Centennial Proves Profitable

Pontiac Press Photo

TOP ESSAYISTS — Admiring the $100 Savings Bond she received for her first prize entry in the Pontiac Press Centennial Essay Contest is Karen M. Coleman of Waterford Township. D. B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University Oakland, presented the bond to Karen and a $50 bond to Noel E. Minton, also of Waterford Township for his third place entry. Away attending Wolverine Boys State was the second prize winner, John S. Kerns of Pontiac Township. He'll receive a $75 bond.

Youngsters Join in Centennial

Half-Pints Go Parading By

Thousands Line Saginaw to View Marchers

Bands, Small Floats Combine to Keep Spirit of Crowd High

By DICK SAUNDERS

The amateur photographers and parade lovers were at it again this morning. Thousands of them lined Saginaw Street to watch the Centennial Youth Day Parade.

But the crowd lacked the biggest parade fans of all—kids. The kids were the parade and they loved it.

Hundreds of youngsters paraded up Saginaw at 10:30 in a mammoth effort that included some 50 units.

It took a little more neck-craning of back row onlookers than was needed to see Saturday's Centennial parade.

The Youth Parade was run at a little lower level. That is to say the participants were a bit shorter and the floats a little closer to the pavement.

★ ★ ★

But the level of spirit, planning and plain hard work of Pontiac area youth was on the highest level possible.

HUGE EFFORT

The huge effort was headed by Cressy Larson, executive director of the Pontiac Boys Club, as parade marshal and chairman of the Youth Parade Committee.

Credit must go to Larson and his committee of Frank Cashman, James Skinner, George Mayes, Gordon Moats, Jack Cole and Lloyd Heimbecker for a job well done.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, was chairman

OH, PLAY THAT THING! — Jim Forman's Dixielanders, a jazzband of local youngsters, was one of the featured units in today's Youth Parade on Saginaw Street. The band has been serenading downtown Pontiac for the past few days with hot Dixieland favorites. The boys are helping their clarinetist, Sue Douglas of 998 Argyle St., aboard the bandwagon. The musicians (from left) are tailgate man Jim Forman, cornet blowing Eugene Stone, drummer David Belanger, and tuba tootin' Larry Boice.

Virus Infection Puts Kennedy Down in Bed

JFK's Temperature Is Back to Normal After Illness in Early Hours

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Kennedy ran a fever and was generally ill during the early morning hours today with what his physician said appears to be a mild virus infection.

The physician, Dr. Janet Travell, said the President's temperature — once up to 101.6 degrees—had dropped to normal by 11 a.m. and the ailment should run its course within two days.

Because of Kennedy's back ailment, Dr. Travell summoned Dr. Preston Wade, New York orthopedic specialist, to examine the President. After their examination and consultation, she announced:

"We think we have ruled out anything more serious than a one or two day virus." She said it is "probably a mixed bacteria and viral infection."

Dr. Travell said Dr. Wade might remain at the White House through the day.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy is receiving antibiotics and is being kept abed. He is being attended by a Navy nurse, Lt. Elizabeth Chapowicki, who was regularly assigned to the White House.

FIRST INTERVIEW

Dr. Travell reported on the President's condition at a specially called news conference. It was the first time newsmen have been permitted to interview the White House physician.

They had sought news conferences with her several times since the President developed a back ailment several weeks ago.

Kennedy awakened during last night feeling ill and Dr. Travell was called to his bedside at 1:30 a.m.

She had examined the President again this morning with Dr. Preston Wade, New York orthopedic specialist whom she summoned to Washington for consultation.

USING CRUTCHES

Wade was called to help determine if the infection had any effect on the back strain which put Kennedy on crutches for 12 days.

Kennedy's temperature rocketed to 101.6 degrees at 7 this morning. Dr. Travell said it had returned to normal — 98.6 — at 11 a.m.

Wants No Fear Over K Threats

JFK to Reduce Test Ban Talks to Token Status, Humphrey Believes

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic whip Hubert H. Humphrey said today the free world "ought not to be intimidated, blackmailed or moved" by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's threats to resume nuclear bomb tests.

★ ★ ★

The Minnesota Democrat said he does not expect President Kennedy to break off the lagging test ban talks in Geneva but rather to reduce them to a token status.

At the same time, he expressed the belief that Kennedy will "reserve the right to resume testing" if this country's national security required it.

Khrushchev said Wednesday night that the Soviet Union has developed quite a few nuclear weapons that need testing and will resume nuclear tests immediately if the United States does.

MILITANT SPEECH

In a militant televised Kremlin speech marking the 20th anniversary of the Nazi attack on the Soviet Union, the Soviet premier in effect replied to a U.S. note last weekend that blamed the Soviet Union for the deadlock in the Geneva nuclear test ban talks.

The note hinted the United States might renounce the test moratorium the United States, Britain and France have observed since the talks started in October 1958.

Khrushchev said should nuclear testing be resumed, the "entire responsibility" would be on the Western powers.

Wearing the uniform of a Soviet lieutenant general, the rank he held as a political commisar in World War II, Khrushchev told the rally at the Kremlin's Grand Palace: "As soon as the United States starts nuclear tests again, the Soviet Union will start testing its own nuclear weapons."

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan said today he believes Britain and the United States will continue to refrain from nuclear tests so long as test ban treaty negotiations continue in Geneva.

Prize-Winning Essay Nearly Floated Away

Karen Coleman's $100 almost sank in Elizabeth Lake.

But two boys, instilled with the chivalry of Sir Walter Raleigh, jumped into a canoe and retrieved Karen's rough draft of her top prize winner in The Pontiac Press Centennial Essay Contest. Judges of the contest today announced that Karen, 14, of 502 Grixdale Drive, Waterford Township, won the first prize of a $100 Savings Bond.

Named as the second place winner of a $75 bond was John S. Kerns, 16, of 1330 S. Lake Angelus Shores, Pontiac Township, while Noel E. Minton, 17, of 940 Lakeview Ave., Waterford Township, is the recipient of the third place $50 bond prize.

Contestants between the ages of 13 and 18 submitted essays on the subject: "Pontiac . . . The Challenge of Its Future."

Karen, who'll enter Waterford Township High School in the fall and hopes to continue on to Michigan State University Oakland, rushed 186 miles from her grandparents' cabin near Grayling to receive her bond from MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner.

Her father, an employe of the engineering department at the Detroit Arsenal in Center Line, was so excited with the news of his daughter's winning entry that he took the day off from work and rushed to return her home to receive the award.

★ ★ ★

"I about fainted," Karen recalls when her dad told her the news. "I had to sit down in a chair. I still can't believe it."

The June graduate of Isaac Crary Junior High School said she was working on her essay in front of her parents' home on Elizabeth Lake when a big wind caught the paper and blew it into the lake.

"I then had to work rapidly to get it in on time," said the winner.

Encouraged by her top essay,

Ask Meany Aid in Strike Talks

Commerce Unit Sends Plea; Longshoremen End 1-Day Stoppage

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's Commerce and Industry Association today asked AFL-CIO President George Meany for his help in settling the nationwide maritime strike.

In a telegram to Meany, the organization said that "metropolitan New York, as a prime world port, and American merchant fleet, both face increasingly detrimental and widespread cumulative economic effects."

Meanwhile, longshoremen returned to the docks after a one-day work stoppage which crippled the port.

But the week-old nationwide maritime strike grew worse. The number of immobilized American-flag ships rose to at least 150 in 30 ports on the East, West and Gulf coasts.

Negotiations were in a stalemate as the impact of the strike deepened. More industries — especially oil plants — were hit.

A group of oil producers in Texas asked President Kennedy to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act and obtain a court order for an 80-day cooling-off period. The plea was made in a telegram by the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

Friday to Go as High as 78, So Cheer Up

This afternoon's expected showers will end tonight, the weatherman said. The low will drop to near 55.

Friday's forecast is fair with not much change in temperature, the high rising to 78.

Saturday will be fair and warmer. Morning southeast to east winds at 10 miles per hour will become northeast to north tonight and north to northwest Friday.

Fifty-seven was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 2 p.m. was 71.

Sides Seem to Be Bracing Selves

Berlin Showdown Due?

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia and the West appeared today to have moved a step closer to a showdown over Berlin which could trigger a third world war unless one side gives ground.

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials said that Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev, in his Kremlin speech Thursday, dug himself in a bit deeper on the Berlin issue by sharpening his deadline for the Western Allies to pull out of the former German capital.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected at a news conference this afternoon to give the first top-level American response to Khrushchev's steadily increasing pressure on the two critical issues.

He will probably take a cautious approach, reflecting the fact that President Kennedy is in the process of working out decisions to be taken within the next few months.

Related Stories on Pages 7, 37

NOTHING NEW

U.S. officials pointed out there was nothing new in Khrushchev's remarks on Berlin except that he specifically declared he would sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany "at the end of this year."

This would leave the red-encircled allies in Berlin to deal with the puppet regime or get out. His time references previously have been somewhat vague.

The Soviet leader appeared to western officials to be slowly tightening the pressure on Kennedy in an effort to force the President to consider the possibility of backing down or compromising on the long smoldering Berlin issue.

★ ★ ★

So far Kennedy has refused to abandon the flat western position or refusing to consider any change in Berlin's status until there is a general peace settlement with a unified Germany.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev threatened to resume nuclear testing if the United States does. This was not new.

But taken in connection with his statement that he had new nuclear devices he wanted to test, it strengthened the convictions of U.S. officials that he is no longer interested in a test ban.

Khrushchev's steadily increasing pressure on Berlin plus his willingness to resume the nuclear arms race were considered here to stem from several factors:

—His belief, as evidenced to Kennedy at the Vienna meeting, that the Communist bloc has achieved a balance of power with the West with the tide of military and political power in the world moving steadily in favor of the Reds.

—Increasing pressure from Communist China as well as East European satellites and even some Soviet officials for a tougher attitude toward the United States and its allies.

★ ★ ★

The United States so far appeared to be playing for time on the Berlin issue in the hope that Khrushchev would retreat.

But yesterday's speech, with its strong military tone, lessened hope here that Khrushchev might calm down before he went too far.

U.S. Garrison Pulls Big Alert

5,000 Troops Speed to Action Posts in West Sector of Berlin

From Our News Wires

BERLIN — The 5,000 troops of Berlin's American garrison sped to action stations at dawn today in a surprise alert designed to test their ability to move fast in case of trouble.

The rumble of tanks surging through the streets awakened West Berliners at 5 a.m. as armor and infantry moved from suburban barracks to key positions in the Communist-encircled city's American sector.

At important intersections combat-clad soldiers replaced traffic policemen as they would in a real emergency.

The Army officially described the maneuver as a "routine operational readiness exercise designed to test the mobility of the Berlin garrison in the streets of West Berlin."

REDS KEEP HARPING

Meanwhile, the Communists kept up their unremitting barrage of propaganda.

East Germany charged today that West Berlin police interfered with the placing of wreaths on the Soviet army war memorial in West Berlin.

The official East German News Agency ADN said delegations bringing wreaths to commemorate the 20th anniversary of Hitler's invasion of the Soviet Union were delayed nearly an hour.

★ ★ ★

A West Berlin police spokesman explained that only small groups are allowed over the frontier to prevent mass Communist demonstrations in the West.

The marching column of about 150 Communists was split into groups, which were allowed at the memorial one at a time.

★ ★ ★

In a telegram to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Ulbricht charged, "The West German militarists are continuing the policy of Hitler with their revenge-seeking and unlimited armament."

Ignore Both Razors and Razzers

3 Win Beard Contest by a Whisker

They withstood razzing, pulling, itching and other general discomforts, but it was worth it for patrolman Billy L. Hargraves of the police department, Bennie J. Cooper of the fire department, and Ervin H. Miller of The Pontiac Press.

★ ★ ★

The three increased their assets with $100 savings bonds as they were announced the winners in the beard growing contests among policemen, firemen, and employes of The Pontiac Press.

The Press staged the Centennial contest and will present the bonds to the three men.

Judges were James P. Dickerson, general advertising manager of The Press; Jean Finningsdorf, Press linotype operator, and Don Vogel, outdoor editor.

"It was a hard assignment," Dickerson said. "There were many good ones. Miller, Cooper and Hargraves had bushy, full, thick and well-trimmed beards with mustaches."

★ ★ ★

Hargraves, 31, of 125 Jefferson St., was tops with the fuzz among 18 policemen who entered the contest; Cooper, 24, of 132 N. Johnson Ave., finished first among 17 firemen surveyed by the three judges; and Miller, 37, of 2612 Grandview Road, Waterford Township, was first among 22 Press employes who tossed away the razor.

TOOK RAZZING

Hargraves, a member of the force since 1955 and that "mean" man that tickets your car when the red flag on the meter pops up, started his beard the day before Easter.

★ ★ ★

Because of the razzing he took he nearly put the razor to it, but his wife Louise, encouraged him to let it grow "to get into the spirit of the Centennial."

A Press employe for 14 years, teletype operator Miller said some parents at his church asked him if their children could pull at his beard. Other jibes went his way, he said, when he traveled out of the city.

Assigned to Station No. 3; Cooper is proud of his beard and well-waxed handlebar mustache which he started growing around Easter, like Miller and Hargraves.

★ ★ ★

"Some kids have called me Santa Claus but I'm proud of the thing," said Cooper, a member of the force since last October.

Congo's Tshombe Is Free Man Today

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) —President Moise Tshombe of Katanga was freed by the central government today and announced he wants to collaborate with the entire Congo.

Held prisoner for two months and threatened with a trial for high treason, the outspoken leader of the rich secessionist region of the Southeast Congo appeared in good health and smiled for reporters.

He had been arrested when he walked out on a unity conference of Congo leaders at Coquilhatville, capital of Equator Province.

"I have nothing against anybody," he told a news conference, his first public appearance since he arrived in Leopoldville under guard early this month after being held under house arrest in Coquilhatville since April 26.

★ ★ ★

"I am certain we will all work together to make the former Belgian Congo a great land."

'NO NEED FOR U.N.'

Gen. Joseph Mobutu, Congolese commander in chief, told newsmen Katanga's army would come under his command. He said officers of both the central government and Katanga armies would be trained together, according to an agreement he has signed with Tshombe.

★ ★ ★

Tshombe, pointing to a broadly smiling Mobutu, put in, "We don't have need of the U.N." Tshombe long has opposed U.N. operations in the Congo.

★ ★ ★

Tshombe said he would depart immediately for Elisabethville, his capital, but added he would hold himself available for discussions with the central government of President Joseph Kasavubu on a unity session of parliament due to open Sunday.

Tshombe expressed doubts however, that all the arrangements to reconvene the legislature after a nine-month break could be completed by Sunday.

"I think it is quite impossible," he said and added that he had not discussed with the Kasavubu government Katanga's participation in the parliament. But his attitude left little doubt his Katanga parliamentarians would attend.

★ ★ ★

"My release was the sine qua non (condition) for their participation," he said. "And now I am free."

His rich province seceded from the remainder of the Congo just after independence last July 1.

Tshombe was in a happy mood when he drove up to Premier Joseph Ileo's residence for the news conference.

Royal Troops Preparing for All-Out Rebel Drive

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — American-piloted helicopters today ferried in women and children from the Padong area where Meo tribesmen are bracing for an all-out rebel drive aimed at wiping out pro-government resistance.

Other Meo women and children have taken refuge in valleys where food is available. The evacuation is being carried out to remove all noncombatants from the region before the anticipated offensive by the Communist-backed rebels.

The relocation included the almost total evacuation of the "Valley of Happy Pigs" where up to 9,000 tribal refugees once took shelter after the rebels forced them to flee from their homes.

Lt. Col. Vang Pao, commander of the surrounded Meo militia force in Padong, recently told newsmen he expected another rebel offensive in two weeks.

He explained the rebel forces would need time for coolie laborers to bring up artillery and build new attacking positions.

The Meo war chief claimed gangs of "human beasts of burden" were used to supply enemy troops. He said they were the source of the enemy's increased strength.

Since the rebels launched a full-scale drive into his territory, some 65 Royal soldiers captured in earlier campaigns have slipped away from coolie gangs and rejoined his forces, Col. Vang said.

In addition to his big enclave behind Radong, Col. Vang Pao also commands many other pockets of Meo and Royal army resistance throughout areas which the rebels long ago claimed to have "liberated."

Laos Princes Settle Nothing

Agree on Necessity of Unity but Leave Action Up to the King

From Our News Wires

ZURICH, Switzerland—The three princes of Laos' warring factions agreed today on the need for national unity but left it up to King Savang Vathana to do something about it.

★ ★ ★

None of the real problems besetting the divided southeast Asian kingdom was settled. The king, though he favors pro-Western Premier Boun Oum, has kept aloof from politics in the past.

The heads of the three major factions meeting here promised vaguely to meet again some time in the future "in Europe or in Asia."

The final statement by Boum Oum, Prince Souvanna Phouma, leader of the so-called neutralists; and his half-brother Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, was largely a declaration of principles. It left all practical problems up in the air.

It stressed that all three major factions should participate in a new regime. But it did not say how much strength each should have, or who would be the leader.

REJECTS PROPOSAL

At Geneva, Russia rejected American and French proposals for effective controls to protect the neutrality and independence of Laos.

★ ★ ★

It also refused to strengthen the truce teams trying to maintain the cease fire.

Throng Views Kids in Youth Day Parade

of all the "Youth Day" activities.

There were 10 floats among the many entries. Two of these carried queens.

In the eyes of the young paraders, little Diane Dix, 5, Miss Boys Club of 1960-61, was queen of the day.

Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Dix, 41 S. Jessie St., is only 40 inches tall, but she felt 40 feet tall riding atop the glorious Boys Club float surrounded by club members.

Another "queen" riding proudly in a sleek Pontiac convertible was pretty Kathy DeLisle, 11, of 2845 Knowlson St., Keego Harbor. Kathy is Miss West Suburban Bay's Club.

Many spectators thought they had missed Miss Centennial, Veachel Bilyeu, and her court, who had been scheduled to ride in the parade, but the spectators weren't the ones who missed.

Miss Centennial and her court arrived in time, dressed in all their royal finery, but the Centennial float never got there.

Other floats, all colorful and varied, were sponsored by local girl scouts; the senior citizens' Sunset Club; Carol Wolfe, a local ballet teacher; the Pontiac YMCA; and the boys club.

The parade's first float was the Youth Float, a community effort carrying representatives from each youth organization in Pontiac.

Another Boys Club float featured an Indian theme with the club's "warriors" participating.

BICYCLE BRIGADES

Behind the YMCA float was a Centennial bicycle brigade consisting of about 35 YMCA members on gayly decorated bikes.

Bicycles were a major mode of transportation for those not marching. Another big bicycle brigade followed near the end, made up of kids who just showed up for the big event.

With them marched youngsters with pets decked out in a fantastic array of centennial costumes.

There were also some 10 marching units, plus specialty units like the Land 'O Lakes Majorettes and the CAI Twirlers from Waterford Township.

Among the marchers were campfire girls, boy scouts, YWCA members, Pontiac Press carriers, safety patrol boys, a Pontiac Boys Club color guard, some 320 boys clubbers from 8 through 13 years old in baseball uniforms representing the Pontiac Federal Savings baseball league, the Keego Harbor Boys Club, and many kids who just came to march.

Possibly it was the last group, those who just came to be in a parade, who had the most fun.

MUCH MUSIC

There were bands to burn, too. The Pontiac Northern High School Band set a snappy pace for the parade.

Adding punch along the way were a boys club drum and bugle corps, a sound car, the Madison Junior High band, the Detroit Edison Co. calliope, and Jim Forman's Dixielanders.

There were gleaming fire trucks from the Pontiac Fire Department and John F. Ivory Co., a haywagon, the Pontiac Public Library bookmobile, a half dozen antique cars, the parade official's cars and one sponsored by the AF of L and the Young Democrats Teen Club of Pontiac.

Pre-Spectacle Concert Slated

Orchestra of Pontiac Youth to Play Tonight at Wisner Stadium

The accent will be on youth tonight in the preperformance program at Wisner Stadium, beginning at 8:15 a half-hour before the giant Spectacle, "The Pontiac Story," starts.

The 65-member All-City Youth Orchestra, directed by Robert M. Peterson, will play selections by Jerome Kern and Richard Rogers; the march from "The Pontiac Story of Progress and Promise;" and the "Trumpeter's Lullaby" by Anderson, with Perry Tison as soloist.

A select group of musicians from the city's public high schools and junior high schools, the All-City Youth Orchestra is in its ninth month of organization.

A special moment during last night's preperformance program came when one of Pontiac's veteran realtors, J. L. VanWagoner, was introduced in the audience.

"Jake" VanWagoner is one of the many Pontiac citizens whose name is mentioned in "The Pontiac Story." In the Gay Nineties baseball game spoof, it's "Jake" who pitches to Ty Cobb;" also introduced was former Gov. Murray D. "Pat" Van Wagoner, Jake's brother.

WINS PONTIAC

The lucky winner last night was Clarence L. Hardenburg, 2060 Pontiac Drive, Sylvan Lake.

Hardenburg went to Centennial Headquarters in the Pontiac Library today to chose either a 1961 Pontiac Catalina or a GMC Suburban stationwagon as his prize.

The winner Monday night was Victor Avram, 2290 Angelene Drive, Waterford Township.

Many Get Shots During Event

Centennial Retarding Polio

A lasting effect of the Greater Pontiac Centennial will be broader community protection against poliomyeletis.

Some 350-400 persons have received polio shots so far in the eight-day celebration, according to a report from the Oakland County Medical Society.

The society administers the shots 2-5 p.m. daily, through Saturday, at its Centennial headquarters in the McCandless Building, Perry and East Pike streets.

The shots, administered by "gun" technique instead of by hypodermic needle, are free to children. There is a $1 charge for adults.

Open daily 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. the medical society Centennial headquarters contains a number of displays and exhibits, including one by Pontiac's industrial nurses about careers in that field.

Diabetic detection service is offered from noon to 4 p.m.; glaucoma detection 5-8 p.m.; and help to newcomers to Pontiac who want to decide on a personal physician, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Two films are shown at frequent intervals. They're entitled "Project Hope" and "Journey to Health."

The society said that of the 800 or so persons who have visited the exhibits so far, about 60 have used the diabetic detection service and around 50 the glaucoma (eye disease) service. Both services are free.

Briton Wants to Cut Aid

LONDON (AP) — Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd declared today that Britain must cut down its foreign aid and military spending overseas.

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Twp. by '70 'to Have 40,000 Folks'

BIRMINGHAM — A population increase of over 77 per cent can be expected in Bloomfield Township during the next nine years, according to the Bloomfield Township Planning Commission.

The commission reported that an estimated 40,000 residents will be living in the 25-square-mile township by 1970.

Planning studies show that the community will have a population of 51,000 by 1980 and an ultimate capacity of 67,600 persons between 1990 and the end of the century.

The figures on anticipated population growth were gathered by the planning commission in its work on a master plan which will be used as a guide for future development of the township.

The master plan is expected to be completed within two months.

STUDYING SITES

The commission has been studying sites for new schools, recreational parks and shopping areas which will be needed as population increases.

"The character of development in Bloomfield Township is different from most communities in the surrounding area," said Edward A. Procter, planning commission chairman.

"We have a number of lakes and an overwhelming predominance of large lot sizes with a resulting low population density which has a profound effect on every phase of planning for the township," he pointed out.

Current population of the township, based on figures obtained in the 1960 census, was 22,530. There are now slightly over 6,500 homes in the township.

★ ★ ★

The commission reported that an estimated total of 20,000 residential units will be located there when ultimate development is reached.

★ ★ ★

Following completion of the master plan, the commission will take up the township's zoning laws as the next step in its study.

A series of area meetings will be held with township residents in September to discuss in detail the findings and recommendations of the commission.

Mrs. Gibbons, a 47-year resident of Birmingham, died yesterday after a long illness. She was a member of the First Methodist Church of Birmingham.

Surviving are four daguhters, Mrs. Ray Conley and Mrs. Alton Coffield, both of Birmingham, Mrs. Goldie Smith of Dearborn, and Mrs. Fred Hopson of St. Petersburg, Fla.; three sons, Herbert and Wesley, both of Birmingham, and Ivan of Shenandoah, Penn.; a sister, Mrs. John Hill of Auburn Heights; 13 grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

Kennedy, Ikeda Call for N-Ban

Statement Cites Need for Renewed Efforts Toward Disarmament

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda called today for "renewed efforts" toward General world disarmament and said a dependable nuclear test ban agreement is urgently needed.

Their remarks were contained in a communique issued jointly under the names of Ikado and Kennedy.

The President, however, had to cancel a concluding conference with Ikada because he suffered a virus attack which confined him to bed.

The communique, concluding Ikeda's three-day series of policy conferences here, also announced establishment of three joint committees "to strengthen the partnership between the two countries."

★ ★ ★

A cabinet-level committee on trade and economic affairs will be created and technical committees on cultural and educational cooperation and scientific cooperation will be established.

Kennedy and Ikada agreed to consult closely on world issues, particularly on Asia.

★ ★ ★

The communique announced no specific policy agreements on two other subjects which it said the leaders discussed — Communist China and Korea.

Farm Loans Show Very Little Change

CHICAGO (UPI) — Farm loans outstanding at member banks in the Seventh Federal Reserve District showed only small changes in the first three months of 1961 against the previous quarter, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported Wednesday.

Loans on real estate were up 2 per cent from the earlier quarter and 5 per cent from a year ago for the period ended April 12, 1961. Nonreal estate loans fell 1 per cent in the quarter but rose 2 per cent more a year ago.

Individual areas in the upper Midwest, particularly in Central Indiana and Michigan, showed sharp increases compared with 1960, the bank said.

Michigan, with a 12 per cent gain, had the largest jump in nonreal estate loans.

Device May Keep Spies From Eavesdropping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was told Tuesday that the State Department has virtually perfected a device which may prevent spies from listening in on telephone conversations in U.S. embassies abroad.

★ ★ ★

William O. Boswell, director of the department's Office of Security, told about it — in general terms—at a hearing before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

Boswell appeared to urge that the Senate put back into the state department appropriation bill funds cut out by the House. Included was $50,000 needed for perfecting the device.

New Lights Shine on Field

'Rainbow' Glows for Pilots

NEW YORK (AP) — A red-pink-white rainbow of light to help guard against airplane landing disasters was shown this week —the vanguard of some 40 systems slated for U.S. airports this year.

★ ★ ★

The new lights, designed to keep pilots from over or under shooting runways, was demonstrated at New York's LaGuardia Airport. It is slated for some 34 airports, among them:

Chicago's O'Hare and Midway, Los Angeles International, Detroit Metropolitan, Washington National, New York's Idlewild, Newark, Atlanta and Birmingham, Ala.

The system, built by Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., works this way:

Banks of lights in specially-set boxes shine out a rainbow of light, white on top, then pink, then red. The color the pilot sees depends on his location over the runway.

Approaching pilots can use the colored lights as guides to whether they are approaching too high or too low.

One bank of lights is located near the beginning of the runway, another some 500 feet beyond. The pilot knows if the front bank of lights looks white and the back bank red that he is approaching on the correct glide path.

If both banks of lights are red, he is too low. If both banks are white, he is too high. If they are pink, his deviation is small but he is too low.

★ ★ ★

The system was developed by the Royal Aircraft Establishment of England, in cooperation with Thorne Electric Industries, a British affiliate, partly owned by Sylvania.

The Air Force and the Federal Aviation Agency have approved the system as standard, as has the International Civil Aviation Organization, subject to the approval of its 86 member nations.

U.S. Pacifists Get OK to Protest in Moscow

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Soviet Union has given permission for a group of U.S. pacifists to demonstrate against Russian as well as American nuclear weapons in Moscow's Red Square.

The Committee for Nonviolent Action, sponsors of a "peace march" from San Francisco to Moscow, said assurance was given by the Soviet Peace Committee that the U.S. walkers who are now in Europe would be able to hold a protest in Red Square when they reach Moscow in October.

All Sections of Country Affected by Weather

News services report increasing fire hazards in Southern California due to the extreme dryness of the season. Three dry years are being climaxed by this, the driest year of all.

★ ★ ★

As a result, fire fighting crews are watching that section of the state with growing anxiety. Only a few weeks ago the first serious forest fire burned over many acres in the Hollywood hills, destroying several homes and threatening many more. Unless rain comes soon, and no general rain is expected at this time of year, much more serious fires are apt to occur.

In sharp contrast, Oakland County has had sufficient rain this spring to offset the light snowfall in many sections. Instead of worrying about fire dangers, residents here are evaluating weather needs from the standpoint of growing crops.

★ ★ ★

More rain in some areas, but most of all, steady warm weather is needed now. While sufficient rain has fallen in some sections, the rainfall has been spotty, and more is needed in the areas previously missed.

If the weather turns warm as it usually does at this season of the year, current prospects for an average year would brighten materially for farmers in this area.

Promoting High Taxes May Be Our Own Doing

In all the protests against local, State and Federal taxes, the following appears in the Boca Raton (Florida) News and is well-worth your attention and time:

"Almost everybody complains about high taxes.

★ ★ ★

"This fable fits the situation: A young man lived in a public housing development. He attended public school, rode a free school bus and participated in the free lunch program.

★ ★ ★

"He entered the Army and upon discharge kept his national service life insurance. He enrolled in a university under the GI bill, working part time for the state to supplement his GI check.

★ ★ ★

"He married a public health nurse and bought a farm with an FHA loan, then obtained an RFC loan to go into business. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with a GI loan and obtained emergency feed from the government.

★ ★ ★

"He put part of his ranch in the Soil Bank and let the income help pay off his debts. His parents were living very comfortably on the ranch with their Social Security and old age assistance checks. The county agricultural agent showed him how to terrace the land, then the Government guaranteed him a sale for his farm products.

★ ★ ★

"He signed a petition seeking Federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his area. He was also a leader in obtaining the new Federal Building, and went to Washington with a group to ask Congress to build a dam costing millions so the area could get cheap electric power.

"Then one day he sat down and wrote his Congressman a letter of protest:

★ ★ ★

"'I wish to protest excessive Government spending and high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I believe people should stand on their own two feet without expecting handouts. I am opposed to all socialistic trends.'"

A Woman's Right . . . .

