

Rusk Offers to Stop N.Viet Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk offered today to stop the bombing of North Vietnam to get war settlement talks going.

Testifying at the long-awaited confrontation with war critics on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Rusk said in order to bring about the talks "we are willing to meet their principal condition — stopping the bombing."

Whatever provisos may exist as to reciprocal action by the other side, Rusk did not spell them out immediately.

He renewed the U.S. pledge that "we are prepared to negotiate today without any conditions."

Rusk's statement came at the end of a sharp exchange with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, who told the secretary he is more than ever convinced that our present policies in Vietnam have had and will have effects "abroad and at home that are nothing short of disastrous."

Rusk mentioned the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, which has been a principal vehicle for attacks on the administration by critical senators, saying, "We hoped that Tonkin would serve as a deterrent" but that "unfortunately it did not have that deterrent effect."

Fulbright promptly criticized the administration's contention that U.S. responses to the Gulf of Tonkin incident were due to provocations by Communist warboats.

"The provocations to say the least were extremely slight," Fulbright said, adding that "they could well determine that we were determined to attack them."

At another point Fulbright told Rusk there are "striking discrepancies" between events of the war and the administration's description of them. He said what he called discrepancies have caused a crisis in this country over the war.

Fulbright also told Rusk "I do not accept your version why there has been intrusion" by Communist forces into Thailand.

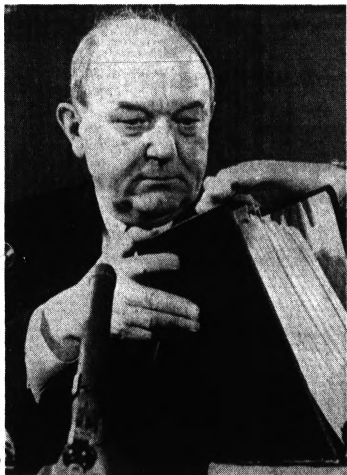

Rusk had cited the increase of Communist guerrillas infiltrating North Vietnam into Thailand as one of the reasons for the U.S. stand in Southeast Asia.

Rusk noted that "we have undertaken not the task of a world policeman but certain aspects of it."

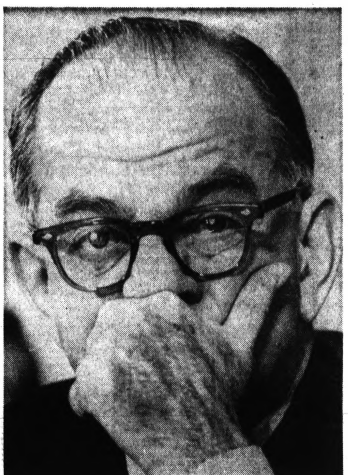

Statements by Fulbright and Rusk, and their answers to one another, consumed the first 40 minutes of the hearing which although scheduled as dealing with the administration's foreign aid requests was, actually intended by both sides as a full discussion of the war.

The committee contains several of the Senate's most vocal war critics, including Fulbright.

Fulbright and Rusk greeted each other cordially, with a handshake and smiles, moments before the session began.

LBJ Backers Lying, McCarthy Charges

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy accused President Johnson's backers today of lying about his position on draft dodgers, while Richard M. Nixon staged a final sprint to turn out the Republican vote in tomorrow's season-opening New Hampshire presidential primary.

McCarthy told a hastily called news conference that the men heading a Johnson write-in campaign were "attacking the motives and loyalty of any man who dares run in an election against the President."

He said that Sen. Thomas McIntyre, D-N.H., a leader of the Johnson campaign, had accused him in radio advertisements of wanting to "honor draft dodgers and deserters." McCarthy called it a "total distortion" and demanded that McIntyre either explain himself or withdraw the ads.

It was the second such counterattack by McCarthy in the final days of the campaign. Earlier he blasted a statement by Gov. John King that a significant vote for McCarthy would cause cheers in Hanoi.

Nixon's final campaign stand today featured a series of brief visits to his headquarters in five cities. He set the tone at a Nashua reception last night, urging Republicans to vote tomorrow, telling them:

"We're going to win. We're going to win in March and we're going to win in November. It's going to be a new day for America."

Rocky Urged to Announce His Candidacy

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 20 top Republicans, summoned to a strategy meeting with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller at his Fifth Avenue apartment, have urged him strongly to become "an announced and active candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination.

A spokesman for the group that included seven governors, three U.S. senators, five congressmen and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, said Rockefeller would decide about plunging into the race after consulting with other party leaders in the next few days.

Rockefeller, who has maintained he would not be a candidate unless there was a draft, had no comment following yesterday's two-hour, closed-door strategy session.

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, one of those at the meeting, said he urged the New York governor to challenge former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the May 28 Oregon primary. Rockefeller has until March 22 to declare himself out of that election.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania read a brief statement to newsmen that said there was "very strong sentiment" that Rockefeller get into the race as "an announced and active candidate." Asked if all those present had endorsed Rockefeller's candidacy, Scott said the statement spoke for itself.

OTHER CONSULTATIONS

A written statement was not given out. Scott read from notes, which he retained. The statement said Rockefeller "will consult other party leaders in the next few days and his decision will ultimately be made by himself."

The meeting came only two days before voting in the New Hampshire primary.

State Road Toll 22

By The Associated Press

Twenty-two persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in Michigan over the weekend as warm, sunny weather Friday lured motorists onto the roads. Then rain and fog Saturday and yesterday obscured visibility and made roads slippery.

Four passengers on a church-owned bus died in a collision with a car in Detroit Friday night. Another accident took three lives and two persons died in a third mishap. State police headquarters at Lansing said the carnage set a record for the weekend's toll.

The Associated Press count of fatalities began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The victims:

Eileen Kusch, 17, of Royal Oak, in a two-car accident in Royal Oak Sunday.

Patricia Anne Marie Nellenbach, 18, of North Branch, a passenger in a car which ran off a road in Flint Sunday.

Robert Larrie, 61, of Detroit, who was struck by a car on Detroit's West Side Saturday night.

Bryce Devere McComb, 36, of 2828 N. Lapeer, Lapeer, who was hit by a car Saturday night on M-24 in Lapeer County's Mayfield Township.

Shirley Ann Tomlinson, 20, of rural Coloma, whose car hit a utility pole and overturned Saturday night on M-52, about a half mile west of M40, in Cass County's Silver Creek Township.

Larry Berg, 19, of Paw Paw, who died yesterday of injuries suffered Friday night in a one-car smashup which claimed the life of another Paw Paw youth, James Martin, 18. The accident occurred on M40 in the village of Decatur.

ACCIDENT KILLS 3

Edward Ellengen, 54, president of the General Appliance Division of Gibson Refrigerator Corp.; George Goulet, 46-year-old Greenville druggist, and Jerry Hammond, 19, of East Jordan, injured fatally Saturday in a two-car crash on U.S. 131, north of Alba, in Antrim County. Injured in the crash were C. J. Gibson Jr., 47, president of Gibson Refrigerator, and Robert Edsall, 40-year-old Greenville attorney. The four Greenville men were en route to Boyne Mountain for skiing.

Lorna Gayle Kunej, 26, of Adrian, whose car ran off M55 at M99 and hit a tree a mile and a half south of Eaton Rapids, Saturday.

Glenn A. Sisco, 12, of Flushing, who was fatally injured Friday night when he was struck by a car while walking along I-75 expressway near Flint in search of his missing dog.

Spring Road Rules

The Oakland County Road Commission announced today that it will begin enforcing its springtime weight restrictions at 6 a.m. Wednesday.

Maps showing all county roads where weights have been reduced, as well as all-weather routes, can be obtained by truckers by contacting the Weightmaster Division at the Road Commission office, 2420 Pontiac Lake.

Conservatives Raising Voices

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Michigan's conservative Republicans, who have watched their influence shrink with the rise of moderate Gov. George Romney, have served notice on the GOP that they want a greater voice in its affairs.

The more moderate Republicans, who firmly control the party's state machinery, say they doubt the conservatives will succeed.

About 200 conservatives met in Grand Rapids over the weekend to form the backbone of a state organization they dubbed United Republicans of Michigan — URM — and to put themselves on record on several state and national issues.

"Mainstream Republicanism," was how Richard Durant, 14th Congressional District chairman and head of the URM, described the new conservative group.

"A splinter group . . . the far edge of the party," retorted John B. Martin, Michigan's Republican national committeeman.

The 200 delegates Saturday adopted a resolution calling for a declaration of war against North Vietnam and an "emphatic and prompt victory policy" in the Southeast Asian struggle.

They also called for a great reduction in foreign aid and an ultimatum to North Korea for return of the intelligence ship USS Pueblo, which was seized by the North Koreans.

The conservatives also voted opposition to open housing legislation pending in the Michigan House and Senate.

Senate Passes Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today approved a landmark civil rights bill designed to strike down racial barriers in four-fifths of the nation's housing.

The compromise measure, passed after nearly two months of debate, also embraces antiriot provisions, federal protection for civil rights workers, and extended constitutional guarantees for American Indians.

The Senate passed the bill 71 to 20.

The bill was sent back to the House, where its fate is in doubt.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., floor manager for the bill, praised fellow senators for backing the nation's first federal ban on housing discrimination despite mail running heavily against it.

"POLITICALLY UNCOMFORTABLE"

Hart said he knew colleagues "who would have been politically more comfortable if the issue had crept away to a quiet death and yet who voted to keep it alive and flourishing."

"The Senate," he said, "responded not to the demands of expediency but to the demands of history."

Southern senators, who staged a seven-week filibuster against the bill before the debate was cut off on a fourth and final try, took the position that antiriot and other amendments had made the compromise measure more palatable. There was no effort to forestall the final vote today.

The Senate had cleared the way for passage with a 61-39 vote Friday favoring the expanded compromise version. The House originally passed the bill last August as a limited measure dealing only with federal protection of minority groups' constitutional rights.

'HOUSE VOTE AS IS'

House leaders have indicated they may try to pass the Senate bill as it is rather than risk a possible stalemate by sending it to a Senate-House conference committee for adjustment of differences.

In 1966 the House passed a more limited open housing measure which was strangled to death in the Senate by a filibuster.

Now the situation is reversed and there is a question whether the House will accept the Senate bill.

Warrant Sought in City Slaying

Pontiac police said today they will seek a murder warrant against a city woman accused of the shotgun killing of a 40-year-old man early yesterday.

In custody awaiting arraignment later today is Juanita Newby, 31, of 507 California.

She was arrested about 1:30 a.m. yesterday, shortly after Oddee Williams of the same address was killed by a shotgun blast.

Officers said they found him on the floor of the living room of the house. He had been shot once in the chest and was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, according to police.

A witness told investigators that Williams and the suspect had argued repeatedly throughout the day.

SHOTGUN FOUND

Investigators said they impounded a shotgun at the scene believed used in the slaying.

Winds, Clouds Cool the Area

Following a brief peek at spring, winter charged back into the Pontiac area today on the heels of an 8-to-18-mile-per-hour north-northeast wind, bringing with it clouds and lower temperatures.

Tonight's low will fall in the 15-to-23-degree range.

The weatherman predicts more of the same for tomorrow as high temperatures are to remain in the 30s. Cloudy skies are due to add to the frosty prognostication.

Wednesday's forecast indicates partly cloudy skies with temperatures on the cool side.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 5, tonight and tomorrow 10.

Low thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 28. By 1 p.m. scattered sunshine coaxed the mercury to 37.

S. Vietnam Fires 7 Province Chiefs

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government today fired seven of its 44 province chiefs, including its man in Hue. It was the biggest housecleaning so far as a result of the Communist lunar new year offensive. Earlier the government replaced two of its four politically important corps commanders.

Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa was replaced as mayor of Hue and chief of Thua Thien Province by Lt. Col. Le Van Than, who had been assigned to the joint general staff headquarters in Saigon. Khoa had been severely criticized by U.S. officials for hiding out in civilian clothes for seven days while the Communists overran Hue. One American official said Khoa did nothing about the wave of looting in the stricken city for 17 days and "by then everything had been stolen, sometimes twice."

SHAKY MACHINERY

It was more than three weeks after the capture of Hue before Khoa began to get the shaky government machinery moving at all.

New chiefs also were named for the provinces of Darlac, Binh Thuan, Vinh Long, An Giang, Ba Xuyen and Tuyen Duc.

A new chief also was named for Quang Duc Province, whose head man was killed in a helicopter crash recently.

Informed sources said more province chiefs would be replaced as a result of dissatisfaction among government and U.S. officials with their reaction to the Communist offensive.

The government recently began training 70 officers to become province and district chiefs. All province chiefs are military men. Sources close to President Nguyen Van Thieu reported recently that he was going to remove the province chiefs from the direct control of the corps commanders, a move long urged by U.S. advisers.

CIVILIANS KILLED

The government military command reported that the Viet Cong killed 23 South Vietnamese civilians Sunday in four attacks and wounded 33 others.

A bus traveling from Hue to Quang Tri struck a Viet Cong mine. Eight persons were killed and three wounded.

Communist mortarmen shelled the neighboring villages of Phu Vinh and Trung Dong, some 200 miles northeast of Saigon killing 10 persons, one of them an infant, and wounding 10 others.

The Northern Quang Tri province, the Communists shelled Dong Ha with some 200 rounds, killing one civilian and wounding three.

Prison Rioters in Oregon Hope for Shelter Tonight

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Con-temned hostages in the prison yard

they had no asked everything they asked, including a promise that they would not be prosecuted for their act of fire, window-breaking and smashing everything in sight.

Prison officials estimated damage at $6 million.

George W. Randall, state director of corrections, agreed to the demands, presented by six convicted representing the prison population of 1,156. The men were presented shortly after midnight yesterday.

Randall agreed to fire Warden C. T. Gladden, 73, who had served 15 years. Gladden, ill for some weeks, was not on duty during the riot.

Seeks Area Post as State Representative

Pontiac druggist Howard L. Dell announced today that he will seek the Republican nomination for state representative from the 62nd District. The district comprises most of the City of Pontiac.

Active in civic affairs, Dell said, "I believe the participation of citizens in their government should be encouraged. I intend to represent the total community."

Presently, Dell, 44, of 2815 E. 14th St., is chairman of the Michigan Area Council of Boys' Clubs of America. He served as chairman of board of the Pontiac Boys' Club for two years.

A graduate of Auburn Heights High School, he attended Central Michigan University and the University of Missouri College of Engineering before receiving his degree in pharmacy from Ferris State College.

Dell has operated a drugstore at 219 Baldwin for 18 years.

ACTIVE WRITER

In his spare time, Dell is a free-lance writer. He has had several articles published dealing with juvenile problems, drug community activities and the pharmacy profession.

He is a member of Elks Lodge 1019, the Pontiac Citizens Committee on Youth, county, state and national pharmaceutical associations. He is the 19th Congressional District director for the Michigan Apothecaries for Political Action (MA-PAC).

He and his wife, Ann, have five children.

Patton Tank Is Abandoned in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Army is wondering why one of its 48-ton, M48 tanks was abandoned in the Bronx.

The Patton tank, of World War II vintage, has been sitting atop a trailer truck since Saturday parked near the Bronx end of the Thruway's Neck Bridge, its 90mm cannon pointing over the roadway.

Saturday night police declared the tank "missing or stolen."

Sunday police learned the 48-ton tank was en route to the Thruway's Neck Bridge, near Chambersburg, Pa., and that it left the Patchogue, Long Island National Guard armory Friday morning.

The house passed a more limited housing measure in 1966 but many of its supporters were defeated in the election that year.

The way for Senate enactment of the measure was cleared last Monday after seven weeks of debate and maneuvering when a 65-32 vote succeeded in shutting off debate on the fourth try.

The 19 opponents Friday included 15 Southern Democrats, two Southern Republicans and Sens. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and John J. Williams, R-Del.

PROVISIONS

The bill's major provisions would:

• Gradually prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. By Jan. 1, 1970, it has been stalled in the House Judiciary Committee.

• Establish federal criminal penalties for interfering by force or threats with the right to vote, serve on juries, use public accommodations, attend public schools or engage in other specifically protected activities.

• Make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot or to obstruct firemen or policemen engaged in suppressing a riot or to make, transport or interstate commerce or trade how to make and use firearms, explosives and incendiary devices in riots.

• Extend to American Indians the protections of the Bill of Rights. Passed unanimously by the Senate last year, this portion has been stalled in the House Judiciary Committee.

Commission to Consider Rubbish Transfer Plan

BIRMINGHAM — The City Manor, has complained that Commission will again take up "odor, dust, rodents and traf-the question of a rubbish" which would depreciate property transfer station at tonight's values and create a nuisance, meeting at 8.

A public hearing before the commission on the question took place Jan. 22, but a decision on the question of the authority the station was postponed to allow further study of the objections raised.

Allan Kronbach, authority general manager, stated at that time that the Coolidge site was the only one deemed desirable for the authority's purpose.

In a letter to the commission, Kronbach further detailed provisions which would be made at the transfer station for dealing with nuisance problems.

MANAGER FAVORS

City Manager Robert S. Kenning has recommended that the sale be approved. Kenning said the authority "has incorporated the most modern techniques" for eliminating nuisances, and pointed out that reduction in haul distance for city trucks would save the city $3,600 a year.

Also on tonight's agenda are two proposed amendments to the city building code.

The proposals deal with fire alarm systems in multi-story residential buildings and electrical wiring.

The execution last week of three blacks convicted of murder by a worldwide storm of protests. The government's action today indicated it might be setting a pattern of death for persons convicted of murder and clemency for persons convicted of nonfatal terrorist crimes for which the death sentence is mandatory.

Those hanged today were Francis Chimes and Taka Jere-miah, who were sentenced to death three years ago for slaying a tribal subject. They were accused of serving as executioners for an African nationalist party and shooting their victim from the time they were sentenced.

They were hanged despite an appeal for clemency from Pope Paul VI and petitions from their attorneys.

There are more than 100 other Africans in Rhodesian prisons condemned to death, and the government is reported reviewing all cases in chronological order from the time they were sentenced. Some go back before the declaration of independence in November 1965. Thirty African nationalists who crossed Detroit Friday night and hit a into Rhodesia from Zambia are among those awaiting execution.

Smith's cabinet at a special session Sunday considered the cases of 15 condemned Africans, an official statement said, and Huron, in a car-truck collision nine sentences were commuted to various terms of imprisonment.

First Combat Test Near

Six F111s Due for Viet Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force's version of the controversial TFX fighter-bomber will taste its first combat over North Vietnam this month.

The operation, planned since mid-1967, is cloaked in secrecy under the code name "Harvest Reaper."

But it is known about six of the swing-wing F111A aircraft will fly soon from Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., to Thailand. The F111A will get its first combat test against bomb targets in North Vietnam shortly after that, sources say.

NAVY VERSION

The main controversy involving the TFX centers on a Navy version of the aircraft which is reported still overweight. The Navy plane is due to undergo carrier tests, but Navy officials already are looking at aircraft alternatives.

There have been few recent complaints from the Air Force about the F111A.

Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara forced the TFX on the Air Force and Navy in an effort to save money by developing a standard aircraft for both services.

The big feature of the F111 is its adjustable wing—when moved close to the fuselage, the plane can travel up to 1,650 miles an hour; with the wing extended outward the plane can be throttled down to below 150 m.p.h. for missions requiring slow speed.

SUPERSONIC SPEED

The Air Force TFX is designed to roar in on targets at altitudes of several hundred feet and at supersonic speed.

This capability is coupled with unique terrain-hugging radar which permits the plane automatically to duck in and out of high and low places, making it tougher for the ground defenses to knock them down.

The F111, with a two-man crew, has automated precision navigation and bombing mechanisms and is intended to operate in bad weather and darkness.

McNamara was anxious to demonstrate to critics the TFX works well. Clark M. Clifford, his successor, apparently is allowing the combat test to continue despite risks this advanced fighter-bomber could be downed over North Vietnam and its highly developed equipment thus made available to the enemy for study.

Poverty War's Rural Reach Longer

By ED BLUNDEN
Oakland County's war on poverty has been escalated to reach more deeply into the rural areas.
The Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCEO) has organized an additional operation named the Out-County Unit. This will service primarily the eight southwest townships, Highland, White Lake, Milford, Commerce, West Bloomfield, Lyon, Novi and Farmington.

Supervisor of the new unit is Mrs. Leona Edwards, formerly assistant director to the OCEO North Center operation.
She defines the problem of the rural poor as different from that associated with city dwellers — for whom much of the war on poverty has thus far been directed.

"We know they are out there, but they're harder to reach," she said. Mrs. Edwards sees the primary problem as that of isolation. "This often puts them in a worse position than if they were in the city," she said.

MORE MONEY, ATTENTION
In antipovetry legislation, an increasing level of funding and attention is being maintained toward problems of the rural poor, according to OCEO officials, and this activity can be expected to increase correspondingly in Oakland County.

To handle Out-County Unit OCEO clients, substations have been set up at: Highland Township Hall, 205 N. John; White Lake Township Hall, 7525 Highland; and the Farmington subcenter at Grand River and Farmington Road.

At these centers, OCEO staff members are available to offer the full range of services which include counseling on health, employment, financial and social problems.

- Senior citizens whose families and friends have dropped away and who have become isolated from society and are unaware of what can be done for them.
 - Persons living on fixed incomes, often elderly, for whom the cost of living has reduced their resources to the poverty level.
 - Families formerly in good circumstances, but finding their income lost because of illness or death in the family.
 - Unemployed persons who are out of work, but don't have enough knowledge or education to help themselves.
- Mrs. Edwards said "Often these people are just afraid and don't know what to do." She said the OCEO most often learns of the cases through other sources rather than having the families apply for help.

