Heavy Balloting Indicated Despite Bad Weather

Winter Weather Fails to Daunt Voters

'SNO FOOLIN' — Your vote is needed today regardless of who you support. This message drawn on the back window of a parked car this morning is evidence of the kind of weather which greeted voters here. Pontiac Press Photo

And in Charleston, Politicians Are Burning

Mrs. Ray Etue, wife of a sheet metal worker, awakened at 5:30 a. m. There was no mistaking an expected child was to arrive shortly. Her second child was born in an automobile speeding through downtown Flint to a hospital.

Papa Etue, remembering No. 2, insisted on a fast trip to the hospital. But Mama would have none of it.

So they waited—Papa nervously, Mama calmly—until the polls opened. Mama and Papa plunked in their ballots at 7:15 a. m., then took off for the hospital. Twenty minutes after at 7:35 a. m. their fourth son, Michael, was born.

How'd Papa and Mama vote? They didn't say.

CHICAGO (UP)—The independent voters of Illinois prepared to celebrate an election victory even before a vote was cast.

"The I-V-I supports split ticket voting," the organization said. "Some of its candidates are bound to win.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A Republican torchlight parade—modeled after the political displays of old—left some burning impressions here last night.

Both Charleston Mayor John T. Copenhaver and Miss Elizabeth Hallanan, a candidate for the House of Delegates, said torch sparks burned holes in their coats.

Tom Sweeney, Republican candidate for U. S. Senate, reported no incendiary incidents, but said he got blisters from carrying a sign.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. (UP) — Fire Chief Kick Kennison and Fire Capt. Dale Holmes helped a motorist fix a flat tire and learned the driver was Democratic Sen. Guy M. Gillette. He offered to pay for the job but the firemen refused.

"Who can I say helped me?" Gillette asked.

Over Two Million Voters Expected at State Polls

County Precincts Cite Steady Stream of Electors; Several Over 200 Mark

Voting was "steady and good" throughout Oakland County and Pontiac this morning, according to election officials.

County Clerk Lynn D. Allen reported over 200 voters in some township precincts by 1 p. m. with indications of a heavy vote despite bad weather.

Pontiac City Clerk Ada R. Evans said most of the city's 44 precincts were over the 100 mark by 11:30 with many close to 200.

In the Royal Oak area, voting was heavy and compared by officials with the 1952 vote.

Royal Oak city averaged 200 per precinct up till 11 a. m. with 4,500 ballots cast out of 30,560 registered voters.

Also averaging about 200 per precinct at 11 a. m. were Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods, Pleasant Ridge, Berkley, Clawson, Oak Park, Lathrup Village plus Royal Oak, Troy and Southfield Townships.

Besides selecting persons to fill elective offices, county voters will decide one special issue and Pontiac citizens two extra proposals.

A majority "yes" vote from all county residents balloting is needed to approve a half-mill tax increase (50 cents per $1,000 of property valuation) to finance a $4,500,000 bond issue for construction of a new county courthouse.

Property owners approved issuance of the bonds in the August primary, but the extra tax needed to finance them was turned down.

H. Wayne Gabert, of the Citizens Courthouse Committee, today protested the wording "Courthouse Millage (Shall we build a new courthouse?)" which appeared in the summary of special issues on the front page of the Pontiac Press Monday.

"This may mislead some voters," said Gabert. "Everyone agrees we need a new court house. But many are opposed to building it away out on the edge of the city on the site chosen by the Board of Supervisors."

Pontiac property owners are asked for a second time to support a $3,000,000 bond issue for expanding Pontiac General Hospital. Tax money to support the bonds was authorized last April, but the needed 60 per cent "yes" vote was not returned by property owners.

A city charter change allowing slight increases in pension benefits to city employes will be ruled on DETROIT (AP)—There were indications today that Michigan despite raw weather over much of the state, might be rolling up a record off-year vote of 2,000,000 or more.

Practically all areas reported at 10 a. m. that voting was ahead of 1950, the last non-presidential election, when a record 1,879,000 voted.

In Detroit at 11 a. m., 94,001 had voted, compared with 85,140 to the same time four years ago.

Lansing cast 7,820 ballots in the first three hours, compared with 6,000 in the same time in 1950 and 9,040 in 1952, a presidential year.

Bay City reported voting "much heavier than four years ago" and estimated 5,000 votes had been cast in Bay County by 10:30 a.m. in 1952, when the county cast a record 36,500 votes, there were around 8,500 in boxes by 11 a. m.

Saginaw reported the voting "under 1952 county-wide, but ahead of 1950."

Muskegon said voting was "quite heavy for an off year."

Grand Rapids said it was heavier than in the primary there.

If the voters say "yes," Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams will win his unprecedented fourth two-year term and take a big step toward national political prominence.

If the voters say "no," Donald S. Leonard, the Republican nominee and former Detroit and state police commissioner, will win the governorship and break Williams' six-year grip on Michigan politics.

If the voters say "yes," U. S. Sen. Homer Ferguson, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, will go back to the Senate for another term and contribute to Republican strength in Congress.

If the voters say "no," a new political face, homey, soft-spoken Patrick V. McNamara of Detroit will be Michigan's new senator and contribute to the Democratic control of the Senate.

The voters will decide whether the Republican party picks up one or two additional Congressional seats to add to the 13 it now

Taylor to Head Ground Forces

General Will Command Japan, Okinawa, Korea Troops Under Hull

SEOUL (AP)—The United States, streamlining its top command in the Far East "to improve its strategic position," today named Gen. Maxwell B. Taylor to head all ground forces in Japan, Okinawa and Korea.

Taylor, the present U. S. 8th Army commander here, will assume his new duties Nov. 20.

Almost simultaneously, the Army said the U. S. 9th Corps headquarters, at reduced strength, will be moved from Korea to Japan this month.

Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey will command the 9th. He is now deputy commanding general of Army Forces Far East at Camp Zama in Japan.

Taylor's new job still leaves him directly under Gen. John E. Hull, who will retain command of all U. S. military forces in the Far East—Army, Navy and Air Force.

Taylor will combine the staffs of the headquarters of Army Forces Far East at Camp Zama, Japan, and the 8th Army in Seoul into a single command.

Taylor told a news conference he plans to spend "considerable time" in Korea and considers Korea the main part of his organization.

He described the regrouping of U. S. forces in the Pacific as having four purposes:

Unity of command, ease and quickness of adjusting U. S. forces in the Far East, economy of personnel and readiness and easy availability of forces.

The moves are part of a plan to cut down U. S. military strength in Korea. Elements of the 24th Division — the first U. S. ground troops to see action in the Korean War—will be redeployed to Japan.

Ad Solicitation Brings Warning by Officials

Reports that local men are being solicited today by telephone for advertising in the "Republican State National Journal" were received by the Better Business Board of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce.

These reports came hard on the heels of another report from Berry N. Beaman, finance director of the Oakland County Republican Committee. Beaman reported that county residents are being solicited for political advertising in the "Keystone Republican."

Beaman warned that "there is no official publication of the Republican party—either state or national—that solicits or accepts paid advertising."

Harry Truman Predicts Dem Victory at Polls

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UP) — Former President Truman, cheerful despite raw, 23-degree weather, cast his ballot at 8 a.m., EST., here today and smilingly predicted the nation's voters would give "the right answer again."

Mr. Truman, No. 13 in his precinct to vote, at first hesitated to make a comment on the election outcome. But when pressed by a battery of newsmen and photographers, he said:

"Well, it's going to be the right answer, again. The Democrats are going to win."

The former chief executive braved cold winds as he walked along from his home to the Memorial Building, two blocks away. He wore a gray topcoat which he kept buttoned all the time. He carried a cane.

Returns Show Voting Conflict

All Pointe Aux Barques Goes Republican; Dems Get N.H. Precinct

POINTE AUX BARQUES (AP) —This traditionally all-Republican, first-to-report precinct today gave Senator Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) and Don Leonard, GOP nominee for governor, all of its 14 votes.

Two years ago 15 voted—all Republican.

There was one Democratic vote cast for those on the statewide ticket. Thomas Kavanaugh, running for attorney general, got it. Frank Millard, the Republican incumbent, got the other 13.

Dr. Ida D. McCoy, Democratic nominee for Congress from nearby Port Austin, split 7-7 with Rep. Jesse Wolcott (R-Mich), seeking reelection from the Seventh District.

On proposed constitutional amendments the vote was:

No. 1—Yes 13, No 1.
No. 2—Yes 10, No 2.
No. 3—Yes 9, No 3.
No. 4—Yes 8, No 6.

Pointe Aux Barques is at the very tip of the Michigan thumb on Lake Huron. Traditionally its handful of voters gather and cast their ballots with opening of the polls. Then when all are in, they're quickly tabulated.

HART'S LOCATION, N. H. (AP)—The first election returns in the nation today gave Democratic candidates a 6-4 edge over Republicans in this tiny mountain village in traditionally Republican New Hampshire.

The polls opened seconds after midnight and closed at 12:00 a. m. after all 10 registered voters cast ballots.

The vote:

U. S. Senate full term: Gerald L. Morin (D) 6; Sen. Bridges (R) 4.

U. S. Senate, unexpired term of the late Sen. Tobey: Stanley J. Betley (D) 6; Rep. Norris Cotton (R) 4.

Hart's Location has not always voted straight Republican but it generally was favored the GOP over Democratic candidates.

Fewer Planes Hunt Transport

Hopes Are Dwindling for Finding Survivors Among 42 on Lost Craft

NEW YORK (UP) — The possibility of finding any survivors among the 42 persons aboard a huge Super-Constellation missing on a flight over the Atlantic dwindled today.

Officials conducting one of the greatest combined air-sea searches in history for the Navy transport cut the air arm of the search operation in half.

A naval spokesman, however, said the officials had not given up all hope that survivors would be found.

The plane, carrying four women and five children among its passengers and crew of 42, was last heard from at 11 p.m. Saturday —90 minutes after it took off from Patuxent, Md., for the Azores and Africa.

Many of the persons aboard were returning to duty after stateside leave or were reporting overseas for new assignments. About half of the 21-man crew was to have debarked at the Azores to pick up another plane.

Air Force B-29s from Prestwick, Scotland, joined Navy and Coast Guard planes in the widespread search Monday. The aircraft carrier Leyte and the escort carrier Kula Gulf sent their planes aloft.

The Navy said a combined Navy, Coast Guard, Army air search using 100 aircraft would get under way at dawn. In addition, about 30 ships are actively engaged in the search for the plane.

An undisclosed number of aircraft equipped with radar search screens operated throughout the night without finding trace of the missing aircraft.

Last-Minute Vote Pleas Made by Ike, Adlai, Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a last-hour effort to get the stay-at-homes to vote, has told Americans, "There is no such thing as sitting out an election."

Eisenhower's final pre-election radio and television talk last night was virtually nonpartisan in content and dealt mainly with a citizen's responsibility to vote.

Sitting on a sofa with Mrs. Eisenhower beside him, the President said any qualified voter who stays at home doubles the "value of the vote of anyone who does not believe in the things you believe in."

Therefore, he said, "either negatively or positively you are voting for what you believe in."

As the President was leaving the TV-radio studio he indicated by a remark to James C. Hagerty, his press secretary, that he is glad the rugged political campaign is over.

"By golly," he said with a grin and a sigh of relief, "sometimes you sure get tired of all this clackety-clack."

Eisenhower's 10 minute talk came after Vice President Nixon had spoken from Denver. Nixon introduced the President as a man who has "restored real dignity and responsibility to the highest office in the land."

Adlai E. Stevenson, making an election eve appeal in New York for the Democrats, hit at people who "would divide us on the matter of peace, for partisan advantage."

The Democratic standard bearer declared:

GM to Double Fourth Dividend

Each Share of Common to Receive $2 Payment for Last Quarter

NEW YORK (UP)—General Motors Corp. announced Monday it would double its common dividend for the fourth quarter of this year.

The firm said it would pay a dividend of $2 instead of the $1 dividend it had paid every quarter since the start of 1951.

The latest payment, described as a "year-end dividend," is payable Dec. 10 to stockholders of record Nov. 10.

It brings the total payments this year to $5, ranking second only to 1950 when $6 per share—based on present capitalization—was paid.

The December dividend means that giant GM, which leads all other companies in both sales and assets, will pay out more than $435,000,000 in dividends to its common stockholders in 1954.

Pontiac Commission Will Meet Thursday

Because of the election today, Pontiac City Commission will meet Thursday night. A canvass of the election and regular business will be carried out at the meeting, slated for 8 p. m. in the Municipal Court building.

Season's First Snow Hits Pontiac Area Early Today

A mass of frigid air moving down from Canada brought the first snow of the season into the Pontiac area early today. The U. S. Weather Bureau reported one inch of snow had fallen by 10 a. m.

Because of the warm earth, the snow melted as it hit the pavement and did not affect traffic conditions in either Pontiac or Oakland County, authorities reported.

Oscar D. Loomis, county road commissioner, said he believed there was enough heat in the pavement to melt any continued snow.

"Unless it gets unusually cold — down around 25 degrees or below — we don't expect much trouble, no matter how much snow falls," he said.

Joseph R. Jewell, Pontiac DPW superintendent, said his

Press Will Furnish Results on Election

Returns on major races in today's election will be available by telephone from the Pontiac Press tonight starting at 9 p.m. The number is FE 2-8181. Because of anticipated heavy vote, returns from county precincts will not be available until late in the evening.

Party Chairmen Set Optimistic Attitudes

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Here are the election claims by the two major party chairmen:

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall: Republicans will retain control of Congress by showing a net gain of 3 Senate and 15 or more House seats. No governorship claims.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell: Democrats will pick up 4 Senate seats, a minimum of 25 House seats and 8 governorships.

Sign of GI Humor

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (UP) — Men of the Second Army Division erected a sign as part of a traffic campaign for pedestrians. It read: "Use the crosswalk — avoid that run-down feeling."

City Vetoes Plan to Spray Elm Trees on Private Land

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—The disastrous outcome of the fatal Dutch Elm disease for this year was presented to the city commission last night, by City Forester William Lebold, accompanied by a proposed ordinance which would allow the city to spray elm trees on private property, charging the householder for expenses involved.

But so many questions were raised in the minds of commissioners, that ordinance was turned down as unmanagable and unenforceable.

Lebold was, however, granted a $5,000 appropriation for spraying elms on public property next year. Spraying is the only method known to curb the contagious tree infestor.

Lebold had pointed out that of the city's 16,000 elm trees, (Birmingham ranks third highest in the number of elm trees in cities in the southeast portion of the state), the incidence of the disease on private property is over four times as great as on public property, reflecting the effectiveness of a spray program.

Lebold reported that of 222 tree samples processed through his office, 186 diseased trees were discovered, and removed. This incidence was an increase of about six times over the 1953 cases, he said.

Other action saw the commission approve the first option in the city's steps to purchase necessary property at the southeast Pierce-Merrill corner, for construction of a $250,000 municipal parking lot. The option calls for a total purchase price of $18,000.

Following a canvass of the election this Friday night, commissioners will go into a committee session, presumably for further discussion of property acquisitions.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The death of Mrs. Mary von Elm, 46, wife of George von Elm, the golfer who beat Bobby Jones for the national amateur title in 1926, has been listed as suicide by the coroner's office, which said there will be no inquest.

Dr. Frederick Newbarr, county autopsy surgeon, said yesterday she died of nicotine poisoning. Roy A. Ford, 29, Von Elm's golf protege, who had been drinking with Mrs. von Elm and was with her when she died last Wednesday, told police she drank from an insecticide bottle which he tried to knock from her lips.

New Iron Lung Is Donated in Memory of Joan Walls

Joan's friends at the Community National Bank here where she was employed and her Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority sisters spearheaded a two-year drive to raise funds for the lung.

Complete with respiration dome, alarm, aspirator, mirror, book rest and foot rest attachment, the new lung was presented last night to Steven J. Jay, president of the Michigan Chapter of the Sister Kenny Polio Foundation.

A placque on the lung's side reads:

"In memory of Joan Phyllis Walls, donated to the Sister Kenny Polio Hospital, Oakland County, by friends and sisters of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, 1954."

Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walls, of 53 S. Johnson Ave., was a Pontiac High School graduate and at the time of her death was secretary to A. C. Girard, Community National Bank president.

The fund-raising plan began at the suggestion of fellow bank employes and snowballed into a statewide project through efforts of friends and sorority sisters.

Heading the drive's ways and means committee were Mrs. L. L. Schiefler of Pontiac and Mrs. Frank Jalosky Jr., of Drayton Plains.

Charles Hayner, Pontiac State Bank building manager, acted as fund trustee, and Mrs. Donald K. Ely, of Pontiac, made contacts and assisted in the drive.

Representing the sorority were Mrs. Calvin Rhodes and Mrs. Robert Earl, both of Pontiac.

Ohio Death Suspect Ruled Mentally Ill

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Dora Liter, 50, indicted for the murder of her daughter-in-law, was committed yesterday to the Lima state hospital by the Adams County Common Pleas Court.

The body of the daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edith Liter, 21, was found in their country home at nearby Cedar Mills.

The elder Mrs. Liter, a self-proclaimed minister, said she did not report the death to authorities because it was epough that she reported it to God.

Dr. L. A. Bushong, superintendent at Lima, said Mrs. Liter had been judged insane after a 30-day period of observation at the hospital. Cause of the daughter-in-law's death has not been announced.

Last-Minute Vote Pleas Made to Nation

He assailed "politicians who even attempt to make a partisan issue of war and peace—who would have us believe that one party is less desirous of peace than another."

Winding up his campaign through several states, Stevenson said a Democratic Congress would "show a genuine concern" about falling farm prices and unemployment, and would bring the United States closer together with its allies.

Chicago Students Make Novel Political Move

Bob Hope's Act Called Highlight of Queen's Show

LONDON (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope and three American singers helped British stage stars entertain Queen Elizabeth II last night in the annual Royal Variety stage show.

The Queen was accompanied by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and her 24-year-old sister, Princess Margaret. The princess caused whispers by appearing without an escort. There was a fourth chair in the royal box at the Palladium Theater but it was empty.

The American songsters —all well received — were Howard Keel, Guy Mitchell and Frankie Laine.

Several newspaper critics thought Hope's 30-minute sing at the end of the long show was the evening's highlight. The Daily Telegraph said his turn "brought a fast tempo which had been somewhat missing" from the program, which lasted more than three hours.

Prices of seats ranged up to 20 guineas ($58.80). Proceeds went to the Variety Artists' Benevolent Fund.

Ex-Sailor Held in Child Slaying

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A former merchant Marine sailor is in jail today in connection with the "trick or treat" slaying of a 6-year-old girl.

Dist. Atty. Fred Fees announced the arrest of Harry Gossard, 39, shortly after midnight.

He said Gossard "has been booked on suspicion" in connection with the slaying of Karen Mauk last Thursday night. Karen was making an early round of the neighborhood in her Halloween costume.

• • •

It said Gossard was unemployed and lived only a block away from the Mauk home in nearby Conemaugh.

State police said Gossard's auto has been impounded as possible evidence. They said tire marks were discovered near the cemetery where Karen's unclothed body was found early last Friday, about six hours after she left home. The cemetery was two miles from the Mauk residence.

• • •

Beside her lay a pitifully small return from her "trick or treat" tour — a bag of candy and an apple.

The little girl's body was bruised. A coroner's report said she had not been criminally assaulted but had died of suffocation.

Chivalry Lands Girl's Rescuer Behind Bars

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—The chivalry of Morris W. Balken, 30, landed him in jail yesterday.

