Stevens Resigns, Brucker Gets Top Army Post

Ex-Governor Will Replace McCarthy Foe

Secretary States That He's Leaving Job for Personal Reasons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert T. Stevens resigned today as secretary of the Army and President Eisenhower nominated Wilber M. Brucker, general counsel of the Defense Department, to succeed him.

Stevens gave "compelling personal considerations" as his reason for quitting. He was a principal in last year's row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and top Pentagon officials, but neither he nor Eisenhower, who accepted the resignation today, made any reference to that spectacular event.

Brucker, a former governor of Michigan, has been general counsel at the Pentagon since April 1954. He will be 61 tomorrow. His home is in Detroit.

The White House announced Stevens' resignation and made public a letter in which the President accepted "with deep regret" just before Eisenhower left on a six-day tour of New England.

Stevens will leave the Pentagon about the end of July. He told Eisenhower he would work out the precise date with Secretary of Defense Wilson.

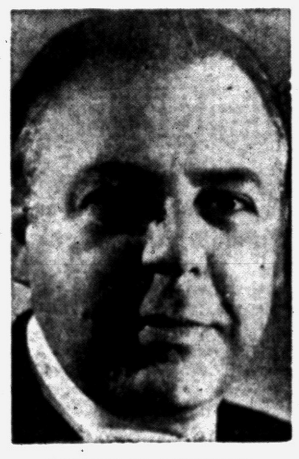

Wilson, Stevens and Brucker drove with the President from the White House to the airport.

Stevens' resignation came a year after his spectacular clash with McCarthy over the question of alleged subversion in the Army and of asserted favored treatment for a one-time McCarthy aide, Pvt. G. David Schine.

Previously the Army's general counsel, John G. Adams, quit his post in the aftermath of the hearings and so did McCarthy's top aide, Roy M. Cohn. Both

All-Out U.N. Peace Pledge May Be Asked by Molotov

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Russia's V. M. Molotov was expected to bring into the open today his demands for a United Nations declarations pledging all its 60 members to work for peace.

Western diplomats believed this would be the centerpiece of the foreign policy statement which the Soviet foreign minister was to make before the U. N.'s 10th anniversary session.

Molotov was reported last night to have given the Western Big Three foreign ministers a partial reply to their proposals for setting up the summit talks in Geneva next month.

Informed quarters said he had made reservations on only one important point: Namely, the Western proposal to limit the talks to four or six days. He wants no time limit.

In private talks, Molotov has said he wants the 60 U.N. nations to adopt a formal resolution urging all-out peace efforts.

Western diplomats call this a propaganda move. They have indicated, however, that they would agree to a declaration by Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens of the Netherlands, General Assembly president, saying that the delegations here unanimously support all peace attempts. This would not require a formal vote.

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo proposed to the United Nations today that it adopt a "San Francisco Declaration" rededicating member governments to peace, justice and freedom for all mankind.

Romulo is chairman of the Philippine delegation and former president of the U. N. General Assembly.

Any further meetings of the Big Four foreign ministers appeared unlikely during the present session. British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan planned to leave tonight on his return trip to London.

After today there still remained two more full days of speaking and a concluding ceremony next Sunday. French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay speaks tomorrow and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Friday morning. Former President Harry S. Truman speaks Friday night.

Davy Crockett's Deserted Wife Granted Divorce

DETROIT—In 1930 Davy Crockett "set out a-grinnin' to follow the sun" and his wife, Gertrude, 39, said she hasn't seen him since.

Mrs. Crockett was granted a divorce by Circuit Judge John P. O'Hara on the grounds of desertion.

The woman told Judge O'Hara she married Davy, now 63, on July 4, 1930.

The judge asked:

"Was your husband a king of the wild frontier?"

She replied:

"Don't know about no frontier, Judge, but he was wild."

Moore Weighs 175 for Defense of Title

NEW YORK (INS)—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore weighed exactly 175 today at the official weight-in for tonight's title defense against "Bobo" Olson at the Polo Grounds.

Olson tipped New York State Athletic Commission chairman Julius Helfand's scales at 170-1/4.

The commission's medical advisory board, headed by Dr. Mal Stevens, refused a request by Olson's camp for permission to administer oxygen to the middleweight king between rounds. Dr. Stevens said it would constitute an "artificial stimulant."

Scelba Resigns Premiership in Party Row

Italian Commies Hope to Profit From Grave Political Crisis

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

ROME — Pro-American Italian Premier Mario Scelba formally resigned today to touch off one of the gravest political crises since the war.

No change in the Italian policy of firm, friendly relations with the United States was expected to result, but the Communists clearly hoped to profit from the deep split inside Scelba's own Christian Democratic Party.

The 53-year-old Scelba held the last session of his 16-month-old coalition Cabinet this morning and then submitted the ministers' collective resignation to Italian President Giovanni Gronchi.

The uncertainty in the crisis is illustrated by the fact that Gronchi once suggested even taking the left-wing Socialists under Pietro Nenni—a group which votes with the Communist bloc—into any new coalition government.

Scelba already had decided yesterday to resign when his own divided party refused its support to his proposed Cabinet reorganization.

Scelba remained in the presidential palace an hour. The tough little Sicilian Premier came out visibly moved.

"I have handed it in," he told reporters.

"I have done my duty. I leave with perfect serenity."

He expressed his hope that "the crisis may now be soon resolved."

The rift in the Christian Democrat party apparently was a fight for power between groups led by Scelba, party Secretary General Amintore Fanfani and former Premier Giuseppe Pella.

New York Tax Upped

NEW YORK (AP)—The City Council has set a basic real estate tax rate of $3.85 for each $100 of assessed valuation—the highest in the city's history—for the 1955-56 fiscal year. The new rate is 17 cents above the current year's. The council adopted the rate yesterday by a vote of 24-1.

Bonanzagram Winner Gets $1,420

ACCEPTS CHECK — William A. Crisp Jr., 30-year-old Pontiac Motor Division technical writer (left) accepts a Pontiac Press check for $1,420 as first winner of the newspaper's Bonanzagram Contest.

Presenting the check is John W. Fitzgerald, assistant to the editor. Crisp, who lives at 4806 Fenmore St., is married and the father of three children.

First Bonanzagram Winner Is Pontiac Father of Three

A 30-year-old Pontiac Motor Division technical writer who nearly didn't enter last week's contest is the first winner in the Pontiac Press Bonanzagram Contest.

William A. Crisp Jr., of 4806 Fenmore St., today was presented with a check for $1,420 for correctly solving the Bonanzagram puzzle which appeared in last week's Press.

"I actually thought this entry was less likely than any others," Crisp said. "I had much more confidence the week before, when it turned out I was six words off."

Married and the father of three children, Crisp said he and his wife, Cornelia, 29, will use "a large portion" of the winnings as a down payment on a new house.

They have been in their present home, which they are buying, for two years, but it is proving too small for his growing family, he said. The Crisp children are a boy, Lexi, 6, and two girls, Janice, 4, and Connie, 5 months.

Crisp was in his office at the Pontiac Motor service department Friday afternoon when his wife phoned to tell him he had won.

"She was so excited she could hardly talk," he said. "I thought the house was on fire. Then when she told me she had checked the answer in the paper I thought she must be wrong."

But Mrs. Crisp wasn't wrong, and her husband really was the first winner in the big puzzle contest which had been carried in the Press for 14 weeks without a correct solution.

ONCE CAME CLOSE

Crisp said he came close once before — on puzzle number 3.

GM-Ford Wage Plan for Toolers

Supplementary Income Principle to Include Skilled Workers

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford-General Motors version of a modified supplementary wage was extended today to 6,000 tool and die men in 75 Detroit shops.

In other auto labor developments, both the Ford and General Motors contracts were given votes of approval by major units of the CIO United Auto Workers.

The UAW's big Ford local 600, storm center of opposition to the Ford-UAW agreement when it was reached two weeks ago, announced that its members had approved the pact by better than 2 to 1. The vote was 17,567 to 8,236.

Some 300 members of the UAW's national General Motors council approved the GM-UAW contract at a meeting here last night. The vote was described as nearly unanimous. The council members represent some 350,000 GM workers around the country. Local unions at GM plants will conduct ratification votes within the next week.

Details of the tool and die settlement were withheld pending a ratification meeting next Sunday. Union sources said, however, that it is "along the lines of the GM and Ford settlements."

General Motors settled the last of its walkouts only yesterday. This involved employes of GM's Fisher Body plant in suburban Livonia.

Today, tonight and tomorrow will be slightly cooler and a bit cloudy, according to U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts.

Trailer Company Expanding Here

Fruehauf Will Construct Office, Research Plant in Troy Township

The Fruehauf Trailer Co. has announced plans for further expansion in Oakland County, disclosing it will build a $2,000,000 plant on Maple road in Troy Township.

This is in addition to the firm's recent purchase of a quarter-million square foot factory in Drayton Plains.

The Troy structure will be 150,000 square feet, and house an office building and research center. It will be located opposite Berz airport, which will also be expanded to fit in with company plans.

Rezoning of the 104-acre site from residential to light industrial classification has been approved by township authorities.

The plant will employ about 1,000 workers, 800 in the office building which is replacing the company's Detroit headquarters.

Plans for the single-story modern structure will be completed in approximately four months, it was indicated. Parking space for 1,000 cars is included in the plans.

The site is practically opposite the $2,000,000 plants of the Vickers Corporation, which is under construction.

New Equipment Slated at Local Division Plants

Huge Plan Revealed by Curtice to Boost Productive Capacity

Pontiac Motor Division will share substantially in General Motors' new $500 million expansion program to increase production capacity of its passenger car divisions, according to Robert M. Critchfield, division general manager and GM vice president.

Announcement of the half-billion dollar program was made today by GM President Harlow H. Curtice, who said it would be felt in 20 GM automobile and auto accessory divisions.

Critchfield said Pontiac Motor would benefit from the expenditure largely in new equipment and machinery. These will provide additional capacity for a substantial increase in production, he said.

"Increasing our production capacity now will enable us to take further advantage of the growing new car market," Critchfield said.

"We are confident our market will increase with the growth in population and prosperity level of the country," he said.

Curtice linked the announcement with an optimistic appraisal of GM's future under the new three-year agreement reached last week with the CIO-United Auto Workers.

A GM spokesman said other divisions benefited by the expansion will reveal their own plans within a few days.

Curtice said this latest expenditure would be "substantially completed" by the end of next year and will bring to $4 billion the amount the corporation will have expended in the U.S. and Canada for capital investment since the end of World War II. He added:

"This new expansion program is being undertaken at this time to assure GM adequate capacity to enable us to keep pace with the normal growth of the market as we appraise it for the future."

The announcement said the money will go for construction of approximately 6.3 million square feet of additional floor space but that the "major portion of the expenditure" will be for new machine tools, presses and other facilities.

Seixas Upset Victim in Wimbledon Match

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Unseeded Gilbert Shea of Los Angeles turned in the biggest upset of the 69th Wimbledon Tennis Championships today when he defeated Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, U.S. champion, in a second round match. The scores were 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Seixas, 1953 Wimbledon titleholder and third-seeded player this year, was hampered by a pulled shoulder muscle which he received two weeks ago. Shea is the tenth-ranked player in the United States.

The 26-year-old Shea, an aggressive player, won the United States Hard Courts Championship last year but never has won a major event on grass.

Argentine Troops Return to Barracks With All Quiet

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Troops guarding the Argentine capital's public buildings and churches since last Thursday's revolt were ordered back to their barracks today. A communique again reported the country "absolutely calm."

The announcement was issued by Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, the army minister President Juan Peron named "commander in chief of the forces of repression" after the brief but bloody uprising by navy and marine personnel.

Peron apparently resumed his normal routine yesterday in improvised offices in his residence in suburban Palermo. After the bombing of Government House during the revolt, the president set up temporary offices in Lucero's War Ministry.

Peron had remained in comparative seclusion at his home Sunday and Monday, while the local newspapers gave much attention to Lucero and almost none to the President.

There was no announcement of any change in the government, despite widespread speculation that it would be reorganized. Nor was there any confirmation of rumors abroad that Peron's administration would be replaced by a governing junta.

The continuing prominence of Lucero in the postrevolution period was emphasized again when the press secretariat revised a previous announcement of the President's callers, putting himself at the top of the list.

In his communique, Lucero advised the public to beware of rumor mongering. He in effect denied there were any disagreements inside the armed forces or between the armed forces and the government by saying such reports were "not worth comment."

Dems Pressing Revision of Law

Seeking to Alter Social Security to Help Older Women, Disabled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats pressed ahead over Eisenhower administration objections today with plans for social security changes to help older women and disabled workers.

* * *

Chairman Cooper (D-Tenn) said he hopes the Democratic-controlled House Ways and Means Committee will finish work on a new bill by the end of the week. He called the committee into a second closed session on the plan (10 a.m. EDT), which the Democrats have approved in principle.

Rep. Jenkins (Ohio), a senior committee Republican, indicated the GOP members would have to let the Democrats run the show for the time being "because there weren't enough of us" to force broad-scale hearings.

Jenkins referred to the committee's 15-10 straight party line vote yesterday against his move for open sessions on a wide range of social secudity proposals.

While the committee went ahead behind closed doors, Republicans were quoting President Eisenhower as favoring "public hearings" and Secretary of Welfare Hobby called for "a thoroughgoing review and inquiry."

The Democratic plan, sponsored by Cooper, would lower from 65 to 62 years the age at which women could qualify for social security benefits.

Totally disabled persons covered by social security would get benefit payments at any age rather than at 65, as would disabled children whose benefits are now cut off at age 18.

B47 Jet Blows Up, Fliers Unscathed

ORLANDO, Fla. (INS)—A giant B47 jet bomber, loaded with ammunition, exploded late yesterday after making an emergency landing but three crewmen escaped unhurt seconds before the blast.

* * *

The plane had just become airborne when crewmen noticed one of the starboard engines on fire and the craft was ordered back to Pinecastle air force base near Orlando.

A right wheel fire blew out when the giant plane set down at 175 miles an hour—50 m.p.h. more than usual landing speed — and it bumped the length of the 12,000-foot runway, dropping parts along the way, before stopping just short of a fence.

The crewmen leaped to safety. Seconds later, the ship exploded.

* * *

The crewmen leaped to safety, designed to carry a hydrogen bomb, was demolished. It was valued at three million dollars.

In addition, a $50,000 air force fire truck caught fire and burned when it became mired in the mud trying to extinguish the engine fire.

Aboard the craft were Maj. J. H. Singleton, 35, of Danville, Ill., the commander; Capt. L. B. Robinson, 29, of Many, La., the pilot, and Capt. Gary Young Jr., 34, of Fairmont, Minn., observer.

House Gathers Experts for Salk Shot Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the nation's top medical research specialists were assembled today by a House Commerce subcommittee to answer questions about the Salk polio vaccine.

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn) called the meeting a scientific fact-finding quest designed to settle "vague rumors and back-room gossip" about the nature and effects of the vaccine, "and all the scientific problems involved."

A panel of 15 doctors, including Dr. Jonas E. Salk, accepted the subcommittee's invitation.

Coinciding with the House subcommittee session was a closed meeting of the Public Health Service's advisory committee on vaccine matters.

'Operator Ike' Has Brucker 'Very Happy'

WASHINGTON (INS) — At the airport, Wilber M. Brucker told newsmen that he knew nothing of the appointment until "an hour ago." He said: "I am supremely happy."

Robert T. Stevens said he has no plans for the immediate future "except to finish up my job for Mr. Wilson."

Wilson was asked about the rapid-fire switch. He said with a grin: "the President is an operator."

Brucker, in a brief statement, saluted Stevens as a man for whom "the country has profound respect."

The Army secetary-designate added: "I will give all I can to the President and his team because I believe in him and in what he is doing, the Army is a great institution."

Stevens Resigns; Brucker Appointed

Cohn and Adams were principals in the 1954 dispute.

Brucker was governor of Michigan from January, 1931, to the end of December, 1932. Previously he was Michigan's attorney general, and from 1933 to 1937 was prosecuting attorney of Michigan's Saginaw County.

A native of Saginaw, Brucker is a Republican. So is Stevens.

In his letter of resignation Stevens said he first brought to the attention of the President "a few weeks ago" the personal considerations he said have dictated his decision to resign.

Born July 31, 1899 in Fanwood, N. J., Stevens was graduated from Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass. After World War I he went to Yale and was graduated in 1921.

He then went to work in the small textile plant at North Andover which had been founded by an ancestor in 1813. Stevens began as a salesman and rose to board chairman of J. P. Stevens & Co. upon the death of his father, John Peters Stevens, in 1929.

The firm is now one of the largest textile concerns.

Stevens has held directorships in such firms as General Electric Corp., General Foods, the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Co., and the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York.

Brucker's move to the Army secretaryship will put Michigan men in the service's three top civilian spots. Asst. Secretary George H. Roderick and Gen. Counsel Frank G. Millard also are from that state.

Brucker has been active in Republican politics for years. He has served as chairman of the 14th Republican Congressional Committee since 1944. He was chairman of the Michigan State Convention in 1948 and was a Michigan delegate and member of the platform committee at the Republican National Convention that year.

Brucker served in World War I with the Michigan National Guard and later saw action in France with the 42nd Rainbow Division. He was awarded the Silver Star.

The Bruckers have one child, Wilber M. Jr. Their permanent home is at Grosse Pointe Farms.

Floyd Diamond Slated to Leave for Prison

Floyd Diamond, 16, sentenced to life in prison Monday for slaying 9-year-old Kathleen McLaughlin, was slated to leave here for Jackson state prison this afternoon.

He will stay at Jackson for a 30 day quarantine period and then will probably be transferred to the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia.

Diamond pleaded guilty to second degree murder May 24 admitting he stabbed and stoned the girl to death last Feb. 17 at a pond near her home at 29430 Gilchrest, Farmington Township, and a short distance from his residence at 32545 Nottingham Knoll.

Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore waived jurisdiction over Diamond March 2, allowing the youth to be tried as an adult.

Critical Cement Shortage Felt in Construction Here

"There is positively not enough local cement right now to meet the demand," the manager of a local builder's supply company said today.

Several supplier-firm officials and Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman were consulted on the heels of a statement last week by Gov. Williams. The governor said four major cement companies had assured him there will be adequate cement for increased road building if the firms are given advance notice of needs.

The local dealers explained they can obtain additional cement by importing it from Canada, Germany or Belgium.

The imported product, however, costs about $2 more per barrel than Michigan cement because of shipping charges, they stated. The increased cost must be passed on to the consumer and practically prohibits any large step-up in cement construction work.

SHORT SUPPLY

"If more local cement is take from the dealers for highway-building purposes, the supply for other construction purposes will be seriously restricted," one official stated.

One local firm sells Michigan cement, when available, at $3.76 a barrel. Shipping costs hike the imported product's price to $5.19 for a barrel actually containing several pounds less.

Another firm was getting some cement from other states, but these sources stopped up with increased building activity nearer the plants.

"All we can do at times is offer cement at a premium price caused by tacking the freight rate on. We can't say we're in the cement business and not sell cement," said one company manager.

PRICE HIGH

Willman said: "The city is paying a fantastic price for cement that comes from Nova Scotia."

The cement, which comes in sacks, sells at $5.68 for four sacks (equal to one barrel, or 400 pounds) he said. It is used for catchbasins and manholes.

The city also purchases ready-mix cement from three local suppliers at $14.30 a yard. "We've no complaint on that score," Willman said. "The only thing is we can't get all we want." The ready-mix is used for curbs, he said.

Willman added that the city is considering installing a concrete mixing plant of its own. "If we do, then we can buy bulk," he noted.

Pleasant Ridge Man Has Own Technic in Study of Killer Disease

Dr. Bjyrne Pearson, 38 Sylvan Place, Pleasant Ridge, is using his own techniques and those of other scientists to determine chemical differences between normal and cancer cells in the search for cancer's Achilles' heel.

This was announced today by the American Cancer Society which supports the research. Dr. Pearson heads up an experimental pathology program at the Detroit Institute of Cancer Research.

Differences between cells, several of which have already been found, could make it possible to destroy cancer with drugs, which have little or no effect on normal tissue.

So far, however, the differences have been only in degree. Various cancers have more or less of certain substances than normal cells have, but only in rare instances do cancers seem to have a compound completely lacking in normal tissues from which the cancers arose.

Dr. Pearson is interested particularly in chemicals called enzymes. There are several hundred enzymes in each cell, each of them regulating a specific chemical function of the cell. All the complex chemical changes of life are governed by enzymes.

One of the enzymes studied is called succinic dehydrogenase, which is essential to the respiration or breathing of the cell. It appears to be associated with the normality of the ordinary useful cells—in rapidly growing cancer cells succinic dehydrogenase is not found.

Dr. Pearson, who recently moved here from the University of Vermont, has confirmed a finding by another scientist of an increase of alkaline phosphatase in liver cancers.

He discovered that the liver's bile ducts, rather than the tumor itself, produced this enzyme which decomposes sugar. Whether the increase in this substance represents one of the body's defenses against the tumor is not known.

Scientist Says Smog Staying; Sniff and Smile

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Industrial cities face the problem of how to live with smog, not how to get rid of it, a physicist said today.

Francois N. Frenkiel, of the Johns Hopkins University applied physics laboratory at Silver Springs, Md., said in a paper written for a meeting of the pacific division of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science:

"One must keep in mind that as long as there are industries, households, and automobiles there will be some pollution. The problem is not to eliminate the contamination but to minimize it most economically."

Frenkiel said smog can be reduced as it is produced by:

1. Improving the chemical processes that produce smog.
2. Collecting the smoggy smoke before it is emitted into the air.
3. Sometimes changing the noxious smoke into inoffensive smoke before it is emitted.
4. Regulating the smog after it is emitted into the air.

However, Frenkiel said that in some cases the air and land conditions will tontinue to make smog a problem.

"The general weather pattern cannot as yet be changed," Frankiel said.

Labels Bridges High Communist

Former Red Testifies Labor Leader Served on Party Council

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—David L. Saunders, chunky ex-Communist, today faces cross-examination on his labeling of labor leader Harry Bridges as a member of the powerful Communist Central Committee in 1936.

Saunders testified Bridges once paid Communist party dues to him personally by slapping three silver dollars on his desk.

Australian-born Bridges is defendant in a civil action brought by the government seeking to cancel his citizenship. The government says he concealed Communist connections when he obtained it in September 1945.

* * *

Bridges testified Monday he never was a Communist.

The suit is considered a prelude to new deportation proceedings.

Saunders, a former port captain, testified brusquely and with positive manner. He said he was himself a Communist for 10 years—1935 to 1945, and in 1936 was district organizer for the party in California, Utah and Hawaii.

He testified:

* * *

In those years Bridges attended important closed meetings of the Communist party . . . In 1936 the national Communist convention in New York elected Bridges, who was not present, a member of the Central Committee . . . Bridges' alias was Comrade Rossi . . . Bridges was chosen to recruit Harry Hook, then a lodge business agent of the AFL machinists into the party.

Saunders gave names and dates with exactitude. He is now operations manager here for NYK, a Japanese steamship line.

Wife Is Granted Divorce From Rep. Roosevelt

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Without mention of her previous charges of misconduct, Mrs. Romelle Roosevelt won a default interlocutory decree of divorce yesterday from Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) She alleged extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Roosevelt, former nurse, testified that the eldest son of Franklin D. Roosevelt was in the habit of staying out late at night, would not account for his movements, finally told her he wanted a divorce.

* * *

Superior Judge Kurtz Kauffman approved as "fair and equitable," a property stipulation agreed to last June under which she receives $1,625 a month for herself and their three young children, whose custody she retains. He did not, however, make it a part of the decree. Mrs. Roosevelt would have to institute suit, rather than seek a contempt citation, if Roosevelt failed to live up to terms of the agreement.

The separation agreement was reached two days after Roosevelt won the Democratic congressional nomination in California's 26th District. He was elected last November.

Yesterday, Mrs. Roosevelt bypassed her previous sensational charges that her husband had written her a letter admitting infidelities with nine women. Roosevelt denied at the time that he had been intimate with any of the women and declared he had been blackmailed into writing the letter in 1945 to stop his wife from divorcing him and thus adding to the burdens of his father as president.

Roosevelt met Romelle Schneider, now 39, in 1938, at Rochester, Minn., after he had undergone surgery. They were married in 1941 in Beverly Hills. Roosevelt, 47, formerly was married to Betsy Cushing, daughter of the noted neurosurgeon, Dr. Harvey W. Cushing, who won the Pulitzer prize for his biography of Sir William Osler in 1925.

8 Parking Lot Locations Discussed by Plan Board

BIRMINGHAM — Eight possible sites for construction of a parking lot to serve the northeast portion of the city's business district was up for discussion at last night's Planning Commission meeting.

A more detailed study will be made before any recommendations are made, however. The sites range in providing anywhere from 14 to 166 car spaces.

While the area currently contains enough parking to meet requirements of the off-street parking ordinance which new businesses must adhere to, most of this is of a private nature.

The first plan to provide public parking, and one that has been mentioned in all previous discussions, would place the lot between Ferndale avenue and Park street, between the north tier of lots on Hamilton avenue, and the south tier of those on Oakland.

That area is used as the core in providing several other possible combinations, including use of the entire block, or extending the lot to the other side of Park street, using the same north-south boundaries.

Another plan would be those areas plus use of Park street itself as part of the lot. Still another would be to add to the first plan the property north of Hamilton, leaving a house and business on the northwest corner.