A news squib off the wires reports that Portugal has banned bikinis on the beaches of that country. This isn't earth-shaking, but the next line says the government has also warned female purchasers of the more modest one-piece swimsuits that they shouldn't try to squeeze themselves into too small a size.

This is the raw material for instant revolution! A woman's right to buy anything a size or two on the small size is inviolate, as any shoe clerk or dress saleswoman will tell you. Perhaps someone had better tell the government.

A Few Items in Regard to How We're Doing It

Proud: What we're sure Chief Pontiac would be.

A number of the alleged descendants of Chief Pontiac have bobbed up, without any credentials to verify their claims, so it was decided to play safe, and ignore them all. Several years ago I visited one of them, known as Jim Pontiac, then very old and living on an Indian reservation near Rosebush in Isabella County, and found any statements on his ancestry very foggy. But he grinned when he asked me if I drove a Pontiac car.

During a part of Centennial Week Mr. and Mrs. H. Andrew Hayes of Lansing have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart E. Whitfield, the men having one big item in common. Mr. Hayes was General Chairman of the Lansing Centennial a few years ago. He freely admits that Stu has profited a lot by Lansing's mistakes and otherwise, and that Pontiac is putting on a great show.

Former Pontiac City Manager William P. Edmonson, now from Detroit, has been here for part of the doings. He said that, even back in his days here he knew it was in the Pontiac spirit to put on such a program, the best that he ever was privileged to attend.

"I've been watching parades for over 40 years," writes my old friend, George Fernwick of Royal Oak, "But now Pontiac beats them all. It wasn't the longest I've ever seen, but long enough, and the best."

Personal note to our aviation enthusiasts, such as Homer D. Hoskins, Manager of Pontiac Municipal Airport: My start with this paper 17 years ago was a story about the magnificent view in a flight over the Pontiac area.

A check made with a dozen of the leading fruit growers in the Pontiac section shows that the buds and blossoms were not damaged by the intermittent spring cold weather, and that we may expect a good crop of peaches, apples, pears and the bush fruits.

Several of my most avid baseball fans have asserted that John Cameron Swayze should be equipped with a muzzle.

By cross-breeding for several years, Mrs. Harvey L. Opper of Waterford has developed a rose, originally white, that has an annual increasingly blue tinge in it. Flower experts tell me that there's a big fortune in store for the first person to produce a blue rose, so here's hoping, Mrs. Opper, that you bring a new world distinction to the Pontiac area—and make that fortune.

Regarding that ambiguous "e" on the end of the street signs on Mohawk Road, "Another Mohawk Resident" writes that he has learned that when the signs were made, the makers had a stencil for an "e" of which they were very proud, and since they could not use it in the correct name, they tacked it on the end.

David Lawrence Says:

Should Study Uses of Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON — Foreign aid is arousing unusual attention in Congress—and some rather surprising opposition. This is based upon various manifestations of public opinion inside the United States.

LAWRENCE

But to begin to understand the foreign aid problem, one has only to read some of the news dispatches from other parts of the world.

Here, for example, is a United Press International dispatch that came on June 19 from Quito, Ecuador:

"Ambassador Adlai Stevenson decided to extend his visit to Ecuador today, delighted at an unexpected display of warmth for the U.S. and signs of increasing coldness toward communism here. . . .

"The climate appeared to have changed radically from just six months ago when students stoned the U.S. Embassy and President Ibarra praised Soviet Premier Khrushchev as a great world leader."

Not many hours later on the same day came another United Press International dispatch from Quito which read as follows:

"Ecuador asked Ambassador Adlai Stevenson today for more than $200 million in immediate credits to break the shackles of poverty.'"

CAREFULLY PREPARED

Obviously, all this did not develop in just a few hours, but was carefully prepared in advance. There is no good reason why Latin American countries should be deprived of American aid—financial, economic or cultural.

But the hypocrisy of the whole business is the constant claim that when the United States extends aid there must be "no strings attached."

The Soviets insist that they furnish aid "without any strings." But the truth is they infiltrate the governments, the press and the student groups in the countries to which they lend money.

Foreign aid, therefore, has become a kind of international game in which the United States is being courted by those who want funds, and condemned by demonstrations and otherwise in the countries where financial aid may not be forthcoming in amounts desired therein.

There are, of course, situations in which foreign aid is described as a means of fighting "poverty, hunger and disease." For many decades the American people, through the International Red Cross and other organizations, have been quick to make gifts of money to aid the victims of famine or earthquakes or other disasters.

The People of the United States have always been generous to help human beings who suffer in any great calamity.

BIG PROFITS MADE

But the truth is that much of the money that now goes abroad through foreign aid is intended for economic development. This is something in which private individuals usually participate, and big profits are sometimes made by the citizens of the country which is benefited.

A realistic appraisal of the foreign aid problem would include a study of just how much profit is made by individuals abroad as a result of the American government's aid.

There is no objection to the making of such profits, but certainly the United States has a right to expect that loans will not be regarded as gifts and will be repaid after a reasonable length of time.

To put it another way, the United States does not really have to make gifts to most of the countries that are now receiving foreign aid.

A form of lending at low rates of interest is a legitimate instrument for the furnishing of such aid.

This is why there have arisen in recent years such institutions as the Inter-American Development Bank, the Export-Import Bank and similar agencies. In the past, moreover, individual American corporations have invested large sums in foreign countries.

Dr. Willam Brady Says:

Take Lots of Vitamins, Then Off to the Green

For many years individuals purporting to be recognized medical authorities have been iterating the statement that in America, where the living standard is the highest in the world, our everyday diet, well balanced and reasonably varied, supplies all the vitamins and minerals a person needs to maintain good nutrition and good health.

Physicians who utter these illogical statements about the vitamin and mineral sufficiency of our everyday food are generally not well informed in the science of nutrition, but that doesn't restrain them—they are confident the general public is even less informed.

★ ★ ★

I recall the occasion—a medical meeting in a hospital — where a number of doctors sounded off in the traditional way on the subject of nutrition, exuding impressive language but nothing worth remembering.

Then a woman's voice joined the symposium, contributing sound and cogent facts that showed she knew what she was talking about. After the meeting I met her. Up to that moment she had been unknown, at least to me. Today she is one of the nation's leading nutrition authorities.

I have four or five of her books in my reference library. Her name is—of course a lot of you have already guessed it—Adelle Davis, and her famous book "Let's Cook It Right" (Harcourt, Brace & Co., $3) is a must if you are studying nutrition.

That showpiece warning by the eminent research scientist against "too much" calcium or "too much" vitamin D has not had a rerun lately. But it has caused many a credulous one to discontinue supplementing his calcium-poor and vitamin D deficient diet just as he has begun to get some benefit from the practice.

The amount of calcium and vitamin D I recommend as a daily supplement for our ultra-refined, namby-pamby diet is not greater than nutrition authorities say everybody needs every day.

However, I must acknowledge that too much calcium and or too much vitamin D can do harm and a mouse's nest in a cat's ear can annoy the cat.

These are the thoughts that ran thru my mind as I gulp down my 3 calcium capsules, 3 B-complex tables and 3 iodin ration tablets with breakfast every morning. I have been doing so for many years. So far my joints and arteries have not hardened or stiffened noticeably. And so, hippity-hop to the bowling green.

Signed letters, not more than one page in words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Some Crimes Demand Capital Punishment'

J. Edgar Hoover has made a study of crime and crime detection in his many years as head of the FBI. He probably knows more about crime than any other living person.

When he says not to abolish the death penalty he knows what he is talking about. Some crimes are so repulsive and contrary to nature that the death penalty is mandatory.

Tells How Portion of Money Is Spent

Rep. James F. Battin, R-Mont., recently made the following candid observation about happenings in the Nation's capital:

"Three thousand new federal employes will be added to the payrolls of the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare as a result of an appropriation bill calling for the expenditure in the next fiscal year of $4.5 billion. You might be interested in knowing that part of the money spent in the past year under such an appropriation, namely $89,000, was spent by the Public Health Service to make a study and report on people's behavior at cocktail parties. In addition to that, a $33,100 grant to a foreign country financed a study which was described as a 'test of the husband and wife relation' and which covered both 'intrapersonal and interpersonnel aspects' of this relationship. God bless the taxpayers."

'Projecting Objects Endanger Lives'

Trucks that carry pipes, beams or anything of unusual length, should be barred from the highways. When planks or poles stick out behind the trucks they are usually at the same height as the heads of people in other cars. A quick stop would decapitate following riders. This may be covered by law, but if it isn't it ought to be.

Refute Accident Proneness

NEW YORK (UPI) — Since it is a statistical fact that more accidents of all kinds occur during the summer months than any others, this day in June is a good time to look at one's self in the accident-possibility mirror — before any harmful thing has happened.

Two scientific authorities on the why and hows of accidents were talking. They were denying the generally believed idea that "accident proneness" in the individual was the principal cause of accidents. Excessive scientific emphasis on this idea is "misleading."

"There is indeed accident potential in almost every situation," said Dr. Alan A. McLean, a psychiatrist specialized in accident studies, and Russell De Reamer a widely recognized safety engineer.

★ ★ ★

"However, two sets of factors—those in the environment and those in the individual — must be brought together for any accident to happen. Between the accident's actually happening and the possibility of its happening is an interplay of a great number of factors."

★ ★ ★

One may prevent this interplay by blocking either of the two sets of factors. Take the accident potentials inside the individual.

"It is not always necessary for a man to drive an automobile immediately after a heated argument with his wife, now is it wise for him to operate power tools in the home workshop when he is tired and irritable," they said.

As for the accident potentials in the environment — no one should rest or sleep on the edge of the bed. He might fall to the floor.

Low and heavy objects shouldn't be left in passengeways or dark corners. Someone may stumble over them.

★ ★ ★

Lecturing physicians in "post-graduate medicine," McLean and De Reamer said all persons may be "accident prone" when under emotional stress but probably there was no person who was "accident prone" all his life.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Shun Children's Questions

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J—422: Larry T., aged 5, casually asked his father: "Daddy, where did I come from?"

His startled parent cleared his throat and then replied:

"Well, son, I was out hunting one day. I saw a pack of wolves snarling and howling behind a big pile of brush.

DR. CRANE

"So I shot over their heads to scare them off. Then I walked over to the brush pile to see what they had been interested in.

"And there I saw you, wrapped in a blanket and crying for some milk. So that is how I found you."

TELL THE TRUTH

This bizarre tale may have made the father feel proud of his ability to fabricate a yarn.

But it didn't satisfy the thirst for facts on the part of his son.

Larry later realized his dad had tricked him. So he never went back to his father for any more advice about sex problems.

Because his curiosity had been left unsatisfied, Larry decided to find out for himself.

As a result, in the teens he contracted venereal disease from his own attempts to learn some basic sexual data.

Now, as an adult, he is a bitter husband who is sterile and thus cannot procreate any children of his own.

He blames his father for his early sexual escapades.

"If Dad had told me the truth," he informed me, "then I would have been satisfied.

★ ★ ★

"But he just teased my curiosity until I resolved to find out the facts by myself."

SEX CURIOSITY

At the toddler age, children begin to wonder about their origin.

Recently, I mentioned the case of a 4-year-old who asked his mother concerning an episode that had happened before his arrival.

"Was that while I was still in the catalogue?" he queried, for he knew much of their home furnishings had been selected from the pages of a mail order catalogue.

His logical deduction was rather clever, but it shows that fact that children wonder about their origin.

"Mommie, where did I come from?" is thus an unexpected query blurted out by the prekindergarten child.

★ ★ ★

If his mother gives him the run-around, as Larry's father did, the youngster may be apparently satisfied at that moment.

But he will soon find out that he has been tricked. Then he will shun any more "facts of life" interviews with his parents.

So keep your child's respect and give him the truth when he raises these early sex queries.

★ ★ ★

Children are purely scientific at that age and do not die awake at night reveling in salacious imagination.

If you answer them directly, they dismiss the idea from their mind.

"You came out of Mommie's tummy," is thus the simplest way to put the idea across to a 4-year-old.

That word "tummy" isn't the exact anatomical answer, but a child regards the whole abdomen as "tummy" so it makes sense to the youngster.

Later he will ask how he got out, and finally, how he got into his mother's tummy.

To answer all such sex queries, send for my booklet, "Sex Problems from 2 to 20," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Wants Senate Behind Berlin

Resolution to Support Western Sector Firmly Is Offered by Javits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., offered a resolution today to put the Senate on record as backing a firm policy for continued support of West Berlin.

He said it would help erase "any ambiguity in U. S. policy" that may have been raised by the suggestion of Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana for an internationally protected "free city" of both East and West Berlin.

★ ★ ★

In a speech prepared for delivery in the continuing debate over the Berlin crisis, Javits said that if Mansfield's suggestion were accepted, "all of Berlin would be Communist in six months—and Germany would be divided forever."

'MUST BE COOL AS REDS'

The United States, Javits declared, must safeguard its obligation to remain in Berlin with the same coolness and the same determination that the Russians are using, not only on that front, but on others."

"I would be the last to say that this is not without risk," the New York Republican continued, "but I would be the first to say that it is a risk which if not taken is likely to lead to reverses far worse in character — and could lead to defeat."

★ ★ ★

His prepared speech, like others which have occupied the Senate this week, reflected what Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois described as "growing awareness" that a new crisis over Berlin is rapidly building up.

Headlines of the Century

THE DAY; MARCH 15, 1 31

This was a momentuous day in Pontiac's history. But very few of its residents knew it.

They went to work in the knitting mills or other small local industrial plants, or to their offices or stores to serve their customers and clients, largely composed of farmers.

But over at Lansing, Pontiac was discarding its swaddling clothes and becoming a city by special act of the Michigan legislature.

The petition, signed by Village President A. B. Matthews and others had been found to be in good order, and the required legislative action to make the Oakland County seat a city went through and was duly signed by Governor Austin Blair.

★ ★ ★

Only two Michigan cities were incorporated as such during the four years that Mr. Blair was governor. The other was Coldwater whose incorporation went through the legislature about the same time as that of Pontiac.

A newspaper clipping of the time quotes Blair as saying: "We'll see if the shadow of the big chief likes to be doused with cold water."

The passing years have proven that the shadow relished it. On their centinnial year, Pontiac has about ten times the population of Coldwater.

Willow Run Airlines Moving to Detroit Metro?

DETROIT (AP)—The six airlines still operating at Willow Run Airport are expected to sign a contract by July 1 to move to Detroit Metro, according to Wayne County Highway Engineer Joseph W. Gross.

Gross told the airport committee of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors that $26 million and 30 months in construction time will be required before the airlines can be accommodated at Detroit Metro.

Did Fine Hurt, Too?

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP)—Robert J. LaPierre 18, who accidentally wounded another youth during target practice Sunday, was fined $10 in district court Tuesday for carrying a rifle on Sunday in a place where birds or mammals may be found. The injured youth, John K. Clohicy, 20, was fined $10 on the same charge.

Canada Wants Lower Dollar Rate

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans planning a Canadian vacation or wishing to buy goods there may be in for a break. But if the Canadian plan to force its dollar below the value of the American dollar goes through, Americans who want to sell goods there or who get dividends from investments in Canada may be on the losing side.

* * *

The turnabout in the relative rating of the two dollars is only part of the frequently changing and often confusing status of the Yankee dollar in world money markets.

It's little more than a year ago that many Americans were puzzled and annoyed to find they had to put up as much as $1.06 to buy what a Canadian dollar would.

That has changed. Now the dollar is at par with gold. U.S. securities look safer. And the Yankee dollar may soon buy more than the Canadian one.

DEMAND AND SUPPLY

The gyrations in the relative values of the two dollars illustrates how the demand and supply of money works—and also how governments can intervene to change or control that economic law.

The reason the Canadian dollar was once worth 6 cents more than the American is this: Although Canada was buying more goods from the United States than it was selling, Americans were investing so many dollars in Canada they were far offsetting this trade loss.

When Americans invested in Canada and when Canadians floated loans or sold securities here, the American dollars had to be turned into Canadian ones to go to work there. This excess of demand for Canadian dollars over the demand for American dollar caused the Canadian currency to go to a premium.

Of late that imbalance in demand has faded. The two dollars are now exchanged on about even terms. The decline in the high flying Canadian dollar was caused in part by the drop in interest rates here while U.S. rates were rising.

But the Canadian government wants to push up its exports and lower its imports. Many Canadians also frown on Americans owning so much of Canada's resources and industry. So Canada proposes to force its money to what it calls substantial discount —meaning Canadians will have to put up some extra cents to buy a Yankee dollar.

TO BUY U. S. DOLLARS

To do this the Canadian government will buy up U.S. dollars, making the demand for them greater than the demand for the Canadian variety. It will use its exchange fund, now around $1 billion, administered for many years by the Bank of Canada to smooth out any sharp daily fluctuations in value between the Canadian dollar and foreign currencies.

* * *

The Ottawa government also has other gold and dollar reserves which would bring its currency war chest to $2 billion, if needed.

* * *

If the plan succeeds—if the Canadian dollar goes far enough below the American to discourage Canadians from buying American goods and to encourage Americans to buy Canadian goods with lowered price tags—this in itself will help the Canadian government in keeping down the relative value of its currency. Then it wouldn't have to use the exchange fund.

The Canadian government, like the American, is planning to operate at a deficit for a time, hoping thereby to stimulate the economy. Deficit financing tends to lower the value of the currency in terms of other lands like West Germany, where the government is building up its reserves.

Both American and Canadian dollars could lose status, depending on the extent of the deficit and its relation to the total budgets and to the economy as a whole.

MSUO to Hold Summer Classes for 191 Students

* * *

Summer school enrollment of 191 students at Michigan State University Oakland was reported today by Kermit H. Smith, Michigan State University registrar.

* * *

Ninety-six students took courses at MSUO last summer.

Smith announced total MSU summer enrollment at 11,819—17.2 per cent more than last year and a net gain of 1,621 students. It was the highest one-year gain in summer school students since the end of World War II.

Enrollment at MSU's East Lansing campus increased from 7,893 last year to 8,291.

* * *

The increase at off-campus centers was from 771 to 1,203 and in credit extension courses from 638 to 704.

Cancer Foundation Has Film Preview

More than 50 members of the Michigan Cancer Foundation's professional speakers bureau previewed the foundation's new educational film, "A Breath of Fresh Air," at a dinner meeting Monday at the New David Whitney House in Detroit.

Dr. William Bromme, coordinator of professional information, presided, and Dr. W. L. Howard, featured in the film, was guest of honor.

The film, produced in cooperation with the audio-visual department of Wayne State University, teaches the technique of self-examination for early detection of breast cancer.

It is available on loan to women's organizations as part of the Michigan Cancer Foundation's public educational program.

Requests for the North Oakland County area may be made at 65 W. Lawrence St. A medical speaker is provided to answer questions motivated by the film.

Detectives Probe Heist of Milford Tools, Equipment

Sheriff's detectives today were investigating a $2,634 heist of tools and building equipment form the new county garage construction site on Duck Lake Road in Milford Township.

Well-organized the burglars worked with clock-like precision, apparently loading the stolen goods unto a truck Monday night. Rain washed away any traces.

The theft went unnoticed until workers went to get the tools and equipment from construction sheds yesterday. They discovered the padlocks missing from the doors.

The thieves knew just what they wanted, according to sheriff's deputies. They took only the more valuable contents without disturbing the rest, officers said.

A bolt cutter probably was used to remove the locks which are still missing.

Japan Oh So Different From America

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Before Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda left home for his United States visit, a humorous remark in Tokyo was that the most important moment of his trip would come when photographers snapped pictures of him shaking hands with President Kennedy.

In a similar light vein was the warning that in the United States he should take care to see that his wife did not walk behind him.

Among older, tradition-minded Japanese the gesture is a relic of old Imperial Japan where indeed the female status was that of a second-class citizen.

FULLY EMANCIPATED

Today, although her voice may not be as strident as that of her western sister, the Japanese female is fully emancipated as may be demonstrated at any time by a walk through the streets of Tokyo. Her vote counts fully as much as her husband's.

But in the first remark there was a ring of truth.

While Ikeda's leadership of his Liberal Democratic party is not presently endangered, he is not overly popular with all elements of the party and he has been having some legislative difficulty.

Street mobs of the same kind that forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Tokyo a year ago, recently also forced the government to abandon efforts to pass through Parliament a bill which would have given police greater authority to prevent just such demonstrations.

NEW STATURE SOUGHT

Among Ikeda's supporters there was the hope that a friendly meeting with President Kennedy would give Ikeda new stature at home.

Three and possibly four topics were uppermost in the minds of the two leaders as they began their talks this week.

One was a perennial, it dealt with the subject of Red China.

Among many Japanese businessmen and politicians there is the feeling that U.S. policy toward Red China is too rigid.

While Ikeda may be expected to reiterate that his government has no intention according diplomatic recognition to Peiping, he may also be expected to ask that the United States give greater understanding to the fact that Red China is in Japan's natural trading area.

★ ★ ★

The U.S.-Japan Defense Treaty remains a hot issue among Japanese Socialists, the more so because of tension over Laos.

The United States has the use of Japanese bases under the treaty and would like to count not only on those bases but on Japanese industrial strength as well in the case of Asian hostilities.

Kennedy may ask Ikeda for clarification of these points.

Civic Stink Is Caused by Mobile Trash Fire

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — Orlandis Breckenridge delivered a fire to the Fire Department Tuesday and it was a stinker.

Breckenridge, a truck driver for the Livermore Disposal Co., was collecting garbage when his cargo started blazing. Trailing smoke, he sped to the fire house, where the blaze was extinguished.

Why is the whiskey on the right insured for One Million Dollars?

SOLID-GOLD BARS loaned through the courtesy of a U. S. Treasury Department gold licensee.

Answer: The whiskey on the right is insured because it is Calvert's one million dollar "Standard of Excellence"—the lightest, finest, smoothest-tasting whiskey, we believe, ever created.

The Calvert Reserve on the left—and every bottle you buy—must match this "Standard of Excellence" for lighter taste, finer taste, smoother taste. Taste that never varies. Always "good as gold." Shouldn't you enjoy it tonight?

'Ladies' Whirl Through Their Busy Centennial Day

Typical of the costume worn by Pontiac women on Wednesday in observation of Centennial Ladies Day were these outfits Mrs. Charles W. Morris of South Shore Road (at left) and Miriam School of Detroit wore to the luncheon at Elks Temple. An overflow crowd enjoyed the social break in a day of whirlwind activities.

Pontiac Press Photos by Eddie Vanderworp

By MARJORIE EICHER
Woman's Editor, The Pontiac Press

The women came into their own Wednesday in what may prove to be their busiest day in the Centennial. Hundreds of costumed women overflowed the dining space in Elks Temple at noon to pause for luncheon in a whirl of activity that included sports matches, flower and beauty show—and capping it all a gala fashion show in the evening.

Star of the luncheon was newspaperwoman Helen Bower who related her experiences in the memorable making of a movie with the late Clark Gable.

There was no tennis match as originally planned due to the astonishing fact that there were no competitors. Thirty-seven women's however, teed off at 8 a.m. playing nine holes on the north side of the Pontiac Municipal Golf Course. Winners received trophies at Wisner Stadium in the evening where Pontiac's own Women's Chorus was the stellar pre-spectacle attraction.

More than 300 women filled Elks Temple in the evening to view a delightful showing of summer fashion with a peek into what's ahead for fall. Mary Morgan, well-known television personality narrated the show which featured showers of door prizes from local merchants as well as their fashions.

A 14-karat gold bathing suit, a crocodile raincoat and a picture-book wedding sequence drew ohs and ahs from an audience that might well have stepped out of a fashion plate themselves. Old-time costumes vied with the latest mode for a colorful effect.

Still to come for the ladies is Friday's International Day which will feature an afternoon-long tea and ethnic displays at Elks Temple.

Women's Section

Mrs. Newton Skillman (at left) of Lake Angelus Shores and Mrs. John Patterson of Illinois Avenue were co-chairmen of the flower show, part of the Ladies Day Centennial festivities. They received displays from seven local garden clubs.

A crowd of women in festive mood filled Elks Temple at noon Wednesday to dine, view flower displays, hear movie critic Helen Bower and get beauty tips from hairdresser Gerold Hanes. Cool bright weather added to the day's pleasant quality.

Chairman of the succesful day-long activities for the distaffers was Mrs. Noel Buckner of Orchard Lake shown at the podium in the Elks Temple.

The Pontiac Women's Chorus under the direction of George Scott put the final woman's touch on a busy day by presenting the pre-Spectacle performance at Wisner Stadium. Many of the singers had active roles in other phases of the Centennial, and found themselves bustling from Elks Temple to headquarters — from home to stadium.

These Are Women No One Can Recall

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The woman nobody remembers:

Echoes the opinions of others, and finds it easier to answer with stock phrases than say what she actually thinks or feels.

Has never realized the importance of getting herself known for something — that will stick in the minds of those she meets; whether for a nice smile, for playing the piano or for being the best cook in town.

Is neither pretty nor chic, but somewhere between the two, as though she couldn't decide just what she wanted to be.

Figures that it is enough to be Jim Brown's wife, that she doesn't have to be an individual.

Is always a follower — never a leader, even in such little things as the way she wears her hair.

★ ★ ★

Always waits for the other person to make the first move toward friendship.

Doesn't know enough about what is going on in the world to open her mouth in a general conversation.

Relies entirely on her clothes to make an impression for her.

Believes that it is enough for her to be "nice" and "sweet" — not realizing that "fun" and "interesting" are much more complimentary adjectives when used about a woman. And, anyway, being "nice" and "sweet" is too easy a path.

Is so unsure of herself that her whole attitude is an apology.

You've met her — but you can't quite place her.

For husbands: There are some good pointers in "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Some 495 ESA members attended the convention at which Mrs. Alyce Corbin, Michigan junior past president, was appointed to the international council board.

Michigan was one of three states given special recognition for 100 per cent support of the International Disaster Fund Program.

★ ★ ★

The group voted to support the muscular dystrophy program as designated the first week in May 1961's international project and as ESA Week throughout the states.

Elected international council president was Becky Roger of Lafayette, La., who will preside over the next international convention in July 1962 at Milwaukee, Wis.

Abby Says: Loaded With Dynamite

Dirty Theme in Fancy Dress

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 12 years of marriage, I have come to the conclusion that I don't love my husband. I have grown accustomed to him as you would to a pet. I didn't realize this until I met Mr. R. He is the man I wish I were married to.

I would not be foolish enough to break up my home because I love my children, and they need me. Mr. R also has a family, and he feels the same way about his family. Our situations are similar in that he doesn't exactly hate his wife. He just doesn't love her.

ABBY

Mr. R. and I haven't done anything to be ashamed of. We've met a few times and told each other our troubles.

He says there is no harm in being "silent sweethearts" as long as we are discreet. I am tempted. Should I?

ON THE BRINK

DEAR ON: You have dressed up a shabby old theme in fancy language. A "silent sweetheart" is a guy on the side. And to be "discreet," under such circumstances, means to cheat behind locked doors. Direct some of that romantic energy toward your "pet." The adventure you are considering is loaded with dynamite.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about a man who makes a date with you several days in advance, and doesn't show up or phone to tell you he won't be there? This has happened to me twice with the same man. The first time he told me he fell asleep, and the second time he said he "forgot" we had a date.

He is a nice person, and has given me (and others) reason to believe he is very much interested in me. I cannot understand this treatment.

I am 32 and he is 35. Neither of us has ever been married, and all our friends think we would make a wonderful couple.

CAN'T FIGURE IT OUT

DEAR CAN'T: Don't include this man in your plans for the future. A woman your age needs someone who sleeps less and remembers more.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A certain relative just refurnished her place. It is no fun to go there any more. She follows you around like an FBI agent to see that you don't put a wet glass down anywhere.

And the minute I light a cigarette, she keeps her eyes glued on me to see that an ash doesn't fall on the rug. When she has a few people in, she polices everyone every second. She makes me nervous. And she makes everyone else nervous, too.

Should I tell her, as one sister-in-law to another, that she was a better hostess when she was more relaxed and didn't have all that fancy furniture? Or would she think I was jealous?

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: If your furnishings are not as fancy as hers, she will probably think you are jealous. Skip it, and be careful where the ashes fall or somebody will be burned up.

DEAR ABBY: This is for your readers who would rather not answer when someone asks them how old they are:

Just say, "I'm old enough to know the score — and young enough to play the game."

TWENTY-ONE PLUS

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I'm 13, but am very mature for my age. I have been going with boys since I was 12, but my parents will not let me go out with boys in uniform. I think this is very unfair, and would like to have you tell them so in your column. Thank you.

MATURED 13

DEAR MATURED: You may be "mature for your age," but in my opinion a 13-year-old girl is too young to be going with boys in or out of uniform.

Couple Wed in Home Ceremony

Jane Ellen Rathbun pledged vows to Lysle M. Basinger Saturday in the Lake Angelus Shores home of the Lysle T. Basingers, parents of the bridegroom. Rev. Theodore R. Allebach performed the informal midafternoon ceremony before a mantel banked with white gladioli, yellow chrysanthemums and palms.

★ ★ ★

Daughter of the Lester G. Rathbuns of Pontiac Road, the bride appeared in ballerina-length white silk organza. Applique of self-fabric roses defined the scoop neckline and skirt fullness.

Organza rosebuds held triple layers of silk illusion which formed a butterfly veil. A semi-colonial cascade included white roses and carnations.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wayne Good attended her sister as honor matron, wearing pink and white organza. She carried miniature pink roses and white carnations.

The bridegroom had Michael Nyberg for best man. Thomas Hoisington and William Hoisington seated the guests.

Returning from a brief Niagara Falls honeymoon, the newlyweds are at home on Baldwin Avenue. The new Mrs. Basinger attended Michigan State University Oakland where her husband is a sophomore.

★ ★ ★

For the ceremony and home reception, Mrs. Rathbun chose gray lace over pink taffeta while Mrs. Basinger appeared in a turquoise print silk sheath dress. Both wore corsages of miniature pink rosebuds.

Youth Awake to Dawning of New Age

1 in 5 Teen-Agers Wants to Be a Scientist

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Service, Inc.

Two Maryland boys bounce a radio signal off the moon. A girl in the Bronx helps isolate a cancer strain.