Referrals come from churches, county officials or from schools. "They often learn of families in need by observing the children, how they're dressed and if they are getting enough to eat."
"They direct us the (OCEO) to them and we are often able to help," Mrs. Edwards said.
The supervisor of the new unit has at present four full-time assistants (community aides) and utilizes volunteer help from churches and social groups.
A big problem is providing transportation, so that the clients can be taken to doctors, to OCEO offices, to welfare agencies, and the like.
Mrs. Edwards said she feels the Out-County Unit will answer a real demand in caring for the county's rural poor population, living for the most part in as much privation as their city cousins with their problems increased by isolation.
She said the OCEO is planning to expand the unit further as the need develops. "We're have only scratched the surface so far," she said.

Course for Children

Shooting Class Preview Tonight

A course in safe firearms handling and shooting practices for children will be previewed at 7 tonight at Auburn Heights Elementary School, 260 S. Squirrel, Pontiac Township.

The six-week course, the second to be offered by the Auburn Heights Area Jaycees, will get under way next Monday night at the school. Classes for boys and girls aged 7 to 14 will be conducted from 7 to 9 p.m. each Monday.

Registrations will be accepted until the first session, according to H. Eugene King, 700 Southampton, Pontiac Township, course chairman.

Those interested in taking the course and their parents will be introduced tonight to last year's Auburn Heights shooting team, which placed sixth in state competition.

The program will include a demonstration by Olen Banks, 24 Michigan, Pontiac, president of the Auburn Heights Sportsman's Club, and a discussion of the Ten Commandments of Gun Safety by Thomas Lawson, 83 Purdue, Pontiac Township.

There is no charge for the course which is cosponsored by the Daisy-Heddon Manufacturing Co. The Jaycees will supply all equipment.

Vote Tomorrow in Lapeer District

LAPEER — Voters of this school district will go to the polls tomorrow to decide whether to approve an additional 6.5 mills — 3 renewable and 3.5 new — for one year for operating expenses.
The renewable levy expired Dec. 31.
Supt. of Schools Clyde Schickler said the request for increased millage has been made necessary by increased enrollment and service costs.
The 6.5 being asked would bring the over-all operating millage to 19.08. According to school officials, the district has never rejected a millage request.

Meeting Tonight in Avondale

A special meeting of the Avondale Board of Education tonight will determine future bus routes in the district and will probably form a citizens' advisory committee for schools.
A study session for board members has been called for 7:30 and an open meeting has been set for 8:30 in the junior high school cafeteria, according to Supt. John W. Dickey.

The meeting was promised last week when parents and students both objected to the board's recent decision to cut back in its school busing program. There was a walkout at the senior high school and a citizens' protest meeting at Elmwood Fire Hall.

Students living within a mile-and-a-half of their respective schools were to be eliminated from the transportation program as of a week ago.

Objections to kindergarten and elementary students being required to walk along main roads where there are no sidewalks brought a delay in execution.

COMPROMISE CONSIDERED

A compromise in which buses would run along main roads only has been considered for tonight's meeting, according to Dickey.

The transportation cutback was part of an economy package put into effect two weeks ago by the board following a massive 5-1 turnaround by voters of an increased 12.5 millage.

First Judgment in Water Suit Is Rendered for Shelby Twp.

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The first judgment in this township's lawsuit against the Detroit Water Board has been rendered.

Macomb County Circuit Court Judge Edward J. Gallagher has ruled that the water department must make water available at the 24 Mile Road opening of its new 96-inch transmission line "forthwith and upon the demand" of the township.

The township had charged the department, in the first part of the suit, with violating a contractual agreement when it constructed the 96-inch line in western Shelby by failing to provide tap-ins at 23 and 25 Mile.

Gallagher's judgment also provides for the department to construct a line at its own expense east on 24 Mile when it determines the need for water in the area would make such a line necessary.

The judge also ordered the department's counsel to submit briefs within 15 days on the second portion of the suit, in which the township charges the department with violation of the State Constitution in failing to obtain permits to cross rights-of-way when the 96-inch line was laid.

SUPERVISOR DISSENTS

Though other township officials, including Treasurer Jack Millard and DPW Supt. George Crombie, expressed pleasure with the results of the suit, Supervisor Kirby Holmes dissented.

"All we've gotten is something which common sense tells us we would have gotten anyway," Holmes asserted. "We have three schools out here which need water badly, and we still haven't got a shovel in the ground."

The supervisor conducted negotiations previously with Gerald J. Remus, department manager, in an unsuccessful effort to settle the legal action out of court.

No date has been set for a hearing on the constitutional dispute.

Walled Lake Casino Burning No Accident

NOVI — The fire that leveled the old casino restaurant-bar and bathhouse on the south shore of Walled Lake here yesterday was no accident.

Novi, Walled Lake and Commerce Township firemen were just practicing. They ignited the buildings at 6:30 a.m. yesterday and spent about three hours putting out the flames.

Troy Builder Gains Injunction

TROY — A referendum on this city's Somerset North rezoning has been delayed.

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Robert L. Templin has granted a preliminary injunction barring the city from taking any action on petitions opposing the zoning change.

The injunction was issued at the request of the Biltmore Development Co., which seeks to construct an extension of its present Somerset apartment complex between Maple and Big Beaver and east of Coolidge.

The City Commission approved the zoning change Jan. 8 by a 4-3 vote. Recommended by the planning commission, the rezoning changed 219 acres north of Big Beaver and east of Coolidge from single-family residential to multiple.

The Troy Council of Homeowners' Associations began a petition drive shortly after passage to force the commission either to repeal the ordinance or submit the issue to a public vote.

Holly Students to Poll Opinions on Two School Money Requests

HOLLY—Students armed with "opinionnaires" will begin surveying voters of this school district today on two upcoming school money requests.
In the survey, which ends Friday, citizens will be questioned as to whether they believe the district needs added funds and whether they would support granting the funds in millage and bonding elections.

The board of education has scheduled a vote April 10 on an operating millage request. It will be the district's fourth millage election in less than a year.

The amount of the proposed increase has not yet been finalized, and probably will not be until the results of the opinion survey have been tabulated next week, according to Supt. of Schools Russell Haddon.

The board has also slated a bonding election for June 10, the same date as the annual board election.

POLL SETBACKS

The effort to assess voter opinion comes on the heels of several setbacks at the polls. A $5-million bond issue was defeated in October, and citizens twice rejected requests for a 10-mill operating levy.

On a third election, the 10 mills was split into 7 mills renewal and a three mill increase, and voters approved renewal only.

The survey, based on one utilized by the Cuyahoga Falls (Ohio) School District, was suggested by a citizens' advisory committee appointed by the board.

Among the questions asked by the "opinionnaire" are:
• What sort of job do you feel the Holly school system is doing in educating its students?

• Does the Holly school system spend money in any area where you think it should not? If the answer is yes, please specify.

• From the information that you have, do you believe more classrooms are needed in the Holly school system to maintain the board of education policy of 30 pupils per teacher?

• Providing the board of education can offer the same educational program in 1968-69 as was offered this year by adding 3 operating mills for one year only, would you support such a millage?

As the citizen's committee proposed, the survey is being conducted as a student project of the social studies and English departments.

be decided prior to a referendum, not after.

He noted that the courts are "reluctant to thwart the expressed will of the voters."

The judge also made arrangements to advance the case, to bring it to trial during the next nonjury term of the court, which will begin about the middle of April.

Templin directed attorneys for both parties to cooperate with Richard Smith, circuit court assignment clerk, to bring about a hearing and decision as soon as possible.

State Liquor Law Change Eyed

TROY — The City Commission may request a change in state liquor licensing laws.

The move, suggested because of this city's rapidly expanding population, is scheduled for discussion at the commission's regular meeting tonight at 7:30.

State statutes presently limit the number of Class C licenses to one per 1,500 people "as determined by the last Federal decennial census."

Since that census, taken in 1960, Troy's population has grown from 19,402 to approximately 33,500.

Also on the agenda is the awarding of bids for two special-assessed sanitary sewer projects totaling about $340,000.

LOW BIDDERS

Low bid for one, on Crooks, Temple City, Premier, Blaney and Thorncroft, is $50,042, from D&W Construction, Inc.

D'Angostini Construction Co. has submitted the low bid of $189,918 on the second project, on Sylvanwood, Trinway, Creston and Somerset.

Milford PTA Slates Speech for Tonight

How far can science go in controlling our thoughts?

The Milford PTA tonight presents Dr. Leroy Augenstein, who will speak on mind manipulation.

The talk, open to the public, is at 8 at Mair Junior High School, 425 George, Milford.

Augenstein, a professor and the chairman of the biophysics department at Michigan State University, is a member of the State Board of Education. A regular meeting of the Huron Valley Board of Education will follow Augenstein's talk at about 9:30 p.m.

LAWRENCE WELK

Such prowess, he believes,
stems from his boyhood. "I did on Saturday nights. He claims

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The
physician to America's astronauts says he expects them to present him with two tough human problems in the next few years—advancing age and frustration of their ambitions.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, medical director at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration center in Houston, Tex., said Friday this is bound to happen.

In an interview while here to receive the Richard Hopper Day
Medal of the Academy of Natural Sciences for "exploration and discovery in the natural sciences," Dr. Berry said the aging was being watched closely.

Commercial pilots may fly until they are 60, but no such limit has been set for the astronauts.
Dr. Berry pointed out that astronaut Walter M. Schirra will be 45 next Tuesday. Dr. Karl G.
Henize, 42, a scientist-astronaut,
is just taking jet flight training, and I will be 45 by the time he returns for space.

He reported happily that the ratings have been holding firm, and he noted: "Our audience seems to be getting younger. I notice that especially when we play at state fairs. I think it's because we have been playing more and more new songs on the show."

The Welk organization now
travels only six weeks a year, including three weeks at Lake
Tahoe, which constitutes a vacation for the members. Lawrence, who has been plenty of traveling in his 44 years as a band leader, is happy to spend more time at home. He and
Mrs. Welk often steal away for a few days at their trailer home near Escondido, 100 miles south where he also owns a new resort.

The slower pace seems to have done wonders for his health. "I haven't felt so good in a long time," he remarked. "I'm really surprised, because back there in '32, '33 and '37, I spent a lot of time in St. John's Hospital (in Santa Monica). I had a great deal of trouble with a spastic colon, with my gallbladder and gallstones, and I thought I wouldn't be around too much longer."

It Seems to Me . . .

Will Rocky Outsmart Self as He 'Plays Hard to Get?'

Mr. Nelson Rockefeller may euvre himself into a peculiar political position.

Primarily, he's "available" for the GOP nomination if the party giants want to tease him to run. I don't believe there has been an honestly "drafted" candidate out of the last 10,000 officeholders. If "Rocky" thinks he's that desirable he's taking himself for a silly ride.

If he wants to run, O.K. Get out and run.

If he sits on his hands and waits for those soulful characters to grovel in the dirt and beg, Richard Nixon may collar all the marbles. Also, the New York Times says there are scads of influential GOPers waiting for him to declare himself so they can hurl the dirt "for his sit-out during the 1964 campaign."

AND—his capitulation before the sanitation union when the problem was really none of his business stirred up another set of political savants. Mr. Rockefeller is a capable man and he might make a jimdandy candidate but he better quit shadow boxing and speak his piece.

Surprise Statement . . .

The surprise of the current primary campaign came from the candidate who said:

"The City of Pontiac is a dying community, in need of salvation. To have salvation it is necessary for a man to be born again, and so it is with our City."

There's the biggest laugh of 1968—and 1967 and 1966.

Let's look at the record.

Pontiac Motor Division has never been as powerful, successful, outstanding and as much in command of its field as it is right now. This has been true for several years.

Pontiac's on top of the heap. It leads in gains.

This division gallops and plunges ahead as it never has before, setting record after record after record. Employment is at a peak. Payrolls have never been as tremendous, as gigantic and as far-reaching.

And Fisher?

Well, Fisher has to keep pace with Pontiac and one T. Weithorn has the bit in his teeth and is literally storming around the track in the wake of that high-powered Pontiac. And he's highly successful.

Payrolls?

Wonderful!

Hourly rates?

An all-time high!

The GMC Truck and Coach Division is another stalwart that passes out maximum wages to happy thousands.

Retail totals are at an all-time high. Most retail stores report 1967 to be the banner year of all time. Sales exceed expectations and the swing is still magnificently upward. Always there are some who trail and lose, even when the pack as a whole is setting records. With these we sympathize. But this tiny and nameless minority can't tack the phrase "sick" on a sturdy, lusty, growing city. Automobiles, bicycles, clothes, real estate, household goods, etc. move so swiftly that inventories are a problem.

Downtown does need help. We're all prepared to assist—and will.

But the word "Pontiac" means the entire city—and the entire area—a sizable community. Downtown is a very important segment—but it's just a segment.

The Pontiac Press reports right here that manufacturing and retail figures for the first two months of 1968 set an all-time record. They're magnificent.

Sick?

Who's sick?

Bank deposits and totals climb steadily upward, upward, upward. Who's sick?

Cities from coast to coast are envious of Pontiac's tremendous run in the last few years. We've struggled to keep up with this magnificent Pontiac automobile and GMC Truck and Coach Division. Other places weep as they glimpse our bustle, hustle and activity. They're envious of the staggering payrolls that are doled out smilingly and without let-up in the Pontiac area.

We have too much unpunished crime. We have too much general lawlessness. But so do all the other communities. If we're "dying" from that angle, the nation is expiring in toto.

Instead of featuring the crying towel, let's unite in some lusty cheering for the good with which we've been favored.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Sign on a Connecticut highway: "He who has one for the road, gets a trooper for a chaser." Georgia plans a park solely for the handicapped. The $1.3 million affair would have braile direction signs, wheelchair trails, and special equipment to make fishing possible for those who lack full faculties. The Department of the Interior in Washington is paying half. Could Oakland County get one of these grants?

Authorities are concluding PEGGY FLEMING is the greatest female skater of all time—supplanting SONJA HENIE.

JANE

Scouts advise me Jane Campbell deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies.

Overheard: "Now that I go to work late and leave quite a bit earlier, I find I make a lot fewer mistakes." "Darling of the Day" may set the all-time Broadway record for a financial fiasco. It closed after 32 performances and the red figure is rumored to nudge past $700,000. Vincent Price and Edna Forbes were starred.

The jet age has been defined as "breakfast in London, lunch in New York, dinner in San Francisco and baggage in Buenos Aires."

Grit says tolerance is the ability to keep your shirt on when you're hot under the collar.

We think of apartment houses as strictly modern American. Studies disclose more than 2,000 years ago Rome was actually jammed with them. Only aristocrats and government poobahs had private homes and some apartments were five and six stories high. Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—The Pontiac area's strong and powerful over-all position; the J's—Thursday night's DEBBIE REYNOLDS show—the absolute bottom for 1968 to date.

There's Such A Thing As Being Too Casual

Nixon Is in a State of Readiness

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In a most perceptive book about Richard Nixon's life and character, Earl Mazo wrote in 1959: "He has a solid theory about the role of fate and circumstance in politics." When Mazo began his book, "Richard Nixon: A Personal and Political Portrait," he was possessed of a strong prejudice against the man. No doubt this was absorbed from the anti-Nixon climate at the New York Herald Tribune where the author was employed and from the Washington press corps where he worked.

MOLEY

But as Mazo studied his subject during the two years while he was preparing the book and came to know Nixon firsthand, his prejudice was supplanted by sincere admiration.

To prove the point quoted above, he cited what Nixon said of his success up to that time: "It happened that I was in the right place at the right time. This can change. The only thing that I will do so far as the future is concerned is to continue to do the most effective job I can for the country and, of course, for the party. And then what should happen will happen."

When I read that in the Mazo book, I had enjoyed Nixon's friendship since the Alger Hiss case in 1948. It seemed to be the key to the great misunderstanding and misrepresentation of the character of the man. And I wrote a piece at the time saying that there was a strong element of fatalism in Nixon, quoting Hamlet's words: "If it be not now, yet it will come: the readiness is all."

WORD MISUSED

I have realized since then that my word "fatalism" was misused. For it implies passive acceptance.

What I meant was that time and chance play a major role in political life, but a recognition of that cannot preclude the labors of preparation.

A friend of Nixon over the years has put his finger on an old political truth. He said recently that Republicans this year should nominate "the man who matches the mood" of most Americans.

I believe that Nixon has a sense that not only his experience but his serious nature matches this public mood.

WELL PREPARED

He has labored long and well in preparation for every task, personal and political, he has faced in the past. But now his homework has been done with much more meticulous care by travels over the world, by his reflective study of the vital issue, by the perfection of his organization and by his most energetic participation in these primary campaigns.

His "readiness" for this test is all that human effort can make it.

By all reports, the voters who see and hear him are unbelievably responsive. It is more and more evident that these people are sincerely seeking leadership and have found someone who suits the temper of their critical present and future.

Bob Considine Says:

New Book on Sukarno Is Another 'King and I'

NEW YORK—People . . .

Cindy Adams, the world's only good-looking historian, has a fresh out with her second book about Dr. Sukarno, the political derelict who was Indonesia's curious combination of George Washington and Tommy Manville.

"My Friend the Dictator," published by Bobbs Merrill, moves the glamorous history to write:

"Dear Bob: I guess you'd say this volume completes the set of bookends. The first book was Sukarno's story. This one's mine. My experiences, and boy! If some of them ain't worth six bucks!!!"

"If you want to buzz over the first three quarters of the book, wherein the old boy chases me around the palace, read just the last quarter. I was the only person close to him while he felt politically.

"Many times I've sat and held my husband's head when he's lost an expected hope and I've held my dad's hand when he's lost a job or a raise, and I've sat with a friend when things have gone bad—but this is the first time I've ever sat in a living room and watched a man lose an empire!"

"I watched him as his mind deteriorated. I sat with him when he was so spent mentally and emotionally that the only thing he could do was play an elementary-school game called Movie Stars . . . 'M. M.' 'Marilyn Monroe,' and that sort of thing. "You might find these chapters a living footnote to history."

They are, indeed. The book would make another "King and I."

Gov. Richard Hughes, the Jersey Democrat, steaming a bit after hearing several fellow governors (all Republicans) praising Dick Nixon at great length when they should have been talking about proper uses of the Delaware watershed, interrupted a meeting in New York the other day.

"Fine, fine," he said. "Grand fellow, Nixon. Two days ago he settled the race problem. Yesterday he settled the war. What he's going to do for an encore tomorrow: Endorse motherhood?"

End of meeting.

Congress shall make no law—abridging the freedom of speech or of the press—but the American Bar Association can. Approval by the ABA House of Delegates of the Reardon Committee recommendations for restrictions on pretrial coverage of crime news is in violation of the spirit of the First Amendment if not in outright contravention of it.

It is one thing for the Bar Association to attempt to put its own house in order by adopting rules which would prevent lawyers from pleading their cases outside of the courtroom and in the public prints. It is something else again for the ABA to impose prior restraints on publication of the news by recommending that the police as well as lawyers should withhold certain information from the press and public and, furthermore, to give the courts authority to use contempt powers to punish police and newspapermen who disobey the rule by divulging and printing proscribed information.

If these recommendations are approved and adopted by

'Citizens Should Protest Government Spending'

The Press was right in its editorial that defeat of school millage increases were protest votes. Our state and local governments have followed the master pattern of spending set by Washington. Most of us send far more money to Washington than we spend for local taxes. Since 1960 the population has increased ten per cent, Federal civilian employees have increased 25 per cent, Federal civilian payroll has increased 75 per cent and Federal spending has increased 80 per cent.

Ninety per cent of the total income taxes are paid by those earning $6,000 per year or less. Government spokesmen have stated that anyone earning less than $7,500 per year is disadvantaged. It would take 1,334 of these disadvantaged people donating their total yearly earnings to pay the $8 million given to five farms in 1966 for not producing. Everyone else is protesting, why not the overburdened taxpayer?

Suggests Ways for Schools to Save Money

If the school boards would build plain school buildings, no swimming pools, and let the children go to school in their own districts, they wouldn't have to have more school taxes. Also, those walks over the streets are a waste of money. I have seen a lot of children go past the walks and cross a busy street where there's no light. It would be cheaper to hire a crossing guard and give someone a job.

Questions Use of West Bloomfield Police

Considering West Bloomfield Township spends close to $20,000 a year to equip and pay the salaries of two highly-trained police officers, has anyone thought about the use of these two officers and two township patrol cars at the West Bloomfield High School every morning to direct supposedly reliable high school-age young men and women across the street. While the police are there, you have no coverage elsewhere in the Township.

I will vote yes on March 23, for the renewal and increase in millage. However, will there then be three cars and three men at the crossing? I feel a crossing guard should be supplied and paid for by the city government.

'All Students Stand for National Anthem'

It may be true that some people do not stand up for the National Anthem but at our school every student stands up. Whether he sings or not, each student at least has his hand over his heart. The only people who see that aren't standing are the adults. The adults are very patriotic.

Another Comment on Nonpublic School Aid

After reading recent letters I can only conclude an extreme indifference to the financial plight of the nonpublic school system. Most who are against the bill don't realize how much nonpublic schools have saved them. Everyone realizes the public school system is in trouble financially and this will get worse if nonpublic schools close. I would be happy to have my taxes doubled, tripled, or more, if only to hear these people scream when they get their future taxes.

Question and Answer

In the face of possible snags involving City income tax, the City Manager and Attorney prepared several alternative plans for choosing the money. I'd like to know if the alternative chosen (to spend the money now) is one which the Manager and Attorney feel is best. If they didn't make a specific recommendation, why not?

REPLY

The City Manager says he did make a specific recommendation, and it was the one which the City Commission chose.

Real Issue . . .