A comely UCLA coed, Marion L. Gleason, 19, had burst into tears when a judge told her she would have to pay a $15 fine or go to jail for three days for speeding. She sobbed that she had no money to pay the fine, and the bailiff started to lead her away.

"Don't send that girl to jail," shouted Balken. "I'll pay her fine." He did.

Marion expressed fervent thanks and departed.

Then Balken's case was called. He was given the alternative of $35 or seven days after pleading guilty to failing to signal for a turn and driving without a license.

Lacking the $35, he went to jail.

To Show Film on New York

Robert Friars' Movie Is Second in Kiwanis Lecture Series

The second in the Kiwanis Entertainment series at Pontiac High School tonight will feature the world that is "New York City," a film and commentary by Robert Friars, adventurer.

The film follows the adventures of a boy and girl who go to New York and meet in Manhattan. With them, the viewer finds himself breaking into show business.

In the whirl that is life in New York, one rides around Manhattan in a boat, viewing the Statue of Liberty, Rockefeller Center, the Empire State Building, Greenwich Village, Chinatown, Central Park, Coney Island, the United Nations, the Waldorf and the Ritz are visited—nothing is missed.

A slant at night life takes one to Times Square, the Stork Club, Latin Quarter, the Copacabana, the Opera, Carnegie Hall and all the famous eating places.

From the Bowery to Park Avenue, Robert Friars' film catches the real New York—the city different from any other city in America. It goes behind the scenes in show business, with the Powers' models, shows a fortune in glistening jewels, visits the fascinating beehive that is the garment industry and looks in on the Bronx Zoo.

Two Men Indicted for Ontario Slayings

SIMCOE, Ont. (AP) — A grand jury returned true bills yesterday charging Jerry Simmons, 47, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Joseph Glen Lotharp, 23, of Detroit with two murders and robbery.

A jury was selected immediately to proceed with the trial in the slaying of Beatty, bludgeoned with an ax last Feb. 2.

Police said the elderly couple was attacked with an ax in their service station at Renton, about four miles east of this town. Beatty died in the hospital the day after the attack. Mrs. Beatty died in a hospital at London, Ont., May 21.

Justice F. H. Barlow of the Ontario Supreme Court turned down motions by defense counsel for separate trials for the men, and for a change of venue.

Two Farmington Youths Fined for Having Beer

Two Farmington-area youths pleaded guilty to illegal possession of beer yesterday and were each fined $15 and $10 costs by Orion Township Justice Helmar G. Stanaback.

The pair, Adam Denny, 20, of 21635 Jacksonville, Farmington, and Robert Turner, 19, of 32425 W. 7 Mile Rd., Livonia, were arrested Sunday night by Orchard Lake Police.

Moms Pleased by Baby Trade

London Women Decide the Doctors Were Right About Infant Mixup

LONDON (AP)—Two young mothers decided last night the doctors were right — a hospital had mixed up their baby sons five weeks ago, giving each the other's child.

Mrs. Vera Bowers, 22, and Mrs. Sheila Read, 24, agreed to make permanent the trial baby switch they had arranged for a 24-hour period.

"Both Sheila and I feel as if a ton weight had been lifted from our shoulders," Mrs. Bowers told a reporter.

• • •

"We thought the babies might not take to us but they are as bonny and happy as can be."

"Thank God, our days of uncertainty are over," said Mrs. Read.

The two families plan a joint christening at which their sons will trade names. Baby John, the one Mrs. Bowers got by mistake, will become Kenneth, the name his own parents picked for their son.

Baby Kenneth, so named by the Reads, will become John.

department was preparing salt-spreading equipment for tonight, "just in case."

The weather bureau said the center of the cold air mass passed to the southwest, adding that if it had passed directly over Michigan, temperatures could have dropped to 10 above zero, as they did in the Plains States.

The forecast is for snow occasionally mixed with rain today, with snow flurries tonight and Wednesday. High today is expected to be 33 to 37 and low tonight, 24 to 28. Tomorrow's high is expected to be 33 to 37.

Last night's low in Pontiac was 28 degrees rising to 30 by 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. today the temperature was 34 degrees.

holds in Washington—or whether the Democrats will gain as many as five to add to the five they now hold and that much more toward control of the House.

If the voters say "yes" Michigan's legislature will enact laws under which lotteries and bingo may be played for charitable purposes.

If the voters say "yes" the state will pick up more than 200 liquor licenses in Hillsdale and Ottawa Counties and halt the sale of intoxicants for the first time on a county-wide basis in Michigan since repeal.

The polls opened at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. today for the voters to make these and other decisions.

Official and unofficial estimates of the total vote run from 1,900,000 to 2,200,000 compared to 2,850,000 in the 1954 presidential year and 1,880,000 four years ago.

The vote is expected to run close to the 2,200,000 mark in the light of intense "get-out-the-vote" campaigns sparked over the weekend by President Eisenhower himself. He called for Republicans to use a "chain telephone" relay to spur the laggard voters. The Democrats countered with a "walkathon" of house-to-house visits.

In a state which has been won by less than one per cent of the vote in several elections, political leaders believe the success of these party efforts could easily decide the election.

Snow and cloudy, windy and somewhat colder weather greeted voters today.

Still a question to the Democrats who voiced confidence of gains all down the line were such intangible as the effect of President Eisenhower's 11th hour Michigan visit and the women's vote.

"Governor Williams will be re-elected and McNamara will be sent to the Senate," Democratic state chairman Neil Staebler predicted.

The Democratic state ticket has an excellent chance and we will be stronger both in Congress and the Legislature," he said.

Republican State Chairman John Feikens said "the President's visit clinched victory not only for Senator Ferguson, his close friend, but for Don Leonard in the governor's race."

"We want this time to roll up a margin that will insure against recounts," he added.

Second only to the interest in the governorship and congressional races, control of the rest of state and county government lies with today's election.

The voters will pick a lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, auditor general, and state treasurer—all of whom now are Republicans.

County offices, normally Republican, also are at stake in this election.

The voters will pick 34 state senators and 110 house members in their first vote under a new apportionment of the Legislature. Previously, there have been 32 senators and 100 representatives.

There are four public issues on the ballot, including the bingo issue which easily is the most controversial.

The others are an $80 million bonus bond issue for veterans of the Korean war, the Conlin Plan to "stabilize" state finances under the sales tax diversion amendment and a minor change in election registration procedure.

Heifetz Began His Violin Lessons Before Age of 4, Supported Self at 7

By EDDIE CANTOR

Many years ago at a midnight supper, I asked Jack Benny what made him turn to comedy. I thought he was joking when he said it was Jascha Heifetz, until he explained to me that as a youngster in Waukegan, Illinois, Jack actually had visions of becoming a serious violinist until one night he heard Jascha Heifetz play.

"I realized then and there that the only way I could make a living out of the violin," said Jack, "was to play on street corners, and it gets so cold in the winter."

When I told Jascha Heifetz recently that he had made a comedian out of Jack Benny, he smiled and said: "Eddie, do you think I should sue him for commission?"

I don't think my statement that Jascha Heifetz is the greatest violinist living will start any controversy. When Heifetz was three and a half years of age, his father started teaching him to play on a quarter-size violin. He made his professional debut at seven, playing the "Mendelssohn Violin Concerto" in a recital at Kovno, Lithuania. At eight, he was touring all over Russia.

Many years later in New York City, he told Harpo Marx that from the age of seven he was self supporting. Harpo sneered, "And I suppose before that, you were just a bum."

It must be soul-satisfying to possess artistry that evokes the same sort of enthusiasm from audiences at Covent Garden in London—Carnegie Hall in New York City—and the Tel Aviv Auditorium in the State of Israel!

What a God-given power—to reach the hearts of people with music—to stir them so emotionally that one refugee said to me in Jerusalem, the summer before last—"Mr. Cantor, I heard Jascha Heifetz play one night, and would you believe that in two hours, he made me forget three years in concentration camp!"

Pilferers Plague People's Plants

Czech, Hungarian Reds Complain of Upsurge in Petty Thefts

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Communist government authorities in two East European countries are complaining about increasing petty thefts from "people's owned plants."

Western officials in Vienna said the thefts result from the fact that workers in Red-ruled countries cannot make ends meet on their wages.

Hungarian Communist authorities have threatened severe measures, reproaching judges for being too lenient.

Czechoslovakia also reported an increase in the number of petty thefts, mainly foodstuffs and building materials, from its nationalized industries.

Hungarian papers reaching Vienna claimed the population was too tolerant toward "happy pilferers" who steal under the eyes of the people and remain unpunished because their impudence is found amusing.

* * *

Another Communist paper said the pilferers usually say when caught in the act, "What, you envy me these few nails? After all, the country and the factory belongs to me as well."

Woman Shoplifter Gets 18 Months in Prison

Mrs. Dorothy Saunders, 24, of 307 E. Ferry, Detroit, yesterday was sentenced to from 18 months to 4 years in the Detroit House of Correction after she was found guilty of larceny Oct. 20 by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury.

Judge H. Russel Holland recommended the minimum term. She was arrested Oct. 4 after leaving a Southfield Township shopping center with two pairs of slacks and four shorts.

Press Censorship Ends in Far East Command

Far East Command censors were advised by the Defense Department that stabilization of the military situation in Korea and redeployment of most of the American and foreign military troops there has ended the need for security in press dispatches and pictures.

Censorship was imposed Dec. 23, 1950.

Taking Census Not So Easy, Woman Finding

SPEARVILLE, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. Tom Owen, working on a farm census in the Spearville area, has discovered there's more to the job than she thought. Since becoming census taker, she's been:

Blamed for the low price of eggs.

Chased by members of a family who thought they had at last caught the thief stealing canned goods from their basement.

* * *

But she says her saddest experience came the other day when she delayed eating lunch, which she carries with her, because she wanted to catch a family at its noon meal. When she returned to her car after talking to the family, she found the family cat on the seat. It was just finishing off Mrs. Owen's lunch.

County CIO Council, UF Sponsor Lectures

A series of lectures to point up services available through the Oakland County Chapter of the American Red Cross are being sponsored here by the Pontiac Area United Fund and County CIO Council in cooperation with the Red Cross.

The series continues a program carried on by the UF and CIO Council in plants here during the past three years to inform industrial employes of services available to them through public and private agencies, according to Dwight S. Adams, UF executive director.

"When persons are familiar with agency services, they can obtain the help they need without a lot of red tape and going from organization to organization before hitting the right one," said Adams.

The next Red Cross lecture will be Nov. 4 at 118 Franklin Blvd. from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Mrs. Ruth Spurlock, Red Cross home service director, will describe her part of the agency's program. Other lectures will follow on Nov. 11 and 18.

One-Armed Motoring Not Logical With Wife

DENVER (AP)—Murel L. Webster, 30, denied a police charge yesterday that he drove at 50 miles an hour across the 16th Street viaduct with one arm around a woman.

Webster told Municipal Judge J. Joe Rawlinson his companion was his wife and it "is not logical" that a man would drive through town with his arm around his own wife.

Judge Rawlinson agreed and dismissed a charge of careless driving.

Man Falls Through Hopper With Coal

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Edward Schaffer, 41, slid through a giant hopper with 10 tons of coal yesterday and escaped without injury.

The coal had become stuck in the hopper and Schaffer and several other employes went to the top to poke it loose. Schaffer lost his balance and fell in.

Other workmen left the opening at the bottom of the hopper open and after about 10 tons of coal had poured through, Schaffer fell out, unconscious.

He was revived, taken to a hospital and later released.

Leaky Steam Pipe Forces City Hall to Close Early

Day before election you might think things would be sort of warm at City Hall, the symbolic center of political turbulence. Hot, even, eh?

Ah, but 'twas not so yesterday. The atmosphere (and temperature), as a matter of fact, was quite chilled.

So chilled was it that at 3 p. m. City Manager Walter K. Willman, bundled in his overcoat, told his secretary to spread the glad news to her ch-chattering fellows that as of 3:30, City Hall would be closed.

"Put a sign on the door. Say the boiler blew up and we won't be open until Tuesday," he chuckled.

The boiler really hadn't blown up, of course. It was just that the pipe carrying the steam heat from the police garage behind City Hall had sprung a leak.

The personnel director's office in the basement had been evacuated early in the day as steam leaking from the underground pipe turned the room into a clammy Turkish bath.

As the day progressed, the building kept getting colder and colder. Finally, Willman, already suffering from a head cold himself, announced the building would close early.

Only switchboard operator Margaret Luscumb was made to stay on duty until 5 p. m., and then only after two electric heaters were moved in to keep her warm.

WEDDING IN COPENHAGEN—American actress Patricia Knight holds hands with her Danish businessman bridegroom, Niels Ebbe West-Larsen at a reception in their honor at Copenhagen's Palace Hotel. The two met while West-Larsen was on business in Hollywood, were married Oct. 24 in a picturesque little church outside Copenhagen. After a honeymoon tour of Denmark, Sweden, France and Spain they will take up residence in California.

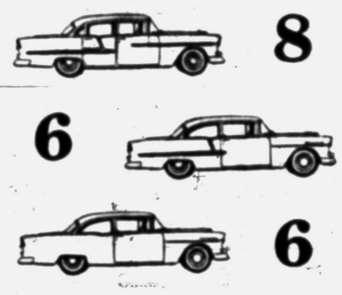

Fifty years ago, the amount of money collected in the first year of New York state motor vehicle registration fees would have paid for no more than 150 feet of highway at prices existing then. Today's annual registration fees can pay for 457 miles of highway on the basis of today's average costs.

What's new with Chevrolet?

Wonderful new Glide-Ride Front Suspension

New spherical joints flex freely to cushion all road shocks. You glide over the bumps with new smoothness and stability. New Anti-Dive Braking Control, exclusive with Chevrolet, assures "heads up" stops.

Great new V8—two new 6's

New "Turbo-Fire V8" delivers 162 h.p. with an ultra-high compression ratio of 8 to 1. It's the valve-in-head V8 as only the valve-in-head leader can build it! Two new 6's, too—the new "Blue-Flame 136" with Powerglide (optional at extra cost) and the new "Blue-Flame 123." All three are sparked by a new 12-volt electrical system.

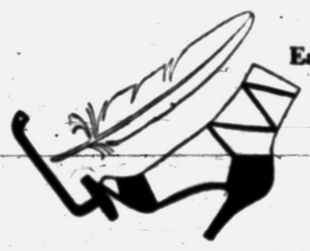

And look what you see from the driver's seat

Chevrolet's new Sweep-Sight Windshield curves around to vertical corner pillars, giving you a wide, full view of the road ahead. Rear and side windows are bigger, too. And you can see all four fenders from the driver's seat!

New Outrigger Rear Springs

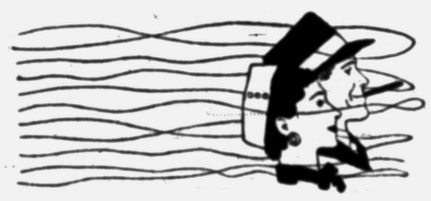

Rear springs are longer—and they're attached at the outside of the frame. This means they're spaced wider apart, outrigger-fashion, to give you greater stability in cornering. And Chevrolet's new Hotchkiss drive cushions drive-line shocks through the rear springs!

Easier steering, stopping, clutching

The new Chevrolet steers with ball-bearing ease, thanks to new friction-cutting Ball-Race Steering. New Swing-Type Brake and Clutch Pedals swing downward with a light pressure of your toe. They pivot at the top, leaving the floor free and clear!

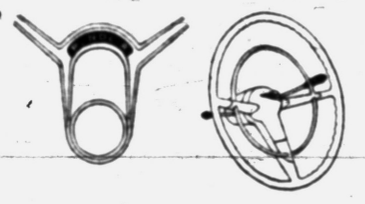

A ventilating system that really works

Chevrolet's new High-Level Ventilating System takes in air at hood-high level, away from road heat, fumes and dust. You enjoy better ventilation come rain or shine!

OVERDRIVE

POWERGLIDE CONVENTIONAL DRIVE

Three drives, including Overdrive

Take your choice. There's Powerglide—now even smoother and quieter—teamed with the new V8 or the new "Blue-Flame 136." There's new Overdrive teamed with the new V8 or the new "Blue-Flame 123." (Powerglide and Overdrive are extra-cost options.) And there's a new and finer standard transmission offered in combination with either the new V8 or the "Blue-Flame 123." It's the greatest choice going!

Tubeless tires as standard equipment

Even Air Conditioning, if you wish

Air is heated or cooled by a single highly efficient unit that fits compactly into the front of the car. Requires no trunk space! (V8 models only.) Other extra-cost options are Chevrolet's new Linkage-Type Power Steering, improved Power Brakes, and, on Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models, new Power Controls on all windows, and Power-Positioned Front Seat.

. . . and Chevrolet's got that long, low "let's go" look

It's a show car from the word go! Longer looking—and lots lower, the new Chevrolet has the spirited look of a sports car. There's plenty of glamor inside, too—plus more room for hats, hips and shoulders!

The Bel Air 4-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series

Chevrolet and General Motors have started something—a whole new age of low-cost motoring—by taking a whole new look at the low-cost car. Here are new ideas, young ideas . . . and some of tomorrow's ideas, too! And they're all rolled up in the most glamorous package that ever wore anything like a Chevrolet price tag!

This is the car that began with a great idea—the idea that a low-priced car could be built that would have the style, the performance, the comfort and convenience features, and the fine quality "feel" of high-priced cars.

Lots of car buyers have wished for such a car. Lots of automotive engineers have dreamed about it. But there were plenty of reasons why it couldn't be done.

Then Chevrolet and General Motors sat down and tackled the job. It took a lot of months and a lot of manpower, but they designed and built a car to fit the dream . . . a car to fulfill the great idea—the Motoramic Chevrolet for 1955.

When you think about it, it makes sense that only the world's leading motor car builders—Chevrolet and General Motors—could have done it.

Come in and see how the Motoramic Chevrolet for '55 is far more than a new model. It's more, even, than a completely new car. It's a whole new idea about cars!

Come in and meet the motoramic Chevrolet *—more than a new car—*A NEW CONCEPT OF LOW-COST MOTORING!

Recess Delays Juror Decision

Convicted Sex Offender Likely to Be Removed From Sheppard Panel

CLEVELAND (AP)—An election day recess today delayed a decision on whether James R. Manning, a convicted sex offender, should be removed from the jury picked for the Sheppard murder trial.

Informed sources, however, indicated Manning would be replaced by an alternate juror and the trial would proceed. A declaration of a mistrial was not thought likely.

• • •

The controversy swirling about the real estate salesman the past two days has almost overshadowed the real issue in the trial: Did osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard, 30, beat his pregnant wife to death last July after a purported affair with Susan Hayes, a pretty hospital technician? This is the state's allegation, which Sheppard denies.

Yesterday Asst. Prosecutor John J. Mahon demanded that Manning be tossed off the jury on grounds he failed to reveal a crime in his background. Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan immediately demanded proof that Manning was a sex offender.

With that, the trial was recessed until tomorrow.

• • •

While Judge Edward Blythin would not speculate on what course the trial will take Monday, it was believed he would refer to this Ohio law in deciding the Manning question:

"... If before the final submission of the case to the jury, a juror becomes incapacitated or disqualified, he may be discharged by the judge ..."

Court sources said that would enable the judge to discharge Manning and replace him with one of the two alternate jurors selected yesterday.

Road Experts Watch Rubber Paving Test

CHICAGO (UP)—Tests of a new, less costly type of rubber road are being watched anxiously by U.S. highway officials, the American Public Works Association has disclosed.

Selected roads across the nation have been surfaced over the last five years with experimental patches of a mixture containing rubber, the APWA said yesterday.

Those in favor of rubber roads believe they will be longer lasting, skid-proof and more resilient.