Two New Jersey youngsters discover a rare fossil in an old quarry.

These are teen-agers, displaying an active, working interest in science.

How deep does this interest lie, 3½ years after a wave of criticism rocked American science education in the wake of the launching of the first Russian sputnik?

Deep indeed.

PLAN CAREERS

As you stand at the door of your school, watching your classmates file by, you can figure that every fifth one plans a career in science.

Most of your friends know what IGY stands for. Do you? Most of them feel that science should be a required course in school.

* * *

But they are not so definite when it comes to assessing the worth of American scientists as compared with those of other nations, or whether the scientist is granted the recognition he deserves.

More than a third of the 951 teen-agers we quizzed in our science survey said American scientists are the best in the world, while about half ranked them on a par with those of Russia and other nations.

They were almost evenly split on whether scientists are accorded sufficient recognition.

Twenty per cent of the young people we quizzed (24 per cent of the boys and 17 per cent of the girls) want to be scientists. Seventy-five per cent have other careers in mind, while 5 per cent haven't made up their minds.

This interest in science appears genuine, when you consider that 71 per cent of your friends know that IGY stands for International Geophysical Year, a cooperative effort among many nations to increase and spread scientific knowledge.

Seventy per cent think science study should be required.

"This is becoming a pushbutton world," says 16-year-old Patty Greenwalt of Annandale, Va. "We should know something about it."

"At least general science and biology should be required," says Judy Dore, 18, of New Rochelle, N.Y., "in order to provide a basic understanding of science in connection with the earth and the human body."

MONEY NOT SOLE REWARD

But among the 27 per cent minority (3 per cent couldn't make up their minds), 17-year-old Judith A. Carney of Lowell, Mass., says requiring science would cause some students to suffer. "Some simply aren't scientifically motivated," says Judith.

And Ronald V. Haase, 16, of Faribault, Minn., believes "some that don't like it would goof it up for those that do."

Do you think that scientists are properly recognized in our society?

Forty-seven per cent of your friends believe they are, but 49 per cent say they are not.

Sue Cohen, 16, of Los Angeles, complains that "more people have heard of Casey Stengel than of Dr. Teller."

More of the youngsters — 65 per cent — feel that the scientist is adequately compensated. But not necessarily in money.

"Anything done for one's fellow men has myriad compensations," says Roderick M. O'Connor, 18, of Lowell, Mass.

Several youngsters expressed the opinion, however, that basic researchers and the lower-grade scientists are not adequately paid.

In rating U.S. scientists against those of Russia and other nations, 36 per cent of the youngsters say the Americans are better, 49 per cent say they are as good, while 8 per cent say they aren't up to par.

PEARL FOSTER

Graduating from Wayne State University Thursday at Detroit's Cobo Hall will be Pearl Foster of East Kennett Road, who will be granted a a bachelor of science degree in education. A science and psychology major, she will teach at Baldwin School in September. Prior to attending college, Miss Foster was jury clerk for the Oakland County Clerk's office.

LOUIS A. SHOVELS

Louis A. Shovels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Shovels of Alhi Street, Waterford Township, was graduated from the college of optical technology at Ferris Institute, Big Rapids. He will attend Ohio State University School of Optometry in Columbus, Ohio, in the fall.

Have You Tried This?

Sprinkle Spanish Rice With Cheese, Then Bake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Spanish Rice is one of those filling dishes that is easy and economical to prepare. Mrs. Crozier Rutledge of Beverly Island uses bacon for the meat in her recipe.

A former teacher of dancing, Mrs. Rutledge keeps busy with a new home and a large family.

SPANISH RICE
By Mrs. Crozier Rutledge

½ green pepper
1 onion
1 stalk celery
8 strips of bacon
1 pound rice
1 large can tomatoes
8 sharp cheese

Chop fresh vegetables. Fry bacon crisp and drain. Glaze the vegetables in fat. Partially cook the rice, about 15-20 minutes. Drain. Add vegetables and crumbled bacon. Add tomatoes.

Pour into large buttered casserole and sprinkle with cheese. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Serves 8.

Give It a Chance

Bold Color Can Be Basic

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Maturity and frumpiness need not go together. Many women seem to feel that they should be "sensible" about appearance when they reach the mature years. But the truth is that it's never sensible to look dowdy. For if you belong to the black-navy-blue-gray school of dressing, you find life has less sparkle.

LONG GONE ERA

In the Victorian era, the women did put on drab colors in middle age. But that era is long gone, though its echoes seem to linger on in some respects. Remember, there's no rule that says you must stay away from color. In all fairness to yourself, you should experiment with color each time you make a new addition to your wardrobe.

Discover that a red coat can be as basic as a black one. That royal blue is pure flattery to your skin. That a true and beautiful amethyst will make you feel and look years younger. Extend this thinking about color to every single thing you buy.

And don't wind up with black or gray because you're afraid of color. Give it a chance; find out what it can do for you.

Opens Her Home to Church Group

Mrs. W. J. Baumgartner of Silverside Drive opened her home on Tuesday to the January-March Group of First Presbyterian Church. Cohostesses were Mrs. David Brown, Mrs. H. M. Boorn, Mrs. Mahlon Benson Jr. and Mrs. Charles Tompkins.

Devotions were presented by Mrs. H. E. McCulloch.

The September meeting will be at the home of Mrs. John Mains in Bloomfield Hills.

School Aid Bill Not Beaten Yet

Rayburn Disagrees No Hope Left for Fund's in This Session

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker Sam Rayburn conceded Wednesday that President Kennedy's $2.5 billion public school aid bill was in serious trouble but he predicted the House would at least vote on it this session.

★ ★ ★

Rayburn disagreed with education committee Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N. Y., who has said he saw no hope for the measure.

Another education committee member said the debate over federal aid for parochial and other private schools had aroused religious feelings to the point where both the public school bill and the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) were doomed.

Backers of private school aid have shifted their attempt to gain federal funds to the NDEA bill, after finding strong opposition to including it in the main bill.

The public school bill now is being held up in the House rules committee until the education committee passes on the NDEA measure. The main bill also faces opposition from Republicans who say no need has been shown for any federal aid to schools.

CHURCH FIRE: DEC. 28, 1948

One of the largest fires in Pontiac's history, and probably the largest church fire was the burning of the First Episcopal Church.

The large brick structure at West Pike and Williams Streets was the scene of a blaze that completely gutted the main part of the building.

★ ★ ★

Other parts of the edifice suffered heavy loss from fire, smoke and water. It was one of the most stubborn fires in the city in many years.

The embers had hardly cooled when plans were under way to restore everything in better condition than ever before. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Veteran Life Policy Pays Big Dividends—How?

WASHINGTON (AP)—How can the Veterans Administration pay such high dividends on its participating life insurance policies?

That question comes up repeatedly, especially this year as the VA is paying not only its regular annual insurance dividends but also will pay a special dividend amounting to 80 per cent of the regular distribution.

Together, the 1961 payments will total almost $500 million.

The regular 1961 annual dividends were distributed or credited to policyholders by March 17 — some $258.5 million to about 5.06 million veterans—instead of being spread as usual through the year.

★ ★ ★

The first special dividends since annual dividends were instituted in 1932 will total about $230 million. The first checks are to go in the mails late this month with completion of the payments now scheduled for about Aug. 1 instead of the earlier announced goal of Labor Day.

SEVERAL FACTORS

Officials say there are several contributing factors to VA's ability to pay such dividends:

1. The laws which established the insurance programs fixed the mortality rates at high levels which prevailed in the 1860s and present death rates are much lower. Thus higher premiums are required and relatively large dividends are paid.

★ ★ ★

2. The government pays the administrative (overhead) costs of the programs and does not charge them to the insurance trust funds.

3. Claims arising from extra hazardous military duty ultimately are paid from appropriated funds and not charged against the trust funds.

The policies on which dividends are paid are largely U.S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI) primarily held by World War I veterans and National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) primarily held by World War II veterans.

No new NSLI or USGLI policies may be issued though lapsed policies may be reinstated by complying with requirements.

The VA has other insurance programs but they do not have general dividend participation policies.

It would take a change in the laws to change the premium levels for VA insurance. Such a possibility has been discussed in Congress but no serious move has been made.

Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., chairman of the House Veterans Committee, recently said Congress cannot make a mandatory change in the mortality tables because that would affect the contract the insurance represents.

The statutory tables in the insurance laws place the death rates at, for example, 8.43 per 1,000 persons covered at age 30, 13.78 at age 50 and 61.99 at age 70.

Actual experience shows the rates are running 1.08 at age 30, 6.72 at age 50 and 43.30 at age 70.

EXPLAINS DIFFERENCE

"The difference between the two rates is roughly the dividend in dollars per $1,000 of term insurance," explained W. A. Poissant, chief actuary of the VA Insurance Department.

Under the VA system, 55 to 85 per cent of the premium on term insurance covering persons at ages under 45 is returned to the policyholders in the form of dividends.

"This is true because the rates were set too high at the start, by law," Poissant said. "It is not true of the nonparticipating insurance issued to veterans with Korean service because actual experience was taken into consideration in fixing those rates."

The first VA insurance dividends paid after the end of World War II were distributed in 1950 and 1951, to catch up on funds accumulated between 1940 and 1951. Annual dividends have been paid since 1952.

Over the years, while this was being done, VA followed a policy of holding back funds to meet contingencies. Last year this had reached about $465 million.

The special dividend to be paid later this year will reduce by about half the contingency fund.

At the end of 1960 the NSLI trust fund, the largest of four the VA maintains for its separate insurance programs, had assets of $1,209,202,465, including an $81,824,004 unassigned similar surplus.

NSLI insurance in force totaled 5,244,244 policies for $34,379,957,989 and there were 315,139 USGLI policies in force for $1,388,150,563.

Dillon Appeals for Aid Passage

Cites 'Serious State' of Berlin Affairs in House Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon says the administration's long-range foreign aid program was based on the assumption of continuing "cold war tension."

★ ★ ★

Dillon appealed for congressional approval of the program in testimony Wednesday before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

He said the administration did not take into account the mounting East-West pressures over Berlin in planning the program. However, the secretary, who served in the Eisenhower administration as undersecretary of state, said the Soviet threat to Berlin was "very serious."

Dillon said the United States was working hard with its allies to "find means to progress on this question without in any way relaxing our fundamental principle, which we cannot do, to safeguard the freedom of the people of West Berlin."

★ ★ ★

The administration seeks authority to spend and lend up to $12 billion in foreign aid in the next five years. The program has run into some opposition in Congress, partly because it would loosen somewhat congressional control on foreign aid spending.

Kilmer Oak Is Dying; Inspired Poem 'Trees'

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) —The gnarled old oak that inspired Joyce Kilmer to write his poem "Trees" is dying.

Kilmer Oak, nearly 300 years old, still stands proudly on the campus of Rutgers University, but age is taking its toll. A dozen branches failed to bloom this spring and a large gash developed in its trunk.

"It's an out-and-out case of senility," says Dr. Edward B. Wilkins, director of Rutger's campus planning. But he said the tree will not be chopped down.

And the Student Forestry Club has planted one of its acorns nearby.

Farmer Violence Starts to Spread All Over France

PARIS (UPI) — Worried government officials feared today that demonstrations by farmers would grow in violence and spread throughout France unless something is done to help slumping farm prices.

Hundreds of farmers used a battering ram Wednesday to beat down the locked doors of the government prefecture and take over the central administrative offices of Poitiers, capital of the Vienne District in Central France.

Rene Dufeu, chief government security officer for the Vienne District, was injured. Some of the demonstrators roughed up a news photographer, smashing his camera.

French officials were disturbed over the reports of violence. The demonstrations had started peacefully in the Brittany region of Western France two weeks ago, but now have spread to the central sector.

Waterford Lions to Install Officers

The Waterford Township Lion's Club will have its installation of officers at a banquet tonight in the Eagle's Hall on Highland Road.

Seymore Karp will be the president; James Seeterlin, first vice president; Howard Rice, second vice president; and Richard Smith, third vice president.

Duane O. Johnson will be the Lion tamer; Frank Crowley, tail twister; and the following men will serve as board members: James (Doc) St. Louis, Peter Hummel, Earl Floyd and Donald Shaw.

More than $650 was collected in the recent sale of white canes for the blind. Seeterlin said that $475 of this amount came from the junior and senior high schools.

Pigeon Causes Uproar

MECHANICVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—A carrier pigeon from South Dartmouth, Mass., was killed when it paused to rest on a high tension line. The resulting short-circuit set off the city's fire alarm system.

House Out to Derail JFK's Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans drove today to knock the multibillion-dollar administration housing bill off the legislative tracks with a low-cost substitute.

★ ★ ★

Their strategy was to offer a measure simply extending existing housing provisions for a year, without any of the new or expanded programs included in the catch-all Democratic legislation. The Democratic program is priced at $4.9 billion by its sponsors and at more than $9 billion by the Republicans. GOP leaders say their measure would cost only $1.1 billion.

★ ★ ★

Democratic leaders already have made a major sacrifice, hoping to hold enough conservative colleagues in line to defeat the Republican measure. They ditched practically all President Kennedy's 40-year-mortgage, no-down-payment program for moderate income housing insured by the federal housing administration.

The United States bought is first military aircraft in 1909 just six years after the Wright brothers made their first historic flight on the sand dunes in North Carolina.

STRESSING QUALITY—Pontiac reliability specialists perform inspections on a new Pontiac station wagon and Tempest sedan in the division's specially designed car quality audit area at the home plant. The audit teams randomly select completed cars for quality checks on a continual basis at each of seven Pontiac assembly locations across the United States. The inspectors are Herbert P. Kottke (left) of 1342 Lapeer Road, Lake Orion; and Robert G. Albright of 134 Summit.

Pontiacs Checked Under, Over

Pontiac customers can look forward to ever improving reliability as a result of a new car quality audit inspection procedure established by the division in its home plant here and in each of the six BOP assembly plants across the country, according to S. E. Knudsen, General Motors vice president and Pontiac general manager.

Stressing standardization and uniformity, the system employs two technically trained audit teams rotating between each of the seven plants to check completed car quality on a continual basis, Knudsen explained.

Identical car quality audit areas in all seven plants are specially equipped for checking both Pontiacs and Tempests 100 per cent for chassis and body assembly quality. Cars to be quality audited are selected at random from cars ready to ship to dealers.

★ ★ ★

A car hoist is available for under-body inspection and bolt torque tests along with special lighting for the inspection of painted and plated surfaces. The audit cars also undergo rigid water and dust leak checks as well as extensive road testing under all driving conditions. A minimum of 340 uniform check points are completed during the audit of each automobile.

REPORT TROUBLE

Any discrepancies noted in the audits are immediately reported by the teams to joint meetings of key assembly and reliability supervision assigned permanently to the particular plant, enabling a quick remedy of any deficiency.

★ ★ ★

The objective of the reliability department's car audit quality teams is to insure that design and engineering objectives are achieved in each and every Pontiac and Tempest.

The quality audit teams represent just one of the many reliability controls which Pontiac maintains constantly to assure that each Pontiac and Tempest satisfies each discriminating purchaser from both appearance and performance standpoints.

Prior to quality audit more than 15,000 inspection checks are made on each car and its major components. All checks and controls are directed, Knudsen pointed out, "toward attainment of the reliability concept that our cars will always look the way they are supposed to look and perform the way they are supposed to perform."

French Defeat 2nd Landing Try by Pacifists

LE HAVRE, France (AP) — French police defeated a second attempt today by a group of pacifists to land in France on a San Francisco-to-Moscow march protesting nuclear weapons.

There were 16 Americans in the group of 23.

★ ★ ★

French police threw a cordon around the area where the English Channel ferry docked to prevent the marchers from swimming ashore as some did last week. The ferry was told to haul them back to England tonight.

Science Foundation Revokes Scholarship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Science Foundation, under strong pressure from the chairmen of two congressional committees, has revoked a $3,800 government fellowship for Edward Yellin.

★ ★ ★

Yellin, now a student at the University of Illinois, was convicted last year of contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions about Communist party membership put to him by a House subcommittee on un-American activities.

★ ★ ★

He was sentenced to a year in prison, but currently is appealing to the Supreme Court. Notwithstanding, the foundation last March awarded Yellin the fellowship to continue his studies at the University of Colorado.

Court Orders Ex-Mate to Pay Child Support

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A court settlement has ended the suit actress Vera Miles brought against her former husband, actor Gordon Scott.

Miss Miles, 31, had asked for $300 a month for care of their son, Michael, 3, on the grounds that no support provision was made when she divorced Scott at Juarez, Mex., in March 1960.

The court Wednesday ordered Scott to pay $175 monthly.

3 TV Networks Rejected HST

Hearing on Programing Tells Reasons Firms Won't Carry Series

NEW YORK (AP)— Television producer David Susskind says all three major television networks rejected a proposed series of documentary programs featuring former President Harry S. Truman.

★ ★ ★

Susskind testified Wednesday at a hearing conducted by the Federal Communications Commission inquiring into creative aspects of TV programing.

★ ★ ★

The hearing resumes today.

Concerning a proposed series of 26 one-hour programs by Truman, Susskind testified that the American Broadcasting Co. told him "it was up to its neck in presidents," having planned a series on Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

NBC PASSES

"NBC said 'We pass,'" Susskind said.

The Columbia Broadcasting system liked the idea but felt it belonged in the public affairs category and that CBS could not "admit outsiders into this sacred domain," Susskind said.

★ ★ ★

Later, James T. Aubrey Jr., CBS president, said Susskind's testimony was "fraught with errors and distortion," adding: "It is our understanding that at the next phase of the hearings, which will be held next fall, we will be given an opportunity to testify."

★ ★ ★

Susskind told the hearing that it was not the content but the number of people who watched a show that counted, adding: "We've gone quite mad in television—six million constitutes no audience."

Installs Mike in Neighbor's Bedroom Attic

LONDON (AP)—Why did William Clegg install that microphone in the attic over Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sheen's bedroom?

To record bird calls, Clegg insisted in court Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Sheen said, "Every word we said in bed could have been picked up by that microphone."

Clegg and the Sheens live in attached cottages with a common attic.

Mrs. Sheen, 48, said, "Alfred and I never have any domestic arguments, but it is embarrassing to think that our private conversations were being overheard."

Clegg, 42, said, "I am making a film on birds with sound track. I set this microphone up in the loft to record the sounds of early morning bird songs. It did not record any human voices."

The judge decided that Clegg was guilty of trespassing on the privacy of the Sheens. He assessed damages of 52 pounds ($145.60).

Spans English Channel —in Motorized Bed

CALAIS, France (AP)—A London bank clerk has found a new way to cross the English Channel—by bed.

Bob Platten, 36, chugged into port Wednesday after a six-hour trip from Dover on a wooden bed frame. It was mounted on a 12-foot twin-hulled boat with an outboard motor.

Patten, who makes a hobby of offbeat channel crossings, plans to use a coffin on his next trip.

7 Persons Die in Two Blasts

Ecorse Explosion Kills Three; 4 Are Victims in Mitchell, Ind.

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)— Seven persons were killed in separate industrial explosions Wednesday in suburban Detroit and Mitchell, Ind.

A blast turned a 70-by-100-foot oxygen plant of the Linde Division of Union Carbide Corp. in Ecorce, into a "ball of fire." It claimed lives of three men, fathers of a total of eight children.

Four workers were killed and at least a dozen injured when a blast, believed caused by an accumulation of natural gas, demolished an almost-completed building at the Lehigh Portland Cement Co. plant at Mitchell.

One of the Indiana dead was a cleaning woman. The others were construction workers who had been building the 60-by-90-foot building where trucks were to be weighed in and out of the cement plant.

Victims of the Ecorse oxygen explosion were John W. Andrews, Jr., 24, father of three, and Arwood Bedell, 50, father of two.

The Indiana blast claimed the lives of Rose Ann Blackwell, 54, working her first day as a cleaning woman; Harry May, 38; Larry Runyon; and Seward Mundy, 55.

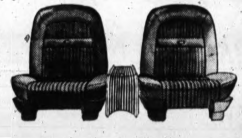
BUCKET SEATS AND COMMON SENSE!

OR WHAT MAKES A COMPLETE LUXURY COMPACT?

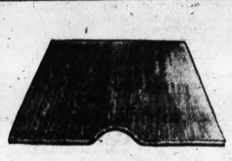


BUCKET SEATS UP FRONT are a must in any luxury compact. And once you've enjoyed Futura's individually contoured twin front seats (styled by the men who designed the Thunderbird), you'll agree no other luxury compact ever got off to a better start! However, the bucket seats are just a start.

ROOM FOR 3 IN THE BACK SEAT should be next in a luxury compact. And in Futura, there's really room for 3: plenty of head room, shoulder room and leg room—room for people! What's more, Futura's spacious back seat is thickly foam-padded for comfort.

VACATION-SIZE TRUNK. Not just a hole in front where the engine should be, or a shallow space behind the back seat—but an honest to goodness 23.7-cubic-foot trunk! This really counts during vacation time.

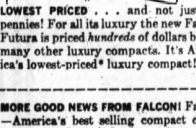
A HANDY CONSOLE comes next . . . positioned between the front seats. You can keep maps, sunglasses and gloves right at your finger tips while you drive. (Only Futura in its price class has this feature!)



WALL-TO-WALL CARPETING is also a part of Futura's luxury. You get beautiful trim and color schemes, too, plus touches like arm rests all around . . . niceties you don't get in some other luxury compacts!

USAC 32.6

A 25-YEAR RECORD was broken when a Falcon with standard shift got 32.6 mpg under the cross-country test conditions of this year's Mobilgas Economy Run. Competing against a group of expert drivers, really out to win, Falcon recorded the best gas mileage ever obtained by a "6" or "8" in the Run's 25-year history!



LOWEST PRICED . . . and not just by pennies! For all its luxury the new Falcon Futura is priced hundreds of dollars below many other luxury compacts. It's America's lowest-priced* luxury compact!

MORE GOOD NEWS FROM FALCON! Falcon —America's best selling compact car— has increased its '61 lead over its nearest competitor to nearly 50,000 cars.

Schoolboy, 8, Saves Children as Home Burns

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) —Julian Anderson left class Wednesday and wandered toward home, the way an 8-year-old schoolboy will do on the first day of summer.

But he broke into a frightened run when he saw flames through the window of his home.

Julian raced into the smoke-choked kitchen and pushed his brother Frankie, 4, into the yard. Then he ran to an upstairs bedroom and carried his 18-month-old sister Eartha to safety. He returned once more to rescue Kevin 3.

Neighbors had extinguished the blaze in the living room with garden hoses when firemen arrived. Frankie tearfully admitted he had been playing with matches.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Anderson, were shopping at the time.

Set Public Hearings Into Food Packaging

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators investigating sharp practices in the retail packaging and labeling of foods and other household items have set next Wednesday for the start of public hearings.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who will preside at the hearings before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, said Wednesday the inquiry will begin with testimony from some expert witnesses.

At issue, he said, are complaints from consumers all over the country charging they have been misled by false, deceptive and otherwise improper packaging and labeling.

"They have the feeling that some of these packages were rigged against them from the start," Hart said in a statement.

The nation's governors will meet in the Hawaiian capital starting Monday. Army representatives are expected to make their case before the conference's National Guard Committee, headed by Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia.

★ ★ ★

The plan may take some selling. While some Guard divisions will be chosen for strengthening with added manpower, intensified training and the latest equipment, others will suffer losses in revisions of strength within manpower and budgetary limitations.

Area Colleges May Help Higher Education Problem

(Editor's Note—This is the third of a four-part series by Stuart Gross, education writer of the Saginaw News, in which he looks at the financial problems of Michigan's crowded colleges. In this installment, Gross discusses whether expansion of the community college program is a possible answer.)

By STUART GROSS
Education Writer, Saginaw News

SAGINAW (AP)—Many legislators and educators view expansion of the community college system as the best and most economical solution to the state's higher education problem.

TO COST MONEY

This expansion will cost money. Legislators say they don't know how much it will cost, but they know it will take more taxes to finance it.

There also are those who are fearful rapid expansion of the community colleges, independent of four-year college expansion, will lead to a jam-up at the junior-year level eventually. Others discount this.

They say the four-year colleges can become senior colleges — taking junior and senior years plus graduate students.

The community college plays a distinct role in the educational system. It is a two-year college — freshman and sophomore — and offers both degree-transfer courses and terminal courses.

★ ★ ★

It provides, at less expense to the state, higher educational opportunities for thousands who don't have the ability or the desire to go four years to college for a bachelor degree.

★ ★ ★

The community college is financed partly by the state, partly by local taxes, and partly by tuition and fees. Some are formed with independent taxing power, such as Delta College of Saginaw, Bay and Midland, but most are controlled and financed as part of a secondary school system and governed by the local school board.

CRISIS FELT LESS

There is no question that those cities with community colleges have felt the college enrollment crisis to a less degree than those without these two-year colleges.

Delta will open in September with about 2,000 students, and any student in the tricounty area denied admission to a four-year school can get his start at Delta.

★ ★ ★

There are now 16 community colleges in the state which enroll about 27,000 students. Dr. Lynn M. Barlett, state school superintendent, says this number should be doubled to handle the anticipated enrollment bulge.

★ ★ ★

At the same time he warns of a jam-up at the junior-transfer year in four-year colleges if the four-years colleges can't expand. He said the present enrollment curtailment of the four-year colleges already has cut out some of these transfer students.

STATE MUST DO MORE

Rep. Raymond Wurtzel (R-Port Huron), chairman of the House Education Committee, says the state must do more for the community colleges financially.

He said the present state aid of $205 per student should go to $300, and the state must be more generous with its allocations of construction funds. The state now distributes about $3 million annually for this purpose.

"Education costs," Wurtzel said, "are going up. I am sure we are going to have to change the taxing system to finance it, but just how, I don't know."

State community colleges are concerned about independent expansion:

★ ★ ★

"It is entirely possible there will be some overcrowding at the junior year if community colleges expand without concurrent upper division expansion," says Dean Clyde E. Blocker of Flint Junior College.

"On the other hand, the community colleges will do much to screen the inadequate transfer student, in some cases, redirecting him into a more realistic educational objective in the technologies."

W. N. Atkinson, Jackson Junior College president, said: "The possibility of a jam-up is certainly a matter of serious concern. I know that some of the state university administrators are alert to this, but the mechanism of adjustment is sufficiently slow in its operation that there is reason to anticipate difficulty. The suggestion that four-year colleges do not expand is rather unrealistic for I am sure that some expansion will take place in practically all of them except in a very few of the church-related colleges."

Dean Blocker said Flint JC expects about 4,800 students next fall, and unless one more large building is erected by 1965, the college will run out of space. The college expects an enrollment of 10,000 by 1970.

★ ★ ★

"We do not currently have any major building programs under way, or plan for the immediate future," he said. "I believe we will have to have substantially increased state aid for capital projects before building any additional classroom space."

Dr. Atkinson said Jackson JC grew 22 per cent last year, and expects another 20 per cent increase this year.

★ ★ ★

"Undoubtedly, the shortage of space in four-year colleges has been a contributing factor," he said, "but probably more in the way of making the environment less pleasant for students than in an absolute exclusion."

★ ★ ★

He said Jackson will require new facilities by 1965, and if a projected vote of Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee counties fails to form a new community college district, the Jackson union district will proceed with plans for a new campus for which land has been purchased.

Obscure SAE Sets Car-Part Standards

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — On your car, you change headlights from high beam to low beam with a switch operated with your left foot.

★ ★ ★

Or if you have an automatic dimmer it works at the same intensity as one in a car approaching you.

If your bright lights are on, you know it by a red warning light on the instrument panel.

These conditions hold true regardless of the make of American car you drive because the auto industry has chosen to follow standards set up by the Society of Automotive Engineers.

The SAE got into the standards field in 1910. Now there are SAE standards for almost everything connected with any self-propelled vehicle — cars, trucks, tractors, airplanes or missiles.

EVEN SPACESHIPS

The first American space vehicle to reach the moon will be made of materials which conform to specific SAE standards, just as does the car in your driveway.

The average motorist is almost totally unaware of such standards. Virtually his only direct contact with them comes in the purchase of motor oil. The numbers such as low, 20w and the like, are SAE standards.

In practice, there are SAE standards for almost every portion of your car, except glass and the tires — fields which the society leaves to others such as the American Standards Association.

Back in 1905, A. L. Riker, first president of SAE, said:

"It would be a great plan to get at some definite names for the various parts of the automobile, because, as we all know, not every manufacturer and dealer calls the same parts by the same names."

★ ★ ★

But it took another six years for the first committee on nomenclature to be formed and to report. Now there are 37 technical committees under four general classifications, and at least one of these has as many as 31 subcommittees.

The general classifications are the Aerospace Council, the Automotive Council, the General Materials Council and the General Standards Council.

By definition, SAE standards are "specifications based on sound, established engineering practice." The society also publishes SAE information reports on new developments and SAE recommended practices.

In the case of recommended practices some become standards after enough experience has been gained.

Although the society discourages it, many of its standards on such things as brake fluids and lighting have been adopted as laws by various states. Some 18 states specify any brake fluid offered for sale must meet SAE standards.

★ ★ ★

G. J. Gaudaen, manager of the Detroit office of the society, explains SAE's reluctance to have its standards adopted as law this way:

"Our standards are intended to be flexible. Every one is reviewed at least every five years, many of them more often, and changes are made. When something is put into law it is apt to become fixed."

The society also emphasizes its standards are voluntary.

But since it provides the only guideposts in a complicated industry, the SAE versions are generally accepted.

★ ★ ★

Consider the total confusion which could develop if every manufacturer had to set up his own individual specifications for every screw he wanted to use.

Jaycees to Elect New President, 10 VPs Today

ATLANTA (AP)—Sleepy-eyed delegates to the 41st U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce convention elect a new president and 10 vice presidents today.

★ ★ ★

Members held state caucuses and demonstrations for their favorite candidates until the wee hours of the morning. One observer said it looked just like a national political convention.

★ ★ ★

Four candidates are seeking the top Jaycee post. They are R. Dean Arbuckle of Jefferson, Iowa; Lewis A. Aronowitz of Albany, N.Y.; Bob Conger of Jackson, Tenn.; and John E. Holgate of Phoenix, Ariz.

