Ford and UAW Shoot for Quick 3-Year Contract

Union Strike Ultimatum 'to Stimulate Company's Recognition of Urgency'

DETROIT (AP) — Both Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers Union today aimed at an early settlement on a new three-year labor contract despite a strike ultimatum from the union.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther served notice on the company Thursday that the union was setting a strike deadline for 10 a.m. next Tuesday "in the hope that this will stimulate the sense of urgency needed to consummate a national contract."

Reuther claimed that the company last Monday in offering to match the settlement the union made with General Motors Corp. had implied there was need of a strike deadline.

At that time, Ford Vice President Malcolm L. Denise suggested that two weeks would be required to solve differences between the company and the union.

REFUSES QUARREL

After receiving the strike notice Denise refused to quarrel about which side was to blame for failure to agree on a contract patterned after the settlement last week at General Motors Corp.

Denise said: "I see no constructive purpose to be served at this time by quarreling publicly with Mr. Reuther over the implications of my statements concerning collective bargaining, or over which party has displayed the greater sense of urgency during the past few days."

Both Reuther and Denise were in a smiling mood in making their statements to newsmen. They agreed on continuing negotiations under a news blackout—not to disclose the areas of difference at their bargaining table in a downtown Detroit hotel.

Reuther disclosed the union was striving to expedite agreement on working conditions at the local level to avoid a situation that resulted in strikes that paralyzed General Motors' car production for two weeks.

Says Reds to Blame for Fallout Increase

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Britain today told the Soviet Union that it was responsible for "a continuing contamination of the earth's atmosphere resulting from resumption of nuclear tests."

Mr. Roger Makins, chairman of the British Atomic Energy Commission, said the Soviet Union "has assumed a heavy responsibility for the hazards caused by the sudden increase in radioactivity of the air."

He spoke at the annual conference of the International Atomic Energy Agency here.

Syrian Revolt Tolling Death Knell of U.A.R.

BEIRUT, Lebanon—The United Arab Republic appeared to have broken up today in the face of a lightning revolt.

Rebels in Damascus declared Syria independent of Egypt and set up a provisional government. U.A.R. President Abdel Nasser said he had canceled plans to use large scale military force against the insurgents who rose up against his regime Thursday.

Nasser announced that he had recalled troops, planes and warships sent to crush the revolt, and indicated he would leave to the Syrians the task of working out their future.

"The regime of tyranny has gone forever," said Damascus broadsheets proclaiming independence from Cairo, accusing Nasser of turning Syria into a prison and disputing his claim to Arab leadership.

In Amman, Jordan, the government of King Hussein, long a foe of Nasser, quickly recognized the new revolutionary government and wished it success.

Jordan's action was announced immediately after a Cabinet meeting presided over by King Hussein.

New Syrian Leader Veteran Politician, Pg. 37

The Damascus radio announced formation of an 11-man civilian regime that would rule an independent Syria by decree until "free elections" could produce a "legislative assembly."

It said the transitional government would be headed by Dr. Mahmoud Al-Khatib, a lawyer and veteran Syrian politician.

Speaking to a crowd of 100,000 in Cairo, Nasser said the entire Egyptian navy, air force and two army regiments were sent to Syria but were recalled to avoid bloodshed when the rebels took over Latakia, Syria's chief port.

Nasser told the throngs he had revoked the military action plans because he wanted to avoid seeing "Arab fighting Arab" and to avoid pitting one sector of the U. A. R. armed forces against another.

Nasser said he gave the order just before midnight, when the Northern Syrian city of Aleppo and the military commanders at Latakia switched their loyalties to the Damascus insurgents.

A party of 120 parachutists dropped before getting the orders to return, were told to surrender, Nasser said. The Syrians already and reported the parachutists wiped out. One broadcast said 200 parachutists were wiped out and another said 120 commandos were captured, but both apparently referred to the same action.

Nasser angrily denounced the rebels as imperialist reactionaries and traitors and said he was sure the Syrian people would eventually "perceive their free principles in the face of capitalist dictatorship."

Fatal Shooting Occurs at Party on Marshall St.

John Haase, 19; Says He Was 'Trying to Scare' Victim

By DICK SAUNDERS

A 19-year-old Pontiac youth admitted early this morning that he shot and killed a young Pontiac Beauty College student while "playing around" with a 12-gauge shotgun, according to Chief Asst. Prosecutor Robert D. Long.

Long and Pontiac Police said that John Haase, 19, of 181 S. Marshall St., told them in a statement taken today that he "was just trying to scare" Janet M. Olsen, 18, of 115 Euclid St., "when the gun went off."

The shooting took place at a party at Haase's home shortly after midnight. Haase was held at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of murder.

Another couple, identified by police as Mary Mangione, 18, of 213 Clifford St., and Roque Castro, 18, of 867 Colorado Ave., and two younger brothers of Haase's were in the house when the shooting occurred, police said.

DIED INSTANTLY

The slight, sandy-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Olsen was killed instantly by a single shot from a 12-gauge shotgun.

She was struck in the head by the shot while standing in a doorway between a hallway and bedroom in the Haase home.

Haase and his three brothers lived with their mother, Mrs. Irv Haase. She was at work at Pontiac General Hospital where she is a nurse.

"The gun belonged to my brother Michael, 27, it is in the bedroom," Long quoted Haase as saying.

"I was just playing around trying to scare her. I fired a shot in the gun and planned to cock it and throw out the shell to scare her," Haase said in his statement according to Long.

Haase said the shooting was an accident and he didn't remember pulling the trigger "but I must have because the gun went off."

He said he had known the victim for about a year and had been dating her for the last month.

The well built, blond youth was hysterical when patrolmen Roger Allen and Gerald Pointer noticed him standing on a street corner.

City's Fire Fighters Plan Flash March in Blaze of Glory

A glittering and clanging column of 64 fire-fighting units and six high school bands will make up tomorrow's Fire Prevention Parade in Pontiac.

The parade starting at 1 p.m. and the Fireman's Field-Day at 3 p.m. are sponsored by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce to stress the importance of fire prevention in every way possible.

The festivities will kick off a week of educational efforts by the participating fire-fighting organizations throughout Oakland County preparatory to Fire Prevention Week Oct. 8-11.

The parade is being held ahead of the national observance in order to improve chances for a sunny weather. However, the parade will be held this year rain or shine, as a result of interest shown by 3,300 spectators who stood in the rain last year when the parade was canceled at the last minute.

The line of march starts at 1 p.m. at Oakland and Nagawau streets, goes south on Nagawau and ends in the vicinity of Auburn.

Participating units will assemble on Oakland between Lafayette and Clark streets, approaching the assembly area from the Clark Street direction. Assembly time has been set from noon 'til 12:45.

Girl Killed by Youth at Party in Pontiac

"I shot a girl two houses up," he screamed. The patrolmen rushed to the Haase house. There they found the body of Miss Olsen with a cigarette still burning in her right hand, they said.

Haase's younger brothers, Aaron, 15, and William, 12, were asleep in another part of the house. Michael was outside when the incident took place, he told police.

"The gun was lying on the floor of a bedroom with the muzzle pointing toward the victim," said Alvin. "The clip was lying next to it and the bolt was in a closed position."

The Masengale girl was still there but Castro became frightened and ran from the house. Police picked him up for questioning at his home about two hours later.

They quoted Castro as saying he and Miss Masengale were sitting on a couch in the living room and didn't see the shooting take place.

"I heard John tell Janet he would shoot her and she replied 'go ahead.' This happened before," Castro told police.

Miss Masengale supported Castro's statement, police said.

Castro said he turned to her and said, "Somebody is going to shoot somebody," and then the gun went off.

"I heard the shot. Then John started crying for his mother. I was scared and ran," police quoted Castro as saying.

RELEASE PAIR

He and Miss Masengale were released after questioning.

The victim was identified by an uncle, Albert Olsen of 914 Olsen St. and removed to the Donelson Johns Funeral Home.

Miss Olsen, the youngest of three children and Haase, both dropped out of Pontiac Central High School last spring.

Haase was readmitted in September on a probationary basis. Police said he had an extensive criminal record and was currently serving probation for an unarmed robbery conviction last Dec. 7.

They said Haase was one of three men convicted of the strong armed robbery of a man at Saginaw and Huron streets.

Long said he hoped to have a hearing issued today charging Haase with first-degree murder.

In any case, police said they expected to have the girl's body in Pontiac Municipal Court later today. They were awaiting the outcome of an autopsy on the dead girl at Pontiac General Hospital.

Report 'Possible' Conference on Berlin

Gromyko May Talk With Kennedy

From Our News Wires
NEW YORK—U.S. officials said today there is "a possibility" Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko may visit Washington next week to confer with President Kennedy on the Berlin crisis.

No definite decision or arrangements have been made, these sources said, adding that much would depend on the results of Secretary of State Dean Rusk's Saturday conference with Gromyko here.

It will be their third Berlin discussion in 10 days.

Western foreign ministers were reported to be making slow progress in obtaining information from Gromyko on Soviet plans for negotiating on the Berlin crisis.

Rusk and Foreign Secretary Lord Home of Britain have spent a total of more than 10 hours meeting with the top Soviet diplomat in the past eight days, and their main questions about Soviet intentions are said to be still unanswered.

Western diplomats reported the talks have yielded some slight indication that the Soviet Union may be seriously interested in arranging a Big Four foreign ministers conference later on, but it obviously is in no haste to do so.

Some Western officials think Premier Khrushchev probably prefers to stall off a conference until after a Soviet Communist party meeting in Moscow late next month.

MAY SIGN TREATY

There is speculation he may sign the treaty with Communist East Germany or announce definite plans for signing it at that time. Thus he may not want to get into negotiations until he has acted.

U. S. officials in Washington are concerned by reports of increasing West German criticism of American policy on Berlin.

They believe that much of this criticism is not justified, and any nervousness and irritation displayed by German officials will only make it more difficult to arrive at a Berlin solution.

American officials said the United States does not intend to retreat from its pledges. Privately, these officials appeared annoyed by statements implying German suspicion that such a retreat might be in the offing.

"In drafting its foreign policy the United States is working closer with the Allies than ever before," one Washington official said.

Rusk devoted most of today to talks with various visiting dignitaries at the U.N. General Assembly.

He was meeting in individual conferences with the foreign ministers of Nationalist China, the Congo, Somalia, Nepal, Ethiopia and Mali.

SEPARATE TALKS

He also planned separate conferences with the Greek and Cypriot ambassadors to the United Nations.

Rusk is scheduled to return to Washington Sunday. He will meet with Lord Home Saturday afternoon to consider the rest of his Saturday morning session with Gromyko.

Home and Gromyko spent an hour and 20 minutes together last Thursday. It was their second meeting. Rusk previously had held two long conferences with Gromyko and is scheduled to meet him again Saturday morning.

AF Brass Told to Shape Up for Big Battle of the Bulge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Curtis E. LeMay has taken steps to require the 91 Air Force generals flying desks at the Pentagon to play squash, lift weights or exercise regularly in some other way.

The Air Force chief of staff, a pretty rugged type himself, has expressed "very, very great concern" that generals doing staff work keep in top shape, sources said.

To this end, the Air Force Surgeon General, Maj. Gen. Oliver K. Nease, has drafted a program which is expected to gain final approval by LeMay.

Each general would be required to undergo a physical examination by an Air Force doctor, who then would recommend whatever measures might be needed to keep down waistlines and stay in trim generally.

HALF DAY OF PLAY

Under the plan, general officers would have a couple of options. They could leave their offices for at least a half day a week for recreation or exercise "of which physical activity is an essential element." This could include golf.

If they preferred, the generals could take more strenuous exercise for shorter periods of time.

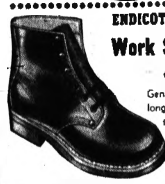

at an officers' gymnasium in the Pentagon. Available there are handballs, swimming, weightlifting, squash and the like.

Air Force doctors would keep tabs to determine whether the generals attain and maintain the proper physical condition. The Air Force, along with other services, has taken a new look at its fitness program under the Defense Department orders to increase physical activities in this field.

Takes Look at Frigate

Ship Stops for JFK

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI) — A blonde going on 4 years old, stared up from the deck of her daddy's yacht at the biggest, greyest ship she had ever seen.

Her mother, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, called Caroline's notice to about 22 visiting dignitaries standing at rigid attention along the rail of the vessel, a 5,000-ton Navy frigate.

Caroline playfully responded by plopping into the lifeboat beside which she and her mother were standing on the top deck of President Kennedy's 92-foot yacht, the Honey Fitz.

Kennedy, cruising for 2 1/2 hours with his wife and daughter, had sent word from his yacht Thursday afternoon for the 500-foot frigate, the destroyer leader Willis A. Lee, to cut engines so that he could get a good look at it.

The President, an old Navy man, had seen the vessel steaming in to port at the Newport, R. I., naval base while his yacht was at anchor across Narragansett Bay, off Jamestown, R. I.

Kennedy, who was on the fan tail of his yacht with artist friend William Walton, stood up and waved, returned the frigate's salute, and peered with binoculars.

The Willis A. Lee, whose length and tonnage placed it close to twice the size of ordinary destroyers, was inbound from target practice at sea.

It's Like Old Home Week to Sylvan Lake Manager

LEROY TRAFTON

Leroy Trafton, new city manager of Sylvan Lake, today was settling in his new home at 1565 Maplewood, Sylvan Lake, after putting in his first week of work in the city office he had left in 1950.

He was city manager there from 1948 to 1950 and was re-appointed to the same position early this month. Superintendent of Public Works Earle D. Knapp had filled the city manager's job since the resignation of the last full-time manager, Marshall H. Woodburn, March 8.

Knapp recently asked to be relieved to devote full time to his duties as chief of public works.

Trafton arrived here Monday night and started his job by spending a full day in his office Tuesday. He spent the rest of the week studying Sylvan Lake's progress and new problems and getting acquainted with officials.

Until last month, he held for five years the city manager's position in LaCrosse, Kan., a wheat belt municipality with a population of 1,700. Sylvan Lake's is 2,000-plus.

TOOK SIMILAR POST

The veteran public administrator and former newspaperman had left Sylvan Lake in 1950 to take a similar post in suburban Columbia Heights and subsequently Richfield, both near Minneapolis.

Under his administration, the city of Richfield was picked in 1955 as one of 11 U. S. cities to receive the annual All-American Award sponsored by the National Municipal League and Look Magazine.

The award is based on citizen participation in improving schools, city economics, municipal government and other areas of public concern.

Mishap Kills Boy After Safety Move

NEW YORK (AP)—Two months ago, fearing for the safety of their little boy, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Guarino moved from congested Brooklyn to a residential area of Staten Island.

Thursday, Mrs. Guarino heard a woman scream and saw a crowd assembling at a nearby site of an excavation for a new home.

When she arrived at the scene she saw the broken body of her son, Michael Jr., 7, under a bulldozer.

Police said the boy slipped from an embankment into the path of the moving machine.

Safety Expert Says Back-Seat Driver Helpful

FLINT @ — The much-maligned back-seat driver got a pat on the back Thursday from a Michigan safety expert.

According to Gordon H. Sheeha, past director of the Michigan Highway Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University, the back seat driver does much to prevent traffic accidents.

The back seat driver, says Sheeha, should be considered a help rather than a hindrance because his comments can "keep the driver mindful of his responsibility at the wheel."