Each test patch of the rubber surfacing will be watched for five years or more before a decision is made on whether rubber meets paving requirements, the APWA said.

CAA Really Up in the Air Over 6th Grade Request

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON (UP) — What's new in Washington:

The Civil Aeronautics Administration gets some strange mail. Like the letter from a sixth grader in San Bernardino.

Josephine Cadeno wrote in to say that she and her class were studying about air.

"We want to know more about it," she said. "Air, that is. And please send along some pictures so that we can put them on our classroom bulletin board."

The CAA is giving that one a little thought.

A lad in the Silver Spring, Md., intermediate school, a grade oneer, ran up to Principal James E. Connor and said:

"Look out the window, sir. Look what that patrol boy is doing to that little girl. He is ignoring her."

Today's election must have posed a tough dilemma for the anoymous citizen who is the subject of the following overheard-on-a-bus note:

Citizen to seat mate: "The trouble with me is that every campaign year about this time I get to believing absolutely everything either side says about the other."

Pegasus, publication of Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp., has an item about an embarrassing incident in the life of Air Force Magazine. The service magazine wanted to hire someone with special talent for a certain job. It finally found just the man—in the infantry.

The services did everything they could to get out the vote today. Short of marking and mailing ballots, the officers gave service to all absentees—kids away from home.

If the soldier didn't know the voting laws of his state all he had to do was ask the man above him, and he had same in a jiffy.

And no wmay we please quote Duncan Emrich? Emrich is head of the folklore section of the Library of Congress. He is collector of things other than folklore—like gentle thoughts from all around the world—and he has been all around it.

From Persia he got this one:

"Woman is a calamity, but no house ought to be without this evil."

The United States uses only 5 per cent of the world's tea. Leading tea-drinking countries are China, Great Britain, Russia and Japan, with the Chinese consuming about 900,000,000 pounds annually.

IRONTON, O. (UP) — Mrs. Lela Sheppard Geswein learned the hard way how tough it is to keep an infant from waking up.

The noise she made woke the baby.

And it was a wrong number anyway.

Dr. Rhee and the Hwan

Fierce patriot though he is, Dr. Syngman Rhee, South Korea's venerable and bellicose president has caused our Government many a headache.

The latest one stems from his uncompromising stand as to the value of his country's monetary unit, the hwan. Our military authorities in South Korea need millions of hwan to pay the wages of its 100,000 native laborers and contractors.

Dr. Rhee insists that we should buy the money from his government at the rate of 180 to the dollar. The unreasonableness of his demand is shown by the fact that our Army can buy hwan on the open market at from 500 to 800 per dollar.

Finally, our Army suggested the artificial exchange rate of 254 hawn to the dollar. Generous though this proposal was, it was rejected by Dr. Rhee. Then when Gen. John E. Hull decided to sell gasoline to the Koreans to raise additional hwan, the aging president threatened his people with drastic action if they bought the fuel.

★ ★ ★

While no one can help admiring Dr. Rhee, we believe most Americans oppose, as our Government does, his aim of building up a South Korean army of 1,500,000. At the same time majority opinion should support our Government's view that emphasizes on our $700,000,000 Korean aid program should be kept where it now is—on relief and rehabilitation.

Research Into Research

Most of us Americans are aware that our high standard of living rests on a solid foundation of ever increasing use of mechanical power.

It is probable, however, that fewer realize how great a part industrial research plays in our national economy. That its role is vital is a current fact of our industrial life. This, in turn, helps explain the importance of the program of research into research announced by Secretary of Labor Mitchell.

The program is an ambitious one. It will be directed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. In all BLS will survey the extent of research work being done by 12,000 firms, large and small, the amount being spent and the number employed.

One aim of the survey is to interview industrial leaders for the purpose of finding out any bottlenecks and ways to improve research. An effort also will be made to estimate the future needs of research in terms of manpower and finances.

★ ★ ★

The survey is part of a vast undertaking by the National Science Foundation at the direction of President Eisenhower. Its results will be awaited with great interest because they should point the way to even more efficient research methods.

A Dedicated Teacher

One of the most satisfying rewards of teaching is the opportunity it affords to instill in students the ideals of culture, good citizenship and high character.

To a degree seldom surpassed Mrs. Daisy Jewett made the most of that opportunity during her 30 years of teaching in Eastern and Washington Junior High Schools.

A native of Dryden, she had a fine educational background. This included a B. A. degree from Michigan State Normal College, an M. A. from Wayne University and special work at Clark University, Worcester, Mass. To join Pontiac's teaching force she gave up her post of Dean of Girls in South Dakota's Normal College at Aberdeen.

As a result of her several interests outside teaching she was a past president of the Michigan and Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Clubs and of the American Association of University Women here.

A devoted member of All Saints Episcopal Church, Mrs. Jewett organized that parish's Fleur de Lis Society for girls. It was characteristic of this dedicated teacher that not even her most intimate friends ever heard her mention, much less complain, about her long illness.

Her death saddened not only her friends and associates in education, but a host of men and women who were privileged to have been her students.

A parrot that had never spoken before warned the family by yelling "Fire!" when the house caught on fire the other night.—Press report. This bird is wiser than many people, in that it refrained from talking until it had something important to say.

It isn't conflicting careers that cause so many divorces among big-shot celebrities — it's just that no home is large enough to contain two colossal egos.

Our County Should Organize a Club for Lonesome Folks, Says an Observer

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I've been thinking about the lonely people in our county and wondering if there is anything being done to correct that situation?

It seems to me that there should be a club organized or a get-together meeting place where lonely people like myself could meet others of like misfortune and thereby make new friends that would help fill the lonely hours. It would really be a wonderful civic project that I'm sure many folks would welcome.

People in the middle and later walks of life get lonely and discouraged when their leisure hours have to be spent alone. Let's get these lonely people together some way for their mutual benefit, shall we?

Dismissal Unjustified, Says Harold Green

Early last spring when Rep. Kit Clardy and his committee on Un-American Activities came to Flint and exposed 27 known Communists, he asked the citizens for their reaction.

The first response was from Fisher Body Plant No. 1 when the workers forcibly ejected a Communist from the plant and he was later fired by the management. Kit Clardy stated to the Flint newspaper that this was the proper kind reaction.

In June, I was Committeeman of District 21, Plant 5 Chevrolet. The Local 659 UAW-CIO membership wanted my support to oust the known Commies from Plant 5.

Management warned against demonstrations in the plant, so our activities were held on Chevrolet Ave. Several Commies were beaten up and told to go back to Moscow. Some were fired and some were too scared to work and they were fired.

Kit Clardy said he didn't condone violence and through this action I lost my respective work place with General Motors and also my office with the UAW-CIO.

As a good American citizen I called upon the chairman of the shop committee, the regional director, a couple of Congressmen, a Circuit Court judge and the Governor to intercede in my behalf.

But to date, I am looking for employment while Red colonizers are infiltrating the automobile plants and holding positions of influence.

Unpopular Girls Should Try Adopting a Little Boldness, Compliment Men

In just 24 hours, Lila had won a date with a boy she had never spoken to previously. And it all happened because she employed the strategy outlined below. You girls can easily win popularity if you will follow that advice.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-356: Lila N., aged 19, is the Northwestern coed whom I described yesterday as lacking boy friends and popularity.

"There's a fine young fellow at the end of your row in psych class," I informed Lila. "He ought to be a friend of yours. Have you spoken to him?"

Lila said she never had.

"No, Dr. Crane, I've been afraid to speak first," she added. "Besides, he looks too haughty and indifferent."

"Well, you can't win friends by being a coward," I added. "So after your class on Wednesday, resolutely go up to him and praise his necktie or some other desirable trait he possesses."

"Oh, Dr. Crane, I simply couldn't do it!" Lila protested. "I'd never have the nerve."

"Then rehearse your compliment tonight," I advised Lila. "Say it over and over until it is almost automatic. But don't surrender to your fear."

"But wouldn't he think me too forward and bold?" she argued.

Your girls can always protect your ego if you will smile and adopt a bantering tone of voice.

That banter will also enable you to say very personal things without revealing your true feelings.

Remember, men are really the shy sex. Most women don't realize this fact, so they wait too long for the men to make the first advances in the way of conversation.

And it is perfectly proper for a girl to smile at a boy as she starts the conversation with a compliment, even if there is no Emily Post present to chaperone the dialogue.

Well, next day after class, Lila looked at me with a scared, desperate glance, but I nodded encouragement. So she picked up her books and casually walked past the boy in question.

"I've certainly admired that new tie of yours this morning," she began lightly and blushed at her own audacity.

The boy immediately brightened and mumbled a reply. He blushed a little too, for he was shy and as unused to compliments as she was unaccustomed to offering them.

At the next meeting of the class, which was Friday, I saw that Lila's morale seemed much higher than usual.

Her eyes sparkled and she smiled at me, knowingly. As she left class, she informed me in a low tone:

"I had a date with him last night at the library. And we are going to a dance tomorrow evening."

So if you girls will simply adopt a little commendable boldness and pay your classmates a sincere compliment, you'll make the boys happier and friendlier.

But you will also win popularity and also be rated as far prettier, for a boy always thinks a popular girl is better looking.

Send for my "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus a dime. Then use it diligently for 30 days and you'll win friends galore.

I look up to a good man, but I can't bear the kind that scorn all sinners because their own sins haven't been exposed yet.

James Marlow Says:

1954 Campaign Not Kind Eisenhower Had in Mind

WASHINGTON (AP) — No matter who wins today's elections — Democrats or Republicans — the 1954 campaign hasn't been the kind President Eisenhower had in mind.

In 1953 he indicated he wouldn't be very active in this year's campaign. But he was. In 1953 he expressed hope Communists-in-government wouldn't be a campaign issue this year. But it was.

Only last week he said he doesn't consider today's elections a vote of confidence in himself or his administration, but Vice President Nixon already has interpreted it that way.

* * *

Nixon, congratulated by Eisenhower for the extremely active role he has played in the campaign, has called in public speeches for a "vote of confidence" in the President.

In response to a news conference question Oct. 21, 1953 — "Will you take part in the congressional campaign next year?" — Eisenhower said:

He did not intend to make of the presidency an agency to use in partisan elections . . . Anybody occupying this office was president of all the people . . . He had no intention of going out and getting into partisan struggles in any district or state.

* * *

Naturally, this didn't make Republican politicians happy. And in his next news conference, a week later, Eisenhower said he wanted to see a Republican Congress elected in 1954.

But when asked that day if he felt it would be improper for him to issue a request for election of a Republican Congress, Eisenhower said he wouldn't say what form any statement might take but he doubted a mere request along that line would be effective.

By the time the 1954 campaign was half over Eisenhower still had planned no more than three speeches and showed no signs of wanting to go into individual states to plug for candidates.

Then Republican politicians beat a path to his Summer White House in Denver, asking for help. After that, bit by bit, Eisenhower got deeper into the campaign.

* * *

By the time of today's balloting, Eisenhower had campaigned more actively in a mid-term election than any president in modern times. He had pleaded for a Republican Congress and had flown into individual states.

Eisenhower expressed hope Reds-in-government would not be an issue in 1954 at a news conference Nov. 18, 1953. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) promptly said it would be an issue.

In the early weeks of the 1954 campaign Eisenhower seemed right, McCarthy wrong.

It may have been an issue locally in some contests for Congress. It was not a national issue until late in the campaign, injected by Nixon and others.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(International News Service)

This is the Tuesday when every right citizen should vote even if he's wrong.

Voting is a form of protest guaranteed by the Constitution. Every too often the amendments prove we vote against the Consititution.

But we always correct the mistake. Our slogan is "ex asperate dingus" or "we always get it right the second time."

Too often we find reform is a round-trip ticket. You can never straighten out a ride on a merry-go-round. But anything you do today can be sandpapered down two years from now.

Nobody ever claimed we have the perfect form of government. What we claim is that it is as close as you can get without changing the subject.

Don't let any politician frighten you with threats of the future. History of the Greek, Roman and Venetian republics calibrate our national life around six hundred years. We still have four hundred and twenty-one to go.

This was a rugged campaign with more trimmings than a rajah's Sunday elephant.

But toomrrow we will act like it never happened. The losers will congratulate the winners. And so will the winners.

America has a spirit of fair play that is wonderful after the teeth are swept up and everybody gets his right hat back.

In answer to how I vote I reply I am neither Democratic nor Republican. And I don't aim to run a barbed wire fence astraddle for a mile.

I have commented on the public scene for forty years without choosing up sides. That takes us back to Woodrow Wilson's first administration in 1913.

It was then I discovered that campaign slogans were bird tracks in the snow endorsed by other bird tracks.

Smiles

Dieting

A man was introduced to a circus sword swallower. Not having seen a sword swallower before, he asked him to demonstrate his art, whereupon the fellow apparently swallowed some pins and needles.

"But," protested the man, "those aren't swords; they're pins and needles."

"I know," was the reply. "I'm on a diet."

His Song

A small boy went to Sunday School for the first time, and on his return his mother asked what he had done there.

"We sang," said the little boy.

"What did you sing?" inquired his mother.

"I don't know what the rest of them sang," he answered, "but I sang 'Teddy Bears' Picnic.'"

Embarrassing

A woman had joined in a game of bridge. She was not really expert, and the other three were bridge fiends. Afterwards her partner asked her: "Do you mind if I inquire when you learned to play?" And before the embarrassed woman had time to reply, he swept on: "Oh, I know it was today, but what time today.

Be Warned

Two boxers chasing each other round the ring kept treading on the toes of the small referee. At last he lost patience and called them to the center.

"If you don't stop treading on my feet," he shouted, "there's going to be a fight."

Doctor Brady Once Advocated Surgery for Piles, but Soon Changed His Mind

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

A pile or hemorrhoid is a dilated (varicose) vein at the margin of or just within the rectal orifice. When inflamed (and extremely painful) it is called an "attack" of piles.

It is as childish to hope that any medicine one can take or apply locally can cure varicose vein in the leg as it is to hope such medicine or medicament can cure piles.

A person who has an attack of piles is at least as likely as anyone else to have repeated attacks after radical operation, injection, treatment, or spontaneous cure. You see there are scores of little veins just within and around the rectal orifice, and any one of them may become dilated (varicosed) and inflamed, if the cause or causes which brought on the trouble remain uncorrected.

Correcting the causes of piles—that's a proper subject to discuss in a health column, I hope. In a column, perhaps, but it is difficult to do so in a quarter or a half of a column, so, if you want to learn about the nature, cause, prevention, relief, and cure of piles, send me a stamped envelope bearing your address and ask in writing—signed, of course—for the pamphlet "You Need Not Have Piles." This is virtually the same pamphlet I formerly called "It Is Stupid to Suffer From Piles." In a weak moment I changed the title because some stupid readers got mad about it.

The pile pamphlet tells how to prevent or relieve "attacks" of piles. Aside from that, most victims of piles and too many doctors imagine the only cure is radical surgery.

I thought so, too, and I said so in this column years ago. But fortunately, for thousands of readers, I learned better, from a New Jersey physician whom I first branded as a charlatan when readers in that area assured me he had cured their piles by painless injection treatment administered in his office, without detaining them from their everyday activities for more than a few minutes at each seance. Later I had to admit they were right. I made my apology to the doctor and thereafter recommended him to many readers who sought such treatment.

Few persons who have undergone the standard nineteenth-century clamp and cautery operation or radical excision will deny that it is a harrowing experience.

Beware of the merchant who lures you by telling you he cures piles "without operation" or with the method recommended by "a well-known health columnist."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Bob Considine Says:

Sheppard Earns Prayers of Family by Saving Son

CLEVELAND (INS) — Prayers for Dr. Sam Sheppard are offered nightly in the modest suburban home of fireman James Willard. The prayers are joined in by Willard, his wife and their three sons. The prosecution in the macabre murder mystery would understand.

One morning in the summer of 1953 the Willards' 5-year-old Tommy woke up screaming and clutching at his throat. The child jumped out of bed and ran out of the house, his mother close behind him. In the middle of the street he collapsed, gasping for breath, and began to turn blue.

The terrified mother phoned the local fire department for an inhalator. Her husband answered the emergency call and began the taut task of pumping air into the lungs of his suffocating son.

A few minutes later a doctor appeared. He was Dr. Stephen Sheppard whose "beat" is that area near the Cleveland Airport —when inhalator equipment is sent out. Dr. Sheppard gave the lad a shot intended to expand the respiratory passages and then said, "I think we'd better take him in and take some pictures of him."

At the Bay Village Hospital the boy was placed in an oxygen tent. Neither that nor the shot relieved his tortured breathing. A second doctor, a younger and better-looking version of Dr. Stephen Sheppard, examined the boy and reached a quick decision. He stepped out of the room, found the anxious parents and said, quietly:

"I'm Doctor Sam Sheppard. We're going to have to operate immediately. Your boy has an acute tracheal bronchitis." The stricken mother and father asked for a simpler explanation.

"It means the child will suffocate unless we insert a tube in his trachea right away." And with that he turned and went to work.

Tommy Willard died on the operating table just before Dr. Sam's scalpel touched him. As the body turned blacker the intense young doctor worked with skill and speed. After a minute or two the stilled heart was exposed. Dr. Sam massaged it.

Five minutes after Tommy died his heart began beating again.

The doctor who performed the miracle did not tell the parents the particulars of the case. He simply said, with a smile, "He'll be all right now." But he said and did more later.

The article concluded with:

"Deeply impressed with the profound phenomenon, the doctor stated: 'Some superior power must have wished this youngster to live; perhaps it was to allow him to help others as a doctor'."

After the operation Dr. Sam asked the Willards to let him put Tommy through medical school when he grows up. They gratefully consented.

"How's Tommy now?" I asked Mrs. Willard over the phone.

Her voice saddened when she spoke of the case.

"My heart just aches," she said. "It's impossible for us to believe it. For a time we tried to keep it from Tommy. Didn't want to upset him, for he worships Dr. Sam. But then he heard other children talking about it and came to me for an explanation. I had to tell him as best I could.

"That night he ran a 101 fever, and every day since then he has asked, 'What's going to happen to Dr. Sam?' "

The Willards will never get over marveling at Sheppard's attitude toward their stricken son.

"Tommy was a strange boy to him," she said. "He wasn't the son of a friend. And the doctor surely knew we were not rich people. But he gave Tommy everything.

"We pray for him every night," the devout housewife concluded. "We always will."

'Love Offering' Is Stolen

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — A man recently was charged with stealing a $75 "love offering" from the Church of the Holy Ghost.

CRITIC—R. C. Clendenen, staff director of the Senate committee on juvenile delinquency, says movies and TV tend to show the gangster lives a "kingly" life. At the end of the program there's supposed to be a moral—"Crime does not pay." But it paid off too well during the first part of the program to have any effect.

Injured Indian's Brother Will Return to New Delhi

EAST LANSING (UP)—Krishnama Chari, whose flight from India Sept. 24 was credited with giving his brother, Sankar, a "will to live," will fly back to New Delhi today, Michigan State College doctors said.

Sankar was burned on almost 60 per cent of his body in a laboratory explosion June 25, and doctors later were forced to amputate his right leg below the knee when gangrene set in.

Road Sign Discourages Churchgoers in Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (UP) — The Virginia State Highway Department is rephrasing some signs.

Those reading "Do not cross solid line when on your side" are being replaced with new ones reading "Do not pass when solid line on your side."

Not much difference? Motorists apparently think there is. One minister, whose church is on a curve, said they took literally the "do not cross" and church attendance dropped off noticeably.

Maternity Call Turns Out Real Nightmare

MUNCIE, Ind. (UP) — Police Sgt. Jim Carnes received an emergency maternity call that proved to be a real nightmare.

