, said the stated reasons were not sufficient and inconsistent with good planning.

Dondero said in his opinion multiple dwellings could be located at the site and that this would be "the most good for the most people."

The county committee made a special trip to inspect the area before making their decision.

Developers of the proposed apartment complex would still have recourse in the courts if the township trustees refuse to approve the rezoning, it has been pointed out.

Nine File to Run in Wixom Races

WIXOM — Nine residents have filed petitions to run for the mayoralty and three council seats.

In the Feb. 20 primary, voters will choose six of seven council candidates to be on the April 1 general election ballot.

No primary will be held for the office of mayor because only two candidates filed petitions.

They are Wesley E. McAtee, 3031 W. Maple, the city's mayor since 1962 when he came onto the council, and Frank Jadzinaki, 2945 Maganser, former city police chief.

★ ★ ★

Residents who filed petitions for council are Mrs. Kathryn L. Miner, 30290 Beck; William E. Allred, 1481 Wren; Charles S. McCall, 3884 W. Maple; Neal L. Taylor, 2901 Maganser, president of the Birch Park Civic Association; Mrs. Mary Parvu, 3645 W. Maple; and incumbents Oscar B. Simmons Jr., 2028 Hazel, and Gunnar E. Mettala, 2752 Loon Lake.

Deadline for filing petitions was Monday. Three days from that date they are to be certified as to qualifications of the candidate and sufficiency of petitions by the city clerk.

Farmington Wins 2nd-Place Honors for Fire Prevention

FARMINGTON — This city's fire prevention program has won second-place honors among other U.S. cities in its population division in the 1967 Fire Prevention Activities contest of the National Fire Prevention Association.

Farmington also placed second among other Michigan cities in the same contest. It was further recognized in a general population category as one of 30 U.S. cities with the best fire prevention programs.

The city's fire department will receive an award at a later date, said public safety department chief Robert Deadman.

Under the direction of Sgt. Joy Harrison, the city's fire prevention activities include demonstrations and lectures at schools and meetings of service clubs.

Other parts of the program are building inspections and a full event schedule for last year's fire prevention week.

Lions Club to Meet

Members of the Wixom-Walled Lake and South Lyon Lions clubs meet tonight for dinner at 7:30 at Aunt Jemima's Pancake House, Wixom.

Guest speaker is Fred Johnson, Lathrup Village, who is chairman of the development and expansion commmitttee of the Eye Bank in Ann Arbor.

Avondale Growth Spurs Cost Rise

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Nearly a dozen area school districts will seek voter approval in the next few weeks to raise taxes. One of the larger increases — 12.7 mills — will be sought in Avondale. This is the second of two stories on that millage increase.)

By JEAN SAILE

If Avondale voters approve their Feb. 19 ballot proposal for a 12.7 millage hike, the owner of a $30,000 home could expect to find his yearly tax bill increased by $190.

The owner of a home valued on the market at $10,000 could expect to pay $63 annually in additional tax money.

Even with increasing state aid allotments to the district, administrators are finding it difficult to keep abreast of mounting costs.

Where five years ago it cost the district $348 to educate one student, the price is now $634, according to school officials.

In that time enrollment in the district has increased by 820 students.

$503 PER PUPIL IN '67

Last year it cost the district $503 to educate each student compared to the $565 average for the county.

The increase in students has necessitated hiring an additional 33 teachers and providing the same number of classrooms.

Actually Avondale has hired 65 additional teachers in the last five years in order to reduce class loads to about 25 per teacher, a ratio which the district considers more conducive to learning.

Supplementary courses have been introduced. Some existing facilities have been modernized. Additional facilities have been provided.

BUDGET RISE SHOWN

The over-all operating and bonding budget in 1963-64 was $1,469,340. This year the total budget is set at $2,472,203. State aid is expected to make up $1,180,400 of the total with some extra help coming from federal and local sources.

The election for additional operating funds will be the first in five years here. The present millage rate of $30.10 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation is actually less than it was in 1963-64 when residens were taxed at the rate of $31.39 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Local tax revenues, however, have almost doubled due to the new state property evaluation law and also in part to increased population.

★ ★ ★

Figures for the 1963-64 school year show a total of $572,996 paid in local taxes while this year residents can expect to shell out $1,027,554.

80 PCT. IN SALARIES

Salaries throughout the five-year period, including those for administrators, office workers, custodians and transportation workers, have stayed near the 80 per cent mark of the district's budgets.

Voters in Avondale two years ago approved a $3.1-million bond issue to build a new elementary school, provide additions at four others and to start a new senior high school which is now in the planning process.

The issue brought the district's total bonded indebtedness to $5 million. Thus, of every $30.10 paid in taxes to the district, $7 are earmarked for debt retirement.

No matter how you look at it, Avondale administrators feel that good education is expensive and that it is not likely to get cheaper in the near future.

★ ★ ★

The school census report taken last May in the district showed 6,035 children to 19 years of age. Nearly 2,000 young residents of the area have yet to enter school, which is an indication of things to come.

What Home Owner Would Pay

If Your Home Is Valued at:	Your State Equalized Valuation Would Be:	12.7 Mills Would Increase Your Taxes by:	Or Increased Cost Per Month:

Heating, Refrigeration Councils Get Together

The Reciprocal Heating Council, Inc., and the Reciprocal Refrigeration Council, Inc., held a joint meeting today at Pine Knob Ski Lodge.

William Mainland, recently elected president of the southeast Michigan Council of Governments, was featured speaker.

About 115 communities having the same heating and refrigeration ordinances belong to the councils.

Cranbrook Events

Following is a list of special events taking place at the facilities at Cranbrook on Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills:

PLANETARIUM — Regular public demonstrations, Wednesday at 4 p.m. and weekends at 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. The topic for the month is "Telling Time by the Stars."

ATOMARIUM — Public demonstration Sunday at 3:30 p.m. or by appointment. Admission 25 cents.

CHILDREN'S SERIES — A new series of programs designed for area children in grades 1-3 will open Feb. 3.

"Learning About Space" is the first subject to be considered in the series, which will take place Saturday mornings through Feb. 24. Each program will include two identical sessions, at 9 and 10:30 a.m.

On Feb. 10 the topic will be "Life in the Deserts," with "Finding Out About Rocks" Feb. 17 and "Care of Pets" Feb. 24.

★ ★ ★

Instructor Martha Schaefer will use color films and museum specimens to illustrate the topics. Students may bring any personal collections pertinent to the subject.

Student members will be admitted free. The charge for nonmembers is 50 cents. Further information may be obtained from the Institute of Science.

Pontiac Crime Rate Has Bad Record

The latest confirmation of the old saying that "It never rains unless it pours" comes with the shocking report that Pontiac's crime rate for 1967 showed a 30 per cent gain over the year before on the heels of the announcement that the badly-undermanned police department could not be expanded until the City's fiscal position is clarified.

The increase of lawlessness marked the second consecutive record year for crime locally, and was reflected in all seven major categories of criminality.

Although there were many contributing causes to this deplorable condition, the No. 1 culprit, according to Police Chief William K. Hanger, is the inadequate force of police responsible for law enforcement.

When the City Commission passed the local income tax, Pontiac's worsening financial situation appeared remedied, with gaps in many municipal services and functions expected to be closed. The addition of some 24 officers to the police department headed the list.

But with the validity of the tax threatened by court action and the prospect of a referendum vote on it, the City's straitened fiscal position permits of no immediate increase in expense commitments.

Without the income tax, the City's 1969 budget merely to maintain the present deficient level of departmental operation would start with a built-in deficit of half a million dollars.

With crime literally sweeping the Country and the cost of fighting it correspondingly on the rise, the citizenry cannot much longer postpone making the hard choice between tax dollars and community safety.

English Typists Set Example of Belt-Tightening

It would be a miracle of no small dimension if that campaign started by five typists in Surrey, England, accomplished anything more than to give British morale a temporary lift.

The girls, employed by a heating and ventilating equipment manufacturer, volunteered to work an extra half hour a day without pay to do their bit to help Britain's hard-pressed economy.

Most of their 750 fellow employes joined them, and the company, anticipating a 7 per cent rise in productivity, rescinded a 6 per cent price increase. Its shareholders took a 25 per cent cut in dividends.

★ ★ ★

This gained the campaign national publicity. It was praised by Prince Philip and the newspapers and quickly spread to dozens of other firms. People are wearing "I'm Backing Britain" badges.

Management, predictably, is all for the idea. Just as predictably, unions — or at least, some union leaders — have not been so enthusiastic. In Britain, even more than in the United States, the belief persists that what is good for management is automatically bad for labor and vice versa — that both are in competition for the economic plums and that neither can afford to let down its guard.

It would be much simpler if Britain were backed up against the wall by something like another Luftwaffe. That kind of enemy is easy to identify, the consequences of failing to defeat him are obvious. Everyone knows that his job, his personal sacrifices, are vitally necessary to the defense of the nation.

★ ★ ★

But the "enemies" threatening the economy are more elusive and their attacks are more devious. Though they pose just as much a danger to the commonweal in the long run, in the short run this is not always apparent.

In the face of rising prices and taxes, falling exports, a shaky currency, government deficits, it is natural for every worker, every industry to want to look out for itself.

We hope Britons really give the idea a run for the money. In fact, we wouldn't mind seeing it tried out over here.

Cincy's New Stadium Adapts to Broader America

The "hippies" are taking over the country, and it has nothing to do with flower power.

Grandstand seats in Cincinnati's new stadium will be 2½ inches wider than those in old Crosley Field, built in 1926.

That's how much the average person's span has increased in that span, say the architects.

Politicians Flock to N.H. Oracle

By RAYMOND MOLEY

MOLEY

Why, considering the size of the New Hampshire vote and the unbearable conditions of the winter campaigning, should the whole nation so ardently see a clue to public preference in such a remote corner of the republic?

It is the eternal passion of human beings to tear the veil of the future. It is the quest for an oracle, for something which will reveal the plans of Providence.

And since the Western world has outgrown its faith in pagan deities, democracy sees the will of God manifested in the people.

And so the press, the pundits, the politicians and the networks watch the New Hampshire primary campaign with intense interest. Polls of New Hampshire farmers are continuously taken and interpreted. And the returns are dissected to learn what they may tell of the future.

★ ★ ★

This affair in the hills of New Hampshire suggests the Greek concern in what happened in the glen at Delphi under the shadow of Parnassus. The oracle of Delphi was there. The priestess was a virgin or, lacking one, a woman of 50 attired as a virgin.

LEARN OF DESTINIES

After chewing a sacred herb and drinking from a spring, she fell into a coma and her mumblings were interpreted by priests. Statesmen and generals came to be informed of their destinies.

Often the quest for primary votes in New Hampshire has been disastrous, as shown in the case of Robert Taft in 1952, as well as Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller.

Now the peril threatens George Romney and Richard Nixon. Certainly no one's ambition or credulity seems to be dampened by such earlier disasters.

★ ★ ★

Let us consider a day with Romney. It begins at 6:30 a.m. in Nashua when the temperature is 10 below. Romney, bareheaded but with handwarmer in his pocket and a new suit of thermal underwear, grasps hands of workers and says, "We've got to get America back on the track."

At a news conference later he says, "No man seeks the Presidency lightly." I can imagine a chilly reporter muttering, "You can say that again."

Then the candidate, an authentic Rambler, moves in and out of restaurants, soda pop stands, the city hall and so on and on. The message for the day is something about wiretapping.

This, he is probably informed, would go well in rural areas where housewives get news of their neighbors by "listening in" on party telephone lines.

★ ★ ★

And so it goes, day after day—talks to "crowds" of 50 or 70 people, only half of them of voting age and probably only half of the elders members of his Republican faith.

FADING SIGNIFICANCE

Statistically, New Hampshire fades into insignificance. It had four electoral votes in 1964 of a total of 538. Its vote for President was 286,094 of a total of 70 million. It will send eight delegates to Miami of a total of 1,333.

★ ★ ★

But superstitions never die. They only change names and places.

Their's Might Be An Opinion To Consider!

David Lawrence Says:

Monitoring by Ship Now at Issue

WASHINGTON — Seizure by North Korea of the USS Pueblo, a small, lightly armed vessel carrying oceanographic equipment as well as electronic and communications gear, has opened up the whole subject of seacoast surveillance.

LAWRENCE

This is being carried on regularly by Russian fishing vessels, for example, in waters off the ports of Charleston, S.C., and Boston, Mass.

These ships may, under international law, station themselves outside of coastal waters. The Russians claim a 12-mile line off their shores, while the United States recognizes a three-mile limit.

All over the world, Russian trawlers are engaged in watching American submarines and also monitoring the flight of airplanes.

The United States is doing the same in waters close to countries and islands in the Pacific Ocean where the vessels engaged in gathering intelligence are stationed.

★ ★ ★

During the Middle East war last June, the USS Liberty was believed to be an Egyptian ship and was attacked in the Mediterranean by Israeli planes and torpedo boats.

DIVERSIONARY ACTION?

But there possibly is an even more pointed significance in the seizure of the USS Pueblo. It may mark the beginning of what Chairman Richard Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee says could prove to be "diversionary action" by the Communists.

Certainly, if America's armed services were required to move in force into the Korean area again, it would diminish their strength in Southeast Asia.

Such a contingency, however, is much more likely to have been plotted by the Red China regime than the Russians, for the latter have much to lose if the United States finds that international waters are being violated and that the Soviets have had a part in it.

★ ★ ★

As for the Red Chinese, there has always been a fear that they would start trouble again in Korea as a means of weakening the American position in Vietnam. But this could lead to serious consequences for Red China, as the Nationalist Chinese would probably wish to take advantage of the turbulent conditions and try to land troops on the mainland.

NOT LIKELY

It is not likely that Peking will do anything to encourage an invasion by Nationalist Chinese from Formosa.

The Soviet Union, at the same time, is not too anxious to see Red China make any critical moves in Korea that might have broader and broader consequences.

Certainly the seizure of the United States ship by the North Koreans is, as Sen. Russell said, "a serious breach of international law amounting to an act of war."

★ ★ ★

The Department of State views the matter as one of "the utmost gravity," and is busy through diplomatic channels trying to get the North Korean representatives of the Military Armistice Commission to order the ship released.

Bob Considine Says:

Air Force Is Now in Love With McNamara's 'Folly'

NEW YORK — Robert McNamara, once the most conspicuous man in the Johnson Cabinet but now less visible than Robert Weaver, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, can take some comfort as he packs and heads for the bank.

CONSIDINE

The Air Force has learned to love his TFX.

The swing-wing twin-engined fighter-bomber he literally forced upon the Air Force and Navy (the latter's misgivings are still unresolved) will be just beginning to serve the country about the time McNamara takes his leave.

The F-111A, as the Air Force's version of the hotly controversial aircraft is named, has been refined by General Dynamics and Pratt & Whitney into the most remarkable warplane ever flown.

Air Force combat veterans now being checked out in the F-111A at Eglin AFB, Fla., and Nellis AFB, Nev., have forgotten their infatuations with all their birds dating back to the P47 and up through the F4. The F-111A does everything better.

★ ★ ★

Test pilots recently assured Claude Witze, senior editor of Air Force Space Digest, that the new plane is so good that the weaponry it was designed to carry — bombs, guns, rockets, etc. — must be improved to bring them to a par with their carrier.

STEADY, UNERRING

The F-111A's myriad "black boxes" make it such a steady and unerring weapons "platform" that it can drop conventional bombs with twice the accuracy of any other fighter in the field—but, still, the bombs must be improved to keep technological pace.

The big TF30 engines—two to a plane—have proved so reliable that the first batch of test planes were able to fly nearly twice as many hours per month as is required of far less complex planes.

The engines, a combination of turbofan and afterburner arrangement, can lift a loaded F-111A off the strip in about 3,500 feet, thanks to the capability of the aircraft to spread its wings like a glider.

The engines have what amounts to five different forward speeds so far as the fuel-consuming afterburner is concerned, thus giving the pilot who is low on juice and needs a little extra kick-in-the-pants a selection of kicks, depending on the emergency. Saves fuel, and could save the lives of pilots and planes, the latter more costly than the original purchase price of Alaska.

Bob Hope's Christmas show from Vietnam did far more to give our country a feeling of unity and comfort than did President Johnson's State of the Union speech. I agree with George Romney that President Johnson simply does not comprehend how bad the state of the union really is.

Comments on Success of Union Negotiations

We congratulate the bargaining committee team at Local 594, GMTC, for a job well done in local negotiations in the 1967 contract. After reading the gains we made in all sections of our agreement, we are very satisfied. The bargaining team should have a one-week paid vacation by our local. The whole local contract was settled before the deadline of January 9. Therefore, there was no strike at GMC Truck & Coach. This means the workers profit.

'Let's Not Cut Our Protection Departments'

Chief Hanger is in a position to know that we need the 24 officers on the force. When we have to "borrow" men from the surrounding communities it is proof that they are badly needed. 'Sentences Too Lenient for Lawbreakers'

I just heard that the accused killer of the Hudson store clerk was found guilty of a reduced charge of manslaughter. I wonder when citizens of the law-abiding society are going to speak out and be heard against the attorneys practicing criminal law. The criminal lawyer feels that the punishment to the guilty is not a prison term but just paying the high legal fees. I feel the trick and tactics used to free the known lawbreaker cause the would-be lawbreaker to take his chance and commit a crime, knowing he'll be found not guilty or get a reduced charge.

Question and Answer

What is the law on burial of a baby after full development? I've seen some in the paper and others haven't been in.

WONDERING

REPLY

Death of a baby after 20 weeks gestation is considered the same as any other death, requires birth and death certificates, and the body must be disposed of in the legally required manner (burial, cremation, etc.). As with other deaths, funeral arrangements are up to the individual family, and they can decide if they want an obituary, prayer service, full funeral or whatever.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Big Trouble . . .

Des Moines Register

I think I'm in big trouble.

I was going through my pockets today and I found something I can't explain.

A dollar.

Yes, a whole dollar.

I've paid my income tax, and my State tax. I've paid amusement tax, sales tax, hospital tax and gasoline tax.

I've paid the liquor tax, the cigarette tax, the automobile tax, the school tax and the tax to put up a bridge at the other end of the country.

When I pay my lawyer 600 bucks, I pay tax on that—and so does he. I pay tax on the money I give to the baby sitter and the real estate salesman and the man who makes out my income tax form each year.

So how come I've still got a dollar?

Obviously, I've made a mistake somewhere and overlooked a tax.

I confess I haven't paid my death taxes yet.

But I will.

I've paid my taxes for parks, fire protection, law enforcement, I've paid my taxes to help the farmer, the Indian and the unmarried mother.

I wouldn't dream of going fishing, owning a dog or getting married without first paying the tax.

I pay taxes on the toothpaste I use when I get up in the morning and I pay taxes on the pillow I rest my head on when the day is over.

★ ★ ★

How come I've got this dollar in my pocket? Where did it come from? Did somebody put it there to get me in trouble? Is there a tax when you find a dollar like that? I'm not sure.

But I know the government is going to be sore when they find out I've got it.

Growing Field

The New York Times

Oceanography is one of the most rapidly growing fields in both science and engineering, a fact that emerged clearly at the sessions in New York last week of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

This growth is propelled by military needs and also by the requirements of an ever more crowded world for more food and more raw materials.

Study and exploitation of the oceans will surely increase even more rapidly in the decades ahead than they have up to now.

Already it is apparent that the lack of the needed international law looms as an increasingly important obstacle in the effort to tap the vast riches still hidden beneath the oceans.

★ ★ ★

As a State Department representative observed, "We now can deal with legal problems of the moon and the Antarctic more easily than with those of the sea floor."

International agreements now govern both outer space and the Antarctic, but the ocean bottom remains a lawless and ownerless region.

President Johnson last year enunciated the correct basis for solving such problems when he declared: "We must insure that the deep seas and the ocean bottom are, and remain, a legacy of all human beings."

★ ★ ★

But international agreement must be attained before the progress of technology has created vested interests and will lead to dangerous competition for national acquisition of the floor of the sea.

Comments on Pontiac City Income Tax

To Mayor Taylor and the City Commission: I am complying with the request of the IBM card that will allow Pontiac Motor Division to deduct one-half per cent from my earnings each pay period. If I do not sign, the penalty will be one per cent, as stated in the lower left-hand corner of the card. This is taxing people without representation and without their consent. I feel my basic right to be able to vote on a measure such as this has been usurped.

'Recent Article Should Interest Taxpayers'

A recent article in The Pontiac Press stated that the salary of the president of OCC was raised $5,000 to $32,000 per year, effective July 1, and that he will be one of the highest paid public officials in Oakland County. A statement in the same issue revealed that an OCC office building will cost the taxpayers over half a million dollars with a nice "chunk" included for air conditioning.

★ ★ ★

The same paper carried an article indicating the elation of the Waterford Township Board of Education in that it had saved approximately $4,000 in the purchase of stage lighting and dimming equipment and another $6,000 saving in the lighting for a school parking lot. Could the reporting of these fantastic "savings" be construed an announcement that we will not have to worry about a proposed "increased school millage being on the ballot at every election until we get the increase" as was promised after the defeat of the millage increase at the November election?

'Consider Equality for American Indians'

There has been much talk about equality for the underprivileged and the minority groups in the United States. The Negro is asking for equality because he has been persecuted for many years and forced to live in the slums and suffer unbearable hardships.

★ ★ ★

We agree that he should have equality, not because he is a Negro, but because he is an American and deserves it. However, is this the real reason we are trying to give the Negro equality? If this be the case, why haven't we done as much for other Americans who have suffered as much hardship, if not more, than the Negro?

★ ★ ★

The American Indian has by no means been given the same opportunities and privileges as his white brother or his Negro brother. If we are really concerned with equality for all Americans, why don't we start where it is deserved the most?

Inkster District Won't Get Outright Grant---Legislators

LANSING (UPI)—Legislative leaders, meeting behind closed doors with Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken, apparently decided yesterday there was no chance for a $900,000 grant to keep Inkster's schools open.

However, there was a general consensus, according to Rep. William P. Ryan, D-Detroit, to find other ways to prevent the bankrupt district from closing nine schools after Feb. 2.

Ruled out at the meeting was any chance of passing bills pending in the House and Senate that would give Inkster $900,000 to $1 million, the amount school officials say they need to finish the year.

"Nobody who had a chance of getting it passed was speaking for it," said Ryan. "It apparently won't be the solution."

★ ★ ★

"Bills will be introduced in both Houses as vehicles for longrange proposals, so you don't set precedents and don't give a black check, but try to help Inkster at the same time by a system of grants or loans," he said.

The Republican administration, one informed source said, feels giving Iskster outright grant to bail the district out of financial trouble would open wide the doors to many other districts facing the same problem.

Detroit Will Sue State for School Aid

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Board of Education yesterday unanimously endorsed a proposal that the board go to court to force the State of Michigan to give it enough money to run its schools.

The seven-member board agreed at a meeting to file the suit, believed the first of its kind in the nation, early next week.

Board member A. L. Zwerdling proposed the suit "to test the responsibility for education" in the state and federal constitution.

He said the suit should be filed under the "equal protection" provisions of the 14th Amendment to the constitution. He said schoolchildren have a right to an education once a government undertakes to provide public education.

★ ★ ★

"This means that children cannot be denied an equal education on account of their color, their economic circumstances, or the place they live," Zwerdling told the board.

Johnson Speech, GOP Reply Compared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is an issue-by-issue comparison of President Johnson's State of the Union message and the Republican reply Tuesday night:

Vietnam

Johnson: "The enemy has been defeated in battle after battle. The number of South Vietnamese living in areas under government protection tonight has grown by more than a million . . .

"Yet the enemy continues to pour men and material across frontiers . . . He continues to hope that America's will to persevere can be broken. Well, he is wrong . . .

"But our goal is peace—and peace at the earliest possible moment. Right now we are exploring the meaning of Hanoi's recent statement."

Sen. John G. Tower, Tex.: "First and foremost we stand for the all-out support of our half-million fighting men . . . we stand for military success in Vietnam . . . for the effective utilization of America's vast air and sea superiority . . . for quarantine of the enemy's supply lines . . .

'COULD BE OVER'

"This war could be over today if the Johnson administration had acted with determination . . . the administration's ping-pong pronouncements have left even Americans confused."

Economy—Taxes

Johnson: "There are some clouds on the horizon. Prices are rising. Interest rates have passed the peak of 1966 . . . Failure to act on the tax bill will sweep us into an accelerating spiral of price increases, a slump in home building and a continued erosion of the American dollar . . .

★ ★ ★

"This is a tight budget . . . I ask the Congress to recognize that there are certain selected programs to meet the nation's most urgent needs, and they have increased. We have insisted that decreases in . . . less urgent programs be made."

Rep. George Bush, Tex.: "The nation faces . . . a tremendous deficit . . . but in the President's message there was no sense of sacrifice, no assignment of priorities, no hint of the need to put first things first.

"Before we consider a tax increase we must get our own fiscal house in order.

'MUST CUT BUDGET'

"If the President wants to control inflation, he's got to cut back on federal spending. The very best antidote to inflation is cutting back on spending."

Crime

Johnson: "The American people have had enough of rising crime and lawlessness in this country . . . the national government should help the cities and the states (with) financial support . . .

★ ★ ★

"I urge the Congress to stop the trade in mail-order murder . . . by adopting a proper gun-control law . . . I will propose a drug control act . . . I ask you to add 100 FBI agents."

Rep. Richard H. Poff, Va.: "Despite the urgent warnings of FBI Director (J. Edgar) Hoover and law enforcement officers everywhere, the Johnson administration has failed to take effective action. The attorney general has all but banned the use of modern investigative techniques

'NEW AWARENESS'

. . . the recent statements of President Johnson that reflect a new awareness, some hardening of purpose, are welcome."

Jobs

Johnson: "The time has come when we must get to . . . the hard-core unemployed.

★ ★ ★

"I propose a $2.1-billion manpower program . . . most of this increase will be used to start a new partnership between government and private industry to train and to hire the hard-core unemployed persons."

Rep. Albert H. Quie, Minn.: "We need an immediate program to provide hundreds of thousands of jobs in private enterprise . . . yet the Johnson administration has opposed efforts to involve private enterprise in the poverty program . . . we challenge you to support our Human Investment Act.

★ ★ ★

"Do not pour more money into old programs that don't work."

Housing

Johnson: "I urge the Congress to honor my request for model cities' funds . . . I propose . . . a 10-year campaign to build 6 million new housing units for low and middle-income families."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Charles H. Percy, Ill.: "To help all Americans to own their own home, we support a national home ownership opportunity act. This act would allow a new home owner to work on his own house, and have his labor contribute to his down payment."

People in the News

By the Associated Press

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower presented heroism medals in Indio, Calif., yesterday to two high school students who rescued a service station attendant being beaten by robbers.

EISENHOWER

Eisenhower acted in behalf of the Palm Desert Optimist Club in making the presentation at his office to Paul Zinn and Gary Schaffer, both 17, on Indio High School.

"Nothing is as important today as law and order," the general said.

The students were driving by when they saw the four men attack the service station attendant, Raymond L. Ramirez. They drove off three of the assailants and held the fourth for police. The others subsequently were arrested. All four are serving robbery sentences.

Famed Fashion House Declared Bankrupt

The famous Rome fashion house of Russian-born Princess Irene Galitzine has been declared bankrupt, it was disclosed yesterday.

Princess Galatzine has been a friend and dressmaker for Mrs. John F. Kennedy and other leading members of the world's rich and chic society.

She gave no hint of financial difficulties when she entertained fashion editors and store buyers at her spring-summer show a week ago.

Mickey Rooney Hospitalized With Liver Ailment

Actor Mickey Rooney has been hospitalized in San Francisco from what was described as a "slight liver ailment."

He has been in St. Francis Hospital since Jan. 14 and is expected to be released Jan. 30, a spokesman said.

Presley's Wife to Enter Hospital for 1st Child

The wife of entertainer Elvis Presley will enter a Memphis, Tenn., hospital about Feb. 1 to give birth to the rock 'n' roll star's first child.

Vernon Presley, the singer's father, said the baby is due early next month. Elvis married the former Priscilla Beaulieu last year.

Reagan's Daughter Doesn't Want Father President

Maureen Reagan, daughter of California Gov. Ronald Reagan, said yesterday in Spokane, Wash., it is not her wish to see her father become president.

Miss Reagan, 26, appearing while on a speaking tour of Washington and Oregon, said:

"I like having my dad around. Being president of this country is a very killing job. No one would wish it on someone they love."

Canadian Dies as GI in Viet

RIVERSIDE, Ont. (AP) —While scores of American youths flee to Canada to avoid the draft, one Canadian who made the reverse trip is dead today, killed by hostile fire in Vietnam.

The U.S. Defense Department announced Monday that Spec. 5 Larry S. Semeniuk of Riverside had been killed in an ambush while returning from a patrol with his unit of the 101st Airborne Division.

A brother, Gary, said Tuesday that Larry had enlisted in Detroit, across the river from his home, "because he felt that he had more and better opportunities in the U.S. Army and thought he could travel more."

Gary Semeniuk, a schoolteacher, said his brother often talked of a belief in America's involvement in Vietnam and that "every soldier in his group believed as he did."

The Pentagon in Washington says it keeps no record of the nationality of men in the U.S. forces in Vietnam and has no information on how many Canadians serve in American units. Canada has no units of its own in Vietnam.

House Tax Panel Critical of LBJ's Unveiled Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's budget hasn't even been formally presented to Congress but already it has bad marks from the committee his administration is trying hardest to win over.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee told the administration spokesmen Tuesday they had better take a pencil to the spending side of the budget again if they hope to have his crucial support for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

The Arkansas Democrat offered a little consolation by congratulating Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and his companions on what he called an improved job of establishing the inflationary dangers to the economy if a tax increase is not voted.

Johnson has said the budget will reach about $186 billion, with an $8 billion deficit-reaching $21 billion without the tax boost.

Mills, who twice before has put aside the tax bill pending more spending cuts, in effect postponed further consideration of it until March. He adjourned the committee until Feb. 5, when it begins hearings and executive sessions on balance-of-payments matters expected to consume the rest of next month.

Budget Director Charles L. Schultze, who had pinned his hopes on a contention that the new budget—due to be submitted to Congress Monday—will show spending cuts of $2.5 billion to $3 billion, told newsmen afterward he wouldn't try to say just what additional reductions Mills may have in mind.

But he said the budget as prepared "fully justifies the tax increase." The bulky estimates of spending and revenues, he said, are already locked up and ready for the printer.

Mills did not bar the door irrevocably against further consideration of the tax increase.

At the very least, however, the committee action kills whatever slight chance there was for enactment of a tax bill by April 1, Johnson's latest target date.

That in itself throws the budget out of kilter, since its revenue estimates were based on three-fourths of a year's collections at the higher rates.

Critics Impatient With Progress of New S. Viet Leader

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — The new civilian-style government in South Vietnam has been in office nearly three months. President Nguyen Van Thieu's friends say he will be moving soon to start the reforms that long have been considered essential to win popular support for the Saigon regime.

His critics, Vietnamese and American alike, are showing signs of impatience. The lack of early progress led one American official to complain—anonymously: "Bold, dynamic leadership hasn't been there."

★ ★ ★

While Thieu, a former general, is now president and commander of the armed forces, he still must work with the generals who ruled South Vietnam under a military junta for several years.

Although the generals no doubt realize that things have changed and that a coup is no longer possible if there is to be continued U.S. support of the government, many feel Thieu is a threat to their power.

GOING SLOWLY

He could be if he chose to go ahead with his inauguration-speech plans to eliminate corruption and inefficiency at all levels.

★ ★ ★

So far, Thieu has chosen to go slowly.

In addition, personal differences between Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, a former air marshal, have hampered executive decision-making.

Both men deny they are feuding, but people close to them say that snubs and imagined snubs cause the two men to avoid each other. Thieu and Ky appear together in public only occasionally.

News Analysis

KY DENIAL

Rumors persist that Ky has been masterminding an anti-American program in the newspapers to discredit Thieu. Ky denies this. He has told associates that Thieu has given him little to do in the government.

The House of Representatives and the Senate, elected in September and October, only recently completed setting up their rules and electing officers. They still have not acted on any legislation, although committees are looking into several problems.

★ ★ ★

Thieu met with President Johnson in Australia last month. Vietnamese sources say Johnson was disturbed by reports that Ky had formed his own "government," complete with a shadow cabinet, and at times was able to rally the more powerful South Vietnamese generals behind himself and against Thieu.

Unless Thieu consolidated his power as president, Johnson is supposed to have told him, much-needed reforms could fall by the wayside. Johnson likely had heard reports that Premier Nguyen Van Loc, torn between obeying directives from Thieu and Ky, had not shown any great effectiveness.

NEEDS MILITARY

As associates picture it, Thieu couldn't agree more about the need to consolidate his power.

The military still represents the only nationally organized force besides the Communists, and as such Thieu needs its support.

★ ★ ★

So although he is known to want to get rid of some generals and province chiefs, he is biding his time. Some army officers have been tried for corruption or removed for inefficiency, but their ranks are low and their numbers small.

Thieu has presented bold plans for reforming Vietnamese society. In his inaugural speech he spoke of improving and reinforcing the armed forces, imposing austerity on the relatively affluent cities, and eradicating corruption.

LT. PATRICK WOLFE JR.

Area Man Dies in Viet Conflict

Waterford Couple's Son Killed on Mission

A Waterford Township man, 2nd Lt. Patrick R. Wolfe Jr., was killed Friday while on a combat operation in Vietnam. He died from wounds received when hit by small arms fire on a search-and-destroy mission against a Vietcong battalion.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick R. Wolfe Sr. of 6591 Windiate, he was in a combat zone between Bien Hoa and Phuoc Vinh on the Song Dong Nai River.

Wolfe, 22, went to Vietnam Dec. 1, as a weapons platoon leader.

He enlisted in the Army in July 1966, took basic training at Fort Campbell, Ky., and advanced infantry training at Fort Gordon, Ga. where he became a noncommissioned officer and a patrolling instructor.

He graduated as a Second Lieutenant from the Infantry Officers Candidate School at Ft. Benning, Ga., in August 1967. and a month later from Paratrooper jump school.

He was assigned to Company A, Second Battalion, 506th Airborne Infantry, 101st Airbourne Screaming Eagles.

Wolfe graduated from Our Lady of the Lakes and attended the University of Detroit prior to entering the Army.

Funeral arrangements are being made by the Coates Funeral Home. Service will be at Our Lady of the Lakes Church and burial will be in Milan, Mo.

Bid Rejection Could Lose I-75 Funds

LANSING (UPI) — The state could lose $900,000 in federal funds for construction of I-75 in Arenac County if it refuses to explain why it rejected the contract of the low bidder, Holloway Construction Co.

★ ★ ★

Duane Jones, director of the Federal Bureau of Roads for Lansing, said the State Highway Commission has been informed that rejecting, without explanation, Holloway's low bid was unacceptable to the government.

The State Administrative Board, acting on the advice of Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, last week refused to approve Holoway's bid and refused to explain why.

Holloway, one of the state's busiest road contractors, was named last summer by Kelley as having received excessive payments from the highway department.

★ ★ ★

The board gave the highway department two choices: Either accept the second low bid or reject all bids and call for new ones.

NEITHER POSSIBLE

Jones said the bureau informed the highway department by letter that "Our regulations were such that we couldn't do either of these alternatives unless we had adequate reason."

"This particular thing has never happened before," he said. "It's almost automatic that we approve the contract of the low bidder."