Traveling to the south side of Hamilton, other suggested parking areas call for a lot running east of the alley, which would include either 180 or 282 feet of frontage, and extend to the alley at the rear.

In previous discussions by the Planning Board and a citizen's committee, plans have included cutting Ferndale through to Hamilton, straightening the right of way at the Park-Hamilton intersection, and extending Hamilton east across Hunter boulevard.

* * *

City commissioners accepted the low bid of Braun, Bosworth, and Co. of Detroit this week, on the sale of $125,000 in general obligation bonds to construct the city's artificial ice-skating rink and provide parking at Eton Park.

The effective interest rate is 2.36 per cent. Five bids were received.

Joe McCarthy Admits Defeat

Attempt to Win Accord From Senate to Force Satellite Talk Fails

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) conceded today he has "no chance of success" in efforts to win Senate approval of a resolution aimed at forcing discussion of Russia's satellite states at the Big Four talks.

A 14-0 vote by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last night to recommend rejection of the proposal apparently foreshadowed an overwhelming tally against it on the Senate floor. It had the united opposition of the administration and of Republican and Democratic leaders in the Senate.

* * *

Committee members generally agreed adoption of the resolution might tend to tie President Eisenhower's hands in talks with the Premiers of Great Britain, France and Russia opening July 18 at Geneva.

Sen. Barkley (D-Ky), a member, said approval of the resolution would leave Eisenhower "with both hands tied behind his back and his tongue locked in his teeth."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the majority leader, denounced the resolution as an effort to "place a loaded gun at the President's temple." The Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California, told McCarthy he was seeking to intrude on "an executive function." McCarthy replied that the Senate has a right to advise the President.

* * *

Both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have repeatedly indicated they will attempt to bring the question of "liberation" of the satellite areas into the Big Four conference.

Peddling Ordinance Action Is Delayed

After 'going around and around with a revised peddlers' ordinance and its implications, the City Commission last night delayed action on the proposal for two weeks.

The ordinance, aimed at street ice cream vendors, is designed to restrict, rather than prohibit, peddlers' activities.

It was drafted after the Oakland County Circuit Court ruled that the original ordinance banning ice cream vendors entirely, was unconstitutional.

Though aimed at ice cream peddlers, the revised regulation would also effect bakery goods vendors, a representative of a bakery company pointed out. He especially opposed a $150 yearly license fee in the new ordinance. Present fee is $75.

Action was postponed until after the Commission's informal meeting June 30.

Color Choice for City Flag Puzzling Issue

Ever try to pick out colors for a city flag?

The City Commission gave it a whirl last night, then sidetracked the matter when it became apparent there were almost as many color scheme suggestions as commissioners.

It all began when the Pontiac Assn. of Insurance Agents offered to purchase a new official flag for the city as the association's gift for the new City Hall.

But, alack, there was never an official city flag, or even any official city colors. So it was up to the commission to select them.

First suggestion came from Mayor William W. Donaldson, who pleaded the cause of a red, white and blue banner: a blue field, white background and red Indian and lettering. (It was agreed previously the flag should feature the city seal).

Commissioner Roy V. Cooley said he thought Pontiac High School's orange and black would be highly suitable. But Donaldson said opposition might be aroused from St. Michael and St. Frederick schools on that choice.

The commission tried to toss the puzzle into City Manager Walter K. Willman's lap. But he demurred, saying as an old Michigan State College grad he might be partial to green and white.

It was finally agreed to have the engineering department draw up samples of various color combinations and action was delayed until they could be studied.

First Bonanzagram Winner Gets $1,420

"That's when you still had punctuation and I got fouled up on that," he said.

The slim, sandy haired World War II P-38 pilot, who has never won a contest before, said he was always amazed when the answer to the week's puzzle was printed "to find how many interpretations could be made."

He said he has worked all the Bonanzagram puzzles, but didn't send all of them in. Last week, he wasn't even going to mail in his entry, but at the last minute slipped it in an envelope and dropped it in the mail.

Crisp said he will continue working the puzzles.

A graduate of Pontiac High School and General Motors Institute, Crisp has been with Pontiac Motors since 1946. He is the son of Lt. William A. Crisp, of the Pontiac Police Dept.

No Abnormal Drop Noted in County Relief Cases

Although an abnormally large drop in county relief cases was reported by the state welfare department today, Oakland County cases show only a small decrease.

Case load for the month, to June 17, was 1,063 as compared to May 17, when 1,171 cases were serviced, according to officials of the Oakland County Social Welfare Commission.

The previous week's relief cases dropped about five per cent, it was reported.

Workman Crushed

DETROIT (AP) — Manunu Hakala, 43-year-old father of six, was crushed to death Tuesday when a five-ton sand truck backed over him as he was gathering up tools on the John Lodge Expressway project. Ronald Wheeler, 23, the driver, was held by police for investigation of manslaughter.

Let Out of Cells for Marriage— Then Right Back

CATLETTSBURG, Ky. (AP) — A former milkman and his common-law wife were married, spent a few minutes together, then went back to separate cells yesterday.

The ceremony uniting Raymond S. Speed, 48, and Virginia Brammer Speed, 34, was performed in the living room of the Boyd County jailer's quarters.

• • •

"The first marriage of two people under prison sentence we ever had here," said Jailer Haskell Estep.

• • •

The couple, now awaiting transfer to prison for two-year terms, was convicted on charges stemming from robbery of a poolroom operator.

They had lived together about a year in Ohio, where common-law marriages are recognized.

Wallet With $1,100 Undisturbed in 4 Hours

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A wallet containing more than $1,100 lay unnoticed in a telephone booth 4½ hours before the owner called for it.

After returning to his hotel, Guy B. Harris, Owensboro, discovered the wallet was gone and notified police.

A half hour later, he called again to say that George Grady, bartender at the establishment where he had used the telephone, found the money. As a reward, Grady received $50.

Total U. S. production of poultry meat has more than doubled, and that of eggs has nearly doubled since the 1935-39 period.

Dangerous Killer Flees Ionia in Box

IONIA (AP) — A 19-year-old killer who escaped from Ionia State Reformatory by hiding in a packing box shipped from the prison was the object of a widespread hunt today.

The fugitive, James Ecker of Saginaw, was described by prison authorities as "desperate and dangerous." Deputy Warden George Kropp said he probably was armed with "at least a knife" when he escaped yesterday afternoon.

Ecker was serving a life sentence for the murder of Mrs. Verda Odum, 39, druing a hold-up at her grocery near Mount Morris on March 31, 1953. When Ecker admitted the killing nearly a year later he told authorities he shot the woman "just for kicks."

Kropp said Ecker apparently had persuaded other inmates to seal him inside a carton containing a desk manufactured at the reformatory furniture factory. The carton was carried out of the prison gates in a truck yesterday afternoon.

Guards discovered Ecker was missing about an hour later. The carton was found at an Ionia truck terminal with a hole cut in the side.

Dog Rescues Girl by Routing Attacker

FLAT ROCK (AP) — Beverly Chick, 19, took her dog, Rivets, for a walk last night along a road near her home.

Without warning a man lunged at her and struck her on the head with a blackjack.

"I screamed for Rivets to help me and that's just what he did," said Miss Chick.

The black and white mongrel bit the man on the ankles and put him to flight.

Miss Chick suffered head cuts. "I owe my life to Rivets," she said. She has had Rivets for 12 years, raising him from a pup.

Miss Chick described the attacker as between 30 and 40, 6 feet tall, 170 pounds, dark haired and dark complexioned, and one ear dressed in a white T shirt and slacks. She said he "looked like a crazy man."

Identify Mistaken in Virginia Arrest

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—Police admitted here today there was a case of mistaken identify in last week's arrest of a man for stopping at a red light that wasn't there.

At the time, police identified a driver who stopped at a non-existent traffic light as Charlie Henry Turner, 22, of Moberly, Mo. He was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days for drunk driving.

Police Chief W. E. Traylor said today, however, he has received a letter from a Charles Henry Turner in Moberly, Mo., in which Turner said his car and credentials were stolen there early in May. He said he had been embarrassed because of publicity given the stoplight incident.

Traylor said the man arrested here now has given his name as James M. O'Connor of Chicago. He has been charged with suspicion of a felony and his case turned over to the FBI.

Man Interned as Being Pro-German Is Model for Churchill Statue

LONDON (AP)—That's the former Prime Minister's head on London's new statue of Sir Winston Churchill but the body belongs to a man interned as pro-German during both world wars.

Gerald Hamilton, 67, and also an author, disclosed today that he was the stand-in model for the bigger-than-life, seated bronze of the 80-year-old statesman unveiled in London's Guildhall yesterday.

* * *

"I must say the situation did strike me as a little strange," Hamilton told reporters. "But I was only the body. The statue is me only from the head down."

The model explained he has roughly the same measurements as Churchill, and even the famous stoop. Since the former Prime Minister's time was precious (and his patience on the short side), sculptor Oscar Nemon asked Hamilton to pose for the 60-odd sittings in which he worked on the body.

* * *

Hamilton was interned in World War I as a friend of Sir Roger Casement, the Irishman hanged for dealing with the Germans in the interests of Irish independence. The government put Hamilton under wraps again in 1941 for trying to organize a separate peace with the Germans.

"I'm not a Fascist or a Nazi," he said. "I just thought it was better to deal with the Germans than the Russians—and I still think I was right."

Churchill saw the statue at the Guildhall ceremony yesterday. He liked it, but commented on the stand-in: "Couldn't they pick anyone else?"

Oakland County Killer Draws Term in Prison

Judge H. Russel Holland did his part Monday in fighting the growing wave of juvenile delinquency.

He gave sixteen year old Floyd Diamond life in prison.

The current sentence guarantees that this killer won't ply his trade in the immediate future. He's free to turn on his prison associates, but cowards that stab and beat nine year old children to death rarely pick on "someone their own size."

★ ★ ★

Of course, the sentence won't return the lifeless body of the little girl who was beaten to death in cold blood. It won't assuage the grief and anguish of little Kathleen's family. It won't restore the sunshine and laughter she brought to her family and her friends.

★ ★ ★

But it may deter some other bloody butchers from emulating Diamond's example. Sometimes love, kindness and affection are lost. Then, if fear doesn't appeal, hope is gone.

Unhappily, according to advanced penology in the great State of Michigan, this murderer can walk away from the prison gates to his former life in 15 or 20 years. Thus, at the age of 35, he is free to return to his former life unhampered, untrammeled and with his debt to society paid. Can you conjure greater injustice than this?

★ ★ ★

It is too bad that the hands of fine, kindly, strong minded jurists like Holland are somewhat circumscribed and fettered. The judge gave the young thug all the punishment he could. Holland has done his best to keep the peace and preserve the safety and well being of fine little children that laugh and play in our city.

★ ★ ★

In the meantime, the lovely little body of nine year old Kathleen rests in a small grave. Kathleen can't come back in a couple of decades. She can't rejoin her people here. The victim of a cruel and heartless coward, she languishes in the depths of the soil—forever.

State's Jet Air Base Delayed by Bickering

For an example of how local politicians can delay a vital national defense decision, consider the Air Force's jet base for Michigan.

The original site chosen for the base was Homestead, in Benzie County. The House Armed Services Committee understandably rejected that site on the ground that it was too close to the National Music Camp at Interlochen. A site just west of Cadillac then was chosen by the Air Force as entirely suitable for the $12,000,000 project.

★ ★ ★

Then began the fight by local politicians which has delayed for more than a year the start of construction of the base Air Secretary Talbott still says should be built at Cadillac.

In addition to Republican Representative Ruth Thompson and Knox pressing their claims, spokesmen for Kaleva in Manistee County are clamoring for the base.

★ ★ ★

This unconscionable and inexcusable political bickering is having its inescapable results. The House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee is continuing to deepfreeze the funds voted for the base and the Nation is being denied an important addition to its air defense establishment.

It's long since time for the committee to forget the bickering, accept the Air Force's view and release the money for the base at Cadillac.

Operation Alert Lessons

It was not despite, but because of the many complications encountered that Operation Alert taught our national Civil Defense organization many valuable lessons.

After his own flight from Washington, President Eisenhower talked to newsmen outside his secret hideaway from which he was to direct the Government during the "emergency." Obviously he had felt the effects of some of the complications which arose in evacuating the 15,000 Federal workers from the capital.

★ ★ ★

Remarking that more complications had developed than he thought possible, the President emphasized that the exercise was entirely one of civil defense and relocation.

Communications failures contributed to considerable confusion in Detroit and Flint, two of the three Michigan cities participating in Operation Alert. The third was Battle Creek.

Maj. Gen. Dougherty, Detroit and Wayne County Civil Defense director, later pointed out that despite the two and a-half hour warning, the theoretical A-bomb attack cost 57,600 fatalities.

★ ★ ★

Operation Alert re-emphasized the need of an adequate Civil Defense organization. It also highlighted the imperative necessity of having that organization capable of functioning efficiently at all times.

The Recent Scattered Rains Indicate Size of Our County

Money: With which you cannot buy friends. But it gets you a better class of enemies.

This week's rains have shown up the big area that Oakland County's 900 square miles really cover. When we had a very liberal precipitation in Pontiac, the ground remained parched under the excessive heat in Royal Oak, Oxford, Holly and South Lyon. Then when those sections had a good rain we had about dried up again in Pontiac. The next day the thing was again reversed. MAT in driving 20 miles on the Dixie Highway Monday ran through three copious showers, with arid sections between. Yes, Oakland County is almost as large as the State of Rhode Island—and has a larger population than New Hampshire, Vermont, Wyoming, Delaware, Alaska or Hawaii.

Careful of Those Summer Romances

Technological Progress Holds Key to Layoff Pay

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

Industry, like a good soldier in the field, undertakes difficult tasks, and acts on the principle that the "impossible" takes a little longer.

★ ★ ★

In this spirit, the coming technological effort of the motor car industry to absorb new costs imposed on it by union pressure for unemployment benefits during layoffs, is a development of prime importance. Such conditions might prove to be the straw that would break the camel's back if methods of production remained static.

The processes of progress are indeed confusing to the lay person. Frequently union leaders take credit for changes, which may stem from the industry itself. There can be no increase in the divisible economic pie merely through the making of "demands."

If the unions are to be credited with a part in national betterment, the nature of their contribution may be different than is commonly supposed.

NEW OBSTACLES

From the outside, it seems to me that, in a very real sense, the function of the unions is to put new obstacles in front of management.

★ ★ ★

This, in effect, means that, if management and its allies stand still, they will perish. In order to survive, they must be dynamic, and continuously invent new and better ways of doing old jobs and making new products. The role of the unions—friendly or otherwise—is to keep management and its allies from being smug and complacent.

But there must be a balance between the two. If obstacles get too far in advance of technological improvements, the bridge of management, on which we all depend for spanning rivers of economic progress, will be overloaded, and could collapse.

★ ★ ★

People wonder why men bitterly oppose changes, which, when tried, do not fulfill dire prophecies. The explanation lies in part in the fact that costs which could not be absorbed if all other factors remained equal are frequently taken care of by more efficiency and less economic waste.

NOT WITHOUT COST

No doubt the supplementary wage benefits, and the rest of the Ford-GM package, will operate in this way. But, even if this happens, it would be wrong to assume that the new social and fringe benefits are without cost. If improved techniques and other changes absorb the new labor costs, it would mean that workers would capture all or most of the benefits of coming technological improvements, some of which management might feel should be passed on to customers in either lower prices or improved quality or to stockholders in higher earnings and dividends.

Impact of the new wage package on others in the automobile industry besides Ford and GM will be observed with interest. Chrysler, with its new and improved models, has staged an impressive comeback.

Until the new labor formula was adopted, Chrysler, more an assembler than either Ford or GM, who make a larger ratio of the total number of parts going into the finished automobile, tended to benefit from its status in depressed times but to feel some handicap on costs in boom periods. But the new wage package may alter the scales.

★ ★ ★

But the impact of the new package on the independents, including American Motors, Studebaker-Packard, and Kaiser-Frazer raises important social, economic and legal questions. If the terms can be borne by those with the efficiency and volume of—let's say—the Big Three, what about crowding out the independents. Is a small business to be snuffed out through monopoly dictated by labor leadership?

★ ★ ★

George Romney, president, American Motors, demands a different wage pattern for the smaller companies. If this is impractical, it is not unreasonable, for the two leading independents to ask more time to try to get on their feet.

Reader States Good Will Industries Benefit Both Mental Patient and State

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

More than 750,000 Americans are confined to mental hospitals. Hundreds of these men and women have not had a cent of spending money for years. Some have been confined seven and eight years.

At the Northville State Hospital they have created a fund of $300 a month so that a few of the patients can have some spending money.

Why not place a good will industry plant at the hospital, or a system similar to that so that the patients may be gainfully employed? They can, in that way, reimburse the state for their care.

President Calls Reciprocal Trade Bill Milestone in Foreign Economic Policy

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower signed into law yesterday a reciprocal trade bill which he called "an important milestone in the development of our country's foreign economic policy."

★ ★ ★

Enacted over the opposition of the congressional "protectionist" bloc, the measure extends the existing reciprocal trade program for three years and authorizes the President to cut tariffs up to 15 per cent in that period.

New safeguards against competition to U.S. industry from cheap foreign imports were written into the legislation when it appeared in danger of defeat in the Senate.

Eisenhower signed the act a few hours after his return to the White House from the United Nations tenth anniversary meeting in San Francisco, where he urged all countries to try for a "new way of life."

PRESIDENT GRATEFUL

Congressional leaders of both parties and members of the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means committees witnessed the signing.

★ ★ ★

The President declared: "I am particularly gratified that this measure was supported by overwhelming majorities in both political parties.

"This bipartisanship demonstrates anew our unity in dealing with matters affecting our relations with other countries."

Eisenhower said the act, "supplemented by early approval of United States membership and participation in the proposed organization for trade cooperation . . . can contribute significantly to economic growth and economic well-being throughout the free world."

HELPS DEFENSE

In this way, he emphasized the bill will "materially strengthen the defense capabilities of our friends abroad, and advance the mutual security of us all."

Under the reciprocal trade program, the President can lower American tariffs in making commerical treaties, in return for similar concessions from other nations.

James Marlow Says:

Auto Giants Over Barrel in Separate Union Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Reuther made the auto giants squirm by tackling them separately. They're so competitive they'd probably rather continue to squirm separately than work together to block Reuther.

Henry Ford II suggested this week the auto makers should force Reuther into industrywide bargaining so he'd have to deal with them all at the same time.

★ ★ ★

General Motors made no comment but reportedly is opposed to Ford's idea. Reuther, the CIO auto workers' president, said his union was against it.

If the auto makers, under Ford's industrywide bargaining plan, balked at some future demand of Reuther and his union struck, all plants would be shut down simultaneously with no company having a competitive advantage over another.

★ ★ ★

As it is now with company-by-company bargaining, one after the other, Reuther can play off one against the other. He has done it consistently, and again this year in his negotiations with Ford and GM.

He put the heat on Ford first. Ford, in the greatest race of its history to outsell GM's Chevrolet, could ill afford a strike while GM was left free to pump out Chevrolets. Ford signed up. This put GM over a competitive barrel.

★ ★ ★

If it balked at Reuther's demands—the same ones he made on Ford—and forced a strike, it would not only lose out in the Chevrolet race against Ford but would lose on the sales of its other cars. It signed up in short order.

The most sensational issue in the two negotiations was the guaranteed layoff pay, which Reuther calls a guaranteed wage, and which the companies themselves refer to as supplemental pay for laid-off workers.

The companies agreed to give any of their employes thrown out of work some pay for a maximum of 26 weeks to supplement state unemployment benefits.

It's just possible—judging from what GM's Vice President Harry W. Anderson said, although his words were ambiguous—that GM might have balked at the layoff pay, even if it meant a strike, if Ford hadn't first agreed to it.

After the GM negotiations Anderson told Reuther: "Walter, we had a lot of disagreements in there . . . but I do want to congratulate you on your judgment in going somewhere else (to Ford) first to get it (the layoff pay)."

★ ★ ★

But in this period of prosperity and record-breaking car sales, perhaps GM would have caved in to Reuther if he had tackled it first instead of Ford. Neither company said it couldn't afford to meet Reuther's demands.

GM might have struggled harder to give less than Ford agreed to but probably not hard enough to cause a strike. What they gave Reuther was far less than he demanded.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Dr. Crane Believes Earth Missionaries May Evangelize Other Planets in Future

Dr. Harold's questions show that science has now catapulted so fast that you aren't deemed crazy when you talk about space ships and interplanetary communication. Scrapbook these Case Records, and use them next Sunday for class discussion in Sunday school.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-363: Harold J., aged 34, is a successful New York dentist.

"Dr. Crane, I recently read an article of yours in our dental journal in which you stressed the positive attitude about this moot question of space ships and possible invaders from other planets.

"I think it would be very soothing to the tense nerves of millions of people if you'd repeat some of your ideas for the general public to read."

GOD'S SCHOOL SYSTEM

While astronomers do not believe there is any animal life on any of the other eight planets in earth's solar system, they do admit that there are possibly 100 million other inhabitable, if not inhabited, planets revolving around other distant stars (suns.)

★ ★ ★

Our sun is a star of average size, with nine planets. But there are billions of other suns the same size as ours, which may also be surrounded by five or 10 planets apiece.

If just one out of our nine planets is perfectly suited to human life, because of moisture, atmosphere, etc., isn't it plausible to assume that maybe 1-9 of the other millions of planets may be just like earth?

If many of them are inhabited, then we may look upon these planets as classrooms in God's cosmic school system.

"Dr. Crane, do you think earth is at the kindergarten stage, or junior high? Or is it college or post graduate in its ratings?" a school marm recently asked.

EARTH A POST GRAD

I believe earth is post graduate because I can conceive of no other planet being ahead of us in our ethical evolution.

★ ★ ★

Abraham was 2,000 years ahead of the surrounding civilized nations of his day in his concept of a single deity, called Jehovah.

At the birth of Christ, the cultured nations of Greece and Rome still believed in many gods and goddesses, so they were also 2,000 years behind.

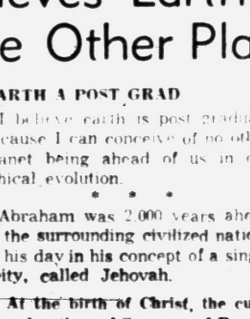

And nobody has improved on Christ's behavior or utterances in the intervening 1,900 years. So I believe Earth has been chosen to be the No. One classroom in God's cosmic school.

ETHICS IN SPACE

"But maybe other inhabited planets have developed ethics, too," you may argue. "And maybe Jesus must descend thereon to fulfill their expectation of a Messiah."

★ ★ ★

That is possible, but not probable, for God is efficient. And it is not efficient to force a personality like Christ to be crucified repeatedly, when one such event can be carried by word of mouth to distant regions.

For example, wouldn't it have been inefficient, as well as cruel, to expect Jesus to be crucified afresh in Africa and South America and North America and Australia?

For one Calvary was then spread abroad via word of mouth by Peter and Paul and Loyola and John Wesley, Livingstone, Grenfell and others.

WORK FOR MISSIONS

And now that we are almost on the verge of interplanetary communication, if not of travel our foreign missionary societies of the future may evangelize whole planets instead of continents.

And the Columbus and Magellan and Balboa of the future may stake out claims to entire solar systems.

★ ★ ★

If earth is the foremost inhabited planet, then it may be our responsibility to spread the good tidings of the Bethlehem story to other schoolrooms in God's cosmic school system, just as the missionaries of past centuries have spread the gospel to our various continents here on earth.

Watch tomorrow's case for data concerning space ships.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Smiles

Anger impairs the vision say scientists—and people get so mad they can't see straight.

The thoroughly stingy person finds it mighty hard not to give himself away.

In the good old days girls made poets of men instead of rubbernecks.

The smart person doesn't pick an argument even when it's ripe. He just lets it drop.

Open air restaurants are perfect for spaghetti eating. The sky's the limit.

Doctors often ask youngsters to count to ten while they're getting a shot in the arm. Before starting to cry, we suppose.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love.—Ephesians 3:17.

★ ★ ★

The blood of Jesus is sacrifice; the sweat of Jesus is toil and labor; the tears of Jesus are love and compassion. They abide as eternal symbols of God's way of meeting the needs of a lost world.

Husband Thanks Brady for Menopause Outlook

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

A professional man (not a physician) gave my morale a boost when the impediments in the way of teaching the truth were getting me down.

★ ★ ★

For too long, the professional man writes, I have been meaning to write this appreciation . . .

"Something in the way you treat the matter of the critical period of a woman's life first amazed and then seemed to lift a great anxiety from my good wife's mind.

You gave her a wholly new outlook upon the change of life. Her friends, her older friends, had led her to expect all sorts of dreadful things. Now if you think it is odd that I am telling you about this instead of the boss herself . . ."

UNUSUAL MAN

It is not odd. It is just unusual for a busy professional man to bother — to say thanks, I mean, although it is unusual. I regret to say, for a man to show such tender solicitude for the peace of mind of the mother of his grown children.

★ ★ ★

That so many young women dread the menopause as a "critical period" and call it "change of life" is a sad commentary on education in Yankeeland. It seems that it suits the book of the quacks, nostrum mongers, trick specialists, and "clinic" racketeers to keep the credulous sex ignorant.

Middle-aged men and women alike are subject to physical degeneration, which manifests itself in various ways. Maybe I bend too far backward, but I'd rather not say any more about these manifestations at present, except this:

If or when you find or fear that you are not so well or not so efficient or not so cheerful as you should be, no matter whether you're 35, 45 or 55, don't mess around, report to your physician for a health examination — not a "check-up," but a physical examination and whatever functional or laboratory tests your physician considers necessary.