London Economist

Mr. Johnson has made it clear where he stands. He is a global American. This is the real issue of the election, and on this issue Mr. Johnson represents what is radical and adventurous in the American spirit. By November he either will have reassembled the American majority around his point of view or suffered the unprecedented humiliation of being expelled from office—not because the American economy has collapsed, which what happened to Herbert Hoover, but because the Americans have rejected his idea of America's place in the world.

None of the rivals Mr. Johnson has to worry about, with the single exception of Mr. Rockefeller, is the President's equal in energy, or decisiveness, or in his vision of what he wants to do with the presidency. By comparison Mr. Nixon is a routine old pro. Reagan an amateur playing with politics and Senator McCarthy, for the Democratic opposition, a decent but ineffectual mini-Steven-son. Only Mr. Rockefeller comes anywhere near matching Mr. Johnson in qualities of leadership.

GOP Names Director for 19th District

The appointment of a West district directors in coordinating Bloomfield Township physician as the Republican party organization director.

Montante, a graduate of Wayne State University and Medical School, is a member of Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital staff and medical director of the Bertha Fisher Home for the Aged.

He is a member of the Inter-Professional Committee of the Wayne County Medical Society and a delegate to the Michigan State Medical Society.

Montante worked in the 17th Congressional District Republican organization before moving to the 19th District where he is a precinct captain in West Bloomfield Township.

Cartwright also announced that the district convention March 27 will be held at 8 p.m. in the Oakland County Court House, Supervisors' Auditorium.

A separate convention will be held the same night by the conservative element in the district. Headed by Christian Powell and Arnold Jones the group will meet at 8 p.m. in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland auditorium in Pontiac.

The split between the two groups occurred a year ago. Cartwright's group, however, is recognized by the State GOP as the official voice in the district.

Cartwright said Montante will delegates and the 19th district, work with the legislative 57.

The 18th Congressional District Convention will be held March 27 at 8 p.m. at the Seaholm High School in Birmingham, according to John A. Gibbs, District chairman.

The conventions are being held to elect delegates and alternates to the spring state convention in Detroit April 26 and 27.

Abnormal Little Sister Taught Joy of Love

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 11th in a series of 40 again went through the cold cycles to be published by The Pontiac Press during Lent. Each story is one of faith in action, told by a sincere person. Some contributors are famous, others relatively unknown.)

By BOBBIE WAGNER

Student, Chilton, Wisconsin

Niki Wagner was born in July, which gave the rest of our family plenty of time to spoil her before we started school in the fall.

She was the seventh girl of 10 children, and her name had been determined long before her birth. Dad, of course, had wanted all boys, so that explains why all of the girls in our family have boys' nicknames.

It's a family tradition to spoil the youngest one, and Niki was no exception. She was small and very dark. Her hair was long, and her face was a small oval of red cheeks and almond eyes.

Winter came swiftly but left slowly. Niki caught an unusual share of colds and was constantly ill.

SHE FAILS TO GAIN

Niki, who never had been heavy or large, paid in weight. At six months, she had the weight of a three- or four-month-old baby. So a trip to a specialist was planned for early spring.

The minute Mom and Dad walked in the door that night, all nine of us kids knew something was amiss. Later, at the supper table, Dad broke the news to us. Niki was mongoloid.

HUMILIATION

"How is Niki?" friends would ask. I would give a brief answer. I could not tell them the truth. I was humiliated at the thought of their knowing that I had a hopelessly retarded sister. "God," I pleaded, "please make her well, please."

The second winter came. Niki was withdrawn. We were halfway home before he told us the tearful news, "Niki died tonight."

Patty broke into hysterical sobs with just the family. Only she sobbed. "No! No! No!" she cried, then did the truth, the full, honest cry on my shoulder, and est, deep-down, hurting truth of home before he told us the tearful news, "Niki died tonight."

We had a small, private funeral. Mom, Dad and Patty, my older sister, took turns spelling each other.

One night when they were all so tired they could not carry themselves, much less Niki, Mom called me to make a few rounds.

And so it was that I scooped up this little girl into my arms and, as I walked around the living room, I could feel her struggle for air.

This little bundle was the sister of whom I had been ashamed, the one the doctors thought would not pull through the first year.

This was Niki, hopelessly, incurably helpless, who thrived on love and attention and whose own bright-spirited, outgoing love was constant.

How could I be ashamed of a child whose radiance was so bright that she could make me laugh even though I had a great deal of homework to do, who could make a grouchy, grumpy Dad smile?

SHE WANTS NIKI

Always, Niki offered me love. I had returned humiliation. Now I wanted Niki as she was. "Breathe, Niki. Live, Niki, live!"

The next morning dawned clear and cold, but Niki (and I) had gotten over the hump. She seemed to slowly regain her strength, even though she still could not walk.

The summer passed and Niki seemed healthier than ever. She seemed to be aware of things, especially objects of nature, which fascinated her. Her vocabulary enlarged to over half a dozen words. And they said she would never talk? Niki showed them!

She also seemed more determined than ever to get around by herself. She was very independent, even though coddled by members of the family.

And Dad, who is not the emotional type, would find immense joy in a smile from Niki. Her pudgy little arms would encircle his neck before he knew it, and a cold, wet kiss plopped on his cheek was a sure-fire way to get a laugh and a toss into the air.

On a night that I shall never forget, Patty and I went to a basketball game. We won, and when my oldest brother came to pick us up, he seemed very star professional golfer, tells of the great changes in his life that came when he turned to the church and began to live for God and his family.

Legislator Feels Almost Any Riot Law Would Be Improvement

By BOB VOGES

LANSING (AP)—If more than 30 people rushed out on the field to join in a fight during a Detroit Tiger baseball game, it could be called a riot under Michigan's present riot law.

Existing law also calls for the mayor and aldermen to circulate among rioters to demand that they disperse.

In a related provision of Michigan's penal code, shouting in the streets of a village can be a breach of peace.

For the act of rioting itself, the law now provides no penalty. Officers must make an arrest on the basis of some criminal act or misdemeanor connected with the riot.

SEEK UPDATED LAW

Michigan lawmakers currently are trying to update the state's riot law.

The Senate has approved and sent the House a bill which defines the crime of riot.

Under the bill it would be riotous for five or more persons, acting in concert, "to wrongfully engage in tumultuous or violent conduct and thereby intentionally or recklessly cause or create a serious risk of causing public terror or alarm."

"The current law is completely unenforceable," said Sen. Robert Richardson Jr., R-Saginaw, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

"Almost anything we could come up with would be better than the law we have now. But we hope to get a much better law."

Another item in the law as it exists now would seem to encourage counter rioters. It reads:

"Private persons may forcibly interfere to suppress a riot or resist rioters."

Sunday baseball as such, the law says, is not a breach of the peace but may become one.

An attorney general's opinion has held:

"A crowd exceeding 30 persons assembled on Sunday to witness a baseball game or for any similar purpose, if riotous city is a breach of the peace." are "any persons to the number of 12 or more being armed with or without weapons, or by a sheriff to disperse; refusal to obey the order renders persons so assembled liable to arrest and prosecution."

OTHER RULINGS

Other rulings by attorney general's opinions have held:

"Shouting in a village street between 9 and 10 o'clock at night so loudly that one may be heard on another street 150 feet away is a breach of the peace."

And:

"The wanton discharge of a firearm in the public street of a township

Suppose a little old lady going shopping was caught in a riot club or other dangerous weapon, and an officer ordered her to assist in seizing and securing such rioters.

Anyone refusing such a command "shall be deemed to be one of the rioters or persons unlawfully assembled" under the present statute.

Meanwhile, the present law requires a close and accurate count by police before they can declare any unruly assemblage a riot.

Present definition says rioters' village and any justice of the peace living in a city, township or village.

The law does allow these public officials to consider their own safety a bit, however, adding that they shall "go among the people so assembled, or as near to them as may be with safety."

Public officials who chicken out and fail to perform their duty in this manner can be found guilty of a misdemeanor and sentenced to up to six months in jail or fined up to the $250.

MRS. WILLIE LINDSEY AND APRIL

Navy Wife Works, Waits

By JANET ODELL
Thousands and thousands of women today are in the same situation as Addie Lindsey—they are servicemen's wives. Their husbands are in some branch of the armed forces, either in the U.S., in Europe or in Vietnam.

Not all wives can live on army posts or naval bases, or even near them. And when the men are shipped out, the wives can't follow.

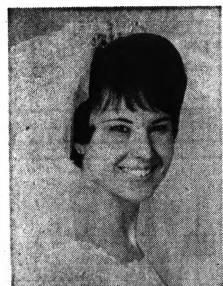

So like Mrs. Willie Lindsey of Gillespie Street, they work at jobs, take care of children and count the days until their husbands come home.

APPEALING APRIL

The Lindseys have a small charmer named April who will be two on July 7. Her father was here at her birth and has had a month's furlough since then. But it's her mother who has had the care and the joy of these baby years.

Mrs. Lindsey thinks she's lucky. Her grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Hall of Nevada Street, takes care of April five days a week while Addie Lindsey works as a claims development clerk at the Pontiac Social Security office.

"I raised my own children and some of my grandchildren and now I'm taking care of my great grandchild," Mrs. Hall comments. But her smile and the obvious pride in her voice belie her complaint.

MRS. WALLACE C. SPARKS II.

Mary A. Clouse Exchanges Vows

Community United Presbyterian Church was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Mary Alice Clouse and Wallace Cady Sparks II.

Gowned in an Empire sheath of silk organza highlighted with a lace bodice, the bride carried a cascade of orchids and Stephanotis. A crystal tiara secured her bouffant veil.

Diane Clouse assisted her sister as maid of honor with Kay Matrone, Deborah Sparks and Mrs. Harvey Gamme as bridesmaids.

At the bridegroom's side were Twana Drake, best man, and ushers John Druktenis, Mel Garcia and Charles Bonnell.

A buffet dinner in the church parlors followed the vows.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clouse of Rollins Street and son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace C. Sparks of Albuquerque, N.M., will travel to northern Michigan for their honeymoon.

Just Afraid to Say So

Wishes Mom Would Act Her Age

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. She is 55 years old, recently took off about 50 pounds, dyed her hair silver blonde, bought a new car, and now she thinks we are "girl friends."

Abby, mother never got along with my father. They've had the same arguments for 35 years so have never had any social life together, which has made mother a bitter person. She never joined any clubs or organizations, and now she wants to go around with me and my crowd. She calls me all the time and is forever including herself in my plans.

The latest is she wants to join a club I belong to. Abby, there are no women her age in it—only women MY age. I cannot stop her from joining, and my friends won't blackball her because they think I want her in it. So what can I do?

STUCK WITH MOTHER
DEAR STUCK: Perhaps your mother has developed this "girl friend" attitude because you haven't discouraged her from "going around with you." Try to get her to act her age, and make some friends of her own. If you have to tell her in more direct language, do so. But do it with love and gentleness.

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl in one of my classes who is really groovy. But she has one bad fault that really turns me off. She uses dirty language and she swears!

She is so nice to look at, and she's a bright girl, too, but what a big fat disappointment she was when she started to talk to me. When will girls learn? Guys sometimes use rough language to each other, but no fellow likes to hear words like that coming out of a girl's mouth.

How about a few words of wisdom on the subject from you, Abby?

E.C.
DEAR E.C.: You've said it, and you've said it well. A word to the wise.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the young mother whose husband "fussed" so at their two small sons that the boys always left the dinner table in tears prompts me to write this. There is a solution to that problem, and I hope you will be fair and print it.

The father who has put in a hard day's work has a right to come home to a peaceful, quiet dinner. Young children should be fed first, and mother and father (and the adult children) should enjoy their dinner while the young ones are otherwise occupied elsewhere.

To force "togetherness" at the dinner table with young children who have not yet learned proper table manners, and who talk and scream and disrupt the meal with fights and arguments, is unfair to the adults.

While children are learning how to behave at the table, they may be rewarded occasionally by having dessert with the "grown-ups." (This can be an incentive for them to learn table manners and proper conduct.) And only when they are capable of eating a full meal with the family should they join the adults.

Mother and father and grown children should not have to put up with ill-mannered, restless, tired, and hungry children during meal time.

A FATHER

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE HAIRY ONE": No girl who is old enough to be "embarrassed" by a heavy growth of unsightly dark hair on her legs should have to "beg" her mother to let her shave it off. After all, when a boy has enough hair on his face to shave, he doesn't have to "beg" his mother to let him shave, does he?

Norman Cheals Tell Daughter's Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Cheal of Barchester Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Jeanne, to Raymond George Olle.

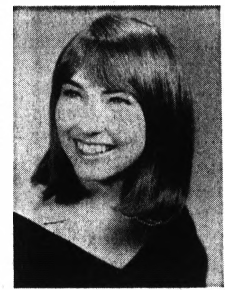

The bride elect, a senior at Michigan State University, and her fiancé, who has attended the University of Alaska, are planning a June wedding.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Raymond Olle of Berkley and the late Mr. Olle.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FORT WORTH WILLY: If you've made up your mind, go ahead and good luck to you. But remember, no man ever works as hard for his money as the man who marries for it.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Van Riper of Muskegon announce the betrothal of their daughter, Daughn, to Kenneth G. Forbes. He is the son of the Walter R. Forbes of Island Park Drive. The bride elect is a senior at Michigan State University.

Wants Party on 35th Year to Fete Folks

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: This summer my parents will be celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary. I would like very much to have a buffet party for them at a nice restaurant and engage a three piece orchestra. My mother likes the idea and wants me to go ahead with it.

My question is, do you think the guests would criticize the idea of a party since the anniversary is not a 25th or 50th?—Carol R.

Dear Carol: Not at all. One of the loveliest anniversary parties I've been to was a 35th. Twenty-five and 50 years of marriage seem to be the traditional occasions for celebrations, but I know of no reason that other anniversaries should not be made memorable if the couple feels so inclined.

OLD BEAU

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a question about my duty for attending a wake and funeral. In college, I was engaged to this fellow, but after an argument we broke up. Later on I married someone else and he married a college classmate of mine.

His father is near death. What is the proper thing at this time for me to do? Do I go to the wake or is it better that I stay away and just send a card?—Ellen

Dear Ellen: Let sleeping dogs lie. You are both married to people who might possibly be worried that an old spark would be rekindled if you and your old beau met. Write him a personal note of sympathy—not just a card—and stay away from the wake.

BUTTER PLATE

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently while dining in a restaurant, the butter plate was placed on the left of me. I suggested to the waitress that it would be more comfortable for me on the right because when reaching over my soup plate my sleeve would get into the soup.

She said that the butter plate and butter are always placed on the left and it is improper to do otherwise. Is that an international rule for setting tables all over the world, or has this rule been modified recently?—Josephine

Dear Josephine: Since one has to use both hands to butter bread or rolls—one to hold it and one to spread the butter—your left sleeve would be just as inclined to get into your soup as the right.

The waitress is right—the butter plate belongs on the left side, and the beverage glass on the right side, above the dinner plate. This is true in the United States and every other country I have visited.

Music Set to Motion in Dance Provides Delight to Eye and Ear

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The Dance was the watchword of the day at yesterday afternoon's concert of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

The third in the regular subscription series was presented under the direction of Felix Resnick at Pontiac Northern High School auditorium to a large and receptive audience.

The orchestra was host to and provided accompaniment for the Detroit City Ballet in a performance of "The Intruder", six episodes from Delibes famous ballet "Sylvia."

Artistic director and costumer for the Ballet is Marjorie Hassard, with choreography by Michael Lopuszanski.

It was definitely Mr. Resnick's day. A community orchestra approaches with hesitation the great symphonies in the standard repertoire, because of lack of both rehearsal time and skilled professional personnel.

In Beethoven's Seventh Symphony, Mr. Resnick not only met the challenge, but produced a performance of great skill, artistic integrity and sensitive interpretation.

STRINGS

The string section was smooth and unlabored all through the difficult passages; the attacks and releases were technically clean and well taken; the nuances and inner parts were well established.

The first movement was a trifle slower than standard, the resulting assurance was well worth the compromise. The famous Allegretto was performed with spirit and proper gravity.

The third and fourth movements positively soared and produced some of the finest playing ever performed by the orchestra. The wind sections, always a strong point with the orchestra, were at a new high level in these movements.

She's Spending too Close to Income Now

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mary Feeley:

Will you please help me with two problems: Set up a budget for me. And tell me how I can explain to my four children and 14 grandchildren that I'll have to put a stop to all the birthday and Christmas gifts that keep me broke!

MARY FEELEY

I am in my 50s, live alone in an apartment that rents for $95. My take-home pay is $259 per month. Other expenses are: utilities, including heat, $24; life insurance, $6; necessary drugs, $8; car insurance, $18 a year; state license and city vehicle license, $48 a year. Fortunately, I have hospitalization, including major medical expenses and life insurance paid by my company.

I gave up smoking to save $15 a month—but it's harder to give up the children's gifts. The children are wonderful to me.

Mrs. J.K., Chicago

Dear Mrs. K.:

You've got more than gift problems, it seems to me. There's just no dodging the fact that your standard of living ignores the limits of your income—which may be strong-minded of you but not very practical. For one thing, that $95 rent is high—$65-$70 would make more sense, considering your other fixed expenses. All told, the ones you list total $153 a month. That leaves only $106—for food and household costs, doctor and dentist bills, miscellaneous daily expenses, clothing, car operation, recreation and contributions. And how about some savings?

Allowing $45 a month for food and household operating costs plus replacements; $25 for clothing; and $30 for your daily allowance, brings you to the end of the month with a fat $6.

I really think you've been doing quite a job, Mrs. K.—with some sleight-of-hand maneuvers where food and clothing are concerned. But I recommend a $275 loan at six per cent for five years and six months?

C.N., Madison, Wis.

Dear C.N.:

The kindest approach to discussing the children's gifts

I think, is an honest statement of the facts—you simply can't give them anything but love.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Can you tell me how much interest I will have to pay on a

The cost in interest will be are cashed. Is this true?

V.C.R., Michigan Reader

Dear V.C.R.:

True. However, service personnel and Red Cross workers in Vietnam have an automatic extension in paying income taxes. Such taxes become due 180 days after they leave Vietnam. Or, if hospitalized, 180 days after leaving the hospital.

Feathers Having Spring Field Day

The feather merchants must be having a field day. Feathers, notably ostrich plume, flutter through the spring clothes collections.

Some designers saw them on the entire garment for late day and evening. And almost everyone is using feather box treatments and feathery flounces at the hem.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't lose yourself in the now. It will make your marriage more exciting and you that you should think only in more interesting to your children. It will make you a better citizen and a happier person. Keeping in touch with yourself lost to you, and you will not have as much to give to others. In the future when circumstances change. Your children will not always be with you. With life as it is today they may live far away from you. Once they leave home. You also problems and stresses of daily may lose the person you love living. It is also hard to do because our tendency is to live for those we love. Sometimes, however, folks overdo this to yourself? Well, I think that just such a degree that they never think of themselves. This will boomerang, on you and those you love.

The most rewarding thing in the world is to have a family or a person to love, and to be concerned about them and to make them stay a little later, or when happy. However, it is not enough to be alone in the house, take a little time, in the midst of busy life, to think of yourself. People are as different as fingerprints, and each human being has its own characteristics in some study, hobby, interest with which to stamp life. All of us have an obligation to do so. Each has its own dignity and inner core of strength. It is a loss to a person, and to those who love her, if this personal signature is lost to life in the confusion of other emotions and myriad duties. Keeping in touch with your self will add excitement to life SHUFFLE!

Enjoy Children Now

DEAR POLLY—The sweetest sound in the world is that of children laughing. The biggest gift in the world to give these children is TIME. We busy people work to supply support but spare time is something we too seldom find.

Every day take time out to play and get to know your children. The years fade by so quickly and the time deliberately put aside for your family will be the only important thing to remember later on.

—ELMER and JUDY

DEAR READERS—If I was ever tempted to say Amen to a letter, this was it.—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY—I do not think it is proper for Mrs. D. H. to give a house-warming for a relative. I was given one (but not by a relative) and the guests each brought a covered dish and each gave money rather than a gift.

The money was cleverly taped together to form a long roll and then placed inside a food can which had been cut open in the middle and then taped back together again. The label was carefully removed and then replaced, so the can looked unopened. This was presented with a can-opener.

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. D. L. A. V. wrote to say how much her son in Vietnam appreciated receiving a money clip. A large paper clip, about two inches long, makes an ideal substitute for a money clip.

YOUR HEALTH

"SLIPPED" DISC

The disc acts as a shock absorber for the spine and also separates the vertebrae from one another.

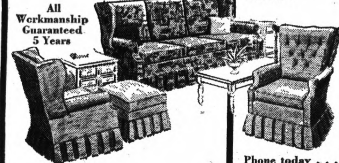

When a disc "slips", there is a resultant pinching on the spinal nerves, causing pain in the lower back or legs. Sciatica is often the result.

Experience has shown that those people suffering from "slipped" disc and pinched nerves respond very well to the specialized care offered by the Chiropractic profession.

New Bridal Registry

Thanks to a new and unique photographic registry service initiated this week by C. R. Hoskill Studio, many brides and brides-to-be will now be able to have their complete wedding photographed and albums given to them as wedding presents.

C. R. Hoskill

How often it has been said, "I'm not having wedding photos taken, it's beyond us right now." Yet, the very thing the young bride fantasizes in the beginning is the one thing that remains forever, bringing memories of that wonderful day each time photographs are viewed.

Now through "Wedding Photography Registry," a prospective bride can call C. R. Hoskill Studio on University Drive in Pontiac and engage a photographer to cover the wedding day festivities. At the same time, she can select the style of wedding photography she prefers — Natural color, the album, wall — hung paintings, frames, etc.