Pointing out that traffic safety requires more than just official action "to prevent mass highway slaughter," Sheeha says it is the responsibility of the driving public to prevent accidents.

The official flower of the state of Washington is the rhododendron.

U.S., Soviet Talk
About Building
Big A-Smasher

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today that the United States and the Soviet Union are discussing plans to join forces in building the world's largest nuclear accelerator — to produce the fantastic power of 500 to 1,000 billion electrons.

Glenn T. Seaborg, chief U.S. delegate to the conference of the International Atomic Energy Agency here, said the Russians in private talks with American scientists have indicated their interest in cooperating. Nuclear accelerators are atom-smashers needed to determine hitherto unknown structural parts of the atom's core.

Youth, 15, Kills Brother

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (UPI) — Charles Gale, 15, told Jackson County authorities Thursday he shot and killed his brother, Dan, 20, because the elder Gale struck him with his fist, ran over him with a motorcycle and came back for a second try with the vehicle.

Considers Resigning
From State Post

LANSING (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford said today he is considering quitting his post to accept a job with the federal government or in private business.

Blackford said his decision may come within the next two weeks. "I can't disclose at this time what employment possibilities are under consideration, but I want to be in a city where I would be able to continue my night law school studies."

Stands Trial Today

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Producer Hal Roach Jr., 45, goes before a jury in municipal court today on a drunken driving charge.

Of all the boy babies born in the U.S. today, about 94 out of 100 will live to be 65 years old, according to the mortality tables based on life expectancy.

Elizabeth Taylor
Mobbed by Fans
at Rome Theater

ROME (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, wearing a silver evening gown with a neckline that plunged to the waist, was mobbed Thursday night by cheering Italian film fans as she left Rome's Sistine Theater.

Miss Taylor's husband, singer Mike Fisher, charged to the rescue. He shoved her into an automobile and locked her inside.

The actress and her husband had just left the theater where they had been in the Italian movie "Silver Mask" award in a ceremony that turned into a near-riot.

The uproar started when about 40 uniformed and plainclothes policemen started photographers from getting close to the stage to take pictures of Miss Taylor. There were shouts of "Miss Taylor!" and "where are the organizers?"

Birth Control
Given Approval

Called Permissible and Sometimes Essential by Episcopal Church

DETROIT (AP) — Birth control when used "in Christian conscience" today had the support of the Episcopal Church—not only as morally permissible but essential in some cases to prevent tragedy.

In many lands, the population is increasing so fast that the survival of young and old is threatened and population control has become a necessity, the Church declared.

It was the denomination's first official endorsement of contraception. The Roman Catholic Church opposes it. Most major Protestant bodies have approved it.

Among Episcopalians, who consider themselves both Protestant and Catholic, the practice has become generally acceptable in recent times.

OTHER ACTIONS

Nearing its close today, the Church's 13-day governing convention also:

1. Declared that inequities in state workers' compensation laws have become a grave moral problem across the country, and urged local church forces to work for more just minimum standards.

2. Declared that racial prejudice "is inconsistent with the gospel of Jesus Christ," and recommended specific steps for eradicating the segregation of life and discrimination and discrimination.

3. Asserted that America's fast-changing urban industrial scene is eroding any form of community for millions of families. New church efforts were underwritten to find means of influencing a technological culture.

4. Expressed confidence in the possibility of achieving lasting peace among nations "because Jesus Christ pointed the way to such a peace."

5. Turned down a resolution commending Civil Defense work as a moral obligation of the clergy, although the bishops had urged such action.

Board Hears
Guidance Value

Counseling for Students
Stressed at Meeting;
Fund to Aid Time Study

The value of guidance counseling was discussed last night by the Pontiac Board of Education.

Three counselors, an administrative assistant, an assistant superintendent and the elementary education coordinator described guidance activities from kindergarten through grade 12.

At an earlier meeting Sept. 14 board member Victor P. Sutt had cast the only vote against asking $5,500 to fund a time study of counseling activities in Pontiac schools. The money was to come out of federal National Defense Education Act funds.

Assistant Superintendent Philip J. Proud said the NDEA money has in the meanwhile been approved with slight cuts, giving the board $5,420.

Last night, after the three counselors hammered home the importance of guidance services, Donald McMillen, administrative assistant at Pontiac Central High School, stressed the significance of guidance work with students who leave school before graduation.

"A great human tragedy is being recorded in the area of school 'drop-outs' resulting in a great waste of human talent. The drop-outs are almost immediately unemployable. They have no skills and there is usually an age limitation because of child labor laws. Having nothing constructive to do this group is more likely to get into trouble."

This is only one area, McMillen said, in which the NDEA time study might help counselors allocate their time and do a better job.

TO CORRECT

"The study when finished will help the counselors take a look at the difference between what they think they are doing, and what they are actually doing," he said. "We may find counselors are not working in the area designated guidance activities and this can be corrected."

He said the study would have implications on a national scale for other counselors "because this is the first time something of this magnitude has been attempted."

Sutt later said he had not changed his mind and that some better use for the money might easily be found.

Earlier Sutt said he couldn't see the purpose of the study.

"It's tax money," Sutt said, "and we're the taxpayers who pay. It seems like a lot of dough to spend for this thing."

He said yesterday it didn't matter that money was coming from federal funds because eventually the cost would filter down to every taxpayer in the country.

Pipeline to Increase
Michigan Facilities

DETROIT (UPI) — Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. today announced plans for immediate construction of $15 million in new facilities to increase natural gas deliveries to 29 utilities in five Midwest states.

Panhandle and its subsidiary, Trunkline Gas Co., will be able to provide an additional 125 million cubic feet of gas daily with the new facilities, which will complete Trunkline's second largest distribution main transmission line from Longville, La., to Tuscola, Ill.

Utilities in Michigan which will share in increased capacity include: Michigan — Battle Creek Gas Co., Citizens Gas Fuel Co. of Adrian, Southwestern Michigan Gas Co. of Port Huron, Michigan Gas Utilities Co. of Monroe, and Consumers Power Co. of Jackson.

Teamster Strike Cuts Deliveries

County Road Building Halted

A million dollars worth of county road construction came to a halt today as striking Teamsters cut off all deliveries of building supplies. In the area, according to Oakland County Road Commissioner Hiland M. Thatcher.

Also stymied, if the strike against the Michigan Road Builders Association isn't settled within the next two weeks, will be work on the northern half of I-75 freeway in the county.

Heavy equipment operators continued grading from Mt. to the north county line this morning, but state officials said they expect the operators now will strike in sympathy with the 3,500 Teamsters Union truck drivers.

If so, this will prevent completion of the $7-million stretch of superhighway until next year, officials said. They do not expect weather will permit laying of concrete after October.

State projects already shut down by the three-day-old strike include resurfacing of Woodward Avenue in South Oakland County, and 5½ miles of the Farmington-Brighton expressway in Novi.

10,000 AFFECTED

Altogether more than 300 miles of work on state highways has been either slowed or stopped and some 10,000 road workers affected by the Teamster strike.

State and federal mediators said that they were trying to arrange a meeting between the Michigan Conference of Teamsters and the road builders' group. They said a meeting tentatively was scheduled for Oct. 3 but that they were trying to get the two sides together before then.

Talks to replace a contract which expired Sept. 1 had been under way for two months but broke down Monday when the union rejected a "final offer" by the contractors. The two sides were reported to be in disagreement over pensions, vacations, holidays and fringe benefits.

Howard E. Hill, managing director of the State Highway Department, said the situation has not jelled as yet and full effects in South Oakland County, and 5½ week. It all depends on whether the strike continues.

All road projects of the Oakland County Road Commission were halted today as stocks of concrete, asphalt and other construction materials were depleted.

No additional supplies are likely to be available to the county until the strike is settled, said Thatcher.

Calls Bases a Threat

TOKYO (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev in a letter published today charged that U.S. military bases in Japan and Okinawa "threaten the safety of Soviet Russia and its Asian allies."

Center Begins New Activities

Gym, Crafts Programs Get Under Way, Others Set in Waterford

Three leisure-time activities got under way this week at the Waterford Township Community Center. Two more are set to begin tomorrow and next week.

Three different areas will have gym and crafts programs in operation Saturday morning. These include the Cray Junior High School at 9 a.m., and the Dowdman School and the Community Center at 10 a.m.

This activity is open to boys and girls from 7 through 13 years of age.

A six-week instructional course in beginning archery will start Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Many new members are needed for the Waterford Township Civic Chorus, according to the new director, Arden Sears. The group had its first meeting Monday and will continue to meet at 7:30 p.m. Mondays at the Waterford Township High School.

Beginning square dancing is also in progress at the Community Center under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Allen. This program is held every Monday night at 7:30. There is a minimum charge for the course.

A new activity, fencing, sponsored by the Community Activities, Inc., at the Center will begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 10. The course is for junior and senior high school students and adults, according to CAI director Robert Bauer. Advance registrations are necessary.

MSUO Registers 1,069 in Three Classes This Fall

Total registration at Michigan State University Oakland is reported at 1,069 students this fall.

A junior class has been enrolled for the first time.

This year also marks the beginning of a three-semester system of 16 weeks each, superseding the previous quarter system. However, so far there is no money provided by the legislature for the third semester, according to Loren Pope, assistant to the chancellor.

Now attending classes are 67 new students (including freshmen and transfer students), 317 sophomores and 235 juniors.

Registration last year totaled 908, consisting of 511 freshmen and transfer students, and 397 sophomores. A total of 370 freshmen had registered in MSUO's first year, 1959.

According to Pope, about 900 applications were received for entrance this fall. Of these 497 were approved.

City Patrolman Wins Certificate for Initiative

A Pontiac patrolman's dogged detective work, solving over a dozen connected crimes, was praised yesterday in a certificate of meritorious service issued by the City of Pontiac Police Department.

Patrolman Harold E. Kunkle received the citation "for service characterized by the exercise of initiative in the performance of duty."

Kunkle's work cleared up two auto thefts, two break-ins, eight larcenies from cars and three cases of malicious destruction.

School Board, Union Men at Odds Over Promotion

A labor union and the Pontiac school board clashed last night over interpretation of promotion policy during the second September meeting of the Pontiac Board of Education.

The majority of the board turned down a request by member Victor P. Solt for an immediate decision and voted to table the issue until all members would be present at a future meeting.

The issue was brought before the board after a decision by Supt. Dana P. Whitmer to ask a boiler engineer and a boiler fireman to take civil service tests to help officials decide on a promotion.

The engineer, Lewis Horner, 46, of Waterford School, protested the testing plan. The fireman is Robert Robinson, 27, of Northern High School.

At stake is promotion to the position of assistant engineer. Class "A," at Northern High School, Local 719 of Public Employees Council 77, representing Horner, accused the superintendent's office of violating the terms of the current operational and maintenance employment policy in the school district.

Union representatives argued that requirement of a civil service test for promotion constituted a change in previously agreed-upon policy. Admitting that any change in policy was within the power of the board, the union said no exception should be made of existing rules.

Describing Horner as a man with 15 years of experience in the Pontiac system, Union Attorney John Mazur told the board seniority should prevail.

Whitmer agreed that Horner met basic qualifications and had high recommendations.

However, he said Robinson also met basic qualifications and had equally good recommendations.

WANT INFORMATION Assistant Supt. Otto C. Hutziger said officials wanted a civil service test "because we want as much testing as possible for information which will help us make intelligent decisions."

Council 77 Director Alvin Ruthenberg countered:

"The issue is not the examination, but that the exams, if given, should be given to men in the same job classification. These men are in entirely different classifications: one is working as a fireman and the other is working as an engineer."

The union representatives said many tests do not judge ability based on experience but merely proficiency with words.

Bingo, Impeachment, State Court Con-Con Fodder

(Editor's Note: The convention to revise Michigan's constitution is the first in a series of events that will lead to a new constitution for the state.)

By DON MYERS
LANSING (UPI)—Michigan citizens can legally bet on a horse race by going to the track, but it's against constitutional law to play bingo even in church.

The much-discussed prohibition on lotteries will be a target for attack on the constitutional convention which starts Tuesday.

Those in favor of lifting the ban say charitable bingo provides harmless recreation and raises money for good causes.

Opposition to legalized bingo, even if it were subject to laws passed by the legislature, takes the position that "bingo addicts" might neglect their families if certain types of lotteries were legalized.

A host of other issues capable of producing high feeling among delegates are also on tap for Michigan's first con-con since 1908.

Means of getting rid of officials who misbehave—under the government township constables and school district officers—are covered in a section of the existing constitution dealing with impeachments and removals from office.

Proposals to make it harder, or easier, to terminate the service of elected public officials might come up at con-con.

Other provisions of the constitution which guarantee the right of citizens to take a hand in government through the initiative process, or bring about a vote of the people by referendum, might also be challenged by some groups at the convention.

EMINENT DOMAIN

The right of eminent domain, the legal process whereby certain agencies of state government can force property owners to sell their land for public use, is a particularly touchy issue in view of increasing government road-building and similar activity.

A catch-all article in the present constitution provides, among other things, for salaries of public officials.

At present, no public officials except circuit judges can get a pay raise during their term of office. The State Supreme Court, where salary inequities have often existed in the past, has a special interest in this provision in view of the fact that two justices on the bench now are in federal court attempting to force equal pay for all.

Issues ranging from oaths of office to liquor control provisions and from election recounts to continuity of government in an emergency are also covered in the present constitution.

The final article of the 1908 constitution is of special importance to delegates at the 1961 con-con.

It provides for revision and amendment of the constitution, and will, after this year's delegates get through with it, including among other things the date of the election at which Michigan's new or revised constitution will go to the people for approval.

(Note: Con-con delegates must be experts in a vast range of government, but plain citizens also have a duty to make their wishes known in specific areas.)

To Attend Celebrations

TOKYO (U-P) King Mahendra of Nepal and his queen arrived in Canton Thursday for a state visit to Red China. They will attend Communist China's 12th National

Knight Charges Nixon Tried to Buy Him Off

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight says a wealthy Republican friend of Richard M. Nixon's offered Knight "any job in the state of California"—if he withdrew from the 1962 gubernatorial race.

Knight said Thursday the unidentified emissary told him he could become California's "chief justice or anything else you want, if you won't run against Dick."

Nixon denied a virtually identical charge—by State Democratic Chairman William A. Munnell—at his Wednesday night news conference, when Nixon announced his candidacy for governor.

The former vice president was unavailable Thursday night for comment on Knight's accusation, but Robert Finch, campaign manager in Nixon's unsuccessful 1960 bid for the presidency, said of the report:

"That's totally preposterous. There's never been any discussion of any such thing."

'TAS WITNESSES'
Then Knight reaffirmed his accusation, claiming he had two witnesses to the alleged conversation with the go-between. He added: "At the proper time, if this story is denied again, I'll make their names public."

Knight said the alleged emissary is "a high ranking Republican financial leader of Los Angeles—not a party official—and one of Nixon's closest friends. He's been a supporter of mine in the past."

Knight gave no indication if—or when—he would disclose the man's identity.

He told this story: "On Aug. 1, a man called me to set up a meeting with Nixon. "On Aug. 7 I did meet with him, and the man who had arranged the meeting and said, 'I will communicate with you always in this way.' Nixon said, in substance, 'We don't want any publicity that we are meeting.'"

"On Sept. 7 this same man called me from Los Angeles while I was at the El Dorado Hotel in Sacramento. He had been calling all over the state to find me."