★ ★ ★

Any one of these pamphlets will be sent free on written request if you provide a stamped, self-addressed envelope:

(1) The Menopause
(2) Young Folks and Old Folks
(3) The Iodin Ration

Inclose ten cents for each additional one you want.

Signed letters, no more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Israel Delegate Addresses U.N.

Abba Eban Says Quest for Peace Is Dominant Purpose Today

SAN FRANCISCO — "The quest for international security is the dominating purpose of our age," said Ambassador Abba Eban, Israel's permanent delegate to the United Nations. He addressed the tenth anniversary commemorative meeting of the United Nations in San Francisco Tuesday.

"If we succeed we shall have recorded one of mankind's decisive victories," he continued. "And if we fail, our imperfection may be beyond remedy or consolation," he warned.

"There is enough in the experience of the past 10 years to prove that tenacity of purpose brings its harvest and reward. If ultimate disaster can be warded off, even by provisional and makeshift devices, we preserve the chance, though not the certainty, that the clouds will pass away and be succeeded by a warmer radiance," the ambassador said.

Israel's delegate noted that the limitations and potentialities of the United Nations today are not the same as those which confronted the organization 10 years ago.

ASSUMPTIONS FALSE

He said "The founders of our organization sought to establish an international system on the basis of certain political, juridical and military assumptions which had seemed valid in the years of the war and the Grand Alliance. In swift succession all these assumptions have fallen to the ground."

* * *

"Instead of great power unity we have had to operate in an atmosphere of great power confict with no weapon but the moral force of majority recommendation," he added.

"If this vision of cosmic order and progress is not true then we have nothing to vindicate. The Charter of the United Nations is a contemporary expression of that prophetic faith. It calls for order and progress in international relations, to be inherited and enjoyed by the act of the human will.

"No people can do better than commit their destiny to the triumph of that ideal. Let us see the labors of this first decade as a mere prelude to the decisive struggle which will only have reached its destination when all peoples shall dwell 'each beneath its vine and fig-tree with none to make them afraid,'" he said in closing.

Teddy the Terror Youngest (He's 4) Suit Defendant

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four-year-old Teddy Levy, called by his parents "The Terror," is the youngest defendant ever sued for battery in Superior Court here. His grandmother, Mrs. Ann Rubin, claiming she suffered two fractured vertebrae after baby sitting with Teddy, asked $150,000 damages yesterday. She named the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Levy, as codefendants.

Mrs. Rubin said she spent several weeks in a hospital after Teddy vaulted the davenport and landed on her. Teddy's parents said they called their son "The Terror" because of the zest which he portrays Superman, Dick Tracy and Davy Crockett as fancy strikes him.

Hal Boyle Says:

Girl Will Never Forget Farm Life Drama

LONG VALLEY, N. J., (AP)—It was an ordinary Sunday outside the big cool dairy barn. The dressed up people from the city enjoyed the sunny countryside.

Inside the big cool dairy barn it was even more of an ordinary day. Cows have no Sunday. The daily drama of life and death among the herd went on unchanged except for one thing.

* * *

There was a young girl who saw the drama for the first time. The events of the day changed her, I am sure, forever.

The three cows involved were numbered 204 and 140 and 219—and the first was old and through, the second was young and having her first calf, and the third was middle - aged and having maybe her third or fourth calf.

* * *

No. 204 was at the head of the barn and lying, too weary to get up, with her head in its stanchion. She was 14, very old for a cow. Her milk had fleshed a thousand distant children she had never seen. But now she lay there, unprotestingly, waiting for the slaughterer's truck to come and take her away.

During the morning No. 140, the young heifer, delivered her first calf after a rugged ordeal. Worn out by the struggle and oblivious to the responsibilities of motherhood, she wandered away from her sprawling weak tan calf.

* * *

A group of summer residents who came down to see the calf found that No. 219, the middle-aged cow, had taken up the duties of the confused young mother. She was carefully and methodically cleaning the sprawling calf with her tongue, as animals do.

Suddenly it became apparent the middle - aged cow's own ordeal of maternity was at hand. One of the men turned to a young girl, his niece, and said:

"If you're going to get back to the city before the traffic ties you up, you'd better leave now."

* * *

"I've never seen anything born before," she said. "I want to stay."

"But it may be hours," he said. "You can't tell."

"Just for a little while," she pleaded. "Then I'll be off."

Her uncle and the others left the filtered light of the barn, sweet with the deep rich scent of hay a animal bodies. Old cow No. 204, a factory worn out, glanced at her with the idle and placid non-interest of age.

* * *

The young girl knelt beside No. 219. The miracle of approaching birth made the two one. She knit her fingers and tugged at them tensely in unconscious rhythm with the laboring cow.

"Please," she whispered. "Try again. Harder."

All at once they were three—or almost three. The calf was half-born. Then something was wrong.

* * *

"Please, please, please!" cried the girl. She heard a noise. Two dairy hands had come into the far end of the dairy barn.

"Quick!" she cried. "The calf is strangling!"

The two men ran up. One grabbed a rope. With it they completed the rough obstetrics of the farm, and the calf was delivered, its forehooves raised to his muzzle in the posture of prayer.

* * *

The calf lay there—warm, wet and motionless. One workman bent and wiped its muzzle to clear the nostrils, then massaged its ribs in an attempt at artificial respiration. The calf lay still.

"But I saw its eyes move," said the girl. "If I could have called you in time—."

The rough workmen looked up at her, puzzled. A calf is $20, more or less, and they come often on a big dairy farm.

* * *

"I don't think so," said one of the men, not unkindly. "These things happen, you know."

As one of the men dragged the dead calf away, mother cow No. 219 let out a bellow of anguish that had a human ring of despair in it, and crashed into a chain barrier. She wandered about wild for a moment, then lowered her head and again began licking the living calf of cow No. 140, the bewildered young heifer who hadn't yet risen to the chores of motherhood.

* * *

The young girl got into her car. "But I saw its eyes move," she said, half crying. "If I could have just—."

She turned the car and headed it toward the city. She had seen the sadness of death taking life at the portal of birth, and she would always remember this Sunday, just another ordinary day on a busy farm.

Septuagenarian Count With Pre-Teen Bride Taught Landscaping

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A 75-year-old Swiss-born count who married a 14-year-old Italian princess last Thursday is a former University of Michigan professor.

Background of Count Aubrey William Tealdi was brought to light by his Michigan friends when they learned of his marriage last Thursday to Princess Lidia Maria Antonia Caracciolo Di Torello in Lucca, Italy. The bride will not be 15 until July 25.

University records show Count Tealdi came to Michigan from Chicago in 1909 as the first faculty member of its department of landscape design.

When he left Ann Arbor in 1934 he was head of the dpartment. He also was in charge of Nicholas Arboretum, the botanical gardens at the university.

Friends said Tealdi inherited a considerable fortune from his second wife, who was the widow of a railroad car manufacturer.

In his younger days, he had worked on a ranch in Wyoming and as a miner in British Columbia.

The count and his young bride will live in the famous Villa Paolina, once the home of Napoleon's sisters, Paolina and Elida. The Caracciolo family is one of the most famous in Italy. They are descended from Giachina Murat, who was made king of Naples by Napoleon.

Tealdi is the son of an English mother and an Italian father.

Cary Grant Detests Gal Baby Talk

NEW YORY (INS) — Cary Grant leaned across the table, his big brown eyes intense, and talked above love — the love life of the penguin.

"A very interesting bird," he said with the trace of a British accent screen admirers love, and went on — despite protests — to explain in detail how penguins meet their mates.

"The male emits a series of musical notes when he comes up to a female he admires," he explained, "and the female answers in kind. Then he goes off to the nearby beach to find her a pretty pebble. If she uses his pebbles to line the nest, then of course, he provides her with food."

Penguins aren't a particularly pet subject with the screen lover, who's as handsome at 51 as he was at 27 when he went to Hollywood from Broadway. Grant just loves to talk.

"I have no knowledge on a lot of subjects," he explained, "but I'm interested in everything. Almost everything is an expression of what other human beings have done or are doing. Of course, I have learned some things to avoid."

"Before I go on, he warned, "Let me say that if all my opinions were written down over a period of years, faithfully, they'd be the biggest mess of contradictions ever.

"It all started when somebody told me there was a Santa Claus. Then a few years later the same person told me I was too old to believe in Santa Claus.

"I don't understand adults — or myself — I never know what I think until I hear myself say it."

MAORI MOST SANE

Grant says his idea of the sane man is his Maori servant who was born in the jungles of New Zealand.

"People say 'those poor natives living in the jungle' — but my Maori servant's father died at 130, his mother is over a hundred and still alive and he's 83 himself. He's never concerned with himself. He does everything with utter ease and nothing bothers him.

"People like Joe Louis, who make the difficult seem easy, are the ones I admire. Or like Hitchcock or Grace Kelly." Alfred Hitchcock produced and directed, and Grace Kelly co-stars with Grant in his latest movie, "To Catch a Thief."

"When Louis boxed it all looked rather easy and rather slow. I boxed in my younger days, and I'd get worn out moving around just so I would look good."

Grant is happy with life these days, living in California with wife Betsy Drake and several poodles. But civilization still has its puzzling moments for the English born actor. For instance there's the matter of training children, and of giving things up for health reasons.

"Children's upbringing is usually so stupid. Unfortunately each generation passes its own stupidities on to the next, and I suppose some day I shall pass my stupidity on.

"Then there's the perversity of humanity. You tell a child don't drink' while you are sipping a drink.

"Or you feel so good for not having a Martini for 10 days that your immediate reaction is to say 'I think I'll have a Martini.' we're idiots, crazy."

DISLIKES THE SHY

Grant, who speaks a great deal and does it well, isn't very impressed with shy people.

"People who are so shy are really colossal egotists," he explained. "They're worried about their own inadequacies when everyone has inadequacies.

"The people who are most self-concerned are the worst bores to be with."

He has two hates in the feminine world.

"Never have I seen such misshaped bodies as in those Spanish — what-do-you-call-'em —Toreador pants," Grant said emphatically. "Those and baby talk I detest most in women. Now the ladies can line up and say what they detest most in me."

Army Beginning Switch July 2

First, Tenth Divisions Swapping Posts in Big Operation Gyroscope

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The largest overseas Army movement in peacetime—ultimately involving Atlantic crossings for about 45,000 soldiers, wives and children—gets under way July 2.

Army officials explained today the first big scale rotation of forces, the simultaneous transfer of the 1st Division from Germany to Ft. Riley, Kan., and the 10th Division from Riley to Germany. It is "Operation Gyroscope."

* * *

Involved is a tremendous swapping operation—including an exchange of about everything but wives. Many families of the 1st Division will leave homes, furnishings (and possibly even pets) for their opposites in the 10th Division to take over on arrival in Germany.

* * *

The soldiers of the infantry divisions will take with them only their rifles and clothing. Artillery, vehicles, supplies—all the tons of equipment of a division—will be left at Ft. Riley and in Germany, with the stenciled divisional insignia changed to fit the new users.

Operation Gyroscope is the Army's name for the plan to rotate units overseas in cycles averaging 32 months. Under that plan the 1st and 10th Divisions are "sister" organizations. They will continue to rotate between Germany and Ft. Riley.

The basic idea is to keep soldiers and families together.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Unwittingly Private Detective Michael Shayne aids his frightened secretary Lucy Hamilton, hide a fugitive from police. She insists Jack Bristow, the fugitive, is not a murderer and Shayne investigates, learning that a girl has been strangled and that Bristow is deeply involved. Returning to Lucy's apartment, Shayne is in time for a visit of Police Chief Will Gentry and Reporter Tim Rourke, both friends of Shayne.

IX

Sound was wrenched from Lucy's throat. She started forward, her face worked convulsively, but Shayne put in sharply, "Some friend of Lucy's? Is that it?"

"I don't think so." Gentry's veiled eyes hadn't missed Lucy's involuntary start, but he disregarded it and answered Shayne matter-of-factly. "We don't know too much about the dead girl yet, but off-hand I wouldn't pick Trixie for anyone Lucy'd give her address to. Handwriting doesn't tube either, with samples we found in her room. What I am guessing is that the man who killed her had the address in his pocket and dropped it accidentally."

"That sounds like a reasonable deduction," said Shayne scornfully. "You don't suspect Lucy of being intimate with a murder victim, but with the murderer. Any particular reason for thinking that?"

"Why, yes," said Gentry comfortably. "We know from a taxi driver that a young fellow flagged him half a block from the 18th Street address soon after we figure the girl was killed and had him drive to this building. He acted nervous and funny in the cab," Gentry went on slowly, "and after he got out the driver noticed a blood smear where he'd been sitting."

Shayne sat back and nodded. "The man Sergeant Loftus was looking for. Did he find him?"

"The trail was an hour old. He searched every apartment in the building," Gentry went on heavily, "except this one. Claims you objected."

NEED MANNERS

"Did he tell you why I objected?" Shayne demanded hotly. "When you storm troopers learn some manners you'll get along better in police work."

"Loftus told me about it," grunted Gentry. "Don't blame you much, Mike, but things would look a lot better if you hadn't interfered. Too bad Loftus didn't know about this name and address when he was here."

"If he had," said Shayne, "I'd have invited him in to look for himself."

"It's going to look bad if the papers get hold of it."

Shayne grinned and glanced aside at Rourke. "So you brought a reporter along with you?"

Rourke yawned and unwound his lean body from the couch, strolled casually toward the open bedroom door that sagged inward on loose hinges behind Gentry.

Lucy started involuntarily and put her knuckles to her mouth, but Shayne's eyes followed the reporter with only casual interest.

Light footsteps came running up the stairs at that instant, and a trim young officer paused in the open outer doorway panting excitedly.

"Thought you'd want to hear this, Chief. Just got a flash over the radio from headquarters. An anonymous telephone call about half an hour ago identifies the 18th St. killer as Jack Bristow from New Orleans. With a description and a report that he was shot in the stomach, confirming the taxi driver about his coming here."

NO BLOOD, GUN

"Shot in the stomach, eh?" muttered Gentry. "There wasn't any gun or blood in the room." He was turned in his chair to listen to the man in the doorway and didn't see Lucy stiffen and turn fear-drenched eyes on Shayne, or note Shayne form the words with his lips. "Recognize the name, but take it slow."

Gentry said, "Thanks."

"I know that name, Chief Gentry," she began faintly. "New Orleans made me think of it. Arlene Bristow's brother. She worked with me before I met Michael. I met Jack once. Years ago."

Chief Gentry was all attention. "That must explain it. Does she know your present address?"

"Arlene? Oh, yes. We correspond every few months. I suppose she might have given it to Jack if he was coming to Miami."

"Describe him," ordered Gentry, getting out a pad and pencil.

Hesitantly, Lucy described Jack Bristow, and at Gentry's insistence gave him Arelen Bristow's New Orleans address.

Rourke came lounging in from the bedroom with his hands thrust deep in his pockets and a peculiar glitter in his deepset eyes, just as Gentry finished getting all the information he could from Lucy, and got to his feet, saying:

"The man must have come here hoping you'd hide him out and help him on account of his sister. You being here must have scared him away, Mike. Too bad you couldn't have been a little later and walked in on him. I'll phone this in to headquarters and have them check with Miss Bristow in New Orleans." He turned toward the telephone with pad and pencil in his hands, but Timoth Rourke forestalled him swiftly by leaping forward and grabbing the useless handset, putting one foot on the trailing cord to hide it from Gentry's eyes, and beginning to dial feverishly.

He said "Gimme rewrite" into the dead phone, and Gentry nodded sourly and lumbered to the door.

Beaten to the Punch

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—Mrs. C. Hollestelle, Omaha, told police that some energetic thieves had beaten her to the punch. She said she had planned to move a two-car garage from a lot she owns. But when she got there, the lot was bare. The thieves had dismantled it, leaving not a single stick.

Plan New Great Lakes Luxury Ship to Be 'Gigantic Invitation to Party'

MUSKEGON (UP)—A new Great Lakes queen, the $7,500,000 Aquarama, apparently must wait another year before rustling the royal train of her backwash across the "inland seas."

The one-time government cargo vessel known as the Marine Star, being transformed into a luxury passenger ship, will be moved to Chicago about June 28 and tied to the Navy pier.

Conversion work has been accomplished in a gigantic dockside work bee in Muskegon.

The work is described as the most extensive ship conversion ever attempted at a Great Lakes dockside. Muskegon port officials say its success has proved the feasibility of major repair or even shipbuilding without the costly installations of a conventional shipyard.

PLANS SECRET

The stripped-down hull of the Aquarama came to Muskegon in September, 1953. Her owners, Sand Products, Inc., of Detroit, draped her future under a shroud of secrecy.

Max McKee, president, had announced in 1946 that his firm planned a luxury cruise ship to ply between Muskegon, Milwaukee and Chicago. Many believed the Aquarama was to be the vessel.

In May, 1954, Sand Products leased the ship for 10 years to a new firm, Michigan-Ohio Navigation Co., which announced a proposed passenger service between Detroit and Cleveland.

Delays, however, involving conversion work and completion of docking facilities at Cleveland, have postponed that schedule until at least next year, the new firm stated.

WORK BEGUN

Conversion work continued at Muskegon, which became a rallying point for shipworkers. The AFL Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders, Dropforgemen, Blacksmiths and Helpers of America, with Detroit Local 169 handling most of the steel fabrication, swarmed over the hull.

McKee handled most of the contracting from Detroit. Original and conversion costs will total around $7,500,000, his Sand Products firm stated. Approximately $1,000,000 in subcontracts were let to Muskegon concerns. Harry Andrews, a Chicago marine surveyor, operates as owner's representative.

The ship is 521 feet in overall length with a beam of 71 feet, 6 inches. She is rated at a top speed of 22 knots.

Government-built as a World War II cargo bottom in 1945, the Aquarama had logged 180,000 miles before she was mothballed prior to her purchase by the Detroit firm.

FLOATING PARTY

Her owners say the completed Aquarama will be a gigantic, floating invitation to a party.

"Anything to make the passengers happy," is their motto.

The Aquarama will boast dance floors, lounges, theaters, TV viewing rooms, bars, cafeteria, children's playrooms, deck game spaces and even escalators. The plans do not include staterooms.

Navigation aids, officials report, included a closed-circuit television system with which her skipper can look—from the bridge—into various shiphandling operations.

A master is yet to be named for the Aquarama.

Observers note that Capt. William O. Gallery, soon to retire from the United States Navy, is general manager of Michigan-Ohio Navigation Co., and may command the vessel himself.

Revised plans for the Aquarama to sail out of Chicago this summer on evening-long excursion cruises suddenly were shelved early this month. The schedule now indicates she will become an entertainment ship and the base for a water show.

Veteran ship operators claim the Aquarama is in a class by herself. Her completion points to possible expansion of a pioneer Great Lakes industry — dockside shipbuilding and conversion.

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (UP) — Helen Roy, practicing driving with a learner's license, couldn't have picked a worse spot for a recent traffic accident. 'Light Touch' Found Even in Sober Legal Proceedings

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

Human nature being what it is, the light touch can enter even into legal proceedings designed to maintain the strictest formality and soberest atmosphere.

This was illustrated during a "reminiscence" session held recently after business hours in the Oakland County prosecutor's office.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem recalled a man who came in asking a warrant against a psychiatrist who he claimed was shooting rays into his head when he walked down the west side of Saginaw street.

The prosecutor in charge nodded with understanding and allowed as how he once had the same trouble but found he could cure it by walking down the east side of Saginaw instead of the west.

The warrant-seeker seemed impressed and left without further comment. About two weeks later he returned and said just four words, "You know, it worked."

Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long told of a woman on the stand in court describing how she was shot in the stomach.

"It gave me the awfullest stomach ache," she stated.

A 14-year-old girl was making a statement, said Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor, which took the following form:

Q. Do you know what the truth is?
A. Certainly.
Q. Do you know what a lie is?
A. Of course!
Q. Would you give me a definition?
A. The truth is the truth and a lie is a lie.

Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib remembered a man before him on a speeding charge who explained the reason for the offense thusly:

"I had a sore toe and it took my mind off my driving."

A man charged with a crime was making a statement, said Assistant Prosecutor Homer G. Gerue, and was asked if he ever got in any previous trouble.

"When I was in the Army," he replied, "I got in trouble marching."

He was asked what sort of trouble.

"It was because everybody else kept getting out of step."

Another incident related concerned a girl testifying as to the route of an auto ride she had taken. She said a right-hand turn was made at a certain point when actually a left-hand turn was involved.

Resolved to bring the truth out, the questioning attorney asked her to raise her right hand. She threw up her left.

Taking a different tact, the attorney asked the girl if she was called left-handed.

"No, they call me by my real name," came the reply.

A man was asked by Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang if he had told the whole truth in a statement. "Well, at least two-thirds of it," was the answer.

In a trial proceeding here many years ago, an understanding had been reached that only six character witnesses could be called for the defense.

When the defense attorney called a seventh, the prosecutor objected. The defense counsel apologized and said, "All those other character witnesses for the accused will have to leave the courtroom." Some 40 persons got up and walked out.

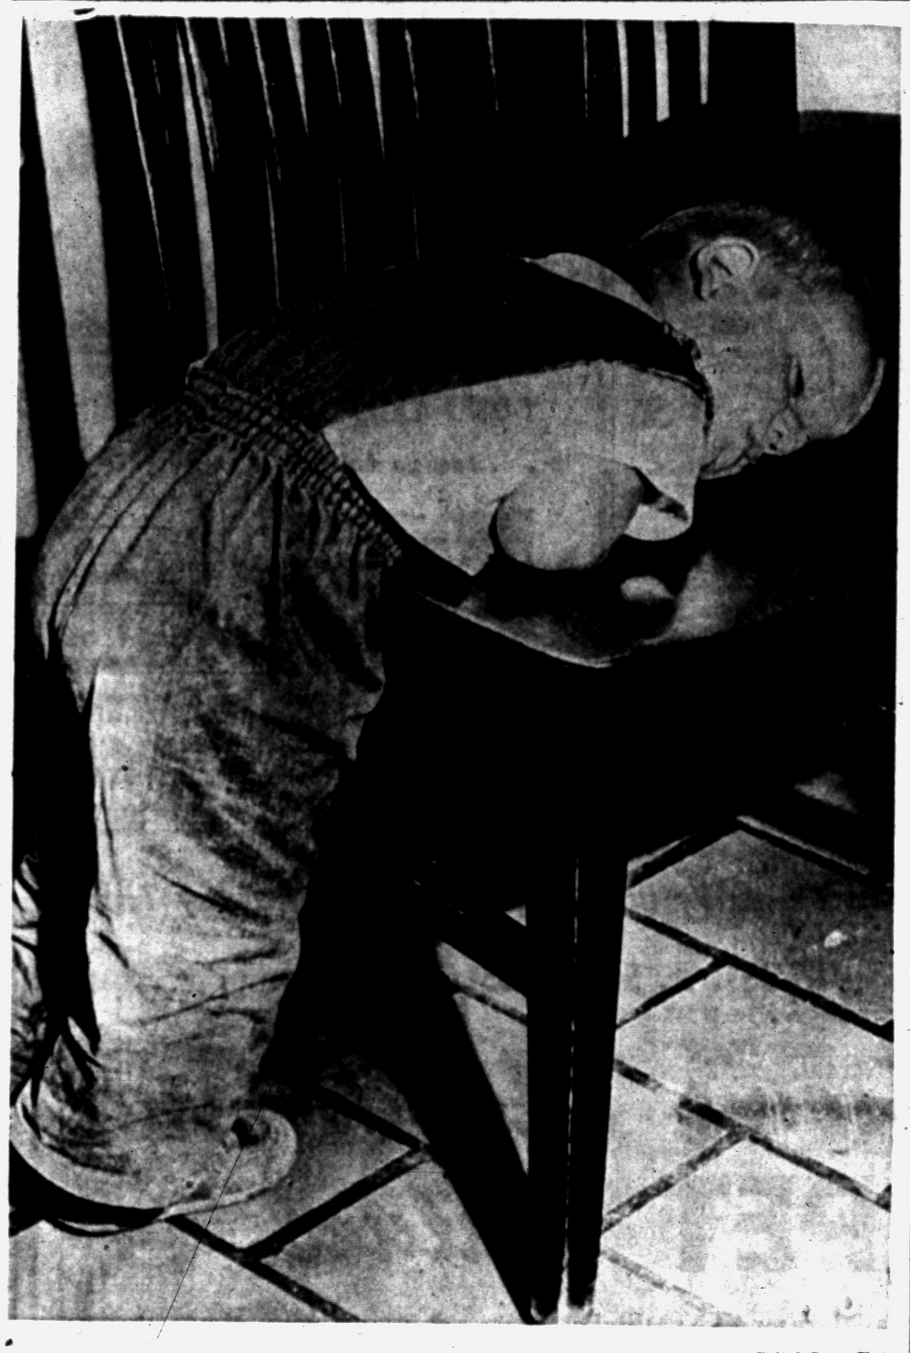

A witness on the stand denied knowing how he had received a very severe knife slash.

He said he was walking with his girl when she told him he was cut, "I looked and by gosh I was cut," he added.

Ziem remembered a difficult day in court questioning four good friends who knew each other only by their nicknames.

Once he had identified proper names with the titles "Soldier Boy," "Jitter Bug Bill," "Home Cookie," and "Bird" things went more smoothly.

And then there was the time a man just charged with bogus check passing walked into the prosecutor's office and asked them to authorize a check for him.