Carnes got the call in the early morning hours and ordered a squad car rushed to the address given him. The house was dark so officers pounded on the door until a sheepish young man appeared and explained:

"I was dreaming that some woman was having a baby, and before I could get things figured out I had called the police."

British Politicos Start Fund-Raising Drives

LONDON (INS) — Britain's political parties are quietly stepping up their money-raising activities in preparation for the next general election. The Conservatives have opened a "Friday Fund" in Southeast England which is expected to spread across the country. The idea is for supporters to give "as much as they can afford" at local party headquarters each Friday.

In the snow belt states, traffic deaths per mile of driving are computed to be from 24 to 53 per cent higher in the winter than in the summer.

More Dentists Afraid of Kids Than Vice-Versa

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP) — A dentist with 34 years of experience has some reassuring words for younger dentists who worry about children.

Dr. Stanley C. Brown, Ithaca, Mich., told the Missouri State Dental Association that there are more dentists afraid of kids than there are kids who are afraid of dentists.

There is no need of fear on the part of either, he added, saying that all the dentist has to do is to apply himself to the problem and meet the children at their own level.

PTA Program Planners Study Discussion Topic

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Presentation of a program on "Democratic Values and Goals" was the subject of a discussion last night by the leadership group of the University of Chicago education project in which Waterford parents are participating.

The discussion sparked a meeting of the township's PTA Program Planning Committee, held at Covert School. It was the third topic of the basic course on "Parenthood and a Free Nation," originated and developed by Ester Kawin of the University, under the auspices of the Ford Foundation.

This group is using an objective approach to foster more general thinking. Personal feelings are allowed in the discussions, but not personal examples.

Mrs. Harold Zimmerman was chairman of the panel, which presented the material last night. With her were Mrs. William A. Kelly and Mrs. Eldon Rosegart.

A film, "The Day of Thanksgiving," and a prepared questionnaire were used to stimulate new ideas. In the self-evaluation process, the group decided that thorough preparation, plus re-emphasis, repetition and summarizing were necessary to make a discussion group successful.

Mrs. Richard Raber, Mrs. Ralph Bergeman, and teacher Patricia Knudsen will present the next program, "Problem Solving Attitudes and Methods" on Nov. 15.

Young Riders Form New 4-H Saddle Club

SOUTH LYON — A new 4-H Lucky Horseshoe Saddle Club has been organized under the direction of Mrs. Alice Gougeon and Mrs. Marjorie Dugan, with 17 members enrolled.

Fire Chief Gets Absence Leave

Ed Smith Chosen as Temporary Leader of Waterford Station

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Fire Chief Rudolph Boss was granted a six-month leave of absence by the Waterford Township Board last night, because of ill health.

Township Clerk Louis Barry was ordered to advertise for bids for two new township police cars. Bids will be open Nov. 22.

The board also granted the assessing department permission to attend the Oakland County equalization board meeting in Pontiac Thursday.

A soft-drink license, requested by Joe Wells and Joseph Grant at 2977 Dixie Highway, was approved.

Two petitions were presented and accepted by the board. One sought street lights on Marion street, and the other asked blacktopping on Lansdown.

ABOUT THE ATOM—Lt.-Gen. Leslie R. Groves, who directed the U. S. atom program during its formative years, said the loss of American atom secrets to Russia through espionage was unavoidable. He said the strictest security precautions failed to prevent the leakage of some atomic information.

News Plug Backfires

MERCED, Calif. (UP) — Dave Sischo and Alan Morrison were pleased when an article appeared in the local newspaper about their spear-fishing activities in a nearby river until fish and game department officials hauled them in to pay $25 fines. It's against the law in California to spear fish in fresh water.

Hal Boyle Says:

Losers' Bouquets Wasted on Victorious Candidates

NEW YORK (AP)—In the great game of politics there is an old tradition that the defeated candidate must show himself a cheerful loser.

Thus, following protocol, several hundred candidates beaten in the elections today, will dry their tears tomorrow morning and send the following telegram to the winners:

"The people have spoken. Congratulations on your splendid victory."

* * *

And to complete the phony atmosphere of sportsmanship, the winners—or one of their camp followers—will send back the following reply:

"Greatly appreciate your cordial message. The great tasks that lie ahead require us all to think in terms of mutual performance rather than past partisanship."

This is all pure guff and nonsense. Both candidates know it. The people know it. It fools nobody. Why, then, do the politicians, election after election, go through these empty meaningless gestures of Oriental politeness?

* * *

Most defeated candidates I have known, whether they aspired to be local dogcatcher or to get a four-year lease on the great white doghouse in Washington, D.C., were lonely, angry, embittered men.

A man who has lost a political election is, in terms of fury, the male equivalent of a woman scorned in love.

Almost invariably he feels he lost because of two reasons:

1. His own party friends knifed him by failing to carry out their precampaign pledges.

2. His opponent bought the election.

In such circumstances he is only fooling himself by trying to appear a cheerful loser, when he feels in his heart he was let down by his pals and jobbed by the rascally enemy.

* * *

Then why not put a little more forthright truth in these postelection statements?

Does it show real sportsmanship for a losing candidate to send congratulations to a victor whom for weeks he has denounced as a bungler, a corrupt puppet, a threat to the people, and a guy who beats his mother when no one is looking? Hardly.

* * *

Let's have more rugged sincerity and less synthetic sweetness and light from defeated candidates. What we need is more sour losers who retain the strength of their campaign convictions.

* * *

"Now that you won the election you are an even more famous crook than before."

"If the responsibility of public office educates you in any way, America's illiteracy rate will be cut in half."

"When bums are put on thrones, the people will soon wear rags."

"Since your new post gives you access to the public treasury, don't you think you'd be wise to hire a defense attorney now?"

"Your triumph will rank in American history right along with the Johnstown flood and Hurricane Hazel."

"A new grunt echoes at the public trough."

"Well, you won, and have given us a new motto: 'In God we must trust—even more than ever.'"

"You may regard your election as a vindication. I choose to think of it as an epidemic—a mass outbreak of voter near-sightedness."

Postelection messages such as these might put some needed realism into politics. People may praise a good loser, but they admire even more a good fighter who never quits or compromises, but goes on belting forever for what he believes in.

Tough Country Pays Off

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—During the 44 years the Hatcher family fought to keep their 640 acres of land through drouth and other misfortunes, Mrs. Effie Hatcher kept saying "this country must have something more in it than rocks and rattlesnakes."

She was right. Now she can look out over the wheat fields and see three producing oil wells in their midst.

Birmingham Group Will Give Show

'Traumerei' Set for Saturday by Jopatom Players

A group of Birmingham persons believes that there is a need for renewed high standards in art.

These artists are the Jopatom Players, organized not long ago in the heart of Birmingham—and they are eying Pontiac as a possible future home for their troupe.

On Nov. 6 the Jopatom Players will present "Traumerei" (visions) at the Birmingham Community House.

This unique production will feature a prologue set to music. Scene one will be a dance solo designed to lead to the one act play which makes up the second scene.

As the scene closes, a musical bridge leads to scene three which is a dance epitaph encompassing modern dance and touches of ballet to show the unity of the two forms.

Act Two will provide a contrast to the first act as impressions of piano music will be performed in miniature concert form. Debussy's music will be recognized in this act and will set the mood for the finale of the production.

The Jopatom Players will climax the show with their own innovation, "The Five Worlds of Creation" a dance drama with narration.

The players are headed by Joseph Zabilski, his wife, Patricial and Thomas Lecik who seek to provide relief from tensions of an exhausting age by bringing to the public art forms which relax the mind, senses and heart.

Mr. Zabelski is a concert musician and teacher. He was graduated from Yale University and has been active in opera, theater, and ballet for many years. At present he is preparing a concert for the second production of the Jopatom Players.

Mrs. Zabelski is a graduate of the Elizabeth Hollowy School of the Theater in San Francisco and has had a broad education in drama and voice. She has appeared with many touring theatrical companies and has appeared on television.

Mr. Lecik, who is director for "Traumerai" was formerly with the Goodman Memorial Theater in Chicago. He has directed many plays in this area and has appeared as an actor, director and choreographer.

The Jopatom Players in a scene from "Traumerei," to be presented Nov. 6 in Birmingham Community House.

Color, Fabric Top Interest in Coast Showings

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

CLEMENCE

As guests of the California fashion creators, we saw what you'll be seeing soon, the influence of color, fabric — yes — and even the H-line in California fashions. And, before press week is over we'll report the entire picture including sportswear, swimsuits, dresses, coats and suits.

First to be previewed was the collection of James Galanos, winner of the American fashion Coty award and the Neiman-fashion award.

Editors were quick to note the absence of the very nipped waistline, the introduction of the slightly shorter skirts, the longer torso and the very full skirts.

With this new California look, the designer has combined fabrics to bring you some of the most beautiful dresses. We believe, you'll see this spring.

The natural silhouette is seen in the fashions by Irene. The shoulders remain gentle and there is a complete absence of padding.

Colors are vivid in this collection and most of the fabulous dinner dresses have gay satin ribbons.

The low belt was first noted here, and in one instance a black day dress had two belts, one at the hip and the other at the waist.

Irene uses fobs on a number of suits this year, achieving a strongly defined hip. These fobs, in many materials, are worn under hipline pocket flaps.

This girl whose accent was so pleasant, comes from Costa Rica and talked much more about her home and two children than she did of her modeling job. In fact, her main concern, when fashion week is over, is to get back to Santa Ana and shop for a mail box!

Don Loper's collection is one of elegance and we paid particular attention to the theater coats and dresses. The coats had great puffed sleeves designed to give any woman a queenly appearance.

Although many women still demand the slim sheath dress, Howard Greer recognizes the needs of those others who cannot wear such a dress—so he shows much more fullness in his collections.

Prints play an important role in these fashions which have a Japanese influence.

Longer jackets on suits were noted in the collection of Athena and straighter lines dominate. Silhouettes range from classically fitted, semi-fitted to box jackets. Hip interest is gained through the use of belts and set-in hip bands.

The lengthening of the torso is flattering, and in all collections the easier body line and the higher, rounder bosom is apparent.

There'll be other top-flight couturiers' collections to be previewed on Wednesday.

Judith L. Clemence, Pontiac Press Women's Editor is attending California National Press Week, being held in Los Angeles through Nov. 6.

Don't Expect 'Flat Look' of Twenties

Most women, but especially the mature woman, are curious about the new look (currently called the "flat look") in fashions.

Older women, when remembering the "flat look" that was so popular during the 20s, invariably think of the tight bands they had to wear in order to flatten their bosoms and thus be fashionable.

They have since learned that in wearing these undergarments they were endangering their health. The pressure caused by these tight bands often caused damage to the breast tissue.

Through personal experience, they know that the smile of the flapper in smart boyish garb concealed a discomfort they endured for fashion's sake.

Naturally, the big question is: "Will the 'flat look' return once more and bring with it the dread tight bindings?"

From the corset and brassiere industry comes a loud, sharp "No!" They state first that the bustline is not flattened, but high and rounded.

The waistline is eased and the cinched waist will soon become passe. The rest of the new-look figure includes a long, slim torso.

They are also of the opinion that every woman should wear the silhouette that is most becoming to her own figure.

As for undergarments to complement the new look, they will be comfortable. Brassieres to lift the bustline, girdles and corselets to mold the figure properly.

Big Ashtrays Rate as Practical Buys

It must be that little ashtrays are irritating to everyone. The ones you see get bigger and bigger.

A big ashtray is a sound buy if you smoke a lot or if you put trays on small tables where they might get brushed off. If you feel they're too big, get smaller ones, but heavy ones.

Chanel Haircut Complements New Fashions

Last year marked the return of Mademoiselle Gabrielle Chanel to the fashion world. Since then, her classically simple designs have made very successful comebacks.

Equally successful has been the introduction of a new hair style by D. J. Brown, famous New York hair stylist.

He calls it the "Chanel Cut" because it is a modification of the casual hair style of the 20s.

This is a sleek hair style. In length, it is just past the earlobe, or slightly longer. It features wide, soft waves and is quite versatile in that it can be worn either parted or unparted.

Looking at this season's collection of small, snug-fitting hats, Brown feels that hair styles should have manageability as well as femininity.

According to Brown, the unruly, windblown hair style is on its way out, since it doesn't balance the new sleek silhouettes.

Brown is a firm believer in the theory of new silhouettes determining new hair styles. He feels that a woman's hairdo, if it's correct, will not clash with the lines of her costume.

His own "Chanel Cut" is one which is flattering for most women, and will complement, rather than clash with, this season's fashions.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Rathbun (nee Maxine Earl) of Drayton Woods are announcing the birth of a son, Craig Alan, at Pontiac General Hospital Oct. 18.

Install Low Rods in Child's Closet

A closet fixed for a small child is a help. Push a small chest of drawers into it and put up two rods, since a youngster's clothes are short and narrow.

Teen Acne Treated

The teenager's bad complexion or acne used to be shrugged off as a "passing stage." It is a serious matter to the victim, and today doctors have many resources to deal with the problem. Continued suffering is needless and unkind.

Honor Maid Not Obliged to Entertain

No One Has Duty to Give Shower for Bride-Elect

By EMILY POST

A girl writes: "I was asked to serve as maid of honor at a friend's wedding. I was very happy to accept and knew that I was expected to pay for my own clothes.

"But what I hadn't known was that it was imperative that I, as the attendant of honor, give the bride-to-be a shower. I am told that this is one of my duties. Please enlighten me."

Answer: There is no such duty. It is no one's duty to give her a shower. People give them if they want to.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have several friends who are "night owls" and when they come for a visit they never think of going home. Can you tell me how I can get these lingering visitors to go home at a reasonable hour? I mean a polite way without hurting their feelings.

I am sure there are many of your readers with this same problem and your help in this matter will be most appreciated.

Answer: I wish I did know the answer further than commenting that if most visitors would pay more attention to the evidences of their hosts' fatigue, they wouldn't stay on and on and on.

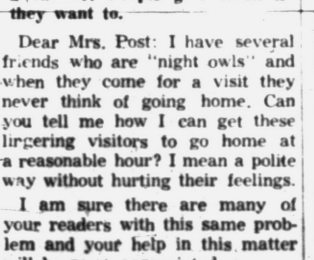

If you have a husband who has to bget up early in the morning, you can use this need for sleep as a reason for hinting that your guests leave.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to mark the envelope of a very personal letter to a member of a large family "personal"? I have received such a letter from a friend and certain members of my family have taken offense—particularly mother who considers it a gross insult to her integrity. What is your opinoin?

Answer: I agree with your mother. "Personal" on an envelope sent to your family address is discourteous and has no excuse.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's aunt and uncle have asked me to spend a week or two with them. I have never met them. I'm wondering if I should take a gift with me or wait and send one after I return home?

Answer: No gift is necessary either before or later, only a letter of thanks.

They Didn't Give Up, They're Famous

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

With Mary Martin back on Broadway in "Peter Pan," they'll be dragging out that thread-bare little yarn that must make the shrewd Billy Rose wince every time he sees it in print. Mary herself once told me it's true, but it's the kind of story that, true or false, once started nobody can ever stop.

It happened long ago when Billy was master-minding a Fort Worth festival and Texas-born Mary was applying for a chorus job. After her audition, Rose earnestly advised the young woman to give up thoughts of the theater and continue with her little dancing school in Weatherford, her hometown.

If Mary had heeded him, she'd still be running a dancing school in Weatherford, Tex.

Equally, if Phil Stong had believed the publishers, he'd never have had a great financial and critical success with a novel called "State Fair," for it was his 13th book and all the preceding 12 had been turned down.

Damon Runyon, who went on to be compared to De Maupassant, O. Henry and Edgar Allen Poe, submitted one of his first guys-and-dolls stories 35 times before he found a magazine editor who appreciated his shrewd sketches of Broadway types.

Paul Whiteman, the man who has been known for 25 years as the King of Jazz, when I was writing his life story amused me by recounting a tale of being fired from Tait's in San Francisco—because he couldn't play jazz!

And in Ben Gross' "I Looked and I Listened," is recorded the rejection in the early days of radio of Gracie Allen and George Burns by an important executive.

"The public would never accept you as a regular feature," the high brass assured Burns. "For one thing, Gracie's voice is absolutely unfitted for radio — too squeaky."

I wonder how these great successes themselves feel when, later, they meet up with the person who turned thumbs down. It is probably one of the few times when they get a genuine feeling of accomplishment.

"It was my best moment so far," a reporter told me, referring to a call he had just had from a press agent who turned out to be his old journalism professor — the very one who had told my friend with callous candor and shattering positiveness that he was just not cut out to be a newspaperman.

One of the pleasant little victories in my own life occurred after I had been on the air many years. When I was struggling for sponsors one of the chief salesmen of the station, because he didn't believe my program would succeed, flatly refused to sell me to an old and valued customer.

The customer, whose wife was a listener, bought me anyway—such is the power of a wife—but my big moment came 15 years afterwards when the salesman went into business for himself and asked me to accept his first account.

Little Gifts Show Him You Care

They Are Ways of Saying 'Thanks' for His Generosity

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

There's a lot of selfish pleasure in doing things for folks you like. Little favors, little gifts, little thoughtfulnesses work both ways. They delight the recipient—and the giving warms you too.

For some people you can't do much. They seem to have everything, and they always manage to keep the score uneven by doing so much for you. It keeps you always on the receiving end.

Other people keep you on the giving end. Maybe they're just not generous-minded. Maybe they haven't the means, and lack imagination besides. And you keep on giving because you want to give pleasure and have the pleasure of so doing.

This girl has been adding up the score and she finds that the gifts she gives her boy friend far outnumber the ones he gives her. It has her worried. So she writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I brought him home a small gift when I went on vacation this summer. But when he came home from his vacation he had no souvenir for me.

Now his birthday is coming up and I don't know whether to get him something, and if so what to get and how much to pay for it. Then Christmas will be coming and I'll have to get him something else. I like to get him things, but I don't want to be on the giving end always. What do you suggest?"

I suggest that you go right on liking to get him things, and make your plans accordingly. At the moment it does look as though you're always on the giving end. But that's pure coincidence. The dates you feel you should remember just happen to be clustered together at this time of the year.

Remind yourself, too, that every time he takes you out he's spending the money—he's doing something for you. The little gifts you give him show your appreciation and your thoughtfulness. They're your way of saying "thank you." They needn't be elaborate and expensive—but you know him well enough to pick out something he needs or wants or would enjoy receiving from you.

"Dear Miss Woodward: Though we weren't going steady at the time he bought me a present costing $20, I didn't want to accept it, but I didn't want to hurt him by refusing it. Now we are going steady and I want to get him something for his birthday. I'm not working, but I don't want to appear a cheapskate, so what can I get for him?"

Forget the cost of his present to you, and weigh instead the pleasure, the usefulness, the sheer frivolity it represents. Then consider his tastes and his haoits. The missing link could be one of a number of things he would enjoy wearing, using, reading.

Homemaker May Have Ideas to Sell

By ANNE HEYWOOD

There's a new book which is full of ideas for women at home. It is called "How To Make Money for Your Ideas," and is the most practical and complete treatment of the subject I've ever seen.

It tells how to get saleable ideas, how to sell your ideas, how to bring your ideas to the attention of the right people, how to protect your ideas legally—in fact, it does just about everything except think up ideas for you!

My favorite chapter is the one called "Have You A Saleable Idea Based on Your Homemaking Experience?" You may have one.

