Charge 5 Unions Stole $10 Million

GMC, UAW Teams Launch Negotiations Tomorrow at 1 P.M.

DETROIT (AP)—Climaxing a two-month public debate, the auto industry and the United Auto Workers (UAW) will get down to brass-tacks bargaining tomorrow on the union's demand for a quarter slice of the profits pie.

The outcome of negotiations between the big auto companies and the UAW two months hence may well set a pattern for new wage contracts at a time when the economy is plagued by a business recession and mounting unemployment.

Bargaining teams representing General Motors Corp. and the UAW formally open negotiations on a new labor contract at 1 p.m. tomorrow behind closed doors in a room in the GM Building in Detroit.

This does not necessarily mean GM will be the main target of the union in its campaign to win profit sharing, a wage increase and other benefits from the auto industry. Present three-year contracts with GM, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. run out about the same time at the end of May.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther dramatically proposed his profit-sharing plan in January when he shelved an earlier demand for a shorter work week coupled with a big increase in takehome pay. Under Reuther's plan, 25 per cent of all profits above 10 per cent on net capital before taxes would be divided at the end of the year among hourly rate and salaried employes. He also proposed that a quarter-share of profits be set aside for rebate to car buyers but he did not make this a bargaining demand.

Heads of the big auto companies quickly denounced the proposal, calling it unrealtistic, radical and inflationary. But they have not formally rejected it in advance of bargaining talks.

GM President Harlow H. Curtice has said, however, that GM will never negotiate on the basis of "ability to pay."

After the UAW formally presents its contract demands tomorrow, the company is expected to ask for a recess to study the demands.

State labor mediators, who will watch the negotiations closely from the sidelines and offer their services if needed, predict the bargaining will go down to the wire with both sides "playing it close to the chest." GM's contract expires at midnight May 29.

GM has offered to renew its present contract with the UAW which gears wages to the cost of living and provides an annual increase of six cents an hour based on the theory that the private economy's productivity increases at a rate of about 2½ per cent annually.

The union is demanding from all companies a basic wage increase figured on a minimum productivity improvement of 3.9 per cent. But it has not put a price tag on its demands. Estimates on the cost of the UAW's basic demands range from 9 to 40 cents an hour.

The union has described profit sharing as a supplemental demand to be made on companies showing substantial profits. This presumbably would leave out American Motors Corp., which only recently began to show a profit on car making, and Studebaker-Packard Corp., which has been operating at a loss.

The union estimates that profit sharing at General Motors would give hourly workers an additional income of about $600 a year.

Other demands approved by the UAW for presentation to GM include:

Higher pensions and provision for early retirement; broadening of the supplemental unemployment benefit

Hunts for Clues to Todd Crash

CAB Scours the Site of Airplane Tragedy in New Mexico

GRANTS, N.M. (AP) — Heavy earth-moving equipment churned into a muddy mountain valley today to dig for clues to the cause of the crash which killed producer Mike Todd.

"The plane hit at an awfully steep angle — practically straight down," said Phillip Goldstein, investigator in charge of the Santa Monica, Calif., office of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Some persons theorized that the crash may have been caused by icing, which pilot Bill Verner, 45, had reported only a few minutes before the plane went down Saturday.

Some pilots on the scene said it appeared that only one engine was working when the Lockheed Lodestar — the Lucky Liz — smashed into the ground and exploded.

Wreckage was scattered over half an acre. One engine and other portions were buried feet deep in a fused mass.

Identification of Todd's remains were made in a telephone comparison of dental charts by an Albuquerque dentist and Todd's New York dentist, Dr. Samuel Pritz. The remains of screen writer Art Cohn, 45, were identified by a money clip he carried.

Reuther to Join in Opening Talks With GMC

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther will join the union's bargaining team tomorrow at the openng of talks on a new contract with General Motors Corp.

William Horner of UAW Local 664, Tarrytown, N. Y., will be chairman of an 11-member bargaining committee representing workers in GM plants across the nation. Others on the committee:

Judge Favors $44 Million Project

County Wins Drain Case

The 18-month-old Circuit Court battle tying up the proposed Twelve Town Storm Relief Drain ended today with Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland ruling in favor of the $44 million project and the Oakland County Drainage Board which planned it.

Judge Holland dissolved a temporary order restraining the county from going ahead with the project and held that a public hearing should be scheduled to set final apportionments among the fourteen participating communities.

His 47-page decision was against Southfield Township and Troy, both of which have said they would appeal an unfavorable outcome of the case to the State Supreme Court.

The Twelve Town project, initially conceived in 1952 and in the planning stages since 1956, is designed to relieve seasonal basement flooding in southern Oakland County.

It would consist of combined storm and sanitary drains to supplement existing drains in that portion of the Clinton River basin lying north of Detroit and east of the River Rouge basin.

Judge Holland upheld the constitutionality of revisions to the state drain code obtained by Oakland County especially for the Twelve Town project and questioned by both Southfield and Troy.

In effect, Judge Holland upheld the right of the county under the statute to initiate and plan big, inter-community drains where local communities have failed to do so because of high costs.

"This litigation," Judge Holland said, "points up the laudatory purpose of the state code and emphasizes again the impracticability of attempting to solve this (or like drainage problems) on an individual corporate or municipal level, as opposed to a solution on a natural drainage area or district level."

Without county help, he said, "many municipalities must struggle with the unhappy prospects of solving their problems alone, at an expense that would be exorbitant and out of all proportion to benefits."

He stated that a matter of public health was "clearly" involved, since seasonal flooding "plagued" the communities. "This legislation," he stated, "was born of necessity and imperative for the protection of health."

Judge Holland noted one minor victory for Southfield — that township residents could not be taxed beyond the 15 mill constitutional limitation to pay for the drain without their consent.

He pointed out as an aside, however, that this victory might become meaningless soon, inasmuch as part of the township (Westwood) already has incorporated as a city and the remainder is to vote on city status next month.

The 15 mill limitation would not apply to the other communities in the project, he said, since they all are cities.

The major objection by Troy was that while only two per cent of its total area would benefit by the project, the contested statute allowed its share of the cost to be borne by the community at large.

Judge Holland upheld this provision of the act, noting that the state legislature "has wide discretion" in determining how drain projects are to be financed.

Judge Holland also ruled that the county drainage board, set up specifically for the Twelve Town project, had proceeded legally in its planning.

The planning had been questioned by Southfield, which pointed out that it had not petitioned for the drain in the first place and the size of its benefited area had been increased without its consent in the second place.

The township pointed out that in 1956 some 917 acres of its territory had been included at a cost of

Little Toughs Not So Tough

Police Hold Two Brothers in Fatal Shooting of Grocer

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP)—Two young brothers, held for the fatal shooting of a Woodward grocer yesterday, lost some of their toughness today.

Sheriff Hank White said that when he questioned the boys this morning, for the first time they seemed to have a little regret. The brothers are Robert Smith, 12, and his brother, David, 10.

County Atty. H. B. King said he is preparing charges of juvenile delinquency against the brothers. He said it would be up to the court to determine if they were old enough to realize their acts.

Slain was Floyd Blair, 49, the grocer. Adrian Wilson, 22, an employe, was critically wounded.

A customer, Ed Kinney, 47, suffered a flesh wound.

The sheriff said the boys still could not give a reason for the shooting. He said they admitted going into the store to rob it aft-

Trucker Killed as Load Shifts

11 Tons of Iron Crush Driver After Fast Stop on Auburn Avenue

A 43-year-old Cleveland truck driver was killed early this morning in Pontiac when his cargo of iron bars shifted and crushed him in the truck cab.

Nathaniel H. McConnell died while police officers worked frantically to unload the bars that were crushing him.

As police reconstructed the accident, McConnell was driving east on Auburn Avenue, with a load of 11 tons of iron on his semi-tractor.

As he approached the railroad viaduct east of Eastway drive, he decided his truck might not clear and slammed on the air brakes. The wooden platforms holding the bars slid forward and the bars crushed him against the steering wheel.

Police believe that McConnell was on his way to Almont from Ohio. He was working for Querner Truck Lines Inc., of San Antonio, Tex., according to papers found on his body.

Senators Ask for Regulation of Labor Funds

McNamara Refuses to Sign Report, Brands It as Biased, Unfair

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate Rackets Committee today accused bosses of five major unions of stealing, embezzling or misusing more than 10 million dollars in union funds over a 15 year period.

The panel, reporting on its first year of inquiry into improper activities in the labor-management field, also indicted a group of employers and their agents for anti-union actions, including conspiracy with corrupt union leads to the detriment of workers.

In addition, the committee took a slap at lawyers who "have played a dubious role in their relationships with officials of some unions" and at lax law enforcement in a number of communities.

The committee recommended legislation to regulate and control union pension, health and welfare funds and other funds; "to insure union democracy;" to curb activities of "middlemen in labor-management disputes" and to clarify the "no man's land" in labor-management relations.

One Democratic member of the committee, Sen. Patrick McNamara of Michigan, refused to sign the huge yearend report, however, branding it "anti-labor bias."

City Boy, 9, Admits Setting School Fires

Exhaustive police work led to the arrest of a nine-year-old boy Sunday who admitted setting fire twice to Longfellow Elementary School, 31 N. Astor.

The boy was caught by Sgt. Carl P. Colando and Officer Billie L. Irwin who were investigating a garage fire at 10:24 a. m. Sunday.

Sgt. Colando, on duty at the desk when the fire call came in, decided to investigate himself because of the location of the garage, at 69 N. Astor, near the school.

The officers began door-to-door canvass of the area and questioned some 40 youngsters and many adults.

They finally located the boy at his home and he admitted setting fire to the vacant garage, which was behind a condemned house. He said he and other boys used the garage as a clubhouse.

Sgt. Colando continued questioning in the presence of the boy's parents and he finally said he had set fire to the school twice.

He was taken to the school with his father and pointed out exactly how he broke in each time. He denied any reason for setting the fires, saying he liked his teacher and got along fine in school.

Longfellow was set on fire Nov. 24 and Dec. 7. The first incident included several fires in hall wastepaper receptacles, while in the second one, a second-floor room, the boy's homeroom, was gutted.

Partly to mostly cloudy skies is the outlook for tonight and tomorrow, with a low tonight near 32 and high of 42-46 tomorrow. Yesterday's low was 26 degrees.

No rain is expected for several days but some precipitation is predicted about Saturday. Winds will be east to northeast increasing to 15 to 20 miles an hour tonight and tomorrow.

Wall Comes Down on Ortonville Man

An Ortonville man was killed Saturday when one wall of a farmhouse he was tearing down collapsed and fell on him.

Richard Green, 59, of 2211 Allen Rd., had been clearing property he had recently bought on Bird road, north of Bald Eagle road, Groveland Township.

He was found by Joseph Lawrence, of 163 Myron St., Ortonville. His body was taken to the Sherman Funeral Home in Ortonville.

Sullenberger Motion Hearing Postponed

A hearing on a motion to have a visiting circuit judge hear trial of a $250,000 damage suit, brought by Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger against Pontiac General Hospital following his ouster as a staff surgeon, was postponed today until Thursday.

Attorneys for both sides agreed to the postponement because of a crowded docket today in the courtroom of Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Judge Adams, who is scheduled to begin trial of the suit April 8, has been asked by counsel for Dr. Sullenberger to hand the case over to an outside judge since it has received an "extraordinary" amount of publicity and is of interest to many public officials and Pontiac area physicians.

Attorneys for the city and hospital, on the other hand, have urged Judge Adams to hear the case himself.

Charge 5 Unions Stole $10 Million

Workers, formerly known as United Automobile Workers-AFL.

MANAGEMENT SIDE

Named on the management side were Chicago labor consultant Nathan W. Shefferman; New York garbage czar Vincent J. Squillante; Marshall Miller, former aide to a New York legislative group; Anheuser-Busch, Inc.; the Continental Baking Company; Sears Roebuck and Company; the Whirlpool Corporation; the Fruehauf Trailer Company; the Mennen Company and S. A. Healy Construction Company and other firms.

A seven-man majority of the committee branded the labor-management activities disclosed in the report "shameful and unsavory," but emphasized that they in no way "reflect on the overwhelming majority of the labor unions and businessmen of this nation, of whose integrity the committee is firmly convinced."

The seven, led by Chairman John McClellan (D-Ark), stressed that their report was "not a wholesale indictment" of labor or management, as charged by McNamara in a minority report.

McNamara, pointing out that the five indicted unions comprise "only a fractional percentage" of America's 189 international unions, said the majority report "cannot help but fairly indict millions of American working people and their labor organizations."

He expressed fear that the majority report would be used "to cripple or destroy the American labor movement" by some individuals "for their own selfish gain or their own ulterior political purposes."

The Michigan Democrat took issue with the committee's claim that more than 10 million dollars in union funds had been plundered by crooked labor bosses.

'STARTLING FIGURE'

McNamara said: "The only plausible explanation for such a statement is that the committee has gratuitously provided the newspapers with a startling figure for headline use. Nowhere in the foreword, nor anywhere else in the report, is there any explanation of how the figure of 10 million dollars has been arrived at."

The Michigan senator also criticized the majority's claim that the 10 million dollars represents "an average of $5 out of the pocket of every member of the unions covered in this report."

He branded this a "statistical perversion" that is "reduced to its true ridiculous state when the $5 . . . is viewed in relation to the 15-year period."

Offers Strong Men $500

You can parlay a strong arm and plenty of willpower into $500 with the assistance of Vern Goyette.

Goyette, owner of a service station at 1365 W. Huron St., is offering $500 to anyone who can tote 500 silver dollars for a mile with one hand.

He paid off today to Philip Goodall, 26, who carried the 33-pound bag for the distance with his wife and five children cheering him on yesterday. Saturday he dropped it 320 feet short of the goal.

Goyette plans to continue the contest until he gets two more winners. He said today that Goodall, a Fisher Body tool and die apprentice, was only the fifth person in the country to make it. More than 75 men took up Goyette's challenge before Goodall won.

Eligibility for the contest is limited to those who purchase a lubrication, oil change and $2 in gas at Goyette's station.

Todd Leaves Legacy of 'Toddisms'

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Producer Mike Todd, as loquacious as he was flamboyant, left a legacy of "Toddisms" — remarks that stamped his personality perhaps better than anything else.

Among the Toddisms:

"Money is only important to people who haven't got it. I've never been poor, only broke. Being poor is a frame of mind. Being broke is a temporary situation."

"The Russian people were impressed (when he visited Moscow) with the fact that a juvenile delinquent could grow up in America and get a better job than the President — Elizabeth Taylor's husband."

"I got a new birth certificate when I married Liz."

After producing one of the most successful Shakespearean ventures in theater history — "GI Hamlet:" "I made more money out of Hamlet than Shakespeare did."

Producer Samuel Goldwyn, a phraser of memorable epigrams in his own right, once said of Todd: "Hollywood has three things that have saved the film business in times of crisis — sound, the big screen and Mike Todd."

(SUB) plan negotiated in 1955 to provide layoff benefits for a full year instead of the present 26 weeks; layoff pay for short work weeks; improved holiday and vacation pay; relocation pay for workers displaced by plant movements, and a joint union-company committee to study the effect of automation on employment.

The average wage rate at GM is $2.21 exclusive of fringe benefits which the company estimates at 67 cents an hour. These benefits include pensions, health and welfare insurance, layoff pay, vacation and sick leave pay.

The UAW says GM had 360,000 hourly workers last fall but since then has laid off 90,000 workers as result of production cutbacks. GM has said that layoffs by mid-February totaled 27,000.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president in charge of the GM department, says the union is entering the negotiations with no thought "of the eventuality" of a strike. Woodcock says the union hopes to win its demands through negotiation.

A crash convention of the UAW in January added $5 to monthly dues of UAW members, effective this month, in an effort to build up a $50-million-dollar strike fund.

Nixon Explains Ike's Policy

Tax Cut Pressure Grows

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressure for a quick tax cut built up today with new calls from Republican and Democratic members of Congress.

But Vice President Nixon said President Eisenhower is withholding any decision on such additional antirecession measures as tax cuts or increased public works spending until the statistics for March are available.

Official figures on unemployment, production and other economic factors are being compiled now, but won't be in final form until sometime in April.

Nixon said there are some signs of improvement but that "we can't make any final judgment until the figures for March are all in, and we are not prepared to say at this time what March is going to show."

He indicated the administration is concerned that ill-timed tax reduction or increased federal spending might be inflationary.

If a tax cut should be necessary, Nixon said, he would favor a broadly based reduction aimed at creating jobs. Such cuts, he said, should encourage investment as well as increased purchasing power. Thus, he said, he is against any action that would only raise personal income tax exemptions.

Boosting these exemptions was advocated by several senators.

Settle Drain Case in County's Favor

$2,266,000 and in September, 1957 these figures had been changed to read 1,948 acres at $5,034,000.

Judge Holland, however, noted that the drainage board was not bound by law to set the final boundaries of the drainage district until forced to do so by a 1957 amendment to the statute.

He considered it important that the additional township acreage had been included in the project because otherwise it would have to drain into the River Rouge, "which is now overloaded without taking storm waters from areas not within its natural drainage district," he noted.

Judge Holland also ruled that it was legal under the statute to include in the project communities that had not petitioned for it but nevertheless were situated within the project's natural drainage area.

He upheld the county's decision to spread the cost of draining the Detroit Zoological Park and Rackham Golf Course on the county at large and said that the proposal to credit communities financially for existing county drains was proper.

Besides Southfield and Troy, the Twelve Town project would include Berkley, Madison Heights, Clawson, Birmingham, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods, Oak Park, Pleasant Ridge, Royal Oak, Westwood and Royal Oak Township.

Attorneys for both sides are to prepare for a final decree settling the case before an appeal is filed.

Two Boys Held in Fatal Shooting

er Sunday School and the shooting took place within a minute.

White said the younger brother was sick at his stomach for a while after being jailed.

"For the first time, Robert dropped some of his tough acting," the sheriff said. "He had tears in his eyes when I questioned him and said 'I wish it hadn't of happened'.

After the shooting, the sheriff cornered Robert in an abandoned cotton gin. In the face of two loaded guns, he walked in and captured the youth.

"I must have been out of my mind to do it," the sheriff said today. "But somebody might have been shot if he hadn't been captured. I don't know if I could have shot at the youth. I think I would have rather have been killed myself."

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, were out of town yesterday at the time of the shooting.

They returned here last night from Liberal, Kan., and met with their sons briefly this morning at the jail.

The parents were in Liberal, where Smith was working on a plumbing job. They had moved here from Wichita, Kan., several months ago.

White said there was no previous record on the boys.

Sometime after they left Sunday school, White said, the boys broke into a store and stole four .22-caliber pistols. About 2:20 p.m. they entered Blair's open air market. Blair was working on a rifle. The boys asked him if it was a real gun and he said it was.