As a gift, C. R. Hoskill provides each of his brides a Wedding Guest Book, a portrait for the newspaper free and even rice conveniently packaged for the guests to throw at the happy couple when leaving the church.

Mr. Hoskill has also available of special discount prices, invitations and napkins and other gifts. "We supply everything but the Bridegroom!"

Why not call C. R. Hoskill Studio now at 334-0553 and reserve your wedding date, or stop in at 1 University Drive, Pontiac.

Case No. E-584

Know Cosmic Viewpoint

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E-584: Paul and Polly, aged 32, are the parents whose little girl was killed by an automobile.

DR. CRANE

Both of them were in a state of emotional shock for several days. But after a couple of weeks, I had a lengthy interview with them.

"Now I wish to give you some strong psychological medicine," I began.

"And psychological medicine is often more potent than pills and hypodermic injections."

"First of all, you must realize that you have been initiated into that vast and eternal fraternity of all those who have lost a child."

"When you read henceforth about such parents, you will not merely feel sympathetic."

"Instead, you will be able to Indulge in what we call empathy and thus really feel their loss as your own personal grief. "Remember, Mary thus lost her son Jesus on a cross and Elizabeth had her son, John the Baptist, beheaded."

"Billions of other mothers ever since Eve lost her son Abel have also joined this Fraternity of the Bereaved."

"So the sudden graduation of Sandra from this earthly classroom in God's Cosmic School System, should thus widen your horizons."

"No longer will you be blinded by mere social or business ambition and the greed for a quick pile of dough, just to permit early retirement from your job."

"Now your horizons have expanded till you experience a more cosmic viewpoint."

"So I am prescribing two things for you."

"First, become active at once in work with other youngsters, as in the Scouts, Camp Fire Girls or by teaching a Sunday School class."

"In that way you can become foster parents to a large group of kiddies, many of whom are half orphans and thus doubly in need of your loving attention."

"But my second prescription takes a little longer. "You are both young enough to have more children, so start a new family and don't limit it to just one child."

"Have at least three or four kiddies, for not only do children help educate each other, but when you lose one child from a larger group, you are not quite as devastated in your morale."

MRS. PHILLIP T. WELLS

West Coast Is Setting for Nuptials

Phillip Terry Wells of San Mateo, Calif., formerly of Pontiac, and his bride (nee Susan Emma Skarie) departed for Hawaii after their wedding Saturday in San Francisco.

For the nuptials in St. John's Presbyterian Church, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan M. Skarie of Sebastopol, Calif., chose a satin sheath with lace trim.

Her bridal bouquet was pink and white roses. Karin Skarie attended her sister as maid of honor with best man duties performed by Mark Foster of Sylvan Lake. Ushers were John Lienart and Terry Thompson of San Jose.

A reception at the Presidio Officers Club followed the vows. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Howard E. Fields of East Walton Boulevard and George V. Wells of Drayton Road.

Senate to Get Look Today at Proposal for First Code of Ethics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With its reputation scarred by the Bobby Baker scandal and the censure of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., an anxious Senate today gets its first look at a proposed code to govern the conduct of its members.

The code of ethics was certain to touch off arguments from the small group of senators who want a strong set of rules as well as from those who have long resisted any set of enforceable regulations.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Ethics Committee promised to have the long-awaited report on the desks of the members today. Debate begins tomorrow and is expected to last all week.

Although the proposed code has been completed for some time, little is known about it. The six-member committee kept it under strict guard.

The most controversial segment of the report was expected to be recommendations for partial public disclosure of a senator's finances.

UNANIMITY SEEN

Asked how far the recommendation went, one member said it was written so that all members could sign it and the committee could present a unanimous report. This was a clear indication that the committee would not call for total financial disclosure.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, who has not seen the report, indicated he would back the committee. But Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen has consistently opposed financial disclosure, claiming it would turn senators into "second-class citizens."

The proposed code was a direct result of the Bobby Baker case which rocked the Senate several years ago. A long investigation by the Senate Rules Committee disclosed that Baker, then secretary of Senate Democrats, amassed a paper fortune of $2 million while earning slightly less than $20,000 a year.

In the aftermath, the Senate voted to create an ethics committee and instructed it to write a code. After a long delay in naming the members, the committee started working in the fall of 1965.

DODD CASE POPS UP

Almost as soon as the members were named, the committee was faced with the case of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. In its first full investigation, the committee indicted Dodd for diverting political funds to his personal use, and the Senate censured him last summer. The full Senate voted to censure Dodd.

Since then, the committee has worked on the code. But the project was interrupted at times by a second investigation, which is still under way.

LIVER RECIPIENT DIES

Kerri Lynn Brown, a pretty, 15-year-old child who lived six months with a liver transplanted from another child, died over the weekend at the University of Colorado Medical Center. Kerri is the second such patient to die within 24 hours. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brown of Long Beach, Calif.

Mail-Fraud Arrests Soar

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien said today that the number of mail fraud arrests has increased 62 percent in the last year. In 1967, there were 338 arrests, compared with 548 in 1966.

O'Brien told a meeting of the postal inspection service's top postal specialists here that the increase in arrests reflected "improved enforcement, techniques and a better-informed consumer."

"The low-income customer is a primary target for mail fraud," he said. "For example," he said, "I have seen some $500 million worth of mail fraud in the last year."

Campus 'Permissiveness' Hit

EAST LANSING (AP)—The president of the American Council on Education Sunday criticized "mounting permissiveness" among students and instructors on the college campuses of the nation.

Dr. Logan Wilson, speaking at the Michigan State University winter commencement exercises, warned that universities cannot survive if they become "a battleground or an arena."

And yet, he said, "The outside involvements of professors are causing increasing numbers of them to be charged with neglect of teaching."

It is disturbing to learn of campus scenes of violence where the majority of the members of the academic community have been bemused spectators while defenders of the institution were in effect mauled," Wilson said.

PERMISSIVENESS

"It troubles me to see faculty members share in the ethos of mounting permissiveness to the extent that they stand passively by while some of our campuses are rife with disorder and violence," he said, adding:

"In the larger house of the whole social system, the university is intended to be the mansion of the intellect and not a Post Office box or a staging area for partisan political forces."

Wilson said, "It is unfortunate that so much time should have to be diverted from the main business of academia and given to riot prevention," but he added, "It is gratifying to me to see that a stout defense of the law and order is developing."

Wilson said he had an "old-fashioned attitude" that a university was a place for higher learning rather than a haven for student contentment among students and faculty.

"For example," he said, "I have seen some $500 million worth of mail fraud in the last year."

ed to cater to the kind of 'togetherness' provided by motels. "We must be wary of letting any institution be pulled apart in the futile endeavor of trying to be all things to all men," Wilson said.

He cited National Student Association reports that during only two months last year, 455 students were arrested and 1,728 faced disciplinary action because of demonstrations.

"To be sure," he said, "just 62 of our 2,300 campuses experienced such episodes and only 14,564 students—about two-

Man Surrenders After His Wife Is Fatally Shot

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Joseph Lee, 27, was held on open murder charges yesterday in the fatal shooting of his wife, Charlene, 19, during a family quarrel.

He is the father of three children by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Lee was shot to death with a .22 rifle at the family home here Saturday night.

Lee was on his way to police headquarters to surrender when he spotted a police cruiser, flagged it to a stop, and turned himself over to the cruiser policemen.

Nigeria Tightens Up on Yank's' Movements

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigerian authorities are closely watching the movements of foreigners in their war-torn country, including the American community of about 5,000 persons.

Americans had been informally exempted from a 1963 alien registration law, but a top Lagos police officer says, "That's changed."

The government-controlled press and radio began criticizing the United States last year after the U.S. refused to license the export of military equipment for use in the civil war against secessionist Eastern Nigeria.

According to police, a letter was sent to the American Embassy in Lagos last August advising that Americans would have to register. The law requires an alien resident to register 21 days after arrival in Nigeria, carry a passbook, present the book for endorsement if he leaves the country or his province for seven days, and report to an alien-control office on his return.

ALIENS UNINFORMED

Most aliens did not know of the existence of the law, which had not been enforced. The American Embassy did not notify American residents in Nigeria of their obligation until late February.

By then, scores of Americans, including some Peace Corps volunteers, had had encounters with Nigerian police. Some had been threatened with prosecution.

One American, Phillip Rappaport, head of Nigeria's National Library and holder of top civil servant rank in the federal government, was waiting for trial before the combined pressure of the permanent secretaries of the ministries of economic development and information persuaded the police to release him.

Violators are subject to three months imprisonment or $70 fine.

Although they are not subject to the law, nonresident Americans also have run into trouble with Nigerian security and military officials.

James Miles, a Baltimore seminarian on temporary duty with the Nigerian Red Cross, was held for three weeks, including some time spent in chains, in a Calabar prison.

Most Americans are working here for the Agency for International Development, the Peace Corps, and education and missionary groups.

Britain Facing Race Trouble

Job, Housing Bias

LONDON (AP) — New political trouble over race relations lies ahead when the British government introduces a bill to bar discrimination in jobs and housing.

Officials hope the measure will demonstrate to members of the British Commonwealth, India especially, that Britain is not developing into a society infected with racial discrimination.

Home Secretary James Callaghan is caught between public feeling against Britain's non-white immigrants and various community and national race relations groups rushing to their defense.

Advocates of a keep-Britain-white policy, centered mainly in the suburban middle class and among workers who feel their jobs threatened, tasted success when Britain barred admission of many Asians from Kenya who hold British passports.

WEAK PROVISIONS

Many of the labor party's intellectual supporters feel the proposed antidiscrimination bill is not strong enough, especially in provisions covering employment.

Last July Roy Jenkins, then Home secretary, committed the government to broadening the present race relations act, largely limited to discrimination in public places. There was hardly a protest, but now Callaghan feels he may face a public outcry.

He has admitted the bill would limit the traditional freedoms of Englishmen, but argued that this was in the interest of creating an integrated society.

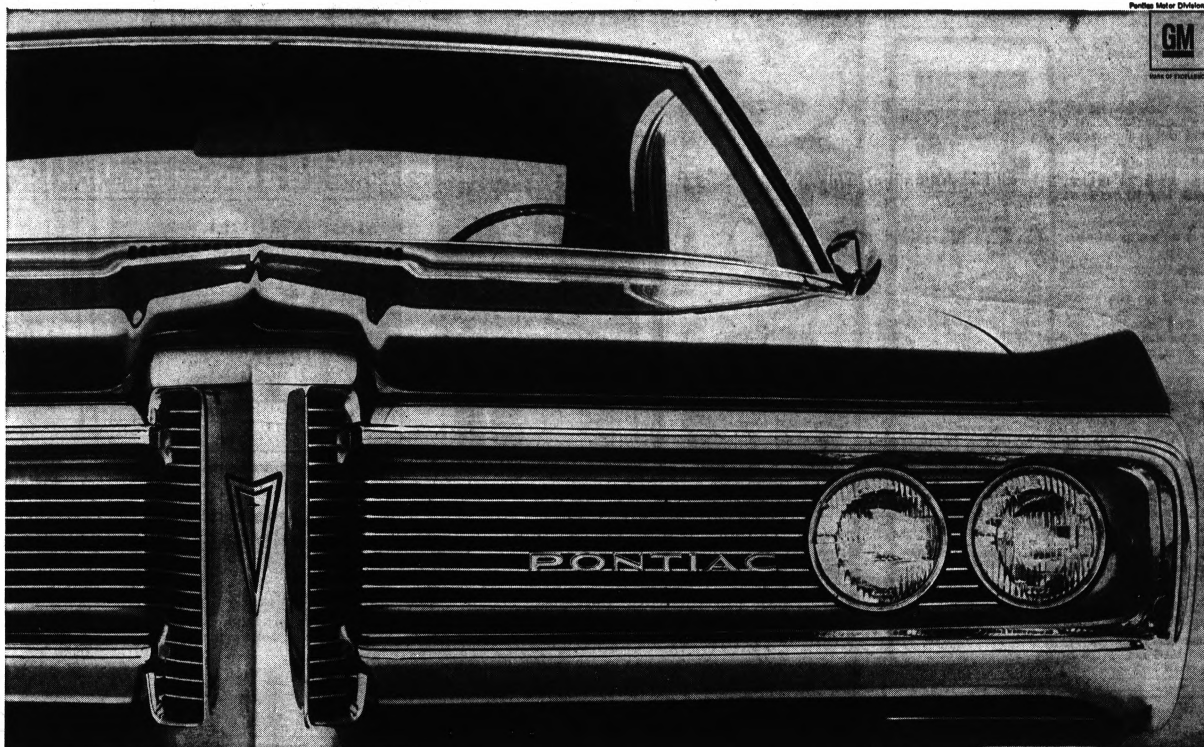

Under the measure anyone who could prove he couldn't buy a house because of his race would complain to the Race Relations Board. It would sue for damages. Advocates say there would be sufficient proof if a white man bought a house at less money than a Negro had already offered for it.

AVOID VIOLENCE

The government's argument is that colored immigrants must be allowed to get out of their districts in London, Birmingham and other cities before violence develops.

Mark Bonham Carter, chairman of the Race Relations Board, has protested to Callaghan about the proposed employment provisions of the bill.

BREAK IN COURT MARTIAL—Capt. Dale E. Noyd, 34, and his wife, Sharon, charged during a break in Capt. Noyd's court-martial at Cannon Air Force Base near Clovis, N.M. Capt. Noyd was sentenced Saturday to one year at hard labor and ordered dismissed from the service. He was found guilty Friday of willful disobedience and refusal to obey a lawful order. The case stemmed from his refusal to train a Vietnam-bound pilot.

Settle for Viet Stalemate, News Magazine Urges

NEW YORK (UPI) — America, published last Nov. 20, Newsweek magazine, taking an editorial stand for the second time in its 35-year history, said today the United States should settle for a military stalemate in Vietnam in which "both Washington and Hanoi are willing to make substantial compromises."

The New York Times also assailed the U.S. stand in Vietnam, calling in its lead editorial for an abandonment of a "bankrupt policy." In which it said "each escalation had produced a new stand-off... at a mounting cost in lives, money and respect for the United States."

In its March 18 issue, Newsweek said President Johnson has failed to provide "the firm, clear leadership expected of the man in the White House."

"After three years of gradual escalation, President Johnson's strategy has run into a dead end...," the magazine said. "The Tet offensive... has exposed the utter inadequacy of the administration's war policy."

Newsweek called for a withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam's borders, and especially from the area just south of the demilitarized zone where the Communists are besieging the Marine outpost at Khe Sanh.

WOULD NOT HELP

The magazine conceded that such a policy would not help to achieve the U.S. goal of a stable, independent, non-Communist South Vietnam, but it added that "the political fate of South Vietnam must ultimately be decided by the South Vietnamese themselves."

Newsweek's only previous editorial stand was its call for action on the Negro problem in Hopes for Mideast Talks Dim

JERUSALEM (AP) — Diplo-Nasser's government had re-mats say U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring's efforts to set up Middle East peace talks appear to have broken down. Egypt and Israel accused each other of blocking a settlement. Jarring told Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban Sunday of Arab lands it occupied in the that President Gamal Abdel June war.

Government circles here said to be taken, beginning with Israel is ready to comply with Israeli withdrawal from territory any attempt by Jarring to bring of Egypt, Jordan and Syria. the two sides together but will not give any advance pledge to give up the occupied territories.

INDIRECT TALKS

Various sources reported late in February that Jarring was on the verge of obtaining Egyptian and Jordanian agreement to hold indirect negotiations with night in the Beisan Valley on Israel. Then on Feb. 29 the Israeli government announced that the west bank of the Jordan River, which Israel seized from Jordan in June, was no longer considered enemy territory.

Cairo took this as an indication that the Israelis would not give up the occupied territories. The Egyptian bank opened up to and the Egyptian line hardened cover the raiders' retreat, again. Israeli officials denied army communiques said. The implications which Cairo raelis were sprayed by sporadic had drawn but conceded their fire for about two hours. The government's timing was back.

The semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram said Sunday that Egypt rejected the pro-three weeks to 42. More than 20 posed talks because Israel in have been captured.

sisted that the Middle East resolution passed by the U.N. Security Council last November was Four other Israelis were injured when their jeep hit a mine near Timna, a copper mining center in the southern Negev.

The paper said the resolution gave Desert and reputedly the one of "definite measures" site of King Solomon's mines.

Mansfield Pessimistic

Dem Eyes Riot Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says he doubts whether the United States has either the will or the money to carry out the anti-riot commission's suggestions while the war in Vietnam continues.

President Johnson has made no specific comment on the commission report, released March 1, except for a general reference to a group of visiting bankers here last week when he asked the businessmen to "do what you can" to follow its recommendations.

administration reaction came last week from Housing Secretary Robert C. Weaver who told Congress it was "highly improbable" that the panel's housing recommendations could be put into effect.

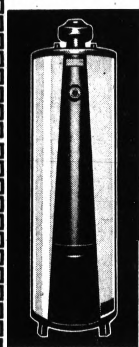

Mansfield expressed pessimism that the commission's recommendations would get much action from the government under present circumstances.

He said the burgeoning costs of the war in Vietnam made the outlook for the war on urban disorders problems dim.

49 Pct. Feel U. S. Erred on Viet

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — A Gallup poll disclosed yesterday that 49 per cent of the Americans questioned feel the United States made a mistake when it became involved militarily in Vietnam.

The poll also showed only 33 per cent of those interviewed feel the United States is making progress in the war. A similar survey last November showed about 50 per cent felt progress was being made.

Those polled were asked: "In view of the developments since we entered the fighting in Vietnam, do you think the U.S. made a mistake sending troops to fight in Vietnam?"

Forty-nine per cent said the United States made a mistake, 41 per cent said it was not a mistake and 10 per cent expressed no opinions.

The percentage of Americans who think the war is a mistake has been rising since August 1965. In that poll, only 24 per cent said United States military involvement in Vietnam was a mistake.

GRADUAL DECLINE

Since that poll, there also has been a gradual decline in the percentage who think the war was not a mistake. The percentage holding this view in the August 1965 poll was 65-20 per cent more than in the latest survey.

The more than 1,500 persons polled throughout the country were also asked:

"In terms of time — months or years — how long do you think the fighting in Vietnam will last?"

Thirty-five per cent said the war would end in less than two years; 30 per cent predicted it would take longer and 35 per cent expressed no opinions.

NOVEMBER 1967

In the November 1967 poll, 40 per cent predicted the war would end in less than two years; 32 per cent foresaw a longer war and 20 per cent expressed no opinions.

In the November 1967 poll, 8 per cent thought the United States was losing the war; 33 per cent foresaw a stalemate; 50 per cent saw progress and 9 per cent expressed no opinions.

Wayne County Strike Feared

DETROIT (AP) — Union and city officials today awaited a Tuesday decision on a contract for a contract to determine whether Wayne County employees would shut down city agencies, including Metropolitan Airport.

William J. Charron, president of Council 23 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees AFL-CIO, warned that the strike could take place.

He said Saturday it will begin unless the Ways and Means Committee of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors approves a proposed contract Tuesday.

The contract would cover 6,000 county workers, including Wayne County employees of the Wayne County Sewer and Water Department, the county clerk and other government agencies.

Annual-Income Study 'Will Take Over 1½ Years'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The come for all America's needy executive director of a Presidential decision on a contract for a contract to determine whether Wayne County employees would shut down city agencies, including Metropolitan Airport.

Robert Harris, an economist and former International Business Machines Corp. official, said he hopes to recruit staff for the study as soon as possible.

Much of the study, he indicated, would be contracted out to universities and foundations.

Greek Exiles 'to Take Reds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exiled Greek politician Andreas G. Papandreou has said he would not exclude Communists from the Pan-Hellenic Liberation Movement — so long as they participate as Greeks rather than Reds.

"I will not look at the files of any individual," said Papandreou in calling Sunday for Greeks of every political leaning to join in a campaign intended to overthrow his homeland's ruling military junta.

"The Pan-Hellenic Liberation Movement calls upon all Greeks, not upon parties, to join in the effort to overthrow the junta and establish democratic institutions," said Papandreou, who described himself as a "fanatic democrat."

Papandreou was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press."

TREASON CHARGES

The American-educated son of a former Greek premier, Papandreou was released by the junta last Christmas after having been imprisoned eight months on treason charges. He was never tried.

Asked why the junta released him, Papandreou said he didn't know, but added: "I think it was one of their errors. I think they will regret it."

What do you mean when you say "luxury"?
Or "performance"? How about "handling" and "ride"?

Here's how Cadillac owners define terms when they talk about the '68.

Ask a Cadillac owner about his car, and you'll usually get an enthusiastic reply.

We've been introducing new Cadillac models for over half a century, but never before has there been such an outpouring of commentary. Here, expressed in their own words, are a few candid comments from '68 owners. For some, it is their first Cadillac—others have had as many as twelve.

Performance. "The thing I've noticed the most is the performance—the spirit with which it picks up and goes." "I think this new power plant has done a remarkable job."

That owner is referring to the totally new 472 V-8 in all Cadillacs this year. It's the largest production V-8 engine in any passenger car.

"We've driven Cadillacs for quite a few years, and I'm impressed with the new motor. It's a lot more powerful and it's got better pickup." "The big engine that they have in this car... If you want to get out and move, you can get out and move!"

Luxury and comfort. "Well, they sure came up with some nice leather this year... some beautiful leather inside. I love this antique saddle leather!" "The seat is thicker than my couches at home!" "The interior finish is a quality finish. The upholstery and the instrument panel give you the general surroundings of luxury."

"There's no comparison as far as comfort is concerned... you can get into this six-way seat and put it into any position you want to... you just relax." "...the sense of security in driving this machine in such comfort lends to its being a luxury car."