TRIP TO DREAMLAND — Dozing in a slightly unusual way is completely-unpanicked Stanley Rannow Jr., taking it easy at the Minnehaha, Minn., police station as officers worry about finding his parents. The 3-year-old smallfry wandered away from home and when police took him in tow they found Stanley couldn't tell them his name. After a neighborhood search, his mother, Mrs. Stanley Rannow Sr., called police and reunion was effected. Stanley's explanation for the long walk: "I was going uptown."

Ike Touring New England to Bolster GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower leaves today on a six-day speaking and fishing tour GOP leaders hope will heal some Republican differences in New England.

He flies first to Rutland, Vt., to speak at the National Dairy Festival.

* * *

He will spend the night at a mountain resort at Chittenden, conferring there with Vermont Republican leaders at breakfast tomorrow morning. Later will go on to New Hampshire and then to Maine for two days of fishing at Kennebago.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) said in an interview that if anything could heal a Republican split in the state it would be Eisenhower's candidacy for a second term next year. He said Eisenhower's decision to visit New England bolstered his own belief the President will run.

* * *

"I am satisfied he will run because he has to run," Flanders said. "The reason he has to run is because he cannot drop the responsibility for leadership either in the nation or the world."

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said every element of the GOP will be represented when Eisenhower makes three stops for speeches in New Hampshire. He plans also to visit briefly at Lincoln, the home town of White House chief of staff Sherman Adams.

* * *

Bridges, who doesn't see eye to eye with Adams on some political matters, will introduce the President for one talk. Sen. Cotton (R-NH) will officiate at another and Gov. Lane Dwinell at a third.

All this apparently was planned to promote party harmony in a state where the Democrats bid strongly for the 1st Congressional District seat in 1954, losing by 468 votes out of 107,636.

* * *

Sen. Payne (R-Maine), who plans to dip a line with the President at Kennebago, said he thinks Eisenhower's visit will "stimulate" the party organization in Maine.

"We've got a big job ahead of us to win back the governorship from the Democrats," Payne said.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), who recently expressed some doubts that the President would agree to run again, will introduce Eisenhower when he speaks at Skowhegan.

Last year's campaign for state offices in Vermont was marked by some dissension within GOP ranks. Some Republicans apparently deserted Gov. Joseph B. Johnson in his successful race as Democrats made their strongest showing in recent years.

Almanac Admits Weather Group

Guidebook Claims Role of U.S. Forecasters Has Some Validity

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—The famed John Baer Almanac, whose say-so is devoured as fact by a multitude of devotees, graciously conceded today that it isn't quite the only weather oracle in the game.

The 131st annual issue of the all-purpose guidebook gives the first hint in all those years that some other agency also could "play the seer, in a limited way, of course."

* * *

The 1956 edition shatters tradition first by recognizing the existence of the U. S. Weather Bureau. What's more, it even suggests that the bureau be given more money to improve its services. Heretofore, the almanac has looked upon the Weather Bureau's activities as amusing but futile.

* * *

In giving ground slightly a second time, the almanac forsakes science for fancy. It tells readers to go looking for toads—the right kind may be a weather sign. If the toad is rusty brown, dry weather is in store. If it is very dark and mottled, get ready for a wet spell.

As the almanac foresees it, the early months of 1956 will be unusually cold, with high winds and plenty of snow in the North. And here is the book's forecast for August of next year, when the two major political conventions will be held: high winds, squalls, tornadoes over wide areas.

* * *

Long-time residents of this southern region of Pennsylvania say that thousands of farmers and others live by the almanac, planting by the moon as it suggests, and taking its exalted counsel in many other ways.

* * *

Women who have landed husbands are told how to keep them. They are told also how to take care of their homes, their clothes. A suggestion: If the veil of your hat becomes limp and lifeless, press it between sheets of waxed paper. Better than that, get your husband to buy you a new hat.

Published in Lancaster, picturesque heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country, Baer's almanac has an international distribution. Total circulation, it was reported, may run to 250,000.

FUTURE INDIAN SCOUTS—Teddy Radaja (left), 8, of 22 Osmun St., shows what the well dressed Davy Crockett Indian Scout will be wearing this season. The equipment is lightweight and waterproof and must be made by the boy who wears it as part of the Boys' Club summer program. Looking on is Julius Charity, 319 W. Wilson Ave.

Davy Crockett Summer Program Starts

A new adaptation of the Davy Crockett craze is being introduced this week into activities of the Pontiac Boys' Club by William V. Coulacus, executive director, and his staff.

This summer, the activities of almost every boy in the club will be motivated by a goal—that of becoming a full-fledged Davy Crockett Indian Scout.

To achieve this distinction is no small task for a young man. One must advance through the ranks, becoming first a Long Rifleman, then a Trail Blazer, a Frontiersman and finally an Indian Scout.

Each of these ranks can be achieved only by enthusiastic participation in each of the many and varied activities of the club, both indoor and outdoor.

MUST OFFER PROOF

Finally, each candidate must appear before an assembly and offer proof of his accomplishments to instructors.

The program will run for 12 weeks and will embody the highest ideals of the Boys' Club organization. For example, one of the things the boys will be required to do will be to show proof that he has saved at least 10 cents per week all through the summer program.

Such a procedure, over a period of time, will at least be a step toward making thrift a habit.

Again, the great variety of activities necessary to achieve the goal will encourage the boys to broaden their interests and take part in many new hobbies.

VARIED PROJECTS

Projects include crafts, woodworking, art, library, athletics, swimming, first aid, personal health, hiking, campcraft, personal hobbies, bicycling and airplane spotting, all on a voluntary basis.

"When a boy has chosen to do something of his own accord and when he finds himself in natural surroundings participating in activites which are pleasant with other boys we find that he is in his most teachable state," says Coulacos.

"He is receptive to whatever is being taught because he entered the activity with an open mind and he respects and looks up to the instructor. We can then put across our ideals of clean living and good citizenship and expect them to stick."

Williams Vetoes Bill Hitting at Libraries

LANSING (AP) — Using his veto power for the second time this year, Gov. Williams today rejected a legislative bill which would have taken money away from public libraries.

The vetoed bill initially would have allowed township boards to adopt ordinances licensing and regulating the use of bicycles.

Williams said he did not object to this, but that the bill had been amended in the House to take away from libraries the fines and penalties paid under township ordinances.

The bill would have given that money to the township police departments.

Williams said penal fines have been the main bulwark of public libraries for more than 100 years.

Plant Giant Trap to Snare Huge Monsters of Sea

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) —Scientists here are planning a giant marine trap to snare a monster from the ocean depths of Cook Strait.

They do not know exactly what they will catch.

"The possibilities are fascinating," says Prof. L. R. Richardson, head of the zoology department at Victoria University College, Wellington.

"Sworn statements by experienced mariners indicate that there are at least four types of giant ocean creatures still unknown to man. Some people call them sea serpents."

There are reports, going back to the 1870s of occasional strandings along the shores of Cook Strait of giant squid, fearsome creatures with plate-sized eyes, bodies 10 feet across with 10 tenacles up to 25 feet long.

With echo soundings taken a few years ago, the probable home of these giant squid was charted. This is a 6,000-foot-deep canyon connecting the Palliser Bay end of the strait with the Pacific Ocean.

Cook Strait is the turbulent stretch of water between the north and south islands of New Zealand.

Disease Takes Milford Youngster, 8; Brother, 11, Also Stricken by Malady

MILFORD — Little David Gidley of Childs Lake road, who was given less than three weeks to live, two years ago, died Monday as State Police rushed him to the hospital.

Born with pneumonitis, a respritory disease similar to pneumonia, David had spent most of his eight years in the Children's Hospital in Detroit. That's where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Gidley were taking him when they realized they needed faster transportation.

The parents stopped State Police at Novi, who then took David in the squad car and got as far as the Redford branch of Receiving Hospital.

David was dead upon admittance.

The dread disease that took David's life has also been detected in a brother, Kenneth, 11. Even as the Gidley's were making funeral arrangements for David, Kenneth was being taken to the hospital due to severe headaches and coughing spells that accompany the malady.

Doctors have told the Gidley's that there is no hope for Kenneth at this time, although specialists are administering a series of injections.

Gidley is employed at Pontiac Motor Division five days a week, but in spite of steady employment, the family became hard pressed financially due to travelling back and forth to the hospital every day, hospital expenses, and clothing the four other brothers.

As a result of a story printed about David two years ago in the Pontiac Press, other newspapers investigated the family's plight, and letters of encouragement and large contributions began pouring in from sympathetic readers from all over Michigan.

Several Milford organizations came forward with help, and the VFW Ladies Auxiliary and Post adopted the Gidley family as their main project during the Christmas seasons.

David's four other brothers are Merle 14, Stanford 13, Kenneth, and Tommy, age 6.

Funeral services for David will be held in the Richardson-Bird parlors at 1 p.m. Thursday, and burial will be in the Wixom Cemetery at Wixom.

SUCCUMBS TO DISEASE — Eight-year-old David Gidley of Milford died Monday, victim of an incurable disease he has had since birth. David was given less than three weeks to live two years ago.

Lightning Hits Twice

WHITNEY POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Augie Tappan was sitting at home watching television, when an electrical storm broke yesterday. A lightning bolt struck the house, damaged several timbers in the attic and blacked out the TV set. Two minutes later Tappan received a phone call informing him that a concession stand he owned, about 15 miles from his home, had been smashed by another shaft of lightning and had blown away.

REDS LIVE HIGH — The Soviet delegation to the United Nations 10th anniversary meeting now in session at San Francisco aren't exactly slumming. They are quite comfy in the $400,000 home of Neal McNeil, used car dealer. The Reds are paying $4,000 for two weeks. The mansion, on a 4-acre estate, contains 12 large bedrooms and 10 baths. Shown above is the formal living room of the McNeil home. At right is the swimming pool in which the Russian visitors can splash between U. N. sessions.

Union Giving Cash to Truman Library

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Harry S. Truman Library got a boost of an indicated $10,000 recently from the CIO Communication Workers of America.

There were about 1,000 CWA members at a $15-a-plate dinner honoring the former President with proceeds going to the library fund.

Truman, in a brief talk, said the $1,750,000 library at Independence, Mo., will be "not a library or memorial building for me but a place to contain the papers of a president of the United States and will belong to you, the government of the United States."

He said it is hoped the library will be completed in 12-14 months.

Most of the nation's 325,000 members work for the Bell System. Their convention here continues through Friday.

Man Combines Turkeys, Art

State Farmer - Painter Not Sure Which Is Job and Which Is Hobby

ALBA, Mich., (AP)—Turkey farmer-turned-artist is the accomplishment of Wilbert Taylor.

* * *

Now he's not sure whether he's an artist whose hobby is egg collecting or egg collector whose hobby is art.

However, Taylor, a self taught artist, is sure of one thing—if art doesn't make a living for him, he can always put the turkeys back to work.

Right now he works pretty steadily with the turkeys, dropping his brushes at frequent intervals to go out and pick up turkey eggs.

Another feature of Taylor's art is the fact that he sometimes uses mushrooms instead of canvas for his paintings. He finds the huge toadstools that grow from trees and stumps and, in keeping with their rustic origin, paints deer, fox and other wild creatures on the fungi.

FAVORITE SUBJECT

Because wildlife is so close to Taylor's way of life, it makes up his favorite subject matter. He collects bounty money for trapping red fox and is able to paint the animal superbly. Venison is an important food item and deer in their woodland habitat are another Taylor "special."

He's sold some of his works to tourists and summer residents who visit his turkey ranch, four miles east of this Antrim County community. That success has given him hopes of someday being able to devote full time to painting.

Taylor, 44, bought his 80 acres near Alba in 1940, but worked in Detroit during the war. He came north in 1945 and had to quit his Gaylord factory job three years ago to care for his children after his wife was seriously injured in an auto accident.

He started raising turkeys to eke out his farm income. The eggs are used for hatchery stock and bring premium prices. In the laying season, February through April, Taylor has to pick up the eggs every two hours to keep them form being chilled.

WALLS COVERED

Between trips to the turkey nests, Taylor works on his painting. He has as many as 10 canvasses on the walls of every room in the house.

* * *

Taylor says he picked up whatever panting technique he has from reading a few paper-backed books on the old masters.

Mainly, though, he says, "I just paint because I like to paint and I set it down the way it looks prettiest to me."

Ford Allots $100,000 for Atomic Power Study

DETROIT (AP) — A $100,000 study of atomic power for industry was announced yesterday by the Ford Motor Co.

E. S. MacPherson, vice president in charge of engineering, said Ford scientists will study atomic fuel elements under a one-year agreement with the Atomic Energy Commission.

The study will be centered, MacPherson said, one means of low cost production of radioactive bars which make an atomic reactor perform.

Cops Catch Culprit

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP) — Police Sgt. Edmund Harrington and Patrolman Gerard Cote cornered a neighborhood terrorizer and beat it to death in a doorway. A city garbage truck carted the dead muskrat away.

Rural 'Teacher of the Year' Debunks Hate-School Idea

WATERVLIET (AP)—Dwight Brink, 35, Michigan's rural school teacher of the year, debunks the idea that some children don't like school.

"There is no child who doesn't want to attend school," he says. "If the school is run with the child in mind."

Brink, who teaches all eight grades at Brick School in nearby Bainbridge Township, was named rural teacher of the year by the Prairie Farmer Magazine (and radio station WLS).

He was nominated for the honor by Dr. Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction, and a board of state educational leaders. Eligibility was limited to rural teachers in communities of less than 2,500 population.

Brink entered Western Michigan College yesterday to work for his master's degree. He began his teaching career 17 years ago and says he would rather teach than "anything else in the world."

His school included 35 pupils in the recently completed term.

USES MANY AIDS

One of it's features is the attention Brink offers to the individual child and his outstanding progress with teaching aids. The school has a bimonthly film program, a library corner and a phonograph with records for teaching music appreciation.

Brink conducts field trips for nature study. He also directs his pupils with puppets and includes colored chalk, finger painting, plays and dramatics in his methods.

Beryl Dominey, Berrien County superintendent of schools, calls Brink "one of our most highly rated men."

Brink, who consults by telephone with parents of his pupils, praises their interest and cooperation in school functions.

One parent remarks:

"He has taught the children the importance of promptness, courtesy and friendliness and respect for other people's property."

Brink, a Western Michigan College graduate in 1938, is single. He will receive his citation at Chicago at the conference of the National Education Assn., July 3-7.

30,000 Persons Hear Graham's Frankfurt Talk

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Billy Graham's revival series in Germany got off to a flying start last night before a crowd of 30,000 in a Frankfurt football stadium.

An estimated 1,500 persons—including some American servicemen — answered the American evangelist's call for "decisions for Christ."

The arena was one third full. The crowd was considerably smaller than those which attended open-air meetings Graham held earlier this year in Scotland and England, but huge compared to those who turned out for his recent one-week series in Paris.

Pastor Martin Niemoeller, famous German evangelical leader interned by Hitler during the war for defying nazism, closed the meeting with a prayer.

Graham told his audience, "We listen to politicians. We listen to diplomats. We listen to philosophers. Now let's listen to Christ."

He urged his listeners to spend more time reading the Bible and thinking more about religion. "Don't go away thinking of Billy Graham," he said. "Go away thinking of Jesus Christ."

Police Pistol Range

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The police department has completed installing one of Michigan's most modern indoor pistol ranges in the city hall annex. The 12-target, automatically operated range is 71 feet wide and 50 feet from firing line to targets. Acoustical tile covers four inches of cork lining on the walls.

The world bread grain production in 1954 was about 249,000,000 short tons, or about 11,000,000 tons less than in 1953.

1.5 Million Quit Using Cigarettes

Public Health Service Reveals Many Stopped in Past 18 Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today made public an estimate that 1½ million Americans who were cigarette smokers have quit smoking entirely within the last 18 months.

It estimated that 38 million others are regular cigarette smokers —25 million men and 13 million women.

The estimates were based on a sample of about 40,000 persons surveyed by the Census Bureau for the National Cancer Institute of the Public Health Service.

"This data will be of value to National Cancer Institute statisticians and physicians who are studying the incidence of cancer in the population—particularly lung cancer—in relationship to smoking habits," the Health Service's announcement said.

The 1½ million persons believed to have stopped cigarette smoking in the past 18 months compares with 600,000 estimated to have quit in the previous year, from the fall of 1952 to the fall of 1954.

Officials said they did not have figures for the years before the fall of 1952. Thus there was no way of telling just how many of those who stopped smoking were influenced by the public discussion under way for several years, as to a possible relation between cigarettes and lung cancer. Officials said some of those who quit cigarettes may start smoking them again later.

Japanese Drink Coffee in Shops but Not at Home

TOKYO (AP)—Pour that story back through the tea leaves again, folks. Something was left out the first time.

A Tokyo dispatch June 14 said the Japanese are drinking more coffee than their traditional green tea.

Well, it's true enough—but only in the nation's booming coffee shops.

A new look at the figures shows this is just a drop—well, maybe a spoonful—in the nation's teacup.

Counting farm, home and coffee shops, here are the annual Japan totals in pounds:

Black tea:	2,400,000
Coffee:	5,000,000
Green Tea:	120,000,000

That's a lotta tea.

United States Not Ready for Lady President

TOKYO (AP)—Mrs. Perle Mesta, former U.S. minister to Luxembourg and noted Washington hostess, said today, "The United States is not ready to have a female president."

Mrs. Mesta, in a speech to the Foreign Correspondents Club, reported on other women:

Russian—"Amazons, big-boned, doing all the heavy work."

Japanese — "Wonderful, gay, charming, lovely."

Grant Dial System

GRANT (AP) — Michigan Bell Telephone Co. broke ground Monday to start a $58,000 project which will give Grant a new automatic dial telephone system. Officials expect the project to be completed by next Jan. 1.

Was His Face Red

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police Capt. Allan Relyea followed up an excited housewife's tip yesterday that a masked man was holding up the customers in a tavern. Relyea burst into the tavern and found the grinning patrons watching Jack McLaren as he showed his 2-year-old niece Sherry Boos how to rob a stage with her new Davy Crockett gun.

Fudge Cake Ideal One for Picnics

Busy Mom of Ten Gives Her Recipe for Good Cocoa Treat

With the picnic season in full swing you're sure to want a cake to take along for dessert. We think you'll like this cocoa cake, a recipe of Mrs. Gerald Thibodeau. It makes a 9-inch layer cake or a 9x13 sheet cake.

Although Mrs. Thibodeau is the mother of ten children, she is a surprisingly calm person most of the time. There is a nice, close family feeling in the Thibodeau home. Mrs. Thibodeau manages to do a bit of church work and attend an occasional PTA meeting.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE CAKE

By Mrs. Gerard Thibodeau

½ cup cocoa
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup hot water
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
2 cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix cocoa, brown sugar and hot water. Cook together until thick, stirring constantly. Cool thoroughly.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add well beaten eggs. Mix in cocoa mixture. Sift dry ingredients together. Add alternately with milk, a little at a time. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer cake pans or in a 9x13 loaf. Bake in a 350-degree oven, 25-30 minutes for layers and about 1 hour for the loaf cake. Frost with fudge frosting.

Representatives from various parishes were photographed at the Tuesday party sponsored by Northwestern Deanery, NCCW. From left to right are Mrs. Jacob Cobb, representative from St. Michael Parish; Mrs. Joseph Spadafore, Rosary Altar Society, St. Vincent Parish and Mrs. Charles D. Thayer, Sacred Heart Parish, Auburn Heights.

Mrs. William B. Dean (left) of Judson street joined with Mrs. James Pendergast (center) of Auburn avenue who is organization president, and Mrs. Clarence Chapman of Berkley, past president for dessert following cards. They were photographed at the annual party sponsored by Northwestern Deanery, NCCW held at St. Vincent Parish Hall.

Successful Person Keeps Learning

By ANNE HEYWOOD

All over the country, young graduates are getting their first jobs. Some are college graduates, some are high school graduates.

Most of them feel that with education over, they can now settle down to working, making money and getting married.

Too many of them will quite literally stop their education here and now, but they will regret it.

TALKED SHOP

Take Elinor for example. Elinor graduated from college ten years ago. As far as she was concerned, she was educated for good and didn't have to bother with that nonsense any more.

She'd take a course from time to time, if it furthered her job, but the culture business was a waste of time.

Elinor got a good job in merchandising and moved ahead; but the other side of her life was ignored. She worked all day, studied merchanising courses all the time, entertained the "right" people and talked shop.

This got her ahead, but only to a certain level. She's been there ever since and will always be stuck.

WELL-ROUNDED

What Elinor forgot is that at the very top, people are well-rounded.

Her total ignorance of what is going on in the world, except in her particular department store, does her no good.

She was considered for a top opening last year and told me, in tears, how she lost it.

The president of the company had her to dinner to meet some of the other executives, but Elinor was an ignoramus.

She hadn't read any of the books they talked about, she didn't know about any of the historical background of current events which they discussed, she had never spent a minute listening to music or learning a language or doing any reading to speak of.

DIDN'T FIT IN

"They said it was because I didn't have the maturity," Elinor told me, "but I think it's because I didn't fit in.

"But it isn't fair! I have a college degree and that ought to be enough!"

Elinor is now, belatedly, facing the fact that it is necessary to be a well-rounded person in every sense of the word if you are to get ahead.

Developing a single commercial skill, no matter how good you are at it, is not enough.

In the clinches, the big gaps in your life and your education will set you back.

"And can you believe it," Elinor asked me the other day, "I'm having so much fun! There's a lot going on in the world and I can see how much I've missed."

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM A. HALCOM

Judith Stockford Speaks Vows in Lutheran Church

Judith Stockford became the bride of John Salitsky of Marshall street at an 8 o'clock ceremony Saturday evening in Grace Lutheran Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stockford of Commerce, and Mrs. Michael Salitsky and the late Mr. Salitsky of Mayfield, Pa., are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Otto Schultz performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of 250 guests.

The bride's gown of heirloom bridal satin was fashioned along period lines. The bodice and peplum of Chantilly-type lace were accented by a portrait neckline, and the hooped skirt formed a bustle under the lace peplum. Her double-tiered French illusion veil was caught to an orange blossom tiara.

WEARS GIFT PEARLS

Wearing a single strand of pearls, the bridegroom's gift, Judith carried a cascade arrangement of stephanotis and shattered carnations centered by a white orchid on a Testament.

Dolores Salitsky, the bridegroom's sister, came from Washington, D. C., to serve as maid of honor. She was dressed in a hooped gown of rose pink mousseline de soie over waltztime taffeta.

The other attendants were Nancy Stockford, sister of the bride, wearing a similar gown of pale blue; Janice Hibbard of Chetolah Shores, wearing light yellow, and Beulah Britton of Commerce, wearing Nile green.

Their gowns were complemented by tulle picture hats and mitts and wrist corsages of carnations.

The bride's young cousins, Bonnie Brown of Ortonville and Jorde K. Nicely of Pontiac, were flower girl and ringbearer. Bonnie's dress was of baby pink nylon taffeta made similar to the attendants' gowns.

CHOOSES DUSTY ROSE

Mrs. Stockford chose a dusty rose taffeta sheer gown and black accessories with which she wore a corsage of talisman roses and yellow carnations.

A Copenhagen blue lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses was selected by the bridegroom's mother.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at Westacres Clubhouse.

Fellowship Makes Plans for the Year

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church held a meeting at the church recently and discussed plans for the year.

The following new officers were installed by Mrs. James Vaughn: president, Mrs. Brady Adams; vice president, Mrs. William Hoyt; secretary, Mrs. David DuVall, and treasurer, Mrs. Lester Stanley.

Serve in Booth for Handicapped

Mrs. Philip Francis of Pontiac is among friends of the League for the Handicapped who are serving in the league's booth at the Detroit Horse Show this week at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Presiding over the lovely handmade articles on different days are Mrs. W. O. Briggs Jr., Mrs. Robert W. Budd, Mrs. James Nance, Mrs. Henry Forster Jr., Mrs. Nelson B. Noland, Mrs. Edward E. Rothman, Mrs. Frederic S. Ward of Pontiac, Mrs. Robert Lee Graham, Mrs. C. M. Higbie of Metamora, Mrs. Alfred C. Morre, Mrs. E. A. Schirmer and Mrs. Rockwell Gust of Grosse Pointe.

William Halcom Claims Bride in Walled Lake

The Rev. J. F. Manning performed the wedding ceremony which united his daughter, Erlene, and William Almes Halcom in marriage Friday evening at 7:30.

The ceremony took place in Walled Lake with members of the immediate family and close friends present.

The Rev. Mr. Manning and Mrs. Manning reside in Bay, Ark., and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Halcom, reside on South Anderson street.

A bridal gown of white lace over satin was worn by Erlene. The bodice was fashioned with sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves.

She carried a cascade arrangement of red rosebuds and white stephanotis with a white Bible.

ATTENDS SISTER

Mrs. Earnon Martin of Walled Lake was her sister's only attendant. She wore a yellow linen dress with matching headpiece and a corsage of daisies.

Omes Halcom served as his brother's best man.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of Mrs. Martin.

The bride's mother wore a navy crepe dress and a pink carnation corsage. A navy lace dress and corsage of pink carnations were worn by the bridegroom's mother.

The couple left on a wedding trip through the South.

Lad Must Win Mother's Trust, Friendship

By ELIZABETH WOODARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: The girl that I like, likes me — but I'm afraid her mother doesn't. My girl and I held hands once and some of our friends saw us and told her mother. Her mother didn't approve because she thought we were too young.

"Then one night at a party, she met me and made some very sarcastic remarks right to my face.