The bureau of roads retains the final word on all contracts awarded for federally aided projects.

★ ★ ★

Holloway, a Wixom-based firm, submitted a low bid of $1.09 million — $900,000 of it in federal monies — for construction of 1.9 miles of the I-75 freeway.

1967 Activity Up at 3 City Hospitals

An annual statistical roundup showed hospital activity last year up over the previous 12 months, according to figures released by the three city hospitals.

However, in some categories, the local hospitals—St. Joseph Mercy, Pontiac Osteopathic and Pontiac General—experienced less activity in 1967 compared to 1966.

All three hospitals, for example, recorded less births last year than the year before.

GLENWOOD PLAZA CORNER NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

The great hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts was the setting Monday for the Detroit Grand Opera Association's annual luncheon, marking the beginning of the Association's 25th opera season and the tenth annual Detroit visit of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, scheduled for May. Seen discussing the prospects for the upcoming season are (from left to right) Mrs. M. M. Burgess of Bloomfield Hills, outstate cochairman; Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald of Ottawa Drive, member of the Women's Committee; Mrs. Howard B. Barker of Bloomfield Hills, member of the Women's Committee; and Mrs. Sam B. Williams, of Hammond Lake, scholarships chairman.

Many Area Women Work on Grand Opera Week

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

The great hall in the Detroit Institute of Arts had been transformed into a beautiful garden Monday afternoon when opera friends gathered for their yearly luncheon meeting.

Each table was decorated with an arrangement of spring flowers and above the honor table colorful musical instruments decorated the wall.

Mrs Ralph McElvenny, chairman of the Women's Committee, presided.

Francis Robinson of the Metropolitan was the principal speaker. Serious attention was given to his humorous and informative speech about the opera performances which will be presented in the Masonic Temple May 20-25. This is the Detroit Grand Opera Association's silver anniversary to be commemorated in a special souvenir program, which is in the hands of Reuben Ryding, vice president of the Detroit Grand Opera.

Among the 250 guests at the luncheon were Mesdames: Henry Whiting Jr., Lynn Townsend, Theodore O. Yntema, Howard B. Barker, Eric Bergishagen, M. M. Burgess, Raymond Doss, Carson E. Dalton, Philip Flanders, John French, Harold A. Fitzgerald, Sixten Ehrling, Roy Hawkinson, George Harris, Kenneth Manuel, Sam B. Williams and Harry Wieting.

★ ★ ★

Saturday evening Mrs. Marguerite I. Engel entertained some 200 guests in her new Lake Angelus home.

The champagne and buffet supper party was in honor of her new daughter-in-law and son, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Engel, who have recently located here. It was also an occasion to see her new, friendly neighbors.

Paul's good friend, Gregg Christopher, came from Washington, D.C. to partake in the festivities; Mr. and Mrs. John Steinhauser, who have resided in Geneva, Switzerland for numerous years, were present as well as old time family friends, Dr. and Mrs. William T. Mackersie and Mr. and Mrs. Morton Graddis.

Among the neighbors were Mr. and Mrs. Newton Skillman, the Alton Deutsers, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hays and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hays.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen L. Goodale, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Subrata Ghosh, Richard Tull, James Votta, the William R. VanderKloots and Dr. and Mrs. David DiChiera.

What Is She Obligated to Do in This Case?

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a hostess ask her guests' preferences when she invites them to dinner? I asked a family to dinner recently and was told by the wife that the husband and son preferred chocolate cake and would eat only a certain brand of another food.

★ ★ ★

Should a hostess prepare both coffee and tea so that guests may have a choice? Also, is it correct to arrive 45 minutes before the appointed dinner time? — Mrs. J. Kelly.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Kelly: The best advice I can give you is to drop these friends from your prospective guest list!

- Guests have no right to state what they want for dinner, and a hostess has no obligation to ask.
- A hostess need not prepare both tea and coffee, but it is considerate to have caffein-free coffee available for those who want it. Of course, if you have boiling water ready, either instant caffein-free coffee or a cup of tea made with a tea bag is ready in an instant.
- Arriving 45 minutes early is worse than arriving 45 minutes late. No hostess should be expected to be ready more than a few minutes before the stated hour.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband works for a large company. Each year at Christmas all the employees and their families receive a nice gift, accompanied by the business card of the man in charge of the company. Does this call for a thank-you note?—Irene.

★ ★ ★

Dear Irene: No, a thank-you note is not required if this is a company policy for all employees. If, on occasion, some personnel receive presents — perhaps for a special service rendered — such gifts must be acknowledged.

Tell Daughters the Truth

Mom Makes a Financial 'Goof'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband died 10 years ago and left me a small estate which was to be security for my old age. Well, I have three daughters and one son. They are all married and have families.

ABBY

The girls have good, hard-working husbands, who provide well for them, but my son has had such hard luck. He dropped out of high school so he can't get a very good-paying job. My daughters' children have nice clothes, music lessons, good bicycles, and things like that, so naturally, my son feels that his kids are entitled to have it as good as their cousins, so he has asked me to help him out. I have helped him about as much as I can, and now all my money is used up.

My son can't pay me back, so now I have to go to live with someone. I kind of planned on living with my son, but he says a mother's place is with her daughters, not her son. What am I to do? If I tell my daughters where my money has gone they will surely be mad.

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR WORRIED: Your son seems more familiar with hard LUCK than hard WORK. You were foolish to have given your "security" money to your son. His children were "entitled" to only what their father was able to provide for them. Tell your daughters the truth, and take your medicine.

DEAR ABBY: When a man marries a girl fresh out of college he doesn't expect to get the world's greatest cook and housekeeper. But how brainy does a girl have to be to know she shouldn't starch her husband's underwear?

UNCOMFORTABLE

DEAR UNCOMFORTABLE: That's a pretty stiff question. Give her time.

DEAR ABBY: I feel I must talk to someone about a problem that has been on my mind for a long time. It's my mentally retarded niece, I'll call "Lucy."

She can't go to school with normal children. Lucy's mother has taken a daytime job outside the home. Not that she needs the money, she says the child gets on her nerves and she has to get away.

This mother will put Lucy off on anyone who will keep her. I've kept her quite a lot myself. She's a sweet child and seems willing to learn, but Abby, I have four of mine to look after.

Shouldn't Lucy's mother stay at home and teach that unfortunate child to do things for herself, so she won't go through life depending on others to do things for her?

Lucy is now 14, and she needs the teaching that only a mother can give a daughter that age if you know what I mean. Should I take Lucy full time? Maybe I should. Your answer will ease my mind.

CONCERNED AUNT

DEAR CONCERNED: Yes, take Lucy. That you would write shows you have a heart and a conscience. You say Lucy can't go to school with "normal" children. I hope she is going to a school for retarded children. If not, please call your local Board of Education for information on such schools, and see that Lucy attends. God bless you.

Mrs. Jerry T. Flanigan, of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. Joseph J. Churches of Kings Gate Way and Mrs. Frank J. Perron of Bloomfield Hills, are busy filling ticket orders for the benefit premiere Feb. 10 of "George M.," at the Fisher Theatre. The life story of George M. Cohan is played by Joel Grey, in a fund-raising effort for the Dominican Sisters of the Sick Poor. Mrs. Churches is chairman for ticket sales which are on a first come, first served basis. Playgoer subscription tickets may be exchanged for this performance.

Highlight Kenny Foundation

Dr. Nicholas Cherup, medical director of the Kenny Michigan Foundation, spoke last night before the Women's Auxiliary to the Pontiac General Hospital.

He told of the great strides which have been made in the relatively new field of physical re-abilitation through therapy. The Kenny Therapy Center at the hospital is 10 years old and recently contracted for another 10 years.

SPONSORS

Last year 14,000 patients received 30,000 treatments there. Facilities will be tripled in the new addition. The Kenny Foundation sponsors a three-year physical therapy school in Wayne State University Medical School which will graduate its first students this year.

Mrs. Merrill Petrie presided. Social committee for the event in First Federal Savings of Oakland included Mesdames Donald Newman and Webster Francis, Wesley Stewart and John Heitsch.

Like New Items

In a recent survey of shoppers 70 per cent said they would purposely shop at a "new item" section of their supermarket. Just goes to show women are always trying to find better products for the home.

Cover matchbooks with scraps of Christmas paper and tie several together with a narrow, gay ribbon to use as favors for a holiday dinner.

Performance by Soprano Marks Return

Soprano Elisabeth Schwarzkopf will appear with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Thursday and Saturday evenings at Ford Auditorium. Concert time is 8:30.

★ ★ ★

Miss Schwarzkopf will sing Verdi's "Salce, Salce" and "Ave Maria" from "Otello" and six songs by Richard Strauss.

★ ★ ★

This will be her second appearance with the Symphony. She made her first American appearance in 1953 and has since made annual visits to this country in which she appears in opera, recital and with orchestra.

Miss Schwarzkopf is the recipient of many awards including the Lilli Lehmann medal and the first Golden Orpheus trophy awarded by the city of Mantua for the year's best operatic performance.

★ ★ ★

Sixten Ehrling will conduct the program which includes two works performed for the first time by the Detroit Symphony: Sibelius' Symphony No. 6 and Webern's "In Sommerwind."

The orchestra has just completed a tour to five neighbor cities — Ypsilanti, Mount Pleasant, Bryan, Ohio, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.

Tickets are available at the auditorium box office, at Grinnell's and Hudson's.

'M' Alumnae Hear Talk

Walter A. Jones of the Seven Ponds Nature Center, was the speaker Monday before a gathering of the University of Michigan Alumnae Club.

His topic was the development of this new nature center in the area, illustrated by pictures.

★ ★ ★

Iva Jane Price hosted the group in her Salmer Street home. Janet Heitsch was chairman for the event, assisted by Mesdames L. L. Dunlap, F. D. Larkin and Grace Heitsch.

Pink 'Doll' ---Red Face!

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—As Mrs. Richard Ogden was shopping in a store here, the department store detective halted her and said: "Would you like to pay for that item?" She assured him she had and help up for inspection the shopping bag she was carrying.

★ ★ ★

But the detective again asked: "What about the doll under your arm?"

Mrs. Ogden showed him the "doll"—her 5-month old daughter, Monica, sound asleep, bundled in a pink jumper and snuggled under her mother's arm.

Use leftover rolls of wallpaper for outdoor tablecloths for picnics and informal children's parties. They are pretty and can be discarded when you are through with them.

Shirt's the Thing

The shirt is everywhere this spring. It can overflow with ruffles and jabots and the long sleeves are cuffed at the wrist. The shirt sparks suits, tucks under jumpers and adds a third dimension to suit looks.

Ornamental baskets may be soaked in water for a few minutes from time to time. Not only does this treatment clean baskets; it prolongs their life.

Need Helpers for Serving

During the month of January it is expected that well over 10,000 young men will be seen at the Armed Forces Examination and Entrance Station at Fort Wayne. And, daily, Red Cross volunteers are on hand serving coffee and cookies.

Most important, however, they're there so these young men have someone to talk to . . . because Red Cross cares.

Presently, there is a need for eight more women to help serve these young men on Wednesdays and Thursdays. Because of the location, volunteers must have their own transportation, as public transportation is not available.

Interested women should contact the Red Cross on East Elizabeth Street, Detroit for further information.

An early summer wedding is planned by Colleen Lorene Clure and Steven Wayne Clawson. The bride elect is the daughter of the Harry E. Clures of Highland. Her fiance is the son of the Howard T. Clawsons, also of Highland.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Collins of Elira Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda D., to William G. Percival of Oxbow Lake. Miss Collins and her fiance, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Percival, are planning an early May wedding.

Self-Medication Involves Hazards

DENVER (UPI) — Self-medication can have its hazards, the American Medical Association (AMA) reports.

★ ★ ★

In a recent issue of its journal, the AMA told of the middle-aged man who, harassed by a series of painful illnesses, numbed his paint somewhat by chewing 8 to 10 tablets a day of gum containing aspirin.

★ ★ ★

He numbed his pain alright, but developed mouth ulcers as a consequence.

Marilyn Elsabeth Simunic and Kenneth Gerald Keener are planning a late summer wedding. She is the daughter of the Steven Simunics of Snow Apple Street, Independence Township. Her fiance, a freshman at Ferris State College, is the son of the Noel Keeners of Davisburg Road, Springfield Township.

Don't Panic When Car Skids

Too many frightening things have been written about skids, and fright is not conducive to the proper handling of a skid. In a car, skidding — though hardly desirable — is not necessarily uncontrollable.

Two rules are commonly given for control of skids. Don't brake. Steer in the direction of the skid. Lets look at both of these controls more closely.

Braking is almost a reflex action to every emergency situation. This is, of course, the worst thing to do in a skid because this stops the rolling motion of the wheels and produces a sliding motion. To correct the skid, then, it's necessary to restore a rolling motion to the wheels.

What does it mean to steer in the direction of the skid? Maybe it would be less confusing to say always steer to keep the front end of the car in front of the back end! Should the back end of the car start to skid, aim the front end so it will stay in front. The direction of the skid is determined by the direction the back of car is sliding.

CORRECTIVE ACTION

The proper receipt for correcting a skid includes the right proportion of deceleration and turning the wheel.

Sometimes steering is enough with out lifting the foot from the accelerator.

Sometimes backing off the accelerator is enough without moving the steering wheel.

Usually the best formula is a little of each — steering gently and "feathering" the accelerator. Make your moves subtle and smooth.

Such practice may teach you not to be scared of skids.

WHY IS THIS WATCH CALLED A CERTIFIED CHRONOMETER*?

Ω OMEGA Constellation

Self-winding, calendar-dial Constellation chronometer, $185 Other Constellations, $175 to $1000

The rating of "chronometer" is reserved for timepieces of exceptional accuracy which have undergon 360 hours of rigid testing . . . in extremes of heat and cold. The peerless accuracy of every Omega Constellation is certified by an official Swiss Testing Bureau. So exacting are these tests, less than one out of every 50,000 watches qualifies for this coveted rating. In addition to official chronometer tests, Constellation's 24-jewel automatic movement receives 1497 quality-control inspections during manufacture . . . assuring longer life.

Powered by gravity, the Omega Constellation winds itself as you wear it. Without hand-winding, or power-cells which frequently need replacing, it will run for years and years, as long as you wear it. Calendar-dial models tell the exact date as well as the precise time . . . automatically. The Constellation is one of the world's finest watches. Ask for free Omega style brochure.

Gap Between Parent and Child Overstressed Says Psychotherapist

"Certainly there is a gap between parents and their adolescent children. What makes it a problem is that today too many parents focus on the gap instead of on the child," says psychotherapist Marilyn Bonham.

In her new book, "The Laughter and Tears of Children" just published by Macmillan, she states, "the separation between parent and child is not the nub of the problem. It is the inability of one or both parties to recognize the existance of two paths, two worlds, two sets of interests, and so concentrate instead on the strong common bonds of family, tradition, and love that bind them together."

UNREAL

"To many parents, the world of the adolescent looks unreal and quite unfathomable." One of the main reasons, says Mrs. Bonham, is that "too few parents make any attempt to take the time and imagination necessary to put themselves into the world of their adolescent sons and daughters."

★ ★ ★

Based on more than 15 years of counseling parents and children, plus personal experience with her own children, Mrs. Bonham offers these 10 commandments to ease the tension of adolescence:

- Remind yourself often that every one of your children is a person unto him-or herself, that they live in different times with constantly shifting standards that may differ from those current when you were a child.
- Excel in patience toward your teen-age youngster. Listen to him, but don't laugh at him. Don't force your advice down his throat, unless he is willing to listen.
- Devote more time to encouraging the good in him, less time on punishing the bad.
- Don't impose qualifications and conditions on your love.
- Take a good look at yourself. Are you letting your own emotional needs determine those of your children? Are you helping them in their drive for independence? Are you forcing something on them that compensates for something you yourself might have been missing?
- When conflicts do arise, choose your times and battlegrounds wisely. Try to avoid such conflicts during bedtime, mealtime, weekends, or in public.
- Do respect his desire for privacy and keep him informed of family matters.
- Remember your teenager's extreme sensitivities. Be nice to his friends and make them welcome at home. Avoid sarcasm, and stay away from criticism in the presence of others.
- Enforce discipline and sound rules, but don't insist on dotting the "i" for the sale of "principles." In other words, show some flexibility instead of rigidity.
- Look ahead and remember that these adolescent difficulties will be memories a few years hence.

Avoid Scouring Porcelain Utensils

The glass-like surface of porcelain enamel utensils should be treated like glass. If food sticks or burns, pre-soak the piece with sudsy water before washing it with clean hot soap or detergent suds and rinses.

★ ★ ★

To remove stubborn spots, use a wooden spoon or rubber spatula if necessary, plus a little household cleanser but never scrape or scour it with metal.

Communication Lacks All-Important Fantasy

NEW YORK — Domestic discord between husbands and wives may stem simply from lack of communication, rather than a lack of love, a famed psychologist reported today. "Our everyday methods are not suitable for communicating in the family. For loved ones, we need special ways of relating and conversing," writes Dr. Haim Ginott.

"Each of us carries within himself a private collection of instant insults. For love to survive, we must learn to communicate without criticism of personality, attack on character, or insult to dignity," Dr. Ginott points out. Truth, he says, should be tempered with compassion.

No one can face the naked reality of his own personality deficiencies or character flaws and one's mate should not make a career of pointing out these flaws.

★ ★

Dr. Ginott, author of the book "Between Parent and Child," applies some of the same theories to adults that he has made famous in dealing with children. One secret, he believes, is to "grant in fantasy what you cannot give in reality." Thus, if a woman admires an expensive dress in a shop window, her husband should not remark, "You know our budget. We can't make ends meet as it is." If he replied, "I wish I had the money to buy you the dress," the woman would probably be happy without it.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

How can you keep a waistband on a skirt from rolling? I don't happen to care for the stiff backing. Mrs. J. H.

Dear Mrs. J. H.:

The reason most skirt bands roll over is because they are too wide. You will find that many of your expensive skirts have a waistband no wider than ⅝ inch. If this still doesn't work, use the grosgrain ribbon finish on your skirt, and you won't have a waistband extension at all.

It seems the type of girdle we wear affects the waistband more than anything else. If you wear a one piece undergarment, the waist has a tendency to pull you in (which unfortunately leaves you larger above the waist, thus causing the waistband to roll over).

Dear Eunice Farmer,

Please give me directions for lowering the French dart. Mrs. K. M. R.

Dear Mrs. K. M. R.:

For the benefit of our readers who are not aware of the term French dart, this is a dart that begins at the side seam and ends at the bust in an angle. This type of dart is best suited to a youthful figure and doesn't usually have enough dart control for a full figure.

We have experimented with several methods of lowering the French dart and find the easiest way is to simply lower the point of the dart to the corresponding measurement of the tip of your bust.

To remark the dart lines, use a ruler and draw a line from each side of the wide portion of the dart to nothing at the new point. You may also find that the dart extends too far into the garment, especially if you are fairly large. This can also be shortened to fit your own figure.

Craft Classes for Girls and Family Slated at YMCA

The YMCA of Greater Pontiac is beginning a new group of classes for girls. Starting on Thursday and continuing for eight weeks, the classes will stress new and interesting crafts.

Girls 10 to 12 will meet at 4 p.m. and those 13 to 15 at 5:30 p.m. All must be members of the YMCA.

Mrs. Raymond Ellsworth, class instructor, says that probable media will include textile painting, copper tooling, glass etching decoupage, basic drawing and painting and flower arranging.

Another innovation in the University Drive building will be Saturday evening craft classes for families. Projects geared to all ages will be taught. These start this Saturday.

"This is something new in Pontiac," says Mrs. Ellsworth, "with both parents and youngsters sharing a skill and learning together."

Further information may be obtained from the YMCA.

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Irwin Jr. with Kathy, 8, and John, 11, preview some of the crafts to be taught at the YMCA family craft sessions, starting Saturday. The Irwins live on St. Joseph Street, West Bloomfield Township.

Gray Is Popular in New Carpets

Gray, once a carpet favorite but bypassed for other shades in recent years, makes a comeback in new rug collections. The new grays go with the new furniture collections finished in lighter woods, reports one carpet maker.

★ ★ ★

The grays range from very palest to deepest tones and some carpeting mixes as high as 20 tone on tone grays.

Good Teacher Sells Ideas

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE E-534: Joe Bunting was a top executive with a Bloomington newspaper until his recent death.

DR. CRANE

But before he entered the newspaper field, he taught school.

"Dr. Crane," he told me at lunch one day, "I had one big kid who must have been 16, yet was only in the seventh grade.

"He was a head taller than I was and had been a headache to several previous teachers, who had left on his account.

"For he seemed totally disinterested in school work.

"But he was wild about baseball!

"So I used baseball as our point of mutual contact.

"I bought a baseball rule book and gave it to him.

"He was delighted and never caused me any trouble thereafter.

★ ★ ★

"But he simply refused to take any interest in arithmetic!

"Than I began to slant the arithmetic to the baseball diamond.

"I'd assign him the problem of computing how much acreage was in a standard baseball diamond.

"He'd devour such a problem and pore over his math till he had the right answer.

"I'd also have him compute the speed of a baseball in miles per hour.

"And as long as I slanted every arithmetic problem to the baseball diamond, he was crazy about math.

"But if the problems dealt with how many men could dig a ditch, or how much profit a farmer made on 37 calves at $36.75 per head, he disdained arithmetic entirely!"

SMART TEACHERS

Joe Bunting was thus a superb applied psychologist.

Alas, many teachers are smart in books but stupid regarding human nature.

They may be brilliant in chemistry or English, Latin or history, but be woefully deficient in understanding people.

Psychology accounts for at least 50% of success in almost every field of endeavor, including preaching and teaching as well as salesmanship.

"Motivation" is the key to every student's success.

But motivation usually depends on tying the classroom problems to the current daily interests of the students.

A superb teacher must thus be a star salesman of ideas!

He must understand how to "dress up" or "package" his courses in popular fashion.

A poor teacher tends to be a slave driver and try to coerce his pupils.

A stellar educator entices them along from in front.

For teaching school is much like fishing.

You can't compel fish to bite on your hook by cracking a black-snake whip over the water!

No, indeed! Instead, you must "bait" them on from in front by trying to find what they are hungry for.

At one time, it may be fishworms; at another, crickets or live minnows or grasshoppers.

And so it goes for classroom teaching. The most effective teachers know how to "bait" the hook to entice children's interest.

Chopping Boards Require Scouring

Chopping boards need regular cleaning. To remove stains and odors, sprinkle the dampened board with salt and let stand one or two hours.

★ ★ ★

Then, leaving salt on the board, scour with a plastic mesh ball, dipped in warm water. Rinse off salt and apply a diluted solution of cholorine bleach and water. Wipe dry with paper towels.

When packing cookies for mailing, use unsalted popped corn or dry cereal as a filler. It helps to keep cookies from being broken.

Cowboy Chorus

Above the San Rafael Valley in southern Arizona, the Huachuca Mountains ring to the sound of young voices. The songs come from the members of the Tucson Arizona Boys Chorus at the Little Outfit Ranch where they spend their summers learning and practicing.

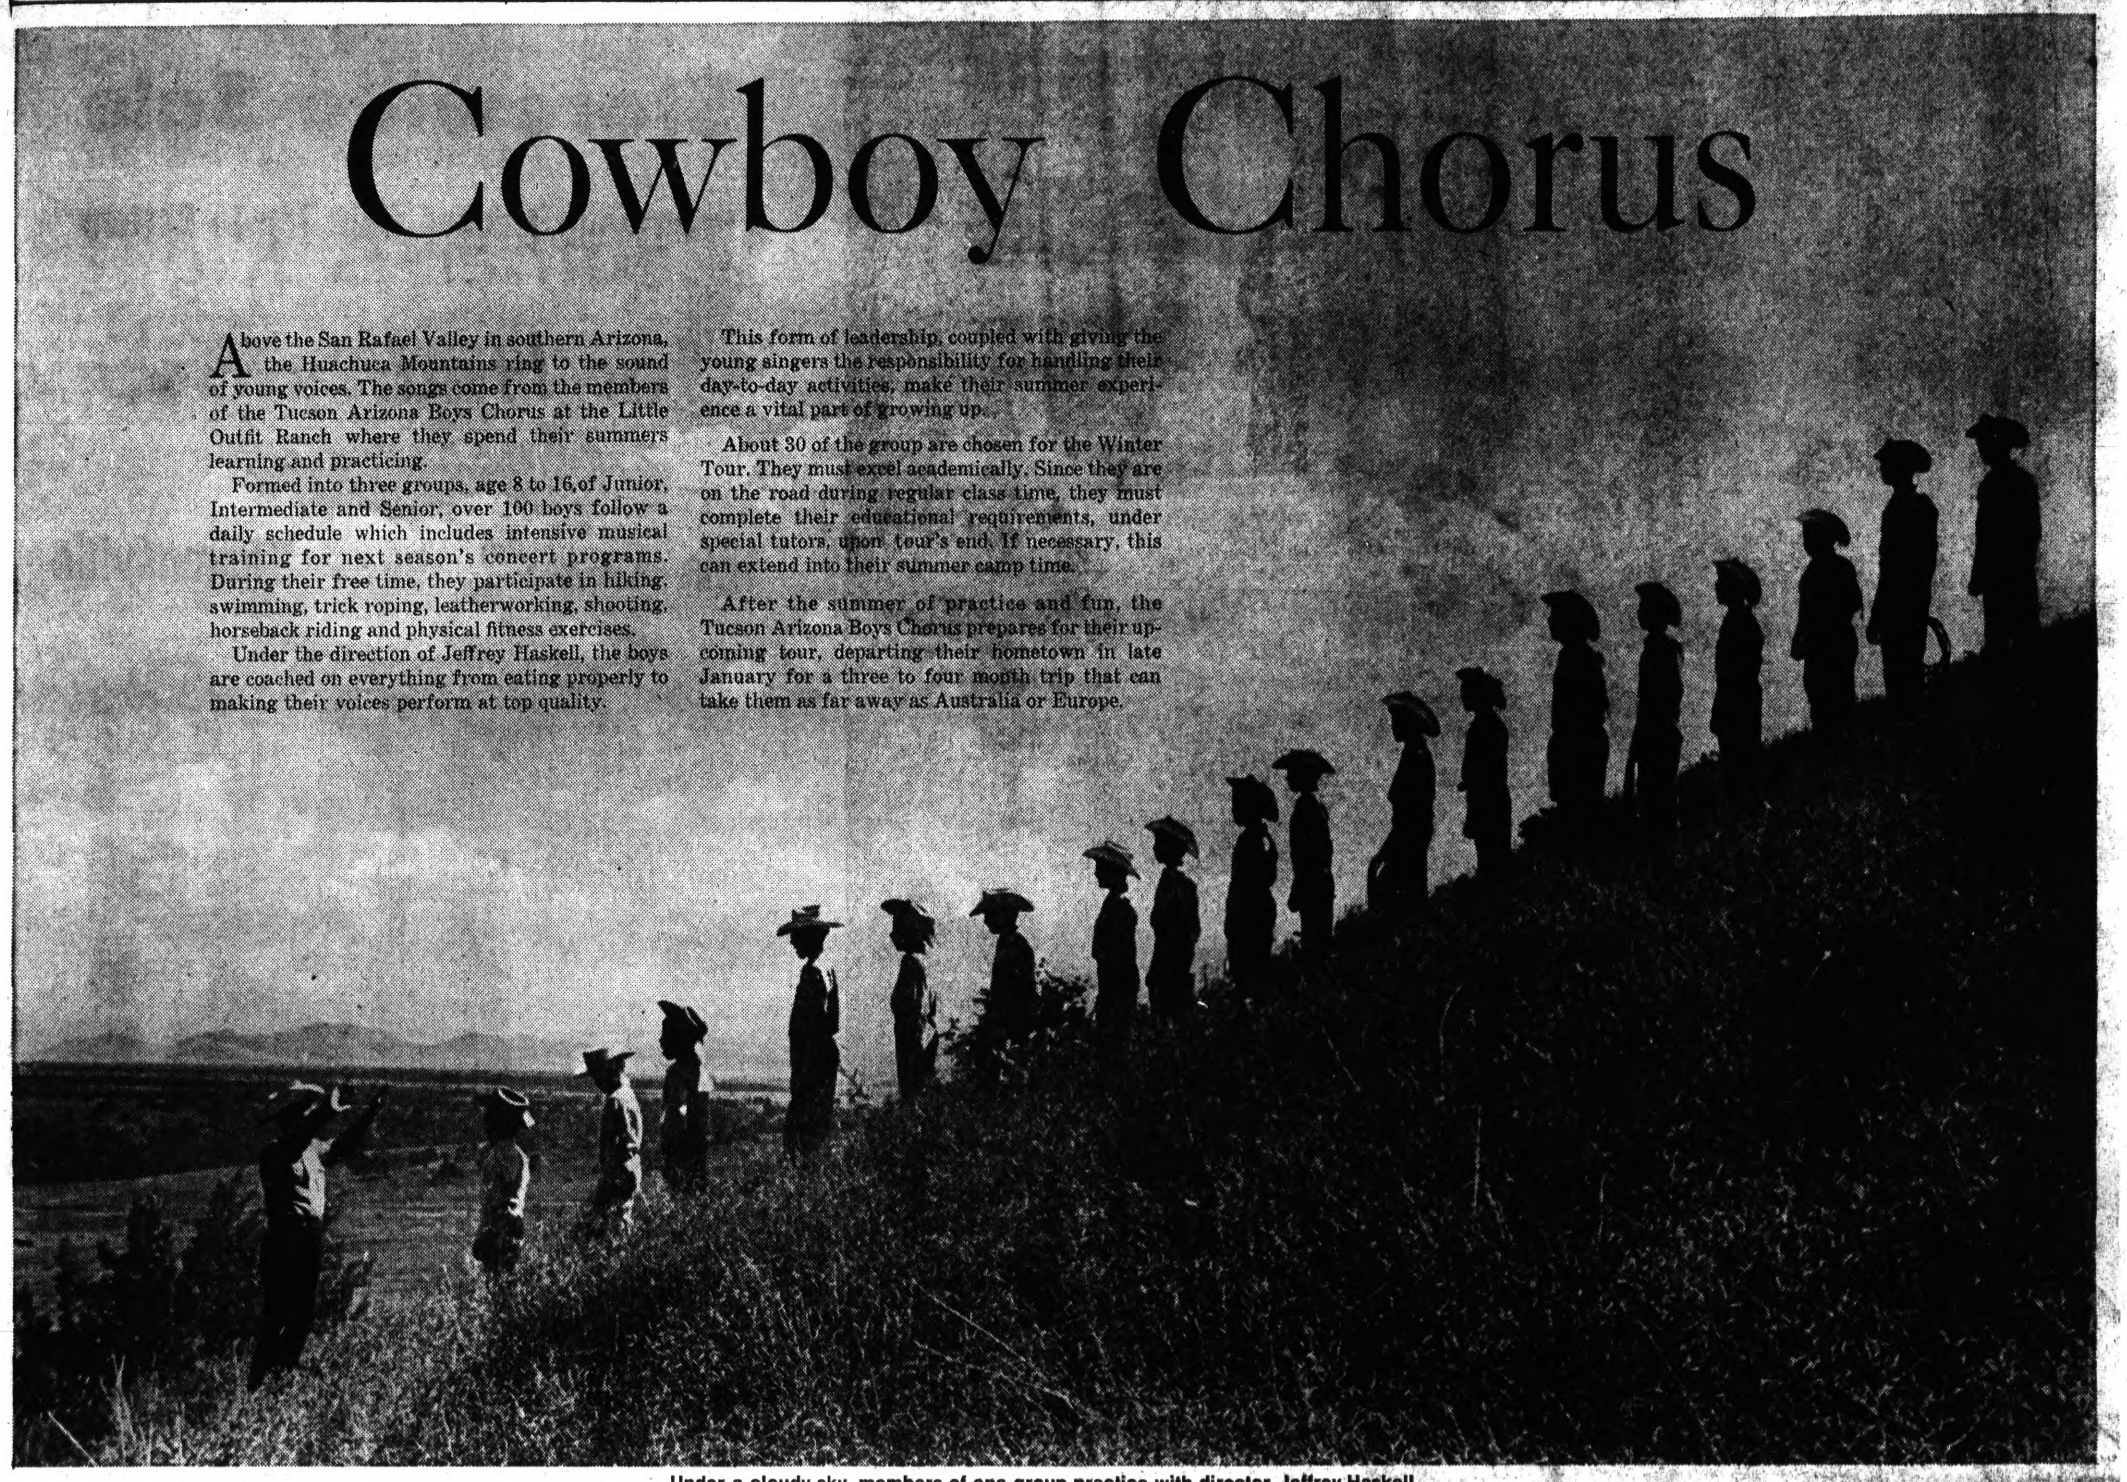
Formed into three groups, age 8 to 16, of Junior, Intermediate and Senior, over 100 boys follow a daily schedule which includes intensive musical training for next season's concert programs. During their free time, they participate in hiking, swimming, trick roping, leatherworking, shooting, horseback riding and physical fitness exercises.

Under the direction of Jeffrey Haskell, the boys are coached on everything from eating properly to making their voices perform at top quality.

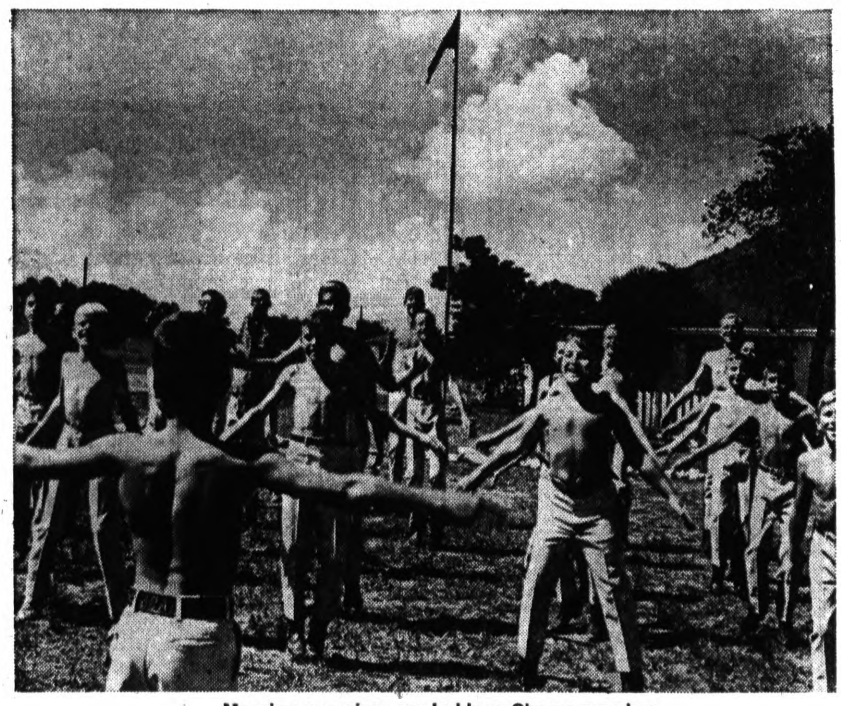
This form of leadership, coupled with giving the young singers the responsibility for handling their day-to-day activities, make their summer experience a vital part of growing up.

About 30 of the group are chosen for the Winter Tour. They must excel academically. Since they are on the road during regular class time, they must complete their educational requirements, under special tutors, upon tour's end. If necessary, this can extend into their summer camp time.