Handling. "You seem to have a better command of the road. I thought I would have greater difficulty, but there's no problem at all. I feel more sure driving this car than a smaller car." (You guessed right—that one's from a woman.) "Excellent on long trips—no wind effect, side to side."

Ride. "It's a very quiet automobile. When you're driving in it, regardless of speed, it's very comfortable to ride in, and on long trips the absence of noise makes the trip a lot more pleasant." "It's just like silk." "I think it's wonderful. It's comfort—solid comfort. It's just like you're sitting in an easy chair. You can drive it all day, and not give out. You're not fighting it!"

Value. "The performance... the mechanical part of it. I don't know much about the mechanics of things. They either work, or they don't work. I find that with a Cadillac I have fewer problems to think about. It just goes, and performs the way I would expect it to."

Reasons for buying. "The name, for one thing, because it is a Cadillac. To me, it is the car." "Once you've driven it, you're spoiled."

Do you speak as enthusiastically about the car you drive? If not, you owe it to yourself to find out why the 1968 Cadillac has won acclaim from so many people. Your authorized Cadillac dealer will be happy to assist you in this pleasant discovery.

—One man, commenting on his first Cadillac, summed it up this way: "I should have had one a long time ago." Maybe that will be your reaction, too.

Central's Surge Earns Shot at Class A Regional Cage Crown

By FLETCHER SPEARS
Call it luck, good timing or what you will, but the Chiefs of Pontiac, who toiled among the also-rans for most of the season, seem to have hit their stride when it counts most.

After flailing about during the regular season, the Chiefs have come on strong and they're still in the running for the state Class A basketball championship.

The Chiefs removed their latest hurdle Saturday night at Clarkston where they captured the district championship by handing Waterford Kettering a 68-62 setback.

It was PCH's fifth district title in a row and boosted the squad into the regional at Livonia Franklin this week along with Farmington, Garden City East, Dearborn Fordson and Ecorse.

Farmington and Garden City East open the action at Franklin tomorrow night with the winner moving to the semifinals Thursday against Ecorse. Pontiac Central meets Fordson Wednesday evening. Finals are Saturday and all games start at 6 p.m.

LONG WAIT
At Franklin, the Chiefs will be gunning for their first regional crown since the 1963-64 campaign when they made it to the semifinals.

The Chiefs, who have now won five in a row and 9 of their last 12, had their hands full in taming Kettering before some 2,000 fans at Clarkston.

Kettering, also a loser to PCH in the district final last year, held the upper hand in the first half and had a 29-28 lead at intermission, but the Chiefs took charge early in the third and led the rest of the way.

"We didn't play well," offered PCH coach Fred Zittel. "I really wasn't happy with it, we were real lucky."

The turning point in the contest came during the first half of the third frame when the Chiefs outscored Kettering, 14-2, during a three and one-half minute span to open up a 43-31 lead.

QUICK SPURT
"It was good," Zittel said of that spurt, "but you have to give them credit, they came right back."

The Captains did come back. After that PCH spurt, they ran in a string of nine points to close within two, 42-40, but the Chiefs hit another streak to open up a 48-43 lead after three quarters.

Kettering made it close in the fourth, pulling within three points on four occasions, the last coming at 63-60 with 35 seconds left. But in those final 35 seconds, substitute Monte Herring canned three free throws to go with a bucket by center Rudy Churchill to preserve the victory.

The Chiefs had a lot of balance in this one. Frank Russell led the way with 24 points, Leonard Cole collected 18 and Alton Wilson collected 12.

Spitter Repercussions Mount

Two Ejections Fail to Help Tigers' Cause

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

ORLANDO, Fla. — The sour repercussions of the spitball rule and the sweet pitching debut of rookie Les "Sugar" Cain share the spotlight as the Detroit Tigers split the two-game series with the Minnesota Twins over the weekend.

In Saturday's 6-1 victory for the Tigers, reliever Dennis Ribant became the first victim of the controversial spitball rule when he was ejected after pitching to only two batters.

In yesterday's 5-4 loss to the Twins in 10 innings, Cain, a big lefthander who was 11-13 at Montgomery last year, gave an auspicious performance in his first role as a starter.

A scratch single by Harm Killebrew off the glove of shortstop Tom Matchick was the only hit off Cain.

In the 10th inning, however, a two-out single off the shins of Tom Timmerman by rookie Bill Hahn sent Frank Kilgore home with the winning run.

It was Timmerman's second extra inning loss in the three Grapefruit League games played.

The new spitball rule cost the Twins starter Dean Chance and his successor Dave Boswell yesterday as Minnesota used six pitchers and 26 players to gain the victory.

EIGHT STRAIGHT

The Tigers, who left 12 men on base Saturday, had the leadoff man on base for eight straight innings but they couldn't provide the clutch hits needed to clinch the game as they left 13 players stranded.

Detroit led 1-0 when Dick Tracewski doubled down the left field line and Norm Cash singled him home in the 5th.

In the sixth inning, Jim Northrup hit the Tigers' first Grapefruit League homer to make it 4-0.

The Twins then got to second Tiger pitcher Dick Drago to tie it 2-2 in the sixth on a homer by Killebrew and a pinch single by Rich Reese to drive in Bob Allison who singled and had advanced on a walk.

In the seventh rookie Jim Rooker started wildly as he put Quilley and Hahn on base with walks. This set the stage for a long triple by Herman Hill who clouted the ball over Mickey Stanley's head in centerfield.

The best clutch hit of the game came in the seventh inning and was a single by pinch hitter Ed Mathews to score catcher Al Brunberg who had singled.

The Tigers tied it again in the eighth on what was probably the longest single ever hit by Dick McAuliffe.

After Gates Brown singled and Matchick and Brunberg walked to fill the bases, McAuliffe drilled the ball about 380 feet to right center. All the runners held up thinking Pat Kelly might catch the long ball, but he ran into the wall and the ball dropped down into the mud at his feet. Only Brown scored and the bases were still loaded. Wayne Comer then struck out and Dave Campbell, playing first, grounded out to end the threat.

Lightning Almost Strikes Red Wings Twice in Row

By the Associated Press
Coach Sid Abel had nothing to worry about. Everybody knows lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

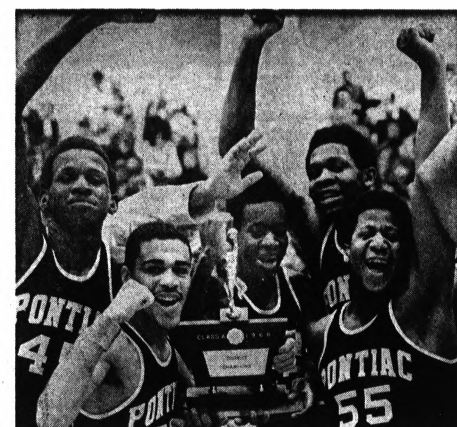

Abel's Detroit Red Wings had blown a 4-0 lead and lost a shattering 7-5 National Hockey League game to Toronto Saturday night. So naturally, when they

Lake Orion Wins District; Madison Surprises Knights

The Dragons of Lake Orion are still breathing fire along the state basketball tournament but the jousting is over for the Knights of Royal Oak Kimball.

The Dragons turned in almost a carbon copy of something they did twice earlier this season by downing Rochester in the district finals at Troy, 48-43, Saturday night.

Kimball, one of the three co-champions in the Southeastern Michigan Association, winning their first Class A competition, but the Eagles of Madison, who finished fifth in the Oakland A League behind Orion and Romeo, played a 48-45 loss on the Knights to claim the district title.

Orion (16-2) and Madison (8-9) now turn to regional play this week at Birmingham Seaholm.

MADISON TAKES
Madison takes at Birmingham Brother Rice (11-8) tomorrow night with the winner moving into the semifinals Thursday against Orion. In the other bracket Warren Cousine meets Ferndale Wednesday. Finals are Saturday. All games start at 8 p.m.

SAME WAY
Coach George Elias and the Dragons, winning their first Class A district championship, posted 45-41 and 47-44 decisions over Rochester during the regular season and they followed the same trail in this one.

Rochester did have an off night in the shooting department, hitting on only 16 of 61 shots, and therein lies the difference in the contest. Orion made 48 per cent — 19 of 39.

Rochester, bowing out with a 12-6 record, stopped Orion's two big guns — 6-7 Gary Mize and 6-5 Bill Foss — but a couple of the lesser stars on the Orion squad took enough potshots at the Falcons to nail down the victory.

Foss and Mize totaled 18 points between them, but picking up the slack were Tim Daigle — 17 points — and Judd Bankert with seven.

With his team holding a 25-22 halftime lead, Daigle took charge and scored all eight of Orion's points in the third stanza, and then in the fourth, with Rochester coming on strong, Bankert pushed in all seven of his points to lead the attack.

Gary Campbell tossed in 17 points to pace the Falcons, while teammate Mike Phillips checked in with 14.

OFF TARGET
Kimball (14-5) had shooting problems similar to those of Rochester.

The Knights made only 19 of 76 shots while Madison checked in with 21 of 41 for a hot 51 per cent.

Madison led at halftime, 26-21, and 38-35 after three frames.

Leading the balanced Madison attack was John Havreko with 13 points, followed by Rich Wimble (11), Tim Blach (10) and Dennis Jennings (10). Blach came back in the final game of the season after suffering an ankle injury that sidelined him for three games.

Jay Brown tossed in 13 points to lead Kimball. Les Little contributed 10.

Other rated teams which were eliminated prior to regional tournament play, in addition to Pershing, were: Muskegon 70-66; Detroit Murray-Wright, downed by Detroit Northwestern 56-55; Pontiac Northern, which lost to Pontiac Central 68-61, and Muskegon, which was eliminated by Traverse City 79-78.

Charlevoix, rated No. 4 among Class C teams, was knocked out of competition for regional play Saturday night in the last five seconds of a game with unrated Boyne City.

Boyne City won the game, 40-38, on a 20-foot jump shot by Mike Bade. Charlevoix had led 38-33 with four minutes to go after a nip-and-tuck battle, but Boyne City grabbed the last seven points of the game.

EASY VICTORY
In Class B action Saturday night, Menominee won the District 122 championship with a 90-59 victory over Kingsford, and Holland Christian secured the District 79 final with a 58-46 win over Zealand. Kalamazoo Hackett won in District 8 by beating Vicksburg 54-52.

In other Class C action, Detroit All Saints, top-rated in its category, took the District 23 championship by defeating Detroit St. Gabriel, 79-65. Leslie won the championship in District 62 by beating Danville 87-30. Homer beat Quincy, 91-70, for the District 12 championship.

In Class D, Even-Trout Creek won the District 125 championship with a 44-35 win over White Pine. Hermansville beat Bark River 77-38 for the District 117 championship, and Bay City St. Joseph won the District 91 title with a 68-49 victory over Saginaw St. Andrew.

Grand Blanc Wins Loop Swim Meet in Andover Pool

Grand Blanc and Bloomfield Hills Andover dominated the Tri-Country Swimming League's first loop championships Saturday in the Andover pool.

The Grand Blanc squad rolled up 386 points to claim the title, followed by Andover (306), Lincoln Park (189), Flint Carman (120), Bloomfield Hills Lahser (67) and Livonia Clarenceville (45).

Cody Heiderman won the 200-yard (1:54.4) and the 400-yard freestyle (4:22.8) events to spark the Grand Blanc victory. Bill Beiser of Lincoln Park was the only other double winner. He took the 200-yard individual medley (2:18.2) and the 100-yard breaststroke (1:06.4).

Rich Matheny won the diving title and teammate Ted May took the 100-yard butterfly (1:03.6) for Andover. The Barons 400-yard relay team of Dave Barker, Russ Slate, Greg Rosin and Dave Groh won that event in 3:39.2.

olic High School Athletic Association league record with a 1:06.8 time, three-tenths of a second better than her own time earlier this season. Miss Riley also helped the Mercy squad to the meet championship with a first in the 50-yard breaststroke.

Shuns NC State After Rout

NIT Invites Duke Despite Loss

By The Associated Press Duke, stalled for a couple days, finally completed the National Invitation Tournament field, and now that they are in, the Blue Devils hope for a fast getaway.

But the NCAA, already speeding along with one weekend of play completed, still is waiting for its last meet only three days before this weekend's regionals when its tournament tempo really quickens.

Either Iowa or Ohio State will be the last team to qualify for the NCAA field when they meet Tuesday night on a neutral court at Purdue to break a tie for the Big Ten title and decide the automatic bid to the tournament.

Not influenced by Duke's 12-10 loss to stalling North Carolina Friday night in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament, the officials waited until North Carolina bombed State 87-50 Saturday night for the title and then took the Blue Devils over runner-up State.

HIGH SCORING Duke, one of the favorites, helps open the NIT Tuesday night against Oklahoma City, 20-6, a team that average 90 points per contest.

Marshall, 17-7, and St. Peter's, N.J., 21-3, another pair of hot-shot clubs, play the first game of the opening double-header with the first round of the 16-team field to be completed Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night with twin-

Chicago Loyola at Salt Lake City last Saturday night as Elvin Hayes hit 49 points and took in 27 rebounds. Kansas State clinched the Big Eight title at home that night with a 49-47 decision over Oklahoma City.

The Big Ten representative meets East Tennessee, 19-6, which got this far by beating Florida State 79-69 at Kent, Ohio, last Saturday.

Marquette, 22-5, after nudging Bowling Green 71-70 at Kent, takes on Kentucky in the second game at Lexington Friday night.

Houston, top-ranked at 29-0, is favored to handle ninth-ranked Louisville, 20-6, Friday night at Wichita, Kan., and then beat the winner of the meeting between Texas Christian, 14-10, and Kansas State 19-7.

UCLA, No. 2, is the choice at Albuquerque, N.M. The Bruins, 25-1, open against New Mexico State, 22-5, with New Mexico, No. 7 at 23-3, opposing Santa Clara, 22-3, in the other game there Friday night.

Mohawk on Rampage FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UPI) — Bryan McWay slapped in four goals Sunday to fire the Muskegon Mohawks to a 6-4 victory over Fort Wayne, Ind., in an International Hockey League game.

76ers, St. Louis Champs

Pistons' Surge Reaches Five

By The Associated Press A couple of slugs of champagne may have helped the Detroit Pistons a little nearer to the National Basketball Association playoffs.

With Eddie Miles hitting 35 points and Dave Bing 30, the Pistons held out fourth place in the NBA's Eastern Division, the lowest playoff berth, and beat St. Louis 131-121 Sunday.

A day earlier, the Hawks had clinched the Western Division championship and the celebration afterward was marked by free flowing bubble water. St. Louis made it a close game for a half, then a seven-point burst by Detroit gave the Pistons a 16-point lead with four minutes left in the third period.

CLOSED GAP After the Hawks closed the gap to 10-86, the Pistons, led by Bing and Miles, reeled off 14 straight points to jump far ahead once more to grab their fifth win in a row.

Detroit remains a half-game in front of Cincinnati with six games left on its schedule. The Pistons' next encounter is in Detroit Tuesday against the Seattle Super Sonics.

In other games, the Philadelphia 76ers, the defending NBA champions, clinched the crown Sunday afternoon with a 115-108 victory over the New York Knicks, and Cincinnati knocked off second-place Boston, 137-111, eliminating the Celtics.

Baltimore bombed Los Angeles 118-80 and San Francisco turned back Seattle, 118-112.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis tripped Chicago 115-109, Seattle got by San Diego 115-111 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 137-132 in overtime.

In American Basketball Association contests Sunday, Indiana topped New Orleans 113-105, Houston walloped Oakland 122-94, Pittsburgh whipped New Jersey 122-105 and Dallas edged Anaheim 112-110.

ONLY POP

The 76ers apparently didn't expect to clinch Sunday, as the dressing room was bare of champagne, with only soda pop in sight as a happy Hannum went around shaking hands with his players and murmuring "great, just great. We did it again."

Presidential, Town Politics Mix in New Hampshire

WILMOT, N.H. (AP) — A old Town Hall custodian, says muddy country road, bumpy that he's "rightin' up the with frost heaves, leads to the place."

Town Hall, a three-room white weathered clapboard building in is used only about three times a little New Hampshire town, year, and Tuesday is one of Frederick LeJoy, the 73-year-old those occasions.

It's primary day, the culmina- day, a New England tradition, in which the voters will be con- sidering such pressing close-to- home matters as whether to build a new garage for the town road grader.

Wilmot's voters have met to decide the town's business on the second Tuesday in March for the past 160 years.

This year, they will elect nine town officers, appropriate mon- will warm up a luncheon which the town's two one-room schoolhouses, and decide wheth- er to create a town planning board.

Commenting on the planning board, Mrs. Lewis Loomer, wife of the town clerk, said, "Why, right now, someone could build a dump down-street and no one could say anything. We could use some rules about these mat- ters."

$85 A WEEK

Most men in Wilmot's population of 490 work in nearby Warner, Newport and New London as carpenters, custodians and factory workers. Three residents are professors at Colby Junior College in New London.

The average income of its residents is about $85 a week and there are no stores, garages or gas stations within Wilmot's 29 square miles.

The town meeting at Wilmot, 30 miles northwest of Concord, is basically typical of 241 other New Hampshire town meetings Tuesday.

PLYWOOD BOOTHS

In the Town Hall, LeJoy nailed together the six plywood voting booths, which he built 10 years ago. John G. French, his 75-year-old assistant, screwed a 60-watt bulb into each booth so that the voters can see the tally sheets when they draw the green curtain around them to vote in the primary.

Ralph W. Stevens, a 55-year-old retired carpenter, checked and repaired the two rows of bare wooden deacons' benches where the residents will sit when the moderator, Charles Thompson, calls the meeting to order. Local issues are decided by open voting at the meeting.

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Teachers at Alameda elementary school are getting a chance to relax a bit during their lunch spread cinders and gravel on hours instead of having to supervise the lunch periods.

Mothers in the Parent Teach- ers Association are volunteering to supervise the lunch periods as part of a teacher apprecia- tion month, Principal Nathan B. McNeilly said.

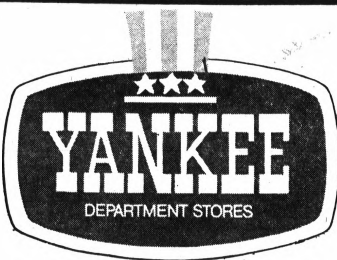

Setting up electric trains be- neath or near a Christmas tree is a fire hazard.

School Shutdown Is Over

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—South the teachers are smiling back. High School reopened today aft- er a two-day shutdown to dis- cuss teachers' demands for better pupil control, and police reported no incidents as classes resumed.

Darrel Weller, assistant prin- cipal, said there was a "subtle feeling" that everyone — stu- dents and teachers — were coming back with an increased awareness of their respective roles and problems.

"I believe both sides are air raid shelters, constructed by more sensitive to each others' law under virtually all new feelings," Weller said. "Kids buildings, in communities of are smiling at the teachers and over 5,000 population."

Two Women Charged With Jailbreak Aid

EAGLE RIVER (AP) — Two women were free on $2,500 bond each today, facing charges of helping a 26-year-old Laurium man escape from the Keweenaw County Jail.

Kathleen Crampton, 24, and Jeanne Kangas, 20, both of Lake Linden, were arrested Saturday before Reuben Rowe, a Calumet justice of the peace, on charges of aiding and abetting the escape of Carl Heikinen Friday night.

The women waived examination, were bound over to circuit court and were released on bond. Sheriff Ted Rogers said Mrs. Crampton visited Heikinen, her brother, Friday night at the jail before he sawed through two cell bars and escaped. Rogers said parts of a saw blade were found in his cell.

ARRESTED IN TAVERN

Heikinen, who was awaiting court examination on charges of felonious assault and parole violation, was arrested in a tavern near Eagle River an hour after he broke out of the jail.

The two women were arrested Saturday.

His strongest swear word was "Golly." He could not develop a tough exterior.

Until he went to work aiding the wounded at Khe Sanh, Pvt. Jonathan M. Spicer of Miami, Fla., was despised by some of the other Leathernecks around him and only tolerated by others. Now he is a hero, a growing legend and badly wounded.

Friends said that Spicer joined the Marines almost on a whim when he went to a recruiting station with a friend. Somewhere in basic training, when the instructors were attempting to turn him into a professional killer, he rebelled.

Is Now a Khe Sanh Hero

He was treated with contempt by his fellow infantrymen," said an officer who was instrumental in getting Spicer transferred to one of Khe Sanh's many medical units. "He was naive, and the toughness Marines show outwardly was foreign to him."

Spicer "was a tiger" when it came to the welfare of the wounded. He grabbed an unwounded man who attempted to get aboard a medical evacuation helicopter ahead of the wounded and roughly pulled him back.

Doctors said that when shell fire pinned down he stretched bearers rushing the wounded men to the helicopters, Spicer repeatedly covered his man with his own body.

A month ago the round-faced Marine ran out of luck.

STARTED BACK

"He helped get one litter on a chopper and started back to the sandbagged area," said Lt. James O. Finnegan of Philadelphia, Pa.

Other stretcher-bearers were having trouble loading their litters and Spicer, despite a call from one doctor to "get the hell in here," turned back to the chopper to help.

He arrived about the same time a North Vietnamese mortar shell burst among the wounded men and litter bearers, wounding about 30 men.

Spicer was hit in the heart, face and legs. He was saved only by a delicate heart operation by Dr. Finnegan and Lt. John Maddilligan of Brooklyn, N.Y.

BRAVERY, GALLANTRY

Finnegan recommended Spicer for the Silver Star for bravery and gallantry. The Khe Sanh base's commander, Col. David E. Lownds, mentioned the Navy Cross.