Dog Saves Life of Driver Hurt in Car Smash

SARNIA, Ont., U-P—A young collie named Rex Thursday came to the aid of an injured motorist whose cries for help as he lay by his wrecked automobile went unheeded by passing traffic.

Thomas Ward, 30, Sarnia, lost control of his car and slammed into two trees before the car halted with the driver injured and bleeding.

Ward, slumped in the front seat, heard other cars passing. He called for help in vain for 5 or 10 minutes. Then Rex turned up, peered into an open door of the car and began licking the hand of the injured driver.

Ward, barely able to walk, grasped the dog's collar in the hope that Rex would find human help.

Rex half dragged him 350 yards across the highway to the home of his owner, Lawrence Johnston. Ward knocked on the door and aroused the sleeping residents who sent for police and a doctor.

Ward, now on the mend, told police that without the help of Rex he might have bled to death.

"He said, 'Dick's going to run.' I had two witnesses in the room and I had them bend an ear to the phone so they could hear the conversation."

ANYTHING YOU WANT?

"I said, 'All right.' The man said, 'He has asked if you will meet with him and Bob Finch.'"

"He said, 'Dick is willing to offer you chief justice of the state supreme court or anything else you want if you won't run against Dick.' I said I was going to run."

Knight said he has kept telephone records and can prove such a call was made to him.

Meanwhile Democrats happily picked up the accusation, hoping California's Republicans — although the June 5 primary is still nine months off—soon would be falling away the way Democrats have done in the past.

Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, expected to seek re-election, declared: "If Knight's charges are true—and he insists they are—it is the most shocking political scandal in the history of the state."

"If Richard Nixon did offer to sell the highest judicial office in California for a political favor, the public exposure of his act would require that he withdraw from the race for governor."

Hammarskjöld Is Laid to Rest

Statesmen, Dignitaries of Many Nations Join in Final Farewell

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI)—Dag Hammarskjöld, who spent a lifetime in search of world peace, went to his final resting place today in this town where he was born.

Statesmen and dignitaries from the many nations he served as secretary general of the United Nations joined with his own townsfolk to give him a farewell unprecedented in Sweden this century.

By decree of King Gustaf Adolf VI, the man who began his career here as a civil servant was honored with the first state funeral accorded a commoner since 1894.

Police said 100,000 persons crowded into this small university city for the funeral.

The royal funeral coach, drawn by four horses, carried the oaken casket covered with the blue-and-yellow flag of Sweden and with flowers and wreaths to the Hammarskjöld family plot. Following services attended by more than 2,000 persons in Uppsala Cathedral.

In the crowd which filled the medieval church to pay homage to the fighter for peace were King Gustaf, Vice President Lyndon Johnson, Madame Poudet, sister of Premier Jawaharlal Nehru and Mongi Slim, president of the U.N. General Assembly.

State Rural Safety Unit Gets Fifth Merit Award

The Michigan Rural Safety Council has received its fifth consecutive annual merit award from the National Safety Council, according to Richard Pfister, Michigan State University agricultural safety engineer and secretary-treasurer of MRSC.

The certificate of commendation was presented during the rural safety council's fall meeting at MSU.

"The organization's main goal is to develop safer living and working conditions for rural people," says Pfister. "Its 35 members represent farm organizations, youth groups, educational agencies, industry and insurance companies."

In 1957, the council's four working committees have stressed these efforts:

The home safety committee prepared a packet of resource materials on various phases of home safety. High school girls in 300 Future Homemakers of America chapters, extension groups and industry home demonstration representatives will use the packet.

SAFETY PROGRAMS

The farm work safety committee has cooperated with high school students in 114 Future Farmers of America chapters on safe corn harvest and safe farm power programs. Students have made a real effort to boost safety alertness and knowledge in their communities.

Farm work projects also included a trial-jury program pitting farm safety, the defendant, against accident hazards. This program was staged during the MSU Farmers' Week in early February.

The fire prevention committee mailed educational packets to one-room schools throughout the state. Children used score sheets from the packets to inspect farms and homes for fire hazards.

The traffic safety committee is helping carry out a survey of rural opinion and attitudes on important traffic safety matters. The Michigan Citizens' Traffic Safety Action Committee is conducting the survey, which could lead to revised traffic laws.

MSU staff members on the rural safety council include Leslie Silvers, professor of continuing education; Arthur Borroughs, farm station; and Russell G. Mawby, director of Michigan 4-H Club programs.

Others are W. Lowell Treaster, head of the information services department; Eunice Pardee, extension home management specialist; and Secretary Pfister from the agricultural engineering department.

The PTA fair will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. tomorrow at the school, 9020 Sashabaw Road.

Other features of the program include a wishing well booth, cake walk, roller derby and pony and goat rides.

Cochairmen of the event are Mrs. Ollis Halpin and Mrs. Harold Breck.

Auto Collision Injures Two on Pontiac Trail

Two persons were injured, one seriously, in a two-car collision last night on Pontiac Trail near Halsted Road in West Bloomfield Township.

Edwin R. Boud, 38, of Garden City, is in Pontiac General Hospital under extensive care with possible internal injuries and his passenger, Miss Joyce Conner, 30, of Detroit, was treated for multiple cuts and bruises and released.

Driver of the other car, Jack D. Mastin, 36, of 1822 Bolton Road, Walling Lake, was not injured in the collision, according to police.

The cars were traveling in opposite directions when they neared a curve west of Halsted Road, according to police, but it has not been determined who was at fault.

300 to Market Feeder Calves

Farmers of Northern Michigan to Sell Cattle at Co-op Sales

More than 300 Northern Michigan farmers will market their annual feeder calves in six cooperative sales early next month.

A total of 8,500 feeder cattle will be sold at auction.

The sales, scheduled to start at noon, will be in Bruce Crossing, Oct. 6; Escanaba, Oct. 10; Gaylord, Oct. 12; Baldwin, Oct. 13; Alpena, Oct. 18, and West Branch, Oct. 19.

These feeder cattle will provide an indirect market for some 20,000 tons of hay and 25,000 acres of native Northern Michigan pasture that would not have been marketed in 1961 if it were not for this feeder program, state farm specialists said.

The feeder cattle will move to Central and Southern Michigan where they will again serve as indirect outlets for some 25,000 tons of corn silage, 7,000 tons of hay and 325,000 bushels of corn.

The calves to be sold in the six sales are from commercial beef cow herds. They are 6 to 7 months of age and weigh 350 to 450 pounds per head.

Most of the cattle, saved by purchased beef bulls, are Herefords with numerous good lots of Angus and a few Shorthorns.

The cattle are assembled at the sale yards one to three days before each sale, so that prospective buyers may study the animals before the auctions.

Musical Group to Hear Officials of Music Units

ROCHESTER -- Top officials of three statewide musical organizations will be guest speakers when the Rochester Tuesday Musicals holds its first fall meeting here next week.

Speakers include Mrs. Ralph Curtis of Oxford, president of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs; Mrs. Raymond Beece of Royal Oak, state chairman of the Junior Music Festival, and Mrs. Vernon Vernon of Detroit, chairman of Young Artist Auditions.

The program, entitled "Music Federation Orientation Night," is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Avon Township Library.

Two students sponsored by the Tuesday Musicals in their tour with the Michigan Choral, Judi Eldred and William Bird, will show slides accompanied by recordings of their trip through South America.

All women in this area, especially music and dance teachers, are invited to attend the program.

LANSING (AP)—Accidents are the leading cause of child deaths in Michigan, the State Health Department reminded parents today. Next Monday has been proclaimed child health day.

Farmington Twp. Man Arrested

Unemployed Engineer Committed Robberies to Pay Off Debts

An unemployed Farmington Township engineer who followed a pattern in robbing to pay off his debts was arrested by Detroit police yesterday who watched him stage a holdup at gunpoint.

William M. MacGillivray, 43, of 28309 Glen Arden Road was captured when his car was forced to the curb on East 8-Mile Road by police.

MacGillivray, father of four, had been chased from the American Finance Co., 1610 E. 8-Mile Road, by a patrolman who saw him take $100 from an employee of the firm.

Police, who said MacGillivray had admitted seven holdups, stalked out several businesses in the area following a rash of robberies in their neighborhood that began Sept. 16.

MacGillivray, a graduate mechanical engineer who has been out of work since March, told police that he had robbed the same finance company of $200 on Sept. 22.

Officers said that MacGillivray had admitted robbing the Ball Motel on East 8-Mile Road on three separate occasions.

Another motel and a milk depot were targets for other robberies admitted by MacGillivray.

He told police that he had turned to robbery because he was trying to pay for a new home and a new car and that "it was just too much."

Stiles PTA to Sponsor Open House Thursday

AVON TOWNSHIP—The Parent-Teacher Association of Stiles Elementary School will sponsor an open house at 8 p.m. Thursday at the school, 3975 S. Livermoor Road.

The event will give parents an opportunity to meet the teachers and to become acquainted with the courses their children are studying this year, according to PTA officials.

Will Performers Rate High on the Moo Meter?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., suggested today that the cow may make the next big impact of television programming. He's a bit jumpy about it.

His apprehension, according to his weekly newsletter, results from a news story from England reporting a farmer found that his herd produced more milk after he installed television sets in the barn.

"Television may become standard dairy equipment," he wrote. "Eventually, we may be confronted with the rather bewildering possibility of a TV audience 50 per cent cow and only 40 per cent people."

And, Beall said, this may only be the beginning.

What happens when the pollsters and the other program technicians form up ranks, sharpen their pencils and charge?

"Upon further research it may be established that cows give more milk while watching, 'The Price Is Right,' for instance, than they do watching, 'What's My Line?'"

The senator said it was brighten-up to reflect on what influence this could have on ratings and sponsorship.

He said it could even reach the point where the Federal Communications Commission might have to divide up its TV regulatory responsibilities with the Agriculture Department.

"If TV should become a factor in serious overproduction of milk, the secretary of agriculture may have to step in," Beall wrote.

Soviets Surprised by U.S. Firmness on Berlin

Russians Feel Nuclear War Is Unlikely

(Editor's Note: The United Press International wire and other news sources have reported that the Russians are surprised by the firmness of the United States on Berlin. The Russians are surprised by the firmness of the United States on Berlin. The Russians are surprised by the firmness of the United States on Berlin.

By THOMAS E. CURRAN
LONDON (UPI) — The overwhelming feeling in Russia's two largest cities is that there will not be a nuclear war and that the Berlin crisis can be settled by negotiation.

Moscow now realizes that President Kennedy means business when he said he would fight over Berlin. This idea has penetrated into official Russian circles.

The firm expression of American public opinion that Berlin was worth fighting for came as a surprise to the Russians. They had calculated that the United States and her allies would fold up and make concessions under pressure. The sudden trip of Vice President Lyndon Johnson to Berlin and the appointment of Gen. LeMay as Kennedy's special ambassador were totally unexpected.

The scaling-off of East Berlin was believed to be the first step in the Russian campaign to break the will of the United States to fight. Kennedy's swift moves in Berlin, and evidence of the hardening resolve of the American people, slowed down the Russian program.

Yuri Zhukov, who is close to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as secretary of the cultural exchange program, told me: "There will be no war. Not a hot war. The ideological struggle will continue. The United States will build a dam in the Congo. Russia will build a dam in Indonesia."

Western diplomats in Moscow do not think there will be a war. They feel Khrushchev wants to get everything he can by threats and bluster but that he is no Hitler thirsting for war. They feel also that the Russian people themselves do not want war.

RUSSIA KNOWS WAR

More than any other nation the Russians know war and its terrible devastation. Their casualties in World War II were the highest of any country in history.

Some Western diplomats thought that Khrushchev was genuinely astonished at the reaction to his proposals on Berlin.

"He probably thought we'd be happy to have the problem settled," one ambassador said.

The Russians, according to some diplomats in Moscow, are really worried about West Germany and its mounting power. They feel they have East Germany under control, but that West Germany is encroaching too much influence over the policies of the United States, France and Great Britain. Most Russian families have lost a father, son, cousin or uncle fighting in the war against what the Russians call "the fascists."

Both Moscow, a city of 5 million and Leningrad, with 3.2 million inhabitants, show no signs of going for war. I saw no troop movements. I did not see a private bomb shelter. The Moscow subway, of course, is one of the deepest in the world and it took me a minute and a half on a fast escalator to get from the tracks to ground level. It was used as a shelter in World War II.

Henry Shapiro, United Press International manager for Russia and dean of American correspondents in Moscow, was asked about the Russian equivalent of the American civil defense program. He replied: "In a nuclear war there is no civil defense."

STANDARD OF LIVING

The prime interest of the Russian people seemed focused not on Berlin or Laos but on improving their own standard of living.

In the last five years they have been getting a taste of such things as refrigerators, automobiles (a private citizen has to wait two years to get one), radios and television sets. There are more than a million television receivers in Moscow alone.

The Russians have a fast appetite for articles that Americans buy at the five-and-ten without even thinking—corkscrews, cooking utensils, stoppers for the bath tub, etc. Russian students stopped me several times asking for chewing gum or ball point pens and offering to swap their youth badges in return.

Zhukov said the big congress of the Communist party on Oct. 17 would deal with this hunger for consumer goods. He added: "We shall set the pattern of life for the next 20 years. The program to be announced at the congress will improve measurably the lot of the common man." Progress already made, Zhukov said, leads them to believe that the future benefits for the Russian people are within reach.

KIDNAP CAR CAPER — The "criminals" sit dejectedly on the curb. The officer stands coldly over them. He had foiled an early-morning get-away. The idle kiddie cars are parked nearby, useless. James (Kid) Dargan, 8, and Mitchell (Little Boy) Dargan, of Boston, brothers, came to the end of the line at 4:30 a.m. They decided to pack a bag and make a break for grandpa's house a mile away — they didn't make it.

Some Packages Under Weight

Check Finds Markets Telling Employees to Be Dishonest With Meat

LANSING (AP) — Some retail grocers in Michigan are deliberately prepackaging meats and other commodities shortweight for weekend sales, the Department of Agriculture reports. The agency said that special investigations of packaging operations in some stores have been initiated because of recent complaints on shortweight practices on Friday nights and Saturdays.

People and standards chief J. L. Littlefield reported that one supermarket employee disclosed that she was instructed to short-weight all packaged meats after 4 p.m. on Friday and all day Saturday.

"This was accomplished by including the packaging material in the weight of the product rather than marking the net weight," the Agriculture Department said. "The result was an overcharge to the purchaser of three to 10 cents per package."

The agency also discovered that the so-called "Saturday specials" in the meat counter in one large Southern Michigan supermarket were short-weight to two ounces, amounting to as much as a nine-cent overcharge.

Rich Tourist Year

LONDON (AP) — Tourists visiting Britain in 1960 spent $764.4 million, which flowed into the British economy, the Travel and Holidays Association reported Thursday.

The city of St. Charles was the capital of Missouri when the state was admitted to the union in 1820. The original capitol building still stands on South Main Street.

Crowd Expected for Convention

Eichmann Writing Memoirs as He Awaits His Sentence

TV Monitor Circuit to Be Put in Lounge if Many Attend Con-Con

LANSHING (U) — Some observers expressed concern today as to whether the 5,000-seats available in Lansing's main civic center auditorium will be able to accommodate all those anxious to witness the opening of Michigan's historic constitutional convention.

Ceremonies start at 12 noon Tuesday.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said, if there is an overflow, a television monitor circuit will show the convention activities in the civic center lounge.