After the summer of practice and fun, the Tucson Arizona Boys Chorus prepares for their upcoming tour, departing their hometown in late January for a three to four month trip that can take them as far away as Australia or Europe.



Under a cloudy sky, members of one group practice with director Jeffrey Haskell.



Morning exercises are led by a Chorus member.

Practice on [illegible] twirling fills a portion of the day.

Weather Is Right for Hearty Soups

The season has arrived for the big supper soups, loaded with garden vegetables, rice or pasta, and so rich with big chunks of meat, they often call for a knife and fork as well as a soup spoon for eating.

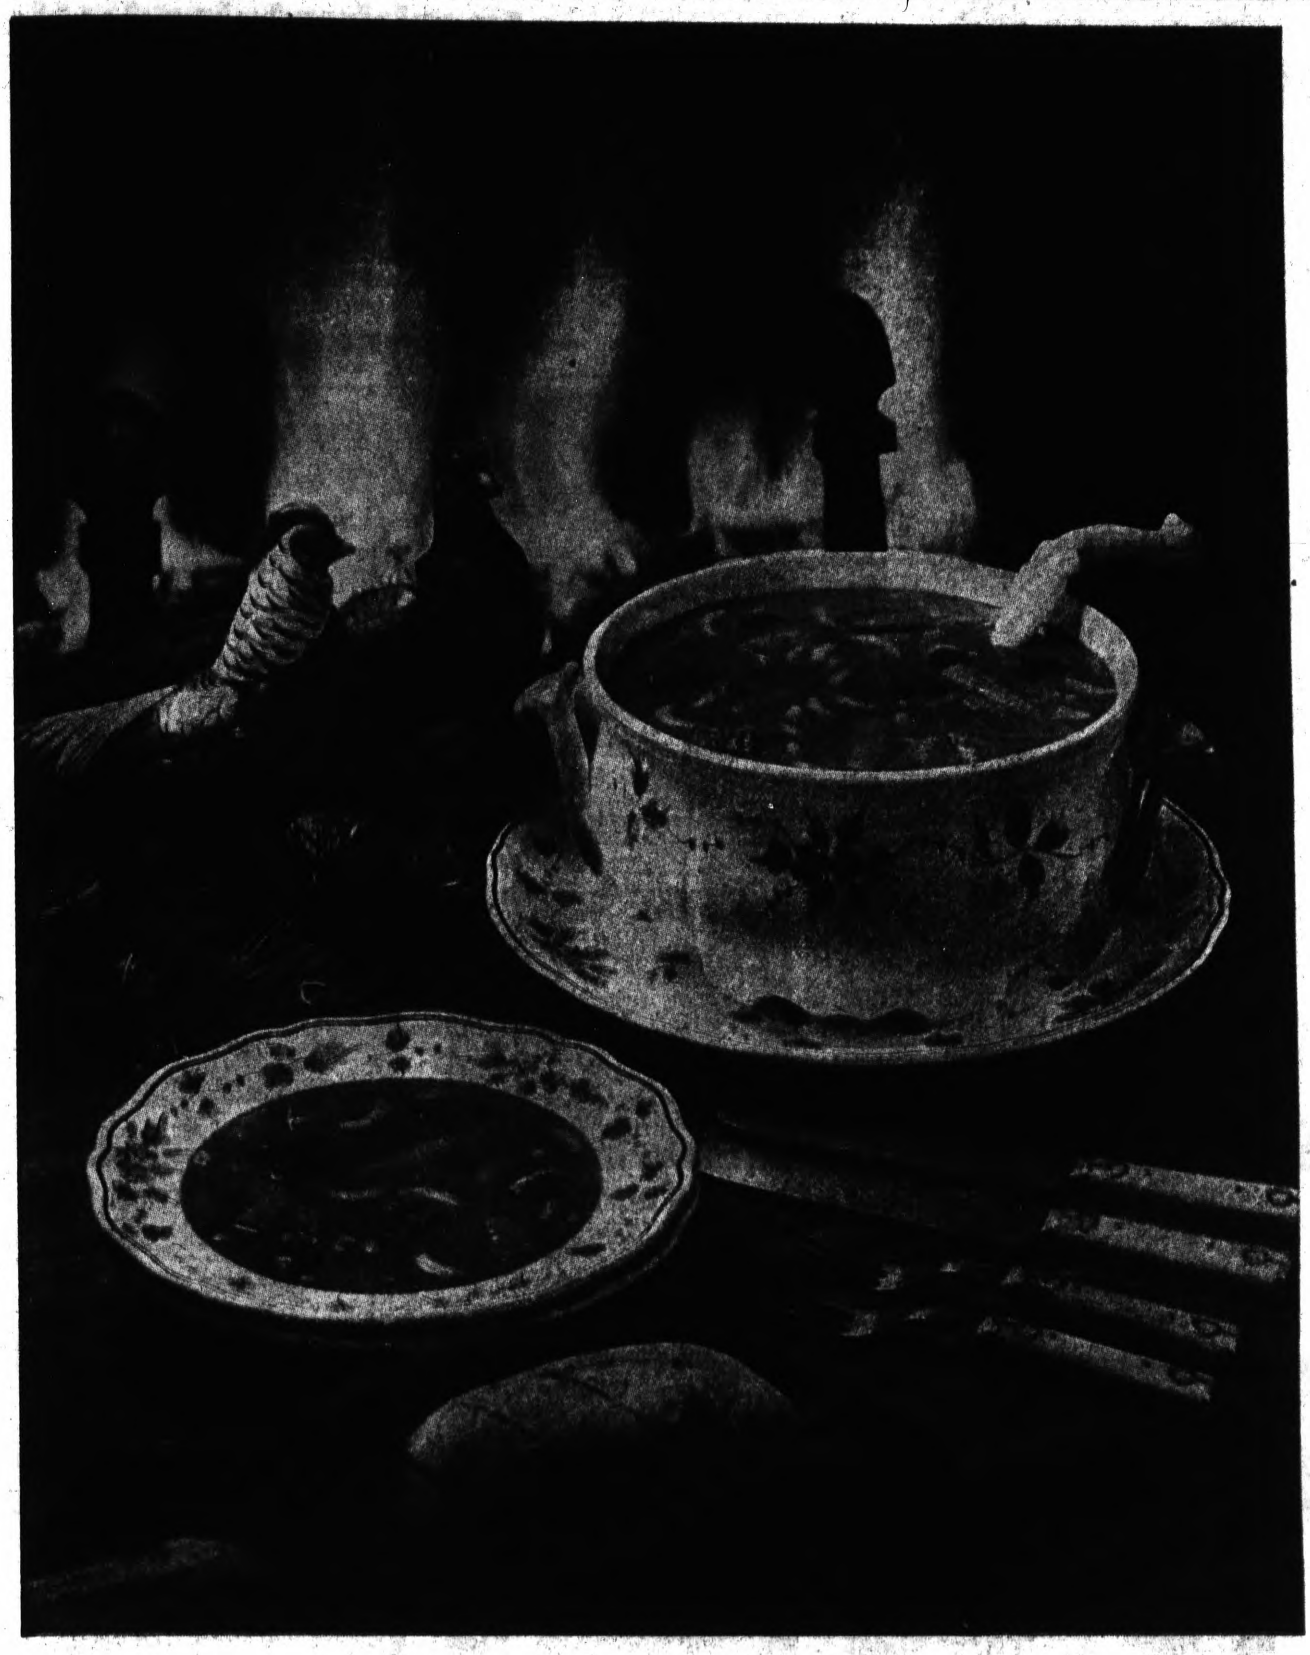
Somewhere between a soup and a stew, these meals-in-a-bowl are favorites in country kitchens all over the world.

In the British Isles fragrant, full-bodied soups like these are called Hotchpotch; the French word is Pot au Feu. The Belgium Hochepot holds continued popularity as a great specialty of the country. Goulash soups thick with beef, tomatoes, potatoes, and peppers, are served in Hungary and some of the Balkan countries.

The Danes prepare an elaborate Festsuppe with a list of ingredients that includes a whole chicken, beef, vegetables, meatballs, and rice.

Anyone "hankering" for the savory dishes which grandmother used to prepare will find they provide substantial fare simply accompanied by crusty bread, a green salad, and a hot or cold dessert—perhaps Apple Brown Betty or a fruit pie.

Knife and fork soups are menu-perfect for the outdoorsman who has spent the cold day working up a robust appetite—on a lake, in the mountains or forest, or even right in his own backyard.



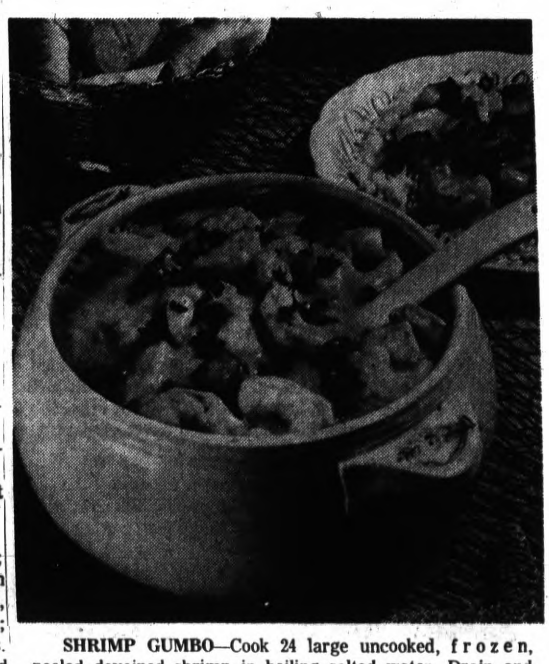
KNIFE & FORK SOUP—It's soup, but it's also the whole meal. In older days, the peasant woman kept a simmering pot of hearty soup on the open fire. Today's cook can get the same result with short cut methods incorporating canned condensed soups as the base. The above version has bite size chunks of good beef in a tomato liquid. Start it early in the day, if you like, refrigerate until serving time and serve piping hot.

Beef, Macaroni in Soup-Stew

ROMAN BEEF "STEW" SOUP

1 pound beef, cut in 1-inch cubes
¼ Tablespoons shortening
⅛ Can (10½ ounces) condensed onion soup
⅛ Soup can water
⅛ Clove garlic, minced
⅛ Bay leaf
⅛ teaspoon thyme, crushed
⅛ Can (10¾ ounces) condensed tomato soup
• Medium carrots, cut in 2-inch pieces
¼ medium green pepper, cut in chunks
Cup elbow macaroni

Brown beef in shortening; pour off drippings. Add onion soup, 1 soup can water, garlic, bay leaf, and thyme. Cover; cook over low heat 30 minutes. Stir in tomato soup, water and carrots. Cover; cook 30 minutes. Add green pepper and carrots. Cover; cook 30 minutes more or until meat and vegetables are tender. Stir often. Makes 4 to 6 servings.



SHRIMP GUMBO—Cook 24 large uncooked, frozen, peeled deveined shrimp in boiling salted water. Drain and saute in 3 tablespoons butter for 5 minutes; remove from skillet. Cook ½ onion, finely chopped and 1 tablespoon chopped green onion in skillet until tender. Add 2 tablespoons flour, blending well. Stir in 2⅔ cups warm water slowly. Add salt, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 small bay leaf and simmer 30 minutes. Add 4 small pods of okra and cook 15 minutes. Add shrimp and bring to boiling. Season to taste and serve with fluffy rice. Makes 4-6 servings.

Filbert and Squash Team Up in Soup

Filbert Squash Soup is easy and quite simple to make, provided you have chicken stock on hand or you use canned broth. Use fresh squash, butternut, hubbard or acorn, or frozen mashed squash. You can even use pumpkin.

FILBERT SQUASH SOUP

1½ cups mashed cooked squash or 1 package (12 ounces) frozen cooked squash
1 cup finely chopped filberts (about 4 ounces)
½ cup finely chopped onion
1 quart chicken broth or stock
Salt to taste
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sherry

Combine squash, filberts, onion and broth in saucepan. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in salt to taste, pepper, butter and sherry. Serve garnished with sliced toasted filberts, if desired. Makes 1½ quarts.

Lima Beans Go in Tasty Bisque

Tomato Bean Bisque makes a tasty, nutritious cold day lunch for your 12 o'clock scholars. In a saucepan, cook 2 slices of bacon until crisp; remove and crumble. Cook ¼ cup chopped onion in 1 tablespoon drippings until tender. Add 1 can (11 ounces) condensed bisque of tomato soup, 1 soup can water, and ½ cup cooked lima beans.

★ ★ ★

Sour Cream Is Soup Enricher

Prepare a hearty soup to brighten a dark winter day.

Asparagus Soup Supreme

1 can any creamed soup (mushroom, celery, chicken)
1½ cups* cooked asparagus cuts and tips
¾ cup sour cream

Prepare soup according to directions, add asparagus and heat. Before serving, blend in sour cream. Serve with toast or croutons. Yield 4 cups.

*Equivalent of one standard (No. 300) can, glass container or package of frozen.

French Accent

Combine 1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed tomato soup, 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken with rice soup, and 1½ soup cans water; heat. Add 2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese and heat a few more minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Bean Soups for a Party

Want to know the newest rage in easy, fun entertaining? It's the Soup Bowl Party! Served buffet or any way it's the latest conversation piece for brunch or midnight supper. It's best of all if you prepare it the day before.

Savory Bean Soup

2 pounds dry navy beans
4 quarts water
1 large onion, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
4 smoked pork hocks
Salt and pepper to taste

Soak beans in the water overnight. Do not drain. Add all other ingredients except salt and pepper. Cover and bring mixture slowly to a boil, reduce heat and simmer gently 3 hours. Add a little water if soup becomes too thick.

Remove ham hocks, strip meat from bones and cut into bite size pieces. Return to soup. Just before serving add salt and pepper to taste. Serves 10.

Sassy Tomato Bisque

2 cans tomato soup
1 cup milk
1 cup cream
2 cups hot baked beans, any kind
Cayenne pepper or hot sauce to taste

Stir milk and cream slowly into soup. Heat just to boiling point but do not boil. Place large tablespoon of beans in each soup plate. Pour soup over beans and invite guests to add the pepper or hot sauce to suit themselves.

Canned Soup Makes a Sauce

Savory Ham Bake is a delightful blend of all-time favorites; ham, noodles, and peas with onions that bake to perfection under a crispy topping of buttery cheese cracker crumbs.

SAVORY HAM BAKE

2 cups cooked medium egg noodles
1 10½-oz. can condensed cream of vegetable soup
½ cup milk
1 11-oz. can small early peas with tiny pearl onions, drained
2 cups diced, fully cooked ham
1 teaspoon minced parsley
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon celery flakes, crushed
¾ cup crushed cheese crackers
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Combine noodles, soup, milk, peas with onions, ham, parsley, mustard and celery flakes. Turn into a 1½-quart casserole. Combine crackers with butter. Sprinkle over casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Cheesy Vegetable Soup brings together nutritious potatoes, colorful, rich-in-vitamin A carrots, flavorful cabbage, onions, and tomatoes. Cheese adds a new taste note.

Today, appealing soup, rich in vitamins and minerals, combining fresh vegetables and beef broth, can be achieved without all those hours of cooking grandmother endured. What's more, in addition to time — the vegetables are also saved! Modern cooking methods result in better tasting vegetables.

Cheesy Vegetable Soup

2 cups pared cubed potatoes
1½ cups sliced celery
1½ cups coarsely shredded cabbage
1 cup sliced carrots
2 medium-sized onions, sliced
1 can (13¾ ounces) beef broth
1 soup can water
1 quart milk
½ pound process sharp American cheese, cubed
2 tomatoes, cut in eighths
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Cook potatoes, celery, cabbage, carrots, and onions in beef broth and water in large covered kettle until just tender (about 15 minutes). Add milk, cheese, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until mixture boils and cheese is melted. Makes about 3 quarts.

Danish Government Loses; NATO Role Periled

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The defeat of Denmark's Socialist government in national elections opened a period of intense political maneuvering today with the key position held by a party opposed to Danish membership in NATO.

Premier Jens Otto Krag announced his minority government would resign after his Social Democratic party lost six seats in Parliament in Tuesday's election and the allied Peoples Socialists lost three. Krag had called the election to seek approval of an austerity program to check inflation.

The 53-year-old premier made clear he would try to remain in the post he has occupied since 1962. He said his party, still the largest in Parliament with 63 seats, would seek an alliance with the pacifistic Radical Liberals, whose increase from 15 to 28 seats was the biggest gain in the election and gave them the balance of power in the 179-seat Parliament.

Preelection soundings indicated the Radical Liberals were unlikely to join forces with Krag. There was much talk of a coalition made up of the Conservatives, the Moderate Liberals and the Radical Liberals, but the Radical Liberal organ, Politiken, said this "is by no means to be taken for granted."

REFERENDUM ON NATO

It appeared certain, however, that any coalition would have to include the Radical Liberals to get a majority and that this insured realization of a key demand of the party—a national referendum to determine whether Denmark should remain a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Radical Liberals undoubtedly will try to make anti-NATO capital out of the crash Sunday in Greenland—Danish territory—of a U.S. B52 bomber with four hydrogen bombs aboard. The crash became a last-minute election issue, but its effect on the outcome, if any, was not immediately apparent.

* * *

Smaller left-wing parties had expected resentment over the crash to give them a boost, but instead the Leftist Socialists lost all six of their seats and the Communists again were shut out.

Junior Editors Quiz on INDIAN CORN

QUESTION: Why is the colored corn used for decoration called "Indian"?

ANSWER: Some old-fashioned ideas are so attractive to us that we can't let them go. One is the cozy, homey way people celebrated harvest time in the fall and winter, gathering pumpkins and apples, making cider and cookies. They often used to hang strings of dried corn cobs from the rafters, where mice couldn't get at them.

When the white men came, they found the Indians raising corn. The cobs were not just of one color; some varieties had kernels of black or red or blue or pink. On some cobs, the colors were mixed, which the Indians liked for the ornamental quality.

At first, the white men, interested in the food value of corn, raised the white and yellow kind only. But recently, companies which raise seeds have found that corn grown Indian-fashion from different strains — so that the kernels will be differently colored — can be readily sold at roadside markets.

Groups of these make fine decorations; they are called "Indian" after the Indians who first appreciated their beauty.

Medical Staff Officers Elected

A new slate of medical staff officers has been elected for 1968 at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. E. E. Elder, 1116 Voorheis, is the new chief of staff. He succeeds Dr Charles Sempere, 35 S. Johnson.

Other officers for 1968 include Dr. R. W. Bullard, vice chief of staff; Dr. J. I. Nosanchuk, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. R. W. Albrecht, member at large of the executive committee.

Chiefs of the staff departments are Dr. G. W. Hague, anesthesia; Dr. R. A. Landry, general practice; Dr. R. L. Segula, obstetrics and gynecology; Dr. J. B. Delevie, ophthalmology and otolaryngology; Dr. M. D. Levin, medical; Dr. R. E. James Jr. pediatrics; and Dr. L. J. Fink, psychiatry; and Dr. Kenneth VandenBerg, surgical.

PIN-WORMS
A FAMILY AFFAIR
Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.
To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:
First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.
Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

Ship's Capture Lifts Official Lid on Worldwide Spying Activity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capture of the Pueblo by the North Koreans—and the Pentagon's acknowledgment the ship was a Navy intelligence vessel—lifts the official lid on worldwide electronic spying by the major powers.

It marks a drastic change from the Pentagon's insistence that the Liberty, a spy ship shot up by the Israelis off Egypt last June, was a "technical research ship."

★ ★ ★

"Intelligence collection by naval vessels is a routine activity among major powers," a defense official said Tuesday, indicating a more relaxed attitude toward suggestions the United States engages in this kind of activity.

"It is common knowledge that for a number of years intelligence-collecting ships have followed U.S. fleet activities in various parts of the world," he added. The official obviously was alluding to the Soviet Union's terrierlike electronic eavesdropping vessels which show up wherever U.S. fleets are manuevering and near important Polaris submarine and other bases.

Such ships, in the guise of fishing trawlers, are "in fact positioned in international waters off the shores of the United States and other nations right now," this official said.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. intelligence vessels —which listen in on the radio traffic of other countries, spot radar sites and gather information to permit jamming them— and the Soviet Union's deep sea intelligence ships are parts of an extensive electronic intelligence system which has grown up in the Cold War years.

★ ★ ★

There are spy-in-the-sky satellites, both Soviet and American, whirling about the earth with almost unbelievably accurate cameras and "ferret" listening devices for eavesdropping on radio communications.

There are unmanned drones with sensitive information-gathering equipment. There are destroyers carrying "black boxes" which slip close to hostile shores to intercept radio talk, record coded messages and pick up other information. One of the two U.S. destroyers involved in the historic Tonkin Gulf attack by North Vietnamese patrol boats in August 1964 reportedly was on such a mission.

The United States and Soviet Union say nothing about what they know of the other side's electronic snooping from space. But the U.S. Navy complains out loud about the operations of the Soviet "trawlers," some of which get into the flow of fleet traffic and sometimes interfere with carrier and other operations.

★ ★ ★

Members of Congress also have expressed alarm about increasingly active Soviet naval snooping.

Soviet trawlers have been reported standing off Polaris submarine bases at Holy Loch, Scotland; at Rota, Spain; Guam; and Charleston, S. C.

The Red trawlers monitored U.S. nuclear weapons tests in the Pacific in 1962.

RED SPLASHDOWNS

U.S. vessels have taken positions in the Pacific to observe the reentry and splash-down of Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles fired into the mid-Pacific.

A Soviet intelligence-gathering trawler, the Anemometer, collided with a U.S. intelligence ship, the Banner, in the Sea of Japan in June 1966.

The 935-ton Pueblo is one of three of her class, all converted light cargo vessels.

She has about eight whip antennae and two heavy masts hung with special electronic gear.

The Pueblo engages in hydrographic surveys as well as electronic intelligence, dropping devices into the water to measure its temperature at various levels, its salinity and its density.

All these factors are important in antisubmarine warfare work because they affect the penetration of sonar beams.

All told, there are about a dozen clearly identifiable intelligence-type ships in the U.S. Navy, along with about 15 oceanographic survey ships which may well serve an intelligence function also.

Then there are the destroyers and other surface craft which can be quipped with electronic sensors as needed.

The Liberty, at 11,000 tons, was a bigger and more sophisticated intelligence vessel.

Among other things, the Liberty was equipped with a "big ear" dish-type detector that could monitor communications more than 100 miles distant.

There are five vessels in the Liberty class with crews of nearly 300 men each.

Wife Prays for Pueblo Skipper

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The wife of the skipper of the Navy intelligence ship Pueblo said she is confident the Navy will do all in its power to ensure the safety of her husband and his crew.

Cmdr. Lloyd E. (Pete) Bucher, 38, is commanding officer of the Pueblo, which was seized by North Korean patrol boats Tuesday.

"I sat down and started praying," Rose Bucher said, after she learned of the capture. "I prayed none of the crew would be hurt. Now all I can do is hope and pray for his safety."

Mrs. Bucher moved to San Diego with her two sons, Mark, 15, and Mike, 13, from their home in Jefferson, Mo., because orders were expected to bring the Pueblo back to San Diego this spring.

BOYS' FAITH

The boys were in school when Mrs. Bucher heard the news. She said she wondered what to tell them. But she wasn't worried how the boys would accept it—"They will be sure, they are always sure, that their father will come out with flying colors."

Mrs. Bucher last heard from her husband in a letter from Japan dated Jan. 10.

"He said he was leaving, that's all," she said.

She last saw him in November before he took the Pueblo, his first command, from San Diego to its base in Yokosuka, Japan.

Mrs. Bucher said her husband is a native of Pocatello, Idaho, and went to Boys Town, Neb., after he was orphaned.

FOOTBALL WEEKEND

He was graduated from high school at Boys Town, then went to the University of Nebraska. He met Mrs. Bucher, then a University of Missouri student, on a football weekend. They were married while he was in college.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1950 in a program that allowed him to continue in college. He was graduated in 1952 and commissioned in the Navy.

★ ★ ★

He served mainly on submarines until taking command of the Pueblo a year ago when the ship was commissioned at Bremerton, Wash.

Village Smithy Is on the Beam

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The "Village Blacksmith" in the nearby ranching town of Davie advertised in a newspaper Tuesday that he does horseshoeing and general blacksmith work "in the oldfashioned way," adding that his servicemen are "radio dispatched."

Waterford Volunteer Firemen Recruiting

Waterford Township needs volunteer firemen.

Six vacancies currently exist on the Waterford Twonship Volunteer Fire Fighters Association, according to James Dean, treasurer of the group.

The authorized complement of 40 members has dwindled to 34 men, Dean said.

Chartered in 1942, the association is a nonprofit organization.

The volunteer firemen are furnished with the necessary equipment by the fire department. The group holds several special functions during the year and has its own clubhouse.

The volunteers must be at least 21 years old, must be in good physical condition and must have a good driving record.

In addition, they must have been resident of the township at least one year.

★ ★ ★

Interested men can apply at Fire Station No. 1, M59 at Crescent Lake Road, by contacting Asst. Fire Chief Russell See or Kenneth Morrow, president of the volunteer fire fighters.

McCall, a long-time supporter of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for the presidency, said "Oregon's presidential primary can't be meaningful without Gov. Rockefeller, the top Republican contender, on most polls."

Copper Firm, Strikers Reach Accord

WHITE PINE (AP) — Mine and mill workers at the White Pine Copper Co. Tuesday night reached agreement with the firm on a new contract, which could end a strike that has closed Upper Michigan's largest copper operation since Sept. 1.

★ ★ ★

Details of the agreement were withheld pending a ratification meeting Thursday by some 1,800 members of Local 502, United Steelworkers of America.

The new pact was announced by R. C. Cole, president of White Pine Copper, and Gene Saari, international representative of the USW. The agreement came after seven days of intensive bargaining with federal and Michigan labor mediators sitting in the last three days.

The 145 - day strike was the longest in the history of the company, which began operations here in 1953.

★ ★ ★

The firm said operations would resume Friday at the earliest.

Cavanagh to Propose a Law on Shotgun, Rifle Registration

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said Tuesday night he expects within a week to submit to Common Council a gun control law to curb the arms race that has been going on in this city."

Calling the measure "controversial," Cavanagh said it is necessary if we are to restore sanity and balance to our community" and to "avert the truly terrifying prospect that these stockpiling of weapons might be used in a senseless outpouring of hatred."

The ordinance, similar to New York City's, would require persons to register all shotguns and rifles. At present, Detroit requires registration only of small firearms.

★ ★ ★

"The fact that we have some legal tool for the police department will cause people not to stockpile weapons," Cavanagh said.

CITED FEAR

Cavanagh cited fear throughout the city since its July riot, which left 43 dead, as the reason for the sharp increase in gun purchases in recent months.

Cavanagh spoke before the Detroit chapter of Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity.

The mayor, touching on city programs developed since the riots to "solve the social and physical problems of the city," also said Detroit expects to institute an experimental housing program in the near future.

He said the program, funded by the city, could, if successful, "represent a breakthrough in solving the dual problems of housing large families while creating an urban land bank which could be drawn on for major capital projects later on."

★ ★ ★

He said the announcement of the project would be made next month. He said tht housing will be basically prefabrication materials for low income families.

Financial Uncertainties Put Clouds on Pontiac's Horizons

By BOB WISLER

The sense of crisis continues to hang over City Hall, affecting city commissioners and top city administrators.

Money — the lack of it, the uncertainty of it and the elusiveness of it — as it has throughout the past year continues to be the main ingredient of the hanging clouds of crisis.

WISLER

Despite all efforts to get new tax money for the city, commissioners as well as administrators are playing a guessing game. The right guess and things could work out after a fashion. The wrong guess and a disaster could materialize.

The problem: Does Pontiac have a valid income tax, or doesn't it? Will the $1.6 million in new revenue expected from an income tax actually come into the city coffers and stay there?

★ ★ ★

City Manager Joseph A. Warren, charged under the city charter with submitting to the City Commission an annual budget "not later than one month before the end of each fiscal year" still is striving to put together a 1968 operating budget.

COMMISSION QUANDARY

The City Commission, charged with passing the annual appropriation ordinance "not later than one month after the beginning of the fiscal year" is in a quandary:

Whether to proceed on the assumption that Pontiac's income tax will stand the court battles which loom ahead, or to assume that because there is the possibility it could be invalidated, the city should proceed on an austerity budget without spending income tax revenue.

The latter course dictates reduced services and layoff of employes. This course likely could bring employe discontent which could lead to difficult labor bargaining and the possibility of city employes striking.

★ ★ ★

Under the charter, the commission should pass an appropriation ordinance which "shall not exceed the estimated revenues of the city."

That, of course, depends on who is doing the estimating.

MILLION-DOLLAR LACK

According to last year's estimates the city's charter limited 10-mill property levy would bring in $1 million less than would be needed in 1968 just to continue the level of services as provided by the city in 1967.

This is because a surplus of $500,000 was spent last year — the surplus now is gone — and $500,000 is expected to be needed for employe pay raises.

The city income tax — coupled with a three-mill property tax cut promised by the commission if the income tax went through — would net the city an additional $1.6 million.

★ ★ ★

This amount then would meet the $1-million need and provide $600,000 in new services, including 24 new police officers.

BEING COLLECTED

Although the income tax is being collected, there is no certainty that some day some court might not say:

The tax was not collected validly. The money will have to be returned to the taxpayers.

That is the big problem — the uncertainty.

★ ★ ★

The income tax was passed in the fall. Petitions to force a referendum election were circulated soon after. The petitions were turned in to the city clerk in December, on time, and with enough valid signatures to call for a referendum.

IRREGULARITIES SPOTTED

But, there were certain irregularities in the forms which were quickly spotted by the law department. The City Commission, advised of the irregularities, decided to hold an election anyway, partly to avoid the complications that now have set in.

Before the commission could order the election Winston L. Livingston entered the picture.

An attorney for the Pontiac Police Officers Association, the local fire fighters union and reportedly two other employe groups, Livingston filed suit to stop the election.

★ ★ ★

He got a temporary injunction prohibiting the city from holding the referendum. A later hearing produced the Circuit Court decision by Judge William J. Beer that Pontiac's income tax was valid and that petitions requesting the referendum election were invalid.

ATTORNEYS BLOCKED

Since the petitions were no good, there was no need for an election, He said. In the process he refused to allow two local attorneys — representing the chief petition circulator, Cecil C. Mullinix — to enter the case to defend the petitions.

The attorneys, Robert D. Cunningham and Robert D. Coon, have filed an appeal with the Michigan Appellate Court. They want the appeals court to reverse Beer's decision on their intervention bid.

If this were done, the case would then be sent back to Circuit Court and hearings would be held again on the validity of the petitions — this time with Cunningham or Coon, or both, defending the petitions for a "party of interest" — Mullinix.

★ ★ ★

Should the Appeals Court turn them down, Cunningham said, they will take the case to the State Supreme Court.

EARLY HEARING SOUGHT

In the meantime, because of the uncertainty, City Attorney Sherwin Birnkrant is manuevering to get an early court hearing — just so the city can decide positively that the income tax is valid.

This could mean a direct appeal to the State Supreme Court for a ruling on the intervention bid.

There are other possibilities. The procedure for taking appeals through the various court levels in Michigan is time-consuming and complicated, and it's not likely that a swift decision will be reached on the matter.

★ ★ ★

The city wants the issue determined finally and swiftly, and Cunningham, Coon and Mullinix thinking that the higher courts will allow them to intervene are not opposed to this.

HOPE OF SUCCESS

The law partners think that intervention will allow them to defend the petitions successfully, which could lead to forstalling the income tax question and a referendum election.

But complicating the already complicated issue is the position of Livingston, the man who helped negotiate pay raises in 1966 for policemen and fire fighters, during the period of the police department's "blue flu" epidemic.

Ostensibly he filed suit to stop the referendum on behalf of two city employes, a policeman and fireman. Through his legal work he has in effect a Circuit Court decision that says Pontiac has a valid income tax and has a right to collect it.

Legal procedures and court delays could tie up appeals and any State Supreme Court ruling for a year, or more.

Livingston is the man the city will be dealing with this week in what are expected to be hard bargaining sessions for employe wages and fringe benefits.

As representative of the four employe groups, he is in the position of being the attorney who engineered the decision declaring Pontiac's income tax valid and the attorney who wants a good chunk of what that income tax is expected to bring in.

He's not likely to be put off by declarations that the city can't afford pay raises because the income tax question is still unclear.

In the meantime, the City Commission must reach a decision:

Spend the income tax money confident that legal appeals will not invalidate the tax, or keep the tax money aside — in fear that it might have to be returned — and proceed with the austerity budget, one that does not spend what might have to be returned and one that reflects income geared to a 10-mill property tax levy.

The second choice is probably safer legally but there would certainly be an abundance of objections.

The first choice is somewhat of a gamble. If Beer's decision holds up throughout, if the tax is never declared invalid, if the money that would be spent by the city will never have to be returned, then the city services would survive in much the same fashion they have been.

But, if the day comes when a court says the tax is not legal and the money collected will have to be returned (an amount that could go up in the millions), it would be a disaster for the city.

To Decide Levy

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Residents of suburban Grandville will vote Feb. 19 on a proposed one-half-mill levy for a community library building costing an estimated $225,000. Earlier this month, Grandville approved a one-mill levy to finance a new police and fire department building.

School Tuition a Little Late?

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — The Idaho Falls School District has received a $35 check from Ira W. Casper of Idaho Falls, who says the money was payment of tuition for the final semester of his senior year in high school.

Casper sent the check and a note explaining he completed his education but was sick at graduation and unable to attend and he thought he still owed for the second semester.

School officials found that Casper had graduated in 1908, but could find no evidence that he had not paid tuition.

Cut Your Own Taxes—3

Oldsters Lose Advantage

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Publications

The new rules for medical deductions this year help those under 65, but they take away a tax advantage formerly enjoyed by senior citizens.

For the past sevearl years all the medical expenses of taxpayers over 65 were fully deductible without reference to the 1 per cent and 3 per cent rules. This is now changed.

Regardless of age, all taxpayers are treated alike on their medical deductions.

This means that oldsters will get a medical deduction amounting to 50 per cent of their payments for health and hospital insurance up to $150, but to get a further medical deduction their total expenses must exceed 3 per cent of total income.

The $3 monthly Medicare insurance is to be considered for a 50 per cent deduction, but the hospital insurance tax which is included as a part of the Social Security tax is not deductible.

As the oldsters are, in effect, penalized by the new rules, so too are children who are furnishing the chief support of their aged parents, including the payment of their medical expenses.

Last year and for several prior years, children could obtain a 100 per cent deduction for medical expenses paid for their parents for whom they were furnishing the chief support.

Under the new rules the children supporting parents must include the parents' medical expenses with their own and subject the grand total to the accustomed 1 per cent and 3 per cent rules.

★ ★ ★

The lawmakers apparently felt that the new Medicare provisions of the Social Security Act now protect those over 65 from abnormal medical expenses and that they no longer need the additional advantage of a special income tax deduction.

Lack of Facilities Big Obstacle

Community College Coaching Job: Trial by Dedication

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Even a super salesman might shy away from the product which young Lynn Reed is trying to market these days.

Although just 27, Reed is one of the many young men thrust into head coaching positions at community and junior colleges around the state and the country.

Reed is a transplanted New Yorker, coming here in 1965 following his graduation from Fresno State in California.

LYNN REED

He came here when Oakland Community College was opened and became head basketball coach at the Highland Lakes campus in Union Lake.