Men who spent fruitless hours trying to teach Spicer to swear and be tough like a Marine said they felt a little guilty.

"Man, he was really out there when the shells were coming in," said one. "I'm a little sorry about the way we treated him fire pinned down he stretched now."

Mississippi Murder Trial Starts

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UPI)—A young father of three identified by the FBI as state kiegale of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan today becomes the first of 12 alleged Klan members to go on trial in the 1966 fire-bomb slaying of Negro leader Vernon Dahmer.

Mississippi brought state charges of murder and arson against eight white men last November. Five others were charged with arson in the Dahmer case.

One of the defendants pleaded guilty Friday to murder and arson and may be a witness against the others.

State Circuit Judge Stanton Hall called a 100-member prospective jury list for the opening trial today.

The defendant, Cecil Victor Sessum, a 10th-grade graduate from nearby Ellisville, was identified by the FBI as state kiegale of the secretive and violence-prone White Knights.

FBI CHARGE

The order was given, the FBI charges, by Sam Holloway Bowers Jr., the dapper imperial wizard of the White Knights, convicted of federal conspiracy charges last October in the Meridian trial that convicted seven white men in the 1964 slayings of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss.

Dahmer, 58, died of burns while fighting flames set off by Molotov cocktails thrown into his house and adjoining store here early on the morning of Jan. 10, 1966.

His wife, Ellie, 41, and daughter, Betty, 10, were hospitalized for burns.

KEY WITNESS?

Billy Roy Pitts, originally arrested with the others, pleaded guilty to murder and arson Friday and was expected to be a key state witness.

Charged with murder and arson in the slaying are Sessum; Charles Clifford Wilson, a civic leader who won a local Jaycee award for distinguished service; Lester F. Thornton; William T. Smith; Charles R. Noble; James F. Lyons; and Henry DeBoxtel, all of nearby Laurel.

Charged with arson are Bowers, Travis Buckley, Dea-vours Nix and Lawrence Byrd, all of Laurel, and Howard T. Giles of Jackson.

SATURN

QUESTION: What are Saturn's rings composed of and how did they get there?

ANSWER: Billions of tiny particles, probably the size of gravel, make up Saturn's rings, which circle the planets as a flat disk about 10 miles thick. Saturn is an extremely cold planet, with a temperature of perhaps 250 degrees below zero.

Some astronomers believe the particles in the rings are ice, which helps to explain why they reflect so much of the sun's light. Other authorities think rock fragments may be included.

How the rings came about is another mystery. Some astronomers believe they represent the fragments of a moon which once circled Saturn. Because it came too close to the planet's gravitational pull, it broke into many fragments.

Another theory holds that the rings are comprised of matter left over when the planet originally formed. Saturn is of very light material; so light, it would float if there was water to float in—an idea symbolized by the impossible picture at lower right.

Saturn has nine known moons—a tenth has just been sighted by astronomers. One of these, Titan, is the only moon in our solar system known to have an atmosphere.

Cornerstone Theft Fears
Not Without Foundation

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This is not the sort of thing the average citizen loses any sleep over, but the National Geographic Society and I brood about it quite a lot.

I am referring to the cornerstones of the White House, Capitol, Treasury Building and Washington Monument, which seem to have disappeared.

Every now and then the Geographic Society, which loves a good mystery story, rehearses the case of the missing cornerstones. In its most recent treatise, the society said the original cornerstones had been covered up by subsequent additions to the four famous structures.

But that's merely an assumption. Since efforts to locate the cornerstones have failed, nobody can say with absolute certainty that they are still on the premises.

It is my own theory that the cornerstones have been stolen.

I strongly suspect there is a ring of cornerstone thieves operating in this country.

SEEDY CHARACTER

Just the other day as I was crossing an alleyway, a seedy character emerged from the shadows and sidled up to me.

"Passt, buddy," he psatted. "How'd youse like to have an old cornerstone? I can fix you up, cheap."

"I wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot trowel," I said, moving away. "It's probably 'hot.'"

I further suspect that the gang which has been pulling the cornerstone capers may be under the domination of a certain foreign power.

TO DISCREDIT U.S.

It may all be a plot to discredit the United States in the eyes of the small, uncommitted nations. How can we convince them America is the most advanced country in the world if we keep losing our cornerstones.

Well, unlike certain presidential candidates, I'm not the type to bring up a problem without offering a solution. In fact, I know a way to solve two problems at once.

At the moment, the United States has on its hands in Greenland several tons of radioactive snow. The stuff was scooped up after the nuclear bomber accident and is awaiting disposal.

But nobody seems to have a very clear idea of what to do with it. There isn't any great demand for radioactive snow.

The solution, of course, is to deposit it inside cornerstones in place of the papers and mementos of the times which traditionally serve as cornerstone stuffing.

Then, if the thieves strike again, police can track them down with a geiger counter.

OHIO CANAL

THE OHIO CANAL WAS BUILT TO PROVIDE A WATER ROUTE FROM LAKE ERIE, AT CLEVELAND, TO THE OHIO RIVER AT PORTSMOUTH. WHEN COMPLETED IN 1832 THERE WERE 14 LOCKS, CONNECTING 409 MILES OF CANALS, LAKES AND RIVERS.

BARGES WERE PULLED BY HORSES WALKING A TOW PATH ON THE BANKS OF THE CANAL. THESE BARGES CARRIED A WIDE VARIETY OF AGRICULTURAL AND MANUFACTURED PRODUCTS AND PASSENGERS.

REPAIR CREWS WORKED YEAR ROUND PATCHING THE CLAY LINING, MAINTAINING TOW PATHS AND LOCKS, AND REMOVING SUCH OBSTRUCTIONS AS FALLEN TREES OR SAND BARS.

Race Split Expected in Mississippi Vote

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A racial election runoff for Congress White candidate Charles H. Griffin is an odds-on favorite to defeat Negro leader Charles Evers by a wide majority in a special election runoff for Congress Tuesday.

Exec Demoted by Chrysler in TV Dispute

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. says it has relieved one of its executives of his responsibilities after he objected to a scene in which singer Petula Clark, who is white, touches the arm of singer Harry Belafonte, a Negro, in a forthcoming television special.

Chrysler did not say why it took the action against the executive, Doyle Lott, but a company source said Sunday it stemmed from Belafonte's complaint, announced last Wednesday through the National Broadcasting Co.

The company said Lott has not been fired.

Lott, who apologized to Belafonte after the incident, said last Wednesday his objection was based on the staging of a musical number and had no racial connotation.

'MOST OUTRAGEOUS'

Belafonte called it "the most outrageous case of racism I have ever seen in the business."

Lott was advertising manager for Chrysler's Plymouth Division, which is sponsor for the special to be aired by NBC April 2.

Plymouth said that if any incident occurred, it "in no way reflects" the division's attitude or policy on such matters.

Lott said he had viewed the tape of the musical number before Belafonte's announcement of the dispute and had approved it with the arm-touching scene intact.

Griffin, 41, of Utica, N. 1 aide to Williams for 18 years, has largely kept silent, saying he has had the flu, since Evers' 33,706 votes led six white candidates in the first round of the special election Feb. 27, when 114,871 votes were cast. Griffin got 28,927.

Avoiding racial labels, Griffin appealed "to all citizens concerned over having dignified representation in Washington to redouble their efforts to secure overwhelming participation in Tuesday's election."

Meanwhile, Evers, 45, of Fayetteville, attacked Griffin for declining to meet him in debate.

"My opponent symbolizes the status quo. I have campaigned on a platform of constructive change, in our educational system... in the present system of welfare... in the housing and unemployment situations," Evers said Sunday in McComb.

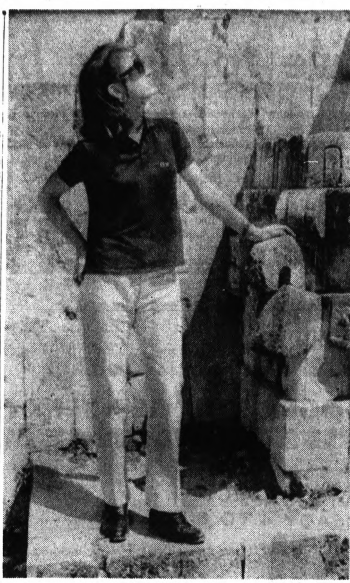

Evers reportedly was angered by a subpoena issued by the defense in a murder trial at Hattiesburg, outside the district, as the voting neared. He was summoned for the trial today of Cecil Victor Sessum, accused of slaying a Negro, Vernon Dahmer, in a fire bomb assault.

A Negro-white split is expected in balloting. Whites have about 125,000 votes, Negroes 70,000. Voting on racial lines was in evidence in the Feb. 27 returns, in precincts and by counties.

MAJORITIES

Evers led in five counties but not majorities only in three low-population Mississippi River counties which are about 75 per cent Negro.

Whoever wins, the election will be significant as the first one in Mississippi this century with a Negro and a white in a runoff for major office.

UXMAL VISITOR—Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wearing slacks and a rugged pair of shoes, pauses on the steps of El Adivino (the Fortune Teller) Pyramid during a two-hour tour of the Mayan ruins of Uxmal near Merida, Mexico, Saturday. She plans visits to several ancient Mexican ruins during a week on the Yucatan Peninsula.

Jackie Kennedy Tours Ancient Mayan Temples

PALENQUE, Mexico (AP) — miles over tropical jungle from Merida in Yucatan to this Chiapas village. The group set out for the ruins after attending Mass in the local church and lunching on enchiladas and beer.

As the party rode up the steep winding road to the temples, Secret Service guard Jack Walsh fell off his horse, prompting a burst of laughter from Mrs. Kennedy, an accomplished rider. Walsh made the rest of the trip on a mule.

Mrs. Kennedy said she believed the Mayan group was more impressive than the famed temples of Cambodia which she visited last year.

About 500 miles westward, President Johnson's elder daughter, Lynda Bird, and her husband, Capt. Charles F. Robb, spent Sunday fishing and swimming off Acapulco. The couple cruised aboard the private yacht of former President Miguel Aleman. They are vacationing before Robb leaves for Vietnam.

Comedian Jonathan Winters' son, Jonathan Jr., 18, was in satisfactory condition today at a Burbank, Calif., hospital with minor injuries suffered in an auto accident which killed the driver of the car.

John F. Hyson, 17, was dead on arrival at a hospital Saturday night. He was thrown from the auto when it rolled over twice.

Police said Hyson had been drag racing on Forest Lawn Drive near Griffith Park when he apparently lost control of the vehicle.

Czech Conductor to Head Toronto Symphony

Karel Ancerl, conductor of the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra, has been appointed music director of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra beginning with the 1969-70 season, it was announced yesterday.

The 60-year-old Ancerl will succeed Seiji Ozawa, who has accepted an appointment to lead the San Francisco Symphony.

Ancerl's appointment is for three years. A graduate of the Prague Conservatory, he has been conductor and music director of the Czech orchestra since 1951.

He has made guest appearances with the Berlin Philharmonic, the Vienna Symphony, the Leningrad Symphony, the London Symphony, the Cleveland Orchestra and the New York Philharmonic.

Prince's Writing Delays Garbage Man

Prince Charles wrote his first piece for the Cambridge University magazine, Varsity, and now the singing garbage man comes around two hours later.

Charles, 19-year-old freshman, wrote last week of "the monotonous jovial dustman's refrain of 'Oh Come All Ye Faithful' and the head-splitting clank of dustbins" below his Trinity College window around 7 a.m.

Frank Clarke, 46, driver of a garbage truck, admits being the singer and noted that his department changed the college collection time to 9 a.m.

Commented Clarke: "I'm sorry if I woke the prince up, but being an ex-army man I think that 7 a.m. is time enough for anybody to be up and about."

As for his singing of the hymn, Clarke said, "It's a good deep tune and I've got a deep voice."

Burial Is Today for Joe Martin

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass. (AP) — National, state and local dignitaries gathered today to pay their final respects to former U.S. Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., who rose from being a newspaper boy outside factories in his native North Attleboro to speaker of the U.S. House.

Martin, a congressman for 42 years and House speaker in 1947-48 and 1953-54 when his fellow Republicans were in the majority, died Wednesday in Florida, where he was spending the winter. He was 83.

The Most Rev. James L. Connolly, bishop of Fall River, will say requiem Mass today in St. Mary's Church, with burial to follow in nearby Mount Hope Cemetery.

Among more than 1,500 persons who came to the funeral home during the weekend were Rep. Margaret Heckler, R-Mass., who defeated Martin in a 1966 primary bid for "one last term."

TRANQUILIZER GUN—Dr. William C. Corner, a psychiatrist at Emory University near Atlanta, displays the dart gun which he says is getting closer to practical use in stopping human violence. The gun shoots a dart containing a tranquilizer drug, propelled by carbon dioxide. Corner demonstrated the weapon over the weekend to civil and military authorities.

Racial Pride Led to Riot—Psychiatrist

DETROIT (AP) — A psychiatrist says the riot that led to 43 deaths in Detroit last July 23-30 was not an expression of apathy, hopelessness and despair, but of racial pride by Negroes.

Dr. Elliott Luby, who is white, also said he is "becoming weary of social scientists" making white people "culpable for all of the difficulties which blacks have experienced in this country."

Luby said he based his statements on the results of a study he conducted on racism. A $135,000 grant from the National Institute of Mental Health financed the project, he said.

His findings appear to conflict with a report released last week by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders. The commission report cited "white racism" and Negro poverty and despair as underlying factors involved in racial rioting.

GROWING IDENTITY

But Luby, associate director of Detroit's Lafayette Clinic and professor of law and psychiatry at Wayne State University, said the Detroit riot was an expression of the Negro's "growing identity, growing pride, growing esteem and an indication that the black man no longer meekly submitting himself in terms of the white man."

He said the study involved a staff of psychologists and psychiatrists in interviews with 400 persons arrested in last summer's riot. He said the research of Detroit's Lafayette Clinic and Negroes in the areas where rioting took place.

"Our studies strongly suggest that this was a well-employed group making an average of some $115 to $120 a week, a group which felt that it had substantially improved its status in the community during the past three to five years, a group that was very optimistic about its future," Luby reported Sunday over radio station WJR's "Sunday Supplement" program in Detroit.

"And certainly this was not a despairing group of men or an impoverished group," he said. "They in a sense were making a good income and they were rather confident about themselves and their future."

Development Bonds Opposed

U.S. Tax-Reform Step Taken

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — After more than a year of study, the Johnson administration has started down the road to tax reform in its plan to eliminate the exemption for state and local industrial development bonds.

Before the total job is completed, the nation's entire tax structure is likely to come under congressional scrutiny, including the controversial 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance.

Although the administration has yet to unveil its long-promised tax reform package, the Treasury Department has decided to move on its own to end what it considers an abuse of tax exempt development bonds issued in the name of states and localities.

In reality, the Treasury said, these are nothing more than a bond used by a corporation to get a cheap interest rate for plant expansion and thus represent a federal subsidy.

INCOME TAX-FREE

Because interest on the bonds is free of federal income taxes, they can be floated at a lower rate than regular corporate bonds.

The Treasury can eliminate the exemption by administrative action because the bonds were originally declared tax exempt by a 1954 Treasury ruling.

Treasury officials said they are doing hard-pressed state and local taxpayers a favor by moving now.

Industrial development bonds issued in the name of a local government—at least $1.4 billion worth—were issued last year—compete with regular municipal bonds and thus drive up their cost, the treasury said.

OTHER TAXES AFFECTED

And when a local or state government must pay a higher interest rate, the result is higher property taxes, sales taxes and state income taxes.

The effort to push through this reform—which many states have requested—could be the easiest faced by the Treasury in the long list of reforms to be unveiled. They reportedly will be made known after Congress begins to act on the 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal.

The administration wants to keep the surcharge and tax reform package separate. Tax reform legislation is expected to take at least a year to move through Congress after it's submitted.

The over-all reform program is expected to cover charitable foundations, estate and gift taxes, multiple exemptions enjoyed by some corporations and perhaps a minimum tax for the very rich who are able to avoid taxes through large charitable deductions and depreciation.

OIL DEPLETION RATE

No change in the 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion rate is expected to be recommended by the White House but some members of Congress have said they will try to lower it.

The industrial development bond was designed originally for use by areas of high unemployment to attract job-producing industries. But in recent years companies have threatened to take their business elsewhere if they didn't get the cost-saving advantage of an industrial development bond signed by a local government, officials said.

More than 40 states now authorize use of tax-free bonds, some of them simply to prevent industry from moving else where.

Antiwar GI Is Arrested

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Burlington, Vt., Army officer arrested for picketing the White House with a sign reading "120,000 casualties — why?" has been turned over to military authorities.

A military spokesman said 2nd Lt. Dennis J. Morrisseau, 25, will be returned to his unit, the 46th Direct Support Group at Ft. Devens, Mass., where the case will be dealt with by his commanding officer.

The officer, wearing his deal uniform, staged the one-man picket Sunday afternoon. White to Vietnam in 1968 and U.S. Park. Police weeks of jungle training in said they asked him to desist, Panama, the spokesman said.

Grape Strike Leader Ends 25-Day Fast

DELANO, Calif. (AP) — Labor organizer Cesar Chavez broke what he termed the "bread of social justice" Sunday with thousands of his union followers shouting "Viva!" as he ended his 25-day fast.

The farm workers, clergymen and union leaders were joined by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., in honor of Chavez' policy of nonviolence in the 2 1/2-year-old Delano grape strike.

Chavez, 41, drawn and weary after his ordeal, appeared at a special Mass of thanksgiving to the shouts of "Viva Chavez, viva Kennedy and viva la union!"

He took his first solid food since Feb. 14 at the conclusion of the Mass. The symbolic portion of bread was tendered by Kennedy who told 7,000 persons gathered at the Delano City Park he was in their midst to honor "one of the most historic figures of our times."

CONGRATULATIONS

But, said Kennedy, "I did not come only to honor Cesar, but to congratulate you who are locked with him in the struggle for justice for the farm workers, and the struggle for justice for the Spanish-speaking Americans."

"You are the first—not the first farm workers to organize—but the first to fight and triumph over all the odds without proper protection of federal laws."

Kennedy, who spoke the first few words of his brief remarks in Spanish, pledged to work for federal legislation for farm workers.

Federal Insiders' Stock Leaks Hard to Prove

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Banking Committee. He wants to investigate. Rumors of another government information leak arose last Jan. 25, the day President Johnson activated some air reservists and air guardsmen in response to North Korea's seizure of the intelligence ship Pueblo.

Suspicion arises: Did a government employee or a congressional insider leak advance word of the contract? Or buy stock himself based on information obtained in his official capacity?

The realm of government insiders and security dealings is murky. Proving a connection is difficult; analyzing market behavior for clues is filled with pitfalls; legal distinctions can be tricky.

LEAK-PROFIT LINK

The Treasury Department reported last Tuesday on one information leak that could drop the bond and the aerospace and have meant windfall profits for bond speculators.

The information deal with a $25-billion sale of U.S. bonds. The Treasury report traced the leak to a middle-level employee who died of a heart attack a week after he was suspended.

"I am not convinced this leak is the only one that has occurred," said Chairman Wright the Associated Press that two market sessions immediate

"we're concerned with that, ly preceding announcement that a $2-billion government contract had been awarded.

During the two sessions, Lockheed, which got the contract to build the C-14 transport plane, rose 3 1/2 points. The losers, Boeing and Douglas, dropped 7 1/2 and 4 1/2 respectively.

Dole said in an interview more than two years later, "I got exactly nothing" except an acknowledgement from the Defense Department that it would look into the situation.

Even at this late date, an SEC official refused to discuss the case except to observe: "If we don't find anything, we close the book. If we do find something, we go to court."

SENATOR NOTIFIED

Reportedly, SEC investigators found that the Defense Department had routinely notified a senator of the contract award and that word had spread from the senator's office. The SEC took no public action.

The Defense Department, asked about the investigation it promised to Rep. Dole, did not reply.

During a mid-1967 congressional hearing on another subject, Heinz A. Abersfeller, commissioner of the Federal Supply Service, digressed to describe government price of company stock while withholding knowledge to a manufacturer of copying equipment.

"I sent a letter to each of the nine government agencies and explained the circumstances, and thought rather clearly, and asked them to cancel that contract," he testified.

BROKER GETS LETTER

"So far as we have been able to tell, this letter of mine got in the hands of a New York broker and the stock the next day dropped six points."

Abersfeller said in a recent interview that his investigators, working with the SEC, were "never able to establish how this got in the broker's hands."

He said the letter, written to high officials, had probably passed through two or three hands at each agency in their journey through channels.

One top government official resigned April 22, 1965, after his role in a different sort of insider deal was revealed. He was Herbert Klotz, an assistant secretary of commerce who by his own accounting made a quick paper profit of $14,500 in the stock of Texas Gulf Sulphur.

In a case still pending in federal appeals court, the SEC charged that 13 executives and employees of Texas Gulf Sulphur

State Traffic Kills 22; Worst '68 Weekend

By The Associated Press
Twenty-two persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in Michigan over the weekend as warm, sunny weather Friday lured motorists onto the roads. Then rain and fog Saturday and yesterday obscured visibility and made roads slippery.

Four passengers on a church-owned bus died in a collision with a car in Detroit Friday night. Another accident took three lives and two persons died in a third mishap. Stat data police headquarters at Lansing said the carnage set a record for the weekend's toll.

The Associated Press count of fatalities began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The victims:
Eileen Kush, 17, of Royal Oak, in a two-car accident in Royal Oak Sunday.
Patricia Anne Marie Nellenbach, 18, of North Branch, a passenger in a car which ran off a road in Flint Sunday.