Numerous telephone calls have been received, Hare said, from high school teachers asking if a section of the auditorium could be reserved for students from social studies classes.

This will be impossible, Hare said. He said, however, he hoped many students would plan to attend convention sessions after the opening ceremony.

Main floor seats have been reserved for the delegates and their wives and families, legislators and other guests. In addition, two tickets each have been sent to all daily and weekly newspapers, radio and television stations.

More than 2,000 unreserved seats will be available for the general public as it first comes, first served basis, Hare said.

JERUSALEM (UPI)—The name of Adolf Eichmann has practically disappeared from public conversation and the Israeli press since his war crimes trial ended last month. He seems a temporarily forgotten man.

There are several reasons. National elections absorbed attention after the trial.

The country is deeply concerned with the international situation. And the Jewish holidays have come and passed since Eichmann was returned to prison to await the verdict of the three-man court that tried him.

The verdict, and sentence which most people expect to be death — are due in November.

Eichmann, it is known, is busily writing his memoirs in his cell in the police fortress of Jamail, east of Haifa. For security reasons he is permitted only a pen. But prison officials report he writes feverishly at every opportunity and already has covered several hundred sheets of paper, neatly stacked at his desk.

He remains under the same heavy guard that has surrounded him ever since he was brought to Israel last year from Argentina. He is no longer the only man in the prison, as was true before his trial, but he has contact with no one at any time except his guards. And the guards are forbidden to engage him in conversation.

YOUNG UNDETERRED

Surveys taken since the trial indicate that the disclosures of the brutality involved in the murder of six million European Jews during the Nazi regime have left the older generation more horrified than even but have had little emotional effect on young Israelis.

One effect of the trial on the young, however, has been to largely erase their pretrial attitude that the persecuted Jews should have risen in rebellion against the Nazis. They now accept that this was not possible.

A typical reply quoted in surveys of the young on this question was: "We thought there was something wrong with them. Now we know they could not rebel."

Nobody Can Change His Mind—Abby

So He Doesn't Trust You?

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 37 and my husband is 19. We have been married four months. My husband is inservice, and is going overseas in ten days. We have been living with his parents ever since our marriage. My problem is this: My husband wants me to continue to live with his parents while he is gone. His parents are nice people, but I would be much happier with my own parents.

My husband has hinted around that he doesn't trust me, and he is sure if I stay with his folks he won't have anything to worry about. Don't you think I should be able to stay with my own parents?

YOUNG, MARRIED AND NOT TRUSTED
DEAR ABBY: If your husband doesn't trust you, there is nothing that I for you, or anyone else, can say to change his mind. I think you should be able to stay with your own parents.

DEAR ABBY: We are not the kind of neighbors who like to butt into somebody else's business, but we want to know what we should do about this situation.

A neighbor of ours, a woman (and notice I did not refer to her as a "lady") leaves her husband home almost every night in the week.

The husband has recently had throat surgery, which left him voiceless.

He can't utter a sound. What if something should happen to him while she is gone?

He couldn't even call for help on the telephone. Is it against the law to leave a dog alone and helpless. How about this?

THE NEIGHBORS
DEAR NEIGHBORS: Why don't you call on this woman and ask her?

DEAR ABBY: My, I know friend and I want to tell you what you think about girls joining the WACS, WAVES, etc.? My mother said to forget it because it was no place for a "nice" girl. We are nice, and intend to stay that way, but we have our hearts set on joining the service.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE
DEAR RED, WHITE, ETC.:

Let me assure your mother that there are many fine girls in the service. If a girl has received good moral training at home she will live by it wherever she goes. Uncle Sam takes care of his "girls" by imposing regulations, curfews and restrictions far more severe than most teenagers are forced to observe at home.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DORIS: Marry him. I fear there is nothing like a Dane.

DEAR ABBY: You brought up an interesting subject in the case of the husband who refused to wear a wedding ring. I think all married people should be forced by law to wear identification of their married status. Then single girls would not be taken in by two-timing husbands, and vice versa.

MARCIA

DEAR MARCIA: Legal gimmicks are no substitute for conscience and morality. A wedding ring doesn't always stop the "circulation."

What's troubling you? Write Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. Include self-addressed stamped envelope.

Fof Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, The Pontiac Press.

Tardy Lady Could Use a Lesson

By The Emily Post Institute

My fiancée is never on time for anything and this fact often causes me many embarrassing moments—particularly when her tardiness holds others up.

When I call for her at her house she is never ready and I have to wait until she finishes dressing, or if I am to meet her at a certain place, I am often kept waiting for as long as three-quarters of an hour before she puts in an appearance.

She has some crazy idea that it is smart to be late. Have you any idea how I can break her of this habit?

A: There is nothing smart in being late; in fact there is no greater contributor to social failure than the inconsiderateness of this habit.

To break her of this habit, tell her frankly that you will wait no longer than 10 minutes for her and at the end of 10 minutes leave, if she is not there. This may end in a broken engagement or should the bride first ask each guest's preference?

A: The husband asks the guests and his wife what each would like, and then repeats their preference to the waiter, and adds what he himself will have.

Q: Is it considered impolite to refuse a cigarette someone has offered you, if you prefer your own brand?

A: It is not at all impolite to say, "No thank you, I would rather smoke these," and perhaps adding, if you are a little known brand, "Would you like to try one?"

Q: When two women are introduced to each other, do they shake hands?

A: Usually they don't but if either extends her hand, the other of course gives hers.

The clothes of the bride and groom, as well as those of their attendants, are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet, "Clothes of the Bride Party." To obtain a copy send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to The Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

New Linings Warm, Not Bulky

Autumn! Days are crisp and golden . . . night turn long and chilly. Plans are being made for the crowd to get together again! What will it be — the season's first football game? A pump over hills with color? Or maybe a dress-up date . . . cocktail and a theater party in town.

Whatever the destination—driving for cool weather creates a problem. You want to be warm and comfortable . . . without bundling up like an Eskimo!

Fashion showings for Fall provide an answer — that's all but inevitable. November is a season from interminable — used in everything from rainwear to gloves, with every material from poplin to tweed.

The new linings give warmth and body — with hardly an ounce of added weight — to soft, dressy or stretchable fabrics. The water-thin sheets of foam are laminated (or bonded) to light outer fabrics before material is cut for sewing. For zip-out linings — or quilted robes — foam is "sandwiched" between two layers of fabric.

Result? Figure-flattering comfort . . . plus a lively resiliency that helps a garment keep its shape. Soft fabrics will still drape easily . . . and light writhing. For zip-out linings — or quilted robes — foam is "sandwiched" between two layers of fabric.

Unlike other synthetics, urethane foam is porous. Laminated to fabric with good air permeability. It leaves fabric perfectly unblocked. This means year-round utility of laminated garments. The soft, stiffer lining will bear both cold and heat from reaching the wearer.

Collegians and homemakers will be pleased to hear the new laminates don't require codding. They won't shrink or crumple.

New foam-lined fabric is high fashion for fall. Quick drying, they won't shrink or crumple. The woman who sews her own will find them easy to handle.

In washing or drycleaning . . . need little or no ironing . . . are odorless . . . bacteria, mildew and fungus resistant. All of which helps account for the rise from near-zero use of laminated knit goods in 1959 to over 50 million yards in 1961.

Silva Jane who can wear long-tail tapered pants — and gals who hide over-stylish curves under soft, loose skirts — have the new laminates aren't "farting" or "silvered" thin, they add next to nothing in "dase".

You'll be seeing them around the city in popular stores, but if you're a whiz at home sewing — laminates are still your dish! Fall patterns are being prepared to hear the new laminates don't require codding. They won't shrink or crumple.

Child Study Club Holds Luncheon

Have You Tried This?

Use Last Garden Beets to Pickle for Winter

By JANET ODELL

Foodies From Home Editor

If you still have beets in the garden or buy some at the Farmers market, here is a recipe for pickling them that you will enjoy. Mrs. Wesley Welch says this is an old family recipe. A can of spiced beets will taste mighty good, come winter.

Mrs. Welch says canning is her hobby. Her main occupation is homemaking and caring for 5 children.

SPICED BEETS

By Mrs. Wesley Welch

1 quart red vinegar
1 quart water
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon mixed pickling spices

Cook beets until tender. Peel and slice into hot jars. If beets are small, leave them whole. The pickling spices in a bag. Mix vinegar, water, salt, sugar and spices. Stir to dissolve sugar and let come to the boiling point. Pour hot over beets in jars. Seal at once and store.

I'm Too Old to . . . Quit Talking of Age

BY RUTH BELLETT

Newspaper Interviewer

If you want others to forget your age, there is one thing you have to do. Forget it, yourself.

That means you must not keep reminding others of your age by remarks that begin with such phrases as "At my age . . ."

"When I was your age . . ."

"I'm younger . . ."

"I'm too old to . . ."

All such phrases force others to consider your age when, if the matter were never brought up, they probably wouldn't give it a thought.

That's one reason for not dragging your age into the conversation. Another is that you can't FEEL young when you are talking about how old you are. And as long as you let yourself feel young, you will act young, too.

Also, when you start talking about how old you are, you begin to make excuses for not doing things you could do on the grounds that you are too old. It becomes an easy alibi for limiting your life more than necessary.

Haven't you heard people say they were too old to make new friends, or too old to learn something new, or too old to make a move to a new place, or too old to correct a fault, or too old to care about their appearance.

And yet with just as many years those who aren't so age-conscious go right on doing all these things the age-conscious have convinced themselves they are no longer capable of doing.

This doesn't mean you ought to pretend that you are younger than you are. That's silly and rarely holds anyone.

All it means is that if you don't want others to attach a lot of importance to your age you ought not to attach a lot of importance to it either.

Roy A. Sturgeons Take Honeymoon in Florida

MRS. ROY A. STURGEON

Honeymooning in Florida are former Pontiac resident Roy A. Sturgeon, Livonia, and his bride, the former Marquette Lorraine Bostwick, Augusta. Rev. Russell Wilbur, Twelve Mile, Ind., performed the Saturday ceremony in Day Bible Church, Augusta.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Bostwick, Augusta. Mr. Sturgeon's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Sturgeon, Londonderry, Ireland.

Plated back detail ending in a chapel train and forming an apron effect in the front enhanced the bride's slipper satin lace-appliqued gown. She wore a crown of satin with sequin-trimmed lace and held a cascade of white roses.

Maude Bostwick was her sister's honor maid. Mrs. William Garfield, Pontiac, the bride's sister, and JoAnn DeRose, Augusta, were bridesmaids. The bride's niece, Susan Garfield, was flower girl. Attendants wore identical gowns of gold satin styled with full pleated skirts and wide sashes ending in long streamers. Bronze chrysanthemums comprised their bouquets.

William K. Y. Pontiac, was best man. Uabers were the bride's brother Roland Bostwick, Augusta, Robert Jull and Harold Bostwick, Pontiac. Kevin Bostwick, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Sturgeon attended Huntington College, Indiana. Mr. Sturgeon is known in the Pontiac area for his activities with the youth of First Baptist Church. The couple will reside in Plymouth.

Women's Unit Holds Luncheon

Specimen butterflies were viewed by members of the Sylvan Lake Branch, Women's National Farm and Garden Association at the September luncheon meeting at Devon Gables. Mrs. George Kieffer spoke of her collection.

Luncheon hostesses were Mrs. Gordon S. Dicke, Mrs. Leo J. Archambault and Mrs. Charles S. Chandler.

A cake-cutting ceremony honored the 22nd birthday of Mrs. Lenny Smith.

Garden Assn. President Meets With Directors

Mrs. William B. Hartman, president of the Pontiac Branch, Women's National Farm and Garden Association, met with the board of directors at a coffee hour in the home of Mrs. Robert B. Oliver of West Iroquois Road.

Mrs. Clifford T. Eklund was named chairman of the day for the Michigan Division Council meeting Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Her co-chairman will be Mrs. H. Earl Hanson.

The hostess group under Mrs. Eugene T. Cleland, division hospitality chairman, will be Mrs. Lynn McNaughton, Mrs. Standish Backus, Mrs. J. Crawford Frost, Mrs. James Lutz, Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. Fred Bohman, Mrs. Benjamin Young, Mrs. H. H. Patterson and Mrs. Kenneth R. Streng.

Wednesday's luncheon speaker, Mrs. James Bush Brown of Philadelphia, outstanding practical philanthropist, was instrumental in improving Philadelphia slum areas by flower plantings. Through her message, she hopes to help other communities.

Mrs. Verne C. Hampton, Bloomfield Hills, will be hostess for the Oct. 18 meeting of the Pontiac Branch.

Exercise is most valuable when it is done daily. Fifteen or 20 minutes each day is preferable to 45 minutes three times a week. Above—the "rock and roll" exercise to reduce the abdomen.

Who's Jealous of Whom?

They're Right, You're Thin

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "Please give me your opinion. I work in an office with all 'girls' of middle age and up. I get so tired being told that I am skinny. I am 5 feet 5 inches tall, and weigh 110 pounds. My bust measures 34 inches, waist 23 and hips 34. I am in my mid-forties. The 'girls' range from pleasantly plump to bobby fat. Am I too skinny?"

A. It is possible that some of the "girls" may be a little jealous of your slenderness, but you ARE underweight. Even if you have a very small frame, you should gain at least 12 pounds. Are you jealous of their curves?

4512 SIZES 12-20

Printed Pattern 4512: Misses' Sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 takes 6 1/2 yards 45-inch fabric. Send 35 cents in coins for this pattern. Add 10 cents for each pattern for 1st-class mailing.

Q. "My husband is a gas station attendant who works nine hours a day ending at 10 at night. I have five children. I get up at 7:30 a.m. and get the children off to school. After all of my household duties are done and my children are all in bed, I usually sit down to rest and watch TV. Should I be expected to get something to eat for my husband when he gets home from work?"

A. I should think that you would be glad to have something ready for him if he wants a snack before going to sleep. You could fix this snack when you are doing your other cooking, before he arrives. Then he could join you at the TV set while he gets from a tray.

Q. "Not long ago you wrote an article about skin adjusting to weight loss. Will you please explain this again?"

A. Actually, when a woman is overweight her skin has had to stretch to match her larger measurements. When weight is lost, it must shrink to match the new measurements. This is one reason why gradual reduction gives you prettier results. If a lot of weight is lost too rapidly, flabbiness will follow. The use of a body lotion is helpful since it keeps the skin pliable.

DO IT DAILY
Q. "I have heard that if you exercise 45 minutes at a time, three times a week, it will be enough to keep your figure good, is this better than every day and shorter periods?"

A. No. Exercise is most valuable when it is done daily. Fifteen or 20 minutes each day is preferable to 45 minutes three times a week.

Bloomfield Art Classes Start Oct. 2

Many homes in the Birmingham area will be opened for the start of the Bloomfield Art Association's regular fall series of art classes, beginning the week of Oct. 2.

Until preliminary remodeling work is completed at the new headquarters, the group has no classrooms. Area homes temporarily will be the students' meeting places following an appeal by Education Director Barbara Brook for art association members to open their homes for recreation rooms to classes for a few weeks. The response was "terrific," according to Miss Brook.

By Nov. 1 classes are expected to move into the BAA's headquarters where flooring, heating and lighting work are expected to be completed. The headquarters is Birmingham's former sewage disposal plant on Cranbrook Road.