Then Robert Smith said, "This one's real too," drew out a pistol and started firing.

The brothers then shot out store lights and windows and fled. Robert ran to an old cotton gin about six blocks away. Police moved in on the building.

"I'll shoot the first one I can see," Robert shouted at them.

Tear gas shells were lobbed into the building, then the officers entered.

Sheriff White said he found Robert in a second floor loft, pistols in each hand and pointed toward him. White said: "I had to bluff him. I told him I didn't want to shoot him but I would. Then he dropped the guns and came to me.

"I asked the tough little monkey where his brother was and he told me, 'I don't know where he is but I hope he shoots all of you when you find him.'"

David was found in the basement of the family home, unarmed.

Folies Bergere Opens Doors as Strikes End

PARIS (AP) — The famous Folies Bergere, for many the symbol of Gay Paree, has reopened its doors after a three-month suspension due to repeated strikes.

Director Paul Derval offered a show that surpassed the 30 spectacles he organized before — 100 beautiful girls, 1,500 costumes and 40 different sets of decorations, all at a cost of 200 million francs —$486,000.

The show had been closed as a result of a number of strikes by performers' unions.

Canada's first steam railway operated in 1836 between La Prairie and St. Johns, Quebec.

Union Curb Favored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bentley (R-Mich) says a poll taken in his central Michigan district shows 66.2 per cent of those replying favor legislation to bar use of union dues for political purposes.

Lenten Meditations

By ROBERT L. DIEFFENBACHER, D. D.

We all have tasks to perform. Many of the things we endeavor to do require us to enlist the help of others. We must delegate a portion of our responsibilities to associates.

We must motivate people to want to do their jobs without our having to use authority as a pressure.

Many tasks are passed on to others because we do not want to do the jobs ourselves. Too many of us practice the questionable process of "buck passing." Although we assign duties, we must not shirk our own responsibilities.

Even in the spiritual activities of life, laymen are inclined to "pass the buck" to the clergymen.

Some expect the ordained ministers of the nation to do all the praying, preaching, teaching and witnessing for God.

We must learn that the task of spreading the message of religion is a task for everybne. We must all accept our spiritual responsibilities. Unless we all work together, the opportunity of Lent will be lost.

Elm Street Paving Plans Slated for Action Tonight

BIRMINGHAM—Confirmation of the special assessment district for the paving of Elm street again is scheduled for action by Birmingham city commissioners meeting tonight. The matter was delayed last week when there wasn't enough commissioners on hand for a legal vote.

Commissioners also will receive six letters, including one each from the American Association of University Women and the Junior League, protesting the Commission's reluctance to earmark additional funds for the Shain Park improvement.

Organizations and individuals have expressed the opinion that the city should take the first step in improving the park.

In his reports, City Manager L. R. Gare recommends the city's approval of the rededication of a section of Cole street back to the city from the Berry Steel Door Corp. The street was vacated some time ago by the city, but the company now has asked that it once more appear on official maps. This, it said, will enable it to dispose of the 2.8 acres of land once considered for plant expansion.

Gare rejected the proposal that Birmingham fire hydrants near the Watts Electric Co. in Troy be made available to Troy firemen. Acceptance of the request would open the door to others, a step he deems unwise.

Senior high members of the Congregational Church Pilgrim Fellowship are planning their fourth annual spring trip. Starting with only eight, the present group will see 35 young people and four adults leave by chartered bus for Chicago for a three-day work project in the West Side Christian Parish.

During the Easter week project they will make a converted warehouse their headquarters, preparing their own meals, working and going on sightseeing trips throughout the city. The program includes meetings with the young people who reside in that section of Chicago.

The choir of Bloomfield Hills High School, under the direction of Clarence Luchtman, will present its annual spring concert Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The theme of the concert is spring and Easter. It will be highlighted by selections such as "South Pacific Suite," "Hallelujah Chorus" and "Easter Parade," including a pageant of new bonnets, vocal and violin soloists and the Jills, a vocal octet.

Both the choir and octet have received first-class ratings in previous performances throughout the state.

The Past Matrons Club of Birmingham Chapter 220, OES, will meet for a 1 p.m. luncheon Tuesday with Mrs. Ralph Main, 1817 Fairview Lane. Members have been asked to notify the hostess if they will not be in attendance.

Wins Waterford Beauty Crown

Bonita Brookshear, 18, Selected at Jaycee's Sports, Builders Show

An 18-year-old senior whose ambition is to be an X-ray technician was chosen "Miss Waterford Township" last night, concluding the fourth annual Sports and Builders Show at the Community Activities Building.

Bonita Brookshear, of 1551 Petrolia St., West Bloomfield Township, was awarded the honor after competing against 14 other area beauties.

The show and contest were sponsored by the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Brookshear is the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Brookshear and has been attending the local high school for the past three years.

On Friday evening candidates were judged in a bathing suit and also judged for talent. Saturday they appeared in evening gowns and were judged for intellect and personality.

The contest narrowed down to five contestants on Sunday evening, who were judged on their answers to three questions.

Tied for second place were Stephanie Boylan and Diane Craig.

The winner will attend the "Miss Michigan" contest to be held at Muskegon in July. Some 6,500 people attended the show.

A Wrong Number?

ST. CLAIR SHORES (INS)—Maybe it was a wrong number. Police said every pane of glass was shattered in an outside telephone booth in St. Clair Shores and the phone receiver was pulled loose and hurled 50 feet—through the plate glass window of a pharmacy.

Snow Piled Up, Rivers Swollen

Northeast Fears Floods

BOSTON (INS)—The threat of floods hung over New England as the Weather Bureau said a week of cool, rainless weather is needed to keep rivers in the area from racing over their banks.

The flood threat is posed by 3 to 6 feet of heavily packed snow in New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine. The weather forecaster, however, estimated that only a sudden thaw or a rainfall of at least two inches would touch it off.

Rivers throughout New England were above normal today. The Charles River at 3.6 feet was only 6 inches below flood level and Neponset River was slightly above flood stage at 9.1 feet, but so far it has only overflowed into low-lying areas.

Rain and snow fell across broad area in the West and South today but generally dry weather was the rule in most of the mid-continent and Northeast.

Clash With Reuther Doesn't Upset Solon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz) is unperturbed about his coming clash with Walter Reuther at the Senate Rackets Committee's inquiry into the Kohler strike.

"If Reuther wants to make a donnybrook out of it, all right," he said, "but I don't think it would gain anything."

Goldwater, who speaks in rather slow and deliberate tones, shows no concern about taking on the razor-tongued president of the United Auto Workers in a face-to-face meeting, possible later this week.

"South from Zanzibar"

Colored Motion Picture

Clifford J. Kamen after graduating from Northwestern University spent ten years in the business world, but in 1945 he decided to return to his greater interest in foreign travel, photography and art work. While in Chicago his art studies at the Chicago Art Institute and the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts furnished him with an excellent training for his new work.

He is one of the few independent film producers accredited to produce educational and classroom films for schools and television distribution by the Encyclopedia Brittanica Films, Inc.

His fine presentation of "The Union of South Africa" last year is well remembered.

Over 90 Pct. Vote in Yugoslav Election

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Reports from rural areas today indicated that more than 90 per cent of Yugoslavia's eligible voters braved snow and cold winds to reach the polls for yesterday's one-party parliamentary elections.

President Tito, who ran unopposed, as did all but six candidates in the Communist election, polled 99.3 per cent of the ballots cast in his Belgrade district. There 95.5 per cent of the voters turned out. The average vote in Belgrade was 92.2 per cent.

The election for 301 representatives was Yugoslavia's first since 1953. An 89 per cent vote was registered then, and the government regarded it as a sign of support for its policies.

Point for Rock 'n' Roll

Ex-Mental Patient Held in Dad's Death

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — A former Michigan mental patient was held today in the grudge slaying of his middle-aged father.

The parent, William C. Stoveken, 62, manager of a used car lot, was shot to death while he was apparently taking a Sunday afternoon nap on a sofa in his home.

Police Chief H. J. Bero quoted the son, William Jr., 38, as saying, "I killed him because he held me down in life. If it wasn't for him I would have amounted to something."

The elder Stoveken had been shot three times in the head. On the floor were found three .35 caliber shells.

Dist. Atty. J. Robert Petijean of Brown County said he would issue a first-degree murder warrant against the son.

Docton Boon to Residents of Tangier Island

TANGIER ISLAND, Va. (AP) — "We are very happy," say residents of tiny Tangier Island these days.

"I am happy also," smiles Dr. Mikio Kato.

Mrs. Hilda Crockett, owner of the Chesapeake Bay island's hotel, explains it this way:

"For almost three years, the island searched for a doctor. Then Dr. Kato traveled 8,000 miles to the island from Japan and said he's stay a year. That was last April.

During that time, he's become one of the islanders. He married Sue Crockett, a member of the oldest family on the island, but no one knew whether they'd stay.

Dr. Kato has announced his decision: Yes, at least for another year.

Blaze Hits Boat Yard Near Mount Clemens

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Fire swept through a portion of a boat yard along the Clinton River yesterday, burning seven cruisers and a sailboat with an estimated damage of $20,000.

Harrison Township Fire Chief Nicholas Barsheff said the blaze broke out on a 26-foot cabin cruiser in dry dock at the Mears Boat Yard. He said the owner, George Miles, sprayed the cabin with preservative and turned on an electric heater to dry it. The heater apparently ignited the preservative.

Rain, Snow, Hail, Sleet, Raging Winds

Past Winter Really Mixed-Up Affair

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The winter of 1957-58 may go down in the history books as the time snow fell in the streets of New Orleans. For a change, the northern plains and the rockies, usually the worst spots, had a relatively mild winter.

From Texas to Florida and up to Maine the land was swept with rain, snow, hail, sleet and raging winds.

Late in November, even before winter officially started, lower west central Texas was paralyzed with a 14-inch snowfall. That was just a beginning.

Florida was hit by a hard freeze in December that ruined millions of dollars of fruit crops and killed great pasture areas, leaving livestock without food.

Vicious killing tornadoes swept Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Arkansas that same month.

The new year started off with a roar as southern Florida was swept by the worst winter storm in a half century. Boats were swamped, trees uprooted, crops damaged and windows smashed. Huge sand dunes piled up over highways.

Texas had torrential rains in the south and a heavy snowblanket in the north. Highways were blocked, hundreds were stranded by the snow. Nearly 2,000 had to flee from their homes because of floods. Near - gale winds roared across the Gulf of Mexico piling up 20 foot waves.

A midwest blizzard put six-foot drifts across major roads in Missouri and Kansas later in January. Kansas City recorded 15 inches of snow.

Florida was hit again in February, this time with snow as were other areas to the north. A week later fresh snow piled on top of the old snow in the northeast; the total for one area in Pennsylvania ran over 40 inches. The eastern third of the nation had to dig out its cars, roads and homes from that one.

Late in February tornadoes swept central Mississippi, and windstorms roared through Texas, Louisiana Alabama and Florida.

Firemen Burn House 14 Times . . . for Practice

CHICAGO (AP) — Some 400 firemen played it cool yesterday as they set fire in a house 14 times. Each time they put out the fire in a minute and then they set the whole house on fire and watched it burn down.

It was an educational project for members of fire departments in 14 suburban towns in Cook and Du Page counties.

The 14 fires were set by firemen in different parts of the 100-year-old two-story frame house near suburban Naperville. They put straw and kindling in each room, doused them with oil and flipped in a torch.

Fire Chief Joseph Weigand of Naperville issued orders from a post 100 yards from the vacant house. At his post, a thermocouple showed when the heat in eaah room reached its peak. A hundred firemen did the work and 300 others watched.

The firemen would go in. A minute later the fire was out. They attacked each room differently, some with fog nozzles, some with screen nozzles.

The firemen had obtained permission for the project from a contractor who had bought the house and was going to tear it down.

Set for Rocket Work

SAGINAW (INS)—The Chemical Machinery Division of Baker Perkins, Inc., has announced it is now tooled for full-scale production of special equipment for mixing solid rocket and missile fuels.

Mongol Herdsmen Told to Collectivize

WARSAW (AP) — Mongolia's nomadic herdsmen were told today they must end their roaming and settle down in Communist collectives.

This decision, adopted at a congress of the Mongolian Communist party and reported by the Polish press agency, would spell an end to a way of life unchanged through centuries.

The herdsmen, following their cattle on tough little ponies and living in ornate sheepskin tents, make up the greater part of Mongolia's four million population.

Communism so far has made little impact on them, despite the new meat-packing plant in Ulan Bator, the Mongolian capital, and the arrival there of Vyacheslav Molotov as Soviet ambassador.

The Polish press agency said the congress called for collectivization of the greater part of nomadic farming. It said this must be done "voluntarily"—but within three years.

DETROIT (AP) — The auto makers spent an estimated 1½ billion dollars getting its 1958 model cars to the assembly stage. If only part of the reports of contemplated changes for 1959 are correct they will spend a like amount getting next year's cars to market.

Industry sources hear several makers plan wholly new bodies for next year. General Motors is said to plan one basic body shell for its Chevrolet, Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac lines. It has been using three.

That does not mean all these cars will look alike. Front and rear fenders will be different. So will the overall front and rear treatment. These phases of design are said to be in for drastic changes. Grilles and bumpers will be of varying design. There will be noticeable changes in the rear lighting assembly.

Ford, fighting Chevrolet for the biggest single share of the car market, also has some significant changes ready for 1959 cars. The guessing, however, has been somewhat limited and Ford has not disclosed any of its planning.

The design and styling of all the 1959 cars, of course, already has been decided upon. Tool and die orders already have been placed.

One styling change predicted for 1959 is deeper windshields, reaching slightly father into the top of the car. This is one of the changes Chrysler made in most of its lines for 1959.

Chrysler, which won a larger share of the overall market last year with its fin and dart styling, made no basic style changes for 1958. Some sources have been speculating greater changes may come in next year's cars, but Chrysler has kept its plans carefully concealed.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are known to have been studying the possibility of producing small cars on their U.S. assembly lines. All have much of the preliminaries to such production disposed of, but so far as is known none will start such output this year.

Whenever the industry runs into a sales lag rumors pop up that the following year's new models will be presented earlier. Such rumors already have been heard about 1959 model cars.

But it is reasonably certain the 1959 models will reach the market at approximately the same date as did the current cars — some in October and the remainder in early November.

Rumors of earlier new model introductions usually are based on a theory that substantial design changes would stimulate sales. There were broad changes in the current models, but the decline in retail deliveries began almost with the introduction of the new lines.

Unless there is a sharp reversal of sales trends during the months immediately ahead the industry will have inventory cleanup problems again just as it had near the end of the 1957 model year. It has been trying, through curtailed output, to hold down the dealer inventories, but they have been mounting.

New car stocks on March 1 totaled 869,711 units. This compared with 779,103 units a month earlier and with 733,000 units on March 1 last year.

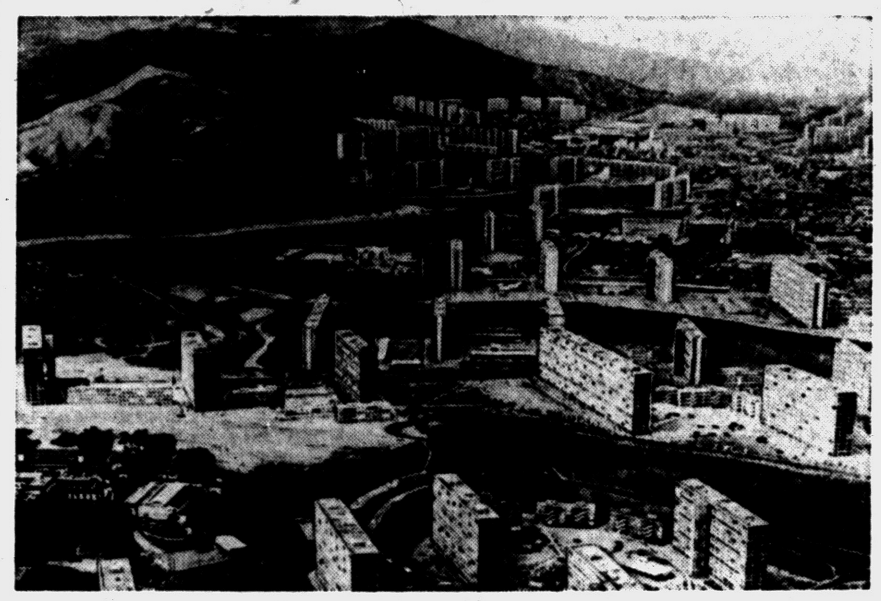
The biggest accumulation of unsold new cars in industry records was 903,789 units on March 1, 1956.



RAISING THE LEVEL — More than 8,000 slum dwellings were razed to make way for these towering apartment buildings housing low-income families in Caracas, Venezuela. This tremendous "city within a city" was completed at a cost of $90,000,000 from oil revenues.

1 Day on Moon Lasts for Month, Half in Sunshine

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Carefully gathered scientific data indicates that the first traveler to the moon had better avoid getting a hangover.

The morning after might last for several weeks.

According to Dr. Dinsmore Alter, director of the Griffin Observatory, the day on the moon is "about one month long."

"It has about two weeks of sunshine," he says, "and then two weeks of night."

Dr. Alter says these month-long days have extreme temperature variations against which earthlings must be insulated.

"When the sun is high overhead," he says, "the temperature is about 214 degrees, just about that at which water boils on earth.

"Each night, the temperature drops to nearly 250 degrees below zero."

But, says Dr. Alter, if man can find some sort of armor with which to protect himself against these temperature variations — and against cosmic radiation from the sun and the lack of air—he will find that the scientific advantages far outweigh his physical discomforts.

For instance, he says, engineering miracles of construction will be made possible by the relatively low gravity of the moon.

Pointing out that the moon has a diameter of approximately 2,000 miles, about one-quarter the diameter of the earth, Dr. Alter says objects would weigh one-sixth of their weight on earth.

He adds:

"Until our muscles would become weak from lack of strenuous exercise, we would find that we could do many things without tiring."

Russian 'Air Invasion' Repulsed by Seagulls

CIVITAVECCHIA, Italy (INS)—Italian seagulls are credited with the first Free World strike against a Russian "missile."

Seagulls off Civitavecchia on the coast north of Rome attacked a bird of a specie unknown to Italy. A fisherman recovered the dead bird and found on its leg a metal band with the inscription "Coolma Moskwa 368854."

The bird was turned over to authorities who believe it migrated from the Moscow area or some other part of the Soviet Union.

Theater World Loses Spectacular Showman

One of America's most spectacular showman died Saturday amid pageantry and violence.

Mike Todd, a story book character who has been a millionaire and broke several times in succession, dashed to his death with three associates on a trip to New York where he was to receive an award of merit.