He's not only the head coach, but the trainer and equipment manager as well. And he's the only talent scout and the No. 1 recruiter.

Realistically, the community and junior colleges are the minor leagues of college athletics, the bottom of the barrel so to speak, and only individuals with a lot of that overused word — dedication — can cut the mustard.

Reed has that. When you realize the handicaps under which he is now working, then one realizes the depth of his dedication.

He has problems aplenty, and basic to them all is the lack of athletic facilities at Highland Lakes.

There's no gym, no equipment room, no training room, none of those facilities that are usually found at the four-year colleges.

* * *

With that in mind, then, coach Reed turns recruiter and attempts to sell a young man on the merits of Oakland Community College — Highland Lakes branch, of course.

* * *

Therein lies another problem. There are two campuses of OCC — Highland Lakes and Auburn Hills — and another near operation — Orchard Ridge near Northville — and each has its own recruiting area.

* * *

NO FACILITIES

Actually, there are no athletic facilities at Highland Lakes. There are some on the way, probably next year, but at present Reed and his basketball team are a little band of nomads who practice at three different places a week.

* * *

"Four nights a week we don't have showers, and it's hard to keep kids motivated under those conditions," says Reed.

Reed is in his second year as basketball coach and cross-country coach, so he and his teams are getting used to the facilities or lack of them.

"We laugh about it ourselves," says Reed, who hasn't lost his sense of humor despite the circumstances, which include losing ball games.

"My car's cluttered with basketball stuff. The ice packs freeze . . . basketballs are ice cold . . . it takes a while to warm them up. There are other things, too, but I'm not complaining."

* * *

"I can brag about my cross-country record," he was saying (36-5 won-lost-record). "The thing is, I don't have much knowledge about cross-country. Basketball is supposed to be my sport," he laughs.

ON LOSING SIDE

Then, he ticks off his basketball record. The team was 6-13 last year. They own a 3-10 mark so far this season.

* * *

The future looks bright for Highland Lakes and Reed. "I'm young and have little experience, so the job is a good opportunity for me," says Reed of the basketball and cross-country jobs.

With the accent on winning, at every level of competition, Reed encounters his most difficult problem in the role of recruiter. He has far less to offer than bigger schools.

"It's (Highland Lakes) a big letdown for kids who have had a lot in high school," Reed was saying in talking about recruitment policies.

* * *

"I never say anything about playing conditions unless a player asks. There's a lot of opportunity at the college, and I try to bring this out in some handouts which I give them.

PERSONAL CONTACT

"This year I've called on 250 athletes. I always call them personally . . . write and call . . .

* * * *

"After calling, I invite them to the campus and show them around."

"We don't have anything to offer such as an athletic scholarship. There's no special consideration just for athletes.

"Our players are here for the love of the game, but sometimes, by the time some get here, their love for the game has diminished."

Red Wings' Howe in All-Star Lineup

Gordie Garners Spot on Squad for 18th Time

From Our News Wire

NEW YORK — Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings won the right wing spot on the mid-season National Hockey League All-Star team released today.

Howe was a near-unanimous choice, drawing 58 of a possible 60 points in the voting conducted among the 12 league coaches.

Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, Chicago's high scoring forwards, and defenseman Bobby Orr of Boston were named unanimously.

Goalie Johnny Bower and defenseman Tim Horton of Toronto also made the first team.

Howe, 39, a member of the All-Star teams a record 18 times during his first 21 seasons, had a wide margin over right wingers.

Gary Bergman of Detroit, never before selected to the All-Star squad, won a spot on the second team at defense.

OTHER WINGS

Three other Red Wings received points in the voting. Norm Ullman received four points at center, captain Alex Delvecchio received four points—three at center and one at left wing; and defenseman Kent Douglas received three points.

The New York Rangers of the league's East Division and the six expansion teams in the new West Division were completely shut out as the five other East Division clubs dominated the second team.

SECOND TEAM

Selected for the second team were right winger John McKenzie and left winger Johnny Bucyk of Boston, center Mike Walton of Toronto, defensemen Pierre Pilote of Chicago and Gary Bergman of Detroit and goalie Gump Worsley of Montreal.

Hull, Mikita and Orr each received the maximum 60 points in the voting based on five points for a first-place vote, three for second and one for third.

The vote by position on a 5-3-1 point basis:
Goal—Johnny Bower, Toronto, 26; Gump Worsley, Montreal, 24; Bernie Parent, Philadelphia, 15; Denis DeJordy, Chicago, 13; Glenn Hall, St. Louis, 11; Doug Favell, Philadelphia, 8; Ed Giacomin, New York, 5; Charlie Hodge, Oakland, 3; Cesare Maniago, Minnesota, Les Binkley, Pittsburgh and Wayne Rutledge, Los Angeles, 1 each.
Defense—Bobby Orr, Boston, 60; Tim Horton, Toronto, 40; Pierre Pilote Chicago, 31; Garry Bergman, Detroit, 17; J.C. Tremblay, Montreal, 14; Pat Stapleton, Chicago, 8; Jacques Laperriere, Montreal, and Ed Van Impe, Philadelphia, 7 each; Harry Howell, New York, 6; Doug Jarrett, Chicago, 5; Kent Douglas, Detroit, Jim Neilson, New York, Dallas Smith and Ted Green, Boston, and Bill White and Dale Rolfe, Los Angeles, 3 each; Joe Watson, Philadelphia, Bob Woytwich, Minnesota, and Bob Wall, Los Angeles, 1 each.
Center—Stan Mikita, Chicago, 60; Mike Walton, Toronto, 15; Phil Esposito, Boston, 14; Fred Stanfield, Boston, 5; Norm Ullman, Detroit, and Phil Goyette, New York, 4 each; Alex Delvecchio, Detroit, and Jean Beliveau, Montreal, 3 each.
Right wing—Gordie Howe, Detroit, 58; John McKenzie, Boston, 23; Ken Wharram, Chicago, 20; Rod Gilbert, New York, 4; Ron Ellis, Toronto, Bob Nevin, New York, and Leon Rochefort, Philadelphia, 1 each.

STOPPING A SCORE — Jim King (21) of the West fouls the East's Hal Greer in the third period of the National Basketball Association's All-Star game last night in New York. Greer, a guard for the Philadelphia 76ers, picked up a couple of foul shots on the play. The smooth Greer also scored 19 points in the third quarter and won the Most Valuable Player award. King is from the San Francisco Warriors. The East won, 144-124.

East Coach Turns Greer Loose in 144-124 Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Alex Hannum, holding a fistful of aces, played his cards right and the East easily turned up with the winning hand in the National Basketball Association AllStar game.

Calling on a smattering of talent, pride, competition and teamwork, the East clobbered the West 144-124 Tuesday night before a record 18,422 fans in Madison Square Garden.

The winning pot was not much —$500 for the winners and $300 for the losers—but it served to help rub out the memory of last year's 145-120 upset victory by the West. The East had won four straight before that game and now has captured 12 of 18 classics.

Hannum, coaching the East after leading Philadelphia to the NBA title last year, made sure his players knew what we're playing for.

With the West, a 10-point underdog without injured Nate Thurmond, trying to draw to an inside straight for a second consecutive year, the East wasted little time making it known it was not going to happen.

EARLY ADVANTAGE

Oscar Robertson's 13 points and 12 by John Havlicek helped the East to an early 14-point lead which the West managed to cut to 64-59 at the half. And when Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and Jim King put the West ahead momentarily early in the third quarter, the East played its trump card—Hal Greer.

The Philadelphia guard scored seven straight points for an 80-75 lead and continued on to outscore the West 14-4 for an 87-79 spread and it grew from there. Greer finished with 19 points in the quarter, an AllStar record, and totaled 21 for the game. His performance won him the Most Valuable Player award.

King of San Francisco was guarding Greer during most of his barrage, although Warrior teammate Al Attles normally handles the hotshot guard in regular NBA games.

"When the thing broke loose, Hal had the hot hand," Hannum said.

"Hal got several baskets coming off screens by Wilt Chamberlain. I want d to make sure Wilt and Hal played together; the same with Bill Russell and Havlicek. They're used to working together."

PNH, Waterford Wrestlers Keep Unbeaten Marks

Pontiac Northern and Waterford posted victories yesterday in extending their unbeaten wrestling streaks.

The Huskies of PNH (9-0) blanked Kettering, 40-0, while Waterford (9-0) knocked off Madison, 27-13. In another match, Rochester (9-2) turned back Roseville Brablec, 48-6.

Waterford and Pontiac Northern now turn to Inter-Lakes League action. Northern entertains Livonia Stevenson while Waterford visits powerful Walled Lake Friday.

Lathrup in Overtime

Bob Brodsky scored six points in the second overtime and finished with 21 last night in leading Southfield Lathrup (6-4) to a 71-70 victory over Southgate Aquinas. Dennis Tallon posted 39 points for the losers.

St. Bonaventure Routs Detroit Five, 103-74

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — Fifthranked St. Bonaventure, with Bill Butler and Bob Lanier showing the way, coasted to a 103-74 basketball victory over Detroit Tuesday.

Butler and Lanier, who hit for 29 and 28 points, respectively, were helped in the winning effort by Bill Kalbaugh, who stole the ball eight times, as well as scoring 11 points.

The Bonnies, ahead 55-36 at halftime, widened the gap in the second period with their fastbreaking offense.

The win was undefeated St. Bonaventure's 14th. Detroit is 10-6.

RIGHT OFF TARGET — A right uppercut thrown by Japan's Mitsunori Seki (white trunks) fails to connect as British featherweight fighter Howard Winstone dodges the punch during their title bout Tuesday in London. Winstone captured the crown vacated by Vicente Saldivar of Mexico when the bout was halted in the ninth round due to a cut over Seki's right eye.

Broken Bone Hinders Willie Shoemaker

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Willie Shoemaker, perhaps the most famous jockey in the world today, broke a bone in his right thigh in a spill at Santa Anita race track and there's no telling when he will ride again.

The mishap to the 36-year-old Texas-born "Shoe," who has ridden many of the world's best known thoroughbreds, the latest of which is Damascus, happened in the second race Tuesday.

It is the most serious injury in his 19-year career. He was in many previous spills, but always escaped with minor bruises.

AT PEAK — This picture of Joe Medwick, who was inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame yesterday, was made when Joe was at the peak of his playing career with the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1930's. Now 56, Medwick played with the Cardinals from 1932 until 1940 and again briefly in 1947 and 1948.

Medwick in Hall

Long 'Slump' Ends

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Medwick's "longest slump" is over and the one-time swashbuckling slugger of the St. Louis Cardinals' 1934 Gas House Gang is a proud new member of baseball's Hall of Fame.

The long wait ended for the 56-year old Medwick Tuesday when he was voted into the Hall by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The National League's Triple Crown winner and Most Valuable Player in 1937 will be officially inducted next July at Cooperstown, N. Y.

A frequent critic of the voting, Medwick made no secret of his joy over finally being elected.

"This is the happiest day of my life and I feel like a June bride," he said when notified in St. Louis. "I've been disappointed many times before but it was worth the wait. Being named to the Hall of Fame really rounds out my career. I've had everything else, including Most Valuable Player, World Series games and All-Star appearances."

Medwick, who played for the Cardinals, Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants and Boston Braves between 1932 and 1947, compiled a lifetime .324 batting average. He was a line drive "bad ball" hitter who included 205 homers, 113 triples and 540 doubles among his 2467 hits.

"I felt like I was in a 20-year slump," he said, referring to the years in which he failed to win election. "And that was the longest of my career."

Medwick had his best season in 1937 when he led the National League with a .374 average, 154 runs batted in and tied Mel Ott for the home run leadership with 31 each. He was the last National Leaguer to win the Triple Crown and his 64 doubles in 1936 are still the league record.

Army Assistant Takes Grid Post

By the Associated Press

Bill Meek is leaving Army to become head football coach at the University of Utah.

The assistant to Tom Cahill, head coach at West Point, was named to his new post Tuesday by the Utah board of regents. He was given a three-year contract at $18,000 a year and permission to appoint five assistants.

Meek's appointment to succeed the resigned Mike Giddings was one of several changes in the coaching ranks Tuesday.

In the others, Eddie Kriwiel became head coach at Wichita State succeeding Boyd Converse and Jerry Lyons resigned as head coach at Portland State.

Among the pros, Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns was given a new three-year contract as head coach of the National Football League club.

Dub Jones resigned as offensive coach and will be replaced by Nick Skorich, defensive coach last season. Dick Modzelewski will take over as defensive coach.

Cold Highlanders Drop 91-62 Verdict to Alpena Quintet

The Highlanders of Highland Lakes hit a cold streak midway in the first half but their opponent never slowed down and the result was a 91-62 victory for Alpena last night.

"The score doesn't seem like it, but we played a good game," said coach Lynn Reed. "We had good shots from in close, but the ball wouldn't go in."

With the score tied at 22-22 and nine minutes left in the first half, the Highlanders managed only six more points while Alpena flipped in 24 to take a 46-28 lead at intermission.

Jerry Wright and Ed Pruitt led the Highlanders with 12 points apiece, while Pete Jones paced a balanced Alpena quintet with 21.

* * *

The Highlanders played without a couple of starters. High-scoring John Olander was dismissed from the team earlier in the week for disciplinary reasons, and forward Tim Moller, one of the team's top rebounders, was in an automobile accident Monday night and suffered severe cuts.

MIDLAND (AP) — Northwood of Michigan held its namesake from Indiana scoreless in the first six minutes of the second half, overcame a 39-39 halftime deadlock and humbled the visitors, 92-71, in college basketball Tuesday night. Mike Evans of the Michigan team led all scorers with 27 points, while Keith Ice of Northwood-Indiana had 20.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By John Carter

Ever wonder why golf courses have 18 holes instead of some other number? . . . Actually, in the early days of golf's development in England, different courses did have different numbers of holes . . . For example, did you know that when the first British Open was played at the Prestwick Club in 1860, that course had only 12 holes . . . Some other courses then had 7 holes, some had 8, some had 14 . . . But the most famous course, the St. Andrews Club of Scotland, just happened to have 18 holes — and in the years following 1860, other courses increased to 18 holes merely to follow the pattern set by St. Andrews . . . And, thus 18 holes became the standard for golf courses everywhere.

Did you know that a man can be the winning pitcher in a baseball game even though he never threw a pitch to a batter! . . . How is this possible? . . . This actually happened once in a minor league game . . . A relief hurler came into the game with two out in the top of the 9th . . . Before throwing a pitch to the plate, he picked the runner off first base retiring the side . . . Then, his team scored the winning run in the last of the 9th, and he was the winning pitcher.

Linden Stops Ortonville '5'

Cold Black Hawks Drop 64-53 Verdict

Linden warmed up fast in Ortonville Brandon's gymnasium last night and rolled to a 64-53 decision in a Genesee County Suburban contest.

★ ★ ★

Paced by Thad Cook and Glynn Welchans, the visitors (7-2) grabbed a 21-6 first quarter and hiked it to 41-20 at halftime. Cook collected 12 of his 20 points in that first quarter and Welchans picked up eight of his 24 during the same frame.

The Black Hawks came back in the second half to outscore the opposition, 33-23, but they couldn't overcome that early deficit.

Dave Tuttle tossed in 16 points for Brandon (2-7), while teammate Jim Krug netted 10. The Black Hawks journey to Hartland for a Friday night game.

EAST LANSING (AP) — Sam Williams proved Michigan State basketball coach John Benington a good prophet, even though Benington probably would rather forget it.

Said Benington before the Spartans' Big Ten game with Iowa Tuesday night: "If we can keep Williams down to 25 points, we can win the game."

★ ★ ★

Michigan State used three players trying to keep the former Detroit high school star from going over his 25-point game scoring average, but it didn't work.

Williams shook them all loose to score 33 points, boosting the Hawkeyes past a 38-32 halftime deficit to a 76-71 victory over the favored Spartans.

THIRD WIN

The victory, Iowa's third in four games, lifted the Hawkeyes to a first-place tie with idle Wisconsin. The Spartans, Big Ten defending cochampions, fell to eighth place with a 3-2 record.

It was also the first loss for the Spartans at home in 25 outings.

Williams, scoring 19 points in the second half, fouled out of the game with 1:16 left with Iowa leading 70-65.

★ ★ ★

Iowa led 74-67 but the Spartans closed the gap to within three, 74-71, on a field goal by Harrison Stepter and two free throws by Haywood Edwards with 29 seconds remaining.

But Iowa iced the game with free throws by Chad Calabria with four seconds remaining.

"This was a tough one for us to lose," Benington said. "That kid Williams can kill you. In the tight ball game, he puts you at a disadvantage."

Guard John Bailey led the Spartans in scoring with 16 points and Bernie Copeland, assigned to defend against Williams, followed with 15 even though fouling out with 9:10 remaining.

Lee Lafayette had 14 points for MSU and was high in rebounds with 15.

Highland Lakes to Play Nikes

Coach Reed Awaits New OCC Facilities

With new though temporary athletic facilities planned for next year at Auburn Hills and Highland Lakes, plus permanent accommodations at Orchard Ridge, Reed has a better selling point than he's had in the past couple of years.

OTHER SIDE

Continuing on the positive side of the ledger, Reed noted that some kids just good enough to sit on a bench at some four-year school would get a lot of playing time at Highland Lakes.

★ ★ ★

Reed sees such a situation for the three branches of Oakland Community College.

Athletes just out of high school could spend a couple years at OCC, and if they perform well enough, they might get a chance to continue their play at some four-year school.

Coming up on the schedule Friday night for Reed and the Highlanders is a contest with Auburn Hills' Nikes.

Brighton Hits at Charity Line in 67-62 Win

Accuracy at the free throw line paid off for Brighton last night, enabling the Bulldogs to squeeze out a 67-62 victory over Holly.

The victory gave Brighton (3-5) possession of sixth place in the Wayne-Oakland League, a game ahead of Holly (2-6).

The host Bulldogs made only 18 field goals while Holly was collecting 20, but they made 31 of 48 attempts at the free throw line to sew up the decision. Holly connected on 22 of 40 in a game during which 5 2 personal fouls were called, 27 on the visitors.

Rick Wellman, Bob Musch and Randy Needham came through with 12 points apiece to pace the Brighton attack and teammate Dave Brooks added 11.

Tom Hayes picked up 14 and Tom Roeder 13 for Holly.

Win Streak Ends for Lapeer Five

Lapeer's winning streak was snapped at three games last night as the Panthers dropped a 78-72 decision to Port Huron Northern.

★ ★ ★

The winners romped to a 37-26 lead at halftime and held off the Lapeer (4-7) quintet in the second half.

Jack Carr tossed in 25 points, Andy McLain had 16 and Steve Henry 17 to spark the Port Huron Northern (3-7) attack.

Don Rice led Lapeer with 20 markers, while Dave Leonard tossed in 19 and Bill DesJardins 12.

BOWLING

Dick Beamer rated the spotlight last week in the Huron Bowl Wednesday night Class A Men's League with a resounding 286 game and 666 series

No other league member came close to Beamer's efforts. Joe Geroux hit a 613 and Don Bays, had a 238 game. Bill Rogers (236) Dave Bertucci (233) and Chuck Law (232) also topped 230.

National Bank of Rochester attempts to continue its hot streak tonight in the North Hill Lanes Classic. The bankmen boosted their record to 11 points out of a possible 12 in last week's action.

Jim Curnutte's 239-225—665, a 245-225—660 by Chuck McClune and Don Evans' 254-200—651 led the individual scoring last week.

Denis Market saw its 300 Bowl Classic first place cushion shrink to six points last Thursday as Wohlfeil-Dee Engineering registered 1045—3024 totals to take eight points and improved its runner-up ranking.

Lenny Drake posted a 232-220—652, Elmer Dixon a 223-217—650 combination Meryl Taulbee 220-244—647 and Chuck Messer 242-228 — 647. Bob Young's 268 was the top game. Ron Rothbarth hit a 243 and Ray Bishop a 242.

An unusual occurence at Birmingham Bowl found teammates Kaye Sheldon, Carol Dittrich, Fran Long and Betty Crego all hitting 200 on the nose in their final Oakland Hills Country Club women's league game last Friday. It was Mrs. Sheldon's first 200 in more than 30 years of bowling.

That night at Howe's Lanes Lou VanDruska featured the Senior Classic activity with his 228-243—657. Ed Szot (245-626), Ray Giroux (246) and Jack Topham (208-218—625) each had their moments.

Andover Skiing Teams Triumph

The girls and boys ski teams of Bloomfield Hills Andover posted victories yesterday at Mt. Holly in competition with Waterford and Clarkston.

The girls, still unbeaten this season, posted a time of 182.3. Waterford (188.2) was second and Clarkston (242.0) third.

Andover's Marlen Jarosz (51.3) placed first and teammate Barb Goode (60.7) third. Debbie Morris (55.9) of Waterford was second.

Jeff Smith (43.9) and Rick Reininger (50.4) placed two-three to spark the Andover boys' victory. Andover totaled 208.2, followed by Waterford (217.1) and Clarkston (247.5). Waterford's Gary Edwards won the event in 42.9.

4 County Tankers Representing U.S. in Canada Meet

Five state swimmers — four from Oakland County—will represent the United States in the Canadian-American dual meet Saturday and Sunday at the University of Alberta.

The five were selected for the two-day meet on the basis of qualifying times against swimmers from other Michigan Amateur Athletic Union associations having age-group and open programs in swimming.

The five are Pattie Finn, 12, of Bloomfield Hills; Irwin Futernick, 10, of Huntington Woods, a member of the Detroit Metropolitan Aquatic Club; Kay McDonald, 10, of Garden City, a member of Garden City Parks and Recreation; Carol Saputo, 10, of Birmingham, and Susan Vanderbeek, 10, of Franklin, both members of the Michigan Stingrays.

Cranbrook Wins

Bing Gordon kicked away 14 shots and his teammates backed him with accurate firepower yesterday as Cranbrook ran its hockey record to 8-3-2 by blanking Lakeshore, 4-0.

Norm Lerchen, Charlie Craig, Enis Berker and Pete Robinson checked in with goals for the Cranes.

Andover Wins

Bloomfield Hills Andover upped its swimming record to 6-2 yesterday with a 64-37 victory over Dearborn Crestwood.

Prehistoric Fish Targets

Spearmen Take Aim

LANSING (AP) — The fishermen who spear sturgeon for sport have a right to be a little condescending toward those who become excited over trout or even salmon.

The sturgeon spearing season opens in Michigan Feb. 1.

Devotees of the sport can brag they are after a fish that grows bigger than a man, may be up to 100 years old and dates back some 50 million years.

★ ★ ★

Best spots for the sturgeon in Michigan are Burt, Black and Mullet lakes on the Cheboygan and Indian river chains in Cheboygan County.

HEAVY WEAPON

It takes a heavy spear to bring in the big beasts. An occasional novice has made his spearing hole too small — and has been stuck with a speared sturgeon under the ice.

Once the huge fish is through the hole, there have been cases of fishermen and shanties being knocked over.

★ ★ ★

The sturgeon is an ugly-looking fish with a shark-like tail, long bony body and a rubbery snout with feelers to help it bottom feed.

Michigan's largest fish is believed to be a prehistoric holdover that existed up to 50 million years ago. Originally an ocean fish, the sturgeon became landlocked in the Great Lakes after one of the ice ages.

POSSIBLE RECORD

One sturgeon taken from Mullet Lake in 1955 weighed 175 pounds and measures 86 inches in length. This is believed to be the Michigan record.

Sturgeon are among the longest-lived fish known and 100 years is not an uncommon age.

★ ★ ★

The white sturgeon of the West Coast has been taken as large as 1,900 pounds.

Russia, which likes to claim records has reported a great Russian sturgeon weighing more than 3,000 pounds.

At one time, Great Lakes fishermen threw away sturgeon that would blunder into their nets as junk fish.

TASTY TREAT

The eggs now are used for caviar, however, and the meat is supposed to be a tasty treat when properly smoked.

But beside a lot of muscle, sturgeon spearing takes patience.

★ ★ ★

One State Conservation Department survey showed fishermen spent an average of 240 hours fishing on the Cheboygan County lakes for every sturgeon speared.

MAS Meeting Slated at OU

Vanishing Species Discussion Topics

The status of vanishing birds and mammals in Michigan will be among the subjects covered during the annual meeting of the Michigan Audubon Society Friday and Saturday at Oakland University.

★ ★ ★

Nearly 350 MAS members from both peninsulas are expected to attend. James Hallauer of the host Pontiac Audubon Club is general chairman.

Following a welcome by PAC President James Stevens, delegates will see two award winning movies — Wood Duck's World and The Last Frontier — Friday evening.

Films and symposiums are scheduled Saturday. The annual dinner will be at 6 p.m. Saturday and the concluding program will be a slide presentation, Our Natural Heritage, by Roland Kontak of Southfield.

All activities will be at Oakland Center's gold room and cafeteria.

Hunting Ban Being Sought

The Oxford Township board has approved a resolution requesting the state hunting area central committee to investigate the possibility of closing all or part of 11 sections to hunting.

★ ★ ★

The recently activated committee will investigate alleged problems in sections 25-36; the two southern tiers. Date of the required public hearing has not been set.

The committee is composed of representatives of the Conservation Department, state police, sheriff's department and the township.

Boat Safety Classes Start

Several Sites Listed for Basic Course

The first of 10 boat safety classes is now under way and the others are slated for the next two months in the Pontiac-Detroit area.

★ ★ ★

The classes — Basic Seamanship — are being conducted by the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The Basic Seamanship course is an eight-lesson program consisting of instruction in rules of the road, aids to navigation, marlinspike seamanship, piloting (charts and compass), nautical terminology, weather, federal and state legal requirements and boating regulations along with maneuvering and safe boating operation.

The first of the 10 courses opened earlier this month in Oak Park. The next one is slated to start Feb. 6 at Birmingham Seaholm High School.

★ ★ ★

Another opens Feb. 8 at the Naval Reserve Training Center at 469 East Blvd. South in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The last of the 10 classes is slated for March 26 at Kimball High School in Royal Oak.

BASIC SEAMANSHIP COURSES
Schedule

February 6—Seaholm High School, 2435 W. Lincoln Road, Birmingham.
February 7 — Fitzgerald High School, Nine Mile Road at Ryan, Warren.
February 8 — South Lake High School, Nine Mile Road at Mack Ave., St. Clair Shores; U. S. Public Health Service Hospital, Alter Road, Detroit; Naval Reserve Training Center, 469 East Blvd., South, Pontiac.
February 13 — Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lake Shore Drive, Grosse Pointe Farms.
February 15 — Southfield High School, Lahser at 10 Mile Road, Southfield.
March 12—Stevenson High School, 33500 W. Six Mile Road, Livonia.
March 26 — Kimball High School, 4000 Crooks Road, Royal Oak.
NOTE: Registration at 7 p.m. starting night at all classes except Public Health Service Hospital where registration is 7:30 p.m. Class hours at all locations 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. except U. S. Public Service Hospital where class hours are 8 to 10 p.m.

Young Coho Dieoff 'Not Catastrophic'

The State Conservation Department reports a recent dieoff of baby Coho salmon that it describes as "high but not catastrophic."

Some 160,000 of the young fish died at the department's Wolf Lake Hatchery near Kalamazoo.

They are among 1.3 million salmon being nursed along for release in the Michigan streams in the spring of 1969.

Fisheries workers said preliminary indications are that the tiny fish were the victims of either some viral disease or pesticide poisoning.

Samples of dead and some surviving salmon have been sent for analysis at the Eastern Fish Disease Laboratory at Leetown, W. Va., and to Michigan State University.

★ ★ ★

Those going to Leetown will be studied for possible viral disease. Michigan State University will try to determine if pesticides had anything to do with the fish kill.

HIGH RESIDUES

A recent study at MSU showed that Michigan-raised Coho eggs contain enough DDT residues to pose a problem in raising salmon.

★ ★ ★

At Wisconsin, it was reported that a similar dieoff occurred among Coho fry hatched from some 300,000 eggs supplied by Michigan.

A close watch is being kept on the fish at Wolf Lake and at the department's Northern Michigan fish hatcheries, where four million Coho eggs are being raised.

"We are naturally concerned about these recent developments," said Brad Durling, in charge of hatchery operations. "But we are not overly alarmed and are not pushing the panic button."

Rules Posted for Shanties at Kent Lake

The following rules regarding fishing and ice fishing shanties now apply to Kent Lake in Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, according to Robert C. Skellenger, chief park ranger.

1. The Department of Conservation has removed Kent Lake from the list of lakes open for unlimited year-around hook and line fishing.

Open seasons, creel and size limits are now the same on Kent as for other non-trout streams and inland lakes.

2. Shanties must be removed from the ice before ice condition appears unsafe for its removal. All shanties must be removed from the ice no later than March 15 and must be removed from the park by April 1.

Failure to remove the shanty within the above specified time shall constiute a violation and the authority may remove and store or destroy the shanty and assess the party whose name is affixed thereon to the cost of such removal in addition to any court action that may be taken.

Fish Action Good on Oakland Lakes

Water on the ice didn't hamper fishermen last weekend and the action was reasonably good.

An army of splake fishermen gathered at Maceday Lake and found out that it can be a long wait between schools. Results were poor. Calicos continued to hit on Pontiac Lake.

Perch fishing was good on Bald Eagle and Sugden. Pike activity seemed to improve with tipup fishermen doing better than spearmen. Fishing on Lake St. Clair remains inconsistent.

Coho Program Set March 8

The Coho Victory Celebration has been rescheduled for March 8 in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Originally set for Jan. 19, the fete was postponed by the sponsoring Michigan State Chamber of Commerce because several special honor guests could not attend on that date.

Tickets for the 6 p.m. dinner and program are $7.50 per person and are available from the State Chamber, 215 S. Washington, Lansing, 48933.

NWF Convention

The 32nd annual meeting of the National Wildlife Federation will be held in Houston, Texas, March 8-10, 1968.

GOURMET TOUCH — Hunting for a new way to serve that economical hamburg? Try this gourmet treat — Hamburg Steak with Sour Cream Meringue and be sure of the compliments.

Transform Some of That Gift Fruit

Turn some of your Christmas bounty of oranges, grapefruit, and lemons into marmalade to make them last longer.

Bushel basket gifts, fragrant reminders of groves in Florida or California, are wonderful to receive, but sometimes hard to consume before they spoil. Preserve your treasure via the marmalade jar for your family—and for those lucky friends on your gift list.

Marmalade is not at all difficult because powdered fruit pectin insures a set without the long slow cooking. The reason for shaving and discarding the white membrane from the peel is to eliminate the bitter taste.

Once you've simmered the strips of citrus peel with soda to soften them a little, it's clear sailing for making the Three-Fruit Marmalade.

Three-Fruit Marmalade

4 cups prepared fruit (1 medium orange, 1 medium grapefruit, 1 medium lemon, 1 cup sugar, 1½ cups water, and ⅛ teaspoon baking soda)
3½ cups (1 lb., 10 oz.) sugar
1 box (1¾ oz.) powdered fruit pectin

First prepare the fruit. Remove skins in quarters from 1 orange, 1 grapefruit, and 1 lemon. Lay quarters flat; shave off and discard about half of white part.

With a sharp knife or scissors, slice, chop, or grind remaining rind very fine. Add 1 cup sugar, the water, and soda. Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 20 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Section or chop peeled fruit; discard seeds. From grapefruit also discard core and tough membrane. Add pulp and juice to undrained cooked rind. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan.

Measure 3½ cups sugar; set aside. Add fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan; mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil.

Cook gently 1 minute. At once stir in all sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim for 7 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit.

Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover at once with ⅛-inch hot parrafin. Makes about 8 medium glasses.

Fold in Last

Where whites of eggs are stiffly beaten and folded into cake dough, at the last moment, the cake will be a little lighter, but has the disadvantage of drying out more quickly.

When making candy that has cream in the recipe always cook it in a large sauce pan.

With Sour Cream

Frost Hamburger

All homemakers know the economy of ground beef and also the problems of varying it enough to keep family appetites from becoming weary. Hamburg Steak with Sour Cream Meringue is just the answer to livening your menu . . . with economy.

This broiled hamburg steak is seasoned delicately with bouillon, poultry seasoning, Worcestershire sauce and blended with eggs. The Sour Cream Meringue raises this steak from the mediocre to a real specialty of the house!

Egg whites are beaten until stiff and tangy fresh dairy sour cream is folded in. Spread on the meat and broiled until lightly browned, this is a real taste treat!

HAMBURG STEAK WITH SOUR CREAM MERINGUE

2 beef bouillon cubes
¾ cup milk
1½ pounds ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten

Sour Cream Meringue

2 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup dairy sour cream
Paprika

In a small saucepan, heat bouillon cubes with milk until dissolved. Combine milk mixture, beef, salt, poultry seasoning, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and egg yolks; mix lightly.

Place mixture on heatproof platter; pat in shape of a steak about 1½ inches thick. Broil about 5 minutes on each side or until desired doneness.

Meanwhile make Sour Cream Meringue. Beat egg whites until frothy; add salt and beat until stiff but not dry. Gently fold in sour cream until just blended (do not overblend). Spread on meat immediately.

Broil an additional minute or until lightly browned. Sprinkle with paprika; serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Be Different: Serve Anise as Vegetable

Anise, Fennel or Finocchio are names used to identify the pearly-white bulb with feathery-like greens leaves. It appears in the markets from October through April.

★ ★ ★

California grows Anise commercially and in the same areas as artichokes. It is a lesser-known vegetable, but can be found in markets that cater to families of Italian descent. Anise is one of their favorite holiday vegetables.

★ ★ ★

The mild licorice-like flavored bulb can be eaten raw or cooked. The blub separates like celery but the individual stalks are wider.

★ ★ ★

It can be, the "what is it?" item on the raw relish plate when cut into sticks. The bulb can be sliced and used as a salad combined with a mild vinaigrette dressing. The garnish can be bits of pimiento or grated hard cooked egg yolks.

★ ★ ★

Anise can be cooked like celery and served as the hot vegetable.

Soft Custard Divider for Two Layers

Here's a new way to make that old favorite, Floating Island. Serve it after lunch or dinner, or as the glamour dessert with coffee when friends come in after dinner for coffee and dessert.

APPLE FLOATING ISLAND

1 can (1 lb.-9-oz.) apple pie filling*
Soft Custard
Meringue

Chill apple pie filling; turn into shallow serving dish. Pour custard over filling. Slip meringue carefully on top. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

★ ★ ★

*This filling consists of apples, sugar, spices, etc. Not to be confused with canned pie sliced apples.

Soft Custard

2 cups milk
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
4 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla

Scald milk; add sugar and salt. Stir to dissolve sugar. Beat egg yolks slightly. Add milk mixture. Cook over hot water, stirring, until custard coats spoon. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Chill.

Meringue

4 egg whites
¾ cup sugar

Grease deep 8-inch layer cake pan*. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Add sugar slowly while continuing to beat until stiff and glossy. Swirl meringue in cake pan, piling high.

Bake at 325 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes or until delicately tipped with brown. Carefully remove meringue and slip into dessert dish on top of custard.

*A pan with a removable bottom makes it much easier to remove the meringue.

Original Idea

Coat pared, thinly sliced tart apples with lemon juice and sugar and turn into colorful little bowls, such as Chinese rice bowls. Saute' slivered almonds in butter until golden, drain and sprinkle over apples. Add a dollop of dairy sour cream and a few shakes of pepper.

Cream Soup Is Nice on Eggs

For lion-size March appetites spread 4 slices white toast with 1 4¾-oz. can chicken spread. Top each slice with 4 hard-cooked eggs, quartered. Place in a warm oven.