The class schedule includes instruction in sculpture composition by Sven Kline. Hours are 9:30 to noon Monday for advanced students; 1 to 3:30 p.m. Monday for beginners, and 7 to 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Albert Stulen instructs a studio art class for both beginning and advanced students from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Monday. He will offer individual attention in both materials and form of art.

Portrait painting and drawing will be taught Tuesdays from 9:30 to noon by Mildred E. Williams. Her students will draw and paint from costumed models.

The creative approach to watercolor painting will be taught Wednesdays from 9:30 to noon and Wednesday afternoons from 1 to 3:30, for beginning and advanced students. The instructor is Mary Jane Bigler.

Thursday, Sept. 28, 9:30 to noon and from 1 to 3:30 beginning and advanced students will be taught oil painting by Kathleen Birch.

Further details may be obtained from Miss Brook at PO Box 2, Bloomfield Hills.

Install Officers of WCTU Unit

Mrs. William Carls installed officers for the 1961-62 Calkins Unit, Women's Christian Temperance Union at a luncheon meeting Tuesday in the home of Lena E. Terry on Edison Street.

Serving with Mrs. Frank Hardcastle, president, will be Mrs. Edwin Chamberlain, vice president; Mrs. Sue A. Long, secretary; and Mrs. Frank Davis, treasurer.

Mrs. Joseph E. Green, Royal Oak, reported on the national WCTU convention in San Francisco, Calif., and Mrs. L. G. Bukey gave the devotion. The new president will attend the state convention Oct. 11-13 in Ludington.

Club Welcomes Pair of Guests

Members of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club welcomed Mrs. M. S. S. Dunton and Mrs. A. L. Pierce as guests Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. M. D. Stapp on Inverness Avenue.

Assisting the hostess with dessert were Miss Leo McDonald, Mrs. George Acree, Mrs. Fritz Staudard, Mrs. Mary Adams, Mary Piddick and Violet McCoy. Vera Bassett gave the invocation.

Mrs. E. C. Carlson reviewed the book "Lincoln's Sons" by Ruth Painter Randall and Mrs. W. F. Todd. BFW life member, spoke briefly.

Child Confused at Demands by Parents

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assoc.

What would you do about a 12-year-old girl who says "I don't feel like it" when you ask her to turn down the TV volume so you can talk on the telephone? I would have been spanked within an inch of my life if I'd talked to my mother like that.

But people like you don't approve of that kind of training, do you? I suppose your advice would be to just let the disobedience go.

ANSWER: No. What I would do is put down the telephone receiver, walk over to the TV, turn down its volume and say, "When I've finished this call, I will expect you to tell me why you couldn't do me the favor that I asked of you." And I would want a satisfactory answer.

Look, madam, we modern parents are in a spot. Many, many demands we make on children are for our convenience.

It wasn't always like that. What was demanded of children was demanded out of needs which they could see.

A son was told to chop wood, and he chopped it because he knew that the wood was needed to cook dinner.

A daughter was told to pump a pail of water, and she pumped it because she knew what water was needed to quench thirst.

Children stopped playing with rain barrels when they were told to because they understood the family need to preserve soft water for the washing of clothes. Children were disciplined, not only by parents but by their own experience of necessity.

It's not like that any more. Our children do not feel the same interest in preserving a telephone conversation that was once felt in preserving a woodpile.

We cannot give the same meaning to an order to return empty pop bottles to a store that could be given to an order to pick vegetables for winter canning up on a table which a child knew his family's survival depended.

Today, the dignity of need seldom supports our demands for obedience.

It is wise to note how much we ask of children is for our convenience. Then some of the excited belligerence goes out of us when they refuse to do us some favor. In the child who wouldn't turn down the TV volume we see merely someone who has refused us a favor. Instead of a wicked disobedience.

We can treat her as we would treat any other friend who refused us a favor.

When Should Man Close Shelter?

Churchmen Disagree on Issue

By JULES LOM
AP Staff Writer
NEW YORK—If the bombs start falling and unsheltered citizens begin scurrying for a safe place to hide, at what point does a moral man slam the hatch of his own family fallout shelter?

The problem has become a conversation topic around the land.

The Rev. L. C. McHugh, S. J., associate editor of "America" magazine and former ethics teacher at Georgetown University, gives the discussion a thorough airing in the current issue of the Jesuit journal.

OLD MORAL PROBLEM

Father McHugh sees the threat of an overcrowded shelter merely as a new application of a problem moral theologians have argued on for years: "What kind of activity is permissible when one's life is under attack?" His broad conclusion is that man has a moral right, even a duty, to repel his neighbors by whatever force necessary if he honestly feels admitting them would jeopardize his own or his family's survival.

Not all churchmen agree. "The Gospel makes two emphases, both of which have pertinence," said the Rev. Dr. Ben Herbsater, president of the United Church of Christ.

DIFFERENT ANSWERS?

"Jesus commanded every follower to have compassion on his neighbor. He also gave us the parable of the 10 virgins, which teaches that a man ought to make his own preparations, that he shouldn't presume on the compassion of others."

"To decide when compassion leaves off and presumption begins is the inherent right and responsibility of every Christian. Perhaps if in doubt, a Christian ought to err on the side of compassion."

ON THE SPOT DECISION

The Rev. Dr. Harold Haas, executive secretary of the board of social missions of the United Lutheran Church in America, feels "There's no way to know in advance what a Christian ought to do; his decision has to be made on the spot."

Father McHugh agrees circumstances would dictate the type of action permissible, but he says, "violence to defend life and its equivalent goods (such as sufficient food and air) is justifiable when certain conditions are met."

A LAST RESORT

These summarized, he said, are that the violence must be a last resort to repel an attack which has actually begun against a person's undoubted rights, provided he uses no more violence than is needed, though this may include killing the assailant.

These principles, says the Jesuit, "show that some Christian morality does not solve moral problems by appeal to sentiment, but by the cold light of reason."

If an attack should come, he says, the fallout shelter "is likely to be the one material good in your family's environment which is equivalent to life itself."

Frail-like deposits that collect on the outside of clay pots contain excess salts that can harm your plant if not bleached out.

German Pupil Relates Views

'American Teens Have More School Spirit, Younger Instructors'

By PAMELA MORRIS

Among the new faces in Pontiac Northern High School halls this week are Northern's first American Field Service exchange student and seven new teachers.

Peter Gareis, who was sponsored by the Pontiac Optimist Club, is from Göttingen, Germany. Göttingen, a town about the size of Pontiac, is famous for the university of which Otto Von Bismarck was a graduate. Göttingen is twenty-five miles from the Iron Curtain.

According to Peter most of the people of his country would like to be a free, united Germany. "Myself," says Peter, "I don't see any possibility."

Peter has studied English for seven years and French for five years. Along with taking Northern's pilot program for college-bound seniors, he is taking another year of French instructed by Neil Gray.

SCHOOLING DIFFERS

"There are thirteen years of free school in my country," he says. "Classes are held six days a week from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m." Students in Germany are graded on a point system where 'C's are common and 'A's are nearly impossible.

Peter finds that "American students have more school spirit than German students. Also the teachers are younger and more respected here."

All kinds of sports are his main interest. "I don't consider myself especially good at any one of them," he modestly adds. Peter is planning to join Northern's swim team this winter. Along with sports, he likes music and model airplanes.

Peter came to America along with 500 other students from the free countries of the world.

'TREMENDOUS FEELING'

"It was on the boat in New York harbor when I first saw the Statue of Liberty. It was a foggy day and the statue seemed to stand out from everything else. It was a tremendous feeling," he added. "I couldn't understand what it all meant."

Peter's first impression of America was that of friendliness. "People in the United States seem to be friendlier to strangers," he said.

Peter is making his home here with Larry Thomas, a Northern senior. In Germany he has one sister, Ingrid, who is 21. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Toni Gareis.

When asked why he wanted to come to America he explained, "I want to understand, recognize and appreciate the American way of life."

MORE: NEW FACES

New faces also come from different sections of our country and state.

Among the new teachers adding to Northern's faculty is Hercules Renda, church and counselor. Mr. Renda is a graduate of the University of Michigan where he obtained his Masters degree in Physical Education.

Home economics students heard housewives talk Tuesday on hair, fashion and good grooming.

The American Field Service student group at PCH sponsored an assembly today. Foreign exchange students, Dania Dickie from New Zealand, and Juan Hernandez from Spain, spoke to the student body about their countries.

Marilyn Giffing, Pontiac Central exchange student to West Germany this summer, informed the students about the American abroad program.

Wednesday, Emmanuel held its annual Olympic Meet. Next week, winners will receive ribbons and trophies in a special assembly.

Science and math students are settling down to study under the guidance of a new teacher, Robert Ruman, Virginia Blehray has been enthusiastically welcomed by social studies students, on Mrs. Ruman's first day. English teacher, who substituted at Emmanuel last spring.

Pick Varsity Cheerleaders at St. Mike

BY SHARON RODDEN

Graduating to the ranks of varsity cheerleaders for St. Michael's High School are juniors, Pat Donley, Kathy Laugier, and Judy McInnis. Veterans are Pat Sugden, captain, and Shirley Robak, seniors. Mary Ann Buckley, also a senior, is the new addition.

The process of elimination has left six freshman girls finalists for junior varsity cheerleading, three of which will be announced today.

They are — Carolyn Brown, Evelyn Daugherty, Irene Dunny, Kathy Harbert, Theresa Orick, Lo Ann Priebe, and Sara Raymond. After being chosen, three of these girls will join sophomores Pat Laugier, Sharon Merritt, and Shirley West on the J.V. squad. Enthusiasm, pep and plenty of spirit are the characteristics of these girls.

Our team, our cheerleaders, and our football fans deserve a pat on the back for their "weathering of the storm" at Highland Park Sunday.

EXHIBIT COLORS

In honor of St. Michael on his day, the students exhibited our bright school colors of blue and gray in the halls and at the pep assembly.

The first edition of the Michaelite was enthusiastically received today by all of the students. The Michaelite staff consists of Shannon Donnelly and Pat Donley, editors; Diane Hope, managing editor; Jackie Voss, art editor, and Gary Kraft, mimeo operator. Judy Lane, junior representative, will form the court.

The queen will be crowned at the dance while the other three, along with Judy Fitzpatrick and Sheila Lane, junior representatives, will form the court.

Centering around an autumn theme, the dance will be from 8 to 11 in the parish hall. Sponsored by the Pep Club, admission will be fifty cents. Pep Club members are also sponsoring a contest for the best decorated car in the Homecoming parade, scheduled to leave school at 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

Another paper making news at St. Mike is the "Michaelite." This sports edition just one of the many projects of our newly organized Varsity Club, combines sports facts with humor.

The Varsity Club has slated a Bonfire to be held at 8:30 tonight at Aaron Perry Park.

TO DIRECT VOICES

Sister M. Cecile, music director, has done a terrific job in getting together a boys and girls choral group.

Sunday afternoon the Shamrocks will clash with their cross town rivals, the St. Frederick Rams at Winder Stadium. This is always an occasion for anxiety.

among the students and the faculty.

The Freshman Welcome Dance which was presented by the seniors last week was a huge success and the seniors wish to thank all who attended it and made it so.

Each freshman was identified by blue and pink name tags shaped like baby bottles. Shirley Robak and Gary Hintz acted as master and mistress of ceremonies at the event, during which time the freshmen recited poems honoring the seniors.

St. Frederick Sparks Spirit With Pep Rally

By SUZANNE POLMEAR

Homecoming, one of the school year's highlights, has descended upon St. Frederick's High School where it'll reign supreme from tonight through Sunday. It was officially inaugurated at a pep meeting this afternoon.

"Artistic Chair-letter and Her St. Fred's House Party" was the basis for the cheerleader sponsored spirit-getter.

It couldn't be a Homecoming without a queen and a crown for which four senior girls are vying: Carol Biall, Sharon Franklin, Pat Green and Linda Schaefer.

The queen will be crowned at the dance while the other three, along with Judy Fitzpatrick and Sheila Lane, junior representatives, will form the court.

Centering around an autumn theme, the dance will be from 8 to 11 in the parish hall. Sponsored by the Pep Club, admission will be fifty cents. Pep Club members are also sponsoring a contest for the best decorated car in the Homecoming parade, scheduled to leave school at 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

The following week, Oct. 5-13, the Waterlog sales will begin with prices of $1.50 and $2.00 in October and $4.00 without one. An installment plan is also offered if the student wishes to use this plan. With this plan, a down payment of $1.50 or $2.00 in October and the remainder paid upon delivery of the book on Waterlog Day is expected of the student.

Clarkston Starts Honor Program in Study Halls

By JANET TISH

Clarkston Community High School has initiated a new honor program into its regular routine of classes, called "Honor Study Halls." Although this program is new at Clarkston it has been used in a few other high schools across the country.

Honor Study Halls are those in which a certain group of students, selected by the school commanders, will be given a classroom each day in which they may study or work on a day's homework.

These study halls are not under the supervision of a teacher. They are classes where students are placed on their honor to study quietly and orderly, setting an example for other students in the school to follow.

Such a system benefits the students by giving them experience in accepting responsibilities in school, which they may also be called upon to face after finishing school.

Pick Two PCH Students Scholarship Semifinalists

By WADE WILKINSON

Two students at Pontiac Central High School have been selected as semifinalists in the seventh annual National Merit Scholarship competition.

Karen Allhouse and Stephen Wyman are among approximately 10,000 seniors throughout the country who reached this semifinalist status through their high scores on the qualifying examination given last March. This is the same educational development test given to thousands of students in 15,000 high schools across the nation.

The semifinalists will take another rigorous examination, the three-hour Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board, to be given throughout the nation on Oct. 2. The top percentage of those students on this test will receive four-year scholarships to the college of their choice. Other high scoring students will be recommended to their first and second choice colleges.

PROGRAM 'WHYS'

This program which is being conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation is being pushed for this reason, says its president, John M. Stalnaker: "At a time when brain power is in creating the source of national power, we must all encourage, in every way possible, the pursuit of intellectual excellence by our able students."

The Merit Scholarship Program was established in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The NMSC and sponsors have thus far contributed $10 million.

Lockheed Spends $25 Million to Correct 'Whirl Mode'

Revamped Electras Back From Brink of Extinction

By ROBERT J. KERLING

UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — The clock on the wall of the little farmhouse read 11:08 p.m. The date was Sept. 28, 1959.

The owner, R. E. White, had just turned off his television set and was settling down in bed. His wife already was asleep.

It was the last moment of peace the Whites were to have for a long time. A few seconds before something had happened to a powerful airliner flying 15,000 feet above their home near Buffalo, Tex.

A window-rattling roar shook the farmhouse. The Whites jumped out of bed and ran outside. For a moment, they saw nothing. But there was a strong odor all around them ("like coal oil," White said later). They later learned it was kerosene fuel. What had fallen into their little vegetable patch was the main wreckage of a giant propeller airliner.

Braniff International Airways Flight 542, a Lockheed Electra bound from Houston to New York with 28 passengers and a crew of six, had come to an untimely and tragic end.

STRUCTURAL FAILURE

White's world was not the only one shaken that night. It took only a brief examination of the wreckage to determine that the Electra had broken up in flight. Yet structural failure was supposed to be next to impossible in a modern transport.

The Buffalo accident remained unsolved for five months. Then a Northwest Electra disintegrated over Tell City, Ind., on March 17, 1960. This accident bore startling similarities to the Braniff crash.