Robert Larrie, 61, of Detroit, who was struck by a car on Detroit's West Side Saturday night.

Bryce Devere McComb, 30, of 2828 N. Lapeer, Lapeer, who was hit by a car Saturday night on M-24 in Lapeer County's Mayfield Township.

Shirley Ann Tomlinson, 20, of rural Coloma, whose car hit a utility pole and overturned Saturday night on M-52, about a half mile west of M40, in Cass County's Silver Creek Township.

Larry Berg, 19, of Paw Paw, who died yesterday of injuries suffered Friday night in a one-car smashup which claimed the life of another Paw Paw youth, James Martin, 18. The accident occurred on M40 in the village of Decatur.

ACCIDENT KILLS 3

Edward Ellengren, 54, president of the General Appliance Division of Gibson Refrigerator Corp.; George Goulet, 46-

year-old Greenville druggist, and Jerry Hammond, 19, of East Jordan, injured fatally Saturday in a two-car crash on U.S. 131, north of Alba, in Antrim County. Injured in the crash were C. J. Gibson Jr., 47, president of Gibson Refrigerator, and Robert Edsall, 40-year-old Greenville attorney. The four Greenville men were en route to Boyne Mountain for skiing.

Lorna Gayle Kune, 26, of Adrian, whose car ran off M55 at M49 and hit a tree a mile and a half south of Eaton Rapids, Saturday.

Glenn A. Sisco, 12, of Flushing, who was fatally injured Friday night when he was struck by a car while walking along I-75 expressway near Flint in search of his missing dog.

Rusk Cautions Against Delay in Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged Congress today not to delay or abandon foreign aid because of the cost of the war in Vietnam. He argued that the aid program is vital to U.S. prosperity and security.

"We cannot find security apart from the rest of the world," he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"And in the long run, we can be neither prosperous nor safe if most other people live in squalor or if violence consumes the world around us."

Rusk prepared for today's appearance before the committee expecting that he would spend hours responding to questions about the critical state of the war in Vietnam.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, is one of the most outspoken Senate critics of the Vietnam war policy, and many members of the committee also have opposed current policies.

TROOP INCREASE

The committee has been trying for weeks to get Rusk before it for public questioning about the war. And his appearance comes amid reports that President Johnson is considering an increase of up to 200,000 men above the 525,000 already authorized for Vietnam.

But Rusk was appearing officially to urge support of the foreign aid program.

He said the foreign aid program last year had been cut below the "minimum level necessary to sustain" economic development, and he urged the committee to recommend to the Senate all the funds asked by President Johnson.

Johnson has asked for $2.5 billion in economic aid and $420 million for giving military assistance to other countries.

Prison Rioters Win Bid for New Warden

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — A cleanup and rebuilding job is under way at the Oregon State Penitentiary after rioting convicts won a change in the command of the prison by burning most of it down.

The inmates released four guards yesterday after holding them hostage in the prison yard overnight.

They had won almost everything they asked, including a promise that they would not be prosecuted for their orgy of fire, window-breaking and smashing everything in sight.

Prison officials estimated damage at $6 million.

George W. Randall, state director of corrections, agreed to the demands, presented by six convicts representing the prison population of 1,166. The demands were presented shortly after midnight yesterday.

Randall walked into the prison yard, with several reporters, to talk the prisoners into releasing their hostages.

He told the prisoners there would be no reprisals.

Randall agreed to fire Warden C. T. Gladden, 73, who had served 15 years.

Nixon Stages Final N.H. Sprint

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon staged a final sprint seeking to turn out the Republican vote, while Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy stuck to his standard low-key style in windup campaigning for Tuesday's season-opening New Hampshire presidential primary.

Nixon's final campaign stand today featured a series of brief visits to his headquarters in five cities. He set the tone at a Nashua reception last night, urging Republicans to vote tomorrow, "telling them:

"We're going to win. We're going to Gladden, ill for six weeks, was not on duty during the riot.

The riot started, apparently with no advance planning, Saturday afternoon when a small group of convicts seized the control center, the nerve center for all operations inside the walls.

"That gave them control of almost all of the prison. Most of the convicts soon joined in the riot."

By their burning, the prisoners destroyed all of the prison's rehabilitation facilities, more than half of the cells, and the means of preparing food and feeding the prisoners. All of the offices of the treatment officials, such as the chaplains, sociologist and counselors, were destroyed.

The prison hospital was severely damaged. The industrial plants, which provide vocational training, were destroyed. The damages touched off speculation that a special session of the Oregon legislature would be needed to finance reconstruction.

As soon as the hostages were released, prison guards and state police forced all of the convicts into the recreation yard. They stayed there Sunday night, because making the cells livable will take at least until late today.

win in March and we're going to win in November. It's going to be a new day for America."

McCarthy, the Minnesota senator challenging President Johnson's re-nomination, said if he can get 25 per cent of the vote tomorrow it will be a signal of significant criticism for administration policy on Vietnam and other issues.

Democratic Gov. John W. King, chief spokesman for the write-in campaign conducted for Johnson, said the President would win tomorrow by a three to one margin.

13 Area Villages Voting Today

Voters in 13 area communities are going to the polls today to elect slates of new village officers.

Polls opened at 7 a.m. and will close at 8 p.m.

Those voting today include residents in Almont, Lake Orion, Oxford, Dryden, Clarkston, Orionville, Metamora, Romeo, Holly, Leonard, Franklin, Milford and Novi.

In Milford, voters will ballot on an advisory question on whether the village should construct a plant to remove the iron from the local water system.

Village officials have estimated the cost of the proposed plant at $7.10 per quarter. This cost would be added to water bills.

In five of the 13 villages voting today, candidates are unopposed for new terms. These are Dryden, Orionville, Metamora, Romeo and Holly. Franklin and Novi have the most candidates on their ballots. In the former community, fourteen residents are running for five available posts, while in Novi 13 candidates seek three council posts.

N-Spread Pact Ready

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union today announced they had completed their final version of a draft treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons to other countries.

Rocky Urged to Enter Race

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 20 top Republicans, summoned to a strategy meeting with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller at his Fifth Avenue apartment, have urged him strongly to become "an announced and active candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination.

A spokesman for the group that included seven governors, three U.S. senators, five congressmen and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, said Rockefeller would decide about plunging into the race after consulting with other party leaders in the next few days.

Rockefeller, who has maintained he would not be a candidate unless there was a draft, had no comment following yesterday's two-hour, closed-door strategy session.

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, one of those at the meeting, said he urged the New York governor to challenge former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the May 28 Oregon primary. Rockefeller has until March 22 to declare himself out of that election.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania read a brief statement to newsmen that said there was "very strong sentiment" that Rockefeller get into the race as "an announced and active candidate." Asked if all those present had endorsed Rockefeller's candidacy, Scott said the statement spoke for itself.

OTHER CONSULTATIONS

A written statement was not given out. Scott read from notes, which he retained. The statement said Rockefeller "will consult other party leaders in the next few days and his decision will ultimately be made by himself."

Lindsay said he believed everyone at the meeting subscribed to the statement and that he himself approved "100 per cent."

before voting in the New Hampshire primary.

Rockefeller sides said the meeting was called to discuss the state of the GOP since Gov. George Romney of Michigan who was backed by Rockefeller, withdrew from the race, leaving Nixon the sole major contender in New Hampshire.

DECLINED TO ATTEND

Romney was invited but declined to attend, saying he does not engage in politics on Sunday.

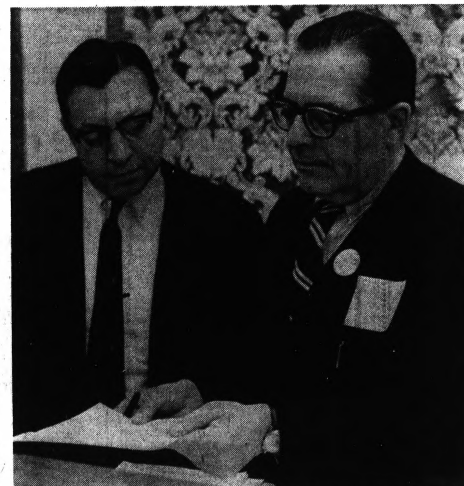

Nixon, who lives in the same building as Rockefeller, was not invited to the meeting. Nixon's apartment has a different entrance from Rockefeller's and the former vice president left the building about an hour after the meeting started for some final campaigning in New Hampshire.

Spring Road Rules

The Oakland County Road Commission announced today that it will begin enforcing its springtime weight restrictions at 6 a.m. Wednesday.

Maps showing all county roads where weights have been reduced, as well as all-weather routes, can be obtained by truckers by contacting the Weightmaster Division at the Road Commission office, 2420 Pontiac Lake.

Conservatives Raising Voices

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Michigan's conservative Republicans, who have watched their influence shrink with the rise of moderate Gov. George Romney, have served notice on the GOP that they want a greater voice in its affairs.

The more moderate Republicans, who firmly control the party's state machinery, say they doubt the conservatives will succeed.

About 200 conservatives met in Grand Rapids over the weekend to form the backbone of a state organization they dubbed United Republicans of Michigan — URM — and to put themselves on record on several state and national issues.

"Mainstream Republicanism," was how Richard Durant, 14th Congressional District chairman and head of the URM, described the new conservative group. "A splinter group . . . the far edge of the party," retorted John B. Martin, Michigan's Republican national committeeman.

The 200 delegates Saturday adopted a resolution calling for a declaration of war against North Vietnam and an "emphatic and prompt victory policy" in the Southeast Asian struggle.

They also called for a great reduction in foreign aid and an ultimatum to North Korea for return of the intelligence ship USS Pueblo, which was seized by the North Koreans.

The conservatives also voted opposition to open housing legislation pending in the Michigan House and Senate.

Winds, Clouds Cool the Area

Following a brief peek at spring, winter charged back into the Pontiac area today on the heels of an 8-to-18-mile-per-hour north-northeast wind, bringing with it clouds and lower temperatures.

Tonight's low will fall in the 15-to-23-degree range.

The weatherman predicts more of the same for tomorrow as high temperatures are to remain in the 30s. Cloudy skies are due to add to the dry frost-prognosis.

Wednesday's forecast indicates partly cloudy skies with temperatures on the cool side.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 5, tonight and tomorrow 10.

Low thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 28. By 1 p.m. scattered sunshine coaxed the mercury to 34.

S. Vietnam Fires 7 Province Chiefs

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government today fired seven of its 44 province chiefs, including its man in Hue. It was the biggest housecleaning so far as a result of the Communist lunar new year offensive. Earlier the government replaced two of its four politically important corps commanders.

Li Col. Phan Van Khoa was replaced as mayor of Hue and chief of Thua Thien Province by Li Col. Le Van Than, who had been assigned to the joint general staff headquarters in Saigon. Khoa began to get the shaky government machinery moving after the capture of Hue before new chiefs also were named for the provinces of Darlac, Binh Thuan, Vinh Long, An Giang, Ba Xuyen and Tuyen Duc.

A new chief also was named for Quang Duc Province, whose head man was killed in a helicopter crash recently.

Informal sources said more province chiefs would be replaced as a result of dissatisfaction among government U.S. officials with their reaction to the Communist offensive.

The government recently began training 70 officers to become province and district chiefs. All province chiefs are military men. Sources close to President Nguyen Van Thieu reported recently that he was going to remove the province chiefs from the direct control of the corps commanders, a move long urged by U.S. advisers.

CIVILIANS KILLED
The government military command reported that the Viet Cong killed 23 South Vietnamese civilians Sunday in four attacks and wounded 33 others.

A bus traveling from Hue to Quang Tri struck a Viet Cong mine. Eight persons were killed and three wounded.

Communist mortars shelled the neighboring villages of Phu Vinh and Trung Dong, some 200 miles northeast of Saigon killing 10 persons, one of them an infant, and wounding 10 others.

In Northern Quang Tri province, the Communists shelled Dong Ha with some 200 rounds, killing one civilian and wounding three.

SOLDIER KILLED
One South Vietnamese soldier was killed and another wounded in the attack.

Just northeast of Saigon, Viet Cong bombed a refugee village with 10 rounds, killing four persons and wounding eight civilians and four government soldiers.

In the Mekong Delta city of Can Tho, a 36-round attack of 70mm recoilless rifle fire on a school resulted in nine civilians being wounded and one militia man killed.

The curfew in effect in Saigon since the Viet Cong's lunar new year offensive began Jan. 31 was eased slightly today. The new curfew hours are 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. they had been 7 p.m. to 7 a.m.

11-Day Teacher Strike Settled in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitts of the Pittsburgh Teachers Education high schools resume action, said the settlement reached today.

There is no indication that teachers on the merits of a compromise that opened classroom doors closed for 11 days.

One group of teachers, who claimed the settlement was a victory for city educators, another said it was "meaningless and nothing of substance."

"I think the teachers have won a victory," said Albert Fondy, president of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers, after some 400 members of his group approved Sunday a resolution hammered out in nearly nine hours of marathon bargaining.

"They have won a right to an election," he said.

MEANS NOTHING
But Al Lamis, vice president of the teachers union, said that the settlement was a victory for city educators, another said it was "meaningless and nothing of substance."

The settlement hinged on a commitment by state legislators to press for approval of law that would allow the Board of Education to recognize a union if the teachers desired one.

The board steadfastly claimed that Pennsylvania law did not allow it to bargain with a single representative of the teachers, nor sanction an election to choose such a representative.

The civil rights bill to the House, the leaders, apparently assured which passed it last August as they face no last-ditch Southern filibuster, are pushing for with protection of minority groups' constitutional rights.

The Senate has added amendments that would eventually bar discrimination in 80 per cent of the nation's housing and extend Bill of Rights protection to American Indians.

It also wrote in an anti-rail provision similar to a separate bill passed by the House last year.

House leaders said they hoped to bring the Senate version of the bill to the floor rather than supplemental appropriation that send it to a House-Senate conference committee where it was scheduled last year could become embroiled in a Mansfield said he expected consideration of ethics recommendations to begin Tuesday.

BACK TO HOUSE
The House could vote only to accept or reject the entire package if it were brought directly to the floor and leaders reportedly hope support for other provisions will outweigh opposition to the open-housing feature.

The House passed a more limited housing measure in 1966 but many of its supporters were defeated in the election that year.

The way for Senate enactment of the measure was cleared last Monday after seven weeks of debate and maneuvering when a 65-32 vote succeeded in shutting off debate on the fourth try.

The 19 opponents Friday included 15 Southern Democrats, two Southern Republicans and Sens. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and John J. Williams, R-Del.

PROVISIONS
The bill's major provisions would:

• Gradually prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. By Jan. 1, 1970, it would affect all multi-unit dwellings except owner-occupied buildings with four or fewer units and all single-family houses sold through brokers.

• Establish federal criminal penalties for interfering by force or threats with the right to vote, serve on juries, use public accommodations, attend public schools or engage in other specifically protected activities.

• Make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot or to obstruct firemen or policemen engaged in suppressing a riot or to make, transport or interstate commerce or teach how to make and use firearms, explosives and incendiary devices in riots.

• Extend to American Indians the protections of the Bill of Rights. Passed unanimously by the Senate last year, this portion has been stalled in the House Judiciary Committee.

Commission to Consider Rubbish Transfer Plan

BIRMINGHAM — The City Manor, have complained that Commission will again take up "odor, dust, rodents and traffic" the question of a rubbish "city" would depreciate property transfer station at tonight's values and create a nuisance.

A public hearing before the commission on the question took place Jan. 22, but a decision on sale of property to the authority was postponed to allow further study of the objections raised.

Allan Kronbach, authority general manager, stated at that time that the Coolidge site was the only one deemed desirable for the authority's purpose.

In a letter to the commission, Kronbach further detailed provisions which would be made at the transfer station for dealing with nuisance problems.

MANAGER FAVORS
City Manager Robert S. Kenning has recommended that the sale be approved. Kenning said the authority "has incorporated the most modern techniques" for eliminating nuisances, and pointed out that reduction in haul distance for city trucks would save the city $3,600 a year.

Aslo on tonight's agenda are two proposed amendments to the city building code.

The proposals deal with fire alarm systems in multi-story residential buildings and electrical wiring.

Rhodesians Hang 2 More but Spare 9
The execution last week of three blacks convicted of murder set off a worldwide storm of protests. The government's action today indicated it might be setting a pattern of death for persons convicted of murder and clemency for persons convicted of nonfatal terrorist crimes for which the death sentence is mandatory.

Those hanged today were Francis Chirena and Taka Jeremiah, who were sentenced to death three years ago for slaying a tribal subject. They were accused of serving as executioners for an African nationalist party shooting and killing victims as he slept with his wife.

UAW, AMC Meet; Strike Notice Near?
DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp., which still had not agreed on a national contract with the United Auto Workers Union, meets today with AMC again today amid speculation it will get a strike notice.

It will be the first meeting of the two sides since Feb. 28, which the UAW had said as the target date for a national contract with AMC. The "target date" did not carry a strike threat.

The two sides have been reported apart on many issues. The biggest argument apparently involves the duration of the proposed contract, leaving most major issues unsettled.

It Seems to Me . . .

Will Rocky Outsmart Self as He 'Plays Hard to Get'?

Mr. NELSON ROCKEFELLER may eucure himself into a peculiar political position. Primarily, he's "available" for the GOP nomination if the party giants want to tease him to run. I don't believe there has been an honestly "drafted" candidate out of the last 10,000 officeholders. If "Rocky" thinks he's that desirable he's taking himself for a silly ride.

If he wants to run, O.K.
Get out and run.

If he sits on his hands and waits for those soulful characters to grovel in the dirt and beg, Richard Nixon may collar all the marbles. Also, the New York News says there are scads of influential GOPers waiting for him to declare himself so they can hurl the dirt "for his sit-out during the 1964 campaign."

AND—his capitulation before the sanitation union when the problem was really none of his business stirred up another set of political savants. Mr. ROCKEFELLER is a capable man and he might make a jimdandy candidate but he better quit shadow boxing and speak his piece.

Surprise Statement . . .

The surprise of the current primary campaign came from the candidate who said:

"The City of Pontiac is a dying community, in need of salvation. To have salvation it is necessary for a man to be born again, and so it is with our City."

There's the biggest laugh of 1968—and 1967 and 1966.

Let's look at the record. Pontiac Motor Division has never been as powerful, successful, outstanding and as much in command of its field as it is right now. This has been true for several years.

Pontiac's on top of the heap. It leads in gains.

This division gallops and plunges ahead as it never has before, setting record after record after record. Employment is at a peak. Payrolls have never been as tremendous, as gigantic and as farreaching.

And Fisher? Well, Fisher has to keep pace with Pontiac and one T. Weithorn has the bit in his teeth and is literally storming around the track in the wake of that high-powered Pontiac. And he's highly successful.

Payrolls? Wonderful!
Hourly rates?
An all-time high!

The GMC Truck and Coach Division is another stalwart that passes out maximum wages to happy thousands.

Retail totals are at an all-time high. Most retail stores report 1967 to be the banner year of all time. Sales exceed expectations and the swing is still magnificently upward. Always there are some who trail and lose, even when the pack as a whole

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Sign on a Connecticut highway: "He who has one for the road, gets a trooper for a chaser." . . . Georgia plans a park solely for the handicapped. The $1.3 million affair would have braille direction signs, wheelchair trails, and special equipment to make fishing possible for those who lack full faculties. The Department of the Interior in Washington is paying half. Could Oakland County get one of these grants? . . . Authorities are concluding PEGGY FLEMING is the greatest feminine skater of all time—supplanting SONJA HEINIE.

Scouts advise me Jane Campbell deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies. . . . Overheard: "Now that I go to work later and leave quite a lot earlier, I find I make a lot fewer mistakes." . . . "Darling of the Day" may set the all-time Broadway record for a financial fiasco. It closed after 32 performances and the red figure is rumored to nudge past $700,000. Vincent Price and Edna Forbes were starred. . . . The jet age has been defined as "breakfast in London, lunch in New York, dinner in San Francisco and baggage in Buenos Aires."

Grit says tolerance is the ability to keep your shirt on when you're hot under the collar. . . . We think of apartment houses as strictly modern American. Studies disclose more than 2,000 years ago Rome was actually jammed with them. Only aristocrats and government poobahs had private homes and some apartments were five and six stories high. . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—The Pontiac area's strong and powerful over-all position; the J's—Thursday night's DEBBIE REYNOLDS show—the absolute bottom for 1968 to date.

There's Such A Thing As Being Too Casual

Nixon Is in a State of Readiness

In a most perceptive book about Richard Nixon's life and character, Earl Mazo wrote in 1959: "He has a solid theory about the role of fate and circumstance in politics."

When Mazo began his book, "Richard Nixon: A Personal and Political Portrait," he was possessed of a strong prejudice against the man. No doubt this was absorbed from the anti-Nixon climate at the time. The New York Herald Tribune where the author was employed and from the Washington press corps where he worked.

But as Mazo studied his subject during the two years while he was preparing the book and came to know Nixon firsthand, his prejudice was supplanted by sincere admiration.

To prove the point quoted above, he cited what Nixon said of his success up to that time: "It happened that I was in the right place at the right time. This can change. The only thing that I will do so far as the future is concerned is to continue to do the most effective job I can for the country and, of course, for the party. And then what should happen will happen."

When I read that in the Mazo book, I had enjoyed Nixon's friendship since the Alger Hiss case in 1948. It seemed to be the key to the great misunderstanding and misrepresentation of the character of the man. And I wrote a piece at the time saying that there was a strong element of what I called "fatalism" in Nixon, quoting Hamlet's words: "If it be not now, yet it will come; the readiness is all."

WORD MISUSED I've realized since then that my word "fatalism" was misused. For it implies passive acceptance.