★ ★ ★

Heat a 10½-oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup to boiling, pour over eggs. Sprinkle with paprika and serve immediately. Serves 4 hefty sandwiches.

Left-over stew may be turned into an excellent meat pie or casserole.

The whole town is talking about Farmer Jack's low, low prices...

...and here's what these folks have to say!

"Farmer Jack's has been my store ever since it opened, because the prices are so much less! Why, each item is three to five cents less per can than at the other stores I've been, and that adds up to a lot!"

Mrs. E. Rogers,
Detroit

"I've been shopping at Farmer Jack's for about a year, and I've found that the prices are definitely lower—especially in the grocery department, where each item is less than at the other stores!"

Mrs. Gloria Brown,
Detroit

"I like the prices at Farmer Jack's—they're so low that I've been coming here since it opened two years ago! I wouldn't shop anyplace else but at Farmer Jack's."

Mrs. John M. Roth,
Detroit

"I think the prices at Farmer Jack's are really lower—I'm very satisfied, particularly when I compare them to other stores!"

Mrs. Hildegard Kinnra,
Detroit

State Bill Seeks Death Penalty for Riot Snipers

LANSING (UPI) — A Detroit Democrat is proposing that Michigan's constitution be amended to allow death penalties for snipers convicted of killing during a "riot or civil disorder."

State Rep. E. D. O'Brien, backed by seven Republicans and seven other Democrats, readied a bill for introduction today. If passed by the Legislature and the people, it would allow capital punishment in Michigan for th first time ni 122 years.

"It is my opinion that the only way to stop this new form of violence is to make the penalty so tough no one will commit this crime," O'Brien said. "For those that do, and are convicted, there shouldn't be any second opportunity.

The 1963 Michigan Contitution prohibits the death penalty for any crime. It had been abolished for all crimes but treason by an 1846 law that stood until 1963. O'Brien's amendment would continue the total ban "except for persons convicted of sniping during a riot or civil disorder."

* * *

"Snipers could, and should, expect to die while committing their crime," he said. "I see no reason to disappoint them if they live to be convicted."

The bill would have to pass by a two-thirds vote in each house to get on the November ballot. It has little chance.

A small mosquito - like insect known as the chironomid midge may be used to combat water pollution. The insect feeds on oxygen - consuming materials in water.

Yearly School?

PORTAGE (AP) — The Portage School Board has ordered a study made on the possibility of extending the school term here to cover a full 12 months yearly. Portage, a Kalamazoo suburb, has approximately 10,000 pupils in its schools.

Soon there will be almost 13 million young people in the 16-21 age group, available for the labor force in the U.S.

Bookkeeper Is Indicted

DETROIT (AP) — A Ypsilanti bookkeeper, Mrs. Mary McKee, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Detroit Tuesday on 28 counts of will fully preparing false income taxe returns for clients, without their knowledge.

Mrs. McKee was accused of understating income, overstating expenses, claiming fictitious dependents, and reporting false transactions on returns in 1965 and 1966.

* * *

The Internal Revenue Service said the erroneous items decreased various tax returns by $47,104.87. Mrs. McKee operates a bookkeeping and income tax service in Ypsilanti. Conviction on all 28 counts could result in a maximum jail sentence of 84 years and fines of $140,000.

Cooking School Is a Happening

WINS RANGE—Mrs. Barry Schram, 86 Charles Lane, and D. A. Dunkelberg of Consumers Power Co. hold the winning ticket drawn last night for this Roper Gas Range. Mrs. Schram who has been married three years can't believe it's really hers.

ELECTRONIC ACCORDION — Frank Venice of Venice Music Center, Bloomfield Miracle Mile, plays a Cordovox electronic accordion at sessions of the cooking school.

VISITOR — Here on a visit from Phoenix, Ariz. is former resident, Mrs. Norris Luxom. She attended The Pontiac Press cooking school yesterday afternoon.

Photos by Edward Noble and Rolf Winter

BACKSTAGE — "Pixies in the kitchen" are a reality at cooking school. Mrs. E. H. Everett, 141 Osceola (left) and Mrs. James Shover, 105 Home do some of the preliminary cooking and the cleanup at each session on the stage at Pontiac Central High School.

RELAXING — Karen Jones of 1923 Marie Circle (left) and Carmella Roselli, 657 Raskob, check the food supply backstage after they have completed their modeling stint for RB Shops fashion show. When the Tel-Huron store displayed the latest clothes, the models were chosen from among the store's customers.

DEBUT — Sara Bayard, new senior home economist at Consumers Power Co. makes her debut at a Press cooking school. She gave her first demonstration last night.

ON THE ROPES — Alford Walker, 17 Gillespie, senior at Pontiac Central High School, has assisted at The Press cooking school for several years.

A NOTE OF GLAMOUR — Lavonne Reschke, Pine Lake, injects a glamourous moment in the middle of cooking school. Modeling for Alvin's, she briefly hid this hot pink bikini under a full length mink coat.

QUICK NAP — Lance Molander, 2456 Sanders takes a quick snooze before the demonstrations on cooking begin. His wife is amused that the photographer happened along right now. Molander was a good sport about it all.

WINS HEATER—Mrs. Alfred M. Vallad, 755 Alberta and William Freshour of Consumers Power Co. discuss the water heater she won Tuesday at The Press Cooking School. As soon as the school is over, the heater will be installed in the Vallad home.

DELIGHTED — This White Sewing machine from Household Appliance Co. makes Mrs. Edythe I. Cline, 161 College, Avon Township, very happy. Having just moved into a mobile home and given away her old machine, she is now all set for a sewing session.

EARLY ARRIVALS — Waiting on the stairs for the doors to open, the crowd sips Coke, supplied by Coca Cola Bottling Company. Those who come without tickets have to wait just a little longer, but everyone has found a seat.

HELPER — Mrs. Roy Overbaugh, Sylvan Lake, continues her usual job of assisting the home economists from Consumers Power Co.

GOP Favored to Win State Senate Race

HOLLAND (AP) — Republican Gary Byker of Hudsonville is considered a heavy favorite to defeat Democrat Chester J. Harmsen Feb. 19 in a special election to fill the 23rd District State Senate seat vacated by the recent death of Sen. Harold J. Volkema, R-Holland.

Byker, 47, a real estate agent and a member of the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors, polled 31 per cent of the 28,584 votes cast Tuesday in the Republican primary and led his nearest opponent by more than 3,600 votes.

★ ★ ★

Byker drew 28.6 per cent of the 30,950 votes cast by all voters in the heavily Republican area.

The 52 - year - old Harmsen, a Holland labor leader, received 1,347 votes in the Democratic primary compared with 1,018 for his only opponent, Glen E. Mape of Plainwell.

8,847 VOTES

Byker, a graduate of Calvin College in Grand Rapids, topped a list of 13 candidates with a total of 8,847 votes, as opposed to 5,174 for the No. 2 man, former State Sen. Frederic Hilbert, 55, of Wayland.

Ottawa County Sheriff Bernard Gryson finished third with 3,636 votes followed by Ivan Stein, a South Haven fruit farmer, with 2,865 and Raymond Holworda, a Holland school official, with 2,452.

★ ★ ★

None of the other eight candidates drew over 2,000 votes.

Byker was elected to the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors in 1966 and is a member of the Sheriff's Committee and is chairman of the Youth Home Committee.

MAJOR ROLE

Active in civic affairs in Hudsonville, he served two years on the Hudsonville Planning Commission and played a major role in the campaign to change Hudsonville from a village to a city.

Harmson is a business representative for the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (AFL-CIO).

★ ★ ★

A production worker at Hart & Cooley at Holland for 18 years, Harmsen is active as civic services chairman for the AFL-CIO Labor Council and serves on the statewide committee.

He is on the executive board of the United Fund drive at Holland and is a member of the board of directors of Kandu Industries, Inc., Grand Haven.

Here is the total vote cast for the last eight finishers in the Republican primary John R. Walhout, 1,694; Robert Schouerle, 1,436; Keith VanKoovering, 1,068; Lambert Ekster, 415; John J. Axe, 325; Mary Lou Form, 318; Alvin R. Geerlings, 205; Peter DeKraker, 149.

Memorials may be sent to Unity-Center of Birmingham.

Rats Plague Lansing's New State Complex

LANSING (AP) — The state has a pied piper working to clear rats out of its new $28-million State Capitol building complex at Lansing.

A. N. Languis, director of the State Building Division, explained that the rats moved in to the new buildings now under construction from old buildings that had been razed in the area.

★ ★ ★

"Any time you have new construction, you will have rats around," Langius said. "Especially if there is any food around — as when workmen leave part of their lunches."

John Gafner, chief of the Property Management Division, added that rats took refuge in the new buildings behind the State Capitol with the first cold snap on the winter.

★ ★ ★

"They come out of sewers and places like that and look for warmth," Gafner said.

Bus Patronage Was Down in '67

City bus service lines experienced a drop of 73,000 passengers during 1967 compared to the previous year, according to figures presented last night to the City Commission.

The report for the month of December shows that the Pontiac Transit Corp. had 54,119 passengers taken 31,121 miles at an average fare of 27 cents.

This compares with a November total of 54,285 passengers, 31,783 miles and a 27-cent average fare.

While passengers were down from December 1966, the average fare was up in comparison. During December 1966, there were 64,202 passengers, 28,979 miles and a 22-cent average fare.

★ ★ ★

December 1967, revenue was $14,477; December 1966, revenue was $14,381.

TRUSTEE RESIGNS

City commissioners, dealing with an agenda shortened for lengthy public hearing of a proposed open-housing ordinance, last night:

- Accepted the resignation of Robert T. Flynn of 138 Ogemaw from the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.
- Approved sale of $1,015,000 in temporary urban renewal project R44 loan notes to the lowest of five bidders, First National City Bank of New York, which quoted an interest rate of 3.38 per cent.
- Took under advisement a request for a new Class C (sale by the glass) liquor license at 22 W. Montcalm.
- Approved a new SDM (take-out, spirits and beer) license for a Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. store at 775 Baldwin, to be opened soon.
- Referred to the planning commission a request to rezone 8 and 14 Glenwood and 577 N. Perry to commercial classification, and a request for creation of a 60-stall parking lot south of West Huron frontage just east of Telegraph along the alley right-of-way.

Naval Chief Explains Why Arnheiter Backer Lost Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of naval operations says Capt. Richard G. Alexander's actions on behalf of an officer stripped of command made it clear Alexander himself wasn't "qualified to command a ship in the Navy."

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer said of Alexander: "I did not have confidence in his judgment and, therefore, did not consider him qualified to command a ship in the Navy."

★ ★ ★

Alexander had been named to command the reactivated battleship New Jersey but was relieved and reassigned to a desk job after publicly supporting the cause of Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter.

Arnheiter was captain of a radar picket ship patrolling the waters off Vietnam when he was relieved of command following complaints from junior officers about the way he maintained discipline. The Navy said he showed "gross lack of judgment and inability to command and lead people."

'UNBECOMING REMARKS'

Moorer said Alexander wrote to Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius defending Arnheiter "with remarks unbecoming a senior officer of the Navy."

★ ★ ★

It ws an "emotional and somewhat intemperate" letter, Moorer said, which impugned the motives and questioned the "competence, integrity and courage" of several officers involved in the Arnheiter case.

★ ★ ★

"I could only conclude from his action that he believed the leadership of the Navy would not arrive at a fair and proper decision in the absence of the pressure of public opinion," the naval operations chief said.

Moorer's comments were in a letter written Dec. 30 to Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C. of the House Armed Services Committee. t was released Tuesday by Ignatius.

★ ★ ★

Ignatius recently rejected Arnheiter's bid for a rehearing of his own case. Arnheiter, now stationed in San Francisco, is appealing through federal court action.

OCCEO to Hear Report on Trip

Reports from Washington will be heard at tonight's 7:30 meeting of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) at the Hayes Jones Community Center, 235 Wessen.

A delegation from the county recently returned from a trip to the capital where it visited Sargent Shriver, director of OEO. The delegation inquired about Head Start funds and other pre-school programs.

★ ★ ★

It was announced recently that applications from the county for programs this summer had been turned down due to lack of funds.

The OCCEO will also consider implementation of its reorganization plan. The makeup of the commission had to be changed due to recent Congressional acts.

★ ★ ★

One of the changes called for is having 17 public officials on the OCCEO. Previously only five were serving, meaning some groups with representatives will lose them.

A ship, with a compressed air pressure system, may be able in the near future to carry cargo protected from damage by layers of air between the containers.

Expected revenue: $1,337,065,000.

Expected State Treasury surpluses: $24.2 million on July 1, 1968; $27.2 million on July 1, 1969.

Economic outlook for the next 18 months: "favorable." Romney said upturns in the auto and construction industries should boost state tax revenues and encourage new consumer spending.

But he warned federal government decisions and policies, including President Johnson's proposed tax increase, will influence Michigan's economy.

Major revenue sources: Personal income tax, $272.7 million (20 per cent of total revenue); sales and use taxes, $343.7 million (25.3 per cent); corporate income tax, $230 million (16.9 per cent); corporate franchise fees, $106.7 million (7.8 per cent).

Major spending items: education (including school aid and universities) $705.7 million (52.9 per cent of total); social services (welfare), $219.8 million (16.5 per cent); mental health, $157.8 million (11.8 per cent); State Police and National Guard, $32.4 million (2.4 per cent); property tax exemptions, $30.6 million (2.3 per cent).

How major agencies fared:

● Education: Romney recommended a total increase of $79.4 million in school aid with $55.4 million coming from the general fund — the second-highest school aid boost in state history.

★ ★ ★

Of the total, $47.8 million would be absorbed in an across-the-board per-pupil boost, $10.5 million in special programs (including $5 million for underprivileged youngsters), and $21.1 million for school employe retirement systems.

● Colleges and universities: total recommended appropriation of $310.4 million, compared with the $447.3 million they requested.

Michigan's 11 four-year public schools are in line for $299,085,895 in operating appropriations and another $56 million in capital outlay money. Romney recommended $25.2 million for junior and community colleges.

The three major universities' suggested operating appropriations and the amount each requested are: Michigan State, $62.3 million ($70.3 million); Michigan, $64.7 million ($75.6 million; Wayne State, $38.77 million ($44.6 million).

● Law and order: $4 million more for State Police to allow addition of 20 detectives and 225 troopers, new communications equipment and more training. An added $200,000 for the attorney general and $139,000 for the Department of Military Affairs.

● Mental health: a spending increase of $20 million over the current year, of which $13 million is needed to maintain programs at their existing levels.

★ ★ ★

● Social services: another $30.9 million, of which $25.8 million is to continue present programs. Medicaid and Aid to Dependent Children will absorb most of the new money.

State Police Budget Hike Is Proposed

LANSING (AP) — The impact of riots last summer and a general increase in crime in the streets are underscored by a $5.5-million increased appropriation for State Police asked in his budget message today by Gov. George Romney.

"This administration is pledged to take such steps as are necessary to curb violence on our streets and reverse a mounting disrespect for law and order," Romney said in his budget message.

★ ★ ★

The governor asked for a $5.5 million increase in the general fund appropriation for State Police, up 23 per cent from the current year. The $29.38 million asked compared with $23.76 million appropriated for the current fiscal year. State Police had asked for $40.1 million for their department.

ADD MANPOWER

Romney said the increase would provide for adding 225 more State Police troopers in addition to more nonuniform police personel. Present trooper strength is 1,352 men.

It also would provide for major expansion in the State Police law enforcement training program.

★ ★ ★

The governor said $1 million should be spent on the training program, at present financed only by $200,000 collected from fines.

Romney said the total could be made up from $250,000 from fines, $250,000 from a direct appropriation and $500,000 from a pending federal "safe streets" appropriation.

RIOT TRAINING

The governor said this could train 4,000 men for riot control—40 per cent of the local State Police forces.

Under the program, law enforcement officers from local police and sheriff's departments are given riot training with the state paying half the cost.

★ ★ ★

Romney noted there had been a court decision questioning the constitutionality of using the fine money for such training.

"Quite apart from this legal issue," he said, "this deserving program needs increased support, particularly to train local officers in riot control and crime prevention."

ADD DETECTIVES

The increase asked for State Police also would be used for establishment of a State Police organized crime unit, for additional detectives for a juvenile program, for a criminal justice study system and for new communications equipment.

In a related move, $200,000 in additional funds was asked for the state attorney general's office. About $170,000, Romney said, would be earmarked for such purposes as investigation and prosecution of organized crime, protection of the public from fraud and illegal charitable solicitations as well as effective enforcement of new tax laws.

In a related move, the governor asked for $2.77 million for the State Civil Rights Commission, up from the current $1.39 million appropriation.

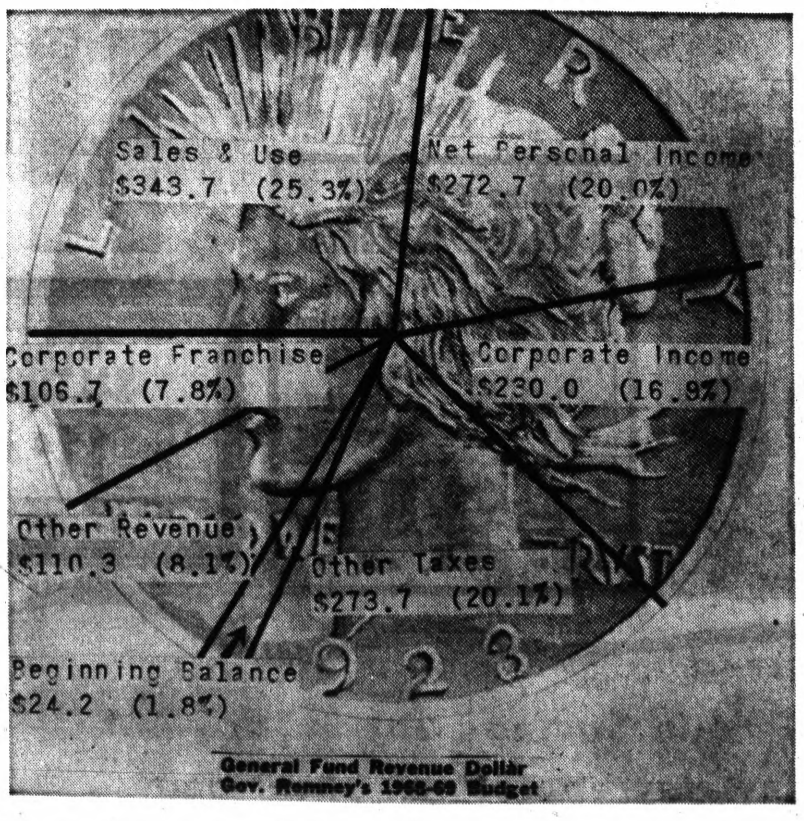
The governor said $300,000 more was needed to continue operations at a current level, plus $1.1 million for a substantial improvement.

TO CUT BACKLOG

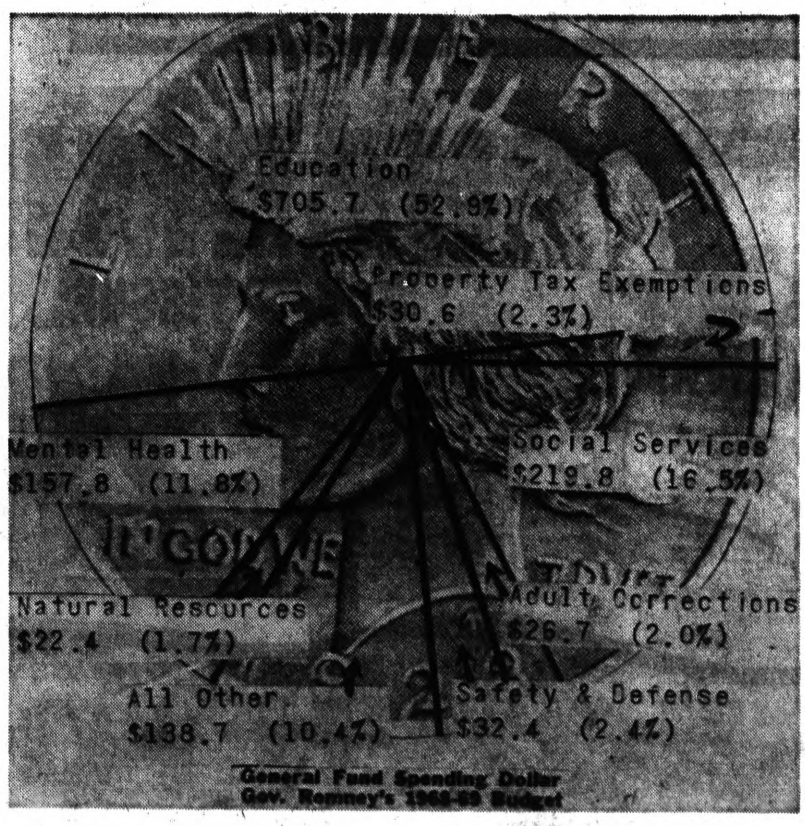
Goals, the governor said, are reduction of the current backlog of cases, addition of seven new local offices to the current 12 and grants to local human relations councils or similar groups.

Added funds also would be used to strengthen the agency's education and housing programs.

Where It Comes From . . .



. . . And Where It Goes



Governor Boosts 2 Huge Bonding Programs

LANSING (AP) — Michigan citizens will be asked to pass on two massive bonding programs —$335 million for water purification and $100 million for state park land acquisitions, recreation and a fish planting program.

"Bold, immediate action is necessary," Gov. George Romney declared in his budget message today in asking for the $335 million for water purification. The proposed bonding program would be used over a 30-year period.

★ ★ ★

"Michigan's most precious heritage—water — is threatened by contamination," the governor said. "Over 900 miles of water are degraded by untreated or inadequately treated waste from municipalities. Unless remedial steps are quickly taken, Lake Michigan will become a 'dead lake'."

The Legislature will have to pass separate bills to put the issue on the November election ballot. The people then will decide if they want to spend the money by voting on the two separate proposals.

BY 1980

Goal of the $335-million water purification bonding program is to clean up Michigan's lakes, streams and rivers by 1980.

The money will be used to aid and encourage the building and improvement of local sewage treatment plants and interceptor sewers. Romney said it is hoped the project can be paid for 25 per cent by the state, 25 per cent by the federal government.

★ ★ ★

But the governor admitted:

"The federal government share, although authorized by Congress, is not funded and doubt exists as to when such funding will be made."

As part of the program, Romney proposed a $50-million revolving loan fund to aid smaller communities who might have difficulty financing their 25 per cent.

MAY BE UNNEEDED

If the federal government funds come through as hoped, Romney said, it is possible all the remaining $285 million in the bonding program may not have to be spent.

The $100-million bond issue for fisheries, park land acquisition and recreation would be used over a 10-year period.

Romney said it is hoped an additional $40 million in federal grants and $30 million from local communities to match state aid for local recreation will make the total $170 million.

The state's share in the $10 million would be split up between $17.7 million for fisheries, $40.8 million for parks, $4 million for forest campgrounds, $7.5 million for wildlife improvement and management and $30 million for local recreation grants.

Unique to the program, Romney said, is the proposal for $30 million to local units of government for such items as swimming pools, athletic fields and parks in congested urban areas.

The park goal includes the acquisition of 6,000 new camp sites and day use parking facilities for 18,000 more cars.

The wildlife program would include deer habitat improvement and new and expanded game areas, including duck shooting preserves, in southern Michigan.

Romney noted the "spectacular success" of the salmon planting program.

"Lake Huron and Lake Michigan have increasingly become a sportsman's delight and an exciting new attraction has been added to our tourist industry," he said.

Romney said the fish program would include the construction of three new hatcheries to expand annual planting capacity by about 20 million fish for the sports fisheries program and to assist in the control of alewives.

★ ★ ★

The forest land acquisition program in the package is planned to add 1,500 new camp sites and some 1,000 miles of roads and trails.

Cost of the combined annual payment of the two bond issues, Romney said, would be about $24.4 million a year.

★ ★ ★

The over-all budget request for the State Conservation Department is $31.49 million, down from the $32.6 million for the current fiscal year.

The reduction is mostly because it is assumed the major expansion in the parks, recreation and fisheries programs would be taken care of by the bond issue.

Griffin to Join N.H. Stumping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney is enlisting Michigan congressional allies to join his New Hampshire presidential primary campaign.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said he plans to go to New Hampshire in Romney's behalf, and some of Michigan's new Republican House members also may go.

Romney returns to New Hampshire tonight for his second campaigning stint in preparation for the March 12 primary. He will be there until Sunday.

Griffin said he told Romney he will do anything he can to help in the race for the nation's first presidential primary. "I'll just pitch in wherever I can," he said.

The senator said Romney also mentioned the possibility that some of the new House members might take part in the campaign, probably in its later stages.

Griffin said part of his New Hampshire mission would be to remind Republican voters that Romney proved in that race he can help other GOP candidates win elections.

Nightclub Sets Snake Wake

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A snake wake will be held tonight at a nightclub.

One of the club's partners, Jim Platt, said 300 engraved invitations have been mailed inviting patrons to the wake for Nero, the deceased six-foot long boa constrictor and dancing partner of Miss Ellen, one of the club's entertainers.

★ ★ ★

Six go-go dancers will serve as bearers. Platt will deliver the eulogy.

Computer Tests Chevy Brakes

Things come to a screeching halt when Chevrolet test drivers push the computerized "panic button" on the brake track at the General Motors Proving Ground near Milford.

It's all planned that way to help develop safe, sure brakes for the cars and trucks of today and the future.

The "panic button" in this case triggers a complex electronic-hydraulic machine which serves as the brain, foot and memory of the driver in brake tests.

The device eliminates the human factor, braking a vehicle—from any speed — without the driver touching the pedal. At the same time, such data as pedal pressure and travel, velocity, deceleration, time and brake line pressure are measured and recorded on charts.

To the Chevrolet Engineering Test Group, the Model 9 Brake Testing Instrument, or M9, is an important tool in efficiency and durability experiments.

It can be "instructed" to brake a vehicle under accurate, predetermined circumstances. It always follows "orders" to the letter and will repeat a test time after time under exactly the same instructions.

The M9 consists of three main components: an applicator, control unit and a recorder.

The applicator, serving as the "foot of the brake," is clamped to the steering column and the brake pedal. It is triggered by a thumb button held by the driver.

The control unit, installed on the floor of the front passenger compartment, contains the electronic and hydraulic equipment, the brains of the machine. Above it on the seat is the "memory," the recorder which measures and charts test data in red and green ink on graph paper.

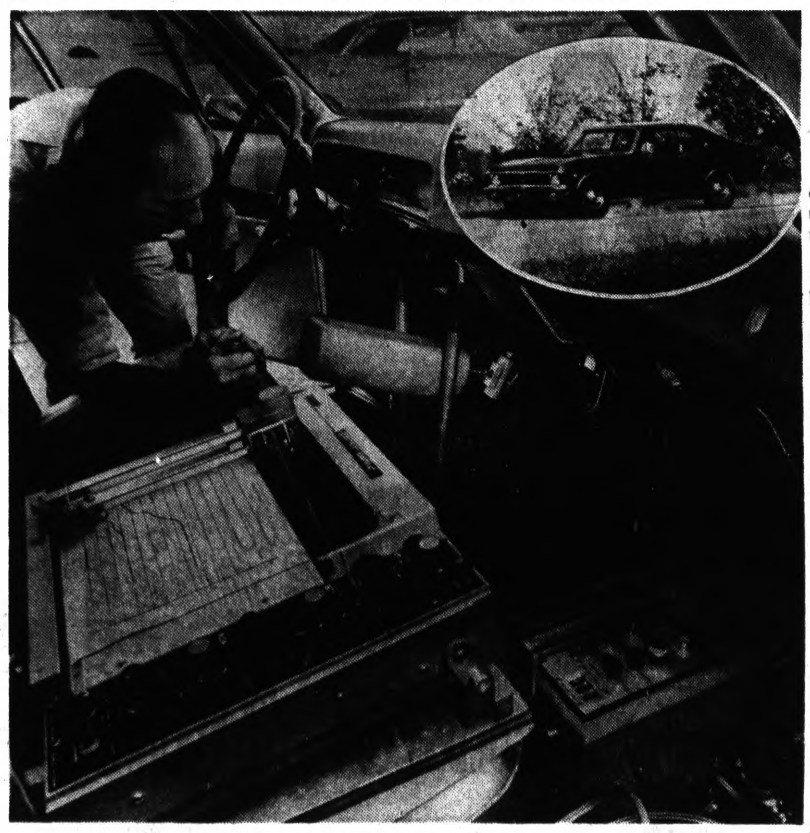
Instructions, such as pedal pressure per second, are dialed into the control unit. The driver takes the car to the track reserved for such tests and brings the vehicle up to the desired test speed.

Then he trips the button; the M9 takes over; tires squeal; the car stops. There on the recorder is all the information ready for evaluation by engineers.

The M9 is especially valuable in brake durability checks for it can duplicate a test at intervals over a long period of time.

Data from a series of identical tests over thousands of miles and several months give precise information on efficiency and durability of brake materials and design.

The M9 has other characteristics which have won the hearts of the Chevrolet test group. It is always ready for action, never chatters to the driver and never turns up with a tired foot.



PUSH-BUTTON BRAKES—Precise brake tests are conducted by the Chevrolet Engineering Test Group with the electronic-hydraulic instrument (above), installed in a 1968 Chevy II. Checking out the instrument prior to a durability-test at the General Motors Proving Ground near Milford is Chevrolet driver Eugene W. Thompson. Fast-braking car (inset) indicates what happens when the driver "clicks the button" of the instrument at high speed. The machine takes over, stops the car without the driver touching the brake pedal, measuring and recording test data simultaneously.

Booklet Has Data on Car's Air-Cooling

Did you know that a car's air-conditioner and heater can be used simultaneously — to clear the windows of fog?

Do you realize that a heavy-duty radiator, special fan and heavier shock absorbers help an auto air-conditioner function better?

Do you know how to identify a "certified" auto air-conditioner and what the certification means?

All these matters are covered in a new booklet, "What to Look for When You Buy Automotive Air-Conditioning."

The pamphlet was prepared by the National Better Business Bureau and the Automotive Air-Conditioning Association, a national trade group.

It is aimed at the increasing number of car owners purchasing air-conditioners for their autos. Cars sold with factory-installed air-conditioning have quadrupled in number since 1958.

The increase in after-market air-conditioners is even more striking than the jump in factory-installed models. In the past nine years, the number of separate auto air-conditioning units installed on unequipped new cars or on older cars has jumped to about 12 times the 1958 total.

Chevy Claiming Its Share of Racing Headlines

Auto makers kept competing on the race tracks during 1967, with Ford and Chrysler grabbing most of the headlines.

Despite continued assertions that it is upholding the nearly archaic Automotive Manufacturers' Association ban on such competition, the Chevrolet Marque has been making more and more prominent appearances at major tracks around the world.

Probably the most significant crack in Chevrolet's official abstinence from the racing world was the appearance of a Chevrolet Camaro as the pace car at the Indianapolis 500 mile race.

Chevrolet general manager E.M. (Pete) Estes, answering inquiries on the recent activity, says that too many people have been reading too much into the Chevrolet pace car effort.

That may be true. But it's hard to read too much into the fact that:

★ ★ ★

A Chevelle prepared by Smokey Yunick of Daytona Beach, Fla., and driven by old pro Curtis Turner of Charlotte, N.C., turned in a qualifying average of 180.831 miles per hour, a track record. This despite the best factory efforts of Chrysler and Ford in the premier race of the stock car season, an unheard of feat for a pure "independent" race operation.

EQUAL FOOTING

Jim Hall and his Chaparrals continued to compete almost on equal footing with the best efforts of Ford and Ferrari in big-time road racing.

Chevrolet followed the rules of the Sports Car Club of America on a special 305-cubic-inch displacement engined Camaro—a size the division did not produce—to compete in the popular Trans - American Sedan series for domestic sports cars such as Barracuda, Mustang, Camaro, Mercury, Cougar and others.

Old Chevy fan Mickey Thompson showed at the Indianapolis Speedway with a radical car powered by a stock block Chevrolet engine. Thompson's effort, it was maintained, was mounted without factory help, and the results indicated that may well have been true. He did not qualify for the race.

Rumors have been rampant that Chevrolet will soon make a formal return to racing. They may or may not be true. No matter what happens it appears that the giant of General Motors will continue to be a dominant factor in the sport either above or under the table.

AMC IN ACT

Another new entry, although on a much smaller scale, is American Motors. In an apparent effort to bolster its sales and change its image, AMC has begun playing the performance tune.

Available as a dealer-installed option is a high-performance kit for the Rambler car for those who want to try drag racing.

Probably the biggest indication of AMC's interest is a fuel-burning "funny car"—a stock body drag car that burns exotic fuels such as nitromethane instead of gasoline.

The car is campaigned by a private individual rather than by the factory itself, but it seems apparent that AMC has more than a passing interest.

$1 MILLION

Hot Rod Magazine said recently that AMC had committed $1 million toward performance.

No matter what's down the automotive competition road, 1967 has proved to be an exciting year in the sport.

Ford rapidly is becoming the Green Bay Packers of the auto racing world.

★ ★ ★

It has the equipment; it has an all-star driver lineup; it has the money to spend; and, most importantly, it has an uncanny ability to win the big ones.

IN SLUMP

Although its team average is slumping badly, the Dearborn, Mich., giant has roared to victory in the major race of virtually every form of the sport in which it participates.

At Indianapolis, it was A.J. Foyt, who saw a sure second place finish turn into victory in the biggest race of them all when a turbine-powered roadster, fielded by Andy Granatelli and driven by Parnelli Jones, failed with less than 10 miles left of the 500 mile grind.

At LeMans, France, Foyt and Dan Gurney teamed in a Ford Mark IV race car to run away with victory in the 24-hour endurance classic.

At Daytona Beach in the world series of stock car racing, the Daytona 500, Mario Andretti pushed a 1967 Ford Fairlane to victory.

And in big league drag racing, Ford-powered fuel dragsters soared to top fuel eliminator victories in the National Hot Rod Association Winternationals at Pomona, Calif., and Springnationals at Bristol, Tenn.

In between the big wins, Ford has had its share of knocks.

The first thump came at the Daytona Continental—the first of the big three road races, Daytona, Sebring, Fla., and LeMans. In 1966, Ford grabbed all three, and the smart money expected the American firm to beat Ferrari again this year.

But when the checkered flag fell at the end of 24 hours, Ferraris were running 1-2-3. The problem proved to be failure of a transmission part procured from an outside supplier.

Next up was Sebring, and Ford instituted a crash program to develop a new car. The result was the Mark IV that Andretti and Bruce McLaren drove to victory in the 12-hour race. There was no factory entry from Ferrari, but the Chaparrals gave Ford a battle until both of the Chevrolet-powered cars went out with mechanical failures.

Then came LeMans and the Foyt Gurney win to preserve Ford's domination of road racing. However, due to the fact Ford is mounting efforts in only those three races, it appears that the German entry, Porsche, will end up the season with the manufacturer's title.

Ford's international racing woes are apparently just starting. A new rule has been instituted that limits engine displacement for the prototype class to 305 cubic inches. Since the Ford effort has been based on a 427-cubic-inch engine, that leaves them with a fleet of potentially swift cars with no engines. The rule goes into effect next year.