Todd's "Around the World in Eighty Days" has been ticketed as the greatest money making film of all time. It was Mike at his imaginative best. The offering captured popular fancy just as the producer did himself.

Impetuous, quick and incessantly jumping from here to there, he created a legend along with the man. His own wife, the very beautiful ELIZABETH TAYLOR, when asked whether their baby would be another "MIKE" replied honestly, quickly, "Oh, no. There could never be another MIKE."

And so it goes.

The world spins onward in the face of a big loss in theatrical circles. Some come quietly and go the same way. Others burst across the scene with trumpets blaring, and drums beating, and exit the same way.

We need both.

Our Area Fared Better Than Most This Winter

Winter has departed.

By and large, it treated the United States severely, but the tiny sector where we live fared well.

The East was the hapless victim of many hard and drifting snow storms. In fact, the whole Atlantic seaboard suffered beyond its normal wont. The storms were unusual in severity and more frequent than usual.

Our private area of Southeastern Michigan had a spell of below zero nights and the mercury actually dropped to nine below on one occasion, and for three days in a row the temperature sank below the "0" point.

But aside from this, the weather was relatively mild, calm and under control.

We had no ice.

We had no terrific snows.

Our traffic was never tied up by drifts or by slippery roads. It was an "open" winter for Oakland County. And yet, the balance of the nation took it on the chin. Florida had the worst winter in 50 years.

The Press is unhappy over bad conditions anywhere. We can't sell Pontiac cars and GMC trucks when conditions are negative. We want every section to prosper for we'll automatically prosper with them. But Oakland County was spared the rigors of a hard winter with a belligerent Mother Nature on the warpath.

Allah be praised.

India's Official Tongue Likely to Be English

On winning independence from Britain framers of India's constitution provided that after 1965 Hindi would be the nation's official tongue and English would be discarded.

Observers long have felt that this could not be carried out and that the only common language of India is English. As pointed out by 50 southern members of parliament, Hindi is a language of northern India and only one of a score used by Indians. It also was found that Hindi is not developed enough for modern usage and that 250,000 words would have to be coined to adapt it to current needs of education, science and administration.

Southern members have demanded that English be considered official at least until 1990. By that time, they feel, the patriotic drive for a purely Indian language would have died down and English would remain the official language.

Indians seem to be facing the inevitable. With so many diverse languages and dialects, they can't discard English which is common to many of them, including the members debating the question.

The Man About Town

Just Ponder This

Old Teacher Writes About Her Conclusions on Life

Dieting: Penalty for exceeding the feed limit.

A Pontiac business man, known to thousands of my readers, gives me the following statement recently written by his teacher when he was in the eighth grade. She expresses her sentiments through an intimate connection with the passing years, and a long experience with human nature. She writes:

"Present conditions enable a wife to put up a good argument for getting luxuries. Through the best years of our lives my husband and I saved and saved. At times it seemed that we gave up most everything.

"Others spent their money as fast or faster than they made it. So I've now decided that we too should spend more than we earn. Then we'll be in position to ask aid, and won't have to worry about taxes. It seems that it is simply a case of spending for yourself, or saving for somebody else to spend."

Isn't there something to cogitate upon in her theory?

Cheer up, youngsters. So much of it now is used in the manufacture of nylon synthetics, that there's a shortage of castor oil.

Now making his home in Detroit,

Merritt Brownson

tells me that his father once worked on mineral springs on Welcome Island in Lake Angelus. The water was claimed to have health building values, and was bottled and shipped to Detroit where it had a large sale.

I like the "business card" of my old friend

retired newspaper publisher, living at Flushing. Among his many other present activities, it lists: "Nothing to see, no cash to buy, social security victim, old time printer and country editor, story writer, hunter, fisherman, taxpayer, after-dinner sleeper, tender hearted, tough headed, lazy and stingy, licensed liar, banquet lover, when do we eat?"

A Pontiac executive has a full length mirror in his waiting room, where applicants for jobs see themselves deflated in a quite discernable manner just before they are to tell how excellent they are.

Another state official who is a former resident of the Pontiac area is

John C. Mackie

Michigan Highway Commissioner, who lived near Holly a few years ago.

Oakland County Probate Register,

Florence Doty,

who is my idea of somebody who really knows her job, asserts that the changing times and growth of this area is reflected with absolute correctness in the files of that office, extending back over a century and one quarter.

The Study of Space Is Accelerated

Has Recession Reached 'Bottom?'

WASHINGTON — Has the "bottom" of the recession just been reached? The U.S. Department of Labor reports that the number of workers laid off and applying for unemployment benefits dropped 29,000—to 410,500—and that the volume of new claims was lower in the week March 10 to March 15 than for any week since last December.

LAWRENCE

This would seem to indicate a leveling off. The total number drawing unemployment benefits for more than a week's time declined by 7,600.

Thirty different states reported fewer claims for the week ending March 15. Twenty-eight states had reported a decline in applications for the week ending March 8.

The largest declines were in New York with 9,300, Michigan with 8,200, Wisconsin with 8,100 and Minnesota with 3,300. The increases included Indiana with 3,600, Texas with 3,200 and Illinois with 2,300. Temporary layoffs in various industries accounted for many of the requests for unemployment insurance.

These declines on the whole are not large, and they are offset to some extent by increases in other states. But the overall picture begins to look as if there is a certain steadiness about the unemployment chart.

Recessions do not turn abruptly into booms, and it is possible for a spot check here and there to still reveal some increases in unemployment. Thus the Associated Press sampled 12 areas and found that unemployment had increased by about 150,000 from the middle of February to the middle of March.

If, however, the figures remain at about the same level for another few weeks, it will confirm the growing belief that the "bottom" was actually reached during the week of March 10 to March 15.

It would be unwise for governmental policy to be based on the figures available thus far. President Eisenhower and his advisers have been saying all along that a better idea of what has been happening would be available when all March figures are at hand, and this will not be until the middle of April.

There is a natural caution here about rushing in to grant tax reductions on a large scale or to set in motion any partial suspension of tax receipts. Democratic leaders and the administration have a sort of truce in effect so that neither side will take the initiative but will await a bipartisan conference at a time yet to be fixed.

On the surface this looks as if there is a good deal of high-mindedness and statesmanship surrounding the issue. But the fact is it is rather an example of shrewdness and political prudence on each side.

For, since the federal treasury is going to experience a heavy deficit, neither party wants to take the political responsibility for plunging the government into a 10- or 15-billion-dollar red figure.

Once the Eisenhower administration gives the signal for tax reduction, the Democrats will offer their own plans, but they want the executive branch to say publicly it is ready for tax reduction. For this would be giving sanction to a budget deficit of large size.

Just what kind of tax revision is in prospect cannot be forecast now, except that the nation may expect a political makeshift. Such plans as those just advanced by the Committee on Economic Development in New York last week would not have a ghost of a chance.

A majority of the members of Congress would never vote for a nine-month suspension of taxes. To grant a 20 per cent reduction and then take it away in less than a year is politically absurd.

What seems more likely is that the administration will come out in favor of a constructive plan for tax revision which looks toward lower taxes not just for the emergency period, but as a part of a long-range attempt to stabilize the value of the dollar.

There is much merit in the plan because, once the boom returns, tax receipts will grow, and, if there is a continuing deficit, the pressure for cutting expenses will then be resumed. This would be a healthy development.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Diabetes Most Prevalent in White-Collar Workers

Diabetes, like coronary thrombosis, is most likely to occur in persons who live by their wits, such as business, professional, clerical workers, artists and especially those who can't afford to walk to work.

DR. BRADY

Finding sugar (glucose) in the urine doesn't necessarily mean diabetes. Some individuals "spill over" whenever they gorge, say, on fudge or pancakes and syrup. After the spree is over they become sugar-free (no sugar in urine) and continue so until the next gorge.

Elliott P. Joslyn, A.M., M.D., Sc.D., in his famous textbook "Treatment of Diabetes Mellitus" defines true diabetics:

"Patients whose venous blood sugar on an unrestricted diet is 0.13 per cent or more, fasting, or 0.17 or more after a meal, with simultaneous glycosuria" (sugar in urine) "which is plainly related to diet. Glycosuria is considered essential for diagnosis of diabetes."

The blood sugar of a healthy person after an overnight fast may be as low as 0.07 per cent or as high as 0.12 per cent.

In booklet Training for Diabetes (35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope) I describe the most economical test for sugar in the urine — as given by Dr. Don H. Duffie in his "Book for Us Diabetics." Also the simplified Clinitest method and the still simpler Tes-tape — both convenient for self-testing.

I offer readers these suggestions, which may prevent development of diabetes or bring about vast improvement in health and vite in many cases where there is no particular diabetic tendency:

1. Topping off a square meal with dessert is OK for children who play hard, young athletes or those who do hard manual labor. It's all wrong for youngsters who don't play hard, sedentary folk or for adults who live by their wits.

2. Every one past 40 needs not less than two miles of oxygen on the hoof three times a day, or the equivalent in other general exercise, to keep well.

3. Both vite and life expectancy depend mainly on how many teeth, your own or your dentist's, are functionally efficient at 40.

4. Wheat, not bread, is the staff of life. If you wish to learn why, send me stamped, self-addressed envelope for the little lesson Wheat to Eat.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Urges Movement to Stop Sabbath Commercialism

How many of you "amen" shouters, "believers" and Bible dusters barrel from Sunday worship services to the nearest supermarket to do weekly shopping? Sunday commercialism is proof that too many so-called Christians are phonies under the skin.

Within a few weeks after my usual shopping haunt began Sunday sales, prices went up on most items. Drive by and observe the maze of burning lights, busy clerks and carry-out boys and ask who's footing the bill. Is it the supermarket? It's all of us, paying the penalty for idiots who defy God's command to keep holy the Sabbath.

Let's give up Sunday shopping. When they no longer meet overhead, they'll soon close up, lower prices and give Sunday back to God. All ministers in all churches should unite in a concentrated movement.

Billy Graham pointed out that sin is the basis of all our problems and that we are spending millions to combat symptoms when we should be attacking the root. There have, no doubt, been many Icecapades at Olympia, but certainly there has been nothing more inspiring than the Christ-capade.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Become Dependent on Pills

Martha is a "tranquilizer" pill addict. She tries to dope up her mind so she can't see her dilemma. It would be much more sensible to analyze the problem and solve it. Then she'd save money and lessen the burden on her liver and kidneys, for those organs must do extra work whenever you take such pills.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-361: Martha G., aged 43, is overwhelmed with anxiety and fears.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I finally started using tranquilizer pills," she confessed, "for I had to get some relief or I felt I'd lose my mind.

"Now I take these pills constantly, but my husband thinks I should not become a slave to any type of drug.

"What do psychiatrists think about tranquilizer pills?"

CHEMICAL CRUTCHES

"Crutches," even of a chemical sort, are very helpful when they are actually needed and when they are used properly.

But the usual purpose of crutches is to support an ailing patient for a brief time until his broken bone will heal or his nervous apprehension can be allayed.

It is unwise to lean on crutches chronically unless you are a permanent cripple like some of our polio cases.

A recent report from a single manufacturer said he had produced 30 billion tranquilizer pills last year!

And the tranquilizer market does not include the $58,000,000 annually spent on sleeping pills. Most of those pills were unnecessary.

For the real solution to undue apprehension and neurotic fears of chronic "worry warts" like Martha, is to face the issue and analyze it.

Why try to dope up your mind so you can't think clearly? Why try to deceive yourself into thinking your problem no longer exists?

That's also the folly of the drunkard who tries to escape from an unsolved problem via an alcoholic binge.

DON'T BE A COWARD

Don't be a coward who tries to drug his mind into a chemical or alcoholic stupor. Face the music.

Tear your problem apart with vicious delight. Analyze all the pros and cons.

Then you can usually avoid the financial outlay for sleeping pills, tranquilizer drugs and liquor.

For example, why was Martha so neurotic and scared?

Simply because she was in the menopause!

And that would not alarm her except for the fact she still held the erroneous viewpoint of the Middle Ages to the effect that women lose their appeal to their husbands when their wombs no longer function regularly.

But that notion is entirely false. It has been exploded for a generation in this clinical column and by leading doctors everywhere.

However, Martha hadn't read this column and had never confessed her inner terror to her physician.

She admitted nervous tension and insomnia, but never actually faced the dreaded idea that she had lost her "oomph" and sex appeal.

MENOPAUSAL PANIC

Actually, the female womb is much like the vermiform appendix that is attached to the intestine. Both are comparatively excess baggage.

You can have your appendix removed, yet there will be no interference with your enjoyment of food nor your efficient digestion thereof.

You can also lose your womb by surgery (hysterectomy) or it can stop its monthly function at about the age of 45, but you wives can still be just as thrilled and thrilling in marriage as before, for the womb is not primarily a sex organ, anyway, despite erroneous female views to the contrary.

So send for my booklet "How to Avoid Menopausal Complexes," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Dag Conferring With Russians

U.N. Leader Indicates Disarmament Will Be Major Topic

MOSCOW (AP) — U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold begins a series of meetings with Soviet leaders today. He said he expects no specific results but regards the discussions as "important in themselves."

Hammarskjold is expected to remain in the Soviet Union through Thursday. He almost certainly will meet with Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev.

On arrival by Soviet airliner, he told newsmen he had "no comment at all" and turned down a request to greet the Soviet people over Moscow radio because he saw "no point to that."

The Swedish diplomat told newsmen in Helsinki that disarmament probably was "of the greatest interest among the topics" he would bring up in Moscow, although he expects no definite results. He presumably will try to persuade Soviet leaders to return to the U.N. Disarmament Commission.

The Soviets have refused to participate in the 25-member group because Western nations outnumber the Communist states. Soviet proposals for a summit conference also will probably be discussed.

Italian Flying Friar to Appeal Conviction

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — A leader of Italy's "Flying Friars" says he will appeal his conviction on charges of disturbing a Communist meeting. He was sentenced to eight months in jail.

The Rev. Tomaso Toschi was convicted of creating a public disturbance at nearby Fano last year after he tried to answer criticism of the Catholic Church by a Communist candidate for municipal office.

The priest was accused of interrupting the candidate. He contended his turn to speak came while the Red still was talking and he had interposed to ask permission to speak.

Father Toschi helped organize "Fraternitas," a group of monks dedicated to fighting communism. The monks, who travel by automobile and motor scooter from their monastery near Bologna, are known as the "Flying Friars."

Three Soviet Scientists Visit Zoo in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Three Soviet atomic scientists visited the Brookfield Zoo yesterday—at their request because they said they had heard of it in the Soviet Union.

The scientists asked zoo attendants to see "something that smells very badly." They were shown a skunk. They talked with excitement when they heard the rattle of an American diamondback rattlesnake.

The scientists from Moscow University, Victor Spitsyne, I. T. Aladyev and S. V. Mamikojan, came to Chicago last week to attend the 1958 Nuclear Congress.

Bob Considine Says:

Industrialists Admire Reuther's Drive

DETROIT (INS)—In the course of talking to various spokesmen of the auto industry about Walter Reuther, the UAW boss who is about to ask of them more than they are willing and/or able to part with, one notes two things: (A) Industry leaders are indignant about him, and (B) they have a grudging admiration for his drive, determination, dedication, and ability to land on his feet when either he or others almost drop him on his head.

Reuther is tough. No question about that.

Jack Crellin of the Detroit Times tells us of the time he visited Reuther after he had almost miraculously escaped death at the hands of a would-be assassin with a shotgun.

"There he was hobbling around the place in the big plaster cast," Jack recalled. "It was painful just to look at him in that stifling heat. I finally said, 'You must be in great pain. Why don't you get your doctor to give you a shot of something to ease it?' But he shook his head and said, 'No, I talked to some people and they tell me that narcotics or anything like that would slow up my recovery. I can stand it.' Well, he did. And he got back the use of his hand by squeezing a little rubber ball night and day for months and months."

The day we saw him Reuther was natty in a powder blue business suit, darker blue tie and shirt of a third shade of blue. He can speak as impressively from a chair as on his feet, is infinitely more articulate and dramatic than most of the men he'll be battling the next two months. His gestures are sharp and incisive, his language free of profanity.

No question stumped him; no repeated charge brought more from him than a delighted laugh, seemingly tinged with a mixture of disbelief and patient scorn. His agate eyes, encased in cheerful-looking wrinkles, brightly anticipate each question, showed many lively emotions as he replied. He is not a man who keeps either his union demands or his answers short.

Reuther was born in Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 1, 1907, and had three years at Wayne State University. He started out as an apprentice tool and die maker with Wheeling Steel in 1924, joined the Socialist Party, moved on to Detroit.

Ford fired him in 1932 for campaigning for Norman Thomas. He and his brother Victor, then a Detroit strike leader, decided to tour the world, studying working conditions. They worked for several months in a Russian auto plant, but he is today an outspoken anti-Communist.

Nobody, including himself, seems to know just where he's headed from here. Much will depend on his performance and achievement over the next two months. That could make or break the world's most mercurial labor boss.

Fear 20 Perished on Greek Vessel

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The small Greek coastal vessel Dodecanessos today was reported missing and presumably lost with 10 crewmen and 10 passengers aboard.

Press reports said the ship was caught in a hurricane near Rhodes on Saturday, and nothing has been heard from her since then. A widespread air and sea search proved fruitless.

Dentists Cited for Research

One Receives Award for Studies of Cancer in Salivary Glands

DETROIT (AP) — An Indiana research dentist and two Illinois practitioners have been cited by the International Assn. for Dental Research for outstanding accomplishments.

Dr. James O. Beck Jr., of the Indiana University Dental School, received the group's Hatton Novice Award for studies into the growth of cancer tumors in the salivary glands of the mouth.

Dr. Harold Hillenbrand of Chicago, secretary of the American Dental Assn., was named an honorary member and Dr. Edgar J. Coolidge of Evanston, Ill., an honorary vice president.

The awards were made at the end of the group's two-day annual meeting here yesterday.

Dr. Ned B. Williams of Philadelphia took office as president and Dr. H. B. G. Robinson of Columbus, Ohio, was elected vice president. Dr. Frank J. Orland of Chicago was named editor of the association's Journal of Dental Research.

The group voted to hold its 1959 meeting at San Francisco in March.

Chicago Belt Line Roundhouse Gutted

CHICAGO (AP)—A wind-whipped fire swept through the roundhouse of the Chicago Belt Line Railroad yesterday, destroyed seven diesel locomotives and other equipment and caused an estimated million dollars damage.

Firemen fought the swiftly spreading blaze, fed by diesel oil, for two hours before controlling it. No injuries were reported.

Lewis A. Evans, president of the Chicago Belt Line and the Chicago and Western Indiana Railroad, made the damage estimate.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

Farmer Finds Body of Boy, 5, in Pasture

GALLIPOLIS FERRY, W.Va. (AP) — A farmer found the body of 5-year-old John Wayne McKinney in a pasture about two miles from his southern West Virginia farm home yesterday.