Just to show you how understandingly the author treats the subject, here are the opening words of this particular chapter:

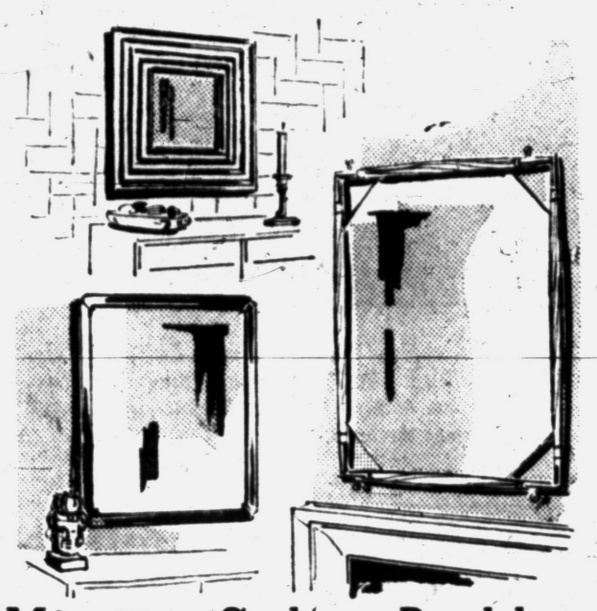

"Just a housewife. Your job is just as productive of money-making ideas as any other. In fact, more so. . . . I don't believe there's a woman reading this book who hasn't a saleable idea growing out of her homemaking experience.

"You cook three meals a day, sew, garden, clean house, tend baby, and do a dozen other chores that beg you to have ideas and develop them so that they may benefit other homemakers."

Then the author goes ahead and tells you how to do it.

He discusses decorating ideas, sewing ideas, ideas concerning children, cooking, ideas involving flowers. There are dozens and dozens of suggestions.

If you'd like to know more about the book, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mirrors Solve Problem in New, Graceful Guise

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

The choice was so often between too plain and too fancy. Unframed mirror wasn't always decorative enough, and framed mirrors were usually period styles that seemed too complicated for a contemporary room. The best of the new mirrors solve the problem, and mirror finds a new and important place in the contemporary-styled home. These handsome new mirrors have frames that add interesting but simple detail to simple outlines; but more than that, they take on a special relationship to contemporary decorating trends. The three wood-framed mirrors sketched are good examples.

One, at top left, widens a square frame and relates it to furniture by alternating strips of light wood with strips of dark. Below is a mirror that captures an oriental flavor with no more than a gentle shaping at the corners, and a satiny black finish. The mirror at right echoes today's interest in crafts with a graceful tapering of the wood pieces—polished to bring out the natural grain—and silver fittings at the corners.

Hard--Dry, They're Not Same Thing

Cobb Gives Tests to Protect Your Varnish, Concrete

By HUBBARD COBB

If you have ever made the error of removing the forms from a billion dollar poured concrete dam before the concrete was hard, you'll know what we mean when we say something can be dry but still not hard. This applies to paints and finishes just as much as it does to concrete.

Take varnish, for example. You can coat a floor with varnish and then swear after a day or so that the varnish is dry. It looks dry and it feels dry and, as a matter of fact, the surface of the varnish is dry. Trouble is that the stuff under the surface isn't dry and if you walk over the floor you will ruin it. Best test for varnish is to see if you can scratch it with your fingernail. If it scratches, it's not as yet hard.

Another finish that can give people a bad time is a rubber base interior wall paint. These finishes dry pretty fast and it seems logical after a week or so to expect that the finish won't be harmed by water. So someone takes out a damp cloth to remove a spot from the surface and off comes the paint. Paints of this type dry rapidly but they take about 30 days in which to cure and until they are cured they should not be washed.

When you apply two coats of oil paint to a surface there is a great temptation to apply the second coat just as soon as the first is dry. This is bad because the first coat is not as yet hard and when you paint over it you eliminate all chances of it ever drying because you've cut off the supply of air. In time the finish coat begins to crack because this is what happens when a hard coat rests upon a soft one.

So, when it comes to finishes be sure that your finish is both dry and hard before you attempt to do anything with it.

Check on Mattress

Do you turn your rubber mattress? Better check if you ought to before you make it a habit. Feel carefully. If you can feel holes in one side and not the other, it means one side is specially protected for smooth sleeping, the other not so strong.

Make Cute Party Favors

We have talked about different things to make for your dogs but here is an idea for your kitty or cat. If you do not have a cat of your own, perhaps you would like to make one of these for one of your friend's cats.

All cats and kittens love catnip and here is an idea for a catnip plaything. You will need two pieces of material about five by four inches. You will also need some yarn and a little catnip.

This can be found at most pet shops, and it is quite inexpensive. Make a paper pattern of a cat's head by following the one here in the drawing. Now, put it on your two pieces of material which are laid together and cut the head out.

You can now sew on the eyes, nose, and whiskers, or if you are using a material like denim you can paint them on. Blanket stitch around the edges, and fill with catnip just before making the last stitches. Cats really like these.

You can use the bottom part of blue jeans for the material in these as this is easy to paint or to sew on. Do you have any worn out jeans?

Good idea, Petunia! Unscrew the drawer-pulls and poke them through a piece of cardboard before you paint them.

Some Schools Starting 1st Graders on French or Spanish

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Foreign languages soon may be as common in the classrooms of American grade school students as the three R's if current experiments prove successful.

Children at the University of Pittsburgh's Faulk elementary school are being indoctrinated in either French or Spanish in their very first year. They continue the lessons on up through the eighth grade.

During the first year, the instruction is limited to only a few minutes at a time two to four periods a week. The youngsters learn their first words mainly through conversation. They don't have to worry about grammar until they reach the seventh grade.

Similar programs are underway in some New York and California schools, while regular foreign language instruction for 11-year-olds will begin next fall in Chicago.

The grade school foreign language classes got under way at the Faulk school last year when a group of first-graders received Spanish lessons. This year, the first grade class is studying French.

To prove the classes at Faulk are successful, several parents already have started taking Spanish lessons themselves to find out what their children are saying when they spout phrases in an unfamiliar tongue around the house.

Wandering Pair Returned Home

Roseville Children Were Missing Five Days on Exploring Trip

DETROIT (AP)— Two young suburban Roseville children were back home safe and sound today after five days of tramping around in southwestern Wayne County.

Thirteen-year-old Harry Weed and his 9-year-old sister, Elizabeth, had been missing since last Wednesday.

They were recognized last night by a waitress in a Detroit restaurant where they stopped on their way home.

The youngsters said they had nothing to eat until Saturday night when they promoted some popcorn and candy on a Halloween "trick or treat" routine.

The waitress, Inis Keesee, 23, of Detroit, called police who returned the children to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Weed.

Harry said he and his sister set out Wednesday to visit an aunt in Detroit. When they found she was not at home, he said, they took a bus for Lincoln Park because Harry "always wanted to see that part of the country."

In Lincoln Park Wednesday night the youngsters tried to sleep in a grove but found it too cold, Harry said.

They walked to Flat Rock Thursday and then back to Wyandotte where they spent the next four nights in a fish shanty. Harry said a man who was painting the shanty gave them permission to sleep there and asked no questions.

Asked by police if they liked their trip, Harry replied:

"Not too well. My sister cried. She wanted to go back home."

'56 Presidency in Background

Ives and Harriman Vie in Empire State; Knight, Graves in West

WASHINGTON (AP)—Voters in New York and California decide unusually hot governor battles today, with the 1956 presidential campaign in the background.

These two contests dominate races for governorships in 33 states, with only four in the Deep South uncontested.

* * *

New York selects a successor to retiring Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, twice GOP presidential candidate, who has held tight control of the governor's mansion for three terms.

* * *

Dewey's choice as his GOP heir, Sen. Irving M. Ives, has fought a bitter—and some pollsters say an uphill—battle against Averell Harriman, the Democratic nominee. Harriman, a multimillionaire industrialist, formerly was foreign aid director, secretary of commerce and ambassador to Russia and Great Britain.

In California, Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight is making his first effort to win at the polls the office he inherited when Earl Warren resigned after three terms to become chief justice of the United States. Warren won bipartisan support during most of his career as governor.

* * *

Knight overwhelmed his Democratic opponent, Richard P. Graves, by a 900,000 two-party plurality in the primary. But he has "run scared" in a two-fisted closing campaign against the former college lecturer.

* * *

Because they are such populous states, New York and California together have 77 out of a total of 531 electoral votes for president. By the same token, they carry great weight at the national nominating conventions of both parties.

The Republicans started the 1954 battle for governorships holding 29 statehouses to 19 for the Democrats. This is the largest GOP advantage since 1930, when the split was exactly the same.

The Democrats picked up a governorship in September when Democrat Edmund S. Muskie defeated Gov. Burton M. Cross in Maine. Muskie takes office in January.

In all, 22 Republican and 11 Democratic governorships are at stake today. Six Republicans and eight Democrats are holdovers.

Pittsfield Tax Levy Dispute Up for Supreme Court Test

LANSING (AP)—The State Supreme Court has been asked to decide the bitterest dispute in local government—whether county and school taxes must be levied on the state equalized valuations or on the lower county equalization.

School District No. 9 of Pittsfield Township in Washtenaw County took the fight to the Supreme Court, asking for a write of mandamus to force the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors to levy on the state equalized values. The assessors of Pittsfield Township and the city of East Ann Arbor are also named as defendants.

The dispute was fanned this year by opinions of Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard that the higher state equalization must be the tax base in any county which has a school district or other local unit which overlaps county lines.

The State Tax Commission has estimated that about 67 counties are in this class.

The Washtenaw District said in its suit it would lose $11,000 because of the supervisors' decision to levy on the county equalization for all school districts wholly within the county.

The court said it understood a reply would be filed Wednesday by the defendants. There was no indication of when the court would make a decision.

Acquit Elephant Boy on Insurance Fraud

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A jury has returned a verdict in favor of Sabu Dastagir, former elephant boy of the movies, who was sued by two insurance companies for return of $29,081 paid him after a 1950 fire in his house.

Sabu, 29, denied an allegation that he conspired to set the fire for the insurance money. Sabu and his wife Marilyn testified that they were not at the house at the time of the fire.

Andre Perez served a two-year prison term for arson, having admitted he set the fire and took jewelry and other valuables from the house.

Politics Tops Sports as Hottest South American Topic

By JOHN W. FITZGERALD
Assistant to the Editor

Politics the South American way is something new as far as most North Americans are concerned. Democracies and dictatorship operate side by side. In many cases it is power, plus money and you take over. With wealth, the army and political know how, you grab control of the country.

In a democracy, as we have grown up to know, all classes and parties have a fair shake and the government is decided by popular vote. By contrast the South American countries have been more accustomed to strong-armed rule.

The hottest topic in Brazil, day in and day out, is politics. Like the World Series in this country when two or more Brazilians get together the discussion runs along the line of what are the odds and who is going to be elected.

One of the largest single stumbling blocks contributing to the unsettled economic condition of Brazil has been politics. For many years Getulio Vargas reigned with a single, iron hand. The party in power reaped all the wealth and unlike this country virtually eliminated any other status of living. You were either among the very wealthy or the poor. What we know in this country as a middle class did not exist.

In 1950 after being out of the presidency of Brazil for five years, Vargas was reelected under a democratic form of government. However, his power existed and his regime was still ironclad.

Under this type of rule the country suffered, since the general welfare of the populace and economic conditions were disregarded for personal gain. Public utilities such as roads, electricity and water were at a standstill during this period.

During this time a new leader, fighting for the people and the country, sprang up. He was Carlos Lacerda, crusading editor of Tribuna da Imprensa, in Rio de Janeiro. Mr. Lacerda is a two-fisted fighter who fights fire with fire and is known to be a stickler for facts. He never attacks the government or any of its officials without first having signed affidavits and facts to substantiate his charges.

According to many Brazilians the suicide of Getulio Vargas was largely brought about by facts Carlos Lacerda brought to light concerning the government and its operation. Apparently, Vargas was on a spot not only with the people, but with his own government as well.

Arriving in Rio on Election Day, Sunday, Oct. 3, one could sense the feeling that Vargas was already a forgotten man. A new government was coming into power. The streets and all available poster space were covered with campaign signs and little groups were gathered discussing the day's voting.

Vargas' strongest critic, Carlos Lacerda, led the ticket for a House of Deputies seat. Vargas' son also gained a seat but not by a large majority. Another candidate handpicked by Vargas ran a poor third for the Senate race.

The apparent assassination attempt on Carlos Lacerdas' life aroused the people enough so that he emerged as a strong power in the new government under President Cafe Filho.

Concensus of opinion is that Cafe Filho is steering Brazil along a democratic, middle-of-the-road course. Certainly this will benefit the country.

Along with Carlos Lacerda and other members attending the Inter-American Press Association meeting, I had the opportunity to attend a reception by President Cafe Filho. The new president, small in stature, is a gentle and gracious host. He no longer has the government house guarded with machine guns and the former strong-arm guards that were the custom with Vargas were nowhere in sight.

The President talked with the visiting press representatives. He was interested in the purpose of our meeting which was working for the freedom of the press in both North and South America.

During the remaining 15 months of Cafe Filho's term strong strides should be made to get the country on an honest, democratic form of government which is the direct opposite of his predecessor.

Warning Given on Rental Units

Official Says Quarters Should Comply With City Ordinance

City Sanitarian Charles S. Cohen today issued a warning to both potential tenants and landlords to be cautious about renting substandard living quarters.

Cohen said his office gets calls almost daily from people wanting to move into a basement, attic or garage apartment, or from property owners who would like to rent those portions of their property.

"In most cases, we have to tell them that such use of the property is illegal, according to city ordinance," Cohen said.

"And often the inquiry comes after a person has bought a house, planning to pay it off with the rent from two or three families. They find out it's illegal and then they are in difficulty.

"Most of the problems stem from three things: lack of toilet and bath facilities, lack of minimum ceiling height and window area in attics and lack of egress."

In explaining the latter, Cohen said: "According to city and state regulations, there must be two entrance-ways leading to living quarters."

Cohen's assistant, Ralph Florio, added that owners jeopardize their own interests because often insurance becomes null and void when an excess number of families live in a house.

"Normally, basements, attics and garages can't be used for housing purposes," Cohen said. "Some exceptions are attics of brick buildings and basements which are more than half-way above the surrounding ground.

"People looking at potential places to live, or landlords thinking about renting out these spaces can call our office or the city engineer's department or the fire department for specific information."

Police Search for Clues to Identify Man's Skull

DETROIT (UP) — State Police were looking for additional clues today after a Detroit duck hunter found a human skull Sunday near Flat Rock.

Maurice M. Price, 50, told police he also found leg and pelvic bones at Pointe Mouillee, six miles east of Flat Rock.

Dr. C. W. Muehlberger of the State Health Department's crime detection section identified the skull as that of a man about 30 years old.

Skouras Estate to Be Over Million Dollars

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The will of theater magnate Charles P. Skouras leaves property valued at more than a million dollars to members of his immediate family.

Filed for probate yesterday, the will designated as separate property of his widow Florence a home in Beverly Hills, theater property in San Diego and stocks and bonds standing in her name. To her went in trust all the community property interest her husband held in stocks and bonds in six corporations.

Skouris, 65, died Oct. 22 of a heart ailment.

Kelly Is a Lady

Rise to Fame Not Irish Luck—It's Ability

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
(Third of Four Articles)

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—The little white ball whirled around the casino roulette wheel at Cannes one night last July and dropped into double 00.

"That finishes me," said Cary Grant's wife, Betsy Drake. "Me, too," said Edith Head, the Paramount studio fashion designer, as the croupier raked in the last of their losing bets.

Along with Grace Kelly, Betsy and Edith each had purchased a $10 stack of chips to try their luck. Ten dollars, they had agreed, was their casino mad money limit for the night during a location trip to the French resort for the movie, "To Catch a Thief."

But Grace Kelly still hadn't placed a bet after explaining:

But now Betsy chided, "Come on, Grace. Lose your money and we can all go home." Grace smiled and said:

"I think I know what to do now."

She put all of her $10 chips on Number 6 as the wheel again began to spin.

Some Hollywoodites who watched Grace Kelly hit the fame and fortune jackpot on movietown's wheel of fortune smile and say, "It's the luck of the Irish."

But after seeing Grace calmly collect $350 when the white ball dropped into Number 6 on that roulette wheel in Cannes, Edith Head will tell you:

"The luck of the Irish?—My eye! She picked Number 6 with complete sureness. She selects clothes and stories and directors with the same sureness. It's fantastic. She's always right."

That New York screen test Grace made for the movie "Taxi" failed to win her the role—but it won her stardom in her first big movie, "Mogambo."

Grace and the screen test arrived in Hollywood at the same time. She'd been hired by Producer Stanley Kramer, who saw her in summer stock, to play the role of Gary Cooper's wife in "High Noon."

Her agents took the "Taxi" test to MGM. Searching for a girl to play the prissy English bride in "Mogambo," Director John Ford looked at the film.

The Grace Kelly avalanche had started.

Her agents took the same test to Warner Bros., where Alfred Hitchcock was casting "Dial M For Murder."

Grace by this time was in Africa working in "Mogambo," knitting socks for Gable between scenes, going on hunting trips with him and laughingly denying romance rumors so strong that one London newspaper cabled them to "confirm" their engagement.

He co-starred her again with Jimmy Stewart in his next film, "Rear Window," and he co-starred her again with Cary Grant in his latest, "To Catch a Thief."

Then it was "The Bridges of Toko-Ri" opposite William Holden, "The Country Girl," with Bing Crosby, and "Green Fire" with Stewart Granger. And, believe me, there was green fire in the eyes of other Hollywood feminine stars as Grace Kelly landed one big role after another.

Some of them even visited her sets to find out "what the hell this dame's got." They went away without the answer. They invited her to parties. They still couldn't find the answer.

They couldn't find the answer because Grace Kelly blossoms only on the screen. Or when she wants to.

"THIS IS NO MERE BEAUTY," said Director John Ford when he saw Grace Kelly's screen test. There seems to be no argument.

ZOOM TO STARDOM has been a parade with stars already in bigtime. Here she's with James Stewart in "Rear Window."

On the set she wears glasses—she's nearsighted—and she knits. She's shy and she has little to say "because I really have nothing of interest to say."

KELLY BLOSSOMS only when she wants, wears glasses on set.

A veteran and able publicity man who worked on one of her films says: "I avoided Grace because I couldn't find anything I could talk to her about. She either doesn't realize she's hot copy or else she just doesn't care."

Because there is nothing flamboyant about Grace Kelly, she is no day-to-day news maker, like most Hollywood movie queens. After long fitting room sessions and close association with her on four movies, one of them on location in France, designer Edith Head probably understands why better than anyone else in Hollywood.

Says Edith:

"A Grace Kelly anecdote? I don't think she would allow an anecdote to happen to her."

As Edith sees her:

"She's completely enchanting without a single trait of an actress. She gives you no 'I am a star' feeling. She's fun and she can be gay. But she's constantly on guard."

Cheaper Foreign Bicycles Take Over U.S. Markets

By MARGARET LATROBE

Is the bicycle industry built for two? Can American bikes compete with those of foreign make?

Well, they can't, and we might as well face it. The United States Tariff Commission is facing it right now, in the form of an application for increased tariffs and flexible quota limitations aimed at giving American bike manufacturers an even break in a tough competitive fight.

Our bike makers say it's all wrong that customers look first at the price tags, and secondly consider whether they want a light, easy-to-handle foreign job or the sturdy heavy American model.

They say that comparison is as inevitable as it is unfair, though, because American light - weight bikes are much more expensive than the foreign counterpart. Comparable prices occur only between machine - made heavyweight domestic two-wheelers and hand-finished lightweights from Britain.