Ship Strike Perils Hawaii Food Supply

HONOLULU (AP) — Gov. William F. Quinn met with his emergency food committee Wednesday to discuss plans in case the maritime strike becomes prolonged.

Almost all food used here is imported from the U.S. West Coast.

★ ★ ★

Grocers usually keep four to five weeks' supply on hand, but supermarket operators said panic buying could exhaust stores in two weeks.

★ ★ ★

Grocers reported that sales of rice and canned milk have been heavier than usual and some stores are rationing these items.

★ ★ ★

Foodstuffs could be shipped from Australia, New Zealand and the Orient on foreign ships, which have not been affected by the strike.

Stevenson Quite Gloomy on S. American Politics

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Adlai Stevenson returns to Washington today with gloomy views on South America but with the feeling most of the continent's governments are under good leadership and are working toward improvement.

Informed quarters said those would be the main findings he would lay before President Kennedy Friday in summing up his 18-day trip.

CONDITIONS WORSE

As his military plane completed the final leg of the 16,500-mile trip which began June 4, Stevenson declined to comment on his tour. But informed sources said he would report that conditions are worse than when he made a similar tour a year ago.

He was said to have reached the conclusion that economic conditions have deteriorated during the past year, Communist subversion has increased and that South American governments are less stable.

★ ★ ★

He was understood to have found the governments conscious of a Communist menace but the current political climate unsuitable for joint action to curb subversive activities.

★ ★ ★

He also was understood to feel that anti-American sentiment rose sharply after the April invasion of Cuba but that it is subsiding with time.

Any hemispheric joint political action with respect to Cuba, he feels, probably will have to wait until after the July 15 meeting in Uruguay of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council.

★ ★ ★

Associates said Stevenson feels the United States must grant substantial funds for Kennedy's alliance-for-progress plan to work.

★ ★ ★

On the brighter side, Stevenson reportedly found greater government preoccupation with the danger in present economic conditions and greater efforts to bring reforms in tax systems, land use, housing, education and administration.

Says He Tried to Save Jews

Sought Homeland for Them on Madagascar, Claims Eichmann

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann testified today he tried to save Europe's Jews by creating a homeland for them on the island of Madagascar.

The former Gestapo lieutenant colonel said he conceived the "Madagascar plan" that was juggled around in high Nazi circles in 1940 but never got past the paper stage.

Eichmann identified principal portions of the plan as his own, particularly a study of climate and living conditions on the French island off the East African coast.

"I studied all prior conditions which were sine qua non for anyone settling there," Eichmann said. "I went to Hamburg and talked to people of the Tropical Hygiene Institute. Then I received orders from my superiors to go on working out plans which would not be utopian."

The defendant accused of a major role in the Nazi extermination of six million Jews did not explain how or when the Madagascar scheme foundered. Israel has produced evidence that Hitler, Heinrich Himmler and Gestapo chief Reinhard Heydrich decided on mass extermination "as the final solution of the Jewish problem" early in 1941.

Hitler, in published accounts of his informal nightly conversations over tea, said he rather favored the Madagascar scheme for a while because conditions there would eventually wipe out the Jews.

On the witness stand for the third day, Eichmann insisted he always approached the "solution" to the Jewish problem by "trying to put some ground, some soil, under their feet."

HIGH COURT ACTS; MAY 17, 1954

The United States Supreme Court ruled unanimously that segregation of Negro and white students in public schools in un3 constitutional.

It was feared, however, that many months may elapse before the historic ruling wipes out the separate schools long maintained in many southern states.

Chief Justice Warren read the court's findings which declared: "We concluded that in the field of public education the doctrine of separate but equal has no place. Separate education facilities are inherently unequal."

Men Talk Loud on Phone but Gals Gab More

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A survey of 10 U.S. cities shows that men do the louder talking on the telephone, but women make the most social calls.

The survey was made by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and was presented today at a meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Through a special system of measuring speech volumes on telephones, the company found that men's voices average two decibels more than women's. There is, however, a wide range in the loudness of male voices on the telephone. For example, men tend to talk louder when talking to men.

About 60 per cent of business calls were made by men and 60 per cent of social calls were made by women.

Hannah Backs Ex-Civil Rights Staff Director

EAST LANSING (AP) — Gordon Tiffany, former staff director of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission, hadd a job that "an angel from heaven could not have handled to says John A. Hannah, his former boss.

Hannah, commission chairman and president of Michigan State University, answered a report on Tiffany by the Senate Permanent Investigation subcommittee Wednesday.

The committee said its probe showed Tiffany had "neither the executive ability nor the competence," for the post. Sen. John J. McClellan, D-Ark., committee chairman, said it was apparent to him that Tiffany's resignation Jan. 1, was because of the probe.

* * *

Hannah sided with Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., saying the staff director resigned because of a change in administration.

CENTENNIAL BAKING — Mrs. Jerome Varon (left) of Ottawa Drive opened her kitchen to Centennial cookie bakers earlier this week. Mrs. Dimitrie Toth (center) of First Street is taking a pan of Roumanian Ciflie Dospite out of the oven, while Mrs. Karol Staszkiewkz of Strathdonway puts Chrust on a plate. All these cookies—and many more—will be served at Friday's International Tea at the Elks Temple.

To Be Served Friday

Centennial Cookies Go in Oven

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

For several weeks now you have been hearing about the International Tea to be held Friday at the Elks Temple in connection with the other Centennial Festivities. We're sure you'd like to have some recipes for a few of the goodies to be served.

Eighteen exhibits, representing 27 different nationalities, are to be on display, all in charge of women in native dress. In addition, there is a French sidewalk cafe planned.

Tea will be served from a 40-inch high teapot. There will also be coffee and Mexican hot chocolate.

But the cookies on each table will be the center of interest. There will be over 50 different varieties, baked by the women of each nationality.

The first cookies are the ones Mrs. Toth is taking out of the oven in the picture on this page. They are Roumanian raised nut or jam twists.

CIFLIE DOSPITE

By Mrs. Mary Metes

4 cups flour
4 packages (3 ounces each) cream cheese
1 pound butter

Mix well and shape into a ball. Chill for 4 hours or more. Roll thin and cut into 2-inch squares. Place desired filling on each square (this may be jam, nuts and honey or other fruit.)

Fold corner or dough over to form whatever shape desired. Place on cookie sheet and bake 20-25 minutes or until brown in 375-degree oven. Makes approximately 5 dozen.

Mrs. Staszkiewkz is putting Chrust on a plate. These are Polish cookies that you fry in deep hot fat.

CHRUST

By Mrs. Karol Staszkiewkz

Juice of 1 lemon
6 egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon sour cream

Mix above ingredients together, then add flour until dough is of noodle consistency. Roll out small amount at a time, keeping the rest well covered.

Cut into long strips and make small cut in the middle of each. Pull one end through the cut and twist. Fry in hot fat about 2 minutes on each side. Drain and sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

Spanish Use of Olive Oil Copied in Squash Recipe

Make a Spanish casserole with young tender summer squash. Dice squash enough to fill a casserole ¾ full, toss with 2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil, a tablespoon minced parsley, a tablespoon of minced onion, ¼ teaspoon black pepper, and ½ teaspoon salt (or more to taste).

Place in oiled casserole, top with soft crumbs blended with enough oil to moisten and sprinkle Parmesan cheese over top. Cover casserole, bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes; uncover during last 10 minutes.

From the wife of a Turkish doctor at Pontiac State Hospital comes this cookie recipe.

TURKISH COOKIE

By Mrs. Leman Kiyak

½ pound unsalted butter
2 cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking powder

Melt butter and mix with rest of ingredients. Add sifted flour until mixture becomes a loose dough. Form into little S-shaped figures, about 1-inch in diameter and 4-5 inches olng.

Bake at 350 degrees until light pink. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar if desired.

TEA BREAD FROM NORWAY

By Mrs. John Frost

1 cup sugar
1 cup butter or margarine
2 large eggs, well beaten
1 cup sour or sweet thick cream
4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1½ teaspoons baking powder
Vanilla, cinnamon OR cardomom

Cream sugar with butter or margarine. Add eggs and cream. Sift dry ingredients and add. Put in flavoring.

This will be a stiff cookie dough, but instead of rolling out, you divide it in 3 or 4 equal parts. Shape into a long roll and place on cookie sheet. Flatten rolls slightly and glaze with slightly beaten egg white. Sprinkle with sugar.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 40 minutes. Remove and let cool for a few minutes. With a sharp knife slice rolls into pieces 1-inch thick and place cut side down on cookie sheet. Return to oven and brown.

Scalloped Oysters

Roll 5 pilot crackers to fine crumbe, 35 oysters, 1 pint of juice or milk. Lay in a deep pudding dish in layers, seasoning each layer of oysters with pepper and salt and small quantity of butter. The top layer must be crumbs and butter. Bake one-half hour in quick oven.

Cabbage Continues Its Popular Way

Here are some vital statistics on cabbage, now in abundant (and inexpensive supply in supermarkets, corner groceries and roadside stands all over America:

* * *

A half-cup serving (shredded) counts only nine little calories! (Double for cooked—not because cooking adds calories but because the cabbage shrinks.)

Cabbage is loaded with vitamin C. (Much more when raw.)

On top of this add such fringe benefits as generous amounts of vitamins A and G, thiamin, riboflavin and niacin plus lots of calcium, phosphorous, iron and even protein. (According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.)

Americans average eating between 10 and 12 pounds of cabbage each a year. (In 1920 we averaged a record 23 pounds apiece for some odd reason.)

* * *

Here are some hints on choosing and using cabbage:

Look for heads that are solid, heavy for their size, lack damaged leaves, have leaves firmly attached to stem and are white or bright green. (No yellow leaves.)

Store cabbage covered in the refrigerator.

Use as soon after purchase as possible. (This goes for all fresh vegetables.)

Eat raw for most food value.

Cut or shred just before serving or cooking.

Cook quickly in a small amount of boiling, salted water. Salt helps retain the color and vitamin C, enhances the flavor and speeds cooking.)

Cook quartered cabbage 10 to 15 minutes. (Don't overcook)

* * *

When trimming, leave a quarter inch of the stem base on to help retain moisture.

One of the most delightful complements to cabbage is corned beef. Add new Florida potatoes (Red Pontiacs)—also in plentiful supply now — and the meal is practically complete.

The best part is they all seem to belong to each other. Here's the procedure.

Buy the brisket already corned at the grocery (unless you wish to spend two or three days corning it yourself. To three pounds of meat add enough water to cover, one bay leaf, two tablespoons of peppercorn, two cloves of garlic, ¼ cup of vinegar, ½ teaspoon red pepper and a dash of tabasco. Bring it to a boil, then cover and simmer until done — about four hours.

If the potatoes are to be served whole, scrub them good and put them in the pot with the beef for a couple of hours or until you can stick a fork in them. When the beef and potatoes are done, remove them from the pot and store them in a warm place while you cook the quartered cabbage in the juice until it is barely tender. Serve them all steaming hot.

Orange Flavored Pie Is Fragrant Shower Treat

Know why orange blossoms are used for brides? Aside from the fact that they are pretty and smell nice, oranges are the symbol of love and happiness. Serve orange-flavored Tropic Delight Pie at your next bridal shower and you'll be having lots of thoughts of love and happiness yourself. Yes, it's just that easy to prepare and what's more, can be made the day before.

* * *

Tropic Delight Pie is made with a crust of marshmallow, coconut and crushed bite-size shredded rice biscuits. It doesn't even have to be baked. The filling is delicious gelatinized custard that is flavored with fresh orange juice and grated orange peel. It's tasty, it's pretty and cuts beautifully. Don't forget the trick of dipping the pie plate in hot water for a minute or two before cutting the pieces. The butter melts and the slices are easier to remove.

* * *

Dessert showers can be served buffet style with the same dramatic effect as complete meals. Serve the pieces on a large tray and let your guests help themselves. If the party is small, use the gifts as part of the table decorations. The lovely soft orange color of Tropic Delight Pie shimmering in candlelight will be pretty enough on the table to make the bride know that you all wish love and happiness for her and the groom.

TROPIC DELIGHT PIE

Crust

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup marshmallow creme
¼ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup finely shredded coconut
2 cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits crushed to 1¼ cups

Filling

1 tablespoon—(1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
¼ cup water
4 eggs, separated
½ cup and ½ cup sugar
½ cup orange juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
3 tablespoons toasted coconut (optional)

Butter an 8-9 inch pie plate. Heat and stir butter and marshmallow creme over hot water until syrupy. Stir in vanilla, coconut and cereal crumbs. Press into pie plate.

Soften gelatin in water. Beat egg yolks and ½ cup sugar in top of double boiler. Add orange juice and salt. Blend thoroughly. Heat and stir over hot, not boiling, water until mixture coats the spoon (about 20 minutes). Remove from heat. Add gelatin and orange peel. Cool custard just until it starts to thicken. Stir occasionally.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add ½ cup sugar gradually while beating until meringue holds a stiff peak. Fold in custard. Spoon into crust. Top with toasted coconut. Chill 3-4 hours. Yield: 6-8 servings.

Beef Steak Clubs Popular During 18th Century

CHICAGO — You needn't think the popularity of steak is just a current rage. Years before the outdoor grill came into vogue, the English discovered that a beef steak dinner is conducive to good conversation and relaxed enjoyment.

Two centuries ago, the meat achieved such fame in England that Beef Steak Clubs were organized, reports the American Meat Institute. The clubs were composed of the chief wits and great men of the country and became a feature of contemporary literature. The badge, a small golden gridiron, is still preserved.

★ ★ ★

The clubs became so famous that the Prince of Wales, who later became George IV, applied for membership. Because the membership of this particular club was limited to 21, the members proposed to make the prince an honorary member. When the prince declined, a member resigned so that he could be elected promptly.

Every theatre in Samuel Johnson's time featured a Beef Steak Club. Johnson's noted club in Ivy Lane began as such a group. There was also a Rump Steak Club, a political club in opposition to Sir Robert Walpole.

"As English an article as beef steak," was a descriptive phrase used by 19th century author Hawthorne in "Our English Visits." After a quick look at a 20th century patio party, we could paraphrase him by saying," as American as a steak dinner."

STRAWBERRY CREAM TARTS — Tarts are a perfect dessert for buffet meals. Individual servings are already portioned out. What makes these Strawberry Cream tarts special is the almond pastry and the rich vanilla cream under the crimson strawberry glaze. Use some of Michigan's own strawberries to try this recipe.

Almond Tart Shells Hold Cream With Berry Glaze

The strawberry patch is bright red with tender, juicy, ripe berries. But they will not stay there long. They will soon find their way to your kitchen and onto your dining table. And strawberry season is not complete without that old favorite, strawberry pie.

Here's a new version of this wonderful summertime tradition, Almond Crust Strawberry Cream Tarts. The base of this marvelous creation is an almond crust that has a wonderful nutty flavor. And underneath the strawberry glaze is a delightful surprise—a delicately vanilla-flavored cream filling made with condensed milk, the perfect complement for the tender, sweet berries. The almond crust is baked in individual tart pans and it becomes a real party treat with this special filling . . . a certain success for warm weather entertaining.

Almond Crust Strawberry Cream Tarts

2 sticks instant mixing pie crust
2 cups slivered, toasted almonds
2 packages vanilla pie filling (not Instant)
1 can (15 ounces) sweetened condensed milk plus water to make 3 cups

Heat oven to 475 degrees (very hot). Chop almonds finely. Mix pastry as directed on package—except add almonds with water. Divide into 8 balls, roll to fit tart pans or backs of custard cups. Shape tarts and prick entire surface. Bake 8-to 10 minutes.

Combine pie filling with liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Pour into tarts. Top with Strawberry Glaze (below).

Strawberry Glaze

1½ cups strawberry juice or water
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
Few drops red food coloring
4 cups strawberries

Blend liquid with sugar and cornstarch. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and becomes clear. Fold in food coloring to desired color. Add strawberries; spread over cream filling.

Dandelion Coffee

Gather and wash the roots, but do not scrape them. Cut them up small and toast them like coffee. Pour over a portion of hot water and let it boil a few minutes. The roots are better gathered in the fall. They may be dried and kept for years.

★ ★ ★

Charles C. Goodwin, manager of the Genesee County Red Cross chapter, presented the portrait on behalf of Red Cross executive directors in Southeastern Michigan.

It was accepted by Carleton C. Patterson, chairman of the chapter's board of directors, at the monthly meeting of the board.

The portrait will be placed in the conference room of the Red Cross building at 118 Franklin Blvd.

To Cancel Insurance if Signers Too Few

LANSING (AP) — The State Civil Service Commission plans to cancel either the state contributory life or health insurance program if 75 per cent of the state's employes fail to sign up.

★ ★ ★

In a newsletter sent out to some 31,000 state civil service workers, the Commission said the contract with the insurance carriers provides that over two-thirds of the eligible employes must enroll.

The Commission said, however, that it has set a minimum goal of 75 per cent to "guarantee the favorable rates proposed.

To continue the program with a lesser percentage of enrollment would require higher rates, the Commission declared, and thereby defeat the purpose of the program.

Home Blaze Injures Father, 70; Daughter

AVON TOWNSHIP — A 30-year-old woman and her elderly father were injured yesterday when a fire, touched off by a kerosene stove explosion, gutted the interior of their small home.

BOTH BURNED

Suffering first and second degree burns were William Marotz, a 70-year-old semi-invalid, and his daughter Harriet. Both were released after treatment at Avon Center Hospital.

Marotz was burned on the face and hands when the kerosene stove in his home blew up as he was attempting to light it. His daughter received burns on her back and shoulders.

The fire burned through sections of the roof and completely charred the interior of Marotz' frame home at 1255 Burgoyne St.

* * *

The house had been condemned only 10 days ago by Avon Township authorities. Township Supervisor Cyril E. Miller said there was nobody living in the home when the condemned sign was posted there.

Two pieces of equipment from the Rochester Fire Department were called to the scene when the fire broke out shortly before noon. A third fire truck was dispatched to the home a few minutes later.

Firemen had the blaze under control in less than an hour. There was no estimate of damage.

* * *

The fire was confined to the interior of the one-story house. Flames were kept from spreading to weeds and to several junked cars parked next to the building. There were no nearby homes.

GUTTED BY FIRE—A Rochester fireman is shown here pouring water on a fire which gutted the interior of this small frame home at 1255 Burgoyne Ct. in Avon Township yesterday. The occupants of the home, William Marotz, 70, and his daughter, Harriet, 30, suffered first- and second-degree burns. The house had been condemned less than two weeks ago by Avon Township officials.

Truck Driver Pays Fine, Will Change Job

WESTFIELD, Mass (AP) — Bill Barnes, of 1041 Prince St., Milford, pleaded guilty Wednesday to dangerous driving and announced that after 40 years on highways "I've driven my last truck."

* * *

Barnes' tractor-trailer shot off a Route 20 curve Tuesday night in Chester at the exact spot where a couple was killed Monday.

The truck rolled over once and came to rest on its left side.

Barnes, father of eight, said after he was fined $100:

"It seemed like I was in there a half hour before someone came and opened the door for me. There was all that gasoline pouring down, about 80 gallons. I expected it to catch fire.

"This makes accident No. 2. I don't think I'd get out of a third. I got a family to raise."

Elks Give $500 for Scoreboard

Night Lights Soon to Be Lit Around Diamond at Jaycee Park

The Pontiac Elks Lodge has donated $500 for a lighted scoreboard at Jaycee Park, for the city's first nighttime hardball games.

David R. Ewalt, director of parks and recreation, said the gift came through the efforts of the citizens committee, headed by Howard Dell, Pontiac pharmacist, and Anthony Stiel, chief investigator for the Oakland County prosecutor.

The night lights may be lit around the Jaycee hardball diamond in two weeks or so, said Ewalt.

Holes for the poles are now being dug, he said.

The $35,000 lighting project is being financed by the city out of capital improvement funds. The citizens committee of baseball enthusiasts is aiming at private donations for further improvements.

Told to Cut Output at State's Oil Fields

LANSING (AP) — The State Oil Board has ordered curtailment of oil and gas production in Michigan's three leading oil fields.

Gerald E. Eddy, state director of wells, said cuts were ordered for the Albion, Scipio and Pulaski fields in Calhoun, Hillsdale and Jackson counties.

Oil wells were ordered to cut production from 125 to 110 barrels a day and gas wells from 165,000 to 150,000 cubic feet.

Eddy said the order resulted from a public hearing and reports from Conservation Department engineers who advised curtailment to prevent underground waste of oil and gas.

★ ★ ★

A similar order last year resulted in an overall improvement in oil and gas production, he said.

Divining Rod Will Be Used to Hunt Water

CORUNNA (AP) — Having spent $3,500 on test wells in a futile effort, this central Michigan community is ready to return to the ways of its forefathers in finding fresh water.

★ ★ ★

The City Council has voted to employ a local resident who uses the ancient dowsing or so-called divining rod forked-stick technique in its search for a new water supply.

"This may sound like a joke, but it's not," said Councilman Howard Watson. "It has worked many other times, and it may work here."

NO RABBIT BUT . . .—A handful of synthetic rubber is concocted by Bob Allen, General Motors Corp. public relations staff, at the "Preview of Progress" show staged as part of the Centennial Industrial Exhibit. The show, demonstrating the city's industrial products, comes to a climax at Pike and Parke streets at 9 tonight.

U.S. Reds to Public: Come to Aid of Party

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U. S. Communist Party today called on all Americans to help it override two Supreme Court decisions.

In "an open letter to the American people," appearing as a half-page advertisement in today's New York Times, the party said "it would place its case before the highest court of all, the bar of public opinion."

The court decisions force the Communists to register as a "Communist action organization" and allow the jailing of "active" Communists because of their intent to bring about the forcible overthrow of the government.

★ ★ ★

The action also would require publication of the names of all party members.

Roberts to Head Study Committee

State Sen. Farrell Roberts, R.-Oakland County, has been named chairman of a Senate interim committee to study county mental health services.

★ ★ ★

Roberts, the only freshman senator named to chair such a committee, said his group will study ways to increase mental health facilities on the county level.

"Other states have been decreasing their bedloads by providing matching funds to counties to expand their child guidance and adult day-care programs," Roberts explained.

He said his committee would also investigate ways of assisting counties to set up local services for emotionally disturbed children, including psychiatric counseling for schools and agencies.

★ ★ ★

"We'll work closely with both the mental health department and the mental health association," Roberts said.

The committee, which includes Sens. Thayer, Schweiger, Brown and Raboi, will conduct meetings throughout the summer, Roberts said.

Writes Loan Proviso for Private Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Education subcommittee today wrote into its National Defense Education Act extension bill a provision for loans to parochial and other private schools for classrooms.

This marked the first step in a plan of Senate Democratic leaders to get such aid for church schools enacted into law this year.

The House is working in the same direction, with action on a measure for public school aid held up in that chamber until its education committee comes up with a bill containing such provisions as the Senate subcommittee approved today.

The House committee showed no signs today of going along with that program.

Pontiac Motorist Strikes Pole on Dixie

Injured when his car struck a utility pole, a Pontiac man was reported in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital with possible internal injuries.

Elijah O. Childers, 29, of 217 N. Saginaw St., told State Police troopers he was trying to pass another car on Dixie Highway north of West Boulevard in Waterford Township.

Two passengers, Charlotte Albro, 17, and James Albro, 22, of 3239 Pirrin St., Waterford Township, were treated for minor injuries and released.

Seven Pontiac area youth organizations have Centennial displays in downtown Pontiac today on "Youth Day" of the Greater Pontiac Centennial. The displays will continue through Saturday.

Camp Fire Girls and the YWCA have displays in the windows of Lewis Furniture Store, Saginaw and Orchard Lake Road.

The Girl Scout exhibit is at Federal Department Store on North Saginaw Street.

Train, Fuel Truck Collide; 4 Men Die

BETTENDORF, Iowa (AP)— Four Illinois men, including three trainmen and the driver of a gasoline truck, were left dead today in the wake of a fiery collision at a railroad crossing that buckled 400 feet of track and spewed flames over a wide area.

The dead were: A.E. Blakewell, 60, of Galesburg, Ill., engineer on the train; William G. Lauder, about 42, of Galesburg, head brakeman; Robert R. Jacobs, 38, of Galesburg, head fireman; Howard Wierenga, 46, of Albany, Ill., owner of the truck.

Films Go International

(Editor's Note: Whether movies "are better than ever" is a claim you may wish to dispute. But there's no denying they are a lot different than they were 20 years ago—or even five years ago. This is the first of three reports on the new trends and the new glamour girls of filmdom.)

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

ROME (NEA) — "International appeal."

That's the new ingredient in motion pictures turned out by a truly global film industry booming in a dozen countries, none of which has a monopoly.

It's a new ingredient that means something for everyone—and something that is raising "For Adults Only" signs.

It's a new ingredient that means cultural and box office exchange — and clash of morals setting off new censorship controversy.

It's a new ingredient that has sparked a hot war of celluloid showmanship between foreign film makers looking for Yankee dollars and U.S. producers looking for production capital and 60 per cent of their profits in foreign lands.

★ ★ ★

It's a new ingredient that means the star, the director, the producer, the writer may be from four different countries while the movie is shot in a fifth. And the final product will draw audiences around the world.

Thus far, movies over which Europeans have had creative control are taking the leadership in daring new screen trends —England's "Room at the Top," Italy's "La Dolce Vita," and "Never on Sunday," filmed in Greece.

They are winning mass favor in the U.S. and forcing Hollywood producers into the same mold.

MORE KITTENISH

With the new trend in both foreign and domestic movies has come a new breed of international sex kittens. Some of them make Marilyn Monroe look like Shirley Temple.

U.S. theater marquees have started to blink out their names—Melina Mercouri, Nancy Kwan, Claudia Cardinale, Rosanna Schiaffino, Yoko Tani.

Television competition in the U.S. cracked Hollywood's self-censorship code and now global competition has intensified the filming of even more adult stories.

Censorship debates and classification ordinances like the one recently adopted in Abilene, Tex., are one result.

★ ★ ★

Foreign movie makers are shackled to no moral code like the one the Motion Picture Assn. of America is attempting to preserve.

The foreign moviemaker can be as daring as he likes. Only U.S. customs and a handful of local film censorship boards stand between him and the coveted Yankee dollar.

Blamed for many things, the one-eyed TV monster in the U.S. living room cued the international movie boom along with the "adult" movie trend.

Hollywood lost its place as the world's largest mass producer of movies when its U.S. audience and domestic revenue were cut in half.

INGRID THULIN

★ ★ ★

The Hollywood built on monopoly, temperament, fantastic salaries and inefficiency collapsed when its film production fell nearly 60 per cent.

SUBSIDIES ABROAD

Foreign producers, some with subsidies from their governments, moved into the U.S. market with daring, unheard-of realism and spectacle films out of Hollywood's own flamboyant past.

The TV panic in the "movie capital of the world" killed off the "star system," launched a general depression and brought to the screen a wave of cheap movies aimed at teen-agers.

But, as competition from foreign films increased (733 in 1960, including 33 from Russia), Hollywood teamed its "name" stars with foreign personalities for global appeal. It gambled, and won, on such spectacles as the $14,000,000 "Ben Hur."

★ ★ ★

Today, with profits from old films leased to TV, telefilm production and sale of real estate, Hollywood is contributing productions to the global movie boom.

★ ★ ★

But its increasingly more important role is in financing, co-financing and distributing the world's film product.

Berlin Trouble Involves Holding Supply Routes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The simple meat and potato question—WHY?—gets lost in the noisy East-West wrestle over Berlin. Here are some of the answers.

Since the war the West and the Soviet Union have discussed unifying Germany. They've never agreed on how. The West insists on free elections to set up a single German government. The Russians have never bought that. The result: two Germanys.

★ ★ ★

The Western powers are allied with West Germany. Russia is allied with Communist East Germany, which the West refuses to recognize as a legitimate government. The reason: It was not created through free elections.

But there are also really two Berlins. West Berlin, with its 2.5 million people, is linked to West Germany. The Communists hold East Berlin as the capital of East Germany.

But the city happens to lie 110 miles inside East Germany. Therefore, all people and supplies bound for Berlin from the West must pass through or over Communist territory.

'DO NOT STOP US'

The West insists these supply routes must not be interfered with. And, except for former Soviet Premier Stalin's unsuccessful effort to blockade in 1948-49, the Russians have kept the routes open.

Russia has kept control of those routes out of the hands of the East Germans even though it recognizes the Communist regime in East Germany as a sovereign government. To have done otherwise would have created an awkward situation:

★ ★ ★

What would the allies do if the East Germans, whom they don't recognize, attempted to tell them what they could or couldn't send over those supply routes? It could have produced a mess.

But the United States, Britain and France keep troops in West Berlin. They're too few to mean anything militarily. Any all-out Communist attack would roll over them. They're not so much a force as a symbol.

But there's a main point involved here: the West insists it has a right of free access to Berlin for people and supplies and a right to keep troops in the city. It says those rights were agreed to by the Russians after the war.

But West Berlin has become a pain to the Communists, for various reasons.

This highly prosperous part of the city is a Western outpost and showcase in the middle of the Communist world. It is a refuge for East Germans fleeing Communism.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev has made it plain the question of continuing to use those routes to Berlin would have to be settled between the West and the East Germans, whom the West insists are not a real government. This would put the West on the spot.

★ ★ ★

So long as it insists on the present arrangement, the West can insist it has the right, based on postwar agreements, to use the routes to Berlin and keep troops there.

Cohen Tells Profits Made in Gambling

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mickey Cohen, testifying at his federal income tax evasion trial, said Wednesday that he ran a big-time gambling operation here in the 1940s.

★ ★ ★

Cohen said he even had an undercover casino in the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles for a time, earning $15,000 to $20,000 a month from it.

★ ★ ★

"I remember one month I made as high as $70,000," he told the jury.

Creates Wood Inspector Post

Pontiac Bustling Town in 1860s

(Editor's Note: This is the final installment in a series of articles about early Pontiac, based on records at City Hall. Earlier accounts have appeared during the Centennial celebration.)

Busy, busy Pontiac was growing fast in the 1860s.

In 1867, just six years after the city's incorporation, steps were taken to impose some order on the hustle-bustle.

Common council decided to establish a central woodmarket, the only place in town firewood could be sold from wagons.