Coroner Oliver Ashenaur said his investigation showed the boy died of exposure and "there was no evidence whatsoever of foul play."

As many as 1,000 searchers, including National Guardsmen and college students, hade made a shoulder-to-shoulder hunt for the child since his disappearance last Monday.

Williams Slams GOP Planners

Calls Move to Stymie Mental Health Program 'Cruel, Shocking'

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams lit into Republicans over the weekend for what he said was a "cruel" and "shocking" move to short-change the state's mental health program.

Republican Senate budget planners were called "hatchet men" by the governor in a speech at a Democratic State Central Committee meeting Sunday.

He said the proposed GOP spending allocations for mental hygiene reflected a cut of $2,600,000 below the 1957-58 appropriation, and added:

"It is particularly cruel to kick the mentally ill around just when better care of patients is beginning to bring discharges into line with admissions to state hospitals."

Williams had strong words for other Republican programs, including one to revise the state's jobless pay law which, he called "the meanest and cruelest fishhook I ever have seen in legislation."

The Governor, after reviewing his efforts to relieve joblessness in the state and to stimulate the economy, hinted that he has something big up his sleeve along the line of getting more missile business for Michigan.

He said it "could mean billions instead of millions" for the state economy.

Waterford Head to Explain Tax

Will Outline Methods of Assessing Property at Association Meeting

Because of the large number of Waterford Township taxpayers who have appeared before the Board of Review inquiring about how their property is assessed, Supervisor Elmer Johnson is accepting invitations to association meetings to explain the township's procedure.

"It's surprising how many people do not know how an assessor arrives at an evaluation figure," Johnson said.

"It is almost impossible to explain, without illustrating, the intricacies of assessing. Each individual property owner has different problems," Johnson said.

He is scheduled to present his first speech at the April meeting of the Drayton Woods Subdivision Association.

Final hearings by the Waterford Township Board of Review will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday at the township hall.

Probers May Call Mamie's Relative

WASHINGTON (INS)—A House quiz of 10 past and present Federal Communications Commissioners was set for tomorrow as a committee member indicated Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower's brother-in-law again may be called to the witness stand.

Rep. Peter Mack (D-Ill) asserted the House unit had found Col. Gordon Moore's testimony on the Miami TV license case "very interesting" and said: "I am certain it will be even more interesting when we get around to the CAB (Civil Aeronautics Board)."

Mack declared in an interview that Moore had made $188,000 in the past five years on loans to airlines and trucking firms doing business with the federal government.

Under the circumstances, the lawmaker said, he "cannot believe it is a disadvantage to be Mrs. Eisenhower's brother-in-law" as Moore claimed in his appearance before the committee last week.

Sewage Issue to Test Law

Petition to Halt Work at Farmington May Benefit Project

A Detroit attorney's petition for an injunction to block the construction of the Farmington sewage disposal system is not altogether unwelcome to Oakland County, Corporation Counsel Harry Merritt disclosed today.

Merritt pointed out that the county is proceeding with the project under a 1957 act which has never been tested in the courts.

"When we come to sell our 4.9 million in bonds to finance the system," he said, "bond holders might be reluctant to invest under an untested law."

He added that while the injunction petition which challenges the constitutionality of the law, might delay construction due to start this summer, it could be a help in the long run.

The case was filed by Irwin I. Cohn, of 3277 Interlaken Dr., West Bloomfield Township. Cohn, a real estate attorney, is seeking to halt the sewer system which would serve West Bloomfield, Farmington and part of Southfield Township and the city of Keego Harbor.

A show cause hearing on the matter has been set for March 31 by Circuit Court Judge George B. Hartrick.

Liberia Invites Williams

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams will visit Africa next summer as a guest of the republic of Liberia. The governor said yesterday he had accepted an invitation to attend the Liberian Independence Day celebration on July 26.

Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS) was formed in 1946 by the amalgamation of the National Airlines of Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Dies in Exploding Auto; Apparently Suicide

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — An auto parked near the city dump blew up last night, scattering debris as far as a block away and killing the only occupant, Coroner Jack A. Wood Jr. said the death appeared to be suicide.

The victim was identified as Arthur D. Johnson, about 24, a brick worker.

Wood said Johnson's wife last saw him when he returned home from a visit with his father. She quoted him as telling her, "You'd be better off without me." Then, she said, he went to the basement, got two cases of dynamite, loaded them in his old-model car and drove off.

Bellmaster Plays at Bok Tower

Brees Recalls Michigan

By JOE HAAS

LAKE WALES, Fla. — Here at the highest point in Florida is a Pontiac area echo that is one of our nation's greatest tourist magnets.

HAAS

At the Bok Singing Tower as bellmaster is Anton Brees, regarded as one of the world's greatest carillonneurs.

MORE PLEASING

Until a few years ago he divided his time between Cranbrook and here. He now frankly says that the resounding effects of such music in our rolling Bloomfield Hills was more pleasing to the ear than here at this lone elevation.

Professor Brees now is in his 30th consecutive year in this capacity here. He alone fingers the keys of the organ console that ring the bells in the top of the 205-foot marble tower, bells which weigh from 11 pounds to 11½ tons each.

They comprise 53 notes and have a range of nearly 4½ chromatic octaves. The sound is electrically amplified and has a singing effect.

The Singing Tower is in the midst of a 68-acre plot that has been elaborately landscaped with every variety of subtropical vegetation, and has over 100 different kinds of wild birds.

VISITORS ATTRACTED

In this setting of silence and serenity that borders on the sublime, surrounded by hundreds of acres of orange groves, the carillon notes peal out in an unmolested manner that attracts thousands of tourists every day.

Recitals of 45 minutes, commencing at 3 o'clock, are given by Professor Brees each Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, followed by more selections from tape recordings he has made.

In an interview with him, he said: "Some of the most enjoyable days of my life were spent in the Pontiac area. I like the hospitality and progressiveness of your people, and wish you would tell them so."

The sanctuary and tower were a gift to the American people by Edward W. Bok, in recognition of the possibilities they gave him as a penniless immigrant boy. The tower was dedicated by President Coolidge in 1929. Bok, who was a magazine publisher, died in 1932. His grave is at the base of the tower.

Dear Abby . . . .

Do It Up Brown—Minus White

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: When my hubby and I were married four years ago we couldn't afford a wedding so we went to the parson's house and got married.

We have two kiddies and are very happy but I've always wanted a big church wedding with a white veil, attendants and moving pictures of it. We can afford it now but some of our friends say it is foolish to put a wedding on now.

I have heard of couples re-saying their marriage vows, haven't you? Do you see anything wrong with having a wedding now and making my dreams come true? We would do it on our fifth anniversary in June.

WANTING A WEDDING

DEAR WANTING: The idea of "re-saying" your marriage vows is a beautiful one and I recommend it. But, I wouldn't go in for a white wedding with veil and attendants. Have a nice, festive anniversary party instead.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband. He doesn't go to look for a job and he says he doesn't intend to get one. We're living with my folks until he gets on his feet and his father sends him a check for $200 every month. He says he is satisfied, but I'm not.

NOT SATISFIED

DEAR NOT: If MY father sent me a check for $200 every month I wouldn't go to work either. As long as the hand outs continue, your husband will enjoy his "vacation" with pay.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 years old and have gone steady with the same boy since I was 15. He is a nice person but my mother thinks I can do better. I am very much confused. I don't know whether I'm in love with him, infatuated with him or just used to him.

He is pressuring me for a yes or no answer. To tell you the truth I hate to throw away a chance to marry a nice fellow but I can't be sure he is the right one for me if I have gone with only him. Please help me decide.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Your letter is the perfect example of what can happen to girls who start going steady at 15. No wonder you're "confused." Don't agree to marry anyone unless you are 100 per cent certain.

DEAR ABBY: When my mother came to this country she brought a down comforter with her which she gave to me. My son was married so I thought it would be a nice gesture to give it to his wife. Their marriage lasted less than a year.

He gave her all the household belongings which included my down comforter. I would like to have it back, but hesitate to ask for it. Should I?

HESITATING

DEAR HESITATING: Write a nice note to your ex-daughter-in-law explaining that the down comforter has sentimental value. Offer to pay her for it—and remember, down is up!

CONFIDENTIAL TO VICKI: There are worse things than being an unwed mother. And one of them is marrying a man who is as worthless and selfish as "C" appears to be.

Child Needs Chance to Voice Resentment

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

That Sunday afternoon Brian acquired a pea shooter from a friend. Ten minutes later when he broke the porch light, it was confiscated by his father — and destroyed.

The punishment seemed grievously unjust to Brian. He had aimed, not at the porch light, but at an old fern basket several feet away. He had chosen this target because he couldn't break it. How could he learn to shoot a pea shooter without busting things if he wasn't allowed to use one?

He put this question bitterly to his younger brother. Said he, "Pop makes me sick at the stummick always getting sore when you want to explain things."

From behind the garage his father overheard the criticism. That Brian should presume to question his action to his other child made him angrier than ever. He burst into the garage, said, "That'll be all from you!" and smacking Brian, sent him to his room for the rest of the afternoon.

EXPECTS CRITICISM

The difference between parents and the therapist is that the therapist expects this inevitable development. And he deliberately encourages the airing of grievances by his "children" in what he calls "alternate sessions" — meetings from which he carefully absents himself.

Of the value of these sessions, Dr. Alexander Wolf and Emanual K. Schwartz write, "Support by other group members gives the individual courage to face the authority in the session when the therapist is present. In the authority's absence there are always expressions with regard to him and attempts to work out relationship with him."

A child's criticism of us to his brother is his effort to work out relationship to us.

No child can sustain anger at us with comfort. If he isn't free to ask us to rid him of it, he'll seek relief from its pressures by criticizing us to his brother. If we can't see that his criticism is really an appeal for help in understanding us, we may worsen the situation like Brian's father.

We lose our chance to help him question us directly and thereby give him the understanding he is seeking.

Exercise Is Answer to Poorly Distributed Weight

Spring Brings Urge for Self-Improvement

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Spring is just around the corner. With it comes that wonderful feeling of rebirth, a new awakening, and new beauty. At this time of year the man in the family may notice a certain restlessness in the woman in his life.

The newlywed may fear that his wife's love is waning since she seems so distracted. The veteran husband understands the meaning of this and braces himself for the storm.

He knows that soon windows will be washed, floors waxed, rugs and draperies cleaned, and his little woman's figure streamlined. Why not? It is natural to wish to match nature with increased charm in our homes and our appearance.

Most women pay too much attention to their weight and not enough to their measurements. It doesn't matter how much weight we have if our measurements are correct, that is, within reason.

The distribution of fat over the body is influenced by our glands, but inactivity and the way we use our muscles also have their innings. If a woman has the correct poundage, fat which has ganged up on her in unwanted lumps or rolls can be routed by the right exercises.

WAISTLINE EXERCISE

The following exercise is good for the waistline as well as corrective to fat under the arms and thickness behind the hip bones:

Kneel on both knees. Raise your arms over head, one arm by each ear. Reach for the ceiling. Sit on your heels as you bend to the left and place your hands on the floor on the left side of your body.

Raise the trunk and arms and again reach for the ceiling. This time bend to the right and place the hands on the floor on the right side of your body. Raise the trunk and arms and stretch upward. Continue, alternating left and right. Do this slowly, feeling the pull.

Over and over again I have noticed that the women who has a slim waist and a flat diaphragm can even carry a few inches too many in the hipline and still look slim and willowy.

If you are to have a slim waist and a flat diaphragm, you must exercise and stretch the large muscles of the torso. It is entirely possible to lose a few inches from the waistline in a few weeks' time if you will be faithful with your prescribed exercises.

GET BUSY NOW!

Physical inactivity is the answer to most figure faults. If you have been complacently blaming it on age, stop it today. If you are getting that middle age spread at your middle, get busy!

The diaphragm has a tremendous effect on our figure. Often rolls of fat in this spot mar the figure even when the waist is fairly slender. Today's exercises will improve both measurements:

Stand erect, feet separated and knees stiff. Bend the elbows and raise the arms up in front of the body, palms facing the bust (about shoulder height). Keep the feet in the same position as you turn the hips as far to the left as you can. At the same time, keep the arms in the same position as you turn the arms and shoulders as far toward the right as you can.

Now turn the hips toward the right and the arms and shoulders toward the left. Continue turning the hips in one direction and the arms in the other.

If you wish to lose inches around the waist in a few weeks time send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Don't Go To Waist" leaflet No. 6. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Use Crumbs Under, Over Fruit Filling

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Women who work seem to specialize in recipes that are easy and that can be made ahead of time. Such a recipe is Mrs. Jack Hess' recipe for an icebox cake. She says to make it the day before you need it.

Mrs. Hess who lives and works in Walled Lake is a member of the Business and Professional Women of that city. She and her husband have just acquired a Siamese kitten as a pet.

FRUIT ICEBOX CAKE
By Mrs. Jack Hess

2 cups milk
1 pound marshmallows
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 can (No. 2) pineapple tidbits, drained
½ cup chopped nutmeats
2 cups graham cracker crumbs

No Right to Spank Visitor

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A very dear friend of mine had to go to another city to attend the funeral of her mother-in-law. She was gone a day and a half. As she had no one to leave her young son with, she asked if he could stay at my house. I have two children of my own, but was only too glad to do this for her.

"Unhappily, I found him to be a spoiled brat and had to punish him in order to make him behave. When his mother returned home, he told her that I had punished him. She was very much upset over it and said that I had no right to do this.

"Since she left him in my charge, I feel I had every right to discipline him just as I would my own children. This has caused much unpleasantness and I would appreciate your commenting on this situation."

Answer: I don't understand what you mean by punishment because surely we have no right, any of us, to administer corporal punishment to the child of another. If you mean that you deprived him of something that he liked, or made him sit quietly for a while in a chair, there was no harm in that. But spanking him would be unthinkable.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When the bride wishes her attendants to wear fresh flowers in their hair instead of hats, who pays for these? Since these take the place of hats which the bridesmaids would ordinarily pay for, I think they should pay for the flowers they wear in their hair. Some think this is is the bride's expense."

Answer: This is the bride's expense because it is unfair for the bridesmaids to pay for a transient expense, whereas hats would be something to keep.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a restaurant proprietor invites personal friends to dinner in his restaurant and they are seated at a special table along with members of his own family, are the guests required to tip the waitress who serves them?"

Answer: No, certainly not!

State Singers Entertain and Inspire City Audience

By MARY LINDQUIST

The audience who heard the Michigan State University Singers Saturday evening at Central Methodist Church was both inspired and entertained by a very fine choral group, orchestra and soloists. The vitality and enthusiasm of the young college students were most contagious to their listeners.

The singers opened with an a capella group of 15th, 16th and 17th Century sacred numbers. There was a great variety of moods and tempos in this group, with the stately opening of "Ave Regina Coelorum" by Dufay and the lyrical rhythms of Praetorius' "Psalitte Unigenito Christo Dei Filio."

This group was concluded with an "Ave Maria" and "O Filli et Filiae" sung by the men only in unison plainsong. This number was very thrilling in its simplicity and shadings.

For the second group, several of the choristers left their places to make up an orchestra to accompany the singing of the great chorus, "Christians, grave ye this glad day," of Bach's Cantata No. 63.

The audience didn't know what to expect from the third group, which stated in the program "Selected from optional group." The optional group proved to be very fine solo performers.

The popular "Revolutionary Etude" by Chopin was played with clarity and strength by Gertrude Olin. Kenneth Ish of Pontiac sang "If with all your hearts" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." His warm tenor quality lent itself very well to the fervor of the great promises of the Scriptures.

The fourth group of the concert consisted of folk songs with different moods. This was the only secular music of the program and was fun to hear with the happy character of some of the numbers. Kenneth Ish again soloed while the chorus hummed John Jacob Niles' Appalachian carol, "I Wonder as I Wander." This was especially well done, with a light and humble approach to the words and music.

The final group gave a grand finale to a most enjoyable evening. A member of the chorus, Evan Copley of East Lansing, composed the opening number of this group. This is a well-written number with beautiful fugal patterns and syncopated rhythms which were done with the fine artistry of both director and singers.

'I've Been Broke but Never Poor'

Todd Rarely Waited for Luck to Tap Him on the Shoulder

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I've been broke but I've never been poor. Being poor is a state of mind; being broke is a temporary situation."

This explains as well as anything the career of Mike Todd, a fabulous gambler whose luck ran out when his plane crashed in the New Mexico badlands on the weekend.

Todd was considered an enormously lucky man. Certainly luck — another word for good timing — plays an important role in the lives of all successful people.

But Todd didn't wait for luck to tap him on the shoulder. He went crashing ahead on projects which his critics scoffed at as foolhardy. Sometimes they proved to be right.

But more often he proved the scoffers to be visionless dolts. At his death, his earnings from "Around the World in 80 Days" were piling up in such millions that even he was amazed. He was reminded that he had blown fortunes before and could do it again.

"I don't think so," he told me. "There's so much coming in now that it taxes even my ability to spend."

What was it, aside from luck, that propelled Todd on a roller-coaster life during his furious 50 years?

The answer may be found in the early years of the son of a Polish rabbi in Minneapolis. The boy's name was Avrom Hirsch Goldbogen, and he was nicknamed Toad.

Avrom was a hustler—he had to be. He jerked sodas, sold the Minneapolis Journal, peddled fruit, played the cornet, sold shoes, shilled for a carnival, worked for a pharmacist. At 17, he headed a construction company and was a married man.

Goldbogen realized the best place for a man of his drive was show business. But he needed a new name. He borrowed the Michael from his own son and evolved the Todd from his long-time nickname. Michael Todd — it had a nice ring to it.

Gamble followed gamble, from "The Flame Dance" at the Chicago World's Fair to sumptuous Broadway productions.

Gambling finally turned sour for Todd—too many flop plays and too many slow horses. His debts mounted to over a million and the Broadway crowd counted him out.

Once again they underestimated the hustling kid from Minneapolis. He was going to prove to them that a rabbi's son could produce a fantastic American success story.

Elizabeth Taylor Flying to Chicago Funeral

Leaves Sickbed for Rites

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor leaves a sickbed tonight for a sad flight to Chicago and the funeral tomorrow of her husband, producer Mike Todd.

With her will be singer Eddie Fisher, one of Todd's best friends; MGM designer Helen Rose, a close friend of Mrs. Todd; Dr. Rexford Kennamer, the actress' phyician; Howard Taylor, her brother; and Dick Hanley, Todd's executive secretary.

Miss Taylor was in bed with a virus at the time of the crash. The illness had kept her from accompanying Todd on the flight.

Todd's body, sealed in its casket, is already en route via Santa Fe train to Chicago, home town of the colorful showman.