The culprit was a vibration phenomenon known as "whirl mode"—so rare that it existed mostly in theory. Lockheed spent $25 million on the cure, modifying every one of the 166 Electras in service.

But in the period between the Braniff crash and the modification program, the Electra carried the biggest black eye of any airliner.

In commercial aviation history, there were crude jokes ("Have you joined the Electra crash of the month yet?"). There were wild rumors. ("Have you heard that American is trying to sell all its Electras?")

And there were some very tangible results of what happened at Buffalo and Tell City—every airline operating Electras admitted that passengers were afraid to fly them. Load factors (percentage of available seats filled) dropped alarmingly.

DRAMATIC COMEBACK

How is the Electra doing two years to the day after the first of the crashes that threatened to end its existence as a commercial airliner?

The answer records one of aviation's most dramatic and complete comebacks. For example:

AMERICAN—Electra load factors now are averaging higher than even the pure jets.

NORTHWEST—From April 1960 (one month after Tell City) through July of the same year, Electra load factors averaged only 56 per cent.

In the same period in 1961, they averaged 63 per cent, a 7 per cent jump at a time when overall industry load factors were dropping 4 per cent.

EASTERN—Electra load factors climbed impressively after the modification program was completed.

NATIONAL—The Electra load factor for July 1959 was 49 per cent. In July 1961 it was 51 per cent. While the increase was relatively small, National points further to what it considers a more significant clue to the Electra's comeback—a 77.3 per cent increase in revenue passenger miles between July 1959 and July 1961.

WESTERN—In January 1960 Electra load factors hit an all-time high of 77.7 per cent. The following June, they dropped to 49 per cent. By August of this year, the load factor had climbed to 62 per cent.

BRANIFF—Electra load factors are running neck and neck with Boeing 707s and are now 50 per cent higher than in the spring of 1960.

did nothing to change the come-back picture. FAA officials were already has been ruled out, under a dark cloud of suspicion, to anyone who will listen.

And pilots, who defended the still will rave about its performance. Lockheed, however, continues to grapple with the residue of what happened two years ago. There are about 65 lawsuits pending against Lockheed alone from the Braniff and Northwest accidents. Lockheed won't say how much money is involved because of insurance requirements. The first trials may be held late this year.

ELECTRIC HEAT

HARD-TO-HEAT ROOMS? A hard-to-heat room or porch can be so uncomfortable in cold weather its usefulness is lost. It also puts a strain on your present heating system. Eliminate these problems with any one of the several built-in electric heat systems.

BUYING OR BUILDING A NEW HOME? You can be sure your new home is really new if you specify built-in electric heat. It will cost you more to operate than an older style heating system—but it more than makes up for it in greater comfort and cleanliness. Electric heat has several more benefits not found in other heating systems. For example, it lets you dial the temperature for each room separately, without overheating or cooling other rooms. Compact, simple and safe, electric heat is the new kind of heat engineered for today's new kind of home.

MODERNIZING? Fixing up the old recreation room? Tearing out a partition to enlarge the living room? Installing larger windows? Home improvements vary often after the heating requirements within a home so drastically as to make the old heating system entirely unsatisfactory. When they do, electric heat can solve the problem fast. And you'll get living comfort never before imagined, too!

ADDING NEW SPACE? New living space in a home usually means an added burden on your present heating system. Here's an ideal opportunity to take full advantage of built-in electric heat. Installing it requires no major cutting through floors, partitions or walls. A new room can have its own heating system, with pinpoint temperature control . . . something never before possible in standard heating systems.

All these benefits—yours with flameless electric heat!

CLEANLINESS . . . The cleanest heating method ever devised, electric heating means walls, draperies, carpets and furniture stay cleaner longer. With electric heat, there's no soot or other products of combustion circulating in the air.

CUSTOM COMFORT . . . Keep one room at 72, another at 65. The temperature can be up in one room, down in another, or heat can be completely off.

EFFICIENCY . . . Electric heat lets you raise the temperature in one room without firing up the entire heating plant. And with electric heat, all of the heat created is usable heat—none is wasted up a flue.

FLEXIBILITY . . . Electric heat can replace regular baseboards—can be built into the walls or ceiling. Whether it be one room or the entire home, there is a system to give better heating electrically.

CARES FOR ITSELF . . . Set a dial, then forget it. There are no moving parts at all in radiant systems. Forced air electric heating systems are long-lived, too; they use low-velocity fans. In either type, there's little to wear out, need adjustment or replacement.

SAFETY . . . No combustion process. No worries. Concentrations of superheated air are eliminated. Electric heating systems distribute heat safely, gently.

REDUCED RATE . . . In addition to the money saved on cleaning and decorating, residential customers can now take advantage of a new, lower rate. Just 24 per kilowatt-hour when monthly electrical use is over 750 kilowatt-hours. Though other living costs have been rising steadily during the past several years, electricity remains one of your biggest bargains—now more than ever, with this new and lower rate step.

Choose from several types of electric heat

Electric baseboard units heat by both radiation and convection.

Radiant electric heating cable is usually embedded in ceilings.

In the walls, you can install either radiant panels or forced air units.

Heat pumps, for one room or the entire home, heat and air condition, too.

Look for this symbol when you buy. It assures you of safe, dependable installation. For complete information about electric heating, stop in at the Edison office near your home or send in coupon at right for free booklet about electric heating.

Con-Con to Decide on University Controls

BY GENE SCHROEDER
LANSING (U)—Michigan's three largest universities are ruled by their own constitutionally-established governing boards, whose members are elected on a partisan basis.
Two other institutions of higher learning are governed by boards whose members are appointed by the governor, with Senate confirmation.

Four more colleges and universities have no individual boards, being governed collectively by the State Board of Education, whose members run on partisan ballots.

Obviously, consistency in the governing of Michigan's state-supported higher education institutions is not one of the qualities to be found in the present constitution.

Authorities have pointed out that this variety of patterns in control is an outgrowth of the state's expanding needs for public education.

One of the problems to be faced by the constitutional convention is whether the system of individual constitutional boards should be extended to all public institutions of higher education.

Another parallel question is whether there should be just one constitutional board of control for all colleges and universities.

MAKE NO SUGGESTION

A citizens advisory committee on education studied the first question but failed to come up with a recommendation. Rather, it was decided, arguments on both sides should be passed along to the constitutional delegates who are charged with making the final decision anyway.

The University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University all have separate boards. So do Ferris Institute, the Michigan College of Mining and Technology and the newly established Grand Valley College.

The affairs of four other institutions—Western, Central and Eastern Michigan universities and Northern Michigan College—are handled by the board of education.

"There are many students of government who believe that the responsibilities of the State Board of Education are and should be much in excess of higher education," the committee commented.

It added that there also is a feeling that the responsibility of acting as a board of control for several institutions is not in the best interest of a given institution.

FAVOR SEPARATE BOARDS
The committee said that those in favor of separate boards argue that:

—Each board can best know its own problems closely.

—The public interest is best served as more people are directly involved in governing boards for each institution.

—Matters critical to serving public need and the particular problems of an institution will be best served by a separate board which has precise responsibilities for a single institution.

—Separate boards properly place policy decisions of many kinds in the purview of the board rather than in the hands of administrators where this falls by default when adequate board supervision and guidance is not available.

But on the other side of the fence, observed the committee, are those who contend:

—There are too many public boards at the present time.

—Voters and the public generally are confused as to lines of responsibility.

—Separate boards promote their own interests in a competitive manner to the disadvantage of the entire system of higher education.

—Fewer boards, each having more responsibility, cuts out red tape and inefficiency in operation and results in lesser cost to the public.

The question of whether the proper solution might be having just one constitutional board of control for all institutions of higher learning was considered by another committee. It also came up with pros and cons.

One of the arguments favoring the idea suggested that a single institution of higher learning be created in the state, controlled by a single board with various institutions being considered branches of one single university.

"Another possibility would be a coordinating board charged chiefly with the task of reviewing and

Editor Is Presented Ernie Pyle Plaque

LANSING (U)—Paul A. Martin, retiring editor and publisher of the Lansing State Journal, has been awarded the Ernie Pyle Plaque of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Martin, who ends 33 years with the Journal Saturday, received the award from the Morley S. Oates Post 701 Wednesday night. He also received a citation from the post for his "great contributions to city, state and nation."

Martin, 75, is believed to be only the second Michigan newspaperman to receive the award. VFW spokesman said. The plaque is named for the famed World War II correspondent who was killed in the Okinawa campaign.

Sweden Stepping Up Her Military Planning

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (U)—Neutral Sweden has announced a move to increase the nation's military readiness in case of emergency.

A communique from the royal Swedish defense staff said: "Normal alert units will be increased with a small number of conscripts" to meet the situation of today. It did not elaborate.

Western American rivers could produce as much electric power in a year as would be generated by 800 million barrels of oil, the Bureau of Reclamation says.

Correspondents to Start Dag Hammarskjöld Fund

UNITED NATIONS (U)—The United Nations Correspondents Association announced Thursday it will establish a $50,000 scholarship fund in memory of the late Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Journalists will be brought from the less developed nations of the world for a year's special study at the U.N. and Columbia University in New York City. Columbia is cooperating with the Correspondents' association on the project.

One spruce tree of about 225 pounds will make 180 newspapers of 28 pages.

Hope Seen for Control of Plant 'Legginess'

Most professional growers and well-informed florists specializing in potted plants will tell you that plants that are too "leggy" are both undesirable and unattractive. They're impractical, too, because they tend to tip over and take up too much room.

Recent tests have shown that "legginess" can be better controlled by growers using precise, self-acting clay pots, which automatically disperse excess water, encouraging the proper kind of root action that directs growth into healthy stems and stalk lengths. Growers are also experimenting successfully with new growth-regulating chemicals that promise even more precise control.

Leaves heavy enough to mat and smother grass should be removed from the lawn before snow covers the yard. And tender shrubs should be covered with burlap.

Pot Bulbs Now for Winter Blooming

Fall's the time to put up a bit of springtime. By forcing hyacinths, daffodils, and tulips into bloom ahead of their natural time or by buying professionally started bulbs, you can have April in January. Blooming bulbs will fill your window sills with beautiful spring flowers that sing with riotous color—just the thing to chase away your winter blues.

Top-sized bulbs are a must. And be sure to select varieties your florist, garden center, or super-market recommends for forcing. You'll also need a supply of red clay pots for planting. You'll find these at your local florist or garden center, too. Choose the kinds that are wider than they are high—low, squat, clay pots known as bulb pans.

When you are ready to plant your bulbs, cover the drainage hole of each clay pot with a flat or concave piece of broken flower pot, and fill in a half inch of pebbles. Over this, add a mixture of equal parts of loam, leafmold, and sand. Press this down firmly, leaving about three inches of space to the rim of the pot, and place the bulbs on this, with a little bit of space—about one-quarter to one-half inch—left between them.

For a good display, plant at least five tulip or daffodil bulbs of the same variety to a pot. Important to use the same variety in a single pot so all the bulbs in the pot will flower at the same time.

Tulips and daffodils make a better show if planted in a group, but hyacinths look well either in a group or planted singly one to a pot. Try several hyacinths of the same variety together in a 7 or 8-inch clay pot, or just one bulb in a 4-inch clay pot. Choose top quality, exhibition-size bulbs for forcing like light blue Bismarck, yellow City of Haarlem, Pink Pearl, white Edelweiss, salmon-pink Lady Derby, or white L'Innocence.

After the bulbs are in place, fill in soil so the noses of the bulbs barely show, and press the soil down firmly to eliminate any large air pockets. Do not fill the soil all the way to the rim of the pot, but leave about an inch of space so it will be easy to water the bulbs later after they have sprouted.

Next, mark each pot with the variety name by tying the label on a tall slim bamboo stake at least a foot long. This length is necessary so that the label will reach above the soil and mulching material with which you cover the pots while roots are forming.

Then, place each pot in a pan of water and let the water soak all the way through the porous clay pot walls and the soil within. After this initial soaking, cover each pot with an empty inverted clay pot of the same size. This will protect the new shoots as they grow.

Next, place each pot in a deep

GOOD LOOKING TOO — To protect evergreens from windburn this winter, house them in three-sided, open-topped pens made of Masonite or Tempered Freshwood. High enough to protect the entire shrub, each enclosure can simply be picked up and stored flat in spring, as the parts fit together without fasteners. Attach a stake to one edge of each panel, applying roundhead screws through holes drilled in the tempered board. Allow four or five inches for the stake end, which should be pointed. In setting up the pen, slip the unsupported edge of each panel, under a bit of tension, against the stake of the adjoining panel, so that when all three panels are in position, each supports the other. This will provide a windproof shelter.

Evergreens Can Be Planted Now

Late Summer planting of evergreens, considered taboo by most weekend gardeners, can be fully as effective as the Spring kind.

In fact, the season for needed varieties and even some of the broadleaves, begins around the middle of August, when the heat can be harnessed to work for you. It is even possible to get a full season's jump in establishing evergreen plantings, according to A. B. McKinstry, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

The so-called Fall planting season really extends to November 15 in Northern areas, progressively longer in Southern localities. An early start is meaningful for the grower in a number of ways. Soil temperatures usually reach their seasonal maximum about September 1, encouraging immediate root growth. Ground conditions are at their best and lawn damage can be kept to a minimum. Importantly, there is a wider range of evergreen stock to select from and nurserymen have more time to devote to the individual requirements of their customers.

On the other hand, the home owner must exercise special care to avert winter injury. Among the precautions: liberal watering, planting windbreaks and/or sunshades for protection against drying, at least through the first winter, plus spraying with anti-desiccants to reduce winter transpiration to a minimum.

For the ranch-type or split-level home, the owner may want to consider new dwarf varieties of Texas and Juniper. For more expansive properties, large pines, old-fashioned spreading yews, pines, spruce, firs in endless variety, and rapidly growing arborescences are still in popular demand.

A record of 52 per cent of all domestic evergreen was imported in quality (beneficiated) last year before shipment to the iron and steel industry, according to American Iron and Steel Institute.

Along about the third week in January, dig up one of the pots, and gently knock the soil ball from the pot to see whether it is covered with a network of

Lary Goes Home With Top Mark on Mound Staff

Bunning Pitches Today Against Twins, Koplitz Saturday Morning

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers open their last series of the season here today against the Minnesota Twins, but for some of the Tiger stars the season is already over.

Frank Lary has left the team for his Northport, Ala., home, taking with him a brilliant 23-9 pitching record, a personal high.

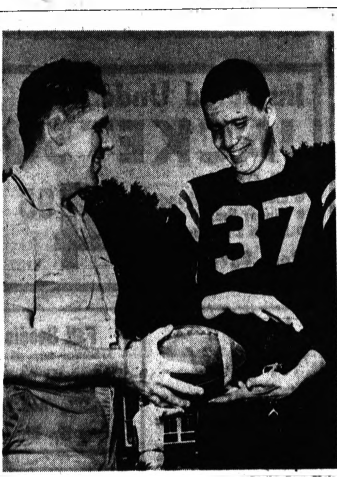

He was an early winner Wednesday night against Kansas City as the Tigers batted around three homers in a 13-1 attack.

Lary was hit on the wrist by a pitched ball in the seventh inning as he was taking his turn at the plate and, although the injury wasn't serious, management apparently felt he had done more than his share already this season.

It appeared that the season was over for Al Kaline also. Kaline was injured while sliding into third in the last Yankee series in Detroit before the final road trip.