What I meant was that time and chance play a major role in political life, but a recognition of that cannot preclude the labors of preparation.

A friend of Nixon over the years has put his finger on an old political truth. He said recently that Republicans this year should nominate "the man who matches the mood" of most Americans.

I believe that Nixon has a sense that not only his ex-perience but his serious nature matches this public mood.

WELL PREPARED

He has labored long and well in preparation for every task, personal and political, he has faced in the past. But now his homework has been done with much more meticulous care by travels over the world, by his reflective study of the vital issue, by the perfection of his organization and by his most energetic participation in these primary campaigns.

MOLEY

His "readiness" for this test is all that human effort can make it.

By all reports, the voters who see and hear him are unbelievably responsive. It is more and more evident that these people are sincerely seeking leadership and have found someone who suits the temper of their critical present and future.

Bob Considine Says:

New Book on Sukarno Is Another 'King and I'

NEW YORK — People . . .

Cindy Adams, the world's only good-looking historian, is fresh out with her second book about Dr. Sukarno, the political derelict who was Indonesia's curious combination of George Washington and Tommy Manville.

"My Friend the Dictator," published by Bobbs Merrill, moves the glamorous historian to write.

"Dear Bob: I guess you'd say this volume completes the set of bookends. The first book was Sukarno's story. This one's mine. My experiences, and boy! If some of them ain't worth six bucks!!!"

"If you want to buzz over the first three quarters of the book, where the old boy chased me around the palace, read just the last quarter. I was the only person close to him while he fell politically."

"Many times I've sat and held my husband's head when he lost an expected hope and I've held my dad's hand when I've lost a job or a raise, and things have gone bad — but this is the first time I've ever sat in a living room and watched a man lose an empire!"

"I watched him as his mind deteriorated. I sat with him when he was so spent mentally and emotionally that only thing he could do was play an elementary-school game called Movie Stars . . . 'M. M.' Marilyn Monroe, and that sort of thing."

"You might find these chapters a living footnote to history."

They are, indeed. The book

would make another "King and I."

Gov. Richard Hughes, the Jersey Democrat, steaming a bit after hearing several fellow governors (all Republicans) praising Dick Nixon at great length when they should have been talking about proper uses of the Delaware watershed, interrupted a meeting in New York the other day.

"Fine, fine," he said. "Grand fellow, Nixon. Two days ago he settled the race problem. Yesterday he settled the war. What's he going to do for an encore tomorrow: Endorse motherhood?"

End of meeting.

'Citizens Should Protest Government Spending'

The Press was right in its editorial that defeat of school millage increases were protest votes. Our state and local governments have followed the master pattern of spending set by Washington. Most of us send far more money to Washington than we spend for local taxes. Since 1960 the population has increased ten per cent. Federal civilian employees have increased 25 per cent. Federal civilian payroll has increased 75 per cent and Federal spending has increased 80 per cent.

Ninety per cent of the total income taxes are paid by those earning $6,000 per year or less. Government spokesmen have stated that anyone earning less than $7,500 per year is disadvantaged. It would take 1,334 of these disadvantaged people donating their total yearly earnings to pay the $8 million given to five farms in 1966 for not producing. Everyone else is protesting, why not the overburdened taxpayer?

Suggests Ways for Schools to Save Money

If the school boards would build plain school buildings, no swimming pools, and let the children go to school in their own districts, they wouldn't have to have more school taxes. Also, those walks over the streets are a waste of money. I have seen a lot of children go past the walks and cross a busy street where there's no light. It would be cheaper to hire a crossing guard and give someone a job.

Questions Use of West Bloomfield Police

Considering West Bloomfield Township spends close to $20,000 a year to equip and pay the salaries of two highly-trained police officers, has anyone thought about the use of these two officers and two township patrol cars at the West Bloomfield High School every morning to direct, supposedly reliable high school-age young men and women across the street. While the police are there, you have no coverage elsewhere in the Township.

I will vote yes on March 25, for the renewal and increase in millage. However, will there be three cars and three men at the crossing? I feel a crossing guard should be supplied and paid for by the school system.

'All Students Stand for National Anthem'

It may be true that some people do not stand up for the National Anthem but at our school every student stands up. Whether he sings or not, each student at least has his hand over his heart. The only people you see that aren't standing are the adults. The adults aren't very patriotic.

Another Comment on Nonpublic School Aid

After reading recent letters I can only conclude an extreme indifference to the financial plight of the nonpublic school system. Most who are against the bill don't realize how much nonpublic schools have saved them. Everyone realizes the public school system is in trouble financially and this will get worse if nonpublic schools close. I would be happy to have my taxes doubled, tripled, or more, if only to hear these people scream when they get their future taxes.

Question and Answer

In the face of possible snags involving City income tax, the City Manager and Attorney prepared several alternative plans for handling the money. I'd like to know if the alternative chosen (to spend the money now) is the one which the Manager and Attorney feel is best. If they didn't make a specific recommendation, why not?

CITIZEN

REPLY

The City Manager says he did make a specific recommendation, and it was the one which the City Commission chose.

Abridgment . . .

Editor & Publisher

Congress shall make no law — abridging the freedom of speech or of the press — but the American Bar Association can. Approval by the ABA House of Delegates of the Reardon Committee recommendations for restrictions on pretrial coverage of crime news is in violation of the spirit of the First Amendment if not in outright contravention of it.

It is one thing for the Bar Association to attempt to put its own house in order by adopting rules which would prevent lawyers from pleading their cases outside of the courtroom and in the public prints. It is something else again for the ABA to impose prior restraints on publication of the news by recommending that the police as well as lawyers should withhold certain information from the press and public and, furthermore, to give the courts authority to use contempt powers to punish police and newsmen who do disobey the rule by divulging and printing proscribed information.

If these recommendations are approved and adopted by state bar groups and trial judges across the country it will be the first time in history that any non-legislative organization has been able to dictate terms governing news coverage, treatment and publication.

Judge Reardon says the report just approved by the House of Delegates does not "restrict the media from disseminating publicly any information developed through their own initiative or resources about crimes committed or about the administration of justice." But it does define information which it says should not be released and should not be printed under pain of contempt even though caution is advised. Therein lies the abridgment of the First Amendment.

Real Issue . . .

London Economist

Mr. Johnson has made it clear where he stands. He is a global American. This is the real issue of the election, and on this issue Mr. Johnson represents what is radical and adventurous in the American spirit. By November he either will have reassembled the American majority around his point of view or suffered the unprecedented humiliation of being expelled from office — not because the American economy has collapsed, which is what happened to Herbert Hoover, but because the Americans have rejected his idea of America's place in the world.

None of the rivals Mr. Johnson has to worry about, with the single exception of Mr. Rockefeller, is the President's equal in energy, or decisiveness, or in his vision of what he wants to do with the presidency. By comparison Mr. Nixon is a routine old pro, Mr. Reagan an amateur playing with politics and Senator McCarthy, for the Democratic opposition, a decent but ineffectual mini-Stevenage. Only Mr. Rockefeller comes anywhere near matching Mr. Johnson in qualities of leadership.

Band Leader Welk Marks His 65th Year

Such prowess, he believes,
stems from his boyhood. "I did on Saturday nights. He claims

Aging Problem for Astronauts

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The
physician to America's astronauts says he expects them to the show."

present him with two tough human problems in the next few years—advancing age and frustration of their ambitions.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, medical director at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration center in Houston, Tex.,
said Friday this is bound to happen.

In an interview while here to receive the Richard Hopper Day
Medal of the Academy of Natural Sciences for "exploration and discovery in the natural sciences," Dr. Berry said the aging was being watched closely.

Commercial pilots may fly until they are 60, but no such limit
has been set for the astronauts.
Dr. Berry pointed out that astronaut Walter M. Schirra will be 45 next Tuesday. Dr. Karl Henize, 42, a scientist-astronaut,
is just taking jet flight training;
and will be 45 by the time he is ready for space.

He reported happily that the ratings have been holding firm,
and he noted, "Our audience seems to be getting younger. I notice that especially when we play at state fairs. I think it's because we have been playing physician to America's astronauts says he expects them to the show."

The Welk organization now
travels only six weeks a year,
including three weeks at Lake
Tahoe, which constitutes a vacation for the members. Lawrence, who had seen plenty of traveling in his 44 years as a band leader, is happy to spend more time at home. He and
Mrs. Welk often steal away for a few days at their trailer home near Escondido, 100 miles south, where he also owns a new real-estate sort.

The slower pace seems to have done wonders for his health. "I haven't felt so good in a long time," he remarked. "I'm really surprised, because back
there in '52, '53 and '57, I spent a lot of time in St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica. I had a great deal of trouble with a spastic colon, with my gallbladder and gallstones, and I wouldn't be around too much longer."

2 Senators Voice Disapproval of Health Program Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Lister Hill have expressed disappointment at President Johnson's decision to cut funds for national health programs below levels authorized by Congress.

Senate committee studies show the President requested in his budget only 25 per cent of the amounts authorized for a series of health programs enacted in recent years.

"They have just cut them to pieces," said Hill, the Alabama Democrat who heads the Senate Labor Committee.

He noted that Johnson in some cases has asked Congress to appropriate less than 10 per cent of what the basic legislation permitted him to request.

MENTAL HEALTH

Kennedy, D-Mass., termed as "a great personal disappointment to me" Johnson's request for $15 million for neighborhood mental health centers. Congress authorized $60 million for such units.

Here are the amounts asked by President Johnson—compared with amounts authorized—for other programs:

- Health research facilities,

$93 million authorized, $8.4 million requested.

- Health personnel training, $13.5 million authorized, $1.8 million asked.
- Medical library assistance, $10 million authorized, $1.5 million requested.
- Health education assistance, $160 million authorized, $75 million asked.

Abnormal Little Sister Taught Joy of Love

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 11th in a series of 40 again went through the cold cycles to be published by the Pontiac Press during Lent. Each story is one of faith in action, told by a sincere person. Some contributors are famous, others relatively unknown.)

By BOBBIE WAGNER
Student, Chilton, Wisconsin

Niki Wagner was born in July, which gave the rest of our family plenty of time to spoil her before we started school in the fall.

She was the seventh girl in 10 children, and her name had been determined long before her birth. Dad, of course, had wanted all boys, so that explains why all of the family have boys' nicknames.

It's a family tradition to spoil the youngest one, and Niki was no exception. She was small and very dark. Her hair was long, and her face was a small oval of red cheeks and almond eyes.

Winter came swiftly but left slowly. Niki caught an unusual share of colds and was constantly ill.

SHE FAILS TO GAIN

Niki, who never had been heavy or large, paid in weight. At six months, she had the weight of a three- or four-month-old baby. So a trip to a specialist was planned for early spring.

The minute Mom and Dad walked in the door that night all nine of us kids knew something was amiss. Later, at the supper table, Dad broke the news to us. Niki was mongoloid. Incurable.

Mom and Dad were determined to keep Niki at home. They dug in to keep our home happy and normal, and we children were to resume a normal acceptance of our little sister.

The younger kids did not know what the fuss was about, but it hit us older ones where it hurt — our pride. Why hadn't God sent us a normal sister?

HUMILIATION

"How is Niki?" friends would ask. I would give a brief answer. I could not tell them the truth. I was humiliated at the thought of their knowing that I had a hopelessly retarded sister. "God," I pleaded, "please make her well, please."

The second winter came. Niki was halfway I could not even writing out a her death hit me. Like a torrent, the tears flowed down my cheeks. I had never cried like that before in my life, and I did not expect ever to do it again.

Breathing became difficult for her. In time, in order for her to breathe, she had to be carried in someone's arms. Mom, Dad and Patty, my older sister, took turns spelling each other.

One night when they were all so tired they could not carry themselves, much less Niki, Mom called me to make a few rounds.

STRUGGLE FOR AIR
And so it was that I scooped up this little girl into my arms and, as I walked around the living room, I could feel her struggle for air.

This little bundle was the sister of whom I had been ashamed, the one the doctors thought would not pull through the first year.

This was Niki, hopelessly, incurably helpless, who thrived on love and attention and whose own bright-spirited, outgoing love was constant.

How could I be ashamed of a child whose radiance was so bright that she could make me laugh even though I had a great deal of homework to do, who could make a grouchy, grumpy Dad smile?

SHE WANTS NIKI
Always, Niki offered me love. I had returned humiliation. Now I wanted Niki as she was. "Breathe, Niki. Live, Niki, live!"

The next morning dawned clear and cold, but Niki (and I!) had gotten over the hump. She seemed to slowly regain her strength, even though she still could not walk.

The summer passed and Niki seemed healthier than ever. She seemed to be aware of things, especially objects of nature, which fascinated her. Her vocabulary enlarged to over half a dozen words. And they said she would never talk! Niki showed them!

She also seemed more determined than ever to get around by herself. She was very independent, even though coddled by members of the family.

And Dad, who is not the emotional type, would find immense joy in a smile from Niki. Her pudgy little arms would encircle his neck before he knew it, and a cold, wet kiss plopped on his cheek was a sure-fire way to get a laugh and a toss into the air.

On a night that I shall never forget, Patty and I went to a basketball game. We won, and when my oldest brother came to pick us up, he seemed very withdrawn. We were halfway to her death hit me. Like a torrent, the tears flowed down my cheeks. I had never cried like that before in my life, and I did not expect ever to do it again.

Patty broke into hysterical sobs. "No! No! No!" she cried, then the truth, the full, honest truth, the deep-down, hurting truth of

We had a small, private funeral, the tears flowed down my cheeks. I had never cried like that before in my life, and I did not expect ever to do it again.

Annual Luncheon for Alumnae Unit

A luncheon is slated Tuesday at 12:15 p.m. for the annual meeting of the Bloomfield Hills Alumnae club of Pi Beta Phi.

The affair, which will be followed with the election of officers, will be held at the Franklin home of Mrs. George W. Bowman Jr.

She will be assisted by Mrs. A. B. Chisholm, Mrs. Noel Haberkost and Mrs. Ronald Featherstone.

Saturday evening in First Methodist Church of Pontiac.

To complement the Chantilly lace and taffeta ensemble, the bride wore a shoulder length bouffant veil capped with a floral headpiece of pearls and matching lace.

She carried white roses, feathered carnations and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Jerry Glascock was matron of honor for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Knaus of North Edith Street with Judy Karns as bridesmaid.

The son of the senior Kenneth E. Karns of East Walton Boulevard was attended by Robert Walton with Lawrence Crawley, Vernon Crowe, Kenneth Kimmell and Gary Knaus as ushers.

Prior to their departure for a honeymoon in the New England states, the bridal couple received guests at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

David Drakes Speak Vows

First Baptist Church in Birmingham was the setting Saturday evening for vows exchanged by Peggy Anne Manegold and David Michael Drake.

Honor attendants were the bride's sister, Roberta, and Terry Finan of Chicago.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jack Salmon of Niles, Mrs. Fawcay Malouf of Lawton, Okla., and Mrs. Terry Finan with Paul Marcenik, James Ward and Gary Carpenter as ushers.

RECEPTION

Following the nuptials, the daughter of the Arthur F. Manegolds of Birmingham and the son of the Charles Drakes of Alden Drive, West Bloomfield Township, were honored with a reception at the Birmingham Athletic Club.

The couple then departed for a honeymoon in Las Vegas, Nev. They will make their home in St. Louis, Mo.

Sorority Unit Slates Card Party

Plans were announced about a card party April 16 at the recent meeting of Gamma Theta chapter of Sigma Beta sorority.

The party, which is slated for members and guests, will be held at 8 p.m. at the Meigs Street home of Mrs. Gary Burnett.

During the meeting, hosted by Mrs. Michael Marcum of Coleport Street, members also discussed a mother-children

Polly's Pointers

Enjoy Children Now

DEAR POLLY—The sweetest sound in the world is that of children laughing. The biggest gift in the world to give these children is TIME. We busy people work to supply support but spare time is something we too seldom find.

Every day take time out to play and get to know your children. The years fade by so quickly and the time deliberately put aside for your family will be the only important thing to remember later on.

—ELMER AND JUDY DEAR READERS—If I was ever tempted to say "Amen to a letter, this was it"—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY—I do not think it is proper for Mrs. D. H. to give a house-warming for a relative. I was given one (but not by a relative) and the guests each brought a covered dish and each gave money rather than a gift.

The money was cleverly taped together to form a long roll and then placed inside a food can which had been cut open in the middle and then taped back together again. The label was carefully removed and then replaced, so the can looked unopened. This was presented with a can-opener.

—MRS. R. L. A.

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. D. D. V. wrote to say how much her son in Vietnam appreciated receiving a money clip. A large paper clip, about two inches long, makes an ideal substitute for a money clip.

A box of these could doubtless be bought and mailed to Vietnam for the price of one money clip. Every boy in the service has many buddies who need the same thing and he could pass them around.

—MRS. R. DEAR MRS. R.—That is one of the nice things about the exchange of Pointers among readers, one good idea so often leads to another

—POLLY

"SLIPPED" DISC

The disc acts as a shock absorber for the spine and also separates the vertebra from one another.

When a disc "slips", there is a resultant pinching of the spinal nerves, causing pain in the lower back or legs. Sciatica is often the result.

Experience has shown that those people suffering from "slipped" disc and pinched nerves respond very well to the specialized care offered by the Chiropractic profession.

Vanderlinds Fete Foreign Guest at Bridal Shower

Mrs. John K. Vanderlind of Hammond Lake was hostess Sunday afternoon for a miscellaneous bridal shower. Honoree was Beatrys Tobi of Ann Arbor and Delft, Holland.

Beatrys was a house guest at the Vanderlind home two years ago, just after her arrival in the United States as a graduate student at the University of Michigan. She has made numerous additional visits at the Vanderlinds since that time.

On May 15 in Albany, N.Y. Beatrys will become the bride of Irving William Olander of Amsterdam, N.Y.

Sixteen guests, including a number of Beatrys' college friends from Ann Arbor, attended the shower at which Constance Vanderlind was co-hostess.

DREAMS COME TRUE FOR BRIDES-TO-BE

New Bridal Registry

Thanks to a new and unique photographic registry service initiated this week by C. R. Hashtill Studios, many brides and brides-to-be will now be able to have their complete wedding photographed and albums given to them as wedding presents.

How often it has been said, "I've not having wedding photos taken. It's beyond us right now." Yet, the very thing the young bride-to-be is beginning is the one thing that remains forever, bringing memories of that wonderful day each time photographs are viewed.

Now through "Wedding Photography Registry" a prospective bride can call C. R. Hashtill Studios on University Drive in Pontiac and engage a photographer to cover the wedding day festivities. At the same time, she can select the style of wedding photography she prefers - Natural color; the album; wall - hung paintings; frames, etc.

As a gift, C. R. Hashtill provides each of his brides a Wedding Guest Book, a portrait for the newspaper free and even rice conveniently packaged for the guests to throw at the happy couple when leaving the church.

Mr. Hashtill has also available at special discount prices, invitations and napkins and often quips, "We supply everything but the Bridegroom!"

Why not call C. R. Hashtill Studio now at 334-0553 and reserve your wedding date, or stop in at 1 University Drive, Pontiac.

When washing your children's hair, rinse with a half and half water and vinegar solution to get all the soap out.

Sigma Beta Unit Plans Two Events

Plans were reviewed for a fashion show at the monthly meeting of Psi chapter, Sigma Beta National sorority, recently at the Elks Temple.

The show, which is scheduled March 16, will include a luncheon. Fashions are being furnished by the Lisbeth Shop in Birmingham.

The chapter is also sponsoring a teen-age dance March 22. Both events will be held at the Elks Temple.

Mrs. Homer McMahon was hostess for the meeting with Mrs. Jerry McKay cohostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Herron Jr. of Canal Road, Commerce Township announce November wedding plans for their daughter, Linda Joyce, and Seaman Appren. David J. Swiatek, USN. The prospective bridegroom, who is stationed in Brunswick, Maine, is the son of Mrs. Keith White of Middlefield Street, West Bloomfield Township and Bruno Swiatek of Irwin Street.

Mild Suds Care

When washing sweaters, rub soiled spots with your soaped fingers. Do not rub one part of the sweater against another. Use mild suds and squeeze the suds through the garment. Never wring or twist a sweater. Rinse through several clear waters of the same temperature.

Construction Permit Report

Remodeling Work in City

Three Volumes

Myrdal's Report

Rather than Aid from West, Myrdal says

The Warehouse is to be constructed on South Boulevard by GM Truck & Coach Division

The February total is $383,978 from the total construction from January's building permits, Gerds said

In February's total are permits for $250,000 of remodeling work at the Oakland County Courthouse, $315,000 of construction for the city's pumping stations for the city's water and sewer systems, and $55,000 for two school additions

Permits for construction of new houses estimated to cost $105,000 also were issued

Q—Over the last few years I have been steadily buying stocks, but neither gained nor lost because I have made some mistakes but have been fortunate in my own Control Data. If not mistakes, would you suggest something else like W-Y.

A—I like Control Data, although it must be clearly understood that the shares are pretty rich and subject to wide price variations. The company is almost the only major in the field of electronic digital computers—except IBM—that is increasing earnings substantially. Its success is due to its great technological expertise; this has enabled it to outperform most of its competitors. If you can ignore price fluctuations, I would suggest for your purpose, since I foresee strong growth for this industry and for Control Data over the years ahead.

The gold mining stocks tracked on weekend news that the international gold pool had agreed to support the price of gold at $35 an ounce.

On Friday the Associated Press Average of 60 Stocks fell 5 to 302.9.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices were irregularly higher, with gold-mining shares weak.

The New York Times said that official sources reported the unimpaired copper strike reported to have reached an understanding with 26 unions that may resolve a major roadblock to settlement.