His son Michael Jr. had wanted the body cremated in Albuquerque where it was taken after Saturday's air crash which killed Todd, 50, writer Art Cohn, 49, pilot Bill Verner, 45, and copilot Tom Barclay, 34.

But Miss Taylor balked. She told Mike Jr. that his father did not want cremation.

The private funeral rites will be held in Jewish Waldheim Cemetery at Forest Park, Ill., a Chicago suburb.

Todd's mother, Mrs. Sophie Goldbogen, 91, a patient in a sanitarium here, was not notified of her son's death. An attendant explained that the shock "might prove very damaging to the patient."

Telegrams were delivered in bales to the Todd home here, including one from Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower which read: "The President and I extend our deepest sympathy."

Cables from 17 foreign countries also were received.

A memorial service will be held at Temple Israel here at the time of the burial. George Jessel will deliver a eulogy at the rites, expected to draw a host of Hollywood stars and show people.

The funeral will cancel out Miss Taylor's appearance at the Academy Awards Wednesday night. She is a contender for the best actress award for her performance in "Raintree County."

Jennifer Jones will accept for her, if she wins. Fisher also dropped out of the telecast of the awards.

Miss Taylor wired flowers and condolences to the wives of the dead pilots. She received a telegram in return from Mrs. Barbara Verner which said: "Our tragic losses can bring us close in our own combined sorrow."

At the crash scene a Civil Aeronautics Board investigator said heavy equipment would be moved to the isolated mountain valley 22 miles southwest of Grants, N.M. The equipment will dig out the shattered and buried pieces of the Lockheed Lodestar, the Lucky Liz, in an effort to determine what made it crash.

Read Like Sixth Graders?

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The average American can't read a bit faster now than he could in the sixth grade, an expert in the field said today.

When he finishes grade school the average child can read about 200 words a minutes. And there he stays.

Dr. Nila Banton Smith, director of the reading clinic at New York University, said in an interview that reading courses should be required right through the 12th grade. Students should be reading at least 600 words per minute at graduation, she said. Exceptionally gifted students could boost that rate to 1,000 words.

At NYU, most of Dr. Smith's students are business executives.

"In 14 two-hour sessions we are usually able to treble their reading speed," she said. "They not only learn to read faster, they learn to understand what they're reading. The same thing could be done, and should be done, for all our high school students."

Dr. Smith, here for the annual convention of elementary school principals, doesn't feel that much more can or should be done in the first six grades.

"Pressure to increase reading speed probably would be bad for grade school children," she said. "But it seems silly to teach reading through the first six grades, and think that those skills are going to be enough for high school and college work."

He is E. Mtawali, a senior medical assistant, who ministers to the villagers around Mlowe, an isolated community. His ingenuity and enthusiasm are widely heralded.

New X-Ray Machine Serves City Hospital

Big Timesaver Costs $21,000

Gives Print 6 Minutes After Picture Is Taken for Better Service

By PETE LOCHBILER

One of the most expensive items in the new Pontiac General Hospital addition is one of the best time-savers.

It's a big machine, the third of its kind in Michigan, that can give you a printed X-ray six minutes after it's been taken.

For this speed, the hospital paid $21,000 and officials think that in practice, the machine will be well worth it.

The machine is in the ground floor X-ray department of the new addition and looks like a big oil furnace with a complicated set of dials.

The hospital describes it as "an automated X-ray processing system which is expected to help improve service to patients requiring X-rays, through earlier interpretation and diagnosis."

What the hospital means is that it used to take 90 minutes to get a printed X-ray and now it takes one-fifteenth that time.

Or put it this way:

An emergency patient with a badly fractured limb could once wait in pain on a stretcher for seemingly endless minutes while X-rays of the fracture were being developed.

With the aid of the processer, it is now feasible that the fracture could be set within minutes.

In more serious, critical cases where speed is vital, the new machine might provide an invaluable service.

Because it is so fast, it could provide doctors with the data they need to know quickly, perhaps in time to save a life.

And in ordinary cases, the machine is just plain handier.

Is all that worth $21,000? Pontiac General thought so. So did Ford Hospital in Detroit and University Hospital in Ann Arbor, the other two Michigan institutions that have one.

The machine is produced by the Kodak company and is called a Kodak X-Omat Processor. It combines chemical and mechanical processes into one operation. The films it delivers are dried and ready for interpretation by trained radiologists.

Although the fast - delivery X-ray process is the star feature of the new X-ray department that opened in the addition this month, there are still other improvements there.

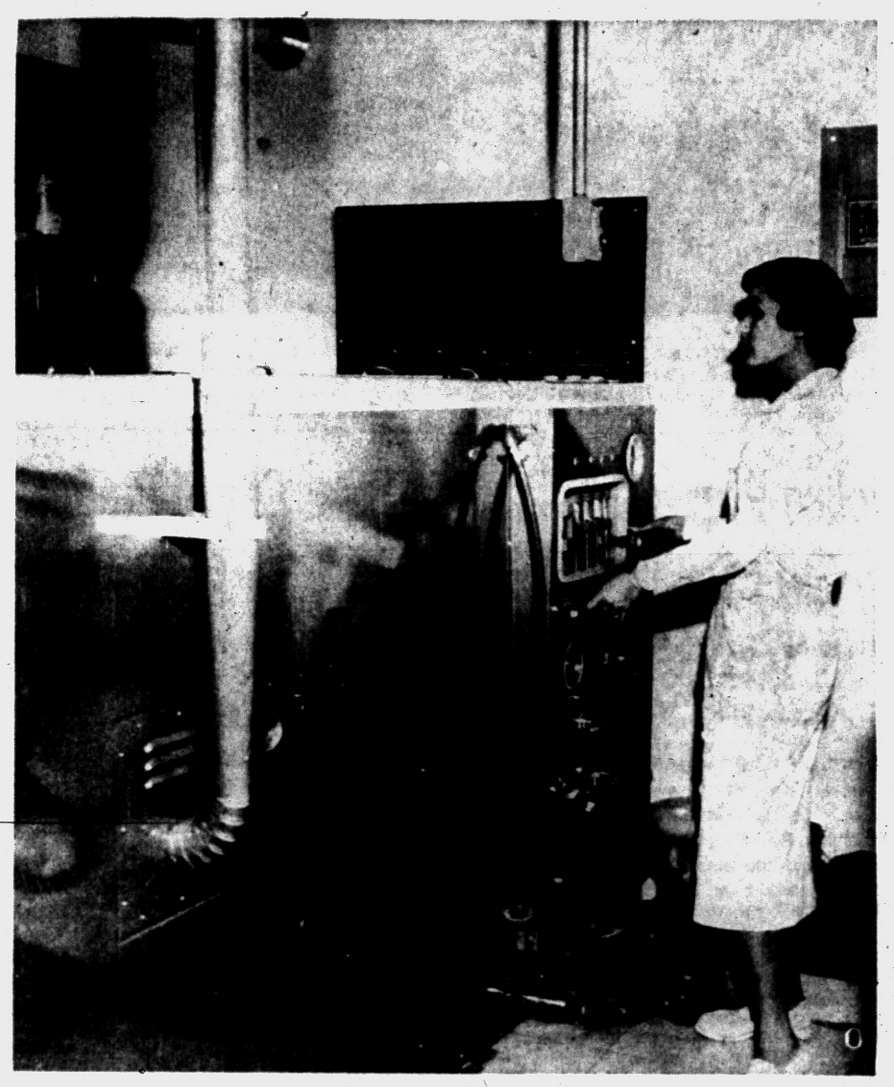
The addition also contains improved floroscopic and therapy rooms



Pontiac Press Photo

FASTER X-RAYS — It looks easy as Pontiac General Hospital nurse Lois Tapley, of 27 Crawford St. adjusts the controls on the new $21,000 automatic X-ray processing machine. Actually, it isn't as simple as it looks, but it's a lot simpler and about 15 times faster than processing films by hand. The processer is located in the new X-ray department that recently opened in the hospital addition.

Says Education Can Up Living Standard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover says the country soon may have to choose between better education or a lower standard of living.

Rickover, father of the atomic submarine, made the statement while voicing strong criticism of "progressive" education and the teachings of the late John Dewey.

Rickover said the nation could assure a high standard of living for future generations by full utilization of human resources.

"But it cannot be done with 180-day school years, driver training courses and print shops in high school" he added.

Rickover spoke at the 50th anniversary celebration of St. Alban's Episcopal School for Boys.

Another speaker was Dr. James Killian Jr., special assistant to President Eisenhower for science and technology, who called for intensified teaching of languages, science and mathematics.

Nuts to the Blackbirds

SUFFOLK, Va. (AP) — Blackbirds went to work and paid back a small portion of the high cost they levy on peanut farmers by eating the crops set out on drying racks. This season the birds showed up after a hard freeze and obligingly pecked away the frozen pods, saving the farmers the expense of painstakingly raking away the useless outside frozen layer from each stack.

FDR Advised West Point OK in 1941

Wants to Follow Father's Path

CHESTER HEIGHTS, Pa. (AP) — Corky Kelly, son of one of the nation's first heroes of World War II, has decided he wants to follow the footsteps of his father to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Corky, formally known as Colin P. Kelly III, is a 17-year-old high school senior on whose behalf President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1941 wrote a letter to the President of the United States in 1956.

The letter, written when Corky was 16 months old, asked that the "merits of a young American youth of goodly heritage" be considered for appointment to the academy "as a token of the nation's appreciation of the heroic services of his father," Army Air Force Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr.

Corky lives in this suburban Philadelphia community with his mother and stepfather, Dr. and Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, who disclosed Corky's intentions today.

Mrs. Pedlow said the family planned a trip to West Point soon to determine what requirements Corky must meet. In the meantime, his precollege examination records have been forwarded to the academy.

West Point is probably more than a year off for Corky. Mrs Pedlow said that in preparation for a possible appointment, he had been accepted by an unnamed college where he planned a year of study.

"We hope he can quietly enter West Point like any other plebe (freshman)," Mrs. Pedlow said.

The 6-foot-2 youngster is president of the student body at Westtown Friends School, has a high academic rating and has achieved Eagle Scout rank in the Boy Scouts. In addition, he is active in sports, shining especially on the soccer field.

His father received the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Distinguished Service Cross for his part in bombing missions after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

Three days later, Capt. Kelly's B17 was attacked by Japanese fighters as the bomber was returning to Clark Field in the Philippines from a mission. Explosions were set off aboard the bomber and six of the eight-man crew, acting on Capt. Kelly's orders, escaped by parachute. One man was killed at his station. Capt. Kelly failed to clear the ship.

President Roosevelt's letter was written seven days later and was sent to the National Archives for safekeeping until it was delivered to President Eisenhower in early 1956.

Steel Profits Hit Peak

NEW YORK—The nation's iron and steel industry's total revenues and net income broke records in 1956. Total revenues increased by nearly 1.2 billion dollars to approximately $15,299,747,000 or 8.4 per cent higher than in 1955. Net income increased by $14,500,000 to $1,113,100,000 a 1.3 per cent gain over 1955.

Report Churchill Better After Plaguing Illness

ROQUEBRUNE, France (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill reportedly was making some progress today against the infirmities still plaguing him.

Members of his household said the 83-year-old former British Prime Minister has shaken off much of the fever that gripped him Saturday when a relapse put him back to bed. He had pneumonia and pleurisy last month while vacationing here on the Riviera.

An informant said the wartime leader was resting comfortably and no official medical bulletins would be issued. But his condition still caused concern.

There were hints the aged leader had tried to return to his usual routine too soon after his bout with illness.

Franco's Objections Against King Ended?

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Speculation arose today that Gen. Francisco Franco may have dropped his objections to putting a Spanish king back on the throne.

The dictator's wife returned from a visit to Don Juan of Bourbon, the 44-year-old pretender who lives in Portugal. Mrs. Carmen Polo de Franco had four meetings with him.

Persons present said she curtsied deeply and addressed Don Juan as "Your Majesty." They said Spanish Foreign Minister Fernando Maria Castiella, who accompanied Mrs. Franco, also met with the pretender's political advisers in Lisbon.

Informants said Franco, who is past 65 and has no sons or any obvious political heirs, must have approved the meeting and may have suggested it.

Hal Boyle Quotes French Lyricist:

'American Woman Is a Question Mark'

NEW YORK (AP)—"In America there is this equality between the sexes, and this I feel is a mistake," said Andre Varel, a leading French lyricist.

"To me every American woman is a question mark."

Varel and his partner, Charly Bailly, who are known as "the Rodgers and Hammerstein of France," have had plenty of opportunity lately to study American women. With a choral group of seven young Frenchmen called the Chanteurs of Paris, they have toured the country for several months and now are appearing at the Waldorf.

Word has spread that some of our lovelorn native ladies, overcome by Gallic charm, have been pursuing the pair from city to city. Asked about this, Varel replied:

"Maybe they chase my partner. Not me!"

Varel, who is a career bachelor, left the implication this suited him.

"If American women could forget this idea of equality," he remarked, "they would become more exciting and sought after even than French women.

"Equality between men and women? What does it mean? It is physically impossible for a girl to be like a man.

"I do not believe there is a great deal of genius in women, but she confers it. Genius comes from her. That is enough. She does not need equality, and I do not believe she really wants it."

Varel has written the words and Bailly the music for more than 100 songs, a number of which have been featured by such performers as Edith Piaf, Patachou and Lucienne Boyer.

What is the favorite theme of the tunesmiths in France's Tin Pan Alley?

"Naturellement," said Varel. "It is love. In France even the old men are interested in love. In fact, the older they are the more interested they seem.

"I have been reading a book in which it said love is a crime. Starting today I am going to think about this for some time.

"After all, perhaps, love is a crime. A man is born by love, suffers by love, dies for love. I would say there is too much love—except that we have written a song called 'There's Never too Much Love.'"

American writers of romantic songs have a notorious weakness for rhyming June and Moon and love with above. In France they have a similar problem.

"With us there is always the temptation to rhyme 'amour' and 'toujours,'" said Varel, smiling. "We must fight against it."

Africa Film to Close Travel Series Here

"South From Zanzibar" is the story of the remote and exotic areas in one of the earth's last frontiers—Africa.

The final show will begin at 8 p.m. at the Pontiac High School auditorium.

Aid Bill May Include 'Buy U.S.' Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) predicted today Congress will attach to the $3,942,000,000 foreign aid bill a provision directing increased domestic buying of mutual assistance supplies.

International Cooperation Administration officials contend 85 per cent of the over-all total now is spent at home. Bridges and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) say that percentage may hold for military purchases. But they said that unless there is a change in policy about 35 per cent of nearly a billion dollars in economic aid will go for purchases of supplies and equipment abroad.

"I think Congress is alert to this situation and will do something about it," Bridges said. "I don't think we will have any difficulty in attaching a provision to the foreign aid bill directing more expenditures at home, particularly in labor surplus areas."

Bridges said he thinks the mutual security program is "in for a rough time" in Congress.

Doesn't Believe Killian Could Teach in Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. James R. Killian Jr., President Eisenhower's science and technology adviser, probably wouldn't qualify to teach in Washington's elementary schools, a government colleague says.

The District of Columbia requires 40 semester hours of professional education courses for public school teachers — more than any other city or state.

Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, chief of the naval reactors branch for the Atomic Energy Commission, cited Killian's status to point up the rigidity of the rules.

The firm also estimates that country - club dues in the year ended May 31 increased 4.3 per cent over the year before to an average of $288 per member.

Police Puzzled by Girl's Death

Unusual Facts Found in Apparent Hit - Run Traffic Fatality

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit police were puzzled today over several facts in the death of 14-year-old Emma Jean Furget, an apparent hit-run traffic victim.

The girl was found dead Saturday night under a parked car.

A companion, Carol Cooper, 16, told police Emma Jean was following her across the street when a black sedan zoomed by and "I think I saw Emma Jean get hit out of the corner of my eye."

Assistant medical examiner Edward Zawadzki said there was no doubt the girl was struck down and killed by an auto but these facts bothered police:

— One of Emma Jean's shoes is missing despite an exacting search.

—There are gouge marks on the bottom of both feet that Dr. Zawadzki said could only have been inflicted while the victim was shoeless.

— The body was wedged so tightly under the parked car that the auto had to be lifted to extricate it. Police don't believe a standing pedestrian could have been thrown downward in such a position.

"It is possible that she was killed elsewhere," Zawadzki said, "and thrown out of a moving car at the place where she was found."

A broken rear view mirror was found at the scene. Police arrested but later released three drivers who had cars with missing rear view mirrors.

6 Injured as 2 Cars Collide on Auburn Road

Six people were injured Sunday in a two-car collision on Auburn road just west of Churchill road in Pontiac Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

All were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released, said deputies. Those injured in one car were the driver, Wilma J. Aldrich, 20, of 31 Cross St., Auburn Heights, and her husband, Robert, 21.

Also injured were Franklin Gale, 23, of 416 Osmun St., the other driver, and his companions, Howard W. Rowley, 22, of 48 Belmont St., Norma DeLaRosa, 18, of 1023 Meadowlawn St., and her sister, Cruz, 19.

Waterford Woman Remains 'Critical'

The Waterford Township woman struck by a car on U.S. 10 early Saturday morning is still reported on the critical list at Pontiac General Hospital.

Mrs. Delfine Miller, 23, of 2384 Anders Dr., and her husband Carl, 36, were hit when they walked into the path of a southbound auto at Saginaw Trail, in Waterford Township, reported State Police.

Her husband is reported in satisfactory condition today having improved over the weekend. Earl K. Sanborn, 49, of 1506 Orchid St., Waterford Township, the driver, was not held.

Buckingham Palace Too Ornate for Duke

LONDON (INS) — The famed magnificence of some Buckingham Palace rooms apparently are a bit too magnificent for the Duke of Edinburgh.

The duke is reported to be modernizing the massive study known as the "King's Study." He is having the antique fireplaces removed and building a new lower white ceiling which will hide the high ornate gold-leafed ceiling that was the pride of many monarchs.

Carl Stellato Will Run for Congress as Dem

DETROIT (INS) — Carl Stellato, president of United Auto Workers Ford Local 600, has announced he will run for Congress.

Stellato told a local meeting yesterday he will seek the Democratic nomination from Michigan's 16th Congressional District. The seat currently is held by Rep. John Lesinski Jr., also a Democrat.

"I will run as a working man and as a Democrat," Stellato declared. "And, before someone else hangs the label on me, I will run as a union man."

The president of the 50,000-member UAW local said he will campaign on such issues as social security improvements, changes in the wage and hour laws and civil rights.

Local 600's general council and political Action Committee had urged Stellato to run for Congress. The International UAW is expected to give its blessing to the local president.

Correspondent Reports Indonesian Government Firmly in Control

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Word from North Sumatra today said Prapat, one of the last reported rebel holdings in the area, was firmly in government hands.

Associated Press correspondent John Griffin telephoned from the war-torn port of Medan that Prapat was "all shot up and there are gutted vehicles in the streets from a battle last Tuesday."