The overseer was the wood inspector, whose job was created in 1863.

From old records at City Hall, David S. Teel, administrative assistant to City Manager Walter K. Willman, recorded these other notes about the woodmarket and later events

The market was on Saginaw Street, between the Methodist Church and the Clinton River. The inspector wasn't salaried — he was paid a fee of a nickel for every cord of wood inspected. It was the woodseller who paid the fee.

In 1868, apparently troubled by the same problems plaguing parents and postal authorities today, council passed an anti-smut law, prohibiting "obscene and immoral" literature.

A police force was established on Feb. 3, 1868, under the town marshal, previously the only man in town with duly-delegated police powers.

The same year, several scales around town were designated as official scales, to be used in weighing hay for sale.

It was in 1887 that Detroit Edison Co. was granted a franchise by the city to establish a station for the manufacture and generating of electricity. Edison set poles and strung wires in the public streets to distribute light, heat and power.

★ ★ ★

The first record of a franchise for street railways came in 1889, granted to the Pontiac and Orchard Lake Railroad. The franchise stipulated that the cars must be propelled either by animal power or electric motor, but not by steam.

The use of steam was limited solely to the removal of snow from the tracks. Speed limits were 15 mph in residential areas and 8 mph.

Four years passed and the council was granting a telephone franchise, the first of three such franchises granted to various groups in a period of four years for the construction of a telephone system.

Four years before the turn of the century, this is what the annual salaries were: Mayor, $50; alderman, $50; marshal, $450; clerk, $500; treasurer, $400; attorney, $100 (plus fees up to $300); fire engineer, $500; horse cart driver, $500; and civil engineer, $100.

★ ★ ★

It may sound pretty hayseedy nowadays, but the ingredients were all there — Pontiac has grown up.

Western Open a Prestige Tournament for Touring Pros

By BILL CORNWELL

GRAND RAPIDS — The second oldest major golf tournament in the United States began a four-day run here today at scenic Blythefield Country Club.

The Western Open Golf Championship, which was instituted in 1899, started the 58th chapter of a long and honored history over the 6,730-yard Blythefield course with a large majority of the nation's top touring pros entered.

Only USGA Open tourney is older.

Heading the starting field of 150 was newly-crowned National Open champion Gene Littler, whose one-over-par 281 last Saturday at Oakland Hills brought him his first U.S. Open title.

* * *

Ready to challenge Littler during the four-day, 72-hole medal play competition are South Africa's Gary Player, reigning Masters champion; Arnold Palmer, Doug Sanders, Bob Goalby, Mike Souchak, Sam Snead and durable Doug Ford, to mention just a few.

* * *

This marks the first return of the Western Open to Grand Rapids since 1911.

The Western Golf Association-sponsored tournament, which had its inaugural in 1899 at the Glen View Golf and Polo Club in Golf, Ill., last appeared in Grand Rapids in 1911 at Kent County Club. Kent C.C. also was host to the tourney in 1904.

Incidentally, Golf, Ill., home of the first Western Open, is now central headquarters for the WGA.

* * *

From a prestige standpoint, the Western Open is the 4th-ranked major golf event in the country. The WGA classic is exceeded in prestige only by the U.S. Open, Masters and National PGA.

Both Player and Palmer appear due for another hot duel in their current feud over PGA earnings. Player is leading the cash parade at the moment, pursued closely by Palmer. Sanders is the 3rd leading money maker.

Souchak, who will defend his Buick Open crown next week at Warwick Hills near Grand Blanc, also seems about due to cut loose with a hot streak. "Iron Mike" hasn't won a tour victory since April at Greensboro, N.C.

Aside from his customary let-down in the National Open, Snead has been playing exceptionally well for the past couple of months and the Slammer might find the par 36-35—71 Blythefield layout very much to his liking.

"Big John" Barnum, host pro at Blythefield, thinks the leading par-busters are apt to burn up his home links. In fact, Barnum predicted 270 as the possible winning score, which would be 14 strokes below par.

This would be in sharp contrast to the U.S. Open last weekend at Oakland Hills where the par-breakers were fighting to break even and Littler's winning total was one above regulation.

The defending Western Open champion is Stan Leonard, balding Canadian pro who annexed the title last year at Detroit's Western CC by defeating Art Wall with a birdie three on the first extra hole of a sudden-death playoff. Leonard trailed Wall by six shots entering the final 18 holes.

Leonard, who is here to defend his honors, was 46 years of age when he won the 1960 crown, making him the oldest champion in Western Open history.

* * *

The total jackpot in the Western Open is $30,000 with $5,000 going to the winning pro and $2,500 to the runnerup. Eighteen holes are scheduled daily. The field will be cut for Saturday's 3rd round, then slashed again Sunday for the final round.

From The PRESS BOX

Bud Badger of Bloomfield Hills, playing for the MSU golf team, defeated Paul Spengler of Arizona State, 1-up in 19 holes yesterday in the first match play round of the NCAA tourney at Lafayette, Ind.

* * *

Dick DeLamielleure, an outfielder at Michigan, who hails from Detroit signed a contract with the Minnesota Twins and will report to Wytheville, Va., in the class D Appalachian League.

* * *

Some $5,000 in prizes will be up for grabs July 1-4 when the "World Series of Drag Racing" is held at the Central Michigan Dragway in Stanton, Mich. Dragsters from 40 states will compete.

* * *

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — The most decisive victory in the Garden State Stakes was scored by Summer Tan in 1955 when he won the world's richest race by nine lengths.

HOT PUTTERS — Bob Rosburg (left) and Charles Sifford each shot a blistering 63-six under par in the tuneup for the Western Open yesterday at Grand Rapids. Rosburg had nine one putt greens and chipped in a 30-footer in the practice round. Sifford's putter was equally hot. The tourney starts today at Blythefield Country Club.

Ailing Tigers Recall McAuliffe From Denver

SPORTS

Sports Car Regionals at OCSC Racing Club

The Detroit Region of the Sports Car Club of America will hold its annual June Regional Races on Saturday and Sunday at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Road Racing Club.

About 120 cars from throughout the Midwest and Canada plus many of the area's leading drivers are expected to compete in this local sports car classic.

"We have selected the Waterford Hills course for the second year in a row," stated Carl Chakmakian, Detroit Regional Executive, "because the numerous hills and curves of this course present a challenge to car and driver alike without endangering the safety of the competitors. Not only has this track become popular with the drivers, but the fans seem to like it pretty well, too."

Racing begins on Saturday and Sunday 10 A.M. The course has excellent spectator viewing areas and tickets may be purchased at the gate. Admission is $1.00 on Saturdays and $2.00 on Sundays. Children under 12 are admitted free. Plenty of free parking is also available.

Among the local drivers entered is Dave Moothart of Pontiac who will be driving a Triumph TR-3.

New Shortstop Hitting .353 at Denver but Has 24 Errors

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Good hit, no field" are the credentials young Dick McAuliffe is bringing back with him to the Detroit Tigers.

The rookie shortstop was called up last night from Denver in an emergency measure taken because of Chico Fernandez' leg ailment.

* * *

McAuliffe had a brief, eight-game fling with the Tigers at the tail-end of the 1960 season.

Manager Bob Scheffing said the American Association batting leader will be pressed right into the starting lineup tonight against the Washington Senators.

Scheffing has been forced to juggle the left side of the Tiger infield for the past week because of injuries to Fernandez and third baseman Steve Boros.

The Tigers' game with Washington last night was washed out by rain — a downpour welcomed by Scheffing.

* * *

"It gives us another day's rest for our invalids," said the manager of the league leaders. "I like that."

McAuliffe was tearing the cover off the ball at Denver with a .353 average. But ground balls seemed to be tearing the glove off his hand. The 21-year-old left-handed hitter made 24 errors in 64 games.

* * *

He joins an infield averaging under 24 years that already has been having fielding problems.

Fernandez has made 14 errors while second baseman Jake Wood has committed 13. Boros has had 10 miscues.

The Tigers' infield woes have caused Scheffing to make some drastic changes.

* * *

Al Kaline, who'd never played anywhere else but the outfield in a distinguished big league career, played third base here Tuesday night. He may be back at third tonight unless Boros' injured leg is better.

* * *

Fernandez has played on one lame leg several weeks. Scheffing finally had to bench him Sunday and give outfielder George Thomas a try at short. Ozzie Virgil, who'd been filling in for Boros, moved to shortstop Tuesday.

Thomas, hitless in seven major league at bats, was placed on waivers to clear room on the roster for McAuliffe. The ex-Minnesota bonus player likely will be claimed by another club for $20,000. If not, the Tigers will send Thomas back to the minors, probably to Denver.

Scheffing gave no indication what would happen to McAuliffe once Fernandez is ready to go again. But McAuliffe carries the tag of Tigers' shortstop of the future. Many expected him to take over from Fernandez in about a month or two anyway if the Cuban goes into his normal mid-season sag.

* * *

McAuliffe's hitting figures at Denver were most impressive. He had 93 hits in 269 times at the plate. The youngster has banged out 13 doubles, 14 triples and five home runs.

While with the Tigers for a cup o' coffee at the end of last season, McAuliffe batted .259 in eight games but contributed five errors.

* * *

While idle last night, the Tigers lost ground to the second-place New York Yankees, but gained on Cleveland. The Yanks narrowed Detroit's lead to one game by beating Kansas City 5-3. The sagging third-place Indians were thumped twice by Chicago 15-3 and 11-1 and fell 2½ games behind.

* * *

Phil Regan (7-2) will pitch for Detroit tonight against one-time Michigan State star Ed Hobaugh (4-3).

Reds Win, Los Angeles Takes Pair

Braves Nip Giants Again

By The Associated Press

Are the Milwaukee Braves finally on their way in that National League race? Or have they just set themselves up for another flop?

* * *

At the moment, the Braves have edged back into fifth place by winning their third in a row behind complete game victories by Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette. The streak may not be much, but it matches their longest string of successes this season, and they've built it against second place Los Angeles and third place San Francisco.

What's more, Spahn and Burdette, the two aces of the pitching staff, have won in rotation for the first time in four weeks.

After losing four straight to San Francisco, the Braves made it two in a row against the Giants with a 5-3 victory behind Burdette Wednesday night. Spahn beat San Francisco 2-1 Tuesday night.

* * *

It was the fourth victory in five games for the Braves, but left them nine games behind the front-running Cincinnati Reds, who knocked St. Louis to sixth place by beating the Cards 9-2. Los Angeles shaved the Reds' lead to one game by taking two from the Chicago Cubs, 4-1 and 4-2. The Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game was rained out.

In the American League, the New York Yankees, scoring their runs on two homers by Mickey Mantle, beat Kansas City 5-3 and moved within one game of the first place Detroit Tigers, who were idled by rain. The Chicago White Sox, winning 13 of 14, walloped third place Cleveland 15-3 and 11-1 in a twi-night doubleheader. Baltimore beat Minnesota 11-5 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston 5-1.

Burdette (6-5) followed up a 2-1, five-hit victory over Los Angeles in his last start with a five-hit decision over the Giants, who now trail by three games. The big right-hander retired 11 batters in a row after the Giants broke a 2-2 tie with Willie Mays' 14th home run in the sixth inning. The Braves, coming from behind on Joe Torre's two-run homer in the fifth, finally nailed it against Jack Sanford (3-4) on a two-run double by Joe Adcock in the sixth.

* * *

The Reds, winning seven of their last eight, took a 2-1 lead in the first inning against loser Ernie Broglio (6-8) and romped in as Gus Bell and Frank Robinson each hit a homer and drove in five runs between them. Rookie Ken Hunt (8-3) won his third in a row, although allowing nine hits.

Reliever Larry Sherry saved both games for the Dodgers. He struck out pinch hitter Ed Bouchee and Jerry Kindall with two on in the ninth inning of the opener, saving the victory for Stan Williams (6-6). Then he blanked the Cubs on one hit over 3 1-3 innings in relief of southpaw Johnny Podres (7-1) in the second game.

Gordie Windhorn's first major league hit, a three-run, fourth-inning double, won the first game for Los Angeles and beat Dick Ellsworth (2-5). The Dodgers scored twice in the sixth, getting the runs on a single by Norm Larker and an error, and wrapped up the nightcap against Don Cardwell (5-5).

Negro Group's Charges Denied by P.G.A. Boss

DUNEDIN, Fla., (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association denied flatly today that withdrawal of its 1962 championship from Los Angeles had anything to do with Charlie Sifford, a Negro.

PGA President Lou Strong said at the same time the association received no request from California's attorney general that Sifford be permitted to play and that Negro professional golfers are not barred from the PGA championship.

* * *

Strong's remarks came after the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People made published charges calling the PGA an "ugly tournament" and citing what it termed "un-American practices."

Strong said NAACP officials should have "taken a moment to ask Charlie Sifford about the PGA and the PGA championship" and he could have "given them the facts and cleared the air" before making what Strong labeled "these unwarranted charges."

Strong said Sifford did not qualify for the PGA this year on the basis of his playing record. Sifford was an approved member of the PGA tour in 1960.

Michigan Mile to Have 13 Contestants Saturday

DETROIT (AP)—A crowd in excess of 20,000 will watch Michigan's top thoroughbred event, the $50,000-added Michigan Mile, as eight invaders and five locally stabled horses battle Saturday for top money.

The field was trimmed from 14 when owner S. M. Barton decided not to ship Greek Star in for the event after an unsatisfactory workout in the East.

This is the 13th running of "The Mile," which in recent years had been run at the mile and 1/16 distance. General Manager Paul Ryder called it the most wide open field in the history of the event and predicted the winner could establish a new record for the distance with a fast track.

Total Traffic set the track record with a time of 1:41 4/5 in winning the Michigan Mile in 1959.

Pe[illegible] contingent, which includes [illegible]ner Little Fitz and runnerup Hyment, is Physician. The four-year-old gelding does not have a single stakes placing to his credit, but he came from 11 lengths off the pace last Saturday and won the mile trial by nearly two lengths at the same distance.

Little Fitz was second, Eight Again third and Hyment fourth —and all three, in addition to Toby's Brother—will go to the post with the invaders Saturday.

Defending Champion in Spring Lake Final

SPRING LAKE (AP) — Defending champion Patti Shook tangles with Mrs. Dwight Anneaux today in the championship finals of the 40th annual Spring Lake Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Shook, an 18-year-old Saugatuck High School graduate from South Haven, is seeking her third straight crown. She waltzed through her semifinal match yesterday with a 7 and 6 victory over Mrs. Richard Babcock, as Mrs. Anneaux ousted Mrs. Nels Michelson of Lansing, 3 and 4.

Mrs. Edgar Reynolds of Lansing, a tourney winner in 1952 and 1955, meets her 18-year-old daughter Judy today for honors in the first subchampionship flight.

Howe's and Adams Win

Fisher in 10-Run Spree

Floyd Robinson garnered two of his three hits in the same inning to highlight a 10-run 6th frame which broke up a 1-1 duel and sent Fisher Local 596 on the way to a 11-1 breeze over Smith Silo on the local softball program last night.

Howe's Lanes nipped CIO Local 594 4-3 and Adams TV came from behind twice to whip 300 Lounge, 7-3 in other action.

Successive doubles by winner Dick McCoy and his batterymate Jim Reynolds in the 8th produced Howe's triumph. McCoy and starter Ralph Long had a combined no-hitter and 3-0 lead until the losers put together two walks, a triple by Clay Williams and a fly out to tie. The triple was the only CIO hit.

After evening the count at 3-3 in the 4th, Adams TV went ahead to stay with a run in the 5th and added a trio in the 6th. Gene Byers slammed a triple and single and Paul Davis had a double and single for the victors.

and several errors in the wild inning. Each team had matched runs in the 2nd. Jim Cuthrell hurled a two-hitter for the victory in five innings.

Ex-Irish Gridder Dies

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Alfred (Dutch) Bergman, one of the first four-letter winners in Notre Dame athletics, died Wednesday at 71.

Bergman, a native of Peru, Ind. had been a patient in the Irene Byron Tuberculosis Sanatorium for 18 years.

He won Notre Dame letters in football, basketball, baseball and track, and played on the Irish football team of 1913 with such names as Knute Rockne and Gus Dorais.

Collins, Kraft Toss Gems

Hurl Baseball No-Hitters

Two no-hitters featured six city baseball contests Wednesday. Ray Collins of Pontiac Central and Gary Kraft of Auburn Heights Boys Club hurled the gems in Class D play.

* * *

Collins blanked Our Lady of Refuge 6-0, missing a perfect game because of a walk. He finished the minimum 21 batters in seven innings because the lone baserunner was thrown out attempting to steal. He had 13 strikeouts including six straight ones and another spree of six. George Stallings and Gene Luppino swung the big Central bats.

Kraft's effort was similar in a practice game. Two men reached base—walk and hit batter—but one was erased trying to steal. He fanned 11, eight of them in succession. The Auburn team romped 22-0 over Northside Dodgers with Gary Hintz belting a three-run homer to head a 16-hit attack.

CIO came from behind for the second time with two in the ninth to edge Pontiac Merchants 7-6 in a Class A makeup.

* * *

Five walks, the last two with two out, decided the issue as loser Marv Caswell could not find the plate. An error, sacrifice, passed ball and walk had sent the Merchants ahead earlier in the inning. Dennis McDonald got the victory. Al Barkeley homered in defeat.

Huron Bowl, West Suburban Boys Club and Auburn Heights Boys Club won "E" games.

Huron needed only five innings to blast McDonald's Drive-In 16-6 paced by Tom Zock's three hits and three runs batted-in. The losers committed 11 errors.

* * *

West Suburban broke a tie with three in the seventh to take Great Lakes 10-7 in an exhibition. Larry Zidar's double started the winning spree.

* * *

Blanked with one hit for five innings and trailing 2-0, Auburn got all its runs in the sixth to nip Oxford 3-2. A walk and singles by Roger Ball, Denny Acker and Dwight Sherman ruined a fine showing for Jim Bates.

Mrs. Hume Wins 2nd Weekly WDGA Tourney

Mrs. John Hume of Essex G.C. in Windsor won her 2nd Women's District Golf Association tournament of the year Tuesday by shooting an 83 to top a field of 75 players at Meadowbrook Country Club. Mrs. Hume shot a one-under-par 37 on the front nine, then slipped to 46 coming home for her one-stroke margin of victory.

Mrs. H. G. (Rylma) Marquardt of Gowanie finished 2nd with 84 and Miss Helen Grinnell of Detroit G.C. took 3rd place at 85. Miss Sally Sharp of Forest Lake posted 39-48—87. Women's par at Meadowbrook is 38-40—78.

GOODBYE, MR. WERTZ — Umpire Bill Smith ejects first baseman Vic Wertz of the Boston Red Sox from the game in Los Angeles last night after Wertz hurled his bat in the third inning. Wertz thought the ball was foul after he was tagged by catcher Del Rice of the Angels who fielded a roller. The Angels won the game, 5-1.

A Birmingham Ace

Wilbur Jackson of Birmingham fired an ace at the 153 yard 8th hole at Rackham, using his 6-iron. He has been golfing for 25 years. This was his first.

MIAMI (UPI) — Jockey Ray of the 1960 meeting and won York rode at Hialeah Park for with his first mount — Gusty the first time on the opening day Path — which paid $25.70.

Men's Best Ball Event Saturday

Petroff and Anderson to Defend City Title at Municipal Links

Joe Petroff and Jim Anderson will defend their city best ball golf championship Saturday at Municipal golf course.

★ ★ ★

The annual men's best ball event, sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, will be conducted over an 18-hole route beginning at 12 noon.

Petroff and Anderson won the title last year by defeating Columbus and A. K. Burton on the 2nd extra hole of a sudden-death playoff after the two teams finished their regulation distances in a tie with 65s.

Petroff and Anderson defeated the Burtons with a par three on the 2nd hole to end the playoff and win the crown after both teams parred No. 1. A record entry of 46 two-man teams competed in the 1960 event.

★ ★ ★

Pairings and starting times will be posted only for those entries registering before 6 p.m. today. Post entries will be accepted at the Municipal course, Saturday prior to the 12 o'clock tee-off time.

★ ★ ★

The entry fee is $6 for each two-man team. Trophies will be awarded to the winning team and runnerup while golf balls go to the 3rd and 4th place teams.

Rex Cawley Set for Action Again in National AAU

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Speedy Rex Cawley of Farmington, who has the fastest time in the nation in the 400-meter hurdles this year, said yesterday he hoped to return to action in the National AAU track and field championships Saturday in New York.

★ ★ ★

A sophomore at the University of Southern California, Cawley missed the NCAA meet last week because of a leg injury.

★ ★ ★

Cawley, who will compete for the defending champion Southern California striders, has been out of action since May 13. He hurt the leg in the West Coast Relays at Fresno in a relay. Earlier in the meet he won the 400-meter hurdles in 49.9.

Green, Badger Make NCAA Third Round

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Junior Jack Nicklaus of Ohio State, who says this is the last time he will try to win the National Collegiate golf championship, led a massive Big Ten consignment into today's third round.

Nicklaus, former National Amateur champion, was one of eight Big Ten players—exactly half the field—that survived Wednesday's two rounds.

★ ★ ★

Nicklaus overpowered Dick Carmody of Southern California and Jimmy Gabrielsen of Georgia by the same margin, 4 and 3. The Buckeye's third round opponent today was Peter Cook of New Hampshire. Cook defeated Lon Williams of Northwestern 2 and 1, and David Stockton of Southern California 3 and 2.

Rolf Deming of Minnesota, runnerup to Nicklaus in the Big Ten tourney last month, was paired with the No. 7 Big Ten player, Jack Rule of Iowa.

The other Big Ten third rounders included Mike Podoiski, teammate of Nicklaus on Ohio State's Big Ten title team; Jerry Jackson of Purdue; Gene Hunt of Michigan State who upset Texas Open champ Homero Blancas of Houston; William Templin of Purdue, and Albert Badger of Michigan State.

★ ★ ★

1960 Champion in College Semis

Miss Gunderson Out for Repeat Golf Win at Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Defending champion Joann Gunderson tees off in the semifinals of the 17th annual women's Collegiate golf tourne here today—while the girl who helped put her there watches from the gallery.

Troubled by putting during the first two days, the blue-eyed Arizona State University coed sought out her close friend and strongest rival, 1959 champion Judy Eller, for a putting lesson.

Whatever she learned paid off. Miss Gunderson sank two 35-foot putts to clinch victory, 6 and 5, over long-hitting Mary Mills of Millsaps.

But Judy—ranked as co-favorite for the title after tying for medalist honors only to lose in a one hole playoff—couldn't follow her own advice. Three putting three times in a generally unhappy day on the greens, the University of Miami coed was eliminated, 1 up by Kansas's Karen Schull.

Miss Gunderson, the national amateur champion, faces Miss Schull in today's semifinals with a chance to reach the final match against one of two little known contenders.

Washington's Judy Hoetmer, moved into the semifinals by upsetting tourney medalist Sherry Wheeler, of Arizona State, after four extra holes.

The other semifinalist was Susan Meerdink an 18-year-old Arizona State freshman, playing in her first national collegiate tourney. She eliminated Jean Schiller, of Maryland, 5-and-4.

Driving Duel at Track

Leon Blanchura of Pontiac and Dick Carter will continue their personal driving duel tonight at the Mt. Clemens speedway with their modified 8-cylinder cars.

★ ★ ★

Blanchura, last season's top point winner, finished second last week to Carter in the dash and feature races but he won the Australian pursuit. Seven races are scheduled starting at 8:30 p. m.

Frank Syron Tops List of Veteran Golf Pros

When it's time to talk about veteran golf professionals in Oakland County, Pontiac Country Club pro-owner Frank Syron automatically stands at the head of the list.

Not even ageless Al Watrous of Oakland Hills can beat Syron from the standpoint of continuous service to county golfers.

Syron is now serving his 41st consecutive year in Oakland County, the last 20 at his Pontiac C.C. layout on Elizabeth Lake Road.

His uninterrupted tenure began in 1920 when he became caddimaster at Bloomfield Hills. After a seven-year hitch at the Hills, he moved to Orchard Lake as the infant club's first head pro and stayed there 14 years.

He set up shop at PCC in 1941 and has been head man at the semi-public 18-hole course ever since. Syron is 61 years old.

Brothers on the Links

Numerous golfing brothers in Pontiac during the 1930s resulted in a brothers' best-ball tournament. The annual event became a casualty just prior to World War II. Among the participants were Cass and Ed Tarchalski, Leo and Phil Wozniak, Ted and Hud Powers, Henry and Harry Fenski, Lester and Ken Hockey, and the Condon brothers. The Powers brothers dominated the tourney.

Westland Will Coach U.S. Walker Cuppers

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Westland, the golfing congressman from Everett, Wash., will know next week which players he'll coach as captain of the 1961 U.S. Walker Cup team.

Appointment of Westland, former U.S. Amateur champion, as head of the Walker Cup team was announced Wednesday by the U.S. Golf Association. The USGA said the team for the biennial matches against the British amateurs at the Seattle Golf Club Sept. 1-2 would be named next week.

WINNING FORM—Alison Cram, 14, of Birmingham and her horse, Sonnipo, show the form that has made them a top threat among junior competitors in the Detroit Horse Show this week at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club. A first, two seconds and a third is the record posted by Alison and her mount so far in the show which ends Sunday.

Win Nine Events in Detroit Horse Show

Ladies' Rule at BOH

By DON VOGEL

Horsemanship is one sport in which the distaff side is literally leaving the men and boys in the starting gate.

Results of the Detroit Horse Show at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club bear this out. The girls had captured nine of the 15 events held through Wednesday afternoon.

The show continues daily through Sunday. Starting times are 8 a.m., 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. each day except Sunday when the program gets under way at 11 a.m.

There is a reason for female domination of the horse shows in the midwest. They far out number men in the show rings. With 130 exhibitors entered in the Detroit show, only 48 are males.

Alison Cram, a 14-year-old lass from Birmingham, is one of the better junior riders in competition who is making it difficult for boys.

She turned in a fine performance in the 1960 show at BOH, winning five events. This year the blue-eyed blonde started well, winning the first event on Sonnino, but since then "har ben having some difficulty."

TWO PROBLEMS

Alison, who has been competing in shows since she was 10, explained, "I'm not riding very well and the horse isn't quite right."

She competes against adults as well as juniors.

"Sometimes I do pretty well," she said, "and other times not so good."

Alison, who had two seconds and a third to go with her first in the early going, competes in many classes against her brother, Rick, 15, often takes a back seat to his sister.

★ ★ ★

But such hasn't been the case in this show. Rick also has won a class and placed high in several others.

Asked why she thought more girls than boys were taking to the show ring, Alison replied:

"A lot of boys think it is a sissy sport to ride horses in shows."

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Cram started their children in horse showmanship. Although neither parent has been a show rider, "They are very interested in horsemanship," according to Alison.

INSTRUCTOR PLACES

Charles Grant of Birmingham, who placed second in intermediate dressage on Shining, is instructor for Alison and Rick.

Redbob Farms of Oxford has been doing well. With Helga Laufenstein in the saddle, Redbob horses captured to dressage championships.

Violet Hopkins, an instructor at BOH, copped the A-1 dressage.

Sharon Binkley of Bloomfield Hills took honors in the Michigan Hunt junior challenge trophy competition aboard Bruderschaaf. Lynn Maedel, 12, of Bloomfield Township was first in open equitation for those 13 and under.

'Y' Ready for Tiny Tots Swim Classes

Pontiac's tiny tots will soon be taking to the water at the YMCA.

The "Y" is now accepting registrations for its summer tiny-tot swimming classes for children ages 5 to 7.

Boys' classes will start Monday, July 10; those for girls the following day.

Children in the program will receive eight lessons during the four-week course.

Two classes for boys will be offered — one from 4 - 4:45 p.m. Mondays and Fridays, the other from 4:45-5:30 p.m. the same days. Classes will end Aug. 4.

Girls also may be registered in either of two classes which meet Tuesdays and Thursdays — from 1 - 1:45 p.m. and 1:45 - 2:30 p.m. Classes will end Aug. 3.

COST $10 TO $12

Cost of the course is $10 for family or Athletic Club members, and $12 for nonmembers.

John J. Moreau, aquatics director, said instructions will be given both beginning and intermediate stage swimmers.

He urged parents to register their children at the "Y," 131 Mt. Clemens St., as soon as possible since enrollment will be limited to 30 persons in each class.

Swimming will also be the major offering on the "Y" youth summer program schedule.

Swim classes for boys, age 9, will be at 1 p.m. Mondays; boys, 10, at 1:45 p.m. Mondays; boys, 11, at 2:30 p.m. Mondays; boys, 12-14, at 3:15 p.m. Mondays; and for boys, 15-17, at 7 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays.

Swim classes for girls, ages 8-11, are scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Tuesdays, ages 12-14, at 3:15 p.m. Tuesdays, ages 15-17, from 6:15-7 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

ON ABILITY

Swim instructions based on the YMCA national aquatic progressive program of ability instead of age have been scheduled for boys Friday afternoons, and for girls Thursday afternoons.

Coed swims for high school students (15-17) will be held from 7-8:30 p.m. Fridays.

Swimming classes are free to "Y" members, with summer membership rates available to others.

John Miller Jr., youth director, said a summer high school coeducational program is being planned, with social events such as pizza parties, dances, miniature golf, and special out-of-town trips as some of the activities.

Miller also announced that reservations are now being accepted for family camping (Aug. 31-Sept.4) at Camp Mahn-Go-Tah-See near Hale.

About 25 families can be accommodated, with camping costs set at $20 for those ages 13 and up, $15 for those below 13, with no charge for infants.

★ ★ ★

Expenses will cover 14 meals and activities such as boats and canoes, swimming, and archery. One family will be lodged to a cabin, said Miller, who will serve as the camp director.

Pistons Sign Kistler

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons signed rookie Doug Kistler, a 6-foot-9 player from Duke Wednesday. Kistler was their third National Basketball Association draft choice.

★ ★ ★

Kistler had a shooting average of 49.1 per cent and averaged 10 rebounds per game during his three seasons at Duke.

Second Hit Produces Upset for Five Spot

Two opposite streaks came to an end last night in Waterford's American Softball League as a pitcher lost a two-hitter.