His knee has failed to respond to treatment and he is injured 12 nights at Los Angeles.

Jim Bunning got the nod to start today's game in an effort to beat his 17-11 record. If he gets the win he may work to relief in the last two games of the series, tomorrow morning and Sunday afternoon.

PLAN FOR MIKE — St. Frederick coach Tom Kennedy and supporters for the traditional clash with city rival St. Mike Sunday. They will be out to do something about a 15-8 series edge held by the Shamrocks.

Mikes Have 15-8 Edge in City Football Series

BY CHUCK ABRAH — The 27th meeting of football teams representing St. Frederick and St. Michael comes up Sunday afternoon at Wimer Stadium.

It will be the continuation of one of the best grid rivalries in this area. There have been many thrills for the fans of the two schools since the big battles started in 1936.

Shamrock teams have dominated the games in recent years, and now boast a 15-8 edge in triumphs. The other three contests were five-two of them scoreless drags.

St. Mike got off to a slow start in the series but has made up for it since. Big Blue eleven put together a string of eight consecutive victories starting in 1950 before Jack Lyon & Company led the Rams to a 34-12 romp in '52. Two wins since for the leaders gives them 10 successes in the last 11 meetings of the city feds.

The ironical part about the edge being enjoyed by the Shamrocks is that the Lewis Street School did not get its initial happy verdict until the 6th contest. St. Fred took two and there were three ties in the last five affairs.

Two straight triumphs had been the best either could do until St. Michael took over in 1950.

Mike has scored at least six points in the last 17 city title fights being blanked on five occasions. The Red and Black were shutout for the 7th time in '54. They have been scoring steadily since.

The 547 SM in two seasons had the highest combined total, most points made in three games by a team and the greatest difference in a series scored in history.

Top Ram success was by 26-0.

Few Injuries in State Grid Camp Make Duffy Feel Better

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty today named 38 players to the Spartan traveling squad which will make the trip to Wisconsin for tomorrow's opener with the Badgers.

On the squad were 13 sophomores, including backs Sherman Lewis, Earl Lattimer, Dewey Lincoln, Herman Johnson and Ron Rubick.

Daugherty pronounced the Spartans in top shape for the clash with Wisconsin which already has one victory under its belt — a 14-0 decision over Utah.

"We're really lucky to be in such good shape," Daugherty said. "Unlike rural Michigan, which has lost four men to injuries, the Spartans have yet to suffer a serious mishap."

"The players feel good," Daugherty said, "but you can't tell how they'll react until game time."

Left halfback Carl Charon appeared fully recovered from a knee injury which had held him the past three weeks. Daugherty said, however, that if Charon was unable to play against Wisconsin, the 64, 215-pound Johnson would take over. Johnson, a power runner from Plainfield, N.J., has been outstanding in practice sessions.

Lewis will be at the other half and Ron Rubick will lead down the fullback slot. Gary Ballman, still an uncertainty, will see action at halfback also. Ballman, a senior, has been handicapped for the past two years with leg injuries.

Holding down the end slots for State will be seniors Art Brandstatter and Larry Hudus. Jim Bobbitt and Dave Behman, both juniors, will man the tackle spots.

Football Death Saddens Navy

Young Griddier Dies After Being Injured in Practice

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The Naval Academy opened its annual football, by holding weekend games saddened by the death of midshipman Donald Foley, a junior varsity fullback.

Foley, 19, a sophomore from Pasadena, Tex., was injured when he was tackled while carrying the ball at a practice session Wednesday. He died in the Naval Academy Hospital Thursday.

Academy medical officials said Foley died of a neck injury which severed his spinal cord and paralyzed him.

Foley's death was the second in academy history from a gridiron injury and the first college football fatality reported in the country this year.

Funeral services for Foley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Foley of Pasadena, will be held Sunday in the Little Rock Baptist Church at Mexico, Tex.

Swiss Cyclists Triumph

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Plattner and Arnold Von Bismarck triumphed Thursday night on the 75th International Six-Day Bicycle Race, Madison Square Garden's first since 1939. The 14-hour spin ended at midnight.

The Yankees will go into their 26th Series not only with more victories and more experience than the Reds, but with more runs, more home runs, more doubles and fewer errors. The Reds have stolen more bases.

Only in the outfield does Cincinnati present adequate competition but even there the Reds run second best on paper to the Mantle-Marina trio.

New York has a big margin in infield defense, although Cincinnati's first baseman, Gordon Chisholm, and third baseman Gene Freese can hold their own against the Yankees' Bill Skowron and Don Bolinger.

There is no comparison in the catching department.

The bulk of Cincinnati's power comes from Frank Robinson, Vada Pinson, Coleman and Freese, with part-time help from Wally Pate and Jerry Lynch. The Reds are hitting power.

This year's pitching falls far short of the 205 home runs hit by Roger Maris (60), Mickey Vernon (54), Siyomon (48), Yogi Berra (22), Elton Howard (21) and John Blanchard (20).

As a team, the Yankees have smashed 236 home runs to Cincinnati's 125, in eight more games. They have scored 821 runs to the Reds' 685.

Yankees top the Reds in fielding by only two percentage points but they've completed 190 double plays to 122 by the Reds. The big defensive edge in the infield belongs to the Yankees, who have three fielding standouts in second base, Maury Wills, shortstop, and third base, Bobby Richardson.

The best of the Reds' infielders is second baseman Don Blasingame but he fails to measure up to Richardson, Shortstop, Fiddle Kunkin is a steady though not spectacular performer. Freese at third and Coleman at first are just adequate.

The Reds have what may be the weakest catching staff ever to represent a club in a World Series. With youngsters John Edwards and Jerry Zimmerman second of big league experience, Manager Fred Hutchinson probably will entrust the bulk of the catching to Darrell Johnson, a rookie, no hit refugee from the Los Angeles Angels.

Louis, Chicago, New York, White Sox and points was Johnson a few years ago was a third stringer with the Yankees.

Please Lions-- No Heart-Stopper!

By BRUNO L. KEARNS — Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

If it's heart failure you want then be sure to go to the Detroit Lions-San Francisco 49er game Sunday.

After two heart-stoppers against the best in the Western Division, the Lions open their home stand against a team which doesn't figure to be an easy foe. The 49ers, with their "shotgun" offense feel they should be listed among the contenders and aren't going to be scared to defeat by the heralded Detroit defense.

So, this means, get ready for another "clit-hanger."

The play that was the climax to last Sunday's 16-16 win over Baltimore was the big fumble in the final 38 minutes which cost the Colts recovery thought the Colts recovered but found Earl Morrall at the bottom of the pile.

Where did Morrall come from? It appeared there were Baltimore jerseys all over the ball.

The Lions' quarterback finally gave his story and the Lions had the game movie for clarification.

When Pittsburgh fumbled, the ball went rolling free. Amid the leagues leading ground player with 155 yards, expect the "shotgun" to do a better job rushing than Green Bay or Baltimore.

They point to the fact they out-gained the Packers last week despite losing 30-10 as result of couple bad breaks late in the game. The game will pit two of the best defensive backfields against each other. The four "L" boys of the Lions — Dick Lane, Yale Lary, Gary Lowe and Dick LeBeau — will face Jerry Mertens, Al Woodson, Dave Baker and Eddie Dove of the 49ers.

Both teams enter the game in good shape and the 49ers are one of the few teams in the league who have not lost a game in the series. San Francisco has won 13 and lost 10 against Detroit and have outscored the Lions 489 to 483.

Game time is 1:30 p.m. Reserved seats tickets can still be purchased in advance. Bleacher seats however will go on sale at 11:00 a.m. Sunday. No bleacher seats will be sold in advance.

Some of the Colt players standing excitedly motioned if they were back on the field Monday night. This would have been an easy position for a field goal by Steve Myer.

The 49ers, with J. D. Smith as

Yankees Lead Cincinnati in Statistical Departments

NEW YORK (AP)—Once past the pitching, where the teams are rated fairly even, the New York Yankees have a wide edge in the statistical departments.

The Yankees will go into their 26th Series not only with more victories and more experience than the Reds, but with more runs, more home runs, more doubles and fewer errors. The Reds have stolen more bases.

Bobby Smith Major Threat for UCLA 11

Wolverines Will Seek to Counter With Speed of Dave Raimeny

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—There are probably 65,000 Bob Smiths in the United States but few play a better brand of football than UCLA's Bobby Lee Smith.

He's the biggest reason why Michigan coach Bump Elliott has his Wolverines mentally conditioned for a rough afternoon Saturday against the Bruins — not the usual first game breather.

The 196-pound Compton Comet appears to be UCLA's big star after two frustrating seasons as a substitute for Bill Kilmer, the departed All-American fullback.

Against the Air Force Academy last week, Smith had all 11 the points in a 24-0 opening victory which confirmed the opinion of many who pick the Bruins as the best in the Far West.

The Wolverines have a counter-part in junior fullback Dave Raimeny, the team's leading scorer a year ago with six touchdowns. Raimeny, who has done the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds, looks as the big man in the Michigan ground attack.

Elliott promises a veteran first team this season but a squad lacking depth.

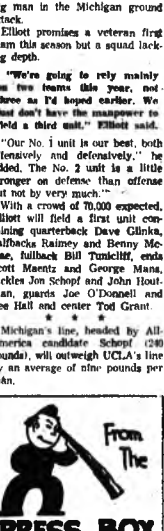

"We're going to rely mainly on two teams this year, not three as I'd hoped earlier. We have to have the manpower to field a third string," Elliott said.

"Our No. 1 unit is our best, both offensively and defensively," he added. The No. 2 unit is a little stronger on defense than offense but not by much.

Elliot expects a crowd of 70,000 expected. Elliott will field a first unit containing quarterback Dave Glinka, halfbacks Raimeny and Benny McLean, fullback Bill Tuschell, ends Scott Maentz and George Mans, tackles Jim Schopf and John Houtman, guards Joe O'Donnell and Lee Hall and center Todd Grant.

Michigan's line, headed by All-American candidate Schopf (290 pounds), will outweigh UCLA's line by an average of nine pounds per man.

Mickey Mantle is finished for the regular season but should be ready for World Series play. He was ordered to a New York hospital Thursday by the club physician for treatment of an abscess in the region above the right hip. It is just another in the long line of physical problems for the Yankee slugger.

The Floyd Patterson-Tom McNewley heavyweight title bout may be held as part of a big closed circuit TV affair in Toronto next week.

Baughn is taken seriously in Alaskan. A teenage team coach has charged in a $3,000 demand that he be "busted and struck about the face" by an umpire during an argument over a decision made by the arbiter.

Kerbawy Will Test Pistons in Court

DETROIT (AP)—The celebrated basketball player Detroit Pistons and W. Nick Kerbawy, the man they fired as general manager, appeared headed from the basketball court to the courtroom.

Kerbawy said yesterday he received a letter notifying him that his services as vice president and general manager of the National Basketball Association club were terminated effective tomorrow at midnight.

He signed a 10-year contract with Pistons owner Fred Zollner June 11, 1958, in what was reported at the time as a $1-million deal.

"I have 16 years to go at $43,000 a year on a written contract," said Kerbawy. "I'll take a little more than a letter to end it."

"I have turned the matter over to my attorneys, will proceed on to their advice and intend to have the courts pass on it."

Zollner gave Kerbawy a leave of absence last Jan. 12, saying his general manager was concerned himself with a front office dispute.

Kerbawy quoted the letter as saying he was fired because of his "total and material breach of contract by your actions prior to Jan. 12, 1961."

"I don't know what they mean by that charge," Kerbawy said. "I had fully expected to return in the future."

He said he and Zollner hadn't discussed the situation for several months.

Can Report Directly to President

Gen. Clay So Welcome in Berlin

By PHIL NEWSON

BONN, West Germany (UPI)—People here are glad for a special reason that Gen. Lucius Clay has been named the President's special representative in Berlin.

Clay is well remembered in West Germany as the American commander whose airlift saved Berlin from starvation during the Russian blockade of 1948-49. And as such he has enormous prestige.

But today it is more than that. It is the fact that Clay was named personally to his new post by President Kennedy, and therefore obviously possesses the President's complete trust.

That means, according to the belief here, that Clay not only will have a pipeline direct to the President's office in case of emergency, but also in special cases may have the authority to act quickly on his own.

This view holds despite the unfortunate event of last week in which Clay was quoted as saying that East Germany would have part in control of West Berlin's air corridors to the West, and that the two governments should negotiate with each other.

SHOCKED BY REPORT

Clay was shocked by the reports, and said he came to Berlin as a symbol of determination—not to sell out the city.

It should be pointed out that this implies no lack of presidential confidence in U. S. Ambassador Walter Dowling, an experienced career diplomat here, nor in the military and U. S. civilian officials in West Berlin.

"Dawling won't worry about Clay," said one American here. "About Berlin they think alike."

It generally is conceded that if real trouble is to arise soon over the Berlin issue, it most easily could come in one of the three 24-mile wide corridors allotted the Western Allies for free entry and exit by air and from West Berlin.

Soviet fighters have buzzed civilian airliners flying these corridors, but so far there has been no real incident. But there is increasing pressure for permission for Allied fighter craft to fly escort for the airliners in case the emergency deepens.

There is also a belief that had one American representative had the authority to act on the spot, the Soviets never would have gotten away with erecting their barbed wire and concrete barricade last Aug. 13 between East and West Berlin.

In the present circumstances, all officials are wary of being quoted directly. But as one German official explained it:

PENTAGON FIRST

"American military men must report to the Pentagon and then perhaps the report will reach the President."

"The American ambassador must do the same, except that his report goes to the State Department."

"No one knows whether the President ever sees it or in what form it will be edited before he sees it."

The Soviets and East Germans caught the Western Allies by surprise when they erected their illegal barrier along the line dividing the two Berlins.

Clay's uncompromising stand against the Soviets in 1948 is well remembered here. And people believe he would have been uncompromising this time, too.

Yugoslavia Sentences Cleric, Other as Spies

BEGRABE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—A Protestant pastor and another Yugoslav were convicted Thursday on charges of spying for a West German intelligence service and making anti-Yugoslav propaganda.

The pastor, Istvan Crecpazny, was sentenced to 7½ years. His codefendant, Rudolf Grafenstein, drew a four-year term. They were tried at Becej, a northern town, the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said.

Asian Flu Due in U.S. Again

Type 'B' of Virus May Also Be Felt by Americans This Year

Asian flu is due to hit Americans again this year. Another influenza virus, Type "B," is already overdue in reaching its peak year and may possibly be felt this season.

Both viruses appear in cycles. Both may reach their peak in the number of infections during the season from November 1961 to March 1962, according to the Oakland County Health Department. There has been no major outbreak since 1956.

These two types were prevalent in the 1960-61 British flu season which took an estimated 1,000 lives.

Pontiac General Hospital has already made available to its employees a poly-valent vaccine which includes protection against the Asian type flu.

INJECTIONS ADVISED
Preventive injections are especially advised for persons having chronic illnesses, for those over the age of 65 and for pregnant women of any age. Anyone who wishes to take the shots should consult his family doctor.

Once the virus has been contracted, the symptoms are nasal congestion, cough, aches and pains and a general run-down feeling, according to Dr. Bernard Berman, the county's deputy health director.

Berman advises the infected to see a physician.

"It is important that the patient get lots of rest and proper diet," Berman said, "because the viruses are not usually fatal by themselves but can weaken the patient to make him more susceptible to more dangerous diseases like pneumonia."