Griffin said Maj. Boyke Mainn Golan, who led the mutiny last week in Medan, had gone into hiding with the remnants of his force among the rubber estates about 100 miles southeast of the key port and rail center. The government retook Medan after a see-correspondents, John Dominis of Time-Life, and Marc Riboud of Magnum Photos, entered Prapat expecting to find it in rebel hands.

"We were well treated by the government forces and never at any time arrested," Griffin said. "When we showed them a pass signed by rebel Col. Djambek, they laughed."

Griffin, who reported he was in good health after a month and a half in rebel areas, said Dominis and Riboud had remained at Prapat.

Hope, Back From Russia, Naps With One Eye Open

By BOB HOPE

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — From Moscow to Copenhagen to New York to North Hollywood is a little too much for my chemistry, and the change in me has me sleeping with one eye open.

But it's nice to be back in this land of malted milks and drive-ins.

We did out last show in Moscow for all the State Department employes in the ballroom of the American Embassy. It's a little difficult working to State Department people. When you tell a joke, they take it under advisement—nobody laughs until they get an okay from Washington.

But our Ambassador Tommy Thompson in Moscow sure knows his job—when he met me at the airport, he shook my hand, slapped me on the back and taped my mouth.

EASY TO SPOT

And I recognized Ambassador Thompson immediately. Who else would be wearing a letter carrier's uniform? The ambassador was very winded—the President's last letter to Bulganin was marked special delivery.

Mr. Dulles warned me if I did shows for the Russians, I wouldn't get many laughs. It seems lots of Russians understand English.

I hope this cultural exchange deal works out because it may be another avenue to develop a little warmth between our Sputniks.

We're supposed to send some of our more cultural movies over there, but the deal is temporarily hung up. Hhey can't find a Russian translation for "I Was A Teenage Frankenstein."

After this experience, I just want to sit back and enjoy the luxuries of these United States. Russia's a wonderful country. Russia is a fine place for a working man to live. Russia is the greatest place on earth. I know that's true. A Russian in New York told me that.

Recession Really Transition, Says Former GM Head A. P. Sloan Jr.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., retired head of General Motors Corp., said today he personally believes that the recession is a "transitory" state of affairs—"more of an economic adjustment than a prolonged depression."

But, reluctantly, he expressed the opinion that a federal tax cut is justified now; not that a tax reduction is sound from an economic point of view—he does not think it is — but because "something must be done and that is the best thing that can be done."

The 82-year-old "elder statesman of business" is regarded as one of the most acute analysts of economic conditions of our time.

In an exclusive interview at his office in a New York skyscraper, Sloan said that for the long-pull position of American industry nobody can be more optimistic than he is. But the short-term situation is different. He warned: "We are in a recession which we can not measure."

He said he is convinced that the country "can not afford to take any chances" and should strive to correct the situation.

Asked how soon he thought the recession would end, he replied:

"I think much depends upon what we do about it. But I do not think we can expect any substantial increase in business until the end of the year, even if then. The most we can expect is a leveling-off process, so far as this year is concerned."

Sloan, looking physically fit and keen-minded as ever, has been keeping active since his retirement as chairman of the board of General Motors in April, 1956. He is now carrying on the great work of the Sloan Foundation and the Sloan-Kettering Foundation in humanitarian and educational projects.

Asked what he thought about the psychology of the American people at the present time, Sloan replied:

"Well, I do not think that a state of fear exists. It is a buyers' strike in a sense. I think the situation might be expressed as a lack of confidence in the immediate outlook — the continuation of employment, so to speak.

"As a matter of fact, due to the tremendous productivity of industry that we have enjoyed for many years past, too many people are supplied with everything they need. Therefore, they do not buy.

"And because of lack of confidence they are not buying where they normally would. This attitude of mind is particularly reflected in the durable goods industries. The problem, as I see it, is to destroy that lack of confidence."

Sloan made it clear he was very optimistic about the long-term outlook. Then, switching to the short-pull position, he said:

"From all indices I have been able to examine, my opinion is that the so-called recession is more of an economic adjustment than it is a prolonged depression."

Discussing taxes, he said:

"If we are going to pay the penalty of a tax cut, I think it is extremely important how we do it. If it is to be done from a political standpoint, to capitalize votes, I do not think it will be justified.

"From my point of view it must be directed in large measure to increasing incentive to make it worthwhile for people to go out and do things.

"We all know that the present tax structure is confiscatory, and thus prejudicial to constructive endeavor. It puts a ceiling on expansion and development.

"I believe that this might well be an opportunity to construct a foundation of real incentive in the tax structure. It might well be that the amount of revenue flowing to the government would not be reduced as much as a forecast would indicate; in fact, I would not be surprised if revenue was increased over the long-pull position."

Sloan said that, in considering tax changes, he would like to see consideration given to permitting business greater latitude in the treatment of depreciation. He added:

"Acceleration of depreciation reserves would have the effect of stimulating investment in the capital goods industries not only in expansion but in rehabilitation, thus increasing efficiency of production. It costs the government nothing in the long run.

"And in this area is one of the weakest factors in the economic picture as presently existing. In addition to this, excise taxes should be reduced. There is no justifiable reason why we should tax some things and not others."

Sloan said he hoped that whatever issues may arise at the impending labor-management negotiations in the automotive industry will be resolved "without a settlement that contemplates further inflationary pressure."

Asked what he thought of UAW President Walter P. Reuther's profit-sharing proposal, he said he did not think it is realistic.

"I think it is a much sounder policy for industry to deal with labor on the basis of paying labor what it is worth," he said, "and not involving the labor problem with the economics of industry, leading as it well may, and probably would, to the interference of labor in the problems of management.

"Management's prerogatives must be preserved at all costs, from my point of view."

Sloan, who achieved fame for his ability, and for his capacity for organization in running the largest corporation in the world over a long stretch of years, wound up the interview with these words:

"It is clear, I believe, from what I have said that we all know that presently the economy is in a state of deflation. And that brings about the problems we are talking about.

"I personally believe that this is a transitory state of affairs. In other words, I believe from the standpoint of the long-pull position of the American economy, our problem will be inflation—not deflation."

Junior Editors Quiz on BASEBALL

QUESTION: Who invented baseball?

ANSWER: A young West Point cadet who rose to the rank of general during the Civil War, Abner Doubleday, is given credit for inventing the game of baseball. But before that, boys had been playing games like baseball for many years. In fact English boys played a game they called baseball during the 1700s.

It was 1839 when Doubleday laid out a baseball field in his home town of Cooperstown, N.Y., and wrote rules for the game. The first amateur league was organized in 1858 and the first professional league, the National League, in 1876. The American League was formed in 1900. Baseball has been the national game of the United States for many years. American soldiers spread the game's popularity during the two World Wars and today it is played in almost every country of the world.

FOR YOU TO DO: You can color this old timer's uniform with the colors used by your favorite team, and add this to your collection of baseball pictures. Better than that, get a ball and bat and some friends and start a game.

(The $10 prize for this week's question goes to Linda Holbeck of Greenwich, Conn. If you have a question, mail it on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: How do bees make honey-comb?)

Lary Sparkles as Cards Draw 4-0 Whitewash

Detroit Pitcher Works 7 Spotless Frames for Top Effort of Spring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Jack Tighe is breathing a bit easier today.

The Detroit Tiger manager readily admitted after yesterday's game against the St. Louis Cardinals here that he has been "quite concerned" over his team during the past few days.

"Not worried about my job," said Tighe, "but concerned over the team. When you figure you have a pretty good team with pretty good talent, and you're not winning, then I think it's time to be concerned."

The sophomore skipper was very relieved after his team finally got some good pitching and recorded its first shutout of the Grapefruit League season. Frank Lary pitched seven innings of the sparkling ball and got credit for the 4-0 whitewash. Lefty Hank Aguirre finished up.

Without question, Lary's effort was the Tigers' finest pitching of the spring campaign.

"When you don't walk 'em," said Lary, "you can win."

Lary didn't walk a batter in seven innings, struck out four, and yielded only four harmless singles. He retired the side in order on strikes in his final inning, getting Stan Musial on a called third strike.

Only one batter reached second base against Lary, whose teammates backed him up with eight hits and a pair of double plays.

Two walks put Aguirre into mild trouble in the ninth but he worked out of it by retiring Joe Taylor on a swinging third strike that ended the contest.

Three of the four Detroit runs were tainted. The Tigers got only two singles off Sad Sam Jones in five innings, but both came at the start of the second inning. Right fielder Wally Moon let Gail Harris's single go through his legs and both Harris and Bill Taylor scored as the ball rolled all the way to the 450-foot mark.

In the sixth inning, with Morrie Martin pitching for the Cards, the Tigers scored twice. Billy Martin doubled, Gus Zernial and Lou Skizas singled and shortstop Dick Schofield kicked away an easy roller that made one of the runs unearned.

The Tigers, now with a 5-9 record, met the Boston Red Sox at Lakeland today.

Trainer Jack Homel said Bill Hoeft may be ready to pitch Tuesday when Detroit meets Kansas City in Lakeland.

Ex-Bronco Jackson Looms Big for Hose

Ron Hits 2 Homers (6 Runs)

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ron Jackson of the Chicago White Sox—all 6 feet, 7 inches of him—is a big boy now.

He's big in height and looms big in the plans of Manager Al Lopez who is hoping the Pale Hose finally will get some dividends on the $25,000 they invested in 1954.

That year, the Sox snapped Jackson off the Western Michigan campus. They've been sitting back waiting for something to happen since.

This lad is important to Lopez, for the Senor is getting worried about his first base situation. While it is not exactly a problem, it could develop into one what with the aging Earl Torgeson and weak-hitting Walt Dropo around to fight for the job.

The Sox licked the Cincinnati Redlegs 14-5 at Tampa yesterday and Jackson clouted two home runs for the cause, each good for three runs. Tito Francona also drove in a half dozen runs on four singles.

All told, the Sox got only 9 hits. The big blow for the Redlegs was Bob Thurman's home runs off Bill Fischer in the eighth. It snapped Fischer's personal streak of not permitting a home run in 108 2-3 consecutive innings.

Both Lew Burdette, who won three games in last year's World Series, and Bob Lemon, who had not been to the mound since last August, tested their arms.

Burdette went three innings for Milwaukee in the Braves' 4-0 shutout over the Pittsburgh Pirates and didn't permit a batter to reach first base. He also doubled home the first run.

Lemon, who underwent an elbow operation last November, went two innings for the Cleveland Indians "B" team which turned back the Chicago Cubs' "B" squad 10-1.

He was nicked for an unearned run on three hits and reported his arm felt "fine" after tossing an assortment of sliders and curves.

In other action, the Cubs' regulars defeated the Indians 10-8 at Tucson; the San Francisco Giants toppled the Baltimore Orioles 8-5 at Phoenix; the New York Yankees overpowered the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-6 at Miami; the Kansas City A's splattered the Washington Senators, 7-1 at Orlando; the Detroit Tigers whitewashed the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 at St. Petersburg, and the Boston Red Sox nicked the Philadelphia Phillies 5-3 at Clearwater.

Jim Bolger hit a pinch home run with one on in the ninth to give the Cubs their victory. Rookie center fielder Don Taussig broke a 5-5 tie with Baltimore when he doubled with the bases loaded in the eighth, giving the Giants their triumph.

The Yanks collected five runs in the eighth inning, four on Bill Skowron's grand slam home run, to whip the Dodgers. Rip Repulski and Dick Gernert each blasted a three-run homer, but it took three singles and a double in the seventh to enable the Red Sox to pull ahead of the Phillies.

The A's punched out 15 hits off three Washington pitchers en route to their victory while Ralph Terry and Ray Herbert held the Senators to four.

Sugar Says He'll Make Weight OK for Basilio

CHICAGO (AP) — Carmen Basilio and Sugar Ray Robinson, both having reached a fine edge for their middleweight championship battle, are eagerly awaiting tomorrow night's opening bell.

Basilio, who dethroned Robinson in New York last fall, appeared tense but confident. The champion concluded his sparring sessions Thursday and has been doing little except for loosening up exercises.

Basilio, still an 8-5 favorite, is expected to weigh around 153½, far below the 160-pound limit.

Robinson boxed three rounds yesterday ending his heavy workouts. Sugar Ray, who is seeking to win the middleweight title a fifth time, cut short rumors that he might have trouble making the weight.

"I won't have any trouble making the weight," said Robinson with an apologetic smile.

"No trouble at all," retorted Manager George Gainford. "He was just a little over 161 before Sunday's workout and he knocks off about a pound and a half in a heavy workout. He'll loosen up tomorrow, eat a heavy meal at about four o'clock and that will be it until he weighs in Tuesday. He'll make it easy."

By not taking any food or drink from 4 oclock this afternoon until after the noon weighin tomorrow, Robinson will be going through a drying out period.

After making the weight it is possible that he can put on a couple of pounds with a good meal and this could give the Sugar man nearly a nine pound edge.

Basilio, however, has youth in his favor. The champion at 30 is seven years younger than the challenger.

The scheduled 15-round bout in Chicago Stadium will begin at 11 p.m. EST and will be scored on a five point must system. The winner of a round gets five points and the loser any lesser number.

The fight will be broadcast nationally by CBS and will be seen on closed circuit television in 140 cities and 38 states, Canada and the District of Columbia. Chicago and a 100-mile radius will be blacked out on television but will be included in the radio broadcast.

The promoting International Boxing Club expects a crowd of about 20,000 and a record indoor gate of about $450,000. Television will bring in $300,000 and radio receipts will be an additional $30,000.

Robinson and Basilio will each get 30 per cent of the net total.

Wings Finish in 3rd Place

Whip Montreal 4 - 2 to Gain Confidence for Playoffs

DETROIT (AP)—Who's afraid of the big bad Montreal Canadiens?

"We're certainly not," boomed Jack Adams, general manager of the Detroit Red Wings. "Why should we be? We've taken seven of the last 10 points from them."

The Wings clash with the Canadiens tomorrow at Montreal in the first game of the best of seven semifinals for the National Hockey League's coveted Stanley Cup.

Detroit proved its fearlessness last night by outbattling Montreal 4-2 in the finale of the regular season. The victory meant third place for the Wings by one skinny point over the Boston Bruins.

Red Kelly, Forbes Kennedy, Gordie Howe and Marcel Pronovost were the Wings marksmen. Howe assisted on the goals by Kelly and Pronovost. His own tally was his 33rd.

Phil Goyette and Dickie Moore ruined Terry Sawchuk's shutout bid in the third period. The tallies gave Montreal 250 for the season, a new NHL high. The Detroit club of 1950-51 held the old mark of 236.

Moore's goal was his 36th, tops in the league. He was the leading pointmaker with 84 points.

The Wings finished 3rd although Boston downed Chicago 7-5. New York nipped Toronto in the other game, 3-2.

Howe Selected Wings' MVP for Fifth Time

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe received the Detroit hockey writers' award last night for being the most valuable Detroit Red Wing for the fifth time.

The high scoring forward also received two other trophies. It was the seventh time he won the Harry A. Gormley trophy for most Red Wings points and the ninth time he received the Frank J. Murphy Memorial trophy for the most goals.

They were the 19th, 20th and 21st team awards Howe won during his 12-year career with Detroit.

Other Wings receiving trophies during last night's game with Montreal were:

Forbes Kennedy, who won the Unsung Hero award.

Johnny Wilson, who got the J. M. Citroc trophy for sportsmanship.

Jack McIntyre, who won the Dow award on a vote by his teammates for "the player who puts on the best show of histrionics when injured."

Subpar Finale Brings Victory

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — After Arnold Palmer's tingling stretch drive victory in the St. Petersburg Open, golf touring professionals invade the Florida East Coast today for two pro-amateur events starting with an 18-holer in Fort Lauderdale.

Palmer, 28-year-old consistent money winner from Latrobe, Pa., had to shoot 6 under par 65—the best round of the tournament to nail down top prize of $2,000. And he had to birdie the final hole to get the 65 and avoid a sudden death playoff with Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Texas.

Here's how Michigan players fared in the tournament:

Mike Dietz, Lake Orion, 74-73-67-68—282, $725.

Bob Gajda, Bloomfield Hills, 75-70-68-74—287, $196.66.

Berkley Wrestler Wins AAU Crown

Bill Florence, a 175-pounder from Berkley, was the only Oakland County winner in the Michigan AAU high school wrestling tourney held over the weekend at Ypsilanti.

The 120-pound champion Jim Gray of Willow Run was named the outstanding performer among 75 entries.

Pistons Aim to Square Hawk Series

Get 1st Win, 109-89

DETROIT (INS) — The Detroit Pistons will try to even their National Basketball Association playoff series with the St. Louis Hawks tomorrow night when the two teams meet at Olympia Stadium in the fourth game of the best-of-seven Western Division finals.

Detroit won their first game in the series yesterday, downing the Hawks by a decisive 109 — 89 score at St. Louis. The Hawks won the first two contests, 114-111 and 99-96.

George Yardley led the Pistons' attack yesterday with 31 points while Cliff Hagan topped St. Louis with 29 points.

Defending champions, the Boston Celtics, who won the eastern division this season stopped the Warriors twice over the weekend, 109-96 and 106-92. Win gave the Celtics a 3-0 lead and 4th game was set for Philadelphia on Wednesday.

In the Piston-Hawk game Sunday, Yardley, NBA scoring king and only player in the league ever to score more than 2,000 points in one season, piled up 17 of his points in the first quarter. Pistons built up a 14-point margin in this session, 35-21, and never trailed. Hawk collected only 15 points in the 3rd period.

Walt Dukes' fine guarding kept big Bob Pettit to a sub-par 18 total.

Both Boston-Philadelphia games were decided in the last two periods, as Celtics went on scoring rampages Sunday. Bill Sharman counted 27, Tom Heinsohn 26 and Bob Cousy 18 for Celtics. Paul Arizin for the losers, had 25. Bill Russell came up with a phenomenal 40 rebounds for the Celts.

Seeking Longer Hoop Schedules

LANSING (AP)—Every high school athletic director in Michigan will receive a questionnaire soon exploring the possibility of obtaining more basketball games.

Paul Smarks, president of the 2,500-member Michigan Coaches Assn., said his group plans to campaign for more games than presently are allowed.

State High School Athletic Assn. rules limit the total to no more than 24 football and basketball games combined, with no more than nine football games or 15 basketball games if the school plays both sports. If the school does not play football, a maximum of 18 games is allowed during the regular basketball season. Tournament games are extra.

Smarks, who said "we want to be on solid ground before we make our pitch," said schools also will be asked if they think there should be a uniform starting date for football practice for both the Lower and Upper Peninsulas.

Jones Adds Two Hurdle Records to Collection

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Four meet records were established and two others tied Saturday night in a series of brilliant individual performances at Denison University's Livingston Relays.