Five Spot, who had dropped five straight, nipped Spencer Floors and mound victim Jack Nelson 5-4. Spencer had won seven in a row. A bunt single was the only Five Spot hit until Dick Guy smashed the deciding blow in the seventh following a walk and sacrifice for the winners' only earned run of the game. Ed McNamara had three of nine Spencer hits.

Stroh's squeezed by Drayton Drug 2-1 in nine innings in another tight AL affair. Rick Jones' bunt won it for Bob Ferree, who matched five-hitters with Dale Badder.

Mrs. William Rodgers was 3rd at 87, Mrs. Midge Cova had 88, Mrs. Don Graham 89 and Mrs. John Menefree 90 to round out the top performers.

Chisox Back in Business After Whipping Indians Twice

By the Associated Press

Well, look who's back in business in the American League! It's the long lost Chicago White Sox, bouncing back from the bottom with 13 victories in their last 14 games after almost blasting the Comiskey Park scoreboard apart in an explosive doubleheader sweep over Cleveland Wednesday night.

The Sox, playing before a capacity crowd of 45,125 at home (where the scoreboard erupts in a fireworks display for a Chicago home run), crashed six homers among 29 hits while trouncing the third place Indians 15-3 and 11-1 for a six-game streak.

Roy Sievers and Al Smith, the twin thumpers of the Sox spurt, walloped five homers and drove in 13 runs between them in the twi-night pair. Sievers hit three home runs and drove in nine runs for the night—collecting seven RBI on a pair of homers, one a pinch-hit grand slam, in the opener.

While little Luis Aparicio has been the top hitter in Chicago's 14-game tear, batting .474, Sievers has batted .370 with 18 RBI in the comeback, while Smith has hit .419 and driven in 16 runs.

It all began with the White Sox in last place, 15½ games out of first. Now they're sixth, one game shy of the first division and 10 back of first place Detroit.

Detroit was rained out at Washington and the Tigers' lead was trimmed to one game when the New York Yankees beat Kansas City 5-3. Two homers by Mickey Mantle drove in all of the Yank runs, Baltimore scored seven runs in the ninth for an 11-5 victory at Minnesota, and the Los Angeles Angels ended Boston's winning streak at six games by whipping the Red Sox 5-1.

Sievers, after getting only one hit in four games, was 5-for-7 against the Indians, who now have lost four in a row for the first time this season and trail by 2½ games. Both of Sievers' firstgame shots were off reliever Johnny Antonelli, with the slam coming in an eight-run fourth inning that chased loser Gary Bell (4-8). Right-hander Don Larsen (3-1), blanking the Indians on seven hits over seven innings, was the winner in relief—his first victory in 10 decisions with Cleveland in a nine-year career.

The White Sox, picking up 11 unearned runs in the twinbill while putting away a three-game sweep over the Injuns, beat Wynn Hawkins (5-5) with a four-run second inning in the nightcap. Smith then belted his two homers, both two-run shots, and Sievers added a solo homer. Southpaw Juan Pizarro (3-0) gained his first complete game in the AL and Cleveland shut out on eight hits until Bubba Phillips homered in the ninth.

Mantle hit a three-run homer in the first inning at Kansas City and then wrapped it up for the Yanks with his 22nd home run, with a man on, in the seventh off Bob Shaw (3-6). Ex-A's southpaw Bud Daley (5-9), making his second start for the Yankees, was the winner after losing five in a row. He needed Luis Arroyo's relief help after a tow-run homer by Haywood Sullivan in the ninth.

Jim Gentile drove in three runs, one with a homer, for the Orioles. They came from behind in the ninth when reliever Chuck Stobbs hit one batter and walked another with the bases loaded. Harmon Killebrew socked a pair of two-run homers for the Twins. Rookie Bert Cueto (9-1) was the loser and Hoyt Wilhelm (6-2) the winner, both in relief.

Right-hander Ken McBride (6-5) allowed seven hits while beating the Red Sox and broke a 1-1 tie with a single in the fourth inning off rookie Don Schwall, who lost his first against five victories. Ted Kluszewski homered for the Angels.

TOUGH ON TRIBE—Chicago White Sox first baseman Roy Sievers made it rough on the Cleveland Indians yesterday. He belted a grand slam pinch-homer in the 4th inning and clouted a 3-run homer in the 6th inning to drive in seven runs in the first game. He added another in the second game as the White Sox took two, 15-3 and 11-1. Catcher is John Romano of Cleveland and the umpire is Bob Stewart.

Wills Missed 2 Games

Dodger Player Injured in Fighting Teammate

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A fist-fight between Dodger shortstop Maury Wills and his teammate, first baseman Norm Larker, put Wills out of action for two days last week, the Los Angeles Examiner reports in a copyrighted story.

★ ★ ★

News of the fight leaked out despite apparent efforts of the Dodger front office to conceal the incident, which occurred June 15 before the first game against the Cubs in Los Angeles.

The story was broken here by Bob Hunter, Examiner baseball writer, in today's paper.

A member of the Cubs, not sworn to secrecy, let Hunter in on the closely guarded secret.

Hunter told this story:

It started while Larker, hitting fungoes during infield practice, drove several balls very close to Wills.

Wills, resenting the proximity of the drives to him, concluded that Larker was trying to hit him and finally fired a ball at the first baseman, hitting him in the leg.

As they went to the clubhouse for the pre-game meeting the fight broke out. Gil Hodges stepped in to break it up and was struck on the nose. Frank Howard, rushing in to stop the battle, slipped and fell on his back.

★ ★ ★

Wills played in the game, and in the next two against the Cubs, but then was forced to sit out two against Milwaukee last Saturday and Sunday because of a bruised shoulder suffered in the fight.

Manager Walt Alston, asked about the brawl, said he kept it under wraps because he was disturbed about the possible morale effect of the fight. He said he called in the two participants and talked to them separately, and learned they were genuinely sorry they had lost their tempers.

"Next night we discussed the affair in the clubhouse before the whole team and the thing is a closed incident," said Alston, who imposed no fines.

Local Physician Offers Safety Precautions

Be Aware of Health Hazards in Use of Toxics for Boats

By DR. ROBERT J. MASON, MD.
Director, Poison Control Center
St. Joseph Mercy Hospital

A pleasure boater getting his craft ready for a summer of cruising can expose himself to some serious health hazards ashore, according to the Doctors at the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Poison Control Center.

★ ★ ★

Most of these are avoidable, according to the University of Michigan Department of Pharmacology, a nationally known center for research on poisons. The department recommends common sense observance of safety rules, and suggests the following precautions:

1. Don't use a blow torch to burn anti algae paint off the bottom of your boat. If you do, you may wind up vaporizing mercury, arsenic or lead compounds contained in the old paint—with exceedingly unpleasant, possible fatal results.

2. Never tune up your outboard motor in an unventilated small boathouse, workroom or garage. The danger of exposure to carbon monoxide gas is greater than you think. Even if you don't inhale enough fumes to sicken you immediately, you may experience mild symptoms, such as, dizziness or blurred vision, which can lead to accidents after you've left the scene of exposure.

3. If you use solvents that contain naphtha or naphtha derivatives, watch out! Naphtha fumes, if inhaled, can cause a variety of unpleasant effects, ranging from symptoms similar to acute alcoholism to serious internal injury in the case of continuing heavy exposure.

4. In painting your boat remember that turpentine is toxic and is readily absorbed both through the skin and by breathing. Prolonged exposure may lead to nephritis, a kidney ailment, while even mild exposure may cause giddiness.

5. Handle with care any plastic coatings that use the substance "methyl ethyl ketone peroxide" as a hardener. This substance, commonly referred to as "MEK" is dangerous. It can produce chemical burns through contact with the skin, is injurious if swallowed, and is flammable.

★ ★ ★

Genreally, if sprucing up your boat requires the use of any toxic material, follow these rules: Keep your workroom well ventilated. Wear rubber gloves and wash them immediately after use. Clean contaminated areas of the workroom as soon as possible. Above all, keep toxic substances out of the reach of children.

"Maybe my luck will start getting better," Ward commented.

A PRIZE WINNER—"Best Dressed Dog in the Show" honors went to Whitey, a collie, and its owner, Jerry Stoner, 15, of 263 Osmun St. in the Centennial Dog Show at Miracle Mile Shopping Center. Oh, yes, Whitey also won "Best in Show," but it was his natty attire that captured the audience, which acted as judges.

Headlines of the Century

SAVE CANAL; NOV. 5, 1956

The situation of President Nassar of Egypt reached a precarious stage when great numbers of British and French parachutists landed at the north end of the Suez Canal.

A cease-fire was declared and surrender terms discussed, leading to the reopening of the canal to the world commerce.

The Egyptians had just lost their vast Sanai Beninsula, east of the canal, to invading Israeli forces.

The purpose of the British-French invasion was to safeguard the canal, and to separate the belligerents in the Israeli-Egyptian fighting.

Grain Futures Drag With Prices Weak

CHICAGO (AP)— Early dealings in grain futures today were draggy and prices steady to weak.

Nearby wheat months were off major fractions, but other grains eased only slightly while soybeans posted moderate gains.

★ ★ ★

Brokers said the pressure in wheat appeared to include a little more hedge selling and the probability that more of the grain is going into commercial channels as harvest of the winter crop moved toward peak in Kansas, the major producing state.

GMC Dealers, Execs to Confer

Truck Sales Discussion to Include U6 ,Reports, Merchandising Plans

Nineteen GMC Truck dealers who have been elected to the 6th GMC Divisional Dealer Council will meet with GMC Truck & Coach Division executives here Sunday through Tuesday to discuss truck business of mutual interest to dealers and the manufacturer.

★ ★ ★

Each participating dealer has been named by the dealers in his respective sales zone to take part in the council sessions. Moderator will be R. C. Woodhouse, GMC general truck sales manager.

Many phases of the trucking business will be discussed. Subjects are expected to range from field reports on GMC's advanced V6 truck line to the discussion of new merchandising plans for achieving specific marketing objectives.

"The Council provides dealers with a forum to bring to the attention of top management subjects of mutual interest. This interchange of thought and suggestions helps strengthen customer relations, improves the efficiency of field operations and, in general, assures better service to the public," Woodhouse said.

Scheduled to attend are: Thomas F. Nehl, Jacksonville, Fla.; Warren S. Day, Worcester, Mass.; E. O. Stallings, Charleston, S. C.; Frank M. Byers, Columbus, Ohio; M. L. Smith, Jackson, Mich.; J. L. Adair, Monroe, La.; Samuel R. Chasalow, Newark, N. J.; H. G. Reslink, Erie, Pa.; and William T. Wilkins Jr., Merchantville, N. J.

★ ★ ★

Also John J. Gebauer, Fort Worth, Texas; Enrico Menapace, Gallup, N. M.; Millar White, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Russell D. Watkins, El Monte, Calif.; J. H. Hart, Sacramento, Calif.; E. C. Clow, Vancouver, Wash.; Lory Stahly, Cape Girardeau, Mo.; W. C. Robinson, Billings, Mont.; and Ben Boykin, El Paso, Texas.

'Flightseeing' May Turn Into Gold Mine

"Flightseeing," a unique "fly now — fly later" plan devised by one of the nation's major airlines, looks like an investment that's going to pay handsome dividends.

★ ★ ★

Indeed, this public relations venture with just the right thickness of sugar coating could turn into a gold mine for American Airlines.

Flightseeing is the recently introduced innovation which asks the $6.50 question: Would you like to go for a plane ride over your city?

The reaction of Metropolitan Detroit hasn't been as brisk as in other cities in opening weeks. American's Electra II prop-jet Flightseeing plane had nearly half its seats empty the first Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Last week, the three flights attracted about 25 per cent more customers. Of all those who went up, approximately half were doing so for the first time.

Therein lies the gold. For it seems safe to say that almost without exception, these people want to fly again — and soon.

Trading Dull on Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged lower in dull trading early this afternoon.

Losses of fractions to a point or more outnumbered gainers.

The market was mixed at the start then slowly began to assume a lower trend. This was in line with the Wall Street consensus before the opening which was said to look for irregularly lower prices prior to an anticipated rally in July.

The business news background continued rather drab. U. S. Steel said it would cut prices on line pipe, a continuation of its selective price reductions.

The proposal for 40-year mortgages on low-cost houses with no down payment lost the support of key Democrats in the House.

Some fairly sharp losses appeared among chemicals and nonferrous metals. The downtrend was moderate among steels and motors. Tobaccos and electronics were generally higher.

The illness of President Kennedy also added a note of uncertainty even though his doctor said the ailment should run its course within two days.

The recovery drive of Transitron, Wednesday's most active gainer, was stalled in early trading but later the issue added another point.

Lockheed, up about a point, found favor in some Wall Street quarters while other aircraft-missile stocks were narrowly mixed.

Among the electronics, Sperry Rand, Philco and Radio Corp. added fractions.

A loss of about 2 points by Du Pont dragged at the averages. Declines of around a point of Eastman Kodak and Texaco also were depressing.

International Telephone, off about a point, was in a continued decline. Consolidated Edison dropped close to a point.

At Hospitality Center

Old-Timers Chat of Early Days

By DICK SAUNDERS

There are some interesting stories between the lines of the homecomers and old-timers registration books at Centennial Hospitality Center in the Elks Temple.

For instance, Robert Kachinski of Seymour, Tex., a native of Pontiac and 1948 graduate of Pontiac Central High School, returned here seven years ago for a short stay.

★ ★ ★

During that time his son Larry was born. About 4½ years ago he made another visit to his hometown. On that visit his wife gave birth to a daughter, Lou Ann.

★ ★ ★

Kachinski and his family are currently making their third return visit.

"Friends have been kidding us but we tell them that this time we're here to observe the birth of a city," said Kachinski.

They are staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kachinski of 156 Chippewa Road, who came to Pontiac in 1917.

HAVING GOOD TIME

"We had originally intended to visit here in August, but changed our plans to come during the Centennial. We are having a good time."

"Pontiac has really changed, and I must say for the best," he added.

Also on the list are Flora E. Woodhull, 72, and Mrs. Pearl Hudson, 62.

They are sisters. Flora has returned to Pontiac from her home in Brackett, Pa., and is staying at her sister's home at 8 Foster St.

Their parents came to Pontiac in 1889 when Flora was only six months old. Later, she went to old Grove High School, the forerunner to Pontiac Central High.

Mrs. Hudson was born 10 years after the family came here. She holds the distinction of having been born on the site where the present City Hall stands.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Glenn D. Stephens of Kalkaska, is back for the big celebration. She was born here in 1893.

Her father, Bert Webster, was a charter member of the Pontiac Elks Lodge. Mrs. Stephens is staying with her son, Lauren E. Little of 2405 Empire Drive, West Bloomfield Township.

When news of Pontiac's Centennial reached Racine, Wis., James A. Leauf decided a return visit was in order.

Leauf was born in Calumet in 1895 and moved to Pontiac in 1926. For 30 years he lived at 205 W. Huron St. He moved to Racine in 1956.

Also on the homecoming register are Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kibble, former residents, who now live in Sault St. Marie.

CAME HERE IN 1901

On the old-timers register are names like Robert W. Hallenbeck, of 51 Harriett St., who was born in St. Joseph in 1886 and came here in 1901.

★ ★ ★

Thomas M. Graley, 78, of 18 Spokane Drive, lived at 85 Mt. Clemens St. back in 1906.

The only remaining volunteer fireman in Pontiac is listed. William J. Cousins of 47 Delaware Drive, came here in 1901. Among the fire chiefs he served under are Greg Turk and Fred Shaw.

R. Clare Cummings of 205 E. Iroquois Road writes he was born eight miles south of Pontiac in 1884 and has lived in the city for 50 years.

Other visitors at the hospitality center include A. Floyd Blakeslee of 382 W. Iroquois Road, a Pontiac resident since 1898, and William B. Moore of 2727 Chadwick Drive, who came here in 1920, and his wife Agnes, who has been in Pontiac since 1912.

★ ★ ★

The hospitality center will be open until 4 p.m. each day through Saturday.

★ ★ ★

A host of charming Centennial Belles is on hand each day to serve coffee and doughnuts to long-time local citizens or former residents who have returned for the celebration.

Lighthouse Search Fails to Find Man

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coast Guard Cutter Woodrush today left the wrecked Stannard Rock Lighthouse in Lake Superior, and there was no indication a search had produced any trace of a man missing after an explosion at the lonely lighthouse Sunday night.

Three other men, rescued early yesterday from Stannard Rock—termed by the Coast Guard the loneliest lighthouse in the world—said they lived on a couple of cans of beans for two days and two nights on the concrete apron outside the tower.

Coast Guard ninth district headquarters here said there was virtually no chance that the fourth man still was alive.

The Woodrush reported a fire was out at Stannard Rock, but there was no report on the missing man. The Coast Guard said radio communications with the vessel were so poor that only meager information was obtained.

★ ★ ★

The Woodrush was returning to Hancock, Mich., by way of the Huron Light, where it was to unload food and supplies.

Deputy Court Clerk James Regan said Stein calmly borrowed exhibit A in his trial—the lock-picking tool — and opened the desk.

Then, with bond completed, he strolled to freedom.

Charges Jerry Lewis Stole Script for Movie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Jerry Lewis is among the defendants in a $950,000 damage suit brought by screen writer Cy Howard.

The suit includes as defendants Jerry Lewis Productions, Inc., Paramount Pictures Corp., and director Frank Tashlin.

Leopold Will Seek Full Pardon in July

CHICAGO (UPI) — Nathan Leopold will ask society next month for the last measure of forgiveness in the "crime of the century."

Attorney Elmer Gertz, Leopold's latest in a stream of lawyers that began with Clarence Darrow, said a full pardon for the 1924 murderer of 14-year-old Bobby Franks would be "of general encouragement for all who strive to rehabilitate themselves in and out of prison."

Leopold, now 56, went into prison in 1924 on terms of life and 99 years with a judge's instructions that he was never to be released.

Thirty-three years later he was paroled and last February he married the former Mrs. Gertrude Feldman Garcia de Quevado in Puerto Rico.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Central Conference of American Rabbis has taken a stand against use of federal or state funds to aid private and parochial schools.

The the same time, the group went on record opposing government assistance to individual students attending private and denominational schools.

Czech to Leave for Homeland

U.N. Official Will Quit U.S. to Escape Being Deported as Spy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Czechoslovak U.N. Delegate Miroslav Nacvalac planned to leave for home today to escape deportation as a spy.

The 39-year-old diplomat, No. 3 man in his country's U.N. delegation, had reservations on a French airliner for himself, his wife and two small sons.

Nacvalac, accused by the U.S. government of being Czechoslovakia's top spy in the country, had rejected an earlier U.S. demand that he leave the country.

★ ★ ★

He changed his plans after Washington announced it had revoked his status as a member of Czechoslovakia's U.N. mission, making him an alien in the country illegally. The United States said he could either leave voluntarily or be deported.

ACCUSED U.S.

Czechoslovakia — and Nacvalac —denied the U.S. charges and accused the United States of violating the "headquarters" agreement between the United States and the U.N., which establishes the special rights and diplomatic immunity of foreign diplomats accredited to the U.N.

A spokesman for the Czechoslovak delegation said his government would continue to press in the U.N. to prove that the United States had no right to oust Nacvalac. The Communist bloc was expected to make extensive use of the incident in its campaign to move U.N headquarters from New York to Vienna or some other "neutral" European city.

It was the first time the U.S. government had forced the recall of a diplomat attached to a U.N. delegation. Previously the United States had successfully demanded the withdrawal of Soviet U.N. secretarial employes accused of espionage activities.

Take New Look at Foreign Aid

Economic and Military Assistance Subject of Administration Review

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said today the administration is taking a new look at its plans for economic and military assistance abroad.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey, the Senate's assistant Democratic leader, said revised programs have improved chances for congressional approval of a substantial part of Kennedy's $4.8-billion foreign aid program.

DELAYS VOTING

Meanwhile, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., delayed Senate Foreign Relations Committee voting on the controversial measure until it hears from U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Fulbright is chairman of the committee.

★ ★ ★

A tentative date has been set for Stevenson to report on his Latin-American trip next Thursday, with Rusk to appear the following day with revised programs designed to meet congressional criticism.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey told a reporter he is convinced "the administration is now moving in the right direction."

Agreement Reached on Road Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees reached final agreement today on a compromise interstate highway bill.

★ ★ ★

They agreed to retain in the measure a Senate-voted provision extending for two years the present program of giving bonus payments to states that control billboards on the interstate system. This provision was not in the original House measure.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday, conferees agreed on provisions to raise $11.56 billion in revenues to finance the program over the next eleven years. These include extension of the 4-cent federal gasoline tax and increases in truck and tire and tube taxes.

Delay Molina Sentence

NEW YORK (AP) — Sentencing in the second-degree murder case of Francisco (the Hook) Molina, one-time soldier in Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban army, was postponed today until June 29. Castro has offered to exchange the leader of the recent Cuban invasion for Molina.

Pontiac Press Photo

DUNKED EVERY NIGHT — This staunch member of the 1,082-cast Centennial Spectacle, "The Pontiac Story," is emerging breathless from a water tank as he does each night of the performance, drawing one of the biggest laughs. Keystone-cops tossed him is as part of the Gay Nineties scene. The spectacle will continue each night through Sunday at Wisner Stadium, beginning at 8:15.

Uncover Plot to Kill Adlai in Buenos Aires

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York World Telegram said today it had learned of an abortive plot to assassinate U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson during his recent visit to Argentina.

The newspaper said also that a U.S. Marine involved in the investigation of the plot was later shot and is now hospitalized in critical condition.

Two days before Stevenson arrived in Argentina June 7, it was said, Buenos Aires police were tipped off Communists and supporters of ousted dictator Juan Peron had conspired to hold an anti-American demonstration during the official visit.

"A few of the most fanatic Peronistas allegedly decided to assassinate the ambassador . . . to create an international incident that would damage the government of President Arturo Frondizi," the World Telegram said.

★ ★ ★

"A police roundup of Peronista extremists began and maximum security measures were taken to protect Stevenson. No attempt on his life was made. The plotters went into hiding."

Plush N.Y. Restaurant Has Expensive Dinners

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The other night I had dinner in a little restaurant where a bowl of soup cost $6.50.

Before that, I had a little gooseliver appetizer that cost $4.50. How you can have an appetite after eating an hors d'oeuvre priced at $4.50 is something to brood about.

WILSON

O.K., joke over. The little restaurant was Le Chambord, often said to be the most expensive restaurant in the world, the appetizer was foie gras de Perigord, translated "with truffles," and the fish soup was the celebrated bouillabaisse which has all the fish of the Mediterranean in it, in a sauce so hot and charged with garlic that you smell very loud after finishing it.

"Is it true," I am often asked on trips, "that the Le Chambord is the most expensive restaurant in the world?"

In today's society, that is the kind of a rumor that aa restaurant hates to deny. It may not be true but you hate to have people think it isn't true. The more you charge people, the better you must be.

★ ★ ★

Perry Como likes Le Chambord; Bill Cullen was there the same night we were. I didn't even say hello to Bill because if he'd looked my way, I'd surely have said, "Hey, Bill, the price is right, hey, one dinner, $865!"

What surprises you about Le Chambord is how quiet rich customers are. They do not sit around shouting how wealthy they are — they don't need to.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Sherman Adams' wife is writing a book, won't tell even her husband what it's about . . . Pretty singer Lois Willens will be featured this summer at the Tamarack Hotel.

Jackie Gleason writes from Paris that he may fracture U.S.-French relations—he'll import American wines for himself . . . The Crosby brothers will sing in the film "Badlands," and will join Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin in another tune.

EARL'S PEARLS: Colleges, we hear, will be very crowded in the fall. Even basketball players are having a hard time getting in.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The way traffic is nowadays, a Sunday driver is usually someone who doesn't have to be back at work until Tuesday.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The sad thing about most diets is that they do so much for your will power—and so little for your waistline . . . That's earl, brother.

Jessel Blasts TV's 'Phony' Rating System

NEW YORK (AP) — Show-business veteran George Jessel testified today that the "great curse" of television is "the phony ratings system."

He told a Federal Communications Commission hearing the ratings were based on how many persons saw a show — not whether they liked it.

★ ★ ★

The FCC is conducting a hearing into creative aspects of TV programing.

Jessel said that an advertising man, on being told his latest show was "awful," commented: "I do not care if they threw up — it went up in the ratings."

Committee Rejects Postal Increase Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration request for a $741-million increase in postal rates was turned down today by the House Post Office Committee.

★ ★ ★

The action apparently killed any hopes for action by Congress this year on a bill that had been strongly backed by administration leaders.

★ ★ ★

Postmaster General J. Edward Day and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon urged the increase to help wipe out the Post Office Department's expected 1962 deficit of $843 million.

The motion to table the bill had strong support from both Republicans and Democrats on the committee.

Tractor Deal 'Fiasco No. 2'

Republican Duo Tells Newsmen Funds Should Be Returned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders today termed the tractor-prisoner negotiations with Fidel Castro "our Cuban fiasco No. 2."

Both Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., and Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., suggested at their weekly joint news conference that all contributions for the proposed exchange be returned "before some new embarrassment occurs."

The spokesmen for the congressional minority sharply criticized President Kennedy and other administration leaders on the ground that they had first disclaimed responsibility for the tractor-prisoner exchange plan and later publicly backed it.

In the future, Dirksen said, the administration "might do much to get our foreign policy back on the beam" by consulting congressional leaders of both parties "in advance, a course followed by President Eisenhower during his eight years in the White House."

In answer to questions by newsmen about mounting concern over Berlin, Halleck said Kennedy should clarify the administration's position" promptly.

'Harmless, Nice' Dullard Kills 2 and Wounds 6

MALVERN, Ark. (UPI) — Just about every town and hamlet across this nation has a fellow like Billy Joe . . . a nice kind of guy, not too bright, but harmless.

★ ★ ★

Just about everybody in this Southwest Arkansas town knows Billy Joe today. For 90 minutes Billy Joe held the city of Malvern in a grip of terror like nothing that had ever happened here before.

★ ★ ★

William Schuler Joe, 25, (although few knew him by anything other than Billy Joe) went berserk with a high-powered rifle. Before he was stopped he had killed two persons and wounded six others, one of them the nephew of the district attorney.

Bouncing Checks to State Figure Only One-Tenth of One Per Cent

LANSING (AP)—The people who handle the State of Michigan's money occasionally are stuck with a bad check.

The staid, old-fashioned state treasury office on the first floor of the Capitol Building has been the scene of some odd incidents over the years—most of them proving people are funny when it comes to money.

★ ★ ★

The office handles nearly 3 million checks a year amounting to some $1½ billion. It has 8 to 10 thousand checks returned a year, about 80 per cent of them for insufficient funds.

This still is only a slight one tenth of one per cent of the total processed.

About 85 per cent of the bouncing checks are sent back to the Department of Revenue, which received the largest volume a year through its collection of the sales and use taxes. The total amounts to between $1 million and $1½ million a year but the majority of the money eventually is recovered.

HAS GOOD STORIES

Howard V. (Hod) Shewell, veteran cashier-office manager, is the authority for some of the best yarns of off-beat happenings in the treasury office.

★ ★ ★

"We had a scare one time when the son of a prominent state political figure came in to cash a check," Shewell recalled.

One of the deputies gave him the nod to cash the check, Shewell said, signaling in sign language that "15" was OK. The visitor cashed a check for $1,500 and the next day another for $3,000.

Both checks bounced, said Shewell, so he bounced right into the deputy's office to double check on his approval of the check.

"But he told me he just wanted to cash a $15 check," agonized the alarmed deputy. "That was what I meant when I signaled $15."

The money eventually was recovered, but only after a threat to turn the case over to the attorney general.

There never has been an attempt to hold up the office in the memory of the oldest employe, Shewell said.

It would hardly be worth the trouble of any self-respecting bandit, he advised. Although millions of dollars worth of checks, bonds and safe-keeping receipts are kept in the vault, the rule is that not more than $50,000 in cash is ever on hand.

The mammoth vault is hooked up with an alarm system, Shewell assures that it works. He knows because he accidentally set it off one night.

"I hit the bolt of the vault to make sure it was locked," he said. "This set off an alarm loud enough to wake the dead. Within minutes, the protection service were running into the Capitol with guns drawn. I had to do some fast city, state and private police from explaining."

Department officials have long been concerned that some employe might be accidentaly locked into the vault, use up the air supply and suffocate. To guard against this possibility, an air tube was installed several years ago.

"We all feel a little bit better now," Shewell said. "We'd even be able to get feed and water through the tube if it ever happened."

New Shampoo With Scotch Whisky Base

LONDON (AP) — A shampoo with a Scotch whisky base was unveiled Tuesday at the Scottish Council's London trade display center.

★ ★ ★

It is the brainchild of John Armstrong-Payne, a kilted young man whose firm also produces perfumes and bath essences.

"I consider the United States a likely market for this sterling shampoo," he said, "and I hope to export 50,000 bottles of it to American dealers in time for the Christmas trade."

Americans, he explained, are always willing to try something new.

Armstrong - Payne cautioned that it would be unwise to drink the stuff.

★ ★ ★

"Actually, the whisky content is only about 2 per cent," he said. "Most of the whisky smell comes from an odor booster. Also there are other ingredients, including a dandruff remover, which would hardly be soothing to a hangover."

JFK Down With Virus

Infection Mild, Claims Doctor Called in Night

Likely to Be Two-Day Illness; President Still Using Crutches

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was stricken with a mild virus infection during the night but his doctor said today his temperature has returned to normal and the ailment should run its course within two days.

Dr. Janet Travell, the White House physician, described the illness as "probably a mixed bacteria and viral infection."

Dr. Travell reported on the President's condition at a specially called news conference. It was the first time newsmen have been permitted to interview the White House physician.

They had sought news conferences with her several times since the President developed a back ailment several weeks ago.

Kennedy awakened during last night feeling ill and Dr. Travell was called to his bedside at 1:30 a.m.

She had examined the President again this morning with Dr. Preston Wade, New York orthopedic specialist whom she summoned to Washington for consultation.

USING CRUTCHES

Wade was called to help determine if the infection had any effect on the back strain which put Kennedy on crutches for 12 days.

Kennedy was still using his crutches part of the time Wednesday while showing general improvement from his back injury and getting about at intervals without support.