U.S. Expanding Missile Arsenal to 54 ICBMs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of 54 U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles are due on the firing line within the next three months.

The first squadron of nine Titan missiles in underground silos is expected to become operational before next year at Lowry Air Force Base near Denver. Columbia expects the schedule to hold despite labor troubles.

Launch bases for two more squadrons of nine Atlas missiles each, are rounding into shape at Fairchild Air Force base, Spokane, Wash., and Forbes Air Force Base, Topeka, Kan.

Together with 27 other Atlases already in place elsewhere, this will bring the total of combat-ready Atlas missiles to 45.

All 54 U.S. ICBMs mount thermonuclear warheads packing an explosive punch of between two and three million tons of TNT.

U.N. to Hear Indonesia on Dispute Over Island

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Foreign Minister Subandrio leaves Monday for the United Nations to present Indonesia's reply to the Netherlands' plan for settling their long dispute over West New Guinea.

Ranking officials said Indonesia will accept any plan authorizing the United Nations to administer the territory for one or two years preparatory to handing it over to Indonesian authority. The Dutch proposed to turn their administration of the island over to the United Nations until the people are ready for self rule.

West, Neutrals Get Together

Diplomats Join to Try Appointing Fill-In U.N. Secretary General

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Western and neutral diplomats joined today in efforts to appoint a temporary secretary general after latest U.S.-Soviet negotiations on the issue broke down.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet delegate Valerian A. Zorin met twice Thursday. The United States was said to have turned down the latest Soviet plan for a four-man executive to run the United Nations.

Zorin said that the four would have to agree on any decision, but added that they would work as a team with a rotating chairman. This, he claimed, would eliminate the idea of a veto which has been the main sticking point in the Soviet Union old trilateral plan.

The United States was said to have turned down this proposal on grounds that the veto still would be present.

POLITICAL ELEMENT

U.S. officials also are reported opposed to the plan because the four would be chosen from West, neutral and Communist nations, thus injecting a political element into the U.N. administration.

The door was kept open for further negotiations, however, and the United States is expected to meet with the Soviets again in a few days.

Some diplomats believe that mounting opposition to the Soviet plan may finally compel the Soviets to drop the veto idea altogether. Soviet insistence on a multilateral executive has angered many neutrals who viewed it as an attempt to undermine the authority of the United Nations.

U.N. operations were virtually shut down today while key delegates and secretaries general attended the state funeral for Dag Hammarskjöld in Stockholm.

Dog Saves Life of Driver Hurt in Car Smash

SARNIA, Ont. (AP)—A young collie named Rex came to the aid of an injured motorist who was hurt in a car crash today by his wrecked automobile, and was credited with saving his life.

Thomas Ward, 30, Sarnia, lost control of his car and slammed into two trees before the car halted. The driver injured and bleeding.

Ward, slumped in the front seat, bled from his chest. He called for help in vain for 10 minutes. Rex turned up, peered into an open door of the car and began licking the hand of the injured driver.

Ward, barely able to walk, grasped the dog's collar in the hope that Rex would find human help.

Rex half dragged him 350 yards across the highway to the home of his owner, Lawrence Johnston. Ward knocked on the door and aroused the sleeping residents who sent for police and a doctor.

Ward, now on the mend, told police that without the help of Rex he might have bled to death.

Report 'Possible' Conference on Berlin

Gromyko May Talk With Kennedy

From Our News Wire
NEW YORK—U.S. officials said today there is "a possibility" Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will visit Washington next week to confer with President Kennedy on the Berlin crisis.

No definite decision or arrangement has been made, these sources said, adding that much would depend on the results of a Saturday conference with Gromyko here.

It will be their third Berlin discussion in 10 days.

Some Western officials think Premier Khrushchev probably prefers to stall off a conference until after a Soviet Communist party meeting in Moscow late next month.

There is speculation he may sign the treaty with Communist East Germany or announce definite plans for signing it at that time. This he may not want to get into negotiations until he has secured.

U.S. officials in Washington are concerned by reports of increasing West German criticism of American policy on Berlin.

They believe that much of this criticism is not justified, and are nervousness and irritation, all played by German officials will only make it more difficult to arrive at a Berlin solution.

American officials said the United States does not intend to retreat from its pledges. Privately, these officials appeared annoyed by statements implying German suspicion that such a retreat might be considered.

"In drafting its foreign policy, the United States is working closer with the Allies than ever before," an Washington official said.

Rusk devoted most of today to talks with various visiting dignitaries at the U.N. General Assembly.

He was meeting in individual conferences with the foreign ministers of Nationalist China, the Congo, Somalia, Nepal, Ethiopia and Mali.

He also planned separate conferences with the Greek and Cypriot ambassadors to the United Nations.

Rusk is tentatively scheduled to return to Washington Sunday. He will meet with Lord Home Saturday afternoon to consider the results of his Saturday morning session with Gromyko.

Western foreign ministers were reported to be making slow progress in obtaining information from Gromyko on Soviet plans for negotiating on the Berlin crisis.

Rusk and Foreign Secretary Lord Home of Britain have spent a total of more than 10 hours meeting with the top Soviet diplomat in the past eight days, and their main questions about Soviet intentions are said to be still unanswered.

Western diplomats reported the talks have yielded some slight indication that the Soviet Union may be seriously interested in arranging a Big Four foreign ministers conference later on, but it obviously is in no haste to do so.

asleep in another part of the house. Michael was outside when the incident took place, he told police.

The girl was lying on the floor of a bedroom with the knife pointing toward the victim, said Allen. "The girl was lying next to it and the knife was in a closed position."

The 16-year-old girl was still there but Castro became frightened and ran from the house. Police picked him up for questioning at his home about two hours later.

They quoted Castro as saying he and Miss Masagena were sitting on a couch in the living room and didn't see the shooting take place.

"I heard John tell Janet he would shoot her and she replied 'go ahead.' This has happened before," Castro told police.

Miss Masagena supported Castro's statement, police said.

Castro said he turned to her and said, "Someday he is going to shoot somebody," and then John went off.

"I heard the shot," then John started crying for his mother. I was scared and ran," police quoted Castro as saying.

RELEASE PAIR
He and Miss Masagena were released after questioning.

The victim was identified by an uncle, Albert Olson of 914 Glen St., and removed to the Donelson John Funeral Home.

Miss Olson, the youngest of two Olson children, and Haase both dropped out of Pontiac High School last spring.

Haase was readmitted in September on a probationary basis. Police said he had an extensive juvenile record and was currently serving probation for an unarmed robbery conviction last Dec. 7.

Knight Says Nixon Offered Him a Deal

"We don't want any publicity that we are meeting."

"On Sept. 7 this same man called me from Los Angeles while I was at the El Dorado Hotel in Sacramento. He had been calling all over the state to find me."

"He said, 'Dick's going to run.' I had two witnesses in the room. I had them bend an ear to the phone so they could hear the conversation."

'ANYTHING YOU WANT'
"I said, 'All right.' The man said, 'He has asked if you will meet with him and Bob Finch...'"

"He said, 'Dick is willing to offer you chief justice of the state supreme court or anything else you want if you won't run against Dick.' I said I was going to run."

"Richard Nixon did offer me the highest judicial office in California for a political favor, the public exposure of his act would require that he withdraw from the race for governor."

School Unit Allows Time for Bid Change

The Board of Education of Pontiac last night decided to call a special meeting next week to give the school architects and contractors time to renegotiate changes in bids for a renovation of Jefferson Junior High School.

Bids totaling $309,745 were submitted to the board last night. The architect's estimate was $350,000.

The contractors' total does not include a $7,000 error reported after the bids were submitted by the firm bidder in general contract, Schurer Construction Co., of Detroit.

Asst. Supt. Otto C. Hutzinger said the firm realized it had not bid high enough after bids were received.

Negotiations between a school architect Eberle M. Smith Associates and Schurer Construction will determine how much of the increase the firm may be able to absorb.

Smith told the board he would have an answer within four or five days.

Low bidder in the mechanical trades was a Pontiac firm, Sylvan Plumbing and Heating, at $19,000. In electrical trades, low bidder was Leslie L. Johnson of Detroit, with $29,745.

The board decided to reject all bids on general construction at Northern High School. Only two bids were received.

The low bid by Garancia Construction Co. of Grosse Pointe was $79,540.

The school architect's estimate had been $73,000. Of this $73,000 was estimated for an addition to the gymnasium and $5,000 to con-

Castro Closes All Gambling Spots in Havana

HAVANA (AP)—The last of Havana's gambling casinos closed quietly today within minutes after Prime Minister Fidel Castro had announced his government is cleaning up the city, once wide open.

Addressing a huge rally at Havana's Square of the Revolution, Castro promised measures to rehabilitate Havana's prostitutes and drive out white slave racketeers.

He warned dealers in the vice they face stiff penalties and told them to "go to Miami if they want. We will even pay their plane tickets." This was greeted with cheers.

The scene at the gambling casino was more sober. Players immediately started leaving when told of Castro's order.

The women joined thousands of laborers clearing ground and razing houses under the supervision of armed guards along the 23-mile sector border. The appearance of the women suggested a manpower shortage in East Berlin.

Female workers were sighted along the Teltow Canal opposite the American zone. A number of fugitives have escaped to freedom by swimming the waterway.

Communist workers are being sent to turn such areas in suburban sections of the border into zones bereft of cover to give Red guards a clear view of escapes. The road of the border has long been marked by a similar death zone.

CONTINUE TO ESCAPE
Despite the effort to seal the border ever tighter, East Germans continued to filter through to the West. Another 20 persons were reported to have made it across by midnight.

Elsewhere in East Germany, thousands of Communist agents were reported working to tighten security along the common border with West Germany.

A private intelligence agency, resident of the 835-mile border have been told to report the presence of anyone who slips into the three-mile-wide border zone with out official permission.

Man Can't Get Away With Anything Today

There's No Fool Like an Old Would-Be Wife-Fooler

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Can you fool your wife about anything? If you can, you must be a genius.

For the fine old masculine art of wife-fooling is rapidly becoming a vanished skill. Science, invention, law and government have conspired to make it all but impossible.

There was a time when the man of the house was something of a mystery to his household, and the real master of his mansion.

That was largely because he was armed by financial secrecy. How much he was paid was a secret between him and his boss, and many a strong-minded husband chose not to share that secret with his wife and children.

"We can't afford it!" he could tell them when they tried to raid his treasury for some purchase he thought unnecessary. And his word was law, for no one else in the family knew the real size of his bankroll.

In that golden male past the only way a wife could estimate the old boy's worth was to go through his pockets after he fell asleep on a rainy night. Even then, if he had the common sense to stash some of his cash in his shoe, she thought him poorer than he was.

In those days a husband could use his stashed cash to bet on the ponies, invest in poker, handle his tab at the saloon or play the stock market, and his wife was none the wiser.

MODERN METHODS
But today? All is changed. The joint bank account and the joint income tax return have made it impossible for a husband to fool the little woman about how much he earns and what he does with his money.

She knows, where every penny comes from—and where it goes.

He can't even earn a few dollars on an outside job and squirrel it away for a bit of wholesome private fun, or to mail to his dear old mother. Not, anyway, without reporting it to Uncle Sam. And when he reports it to Uncle Sam he reports it to his wife, too. For she studies that joint income tax before she signs it.

"It says here you earned $375 extra this year from outside sources," she says. "All right, Buster, cough up my share."

WIVES FOOL PROOF
It is practically impossible now to fool wives in other matters. A few examples:

An older husband once could marry a younger woman and lie to her about his age. Not any more. His driver's license, his passport, his insurance policy, make his age about as secret from her as the date on her kitchen calendar.

Once a husband could stay out late with the boys, creep silently on stockinged feet up the stairs, and the next morning assure his wife he got home three hours earlier than he did.

But not since wives started putting chain latches on the front door. For every burglar surprised by a chain latch, a thousand husbands have been caught flat-footed trying to sneak home late.

A husband can't even cheat on his diet and blandly tell his wife he has lost three more pounds. "Just stop in the bathroom scales," she demands—and his big lie is exposed.

It's that way in about everything. Man's authority has been gnawed away by the gradual loss of mystery with which he once cloaked himself. Why, today he can't even catch a cold and keep it to himself. It'll get around.

A modern husband who tries to fool his wife only keds himself, and maybe makes laughter for the neighbors.

TOGETHERNESS — Mr. and Mrs. George Woodman of Washington, D. C., puff their way to the national man-and-wife pipe-smoking championship at Richmond, Va., Thursday. They kept their pipes lit longer than any other team.

After 16 minutes and 51 seconds, out went the first pipe—that of Erna Gerdes, wife of the eventual champion. She admitted it was her first attempt at smoking a pipe. Did she plan to keep on?

"I believe I'll quit."

RECORD OVER 2 HOURS
One by one the other contestants dropped out, victims of "flameouts." Pipes cannot be stoked up again once they've gone out.

Finally it was down to Spanada, the 1941 winner, and Gerdes. At the 57-minute, 47-second mark, Spanada's pipe went out. Gerdes lasted another 8 1/2 minutes.

Gerdes' performance was far from the record—that's 2 hours, 5 minutes, 7 seconds set in 1934 by the late Max Ingre, another Flint smoker.

FLORIDA SCHOOLS OFFER
New 'Basic' Course
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Pilot courses in "Americanism vs. communism" will be offered in some Florida high schools next spring.

The 1961 legislature, in requiring the course said it must be installed in all public high schools during the 1962-63 school year.

State School Supt. Thomas Bailey announced appointment of a 13-member advisory committee Thursday to draw up a guide for use by teachers in giving the instruction. The law requires a minimum of 30 hours in the fields of communism and the advantages of the American capitalist system.

Senate Group Warns Nation

Reds See Jobless Powerful Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist party looks upon unemployed Americans as a battering arm to be used at will to shatter the structure of the U.S. government, a Senate group said today.

The warning is included in a study made by the staff of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. A report on the study was made public today.

'WELL-PLANNED OPERATION'
"The strategy of the Communists among the unemployed must be viewed as a well-planned subversive paramilitary operation rather than a serious movement for social legislation and relief," the report said.

The staff study found significant change in the timing of articles and photographs published last March 5 by the "Worker," the official publication of the Communist party in the United States. The pictures and stories recalled the unemployment riots of the 1930s.

4.5 MILLION JOBLESS
The report noted that official estimates last March placed the number of unemployed in the United States at 5.1 million. This month's unemployment estimate is about 4.5 million. It suggested that the special edition of 100,000 copies of the Worker was turned out as part of a plan probably hatched in Moscow to stir up trouble among the jobless.

"The tactics which the Communists employed in the 1930s during a previous period of unemployment and which are now recalled (by the Worker) for the guidance of its members during the present unemployment period follow a distinct pattern which we present for the legislative information of the United States Senate and incidentally as a warning to the American people," the staff report said.

TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY
A prepared statement accompanying the study said the Worker's special edition "admittedly was issued" to observe the anniversary of the unemployment riots and marches of March 6, 1930, in many sections of the country. It said those demonstrations were carefully planned under orders from Moscow.

"It is highly probable," the statement said, in paraphrase of the report, "that the call for renewed activity sounded in the Worker of March 5, 1961, is motivated by a Soviet desire to bring internal pressure upon the American government which would be coordinated and synchronized with Soviet pressure upon the United States in foreign fields."