LATROBE

We can't meet the low price of imports because of our high wage scales. With labor costs the highest in the world, we cannot sell products at a profit when similar goods fly in through the door of low tariff entry.

Uncle Sam faces a constant dilemma on the tariff question. We do, it's true, wish to stimulate international trade amongst friendly countries. We have fought wars, we have voted back-breaking taxes upon ourselves, in order to aid other countries. We continue to shovel out foreign aid in terms of billions.

Must we, in addition, sacrifice our own industries who manufacture competitive products?

Britain, for instance, is having no part of this low tariff nonsense. She protects her own manufacturers first, and lets world trade find itself another boy. Of all bicycles being pedalled through the English copse, you can bet your boots that they are 100 per cent British. And that fact comes from our State Department figures.

Whether it concerns watches and clocks, crystal or china, whatever the product and wherever the manufacturer, I say let it be a fair race. If they like our markets so well, maybe they should adopt our methods abroad.

If they enjoy our dollars, perhaps they would enjoy letting our own manufacturers earn a few of them—making bicycles. Maybe they would see the fairness of putting the tariff back where it belongs, at 30 per cent instead of seven, so our bikes can meet their prices.

Anyway, it wouldn't hurt to ask, which is just what the American bicycle industry asks now of our own Tariff Commission and finally, President Eisenhower. Couldn't our own bike industry have a fair shake of the two-wheeler market—or must they shut down the plants and go on relief?

Communists in Hungary Facing Serious Upheaval

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Communist Hungary seems to be in serious trouble.

Trouble is nothing new, of course to the 9,300,000 ordinary people who live under the Red dictatorship. But things are so bad that Communist leaders are sharing the trouble.

A grandiose plan to convert agricultural Hungary to heavy industry as part of the Kremlin's master plan of exploiting Soviet satellites has failed.

The Communists are trying to emphasize production of food and consumer goods to an extent which constitutes an industrial revolution.

But the reconversion is not going smoothly. About 200,000 people have been thrown out of work. Travelers arriving in Vienna from Budapest say that the total may reach 600,000 to 800,000.

The country is facing its second miserable winter, and reports tell of growing public unrest.

Things go so bad as far back as the summer of 1953 that the Red leaders sensed danger.

Bullet-headed Matyas Rakosi, chief of the Hungarian Communist Party who had sponsored the conversion to heavy industry, steped out of his post as prime minister in favor of Imre Nagy, another high party leader who is also an agricultural expert.

Nagy announced what he called a "new course." He promised more food and less industrialization. He said there would be more consumer goods and told farmers they might leave the big collective farms and till land of their own.

The farmers responded so enthusiastically that Nagy had to clamp down new regulations to save the collectives.

There were shortages of food, coal and electric power. There was an epidemic of influenza as the result of bad living conditions.

Things have got worse rather than better since then. Rakosi is reported to have gloated at the failure of the Nagy "new course."

It is reported that feeling between Nagy and Rakosi is so bad that it is becoming an open squabble. There are hints that a purge is not unlikely in the near future.

Nagy, in an article published in Budapest on Oct. 20, severely criticized the "dictatorial leadership by one person" which had existed in Hungary for five years before he took office. The dictator was Rakosi.

In another article published at about the same time, Erno Gero, minister of state and director of economic planning, warned that high officials would be purged ruthlessly if they failed to get the country's economic system going.

A purge seems more likely than ~~any foreseeable~~ improvement in the Hungarian economic situation.

Adm. Hoskins' Naval Career Being Filmed

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Adm. John Hoskins was getting his orders in Washington, D.C., recently, the officer in charge cracked: "I suppose when we see you the next time you'll be wearing a beret and carrying a long cigarette holder!"

The reason for the remark: Hoskins, the fabulous peg-leg admiral of the Pacific wars, was on his way to Hollywood to have his life story filmed.

I found him on the set of "The Admiral Hoskins Story" at Republic. He is a salty fellow with pink, cherubic cheeks, lively eyes and white mustache. Dressed in his blues and two-star braid, he sat near the camera and watched as Alexis Smith, playing his wife, received a radio report that his ship had sunk in World War II.

* * *

That was the USS Princeton. Late in 1944, Hoskins came aboard the ship, his first carrier command after a career in Navy aviation. On his second day, a Japanese dive bomber dropped a 500-pound bomb on the flight deck. It tore through the hangar deck, setting off gasoline stores and torpedoes.

The admiral stayed on board to help direct the fight to save the ship. The fire reached the store of depth charges, which erupted with a tremendous blast. Hoskins was blown to the deck, his right foot dangling by only a tendon. A doctor, dazed himself, severed the tendon without use of morphine. Hoskins recalls it was "the worst pain I have ever experienced."

* * *

He started campaigning in the hospital for a return to active duty. He told Adm. "Bull" Halsey: "The Navy doesn't expect a man to think with his feet. That blast didn't knock off my head."

"Fortunately, I had Halsey on my side," Hoskins told me. "But I must say there was no real opposition to my return to duty."

The Navy's only high-ranking officer with a major disability, he went on to his greatest fame as commander of Carrier Division III during the Korean War.

Spaak Tells Detroit About London Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian foreign affairs minister, yesterday urged swift nine-power ratification of the London agreement to arm and grant near sovereignty to West Germany.

Spaak told the Detroit Economic Club that "the olong delay in Ratification of EDC (European Defense Community) was responsible in large part for its failure."

EDC, he said, would have offered a sounder solution to many of Western Europe's problems and would have contributed strongly to the ultimate growth of European unity.

"But compared to the situation Aug. 31, we have made a tremendous stride with the London Conference achievements," he said.

Last Aug. 31, EDC was defeated in the French National Assembly.

He credited Great Britain and Sir Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, with a large measure of its success.

Money in Sewer Only a Dime, Crowd Learns

OKLAHOMA CITY, (UP)—Until a policeman arrived to get the facts, a throng of spectators did considerable worrying about how to fish a bankroll out of the sewer.

The crowd rallied around an aging man, who gazed wistfully down the drain after some lost cash. The man explained he didn't have strength to lift the cast iron sewer grating.

* * *

Then an Oklahoma City policeman arrived. He was preparing to call the Street Department crew to help retrieve the bank money when he asked a question that fascinated spectators.

"Friend," he said, "how much money did you drop down there?"

"It was a dime," the man replied. Turned out to be bus money, not bank money.

Fisherman U. S. Hope

High Gun Out of International, French Horses, Landau Shift to Favored Role

By JOHN CHANDLER

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — The experts were attempting today to figure out the probable favorite for the big $65,000 Washington D. C. International Horse Race at Laurel Park Wednesday, and they admit with High Gun missing it's quite a task.

* * *

There are two French horses, Banassa and Norman, among the best in Europe, who might have the parimutuel followers on their side in the mile and one half gallop over the infield grass course.

Then, Queen Elizabeth's Landau didn't fly over here just for the ride, and if it should come up rainy the soft track would be right down the alley for Northern Gleam, the Irish filly. Furthermore, King of the Tudors, reputedly the best older horse in England at this time, can't be overlooked in the smart 7-horse field.

That brings it back to the American pair of C. V. Whitney's tough little Fisherman and Stanley C. Mikell's Brush Burn, a veteran turf-course runner.

* * *

Fisherman replaced High Gun, the King Ranch 3-year-old star who was withdrawn suddenly Monday when he suffered a hip injury during a workout. Eddie Arcaro, who was to have ridden High Gun, quickly agreed to pilot Fisherman who was barely beaten by High Gun in the Belmont Stakes in June, and who finished second to the same colt in the 2-mile Jockey Club Gold Cup Oct. 16.

* * *

Two years ago when Laurel inaugurated this global thoroughbred classic, there were four American horses. The foreigners were all but forgotten, and the crowd established the Brookmeade Stable's Greek Ship and Arcaro the 6-5 favorite. They finished sixth in a 7-horse field as the British horse Wilwyn scampered home and paid $15.00.

* * *

A year ago Crafty Admiral was the big American hope, a 2-1 favorite ridden by Bill Boland, and he wound up absolutely last in the 10-horse field. That one was won by Worden II, a powerful French horse who came home flying by six lengths and paid a solid $33.80.

Head coach Buddy Parker fired Smith on the spot.

"Smith, you're through," he said.

Parker then asked general manager Nick Kerbawy to take Smith from the plane and get him a seat on another flight to Detroit.

Smith was a star defensive linebacker and one of the best punters in the National Football League. He reportedly was irked about not seeing enough action in Lions' games.

The loud talking led to a few pushes and swings that were quickly broken up by other players and coaches. The tussle was brief and bloodless.

Smith left the plane with Kerbawy after the incident but returned 10 minutes later and flew home with the team without further incident.

His release on waivers was announced yesterday.

Smith played college football for Tulsa and Iowa. He came out of retirement to rejoin the Lions in September but missed nine weeks of training.

This was his 6th season with Detroit after playing with the Brooklyn Dodgers and Buffalo Bills in the defunct All-American Conference.

Bell Reports Pro Attendance Up This Year

Close Races in Both Divisions May Bring Another Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League says attendance is up two to three per cent this year over last year's record of 2,164,000 fans.

* * *

Bell said Monday the high attendance level had been achieved despite bad weather for 20 per cent of the games played so far this year. He predicted another attendance record for the season on the basis of close races in the two divisions.

In the East, the Pittsburgh Steelers, New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles are tied for first with 4-2 records while the defending division champion Cleveland Browns have a 3-2 record.

* * *

The 49ers and Los Angeles Rams have drawn the season's largest crowd, 78,945.

Bell said that all teams with the possible exception of the Chicago Cardinals are holding their own or are ahead of last year's attendance.

Oaks, Solons Make O'Doul Job Offers

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, veteran Pacific Coast League baseball manager who Sunday annbunced his resignation as boss of the San Diego Padres, said Monday night he had had offers to manage both the Oakland Oaks and the Sacramento Solons.

He declined to discuss possible major league offers.

Oakland owner Clarence (Brick) Laws made him a "very attractive offer," O'Doul said.

Spencer Still Top Scorer in Prep Grid Race

Oxford Fullback Has Six Point Edge Over Hazel Park's Brown

It appears that the only thing that can beat Oxford's Larry Spencer out of the Oakland County prep football scoring championship is his team's 8-game schedule. Four of Spencer's top competitors have the advantage of an extra game.

The Oxford fullback retained his lead Friday by tallying 2 touchdowns and 2 extra points against Clarkston. They boosted his season total to 66 points. Latest threat is Jack Brown of Hazel Park who has 60 points in 7 games.

Holly's Jerry Hunter and Marv Evans of Avondale follow in 3rd and 4th place. Along with Brown, this pair also has 2 more games to play. Evans was scoreless this week, but Hunter marked up 3 touchdowns against Northville.

Pete Dawkins of Cranbrook, also with 2 games to play, scored 3 touchdowns to vault into 5th place, while Ed Kassuba of Ortonville registered 3 6-pointers to join the top 10 in a 10th place tie.

Two of leaders meet head-on Friday. Hunter's Holly eleven meets Clarkston, whose Pat Thompson has scored 42 points.

Benson Sparks Bombers' Win

Winnipeg Qualifies to Meet Edmonton 11 in WIFU Playoff

By The Associated Press

Lorne Benson of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers didn't make the Western Interprovincial Football Union All-Star team, but he's proved again he's a money ballplayer.

Benson, star of Winnipeg's semi-final success last year when he scored six touchdowns in two games, came through again Monday night when he drove four yards for the winning touchdown in the Bombers' 13-11 victory over the Saskatchewan Roughriders. The victory qualified Winnipeg to meet the Edmonton Eskimos in the best-of-three WIFU finals starting Saturday night in Edmonton.

As a Pitcher, Irv Noren Is Good Fielder

Noren is a member of a team of U. S. baseball players playing a barnstorming series with Bobby Avila's All-Stars.

The U. S. team was ahead 7-3 going into the eighth inning when Noren, who earlier had hit a home run, took over on the mound.

In 2-3 of an inning he walked five men, uncorked a wild pitch, gave up two hits and six runs.

Oklahoma's Rugged Lines Check Star Rival Backs

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's two big, fast and rugged football lines have been popping rival backfield claims by the dozen so far this season.

* * *

When the Sooner forwards point for an opposition running star he has turned up a dead duck every game.

Take Colorado, for instance. Oklahoma beat the Buffaloes 13-6 largely because their four star backs were held to a total of 92 yards in 36 carries, a paltry average of 2.5 yards per try.

* * *

Until Saturday's game with the Sooners, however, John Bayuk, Frank Bernardi, Carroll Hardy and Homer Jenkins had piled up an impressive 1,177 net yards for a 7.8 average over earlier Colorado opponents.

And it's been that way all season.

* * *

Corky Taylor, Kansas State's shifty halfback, carried five times against Oklahoma and wound up with a minus three yards. Ronald Clinkscale of Texas Christian University, named The Associated Press Back of the Week for his outstanding performance in leading his team to an upset victory over Southern Cal Oct. 9, lugged the ball six times for a minus 15 and Paul Larson of California carried 11 times for a minus one.

You Be the Quarterback

By Warren Geer
Head Football Coach
Drake University

Behind 12-0 in the 3rd quarter, North Dakota State has driven from its own 20 to the Wichita 33. Now the Bisons have 4th down and five to go.

Two completed passes have figured in the drive—a button hook pass (receiver turns, catches ball) for nine yards and a running pass for 11. Remainder of the ground has been gained on the quarterback keep play from the split-T (quarterback runs laterally to line of scrimmage, faking pitchout) and from the handoff to the fullback.

On 1st down in this series, Bisons ran the keep play for one yard with a line-backer coming in hard to make the tackle. Then a running pass was incomplete, and on 3rd down the fullback made four on a handoff. The ball is in the center of the field.

As the North Dakota State quarterback, rate these plays 1, 2, 3 and 4 for this spot:

Handoff to fullback over offensive end

Handoff to fullback over offensive end

Quarterback keep play

Dodger Rookie Shortstop May Revamp Infield

BROOKLYN (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers' veteran infield may be revamped for 1955 because of a 22-year-old Cuban rookie shortstop named Humberto (Chico) Fernandez.

Fernandez currently is the No. 1 glamour boy of the Dodgers, even more highly prized than Karl Spooner, the young lefthander who broke into the majors last September with a pair of spectacular shutouts.

Dodger vice-president E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, back home from a tour of the Latin American countries where he viewed a number of Dodger farmhands playing in the Cuban Winter League, spoke glowingly of Fernandez.

"Fernandez has impressed everybody with his shortstopping in Cuba," Bavasi said. "If he can play that way in the big leagues, there will be a lot of changes made in our infield."

Mexicans Favorites to Win Show Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—The 66th National Horse Show opens in Madison Square Garden today for an eight-day stand with Gen. Humberto Mariles and his magnificent Mexican team of jumpers expected to win the International Good Will Challenge cup.

Four other teams — the United States, Canada, Spain and West Germany — also will compete against Mexico, fresh from a record-breaking performance in the Pennsylvania Horse Show. The Mexicans won nine of the 11 blue ribbons in the International class at the Harrisburg show.

Chips' Podoley Holds to Scoring Leadership

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The fleet halfback, who has been held to only one touchdown in his last two games, has scored 16 touchdowns and one extra point in eight games.

Jim McDaniel, Ferris freshman, continued in 2nd place. He has 74 points, compiled on 12 touchdowns and two extra points.

Preps Reach 'Windup' Week

By JACK SAYLOR

This is wind-up week for 23 high school football teams in Oakland County and area. The Wayne-Oakland League race moves into the spotlight with Clarkston playing at Holly and Keego Harbor at Clarenceville.

Another top game matches Rochester, a strong independent, with Berkley, which clinched the Inter-Lakes championship last week. A pair of all-state candidates will clash in this one.

Rochester back Walter (Buzz) DeBaene will run against Berkley tackle Bruce Dollohan.

DeBaene broke a 6-6 tie with Romeo in the 2nd quarter on a 35-yard run. Then in the 3rd period with the count tied again at 13-13 he cut loose on a devastating 65-yard run on which 2 tacklers were knocked out and a 3rd aided from the field.

Attempting to stop the 6-foot, 195-pound DeBaene will be Dollohan and Co. Big Bruce is a defensive star, but often shifts to fullback when hard-to-get short yardage is needed.

His extra-point plunge beat Waterford, 13-12, to give Berkley the I-L title. The Skippers had outgained Berkley on the ground 102 yards to 88 and in the air, 95-89, but lost on 2 touchdown passes, one to Dick Radatz with 3 minutes to play.

Waterford's defensive line turned in a fine game, once halting Berkley for 4 downs inside the 10-yard line and on 4th down from a foot out. Randall Beedle starred along with Jerry Kruskie, Dick Cloutier and Chuck Shack.

Defensive play accounted for both touchdowns in Milford's 12-0 upset of Keego. Tom Gould went 50 yards on an interception and guard Herd Edwards, a 135-pounder, blocked a punt which Don Perkuchin recovered for a TD.

Holly's Jerry Hunter, like DeBaene a strong Class B all-state candidate, strengthened his bid with 3 touchdowns in the Broncs' 19-13 win over Northville. The speedy 175-pounder went 60, 35 and 2 yards. Top Holly linemen were tackle Americ Joslin and 145-pound guard Ken Yerian.

Running and passing of quarterback Mike Benedict highlighted unbeaten Oxford's 33-7 triumph over Clarkston. He tossed scoring passes to Fred Bergin and Duane Wildey. Larry Spencer marked up 2 touchdowns and Dale Spiker ran 45 yards for another.

Ortonville had a field day in blanking Mayville, 44-0, as Ed Kassuba tallied on runs of 24, 15 and 30 yards, Al Dickinson had a pair of touchdowns and Darwin Sanders counted twice on passes of 63 and 18 yards from Cliff Filhart.

Strong defensive play marked the 0-0 deadlock between Avondale and Fitzgerald. End Ted Cunio was the Spartans' heralded player, but he was overshadowed by passer-punter Don Van Gilder and runner Al Van Overmeer.

Bucks Accorded 2nd Place Over Sooners in Poll

Virtually All Top-10 Teams Figure to Win This Weekend

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

The growing idea that a football team has to "win big" every Saturday to maintain a high national ranking will come in for a serious test next week-end.

Although the educators deplore the thought of running up big scores to impress the voters, the success of such high-scoring teams as UCLA and Miami has been reflected consistently in the balloting of the sports writers and broadcasters participating in the weekly Associated Press ranking poll.

* * *

It's UCLA on top this week, the third leader in as many weeks, as the Pacific Coast Conference leaders continued to pile up the touchdowns while many of the other ranking teams barely managed to beat teams that were rated far below them.

* * *

Led by flashy Primo Villanueva, UCLA rolled over California, 27-6, after beating Stanford, 72-0, and Oregon, 61-0, on the two previous Saturdays.

Ohio State had taken the lead from Oklahoma the week before when Bud Wilkinson's unbeaten Sooners won by a small margin. When the same thing happened again, Oklahoma winning by only 13-6 from stubborn Colorado, the Sooners dropped lower in the point scoring although they managed to hold third place by a comfortable margin over Arkansas.

* * *

Miami, another high scoring team, moved into the top 10 a week ago after a 9-7 upset over Maryland. Then it whizzed past Fordham, 75-7, last Friday and jumped to sixth in the rankings. Mississippi and Southern California former top-10 teams, regained their places in the elite group with impressive victories over Louisiana State and Oregon State, respectively.

* * *

* * *

UCLA and Ohio State, the only first-10 teams scheduled to play at home, take on Oregon and Pittsburgh, respectively.