"What can I do to get on the good side of her mother? I hate to be in bad standing with her."

Answer: You want everybody to like you, and who doesn't? Most particularly of all you want the mother of your pet girl to think you're a very-high-type gentleman.

Things got off to an unfortunate start. But the damage can be undone if you get any sort of welcome at your girl's house.

If you were given to understand that you'd spoiled all your chances and were not to come around any more — of course that's different. From a distance, you can't very well fascinate mama.

But if you can casually drop around some afternoon, you can parade your most polite manners.

You can play up gently and tactfully to mother. You can admire her roses, offer to do her a chore, flatter her by your interest and attention to what she says.

YOU CAN APOLOGIZE

If she brings up sore subjects, you can apologize and get the score cleared. That will end the discussion and you won't have to fret about it the next time you drop around to their house.

Mothers sometimes are funny people. They take instant likes and dislikes to the boys their daughters know. They don't have to have said boys around to make up their minds about them.

Their impressions are clinched by the way a boy looks, for one thing.

He should be neat and clean in all details when he turns up on her doorstep. And he must be able to look her in the eye with self-confidence and poise. He must keep his hands and feet under control and avoid sprawling all over her furniture.

BE OBSERVANT

If he's good-humored and witty he'll get a few laughs out of mama. (That's good for the score.) If he can brag to her about her own daughter it will help.

If he can admire something specific in the living room — the slip covers, curtains, or a lamp — she'll beam and take it that he recognizes good taste when he sees it.

If he senses the right moment for leaving and makes a point of saying goodbye to mother, he'll make a good impression. It's a good foundation on which to keep adding good impressions every time he comes around.

When he can tease Mama and get away with it, he'll know he's really in good!

Would-Be-Moviegoers State Case

Unexpected Visit as They Depart Presents Dilemma

BY EMILY POST

A wife asks: "If friends should pay us an unexpected visit just as my husband and I are about to go to the movies, could they be offended if I ask them to come back another time, or must we stay home and entertain them?"

Answer: If the movie is one that you especially want to see and it is playing just that one night, you could say, "John and I were just on our way to the Bijou to see . . . .

"Tonight is the last night it is being shown here and we do want very much to see it. Wouldn't you and Henry like to see it too?"

If they say no, it would not be rude to go and ask them to come another evening.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the proper flowers to send to a fifteen-year-old girl who has asked me to go with her to a dance? I had thought of sending an orchid but my mother tells me that orchids are not for young girls.

"Is this true, and if so, what kind would be most suitable?"

Answer: Your mother is right. A small bouquet of sweetpeas, lily of the valley or sweetheart roses would be most suitable.

It would be a good idea to call the girl and ask her the color of her dress and then get a flower that will be becoming with it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: From time to time I receive business letters from women who sign their names as Mary Brown, Jane Greene, etc., with no title to indicate their status.

"In answering such letters, what is the correct salutation? Should I begin "Dear Miss. . . ." or would it be better to say "Dear Madam."

Answer: Unless the signature "Mary Brown" has Mrs. John Brown" in parenthesis either to the left or under it, you will be correct in assuming that it is the signature of Miss Brown.

In 'Time Out for Ginger'

Laughter Is Featured at Will-O-Way

By JANET ODELL

Hilarity awaits you out on Long Lake road. "Time Out for Ginger" by Ronald Alexander, opened last night at Will-O-Way Playhouse, and laughs will be featured for the next two weeks.

* * *

Fathers of teenage girls often get themselves in hot water. Gerald M. Harrington, as Howard Carol, is no exception. He gives a seemingly innocent talk on manners to the high school students, but makes the mistake of saying no one should be forced to do anything he doesn't want to do. Putting it mildly, this brings repercussions, none of which he had foreseen.

Regular patrons of Will-O-Way will be glad to have Mr. Harrington back after a year's absence. Last summer he was busy traveling all over the United States with a show.

"Gerry" plays his part with great enthusiasm. He really gives his all in the scene where he describes the football game. The perspiration he mopped off his brow was real.

CHARMING MOTHER

A local radio and little theater actress, Harriet Stauffer Fox makes a charming mother for the three adolescent daughters. Tall and attractive, Mrs. Fox is a pleasure to watch.

* * *

Maggie O'Hara, the feminine lead in the opening play, changes parts completely to become the oldest daughter, Joan. The antics of her youngest sister, she feels, lowers her prestige. She's typically teenage.

Jeannie is played by Margha Buhs, another experienced actress in little theater groups. In the play she sets out to do "Victoria Regina" better than Helen Hayes did it.

Ginger, the star of the show, is the 14-year-old daughter who goes all out for the football team—and makes it. Any parent of a daughter this age will appreciate Bea Schaffer's portrayal of the role. She's part little girl, part tomboy, and just a little part eternal woman. She's exasperating and she's lovable.

BELIEVABLE BOYS

The two teenage boys, one Joan's steady, the other Ginger's pal, are believably acted by Hal Rollins and Jim Wright. Again parents will feel right at home when these two characters are on the stage. Hal has acted at Will-O-Way before, while Jim is a newcomer.

* * *

Supporting players, Lillian Hicks as Lizzie, Robert Bryson as high school principal Mr. Wilson, and Michael Keith as bank president Ed Hoffman, carry their parts well.

Lillian Hicks has been seen on Detroit television shows and has sung with the symphony orchestra.

If you're looking for an evening of fun for the whole family, we suggest you take them to see "Time Out for Ginger."

Pioneer Group Has Election of Officers

Mrs. C. B. Fairchild was hostess to 14 members of the Pioneer Group recently at her Elizabeth Lake road home.

A cooperative luncheon was served with Mrs. M. E. Baldwin and Mrs. C. L. Clough assisting the hostess.

Mrs. John Hall was accepted as a new member.

Elected to office were Mrs. Ella Sandison, president; Mrs. Emmett Miller, vice president; Mrs. L. G. Kath, secretary, and Mrs. Ada Schreck, treasurer.

Piano Recital Held at Donelson Church

Donelson Baptist Church was the setting for a recent piano recital. Among those participating were Mary Alice Kissick, Nancy Heaton, Rita Louise Stanley, Cathleen Kidd and Mary Charlotte Kidd.

Others were Janet Delbridge, Helen Ritter, Judy Cooper, Joyce Combs and Mary Catherine Parle.

A humorous reading was given by Mrs. Albert Leighton and ushers for the affair were Sharon and Sandra Gregory.

If you go out to the kitchen and offer to help your hostess with last-minute dinner preparations and she assures you there is nothing for you to do — beat it back into the living room. Some hostesses like to have guests offer to help and gladly put them to work.

Other hostesses regard a guest in the kitchenas more of a nuisance than a help.

Queen Mary Group Conducts Meeting

Queen Mary Section of Needlework Guild met recently with Mrs. Frank Snover of Belmont avenue.

Members spent the afternoon sewing and knitting. The group will hold one more meeting before fall. Mrs. Harvey Little will open her home on Wall street June 30.

Sugar cane is 12 to 15 per cent sugar by weight.

Nation Wants Action on Delinquency

(Second of three columns on a unique and dramatic approach to juvenile delinquency.)

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

We Americans want action on juvenile delinquency.

We are tired of the waste of children. We are tired of the waste of money. We are very tired of the politicians' promises and the reformers' talk of bigger basketball games and prettier playgrounds.

For we know that when the children have finished the games and got their heads patted at the playgrounds, they go home to the screams and conflict.

We want action based on the ABC of social service. That ABC is: To get a helpless person to ask for help is your first step in teaching him responsibility for himself.

The screaming, irresponsible people who produce delinquent children are not asking for help because the only kind we offer frightens them.

That is our problem.

OVERLOADED AGENCIES

Up to now, what we offer is the mediation of the cop on the corner — and those hard-to-get services of overloaded private agencies which to thousands of people are either unheard of or associated with snoopy, patronizing "charity."

What slum child, made frantic by an ailing woman's nagging, is going to seek the corner cop for release of tension and understanding?

What ailing woman, overburdened by shame of her life's failures is going to seek out help she imagines to be snoopy "charity?"

The proof that such help isn't help is the fact that it is not sought. That's the reality. And until it's faced, we're going to continue making grand humanitarian speeches while we muddle along with public equipment as outgrown as horse cars and Lillian Russell's bustle.

We want a new public service, please. We want it staffed by people as skillful in winning human confidence as our firemen are with pulmotors. We want out from the 19th century and in to the 20th.

We want a public family emergency to which an embattled child or his parents can appeal as trustfully as they'd call a hospital or the Fire Department.

Listen! The other day, the mother of a 12-year-old boy who had made himself a juvenile court record as a thief, truant and gangster was asked to explain it.

She said, "My relief check is too small. It's terrible to have to say 'No' to your kid when he wants what other kids have."

She was saying: "I am a sick woman. I cannot tolerate restriction. I hate it so that I have infected my son — and driven him to steal what I have had to deny him."

If she had typhus, how fast we'd run! How the ambulance siren would shriek! We'd be there in her tenement in five minutes flat. The street would be cleared. Every special skill of our public health facilities would be rallied to the control of her disease.

But her disease is not typhus. It is moral disorder — and until her community can move upon it in emergency public health service, it will continue to spread its contagion to us all.

* * *

Gerald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Scherly Green of Gregory road. The Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly performed the 10 o'clock Nuptial High Mass Saturday morning in St. Michael Church.

The bridal gown was fashioned of Chantilly lace and tulle over bridal satin. The fitted bodice of lace featured long, pointed sleeves embellished with sequins.

The skirt of the gown was a pleated pyramid of tulle, edged with wide bands of Chantilly lace.

A heart-shaped headpiece of Chantilly lace secured her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and roses, centered with a white orchid.

ATTEND BRIDE

Joanne Swartz attended her sister as maid of honor and Arline Green, sister of the bridegroom, was a bridesmaid. They wore yellow ballerina-length gowns fashioned with strapless bodices, topped with lace jackets.

* * *

Tiers of pleated net were designed into the bouffant skirts. They wore white gloves and yellow headpieces with pearl trim. Their bouquets were composed of yellow and white carnations.

Chester Susalla, cousin of the bride from Detroit, was best man. Seating the guests were Eugene Green, brother of the bridegroom from Drayton Plains; Luzerne Swartz, brother of the bride, and Gerald Swartz, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held at Gingellville Community Center. The bride's mother wore a navy faille dress with lace panels and navy and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a fawn and brown print dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

The bride wore a brown and white checked cotton dress when she left on her wedding trip. She chose matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. When they return the newlyweds will reside on Crescent Lake road.

Eyebrows and Lips

The most important part of our make-up are the lips and eyebrows. If these two are properly done it does much to give us a well groomed appearance. If you are not sure of the best shape for your brows, just remove the stragglers. This will make you look neater. Get the advice of your beautician as to the best shape for you.

A general rule to follow is not to repeat a line in the brow which you do not want repeated in your face. If your face is round, do not arch your brows in a semicircle.

If you have difficulty making an even line with your lipstick, try a brush. Make the outline, then fill in with the lipstick. The size and shape of the mouth may be altered by carrying the lipstick inside or outside the natural line. Your beautician can make suggestions about what is best for you if you are in doubt.

Bob Considine Says:

This African Must Look to U.N. for Justice

NEW YORK (INS)—Open letter to the speech-makers now gathered at San Francisco for the 10th anniversary of U. N.

Sirs:

As you try to recapture that old, old feeling—like a somewhat jaded married couple returning to Niagara Falls—let me tell you a story about a fellow who got pushed around pretty roughly because he agreed with you.

One day this spring, a short, stocky Negro emerged from New York's East Side air terminal, asked directions for the U. N. Building, then made his determined way toward it.

He was Julius Nyerere, a teacher at St. Francis College, Pushu, Tanganyika, and president of the Tanganyikan African National Union. His arrival in the U. S. doubled the number of Tanganyikans in this country, the other being a student in Chicago.

* * *

Nyerere had been sent to this country as an emissary of the 18,000 members of the Tanganyikan Union, each of whom had contributed up to a shilling to pay for the journey.

The purpose of his visit was to appear before the U. N. Trusteeship Council to state that public opinion in his country agreed with the majority report of the U. N. mission to Tanganyika that his country would be ready for self-government in 20 or 25 years.

BRITISH DISTURBED

So disturbed were the British, who hold the trusteeship for Tanganyika under the U. N. At Nyerere's arrival in the U. S., that they immediately rushed in three other "Tanganyikans" to offer rebuttal.

* * *

These were a European businessman, an Asian diamond broker, and a Brtish-appointed African chief. Nyerere, however, made a considerable impression at U. N. The mission's report, he said, was "balanced, true, comprehensive."

He said that assertions by the British that his people opposed the findings of the mission were false. He asked that elections be established in Tanganyika with Africans eligible to hold office. He stressed the need for more education so that his people would have the technical knowledge to exploit Tanganyika's natural resources.

Although he comes from one of the most backward tribes in Tanganyika, Nyerere is one of the best educated Africans. He got his first schooling in mission schools, attended Makerere University in Uganda, then graduated from Edinburgh University with master's degrees in history and economics.

* * *

Returning to Tanganyika, he took up teaching. He's 33, is married (his wife also is a teacher) and has two children. Because of his learning and background, he has been asked to play an increasingly greater role in his nation's quest for self-government.

JOB VANISHES

When Nyerere returned to Dar es Salaam after the U. N. visit he was greeted by thousands of his countrymen, anxiously waiting to hear his report and learn what the world body was saying about Tanganyika.

He also found that he no longer had his teaching job. The post was paid for from British funds. The governor explained to Nyerere that it was not customary for civil servants to mix in politics.

Julius answered that he agreed thoroughly and would follow the advice when Tanganyika had the same freedoms as Britain.

Nyerere is now working for the Maryknoll fathers, who staff a large territory along Lake Victoria. He is presently teaching Kizanaki to a young California Maryknoller named Arthur Wille, who is opening a mission among the Bazaniki people. They number 20,000. Twelve, including Nyerere, are Catholics.

The news of Nyerere's dismissal from his teaching post has traveled all through Tanganyika. He, who would much prefer to deal with the history of centuries past, finds himself caught up in current history, simply out of a deep sense of duty to his people.

Meanwhile, gentlemen of the U. N., meeting on the lovely ground where dreams rose like incense a decade ago, you are faced with a simple problem of justice in one of your trust territories.

Your friend,
BOB CONSIDINE

Denver Mayor Wins Narrowly

Friend of Eisenhower Ekes Out Victory by 766-Vote Margin

DENVER (AP)—Will F. Nicholson, 54-year-old Republican state senator and friend of President Eisenhower, was elected Denver mayor by a margin of only 766 votes in the Colorado capital's first runoff election yesterday.

The 6-foot-4 winner officially polled 60,505 votes to 59,739 for his opponent Dist. Atty. Bert Keating.

Keating, a Democrat, conceded the hairline decision three hours after polls closed. He specified it was a conditional concession. "I want to check and see that the returns are correct," he said.

The runoff was made necessary when neither Nicholson nor Keating, who emerged topmost in a six-man mayoralty field in a May 17 election, polled a required majority.

* * *

Absentee ballots turned the balance in the nonpartisan election. Those who actually visited the polls in the city's 407 precincts gave Keating an advantage of 34 votes. But Nicholson, president of a real estate firm and twice a state senator, polled 2,366 absentee votes to 1,566 for Keating.

The winner assumes the four-year, $18,500-a-year post July 1. He succeeds Quigg Newton, a two-term mayor who had accepted a post with the Ford Foundation in New York.

Nicholson ran for the Senate on the GOP ticket against Democrat Edwin C. Johnson, now Colorado governor, in 1948.

Scientists Seminar Set at Douglas Lake

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — A summer colony of 142 buildings that blooms for eight weeks a year has been taken over by 229 people assembled for the 27th annual session of the University of Michigan biological station at Douglas Lake.

Classes began Monday in 16 classes of botany and zoology.

Fanle of the station, largest freshwater biological station, has brought together a distinguished faculty of 15 professors from seven universities and colleges, and 17 scientific researchers, all of whom have their Ph.D. degree. Principal research is scheduled in mushrooms and other fungi, animal parasites and physical features of Lake Michigan.

The station has 98 students. Faculty, investigators, and families bring the station's membership to 229.

Seventy-eight of the 98 students already hold one or more degrees and are working on advanced degrees.

BUICK SPECIAL 2-Door, 6-Passenger Riviera, Model 46R

They're making it the BIGGEST-SELLING BUICK OF ALL TIME

Maybe you'd better see for yourself why folks just won't do without this great car

PEOPLE say success makes success—but we say people make success, and how!

It's people—just like you—who are snowballing Buick sales this year to an all-time peak.

It's people—just like your neighbors down the street—who are snapping up these gorgeous new Buicks almost as fast as we get them from the factory, and causing Buick production to climb to new levels every month, to handle the unparalleled demand.

And it's people—just about from every walk of life—who keep Buick sales soaring without letup—and who have moved Buick more solidly than ever into the charmed circle of America's top best sellers.

But why? Why this phenomenal swing to Buick on the part of people who can choose any new car?

Because Buick's a buy—definitely.

And because it's a bold beauty that catches the eye and holds it—that's for sure.

And certainly because it's supremely level of ride—and a sweet joy to handle—and a mighty bundle of high-voltage V8 power to melt away the miles and the high hills.

But most of all, because Buick this year is a performer like no earth-bound vehicle ever was before...

Because Buick—and only Buick—has the airplane-principled magic of Variable Pitch Dynaflow* where you switch the pitch for big gas savings in cruising—or for whip-quick getaway response and acceleration when you need a sudden safety-surge.

It's sheer thrill, and pure pleasure, and a big boon to your gasoline budget—and you really ought to try it.

Come visit us soon—this week, at the latest—and see for yourself why this is the car folks just won't do without—the biggest-selling Buick of all time.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Roger M. Blough's Success Story

U.S. Steel's New Chairman Born on Farm

(Copyright, 1955, by International News Service)

A quiet-spoken lawyer who began his career in the underpaid profession of schoolteacher in Pennsylvania is today holding down what is perhaps the No. 1 industrial position in America.

He is Roger M. Blough, 51, the new chairman and chief executive officer of the two-billion-dollar U. S. Steel Corp.

Blough is an up-from-the-ranks executive, a friendly, unassuming man who takes his time making decisions and invariably comes up with the right answers. His strength is his thoroughness and ability in analyzing big problems.

This man who, some 30 years ago, was teaching the "three R's" to the small fry in the little town of Hawley, Pa., is an unusual type of executive to meet. He talks to you in a relaxed, easy-going manner and displays no pretensions.

When interviewed in his office at 71 Broadway, in New York's financial district, he seemed a bit shy when asked about the qualities that have made him a success. With characteristic modesty, he advised going lightly on "the success angle."

Blough is a well-built conservatively-attired man almost 6 feet tall. He wears horn-rimmed glasses and never seems rushed for time despite the prodigious amount of work he does. He is a man who thinks big, talks little, and likes to work. He is the calm, "low pressure" type of executive who never loses his head.

BORN NEAR MINE

He came up the hard way, like so many successful business men. He was born in the mining community of Riverside, Pa., on Jan. 19, 1904, the son of a truck farmer.

When he was 15, he recalled, he worked for a couple of weeks (at Christmas vacation time) in the nearby U. S. Steel Works at Johnstown. He operated a machine which puts threads inside of nuts. He also worked in Bethlehem Steel's wheel plant in Johnstown. As a boy he attended a one-room grade school in Riverside.

He waited on tables when he went to college. He was then striving for an education. In 1925 he was graduated from Susquehanna University in Pennsylvania with a bachelor of arts degree.

Asked if he thought a college education is necessary to succeed in life, he replied:

"A great deal depends upon the individual. Given the same amount of talent, the fellow who develops his educational opportunities certainly has a better chance because it gives him a broader base on which to build."

TAUGHT SCHOOL

Blough certainly developed his opportunities. Before attending Yale Law School, where he received his bachelor of laws degree, he taught school for three years at Hawley, Pa. He served as supervising principal during his third year.

While at Yale, he was an editor of the Yale Law Journal. And, after graduation, he practiced law with White and Case in New York City.

Blough's association with U. S. Steel, the bell-wether of American business, began during the investigation of the steel industry by the temporary National Economic Committee in 1939 and 1940, during which time he acted as an associate counsel for the corporation.

It was a piece of good luck that Ben Fairless and others spotted Blough as a man with a fine, analytical mind. In 1942 Blough was persuaded to join the corporation.

He was appointed general solicitor in charge of all legal matters for a management subsidiary which coordinated the business of the parent corporation. He learned fast. The job gave him a bird's-eye view of "Big Steel's" vast and complex operations.

BRIEFED FAIRLESS

It was Blough who briefed Fairless in the 1950 congressional investigations of alleged steel monopolies before the latter took the stand as the chief witness for "Big Steel." Blough's thorough and painstaking marshalling of facts on the company's operations helped Fairless rebut the government's arguments.

From then on Blough was on his way up. He performed diverse tasks with unusual ability. He kept in close touch with labor-management matters and advised top management on administrative problems. In 1952 he was elected a director of the corporation and last May 3 succeeded Fairless as chairman of the board. Fairless had reached the normal retirement age of 65.

Asked if on the way up he had encountered any reverses or discouragements, Blough replied:

"I'd say I was pretty lucky. I can't recall any serious reverses. There are times when you seem to be treading water—not going too fast. But you are learning all the time."

Blough and his wife live in an apartment in New York's Park Avenue, and also have a house in the Poconos. They have twin daughters, Jane and Judith Ann, who are attending college. Blough spends long hours at his office. His associates say he is "wonderful" to work with. One of them described him as "an understanding man who never loses his temper."

About 25,000 deaths in the U.S. annually are caused by tuberculosis.

St. Joseph Cops Lead

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — The election of Lt. Gus Damaske to the presidency of the Michigan Lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police gives St. Joseph police officials presidency of Michigan's three top police organizations. Kangaroo Court Called LUDINGTON (AP)—Kangaroo court opens the city's centennial observation next Friday. The court will hear cases involving whiskered males lacking brothers of the brush permits, unwhiskered men without shavers' permits and women wearing makeup with a cosmetic permit.

Problems of Would-Be Great Novelists Aired

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — I intend some day to write a book. This makes me about as distinctive as a lover in Paris.

In fact, I am told that six out of 10 Americans intend to write books (comparative figures on Paris lovers unavailable), and all most of us are waiting for is peace, quiet, money, inspiration or a little place in Havana, like Hemingway's, to bring it out.

My book, like the books of 5.99 out of 10 Americans, is in the dream stage. Sometimes—usually after seeing a white sports car or a blue mink—I think it will be a best seller. A gutty love story perhaps, or a treatise on how to be rich, intelligent and happy without money, brains or peace of mind.

Other times — after seeing a foreign film—I visualize my book as an artistic failure. It will handle its stark subject (undecided) with beautiful restraint and will simply shatter people who live in garrets.

WHOM, INDEED

But most of all, I dream of the dedication. To what, to whom, will this masterpiece be inscribed? Should it be a simple, direct acknowledgement such as: "To my mother, without whom this book might never have been written"? Or something dramatic and mysterious: "To S. S. MCZ—Who knows why"?

It has long been a hobby of mine, pausing and wondering over the dedication of books and, the more I see others' tributes the more confused I become about my own.

There are so many things and beings to dedicate a book to. One can be just plain friendly, as in the case of Ruth Gannon who preceded her fascinating book, "Decorating With House Plants," with a credit to "My faithful Alice who takes such good care of my plants when I'm away."

MUSHY, MAYBE

Or one can be mushy like Graham Greene, who dedicates "The End of the Affair" to "Catherine, with love," and Charles Jackson, whose "The Fall of Valor" is inscribed to "Rhoda, Again."

Sometimes, however, an author feels obligated to veer from sentiment and be thoroughly honest. Like Art Buchwald, whose "Paris After Dark" is inscribed "To my expense account without whose thoughtful understanding and helpful padding this guide could never have been written."

A similar case in point appears in the frontpiece to "Auntie Mame," the current best-seller. Author Patrick Dennis, obviously torn 'twixt despair and gratitude, dedicates it "to the worst manuscript typists in New York, V. V. and Mme. A."

FAMILY FIRST

I have always believed members of the author's family should be credited in the book for having to read each chapter as it is completed, and heap adjectives of approval on the writer's head. I do not think it fair, however, for the author to dedicate the book to his family in words that can be misconstrued, such as "To father, whose constant prodding led me to become a writer."

Another example of this appears in the dedication of the book, "Your Ipsurance and How to Profit by It," which is awarded: "To Phyllis, who asked one question too many." This has a morbid tone to it, causing the reader to wonder mildly where Phyllis is today, and how much insurance she left.

There are books dedicated to virtually everything, from dogs to editors, from typewriters to Albert Einstein, and to a great many girls named Bernice and Ida Mae who are inevitably "helpmates" to the author.

It is most confusing, trying to figure out a distinctive dedication for one's forthcoming book, and the time it consumes is reason enough to postpone, temporarily, the actual writing.

(This column is gratefully dedicated to all the sluggish and indolent authors-to-be who can understand this point of view.)

Fluoride Program

FREMONT (AP)—Newaygo County has scheduled its second annual program of fluoride application for preventing tooth decay among school children. Dr. J. W. O'Neill, director of the county health program, says parents of 1,000 children have paid in advance for the treatments. The figure is an increase of 75 per cent over the number treated last year.

New Navy Fighter Passes Flight Test

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Navy announces that it has successfully tested its newest experimental jet fighter designed to operate from aircraft carriers at speeds faster than sound.