Kennedy's temperature rocketed to 101.6 degrees at 7 this morning. Dr. Travell said it had returned to normal — 98.6 — at 11 a.m.

The White House physician said Kennedy's illness "will probably run its course in two days." She said after her midmorning checkup with Wade:

TWO-DAY VIRUS

"We think we have ruled out anything more serious than a one- or two-day virus."

She said Kennedy told her he felt better before he dropped off to sleep again late this morning. Kennedy was awake from about 1:30 a.m. until 6:30 a.m. He got in a few winks before the doctors saw him again.

Dr. Travell, who hurried to the White House from her home in the Georgetown section of Washington when the President called her, said she had given him a penicillin injection of 1.2 million units.

She described this as a fairly large dose but, "I didn't know exactly what was brewing," and no harm would come from a substantial measure of the antibiotic.

BILLY J. HARGRAVES

BENNIE J. COOPER

ERVIN H. MILLER

Hair-ried Three Win Firsts in Press Beard Competitions

They withstood razzing, pulling, itching and other general discomforts, but it was worth it for patrolman Billy L. Hargraves of the police department, Bennie J. Cooper of the fire department, and Ervin H. Miller of The Pontiac Press.

★ ★ ★

The three increased their assets with $100 savings bonds as they were announced the winners in the beard growing contests among policemen, firemen, and employes of The Pontiac Press.

The Press staged the Centennial contest and will present the bonds to the three men.

Judges were James P. Dickerson, general advertising manager of The Press; Jean Finningsdorf, Press linotype operator, and Don Vogel, outdoor editor.

"It was a hard assignment," Dickerson said. "There were many good ones. Miller, Cooper and Hargraves had bushy, full, thick and well-trimmed beards with mustaches."

Hargraves, 31, of 125 Jefferson St., was tops with the fuzz among 18 policemen who entered the contest; Cooper, 24, of 132 N. Johnson Ave., finished first among 17 firemen surveyed by the three judges; and Miller, 37, of 2612 Grandview Road, Waterford Township, was first among 22 Press employes who tossed away the razor.

TOOK RAZZING

Hargraves, a member of the force since 1955 and that "mean" man that tickets your car when the red flag on the meter pops up, started his beard the day before Easter.

★ ★ ★

Because of the razzing he took he nearly put the razor to it, but his wife Louise encouraged him to let it grow "to get into the spirit of the Centennial."

A Press employe for 14 years, teletype operator Miller said some parents at his church asked him if their children could pull at his beard. Other jibes went his way, he said, when he traveled out of the city.

Assigned to Station No. 3, Cooper is proud of his beard and well-waxed handlebar mustache which he started growing around Easter, like Miller and Hargraves.

★ ★

"Some kids have called me Santa Claus but I'm proud of the thing," said Cooper, a member of the force since last October.

Wants No Fear Over K Threats

JFK to Reduce Test Ban Talks to Token Status, Humphrey Believes

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic whip Hubert H. Humphrey said today the free world "ought not to be intimidated, blackmailed or moved" by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's threats to resume nuclear bomb tests.

★ ★ ★

The Minnesota Democrat said he does not expect President Kennedy to break off the lagging test ban talks in Geneva but rather to reduce them to a token status.

At the same time, he expressed the belief that Kennedy will "reserve the right to resume testing" if this country's national security required it.

Khrushchev said Wednesday night that the Soviet Union has developed quite a few nuclear weapons that need testing and will resume nuclear tests immediately if the United States does.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan said today he believes Britain and the United States will continue to refrain from nuclear tests so long as test ban treaty negotiations continue in Geneva.

MILITANT SPEECH

In a militant televised Kremlin speech marking the 20th anniversary of the Nazi attack on the Soviet Union, the Soviet premier in effect replied to a U.S. note last weekend that blamed the Soviet Union for the deadlock in the Geneva nuclear test ban talks.

The note hinted the United States might renounce the test moratorium the United States, Britain and France have observed since the talks started in October 1958.

Khrushchev said should nuclear testing be resumed, the "entire responsibility" would be on the Western powers.

★ ★ ★

Wearing the uniform of a Soviet lieutenant general, the rank he held as a political commisar in World War II, Khrushchev told the rally at the Kremlin's Grand Palace: "As soon as the United States starts nuclear tests again, the Soviet Union will start testing its own nuclear weapons."

Friday to Go as High as 78, So Cheer Up

This afternoon's expected showers will end tonight, the weatherman said. The low will drop to near 55.

Friday's forecast is fair with not much change in temperature, the high rising to 78.

Saturday will be fair and warmer. Morning southeast to east winds at 10 miles per hour will become northeast to north tonight and north to northwest Friday.

Fifty-seven was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 1 p.m. was 67.

Saginaw Bulges With Bands, Pint-Size Floats

Participants Are Short but Full of High Spirits on Their Youth Day

By DICK SAUNDERS

The amteur photographers and parade lovers were at it again this morning. Thousands of them liner Saginaw Street to watch the Centennial Youth Day Parade.

But the crowd lacked the biggest parade fans of all—kids. The kids were the parade and they loved it.

Hundreds of youngsters paraded up Saginaw at 10:30 in a mammoth effort that included some 50 units.

It took a little more neck-craning of back row onlookers than was needed to see Saturday's Centennial parade.

The Youth Parade was run at a little lower level. That is to say the participants were a bit shorter and the floats a little closer to the pavement.

★ ★ ★

But the level of spirit, planning and plain hard work of Pontiac area youth was on the highest level possible.

HUGE EFFORT

The huge effort was headed by Cressy Larson, executive director of the Pontiac Boys Club, as parade marshal and chairman of the Youth Parade Committee.

Credit must go to Larson and his committee of Frank Cashman, James Skinner, George Mayes, Gordon Moats, Jack Cole and Lloyd Heimbecker for a job well done.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, was chairman of all the "Youth Day" activities.

There were 10 floats among the many entries. Two of these carried queens.

In the eyes of the young paraders, little Diane Dix, 5, Miss Boys Club of 1960-61, was queen of the day.

Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Dix, 41 S. Jessie St., is only 40 inches tall, but she felt 40 feet tall riding atop the glorious

OH, PLAY THAT THING! — Jim Forman's Dixielanders, a jazzband of local youngsters, were one of the featured units in today's Youth Parade on Saginaw Street. The band has been serenading downtown Pontiac for the past few days with hot Dixieland favorites. The boys stopped to help a friend, Sue Douglas of 998 Argyle St., aboard the bandwagon. The musicians (from left) are tailgate man Jim Forman; cornet blowing Eugene Stone, drummer David Belanger, and tuba tootin' Larry Boice.

Berlin Showdown Due?

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia and the West appeared today to have moved a step closer to a showdown over Berlin which could trigger a third world war unless one side gives ground.

U.S. officials said that Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev, in his Kremlin speech Thursday, dug himself in a bit deeper on the Berlin issue by sharpening his deadline for the Western Allies to pull out of the former German capital.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected at a news conference this afternoon to give the first top-level American response to Khrushchev's steadily increasing pressure on the two critical issues.

Related Stories on Pages 7, 37

He will probably take a cautious approach, reflecting the fact that President Kennedy is in the process of working out decisions to be taken within the next few months.

NOTHING NEW

U.S. officials pointed out there was nothing new in Khrushchev's remarks on Berlin except that he specifically declared he would sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany "at the end of this year."

This would leave the red-encircled allies in Berlin to deal with the puppet regime or get out. His time references previously have been somewhat vague.

The Soviet leader appeared to western officials to be slowly tightening the pressure on Kennedy in an effort to force the President to consider the possibility of backing down or compromising on the long smoldering Berlin issue.

So far Kennedy has refused to

U.S. Garrison Pulls Big Alert

5,000 Troops Speed to Action Posts in West Sector of Berlin

From Our News Wires

BERLIN — The 5,000 troops of Berlin's American garrison sped to action stations at dawn today in a surprise alert designed to test their ability to move fast in case of trouble.

The rumble of tanks surging through the streets awakened West Berliners at 5 a.m. as armor and infantry moved from suburban barracks to key positions in the Communist-encircled city's American sector.

At important intersections combat-clad soldiers replaced traffic policemen as they would in a real emergency.

The Army officially described the maneuver as a "routine operational readiness exercise designed to test the mobility of the Berlin garrison in the streets of West Berlin."

REDS KEEP HARPING

Meanwhile, the Communists kept up their unremitting barrage of propaganda.

East Germany charged today that West Berlin police interfered with the placing of wreaths on the Soviet army war memorial in West Berlin.

The official East German News Agency ADN said delegations bringing wreaths to commemorate the 20th anniversary of Hitler's invasion of the Soviet Union were delayed nearly an hour.

A West Berlin police spokesman explained that only small groups are allowed over the frontier to prevent mass Communist demonstrations in the West.

The marching column of about 150 Communists was split into groups, which were allowed at the memorial one at a time.

Centennial Essay Winner Nearly Loses $100 in Lake

Karen Coleman's $100 almost sank in Elizabeth Lake. But two boys, instilled with the chivalry of Sir Walter Raleigh, jumped into a canoe and retrieved Karen's rough draft of her top prize winner in The Pontiac Press Centennial Essay Contest. Judges of the contest today announced that Karen, 14, of 502 Grixdale Drive, Waterford Township, won the first prize of a $100 Savings Bond.

Named as the second place winner of a $75 bond was John S. Kerns, 16, of 1330 S. Lake Angelus Shores, Pontiac Township; while Noel E. Minton, 17, of 940 Lakeview Ave., Waterford Township, is the recipient of the third place $50 bond prize.

Contestants between the ages of 13 and 18 submitted essays on the subject: "Pontiac . . . The Challenge of Its Future."

Karen, who'll enter Waterford Township High School in the fall and hopes to continue on to Michigan State University Oakland, rushed 180 miles from her grandparents' cabin near Grayling to receive her bond from MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner.

Her father, an employe of the engineering department at the Detroit Arsenal in Center Line, was so excited with the news of his daughter's winning entry that he took the day off from work and rushed to return her home to receive the award.

★ ★ ★

"I about fainted," Karen recalls when her dad told her the news. "I had to sit down in a chair. I still can't believe it."

Longshoremen Return, but Strike Worsens

NEW YORK (AP) — Longshoremen returned to the docks today after a one-day work stoppage that crippled the port of New York.

★ ★ ★

But the week-old nationwide maritime strike grew worse. The number of immobilized American-flag ships rose to at least 150 in 30 ports on the East, West and Gulf coasts.

Negotiations were in a stalemate as the impact of the strike deepened. More industries — especially oil plants — were hit.

A group of oil producers in Texas asked President Kennedy to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act and obtain a court order for an 80-day cooling-off period. The plea was made in a telegram by the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

★ ★ ★

One of the ships knocked out of service was the United States — Queen of the American fleet — which was to sail for Europe Saturday with 1,700 vacation-bound passengers, its largest list of the year. Friday's sailings of the liner Constitution and the cruise ship Santa Rosa also were canceled.

Congo's Tshombe Freed From Jail

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga was freed today after being held a prisoner of the Congolese central government for the past two months.

IN GOOD HEALTH

Smiling broadly and in apparent good health, Tshombe drove up to the residence of Premier Joseph Ileo of the Leopoldville government to hold a news conference.

★ ★ ★

With him was the Congolese commander in chief, Gen. Joseph Mobutu.

"He is free," Mobutu told newsmen as they entered the house.

★ ★ ★

Tshombe confirmed his release and said he plans to return to his capital at Elisabethville immediately.

Smiling broadly, though noticeably thinner, Tshombe paid homage to Mobutu sitting at his side.

"Because of men like him," Tshombe said, "the Congo crisis can now be ended. He is above them all, all, all, all."

Tshombe was arrested April 26 when he tried to walk out of a political conference.

★ ★ ★

His release was a unity gesture by the central government in advance of this Sunday's scheduled meeting of the central Congolese parliament here.

U.N. and Congolese leaders have been working to have Katanga representatives attend the meeting and end the province's secessionist status. Leaders of other major factions have agreed to attend.

Tshombe had been driven alone through the sunny streets of Leopoldville waving triumphantly to little knots of Congolese as they made their way back to work after their lunch break.

★ ★ ★

"I am in very good health," Tshombe told newsmen as he arrived for a news conference at Joseph Ileo's residence. Ileo is premier of the central government.

Royal Troops Preparing for All-Out Rebel Drive

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — American-piloted helicopters today ferried in women and children from the Padong area where Meo tribesmen are bracing for an all-out rebel drive aimed at wiping out pro-government resistance.

★ ★ ★

Other Meo women and children have taken refuge in valleys where food is available. The evacuation is being carried out to remove all noncombatants from the region before the anticipated offensive by the Communist-backed rebels.

The relocation included the almost total evacuation of the "Valley of Happy Pigs" where up to 9,000 tribal refugees once took shelter after the rebels forced them to flee from their homes.

Lt. Col. Vang Pao, commander of the surrounded Meo militia force in Padong, recently told newsmen he expected another rebel offensive in two weeks.

★ ★ ★

He explained the rebel forces would need time for coolie laborers to bring up artillery and build new attacking positions.

The Meo war chief claimed gangs of "human beasts of burden" were used to supply enemy troops. He said they were the source of the enemy's increased strength.

Since the rebels launched a full-scale drive into his territory, some 65 Royal soldiers captured in earlier campaigns have slipped away from coolie gangs and rejoined his forces, Col. Vang said.

In addition to his big enclave behind Padong, Col. Vang Pao also commands many other pockets of Meo and Royal army resistance throughout areas which the rebels long ago claimed to have "liberated."

Laos Princes Settle Nothing

Agree on Necessity of Unity but Leave Action Up to the King

From Our News Wires

ZURICH, Switzerland—The three princes of Laos' warring factions agreed today on the need for national unity but left it up to King Savang Vathana to do something about it.

★ ★ ★

None of the real problems besetting the divided southeast Asian kingdom was settled. The king, though he favors pro-Western Premier Boun Oum, has kept aloof from politics in the past.

The heads of the three major factions meeting here promised vaguely to meet again some time in the future "in Europe or in Asia."

The final statement by Boun Oum, Prince Souvanna Phouma, leader of the so-called neutralists; and his half-brother Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, was largely a declaration of principles. It left all practical problems up in the air.

It stressed that all three major factions should participate in a new regime. But it did not say how much strength each should have, or who would be the leader.

REJECTS PROPOSAL

At Geneva, Russia rejected American and French proposals for effective controls to protect the neutrality and independence of Laos.

★ ★ ★

It also refused to strengthen the truce teams trying to maintain the cease fire.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Pushkin, speaking with a machine gun style delivery before the 14-nation conference on Laos, turned down what the West maintains is fundamental machinery to guard the Southeast Asian kingdom from Communist penetration.

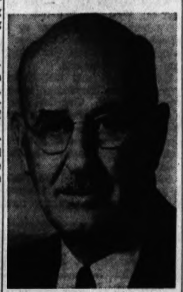
Centennial Citizens



HILAND M. THATCHER

The first mayor of Pontiac was the grandfather of Hiland M. Thatcher, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission.

★ ★ ★

Erastus Thatcher, a lawyer, took office in 1861, the year Pontiac was incorporated as a city. He served through 1862.

The grandson is the last of a family that contributed much to Pontiac. Thatcher's father, Hiland H., operated the oldest insurance agency in the city for many years. He died last year at age 94.

Hiland M. Thatcher, 69, of 3965 Lakefojnt Rd., West Bloomfield Township was an agent with his father until the business was sold in 1942, then became a defense worker until the end of World War II.

★ ★ ★

In 1948 Thatcher began a governmental career that saw him elected supervisor of West Bloomfield Township six times, until appointment last year to the road commission.

Thatcher was vice chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors from 1957 through 1959.

Throng Views Kids in Youth Day Parade

Boys Club float surrounded by club members.

Other floats, all colorful and varied, were sponsored by local girl scouts; the senior citizens' Sunset Club; Carol Wolfe, a local ballet teacher; the Pontiac YMCA; and the boys club.

The parade's first float was the Youth Float, a community effort carrying representatives from each youth organization in Pontiac.

Another Boys Club float featured an Indian theme with the club's "warriors" participating.

BICYCLE BRIGADES

Behind the YMCA float was a centennial bicycle brigade consisting of about 25 YMCA members on gayly decorated bikes.

Bicycles were a major mode of transportation for those not marching. Another big bicycle brigade followed near the end, made up of kids who just showed up for the big event.

With them marched youngsters out in a fantastic array of centennial costumes.

Centennial Winner Nearly Loses Prize

Crary Junior High School said she was working on her essay in front of her parents' home on Elizabeth Lake when a big wind caught the paper and blew it into the lake.

"I then had to work rapidly to get it in on time," said the winner.

Encouraged by her top essay, Karen said she might now study journalism.

★ ★ ★

A senior next year at Pontiac Northern High School, Kerns will have to receive his bond several days late because he's away in Lansing representing his school at the Wolverine Boys State.

The second-prize winner is on his school's tennis and swimming teams, secretary-elect of the Varsity Club, and thinking of a college education at the University of Michigan and a possible career as a dentist, his mother said.

Minton was graduated from Waterford Township High School this month and will enter MSUO this fall. He plans to study business administration or business education, he said.

★ ★ ★

Winners in the contest of $25 bonds are: Kenneth Anchor, 15, of 2637 Colonial Way, Bloomfield Township; Linda M. Sundahl, 13, of 320 W. Iroquois Road; Donald Glowaz, 17, of 299 Third Ave.; Marquis E. Smith, 16, of 915 Spence St.; and Brenda L. Keesling, 18, 731 Third Ave.

Also Gail Elaine Goines, 13, of 163 W. Rundell St.; Carmen Williams, 16, of 3620 Bald Mountain Road, Pontiac Township; Andrea Allen, 16, of 161 Navajo Drive; Pat Largent, 17, of 60 W. Cornell Ave.; and Janice Johnson, 17, of 3962 Bald Mountain Road, Pontiac Township.

Pre-Spectacle Concert Slated

Orchestra of Pontiac Youth to Play Tonight at Wisner Stadium

The accent will be on youth tonight in the preperformance program at Wisner Stadium, beginning at 8:15 a half-hour before the giant Spectacle, "The Pontiac Story," starts.

The 65-member All-City Youth Orchestra, directed by Robert M. Peterson, will play selections by Jerome Kern and Richard Rogers; the march from "The Pontiac Story of Progress and Promise;" and the "Trumpeter's Lullaby" by Anderson, with Perry Tison as soloist.

A select group of musicians from the city's public high schools and junior high schools, the All-City Youth Orchestra is in its ninth month of organization.

A special moment during last night's preperformance program came when one of Pontiac's veteran realtors, J. L. VanWagoner, was introduced in the audience.

"Jake" VanWagoner is one of the many Pontiac citizens whose name is mentioned in "The Pontiac Story." In the Gay Nineties baseball game spoof, it's "Jake" who pitches to Ty Cobb;" also introduced was former Gov. Murray D. "Pat" Van Wagoner, Jake's brother.

WINS PONTIAC

The lucky winner last night was Clarence L. Hardenburg, 2060 Pontiac Drive, Sylvan Lake.

Hardenburg went to Centennial Headquarters in the Pontiac Library today to chose either a 1961 Pontiac Catalina or a GMC Suburban stationwagon as his prize.

The winner Monday night was Victor Avram, 2290 Angelene Drive, Waterford Township.

There's a winner every night of the Spectacle, which is now scheduled to run through Sunday night.

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Twp. by '70 to Have 40,000 Folks'

BIRMINGHAM — A population increase of over 77 per cent can be expected in Bloomfield Township during the next nine years, according to the Bloomfield Township Planning Commission.

The commission reported that an estimated 40,000 residents will be living in the 25-square-mile township by 1970.

Planning studies show that the community will have a population of 51,000 by 1980 and an ultimate capacity of 67,000 persons between 1990 and the end of the century.

The figures on anticipated population growth were gathered by the planning commission in its work on a master plan which will be used as a guide for future development of the township.

The master plan is expected to be completed within two months.

STUDYING SITES

The commission has been studying sites for new schools, recreational parks and shopping areas which will be needed as population increases.

"The character of development in Bloomfield Township is different from most communities in the surrounding area," said Edward A. Procter, planning commission chairman.

"We have a number of lakes and an overwhelming predominance of large lot sizes with a resulting low population density which has a profound effect on every phase of planning for the township," he pointed out.

Current population of the township, based on figures obtained in the 1960 census, was 22,530. There are now slightly over 6,500 homes in the township.

★ ★ ★

The commission reported that an estimated total of 20,000 residential units will be located there when ultimate development is reached.

★ ★ ★

Following completion of the master plan, the commission will take up the township's zoning laws as the next step in its study.

A series of area meetings will be held with township residents in September to discuss in detail the findings and recommendations of the commission.

Service for Mrs. Joshua (Charity Ann) Gibbons, 97, of 507 W. Frank St., will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Bell Chapel of the William P. Hamilton Funeral Co. Burial will be in Roseland Park Cemetery, Berkley.

Mrs. Gibbons, a 47-year resident of Birmingham, died yesterday after a long illness. She was a member of the First Methodist Church of Birmingham.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Ray Conley and Mrs. Alton Coffield, both of Birmingham, Mrs. Goldie Smith of Dearborn, and Mrs. Fred Hopson of St. Petersburg, Fla.; three sons, Herbert and Wesley, both of Birmingham, and Ivan of Shenandoah, Penn.; a sister, Mrs. John Hill of Auburn Heights; 13 grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

Ikeda Says Foundation for Close Collaboration Laid by Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today a strong foundation for closer collaboration between Japan and the United States has been established as the result of top level talks here.

The Japanese leader and Rusk made their statements to newsmen at the end of a 55-minute final session which substituted for a meeting between Ikeda and ailing President Kennedy.

"We have just concluded three days of most friendly and profitable talks," Ikeda said in Japanese. His remarks were translated.

"We have made a strong foundation for closer collaboration between Japan and the United States," he added.

★ ★ ★

"It is a foundation on which we can build still greater heights of friendship."

Rusk expressed "the greatest of pleasure" in looking back on two and a half days of talks with the Japanese visitor.

"The United States and Japan have laid the foundation for still more effective cooperation between our two countries," Rusk said.

A new chapter in U.S.-Japanese relations is opening/ based on equality and partnership, Rusk said, and added:

"We are gratified for the time he (Ikeda) has given to these consultations."

Told to Cut Output at State's Oil Fields

LANSING (AP) — The State Oil Board has ordered curtailment of oil and gas production in Michigan's three leading oil fields.

Gerald E. Eddy, state director of wells, said cuts were ordered for the Albion, Scipio and Pulaski fields in Calhoun, Hillsdale and Jackson counties.

Oil wells were ordered to cut production from 125 to 110 barrels a day and gas wells from 165,000 to 150,000 cubic feet.

Eddy said the order resulted from a public hearing and reports from Conservation Department engineers who advised curtailment to prevent underground waste of oil and gas.

★ ★ ★

A similar order last year resulted in an overall improvement in oil and gas production, he said.

Divining Rod Will Be Used to Hunt Water

CORUNNA (AP) — Having spent $3,500 on test wells in a futile effort, this central Michigan community is ready to return to the ways of its forefathers in finding fresh water.

★ ★ ★

The City Council has voted to employ a local resident who uses the ancient dowsing or so-called divining rod forked-stick technique in its search for a new water supply.

"This may sound like a joke, but it's not," said Councilman Howard Watson. "It has worked many other times, and it may work here."

NO RABBIT BUT . . .—A handful of synthetic rubber is concocted by Bob Allen, General Motors Corp. public relations staff, at the "Preview of Progress" show staged as part of the Centennial Industrial Exhibit. The show, demonstrating the city's industrial products, comes to a climax at Pike and Parke streets at 9 tonight.

U.S. Reds to Public: Come to Aid of Party

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U. S. Communist Party today called on all Americans to help it override two Supreme Court decisions.

In "an open letter to the American people," appearing as a half-page advertisement in today's New York Times, the party said "it would place its case before the highest court of all, the bar of public opinion."

The court decisions force the Communists to register as a "Communist action organization" and allow the jailing of "active" Communists because of their intent to bring about the forcible overthrow of the government.

★ ★ ★

The action also would require publication of the names of all party members.

Trafficast Issued to Aid Holiday Drivers

LANSING (AP)—A Fourth of July traffic forecast aimed at helping Michigan motorists plan their holiday trips and avoid traffic jams has been issued by the State Highway Department.

The forecast of traffic volumes and peak hours on the state's highways is based on a 25-year study of Michigan's holiday travel.

The Fourth of July weekend generally generates the state's worst traffic jams, the department said.

If weather is good, motorists are expected to drive 753 million miles in Michigan over the five-day period, a 58 per cent increase over the average five-day volume. This also would be a 33 per cent increase over the recent five-day Memorial Day weekend.

The heaviest traffic volume is expected on Tuesday, July 4, when Michigan motorists are expected to drive more than 157 million miles, a 65 per cent increase over the average daily traffic volume.

Predictions of peak traffic hours on state highways include:

Northern Lower Peninsula—heaviest northbound traffic is expected Friday, June 30, between 6 and 10 p.m. and Saturday, July 1, between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Heaviest southbound traffic is expected Tuesday, July 4, between 2 and 6 p.m.

DOUBLE THE CARS

Traffic in the area is expected to be 2½ times greater than normal over the five-day period.

★ ★ ★

Southwestern Lower Peninsula—heaviest concentration of northbound traffic is expected Friday, June 30, between 6 and 9 p.m. in the New Buffalo area. Similar volumes are expected Sunday, July 2, as families head for the beach. Southbound volumes will be greatest Sunday and during the late afternoon and evening on Tuesday, July 4.

Outlook for the five-day period is for traffic double the average.

Southeastern Lower Peninsula—highways within a 75-mile radius of Detroit are expected to carry extremely heavy volumes of traffic on Friday evening, Sunday and Tuesday with the worst jams expected Sunday between 6 and 9 p.m. and Tuesday between 4 and 8 p.m.

Upper Peninsula — heavy north and westbound traffic is expected on U.S. 2 between 9 a.m. and noon on Saturday. The heaviest south and eastbound traffic is expected between noon and 4 p.m. Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The outlook is for traffic two or three times greater than normal over the five-day period.

Films Go International

(Editor's Note: Whether movies "are better than ever" is a claim you may wish to dispute. But there's no denying they are a lot different than they were 20 years ago—or even five years ago. This is the first of three reports on the new trends and the new glamour girls of filmdom.)

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

ROME (NEA) — "International appeal."

That's the new ingredient in motion pictures turned out by a truly global film industry booming in a dozen countries, none of which has a monopoly.

It's a new ingredient that means something for everyone—and something that is raising "For Adults Only" signs.

It's a new ingredient that means cultural and box office exchange — and clash of morals setting off new censorship controversy.

It's a new ingredient that has sparked a hot war of celluloid showmanship between foreign film makers looking for Yankee dollars and U.S. producers looking for production capital and 60 per cent of their profits in foreign lands.

★ ★ ★

It's a new ingredient that means the star, the director, the producer, the writer may be from four different countries while the movie is shot in a fifth. And the final product will draw audiences around the world.

Thus far, movies over which Europeans have had creative control are taking the leadership in daring new screen trends —England's "Room at the Top," Italy's "La Dolce Vita," and "Never on Sunday;" filmed in Greece.

They are winning mass favor in the U.S. and forcing Hollywood producers into the same mold.

MORE KITTENISH

With the new trend in both foreign and domestic movies has come a new breed of international sex kittens. Some of them make Marilyn Monroe look like Shirley Temple.

U.S. theater marquees have started to blink out their names—Melina Mercouri, Naney Kwan, Claudia Cardinale, Rosanna Schiaffino, Yoko Tani.

Television competition in the U.S. cracked Hollywood's self-censorship code and now global competition has intensified the filming of even more adult stories.

Censorship debates and classification ordinances like the one recently adopted in Abilene, Tex., are one result.

★ ★ ★

Foreign movie makers are shackled to no moral code like the one the Motion Picture Assn. of America is attempting to preserve.

The foreign moviemaker can be as daring as he likes. Only U.S. customs and a handful of local film censorship boards stand between him and the coveted Yankee dollar.

Blamed for many things, the one-eyed TV monster in the U.S. living room cued the international movie boom along with the "adult" movie trend.

Hollywood lost its place as the world's largest mass producer of movies when its U.S. audience and domestic revenue were cut in half.

★ ★ ★

The Hollywood built on monopoly, temperament, fantastic salaries and inefficiency collapsed when its film production fell nearly 60 per cent.

SUBSIDIES ABROAD

Foreign producers, some with subsidies from their governments, moved into the U.S. market with daring, unheard-of realism and spectacle films out of Hollywood's own flamboyant past.

The TV panic in the "movie capital of the world" killed off the "star system," launched a general depression and brought to the screen a wave of cheap movies aimed at teen-agers.

But, as competition from foreign films increased (733 in 1960, cluding 33 from Russia), Hollywood teamed its "name" stars with foreign personalities for global appeal. It gambled, and won, on such spectacles as the $14,000,000 "Ben Hur."

★ ★ ★

Today, with profits from old films leased to TV, telefilm production and sale of real estate, Hollywood is contributing productions to the global movie boom.

★ ★ ★

But its increasingly more important role is in financing, co-financing and distributing the world's film product.

★ ★ ★

AF Mace-B Missile Near Combat Stage

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Air Force reports its Mace-B guided missile is virtually prepared for combat-alert assignment.

The announcement followed the successful launching of one of the swept-wing missiles on an evasive 1,100-mile flight down the Atlantic range Wednesday.

Officials said the test had "completed the development phase of the tactical missile and proved it ready for final performance flights." These will be evaluation and training exercises for Air Force troops.

'Better Go Slow' on Cashing Your Insurance Policy

LANSING (UPI) — A warning has been issued by state insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford to owners of permanent life insurance policies with substantial cash values.

Blackford said these individuals should be wary of proposals to cancel the permanent policies in favor of other types of investments.

Blackford said several individuals called to his attention offers of "glib promises of more lucrative returns in a shorter period of time" have been made for conversions of policies.

"Most established permanent policies have benefits, advantages and provisions that should not be lightly discarded," Blackford said.