On down the line, its Oklahoma at Iowa State, Arkansas at Rice, Notre Dame at Pennsylvania, Miami at Auburn, Army at Yale, Purdue at Iowa, Mississippi at Memphis State and Southern California at Stanford.

Another big game, according to the point totals, sends Duke (11th) against Navy (19th) after a 6-0 loss to Notre Dame at Norfolk, Va.

The leading teams with first-place votes and season's records in parentheses (Points on 10-9-8-7 etc. basis):

1. UCLA (72) (7-0)	1,931
2. Ohio State (69) (6-0)	1,903
3. Oklahoma (42) (6-0)	1,666
4. Arkansas (16) (6-0)	1,494
5. Notre Dame (4) (4-1)	937
6. Miami (Fla.) (14) (6-0)	870
7. Army (1) (5-1)	755
8. Purdue (4-1-1)	685
9. Mississippi (2) (6-1)	529
10. Southern California (6-1)	347

Meeting Planned
Chicago Scribe Asked to Prove Allegations

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Athletic Commission has asked sports writer Jack Mabley of the Chicago Daily News to prove his charges that boxing is controlled by "syndicate criminals."

Livingston Osborne, commission chairman, said he would like Mabley to appear at a special meeting which he plans to call next week.

Mabley began a series of articles on boxing yesterday and stated in his first story that "the czar of boxing is Frank Carbo, thug who found managing fighters was more profitable and less hazardous than being triggerman for Murder Inc."

* * *

"Carbo controls boxing from New York. But Chicago has a vital concern in the racket," Mabley said.

The charges brought a demand from Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, that Mabley prove his charges before the Illinois Athletic Commission.

* * *

Osborne said he will have representatives from the state's attorney's office, the attorney general's office and from the FBI for the meeting.

MSC Coaches Give Downhearted Spartans Day Off After Humiliating Defeat by Minnesota

Spartan spirit was at an all-time low for the season after the 19-13 humiliation by Minnesota, the 5th beating for MSC in six starts.

Coaches took a look at the swirling snow and cold outside yesterday and figured it would be no morale booster to drag the down-hearted team out on the practice field.

Instead, the players sat inside and watched themselves being beaten all over again in the game movies while coaches pointed out the mistakes that might have made some difference.

A long list of injuries also had something to do with the decision.

Dr. James Feurig, football physician, has been collecting a growing team of cripples this season. The big Minnesota linesmen added five more to the roster under his treatment.

Center Joe Badaczewski, halfback Gary Lowe, and guard Henry Bullough all are bothered by knee injuries. Tackle Randy Schrecengost has a sore shoulder, and center Fred Rody collected a badly-banged elbow.

Current Big Ten standings, meanwhile, show that Michigan State has a good chance of skidding from the top to the bottom of the Western Conference in a single season.

MSC has one conference victory against four losses. Illinois and Northwestern haven't been able to win a game yet but have played only three and must play at least three more. MSC's lone remaining conference game is against Michigan, sure to be a favorite in any comparison of team records.

Spartan backers could find little comfort either in the surprising Washington State 30-26 decision over Stanford. Washington State has won three and lost four but now seems to be on the rebound. Coach Al Kircher, former MSC assistant coach and head basketball boss, will be sure to want to look good next Saturday, the 1st time he has returned to Michigan.

Northwestern Loses 2 Regulars With Injuries

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern football coach Bob Voigts yesterday announced backs Jim Troglio and John Rearden will be lost to the Wildcats the rest of the season because of injuries.

Aga Khan Broodmare Brings Record Price

By TOM DUNCAN

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A record price of $105,000 for a thoroughbred broodmare sold at an American auction is fresh on the books today and some of the finest bloodlines in racing are in American breeders' hands.

* * *

A. B. Hancock Jr., who bid the previous record of $85,000 a year ago, again acted as an agent to set the new mark.

Speculation is that the man who paid the $85,000 for Lithe — John S. Phipps — also bought Masaka.

Horsemen had figured Masaka would bring about $125,000 before she miscarried. This was backed by the spirited bidding, which started at $50,000 by stipulation.

* * *

The contending bidder was Maj. Hartmann Pauly, manager of Miss E. R. Sears' racing interests which later in the sale bought Usumbura for $83,000 and Rivaz for $63,000.

The sale was a rare opportunity for horsemen, since the Moslem leader previously had sold only three broodmares although he had parted with several great stallions, including Nasrullah, Mahmoud, Bahram and Alibhai.

Masaka drew attention because of her six stakes victories, as well as having produced a champion. The filly champion also is a daughter of Nearco, father of the American sire Sensation, Nasrullah, who stands at Hancock's Claiborne Farm.

* * *

* * *

Canucks Pace NHL Scoring

MONTREAL (AP) — A trio of Montreal Canadiens dominate the scoring race in the National Hockey League today with Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, Maurice (The Rocket) and Richard and Kenny Mosdell occupying the 1st three positions.

Geoffrion, in his 5th season with Montreal, leads with nine goals and four assists for 13 points. Richard, the NHL's all-time scoring leader, and Mosdell are tied for 2nd with 12 points each.

Out of Top 3, but Hurons Win Harrier Title

DETROIT (UP)—Michigan Normal holds the Michigan AAU cross country championship today although it failed to place a runner among the top three finishers.

The Ypsilanti school took the team event with 27 points while Michigan State was 2nd with 39 points, Western Michigan varsity 3rd with 54 points and Western Michigan freshmen 4th with 90 points.

Two Canadian-born runners were the 1st to complete the gruelling four-mile run Monday at the Warren Valley Country Club. Henry Kennedy, Michigan State freshman, was 1st in 20:57 and Ronald Wallingford of Michigan 2nd in 21:38. Third was Gert Kellstrup, Michigan freshman from Denmark, with a time of 21:47.

Terre Haute Team in Financial Bust

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — The Terre Haute Phillies of the Three-I Baseball League, owned outright by the Philadelphia Phillies, came to an end Monday night in a financial bust.

Only three men have coached Wayne University's basketball squad since the sport was started in 1917. David L. Holmes held the reins from 1917 until 1929. Newman Ertell coached from 1929 until 1948 and Joel G. Mason has held the post since.

No Statistical Leaders, but Huskers Eye Bowl

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nebraska, who appears to have the inside track in the Big Seven for winning the Orange Bowl bid, is the only team in the conference not represented among the team or individual leaders in statistics this week.

The Cornhuskers have won four and lost two games this season. The losses were to Minnesota and Kansas State. In the conference their record is 3-1 and places them in second place behind undefeated Oklahoma.

Kansas, which is without a victory in seven games has the top punter in Ted Rohde. He has kicked 26 times for a total of 1,137 yards, an average of 43.7 yards a game. Colorado's Carroll Hardy is second with 43 yard average.

* * *

Vic Eaton of Missouri and Jerry Finley of Iowa State are the top passers. Eaton has connected on 20 of 38 attempts for 303 yards. Finley has been successful on 18 occasions for 241 yards. He has thrown the ball 36 times.

The top pass receiver is Corky Taylor of Kansas State. The fleet halfback has caught 11 passes for 239 yards. Harold Burnine of Mis-

Colorado's John Bayuk, although held to 30 yards by Oklahoma last week, easily held his No. 1 position as top ball carrier. Bayuk has gained 681 yards in 107 carries.

CASE—Tip for Smaller Men

While a certain amount of strength and stamina is necessary for the rugged tournament grind, proper form gives the small man every chance to become a high scorer. He needs only to master the smooth swing and perfect his timing.

A chest-high start is likely to prove of special value for the smaller man, and also for bowlers of the "weaker sex." Carl Ray is a good example. He is slim and weighs about 130 pounds. When he started he held the ball waist-high and had no speed.

Then he learned to raise it gradually until he held it chest-high before the first push-away move. Both hands shared the weight of the ball. Then the first step, with the right foot, and a relaxed and unhurried push-away, letting the ball drop into its downward arc of the backswing of its own weight.

Spark of Wolverine Backfield Is Sidelined by Bad Knee

By JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan coach Bennie Oosterbaan looked down at the ground. "We've apparently lost Tony Branoff for the rest of the season," he said.

His words meant that Michigan would do without its most reliable back—the man who had sparked the team to the upset win over Minnesota two Saturdays ago.

When Branoff was on the field, either carrying the ball or as a decoy, the other team was worried. Against Minnesota Branoff only came in when the ball was deep in Gopher territory.

* * *

Still ahead for the Wolverines are Illinois, Michigan State and Ohio State. All had appeared to be tough games even with the squad at full strength.

Branoff, a Flint junior, was regarded as a real clutch player. He seemed to be at his best when things were toughest.

* * *

Branoff was carried off the field after the 2nd play of the 2nd half of the Indiana game last week. His injury was so serious that he was taken directly to the dressing room.

* * *

First it was an injury to one knee, then to the other. An operation fixed up the 1st injury. The present injury has been bothering since the Army game. After the Indiana game he was taken to University Hospital, where his leg is in traction.

Another operation may be necessary if Branoff is to be of any use to the team in his senior year.

Johnson Has High Hopes of Landing A's

CHICAGO (AP) — Industrialist Arnold Johnson thinks his chances of buying the Philadelphia Athletics and moving them to Kansas City are so good that he's already contemplating to pump a million dollars into the player market to build a contender.

* * *

Johnson offered $3,375,000 for the Athletics last summer and Monday said the offer still stands.

"The deal just has to jell a little while," said Johnson. "But I believe my chances are excellent."

Less than a month ago Johnson not only had Roy Mack's promise that he would buy the A's but he also received approval from American League owners to move the team to Kansas City.

Since then the following events took place:

2. Johnson threatened a suit for "substantial damages" against the syndicate, contending Roy had given his word he would sell to him.

3. The American League turned down the syndicate's bid for the club.

And just to add to the confusion, an American League spokesman said if the Macks complete the deal with Johnson, "league club owners would want to have another meeting because so much has happened" since they approved the franchise shift to Kansas City.

Speaking about the A's, Johnson said "I realize that we do not have too much trade-making material. I am ready to pour another million dollars into the A's at Kansas City for players in the next 2 or 2½ years.

* * *

Monday Johnson for the first time disclosed the names of his partners. They are Nathaniel Leverone, J. Patrick Lannan and Joseph H. Briggs — Chicago business tycoons.

Leverone is chairman of the Automatic Canteen Co. Among other things, he is director of the Chicago Better Business Bureau, a trustee of Culver-Stockton College, Canton, Mo., and for years has been secretary of the Chicago Crime Commission.

Lannan is senior partner of Kneeland and Co., an investment firm, and is director of 20 large companies, many of them public utilities.

Ex-N.C. Stater Is Big 4 Point Leader

TORONTO (AP) — Alex Webster, a second-year import from North Carolina State, has his sights set on breaking the Canadian Big Four pro-football league-scoring record.

The 23-year-old New Jersey star is the present scoring leader with 75 points on 15 touchdowns. He needs only two touchdowns to surpass the 16-touchdown record set two years ago by Ulysses Curtis of the Toronto Argonauts.

U.S., Brazil Cagers Heading for Showdown

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The United States, represented by the Peoria (Ill.) Caterpillars, seems to be headed for a showdown Friday against Brazil for the World Basketball championship.

Both teams are sailing along with 5-0 records in the round-robin competition after easy victories Monday night and both are expected to stay undefeated until the tourney's final game Friday.

You Be the Quarterback

(Answer)

4. Handoff to halfback. No! You'd be lucky to get a 1st down on this.

3. Handoff to fullback. Same as No. 4 except your fullback slant has worked well.

2. Quarterback keep. Better. It's been going and you always have the pitchout possibility.

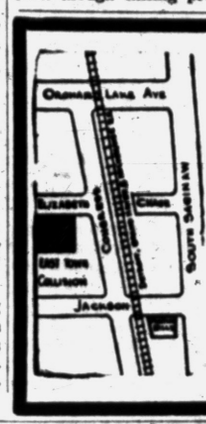

1. Button hook pass. Best call, even though timing prevents your running with the quarterback starting out laterally along the line of scrimmage. He backs up and throws. If it's completed, you have a 1st down and it's been open for you before. And the linebacker is coming in hard.

Minor League Owner Plans Damage Suit

Piedmont Official Will Ask $50 Million From Major Loops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The owner of a minor league baseball club is expected to file Wednesday a $50,000,000 suit against baseball's major leagues.

* * *

The suit was to have been filed Monday but James P. McGranery, former U. S. attorney general and lawyer for club owner Frank Lawrence, was out of the city. His office said he would return Wednesday and presumably file the suit then.

* * *

Lawrence, owner of the Portsmouth, Va., entry in the Piedmont League, has said he will seek damages from the major leagues and Commissioner Ford Frick for alleged violation of minor-league territorial rights through radio and TV broadcasting of big-league games.

The club owner hasn't revealed the exact amount of the damages he'll seek but the figure of $50,000,000 has been mentioned.

Big 3 Gone, but Rupp Is Not Dismayed at Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky, which long has monopolized Dixie basketball and three times recently carried off the national collegiate title, is embarking on another campaign without its big guns.

* * *

Veteran Coach Adolph Rupp observed as practice opened Monday that "pre-season polls don't figure us to do anything this year but we don't see things quite that gloomy."

There was a bit of optimism as he set out to rebuild with two seniors, seven juniors and six sophomores.

"We may run into early-season difficulties because our team will lack experience at the start but I think we could have a very fine team by the middle of January."

* * *

Rupp doesn't have his big three back—Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos — From the club that went unbeaten in 25 games including an early-season victory by 13 points over the eventual NCAA champs, LaSalle.

Kentucky, though finishing first in the final Associated Press poll, by-passed the NCAA meet because the Big Three were ineligible as graduate students though they were permitted to play under Southeastern Conference rules.

* * *

Kentucky was first in the AP poll in 1949, 1951, 1952 and 1954. Its NCAA titles came in 1948, 1949 and 1951 and the starting five was part of the American team in the '48 Olympics.

Ryff Toys With Veteran Davis

Outclasses Foe in 8th Straight Victory; Ward Comeback Checked

BROOKLYN (AP)—Young Frankie Ryff, the unbeaten New York lightweight, had a glib sounding but well meaning explanation today of why he didn't go all out for a knockout in his 15th straight victory last night.

Ryff, 22, won every round as he outclassed the veteran Henry Davis of Los Angeles at Eastern Parkway. He had Davis set up, but didn't deliver the clincher.

"I don't concentrate on knockouts," said Ryff. "They don't mean that much to me. And anyway, I like to practice on these guys."

Ryff apparently meant that it's not that he gets a boot out of toying with his opponents, but that he figures he needs the experience after only 14 months of fighting. Davis, for example, offered a good in-fighting style.

Grieving Mosienko Helps Black Hawks Tie NY

By The Associated Press

* * *

* * *

Mosienko chose to stay. Because of his decision, the Black Hawks got a 1-1 tie with the Rangers. It was a third period goal by the grief-stricken star that earned the National Hockey League's cellar-dwellers the tie.

Plain talk from your Marathon Man:

"the best ads on MILE-maker don't run in the papers... they run in the cars of my customers!"

—runs sweet-as-you-please...
—has the power to lift-your-hat-off...
—and gives you the kind of mileage that will keep us friends!

You see, Marathon has built the most modern refinery in the Midwest and in it we do a great new thing called "reforming." We reform the gasoline from the finest single crude oil in our part of the country for uniform quality. (Ordinary high-test gasolines are made from a number of crudes—of varying quality.) Then we put the hydrocarbon molecules—the petroleum "parts"—together like you'd build a house ... just the way you want it!

As a result, MILE-maker is now right on top in octane rating, power and performance qualities in this area. And a special new additive helps give you ALL this power to burn by eliminating engine misfiring caused by deposits.

Now ... how about letting me run a Marathon MILE-maker "ad" in your car ... say, about a full tank's worth?

Relaxed Etiquette Trend Gains Support in America

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

If you were asked to tea tomorrow afternoon with the visiting Queen Mother of England, would you address her as "Your Majesty," "Your Royal Highness," "Your Highness" or just plain "Madam"?

Would you check with some authority first?

I sure would—and why not? Most Americans imbibe their court know-how from print or from pictures; somehow I always had the idea that the majestic title of "Majesty" was reserved only for those actually on the throne and reigning over a kingdom or empire.

When I began reading about our famous visitor, I noted the papers seemed to duck the issue by speaking always of the "Queen Mother," but perhaps that was quaint of me, not recognizing it as proper newspaper protocol or something.

The British Information Service, if I understood properly, informed me finally that one would address the Queen Mother precisely once as "Your Majesty," and then switch to "Madam" thereafter.

Which solved this particular protocol puzzle, but set me musing on the importance to most people of being right about etiquette—even when state diplomacy isn't involved at all.

On far less lofty levels, in the daily lives of most of us where nothing more vital could be offended than the waiter's eye if you took the wrong fork—that's exactly where plenty of folks wriggle with painful embarrassment if they think they've pulled a social boner.

Why is it so all-fired important to be in the know on the socially approved way of eating, ordering, speaking, introducing people, even writing condolences to somebody who's lost a close relative?

It could be that all this social correctness pitch has got quite a lot out of hand.

Perhaps lots of us are too unsure of ourselves and our natural instincts of how to behave. So maybe we secretly need that hidden little crutch to self-esteem that comes from not displeasing any so-called authority on "the proper thing."

If not, how do you explain the year after year sales of millions of copies of various books on etiquette?

But basic good manners arose originally from thoughtfulness of others, even from kindness. All the ones that matter most did, anyway. You don't schlurp up your soup, for instance, not because it says on page 642 that schlurping "isn't done by the best people" but because your own best instincts should tell you not to make noises that might disgust the person next to you.

By the same token, cutting your lettuce with a knife, or not cutting it with a knife, can't possibly matter a darn—no matter what '642 says.

Indeed, the newest books on etiquette have started round to this easier and more relaxed point of view. Not that anybody's advocating hog-wild or playpen manners, but simply that being laced into straight jackets of proper and improper all the time reminds one of crinoline days, not 1954.

To a reasonable and relaxed degree, of course, it's comfortable to know what's usually done in given situations that come up a lot. It cuts a lot of wear and tear about what's the best way to do what's expected of you!

Once you go far past that reasonable and relaxed though — that's when plenty of younger and more modern people will think you're a proper pain!

Maybe it's a trend that started way back when Queen Marie of Rumania was visiting New York in 1926—and when debonair Mayor Jimmy Walker suddenly cried out, "Queen, you said a mouthful!"

Importance of Korea Cited by Trygve Lie

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Trygve Lie, former secretary general of the United Nations, said last night the Korean War was "the most important step in modern history."

Lie told newsmen on his arrival here for a public address today at Holland that the Korean War marked the first time that "peace-loving nations have taken collective action against aggression."

"If we had not fought the war in Korea, Japan would have been threatened and all Asia would have been in danger," Lie said.

Lie said "The free world can never relax until the Communists show by deeds and facts—not by talk of peace—that they mean to get down to business."

He added, however, that military might alone could not stop the Communist advance. "You can't kill communism with guns and bombs," he said.

Lie urged a United Nations program of technical assistance to under-developed areas of the world as a powerful antidote against communism.

John Wayne, Pilar Palette Wed in Hawaii

HONOLULU (INS) — Actor John Wayne and Pilar Palette received congratulations from numerous Honolulu friends and fans today following their marriage in a Kona mansion garden on the island of Hawaii at sundown yesterday.

The tall, rugged film star and his tiny Peruvian-born bride flew to Honolulu aboard a chartered plane shortly after the ceremony at the home of Mrs. Ouda Hills.

41-Pound Bobcat Killed at Cedarville

CEDARVILLE (UP) — A 41 - pound bobcat—"Looking big as a tiger" —was captured and killed by a Zeeland taxidermist and his 19-year-old son.