The plane, as yet unnamed, is the XF8U-1, made by Chance Vought Aircraft Co. The successful flights were made by test pilot John Konrad at Edwards Air Force base in California.

The Navy said "This slender, swept-wing fighter combines a powerful engine in a trim, lightweight airframe to achieve the greatest possible speed consistent with shipboard operating requirements.

Exceptional speed is made possible by use of the large J-57-P-4 turbojet engine manufactured by Pratt and Whitney. The engine was developed for America's inter-continental heavy bomber, the B52, which is powered by eight of the ten-thousand-pound-thrust jets.

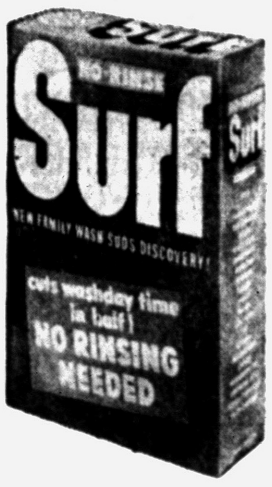

Police Chief Gets Leave

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Police Chief Vern Story has announced he will take a 60-day rest leave beginning July 2 before deciding on retirement or return to his post. Story sought retirement at the end of June because "the strain and tension of the office was too much." The rest leave was suggested by City Manager H. H. Crow.

Central Enrollment Up

MT. PLEASANT (AP) — Central Michigan College Dean George Lauer reports 800 persons already have applied and more are expected to enroll in the school's six-week summer session June 27 to Aug. 5.

Big Four Leaders Getting Security Cloak

GENEVA (UP)—Any celebrity-loving Swiss who succeeds in getting a long look at one of the Big Four leaders here next month will become a celebrity himself.

President Eisenhower, Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, Prime Minister Eden and Premier Edgar Faure are going to get security rarely accorded any visiting dignitary in Switzerland.

Swiss police have never forgotten that someone threw a tomato at the late Eva Peron, the Argentine President's wife, when she toured Switzerland in 1947. It missed her but hit Swiss Foreign Minister Max Petitpierre, seated beside her in an automobile.

* * *

Four companies of Swiss troops will help police guard the hotels and villas where the delegates will live. They will patrol every foot of road along which the Big Four ride and guard their airplanes at Geneva Airport on a 24-hour schedule. Detectives from all other Swiss cantons will augment Geneva police.

In their calculations, Swiss security officials went into the recent political history of the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Britain.

They studied the police reports of the shooting in the U.S. House of Representatives last year. They looked into the earlier attack on President Truman's residence, Blair House.

* * *

Because of French difficulties in Morocco, police have been told to keep out a close watch for Moroccan extremists in the protection of Faure. Avid anti-Communists will be watched in Bulganin's interest.

Eden will live in the Villa Reposoir on the edge of Geneva, where he stayed during the Asian conference last year.

Bulganin is expected to stay at the villa occupied by the permanent Russian delegation in Geneva. The rest of the Russians will live in the Hotel Metropole.

Faure is expected to live in a villa, still not chosen.

* * *

As far as is known, President Eisenhower will stay at the Rhone Hotel overlooking the Rhone River. Secretary of State Dulles lived there during last year's conference.

* * *

Hotels used by delegations and delegation heads will be inspected by Swiss detectives every morning. All hotel employes will be investigated. Swiss detectives will be on duty at the hotels 24 hours a day to assist the security forces of the delegation.

The conference likely will be held in the council chamber of the United Nations Building, the old League headquarters used last year for the conference on Korea and Indochina.

Eisenhower, Eden, Faure and Bulganin will be greeted at the airport by Swiss President Petitpierre, Geneva officials and a guard of honor. They will then disappear, as far as the public is concerned, into the maze of security.

AMERICANS MAKE THINGS THEMSELVES—3

Making Silverware

The early colonists in America made many beautiful dishes, spoons, cups and pitchers out of silver, which they often got from silver coins.

The silversmiths of this period made their own designs by hand. These skilled artisans had apprentices—boys who helped them at the trade—and who later set up their own shops.

Such an apprentice was Paul Revere who became one of the most famous silversmiths in New England. Revere was a man of many talents. He was an earnest patriot and a hero of the Revolutionary War. His ride on horseback through the villages and towns warning the people that the British were coming is a well known story.

Our picture shows Revere at work on a silver teapot. It stands on a cushion so it will not be scratched. On the wall behind are sketches for other pieces.

Color the picture carefully. Imagine that you are in the same room with Paul Revere.

'Bonanzagram'

Have Fun! Win $100!

"Bonanzagram" is an exciting new puzzle in which the Pontiac Press offers both fun and a $100 cash prize. BUT before you try your hand at "Bonanzagram" be sure and read the rules at the bottom of this page. Solution will appear in the Press July 1.

CLAIM CHECK

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No. 16 is published Friday, July 1. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning solution. Check the rules below for further details.

Bonanzagram No. 16

The letter on the government agent's blotter looked innocent enough—a cordial, handwritten invitation to a friend to join Mr. X for dinner and the theater ten days hence. Mr. X was a respected citizen with newspaper connections, active and well known in Capital circles, but his name was on the list for investigation so that all his mail was being discreetly screened. The agent decided to send the letter along to the laboratory — a lucky decision, for treatment disclosed, between the lines, some fine writing in a new kind of invisible ink. Some of the letters were obliterated in bringing out this secret writing, but the agent, trained in such matters, managed to fill in the missing parts, revealing a message that showed Mr. X had a good reason to resort to invisible ink. Can you, too, decipher the cleverly concealed message?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation will help solve the message but is not necessary to win.

All missing letters must be correctly inserted to win a Bonanzagram prize. Punctuation will not be considered in judging a correct answer.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p.m. Tuesday, June 28. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, June 28 for Bonanzagram No. 16. Address "Bonanzagram, % Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." Postmark on this letter must be not later than 5 p. m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employes of the Press and members of their immediate families. (Immediate family means all those living in an employe's household.)

2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.

3. The Press will award a prize of $100 to the sender of each weekly Bonanzagram. If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the $100 will be added to the next week's prize. If the winner is a subscriber of record to the Press a $20 bonus will be added to the $100.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize, but there is no limit on number of entries.

5. The Press retains the right to correct typographical errors.

6. Judges' decision will be final and contestant's submission of entries indicates acceptance of these rules.

7. No liability is accepted for entries that fail to reach us.

8. The Press reserves the right to alter rules and/or discontinue the contest at its discretion.

Congress Eyes Plan to Make Senators of Ex-Presidents After Leaving Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress today took up a small but acute unemployment problem that always has bothered this nation.

What should it do with its former presidents?

Rep. Frank Chelf (D-Ky) told a House Judiciary subcommittee he thinks ex-presidents should become senators-at-large, with the privilege of debating and consulting, but without having the right to vote.

Chelf's point: Presidents have had experiences that are invaluable to this country, but the moment they leave office we have no way in which we can satisfactorily use them.

* * *

This is an excellent time to act on his bill, Chelf believes, when there are two ex-presidents around one of each political variety.

Fortunately, Chelf said, Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman are "two splendid gentlemen." One, he said, is a "conservative." The other is "inclined to be a liberal, but a gentleman."

Chelf told the committee he has discussed his proposal with a number of congressmen, and that four out of five favor it. The objectors, Chelf confessed, are still so peeved either at Truman or Hoover they wouldn't vote even for a nonvoting job.

* * *

As for the two gentlemen in question, Hoover and Truman have informed the committee they feel it would be improper to comment on something directly concerning them. As for the only other candidate now in sight for the new job, no one seems to have inquired how he'd like to be Sen. Eisenhower.

Rep. James M. Quigley (D-Pa) asked the most questions.

Can this be done without amending the Constitution? Chelf said yes, since the ex-presidents won't be allowed to vote. Sen. Harley Kilgore (D-WVa), who has a similar bill before the Senate, sent along word he's getting up a complete study on its constitutionality.

* * *

Suppose, Quigley said, a president was beaten after one term. He then would go to the Senate. Could he use this as a method of getting himself re-elected?

Chelf said he supposed he could, but he thought maybe the people would resent this so much it wouldn't help him.

"It would be an excellent forum to promote his cause," Quigley said.

He then wondered if an ex-president would have to accept the senatorial job under Chelf's bill.

Chelf said no.

"Then," Quigley said, "it's conceivable that Mr. Hoover would accept and Bess might prevail on Harry to stay back in Missouri."

Chelf granted that, but he said the question has been raised before.

* * *

"People say to me, 'Frank, how do you know they'll serve?'

"Well, God bless them, I think they're both like old fire horses, and when they hear the bell they'll come around the corner on two wheels.

"Bless them, they'll be here."

It's hard to visualize the dignified, 80-year-old Herbert Hoover rounding any corner on two wheels but that's what the man said.

Forced Landing by Edinburgh Sets Off Scare

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)— The Duke of Edinburgh touched off a scare today when his helicopter failed to keep a rendezvous with the royal train. Later it was learned he made a safe landing near Edinburgh.

Bad weather forced his aircraft down.

He took off from Turnhouse Airport at Edinburgh to meet Queen Elizabeth 40 miles away, aboard the royal train at Uddingston, just outside Glasgow.

The train waited but no helicopter landed at the field alongside the track. Frantic police calls went out to all stations along his flight path.

The air-minded Duke was found safe. He ha landed outside Edinburgh shortly after taking off. He sent a message to the Queen saying he would complete the journey in a police car. The Queen's train went on into Glasgow to pick him up here.

An experienced airplane pilot himself, the Duke was flying as a passenger in a Royal Air Force Dragonfly helicopter piloted by an RAF officer.

The royal couple are making a series of appearances in Scotland before leaving on the royal yacht Britannia tonight for a three-day state visit to Oslo, Norway.

New Troubles Arise at Carver

Probe of Superintendent by Board of Education Brings Protests

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — A George Washington Carver school board investigation of superintendent of schools Walter Buffington turned into a near riot yesterday.

The meeting started at 10 a.m. with board member James Harrison, Samuel Jackson, Annabelle Ethridge, and Buffington present.

Harold Bledsoe, attorney for the board of education, asked the 75 citizens present to leave, because it was a private hearing.

Buffington demanded that the residents be allowed to remain, and they refused to leave the library of the school, where the meeting was held.

Oakdale Gardens police were called to maintain order, and control the crowd of residents, who were shouting and stamping their feet.

The meeting was ended at noon. Board members and 17 witnesses in the hearing then moved to the nearby Hotel Wyoming, where the probe continued.

Residents who had attended the meeting at the school attempted unsuccessfully to enter the hotel room where the second hearing was held.

The investigation was brought by members of the Citizens' Improvement League, who claim Buffington is unfit to hold his position.

Guess Freud Wouldn't Be a Communist

TOKYO (AP)—As it must to all humankind, love has come to the youth of Red China. And the Communists are pretty unhappy about it.

China Youth, a Communist magazine, growls at the way "part of our youth devote themselves to love and throw themselves into a frenzy of lovemaking."

This is called "detrimental to the national interests."

* * *

Some love is okay, the magazine concedes, but you've got to look at it from "the right angle." re is the right angle:

"We must succeed in one thing: that is to place love in a secondary position in one's life. . . .

* * *

"That means we must not allow lovemaking or the vexation arising therefrom to affect our political and labor ardor, much less to become pessimistic and to sacrifice oneself for the sake of love."

Some young engineers up in Manchuria, home of most of Red China's big factories, just about expire from love and can't "devote themselves to work," the paper said.

* * *

But all is not bleak. There was the young hero who was sent out West and pined for his girl. So he went back to Shanghai and played around for six months. Then he turned his face resolutely and patriotically to the West once more. As China Youth reported, "He learned that if the flower of love did not bloom on the foundation of socialist construction, it would fade very soon."

Official of State Set for Recount

To Examine Balloting on Defeated Charter This Saturday

MADISON HEIGHTS — Robert Montgomery, State director of elections will be present Saturday for the recount of votes on the defeated city charter.

Maurice Tripp, attorney for the Madison Citizen's League, said today that he felt that the state election board should take over the recount.

Voters June 7 turned down the charter for the new city by the slight margin of 1,758 to 1,676. A petition for a recount was filed.

The Madison Citizens League has filed petitions seeking to have a new charter commission elected. If this is done, they would begin working on a new set of laws for the fledgling city.

Otherwise the charter group which turned out the recent charter would set to work again.

Governor Signs $184 Million Bill to Aid Schools

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams approved the 184 million dollar state school aid bill passed by the last Legislature, but objected that it did not do all which he wished.

The total is 22 million dollars more than granted the public schools this year.

Williams said the bill properly allowed 10 million dollass more for teacher pay raises at the rate of $200 per teacher, but that it did not increase salaries enough of fix a minimum salary for teachers.

He applauded a special $2,500,000 grant for distressed school districts, but objected that the Legislature was still underwriting districts which do not operate full 12-grade schools.

The governor said he would appoint a committee to draft a revision of the state aid bill for next year.

Manhattan was the name of the tribe of Algonquian Indians from whom the Dutch purchased the island and means "an island formed by the tide."

City Accepts Employe's Bid to Tear Down Annex

A $310 bid to wreck the city hall annex on Hill street behind the new City Hall was accepted by the City Commission last night.

It was submitted by John W. Emerson, city electrical superintendent, who said he plans to tear down the former church during his vacation. City Manager Walter K. Willman told the Commission there was nothing to prevent Emerson, as a city employe, from getting the job.

Willman added that no bids have been received on tearing down the old City Hall, E. Pike and Mill Sts., and a four-family house on Parke street which the city owns.

In other action the Commission accepted the bid of Michigan Mutual Liability Corp. for insurance on city-owned vehicles and compensation insurance for waste collection and disposal employes.

ACCEPT CHECK

Also accepted was a check for $14,796 from the Pontiac Housing Commission, paid in lieu of taxes for the Lakeside Homes Project. The money is intended to compensate for public services and is based on 10 per cent of shelter rents.

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles (District 4) said if the housing project were privately owned, it would be assessed at more than $50,000.

The Commission also passed a resolution authorizing insurance coverage for retiring city employes.

Adopted was an ordinance changing to commercial 2 classification three lots in Ferry Farm Addition, near the Baldwin Rubber Co. plant. The Oakland County 4-H Club was granted permission to hold a fair at the 4-H Grounds Aug. 9-13.

Action was delayed two weeks on a bid for purchase of a city-owned lot in assessor's plat 7, while a resolution advancing the date of the July 12 Commission meeting to July 11 was passed.

City Assessor W. Raymond Ransom was authorized to prepare a special assessment roll for a water main construction in Durant street from Inglewood to Pershing.

Crowning of Queen From 11 Candidates Set for Sunday Night

By JANE WINDLER
Press Waterford Correspondent

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The annual CAI Fair begins Friday at 6 p.m. Commercial booths, exhibits and carnival rides are being set up now.

What began several years ago as a glorified bake sale and handicraft exhibit with a raffle game to raise funds for the community center has become a three-day county attraction.

Saturday afternoon is "Kids Afternoon" with prices reduced on the midway and two bicycles given away to a lucky boy and girl.

Nightly attractions scheduled for 7 p.m. will be the children's dancing revue and a gymnastic troupe. "Moppet" the clown will be selling balloons again this year and a popular television personality will be appearing nightly at 9 p.m.

CROWNING SLATED

Crowning of "Miss Waterford of 1955" will take place at 8 p.m. Sunday. Chosen from eleven girls competing for the honor, the queen will receive a trip for two for one week at Gaylord's Gay El Rancho, plus 50 other gifts from local merchants.

All the entries will receive several prizes.

Twenty-seven local and county firms will have commercial exhibits and the service club will have booths or serve in other capacities.

The second floor of the CAI building will be given over to civic and cultural displays and hobbies. There will be paintings by prominent local artists. Collectors items including dolls, metal work, antiques, stamp collections and baskets from foreign lands are included.

TO DISPLAY HOBBIES

China and metal paintings, textile painting, rugs and bone cups and saucers will be among the hobbies displayed.

There will be exhibits from Pontiac State Hospital, Civil Defense, Extension Groups, the Camera and Garden Clubs, and the Northwest Foundation of Churches of Northern Oakland County. There will also be a braille exhibition, an aquatic display, and a gun and archery booth.

An automatic washer, an outboard motor and a rotary mower are the three big door prizes this year. Every hour the fair is in progress, a prize donated by a local merchant will be given away. Tickets may be purchased at the fair, and admission is free.

Proceeds from the fair will go to the CAI building fund.

LA JARA, Colo. (AP)—A district attorney's investigator who committed suicide two days after his wife was killed has been identified by Conejos County officials as the slayer of 33-year-old Mrs. Virginia Armijo.

Only hours before an inquest in her death Deputy Prosecutor Gordon Rowe said Jerry Armijo, 32, killed his wife early Saturday and later took his own life in remorse.

* * *

Armijo had maintained his wife was shot down by unknown assailants as the couple stood near their home in this southern Colorado community.

The investigator was found fatally wounded in the bedroom of his home early Monday. Rowe said he had shot himself in the head and left a note. Its contents were not revealed.

Rowe said testimony from witnesses and neighbors led to his official declaration of murder and suicide.

Waterford to Open Camp Tomahawk

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Waterford Township recreation department is again offering the opportunity for the children of the township and school district to attend day camp Tomahawk.

The township recreation day camp was initiated two years ago, according to recreation superintendent Thomas Belton.

"From that time to the present, the program has emphasized the out-of-door living and has featured the various components of planning necessary to reach standards of good day camping," Belton added.

The camp is located in the Highland Recreation area, and buses pick up youngsters at stops at township elementary schools.

"I think the people of the area are not aware of this day camp service, and what it provides," Belton said today.

Campers are split into groups of ten, with a leader for each group. The program includes supervised swimming, hikes, nature craft projects, cooking and games.

The recreation board feels that day camping has its place in recreational activities, and will be important in providing many of our young people with healthy, educational summer enjoyment," Belton stated.

The buses will pick up children at 8:30 and 9 a.m. at the schools, and return them to school at 4:30 p.m.

During the first week, August 1-5, pickups will be made at the Waterford Village, Williams Lake and Pontiac Lake schools.

The Drayton Plains, Adams and Children's Home are on the schedule for August 8-12, with the Donelson and Covert schools listed for August 15-19.

Lambert, Stringham schools have been designated as collection points August 22-26, and the Waterford Center and Four Towns schools August 29-Sept. 2.

The fee is $2.50 per day, with registrations being accepted at present by the recreation department.

Lloyd P. Stryker, 70, Noted Lawyer, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Lloyd Paul Stryker, one of New York's foremost trial lawyers, who handled the defense at the first trial of Alger Hiss, died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 70.

Stryker was renowned for dramatic and clever courtroom techniques long before he won national attention at the 1949 Hiss trial. In that case he got a hung jury.

For reasons that Hiss never explained, Stryker did not defend him in the second trial. Hiss, a former State Department official, was convicted of perjury and sent to jail for five years.

Regarded as a master of cross-examination, Stryker was the author of several law books. He was born in Chicago and had practiced law in New York since 1909.

He is survived by his wife Katherine and a married daughter.

Gregory Peck May Play in 'Tribute to a Bad Man'

(While Louella C. Parsons is on vacation her column will be written by Dorothy Manners)

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Gregory Peck has been sent the script of "Tribute to a Bad Man" now that it seems a certainty that Spencer Tracy's doctor will not permit him to return to the picture.

The altitude in Colorado, where the MGM picture has been shooting, got Spence. He had difficulty in saying his lines he was huffing and puffing so heavily.

DEAN INTERESTEHD

John Van Druten's mission to hot Marfa, Tex., where the "Giant" company is toiling, was to huddle with the even "hotter" James Dean. Dean took Van Druten's new play, "Dancing in the Checkered Shade," with him to Texas and he wired the playwright he's interested in doing it.

Jimmy has been saying for some time that he has a hankering for Broadway again,—and with three pictures this year, "East of Eden," "Rebel Without Cause" and "Giant," he can leave Hollywood without being forgotten.

Happy people over the way their reconciliation has taken, Alexis Smith and Craig Stevens are teaming up professionally in the West Coast company of "Plain and Fancy" when the musical opens at the Philharmonic in August.

In fact, Alexis' vocal coach, Harriet Lee, tells me that Miss Smith is so eager to start her singing and dancing that she's accepted a nightclub date at the Chi Chi in Palm Springs and opens there tomorrow night.

Japanese Publisher Dies of Pneumonia

TOKYO (AP)—Eisuke Fukuda, 75, president of Tokyo Shimbun and one of Japan's most colorful newspaper figures, died today of pneumonia.

His Shimbun, with a circulation of 800,000, is Tokyo's biggest evening paper and he was reputed to be one of Japan's richest men.

* * *

He was a textile weaver before he acquired in 1919 the Miyako Shimbun, then a favorite paper of geisha girls. It grew into one of the nation's most influential newspapers before World War II. Fukuda withdrew from active management when militarists forced a merger with the nationalistic Kokumin Shimbun in 1942.

* * *

After Japan's surrender he again took control of Tokyo Shimbun. Under the Allied occupation the paper was designated the only afternoon newspaper for the whole Tokyo area.

The most northern point in the United States is the Northwest Angle area of Minnesota which juts into surrounding Canada.

Uphold Death Verdict for Labor Leader

TOKYO (AP)—In an 8-7 decision Japan's Supreme Court today upheld a death sentence for Keisuke Takeuchi, leftist labor leader convicted of sabotage deaths in the country's 1949 rail strike crises under American occupation.

Defense attorneys for Takeuchi, 34, said they would ask the court to review its decision.

About 500 Communists thronged around the court building although Takeuchi was not a party member. More than 200 specially mobilized police were on guard. The only demonstration was a display of protest placards.

* * *

Takeuchi was specifically accused of deliberately starting an unmanned tram car in a runaway ride that killed six and injured 20 at the Mitaka marshaling yard in western Tokyo June 15, 1949.

In his prison cell, Takeuchi told Asahi reporters, "It's no use to fret now that the death sentence is upheld. I will try to be a good Buddhist."

Confident Moore Risks All With Ambitious 'Bobo'

NEW YORK (AP)—Aging Archie Moore gambles his light-heavyweight crown and his hopes for a heavyweight championship shot when he faces ambitious Carl (Bobo) Olson, the middleweight ruler, in a 15-round fight tonight at the Polo Grounds.

* * *

A loss to the 160-pound titleholder not only would cost the 38-year-old Moore his crown but would end forever his chances of getting a whack at heavyweight boss Rocky Marciano. Even a close victory could prove fatal to Moore's prospects of moving up.

The 175-pound king will be 39 in December and if Al Weill, Marciano's manager, has his way, Archie will be eligible for social security before Rocky is permitted to get in the ring with the ancient lion.

* * *

So why is Moore, on the threshold of achieving his long-sought goal, risking all against the lighter Olson?

The answer is money and supreme confidence. Moore figures to gross around $90,000 from a probable gross gate of around $225,000 plus the $100,000 radio-television money. And the old gypsy of the ring firmly believes that he can whip any fighter around today.

"I'll knock him out," said Moore. "No, I won't name the round but I'll do it no matter how he fights. After him, it's got to be Marciano. They won't be able to duck me any longer."

* * *

There was just as much confidence in the Olson camp although the 28-year-old San Franciscan declined, as usual to make any outright prediction.

"I'll be after him every second of every round," said the balding Bobo, "He hasn't had the pressure put on him all the way for a long time. I'm going to outspeed and outhustle him. I know I can go 15 rounds at a top pace. I don't think he can. Sure, I know he can hit awfully hard with that sneak right hand of his but he'll have to catch me with it first."

* * *

The betting odds make Moore, undefeated over the last 3½ years and winner of 20 straight, a 2-1 favorite.

Starting time for the outdoor battle is 10 p.m. EDT (9 p.m. EST). The bout will be broadcast and telecast by the ABC networks but the metropolitan New York area will be blacked out of the television. A crowd of about 20,000 is likely although it could be more if the weatherman's optimistic forecast holds good in the evening.

* * *

The prediction is for a fair and dry night with a temperature of about 65. That would be almost ideal and could bring on a big last-hour sale, especially for the 10,000 $3 seats. Other prices range up to $30.

If it should rain, however, forcing a postponement, the fight will be held Thursday. A second weigh-in will not be necessary for a one-day postponement.

The two gladiators will motor from their New Jersey camps directly to Madison Square Garden for the noon weigh-in ceremony in the Garden ring. Moore has made his weight a secret, per custom, but he figures to scale around 174 to Olson's 170.

Only one fighter of the past, Bob Fitzsimmons, was able to win both the middleweight and light-heavyweight titles. Fitz also was the heavyweight champion. Robinson came close to a middleweight-light heavyweight double until he collapsed in the heat in the 14th round against Maxim, June 25, 1952.

WEIGHTY PROBLEM — Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore leans on scales at training camp in Summit, N. J., Tuesday where he completed preparation for tonight's title bout with Carl (Bobo) Olson at New York's Polo Grounds. Moore's weight was announced at 196½ when he last fought, May 3, but few took the figure seriously. He must make 175 today before meeting Olson, the 160-pound champion.

Records 12th Victory

Newcombe Could Be 1st to Win 30 Since Dean

CHICAGO (AP)—The major league haven't had a pitcher win 30 games since Dizzy Dean turned the trick for the St. Louis Cardinals 21 years ago, but Brooklyn's Don Newcombe is headed in the right direction.

* * *

The big righthander who is threatening pitchers' batting marks as well as pitching records turned in his 12th victory against one loss yesterday for a .923 percentage.