"Before canceling any policy for other investment purposes, it is suggested that policyholders carefully check alternative choices. They should not cast aside valuable coverage already earned which may not be replaceable."

Lost Wallet Returned by Road Gang Member

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —A woman laid her wallet on the fender of her car last week while in a service station, then drove 25 miles before notcing her loss.

Wednesday—four days after the incident—a man found the wallet which contained $12 and turned it over to police, with the contents intact.

The finder was a state prisoner working on a road gang.

Bill Would Establish Foreign Travel Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress Wednesday sent President Kennedy a bill to set up a new international travel service to induce more foreign visitors to the United States.

Legislative action was completed when the Senate approved it by voice vote.

The measure would establish the United States Travel Service in the Commerce Department under a $19,000-a-year director.

It would authorize $3 million for operating the first year, $4.7 million annually thereafter.

Western Open a Prestige Tournament for Touring Pros

By BILL CORNWELL

GRAND RAPIDS — The second oldest major golf tournament in the United States began a four-day run here today at scenic Blythefield Country Club.

The Western Open Golf Championship, which was instituted in 1899, started the 58th chapter of a long and honored history over the 6,730-yard Blythefield course with a large majority of the nation's top touring pros entered. Only USGA Open tourney is older.

Heading the starting field of 150 was newly-crowned National Open champion Gene Littler, whose one-over-par 281 last Saturday at Oakland Hills brought him his first U.S. Open title.

* * *

Ready to challenge Littler during the four-day, 72-hole medal play competition are South Africa's Gary Player, reigning Masters champion; Arnold Palmer, Doug Sanders, Bob Goalby, Mike Souchak, Sam Snead and durable Doug Ford, to mention just a few.

* * *

This marks the first return of the Western Open to Grand Rapids since 1911.

The Western Golf Association-sponsored tournament, which had its inaugural in 1899 at the Glen View Golf and Polo Club in Golf, Ill., last appeared in Grand Rapids in 1911 at Kent County Club. Kent C.C. also was host to the tourney in 1904.

Incidentally, Golf, Ill., home of the first Western Open, is now central headquarters for the WGA.

* * *

From a prestige standpoint, the Western Open is the 4th-ranked major golf event in the country. The WGA classic is exceeded in prestige only by the U.S. Open, Masters and National PGA.

Both Player and Palmer appear due for another hot duel in their current feud over PGA earnings. Player is leading the cash parade at the moment, pursued closely by Palmer. Sanders is the 3rd leading money maker.

* * *

Souchak, who will defend his Buick Open crown next week at Warwick Hills near Grand Blanc, also seems about due to cut loose with a hot streak. "Iron Mike" hasn't won a tour victory since April at Greensboro, N.C.

Aside from his customary letdown in the National Open, Snead has been playing exceptionally well for the past couple of months and the Slammer might find the par 36-35—71 Blythefield layout very much to his liking.

"Big John" Barnum, host pro at Blythefield, thinks the leading par-busters are apt to burn up his home links. In fact, Barnum predicted 270 as the possible winning score, which would be 14 strokes below par.

This would be in sharp contrast to the U.S. Open last weekend at Oakland Hills where the par-breakers were fighting to break even and Littler's winning total was one above regulation.

The defending Western Open champion is Stan Leonard, balding Canadian pro who annexed the title last year at Detroit's Western CC by defeating Art Wall with a birdie three on the first extra hole of a sudden-death playoff. Leonard trailed Wall by six shots entering the final 18 holes.

Leonard, who is here to defend his honors, was 46 years of age when he won the 1950 crown, making him the oldest champion in Western Open history.

* * *

The total jackpot in the Western Open is $30,000 with $5,000 going to the winning pro and $2,500 to the runnerup. Eighteen holes are scheduled daily. The field will be cut for Saturday's 3rd round, then slashed again Sunday for the final round.

From The PRESS BOX

Bud Badger of Bloomfield Hills, playing for the MSU golf team, defeated Paul Spengler of Arizona State, 1-up in 19 holes yesterday in the first match play round of the NCAA tourney at Lafayette, Ind.

* * *

Dick DeLamielleure, an outfielder at Michigan, who hails from Detroit signed a contract with the Minnesota Twins and will report to Wytheville, Va., in the class D Appalachian League.

* * *

Some $5,000 in prizes will be up for grabs July 1-4 when the "World Series of Drag Racing" is held at the Central Michigan Dragway in Stanton, Mich. Dragsters from 40 states will compete.

* * *

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — The most decisive victory in the Garden State Stakes was scored by Summer Tan in 1955 when he won the world's richest race by nine lengths.

HOT PUTTERS — Bob Rosburg (left) and Charles Sifford each shot a blistering 65-six under par in the tuneup for the Western Open yesterday at Grand Rapids. Rosburg had nine one putt greens and chipped in a 30-footer in the practice round. Sifford's putter was equally hot. The tourney starts today at Blythefield Country Club.

SPORTS

Sports Car Regionals at OCSC Racing Club

The Detroit Region of the Sports Car Club of America will hold its annual June Regional Races on Saturday and Sunday at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Road Racing Club.

About 120 cars from throughout the Midwest and Canada plus many of the area's leading drivers are expected to compete in this local sports car classic.

"We have selected the Waterford Hills course for the second year in a row," stated Carl Chakmakian, Detroit Regional Executive, "because the numerous hills and curves of this course present a challenge to car and driver alike without endangering the safety of the competitors. Not only has this track become popular with the drivers, but the fans seem to like it pretty well, too."

Racing begins on Saturday and Sunday 10 A.M. The course has excellent spectator viewing areas and tickets my be purchased at the gate. Admission is $1.00 on Saturdays and $2.00 on Sundays. Children under 12 are admitted free. Plenty of free parking is also available.

Among the local drivers entered is Dave Moothart of Pontiac who will be driving a Triumph TR-3.

New Shortstop Hitting .353 at Denver but Has 24 Errors

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Good hit, no field" are the credentials young Dick McAuliffe is bringing back with him to the Detroit Tigers.

The rookie shortstop was called up last night from Denver in an emergency measure taken because of Chico Fernandez' leg ailment.

* * *

McAuliffe had a brief, eight-game fling with the Tigers at the tail-end of the 1960 season.

Manager Bob Scheffing said the American Association batting leader will be pressed right into the starting lineup tonight against the Washington Senators.

Scheffing has been forced to juggle the left side of the Tiger infield for the past week because of injuries to Fernandez and third baseman Steve Boros.

The Tigers' game with Washington last night was washed out by rain — a downpour welcomed by Scheffing.

* * *

"It gives us another day's rest for our invalids," said the manager of the league leaders. "I like that."

McAuliffe was tearing the cover off the ball at Denver with a .353 average. But ground balls seemed to be tearing the glove off his hand. The 21-year-old left-handed hitter made 24 errors in 64 games.

* * *

He joins an infield averaging under 24 years that already has been having fielding problems.

Fernandez has made 14 errors while second baseman Jake Wood has committed 13. Boros has had 10 miscues.

The Tigers' infield woes have caused Scheffing to make some drastic changes.

* * *

Al Kaline, who'd never played anywhere else but the outfield in a distinguished big league career, played third base here Tuesday night. He may be back at third tonight unless Boros' injured leg is better.

* * *

Fernandez has played on one lame leg several weeks. Scheffing finally had to bench him Sunday and give outfielder George Thomas a try at short. Ozzie Virgil, who'd been filling in for Boros, moved to shortstop Tuesday.

Thomas, hitless in seven major league at bats, was placed on waivers to clear room on the roster for McAuliffe. The ex-Minnesota bonus player likely will be claimed by another club for $20,000. If not, the Tigers will send Thomas back to the minors, probably to Denver.

Scheffing gave no indication what would happen to McAuliffe once Fernandez is ready to go again. But McAuliffe carries the tag of Tigers' shortstop of the future. Many expected him to take over from Fernandez in about a month or two anyway if the Cuban goes into his normal mid-season sag.

* * *

McAuliffe's hitting figures at Denver were most impressive. He had 95 hits in 269 times at the plate. The youngster has banged out 14 doubles, 14 triples and five home runs.

While with the Tigers for a cup o' coffee at the end of last season, McAuliffe batted .259 in eight games but contributed five errors.

* * *

While idle last night, the Tigers lost ground to the second-place New York Yankees, but gained on Cleveland. The Yanks narrowed Detroit's lead to one game by beating Kansas City 5-3. The sagging third-place Indians were thumped twice by Chicago 15-3 and 11-1 and fell 2½ games behind.

* * *

Phil Regan (7-2) will pitch for Detroit tonight against one-time Michigan State star Ed Hobaugh (4-3).

Reds Win, Los Angeles Takes Pair

Braves Nip Giants Again

By The Associated Press

Are the Milwaukee Braves finally on their way in that National League race? Or have they just set themselves up for another flop?

* * *

At the moment, the Braves have edged back into fifth place by winning their third in a row behind complete game victories by Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette. The streak may not be much, but it matches their longest string of successes this season, and they've built it against second place Los Angeles and third place San Francisco.

What's more, Spahn and Burdette, the two aces of the pitching staff, have won in rotation for the first time in four weeks.

After losing four straight to San Francisco, the Braves made it two in a row against the Giants with a 5-3 victory behind Burdette Wednesday night. Spahn beat San Francisco 2-1 Tuesday night.

* * *

It was the fourth victory in five games for the Braves, but left them nine games behind the front-running Cincinnati Reds, who knocked St. Louis to sixth place by beating the Cards 9-2. Los Angeles shaved the Reds' lead to one game by taking two from the Chicago Cubs, 4-1 and 4-2. The Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game was rained out.

In the American League, the New York Yankees, scoring their runs on two homers by Mickey Mantle, beat Kansas City 5-3 and moved within one game of the first place Detroit Tigers, who were idled by rain. The Chicago White Sox, winning 13 of 14, walloped third place Cleveland 15-3 and 11-1 in a twi-night doubleheader. Baltimore beat Minnesota 11-5 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston 5-1.

Burdette (6-5) followed up a 2-1, five-hit victory over Los Angeles in his last start with a five-hit decision over the Giants, who now trail by three games. The big right-hander retired 11 batters in a row after the Giants broke a 2-2 tie with Willie Mays' 14th home run in the sixth inning. The Braves, coming from behind on Joe Torre's two-run homer in the fifth, finally nailed it against Jack Sanford (3-4) on a two-run double by Joe Adcock in the sixth.

* * *

The Reds, winning seven of their last eight, took a 2-1 lead in the first inning against loser Ernie Broglio (6-8) and romped in as Gus Bell and Frank Robinson each hit a homer and drove in five runs between them. Rookie Ken Hunt (8-3) won his third in a row, although allowing nine hits.

Reliever Larry Sherry saved both games for the Dodgers. He struck out pinch hitter Ed Bouchee and Jerry Kindall with two on in the ninth inning of the opener, saving the victory for Stan Williams (6-6). Then he blanked the Cubs on one hit over 3 1-3 innings in relief of southpaw Johnny Podres (7-1) in the second game.

Gordie Windhorn's first major league hit, a three-run, fourth-inning double, won the first game for Los Angeles and beat Dick Ellsworth (2-5). The Dodgers scored twice in the sixth, getting the runs on a single by Norm Larker and an error, and wrapped up the nightcap against Don Cardwell (5-5).

Michigan Mile to Have 13 Contestants Saturday

DETROIT (AP)—A crowd in excess of 20,000 will watch Michigan's top thoroughbred event, the $50,000-added Michigan Mile, as eight invaders and five locally stabled horses battle Saturday for top money.

The field was trimmed from 14 when owner S. M. Barton decided not to ship Greek Star in for the event after an unsatisfactory workout in the East.

This is the 13th running of "The Mile," which in recent years had been run at the mile and 1/16 distance. General Manager Paul Ryder called it the most wide open field in the history of the event and predicted the winner could establish a new record for the distance with a fast track.

Total Traffic set the track record with a time of 1:41 4/5 in winning the Michigan Mile in 1959.

* * *

Pride of the local contingent, which includes 1960 winner Little Fitz and runnerup Hymient, is Physician. The four-year-old gelding does not have a single stakes placing to his credit, but he came from 11 lengths off the pace last Saturday and won the mile trial by nearly two lengths at the same distance.

Little Fitz was second, Eight Again third and Hymient fourth —and all three, in addition to Toby's Brother—will go to the post with the invaders Saturday.

Physician, sired by the great Khaled and owned by Lyfn Boice of Oakland Hills where the par-breakers were fighting to break even and Littler's winning total was one above regulation.

The defending Western Open champion is Stan Leonard, balding Canadian pro who annexed the title last year at Detroit's Western CC by defeating Art Wall with a birdie three on the first extra hole of a sudden-death playoff. Leonard trailed Wall by six shots entering the final 18 holes.

Defending Champion in Spring Lake Final

SPRING LAKE (AP) — Defending champion Patti Shook tangles with Mrs. Dwight Anneaux today in the championship finals of the 40th annual Spring Lake Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Shook, an 18-year-old Saugatuck High School graduate from South Haven, is seeking her third straight crown. She waltzed through her semifinal match yesterday with a 7 and 6 victory over Mrs. Richard Babcock, as Mrs. Anneaux ousted Mrs. Nels Michelson of Lansing, 3 and 1.

Mrs. Edgar Reynolds of Lansing, a tourney winner in 1952 and 1955, meets her 18-year-old daughter, Judy today for honors in the first subchampionship flight.

—Rex Ellsworth's trainer—turned in the highly respectable time of 1:42 3/5 in the mile trial.

* * *

He will face strong outside opposition from the Harbor View Farm's Francis S., C. W. Smith's American Comet, the Llangollen Farm's Divine Comedy and Mrs. Steve Ippolito's six-stakes winner Resolved.

Certain to receive a lot of backing is Pied D'or, the first Calumet Farm horse ever to compete on a Michigan track. Also entered are Natego, Come About and Foreign Land. Resolved drew top weight of 120 pounds.

Collins, Kraft Toss Gems

Hurl Baseball No-Hitters

Two no-hitters featured six city baseball contests Wednesday. Ray Collins of Pontiac Central and Gary Kraft of Auburn Heights Boys Club hurled the gems in Class D play.

* * *

Collins blanked Our Lady of Refuge 6-0, missing a perfect game because of a walk. He finished the minimum 21 batters in seven innings because the lone baserunner was thrown out attempting to steal. He had 13 strikeouts including six straight ones and another spree of six. George Stallings and Gene Luppino swung the big Central bats.

Kraft's effort was similar in a practice game. Two men reached base—walk and hit batter—but one was erased trying to steal. He fanned 11, eight of them in succession. The Auburn team romped 22-0 over Northside Dodgers with Gary Hintz belting a three-run homer to head a 16-hit attack.

CIO came from behind for the second time with two in the ninth to edge Pontiac Merchants 7-6 in a Class A makeup.

* * *

Five walks, the last two with two out, decided the issue as loser Marv Caswell could not find the plate. An error, sacrifice, passed ball and walk had sent the Merchants ahead earlier in the inning. Dennis McDonald got the victory. Al Barkeley homered in defeat.

Huron Bowl, West Suburban Boys Club and Auburn Heights Boys Club won "E" games.

Huron needed only five innings to blast McDonald's Drive-In 16-6 paced by Tom Zock's three hits and three runs-batted-in. The losers committed 11 errors.

* * *

West Suburban broke a tie with three in the seventh to take Great Lakes 10-7 in an exhibition. Larry Zidar's double started the winning spree.

* * *

Blanked with one hit for five innings and trailing 2-0, Auburn got all its runs in the sixth to nip Oxford 3-2. A walk and singles by Roger Ball, Denny Acker and Dwight Sherman ruined a fine showing for Jim Bates.

Negro Group's Charges Denied by P.G.A. Boss

DUNEDIN, Fla., (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association denied flatly today that withdrawal of its 1962 championship from Los Angeles had anything to do with Charlie Sifford, a Negro.

PGA President Lou Strong said at the same time the association received no request from California's attorney general that Sifford be permitted to play and that Negro professional golfers are not barred from the PGA championship.

* * *

Strong's remarks came after the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People made published charges calling the PGA an "ugly tournament" and citing what it termed "un-American practices."

Strong said NAACP officials should have "taken a moment to ask Charlie Sifford about the PGA and the PGA championship" and he could have "given them the facts and cleared the air" before making what Strong labeled "these unwarranted charges."

Strong said Sifford did not qualify for the PGA this year on the basis of his playing record. Sifford was an approved member of the PGA tour in 1960.

Howe's and Adams Win

Fisher in 10-Run Spree

Floyd Robinson garnered two of his three hits in the same inning to highlight a 10-run 4th frame which broke up a 1-1 duel and sent Fisher Local 596 on the way to a 11-1 breeze over Smith Silo on the local softball program last night.

There were three other safeties and several errors in the wild inning. Each team had matched runs in the 2nd. Jim Cuthrell hurled a two-hitter for the victory in five innings.

Howe's Lages nipped CIO Local 594 4-3 and Adams TV came from behind twice to whip 300 Lounge, 7-3 in other action.

Successive doubles by winner Dick McCoy and his batterymate Jim Reynolds in the 8th produced Howe's triumph. McCoy and starter Ralph Long had a combined no-hitter and 3-0 lead until the losers put together two walks, a triple by Clay Williams and a fly out to tie. The triple was the only CIO hit.

After evening the count at 3-3 in the 4th, Adams TV went ahead to stay with a run in the 5th and added a trio in the 6th. Gene Byers slammed a triple and single and Paul Davis had a double and single for the victors.

Mrs. Hume shot a one-under-par 37 on the front nine, then slipped to 46 coming home for her one-stroke margin of victory.

Mrs. H. G. (Ryima) Marquardt of Gowanie finished 2nd with 84 and Miss Helen Grinnell of Detroit G.C. took 3rd place at 85. Miss Sally Sharp of Forest Lake posted 39-48—87. Women's par at Meadowbrook is 38-40—78.

SAVE CANAL; NOV. 5, 1956

The situation of President Nassar of Egypt reached a precarious stage when great numbers of British and French parachutists landed at the north end of the Suez Canal.

A cease-fire was declared and surrender terms discussed, leading to the reopening of the canal to the world commerce.

The Egyptians had just lost their vast Sanai Peninsula, east of the canal, to invading Israeli forces.

The purpose of the British-French invasion was to safeguard the canal, and to separate the belligerents in the Israeli-Egyptian fighting.

Grain Futures Drag With Prices Weak

CHICAGO (AP)— Early dealings in grain futures today were draggy and prices steady to weak.

Nearby wheat months were off major fractions, but other grains eased only slightly while soybeans posted moderate gains.

★ ★ ★

Brokers said the pressure in wheat appeared to include a little more hedge selling and the probability that more of the grain is going into commercial channels as harvest of the winter crop moved toward peak in Kansas, the major producing state.

'Flightseeing' May Turn Into Gold Mine

"Flightseeing," a unique "fly now — fly later" plan devised by one of the nation's major airlines, looks like an investment that's going to pay handsome dividends.

★ ★ ★

Indeed, this public relations venture with just the right thickness of sugar coating could turn into a gold mine for American Airlines.

Flightseeing is the recently introduced innovation which asks the $6.50 question: Would you like to go for a plane ride over your city?

The reaction of Metropolitan Detroit hasn't been as brisk as in other cities in opening weeks. American's Electra II prop-jet Flightseeing plane had nearly half its seats empty the first Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Last week, the three flights attracted about 25 per cent more customers. Of all those who went up, approximately half were doing so for the first time.

Therein lies the gold. For it seems safe to say that almost without exception, these people want to fly again — and soon.

Take New Look at Foreign Aid

Economic and Military Assistance Subject of Administration Review

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said today the administration is taking a new look at its plans for economic and military assistance abroad.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey, the Senate's assistant Democratic leader, said revised programs have improved chances for congressional approval of a substantial part of Kennedy's $4.8-billion foreign aid program.

DELAYS VOTING

Meanwhile, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., delayed Senate Foreign Relations Committee voting on the controversial measure until it hears from U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Fulbright is chairman of the committee.

★ ★ ★

A tentative date has been set for Stevenson to report on his Latin-American trip next Thursday, with Rusk to appear the following day with revised programs designed to meet congressional criticism.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey told a reporter he is convinced "the administration is now moving in the right direction."

Market Quiet, Edging Down

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was irregular with a tendency toward the downside in quiet trading early today.

Most gains were fractional. Some losses went to a point or so.

The market continued Wednesday trendless pattern in a moderate opening which lacked outstanding blocks except for 10,000 shares of Transitron, Wednesday's most active gainer, which traded unchanged at 26⅞. The stock eased in later dealings.

Most Wall Street opinions anticipated further irregularity preceding a hoped-for rally in July. The business news background continued uninspiring. U.S. Steel announced more price cuts and these came on the heels of price reductions in other industries Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Fractional losses were shown by Bethlehem and U.S. Steel. Motors were barely changed, Ford easing. Electronics inched ahead as Philco, Radio Corp. and Sperry Rand made fractional gains.

★ ★ ★

American Telephone was up ⅛ at the opening but later sold on a 5,000-share block at 116⅞, a net loss of ⅛.

In an irregularly lower chemical section losses of around a point were taken by Du Pont, Union Carbide and Eastman Kodak.

Drugs inched to the downside. Oils, chemicals, nonferrous metals and aircraft - missiles were narrowly mixed. Except for a fractional loss by New York Central, leading rails showed hardly any change.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Molebdenum rose about a point and fractional gains were made by Aerojet-General and Victoreen Instruments.

Small losses were taken by Anken Chemical, Leesona and Mesabi Iron.

At Hospitality Center

Old-Timers Chat of Early Days

By DICK SAUNDERS

There are some interesting stories between the lines of the homecomers and old-timers registration books at Centennial Hospitality Center in the Elks Temple.

For instance, Robert Kachinski of Seymour, Tex., a native of Pontiac and 1948 graduate of Pontiac Central High School, returned here seven years ago for a short stay.

★ ★ ★

During that time his son Larry was born. About 4½ years ago he made another visit to his hometown. On that visit his wife gave birth to a daughter, Lou Ann.

★ ★ ★

Kachinski and his family are currently making their third return visit.

"Friends have been kidding us but we tell them that this time we're here to observe the birth of a city," said Kachinski.

They are staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kachinski of 156 Chippewa Road, who came to Pontiac in 1917.

HAVING GOOD TIME

"We had originally intended to visit here in August, but changed our plans to come during the Centennial. We are having a good time."

"Pontiac has really changed, and I must say for the best," he added.

Also on the list are Flora E. Woodhull, 72, and Mrs. Pearl Hudson, 62.

They are sisters. Flora has returned to Pontiac from her home in Brackett, Pa., and is staying at her sister's home at 8 Foster St.

Their parents came to Pontiac in 1889 when Flora was only six months old. Later, she went to old Grove High School, the forerunner to Pontiac Central High.

Mrs. Hudson was born 10 years after the family came here. She holds the distinction of having been born on the site where the present City Hall stands.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Glenn D. Stephens of Kalkaska, is back for the big celebration. She was born here in 1893.

Her father, Bert Webster, was a charter member of the Pontiac Elks Lodge. Mrs. Stephens is staying with her son, Lauren E. Little of 2405 Empire Drive, West Bloomfield Township.

When news of Pontiac's Centennial reached Racine, Wis., James A. Leauf decided a return visit was in order.

Leauf was born in Calumet in 1895 and moved to Pontiac in 1926. For 30 years he lived at 205 W. Huron St. He moved to Racine in 1956.

Also on the homecoming register are Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kibble, former residents, who now live in Sault St. Marie.

CAME HERE IN 1901

On the old-timers register are names like Robert W. Hallenbeck, of 51 Harriett St., who was born in St. Joseph in 1886 and came here in 1901.

★ ★ ★

Thomas M. Graley, 78, of 18 Spokane Drive, lived at 85 Mt. Clemens St. back in 1906.

The only remaining volunteer fireman in Pontiac is listed. William J. Cousins of 47 Delaware Drive, came here in 1901. Among the fire chiefs he served under are Greg Turk and Fred Shaw.

R. Clare Cummings of 205 E. Iroquois Road writes he was born eight miles south of Pontiac in 1884 and has lived in the city for 50 years.

Other visitors at the hospitality center include A. Floyd Blakeslee of 382 W. Iroquois Road, a Pontiac resident since 1898, and William B. Moore of 2727 Chadwick Drive, who came here in 1920, and his wife Agnes, who has been in Pontiac since 1912.

★ ★ ★

The hospitality center will be open until 4 p.m. each day through Saturday.

★ ★ ★

A host of charming Centennial Belles is on hand each day to serve coffee and doughnuts to long-time local citizens or former residents who have returned for the celebration.

Sift Lighthouse Ruins for Blast Explanation

HOUGHTON (UPI) — Coast Guard fire fighters and investigators combed the ruins of the "loneliest" lighthouse in the world today" to learn the cause of an explosion and fire that left one man missing and three others stranded in Lake Superior for three nights and two days.

★ ★ ★

Landing parties from the cutters Woodrush and Naugatuck reached the Stannard Rock lighthouse atop a rocky base in Lake Superior 45 miles north of Marquette.

The explosion and fire occurred Sunday night but were discovered only Wednesday when the Woodrush arrived with a routine delivery of supplies and food.

The cutter's crew found three survivors of the blast huddled on the rocky base of the lighthouse. They had survived the chilly nights with only summer uniforms to wear and two cans of beans to eat.

Ironically, the Coast Guard had been planning to mechanize the lighthouse later this summer — making it unnecessary to man it at all.

"Youth Day" of the Greater Pontiac Centennial has been chosen by the Greater Pontiac Community Council as a fitting time to award the William W. Donaldson citizenship trophy to a Pontiac area citizen who has served the community's youth.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, president of the community council and chairman of today's "Youth Day" program, will make the presentation at Wisner Stadium tonight, during the 8:15 preperformance program to the 8:45 Centennial Spectacle, "The Pontiac Story."

Chrysler Merger Leaves Company With 2 Divisions

DETROIT (AP) — Merger of its Chrysler-Imperial and Plymouth divisions now leaves Chrysler Corp. with two marketing divisions for its six lines of passenger cars and one line of trucks.

The remaining marketing divisions are Chrysler-Plymouth and Dodge.

The auto firm's Chrysler-Imperial and Plymouth divisions were formalized Wednesday. Field staffs of the two divisions were merged in February.

Clare E. Briggs, general manager of Chrysler-Imperial, was named head of the new division. Harry E. Chesebrough, general manager of Plymouth, was shifted to a new post as director of quality control.

Borrows Trial Exhibit A to Give Deputy a Hand

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Convicted in Criminal Court of picking the lock of a Miami Beach mansion, Alonis S. Stein, 34, appealed, and bond was set at $7,000.

Forms for the bond, however were in a deputy sheriff's locked desk.

Deputy Court Clerk James Regan said Stein calmly borrowed exhibit A in his trial—the lockpicking tool — and opened the desk.

Then, with bond completed, he strolled to freedom.

Charges Jerry Lewis Stole Script for Movie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Jerry Lewis is among the defendants in a $950,000 damage suit brought by screen writer Cy Howard.

Howard's complaint, which was filed Wednesday, alleges that the film "Cinderfella" was based on an original script he wrote in 1952 under the title "The Paris Story." The writer contends Lewis had no right to use the script material in "Cinderfella."

The suit includes as defendants Jerry Lewis Productions, Inc., Paramount Pictures Corp., and director Frank Tashlin.

Leopold Will Seek Full Pardon in July

CHICAGO (UPI) — Nathan Leopold will ask society next month for the last measure of forgiveness in the "crime of the century."

Attorney Elmer Gertz, Leopold's latest in a stream of lawyers that began with Clarence Darrow, said a full pardon for the 1924 murderer of 14-year-old Bobby Franks would be "of general encouragement for all who strive to rehabilitate themselves in and out of prison."

Leopold, now 56, went into prison in 1924 on terms of life and 99 years with a judge's instructions that he was never to be released.

Thirty-three years later he was paroled and last February he married the former Mrs. Gertrude Feldman Garcia de Quevado in Puerto Rico.

AAA Will Seek to Bring Drivers Back Alive

DETROIT (UPI) — The Automobile Club of Michigan today unveiled a "bring 'em back alive" safety crusade aimed at saving lives on Michigan highways between now and Labor Day.

About 12,000 posters showing a vacation-bound family of four with the heading "Bring 'em Back Alive" will be distributed throughout the state by police, gasoline stations, auto dealers and other agencies.

★ ★ ★

In addition, 25,000 bumper stickers with the same slogan will be distributed. And a recorded safety jingle using the same theme has been distributed to all Michigan radio stations.

Private, Parochial Aid Is Opposed by Rabbis

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Central Conference of American Rabbis has taken a stand against use of federal or state funds to aid private and parochial schools.

A policy statement on the subject was adopted Thursday at the conference's 72nd annual convention here.

The the same time, the group went on record opposing government assistance to individual students attending private and denominational schools.

Czech to Leave for Homeland

U.N. Official Will Quit U.S. to Escape Being Deported as Spy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Czechoslovak U.N. Delegate Miroslav Nacvalac planned to leave for home today to escape deportation as a spy.

The 39-year-old diplomat, No. 3 man in his country's U.N. delegation, had reservations on a French airliner for himself, his wife and two small sons.

Nacvalac, accused by the U.S. government of being Czechoslovakia's top spy in the country, had rejected an earlier U.S. demand that he leave the country.

★ ★ ★

He changed his plans after Washington announced it had revoked his status as a member of Czechoslovakia's U.N. mission, making him an alien in the country illegally. The United States said he could either leave voluntarily or be deported.

ACCUSED U.S.

Czechoslovakia — and Nacvalac —denied the U.S. charges and accused the United States of violating the "headquarters" agreement between the United States and the U.N., which establishes the special rights and diplomatic immunity of foreign diplomats accredited to the U.N.

A spokesman for the Czechoslovak delegation said his government would continue to press in the U.N. to prove that the United States had no right to oust Nacvalac. The Communist bloc was expected to make extensive use of the incident in its campaign to move U.N. headquarters from New York to Vienna or some other "neutral" European city.

It was the first time the U.S. government had forced the recall of a diplomat attached to a U.N. delegation. Previously the United States had successfully demanded the withdrawal of Soviet U.N. secretarial employes accused of espionage activities.