CHEER FROM COMPETITOR — Gordon Johncock, who had just walked away from his wrecked car, cheers A. J. Foyt, who went on to win the 1967 Indianapolis 500-mile speedway race.

Auto Test Programs Are Staggering

Multiply the 377 different models of American cars by the approximately 15,000 individual parts in each one and the result is a staggering test program of 5½ million components covering 75 million miles a year.

That's the complex, expensive and never-ending task confronting the test divisions of the nation's auto makers, who annually spend hundreds of millions of dollars and run up countless thousands of man-hours to make the family car as safe as possible.

No company has come up with an absolute crashproof machine, but they're all working to produce a comfortable, reliable, durable, safe car that retains the glitter and glamor to make it salable, too.

Cars hurtling into steel and concrete walls at 60 miles per hour, relief drivers working night and day putting a single model through a continuous test of 40,000 torturous miles, and the heads of life-size dummies smashing into glass windshields: These are just a few of the myriad tests run at the proving grounds of the nation's Big Four.

★ ★ ★

The results of such tests do pay off, handsomely, to the American public.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Such recent safety devices as energy-absorbing steering columns, better windshield glass, dual brake systems, front seat headrests, stronger door locks, and softer interior padding all contribute immeasurably to auto safety.

The four major car makers — General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors—have their own private "road system" for testing.

It totals more than 200 miles at eight test tracks, plus more than a million square feet of laboratory space and a combined testing area of nearly 20,000 acres.

★ ★ ★

All of this testing adds up to quite an expense item. Chrysler Corp., for example, spends $76 million a year in testing.

Further broadening the overall testing efforts are the independent tests made by many of the suppliers of auto components.

Goodyear, largest of the tire makers, spend $405 million annually in checking out new rubber compounds, fabrics and designs for tires.

The Goodyear program involves 261 persons, 182 vehicles, private test tracks in Texas, laboratory "torture machines" for a whopping total of 84.5 million tire miles of testing each year.

In the process literally hundreds of experimental tire models are either scrapped or sent back to the drawing board.

DESIGN CHANGES

Since 1960, industry sources say, tire durability has increased considerably through improved rubber compounds and such design changes as going from four-ply tires to tires with two plies of extra large cord.

The use of larger cord, but fewer layers of fabric, helps tires run cooler, a prime factor in safety.

Each such change in tires is preceded by millions of miles of testing.

This industry testing has paid off, too, despite the fact that 52,500 persons were killed and 3 million injured in auto accidents last year.

It's difficult to imagine that the death rate 30 years ago ran 15.9 per hundred-million miles while the current figure stands at only 5.6.

Factory tests weigh heavily in this reduction. Chrysler spent nearly 30 per cent of its net profits for safety research, and its test program has grown from a staff of 35 people in a small wooden building to nearly 5,000 in 10 buildings with a million square feet of floor space.

American Motors is doing three times as much testing as it did 10 years ago. General Motors logs nearly 25 million miles of testing a year (367 million miles since 1924), while Ford and Chrysler run about 20 million miles each.

★ ★ ★

The electronic age is starting to take over in auto testing. With the aid of high-speed computers and instrumentation, more and more testing is moving into the laboratory from the proving ground, just as in earlier years it moved from public roads onto the companies' proving grounds.

CENTER OPENED

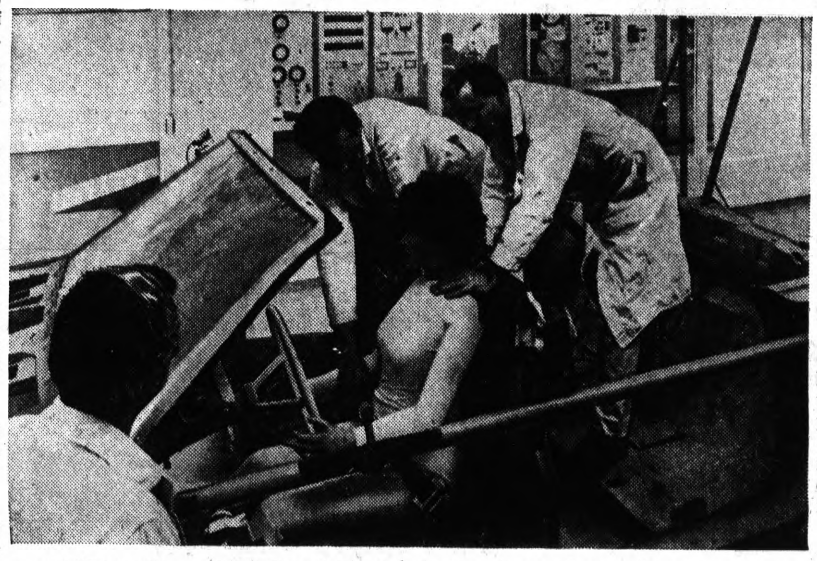
Ford, for instance, opened a multimillion-dollar, 40,000-square-foot Automotive Safety Research Center last March, dedicating it to filling "vital knowledge gaps" to improve safety research.

The auto companies also are trying to "build" safety into drivers as well as cars.

They have contributed—without cost—the cars loaned to high schools for driver education courses. Over the last 10 years, 9 million students have benefited from this driver training. A million and a half students completed these courses in 12,000 high schools last year.

★ ★ ★

Auto manufacturers also have made a $10-million grant to establish and support a highway safety institute at the University of Michigan for the purpose of developing a comprehensive approach to highway safety.



CRASH TEST — Technicians at Ford's new Automotive Safety Research Center in Dearborn prepare a dummy occupant named "Susie" for a collision test by seating her in a "buck" — the passenger compartment section of a car body — which is mounted on the simulator's 120-foot-long track. Results of the impact are recorded by instruments in the control room in background and can be analyzed quickly by computers.

Mountain Air Perils Found

By Science Service

A study of mountain dwellers in peru shows that those born in high altitudes have difficulty in combating the hazards of low oxygen in situations such as anesthesia.

Because the person born at high altitudes has made adjustments to reduced oxygen content in the air he breathes, he has lost a vital body alarm system.

★ ★ ★

This person breathes less rapidly and more deeply than the one at sea level. As a result, the mountain-born person is more susceptible to respiratory diseases, may lose consciousness without warning when swimming under water and is in greater danger of asphyxiation during deep sleep or when under anesthesia.

Auto Biographies Fill Warranty Library

The biographies of more than six million vehicles—any one of which can be flashed onto a TV-like screen in the time it takes to type out the vehicle's serial number — have been crammed into a unique electronic automotive library by Chrysler Corp.

The giant auto manufacturer, which pioneered the five-year, 50,000-mile warranty program, is also the first to computerize the massive paper work and record-keeping tasks associated with the efficient adminstration of the warranty program.

By October of this year, just a few days after the 1968 models appeared in dealer showrooms, all Chrysler dealers and 22 joint regional sales offices were incorporated into the specially designed RCA computer network, according to Gomer Redmond, manager of systems proceedures at Chrysler.

Any dealer, regardless of his distance from the master file in Detroit, has immediate access to the history of any vehicle built by Chrysler since 1963.

The vital element in the unique Chrysler library is an RCA 3301 computer system which has a seemingly insatiable appetite for information.

It includes five mass random access storage units, each capable of storing 340 million data characters for split-second recall.

The information in each file is stored on magnetic cards which are searched out by the computer when it receives the vehicle's serial number.

The information is then relayed over telephone lines to remote video terminals stationed at each regional office.

"The handling of a warranty program as broad as ours," said Redmond, "would have been virtually impossible without the use of a computer. Now dealer in Tacoma, Wash., will have access to the life history of any Chrysler product built since 1963 in less time than it will take for the customer to explain his warranty claim."

Chrysler intends to keep updated warranty records for six years on every car and truck it produces. By 1969, when approximately 10 million vehicles will be on the file, Chrysler will remove the data on the 1963 models and keep the information on magnetic tape for historical purposes.

The computer's job is not confined to warranty records, however, Redmond explained. "It has, in fact, provided a 'bonus' in the form of valuable engineering and quality control data that enables us to build better cars and trucks."

For example, "by evaluating dealers' claims we can determine the rate of failure on certain parts and initiate quick corrective action," said Redmond.

The history of each car makes available a continuous source of product performance information that permits faster analysis of field failures for manufacturing, quailty control and engineering.

* * *

Because each record contains the date, latest mileage, amount spent on warranty claims, and a condition code that indicates the nature of the failure, Chrysler can assure better vehicle reliability by relating these factors to each failure.

Chrysler's electronic vehicle library traces the life of every car from the moment it leaves the assembly line until it winds up in the junk yard.

Southern Firm Builds Ford's Racers

By BLOYS BRITT
Associated Press Writer

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — Ford Motor Co. is involved in motor sports on a worldwide front, and one of the cornerstones in its efforts is the rags-to-riches Holman and Moody firm of Charlotte.

Started in a small garage building and on an even smaller bank loan 10 years ago, the firm now occupies its own vast new headquarters plant in Charlotte, has two branch affiliates, employs about 250 engineers and technicians with a $20,000 weekly payroll and does a multi-million dollar business.

It specializes in building stock and road racing cars, but devotes much of its talent to high-performance component design, engineering development, testing, manufacture and marketing on a worldwide basis.

Its "competition-proven" parts and components, designed to catch the fancy of the neighborhood hotrod or the bank clerk who wants to "soup" up the family sedan, can be purchased in auto parts centers anywhere on the globe, or from a mail-order catalogue.

★ ★ ★

Holman and Moody is the seat of Ford's stock car racing program, and builds all of the cars the Dearborn firm sponsors on the NASCAR and USAC racing circuits.

Along with Shelby-American of Riverside, Calif., H & M also runs Ford's sports-prototype and Grand Touring racing program. Three cars flew the H-M banner in the 24-hour race at Le Mans, France, this year.

Despite the company's success, the partnership of John Holman and Ralph Moody ranks as one of the most unlikely in sports history.

Holman, 49, and a native of Nashville, Tenn., is a character straight out of John Dos Passo's U.S.A.

★ ★ ★

He is the arch-type of the American success story, a Horatio Alger figure, a wheeler-dealer, a promoter, a ferocious competitor, a pioneering spirit, a self-educated intellectual-in-the rough, a true believer in the American dream.

RIVER MANSION

You'll find him most times sitting in a plush, air-conditioned office in sports shirt and slacks, or at his river mansion built of 83,000 bricks and several giant redwood trees.

From his perch on the glass-enclosed balcony, the 200-pound, 5-11 Holman can look out at a bewildering array of engines, bodies, wheels, machinery and manpower.

The Holman-Moody staff can build almost anything, almost any part, from scratch for any part of an automobile. Almost all of the wheels used in any form of auto racing in the world today come from the H-M shop.

Holman doesn't need an inventory list to tell you what is available from the firm. "If its for racing, you name it and we've got it or can build it," he says.

Moody, 48, is a native of Massachusetts and is what southerners call a "typical New England Yankee." He is taciturn beyond belief.

A stock car race driver from the pioneer 1930s, he was one of the early stars of the NASCAR circuit, particularly on the short dirt "bullrings." But he also won five times on the big tracks before retiring in 1960.

By then, stock car racing was just beginning to come into its own as a major southern sport.

The Holman and Moody partnership began shortly after the Automobile Manufacturers Association banned factory participation in stock car racing in June 1957.

TEAM MANAGER

Holman was then manager of Pete de Paolo's Ford stock car racing team based in Charlotte. Moody was a star Ford driver-mechanic.

The ban brought instant unemployment to both men, but they pooled their resources, got a loan from a bank and bought out the de Paolo operation.

"The first thing we did" Holman recalls, "was to stop racing all the existing cars. They weren't winning, so why race them? Then Ralph and I built a new car and Ralph drove it in a make-or-break-us race in West Memphis, Ark. We won."

Holman and Moody has been a going firm ever since, and when Ford ditched the manufacturer's agreement in 1961, the Charlotte firm got Ford's racing business.

GOOD TEAM

Holman today handles the business end of the firm. Moody coaches the firm's racing teams. They make a good pair, although it is well known that they are not close personally.

Holman, restless, inquisitive and ambitious in his younger days, worked as a painter's helper, a mechanic's helper, a shipyard hustler, a trucker, manager of various garage and speed shops, and once operated a salvage yard.

His job hopping took him from Tennessee, to Texas, to California and other states before he wound up in North Carolina.

Moody is the specialist in building race cars and in developing race drivers. His most famous discovery was Fred Lorenzen, the greatest money-winner in the history of NASCAR who retired last April after six and one-half years with Holman and Moody.

Other drivers who owe some of their success to Moody include Dan Gurney, Mario Andretti, A. J. Foyt, Cale Yarborough, Dick Hutcherson and Curtis Turner.

As head of the racing team, Moody determines the complete racing package for new model Fords at the beginning of each season.

He is the H-M man on the scene at every big race, directing strategy and lending advice and counsel to other teams racing Fords based on H-M components. Under his direction, Ford teams have won more than half a million in prize money.

The firm has a West Coast racing facility, Holman-Moody-Stroppe, at Long Beach, Calif.

In 1963, the firm entered marine sports and since has opened plants in Long Beach and Miami. One of the building in the H-M Charlotte complex is devoted to production of high - performance marine engines based on various power plants in the Ford line.

Lunch Litter May Line Roads

By DONNA DICKENSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Lunch on the road — an increasingly popular institution for tourists and travelers — could become a prime source of highway litter.

Keep America Beautiful, Inc., recently pointed out that the average highway lunch accounts for five pieces of trash.

"With more than 100 million tourists expected on the nation's highways in 1968, the 'lunch on the road' emerges as a major litter menace," says Allan Seed Jr. of KAB.

"One lunch apiece could produce a half billion items of litter if the travelers don't mind their manners."

Just picture what might happen in 1989 — the end of what some antifilth fans call "the dirty decade."

PROJECTORS

The U.S. population has risen to 280 million, and highway travel, projected at the 1967 rate, runs to 155 million tourists each year.

With litter totaling 775 million pieces daily, Congress has split into two hostile factions—"Keep America Spiffy" and "Keep America Fed."

Hawks and doves are things of the past — the symbols for this litter-oriented legislature are the peacock and the pig. The two groups are known colloquially as "the cleanies" and "the fatties."

As the level of litter on the nation's highways rises to heights of 10 and 20 feet, billboard manufacturers call off their traditional fight with the antibillboard lobby.

Panicked at the thought that their signs will soon be covered up, they throw in their lot with the highway beautification buffs.

Another cleanup group is composed of the makers of picture windows: for the last 20 years, they have made no sales.

Also on the side of the antifilth lobbyists are the lawnmower manufacturers. (Many homeowners have not seen their lawns in years.)

★ ★ ★

Tree surgeons, who fear that a dig to the bottom of the garbage heap would reveal only shrivelled skeletons where mighty oaks once stood, throw in their lot with the foes of filth.

HIKERS

A powerful interest group is the national hiking association.

In announcing the group's entry into the antilitter campaign, an assocition official reports, "Some of our hikers set out last Memorial Day, during the height of the picnic season. They haven't been heard from since. Being snowed under on Mt. Everest may be a glorious way to die, but being snowed under by a mountain of litter—who needs it?"

But the pro-litter contingent is a fearsome foe.

Paper manufacturers are second only to the snack-bar chains in coddling the "blight trash," as their foes have named the pro-litter interests.

Professional paper-stabbers, knowing on which side their bread is buttered, take sides with the trash-lovers.

Another trash advocate is a prominent architect who has made a fortune from his invention of the house mounted on adjustable stilts. As the litter level rises, the home owner merely jacks his house up higher.

What makes the litter movement so fearsome, however, is its fiendishly simple strategy.

Europe Has Its Traffic Problems, Too

American motorists are not the only ones with problems. Europeans have traffic problems, too.

The constant battle to stem a rising highway death toll, build more and better highways and eliminate holiday and rush-hour traffic jams is by no means limited to the United States.

★ ★ ★

Much the same problems are faced in Europe today.

For a look at those problems, here are reports from three major European population centers.

London

By RICHARD WAGSTAFF

LONDON (AP) — If Britain's 15 million drivers — trebled in number in 10 years—all decided to take a drive at the same time, they would have less than 30 yards apiece in which to maneuver.

Indeed, as the cost of owning, maintaining and running a car in Britain bounds upwards, the luckless motorist gets less and less elbow room, more restrictions and even higher taxes. Already, they say, they are the most heavily taxed in the world.

From various forms of auto taxation, government coffers last year benefited to the extent of $4,354 million. Ten years ago the treasury siphoned off a mere $1,344 million.

In the last decade the cost of gasoline, insurance, fines, parking fees and road taxes have all gone up. The latest move is a transport ministry plan to impose a levy on private cars entering congested city limits.

★ ★ ★

Probably the most lucrative rake-off for the government is the gas tax. In 1957 the price of an imperial gallon of gasoline was 4s.6d. (63 cents) of which 35 cents went in tax. Today the cost has gone to 5s.6d. (77 cents) including 49 cents tax.

INTERCITY FREEWAYS

On the credit side Britain now has almosta 400 miles of intercity motorways (freeways). In 1957 the mileage was nonexistent. A further 800 miles (1,280 kms) is planned.

Planners say that at least 2,700 miles will be essential by 1971.

Three quarters of the nation's goods and about 90 per cent of its passenger traffic are carried by road.

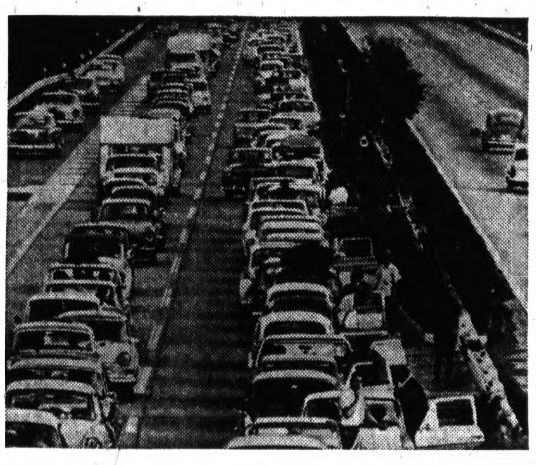
★ ★ ★

Accident figures are grim. In the last complete year for which they are available 7,985 persons died and 384-472 were injured. The comparable figures for 1957 are 5,367 fatalities and 262,593 persons injured.

ANNUAL INSPECTION

Government legislation now requires that all vehicles over three years old must be tested annually for roadworthiness. Another requirement introduced last year is that all new cars must have seat belt mountings.

Traffic In London's Trafalgar Square



The Frankfurt-Mannheim Autobahn

Congested city streets and air pollution are subjects receiving close attention in Britain.

The menace has not reached anything like the proportions reported by some big American cities, but the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders is undertaking a massive research program.

Frankfurt

By HANNS NEUERBOURG

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)— West Germans suffer the world's second highest highway death toll, but this doesn't slow them down.

Last year 16,813 people were killed on West German highways, and another half million suffered injuries. This was more than any other country outside the United States.

Despite the accident rate, the average German regards being sonal offense. And the trend toward faster cars continues.

Except for Volkswagen, virtually all West German stock cars now do maximum of at least 90 miles per hour, and there are few drivers who don't push the engines to the limit as long as the road is relatively clear.

A high-powered BMW chasing a Porsche at 100 miles an hour, in the left lane, with only a few feet between them, is nothing unusual.

German cars are often speedier than American autos with engines twice as large. German designers defend this speed, explaining it means more safety in passing and clearing intersections.

A large proportion of accidents is blamed on drunken driving, but auto clubs blame the high accident rate on the fact that road-building has not kept up with the rapid pace of motorization.

The number of registered cars increased from 2,295,200 to 10,231,555 in the 10 years since 1957.

Many German motorists learn to drive in middle age and they tend to have a concentrated, rigid approach to driving that makes them reluctant to yield their right-of-way.

Paris

By STEPHENS BROENING

PARIS (AP) — It's six o'clock one week night and you're in your car.

You ask a taxi driver alongside, "How do I get to the Boulevard Saint Michel?"

The cabbie laughs and replies, "You can't get there from here."

There are cars in front of you, cars behind you, cars beside you. Not one of them is moving. It's the hour of the "embouteillage," the bottleneck, in which the overcrowding of French roads is grotesquely exaggerated.

Most Parisians are patient in these rush-hour traffic jams, but few would share the opinion of Transportation Minister Jean Chamant who was quoted recently as saying, "I like traffic jams. It gives you a chance to talk to friends who drive up alongside."

If Paris traffic conditions are abnormal, the situation in the countryside is no less discouraging. And a few statistics show why.

In 1958 there were 3.8 million automobiles in France. Today there are nearly 10 million.

During this time only 766 kilometers of limited-access highways were built, bringing the number of these roads in France to the grand total of 890 kilometers.

A parallel development has been the growth in the number of fatal accidents, claiming about 1,000 lives a month so far this year.

The French auto fatality rate is nearly three times the American rate and is higher than the death rate in other West European countries.

Chapter 13

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Dan Briscoe was caught in a web of hostility and violence at the prairie town of Springwater.

Briscoe learned Kathleen Royal and Lavinia Shannon, a neighboring rancher, were hostile to each other. After Briscoe's intervention, Mrs. Shannon believed Briscoe to be in the employ of the Royal family, and he accumulated enemies.

Dan Briscoe was at the door of the dining room when it opened at sunrise for breakfast, Lavinia Shannon did not come to the table, evidently having her morning meal taken to her room.

★ ★ ★

Dan ate glumly. "This is ridiculous," he kept telling himself. "What do I care what Lavinia Shannon thinks of me? I'll never see her again after this morning."

The stagecoach for Prescott came jostling to the door of Heather House fifteen minutes before departure time.

"Five minutes, folks," the coach driver shouted.

★ ★ ★

Three fares were finishing the meal when Lavinia Shannon appeared, wearing a dust coat, with a veil ready for use on her hat.

A CHILLING LOOK

Dan arose, intending to speak to her, but he was chilled by her eyes, hostile as gun bores. She walked past, drawing her skirt aside as though to avoid contamination. No hand was lifted to assist her board the stage. He sensed that such an offer would have been scorned if it had been made. Other passengers stood back, waiting for Lavinia Shannon to select the seat she preferred. Dan reflected, it was fear of her.

He reached a decision, as abrupt as the one he had made when he had intervened to prevent Alex Emmons from throwing away his life.

"Hold up until I get my possibles," he called to the driver. "I've decided to buy fare with you today."

"Whar to?"

"Flat Butte," Dan said.

Within a few minutes he was seated opposite to Lavinia Shannon.

DAN IS IGNORED

She continued to ignore his existence. Sitting alongside her were two passengers Dan had not counted on. They must have boarded the coach at the station before Heather House. Shep Sand and Gideon Marko. A fifth passenger was palpably a salesman, and of no account to Dan.

Lavinia Shannon made no sign that she was acquainted with the two gunmen, or was even aware of their presence. They were equally careful to act as though she was not there. Dan decided that the three of them were too obvious about it. No doubt Sand and Marko had Livvy Shannon's pay in their pockets and probably were awaiting her orders as to their next move, now that Alex Emmons remained alive.

He speculated just how far Kathleen Royal would go to win in the apparent feud she had with Lavinia Shannon. And how far would Lavinia Shannon go?

★ ★ ★

He was aware he was being covertly studied by Shep Sand and Gid Marko. They evidently recalled that he had entered the Big Chance the previous evening and had left suddenly. His sudden decision to buy fare to Flat Butte had made him an object of speculation — and suspicion.

PURPLE TWILIGHT

Sundown came, and purple twilight gathered in the draws. Darkness settled. The trail leveled. Dan saw the outline of buttes and ridges against a turquoise sky. It was a surprisingly big country, this Springwater Basin — a wild land. And evidently rich in water and grass. It had the clean smell of pines, growing grass, of flowing water.

The coach creaked over a gentler trail. The lights of a settlement lifted ahead. Beyond it loomed a massive butte with a top as flat as a table.

"Flat Butte!" the driver called joyfully, for this was the finish of his day's work. "An hour to eat an' wash up for such of you as air bound fer points beyond. You'll have a new driver tonight."

★ ★ ★

The coach halted at a livery yard in town, which also served as a swing station for the stage line. Dan alighted and turned to assist Lavinia Shannon. She was numbed by weariness, and automatically accepted his help before she realized who had offered it. She leaned on his arm until she had steadied.

LIVVY DRAWS AWAY

Then she straightened sharply and drew away from him. He was aware of the fierce regret that she had shown the need of aid from anyone, even momentarily, and least of all from him.

"Thank you!" she said icily. She turned away, drawing the veil from her face, and waited to see that her luggage was unloaded from the boot.

A tall man came hurrying. "Mother!" He kissed Lavinia Shannon, picked up her luggage and led her to a spring-seated ranch wagon that had a team in harness.

★ ★ ★

"Chad's riding home on the wagon, Heber," Lavinia Shannon said. "I know I shouldn't have given in, but I just couldn't refuse. They ought to pull into the ranch tomorrow night. I saw where the wagon had turned off at Flat Creek to take the butte trail. They'll save miles in this dry weather.

A HOLSTERED GUN

The tall man, who carried a gun in a holster, helped her into the wagon, and they drove out of town southward.

Dan gazed around. The station, with its corrals and barn, stood on the fringe of town, which consisted of a score of buildings. There were two saloons. One had a sign over the sidewalk. Mack's Place. The other was built of whitewashed adobe, with its name lettered on a wall, El Cantina.

"Rooms an' grub at Sim Ricker's fleabag," the driver said, as he handed out baggage.

★ ★ ★

He was indicating a frame-built hotel down the street. A blacksmith shop nearby had lanterns glinting, and a hammer kept banging on metal as late repairs were being made on a freight wagon. The tired stage team tramped by, traces dragging, heading for water and feed, with a hostler in charge.

A FALSE FRONT

The most pretentious structure on the dusty street was a rambling building, constructed of planks and bats, with a tarpaper roof. It had a wide false front on which was painted in big white letters the information that this was the GREAT SOUTHWESTERN MERCANTILE.

Dan debated as to whether the saloons might provide a better source of information than the store. He chose the store which was still lighted and open for business.

Carrying his belongings, he crossed the street and entered the mercantile. Closing time evidently was near, for there were no customers and the only person present was an enormous man with an unruly thatch of hay-colored hair who was seated at a high desk, penning entries in a ledger.

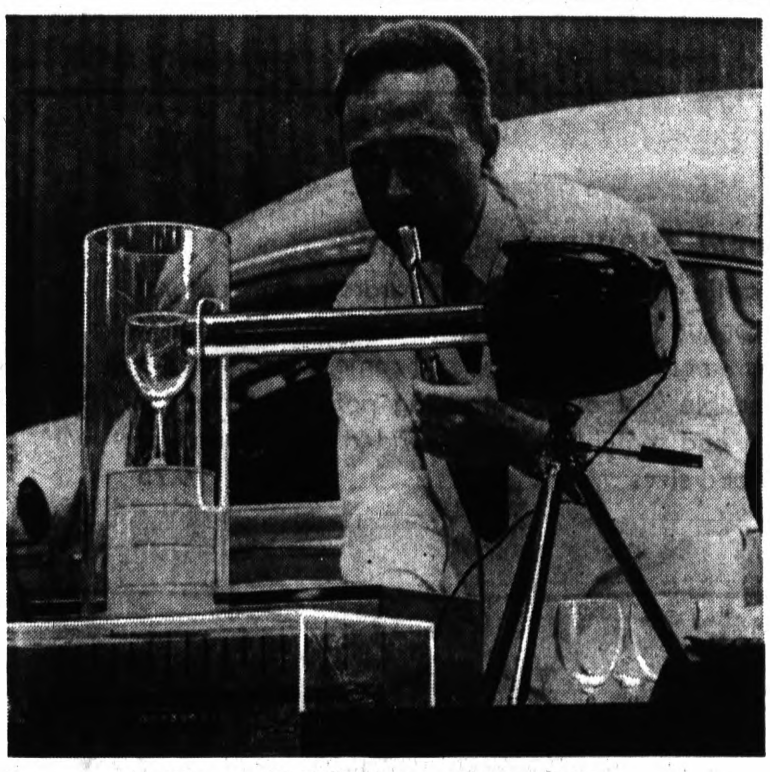
★ ★ ★

This man looked up when Dan's footsteps sounded, laid aside the pen and slid from the high stool. He wore a colarless blue shirt and bib overalls, and had a double chin.

★ ★ ★

He peered at Dan in the lamplight. "Evenin'!" he boomed. "An' welcome, stranger. You must have got off the stage just now. Welcome to Flat Butte! She ain't much to look at right now, but wait'll she gits goin'."

(To Be Continued Tomorrow)



Why would Volkswagen want to shatter a wine glass in Hometown?

Well, Caruso used to do it with his voice. So why not us?

Actually, our ultra-sonic wine glass breaker is just part of a science demonstration we're conducting to explain why a VW is made as it is and runs as it does. (For instance, the principle of twisting a torsion bar — and storing energy — is used in Volkswagen's suspension system.)

We'll also show how heat travels at different speeds through different metals by holding a thermo-conductivity race between an iron bar and one made of a magnesium-aluminum alloy. (If you decide to bet a friend on the outcome, remember that the alloy is used in making VW's lightweight engine.)

You'll find these demonstrations, and others, in a special show-wagon, mounted on a Volkswagen pick-up. Afterward, you can see how these scientific principles apply by taking a test ride of any VW model you'd like to try. Our bus-shaped station wagon. Italian sport-styled Karmann Ghia. The new fastback or squareback model. Or even our homely beetle-shaped sedan. Who knows? An after-the-show test ride might change your whole attitude toward driving.

Duration of each demonstration is about 15 to 20 minutes, a bit shorter than the typical classroom lab session. Some of our equipment, however, may seem a bit more unorthodox than that used in most labs. And there's one more thing that might make this the best science class you ever attended. No final exam.

Opening lead—♣ K

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Certain bridge habits are so deeply ingrained in us that it is almost impossible to break away from them. One of these habits is that you lead a low card from a long suit unless you have some special combination of high cards at the top.

Now take a look at the West hand. You have to lead against four hearts and you have listened carefully to the bidding. South has a good hand. He opened with a forcing two bid. Also, South has a two suiter. He started with hearts and bid and rebid diamonds.

JACOBY

and rebid diamonds.

North has a bad hand but he does have at least five spades. He also has at least as many hearts as diamonds. Should we open a trump in an effort to cut down dummy's ruffing power?

This might be a good idea if our diamond suit were something like ace-jack-nine-small but it actually is ace-deuce-trey-four. We aren't likely to get more than one trick there. Thus we decide to open a club.

Habit tells us to lead the decue. Fourth best of four, as recommended in all books, is led by us year in and year out.

If we follow habit and the rules, South has no trouble making his contract. Our partner wins the trick with his ace and leads back a low club.

Declarer discards his small spade and now dummy's queen is the top club. No matter what we do, South will be able to draw trumps, knock out our ace of diamonds and make his contract.

If we are really alert, we should defeat the contract by the irregular opening lead of the king of clubs. It won't make any difference whether South ruffs right in or discards a spade. He will be faced by further club leads and will have to allow our partner to make a small trump in the cool of the evening.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hazel Park was awarded an additional $181,529 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, bringing the total of money for the Nine Mile Urban Renewal Project to $1,358,834, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., reported Tuesday.

For Thursday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Focus is not sharp. You tend to see events, persons in light less than clear. Know this and withhold final judgement. Patience is your great ally.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Some who opposed you make friendly gesture. changes are due. Key is to sharpen sense of communication. Means be willing to learn.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): What appears to be opposition could be healthy challenge. Avoid jumping to conclusions. Take mate, partner into confidence. Don't battle when it is unnecessary.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Your talent does not diminish by listening to reason. Means today make concession. Some will attempt to irritate you. Be wise, mature, understanding and patient. Message clear later.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): In background of action, attitude is apt to be what it costs. Face this fact. Get down to practical matters. Learn what is realistic, what is purely in realm of imagination.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Opposition may appear from family members. Key is to know that some methods, factors are outdated. Strive for understanding, symbolized by open mind. You gain if mature.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Be subtle. Don't expect whirlpool of understanding. What you accomplish today is apt to come slowly. Take special care in traffic. Don't push or force. Accent calmness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Your judgement, intuition apt to converge. Means you join within yourself a logic and impulse which appears to take over. Stress on money, security, possessions. Be firm.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Cycle high. Air of certainty replaces doubt. Try, experiment. Highlight flexibility, versatility. Shake off any tendency toward backwardness. Move ahead.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): You find reports, rumors imposing on facts. Be discriminating. Find out what exists, what is mere wishful thinking. Ultraimportant to separate reality from fantasy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): People free with advice may be expensive because of mistakes. Know this and respond accordingly. You have much to gain—but others can cause loss. Avoid scattering your forces.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Tendency is to act on impulse. Try to be mature. If you jump to conclusions, the result could be embarrassment or worse. Heed voice of experience. You will understand.

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are sensitive, perceptive and capable of being an original thinker. Many fail to understand you, while others revere the fact that you are different. You attract some, while causing others to be envious. There's no halfway about you. But this year you expand sphere of experience and make new, valuable friends.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for SAGITTARIUS, CAPRICORN. Special word to LIBRA: new experiences prove stimulating.

Uncertainty on Korea News

Market Downtrend Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued a steady downtrend early this afternoon as uncertainty was increased by the North Korean capture of a U.S. Naval vessel. Trading was fairly active.

In the midst of the decline there was some scattered recovery as the session wore on. Several specially situated issues did well.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .9 at 314.5 with industrials off 1.5, rails off .6 and utilities unchanged.

Losses outnumbered gains by a ratio of about 7 to 4 in the over-all list—a slight improvement over nearly a 2-to-1 downside margin in the morning.

ADDED HESITATION

Combined with the foreign news, was the additional hesitation caused by failure of administration spokesmen again to win approval of the proposed income surtax from the House Ways and Means Committee.

★ ★ ★

Tht Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 1.21 at 863.56. This trimmed an early decline of nearly 4 points in the closely watched indicator which ha dropped for 11 straight sessions.

★ ★ ★

IBM pared half a dozen points from its 16-point upsurge of Tuesday on stock split news.

W. Michigan Tot Dies in Home Fire

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Colleen Clark, 18 months, died early this morning in a fire that heavily damaged her family's rural home in Kalamazoo County.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Clark, and her 4-year-old brother escaped in the blaze believed started by an electric heater at the rear of the house, where Colleen's bedroom was located.

Neighbors said the girl's parents tried to rescue her but were driven back by flames and smoke. The fire, reported at about 1 a.m., was extinguished by firemen by 1:30 a.m.

New Hampshire Trend Has Reversed--Romney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney said Tuesday his campaign for New Hampshire's presidential primary has "reversed the trend up there."

"I expect to win," said Romney, seeking the Republican nomination for the White House. "And the campaign has just started."

★ ★ ★

The Michigan governor made those comments during a half-hour visit to the crowded headquarters of District of Columbia Citizens for Romney.

He stopped there during a day of conferences with his political advisers in Washington.

MAKES CONTRIBUTION

Romney shook hands, dropped a dollar bill into the campaign contribution box, then delivered a speech along the lines of those he has been making in New Hampshire campaign appearances.

"I think there are many Democrats who do not agree with those who are in control of the Democratic party," Romney said. "I do not believe that we can meet the problems of the country today out of Washington."

There is too much reliance now on federal laws and federal money," he said.

"If we don't build a new America that's a better reflection of our basic principles, the old America is going to be destroyed, in my opinion," Romney said.

★ ★ ★

Of his campaign, he said, "We really got off to a great start in New Hampshire and we've reversed the trend up there."