"I'm not thinking of winning 30, 25 or 20 games," said Newcombe following his 11-inning, 7-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs. "All I'm thinking of is winning my next game."

* * *

Newcombe, who posted a mediocre 9-8 record last year, refused to make any predictions as to how many games he would win, but he did say "This is my greatest year. Nothing compares to it."

Those are the words of a man who won 17 games as a rookie in 1949, added 19 victories in 1950 and won 20 in 1951 when Brooklyn blew the pennant to the New York Giants after holding a 12½ game lead.

Newk has a fine 2.45 earned run average and yesterday struck out nine, the second time he has accomplished the feat this year.

In addition to his great pitching record, Big Don is hitting at a .426 clip and knocked out a pair of doubles yesterday, driving in two runs to avenge his only loss of the year, a 9-5 decision to the Cubs at Brooklyn.

Newk already has hit five home runs, one short of the National League record and four less than the major league mark of nine set by Cleveland's Wes Ferrell in 1934.

Return of Borotra Brings Memories to Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—The Wimbledon Tennis Tournament gets back today to the business of sorting out new champions after a journey down Memory Lane with Jean Borotra.

Borotra, the still Bounding Basque who has hidden the calendar, is one of the last survivors of the Golden Twenties in the world arena of any sport.

His doubles victory yesterday was a great boost for the middle-aged everywhere.

Borotra and his youthful French partner, Robert Haillet, defeated the muscular Canadian pair, Robert Bedard and Don Fontana 6-4, 6-3, 6-8, 2-6, 6-4.

* * *

The 57-year-old Frenchman is too old for singles now. But the crafty-angled volleys and stinging smashes that Bill Tilden and the other stars of an earlier age knew, are still part of his game.

* * *

Borotra's partner and his two opponents were infants when he was at the crest of world tennis. They still looked a little young and inexperienced when he sent back a cross-court shot that couldn't have been returned if there were five men on the other side of the net instead of two.

When the 3½ hour match ended — Borotra finished it with a placement — the 5,000 spectators at No. 1 court gave him a standing ovation.

* * *

Most of yesterday's play was given over to women's singles in the first and second rounds. There were no upsets among the top ranking girls, with Doris Hart, Louise Brough and Mrs. Beverly Fleitz leading the American contingent into the second round.

* * *

Today Tony Trabert, first seed from Cincinnati, meets one of the hustling South Africans, Trevor Fancutt. Defending champion Jaroslav Drobny, Czech-born Egyptian, clashes with Mervyn Rose, of Australia, and Sweden's Sven Davidson opposes Enrique Morea of Argentina in other featured men's singles matches.

Texas Thinclad Faces Greatest Test in AAU

Abilene's Bob Morrow From Track's 'Bushes' Must Prove Himself

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Morrow, who has turned in some fantastic times in the so-called "bushes" of college track, goes against the best this week and his coach thinks he'll win.

* * *

At Boulder, Colo., Friday and Saturday, the Abilene Christian College freshman has the chance to show if he's a big time sprinter. In the field facing him in the National AAU will be such worthies as Jim Golliday of Northwestern, who has done 9.3 in the 100 to tie the world's record, and Art Bragg, former Morgan State star, who defends his championships in both sprints.

Golliday may not be up to snuff, however. The great Midwestern sprinter pulled a thigh muscle in the Big Ten-Pacific Coast Conference meet yesterday.

* * *

But there will be plenty of fellows capable of shaving the 100 time close to the fabulous 9.3 Mel Patton hung up as the world's record.

Morrow has run the 100 in 9.1, 9.3, 9.4 and 9.5 but was aided by the wind in both the 9.1 and 9.3 efforts. He also has run 220 yards in 20.5 and 20.6 around a turn, both with a favoring wind, and 20.7 without it. That he can run them fast without benefit of the wind was shown by his 9.4 and 9.5 100's and a 21.3 in the Texas AAU bucking a 6-mile wind. He also ran 100 in 9.7 against it.

Don Nicholie 9 Beats Elks, 7-2

Stack Hits Home Run, Womack Tosses 2-Hit Ball in 'A' Game

Don Nicholie Real Estate posted a 7-2 decision over Elks 723 Tuesday night in Class A city league baseball action at Wisner Field.

Outcome of the game was never in doubt. Don Nicholie's squad took advantage of pitcher Johnny Smith's wildness, plus contributing a couple of well-placed hits, to secure 5 runs in the 1st 2 innings.

In the initial frame, Jack Cole and Dick Slade led off with walks, worked a double steal, and came home on Dave Zittel's single. Slade and Zittel were on the sacks via the base on balls route in the 2nd stanza, before Maurice Stack clouted a 3-run homer.

Elks' 9 could garner only 2 hits off the offerings of Dick Womack, who struck out five batters, and walked the same number. Both runs against him were unearned.

Tigers Play by 'Book', Ted Adds 'Chapter'

BOSTON (AP) — The Detroit Tigers tried to beat the Boston Red Sox last night by playing according to the "book." But Ted Williams exploded the strategy with a tremendous three-run homer that gave the Sox a 5-4 victory.

Here was the situation that immediately preceded Williams' mighty blast into the right field bullpen in the 8th inning:

The Tigers grabbed a 4-2 lead with 3 runs in the top of the 8th. Gene Stephens opened the Boston 8th with a single to center. Billy Goodman laced a single to the same spot. Billy Klaus flied deep to right field and Stevens took third.

This made it one out, two on and brought up Williams. Ned Garver fed terrible Ted one on the outside, then one on the inside and then a third ball a little low.

A fourth ball would have loaded the bases and put the potential winning run on first. The "book" says you never, never do this, even when the man at bat is Ted Williams with a 3-0 count.

So Garver dutifully fed Ted a strike and Williams uncoiled his picture-perfect swing and slashed the ball far and deep into the reaches of the right field bull pen.

Three runs trotted home and the Tigers lost their 4th game by a single run on their current road trip.

The Tigers were ahead much of the night. They picked up a run in the second innig when Earl Torgeson walked and Jim Delsing doubled him home.

Boston pulled into a 2-1 lead in the 7th as Williams drew a lead off walk and Jackie Jensen and Norb Zauchin singled, loading the bases. Grady Hatton singled home two runs.

But Detroit came back in the 8th with three runs for a 4-2 lead. Bill Tuttle singled and took second as Al Kaline walked. Torgeson singled home Tuttle.

A single by Delsing scored Kaline and drove Willard Nixon from the box. Ray Boone, back in the lineup after missing 22 of the last 27 Tiger games, sacrificed against reliefer Tommy Hurd and Frank House drew an intentional walk.

A long fly by pinchhitter Harvey Kuenn brought home the third Tiger run of the inning.

The series continues today with Frank Lary against young Tom Brewer.

Pott Medalist, LSU College Golf Kings

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)— The first roud of match play in the National Collegiate (NCAA) Golf Tournament got under way here today with Louisiana State University already loaded with honors.

First out was LSU sophomore Johnny Pott, medalist, who tied the NCAA record yesterday with a 36-hole qualifying total of 136. Yesterday's 34-33—67 was coupled with Monday's 69 for an eight-under-par total.

LSU took the team championship yesterday with a low aggregate score of 574.

Elks Score Another City League Softball Victory

Elks 810 continued its fine play in the men's city softball league with a 2-1 victory over Ashland Flying Octane Tuesday night at North Side Park.

Two runs on a like number of hits in the 5th inning gave the Elks their narrow margin of triumph.

A walk, triple and single in succession did the damage. Ashland came back in its half of the 5th to score once on a walk, stolen base and error, but failed to close the deficit.

Don Hill hurled for the Elks and permitted only 2 hits. Rival pitchers John Geiger and Clarence Beers were almost as stingy, giving up 3 safeties.

Stadium Inn tripped Riteway Softwater, 5-2, in last night's North Side nightcap. Stadium scored 4 runs in the 1st to gain an advantage it never relinquished. Glenn Wilson homered for the winners in the 5th.

At Beaudette, Bicmar Inn trimmed the Knights of Columbus, 6-4. Bicmar tallied 4 runs on 3 hits in the 5th frame to wrap up the contest. Hank Dudzinski was the winning pitcher.

Louie's Tavern drubbed Pontiac & Opdyke, 16-0, in Beaudette's abbreviated opener. The game was halted after two innings in accordance with league policy stopping runaway contests.

Cooper-Goram Total Believed Tourney Record

The brilliant 7-under-par 62 turned in by Butler Cooper and Emmanuel Goram Jr., in last Saturday's City Best-Ball Golf tournament is believed to be a record for the event, sponsored annually by the Pontiac department of parks and recreation.

Cooper's individual 63 also is an unofficial record for the Municipal links. Gene Bone and Paul Bada share the record with 64s.

Cooper and Goram finished 3 strokes ahead of the nearest competitors in a fine field of 78 teams, which included some of the city and area's finest public links players.

Cooper slipped 3 birdies in on the north nine along with 6 pars for a 31, and did the same on the south side for a 32 against par of 34-35—69. Goram fired an even par round himself.

Following a double-bogie 6 on the 1st hole, he completed the front nine with 8 pars, then knocked in "birds" on the 1st hole, south side, and 5th.

Bosox Continue Surge Behind Ted; Mantle Hits 486-Foot Homer at Kaycee; Chisox, Tribe Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Ted Williams doesn't call it quits for good this season, the Boston Red Sox management is going to be in one heckuva pickle—how can you give a raise to a guy already making a hundred grand?

* * *

A player in that salary bracket (which means Williams, although he's getting a scaled down check because of his late start) doesn't figure to get a bonus no matter what he does. But Williams is worth $100,000 to the Red Sox and baseball, at the gate alone, just by putting on a uniform.

Take last night. The Red Sox made it 12 out of 14 by beating the fourth-place Detroit Tigers 5-4—but it was Williams' home run with two on in the eighth that did it.

* * *

Here's what Williams has meant to the Red Sox move: When he came back May 28, Boston was 17-24 to rthe season. They won seven of the next 13 with Williams still getting into shape, appearing only infrequently.

Then, 10 games ago, Williams took over left field as a regular. Boston has won eight of the 10, pulling up to .500 at 32-32. Ted has hammered 7 home runs, driving in 14 and batted .429 for the 10 games.

The homer last night was his ninth of the season—No. 375 for the Williams career—and it came on a 3-0 pitch by Ned Garver.

* * *

Williams' home run was "only" a 390-foot job, but it overshadowed the 486-foot blast Mickey Mantle leveled as the New York Yankees beat Kansas City 6-2 to stay two games up in the American League race.

The second-place Chicago White Sox beat Washington 6-1 and third-place Cleveland trimmed Baltimore 3-1.

* * *

In the National, Brooklyn boosted its lead to 12 games over Chicago as Don Newcombe won his 12th by beating the Cubs 7-2 in 11 innings. Milwaukee moved to within 1½ games of the runner-up Cubs by trimmig Pittsburgh 6-4 and Cincinnati gave the sliding New York Giants another shove 10-1. Philadelphia dumped St. Louis 10-9.

Mantle's homer was one of the longest ever belted in Yankee Stadium, hitting the extreme center field seats—virgin territory according to veteran press box witnesses. The ball cleared a 30-foot barrier.

Washington gave the White Sox three unearned runs and Chicago took it from there. Bob Porterfield was the loser while Virgil Trucks won his eighth of the season and his sixth straight.

Bob Lemon, retiring with a leg injury after seven innings, became the first American League hurler to win 10 this season.

Bob Buhl tossed a six-hitter for the Braves and Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock homered to put it away.

Willie Mays was back for the Giants, but was hitless in four trips.

Back-to-back homers by Richie Ashburn and Gran Hamner gave the Phils three runs in the ninth to beat the Cards.

Writer Tells of Brush With State's Rattlers

By JACK PATTERSON

Haven't dwelt much on rattlesnakes lately. Haven't had many to dwell upon, as a matter of fact. But last weekend, up at the cabin, we were suddenly reminded that genus Crotalus, though infrequently seen, is an ever-present member of Michigan's wildlife community. We were fooling around in the stream in front of the cabin, trying to catch a fish so that brother Bob could take a picture of same, and the kids were poking around in the tall Canada bluegrass nearby, looking for a raft they'd built last year.

PATTERSON

We'd cautioned them to keep an eye out for snakes, so when they yelled "Rattlesnake!" and came streaking up on high ground we thought they were over-romancing the situation a bit.

But we went over and while young Joe was unsuccessfully looking for the snake he'd seen, another let go a few inches from his foot.

This snake was a gentleman and held his fire, and even after we'd stirred him up a bit he made it plain that his chief ambition was to get out of there. His amibility didn't save him though, and Bob, somewhat reluctantly, but thoroughly, comminuted him with a shovel.

Later in the day we were fishing upstream and attempting to reach a rising fish from a relatively alder-free spot on the bank. In order to get some sea room to manipulte the No. 12 Pink Lady (a much ignored but splendid summer fly for brookies) we were forced into a deep crouch and as we did so a snake directly before us whizzed a warning.

On the theory that the grass was so thick that if we couldn't see him he couldn't see us we dismissed him and concentrated on the fish.

Presently we brought to net a bright 12-inch trout, delivered a parting kick at the snake to teach him some fishing manners and returned to the cabin, feeling quite brave and competent.

How bad is a local rattler bite? Well we've got a case in point here in the county. About ten days ago a child patient of Dr. Ed. Dobski was bitten on the back of the foot. Within twenty minutes the foot was swollen and shortly the swelling had extended to the knee.

The fang marks were ⅜ of an inch apart and the area around them took on the aspect of a water blister. The child suffered no ill effects other than a mild fever and after three days in the hospital was released.

By now all signs of swelling have disappeared. If the bite had been in an area of better circulation, or if treatment hadn't been available, the results might have been more serious.

But there is no record of anyone being fatally bitten in Michigan.

So it would seem that along with bee stings and poison ivy, the bite of the Massasauga rattler, Michigan's only toxic snake, is something to be avoided if possible, but not to be feared.

FISHING FANS, TOO! — These youngsters are obviously Davy Crockett fans, but they are also addicts of fishing as they prove by displaying this fine bass taken by Vernon Stinson, 78 West Howard, Pontiac, last Sunday. Jim Stinson, 12 (right), and his 11-year-old companion, Mike Wyzgoski, hold the 3-pound, 13-ounce specimen which Mr. Stinson caught on a spinner with a night crawler. Stinson's fish, however, failed to displace the current leader in the bass division of the Press' "Big Fish Derby," which is the 5-pound, 4-ounce largemouth entered by Keith Parker of Royal Oak. Entries also are open in big pike and bluegill divisions.

Conservation Program Sets Planting Records

LANSING — Conservation Department nurseries distributed a record 17,800,000 seedling and transplant trees this spring, with 1,800,000 being planted on public forest areas.

• • •

The public forest plantings also were a record high, in keeping with the Department's stepped-up planting program.

• • •

The other 16,000,000 trees were distributed for private forest plantings, scattered generally throughout the state.

Experts Say Whitefish in Only 2 State Lakes

BY MORT NEFF

According to our Michigan fisheries experts the true whitefish common to the Great Lakes occurs only in a couple of our inland lakes — both in Keweenaw peninsula.

NEFF

In a dozen other large, deep inland lakes the fish which some local citizens insist are true whitefish are really cisco — or lake herring — a member of the white fish family.

However, the whitefish itself has six sub - species, and from the description from authority Dr. John Van Oosten of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, this writer is inclined to agree: the real whitefish does occur in more than two of Michigan's inland lakes. You who have fished for and captured whitefish or cisco may judge for yourself from these descriptions:

The true whitefish is only moderately elongated. The tail is deeply forked. The body may become humpbacked with age. The mouth is definitely underslung and contains barely visible teeth

The dorsal fin has from 10 to 12 rays. The size, as taken from Great Lakes Waters averages 3½ lbs.

Now let's look at Dr. Van Oosten's description of the Lake Herring or Cisco. It has a very elongated and slended body. It, too, has a deeply forked tail. The head is large and pointed. It does not have the underslung jaw of the whitefish, and the rays on the dorsal number from 8 to 11—an important identifying characteristic. They seldom exceed 1½ lbs. in weight!

New Waterfowl Refuge Set Up on Vernor Land

Hunting, Fishing Rules Established for Estate Near Lapeer

LANSING — The Conservation Commission recently set up a new waterfowl refuge and established hunting and fishing regulations in a portion of the 3350-acre Vernor estate near Lapeer.

The estate came into public ownership on June 13 and will be maintained as part of the Lapeer state game area.

An area south of Vernor road in the tract has been established as a waterfowl refuge and hunting, fishing and trapping there will be prohibited.

Also, the Commission passed regulations against the use of motorboats on Long Lake at any time and against the use of any boat on the lake from Sept. 15 to April 30.

The commission approved in principle an exchange of state land in Tahquamenon Falls state park to pave the way for a contemplated marina and concession near the mouth of the Tahquamenon River.

If an exchange is consummated, the state will receive certain scattered riverfront lands now owned by Tom Brown of Whitefish Point in trade for a single unit of river frontage. The amount of land to be exchanged has not yet been determined.

Show Facilities Better

Bigger and better facilities will greet the public when the 38th annual Detroit Horse Show starts Thursday for a 4-day run at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club in Bloomfield Hills.

Roy Pulver of Pontiac, vice-chairman in charge of grounds and stabling, reports that seating capacity has been expanded to handle 6,000 spectators. A new outside hunter course, and additional "walkie-talkies" to keep the audience better informed are among other changes, Pulver said.

Many of the nation's finest stables, including several from Michigan, have entered contestants in the competition, which goes on both day and night, Thursday through Sunday, at the BOHC on East Long Lake Road.

A total of 320 entries numbering 1,200 horses are anticipated for the Detroit event — largest outdoor horse show in the country. Entrants are descending on Bloomfield Hills in droves, according to Don Beck of the show's press committee.

Competition this year will be in three major divisions — Hunters, Jumpers, and Western horses. Eleven events are scheduled in 82 classes, ranging from the Lead Line for riders 6 years of age and under to the $1,000 Jumper Stake. Prizes include $10,000, 358 ribbons, and 32 trophies.

Most sought-after trophy is the Ainsworth Memorial, which has survived 18 years of competition. The Ainsworth, which must be won 3 times by one exhibitor for permanent possession, has been claimed twice by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Shinkle of St. Louis, Missouri.

Among the other prized trophies is the William F. Lambert Memorial and the Gloria Joan Coulson Memorial.

Junior Olympic Equestrian Team competition will enter its 2nd round Friday in classes A and B. The Grosse Pointe Rascals in A and the Toledo Bees in B were winners of the 1st round at Northville.

Another Olympic-type event, the United States Equestrian Team Equitation Medal class, is being offered this year for the 1st time. The event, slated for Friday is sponsored by the American Horse Shows Associatinon.

Thursday's shows begin at 9 a.m., 1 p.m., and 7:30 p.m.

Extended Plan for Trout Starts

Conservationists Trying Pacific Coast Scheme; Plant Rainbows

LANSING (AP) — Borrowing a trick from west coast conservationists, the state conservation department has started a long-range experiment in rainbow trout plantings.

This week the department started planting 27,200 two-year-old rainbows near the mouths of northern streams to see if a steelhead management plan developed on the Pacific coast will work in Michigan.

Normally, rainbows spend their first two to three years in the stream of their birth, then migrate to the Great Lakes where they live for two or three years. They grow big in the great Lakes and at four to six years of age they migrate up the same streams to spawn. At this period they provide anglers with the first crack at them.

The department wants to find out whether year-old trout planted near the mouths of streams will take on weight in the big lakes and then go up stream.

Watkins Lake Woman Wins at Silver Lake

Mrs. Fred Stimpert of Watkins Lake won the Women's Silver Lake Golf League match this week with a low net score of 56. Matches are played every Tuesday.

Blind hole event went to Mrs. Earl Weber of Waterford, who shot a par 5 on the 1st hole. The guest winner was Mrs. Walter Triffle from Dearborn.

Rains in State Lower Forest Fire Hazard

LANSING — General rains dampened Michigan last week and lowered the forest fire hazard considerably.

Fourteen reported fires burned 13 acres, lowest weekly loss total since the spring fire season got well started in late March. To date, 3,626 acres have been damaged.

AL Teams Softest Touch in 'Bonus Derby'

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league club owners have shelled out well over a million dollars in bonuses to untried young players since the new bonus rule went into effect a little over two years ago.

In the last two months alone, American and National League clubs have handed some $320,000 to raw, inexperienced "bonus babies" in the hope that they will blossom into future major league stars.

* * *

Under the rule, a bonus player (an untried rookie getting more than $4,000 in bonus and salary) must remain with the major league club at least two years before he can be optioned to the minors. There presently are 33 such youngsters, most of whom have seen little or no action other than pregame practice sessions.

* * *

American League clubs have been the softest touches, spending some $286,000 for seven of the nine newest bonus boys. Baltimore has parted with $111,000 in bonuses since the start of the season, Detroit has put up $70,000, Kansas City $50,000, Washington $30,000 and Chicago $25,000.

Only Boston and Cleveland in the American and Philadelphia and St. Louis in the National are without bonus players. The Phillies recently sent Tommy Qualters, a $40,000 bonus pitcher, to one of their minor league clubs after he had pitched to only one batter in two years. The Cards shipped Dick Schofield, a $40,000 shortstop, to the minors and the Red Sox sent Billy Consolo, a $65,000 infielder, to the Pacific Coast League after their two-year confinement period has ended.

* * *

The Tigers, who already had three bonus players—not including Harvey Kuenn ($55,000), Frank House ($70,000) and Bill Tuttle ($25,000) all of whom received their bonuses before the new rule went into effect—gave $35,000 each to Jim Brady, a 19-year-old freshman pitcher at Notre Dame, and Jim Small, an 18-year-old outfielder just out of high school in San Jose, Calif.

Two years ago, the Tigers handed out $120,000 in bonuses to three youngsters. Bob Miller, a left-handed pitcher, received $60,000; outfielder Al Kaline, an alumnus of Baltimore Southern High, was given $35,000 and Reno Bertoia, a Michigan University infielder, got $25,000. Only Kaline has proven a bargain so far.

* * *

The Orioles gave infielder Jim Pyburn, Auburn's all-star athlete, $50,000; pitcher Bruce Swango $36,000 and infielder Wayne Causey $25,000.

Kansas City gave Cletus Boyer, an 18-year-old infielder out of Alba, Mo., $50,000 and reportedly gave two automobiles to the Boyer family.

* * *

Washington, which entered the bonus craze last summer by giving infielder Harmon Killebrew $25,000 to sign, added a second one last week handing $30,000 to Jerry Schoonmaker, Missouri University outfielder.

Currently sitting on the New York Yankee bench are first baseman Frank Leja, a $50,000 bonus baby from Holyoke, Mass., and Tommy Carroll, a $40,000 shortstop who put in a freshman year at Notre Dame. The White Sox recenty gave $25,000 to another collegian, outfielder Bob Powell of Michigan State. They already have first baseman Ronnie Jackson, former Western Michigan star who received $25,000.

* * *

National League clubs, burdened by nine bonus bench sitters, added only two in recent days.

Pitcher Paul Giel, who cost the Giants $60,000 last June, is just beginning to pay dividends.

Six of the 10 winners of the Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park have gone on to win more than $100,000 in purses.

Kentucky will play 24 basketball games next season, plus those it will play in the third annual Kentucky Invitational Tournament.

CHICAGO (AP)—Whitey Lockman of the New York Giants today took the lead among National League left fielders in the All Star baseball poll.

The 28-year-old handyman for the world champions took over the lead from Bob Speake, Chicago Cub rookie, by 11,654 votes.

Lockman polled 151,886 votes to Speake's 140,232.

Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox sugger, yesterday went into first place in the race among American League left fielders.

The game between the two leagues will be played at Milwaukee, July 12.

Burt Smith, Michigan State's defensive line coach, formerly played pro baseball and hockey.

Seeded Players Follow Form in NCAA Tennis

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—The men who cast the seedings in the National Collegiate (NCAA) Tennis Championships underway here apparently followed regular season play closely this year. Their rankings have stood up remarkably well.

* * *

The bulk of the seeded stars both in singles and doubles were still around today as play entered the quarter-finals in individual play and the second round in doubles.

* * *

No. 1 seeded Sammy Giammalva has been the shining light among the top-ranked. The calibre of his play was shown yesterday when he whipped Arizona's capable Gary Peterson in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2.

Harris Winner, Pat Lowry Whips Rossi

Buddy Harris of Pontiac avenged an earlier draw with Jesse Coulter of Detroit by outpointing the Detroit welterweight last night in a preliminary bout at Motor City Arena.

* * *

Harris weighed 137¾ to 138¼ for Coulter. In the feature bout, hard-punching Pat Lowry of Toledo won a convincing victory over Bob Rossi and now is established as a possible opponent for Chuck Davey this summer. Lowry had Rossi on the deck twice.

Frick to 'Ref' Greenberg-Richards Feud

NEW YORK (UP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, who didn't want to become involved in the first place, today was called on to arbitrate the budding feud between Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles and General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians.

* * *

The argument, with both parties remaining adamant, concerned how much money Baltimore should return to Cleveland for the retirement of Billy Cox, who was involved in a trade between the two teams last week.

The Orioles sent Cox and outfielder Gene Woodling to the Indians for outfielders Dave Pope and Wally Westlake, plus an undisclosed amount of cash. Cox decided to hang up his spikes and never did report to the Orioles.

* * *

About $20,000 was believed to have changed hands in the deal and Richards reportedly is willing to return it to Cleveland to offset the retirement of Cox. Greenberg wants more and told Frick.