Caught by its forepaws, the animal dragged the trap 150 feet before it snagged in a tree stump. It was there that it was found by De Jonde and his son.

"It looked as big as a tiger," he said. "It was snarling when we found it. If it hadn't looked so ferocious, I would have captured it alive and tried to sell it to the Grand Rapids Zoo, which is looking for a bobcat."

Two Family Service Units Help Solve Home Problems

Two such agencies, Family Service of Oakland County and Catholic Family Center, are helping solve domestic problems in this area.

Treatment may include guiding the troubled person to think through to his own solution and advising him as to community resources available to help him.

Family Service of Oakland County, at 220 National Bldg. in Pontiac, is a non-sectarian organization for use by any citizen in the community.

Its workers attack such disrupting problems as marriage difficulties, budget worries, conflicts of childhood and family stress resulting from illness.

Other services, according to Miss Estella Martin, executive secretary, include helping those with emotional difficulties, straightening out misunderstandings between parents and children, dealing with insecurities of old age and employment troubles.

Those who can, pay a fee for services. But no one is refused for lack of money. Part of the organization's support comes from Pontiac Area United Fund dollars.

The Catholic Family Center of Pontiac, at 53 Franklin Blvd., also provides whole-family service. While most of its clients are Catholic, it serves persons of all faiths who ask for help.

In addition to counselling those with marital difficulties and emotional problems, the Center's work covers several other fields.

It provides financial help and temporary housing to families in case of emergency, such as eviction or fire.

The Center arranges temporary care for children in foster homes when their own homes are broken. It aids the unmarried mother and sees to the adoption of her baby when it is advisable.

It plans care for the aged and aids the unemployed by helping them to find jobs when possible.

Plainwell Trapper Hunts Phantom Cat

BENTON HARBOR (UP)—Veteran state trapper Bill Hummel of Plainwell is being called upon to try to identify the phantom cat of Berrien County.

Folks who swear they've seen it claim it is a cat. But the track it makes is similar to that of a dog—only it's four times as big as that of a German Shepherd. Some say a wolf could make such tracks; still others think it looks like a cougar's (mountain lion's).

George Neumann, who says the phantom cat has been using his backyard south of St. Joseph as a play pen, made a cast of what he says was a foot print left behind.

Bob VanderRoest, conservation officer assigned to Berrien County, says the print is similar to that of a dog, but much lager. It measures 5½ by 6 inches and the claws show in it.

Horror Comics' End Seen Near in Britain

LONDON (UP) — Britain's major publisher of horror comics announced last night he is following the example of his two chief competitors and quitting the business.

The move "means there will be no more of them in this country," said publisher Arthur Miller. "The game is no longer worth the candle."

The horror comics have been under increasing fire recently from members of Parliament, parent groups and organized news vendors. Miller printed his comics from matrices or proofs supplied by publishers in America.

Ex-State Man Held in Robbery

Groom, the father of five small children, was arrested at Lake Charles Saturday night following the robbery of a drive-in branch of the First National Bank.

Lake Charles Detective Mike Hogan said Groom had more than $7,000 and the gun used in the robbery on him when arrested.

Hogan said Groom admitted the robbery and reported Groom said that after the robbery he went to a downtown department store, bought a new suit, and threw his blue denim trousers into a trash can outside.

The FBI in New Orleans said it had information Groom had disposed of about $4,500 of the holdup loot by sending it out of the state. The FBI said attempts were being made to recover the money.

Nationalists Hit for Second Day

Chinese Reds Drop 4 Bombs in New Flareup Around Tachen Islands

TAIPEH, Formosa (UP)—Chinese Reds today delivered the latest blow in the new vest pocket war flaring up around the Nationalist-held Tachen Islands — an afternoon air attack in which four bombs were dropped.

It was noteworthy not because of its size but because it was the second straight day Communist planes have attacked Nationalist territory.

Press reports said Nationalist warships also hit Toumen today.

Guest artist will be Jean Eldor Hohmeyer, violinist, who will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Luella Eldor, at the piano. Mrs. Hohmeyer is a graduate of Oberlin Conservatory and a former member of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra.

State Tightens School Finance

Orders Rockford District to Increase Tax Levy Servicing Bond Issue

LANSING (UP)—The State Municipal Finance Commission ordered the Rockford School District in Kent County today to levy $30,677 more debt service money than it planned.

The commission said the district had violated the terms of a Sept. 30, 1952 resolution approving a $325,000 bond issue.

The resolution, it said, specified that 15 mills would be levied until a $28,000 reserve was established and then $40,000 a year would be collected until the bonds were retired.

The commission said the district levied $48,476 in 1953, although a 15 mill levy would have produced $66,103. In 1954, the commission said, the district levied $26,950, instead of $40,000.

The district must levy $57,627 for 1954, the commission said—the $40,000 plus a deficit of $17,626 for 1953.

Commission members said the order was similar to others issued against school districts which they found they did not need as much tax money to support their bond issues as they had anticipated.

The members said the resolutions must be followed to keep faith with bond buyers and maintain the credit reputation of Michigan school districts generally.

Two Blind Boys Start Treatment

Detroit Doctors Offer Little Hope of Curing Young Italians

DETROIT (UP) — Eye specialists at Receiving Hospital can offer small hope of success for ACTH treatments to restore the sight of two young Italian brothers.

The boys — Raffaelo Caruzzi, 11, and nine-year-old Giovanni — were brought here from Naples on the strength of published accounts of the work of Dr. William Q. Wolfson of Wayne University. Dr. Wolfson had described how a new method of using ACTH had restored sight in cases believed hopeless.

Dr. Ralph Piper, medical superintendent at Receiving, says the boys are suffering from a type of eye disease that hasn't previously responded to ACTH treatments.

Treatments were started yesterday, however, in the hope some good may be done.

State's Forests Provide Variety of Things to Eat

LANSING (UP)—You can eat—and even bake a cake—when romping in Michigan forests, a Michigan State College forestry expert said today.

Aside from wild game, there's an "adequate diet" growing on trees and bushes, Robert E. Dils said in advising outdoorsmen to take a few tips from the Indians.

Flour made from acorns of white oak trees was a favorite ingredient of Indian cakemakers, Dils said.

Orders Costello to Answer U.S.

Judge Rules Gambler Won't Incriminate Self by Giving Information

NEW YORK (UP) — Ex-gambler Frank Costello is under Federal Court order to answer questions about his activities prior to 1925. The information was asked in a government suit to cancel his citizenship and deport him to his native Italy.

Costello had refused to answer the questions, claiming they might tend to incriminate him.

However, Federal Judge John W. Clancy yesterday ruled that any criminal feature involved in Costello's early activities "has long been outlawed" by the Statute of Limitations, and he directed him to answer the questions.

He said Costello now has the task "to justify his refusal to answer."

Costello, 63, came to this country at the age of 4 and in 1925 became a citizen.

Government efforts to revoke his citizenship are only part of the former big-time gambler's current troubles. He is now free on $50,000 bail pending appeal of an income tax conviction that carries a five-year sentence and a $30,000 fine.

Costello recently was freed from the Milan, Mich., correctional institution after serving a term for contempt of Congress in refusing to answer key questions at the Kefauver committee hearings.

Gents Are So Genteel to Rosemary Clooney

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"It's amazing how many gentlemen I've met lately," Rosemary Clooney said . . . and I was amazed, too.

"Since I've been expecting," she added . . . and then I wasn't amazed . . . for whatever can be said about American men—and plenty can be—they're chivalrous to expectant mothers.

★ ★ ★ ★

Somewhere around Jan. 15, the Cincinnati and Maysville, Ky., songbird presents Jose Ferrer with an heir or heiress, and already many show people seem bent on making this the Birth of the Century.

★ ★ ★ ★

ROSEMARY

"I confess, too, that I'm playing it to the hilt. I was in maternal clothes about the first week.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Then there's my family." Miss Clooney ate scrambled eggs for two and sighed. "My sister Betty said, 'Just let me look at you! I've never seen you look like this before. You look stra-a-a-n-g-e!'

"My mother did the sentimental bit. She cried and said, 'Oh, my little baby.'

"And I said, 'No, my little baby!'"

"I escaped it all my life, then he started it. After he'd done the damage, he now calls me Rosemary again.

★ ★ ★ ★

"But that Puerto Rican's so proud! It wouldn't surprise me if he delivered the baby himself. And he'd probably do a great job."

Ferrer's filming "The Shrike" here now, and has half a dozen other projects underway. Pictures, stage shows, etc.

"And after that," Rosie said, "he's getting ready for his biggest production, of 1955 at least — The Baby!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Aly Khan's interest here is not any movie actress—but Liz Whitney's horses. He so implied at El Morocco where he was with the Marquessa de Portago (the former Carol McDaniel), Miss Whitney and her escort, Dick Lund. Said he was in New Rochelle the other day admiring Liz's hosses.

JANIS PAIGE

The Queen Mother sipped champagne backstage during intermission at "Pajama Game" with Janis Paige, John Raitt, Eddie Foy, Carol Haney and Co-producer Hal Prince.

Lovely Linda Christian talked about Ty Power at Morocco (with Ernest Boissevain), but insisted she was here to discuss a B'way play and TV shows . . . Geordie Hormel and Rita Moreno are meeting again, at his mother's house.

Connie Bennett said at Hutton's Cock and Bull that she and sister Joan will do a TV series . . . Dorothy Dandridge's millionaire suitor is asking her for a decision pronto . . . Red Skelton shelved 25 pounds . . . Artie Shaw's selling his dairy farm — too expensive to run.

★ ★ ★ ★

Earl's Pearls . . .

It may be true that man does not live by bread alone, but look at the guys getting along on crust.—Craig (Colo.) Empire-Courier.

SINCE A-BOMBS ARE MADE FROM the stuff, Howie Weissman asks, "Shouldn't uranium be called 'ore-else'?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Payment Voted for Dismissed Math Professor

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The faculty of the Literary College of the University of Michigan was reported today to have approved a resolution asking the university to grant a year's severance pay to dismissed mathematics Professor Dr. H. Chandler Davis. The action was reported taken at a closed meeting Monday.

Davis was suspended last May for refusing to answer the questions of a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee. He was subsequently fired in August.

Mathematics Professor George Piranian, who introduced the resolution, said:

"I hope that the passing of the motion marks the turning of the tide in the way these things have been operated and in the way in which tenure cases have been conducted."

Professor William J. Levque, also of the mathematics department, said he was "greatly heartened by the decision of the vote."

Dancer Nelson Was Top Star

Mario Was Better Live, Sheree Wiggled Well, but Color Was Poor

NEW YORK (AP)—The second edition of the monthly Shower of Stars, out of Hollywood on TV, didn't come up with images as good in quality as some of the recent color transmissions.

Otherwise the show, a chopped-up version of the Broadway revue of 1948, "Lend an Ear," was more or less an ordinary program of the musical comedy type.

Sheree North was around with some of her enthusiastic wriggling. Edgar Bergen had his Charlie McCarthy on hand too, and although the camera tried its best to keep Bergen in profile when Charlie talked, it was very apparent his lips were moving.

Mario Lanza came back as a special guest to show how much better he sounds on TV when he actually sings rather than moving his lips in time to an old recording.

If a star for the hour is to be picked, it was dancing and singing Gene Nelson, more familiar with the show than any one else because he was in the original Broadway version.

Singer Dennis Day Sued for $400,000 Damages

The National Broadcasting Co. was named as a codefendant. Friedhofer alleged that Day impersonated him in a skit dealing with the plaintiff's life in a "derisive and derogatory manner."

Plastic Spray Developed to Dull Jewelry on TV

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A special plastic spray which will dull the glossy surfaces of jewelry and other items on a television show and prevent those blinding reflections on TV screens has been developed here.

The new spray, announced by Krylon, Inc., was used on two coast-to-coast network shows and found completely effective.

The spray, especially developed for eliminating reflections in all photographic work as well as television, can easily be removed from the sprayed objects with a soft cloth.

MacMurray Rich, Document Reveals

The document disclosed that Mrs. Lillian Wehmhoener MacMurray left an estate of $1,063,857.81. This represented her community-property share of the family fortune.

Mrs. MacMurray, who died June 22, 1953, after an illness of many years, was a former model and met MacMurray when he was a saxophone player in the pit orchestra of the Broadway show, "Roberta."

MacMurray married June Haver last June 29.

The estimate of his late wife's estate was based on state appraisal of real property, presumably less than the actual market value. The document did not list MacMurray's holdings, which traditionally would be greater.

The actor and the couple's two children are principal beneficiaries of the state. The petition was filed to enable MacMurray to sell some property.

Bing Crosby Returning to Radio 5 Days a Week

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bing Crosby is returning to radio, starting Nov. 22. He will be heard Monday through Friday on CBS from 9:15 to 9:30 p.m.

It will be the same type of program that skyrocketed the crooner to fame nearly 25 years ago.

Iranian Prince Dies in Airplane Crash

TEHERAN (INS)—Iranian Prince Ali Reza, heir to the throne of his brother, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, was found dead today in the wreckage of a crashed plane 40 miles north of Teheran.

The prince had been missing since last Wednesday when he left his estates on the Caspian Sea coast to fly to the capital for the Shah's birthday celebration.

A widespread air search was carried out after the aircraft failed to complete the two-hour flight. The Shah directed the hunt and another brother participated in it.

U.N. Expected to Debate Red Aggression Charges

The Russian delegates prepared to put their case this afternoon (2:45 p.m. EST) to the 15-nation Steering Committee and insist on an immediate airing of their two complaints:

1. That the United States is guilty of aggression in the vicinity of Formosa and the China mainland;

2. That Nationalist China, with U. S. connivance, has made piratical attacks on shipping bound for Red China.

The committee has blocked the Soviet demand twice in recent weeks, but informed sources predicted the group would vote this time to place both items on the Assembly agenda for debate.

The United States has branded the charges a "plain lie" but made known it would not oppose their being debated in the U. N.

The Steering Committee voted Oct. 19—over heated Soviet opposition—to hold off discussion of the explosive aggression charge until the touchy disarmament debate was safely out of the way.

When the aggression charge was first brought up two weeks ago, Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. demanded whether the Russian accusations might not be a mask for another Communist aggression.

Lodge recalled that when Moscow and Peiping brought similar charges before the Security Council in 1950, it "proved to be the prelude to aggression in Korea."

U. S. circles made clear that Lodge would fight any attempt to invite a Red Chinese delegation here to take part in debate on the Soviet charges. But there was considerable speculation as to how much support the United States could command on such a position.

Any question of inviting Red China will not rest with the Steering Committee or the General Assembly. It will be decided by the group delegated to handle the complaint, if it gets on the agenda. Presumably this would be the 60-nation Political Committee.

Senator Taft's Son Candidate in Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP)—Robert Taft Jr. 37, grandson of a president and son of the late senator, follows his father's political footsteps today as a candidate for the Ohio Legislature.

Hamilton County, traditionally Republican, elects nine representatives. Eighteen candidates, equally split between the two major parties, are in the field.

"I think my election chances are pretty good," young Taft told a reporter. Political observers agreed with him.

Stores Seeking Suburban Trade

John Wanamaker Co. Closing New York City Operation Completely

NEW YORK (UP)—It had to happen sooner or later. One of New York's oldest department stores is closing up shop in Manhattan because it can find more business in the suburbs.

For 58 years the John Wanamaker Co. has dispensed everything from bedroom suites to safety pins at the busy corner of Broadway and Ninth St. in downtown Manhattan. The big store will close in January.

From now on, Wanamaker officials announced, the company will concentrate on sales in suburbia.

This means the Wanamaker branches at Great Neck, N. Y., and outside Wilmington, Del., and two others to be opened within a year in big new shopping centers at Yonkers, N. Y., and Wynnewood, Pa.

The Wanamaker decision to pull up stakes took other New York retailers by surprise. But it only dramatized something they already knew—the suburban shopping center which is easy to get to and offers acres of parking space has an irresistable appeal to the housewife who drives a car.

In a special report to stockholders recently, R. H. Macy & Co. said it does a "tremendous volume" of business at its Herald Square location in Manhattan but "the most attractive growth opportunities" lie outside the metropolitan area.

Macy's is pouring capital into a $35,000,000 shopping center in Bergen County, N. J., near the New Jersey exit of the George Washington Bridge and will open a branch there in 1956. This is only one of Macy's task forces in the suburban market.

The shopping center which opened at Yonkers, N. Y., early this year already is having growing pains. Business is terrific, the merchants say, but the space allotted for parking is too small.

A survey of parked cars at the center showed that 45 per cent of them came from Manhattan and the Bronx. The city dwellers, too, it seems, like to shop in the suburbs.

Fine Work Requires First Three Fingers

LOS ANGELES (UP) — The key to your hand's action is right at your finger tips, according to research reports from the University of California at Los Angeles.

John Lyman and Tom Sheridan, engineering researchers, have found that thumbs, index and middle fingers are essential for fine manipulations. The other two fingers seem to be relatively unimportant.

Knowledge of the hand's function may influence future glove design, researchers suggest. Since gloves apparently restrict hand activity by reducing fingertip sensitivity, the principle of the cat's claw may be used for service forces and industry. Heavy material would protect the back of the hand against cold, and the front would be covered by thin material. Merely making a fist would keep the hand warm.

Triplets births occur once in every 9,600 confinements.

Sage Placed Election Day Between Harvest, Winter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Why does election day fall in November?

The National Geographic Society quotes Alexander Duncan, Whig representative from Ohio, who wrote the presidential election day law in 1845: "Harvesting is over then, and winter has not yet made the roads impassable."

However, until 1872, each state fixed its own day for voting for Congress and often it was not the same as presidential election day. Between 1845 and 1872 Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana voted in October for representatives. Even today Maine, by special exception and because of an early winter, votes in September for all offices except presidential electors.

* * *

While Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. is giving up a seat in the U. S. House to run for attorney general of New York, his older brother James is seeking election to the House from California. John, the late New Deal President's youngest son, has been campaigning for a Republican Congress as a vice chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower.

A pair of law partners — one a Republican, the other a Democrat —oppose each other for district attorney in Wisconsin's Walworth County. They are Erwin Zastrow, Republican district attorney since 1945, and Philip B. Morrissy, Democrat. They are members of the same law firm.

* * *

The geographic society offers these other historical items:

Voting as a citizen's privilege goes back to the ancient Greek city-states. Some public officials were elected viva voce—by voice vote—though more were chosen by lot.

* * *

Following English custom, the American colonists voted aloud, although as early as 1634 Massachusetts was using a paper ballot. The voter had to bring his own piece of paper.

Arkansas still voted viva voce in 1846, Missouri and Virginia until the Civil War. Secret voting for Congress became federal law in 1875.

Danish Disabled Tour Germany

Private Charity Sends Busload of Invalids on Sightseeing Trip

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, (AP) — The big, comfortable bus was ready to pull out of Central Station here for an eight-day trip to Germany.

But these were not ordinary tourists. All were physically disabled—including some who had been confined to wheel chairs all their lives as hopeless invalids. Many had been crippled by polio.

Such trips for the physically handicapped have been made possible by privately financed charity. Contributors include banks, insurance companies, the Denmark Assn. to Combat Polio, and individuals.

Trips are made three or four times a year. Those who have some financial resources pay for their tickets, about $65. But many go free. Their age must be between 15 and 65. Information is obtained about the extent of their invalidism and what care they will require.

* * *

The eight-day trip is divided into two days of motoring to the destination in the Harz Mountains, a four-day stay, and two days to return by a different route. There are sightseeing trips from the hotel and even a trip on a mountain railway.

They're for Beginners

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!