Entrants from 23 colleges and universities competed but there is no team title in these relays.

Outstanding individual performer was Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan who set a new meet record in the 55-yard high hurdles (6.7 seconds), tied the 55-yard low hurdles record (6.2 seconds) and anchored Eastern Michigan's winning 8-lap relay team, which set a new record in that event (2:07.7).

Other winners:

Pole vault — Jim Robinson, Eastern Michigan, 13 feet, 8¾ inches
Broad jump — C. L. Hamilton, Hanover, 23 feet, 1 inch
High jump — Brendan O'Reilly, Michigan, 6 feet, 5½ inches
Mile run — Ed Vanderheuval, Central Michigan, 4:23.3 (new record)
55-yard dash — Ira Murchison, Western Michigan, 5.7 seconds (tied record)
Two-mile relay — Miami (Ohio) 7:58.7
Distance medley relay — Western Michigan, 10:33.3 (new record)
Mile relay — Eastern Michigan 3:26.8

Pontiac's Rhodes Weightlifting King

Pontiac YMCA weightlifter John Rhodes set four records Saturday night at the Michigan AAU senior weightlifting championships at the Highland Park "Y."

He broke his own marks in the military press, snatch and total for three combined lifts and set the other in the clean and jerk event to gain the outstanding weightlifter award.

Four other Pontiac lifters and a physique contest entry failed to place but Waterford had a champion in Bud Barnard. Barnard took the 123-pound title.

Andonion Fires 68 on 1st Time Out

Pontiac's State Publinx golf champion Mike Andonian looked like he had just come off the winter circuit yesterday as he fired a six-under par 68 on his 1st time out this season.

The Pontiac Central teacher garnered six birdies and no bogies at Pontiac Country Club. He started the round with two birdies and fell just a foot short of a hole-in-one on one shot. Fellow players Jim Hanes and Bill Fleischauer had 74s and Clyde Wiemer 77.

Collins and Hill Win at Sebring

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — The slick racing tandem of Peter Collins and Phil Hill looked ahead toward continuing their domination of the sports car driving scene.

Collins, of Kidderminster, England, and Hill, of Santa Monica, Calif., roared to victory in Saturday's 12-hour Florida Grand Prix of endurance. They traveled a record 1,040 miles in their Italian Ferrari.

For the 26-year-old Collins and the 30-year-old Hill, this was their second straight triumph. On Jan. 26 Collins and Hill drove their sleek racer to victory in the 1,000-kilometer race in Buenos Aires.

Their victory gave the world champion Ferrari factory in Modena, Italy a commanding lead in this year's competition.

YOU'RE THE MANAGER

BILL RIGNEY

By BEN OLAN

Many baseball experts feel that Bill Rigney did a good job of managing the Giants the past couple of years despite their second division status. President Horace Stoneham thought so too for he signed Regney to a two-year contract when the club moved to San Francisco at the close of the 1957 season.

Here's a chance to test your managerial know-how. Rigney made the right decision in the following instance. Would you have done the same thing?

Johnny Antonelli (L) is pitching for the Giants, who are tied 1-1 with Philadelphia in the top of the eighth at New York. Willie Jones leads off for the Phillies with a single and moves to second on Stan Lopata's one-bagger. Bob Bowman sacrifices, the runners advancing one base each. Ted Kazanski (R) is the next batter with pitcher Robin Roberts, who can hit from either side, and Richie Ashburn (L) to follow.

Would you:

a. Let Antonelli pitch to Kazanski?

b. Bring in a righthander to pitch to Kazanski?

c. Have Antonelli walk Kazanski intentionally?

(Other data: Antonelli has given up eight hits in 7⅓ innings; Kazanski has one hit in two tries in the game and is 3-for-15 on the season; Roberts is 0-for-2 in the game and 1-for-7 on the year.)

Result: C — Antonelli walks Kazanski intentionally and then gets Roberts to ground into a double play ending the inning. The Giants get a run in the ninth and win 2-1 (April 21).

McMahon missed and officials didn't call the foul, in the game at St. Louis. Pistons won 109-89.

Cy Young pitched in 906 games between 1890 and 1911.

No Doubt About It...DeBusschere Great

By BILL CORNWELL

EAST LANSING—Much has been written and spoken in the most glowing manner about Dave DeBusschere, the great basketball star for Detroit Austin Catholic.

Anyone who saw DeBusschere in action here Saturday night in the Class A windup of the state high school basketball tournament finals should be compelled to admit that none of it is exaggerated.

DeBusschere was nothing short of terrific or sensational or any other adjective you care to use as he guided the Friars to the Michigan Class A championship with a well-deserved 71-68 victory over a tall and talented Benton Harbor quintet in Michigan State University's Jenison Fieldhouse.

The 6-foot-5 center, an all-stater for the last two years, fouled out of the title game with three minutes remaining, but not before he had scored 32 points, performed herculean duties on the backboards and won his personal duel with Chet Walker, Benton Harbor's flashy 6-6 all-state center.

Latest rumors have it that the peerless Austin ace is bound for Notre Dame, which should be sweet words in the ears of Irish followers.

DeBusschere, an outstanding pitcher-first baseman, had been trying to decide between professional baseball offers and college. The University of Detroit was also intensely interested in acquiring his services.

There were many other stars of high stature in this tournament. Don Mattson, Chassell's brilliant point-maker and playmaker, unleashed some phenomenal 2nd quarter firing as the Panthers won the Class D title for the 3rd year in a row with a 68-61 conquest of Owosso St. Paul.

Ed Heethius, a clever floor general who failed to dent the scoring column, and Norm VanDerWel, a hook-shot artist who meshed 20 points, played starring roles as Muskegon Christian annexed the Class C crown with a 45-35 triumph over Highland Park St. Benedict.

The Brandstatter brothers, Art and John, were the key factors in East Lansing's claim to the Class B throne. John was the scoring ace and Art, an all-state football end, was the board and floor leader as the Trojans conquered favored River Rouge, 62-51.

Chassell, the tiny school from Michigan's Upper Peninsula where defeat has become only a word in the dictionary, chalked up its 65th consecutive win at the expense of St. Paul to continue a fantastic victory string, an all-time state record.

Mattson, who meshed 27 points for Chassel, caged 21 of them in the 1st half and potted six straight field goals in the 2nd period with a tremendous display of out-court jump shooting.

When DeBusschere contacted his 5th personal foul, it may have prevented him from setting a new all-class individual scoring record for a final game.

DeBusschere's 32 points tied the Class A mark set by Larry Bicy of Jackson in the 1955 final, also against Benton Harbor, but left him three short of the 35 made by Stephenson's Mel Peterson in the 1956 Class B final against Detroit St. Andrew.

It is difficult to find much fault with Walker, who was magnificent in defeat for the Tigers. He battled DeBusschere for every rebound and concluded his night's work with 25 points.

Art Brandstatter showed that he also deserved his all-state basketball billing by controlling the boards and performing his best in clutch situations as East Lansing gained a hard-earned decision over tourney-wise River Rouge, twice a state Class B champion playing in the finals for the 5th time.

Local 596 No. 1 had advanced into yesterday's final round with a 63-37 conquest of Local 653 No. 1 on Saturday at Lincoln Oliver Officer bagged 19 points for the victors while Ed Marlow netted 14 in a losing cause.

Kentucky, Xavier Cap Surprising Year

NEW YORK (INS) — The 1957-58 college basketball season was loaded with surprises, so it should have been no shock when Kentucky's "Ugly Ducklings" and Xavier of Ohio's "Mouseketeers" won the post-season tournaments.

Kentucky, not rated very highly even by coach Adolph Rupp, won its 19th Southeastern Conference title after a harder fight than usual and ended the regular season with a 19-and-6 record, ranked 11th nationally by International News Service.

But the Wildcats were something special in the NCAA tournament as they swept past Miami of Ohio, Notre Dame, Temple and "Cinderella" Seattle for an unprecedented fourth title.

It was Rupp who called the Wildcats "Ugly Ducklings," but it was the Xavier students who changed the nickname of their team from Musketeers to "Mouseketeers."

Not only that but they also twice hanged coach Jim McCafferty in effigy and threw snowballs at the team when it left for the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

Xavier, which had a season record of 15 and 11 and lost star rebounder Corny Freeman because of scholastic ineligibility, was great in the NIT, knocking off top-seeded Dayton (78-74) in overtime for the title Saturday.

It was the fifth time Dayton had reached the NIT finals and the fifth time it lost.

Elgin Baylor was named the NCAA's most valuable player. The NIT's MVP was Hank Stein of Xavier.

Oscar Robertson set two NCAA scoring records in leading Cincinnati to a 97-to-62 consolation win over Arkansas of the Southwest Conference.

Robertson's 56 points broke the record of 48 set by Temple's Hal Lear and his 21 field goals replaced the mark set by Bob Houbregs of Washington.

Guy Rodgers of Temple carried his fifth-ranked Owls to a third-place finish in the NCAA.

'Austerity' Pinching Smaller Agencies of State

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP) — What does "austerity" state budgeting mean to the little agencies of government, the orphans on the fringe with no powerful friends to go to bat for them?

While the large universities and other goliath agencies and lawmakers struggle over millions, these outfits watch on the sidelines, yearning for a comparative crumb from the budgetary table.

Take two, the state historical commission, facing a cutback of $28,500, and the state board for libraries, which stands to lose $40,000.

Asked about it, Dr. Lewis Beeson, commission executive secretary said he was "pretty discouraged."

"When they apply the same formula to us that they do to the big universities, it has a crippling effect," he said. Beeson's agency occupies a fine print position in the higher education appropriation bill.

Beeson said his unit's proposed $95,000 allotment for 1958-59 will mean abandonment of the historical marker program, begun in 1956, at its mid-point, and layoffs for two employes.

The commission received $123,000 for this fiscal year.

"By the end of June, we will have 110 markers in place," he 63 more. The original plan, costing said. "We have chosen sites for $100,000, was to put them up at between 200 and 300 locations over four years.

"We have 35 registered historical buildings. Four of them now marked with a historical synopsis for school kids, tourists and adults unacquainted with its significance."

The legends are inscribed on attractive, weather - resistant, metal panels, ordinarily mounted on posts.

"We planned to place others at or near courthouses of 75 counties. Ten more were to deal with outstanding geological features of the state," Beeson said.

Some of the markers already up were donated — including those at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island; at the Portland Cement Works at Alpena, the largest of its kind in the world; at the first mile of concrete pavement laid in the world — near Detroit, and at the Dearborn Inn.

The historical commission has 17 employes. But for the two working on the marker program, all will be retained, Beeson said.

"We have to hang onto them. It's the most costly thing in the world to train people," he said.

He said commission publications will have to be trimmed in size, and possibly leaflets now issued on matters of historical importance will have to be cut down. Telephone and travel expense will have to be reduced.

For next year, Gov. Williams had recommended $140,000 for the agency, including $8,000 for work on historical development in the Mackinac Straits area, a promising tourist mecca because of Mackinac Bridge.

Long a hard luck perhaps even neglected — agency, the commission dropped to $6,275 in the depression year and was 15 years in getting back to pre-depression levels.

Also operating in the cultural area, the state board for libraries is dismayed over a cut in its allowance for aid to qualifying local libraries.

Clifford Wightman of Muskegon, president of the Michigan Library Assn., said it threatens to scuttle a new program aimed at bringing book services to one million rural residents now without it.

This project, begun last year, was financed with $40,000 of federal funds, and $145,000 more in federal money will be available for 1958-59 — but only on condition the library board maintains its present level of financial effort.

Now, because the pending bill would cut the board back to $380,000 from the $420,000 last year, the federal money and the rural service program may go out the window.

Wightman said the result would be a "tremendous waste of time and effort."

"Is the state going to throw away its leadership in the library service field?" he asked.

'Mark Hellinger Story' Gets Whole New Script

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — They are starting from scratch on "The Mark Hellinger Story" at Columbia. Both Charles Schnee and George Sidney have been alerted. Charlie to produce and George to direct, an entirely new script, one that will show Mark as he was in the days when we all knew him.

Those of us who remember the glamorous and beautiful Gladys Glad (Mrs. Hellinger) when she wrote a beauty column for the New York Mirror, believe that Kim Novak, also a beauty, is well chosen to play Gladys. This is Kim's next after "Bell, Book and Candle."

An exclusive pilot film was made by British comedienne Hermione Gingold for George Burns. Now don't for a minute think she's going to take Gracie's place. This is for a show all her own.

I sat next to George at a dinner party and he said the pilot Hermione made was excellent and it looks very much as if she will join his McCadden productions.

So far George has no one to take Gracie's place but he has no idea of continuing the same pattern on his shows. That he couldn't do without Gracie.

Jerry Lewis tells me that he goes directly from Palm Springs where he is appearing at the Chi Chi to Mexico to score "Rock-A-Bye Baby" because of the musicians strike.

When Jerry returns he starts working immediately on "Geisha Bay" which is patterned along the lines of the early Chaplin stories. Jerry's role is that of a second rate entertainer who is such a flop when he goes to Korea to entertain the servicemen that a seven-year-old native boy is the only one who thinks he is funny and the kid's devotion helps him.

Sugar Ray Robinson has more on his mind right now than his big fight Tuesday night with Carmen Basilio in Chicago. Sugar Ray will turn actor again, this time in a dramatic role in "On The Horns" by Carlos Montalban, brother of Ricardo, who will also direct.

Robinson plays a matador and the entire story will be shot in Mexico City. "On The Horns" will be the first of three pictures the fighter plans to make for the Ray Robinson Productions, his own company.

Uses Phoney Checks for Masses and Bibles

CHICAGO (AP) — Donating for masses for dead friends and buying Bibles for live ones was something he often did, Leonard C. Sullivan, 23, told suburban Forest Park police.

But authorities say he admitted he used bogus checks in the transactions and always made sure they were large enough to get change.

Sullivan of suburban Westchester was arrested and charged with passing a fraudulent check. He was held on $5,000 bond.

Promises Weapons for South Koreans

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — South Korea's ambassador to Washington said today "modern weapons are arriving or will start arriving here in a few days" for Korean forces.

Ambassador You Chan Yang said his government is proposing that the United States lift its restriction against providing foreign troops with nuclear arms.

The United Nations Command brought 280mm. atomic cannon and Honest John rockets for American troops in Korea last January. South Korea has demanded "modern weapons and equipment" for her forces ever since the talk of reducing the size of her army.

A sharp cut last year in U.S. appropriations for military aid has led American officials to recommend that at least 60,000 men be trimmed from the 700,000-man army.

"Troops cannot be reduced before our military strength is sufficiently boosted by new weapons," Yang declared. "Otherwise it would be putting the horse behind the cart."

Claims Woman's Place Not Necessarily in Home

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The president of the United Church Women claims woman's place is not necessarily in the home.

"There isn't enough to do in a modern home to keep any intelligent woman busy," said Mrs. Theodore Wedel, of Washington, D.C. "Any woman who's constantly busy with housekeeping is just poorly organized."

Mrs. Wedel is here for the state organization's annual assembly.

Rocket Glider Would Take Off From Fast Sled

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A rocket that would start flight from a sled and end it as a piloted glider was proposed today by an aircraft specialist.

The sled launching was likened to a slingshot by Vjekoslav Gradecak, structural engineer for Ryan Aeronautical Co. He said it would eliminate the enormous fuel weight required to get the conventional tail-sitting rocket off the ground.

Gradecak, who will present his idea to a symposium on high speed aerodynamics Wednesday said his rocket would get airborne speed of about 500 miles an hour from the rocket-powered sled on rails.

Its pilot would then ignite its own rocket power and it would climb to 38 miles and attain a speed up to 18,000 miles an hour. It would then glide back to earth.

Gradecak figured that on such a flight the winged rocket-glider could circle the earth. He said it might even be developed into a passenger craft for intercontinental flights.

Judge Denies 'Smut' Lends to Youth Crimes

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Juvenile Court Judge Francis J. McCabe says he has not seen any evidence in his court that pornographic literature and "girlie" magazines have contributed to juvenile delinquency.

He told a meeting of the Congregation Sons of Abraham the court has evidence that poor upbringing, emotional problems and physical and psychological problems are more responsible for delinquency.

Judge McCabe added, however, that pornographic literature and "girlie" magazines should be eliminated.

Honor Among Thieves

NEW YORK (INS) — Albert A. Blinder, Bronx County assistant district attorney credited with smashing a million dollar radio-television tube racket, reported this ethics exchange with a defendant: "He looked at me in horror when I accused him of lying. He asked me 'How could you?' Then he said, 'I'm a thief, but no one ever called me a liar before.'"

Showdown Too Much for Intruder With Gun

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Kenny Anderson, 18, a service station attendant, told the intruder "Go ahead and shoot."

The man, his face covered with soot or black powder and armed with what appeared to be a .38 caliber gun, muttered "This is not worth it"—and fled.

Star Bullfighter Gored in Mexico

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex. (AP) — One of Mexico's bright young stars of the bull ring, Miguel Angel, 23, was in serious condition today after being gored by a charging bull.

Angel, of Mexico City, was impaled in Nogales when a 1,000-pound bull hooked him through the side, the horn narrowly missing his stomach and spine.

Assistants leaped into the arena to divert the animal while Angel was carried to safety. Goring is not new to Angel, who survived what is called one of "Spain's most horrible" bullring injuries in 1954 when a horn was driven through his face, piercing to the brain.

He suffered another goring in 1955 in Monterrey.

Ghana Leads World in Producing Cocoa

ACCRA, Africa—Ghana's role in world production of raw cocoa is traced from 1900 to the present in a survey made public in Accra. In 1900 Africa produced only 20,000 tons of cocoa and South America the most—59,000 tons.

By 1912 the positions were reversed with African production exceeding South America's for the first time. For 1956-57, estimated world production was a record 891,000 tons of which Africa's share was 576,000 tons.

Of this amount Ghana's crop was about 264,000 tons, Nigeria's 135,000 tons and Sierra Leone's 2,000 tons. Ghana has been the world's biggest producer since 1910.

Nurse Believes Island Epidemic of Flu in Control

OCRACOKE, N.C. (AP)—The only registered nurse on doctorless Ocracoke Island said today she believes a flu epidemic which has struck 300 of the 500 residents now is under control.

Mrs. Kathleen Bragg, herself abed with flu, said drugs sent from the mainland and from neighboring Hatteras Island, plus the visit of a Hatteras doctor, had controlled the situation.

Dr. Garland Wampler, U.S. Public Health Service officer at Hatteras Island treated as many as he could among the estimated 200 bed patients on Ocracoke.

Mrs. Bragg said he didn't plan to return unless she told him the situation was beyond her control.

She said the weeklong epidemic was not getting worse, and she felt she could handle it.

Mrs. Bragg is treating the residents, mostly fisherfolk, by telephone and messenger. She has the help of a practical nurse, who gives antibiotic shots to the pneumonia cases and others who may need them.