"Apparently it all boils down to a question of the value of Cox," said Richards. "I think Hank is being unreasonable. Maybe he thinks the same of me. But we don't intend to pay them anything extra. As far as I'm concerned, that's final.

* * *

"I have nothing further to say and I will not contact Greenberg. If the commissioner has to step in and decide the matter, then that's the way it will have to be."

Apparently, that's just what Frick will have to do, athough he said:

"I have no desire to get into this at all . . . I gather that Cleveland would at least like to get back the money it put into the deal.

"If they force me to make a decision, there's only one thing I can do under the rules — call the whole thing off and get the players back to their former clubs as soon as possible. It is not a good situation as it stands."

The rule to which Frick referred states that if a player in a deal does not report to a club, that club can call the deal off entirely if it chooses.

* * *

Greenberg did not accompany his club to Baltimore last night and a Cleveland spokesman said he thought Hank was in New York to confer with Frick.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

PITCHING — Don Newcombe, Dodgers, won his 12th of the season against one defeat, striking out nine and walking only one while beating the Chicago Cubs 7-2 in 11 innings.

HITTING — Ted Williams, Red Sox, unloaded his ninth homer of the season with two on in the eighth to beat Detroit 5-4.

2-Mile Record Bettered as Coast Swamps Big 10

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—A skinny kid from Southern California, who runs well when he feels good was in the best of health last night as he shattered the U.S. collegiate 2-mile record in the 14th annual Pacific Coast Conference-Big Ten intersectional track meet.

Young Fernando Ledesma sped around the baked-clay track of Edwards Stadium in 8 minutes, 57.7 seconds as the West Coasters swamped the Midwesterners, 75-57, for their ninth triumph in the series. The time, which will be submitted for official recognition, was three-tenths of a second faster than the collegiate record of 8 minutes, 58 seconds set a year ago by Wes Santee of Kansas in a triangular meet at Lawrence, Kan.

* * *

Ledesma, a 20-year-old USC junior, finished seventh in the NCAA 2-mile last Saturday at Los Angeles and was clocked in 9:41.1. A fortnight earlier he ran second — in 8:56.4 — to Horace Ashenfelter when the veteran cracked the American 2-mile record with an 8:49.6 time.

* * *

His up-and-down timing, says USC Coach Jess Mortenson, is due to gas pains.

Ledesma's record was one of three meet standards broken before 7,500 fans. Bobby Seaman of UCLA sped the mile in 4 minutes, 4.2 seconds and Don Vick, also a Uclan star, pegged the shot 56 feet, 2¼ inches.

* * *

The Big Ten suffered a severe blow when national spring champion Jim Golliday of Northwestern, running the anchor leg on the 440-yard relay which opened the program, pulled a thigh muscle and was unable to compete in either of his specialties.

Stanford has beaten San Jose State 11 times in 12 football games. They will meet Oct. 29 at Palo Alto, Calif.

Babe Sidelined Three Months

Golf Star Zaharias to Undergo Surgery for Back Injury

GALVESTON, Tex. (UP)—Athlete Babe Didrikson Zaharias will be out of golf at least three months following spinal surgery, her physician said yesterday.

Mrs. Zaharias will undergo surgery to correct a ruptured disc "within a very few days," Dr. S. R. Snodgrass said. The operation will be at John Sealy hospital by the professor of neurosurgery at the Medical Branch of the University of Texas.

* * *

Snodgrass said X-rays have been completed and Mrs. Zaharias has agreed to the operation. She is believed to have hurt her back when she tried to push her car after it got stuck in sand in South Texas about three months ago.

* * *

Dr. Snodgrass emphasized the injury has nothing to do with the successful cancer operation the Babe underwent two years ago.

Pair of 3-Run Rallies Net Dick-Wes Win

Three-run rallies in both the 3rd and 5th innings brought Dick & Wes Sports a 6-3 victory over Sylvan Center Tuesday night in Waterford Township Softball League play at Drayton Plains.

In the 3rd, a walk, singles by Harold Horn and Don Herr, an error and a passed ball brought in 3 runs, while the 3-run cluster in the 5th came on walks, Chuck Cooper's single and 2 throwing errors.

In Little League action in the Township, Keego Harbor downed the Unknown, 6-4, and Pete's Service edged Maceday Lake, 21-20.

Why Trop-Artic Cuts Oil Consumption

Ordinary oil that gets thin when it heats up may escape past the oil control rings and be burned away with the exploding gasoline.

Trop-Artic Oil resists thinning at high temperatures. It tends to stay below the control rings so it doesn't burn away!

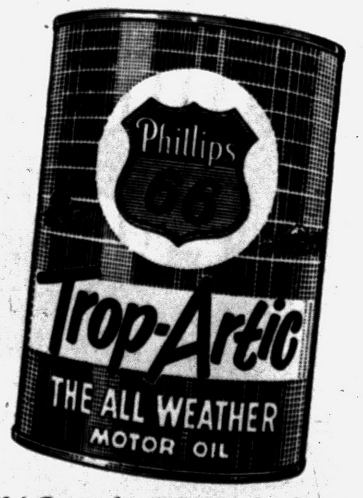

IT'S PERFORMANCE THAT COUNTS!

There's one way to find out how much TROP-ARTIC will lower your oil consumption. Try it in your own car. It's performance that counts—and you can count on TROP-ARTIC for super performance!

TROP-ARTIC flows easily at low temperatures, and it resists thinning at high temperatures. This not only saves oil; it explains why TROP-ARTIC prevents wear so effectively. Compared to older types of oils modern TROP-ARTIC can even double engine life.

And remember, TROP-ARTIC is the first all-weather type oil to meet the highest standard ever established for automobile motor oils—the Mil-0-2104 Supplement 1 Test. But prove the top performance of TROP-ARTIC in your own car. Get it today from your neighborly Phillips 66 Dealer.

Heat Lamps Keep Baby Chicks Snug

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — An agricultural engineer reports that many Illinois poultrymen are using electric heat lamps to keep their baby chicks warm.

F.W.Andrew of the University of Illinois said one advantage of this is that it's easier to keep your brooder house clean. You don't have ashes or other fuel waste to carry out.

Andrew said other advantages are that you can keep a close eye on chicks because they aren't hidden under a hover, and the same bulbs can be used to keep little pigs warm when not being used for chicks.

The engineer said three lamps in a reflector unit will keep about 100 chicks comfortable.

An average gasoline service station in the United States is open for business about 100 hours per week.

Grain Reveals Down Trend

CHICAGO (AP) — What movement could be discerned on the Board of Trade today was down grade.

Wheat toward the end of the first hour was ¼ to ¾ lower, July $1.97½; corn was unchanged to ⅛ lower, July $1.43⅛; oats were ⅛ lower, July 65¼, and rye was unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.03. Soybeans were unchanged to ¾ lower, July $2.43½, and lard was 5 to 18 cents a hundredweight lower, July $12.17.

Wheat, the bellwether, was at a virtual standstill as traders stood by awaiting Saturday's upcoming farmer referendum on 1956 production quotas.

In contrast to reports out of Oklahoma recently on new wheat deterioration, a report from Kansas was considerably more optimistic.

Matthews-Hargreaves Opens Auburn Garage

Matthews-Hargreaves Inc. Chevrolet dealership at 34 Mill St., has leased a 15,000-square-foot garage at 29 Auburn Ave. for new car preparation, co-owner Curt Matthews said yesterday.

Matthews said the lease also provides for use of 25,000-square-feet of outside storage space for new vehicles. The property is leased from J. Wendell Green.

"It's going to make much more rapid delivery of new autos," Matthews said. William H. Knudsen handled the transaction.

ALFRED J. DIEBEL

Ex-County Man Dies on Coast

Alfred J. Diebel, 64, Once Headed Rationing Board Here

Alfred J. Diebel, who served as chairman of the Oakland County Rationing Board for four years during World War II, died Tuesday at his home in California, where he has lived the past few months. He was 64 years of age.

Born in Toledo on Dec. 29, 1890, he was educated in the local schools and business college, and early entered the military service. In World War I he served as a commissioned officer in the aviation section of the Signal Corps.

Following that war he was a sales engineer for one of the major automobile corporations for 26 years, a large part of which time he lived in Bloomfield Hills. In the early 1940s he served a term as trustee of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

He is survived by his wife, Hazelle; a son by a former marriage, Alfred J. Diebel of Grosse Ile; a brother, Lawrence M. Diebel of Toledo, and sister, Mrs. Dorothy Mason of Defiance, Ohio.

Service will be Friday at 1:30 o'clock at the Nixon Funeral Home in Wyandotte.

Expect More Sales of Air Conditioners

NEW YORK (AP) — Summer is perking up the hopes of the air conditioning industry after its shakedown earlier this year.

Estimates on this year's retail sales of central units for homes are being raised today by one of leading makers. He now says they'll be installed in twice as many houses this year as last.

Inventories of room coolers have been cut about 12 per cent—after considerable financial pain and some dumping. This price slashing helped retail sales in the off-season winter months climb 30 per cent over a year ago.

Uranium Hunters Exchange Shots in Claim Rush

BARSTOW, Calif. (AP) — Gunfire echoed in the desolate foothills of the Ord mountains this week as California's newest uranium rush got under way.

Sheriff's Deputies said last night that between 1,000 and 2,000 prospectors—some of them amateurs who brought their families along — are in the furnace-hot, snake - infested hills.

Sheriff Frank Bland of San Bernardino County said that two dozen shots were fired Monday in the area in what was believed to be a claim - jumping fracas, but no one was hurt. Who took part in the incident is a mystery.

Bland told prospectors to leave children behind and bring plenty of water. The center of the strike is in the Mojave Desert 25 miles southeast of Barstow.

The nearest water is at Newberry, 10 miles to the northwest on U. S. 66. Temperatures reached 106 and 108 degrees in the area yesterday.

Drop Forging Group Will Move to Lansing

LANSING (AP)—The Drop Forging Assn. meeting at Asheville, N.C., voted Monday to move its national headquarters to Lansing.

Kent Walker of Racine, Wis., president of the association, said the relocation will place the main offices of the organization in the "heart of the American forging industry." The headquarters is now in Cleveland.

An intensive educational program will be set up for the association under the guidance of Edgar L. Harden, newly appointed executive vice president.

Dealer Stocks at Record High

New Cars at Topmost Inventories All Over U.S.; Still Selling

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP) — New cars are more plentiful today than they have been at any time in automotive industry history. Approximately 841,000 of them are parked in dealer storage lots, warehouses and elsewhere throughout the country.

The huge volume of unsold cars means competitive pricing will continue a few months longer. The model year still has from 3 to 4 months to go for most makes of cars.

Steadily mounting production costs and indicated increases in factory list prices have not yet brought any tightening of discounts at the retail level. Best guesses in trade quarters are that there will be no narrowing of these discounts until inventories have been substantially reduced.

This means the new car buyer will not immediately feel the effects of increased wages and higher materials costs in the automotive industry. But most industry analysts say price concessions cannot be counted upon to continue indefinitely.

PRICE FIRST

There probably never has been a time in industry history when price tags appeared so important to the new car buyer. Buyers are shopping around more than ever for the best possible price. And many dealers still are telling would-be buyers they will match or better any price offered by their competitors.

Some industry authorities have described the new car market as "tremendous." They point to near-record retail deliveries during April and May and apparently continuing into the present month. Automotive News says June sales may top the record of 683,995 new car registrations reached in August, 1950.

But up until the widespread work stoppages of the last couple of weeks the factories, too, were smashing records. They shipped more cars to dealers in the year's first five months than they did in any previous first six months.

STOCKS HEAVY

A result of this was that dealer inventories, fixed in an Automotive News survey at 841,853 units as of June 1, are somewhat heavier than expected. So there is a possibility the 1955 model cleanup still may present difficulties to the retailers.

Manufacturers and retailers want to avoid anything resembling the razzle dazzle cleanup sales that marked the end of the 1953 and 1954 model years.

Obviously nobody can say with any certainty whether the biggest inventories in all car industry history can be liquidated without some unusual promotion effort. It is true, however, that the manufacturing division soon will begin to level off its production activities.

Certainly it will not try for any more production records during the 1955 model year.

But it is quite possible more assembly line records will be approached when Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth get their 1956 cars rolling. This will be some time during the final quarter of the year.

Market Notes Fall in Argentine Peso

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — The Argentine peso, which has been dropping in free exchange rate quotations in Montevideo for two weeks, has dipped still lower since last Thursday's revolt against the Peron government.

Today's quotation put the peso at 34.37 to the U. S. dollar. The rate 10 days ago was 32.35 pesos. The decline started as the Peron regime's dispute with the church seemed headed for a climax.

The official exchange rate in Buenos Aires is never more than 14 pesos to the dollar.

Owner Loren Tyler, who reported the entry Tuesday, said the slips contained signatures of credit customers and are needed for bill collection purposes. Tyler said $25 in small change also was taken from the station located at 65 Baldwin Ave.

Entry was made through an overhead door at the side of the building.

'One-Nighter' Has Big Bands

Plan to Star Bill Hayes, Comedian Cliff Norton With Phil Foster

NEW YORK—Television has decided to keep its antenna up this summer. Viewers are promised some spanking new hour-long dramatic shows, new comedy, variety and musical programs, plus the return of old favorites.

One reason why programming will show marked improvement over past seasons, is that networks and sponsors have found the summer audience to be quite sizable.

Outstanding entertainment is assured with NBC continuing its live spectaculars every fourth Saturday, Sunday and Monday evenings, and with CBS launching the new "U. S. Steel Hour," alternating each week with a high-budget dramatic series sponsored by General Electric.

In many ways, it will be a musical summer on television. Name bands will be staking claims in substantial numbers as important entertainment fare. Lawrence Welk and his orchestra will headline an hour-long musical show on ABC Saturday nights. Into the Saturday night Gleason-time goes "America's Greatest Bands," spotlighting four different name bands and Paul Whiteman as permanent emcee.

Stan Kenton's orchestra will be a CBS Thursday entry with "Music '55." Musical personalities who will be appearing regularly include Julius LaRosa, Patti Page and Johnny Mercer.

Proof that name bands are in vogue on TV is a warm-weather opus based on a band on a tour of one-night engagements. Tentatively titled "One-Nighter," the show stars singer Bill Hayes and comedians Cliff Norton and Phil Foster, and is produced by Sid Caesar.

Stars-turning-producer is another phenomenon of summer, 1955. Working behind camera with their own replacement shows in addition to Caesar will be Jackie Gleason, with "America's Greatest Bands," and George Gobel, with "Here's the Show." Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis are producing the Sunday night "Colgate Variety Hour," while Desi Arnaz is the guiding light behind "Those Whiting Girls," starring Margaret and Barbara Whiting, which replaces "I Love Lucy."

Dramatic shows in addition to the new U. S. Steel-G. E. series will be two half-hour programs, "Off-Beat" and "The Window." Continuing will be "Producer's Showcase," "TV Playhouse," "Climax!" and "Kraft TV Theater." Robert Montgomery again will have his repertory company; "Studio One" gives way to "Westinghouse Summer Theater," and "Lux Video" becomes "Lux Studio Workshop."

In the "old-favorites" category will be "Ethel & Albert," "The Arthur Murray Party," the "Orson Bean Show," "Pantomime Quiz" and "Place the Face," among others.

Troubleshooter Caps Open Well

Pennsylvania Village Relaxes as Workmen Contain Escaping Gas

RENOVO, Pa. (AP)—One of the nation's largest natural gas wells was capped late yesterday, ending the fear of death and destruction that hovered over this area since the well exploded last week.

* * *

The "wild one" was quieted by Paul (Red) Adair, oil and gas well troubleshooter from Houston, Tex., and a nerveless team of 16 others who knew one accidental move might be their last.

* * *

As the 3,000-pound cap was maneuvered by a crane over the well head, Adair jammed a bolt through matching holes. That provided a pivot for the cap to be swung through the tremendous pressure of the flowing inflammable gas and for other bolts to be placed.

Then Ed Ingram, production superintendent for the New York State Natural Gas Co., turned a valve wheel that cut the roaring gas to a whisper and finally to silence.

* * *

The well cap blew off last Wednesday because of a faulty gasket, Adair said. The next day the gas, flowing at an estimated 200 million cubic feet daily, exploded, injuring 10 workers.

* * *

Adair, working at the core of the fire which melted down a tractor, placed and set off 300 pounds of nitroglycerin to snuff out the fire last Saturday. Then the crew carefully began scooping out a trench close to the well so that Adair and Ingram could place themselves for the final effort.

There was no immediate estimate of the loss.

U.N. Gets Plaque From Freed Fliers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— One of four airmen recently released by the Chinese Communists presented a plaque yesterday to Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations as formal thanks for the fliers' freedom.

* * *

Capt. Harold E. Fischer Jr., 30, of Swea City, Iowa, made the presentation to Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the U. N., on behalf of the World Veterans Foundation.

Accepting, Lodge said "we must keep the faith with our prisoners." Then he complimented Hammarskjold's "intelligent and persistent" efforts to free Americans still held in China.

DANCE THROUGH SUMMER — Kathryn and Arthur Murray do a new dance step for the benefit of a group of enthusiastic dancers. The dancing couple will star on "Arthur Murray Party," to be a presentation of NBC-TV throughout the summer.

'Petticoats' Enhance the Boudoir, Add Flair

By EARL WILSON

ISTANBUL—The American wolf has disappeared . . . either that or he's hiding somewhere from America's wolfesses, in the opinion of beauteous movie star Ann Miller of Houston and Hollywood, with whom I've been aisle-squatting on this voyage.

★ ★ ★ ★

"The wolf doesn't have time to wolf any more," commented the legogenic brunette now on a long tour for MGM, "because he's too busy climbing telephone poles."

ANN MILLER

Miss Miller explained this after she'd changed into some tight-fitting pedal pushers which laced up around her shapely knee.

"The poor wolves are running for their lives," Ann moaned, "and don't forget, they're not as healthy as they used to be.

"They're getting a little mangy and moth-eaten . . . They've sort of had it."

This cultural subject came up aboard our Flying Carpet trip to Turkey when I casually mentioned that a magazine had beseeched me to name the 10 Biggest Wolves.

"Well, there's —— and there's ——," answered Miss Miller.

"But they're married," I mentioned.

"Married men are the worst wolves! squealed Miss Miller. "Single men don't have time. They're too busy . . . running."

Miss Miller said that, "There are 10 beautiful girls to every man in Hollywood, New York, Las Vegas, Chicago, San Francisco and Texas," and that she thinks, "It's rather unattractive for girls to be calling men up and asking them for dates all the time."

★ ★ ★ ★

Sonja Henie, who hadn't been listening too carefully, looked over and I asked her, "What about Liberace?" She answered, sleepily, "I'm sure he would have loved this trip."

Irene Dunne, Diana Lynn and others on our little gondola were inclined to agree that it's pretty disgusting the way gals phone guys now for dates.

"It surely is disgusting—the way it never happened to me," I lamented.

"Maybe I should be selecting the 10 Biggest American wolfesses," I timidly suggested.

"Just so you don't mention me!" said Miss Miller, and then she added: "After all, men are basically hunters. I never call a man for a date. No siree. AH'M FROM TEXUSSSS!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Bobo Rockefeller, now in Paris, is investing money in jewelry. She says, "Men buy you small stones in big settings, but never any valuable rocks" . . . Singer Marion Marlowe spent her three weeks' Chicago cafe salary ($22,500) for five new gowns. . . . Jack Palance, who's rehearsing here for a Shakespeare festival, complains, "Trouble with Shakespeare is, you can't ad lib it."

The State Dept.'s cooking a deal for "Oklahoma," which'll tour Europe, to visit Israel . . . The Paddy Chayefskys (he wrote "Marty") named the young 'un Danny . . . Greer Garson comes to town June 25 to pick up the two pups she bought . . . Mamie Van Doren will be one of the guests on Steve Allen's spectacular July 2.

Ezio Pinza's daughter Clelia, 14, will undergo knee surgery . . . Georgia Gibbs, a hit singer for years, is looking around for a manager . . . The tax dept. experts have a well known crooner on a sizzling hot seat.

MAMIE VAN DOREN

The Moulin Rouge in Las Vegas signed Lionel Hampton to a seven-year deal . . . A theater chain will experiment with hot dog machines in the lobby . . . Robert Mitchum, now in Europe, is wary of posing with actresses—he remembers the Simone Silva incident.

Earl's Pearls . . .

A philosopher's a guy who doesn't cry over spilled milk, but consoles himself with the thought it was four-fifths water anyway.—Mary Mayo.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Commentator Art Van Horn has a good memory—he recalls, when performers were billed as stars of stage, screen and RADIO.

★ ★ ★ ★

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A college diploma is often the receipt a young man gets for bills his father paid."—Harry (Balmoral) Toffel.

Actor Donald Wood, who now spiels lager commercials on TV, sighs, "In films I used to hold beautiful women. On television all I ever get to hold is a glass of beer." . . . That's earl, brother.

Quiz Policeman Takes $16,000

'Family Man' Attitude Makes Him Decide Not to Try for $32,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Policeman Redmond O'Hanlon deferred to his responsibilities as a family man and took $16,000 in TV quiz show winnings rather than risk it trying for $32,000.

O'Hanlon, 39, a spare-time Shakespeare scholar, had run up his winnings with correct answers to questions on the TV program The $64,000 Question.

* * *

Last night the New York City police officer was given a chance to double his money by taking a crack at another question. Had he missed, he would have lost the money but would have gotten an expensive automobile as a consolation prize. Had he known the answer, he would have won $32,000 and a chance to try for $64,000 next week.

He decided to be satisfied with $16,000. Later he told newsmen, "If I was a single man, I would have gone all the way."

* * *

To the studio audience he explained that his dilemma was that of "the egotism of a scholar vs. the conservatism of the father of five children."

After the program, his wife commented, "I feel wonderful" and her husband said he had no regrets about his decision.

* * *

"We did not want to become rich out of this," he added. "We just wanted to be able to do things for the comfort and education of the children." The five youngsters range in age from 6 months to 10 years.

O'Hanlon has degrees from Fordham and Drew universities and has long made a hobby of Shakespeare. When he first appeared on the show he chose to be quizzed about the playwright and his works and all following questions were in that category. He lost nine pounds during the two weeks of the contest.

'The Body' Rewed to Favorite Allergy

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald has remarried her favorite allergy.

Her mother said yesterday that Miss McDonald phoned to say that she and her ex- husband, shoe manufacturer Harry Karl, were married a week ago in Yuma, Ariz.

After their Las Vegas, Nev., divorce last November the shapely actress said that she was allergic to Karl. "When I am with Harry I get sick," she said.

* * *

Twelve days later they decided to get married again. They tried five times in Europe and Africa but were blocked by technicalities. When they got back to Hollywood in January Marie said the wedding plans were all off.

Then yesterday Mrs. Marie Tuboni said they were married again. She said her daughter didn't mention when they would get back to Hollywood. She said she didn't mention the allergy, either.

Future Marvels Are Predicted

Industry Leaders See Next 20 Years Bringing Amazing Advances

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Industry leaders predict four-hour commercial transatlantic flights, electronically guided automobiles, development of atomic energy for peacetimes uses and the decentralization of industry among the major developments of the next 20 years.

The forecasts were made in a "preview of 1975" made public by the Prudential Insurance Co. in connection with the dedication yesterday of its 7-million-dollar regional home office.

Some of the forecasts:

Lester L. Colbert, Detroit, president of Chrysler Corp.:

"Engineers believe it is within the realm of possibility that the automobiles of tomorrow may require manual guidance only to place them in the proper lane of a superhighway network, where electronic controls would take over."

Leland I. Doan, Midland, president of Dow Chemical Co.:

"I think we shall see a marked increase in the decentralization of industry. As industry decentralizes, a greater proportion of the population will enjoy the social advantages of the small community."

Joseph M. Dodge, chairman of the board, the Detroit Bank, special assistant to President Eisenhower:

"If there should be no conflict with atomic weapons, the most significant change in the next 20 years undoubtedly will be in the extension of the uses of atomic energy."

Malcolm P. Ferguson, Detroit, president of Bendix Aviation Corp.:

"The next 20 years will be noteworthy for the practical use of atomic energy. Turbine engine commercial aircraft flying at speeds in excess of 750 m.p.h. will cross from New York to London in four hours carrying over 200 passengers. Atomic powered military aircraft will encircle the globe in one 24-hour period. An unmanned satellite aircraft will have flown to outer space beyond 200 miles out and will circle the globe at speeds over 2,000 m.p.h.

Zoologists are agreed that there is only one species of lion existing at the present time, whether found in Africa or Asia.

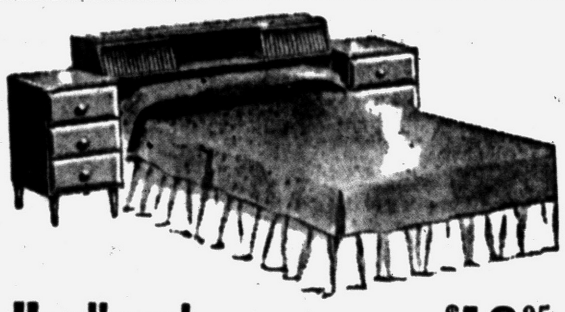

LOSES JOB—Rear Adm. Anibal Olivieri, reported to have disappeared after the rebellion started in Argentina, has been succeeded in the post of navy minister by another admiral, according to an Argentine state radio broadcast.

Zuni Indians "ginned" cotton by beating boles between two blankets so the fiber clung to the fabric while the seeds fell free.