Romney returns to New Hampshire today to resume his campaign for the March 12 presidential primary.

City Officer Suspended in Traffic Case

A Pontiac police officer was today suspended pending further action after being accused of leaving the scene of a traffic accident in which his car was allegedly involved Thursday.

The license number of a car belonging to patrolman Richard W. Blower was reported by Pauline Walton of 161 Summit as the dealer plate number on a vehicle which twice backed into her car about 2:45 a.m.

She said the other vehicle struck hers while backing out of a service station at Baldwin and Oakland, then drove off without stopping.

Capt. Harry Nve, chief of the Pontiac Police Patrol Bureau, said the incident is under investigation by the office of the chief of police.

★ ★ ★

He emphasized that suspension is routine in such cases and is not to be construed as a punitive measure.

Blower, a 1½-year veteran of the department, said he was at the scene but denies knowledge that his car was involved in an accident, according to Nye.

Karen Stoddard Displays Contest-Winning Charm

Area Beauty Wins Auto Show Crown

The adage "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again" paid off handsomely for Karen Stoddard, a petite 21-year-old model-to-be from Waterford Township.

Karen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Turner of 3998 Lamont, recently was crowned Miss Autorama at an automobile show in Detroit's Cobo Hall, a title that had eluded her three years ago when she was named first runner-up.

And this time, the 5-foot-4, 107-pound blonde was competing against a larger field. She emerged victorious over 65 other contststants, including some professional models.

The competition was for single girls 18 to 25.

★ ★ ★

The voting was done by more than 400 car owners who had dislays at the show. The contest was based on personality, poise and beauty.

'REALLY SHOCKED'

"I felt great," said Karen, commenting on her victory. "I was really shocked. Every one of the girls was really wonderful."

For winning, blue-eyed Karen won $50 in cash and a $279 scholarship to the John Robert Powers Finishing School in Detroit which she plans to attend immediately.

The three-month course, she hopes, will lead to a successful modeling career.

A 1965 graduate of Waterford Kettering High School, Karen was a Junior Miss contestant her senior year but did not win.

Yugoslav Reds Expel Author

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Yugoslav Communist party has expelled author Bozidar Bozovic for his writing in the bimonthly Knjizevne Novine—Literary Gazette.

The party postponed decisions on the paper's editor, Tanasije Mladenovic, a poet and former member of Parliament, and columnist Ljubisa Manojlovic, who also edits the humor paper Jez—Hedge Hog.

★ ★ ★

The Belgrade City Council of the Communist Party recently attacked the paper for writings it considered violated the party line, but some observers believed Bozovic was expelled because of disagreements between groups of writers. They thought his opponents had gained the City Council's support.

The paper has continued to publish, and the latest issue included the City Council's denunciation of the paper, without comment.

State GI Found Dead in Jersey

RANDOLPH TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — The body of an Army private was found face down alongside Route 10 in this Morris County community early Sunday. Police said he was an apparent hit-run victim.

Police identified the victim as Francis N. Early, 20, of Rosedale, Mich., who was stationed at Ft. Devens, Mass.

★ ★ ★

They said Early was spending the weekend with a friend in Parsipanny, N.J. Early left his friend in a tavern Saturday night to go for a walk, police said.

A passing motorist discovered the youth's body and called the police shortly after midnight.

Leap to Road Fatal to Man

A 23-year-old Waterford Township man apparently took his own life about 11 p.m. yesterday by jumping out of a moving car on Elizabeth Lake Road near Doremus in the township, according to township police.

The victim, who was pronounced dead at the scene, was identified by township police as Victor J. Collom of 6036 Elizabeth Lake. Police said the driver of the car was Joan M. Armstrong of Livonia.

Police said they are investigating the death and an autopsy was to be performed this morning.

Whale Recovers After Crashing Through Window

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Skana, a 3,000-pound killer whale, is recovering from the effects of a crash through an underwater window.

"Skana may have been so shaken by the accident she will be wary of jumping around the pool as she has done in the past," said Dennis Price, local director of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

★ ★ ★

The whale crashed through the plate glass viewing window at the Vancouver Aquarium Monday while doing antics at feeding time. Her head was pinned by the jagged glass and it took workers five minutes to pull her free with a rope.

A few stitches, some salve and a 30-pound meal of herring loaded with antibiotics against infection had her on the road to recovery.

Eagle Dropped By for Supper, but He Can't Stay

CHICAGO (AP) — A golden eagle that dropped by Lincoln Park Zoo for supper and was induced to stay a while must be released.

Lester Fisher, zoo director, said Tuesday the Department of Interior notified him the bird must be freed.

★ ★ ★

The eagle was captured recently on the zoo's grounds when Fisher feared it might injure animals or zoo patrons. It had been feeding in an outdoor bird display.

Fisher said the zoo will comply with government rules compelling the release of wild birds that are unharmed and ready to return to nature.

SALESMAN
You are reading this ad for only one of two reasons, you are hunting for a job or you have one, and are looking for a better one. Either way look no longer. My company hires about once every 5 years, we have moved enough men up the ladder, so that we need new salesmen. We are a big company, Dunn and Bradstreet rated.
This is one of the hottest things that ever hit the Detroit area. No credit check, no turn downs, no canvassing. I cannot promise you the moon, because I don't own it, but I can promise you one of the best positions east or west of the Rockies. I have got that. I can also promise you that you can make more money with my company than you have ever made before, no matter what you have been doing, or what you have been selling. I promise you that you will never work as hard as you have worked before.
If you want something for nothing, answer another ad, but if you want a real good position, call me. If you have never sold anything before, that's O.K. I won't have to unlearn you, we can start from scratch, if you are a top notch salesman now, I have a real good position. Now just an ordinary down to earth salesman can make over $14,000 per year, no traveling, no gimmick, no tall tales, no way out yonder promises.

TED'S CORNER

Points give the seller a broader range of potential home buyers. The exact amount of the points is determined about a week from the closing date. They are determined by the availability of money for home lending. Other facts are the location of the home, the type of construction, the neatness and the buyers credit rating. It would behoove you to make your home as sharp as possible. Points are deductible from your income tax, as is the realtors commission.

Police Disperse Belgian Protest

LOUVAIN, Belgium (AP) — A demonstration by 200 Flemish students against French sections of the Roman Catholic University of Louvain was dispersed by police Tuesday.

Louvain has been in a state of virtual siege for the past five days, with state police occupying strategic points. Flemish students demand closing of the university's French-speaking sections.

A Look at TV

GOP Picture Ill-Framed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The Republican leadership of the 90th Congress, in an hour provided by CBS Tuesday night, chose to use it to present "a picture of our party—how we look, how we feel," as House Minority Leader Gerald Ford said.

A picture, however, is helped by its frame, and the frame— or format—in which the Republicans chose to answer and criticize President Johnson's State of the Union address did not help a bit.

After a brief introductory message from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 14 senators and congressmen stood in turn before the cameras and a live, applauding audience, and read—their prompting devices often were visible— brief, formal, campaign-style speeches on subjects ranging from taxation and government spending to strife in Vietnam and tension in the Middle East.

The administration, of course, came under sharp attack from most speakers. Despite the efforts of the moderator, Sen. George Murphy of California, to inject a lighter, informal note in his introductions, the hour dragged by. It was too crowded, too busy, and had too many people trying to cover large complicated subjects in a few words.

DOESN'T CARRY

Television is an animate medium and the producers of the program erred in trying to carry a party rally into the living room.

Some of the speakers—particularly Rep. Ford and Rep. Melvin Laird—were more interesting and incisive when they were interviewed off-the-cuff as part of a panel appearing on ABC immediately following President Johnson's address last week.

★ ★ ★

Actress Helen Hayes will turn up as a "mystery guest" on ABC's daytime game show, "Treasure Isle."

CBS has chosen March 5 for its special "S. Hurok Presents —Part 2." The first 90-minute program last season was a critical triumph.

The new program will present pianist Artur Rubenstein in his first television appearance in 10 years; Russian violinist David Oistrakh and the Bolshoi Ballet. All have performed under the aegis of Sol Hurok, the impresario named in the title.

Quaker Official Sets State Talks

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Bronson P. Clark, a member of the national staff of the Quaker Peace Organization, American Friends Service Committee, has scheduled a series of lectures in west Michigan.

He is to speak in Grand Rapids Jan. 31 at Fountain Street Church and at Aquinas College. The following day he will be at Grand Valley State College and at Muskegon.

Rights Group Asks Police Boss Name

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Human Rights Council Inc. called Tuesday for Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh to make public the name of the future police commissioner for the city.

Cavangh's office had no comment. The mayor said previously that he had chosen a man to succeed Police Commissioner Ray Girardin, but he did not name the successor. A spokesman for Cavanagh said Tuesday that no new police commissioner had been actually hired.

The organization, headed by the Rev. Ray Shoulders, said "We feel that the citizens are shortchanged with the 'lame-duck' commissioner."

Congress Gets LBJ Job Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for a $2.1-billion manpower program—the biggest ever—"to help Americans who want to work get a job."

He fixed a goal of finding jobs for 500,000 slum dwellers in the next three years.

The Sight of Men in Mink Causes Columnist to Blink

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Mink coats for men are here. When Lee Marvin got himself a black mink coat, I knew nobody was going to kid HIM about it.

Bill Dana has a mink coat too, and so does the dashing Duke Johnny de Caranan. Furrier Mike Forrest has made about 25 mink coats for gentlemen, and one department store reports it sells about 25 a year.

WILSON

Tony Curtis and George Hamilton were reported getting beminked, but that was a spoof.

"Mink is not the fur for me," Tony said. "I prefer broadtail or maybe dyed cat. Mink is all right if it's shaved down to a stubble."

Tony is wearing brown Russian boots, a Russian blouse, a Nehru coat and his flower beads these nights around N.Y.

★ ★ ★

Over at the mink market at 151 W. 30th St., they're whooping it up for the big jet black mink auction.

I interviewed some minks there but didn't enjoy it.

I expected live minks.

"They're vicious cunning little beasts," David Loffman, executive director of the Great Lakes Mink Ass'n, said.

"We were welders' gloves when we handle them but they can bite through them."

So I interviewed some mink pelts and that was about as exciting as a hot martini.

★ ★ ★

You guys who buy minks for yourselves — ask your furrier whether the skins are male or female . . . ask for a natural color and have the furrier write on the bill that it is. Jackie Kennedy, Mrs. LBJ and Barbra Streisand have dark minks — the status mink — you should, too.

It won't be long till rich girls will be giving their boy friends mink stoles and the guys will be blushing and saying, "Honest, I bought it myself."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

When Gordon MacRae and Carol Lawrence do some "I Do, I Do! excerpts at the White House Thursday (Jan. 25), Stephen Douglas and Dran Hamilton, the standbys, will take over. The Skitch Hendersons will be there as guests.

Princess Grace's fortune teller, Madame Delyane, has told her she can anticipate the birth of a fourth child . . . Mrs. Bert Lahr returned to the Globe-Star Travel Agency saying she wished to work to keep busy.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Men and women are about even in their hearing ability. It's just that women are far ahead in not listening.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "You don't have to own the world to enjoy the sunset."—Arnold Glasow.

EARL'S PEARLS: The phone company has a new service for lonely flu sufferers. It's called "Dial-a-Gesundheit."

An Arizona Indian tribe has decided not to vote for Ronald Reagan for president. He led the cavalry against them in three movies . . . That's earl, brother.

White House Can't Beat Old Problem of Starlings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House, which in previous years experienced the Case of the Kidnaped Squirrel and the Case of the Distressed Starlings now is involved in the Case of the Make-Believe Bongo.

Many will recall the mysterious disappearance from the White House grounds of innumerable grav squirrels when Dwight D. Eisenhower was president.

★ ★ ★

Eventually the word leaked out: Groundskeepers were kidnaping the squirrels, lest they disturb Eisenhower's back yard putting green, and were transporting them to new woodland freedom in the Virginia countryside.

Then, early in 1962, when John F. Kennedy was president, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger was asked why many a starling —a noisy and untidy bird—had disappeared from the stately trees surrounding the White House.

Salinger owned up: A recording of a distressed starling was being piped through three mounted loudspeakers, hopefully to warn fellow starlings away.

As Salinger disclosed in his memoirs, there was good reason for the effort—starlings respect neither historical landmarks like the White House, nor personages like the president.

★ ★ ★

"We all bought hats," he wrote.

The starling-in-distress Recording has been resounding about the White House for more than five years—but the birds are still there in force.

The final mystery—The Case of the Make-Believe Bongo—is an example of the failure of the art of treetop high-fidelity.

MORE THAN EVER

Perhaps because the same record has been blaring for five years, there now seem to be more starlings than ever.

So a White House groundskeeper has been dispatched at dusk to walk about the front lawn with a stiff cardboard carton in one hand and a stick in the other.

★ ★ ★

But the more he beats the carton, or so it seems to those who have watched him, the more the lofty starlings amplify their squawks and magnify their other activities.

Monkeys Out, Judge Rules

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Seymour G. Jacoby says he'll keep the monkeys in his restaurant, but a judge says they must go.

"I appreciate your love for animals, but we must remember the law is something for all of us," Municipal Judge Harold J. Ackerman said in convicting Jacoby of keeping animals within 35 feet of his restaurant and displaying "wild, exotic and dangerous" beasts without a permit.

★ ★ ★

Jacoby has displayed seven monkeys, 21 birds and a gibbon in his restaurant.

Jacoby, who will be sentenced Feb. 26, said he will figure out a way to keep his monkeys displayed somehow in view of diners.

U. N. Aid to Viet 'Hampered by War'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the U.N. Development Program, says it has run into some trouble because of the war in Vietnam.

"We can't send our people into areas where they'll get shot at," he told newsmen Tuesday in response to a question. Hoffman cited a water-flow survey in the Mekong Delta as an example.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, he said there would be enough projects to use up all the money targeted for technical assistance to South Vietnam this year.

Navy Force Sails for N. Korea as U.S. Seeks Ship Return

MAKE-OVER PAGES

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy task force including the carrier Enterprise cruised toward North Korea today as the United States applied diplomatic leverage in a bid to recover its captured inteligence ship Pueblo.

★ ★ ★

The four-ship American force moved in high readiness through the Sea of Japan while the United States asked the Soviet Union to persuade North Korea to give up the 935-ton craft, which had 83 men aboard.

Related Stories, Pages A-2, B-9

The White House called North Korea's capture of the lightly armed vessel "a very serious situation." The State Department viewed it "with utmost gravity."

President Johnson was to preside today at what was described as a regular meeting of the National Security Council. The ship incident was likely to be the No. 1 topic.

★ ★ ★

In Panmunjom, Korea, where the Korean War truce was negotiated, the United Nations Command strongly protested the seizure and demanded immediate return of the ship. The command also demanded a North Korean apology.

N. KOREAN CLAIM

But the head of the North Korean delegation there, Maj. Gen. Park Choong-kook, claimed the Pueblo violated North Korean territorial waters off Wonsan and was trying to "come closer to the land to perpetrate intolerable provocative acts" when North Korean navy vessels "returned fire."

Some congressmen called the Pueblo's take-over an act of war and there were suggestions from Capitol Hill that the United States retaliate.

Sources said the nuclear-powered Enterprise was accompanied by the nuclear frigate Truxton and two other combat ships.

★ ★ ★

Late Tuesday night the ships — diverted from a combat assignment off Vietnam — were southwest of Sasebo, Japan, and hours away from the North Korean port of Wonsan where the Pueblo was assumed help prisoner.

Romney Budgets War on Crime, City Woes

LANSING (AP) — Pledging to seek no new taxes, Gov. George Romney today asked the Legislature to approve a $1.3-billion budget for fiscal 1968-69, calling for a double-barreled attack on crime and urban problems.

The $1.3-billion general fund budget, combined with restricted funds and general fund special purpose money, would add up to a total operating budget of $2.73 billion for the next fiscal year.

Romney's proposed general fund budget — highest ever sought by a Michigan governor — included requests to double the State Civil Rights Commission appropriation and set aside an additional $5.5 million toward maintenance of law and order.

The commission appropriation would be boosted from the current $1.4 million to $2.8 million. The law and order money would include a 23 per cent hike in the State Police budget from current appropriations of $23.7 million.

Romney's request compares with anticipated general fund spending of $1.146 billion in the current fiscal year. He had sought a budget of $1.15 billion for this year.

TWO BOND ISSUES

Backed by anticipated revenue from the state's new income tax, the Republican governor and presidential hopeful also called for two general obligation bond issues, totaling $435 million.

One, totaling $335 million, would go for purification of the state's lakes, streams and rivers. Another, totaling $100 million, would be used for park acquisition, recreation and fisheries improvement.

Both will appear as separate questions on the November 1968 ballot if the Legislature approves separate bills authorizing the questions be put to the voters.

tial nomination, planned to fly to Philadelphia later today to tape a television show and then return to the campaign trail in New Hampshire — site of the nation's first primary.

The total proposed budget was $1.33 billion. Anticipated revenues for the new budget year — bolstered by the state income tax approved last year — were estimated at slightly more than $1.33 billion.

State Budget Director Glenn Allen said the state will end the current fiscal year with a general fund surplus of $24.2 million. This, he said, with an anticipated $3 million surplus in fiscal 1968-69, would leave the state with a $27.2 million surplus June 30, 1969.

Local Fair-Housing Law Receives Preliminary OK

By BOB WISLER

After nearly four hours of a public hearing last nigh, city commissioners gave preliminary approval to an open-housing ordinance for Pontiac. he vote was 4-3.

The favorable vote came on the first reading of the ordinance. Second reading, which would give final approval to the ordinance, is scheduled for next Tuesday.

If the commissioners repeat their votes at the next reading the ordinance would become effective 10 days after its publication in The Pontiac Press.

Voting in favor of the ordinance last night were Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson and District 7 Commissioner James. H. Marshall.

★ ★ ★

Opposed were District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan and District 6 Commissioner Wesley J. Wood.

Related Story, Page D-2

ATTENDED BY 200

Nearly 50 persons spoke on the issue. The meeting, attended by about 200 persons, was extremely orderly, a fact commented on by several commissioners.

Commissioners heard a variety of arguments for and against the open-housing law, but the majority of those speaking were unequivocally in favor of the ordinance. A majority of those speaking for were white.

Little tension buil up during the meetin, in marked contrast to previous meetings at which open housing was discussed.

★ ★ ★

The final vote on the first reading came after commissioners turned down an amendment — suggested by Dugan — that the ordinance by put to a vote of the electorate before adoption by the commission.

SAME VOTE

The vote defeating the amendment was the same as the vote approving the ordinance.

Commissioners against the ordinance spoke of the loss of rights in dealing with property, of apparent disapproval by the majority of city residents, of lack of a need for such a law and of the possibility of a split in the community over the issue.

Those in favor spoke for the neeed for the legislation to guarantee the right of all citizens to be able to have freedom of choice in housing.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Fowler called it the most improtant piece of legislation to ever come bfore the commission.

'FIGHT FOR FREEDOM'

Declaring he had spent his life "fighting for freedom," Fowler said, "I would like my children and grandchildren to be treated like human beings and move about as they see fit."

Marshall, who said he will offer an amendment next week excluding some housing from the ordinance, said, "I can't see why we should hold any group of people into a district."

He said that as persons — Negro and white — earn more and become better educated they are going to want to move into better neighborhoods.

Turnout for Turnovers High at Cooking School

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Another full house at The Pontiac Press cooking school last night ended the first half of the week's program. There was a smaller attendance at the afternoon session, due perhaps to the morning snow.

A bright note of color and glamour was injected in the middle of the cooking demonstrations.

Alvin's of Pontiac put on a half-hour show of spring clothes, including one bikini. It could have been the most unusual place the models had ever performed — in the midst of all that kitchen equipment.

A young homemaker, Mrs. Barry Schram, 86 Charles Lane, won the Roper Gas Range given by Consumers Power Co. at the close of last night's session.

★ ★ ★

Other grand prize winners yesterday were Mrs. E. I. Cline, 161 College, Avon Township, a White sewing machine from Household Appliance Co., and Mrs. Carl M. Vallad, 755 Alberta, a gas water heater, also from Consumers Power Co.

The final session of this ninth annual cooking school will be tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Doors at the east end of Pontiac Central High School open at 6:30 p.m.

Those without tickets may be admitted just before the program begins. All have equal opportunity to win the prizes.

Wallace Backer Sees City Vote

By ED BLUNDEN

"It's going on the ballot," said the man wearing the "Wallace" tie.

He attended last night's City Commission meeting at which a hearing on a proposed open housing ordinance for Pontiac was held.

The man, Larry Bumblough, charged the meeting was "loaded" with supporters of open housing.

He told a reporter his group had 18 members present and that they opposed the ordinance as well as supporting George Wallace, former governor of Alabama, for president of the U.S.

★ ★ ★

Bumblough said he did not live in Pontiac, but did business in the city. He said he is from Detroit and regional director of the Wallace for President drive, which includes Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

PERDICTED FAILURE

He predicted the ordinance would not stand up in a vote of the people.

"I believe everyone should have the right to sell to anyone they want to and that people have an obligation to their neighbors to protect their property," he said.

★ ★ ★

Bumblough invited anyone who wished to help oppose the ordinance to come to the Wallace Headquarters building at 544 E. Beverly.

Chance of Flurries, Warmer for Area

There's a chance of a few brief snow flurries or light snow showers tomorrow with temperatures due to be a little warmer.

Today's sunny skies will increase in cloudiness by tonight. The low is expected to be from 6 to 12 above.

Morning variable winds will become south to southeast at five to 15 miles per hour tonight.

Intermittent light snow is expected throughout the state tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 20, tonight and Thursday 50.

A frigid four above zero was the low in downtown Pontiac this morning. The temperature recording at 12:30 p.m. was 15.

Pontiac Div. Sales Top Period in 1967

Retail sales of 20,0000 Pontiacs, Tempests and Firebirds were reported during the middle 10 days of January, it was announced today by Thomas L. King, general sales manager for Pontiac Motor Division.

King said this compares to 19,002 new cars sold in the same period last year.

New N. Viet Division Infiltrates

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam has sent 10,000 more troops into South Vietnam's embattled northern provinces, and a defector says their goal is to wipe out American forces there to pave the way for negotiations, a senior U.S. officer reported today.

The American officer said the North Vietnamese 304th Division has infiltrated into western Quang Tri Province, where the U.S. Marines have been under heavy pressure this week.

The U.S. source said a lieutenant who defected from the new division told allied interrogators one communist objective was to launch an offensive against South Vietnam's two northern-most provinces which would "destroy American forces."

"A victory would be followed by negotiations," the defector said.

A number of high officials in the U.S. military command and the U.S. Embassy in Saigon believe that North Vietnam is about to launch a massive military campaign in an attempt to gain advantages for use at the negotiation table.

RUN BY MINISTRY

The lieutenant who defected was quoted as saying that the Communist battle plan against the northern frontier is considered so crucial that it is under the direction of the North Vietnamese Defense Ministry headed by Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the architect of the Communist victory over the French at Dien Bien Phu.

In western Quang Tri, meanwhile, ground action was light yesterday, but U.S. aircraft and artillery reportedly killed another 61 North Vietnamese around the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

★ ★ ★

In the biggest action of the day, U.S. air cavalrymen said they killed 128 Vietcong in an eight-hour battle on the Bong Son coastal plain, some 200 miles southeast of the demilitarized zone.

Cong Frees 2 U.S. POWs

SAION (AP) — U.S. officials announced today that the Vietcong had released two American servicemen who had been taken prisoner in South Vietnam.

A spokesman identified the two released captives as Marine Cpl. Jose Agosto Santos and Army Pfc. Luis Ortiz-Rivera.

The spokesman said Agosto Santos had been held by the Vietcong since May 14, 1967, and Ortiz-Rivera had been a captive since Dec. 21, 1966.

The spokesman said both men were released yesterday near Tam Ky, on the coast 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

He said they were taken to a hospital of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division for treatment and will be evacuated shortly to the United States.

NO DETAILS

The spokesman said he did not have the ages or home towns of the two men, nor could he give any details concerning the circumstances of their release.

It was the first known release of America prisoners since three U.S. servicemen were released by the Vietcong through Cambodia last November.

The Vietcong announced last week it had released 14 South Vietnamese officers on Jan. 8 in honor of the seventh anniversary of its political arm, the National Liberation Front.

Congress Mixed in Ship Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angrey demands for immediate retaliation mixed with calls for caution marked congressional raection to North Korea's seizre of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

A major question being asked at the Capitol Tuesday was why the ship had no protection.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., called the incident "an insult to our flag. It is a serious setback in our intelligence forces and it is an act that we should not tolerate."

He sent a telegram to President Johnson urging that the North Koreans be told the Pueblo would be retaken by force if she is not returned within a specified time.

SIMILAR NOTE

A similar note was sounded by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. He said the North Koreans should be told that if they don't release the Pueblo and her crew within 24 hours, "our naval forces will be instructed to seize all vessels of North Korean registry wherever they may be found on the high seas."

But the two senators were the exception to the general reaction that the United States should move slowly and through diplomatic channels before taking any retaliatory action.

As Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., a Foreign Relations Committeeman, put it: "This is a provacative incident but we have war worries enough on our hands without looking for another one."

★ ★ ★

BIGGEST QUESTION

Although any formal congressional investigation is likely to await further details about the incident, the biggest question in the minds of Congress members appeared to be: Why didn't the Pueblo have protection in an area where U.S. military power is great?

★ ★ ★

Some said they felt the Communists were carrying out a propaganda exercise in an attempt to belittle American military strength. They thought the vessel might be released, along with her 3-member crew, after the Communists had exhausted all possible efforts to humiliate the United States.

★ ★ ★

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he asked the Pentagon for details on why the ship, "did not undertake to defend itself in the two or thre ehours of the incident or call for air support."

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon said later the Pueblo didn't call for help until she was being boarded by North Korean sailors.

The ship, equipped with two machine guns, reported she had not used any weapons before becoming the first American naval vessel captured at sea since the Civil war. Some crew members reportedly were wounded.

Russell said if North Korea was trying to divert U.S. forces from Vietnam it wouldn't work.

★ ★ ★

"We are rather lightly spread all over the world but we are in a position to fulfill any commitments we have in Korea and maintain our position in North Vietnam," he said.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said intelligence-gathering activities of the type in which the Pueblo was engaged "certainly expose us to incidents of this kind."

SHIP'S MISSION

The mission of such a ship is to listen in on radio messages and to detect radar positions.

Fulbright called the incident serious "if, as reported, the ship was on the high seas."

Reflecting doubt whether American destroyers were actually attacked in the 1964 Tonkin Gulf incident—which spurred U.S. militaryexcalation in Vietnam—Fulbright said he was not willing to accept everything the Pentagon says as being "exactly according to the facts."

Republicans Hit LBJ on War, Home Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Republicans charge that gradualism and vacillation by President Johnson have prolonged the Vietnam war.

On the home front, the GOP says administration policies have failed to combat mounting crime and inflation.

Related Story, Page A-8

In their answer to President Johnson's State of the Union message, the Republicans called for "military success" in the war based on "effective utilization" of U.S. air and sea power.

And Republicans criticized "complacency, disunity and protest here at home" while warning the nation is losing the strategic superiority they claimed was built under Republican leadership during the 1950s.

★ ★ ★

The GOP spokesmen also renewed calls for reductions in federal spending and a transfer of programs from the national government to states and localities.

17 CONGRESSMEN

The Republican reply, featuring nine House members and eight senators, was carried live last night on the CBS radio-television networks.

Republican governors, numbering 26 of the nation's 50, were not included in the presentation which was introduced by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and had Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., as master of ceremonies.

An audience of Republican congressmen and senators in the auditorium of a Senate office building clapped enthusiastically before and after each speech, interrupting more than 50 times with applause.

★ ★ ★

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has given firm backing to President Johnson's Vietnam policies in previous years, was absent because of illness. Sen. John G. Tower carried the GOP banner on the war issue.

'POLICY OF GRADUALISM'

The Texas Republican accused the Johnson administration of following what he termed "a self-defeating policy of gradualism" which he said "caused us to pull our punches; it prolonged the fighting; it cost American lives unnecessarily.

"This war could be over today if the Johnson Administration had acted with determination instead of with vacillation," he added.

Tower said Republicans stand for "military success in Vietnam that will enable the Vienamese to rebuild a free nation," for "effective utilization of America's vast air and sea superiority" and for "quarantine of the enemy's supply lines so that he can no longer fight."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., charged: "This administration has developed a strange new doctrine — that Soviet strategic equality is better than American supremacy."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Charlotte T. Reid, R-Ill., one of whose two sons left for Vietnam last week, said she believes that "not only all parents, but all thinking Americans, are as deeply distressed as I am by complacency, disunity and protest here at home."

Great Britain Deplores Act by N. Koreans

LONDON (AP) — The British government today officially deplored North Korea's seizure of the U.S. ship Pueblo and expressed conviction the vessel was in international waters when she was boarded.

Officials also said Britain still regards as valid its commitment to help defend South Korea against unprovoked aggression.

★ ★ ★

In the first public reaction in the Soviet Union, the news agency Tass accused the United States of a provocation. It made no mention of a State Department statement that the United States had asked the Soviet Union to relay an appeal to North Korea to release the Pueblo.

Britain's reaction was voiced by a Foreign Office spokesman who said he was speaking on the authority of Foreign Secretary George Brown.

DETAILS REVEALED

"We deplore the seizure of the vessel, which was in international waters," the spokesman said.

Officials said the U.S. government had made available full details of the position of the Pueblo at the time of interception.

Light Radiation in B52 Crash

Four Hydrogen Bombs Not Yet Recovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force survey team near Thule, Greenland, reports discovering burn marks, blast fragments and a "negligible amount of radioactivity" where a B52 bomber carrying four hydrogen bombs burned and crashed.

★ ★ ★

The plane crashed Sunday on thick ice covering North Star Bay near Thule Air Force Base, and the bombs have not been recovered.

★ ★ ★

The Americans on the survey team, their Eskimo dogsled drivers and a Danish guide were exposed to a "limited amount of low-level radioactivity" during their two-hour inspection of the site Monday, the Pentagon said in a statement issued early today.

★ ★ ★

FLAMING FUEL

Radiation at the site was "light, fixed and closely confined" and occurred in an area roughly duplicating burn marks, apparently caused by flaming fuel from the stricken bomber, the Air Force team reported.

★ ★ ★

The flame-scorched area and small fragments of the plane found there indicate the B52 may have exploded on impact with the seven-foot-thick ice covering the bay, the team reported.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon said it was not determined whether the plane or any part of it burned into or through the ice and sank in about 800 feet of water.

None of the parts located, the Pentagon said, "were identified as nuclear weapons or parts of nuclear weapons."

★ ★ ★

It said the apparent fuel-burn area extends south from the impact point and covers an area about 50 by 500 yards. The radiation was found southwest of the impact point in an area 75 by 600 yards.

GM Worker-Stockholders in City Share $4.3 Million

Securities and cash totaling $4,338,000 have been credited to 2,924 salaried employes of General Motors' three divisions in Pontiac as a result of their participation in the 1962 class of the company's savings-stock purchase program.

★ ★ ★

In making the announcement, GM Chairman James Roche said the amount is equivalent to $2.66 for every dollar saved by all participaing employes.

A total of $122.8 million has been distributed this week to the more than 72,400 employes belonging to the program, according to Roche.

This is the eighth distribution since the inception of the program in 1955. Since then, employes have saved about $806 million.

★ ★ ★

This sum, together with the GM contribution, has been used to purchase $403 million in government bonds and 15.2 million shares of General Motors common stock.

ELIGIBILITY

GM employes having one year of more of continuous employment are eligible to participate in the program on a voluntary basis, with savings permitted up to 10 per cent of their salary.

Under the program, GM contributes $1 for each $2 of employe savings. One half of the employe savings is invested in government bonds and one-half in GM common stock.

The corporation contributions and all dividends are invested entirely in GM stock.

★ ★ ★

The following is a breakdown on the number of the benefitting employes at each of the three divisions in Pontiac and the amounts distributed locally:

★ ★ ★

● Pontiac Motor Division, 1,489 employes, $2,326,886.

● General Motors Corp. Truck & Coach Division, 1,249, $1,719,591.

Fisher Body Plant, 186 employes, $291,028.

Tonkin Probe Decision Due

Fulbright Committee to Study Staff Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee was expected to decide today whether to order a full-scale investigation into the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin incident.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., called a meeting of the committee to discuss a secret 20-page staff study of the North Vietnamese torpedo attack on American destroyers which led to the U.S. decision to bomb North Vietnam.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Iowa, ranking Republican on the committee, said he had seen the staff study and it produced little information that was not already available.

"There is nothing in it to justify an investigation," he said. But Hickenlooper was withholding a final judgement until today's meeting.

Fulbright ordered the study of the Gulf of Tonkin incident last year after a former Navy officer wrote the committee expressing doubts the attack ever occured.

Former Lt. (J.G.) John W. White of New Haven, Conn., claimed the chief sonarman of one of the two American destroyers involved in the engagement told him he saaw no sign of enemy torpedoes, as the Pentagon reported at the time.

Fulbright felt the allegations were worth looking into, at least casually, and ordered the staff to obtain ship's logs and Pentagon reports on the incident. The chairman also met privately with White earlier this month in his office.

The staff so far has relied entirely on voluntary information, such as White's, and has sought out no witnesses.

Local Housing Law Gets Preliminary OK

Negroes should not be stifled in this general movement, he said.

CAST LAST VOTE

Taylor, who cast the last vote, spoke of the city's continuing efforts to improve racial conditions and said, "We've got to move and we've got to forget these prejudices.

"I'm going to stay on the side of what I believe in. I think it is right. I think we will be proven right."

Probably the most emotionally stirring speech came from Commissioner Hudson, who received the loudest applause.

★ ★ ★

Hudson said the reaching of racial accord is a problem that won't go away.

'RESPONSIBILITY OF CONGRESS'

He said open housing legislation shouldn't be necessary at the local or state level and called it a responsibility of the Congress to pass laws so that "all states treat everyone with respect."

Hudson acknowledge that the ordinance, if passed, would assuredly be challenged by petitions for a referendum vote, and would likely be defeated by a referendum vote.

But, this "doesn't mean the majority is right," he said.

He advised those backing an open-housing law "to take heart. . . Eventually we will win because we are right in asking for an open-occupancy ordinance for the City of Pontiac."

LITTLE SIGNIFICANCE

Irwin said the open housing law would have little significance in changing housing patterns.

He said the ordinance would force people to take a stand and develop "lines of antagonism" creating a split in the community.

"What are we going to gain? Are we gaining understanding?"

★ ★ ★

Irwin cited a poll taken recently by State Rep. Arthur Law as basis for his statement that the majority of the city was against a state open-housing law.

'DEFINITELY AGAINST IT'

"I am definitely against any legislation which would withdraw or restrict an individual's right to sell or lease his property."

Dugan, roundly criticized Hudson for speaking against the amendment which would put the ordinance to a popular vote.

Irwin also said it was incomprehensible that anyone would be against the popular vote. "You are forcing them to go out and get 1,200 signatures" for a referendum election, he said.

★ ★ ★

Hudson said it "would be plain cowardice" to vacate the commission's leadership role and turn over the responsibility to the voters.

'PRESSURE GROUP'

Dugan said passage of the ordinance woud be giving in to "a pressure group."

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Wood called it "a political issue." He said the ordinance isn't needed and claimed that the citizens of his district and of the city don't want it.