Corn, Soybeans, Wheat Weaken

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat, corn and soybean prices were weak in early dealings on the board of trade today, but oats and rye were about steady.

The weakness in corn and soybeans was ascribed to more liberal offerings on the cash market by producers while wheat selling was mainly on continued reports of good crop prospects.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel lower, May $2.18; corn ⅝ to ⅞ lower, May $1.16⅝; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, May 64¾; rye ⅝ to ¼ lower, May $1.32; soybeans ⅛ to ⅝ lower, May $2.25⅝; lard 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.30.

Elvis to Become Private Presley Before Nightfall

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley reached draft board headquarters half an hour early today to begin a two-year hitch in the Army.

The teen-agers' rock 'n' roll idol, elegant in dark blue trousers and subdued gray check jacket, was filled with cheerful wisecracks. He mounted a quick but fruitless campaign for recruits among the crowd of newsmen.

Presley was accompanied by his parents. He carried a pigskin shaving kit case. His black hair, normally swept in a luxuriant ducktail cut with long sideburns, bristled up in a modified crew.

Fifteen police officers were detailed to the downtown building where the draft board is located. However, the crowd on hand was small. A steady drizzle was falling.

Presley and 11 other inductees answered rollcall.

Presley, a phenomenon in entertainment circles, will be in uniform tomorrow unless an unexpected hitch develops.

As a $78 a month private he will take quite a salary cut.

Elvis spent yesterday in bed after an all-night roller skating party with friends.

He visited the barber twice during the past week and had his hair cut a little shorter each time. The result was a semi-flattop. However, he left ample working room for the Army barber.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies William J. Nolin and James W. Stites arrested an Auburn Heights sailor wanted for desertion Sunday. He has admitted commiting 45 break-ins in the Oakland County area, they said.

Robert E. McLintock, 21, of 3134 Eastwood St. was arrested as he walked along Auburn road near Avondale High School. He was carrying two bags of loot taken from three establishments he admitted breaking into only hours before.

Detectives said he admitted to entering about five establishments Friday night, plus the three others Saturday night.

Authorities said McLintock admitted he was AWOL from his ship, the USS Leyte, at Quonset Bay, Rhode Island. He was expected to make a statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office today.

Coppers Still Pace Upswing

NEW YORK (AP) — Coppers resumed their leadership early today as the stock market moved generally higher in fairly active trading.

Coppers gained as much as 1 or 2 points. Key stocks in other groups rose fractions to around a point.

There was a scattering of small losers among steels and other industrials. Rails nudged to the upside.

Coppers were strong on the basis of reports that demand for the red metal remains active following the price boost by custom smelters last week.

Magma rose 2 at 49 on an opening block of 6,000 shares while Kennecott rose 1⅝ at 90½ on a block of 1,000 shares, later extending its rise to more than 2 points.

General Dynamics was off about a point on reports that only two missile-firing submarines instead of six will be requested by the Defense Department.

Fractional gains were made by Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Air Reduction and Lorillard.

$13,000,000 Dam Scheduled in Angola

ANGOLA, Portuguese Africa — Contracts have been signed between Angola, Portuguse Africa, and a construction company for a $13,000,000 dam and hydroelectric project on the Cuanza River at Cambambe (Dondo). Work is to start this year, with completion scheduled for 1962.

A study of the Cuanza, which has the largest flow of any river in Portuguese territory, indicated that the Cambambe project can produce an installed generating capacity of 2,300,000 kilowatts.

Plans call for a concrete structure with an average height of about 55 feet and width of over 225 yards. It will be for diversion purposes only, with a canal and tunnel to transmit water to the power plant.

Hear No Evil—Privately

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The police manual of this city says a policemtn should not charge a prisoner with disorderly conduct just because the prisoner swears at him. It's one of the experiences of being a policeman, the manual says. But if a law-abiding citizen hears the swearing, the manual continues, then it's disorderly conduct.

Whalers Facing Surplus Problem on World Market

OSLO, Norway — Some 100,000 tons of whale oil from the 1956-57 season's catch were reported to be unsold in world markets when the 1957-58 season opened.

This was an unusual situation and in the face of it the Russian and Japanese expansion in the whaling industry is causing concern in Norway, Oslo reports. Norway has tried to restrict the building of new whaling ships and establish stricter international control. The Japanese appeared willing to some extent to consider the Norwegian efforts, but the Soviet's answer came with information that a new 45,000-ton Russian floating whaling factory will be ready to start operating in 1959.

World quota for this season's catch is 14,500 blue whales, same number as last year.

Masked Bandits Steal Diamond

Enter Home of Owner of Big Six Club, Rob Wife of $1,500 Ring

Two armed and masked bandits held up Mrs. Charles Banks, 154½ Wesson St., last night, forced her to open a wall safe and made off with her husband's diamond ring valued at $1,500.

Mrs. Banks told police she and her daughter were in bed when she heard the sound of breaking glass at 11:15 p.m.

When she got up to investigate, she encountered a stocky man carrying a gun, who ordered her back into the bedroom.

At gun-point the bandit and his companion forced her to open the safe where they found the 3.31-carat diamond ring. They found no other valuable and left by the back door with the ring and a brown leather suitcase.

Her husband, who owns the Big Six Republican Club at the corner of Bagley and Wesson streets, was at the club a few doors away during the robbery.

Nudist Problem: What to Wear When Duke Calls

LONDON (INS)—Britain's hardy sunbathers are getting heated up over the question of what a nudist should wear when he meets a real live Duke.

PROBLEM BARED

The problem was bared at the annual conference of the British Sunbathing Association, called to discuss preparations for the Sixth World Naturist Congress to be held next August.

Association secretary Arthur Hodgson disclosed that the site for the congress would be on the vast Woburn Abbey estate of the Duke of Bedford, Britain's best-known "Stately Home" proprietor.

His Grace Bedford, who has the majority of other impoverished noble owners of ancestral halls gnashing their teeth at the way he packs the public into his magnificent abbey at 30 cents a time, is being urged to greet delegates to the congress.

A member said he hoped the duke would greet the delegates who will come from most parts of the world, including the U.S., and asked what would be the sartorial procedure for the ducal occasion.

Hodgson pointed out that the Duke would definitely be fully dressed if he received the delegates. Hodgson added:

"Obviously, we must be fully dressed, too, for a meeting which involves outsiders."

RUMBLES OF REVOLT

There were rumbles of revolt from several conference members who shuffled uneasily in their woollies and topcoats at this surrender of principle.

But the rebellious spirit was temporarily quelled when it was explained that for the actual congress the correct dress would be undress.

The delegate also splintered on the problem of handling snoopers. Chairman Morris Norton-Stephens said:

"It's no use putting up barbed wire and locked gates. Delegates will just have to accept the fact that snoopers will snoop."

Trusting Father Greets Thief on Way Out Door

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (INS) — When an unidentified thief entered the Little Rock home of Leonard Hood Jr., and took a suit of clothes and a small radio, he was met on his way out by Hoods father who said hello and nodded a friendly good day.

The elder Hood explained later he did not attempt to stop the burglar because he thought his son was home and knew the man was taking the articles.

Closed Door Policy Damages Business

ELYRIA, Ohio (INS) — Garage owner Fred Ives didn't mind the customer arguing about the bill for repairs on his car, but he felt the customer went a little too far in protesting.

Ives, in signing a complaint charging malicious destruction of property, reported that the customer jumped in his car, stepped on the gas and headed out. The property destruction came about because the overhead doors were closed.

SPOTLIGHT ON ROMANCE — Anne Jeffreys and husband Robert Sterling, who co-star in ABC-TV's new comedy series, "Love That Jill," have built their plots around hectic, hilarious romance rather than television's cherished three B's of domestic comedy — bliss, bickering and babies. A filmed show, "Love That Jill" is presented Mondays at 8 p. m.

Star in Comedy With New Look

Their Show Spotlights Romantic Pursuit, Not Domestic Bliss

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The mid-season TV pinch-hitters have come up to bat.

Singer Guy Mitchell struck out "live" Monday nights on ABC-TV. But at home plate, on film for the same sponsor in the same time, are two lively "ghosts" with the names of Robert Sterling and Anne Jeffreys.

Only this time Bob and Anne veterans of 78 "Topper" telefilms, are not the disappearing kids. "Love That Jill" is the title of the new show which replaced Mitchell's, with Bob and Anne playing very much alive model agency business rivals.

But their pinch-hitting, in a 26-week test to see if they can make the regular team, is second in importance to the thinking behind the show. It's a radical idea for TV's world of husband-and-wife plots.

Bob and Anne may be Mr. and Mrs. off camera, but their new show has nothing to do with television's cherished three B's of domestic comedy — bliss, bickering and babies — or helping solve the problems of teenagers.

A CHASE STORY

"It's the chase," producer-creater Alex Gottlieb told me. "And NOT a Western chase even though I may be laughing with spurs in my eyes. This is the adventurous pursuit of maid by man."

* * *

Along with "the chase," focal point of many a hit movie, "Love That Jill" attempts sophisticated instead of earthly and homespun comedy, another sponsor "must."

* * *

Like movie theaters, TV is getting desperate for something different, too, and Gottlieb says he's eager to dish up "something different" to prove a point on TV.

"After all," he says, "high-class people are funnier in slapstick comedy. Cary Grant putting a lampshade on his head is funnier than Lou Costello doing it."

For handsome Bob Sterling and attractive Anne Jeffreys, the new TV show has a number of reasons for them to chorus, "We like it." Says Bob, wincing about his "Topper" role:

"For a change we can enter a scene through a door instead of through a wall."

Says Anne, wincing about her "Topper" role: "We spent hours and hours on those trick shots. One scene took an hour and a half to light. I don't remember one relaxed day."

Rips Benson for Failure to Route Food to Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) today accused Secretary of Agriculture Benson of "administrative sabotage" in his handling of distribution of surplus food to the needy. Dingell made his charge in a speech prepared for delivery to the House.

"The donation program has shrunk to nothingness because Secretary Benson willed that it should shrink to nothingness," Dingell said.

* * *

The lawmaker's statement continued the attack of Michigan Democrats on Benson for what they term his failure to distribute sufficient food to the state's unemployed.

Shirley Temple Has Opinion on Chemise

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Shirley Temple asked what we thought of the chemise and when we just grunted, she said, "It looks good on you if you're having twins—and even better if you're having triplets" . . . Anita Ekberg and husband Tony Steele confounded the rumor-spreaders who want to separate them. Arriving here for TV, she brought Tony, and insisted on snuggling at home with him rather than going 'round-the-town . . . Ben Cohen of the U.N. pulled out of the big excursion to Havana. Too ticklish right now.

WILSON

Today's Wilson Girl nominee (proposed by Jack Eigen, Chicago broadcaster) is blonde Lisa Reinhart of N.Y., recent queen of the Chicago Hobby Show.

Lana Turner's boy friend, Signor Stoponato (of Italian descent and from Beverly Hills), has all the wolfesses gasping in Acapulco—because of how manly he looks in bathing trunks. But they stay away because the word's out: "He belongs to Lana" . . . Ventriloquist Ricky Layne, who mouths a Jewish accent for his dummy "Velvel," is switching the dummy to an Irish accent for the "Thin Man" series—and renaming him "Sean." 'Twas arranged, begorra, by Ricky's manager, Abby Greschler.

Frank Sinatra discovered a beautiful airline stewardess in Miami Beach . . . Sid Luft, Judy Garland's husband, seems to feel the marriage isn't over. He's been talking to Judy here . . . Ava Gardner denounces the stories of getting skin surgery in Miami completely and insists that her injury's clearing up and that she'll start work on the Goya picture in a month, in Spain.

LISA

Today's sick joke from Bernie Hart — wife to husband at breakfast: "You and your suicide attempts. Look at this gas bill!" . . . Quizmaster-Producer Jack Barry's off to Mexico to get a divorce in two weeks . . . Charlie Applewhite, out of the Army soon, has signed with Design Records which hopes to build him big.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Handsome Jacques Bergerac, Ginger Rogers' ex, will star in a western, "Marquis of Moccasin Path" . . . Blind singer Al Hibbler, afraid to fly, was hypnotized out of his fear and leaves for London Saturday. (Same guy did the trick for Don Newcombe.)

Singer Monique Van Vooren's income tax lists a $287 deduction for bras . . . Joan Blondell's daughter Ellen is attending a veterinary school . . .

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A lot of today's marriages must be illegal. After all, only Congress has the right to declare war. That's earl, brother.

Christ Depicted Wearing Jeans on London TV

LONDON (AP)—Jesus Christ was depicted in blue jeans and sweat shirt in a televised modern-dress version of his persecution and crucifixion last night.

Played by an anonymous actor, he was beaten up by two interrogators wearing derbies and trench coats and looking like movie detectives. The soldiers who carried out the crucifixion wore British army battle dress. Pontius Pilate whipped out a lighter and lighted a cigarette as he signed Christ's death warrant.

* * *

The play, entirely in mime, was written by Father Hugh Bishop, principal of the Anglican College of the Resurrection at Mirfield. He read an accompanying commentary.

Set Attendance Area for New Cooley School

The attendance area for Waterford Township school children attending the new Thomas M. Cooley Elementary School has been established by the Board of Education.

To be located on the north side of Watkins Lake, the $325,000 school will have 12 classrooms, and is scheduled to be ready for operation next fall.

The designated attendance areas include the Drayton Woods and Drayton Plains regions. Also, that portion of the Monteith School area with children living south of the Clinton River, and east of Crescent Lake road.

Pupils from the portion of Covert school area on the north and east sides of Watkins Lake, as far south to a boundary point where Scott Lake most closely approaches Watkins Lake, will also attend the new Cooley School.

2 Dead, Woman Hurt in Detroit Shooting

DETROIT (AP)—Two men are dead and a woman is in critical condition following a shooting which climaxed an argument in a private home Saturday night.

Dead are Charles Lievens, 44, and Raymond Durieux, 62. Lievens' wife Pearl, 42, is listed in critical condition with a head wound.

Police said Mrs. Lievens told them Durieux, a boarder at the Lievens home, shot her and her husband with a .22 rifle and then turned the weapon on himself. Durieux died en route to the hospital and Lievens the next day.

Mrs. Lievens told police the shooting capped an argument over deer hunting during a drinking bout.

Man Escapes Injury as Plane Crashlands

BISHOP, Va. (AP) — A 43-year-old Detroit man escaped serious injury yesterday when he crash-landed his four-place airplane in a meadow near here.

The pilot, who was traveling alone from Detroit to Florida, was identified as Ralph Chapman. He was hospitalized at Bluefield, W.Va., suffering cuts and bruises about the head.

Hospital attendants quoted chapman as saying the plane was low on gasoline and he had to make the emergency landing.

The plane, a Cessna 170, was not extensively damaged, an eyewitness said. The mishap occurred shortly before noon.

Shopping Area Fountain Collecting for Charity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It may not be the real thing, but it pays just as well — for charity.

The Great Western Shopping Center here has a replica of the Trevi Fountain in Rome into which world travelers toss coins to guarantee returning to Rome. Lately, folks have taken to tossing coins into the shopping center's replica fountain.

Caretakers say between $50 and $75 is recovered each month. The

Phantom Motorcycle Surprises Policeman

NEW BOSTON, Ohio (AP) — Only one headlight was working on the approaching car. So patrolman Jack Foit stopped it and said:

"From a distance, it appeared you might have been driving a motorcycle."

The driver returned: "From a distance, it appeared you were, too."

Foit checked his police cruiser. Only one headlight was working.

Pontiac Youth Stabs Mother's Boy Friend

A 12-year-old boy admitted to police Saturday that he stabbed his mother's boy friend.

Police said that Jefferson L. Moreau, 31, of 348 Franklin Rd., was stabbed twice in the back Saturday night by the boy while Moreau was engaged in a fight with Mary Williams, 28, of 376 Howard McNeill St., the mother, at her home.

Moreau reportedly struck Mrs. Williams and her mother, Mrs. Argie Harris, 53, with a crowbar. He told police he took it from Mrs. Williams in the course of the fight.

All three were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and Moreau was admitted in critical condition.

Police do not plan to press charges against the boy.

Ike Gets Bill to Freeze Farm Price Supports

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower receives today a bill to freeze price supports on major crops, and a warning by Senate Cemocratic Leader Lyndon Johnson that a veto would be a "crushing blow at agriculture."

The bill, which would freeze supports and acreage controls at 1957 levels for one year, is intended to head off the reduction in milk props ordered by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson to take effect April 1.

Songwriting Mostly Matter of Technique

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—The doorman outside my current bunking establishment is a white-haired philosopher of a fellow named Charlie. Charlie has been writing attractive verse for more than 50 years.

Somehow, though, he never made the big time—his poems were sweet in cynic's times; they rocked when they should've rolled. And this puts Charlie in a class with 90 per cent of us Americans who ingeniously can rhyme "easy" with "breezy," but never found success to be either.

He would be amazed, then, to meet young Stephen Sondheim.

Sondheim is 27, and has written the lyrics to one of the top hits of the year on Broadway, "West Side Story." He is now writing both words and music for another potential sellout called "The Jet-Propelled Couch." He is, at an age when most songwriters are eking out doughnut money, what those same writers would term "a lousy success."

"Well," said Steve, taking a swallow of something he looks too young to drink, "It didn't hurt, of course, that I lived three miles from Oscar Hammerstein."

(There you are, Charlie. Whom did you know?)

"But he never helped me get a job. Oscar doesn't believe in that, oddly enough. I will say, though, he taught me most of all I know—and I know that writing song lyrics is a demanding technique. It's more technique than talent, and there's no use writing any lyrics till you know all there is to know."

Sondheim explained that he went to Hammerstein when, at age 15, he had written his first musical show. "Oscar went over it and over it with a fine-tooth comb, and I found out that lyrics are not just good rhymes that you could print . . .

"Every lyric for a song in a show must have a beginning, a middle and an end. A good lyric is like the scene of a play; it builds. And it must be simple. You must never use two words where one will do. There are so few words in a good song lyric, that there can be no waste."

Blushing, he went on: "And it must be honest. I plead guilty to writing one essentially dishonest song in 'West Side Story'—Maybe you know it. It was 'I Feel Pretty.' It's the one where I rhymed pretty with witty, and charming with alarming. Well, it's dishonest because the girl character who sang it would never have used words like that.

Perhaps the most important principle, above dramatic building, simplicity and honesty, is that "the basic function of a lyric is to be heard. The audience must be able to pause where the singer breathes, and follow the thought when he moves on. An audience can't read back for a lost thought, as he does in poetry."

This is something you learn from long practice, from instinct, and from a genius like Oscar Hammerstein, (So, Charlie? With your practice, and your instinct, and Irving Berlin listed in the phone book—move.)