Birmingham Area News

Commission Postpones Hearings on Rezonings

BIRMINGHAM—The City Commission has postponed to April 29 two public hearings on properties in the Ann Street area.

★ ★ ★

The adjournment, at the request of City Planner William Brownfield, will allow additional information regarding potential worth of Woodward frontage in the area to be compiled.

The hearings, previously scheduled for Feb. 7, are to be on vacation of an alley between Landon and Lincoln, and rezoning of property west of Ann to parking.

The commission then gave the final go-ahead for an economic analysis of the Woodward frontage.

★ ★ ★

The "cash-flow" analysis, recommended by the planning board, will consider uses such as multiple family dwellings, office buildings and commercial development for the property, and estimate its value in each case.

'GENERAL' STUDY

Brownfield said the study, a "very general" one, would be finished within three weeks. He requested the rescheduling of the hearings to permit complete recommendations to be made to the commission.

In other recent business, the commission has approved plans of the city parks and recreation board to expand the "casual recreation" program.

★ ★ ★

In recommending the expansion, Board Chairman Lou Sharkoff noted that a report from the casual recreation committee had stated that of all participation in city-sponsored recreation programs last year, one-half was in casual recreation.

Astro-Scientists Might Leave Space Program

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A number of the nation's 16 scientist astronauts are unhappy with the space program, and some may quit in the near future, a highly placed source said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The scientists' discontent springs from two sore points, the source said:

● They feel the 75 per cent of their time devoted to training in the arts of space flight has not left enough time for laboratory research and studies, causing them to eall behind former colleagues outside the space program.

★ ★ ★

● Cuts in the space budget have postponed or canceled America's science-oriented space flights. These flights were the ones which attracted the scientists to the astronaut corps in the first place.

"It's a rather widespread thing abmong the experimenter types, who feel they've been let down — been led down the primrose path," the source said.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has a total of 55 astronauts, 39 of them pilots rather than scientists. None has flown in space since 1966, and the next manned space flight is not expected until late this summer.

★ ★ ★

"If you think we're anxious to get flying again, how do you think these guys feel?" one of the veteran pilots asked recently. "They've got a long wait ahead of them."

DOCTORAL DEGREES

All the scientist-spacemen hold doctoral degrees in subjects ranging from medicine to physics and astronomy. Two groups have beenpicked — six men in 1965 and 11 others last August. One member of the first group dropped out of the space program just after he was named.

"With the heavy science flights vanishing or being pushed into the future," the source said, "There is unhappiness. I know at least a half dozen scientists who share this."

In the next fiscal year, informed sources say, the space budget could drop to $4 billion or below.

Avon Parents Sue Hospital

The parents of a 13-year-old Avon Township girl yesterday sued St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for $60,000, charging that an employe molested their daughter while she was a patient a year ago.

In the suit filed in Oakland County Circuit Court, the couple charged that an off-duty male employe took indecent liberties with their daughter on Jan. 27, 1967. He is no longer employed by the hospital.

The alleged incident was investigated at the time by Pontiac police, but, according to Sgt. Mary Caronis, the parents decided they didn't want to prosecute.

"They felt it wasn't healthy for their daughter to prosecute," according to the policewoman.

★ ★ ★

In asking for damages, the parents contend that the hospital failed to provide safe quarters and survellience of the pediatrics ward where the girl was a patient.

They say that the emotional shock suffered by their daughter requires special medical care.

Avon Youth Sentenced for Injuring Teen

An Avon Township youth was sentenced yesterday to 4 to 20 years in the state prison at Jackson for kidnaping and feloniously assaulting a Rochester teen-ager nearly a year ago.

The prison term was ordered for John L. Kildow, 19, of 3181 Grant by Oakland County Circuit Judge William R. Beasely.

Kildow was found guilty by a jury last month of causing John Kinzie, 17, of 601 Quarter to lose his left eye.

The incident occurred Feb. 13, 1967, after Kildow and Darrell J. Cote, 20, of 575 Briarvale, Avon Township, gave a ride to the hitchhiking Kinzie.

WAITING TRIAL

The driver of the car, Cote is waiting trial on a kidnaping charge only. He has waived a jury trial.

Kildow was convicted after he admitted that he had smashed a beer bottle over Kinzie's head. The broken glass slashed Kinzie's eye.

Kinzie told the jury that he was struck by Kildow when he grabbed the wheel in an attempt to force the car off the road.

★ ★ ★

He said they were talking about killing him, and "I had nothing to lose."

He finally escaped by diving through an open window when the car slowed down for a traffic signal.

Kildow said that he and Cote were only "joking" and that he struck Kinzie to protect himself from being injured if the car went out of control.

County Sets Clinic for Dog Shots, Tags

The first in a month-long series of clinics operated by the Oakland County Animal Welfare Division for the inoculation and licensing of dogs will be held Sunday in the Central Garage in the county service center.

For the first time in recent years, the clinics will have the services of private veterinarians working in cooperation with the division and the county department of health, according to Dr. F. Hugh Wilson, director of the animal welfare division.

Licenses purchased through the county cost $1 for male or spayed dogs and $2 for females until Feb. 29. After that date the fees are $5 and $7.50, respectively.

In addition to the license fee there is a $2 charge for the rabies vaccination.

The innoculation can also be obtained from a private veterinarian, said Wilson. The Veterinarian will then issue a certificate enabling the dog owner to purchase a license.

Certain communities issue their own dog license. In these municipalities, proof of current innoculation also is required before the license can be obtained.

The treasurer's office in the following communities issue their own licenses: Pontiac, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingahm, Rochester, Sylvan Lake, Troy, Waterford Township and Bloomfield Township.

The following schedule lists the dates and the locations of the county operated clinics in February. All will be open from 1 to 4 p.m.

Feb. 3 — Novi Township Hall, 25850 Novi, and the Holly Township Fire Hall; Feb. 4 — Milford Township Fire Hall and the Brandon-Ortonville; Fire Hall, Ortonville; Feb. 10 — Avon-Rochester Precinct Hall, 276 W. Auburn and the Wixom Municipal Building, 49045 Pontiac Trail.

Feb. 11 — Central County Garage, 1200 N. Telegraph; Feb. 17 — Oakland Township Hall, 4393 Collins, and the White Lake Township Hall, M59 and Porter Road; Feb. 24 — Farmington Township Fire Hall, 21420 Wheeler, and Groveland Township Hall, 4695 Grange Hall; and Feb. 25 — the Central County Garage.

THE PONTIAC PRESS, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1968 B—1

Many Area Women Work on Grand Opera Week

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

The great hall in the Detroit Institute of Arts has been transformed into a beautiful garden Monday afternoon when opera friends gathered for their yearly luncheon meeting.

Each table was decorated with an arrangement of spring flowers and above the honor table colorful musical instruments decorated the wall.

Mrs Ralph McElvenny, chairman of the women's committee presided.

★ ★ ★

Francis Robinson of the Metropolitan was the principal speaker. Serious attention was given to his humorous and informative speech about the opera performances which will be presented in the Masonic Temple May 20-25. This is the Detroit Grand Opera Association's silver anniversary to be commemorated in a special souvenir program, which is in the hands of Reuben Ryding, vice president of the Detroit Grand Opera.

Among the 250 guests at the luncheon were Mesdames: Henry Whiting Jr., Lynn Townsend, Theodore O. Yntema, Howard B. Barker, Eric Bergishagen, M. M. Burgess, Raymond Doss, Carson E. Dalton, Philip Flanders, John French, Harold A. Fitzgerald, Sixten Ehrling, Roy Hawkinson, George Harris, Kenneth Manuel, Sam B. Williams and Harry Wieting.

Saturday evening Mrs. Marguerite I. Engel entertained some 200 guests in her new Lake Angelus home.

The champagne and buffet supper party was in honor of her new daughter-in-law and son, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Engel, who have recently located here. It was also an occasion to see her new, friendly neighbors.

Paul's good friend, Gregg Christopher, came from Washington, D. C. to partake in the festivities; Mr. and Mrs. John Steinhauser, who have resided in Geneva, Switzerland for numerous years, were present as well as old time family friends, Dr. and Mrs. William T. Mackersie and Mr. and Mrs. Morton Graddis.

★ ★ ★

Among the neighbors were Mr. and Mrs. Newton Skillman, the Alton Deutsers, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hays and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hays.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen L. Goodale, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Subrata Ghosh, Richard Tull, James Votta, the William R. VanderKloots and Dr. and Mrs. David DiChiera.

What Is She Obligated to Do in This Case?

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a hostess ask her guests' preferences when she invites them to dinner? I asked a family to dinner recently and was told by the wife that the husband and son preferred chocolate cake and would eat only a certain brand of another food.

★ ★ ★

Should a hostess prepare both coffee and tea so that guests may have a choice? Also, is it correct to arrive 45 minutes before the appointed dinner time? — Mrs. J. Kelly.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Kelly: The best advice I can give you is to drop these friends from your prospective guest list!

• Guests have no right to state what they want for dinner, and a hostess has no obligation to ask.

• A hostess need not prepare both tea and coffee, but it is considerate to have caffein-free coffee available for those who want it. Of course, if you have boiling water ready, either instant caffein-free coffee or a cup of tea made with a tea bag is ready in an instant.

• Arriving 45 minutes early is worse than arriving 45 minutes late. No hostess should be expected to be ready more than a few minutes before the stated hour.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband works for a large company. Each year at Christmas all the employees and their families receive a nice gift, accompanied by the business card of the man in charge of the company. Does this call for a thank-you note?—Irene.

★ ★ ★

Dear Irene: No, a thank-you note is not required if this is a company policy for all employees. If, on occasion, some personnel receive presents — perhaps for a special service rendered — such gifts must be acknowledged.

Tell Daughters the Truth

Mom Makes a Financial 'Goof'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband died 10 years ago and left me a small estate which was to be security for my old age. Well, I have three daughters and one son. They are all married and have families.

ABBY

The girls have good, hard-working husbands, who provide well for them, but my son has had such hard luck. He dropped out of high school so he can't get a very good-paying job. My daughters' children have nice clothes, music lessons, good bicycles, and things like that, so naturally, my son feels that his kids are enttiled to have it as good as their cousins, so he has asked me to help him out. I have helped him about as much as I can, and now all my money is used up.

My son can't pay me back, so now I have to go to live with someone. I kind of planned on living with my son, but he says a mother's place is with her daughters, not her son. What am I to do? If I tell my daughters where my money has gone they will surely be mad.

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR WORRIED: Your son seems more familiar with hard LUCK than hard WORK. You were foolish to have given your "security" money to your son. His children were "entitled" to only what their father was able to provide for them. Tell your daughters the truth, and take your medicine.

DEAR ABBY: When a man marries a girl fresh out of college he doesn't expect to get the world's greatest cook and housekeeper. But how brainy does a girl have to be to know she shouldn't starch her husband's underwear?

UNCOMFORTABLE

DEAR UNCOMFORTABLE: That's a pretty stiff question. Give her time.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I feel I must talk to someone about a problem that has been on my mind for a long time. It's my mentally retarded niece, I'll call "Lucy."

She can't go to school with normal children Lucy's mother has taken a daytime job outside the home. Not that she needs the money, she says the child gets on her nerves and she has to get away.

This mother will put Lucy off on anyone who will keep her. I've kept her quite a lot myself. She's a sweet child and seems willing to learn, but Abby, I have four of mine to look after.

Shouldn't Lucy's mother stay at home and teach that unfortunate child to do things for herself, so she won't go through life depending on others to do things for her?

Lucy is now 14, and she needs the teaching that only a mother can give a daughter that age if you know what I mean. Should I take Lucy full time? Maybe I should. Your answer will ease my mind.

CONCERNED AUNT

DEAR CONCERNED: Yes, take Lucy. That you would write shows you have a heart and a conscience. You say Lucy can't go to school with "normal" children. I hope she is going to a school for retarded children. If not, please call your local Board of Education for information on such schools, and see that Lucy attends. God bless you.

Pink 'Doll' ---Red Face!

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—As Mrs. Richard Ogden was shopping in a store here, the department store detective halted her and said: "Would you like to pay for that item?" She assured him she had and help up for inspection the shopping bag she was carrying.

★ ★ ★

But the detective again asked: "What about the doll under your arm?"

Mrs. Ogden showed him the "doll"—her 5-month old daughter, Monica, sound asleep, bundled in a pink jumper and snuggled under her mother's arm.

Use leftover rolls of wallpaper for outdoor tablecloths for picnics and informal children's parties. They are pretty and can be discarded when you are through with them.

Shirt's the Thing

The shirt is everywhere this spring. It can overflow with ruffles and jabots and the long sleeves are cuffed at the wrist. The shirt sparks suits, tucks under jumpers and adds a third dimension to suit looks.

Lack of Facilities Big Obstacle

Community College Coaching Job: Trial by Dedication

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Even a super salesman might shy away from the product which young Lynn Reed is trying to market these days.

Although just 27, Reed is one of the many young men thrust into head coaching positions at community and junior colleges around the state and

LYNN REED

Reed is a transplanted New Yorker, coming here in 1965 following his graduation from Fresno State in California.

He came here when Oakland Community College was opened and became head basketball coach at the Highland Lakes campus in Union Lake.

* * *

He's not only the head coach, but the trainer and equipment manager as well. And he's the only talen scout and the No. 1 recruiter.

COLLEGE 'MINORS'

Realistically, the community and junior colleges are the minor leagues of college athletics, the bottom of the barrel so to speak, and only individuals with a lot of that overused word — dedication — can cut the mustard.

Reed has that. When you realize the handicaps under which he is now working, then one realizes the depth of his

He has problems aplenty, and baic to them all is the lack of athletic facilities atHighland LAAKES.

There'sn o gym, no equipment room, no training room, none of those facilities that are usually foun dat the four-year colleges.

* * *

With that in mind, then, coach Reed turns recruiter and attempts to sell a young man on the merits of Oakland Community College — Highland Lakes branch, of course.

* * *

Therein lies another problem. There are two campuses of OCC — Highland Lakes and Auburn Hills — and another near operation — Orchard Ridge near Northville — and each has its own recruiting area.

* * *

NO FACILITIES

Actually, there are no athletic facilities at Highland Lakes. There are some on the way, probably next year, but at present Reed and his basketball team are a little band of nomads who practice at three different places a week.

* * *

"Four nights a week we don't have showers, and it's hard to keep kids motivated under those conditions," says Reed.

Reed is in his second year as basketball coach and cross-country coach, so he and is teams are getting used to the facilities or lack kf them.

"We laugh about it ourselves," says Reed, who hasn't lost his sense of humor despite the circumstances, which include losing ball games.

"My car's cluttered with basketball stuff. The ice packs . . . basketballs are ice cold . . . it takes a while to warm them up. There are other things, too, but I'm not complaining."

* * *

"I can brag about my cross-country record," he was saying (36-5 won-lost-record). "The thing is, I don't have much knowledge about cross-country. Basketball is supposed to be my sport," he laughs.

ON LOSING SIDE

Then, he ticks off his basketball record. The team was 6-13 last year. They own a 3-10 mark so far this season.

* * *

The future looks bright for Highland LAKES AND Reed. "I'm young and have little experience, so the job is a good opportunity for me," says Reed of the basketball and cross-country jobs.

With the accent on winning, at every level of competition, Reed encounters his most difficult problem in the role of recruiter. He has far less to offer than bigger schools.

"It's (Highland Lakes) a big letdown for kids who have had a lot in high school," Reed was saying in talking about recruitment policies.

* * *

"I never say anything about playing conditions unless a player asks. There's a lot of opportunity at the college, and I try to bring this out in some handouts which I give them.

PERSONAL CONTACT

"This year I've called on 250 athletes. I always call them personally . . . write and call . . .

* * * *

"After calling, I invite them to the campus and show them around."

"We don't have anything to offer such as an athletic scholarship. There's no special consideration just for athletes.

"Our players are here for the love of the game, but sometimes, by the time some get here, their love for the game has diminished."

Red Wings' Howe in All-Star Lineup

Gordie Garners Spot on Squad for 18th Time

From Our News Wire

NEW YORK — Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings won the right wing spot on the mid-season National Hockey League All-Star team released today.

Howe was a near-unanimous choice, drawing 58 of a possible 60 points in the voting conducted among the 12 league coaches.

Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, Chicago's high scoring forwards, and defenseman Bobby Orr of Boston were named unanimously.

Goalie Johnny Bower and defenseman Tim Horton of Toronto also made the first team.

Howe, 39, a member of the All-Star teams a record 18 times during his first 21 seasons, had a wide margin over right wingers.

Gary Bergman of Detroit, never before selected to the All-Star squad, won a spot on the second team at defense.

OTHER WINGS

Three other Red Wings received points in the voting. Norm Ullman received four points at center, captain Alex Delvecchio received four points—three at center and one at left wing; and defenseman Kent Douglas received three points.

The New York Rangers of the league's East Division and the six expansion teams in the new West Division were completely shut out as the five other East Division clubs dominated the second team.

SECOND TEAM

Selected for the second team were right winger John McKenzie and left winger Johnny Bucyk of Boston, center Mike Walton of Toronto, defensemen Pierre Pilote of Chicago and Gary Bergman of Detroit and goalie Gump Worsley of Montreal.

Hull, Mikita and Orr each received the maximum 60 points in the voting based on five points for a first-place vote, three for second and one for third.

The vote by position on a 5-3-1 point basis:
Goal—Johnny Bower, Toronto, 26; Gump Worsley, Montreal, 24; Bernie Parent, Philadelphia, 15; Denis DeJordy, Chicago, 13; Glenn Hall, St. Louis, 11; Doug Favell, Philadelphia, 8; Ed Giacomin, New York, 5; Charlie Hodge, Oakland, 3; Cesare Maniago, Minnesota, Les Binkley, Pittsburgh and Wayne Rutledge, Los Angeles, 1 each.
Defense—Bobby Orr, Boston, 60; Tim Horton, Toronto, 40; Pierre Pilote Chicago, 31; Garry Bergman, Detroit, 17; J.C. Tremblay, Montreal, 14; Pat Stapleton, Chicago, 8; Jacques Laperriere, Montreal, and Ed Van Impe, Philadelphia, 7 each; Harry Howell, New York, 6; Doug Jarrett, Chicago, 5; Kent Douglas, Detroit, Jim Neilson, New York, Dallas Smith and Ted Green, Boston, and Bill White and Dale Rolfe, Los Angeles, 3 each; Joe Watson, Philadelphia, Bob Woytwich, Minnesota, and Bob Wall, Los Angeles, 1 each.
Center—Stan Mikita, Chicago, 60; Mike Walton, Toronto, 15; Phil Esposito, Boston, 14; Fred Stanfield, Boston, 5; Norm Ullman, Detroit, and Phil Goyette, New York, 4 each; Alex Delvecchio, Detroit, and Jean Beliveau, Montreal, 3 each.
Right wing—Gordie Howe, Detroit, 58; John McKenzie, Boston, 23; Ken Wharram, Chicago, 20; Rod Gilbert, New York, 4; Ron Ellis, Toronto, Bob Nevin, New York, and Leon Rochefort, Philadelphia, 1 each.

Broken Bone Hinders Willie Shoemaker

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Willie Shoemaker, perhaps the most famous jockey in the world today, broke a bone in his right thigh in a spill at Santa Anita race track and there's no telling when he will ride again.

The mishap to the 36-year-old Texas-born "Shoe," who has ridden many of the world's best known thoroughbreds, the latest of which is Damascus, happened in the second race Tuesday.

It is the most serious injury in his 19-year career. He was in many previous spills, but always escaped with minor bruises.

STOPPING A SCORE — Jim King (21) of the West fouls the East's Hal Greer in the third period of the National Basketball Association's All-Star game last night in New York. Greer, a guard for the Philadelphia 76ers, picked up a couple of foul shots on the play. The smooth Greer also scored 19 points in the third quarter and won the Most Valuable Player award. King is from the San Francisco Warriors. The East won, 144-124.

PNH, Waterford Wrestlers Keep Unbeaten Marks

Pontiac Northern and Waterford posted victories yesterday in extending their unbeaten wrestling streaks.

The Huskies of PNH (9-0) blanked Kettering, 40-0, while Waterford (9-0) knocked off Madison, 27-13. In another match, Rochester (9-2) turned back Roseville Brablec, 48-6.

Waterford and Pontiac Northern now turn to Inter-Lakes League action. Northern entertains Livonia Stevenson while Waterford visits powerful Walled Lake Friday.

Bob Brodsky scored six points in the second overtime and finished with 21 last night in leading Southfield Lathrup (6-4) to a 71-70 victory over Southgate Aquinas. Dennis Tallon posted 39 points for the losers.

East Coach Turns Greer Loose in 144-124 Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Alex Hannum, holding a fistful of aces, played his cards right and the East easily turned up with the winning hand in the National Basketball Association AllStar game.

Calling on a smattering of talent, pride, competition and teamwork, the East clobbered the West 144-124 Tuesday night before a record 18,422 fans in Madison Square Garden.

The winning pot was not much —$500 for the winners and $300 for the losers—but it served to help rub out the memory of last year's 145-120 upset victory by the West. The East had won four straight before that game and now has captured 12 of 18 classics.

Hannum, coaching the East after leading Philadelphia to the NBA title last year, made sure his players knew what we're playing for.

With the West, a 10-point underdog without injured Nate Thurmond, trying to draw to an inside straight for a second consecutive year, the East wasted little time making it known it was not going to happen.

EARLY ADVANTAGE

Oscar Robertson's 13 points and 12 by John Havlicek helped the East to an early 14-point lead which the West managed to cut to 64-59 at the half. And when Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and Jim King put the West ahead momentarily early in the third quarter, the East played its trump card—Hal Greer.

The Philadelphia guard scored seven straight points for an 80-75 lead and continued on to outscore the West 14-4 for an 87-79 spread and it grew from there. Greer finished with 19 points in the quarter, an AllStar record, and totaled 21 for the game. His performance won him the Most Valuable Player award.

King of San Francisco was guarding Greer during most of his barrage, although Warrior teammate Al Attles normally hapdles the hotshot guard in regular NBA games.

"When the thing broke loose, Hal had the hot hand," Hannum said.

"Hal got several baskets coming off screens by Wilt Chamberlain. I wanted to make sure Wilt and Hal played together; the same with Bill Russell and Havlicek. They're used to working together."

St. Bonaventure Routs Detroit Five, 103-74

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — Fifthranked St. Bonaventure, with Bill Butler and Bob Lanier showing the way, coasted to a 103-74 basketball victory over Detroit Tuesday.

Butler and Lanier, who hit for 29 and 28 points, respectively, were helped in the winning effort by Bill Kalbaugh, who stole the ball eight times, as well as scoring 11 points.

The Bonnies, ahead 55-36 at halftime, widened the gap in the second period with their fastbreaking offense.

The win was undefeated St. Bonaventure's 14th. Detroit is 10-6.

AT PEAK — This picture of Joe Medwick, who was inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame yesterday, was made when Joe was at the peak of his playing career with the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1930's. Now 56, Medwick played with the Cardinals from 1932 until 1940 and again briefly in 1947 and 1948.

Medwick in Hall

Long 'Slump' Ends

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Medwick's "longest slump" is over and the one-time swashbuckling slugger of the St. Louis Cardinals' 1934 Gas House Gang is a proud new member of baseball's Hall of Fame.

The long wait ended for the 56-year old Medwick Tuesday when he was voted into the Hall by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The Natonal League's Triple Crown winner and Most Valuable Player in 1937 will be officially inducted next July at Cooperstown, N. Y.

A frequent critic of the voting, Medwick made no secret of his joy over finally being elected.

"This is the happiest day of my life and I feel like a June bride," he said when notified in St. Louis. "I've been disappointed many times before but it was worth the wait. Being named to the Hall of Fame really rounds out my career. I've had everything else, including Most Valuable Player, World Series games and All-Star appearances."

Medwick, who played for the Cardinals, Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants and Boston Braves between 1932 and 1947, compiled a lifetime .324 batting average. He was a line drive "bad ball" hitter who included 205 homers, 113 triples and 540 doubles among his 2467 hits.

"I felt like I was in a 20-year slump," he said, referring to the years in which he failed to win election. "And that was the longest of my career."

Medwick had his best season in 1937 when he led the National League with a .374 average, 154 runs batted in and tied Mel Ott for the home run leadership with 31 each. He was the last National Leaguer to win the Triple Crown and his 64 doubles in 1936 are still the league record.

Army Assistant Takes Grid Post

By the Associated Press

Bill Meek is leaving Army to become head football coach at the University of Utah.

The assistant to Tom Cahill, head coach at West Point, was named to his new post Tuesday by the Utah board of regents. He was given a three-year contract at $18,000 a year and permission to appoint five assistants.

Meek's appointment to succeed the resigned Mike Giddings was one of several changes in the coaching ranks Tuesday.

In the others, Eddie Kriwiel became head coach at Wichita State succeeding Boyd Converse and Jerry Lyons resigned as head coach at Portland State.

Among the pros, Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns was given a new three-year contract as head coach of the National Football League club.

Dub Jones resigned as offensive coach and will be replaced by Nick Skorich, defensive coach last season. Dick Modzelewski will take over as defensive coach.

Cold Highlanders Drop 91-62 Verdict to Alpena Quintet

The Highlanders of Highland Lakes hit a cold streak midway in the first half but their opponent never slowed down and the result was a 91-62 victory for Alpena last night.

"The score doesn't seem like it, but we played a good game," said coach Lynn Reed. "We had good shots from in close, but the ball wouldn't go in."

With the score tied at 22-22 and nine minutes left in the first half, the Highlanders managed only six more points while Alpena flipped in 24 to take a 46-28 lead at intermission.

Jerry Wright and Ed Pruiett led the Highlanders with 12 points apiece, while Pete Jones paced a balanced Alpena quintet with 21.

The Highlanders played without a couple of starters. High-scoring John Olander was dismissed from the team earlier in the week for disciplinary reasons, and forward Tim Moller, one of the team's top rebounders, was in an automobile accident Monday night and suffered severe cuts.

I Bet You Didn't Know

Ever wonder why golf courses have 18 holes instead of some other number? . . . Actually, in the early days of golf's development in England, different courses did have different numbers of holes . . . For example, did you know that when the first British Open was played at the Prestwick Club in 1860, that course had only 12 holes . . . Some other courses then had 7 holes, some had 8, some had 14 . . . But the most famous course, the St. Andrews Club of Scotland, just happened to have 18 holes — and in the years following 1860, other courses increased to 18 holes merely to follow the pattern set by St. Andrews . . . And, thus 18 holes became the standard for golf courses everywhere.

Did you know that a man can be the winning pitcher in a baseball game even though he never threw a pitch to a batter! . . . How is this possible? . . . This actually happened once in a minor league game . . . A relief hurler came into the game with two out in the top of the 9th . . . Before throwing a pitch to the plate, he picked the runner off first base retiring the side . . . Then, his team scored the winning run in the last of the 9th, and he was the winning pitcher.

Linden Stops Ortonville '5'

Cold Black Hawks Drop 64-53 Verdict

Linden warmed up fast in Ortonville Brandon's gymnasium last night and rolled to a 64-53 decision in a Genesee County Suburban contest.

★ ★ ★

Paced by Thad Cook and Glynn Welchans, the visitors (7-2) grabbed a 21-6 first quarter and hiked it to 41-20 at halftime. Cook collected 12 of his 20 points in that first quarter and Welchans picked up eight of his 24 during the same frame.

The Black Hawks came back in the second half to outscore the opposition, 33-23, but they couldn't overcome that early deficit.

Dave Tuttle tossed in 16 points for Brandon (2-7), while teammate Jim Krug netted 10. The Black Hawks journey to Hartland for a Friday night game.

EAST LANSING (AP) — Sam Williams proved Michigan State basketball coach John Benington a good prophet, even though Benington probably would rather forget it.

Said Benington before the Spartans' Big Ten game with Iowa Tuesday night: "If we can keep Williams down to 25 points, we can win the game."

★ ★ ★ ★

Michigan State used three players trying to keep the former Detroit high school star from going over his 25-point game scoring average, but it didn't work.

Williams shook them all loose to score 33 points, boosting the Hawkeyes past a 38-32 halftime deficit to a 76-71 victory over the favored Spartans.

THIRD WIN

The victory, Iowa's third in four games, lifted the Hawkeyes to a first-place tie with idle Wisconsin. The Spartans, Big Ten defending cochampions, fell to eighth place with a 3-2 record.

It was also the first loss for the Spartans at home in 25 outings.

Williams, scoring 19 points in the second half, fouled out of the game with 1:16 left with Iowa leading 70-65.

★ ★ ★ ★

Iowa led 74-67 but the Spartans closed the gap to within three, 74-71, on a field goal by Harrison Stepter and two free throws by Haywood Edwards with 29 seconds remaining.

But Iowa iced the game with free throws by Chad Calabria with four seconds remaining.

"This was a tough one for us to lose," Benington said. "That kid Williams can kill you. In the tight ball game, he puts you at a disadvantage."

Guard John Bailey led the Spartans in scoring with 16 points and Bernie Copeland, assigned to defend against Williams, followed with 15 even though fouling out with 9:10 remaining.

Lee Lafayette had 14 points for MSU and was high in rebounds with 15.

Highland Lakes to Play Nikes

He love of the game, but sometimes, by the time some get here, their love for the game has diminished."

★ ★ ★

With new though temporary athletic facilities planned for next year at Auburn Hills and Highland Lakes, plus permanent accommodations at Orchard Ridge, Reed has a better selling point than he's had in the past couple of years.

OTHER SIDE

Continuing on the positive side of the ledger, Reed noted that some kids just good enough to sit on a bench at some four-year school would get a lot of playing time at Highland Lakes.

★ ★ ★

Noted, also, by Reed, is the tendency of many major colleges to rely on junior and community colleges for talent.

Reed sees such a situation for the three branches of Oakland Community College.

Athletes just out of high school could spend a couple years at OCC, and if they perform well enough, they might get a chance to continue their play at some four-year school.

Coming up on the schedule Friday night for Reed and the Highlanders is a contest with Auburn Hills 'Nikes.

Brighton Hits at Charity Line in 67-62 Win

Accuracy at the free throw line paid off for Brighton last night, enabling the Bulldogs to squeeze out a 67-62 victory over Holly.

★ ★ ★

The victory gave Brighton (3-5) possession of sixth place in the Wayne-Oakland League, a game ahead of Holly (2-6).

The host Bulldogs made only 18 field goals while Holly was collecting 20, but they made 31 of 48 attempts at the free throw line to sew up the decision. Holly connected on 22 of 40 in a game during which 5 2 personal fouls were called, 27 on the visitors.

Rick Wellman, Bob Musch and Randy Needham came through with 12 points apiece to pace the Brighton attack and teammate Dave Brooks added 11.

Tom Hayes picked up 14 and Tom Roeder 13 for Holly.

Win Streak Ends for Lapeer Five

Lapeer's winning streak was snapped at three games last night as the Panthers dropped a 78-72 decision to Port Huron Northern.

The winners romped to a 37-26 lead at halftime and held off the Lapeer (4-7) quintet in the second half.

Jack Carr tossed in 25 points, Andy McLain had 16 and Steve Henry 17 to spark the Port Huron Northern (3-7) attack.

Don Rice led Lapeer with 20 markers, while Dave Leonard tossed in 19 and Bill DesJardins 12.

Cranbrook Wins

Bing Gordon kicked away 14 shots and his teammates backed him with accurate firepower yesterday as Cranbrook ran its hockey record to 8-3-2 by blanking Lakeshore, 4-0.

Norm Lerchen, Charlie Craig, Enis Berker and Pete Robinson checked in with goals for the Cranes.

BOWLING

Dick Beamer rated the spotlight last week in the Huron Bowl Wednesday night Class A Men's League with a resounding 286 game and 666 series

No other league member came close to Beamer's efforts. Joe Geroux hit a 613 and Don Bays, had a 238 game. Bill Rogers (236) Dave Bertucci (233) and Chuck Law (232) also topped 230.

National Bank of Rochester attempts to continue its hot streak tonight in the North Hill Lanes Classic. The bankmen boosted their record to 11 points out of a possible 12 in last week's action.

Jim Curnutte's 239-225—665, a 245-225—660 by Chuck McClune and Don Evans' 254-200—651 led the individual scoring last week.

Denis Market saw its 300 Bowl Classic first place cushion shrink to six points last Thursday as Wohlfeil-Dee Engineering registered 1045—3024 totals to take eight points and improved its runner-up ranking.

Lenny Drake posted a 232-220—652, Elmer Dixon a 223-217—650 combination Meryl Taulbee 220-244—647 and Chuck Messer 242-228 — 647. Bob Young's 268 was the top game. Ron Rothbarth hit a 243 and Ray Bishop a 242.

★ ★ ★

An unusual occurence at Birmingham Bowl found teammates Kaye Sheldon, Carol Dittrich, Fran Long and Betty Crego all hitting 200 on the nose in their final Oakland Hills Country Club women's league game last Friday. It was Mrs. Sheldon's first 200 in more than 30 years of bowling.

That night at Howe's Lanes Lou VanDruska featured the Senior Classic activity with his 228-243—657. Ed Szot (245-626), Ray Giroux (246) and Jack Topham (208-218—625) each had their moments.

Andover Skiing Teams Triumph

The girls and boys ski teams of Bloomfield Hills Andover posted victories yesterday at Mt. Holly in competition with Waterford and Clarkston.

The girls, still unbeaten this season, posted a time of 182.3. Waterford (188.2) was second and Clarkston (242.0) third.

Andover's Marlen Jarosz (51.-3) placed first and teammate Barb Goode (60.7) third. Debbie Morris (55.9) of Waterford was second.

Jeff Smith (43.9) and Rick Reininger (50.4) placed two-three to spark the Andover boys' victory. Andover totaled 208.2, followed by Waterford (217.1) and Clarkston (247.5). Waterford's Gary Edwards won the event in 42.9.

4 County Tankers Representing U.S. in Canada Meet

Five state swimmers — four from Oakland County—will represent the United States in the Canadian-American dual meet Saturday and Sunday at the University of Alberta.

The five were selected for the two-day meet on the basis of qualifying times against swimmers from other Michigan Amateur Athletic Union associations having age-group and open programs in swimming.

The five are Pattie Finn, 12, of Bloomfield Hills; Irwin Futernick, 10, of Huntington Woods, a member of the Detroit Metropolitan Aquatic Club; Kay McDonald, 10, of Garden City, a member of Garden City Parks and Recreation; Carol Saputo, 10, of Birmingham, and Susan Vanderbeek, 10, of Franklin, both members of the Michigan Stingrays.

"SAFETY ALL-WEATHER" TIRE

"GOODYEAR NATION-WIDE 'NO LIMIT' GUARANTEE"
No limit on months. No limit on miles. No limit as to roads. No limit as to speed. For the entire life of the tread. ■ ALL NEW GOODYEAR AUTO TIRES ARE GUARANTEED against defects in workmanship and materials and normal road hazards, except repairable punctures. This guarantee does not extend to auto tires used on trucks, or racing tires and tires stamped 'Second,' 'Blemish' or 'NA.' ■ IF A GOODYEAR TIRE FAILS UNDER THIS GUARANTEE any of more than 80,000 Goodyear dealers in the United States and Canada will, at our option, either repair or make allowance on a comparable new tire based on original tread depth remaining and Goodyear's printed "Predetermined Price for Adjustment" current at time of adjustment which price will fairly represent the actual retail selling price of the comparable tire design at time of adjustment.
